"Uptime" of items/ services shall mean 100% error free time for each of the items/ services for 24 hours a day considering 365 days a year. Any unutilized time, during the period, will also qualify as uptime provided there is no malfunctioning in the items. The period of items breakdown and the time within which the complaint is reported to the service provider's local service engineer or the service provider's Service Centre, either through email/ fax/ letter/ messenger/ telephone or complaint register, will be treated as uptime. In case the complaint is logged after working hours then

High Court of Judicature at Allahabad

(Tender Notice No. : AHC/AMC/WiFi/2022)

the problem should be rectified on next working day, failing which the items shall be treated as down. In any emergency the service provider shall provide services on the same day on urgent basis. Uptime percentage of item will be computed as follows: -

$$\frac{\text{Uptime in hours in a year}}{\text{Total working hours in a year}} \times 100$$

11 - DAMAGES:

- (1) Computation of damage shall be based on uptime/ working hours. The time when items are not used due to any reason except the fault in items shall be treated as uptime. If any of the accessories/ services attached with any equipment is down, the complete equipment shall be treated as down.
- (2) The service provider shall be duty bound to give 100% uptime on all the items. However, the High Court considering several unavoidable circumstances will overlook 0.5% downtime on items. But in case 99.5% uptime for items installed is not maintained in an AMC period by the service provider, then damages for not maintaining the required uptime shall have to be paid by the service provider.
- (3) If uptime is equal to or more than 99.5% in an AMC period for the items, then no damages shall be charged for downtime in that period. If the downtime exceeds 0.5% in an AMC period, then total downtime for items (i.e. the time by which the uptime was less than 100%) in an AMC period considering 24 hours per day will be considered for calculating the damages. If average down time in hours of the items exceeds 44 hours in an AMC period, then the damages @ Rs. 10/- per hour shall be charged from the service provider subject to a maximum of 10% of the total Work Order value. The complaints must be attended on the same or next business day of the receipt of communication. If the complaint is not attended within the same or next business day, then the damages @ Rs. 100/- per day per complaint shall be charged additionally from the service provider.
- (4) If average downtime hours of items in a year is less than or equal to 44 hours, the period covered by the AMC shall be extended for an equal number of working days for the items accordingly without paying any amount to the service provider for above said extended days.
- (5) The amount of damages so calculated as per clause 3 above shall be payable by the service provider. In case the computation of damages is delayed at the High Court's end for any reasons, or the agreement is terminated, then the damages shall have to be paid by the service provider within one month from

(Tender Notice No. : AHC/AMC/WiFi/2022)
