153-A. Shri Singh pointed out that CIT raised an objection with regard to stock valued at Rs.7,30,01,487/-. The inventory of stock was prepared at tag price. In the application filed before ITSC, while calculating stock valuation, Assessee took element of commission at 32% based on tag price but CIT said that actual commission paid was only 8.33% in financial years i.e 2007-2008 to 2010-2011. Meaning thereby that there was a difference of stock to the tune of Rs.7,30,01,487/-. ITSC during hearing observed that value of stock i.e Rs.7,26,28,670/-, in view of the discussion made above, be treated additional income, to which suggestion, Assessee agreed and that is how additional income of Rs.12.24 crores in all has been finalised by ITSC. Learned counsel for respondent Assessee pleaded that such surrender or acceptance, during proceedings of ITSC, cannot be faulted and it will not amount to non disclosure of full and correct facts in the application under section 245-C(1). Learned counsel for respondent-2 further contended that as a matter of fact 'valuation of stock' cannot be said to be income and could not have been taxed but in order to purchase peace and avoid any harassment or prolong litigation, Assessee agreed to suggestion of ITSC during proceedings and such conduct of Assessee cannot be treated as if he had not made disclosure of correct facts in the application. He also placed reliance on certain authorities which we propose to discuss while discussing merits, later on.

10. We have heard learned counsel for parties and perused record and relevant authorities.

11. The first question is, "what an Assessee has to disclose in the application under section 245-C(1)", and, second, "what is the meaning of words "full and true disclosure of his income which has not been disclosed before Assessing Officer".

12. When application was filed by Assessee before ITSC it is not in dispute that cases of Assessment Years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012 were pending before Assessing Officer. In the returns filed under section 153-A of Act 1961, Assessee had disclosed additional income of Rs.1,76,50,000/-. A chart showing income as per original income and shown in returns filed under section 153-A for assessment years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012 reads as under:

Asstt.Year	Income as per original return	Income as per return u/s 153A/142(1)/139
2004-2005	1,69,52,775	2,25,46,910
2005-2006	3,85,15,060	4,25,15,060
2006-2007	3,97,16,743	4,32,16,740
2007-2008	4,14,96,340	4,30,96,713
2008-2009	4,78,27,710	4,88,77,710

2009-2010	2,95,03,950	3,20,03,950
2010-2011	2,46,68,100	2,46,68,100
2011-2012	2,92,29,380	2,92,29,380

13. However, before ITSC, Assessee disclosed additional income of Rs.3,21,85,040/-. It is not disputed before us that said income disclosed before ITSC was not inclusive of income disclosed before AO. Chart showing disclosure of additional income before ITSC in relevant assessment years reads as under:-

A.Y	Additional Income disclosed before Hon'ble Income Tax Settlement Commission
2004-2005	Rs.10,00,000
2005-2006	Rs.15,00,000
2006-2007	Rs.25,00,000
2007-2008	Rs.50,00,000
2008-2009	Rs. 65,00,000
2009-2010	Rs. 75,00,000
2010-2011	Rs. 68,10,040
2011-2012	Rs. 13,75,000
Total	Rs.3,21,85,040

14. Thus total income disclosed by Assessee before AO under section 153-A and before ITSC in application under section 245-C(1) comes to Rs.49835040/-. The said income included stock also. CIT in report submitted that as per his computation, tentative undisclosed income comes to Rs.155,91,66,555/- crores which included stock worth Rs.7,30,01,487/- in the assessment year 2010-2011. CIT report also included and estimated gross profit to the tune of Rs.12,03,72,096/- for assessment years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012. The break up of this amount of Rs.155 crores and odd, is broadly in the following heads:

(i)	Uncounted/unexplained payment of salary	Rs. 6,27,37,344/-
(ii)	Estimated gross profit	Rs.1,20,99,72,094/-
(iii)	Unexplained advanced expenditure/investment etc.	Rs. 21,34,55,630/-
	Excessive stock	Rs. 7,30,01,487/-

15. ITSC found that in computing gross profit vis-a-vis valuation of stock entry, there was a huge gap in as much as Revenue has determined gross profit at 125% of tag price and for that reason report disclosed a colossal figure which was not justified. It also found that even gross profit worked out by CIT resulted in a figure which was more than turnover which cannot be correct since gross profit is embedded in turnover.

16. Assessee explained lesser rate of gross profit but ITSC after considering submissions of both sides took average rate of gross profit as 45% of sale-price.

17. On the question of unexplained stock of Rs.,7,30,01,487/- which was highlighted by Revenue before ITSC, in paragraph 7 of order it has observed that though in the inventories prepared by Department, there were several deficiencies yet Assessee, in the spirit of settlement and to buy peace of mind, made an offer of 90 lacs on account of stocks. Assessee had claimed that they used to pay commission to agents who bring customers to showroom and that was claimed at 32%. During proceedings before ITSC, Assessee however, agreed to a suggestion of ITSC for addition of income by treating commission to 8.5% only instead of 32%.

18. Hence, ITSC neither accepted version of Revenue nor that of Assessee as such, instead followed a middle path, made certain suggestions to Assessee to accept some increased undisclosed income which was admitted by Assessee.

19. Shri Manish Goel however, contended that after filing application before ITSC under section 245-C(1) and submission of report by CIT, Assessee if made a further declaration, meaning thereby, he has revised his undisclosed income mentioned in the application though such revision was not permissible. It also shows that Assessee had not disclosed full and true disclosure of his income in the application filed initially.

20. In order to test above submission, we may first examine Section 245-C. It reads as under:

Application for settlement of cases.

245C. (1) An assessee may, at any stage of a case relating to him, make an application in such a form and in such manner as may be prescribed, and containing a full and true disclosure of his income which has not been disclosed before the A.O., the manner in which such income has been derived, the additional amount of income-tax payable on such income and such other particulars as may be prescribed, to the Settlement Commission to have the case settled and any such application shall be disposed of in the manner hereinafter provided:

Provided that no such application shall be made unless,-

(i) in a case where proceedings for assessment or reassessment for any of the assessment years referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 153A or clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 153B in case of a person referred to in section 153A or section 153C have been initiated, the additional amount of income-tax payable on the income disclosed in the application exceeds fifty lakh rupees,

(ia) in a case where-

(A) the applicant is related to the person referred to in clause (i) who has filed an application (hereafter in this sub-section referred to as "specified person"); and

(B) the proceedings for assessment or re-assessment for any of the assessment years to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 153A or clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 153B in case of the applicant, being a person referred to in section 153A or section 153C, have been initiated, the additional amount of income-tax payable on the income disclosed in the application exceeds ten lakh rupees,

(ii) in any other case, the additional amount of income-tax payable on the income disclosed in the application exceeds ten lakh rupees, and such tax and the interest thereon, which would have been paid under the provisions of the Act had the income disclosed in the application been declared in the return of income before the Assessing Officer on the date of application, has been paid on or before the date of making the application and the proof of such payment is attached with the application.

Explanation.-For the purpose of clause (ia),-

(a) the applicant, in relation to the specified person referred to in clause (ia), means,-

(i) where the specified person is an individual, any relative of the specified person;

(ii) where the specified person is a company, firm, association of persons or Hindu undivided family, any director of the company, partner of the firm, or member of the association or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(iii) any individual who has a substantial interest in the business or profession of the specified person, or any relative of such individual;

(iv) a company, firm, association of persons or Hindu undivided family having a substantial interest in the business or profession of the specified person or any director, partner or member of such company, firm, association or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(v) a company, firm, association of persons or Hindu undivided family of which a director, partner or member, as the case may be, has a substantial interest in the business or profession of the specified person; or any director, partner or member of such company, firm association or family or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(vi) any person who carried on a business or profession,-

(A) where the specified person being an individual, or any relative of such specified person, has a substantial interest in the business or profession of that person; or

(B) where the specified person being a company, firm, association of persons or Hindu undivided family, or any director of such company, partner of such firm or member of the association or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member, has a substantial interest in the business or profession of that person;

(b) a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a business or profession, if -

(A) in a case where the business or profession is carried on by a company, such person the date of search], the beneficial owner of shares (not being shares (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend, whether with or without a right to participate in profits) carrying not less than twenty per cent of the voting power; and

(B) in any other case, such person is, [on the date of search], beneficially entitled to not less than twenty per cent of the profits of such business or profession.]

(1A) For the purposes of sub-section (1) of this section, the additional amount of income-tax payable in respect of the income disclosed in an application made under sub-section (1) of this section shall be the amount calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (1B) to (1D).

(1B) Where the income disclosed in the application related to only one previous year,-

1. if the applicant has not furnished a return in respect of the total income of that year ,then, tax shall be calculated on the income disclosed in the application as if such income were the total income;

2. if the applicant has furnished a return in respect of the total income of that year, tax shall be calculated on the aggregate of the total income returned and the income disclosed in the application in the application as if such aggregate were the total income.

(1C) The additional amount of income-tax payable in respect of the income disclosed in the application relating to the previous year referred to in sub-section (1B) shall be,-

a) in a case referred to in clause (i) of that sub-section, the amount of tax calculated under that clause;

(b) in a case referred to in clause (ii) of that sub-section, the amount of tax calculated under that clause as reduced by the amount of tax calculated on the total income returned for that year;

(1D) Where the income disclosed in the application related to more than one previous year, the additional amount of income -tax payable in respect of the income disclosed for each of the years shall first be calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1B) and (1C) and the aggregate of the amount so arrived at in respect of each of the years for which the application has been made under sub-section (1) shall be the additional amount of income-tax payable in respect of the income disclosed in the application.

(2)Every application made under sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by such fees as may be prescribed.

(3) An application made under sub-section (1) shall not be allowed to be withdrawn by the applicant.

(4) An assessee shall, on the date on which he makes an application under sub-section (1) to the Settlement Commission, also intimate the Assessing Officer in the prescribed manner of having made such application to the said Commission.

21. Assessee filed application dated 6.6.2011 in respect to assessment years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012 showing additional income of Rs.32185040/-. He also explained the manner in which such income has been derived and on this aspect we have not been addressed at all that this condition has not been complied by Assessee. ITSC passed order under section 245D(1) on 14.6.2011 directing to proceed on the said application and sent copy of order to Assessee as well as CIT. It also called upon CIT to send a report as provided under section 245-D(2B) within the period prescribed under section 245D(2C). CIT did not furnish report, hence, ITSC vide order dated 28.7.2011 proceeded further treating application valid under section 245D(2C).

22. CIT then furnished report along with covering letter dated 5.11.2011 and during course of proceedings before ITSC, when objection was raised with respect to stock of Rs.73001487/-, it (ITSC) made a suggestion to Assessee to accept valuation as Rs.7,26,28,670/- as additional income which was accepted by Assessee and thereafter ITSC proceeded to determine tax liability of Assessee and question of waiver of penalty etc. and passed impugned order.

23. This acceptance of additional income by way of increased valuation of stock is on the proposal made by ITSC, during the course of hearing, as is evident from following findings recorded in paragraph 7.3 of impugned order of ITSC.

"The applicant agreed to the suggestion of the Commission for increasing valuation of stock by Rs.7,26,28,670/- and submitted as under:

"During the course of the hearing, Hon'ble Commission propsoed to settle the issue related to stocks at Rs.7,26,28,670/- over and above what has already been offered in this regard at Rs.90 lakhs thereby making a proposal of additional income at Rs.12,24,63,710/- i.e 7,26,28,670/- + 4,98,35,040/- additional income offered while filing returns in response to notice u/s 153A of the Act for Assessment Years 2004-2005 to 2009-2010 and as per the statement of facts."

24. The argument of Shri Goel that it amounts to revision of income disclosed by Assessee before ITSC, in our view, is not acceptable. From the report of CIT, it is evident that an extraordinary colossal figure was disclosed therein to the tune of Rs.155 crores and odd which could not be substantiated before ITSC at all. Figures were imaginary, artificial and founded on unfeasible estimation. This has been castigated by ITSC itself and learned counsel for petitioner could not show anything wrong on the part of ITSC in making such observations against colossal imaginary figure worked out by Revenue and mentioned by CIT in its report dated 5/11/2011.

25. The entire dispute has centered around valuation of stock which Assessee had disclosed to worth Rs.90 lacs while CIT claimed more than 7 crores.

26. Scope of Section 245C(1) and the procedure prescribed in Section 245D of Act 1961 was considered by a three judges Bench in Commissioner of Income Tax versus Express Newspapers (1994) 206 ITR 443 (SC). Court observed, when an application is filed before ITSC by an Assessee, CIT had an opportunity to submit report and raise objection regarding eligibility of application. Thereafter ITSC shall decide, whether application is valid and it should proceed or not. In the present case within prescribed time under section 245-D(2B) , CIT did not raise any objection by submitting report. Hence, ITSC after scrutinizing application on its own held application valid and proceeded.

27. Court in Commissioner of Income Tax versus Express Newspaper (Supra) also observed, when ITSC decide to allow application to be proceeded with or not, may have to consider several aspects of the matter. It may be a complex one. It may involve prolonged or cumbersome investigation or may be where having regard to the nature of case and other circumstances, ITSC may feel, in the interest of Revenue and in the interest of justice, that it is better to give a quietus to the case, once for all, instead of allowing it to be fought through the usual channels. The decision has to be taken by ITSC having regard to all the facts and circumstances before it, in the light of the object, purpose and scheme of enactment. A wide discretion has been given to ITSC under Act, 1961 and for that reason, provisions relating to appointments of members of ITSC, make it evident that ITSC should be manned by men of integrity and outstanding ability, having special knowledge of direct taxes and business accounts.

28. The only conditions necessary to exist are that Assessing Officer has not already discovered it or has either gathered material to establish particulars of such income or fraud, to enable an Assessee to file application under section 245-C. Court in Commissioner of Income Tax versus Express News Papers Ltd. (Supra) said that for a proper delineation of jurisdiction of ITSC, language of Section 245C(1) must be kept in mind. It provides that an Assessee, at any stage of case relating to him, may make an application to ITSC disclosing fully and truly income which has not been disclosed before Assessing Officer. He must also disclose how said income was derived by him besides certain other particulars. It means that Assessee cannot approach ITSC for settlement of his case with respect to income already disclosed before Assessing Officer. Such an application is maintainable only if it discloses income which has not been disclosed before Assessing Officer.

29. Thus, the word "disclosure" under section 245C is, in the nature of voluntary disclosure of concealed income. Moreover, application under section 245-C is not a escape goat to Assessee to frustrate suo motu discovered, concealed, income by Revenue Authorities. If Assessing Officer after gathering or receiving information discovered some income which was not disclosed by Assessee and had added it to Assessee's income, in such a case ITSC cannot be approached by filing application under section 245C in respect to income which has been discovered by Assessing Officer. Similarly, there may be cases where Income-Tax Authorities after gathering information and material, are likely to establish that Assessee has concealed particulars of a particular income and in that respect also ITSC may not admit an application. The underlying idea, therefore, is that the disclosure under section 245C must be of an income neither disclosed by Assessee before Assessing Officer nor Assessing Officer has already discovered it nor has either gathered material to establish particulars of such income or fraud or is at a stage of investigation/enquiries where material gathered by him is likely to establish particulars of such income or fraud. Assessee cannot be allowed to defeat or forestall the entire exercise of Income-Tax Authorities just by approaching ITSC. When an application however, is made, the requirement of Section 245C is that Assessee must mention full and true disclosures.

30. The term "full and true disclosure" does not mean that whatever Assessee has disclosed will be ultimate income whereupon ITSC shall pass order. Instead during the course of proceeding before ITSC, amount of undisclosed income by Assessee mentioned in application may increase subject to point of view of Revenue before ITSC and other relevant facts and circumstances.

31. Application submitted by Assessee, it is not pointed out did not disclose full and true details of income. What is contended is that valuation of stock assessed by Revenue, which, during the course of hearing before ITSC, was accepted by Assessee, should be treated as if this was a fact which was not disclosed to ITSC at the time of filing application and amounts to non disclosure of full and true facts. The argument assumes that ITSC has to proceed with the matter in a mechanical manner in as much as whatever is disclosed by Assessee in the application, shall be the complete figure, not worthy of variation upward and if there is any occasion to get it increased during negotiation before ITSC, it will amount to non disclosure of full and true disclosure and will render application bad and in the teeth of Section 245-C(2). This argument, in our view, would not only defeat the very purpose of constitution of ITSC but will also render ITSC, a statutory body, to do some mechanical work instead of considering a matter of settlement wherein there is scope of negotiation also.

32. The term "settlement" by itself means that there are two parties to the dispute and a third party, independent and objective in functioning, shall bring out settlement between two disputing parties, following a process of give and take.

33. A similar argument, we find, was raised before Bombay High Court in Major Metals Ltd. Versus Union of India 2014(303) E.L.T 380 (Bombay). It was argued that ITSC had no jurisdiction to deal with an issue not raised in the application and adjudicating function is confined to the matters covered by application. Referring the entire scheme under Chapter XIX-A of Act 1961, a Division Bench, vide judgement delivered by Hon'ble Dr.D.Y.Chandrachud (as his Lordship then was) observed that ITSC is not designed to act as a passive spectator to what Assessee discloses. ITSC can act proactively in gathering or obtaining evidence. Statute confers upon it power to settle a case, which is nothing but an assessment. Settlement is intended to be final, comprehensive and conclusive. Orders which ITSC would pass are on matters covered by application and on any matter relating to the case not covered by application but referred to in the report of CIT. Vide Section 245F, ITSC, untill an order is passed under section 245-D(4), would have jurisdiction to exercise powers and perform functions of an Income Tax Authority under Act 1961 in relation to the case.

34. In a further recent decision of Bombay High Court in Commissioner of Income Tax versus Income-Tax Settlement Commission and others (2016) 65 taxmann.com 40 (Bombay), ITSC determined additional income during proceedings of the case, changed disclosed income by Assessee in his application. Before ITSC, during the course of hearing, Assessee who had disclosed additional income of Rs.8.54 crores during assessment years 2004-2005 to 2009-2010, increased his offer for settlement by offering Rs.59.11 crores and Rs.3 crores. ITSC considered and accepted the same. Order of ITSC was challenged by Revenue on the same ground that additional offer admitted by Assessee during proceedings of hearing before ITSC would mean that there was no full and true disclosure of income in the application filed under section 245-C(1) and hence application should have been rejected by ITSC for that reason alone. Reliance was also placed by Revenue on the decision of Apex Court in Azmera Housing and another (Supra). Analysing dispute in Azmera Housing and another (Supra), Bombay High Court said:

"7. It would, therefore, be noticed that there was a clear finding of failure to make full and true disclosure of the income made by the Applicant in Ajmera Housing Corpn. (supra) to the Settlement Commission. The wpl-1806-2015 revision of the income offered for tax therein was suo-motu. This was after the hearing had concluded and orders were awaited. Normally, the income offered for tax in an application for settlement would bind the parties concerned and any revision thereof, would prima facie, be evidence of the original application for settlement not declaring the full income in its original application. However, this is not cast in stone and will depend upon the factual context from case to case to wpl-1806-2015 determine whether there was any failure to disclose fully and truly the income. This is particularly so where the correct determination of income is dependent upon the application of the appropriate Transfer Pricing Rule which to an extent is subjective, as in this case. In such a case, if an additional income is declared during the course of the hearing in view of what emerges during debate before the Commission, it cannot be said that the original application did not make true and full disclosure of its undisclosed income. It is for the Commission to consider on the basis of the facts that emerge before it, whether the original application contained a bonafide true and full disclosure of the Applicant's income or not. This would necessarily be dependent upon various factors including the manner in which the application for wpl-1806-2015 settlement has been made out."

(emphasis added)

35. In the present case also, Assessee did not file any revised application after report was submitted by CIT under section 245D(2B) though that was the case in Azmera Housing Corpn. (Supra). Here CIT did not file any report within time, and thereafter application was held valid and ITSC proceeded. During course of hearing, on the valuation of stock, when an offer was made by ITSC, Assessee accepted the same. Obviously acceptance during the course of hearing is only with a view to expeditiously settle the dispute and buy peace.

36. A similar view has been taken by Kerala High Court in Commissioner of Income Tax versus K.T.P Mohammed Mazhar (2015) 58 taxmann.com 315. Court rejected a similar contention raised by Revenue and in paragraph 8 of judgment, said as under:

"8. The primary contention of the learned senior counsel for the petitioner is that the very fact, that additional amounts were offered by the respondent- assessee before the Settlement Commission, would indicate that the original declaration made by the respondent - assessee, along with the application filed before the Settlement Commission, did not contain a full and true disclosure of the undisclosed income or the manner in which such income was derived. While considering a similar contention, raised in the other batch of cases that I has decided namely, in Writ Petn. No. 2637 of 2014 and connected cases, I had examined the scheme of the Chapter XIX-A of the IT Act and found as follows:

"It is apparent from a perusal of the scheme of Chapter XIX-A of the IT Act that the jurisdictional fact that confers the Settlement Commission with the jurisdiction to proceed with an application is the filing by an applicant, of an application that contains a full disclosure of his income which has not been disclosed before the AO, the manner in which such income had been derived and the additional amount of income- tax payable on such income. If, at any stage of the proceedings before the Settlement Commission, it finds that the disclosure made by the applicant is not a full and true disclosure, then the said authority cannot proceed further with the application. It get denuded of its jurisdiction to proceed with the matter. It is in the backdrop of this fact that I must analyse the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Ajmera Housing Corporation (supra) that has been relied by the petitioner. It must, at once be noted that the provisions of Chapter XIX-A that were analysed by the Supreme Court in that case were slightly different from those under consideration in the instant case in that, it was the provisions, as they stood prior to the amendments introduced by the Finance Act, 2007, that were considered by the Supreme Court. Moreover, the Supreme Court was considering the case of an assessee who had suo moto revised his declaration, by making offers of additional amounts by way of disclosure of income at various stages of the proceedings before the Settlement Commission. Under those circumstances, the Court found that, judging by the assessee's own conduct, his original application could not be seen as containing a full and true disclosure of his income for the purposes of settlement under the Act....."

37. Further, Court held in paragraph 13, as under:

"13. The issue to be considered here is whether, the observations of the Supreme Court in the aforementioned judgment are to be taken to mean that in every case where an applicant makes an offer of additional amounts, even at the instance or suggestion of the Settlement Commission, it would follow that the original declaration made by the applicant did not contain a full and true disclosure of his income and thereby rendering it invalid and, consequently, denuding the Settlement Commission of its jurisdiction to proceed further in the matter? In my view, such an interpretation would render meaningless the scheme of settlement that is envisaged under the IT Act. One cannot discount the possibility of the Settlement Commission finding the disclosure of income made by an assessee as being full and true and yet requiring minor adjustments to include even those amounts, which though disputed by the assessee, would nevertheless be offered by the assessee in the interests of putting an end to litigation and in the spirit of settlement. These could be amounts, in respects of which, neither the Department nor the assessee have sufficient material to substantiate their contentions, but the assessee is nevertheless willing to give up his claim in the interests of finality to litigation. The consent by an assessee to forgo such amounts, at the suggestion of the Settlement Commission, cannot have the effect of rendering his original disclosure dubious for the purposes of settlement under the Act. In my opinion, it is only in those cases where an assessee resiles from his original declaration of undisclosed income, by sua motu effecting revisions thereto, that he renders his application invalid for the purposes of settlement. In cases where additional amounts are offered by an assessee, pursuant to a relinquishment of his claims with regard to the non-taxability of such income, it would not be a case where the assessee is resiling from his original stand as regards undisclosed income. In the latter type of cases, the Settlement Commission would be well within its jurisdiction to include such amounts in the final amount for which the case before it is settled with the assessee. In taking the said view, I am fortified by the decisions of Bombay High Court in Director of IT(International Taxation) v. ITSC [2014] 267 CTR (Bom) 18 : [2014] 101 DTR (Bom) 108 : [2014] 365 ITR 108 (Bom)."

38. Shri Goel on the contrary has relied on a Madras High Court judgment in V.M.Shaik Mohammed Rowther versus Settlement Commission (IT & WT) and others (1999) 236 ITR 581 but therein Assessee had submitted application making disclosure subject to several conditions, ITSC rejected this application on the ground that there was no full and true disclosure of income which had not been disclosed before AO and this order was upheld by High court. The decision has no application to the facts of present case.

39. Another authority relied by Shri Manish Goel is a Bombay High Court judgment in Commissioner of Income Tax versus Income Tax Settlement Commisison and others 2000(246) 63, Azmera Housing Corporation and 19 individuals filed 31 applications under section 245-C in October 1993 in respect of assessment years 1989-90 to 1993-94. Therein Assessee's applications filed under section 245C(1) on 19.9.1994 were forwarded by ITSC to Commissioner seeking his report. Commissioner submitted report on 27.1.1994 informing that on the basis of seized material and documents found in search under section 132, an order was already passed under section 132(5) on 12.3.1992 determining concealed income at Rs.200.60 crores. Court found that Assessee initially, in the application filed before ITSC, disclosed additional income of Rs.1.94 crores and then filed another application on 11.9.1994 i.e after almost 7 and 1/2 months, after CIT had submitted report, disclosing additional income of Rs.11.41 crores. ITSC passed order to proceed with the application on 8.12.1994. Court found that Assessee neither disclosed correct facts nor correct income and after CIT's report, himself filed an application with additional disclosure of income showing that his disclosure at initial stage in the application under section 245C was not full and true. Court also found that after second disclosure to the tune of Rs.11.41 crores, ITSC did not seek any report from CIT though if it was a new application and hence it was incumbent upon ITSC to seek report of CIT. Court observed:

"Therefore, in our opinion, it was obligatory on the part of the Settlement Commission to have considered whether an additional or supplementary report from the Commissioner immediately after the second disclosure as contemplated under section 245D(1) of the Act was necessary and ought to have further considered whether an opportunity to the Commissioner to file his objection, and advance his submissions in support of his report through the departmental representative was necessary or not. We, therefore, find fault with the decision - making process adopted by the Commission, in exercise of our powers of judicial review. As pointed out in Jyotendrasinji v. S.I.Tripathi [1993] 201 ITR 611 (SC), this court can interfere with the order if it is found to be contrary to the provisions of the Act. As already recorded herein, we have pointed out as to how the order is in breach of the principles of natural justice and also contrary to the provisions of section 245C(1) and section 245D (1) of the Act. Consequently, the order dated November 17, 1994, is liable to be set aside as bad, illegal and ab initio void being in breach of the principles of natural justice."

40. This judgment of Bombay High Court was confirmed by Supreme Court in Azmera Housing Corpn.(Supra). The distinguishing facts are self evident which is not the case in hand and therefore in our view, petitioner do not get any help from the aforesaid judgment.

41. Another decision relied by Shri Goel is Rasik Ramji Kamani versus S.K.Tripathi and others (1993) 203 ITR 848 but from a perusal of judgment, we find that application and the documents filed by Assessee did not disclose correct facts and most documents were irrelevant. ITSC sought clarification from Assessee who did not cooperate. Court said that a party approaching ITSC must adjust to the requirement of scheme and needs of the procedure. If essential material is withheld by Assessee from ITSC, who could ordinarily be expected to have the care and custody of such materials, that by itself would be a good ground for the Settlement Commission to refuse to exercise its power. Court as a matter of fact recorded its findings as under:

"The appellant according to it, made false and misleading ascertains about having submitted all the details, while in fact he had not done so".

42. Lastly, in Dr.C.M.K.Reddy versus Settlement Commission (IT/WT) and Others 2008 (306) ITR 403, application under section 245C(1) filed by Assessee was rejected on various grounds including non disclosure of full and true income. Court found that in the application Assessee claimed to have received Rs.12.5 lacs through a will executed by his mother but as a matter of fact, the said amount was paid by Testator during her life time i.e on the date of execution of deed and hence it was a gift deed but neither source of amount was disclosed nor gift tax return was filed. Further from the cash flow statements of different assessment years, filed by Assessee, ITSC found that investment in fresh assets and higher amount of investment in existing assets had been shown in addition to the claim made for the receipt of fresh loans and gifts for most of the years which had not been established. Therefore, rejection of application was on its own facts. The above judgment does not support petitioner.

43. Then comes Gujarat High Court judgment in Mohanlal S.Doppa versus Commissioner of Income Tax (2002) 253 ITR 33. The dispute was, whether penalty proceedings could have been initiated where ITSC order did not contain any specific direction for levy of penalty. Court observed that:

"After receiving the report, the Settlement Commission is to give an opportunity of hearing to the Assessee as well as to the Department and thereafter the Commission is to pass an order which "shall provide for the terms of the settlement including any demand for tax, penalty and interest and the manner in which any sum due under the settlement shall be paid and all other matters to make the settlement effective".

44. It is thus said, once application was entertained by ITSC, it has jurisdiction to decide all matters pertaining to that "case" and if ITSC does not impose any penalty or does not give any direction for imposition of penalty, it is to be treated as that ITSC has exempted Assessee from imposition of penalty. Court held:

"Looking to the constitution of the Settlement Commission as set out in section 245B of the Act, it is obvious that once the Settlement Commission decides the application for settlement including any direction (or absence thereof) for any penalty or interest, it is not for the Assessing Officer to invoke his powers under other provisions of the Act empowering him to levy penalty such as under section 271(1) (a) or section 273 or under section 139(8) of the Act for levying interest, because all such powers were very much available to the Commission under section 245F of the Act and if, in its discretion, the Settlement Commission did not choose to invoke those powers, the Assessing Officer cannot subsequently invoke them after the Settlement Commission has passed an order under section 245D(4) of the Act."

45. Therefore, this judgment is also on a different issue and has no application to the case in hand.

46. None of the above authorities therefore, bars an Assessee from admitting or agreeing for a higher amount of disclosure than what is mentioned in the application, during course of proceeding before ITSC, if it is a part of negotiation before ITSC and Assessee in a bonafide manner, to purchase peace, agree for such a suggestion made by ITSC. The only restriction is that, whatever disclosure has been made by Assessee in his application or subsequently accepted before ITSC, should not be an income which was disclosed before Assessing Officer earlier or has already been discovered by income-tax authorities establishing the same to be an undisclosed income supported with due material. In all other cases where jurisdiction has been exercised by ITSC and order has been passed, such enhancement has been held valid.

47. Even otherwise, we should also keep in mind that scope of judicial review in respect of final orders of ITSC is extremely limited. ITSC is a kind of statutory authority. Background facts with regard to constitution of ITSC have been considered in Shreeram v. Settlement Commission 118 ITR 169. It was held that purpose is to settle a tax dispute expeditiously which will serve cause of nation needing huge resources for its vast welfare schemes. ITSC is to be manned by persons of impeccable integrity and unquestioned competence. Great expertise and greater responsibility in the decision-making process are integral parts of its independent functioning. It has to free itself from extraneous considerations or alien influences. It is not reasonable for an Assessee or Revenue to expect that ITSC should function as if it is a mere rubber stamp or yet another limb of ordinary executive mechanism of tax-gatherers. Neither Revenue nor taxpayer can, therefore, play truant with that high, responsible, purpose-actuated and result-oriented mechanism.

48. In Director of Income-Tax (international Taxation) versus Income-Tax Settlement Commission and others (2014) 365 ITR 108(Bom), a Division Bench held that a suggestion made by ITSC, if accepted by Assessee to bring an end to that dispute with Revenue, it cannot be said to be a case of revised application or multiple disclosures by Assessee. Assessee has not detracted disclosure made in application but further amount offered by ITSC, as a gesture of bonafide or goodfaith, if accepted by Assessee, cannot be treated at par with a case where Assessee has withdrawn earlier application and filed another application disclosing additional income. Acceptance of certain amount before ITSC on its suggestion would not amount to, as if, original application did not contain full and true disclosure.

49. Nothing of that sort has been shown to us also during course of argument by Shri Manish Goel as to how application filed by Assessee did not contain true and full particulars disclosing of his income.

50. So far as valuation of stock is concerned, even on broader side we asked him to show as to how an inventory of stock with Assessee by itself can be said to be an "income". Nothing could be substantiated by him to show that valuation of stock by itself can be treated to be "income", liable for tax under Act 1961. The entire dispute on account of additional income accepted by Assessee before ITSC is in respect to valuation of stock. Act 1961 does not contain any specific provision for valuation of stock. Profit and gain, however, must be computed in the manner provided by Act 1961. It is the duty of Officer concerned to determine profit and loss of Assessee according to correct principles of accounting. For that purpose he may depend upon nature of business and its special character, allow certain adjustments but primary purpose and object is to deduce correct income, profit and gains. The Revenue Official cannot do without taking into account value of stock entered at the beginning and at the end of the year by ascertaining difference between two.

51. In Commissioner of Income Tax versus British Paints India Ltd. (1991) 188 ITR 44, Court said, that a well recognized principle of commercial accounting to enter in the profit and loss account is the value of stock-in-trade at the beginning and at the end of the accounting year at cost or market price whichever is lower. Court cited an observation of Lord President in Whimster and Co. versus CIR (1925) 12 Tax Cases 813, It says:

"..... in computing the balance of profit and gains for the purposes of incomes-tax,two general and fundamental common places have always to be kept in mind. In the first place, the profits of any particular year or accounting period must be taken to consist of the difference between the receipts from the trade or business during such year or accounting period and the expenditure laid out to earn those receipts. In the second place, the account of profits & loss to be made up for the purpose of ascertaining that difference must be framed consistently with the ordinary principles of commercial accounting, so far as applicable and in conformity with the rules of the Act, 1961, or of that Act as modified by the provisions and schedules of the Acts regulating excess profits duty, as the case may be. For example, principles of commercial accounting require that in the profit and loss accounts of merchant's or manufacturer's business, the values of the stock- in-trade at the beginning and at the end of the period covered by the account should be entered at cost or market price, whichever is lower, although there is nothing about this in the taxing statute....."

52. In Commissioner of Income Tax versus British Paints India Ltd.(Supra) Court also said, where market value has fallen before the date of valuation and on that date, market value of article is less than its actual cost, Assessee is entitled to value the articles at market value and thus anticipate loss which he will probably incur at the time of sale of goods.

53. Valuation of stock-in-trade at cost or market value, whichever is lower, is a matter entirely within the discretion of Assessee. But whichever method he adopts, it should disclose a true picture of his profit and gains. If, on the other hand, he adopts a system which does not disclose true state of affairs for determination of tax, even if ideally suited for other purposes of his business, such as the creation of a reserve declaration of dividends, planning and the like, it is duty of Assessing Officer to adopt any such computation as he deems appropriate for proper determination of true income of Assessee. This is not only a right but a duty that is placed on the Officer, in terms of first proviso to Section 145 which concerns a correct and complete account but which, in the opinion of Officer does not disclose a true and proper income.

54. In Chainrup Sampatram versus Commissioner of Income Tax (1953) 24 ITR 481 (SC), Court said that it is not correct to assume that valuation of closing stock at market rate has, for its object, to bring into charge any appreciation in the value of such stock. The true purposes of crediting the value of unsold stock is to balance the cost of those stock entered on the other side of the account at the time of their purchase so that cancelling out of entries relating to the same stock from both sides of the account would leave only the transaction on which there have been actual sales in the course of the year, showing profit or loss, actually realised on the year's trading.

55. In Shakti Trading Company versus Commissioner of Income Tax (2001) 250 ITR 871 (SC), Court observed that as no prudent trader would care to show increased profit before its actual realization, that is the theory underlying the rule that closing stock is to be valued at cost or market price whichever is lower. (Cost here means raw material plus expenditure).

56. In Commissioner of Income Tax versus Bannari Amman Sugars Ltd. (2012) 349 ITR 708 (SC) Court observed that valuation of opening and closing stock is a very important aspect of ascertainment of true profits. An improper valuation could result in rejection of books of account though all that is needed for rectifying it, is to make an addition or necessary adjustment based on proper valuation. Valuation of stock, whatever be the method, should be consistently followed. Method of valuation is generally at cost or the market value, whichever of the two is lower. However, it is open to the Assessing Officer to probe accounts so as to arrive at the real income.

57. Profits of business could only be ascertained by comparison of assets and liabilities of the business at the opening and closing of the accounting year. The method that an Assessee adopts for closing is an integral part of accounting, within the meaning of section 145. There are different methods of valuation of closing stock. The popular system is cost or market, whichever is lower. However, adjustments may have to be made in the principle, having regard to the special character of assets, the nature of the business, the appropriate allowances permitted, etc., to arrive at taxable profits.

58. In Commissioner of Income Tax versus Ponni Sugars and Chemicals Ltd. (Supra) (2008) 306 ITR 392 (SC) closing stock of incentive sugar should be allowed to be valued at levy price, was upheld though it was less than the cost of manufacture of sugar, this is one example of adjustment in special cases.

59. Similar views have been expressed in Commissioner of Income Tax, Delhi versus Woodward Governor India Private Limited (2009) 13 SCC 1 observing that Act 1961 makes no provision with regard to valuation of stock. The ordinary principle of commercial accounting requires that in profit and loss account, value of stock-in-trade at the beginning and at the end of the accounting year should be entered at cost or market price whichever is lower. This is how business profits arising during the year need to be computed. Court observed "For valuing the closing stock at the end of a particular year, the value prevailing on the last date is relevant. This is because profit/loss is embedded in the closing stock. While anticipated loss is taken into account, anticipated profit in the shape of appreciated value of closing stock is not brought into account, as no prudent trader would care to show increased profits before actual realisation. This is the theory underlying the rule that closing stock is to be valued at cost or market price, whichever is lower. As profits for income tax purposes are to be computed in accordance with ordinary principles of commercial accounting, unless such principles stand superseded or modified by legislative enactments, unrealized profits in the shape of appreciated value of goods remaining unsold at the end of the accounting year and carried over to the following year's account in a continuing business are not brought to the charge as a matter of practice, though as stated above, loss due to fall in the price below cost is allowed even though such loss has not been realized actually.

60. There are dozen of authorities on the question as to how value in stock is to be taken but our purpose is not to write down a thesis on the subject but only to highlight the fact that as a matter of fact, method of determination of valuation of stock in the case in hand by taking tag price of the goods lying in stock was something which has never been recognized either in any recognized system or for the purposes of computation of tax under the fiscal statute. Revenue in the case in hand determined valuation of stock on the basis of tag price of goods and raised dispute. If contested, Assessee might have got success to a larger extent but his intention appears to be quite bonafide and reasonable that he wanted to give a quietus to the entire dispute, and therefore, whatever determination was made giving a marginal discount towards commission, when it was offered by ITSC to Assessee to accept as additional income, he accepted and agreed for payment of tax thereon

61. Before ITSC it was not the case of Revenue that valuation of stock represented income not already disclosed by Assessee, or that the Assessee has concealed income by under valuation of stock.

62. Be that as it may, real objection on the part of Revenue raised before us is the acceptance by Assessee of an offer made by ITSC during proceedings for accepting an additional income and submission is that it amounts to withdrawal of application disclosing particular income and substituting the same by another quantum of income. This submission, in our view is not correct. During proceeding before ITSC, it has ample power, to go for such offer as that is the process implicit in 'settlement' and such settlement cannot be read or interpreted in a restricted and narrow manner as suggested by Shri Goel on the part of Revenue.

63. Looking to these facts in its entirety, we do not find any manifest error or infirmity in the decision taken by ITSC being contrary to any provision of statute so as to warrant interference.

64. Even otherwise, Scope of judicial review against order passed by ITSC is extremely limited. Court would not be justified in re-appreciating findings based on record. In Jyotendrashinhji versus S.I.Tripathi (1993) 201 ITR 611/68 Taxman 59, it was held, if the order of ITSC is contrary to any provision of Act or is directed on account of bias, fraud and malice, only then judicial review is permissible and not otherwise. Similar view was expressed in Union of India & Ors.v.Ind-Swift Laboratories Ltd. (2011) 4 SCC 635 where Court said that an order passed by Settlement Commission could be interfered with only if said order is found to be contrary to any provisions of Act.

65. In the ultimate result, we are of the view that order of ITSC in the case in hand warrants no interference as there is no contravention of any provision of statute and ITSC has not committed any manifest error so as to warrant interference in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

66. Writ petition lacks merits and is dismissed.

67. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amar Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed by the appellants Dev Dutt and Hori against the judgement and order dated 15.12.1984 passed by the Special Judge, Budaun in ST No. 497 of 1981, under sections 399/402 IPC and 25 Arms Act, PS Rajpura, district Buduan whereby learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellants to three years RI under section 399 IPC, two years RI under Section 402 IPC and two years RI under section 25(1)(a) of the Arms Act. However, all the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. The facts giving rise to the present appeal are that in the night of 26.8.1979, Shri D.P. Jual, Station Officer, police station Rajpura received a secret information that a gang of dacoits would assemble in the grove of Guava in the night in village Firojpur to commit dacoity at the house of Roop Kishore, Pradhan of the village Shahjahanabad. On the basis of this information, SO, D.P. Jual along with SI Yashbir Singh, SI Nand Kishore, some police constables and informer left for above grove. When the police party reached village Sameri, constables Harpal and Suresh Chander have been sent to call public witnesses. After some times, they returned with Ompal Singh, Kalloo Singh and Sipahi Singh residents of village Sameri. Two constables were sent to the house of Roop Kishore, the Pradhan of Shahjahanabad, in whose house dacoity was to be committed. The police party was divided into two groups. One group was headed by SO D.P. Jual while the other was headed by SI Yashbir Singh. Party headed by SO D.P. Jual took position in the north-west of the hut in the grove while other party took position in the north-east of the hut. At about 11.45 PM from the southern side three miscreants came and sat near the hut. One of them is alleged to have remarked that he had brought wine for their entertainment. After 15-20 minutes they were joined by three other miscreants and all of them started gaging or murmuring. It is also alleged that they were overheard saying that they should not drink much as it is likely to spoil their plan. Thereafter one of them went inside the hut and returned back after keeping the bottle of the wine in the hut. It is also alleged that they were over head saying that one of their companion namely Radhey was late in reaching there. It is further alleged that another dacoit was saying that he had seen the house of Roop Kishore, Pradhan and since they were sufficiently armed and they were sufficient in number they should go ahead with their plan without waiting for the arrival of Radhey. It is also alleged that after some time they were again overhead saying that they are getting late and they should go to commit dacoity. Thereafter, they got up to move away. On hearing the above talks SO D.P. Jual being satisfied that it was a gang of dacoits, he accordingly challenged them and asked them to surrender and VLP shots were fired. Police party apprehended three members of the gang namely Dev Dutt, Hori and Kunwar Pal while three others managed to run away.

3. On search being made of the apprehended accused, from the possession of Kunwar (now deceased) a gun (Ext. 1) and seven live cartridges (Exts. 2 to 8) along with a torch (Ext.9) were recovered. From the possession of the accused Dev Dutt, a pistol (Ext. 10) and three live cartridges (Exts. 11 to 13) were recovered, whereas from the possession of accused Hori, a pistol (Ext. 14) and four live cartridges (Ext. 15 to 18) were recovered. A bottle of wine was also recovered from the hut. Recovered articles were sealed and its recovery memo Ext. Ka-1 was prepared. Thereafter the apprehended accused were taken to the police station and a case was got registered against them.

4. After registration of the case and after seeking necessary permission of the District Magistrate, Budaun for prosecution of above accused under section 25(1)(a) of the Arms Act, they were challaned and separate charge sheets were filed against them.

5. Charges under sections 399/402 IPC and 25(1)(a) of the Arms Act were framed against accused Dev Dutt and Hori.

6. To bring home the guilt of the accused, the prosecution has examined as many as four prosecution witnesses.

7. PW 1 is SI Nand Kishore, who is an eye-witness of the incident. He deposed that on 26.8.1979 he was posted as SI at police station Rajpura. On that date on the information of the informer that a gang of dacoits will assemble at the grove of guava at about 11.30-12.00 in the night and commit dacoity in the house of Pradhan of village Shahjahabad. On the basis of said information this witness along with SO D.P. Jaul and requisite force left for village Firojpur. This witness also called the public witnesses namely Ompal Singh, Sipahi Singh and Kalloo Singh and apprehended the accused there. From the possession of the accused Dev Dutt, Hoti and Kunawar Pal arms and ammunition (Ext. 1 to 18) were recovered and recovery memo (Ext. Ka-1) was prepared and thereafter all above-mentioned apprehended accused were brought to the police station and a case was registered.

8. PW 2 is Moin Uddin, the investigating officer of the case. He deposed that after the case was entrusted to him for investigation, he recorded the statements of the witnesses. On the pointing out of the SO D.P. Jaul, he inspected the spot and prepared site plan (Ext. Ka-4) and after completion of the investigation, he submitted the charge sheet against the accused under section 399/402 IPC, Ext. Ka-5. He also submitted the charge sheet separately against the accused under section 25 of the Arms Act, which he proved as Ext. Ka 6 to Ka-8 and obtained sanction for the prosecution of the aforesaid accused under section 25 of the Arms Act from the District Magistrate, Budaun, which he proved as Ext. Ka 9 to 11.

9. PW 3 is S.O, D.P. Jaul. He deposed that on 26.8.1979 he was posted as Station Officer, police station Rajpura. He corroborated the statements of PW 1 and stated that accused Dev Dutt, Hori and Kunwar Pal were arrested from the grove of village Firojpur where they had assembled to commit dacoity at the house of Roop Kishore of Village Shahjahanabad and they were making preparation to commit dacoity. He further deposed that from the apprehended accused gun, pistols, cartridges and torch were recovered (Ext. 1 to 18).

10. PW 4, Sipahi Singh is also an eye witness of the incident. He corroborated the statements of PWs 1 and 3. He further stated that he was present when accused Dev Dutt, Hori and Kunwar Pal were arrested along with firearm weapons and cartridges.

11. After close of prosecution evidence, the statements of accused persons were recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C., in which they have stated that they have falsely been implicated in the case due to enmity with the police. However, in defence, they have also produced three defence witnesses.

12. DW 1 is Buddhi Singh. He deposed that he is the resident of village Firojpur. In his village, only he owns a grove of guava and from his grove no gang of dacoits was ever apprehended by the police of police station Rajpura.

13. DW 2, Jaswant Singh, stated that in his presence accused Hori was taken away by the two police constables from his house on the pretext that Station Officer had called him. This witness further deposed that next day when he went to the police station, he was informed that Hori had been challenged because he had a connection with one Radhey who was also a dacoit and since he did not help the police in apprehending Radhey, he was falsely implicated in the present case.

14. DW 3 is Jaivir Singh. He deposed that accused Dev Dutt was picked up from his house by one sub-Inspector at about 8.00 or 8.30 PM on the pretext that he would sent him back from the police station in the morning. This witness further deposed that later on, he learnt that accused Dev Dutt had been falsely implicated in the present case.

15. The learned lower court, after perusing the record and hearing the counsel for the parties, convicted the appellants as stated herein-above.

16. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the findings of conviction recorded by the learned Special Judge, Budaun, the accused-appellants have preferred this appeal questioning the impugned order.

17. Heard Shri Pradeep Mishra, holding brief of Shri Vinay Saran, learned counsel for the appellants and learned Additional Government Advocate for the State-respondent and perused the trial court record.

18. Learned counsel for the appellants contended that sections 399/402 IPC will not be attracted in this case. The appellants have falsely been implicated in the present case because of their enmity with the police. Learned counsel for the appellants further submits that there are contradictions in the testimony of the witnesses. Only one public witness namely Sipahi Singh has been examined who appears to be a stock witness of the police. Nothing has been recovered from the possession of the appellants and the recovery have been planted on the appellants and recovered weapons were not sent for forensic laboratory for examination.

19. While supporting the impugned judgement, learned Additional Government Advocate contended that the findings of fact recorded by the trial court is based on evidence, which was clear, cogent and convincing. Hence, the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

20. In the present case, the allegations against the appellants are that they have assembled together in the grove of guava in village Firojpur and were planning to commit dacoity in the house of Roop Kishore, Pradhan of the village, which is punishable under section 399/402 IPC.

21. For better understanding, Sections 399 and 402 IPC are reproduced herein under:

"399. Whoever makes any preparation for committing dacoity, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine.

402. whoever at any time after the passing of this Act, shall be one of five or more persons assembled for the purpose of committing dacoity, shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

22. In order to prove the charge under sections 399/402 IPC, it is necessary for the prosecution to prove that five or more persons have assembled with the intention to commit dacoity, which is punishable under section 402 IPC, whereas for proving the offence under section 399 IPC, it is necessary for the prosecution to prove that some additional steps have been taken in the course of preparation to commit dacoity. In the present case, the allegations as well as the evidence led by the prosecution is that Station House Officer, PS Rajpura received a secret information from the informer that a gang of dacoits would assemble in the grove of guava in village Firojpur in the night to commit dacoity in the house of Roop Kishore, Pradhan of the village Shahjahanabad. Accordingly police reached the spot and apprehended only three accused namely Dev Dutt, Hori and Kunwar Pal while three accomplices managed to escape. Despite there being sufficient number of police officials present at the spot, how three accused managed to escape is a question, which the prosecution has failed to give answer and neither any step has been taken by the police to apprehend the remaining accused nor the police constables, who chased the accused were examined so as to establish the charge under section 402 IPC, i.e. assembly to commit dacoity.

23. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shridhar Koeri Vs. State of Bihar, 2001 (43) ACC 5 has held that the mere fact that the accused was arrested on the spot and some articles including fire arms were recovered from his possession would not be sufficient to prove the charge that he had assembled for making preparation for commission of dacoity.

24. Learned counsel for appellants contended that there are major discrepancies or inconsistency in the evidence of prosecution witnesses; that police witness Sipahi Singh is the stock witness of the police and cannot be relied upon and that the trial Court had discarded the evidence of defence witnesses wrongly.

25. On perusal, I find that there are some contradictions in the statements of PWs. PW 1-SI Nand Kishore in his evidence has stated that police party on receiving secret information went up to Babrala in a Bus and the witnesses of public were joined by the police party from bus stand Rajpura, Whereas PW 3-Inspector D.P. Jual stated that the police party went to the place of incident on foot. Further according to PW 3-Inspector D.P. Jual, public witnesses joined the police party at village Sameri and not at the bus stand as stated by PW 1. PWs 1 and 3 have stated that the accused were tied with rope while they were taken to the police station, whereas PW 4 has stated that the accused were tied with a cloth and not with a rope.

26. As regards contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that only one public witness namely Sipahi Singh has been examined who is said to be stock witness of the police, I find that in the FIR three persons namely Ompal Singh, Kalloo Singh and Sipahi Singh have been mentioned as public witnesses, but only Sipahi Singh has been examined by the prosecution as PW 4. Sipahi Singh has admitted that he had earlier given evidence for the police in a case under the Excise Act and also in another case under sections 399/402 IPC. Therefore, it cannot be denied that above witness is not the stock witness.

27. It is also contended that defence evidence was discarded or disbelieved by the trial court because witnesses were resident of the same village of the accused. DW 1 is Buddhi Singh. He stated that in his village only he owns a grove of guava and from his grove, no gang of dacoits was ever apprehended by the police. DW 2, Jaswant Singh, has stated that in his presence accused Hori was taken away from his house because he had a connection with Radhey, who was also dacoit and since he did not help the police for apprehending said Radhey and police had a motive for false implication.

28. It is a matter of fact that DW 1, Buddhi Singh is the grove holder and investigation is silent on this point for the reason better known to the investigating officer. The evidence of the grove holder regarding assembly of the dacoits cannot be disbelieved by saying that no suggestion was given to the prosecution witnesses that grove from where accused were apprehended belongs to DW 1 Buddhi. For assessment or evaluation of evidence of defence witness, separate yardstick cannot be applied, but the efforts are being made by the trial court to discard the defence evidence illegally.

29. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dudh Nath Pandey Vs. State Of U.P. (1981)2 SCC 166 has held that defence witnesses are entitled to equal treatment with those of the prosecution. And, courts ought to overcome their traditional, instinctive disbelief in defence witnesses. Quite often, they tell lies but so do the prosecution witnesses.

30. The prosecution case in hand, suffers from infirmity as neither any firing was said to be done by the miscreants assembled with deadly weapon nor the person in whose residence dacoity was to be committed was examined. All these things such as inconsistency, discrepancy and infirmities throw a cloud or doubt on genesis of the case for which appellants are entitled to be acquitted after getting benefit of doubt (Chhotey Singh and others Vs. State, 2004(50) ACC 101).

31. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that the recovery has been planted on the appellants and the recovered items were not sent to Forensic Laboratory for ascertaining as to whether the weapons recovered were in working condition or not. He has placed reliance on the case law of Jaspal Singh Vs. State of Punjab, reported in AIR 199 SC 1548, in which it has been observed:

"Admittedly, no evidence was led by the prosecution to prove that the gun was in working condition and that the cartridges, which were found from the person of the appellants were live cartridges. Neither ASI Balbir Singh had stated so nor any report from an expert was obtained to establish that the gun was in working condition and that five cartridges were live. What was found in the gun were two empty and not live cartridges and, therefore, it was not proper to presume that it was in working condition. In absence of any evidence to that effect, the conviction of the appellants under both these aforesaid sections cannot be upheld."

32. Further, reliance has been placed on the case law of State of Punjab Vs. Jagga Singh, AIR 1998 SC 3113, wherein, Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

"Though the evidence of PW 1, HC Baldev Singh and PW 3, Basant Singh establishes that the respondent was found in possession of one 12 bore DBBL gun and found live cartridges, there is no satisfactory evidence to show that the said gun and the cartridges were sent for examination by the Central Forensic Scientific Laboratory. There is no report from the Forensic Scientific Laboratory nor any other evidence to prove that the said gun was in a working condition or that the said cartridges were live cartridges..... Therefore, in absence of any evidence to show that the respondent was found in possession of one .12 bore DBBL gun in a working condition and four live cartridges, the respondent cannot be convicted."

33. In the case of State of UP Vs. Punni, 2008 Cr.L.J 1028 (SC), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that dacoits were arrested without any resistance or struggle and contents in the FIR that police had received information from an informer was not supported by the sub-Inspector. The accused were held entitled to acquittal.

34. In view of what has been indicated herein above, I am of the opinion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the case against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt. Recovery of pistols and cartridges from the appellants are also doubtful in the absence of any CFSL report and benefit of doubt is to be given to the appellants.

35. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The impugned judgement and order dated 15.12.1984 passed by the Special Judge, Budaun is set aside. The appellants Dev Dutt and Hori are acquitted of the charges levelled against them. The appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. The appellants are directed to comply with the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C.

36. Let a copy of this order be sent to the court concerned for compliance.

THE HON'BLE BALA KRISHNA NARAYANA, J.
THE HON'BLE ARVIND KUMAR MISHRA-I, J.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1099 Of 2005

Smt. Shanti Devi

...Appellant

Versus

State Of U.P.

...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

B.R.J. Pandey, Amar Nath Tiwari, Arvind Kumar Srivastava, Ramendra Nath Tewari, V.P.S. Kushwaha, V.S. Kushwaha

Counsel for the Respondent:

Government Advocate (Shri J.K. Upadhyay, Kumari Meena, Ms. Manju Thakur, A.G.As.)

Headnote:

Penal Code, 1860 — Sections 302, 201 — Murder and causing disappearance of evidence — Appeal against conviction — Case based entirely on circumstantial evidence — Alleged illicit relationship as motive — Recovery of dead body at pointing out of accused — No proof of presence of accused at place of occurrence at relevant time — Chain of circumstances incomplete — Benefit of doubt — Acquittal.

The appeal was directed against the judgment and order dated 03.02.2005 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge (Fast Track Court), Sonbhadra in Sessions Trial No. 81 of 2002, whereby the appellant was convicted under Sections 302 and 201 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment with fine under Section 302 IPC and five years' rigorous imprisonment with fine under Section 201 IPC, sentences to run concurrently.

The prosecution case rested wholly on circumstantial evidence. The circumstances relied upon were: (i) alleged screaming of the deceased from the house, (ii) alleged presence of the appellant in the house at the relevant time, (iii) suspicion arising from freshly plastered courtyard and blood-stained articles, (iv) alleged illicit relationship between the appellant and her brother-in-law as motive, and (v) recovery of the dead body at the pointing out of the appellant.

Held, that in cases based on circumstantial evidence, the prosecution must establish each circumstance beyond reasonable doubt and the chain of circumstances must be so complete as to exclude every hypothesis except that of guilt of the accused. The vital link of presence of the appellant inside the house at the time of occurrence was not established by cogent and reliable evidence. The testimony of prosecution witnesses did not conclusively prove her presence at the relevant time. The alleged motive of illicit relationship was also not satisfactorily proved.

Further held, that in the absence of proof of the accused's presence at the scene of occurrence, the chain of circumstances was incomplete. Where there is a break in the chain of circumstances, the accused is entitled to benefit of doubt. The trial court erred in recording conviction on the basis of conjectures and misappreciation of evidence.

Result: Appeal allowed. Judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 03.02.2005 set aside. Appellant acquitted of charges under Sections 302 and 201 IPC and directed to be released forthwith, unless required in any other case.

1. The arguments of this case concluded on 11.08.2016.

2. We then made the following order:-

"Heard Shri Amar Nath Tiwari learned counsel for the appellant and Shri J.K. Upadhyay, Kumari Meena as well as Ms. Manju Thakur, learned A.G.As. for the State.

We will given reasons later but we make the operative order now.

The appeal is allowed. Impugned judgment and order dated 3.2.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, (F.T.C.) Sonebhadra, in Session Trial No. 81 of 2002 (State Vs. Shanti Devi) convicting the appellant under sections 302, 201 I.P.C. is hereby set aside. The appellant is acquitted of all the charges framed against her. Appellant is in jail. She shall be released forthwith unless and until she is wanted in any other case.

There shall be no order as to cost."

3. Here are the reasons:-

The present criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellant Shanti Devi against the judgment and order of conviction dated 03.02.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court, Sonebhadra, in Sessions Trial No.81 of 2002 arising out of Case Crime No.16 of 2002 (State Vs. Shanti Devi) under Sections 302, 201 IPC, Police Station Pannuganj, District Sonbhadra, whereby she has been convicted under Sections 302, 201 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.2000/- on the first count and five years rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.1000/- on the second count, in default of payment of fine, she will have to suffer additional imprisonment for two years and one year, respectively. Both the sentences shall run concurrently.

4. Heard Sri Amar Nath Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri J.K. Upadhyay, Kumari Meena as well as Ms. Manju Thathur, learned AGAs for the State and perused the record.

5. The facts of this case as discernible from record appear to be; that in this case, the first informant Sangeeta wife of Paras Kushwaha, resident of Village Lauvari, Police Station Pannuganj, District Sonbhadra, lodged written report on 05.02.2002 regarding death of Santosh, husband of the appellant with the allegation that yesternight, she was sleeping at her home when she heard some noise from the house of Prasad Bhatt situated to the southern side of her house at a distance of 100 yards, where Santosh, Ashok and Shanti Devi (accused-appellant) wife of Santosh usually resided. Prasad Bhatt had gone somewhere to meet his son. It was around 8:00 to 9:00 p.m., Santosh was screaming loudly "uncle save me",-whereupon she came out of her house and went to the backyard of house of Prasad Bhatt and heard some thumping noise as if someone is digging the earth. She waited for a while when digging sound continued, she got scared of digging/thumping sound, therefore, she came back to home and slept. Next day morning, she woke up around 7:00 am and the sun had risen. She told about this incident to one Chandra Shekhar (of the village) that there was some hue and cry in the house of Santosh at night. Santosh shrieked two or three times. Today, whereabouts of Santosh are not known. Raja Ram son of Chandra Shekhar asked the wife of Santosh about his (Santosh) whereabouts, whereupon she informed that Santosh had gone to take care of her mother and from there he will move to 'Nanihal' where he will drive tractor. In the meanwhile, co-villagers Lallu, Ram Chander, Narayan, Bachcha and Mangaru etc. arrived on the spot. They also enquired from the appellant whereupon the appellant said whether they have come for committing dacoity in her house. The villagers saw fresh cow dung paste in Osari (courtyard) of the house, one blood stained 'Gamchha' partially burnt and blood stained ashes thrown outside the house which generated apprehension regarding death of Santosh. The appellant in connivance with her Devar (brother-in-law) Ashok has murdered Santosh and they have caused disappearance of the dead body. Ashok was sighted at his house in the morning but he absconded after seeing the villagers. Report be lodged and appropriate action be taken. This written report is Ext. Ka-1.

6. Relevant entries regarding contents of the first information report was made in the Check FIR at Crime No.16 of 2002 under Sections 302, 201 IPC, Police Station Pannuganj, District Sonbhadra on 05.02.2002 at 11:05 a.m. Check FIR is Ext. Ka-12

7. Thereafter investigation ensued. Investigation was taken over by the Investigating Officer who inspected the place of the occurrence and made inquiry from the appellant Shanti Devi who told him that she in connivance with her Devar (brother-in-law) Ashok have murdered Santosh and have buried his body inside the room of the house. Thereafter, dead body of the deceased Santosh was recovered at the pointing out of the appellant from southern side room of the house. After recovery of the dead body, recovery memo was prepared on the spot and it was signed by the appellant and the witnesses namely Ramji Yadav and Sangeeta. This recovery memo is Ext. Ka-4

8. The Investigating Officer also took simple and blood stained soil from the place of the recovery of the dead body and also blood stained ashes and blood stained piece of 'Gamchha'. Recovery memo was prepared which is Ext Ka-10 Thereafter, inquest report of the deceased Santosh was prepared by the Investigating Officer. Inquest report reveals that process commenced around 1:15 p.m. and ended at 2:30 p.m. on 05.02.2002. Inquest report is Ext. Ka-5. In the opinion of-inquest witnesses-it was thought proper to send the dead body for post mortem examination so that cause of death could be ascertained properly.

9. Thereafter relevant papers were prepared for sending the dead body for post mortem examination which paper are; Police Form 13 Challan of dead body Ext. Ka-6, Challan Nash Ext. Ka-7, Specimen Seal Ext. Ka-8, letter to Chief Medical Superintendent, District Hospital Sonebhadra Ext. Ka-9. Post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Santosh was conducted by Dr. R.C. Yadav, at District Hospital Sonebhadra on 06.02.2002 at 1:45 p.m. wherein following ante mortem injuries were noted:

1. Incised wound 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x brain deep on right side of head, 5 cm post to ear, obliquely towards upper part of neck. Margins are regular and clean.
2. Incised wound 6 cm x .5 cm x brain deep just below injury no.1. Margins same.
3. Incised wound 6 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x brain deep just below the injury no.2. Margins same.
4. Incised wound 7 cm x .5 cm x bone deep 1 cm below injury no.3 towards lower part of neck. Margins same.
5. Incised wound 4 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x muscle deep on upper part of neck, 4 cm below right ear of bone. Margins clean and regular.
6. Incised wound 12 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x trachea and carotid and jugular and vessel deep on right side of neck. Transversely placed 2 cm below the injury no.5. Margins are same.
7. Peeling off skin on area of 7 cm x 6 cm on right shoulder.
8. Abrasion and contusion on back of right shoulder.
9. Incised wound 10 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ on right side on face of muscle deep from right angle of mouth towards right ear. Margins are clean and regular.
10. Incised wound 7 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ x tendon deep front of wrist towards outward right palm. Margins regular and clean.
11. Incised wound of 4 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x tendon deep of left palm. Margins same.
12. Amputation of left index finger from its base except some skin tags.
13. Incised wound 6 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x muscle deep on right side of back 10 cm above illiac waist. Margins same.
14. Incised wound 4 cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x skin deep on upper and between both buttock. Margins same.

15. Incised wound 5 cm x ½ cm x muscle deep on left wrist on front side. Margins same.

16. Peeling off skin of front of left ring finger.

17. Incised wound 6 cm x ½ cm x muscle deep on outer side of right knee joint. Margins same.

18. Incised wound 5 cm x ½ cm x bone deep on outer of right leg, 3 cm below the right knee joint. Margins same.

19. Incised wound 3 cm x ½ x tendon deep on upper right foot 6 cm away to right ankle. Margins regular and clean.

20. Partial amputation of 4th toe of right foot.

21. Contusion depressed 7 cm x 1 cm in front of neck, 1 cm below injury no.6. Circumference of neck is 34 cm.

10. Cause of death was opined to be shock and haemorrhage due to ante mortem injuries. Duration of death was said to be one and half day. This post mortem examination report is Ext. Ka-14.

11. The Investigating Officer also sent the aforesaid blood stained soil and piece of Gamchha, simple soil, red pant, shirt, underwear etc. for chemical examination, report whereof dated 25.09.2002 was obtained and placed on record, which is Ext. Ka-16. The Investigating Officer also prepared site plan of place of occurrence which is Ext. Ka-11. After completing investigation, Investigating Officer PW-7, S.S.I. Umesh Pratap filed charge sheet against the appellant at Case Crime No.16 of 2002 under Sections 302, 201 IPC. Charge sheet is Ext. Ka-15.

12. Thereafter the case of the appellant was committed to the court of Sessions from where it was made over for trial to the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Sonebhadra who heard the appellant on point of charge and after recording his satisfaction regarding prima facie case for framing charge under Section 302, 201 IPC, framed charge under the aforesaid sections of IPC. Charges were read over and explained to the appellant who denied charges and opted for trial.

13. Consequently, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony, whereupon the prosecution produced in all seven witnesses. Brief reference of the same is as hereunder:

14. Smt. Sangeeta PW-1 has lodged the first information report. Ram Chander PW-2, Lallu Prasad PW-3, Ram Raj PW-4. They are witnesses of fact. Hari Murti Singh PW-5 is Investigating Officer. He has detailed various steps which he took in completing the investigation. He has also proved Check FIR and entries made in the relevant GD as Ext. Ka-12 and Ext. Ka-13, respectively.

Dr. R.C. Yadav PW-6 has conducted post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Santosh on 06.02.2002 and he has proved the same Ext. Ka-14. Umesh Pratap Singh PW-7 is subsequent Investigating Officer. He has also detailed steps taken during investigation. He filed charge sheet against the appellant.

15. Thereafter, evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of the appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein she has termed her implication in this case falsely and stated that at the time of the occurrence, she was not present at her home but she had gone to the house of her 'Chachiya' father-in-law at Laxmanpur where villagers informed her about murder of her husband whereupon she came to the village then she was arrested by the police and taken to the police station.

16. Learned trial court after hearing both the sides on merit and considering the material on record passed the aforesaid judgment and order of conviction and sentence.

17. Consequently, this appeal.

18. Sri A.N. Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellant has contended that this is a case purely based on circumstantial evidence and chain of circumstances is grossly incomplete and various vital links of the incident are missing. It is settled principle of law that in the case of circumstantial evidence, motive has got to be proved satisfactorily and all hypothesis of innocence of the accused should be excluded and the chain of circumstances or various links of evidence should be so complete as to rule out involvement of any other person in the commission of the offence other than the accused.

19. Learned counsel for the appellant has further claimed that there is no evidence on record regarding presence of the appellant inside her house on the day of the occurrence. For the sake of argument, if it is admitted that the first informant arrived at the backyard of the house of the deceased Santosh even then she heard screaming sound of the deceased Santosh only. She had no occasion to take extra interest in lodging of the first information report and she has not made it clear as to how she alone was interested in getting the first information report lodged. The whole prosecution story is full of loophole and contradiction which does not inspire confidence. The appellant had no motive to commit murder of her own husband. The hypothesis of guilt of the appellant is not established to the exclusion of others. The motive of illicit relationship between the deceased Santosh and the appellant has not been established by cogent evidence. Not a single prosecution witness has established the presence of the appellant inside the house at the time of the occurrence. In such a view, the trial court was not justified in acting on bald assumption and presumption and particularly, presumption of presence of the appellant inside the house at the time of the occurrence. The trial court erroneously based conclusion of guilt which is outcome of misreading of evidence and circumstances.

20. Learned AGA while refuting the aforesaid arguments has submitted that no doubt, it is a case of circumstantial evidence but all the relevant facts and vital links of chain and circumstances have been satisfactorily proved and chain of circumstances is so complete as to leave aside every hypothesis of innocence of the appellant. It was the appellant alone who committed crime. It was upon the appellant to have established her plea of 'alibi' which she grossly failed. There is evidence of fact that some screaming sound was heard by the first informant. She informed about the incident the very next day morning to co-villager

Chandra Shekhar who sent his son Ram Raj to the house of Shanti Devi (accused-appellant) and he enquired about whereabouts of Santosh (deceased). Shanti Devi gave evasive reply and some fresh cow dung paste was seen in 'Osari' (courtyard) of the house which gave apprehension of death of husband of the appellant that he has been murdered and his dead body buried inside the house. In fact hypothesis of this case/fact is deeply rooted in the confessing oral statement of the appellant when the appellant herself confessed to have committed the crime. The dead body of the deceased Santosh was recovered from southern side room of her house at her pointing out by the Investigating Officer Hari Murti Singh, PW-5. Therefore, charge has been rightly proved against the appellant and conviction against the appellant recorded by the trial court is justified. Motive for committing crime has been proved as illicit relationship between brother-in-law (Devar) of the appellant and the appellant herself.

21. Before we proceed further and scrutinize evidence, facts and circumstances of the case, we may record with ample ease that it is a case based on circumstantial evidence. There is no eyewitness account testimony of fact of murder. The very foundation of this case is rooted in the first information report lodged by Sangeeta PW-1 wherein allegations have been made regarding fact that yesternight on 4/5.02.2002, it was around 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. when she was asleep in her house situated at a distance of 100 yard from the house of the appellant, she heard some screaming sound of the deceased Santosh urging for protection, whereupon the first informant went towards backyard of Santosh's house where she heard some repeated thumping sound which lasted for quite some time and it appeared that someone was digging the soil. At this, the first informant got scared, came back home and slept.

22. Next morning, on 05.02.2002 when she woke up, she informed about yesternight episode to one co-villager Chandra Shekhar at 7:00 a.m. whereupon Chandra Shekhar sent his son Ram Raj to the house of the appellant Shanti Devi where he enquired about whereabouts of Santosh but the appellant Shanti Devi gave evasive reply. In the meanwhile, a few villagers also arrived at the house of the appellant where they sighted fresh cleanliness done in the southern side room of 'Osari' (courtyard) whereupon they became apprehensive that Santosh has been killed. Thereafter the first information report was lodged at 11.05 a.m. at Police Station Pannuganj, District Sonbhadra.

23. Obviously, there are certain circumstances in the form of vital facts and links of this case. Firstly-screaming sound of deceased Santosh, secondly-presence of the deceased inside the house around 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. in the night of 04.02.2002 along with the appellant, thirdly-digging of soil inside the house, fourthly-illicit relationship between the appellant and Ashok-Dever-(brother-in-law) of the appellant during night of 04.02.2002 inside the house, fifthly-recovery of dead body of Santosh at the pointing out of the appellant Shanti Devi.

24. We have carefully scanned testimony of witnesses of fact namely Sangeeta PW-1, Ram Chander PW-2, Lallu Prasad PW-3 and Ram Raj PW-4 and we are constrained to observe that none of them have stated anything in their testimony which may even whisper about presence of the appellant at the relevant point of time of the occurrence inside the house when screaming sound of the deceased was repeatedly heard by Sangeeta PW-1.

25. We may record our appreciation regarding testimony of this witness-Sangeeta PW-1-wife of Paras Kushwaha who is witness of fact of hearing of screaming sound voice of deceased Santosh from the house-the place of occurrence. After hearing the screaming sound of Santosh, she rushed to the house of the appellant and she heard repeated thumping sound from backyard of the house of the appellant which looked as if someone was digging the earth. On the point of occurrence, there is no other reflection except as above. In so far as the fact of presence of the appellant Shanti Devi at the time of the occurrence is concerned that it synchronized with screaming sound of Santosh is altogether missing. In this view of the matter, presence of the appellant Shanti Devi at the relevant point of time inside the house has not been proved by any cogent testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact. Even no circumstance fair or otherwise has been brought forth that may lead us to infer her presence at that point of time inside her house.

26. At this stage, we may also record our satisfaction regarding testimony of the other prosecution witnesses. In this context, Ram Chander PW-2 has been produced who is witness to fact of recovery of dead body of the deceased from inside house of the deceased.

27. Lallu Prasad PW-3 has been produced to establish fact of illicit relationship between the appellant and Ashok and also presence of the appellant inside the house at the time of occurrence but he himself has stated in examination-in-chief that some altercation used to take place among the deceased Santosh, Ashok and the appellant Shanti Devi but he could not assign any cause for such quarrel. However, he has testified that the deceased Santosh was telling him that Ashok is interested in keeping his wife with him. This much will not itself establish the fact of existence of illicit relationship between the appellant Shanti Devi and Ashok. In his cross-examination, this witness has testified that he did guess work while he stated that the appellant was present in her house at the time of the occurrence. In this regard, he is improving his testimony for the first time in court, he has made such statement before the court first time which fact he has accepted in his cross-examination. He has not given any such type of statement to the Investigating Officer. In this view of the matter, PW-3 loses credibility and is not worthy of credence as his testimony is embellished and found to be improving, for the reason best known to the prosecution.

28. Ram Raj PW-4 as discussed above is witness of fact that he went to the house of the appellant on 05.02.2002 and enquired about the deceased Santosh from his wife (the appellant). He also sighted, in the presence of co-villagers, some newly done cleanliness work-in Osari (courtyard) of the house of the appellant and blood stained ashes thrown outside the house, which gave rise to apprehension that Santosh has been murdered. Apart from that particular factual aspect of the case, he has not testified on any other material aspect of the case.

29. We have also discussed the role of Investigating Officer, Hari Murti Singh PW-5. Dr. R.C. Yadav PW-6 who conducted post mortem examination on the cadaver of the deceased Santosh on 06.02.2002. He discovered as many as twenty one ante mortem injuries on various parts of the body of the deceased. Cause of death has been shown to be shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. Duration of death was stated to be one and half day. He has also opined that death of the deceased might have been caused around 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. on 4/5.02.2002. Thus time of death ranges between 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. on 4/5.02.2002. Thus presence of appellant at that point of time inside her house is the most vital link of the chain of circumstances.

30. However, one aspect of the case is quite relevant which appeared in cross examination of doctor witness (PW-6) that partially digested food was present in the stomach of the deceased Santosh but it has not been made clear as to how and when the deceased took meal, although this aspect of the case has got not much relevance in assessing veracity of this case. Therefore, no further discussion need be made on this point by us.

31. The overall outcome of testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact on record cumulatively fails to establish presence of the appellant on the spot. Even circumstances neither point out presence of the appellant on the spot nor is the same inferable from facts proved by the prosecution. We may conveniently record that principles involved in the matter of cases based on circumstantial evidence have been elaborated in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sardar Vs. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC page 16, wherein Hon'ble Apex Court has laid down certain principles regarding the case based on circumstantial evidence which are enumerated hereinbelow:

1. The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must or should be and not merely "may be" fully established.

2. The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

3. The circumstances should be conclusive nature and tendency.

4. They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved and,

5. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act have been done by the accused.

32. Thus circumstances pointed out that facts established should be consistent only with hypothesis of guilt of the accused should exclude every hypothesis except one said to be proved and the chain of evidence should be so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability, the accused committed crime. Only when all links in chain of circumstances/evidence are complete in themselves then false plea or false defence may be called into aid.

33. Here in this case, plea of alibi has been taken in the statement of the appellant recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that she was away from her house and was at the relevant point of time at the house of her "Chachiya" father-in-law. This aspect of the case is required to be dealt with at this stage by us, particularly on fact of presence of the appellant inside the house (place of occurrence) at the relevant point of time of the occurrence. Obviously, the prosecution evidence regarding presence of the appellant at the relevant point of time inside the house is woefully wanting that the accused was present at that time inside the house. Here links of chain in form of circumstances/evidence in the absence of presence of the appellant inside the house are miserably incomplete and this is center point of entire controversy as to who committed murder and in absence of establishment of fact of presence of the appellant inside the house, the vital factual link regarding presence of appellant at the time of incident is missing. When this is legal and factual position in respect of missing of vital link of evidence (presence) regarding the appellant then answer supplied under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and statement given by the appellant that she was "elsewhere" is sufficient to generate doubt, particularly on the fact that she and she alone was perpetrator of crime. Meaning thereby that in the absence of establishment of presence of appellant on the spot (inside) no criminality can be fastened upon her.

34. We may also conveniently record that possibility of some other person committing the offence in the absence of the appellant cannot be ruled out. The presence of another person, the appellant at the relevant point of time of the occurrence around 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. on 04.02.2002 can be reasonably drawn. Thus the factual link of chain is grossly incomplete. Obviously in this case there is break in chain of circumstances and the break is vital. In such type of cases law is well settled that benefit of doubt shall be given to the accused. In this regard, pertinent reference may be made of the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Annappa Bandu Kavatage (1979) 4 SCC page 715, wherein Hon'ble Apex Court has held that in circumstantial evidence case whenever there is a break in the chain of circumstances, the accused is and will be entitled to the benefit of doubt. There is a snap in the chain of circumstances, therefore, the present appellant is legally entitled to benefit so created in her favour. If the prosecution established fact of presence of the appellant inside the house at the relevant point of time then the plea of "alibi" taken by the appellant would have been required to have been proved reasonably on her behalf, but in this case the prosecution has failed to establish fact of her presence inside the house then the presumption of presence of the appellant inside the house will be imaginary and legally not conceivable. The plea of alibi may look false but because of failure of prosecution to establish fact of her presence it has got relevance, for the reasons aforesaid and will always be read in favour of the appellant under facts and attendant circumstances of this case. We know that man may tell a lie but circumstances do not. Here in absence of missing links of chain and circumstances, we are of the firm opinion that benefit of doubt arises in this case in favour of the appellant.

35. Learned trial court while appreciating evidence, facts and circumstances of the case on record probably misread the same and erroneously recorded finding of conviction and awarded sentence against the appellant which is legally not sustainable.

36. These are the reasons upon which we set aside the impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 03.02.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court, Sonebhadra, in Sessions Trial No.81 of 2002 arising out of Case Crime No.16 of 2002 (State Vs. Shanti Devi) under Sections 302, 201 IPC, Police Station Pannuganj, District Sonebhadra.

37. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for its information and necessary follow up action.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE AMAR SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1778 Of 2011

Lalit Kumar

...Appellant
Versus

State of U.P. & Anr.

...Respondents

Counsel for Appellant:

R.K. Pandey, Siddharth Singhal

Counsel for Respondents:

Government Advocate, Amit Daga, Pankaj Govil

Facts:

The appellant challenged the alleged compromise filed by opposite party Nand Kishore in Execution Case No. 11 of 2009 concerning the decree from Land Acquisition Reference No. 132 of 1994. The appellant claimed that the compromise was fabricated and sought action under section 340 Cr.P.C. The executing court dismissed the application as neither the decree holder (Guru Ratan Pal Singh) nor the counsel (Dinesh Singh) substantiated their affidavits.

Issues:

Whether a prima facie case under section 340 Cr.P.C. could be entertained when affidavits denying the compromise were on record but the deponents did not appear for cross-examination.

Headnote:

Appeal against the order dated 17.02.2011 of the Additional District & Sessions Judge, Procedural History: Court No. 9, Bulandshahar in Criminal Misc. Case No. 51 of 2010 (State vs. Nand Kishore) under section 340 Cr.P.C., whereby the appellant's application for initiating proceedings against alleged forgery and cheating was rejected.

Affidavits are not evidence under the Evidence Act and cannot be relied upon without cross-examination.

Section 340 Cr.P.C. proceedings require that the court be satisfied of expediency and presence of a false affidavit or evidence before initiating inquiry.

In the present case, the compromise was verified and accepted by the court and became part of the decree; any dispute can be challenged only through civil remedies.

The executing court's dismissal of the section 340 Cr.P.C. application was correct.

Result:

Appeal dismissed. No order as to costs.

B.K. Gupta vs. Damodar H. Bajaj & Ors., 2001 (42) ACC 1074
(Delivered by: Hon'ble Amar Singh Chauhan, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amar Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Appellant Lalit Kumar has preferred this criminal appeal against the order dated 17.2.2011, passed by the Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 9, Bulandshahar in Criminal Misc. Case No. 51 of 2010 (State vs. Nand Kishore) under section 340 Cr.P.C. whereby the application of the appellant moved under section 340 Cr.P.C. was rejected.

2. Brief facts which giving rise to this appeal are that the land situated in village Dungarpur Rilakha, Kasba Dankaur, Tehsil Sikandrabad, District Gautam Budh Nagar belonging to the Khalsa Sanyukt Sahkari Khet Samiti Limited (hereinafter referred to as the 'Society') was acquired by the Notification dated 02.12.1991 published on 03.01.1992 in favour of Krishi Utpadan Mandi, Dankaur and award was passed. The said Society was not satisfied with the award and chose to prefer Land Acquisition Reference (in short 'L.A.R.') before the court of District Judge, Bulandshahar which was registered as LAR No. 132 of 1994 and the court of Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 9, District Bulandshahar vide its judgement and order dated 30.1.2009 passed the award in favour of the said Society.

3. Guru Ratan Pal Singh as president of the said Society has filed execution proceeding against the said order before the court which was registered as Execution Case No. 11 of 2009 (Guru Ratan Pal Singh vs. State of U.P. & others). In pursuance of resolution dated 16.11.2005, the Society executed assignment deed dated 20.2.2009 in favour of the appellant Lalit Kumar as Secretary of Raj Hospital, who was permitted to get himself impleaded in the execution case. It was resolved that outcome of the LAR No. 132 of 1994 the decree may be transferred to the above trust for a sum of Rs. 2,50,000/-.

4. During pendency of the execution in pursuance of assignment deed dated 13.9.2002 opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore filed alleged compromise which stated to have been signed by the Advocate Dinesh Singh as well as counsel for the decree holder and counsel for opposite party no. 2 whereby it has been resolved that decretal amount of the award shall be equally divided between the appellant and opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore. After getting verification and accepting the compromise, the executing court directed the name of the opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore to be substituted in place of Guru Ratan Pal Singh.

5. Therefore, appellant moved application under section 340 Cr.P.C. with prayer that necessary proceeding be initiated against the responsible person as the alleged act come within the purview of offence of cheating.

6. After hearing the appellant and perusing the record of the application under section 340 Cr.P.C., application was dismissed by the executing court on the ground that the Guru Ratan Pal Singh. The decree holder and Advocate Dinesh Singh, counsel for the appellant did not make themselves present for examination and also to substantiate the affidavit said to be filed by them during the existence of factum of compromise as such prima facie case is not made out to proceed as per section 340 Cr.P.C.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the said order appellant filed this appeal.

8. I have heard Sri Siddharth Singhal, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Pankaj Govil, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State and perused the material available on record.

9. The main point of consideration is whether court below could have proceeded to dismiss the application merely for the reason that Guru Ratan Pal Singh and Dinesh Singh did not appear to give their statements especially with an affidavit filed by the said person were already on record and the court below was in possession of the entire record and whether prima facie case is made out to proceed as per section 340 Cr.P.C. against the respondent.

10. It is submitted by the appellant that the alleged compromise is stated to have been executed under the signature of the advocate Dinesh Singh from one side and from other advocate from the side of opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore. The court below has discarded the affidavit filed by the Advocate Dinesh Singh with respect to denying the existing of factum of entering any such compromise by saying that he did not appear to substantiate the affidavit. Opposite party no. 2 has come up with a fabricated piece of document i.e. compromise dated 30.10.2009 whereby the opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore claimed himself to be entitled for half of the decretal amount. It is further submitted that the statement of witnesses are not required to be considered under section 340 Cr.P.C. Learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the case law Arun Dhawan and another vs. Lokesh Dhawan, 2015 (188) Comp. Cases 161 in which it has been held that embargo as laid down by sections 195(1)(b)(i)&(ii). Criminal Procedure Code applies only where forgery has taken place after document has been filed. Even if a document was forged prior to institution of legal proceedings, Court will have jurisdiction to entertain an application under section 340 of the Code if the document has been produced in Court proceedings. The appellant further submitted that no person shall be allowed to tamper any evidence resulting in creating hurdles in administration of justice as has been observed in case of Kuldeep Kapoor vs. Susanta Sengupta, 2006 (126) DLT.

11. Per contra learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 made objection inter alia on the ground that registered assignment deed dated 13.9.2002 was in favour of Kailash Chand (father of appellant) and Nand Kishore (opposite party no. 2) equally for the consideration of Rs. 2,37,400/-. The opposite party no. 2 on the basis of the assignment deed filed the compromise for substitution/mutation of his name for half part of the decree in the said execution and the compromise after being duly verified and accepted became the part of the award. The only remedy available to the appellant is to challenge the said compromise decree before the competent court. The affidavit filed by counsel for the appellant, Dinesh Singh, Advocate could neither be substantiated nor none came before the court concerned to deny the compromise. Even the decree holder Guru Ratan Pal Singh also did not come forward to deny the compromise. The proceeding under section 340 Cr.P.C. is barred by the Section 195(1)(b) Cr.P.C. It is well settled law that section 195(1)(b) Cr.P.C. bars the cognizance of offence committed on a document "subsequent to its production or giving in evidence in proceeding of court". If the alleged imputed act was committed before its production in proceeding of court i.e. if a document said to be forged was filed in proceeding of court, the ordinary procedure of cognizance will apply.

12. In this case appellant as well as opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore in pursuance of assignment deed got mutated in place of decree holder Guru Ratan Pal Singh with the resolution that both the persons shall get fruits of the decree equally divided between the appellant and opposite party no. 2 Nand Kishore. The decree holder Guru Ratan Pal Singh and Dinesh Singh, counsel for the appellant who signed the compromise neither make themselves present for pressing affidavit nor denying the existence of the compromise. The advocate Dinesh Singh who represent appellant is said to file an affidavit with respect to denying the existence or the factum of entering into compromise did not make available before the court in spite of direction of the concerned court to substantiate the affidavit. So far as the admissibility of the affidavit is concerned affidavit in chief cannot be appreciated without cross examination and the objection as evidence qua the credibility, relevancy, adequacy, the witness being interested partisan, truthfulness/falsehood, conspiracy are subject matter of final disposal only after cross examination. Besides affidavits are not included in definition of evidence as per section 3 of the Evidence Act.

"This affidavit has no evidentiary value. Firstly, the affidavit is not an evidence within the meaning of Sees. 1 and 3 of the Evidence Act and, secondly, the affidavit cannot destroy or take away the rights on the suit property which were gifted to the party concerned. Combined reading of Section 1 and definition of expression 'evidence' under Section 3 makes it clear that affidavit is not an evidence. Section 1 and 3 reads as follows:

"1. Short title, extent and commencement,-- This Act may be called the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. It extends to whole of India (except the State of Jammu and Kashmir) and applies to all judicial proceedings in or before any Court, including Courts-martial, other than Courts-martial convened under the Army Act. the Naval Discipline Act or the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934 or the Air Force Act but not to affidavits presented to any Court or Officer, nor to proceedings before an arbitrator;

And it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1872".

"3. Interpretation clause :-- In this Act, the following words and 'expressions are used in the following senses, unless a contrary intention appears from the context:

"Evidence" - Evidence means and includes-

(1) All statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to matters of fact under inquiry; such statements are called oral evidence;

(2) all documents produced for the inspection of the Court; such documents are called documentary evidence".

21. It may be seen that affidavits are not included in Section 3 of the Evidence Act. An affidavit cannot be used as evidence unless law specifically permits certain matters to be proved by affidavit. The reason is that the deponent of an affidavit is not subject to cross-examination for the declarations made in such affidavit."

13. The Hon'ble Apex Court in B.K. Gupta vs. Damodar H. Bajaj and others, 2001 (42) ACC 1074 observed that there are two conditions, on fulfilment of which a complaint can be filed against a person under section 340 Cr.P.C. who has given a false affidavit or evidence in a proceeding before a court. The first condition being that a person has given a false affidavit in a proceeding before the court and, secondly, in the opinion of the court it is expedient in the interest of justice to make an inquiry against such a person in relation to the offence committed by him.

14. In the case in hand pursuant to the assignment registered deed the compromise filed by the parties and after being verified, it was accepted and become a part of the decree which can only be challenged by seeking a civil remedy before appropriate forum. The impugned order is speaking one and does not call for interference.

15. In view of the above discussion, there is no merit in this appeal. It is dismissed accordingly.

16. There is no order as to cost.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1862 Of 1982

Sant Ram Pandey & Ors.
State

...Appellants
Versus
...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:

Sri P.N. Misra, Sri Rajesh Singh (Amicus Curiae)

Counsel for the Respondent:

Learned A.G.A.

Procedure:

Appeal against the judgment and order dated 31.07.1982 passed by the II Additional Sessions Judge, Basti in Sessions Trial No. 204 of 1976, Sessions Trial No. 304 of 1976 and Sessions Trial No. 19 of 1980, arising out of Case Crime No.18 of 1976, under Sections 395/397 IPC and Section 25 Arms Act, Police Station Parasrampur, District Basti, whereby the accused-appellants Sant Ram Pandey, Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal were convicted and sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment each under Section 395 IPC.

Case Law Discussed:

Babul Musahar vs. State of Bihar, 1990 CrI.J. (NOC) 65 (Patna).

Puttan alias Kamal Prasad vs. State of U.P., AIR 1992 SC 1032 : 1992 Cri.L.J. 1122.

Budhsen and another vs. State of U.P., AIR 1970 SC 1321.

Headnote:

Identification in test identification parade is not substantive evidence and can only be used for corroboration. Where the accused were allegedly known to the witnesses earlier, the test identification parade was conducted after considerable delay without explanation, and no independent corroborative evidence or reliable recovery of looted property was proved, conviction cannot be sustained merely on the basis of such identification.

In the present case, the alleged recovery witnesses and the Investigating Officer were not examined and the recovery of looted articles was made after a long delay. The evidence of identification was weak and unreliable. Hence, the prosecution failed to prove the participation of the appellants in the dacoity beyond reasonable doubt.

Result:

Appeal allowed. Conviction and sentence of the appellants Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal under Section 395 IPC set aside and they are acquitted.

Proceedings against Sant Ram Pandey abated due to his death during pendency of the appeal.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amar Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. The present appeal has been preferred against the judgement and order dated 31.7.1982, passed by II Additional Sessions Judge, Basti in Sessions Trial No. 204 of 1976, Sessions Trial No. 304 of 1976 and Sessions Trial No. 19 of 1980 (State vs. Sant Ram Pandey and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 18/1976 under sections 395/397 and 25 of Arms Act, Police Station Parasrampur, District Basti whereby the accused-appellants Sant Ram Pandey, Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal have been convicted and sentenced to undergo 5 years R.I. Each under section 395 IPC.

2. So far as the case of appellant no. 1 Sant Ram Pandey is concerned there is report of the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Basti mentioning that the appellant Sant Ram Pandey has died. Therefore, the case against the appellant Sant Ram Pandey stands abated.

3. The facts giving rise to the present appeal are that an application was moved by the complainant Badri Prasad son of Ram Sunder, resident of village Reharwa, hamlet of Basthanwa, Police Station Parasrampur, District Basti which was addressed to the Station House Officer, Parasrampur, District Basti on 29.3.1975. He states that on 19.2.1976/1.3.1976 he was sleeping in his tubewell kothri which situates at a short distance from his main door. The elder brother Ram Dayal was sleeping in the Osara and the women were sleeping inside the house and an earthen Dhibri was burning inside the house. At about 1.30 A.M. 10-12 dacoits came to his house and started to break the door. His brother Ram Dayal and the women were beaten by the dacoits, who were armed with country made pistol, lathi, danda and axe and looted the house hold property. The complainant also got awakened by the noise of the breaking open and the alarm raised by the members of his family. When he raised alarm Gauri Shankar Singh, Murli Singh, Ram Dutt, Bhaggal, Ram Samujh, Bipat, Puddan and other persons came to his house along with their torches and lathis. Seeing the increasing number of the villagers the accused fled away with the looted properties towards north. Ram Dayal and others sustained injuries. On 1.3.1976, the complainant Badri Prasad prepared a written report and lodged the same at Police Station Parasrampur where it was entered at Check FIR No. 15 vide Exts. Ka-16.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid report, a case was registered against the accused-appellants as Case Crime No. 15 of 1976 under sections 395/397 which was entered in GD vide report no. 7 on 1.3.1976 at about 8.10 A.M. at Police Station Parasrampur, District Basti. After the registration of the case, the injured persons were sent to district hospital Basti for medical examination.

5. The investigation of the case was entrusted to the Station House Officer Sri D.P. Singh, Police Station Parasrampur, basti. He inspected the place of occurrence and recorded the statement of witnesses. On 2.3.1976, the I.O. went to village Nedula where he ascertained that the broken boxes are lying by the side of Manorama river which belong to the complainant. He gave the same in the supurdagi of Badri Prasad vide Ext. Ka 29. On 4.3.1976, the I.O. received information by an informant that a person is coming from village Majhgawa side. On the pointing out of the informant the said person was waylaid and one country made pistol and the two live cartridges were recovered from the right fold of his trousers. The accused Sant Ram Pandey was taken to the Police Station Parasrampur where a case under section 25 of the Arms Act, 1959 was registered as case crime no. 18 at check FIR No. 18 on 4.3.1976 (Ext. Ka 30) and G.D. No. 10 (Ext. Ka 31). He confessed his guilt and was involved in dacoity. The I.O. went to village Anbha and arrested the accused Ram Lautan. He also made a disclosure statement and stated that he can give out some articles looted in the dacoity committed at the house of Badri Prasad. These articles were sealed in a bundle vide Fard Ext. Ka 25. Thereafter the police personnel reached the house of accused Jhinkoo Lal where he was arrested and he also accepted his involvement in the dacoity. In his house a petromax was recovered. The accused-appellants and the articles recovered from them were taken to the Police Station Mankapur.

6. The test identification parade of accused Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal was held on 28.4.1976 at District Jail Basti. It was got conducted by the Sub-divisional Magistrate, Harraiya vide test identification memo Ext. Ka 23. Accused Ram Lautan was identified by witnesses Badri, Indramati, Ram Dutt and Bhaggal Ram. Accused Jhinkoo Lal was identified by witnesses Badri Prasad, Indramati and Gauri Shankar.

7. The I.O. after getting sufficient material, filed charge sheet against the accused-appellants Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal under sections 395/397 IPC vide charge sheet Ext. Ka 42.

8. The identification of the properties was held on 22.7.1977 which was conducted by Sri Madhukar Divedi vide identification memo Ext. Ka 14. Articles were identified by witnesses Badri Prasad, Smt. Surpata, Smt. Indramati and Gauri Shankar. On 17.9.1977, Sri Bharath Mishra submitted charge sheet Ex. Ka 15 against accused Sant Ram, Ram Lautan, Somai and Sahebodin under section 412 IPC.

9. To bring home the guilt of the accused, the prosecution has examined P.W-1 Badri Prasad, P.W-2 Smt. Indramati, P.W-3 Smt. Surpata, P.W-4 Ram Dutta, P.W-5 Ram Dayal, P.W-6 Gauri Shankar Singh, P.W-7 Bharath Mishra and P.W-8 Vijay Bahadur Singh.

10. All of the aforesaid witnesses have on oath stated that an armed dacoity was committed at the house of Badri Prasad in the intervening night of 29.2.1975/1.3.1976 at 1.30 A.M. It is also proved by the injury reports Exts. Ka 17 to Ka 20, Ram Dayal has on oath stated that he sustained injuries noted in Ext. Ka 17 in the course of the commission of the said dacoity. Similar is the statement of Murli Singh whose house was also ransacked and looted by the dacoits. Smt. Marraji is the mother of the complainant. She also sustained injuries during the course of the commission of the dacoity. Thus, it is well established that an armed dacoity was committed at the house of Badri Prasad in the intervening night of 29.2.1976/1.3.1976.

11. Since the appellant Sant Ram has died during the pendency of the appeal the only question which falls for determination is whether the accused-appellant no. 2 Ram Lautan and appellant no. 3 Jhinkoo Lal participated in the commission of the said dacoity. The accused Ram Lautan has examined under section 313 Cr.P.C. in which he has stated that witnesses were knowing him from before and, therefore, they identified him at the test identification parade at District Jail, Basti. The accused further alleged that he is married at the house of one Bhageloo of village Nedula. The complainant Badri had no good terms with his in-laws. He, therefore, falsely implicated him. Accused-appellant Jhinkoo Lal has also denied the charges. He has stated to have been arrested from his house. The accused further alleged to have been shown to the witnesses before the test identification parade. He further alleged that he used to serve one Sri Ram Pradhan. He left his work and, therefore, Shri Ram got him falsely implicated. He has tendered no oral or documentary evidence in his defence.

12. The learned IIInd Additional Sessions Judge, Basti after perusing the record and hearing the counsel for the parties came to the conclusion that prosecution had established his charge under section 395 IPC against the appellants and, therefore, convicted and sentenced them, as has already mentioned herein above vide judgement and order, hence this appeal questioning the said judgement.

13. Feeling aggrieved, the accused-appellants Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal have come up in this appeal.

14. Heard Sri Rajesh Singh, Amicus Curiae for the appellants and learned Additional Government Advocate for the State.

15. It is submitted by Amicus Curiae for the appellants that the accused-appellants are not named in the First Information Report. Their names came in the light of confessional statement of the co-accused Sant Ram before the Police. The appellants were well known from before the occurrence. There is no recovery relating to the dacoity as alleged. Identification parade was held after two months of their arrest. There is sole evidence of identification parade which is not corroborated by the independent evidence.

16. The case in hand, it has come in the evidence that PW2 Smt. Indramati has stated to have seen and identified the accused Ram Lautan in the light of burning Dhibri and torch. In her cross-examination, the witness stated that she had identified Ram Lautan as he was the most black man in the parade. On the basis of this statement, I find the basis to discredit her statement on the ground that she identified the accused Ram Lautan as he was the most black man in the parade. It was not denied by the prosecution that Ram Lautan is married at the house of one Bhageloo of village Nedula. The complainant Badri had no good terms with his in-laws. Nothing has come in the statements of prosecution witnesses Badri Prasad, Smt. Indramati and Ram Dutt that Ram Lautan was armed with any deadly weapon. The accused Ram Lautan has also been charged under section 412 of Indian Penal Code. According to the prosecution, on the pointing out of the accused, on 4.3.1976, one black woolen blanket, one pink silkan Sari, one child bush shirt, one brass Gagra and Thali of Phool were recovered from his house, on 22.7.1977 after considerable delay which was not explained. The property was said to be recovered in the presence of witnesses Sita Ram and Jai Mangal. None of the aforesaid witnesses have been examined. Even the Investigating Officer D.P. Singh to whom disclosure statement is alleged to have been made by the accused, has not been examined by the prosecution. The prosecution witness P.W.-8 Vijay Bahadur Singh has stated that no recovery was made in his presence and his signature was obtained by the police on a plain paper. In this case, looted property in dacoity was said to be recovered more than one year after the dacoity. The presumption of participation in dacoity was not allowed to be raised as observed in the case of Babul Musahar vs. State of Bihar, 1990 CrI.J. (NOC) 65 Patna. This presumption can also be applied to graver offences e.g. murder and dacoity. Its scope in the Illustration (a) to Section 114 of Evidence Act which reads as follows:

114. The Court may presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct and public and private business, in their relation to the facts of the particular case.

Illustration:

(a) That a man who is in possession of stolen goods soon after the theft is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for his possession.

17. Prosecution claimed the complicity of both of these accused persons only on the basis of the result of the Test Identification Parade which was conducted on 28.4.1976. The T.I. Parade was held near about two months of arrest but delay was not explained. It was held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Puttan alias Kamal Prasad vs. State of U.P., AIR 1992 SC 1032, 1992 Cri.L.J. 1122 that in absence of any plausible explanation for the inordinate delay had no evidence forthwith.

18. Test identification report in jail is not a substantive piece of evidence but it can only be used as corroborative evidence and could not be of much evidentiary value as held by the Apex Court in case of Raj Kishore Singh vs. State of Bihar, AIR 1971 SC 1058.

19. Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Budhsen and another vs. State of U.P., AIR 1970 SCC 1321 observed that the evidence of mere identification of the accused person at the trial for the first time is from its very nature inherently of a weak character. The evidence in order to carry conviction should ordinarily clarify as to how and under what circumstances he came to pick out the particular accused person and the details of the part which the accused played in the crime in question with reasonable particularity. The purpose of a prior test identification, therefore, seems to be to test and strengthen the trustworthiness of that evidence. It is accordingly, considered a safe rule of prudence to generally look for corroboration of the sworn testimony of witnesses in court as to the identity of the accused who are strangers to them, in the form of earlier identification proceeding. There may, however, be exceptions to this general rule, when, for example, the court is impressed by a particular witness, on whose testimony it can safely rely, without such or other corroboration.

20. Moreover, after incident on 4.3.1976, the Investigating Officer received the information by an informant that a person possessed of country made pistol and two live cartridges is coming from Majhgawa side. After collecting the independent witness, the said person was waylaid. At about 7.00 a.m. a person who subsequently disclosed his name as Sant Ram Pandey came over there by cycle Avon make frame no. 123846. One country made pistol and two cartridges were recovered from the right fold of his trousers. The cycle of which handle was of another ATLAS cycle held by him was recovered which is said to have been looted in the dacoity committed at the house of the complainant but nothing has come in the evidence that said make Avon cycle was looted in the dacoity. On the confessional statement of this co-accused, the case was opened. All these circumstances through cloud on the genuineness of the investigation. So far as case against the Jhinkoo Lal is concerned nothing has come in the statement of the prosecution witness that he was armed with any deadly weapon. The recovery of petromax on his pointing out was said to be made in the presence of the witnesses Thanedar Singh and Sita Ram but none of the witnesses had been examined by the prosecution. S.I. D.P. Singh to whom disclosure statement was made by the accused, was not examined. It is also not denied by the informant Badri Prasad that the accused-appellant was not used to serve one Sri Ram, Pradhan of his village and on being left his work, Sri Ram got him falsely implicated. This fact shows that the accused was well known from before the occurrence.

21. Learned Additional Sessions Judge also found that there is no evidence on record to bring the charge under section 412 IPC against the accused-appellant.

22. In the case in hand there is solitary identification report prepared in jail to connect the appellants with the crime. It has come in the evidence that the accused were known to the witnesses. Neither any injury was said to be caused by the appellants nor any looted property was recovered from the possession of the accused-appellants. Test Identification Parade by itself cannot form the basis of conviction. Therefore, it is not justified to maintain conviction.

23. For the reason mentioned here-in-above, the criminal appeal is allowed. The conviction and sentence of the appellants namely Ram Lautan and Jhinkoo Lal under section 395 IPC are hereby set aside and appellants are acquitted of alleged charge levelled against them. Since the appellants are on bail, their bail bonds, if any, are cancelled and sureties stand discharged.

24. The appellants are directed to comply with the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C.

25. Let a copy of the order be sent to lower court for compliance.

State Of U.P

...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

Sri Rajrshi Gupta; Sri Umesh Chandra Mishra; Sri Brij Raj; Sri Dilip Kumar; Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla; Sri Bhishm Pal Singh; Sri S.K. Gupta; Sri Yogish Kumar Saxena; Sri Arvind Kumar Yadav; Sri Rajendra Joshi

Counsel for the Respondent:

Sri J.K. Upadhyay, A.G.A.; Kumari Meena, A.G.A.; Government Advocate

Procedure:

These criminal appeals were filed against the judgment and order dated 28.11.2006 passed by the Special Judge (D.A.A.) Act, Etawah in Special Sessions Trial No. 79 of 2004 (State of U.P. vs. Usha Gupta and others), whereby the appellants were convicted under Section 364A IPC and Section 27 of the Dacoity Affected Areas (D.A.A.) Act and sentenced to life imprisonment with fine.

Headnote:

Where prosecution fails to prove the essential ingredients of Section 364A IPC, namely demand for ransom and threat to cause death or harm, conviction under Section 364A cannot be sustained. In absence of reliable evidence regarding ransom demand, the offence would fall within the ambit of Section 365 IPC (kidnapping with intent to secretly and wrongfully confine).

In the present case, the prosecution evidence did not establish any demand of ransom by the accused persons nor any threat of death linked with such demand. The alleged payment of money by the informant was found unreliable due to material improvements and contradictions in testimony.

The evidence on record only proved that the victim was taken away and kept in wrongful confinement. Hence, the conviction under Section 364A IPC was liable to be altered to one under Section 365 IPC.

Result:

Appeals allowed in part. Conviction of the appellants under Section 364A IPC set aside and altered to Section 365 IPC. Sentence of life imprisonment modified to seven years' imprisonment with fine. As the appellants had already undergone the modified sentence, they were directed to be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

1. Heard Sri Rajrshi Gupta, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri J.K. Upadhyay and Kumari Meena, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. These three criminal appeals have been preferred by the appellants, Ashwani Dubey, Usha Gupta, Kallu, Neelam, Shyam alias Radhey Shyam and Raja Yadav alias Anurudh Yadav alias Raja Bhaiya against the judgement and order dated 28.11.2006 passed by the learned Special Judge (D.A.A.) Act, Etawah in Special Session trial no. 79 of 2004 (State of U.P. vs. Usha Gupta and others), by which all the appellants have been convicted under Section 364A I.P.C. and section 27 Dacoity Affected Areas (D.A.A.) Act and sentenced to life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000 each and in default of payment of fine one year R.I.

3. The facts of the case are that one Shivam son of Updesh Babu Mishra who had gone to attend Bhagwatpath in Friends Colony pandal near Ramnagar, Etawah with his parents on 09.05.2004 went missing from there on the same day at about 7 p.m. during "Prasad Vitran". A missing report in this regard was lodged by the PW1, Updesh Babu Mishra at Police Station-Civil Line, district-Etawah on 10.5.2004 at 8:30 p.m. Thereafter on the basis of a written complaint given by the father of the missing boy on 18.05.2004 at about 14:15 p.m., Case Crime no. 130 of 2004 was registered at Police Station-Civil Line, district-Etawah against the appellants and one Meera Gupta who died during the trial. The prosecution case as spelt out in the F.I.R. dated 18.05.2004 (Ext.Ka-2) is that the son of the informant PW1, Updesh Babu Mishra had gone missing from Bhagwatpath Pandal, Friends Colony, Etawah on 09.05.2004 where he had gone with his parents, with regard to which a missing report was lodged by PW1 at the same police station stating therein that he suspected either his son had lost his way or had mistakenly gone with someone else. He further stated in the F.I.R. that when he did not find his son in Friends Colony and the other nearby localities of the city he went in his search to Ashok Nagar where he met one Sri Amar Nath Tiwari, s/o not known, resident of Ashok Nagar near Tiwari Hospital who told him that on 09.05.2004 at about 7:00 p.m. he had seen his son Shivam with Usha Gupta, Meera Gupta, daughter of Sri Ramchand Gupta and Gopeshwar alias Sonu son of Rajkumar Tiwari, Raja Yadav, Anirudh Yadav son of Sri Bharat Singh Yadav, Sri Ashwani Kumar Dubey son of Umashankar Dubey sitting in a white Maruti van bearing registration no. DL 26-A 8462 at Bharsana crossing from where they had gone towards Bharsana. He also stated that although he was related to the missing boy but he did not inform his parents as he was not aware that the boy had been kidnapped. The chek F.I.R. (Ext.Ka10) and the G.D. entry (Ext.Ka9) were prepared by constable, Mahesh Pal Singh, PW8. The investigation of the case was entrusted to PW7 Chatrapati Singh, S.H.O. of Police Station-Civil Line who recorded the statement of Updesh Babu Mishra and prepared the site plan of the spot at the behest of PW1 after inspecting the same (Ext.Ka-8). Thereafter the investigation was transferred to PW6 S.H.O, Ramesh Singh Rathod who continued with the search of the missing boy and after completion of investigation submitted charge sheets Ext.Ka-5, Ext.Ka-6 and Ext.Ka-7 under Sections 364A, 368, 120B, 216A I.P.C. and section 10/12 (D.A.A.) Act against Usha Gupta and other accused. Since the offences enumerated in the charge sheet were triable by Court of session, the case was committed to the Court of session for trial of the accused thereafter the matter was transferred to the court of Special Judge (D.A.A.) Act. Charge was framed against all the accused under Section 364A I.P.C. and 16/12 Dacoity Affected Areas (D.A.A.) Act. The accused on being produced before the Court denied the charges framed against them and claimed trial.

4. The prosecution in order to prove its case examined as many as eight witnesses namely, PW1 Updesh Babu, PW2 Smt. Pushpa Mishra, PW3 Amarnath, PW4 Shivam (victim), PW5 Dr. Shailendra Tiwari, PW6 Inspector, Ramesh Singh Rathod, PW7 S.I., Chatrapati Singh and PW8 Maheshpal Singh. All the accused in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case and stated that they had been falsely implicated due to local enmity.

5. Learned trial Judge after considering the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and scanning the evidence on record convicted the appellants and awarded them the aforesaid sentences.

6. Learned counsel for the appellants in all the appeals has vehemently submitted that the prosecution having failed to adduce any evidence for proving that the victim was either kidnapped by the appellants with the intent of committing his murder or for ransom, the conviction of the appellants under Section 364A I.P.C. can not be sustained. He next submitted that inordinate and unexplained delay of more than nine days on the part of the complainant PW1 in lodging the F.I.R. although the complainant PW1 claimed that the identity of the so-called kidnappers was disclosed to him by his father-in-law, PW3 Amar Nath Tiwari on the very next day of the kidnapping and even before lodging the missing report by him yet he strangely chose to file a missing report instead of a named F.I.R, which clearly indicates that the entire prosecution as spelt out in the F.I.R. is false and concocted and the appellants were falsely implicated in the present case by PW1 as on after thought after due deliberations. The four witnesses of fact examined on behalf of the prosecution PW1, PW2, PW3 and PW4 are vacillating in their testimonies. Their testimonies are at variance to their statements recorded before the investigation and embellished with improvements. He also submitted that the prosecution having failed to prove its case against the appellants beyond all reasonable doubts, they are entitled to acquittal.

7. In the alternative he submitted that even if, the entire prosecution case which is full of loop wholes and contradictions and the testimonies of the witnesses of fact examined on behalf of the prosecution during the trial are taken to be gospel truth, the offence, if any proved to have been committed by the appellants from the evidence on record does not travel beyond section 365 I.P.C. and hence recorded conviction of the appellants and the sentence awarded to them deserve to be altered.

8. Per contra, Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned A.G.A. refuting the submissions made by learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the prosecution having fully proved the charge framed against the appellants by leading cogent evidence, their conviction is not liable to be set aside or modified in view of the submissions made by learned counsel for the appellants. He further invited our attention on page 16 of the paper book and referred to the cross-examination of PW3, in which he has stated that on the assurance of appellant, Usha Gupta he had paid a sum of Rs. 1,51,000/- (Rs. One lac fifty one thousand) to the appellant Kallu, son of Ram Chandra Gupta for arranging his meeting with Nirbhay Gujjar for negotiating the release of his son and hence the submission of appellants' counsel that there is no evidence of demand of ransom is without any basis. These appeals lack merit and are liable to be dismissed.

9. We have very carefully considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, scanned the entire lower court record and perused the impugned judgement.

10. The twin questions, involved for our consideration in these three criminal appeals, inter-alia, are that whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the appellants beyond all reasonable doubts, and that whether even if the prosecution case is accepted unequivocally to be true the conviction of the appellants recorded by the trial court under Section 364A can be sustained and the same is liable to be altered to one under Section 365 I.P.C.

11. We have very carefully scanned the evidence of PW1, PW2, PW3 and PW4, the four witnesses of fact examined on behalf of the prosecution but none of them have deposed that the appellants had kidnapped the victim, Shivam either for ransom or with the intention of committing his murder. It is true that PW1 on page 16 of the paper book has stated in his cross-examination that he had paid a sum of Rs.1,51,000/- (Rs. One lac fifty one thousand) to the appellant Kallu at the behest of Usha Gupta for arranging his meeting with Nirbhay Gujjar for negotiating the release of his son and appellant Kallu had arranged his meeting with Nirbhay Gujjar who on meeting PW1 had warned him in case he insisted on the prosecution of Usha Gupta and Meera Gupta who were innocent in the case of his son's kidnapping, his son Shivam would be killed. He also stated that Nirbhay Gujjar had initially demanded Rs. 1,00,000,00 (Rs. One crore) as ransom for releasing his son but later the demand of ransom was reduced to Rs. 5,000,00/- (Rs. Five lacs) and when he had gone to meet Nirbhay Gujjar along with Kallu he had not seen any of the other accused there. But strangely the aforesaid facts do not find any mention in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and by stating the aforesaid facts for the first time before the trial court he has attempted to make material improvements in the prosecution case. Further it is noteworthy that PW1 divulged neither the time nor the day on which or the place where he had made the payment of sum of Rs.1,51,000/- (Rs. One lac fifty one thousand) to appellant, Kallu and for the aforesaid reasons, we do not find the evidence of PW1 on the point of payment of ransom reliable. PW2, Pushpa Mishra who is the mother of the victim is witness of the victim going missing from the Bhagwatpandal in Friends Colony, Etawah alone. She had neither seen the appellants kidnapping the victim nor she deposed that any ransom was demanded. As far as PW3 who is the real maternal grandfather of the victim, Shivam and who was the first person to have seen the victim with the accused on the day he had gone missing and on whose information the appellants were nominated as accused in the F.I.R.

lodged by the PW1 is concerned, although he in his evidence tendered during the trial supported the prosecution case but later he had filed his affidavit before the trial court and proved the same as Ext.Ka-1, in which he totally denied the prosecution case and for the aforesaid reason his evidence is of no help to prosecution for proving its case against the accused-appellants.

12. Now we proceed to scrutinize the evidence of the star witness in this case, PW4, kidnappee Shivam. PW4, who on the date of incident was about six years old and on the date of recording his evidence aged about eight years. He in his examination-in-chief stated that Sonu Bhaiya, Raja Bhaiya, Ashwani Bhaiya, Meera Bua and Usha Bua had taken him away from the Bhagwatpandal where he had gone with his parents and at that time it had become slightly dark. Sonu Bhaiya had told him that his father was calling him. He further deposed that he knew Sonu Bhaiya whose house was near his house and he used to go to play in his house where Raja Bhaiya and Ashwani Bhaiya also used to come. He knew Usha Bua and Meera Bua who were next door neighbours of Sonu Bhaiya. He also deposed that he was taken away from Bhagwatpandal to a forest where he was handed over to Nirbhay Gujjar who sported a beard and had long hair, he lived with him for about 4-5 months. As a result of police firing one day the culprits escaped and although he had lost his way but he met two persons in a field, to whom he referred to as 'Bhaiyas' who took him to Etawah Railway Station and asked him his name and address but he told him that he did not know his address but he knew the name of his school on which they took him to his school. But since his school was closed, they took him to the Principal's residence and handed him over to the Principal. He also testified that there were about fifty men and two women in the gang of the person with long hair and beard. The name of one of them was 'Mucchar' but he did not know the names of the others. The names of the two girls of his gang were Neelam and Sarla. PW4 has also not testified that any ransom was demanded by the appellants for his release or any injury was caused to him by them or he was threatened with death in case his father failed to pay the ransom.

13. The victim's version about his escape from the clutches of Nirbhay Gujjar deposed by him in his evidence remained uncorroborated and no effort was made by the I.O. to ascertain the veracity of the facts stated by the victim in this regard. It appears that neither any effort was made by the Investigation Officer to trace out the two strangers who had left the victim, Shivam in the custody of the Principal of his school and to ascertain their identities nor the Principal of the victim's school was interrogated by him at any stage of the investigation. The aforesaid glaring omissions on the part of the I.O. reflect the lackadaisical manner in which the investigation in this case was conducted by him.

14. The remaining witnesses namely, PW5 Dr. Shailendra Tiwari, PW6 Ramesh Singh Rathore and PW8 Mahesh Pal Singh examined on behalf of the prosecution are formal witnesses. The testimonies of the fact witnesses produced by the prosecution for proving the charge framed against the appellants under Section 364A I.P.C. at the most can be taken to be confined to the extent of kidnapping with an intent to confine the victim secretly and wrongfully. There is no iota of evidence against the appellants even faintly showing that they had either demanded or were involved in demanding any ransom.

15. The prosecution has failed to prove the demand of ransom by the accused or payment of ransom money to any accused which is a necessary ingredient to constitute an offence under Section 364A I.P.C. Cumulative reading of the testimonies of prosecution witnesses of fact leads only to one inference that the case falls within the ambit of section 365 I.P.C. rather than one under Section 364A I.P.C. A demand of ransom if, any, was made by Nirbhay Gujjar alone as deposed by PW1, Updesh Babu Mishra but strangely Nirbhay Gujjar was never nominated as an accused in this case. It will be useful to extract Section 365 I.P.C. herein below :

"365. Kidnapping or abducting with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person.--Whoever kidnaps or abducts any person with intent to cause that person to be secretly and wrongfully confined, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

16. Thus, upon a thorough marshaling of the facts of this case and thread bare scrutiny of the evidence on record, we have no hesitation in holding that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove by any cogent evidence that the appellants after kidnapping the victim, Shivam had made any demand of ransom for releasing him or any ransom money was paid to them or they had extended any threat to commit his murder in case the demand of ransom was not fulfilled. Thus the prosecution having failed to establish the necessary ingredients for convicting an accused under Section 364A I.P.C., the recorded conviction of the appellants and the sentence awarded to them under Section 364A I.P.C. by the trial court vide impugned judgement and order can not be sustained and are accordingly scored out. The conviction of the appellants is converted to one under Section 365 I.P.C. and the life sentence awarded to them is palliated to seven years imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1000/- each and in default of payment of fine 6 months additional imprisonment.

17. All the appeals stand allowed in part. The judgement and order dated 28.11.2006 passed by the learned Special Judge, Dacoity Affected Areas (D.A.A.) Act, Etawah in special session trial no. 79 of 2004 (State of U.P. vs. Usha Gupta and others) is modified accordingly in this case.

18. All the appellants are in jail since 24.11.2006 and it is apparent that they have already served out the sentence of seven years imprisonment awarded to them by us after converting their conviction under Section 364A I.P.C. to one under Section 365 I.P.C. and the period of 6 months additional imprisonment which they would have been required to undergo in case of default of payment of fine of Rs. 1000/- each has also been undergone by them and hence they are not required to make any payment of fine.

19. The appellants shall be released forthwith, if they are not wanted in any other case.

20. There shall be however no order as to cost.

Application for bail in S.T. No. 53 of 2015, arising out of Case Crime No. 682 of 2011, under Sections 364-A, 120-B, 34 IPC, Police Station Sector-20, Noida, District Gautam Budh Nagar.

Headnote:

Bail in a case of kidnapping for ransom cannot be granted where the applicant approaches the Court with false statements and concealment of material facts. Filing an incorrect copy of the victim's statement, falsely asserting absence of criminal history, and taking a false plea regarding lack of knowledge of proceedings amounts to an attempt to mislead the Court and procure bail by fraud. In considering bail, the Court must evaluate the nature and gravity of the accusation, criminal antecedents of the accused, likelihood of tampering with evidence, and larger public interest. Where the accused has criminal antecedents, was absconding for a long period, and has attempted to misguide the Court, the discretion of bail should not be exercised in his favour.

1. Heard Sri N.K. Srivastava, Sri Rajesh Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Sushil Shukla, learned counsel for the first informant, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that the applicant is not named in F.I.R. and has been falsely implicated on the basis of disclosure statement of co-accused persons; that as per prosecution case, a missing report was given by Smt. Sonia wife of Kapil Gupta (hereinafter referred as K.G.) on 22.9.2011 at 1:45 p.m., stating that her husband K.G. left his office F-37, Sector-6, Noida at about 7:00 p.m. on 21.9.2011 for his residence at 349 Sector-15A, Noida by his black colored Mercedes Car No.H.R. 99TEMP 01319 but did not reach home; that the above missing report was converted into case crime no.682 of 2011 when the missing person K.G. returned home on 24.9.2011; that the first informant in her statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. has stated that on 22.9.2011 at about 10:30 p.m., a call was received at mobile no.9871576860 of her Jethani Purnima from mobile no.9811055733 of her husband who informed that he has been kidnapped and asked for making arrangements of Rs.5 crores, as ransom money, failing which the kidnappers will cause his death and on his another call, when she asked him of his welfare, the phone was disconnected and again her husband called Vijay on his mobile no.9810103577 inquiring about the arrangements of Rs.5 crores, if have been made as above; that it has also been stated by the first informant that the kidnappers also talked her on mobile of Vijay and told her to hand over the ransom amount in two bags under the denomination of currency notes of Rs.1000/- and to come alone else upon informing the police even the dead body of her husband will not be traced/recovered; that it has further been stated by first informant that she sought permission from the kidnappers to come with driver, as she will not be able to come alone and when she reached the desired place with the ransom amount of Rs.5 crores in the midnight, she was further called to keep two bags on the ground and leave, and when she was returning back, in the light of vehicle seen three miscreants, who emerged out from the sugarcane fields and taken away the two bags full of currency notes worth Rs.5 crores back to sugarcane fields; that in the statement of kidnapped K.G. under section 161 Cr.P.C. at Annexure No.3 from page 23 to 25, he has narrated the story of his kidnapping and has given the names of miscreants, who were allegedly calling each other and made demand of Rs.15 crores as ransom and did not agree to reduce the demand below from Rs.5 crores; that the above kidnapped person has stated that after covering his eyes, he was dropped at Noida near Sector-15A of his residence and could reach home at about 8:00 p.m. and that he was released after taking ransom amount of Rs.5 crores.

3. Much emphasis has been given by learned counsel for the applicant on above statement of K.G. filed at Annexure No.3, submitting that the kidnapped person/victim has given the names of various miscreants, but did not name the applicant, as stated in para 9 of the affidavit to the bail application and so the case of applicant is clearly distinguishable; that the name of applicant has come for the first time in the confessional statement of co-accused Kapil, Vinay and Anshul (filed at Annexure No.5), upon their arrest in police party encounter under section 307 IPC on 12.10.2011 (after a period of 20 days of incident); that there is virtually no evidence against the applicant, who is a student and was studying in B.B.A. from Hemwati Nandan Bahuguna Garhwal University, Deharadun as regular student, and copy of his mark sheet has been filed at Annexure No.6; that moreover on the date of incident of kidnapping of K.G., the applicant was at Dehradun and during a visit to Market with uncle Ravindra Malik, he met with an accident sustaining serious injuries on his face and nose and was admitted in Government Hospital at Deharadun, as mentioned in para 13 of the affidavit to bail application; that getting information of accident of applicant, his father shifted him to M.G. Hospital & Trauma Centre, Meerut, where he remained admitted for 6 days for treatment of fracture; that the father of applicant is a defence personal and due to unwanted harassment by police, he obtained compulsory retirement; that the entire prosecution story is false, concocted and highly improbable; that nothing incriminating has been recovered from the possession of applicant and the amount of ransom money is alleged to have been recovered from other persons; that the applicant was implicated in case crime no.703 of 2011, under section 147, 148, 149, 307, IPC and case crime no.121 of 2011, under sections 364-A IPC, in both of which, he has been granted bail by this Court vide orders dated 9.9.2015 and 30.10.2015 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos.32631 of 2015 and 33031 of 2015, respectively, copies of which were produced for perusal during arguments; that the applicant undertakes that he will not make misuse the liberty of bail; that the applicant is in custody since 18.12.2014.

4. Learned AGA as well as learned counsel for the first informant vehemently opposed the prayer of bail and contended that the applicant has moved bail application with absolutely false and incorrect allegations and concealing the true facts; that the applicant has deliberately filed a false and incorrect copy of statement of the kidnapped "K.G." at Annexure No.3 to the affidavit and has made a specific allegations in para 9 of the affidavit to bail application maliciously and mischievously that he did not name applicant as one of the miscreants and further dishonestly and deliberately with malafide intention to misguide the Court for procuring bail, in the statement of K.G. left some space "BLANK with dots" between the names of co-accused persons "Kapil" and "Sumit" at page 24; that the correct and complete copy of statement of kidnapped K.G. has been filed at Annexure No.4 to the counter affidavit filed by first informant, wherein at page 21, there is clear mention of names of "Monu" and "Sanni" at above dotted space between the names of "Kapil" and "Sumit"; that thus the applicant has not only left the space with dots in statement of K.G. at Annexure No.3, malafidely and mischievously, but has also dared to make specific false averments in para 9 of the affidavit to the bail application, that the kidnapped person did not disclose the name of applicant as one of the miscreants; that the above concealment has been made deliberately, mischievously and with mala fide intentions with an attempt to play fraud on the Court for procuring the bail; that similarly in para 29 of the affidavit given in support of bail application, it has been clearly mentioned that applicant has no criminal history, while apart from this case, the applicant is involved in as many as three more cases, including those of heinous crimes under sections 307 and 364-A IPC, detailed in para 18 of the counter affidavit and on being caught for making false statement and mischievous concealment, he has claimed to have obtained bail in above cases during pendency of his bail application; that apart from above, the applicant has also made a false plea of alibi in para 13 of the affidavit and in order to support above false plea of alibi, has forged and fabricated the documents with regard to his injuries allegedly sustained in accident in Dehradun Market, at the time when K.G. was kidnapped in Noida; that the medical reports at Annexure No.7 are false and do not support the above false plea of alibi; that the father of applicant being an influential person, has obtained a prescription (Outdoor Patient Ticket) of applicant by exercising his influence and further to strengthen the above false plea of alibi, got him admitted to L.L.R.M., Medical College, Meerut and obtained false medical reports in order to make a ground for getting his worthy criminal son released on bail; that the medical reports are self contradictory and do not show applicant's admission in Dehradun Hospital rather only reference has been obtained thereon; that the medical report at page 45 A-8 showing "Linear undisplaced fracture in left temporo-parietal region" is against the allegation in para 13 about alleged injuries on face and nose; that the applicant is alleged to have fallen forward getting his face and nose injured and under any imagination of medical jurisprudence, on falling of a person with the face on ground there can be no probability of sustaining even linear fracture in left temporo-parietal region; that the applicant continued to abscond for a long period of three years and despite putting reward over his head and issuance of process under sections 82 & 83 Cr.P.C., his arrest could be made only by Special Task Force, from the State of Madhya Pradesh; that the averments made in para 15 of the affidavit to bail application dated 19.7.2015 about having no knowledge of the incident in question are absolutely false and in contradiction to the fact that the applicant had filed a Writ Petition No.24330 of 2011 before this Court for quashing of F.I.R., which was dismissed vide order dated 22.12.2011, copy filed at Annexure No.18 to the counter affidavit and it is yet one more attempt to misguide the Court and denying knowledge of case upto 2015 inspite of fact of having complete knowledge since lodging of F.I.R. in 2011; that the role of applicant is fully identical and is not distinguishable from his associates, the other co-accused, namely, Sandeep, Pushpendra @ Pintu, Braham Singh, Anshul Sharma and Sajeew Kumar, whose bail applications have been rejected on merits vide orders dated 5.9.2012, 5.9.2012, 22.4.2013, 24.9.2015 and 5.7.2016, passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos.14342 of 2012, 21567 of 2012, 8117 of 2012, 6936 of 2015 and 9236 of 2013, respectively copies of which have been filed as Annexure No.17 to the counter affidavit and of order dated 5.7.2016 produced for perusal during hearing; that the second bail application of co-accused Pushpendra @ Pintu was also rejected by this Court vide order dated 8.11.2013 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.9359 of 2013 while the third bail application of co-accused Anshul Sharma was rejected by this Court vide order dated 24.9.2015 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.6936 of 2015, copies of which have been filed collectively at Annexure No.17 to the counter affidavit; that the trial is in progress and if the applicant is released on bail, he will certainly make misuse the liberty of bail and will disappear/underground; that the recovery of entire amount of Rs.5 crores paid as ransom, has been recovered from the associates of applicant while he managed to escape and obtained some fabricated medical reports in order to make a false plea of alibi; that the applicant is not a student, rather is involved in criminal activities since before the crime in question; that the bail application of applicant is misconceived and is liable to be rejected.

5. Upon hearing the parties counsel and perusal of record, I find that the bail has been sought mainly on the following grounds viz.(i) the applicant is not named in F.I.R., (ii) he was not named by kidnapped person K.G., (iii) plea of alibi that at the time of incident in District Gautam Budh Nagar (Noida) he met with an accident at District Dehradun sustaining multiple injuries on nose and face, (iv) he could not appear before the Court for a period of 3 years, because prior to 18.12.2014, he had no knowledge of the case, and that (v) he is a student and has no criminal history.

6. In a case of kidnapping on the point no.(i), the fact of applicant having been not named in F.I.R. is immaterial and on point no.(ii) as far as the medical reports which are alleged to have been obtained in support of false plea of alibi, since correctness of above report is to be decided by trial court upon evidence adduced during trial, so no opinion is being expressed. However on point nos.(ii), (iv) and (v), the averments made in affidavit given in support of bail application are apparently false and incorrect on face of the record and have been found to be wholly wrong and incorrect. In view of submissions made at Bar, I am of the considered view that on above points deliberate false statements have been made by and on behalf of applicant (i) by filing incorrect copy of statement of kidnapped K.G. at Annexure No.3 to the affidavit, concealing the correct statement with an attempt to misguide the Court and procure bail by playing fraud on Court (ii) by giving false statement that the applicant has no criminal history while he has criminal history of heinous offences including one more case of similar nature under section 364-A IPC to his credit and (iii) by giving yet another false statement of having no knowledge of proceedings upto 18.12.2014 despite the fact that he had filed writ for quashing of F.I.R. of this case which was dismissed vide order dated 22.12.2011, since when he remain absconding and the plea of having no knowledge of the proceedings is palpably wrong.

7. It is settled principle law as has been laid down by the Apex Court in catena of judgments as well as in (2013) 7 SCC 452, C.B.I. Vs. Vijay Sai Reddy and (2013) 7 SCC 439, Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy Vs. C.B.I., that the relevant grounds for consideration for grant of bail are "(a) nature of accusation and evidence (b) severity of punishment which conviction will entail (c) character and circumstances which are peculiar to accused (d) reasonable possibility of securing presence of accused at trial, (e) reasonable apprehension of witnesses being tampered with, and (f) larger interests of public/State and other similar consideration etc.

8. It is pertinent to mention that admittedly the applicant is a person of criminal antecedents and case crime no.703 of 2011, under sections 147, 148, 149, 307 IPC and case crime no.121 of 2011, under sections 364-A IPC (similar heinous offence), are to his credit and despite his securing bail in above cases, in view of his involvement in similar nature of crimes since before the present case crime no.682 of 2011, under section 364-A IPC, there is no reason to believe that in case of release, he will not be further involved in similar or other offences and will not tamper the prosecution evidence or that his release will be in larger public interest, rather there is every likelihood of misuse of liberty of bail by the applicant as well as of his absconding in order to delay and defraud the trial. Hence in view of the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, complicity of accused, severity of punishment, deliberate wrong submission of facts with concealment of true facts by the applicant, as mentioned above, I find that applicant has not come with clean hands and has not acted fairly rather has made an attempt to procure bail by concealment of true facts and playing fraud on the Court. In view of the facts and circumstances, considering the seriousness of matter and repeated false statements of applicant on various points, without commenting the on the merits of the case, I do not find it a fit case for bail. The bail application of applicant Sanni Malik @ Sanni Jaat in S.T. No.53 of 2015, case crime no.682 of 2011, under sections 364-A, 120-B, 34 IPC, PS. Sector 20 Noida, District Gautam Budh Nagar, is liable to be rejected and is rejected accordingly.

Bail application under Section 439 Cr.P.C. in Case Crime No. 2006 of 2015, under Section 376 I.P.C. and Section 3(1)(12) of the SC/ST Act, Police Station Adampur, District J.P. Nagar—Applicant not named in the F.I.R.—Identity alleged to have surfaced after about two and half months of the incident—Victim an aged lady of about 60 years—Statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. narrates forcible sexual assault coupled with robbery—Accused identified subsequently by victim and her son on spotting him, leading to arrest—Non-holding of Test Identification Parade explained as accused was seen after occurrence—Gravity and perversity of offence emphasized—Court held that considering the nature and gravity of accusation and supporting material, no case for bail is made out—Bail rejected—Observations confined to disposal of bail application and not to affect merits of trial.

Case Law discussed:—

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application has been filed seeking the release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No.2006 of 2015, u/s 376 I.P.C. and Section 3 (1) (12) SC/ST Act, Police Station-Adampur, District-J.P. Nagar.

2. Learned A.G.A. has filed counter affidavit on behalf of State which is taken on record.

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

4. Perused the record.

5. Submission of counsel for the applicant is that the complicity of the applicant surfaced after about two and half months of the incident. The applicant was not nominated in the F.I.R. and applicant was not known to the victim from before. There is no proper identification parade organized by the police. Therefore, he should be released on bail.

6. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer for bail and has submitted that the victim is an old lady of about 60 years in age, who was going on foot while the applicant picked her up, gave her lift and then subsequently ravished her. Attention was drawn to the statement of the victim given before the Magistrate in which she has narrated the incident, which also indicates that during the time of this unnatural offence the victim lady was begging for mercy all the time, implored the applicant, tried to tell the applicant about her advanced stage and that she was like his mother, but all her importuning and imploring did not yield any result and the applicant not only raped the victim, but also took away the money which was carried by her. Further submission is that the applicant was not known to the victim from before the incident. He was not nominated by name either by the victim or by the first informant, who was her son, which indicates that neither the first informant nor the victim had any axe to grind against the applicant and there is absolutely no reason to falsely implicate the applicant in the crime. It has been further pointed out that during the course of investigation the victim and her son happened to see the applicant at some place and that is how she happened to identify the applicant and then the information was given to the police whereupon the applicant was apprehended. With regard to not organizing the identification parade, it has been submitted by learned A.G.A. that as the accused applicant was spotted by the victim and her son and the information with regard to the whereabouts of applicant was furnished to the police by the victim herself on which the applicant was arrested, therefore, there was no more justification left for arranging the identification parade as the same would not have carried any great evidentiary value. Identification parades carry weight only in the cases where the identifying the witness does not get or is provided with any opportunity to see the accused any time after the occurrence. Submission is that in the present set of circumstances as are involved in this case the purpose or the object to arrange the identification parade had already got lost because of the applicant having been seen by the victim on subsequent occasions after the occurrence. Further submission is that the crime in question reflects extreme perversity of the applicant who allowed his carnal instincts to blind him so completely that he could dishonour an aged old lady of 60 years. Such kind of savagery displayed by the applicant is sufficient to bracket him in the category of incorrigible delinquents beyond redemption. Only a mentally sick person can display such kind of abhorrent immoral deviation. Submission is that the gravity of the offence involved in the case does not call for any liberal view in the matter.

7. Looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case, this Court is of the view that the applicant has not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the applicant is rejected.

8. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 — Section 138 — Cheque dishonour — Conviction by Magistrate affirmed in appeal — Matter compromised during pendency of criminal revision — Compounding of offence at revisional stage — Accused willing to deposit 15% of cheque amount as per guidelines of Supreme Court — Court permitted compounding subject to deposit of 15% of cheque amount with State Legal Services Authority — No coercive action to be taken against revisionist till next date.

Where the revisionist, convicted under Section 138 N.I. Act and whose appeal had been dismissed, filed a joint affidavit with the complainant during pendency of criminal revision stating that the dispute had been amicably settled and the complainant had received the cheque amount along with compensation, the High Court held that the offence under Section 138 N.I. Act is compoundable even at the revisional stage. Following the guidelines laid down by the Supreme Court in Damodar S. Prabhu v. Sayed Babalal H., the Court directed the revisionist to deposit 15% of the cheque amount as costs with the State Legal Services Authority for permitting compounding. Till the next date of listing, no coercive action was directed to be taken against the revisionist in compliance of the conviction order of the lower court.

Case Law discussed:

Damodar S. Prabhu v. Sayed Babalal H.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard counsel for the revisionist, counsel for opposite party no. 2 and AGA for opposite party no. 1, and perused the record.

2. Revisionist was convicted under section 138 of N.I. Act and was sentenced for imprisonment of one year and Rs. 70,000/- as fine by judgement dated 25.2.2011 of ACJM, Court

No. 2, Meerut. Against said judgement, Criminal Appeal no. 114 of 2011, Mahesh Chand Vs. Nand Kishor Sharma was preferred, which was dismissed by judgement dated 31.1.2016 of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 15, Meerut. Against these judgements revisionist had preferred present criminal revision.

3. At the time of hearing of revision, joint affidavit has been filed by revisionist Mahesh Chand and opposite party no.-2/ complainant Nand Kishore Sharma that they have settled their dispute outside the court by compromise; and in terms of said compromise complainant Nand Kishore Sharma had received Rs. 70,000/- in lieu of his cheque (of Rs.50,000/-) for dishonour by which prosecution has been carried out on his behalf. When it was enquired by the court as to whether such matter may be compromised in revision, the counsel for the revisionist cited Damodar S. Prabhu v. Sayed Babalal H., (2010) 5 SCC 663 in which Hon'ble Apex Court has given certain guidelines which are as under:

"21. With regard to the progression of litigation in cheque bouncing cases, the learned Attorney General has urged this Court to frame guidelines for a graded scheme of imposing costs on parties who unduly delay compounding of the offence. It was submitted that the requirement of deposit of the costs will act as a deterrent for delayed composition, since at present, free and easy compounding of offences at any stage, however belated, gives an incentive to the drawer of the cheque to delay settling the cases for years. An application for compounding made after several years not only results in the system being burdened but the complainant is also deprived of effective justice. In view of this submission, we direct that the following guidelines be followed:

THE GUIDELINES

(i) In the circumstances, it is proposed as follows:

(a) That directions can be given that the Writ of Summons be suitably modified making it clear to the accused that he could make an application for compounding of the offences at the first or second hearing of the case and that if such an application is made, compounding may be allowed by the court without imposing any costs on the accused.

(b) If the accused does not make an application for compounding as aforesaid, then if an application for compounding is made before the Magistrate at a subsequent stage, compounding can be allowed subject to the condition that the accused will be required to pay 10% of the cheque amount to be deposited as a condition for compounding with the Legal Services Authority, or such authority as the Court deems fit.

(c) Similarly, if the application for compounding is made before the Sessions Court or a High Court in revision or appeal, such compounding may be allowed on the condition that the accused pays 15% of the cheque amount by way of costs.

(d) Finally, if the application for compounding is made before the Supreme Court, the figure would increase to 20% of the cheque amount."

"25. The graded scheme for imposing costs is a means to encourage compounding at an early stage of litigation. In the status quo, valuable time of the Court is spent on the trial of these cases and the parties are not liable to pay any Court fee since the proceedings are governed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, even though the impact of the offence is largely confined to the private parties. Even though the imposition of costs by the competent court is a matter of discretion, the scale of costs has been suggested in the interest of uniformity. The competent Court can of course reduce the costs with regard to the specific facts and circumstances of a case, while recording reasons in writing for such variance. Bona fide litigants should of course contest the proceedings to their logical end."

4. Counsel for the revisionist informs that in compliance of abovementioned guidelines of Hon'ble Apex Court, revisionist is ready and willing to deposit 15% of cheque amount for compounding the matter. Considering facts and circumstances of this matter, this request is accepted. The revisionist is directed to deposit 15% amount of cheque in question which is Rs. 7,500/- in this court which will be remitted in the account of State Legal Services Authority, Lucknow.

5. List on 22.8.2016.

6. Till the next date of listing, no coercive action will be taken against revisionist in compliance of conviction order of lower court.

Headnote:

Land acquisition — Determination of market value — Market value of acquired land has to be determined with reference to the date of publication of notification under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act — Subsequent acquisitions or compensation determined in respect of lands acquired many years later cannot be relied upon for determining the market value — Comparable sale instances prior to acquisition and surrounding circumstances indicate that the market value of the land acquired in the year 1976 would not exceed Rs.20/- per square yard after making deductions for development and largeness of area — Therefore, compensation awarded by the reference court requires enhancement.

Result:

Appeals allowed — Market value of the acquired land determined at Rs.20/- per square yard — Appellants held entitled to compensation at the said rate along with statutory benefits and interest after adjusting compensation already received.

1. Facts and controversy involved in the above noted two first appeals are similar and, therefore, both the appeals are decided together, treating the First Appeal No.525 of 1983 as leading appeal.

2. Heard Sri Y.D. Sharma, learned counsel for the appellants, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and Sri Shivam Yadav, learned counsel for the respondent No.2.

3. Sri Y.D. Sharma, learned counsel for the appellants submits that this Bench is bound by the Division Bench judgment in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of New India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Hilli Multipurpose Cold Storage Pvt. Ltd., 2016 (1) Supreme 319 (para-14) and as such the appellants are entitled for compensation @ Rs.297/- per square yard as was granted by the Division Bench by order dated 11.02.2012 passed in First Appeal No.564 of 1997, Khazan and others Vs. State of U.P., judgment dated 31.07.2014 passed in First Appeal No.297 of 2002, Dhanesh Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and other connected appeals, and judgment dated 25.02.2014 passed in First Appeal No.202 of 2009, Govind Vs. State of U.P. and others, and other connected appeals.

4. Learned Standing Counsel supports the impugned judgment.

5. Learned counsel for the respondent No.2 submits that the compensation is awarded on the market value of the acquired property as on the date of acquisition as per provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. He submits that the submission of learned counsel for the appellants that same market value as determined in respect of the acquisition of the year 1992-93 should be applied to the acquisition made in the year 1976, is wholly misconceived and without reference to any provisions of the Act or the Rules.

6. Despite opportunity afforded to the parties by order dated 17.05.2016 to file written submission within three days, no written submissions have been filed by the parties.

7. I have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

Brief Facts of the Case:-

8. An area of 382 bighas 4 biswas land of village Morna, Pargana and Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad (now Gautam Buddhnagar) was acquired for planned industrial development for New Okhla Industrial Development Authority (for short 'NOIDA') by Notification dated 01.06.1976 under Section 4(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act'), which was followed by Notification under Section 6(1) of the Act dated 16.09.1976. The possession was taken on 28.10.1976. The award was passed by the Special Land Acquisition Officer (New Okhla, Ghaziabad) on 02.05.1977. A reference under Section 18 of the Act was made which was registered as Land Acquisition Reference No.240 of 1977, Kale Vs. State which was decided by the Court of District Judge, Ghaziabad by judgment dated 30.11.1981. First Appeal No.525 of 1983 arises from this judgment.

9. Similarly, Land Acquisition Reference No.228 of 1977 was made, which was also decided by the court of District Judge, Ghaziabad by judgment dated 30.11.1981 which is impugned in First Appeal No.534 of 1983.

10. Before the court below, the appellants claimed compensation @ Rs.9/- per square yard (Rs.27,000/- per bigha) which was considered by the court below in the impugned judgment as under:

"The parties gave a joint statement to the effect that the evidence produced in L.A.R. No.224/77 be also read in these cases.

P.W.1 Rati Ram has deposed about the location of the acquired land. According to him village Morna is at a distance of one mile from Gharauli Dairy Farm Colony Delhi and one-and-a-half mile from Intermediate College Sadar Sarai. Moreover, the colonisers were active in the area and developed colony M/s Dhar Gupta and Association had sold plot no.39 of this colony to Smt. Khem Lata for a consideration of Rs.7500/-. In the circumstances the acquired land had considerable scope for development and should be treated as potential building site. The compensation will have to be awarded accordingly.

It has been argued that the land of adjoining villages, viz, Barola, Harola Makhanpur, Chaudha, Sardarpur, Suthari, Raghunathpur was also acquired for NOIDA and the S.L.A.O. awarded compensation upto Rs.20,000/-, Rs.18,315/-, Rs.16,260/- and Rs.24,450/- per bigha vide copies of awards Exs 1 to 6 respectively. The land of these villages is of the same type as the land in question, therefore, there appears to be no justification for differential treatment.

Reliance has also been placed on the judgment dated 17.11.81 in L.A.R. No.192/77 in which I have awarded compensation at the rate of Rs.6/- per square yard (Rs.18,125/- per bigha). The acquired land in that case was also of the village Morna. There is no good reason why this rate should not be applied to the land in question. I, therefore, hold that the claimants are entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs.6/- per square yard for their acquired land. The issues are decided accordingly."

11. Copy of the award filed along with the paper book shows that some sale deed instances were filed before the S.L.A.O. which are summarised as under:

Date of Sale Deed	Plot No.	Area	Amount
1. 28.05.1975	282 & 283	1 bigha 6 biswas	Rs.6000/-

2. 22.08.1975 128 & 129 3 bighas 6 biswas Rs.34000/-
3. 136 & 137 1 bigha 15 biswas Rs.16000/-

12. In the ground No.2 of the memorandum of appeal, the appellants have made a claim for compensation of the acquired land @ Rs.9/- per square yard. They took ground that M/s. Dhar Gupta Associates had sold the plot No.39 to Smt. Khemlata for a consideration of Rs.7500/- for an area of 200 square yard which works out to Rs.37.50 per square yard. The appellants have not disclosed the situation of the aforesaid plot and the date on which it was sold. It has also not been disclosed that how far was Sri Nagar Garden Colony from village Morna. Thus, the claim of the appellants for compensation has to be judged from the materials available on record.

13. While the sale deed instances noted by the S.L.A.O. shows land value between Rs.5000/- to Rs.10000/- per bigha about a year prior to the date of acquisition, the P.W.-1 RatiRam has deposed that in a developed colony M/s Dhar Gupta and Associates had sold plot No.39 measuring 200 square yard to one Smt. Khemlata for a consideration of Rs.7500/- per bigha, which comes to Rs.37.50/- per square yard. It gives an indication about the market value of the acquired land to be not more than Rs.20/- per square yard after deduction towards development cost etc. and largeness of the acquired area.

14. In the case of Kanwar Singh and others v. Union of India, (1998) 8 SCC 136 (Paras 9,10 and 11), Hon'ble Supreme Court rejected the contention of the claimants to award same rate of compensation, as was awarded to the claimants of the adjoining villages and held as under :

"9. The contention of appellants' counsel that the appellants deserved to be awarded the same rate of compensation as it was awarded to the claimants of village Masoodpur and Mahipalpur, in the present facts and circumstances of the case, is not tenable. If we go by the compensation awarded to claimants of adjoining village it would not lead to the correct assessment of market value of the land acquired in the village Rangpuri. For example village 'A' adjoins village 'B', village 'B' adjoins village 'C', village 'C' adjoins village 'D', so on and so forth and in that process the entire Delhi would be covered. Generally there would be different situation and potentiality of the land situated in two different villages unless it is proved that the situation and potentiality of the land in two different villages are the same. The High Court in the present case has found that the situation and potentiality of land in village Malikpur Khoi are different than that of village Masoodpur, This finding of the High Court is based on correct appreciation of evidence on record and does not call for interference. Another reason why the High Court declined to rely upon the judgments referred to above was that the sale instances relating to village Malikpur Khoi were available for determining the market value of the land acquired in village Malikpur Khoi and, as such, there was no need to rely upon the judgments which related to acquired land of different villages. Yet another reason why the two judgments referred to by learned counsel for appellant cannot be relied upon for assessing the market value of acquired land in village Malikpur Khoi was that RFA No. 567/90 filed by the Union of India relating to the grant of compensation in respect of land in village Masoodpur was dismissed summarily, as the only challenge in the appeal was in respect of grant of interest to the claimants which matter was already settled by the Supreme Court. In fact, the High Court had adversely commented upon the working of the Land Acquisition Department of Delhi Administration in not challenging the market value of the land acquired in village Masoodpur as assessed by the Additional District Judge, in Regular First Appeals although the court fee to that effect was paid. In this connection, it is relevant to reproduce the finding of the High Court, which runs as follows:-

"Before leaving the judgment, we are constrained to make a few observations regarding the working of the land Acquisition Department in Delhi Administration and contest of these appeals by the counsel for Union of India. Although an appeal filed by the Union of India against the judgment of the ADJ in LAC 186/91 is pending in this court, this fact was not brought to our notice by the counsel for Union of India. This decision of the ADJ in LAC 186/81 has been substantially relied upon by another ADJ in LAC 15/81. When the appeal against the said decision of the ADJ in LAC 15/81 came before (RFA 567/90) the only question pressed by the counsel for Union of India was in regard to the payment of interest after the amendment in the Land Acquisition Act in 1984. But when we found that the dismissal of the said appeal by the Division Bench was relied upon in Hoshiar Singh V. Union of India, we sent for the file. What is discovered on the file is shocking. The Union of India had purchased stamp worth Rs. 1,19,300. Obviously, the intention was to file an appeal against the quantum of compensation awarded by the ADJ. However, the grounds of appeal mostly relate to the payment of interest in terms of the Amending Act of 1984. The appeal memo was drafted by Mr. Gulab Chandra, Advocate, who also appeared before us in RFA 567/90. Since the questions regarding payment of interest after the Amending Act of 1984 are now fully settled by the decisions of the Supreme Court and since that was the only question argued before us by the counsel for the Union of India, the appeal was dismissed by us we had not noticed at that stage that a stamp of Rs.1,19,300 was affixed by the Union of India. This was only discovered now. The purchase of stamp worth Rs. 1,19,300 would show that the claim would be over a crore of rupees. The claimants have been benefited because Union of India did not argue the matter on compensation. Apart from the lack of interest and inefficiency in the Land Acquisition matters on behalf of the Land Acquisition Department, these facts raise grave suspicion about the credibility of the working of the said Department. We, therefore, direct that a copy of this judgment be sent to the Lt. Governor for appropriate action."

The judgment of the High Court in RFA No. 567 of 1990 was relied upon in Hoshiar Singh v. Union of India as there was no sale instance in respect of the land in village Mahipalpur available for assessing the market value of acquired land in the village Mahipalpur. It may be seen that in both the cases, the High Court had no occasion to examine the market value of acquired land in Villages Masoodpur and Mahipalpur and under such circumstances, it is not safe to rely upon two judgments of the High Court for arriving at the market value of the land in Village Rangpuri.

10. The High Court has considered the following sale instances in detail which were from the same village, viz., Rangpuri

Sl. No.	Ext. No	Description of document sale/Regn.	Date of Notification	Field No., area and Situation	Rate per Bigha Rs.
1	A-1	Deed of Sale	03/14/61	14 (2 bighas) Malikpur Kohi	25000
2	A-2	-do-	07/07/62	72 min (6 bis) -do-	4000
3	A-5	-do-	04/28/64	1587/1 (1 bigha) -do-	5000
4	A-2	-do-	10/26/62	1677 (4 bighas) -do-	344
5	R-1	Copy of Mutation	04/09/63	769,770 etc. (91 bighas & 1 bis) -do-	300
6	R-2	Deed of Sale	08/19/64	1637,1650,1651, 1652,1653/1& 1653/2 (24 bighas) -do-	500

and came to the conclusion that sale transaction with regard to Khashra No. 1587/1 is not genuine sale transaction and, as such, it cannot be relied upon for assessing the market value of the land acquired. The High Court also found that the sale instances of the year 1964 at serial No. 4 and 6 which were nearer to the point of time of notification under Section 4 of the Act, are the best pieces of evidence for assessing the market value of the land acquired.

11. After having considered the sale instances, the High Court assessed the market value of the land acquired @ Rs. 3000 per bigha. The judgment of the High Court is neither perverse nor illegal and does not call for any interference, since it is based on correct appreciation of the evidence on record and proper application of law to the established facts. The appeals are, accordingly, dismissed but in the circumstances of the case, there shall be no order as to costs."

(Emphasis supplied by me)

15. The view taken by this Court in determining the market value of the acquired land of village Morna, also finds support from the principles/guidelines settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chiman Lal Hargovinddas v. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Poona and another, (1988) 3 SCC 751 (Para 4) which is reproduced below :

"4. The following factors must be etched on the mental screen:

(1) A reference under section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act is not an appeal against the award and the Court cannot take into account the material relied upon by the Land Acquisition officer in his Award unless the same material is produced and proved before the Court.

(2) So also the Award of the Land Acquisition officer is not to be treated as a judgment of the trial Court open or exposed to challenge before the Court hearing the Reference. It is merely an offer made by the Land Acquisition officer and the material utilised by him for making his valuation cannot be utilised by the Court unless produced and proved before it. It is not the function of the Court to sit in appeal against the Award, approve or disapprove its reasoning, or correct its error or affirm, modify or reverse the conclusion reached by the Land Acquisition officer, as if it were an appellate court.

(3) The Court has to treat the reference as an original proceeding before it and determine the market value afresh on the basis of the material produced before it.

(4) The claimant is in the position of a plaintiff who has to show that the price offered for his land in the award is inadequate on the basis of the materials produced in the Court. Of course the materials placed and proved by the other side can also be taken into account for this purpose.

(5) The market value of land under acquisition has to be determined as on the crucial date of publication of the notification under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act (dates of Notifications under sections 6 and 9 are irrelevant).

(6) The determination has to be made standing on the date line of valuation (date of publication of notification under Section 4) as if the valuer is a hypothetical purchaser willing to purchase land from the open market and is prepared to pay a reasonable price as on that day. It has also to be assumed that the vendor is willing to sell the land at a reasonable price.

(7) In doing so by the instances method, the Court has to correlate the market value reflected in the most comparable instance which provides the index of market value.

(8) only genuine instances have to be taken into account. (Some times instances are rigged up in anticipation of Acquisition of land).

(9) Even post notification instances can be taken into account (1) if they are very proximate, (2) genuine and (3) the acquisition itself has not motivated the purchaser to pay a higher price on account of the resultant improvement in development prospects.

(10) The most comparable instances out of the genuine instances have to be identified on the following considerations:

(i) proximity from time angle,

(ii) proximity from situation angle.

(11) Having identified the instances which provide the index of market value the price reflected therein may be taken as the norm and the market value of the land under acquisition may be deduced by making suitable adjustments for the plus and minus factors vis-a-vis land under acquisition by placing the two in juxtaposition.

(12) A balance-sheet of plus and minus factors may be drawn for this purpose and the relevant factors may be evaluated in terms of price variation as a prudent purchaser would do.

(13) The market value of the land under acquisition has there after to be deduced by loading the price reflected in the instance taken as norm for plus factors and unloading it for minus factors.

(14) The exercise indicated in clauses (11) to (13) has to be undertaken in a common sense manner as a prudent man of the world of business would do. We may illustrate some such illustrative (not exhaustive) factors:

Plus factors

Minus factors

1. smallness of size

1. largeness of area

2. proximity to a road
the Road

2. situation in the interior at a distance from

3. frontage on a road frontage compared to depth

3. Narrow strip of land with very small

4. nearness to developed area to be filled up

4. lower level requiring the depressed portion

5. regular shape

5. remoteness from developed locality

6. level vis-a-vis land under acquisition

6. some special disadvantageous factor which would deter a purchaser

7. special value for an owner of an adjoining property to whom it may have some very special advantage

(15) *The evaluation of these factors of course depends on the facts of each case. There cannot be any hard and fast or rigid rule. Common sense is the best and most reliable guide. For instance, take the factor regarding the size. A building plot of land say 500 to 1000 sq. yds cannot be compared with a large tract or block of land of say 10000 sq. yds or more. Firstly while a smaller plot is within the reach of many, a large block of land will have to be developed by preparing a lay out, carving out roads, leaving open space, plotting out smaller plots, waiting for purchasers (meanwhile the invested money will be blocked up) and the hazards of an entrepreneur. The factor can be discounted by making a deduction by way of an allowance at an appropriate rate ranging approximately between 20 percent to 50 percent to account for land required to be set apart for carving out lands and plotting out small plots. The discounting will to some extent also depend on whether it is a rural area or urban area, whether building activity is picking up, and whether waiting period during which the capital of the entrepreneur would be looked up, will be longer or shorter and the attendant hazards.

(16) Every case must be dealt with on its own fact pattern bearing in mind all these factors as a prudent purchaser of land in which position the Judge must place himself.

(17) These are general guidelines to be applied with understanding informed with common sense."

16. In First Appeal No.458 of 1984, Jagmal and others Vs. State of U.P. decided on 27.05.2016, this court determined compensation @ Rs.28.12 per square yard with respect to land of village Agahapur, Pargana and Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad acquired by Notification published on 16.09.1976 under Section 4(1) of the Act.

17. The appellants have relied upon the judgments in the case of Khajan (supra), Dhanesh Kumar (supra) and Govind (supra) relating to some other villages in which market value of land acquired in much subsequent years was determined at Rs.297.00 per square yard. The said judgments have no relevance in the present set of facts for reasons that the acquisition in question was made in the year 1976 of lands of a different village. In the case of Bhupal Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 5 SCC 801 Hon'ble Supreme Court specifically considered question of determination of market value and held that the fair market value of the acquired land is required to be determined under Section 23 of the Act on the basis of the market rate of the adjacent lands similarly situated to the acquired lands prevailing on the date of acquisition or/ and prior to acquisition but not subsequent to the date of acquisition. Para-27 of the aforesaid judgment is reproduced below:

"27. As rightly argued by learned counsel for the respondent, the fair market value of the acquired land is required to be determined under Section 23 of the Act on the basis of the market rate of the adjacent lands similarly situated to the acquired lands prevailing on the date of acquisition or/and prior to acquisition but not subsequent to the date of acquisition. In appropriate cases, addition of 10% per annum escalation in the prices specified in the sale deeds (if filed and relied on) in relation to adjacent similarly situated lands for fixing the market value of the acquired land may be permitted. Such is, however, not the case in hand. Here is the case where firstly, no sale deeds were filed by the appellants to prove the fair market value of the acquired land and secondly, what they now want this Court to do is to take into consideration the rate of those lands which were acquired ten years after the date of acquisition in question and then reduce the value of such land by 10% every year so as to determine the fair market value of the acquired land in question. In our view, such procedure for determination is not provided in the Act."

18. In view of the above discussions, both the appeals are allowed. The market value of the acquired land is determined at Rs.20/- per square yard. The appellants shall be entitled to compensation @ Rs.20/- per square yard along with statutory benefits and interest after deduction of the compensation already received by them. Deficiency in court fees shall be deducted and paid at the time of final computation of compensation.

Civil Procedure Code, 1908 — Order XXI Rule 97, Order XXI Rule 35 — Objection by third party in execution — Wife of judgment-debtor claiming possession and adverse possession — Maintainability — Objector having no independent right, title or interest in property but claiming through judgment-debtor husband — Objection rightly rejected — Executing court cannot be obstructed by persons claiming under judgment-debtor — Repeated objections by husband and thereafter by wife to delay execution — Abuse of process of court — Appeal dismissed.

Where a compromise decree regarding house property had attained finality and execution proceedings were initiated, the husband of the appellant (judgment-debtor) unsuccessfully filed several applications and writ petitions to stall execution. Thereafter the appellant-wife filed objection in execution proceedings claiming ownership by adverse possession and contending that decree could not be executed against her. The Court held that the appellant had no independent right, title or interest in the disputed property and her possession, if any, was only through her husband who was already bound by the compromise decree. An objection under Order XXI Rule 97 CPC can be entertained only when the objector claims an independent right and not when the claim is derived from the judgment-debtor. Filing of repeated objections after failure of the judgment-debtor clearly indicated abuse of the process of court intended to delay execution of the decree. The executing court therefore rightly rejected the objection.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

1. Heard Sri Vinay Khare, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Anurag Pathak, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. On 21.07.2016, this appeal was heard and judgment was reserved noting the submissions of learned counsel for the parties as under:

"Heard Sri Vinay Khare, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Anurag Pathak, learned counsel for the respondents.

This first appeal has been filed challenging order dated 13.09.2013 in Execution Case No.1 of 2012 passed by the court of Additional District Judge, Court No.5, Jalaun at Orai, whereby the application/ objection 21-C filed by the appellant, was rejected.

Learned counsel for the appellant submits that the appellant is wife of one Sri Amit Kumar and is living separately and as such, the decree dated 13.08.2003 on the basis of compromise dated 11.08.2003 cannot be executed against her in respect of disputed properties under Order XXI Rule 97, C.P.C. In support of his submissions, he relies upon judgments in the case of Meghraj Sah Vs. Rajansi Lal and others, AIR 1958 Patna 546 (paras-3 & 4), Babulal Vs. Raj Kumar and others, AIR 1996 SC 2050 (paras 4 & 5), Brahmdeo Chaudhary Vs. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal, AIR 1997 SC 856 (para-5) and State of U.P. Vs. Mangilal Sharma, AIR 1998 SC 743 (paras-7 & 10). He also submits that the decree was not executable against the appellant even otherwise under Order XXI Rule 35, C.P.C. He further submits that the appellant cannot be evicted by way of execution of the decree in question.

*Sri Anurag Pathak, learned counsel for the respondent submits that the appellant is an imposter and the objection being paper 21-C was filed by her in connivance with her husband who lost several round of litigation upto this court and thereafter, he had set up his wife, namely, the present appellant. He submits that the application/ objection 21-C was an abuse of process of court and, therefore, it was rightly rejected by the impugned order. He further submits that the impugned order has been passed by the court below in accordance with law and it does not suffer from any infirmity. He refers to several paragraphs of the counter affidavit and orders of this court passed in two writ petitions filed by the husband of the appellant. He relies upon a judgment of Karnatka High Court in the case of Gajanan Vs. Jayamma, , 2008 AIR (Karnatka) 11 (para-16) and the judgment of Bombay High Court in the case of Jagdish Motilal Joshi Vs. Chandrapal Tulsiram Bhola, 2007 (1) ALLMR 764 (para-17).

Judgment reserved."

3. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties.

4. Briefly stated, facts of the present case are that the respondents No.2 & 3 are the mother and father of the respondents No.1, 4 & 5. Appellant is the wife of respondent No.4 and thus, daughter-in-law of respondents No.2 & 3. Fifth respondent Sri Anil Kumar Singh filed O.S. No.136 of 2000 to restrain the respondents No.1, 2, 3 and 4 from evicting him from the house property in question. The suit was contested by the parties but ultimately they entered into a compromise on 11.08.2003 and a decree in terms of compromise was passed on 13.08.2003 by the court of Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court-11, Jalaun at Orai in respect of the house property in question at Rajendra Nagar, Orai. According to the contesting respondents No.1, 2 & 3, all the respondents were put in possession in the respective portions but on legal advice an Execution Case No.61 of 2008 was filed by the respondents No.2 and 3 against the respondent No.4. The respondent No.4 filed an application under Section 151 C.P.C. in the aforesaid Execution Case for recall of the compromise decree. The application of the respondent No.4 (husband of the appellant) was rejected by the Additional District Judge vide order dated 27.08.2012. He challenged this order in Writ-C No.48402 of 2012 which was dismissed by order dated 25.09.2012 as under:

"Heard Sri Sushil Kumar Dubey, learned counsel for the petitioner. Sri Anurag Pathak has appeared for respondents no. 2 to 5. Respondent no. 1 is represented by learned Standing counsel.

Respondent no. 2 Anil Kumar instituted a suit claiming share in the property of Shobha Singh being one of his sons. In the said suit a compromise was arrived at between the sons of Shobha Singh and the suit was decreed in terms of the compromise. Subsequently, petitioner applied vide application under Section 151 CPC for recall of the compromise decree on the ground that at the time of compromise he was not aware that respondent no. 2 was adopted by one Ranvir Singh and as such he has lost his right in the property of his natural father Shobha Singh. The said application has been rejected by the impugned order dated 27.8.2012 passed by the Additional District Judge.

Challenging the said order only submission advanced is that at the time of passing of the compromise decree petitioner had no knowledge that respondent no. 2 was given in adoption. The compromise is not disputed. It has been signed by the petitioner. A decree on the basis of the compromise has been passed in his presence and upon hearing the petitioner. Therefore, the said order decreeing the suit no. 136 of 2000 on the basis of compromise can not be recalled.

In view of the above, the court below has not committed any mistake in rejecting the application. The remedy, if any, of the petitioner lies elsewhere and not by asking for recall of the decree.

Petition dismissed."

5. Thereafter, the husband of the appellant (respondent No.4 in the present appeal) filed some more applications in the Execution Case including an objection under Section 47 C.P.C. which were rejected. Then, he filed a Writ-C No.811 of 2014 challenging orders dated 21.10.2013,

19.03.2013, 24.05.2013 and order dated 06.07.2013. The aforesaid writ petition was dismissed by order dated 13.01.2014 as under:

"Heard Sri Anurag Sharma, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner. Sri Anurag Pathak has appeared for respondent no. 2.

It appears that suit no. 136 of 2000 was decreed on the basis of the compromise. Petitioner filed an application under Section 151 CPC for recall of the compromise decree and the said application was rejected and the order was upheld upto the High Court.

In pursuance of the said decree execution case no. 1 of 2012 has been initiated by Virendra Kumar Singh. In the said execution petitioner filed an application paper no. 27Ga-2 contending that the land on which the petitioner is having possession does not tally with the land in respect of which the suit was decreed. The said application has been rejected by one of the impugned orders dated 21.10.2013.

The executing court has held that in respect of the objections taken by the petitioner in the above application, the court has already taken decision earlier which has attained finality and therefore he can not be permitted to raise the identical objection again and again.

I find no illegality in the said order.

The aforesaid decree was also put in execution by Shobha Singh by means of Execution Case No. 61 of 2008. In the said execution petitioner raised objections under Section 47 CPC. The said objections have been rejected by order dated 19.3.2013. The said order is revisable and as such can not be permitted to be challenged directly by invoking the writ jurisdiction.

The third order which has been assailed by the petitioner in the order dated 24.5.2013 filed in Misc. case no. 10 of 2013 registered on the objection of the petitioner under Section 47 CPC. By the said order petitioner's application for summoning the original record of the suit has been rejected. It is purely an interlocutory order which does not adjudicate any rights of the parties and therefore requires no interference in exercise of writ jurisdiction.

The last order which has been impugned is the order dated 6.7.2013 which has been passed in Misc. Case No. 10 of 2013 rejecting the petitioner's application paper no. 25Ga to submit originals of the documents by which he has purchased the plot in dispute.

The submission of the originals of the documents in the execution is not necessary as the executing court can not go behind the decree. The verification/examination of the originals is the job of the court while hearing the suit. Therefore, filing of original is not necessary in execution.

In view of the above, there is no illegality in rejection of the aforesaid application also.

The writ petition is dismissed with the above observations."

6. It is also noteworthy that the respondent No.1 lodged an FIR against the appellant and the respondent No.4 on 25.11.2010 being Case Crime No.2235 of 2010 under Sections 379, 352, 448, 504, 506 I.P.C.

7. It is also relevant to note that after the husband of the appellant (respondent No.4) was unsuccessful as aforementioned, the appellant wife filed O.S. No.257 of 2013 for injunction against the contesting respondents. Her temporary injunction application 7-C-2 was rejected by the court of Civil Judge (S.D.) Jalaun at Orai by a detail order dated 30.10.2013.

8. During pendency of the aforesaid suit, the appellant filed an objection dated 24.07.2013 being paper No.21-kha in the Execution Case No.1 of 2012 claiming herself to be the owner of the disputed property by adverse possession. The objection was rejected by the impugned order dated 13.09.2013 passed by the court of Additional District Judge, Court No.5, Jalaun at Orai.

9. In the impugned order, the court below briefly discussed the facts and came to the conclusion that the appellant is abusing the process of the court and not allowing the execution of the decree on one ground or the other.

10. It is wholly undisputed that husband of the appellant (respondent No.4) holds a portion of the disputed property as owner in terms of the compromise decree dated 13.08.2003. Even if she has somehow occupied a portion of the disputed property, the same is based on the rights of her husband, namely, the respondent No.4 in the disputed property. The husband of the appellant filed several applications in the execution case so as to delay the execution of the decree but was unsuccessful upto the stage of the High Court. It is thereafter that the appellant filed O.S. No.257 of 2013 for injunction against the contesting respondents but her temporary injunction application being paper No.7-C-2 was rejected by the court of Civil Judge (S.D.), Jalaun at Orai by order dated 13.10.2013. The appellant also filed an objection in the execution case after rejection of multiple applications of her husband. The impugned order has been passed rejecting the objection of the appellant. All these facts clearly indicate that the court below has not committed any error of law or facts to come to the conclusion that the appellant has abused the process of the court and is making every effort on one ground or the other that the execution of the decree may not be proceeded. The appellant has no independent right in the disputed property. Her possession in the disputed property, at best, is based on the rights of her husband, namely, the respondent No.4.

11. The judgments relied by the appellant as aforementioned are on different set of facts and clearly distinguishable on the facts of the present case. In the case of Gajanan (supra), the Karnataka High Court held as under:

"16. Order 21 Rule 97 of CPC is applicable to only person who is claiming independent right, title and interest and not under the judgment debtor. The HRRP filed by the landlord against the dismissal of his case under Section 21(1)(h)(f) and (p) of the Rent Control Act, this Court in view of the provision of Section 70(2)(c) of the Rent Act had disposed of the HRRP. But as far as the relationship of the landlord and tenant arrived at by the HRC Court, is neither set aside nor the obstructer did challenge the said finding. If the obstructer is claiming under the judgment debtor, he has no right to maintain the application and in addition to this, though the obstructer alleges that the judgment debtor is not in talking terms with him, however the judgment debtor as well as the obstructer are represented by the same advocate, the Trial Court noticing the said fact held that these issues have already been decided and did not entertain the said application. Decree holder is fighting the litigation for eviction of tenant from 1990. Though the suit filed by the obstructer for declaration that he is tenant is dismissed and confirmed by this Court. The obstructer without having any independent right and being the son of the judgment holder debtor and having suffered findings in HRC case, is still resisting the decree. I do not find any justification to interfere with the order of the Executing Court. Accordingly, appeal fails and the same is dismissed."

12. In Jagdish Motilal Joshi (supra), the Bombay High Court held as under:

"17. The scope and nature of enquiry shall always depend on the nature of claim of source of title, which an objection pleads. Now on facts, this Court finds on showing by the objector that she has no independent status and enquiry of fact finding as to her status becomes wholly unnecessary. On her showing, she is an imposter to be an objector in disguise. It can be concluded on the very face of it that the objector is set up by the judgment debtor. Even as an independent trespasser during the pendency of suit, the objector does not have a claim against a rightful claiming who has a decree in his favour. Law, equality or any other known or newly emerged doctrine do not come to the rescue of the objector respondent No.2 herein."

13. In both the afore-noted judgments, the Karnataka High Court and Bombay High Court have held that objector who has no independent right, does not have a claim against the person, who has a decree in his favour.

14. In view of the above discussion, I do not find any infirmity or any illegality in the impugned order. The appeal is totally devoid of merit and, therefore, deserves to be dismissed.

15. In view of the aforesaid, the appeal is dismissed with costs.

Headnote:

Civil Procedure Code, 1908 — Order VI Rule 17 — Amendment of written statement — Withdrawal of admission — Eviction suit under Section 20(2)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 — Defendant sought amendment after commencement of evidence to deny landlord-tenant relationship despite categorical admission in written statement — Amendment amounted to withdrawal of clear admission and was not merely explanatory or typographical correction — Such amendment, if allowed, would materially prejudice plaintiff — Trial Court justified in rejecting amendment application.

Article 227 of the Constitution of India — Scope of interference — Order rejecting amendment application — High Court held that refusal of amendment in present facts does not finally decide the lis between parties — Issue of landlord-tenant relationship still open to be decided on evidence — However, no ground made out to interfere with trial court's discretionary order rejecting amendment.

Landlord-Tenant Relationship — Admission in written statement — Defendant cannot be permitted to withdraw a categorical admission at stage of evidence through amendment of pleadings.

Petition dismissed. Defendant is, however, at liberty to dispute the landlord-tenant relationship by leading evidence and the trial court shall decide the suit independently without being influenced by observations made in the amendment order.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. By means of the present petition, the petitioner is challenging the order dated 23.01.2016 passed by the Additional District judge, Court no.1, Pilibhit in Small Causes Case No.03 of 2013 (Haq Nawaz Ahmad Vs. Abdul Ahmad). Brief facts giving rise to the present petition are:-

2. The SCC case no.03 of 2013 under section 20(2) (a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 has been filed for eviction of the defendants on the ground of default in payment of rent and demanding arrears of rent. Written statement was filed by the petitioner on 08.04.2013, the suit has proceeded for evidence. At the stage of evidence an application under Order VI Rule 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure was filed on 03.11.2015 with a prayer to amend the written statement. The Court below has rejected the application on 23.01.2016 on the ground that the amendment has been sought in order to delay the proceedings and to avoid cross-examination of the plaintiff. It is further recorded by the Court below that by means of the amendment the petitioner seeks to withdraw the admission made by him in the written statement. Aggrieved by this order the present petition has been filed.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner vehemently submits that there was no bar for the defendant to withdraw his admission, the amendment in the written statement stands on a different footing than the amendment in the plaint. The delay cannot be taken as a ground for refusal of prayer for amendment in the written statement. The amendment was necessary for deciding the real controversy between the parties in suit and moreover no prejudice will cause to the plaintiff on account of the amendment sought by the petitioner. The question of relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties is the real issue to be decided by the Court below. The suit is at the stage of evidence and as such the proviso to Order VI Rule 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure is not attracted. The plaintiff has enough opportunity to rebut the evidence led by the defendant.

4. He further submits that the rejection of the amendment application may not come in the way of the petitioner in raising the dispute regarding relationship of landlord and tenant at the time of final hearing in the suit. The tenant can resile from the relationship at any stage of the suit and for this reason the amendment could not have been rejected. Reliance is placed upon the judgement of Apex Court in Usha Balashaheb Swami and Ors. Vs. Kiran Apaso Swami and Ors. 1 and Sushil Kumar Jain Vs. Manoj Kumar and Anr, 2 in support of his above noted submission.

5. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent urged that the rejection of amendment application is a "case decided" within the meaning of Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 which is akin to Section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. The rejection of amendment application refusing to allow the tenant to deny the landlord-tenant relationship is for the reason that the tenant cannot withdraw his admission in the written statement at the stage of evidence. On the issue of landlord-tenant relationship, now principle of estoppel would apply as the landlord-tenant relationship is established from the admission of the defendant in the written statement. The order of rejection of the amendment application, therefore, resulted in deciding the issue of landlord-tenant relationship between the parties, which would come within the meaning of expression "case decided" under section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act.

6. Against such order, only a revision is maintainable under the said provision. This petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is not maintainable as such. Reliance is placed upon the judgement of Apex Court in Shiv Shakti Coop. Housing Society vs M/S. Swaraj Developers & Ors,³ wherein it is held that wherein an order in favour of the parties applying for revision would give finality to the suit or other proceeding, the revision is maintainable. Further reliance is placed upon the judgement of Full Bench of this Court decided on 15.12.1967 in the case of Rama Shanker Tiwari Vs. Mahadeo and others⁴ to submit that the order refusing or allowing an amendment is a "case decided" within the meaning of Section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. Further reliance is also placed upon the judgement of Apex Court in Transmarine Corporation and others vs. Zensar Technologies Ltd and others,⁵ Sambhavnath Digambar Jain Vs. Mohanlal and others,⁶ Mukhtar Ahmad Vs. Sirajul Haq and others,⁷ Manni Lal Gupta Vs. Waqf. Haji Inayat Hussain and another, ⁸.

7. On the merits of the order of rejection of the amendment application, it is submitted by the learned counsel for the respondent that the trial had commenced and the defendant has failed to establish before the trial Court that inspite of his due diligence, the matter which was sought to be pleaded by way of amendment could not be pleaded by him before the commencement of the trial i.e. at the time of filing of the written statement. The amendments are highly belated and have rightly been rejected by the trial Court.

8. In rejoinder, learned counsel for the petitioner placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Prem Bakshi and others Vs. Dharam Dev and others,⁹ to submit that the order allowing the amendment application cannot be said to be have finally decided the case. It would not fall within clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 115 of Civil Procedure Code and, therefore, the petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is perfectly maintainable. He further submits that even otherwise, no prejudice has been caused to the plaintiff as he had opportunity to lead evidence so as to establish the landlord tenant relationship. Merely because the plaintiff has closed his evidence, it cannot be concluded that he would not get opportunity to say anything further. Even, otherwise the plaintiff has to establish that the landlord-tenant relationship between the parties exists and he is the actual landlord of the suit premises. For maintaining a suit for eviction of the tenant, the burden is upon the landlord to prove that there exists landlord tenant relationship between the parties and the person whose eviction is sought is his tenant and he is entitled to the decree of eviction with respect to the premises in question.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record. Before coming to the legal position relating to amendment of written statement, it would be useful to refer to certain dates and the pleadings of the parties on record.

10. In the eviction suit, a specific assertion has been made by the plaintiff/respondent in paragraph no.1 of the plaint that he is owner of the suit premises, the description of which has been given in the said paragraph. The defendant is his tenant at the rate of Rs.1500/- per month. In the written statement, a vague denial has been made with regard to the averments in paragraph no.1 of the plaint. Further in paragraph no.9, it is stated by the defendant/petitioner that he was in occupation of the suit premises as a tenant since 2002 at the rent of Rs.200/- normal per month. It is further stated that a lease deed was executed between the defendant and the father of the plaintiff. It is also stated that after death of father of the plaintiff, rent was being tendered to the plaintiff but no rent receipt was given.

11. In the amendment application filed on 03.11.2015, after paragraph no.15 of the written statement, the paragraph which is sought to be added as paragraph no.15-A is as under:-

"15अ- यह की वादी वाद पत्र में प्रश्नगत मकान का भू- स्वामी (Land Lord) नहीं है. उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने प्रश्नगत मकान स्व तौहीद अहमद जो की प्रश्नगत मकान के (Landlord & Tenant) का कोई संबंध नहीं है जिस कारण उपरोक्त वाद श्रीमान जी के न्यायलय में चलने योग्य नहीं है, न्यायलय के उपरोक्त वाद सुनने का क्षेत्राधिकार प्राप्त नहीं है. वाद वादी सव्य निरस्त होने योग्य है."

12. Further paragraph no.15 of the written statement is also relevant for the present controversy and is quoted as under:-

"15.यह कि प्रश्नगत मकान का वादी तनहा स्वामी नहीं है जिस कारण वादी को उक्त वाद प्रस्तुत करने का कोई अधिकार नहीं है और वादी का वाद आदेश, नियम, सी. पी. सी. के प्राविधान से बाधित है"

13. The Court below after considering the amendments sought by the petitioner came to the conclusion that by means of the proposed amendment, admission in paragraph no.9 of the written statement is sought to be withdrawn by the defendant. Such amendments cannot be allowed as it would materially prejudice the plaintiff.

14. The lease deed executed between the parties has been brought on record, the landlord-tenant relationship is established from the record. This apart, the defendant has delayed the proceedings and did not cross examine the plaintiff for a sufficient long time. He is misusing the process of the Court and therefore, the amendment application has been rejected with a cost of Rs.250/-.

15. Having perused the above noted material on record, this Court finds that there is clear admission of the petitioner with regard to the landlord-tenant relationship between him and the plaintiff. He has made categorical statement in this regard in paragraph no.9 of the written statement. Though the admission in paragraph no.9 of the written statement has not been withdrawn as the petitioner did not seek any such prayer in the amendment application, however, the averments in paragraph no.15-A which he sought to add in the written statement shows that he wants to plead that there was no landlord-tenant relationship between him and the plaintiff and, therefore, suit at the instance of the plaintiff could not be maintained. This amendment has been sought with further assertion that there was a typographical mistake in the written statement for correction of which, the amendments are necessary.

16. Looking to the pleading in paragraph no.9 and 15 of the written statement and paragraph no. 15-A of the amendment application, it cannot be said that the amendments are only in the nature of correction of typographical mistake occurred in the written statement. A categorical stand has been taken by the petitioner in paragraph no.9 of the written statement that there exists a lease deed establishing the relationship between the parties. The lease deed is also on record and the suit is at the stage of evidence. It is for the trial Court to decide on the basis of evidence of the parties as to whether there exists landlord-tenant relationship between them or not and further as to whether the petitioner is owner/landlord of the suit premises and can maintain the suit at his own instance.

17. All these question are still open to be decided by the trial Court on the basis of oral and documentary evidences of the parties. This Court without going into the merits of the pleadings of the parties specially in the written statement and the plaint comes to an irresistible conclusion that the amendments which the defendant wants to add are neither in the nature of inconsistent plea nor explanatory in nature. The amendments are in the nature of withdrawal of admission in the written statement that too after the evidence of the parties had commenced.

18. There is no quarrel about the proposition that the Court has to take a liberal view while dealing with the amendments of the pleadings and as far as possible shall lean in favour of the party who is seeking amendment. At the same time, while allowing such amendments in the written statement no inconsistent or alternative plea can be allowed which would displace the plaintiff's case and cause irretrievable prejudice. If the amendments seeks to withdraw an important admission made in the written statement, such amendments are liable to be rejected.

18A. Reference may be made to the Apex Court judgement in Heera Lal Versus Kalyan Mal,¹⁰ and similarly in Arundhati Mishra v. Sri Ram Charitra Pandey,¹¹, wherein the Apex Court has held that where the defendant had denied the title of the plaintiff and set up his title as an owner with regard to the suit property, he cannot be allowed to take a plea of adverse possession by way of amendment. Though the pleas based on title and adverse possession are mutually inconsistent but latter does not began to operate until the former is renounced. The defendant never renounced his title as an owner and therefore, he cannot assert the plea of adverse possession which was available to him at the time of filing of the written statement. There was no explanation for the belated plea and as such the Court had refused to accept and therefore, the Apex Court has held that the High Court has erred in allowing the appeal.

19. The judgements relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner are distinguishable in the fact of this cases inasmuch as, in both the cases namely Sushil Kumar Jain (supra) and Ushal Bala Saheb Swami (supra) it is held by the Apex Court that the amendment in the written statement was not for withdrawal of admission rather keeping the amendment intact something more was sought to be added. The contradiction and the confusion in the written statement was sought to be clarified.

20. As far as the plea regarding the maintainability of the present petition is concerned, this Court is of the view that in the instant case, the refusal of amendment would not fall within the meaning of "case decided" under section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act. The lis between the parties namely the landlord tenant relationship is still to be decided by the Court below on the basis of evidence of the parties. The Court below has examined the plea of the parties only to reach a conclusion as to whether amendments are necessary or malafide. Any observation made by it regarding merits of the averments in the written statement is not going to affect the rival claim of the parties in the suit.

21. The reliance placed upon the above noted judgements of the Apex Court and of this Court placed by learned counsel for the respondent in support of his plea is also misplaced. So far as the Full Bench judgement of this Court in Rama Shankar Tiwari (supra) is concerned, the same relates to unamended section 115 of the Civil Procedure Code which stood amended by U.P. Act No.14 of 2002.

22. For all the above noted reasons, this Court is not inclined to interfere in the rejection order of the amendment application passed by the trial Court. It is, however, open for the petitioner/defendant to dispute the landlord-tenant relationship between him and the plaintiff by leading cogent evidence on his turn. It goes without saying that the issue of ownership of the plaintiff to the suit property and relationship of the parties are vital issues in a suit for eviction of the defendant on the ground of default in payment of rent. The trial Court shall, therefore, decide the suit independently without being influenced by any of the observation made above and also the observations made in the order dated 23.01.2016 passed on the amendment application.

23. With the above observations and directions, the petition is dismissed.

Madhuri Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ Petition No. 7590 (MB) of 2015 (Judgment dated 21.08.2015)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Mishra-II, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Mishra-II, J.)

1. This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of Certiorari quashing F.I.R./ Crime No.189 of 2015, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 323, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Mahanagar, District Lucknow.

2. Gist of the issue raised by the petitioner is recorded in order dated 3.5.2016. The order reads as under :

"1.This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing F.I.R./ Crime No.189 of 2015, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 323, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Mahanagar, District Lucknow.

2.The impugned F.I.R. has been read in extenso in court. Gist of the allegation is that the petitioner alongwith co accused, enabled forgery of a Will dated 6.1.2002 and benefit of that Will has been taken.

3.Learned counsel for the petitioner has pointed out that the chargesheet has already been filed against co accused Mahmood Ali, husband of the petitioner. The petitioner is sought to be arrested.In the chargesheet, however, the petitioner has not been depicted as absconding accused or that investigation in her regard is pending.

4.Issue notice to serve respondent no.4 returnable on 11.7.2016.

5.List this case on 11.7.2016.

6.Arrest of the petitioner shall remain stayed till the next date of listing. Petitioner is directed to join investigation.

7.Investigating officer is directed to file his affidavit as to under what circumstances, the petitioner is being approached, although, investigation has been concluded and the petitioner has not been shown as absconding accused.

8. We are issuing notice only on the limited issue that the petitioner has not been shown as an absconding accused in the chargesheet, yet is sought to be arrested."

3. Charge sheet bearing No. 02 of 2016 dated 14.2.2016 is available on record. As per the charge-sheet the only accused shown in the relevant column is Mehboob Ali. The column of absconding accused is vacant, thereby indicating that there is no other accused to be arrested or against whom investigation is pending. The gist of the investigation indicated on the front page of the charge-sheet also does not mention the petitioner as one of the accused.

4. After the above extracted order was passed, it appears that another charge-sheet has been prepared bearing No. 02A of 2016 dated 10.6.2016 in which the petitioner has been shown as the accused.

5. Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is explicit and details the information to be supplied to the Court in regard to the investigation conducted and concluded. Various columns of the Charge-sheet are provided in Form 339 provided under Regulation 122 of the U.P. Police Regulations. Form 339 appears to have been provided in context of provisions of Section 173 Cr.P.C.

6. The relevance of a charge-sheet and the information disclosed in the charge-sheet, for the accused, the victim/complainant as also the Court has been noticed in judgement dated 21.08.2015 rendered by this Court in Writ Petition No. 7590 (MB) of 2015: Madhuri Devi Vs. State of U.P. And others. The following has been held in this context:-

" 51. It needs to be mentioned that after completing investigation, the police officer is required to make a clear report in terms of provisions of S. 173 CrPC. The information required to be provided under sub section (2) of S.173 CrPC should be specific in its content,with relevant basis for its conclusion.

55. At the point in time when report under S.173 CrPC is prepared, the investigation is concluded. The investigating officer has collected sufficient evidence indicating commission of offence (S.170 CrPC). The investigating agency knows what evidence has been collected indicating culpability of particular accused, and what offence has been committed by that accused. The report must categorise the offence committed by a particular accused, and the basis for so concluding. The supporting evidence , viz. statements of the witnesses recorded under S. 161 Cr.P.C. and the evidence collected through scientific means is to be appended with the report.

56. It is the right of every accused to know as to on what basis he is being prosecuted, so that he can prepare his defence. The summary of investigation must make all aspects clear, in the interest of transparency, and effective and fair trial.

57. In case the report (charge sheet) is prepared objectively, and summarised as observed herein above, it will assist the court in considering the evidence in context of the ingredients of the offence(s) committed by an accused and frame Charge(s), as required by law. This shall ensure fair, effective and speedy trial.

58. Likewise when no evidence is found against some accused or evidence collected in the course of investigation indicates he is innocent, and that person/ accused is not forwarded for trial, the report must clearly state the reasons for so concluding. This helps the court to adjudicate, if an application is filed for proceeding against that person/accused. The court can refer to the basis, and reasons recorded by the investigating agency and decide whether to summon the said person as additional accused. This comes to the aid of the court while deciding application, if one is filed under Section 319 Cr.P.C also. This reduces the workload of the court and avoids unnecessary litigation.

62. In the same context in case a closure report/final report is to be filed because there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate (S.169 CrPC), the investigating agency is required to file a reasoned report. The basis for saying that offence has not been committed must be stated. The relevant material must be placed on record. By doing this the credibility of the investigating agency is demonstrated, and the court is guided by the reasons given by the agency, when the report is challenged. If the reasons for filing such final report are available on record, the complainant is also informed why the case initiated by him has been cancelled. If however the reasons are not given in such report, or conclusion is based on surmises and conjectures, the complainant is aggrieved and such reports are challenged by way of filing protest petitions."

7. We are faced with a circumstance, wherein the petitioner was aware that in the charge-sheet (Annexure-7) she was not shown as an accused or absconding accused. The charge-sheet also did not disclose that investigation as regards the petitioner is pending. Under the Circumstances, the petitioner carried a genuine impression that she is not wanted or required in context of the criminal proceedings, at issue. Subsequently, however, the petitioner was sought to be arrested and therefore, she approached this Court.

8. The investigating officer, thereafter is stated to have undertaken further investigation. Affidavit dated 8.7.2016 sworn by Sri Devi Charan Gupta, Sub-Inspector, Police Station Mahanagar, District Lucknow indicates that even the petitioner has been found in association with her husband in committing the offence. It has been stated in concluding portion of the affidavit that on the basis of oral and documentary evidence even the petitioner is chargesheeted vide charge-sheet bearing No. 02A of 2016 dated 10.6.2016 for commission of offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 323, 504, 506 and 120B I.P.C. The affidavit, however, does not explain the exact role played by the petitioner in commission of the offence. The affidavit also does not furnish any legal explanation as regards non-mentioning the name of the petitioner in the earlier charge-sheet (Annexure-7) dated 14.2.2016 bearing No. 02 of 2016 (supra). It has merely been said that name of the petitioner and other accused was not mentioned in the relevant column of the charge-sheet on account of "human error".

9. Considering the peculiar facts of the case, vide order dated 11.7.2016, this Court directed the Circle Officer concerned to review the investigation and file his affidavit, particularly in regard to the alleged role played by the petitioner. The order reads as under:

"1. Short counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of investigating agency, in court, which is taken on record. It has been stated that chargesheet has been prepared.

2. The query raised vide order dated 3.5.2016, however, has not been answered.

3. Let the Circle Officer incharge of the concerned Police Station review the investigation and file his affidavit particularly in regard to the alleged role played by the petitioner. Specific evidence indicating culpability of the petitioner would be brought on record, in case any evidence is found.

4. An explanation would be furnished to the court as to under what circumstances, while chargesheet had been prepared not indicating pending investigation, under what circumstances at the present point in time, the petitioner is being harassed.

5. List this case on 11.8.2016.

6. Interim direction to continue till the next date of listing. "

(emphasised by us)

10. Short counter affidavit dated 11.8.2016 sworn by Sri Vishal Vikram Singh, Circle Officer, Mahanagar, District Lucknow has been filed in Court, which is taken on record. In the affidavit it has been stated that the petitioner is wife of Mehboob Ali Son of Late Ramjan Ali @ Paacho, resident of House No. 529/231, Rahim Nagar, Mahanagar, Lucknow. The Nikahnama and Marriage Card of the petitioner have been enclosed with the affidavit.

11. The evidence collected in the course of investigation, as per affidavit, indicates that Mehboob Ali is a relative of Nadir Ali, resident of House No. 529/225, Rahim Nagar, Mahanagar, District Lucknow. Nadir Ali apparently had no children. After death of Nadir Ali, Mehboob Ali got forged identity cards wrongly showing himself as son of Nadir Ali, also while mentioning his residence address as that of Nadir Ali with the intention to take unlawful possession of the property of Nadir Ali. As against the petitioner it has been alleged that the petitioner had knowledge of the facts and she got prepared Voter Identity Card, Ration Card and Aadhaar Card showing herself to be resident of House No. 529/225, Rahim Nagar, Mahanagar, Lucknow, which earlier belonged to Nadir Ali. Only on the strength of the said evidence, it has been concluded that the petitioner was in association with her husband Mehboob and has committed offences under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 323, 504, 506 & 120B I.P.C.

12. Considering the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, it becomes evident that investigation was concluded on 14.2.2016 and charge-sheet bearing No. 02 of 2016 was prepared and finalized. There is not a whisper in the charge-sheet that the petitioner is an accused or an absconding accused. It is only subsequently in abuse of authority vested in the investigating officer that the petitioner was proceeded against. At this juncture, story developed by the investigating officer is to the effect that the petitioner was in conspiracy with her husband and therefore has shown her address as House No. 529/225, Rahim Nagar, Mahanagar, Lucknow, which earlier was the address of Nadir Ali.

13. Even if the allegations made in the F.I.R. and the entire investigation conducted till date is accepted in its entirety, we are of the considered opinion that the petitioner has not committed any offence. The ingredients of committing offence are not satisfied, as against the petitioner, in so much as it is the husband of the petitioner who allegedly forged his identity so as to allegedly incorporate and change his address as House No. 529/225, Rahim Nagar, Mahanagar, Lucknow. The petitioner, admittedly had no role to play in the said incident of changing the address of Mehboob Ali. The petitioner being the wife of Mehboob Ali obviously was living with Mehboob Ali and, therefore, was required to reflect the same address as that of her husband. In such circumstances, it cannot be said that the petitioner has committed offence of cheating as defined under Section 415 I.P.C. read with Section 420 I.P.C.

14. So far as the provision of Section 467, 468 and 471 I.P.C. are concerned, it is not even the case of the prosecution that the petitioner indulged in forgery of any document, as defined under Section 463 I.P.C. read with Section 464 I.P.C.. The case of the investigating agency is that Mehboob Ali so as to usurp the property of Nadir Ali, took advantage of Nadir Ali being issue-less and therefore, changed his identity while showing his own address as that of Nadir Ali. Only the residential address has been changed. In such circumstances, by any stretch of imagination, it cannot be concluded that the petitioner has indulged in forgery of any document. In such facts and circumstances it is evident that provisions of Sections 467, 468 & 471 I.P.C. are not attracted vis-a-vis the petitioner.

15. So far as offences under Sections 323, 504 & 506 I.P.C. are concerned, there is no such allegation against the petitioner of which legal notice ought to be taken.

16. In view of the above considerations and discussion, we are of the view that continuance of proceedings against the petitioner are not warranted by law. The ingredients of the alleged offences are not satisfied. So as to secure ends of justice and so as to prevent abuse of process of the law, the petition against the petitioner deserves to be allowed.

17. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, we hereby allow the petition only vis-a-vis the petitioner (Smt. Nisha Khatoon). The impugned FIR bearing Case Crime No. 189 of 2015, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 323, 504, 506, 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Mahanagar, District Lucknow, a copy of which is contained in Annexure-1 to the petition, so far as it relates to the petitioner, is hereby quashed.

18. Before parting with the order, we must record that we are receiving a number of cases in which charge-sheet is filed. In the column of absconding accused none is shown. In the narration of facts in the charge-sheet it is not mentioned that investigation against a particular accused is pending. Subsequently, however, on the whims of the police officials proceedings are initiated against certain persons who are aliens to the charge-sheet. When explanation is sought by the Court, a lame excuse is given by the police officials that on account of 'human error', the relevant column in the charge-sheet vis-a-vis the absconding accused was not filled.

19. Investigation is conducted by a police officer in discharge of his statutory duty. The statute vis. provision of Section 173 Cr.P.C. and Form 339 provided under Regulation 122 of the U.P. Police Regulations details the columns to be filled by the investigating officer. The investigation report thereafter is required to be checked by the Circle Officer. Such lapses, as has been noticed in this case, clearly indicate misconduct on the part of, not only the investigating officer, but also the Circle Officer who has approved the charge-sheet. Such infirmities in the charge-sheet cannot be ignored while accepting 'human error' theory because they adversely affect the person who is subjected to investigation at any subsequent time, as the investigating officer chooses. Such infirmities also affect administration of criminal justice.

20. All the Superintendents of Police are required to take serious note of the law, as detailed in this judgment, and ensure that the investigating officers do not pick & choose the accused on their whims after charge-sheet is filed. We have come across cases in which even after months investigation was opened against certain persons without there being any indication that investigation is even pending against them.

21. Such conduct on the part of the investigating agency also confuses the Court. The Court accepts the charge-sheet and proceeds with trial on the premise that investigation is not pending. Subsequently, however, while trial is going on, some more accused are forwarded, in context of whom a second trial is required to take place in regard to the same incident.

22. Such conduct on the part of the investigating officers also causes trauma to the accused, who are subsequently confronted with the investigation. By such conduct, the investigation is kept in limbo which adversely affects administration of justice. Such practice on the part of investigating agency is deprecated and the police agencies are required to ensure that such practice is stopped altogether. In case such cases are found/detected, the police officer/official should be proceeded against with charge of misconduct of serious nature.

23. In the case in hand, we find that charge-sheet dated 14th February, 2016 was filed against Mahboob Ali. When the petitioner was proceeded against, the petitioner approached this Court. It is only thereafter that in June 2016 i.e. after 4 months it is proposed that the petitioner is also an accused. Charge-sheet dated 14th February, 2016, as noticed above, did not indicate at all that the petitioner is also an accused against whom investigation is pending. The trauma to which the petitioner has been subjected by the conduct of the investigating officer cannot be ignored by the writ-Court while accepting his explanation of 'human error'.

24. Under the circumstances, we hereby impose costs in the sum of Rs.15,000/- (Rupees Fifteen thousand) to be paid to the petitioner on or before 24th November, 2016. For the said purpose, an inquiry be ordered by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow so as to fix responsibility of the person from whose salary the cost amount would be deducted and paid to the petitioner.

25. Let a copy of this order be forwarded to the Director General of Police, U.P., Lucknow so that appropriate directions are issued and misleading charge-sheets are not filed in future.

Arms Act, 1959 — Sections 13 and 14 — Grant of arms licence — Refusal of licence — Grounds — Absence of threat perception — Whether valid ground — Application by legal heir for licence of firearm earlier held by father — Licensing authority rejecting application on ground that applicant wanted licence only for status — Legality.

Petitioner applied for grant of licence of a Double Barrel Gun earlier possessed by his grandfather and later by his father after his father's death. The District Magistrate rejected the application on the ground that there was no threat perception to the petitioner and the licence was sought merely for prestige.

Held, the licensing authority is required to exercise its power objectively in light of Sections 13 and 14 of the Arms Act. Refusal of licence can only be based on grounds contemplated under Section 14 such as prohibition under law, unsoundness of mind, unfitness of the applicant, or necessity for maintaining public peace and safety. Rejection merely on the ground that the applicant has no threat to life or seeks licence for status is not a statutory ground and reflects arbitrary exercise of power. The licensing authority cannot deny grant of licence on whims or fanciful considerations.

The impugned order dated 10.5.2013 passed by the District Magistrate, Sultanpur was therefore quashed and the matter was remitted to the District Magistrate to reconsider the petitioner's application and pass appropriate orders in accordance with law within three months.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Devendra Kumar Arora, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Devendra Kumar Arora, J.)

1. Heard Sri G.C.Verma, Advocate assisted by Sri Sanjay Mishra, Advocate for the petitioner and Sri Pankaj Patel, Addl. Chief Standing Counsel for the State.

2. Feeling aggrieved by the order dated 10.5.2013 passed by the District Magistrate, Sultanpur whereby the application of the petitioner for grant of license of Double Barrel Gun, which was owned by the father of the petitioner during his life time, has been rejected.

3. In short the facts of the case are that the petitioner is a practicing Advocate of this Court and belongs to a reputed Brahmin family of district Sultanpur. The grandfather of the petitioner, namely, Pt Mahatma Prasad Pathak owned a Double Barrel Gun, which was later on transferred to the father of the petitioner, namely, Sri Som Prakash Pathak, who was the District Government Counsel (Civil) in Sultanpur. The father of the petitioner left for heavenly abode on 12.6.2009. Petitioner is the only son of his father and the real sister of the petitioner is married and there is no dispute of succession. Therefore, after the death of his father, the petitioner deposited the gun of his father at Madras Gun House and applied for grant of license vide application dated 30.6.2009.

4. When no action was taken for sufficient long time on the aforesaid application, the petitioner filed a Writ Petition No. 22 (MS) of 2013 before this Court wherein a direction was issued to the concerned authority vide order dated 1.2.2013 to examine the application of the petitioner and decide the same in accordance with law. Thereafter, the application of the petitioner has been rejected by the licensing authority vide impugned order dated 10.5.2013 on the ground that there is no threat of life to the petitioner and the petitioner wants the license just for his status.

5. Learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that Section-14 of the Arms Act deals with the ground on which license can be refused and the ground which has been taken in the impugned order is not covered under Section 14 of the Arms Act and as such the impugned order is nonest and shows the arbitrariness of the concerned authority.

6. On the strength of the decisions rendered in Ram Singh Yadav Vs. State of U.P.; 1993 ALR (23) 523, Ram Prakash Srivastava Vs. commissioner Jhansi Division, Jhansi [2002(20) LCD 414] and Chandraraj Tripathi Vs. State of U.P. and others; passed in Writ-C No. 65647 of 2013 decided on 10.12.2013, it has been argued that the impugned order being contrary to the provisions of the Arms Act, is not tenable in the eyes of law and is liable to be quashed.

7. In contrast, Sri Pankaj Patel, Addl. Chief Standing Counsel submitted that there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order and it has rightly been observed that the petitioner wants the fire-arm license just for the prestige sake and there is no threat to life or property of the petitioner. During inquiry, the police authorities have not found any genuine need of the petitioner. It has further been argued that the petitioner has no fundamental right to have fire arm licence as alleged by him in the writ petition. It is a subjective satisfaction of the Licensing Authority to issue or refuse the grant of licence depending upon the gravity of threat. Therefore, no interference is warranted under Article 226 of the Constitution and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

8. Before dealing with the actual controversy involved in the writ petition, it would be apt to refer Section 13 and 14 of the Arms Act, which are relevant for the disposal of the present matter.

13. GRANT OF LICENCES

1. An application for the grant of a licence under Chapter II shall be made to the licensing authority and shall be in such form, contain such particulars and be accompanied by such fee, if any, as may be prescribed.

2. On receipt of an application, the licensing authority shall call for the report of the office in charge of the nearest police station on that application, and such officer shall send in his report within the prescribed time.

(2A) The licensing authority, after making such inquiry, if any, as it may consider necessary, and after considering the report received under sub-section (2), shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, by order in writing either grant the licence or refuse to grant the same: Provided that where the officer in charge of the nearest police station does not send his report on the application within the prescribed time, the licensing authority may, if it deems fit, make such order, after the expiry of the prescribed time, without further waiting for that report.](3) The licensing authority shall grant---

(a) a licence under section 3 where the licence is required---

(i) By a citizen of India in respect of a smooth bore gun having a barrel of not less than twenty inches in length to be used for protection or sport or in respect of a muzzle loading gun to be used for bona fide crop protection: Provided that where having regard to the circumstances of any case, the licensing authority is satisfied that a muzzle loading gun will not be sufficient for crop protection, the licensing authority may grant a licence in respect of any other smooth bore gun as aforesaid for such protection; or

(ii) in respect of a point 22 bore rifle or an air rifle to be used for target practice by a member of a rifle club or rifle association licensed or recognized by the Central Government;

(b) a licence under section 3 in any other case or a licence under section 4, section 5, section 6, section 10 or section 12, if the licensing authority is satisfied that the person by whom the licence is required has a good reason for obtaining the same.

14. REFUSAL OF LICENCES

(1) Notwithstanding anything in section 13, the licensing authority shall refuse to grant---

(a) a licence under section 3, section 4 or section 5 where such licence is required in respect of any prohibited arms or prohibited ammunition;

(b) a licence in any other case under Chapter II,---

i. where such licence is required by a person whom the licensing authority has reason to believe---

1. to be prohibited by this Act or by any other law for the time being in force from acquiring, having in his possession or carrying any arms or ammunition, or

2. to be of unsound mind, or

3. to be for any reason unfit for a licence under this Act; or

ii. where the licensing authority deems it necessary for the security of the public peace or for public safety to refuse to grant such licence.

(2) The licensing authority shall not refuse to grant any licence to any person merely on the ground that such person does not own or possess sufficient property.

(3) Where the licensing authority refuses to grant a licence to any person it shall record in writing the reasons for such refusal and furnish to that person on demand a brief statement of the same unless in any case the licensing authority is of the opinion that it will not be in the public interest to furnish such statement.

9. A perusal of aforesaid clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 14 would thus indicate that a licence under-Section 3, Section 4 or Section 5 shall be refused where it is required in respect of any prohibited arms or prohibited ammunition. In any other case under Chapter-II, a licence shall be refused where the licensing authority has reason to believe that the person who requires a licence is prohibited by the Act or by any other law from acquiring, having in his possession or carrying any arms or ammunition; or that he is of unsound mind or unfit for any reason for a licence under the Act. Similarly, a licence shall be refused where the licensing authority deems it necessary for the security of the public peace or public safety to refuse the grant of such licence. In other words, the effect of Section 14 is to provide a catalogue of circumstances in which notwithstanding anything in Section 13, a licence shall be refused. Section 14 specifies the grounds when a licence shall be refused, but even otherwise, under Section 13, the licensing authority is duty bound to apply its mind to all the relevant facts and circumstances in determining as to whether the licence should be granted or refused. In those cases which would fall within the ambit of Section 14, the licensing authority must necessarily refuse the licence.

10. Rule 51 of the Arms Rules, 1962 provides that every application for the grant of a licence shall contain all such information as is necessary for the consideration of the application. Rule 51-A provides that the application shall not suppress any factual information or furnish any false or wrong information in the application form. Every application for the grant of licence has to be in Form 'A' prescribed under the Rules. Part 'A' of Form 'A' requires a disclosure of the identity of the applicant, Part 'B' is for other particulars in relation to the applicant and Part 'C' is for particulars of the licence. Part 'C' requires a disclosure of the need for a licence and of claims for special consideration. In considering the grant of a licence, the authority is duty bound to consider such facts as may be personal to the applicant as well as the impact of the grant of the licence on the safety and security of others which may be impinged by the grant of the licence. Undoubtedly, the licensing provisions of the Act would require that the power which is vested in the competent authority to grant or refuse the grant of a licence must not be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically but for just and sound reasons.

11. In Ram Prakash Srivastava's case [supra], the application for grant of licence was rejected by the licensing authority on the ground that the petitioner has not filed any proof regarding disposal of concerned fire arm and during the period 1980-1993, no incident has taken place which may come to help of petitioner that he require fire arm. This Court while quashing the order of refusal, observed that both the grounds taken by the licensing authority and the appellate authority are not in consonance to the provisions of Arms Act. Similarly, in the case of Gajendra Kumar[supra] the application was rejected as there was no threat or apprehension to the life and property of the petitioner. The Court while allowing the writ petition observed that the reasons given by the District Magistrate is beyond the scope of Sections 13 and 14 of the Arms Act.

12. In Chandraraj Tripathi's case [supra] the Court observed that the District Magistrate has wrongly interpreted the order dated 7.10.2013 passed by a Division Bench in Jitendra Singh vs. State of U.P. And others [W.P.No.3268(MB) of 2013]. According to the Division Bench no fresh licence would be granted under the Arms Act but will not include:

(a) applicants who have applied as an heir;

(b) applicants who are victims of crime; and

(c) applicants having genuine need of weapon in the opinion of the concerned District Magistrate.

13. In the instant case, the fact situation as indicated hereinabove , contention of learned counsel for the petitioner that respondent no.2 have found out a ground to reject petitioners' applications on getting annoyed of petitioners daring to approach this Court with complaint of inaction on their part, whereupon this Court mandated to pass final order within a specified time, deserves to be accepted. The licensing authority in fact has tried to penalize the petitioner by rejecting his application on fanciful grounds overlooking the fact that the petitioner has no criminal antecedents and has applied for firearm licence, as his late grandfather was having a DBBL gun, which later on passed on to his father.

14. On examining the facts in entirety, I have no hesitation in observing that a cumulative and harmonious reading of Sections 13 and 14 leave no manner of doubt that an objective consideration is mandated on the part of licensing authority. He cannot deny grant of license to a person on his sheer whims, caprices, imagination etc. Consequently, the impugned order dated 10.5.2013 passed by the District Magistrate, Sultanpur is hereby quashed. The District Magistrate, Sultanpur is directed to re-examine the issue in the light of the observations made herein above and pass appropriate orders for grant of license to the petitioner within a maximum period of three months.

15. The writ petition stands allowed in above terms.

Departmental enquiry—Violation of principles of natural justice—Non-production of original documents—No opportunity of cross-examination—Charges treated as proved without leading evidence—Enquiry vitiated—Dismissal order quashed—Matter remitted for fresh enquiry from stage of reply to charge-sheet—Reinstatement to be considered by disciplinary authority.

Case Law discussed:

Chamoli District Co-Operative Bank Ltd. v. Raghunath Singh Rana & Ors., Civil Appeal No. 2265 of 2011

Sur Enamel and Stamping Works Pvt. Ltd. v. Their Workmen, (1964) 3 SCR 616

Radhey Shyam Gupta v. U.P. State Agro Industries Corporation Ltd., (1999) 2 SCC 21

Syndicate Bank v. Venkatesh Gururao Kurati, (2006) 3 SCC 150

Conclusion:

The Court held that the departmental enquiry against the petitioner was conducted in clear breach of the settled principles of natural justice. The department failed to prove the charges by leading evidence, did not produce original documents, and denied the petitioner opportunity to cross-examine witnesses. Consequently, the dismissal order dated 02.11.2012 and corrigendum dated 12.11.2012 were quashed. The respondents were directed to conduct a fresh enquiry from the stage of reply to the charge-sheet within four months, and the disciplinary authority was left free to consider reinstatement in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Satyendra Singh Chauhan, J.
Hon'ble Anil Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel.

2. Through this petition the petitioner has challenged the dismissal order dated 2.11.2012 communicated to the petitioner vide letter dated 8.11.2012 by means of which the petitioner has been dismissed from service while he was working on the post of Executive Engineer as well as corrigendum issued on 12.11.2012.

3. The facts in short giving rise to the present dispute are that the petitioner was appointed as Assistant Engineer (Civil) in PWD department on 5.12.1983. Thereafter, he was promoted on the post of Executive Engineer on 26.9.2006 and continued to work as Executive Engineer in PWD department at Jaunpur from 26.9.2006 to 23.11.2008. Vide order dated 21.11.2008, the petitioner was placed under suspension and thereafter he was served with a charge sheet on 3.8.2009. When the documents demanded by the petitioner were not supplied, he submitted interim reply. The enquiry officer conducted enquiry and submitted report on 23.3.2010 wherein it was found that no charge was established against the petitioner, but the enquiry officer further advised that a fresh charge sheet may be issued framing the charges in the correct manner. The petitioner filed Writ Petition No.1426 (SB) of 2009, Anil Kumar Garg Vs. State of U.P. and others, challenging the validity of the suspension orders dated 21.11.2008 and 13.7.2009. Said writ petition was finally disposed of vide order dated 12.10.2009 with a direction to the Disciplinary Authority to take a decision in the matter within a period of one month. It was also directed by this Court that in respect of second suspension order dated 13.7.2009, enquiry should be concluded within three months and decision shall be communicated to the petitioner within six weeks from the date of receipt of the report of the enquiry officer. The petitioner served certified copy of the order dated 12.10.2009 within the stipulated time but the enquiry was not concluded within a period of three months. When nothing was done, the petitioner again filed Writ Petition No.94 (SB) of 2010 and again challenged the suspension orders dated 21.11.2008 and 13.7.2009. The State Government passed order on 19.2.2010 exonerating the petitioner from all the charges relating to the first suspension order dated 21.11.2008. Enquiry report dated 23.3.2010 was also submitted exonerating the petitioner from all the charges in the matter pertaining to the second suspension order dated 13.7.2009 but with an advise to issue amended charges sheet. Writ petition No.94 (SB) of 2010 was finally decided by this Court on 27.4.2010. Certain clarification was also sought as there was typing error in the order dated 27.4.2010 and this Court passed order dated 7.7.2010 quashing the second suspension order dated 13.7.2009 and directed that the opposite party shall issue a charge sheet within a period of four weeks and complete the enquiry within three months thereafter. The petitioner informed the State Government about the order dated 27.4.2010 passed in Writ Petition No.94 (SB) of 2010. The petitioner served certified copy of the aforesaid orders dated 27.4.2010 and 7.7.2010 immediately after the orders were passed. The State Government passed order on 7.6.2010 that decision has been taken for amending the charge sheet and the petitioner was served with the amended charge sheet dated 8.6.2010 on 21.6.2010. The petitioner raised objection to the issuance of the amended charge sheet by means of letter dated 25.6.2010. The State Government passed order on 17.8.2010 stating that the enquiry shall continue against the petitioner as the earlier enquiry report was erroneous. The petitioner thereafter filed Contempt Petition No.2006 of 2010 in which notices were issued and then the State Government passed order reinstating the petitioner by cancelling the second suspension order dated 13.7.2010. The petitioner thereafter moved a representation demanding 26 documents after receiving the amended charge sheet dated 8.6.2010 on 21.6.2010. The enquiry officer fixed first date of enquiry in pursuance to the amended charge sheet as 7.8.2010. As the photostat documents attached with the amended charge sheet were denied to the petitioner and they were also alleged to be fabricated documents, the petitioner made a request for summoning the original documents and for verification of the photostat copies of the documents attached with the charge sheet. In the enquiry proceedings dated 7.8.2010, as the objection made by the petitioner was not very clear that the relied upon documents were fictitious, fabricated and manipulated, the petitioner moved a fresh representation on 11.8.2010 bringing his objection on record. The presenting officer filed a reply on 26.8.2010 before the enquiry officer dealing with the representation of the petitioner dated 5.7.2010 and 11.8.2010. In response to the reply of the presenting officer dated 26.8.2010, the petitioner made a representation stating the relevancy of the documents demanded by him. The enquiry officer wrote a letter dated 31.12.2010 to 18 defence witnesses. The enquiry officer on the 5th date of enquiry i.e. 4.1.2011, accepted statements of 14 persons including the presenting officer Sri S.K. Goel, but the same were not recorded and neither any examination in chief was made nor the petitioner was afforded any opportunity to cross examine the witnesses. On the next date of enquiry i.e. 6.1.2011, the presenting officer Sri S.K. Goel was examined. The petitioner raised objection that Junior Engineer, who had allegedly received 33 Tankers was the material witness to accept or deny the charges. Similarly, the transport agency or the transporter was also a material witness to indicate as if the said 33 Tankers were ever transported from the refinery but the same was not received. The enquiry officer summoned Sri R.K. Prasad, Deputy Manager, Consumer Cell, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., who appeared before the enquiry officer on 11.1.2011 and he clearly stated that the Indian Oil Corporation has not made any verification regarding signatures of the Junior Engineer who allegedly received supply. The next date of enquiry was fixed as 14.1.2011, on which date no enquiry was made but the enquiry officer and the presenting officer wrote proceedings discussing the evidence relied upon by the petitioner. The petitioner was asked to submit his defence in writing by means of letter dated 17.1.2011. The enquiry officer and the presenting officer concluded the proceedings and discussed the extraneous charges not shown in the charge sheet. The enquiry officer submitted enquiry report on 25.1.2011, which was served on the petitioner vide letter dated 28.2.2011. The petitioner was required to submit his representation within fifteen days. As the enclosures attached with the enquiry report were not supplied to the petitioner, therefore, he made a representation on 23.3.2011 for supplying the same. The petitioner was thereafter supplied the enclosures of the enquiry report on the instructions of the State Government on 25.4.2011. On 2.5.2011, the petitioner submitted representation to the enquiry report supplied through show cause notice. Thereafter, information was sought by the State Government from the U.P. Public Service Commission. The information of the U.P. Public Service Commission was received by the State Government and thereafter dismissal order dated 2.11.2012 has been passed.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the enquiry has not been held by following the principles of natural justice. Comments, which were obtained by the enquiry officer from the presenting officer, were not supplied to the petitioner and the petitioner was asked to submit reply to the same. The petitioner submitted reply to the said comments and thereafter the enquiry was concluded. No evidence was adduced to prove the charges before the enquiry officer. The enquiry officer presumed proving of the charges only on the basis of the comments of the presenting officer. Learned counsel submits that though date was fixed, but no enquiry was ever held as contemplated under law and neither the petitioner was given any opportunity to cross examine any of the prosecution witnesses. None of the witnesses were adduced from the side of the petitioner though there was specific denial of the documents, which were annexed along with the charge sheet saying they were forged and fabricated documents, but in spite of that no effort was made to get the documents proved in accordance with law. Learned counsel has placed reliance upon the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case of Chamoli District Co-Operative Bank Ltd. through its Secretary/Mahaprandhak & Anr. v. Raghunath Singh Rana & Ors., Civil Appeal No.2265 of 2011 dated 17th May, 2016.

5. Learned Standing Counsel has submitted that enquiry officer has held the enquiry in accordance with law by following the principles of natural justice. He has fixed various dates and R.K. Prasad, Deputy Manager, Consumer Cell, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. was also examined to prove the receiving by the Junior Engineer, but in the statement he made a specific statement that he does not recognize the signature of the Junior Engineer.

6. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

7. What should have been the process of holding the enquiry as contemplated under law after the amended charge sheet was issued to the petitioner. The petitioner has submitted reply to the amended charge sheet. He had also denied all the documents, which were filed along with the charge sheet in photostat form as being forged and fabricated. The petitioner demanded from the enquiry officer that the original documents be produced. The original documents were never produced. Comments from the presenting officer were obtained by the enquiry officer and the petitioner was asked to submit reply to the said comments. After reply submitted by the petitioner to the comments, the enquiry officer concluded the enquiry and assumed the charges to be proved against the petitioner. The petitioner in paragraph-36 of the writ petition pleaded as under:-

"36. That the enquiry officer did not fix any date requiring the presenting officer to prove the charges and the documents relied upon. The enquiry officer took all the charges already proved. The enquiry officer wrote a letter dated 31.12.2010 to 18 persons cited as defence witnesses. It was mentioned in the letter dated 31.12.2010 that the same is summoning letter in view of the demand of the petitioner for submitting his defence. 04.01.2011 was fixed as a next date for appearing all the 20 witnesses. A true copy of the letter dated 31.12.2010 written by the enquiry officer behind the back of the petitioner calling 20 persons from the list of defence witnesses without proving the charges and conducting any enquiry in this regard, is being filed herewith as Annexure No.25 to this writ petition.

8. Reply to paragraph-36 of the writ petition has been given in paragraph-69 of the counter affidavit, which reads as under:-

"69. That the averments contained in para 36 of the writ petition regarding the letter dated 31/12/2010 calling the witnesses and fixing the date 04/01/2011 are not disputed. However, the rest of averments made in para under reply are false and misleading hence, denied in view of the facts already referred hereinabove."

9. Once the opposite party has admitted the position as stated in paragraph-36 of the writ petition, then nothing remains to be elaborated and neither the opposite party can come forward to state that enquiry was held in accordance with law. Law in regard to holding of enquiry has been settled by the Apex Court in the case of Raghunath Singh Rana (supra) wherein it has been held as under:-

"19. The compliance of natural justice in domestic/disciplinary inquiry is necessary has long been established. This Court has held that even there are no specific statutory rule requiring observance of natural justice, the compliance of natural justice is necessary. Certain ingredients have been held to be constituting integral part of holding of an inquiry. The Apex Court in Sur Enamel and Stamping Works Pvt. Ltd. v. Their Workmen reported in (1964) 3 SCR 616 has laid down following:-

"... An enquiry cannot be said to have been properly held unless, (i) the employee proceeded against has been informed clearly of the charges levelled against him, (ii) the witnesses are examined - ordinarily in the presence of the employee - in respect of the charges, (iii) the employee is given a fair opportunity to cross-examine witnesses, (iv) he is given a fair opportunity to examine witnesses including himself in his defence if he so wishes on any relevant matter, and (v) the inquiry officer records his findings with reasons for the same in his report."

20. The Apex Court again in State Bank of India Vs. R.K. Jain and Ors., reported in (1972) 4 SCC 304 held that if an inquiry is vitiated by violation of principles of natural justice or if no reasonable opportunity was provided to the delinquent to place his defence, it cannot be characterized as a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice. In paragraph 23, the following was laid down:-

".....As emphasised by this Court in Ananda Bazar Patrika (P) Ltd. v. Its Workmen, (1964) 3 SCR 601, the termination of an employee's service must be preceded by a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice. Therefore, it is evident that if the inquiry is vitiated by violation of the principles of natural justice or if no reasonable opportunity was provided to a delinquent to place his defence, it cannot be characterized as a proper domestic inquiry held in accordance with the rules of natural justice....."

21. The Apex Court in State of Uttranchal & Ors. Vs. Kharak Singh reported in (2008) 8 SCC 236 had occasion to examine various contours of natural justice which need to be specified in a departmental inquiry. The Apex Court noticed earlier judgments where principles were laid down as to how inquiry is to be conducted. It is useful to refer paragraphs 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15, which are to the following effect:-

".....9. Before analyzing the correctness of the above submissions, it is useful to refer various principles laid down by this Court as to how enquiry is to be conducted and which procedures are to be followed.

10. The following observations and principles laid down by this Court in Associated Cement Co. Ltd. vs. The Workmen and Anr. [1964] 3 SCR 652 are relevant:

"... ... In the present case, the first serious infirmity from which the enquiry suffers proceeds from the fact that the three enquiry officers claimed that they themselves had witnessed the alleged misconduct of Malak Ram. Mr. Kolah contends that if the Manager and the other officers saw Malak Ram committing the act of misconduct, that itself would not disqualify them from holding the domestic enquiry. We are not prepared to accept this argument. If an officer himself sees the misconduct of a workman, it is desirable that the enquiry should be left to be held by some other person who does not claim to be an eye- witness of the impugned incident. As we have repeatedly emphasised, domestic enquiries must be conducted honestly and bona fide with a view to determine whether the charge framed against a particular employee is proved or not, and so, care must be taken to see that these enquiries do not become empty formalities. If an officer claims that he had himself seen the misconduct alleged against an employee, in fairness steps should be taken to see that the task of holding an enquiry is assigned to some other officer. How the knowledge claimed by the enquiry officer can vitiate the entire proceedings of the enquiry is illustrated by the present enquiry itself.

..... It is necessary to emphasise that in domestic enquiries, the employer should take steps first to lead evidence against the workman charged, give an opportunity to the workman to cross-examine the said evidence and then should the workman be asked whether he wants to give any explanation about the evidence led against him. It seems to us that it is not fair in domestic enquiries against industrial employees that at the very commencement of the enquiry, the employee should be closely cross- examined even before any other evidence is led against him. In dealing with domestic enquiries held in such industrial matters, we cannot overlook the fact that in a large majority of cases, employees are likely to be ignorant, and so, it is necessary not to expose them to the risk of cross-examination in the manner adopted in the present enquiry proceedings. Therefore, we are satisfied that Mr. Sule is right in contending that the course adopted in the present enquiry proceedings by which Malak Ram was elaborately cross-examined at the outset constitutes another infirmity in this enquiry."

11) In ECIL v. B. Karunakar (1993) 4 SCC 727, it was held:

"(1) Where the enquiry officer is other than the disciplinary authority, the disciplinary proceedings break into two stages. The first stage ends when the disciplinary authority arrives at its conclusions on the basis of the evidence, enquiry officer's report and the delinquent employee's reply to it. The second stage begins when the disciplinary authority decides to impose penalty on the basis of its conclusions. If the disciplinary authority decides to drop the disciplinary proceedings, the second stage is not even reached.

While the right to represent against the findings in the report is part of the reasonable opportunity available during the first stage of the inquiry viz., before the disciplinary authority takes into consideration the findings in the report, the right to show cause against the penalty proposed belongs to the second stage when the disciplinary authority has considered the findings in the report and has come to the conclusion with regard to the guilt of the employee and proposes to award penalty on the basis of its conclusions. The first right is the right to prove innocence. The second right is to plead for either no penalty or a lesser penalty although the conclusion regarding the guilt is accepted. It is the second right exercisable at the second stage which was taken away by the Forty-second Amendment. The second stage consists of the issuance of the notice to show cause against the proposed penalty and of considering the reply to the notice and deciding upon the penalty. What is dispensed with is the opportunity of making representation on the penalty proposed and not of opportunity of making representation on the report of the enquiry officer. The latter right was always there. But before the Forty-second Amendment of the Constitution, the point of time at which it was to be exercised had stood deferred till the second stage viz., the stage of considering the penalty. Till that time, the conclusions that the disciplinary authority might have arrived at both with regard to the guilt of the employee and the penalty to be imposed were only tentative. All that has happened after the Forty-second Amendment of the Constitution is to advance the point of time at which the representation of the employee against the enquiry officer's report would be considered. Now, the disciplinary authority has to consider the representation of the employee against the report before it arrives at its conclusion with regard to his guilt or innocence in respect of the charges.

Article 311 (2) says that the employee shall be given a "reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of the charges against him". The findings on the charges given by a third person like the enquiry officer, particularly when they are not borne out by the evidence or are arrived at by overlooking the evidence or misconstruing it, could themselves constitute new unwarranted imputations. The proviso to Article 311(2) in effect accepts two successive stages of differing scope. Since the penalty is to be proposed after the inquiry, which inquiry in effect is to be carried out by the disciplinary authority (the enquiry officer being only his delegate appointed to hold the inquiry and to assist him), the employee's reply to the enquiry officer's report and consideration of such reply by the disciplinary authority also constitute an integral part of such inquiry.

Hence, when the enquiry officer is not the disciplinary authority, the delinquent employee has a right to receive a copy of the enquiry officer's report before the disciplinary authority arrives at its conclusions with regard to the guilt or innocence of the employee with regard to the charges levelled against him. That right is a part of the employee's right to defend himself against the charges levelled against him. A denial of the enquiry officer's report before the disciplinary authority takes its decision on the charges, is a denial of reasonable opportunity to the employee to prove his innocence and is a breach of the principles of natural justice."

12) In Radhey Shyam Gupta vs. U.P. State 1Agro Industries Corporation Ltd. and Another, (1999) 2 SCC 2, it was held:

"34. But in cases where the termination is preceded by an enquiry and evidence is received and findings as to misconduct of a definitive nature are arrived at behind the back of the officer and where on the basis of such a report, the termination order is issued, such an order will be violative of the principles of natural justice inasmuch as the purpose of the enquiry is to find out the truth of the allegations with a view to punish him and not merely to gather evidence for a future regular departmental enquiry. In such cases, the termination is to be treated as based or founded upon misconduct and will be punitive. These are obviously not cases where the employer feels that there is a mere cloud against the employee's conduct but are cases where the employer has virtually accepted the definitive and clear findings of the enquiry officer, which are all arrived at behind the back of the employee -- even though such acceptance of findings is not recorded in the order of termination. That is why the misconduct is the foundation and not merely the motive in such cases."

13) In Syndicate Bank and Others vs. Venkatesh Gururao Kurati, (2006) 3 SCC 150, the following conclusion is relevant:

"18. In our view, non-supply of documents on which the enquiry officer does not rely during the course of enquiry does not create any prejudice to the delinquent. It is only those documents, which are relied upon by the enquiry officer to arrive at his conclusion, the non-supply of which would cause prejudice, being violative of principles of natural justice. Even then, the non-supply of those documents prejudice the case of the delinquent officer must be established by the delinquent officer. It is well-settled law that the doctrine of principles of natural justice are not embodied rules. It cannot be put in a straitjacket formula. It depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. To sustain the allegation of violation of principles of natural justice, one must establish that prejudice has been caused to him for non-observance of principles of natural justice."

15. From the above decisions, the following principles would emerge:

i) The enquiries must be conducted bona fide and care must be taken to see that the enquiries do not become empty formalities.

ii) If an officer is a witness to any of the incidents which is the subject matter of the enquiry or if the enquiry was initiated on a report of an officer, then in all fairness he should not be the Enquiry Officer. If the said position becomes known after the appointment of the Enquiry Officer, during the enquiry, steps should be taken to see that the task of holding an enquiry is assigned to some other officer.

(iii) In an enquiry, the employer/department should take steps first to lead evidence against the workman/delinquent charged and give an opportunity to him to cross-examine the witnesses of the employer. Only thereafter, the workman/ delinquent be asked whether he wants to lead any evidence and asked to give any explanation about the evidence led against him.

(iv) On receipt of the enquiry report, before proceeding further, it is incumbent on the part of the disciplinary/punishing authority to supply a copy of the enquiry report and all connected materials relied on by the enquiry officer to enable him to offer his views, if any."

10. After considering the dictum laid down by the Apex Court and also considering the facts on record, we are of the definite opinion that the enquiry was not held in accordance with law by following the principles of natural justice. The charges were never proved by the department before the enquiry officer as required under law. The petitioner was also not given opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses though he has specifically denied the documents and has also made a specific endorsement on the documents themselves being fabricated.

11. In the aforesaid fact, the writ petition is allowed. A writ in the nature of certiorari is issued quashing the dismissal order dated 2.11.2012 as well as corrigendum issued on 12.11.2012 and the opposite party is directed to hold enquiry from the stage of filing of reply to the charge sheet by fixing date, time and place after giving opportunity to the petitioner to participate in the enquiry and conclude the enquiry within a period of four months from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order. It is further provided that the disciplinary authority may take a decision in respect of reinstatement of the petitioner as contemplated under law.

12. The petitioner is directed to co-operate in the enquiry.

Where the FIR does not contain the essential ingredients of Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act—namely that the accused is not a member of SC/ST and that intentional caste-based insult or intimidation was made within public view—the continuation of proceedings under the said provision amounts to abuse of process of law and is liable to be quashed. However, where prima facie material exists for offences under the IPC, the High Court in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. should not quash the charge sheet at the pre-trial stage.

Case Law discussed:

Gorige Pentaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh

Procedural History:

Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed for quashing of proceedings of Criminal Case No. 292 of 2016 arising out of Case Crime No. 733 of 2015, under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act, P.S. Khanpur, District Ghazipur, pending before the Judicial Magistrate, Ghazipur.

Decision:

Application partly allowed.

Proceedings relating to offence under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act quashed.

Prayer for quashing proceedings under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC rejected. Trial court directed to proceed in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Harsh Kumar)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. Learned A.G.A. states that in view of facts and circumstances of the case by issuing notices to opposite party no.2 no useful purpose would be served and the application may be heard and disposed of without issuing notices to the opposite party no.2.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

3. Present application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved with the prayer to quash the proceedings of criminal case no.292 of 2016 (State of U.P. Vs. Kripa Shankar Singh and others), arising out of case crime no.733 of 2015, under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act, P.S. Khanpur, District Ghazipur, pending in the court of Judicial Magistrate, Ghazipur.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants contends that the FIR has been lodged with absolutely false, baseless and concocted allegations; that it is wrong to say that the first informant was going by motorcycle at the time of alleged incident along-with Vijay Singh Pradhan and B.D.C. Sunil Kumar Goswami, as three persons are not permitted to ride on a two wheeler; that the applicants did neither damage the motorcycle of first informant nor committed mar-peat with him nor abused nor threatened him; that it is absolutely wrong and is highly improbable that the applicants were taking liquor together at the time of alleged incident because the applicant no.1 is father of applicant no.2 and applicant nos.2, 3 & 4 are young boys of family of applicant no.1; that there is no whisper in the FIR that the applicants are not members of Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe or they intentionally insulted or intimidated the opposite party no.2 or abused him in the name of caste, with an intention to humiliate the opposite party no.2 within public view; that the provisions of SC/ST Act are not attracted in this case; that it is nowhere mentioned that the applicants are not members of Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe and insulted or intimidated to humiliate the opposite party no.2 within public view and so the offence punishable under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act is not made out; that the opposite party no.2 is neighbour of applicants and is on inimical terms with the applicant no.1, because the applicant no.1 had turned down his offer for exchange of agricultural plots about a decade back; that the opposite party no.2 has political affiliation and has lodged false FIR in order to harm and harass the applicants including applicant nos. 2 to 4, who are students; that in these circumstances the charge sheet filed against the applicants without there being sufficient evidence against them, is liable to be quashed.

5. Per contra learned A.G.A. submits that on 08.10.2015 when the opposite party no.2 was returning to his home, the applicants obstructed his way and not only damaged his motorcycle and committed mar-peat, but also insulted and humiliated him by abusing and threatening; that the issues of facts have been raised by the applicants, correctness of which is to be decided upon evidence before the trial court and at this stage the contention of the applicants about the falsity of prosecution case may not be presumed to be correct and without evidence before trial court the prosecution case cannot be disbelieved or thrown out; that the Investigating Officer after collecting sufficient material evidence has submitted charge sheet; that the present application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved with wrong and baseless allegations just to delay the disposal of trial and there is no ground for quashing the charge sheet or proceedings.

6. Upon perusal of record and copy of FIR at Annexure 2, I find that there is no averment in the FIR that the applicants ever called the opposite party no.2 by his caste name and further there is no averment about the applicants being not members of Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe. It is also pertinent to mention here that there is no averment that the applicants intimidated the opposite party no.2 with an intent to humiliate within public view.

7. The provisions of Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act provides that "whoever, not being a member of Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, intentionally insults or intimidates with intent to humiliate a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe in any place within public view, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months but which may extend to five years and with fine." Since the basic ingredients for making offence under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act are missing in the FIR, the applicants may not be presumed to have committed offence under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act and should not be forced to face the trial for the offences under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act irrespective of the fact that they may be tried for other offences. The Investigating Officer appears to have not taken care of the required ingredients of offences as per provisions of under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act at the time of submitting charge sheet.

8. It will not be out of place to make reference of the verdict of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Gorige Pentaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh and others reported in (2009) 1 SCC (Cri.) 446, Paragraph 6 of which reads as follows: -

"In the instant case, the allegation of Respondent 3 in the entire complaint is that on 27.05.2004, the appellant abused them with the name of their caste. According to the basic ingredients of Section 3(1)(x) of the Act, the complainant ought to have alleged that the appellant-accused was not a member of Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe and he (Respondent 3) was intentionally insulted or intimidated by the accused with intent to humiliate in a place within public view. In the entire complaint, nowhere it is mentioned that the appellant-accused was not a member of the Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe and he intentionally insulted or intimidated with intent to humiliate Respondent 3 in a place within public view. When the basic ingredients of the offence are missing in the complaint, then permitting such a complaint to continue and to compel the appellant to face the rigmarole of the criminal trial would be totally unjustified leading to abuse of process of law."

9. In view of the discussions made above, I am of the considered view that since the basic ingredients for an offence punishable under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act are missing from the FIR and so no offence under above provisions can be said to be made out. As such, the criminal trial of applicants with respect to the said offence will be wholly unjustified, leading to abuse of process of law. In the circumstances the order of cognizance under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act as well as trial for the offence under above provisions may not be allowed to continue and is liable to be quashed. However, as far as offences under Sections 323, 504, 506, 427 IPC are concerned, upon investigation the charge sheet has been submitted and at this stage, without any evidence to the contrary, the prosecution case may not be presumed to be false by this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

10. In view of discussions made above, I have come to the conclusion that there is no sufficient ground for quashing the entire charge sheet or deleting the names of the applicants from the charge sheet as per prayer, though the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is liable to be allowed partly and the proceedings of case crime no.733 of 2015 with regarding to Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act are liable to be quashed. As far as the prayer for deleting the names of the applicants or quashing the charge sheet in respect of other offences under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC, the application is devoid of merits and is liable to be rejected.

11. The application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. is partly allowed and the proceedings in case crime no.733 of 2015 with regard to offence under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ ST Act are quashed and in respect to other offences under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC the application is rejected. The Magistrate concerned shall proceed with the trial under Sections 323, 427, 504, 506 IPC in accordance with law. If the applicants surrenders before the Magistrate/ court concerned, the same shall be considered and disposed of expeditiously in accordance with law.

12. Accordingly, the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is partly allowed.

Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter and cannot be done in a routine or mechanical manner. Though detailed reasons are not required at the stage of issuing process under Section 204 Cr.P.C., the order must reflect due application of judicial mind. Where the Magistrate fails to discuss the material evidence recorded under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. and merely records that a prima facie case exists without indicating the basis thereof, such order is liable to be quashed.

In the present case, the complaint (Case No. 566/2016, Govind vs. Ramveer and 8 others) alleged offences under Sections 452, 323, 504, 354-A and 506 IPC. The Magistrate, while passing the summoning order dated 20.07.2016, neither discussed the evidence nor specified the overt acts attributable to each accused. The impugned order did not reflect consideration of statements under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. or application of judicial discretion.

Accordingly, the summoning order dated 20.07.2016 passed by Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 1, Sambhal, was quashed and the matter remanded to the trial court for passing a fresh order in accordance with law after affording opportunity to the parties.

Case Law discussed:

M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. v. Special Judicial Magistrate
Paul George v. State

Result: Application Allowed. Summoning order quashed. Matter remanded.
(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, Sri K.D. Tiwary, learned counsel for OP No.-2, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. Complaint case no. 566/2016 (Govind Vs. Ramveer and 8 others) was filed with averment that complainant's brother-in-law Narottam trespassed in house of complainant with other co-accused and used criminal force, caused injuries and uttered foul words.

3. Complainant's real sister is married to Narottam, one of the applicant, and it is alleged that when he approached his wife in her parental home, altercation arose and incident complained of had happened. After adducing evidences under sections 200 & 202 CrPC, summoning order dated 20.7.2016 was passed by trial court.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants contended that summoning order under challenge is passed without application of mind and without considering the facts and circumstances of the matter. He contended that if applicant Narottam had visited his wife, then it cannot be treated as house trespass.

5. These contentions were refuted by learned counsel for OP No. 2, who submitted that use of criminal force is itself proof of criminal trespass and trial court had committed no error in passing impugned order.

6. In "1998 UPCR 118; M/s. Pepsi Food Ltd. & another vs. Special Judicial Magistrate & others" Hon'ble Supreme Court had held as under :-

"Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. It is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning the accused. Magistrate had to carefully scrutinize the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is prima facie committed by all or any of the accused."

7. In "2002 Cri.L.J. 996; Paul George vs. State" Hon'ble Apex Court had held as under:-

"We feel that whatever be the outcome of the pleas raised by the appellant on merit, the order disposing of the matter must indicate application of mind to the case and some reasons be assigned for negating or accepting such pleas.- - - -"

It is true that it may depend upon the nature of the matter which is being dealt with by the Court and the nature of the jurisdiction being exercised as to in what manner the reasons may be recorded e.g. in an order of affirmance detailed reasons or discussion may not be necessary but some brief indication by the application of mind may be traceable to affirm an order would certainly be required. Mere ritual of repeating the words or language used in the provisions, saying that no illegality, impropriety or jurisdictional error is found in the judgment under challenge without even a whisper of the merits of the matter or nature of pleas raised does not meet the requirement of decision of a case judicially."

8. No doubt the enquiry conducted under section 202 CrPC is not required to be detailed enquiry or scrutiny of evidence to that extent which is required for the purposes of the trial or conviction, but at the same time, the Court must apply its mind while passing order for the issue of summonses under section 204(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Court should remain very careful in summoning the accused persons in future at least in cases where the accused persons are resident of far off places. The Court is, no doubt, bound to consider the contents of the complaint and the preliminary evidence, but it is not essential requirement of S. 204, Criminal P.C. to give detailed reasons for issuing process to the accused. The only essential ingredient is that the order must exhibit that the Magistrate had applied his mind before passing the order.

9. The passing of order of summoning any person as accused is a very important matter, which initiates criminal proceeding against him. Such orders cannot be passed summarily or without applying judicial mind.

10. A perusal of impugned order indicates that learned Magistrate had written nothing concerning facts of the case in hand. After noting the names of witnesses Magistrate mentioned that there is sufficient prima facie evidence against accused persons for summoning them u/ss 452, 323, 504, 354-A, 506 IPC. Neither any discussion of evidence was made, nor was it considered as to which accused had allegedly committed what overt act. The accused persons of complaint were summoned for offences mentioned in that application. I doubt whether the learned Magistrate had actually read statements u/ss 200, 202 CrPC or the documents of the original file or not. No reason was mentioned in the impugned order as to what those documents contain, and how they help the prosecution case. Impugned order clearly lacks the reflection of application of judicial discretion or mind. Nothing is there which may show that learned Magistrate, before passing of the order under challenge had considered facts of the case and evidence or law. Therefore it appears that, in fact, no judicial mind was applied before the passing of impugned order of summoning. Such order cannot be accepted as a proper legal judicial order passed after following due procedure of law. Therefore it is liable to be quashed.

11. Accordingly, this application is allowed and the order dated 20.7.2016 passed by Judicial Magistrate, Court No.-1, Sambhal in complaint case no. 566/2016 (Govind Vs. Ramveer and 8 others), under sections 452, 323, 504, 354-A, 506 IPC, P.S. Hayat Nagar, District Sambhal is hereby quashed. The matter is remanded to trial court with direction that after affording opportunity, the trial court shall pass fresh orders in accordance with law.

12. The copy of this order be communicated to lower court.

Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953, whereby the order of Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation dated 10.03.2005 allowing the appeal of the petitioner and directing recording of his name over the land in dispute was set aside and the basic year entry in favour of the respondents was maintained.

Result:

Writ Petition Allowed. Order of Deputy Director of Consolidation dated 01.07.2006 set aside and order of Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation dated 10.03.2005 affirmed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Surat Ram (Maurya), J.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Surat Ram (Maurya), J.)

1. Heard Sri Arun Kumar, for the petitioner and Sri R.C. Singh, along with Sri Ravindra Sharma, for the contesting respondents.

2. This petition has been filed against the order of Deputy Director of Consolidation, dated 01.07.2006 passed in title proceeding under U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act').

3. The dispute between the parties is in respect of basic consolidation year khata 98 of village Bagahi, Tappa Mail, pargana Salempur Majhauri, district Deoria, which was recorded in the names of Subhash and Suresh (respondents-2 and 3) (hereinafter referred to as the respondents). Harish Chand (the petitioner) filed an objection (registered as Case No. 343/2348) under Section 9-A of the Act, for recording his name over it and deleting the names of the respondents. He claimed that Sachchan was bhumidhar of the land in dispute. Sachchan died on 08.10.1967, leaving behind him the petitioner as his only son and heir of the land in dispute. Since then the petitioner was in possession of the land in dispute. The petitioner was minor at the time of death of Sachchan. Taking advantage of minority of the petitioner and illiteracy of his widow mother, the respondents got their names mutated over the land in dispute, on the basis of a fabricated sale deed dated 09.10.1967. The petitioner, through his guardian, filed a suit (registered as O.S. No. 452 of 1968) on 27.3.1968, for cancellation of the sale deed, before Civil Court, which was abated by order dated 07.05.1971, under Section 5 of the Act. The objection was contested by the respondents and they have stated that the sale deed of the land in dispute was executed by Sachchan on 09.10.1967 in their favour. One Brij Kishore Maurya, who is Panchayat Secretary of the village, got this objection filed through his sister-in-law Prem Sundari, impersonating herself as Smt. Gulaichi and her minor son Harish Chand. Although, Smt. Gulaichi was not wife of Sachchan, nor Harish Chand was son of Sachchan.

4. Consolidation Officer, after hearing the parties, by his order dated 27.11.1978 held that Sachchan died on 08.10.1967, and, sale deed dated 09.10.1967 is fabricated document. He further found that Smt. Gulaichi was not the widow of Sachchan, nor Harish Chand was the son of Sachchan. On these findings, he dismissed the objection of the petitioner, directed for deleting the names of the respondents and recording the land in dispute in the name of Gaon Sabha. Harish Chand filed an appeal (registered as Appeal No. 1/1/13) and the respondents filed another appeal (registered as Appeal No. 2/2/14) from the order of Consolidation Officer. Before Appellate Court, both the parties were allowed to lead their additional evidence. Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation, after hearing the parties, by order dated 10.03.2005 affirmed the finding of Consolidation Officer that Sachchan died on 08.10.1967. He held that sale deed dated 09.10.1967 was executed by some imposter and not by Sachchan. He also relied upon statement and report of Sri M.M. Kakkar, Fingerprint & Hand Writing Expert and found that thumb impressions of Sachchan in the Register No. 8 of sale deed dated 09.10.1967 were not tallying with admitted thumb impressions of Sachchan on the sale deeds dated 31.03.1959 and 03.03.1964, previously executed by him. So far as Smt. Gulaichi, the mother of the petitioner is concerned, he relied upon Kutumb Register, Electoral Roll of the year 1968-1969 as well as oral evidence of the petitioner and found that Smt. Gulaichi was widow of Sachchan and Harish Chand was his son. On these findings, he allowed the appeal of the petitioner and dismissed the appeal of the respondents and directed for recording the name of the petitioner over land in dispute.

5. The respondents filed two separate revisions and Gaon Sabha filed one revision against the order of Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation. All the three revisions were consolidated and heard by Deputy Director of Consolidation, who by order dated 01.07.2006 held that admitted thumb impressions of Sachchan on the sale deeds dated 31.03.1959 and 03.03.1964 were tallying with his thumb impression on Register No. 8 of the sale deed dated 09.10.1967. Loops of his thumb impressions on both the sale deeds had curved towards left and had fifteen ridges between delta and core. The other expert report are not clear on this point. As sale deed dated 09.10.1967 was executed by Sachchan as such his death on 08.10.1967 was not proved. The names of the respondents were mutated in revenue record on the basis of sale deed dated 09.10.1967. Consolidation Court has no jurisdiction to go into controversy that sale deed was in favour of minors as such it is void. On these findings, he allowed the revision of the respondents, dismissed the revision of Gaon Sabha and maintained the basic year entry. Hence, this petition has been filed.

6. The counsel for the petitioner submitted that Appellate Court framed two issues for determination, i.e. (i) whether sale deed dated 09.10.1967 was executed by Sachchan in favour of the respondents? and (ii) whether Smt. Gulaichi was the widow and Harish Chand was the son of Sachchan?. The petitioner in order to prove his case, has filed certified copies of Kutumb Register, Death Register, Voter List of 1968-69. In order to get thumb impressions of Sachchan on sale deed dated 09.10.1967, tallied from his admitted thumb impressions, the petitioner filed sale deeds dated 31.03.1959 and 03.03.1964, executed by Sachchan. As the respondents withheld the original sale deed dated 09.10.1967, the petitioner summoned Register No. 8 relating to sale deed dated 09.10.1967, from office of Sub-Registrar. He filed Expert Reports of Sri. M.M. Kakkar, a Fingerprint & Hand Writing Expert and Sri S.N. Mukherji a Government Fingerprint & Hand Writing Expert, who had examined thumb impression of Sachchan on the sale deed dated 09.10.1967, in connection with a criminal case, i.e. Crime No. 32/1968, which was later on investigated by C.B.C.I.D. who has submitted charge sheet against the respondents and the witnesses of the sale deed. They proved their reports. The petitioner also examined Brij Kishore Maurya, Panchayat Secretary (PW-1), Naga Chaudhary, Pradhan of the village (PW-2), to prove Extracts of Death Register, Kutumb Register and Electoral Roll. Smt. Gulaichi also entered into the witness box as PW-3 and stated that she was widow of Sachchan and the petitioner was the son of Sachchan. The statement of Smt. Gulaichi was relevant to prove the relationship by conduct under Section 50 of Evidence Act, 1872. From the evidence of the petitioner, it was fully proved that Sachchan died on 08.10.1967 and the petitioner was the son of Sachchan and after his death, he had inherited the property. As Sachchan had died on 08.10.1967, sale deed dated 09.10.1967 was executed by some imposter of Sachchan. Deputy Director of Consolidation relied upon the report of Sri R.R. Sahai, without even referring to the reports of Sri M.M. Kakkar and Sri S.N. Mukherji. Deputy Director of Consolidation ought to have tallied the report of expert from the disputed fingerprint and then would have recorded his own independent finding, about genuineness of the thumb impression of Sachchan on the sale deed dated 08.10.1967. He relied upon the report of Sri R.R. Sahai and without assigning any reason discarded reports of Sri M.M. Kakkar and Sri S.N. Mukherji. Sri R.R. Sahai, had no degree relating to examination of fingerprints, as admitted by him in his oral statement. His report cannot be termed as an expert report and is not admissible under Section 45 of Evidence Act, 1872. Judgment of Deputy Director of Consolidation is based upon inadmissible evidence, as well as ignoring the admissible evidence on record. He has illegally set aside findings of facts of appellate court without assigning any reason. His order is liable to be set aside.

7. I have considered the arguments of the counsel for the parties and examined the record. Consolidation Officer and Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation, relying upon Death Register and Kutumb Register, which were proved by Brij Kishore Maurya, Panchayat Secretary (PW-1), Naga Chaudhary, Pradhan of the village (PW-2), held that Sachchan died on 08.10.1967. Deputy Director of Consolidation, without referring direct evidence relating date of death of Sachchan held that Sachchan was alive on 09.10.1967, as his thumb impression on Register No. 8 of the sale deed 09.10.1967 was tallying with his admitted thumb impression. Instead of dealing with direct evidence, he drew inference in respect of issue of death of Sachchan. Course adopted by Deputy Director of Consolidation in this respect is illegal. Findings of Consolidation Officer and Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation in this respect do not suffer from any illegality. It has been illegally set aside on the basis of inference by respondent-1.

8. The respondents based their title on sale deed dated 09.10.1967, allegedly executed by Sachchan in their favour. The petitioner denied execution of sale deed by Sachchan and stated that after death of Sachchan sale deed was manufactured. Burden was upon the respondents to prove due execution of the sale deed. They did not file original sale deed. Akshaiber (DW-3), father of the respondents stated that the respondents, who were 12 years and 9 years old at the time of sale deed, himself negotiated and finalized deal for sale deed. At the time of sale deed, he did not went to the office of Sub-Registrar for execution/registration of sale deed. Original sale deed was lost, in the way of Salempur but no information relating to its missing was given to police. Sudeen (DW-1), marginal witness, in his statement recorded on 08.02.1977 has stated that sale deed was executed one year prior to his statement. Jeeut (DW-2), the other marginal witness was resident of about 4 k.m. away from village Bagahi and he was not knowing either to Sachchan or Suresh and Subhas, who were minors at that time. His being marginal witness is not a natural conduct. On the basis of these evidence, appellate court found that due execution of sale deed was not proved by the respondents. From aforesaid facts it is clear that the respondents have not produced best evidence in their possession as such adverse inference is liable to be drawn against them under Section 114 Illustration (g) of Evidence Act, 1872. Deal of sale deed was negotiated and finalized by minors of 12 and 9 years old, which is also not a natural conduct. Explanation as required under Section 65 (f) of Evidence Act, 1872, to adduce secondary evidence, was not given. Statement of marginal witnesses were not reliable to prove due execution of sale deed. Deputy Director of Consolidation illegally reversed the findings of appellate court without considering aforesaid circumstances in cursory manner, only relying upon exert evidence.

9. Supreme Court in Gurmukh Ram Madan (Dr) v. Bhagwan Das Madan, AIR 1998 SC 2776, held that a sale deed is not a public document and its secondary evidence could not have been let in evidence except after explanation as to the non-availability of the original in an appropriate manner. In J. Yashoda v. K. Shobha Rani, (2007) 5 SCC 730, held that secondary evidence, is an evidence which may be given in the absence of that better evidence which law requires to be given first, when a proper explanation of its absence is given. The rule which is the most universal, namely, that the best evidence the nature of the case will admit shall be produced, decides this objection. That rule only means that, so long as the higher or superior evidence is within your possession or may be reached by you, you shall give no inferior proof in relation to it. Section 65 deals with the proof of the contents of the documents tendered in evidence. In order to enable a party to produce secondary evidence it is necessary for the party to prove existence and execution of the original document. Under Section 64, documents are to be provided (sic proved) by primary evidence. Section 65, however permits secondary evidence to be given of the existence, condition or contents of documents under the circumstances mentioned. The conditions laid down in the said section must be fulfilled before secondary evidence can be admitted. Secondary evidence of the contents of a document cannot be admitted without non-production of the original being first accounted for in such a manner as to bring it within one or other of the cases provided for in the section. In Tukaram S. Dighole v. Manikrao Shivaji Kokate, AIR 2010 SC 965, held that the general rule is that secondary evidence is not admissible until the non-production of primary evidence is satisfactorily proved. However, clause (e) of Section 65, which enumerates the cases in which secondary evidence relating to documents may be given, carves out an exception to the extent that when the original document is a "public document" secondary evidence is admissible even though the original document is still in existence and available. In H. Siddiqui v. A. Ramalingam, AIR 2011 SC 1492, held that the provisions of Section 65 of the 1872 Act provide for permitting the parties to adduce secondary evidence. However, such a course is subject to a large number of limitations. In a case where the original documents are not produced at any time, nor has any factual foundation been laid for giving secondary evidence, it is not permissible for the court to allow a party to adduce secondary evidence. Thus, secondary evidence relating to the contents of a document is inadmissible, until the non-production of the original is accounted for, so as to bring it within one or other of the cases provided for in the section. The secondary evidence must be authenticated by foundational evidence that the alleged copy is in fact a true copy of the original. Mere admission of a document in evidence does not amount to its proof. Therefore, the documentary evidence is required to be proved in accordance with law. The court has an obligation to decide the question of admissibility of a document in secondary evidence before making endorsement thereon.

10. Deputy Director of Consolidation based his findings only on expert evidence. So far as expert evidence relating to thumb impression of Sachchan on the disputed sale deed is concerned, expert evidence is admissible under Section 45 of Evidence Act, 1872, relevant part of which is quoted below:-

45. Opinions of experts.--When the Court has to form an opinion upon a point of foreign law, or of science, or art, or as to identity of handwriting or finger impressions, the opinions upon that point of persons specially skilled in such foreign law, science or art, or in questions as to identity of handwriting or finger impressions are relevant facts.

Such persons are called experts.

Illustrations

(c) The question is, whether a certain document was written by A. Another document is produced which is proved or admitted to have been written by A.

The opinions of experts on the question whether the two documents were written by the same person or by different persons, are relevant.

11. Sri R.R. Sahai, expert of the respondents, in his statement has admitted that he had not done any special course relating to examination of Handwriting and Finger Prints. His report cannot be treated as expert evidence within meaning of Section 45 of the Act. He further stated that photographs taken by him for the purposes of its enlargement, were blurred. If the photograph was blurred, then his report in respect of number of ridges in between delta and core, is not reliable. His report is not reliable also. In any case, the Court has to form his opinion in respect of genuineness of thumb impression, by examining original thumb impression with the help of expert report and not to take expert report as gospel truth as done in present case. Deputy Director of Consolidation has ignored reports and statements of Sri M.M. Kakkar and Sri S.N. Mukherji, evidence of the petitioner, on the ground that number of ridges in between delta and core in these reports are not tallying with the report of Sri R.R. Sahai. Supreme Court in State of Gujrat Vs. Vinaya Chandra Chhota Lal Pathi, AIR 1967 SC 778, held that sole evidence of a handwriting expert is not normally sufficient for recording a definite finding that the writing being of certain person or not. In Lalit Popli v. Canara Bank, (2003) 3 SCC 583, held that it is to be noted that under Sections 45 and 47 of the Evidence Act, the court has to take a view on the opinion of others, whereas under Section 73 of the said Act, the court by its own comparison of writings can form its opinion. Evidence of the identity of handwriting is dealt with in three sections of the Evidence Act. They are Sections 45, 47 and 73. Both under Sections 45 and 47 the evidence is an opinion. In the former case it is by a scientific comparison and in the latter on the basis of familiarity resulting from frequent observations and experiences. In both the cases, the court is required to satisfy itself by such means as are open to conclude that the opinion may be acted upon. Irrespective of an opinion of the handwriting expert, the court can compare the admitted writing with the disputed writing and come to its own independent conclusion. Such exercise of comparison is permissible under Section 73 of the Evidence Act. Ordinarily, Sections 45 and 73 are complementary to each other. Evidence of the handwriting expert need not be invariably corroborated. It is for the court to decide whether to accept such an uncorroborated evidence or not. In Ajay Kumar Parmar v. State of Rajasthan, (2012) 12 SCC 406, held that where there is an opinion whether of an expert, or of any witness, the court may then apply its own observation by comparing the signatures, or handwritings for providing a decisive weight or influence to its decision.

12. The respondents failed to prove due execution of sale deed dated 09.10.1967 by Sachchan. Findings of Consolidation Officer and Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation in respect respect has been illegally set aside by Deputy Director of Consolidation, relying upon inadmissible evidence and ignoring relevant evidence.

13. So far as Smt. Gulaichi, being widow and Harish Chandra being son of Sachchan is concerned, Smt. Gulaichi entered into witness box. Her name was recorded in Kutumb Register and Electoral Roll as wife of Sachchan, which were proved by Brij Kishore Maurya (PW-1) and Naga Chaudhary (PW-2). Sudeen (DW-1) admitted that Smt. Prem Sundari was widow of Sachchan. According to the respondents, Smt. Prem Sundari was impersonating herself as Smt. Gulaichi. Consolidation Officer ignored the statement of Smt. Gulaichi on the ground that she could not state the name of maternal uncle of Sachchan. Appellate court relied upon her statement and other evidence on record and held that Smt. Gulaichi was widow and Harish Chandra was son of Sachchan. For a rustic and illiterate lady, who had become widow within a short period, it is not possible to remember name of relations of her husband. Findings of appellate court in this respect, does not suffer from any illegality. Deputy Director of Consolidation has not decided this issue as he had found that sale deed dated 09.10.1967 was valid.

14. In view of aforesaid discussions, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. Order of Deputy Director of Consolidation dated 01.07.2006 is set aside. The order of Assistant Settlement Officer Consolidation dated 10.03.2005 is affirmed.

Headnotes:

Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ of Mandamus – Maintainability – Private unaided minority educational institution – Scope of interference – Writ jurisdiction can be exercised only for enforcement of public duty – Private law rights or contractual matters not enforceable unless public law element is involved.

Education Law – Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 – Claim for free education – Minority educational institution – Applicability – In view of law laid down by the Supreme Court in Pramati Educational and Cultural Trust v. Union of India, provisions of the Act of 2009 are not applicable to minority institutions, whether aided or unaided – Students cannot insist admission or continuation of study free of cost in such institution.

Admission in School – Students granted opportunity to complete admission formalities – Failure to deposit prescribed fees and comply with institutional requirements – Petitioners seeking direction to continue studies without payment of fees – Held, where management had already allowed admission but petitioners failed to fulfil formalities, Court would not issue mandamus compelling institution to provide education free of cost.

Constitution of India – Article 12 – Private educational institutions – Not 'State' – Writ jurisdiction against such institutions limited to enforcement of statutory or public duty – Reliance placed on principles laid down in Federal Bank Ltd. v. Sagar Thomas and other precedents.

Held: Petitioners, who are minor children, sought a direction to allow them to pursue studies in respondent minority institution without payment of fees under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The institution was declared a minority institution. In view of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Pramati Educational and Cultural Trust v. Union of India, the provisions of the 2009 Act are not applicable to minority institutions. Further, petitioners failed to complete admission formalities and deposit fees despite opportunity granted by the institution. No enforceable public law right being established, writ of mandamus cannot be issued.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Sri Amit Negi, has put in appearance on behalf of sixth respondent, Sri V.P. Mishra holding brief of Sri Pratik J. Nagar has put in appearance on behalf of second respondent and learned Standing Counsel has accepted notice on behalf of respondent nos. 3,4 and 5.

2. On the consent of the parties, the petition is being decided without calling for counter affidavit as per Rule of the Court.

3. The petitioners, are three in number and are minor children of Vijay Kumar Sharma (Kaushik), who have approached this Court seeking a direction to the respondents to permit the petitioners to pursue course of standard XI, IX and VI respectively, with the sixth respondent, Bishop Johnston School & College, Civil Lines, Allahabad¹. The Institution is affiliated with the second respondent, Council for Indian School Certificate Examinations, New Delhi². The petitioners would insist that they may pursue their course with the respondent Institution free of cost pursuant to the provision of Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act 2009³.

4. Sri Negi, learned counsel appearing for the sixth respondent would contend that the institution has been declared as a minority institution vide communication dated 3 April 2008, issued by the National Commission for Minority Educational Institutions. The first petitioner is a regular student of the Institution, she passed her Xth examination, thereafter, was granted admission in XI standard, however, she did not appear to complete the formalities for admission. The petitioner no. 2 and 3 were studying in some other institution and had approached the respondent Institution for admission in class IX and VI respectively, which was allowed by the management though petitioner no. 2 and 3 failed to qualify the entrance examination. However, considering the fact that they are girl students, their case was considered sympathetically by the Institution and were granted admission. However, parents of the petitioners did not complete the formalities for admission despite having being given opportunity, further, the fee prescribed by the Institution for the respective standard has not yet been deposited.

5. Sri Negi would further contend that the management of the Institution has no personal grievance or grudge against the petitioners or their parents, in the event, the petitioners are prepared to comply with the rules and regulation of the Institution and deposit the course fee regularly, the Institution would have no grudge against them.

6. Sri Nagar, learned counsel appearing for the affiliating Board would submit that the petition would not be maintainable against a private institution, reliance is placed on a Full Bench decision rendered in M.K. Gandhi and others Vs. Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow and others⁴.

7. On a specific query to the learned counsel for the petitioner as to whether petitioners are prepared to deposit the fee within a stipulated time, learned counsel for the petitioners would contend that the petitioners intend to deposit the fee but due to certain financial difficulty, they are unable to deposit the fee immediately, however, the learned counsel would not specify as to when the fee would be deposited. He would rather insist that under Act 2009, the children upto age of 14 years have a right to pursue education in the Institution free of cost, therefore, would urge that they may be permitted to study free of cost.

8. Rival submission falls for consideration.

8A. The question that arises for determination is as to whether the petitioners are entitled to free education under Act 2009?

9. The contesting parties would not dispute that the Institution is a minority Institution established and administered by a minority community. Sri Negi would contend that the matter has been settled by the Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Pramati Educational and Cultural Trust Vs. Union of India⁵, wherein, it has been held that the provision pertaining to admit 25% of students belonging to marginalised section of the society would not apply to the minority institution.

10. In Federal Bank Ltd. v. Sagar Thomas & others⁶ Supreme Court culled out the categories of body/ persons who would be amenable to writ jurisdiction of the High Court. This can be found in para 18 of the judgment, specifying eight categories. Para 18 is extracted:

"18. From the decisions referred to above, the position that emerges is that a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India may be maintainable against (i) the State (Government); (ii) an authority; (iii) a statutory body; (iv) an instrumentality or agency of the State; (v) a company which is financed and owned by the State; (vi) a private body run substantially on State funding; (vii) a private body discharging public duty or positive obligation of public nature; and (viii) a person or a body under liability to discharge any function under any statute, to compel it to perform such a statutory function."

11. The Court clarified that though writ can be issued against any private body or person, the scope of mandamus is limited to enforcement of public duty. It is the nature of duty performed by such person/body which is the determinative factor as the Court is to enforce the said duty, therefore, the identity of the authority against whom the right is sought is not relevant. Such duty, the Court clarified, can either be statutory or even otherwise, but, there has to be public law element in the action of that body.

12. Where a person or authority is a 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution, admittedly a writ petition under Article 226 would lie against such a person or body, however, even in such cases writ would not lie to enforce private law rights, therefore, before issuing any writ, particularly writ of mandamus, the Court has to satisfy that action of such an authority, which is challenged, is in the domain of public law as distinguished from private law. (Ref: *Praga Tools Corporation v. C.V. Imanuel*⁷, *Andi Mukta Satguru Shree Muktajee Vandas Swami Suvarna Jayanti Mahotsav Smarak Trust and others vs. V.R. Rudani and others*⁸ and *K.K. Saxena vs. International Commission on Irrigation and drainage*⁹ and *Binny Ltd. & another v. V. Sadasivan & others*¹⁰).

13. Full Bench of this Court in M.K. Gandhi, upon considering large number of judgments of the Supreme Court, opined that private unaided intermediate institution would not be a 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution, however, the Central Board of Secondary Education¹¹ was held to be a State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution, therefore, was amenable to the writ jurisdiction. The service conditions or the contract of service of the teachers appointed by the private school is not enforceable in writ jurisdiction, the remedy would lie before the competent civil court.

14. The Full Bench decision was challenged before the Supreme Court in *Committee of Management, Delhi Public School & Ors. Vs. M.K. Gandhi & Anr.*¹², the Court affirmed part of the judgment holding that the writ petition against Delhi Public School was not maintainable, however, set aside other part holding that the writ petition is maintainable against the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE).

15. In *Ramesh Ahluwalia vs State of Punjab and others*¹³ the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution against private unaided educational institution was held to be maintainable on the ground of performance of public functions.

16. In *Vatsal Gupta Vs. State of U.P and others*¹⁴, the Single Judge declined to issue a writ of mandamus to a private minority unaided institution refusing to grant admission to the student (petitioner therein) to standard XI for the reason that rules of the institution for admitting the students is not a "positive obligation based on public law element....., the fact that a writ petition is maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution does not ipso facto lead to the issuance of a writ". The petition was consequently dismissed as it was held that the admission to standard XI is a fresh admission and not an automatic promotion.

17. In Pramati Educational, the Constitution Bench was called upon to answer the following reference :

(i) Whether by inserting clause (5) in Article 15 of the Constitution by the Constitution (Ninety-third Amendment) Act, 2005, Parliament has altered the basic structure or framework of the Constitution.

(ii) Whether by inserting Article 21A of the Constitution by the Constitution (Eighty-Sixth Amendment) Act, 2002, Parliament has altered the basic structure or framework of the Constitution.

18. The Court answered the reference (para-47) holding therein that clause (5) of Article 15 of the Constitution and the Constitution (Eighty-Sixth Amendment) Act, 2002 inserting Article 21A of the Constitution do not alter the basic structure or framework of the Constitution and is constitutionally valid, further, Act, 2009 is not ultra vires to Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution. However, insofar as Act 2009 applies to minority schools, aided or unaided, covered under clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution is ultra vires the Constitution.

"In the result, we hold that the Constitution (Ninetythird Amendment) Act, 2005 inserting clause (5) of Article 15 of the Constitution and the Constitution (Eighty-Sixth Amendment) Act, 2002 inserting Article 21A of the Constitution do not alter the basic structure or framework of the Constitution and are constitutionally valid. We also hold that the 2009 Act is not ultra vires Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution. We, however, hold that the 2009 Act insofar as it applies to minority schools, aided or unaided, covered under clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution is ultra vires the Constitution."

19. In view of the statement of law rendered in Pramati Educational, the students cannot insist free education as a matter of right in a private minority institution being aided or unaided.

20. In Master Satyam Gandhi v. Union Territory, Chandigarh and others¹⁵, held as follows:

"Before parting with the order, it goes without saying that the students who study up to Class X in any school whether aided or non-aided, such students are entitled to get admission in Class XI in the same school unless he or she declines before the admission is closed. However, in which stream they are to be admitted, it depends upon their merits and performance that shall be decided by the school authority."

21. The appellant before the Supreme Court was Class X student of a private unaided school affiliated to CBSE. The Institution refused to grant admission to Class XI in 'medical stream' considering his academic performance and grades of Class X, however, was offered seat in 'commerce stream' to which the appellant refused to take admission, consequently, High Court dismissed the petition refusing to grant relief sought by the appellant by issuing appropriate writ directing the school to admit the appellant even in commerce stream. The Supreme Court dismissed the appeal, upheld the order of the High Court, but held that a regular student of the institution is entitled to admission in standard XI, therefore, the observation in Vatsal Gupta that the admission in class XI is a fresh admission and no writ would lie is in the teeth of Master Satyam Gandhi case.

22. Having considered the statement of law, since the petitioners themselves have refused to take admission in the respective standard despite management admitting them, therefore, this Court declines to interfere in the matter.

23. The petition being devoid of merit is accordingly dismissed.

24. No order as to costs.

New Delhi Municipal Committee v. Kalu Ram & Another, (1976) 3 SCC 401
M/s Mohan Meakin Limited v. State of U.P. & Others, Writ (Tax) No. 809 of 2012

Excise Act, 1910 (U.P.) – Section 38-A – Interest on arrears of excise revenue – Liability arises only after determination and demand.

Excise duty on excess transit wastage becomes “excise revenue” only when it is determined and imposed by the competent authority in accordance with the relevant rules. The expression “becomes payable” in Section 38-A means “legally recoverable”, i.e., after determination of liability.

Where the Excise Authorities for the first time determined and demanded excise duty on 30.08.2001 for alleged excess transit wastage relating to the period 1979-80 to 1998-99, and the petitioner deposited the demanded duty within one month, the amount cannot be treated as arrears attracting interest under Section 38-A.

In the absence of any earlier determination or demand showing that excise revenue had become payable before 30.08.2001, levy of penal interest for the prior period was illegal and unsustainable.

The impugned demand notice dated 05.10.2001 charging penal interest was liable to be quashed.

Result:

Writ petition allowed.

Demand notice/order dated 05.10.2001 imposing penal interest set aside.

1. Heard Sri Nikhil Agarwal, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri A.C. Tripathi, counsel for respondents.

2. Writ petition is directed against demand notice/order dated 05.10.2001 (annexure 3 to the writ petition) whereby Assistant Excise Commissioner, Simbhaoli Distillery, Ghaziabad has required petitioner to deposit penal interest of Rs. 9,25,508.81/- on account of transit fee for the Year 1979-80 to 1998-99 for the loss of excise duty of Rs. 8,65,557.50/-.

3. Brief facts giving rise to present dispute are as under:-

4. Petitioner M/s Simbhaoli Sugar Mills Ltd., a Company engaged in manufacture and sale of excisable goods, filed writ petition challenging cost of transit wastage duty on rectified spirit and IMFL. It was dismissed by Court and appeal preferred was also dismissed by Supreme Court on 29.03.1995. Assistant Excise Commissioner, Simbhaoli Distillery, respondent 3, for the first time issued a demand notice dated 30.08.2001 demanding export duty on transit wastage to the tune of Rs. 8,87,648.50/- for the period 1979-80 to 1998-99. On 12.12.2001, respondent 3 rectified the amount to Rs. 8,65,557.50/-. The aforesaid amount was deposited on 12.09.2001. Thereafter impugned demand notice dated 05.10.2001 has been raised charging penal interest on the alleged delayed payment of excise duty.

5. It is contended before us is that liability to pay excise duty would arise only when a demand is raised and if it is not paid within three months from the date of demand, penal interest is payable. In the present case, for the first time, demand was raised on 30.08.2001 and within one month thereof petitioner deposited the amount, hence no penal interest would be paid. In this regard Section 38-A inserted by Section (2) of U.P. Act no. 7 of 1985 in U.P. Excise Act, 1910 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act 1910') is relied.

6. The facts are not in dispute. The dispute revolves around interpretation of Section 38-A of Act 1910, which reads as under:-

"38-A. Interest on arrears of excise revenue-(1) Where any excise revenue has not been paid within three months from the date on which it becomes payable, interest at such rate not exceeding twenty-four percent per annum, as may be prescribed, shall be payable from the date such excise revenue becomes payable till the date of actual payment:

Provided that until a higher rate is prescribed, the rate of interest will be eighteen percent per annum;

Provided further that in respect of an excise revenue which became payable before the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Excise (Amendment) Act, 1985 interest at the said rate shall be payable from the date of such commencement if the excise revenue is not paid within 3 months of the said date."

Explanation- Nothing in this sub-section shall be construed to affect the payment of interest under an agreement, the terms of an auction or, a decree of the Court, passed before the date of commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Excise (Amendment) Act, 1985 or which may be passed after the date of such commencement, in suits or proceedings filed before the said date.

(2) Provisions of Section 39 shall mutatis mutandis apply to realisation of such interest as they apply to realisation of excise revenue.

7. 'Excise Revenue' under Section 3(1) has been defined as under:-

"excise revenue" means revenue derived or derivable from any duty, fee, tax, fine (other than a fine imposed by a Court of law), or confiscation imposed or ordered under the provisions of this Act, or of any other law for the time being in force relating to liquor or intoxicating drugs;"

(emphasis added)

8. It shows that a duty, fee, tax, fine or confiscation imposed or ordered under the provisions of Act 1910 shall constitute "excise revenue" if it relates to liquor or intoxicating drugs. An excise duty will partake nature of "excise revenue" only when it is imposed or ordered under the provisions of Act 1910 or any other law for the time being in force. If it is not paid within three months from the date of imposition or order then interest is payable.

9. Further Section 38-A is attracted when excise revenue becomes payable. Vide Explanation; Section 38-A, term 'payable' has been defined as "Interest is payable where any excise revenue has not been paid within three months from the date on which it becomes payable."

10. The term 'becomes payable' used under Section 38-A has been considered in M/s Mohan Meakin Limited Vs State of U.P. and others, Writ (Tax) 809 of 2012 and it is held that "becomes payable" means "legally recoverable". Court said "excise revenue becomes payable when it is determined". Court relied on an earlier decision of Supreme Court in New Delhi Municipal Committee Vs. Kalu Ram and another, 1976 (3) SCC 401 wherein Court construed the word 'payable' and held that it means "legally recoverable".

11. Further Rule 814 of Excise Manual dealing with allowances for loss of personal reads as under:-

"Rule 814. Allowance for loss in transit- An allowance up to 0.5 percent will be made for the actual loss in transit, by leakage, evaporation or other unavoidable cause, of spirit transported or exported under bond in wooden casks or metal vessels.

The allowance to be made under this rule will be determined by deducting from the quantity of spirit despatched from the distillery, the quantity received at the place of destination, both quantities being stated in terms of alcohol. The allowance will be calculated on the quantity contained in each wooden cask metal vessels comprised in a consignment. If the report of the officer by whom the consignment of spirit has been gauged and proved at its destination shows that the wastage has occurred above the limit allowable the person executing the bond shall be liable to pay duty on so much of the deficiency as in excess of the allowance. The rate of duty leviable shall be the highest rate of duty leviable on such spirit in this State.

When the wastage does not exceed the prescribed limit, no action need be taken by the Officer-in-charge of the Distillery or bonded warehouse, as the case may be, but when the wastage exceeds the allowable limit, the Officer-in-charge of the Distillery shall obtain the explanation of the Distillers or the person executing the bond and forward the same together with a full report of the circumstances to the Assistant Excise Commissioner or the Deputy Excise Commissioner of the charge in which the Distillery is situated. The Assistant Excise Commissioner or the Deputy Excise Commissioner shall charge duty on excess wastage provided that when the total wastage in a consignment is within the allowable limit. Deputy/Assistant Excise Commissioner of the charge may write off the excess wastage in any particular wooden cask or metal vessel"

12. Reading of the aforesaid provision makes it clear that permissible allowance for loss in transit has to be determined and calculated by competent authority so as to arrive at inference whether the transit wastage is within permissible limit. Further Excise Officials are supposed to charge duty which obviously can be done by giving a notice of demand.

13. It is not the case of respondents that any determination was made for the period 1979-80 to 1998-99 at any earlier point of time. On the contrary it has been said in counter affidavit, in para 3(iii) that after decision of Supreme Court in dismissing appeal on 28.03.95, Excise Authorities determined amount of excise duty payable on the excess transit wastage and raised demand by letter dated 30.08.2001.

14. In the written argument submitted by learned Standing Counsel, also it is not the case that excise duty on account of excess transit loss was ever earlier determined by competent authority. It is also not the case that it is such a computed item that on its own petitioner was liable to pay excise duty at a particular point of time, without demand or order.

15. On the contrary, it is explained that Rule 633 of U.P. Excise Rules, provides for export of foreign liquor manufactured at a distillery in Uttar Pradesh to any other place in India. Collector of exporting District grants pass to such export in Form PD-25. Consignment is checked and verified at the place of destination. Importer produces certificate to Collector of exporting District regarding quantity certified by the officer which reached destination. Thereafter wastage is determined consignment wise, duly certified and thereafter only Exporter is liable to pay excise duty on consignment wise which is summed and totaled year wise. It is said that determination of excise duty on wastage is done consignment- wise which on reaching destination is certified by Excise Officer posted in the distillery as well as the place where consignment is delivered. Rules 813 and 814 which require determination of wastage and payment of excise duty are also referred.

16. Liability to pay excise duty on excess transit wastage has not been disputed before us but the question is, whether there is any determination at any point of time earlier to 30.08.2001 making "excise revenue" payable by petitioner on any date prior to 30.08.2001. No such determination was made by Excise Authorities and communicated to petitioner nor has been placed before us nor pleaded in the counter affidavit nor even referred to in the written arguments.

17. In order to hold that "excise revenue" was payable by petitioner at any earlier point of time than 30.08.2001, it was incumbent upon respondents to show that as per U.P. Excise Rules, determination of excess transit wastage was made by competent authority and communicated to petitioner, so as to make him liable to pay prescribed excise duty thereon.

18. In the present case, counter affidavit is conspicuously silent on this aspect and the only letter by which such determination has been shown for the first time is dated 30.08.2001 and admittedly, within one month thereafter the demanded duty has been paid.

19. The extent of excess transit loss may result in creating a liability upon petitioner to pay excise duty but unless such duty is imposed or ordered by competent authority, after determination as required under Rules, it cannot be said that it is an "excise revenue" payable and, hence, liability of interest will not arise from a date prior thereto. It is for this reason, that respondents have not disclosed in the entire counter affidavit any date on which such "excise revenue" was payable for the period of almost ten years, for which cumulative interest has been charged for the entire period from 1979-80 to 1998-99.

20. For the first time, excise duty was ordered by order dated 30.08.2001 and since it has been paid within one month thereof, we do not find that the petitioner is liable to pay interest under Section 38-A of Act 1910. No such interest is attracted in the case in hand.

21. Writ petition is allowed. Impugned demand notice/order dated 05.10.2001 is hereby set aside.

22. However, before parting, we may observe that though Supreme Court dismissed appeal admittedly on 28.03.1995, still concerned excise authority took more than six years time in raising demand of excise duty. Had it been ordered earlier, State would not have lost benefit of amount of "excise revenue" which would have become payable earlier by petitioner.

23. Apparently here is a case of clear lack of negligence on the part of respondent 3 keeping the matter in hibernation for more than six years and thereafter determining excise duty only by order dated 30.08.2001. Therefore, we direct Principal Secretary, Excise, U.P. Government, to make appropriate inquiry in the matter and recover loss, if any, suffered by State from concerned officer responsible for such wrong, after holding inquiry in accordance with law.

Section 482 Cr.P.C. – Quashing of cognizance in dowry death case – Applicants sought quashing of the cognizance order dated 20.1.2001 passed by the C.J.M., Varanasi in Case No. 255 of 2001 (State v. Ravi Kumar & Others), arising out of Case Crime No. 113 of 2000, under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, P.S. Cantt., district Varanasi. FIR alleged cruelty and dowry demand, whereas the defence relied on a dying declaration recorded by the Settlement Officer (Consolidation), Varanasi, after medical certification of the declarant's consciousness, in which the deceased stated that she accidentally caught fire while boiling milk for her child and no family member was present at that time, and her mother-in-law extinguished the fire. Applicants emphasized three weeks' delay in lodging the FIR and prior intimation sent by the husband through speed post to the police about an accidental burn, contending that there was no possibility of conviction and that continuation of proceedings would be an abuse of process and sheer wastage of court time. Held, while exercising inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the High Court cannot assess the veracity, reliability or truthfulness of evidence such as a dying declaration or conduct a pre-trial evaluation of defence materials; at this stage only prima facie case is to be seen in light of settled Supreme Court precedents, and disputed defence must be tested by the trial court, where the accused have the remedy of moving an application for discharge. In view of the law laid down in R.P. Kapur v. State of Punjab, State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, State of Bihar v. P.P. Sharma, Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. v. Mohd. Saraful Haq and others and other authorities, the prayer for quashing the cognizance order was refused, though applicants were given liberty to appear before the trial court and seek bail, with a direction that bail be considered in light of Amrawati v. State of U.P. and Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh v. State of U.P., and that no coercive action be taken for 30 days.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. for the State and learned counsel for O.P. No. 2. Perused the records.

2. The applicants, by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., have invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the cognizance order dated 20.1.2001 passed by the C.J.M. Varanasi, in Case No. 255 of 2001, State Vs. Ravi Kumar and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 113 of 2000, under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P. Act, P.S. Cantt., district Varanasi.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the applicants is that the applicants are innocent and O.P. No. 2 has lodged a false FIR against them with a delay of three weeks without any plausible explanation for the same. Learned counsel has drawn the attention of this court to the dying declaration of the deceased, copy whereof has been annexed as Annexure no. 6 to the affidavit filed in support of the application, which shows that the deceased has clearly stated that while boiling milk for her child she accidentally caught fire and at that time no family member was present at home, however, her mother-in-law reached there and extinguished the fire. The further submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that the aforesaid dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law by the Settlement Officer of Consolidation, Varanasi, after the Medical Officer, S.S.P.G. Hospital, Varanasi, certified that the patient remained conscious during and after such statement. It is next submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that prior to the lodging of the FIR the husband of the deceased had sent an information through speed post on 22.2.2000 to the police of P.S. Cantt., Varanasi, informing about the said occurrence, copy whereof has been annexed as Annexure no. 10 to the affidavit. Learned counsel has submitted that in view of the above facts, there is absolutely no possibility of conviction of the applicants and the criminal proceedings against the applicants will not only amount to a futile exercise but an abuse of the process of the court and sheer wastage of the precious time of the litigants, their counsel and the Court, hence the cognizance order and the entire proceedings of the case initiated in pursuance thereof be quashed.

4. Learned AGA and learned counsel for O.P. No. 2 have vehemently opposed the application by submitting that while exercising the inherent jurisdiction under section 482 Cr.P.C. this court cannot look into the minute factual details and it cannot examine the veracity, reliability and truthfulness of the evidence, which are to be adduced by the prosecution during trial and this court cannot quash the entire proceedings on the basis of any evidence (dying declaration in the present case) without even giving opportunity to the prosecution to duly prove that evidence.

5. Learned counsel for O.P. No. 2 has placed reliance on the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of State of Orissa Vs. Bansidhar Singh, (1996) 2 SCC 194, in which the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that "the veracity, reliability and truthfulness of the alleged dying declaration would be tested only after the evidence is recorded in the court and if on proper evaluation of such evidence, the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is truthful version of the deceased relating to the circumstances of his death, then there is no question of any further corroboration as the conviction can be founded only on such dying declaration."

6. In the wake of the aforesaid law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court this court while exercising the jurisdiction u/s 482 Cr.P.C. cannot judge the veracity, reliability and truthfulness of the alleged dying declaration. At this stage only prima facie case is to be seen in the light of the law laid down by Supreme Court in cases of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1960 S.C. 866, State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 426, State of Bihar Vs. P.P.Sharma, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 192 and lastly Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. Vs. Mohd. Saraful Haq and another (Para-10) 2005 SCC (Cr.) 283. The submissions made by learned counsel for the applicants call for adjudication on pure questions of fact, which may be adequately adjudicated upon only by the trial court and while doing so even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into by the trial court in this case. This Court does not deem it proper, and therefore cannot be persuaded to have a pre-trial before the actual begins. The disputed defence of the accused cannot be considered at this stage.

7. Moreover, the applicants have got a right of discharge by moving a proper application for the said purpose before the trial court and he is free to make all the submissions in the said discharge application before the Trial Court including those which have been canvassed by him before this Court in this application.

8. Accordingly the prayer for quashing the impugned cognizance order is refused.

9. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear before the court below and apply for bail within 30 days from today, the court below shall make endeavour to decide the bail application keeping in view the observations made by this Court in the Full Bench decision of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. 2004 (57) ALR 290 and affirmed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC).

10. For the aforesaid period of 30 days no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants.

11. With the aforesaid observations this application is finally disposed off.

Territorial Jurisdiction – Sections 177 to 179 Cr.P.C. – Offence under Section 498A I.P.C. being a Continuing Offence — Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed to quash proceedings in a complaint case under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P. Act, on the ground that the Magistrate at Kanpur Nagar lacked territorial jurisdiction as the alleged offence took place at Katni, M.P., the matrimonial home of the complainant's daughter – Held: The complaint discloses that the wife was subjected to cruelty for dowry demand at her matrimonial home and was thereafter left at her parental home at Kanpur with a threat that she would not be permitted to return unless the dowry demand was met; the offence under Section 498A I.P.C. being a continuing one, commencing at the matrimonial home and continuing to the parental home, is squarely covered by clause (c) of Section 178 and by Section 179 Cr.P.C. (relying on Sunita Kumari Kashyap Vs. State of Bihar and another, Criminal Appeal No. 917 of 2011; Sujata Mukherjee (Smt) Vs. Prashant Kumar Mukherjee, (1997) 5 SCC 30; and State of M.P. Vs. Suresh Kaushal and another, (2003) 11 SCC 126) – The Magistrate at Kanpur Nagar therefore has jurisdiction to try the case. (Paras 7, 11-24)

Effect of Prior Compromise Between Spouses – Fresh Cause of Action on Subsequent Harassment – Distinction from Cases of Permanent Separation — Contention that the summoning order could not survive an earlier compromise recorded between the parties at the Mediation Centre, pursuant to which a final report had been submitted – Held: A fresh dispute between husband and wife may arise at any time even after reunion following a compromise, giving rise to a fresh cause of action; this position may not hold where the spouses separate permanently after the compromise – The judgment in Ruchi Agarwal Vs. Amit Kumar Agrawal and others, 2005 SCC (Cri) 719, is distinguishable, being a case where the parties had permanently separated after compromise and the wife had accepted alimony in lieu of divorce, unlike the present case where the parties reunited and a fresh cause of action arose upon renewed harassment for dowry – Reliance on Geeta Mehrotra and another Vs. State of U.P., (2012) 10 SCC 741, held not to assist the applicants on facts of the case. (Paras 8, 25-26)

Section 204(2) Cr.P.C. – Filing of List of Witnesses – Not a Condition Precedent to Institution of Complaint – Directory in Nature — Contention that the summoning order is vitiated for want of compliance with Section 204(2) Cr.P.C., as no list of witnesses was filed by the complainant before summons were issued – Held: The impugned order itself directs the complainant to file the list of witnesses and take steps within seven days, summons being issuable thereafter only upon compliance, which is the normal procedure followed by the court's office; there is no material to show that summons were actually served without an accompanying list of witnesses – The requirement of Section 204(2) Cr.P.C. is that the list of witnesses be filed before issuance of summons and not along with the complaint, and any omission in this regard, where the purpose of the provision is otherwise served, is curable under Section 465 Cr.P.C. (relying on Sardar Awtar Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2006 Cr.L.J. 715; Krishna Kant Pathak Vs. State of U.P., 1995 ACC 14; and Ved Prakash Vs. Sri Om, Delhi High Court, decided on 31.10.2011, following Abdul Hafiz Vs. Ghulam Mohi-ud-din, 1997 Cri. L.J. 518). (Paras 9, 27-31)

Quashing of Proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. – Scope – Case Not Falling Within Recognised Categories — Held: The case does not fall within any of the categories recognised by the Hon'ble Apex Court in its catena of judgments, the latest being A.R.C.J. Vs. Nimra Carglass Technics (P) Ltd., (2016) 1 SCC 348, which would justify quashing of the proceedings – Prayer for quashing accordingly refused, with liberty to the applicants to apply for bail before the court below within six weeks, to be considered in light of the Full Bench decision in Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P., 2004 (57) ALR 290, as affirmed in Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P., 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC); no coercive action to be taken against the applicants for the said period of six weeks. (Paras 32-35)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. The applicants, by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., have invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the entire proceedings in Complaint Case No. 141 of 2012, Ram Dulare Gaur Vs. Avadh Narayan and another, under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and 3/4 D. P. Act, P.S. Mahila Thana, district Kanpur Nagar, pending in the court of M.M. Court No. IV, Kanpur Nagar.

2. Counter and rejoinder affidavits have already been exchanged between the parties.

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. for the State and learned counsel for O.P. No. 2. Perused the records.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants has contended that the applicant nos. 1 and 2 are the real brothers, who are the Jeth and husband of the daughter of O.P. No. 2, respectively; the applicant no. 1 has no concern with the matrimonial dispute between his brother (applicant no. 2) and his wife i.e. the daughter of O.P. No. 2, Smt. Indira Gaur. Learned counsel has further submitted that the marriage between the applicant no. 2 and Smt. Indira Gaur was performed on 12.7.2008 at district Katni (M.P.) without any dowry. After the marriage, it transpired that Smt. Indira Gaur is a disabled lady. Despite that the applicant no. 2 was ready to cooperate with her. However, after sometime she lodged a first information report against the applicants and their family members making false and frivolous allegations. The matter was referred to Mediation Centre, Kanpur, and the dispute was settled between the parties. On the basis of the said compromise the I.O. submitted a final report in the court. On the said final report, the learned Magistrate issued notice to the complainant (O.P. No. 2) for filing his objection, if any. The O.P. No. 2 filed the objections/ protest petition, even though admitting the fact of compromise reached between the parties, alleging that the applicants, after the said compromise, started to ill-treat his daughter once again in connection with dowry demand.

5. The learned Magistrate treated the protest petition/ objection as a complaint and after recording the statements of the complainant and his daughter Smt. Indira Gaur under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., summoned the applicants.

6. The aforesaid summoning order has been challenged before this court on three grounds:

(1) Lack of territorial jurisdiction to the Magistrate of Kanpur Nagar, as the offence alleged has taken place at Katni, M.P. Where the daughter of O.P. No. 2 was residing in her matrimonial home.

(2) The learned Magistrate, only on the basis of general and vague allegations made in the protest petition, with regard to dowry demand and even in absence of any injury report, has summoned the applicants without application of mind to the fact that the matter has already been settled between the parties by way of compromise. The learned counsel for the applicants has relied upon the judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in (2012) 10 SCC 741, Geeta Mehrotra and another Vs. State of U.P. and 2005 SCC (Cri) 719, Ruchi Agarwal Vs. Amit Kumar Agrawal and others in support of this contention.

(3) The third ground on the basis of which learned counsel for the applicant has challenged the legality and correctness of impugned summoning order, is that, without following the mandate of sub-section 2 of section 204 Cr.P.C., which makes it compulsory for the complainant to file the list of witnesses, the Magistrate has issued summons, therefore, the impugned summoning order cannot be sustained. Learned counsel has contended that no list of prosecution witnesses was filed by the complainant, which fact is evident from perusal of the impugned order itself, which clearly shows that the learned Magistrate has directed the complainant to file the list of witnesses. He has contended that in absence of the list of prosecution witnesses, the summoning of the applicants, being against the mandatory requirement of section 204(2) Cr.P.C. is bad in law and the same cannot be sustained.

7. Per contra, learned counsel for O.P. No. 2 has contested the aforesaid arguments on the ground that in the protest petition, it has been clearly alleged that after the compromise between the parties, the applicants again started harassment of the daughter of O.P. No. 2, therefore, he had to file protest petition against the final report, and as there was sufficient prima-facie material before the learned Magistrate, to summon the applicants, he, treating the protest petition as complaint case, rightly summoned the accused persons including the applicants. It does not make any difference that the dispute was earlier settled between the parties by way of compromise. Learned counsel for O.P. No. 2 has further submitted that the applicants have dishonestly grabbed the belongings of the daughter of O.P. No. 2 hence the offence under section 406 I.P.C. is fully made out against the applicants. Apart from that, the ingredients of sections 498A, 504, 506 I.P.C. being present in this case, the learned Magistrate did nothing wrong while summoning the applicants under these sections.

8. Considered the rival submissions of the parties.

9. In so far as the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate is concerned, there appears no force in the aforesaid submissions because the offence under section 498-A I.P.C. is a continuing offence, which may start at the matrimonial home of the bride and continue to her parental home where as a consequence of her maltreatment at the hands of her husband and in-laws, she is forced to live under a state of mental agony and depression, after being driven out from her matrimonial home.

10. The law relating to territorial jurisdiction of a criminal court, is provided under section 177 to section 179 of Cr.P.C. All these sections are reproduced below:

"177. Ordinary place of inquiry and trial - Every offence shall ordinarily be inquired into and tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed.

178. Place of inquiry or trial. (a) When it is uncertain in which of several local areas an offence was committed, or

(b) where an offence is committed partly in one local area and partly in another, or

(c) where an offence is a continuing one, and continues to be committed in more local areas than one, or

(d) where it consists of several acts done in different local areas,

It may be inquired into or tried by a Court having jurisdiction over any of such local areas.

179. Offence triable where act is done or consequence ensues. When an act is an offence by reason of anything which has been done and of a consequence which has ensued, the offence may be inquired into or tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction such thing has been done or such consequence has ensued."

11. From the above provisions, it is clear that the normal rule is that the offence shall ordinarily be inquired into and tried by a court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed. However, when it is uncertain in which of several local areas an offence was committed or where an offence is committed partly in one local area and partly in another or where an offence is a continuing one, and continues to be committed in more than one local area and takes place in different local areas as per Section 178, the Court having jurisdiction over any of such local areas is competent to inquire into and try the offence. Section 179 makes it clear that if anything happened as a consequence of the offence, the same may be inquired into or tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction such thing has been done or such consequence has ensued.

12. Now, returning to the case in hand, the facts of the instant case, as per the complaint, clearly show that after being treated with cruelty for dowry demand, the wife was left at her parental home by her husband and her in-laws only in the clothes, she was wearing at that time and her husband and her in-laws, while leaving her at Kanpur, threatened her that if without fulfilling their dowry demand, she dared to come back to Katni, she would not physically be in a position to return to Kanpur.

13. Thus it is clear that the occurrence started at Katni but continued to Kanpur Nagar where the aforesaid episode of threatening the wife by the husband and in-laws for dowry demand, took place. In view of the above, it cannot be said that the learned Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur, had no jurisdiction to try the case.

14. In the case of Sunita Kumari Kashyap Vs. State of Bihar and another, Criminal Appeal No. 917 of 2011 decided on 11.4.2011 the same question about territorial jurisdiction Magistrate under section 498A I.P.C. arose before the Hon'ble Supreme Court for consideration and the Apex Court held that the offence under section 498A I.P.C. being a continuing one, it is covered under sections 179 and also under section 178 Cr.P.C. The relevant extracts from the aforesaid landmark judgment is quoted below:-

"Perusal of the entire complaint, which was registered as an FIR, clearly shows that there was ill-treatment and cruelty at the hands of her husband and his family members at the matrimonial home at Ranchi and because of their actions and threat she was forcibly taken to her parental home at Gaya where she initiated the criminal proceedings against them for offences punishable under Sections 498A and 406/34 IPC and Sections 3 and 4 of the D.P. Act....."

"We have already adverted to the details made by the appellant in the complaint. In view of the specific assertion by the appellant-wife about the ill-treatment and cruelty at the hands of the husband and his relatives at Ranchi and of the fact that because of their action, she was taken to her parental home at Gaya by her husband with a threat of dire consequences for not fulfilling their demand of dowry, we hold that in view of Sections 178 and 179 of the Code, the offence in this case was a continuing one having been committed in more local areas and one of the local areas being Gaya, the learned Magistrate at Gaya has jurisdiction to proceed with the criminal case instituted therein. In other words, the offence was a continuing one and the episode at Gaya was only a consequence of continuing offence of harassment of ill-treatment meted out to the complainant, clause (c) of Section 178 is attracted. Further, from the allegations in the complaint, it appears to us that it is a continuing offence of ill-treatment and humiliation meted out to the appellant in the hands of all the accused persons and in such continuing offence, on some occasion all had taken part and on other occasion one of the accused, namely, husband had taken part, therefore, undoubtedly clause (c) of Section 178 of the Code is clearly attracted.

In view of the above discussion and conclusion, the impugned order of the High Court holding that the proceedings at Gaya are not maintainable due to lack of jurisdiction cannot be sustained. The impugned order of the High Court dated 19.03.2010 in Criminal Misc. No. 42478 of 2009 and another order dated 29.04.2010 in Criminal Misc. Case No. 45153 of 2009 are set aside. In view of the same, the SDJM, Gaya is permitted to proceed with the criminal proceedings in trial Nos. 1551 of 2008 and 1224 of 2009 and decide the same in accordance with law.

15. Similar issue was considered by the Apex Court in Sujata Mukherjee (Smt) vs. Prashant Kumar Mukherjee, (1997) 5 SCC 30, and the Hon'ble Apex Court found that Clause (c) of Section 178 Cr.P.C. is attracted and the Magistrate at wife's parents' place has also jurisdiction to entertain the complaint. Accepting the stand of complainant, the Apex Court held as under:-

"We have taken into consideration the complaint filed by the appellant and it appears to us that the complaint reveals a continuing offence of maltreatment and humiliation meted out to the appellant in the hands of all the accused respondents and in such continuing offence, on some occasions all the respondents had taken part and on other occasion, one of the respondents had taken part. Therefore, clause (c) of Section 178 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is clearly attracted."

16. In State of M.P. vs. Suresh Kaushal and another, (2003) 11 SCC 126, again in a similar circumstance, considering the provisions of Section 179 with reference to the complaint relating to the offences under Section 498A read with Section 34 IPC, Hon'ble Apex Court held as under:

"6. The above Section contemplates two courts having jurisdiction and the trial is permitted to take place in any one of those two courts. One is the court within whose local jurisdiction the act has been done and the other is the court within whose local jurisdiction the consequence has ensued. When the allegation is that the miscarriage took place at Jabalpur it cannot be contended that the court at Jabalpur could not have acquired jurisdiction as the acts alleged against the accused took place at Indore."

17. In wake of the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases cited above, none of which have been over-ruled by any larger Bench of the Apex Court, this court is of the considered view that the Magistrate at Kanpur Nagar has jurisdiction to try the case.

18. The second ground taken by the appellants for challenging the impugned order, related to an earlier compromise between the parties, also appears to be without any basis. It is a matter of common knowledge that fresh dispute between husband and wife may take place at any time, even after their reunion in pursuance of a compromise entered between them, giving rise to a fresh cause of action. However, the situation may be otherwise in the cases where the husband and wife get separated after the compromise. Hence it cannot be held that the wife cannot file fresh complaint against the husband even if a fresh cause of action, due to fresh dowry demand and her harassment in connection with such demand, has taken place.

19. The judgment rendered in the case of Ruchi Agarwal (supra) is of no help to the applicants due to the reason that the facts of Ruchi Agarwal's case are entirely different from the facts of the present case. In Ruchi Agarwal's case both the husband and the wife had separated themselves after the compromise. The wife had given her consent for divorce after taking a handsome amount as alimony. To the contrary, in the present case the husband and the wife, after the compromise were reunited and were living together when fresh cause of action in the shape of fresh harassment of the wife arose, compelling her to file the protest petition.

20. The third ground, taken by leaned counsel for the applicants is that without following the mandate as provided under section 204(2) Cr.P.C., which provides that no summon or warrant shall be issued against the applicants under sub-section 1 of section 204 Cr.P.C. until list of prosecution witnesses has been filed, the learned Magistrate in the instant case, has straightway summoned the applicants to face trial.

21. The aforesaid ground too, appears to be without any force. The learned Magistrate in the impugned summoning order itself, has directed the complainant to file the list of witnesses and the copy of the complaint. The complainant has been further directed to take steps within seven days. Summons were to be issued by the office of the Magistrate only after taking steps by the complaint in compliance of the aforesaid directions of the court, which is the normal procedure followed by the office. The applicant has nowhere stated that summons were served on him without list of witnesses being attached to it. Therefore, it cannot be said that summons were actually issued by the office of Magistrate, without such list of witnesses.

22. A coordinate Bench of this court, in the case of Sardar Awtar Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2006 Cr.L.J. 715 has held that the complainant under section 204(2) Cr.P.C. is required to file list of witnesses before issuance of the summons to the accused. He is not required to file list of witnesses along with the complaint.

23. In Krishna Kant Pathak Vs. State of U.P. 1995 ACC 14 also, this Court has held that it is not necessary that list of witnesses should accompany the petition of complaint. It can be filed at the time of issuing process.

24. Delhi High Court in Ved Prakash Vs. Sri Om decided on 31 October 2011 relying on its earlier judgment rendered in Abdul Hafiz Vs. Ghulam Mohi-ud-din, 1997 Cri. L.J. 518, has held that omission to file list of witnesses does not vitiate the proceedings if the purpose is otherwise served. The omission is regularly curable under section 465 Cr.P.C. The purpose being that the accused should be apprised at the earliest point of time of the persons, who are likely to give evidence against him.

25. In view of the above, there does not appear any substance in any of the grounds taken by learned counsel for the applicants.

26. On the basis of the above discussion, I do not find any justification to quash the entire proceedings of the aforesaid complaint case and also because this case does not fall in any of the category recognized by the Hon'ble Apex Court in a catena of judgments the latest one being A.R.C.J. Vs. Nimra Carglass Technics (P) Ltd. (2016) 1 SCC 348, which may justify its quashing. Hence, the prayer for quashing the proceedings of the complaint case is refused

27. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear before the court below and apply for bail within six weeks from today, the court below shall endeavour to decide their bail application, keeping in view the observations made by this Court in the Full Bench decision of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. 2004 (57) ALR 290 and affirmed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC).

28. For the aforesaid period of six weeks no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants.

29. With the aforesaid directions this application is finally disposed off.

Effect of Order in Revision – Not a Finding on Merits – Magistrate to Independently Apply Judicial Mind — Held: Allowing or dismissal of a revision by the revisional court is not to be treated as a finding against or in favour of the findings recorded by the Magistrate's court, since orders in revisional jurisdiction are passed on procedural and technical considerations and not as adjudication on facts – The Magistrate is expected to independently appreciate the evidence on record together with the relevant legal points concerning production of evidence, and thereafter pass an appropriate order on the question of cognizance/summoning by application of his own judicial mind, uninfluenced by any factual observation made by the revisional court.

Disposed off.

Case Law Discussed

1. Jagannath Choudhary & Ors. vs. Ramayan Singh & Another AIR 2002 SC 2229
2. Amit Kapoor vs. Ramesh Chander (2012) 9 SCC 460

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Present revision has been preferred against the judgment dated 23.7.2016 passed by the Court of Additional Sessions Judge (F.T.C.), Mahoba in Criminal Revision no. 41/2015, by which order dated 22.5.2015 passed by C.J.M., Mahoba dismissing the complaint under section 203 CrPC was quashed and matter was remanded for fresh orders in light of observations made in the judgment of revisional court.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned AGA and perused the records.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the applicants was that during investigation, no overt act appeared to have been committed by any person. Even in the statement of victim before police and Sub-Divisional Magistrate when victim had given statement which revealed that no offence was committed. In this case after investigation, final report was submitted. But due to protest petition, complaint case has been initiated, in which Magistrate had dismissed the complaint under section 203 CrPC twice, and both the times revisional courts had remanded the matter with certain observations. Learned counsel for the applicants further contended that if such matter is regularly remanded again and again, with factual observations, by interference in findings of facts, then on any occasion, under pressure of order of remand, any Magistrate will pass any order against applicants in light of observation made by revisional court, which will prejudice the legal rights of applicants. Therefore in interest the order should be passed by this Court to finalize the matter.

4. These arguments were refuted by learned AGA, who submitted that victim had not stated name of any accused before police and before the Magistrate, and she had not stated anything about commission of any offence, and informed that due to dissatisfaction from informant she had left her home suo motu and gone alone, so after investigation final report was submitted. But informant had filed protest petition and complaint case, over which police has no control. His further submission was that till now no offence appears to have been committed by any accused and any applicant is not accused in any case, therefore, they have no right to interfere in any proceedings.

5. This is a fact that from evidences, earlier executive Magistrate, and after investigation the Investigating Officer, and later on the trial court have found that no prima facie case of commission of offence is made out, and therefore the orders under 203 CrPC were passed. But those orders were quashed and matter was remanded with certain observations by revisional courts. The observations of lower revisional court in impugned order are more on facts with directions than on legal points.

6. In Jagannath Choudhary & ors v. Ramayan Singh & another AIR 2002 S.C. 2229 the Apex Court had held that:

"Where the court concerned does not appear to have committed any illegality or material irregularity or impropriety in passing the impugned judgment and order, the revision cannot succeed. If the impugned order apparently is presentable, without any such infirmity which may render it completely perverse or unacceptable and when there is no failure of justice, interference cannot be had in exercise of revisional jurisdiction".

"It is not an appeal wherein scrutiny of evidence is possible, neither the revisional jurisdiction is open for being exercised simply by reason of the factum of another view being otherwise possible."

7. In Amit Kapoor v. Ramesh Chander (2012) 9 SCC 460 the Apex Court had observed:

"Normally, a revisional jurisdiction should be exercised on a question of law. However, when factual appreciation is involved, then it must find place in the class of cases resulting in a perverse finding. Basically, the power is required to be exercised so that justice is done and there is no abuse of power by the court. Merely an apprehension or suspicion of the same would not be a sufficient ground for interference in such cases."

8. This legal position is settled that at the time of passing the order on point of cognizance/summoning, the Magistrate has to consider facts in accordance with law and has to pass appropriate order by application of his own judicial mind. The revision is admitted by superior court only of supervising and considering and for the purpose of satisfying itself as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any finding, sentence or order, recorded or passed, and as to the regularity of any proceedings of such subordinate/inferior Court. Any other observation or direction, including on the point of fact or on point of manner of consideration of evidence by revisional court, under section 397 CrPC, is erroneous and illegal. Revision is not an appeal wherein scrutiny of evidence is possible like trial of appellate court. As a rule the revisional courts should generally refrain from giving findings, observations or directions on facts or on merits of the case.

9. It is also clarified that allowing of revision by lower revisional court or dismissal of revision shall not be taken as finding against findings of Magistrate Court. The order of revisional court shall not be considered as basis of giving finding of fact, because the orders in revisional jurisdiction are passed on procedural and technical reasons. Learned Magistrate is expected to appreciate the evidences adduced and also other legal points regarding production of evidences, and then he is expected to pass order on point of summoning.

10. In view of above, in present matter, the trial court is directed to appreciate the facts of the matter before it and then pass appropriate order without being influenced by any observation of revisional court on any fact of the case. With these observations, this application stands disposed of.

Counsel for Appellants/Petitioner :- Dr. Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, P.K. Singh, Ramesh Pundir, Smt. Rekha Pundir (in Appeal No. 7096 of 2009); Dr. Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Amit Misra (in Appeal No. 7150 of 2009)

Counsel for Respondents :- Govt. Advocate; Sri Saghir Ahmad, Sri J.K. Upadhya, Km. Meena, learned A.G.A., assisted by Syed Hasan Shaukat Abidi and Sri Irfan Chaudhary, State Brief Holders

Murder – Circumstantial Evidence – Last Seen Together Theory — Deceased Ramesh, who had developed an illicit relationship with his sister-in-law accused-appellant Lata after his wife's death, was taken away from his house at about 5 P.M. by accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata to their adjoining house ostensibly to settle a monetary dispute – Within a few minutes he was found strangled to death in their house – Held: Once the last seen theory comes into play, the onus shifts upon the accused to explain what happened to the deceased thereafter; the facts relating to the manner of death being within their special knowledge – Reasonable proximity of time between last seen alive and discovery of death fully established – Accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata having furnished no explanation, guilt held established beyond doubt [Paras 32-34, 41]

Plea of Alibi – Burden on Accused – Documentary and Oral Evidence Found Unreliable — Accused-appellant Rajkumar claimed to have been present at a tractor service camp 22 km away between 10:30 A.M. and 6:00 P.M., relying on attendance register and job cards (Exts. Kha1 to Kha7) and testimony of DW1 and DW4 – Documents found unsigned by the accused, containing overwriting and no countersignature of any senior/junior officer – DW4 did not depose that the accused remained present throughout the day – Accused-appellant Lata's plea that she was at a neighbour's house (DW3 Jaipal) between 3:30 P.M. and 4:30 P.M. did not exclude her presence at the time of occurrence (5 P.M.), and the version of DW2 (her daughter) stood self-contradictory – Held: Plea of alibi set up by both accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata not established; onus to prove alibi lies squarely on the accused and was not discharged. [Paras 22-31]

Interested/Related Witnesses – Credibility Not Diminished Merely on Ground of Relationship — Witnesses of fact (PW1, PW2, PW7) being close relatives of the deceased and complainant, subjected to searching cross-examination without any material contradiction elicited – Held: Mere relationship or interest does not render testimony untrustworthy where it is consistent, natural and withstands cross-examination [Paras 35-38]

Motive – Failure to Prove Motive – Effect Differs as Between Sets of Accused — Prosecution's theory that accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi had usurped a portion of a bank loan sanctioned in favour of the deceased, precipitating the murder, stood completely falsified by the testimony of

PW8, the bank's Senior Manager, who proved that the entire loan amount was disbursed directly to third-party suppliers by banker's cheques and no cash was paid to the deceased or anyone else – Held: Failure to prove motive is not, by itself, fatal where direct/circumstantial evidence of complicity is otherwise complete (as against Rajkumar and Lata), but where motive was the principal plank connecting certain accused to the crime and no other evidence establishes their presence at the scene, its collapse is fatal to their conviction. [Paras 21, 39-40]

Presence of Co-Accused at Place of Occurrence – Not Established – Benefit Extended — No witness deposed to having actually seen accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi present in the house of Rajkumar and Lata at the time of occurrence; their alleged presence rested only on hearsay relayed through the deceased before he was taken away – Held: Such evidence insufficient to establish physical presence or complicity; conviction of Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi under Section 302/34 IPC recorded by the Trial Court cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside. [Paras 20-21, 41]

1. These two criminal appeals were heard by us on 9.8.2016 on which date we had passed the following orders :

Criminal Appeal No. 7096 of 2009

"Heard Sri P.K. Singh, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Saghir Ahmad, Sri J.K. Upadhyay, Km. Meena, learned AGA for the State and Syed Hasan Shaukat Abidi and Sri Irfan Chaudhary, State Brief Holder.

We will give reasons later. But we pronounce the operative portion here and now.

This criminal appeal is allowed. The impugned judgement and order dated 10.11.2009 passed by Sri Anil Kumar Srivastav (H.J.S.) Session Judge Saharanpur in S.T. No. 751 of 2005 convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Saharanpur to undergo life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000/- each and in default of payment of fine then appellants further undergo 10 months simple imprisonment extra are hereby set aside.

The appellants are acquitted of all the charges framed against them and they shall be released forthwith, unless they are wanted in any other criminal case.

There shall be however no order as to costs."

Criminal Appeal No. 7150 of 2009

"Heard Sri Javed Habib, Amicus Curiae for the appellants, Sri Saghir Ahmad, Sri J.K. Upadhyay, Km. Meena, learned AGA assisted by Syed Hasan Shaukat Abidi and Sri Irfan Chaudhary, brief holders for the State.

We will give reasons later. But we pronounce the operative portion here and now.

This criminal appeal is dismissed."

We are now giving reasons :

2. Briefly stated the facts of this case are that PW1 Kr. Mitali daughter of Ramesh Kumar resident of Mohalla Nawabganj, District Saharanpur gave a written report Ex. Ka1 to Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Saharanpur on 22.7.2005 at about 18:15 hours stating therein that after the death of her mother about five years before, her father Ramesh Kumar had developed illicit relationship with accused-appellant Lata, wife of accused-appellant Raj Kumar, sister-in-law of accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar and sister of accused-appellant Meenu wife of Ashwani Kumar. Accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar on account of the aforesaid affair had got a loan sanctioned in favour of her father but the loan amount was received by accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu which they were not paying to her father Ramesh and when on the date of the occurrence her father demanded payment of the loan amount from the accused-appellant, they started beating him and on the same day at about 5 PM accused-appellants Lata and Raj Kumar called her father to their house and the accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar who was also present in the house of accused-appellant Raj Kumar told her father that he would pay the loan amount to him at his convenience on which her father Ramesh Kumar told all the four accused loudly that he wanted his entire money back then and there. Thereafter appellants Lata and Meenu@Meenakshi started shouting that something had happened to Ramesh Kumar and when the complainant and other persons reached the house of Raj Kumar they found the complainant's father Ramesh Kumar lying dead in the house of accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata. In the written report of the incident Ex. Ka1 it was also alleged that accused-appellant Lata had seized the title deeds of all the properties of her father, his gold and silver jewelry and cash.

3. On the basis of the written report Ex. Ka1 case crime no. 248 of 2005 was registered against all the accused-appellants under Section 304 IPC at Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Saharanpur and Chek FIR Ex. Ka2 was prepared by constable Kirtan Pal Singh PW5 and relevant GD entry Ex. Ka3 was made vide rapat no. 53 at 18:15 hours on 22.7.2005 and the investigation of the case was entrusted to SSI Sarvesh Kumar PW9.

4. During the course of investigation of the aforesaid case the Investigating Officer PW9 SSI Sarvesh Kumar conducted the inquest on the dead body of the deceased Ramesh Kumar which commenced on 22.7.2005 at 18:40 hours and was completed on the same day at 19:40 hours. He prepared the inquest report Ex. Ka8 and other relevant documents challan lash. Ex. Ka9, photo lash Ex. Ka10 and letters addressed to RI and CMO Ex. Ka 11 and Ex. Ka 12 respectively. Thereafter he entrusted the dead body of the deceased to constable Bhimsen and constable Harpal on 22.7.2005 at 20:15 hours for being taken to the District Hospital for conducting the post mortem. The post mortem on the cadaver of the deceased was conducted by PW12 Dr. R.K. Gupta on 23.7.2005 at about 4 PM who also prepared the post mortem report Ex. Ka13.

5. The Investigating Officer of the case after inspecting the place of incident prepared its site plan Ex. Ka5 and also recovered "Chunniya" allegedly used by the accused-appellants for committing the murder of the deceased on the pointing out of the accused-appellant Lata and prepared its recovery memo Ex. Ka6. After completing the investigation of the case the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet (Ext. Ka 7) against all the accused-appellants on 2.9.2005 Ex. Ka7 under Section 302 IPC before the CJM Saharanpur who took cognizance on the same on 14.9.2005 and after summoning the accused-appellants committed the case for the trial of the accused to the Court of Sessions Judge, Saharanpur vide his committal order dated 14.12.2005. Upon committal, the case was registered as Session Trial No. 751 of 2005.

6. On the basis of the material available on record, learned Sessions Judge, Saharanpur framed charge against all the appellants under Section 302/34 IPC. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

7. The prosecution in order to prove its case examined PW1 Kr. Mitali, PW2 Smt. Shikha, PW3 Smt. Gauri Devi, PW4 Smt. Chhoti Devi and PW7 Naresh Kumar as eye-witnesses of the occurrence. The prosecution further examined PW5 Constable Kirtan Pal Singh, PW6 Constable Bhimsen, PW8 D.D. Agrawal, Senior Manager Central Bank of India, PW9 Sarvesh Kumar Yadav Investigating Officer of the case, PW10 Inspector Braj Pal Singh Solanki second Investigating officer of the case, PW11 Mahendra Singh Saini and PW12 Dr R.K. Gupta as formal witnesses. The accused-appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., denied the prosecution case and disputed the veracity of the evidence adduced by the prosecution for proving the charge framed against them. They further stated that the accused-appellants are relatives of the complainant and the deceased Ramesh. The FIR in this case was lodged against them by PW1 Kumari Mitali with the object of putting pressure upon them.

8. The accused-appellant Lata in her additional statement further stated that the complainant Kumari Mitali, her uncle and her other relatives had put the dead body of the deceased in her house by forcing their entry into her house from the roof of her house through the staircase of her house and at that time neither she nor her husband were present in their house. Her husband had gone to work while she had gone to the house of her neighbour Jaipal and at that time her daughter Kumari Diksha and two other children were present in her house who upon noticing the dead body of the deceased lying in their house had informed her about the aforesaid fact while she was in the house of Jaipal.

9. The accused-appellant Rajkumar had also denied his presence in his house at the time of the incident and had further stated that on account of his being an employee/manager of M/s SMG Tractors, Saharanpur, authorized dealers of Mahendra Tractors in Saharanpur, he was present in the service camp organized by the Mahendra Tractors at Kasba Nanauti which was at a distance of about 22 km from the place of incident on 22.7.2005 from 10:30 AM to 6:00 PM. The accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata had examined Ramkumar, Kumari Diksha, Jaipal and Jagmohan as DW1 to DW4. Appellant Rajkumar in criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009 also adduced documentary comprising of employees' attendance register and job cards Exts. Kha1 to Kha7 for proving the fact that he was an employee of M/s SMG Tractors and on the date of incident he was present in the service camp organized by the M/s Mahendra Tractors in Kasba Nanauti from 10.30 A. M. to 6.00 P. M.

10. Learned Trial Judge after considering the submissions advanced before him by the learned counsel for the parties and scanning the evidence on record convicted all the accused-appellants under Section 302/34 IPC and sentenced them to imprisonment for life, together with fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in case of default in the payment of fine 10 months additional simple imprisonment each.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the prosecution having miserably failed to discharge its initial burden by adducing any cogent evidence that the deceased Ramesh was murdered in the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata in criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009 and accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi in criminal appeal no. 7096 of 2009 were also present in the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata at the time of the occurrence, the conviction of the accused-appellants recorded by the Trial Court under Section 302/34 IPC by invoking the aid Section 106 of the Evidence Act is per se illegal and unsustainable in the eye of law. He next submitted that in the present case there is no direct evidence of murder of deceased Ramesh by the accused-appellants and although prosecution has failed to establish the various links in the chain of the circumstantial evidence consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt of the accused yet the Trial Court has illegally convicted them. He further submitted that witnesses of fact examined by the prosecution for proving the fact that Ramesh was taken from his house to the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata by them where he was later murdered, are all partisan and interested witnesses being close relatives of the deceased, vitally interested in seeing that the accused-appellants, who are also related to the deceased, complainant and the other witnesses of fact, were convicted for the murder of the complainant's father Ramesh. Reliance placed by the trial Court on their evidence for convicting the accused-appellants is per se illegal. He also submitted that since the present case is based upon circumstantial evidence, motive is of supreme relevance and the prosecution having failed to prove that the accused-appellants had any motive to commit such a ghastly crime, the recorded conviction of the appellants and the sentence awarded to them by the trial Court after illegally disbelieving the testimony of the defence witnesses who were produced by the defence for proving the plea of alibi set up by the accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata in their defence and discarding the documentary evidence adduced by them in this regard cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside.

12. Per contra Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned AGA submitted that in the present case the presence of accused-appellants in the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata at the time of the incident stands fully proved from the evidence of PW1, PW2, PW3 and PW7.

13. The prosecution case stands further corroborated from the medical evidence on record and the discovery of the "Chunniya" used by the accused-appellants for committing the murder of deceased Ramesh on the pointing out of the accused-appellant Lata and even if it is assumed for the sake of arguments that the prosecution has not been able to prove the motive for the accused-appellant to commit the murder of deceased Ramesh, the same shall not be fatal to the prosecution case. The finding of guilt recorded by the learned Trial Judge in the impugned judgment against the accused-appellant is based upon cogent and reliable evidence and the sentence awarded to them is supported by relevant considerations. The impugned judgment and order do not suffer from any illegality or infirmity requiring any interference by this Court.

14. We have heard the learned learned counsel for the parties at great length and very carefully scanned the entire lower Court record.

15. The only question which arises for our consideration in this appeal is that whether the prosecution has been able to prove it's case against the accused-appellants beyond all reasonable doubts or not.

16. Record shows that the prosecution in order to prove its charge against the accused-appellants had examined as many as 12 witnesses, of which five, PW1 to PW4 and PW7 are witnesses of fact while remaining are formal witnesses. Record further shows that the deceased, accused-appellants, complainant Kumari Mitali PW1 and the other witnesses of this case Smt. Shikha PW2, Smt. Gauri Devi PW3 and PW7 Naresh Kumar are closely related to each other while PW4 Chhoti Devi is a neighbour of the complainant. Another very significant fact which emerges out from the perusal of evidence of the witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution and the site plan of the place of occurrence, Ext. Ka 5 is that the respective houses of deceased Ramesh and accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata in criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009 are adjacent to each other. Record further shows that the deceased Ramesh was allegedly murdered at a place on the staircase of the house of the accused-appellant and his dead body was found lying at a place in a room of the house of the accused-appellant Rajkumar denoted by letters B and A respectively in the site plan of the place of occurrence Ex. Ka5. Record also shows that accused-appellants Meenu@Meenakshi and Lata are real sisters of the deceased's wife Ramesh while accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Rajkumar are their husbands PW1 complainant Kumari Mitali and PW2 Smt. Shikha are daughters of the deceased, PW7 Naresh Kumar is husband of PW2 Smt. Shikha and the accused-appellants are real uncles and aunts (Mousa and Mousi) of the complainant PW1 and PW2 and brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law of the deceased Ramesh. PW3 is also closely related to the deceased and the only independent witness who was produced by the prosecution, PW4 Smt. Chhoti Devi had failed to support the prosecution case during the trial and was declared hostile.

17. PW1 complainant Kumari Mitali who is the daughter of the deceased has in her examination-in-chief recorded before the trial Court deposed that the deceased Ramesh was an employee of Chawla Garment, Nehru Market. Her mother had died about five years before the incident leaving behind her and her two other daughters one of whom Smt. Shikha was married and one son. Her father had developed illicit relationship with accused-appellant Lata about 3- 3½ years before and thereafter he had started staying mostly with accused-appellant Lata in her house which is adjacent to the house of PW1 Kumari Mitali (complainant) . She further deposed that the illicit relationship between her father and accused-appellant Lata had become subject matter of gossip in the whole locality. Her father's salary was snatched by accused-appellant Lata and only a very small portion thereof was given to her. Her father who had become heavily indebted, with the intention of increasing his income wanted to set up a business of readymade garments and for that purpose he required finance. The accused-appellant Meenu and her husband accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar had got a loan sanctioned in the name of her father and about 15 days before the incident, a sum of Rs. 20,000/- which was part of the total amount of sanctioned loan was disbursed by the bank but the said amount was dishonestly kept by accused-appellants with themselves. Apart from the aforesaid amount another sum of Rs. 50,000/- was disbursed by the bank towards the loan sanctioned in favour of the deceased. On the date of the incident i.e. on 22.7.2005 her father had sent her to the house of the accused-appellant Meenu to fetch the sum of Rs. 20,000/- from her and when PW1 Kumari Mitali met accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar in his house he had told her to tell her father that he would pay the sum of Rs. 2000/- to her father at his convenience while accused-appellant Meenu had threatened her father on which she returned back to her house and on finding her house locked she went to the house of accused-appellant Lata where she met her father and told him about her conversation with accused-appellants Meenu and Ashwani Kumar on which he started quarreling with accused-appellant Lata, she then returned back to her house. Thereafter on the same day at about 3:00 PM she along with her sister Shikha and her father Ramesh (deceased) had gone for the treatment of her sister to the clinic of Raiwala Hakeem where they met accused-appellant Lata and her daughter Diksha. On meeting Lata her father told her and her sister to go home and he himself went away somewhere with accused-appellant Lata. After making some purchases, PW1 and her sister returned to their house and on returning back to their house they found PW7 Naresh Kumar husband of PW2 and her father sitting there. Soon thereafter accused-appellants Lata and Raj Kumar came to her house and took her father to their house in her presence on the pretext of arranging his meeting with accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu who had also come to their house. After sometime she heard voice of her father asking the accused-appellants to return his money then and there and the voices of accused-appellants saying that they would pay the amount in question to him at their convenience. Thereafter there was silence for sometime and then she heard accused-appellants Lata and Meenu shouting loudly that something had happened to Ramesh, on which PW1 her sister PW2 Shikha and her other relatives rushed to the house of the Rajkumar and on reaching there they saw their father lying dead in the house of accused-appellants. She also deposed that all the title deeds of her father's properties and the ornaments of her mother were in the possession of accused-appellant Lata and the accused-appellant had committed the murder of their father as a result of the dispute between them and her father regarding the loan amount of Rs. 50,000/- PW1 proved written report of the incident Ex. Ka1.

18. PW2 Smt. Shikha in her evidence recorded before the trial Court corroborated the testimony of PW1 on all material points. As far as PW3 Gauri Devi is concerned, her evidence is material only on the point of their being a dispute between the deceased and the accused-appellants over the payment of loan amount. Her evidence on the other aspects of the matter is hearsay as she has categorically stated in her testimony on page 41 of the paper book that she had learnt about the death of the deceased on the same day at about 8 pm thereafter she had immediately gone to his house.

19. PW4 Chhoti Devi was declared hostile on the request of the DGC (Criminal) after she failed to support the prosecution case. PW7 Naresh Kumar also corroborated the testimony of PW1 on all material aspects.

20. Thus, the accused in this case, on the basis of the evidence on record, can be safely classified into two sets. The accused first set comprise of accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata appellants in Criminal Appeal No. 7150 of 2009 and accused second set constitute accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu alias Meenakshi appellants in Criminal Appeal No. 7096 of 2009. As far as the accused-appellants in Criminal Appeal No. 7150 of 2009 are concerned, incriminating circumstances cited against them by the prosecution inter alia, are that on account of the illicit relationship between the deceased and accused-appellant Lata who was the real sister of accused-appellant Meenu@Meenakshi, accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar husband of accused-appellant Meenu@Meenakshi and brother-in-law of accused-appellant Lata had got a loan sanctioned in favour of the deceased for establishing a unit for manufacturing readymade garments but out of total amount of loan sanctioned accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi had illegally received a sum of Rs. 20,000/- which they were not returning to the deceased despite his repeated demands; and that accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi were also present in the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata on the date of the incident according to the testimonies of PW1, PW2 and PW7 who had deposed that when the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata had come to the house of the deceased on the date of the incident at about 5 PM they had told the deceased Ramesh in their presence that accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi had come to their house for getting the monetary dispute between them and the deceased settled and after the deceased had gone to the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata with them they first heard the voice of their father demanding payment of his money from the accused-appellants and the voices of accused-appellants saying that they would return his money at their convenience and thereafter they heard the voices of the accused-appellants Lata and Meenu@Meenakshi shouting that something had happened to Ramesh and when they along with their other relatives reached the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata on hearing the shrieks of the accused-appellants they found their father lying dead in the house of the accused-appellant Rajkumar.

21. Upon scanning the evidence on record both oral as well as documentary, we do not find any cogent or reliable evidence on record indicating either at their presence at the place of occurrence along with co-accused Raj Kumar and Lata in their house or at their complicity in the commission of murder of the deceased Ramesh. Admittedly, the accused-appellants Raj Kumar and

Lata were not residing with the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu alias Meenakshi in their house which is adjacent to the deceased's house and that they were residing separately from the accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata. There is neither any direct nor circumstantial evidence of their physical presence in the house of appellants Raj Kumar and Lata at the time of occurrence. The evidence given by PW1, PW2 and PW7 before the trial court about the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu being present in the house of accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata is based upon the alleged information given in this regard to the deceased in their presence by accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Meenu when they had come to his house for taking him away to their house to meet the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu alias Meenakshi who according to them had come to their house to meet the deceased with the object of settling the money dispute between them. Although PW1, PW2 and PW7 in their testimonies have stated that after the deceased Ramesh had gone to the house of accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata with them, they had heard heated arguments between the deceased and accused-appellants in their voices and later the voices of Lata and Meenu@Meenakshi shouting that something had happened to Ramesh. The aforesaid evidence, in our opinion, is not sufficient for holding that accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu alias Meenakshi were also present in accused-appellant Raj Kumar's house at the time of occurrence as neither PW1 nor PW2 or PW7 have in their evidence stated that they had seen the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu alias Meenakshi also present in the house of accused-appellant Raj Kumar when on hearing alleged shrieks of accused-appellants Meenu and Lata, they had rushed to the house of accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata and seen the dead body of deceased Ramesh lying in their house. Even if it presumed that there was some monetary dispute between accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu on one side and the deceased Ramesh on the other, the same in itself cannot be treated as inculpatory or sufficient to infer their presence at the place of the incident at the time of occurrence. Even otherwise, from the evidence of PW8 D.D. Agarwal, Senior Manager, Central Bank of India, the prosecution case that accused-appellant Ashwani Kumar had illegally usurped some portion of loan disbursed by the bank to the deceased which he was not returning back to the deceased Ramesh despite his repeated demands and which had ultimately led to his being murdered by the accused-appellant, stands totally falsified. PW8 D.D. Agarwal in his evidence recorded before the Trial Court has on pages 60 and 61 of the paper book categorically stated that out of the total amount of loan sanctioned in favour of the deceased, the sum of Rs. 20,185/- was disbursed on 4.7.2005 directly to M/s Maya Machinery Stones, Saharanpur by a banker's cheque drawn in its favour for purchase of embroidery and sewing machine while the balance amount of Rs. 49,850/- was paid to M/s Sant Lal and Stones and Kanhaiya Lal Market, Saharanpur also by a banker's cheque drawn in favour of the aforesaid firm for purchasing raw material. He had further deposed that out of the total sum of Rs. 70,000/- which was sanctioned as loan by the Bank of India in favour of the deceased Ramesh Rs. 63,500/- was disbursed by the bank while the remaining amount of Rs. 6500/- was contributed by the deceased himself. PW8 DD Agarwal also deposed on page 62 of the paper book that neither the borrower deceased Kuleshwar Singh (Ramesh) nor anyone else was paid any part of the amount sanctioned as loan in cash. Thus in view of the testimony of PW8 DD Agarwal, the prosecution theory that accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi had usurped some part of the loan amount sanctioned in favour of the deceased Ramesh and he was murdered by them and the other co-accused Rajkumar and Lata when he started pressurizing them to return the aforesaid amount to him stands totally disproved and hence the conviction of the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi (appellants in criminal appeal no. 7096 of 2009) recorded by the Trial Court, in the absence of any cogent and reliable evidence on record indicating at their complicity in the commission of the murder of the deceased cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside.

22. We now proceed to examine the challenge of the second set of the accused-appellants, Raj Kumar and Lata to their conviction recorded by the trial court.

23. It has been submitted by learned counsel appearing for the accused-appellants Raj Kumar and Lata that both of them were not present at the place of incident at the time of occurrence and they have falsely been implicated in the present case by PW1 Kumari Mitali (complainant) and other witnesses who had become inimical towards them after the death of their mother and due to the suspected intimacy of complainant's father with accused-appellant Lata.

24. The accused-appellant Raj Kumar in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that a free service camp was organized by Mahendra Motors in Nanuta Town on the date of the incident between 10.30 and 6.00 PM and he on account of being an employee of M/s S.M.G. Tractors, authorised dealer of Mahendra Tractor in Saharanpur was required to remain physically present in the service camp between 10.30 AM and 6.00 PM and he was actually present in the service camp held in Nanuta town on the date of occurrence between 10.30 A. M. and 6.00 P. M. In order to prove the alibi set up by the accused-appellant Raj Kumar, in his defence he had examined one Ram Kumar, Manager of M/s S.M.G. Tractors, Authorised Dealer of Mahendra Tractors in Saharanpur and one Jag Mohan, another employee of the same company as DW1 and DW4. He had also adduced documentary evidence to which we shall refer and scrutinize later.

25. DW1 Ram Kumar in his examination-in-chief deposed that he was working as Manager of M/s SMG Tractors since 2001. M/s SMG Tractors were the authorized dealers of Mahendra and Mahendra in District Saharanpur and accused-appellant Rajkumar was working as a Mechanic in SMG Tractors since April 2005. On 22.7.2005 a free service camp was organized by M/s SMG Tractors in Nanauta Town of District Saharanpur and accused-appellant Rajkumar had remained present there from 10:30 AM to 6:00 PM and had also signed the attendance register Ex. Kha1. He also deposed that accused-appellant Rajkumar had serviced three tractors in the service camp from 10:30 AM to 11:30 AM, 12noon to 2PM and 3:25 PM to 5 PM bearing registration nos. RGH/4445, RDHA - 1116 - RGA/2897 respectively. He proved the job card numbers 27, 31 and 32 pertaining to the servicing of the aforesaid tractors as Ex. Kha2, Kha3 and Kha4. He also proved the job cards pertaining to the tractors which were serviced by PW4 Jagmohan as Kha5, Kha6 and Kha7. However from the facts stated by DW1 on page 97, 98 and 99 of the paper book in his cross examination it transpires that the entries made in attendance register Ex. Kha1 were not signed by any senior or junior officer of the firm. Ex. Kha2, Kha3 and Kha4 did not denote the name of the employee whose thumb impressions were affixed thereon. The aforesaid documents were further not signed by accused-appellant Rajkumar and there were overwritings in the job cards in the column which denoted the time consumed by a mechanic in servicing a particular tractor. A close scrutiny of the statement of DW4 Jagmohan shows that he has nowhere stated in his evidence that accused-appellant Rajkumar had remained present in the service camp organized in the Nanauta Town Saharanpur throughout on 22.6.2004 from 10:30 AM to 6:00 PM. Thus neither the testimony of DW1 and DW4 produced by the accused-appellants nor the documentary evidence adduced by him before the Trial Court appears to be either convincing or reliable for accepting the plea of alibi set up by the accused-appellants in his defence.

26. As far as accused-appellant Lata in criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009 is concerned she has pleaded that at the time of and on the date of the incident she was not present in her house and had gone to the house of her neighbour Jaipal and taking advantage of her absence from her house, PW1 complainant Kumari Mitali with the help of her uncle and her other relatives had surreptitiously entered into her house from the roof of her house through the staircase and after abandoning the dead body of the deceased Ramesh in her house had returned to their house. The information about the dead body of the deceased lying in her house was given to her by her daughter Diksha and two other children who were present in her house at the time when the deceased's dead body was brought inside her house by PW1 Kumari Mitali and her other relatives and abandoned there.

27. DW2 Km. Diksha and DW3 Jaipal were examined on behalf of accused-appellant Lata for proving the plea of alibi set up by her in her defence.

28. DW2 Diksha deposed before the trial Court that she is the daughter of Rajkumar and her house is adjacent to that of deceased Ramesh. On the date of the incident Shikha Mitali and Naresh Tillu@Pramod had brought the deceased Ramesh in an unconscious state into her house via the staircase of her house and had left him there but later she stated that he was already dead at that time.

29. DW3 Jaipal who is the neighbour of the accused-appellant Rajkumar had in his cross examination recorded before the trial Court stated on oath that on the date of the incident accused-appellant Lata had come to his house at about 3:30 PM and had remained there till 4:30 PM. At about 4:30 PM her daughter Lata had come to his house and accused-appellant Lata after talking to her for sometime in his house had left for her house with her daughter and thereafter he had heard that the dead body of the deceased Rajkumar was found lying in the house of Rajkumar.

30. DW2 Kumari Diksha in her cross examination on page 91 of the paper book has stated that before leaving her house to call her mother she had seen Shikha, Mitali Naresh and Tillu@Pramod bringing Ramesh towards the staircase of her house in an unconscious state from the roof of her house where she had gone on hearing sounds coming from the terrace. Thus the fact stated by her in her examination-in-chief that she had left her house for calling her mother after the complainant and her other relatives had left the dead body of the deceased in her house stands falsified. Similarly the evidence of DW3 Jaipal also does not help the accused-appellant Lata because DW3 Jaipal as has categorically deposed in his testimony that the accused-appellant Lata had left his house along with her daughter at about 4:30 PM and hence the possibility of her participating in the commission of murder of deceased Ramesh which had taken place at 5 PM cannot be ruled out.

31. Thus upon an overall appraisal and assessment of the testimony of defence witnesses, it transpires that the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata have totally failed to establish the plea of alibi set up by them in their defence.

32. The next question which arises for our consideration is that whether the prosecution has been able to establish, on the basis of any cogent evidence led by it, that the various links in the chain of the circumstantial evidence are complete and the circumstances are consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt of the accused-appellants to the extent that it cannot be explained of any other hypothesis.

33. The Apex Court in its judgment in the case of Shyamal Ghosh v. State of West Bengal (2012) 7 SCC 646 = 2012 (79) ACC 365 (SC) paragraphs 63 and 72 to 77 has explained that once the last seen theory comes into play onus shifts upon the accused to explain as to what has happened to deceased after the accused and deceased were last seen alive. The Apex Court has further explained that there must be reasonable proximity of time between the period the accused and deceased were last seen together and the time when the fact of deceased having expired comes to light. The Apex Court has further explained that what would be reasonable has to be determined in the facts and circumstances of each case. In this context it will be useful to reproduced paragraphs 63, 72 to 77 of the aforesaid judgment herein below :

63. Then it was also contended that circumstantial evidence is a very weak evidence and in the present case, the complete chain having not been established, the accused are entitled to acquittal. This argument again does not impress us. Firstly, we have discussed in some details that this is not purely a case of circumstantial evidence. There are eye-witnesses who had seen the scuffling between the deceased and the accused and the strangulation of the deceased by the accused persons and also the loading of the mutilated body parts of the deceased contained in gunny bags into Maruti Van. Evidence establishing the "last seen together" theory and the fact that after altercation and strangulation of the deceased which was witnessed by PW8, PW17 and PW19, the body of the deceased was recovered in pieces in presence of the witnesses, have been fully established. To a very limited extent, it is a case of circumstantial evidence and the prosecution has proved the complete chain of events. The gap between the time when the accused persons were last seen with the deceased and the discovery of his mutilated body is quite small and the possible inference would be that the accused are responsible for commission of the murder of the deceased. Once the last seen theory comes into play, the onus was on the accused to explain as to what happened to the deceased after they were together seen alive. The accused persons have failed to render any reasonable/plausible explanation in this regard.

72. Then, it is also contended and of course with some vehemence that where the prosecution is relying upon the last seen theory, it must essentially establish the time when the accused and deceased were last seen together as well as the time of the death of the deceased. If these two aspects are not established, the very application of the 'last seen theory' would be impermissible and would create a major dent in the case of the prosecution. In support of this contention, reliance is placed upon the judgment of this Court in the case of S.K. Yusuf v. State of West Bengal [(2011) 11 SCC 754].

73. Application of the 'last seen theory' requires a possible link between the time when the person was last seen alive and the fact of the death of the deceased coming to light. There should be a reasonable proximity of time between these two events. This proposition of law does not admit of much excuse but what has to be seen is that this principle is to be applied depending upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. This Court in para 21 of Yusuf's case (supra) while referring to the case of Mohd. Azad @ Samin v. State of West Bengal [(2008) 15 SCC 449] and State through Central Bureau of Investigation Vs. Mahender Singh Dahiya [(2011) 3 SCC 109], held as under:-

"21. The last seen theory comes into play where the time gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. (Vide Mohd. Azad v.State of W.B and State v. Mahender Singh Dahiya)"

74. The reasonableness of the time gap is, therefore, of some significance. If the time gap is very large, then it is not only difficult but may even not be proper for the court to infer that the accused had been last seen alive with the deceased and the former, thus, was responsible for commission of the offence. The purpose of applying these principles, while keeping the time factor in mind, is to enable the Court to examine that where the last seen together and the time when the deceased was found dead is short, it inevitably leads to the inference that the accused person was responsible for commission of the crime and the onus was on him to explain how the death occurred.

75. In the facts of the present case, the factor of time does not play such a significant role because it is a case where there were eye-witnesses to the strangulation of the deceased by the accused, and therefore, it may not be expected of the prosecution to show the time of last seen and death, by leading independent evidence. PW-17 is the witness to the altercation between the accused and the deceased. PW-8 is the witness to the strangulation of the deceased by the accused persons. Besides, PW-7, PW-9 and PW-11 are witnesses to the loading of the gunny bags containing human body parts in the Maruti Van by the accused. Thus, these facts have been established by independent witnesses. None of these witnesses is a relation or a witness inimical towards the accused.

76. It has come on record that the occurrence had taken place on 29th September, 2003 at midnight. There may be some variation (5 to 10 minutes) in the time stated by different witnesses as to when the occurrence took place. From their statements, it is clear that by and large, they have given approximately the same time with reasonable variation, which is primarily for the reason that the accused persons and deceased were seen by the witnesses at different places. We have already held that these discrepancies do not amount to any material contradiction. Thus, the time of death stands clearly established between 11.30 pm to 12.00 am on 29th/30th September, 2003. Thereafter, it was the act of disposal of the body of the deceased which attracts the offence under Section 201 IPC.

77. As far as the death of the deceased is concerned, there was hardly any time gap between the two incidents, i.e. the last seen alive and the fact of death of the deceased becoming known. All the events occurred between 11.00 p.m. to 12.00 a.m. at midnight of 29th September, 2003. Thus, the contention raised on this ground is entirely without any merit.

34. A conjoint reading of the complete evidence and the material on record suggests as here under :

(i) The deceased Ramesh after the death of his wife had developed an illicit relationship with his wife's sister accused-appellant Lata and had started staying mostly with her in her husband's house which is immediately adjacent to the house of deceased Ramesh in which his two daughters including PW1 complainant Kumari Mitali and his son were residing.

(ii) The accused-appellant Lata had taken full control of the finances of deceased Ramesh and had also seized his cash, jewelry and documents relating to his properties.

(iii) On 22.7.2005 at about 5 PM accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata had come to the house of deceased Ramesh and taken him away with them to their house on the pretext of meeting, accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi who according to them were waiting for him in their house for getting the money dispute between them settled.

(iv) On hearing the alleged shrieks of accused-appellants Lata and Meenu@Meenakshi, PW1 Kumari Meetali and PW2 Shikha along with their other relatives had rushed to the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata and on reaching there they found Ramesh lying dead in the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata.

(v) There is no evidence of presence of any other person in the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata as none of the witnesses of fact examined on behalf of prosecution have deposed that they had seen any other person including accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi present in the house of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata when they had reached their house on hearing the shrieks of the accused-appellants.

(vi) Nature of injuries mentioned in the post mortem report make it clear that the deceased had died due to asphyxia as a result of strangulation.

PW11 Dr. R.K. Gupta who had conducted the post mortem on the deceased's dead body had opined that death of the deceased was due to asphyxia as a result of strangulation. He had further noted the following ante mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased :

(i) Ligature mark 18 cm x 1.5 cm on front and both sides of neck, 6 cm above sternal notch, ligature mark is horizontally placed.

(ii) ligature mark 11 cm x 1.5 cm on front and right side neck, just above injury no. 1. This mark is going upwards post-mark.

(vii) The "Chunniya" allegedly used in committing the murder of the deceased Ramesh was discovered on the pointing out of the accused-appellant Lata pursuant to her disclosure statement.

The prosecution in this case has proved by cogent evidence that the deceased was last seen alive in the company of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata who had taken him away to their house with them and after only a few minutes he was found strangled to death in their house. The facts relating to the occurrence of the manner in which the deceased had died in their house were within the special knowledge of accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata and the burden was upon them to have shown as to what had actually happened to the deceased which had resulted in his death. The accused-appellants having failed to come up with any explanation with regard to the circumstances under which the deceased Ramesh was strangled to death in their house and their plea of alibi set up by them in defence having been found by us to be unreliable, we have no hesitation in holding that the various circumstances relied upon by the prosecution relating to guilt of accused was fully established beyond doubt.

35. As far as the accused-appellants challenge to the admissibility of the evidence of PW1, PW2 and PW7 who were examined by the prosecution for proving the charge framed against them on the ground that they are close relatives of the deceased and hence partisan witnesses vitally interested in seeing the conviction of the accused-appellants is concerned the same is also without any merit.

36. On the point of interested witnesses, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo 2003 Cri LJ 844 (SC) observed that only on the ground of interested or related witnesses, their evidence cannot be discarded. Most of the times eye-witnesses happen to be family members or close associates because unless a crime is committed near a public place, strangers are not likely to be present at the time of occurrence.

37. Regarding evidentiary value of testimony of the interested witnesses or relatives witnesses, Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mano Dutt and another Vs. State of U.P. 2012 (77) ACC 209 has observed in paragraph No. 19 referring to the case of Namdeo Vs. State of Maharashtra 2007 (58) ACC 414 (52) = 2007 (54) AIC 162. That evidence of such witnesses has to be reliable subject to their evidence being trustworthy and admissible in accordance with law.

38. All the witnesses of fact except PW4 who was declared hostile were subjected to gruelling cross examination by the learned counsel for the defence but he has failed to elicit anything from them which could render the veracity of their testimony on the point of the deceased having gone to the house of the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata on the date of the incident at about 5 PM and his having been found dead in their house only a few minutes later, doubtful even for a minute. All the aforesaid witnesses have consistently deposed about their being present in the house of the deceased at the time when the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata had come to the deceased's house and taken him away with them to their house. We do not find any reason to discard or disbelieve their evidence.

39. Now coming to the last ground of challenge to the conviction of the appellants Rajkumar and Lata that the prosecution has totally failed to prove by any cogent evidence that the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata had any motive to commit the murder, we find that the prosecution has not been able to prove by any reliable evidence, the motive suggested by the prosecution witnesses for the accused-appellants to commit the murder of the deceased and in fact from the evidence of PW8 DD Agarwal which we have already discussed and critically examined herein above, we find that it is true that the motive set up by the prosecution for the accused-appellants to commit the murder of the deceased in fact stands totally falsified.

40. The ancillary question which next arises for our consideration is that whether the failure of the prosecution to prove by any cogent evidence, the motive for the appellant to commit the murder of the deceased the credibility of the entire prosecution case stands shattered. The reply is in the positive as far as accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu are concerned. We have already recorded herein above that the prosecution has not been able to prove by any cogent evidence, the complicity of the accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu in the commission of the murder of deceased Ramesh. But the same does not hold good vis-a-vis accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata for the reasons already recorded by us herein above.

41. In view of the above, we do not find any reason to interfere with the recorded conviction and the sentence awarded to the accused-appellants Rajkumar and Lata appellants in criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009. As far as accused-appellants Ashwani Kumar and Meenu@Meenakshi appellants in criminal appeal no. 7096 of 2009 are concerned, in view of the foregoing discussion, we have no hesitation in holding that the prosecution has not been able to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubts against them.

These are the reasons upon which we are allowing criminal appeal no. 7096 of 2009 Ashwani Kumar and another Vs. State of U.P. and dismissing criminal appeal no. 7150 of 2009 Rajkumar and another Vs. State of U.P.

Juvenile Justice – Determination of Age – Rule 12(3), Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2007 — Revision preferred against the appellate order dated 11.9.2013 (Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6, Azamgarh) setting aside the order dated 1.7.2013 of the Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh, which had declared the revisionist a juvenile [Paras 2-4] – No matriculation certificate, school-leaving date-of-birth certificate, or municipal/panchayat birth certificate produced before the Board – Revisionist referred to the Chief Medical Officer, whose report dated 27.5.2013 opined his age as about 19 years on the date of examination, the F.I.R. having been lodged on 17.3.2013 for an incident of the same day [Para 6] – Held: Under the priority of proof prescribed by Rule 12(3), in the absence of documents under clause (a)(i) to (iii), medical opinion of the duly constituted Medical Board alone is authorised to determine age [Paras 5, 7] – Appellate order declaring the revisionist above 18 years of age and an adult on the date of occurrence suffers from no illegality, perversity or infirmity [Para 8].

Criminal Revision dismissed

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prabhat Chandra Tripathi, J.)

1. List has been revised. Sri R.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the revisionist, Sri Raghuvendra Prakash, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and the learned A.G.A. for the State are present.

2. This criminal revision has been preferred against the judgement and order dated 11.9.2013 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.06, Azamgarh in Criminal Appeal No.58 of 2013 (Shanti Devi v. State of U.P.), whereby the order dated 1.7.2013 passed by the Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh in Application No.31 of 2013, case crime no.236 of 2013, under Sections 363, 366, 376 (2) (d), 392, 411 I.P.C. and 3/4 of the Protection of Children From Sexual Offences Act, 2012, P.S. Phoolpur, District Azamgarh has been set aside and the appeal has been allowed.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist has argued that the revisionist-Shakeel was declared juvenile by order dated 1.7.2013 of the Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh.

4. The findings of the Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh was challenged in Criminal Appeal No.58 of 2013 (Shanti Devi v. State of U.P.), which was set aside by order dated 11.9.2013 of the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.06, Azamgarh and the accused revisionist was declared above the age of 18 years and as an adult on the date of occurrence.

5. Rule 12 (3) of The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2007 is quoted as below:-

"12. (3) In every case concerning a child or juvenile in conflict with law, the age determination inquiry shall be conducted by the court or the Board or, as the case may be, the Committee by seeking evidence by obtaining -

(a) (i) the matriculation or equivalent certificates, if available; and in the absence whereof;

(ii) the date of birth certificate from the school (other than a play school) first attended; and in absence whereof;

(iii) the birth certificate given by a corporation or a municipal authority or a panchayat;

(b) and only in the absence of either (i), (ii) or (iii) of clause (a) above, the medical opinion will be sought from a duly constituted Medical Board, which will declare the age of the juvenile or child. In case exact assessment of the age cannot be done, the Court or the Board or, as the case may be, the Committee, for the reasons to be recorded by them, may, if considered necessary, give benefit to the child or juvenile by considering his/ her age on lower side within the margin of one year.

and while passing orders in such case shall, after taking into consideration such evidence as may be available, or the medical opinion, as the case may be, record a finding in respect of his age and either of the evidence specified in any of the clauses (a)(i), (ii), (iii) or in the absence whereof, clause (b) shall be the conclusive proof of the age as regards, such child or the juvenile in conflict with law."

6. It is admitted fact that no educational records were produced to determine the age of the revisionist- Shakeel before the Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh and thereafter he was produced before the Chief Medical Officer, Azamgarh for age determination of the revisionist. The Chief Medical Officer, Azamgarh in his examination report of age dated 27.5.2013, has opined that the accused revisionist-Shakeel was about 19 years of age on the date of examination. The F.I.R. was lodged on 17.3.2013 mentioning therein the incident of the same day.

7. Thus, according to priority mentioned in Rule 12 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2007, in absence of the educational certificates and the birth certificate given by a corporation or a municipal authority or a panchayat, the Medical Board is only authorized to declare the age of the juvenile or child.

8. So, it is evident that there is no illegality, perversity or infirmity in the impugned judgement and order dated 11.9.2013 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.06, Azamgarh. The revision lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

9. The revision is accordingly, dismissed.

10. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

BEFORE

Criminal Revision No.- 3423 Of 2015

Criminal Revision dismissed

2. This criminal revision has been preferred by the revisionist for setting aside the order dated 23.03.2013 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge (Ex-cadre), Room No. 22, Allahabad in Sessions Trial No. 80 of 2009, arising out of Case Crime No. 293 of 2008 (State Vs. Sanjay Bhatt), under Section 8/21 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station G.R.P., District Allahabad whereby the claim of juvenility of the revisionist has been dismissed.

3. The main argument of the learned counsel for the revisionist is that Akash Sharma and Sanjay Bhatt are one and the same person. The name of the revisionist has been wrongly mentioned as Sanjay Bhatt in the police papers viz F.I.R. in Crime No. 292 of 2008, under Section 379/411 I.P.C., Police Station G.R.P., District Allahabad and in Case Crime No. 293 of 2008, under Section 8/21 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station G.R.P., District Allahabad.

4. The revisionist has assailed the impugned order dated 23.03.2013 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge (Ex-cadre), Room No. 22, Allahabad on this count only and in support of his contention he has relied upon the High School Examination Mark Sheet of the year 2004 and certificate of High School Examination, 2004 both issued by Board of High School And Intermediate Education, U.P. In both the abovementioned educational documents, the name of the examinee Akash Sharma have been mentioned.

5. To establish the identity of the revisionist that Akash Sharma and Sanjay Bhatt both are one and the same person, CW-1 Uma Shankar Sharma has stated that the name of his eldest son is Akash Sharma. CW-2 Jeet Bahadur, who was clerk in Sarswati Bal Mandir Inter College, Chak Daud Nagar, Naini has proved the details of the scholar register in which the name of Sanjay Sharma son of Uma Shankar Sharma, mother's name Smt. Neetu Sharma, date of birth 19.11.91 has been mentioned.

6. On examination of the Identity Card of Akash Sharma, son of Uma Shankar Sharma issued by the Election Commission of India, in the column of 'DOB' year 1992 has been mentioned.

7. In the F.I.R. and charge sheet submitted by the police of Police Station G.R.P. Allahabad in Crime No. 293 of 2008, under Section 8/21 N.D.P.S. Act, in the column of accused, the name of the accused is mentioned as Sanjay Bhatt son of Uma Shankar Bhatt, R/o 502/A Prayagpuram, near Naini Central Jail, Police Station Naini, District Allahabad. Moreover, nowhere in the aforesaid F.I.R. and charge sheet it has been mentioned that the accused Sanjay Bhatt is the same person, who is known as Akash Sharma. Nonetheless in the Identity Card of the Akash Sharma issued by the Election Commission of India, address has been mentioned as House No. 126/3, Purafateh Mohammad, Pura Fateh Mohammad, Tehsil Karachhana, District Allahabad.

8. Resultantly, address mentioned in police papers viz. in F.I.R. and in charge sheet is quite different from the address mentioned in the Identity Card issued by the Election Commission of India.

9. On specific query raised by this Court, learned counsel for the revisionist has informed this Court that there are two different houses and two different addresses of the revisionist Akash Sharma and also the father of the revisionist is keeping two separate wives on different addresses.

10. The aforesaid analysis makes it crystal clear that the identity of the revisionist Akash Sharma and another person named as Sanjay Bhatt is not similar.

11. Thus, the impugned order dated 23.03.2013 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge (Ex-cadre), Room No. 22, Allahabad does not suffer from any legal infirmity or perversity. No interference is warranted at this stage. The revision is liable to be dismissed.

12. The revision is dismissed.

Election Petition No.- 2 Of 2012

Rajendra Pratap Singh @ Moti Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
Ram Singh & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:

Prasant Singh Atal, Shashi Prakash Singh

Counsel for Respondents:

Prem Prakash, Rakesh Kumar Madanwal

Election Petition – Postal Ballots – Non-Issuance of Form 12 and Form 13-A – Representation of the People Act, 1951, Sections 58, 100(1)(d)(iv) – Conduct of Election Rules, 1961, Rules 19, 20, 23, 54-A — Petitioner, defeated by a margin of 156 votes (61278 against 61434) for the seat of M.L.A., 249 Patti Assembly Constituency, District Pratapgarh, challenged the rejection, without opening, of 955 postal ballot papers cast by polling personnel on election duty at the 'PB Facilitation Centre' [Paras 2, 4, 19] – Returning Officer (DW-2) admitted that, for convenience, postal ballots were issued to polling personnel at the training venue without obtaining the mandatory letter of intimation in Form 12 and without the declaration in Form 13-A being furnished or attested, since identification was done departmentally through EPIC/appointment orders [Paras 16, 25-27] – District Election Officer's own e-mail (Ext. Ka-1) and the Election Commission of India's letter dated 5.3.2012 confirmed that only postal ballots issued and received back in conformity with the statutory Forms could be counted, and that the Returning Officer could not evolve his own procedure [Paras 3, 12-13, 31] – Held: Issuance of Form 12 (Rules 19 & 20) and the declaration in Form 13-A (Rule 23(1)(a)) are mandatory requirements under the Rules of 1961 and Chapter X of the Handbook for Returning Officers, 2009 (Para 10.3), which has statutory force (relying on Ram Sukh vs. Dinesh Aggarwal (2009) 10 SCC 541) [Paras 24, 28-29] – Non-compliance thereof by the Returning Officer/District Election Officer amounted to material non-compliance with the Act and Rules materially affecting the result of the election within the meaning of Section 100(1)(d)(iv) of the Act, given the narrow margin of victory [Paras 33-36] – Held further: The postal ballots so irregularly obtained (in the absence of Form 12 and Form 13-A) could not themselves be treated as valid votes and could not be counted; the Election Commission of India ought to have directed a fresh poll for the said polling personnel under Section 58(2) but failed to do so. [Paras 37, 50]

Reliefs – Declaration of Election Void – Petitioner Not Entitled to be Declared Elected – Postal Ballots Not to be Counted — Held: Since it could not be ascertained how many of the 955 rejected postal ballots, if opened, would have favoured the petitioner, the second relief claimed (declaration of the petitioner as duly elected) could not be granted; nor could the 955 postal ballots be directed to be counted, having been cast in violation of the mandatory Rules – Consequently, only the first relief, namely, declaring the election of Respondent No. 1 void under Section 98(b) read with Section 100(1)(d)(iv), was granted. [Paras 54-55]

Accountability of Election Machinery – Direction for Departmental Action — Held: The then Returning Officer, having grossly violated Rules 19, 20 and 23(1)(a) of the Rules of 1961 and devised his own procedure unknown to law despite the Election Commission's clarificatory communication, strict departmental action was directed to be taken against him, and he was directed not to be assigned any position of importance in future; copies of the order directed to be sent to the Election Commission of India and other authorities for compliance. [Paras 51, 56]
Election Petition allowed

Case Law Discussed

1. Ram Sukh vs. Dinesh Aggarwal (2009) 10 SCC 541

(Delivered by Hon'ble Aditya Nath Mittal, J.)

1. This Election Petition has been filed inter-alia seeking the following reliefs:

A) "declare the election of respondent no.1 as Member of Legislative Assembly from 249 Patti Assembly Constituency, District Pratapgarh as null and void and declare the petitioner as duly election as Member of aforesaid constituency.

B) Pass an order for summoning all 955 ballot papers which were cast by electors on election duty at 'PB Facilitation Centres' established in the constituency at training places and to declare the result after counting them.

C) Pass such other order or direction which the Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the facts of the case.

D) Award costs to the petitioner."

2. Brief facts, which led to the filing of the instant election petition are, that the petitioner, who is the political leader, was one of the contesting candidate for the seat of the Member of the State Legislative Assembly in the State of Uttar Pradesh from 249 Patti Assembly Constituency, District Pratapgarh. The petitioner had received 61278 votes whereas the first respondent had received 61434 votes and, as such, the respondent no.1 was declared elected as Member of Legislative Assembly by a margin of 156 votes. It is said that the result of the election has been materially affected by improper refusal/rejection of 955 postal ballot papers, which were neither opened nor counted by the Returning Officer during the counting of the votes. The persons, who are either in defence services or in other services or under detention or on election duty, who were not able to reach their respective polling stations on the day of poll, are permitted to cast their votes by postal ballot papers for which the provisions have been made in the Conduct of Election Rules, 1961 (hereinafter referred as 'Rules 1961'), wherein it is provided that such voters have to fill up the application in Form -12 and send it to the Returning Officer before seven days of the voting. In the present case, the training-cum-postal ballot facilitation centre was established and the authorized representative of the contesting candidates were also allowed to remain present at the facilitation centre. While adopting the aforesaid procedure, the postal ballots were given to the polling personnel at election duty relating to the Constituency No.249 Patti Assembly and drop boxes were also kept there with. In this Constituency, 955 polling personnel exercised their right to cast votes through postal ballot paper by dropping the same in the drop box. The aforesaid 955 polling personnel also completed the necessary formalities as provided in the Hand Book of Returning Officer 2009. Form 13-A is meant only for the identification of the persons as a voter of the constituency and the attestation is done by the authorized officer.

3. After the polling was over on 19.02.2012, the Deputy District Election Officer, District Pratapgarh wrote a letter dated 23.02.2012 to the Chief Electoral Officer, Lucknow seeking some clarification with regard to the counting of postal ballots. In the said letter, it was mentioned that the Returning Officer has himself identified the said electors and after being fully satisfied, issued the ballot papers and for this reason, Form 13-A was not issued because it was not felt necessary to do so. The said letter was forwarded to the Election Commission of India for necessary guidelines and the Election Commission of India issued a letter dated 05.03.2012 stating that only such postal ballot papers, which have been issued and received back as per the statutory requirements shall be counted.

4. On the date of counting i.e. on 06.03.2012, the petitioner had appointed Sri Vinod Pandey as his Election Agent for watching the counting. When the postal ballot papers were to be counted, it was revealed that there was only one postal ballot paper, which was received by post in the envelop whereas there were 955 postal ballot papers contained in two ballot boxes but the fold of these ballot papers was not opened and they were rejected by marking the word 'rejected'. Therefore, the aforesaid 955 postal ballot papers were neither opened nor counted in the election, regarding which the Election Agent of the petitioner submitted an application but the Returning Officer had not taken any action and subsequently rejected the said application on 06.03.2012. The difference (margin of votes) between the petitioner and the respondent no.1 was only 156 votes but 955 postal ballot papers were not at all counted causing serious prejudice. Therefore, it amounts to improper refusal to count the ballot papers and there was non-compliance of the provisions contained in the Representation of People Act 1951 (for short 'Act 1951') and the Rules of the 1961. In these circumstances, the election of the respondent no.1 is liable to be set aside and 955 postal ballot papers deserved to be counted after opening the same.

5. Respondent no.1 has contested the Election Petition and has filed his written statement. In the written statement, some preliminary objections were raised regarding non-compliance of the provisions of Order VI Rule 2(3) Code of Civil Procedure as well as non supply of complete copy as provided under Clause 'c' of Section (1) of Section 83 of the 'Act 1951' as well as non-signing of the annexures.

6. Respondent no.1 has submitted that the petition is absolutely frivolous and based on concocted and afterthought allegations. The petitioner has not shown any valid grounds for interference by this Hon'ble Court. The process for counting of votes received by post is prescribed under Rule 54-A of the Conduct of Election Rules 1961. However, the minutes dated 20.02.2012 clearly indicates that the procedure in the election has been followed properly. The postal ballots have been rightly rejected and no irregularity or error has been committed by the Returning Officer. The petitioner has mentioned the contradictory averments in his petition and most of the contents in number of the paragraphs of the petition have been denied. It has been stated that the petitioner himself has not followed the provisions of law and, as such, the Election Petition is liable to be dismissed with exemplary cost.

7. In the written statement filed by the respondent no.7, in most of the paragraphs, it has been mentioned that the contents of such paragraph require no comments but it has also been stated that the whole process of the election has completed according to due process of law as well as the Act and Rules. Therefore, the petition is liable to be dismissed.

8. Respondent no.8, in reply to the contents of the election petition, has stated in most of the paragraphs that it does not call for any reply and the Election Petition is devoid of merits and deserves to be dismissed.

Except the respondent no.1, no other respondent has finally contested the petition.

9. The notices upon the other respondents was published in the daily newspaper 'Dainik Jagran' on 19.05.2012. Therefore, the service upon the other respondents has been deemed sufficient.

10. It is relevant to mention that during the course of hearing, various other applications under various provisions of law as well as preliminary objections were raised, which have been decided by different orders and such orders shall form part of this judgment.

11. Upon the pleadings of the parties, on 13.12.2012, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rajiv Sharma has framed the following issues:

i. Whether the result of the election in so far as it concerns the returned candidate has been materially affected by the non-compliance with the provisions of the Representation of People Act, 1951, the Rules and the Orders made there under and also the provisions made in the exercise of powers under Article 324 of the Constitution of India including the handbook of returning officer?

ii. Whether non-issuance (it should be issuance) of Form 13-A to the electors of election duties was mandatory requirement in view of electors requirement to produce their appointment letter for election duty along with Electors' Photo Identity Card (E.P.I.C.) or copy of official identity card along with Form - 12? If so, its effect.

iii. whether the result of the election in so far as it concerns the returned candidate has been materially affected by improper refusal/rejection of 955 ballot papers which were neither opened nor counted by the Returning Officer during the counting of votes?

iv. Whether non-compliance of the statutory requirement admittedly by the returning officer of 249 Patti U.P. Assembly Constituency in issuing and receiving back of postal ballot papers to electors on election duty who have cast their vote at Postal Ballot Facilitation Centre has vitiated the entire election? If yes, its effect.

v. Whether Election Commission of India was required to appoint day and fix hours for taking fresh poll at Postal Ballot Facilitation Centre (P.B.F.C.) as required under Section 58 (2) of Representation of People Act, 1951?

vi. Whether the Election Petition is liable to be dismissed for non-compliance of the provisions of Order VI Rule 2 (3) Code of Civil Procedure and also for non-compliance of mandatory provisions of Section 83 (1) (C) of the Representation of People Act, 1951?

vii. Whether the provisions of Rule 54-A of the Conduct of Election Rules, 1961 has been followed and the postal ballot papers received without cover in Form 13-C by the Returning Officer shall be counted after scrutinizing the declaration in Form 13-A and there is any illegality in rejecting the ballot papers found without mandatory declaration and endorsement on the cover in Form 13-B?

viii. Whether the procedure in Election has been followed properly after scrutiny of polling booths, the necessary documents, i.e. Registrar 17-A, Form - 17C and Report of Micro observers has been properly consider and found the same correct in presence of all the candidates of the parties and their representatives have shown their satisfaction?

ix. Whether the grounds taken in the Election Petition are tenable in the eyes of law and the procedure adopted under Chapter XIV Clause 14.1 to 14.3 of the Handbook for Returning Officers is not in accordance to the procedure given in the Handbook for the purpose?

x. Whether 955 ballot papers were in order as per statutory requirement given in the handbook as well as the circulars issued by Election Commission of India time to time and the statutory requirement given in the handbook as well as the circulars issued by Election Commission of India time to time and the statutory requirement of Form 13-A has been followed and if so its effect?

xi. Whether the postal ballot papers have been properly identified by the Returning Officer and the procedure given by the purpose has been properly adopted and any provision of The Representation of People Act has been violated by the authority concerned declaring the opposite party No.1 as return candidate?

xii. Whether the petition is liable to be rejected due to non-joinder of necessary party and the Election Petition itself not maintainable as per preliminary objections raised by respondent No.1?

xiii. Whether the allegation made against the Chief Electoral Officer with regard to the conduct of the election and without impleading him as party the Election Petition cannot be adjudicated?

xiv. Whether the petitioner has comply the provisions of Section 83 of the People Representative Act and the relief claimed by the petitioner can be granted without constituting the proper pleading in accordance to the provisions of law?"

Subsequently, the following additional issues were framed on 14.03.2013.

xv. Whether the petitioner has raised objection before the returning officer prior to proceeding further in the counting of votes regarding the procedure adopted in the Election Process in accordance to provisions of the Representations of the People Act, 1951 ?

xvi. Whether the provisions of Rule 54-A of the Conduct of Election Rules, 1961 has been followed and the postal ballot papers received without cover in Form-13-C by the Returning Officer shall be counted after scrutinizing the declaration in Form 13-A and there is any illegality in rejecting the ballot papers found without mandatory declaration and endorsement on the cover in Form 13-B ?

xvii. Whether the counting of postal ballot papers started on 06.03.2012 at 8.00 a.m. and continued upto 3.30 pm and the result has been declared by the returning officer in Form 21-C of the Election Rules declaring opposite party No.1 as duly elected returned candidate of 249 Patti Constituency Assembly after satisfying himself about the fairness of counting of votes and complete accuracy of compilation of result in Form 20 and the name of opposite party no.1 has correctly being published under Section 67 of the Representations of the People's Act, 1951 ?

xviii. Whether 955 ballot papers were in order as per statutory requirement given in the handbook as well as the circulars issued by Election Commission of India time to time and the statutory requirement of Form-13-A has been followed and if so its effect?

xix. Whether the postal ballot papers have been properly identified by the Returning Officer and the procedure given by the purpose has been properly adopted and any provision of the Representations of the People's Act has been violated by the authority concerned declaring the opposite party no.1 as return candidate ?

xx. Whether the allegation made against the Chief Electoral officer with regard to the conduct of the election and without impleading him as party the Election Petition cannot be adjudicated ?

xxi. Whether the Election Petition is not maintainable as in the present Election Petition the petitioner has raised question in respect of counting of postal ballot papers and there is no allegation of corrupt practice against the returned candidate ?"

Thirteen annexures have been filed by petitioner along with Election Petition, out of which Annexure 7 has been marked as Ex.1. The respondent no.1 has filed six documents received under R.T.I. Act.

12. The plaintiff had filed his examination in chief through affidavit, upon which the cross examination of Rajendra Pratap Singh (PW-1) has been conducted on 29.03.2016. In the affidavit of examination in chief, the petitioner has verified the averments made in election petition as well as certified copy of the documents issued from the District Election Office, which have also been filed along with the list of documents, which includes the appointment of Assistant Returning Officer as well as certified copy of the report filed by the Returning Officer dated 21.03.2012 and also filed certified copy of the letter issued by the Officer on Special Duty wherein the Deputy District Election Officer, Pratapgarh sought verification from the Chief Electoral Officer, State of U.P.; directions with regard to non-issuance of Form 13-A at the PBFC and has also verified that on the basis of Form 12, votes were allowed to be cast with utmost secrecy (verified by the R.O./A.R.O.) that they are voters of the Constituency and therefore, Form 13-A was neither given to the voters nor take back from them. The Chief Electoral Officer forwarded the said letter for necessary instructions to the Election Commission, certified copy of which has also been filed as Document-6 and photocopy of which is also Annexure No.7 to the writ petition.

The election - petitioner has also testified that certified copy of the e-mail sent by the District Election Officer to the Commission on 4th March 2012 (Ext. Ka-1) wherein the District Election Officer has clarified as to why Form 13(A) (B) and (C) were not issued to the voters on election duty.

13. The cross examination of the petitioner has been recorded on 29.03.2016. The petitioner has also examined Sri M. Dev Raj, Joint Secretary in the Cabinet Secretariat, Government of India (the then District Magistrate, Pratapgarh) as PW-2, who has proved the e-mail communication (Annexure 7 to the petition) and has stated that he had sent this e-mail to the Deputy Election Commissioner. This Annexure 7 has been marked as Ext. Ka-1. This witness has been cross examined by the learned counsel for the opposite party no.1 on 11.04.2016.

14. The petitioner has examined Sri Vinod Pandey as PW-3, who has stated that he was the election agent of the petitioner and has supported the averments of his affidavit of examination in chief stating that objection was raised for non-counting of Postal Ballots.

15. The respondent no.1 has summoned and examined Sri T.O. Suraj, Secretary to Government of Kerala, Parliamentary Affairs, Trivendram as DW-1, who was observer in the election of 2012 for 249 Patti Assembly Constituency. This witness has stated that since the date of filing of nomination papers and till the declaration of the result, he was posted at Patti Constituency as observer but he had no direct involvement regarding the activities that who, how and when has applied for postal ballot. He has further stated that on the date of counting, he has received a complaint of Mr. Vinod Pandey for counting of postal ballot papers, upon which he had passed the order on 06.03.2012 and has further stated that the postal ballots, which were not having the declaration Form 13-A, were rejected. This witness has been cross examined by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

16. Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav (DW-2) in his statement before the court deposed that in the year 2012, he was Returning Officer for Patti Assembly Constituency and taking into consideration the convenience of the voters, the postal ballot papers were issued on the date of training. The official had not given any separate application. The names of the persons whom the postal ballot papers were issued were mentioned in a register and they were got signed by them and after comparing with the voters' list, they were provided the postal ballot. There were separate drop boxes for each Constituency. No declaration Form was given to the voters and he did not remember that whether counter foil was published or not. He has further stated that on the date of counting on 06.03.2012, there were only one postal ballot paper, which was accepted and remaining 955 ballot papers were rejected because they did not contain Form 13-A. This witness has been cross examined by the counsel for the petitioner.

17. Both the parties to the petition closed their evidence.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioner as well as learned counsel for the opposite party no.1 have submitted their written arguments. Learned counsel for both the parties have also been heard orally at length and I have also perused the record.

19. Before recording the findings on the issues, it is relevant to mention that margin of victory of respondent no.1 against the petitioner is only 156 votes. It is also not in dispute that 955 postal ballot papers have been rejected because they did not contain the declaration in Form 13-A.

20. Before discussing the issue, some relevant provisions of the Representation of People Act 1951 as well as Conduct of Election Rules, 1961 are reproduced as under:

Sections 58, 84, 98, 100 and 101 of the Representation of People Act 1951 and Rule 23 & 54-A of the Rules 1961 reads as under:

Section 58 Fresh poll in the case of destruction, etc., of ballot boxes.--(1) If at any election,--

(a) any ballot box used at a polling station or at a place fixed for the poll is unlawfully taken out of the custody of the presiding officer or the returning officer, or is accidentally or intentionally destroyed or lost, or is damaged or tampered with, to such an extent, that the result of the poll at that polling station or place cannot be ascertained; or

(aa) any voting machine develops a mechanical failure during the course of the recording of votes; or]

(b) any such error or irregularity in procedure as is likely to vitiate the poll is committed at a polling station or at a place fixed for the poll, the returning officer shall forthwith report the matter to the Election Commission.

(2) Thereupon the Election Commission shall, after taking all material circumstances into account; either--

(a) declare the poll at that polling station or place to be void, appoint a day, and fix the hours, for taking a fresh poll at that polling station or place and notify the day so appointed and the hours so fixed in such manner as it may deem fit, or

(b) if satisfied that the result of a fresh poll at that polling station or place will not, in any way, affect the result of the election or that 5[the mechanical failure of the voting machine or] the error or irregularity in procedure is not material, issue such directions to the returning officer as it may deem proper for the further conduct and completion of the election.

(3) The provisions of this Act and of any rules or orders made there under shall apply to every such fresh poll as they apply to the original poll.]

Section 98. Decision of the High Court. - At the conclusion of the trial of an election petition, the High Court shall make an order -

(a) dismissing the election petition; or

(b) declaring the election of all or any of the returned candidates to be void; or

(c) declaring the election of all or any of the returned candidates to be void and the petitioner or any other candidate to have been duly elected

Section 84. Relief that may be claimed by the petitioner.--A petitioner may, in addition to claiming a declaration that the election of all or any of the returned candidates is void, claim a further declaration that he himself or any other candidate has been duly elected.]

Section 100: Grounds for declaring election to be void.--[(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) if [the High Court] is of opinion--

(a) that on the date of his election a returned candidate was not qualified, or was disqualified, to be chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or this Act 9[or the Government of Union Territories Act, 1963 (20 of 1963)]; or

(b) that any corrupt practice has been committed by a returned candidate or his election agent or by any other person with the consent of a returned candidate or his election agent; or

(c) that any nomination has been improperly rejected; or

(d) that the result of the election, in so far as it concerns a returned candidate, has been materially affected--

(i) by the improper acceptance or any nomination, or

(ii) by any corrupt practice committed in the interests of the returned candidate [by an agent other than his election agent], or

(iii) by the improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void, or

(iv) by any non--compliance with the provisions of the Constitution or of this Act or of any rules or orders made under this Act,

[the High Court] shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void.]

(2) If in the opinion of [the High Court], a returned candidate has been guilty by an agent, other than his election agent, of any corrupt practice but [the High Court] is satisfied--

(a) that no such corrupt practice was committed at the election by the candidate or his election agent, and every such corrupt practice was committed contrary to the orders, and 5[without the consent], of the candidate or his election agent;

(b) omitted

(c) that the candidate and his election agent took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt practices at the election; and

(d) that in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt practice on the part of the candidate or any of his agents, then [the High Court] may decide that the election of the returned candidate is not void.

Sections 101 Grounds for which a candidate other than the returned candidate may be declared to have been elected.--If any person who has lodged a petition has, in addition to calling in question the election of the returned candidate, claimed a declaration that he himself or any other candidate has been duly elected and [the High Court] is of opinion--

(a) that in fact the petitioner or such other candidate received a majority of the valid votes; or

(b) that but for the votes obtained by the returned candidate by corrupt practices the petitioner or such other candidate would have obtained a majority of the valid votes, [the High Court] shall after declaring the election of the returned candidate to be void declare the petitioner or such other candidate, as the case may be, to have been duly elected.

Rule 23 of the Conduct of Elections Rules 1961 : Issue of ballot paper -

(1) A postal ballot paper shall be sent by post under certificate of posting to the elector together with--

(a) a declaration in Form 13A;

(b) a cover in Form 13B;

(c) a large cover addressed to the returning officer in Form 13C; and

(d) instructions for the guidance of the elector in Form 13D:

Provided that the returning officer may, in the case of a special voter or a voter on election duty, deliver the ballot paper and Forms, or cause them to be delivered, to such voter personally.

(2) The returning officer shall at the same time--

(a) record on the counterfoil of the ballot paper the electoral roll number of the elector as entered in the marked copy of the electoral roll;

(b) mark the name of the elector in the marked copy of the electoral roll to indicate that a ballot paper has been issued to him, without however recording therein the serial number of the ballot paper issued to that elector; and

(c) ensure that that elector is not allowed to vote at a polling station.]

(3) Before any ballot paper is issued to an elector at an election in a local authorities' constituency or by assembly members, the serial number of the ballot paper shall be effectively concealed in such manner as the Election Commission may direct.

(4) Every officer under whose care or through whom a postal ballot paper is sent shall ensure its delivery to the addressee without delay.

(5) After ballot papers have been issued to all the electors entitled to vote by post, the returning officer shall--

(a) at an election in a parliamentary or assembly constituency, 2[subject to the provisions of rule 27P seal up in a packet] that part of the marked copy of the electoral roll which relates to service voters and record on the packet a brief description of its contents and the date on which it was sealed and send the other relevant parts of the marked copy to the several presiding officers 3[or marking the names of electors to whom ballot papers are issued at the polling stations without however recording therein the serial numbers of the ballot papers issued to the electors]; and

(b) at any other election, seal up in a packet the marked copy of the electoral roll and record on the packet a brief description of its contents and the date on which it is sealed.

(6) The returning officer shall also seal up in a separate packet the counterfoils of the ballot papers issued to electors entitled to vote by post and record on the packet a brief description of its contents and the date on which it was sealed.

Rule 54-A of the Conduct of Elections Rules 1961. Counting of votes received by post--

i. The returning officer shall first deal with the postal ballot papers in the manner hereinafter provided.

ii. No cover in Form 13-C received by the returning officer after the expiry of the time fixed in that behalf shall be opened and no vote contained in any such cover shall be counted.

iii. The other covers shall be opened one after another and as each cover is opened, the returning officer shall first scrutinise the declaration in Form 13A contained therein.

iv. If the said declaration is not found, or has not been duly signed and attested, or is otherwise substantially defective, or if the serial number of the ballot paper as entered in it differs from the serial number endorsed on the cover in Form 13B, that cover shall not be opened, and after making an appropriate endorsement thereon, the returning officer shall reject the ballot paper therein contained.

v. Each cover so endorsed and the declaration received with it shall be replaced in the cover in Form 13C and all such covers in Form 13C shall be kept in a separate packet which shall be sealed and on which shall be recorded the name of the constituency, the date of counting and a brief description of its content.

vi. The returning officer shall then place all the declarations in Form 13A which he has found to be in order in a separate packet which shall be sealed before any cover in Form 13B is opened and on which shall be recorded the particulars referred to in sub-rule (5).

vii. The covers in Form 13B not already dealt with under the foregoing provisions of this rule shall then be opened one after another and the returning officer shall scrutinise each ballot paper and decide the validity of the vote recorded thereon.

viii. A postal ballot paper shall be rejected--

(a) if it bears any mark (other than the mark to record the vote) or writing by which the elector can be identified; or]

(aa) if no vote is recorded thereon; or

(b) if votes are given on it in favour of more candidates than one; or

(c) if it is a spurious ballot paper; or

(d) if it is so damaged or mutilated that its identity as a genuine ballot paper cannot be established; or

(e) if it is not returned in the cover sent along with it to the elector by the returning officer.

ix. A vote recorded on a postal ballot paper shall be rejected if the mark indicating the vote is placed on the ballot paper in such manner as to make it doubtful to which candidate the vote has been given.

x. A vote recorded on a postal ballot paper shall not be rejected merely on the ground that the mark indicating the vote is indistinct or made more than once, if the intention that the vote shall be for a particular candidate clearly appears from the way the paper is marked.

xi. The returning officer shall count all the valid votes given by postal ballot in favour of each candidates, record the total thereof in the result sheet in Form 20 and announce the same.

xii. Thereafter, all the valid ballot papers and all the rejected ballot papers shall be separately bundled and kept together in a packet which shall be sealed with the seals of the returning officer and of such of the candidates, their election agents or counting agents as may desire to affix their seals thereon and on the packet so sealed shall be recorded the name of the constituency, the date of counting and a brief description of its contents.

21. Para 10.3 of Chapter X (Ballot Papers and Voting Machines) of the Hand Book of Returning Officers of 2009 is reproduced herein below:

10.3 You, as RO should ensure that:

(a) All polling officials should, without exception, be provided Form 12 for applying for postal ballot paper along with their appointment letter with a request to submit duly filled Form 12 on the first day of training. They may be told that there is no need to fill up "address" column of Form 12 since postal ballot papers will be issued to them personally at the training venue itself.

(b) You should further make adequate arrangement to receive Form 12 at the training center Adequate number of Form 12 should also be kept at the training venue so that any polling personnel who are in need of Form 12 can get it.

(c) When any such person submit a duly filled Form 12, he shall be required to produce, his appointment letter and also the EPIC issued to him or a copy of any official identity card issued to him by his department. Your official, who receive such Form 12 should see that it is filled up correctly and, if not, then the concerned polling official should be asked to correct. All duly filled applications (Form 12) received shall be processed immediately by the concerned Returning Officer/Assistant Returning Officer well before the second round of training. Hence, it is imperative that the second round of training is held after the postal ballot papers are printed and ready for issue. On the day of second round of training, you ensure separate and proper arrangements for issuing the postal ballot to the persons concerned. As the trainees may be elector of different to different ACs, it becomes imperative that all R.Os/ A.R.Os along with their staff will remain present at the training venue for the above purpose. Now -

(d) First, identification of the trainee official whom PB is being issued shall be verified thorough EPIC or any other photo ID as well as appointment order.

(e) The cover containing the postal ballot paper will be handed over to him after obtaining his sign in the register for marinating account of issue of PB to polling staff in Format XXIVB. Simultaneous entry (PB) shall be made using red ink in the marked copy of the electoral roll. It should be made clear to him that once a PB is issued to a polling personnel called for training he shall after that cast his vote only through postal ballot even if he is exempted from election duty subsequently or kept on reserve. Considering the postal delays and inconvenience caused to such electors in returning back the PB after recording his vote, the Commission now encourages the system in which such electors, on receiving the PB from R.O/A.R.O record their preference on the postal ballot paper, then and there at "PB Facilitation Centre". For this, you should provide for some covered space at some distance from training centre, with some chairs and a table with facility to record vote in complete secrecy.

(f) When elector reaches to above said Facilitation centre, some Govt officer, as is authorized under law to attest Form 13A.

(g) The polling official (trainee), then record his vote on postal ballot, fold it and then

(h) Drop it in a duly locked and sealed "drop box" pertaining to his AC. The drop box shall be kept under close supervision of concerned RO/ARO and ECI Observer.

Note: 1. The D.E.O / SP / SDM shall personally inspect the training venue cum postal ballot facilitation center in advance in order to ensure adequate security measures are in place. As the electors will be casting their vote at the training venue proper arrangements shall be ensured to restrict entry to the venue only to the appointed polling staff and other authorized government servants and no other person. When the voters mark the ballot with their preference the secrecy of ballot shall be enforced without compromise. If the authorized representatives of contesting candidates remain present at the facilitation center proper seating arrangement shall be made for them. The presence of such representatives shall be registered by obtaining their signature in a register. The entire process including the arrangements made for this purpose shall be recorded in video.

FINDINGS

Issues No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 16, 18 and 19

All these issues relate to same controversy regarding postal ballots, therefore, they are taken together for decision.

22. During the course of arguments, it has been argued by learned counsel for petitioner that because the identity of the voters was verified, therefore, there was no occasion to submit Form 13-A. It has also been submitted that there was no fault on the part of the voters, therefore, the candidate cannot suffer for the laches of election machinery in not issuing the Form 13-A. It has also been submitted that the District Election Officer (hereinafter referred to as 'DEO') had himself wrote a letter to the Election Commission and e-mail was also sent; upon which the Election Commission has issued direction that votes should be counted in accordance with law. If the procedure prescribed under the Act of 1951 as well as Rules of 1961 was not followed, then under the provisions of Section 58 of the Act of 1951, fresh polls regarding 955 postal ballots should have been conducted for which the Election Commission of India was duty bound. The 'DEO' has himself admitted in Ext.1 that Form 13-A was not issued and the Election Commission has clarified that 'DEO' will not evolve his own procedure. The margin of victory was only 156 votes, therefore, rejection of 955 postal ballots has materially affected the result. Therefore, the election of opposite party no.1 is liable to be set aside.

23. Respondent no.1 has drawn my attention towards the provisions of Section 84, 98 and 100 of the Act of 1951 and has submitted that the provision of Section 58 of the Act of 1951 are not applicable because no mandamus has been sought by the petitioner. It has also been submitted that there is no pleadings that Form 12 was not issued. Regarding the postal ballots, the procedure has been prescribed, which has to be followed strictly. Neither the counter foils nor the register has been brought before the Court, therefore, the said 955 votes cannot be counted. It has also been submitted that the identification and attestation are two different things and the rules required for attestation, which has not been followed. The rule also provides that postal ballots should be kept in envelop but they have not been kept in the envelop. In absence of Form 13-B and 13-C, the said 955 postal ballots cannot be counted because they were bogus or vague votes. Therefore, they have been rightly rejected by the Returning Officer. Lastly, he has submitted that the entries of Form 20 have not been challenged, therefore, the petition is liable to be dismissed.

24. Section 60 of the Act of 1951 provides special procedure for voting by certain classes of persons, which further provides that provision may be made by rules made under this Act. The Rules of 1961 have been enacted and Rule 19 provides that if a special voter who wishes to vote by post at an election, then he shall send an intimation in Form 12 to the Returning Officer. Rule 20 provides that a voter on election duty, who wishes to vote by post at an election, shall send an application in Form 12 to the Returning Officer. In both these rules the word 'shall' has been used. Therefore, the voter is duty bound to send the intimation in Form 12 to the Returning Officer. Although, the petitioner (PW-1) has shown his ignorance about the issuance of Form 12 as well as submission of Form 13-A by the concerned voter. Vinod Pandey (PW-3) who was the Election Agent for the petitioner has stated that he had raised objection regarding non-counting of postal ballots.

25. Certainly, the issuance of Form 12 and Form 13-A along with the envelop in Form 13-B and 13-C is the duty of the Returning Officer, which has been admitted by Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav (DW-2), who was the Returning Officer regarding the Election of 2012 for 249 Patti Assembly Constituency of District Pratapgarh. Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav (DW-2) has stated that taking into consideration the convenience of voters, postal ballots were issued on the date of training and no such voter had given any such application separately that he should be issued the postal ballot. He has further admitted that no declaration form was given to the voters. He has further admitted that 955 votes were declared invalid because they did not contain the Form 13-A. However, in the cross examination, he has given a different statement stating that postal ballots were to be issued to the voters who had deposited Form 12. He has further admitted in the cross examination that all the persons, to whom the postal ballots were issued, had given Form 13 but had not issued Form 13-A to any of the voter because it was not given in any other Constituency and it was decided that Form 13-A shall not be issued. He has further clarified it in the cross examination that because identification of the voters was done by the duty card and the voter identity card. Therefore, Form 13-A was not issued.

26. Certainly, the election machinery, which also includes the Returning Officer, are duty bound to follow procedure as mentioned in the Act of 1951 and Rules of 1961. The defence witness Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav has given both way statement regarding Form 12. In the examination in Chief, he has stated that no voter involved in the election duty had given any separate application for issuance of postal ballot, but in the cross examination he has admitted that whenever postal ballots were issued, the concerned persons had given the Form 12. His statement appears to be totally false in view of the information procured by the opposite party through R.T.I. The information procured on the RTI has been submitted by the supplementary affidavit filed under order VIII Rule 1-A read with Order XI Rule 15 CPC on 08.02.2016, which has been permitted by the Court.

27. A perusal of the letter No.70 dated 03.02.2016 issued by the Assistant District Election Officer of Pratapgarh shows that Form 12 was not given by any of the official who were on training of election duty. Any of 955 officials to whom the postal ballot was given, had not submitted the Form 12. This has further been clarified by letter no.77 dated 03.02.2016 stating clearly that no official, who were engaged in the election duty, was either given or required to filling Form 12. Certainly, the documentary evidence as will prevail over the oral evidence. By the documentary evidence, it is proved that Form 12 was not issued to any of the voters, who were given postal ballot. Therefore, the statement of Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav (DW-2) in the cross examination is absolutely false. On the other hand, he has admitted that Form 13-A was also not issued to any of the voters because it was not given in any other Constituency.

28. It is relevant to mention that Rule 19 and 20 of the Rules 1961 provides for letter of intimation to the Returning Officer by a person who wants to cast his vote in Form 12. However, Rule 23 (1) (a) of the Rules of 1961 provides the procedure for declaration by elector and his signatures have to be attested by the attesting officer. Form 13-A also contains certificate regarding some facts.

29. As mentioned above, requirement of submission of intimation to the Returning Officer in Form 12 is mandatory. Further, the requirement of Rule 23 (1) (a) of the Rules 1961 is also mandatory and the DEO or the Returning Officer have no option to evolve their own procedure. It is also not disputed that non-counting of 955 postal ballots was objected by the Election Agent of the petitioner. The hand-book for Returning Officer 2009 also provides the procedure and the instruction No.10.3 is absolutely clear in this regard and there is no ambiguity. The guidance 10.3 starts with mandatory clause that all polling officials should, without exception, be provided the Form 12 for applying for postal ballot paper along with their appointment letter. The language of the said Hand-Book is in accordance with the provisions of Act 1951 as well as the provisions of Rule 1961. The word "without exception" requires that the issuance of Form 12 and submission of Form 12 cannot be waived. In the same way, the guidelines of 10.3 further provides for attestation of Form 13-A. Although in the case of Ram Sukh vs. Dinesh Aggarwal; (2009) 10 SCC 541; Hon'ble the Apex Court in paragraph 23 has held as under:

"There is no quarrel with the proposition that the instructions contained in the Handbook for the Returning Officers are issued by the Election Commission in exercise of its statutory functions and are, therefore, binding on the Returning Officers. They are obliged to follow them in letter and spirit. But the question for consideration is whether the afore-extracted paragraphs of the election petition disclose material facts so as to constitute a complete cause of action. In other words, the question is whether the alleged omission on the part of the Returning Officer ipso facto "materially affected" the election result. It goes without saying that the averments in the said two paragraphs are to be read in conjunction with the preceding paragraphs in the election petition. What is stated in the preceding paragraphs, as can be noticed from grounds (i) and (ii) reproduced above, is that by the time specimen signature of the polling agent were circulated 80% of the polling was over and because of the absence of the polling agent the voters got confused and voted in favour of the first respondent. In our opinion, to say the least, the pleading is vague and does not spell out as to how the election results were materially affected because of these two factors. These facts fall short of being "material facts" as contemplated in Section 83(1)(a) of the Act to constitute a complete cause of action in relation to allegation under Section 100(1)(d)(iv) of the Act. It is not the case of the election petitioner that in the absence of his election agent there was some malpractice at the polling stations during the polling."

30. In accordance with the said decision also, the guidelines issued by the Election Commission have also statutory effect.

31. It is also relevant to mention that when the objection was raised by the election agent of the petitioner for not-counting the 955 postal ballots, the Deputy Election Officer, Pratapgarh had sent a letter No.1502-Nirvachan-2012 dated 23.02.2012 to O.S.D. of Chief Election Officer, Uttar Pradesh seeking some clarification regarding Form 12 and Form 13-A, who had send the letter No.678 (CRO-3) dated 01.05.2012 to the Principal Secretary of Election Commission of India for seeking instructions in this regard. M. Dev Raj, who was the District Election Officer at that time had also sent e-mail message dated 04.03.2012 at 11.41 PM seeking clarification in view of the aforesaid letters in which he has specifically stated that Form 13-A were not issued by the RO/ARO because separate registration of identification was maintained. He was also aware of the instructions of the Election Commission and has further stated that "if one were to go by the above mentioned instructions, then the said votes may have to be rejected for lack of Form 13-A, B and C". He had requested the Election Commission of India for further directions. The Election Commission of India had given the immediate response on 05.03.2012 and has issued a letter to the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., which is reproduced as under:

"Dated : 5th March 2015

To,

The Chief Electoral Officer, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow.

Sub: General Election to U.P. Legislative Assembly, 2012 - counting of postal ballot in ACs comprised in district Pratapgarh - regarding

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter number 678/CEO-3 dated 1st March 2012, received today, on the subject cited, read with e-mail dated 4th March 2012 of DM-cum-DEO, Pratapgarh to DEC(VZ) and to state that the Commission has noted with the surprise that the DEO Pratapgarh has mentioned that there is no instruction in the matter either in HB or ROs or in ECI's instruction dated 05th May 2011. He should be directed to read carefully Para 27 and 28 of our aforesaid instruction and also Para 14.3 of Chapter XIV of ROs Hand Book. The Commission cannot allow District Election Officers to devise their own systems and mechanism. It is clear that District Election Machinery of Pratapgarh has not followed the instructions of Election Commission and the Prescribed law in the matter of issuing postal ballot to poll personnel in the District and which is a serious matter.

The Commission would like to reiterate its earlier instructions that only and only such postal ballot papers, which have been issued and received back as per statutory requirements shall be counted tomorrow.

You may please reiterate these instructions to all the districts of the state and ensure that prescribed legal provisions and ECI instructions are strictly followed by all DEOs during the counting tomorrow. DEOs may be directed to bring this to be notice of all counting observers.

*Yours Faithfully
Sd/- HARBANS SINGH*

SECRETARY

Copy to : The DM-cum-CEO, Pratapgarh, Uttar Pradesh."

32. The Election Commission of India has specifically directed the Chief Electoral Officer, U.P. that Commission cannot allow the District Election Officer to device their own system and mechanism and it is clear that the district election machinery of Pratapgarh has not followed the instructions of Election Commission and the prescribed law in that manner of issuing postal ballots to poll personnel in the district and which is a serious matter. The directions in the Rules of 1961 as well as Hand Book for Returning Officers 2009 were clear, even then the Returning Officer of 249 Patti Consistency Pratapgarh had devised his own system and mechanism, which was at all not permitted under the Rules of 1961 as well as Hand Book of 2009.

33. In these circumstances, it was incumbent upon the authorities including the Election Commission of India to have acted in accordance with Section 58 of the Act 1951 because in view of the provisions of Section 58 (1) (b), there was error or irregularity in the procedure as is likely to vitiate the poll at a polling station. In view of the provisions of section 58(1) (a), it was the duty of the Election Commission to have appointed a day and fix the hours for taking a fresh poll at that polling station regarding postal ballots but unfortunately, it has not been done.

34. The grounds have been mentioned in section 100 of the Act of 1951 and Section 100(1)(d)(iv) provides that if the High Court is of opinion that by any non-compliance with the provisions of Constitution or of this Act or any rules or orders made under this act, even committed, then the election of the returned candidate shall be declared void.

35. In view of the above above discussion, it is clear that DEO or the Returning Officer have no option to evolve their own device. It is also proved beyond any doubt that the voters had not given any letter of intimation in Form 12. It is also proved that Form 13-A were neither provided to the voters nor they submitted the declaration, though, it was incumbent upon the DEO as well as Returning Officer to have provided the Form 12 to the Election Personnel who were involved in the duty to submit their letter of intimation to the Returning Officer.

Certainly, in absence of Form 12 and Form 13-A, their postal ballots cannot be treated to be a valid vote but at the same time, the lapses have been committed by the DEO and the concerned Returning Officer, which cannot be excused for any ground. Therefore, I am of the view that the result of the election, in so far as it relates to the returned candidate, has been materially affected on account of non-compliance of the provisions of the 1951 Act read with Rules of 1961 as well as Hand Book for Returning Officer 2009, issue no. 1 is accordingly decided in "affirmative".

36. Issuance of Form 12 and 13-A to the electors of election duty was mandatory requirement and the non-compliance of it, has resulted in material irregularity. Thus, the issue no.2 is accordingly decided in "affirmative".

37. Rejection of 955 postal ballot papers for want of Form 13-A cannot be said to be improper but the election result has been materially affected by non-issuance of Form 12 and Form 13-A. Thus, the issue no.3 is accordingly decided in "affirmative".

In view of the above discussion, issue no.4 is decided in "affirmative". Issue no. 5 is also decided accordingly in "affirmative" holding that the Election Commission of India was required to appoint a day and fix hours for taking fresh polls in view of the provisions of Section 58 (2) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

38. The issue no.7 is accordingly decided in "negative" holding that the provision of Rule 54-A of the Rules 1961 have not been followed by the Returning Officer.

39. Issue no.10 & 11 are accordingly, decided in "negative" holding that 955 postal ballot papers were not in order as per statutory requirement and statutory requirement of Form 12 and 13-A have not been followed.

Issue no. 16 is decided accordingly that because provisions of Rule 54-A have not been followed, therefore, the said votes cannot be counted.

Issue no. 18 is accordingly decided that 955 postal ballot papers were not in order as per the statutory requirement.

Issue no. 19 is decided in "negative" that the postal ballot papers have not been properly identified and the procedure has not been properly adopted.

40. Issue no.6:

This issue relates to the non-compliance of the provisions of Order VI Rule 2(3) of Code of Civil Procedure as well as mandatory provision of Section 83(1)(c) of the Act of 1951. In the present election petition, the provisions of Order VI Rule (2)(3) as well as provisions of Section 83(1) (c) have been followed. Therefore, the petition is not liable to be dismissed for non-compliance of the aforesaid provisions. The issue is accordingly decided in "negative".

41. Issue no. 8 and 9:

No arguments on this issue has been advanced by any of the parties and no evidence has been led on these points. Therefore, the issues are decided in "affirmative".

42. Issue no. 12:

This issue is regarding non-joinder of necessary party. The provision of Section 82 of the Act of 1951 are clear that a petitioner shall join as respondents to his petition or all the contesting candidates and any other candidate against whom allegations of corrupt practice are made. In the present petition, all the contesting candidates have been made parties. Therefore, the suit is not barred by any non-joinder of necessary party. The issue is decided in "negative".

43. Issue no.13:

No personal allegations have been made against the Chief Electoral Officer, therefore, in my opinion, the Chief Electoral Officer is not a necessary party. Issue is accordingly decided in "negative".

44. Issue no.14:

The petitioner has complied with the provisions of Section 83 of the Act of 1951 and the pleadings are proper. Therefore, this issue is accordingly decided.

45. Issue no.15:

It is not disputed that Sri Vinod Pandey was the election agent of the petitioner, who had raised objection before the Returning Officer for non-counting of 955 postal ballots. Therefore, the issue is accordingly decided in "positive".

46. Issue no.17:

From the aforesaid discussions, it is not disputed that counting started on 06.03.2012 at 8.00 AM and continued upto 3.30 PM. Certainly, the result has been declared by the Returning Officer in Form 21-C and the opposite party no.1 has been declared as duly elected returned candidate of 249 Patti Assembly Constituency of District Pratapgarh but as discussed above, the procedure regarding postal ballot papers have not been properly followed. The issue is decided accordingly.

47. Issue no.20:

This issue is the repetition of issue no.13. Therefore, the issue is decided in terms of decision of issue no.13.

48. Issue no.21:

It is not necessary that in every election petition, there has to be an allegation of corrupt practices. The allegation may be challenged on other grounds also as mentioned in 1951 Act. Therefore, by not making any allegation of corruption, the petition cannot be said to be not maintainable. Thus, the issue is accordingly decided in "negative".

49. Now the question arise as to which relief, if any, the petitioner is entitled. From the aforesaid discussion, it is clear that the rules regarding the postal ballot papers has not been followed, which is a mandatory requirement. It is also clear that the Returning Officer has evolved his own procedure to which the Election Commission of India has also objected.

50. Non-issuance of Form 12 and Form 13-A are such material irregularities, which have vitiated the election process. In view of the provisions of Section 58 of the Act 1951, when the matter was reported to the Election Commission of India, the Election Commission should have taken steps in view of the provisions of Section 58 of the Act 1951 for appointing a day and fixed time for fresh poll regarding 955 postal ballots but unfortunately, it has not been done.

51. Before parting with, I would like to record that the then Returning Officer, namely, Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav, who is presently reported to be posted as A.D.M. (Civil Supplies) Kanpur, who has also been examined as DW-2, has grossly violated the provisions of Rule 19, 20 and 23 (1)(a) of the Rules of 1961; as well as the Hand Book for Returning Officer 2009, which has statutory force and instead evolved his own procedure unknown to the Act and Rules. The Election Commission of India by letter dated 05.03.2012 has only shown his concern about this unknown procedure but has not further acted in accordance with the provisions of Section 58 of the 1951 Act. Due to non-compliance of the aforesaid Rules, the election process is vitiated resulting in unlawful enjoyment by the respondent no.1 being Member of Legislative Assembly of 249 Patti Constituency, District Pratapgarh.

52. The Statutory authorities are bound to act strictly in consonance with the Act, Rules and procedure prescribed therein for a particular purpose. Further, the State authorities are to act in a fair and transparent manner. Here, the authorities aforesaid, has acted in gross violation of the procedures laid down in the statute and invented his own procedure.

Needless to mention here that when the statute prescribed certain thing to be done in a particular manner, the same shall be done in that manner alone and not in any other manner.

53. I have also no hesitation to mention that during the proceedings of this election petition, the respondent no.1 adopted numberless delaying tactics by taking number of adjournments; by moving number of applications under various provisions of CPC; and by not cooperating for early disposal of this election petition. Even on 03.03.2016 the court was compelled to pass the following order:

"(Misc.Application No. Nil of 2016)

The application for adjournment has been moved by learned counsel for the respondent No.1, which has been strongly opposed by learned counsel for the petitioner on the ground that petition is pending since 2012 and the respondent No.1 is delaying the hearing of the said election petition.

Today, the date is fixed for further cross-examination of the petitioner and it has been clarified on previous dates also that delaying tactics may not be adopted. There are so many counsel engaged on behalf of the respondents, namely, Sri Ashok Kumar Tripathi, Sri Manoj Verma and others. Needless to say that the proceedings are also delayed by filing various applications one-by-one.

The application for adjournment is allowed subject to payment of Rs.10,000/- as cost to be deposited by the respondent No.1 in the Library Fund of Oudh Bar Association on or before the next date of listing.

It is further made clear that if hindrances are created in the disposal of this petition, then this Court shall be constrained to pass such orders, which may result to withhold the salary, the perquisite as well as the Vidhyak Nidhi and other facilities of respondent No.1 because the term of present election is likely to end in March, 2017.

List the case on 29.03.2016, at 2:00 p.m. for further cross-examination of PW-1."

54. From the discussion aforesaid, I am of the view that there has been non-compliance of the provisions of 1951 Act; Rules of 1961; as well as Hand Book for Returning Officer 2009. Therefore, in view of the provision of Section 100 (1)(d) (iv) read with provisions of Section 98 of the Act, the election of the returned candidate is liable to be declared as void.

As far as the second part of relief 'A' is concerned, the petitioner cannot be declared as duly elected Member of Legislative Assembly from 249 Patti Assembly Constituency, District Pratapgarh because I do not know that how many votes out of 955 rejected postal ballots, he has received.

Relief 'B' can also not be granted for the reason that the said 955 postal ballots were casted against the Rules of 1961, therefore, they cannot be counted.

ORDER

55. The petition is allowed with costs. The Election for Legislative Assembly of Uttar Pradesh 2012 of respondent no.1 as Member of Legislative Assembly from 249 Patti Constituency Assembly Pratapgarh, District Pratapgarh is declared as void.

As the election of respondent no.1 is being declared void, therefore, respondent no.1 must not be allowed any benefits of this election and also pension as Member of Legislative Assembly and all other such benefits, which are admissible to an Ex-Member of Legislative Assembly. It is clarified that this period shall confined to General Elections for Legislative Assembly of Uttar Pradesh 2012.

56. For non-compliance and violation of the procedure and Rules, strict action must be taken by the State Government against Sri Sharda Prasad Yadav, ADM (Civil Supplies) Kanpur (the then Returning Officer for 249 Patti Assembly Constituency, District Pratapgarh) and in future, he must not be assigned any important duties or posted on a significant post.

Let a copy of this order be sent immediately to the Election Commission of India; Principal Secretary, Vidhan Sabha, U.P. Legislative Assembly; Chief Secretary, Government of U.P.; Chief Electoral Officer, U.P., Lucknow; and District Magistrate Pratapgarh for necessary action and compliance.

Land Acquisition – First Appeal by State Against Marginal Enhancement of Compensation – Smallness of Amount Involved — Appeal filed in 1990 by the State against an order dated 31.5.1990 of the Reference Court marginally enhancing land acquisition compensation, the total disputed amount being merely Rs. 1,334.88 – Held: Where the amount involved in an appeal by the State is trivial and the cost of protracted litigation (spanning over two decades) manifestly exceeds the amount in dispute, continuation of such appeal amounts to compulsive and wasteful litigation contrary to the State's own declared litigation policy. [Paras 2, 3, 16 and 23]

State as a Litigant – National and State Litigation Policy – Duty to Act as a Model/Responsible Litigant — Court noted that acquisition of agricultural land, particularly of small farmers, affects their fundamental right to livelihood, and that filing of routine appeals over marginal enhancements imposes disproportionate cost on the public exchequer and on poor litigants – Reliance placed on Mahanadi Coal Fields Ltd. vs. Mathias Oram (2010) 11 SCC 269; Bhusawal Municipal Council vs. Nivrutti Ramchandra Phalak, 2014(2) AWC 1407 (SC); Dilbagh Rai Jerry vs. Union of India (1974) 3 SCC 554; Mundrika Prasad Singh vs. State of Bihar (1979) 4 SCC 701; Urban Improvement Trust, Bikaner vs. Mohan Lal (2010) 1 SCC 512; Gurgaon Gramin Bank vs. Khajani (2012) 8 SCC 781; and Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. vs. Atma Singh Grewal (2014) 13 SCC 666 – Held: The State/its instrumentalities are obliged to function as efficient and responsible litigants in terms of the National Litigation Policy, 2010 and the U.P. State Litigation Policy, 2011, and ought not to pursue appeals of trivial or marginal valuation merely because a technical right of appeal exists. [Paras 4 to 15 and 18]

Recovery of Costs from Erring Officers – Accountability — Held: Mere imposition of costs on the State exchequer has proved an insufficient deterrent to frivolous appeals since the officers sanctioning such appeals are not personally affected – Following Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. (supra), the Court reiterated that recovery of costs from officers responsible for palpably irrational and uncalled-for decisions to file appeals may be warranted in appropriate cases, while directing implementation of the State Litigation Policy, 2011 in letter and spirit. [Paras 15 and 18]

Directions to State Government – Mandamus in Appellate Jurisdiction — Held: Though ordinarily no mandamus can be issued while deciding an appeal, in larger public interest and looking to the prevailing situation, the High Court has jurisdiction to issue appropriate directions even in an appeal (relying on Smt. Abida Begam vs. R.C. & E. Officer, AIR 1959 All 675; Dr. Ravindra Kumar Goel vs. State of U.P., 2004(5) AWC 4707; U.P. Nursing Home Association vs. Rajesh Kumar Srivastava, 2004(2) UPLBEC 1404) – State Government directed to implement its Litigation Policy, discourage unnecessary appeals over marginal amounts, and fix accountability of officers sanctioning frivolous litigation. (Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.S. Srinet, learned standing counsel for the appellant.
2. This appeal was filed on 22.10.1990 challenging the judgment dated 31.05.1990 passed by the Court of 7th Additional District and Sessions Judge, Bulandshahr in L.A. Reference No.155 of 1987 marginally enhancing the compensation.
3. About twenty six years have passed since the date of filing this first appeal involving valuation of merely Rs.1334.88. This court is frequently coming across several first appeals where the disputed amount is less than Rs.1000/- or even less than Rs.500/-.
4. Acquisition of land of farmers by Government, particularly small farmers, in the process of development not only deprives them of their fundamental right to cultivate their agricultural land as part of their right to livelihood (which is the foundation for their sense of economic security, peace, prosperity and social status) but also creates a difficult situation for them by dragging them in luxury litigation without realising that poor farmers can not afford the exorbitant cost of litigation. Such litigations are also burden on public exchequer since cost of litigation for several years is much more than the valuation of appeal.
5. In the case of Mahanadi Coal Fields Ltd. & Anr Vs. Mathias Oram & Ors. 2010 (11) SCC 269 (paras 10 and 11) after quoting the remarks of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the chief architect of the Constitution of India, Hon'ble Supreme Court while considering a land acquisition matter, observed that it is very often the process of development that most starkly confirms the fears expressed by Dr. Ambedkar about our democracy. A blinkered vision of development, complete apathy towards those who are highly adversely affected by the development process and a cynical unconcern for the enforcement of the laws lead to a situation where the rights and benefits promised and guaranteed under the constitution hardly ever reach the most marginalized citizens. Even when laws relating to land acquisition and resettlement are implemented perfectly and comprehensively which happens rarely, uncomfortable questions remain. For people whose lives and livelihoods are intrinsically connected to the land, the economic and cultural shift to a market economy can be traumatic.

6. In the case of Bhusawal Municipal Council Vs Nivrutti Ramchandra Phalak and others, 2014(2) AWC 1407 (SC) (paras 16,17,18), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the plight of farmers affected by land acquisition and creation of compulsive situation to indulge in luxury litigation and held as under :

16. The judicial process of the court cannot subvert justice for the reason that the court exercises its jurisdiction only in furtherance of justice. The State/authority often drags poor uprooted claimants even for payment of a paltry amount upto this Court, wasting the public money in such luxury litigation without realising that poor citizens cannot afford the exorbitant costs of litigation and, unfortunately, no superior officer of the State is accountable for such unreasonable conduct. It would be apt to quote the well known words of Justice Brennan:

"Nothing rankles more in the human heart than a brooding sense of injustice. Illness we can put up with. But injustice makes us want to pull things down. When only the rich can enjoy the law, as a doubtful luxury, and the poor, who need it most, cannot have it because its expense puts it beyond their reach, the threat to the continued existence of free democracy is not imaginary but very real, because democracy's very life depends upon making the machinery of justice so effective that every citizen shall believe in and benefit by its impartiality and fairness."

17. The fundamental right of a farmer to cultivate his land is a part of right to livelihood "Agricultural land is the foundation for a sense of security and freedom from fear. Assured possession is a lasting source for peace and prosperity." India being predominantly an agricultural society, there is a "strong linkage between the land and the person's status in the social system." "A blinkered vision of development, complete apathy towards those who are highly adversely affected by the development process and a cynical unconcern for the enforcement of the laws lead to a situation where the rights and benefits promised and guaranteed under the Constitution hardly ever reach the most marginalised citizens. For people whose lives and livelihoods are intrinsically connected to the land. the economic and cultural shift to a market economy can be traumatic." (Vide: Mahanadi Coal Fields Ltd. & Anr. v. Mathias Oram & Ors., (2010) 11 SCC 269; and Narmada Bachao Andolan v. State of Madhya Pradesh & Anr., AIR 2011 SC 1989)

18. A farmer's life is a tale of continuous experimentation and struggle for existence. Mere words or a visual can never convey what it means to live a life as an Indian farmer. Unless one experiences their struggle, that headache he will never know how it feels. The risks faced by the farming community are many; they relate to natural calamities such as drought and floods; high fluctuation in the prices of input as well as output, over which he has no control whatsoever; a credit system which never extends a helping hand to the neediest; domination by middlemen who enjoy the fruits of a farmer's hard work; spurious inputs, and the recent phenomenon of labour shortages, which can be conveniently added to his tale of woes. Of late, there have been many cases of desperate farmers ending their lives in different parts of the country. The Principles of Economics provides for the producer of a commodity to determine his prices but an Indian farmer perhaps is the only exception to this principle of economics, for even getting a decent price for their produce is difficult for them. Economic growth through the 1990's had made India a more market- oriented economy, but had failed to benefit all Indians equally. The problems that plagued the farmers several decades ago are still glaringly present today; there is little credit available. What is available is very expensive. There is no advice on best practice in conducting agriculture operations. Income through farming is not enough to meet even the minimum needs of a farming family. Support systems like free health facilities from the government are virtually non-existent. The drama of millions leaving their homes in search of jobs, which are non existent of villages swiftly losing able-bodies of adults, leaving behind the old, hungry and vulnerable. Families break up as their members head in diverse directions.

7. Keeping in mind the afore-quoted observations of Hon'ble Supreme Court and the fact of routine filing of First Appeals by the State Government and its instrumentalities to challenge the judgment and decree passed by Reference Court, I proceed to discuss the facts and prevailing situation as well as the question "whether the State Government being an efficient and responsible litigant should file appeal against the judgment of Reference Court where the enhancement of compensation is marginal or valuation of the appeal is small?"

8. On marginal enhancement of compensation by Reference Court by few hundred or few thousand rupees, the State Government or its instrumentalities, in a routine manner; used to file first appeals before the High Court, compelling poor farmers/claimants to indulge in litigation for several decades. It appears that in doing so the State Government feels it wise enough to spend an amount much more than the valuation of the appeal, as cost of litigation which includes cost of huge time of officers and employee in obtaining permission to file appeal, travelling allowance and daily allowance of gazetted officer in contacting Government counsel for preparation of appeal, typing expenses, court fees, process fee, expenses in preparation of paper book, affidavits and applications and cost of time spent by Government Officers, employees and counsels in doing 'PAIRVI' of such appeals for fifteen, twenty or thirty years. Such an approach of the State Government in our sovereign Socialist Secular Democratic Republic, cannot be appreciated particularly in view of the National Litigation Policy, 2009 and the U.P. State Litigation Policy, 2011 whereby the State Government claims itself to be an efficient and responsible litigant with the declaration not to pursue cases like an ordinary litigant and not to resort to litigation for the sake of litigation. Objectives as mentioned in the policy includes expeditious disposal of cases, efforts to overcome the huge pendency of cases and mission to reduce average period of pendency of cases from 15 years to 3 years.

9. This Court takes judicial notice of a Government Order No.1647/11-2-13-9(208)/2013 dated 02.01.2014 issued by the State Government under Section 58A of the U.P. VAT Act (inserted by U.P. Act No.18 of 2013) taking decision not to file revision before the High Court where disputed tax or penalty is Rs.1,00,000/- or below. But in the matter of small farmers who have been deprived of their source of livelihood by way of compulsory acquisition of their small holdings, the State Government finds it appropriate to compel them to indulge in long litigation for twenty years or thirty years or more and to spend as cost of litigation an amount much more than the amount received by them as compensation. This prevailing situation becomes more alarming when the State Government has framed its 'State Litigation Policy -2011' but is acting in disregard of that policy.

10. Perusal of the aforesaid "State Litigation Policy" shows that it has been formulated with the purpose that the State Government should not involve in frivolous litigation, especially where the stakes are not high. The policy aimed to transform the government into an efficient and responsible litigant. The underlying purpose of the policy is to reduce the government litigation in Courts so that valuable court time is spent in resolving other pending issues to enable the average pendency of a case in a court reduced from 15 years to 3 years. The policy, therefore, provided that the government would identify bottlenecks and that appeals would not be filed where stakes are not high. The policy also formulated that all pending cases involving the government would be reviewed to filter frivolous and vexatious matters from the meritorious one. Cases so identified would be withdrawn, which would also include cases covered by previous decisions of Courts. Such withdrawal of the cases would be done in a time bound fashion. However, it appears that the State Government is not adhering to its own Policy.

11. In the case of Dilbagh Rai Jerry Vs. Union of India and others, (1974) 3 SCC 554, Hon'ble Krishna Iyer J. (concurring) considered that what should be the approach of Government in litigation and observed as under:

"The judgment just delivered has my full concurrence but I feel impelled to make a few observations not on the merits but on governmental disposition to litigation, the present case being symptomatic of a serious deficiency. In this country the State is the largest litigant to-day and the huge expenditure involved makes a big draft on the public exchequer. In the context of expanding dimensions of State activity and responsibility, is it unfair to expect finer sense and sensibility in its litigation policy, the absence of which, in the present case, has led the Railway callously and cantankerously to resist an action by its own employee, a small man, by urging a mere technical plea which has been pursued right up to the summit court here and has been negatived in the judgment just pronounced. Instances of this type are legion as is evidenced by the fact that the Law Commission of India in a recent report on amendments to the Civil Procedure Code has suggested the deletion of Section 80, finding that wholesome provision hardly ever utilised by Government, and has gone further to provide a special procedure for government litigation to highlight the need for an activist policy of just settlement of claims where the State is a party. It is not right for a welfare' State like ours to be Janus-faced, and while formulating the humanist project of legal aid to the poor, contest the claims of poor employees under it pleading limitation and the like. That the tendency is chronic flows from certain observations I had made in a Kerala High Court decision which I may usefully excerpt here "The State, under our Constitution, undertakes economic activities in a vast and widening public sector and inevitably gets involved in disputes with private individuals. But it must be remembered that the State is no ordinary party trying to win a case against one of its own citizens by hook or by crook; for the State's interest is to meet honest claims, vindicate a substantial defence and never to score a technical point or overreach a weaker party to avoid a just liability or secure an unfair advantage, simply because legal devices provide such an opportunity. The State is a virtuous litigant and looks with unconcern on immoral forensic successes so that if on the merits the case is weak, government shows a willingness to settle the dispute regardless of prestige and other lesser motivations which move, private parties to fight in court. The lay-out on litigation costs and executive time by the State and its agencies is so staggering these days because of the large amount of litigation in which it is involved that a positive and wholesome policy of cutting back on the volume of law suits by the twin methods of not being tempted into forensic show-downs where a reasonable adjustment is feasible and ever offering to extinguish a pending proceeding on just terms, giving the legal mentors of government some initiative and authority in this behalf. I am not indulging in any judicial homily but only echoing the dynamic national policy on State litigation evolved at a Conference of Law Ministers of India way back in 1957. This second appeal strikes me as an instance of disregard of that policy."

12. In the case of Mundrika Prasad Singh Vs. State of Bihar, (1979) 4 SCC 701 (para-5, 6, 7), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"5. The State of Bihar, like many other States in the country, has an enormous volume of litigation. Government litigation policy is vital for any State if resources are to be husbanded to reduce rather than increase its involvement in court proceedings. It is lamentable that despite a national litigation policy for the States having been evolved at an all-India Law Ministers' Conference way back in 1957 and despite the recommendations of the Central Law Commission to promote settlement of disputes where Government is a party what we find in actual practice is a proliferation of government cases in courts uninformed by any such policy. Indeed, in this country where government litigation constitutes a sizeable bulk of the total volume, it is important that the State should be a model litigant with accent on settlement. The Central Law Commission, recalling a Kerala decision, emphasised this aspect in 1973 and went to the extent of recommending a new provision to be read as Order 27 Rule 5B. The Commission observed:

27.9. We are of the view that there should be some provision emphasising the need for positive efforts at settlement, in suits to which the Government is a party.

27.10. With the above end in view, we recommend the insertion of the following rule :-

5-B(1) In every suit or proceeding to which the Government is a party or a public officer acting in his official capacity is a party, it shall be the duty of the Court in the first instance, in every case where it is possible to do so consistently with the nature of the circumstances of the case, to make every endeavour to assist the parties in arriving at a settlement in respect of the subject-matter of the suit.

(2) If, in any such suit or proceeding, at any stage it appears to the court that there is a reasonable possibility of a settlement between the parties, the court may adjourn the proceeding for such period as it thinks fit, to enable attempts to be made to effect such a settlement.

(3) The power conferred by Sub-rule (2) is in addition to any other power of the court to adjourn the proceedings.

6. The relevance of these wider observations is that avoidable litigation holds out money by way of fees and more fees if they are contested cases and this lures a lawyer, like any other homo economicus, to calculate income on a speculative basis, as this Government Pleader has done in hoping for a lakh of rupees.

7. We have been taken through the Bihar Government's rubs for fees of Government Pleaders in subordinate courts. Rule 115 appetises and is unrelated to the quantum or quality of work involved nor the time spent. Ad valorem calculation in fixing fees for land acquisition cases has a tendency to promote unearned income for lawyers. The petitioner here has presumably fallen victim to this proclivity. The time has come for State Governments to have a second economic look not only at litigation policy but lawyer's fees rules (like Rule 115 in the Bihar instance) especially in mass litigation involving ad valorem enormity and mechanical professionalism. Even a ceiling on income from public sector sources may be a healthy contribution to toning up the moral level of the professional system. After all, the cost of justice is the ultimate measure of the rule of law for a groaning people. Government and other public sector undertakings should not pamper and thereby inflate the system of costs. May be, this petition would not have been filed had the prospect of income without effort not been offered by Government Rules."

13. In the case of Urban Improvement Trust, Bikaner Vs. Mohan Lal, (2010) 1 SCC 512 (paras-10,11, 12), Hon'ble Supreme Court took notice of unwarranted litigation by Governments and State authorities and held as under:

"10. Unwarranted litigation by governments and statutory authorities basically stem from the two general baseless assumptions by their officers. They are:

(i) All claims against the government/statutory authorities should be viewed as illegal and should be resisted and fought up to the highest court of the land.

(ii) If taking a decision on an issue could be avoided, then it is prudent not to decide the issue and let the aggrieved party approach the Court and secure a decision.

The reluctance to take decisions, or tendency to challenge all orders against them, is not the policy of the governments or statutory authorities, but is attributable to some officers who are responsible for taking decisions and/or officers in charge of litigation. Their reluctance arises from an instinctive tendency to protect themselves against any future accusations of wrong decision making, or worse, of improper motives for any decision making. Unless their insecurity and fear is addressed, officers will continue to pass on the responsibility of decision-making to courts and Tribunals.

11. The Central Government is now attempting to deal with this issue by formulating realistic and practical norms for defending cases filed against the government and for filing appeals and revisions against adverse decisions, thereby, eliminating unnecessary litigation. But, it is not sufficient if the Central Government alone undertakes such an exercise. The State Governments and the statutory authorities, who have more litigations than the Central Government, should also make genuine efforts to eliminate unnecessary litigation. Vexatious and unnecessary litigations have been clogging the wheels of justice, for too long making it difficult for courts and Tribunals to provide easy and speedy access to justice to bona fide and needy litigants.

12. In this case, what is granted by the State Commission is the minimum relief in the facts and circumstances, that is to direct allotment of an alternative plot with a nominal compensation of Rs. 5000/- But instead of remedying the wrong, by complying with the decision of the Consumer fora, the Improvement Trust is trying to brazen out its illegal act by contending that the allottee should have been protested when it illegally laid the road in his plot. It has persisted with its unreasonable and unjust stand by indulging in unnecessary litigation by approaching the National Commission and then this Court. The Trust should sensitise its officers to serve the public rather than justify their dictatorial acts. It should avoid such an unnecessary litigation."

14. In the case of Gurgaon Gramin Bank Vs. Khajani, (2012) 8 SCC 781 (para-2), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the approach of Government to litigate in small and trivial matters and held as under:

"2. Number of litigations in our country is on the rise, for small and trivial matters, people and sometimes Central and State Governments and their instrumentalities Banks, nationalized or private, come to courts may be due to ego clash or to save the Officers' skin.

Judicial system is over-burdened, naturally causes delay in adjudication of disputes. Mediation centers opened in various parts of our country have, to some extent, eased the burden of the courts but we are still in the tunnel and the light is far away. On more than one occasion, this Court has reminded the Central Government, State Governments and other instrumentalities as well as to the various banking institutions to take earnest efforts to resolve the disputes at their end. At times, some give and take attitude should be adopted or both will sink. Unless, serious questions of law of general importance arise for consideration or a question which affects a large number of persons or the stakes are very high, courts' jurisdiction cannot be invoked for resolution of small and trivial matters. We are really disturbed by the manner in which those types of matters are being brought to courts even at the level of Supreme Court of India and this case falls in that category."

15. In the case of Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. Vs. Atma Singh Grewal, (2014) 13 SCC 666 (paras 8 to 14), Hon'ble Supreme Court noted the fact that courts are burdened with unnecessary litigation primarily for the reason that the Government or P.S.U.s., etc. decide to file appeals even when there is absolutely no merit therein. Hon'ble Supreme Court further observed as under:

"8. It is not the first time that the Court had to express its anguish. We would like to observe that the mind set of the Government agencies/undertakings in filing unnecessarily appeals was taken note of by the Law Commission of India way back in 1973, in its 54th report. Taking cognizance of the aforesaid report of the Law Commission as well as National Litigation Policy for the States which was evolved at an All India Law Ministers Conference in the year 1972, this Court had to emphasize that there should not be unnecessary litigation or appeals. It was so done in the case of Mundrika Prasad Singh v. State of Bihar, 1979 (4) SCC 701. We would also like to reproduce the following words of wisdom expressed by Justice V.R. Krishna Iyer, who spoke for the Bench, in Dilbagh Rai Jarry v. Union of India and Ors. 1974 (3) SCC 554:(SCC p.562, para 25).

But it must be remembered that the State is no ordinary party trying to win a case against one of its own citizens by hook or by crook; for the State's interest is to meet honest claims, vindicate a substantial defence and never to score a technical point or overreach a weaker party to avoid a just liability or secure an unfair advantage, simply because legal devices provide such an opportunity. The State is a virtuous litigant and looks with unconcern on immoral forensic successes so that if on the merits the case is weak, government shows a willingness to settle the dispute regardless of prestige and other lesser motivations which move private parties to fight in court. The lay out on litigation costs and executive time by the State and its agencies is so staggering these days because of the large amount of litigation in which it is involved that a positive and wholesome policy of cutting back on the volume of law suits by the twin methods of not being tempted into forensic show downs where a reasonable adjustment is feasible and ever offering to extinguish a pending proceeding on just terms, giving the legal mentors of government some initiative and authority in this behalf.

9. In its 126th Report (1988), the Law Commission of India adversely commented upon the reckless manner in which appeals are filed routinely. We quote hereunder the relevant passage therefrom:

"2.5. The litigation is thus sometimes engendered by failing to perform duty as if discharging a trust. Power inheres a kind of trust. The State enjoys the power to deal with public property. That power has to be discharged like a trust keeping in view the interests of the cesti que trust. Failure on this front has been more often commented upon by the court which, if it was taken in the spirit in which it was made, would have long back energised the Government and the public sector to draw up its litigation policy. When entirely frivolous litigation reaches the doorsteps of the Supreme Court, one feels exasperated by the inaction and the policy of do nothingness evidenced by blindly following litigation from court to court. Dismissing a Special Leave Petition by the State of Punjab, the Court observed that the deserved defeat of the State in the courts below demonstrates the gross indifference of the administration towards litigative diligence. The court then suggested effective remedial measures. It may be extracted: (SCC p.69, para 4)

'4. We [would] like to emphasize that Government must be made accountable by parliamentary Social audit for wasteful litigative expenditure inflicted on the community by inaction. A statutory notice of the proposed action under Section 80 CPC is intended to alert the state to negotiate a just settlement or at least have the courtesy to tell the potential outsider why the claim is being resisted. Now Section 80 has become a ritual because the administration is often unresponsive and hardly lives up to parliament's expectation in continuing Section 80 in the Code despite the Central Law Commission's recommendations for its deletion. An opportunity for setting the dispute through arbitration was thrown away by sheer inaction. A litigative policy for the State involves settlement of governmental disputes with citizens in a sense of conciliation rather than in a fighting mood. Indeed, it should be a directive on the part of the State to empower its law officer to take steps to compose disputes rather than continue them in court. We are constrained to make these observations because much of the litigation in which governments are involved adds to the case load accumulation in courts for which there is public criticism. We hope that a more responsive spirit will be brought to bear upon governmental litigation so as to avoid waste of public money and promote expeditious work in courts of cases which deserve to be attended to.

Nearly a decade has passed since the observations but not a leaf has turned, not a step has been taken, and the Law Commission is asked to deal with the problem!

2.6. A little care, a touch of humanism, a dossier of constitutional philosophy and awareness of futility of public litigation would considerably improve the situation which today is distressing. More often it is found that utterly unsustainable contentions are taken on behalf of Government and public sector undertakings.

10. Even when Courts have, time and again, lamented about the frivolous appeals filed by the Government authorities, it has no effect on the bureaucratic psyche. It is not that there is no realisation at the level of policy makers to curtail unwanted Government litigation and there are deliberations in this behalf from time to time. Few years ago only, the Central Government formulated National Litigation Policy, 2010 with the "vision/mission" to transform the Government into an efficient and responsible litigant. This policy formulated by the Central Government is based on the recognition that it was its primary responsibility to protect the rights of citizens, and to respect their fundamental rights and in the process it should become "responsible litigant". The policy even defines the expression 'responsible litigant' as under:

"Responsible litigant" means-

- (i) That litigation will not be resorted to for the sake of litigating.*
- (ii) That false pleas and technical points will not be taken and shall be discouraged.*
- (iii) Ensuring that the correct facts and all relevant documents will be placed before the Court.*
- (iv) That nothing will be suppressed from the Court and there will not attempt to mislead any court or tribunal.*

2. That Government must cease to be a compulsive litigant. The philosophy that matters should be left to the courts for ultimate decision has to be discarded. The easy approach, "Let the Court decide", must be eschewed and condemned.

3. The purpose underlying this policy is also to reduce government litigation in courts so that valuable court time would be spent in resolving other pending cases so as to achieve the goal in the national legal mission to reduce average pendency time from 15 years to 3 years. Litigators on behalf of the Government have to keep in mind the principles incorporated in the national mission for judicial reforms which includes identifying bottlenecks which the Government and its agencies may be concerned with and also removing unnecessary government cases.

Prioritisation in litigation has to be achieved with particular emphasis on welfare legislation, social reform, weaker sections and senior citizens and other categories requiring assistance must be given utmost priority."

11. This policy recognises the fact that its success will depend upon its strict implementation. Pertinently there is even a provision of accountability on the part of the officers who have to take requisite steps in this behalf. The policy also contains the provision for filing of appeals indicating as to under what circumstances appeal should be filed. In so far as service matters are concerned, this provision lays down that further proceedings will not be filed in service matters merely because the order of the Administrative Tribunal affects a number of employees. Also, appeals will not be filed to espouse the cause of one section of employees against another.

12. The aforesaid litigation policy was seen as a silver lining to curb unnecessary and uncalled for litigation by this Court in the matter of Urban Improvement Trust, Bikaner v. Mohan Lal 2010 (1) SCC 512 in the following manner:(SCC p. 516, para 11)

"11. The Central Government is now attempting to deal with this issue by formulating realistic and practical norms for defending cases filed against the Government and for filing appeals and revisions against adverse decisions, thereby eliminating unnecessary litigation. But it is not sufficient if the Central Government alone undertakes such an exercise. The State Governments and the statutory authorities, who have more litigations than the Central Government, should also make genuine efforts to eliminate unnecessary litigations. Vexatious and unnecessary litigations have been clogging the wheels of justice for too long, making it difficult for courts and tribunals to provide easy and speedy access to justice to bona fide and needy litigants."

13. Alas, inspite of the Government's own policy and reprimand from this Court, on numerous occasions, there is no significant positive effect on various Government officials who continue to take decision to file frivolous and vexatious appeals. It imposes unnecessary burden on the Courts. The opposite party which has succeeded in the Court below is also made to incur avoidable expenditure. Further, it causes delay in allowing the successful litigant to reap the fruits of the judgment rendered by the Court below.

14. No doubt, when a case is decided in favour of a party, the Court can award cost as well in his favour. It is stressed by this Court that such cost should be in real and compensatory terms and not merely symbolic. There can be exemplary costs as well when the appeal is completely devoid of any merit. [See Rameshwari Devi v. Nirmala Devi (2011) 8 SCC 249]. However, the moot question is as to whether imposition of costs alone will prove deterrent? We do not think so. We are of the firm opinion that imposition of cost on the State/PSU's alone is not going to make much difference as the officers taking such irresponsible decisions to file appeals are not personally affected because of the reason that cost, if imposed, comes from the government's coffers. Time has, therefore, come to take next step viz. recovery of cost from such officers who take such frivolous decisions of filing appeals, even after knowing well that these are totally vexatious and uncalled for appeals. We clarify that such an order of recovery of cost from the officer concerned be passed only in those cases where appeal is found to be ex-facie frivolous and the decision to file the appeal is also found to be palpably irrational and uncalled for."

16. It is relevant to mention that earlier also this Court considered the issue of dismissal of appeal on the ground of smallness of the amount involved in the appeal and dismissed the appeal by order dated 22.11.2012 passed in First Appeal Defective No.761 of 1991 (State of U.P. through Collector Vs. Fateh Singh) observing as under:

"No useful purpose is going to be served by again directing the appellant to take steps to serve the respondents in view of the fact that only a small amount of Rs.9,288/- is involved in the appeal. Looking to the smallness of the amount involved in the appeal and the time already spent it would be travesty of justice by calling the respondents to come and contest the appeal itself on merits. The learned standing counsel could not state as to what happened in other similar matters."

17. Learned standing counsel could not show that the aforequoted judgment and order has been either set aside or modified by any higher Court. It appears that the said judgment has been accepted by the State Government.

18. Above noted judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court and the prevailing situation as afore-noted clearly indicates that today State is the largest litigant. It appears to be acting as an ordinary litigant in contrast to a model litigant. It incurs huge public money on litigation which could have been avoided to a great extent if the State Government would have adhered to the National Litigation Policy 1957, National Litigation Policy 1972, its own litigation policy 2011 and directions/observations made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dilbagh Rai Jerry (supra), Mundrika Prasad Singh (supra), Urban Improvement Trust (supra), Gurgaon Gramin Bank (supra) and Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd. (supra). The Government must be made accountable for such wasteful litigative expenditure inflicted on the community by inaction. The State Litigation Policy emphasising the State Government to be an efficient and responsible litigant is based on the recognition of principles that its primary responsibility is to protect the rights of citizens, and to respect their fundamental rights. Therefore, State Government must take decisions to avoid unwarranted litigation which mainly flows on account of baseless assumptions of its officers that all claims against the Government/Statutory authorities should be viewed as illegal and should be resisted and fought up to the highest court. The reluctance to take decisions, and increasing tendency to challenge every order does not seem to be policy of the State Government in view of the litigation policy 2011 and, therefore such practice needs to be stopped. The state Government should make genuine efforts to eliminate unnecessary litigation which clogs the wheels of justice making it difficult for courts to provide easy and speedy access to justice to bona fide and needy litigants. Because of prevailing situation of litigation by Governments, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd.(supra) observed that time has, therefore, come to take next step viz. recovery of cost from such officers who take such frivolous decisions of filing appeals, even after knowing well that these are totally vexatious and uncalled for appeals.

19. This Court is conscious of the fact that ordinarily no mandamus can be issued in appeal but in the larger public interest and looking into the prevailing situations as afore-noted, this Court deems it fit to issue certain directions to the State Government. In the case of Smt. Abida Begam Vs. R.C. & E. Officer AIR 1959 (ALLD) 675 (Para 27), a Division Bench of this Court has considered the question of issuing mandamus in appeal and held as under :

"27. It may not be possible for us to grant a decree in the suit, but, in spite of that fact, we think that this Court has a jurisdiction under Art, 226 of the Constitution to grant the relief as against the defendant No. 1, even though this matter had not come in its writ jurisdiction on an application under Article 226. This we think necessary because if in the office of the Rent Control Officer the allotment order continues in favour of Ram Khelawan and Ram Khelawan is restrained from taking possession, there is likely to be a conflict and it may be difficult for the Rent Control Officer to have any further allotment order."

20. In Dr. Ravindra Kumar Goel Vs. State of U.P. 2004(5) AWC 4707 (para 19,22,23,26,29,30) another Division Bench followed the law laid down in the case of Smt. Abida Begam(supra) and held that in exceptional cases a Judge sitting in a particular jurisdiction can issue a directive relating to another jurisdiction so as to do justice or if there is pressing urgency or alarming situation. It was further held that extra ordinary situation requires extra ordinary remedies.

21. Aforesaid two decisions were further followed by a Division Bench in the case of U.P. Nursing Home Association and others Vs. Rajesh Kumar Srivastava and others 2004(2) UPLBEC 1404.

22. In view of the above discussion, this court feels that it is now high time that the State Government should be directed and is hereby directed to implement forthwith in true sense its State Litigation Policy, keeping in view the observations/directions of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgments afore-noted, discourage unnecessary litigation, act as an efficient and responsible litigant and fix accountability of officers filing frivolous cases.

23. In view of the aforesaid, this appeal is dismissed on account of small disputed amount involved in the appeal. It is clarified that dismissal of this appeal on the ground of smallness of disputed amount shall not come in the way of the State Government to contest appeals of high valuation, if any, relating to the same acquisition and of the same area or where pure question of law is involved in the appeal.

24. Let a copy of this judgment be sent by the Registrar General of this Court to the Chief Secretary, Government of U.P. and Principal Secretary (Law), Government of U.P. for compliance.

Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.- 65648 Of 2015

Neeraj ...Petitioner
Versus
Union Of India & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:

Avinash Chandra Srivastava, Anay Kumar Srivastava

Counsel for Respondents:

G.A., A.S.G.I., J.K. Mishra, Jitendra Prasad Mishra

Preventive Detention — National Security Act, 1980 — Section 3 — Detention Order on Ground of Public Order/Security of State — Petitioner arrested with counterfeit currency of Rs. 2,94,000/- along with two associates and chargesheeted under Sections 489B/489C IPC — Earlier also involved in similar Crime No. 592 of 2012 concerning circulation of counterfeit currency worth Rs. 20,50,000/- — Detaining authority apprehending release on bail and continuation of activities of transportation and supply of counterfeit currency — Held: Circulation of counterfeit currency has a deleterious effect on national economy and constitutes a serious threat to security of the State and public order — Involvement in two similar offences within three years justified subjective satisfaction of District Magistrate — Detention not illegal merely because grounded on prevention of prejudicial activity to public order/security of State. (Paras 10 & 16)

Preventive Detention — Mutual Exclusivity of Grounds — Subjective Satisfaction — Judicial Review — Contention that grounds under Section 3 NSA (security of State, public order, essential supplies) are mutually exclusive and detaining authority must specify precise ground — Held: Facts of cases relied upon by petitioner (Rajesh Gulati, Fazal Ghosi, Pebam Ningol Mikoi Devi) were of a different nature from present case — Subjective satisfaction of detaining authority, though not open to appellate scrutiny, must be based on pertinent material — Court's role limited to examining whether detaining authority stretched its jurisdiction illegitimately, and not to reassess probative value of material. (Paras 12, 13 & 15)

Preventive Detention — Procedural Safeguards — Right to Make Representation — Supply of Documents — Contention that petitioner was not supplied copy of report of Station House Officer — Report and all relevant papers were supplied to petitioner through Jail Superintendent on the same day as the detention order — Representation was duly processed and forwarded to State and Central Government — Petitioner also afforded hearing before Advisory Board — No violation of petitioner's fundamental right to make representation. (Para 17)

Writ Petition dismissed.

5. Ahmad Nassar vs. State of Tamil Nadu AIR 1999 SC 3897

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamsher Bahadur Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Avinash Chandra Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Jitendra Prasad Mishra, learned counsel for the Union of India and Sri Vikas Sahai, learned AGA for the State and perused the materiel available on record.

2. This Habeas Corpus Writ Petition has been filed by the petitioner with a prayer to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Habeas Corpus commanding the respondents to set at liberty forthwith, the petitioner-Neeraj, who is detained in District Jail, Gautambudh Nagar, as per order dated 28.08.2015 passed by the District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar (respondent no.3) in exercise of power under Section 3 of the National Security Act, 1980 (hereinafter referred to as the 'NSA') and also to quash the above order.

3. Facts giving rise to the present petition are that the petitioner-Neeraj was arrested by the police of P.S.-Ecotec-III, Gautambudh Nagar along with his two associates namely Raju @ Abid and Ajay Singh while going on a motorcycle and scooty on 16.07.2015 and counterfeit currency of Rs. 2,94,000/- in total were recovered from their possession. All the three accused persons belongs to District Mainpuri, U.P., Katihar, Bihar and Farrukhabad, U.P. respectively but at the time of arrest petitioner-Neeraj and co-accused Ajay Singh were residing at Sector 5, Gurgaon in front of S.B.R. School and Raju @ Abid was found residing at Sector 49, NOIDA. The police registered a case at Crime No. 240 of 2015, under Section 489B/489C IPC. The investigation was in progress on the date of detention order dated 28.08.2015.

4. The background of the impugned order is that the Station House Officer, P.S.-Ecotec-III, Gautambudh Nagar submitted a report to the Superintendent of Police, Gautambudh Nagar through proper channel on 19.08.2015 stating therein that the petitioner is trying to bail out himself through his relatives. Hearing of bail application has been fixed on 31.08.2015 and there is every possibility of his release. The activities of accused Neeraj in possessing counterfeit currency and its supply in the area National Capital Region will be a threat to the security of the State and maintenance of public order. The Circle Officer, Greater NOIDA- 3, Gautambudh Nagar forwarded above report on 20.08.2015 to Senior Superintendent of Police through S.P. (Rural), Gautambudh Nagar.

5. The District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar took cognizance of the matter and on satisfaction that the activities of the petitioner would grossly affect the security of State and maintenance of the public order as there will be every possibility of petitioner being engaged in activities of transportation and supply of counterfeit currency in the area after released on bail, passed the detention order of the petitioner on 28.08.2015, which was subsequently confirmed by the State Government by order dated 16.10.2015.

6. With this backdrop, the learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the impugned order is not sustainable in the eye of law as no such incident took place, wherein the petitioner's involvement was found prejudicial to the security to the State or maintenance of the public order or maintenance of supply and services essential to the community.

7. Now, we are come to the moot controversy raised by learned counsel for the petitioner with reference to the provision of Section 3 of NSA. It is pointed out that under the said provision, an order with respect to any person for detention may be passed with a view to preventing him from acting, in any manner, prejudicial;

(i) to the Security of the State;

(ii) to the maintenance of the public order;

(iii) to the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that above three categories are mutually exclusive and detaining authority has to be satisfied on the fact as to under which of three grounds mentioned above, a person is required to be detained. He further submits that petitioner has been falsely implicated in Crime No.240 of 2015, under Section 489B and 489C IPC by Police Ecotec-III, Gautambudh Nagar and nothing was recovered from his possession. He further pointed out that in the year 2012 on the basis of statement of co-accused, petitioner's name surfaced in Crime No. 592 of 2012, under Sections 489B and 489C IPC, P.S. Soorajpur, District Gautambudh Nagar, wherein petitioner was released on bail. In above case also petitioner was falsely implicated.

9. From the perusal of the records, it transpires that in Case Crime No. 592 of 2012 against 11 accused persons, the first information report was registered and on tips of informant that some persons are involved in transportation and supply of counterfeit currency from Malda, West Bengal to National Capital Region, a Special Task Force Team conducted arrest and an Innova Car without papers and Rs.20,50,000/- counterfeit currency were recovered from the possession of 6 accused persons who were arrested on the spot. During investigation, the name of petitioner surfaced in conspiracy and commission of offence and Investigating Officer submitted chargesheet against petitioner, his real brother Sonu and his mother Smt. Kamla Aunty along with others. Accused named in the first information report were also chargesheeted and trial is pending. Whether the petitioner has been falsely implicated in both cases is matter to be considered and decided during the trial after following due procedure of law. Till date of detention order, there was no finding in favour of accused. Trial in both cases is pending.

10. Economic de-establishing is deadly poison for health and existence of a developing country. Certainly, economic disorder, in contradiction to the criminal activities backed by use of force, results in serious prejudice to 'public order'. Therefore, the detention will not be illegal merely because order of the detention is passed only to prevent the detenu from acting prejudicially to the maintenance of 'public order' or the security of State.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that in Case Crime No.592 of 2012, the petitioner was granted bail 21.04.2014 and the report of Station House Officer of Police Station-Ecotec-III, Gautambudh Nagar dated 19.08.2015 endorsed by Circle Officer, Superintendent of Police (Rural) and Senior Superintendent of Police, Gautambudh Nagar is just a malafide exercise to detain the petitioner under 'NSA'. There was no such material before the District Magistrate to accord his subjective satisfaction. The report submitted by Station House Officer and endorsed by Superior Officer does not disclose any activities relating to supply of counterfeit currency to some others till imposition of detention order. The investigating Officer has not recorded the statement of any witnesses to whom counterfeit currency have been supplied or handed by the petitioner.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the cases of Rajesh Gulati vs. Govt. of N.C.T. Of Delhi and another passed in Appeal (Criminal) No. 866 of 2002 dated 29.08.2002, Fazal Ghosi, Wahid, Ayaz Ahmad and Riaz Ahmad vs. State of U.P. and others passed in Appeal (Cri.) Nos. 301 and 302 of 1986 on 29.06.1987 and Smt. Pebam Ningol Mikoi Devi vs. state of Manipur and others passed in Appeal (Cri.) No. 1849 of 2010 decided on 14.09.2010, wherein it has been held by Hon'ble Apex Court that power of detention under the NSA can be exercised only with a view to preventing a person from acting in a manner which may be prejudicial any of the considerations set forth in Section 3 of NSA and thereby, preventive detention is not intended as a punitive measure, as a curtailment of liberty by way of punishment for an offence already committed and punishable under Common Criminal Law of Nation or State. No doubt the satisfaction of the District Magistrate making the detention order is subjective in nature, but, even subjective satisfaction, must be based upon some pertinent material.

13. In the light of above law as propounded by Hon'ble Apex Court now the case of present petitioner has to be seen and assessed. The nature of offences in aforesaid three decisions were altogether different from the nature of offences against the petitioner under common criminal law.

14. On behalf of respondent no.3, a counter affidavit dated 29.01.2016 sworn by Sri N.P. Singh, District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar is on record. From perusal of the aforesaid counter affidavit, it transpires that police thoroughly investigated the case of Crime no. 240 of 2015 and chargesheet has already been submitted. The District Magistrate further stated that detention order dated 28.08.2015 was approved by the State Government. On 07.09.2015 an undated representation of petitioner was forwarded to the State Government which was duly considered. The petitioner also appeared before the Advisory Board (Detention), Lucknow on 30.09.2015 and full opportunity of hearing was provided by the Board. The detention order dated 28.08.2015 was confirmed by the State Government on 16.10.2015 for a period of 12 months and all orders pertaining to detention passed by the District Magistrate himself as well as Advisory Board and State Government were communicated to the petitioner through Jail Superintendent, Gautambudh Nagar almost on the same day.

15. It is true that the personal liberty is more cherished than all other freedoms taken together. Detention without trial is a serious matter and the order of detention must be justified by the detaining authority, whenever human liberty is in peril and justice is threatened, the citizen should receive the fullest protection from the Court within the four corners of Article 21 of the Constitution benignantly stretched and all the safeguards of the NSA liberally interpreted, of course, within the legitimate limit. This is one aspect of the matter when we view the rights of individual who is in our focus. The liberties and the privileges which an individual enjoys are, however, subject to the larger interest of the society. Though the liberty of an individual under our Constitution is very sacrosanct and authorities concerned have a constitutional duty to respect the same, the concept of individual liberty should not be so stretched to such unreasonable extent to force the detaining authority to sacrifice the National Interest or the 'public order'. If the detaining authority feels satisfied in passing the detention order, the facts which impelled him to take such a drastic step cannot be sifted or probed by this Court since it has a limited role in the matter of examining validity or otherwise of the detention order. This Court does not sit in appeal over the detention order and it is not for this Court to go into and assess probative value of evidence available to the detaining authority. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Ahmad Nassar vs. State of Tamilandu reported in AIR 1999 SC 3897 has taken view that when one's liberty is to be curtailed on the subjective satisfaction of the detaining authority with area of interference by the Court being limited, then within this limitation Court must see in the privileged areas that the detaining authority does not stretch illegitimately in exercise of its jurisdiction. Though the jurisdiction of the Court in the matter is limited with regard to the scanning of the facts which led to the satisfaction of the detaining authority it cannot be asserted or argued that the detention order is beyond the pale of scrutiny.

16. In the background of the aforesaid view expressed by Hon'ble Apex Court as economic order is the basic need of any organized and civilized society and circulation of counterfeit currency is having an increasingly deleterious effect on the national economy and thereby a serious effect on security of the State. Therefore, as in span of three years the petitioner was arrested in two cases pertaining to offence of similar nature, therefore, the satisfaction of the District Magistrate that the petitioner would involve in supply of counterfeit currency after release based on material placed before him cannot be said to be a satisfaction based on surmise. We have no hesitation, in our mind, that here it is a case in which on the basis of facts and circumstances stated above and entire material placed before the District Magistrate, he could reasonably be satisfied that unless the petitioner is detained, the petitioner may continue the activity of circulating the counterfeit currency in the area and thereby eroding public faith in governance by State and financial institutions. One cannot escape to other conclusion that the activities of the petitioner were highly prejudicial to the State and maintenance of 'public order' and, therefore, his detention, in the circumstances, was justified because possession of counterfeit currency has no other purpose unless the counterfeit currency is put in circulation, as the same has no face value till it is in possession of an individual. The animus of possessing counterfeit currency is certainly with motive to exchange the same.

17. Lastly, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that petitioner was never supplied copy of any report of inspector, incharge of Police Station- Ecotec-III but perusal of annexures to the writ petition transpires that District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar, passing the detention order supplied the report of Station House Officer as well as all papers to the petitioner through Jail Superintendent on the same day of passing of impugned order and in counter affidavit the District Magistrate has stated that undated representation of petitioner was received in office on 07.09.2015. The aforesaid representation was processed and sent to the Government of India, New Delhi and to the State Government, U.P., Lucknow on 29.09.2015. In view of above, the petitioner's right to make the representation against the order of detention being fundamental right finds safeguard from furnishing of the copies of the relevant annexures along with detention order through Jail Superintendent to the petitioner.

18. No other argument is pressed before us.

19. In the result, the petitioner is not successful in challenging the detention order on any count whatsoever. His detention is clearly in accordance with procedure as established by law. The writ petition has no merit, therefore, fails and is, accordingly, dismissed.

Rameshwar Dayal v. Banda through his L.Rs. and another, 1993 (1) ARC 249

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ramendra Asthana, learned counsel for the petitioners. Sri P.K. Jain, Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Manish Kumar Jain, has appeared for the contesting respondents.

2. The dispute is in respect of a shop between the owners and landlords on one side and the tenant on the other side.

3. The suit of the owners and landlords for rent eviction has been decreed by the courts below whereupon this petition has been preferred by the tenant under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

4. Sri Ramendra Asthana, learned counsel for the petitioner-tenants has raised three points; the first about the rate of the rent; the other about the validity of the notice determining the tenancy; and lastly that the trial court has failed to formulate the points of determination prior to passing the final judgement.

5. He adds that the same revisional court in similar circumstances where points of determination were not framed prior to passing the final judgement had remanded the matter, but in the present case it has been dismissed.

6. Sri P.K. Jain, in response, has submitted that all the three arguments advanced on behalf of the petitioners-tenants have been dealt with by the courts below and that there is no error or irregularity in the reasoning given by them.

7. The petitioner-tenants had contended that the rent of the shop was Rs. 17.25 whereas the landlords had pleaded that it was Rs. 60/- per month.

8. There was no dispute that the petitioners-tenants had filed a suit for declaring the rent of the shop to be Rs. 17.25 per month. The said suit was dismissed on 25.08.2004. The owners and landlords brought on record the certified copy of the said judgement which clearly established that the rent of the shop in dispute was not found to be Rs. 17.25 per month as alleged by the petitioner-tenants. The decision of the aforesaid suit may not operate as res-judicata but it is certainly a material piece of evidence with regard to the rate of rent of the shop in question which has not been controverted by any evidence.

9. Accordingly, the finding recorded by the trial court as affirmed by the appellate court on point no. 3 regarding the rate of rent does not suffer from any error of law.

10. The tenancy of the petitioner-tenants was determined vide notice dated 01.07.1997. The said notice was served upon them on 06.09.1997. The service of the aforesaid notice was not denied by the petitioner-tenants. No defect in the notice was pleaded in the written statement. The petitioner-tenants even otherwise have not pointed out any defect in the aforesaid notice.

11. Sri Asthana, learned counsel for the petitioners even at this stage has failed to point out any illegality in the notice which may compel one to hold it to be invalid.

12. Lastly, on the question of framing of issues or formulation of points of determination in deciding the suit, there is no dispute that the suit was one under Section 15 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 which was of a summary nature.

13. Order XIV Rule 1 CPC provides for the framing of the issues during the trial of the suit but Order L Rule 1 (a) CPC exempts application of the above rule upon judgements and orders of the Small Causes Courts. Only Order XX Rule 4 applies to the judgement and order of the Small Causes Court which provides that judgement of the court of Small Causes need not contain more than the points for determination and the decision thereof.

14. In Dau Dayal Tandon vs. Additional District Judge, Naini Tal and others* 1982 ARC 356 it has been held that the provisions of Order XIV Rule 1 CPC relating to the settlement of issues are not applicable to the proceedings/judgements of the Small Causes Court in view of the Order L Rule 1 (a) CPC. A judgement given by Small Causes Court without framing issues arising out of the pleadings, but dealing with all such points that arise for determination is not illegal and erroneous.

15. In Mazahar Husain vs. Smt. Kaneej Zairab* 1999 (2) LCD 317 it has been held that in view of provisions of Order L Rule 1 CPC the provisions of Order XIV CPC does not apply to the proceedings and judgements of small Cause Courts and it is not necessary for the court to frame any issue.

16. Accordingly, framing of issues in a suit before Small Causes Court is not mandatory and the formulation of the points of determination and recording findings thereon are sufficient. This is also the view taken by me in Yasin and another vs. Murari Lal* 2013 (2) ARC 376. In the above case following the law laid down in Dau Dyal Dandon (supra) it was held that it is not mandatory to settle issues in a Small Causes Court Suit and the only thing that is required is to indicate the points of determination arising on the basis of the pleadings.

17. In Kamla Verma (Smt.) vs. Union of India* 2015 (2) ARC 514, it has been clearly laid down that in view of the Order XX Rule 4 CPC a judge of Small Causes Court is required to state the points for determination and the decision thereon. It is necessary so as to indicate that the judge has understood the case and the points arising thereof have been considered and decided. The judgement which does not specify the points for determination or the decision thereof, would be illegal or no judgement in the eye of law and justify the remand of the case for retrial.

18. The decision of the Supreme Court in Rameshwar Dayal vs. Banda through his L.Rs. And another* 1993 (1) ARC 249, which has been relied upon by Sri Asthana lays down that a judgement and order of the Small Causes Court which does not contain the points of determination and the decision of the court thereof would not be a judgement within the meaning of Section 2 (a) of the CPC and a such would not be a decree. It nowhere lays down that the points of determination arising in the suit are to be formulated by the court prior to the final hearing or the pronouncement of the judgement.

19. In view of the above, the said decision is of no help to the petitioner-tenants rather it fortifies that it is not mandatory to frame issues in proceedings before Small Causes Court. The formulation of points of determination which may show that the court has understood the controversy before it and has decided it is sufficient.

20. Thus, only the points for determination and the decision of the court on each of the said points is material for the purpose of deciding suit by the the Small Causes Court. There is no provision of law which specifically provide that points for determination have to be formulated by the Small Causes Court prior to the pronouncement of the judgement and should be made known to the parties. The reason is simple, all points arising in summary suits lie in a very narrow compass and are ordinarily limited. Those points are implicit and generally known to the parties going to the trial. Therefore the expression of those points which fell for consideration and addressed by the parties, in the judgement and that they have been decided is more than sufficient. The settlement of issues or the points of determination prior to the judgement and making them known to the parties expressly would frustrate the purpose of summary trial and make it a trial of regular civil suit. Accordingly, neither the settlement of issues nor the formulation of the points of determination prior to writing & pronouncement of the judgement is mandatory in a small cause suit of a summary nature.

21. In the instant case, a bare reading of the judgement and order of the Small Causes Court dated 05.03.2008 reveals that the court below has not only formulated the points of determination but has also recorded its finding on the above points on the basis of the evidence of the parties.

22. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstance as in the present case the judgement and order of the Small Causes Court contains the points of issues and decision in respect of each one of them, this submission of Sri Asthana also fail.

23. Lastly, it may not be out of context to mention that the revisional court in one SCC revision decided on 22.05.2015 had remanded the matter to the Small Causes Court for re-trial in the absence of points for determination. The present revisional order has been passed on 11.03.2016 much after the aforesaid decision. The aforesaid decision cannot act as a binding precedent inasmuch as every court has inherent power to rectify its wrong doings in the subsequent proceedings. Since there is no error or illegality in the revisional judgement and order merely for the reason that in some other case wrong decision was taken by the revisional court would not be sufficient to hold the decision of the revisional court to be incorrect.

24. In the end, Sri Asthana prays that the petitioners-tenants be allowed some reasonable time to vacate the shop in dispute. Sri Jain has no objection if the Court grants some reasonable time.

25. In the interest of justice as the petitioner-tenants have to make alternative arrangement to shift their business, four months time from today is allowed to vacate the shop in dispute provided petitioner-tenants furnish an undertaking on affidavit before the trial court within three weeks from today that he will vacate and hand over peaceful possession of the shop to the respondent-landlords within the time allowed and to pay the rent/damages for its use and occupation w.e.f. 1st August, 2016 @ Rs. 1,000/- per month.

26. In the facts and circumstance there is no merit in the petition and it is accordingly dismissed with the above liberty.

Constitution of India — Tenth Schedule — Disqualification on Ground of Defection — Mandamus to Speaker — Petitioner, President of a political party, sought direction to Speaker of U.P. Legislative Assembly to decide pending disqualification petition against two members alleged to have defected — Respondent relying on Articles 212 and Rule 6 of Tenth Schedule to contend that such direction impermissible — Held: Speaker acts as a Tribunal while deciding disqualification petitions under Rule 6 and is obliged to perform this duty in accordance with law — Where such obligation remains unfulfilled, a mandamus directing the Speaker to decide within a reasonable time is permissible, though the High Court cannot direct or pre-judge the outcome of the decision itself. (Paras 4 & 5)

Article 212 — Bar on Judicial Interference with Legislative Proceedings — Limited Scope — Article 212 bars inquiry into validity of legislative proceedings on ground of irregularity of procedure and ousts jurisdiction of courts over exercise of procedural powers by Speaker; however, this does not preclude a mandamus compelling the Speaker to decide a pending disqualification petition within a reasonable time, as clarified by the Apex Court, since the Speaker's failure to decide amounts to non-performance of a statutory/tribunal function distinct from internal legislative procedure. 2. Speaker, Haryana Vidhan Sabha vs. Kuldeep Bishnoi and Others AIR 2013 SC 120

 Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Ved Prakash Nag, learned counsel for the petitioner.

2. The petitioner claims himself to be the President of the Peace Party which is a political party. He urges that the respondents no.2 and 3, who were members of his party have allegedly defected and joined another political party as a result whereof they have incurred disqualifications keeping in view the provisions of the Tenth Schedule appended to the Constitution of India. For this, a petition has been filed before the Speaker of the UP Legislative Assembly and which is pending consideration without any orders. Keeping in view the prayers made in this petition, a direction be issued to the Speaker of the Assembly for taking a decision in this regard.

3. The petition has been opposed by Shri Abhinav N. Trivedi, learned counsel on behalf of the State contending that such a direction would not be permissible keeping in view the provisions of Article 212 of the Constitution of India read with Rule 6 of the Tenth Schedule of the Constitution of India. Both the aforesaid provisions are extracted herein under:

"212. Courts not to inquire into proceedings of the Legislature.-(1) The validity of any proceedings in the Legislature of a State shall not be called in question on the ground of any alleged irregularity of procedure.

(2) No officer or member of the Legislature of a State in whom powers are vested by or under this Constitution for regulating procedure or the conduct of business, or for maintaining order, in the Legislature shall be subject to the jurisdiction of any court in respect of the exercise by him of those powers."

4. Rule 6 of the 10th Schedule to the Constitution of India:

"6. Decision on questions as to disqualification on ground of defection.-(1) If any question arises as to whether a member of a House has become subject to disqualification under this schedule, the question shall be referred for the decision of the Chairman or, as the case may be, the Speaker of such House and his decision shall be final.

Provided that where the question which has arisen is as to whether the Chairman or the Speaker of a House has become subject to such disqualification, the question shall be referred for the decision of such member of the House as the House may elect in this behalf and his decision shall be final.

(2) All proceedings under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph in relation to any question as to disqualification of a member of a House under this schedule shall be deemed to be proceedings in Parliament within the meaning of article 122 or, as the case may be, proceedings in the Legislature of a State within the meaning of article 212."

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has, therefore, relied upon the decision of the Orissa High Court in the Case of Utkal Keshari Parida versus Speaker, Orissa Legislative Assembly passed in Writ Petition No. (Civil) Nos. 14868,14869,14870 and 14871 of 2012, decided on 27.09.2012 to contend that such a mandamus can be issued as the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly acts as a Tribunal while taking a decision with regard to the disqualification and hence, he is obliged to perform the duty in accordance with law. In such circumstances if the obligation is not fulfilled, a mandamus can be issued.

6. He has further relied on another Apex Court decision in the case of Speaker, Haryana Vidhan Sabha versus Kuldeep Bishnoi and others reported in AIR 2013 Supreme Court 120, paragraph 48 to contend that such a direction issued by the High Court has been upheld by the Apex Court in the aforesaid decision. Paragraph 48 of the same is extracted herein under:

"In our view, the High Court had no jurisdiction to pass such an order, which was in the domain of the Speaker. The High Court assumed the jurisdiction which it never had in making the interim order which had the effect of preventing the five MLAs in question from effectively functioning as Members of the Haryana Vidhan Sabha. The direction given by the learned Single Judge to the Speaker, as endorsed by the Division Bench, is, therefore, upheld to the extent that it directs the Speaker to decide the petitions for disqualification of the five MLAs within a period of four months. The said direction shall, therefore, be given effect to by Speaker. The remaining portion of the order disqualifying the five MLAs from effectively functioning as Members of the Haryana Vidhan Sabha is set aside. The said five MLAs would, therefore, be entitled to fully function as Members of the Haryana Vidhan Sabha without any restrictions, subject to the final decision that may be rendered by the Speaker in the disqualification petitions filed under paragraph 6 of the Tenth Schedule to the Constitution."

7. Shri Trivedi, however, informs upon instructions that the respondents no.2 and 3 have already been put to notice by the Speaker and since the principles of natural justice have to be complied with, therefore, the procedure as prescribed has to be followed. Consequently, the decision is likely to be taken within a reasonable time.

8. In view of the aforesaid submissions raised, the writ petition is disposed of with a liberty to the first respondent to proceed to take a decision keeping in view the observations made hereinabove within a reasonable time.

1. Ghanshya Dass Gupta vs. Makhan Lal (2012) 8 SCC 745
2. Abdur Rahman and Others vs. Athifa Begum and Others (1996) 6 SCC 62

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ritu Raj Awasthi, J.)

1. Affidavit of service filed today is taken on record.
2. Heard learned counsel for the appellants as well as Mr.Ratnesh Chandra, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no.1.
3. In spite of service of notice no one has put in appearance on behalf of the respondent no. 2.

4. This second appeal has been filed under Section 100 C.P.C. against the judgment and decree dated 28.11.2013 passed in Civil Appeal No. 76 of 2011; Jiya Lal & others Vs. Ayodhya & another by which the 1st appellate court under Section 96 C.P.C. has dismissed the appeal preferred against the judgment and decree dated 18.10.2011 passed by the Civil Judge (J.D.), South, Unnao in Civil Suit No. 77 of 2010.

5. The appeal has been admitted vide order dated 25.2.2014 on the following substantial question of law:

(a) Whether appellate court was justified in dismissing the appeal on merits in the absence of appellants on the face of Order 41 Rule 17(1) explanation?

The Order 41 Rule 17 C.P.C., as existing today after the amendment vide Act No. 104 of 1976 (w.e.f. 1.2.1977), reads as under:

"17. Dismissal of appeal for appellant's default:- (1) Where on the day fixed, or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the appellant does not appear when the appeal is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed.

(Explanation.- Nothing in this sub-rule shall be construed as empowering the Court to dismiss the appeal on the merits.)

(2) Hearing appeal ex parte.- Where the appellant appears and the respondent does not appear, the appeal shall be heard ex parte."

6. The learned 1st appellate court by the impugned order has decided the appeal under Section 96 C.P.C. on merits in the absence of the appellants.

7. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that in view of the explanation to Order 41, Rule 17 (1) C.P.C., the 1st appellate court has fallen in error by deciding the appeal on merits in the absence of the appellants. In case no one was present to press the appeal the only option left with the appellate court was to dismiss the appeal in default instead of deciding the same on merits.

8 In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Ghanshya Dass Gupta Vs. Makhan Lal; 2012 (8) SCC 745, wherein it has been held that the Courts below cannot go into the merits of the case if there was no appearance on behalf of the appellant. The relevant paragraphs 2, 9 & 10 in Ghanshya Dass Gupta (Supra), on reproduction read as under:

2. The question that arises for consideration in this case is whether the High Court was justified in deciding the appeal on merits when there was no appearance on behalf of the appellant, in view of the explanation to Order 41 Rule 17(1) of the Code of Civil Procedure. (CPC).

9. Rule 17 (1) of Order 41 deals with the dismissal of appeal for appellant's default. The above mentioned provision, even without explanation, if literally read, would clearly indicate that if the appellant does not appear when the appeal is called for hearing, the court has to dismiss the appeal. The provision does not postulate a situation where, the appeal has to be decided on merits, because possibility of allowing of the appeal is also there, if the appellant has a good case on merits; even if no body had appeared for the appellant. Prior to 1976, conflicting views were expressed by different High Courts in the country as to the purport and meaning of sub-rule (1) of Rule 17 of Order 41 CPC. Some High Courts had taken the view that it was open to the appellate court to consider the appeal on merits, even though there was no appearance on behalf of the appellant at the time of hearing. Some High Courts had taken the view that the High Court cannot decide the matter on merits, but could only dismiss the appeal for appellant's default. Conflicting views raised by the various High Courts gave rise to more litigation. The Legislature, therefore, in its wisdom, felt that it should clarify the position beyond doubt. Consequently, Explanation to sub-rule (1) of Rule 17 of Order 41 CPC was added by Act 104 of 1976, making it explicit that nothing in sub-rule (1) of Rule 17 of Order 41 CPC should be construed as empowering the appellate court to dismiss the appeal on merits where the appellant remained absent or left un-represented on the day fixed for hearing the appeal. The reason for introduction of such an explanation is due to the fact that it gives an opportunity to the appellant to convince the appellate court that there was sufficient cause for non-appearance. Such an opportunity is lost, if the courts decide the appeal on merits in absence of the counsel for the appellant.

10. We may, in this connection, refer to a judgment of this Court in Abdur Rahman and Others v. Athifa Begum and Others (1996) 6 SCC 62, wherein the scope of explanation to Rule 17(1) of Order 41 CPC came up for consideration. While interpreting the said provision, this Court took the view that the High Court could not go into the merits of the case if there was no appearance on behalf of the appellant. We also endorse that view.

9. Mr. Ratnesh Chandra, learned counsel appearing for respondent no. 1 has very fairly agreed that after the amendment the Court has no option but to dismiss the appeal in default i.e. for want of prosecution in case no one has appeared on behalf of the appellants to press the appeal on merits.

10. The perusal of Order 41, Rule 17 C.P.C. clearly indicates that where on the day fixed or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the appellant does not appear when the appeal is called for hearing, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed. The explanation to Order 41, Rule 17 (1) C.P.C. provides that nothing in this sub-rule shall be construed as empowering the Court to dismiss the appeal on the merits. The explanation to Order 41, Rule 17 (1) C.P.C. clearly makes that the appellate Court has to dismiss the appeal for non-prosecution and in default in case no one has appeared on behalf of the appellant to press the appeal on merits.

11. In view of above, the second appeal is allowed.

12. The judgment and order dated 28.11.2013 passed by the Additional District Judge, Unnao in Civil Appeal No. 76 of 2011, is hereby set aside. The matter is remanded back to the 1st appellate Court to decide the same afresh in accordance with law expeditiously, as early as possible.

13. It is, however, made clear that this Court has not addressed itself on the merits of the case.

Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 – Section 21(1)(a) – Release Application – Bonafide Need – Joint Family Business

— Release application filed by three landlord-brothers for release of a godown for establishing three adult sons in an independent business of sale of empty tin cans — Sons at time of filing unemployed and not engaged in any business — Prescribed Authority rejected release application holding sons engaged in joint family business hence need not genuine — Appellate Court reversed finding, holding large joint family business does not extinguish independent need of adult sons to start new venture — Held: Merely because sons engaged themselves in joint family business as stop-gap arrangement, their need for independent business cannot be held to be not bonafide — Every adult member of family has right to start his own independent business. (Para 1)

Subsequent Events – Death of Original Applicants – Effect on Bonafide Need — Original applicants-landlords died during pendency of writ petition, succeeded by their sons and other legal heirs — Contention raised that need set up in release application stood eclipsed by subsequent event of death and consequent engagement of successor-sons in family business — Held: Crucial date for testing bonafide need of landlord is date of filing of release application — Subsequent events can affect such need only where they are of such nature and dimension as to completely eclipse the need altogether — Death of original applicant-landlords, followed by successor-sons continuing family business for want of alternative livelihood, does not amount to complete eclipse of need originally pleaded. (Para 2)

Partition of Joint Family Property During Pendency of Litigation – Effect on Need — Partition amongst joint family members during pendency of writ petition resulted in disputed godown falling to share of specific successor — Held: Partition of joint family property/business during interregnum of long-drawn litigation does not by itself frustrate need of landlords since other members of family, including person in whose share property fell, remain entitled to press same need for independent business. (Para 3)

Non-Disclosure of Other Accommodation – Effect — Tenant contended landlords possessed other business and residential premises not disclosed in release application, and that such non-disclosure vitiated bonafide need — Held: Non-disclosure of other premises in occupation of large joint family is not fatal where such premises are shown to be unsuitable for proposed business — Appellate Court having examined each such property in detail and found none suitable, no adverse inference could be drawn against landlords. (Para 4)

Comparative Hardship – Godown – No Goodwill Attached — Held: Since disputed accommodation is a godown, to which no goodwill is attached unlike a retail shop, it can conveniently be shifted to alternative premises — Comparative hardship rightly held in favour of landlords — Tenant possessing sufficient alternative accommodation, no hardship shown to be caused to him. (Para 5)

Rent Control Act – Applicability – Interim Enhancement of Rent by High Court — Rent enhanced by High Court under interim order as condition for staying dispossession during pendency of writ petition — Contention that such enhancement took premises out of purview of Rent Control Act — Held: Rent enhanced under interim order to protect tenant from eviction pendente lite does not amount to enhancement of rent "under the Act" so as to oust applicability of the Rent Control Act. (Para 6)

Practice – Bulky Compilations – Repetitive and Misleading Citations — Counsel for petitioner supplied seven compilations containing approximately hundred judgments, with same judgment cited twice under different equivalent citations creating false impression of separate rulings — Held: Such practice makes record unnecessarily bulky, delays adjudication and amounts to an attempt either to mislead the Court or to make record difficult to decide — Court confined itself only to judgments relevant to controversy. (Para 7)
Writ Petition Dismissed — Release application allowed by Appellate Court upheld — Petitioner-tenant directed to hand over vacant peaceful possession of disputed godown within thirty days, subject to payment of up-to-date rent as fixed by interim order till date of vacation, failing which decree to become executable forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Before going to the matter of merits of the case in view of the arguments raised by the learned counsel for the parties, this Court is constrained to put on record that Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner was heard at length. He had supplied seven compilations from compilation No. 1 to Compilation No. 7 containing synopsis of the case laws in addition to a written submissions in support of the oral submissions made by him in the Court. This has resulted in making the record too bulky. Each compilation contains number of judgements on each point. For example, in compilation no.2, on the question of consideration of subsequent events, he had referred to ten judgements of this Court and the Supreme Court. In fact one judgement of this Court in the case of Saroj Kumari (deceased) and others Vs. Suresh Chand and others in Writ Petition no.8017 of 2003 passed by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sudhir Agarwal on 20.12.2012 has been referred at two places with two different equivalent citations and by mentioning different paragraph of the same judgement giving an impression that these are two different judgements on the same point. The Court is constrained to record that this approach of the counsel is nothing but an effort either to mislead the Court or to make the record so bulky as to make it difficult for the Court to decide the matter. Similarly on the point of "duties of Appellate Court to discuss the reasons assigned by the Trial Court while upsetting its finding and to consider the evidence of the parties", nineteen judgements of this Court and the Supreme Court have been given in compilation no.4. In compilation no.1, there are fourteen judgements on four different points and in compilation no.7 there are twenty seven judgements on different points. There are two other compilations i.e. compilation nos.3 and 6 which also contain four judgements, thus approximately hundred judgements have been cited by learned counsel for the petitioner in seven compilations supplied by him before oral argument in the matter had started.

2. After the arguments were over on 05.01.2016, he again passed on a written submission in support of his oral submission citing a number of judgements in various paragraph of the written submissions.

3. This Court may note that the bulky records took lot of precious time of the Court to go through the case laws cited by the counsel and this has caused delay in delivery of the judgement.

4. This Court may further record that after going through the entire pleadings in the writ petition and also the supporting material supplied by the learned counsel for the petitioner in the nature of compilation nos.1 to 7 and written submission dated 05.01.2016 in support of oral submission, the Court would deal with each point argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner but will only refer to those judgements which it think are relevant to deal with the controversy, so as not to make the judgement too long and cumbersome.

5. This writ petition is directed against the judgement and order dated 26.05.2007 passed by Special Judge (E.C. Act), Bareilly in Rent Control Appeal 6 of 2004 (Nand Kishore Vs. Rajesh Prasad). The brief facts of the case relevant to decide the controversy are:-

6. The release application under section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 was filed by three brothers namely Nand Kishore, Sundar Lal, Jagdish Saran all sons of Tara Chand residents of Maarwariganj, Bareilly, for release of a godown situated in Marwariganj, Bareilly on the ground of their personal need. The need set up was for three sons of applicant no.1, 2 and 3 namely Sri Vishnu Kumar, Narendra Kumar, Dheeraj Kumar. It was categorically stated in the release application that sons of the applicants had completed their education but they could not settle in their career and they want to establish a new venture for the sale of Empty Tin Cans. As a larger area was required for storage of tin cans, the godown in question was needed. It was stated that for running the business proposed by three younger members of the joint family, only an office space is available with the landlords.

7. The godown in question exists in a house user of which was of mixed nature. At the first floor, the applicants were residing and at the ground floor a large portion was in the tenancy of the petitioner. It was further stated that the petitioner tenant already possessed a big shop at one side of the godown and the godown in question was not required by him.

8. The release application was contested on the ground that it was defective for non impleadment of the necessary party. The petitioner Rajendra Prasad had wrongly been impleaded as tenant whereas the tenancy was in the name of M/s Satish Tea Company. The application dated 10.10.1995 moved by the petitioner raising issue of maintainability of the release application was rejected vide order dated 14.07.1998 passed by the Prescribed Authority.

9. In support of the release application, the affidavits of Nand Kishore, applicant no.1, Vishnu Mittal son of Sundar Lal, Narendra Mittal son of Nand Kishore, and Dheeraj Kumar son of Jagdish Saran were filed. Vishnu Mittal son of Sundar Lal categorically stated in the affidavit filed on 08.12.1999 that he needed the disputed godown to establish him in an independent business as there was no other place available with him. Shri Dheeraj Mittal also averred in his affidavit that he needed the disputed accommodation for doing business of sale of empty tin Can.

10. In the counter affidavit filed by the tenant Rajendra Prasad, a stand was taken that the release application was malafide, it could not be maintained as M/s Satish Tea Company was the tenant. As the tenant refused to accept the illegal demand of the landlords for enhancement of rent and, therefore, they filed the release application based on a concocted story. It was further stated that two Daal Mills were being run by the applicants, one Mill manufacturing Bhoora, Kulia was also being run in Bareilly. This apart two other firms namely M/s Ram Swaroop Tara Chand Marwariganj, Bareilly and M/s Tara Chand Sundar Lal, Marwariganj, Bareilly were owned by different set of partners being the members of a joint family. The building in question is residential in nature and no commercial activity could be permitted. The applicant's sons were not sitting idle rather they were already engaged in two firms mentioned above. There are other accommodation in possession of the large joint family of the applicants wherein their sons could be accommodated. He also raised a doubt on the willingness shown by the applicants to start a business of sale and purchase of empty tins that too near a residential portion of the family in the building. In the crux, his submission was that the applicants landlord were men of means, they had sufficient sources and place to establish their sons who may also join the joint family business, they had voluminous wealth and none of them were unemployed.

11. In the written statement filed on 13.09.1999 it was stated by the tenant that the landlord had purchased a plot of measuring 800 square yards in Deshmeshnagar, Mohalla Madhobari, Bareilly within the limits of Nagar Nigam, Bareilly. They had recently constructed a shop and godown while the remaining land was lying vacant at the disposal of the landlords. Had the landlords needed the space for business they would not have left the said plot vacant.

12. In replication, it was stated by the applicants-landlords that the property/plot mentioned in paragraph no.9-A of the written statement filed on 13.09.1999 was a property which was purchased by Tara Chand, the applicant's father in the year 1959. There were five co-owners of this property comprising of four sons and five daughters of Tara Chand. In one portion of this property, Smt. Kamlesh Kumari wife of Sri Sushil Kumar had constructed her residential house and was using another portion being a shop to meet her daily need. It was also stated that the said property was situated at the distance of approximately 1200 meters from the disputed property and moreover, the said area was predominantly residential in nature. It was further stated that the open land could not be used for godown purpose.

13. The petitioner in another affidavit filed on 06.11.2003 reiterated the fact of alternative land of 800 square yard in Deshmeshnagar being in possession of the landlord. The petitioner then moved an application on 14.08.2000 with the prayer to appoint an Amin Commissioner to inspect the properties namely Daal mills, the plot at Deshmeshnagar, the building no. 16, Marwariganj, Bareilly and building No.18, Marwariganj, Bareilly in possession of the landlords and tenants to ascertain the vacant area and the tenanted portion. This application was rejected on 02.09.2000 on the ground that it was moved with a view to delay the disposal of the release matters sufficient evidences were already on record and in view of the affidavits filed by the parties, matter can be decided.

14. The records further indicates that several applications one after the other were moved by the petitioner on different grounds which were finally rejected and the dates 25.03.2004 and 31.03.2004 were fixed for final argument.

15. The Prescribed authority vide judgement and order dated 16.04.2004 rejected the release application with the reasoning that the applicant's sons namely Dheeraj Kumar, Vishnu Kumar and Narendra Kumar whose need was set up in the release application were found engaged in the joint family business run by the partnership firms namely M/s Tara Chand Sundar Lal. It was also recorded that the applicant's family was a joint family and all in the family were engaged in vast business ventures owned by the family, therefore, the need set up for independent business of three sons was not genuine. On comparative hardship, the affidavit of applicants paper no.76 was considered and rejected on the ground that no documentary evidence was produced in support thereof. The disputed godown was being used by the tenant for his tea business.

16. In appeal, the Court below after consideration of the pleading of the parties and the material on record found that indisputably the applicant's family was a joint family and they had joint business. The contention of the tenant that the need of the members of the joint family had to be determined looking to the requirement of the joint family and the joint family business which they were already carrying on was also noted. It was discussed that in the firm namely M/s Ram Swaroop Tara Chand, three appellants namely Nand Kishore, Sundar Lal, Jagdish Saran were partners. In another firm M/s Tara Chand Sunder Lal, Smt. Tara Mani wife of Sundar Lal, Smt. Siromati wife of Nand Kishore and Vivek Kumar son of Nand Kishore were partners. There was one residential accommodation namely house no. 23 Marwariganj, Bareilly. The disputed godown is situated in house no.16, Marwariganj, Bareilly. The $\frac{1}{4}$ portion of the said house No. 16 was in the share of one brother Ram Gopal who had let out it to one Mangli Ram. The portion which was earlier occupied as PCF godown came in possession of the appellants after release and was being used for residential purposes. At the first floor of the said house no.16 Marwariganj, the family of appellant no.2 was residing and the remaining portion was being used for storage of Daal etc. Fourth property at Dasmeshnagar, Bareilly was an open piece of land which was owned by seven co-sharers and in a portion whereof, residential house had been constructed by one of the co-sharer.

Fifth property at 17 Madhobari, Bareilly was an open land of 300 Square meter purchased on 28.06.2001 there existed only gates and a dilapidated building. Sixth property was a shop at Shyamganj which was taken on rent by the appellants for keeping the raw material and manufactured goods of the firm M/s Tara Chand Sundar Lal. There was no accommodation suitable for the business proposed by the landlord.

17. The lower appellate Court after having discussed each property in detail came to the conclusion that looking to the large number of members of the family and the fact that three adult members of the family want to establish themselves in an independent business and that they filed their affidavits paper no.77-A, 78-A, 79-A, the release application could not have been rejected by the Prescribed Authority on the ground that the applicants sons were engaged in the joint family business. It was also recorded that none of the applicants/sons were partner in the two firms named above. Merely because they were involved/engaged in the family business as a stop gap arrangement their need cannot but be bonafide.

18. It was also recorded that the properties which were in possession of the landlord were not suitable for the business of Tin Can proposed by them. Three adult members of the family were competent to start their business.

19. On comparative hardship, it was recorded that the disputed accommodation was a godown. Placing reliance upon the judgment of this Court in Ram Gulam Gupta Vs. Additional District Judge, Kanpur and others¹, it was held by the lower Appellate Court that the godown can be shifted easily at any other place as no goodwill was attached to the building/place. It was also recorded that looking to the pleadings of the parties the tenant would not suffer any hardship in case, he was asked to leave the godown.

20. Having discussed the release application on both points of bonafide need and comparative hardship it was held that the need set up by the landlords in the release application was not only genuine but pressing. The release application was wrongly rejected by the Prescribed Authority and was liable to be allowed.

21. Challenging the release order passed by the lower appellate Court, the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioner are as under:-

1. The release application has become infructuous as bonafide need set up by the landlord had eclipsed on account of subsequent events taken place during the pendency of the application. The original applicants had died and their sons whose need was set up have engaged themselves in joint family business. Their need to start a new venture of sale of empty tin now does not exist.

2. Other accommodations are available with the landlord details of which have been given in different paragraphs of the writ petition as well as supplementary affidavit filed before this Court. These alternative premises in possession of the landlords are not denied.

3. M/s Satish Tea Company and wife of the petitioner are the tenants. The petitioner has wrongly been impleaded as tenant.

4. The tenanted accommodation namely the godown was initially let out at the rent of Rs.4000 per annum but now the rent has been enhanced by this Court to Rs.10,000/- per month i.e. one lac twenty thousand per annum. Thus, on account of said enhancement, the premises has gone out of the purview of the Rent Control Act (U.P. Act No.13 of 1972).

5. The need set up in the release application was for Narendra Kumar son of application No.1, Vishnu Kumar son of applicant no.2 and Dheeraj Kumar son of applicant no.3, their need has vanished on account of subsequent event of the death of the applicants/landlords.

6. By means of the supplementary affidavit dated 18.01.2015, the petitioner submitted that a partition has been arrived between the joint family members with regard to the joint family business and the properties owned by joint Hindu family. As a result of the said partition, disputed property namely, the godown situated in house no.18, Marwariganj, Bareilly has fallen in the share of three sons of late Sundar lal namely Vivek Kumar, Vishnu Mittal and Mukesh Mittal. Vivek Kumar has started a firm in October, 2014 in the nomenclature of M/s Sunder Lal Vivek Kumar and running the business of the firm. He has also opened an office and godown in the same building namely house no.16, Marwariganj, Bareilly adjacent to the property in question. He also opened a godown in two big rooms and is running his office in one room relating to Daal mill business in the same building. On the said basis, it is stated that the need of landlords set up in the release application has vanished.

7. Sri Vishnu Kumar has never contested the proceeding before this Court, the reply namely the counter affidavit to the writ petition has been filed by Narendra Mittal only on behalf of the respondent no.1 to 4.

8. The landlords were under obligation to disclose the accommodation in their possession but they had intentionally not done so and this fact would lead to an assumption of non-existence of bonafide need of the landlords.

9. The question of hardship was to be considered strictly in terms of the provision of section 21 (1) (a) read with Rule 16 of U.P. Act no.13 of 1972 which has not been considered by the Appellate Authority, this fact itself vitiates the order passed by it.

10. The Rent Control Legislation is for the benefit of the tenant. It is for the landlord to establish his bonafide need which must be real and compelling. If not actual and genuine, the release application needs to be rejected, being a mere desire. Subsequent need cannot be considered.

11. The Appellate Court without reversing the findings of the trial Court has allowed the release application ignoring the evidence of the petitioner.

22. At the cost of repetition it is noted that in support of these submissions, compilation no.1 to compilation no. 7 have been supplied by the learned counsel for the petitioner wherein more than 100 rulings have been referred on the points noted above. Further in the written submission passed on in support of the oral submission made by the learned counsel for the petitioner more than twenty case laws have been mentioned. It is not possible for the court to deal with each judgement on the law point placed by the learned counsel. And further this Court does not find it relevant to discuss each and every case law relied upon by the learned counsel with a view not to burden this judgement. It may also be noteworthy that some of the judgment are not relevant for the facts of the present case.

23. Now dealing with the arguments of learned counsel for the petitioner.

24. First submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is regarding applicability of the Act on account of enhancement of rent by this Court, this submission is misconceived in as much as the rent has been enhanced by this Court under an interim order dated 19.07.2007 as a condition to stay the eviction of the petitioner-tenant. The tenant namely the petitioner at the time of hearing on the stay application had offered Rs.10,000/- per month as compensation for the use and occupation of the godown from the month of July, 2007. The petitioner has already been evicted by the Appellate Court, however, the condition put in the interim order to save the petitioner from eviction during the pendency of the writ petition would not mean that the rent of the premises has been enhanced under the provisions of the Act which would result in the premises to go out of the purview of the Rent Control Act' 1972.

25. The second submission is with reference to the events occurred during the pendency of the present petition.

26. The subsequent events which have been brought to the knowledge of the Court is that out of the three applicants/landlords, Sri Nand Kishore, and Sunder lal had expired. They are succeeded by their sons namely Narendra Mittal, Vivek Kumar, Vishnu Mittal, Mukesh Mittal and Smt. Taramani (wife) and daughter Smt. Saroj Agarwal. It is stated that the accommodation in question was required by Vishnu Mittal son of late Shri Sunder Lal, but no counter affidavit has been filed by him till date. The petitioner has brought the subsequent events before this Court by means of supplementary affidavits. In the second supplementary affidavit dated 18.01.2015, it has been stated in paragraph no.4 that the property in question has been settled with Sri Vivek Kumar, Sri Visnlu Mittal, Vishnu Kumar and Sri Mukesh Mittal and thus the counter affidavit of Sri Narendra Mittal who has no concern with the property in question cannot be treated to dispute the averments in the writ petition. Narendra Mittal who has nothing to do with the property in question cannot continue to oppose the writ petition on behalf of all the landlords/respondents. Under section 58 of the Evidence Act, nothing remains to be adjudicated because the factum of vanishing the need of the landlord is already admitted, in reply to the supplementary affidavits filed by the respondent.

27. The only affidavit filed by Narendra Mittal is neither on behalf of Sundar Lal nor for Jagish Saran nor for Vishnu Mittal and thus is not on behalf of heirs of Sunder Lal. This Court has no option but to dismiss the release application as having become infructuous.

28. The applicants are worthy people having movable and immovable property in abundance, they own highly lucrative business, there is a big building at Marwariganj, Bareilly in which the business under the name and style of M/s Tara Chand Ram Swarup is being run. In another premises at Deshmeshnagar in the city of Bareilly, lot of space is available. One shop at Bazar Shyamganj, Bareilly is also in possession of the landlord. Another mill namely Daal manufacturing mill is being run by Vishnu Kumar son of Sundar Lal.

29. Thus a false story has been set up by the applicants/landlords for unemployment of their sons. The properties, details of which have been given hereinabove are admitted to the landlords. The Prescribed authority after consideration of these materials rightly came to the conclusion that looking to the large joint family business, the need to set up an independent business for sons of the applicants/landlords cannot be accepted. These findings have not been reversed by the Appellate Court. The applicants/landlords did not disclose their business premises in the release application and as such it is a clear case of concealment of material facts. The need, therefore, cannot be termed as bonafide.

30. Considering these submission of learned counsel for the petitioner in the light of the evidence on record, it is relevant to note that the Appellate court has discussed in detail each and every property/business premises owned by the landlords and the business which were being run by them. There is no dispute about the fact that the business which are being run in the family are joint family business. On account of death of their father, the sons whose need has been set up started looking/managing their father's business and are not unemployed as on date. This fact is of no relevance as at the time of filing of the release application they were not engaged in the business or were employed.

31. The settled law is that the crucial date for looking to the need of the landlord is the date of filing of the petition for release. The normal rule is that the rights and obligation of the parties are to be determined as they were when the lis commenced. The only exception is that the Court is not precluded from moulding relief(s) appropriately in consideration of the subsequent events provided such events had an impact on those rights and obligations. Subsequent event may change but only if they are of such nature and dimension so as to completely vanish the need of the landlord, it can be said that the need of the applicant/landlords has eclipsed.

32. In Ramesh Kumar Vs. Kesho Ram², the then Chief Justice M.N. Venkatachalia, speaking for the bench held that where the subsequent events of fact or law which have a material bearing on the entitlement of the parties to relief or on aspect which bear on the moulding of the relief occur, the Court is not precluded from taking a "cautious cognizance" of the subsequent changes of fact and law to mould the relief.

33. In Kamleshwar Prasad Vs. Pradumanju Agarwal³, the Apex Court has held that even the subsequent events of death of the landlord who wanted to start a business in the tenanted premises is not sufficient to dislodge the bonafide need established by him earlier as the business in question can be carried on by his widow or any other son. It has been held that the subsequent events to over shadow the genuineness of the need must be of such nature and of such a dimension that the need propounded by the petitioning party should have been completely eclipsed by such subsequent events.

34. In paragraph no. 15 of Gaya Prasad Vs. Pradeep Srivastava⁴, the Court has expressed its concern over long drawn judicial process which create an impact on the rights of the litigating parties. Paragraph no.16 of the said judgement are quoted below;-

16. Of course a two-Judge Bench (K. Ramaswamy and D.P. Wadhwa, JJ) pointed out in another case Ansuyaben Kantilal Bhatt vs. Rashiklal Manilal Shah [1997 5 SCC 457] that the pendency of a lis for a record period of thirty one years has transformed a middle aged landlord to advanced stage of gerentry and at that stage he could not start a new business venture. After lamenting over the system which caused a whopping delay of thirty-one years the Bench made two directions. The first was that the son of the landlord who by that time had four and a half years more to go for reaching the superannuation age could consider starting the business in the tenanted premises after retirement. The second was that in the meanwhile the rent for the building would stand enhanced from Rs.101/- to Rs.3500/- per month.

35. In Ramkubai (Smt) Deceased By Lrs. And others Vs. Hajarimal Dhokalchand Chandak⁵, it was noticed by the Apex Court that the landlord was unemployed on the date of filing of the suit but he could not be expected to idle away the time by remaining unemployed till the case is finally decided. It took about 25 years to reach the case at the final stage. Therefore, the contractor work which was taken by the landlord, in the meanwhile, will not militate against the need set up by him for carrying on the business of Kirana.

36. In Pratap Rai Tanwani and another Vs. Uttam Chand and another⁶, The Apex Court while considering the contention of the appellant that the landlord's son had taken a temporary employment with Visa for a limited period and went abroad observed that while considering the bonafide need of the landlord the crucial date is the date of the petition. It has observed in paragraph no.7 and 10 as quoted below;-

7. It is a stark reality that the longer is the life of the litigation the more would be the number of developments sprouting up during the long interregnum. If a young entrepreneur decides to launch a new enterprise and on that ground he or his father seeks eviction of a tenant from the building, the proposed enterprise would not get faded out by subsequent developments during the traditional lengthy longevity of the litigation. His need may get dusted, patina might stick on its surface, nonetheless the need would remain intact. All that is needed is to erase the patina and see the gloss. It is pernicious, and we may say, unjust to shut the door before an applicant just on the eve of his reaching the finale after passing through all the previous levels of the litigation merely on the ground that certain developments occurred pendente lite, because the opposite party succeeded in prolonging the matter for such unduly long period.

10. The judicial tardiness, for which unfortunately our system has acquired notoriety, causes the lis to creep through the line for long long years from the start to the ultimate termini, is a malady afflicting the system. During this long interval many many events are bound to take place which might happen in relation to the parties as well as the subject- matter of the lis. If the cause of action is to be submerged in such subsequent events on account of the malady of the system it shatters the confidence of the litigant, despite the impairment already caused.

37. Considering the law in this regard in the background of the factual matrix of the instant case, it is evident that three sons of the applicants/landlords who were unemployed on the date of release application could not engage themselves in an independent business. Because of death of their father and that there was no other business, they joined the joint family business. Their wish to start an independent business remained a dream. In the release application, specific need of three sons of the applicants/landlords namely Vishnu Kumar @ Vishnu Mittal son of Sundar Lal, Narendra Kumar, son of Nand Kishore and Dheeraj Kumar son of Jagdish Saran was set up. These three sons of the applicants-landlords namely Vishnu Mittal, Narendra Kumar and Dheeraj Mittal had filed their own affidavits before the Prescribed Authority in the year 1999 to state that they needed the shop in question to start an independent business. Sri Narendra Kumar, one of the son of the applicant/landlord filed his affidavit in support of the need set up by the landlords. It cannot be said that since others did not file their independent affidavits before this Court in the present petition, their need had eclipsed.

37A. Moreover it is settled law that every adult member of the family has a right to start his own independent business. Even for expansion of the family business, the premises can be required. The partition of the joint family property, if any, took place during interregnum, long period of litigation, would again does not frustrate the need of the landlords because there are many members of the family including the respondents herein who can start their business in the disputed accommodation. Even Vishnu Kumar who is stated to have got the disputed property as a result of partition in the joint family is not precluded from starting a new venture. Thus it cannot be accepted that since the applicants/landlords are no more and their sons are carrying on the joint family business for the reason that the godown in question could not be released, the need setup in the release application to start a new venture stood satisfied or eclipsed. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner in this regard are thoroughly misconceived.

38. As far as the contention of the petitioner regarding availability of other accommodations to the landlord and non-disclosure of the said fact in the release application, it is sufficient to note that non disclosure of all the business premises and all the residential accommodation in occupation of the applicants/landlords i.e. members of the joint family could not be a factor relevant to reflect upon their bonafide need for the reason that according to the applicants/landlords these premises are not of such nature which would have satisfied their need and further the tenant has not been able to establish that these premises can be utilized by the landlords for the business proposed in the release application. The Appellate Court below has considered in detail each and every accommodations/business premises in possession of the landlords and recorded a categorical finding of fact that they are not sufficient to satisfy the need of the landlords set up in the release application.

39. Now the contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner that the appellate Court has not followed the procedure prescribed under law while deciding the appeal in not reversing the findings of the trial Court and the evidence on record has been ignored, its order, therefore, is illegal. To deal with the submission, it is important to note that the proceedings before the Appellate Authority are in the nature of continuation of the release proceeding. The entire evidence on record was examined by the appellate Court and after discussion on each evidence it came to the conclusion that the findings recorded by the trial Court could not be sustained. On comparative hardship a categorical finding has been recorded to the effect that since the disputed accommodation is a godown, it can be shifted elsewhere by the tenant as no good will is attached to the place as in case of retail business. Moreover, the tenant possess ample accommodation in which he can carve out a separate space for the godown. The Comparative hardship was, therefore, tilted in favour of the landlords.

40. It may also be noted that the learned counsel for the petitioner took much time of the Court to place several supplementary affidavits to state that the income from salary and interest from the joint family business in which the applicant's sons are now partner and assets of the landlords are sufficient for their need. Attention of the Court was invited to the income tax returns and other related documents.

41. In this regard it is relevant to note that this Court is not going to review the income of the parties and to examine as to whether their earning is increased during the course of long litigation to hold that their need for starting a new venture is satisfied or not. The only bone of contention of the applicants/landlords was that their sons wanted to start an independent business a new venture. Even to augment the income from the joint family business, in the opinion of the Court, the disputed accommodation can be released.

42. Moreover, there is nothing on record that Vishnu Kumar s/o Sundar Lal in whose share this disputed premises came on account of the partition of the joint family property/business could start or has started a new venture as proposed by him at the time of release. As per own case of the tenant he is engaged in the same partnership business which was earlier being run by his ancestors jointly. This fact further substantiate that the need set up in the release application is still alive and the release application cannot be rejected as having become infructuous with the passage of time.

43. Vishnu Kumar in the affidavit filed before the Prescribed Authority had categorically submitted that he needed the disputed property to start a new business, therefore, it cannot be said that he never came forward to press his need.

44. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further urged that the release application was itself defective, tenancy was in the name of M/s Satish Tea Company and the petitioner was only a partner. The release application could not have been filed against him as the tenant. It is liable to be rejected for non-joinder of parties.

45. This submission does not appeal to the Court at all for the reason that the petitioner has failed to bring any material on record to prove that the tenancy was in the name of M/s Satish Chand & Company and further that this plea was not accepted by the trial Court.

46. Lastly on the question of hardship, it is stated by the learned counsel for the petitioner that no hardship would be caused to the landlords as the landlord's business would not be affected by not collecting empty tins or keeping them at a different place owned by him. In other words what he suggested is that the proposed business could be run by keeping the empty tins at a different business premises in which other business are being run. Such a suggestion is totally ridiculous.

47. For all above noted reasons, this Court does not find any infirmity in the findings recorded by the appellate Court below and further is of the opinion that the landlords have established their bonafide need for the godown in question and in case the release application is rejected, the landlord would be deprived of starting a new venture which would cause more hardship to him in comparison to the tenant.

48. It is noted that the appellate Court has granted thirty days time to the applicant/petitioner to vacate the disputed accommodation and handover its possession. A condition was also put that the landlord would pay an amount of Rs.8000/- towards two years of rent to the tenant as a consequence of release of the commercial accommodation. The tenant was required to handover vacant peaceful possession of the disputed accommodation to the landlords. As learned counsel for the petitioner did not make a submission for extension of time and as such no further time is being granted to the petitioner. Consequently, the petitioner has to handover peaceful vacant possession of the disputed accommodation namely the godown in question to the landlords within a period of thirty days. Till the date of vacation of the disputed accommodation, up to date rent as fixed by this Court in the interim order dated 19.07.2007 shall be paid by the petitioner to the landlords.

49. In case of non compliance of any of the above conditions, the decree shall become executable forthwith.

50. With the above observations and directions, the writ petition is dismissed.

U.P. Police Constables and Head Constables Service Rules, 2008 – Rule 15 – Appendix-5 – Medical Examination – Rejection – Oral Communication – No Reasons Recorded — Petitioners, candidates for post of Constable, cleared Preliminary Examination, Physical Efficiency Test and Main Written Examination but declared medically unfit by Medical Board and thereafter by Appellate Medical Board, without any written or reasoned order, only oral intimation given — Appendix-5(3)(d) to Rule 15 requiring appeal to be filed on same day as examination — Held: Recording of reasons is fundamental to fair administrative action and natural justice, required even where statute is silent — Absence of reasoned order renders statutory right of appeal illusory and empty formality. (Para 1)

Constitution of India – Article 14 – Subordinate Legislation – Arbitrariness – Appendix-5(3)(d) to Rule 15 – Validity — Provision requiring candidate dissatisfied with medical examination to file appeal on same day, without corresponding requirement of furnishing reasons for rejection — Held: Subordinate legislation, though entitled to some latitude, can be struck down where it offends Article 14 of the Constitution — Provision requiring appeal on same day without reasoned order is manifestly arbitrary and unreasonable, rendering right of appeal illusory — Struck down as unconstitutional to that extent. (Para 2)

Fairness of Medical Board – Allegations of Corruption – Effect on Selection Process — Petitioners alleged widespread corruption amongst doctors constituting District-level Medical Boards, supported by newspaper reports and registration of first information report against certain doctors — Held: Material on record insufficient to vitiate entire selection process, but raises legitimate question as to credibility of functioning of Medical Boards, particularly where petitioners had cleared physically gruelling Physical Efficiency Test. (Para 3)

Constitution of Appellate Medical Board – Direction for Inclusion of Expert — Rules and Appendix-5 silent regarding composition of Appellate Medical Board — Held: Appellate Medical Board must be reconstituted comprising doctor of the rank of Professor of a Medical College, to ensure transparency and credibility of re-examination of candidates rejected on medical grounds. (Para 4)

Judicial Review of Medical Opinion – Scope — Held: Opinion of medical experts deserves respect and not worship — Courts are not precluded from examining record of Medical Board to determine whether conclusion reached is legally sustainable, particularly where fairness of procedure is under challenge. (Para 5)

Writ Petitions Partly Allowed — Provision of Appendix-5(3)(d) to Rule 15 of the Rules, 2008 requiring appeal to be filed on day of examination itself, without reasoned order, struck down as arbitrary and ultra vires — Fresh Appellate Medical Board, including a doctor of the rank of Professor, to be constituted within two months — Petitioners' appeals to be considered afresh by newly constituted Appellate Medical Board — Parties to bear their own costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J.)

1. In this batch of petitions, the petitioners are candidates for appointment on the posts of Constables in U.P. Police and other equivalent posts. The candidature of all the petitioners has been rejected on medical grounds.

2. Before advertizing to the issue involved in the petitions, the brief common facts of the case are necessary to be referred as under:

3. The Additional Secretary (Recruitment), U.P. Police Recruitment and Promotion Board, Lucknow issued a notification on 14th May, 2013, which was amended on 20th June, 2013 to initiate recruitment process for filling the posts of Constables in U.P. Police. Pursuant thereto an advertisement was issued inviting applications from the candidates against 20000 posts of Police Constables.

4. By the aforesaid subsequent notification dated 20th June, 2013, the posts of Police Constables were increased from 20000 to 35500, and 4033 posts were advertised for Constables in Provincial Armed Constabulary and 2077 posts of Firemen. It was mentioned in the advertisement that the candidates who had applied for the posts of Constables in pursuance of the earlier advertisement issued in the year 2011, their candidature will be considered as per the advertisement of 2011 and they were required to fill another form for which no fee was directed to be charged from them.

5. The candidates who had applied for the posts of Constables in pursuance of earlier advertisement were provided the age relaxation also. The recruitment process consists of a preliminary examination of 300 marks followed by a Physical Efficiency Test¹, Main Written Examination, Scrutiny of Documents and Medical Examination.

6. In the notification dated 14th May, 2013 it was provided that the Joint Examination-2011 was cancelled on 15th July, 2011 and a fresh advertisement was made for the Police Constables in the Pay Band Rs. 5200-20200 with Grade Pay of Rs. 2000. In the said advertisement for the posts of Constables, 10000 posts were unreserved, 5400 posts were reserved for the Other Backward Classes, 4200 posts under the Scheduled Castes Category and 400 posts under Scheduled Tribes. 2% horizontal reservation was also provided to the dependents of Freedom Fighters, 5% for Ex-Army Personnel and 5% for Homeguards and 20% for Female category.

7. It was also made clear that the number of the vacancies can be varied before the preliminary examination. The last date for submission of the form was 18th August, 2013. A brochure was issued containing detailed instructions and requirements under the relevant rules regarding physical and written examinations. It provided that minimum height of the male candidates of General, Other Backward Classes and Scheduled Castes should be 168 centimeters and of the female candidate 152 centimeters; for the candidates under the Scheduled Tribes category it was 160 centimeters for male and 147 centimeters for female candidate. It was also mentioned that the examination shall be of 300 marks, wherein 150 marks were assigned for General Knowledge and Current Affairs, 75 for Reasoning Ability and 75 for Numerical Ability. Thirty-five percent of the marks was the minimum qualifying marks in the preliminary examination.

8. It further provided that out of the successful candidates in the preliminary examination against the existing vacancies, ten times candidates equivalent to ten times of the vacancies on the basis of the reservation would be called to participate in the next step of examination i.e. Physical Efficiency Test. The candidates who qualify the Preliminary Examination and PET, had to appear in the Main Written Examination, which is of 300 marks. The Main Written Examination consists of general awareness, mental ability, reasoning and comprehension. Thirty-five percent of the total marks is the qualifying marks and it is not necessary to secure 35% in each paper. The Main Written Examination is based on objective system. After the main written examination, a select list is prepared and the testimonials are verified on the day when they are medically examined.

9. The instructions contain details about the medical examination. The medical examination of a candidate is conducted by the Board of Doctors. The instructions provide that the medical examination shall be conducted in terms of the provisions of Health Manual. It would include the height of the male and female candidates. It provides that the Medical Board shall follow the instructions of 'iqfyl HkrhZ fpdRlk ijh{kk izi=' (Police Recruitment Medical Test Proforma).

10. In the medical examination the following physical standards are to be examined:

Knock knee, bow legs, flat feet, and varicose veins, distant and near vision, colour blindness, hearing test comprising Rinne's test, Webber's test and tests for vertigo etc. in terms of the orders issued by the State Government from time to time.

11. The instruction further provides that the candidate who is dissatisfied with his medical examination, can file an appeal on the same day. It further provides that if on the same day a candidate fails to make an appeal, no appeal shall be entertained.

12. All the petitioners in this batch of writ petitions have cleared Preliminary Written Test, Physical Efficiency Test, Main Written Examination but they have been declared medically unfit by the Medical Board.

13. On 16th July, 2015 the select list was declared and total 38191 candidates were declared selected on the post of Constable in Civil Police, Constable in PAC and Firemen in U.P. Fire Services Department. In the said result it is mentioned that the following number of posts are vacant:

Constable Civil Police 1894

Constable PAC 278

Firemen 140

Thus total 2312 posts are still vacant.

14. All the petitioners in the writ petitions have been rejected in medical test.

15. It would be appropriate to mention the brief facts of each writ petition of this batch of writ petitions which are enumerated below:

(I) Writ-A No. 52546 of 2015:

16. The petitioner is an OBC female category candidate. She had cleared all the tests but was rejected in the medical test. It is stated that after her success in the main examination under the OBC category a call letter was issued to her for appearing in the last stage of selection i.e. for document verification and the medical examination, which was scheduled to be held on 01st April, 2015 at Police Lines Amroha. On the scheduled date her documents were verified and after the medical examination she was orally informed by the medical authority that she has knock-knee and accordingly she was declared unfit. The petitioner has stated in the petition that immediately thereafter the authorities issued instructions for unsuccessful candidates, who had been disqualified in the medical examination, that if they desire, they can undergo for the re-medical examination. In pursuance of the said instructions she get herself medically examined again. The examination was conducted without any proper procedure or taking care of the instructions for conducting medical examinations and she was again declared medically unfit due to knock-knee.

17. The grievance of the petitioner is that the said re-medical examination was nothing but an empty formality and was conducted without following the procedure, the rules and the instructions given in the brochure.

18. The petitioner states that since she was not satisfied with the manner in which the medical examination was conducted, later she got herself medically examined by an Orthopedic Surgeon, wherein she was found to be medically fit.

19. Learned Counsel for the petitioner submitted that the medical examination of the petitioner was totally illegal, arbitrary and against the provisions of the U.P. Police Constables and Head Constables Services Rules, 20082. He submitted that Rule 11 of Chapter-III Part-II of Vol. V of the Financial Handbook provides a detailed procedure for the medical examination, required to be followed by the Medical Board. He has invited the attention of the Court to an order of a Division Bench of this Court dated 21st November, 2007 passed in a batch of special appeals led by Special Appeal No. 1573 of 2007 (Arvind Kumar Sonkar v. State of U.P. & others), wherein the Division Bench has directed the Government to conduct re-medical examination by the newly constituted Medical Board. He has also invited the attention of the Court to a large number of interim orders passed in various writ petitions following the order of the Division Bench.

20. Learned Counsel for the petitioner has also relied on a judgment of a learned Single Judge of this Court dated 29.3.2011 passed in a batch of writ petitions led by Writ-A No. 16288 of 2011 (Rahul Kumar v. State of U.P. & others), wherein this Court after examining the Rules, 2008 has found that there is no provision for re-examination by Medical Board.

21. In paragraph-75 of the writ petition an allegation has been made that at the time of medical examination, a doctor of District Hospital, Amroha, who has been made party in personal capacity as respondent no. 9 in writ petition, had made demand of an illegal gratification for an amount of Rs. 15,000 from the petitioner and the petitioner has refused the same, therefore, the petitioner has been declared medically unfit by an oral order.

22. It is also stated that in several districts in the State of U.P., doctors were caught red-handed and cash money was recovered from their possession. In support of the said statement the petitioner has brought on the record a copy of the first information report relating to Case Crime

No. 220 of 2015, Police Station Civil Lines, District Aligarh under Section 7, 8, 10 & 13 of the Prevention of the Corruption Act, as annexure-14 to the writ petition.

23. The petitioner has also brought on the record the clippings of various news items published in National newspapers Amar Ujla and Dainik Jagran that in district Sant Kabir Nagar the District Magistrate directed to conduct a raid on the members of the Medical Board and on their search a sum of Rs. 1,21,000/- was found in their possession, with regard to which a first information report has been lodged against those doctors.

(II) Writ-A No. 51517 of 2015:

24. Seven petitioners have joined this writ petition. All the petitioners have qualified the Preliminary Examination, Physical Efficiency Test, Written Test. All of them have been rejected in the medical examination.

25. The grievance of the petitioners is that they have not been communicated any reason for their rejection by the Medical Board and by the oral order they were informed that they have been found medically unfit.

26. This Court on 17th September, 2015 had asked the learned Standing Counsel to seek instructions in the matter. Learned Standing Counsel has produced the instructions which have been taken on the record. In the instructions it is mentioned that the petitioner nos. 1, 2, 3 & 4 have been rejected on the ground of knock-knee. The petitioner no. 5 has been rejected on the ground of distance vision (left eye-6.9: Right eye-6.12), petitioner no. 6 on the ground of colour blindness, and the petitioner no. 7 has been declared unfit on the ground of flat-feet.

27. It is averred that the petitioners had filed their appeal and in their fresh medical examination, which was held at Moradabad, they were again rejected. All the petitioners have disputed the findings of Medical Board and they have brought on the record the medical certificates issued by the private medical doctors showing the petitioners medically fit.

28. Learned Counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a judgement of a Division Bench of this Court dated 21st November, 2007 passed in a batch of special appeals led by Special Appeal No. 1573 of 2007 (Arvind Kumar Sonkar v. State of U.P. & others).

(III) Writ-A No. 52743 of 2015:

29. The petitioner had applied in pursuance of the advertisement dated 14th May, 2013. He belongs to OBC Male category. He had obtained 310.0637 marks. He was declared unsuccessful on the medical ground. The petitioner's medical test was conducted at Reserve Police Lines, Mati, Kanpur Dehat on 10th June, 2015 in which he was declared unsuccessful. The petitioner was informed about the said fact on 13th July, 2015 by the second respondent from Mobile No.

9454401472 that the petitioner was not present at the time of medical examination and his medical papers have not been traced out.

30. It is submitted by the petitioner that he was present at the time of document verification and he was declared successful in the document verification and in medical examination by an oral order he was declared unfit.

31. The petitioner has impleaded the Incharge Doctor of Kanpur Dehat Selection Board in his personal capacity and has made serious allegations of malafide in paragraph nos. 67 to 70 of the writ petition. He has also brought on the record the newspaper clippings published in several national newspapers regarding the serious allegations of gratification against the doctors who have been the members of Medical Board.

32. I have heard Sri Vijay Gautam, Sri Anand Ji Mishra, Sri Kaushal Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioners, and Sri Vikram Bahadur Yadav and Sri Aditya Kumar Yadav, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State.

33. Learned Counsel for the petitioners submitted that the petitioners have qualified all the stages of recruitment but in the medical examination they have been rejected illegally. The medical examination was not conducted fairly and the petitioners were orally informed by the medical authorities that they are medically unfit.

34. It is stated that no written order was furnished thus, without disclosing reason, they have been declared unsuccessful illegally. It is further submitted that in absence of any reason furnished to them, the provision for filing an appeal on the same day is illusory and empty formality.

35. Learned Counsel for the petitioners further submitted that the medical examination was not fair and transparent and has been conducted contrary to the provisions of the statutory rules. The procedure for medical examination has been laid down under Appendix-3, 4 & 5 to Rule 15 of the Rules, 2008 particularly the Appendix-5, which has been violated.

36. They further submitted that Appendix-5(d) provides that any candidate who is not satisfied by his medical examination, shall file an appeal on the date of examination. According to learned counsel for the petitioners, the said clause is arbitrary and ultra-vires as well as it is unreasonable as it does not give any sufficient reasonable time to a candidate to file an appeal.

37. Amplifying the submissions, they urged that providing such a short time makes the provision of the appeal mere empty formality. He urged that on this ground alone the Appendix-V to Rule-15 of the Rules, 2008 suffers from vice of arbitrariness and may be declared as ultra-vires. It was contended that in view of wide spread allegations which have been highlighted by the national newspapers, the candidates do not have any faith in the Medical Board which is constituted to re-examine the candidates on their appeal. Lastly they urged that even the Medical Board simply repeats the same finding of earlier medical examination and it does only formality. The result of the Medical Board is not communicated to a candidate in writing and no reason is furnished to the candidates, however, they are only orally informed about their rejection. It was also submitted that the fact that all appeals have been rejected, itself shows that the medical appeal is an eye wash.

38. It was urged that Appendix-5 to the Rules, 2008 provides only standardized equipments having Indian Standard Institute certification or duly certified by the Directorate of Weight and Measure are to be used for Physical Standard Test Examination. However, the respondents have not used the standardized equipments and the measurement of their heights was done manually.

39. Learned Standing Counsel, who has received instructions, which have been taken on the record, submits that the petitioners have not been found medically fit and the candidates who have been rejected in medical examination, can file an appeal before the Medical Board on the same day. The petitioners have been re-examined by the Medical Board and they have been found medically unfit, hence their appeals were rejected. He has drawn the attention of the Court to the original record produced by him and the instructions wherein the name of deficiency in respect of each candidate has been recorded. Lastly, he urged that for appointment on the post of constables in the police force, medical fitness is a paramount consideration. According to him, the Rules do not require giving reason at first instance by the Medical Board or by Appellate Medical Board. In case reasons are furnished to each candidate, it would cause unnecessary delay in completing the recruitment process.

40. Learned Standing Counsel has vehemently opposed the submission of learned counsel for the petitioners for re-constitution of a fresh Medical Board to re-examine the petitioners.

41. I have considered the submissions of learned Counsel for the parties and perused the record.

42. The recruitment on the post of Constable in Civil Police is regulated by the Uttar Pradesh Police Constables and Head Constables Service Rules, 2008. The said Rules have been framed under Section 46 read with sub-section (3) of Section 2 of the Police Act, 1861. Part-III of the Rules, 2008 deals with recruitment. Rule-5 provides the source of recruitment on the post of constable. The post of constable is filled by 100 per cent direct recruitment. Part-V lays down the procedure for recruitment. Rule-15 provides the detailed procedure for direct recruitment of constables.

43. Regard may be had to the fact that there are three recent amendments in the Rules, 2008. The relevant amendments in respect of the recruitment for our purposes are; (i) the Uttar Pradesh Police Constables and Head Constables Service (Third Amendment) Rules, 2013, which was published in the gazette on 09th April, 2013; (ii) the Uttar Pradesh Police Constables and Head Constables Service (Fourth Amendment) Rules, 2013, published on 10th May, 2013; and (iii) the Uttar Pradesh Police Constables and Head Constables Service (Fifth Amendment) Rules, 2013, published on 04th June, 2013.

44. To answer of the aforesaid question, it will be necessary to have the benefit of relevant sets of rules governing the subject :

"15. Procedure for direct recruitment of Constable.---(a) Application.--- (i) A candidate shall fill the application form from one District only. Regarding allocation of Examination Center, the candidate may give more than one option. However, Board may allocate center other than those indicated by the candidate.

The test shall be of one paper of 300 marks and contain questions on general knowledge, current affairs, reasoning ability and numeric ability of appropriate level, the detailed syllabus for which shall be notified by the Board from time to time. The candidate who fails to obtain 35% marks shall not be eligible for recruitment. From the candidates who pass the preliminary written test, a number equal to ten times the number of vacancies shall be eligible for the physical Efficiency Test.

(d) Physical Efficiency Test.---The eligible candidates shall be required to appear in a Physical Efficiency Test which shall be of 100 marks. The procedure for conducting the Physical Efficiency Test shall be such as prescribed in Appendix-2.

(e) Main Written Examination.---The eligible candidates who qualify Physical Efficient Test shall be required to appear in the main written examination which will be of objective type shall carry 300 marks. The written paper will consist of questions covering, general awareness, mental ability, reasoning and comprehension. The detailed syllabus for the examination shall be notified by the Board. The procedure for conducting written examination shall be such as mentioned in Appendix-3. Candidates who fail to obtain 35% marks in the main written examination shall not be eligible for recruitment.

(f) Scrutiny of Document and Medical Examination.---The Board shall prepare a merit list for each category of candidates on the basis of total marks obtained by the candidates according to the orders of the State Government and the provisions of enactments for the time being in force.

The scrutiny of documents of the above candidates shall be carried out as per Appendix-4. In case any document is found to be manipulated, inaccurate or forged during the scrutiny or at any time after the scrutiny, the candidature of the applicant will be cancelled at the discretion of the Board and Head of Department. Those candidates whose documents are found in order will undergo for Medical Examination as per Appendix-5.

Note.- The Medical Board shall examine the candidate and deficiencies thereof such as knock knee, bow-legs, flat feet, varicose veins, distant and near vision, colour blindness, hearing test comprising of Rinne's test, Webber's test and shall also tests for vertigo, speech defects etc. of the candidate as may be notified from time to time by the State Government.

(g) Selection and Merit List.---The Board shall prepare a final select list of candidates in order of their merit, keeping in view the reservation policy of the State.

If two or more candidates obtain equal marks, preference will be given to the candidates who have obtained higher marks in the main written examination. If two or more candidates secure the same marks in main written examination then the candidate who are older will be placed higher in the merit list. In case two or more candidates have the same date of birth, the candidates possessing preferential qualification as mentioned in Rule 9 will be placed higher in the merit list.

The final list shall be published in Website/Notice Board. This list shall be forwarded to the Head of Department, who will forward it to the Appointing Authority for further action.

Note.---If two or more candidates obtain equal marks then the merit list would be finalized, according to the following procedure:-

(i) Such candidate will be given preference, having Preferential qualification, if any. A candidate having more than one preferential qualification will get benefit of only one preferential qualification.

(ii) If despite the above, two or more candidates have the same rank then such candidate will be given preference who secures higher marks in main written examination.

(iii) If despite the above two or more candidates have equal marks then such candidate will be given preference who is older in age.

(iv) If in spite of above, consideration still the marks are equal, and date of birth is same and marks in the main written examination are also the same then such candidate will be given preference in order of the first letter of the English alphabet of the first name as mentioned in High School Certificate.

The merit-list shall be published in website/ Notice Board.

(ii) The Board shall prepare a select list of candidates in order of the merit, keeping in view the reservation policy guidelines and the total number of vacancies notified to the Board which will be subject to character verification by the Appointing Authority. The select list shall be forwarded to the Head of Department who will after approval forward it to the Appointing Authority for further action."

45. The details of the procedure to be followed for conducting the physical efficiency test, the main written examination, the scrutiny of the documents and medical examinations are further given in detail in Appendix-2, 3, 4 & 5 to Rule 15 of the Rules, 2008.

46. The Appendix-2 provides that the physical efficiency test will be conducted by a team comprising of six officers. One of them is a Medical Officer nominated by the Chief Medical Officer. It requires amongst others that physical efficiency test for constables shall consist of 4.8 km. run for male candidates to be completed within 30 minutes, and 2.5 km. run for female candidates to be completed within 18 minutes. It further provides that manual timing shall not be permitted and the standardized electronic timing equipment along with CCTV coverage and biometric with adequate equipment will be used to ensure accuracy, transparency and avoid impersonation. The Appendix further lays down the detailed process which is to be followed by the team.

47. A candidate who is successful in the Physical Efficiency Test is required to appear in written examination. The written test carries 300 marks, 35% marks is the minimum required marks for being successful in the said examination. The Appendix-4 provides the procedure for scrutiny of the documents with regard to eligibility, relaxation and preferential qualification. The scrutiny of the documents is done before the candidate is medically examined. The documents are scrutinized by a committee consisting of, amongst others, District Magistrate or an officer nominated by him not below the rank of Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Deputy Superintendent of Police, District Inspector of Schools and others.

48. The Appendix-5 gives a detailed procedure for physical standard test and medical examination of the candidate. The issue raised in this batch of petitions relates to medical examination of the candidates, hence Appendix-5 is necessary to be quoted as under:

"Appendix-5

Procedure for Physical Standards Test and Medical Examination of the Candidates

1. Medical Examination Board.---Candidates found eligible in the prescribed written examination and physical examinations and short listed and whose documents have been found to be in order after the scrutiny vide.

Appendix 4 will undergo the Medical Examination.

2. Physical Standards Test.---The Medical Examination shall, in addition to parameters prescribed vide Point III below, include the Physical Standards Test consisting of a height, chest and weight measurement for male and female candidate as the case may be.

(1) The minimum physical standard for male candidates are as follows:---

(a) Measurement of Height.---(i) For General/ other Backward classes and Scheduled Castes candidates shall be 168 Centimetres.

(ii) For tribal candidates the minimum height is 160 Centimetres.

(b) Measurement of Chest.---For the candidates belonging to General / Other Backward Classes and Scheduled Castes minimum chest measurement shall be 79 Centimeters without expansion and at least 84 Centimeters with expansion and for Scheduled Tribes 77 Centimeters without expansion and not less than 82 Centimeters on expansion.

Note.---Minimum 5 Centimeters chest expansion is essential.

(2) The minimum physical standard for female candidates.

(a) Measurement of Height.---(i) The minimum height for General/Other Backward Classes and Scheduled Castes women candidates is 152 Centimeters.

(ii) The minimum height for Scheduled Tribes women is 147 Centimeters.

(b) Measurement of Weight.---Minimum 40 Kg.

(3) The minimum Physical Standards of qualification of each test is to be displayed very prominently on boards in the Stadium/ Police Line wherever the test is conducted before conducting the examination.

3. Doctors to examine as per Medical Manual.

Note.---(1) Only standardized equipment having Indian Standard Institute certification or duly certified by the Directorate of Weights and Measures are to be used for Physical Standard Test Examination.

(4) The Medical Board comprising one representative each belonging to Minority, Other Backward Class and Scheduled Caste shall examine candidates according to "Police Recruitment Medical Examination Form" as prescribed and codified by the Head of the Department in consultation with Director General Medical Health. This Form will be available on the Board website and also displayed at the place of medical examination.

(a) The Doctors will examine the candidates in accordance with the Medical Manual, if any, and announce the result on the day of the Medical Examination.

(b) The result of medical examination will be displayed on the notice Board outside the premises at the end of the day.

(c) The Board will explore and try to institute a system of on-line record of medical examination directly on a remote server with auditable trail of changes and each change bearing a time stamp. No changes will be allowed after final submission of a record.

(d) Any candidate not satisfied by his medical examination, shall file an appeal on the day of examination itself. No appeal with respect to the medical examination shall be entertained if the Candidate fails to appeal on the day of his medical examination and announcement of the result of the same. The appeal should be disposed of by the medical Board constituted for the purpose within one month of the appeal being filed.

(e) The members of the medical board who are found to give the wrong report willfully will be liable for criminal proceedings.

(f) The Medical Examination is only qualifying in nature and it has no effect on the merit list."

49. As can be seen from a bare reading of the Rules, 2008 that a detailed and exhaustive procedure has been laid down for a fair selection.

50. Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a judgement of this Court in the case of Ashok Kumar Singh Constable v. State of U.P. & others, Writ-A No. 30417 of 2011, wherein the petitioner, a candidate for the post of Constable, was rejected on medical ground. He was found fit by the Medical Board and was appointed on 10th July, 2005 as Constable in Civil Police. However, his services were terminated after completing training in the year 2007 on the ground that he is colour blind. It was challenged on the ground that no opportunity was afforded. The said case is clearly distinguishable. In the present case, the petitioners have not been appointed as they have been declared medically unfit.

51. In another judgement in the batch of writ petitions led by Writ-A No. 16288 of 2011 (Rahul Kumar v. State of U.P. and others), the Court has directed for further medical examination. In the said case the petitioners were declared medically unfit by the Regional Medical Board constituted at the training centre. Initially the petitioners were declared fit by the Medical Board. Later, they were further medically tested and were declared unfit and they were prevented from completing their training on the ground that the second medical examination was not warranted. It was urged that under the service rules there is no provision for re-examination by the Medical Board. The learned Single Judge in the said case relied on a judgement in Arvind Kumar Sonkar (supra). The said judgement has been distinguished by the latter Division Bench in Parul Punia (supra), wherein it was found that Arvind Kumar Sonkar's case was decided on the basis of consent.

52. In the next case relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioners i.e. Arvind Kumar Sonkar v. State of U.P. And others, Special Appeal No. 1573 of 2007, the selection was in respect of the year 2006 and it was a case before the amendment was made in the Rules in 2009, 2011 and 2013. Moreover, the impugned orders were set aside on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice. In that case also, the petitioners were selected against regular posts and they were working as constable and without affording any opportunity their services were terminated. In view of the said facts, the said case is distinguishable.

53. There is another aspect of the matter. In the present case, there are serious allegations about the conduct of doctors which is also evident from the reports published in national newspapers and the fact that the first information reports have been lodged against the doctors and some of them have been found in possession of illegal huge amount in cash. These facts further require that there should be a Medical Board of Experts.

54. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Arjun Singh v. State of U.P. & others, Special Appeal Defective No. 540 of 2015, had an occasion to consider the issue with regard to interference under Article 226 of the Constitution in the matter of re-medical test. The Court has held that it would not be open for the Court to substitute its own opinion for the opinion of the medical authorities. However, the Court has further held that it can only interfere where there has been a violation of legal provisions or the decision has been arbitrarily taken.

Emphasis supplied

55. It was also provided in the interim order that the date fixed by the Principal was to be informed to the Inspector General-cum-Chief Security Commissioner of the Railway Protection Force. In the re-medical examination, the team of the doctors nominated by the Principal, KGMC found that the candidate's eye sight was within normal vision hence the writ petition was allowed.

56. In the Special Appeal the Court set aside the order of the learned Single Judge, principally on two grounds that in compliance of the interim order the officials of the Railways were not informed about the time when fresh re-medical was conducted and the order of the learned Single Judge was based on an order in the case of Arvind Kumar Sonkar v. State of U.P. & others³, wherein a similar direction was issued to constitute a three-member Board to re-examine a candidate who was rejected by the Medical Board of the Railways.

57. The first question which needs to be answered is as to whether non-furnishing reason is arbitrary. Concededly, after a candidate is rejected by the Medical Board at district level, no order is served upon him. He is orally informed that he can file an appeal on the same day.

58. It is true that the Rules, 2008 do not provide to furnish reasoned order to a candidate for his rejection on medical ground. The rule is silent presumably on the ground that in such administrative matters, there is no need to furnish the reasons. This appears to be on the premise that the authorities concerned, are not required to consider that fairness or natural justice demands that while rejecting a candidate on medical ground, they have to record the reason. But the present trend is otherwise.

59. In England in Common Law, the administrative authority was not required to give reason in its decision. For the first time, Lord Denning M.R. in Breen V Amalgamated Engineering Union [1971] 2 Q.B. 175 observed thus:

"The giving of reasons is one of the fundamentals of good administration"

60. However, the Courts in United States did not follow British law. They emphasized the need to record reasons in the orders. According to them, recording of the reasons serves following purposes:

(a) Decisions of authorities are subject to judicial reviews. The courts cannot exercise their duties of review unless order contains reasons.

(b) The authority should give clear indication that it has exercised the discretion within the four corners of law.

(c) The reason promotes the thought by the authority and eschews irrelevancies and assures careful administrative consideration.

61. Prof. H.W.R. Wade in his classic work (Administrative Law, 6th Edition,) has expressed his view that recording reasons is a part of natural justice. The Supreme Court approved those principles in the case of Union of India v. Mohan Lal Capoor and others⁴ and in a Constitution Bench in the case of S.N. Mukherjee v. Union of India⁵. The Constitution Bench has held that giving reasons facilitate appellate or revisional authority to decide the matter and it also eschew arbitrariness. The Court followed the view which the American Courts have taken. The relevant paragraph of S.N. Mukherjee (supra) reads as under:

"36. Reasons, when recorded by an administrative authority in an order passed by it while exercising quasi-judicial functions, would no doubt facilitate the exercise of its jurisdiction by the appellate or supervisory authority. But the other considerations, referred to above, which have also weighed with this Court in holding that an administrative authority must record reasons for its decision, are of no less significance. These considerations show that the recording of reasons by an administrative authority serves a salutary purpose, namely, it excludes chances of arbitrariness and ensures a degree of fairness in the process of decision-making. The said purpose would apply equally to all decisions and its application cannot be confined to decisions which are subject to appeal, revision or judicial review. In our opinion, therefore, the requirement that reasons be recorded should govern the decisions of an administrative authority exercising quasi-judicial functions irrespective of the fact whether the decision is subject to appeal, revision or judicial review. It may, however, be added that it is not required that the reasons should be as elaborate as in the decision of a court of law. The extent and nature of the reasons would depend on particular facts and circumstances. What is necessary is that the reasons are clear and explicit so as to indicate that the authority has given due consideration to the points in controversy. The need for recording of reasons is greater in a case where the order is passed at the original stage. The appellate or revisional authority, if it affirms such an order, need not give separate reasons if the appellate or revisional authority agrees with the reasons contained in the order under challenge."

62. The Supreme Court in the recent time has expanded the horizon of natural justice and reasons have been treated part of the natural justice. It has gone to the extent in holding that reasons are heart and soul of the order. The absence of reasons renders an order indefensible/ unsustainable particularly when it is subject to appeal/ revision. Reference may be made to the judgments of the Supreme Court in the cases of Ravi Yashwant Bhoir v. District Collector, Raigad and others⁶, Sant Lal Gupta and others v. Modern Cooperative Group Housing Society Limited and others⁷; Kranti Associates Private Limited and another v. Masood Ahmed Khan and others⁸; Abdul Ghaffar and another v. State of Bihar⁹; Ram Phal v. State of Haryana and others¹⁰.

63. The position of law that emerges from the decisions, mentioned above, is that assignment of reasons is imperative in nature. The judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

64. It is a trite law that even if a Statute is silent and it does not provide the principles of natural justice or are not embodied in rule, if by an order a statutory authority affects a citizen with civil or evil consequences, it must meet the test of reasonableness. Civil consequences cover everything that affects a citizen's civil life. Reference may be made to the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Mohinder Singh Gill and others Vs. The Chief Election Commissioner, New Delhi and others¹¹.

65. In view of the above, I do not find substance in the submissions of learned Standing Counsel that the Rules, 2008 do not require recording any reason, while rejecting a candidate on medical ground.

66. It is worth-mentioning that learned Standing Counsel has produced the original record, which indicates that even brief reasons have not been recorded and only in casual way deficiencies have been mentioned.

67. In medical matter the possibility of divergent opinions of doctors is common. Moreover in this profession, skills differ from doctor to doctor. There is always possibility of error of judgment while forming an opinion. It is trite that in realm of diagnosis and treatment there is a scope for genuine difference of opinion. Hence a brief description of deficiency with a brief reason is necessary to eschew the arbitrariness.

68. The record also indicates that in all the cases candidates' appeals have been rejected in mechanical manner. In fact, the order of the Appellate Medical Board appears to be rubber stamp decision, which does not inspire confidence.

69. In the present case, the Rule, 2008 provides only an appeal, and there is no provision of revision or review. Hence, in absence of reason the appeal in the present case is illusory inasmuch as the candidate does not know the ground on which he has been rejected.

70. Insofar as the submission of learned Standing Counsel that the opinion of the Medical Board and the Appellate Medical Board is based on expert opinion hence it would not be appropriate for this Court to interfere under the jurisdiction of Article 226 of the Constitution. I do not agree with the said submission. The Supreme Court in the case of Veer Pal Singh v. Secretary, Ministry of Defence¹² has considered the same issue. The Court has held that it is true that the opinion of the expert should be respected but it should not be worshiped. Relevant part of the judgement reads as under:

"10. Although, the courts are extremely loath to interfere with the opinion of the experts, there is nothing like exclusion of judicial review of the decision taken on the basis of such opinion. What needs to be emphasized is that the opinion of the experts deserves respect and not worship and the courts and other judicial / quasi-judicial forums entrusted with the task of deciding the disputes relating to premature release/ discharge from the army cannot, in each and every case, refuse to examine the record of the Medical Board for determining whether or not the conclusion reached by it is legally sustainable."

71. The Supreme Court in recent cases has emphasized the need to record reason by the Medical Board. In the case of Union of India and others v. Manjeet Singh¹³ has observed as under:

"27. ...The requirement of recording reasons is not contingent on the duration of the Army service of the member thereof and is instead of peremptory nature, failing which the decision to board him out would be vitiated by an inexcusable infraction of the relevant statutory provisions."

72. The next question that arises for consideration is whether amended Appendix-5(3) (d) to Rule-15 of the Rules, 2008 is irrational, unreasonable and arbitrary. The object of the Rule is to provide a remedy by way of an appeal. The Rules, 2008 is a subordinate legislation. It is a trite law that the subordinate legislation may also be questioned on any of the grounds on which vires of a legislation is challenged. Although the subordinate legislation does not carry the same degree of immunity which is enjoyed by the Statute passed by the competent legislature.

73. The question whether a subordinate legislation can be questioned on the ground of unreasonableness and arbitrariness, was considered by Prof. Alan Wharam in one of his article "Judicial Control of Delegated Legislation: The Test of Reasonableness". His views were quoted with approval by the Supreme Court in the case of Indian Express Newspapers (Bombay) Private Ltd. and others v. Union of India and others¹⁴. The Supreme Court held that the law in India about the arbitrariness comes within the sweep of Article 14 of the Constitution, hence a judicial review can also be made where a subordinate legislation is arbitrary and it offends Article 14 of the Constitution. In India, the Court may require the Government to exercise a power in a reasonable way in conformity with the spirit of the Constitution. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment in Indian Express newspapers (supra) are quoted as under:

"76. Prof. Alan Wharam in his Article entitled "Judicial Control of Delegated Legislation: The Test of Resonableness" in 36 Modern Law Review 611 at pages 622-23 has summarised the present position in England as follows :

(i) It is possible that the courts might invalidate statutory instrument on the grounds of unreasonableness or uncertainty, vagueness or arbitrariness; but the writer's view is that for all practical purposes such instruments must be read as forming part of the parent statute, subject only to the ultra vires test.

(ii) The courts are prepared to invalidate by-laws, or any other form of legislation, emanating from an elected, representative authority, on the grounds of unreasonableness, uncertainty or repugnance to the ordinary law; but they are reluctant to do so and will exercise their power only in clear cases.

(iii) The courts may be readier to invalidate by-laws passed by commercial undertakings under statutory power, although cases reported during the present century suggest that the distinction between elected authorities and commercial undertakings, as explained in Kruse v. Johnson, might not now be applied so stringently.

(iv) As far as subordinate legislation of non-statutory origin is concerned, this is virtually obsolete, but it is clear from *In re French Protestant Hospital*¹⁵ that it would be subject to strict control." [See also H.W.R. Wade: Administrative Law (Fifth Edn.) pp. 747-748].

77. In India arbitrariness is not a separate ground since it will come within the embargo of Article 14 of the Constitution. In India any enquiry into the vires of delegated legislation must be confined to the grounds on which plenary legislation may be questioned, to the ground that it is contrary to the statute under which it is made, to the ground that it is contrary to other statutory provisions or that it is so arbitrary that it could not be said to be in conformity with the statute or that it offends Article 14 of the Constitution.

78. ...On the facts and circumstances of a case, a subordinate legislation be may struck down as arbitrary or contrary to statute if it fails to take into account very vital facts which either expressly or by necessary implication are required to be taken into consideration by the statute or, say, the Constitution. This can only be done on the ground that it does not conform to the statutory or constitutional requirements or that it offends Article 14 or Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution. It cannot, no doubt, be done merely on the ground that it is not reasonable or that it has not taken into account relevant circumstances which the Court considers relevant."

74. The Supreme Court has applied the same principles in declaring the subordinate legislation arbitrary and ultra-vires. Reference may be made to the judgments in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh and others v. Hirendra Pal Singh and others¹⁶, Air India v. Nargesh Meerza and others¹⁷, Indian Council of Legal Aid & Advice and others v. Bar Council of India and another¹⁸, C. Chandramohan v. Sengottaiyan and others¹⁹ and State of Uttar Pradesh and others v. Ravindra Kumar Sharma and others²⁰.

75. In the case of Dev Dutta v. Union of India and others²¹, the Supreme Court was considering an office memorandum issued by the Ministry / Public Grievance and Pensions of the Union Government dated 10.11.1987, wherein it was provided that only adverse entry is to be communicated to the concerned employee and not the good entry. The Court held that the said communication violates Article 14 of the Constitution and declared all similar Rules/ Government Orders/ Office Memorandum in respect of all services under the State as illegal. The relevant part of the order reads as under:

11. ...It is well settled that no rule or government instruction can violate Article 14 or any other provision of the Constitution, as the Constitution is the highest law of the land. The aforesaid office memorandum, if it is interpreted to mean that only adverse entries are to be communicated to the employee concerned and not other entries, would in our opinion become arbitrary and hence illegal, being violative of Article 14. All similar Rules/Government Orders/Office Memoranda, in respect of all services under the State, whether civil, judicial, police, or other service (except the military), will hence also be illegal and are therefore liable to be ignored."

"12. It has been held in Maneka Gandhi vs. Union of India & Anr. AIR 1978 SC 597 that arbitrariness violates Article 14 of the Constitution. In our opinion, the non-communication of an entry in the A.C.R. of a public servant is arbitrary because it deprives the concerned employee from making a representation against it and praying for its up-gradation. ..."

76. What emerges from the abovementioned cases is that manifest arbitrariness, unreasonableness and absurdity can also be a ground to strike down a provision of the subordinate legislation.

77. The next question arises whether a part of provision can be severed from the rest of the provisions, Bennion on Statutory Interpretation (Fifth Edition) at Page 258 states that:

"...Severance Where possible, the court will sever the provision which is ultra vires from the rest of the instrument. If the instrument consists of a collection of separate units, each of which is say a rule, a regulation or a byelaw, severance is likely to be easier. However question of severance does not depend on a 'blue-pencil test'. In accordance with principle, the court will sever the invalid provision from the valid notwithstanding that this cannot be done neatly by textual amendment."

78. Applying those principles in the cases in hand, I find that Appendix 5(3)(d) to Rule-15(f) of the Rules, 2008 is unreasonable and arbitrary as it does not give sufficient time to file an appeal and secondly, in absence of reasoned order any appeal is empty formality, thus, arbitrary and violates Article 14 of the Constitution.

79. I shall now consider the question regarding the fairness of Medical Board.

80. Learned counsel for the petitioners have strenuously urged that there was wide spread corruption and unfairness in the medical examination. The petitioners have brought on the record newspaper clippings and reporting with regard to a large number of serious allegations against the conduct of the Doctors, who were the members of Medical Board at the district level. The Court's attention was also drawn to an FIR against the Doctors. It is stated that at the direction of the District Magistrate a raid was conducted on the members of Medical Board and huge amount of cash was recovered from them.

81. On the basis of those allegations, it was urged that the findings of Medical Boards are tainted and cannot be safely relied upon especially in the case of petitioners, who have qualified all the stages including physical efficiency test, which is most gruelling; a medically unfit person cannot succeed in those tests.

82. In my view, on the basis of abovementioned material on record it is difficult to hold that the entire selection is vitiated on the said ground.

83. However, these materials on the record raise serious question about the credibility of functioning of the Medical Board. In the matter of recruitment of constables the constitution of Medical Board which decides the appeal of the candidates against district level Medical Board, is not provided. The amended Appendix-5(3)(d) to the Rules, 2008 only provides that appeal can be filed on the same day. It further provides that it should be disposed of by the Medical Board constituted for the purpose within one month.

84. Relevant would it be to mention that Rule 15 and its Appendix-5, of the Rules, 2008 are completely silent about the constitution of Appellate Medical Board. In instructions, which is on the record, it is stated that the Appellate Medical Board is constituted in terms of Medical Manual. Paragraphs 176 to 186 of Chapter-V of the Medical Manual deals with the Rules for the grant of medical certificates and the payment of medical fees. Paragraph-182 provides that if in any case the candidate is not satisfied with the decision of Civil Surgeon, he may appeal to the Divisional Medical Board. Paragraphs 182 and 182-A of the U.P. Medical Manual is quoted herein below:

"182. If in any case a candidate is not satisfied with the decision of the Civil Surgeon he may appeal to the Divisional Medical Board through the head of the office or department concerned, and the latter may, at his discretion, accept and forward the appeal or refuse to do so, provided that he shall refuse to forward the appeal in any case in which a member of the Divisional Board had already expressed or recorded an opinion unfavourable to the employment of the candidate. When an appeal is allowed the candidate must appear, at his own expense, at the next meeting of the Board.

182-A. There will be no right of appeal from a Medical Board special or standing; but if State Government are satisfied, on the evidence produced, of the possibility of an error of judgment in the decision of the first Medical Board, it will be open to Government to allow an appeal to a second Medical Board.

Note: Such appeal should be preferred within one month from the date of issue of the communication in which the findings of the medical authority are communicated to the candidate. If the appeal is supported by a medical certificate as a piece of evidence about the possibility of an error of judgment in the decision of the medical authority, such certificate will not be taken into consideration unless it contains a note by the medical practitioner who issues such a certificate to the effect that it has been given in full knowledge the fact that the candidate has already been rejected as unfit."

85. Learned Standing Counsel has stated that at the Divisional Level the Appellate Medical Board is constituted by the Deputy Director, Medical & Health. In the Board there are three doctors.

86. It has to be borne in mind that that the petitioners have qualified all the stages save and except last stage i.e. Medical examination. If a Statute provides the appeal then the grievance of the aggrieved person must be considered objectively and fairly and the order of the appellate board should not be a rubber stamp order and skeletal.

87. Therefore, in my view, the appellate Medical Board should be constituted comprising experts of subjects and it should fairly re-examine the candidates who have preferred the appeal against their rejection on medical ground.

88. Now the question arises about composition / constitution of appellate Medical Board. In the case of Arvind Kumar Sonkar v. State of U.P. & others, Special Appeal No. 1573 of 2007 and other connected matters, by the consent order, a Medical Board was directed to be constituted consisting of three doctors, one from a Government Hospital, second from Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute, Lucknow and the third from the King George Medical College, Lucknow. In the said case also, appellants were the candidates for appointment on the post of constables and their services were dispensed with on the ground that they were medically unfit. But the said judgment has been distinguished by a Division Bench in the case of Union of India and others v. Parul Punia, 2016(2) ADJ 14 (DB) on the ground that Arvind Kumar Sonkar (Supra) was an order based on consent. The Division Bench in Parul Punia (supra) held that the recruitment process can be derailed if such requests of candidates, who are not found to be medically fit, for reassessment on the basis of procedures other than that provided in the statute, are allowed. This would ordinarily be impermissible. However, the Court directed that a review Medical Board shall reassess the case of the candidates who were rejected on medical ground. Paragraph-11 of the said order reads as under:

"11. We, accordingly, allow the special appeal and set aside the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge dated 26 November 2015. Instead and in place of the direction issued by the learned Single, we direct, that a review medical Board shall reassess the case of the respondent and shall upon a fresh medical examination determine whether the respondent meets the medical parameters for recruitment. This exercise shall be carried out no later than within a period of one month of the receipt of a certified copy of this order. Based on the report of the review medical Board, further action as may be warranted in law shall thereafter be taken by the authorities for considering the candidature of the respondent based on the assessment."

89. My attention has been drawn to a recent order of this Court in a batch of writ petition led by Ravi Shankar Dubey v. U.P. State Road Transport Corporation and others, Writ-A No. 38185 of 2015, wherein the Court has directed the U.P. State Road Transport Corporation to re-constitute State Medical Board comprising three members in the following manner.

"1. Out of the three members while one member shall be the Director General of Medical Health, the other two members should belong to the particular field of medicine relating to the employee before it;

2. One member shall be of the rank of Head of Department of the particular field of medicine relating to the employee before it.

3. The third member should not be below the rank of Professor of the particular field of medicine relating to the employee before it."

90. In the said case the facts were slightly different It was in the context of unfitness of the existing employees, however, in that case also the employees have doubted the credibility of medical reports.

91. In view of the above facts, in my view, it would be appropriate that in the existing Appellate Medical Board at the Divisional level one doctor shall be of the rank of Professor of a Medical College nominated by the Principal of the concerned College. The said direction is necessary to maintain transparency and credibility of the Medical Board.

92. Insofar as the submission of learned Standing Counsel that physical fitness is one of the essential requirements for the post in question is concerned, it goes without saying that in Civil Police, Armed Police and other branches of Police Force, physical fitness is one of the basic requirements which cannot be diluted. Any compromise with the fitness will adversely affect the efficiency of the Police Force.

93. After careful consideration of submissions of learned counsel for the parties and the material on record, for the reasons stated above, I hold that the provision for filing appeal on the same day as contained in Appendix-5(3)(d) to Rule-15(f) of the Uttar Pradesh Police Constables and Head Constables Service Rules, 2008, is unconstitutional and arbitrary being violative of Article 14 of the Constitution.

94. In view of the above, following orders are passed:

(i) The provision of Appendix-5(3)(d) to Rule-15 of the Rules, 2008, "on the day of the examination itself. No appeal with respect to the medical examination shall be entertained if the Candidate fails to appeal on the day of his medical examination and announcement of the result of the same" is struck down as arbitrary and ultra vires.

(ii) A fresh Appellate Medical Board shall be constituted within two months, as directed above. A candidate, who is aggrieved by the order of the Medical Board, may file an appeal to the Appellate Medical Board within two weeks. The freshly constituted Appellate Medical Board shall continue in future recruitments also until appropriate amendment is made in the Rules, 2008;

(iii) In the existing Appellate Medical Board at the Divisional level one doctor shall be of the rank of Professor of a Medical College nominated by the Principal of the concerned College.

(iv) The petitioners' appeals shall be considered by the newly constituted Appellate Medical Board.

95. The writ petitions are, accordingly, partly allowed.

96. Parties will bear their own costs.

Writ C No.- 18121 Of 2016

...Respondents

C.S.C., Ashish Gupta, J.K. Tiwari, R.S. Gupta, S.K. Rai

1. P.K. Jha vs. State of Jharkhand, 2006 (9) SCC 458
2. R.K. Agrawal vs. State of U.P., 2015 (1) SCC 642

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed with the following prayer:-

"(i) a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari to quash the illegal proceedings initiated after conclusion of proceedings by passing the final order/judgment and direct the respondents to restraint from proceeding further in Case Nos.74/2014-15, 76/2014-15 and 77/2014-15, vide order dated 2.4.2016."

2. Petitioner Yogesh Kumar has approached this Court with the assertion that proceedings of arbitration got initiated in respect of a dispute between the members and 509 Army Base Workshop Workers Cooperative Society, in which Sri Subhash Chandra, Joint Commissioner-cum-Joint Registrar Co-operative was appointed the arbitrator. It is stated that the proceedings continued before the arbitrator, and judgment was reserved in the matter on 19th March, 2015. According to the petitioner on 23rd March, 2015, awards were delivered in Case Nos.74 of 2014-15, 76 of 2014-15 and 77 of 2014-15. These awards have been brought on record of the writ petition as Annexure-2. It is stated in the writ petition that the awards have attained finality, and have not been challenged any further. Petitioner asserts that thereafter notices have been issued by the arbitrator calling upon petitioner to appear in proceedings of Arbitration Case Nos.74 of 2014-15, 76 of 2014-15 and 77 of 2014-15, vide notice dated 2nd April, 2016. Date has been fixed for appearance in the matter on 27th April, 2016. It is at this stage that petitioner felt aggrieved, and has filed this petition.

3. The writ petition was entertained, and following orders were passed in the matter on 3rd May, 2016:-

"The challenge in this petition is to the proceedings in respect of Misc. Case No.74 of 2014-15, 76 of 2014-15 and 77 of 2014-15 before the Dy. Commissioner/Dy. Registrar Co-operative Societies, Meerut Division, Meerut.

Sri Sujeet Kumar Rai, has put in appearance on behalf of respondent No.4.

He submits that for the same cause of action the petitioner has filed another writ petition which is pending before the Division Bench and is likely to come up on 9th May, 2016. He has produced the copy of the aforesaid writ petition.

I have perused the same and find in the said writ petition the cause of action arises out of Misc. Case No.73 of 2014-15, 75 of 2014-15 and 78 of 2014-15.

In view of above, the aforesaid petition is in respect of different proceedings and not those in relation to Case No.74 of 2014-15, 76 of 2014-15 and 77 of 2014-15.

The argument of learned counsel for the petitioner is that all the above three cases have already been decided by the award dated 23.03.2015 passed by the Joint Commissioner/Joint Registrar, Co-operative Societies, Meerut.

Therefore, the issuance of notices dated 2nd April, 2016 requiring the petitioner to appear and the participate in the said proceedings is wholly without jurisdiction.

Sri R.S. Gupta, learned counsel appearing for respondent No.5 submits that the awards dated 23.03.2015 which have been annexed with the petition are totally fake documents and are not part of the record of the proceedings and as such it is misconceived to allege that the above referred matters have decided.

Learned Standing Counsel appearing for respondents No.1 and 2 is directed to obtain the record of the above proceedings from the office of the Joint Commissioner/Joint Registrar, Co-operative Societies, Meerut and to produce the same before the court in a sealed cover on 10th May, 2016.

Put up on 10th May, 2016."

4. It further transpires that original records, pursuant to the directions issued on the previous occasion, were produced before the Court, and following orders were passed in the matter on 10th May, 2016:-

"In pursuance of the order dated 3.5.2016 the learned standing counsel has produced the original record of the three cases.

The order sheets reveals that the matter was heard by the Arbitrator on 19.3.2015 on merit and the order was reserved. Thereafter, on 29.4.2015 in presence of the representative of the society, on his application the case was adjourned. There is no order of 25.3.2015 on the order sheet, not even an order that the award had been pronounced. The copy of the award is also not part of the record.

Sri Umesh Chandra Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the award was pronounced on 23.3.2015 in the presence of the parties and a copy thereof bearing the signatures of the Arbitrator was supplied to the petitioner, a photocopy of which has been enclosed with the writ petition. He undertakes to produce the original copy supplied to him on the next date.

In view of the facts and circumstances of the case as referred to above and disclosed in the order dated 3.5.2016, it has to be ascertained, if any award, was pronounced by Mr. Subhash Kumar as Arbitrator on 23.3.2015 in the above three cases and if so, why it is not reflected in the order sheet and is not available on record.

Even though Mr. Subhash Kumar, who was Arbitrator, is retired from the post of the Joint Commissioner-cum-Joint Registrar, Co-operative Societies, U.P. Lucknow he is directed to appear before the court to explain his conduct in this regard.

The learned standing counsel is directed to inform Mr. Subhash Kumar about this order and to remain present before the court on the next date.

List on 26.5.2016, on which date he shall remain present.

The original record is returned to the learned standing counsel for keeping it in safe custody and to retain it till the next date of listing."

5. It may be noticed that the awards are stated to have been delivered by one Sri Subhash Chandra, in his capacity as an arbitrator, who has not been impleaded as a party to the writ petition. Respondent no.4 is the present arbitrator in the proceedings, which are under challenge. Pursuant to the directions issued by this Court, Mr. Subhash Chandra, who was the arbitrator, appeared before this Court, and is also present today. An affidavit has been filed in the matter by him through his counsel Sri J.K. Tiwari, Advocate. The arbitrator, who is stated to have delivered the awards, has stated that proceedings were pending before him, after he was named as an arbitrator by the Additional Registrar on 17.11.2014 for deciding the three cases in question. The arbitrator has following to state in support of the petitioner's contention that awards in fact had been delivered. Paragraphs 6 to 10 of the affidavit of compliance filed by Sri Subhash Chandra are reproduced:-

"6. That vide orders dated 17.11.2014 issued by Addl. Commissioner Evam Addl. Registrar (Law) Cooperatives, U.P., Lucknow, deponent above named was appointed as an Arbitrator for deciding Arbitration Cases concerned i.e. Arbitration Cases Nos.74/2014-15, 76/2014-15 and 77/2014-15 and deponent was further directed to give his award by 15.02.2015, which may be verified from the record of the department.

7. That the awards dated 23.03.2015 (Annexure No.2 of the Writ Petition) was delivered by the deponent on 23.03.2015 at about 5:45 P.M. and copy of which were received by respondents concerned who were present before the deponent on 23.03.2015.

8. That at the initial stage of preparation of order sheet pertaining to aforesaid awards in question suddenly deponent felt uneasiness and unwell due to increase of high blood pressure and he left the office immediately on 23.03.2015 at about 6:00 P.M. with intention to get order sheet prepared on 24.03.2015 after recovery from sudden illness.

9. That vide order dated 24.03.2015 issued by Addl. Commissioner Evam Addl. Registrar (Law) Cooperatives, U.P., Lucknow the matter pertaining to aforesaid Arbitration Cases No.74/2014-15, 76/2014-15 and 77/2014-15 were withdrawn from the deponent and for disposal of same Sri S.K. Dixit, Joint Commissioner Evam Joint Registrar Cooperative, Lucknow was appointed Arbitrator and he was directed to give award by 20.06.2015, which may be verified from the record of the department.

10. That in view of the issuance of the aforesaid order dated 24.03.2015 (Annexure No.A-2) issued by the Addl. Commissioner Evam Addl. Registrar (Law) Cooperatives, U.P., Lucknow the deponent above named could not completed preparation of order-sheet pertaining to award in question as he had become functus officio."

6. A counter affidavit has been filed in the matter on behalf of respondent no.5. So far as the making of the awards by the arbitrator, as alleged in the writ petition, is concerned, it is stated by the said respondent that in fact proceedings in arbitration were concluded on 19th March, 2015. However, no date was fixed in the matter, and the respondents were not informed at any stage that any award has been made. Delivery of awards on 23rd March, 2015 and serving its copies upon respondent no.5 is denied. It is also brought on record before this Court that serious allegations were levelled against the then arbitrator Sri Subhash Chandra and prayer was made to change the arbitrator. It is stated that pursuant to such request made, an order dated 24th March, 2015 was passed, noticing the apprehension expressed by the parties that they are not likely to get justice at the hands of the then arbitrator, and consequently, the proceedings have been transferred. The proceedings from Sri Subhash Chandra were withdrawn and transferred to Sri S.K. Dixit, Joint Commissioner-cum-Joint Registrar. This order withdrawing the proceedings from Sri Subhash Chandra bears the date of 24th March, 2015. Similar orders have been passed in respect of all three case. It is stated by the respondents that no award till then had surfaced. It is also stated that the parties remained under the belief that proceedings of arbitration are pending, and that is why subsequent letters for change of arbitrator were made by other parties. Reliance has been placed upon a letter sent by Mrs. Asha Yadav dated 14.7.2015, in which request has been made to change the arbitrator. It is stated that Smt. Asha Yadav is one of the defendants in arbitration proceedings. Respondents have further brought on record a letter dated 5th October, 2015, which is signed by 05 persons, including present petitioner, which refers to the proceedings of the arbitration being continued before one Sri Rajeev Yadav. The letter of petitioner, which has been enclosed as Annexure-13 to the counter affidavit at page-65, reads as under:-

7. The respondents have contended that in fact no award was made and the alleged awards, which have been relied upon by the petitioner, are manufactured documents, which have been brought to their notice much after the proceedings stood withdrawn from the arbitrator Sri Subhash Chandra, who is subsequently stated to have retired on 30th April, 2015. Reliance has also been placed upon the provisions contained under Section 71 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965, as well as Rules 244 to 246 framed under the U.P. Co-operative Societies Rules, 1968, which provide for the conduct of arbitration proceedings. Rules 244 to 246 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Rules, 1968, which are relevant for the present purposes, reads as under:-

"244. The award shall contain the reasons on which the decision is based and shall also contain an order as to costs, if any, and interest including future interest, if any, and shall also mention the number of the reference, the names and description of the parties and particulars of the dispute.

245. A copy of the award shall be given to each party, certified and sealed, in such manner as the Registrar may direct by general or special order.

246. (a) Any award made by an arbitrator or board of arbitrators shall be sent by him or by the president of the board of arbitrators, as the case may be, with all the papers and proceedings of the dispute to the Registrar (who appointed the arbitrator or the president of the board of arbitrators in the case), within 15 days from the date on which the award is made.

(b) Any document or record tendered by a party may, on application, be returned to the party after-

(i) the disposal of appeal, if any, or

(ii) the period of filing appeal has expired and no appeal has been filed."

8. The counter affidavit filed by the respondent no.5 has not been responded to by filing any rejoinder affidavit. Instead petitioner has filed a supplementary affidavit today, entertainment whereof has been seriously objected to by the respondents. In the supplementary affidavit filed by the petitioner, various allegations have been made against respondent no.5, and various mala fides have been alleged against him in the matter of conduct of affairs of the society. It has also been stated that proceedings have been drawn against respondent no.5, who was acting contrary to the interest of the society. Learned counsel for the petitioner, during the course of submissions, has contended that the proceedings were sought to be influenced at the instance of the Chief Secretary, and a letter dated 16th June, 2015 has been brought on record at page-49 of the supplementary affidavit. It is suggested by the counsel for the petitioner that it was on account of interest exercised by the Chief Secretary that proceedings were being manipulated.

9. I have heard Sri Colonel Sanjay Sitanshu, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos.1 & 2, Sri R.S. Gupta and Sri Ashish Gupta for the respondent no.5, Sri J.K. Tiwari has appeared for the arbitrator, who is stated to have passed the awards although he is not a party to the proceedings, and Sri Sujeet Kumar Rai, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no.4.

10. Issue that requires consideration in the present writ petition is as to whether proceedings of arbitration in Case Nos.74 of 2014-15, 76 of 2014-15 and 77 of 2014-15 stood concluded with delivery of awards by the then arbitrator or not on 23.3.2015, and in case it is found that awards have been delivered then how arbitration proceedings are being continued?

11. Pursuant to the directions issued by this Court, the records of arbitration proceedings have been produced before this Court. The original records have been scanned by the Court, and the observations, which have been made after noticing and examining the records, vide order dated 10th May, 2016, are extracted above. It is undisputed between the parties that on 19th March, 2015, proceedings of arbitration were concluded. It is further admitted between the parties that on that date, no date was fixed for delivery of award. The original records of the arbitration proceedings, which have been produced before the Court, also contain no stipulation about fixation of any date on 23rd March, 2015 for delivery of award. The original records, which have been produced before this Court also does not contain any award of the arbitrator. The copies of the award, however, have been enclosed alongwith the writ petition, genuineness whereof has been disputed by the respondents. The arbitrator in his affidavit has stated that he had delivered the awards on 23rd March, 2015 at 5.45 p.m., and it was received by the respondents concerned, who were present before the Court on 23rd March, 2015. Petitioner states that he was present on 23rd March, 2015, as the arbitrator had indicated in the open court on 19th March, 2015 that awards will be delivered on 23rd March, 2015. This stand of the petitioner as well as of the arbitrator appears to be contrary to the materials, which exists on record. The proceedings admittedly concluded on 19th March, 2015, and in the order-sheet, there is no endorsement of any date being fixed for delivery of the award. The arbitrator herein was conducting quasi-judicial proceedings and proceedings were required to have been duly reflected in the records. The stand taken by the arbitrator before this Court that awards were delivered on 23rd March, 2015, does not find support from the proceedings of the arbitration, which have been produced in original before this Court.

12. In order to further examine the stand of the arbitrator and the petitioner, it would be relevant to take note of the statutory scheme, which regulates the conduct of arbitration proceedings itself. Rule 244 states that the award shall contain the reasons on which the decision is based and shall also contain an order as to costs. Rule 245 thereafter provides that a copy of the award shall be given to each party, certified and sealed, in such manner as the Registrar may direct by general or special order. Rule 246 provides that any award made by an arbitrator or board of arbitrators shall be sent by him or by the president of the board of arbitrators, as the case may be, with all the papers and proceedings of the dispute to the Registrar (who appointed the arbitrator or the president of the board of arbitrators in the case), within 15 days from the date on which the award is made. The statutory scheme makes it clear that as soon as an award is made by the arbitrator, he is enjoined in law to send the award alongwith all papers and proceedings of the dispute to the Registrar within 15 days. Copy of the award has to be given to each party, certified and sealed, in such manner as the Registrar may direct by general or special order. In the facts of the present case, it is to be noticed that in fact the awards delivered by the arbitrator have not even been claimed to have been sent to the Registrar in the manner contemplated alongwith the proceedings. No certified copy has been issued either to the petitioner or to the respondents. Unless the award is delivered in the manner contemplated in law, its delivery cannot be conceived in law.

13. In the facts of the present case, this Court finds that awards as well as proceedings have neither been sent to the Registrar nor its certified copies have been issued to the parties. This is a material aspect, which has to be borne in mind. The arbitrator in his affidavit has stated that after he delivered the awards, he felt uneasiness and he left his office at about 6.00 p.m. with intention to get the order-sheet prepared on 24th March, 2015. It is also stated by him that the proceedings were thereafter withdrawn from his office on 24th March, 2015 itself, and were transferred to another arbitrator, on account of which he could not make any endorsement regarding delivery of awards in the order-sheet.

14. This Court, on the basis of materials adduced, finds that not only the records of arbitration proceedings do not speak about delivery of any award but even the parties including the petitioner were under a belief that arbitration proceedings are still pending. Reference has been made by the respondents to a letter sent by one of the persons, who is stated to be a party to the arbitration seeking transfer of the proceedings, vide letter dated 29th April, 2015. It is further to be noticed that petitioner himself has sent a letter on 5th October, 2015 objecting to the transfer of proceedings, on the ground that the arbitrator had fixed a date on 18th June, 2015, and proceedings had to be concluded on that date. Petitioner does not refer to making of any award by the arbitrator on 23rd March, 2015 in his letter. Contents of the letter signed by petitioner dated 5.10.2015 have already been extracted above. From the perusal of the letter sent by the petitioner himself, it is clear that petitioner was not aware about making of any award by the arbitrator, and he continued to appear in arbitration proceedings thereafter on subsequent dates, and reference has been made to the last proceedings on 18th June, 2015.

15. A counter affidavit has been filed and served upon the petitioner, but neither any reply has been filed, nor the letter annexed by the petitioner dated 5.10.2015 has been explained. The petitioner has filed subsequent affidavits including a supplementary affidavit, but his act of not filing a rejoinder affidavit clearly indicates that petitioner has nothing to state in opposition to the materials, which have been brought on record of the counter affidavit, particularly when the letter stated to have been sent by him on 5th October, 2015. This Court, therefore, is inclined to draw an inference that petitioner was not aware about making of any award by the arbitrator till 5th October, 2015. It seems that proceedings of arbitration have subsequently been transferred to respondent no.4, and at such subsequent stage, the petitioner in collusion with the then arbitrator has prepared awards, which have been annexed alongwith the writ petition to make out a case, as is being pleaded before this Court. The facts, which have been noticed, clearly go to show that neither the original records of the proceedings contain reference of awards, nor the awards have been sent to the Registrar, as was required under the Rules, and even certified copies have not been issued to the parties. The plea taken by the then arbitrator that he fell suddenly ill, does not merit any consideration, inasmuch as no supporting material has been brought on record to substantiate such plea of illness. Even otherwise, once the arbitrator was conducting the proceedings, and the awards were delivered on 23rd March, 2015, it was his duty to have maintained the proceedings accordingly, and his stand of delivery of awards having not been noticed in the order-sheet, due to his illness, lacks bona fide and is, therefore, not liable to be accepted.

16. In the facts and circumstances, as have been noticed above, this Court is inclined to hold that the alleged awards have not been delivered in the manner as is contemplated in law, and therefore, cannot be treated to be awards in the eyes of law. In the absence of proceedings being concluded with delivery of awards, the proceedings before the arbitrator are liable to be continued.

17. At this stage, it may also be noticed that though learned counsel for the petitioner has tried to make allegations of mala fide against the Chief Secretary, but such allegation need to be examined by this Court in absence of the person concerned having been impleaded as a party to the proceedings. Law in this regard has been settled by the Apex Court in P.K. Jha Vs. State of Jharkhand 2006(9) SCC 458 and in R.K. Agrawal Vs. State of U.P. 2015 (1) SCC 642, and unless a person is made a party, allegation of mala fide cannot be looked into. Although the conduct of the then arbitrator warrants making of observations against him in the matter, but as he has already retired, I refrain from making any further comment.

18. In view of the discussions made, it is held that no award in the eyes of law has been delivered on 23rd March, 2015, and the copy of the awards, which have been enclosed alongwith the writ petition as Annexure-2 are no award in the eyes of law. In the absence of there being any award delivered by the arbitrator, the proceedings before the arbitrator cannot be objected to. Writ petition, consequently, fails and is dismissed.

19. Since the proceedings before this Court are found to be an abuse of the process of law, the costs are reduced to Rs.1,000/- upon the prayer made by the counsel for the petitioner, though with a heavy heart. The original records shall be returned to the office concerned.

U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 – Section 6-N – Illegal Termination – Daily Wage Employee – Non-Existent Post

— Workman engaged as Tax Collector on daily wages, terminated without payment of retrenchment compensation — Labour Court held termination violative of Section 6-N and awarded reinstatement with continuity of service and 50% back wages — Employer, a local authority and 'State' under Article 12, specifically pleaded before Labour Court that engagement was never against any sanctioned or vacant post and that constitutionally mandated recruitment procedure was never followed — Held: Where employer is 'State' or instrumentality of State, existence of sanctioned post, manner of recruitment and compliance with Articles 14 and 16 remain relevant considerations even in industrial adjudication. (Para 1)

Relief of Reinstatement – Not Automatic – Compensation in Lieu Thereof — Held: Reinstatement with full back wages consequent upon finding of violation of Section 6-N/Section 25-F is not an automatic relief, particularly where workman engaged on daily wages for short duration — Monetary compensation in lieu of reinstatement better subserves ends of justice in such cases, subject to exceptions such as unfair labour practice or mala fide termination, none of which established here. (Para 2)

Reinstatement Against Non-Existent Post – Violative of Articles 14 and 16 — Held: Since no evidence led by workman to show engagement was against any sanctioned vacant post following due procedure, and specific plea of employer in this regard remaining un rebutted, direction of reinstatement against non-existent post, or conferring status of permanency through back-door engagement, would itself offend Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. (Para 3)

Quantification of Compensation – Amount Already Realised in Execution — Held: Considering workman had worked little over two years more than a decade ago, monetary compensation of Rs. 2,00,000/- held appropriate in lieu of reinstatement — Since amount exceeding this sum already realised by workman in execution proceedings, no further amount held payable and no recovery directed from workman, amount already paid treated as full and final settlement of claim under Section 6-N. (Para 4)

Connected Proceedings Under Section 33-C(2) – Consequential Setting Aside — Held: Order passed under Section 33-C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act granting regular pay-scale to workman, being founded on same erroneous premise of subsisting post and valid recruitment, cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside — No direction for payment of salary could accordingly be issued in workman's connected writ petition. (Para 5)

Writ Petition No. 25467 of 2013 Allowed In Part — Award of Labour Court modified to extent that workman held entitled to monetary compensation of Rs. 2,00,000/- alone in lieu of reinstatement, treated as satisfied by amount already paid, no further recovery or payment directed — Connected Writ Petition No. 48995 of 2015 Allowed, order under Section 33-C(2) set aside — Connected Writ Petition No. 31497 of 2016 Dismissed — Parties to bear their own costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Dispute between Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad and its workman Kamal Kumar has given rise to filing of these three writ petitions. These petitions have been heard together and are being disposed of by this common judgment.

2. Writ Petition No. 25467 of 2013 has been filed by Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad, challenging an award passed by Presiding Officer, Labour Court, U.P. Firozabad, dated 15.4.2013 in Adjudication Case No.35 of 2009. By the award, reference has been answered in favour of the workman, holding that his termination from service w.e.f. 22.7.2004 without complying with the requirement of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is bad in law, and relief of reinstatement alongwith continuity of service together with 50% back wages has been awarded. A sum of Rs.1500/- towards cost of litigation has also been awarded to the worker.

While entertaining the writ petition, following interim order was passed on 7.5.2013:-

"Sri A.K. Dixit, the learned counsel for the respondent no.2 will file a counter affidavit within three weeks.

List for admission thereafter.

In the meanwhile, the effect and operation of the award passed by the Labour Court shall remain stayed provided the petitioner reinstates the workman within three weeks from today and file an affidavit to that effect."

Parties are at issue regarding compliance of the aforesaid order.

3. Writ Petition No.48995 of 2015 is also filed by the Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad, challenging an order passed in Misc. Case No.16 of 2014, under Section 33-C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, awarding a sum of Rs.92,320/- towards salary payable from 1.6.2014 to 30th November, 2014 alongwith cost of litigation amounting to Rs.1,000/-. In this petition, an interim protection has been granted on 12.10.2015, staying the order upon the condition of deposit of 50% of the amount payable, which was permitted to be withdrawn by the workman.

4. Writ Petition No.31497 of 2016 has been filed by the worker Kamal Kumar for a direction upon Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad, to pay salary to him from month to month, and for deciding his application. Upon this writ petition, an order has been passed on 20th July, 2016 for the earlier writ petition to be connected, and that is how the matters have been placed before this Court.

5. The main writ petition for the present purposes is the Writ Petition No.25467 of 2013, wherein the award itself is under challenge, and the subsequent two writ petitions to a great extent are dependent upon the outcome of the first petition. In such circumstances, the Writ Petition No.25467 of 2013 is taken up first.

6. It transpires from the record that a writ petition no.41096 of 2004 was filed by the workman alongwith another person, seeking relief of regularization in the employment of Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad. This petition was disposed of on 8th February, 2007. Operative portion of the order dated 8.2.2007 is reproduced:-

"Considering the facts and circumstances of the case the petitioners may file a fresh representation before respondent no.2 and that will be considered in accordance with law within a period of two months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

It is made clear that this order will not come in the way of the petitioner if the respondents are interested to take work any further.

With these observations, this petition is disposed of."

7. In compliance of the directions so issued on 8.2.2007, workman's representation was rejected vide order dated 27.4.2007, holding that respondent workman was never appointed, nor had worked as a regular employee. The order records that the workman was engaged on daily wage basis to collect house and water tax as a contract employee, and he failed to furnish account. Upon expiry of term, his engagement automatically came to an end. It is, therefore, stated that since workman was never appointed, question of his termination does not arise, nor regularization of his services is permissible. This order dated 27.4.2007 then came to be challenged before this Court by filing Writ Petition No.50561 of 2007, which was dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy. A special appeal no.1547 of 2007 filed thereafter also was dismissed on 12.1.2009. It is thereafter that conciliation proceedings were initiated in the matter, which failed, resulting in making of reference of dispute to the Labour Court under Section 4-K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act. Written statements were filed by the workman and the employer. Evidence in the form of statement of the parties/their witnesses and other documentary evidence were also adduced. Labour Court has ultimately returned a finding that workman remained in continuous employment of Nagar Palika Parishad from 6.11.2001 to 22.7.2004, on daily wages, as Tax Collector, and his services were illegally terminated w.e.f. 23.7.2004. Relief of reinstatement alongwith continuity of service with 50% back wages has been allowed.

8. I have heard Sri Sahab Tiwari, learned counsel for the Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad, and Sri S.N. Dubey, learned counsel appearing for the workman Kamal Kumar, and have perused the materials available on record.

9. The workman in his written statement has stated that he was engaged w.e.f. 6.11.2001 by the executive officer, pursuant to an order of Chairman. In the Municipalities Act, 1916, power exists for appointing permanent or temporary workman, but as per the workman, the order in his case contained no stipulation that appointment is temporary. As per the workman, work of tax collector is permanent in nature, and as such his appointment was permanent from the very beginning. Reference is also made in his statement to various work performed and the persons with whom he worked. It is then stated that although his work was permanent, but he was not given any permanent post, due to which he filed writ petitions. Continuous working from 6.11.2001 to 22.7.2004 is also claimed.

10. Petitioner employer, on the other hand disputed the claim by asserting that Chairman had no authority to appoint any person without advertising the post and obtaining approval of State. Appointment on the post of Tax Collector has been denied, and it is asserted that no appointment order was issued. As per employer, the workman was engaged through contractor for some time on daily wages, without there being any vacant post in existence, purely due to exigency of work. A specific plea is taken that ever since workman claims his appointment, no post remained vacant, and that is why workman approached the Writ Court. In the absence of post, claim of reinstatement has been denied. Petitioner asserts that Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad, is a local authority constituted under the Act of 1916, and is a 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. It is stated that engagement of employee is regulated by statutory provisions. Appointment could be made only after due publication of vacancy, by the authority competent, against a post duly sanctioned by the State. It is stated that there was no vacant post of Tax Collector, nor any appointment order was ever issued to the respondent workman. In the written statement also, it was pleaded that no vacancy existed or was advertised, nor any appointment letter was issued to the workman, and that engagement of the workman was through a Contractor, and he was paid at the daily rate basis, and no employee employer relationship came into being, but all such objections have not been considered. Continuance of workman for three years is specifically denied, and it is alleged that no termination could be said to have been effected in the absence of any appointment itself.

11. On behalf of workman, it is stated that workman had been appointed by the Chairman, but admittedly no order of appointment has been brought on record. Reference has been made to engagement of workman by the Executive Officer w.e.f. 6.11.2001 on the basis of directions issued by the Chairman but such order is also not on record. However, it is stated that there was no complaint with regard to working of respondent workman.

12. Labour Court, on the basis of evidence brought before it, has disbelieved the case of employer about engagement of workman on contract basis, and it has been held that working of respondent from 6.11.2001 to 22.7.2004 was continuous. Labour Court, however, has not examined the question as to whether the engagement of workman was against any sanctioned vacant post, nor it has been considered as to whether the procedure for a valid recruitment by State agency had been followed or not. Although a specific issue was raised by the petitioner employer regarding appointment being bad due to non-following of procedure as well as non-availability of vacant post in the written statement but the workman failed to demonstrate that any valid appointment against a vacant post was made and the award is absolutely silent on such crucial aspects. A perusal of the award goes to show that Labour Court found engagement of respondent workman to be purely on daily wage basis. Labour Court has confined its award only to the aspect relating to non-payment of retrenchment compensation and consequent violation of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act.

13. It is undisputed that Nagar Palika Parishad, Firozabad is a local authority, and in matters relating to engagement of its employees, the statutory provisions as well as dictum of Article 16 of the Constitution of India was applicable. It is nowhere claimed that any recruitment proceeding in consonance with Article 16 of the Constitution of India was undertaken before engaging the respondent workman. No evidence has been led on behalf of the worker on this aspect, despite a specific objection taken in this regard before the Labour Court. On the aspect of existence of vacant post also no evidence was led by the workman. The engagement of respondent workman, therefore, was purely to meet exigency of work, on daily wage, and was apparently not against any post.

14. So far as challenge made by the employer to the award is concerned, it is to be noticed that though a case was set up by the employer about engagement being made on contract basis, but no evidence to support such a plea has been adduced before the Labour Court. The finding returned by the Labour Court about continuous working of workman is based upon appreciation of materials brought on record, which has not been shown to be erroneous or perverse. From the stand taken by the employer, engagement of workman on daily wage basis is not in dispute. It is further not in dispute that no retrenchment compensation was paid. In view of the finding returned by the Labour Court that the workman had continued for more than 240 days in a calendar year, and had not been paid any retrenchment compensation before terminating his services, the finding returned by the Labour Court about violation of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act is clearly made out and requires no interference.

15. Once it is held that termination of respondent workman was in teeth of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, it follows that termination is bad in law. The question which then arises is as to what is the relief, to which workman was entitled in law?

Sri S.N. Dubey has urged that once termination is held to be illegal, due to non-payment of retrenchment compensation, workman is entitled to reinstatement alongwith back wages, and the Labour Court is not required to go into other aspects like availability of post, manner of engagement etc. For such purposes, reliance has been placed upon decisions of the Apex Court in State of U.P. Vs. Charan Singh [2015 (8) SCC 150], Bhuvanesh Kumar Dwivedi Vs. M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd. [2014 (142) FLR 20], and K.V.S. Ram Vs. Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation [2015 (144) FLR 994] to contend that payment of compensation in place of reinstatement has been disapproved. It is also urged that unless award is found to be illegal on account of some error of law, relief of reinstatement cannot be substituted with lump sum compensation. Reliance has also been placed upon a judgment of the Apex Court in Harjinder Singh Vs. Punjab State Warehousing Corporation, reported in 2010 (3) SCC 192. Consideration of initial illegality in making of appointment was disapproved in the matter, as no such plea was taken before the Labour Court. Krishan Singh Vs. Executive Engineer, reported in 2010 (125) FLR 187, is also to similar effect. These two judgments apparently have no applicability in the facts of the present case, as the employer had taken a specific ground about non-existence of post as well as non-observance of procedure contemplated for a valid appointment in its written statement.

16. On the other hand, judgments are relied upon, to contend that where employer is a 'State' or 'Agency or instrumentality of State' issues regarding existence of post, manner of recruitment, length of service etc. are relevant considerations. Learned counsel for the petitioner employer has relied upon a recent decision of the Apex Court reported in 2014 (7) SCC 177 (Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited Vs. Bhurumal). Para 29 to 35 of the said decision dealt with a similar exigency, where a worker engaged on daily wage had been terminated without complying with the provisions of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act. Following proposition has been laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Paras 29 to 35, which is reproduced:-

"29. The learned counsel for the appellant referred to two judgments wherein this Court granted compensation instead of reinstatement. In the case of BSNL vs. Man Singh [(2012) 1 SCC 558], this Court has held that when the termination is set aside because of violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, it is not necessary that relief of reinstatement be also given as a matter of right. In the case of Incharge Officer & Anr. vs. Shankar Shetty [(2010) 9 SCC 126], it was held that those cases where the workman had worked on daily wage basis, and worked merely for a period of 240 days or 2- 3 years and where the termination had taken place many years ago, the recent trend was to grant compensation in lieu of reinstatement.

30. In this judgment of Shankar Shetty (supra), this trend was reiterated by referring to various judgments, as is clear from the following discussion: (SCC pp 127-28, paras 2-4)

"2. Should an order of reinstatement automatically follow in a case where the engagement of a daily wager has been brought to end in violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (for short "the ID Act")? The course of the decisions of this Court in recent years has been uniform on the above question.

3. In Jagbir Singh v. Haryana State Agriculture Mktg. Board⁵, delivering the judgment of this Court, one of us (R.M. Lodha,J.) noticed some of the recent decisions of this Court, namely, U.P. State Brassware Corpn. Ltd. V. Uday Narain Pandey⁶, Uttarakhand Forest Development Corpn. V. M.C. Joshi⁷, State of M.P. v. Lalit Kumar Verma⁸, M.P. Admn v. Tribhuban⁹, Sita Ram v. Moti Lal Nehru Farmers Training Institute¹⁰, Jaipur Development Authority v. Ramsahai¹¹, GDA v. Ashok Kumar¹² and Mahboob Deepak v. Nagar Panchyat, Gajraula¹³ and stated as follows: (Jagbir Singh case⁵, SCC pp.330 & 335 paras 7 & 14)

'7. It is true that the earlier view of this Court articulated in many decision reflected the legal position that if the termination of an employee was found to be illegal, the relief of reinstatement with full back wages would ordinarily follow. However, in recent past, there has been a shift in the legal position and in a long line of cases, this Court has consistently taken the view that relief by way of reinstatement with back wages is not automatic and may be wholly inappropriate in a given fact situation even though the termination of an employee is in contravention of the prescribed procedure. Compensation instead of reinstatement has been held to meet the ends of justice.

14. It would be, thus, seen that by a catena of decisions in recent time, this Court has clearly laid down that an order of retrenchment passed in violation of Section 25-F although may be set aside but an award of reinstatement should not, however, automatically passed. The award of reinstatement with full back wages in a case where the workman has completed 240 days of work in a year preceding the date of termination, particularly, daily wagers has not been found to be proper by this Court and instead compensation has been awarded. This Court has distinguished between a daily wager who does not hold a post and a permanent employee.'

4. Jagbir Singh⁵ has been applied very recently in Telegraph Deptt. V. Santosh Kumar Seal¹⁴, wherein this Court stated: (SCC p.777, para 11)

'11. In view of the aforesaid legal position and the fact that the workmen were engaged as daily wagers about 25 years back and they worked hardly for 2 or 3 years, relief of reinstatement and back wages to them cannot be said to be justified and instead monetary compensation would subserve the ends of justice.'"

31. In the case of *Telecom District Manager v. Keshab Deb*¹⁵ the Court emphasized that automatic direction for reinstatement of the workman with full back wages is not contemplated. He was at best entitled to one months' pay in lieu of one month's notice and wages of 15 days of each completed year of service as envisaged under Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act. He could not have been directed to be regularized in service or granted /given a temporary status. Such a scheme has been held to be unconstitutional by this Court in *A.Umarani v. Registrar, Coop.Societies*¹⁶ and Secy., State of Karnataka v. Umadevi⁽³⁾¹⁷.

32. It was further submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that likewise, even when reinstatement was ordered, it does not automatically follow full back wages should be directed to be paid to the workman. He drew our attention of this Court in the case of *Coal India Ltd. Vs. Ananta Saha*¹⁸ and *Metropolitan Transport Corporation v. V. Venkatesan*¹⁹.

33. It is clear from the reading of the aforesaid judgments that the ordinary principle of grant of reinstatement with full back wages, when the termination is found to be illegal is not applied mechanically in all cases. While that may be a position where services of a regular/permanent workman are terminated illegally and/or malafide and/or by way of victimization, unfair labour practice etc. However, when it comes to the case of termination of a daily wage worker and where the termination is found illegal because of procedural defect, namely in violation of Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, this Court is consistent in taking the view in such cases reinstatement with back wages is not automatic and instead the workman should be given monetary compensation which will meet the ends of justice. Rationale for shifting in this direction is obvious.

34. The reasons for denying the relief of reinstatement in such cases are obvious. It is trite law that when the termination is found to be illegal because of non-payment of retrenchment compensation and notice pay as mandatorily required under Section 25-F of the Industrial Disputes Act, even after reinstatement, it is always open to the management to terminate the services of that employee by paying him the retrenchment compensation. Since such a workman was working on daily wage basis and even after he is reinstated, he has no right to seek regularization [See: State of Karnataka vs. Uma Devi⁽³⁾¹⁷]. Thus when he cannot claim regularization and he has no right to continue even as a daily wage worker, no useful purpose is going to be served in reinstating such a workman and he can be given monetary compensation by the Court itself inasmuch as if he is terminated again after reinstatement, he would receive monetary compensation only in the form of retrenchment compensation and notice pay. In such a situation, giving the relief of reinstatement, that too after a long gap, would not serve any purpose.

35. We would, however, like to add a caveat here. There may be cases where termination of a daily wage worker is found to be illegal on the ground it was resorted to as unfair labour practice or in violation of the principle of last come first go viz. while retrenching such a worker daily wage juniors to him were retained. There may also be a situation that persons junior to him were regularized under some policy but the concerned workman terminated. In such circumstances, the terminated worker should not be denied reinstatement unless there are some other weighty reasons for adopting the course of grant of compensation instead of reinstatement. In such cases, reinstatement should be the rule and only in exceptional cases for the reasons stated to be in writing, such a relief can be denied."

Similar views are expressed by the Apex Court in Bhavnagar Municipal Corporation Vs. Jadeja Govubha Chhanubha AIR 2015 SC 609; Rajasthan State Agricultural Marketing Board Vs. Mohan Lal 2013 (14) SCC 543 and 2014 (16) SCC 440. Judgment in BSNL Vs. Bhurumal (supra) has been reiterated in Hari Nandan Prasad and another Vs. Employer I/R to Management of Food Corporation of India and another, 2014 (7) SCC 190. The question as to what relief is to be granted to a workman employed by State Authorities when termination is found to be bad on account of non-payment of retrenchment compensation has been dealt with extensively. Paragraphs 23 to 40 of the judgment is apposite and thus reproduced:-

"23. Before we advert to this question, it would be necessary to examine as to whether the Constitution Bench judgment in Uma Devi case have applicability in the matters concerning industrial adjudication. We have already pointed out above the contention of the counsel for the appellants in this behalf, relying upon Maharashtra State Road Transport case that the decision in Uma Devi would be binding the Industrial or Labour Courts. On the other hand, counsel for the FCI has referred to the judgment in U.P. Power Corporation for the submission that law laid down in Uma Devi equally applies to Industrial Tribunals/Labour Courts. It, thus, becomes imperative to examine the aforesaid two judgments at this juncture.

24. A perusal of the judgment in U.P. Power Corporation would demonstrate that quite a few disputes were raised and referred to the industrial tribunal qua the alleged termination of respondent Nos.2 and 3 in that case. Without giving the details of those cases, it would be sufficient to mention that in one of the cases the tribunal held that after three years of their joining in service both respondents 2 and 3 were deemed to have been regularized. The appellants filed the Writ Petition which was also dismissed. Challenging the order of the High Court, the appellants had approached this Court. It was argued that there could not have been any regularization order passed by the Industrial Court in view of the decision in Uma Devi. Counsel for the workmen had taken a specific plea that the powers of the industrial adjudicator were not under consideration in Uma Devi's case and that there was a difference between a claim raised in a civil suit or a Writ Petition on the one hand and one adjudicated by the industrial adjudicator. It was also argued that the labour court can create terms existing in the contract to maintain industrial peace and therefore it had the power to vary the terms of the contract.

25. While accepting the submission of the appellant therein viz. U.P. Power Corporation, the Court gave the following reasons: (U.P. Power Corpn. case, SCC pp.758, para 6-8)

"6. It is true as contended by learned counsel for the respondent that the question as regards the effect of the industrial adjudicators' powers was not directly in issue in Umadevi case. But the foundation logic in Umadevi case is based on Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Though the industrial adjudicator can vary the terms of the contract of the employment, it cannot do something which is violative of Article 14. If the case is one which is covered by the concept of regularization, the same cannot be viewed differently.

7. The plea of learned counsel for the respondent that at the time the High Court decided the matter, decision in Umadevi case was not rendered is really of no consequence. There cannot be a case of regularization without there being employee-employer relationship. As noted above the concept of regularization is clearly linked with Article 14 of the Constitution. However, if in a case the fact situation is covered by what is stated in para 45 of Umadevi case the industrial adjudicator can modify the relief, but that does not dilute the observations made by this Court in Umadevi case about the regularization.

8. On facts, it is submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that Respondent No.2 himself admitted that he never worked as a pump operator, but was engaged as daily wage basis. He also did not possess the requisite qualification. Looked at from any angle, the direction for regularization, as given, could not have been given in view of what has been stated in Umadevi case."

It is clear from the above that the Court emphasized the underline message contained in Umadevi's case to the effect that regularization of a daily wager, which has not been appointed after undergoing the proper selection procedure etc. is impermissible as it was violative of Art.14 of the Constitution of India and this principle predicated on Art.14 would apply to the industrial tribunal as well inasmuch as there cannot be any direction to regularize the services of a workman in violation of Art.14 of the Constitution. As we would explain hereinafter, this would mean that the industrial court would not issue a direction for regularizing the service of a daily wage worker in those cases where such regularization would tantamount to infringing the provisions of Art.14 of the Constitution. But for that, it would not deter the Industrial Tribunals/Labour Courts from issuing such direction, which the industrial adjudicators otherwise possess, having regard to the provisions of Industrial Disputes Act specifically conferring such powers. This is recognized by the Court even in the aforesaid judgment.

26. For a detailed discussion on this aspect, we proceed to discuss the ratio in the case of Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation (supra). In that case the respondent Karamchari Union had filed two complaints before the Industrial Court, Bombay alleging that the appellant-Corporation had indulged in unfair labour practice qua certain employees who were engaged by the appellant as casual labourers for cleaning the buses between the years 1980-1985.

It was stated in the complaints that these employees were made to work every day at least for 8 hours at the depot concerned of the Corporation; the work done by them was of permanent nature but they were being paid a paltry amount; and even when the post of sweepers/cleaners were available in the Corporation, these employees had been kept on casual and temporary basis for years together denying them the benefit of permanency:

26.1. After adjudication, the Industrial Court held that the Corporation had committed unfair labour practice under items 5 and 9 of Schedule IV to the Maharashtra Recognition of Trade Unions and Prevention of Unfair Labour Practice Act, 1971 (MRTU and PULP Act). As a consequence, it directed the Corporation to pay equal wages to the employees concerned which was being paid to Swachhaks and also pay arrears of wages to them.

26.2. In the second complaint, the Industrial Court returned the finding that the Corporation was indulging in unfair labour practice under Item 6 of Schedule IV, by continuing these employees on temporary/casual/daily wage basis for years together and thereby depriving them the benefits of permanency. The direction in this complaint was to cease and desist from the unfair labour practice by giving them the status, wages and all other benefits of permanency applicable to the post of cleaners, w.e.f. 3.8.1982.

27. The Corporation challenged these two orders of the Industrial Court before the High Court of Judicature at Bombay in five separate Writ Petitions. These were disposed of by the learned Single Judge vide common judgment dated 2.8.2001 holding that complaints were maintainable and the finding of the Industrial Court that the Corporation had indulged in unfair labour practice was also correct.

28. The Corporation challenged the decision of the learned Single Judge by filing LPAs which were dismissed by the Division Bench on 6.5.2005. This is how the matter came before the Supreme Court. One of the contentions raised by the appellants before this Court was that there could not have been a direction by the Industrial Court to give these employees status, wages and other benefits of permanency applicable to the post of cleaners as this direction was contrary to the ratio laid down by the Constitution Bench of this Court in Umadevi (supra). The Court while considering this argument went into the scheme of the MRTU and PULP Act. It was, inter-alia, noticed that complaints relating to unfair labour practice could be filed before the Industrial Court. The Court noted that Section 28 of that Act provides for the procedure for dealing with such complaints and Section 30 enumerates the powers given to the Industrial and Labour Courts to decide the matters before it including those relating to unfair labour practice. On the reading of this section, the Court held that it gives specific power to the Industrial/Labour Courts to declare that an unfair labour practice has been engaged and to direct those persons not only to cease and desist from such unfair labour practice but also to take affirmative action. Section 30(1) conferring such powers is reproduced below:

"30. Powers of Industrial and Labour Courts.- (1)Where a court decides that any person named in the complaint has engaged in, or is engaging in, any unfair labour practice, it may in its order-

(a)declare that an unfair labour practice has been engaged in or is being engaged in by that person, and specify any other person who has engaged in, or is engaging in the unfair labour practice;

(b) direct all such persons to cease and desist from such unfair labour practice, and take such affirmative action (including payment of reasonable compensation to the employee or employees affected by the unfair labour practice, or reinstatement of the employee or employees with or without back wages, or the payment of reasonable compensation), as may in the opinion of the Court be necessary to effectuate the policy of the Act;

(c) where a recognized union has engaged in or is engaging in, any unfair labour practice, direct that its recognition shall be cancelled or that all or any of its rights under sub-section(1) of Section 20 or its right under Section 23 shall be suspended."

29. It was further noticed that Section 32 of the Act provides that the Court shall have the power to decide all connected matters arising out of any application or a complaint referred to it for decision under any of the provisions of this Act. The Court then extensively quoted from the judgment in Uma Devi in order to demonstrate the exact ratio laid down in the said judgment and thereafter proceeded to formulate the following question and answer thereto:

"The question that arises for consideration is: have the provisions of the MRTU and PULP Act been denuded of the statutory status by the Constitution Bench decision in Umadevi? In our judgment, it is not."

30. Detailed reasons are given in support of the conclusion stating that the MRTU and PULP Act provides for and empowers the Industrial/Labour Courts to decide about the unfair labour practice committed/being committed by any person and to declare a particular practice to be unfair labour practice if it so found and also to direct such person ceased and desist from unfair labour practice. The provisions contained in Section 30 giving such a power to the Industrial and Labour Courts vis-à-vis the ratio of Uma Devi are explained by the Court in the following terms: (Maharashtra SRTC case, SCC pp. 573-74, paras 32-33 & 36)

"32. The power given to the Industrial and Labour Courts under Section 30 is very wide and the affirmative action mentioned therein is inclusive and not exhaustive. Employing badlis, casuals or temporaries and to continue them as such for years, with the object of depriving them of the status and privileges of permanent employees is an unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV. Once such unfair labour practice on the part of the employer is established in the complaint, the Industrial and Labour Courts are empowered to issue preventive as well as positive direction to an erring employer.

33. The provisions of the MRTU and PULP Act and the powers of the Industrial and Labour Courts provided therein were not at all under consideration in Umadevi. As a matter of fact, the issue like the present one pertaining to unfair labour practice was not at all referred to, considered or decided in Umadevi. Unfair labour practice on the part of the employer in engaging employees as badlis, casuals or temporaries and to continue them as such for years with the object of depriving them of the status and privileges of permanent employees as provided in Item 6 of Schedule IV and the power of the Industrial and Labour Courts under Section 30 of the Act did not fall for adjudication or consideration before the Constitution Bench.

36. Umadevi does not denude the Industrial and Labour Courts of their statutory power under Section 30 read with Section 32 of the MRTU and PULP Act to order permanency of the workers who have been victims of unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV where the posts on which they have been working exist. Umadevi cannot be held to have overridden the powers of the Industrial and Labour Courts in passing appropriate order under Section 30 of the MRTU and PULP Act, once unfair labour practice on the part of the employer under Item 6 of Schedule IV is established."

31. The Court also accepted the legal proposition that Courts cannot direct creation of posts, as held in Mahatma Phule Agricultural University vs. Nasik Zilla Sheth Kamgar Union (2001) 7 SCC 346. Referring to this judgment, the Court made it clear that inaction on the part of the State Government to create posts would not mean an unfair labour practice had been committed by the employer (University in that case) and as there were no posts, the direction of the High Court to accord the status of permanency was set aside. The Court also noticed that this legal position had been affirmed in State of Maharashtra vs. R.S.Bhonde (2005) 6 SCC 751. The Court also reiterated that creation and abolition of post and regularization are purely Executive functions, as held in number of judgments and it was not for the Court to arrogate the power of the Executive or the Legislature by directing creation of post and absorbing the workers or continue them in service or pay salary of regular employees. This legal position is summed up in para 41 which reads as under: (Maharashtra SRTC case, SCC p.576)

"41. Thus, there is no doubt that creation of posts is not within the domain of judicial functions which obviously pertains to the executive. It is also true that the status of permanency cannot be granted by the Court where no such posts exist and that executive functions and powers with regard to the creation of posts cannot be arrogated by the courts."

32. However, the Court found that factual position was different in the case before it. Here the post of cleaners in the establishment were in existence. Further, there was a finding of fact recorded that the Corporation had indulged in unfair labour practice by engaging these workers on temporary/causal/daily wage basis and paying them paltry amount even when they were discharging duties of eight hours a day and performing the same duties as that of regular employees.

33. In this backdrop, the Court was of the opinion that direction of the Industrial Court to accord permanency to these employees against the posts which were available, was clearly permissible and with the powers, statutorily conferred upon the Industrial/Labour Courts under Section 30 (1)(b) of the said Act which enables the Industrial adjudicator to take affirmative action against the erring employees and as those powers are of wide amplitude abrogating within its fold a direction to accord permanency.

34. A close scrutiny of the two cases, thus, would reveal that the law laid down in those cases is not contradictory to each other. In U.P. Power Corporation, this Court has recognized the powers of the Labour Court and at the same time emphasized that the Labour Court is to keep in mind that there should not be any direction of regularization if this offends the provisions of Art.14 of the Constitution, on which judgment in Umadevi is primarily founded. On the other hand, in Bhonde case, the Court has recognized the principle that having regard to statutory powers conferred upon the Labour Court/Industrial Court to grant certain reliefs to the workmen, which includes the relief of giving the status of permanency to the contract employees, such statutory power does not get denuded by the judgment in Umadevi's case. It is clear from the reading of this judgment that such a power is to be exercised when the employer has indulged in unfair labour practice by not filling up the permanent post even when available and continuing to workers on temporary/daily wage basis and taking the same work from them and making them some purpose which were performed by the regular workers but paying them much less wages. It is only when a particular practice is found to be unfair labour practice as enumerated in Schedule IV of MRTTP and PULP Act and it necessitates giving direction under Section 30 of the said Act, that the Court would give such a direction.

35. We are conscious of the fact that the aforesaid judgment is rendered under MRTTP and PULP Act and the specific provisions of that Act were considered to ascertain the powers conferred upon the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court by the said Act. At the same time, it also hardly needs to be emphasized the powers of the industrial adjudicator under the Industrial Disputes Act are equally wide. The Act deals with industrial disputes, provides for conciliation, adjudication and settlements, and regulates the rights of the parties and the enforcement of the awards and settlements. Thus, by empowering the adjudicator authorities under the Act, to give reliefs such as a reinstatement of wrongfully dismissed or discharged workmen, which may not be permissible in common law or justified under the terms of the contract between the employer and such workmen, the legislature has attempted to frustrate the unfair labour practices and secure the policy of collective bargaining as a road to industrial peace.

36. In the language of Krishna Iyer, J:

"22. The Industrial Disputes Act is a benign measure, which seeks to pre-empt industrial tensions, provide for the mechanics of dispute- resolutions and set up the necessary infrastructure, so that the energies of the partners in production may not be dissipated in counter-productive battles and the assurance of industrial justice may create a climate of goodwill." (Life Insurance Corpn. Of India v. D.J.Bahadur 1980 Lab IC 1218, 1226(SC), per Krishna Iyer,J.).

In order to achieve the aforesaid objectives, the Labour Courts/Industrial Tribunals are given wide powers not only to enforce the rights but even to create new rights, with the underlying objective to achieve social justice. Way back in the year 1950 i.e. immediately after the enactment of Industrial Disputes Act, in one of its first and celebrated judgment in the case of Bharat Bank Ltd. V. Employees of Bharat Bank Ltd. [1950] LLJ 921,948-49 (SC) this aspect was highlighted by the Court observing as under: (Bharat Bank case, AIR p.209, para 61)

"61. In settling the disputes between the employers and the workmen, the function of the tribunal is not confined to administration of justice in accordance with law. It can confer rights and privileges on either party which it considers reasonable and proper, though they may not be within the terms of any existing agreement. It has not merely to interpret or give effect to the contractual rights and obligations of the parties. It can create new rights and obligations between them which it considers essential for keeping industrial peace."

37. At the same time, the aforesaid sweeping power conferred upon the Tribunal is not unbridled and is circumscribed by this Court in the case of New Maneckchowk Spinning & Weaving Co.Ltd.v. Textile Labour Association [1961] 1 LLJ 521,526 (SC) in the following words: (AIR p.870, para 6)

"6. This, however, does not mean that an industrial court can do anything and everything when dealing with an industrial dispute. This power is conditioned by the subject matter with which it is dealing and also by the existing industrial law and it would not be open to it while dealing with a particular matter before it to overlook the industrial law relating to the matter as laid down by the legislature or by this Court."

38. It is, thus, this fine balancing which is required to be achieved while adjudicating a particular dispute, keeping in mind that the industrial disputes are settled by industrial adjudication on principle of fair play and justice.

39. On harmonious reading of the two judgments discussed in detail above, we are of the opinion that when there are posts available, in the absence of any unfair labour practice the Labour Court would not give direction for regularization only because a worker has continued as daily wage worker/adhoc/temporary worker for number of years. Further, if there are no posts available, such a direction for regularization would be impermissible. In the aforesaid circumstances giving of direction to regularize such a person, only on the basis of number of years put in by such a worker as daily wager etc. may amount to backdoor entry into the service which is an anathema to Art.14 of the Constitution. Further, such a direction would not be given when the concerned worker does not meet the eligibility requirement of the post in question as per the Recruitment Rules. However, wherever it is found that similarly situated workmen are regularized by the employer itself under some scheme or otherwise and the workmen in question who have approached Industrial/Labour Court are at par with them, direction of regularization in such cases may be legally justified, otherwise, non-regularization of the left over workers itself would amount to invidious discrimination qua them in such cases and would be violative of Art.14 of the Constitution. Thus, the Industrial adjudicator would be achieving the equality by upholding Art. 14, rather than violating this constitutional provision.

40. The aforesaid examples are only illustrated. It would depend on the facts of each case as to whether order of regularization is necessitated to advance justice or it has to be denied if giving of such a direction infringes upon the employer's rights."

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner Nagar Palika Parishad has also relied upon the decision of this Court reported in 2011 (5) ALJ 249 (State of U.P. And another Vs. Hind Majdoor Sabha and others), and also decision of the Apex Court reported in 2013 (2) SCC 751 (Raj Kumar Vs. Jalagaon Municipal Corporation), 2010 (6) SCC 773 (Senior Superintendent Telegraph (Traffic), Bhopal Vs. Santosh Kumar Seal and others), 2005(107) FLR 122 (M/s Kesarwani Zarda Bhandar Vs. Additional Labour Commissioner, Allahabad and others), and AIR 2006 SC 2427 (Haryana State Electronics Development Corporation Ltd. Vs. Mamni).

18. Having considered the aforesaid submission, this Court finds that law for guidance of the courts with regard to grant of relief, in such circumstances, has been clearly laid down by the Apex Court. Relief of reinstatement and back wages, in a case of violation of Section 6-N or Section 25-F, is the normal rule. Industrial jurisprudence and service jurisprudence operated in distinct fields. However, after the exhaustive definition assigned to industry in Bangalore Water Supply case, this distinction has got blurred. Many of governmental activities upon which provisions of Articles 14 and 16 apply have come within the definition of industry. Applicability of constitutional provisions, which regulates governmental activity, cannot be excluded from consideration merely because it is an industry. In view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in Hari Nandan Prasad (supra), considerations like existence of post, manner of recruitment, length of working, entitlement of regularization in case of daily wager etc. are relevant in case of a State instrumentality notwithstanding it being an industry. Grant of relief of reinstatement to a daily wager is not automatic, when no post itself is available. The nature of engagement is relevant, inasmuch as if it is found that initial engagement was contrary to Article 16 of the Constitution of India, the Court may not be justified in granting relief of reinstatement, as it may not subserve the larger cause sought to be addressed by Article 16 of the Constitution of India. Although, as a result of non-compliance of Section 6-N, workman is entitled to be reinstated, but in the absence of existence of any vacant post of Tax Collector, it would not be possible to award relief of reinstatement against a non-existent post. This is particularly so as the employer herein is a State Authority and in the matter of recruitment thereunder is governed by the statutory service regulations, and dictum of Articles 14 and 16 would clearly be attracted.

19. Even otherwise, reinstatement is permissible on the same status as was held by the workman at the time of his termination. The Labour Court has held that workman was engaged on daily wage basis, and his reinstatement would have to be as a daily wage earner. The workman's plea of regularization has not been granted. No such relief can otherwise be granted in the matter of employment by State/Agency of State, against a non-existent post without following the procedure for recruitment. In the facts of the present case, engagement of respondent was apparently a back-door entry, courtesy the then Chairman, without any advertisement or existence of post. Despite a specific plea taken in the written statement, the workman has not adduced any evidence to show that he was appointed against a vacant post, after procedure was followed. Relief of non-compliance of the provisions of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act can not be granted, which has the effect of violating mandate laid under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Consequence flowing from the non-compliance of Section 6-N, therefore, has to be restricted in a manner such that constitutional protection guaranteed under Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India itself is not violated.

20. Labour Court has not found the case of workman to be covered under the Rules for regularization. Regularization can otherwise be granted only in accordance with the Rules framed for the purpose (See: Secretary, State of Karnataka vs. Uma Devi & Ors. (2006) 4 SCC 1). In case reinstatement is allowed as a daily wager, the continuance of worker would be dependent upon exigency of work, and it would be open for the employer to terminate the employee upon payment of retrenchment compensation. The judgment relied upon on behalf of the respondents in State of U.P. Vs. Charan Singh, reported in 2015 (8) SCC 150 also will have no applicability, inasmuch as the Labour Court in the said case had returned a finding on the basis of evidence that work of tube-well operator were taken over by other workman, some of whom were junior. Finding was returned that post of tube-well operator was not abolished, but was merely changed. The judgment in Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi (supra) since related to a private company, as such, considerations mandated by Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India did not arise for consideration.

21. In the opinion of the Court, it was not proper for the Labour Court to have allowed relief of reinstatement when there existed no post and procedure for appointment was not followed. On this aspect, award suffers from a serious error of law, which is liable to be corrected by this Court, exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In such circumstances, workman was at best entitled to a definite sum towards compensation instead of relief of reinstatement.

22. Considering the facts and circumstances that respondent had worked for a little over two years more than a decade back, and his engagement was on daily wage basis against a non-existent post without following any procedure for recruitment contemplated in law, it would have been appropriate that a sum of Rs.2 lacs was quantified and awarded, as monetary compensation to the worker on account of non-payment of retrenchment compensation, under Section 6-N of the Act. However, admittedly, a sum of Rs.3,00,000/- and odd has already been realized in execution proceedings, and paid to the respondent workman. This amount was disbursed to the workman in the year 2015. It would be harsh on part of this Court to direct any recovery now from the respondent workman. In order to balance equity, it would be appropriate to hold that no further amount would be payable to the workman concerned, and no recovery would be made from the respondent workman of the amount, which had already been paid. The amount already paid would be treated to be the settlement amount, which would take care of all claims of the respondent workman concerned on account of disobedience of Section 6-N of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act.

23. In view of the conclusions drawn in Writ Petition No.25467 of 2013, the order passed by the Labour Court under Section 33-C(2) granting regular scale of pay for the post of Tax Collector, without there being any post and valid recruitment cannot be sustained. Since it has already been held that the grant of relief vide award is illegal, for the reasons already stated above, the order passed by the Labour Court in Misc. Case No.16 of 2014 cannot be sustained and is set aside, and Writ Petition No.48995 of 2015 is allowed. No direction for payment of salary can thus be issued, as prayed for in the Writ Petition No.31497 of 2016. The Writ Petition No.31497 of 2016 is, accordingly, dismissed.

24. Accordingly, Writ Petition Nos.25467 of 2013 succeeds and is allowed in part, and the award of the Labour Court dated 22.3.2013 in Adjudication Case No.35 of 2009 is modified to the extent that respondent workman is held entitled to monetary compensation of Rs.2,00,000/- alone. However, in view of the facts narrated above, it is provided that no further amount is held payable under the award to the workman Kamal Kumar, nor any recovery is to be made by the employer from the workman concerned.

25. Parties shall bear their own cost.

Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 – Sections 17 and 18 – Successive Appeals Against Successive Auction Notices – Jurisdiction — Borrower's securitisation appeal under Section 17(1) against first auction notice dismissed by DRT — Appeal under Section 18 against such dismissal remained pending before Appellate Tribunal without compliance of mandatory pre-deposit or grant of interim relief — Fresh e-auction notice issued during pendency, challenged by borrower through fresh appeal under Section 17(1), in which Tribunal declined interim relief by reasoned order that attained finality — Borrower thereafter revived stay application in earlier pending Section 18 appeal to challenge fresh auction notice — Held: Having elected to challenge fresh auction notice by separate appeal under Section 17(1) and having failed therein, borrower could not revert to earlier pending Section 18 appeal, confined in scope to previous superseded auction notice, to assail the fresh notice. (Para 1)

Jurisdiction of Appellate Tribunal – Fresh Cause of Action Cannot Be Agitated in Pending Appeal – – Held: Appellate Tribunal had no jurisdiction to entertain, in pending Section 18 appeal, a challenge to fresh auction notice which was never subject-matter of that appeal, more so when borrower's separate challenge under Section 17 to the fresh notice was not pursued further. (Para 2)

Interim Protection – Requirement of Reasons – SARFAESI Proceedings — Appellate Tribunal stayed e-auction and allowed waiver of 75% of mandatory pre-deposit without recording any reasons — Held: Reasons must be assigned even while granting interim or interlocutory protection — Order staying e-auction without recording reasons is unsustainable. (Para 3)

Recovery Proceedings – Caution in Grant of Stay – Impact on Financial Institutions — Held: Courts and Tribunals must exercise circumspection while granting stay in matters concerning recovery of dues of banks and financial institutions, since such stay orders have serious adverse impact on financial health of such institutions and, ultimately, on the economy. (Para 4)

Section 18(1), Provisos – Mandatory Pre-Deposit – Waiver – Reduction Only With Reasons Recorded in Writing — Second proviso to Section 18(1) mandates pre-deposit of 50% of amount due; third proviso permits Appellate Tribunal to reduce it to not less than 25%, for reasons recorded in writing — Held: Grant of interim protection before compliance with requirement of pre-deposit under Section 18(1) was impermissible in facts of the case. (Para 5)

Writ Petition Allowed — Order of Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal dated 26.06.2016, staying e-auction of secured asset and allowing waiver of pre-deposit, set aside — Parties left to pursue remedies available to them in law — Costs made easy.

Case Law Discussed

1. Narayan Chandra Ghosh vs. UCO Bank & Ors. (referred)

3. G. Vallikumari vs. Andhra Education Society and others, (2010) 2 SCC 497
4. Kranti Associates (P) Ltd. vs. Masood Ahmed Khan, (2010) 9 SCC 496
5. United Bank of India vs. Satyawati Tondon, 2010 AIR SCW 5267

1. Petitioner United Bank of India has approached this Court challenging an order passed by the Debt Recovery Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad (hereinafter referred to as the "Appellate tribunal") dated 26.6.2016, staying e-auction of property in question, scheduled for 21.6.2016. Application for waiver has been allowed simultaneously, permitting the defaulters to deposit 25% amount till the date of auction, after adjusting the amount deposited after issuance of notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act, 2002.

2. Facts in brief are that commercial loan was availed under the Prime Minister's Employment Generation Scheme by respondent firm on 19th February, 2010. Overall credit limit of Rs.23,75,000/- for Ice and Ice-cream Unit was sanctioned. It consisted of a term loan of Rs. 16,15,000/-, repayable in 84 monthly installments of Rs. 19,226/- per month, beginning from February, 2010 besides interest as given in schedule to the sanction letter. Working capital amounting to Rs. 7,16,000/- was also sanctioned and had to be paid in 84 monthly installments of Rs. 9,048/- along with interest. Terms of loan were duly accepted and a bidding agreement came into being. Respondent no. 3 is the proprietor of the respondent no. 2 firm and respondent no. 4 is the guarantor. Respondent no. 4 admittedly executed a equitable mortgage of house no. 260/129/2, Himmatganj, Allahabad, which is the subject matter of e-auction.

3. Default in payment of loan amount in terms of loan agreement is not disputed. A notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act was issued on 31st August, 2013, showing a liability of Rs.27,53,563/- along with future interest. Recovery notices were also issued from time to time and respondent firm requested for grant of further time to repay the amount, but to no avail. Possession notice under Section 13(4) was issued on 10th April 2014. Ultimately bank proceeded with auction of mortgaged property vide notice dated 28.8.2014, fixing 8th October 2014 as the date of auction.

Respondent nos. 2 and 3, at this stage filed a securitization appeal no. 364 of 2014 on 30th September, 2014. This appeal came to be dismissed by the Debts Recovery Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal") on 28th August 2015.

4. Aggrieved by the rejection of this appeal vide order dated 28.8.2015, respondent no. 2 and 3 then preferred an appeal before the Appellate Tribunal which was registered as securitization appeal no. 256 of 2015. Along with appeal, an application for waiver from pre deposit was also filed along with stay application. An objection was also came to be filed by the petitioner in the matter.

5. It transpires that while securitization appeal of petitioner remained pending before the appellate tribunal, a fresh date for auction was fixed on 21.6.2016 vide notice dated 10.5.2016. Aggrieved by this notice respondent nos. 2 and 3 preferred a fresh appeal under Section 17(1) of SARFAESI Act, 2002 on 21st May 2016. An objection to such appeal was filed by the petitioner on 6th June, 2016. The Tribunal disposed of stay application while refusing to interfere with e-auction fixed for 21st June. The order of Tribunal dated 7th June 2016 is reproduced :-

" Ld. Counsel Sri Ashok Pandey is present on behalf of the applicant.

Ld. Counsel Sri. K.M. Asthana is present on behalf of the respondent bank.

Counsel for the bank filed written objection.

Copy reserved.

While arguing on stay application, counsel for the applicant submitted that he has no objection if bank may auction the property under Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 but bank is under obligation to disclose the arbitration proceedings pending before the Hon'ble High Court to the intending purchasers. He further submitted that he has no other grouse at this stage as far as disposal of stay application is concerned.

Whereas counsel for the bank submitted that bank has every right to auction the property and is not under obligation to disclose anything to the intending purchaser regarding alleged arbitration proceedings. He further submitted that the said property is not subject matter of arbitration proceedings.

In rebuttal counsel for the applicant submitted that as one arbitration dispute is pending regarding partnership firm before Hon'ble High Court as such bank is under obligation to disclose such fact to all the bidders to avoid multiplicity of litigation.

I have heard the counsel for the parties and gone through the record. In fact applicants have referred partition deed dated 18.3.1977 annexed at page 126 of S.A. and partnership deed dt. 25.3.1977 annexed at page 150 of the S.A. In which the mortgagor of the bank is not party, so I am of the considered opinion that if at all some dispute is pending before Hon'ble High Court regarding said documents, the bank is not under obligation to convey any litigation between third persons to the purchasers under securitization process. The stay application is accordingly disposed of.

The applicant is directed to file rejoinder within 15 days.

Post the matter on 12.7.2016 for final hearing."

6. The order of Tribunal dated 7th June 2016, has been allowed to become final. No appeal under Section 18, has been filed against it. Respondent nos. 2 and 3, however, appear to have moved an application on 14.6.2016 for stay in their appeal pending before the Appellate Tribunal being S.A. 256 of 2015. An objection was filed by the petitioner raising various grounds. The Appellate Tribunal by the order impugned has allowed the waiver application to the extent of 75% and respondent nos. 2 and 3 have been permitted to deposit 25% pre deposit till the date of e-auction. Paragraphs 12 to 15 of the appellate order reads as under:-

" 12. It is to be pointed out at this juncture that as per the second proviso of sub-section (1) of Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 no appeal shall be entertained unless the borrower/guarantor has deposited with the Appellate Tribunal 50% of the amount due from him as claimed by the secured creditor or determined by the Debts Recovery Tribunal. As per the third proviso of Sub-section (1) of Section 18, the Appellate Tribunal may, for the reasons to be recorded in writing, reduce the amount to not less than 25% of debt referred to in the second proviso.

13. The language used in Section 18(1) of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 is very plain and clear that the Appellate Tribunal is not versted with any discretion, except to the pre-deposit amount to the extent of 25% of the debt due from the appellant for reasons to be recorded in writing.

14. In view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Narayan Chandra Ghosh Vs. UCO Bank & Ors. (Supra) and in the facts of the present case, I deem it just and proper to direct the appellants to deposit 25% of the demand amounting to Rs. 27,53,563/- raised by the respondent-Bank as per notice under section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act, 2002, which is to be reduced by a sum of Rs. 2,47,541/- which has already been paid by the appellants after the demand notice. This amount is to be paid before the auction sale of the property in question scheduled to be held on 21.6.2016 in the form of Demand Draft in the name of the Registrar of the Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad, who shall keep the sasme in FDR for a period of six months n the Nationalized Bank in auto renewal scheme.

15. The waiver application is accordingly decided.

7. Tribunal at the same time has proceeded to stay the auction/sale of the property in question fixed for 21st June, 2016. Aggrieved by the order of the Appellate Tribunal, petitioner bank has filed the present writ petition. A counter affidavit has been filed in the matter on behalf of respondent nos. 2 to 4 which is taken on record.

8. I have heard Sri K.M. Asthana for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel appearing for respondent nos. 1 and 5 and Sri Ashok Pandey, counsel for respondent nos. 2 to 4. With the consent of the counsel for the parties, writ petition is disposed of finally at the admission stage itself.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has challenged the appellate order on the following grounds:-

(i) The grant of interim protection is unsustainable since no reasons have been assigned in the order.

(ii) No relief could be granted in respect of the e-auction fixed for 21st June 2016, in the appeal filed under Section 18 as it was against a previous notice, and had lost its efficacy, especially as a subsequent appeal was filed under Section 17(1) against fresh notice.

(iii) The order dated 7.6.2016 rejecting stay application had attained finality and without any challenge laid to it, no stay could be granted.

(iv) It is also contended that Appellate Tribunal could not entertain and grant relief on the interim application as condition of pre deposit of 25% was not met by then.

10. Sri. Ashok Pandey, Advocate, on the other hand has submitted that the Appellate Tribunal has validly passed interim order for the reasons recorded therein, which requires no interference.

11. From the facts already noticed above, it is undisputed that a commercial loan was availed of by respondent nos. 2 and 3 and the borrower failed to repay the loan amount in terms of the agreement. Proceedings under Section 13(2) were initiated vide notice dated 31.8.2013 and thereafter, possession notice under Section 13(4) dated 10th April, 2014 was also issued. Auction notice of mortgaged property was issued on 28.8.2014 fixing 8th October, 2014 as the date of auction. The proceedings were challenged by filing appeal under Section 17(1) of the Act, 2002 being securitization appeal no. 364 of 2014. This appeal of respondent nos. 2 and 3 has been rejected on 28.8.2015. In appeal filed against it under Section 18 No. 256 of 2015 neither the requirement of pre deposit in terms of Section 18 was met nor any interim protection was granted.

12. The date for auction fixed on 8.10.2014 had expired. A fresh auction notice was published on 10.5.2016 fixing 21st June 2016 as the date for holding of e-auction. Respondents opted to challenge the fresh e-auction notice by instituting a fresh appeal under Section 17(1) of the SARFAESI Act of 21st May 2016. The filing of fresh appeal by respondent nos. 2 and 3, in law, would mean that respondents opted not to pursue their grievance in pending appeal before under Section 18 of the Act. This appears to have been done as a fresh cause had arisen and for pursuing the appeal under Section 18, the respondents had to comply with the requirement of pre deposit in terms of Section 18(1), where as, no such requirement existed if a fresh appeal under Section 17 was filed. It was however open in law for the respondents to have filed a fresh appeal under Section 17 which they opted.

13. However having opted to choose such course and having failed to get any interim relief from the Tribunal, respondents gave up their challenge in the fresh appeal under Section 17 and reverted back to the appeal pending under Section 18. The order of Tribunal dated 7.6.2016, already extracted, is not even challenged. No appeal under Section 18 was filed against it. Instead a fresh application for stay was preferred in their pending appeal before Appellate Tribunal being S.A. No. 256 of 2015.

14. The Appeal before appellate Tribunal was pending on the date of issuance of fresh auction notice dated 10th May 2016, and in case respondent nos. 2 and 3 intended to question the fresh auction notice in their pending appeal under Section 18, there was no necessity of having filed a fresh securitization appeal under Section 17. However, after having elected not to challenge the fresh auction notice in pending appeal under Section 18, and filing a fresh appeal under Section 17 against it, the respondent nos. 2 to 4 could not thereafter give up their appeal against fresh auction notice and straightaway challenge the auction notice in appeal arising out of the previous auction notice. This Court finds substance in the argument of the petitioner that respondent nos. 2 and 3 having given up their challenge in the fresh auction notice in the appeal filed against it, could not have pressed their pending appeal under Section 18 for challenging the fresh auction notice. Admittedly, the scope of appeal under Section 18 was restricted to the order passed by the Tribunal rejecting challenge to the previous auction notice. The fresh auction notice was not the subject matter of challenge in previous appeal filed under Section 17 or the orders passed thereafter. A fresh cause, therefore could not have been brought before the appellate forum in the pending appeal. The Appellate forum, therefore, had no jurisdiction to entertain a challenge to the fresh auction notice in the pending appeal arising out of previous e-auction notice. Particularly, as the challenge made to the fresh auction notice by invoking Section 17 was not pursued.

15. Even otherwise, this Court finds that absolutely no reasons have been assigned for grant of interim protection to respondent nos. 2 and 3. Apparently, the default in repayment of loan was established and the only ground pressed was the pendency of some arbitration, which the respondents wanted to be made known to the intending purchaser. It was not open for the Appellate Tribunal to have stayed the e-auction without specifying reasons for grant of such interim protection. Law is settled that reasons must be assigned even for grant of interim protection. (See: Siemens Engineering & Manufacturing Co. of India Ltd. Vs. Union of India and other: AIR 1976 SC 1785, G.Vallikumari vs. Andhra Education Society and others: (2010) 2 SCC 497 and Kranti Associates (P) Ltd. vs. Masood Ahmed Khan: (2010) 9 SCC 496).

16. This is particularly so as proceedings under SARFAESI Act have been undertaken. Apex Court in United Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tondon 2010 AIR SCW 5267 has been pleased to observe that in cases relating to recovery of the dues of banks, financial institutions and secured creditors, stay granted by High Court would have serious adverse impact on the financial health of such bodies/institutions, which would ultimately be detrimental to the economy. The observation of the apex court applies equally to the proceedings of Appellate Tribunal when it proceeds to grant interim protection to a defaulter. Cogent reasons have to be assigned before the Tribunal assumes jurisdiction in the matter to grant interim protection. In the absence of reasons assigned for grant of relief by the Tribunal, the order itself is rendered bad. This Court also finds that interim relief has been granted by the Tribunal, even before requirement of pre deposit was met, which was impermissible.

17. In the facts and circumstances, as have been noticed above, this Court finds that the order of the Tribunal impugned in this petition suffers from lack of jurisdiction and is, otherwise, in teeth of settled principles of law, which cannot be sustained.

18. Writ petition, consequently, stands allowed. Order of the Tribunal dated 20th June 2016 is set aside. Parties are left to pursue their remedy as are available to them in law.

19. Costs made easy.

Fair Price Shop Licence — Cancellation — Substitution of Legal Heir — Locus Standi — Petitioner, licence holder, died during pendency of writ petition — Substitution application filed by his son on ground that cancellation orders were illegal and he, being legal heir, has right to be heard — Respondent objected that petition became infructuous on death of licence holder and son has no right to defend father's action or inaction — Son of deceased licence holder has a right for consideration for allotment of fair price shop if father was carrying good reputation in distribution of essential commodities — If cancellation orders are allowed to stand unconsidered on merits, they would come in the way of son's preferential right — Writ petition cannot be rendered infructuous — Substitution application allowed. (Para 1)

Government Order dated 17.08.2002 — Clause 10(jha) — Preferential Right of Legal Heir — Clause 10(jha) provides that on death of a shopkeeper of good reputation, the shop may be allotted to his dependent, meaning wife, son, or unmarried daughter — Reliance placed on Subash Vs. State of U.P., 2015 (1) ADJ 113 — Division Bench therein held that allotment is to be made only after resolution in open meeting of Gaon Sabha, and legal heir of a licensee who earned goodwill has a preferential right for consideration on compassionate ground — Son of licence holder has preferential right for consideration, subject to villagers' opinion on father's reputation being obtained in open Gram Sabha meeting. (Para 2)

Cancellation of Licence — Non-Distribution of Essential Commodities — Absence of Concerned Officer — Distribution scheduled for 11.10.2007 could not take place as the concerned officer/observer did not turn up — Licence holder promptly informed District Supply Officer, who fixed 18.10.2007 for distribution and nominated another officer to supervise — Distribution duly carried out on 18.10.2007 — Suspension order passed on 30.10.2007, i.e., twelve days after distribution, acting on an earlier complaint. Distribution was not withheld but only postponed for reasons beyond licence holder's control — First charge in suspension order not proved — Licensing and Appellate Authorities failed to consider that distribution had in fact taken place on rescheduled date. (Para 3)

Cancellation of Licence — Non-Deposit of Money for November 2007 — Gram Pradhan's Inaction — Licence holder pleaded that money for November 2007 could not be deposited as the distribution certificate for October 2007 was not issued by Gram Pradhan, and further that shop stood suspended from 30.10.2007 itself, leaving no occasion to deposit money for the subsequent month — Neither Licensing Authority nor Appellate Authority examined this aspect or recorded any finding that the certificate had in fact been furnished — Second charge also not established — Cancellation on this count equally unsustainable. (Para 4)

Appellate Order — Non-Application of Independent Mind — Appellate Authority rejected appeal on the very same grounds as the Licensing Authority without independent reasoning — Such mechanical affirmance vitiates the appellate order. (Para 5)

Relief — Cancellation Orders Set Aside — Compassionate Allotment — Cancellation orders passed by Licensing Authority and Appellate Authority set aside on both counts — Son of deceased licence holder permitted to apply for allotment of the fair price shop, which fell vacant on his father's death, on compassionate ground — Sub-Divisional Officer directed to convene open Gram Panchayat meeting within six weeks of presentation of application, taking villagers' opinion on reputation of deceased licence holder — Candidature of impleaded respondent (subsequent allottee) also to be considered in the same meeting — Decision to be taken preferably within four weeks of the meeting — Writ petition allowed with directions. (Para 6)

Case Law Discussed

1. Subash Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2015 (1) ADJ 113

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satyawan Shahi, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the respondent no.6

2. The relevant facts of the case are that:-

3. The present petition has been allowed by this Court vide judgement and order dated 16.02.2012 whereby the orders passed by the licensing authority and the appellate authority in cancelling the fair price shop licence of the petitioner have been quashed. It appears that an impleadment application was filed by Smt. Sumitra Devi with the assertion that the shop in question was allotted in her favour after cancellation of the licence of the petitioner. She was, therefore, necessary party in the writ petition. It appears that no order could be passed on the impleadment application and it remained pending. The applicant Smt. Sumitra Devi therefore, filed a review application alongwith the delay condonation application which was rejected by this Court vide order dated 06.09.2012.

4. Aggrieved Smt. Sumitra Devi, approached the Apex Court in Civil appeal nos.9363-9364 of 2014, against the order dated 16.02.2012 passed in writ petition and the order dated 06.09.2012 passed on the review application.

5. The Apex Court has set aside both the orders on 08.10.2014 on the ground that the High Court should have given opportunity to the appellant Smt. Sumitra Devi before restoring the licence of the petitioner (respondent no.6 before the Apex Court). However, it was directed by the Apex Court that till a final order is passed by this Court the licence of respondent no.6 namely the petitioner herein shall continue and he can operate the fair price shop.

6. It appears that during pendency of the present writ petition the petitioner died on 02.04.2015 and a substitution application, therefore, has been filed by his son namely Ram Pravesh on the ground that the authorities had illegally passed the cancellation orders and he being the legal heir of the deceased (licence holder) has a right to be heard.

7. On 25.04.2016 when the matter was heard, the impleadment application filed by Smt. Sumitra Devi was allowed and she was directed to be impleaded as respondent no.6 in the array of party. Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel appearing for Smt. Sumitra Devi (respondent No.06 herein) has been heard at length.

8. Learned counsel for the respondent at the very outset submits that the writ petition has become infructuous on account of the death of the licence holder. The applicant in the substitution application namely Ram Pravesh allegedly son of the licence holder has no right to be substituted in his place as he cannot defend the action or inaction of his father. The shop has become vacant on account of the death of the licence holder and has to be allotted in an open meeting of the Gram Panchayat. This Court is not required to look into the correctness of the cancellation orders passed by the licensing authority as also the appellate authority at the instance of the applicant in the substitution application.

9. In the rejoinder, learned counsel for the applicant, however, submits that he has a preferential right to be considered for allotment of the fair price shop being the legal heir of the licence holder. Reliance is placed upon Clause 10(jha) of the Government Order dated 17.08.2002 to submit that in case, he succeeded in proving that his father was innocent and was carrying a good will and the cancellation orders are bad, the authorities cannot refuse to consider his application, if any, for allotment of the fair price shop on preferential basis.

10. Considering the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, this Court does not find force in the submission of Sri Anoop Trivedi learned counsel for the respondent that the petition has become infructuous. The impact of clause 10 (jha) of the Government order dated 17.08.2002 is admitted to the learned counsel for the parties. The relevant clause 10(jha) of the said Government order is as follows:-.

"यदि दुकानदार अच्छी ख्याति का हो तो उसकी मृत्यु के उपरांत दुकान का आवंटन उसके आश्रित को करने पर विचार किया जा सकता है. आश्रित का तात्पर्य पत्नी, पुत्र तथा अविवाहित पुत्री से है."

11. This Government order came up for consideration before a division bench of this Court in Subash Vs. State of U.P. And others, 2015 (1) ADJ 113. It has held therein that the allotment of the fair price shop licence is to be done only after resolution is passed in the open meeting of the Gaon Sabha, and no exception to the said procedure can be carved out. However, a legal heir of the licensee who had earned a good will has a preferential right for consideration for the settlement of the fair price shop on compassionate ground.

12. In the said case, the agenda for settlement of the fair price shop placed in the meeting of Gram Panchayat did not suggest as to whether the reputation of the petitioner therein was good or not and the opinion of villagers was not taken on the said issue in the open meeting of the Gaon Sabha and, therefore, the resolution was held to be not in consonance with clause 10(jha) of the Government order dated 17.08.2002 and was therefore, set aside.

13. Considering the relevant clause 10(jha) of the Government order dated 17.08.2002 and the observations of the Division Bench of this Court in the above noted case, this Court is of the opinion that the son of the licence holder who has filed the substitution application has a right for consideration for allotment of the fair price shop in case, it is found that his father was carrying good reputation in the matter of distribution of essential commodities in the village. However, in case, the cancellation order are allowed to remain as such without consideration on merits, they will come in the way of consideration of the right of the son of the licence holder who can be non-suited on this ground alone. For this reason, the writ petition cannot be rendered infructuous and it is held that the applicant in the substitution application has a right to confront the orders passed by the licensing authorities in canceling the fair price shop licence of his father.

14. The substitution application is, therefore, allowed. Sri Ram Pravesh is substituted in place of the petitioner in the present petition.

15. Coming on the merits of the orders of cancellation, it is found from the record that a suspension order dated 30.10.2007 was passed suspending the fair price shop licence of the petitioner's father Ram Briksh (licence holder) on the ground that he did not distribute the essential commodities to the villagers on 11.10.2007 and Gram Pradhan had filed a complaint in that regard vide letter dated 16.10.2007. Another charge against the licence holder was that he did not tender money for lifting the food grains and sugar for distribution for the month of November, 2007.

16. The petitioner gave a reply on 01.12.2007 with the relevant documents to the effect that the distribution on 11.10.2007 was to be done in the presence of the concerned officer/observer who did not turn up. Information in this regard was given to the District Supply Officer who in-turn fixed 18.10.2007 for distribution of essential commodities. The licence holder distributed the essential commodities on the said date. He also pleaded that the

Gram Pradhan was carrying grudges against him and had filed the complaint in a malafide manner.

17. The cancellation order dated 18.01.2008 was passed by the licensing authority rejecting the explanation of the licence holder recording a finding that he intentionally did not distribute the essential commodities and had thus violated the rights of the villagers to get ration at the subsidised rates. The appeal was also rejected on the same ground as has been taken by the licensing authority. No independent reasoning has been given by the Appellate Authority to reject the appeal.

18. It is further found that a letter dated 15.10.2007 written by the District Supply Officer, Gorakhpur to Bal Vikas Pariyojna Adhikari, Pipraich, Gorakhpur has been brought on record as Annexure no.1 to the writ petition. A perusal of the said letter indicates that 18.10.2007 was fixed for distribution of the essential commodities and one Virendra Yadav, Gram Vikas Adhikari was nominated to remain present to ensure fair distribution. It was also directed that a report be submitted regarding absence of Lekhpal on 11.10.2007 in the village to ensure distribution. This letter was written on the information given by the petitioner to the District Supply Officer, Gorakhpur regarding non-distribution of essential commodities on 11.10.2007.

19. It is evident from the record that both the Licensing Authority and the Appellate Authority did not consider that the distribution was not withheld by the licence holder rather it was postponed on account of absence of the concerned officer in whose presence the distribution was required to be done. Further the licence holder was prompt in giving information to the District Supply Officer who while acting upon his report had fixed another date and deputed another officer to supervise the distribution.

20. The essential commodities were distributed on 18.10.2007 i.e. on the date fixed by the District Supply Officer. The suspension order itself was passed on 30.10.2007 i.e. after 12 days of the distribution acting on an earlier complaint of the Gram Pradhan. Therefore, the first charge against the licence holder mentioned in the suspension order is not proved.

21. So far as the second charge namely non deposit of the requisite money for the month of November, 2007 is concerned, the licence holder has submitted in his explanation that the money could not be deposited because of the inaction of the Gram Pradhan. It is specific case of the licence holder that the money for November, 2007 could not be deposited by him for the reason that the certificate of distribution for the month of October, 2007 was not given by the Gram Pradhan. In absence of the said certificate, it was not possible for him to deposit the money. Moreover, the shop was suspended on 30.10.2007 on account of malafide act of the Gram Pradhan and the licensing authority so he could not get the chance to make the deposits.

22. In the cancellation order, both the licensing as well as Appellate authority did not consider this aspect of the matter. There is no finding that certificate of distribution for the month of October was given to the licence holder but he did not deposit the money for November month. Even otherwise, the licence was suspended only on 30.10.2007 and, therefore, there was no occasion before the licensee holder to persuade the authorities to provide him distribution certificate so as to deposit the money for the month of November 2007.

23. In view of the above, on both the counts, the cancellation order passed by the Licensing Authority as also the Appellate Authority cannot be sustained. Both the above noted orders are hereby set aside.

24. It is, however, left open for the petitioner Ram Pravesh to apply for allotment of fair price shop which became vacant on account of the death of his father on compassionate ground. In case, such an application is moved, an open meeting of the Gram Panchayat be held for considering the agenda to allot the fair price shop on compassionate ground after taking opinion of the villagers on the issue as to whether the reputation of the erstwhile licensee namely (Ram Briksh) the father of the petitioner herein was good or not. Such meeting shall be called by the Sub-Divisional Officer within a period of six weeks from the date of presentation of the application by Ram Pravesh alongwith the certified copy of this order and a decision be taken regarding allotment of the fair price shop on the basis of resolution of the Gram Panchayat. The respondent no.6 Smt. Sumitra, if moves an application for allotment of the fair price shop, her candidature shall also be considered in the aforesaid meeting of the Gaon Sabha to ensure the fair distribution of the essential commodities to the villagers. An early decision be taken by the Sub Divisional Officer preferably within a period of four weeks after holding the meeting of the Gram Panchayat for allotment of the fair price shop in accordance with law.

25. With the above observations and directions, the writ petition is allowed.

C.S.C.

U.P. Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979 — Section 3 — Entertainment Tax (Amendment) Act, 2009 — Explanation (2) — Scope of Challenge — Though validity of Section 3 as amended was challenged in the writ petitions, dispute during argument was found confined to Explanation (2) inserted at the end of Section 3 — Question was whether Explanation (2) contemplates computation of entertainment tax on the amount of entertainment tax already computed under Section 3(1), or is merely clarificatory — Explanation (2) defines 'aggregate payment' to include entertainment tax and other amounts payable under the Act, but this definition operates only for the purpose of levying tax on 'aggregate payment required for admission' under Section 3(1) — It cannot be read to permit double computation, i.e., tax upon tax already computed. (Para 1)

Explanation to Statute — Nature and Limits — An explanation to a statutory provision is ordinarily clarificatory in nature, meant to remove ambiguity — What is not contemplated by the principal charging section cannot be supplied or expanded through an explanation — Entertainment tax once computed under Section 3(1) does not attract further entertainment tax on the tax so computed. (Para 2)

Section 3-A — Extra Charges for Maintenance and Air-Conditioning — Effect of Amendment Act, 2009 — Prior to amendment, extra charges collected for maintenance of cinema premises and for air-cooling/air-conditioning facilities stood excluded from being treated as payment for admission and were thus not exigible to entertainment tax — Post-amendment, Section 3-A(1) requires the proprietor to utilise a notified portion of the ticket value itself for such maintenance and facilities, without a separate exclusion — The earlier exemption stands validly withdrawn by the new provision — A principal legislative enactment altering an earlier benefit cannot be struck down merely because it takes away what an earlier provision conferred, absent violation of constitutional provision or legislative competence. (Para 3)

Definition of 'Payment for Admission' — Amendment — Gross Payment Deemed Aggregate Payment — Insertion of clauses (vi), (vii) and (viii) in Section 2(l) by the Amendment Act, 2009, including the deeming provision that gross payment on admission shall be treated as aggregate payment, is consistent with the scheme requiring cinema owners to value tickets inclusive of maintenance and air-conditioning charges, all of which now form part of aggregate payment for admission. (Para 4)

Impugned Circulars of Commissioner (Entertainment Tax) — Validity — Circulars directed that extra charges for maintenance and air-conditioning could no longer be levied separately post-amendment, and amounts so collected be refunded — Circulars are only for guidance of field authorities and do not permit levy of entertainment tax on entertainment tax already computed — Circulars are consistent with the statute as amended and are not ultra vires; direction for refund of separately charged maintenance/air-conditioning amounts upheld. (Para 5)

Disposal — All writ petitions disposed of with the clarification that entertainment tax cannot be computed twice on the same component, and that Section 3-A as amended is not ultra vires. (Para 6)

1. Heard Sri Govind Krishna, Sri Vipin Kumar and Sri N.S. Chahar, Advocates for petitioners in all the writ petitions and learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. Though validity of Section 3 of U.P. Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1979") as amended by U.P. Entertainment and Betting Tax (Amendment) Act, 2009 (Act No. 25 of 2009) (hereinafter referred to as the "Amendment Act, 2009") has been challenged in all these writ petitions but during course of argument we find that as a matter of fact dispute relates to Explanation (2) inserted by Amendment Act, 2009 at the end of Section 3 only and not entire Section 3 as amended by Amendment Act, 2009. We further find during course of argument that dispute was confined to interpretation of meaning of Explanation (2), whether it contemplates computation and demand of entertainment tax on the amount of entertainment tax already computed under Section 3(1) or is only clarificatory in nature.

3. Section 3 as it stood prior to Amendment Act, 2009 and after said amendment are reproduced as under:

shall be payable as would have been payable had such person been admitted on full payment.

(5) Where the payment for admission to an entertainment, referred to in sub-section (1), is made wholly or partly, by means of a lump sum paid as subscription, contribution, donation or otherwise, the tax shall be paid on the amount of such lump sum and on the amount of payment for admission, if any, made otherwise.

(6) Where in a hotel or a restaurant, entertainment by way of cabaret or floor show (by whatever name called, but excluding a mere band in attendance or recorded music) is provided along with any meal or refreshment with a view to attracting customers, whether or not payment for admission is charged distinctly for such entertainment, twenty per cent of the amount payable by the customer for such meal or refreshment or the amount charged distinctly for such entertainment, whichever is higher, shall be deemed to be the payment for admission to such entertainment and the tax shall be levied and paid accordingly.

(7) where in a hotel, entertainment by way of cable service is provided in rooms or other places, the entertainment so provided in each room or other place shall be deemed to be a separate entertainment and the subscription for admission to each such entertainment shall be deemed to be equal to the amount of subscription charged from a subscriber in the vicinity of the hotel by the cable operator providing cable service in the hotel, and the tax required for admission to an entertainment, referred to in sub-section (1), is made wholly or partly, by means of a lump sum paid as subscription, contribution, donation or otherwise, the tax shall be paid on the amount of such lump sum and on the amount of payment for admission, if any, made otherwise.

(6) Where in a hotel or a restaurant, entertainment by way of cabaret or floor show (by whatever name called, but excluding a mere band in attendance or recorded music) is provided along with any meal or refreshment with a view to attracting customers, whether or not aggregate payment required for admission is charged distinctly for such entertainment, thirty per cent of the amount payable by the customer for such meal or refreshment or the amount charged distinctly for such entertainment, whichever is higher, shall be deemed to be the aggregate payment required for admission to such entertainment and the tax shall be levied and paid accordingly.

(7) where in a hotel, entertainment by way of cable service is provided in rooms or other places, the entertainment so provided in each room or other place shall be deemed to be a separate entertainment and the subscription for admission to each such entertainment shall be deemed to be equal to the amount of subscription charged from a subscriber in the vicinity of the hotel by the cable operator providing cable service in the hotel, and the tax shall be levied and paid on the basis of such subscription:

Provided that where the cable operator himself is the proprietor of the hotel, the subscription for admission to each such entertainment shall be deemed to be equal to shall he levied and paid on the basis of such subscription: Provided that where the cable operator himself is the proprietor of the hotel, the subscription for admission to each such entertainment shall be deemed to be equal to the amount of subscription charged from a subscriber in the vicinity of the hotel by any other cable operator. Explanation.-- For the purposes of this sub-section and clause (ee) of section 2, 'hotel' includes an accommodational unit wherein rooms are provided to the customers on rent, but does not include the units approved under the 'Paying Guest Scheme' of the Department of Tourism of me State Government."	the amount of subscription charged from a subscriber in the vicinity of the hotel by any other cable operator. Explanation 1.- For the purposes of this sub-section and clause (ee) of section 2, 'hotel' includes an accommodational unit wherein rooms are provided to the customers on rent, but does not include the units approved under the 'Paying Guest Scheme' of the Department of Tourism of me State Government. Explanation (2)-For the purposes of this Act, the expression aggregate payment shall mean a sum paid by a person for admission to the entertainment which shall include entertainment tax and any other amount required to be paid under this Act but does not include any fee or other charges which is not a part of entertainment tax under this Act."

---	--

4. The charging Section 3 contemplates levy of tax on all aggregate payments required for admission to any entertainment at such rate not exceeding 150 per cent of each such payment as the State Government may notify from time to time in this behalf. Aforesaid levy of tax is other than entertainment to which Sections 4, 4-A, 4-B, 4-C apply or to a compounded payment made under provision to Section 3(1). Petitioners before us are not covered by Sections 4, 4-A, 4-B, 4-C, or proviso to Section 3(1). They are thus liable to pay "entertainment tax" at the rate prescribed by Government under Section 3(1).

5. Payment of admission is defined in Section 2(l), which reads as under:

"(l) 'payment for admission' includes--

- (i) any payment for seats or other accommodation in any form in a place of entertainment ;*
- (ii) any payment for a programme or synopsis of an entertainment ;*

(iii) any payment made for the loan or use of any instrument or contrivance which enables a person to get a normal or better view or hearing or enjoyment of the entertainment, which without the aid of such instrument or contrivance such person would not get ;

(iv) any payment, by whatever name called for any purpose whatsoever, connected with an entertainment, which a person is required to make in any form as a condition of attending or continuing to attend the entertainment, either in addition to the payment, if any, for admission to the entertainment or without any such payment for admission ;

(v) any payment made by a person, who having been admitted to one part of a place of entertainment is subsequently admitted to another part thereof, for admission to which a payment involving tax or more tax is required;

Explanation.--Any subscription raised or donation collected in connection with an entertainment in any form shall be deemed to be payment for admission ;

(vi) any payment made by a person by way of contribution or subscription or installation and connection charges or any other charges collected in any manner whatsoever, by whatever name called, for television exhibition through cable television network or any other such network by whatever name called, attached to television set or any other device at a residential or nonresidential place of a connection holder; or

(vii) any payment made by person to the proprietor of a Direct-to-Home service or any other service by whatever name called, by way of contribution or subscription or installation and connection charges or any charges collected in any manner by whatever name called either directly or through any agency established for the purpose for Direct-to-Home service with the aid of set top box or any other device of like nature which connects television set or any other device at a residential or non-residential place of a connection holder directly to the satellite without passing through an intermediary such as cable operator:

Explanation--For the purposes of sub-clauses (vi) and (vii) any expenditure incurred by any co-operative society including a co-operative housing society or by the management of any factory, hotel, lodge, bar, permit room, pub or by a person or group of persons for the purchase of any type of antenna or any other apparatus for securing transmission through cable television network, Direct-to-Home service or any other service by whatever name called, for its member or for workers or customers or for himself or themselves, as the case may be shall be deemed to be the payment made under the sub-clause;

(viii) Where in any entertainment admission has been allowed on a gross payment, such gross payment shall be deemed to be aggregate payment." (emphasis added)

6. It is contended that by virtue of Section 3-A(1) the proprietors of Cinema have been authorized to realize from the person making payment to admission to entertainment in such

Cinema, an extra charge which shall be utilized for maintaining Cinema premises and also in case of a centrally air-cooled or centrally air-conditioned Cinema a further extra charge. This extra charge under Section 3-A(1)(a) is not permissible to Cinema owners receiving grant-in-aid from State Government under any scheme. Section 3-A(2) provides that amount charged under sub-section (1) shall not be deemed to be payment to an admission to an entertainment.

7. Section 3-A has also been amended by Amendment Act, 2009 and now it reads as under:

"3-A - Extra charges for maintenance of cinemas and for air-cooled and air-conditioned facility--(1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other provision of this Act, the proprietor of a cinema shall utilize such amount of ticket value excluding entertainment tax and in such manner as may be notified by the State Government from time to time for maintenance of the cinema premises and for air cooling or air conditioning facilities."

(emphasis added)

8. Therefore, exclusion allowed earlier with respect to extra charge under Section 3-A(1) now stand omitted. Petitioners have stated that prior to Amendment Act, 2009, Cinema owners used to collect price of a ticket comprising of following:

- (a) Payment for admission;
- (b) Tax on payment for admission;
- (c) Cinema maintenance charge;
- (d) Air-cooling/air-conditioning charge; and,
- (e) Film development fund.

9. It is argued that in view of Explanation (2) now entertainment tax computed on various other items is again liable to be subjected to entertainment tax and thus such tax would now be computed twice.

10. This has been controverted by learned Standing Counsel stating that there is no duplicacy of entertainment tax inasmuch as tax would be computed only on various components charged by Cinema owners and once various components of admission charge for entertainment tax are computed, there is no question or occasion to calculate entertainment tax again on the amount of entertainment tax. This stand taken by learned Standing Counsel, we find, is consistent with a combined reading of Section 3(1) alongwith Explanation (2) of Amendment Act, 2009.

11. State is authorized to levy tax on all aggregate payments required for admission on any entertainment at a rate not exceeding 150 per cent of each such payments. Meaning thereby, payment for admission, when comprises of various components, on each such payment or component, an entertainment tax is leviable at a rate not exceeding 150 per cent as prescribed by State Government. Prescription of rate of tax is subsequent to various payments which have been termed as "aggregate payment required for admission" to tax.

12. Section 3(1) further authorizes a proprietor of Cinema to collect tax from the person making payment for admission. It is in this context Explanation (2) has clarified that aggregate payment shall mean a sum paid by a person for admission to entertainment and it shall include "entertainment tax" and other amount required to be paid under this Act but for the purpose of attracting "entertainment tax" under Section 3(1) at the rate prescribed by State Government, the words are qualified that "all aggregate payment requirement for admission to any entertainment". Thus, Explanation (2) cannot be read so as to permit respondents firstly to compute tax on various components of payments made for admission to entertainment and thereafter further compute entertainment tax on entertainment tax so arrived at.

13. Learned Standing Counsel fairly stated that there is no case of such double taxation and impression otherwise gathered by respondents is neither justified, nor correct, nor otherwise so provided in Amendment Act, 2009.

14. Further, the fact that earlier amount charged for maintenance etc. under Section 3-A even if utilized for maintenance etc. but still has been subjected to entertainment tax would not make Section 3-A, as amended by Amendment Act, 2009, bad or ultra vires for the reason that legislature can always frame its policy in the manner it likes and a legislative enactment can be challenged only on the ground of violation of constitutional provisions or legislative competence but not for the reason that a benefit otherwise provided in earlier provision has been taken away by new provision.

15. Impugned circulars issued by Commissioner (Entertainment Tax) is only for guidance of field authorities but we do not find anything therein which permits field authorities to compute and levy "entertainment tax" on the amount of "entertainment tax" computed under Section 3(1) of Act, 1979.

16. Even otherwise an explanation to a provision is normally clarificatory to explain some kind of ambiguity, if there may be any occasion but what is not contemplated under principal charging Section cannot be supplied by way of an explanation. We, therefore, make it clear that by taking recourse to Explanation (2) respondents cannot compute entertainment tax on the amount of entertainment tax computed on various payments authorized for admission for an entertainment. Entertainment tax once computed under Section 3(1) will not attract further computation of entertainment tax on already computed entertainment tax.

17. It is argued that Commissioner (Entertainment Tax) vide circulars impugned in this writ petitions has provided that after amendment of Section 3-A by Amendment Act, 2009 the authority to charge extra charges for maintaining and for air-cooling and air-conditioning facilities has been stopped and now Cinema owners cannot charge such amount and wherever it has been charged must be refunded.

18. To this extent it is said that direction issued by Commissioner (Entertainment Tax) are contrary to statute inasmuch as Section 3-A, as amended now, provides that amount of ticket value charged by Cinema owners shall be utilized in such manner as may be notified by State Government from time to time for maintenance of Cinema premises and for air-cooling and air-conditioning facilities. This shows that amount of ticket value is not restricted and instead Cinema owners may merge the same in the value of ticket and it would attract entertainment tax also but out of such amount of ticket value some part can be directed by State Government to be utilized for maintenance of Cinema premises and for air-cooling and air-conditioning facilities. The intention is very clear. Earlier a separate provision was made entitling Cinema owners to raise extra charge on these two heads and the same was not subjected to "entertainment tax" when utilized for the purpose the same were charged but now that authority to charge and exemption has gone. A new provision has come in a different way. Cinema owners now may value the amount of their ticket in such manner so as to cover expenses, if any, they may require for maintenance of Cinema premises and for air-cooling and air-conditioning facilities. In fact now it would be a part of payments required for admission to any entertainment. This is also evident from the fact that definition of "payment for admission" has also been amended by Amendment Act, 2009 and Clauses (vi), (vii) and (viii) have been inserted. In Clause (viii) it is said that any entertainment admission if allowed on gross payment such gross payment shall be deemed to be aggregate payment.

19. Cinema owners, therefore, are not justified to continue to charge additional charge/ extra charge by referring to Section 3-A of Act, 1979 after its amendment by substitution and enactment of a different provision in which such authorization of extra charge has been taken away. Circulars, impugned in these writ petitions, therefore, cannot be said to be bad or contrary to statute and Section 3-A as amended by Amendment Act, 2009 also cannot be said to be ultra vires simply because it is a different provision that what it was earlier. A principal legislation cannot be challenged on the ground that it is contrary to what it was earlier. It is within the realm of legislation and unless want of legislative competent or violation of constitutional provision is shown, a principal legislation cannot be challenged as invalid or ultra vires.

20. In the light of clarifications/ observations made above all the writ petitions are disposed of.

U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008 — Section 42(4) & (5) — U.P. VAT Rules, 2008 — Rule 70(5) — Vires Challenged — Petitioners, industrial units holding eligibility certificates under Section 4-A of the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948 for exemption from tax, challenged Section 42(4) and (5) of the Act, 2008 as substituted by the Amendment Act, 2008, and Rule 70(5) of the Rules, 2008 as substituted by the First Amendment Rules, 2009. Amended scheme requiring deposit of net tax along with return, followed by refund, is neither illegal nor arbitrary nor beyond legislative competence — Section 42(4) and (5) as amended are not ultra vires. (Para 1)

Change of Exemption Scheme — From Upfront Exemption to Deposit-and-Refund — Retrospective Operation — Under the erstwhile scheme, eligible units enjoyed upfront exemption/deferment of tax — By Amendment Ordinance, 2008 and subsequent Amendment Act, 2008, effective from 01.01.2008, the scheme was altered so that units must first deposit net tax with the return and thereafter claim refund — Rule 70(5), framed only on 30.01.2009, prescribed deposit deadlines for tax periods between January 2008 and June 2008, i.e., periods that had already elapsed with returns already filed under the earlier scheme before the new procedure was even notified. Compliance with the amended Rule 70(5) for the already-elapsed period of January 2008 to June 2008 was rendered practically and legally impossible, since the prescribed manner of compliance itself came into existence only on 30.01.2009, after the deadlines it imposed had already expired. (Para 2)

Doctrine of Impossibility — Lex Non Cogit Ad Impossibilia — Applicability — The maxims lex non cogit ad impossibilia and impotentia excusat legem apply — The law does not compel performance of an impossibility; where a statute creates a duty and the party is disabled from performing it without default of his own and has no remedy over it, the law excuses him — Principle affirmed by the Supreme Court. (Para 3)

Rule 70(5) of U.P. VAT Rules, 2008 (as substituted, 2009) — Struck Down — Article 14 — Rule framing authority, despite the amended Section 42(4)(d) requiring compliance 'in the prescribed manner', remained inactive for over five to six months and notified Rule 70(5) only on 30.01.2009, by when the deadlines it prescribed (July 2008 to December 2008 for deposit relating to January-June 2008 tax periods) had already lapsed. Sub-rule (5) of Rule 70, as substituted by the U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009, is irrational, arbitrary, illegal and unreasonable, being violative of Article 14 of the Constitution, and is struck down — Consequently, sub-rules (7) to (11) of Rule 70, insofar as they relate to net tax for January 2008 to June 2008, become inoperative for want of a valid sub-rule (5) to found them, until a valid provision is framed. (Para 4)

Impugned Notices and Orders — Quashed — Interim Directions for Deposit and Refund — Impugned notices and orders demanding interest/penalty for delayed deposit for the period January 2008 to June 2008 quashed — To mitigate further litigation, petitioners permitted to deposit requisite tax along with return within two months, if not already deposited, whereupon such deposit shall be treated as due compliance under Section 42(4)(d) as amended, and refund proceedings to follow under Section 42(5) — Failure to comply within two months renders provisions of Rule 42(7) to (11) operative with due consequences — Writ petitions partly allowed with no order as to costs. (Para 5)

1. Heard Sri Bharat Ji Agrawal, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Piyush Agrawal and Rahul Agrawal; Sri S.D.Singh, Senior Advocate assisted by Nishant Mishra and Diptiman Singh for the petitioners and Sri C.B. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. Petitioners have filed these writ petitions under Article 226 of Constitution of India challenging vires of Section 42(4) and 42(5) of U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 2008') as substituted vide U.P. VAT (Amendment) Ordinance, 2008 which came to be substituted by U.P. VAT (Amendment) Act, 2008 i.e. U.P. Act No. 11 of 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Amendment Act, 2008'). Some of the petitioners have also challenged validity of Rule 70(5) of U.P. Value Added Tax Rules, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules, 2008') as stands substituted by U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009.

3. In writ petition no. 1448 of 2009, writ of certiorari for quashing order dated 05.06.2009 passed by Joint Commissioner, Corporate Circle, Commercial Tax, Noida has also been prayed whereby respondent 3 has found that in view of amended provision, petitioner was supposed to deposit admitted tax of January 2008 to March 2008 by 20th October 2008 but it has been deposited late i.e. on 18.12.2008, 24.12.2008 and 31.12.2008. Hence petitioner is liable to pay interest on the aforesaid delayed payment. Respondent no. 3 has held petitioner liable to pay penalty under Section 54(1)(1) at the rate of 20 per cent of tax paid that is Rs. 10,62,929/- in respect to Provincial Tax and Rs. 19,06,785/- in respect to Central Tax.

4. Petition No. 1449 of 2009 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Second Petition') also deals with a similar order dated 06.06.2009 of penalty under Section 54(1)(1) for alleged delayed payment of due tax for the month of April 2008 which according to respondent 3 was liable to be deposited up to 20.11.2008 but was actually deposited in December 2008, therefore, in respect to Provincial Tax it has demanded penalty of Rs. 25,35,230/- and in respect of Central Tax amount of penalty imposed is Rs. 33,97,959/-.

5. Petition No. 1450 of 2009 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Third Petition') relates to similar order dated 06.06.2009 for alleged delayed payment of due tax for the month of May 2008 which was payable by petitioner up to 20.12.2008 but deposited on 31.12.2008 and in January and February 2009 Penalty for Provincial Tax under Section 54(1)(1) has been imposed at Rs. 23,52,870/- and in respect to Central Tax it is Rs. 43,03,582/-.

6. In Writ Petition No. 870 of 2009 notice dated 25.02.2009 issued by Joint Commissioner has been challenged since it has informed petitioner M/s. ACC Ltd. that it has withheld net tax payable for the period January 2008 to June 2008 whereupon it will have to pay interest under Section 33(2) of Act, 2008.

7. In Writ Petition No. 1680 of 2008 Joint Commissioner has issued notice dated 21.07.2008 which has also been challenged whereupon petitioner M/s. H-One India Pvt. Ltd. has been directed to deposit tax of January 2008 to June 2008 by 25.07.2008.

8. Similar notices requiring payment of tax which was not paid under exemption benefit have been challenged in the remaining three writ petitions for different periods upto June 2008.

9. With the agreement of learned counsel for the parties, for the purpose of pleadings, we have taken writ petition no. 1448 of 2009 as the leading case. The facts in brief giving rise to the dispute in question are stated as under:

10. Petitioner M/S Uflex Limited is a Company incorporated under Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 1956'). It established a new unit pursuant to the representation made by State Government in the notification dated 31.03.1995, allowing certain tax exemptions. Petitioner's unit was established for manufacture of printed and unprinted multi layer laminated metal and non metal plastic films etc. It has its unit established at Plot No. A-1, Sector-60 and D-1 to 15, 16 Sector 59, New Okhla Industrial Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as the 'NOIDA'). Since petitioner satisfied all the requirements of tax exemption, it was granted eligibility certificate under Section 4-A of U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 1948') for a period of 15 years or to the extent of Rs. 959,51,76,417/- which ever is earlier. The exemption was granted w.e.f. 16.02.1995.

11. In normal circumstances, petitioner was entitled to avail aforesaid exemption up to 15.02.2010 or till the amount of exemption of tax reaches to the extent of Rs. 959,51,76,417/-, which ever is earlier.

12. The facts in all other writ petitions are similar, inasmuch as, all the petitioners have been granted eligibility certificate entitled for exemption and for the period of dispute i.e. from January 2008 to June 2008 it is admitted by respondents that exemption benefit was available to all the petitioners.

13. It so happened that Act, 1948 was repealed and a new Act i.e. Act, 2008 came to be enacted by Provincial Legislation w.e.f. 01.01.2008. Initially U.P. Value Added Tax Ordinance, 2007 was promulgated on December 20th 2007 and it was made effective from 01.01.2008. Section 42 of Ordinance provided that any industrial unit which was availing tax exemption or reduction in rate of tax under Section 4-A of Act, 1948 on 01.01.2008 and to whom facility of exemption was granted, shall continue to avail tax deferment in accordance with Section 42 of Ordinance. Section 42 of Ordinance is reproduced as under:

"(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Ordinance any industrial unit availing tax exemption or reduction in the rate of tax on the date of commencement of this Ordinance or an industrial unit which is granted the facility of exemption or reduction in the rate of tax under the erstwhile Act shall be treated as a unit availing tax deferment.

A unit availing tax deferment under the erstwhile Act on the commencement of this Ordinance or a unit, which is granted benefit of tax deferment under the erstwhile Act, shall continue to avail the said facility subject to such conditions as may be specified.

(2) *The unit availing the tax deferment as specified in sub-section (1) or a unit availing deferment facility under the erstwhile Act shall be eligible to issue tax invoices and to claim input tax credit subject to provisions of section 13 of this Ordinance.

(3) *The period of eligibility, the method of debiting eligibility amount, the repayment and any other benefits for all units availing tax deferment shall be in such manner as may be prescribed."

(Emphasis added)

14. In exercise of powers under Section 79 read with Section 74, State Government framed rules i.e. Rules, 2008 and rule 70 thereof provided that a dealer holding eligibility certificate granted before commencement of Ordinance (later Act, 2008) shall be entitled for tax deferment for the extent and period mentioned in eligibility certificate, for balance amount and for the remaining period, as the case may be.

15. Subsequently, State Legislature in its wisdom decided to allow tax exemption to eligible unit by way of refund of tax in the next month after the same is deposited in preceding month along with return. As a consequence thereof U.P. Value Added Tax (Amendment) Ordinance, 2008 (U.P. Ordinance No. 3 of 2008) (hereinafter referred to as the 'Amendment Ordinance, 2008') was enacted vide notification dated 16.07.2008 by which Section 42 was substituted w.e.f. 01.01.2008. Relevant Section 42 (4), (5), (6) and (7) are reproduced as under:

"42-- Treatment of industrial units availing exemption or reduction in the rate of tax under erstwhile Act -

(4) *The industrial unit availing benefit of exemption from, or reduction in the rate of, tax on the turnover of sales before the date of commencement of this Act or an industrial unit which is granted the facility of exemption from, or reduction in the rate of, tax on or after such commencement, on the turnover of sales under the erstwhile Act or the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, shall be entitled for exemption by way of refund of net tax paid along with the return of tax period in prescribed manner and on fulfilling the conditions that,-

(a) the unit shall hold valid registration certificate issued under this Act or under the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956

(b) the unit shall have a valid Certificate of Entitlement issued by the Commissioner,

(c) the amount of refund shall not be more than an amount equal to net tax paid for relevant tax period,

(d) the net tax payable has been deposited along with return of tax period in prescribed manner,

(e) the refund shall be subject to the provisions of section 40 except that the amount shall not be adjusted against the admitted tax liability,

(f) the facility of refund shall cease on the day when the amount or the period mentioned in the Certificate of Entitlement, whichever is earlier,

(g) the tax payable on the turnover of sales of goods mentioned in the Certificate of Entitlement and which is manufactured in the industrial unit shall be deducted from the total amount mentioned or described in the Certificate of Entitlement,

(h) the industrial unit has not misused the facility of exemption from or reduction in the rate of tax in any manner.

Explanation : The expression net amount of tax payable means -

(i) the differential amount of tax payable under this Act on the sale of taxable goods other than non-vat goods, manufactured in the unit and input tax credit available to the extent or proportionate to taxable goods other than non-vat goods sold; in case of an industrial unit availing facility of exemption from tax under the erstwhile Act and the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956.

(ii) the partial amount of net tax computed under clause (i) above, in proportion to the rate of tax available for exemption to the rate of tax payable under the erstwhile Act, in case of an industrial unit availing benefit of reduction in the rate of tax

(5) (a) The amount found refundable shall be refunded within a period of 30 days from the last date of the month in which dealer files the return of relevant tax period along with the proof of deposit of net tax payable.

(b) The amount of refund shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed.

(c) The industrial unit failing to deposit the net tax admittedly payable within prescribed time and in prescribed manner or deposits it after due date, the amount of interest leviable and penalty imposed if any, shall be adjusted and only the balance amount shall be refunded.

(6) (a) The total amount of the refund shall be limited to the extent of the differential amount of the total eligible amount available for exemption or reduction in the rate of tax and the amount availed in exemption or reduction in the rate of tax before the commencement of this Act.

(b) The total period of the refund shall not exceed difference of the total period available for exemption or reduction in the rate of tax and the period exhausted before the commencement of this Act.

(7) If any amount is found refundable and is not refunded within the prescribed time, the industrial unit shall be entitled to simple interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum from the last date prescribed for refund. The amount of interest shall be refunded in such manner as may be prescribed."

(Emphasis added)

16. The aforesaid amendment of Section 42 by substitution was given effect from 01.01.2008. Amended Section 42(1) provided that no industrial unit availing benefit of exemption or of reduction in the rate of tax or granted benefit of tax from exemption or reduction in the rate of tax under Act, 1948 and Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 shall be permitted to avail benefit of exemption or reduction in the rate of tax on the turn over of sale and purchase or both, as the case may be, on or after the commencement of Act, 2008. Sub Section (3) however, provided such units availing benefit of exemption etc. to apply Government for issue of a certificate for entitlement in prescribed form and in prescribed manner.

17. Petitioners filed applications for grant of certificate of entitlement as contemplated under Section 42(3) which was granted by Commissioner, Commercial Taxes, U.P. (hereinafter referred to as the 'CCT'). The certificate of entitlement was granted to all the petitioners on different dates but for the purpose of record, it may be stated that petitioner M/s. Uflex Ltd. CCT was granted certificate of entitlement dated 07.11.2008 wherein period of entitlement for exemption mentioned is 01.01.2008 to 15.02.2010. Certificate further mention amount of entitlement of refund as Rs. 721,08,88,090.94.

18. For the purpose of availing entitlement for exemption under Act, 2008 as amended by Amendment Ordinance, 2008, a unit would have to deposit net tax payable along with return of tax period in prescribed manner. Sub section (4) of Section 42 provided that thereafter unit would be entitled for exemption by way of refund of net tax paid along with return of tax period.

19. The manner of submission of tax return is contained in Section 24 of Act, 2008 and relevant part of Section 24 reads as under:

"24. Submission of tax returns--(1)Every taxable dealer including a dealer from whom any amount of tax has been deducted at source under section 34, shall, for such tax period and within such time, as may be prescribed, submit tax return of his self assessed turnover and tax, in such form and verified in such manner as may be prescribed, but the assessing authority may in its discretion and for reasons to be recorded, extend the date for submission of the return by any dealer or class of dealers:

Provided that every taxable dealer, including a dealer who claims input tax credit, shall also submit along with tax return a list of-

(i) purchases of goods made from registered dealer in respect of which the dealer has received tax invoices;

(ii) sales of goods made to registered dealers in respect of which the dealer has issued tax invoices; and

(iii) sale made to dealers to whom sale invoices have been issued in the names of such dealers, containing such particulars as may be prescribed:

(2) Before submitting the tax return under sub-section (1), the dealer shall, in the manner prescribed, deposit the net amount of tax payable shown in such tax return along with amount, if any, realized in excess of amount of tax due under this Act from purchasers of goods during the tax period.

(3) Every person or dealer to whom provisions of section 34 apply, shall, in respect of dealers from whom any amount of tax has been deducted, submit such statement within such time as may be prescribed.

(4) Where as a consequence of the date for the submission of return being extended under subsection (1) on the application of the dealer, the deposit of tax under sub-section (2) is deferred, there shall be payable simple interest at the rate of one and quarter percent per men sum on such deposit for the period commencing on the last date prescribed for submission of the tax return and ending with the date of deposit of such amount.

(5) If any dealer discovers any omission or other error in any tax return submitted by him, he may, at any time before the expiry of the time prescribed for submitting the next tax return, submit a revised tax return. If the revised tax return shows a greater amount of tax to be due than was shown in the original return, the dealer shall also deposit separately the difference of tax due and the interest payable under sub-section (4) as if the time for submitting the original tax return had been extended on the application of the dealer to the date of submission of the revised tax return. If, the revised tax return shows lesser amount of tax to be due than was shown in the original tax return the dealer may adjust the excess amount towards the tax due for the subsequent tax periods.

20. Under Rule 45 return has to be filed for each calendar month of assessment year and every month shall be treated as tax period. The relevant part of Rule 45 reads as under :

Rule 45. Submission of returns - (1) In cases of dealers mentioned in the following clauses, tax periods referred to in section 24, shall be as given in each such clause :-

(a) in case of a dealer who becomes liable for payment of tax for the first time in any assessment year, tax periods shall be as under:

(i) first tax period for such assessment year shall commence on the date on which the dealer has become liable for payment of tax and shall end with the last day of the calendar month in which the dealer has become liable for payment of tax;

(ii) after expiry of first tax period, each calendar month, of the assessment year in which the dealer has become liable for payment of tax, shall be a tax period;

(2) Except as provided in sub rule (10) of this rule, every dealer liable to pay tax, shall, before expiry of a period of twenty days, commencing on the day following the day on which a tax period has expired, submit to his assessing authority tax return for each tax period in Form XXIV along with detailed information, according to code numbers notified by the State Government from time to time, in respect of each category of goods in which he carries on business:

Provided that a dealer, whose aggregate of turnover, referred to in sub-rule (1), for any assessment year, is likely to exceed twenty-five lakh rupees or whose such aggregate for the assessment year or part of the assessment year, as the case may be, immediately preceding such assessment year, has exceeded twenty-five lakh rupees, shall, before expiry of a period of twenty days after the last day of each calendar month of a quarter referred to in clause (b) of subrule (1), deposit amount of net tax payable by him and Treasury Challan of such deposit shall be submitted to the assessing authority and shall submit to his assessing authority tax return within twenty days after expiry of the quarter along with proof of deposit of net amount of tax payable by him.

(4) Before submitting the return under sub-rule (2) for a tax period, the dealer shall in the manner laid down in these rules, deposit the net amount of tax payable by him under the Act as disclosed in the return and shall submit to the assessing authority, along with the return a copy of the treasury challan in Form I:

Provided that where a Government department wants to deposit the tax by book transfer, such department shall, before submitting such return, prepare a bill, in triplicate, for the net amount of tax payable, endorse it to the assessing authority in accordance with the financial rules on the subject and two copies thereof with such return. One of the copies shall be retained by the assessing authority and the other copy shall be sent to the Accountant General, Uttar Pradesh for crediting the amount to the account of the Commercial Tax Department.

Provided further that the net tax payable upto 20th March for the tax period ending on 31st March of an assessment year, shall be deposited and Treasury Challan of such deposit shall be submitted to the assessing authority upto 25th March of that year.

(5) The amount deducted under sub-section (1) or sub-section (7) of section 34 , shall be deposited into the Government Treasury by the person making such deduction before the expiry of period of twenty days commencing on the day following the last day of the month in which deduction is made.

(6) Every person, responsible for making tax deduction under any provision of section 34, shall, for each quarter ending with thirtieth June, thirtieth September, thirty-first December and thirty-first of March of each assessment year, submit the statement in Form XXV containing following particulars:

(8) Dealers having more than one place of business shall include the turnover of all branches of his business in Uttar Pradesh in the return submitted for the principal place of business and shall send intimation thereof to each Assessing Authority concerned.

(9) Upon expiry of the assessment year, every person liable to deduct amount of tax at source under provisions of section 34, shall submit to the Assessing Authority having jurisdiction over the principal place of business of such person, a statement in Form XXVII on or before October 31, for the preceding assessment year,

Provided that the assessing authority may, on request of the person concerned and for adequate reasons to be recorded in writing, extend the time for filing such statement for a period not exceeding ninety days.

21. Thus, even after grant of certificate of entitlement, an industry availing benefit of tax exemption would have got benefit only when first it has to deposit net tax along with return and thereafter such deposited tax shall be refunded.

22. Amendment Ordinance, 2008 came to be substituted by U.P. Act No. 19 of 2008 published on 29.08.2008 and came into force w.e.f. 01.01.2008.

23. So far as section 42 is concerned, it is in this backdrop, dispute which has arisen relates to the period of January 2008 to June 2008 for which time to file return and deposit of tax had already expired and it was not practically feasible to comply with the requirements of Section 42 as amended.

24. Thereafter, Rule 70 was also amended by Amendment Rules, 2009 vide notification dated 30.01.2009 which came into force from the date of publication in gazette. Rule 70 as it existed earlier and stood after amendment by notification dated 30.01.2009 is reproduced as under:

Column-I Existing rule	Column-II Rule as hereby substituted
(1) Subject to other provisions of this rule, dealers holding eligibility certificate, granted before, on or after the date of commencement of the Act, shall be eligible for tax deferment, referred to in section 42 to the extent and for the period, whichever expires earlier, as under: (a)(i) In case of an industrial unit referred to in first paragraph of sub-section (1), to the extent of the difference of the amount of exemption from tax mentioned in the eligibility certificate and the aggregate of amounts of exemption from payment of tax that has been availed, either under the Uttar Pradesh Trade Tax Act, 1948 or under the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, before the date of the commencement of the Act; and (ii) In case of an industrial unit referred to in second paragraph of sub-section (1) of section 42 of the Act, to the extent of balance amount as on the date of commencement of the Act liable for deferment. (b) For the remaining period of exemption from tax as on the date of the commencement of this Act, out of the maximum period mentioned in the eligibility certificate. (2) Facility of deferment shall be available in respect of net amount of tax payable under the Act.	(1) Industrial unit availing or granted the facility of exemption or reduction in the rate of tax under erstwhile Act, may apply to the Commissioner for issue of certificate of entitlement duly filled and signed by the person authorized under sub-rule (6) of rule 32, in form XLV up to 31st August 2008 or within thirty days from the date of publication of this rule whichever is later. (2) A copy of the application along with enclosures, if any, shall be served to the assessing authority and certified copy of such receipt shall be annexed to the application. (3) The assessing authority shall, after examining relevant record and after giving the dealer a reasonable opportunity of being heard if necessary, send to the Commissioner a report in form XLVI within a period of thirty days from the date of receipt of the application. (4) If the Commissioner is satisfied that information furnished is correct and complete and report of the assessing authority confirms the particulars of the application, he shall issue the certificate of entitlement in form XLVII within sixty days of the receipt of the application. (5) If the net tax payable for tax periods commencing on January 2008 and ending with 30th June 2008, has not been deposited along with return of the tax period the same shall be deposited in following time schedule:-

Explanation: Net amount of tax payable means- (a) In case of an industrial unit availing facility of exemption under the Uttar Pradesh Trade Tax Act, 1948 and Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 shall be the differential amount of tax payable under the Act on the sale of taxable goods other than non-vat goods, manufactured in the unit and input tax credit available to the extent or proportionate to taxable goods other than non-vat goods sold. (b) In case of an industrial unit availing reduction in the rate of tax, the net tax payable will be the partial amount of net tax computed as described in sub-clause (a) of this explanation in proportion to the rate of tax available for exemption to the rate of tax payable under the Uttar Pradesh Trade Tax Act, 1948 as if the Uttar Pradesh Trade Tax Act, 1948 had not been repealed. (3) Facility of tax deferment shall be available under the Uttar Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2008 and the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956. (4) Aggregate of amounts of tax, payment of which is deferred for each assessment year under the Uttar Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2008 and the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, shall be debited against the differential amount referred to in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii) of clause(a) of sub-rule (1), as may be applicable. (5) Payment of tax, for which facility of	S.N.	Tax period ending on	Date up to which net tax has to be deposited

	(6) The net tax payable for the tax period after the tax period ending on 30th June 2008 shall be deposited along with return of the relevant tax period. (7) If an industrial unit fails to deposit the net tax payable for the period and within the time prescribed under sub-rule (5) of this rule, the unit shall be liable to pay the interest provided under subsection (2) of section 33 of the Act and penalty, if any, in accordance with the provisions of section 54 of the Act (8) The amount of refund or interest if any, under section 42 of the Act shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the rules 50 and 51. (9) Aggregate of amounts of tax payable under the Act and the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, shall be debited from the amount mentioned in the certificate of entitlement. (10) Payment of tax, for which facility of deferment is available, for any assessment year, shall be deferred for a period of five years and such period of five years shall deferment is available, for any assessment year, shall be deferred for a period of five years and such period of five years shall commence on the date immediately following the last date prescribed for submission of tax return of the last tax period of such assessment year. (Emphasis added)

25. This substituted Rule 70(5) though came into force on 30.01.2009 but requires industrial units availing exemption/ concession to deposit tax payable during the period of January 2008 to May 2008 by 20.08.2008 to 20.12.2008, but for the period of June 2008 by 31st July 2008. Sub Rule 7 further provides, if an industrial unit failed to pay tax as prescribed under sub Rule (5), unit shall be liable to pay interest under Section 33(2) and penalty under Section 54.

26. The short and crucial issue raised in these writ petitions is that compliance of deposit of net tax to which petitioners were entitled for exemption with regard to period of January 2008 to June 2008 was practically impossible for the reason that Section 42 for the first time making such different procedure came to be enacted on 16.07.2008 and relevant rule came to be enacted on 30.01.2009 by which date time for deposit of tax along with return had already elapsed. The submission is that petitioners and other similarly placed industries could have never imagined or dreamt that in future legislature will change scheme for entitlement of tax benefit for remaining period/ amount in a totally different manner i.e. first amount of tax along with return would be deposited and thereafter refund would be claimed. Before enactment of Ordinance of 16.07.2008, petitioners had strictly and honestly followed requirement of statute as it was. Even the requirement of amended provision is not objectionable to petitioners but impossibility in the manner of compliance required by legislature renders the said provisions illogical, irrational and arbitrary. It is also contended that in case the provisions are not irrational or arbitrary yet for observance and compliance a reasonable opportunity has to be given to concerned industries like petitioners and therefore, the aforesaid provisions need to be read down in a manner so that intention of legislature become practicable and is capable of compliance. A provision has to be read as to make entire things workable and functional, compliance for the period, already expired before actual amendment is just improbable and impossible.

27. The learned Standing Counsel when confronted with the situation could not dispute that with respect to period of January 2008 to June 2008 apparently an industry could not have complied with provisions since returns had already been filed and time to file return and deposit tax as per amended statute has already expired. He also could not dispute that even time frame mentioned in sub Rule (5) of Rule 70 having already expired, no one could have complied the same and necessarily all the industries availing tax exemption would attract a liability of interest and penalty under Rule 70(6) and (7) though have not committed anything wrong or illegal. He however, submitted that provision by itself is not irrational and arbitrary but can always be read in a manner so as to render it functional, practicable and compliant.

28. We have heard learned counsel for the parties, perused the authorities and relevant statutes.

29. The amended scheme of deposit of net amount of tax to which petitioners industries were entitled for exemption alongwith return per-se is neither illegal nor arbitrary nor violates any constitutional provision nor the legislature lacks competence in changing its policy and amending statute. Therefore, Section 42(4) and (5) as enacted by amendment Act, 2008 cannot be said to be ultra-vires. We find no force in the submission that Section 42(4) and (5) as amended by Amendment Act, 2008 are bad for any reason whatsoever, and have no hesitation in us holding the same. However, the question is whether compliance of Section 42(4)(d) of Act, 2008 as amended by Amendment Act, 2008 read with Rule 70(5) as amended by U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009 requires petitioners or any person similarly situated, to do something which is practicably possible. A provision compliance whereof is improbable, irrational, in that view of the matter is Rule 70(5) of U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009 is invalid, irrational and unreasonable.

30. Section 42(4)(d) as amended by Amendment Act, 2008 seeks compliance in the "prescribed manner". Under existing Act, 2008, and Rules 2008, there was no provision with regard to deposit of tax, by industrial units having certificate of entitlement for exemption of tax along with return, therefore, no procedure or scheme was prescribed till Rule 70 was amended by U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009. The amended Rule 70 provides the manner in which net tax payable along with return shall be paid and thus for the first time requirement of Section 42(4)(d) as amended by Amendment Act, 2008 satisfied 'prescribed manner' only on 30.01.2009 and not before that.

31. Now, rule framing authority in its wisdom requires deposit of tax and filing of return for January 2008 by September 2008, March 2008 by October 2008, April 2008 by November 2008, May 2008 by December 2008 and for the month of June 2008 since amendment by Ordinance was made by notification dated 16.07.2008, therefore, time was prescribed upto 31.07.2008. Unfortunately, rule framing authority completely missed and erred in failing to appreciate that the period by which compliance under amended Rule 70(5) was required, has long expired before actual framing of Rule 70(5) vide U.P. Value Added Tax (First Amendment) Rules, 2009 which came to be published by notification dated 30.01.2009.

32. Even, learned Standing Counsel for respondents could not explain any logic or rational for mentioning such period for compliance under amended Rule 70(5) which has already expired. There is a well accepted principle in law that law does not require anyone to perform something which is impossible or improbable or cannot be performed by any person of ordinary prudence in the given facts and circumstances and situation. The Principal Legislature require compliance of deposit of tax by amended Section 42 of Act, 2008 vide amendment Act, 2008 in the manner prescribed. Delegated legislation acted and complied the requirement of "prescribed manner" by framing Rules laying down as to how and when tax shall be deposited and return shall be filed as required by the amended Section 42(4)(d). Rule framing authorities, however, sit tight and idle for more than 5-6 months and only on 30.01.2009 framed Rules providing time schedule. But this prescribed period has already expired long back.

33. Can such a provision be held rational and valid? Our obvious emphatic answer is 'No'. Since neither such provision is capable of read down in such a manner so as to render it rational such a provision which require compliance just impossible, valid law. There is a well known maxim, "Lex Non Cogit ad impossibilia" The law does not compel a man to do that which he cannot possibly perform. The other similarly recognized legal maxims are "Impotentia Excusat Legim" and "neon tenatur ad impossibilia." Where the law creates a duty, and the party is disable to perform it without any default in him and has no remedy over there, the law will excuse him.

34. The aforesaid doctrines have been accepted, approved and applied by Courts, in India also, in Cochin State Power and Light Corporation Ltd. Vs. State of Kerala AIR 1965 SC 1688, Court followed the aforesaid maxims and held:

"The performance of this impossible duty must be excused in accordance with the maxim, lex non cogit ad impossibilia (the law does not compel the doing of impossibilities), and sub-s. (4) of S. 6 must be construed as not being applicable to a case where compliance with it is impossible". (para 8)

35. A Constitution Bench of seven Hon'ble Judges in Re: Presential Pool 1974 (2) SCC 33: (AIR 1974 SC 1682) held as under:

"The maxim of law impotentia excusat legam is intimately connected with another maxim of law lex non cogit ad impossibilia. Impotentia excusat legam is that when there is a necessary or invincible disability to perform the mandatory part of the law that impotentia excuses. The law does not compel one to do that which one cannot possibly perform. "Where that law creates a duty or charge, and the party is disabled to perform it, without any default in him, and has no remedy over it, there the law will in general excuse him." Therefore, when it appears that the performance of the formalities prescribed by a statute has been rendered impossible by circumstances over which the persons interested had no control, like the act of God, the circumstances will be taken as a valid excuse. Where the act of God prevents the compliance of the words of a statute, the statutory provision is not denuded of its mandatory character because of supervening impossibility caused by the act of God. (See Broom's Legal Maxim 10th Edition at PP. 162-163 and Craies on Statute Law 6th Ed. At p. 268)" (para 15)

36. In State of Rajasthan versus Shamsher Singh AIR 1985 SC 1082, Court, while considering a case under Notional Security Act, applied the aforesaid doctrine and held as under:

"Mr. Jethmalani placed before us a passage from broom's Legal Maxims (p. 162), 10th Edn. Where the doctrine of impossibility of performance (lex non cogitat impossibilia) has been discussed. It has been indicated therein that however mandatory the provision may be where it is impossible of compliance that would be a sufficient excuse for non-compliance, particularly when it is a question of the time factor, keeping the attendant circumstances of this case in view, we find it difficult to hold that the time taken by the State Government can amount to withholding of the representation which resulted in non-compliance of S. 10 of the Act so as to vitiate the detention." (para 10)

37. Rajesh D. Darbar versus Narsing Rao Krishnaji Kulkarni & others (2003) 7 SCC 219, it was held:

"The other maxim is, lex non cogit an impossibilia i.e. law does not compel a man to do that what he cannot possibly perform. The applicability of the abovesaid maxim has been approved by this Court in Raj Kumar Dey v. Tarapada Dey : AIR 1987 SC 2195 Gursharan Singh V. New Delhi Municipal Committee : AIR 1996 SC 1175 and Mohd. Gazi Vs. State of M.P. : AIR 2000 SC 1806 (para 6)

38. This was followed again in Ram Chandra Singh versus Sabitri Devi & Others 2003 (8) SCC 319 (para 41). In the case of Industrial Financial Corporation of India Ltd. versus Cannanore Spinning & Waving Mills Ltd. AIR 2002 Supreme Court 1841, Court held:

"The Latin Maxim referred to in the English judgment "lex non cogit ad impossibilia" also expressed as "impotentia excusat legem" in common English acceptation means, the law does not compel a man to do that which he cannot possibly perform. There ought always thus to be an invincible disability to perform the obligation and the same is akin to the Roman Maxim. "nemo tenetur ad impossibilia". (para 30)

39. A Constitutional Bench of Five Hon'ble Judges also considered the aforesaid maxim in Special Reference No. 1 of 2002 reported in AIR 2003 Supreme Court 1987 and held:

"The maxim of law impotentia excusat legem is intimately connected with another maxim of law lex non cogit ad impossibilia. Impotentia excusat legem is that when there is a necessary or invincible disability to perform the mandatory party of the law that impotentia excuses. The law does not compel one to do that which one cannot possibly perform. "Where the law creates a duty or charge, and the party is disabled to perform it, without any default in him, and has no remedy over it, there the law will in general excuse him". Therefore, when it appears that the performance of the formalities prescribed by a statute has been rendered impossible by circumstances over which the persons interested had no control, like the act of God, the circumstances will be taken as a valid excuse. Where the act of God prevents the compliance of the words of a statute, the statutory provision is not denuded of its mandatory character because of supervening impossibility caused by the act of God. (See Broom's Legal Maxims 10th Edition at pp. 1962-63 and Craies on Statute Law 6th Ed. p. 268.) These aspects were highlighted by this Court in Special Reference 1 of 1974 (1975 (1) SCR 504). Situations may be created by interested persons to see that elections do not take place and the caretaker government continue in office. This certainly would be against the scheme of the Constitution and the basic structure to that extent shall be corroded." (para 154)

40. In Board of Control of Cricket in India Vs. Netaji Cricket Club AIR 2005 SC 592, Court has again followed and approved the aforesaid maxim by referring to its earlier judgment in Rajesh D. Darbar, and said:

"The other maxim is, lex non cogit ad impossibilia, i.e. the law does not compel a man to do that what he cannot possibly perform....." (para 107)

41. In another judgment of Apex Court in HUDA and another Vs. Dr. Babeswar Kanhar 2005 (1) SCC 191 : AIR 2005 SC 1491 referring to certain English decisions, Court observed:

"Apart from the said section and various provisions in various other Acts, there is the general principle that party prevented from doing an act by some circumstances beyond his control, can do so at the first subsequent opportunity (see Sambasiva Chari Vs. Ramasami Reddi). The underlying object of the principle is to enable a person to do what he could have done on a holiday, on the next working day. Where, therefore, a period is prescribed for the performance of an act in a court or office, and that period expires on a holiday, then the act should be considered to have been done within that period if it is done on the next day on which the court or office is open. The reason is that law does not compel the performance of an impossibility (see Hossein Ally V. Donezelle 2.) Every consideration of Justice and expediency would require that the accepted principle which underlies Section 10 of the General Clauses Act should be applied in cases where it does not otherwise in terms apply. The principles underlying are lex non cogit ad impossibilia (the law does not compel a man to do the impossible) and actus curiae neminem gravabit (the act of court shall prejudice no man)" (para 5)

42. In Maharashtra State Board of Secondary Education Vs. Paritosh Bhupesh Kumar Seth AIR 1984 SC 1543, Court, in para 29 of judgment, observed as under:-

"It will be wholly wrong for the court to make a pedantic and purely idealistic approach to the problems of this nature, isolated from the actual realities and gaoss root problems involved in the workign of the system and unmindful of the consequences which would emanate if a purely idealistic view as opposed to a pragmatic one were to be propounded. It is equally important that the court should also, as far as possible, avoid any decision or interpretation of a statutory provision, rule or by law which would bring about the result of rendering the system uunworkable in practice".

43. We may add that the aforesaid principle has been followed by Division Bench of this Court in Inter College, Kasmali 2006 (2) ALJ 601.

44. When issues of a statute is challenged, Court presumes constitutionality unless shown otherwise but presumption cannot go to uphold a provision whereof compliance is impossible by any person and still that statute hold one guilty and further liable of penalty and other dues for non compliance.

45. In Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Education (supra) Court in para 21, 22 and 28 said:

"21. If of instance, they were found to be partial and unequal in their operation as between different classes; if they were manifestly unjust; if they disclosed bad faith; if they involved such oppressive or gratuitous interference with the rights of those subject to them as could find no justification in the minds of reasonable men, the court might well say parliament never intended to given authority to make such rules; they are unreasonable and ultra vires.

22. A law has to be adjudged for its constitutionality by the generality of cases it covers not by the freaks and exceptions it martyre.

28. The test of reasonableness is not applied in vaccum but in the context of life's realities."

(Emphasis added)

46. The above doctrine and also exposition of law that a statute cannot require performance of something which is impossible and places a burden upon a person for no fault of him has also been considered in M/s. D.C.M. Ltd. and others Vs. State of U.P. And others Writ C No. 9513 of 1989.

47. In view of above exposition of law, when we look into the amended Rule 70(5) of Rule, 2008 as substituted by U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009, we find that rule framing authority, while framing a rule and enforcing the same on 30.01.2009, has required concerned units to deposit tax and submit return between July 2008 to December 2008 which is ex-facie irrational, unreasonable and improbable. When information by way of framing Rules is being given on 30.01.2009, no one can be expected to comply in retrospect i.e. during July 2008 to December 2008. In our view, Sub-rule (5) of Rule 70 as substituted by U.P. VAT (First Amendment) Rules, 2009 in Rules, 2008 is apparently irrational, arbitrary, illegal and unreasonable, hence violative of Article 14 of the Constitution. We have no hesitation in striking down the same, being wholly illegal, absurd, unfair and unreasonable, thus, violative of Article 14 of the Constitution.

48. Consequently, sub-rules (7) to (11) of Rule 70 in respect of net tax of January 2008 to June 2008 would render inoperative for the reason that they would come into operation only when a valid sub-Rule (5) is in existence but when we strike down sub-rule (5), consequences provided under sub-rule (7) and of Rule 70 also cannot be complied. Therefore, the same would become inoperative till a valid provision providing a rational procedure for compliance under Section 42(4)(d) is made by competent rule framing authority.

49. In view of above discussion, impugned notices and orders in all these writ petitions, issued by taxing authorities, are also hereby quashed.

50. Since dispute relates to deposit of tax from January 2008 to June 2008 and sufficient period had already elapsed since then, in order to mitigate and avoid any further scope of litigation and in the interest of both the parties, we provide and permit petitioners to deposit requisite amount of tax along with return within two months from today, if not already deposited, and if the said direction is complied with, respondent tax authorities shall treat said deposit and submission of return as due compliance of requirement of Section 42(4)(d) of Act, 2008 as amended by Amendment Act, 2008 and proceed accordingly for the purpose of refund of tax as provided under amended Section 42(5). If deposit has already been made, the same shall be treated as a deposit of tax in time then respondents shall proceed accordingly.

51. In case the direction as above, are not complied, with after two months from today, petitioners shall be deemed guilty of non compliance of deposit of tax and filing of return under Section 42(4) and then on all the relevant provisions including Rule 42(7) to (11) shall become operative with due consequences.

52. All writ petitions are partly allowed in the manner aforesaid. However, there shall be no order as to cost.

This revision has been filed against the order dated 20.5.2016 whereby the application filed under Order VI Rule 17 read with Section 151 CPC in SCC Suit No. 000187 of 2014 has been rejected on the ground that the revisionist has not shown due diligence in bringing on record the plea sought to be raised in the application, and it was found that allowing such a plea to be incorporated in the written statement at a stage when the suit proceedings had progressed to the stage of evidence which was about to close would defeat the expediency of proceedings.

I have given my anxious thought to the rival submissions made before this Court and it is found that an arbitration clause would not oust the jurisdiction of the civil court under Section-9 CPC or the remedy available under the Small Causes Court Act unless the parties invoke the arbitration clause at the threshold of dispute. Once the civil remedy is subscribed to by an aggrieved person by filing first statement, the course of arbitration shall stand obstructed due to the operation of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act. Moreover, once there is a failure on the part of the revisionist to take advantage of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act and from his conduct it is clear that the jurisdiction of the judicial authority has been subscribed to, for him waking up at a later stage to invoke the provision of Order VI Rule 17 for seeking an amendment which otherwise is not permissible under law, would defeat the very object of expediency of trial.

The civil revision is accordingly dismissed with no order as to cost.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Attau Rahman Masoodi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anand Dubey, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri B. K. Saxena, learned counsel for opposite party.

2. Delay in moving the revision is condoned.

3. This revision has been filed against the order dated 20.5.2016 whereby the application filed under Order VI Rule 17 read with Section 151 CPC in SCC Suit No. 000187 of 2014 has been rejected on the ground that the revisionist has not shown due diligence in bringing on record the plea sought to be raised in the application, and it was found that allowing such a plea to be incorporated in the written statement at a stage when the suit proceedings had progressed to the stage of evidence which was about to close would defeat the expediency of proceedings.

4. Before entering into other grounds of challenge against the impugned order passed on the application filed under Order VI Rule 17 CPC, it is desirable to answer whether such a plea in the teeth of Section-8 of the Arbitration Act, 1996 was at all open to be raised. A question to this effect has cropped up. The reason being that the lease deed postulates an arbitration clause and the plea of arbitration clause being available was not taken before filing of the written statement in order to stop suit proceedings to progress before the court below under the provisions of Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887. Now at an advanced stage when proceedings have reached the stage of evidence, it is questionable whether raising of such a plea is permissible under law.

5. Briefly stated, facts of the case are that the revisionist entered into a lease agreement with the opposite party in respect of the premises in question rented out to him on a monthly rent of Rs. 30,000/-for a period of five years, subject to other terms and conditions stipulated in the lease dated 27.12.2013. The monthly rent was payable in advance on the first day of every calendar month and various bills/taxes levied by the government and municipality and other local body/authority were liable to be paid by the lessee i.e. the revisionist. The revisionist-lessee as per the allegations made in the plaint was alleged to have breached not only the stipulation of payment of rent but also the dues payable to the local bodies, particularly electricity dues as such, occasion to terminate the tenancy by a written notice arose and tenancy was terminated on 19.7.2014. The tenant-lessee, however, is said to have not responded to the notice of termination of tenancy and continued to remain in arrears of rent as well as the dues towards other heads in terms of the lease deed. The failure to act in response to the notice of termination of tenancy, led to the institution of suit for eviction by the opposite party. The suit was filed in the month of August, 2014 wherein written statement was filed by the revisionist-respondent on 9.3.2015. The suit proceedings progressed further and have reached the stage of evidence with due participation of the parties. However, as aforesaid, an application under Order VI Rule 17 read with Section 151 CPC was filed by the revisionist whereby the stipulation of arbitration clause was sought to be pleaded through amendment in the written statement.

6. The application filed by the revisionist was opposed by the opposite party, namely, the plaintiff. The objections filed by the plaintiff clearly stated that a copy of the lease deed being available to the revisionist and its subject matter being known to him, such a defence was open but at this stage, through an amendment, taking the plea would be impermissible. The amendment was also opposed on the strength of the provisions underlying the Order VI Rule 17. The court below, having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, has rejected the application by means of the impugned order, giving rise to the present revision.

7. It is argued by learned counsel for the revisionist that the court below without delving into the subject matter of the application on the touchstone of Section 8 of the Act, has only dealt with the application within the purview of Order VI Rule 17. The submission proceeds that unless the application was allowed, the issue that arbitration clause bars the suit would be decided at a later stage. In other words, the stage of appreciating the grievance in the light of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act would arise only after allowing the application. Failure on the part of revisionist to act diligently is attributed to the negligence on the part of counsel who was previously conducting the case.

8. Learned counsel for the revisionist essentially argued that the application for amendment ought to have been allowed and legality of the objections was open to be considered later but the court below having failed to do so, has committed a manifest error of law warranting interference under Section 115 CPC.

9. Learned counsel for the revisionist placed reliance upon the decisions reported in 2016 (34) LCD 177 (Ishaq @ Gama Ahmad v. Smt. Champa Devi); 2005 (23) LCD 658 (Murari Lal v. 5th Additional District Judge, Bulandshahr and others); 2008 All. C.J. 2333 (Chander Kanta Bansal v. Rajinder Singh Anand); and (2001) 2 SCC 472 (Ragu Thilak D. John v. S. Rayappan and others). Relying upon the aforesaid, it is submitted that the plea giving rise to a legal question, was open to be taken at any stage of the proceedings and precluding the revisionist to advance such a plea amounts to miscarriage of justice.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent, while defending the impugned order, argued that the court below while passing the impugned order has not committed any error of law, rather, the very application filed by the revisionist for seeking an amendment in the written statement is in the teeth of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act, which permits the plea of arbitration to be raised before the stage of filing written statement. It is argued that once stage of filing an application under Section 8 is allowed to lapse, the revisionist having waived the right available to him, cannot turn around for taking shelter of such a plea after filing the written statement. In fact, inclusion of such a plea in the written statement itself amounts to waiver of right, therefore, the application filed by the revisionist erodes the foundation of his own case.

11. Section 8 of the Arbitration Act being relevant for the present controversy is extracted below:

"8. Power to refer parties to arbitration where there is an arbitration agreement:-

(1) A judicial authority before which an action is brought in a matter which is the subject of an arbitration agreement shall, if a party so applies not later than when submitting his first statement on the substance of the dispute, refer the parties to arbitration.

(2) The application referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be entertained unless it is accompanied by the original arbitration agreement or a duly certified copy thereof.

(3) Notwithstanding that an application has been made under sub-section (1) and that the issue is pending before the judicial authority, an arbitration may be commenced or continued and an arbitral award made."

12. From a plain reading of the aforesaid provision, it is clear that it is always open to a party to raise objection on the strength of an arbitration clause before subscribing to the jurisdiction of a judicial authority which in the present case is the Judge, Small Causes Court. Once the written statement was filed before the court below, the stage of filing an application under Section 8 of the Arbitration Act was allowed to lapse by the revisionist consciously. To turn the clock back for availing the benefit as was open to the revisionist at the time of instituting the suit proceedings seems to be too late. This Court finds that the revisionist had shown no inclination to protest on the strength of arbitration clause against the notice issued to him nor any protest was put up by filing an application before the court below under Section 8 of the Act so as to avoid suit proceedings in terms of clause-26 read with clause 29 of the agreement. The revisionist also failed to file an application raising the plea with regard to the arbitration clause before filing the written statement. In such a situation, inviting attention of this Court to the decision rendered by apex court rendered in Branch Manager, Magma Leasing & Finance Ltd. v. Potluri Madhavilata, (2009)10 SCC 103 and by this Court in Santlal v. Ramkewal and others, 2014 (6) All. L.J. 602, it is demonstrated that the course adopted by the revisionist by filing an application under Order VI Rule 17 being not open in law and the scope of principles embodied thereunder being also against the revisionist, has rightly been construed by the court below while passing the impugned order.

13. I have given my anxious thought to the rival submissions made before this Court and it is found that an arbitration clause would not oust the jurisdiction of the civil court under Section-9 CPC or the remedy available under the Small Causes Court Act unless the parties invoke the arbitration clause at the threshold of dispute. Once the civil remedy is subscribed to by an aggrieved person by filing first statement, the course of arbitration shall stand obstructed due to the operation of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act. Moreover, once there is a failure on the part of the revisionist to take advantage of Section 8 of the Arbitration Act and from his conduct it is clear that the jurisdiction of the judicial authority has been subscribed to, for him waking up at a later stage to invoke the provision of Order VI Rule 17 for seeking an amendment which otherwise is not permissible under law, would defeat the very object of expediency of trial.

14. The order passed by the court below in the facts and circumstances of the present case does not suffer from any illegality so as to call for interference by this Court. The civil revision is accordingly dismissed with no order as to cost.

This special appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 20.01.2016 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.7501 (SS) of 2005, Sudhir Kumar Mishra vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh and others whereby the order dated 28.09.2006 of the state government rejecting the representation of the petitioner for compassionate appointment was confirmed and Writ Petition was dismissed.

The father of the appellant, Shri Rama Shanker Mishra, while working as Collection Amin at Tehsil Bighapur, District Unnao, died on 01.10.1996 leaving behind his widow, three daughters and the petitioner. The mother of the petitioner, Smt. Vijaya Devi, did not claim compassionate appointment but moved an application on 28.08.2000 before the District Magistrate, Unnao, making submissions that she did not claim compassionate appointment since she was neither qualified nor was able to take up employment due to her continued illness. Her three daughters were of marriageable age and were not inclined to take up any employment. Her only son, the petitioner, who was studying in Class-X, was not eligible for appointment as he was minor and was to attain majority in year 2004. In this situation, it was, thus, prayed that in view of amended provisions of Section 5 of the Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servant Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (in short referred to as "1974 Rules") period of 5 years may be relaxed in respect of her son who may be considered for employment and a post be kept reserved for employment of her son under the Rules.

On the basis of objective considerations founded on the disclosures made by the petitioner in this case for compassionate appointment and having considered the reasons for the delay, we are of the opinion that undue hardship within the meaning of the first proviso to Rule 5 of the Rules would be caused to the petitioner and his family by the application of the time limit of five years. The expression 'undue hardship' has not been defined in the Rules. Undue hardship would necessarily postulate a consideration of relevant facts and circumstances of the case. In view the income of the family, its financial condition, the extent of dependency and marital status of its members, its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, together with the nugatory income from any other sources in this case, we are of the view that the family continues to suffer financial distress and hardship occasioned by the death of the bread winner. Considering the penurious condition of the family, it appears to be one of the rarest of rare cases where due to exceptional circumstances the family needs the extraordinary remedy to elate the condition of family. It would be appropriate to deal with the case of the petitioner in a just and equitable manner.

Appeal Allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. This special appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 20.01.2016 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.7501 (SS) of 2005, Sudhir Kumar Mishra vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh and others whereby the order dated 28.09.2006 of the state government rejecting the representation of the petitioner for compassionate appointment was confirmed and Writ Petition was dismissed.

2. The father of the appellant, Shri Rama Shanker Mishra, while working as Collection Amin at Tehsil Bighapur, District Unnao, died on 01.10.1996 leaving behind his widow, three daughters and the petitioner. The mother of the petitioner, Smt. Vijaya Devi, did not claim compassionate appointment but moved an application on 28.08.2000 before the District Magistrate, Unnao, making submissions that she did not claim compassionate appointment since she was neither qualified nor was able to take up employment due to her continued illness. Her three daughters were of marriageable age and were not inclined to take up any employment. Her only son, the petitioner, who was studying in Class-X, was not eligible for appointment as he was minor and was to attain majority in year 2004. In this situation, it was, thus, prayed that in view of amended provisions of Section 5 of the Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servant Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (in short referred to as "1974 Rules") period of 5 years may be relaxed in respect of her son who may be considered for employment and a post be kept reserved for employment of her son under the Rules.

3. On her son completing the age of eighteen, her mother filed a representation on dated 11.08.2004 before the District Magistrate, Unnao seeking compassionate appointment of her son on the ground that the financial and social problems occasioned by the death of her husband continued. The said request of the petitioner's mother was declined by the order dated 08.07.2005. Being aggrieved with this order dated 08.07.2005, the petitioner filed a writ petition whereby the petitioner was directed by interim order dt. 21.11.2005 to file a fresh representation before the State of U.P. for reconsideration of his case and for allowing relaxation of time limit of 5 years as per above Rule 1974. The petitioner submitted a representation accordingly on 12/19.12.2005 to the Secretary, Revenue Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh as well as to the District Magistrate, Unnao. The said representation was also rejected vide order dated 28.09.2006 by the State on the ground that it was time barred. The said order was challenged in Writ Petition No.7501 (SS) of 2005 which was dismissed by learned Single Judge hence this writ petition.

4. It is argued by learned counsel for the petitioner that there was no occasion for the State Government to reject the application of the petitioner for compassionate appointment. Learned counsel submitted placing reliance upon the report of Lekhpal and Tehsildar, Unnao dated 01.03.2005 that the said report indicated that the financial condition of petitioner's family continued to be poor and pitiable after death of the employee. The report is made available on the record by the State of U.P. It is submitted that the family was living hand to mouth.

5. The report dated 01.03.2006 reveals that the land admeasuring 1.575 hectare was recorded in the name of petitioner and his mother Vijaya Devi in the revenue records. The widow of the deceased employee is getting the pension from the department. The deceased was survived by his wife, three daughters and one son. The two daughters were still unmarried. The land was barren and their agricultural income was Rs.9,000/- per year. Thus, only means of livelihood was pension. It is submitted that the financial condition of the family continued to be critical and pitiable. Despite the recommendation of the District Magistrate, Unnao for granting relaxation of time beyond 5 years, the representation of the petitioner was illegally rejected by the state government without assigning any reason or ground in the impugned order dated 28.09.2006 and thus the order was challenged in Writ Petition No.7501 (SS) of 2005 which was dismissed, hence this special appeal. The petitioner has relied on the judgment of this Court in Shiv Kumar Dubey and Ors. Vs.State of U.P. and Ors. MANU/UP/0189/2014, 2014 (2)ADJ 312 in support of his case.

6. As against it, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel vehemently argued that the application of the petitioner's mother requesting to reserve the vacancy till the petitioner attains majority, was not found sustainable in the absence of any such provision under 1974 Rules. It is contended that the elder daughter of the deceased employee, who was major and unmarried during the relevant time, could have sought benefit of seeking compassionate appointment well within the period of limitation. The widow of the deceased employee did not avail the said opportunity. In these circumstances, she was not entitled to the benefit of 1974 Rules and her request for relaxation was not maintainable.

7. It is also contended that compassionate appointment under 1974 Rules is given to grant immediate relief to the member of the family of the deceased employee in order to cope with the sudden demise of the bread earner of the family. It is an special legislation by-passing the regular procedure of making recruitment and, if the family of the deceased employee has been able to maintain itself for sufficiently long time, there is no justification for by-passing the regular recruitment process as happened in this case. Learned Single Judge has rightly observed that since the appellant had been able to survive for sixteen years, that was indicative of a lack of immediacy. The special appeal was liable to be dismissed.

8. We have considered the aforesaid submissions and have gone through the records. To appreciate the contentions, it is necessary to first examine the relevant provisions of the U.P Recruitment of Dependent of the Rules. The expression 'deceased Government servant' is defined by Clause (b) of Rule 2 to mean a Government servant who dies while in service. Rule 2(c) of the Rules defines 'family'. Rule 5 of U.P Recruitment of Dependent of the Rules, 1974 provides as follows:

5. Recruitment of a member of the family of the deceased.—

(1) In case a Government servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except the post which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, in relaxation of the normal recruitment rules if such person fulfils the educational qualifications prescribed for the post, is otherwise qualified for Government service; and makes the application for employment within five years from the date of the death of the Government servant:

Provided that where the State Government is satisfied that the time limit fixed for making the application for employment causes undue hardship in any particular case, it may dispense with or relax the requirement as it may consider necessary for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner.

Provided further that for the purpose of the aforesaid proviso, the person concerned shall explain the reasons and give proper justification in writing regarding the delay caused in making the application for employment after the expiry of the time limit fixed for making the application for employment along with the necessary documents/proof in support of such delay and the Government shall, after taking into consideration all the facts leading to such delay take the appropriate decision.

(2) As far as possible, such an employment should be given in department in which the deceased Government servant was employed prior to his death.

(3) Every appointment made under sub-rule (1) shall be subject to the condition that the person appointed under sub-rule (1) shall maintain other members of the family of deceased Government servant, who were dependent on the deceased Government servant immediately before his death and are unable to maintain themselves.

9. Rule 8 provides as under:

8. Relaxation from age and other requirements.--(1) The candidate seeking appointment under these rules must not be less than 18 years at the time of appointment.

(2) The procedural requirements for selection, such as written test or interview by a selection committee or any other authority shall be dispensed with, but it shall be open to the appointing authority to interview the candidate in order to satisfy itself that the candidate will be able to maintain the minimum standards of work and efficiency expected on the post. An appointment under these rules shall be made against an existing vacancy only.

10. Now, it is in this background it would be appropriate to mention the principles of the law laid down by this Court and Supreme Court on the subject. In Shiv Kumar Dubey and Ors. vs. State of U.P. and Ors. MANU/UP/0189/2014 this Court after elaborately analysing the basic precepts interpreted the provision of the Rules in the light of the principles of law which emerge from the judgment of this court and Supreme Court. This court thus formulated the principles which must govern compassionate appointment in pursuance of Dying in Harness Rules as under:

(i) A provision for compassionate appointment is an exception to the principle that there must be an equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. The exception to be constitutionally valid has to be carefully structured and implemented in order to confine compassionate appointment to only those situations which subserve the basic object and purpose which is sought to be achieved;

(ii) There is no general or vested right to compassionate appointment. Compassionate appointment can be claimed only where a scheme or rules provide for such appointment. Where such a provision is made in an administrative scheme or statutory rules, compassionate appointment must fall strictly within the scheme or, as the case may be, the rules;

(iii) The object and purpose of providing compassionate appointment is to enable the dependent members of the family of a deceased employee to tide over the immediate financial crisis caused by the death of the bread-earner;

(iv) In determining as to whether the family is in financial crisis, all relevant aspects must be borne in mind including the income of the family; its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, dependency and marital status of its members, together with the income from any other sources of employment;

(v) Where a long lapse of time has occurred since the date of death of the deceased employee, the sense of immediacy for seeking compassionate appointment would cease to exist and this would be a relevant circumstance which must weigh with the authorities in determining as to whether a case for the grant of compassionate appointment has been made out;

(vi) Rule 5 mandates that ordinarily, an application for compassionate appointment must be made within five years of the date of death of the deceased employee. The power conferred by the first proviso is a discretion to relax the period in a case of undue hardship and for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner;

(vii) The burden lies on the applicant, where there is a delay in making an application within the period of five years to establish a case on the basis of reasons and a justification supported by documentary and other evidence. It is for the State Government after considering all the facts to take an appropriate decision. The power to relax is in the nature of an exception and is conditioned by the existence of objective considerations to the satisfaction of the Government;

(viii) Provisions for the grant of compassionate appointment do not constitute a reservation of a post in favour of a member of the family of the deceased employee. Hence, there is no general right which can be asserted to the effect that a member of the family who was a minor at the time of death would be entitled to claim compassionate appointment upon attaining majority. Where the rules provide for a period of time within which an application has to be made, the operation of the rule is not suspended during the minority of a member of the family.

11. In Shiv Kumar Dubey case(supra), while interpreting the provisions of Rule 5, this Court observed that appointments to public offices have to comply with the requirements of Article 14 and Article 16 of the Constitution. Article 16 provides for equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. Compassionate appointment is in the nature of an exception to the ordinary norm of allowing equality of opportunity to every eligible person to compete for public employment. The reason for the exception as envisaged in the Rules is that the immediacy of the financial hardship that is sustained by a bereaved family by the death of its earning member is sought to be alleviated in a situation in which the Government servant died while in service. Rule 5 of the Rules applies where a Government servant has died in harness after the commencement of the Rules.

12. The Court further observed that Rules have been framed by the State Government in exercise of the powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution. The Rules make it abundantly clear that the purpose and object underlying the provision for compassionate appointment is not to reserve a post for a member of the family of a deceased Government servant who has died while in service. The basic object and purpose is to provide a means to alleviate the financial distress of a family caused by the death of its member who was in Government service. This is the underlying theme or thread which cuts across almost every provision of the Rules.

13. It was further observed by the Court that the rationale for imposing a limit of five years beyond which an application cannot be entertained is that the purpose of compassionate appointment is to bridge the immediacy of the loss of an earning member and the financial distress that is sustained in consequence. A lapse of time is regarded by the Rules as leading to a dilution of the immediacy of the requirement. The discretionary power to relax the time limit of five years under first proviso to Rule 5 is in the nature of an exception. It is a power which is vested in the State Government, a circumstance which is indicative of the fact that the subordinate legislation expects it to be exercised with scrupulous care. Ordinarily, the time limit of five years governs. The State Government may relax the norm on a careful evaluation of the circumstances mandated by the second proviso. It is but a matter of first principle that a discretionary power to relax the ordinary requirement should not swallow the main or substantive provision and render the basic purpose and object nugatory.

14. In Subhash Yadav vs. State of U.P. through Secretary Education Department (Basic) and Ors. MANU/UP/2289/2010, the Division Bench of this Court dealt with a situation where the father of the appellant had died in harness on 8 August 1994 when the appellant was six years of age. The appellant attained the age of majority on 5 December 2005 and made an application for compassionate appointment. The State Government declined to accord relaxation of the period of five years and the writ petition filed by the appellant was dismissed by a learned Single Judge who held that since the appellant had been able to survive for sixteen years, that was indicative of a lack of immediacy. The Division Bench held that the Government erred in rejecting the application on the ground that there was an inordinate delay and such a blanket reason without considering anything else would not be in conformity with the power which has been conferred on the State, to relax the time period, which has to be exercised reasonably. Hence, the Division Bench held that the authorities cannot reject an application "blindfold" if it had been moved after five years and were required to apply their mind rationally, exercising the discretion in view of other factors relating to the case.

15. In Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana and others, MANU/SC/0701/1994:(1994) 4 SCC 138, the Supreme Court explained the basic purpose of providing compassionate appointment to the dependent of a deceased employee who has died in harness:

The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non- manual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency.... For these very reasons, the compassionate employment cannot be granted after a lapse of reasonable period which must be specified in the rules. The consideration for such employment is not a vested right which can be exercised at any time in future. The object being to enable the family to get over the financial crisis which it faces at the time of the death of the sole breadwinner, the compassionate employment cannot be claimed and offered whatever the lapse of time and after the crisis is over.

16. In Director of Education (Secondary) and another v. Pushpendra Kumar and others, MANU/SC/0373/1998 :(1998) 5 SCC 192, the Supreme Court while granting relief of compassionate appointment gave a direction that if no class III post is available in the institution in which the deceased employee was employed or in any other institution in the district, the said respondent would be appointed against a Class IV post in the institution in which the deceased employee was employed and a supernumerary post in class IV be created for that purpose . To quote the relevant extract:

The object underlying a provision for grant of compassionate employment is to enable the family of the deceased employee to tide over the sudden crisis resulting due to death of the bread earner which has left the family in penury and without any means of livelihood. Out of pure humanitarian consideration and having regard to the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made for giving gainful appointment to one of the dependents of the deceased who may be eligible for such appointment. Such a provision makes a departure from the general provisions providing for appointment on the post by following a particular procedure. Since such a provision enables appointment being made without following the said procedure, it is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions. An exception cannot subsume the main provision to which it is an exception and thereby nullify the main provision by taking away completely the right conferred by the main provision. Care has, therefore, to be taken that a provision for grant of compassionate employment, which is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions, does not unduly interfere with the right of other persons who are eligible for appointment to seek employment against the post which would have been available to them, but for the provision enabling appointment being made on compassionate grounds of the dependent of a deceased employee.

17. In Sushma Gosain and others v. Union of India and others, MANU/SC/0519/1989 : (1989) 4 SCC 468 Supreme Court observed thus:

The purpose of providing appointment on compassionate ground is to mitigate the hardship due to death of the bread earner in the family. Such appointment should, therefore, be provided immediately to redeem the family in distress. It is improper to keep such case pending for years. If there is no suitable post for appointment supernumerary post should be created to accommodate the applicant.

18. In Jagdish Prasad Vs. State of Bihar and Anr. MANU/SC/0996/1996 Supreme Court observed as under:

3. It is contended for the appellant that when his father died in harness, the appellant was minor; the compassionate circumstances continue to subsist even till date and that, therefore, the Court is required to examine whether the appointment should be made on compassionate grounds. We are afraid, we cannot accede to the contention. The very object of appointment of a dependent of the deceased employees who die in harness is to relieve unexpected immediate hardship and distress cause to the family by sudden demise of the earning member of the family. Since the death occurred way back in 1971, in which year the appellant was four years old, it cannot be said that he is entitled to be appointed after he attained majority long thereafter. In other words, if that contention is accepted, it amounts to another mode of recruitment of the dependent of a deceased Government servant which cannot be encouraged de hors the recruitment rules.

19. In Haryana State Electricity Board and another Vs. Hakim Singh MANU/SC/0964/1997 Supreme Court observed as under:

12. We are of the view that the High Court has erred in over stretching the scope of the compassionate relief provided by the Board in the circulars as above. It appears that High Court would have treated the provision as a lien created by the Board for a dependent of the deceased employee. If the family members of the deceased employee can manage for fourteen years after his death one of his legal heirs cannot put forward claim as though it is a line of succession by virtue of a right of inheritance. The object of the provisions should not be forgotten that it is to give succour to the family to tide over the sudden financial crisis befallen the dependants on account of the untimely demise of its sole earning member.

20. In the leading case of Md. Zamil Ahmed Vs. The State of Bihar and Ors. MANU/SC/0515/2016, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of the compassionate appointment of the brother of the deceased constable who left behind him illiterate wife and four minor children and disapproved the action taken by the state of terminating his service on the ground that the Appellant being the only close relative of the deceased could be given the appointment in the circumstances prevailing in the family. It was observed that the action on the part of welfare state in terminating the appellant service on the ground that he was not dependent of the deceased cant be countenanced. The state was not permitted to terminate the services of the appellant as constable after 15 years of his appointment for the following reasons:

15. Firstly, the Appellant and wife of the deceased at the time of seeking compassionate appointment did not conceal any fact and nor filed any false or incorrect document/declaration. On the other hand, both of them disclosed their true family relations and conditions prevailing in the deceased family on affidavit.

16. Secondly, the Appellant, who is the brother of the deceased, undertook to maintain the family of the deceased in the event of his securing the compassionate appointment and he accordingly also gave such undertaking to the State.

17. Thirdly, there was no one in the family of the deceased to claim compassionate appointment except the Appellant who, as mentioned above, was the close relative of the deceased, i.e., real younger brother and used to live with the deceased. He was otherwise eligible to claim such appointment being major, educated and only male member in the family.

18. Fourthly, the Appellant after securing the employment throughout maintained the family of the deceased in all respects for the last more than 15 years and he is continuing to do so.

19. In the light of aforementioned reasons, which rightly persuaded the State to grant compassionate appointment to the Appellant, we do not find any justification on the part of the State to dig out the Appellant's case after 15 years of his appointment and terminate his services on the ground that as per the State policy, the Appellant did not fall within the definition of the expression "dependent of deceased" to claim compassionate appointment.

20. The fact that the Appellant was younger brother of the deceased was within the knowledge of the State. Similarly, the State was aware that the brother does not fall within the definition of dependent at the relevant time and still the State authorities obtained the undertaking from the Appellant that he would maintain the family of the deceased once given the appointment.

21. In our considered view, the aforesaid facts would clearly show that it was a conscious decision taken by the State for giving an appointment to the Appellant being the younger brother of deceased constable for the benefit of the family members of the deceased who were facing financial hardship due to sudden demise of their bread earner. In our view, it was a right decision taken by the State as a welfare state to help the family of the deceased at the time of need of the family.

21. In the instant case, the petitioner submitted that when his father died he was only 4 years old and his mother informed the department that she would make application in prescribed form only when he attained majority. The department negated the representation in this matter taking stand that the application was not made within prescribed period. However, the petitioner's request for compassionate appointment was made soon after appellant attained majority. Under Rule 5 the time limit within which the dependant of the deceased employee is to be accommodated is fixed as five years. This period can be extended under proviso to Rule 5 where burden of proving the fact that compassionate circumstances continued to exist even till date was on the petitioner himself which he has successfully discharged in this case. There is sufficient evidence of the petitioner having aged and ailing mother, two unmarried sisters, the family having pension as the only source of livelihood, the agricultural land being barren causing nugatory income of about 9000/- per year, which appeared quite insufficient to enable the family to get over the financial crisis which is being faced by the family after the death of his father.

22. On the basis of objective considerations founded on the disclosures made by the petitioner in this case for compassionate appointment and having considered the reasons for the delay, we are of the opinion that undue hardship within the meaning of the first proviso to Rule 5 of the Rules would be caused to the petitioner and his family by the application of the time limit of five years. The expression 'undue hardship' has not been defined in the Rules. Undue hardship would necessarily postulate a consideration of relevant facts and circumstances of the case. In view of the income of the family, its financial condition, the extent of dependency and marital status of its members, its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, together with the nugatory income from any other sources in this case, we are of the view that the family continues to suffer financial distress and hardship occasioned by the death of the bread winner. Considering the penurious condition of the family, it appears to be one of the rarest of rare cases where due to exceptional circumstances the family needs the extraordinary remedy to elate the condition of family. It would be appropriate to deal with the case of the petitioner in a just and equitable manner.

23. In the result, we allow the appeal and in reversal of the order of the Learned Single Judge of this Court, we direct respondent No. 3 to consider the case of Sudhir Kumar- appellant for compassionate appointment within two months from the date on which the certified copy of this order is made available to the respondent No.3 by petitioner along with his representation.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shashi Kant Gupta, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred by the accused-appellants against the judgment and order dated 15.12.1982 passed by the Special Judge, Badaun in Sessions Trial No. 414 of 1981, under Sections 396/412 IPC, Police Station Dataganj, District Badaun whereby the accused appellants have been convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life for the offence punishable under Section 396 IPC.

2. The present appeal was filed in the year 1983 against the impugned judgment dated 15.12.1982 and it has come up for hearing before us after lapse of almost a period of 33 years.

3. At the outset, it is pertinent to mention here that during the pendency of this appeal, the co-accused persons namely Ram Chandra and Dwarika, who filed the separate Criminal Appeal No. 3203 of 1982 have died. Accordingly, vide order dated 16.04.2016, this Court had abated the Criminal Appeal no. 3203 of 1982 as dismissed qua Ram Chandra and Dwarika.

4. Now, we are proceeding to consider the present Criminal Appeal No. 196 of 1983 in respect of the sole surviving appellant namely Chhotey Shah.

5. Factual scenario according to the prosecution is essentially as follows:

An armed dacoity was committed in between the night of 15/16th December, 1980, at the house of P.W. 1-Lakhan in village Diyori within the jurisdiction of police station Dataganj. At the time of dacoity i.e. at about 00.30 hours, Lakhan (P.W.1) was sleeping inside his house. His father was sleeping in the Baithak. His wife and mother were sleeping at the verandah inside the house. His son Om Prakash (P.W.3) was sleeping in the Dehliz of the house and the lantern was glowing as usual in the inner verandah where two dacoits entered inside the house by scaling over the wall. On hearing the sound, the complainant (PW 1) woke up when he flashed his torch light, the dacoits caught hold of him. One of them opened the bolt of the front door which facilitated the entry of six more dacoits inside the house. The dacoits, who were about 10 or 11 in number started beating the female members of the house and tried to extract information about their valuables. One of the dacoits climbed on the roof through the stair case. He was armed with a gun. Another dacoit stood guard on the front door with gun. The dacoits resorted to firing from the roof as well as from the front door. They also caught hold of the father of the complainant from his Baithak and brought him inside the house. Om Prakash (P.W. 3), the son of the complainant finding an opportunity escaped from his house and raised an alarm in the village. The dacoits started looting the property of the complainant and in the course of committing dacoity they were entering into and going out of the house. The residents of village assembled with torches and lathis and started pelting brick-bats on the dacoits. One of them namely Naubat (deceased) climbed over the roof of Dal Singh and started throwing brick bats at the dacoits. Whereupon the dacoit, who was on the roof of the house of the complainant, fired a shot at him killing him outright. Budhpal set fire to the Puwal (paddy straw) heaped there which produced a flood of light. After committing dacoity which lasted about 20- 25 minutes, the dacoits fled away towards north. In the course of dacoity complainant's mother Tirka, father of Malkhan and wife Dev Kuar received injuries. The residents of the village who had assembled at the time of dacoity included Ishwari (P.W. 2), Samam, Ram Chander, Budhpal, Sardar and Kanhai etc. Except Budhpal all of them were carrying torches and lathis. It is claimed that in the light of torches, fire and lantern the witnesses succeeded in identifying the accused Ram Chander and Dwarika as they were the residents of the same village. The other dacoits were not known to them but it was claimed that the witnesses had noticed their facial image in the light.

6. After the retreat of the dacoits, the dead body of Naubat was brought down from the roof of Budhpal and was kept in front of complainant's Baithak on a cot. The complainant could not proceed to the police station in the night out of fear. His son Om Prakash scribed the report (ext Ka 1) on his dictation and thereafter the complainant took it to the police station Dataganj where he lodged the report at 6.10 hours on the following morning. A list of looted articles including Radio, cash, ornaments, utensils and clothes was given along with the FIR. The looted utensils viz. Batuya, Thali, Lota and a Glass was allegedly recovered from the co- accused Jeetendra Pal Singh.

7. On the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka-1) a formal F.I.R. (Ext. Ka-14) was prepared by Azhar Husain head constable (P.W. 7) and a case under section 396 I.P.C. was registered against the accused Ram Chander, Dwarika and 8-9 unknown persons vide G.D. (Ext. Ka.15).

8. Sri Soran Singh, S.O. Dataganj (P.W.8) started the investigation and he recorded the statement of the complainant at the police station and proceeded to the place of the occurrence where he made an inquest on the dead body of Naubat, prepared inquest report (Ext. Ka-9), photo of the dead body (Ext. Ka-7), challan (Ext. Ka.11), sample seal (Ext. Ka-10) and sent the dead body for post-mortem through constables Rameshwar Dayal and V.C. Shivlal. He recovered one Towel from the head of the dead body of Naubat and prepared its memo (Ext. Ka-18). He inspected the lantern of the complainant and torches of the witnesses in the light of which they claimed to have identified the dacoits and returned them in their supardagi vide memo (Ext. Ka-2). He prepared the site-plan (Ext. Ka-19) of the place of occurrence. He recovered nine empty cartridges (Ext. 4) from the roof of the complainant under a memo (Ext. Ka-20). He recovered blood stained earth from the roof of Budhpal and Dal Singh (Ext. 6 and 7) and unstained earth (Ext. 8 and 9), kept it in separate sealed container under a memo (Ext. Ka-21). He recovered ashes from the khandahar of Budhpal Singh, took its sample (Ext. 10) under a memo (Ext Ka 22). Three pairs of shoes (Ext. 11) and one cap (Ext. 12) left behind by the dacoits were also recovered by him from the house of the complainant under a memo (Ext. Ka-23).

9. On a tip off by a Mukhbir Khas 14.1.1981 the S.O. Proceeded from the police station, collected witnesses Sita Ram (P.W. 4) and Radhey Shiam (P.W.5) from the bus stand and reached the out-skirts of village Gangola near Dharamshala where he found accused Jitendra Pal Singh, sitting on the foot-path. The accused tried to run away but he was chased by the police men and the witnesses and was apprehended at a short distance of 50 paces on the main road. It is alleged that one bundle containing Thali (Ext 1), Gilas (Ext. 2) and Lota (Ext. 3) were recovered from his possession. It was suspected to be the property looted in the course of dacoity in question. It was, therefore, seized by the S.O. under a memo (Ext. Ka 12) and sealed at the spot. The S.O. prepared the site plan (Ext. Ka-24) of the place of recovery. He sent a report for identification of the recovered property. The identification was held on 27.03.1981 wherein the complainant and his family members identified (Ext. 1 to 3) as belonging to them which was looted in the course of the same dacoity.

10. Accused Dwarika was arrested on 19.1.1981 by S.I. Din Dayal Saroj. Accused Ram Chander surrendered in court.

11. Accused Chhotey surrendered in court on 7.2.1981. The I.O. sent a report on 23.2.1981 for keeping him bapurda He was put to test identification in Budaun jail on 27.3.1981 wherein he was correctly identified by all the six witnesses.

12. After necessary investigation the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-25) against all the four accused persons under sections 396 and 412 I.P.C. As the case was exclusively triable by the court of Sessions the learned Magistrate committed the case to the court of Session.

13. The accused were all charged of the offence under section 396 I.P.C. Co-accused Jitendra Pal Singh was charged alternatively for the offence punishable under section 412 I.P.C. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charges framed against them. They denied their participation in the offence and attributed their prosecution to enmity. According to co-accused Ram Chander and Dwarika who were named in the F.I.R., they had enmity with the complainant and the prosecution witnesses on the issue of fishing from the tank. Proceedings were also drawn under sections 107/117 Cr. P. C. between them on account of that dispute. They have filed certified copy of the chalani report under section 107 Cr. P. C. (Ext. Kha-1 and kha-2) in their defence.

14. Accused Chhote Shah has pleaded that he has been falsely implicated due to village rivalry. He had surrendered in the Court of Judicial Magistrate in an another case under section 25 Arms Act. He used to come to the court without Parda and was shown to the prosecution witnesses by the police on 27.2.1981. The accused has filed a certified copy of the order sheet of the case against him under section 25 Arms Act (Ext. Kha-3) and has examined Liakat (D.W. 1) to show that he was known to the prosecution witnesses from before.

15. Accused Jitendra Pal Singh has claimed that the property recovered from him was his. He was not arrested on the road but the property was recovered from his house falsely showing it to be the looted property of the complainant due to his enmity with Soran Singh, S.I., who harboured ill will against him because his (Jeetendra Pal Singh) brother Sukhpal was acquitted in a case wherein he was falsely implicated in a murder case under the pressure of the village's carpenters. The accused has examined Suleman (D.W. 2) in proof of his allegation that recovery of (Ext. 1 to 3) was effected by the S.I. from house search.

16. The prosecution produced in all 8 witnesses in the Court. Of these Lakhan (P.W. 1), Ishwari (P.W. 2) and Om Prakash (P.W. 3) are the witnesses of fact. They claimed to have identified the accused Ram Chandra and Dwarika during the course of dacoity and also identified the accused Chhotey Shah in jail.

17. Sita Ram (P.W. 4) and Radhey Shiam (P.W. 5) are witnesses of the alleged recovery of (Ext. 1 to 3) from the possession of accused Jitendra Pal Singh on 14.1.1981.

18. Dr. A.K. Malpani (P.W.6) conducted post-mortem of deceased Naubat on 17.12.1980. He has proved (Ext. Ka-13) as post-mortem report prepared by him.

19. Azhar Husain (P.W.7) is head constable of police station Dataganj who has proved the F.I.R. (Ext. Ka-14) prepared on the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka-1) and the G.D. entry (Ext. Ka-15). He has also proved G.D. (Ext. Ka 16) dated 14.1.1981 on the arrest of accused Jitendra. Exhibit Ka-17 was proved being the G.D. entry of 19.1.1981 made at 18.05 hours in respect of the arrest of accused Dwarika.

20. Soran Singh (P.W. 8) is S.O. Dataganj who investigated the case. He has proved (Ext. Ka-7 to Ka-11) as the documents prepared by him on the inquest of deceased Naubat. Exhibit Ka-12 has been proved to be the recovery memo of (Ext. 1 to 3) from the possession of accused Jitendra. Exhibit Ka-18, Ka-20 to Ka-24 have been proved to be Fards of the various articles recovered by him from the spot of the occurrence. Exhibit Ka-19-site plan was proved and prepared by him of the place of occurrence and Ext. 24 is the site-plan prepared by him of the place of recovery from accused Jitendra. Exhibit Ka-25 has been proved to be the charge-sheet submitted by him against the accused persons. Exhibit Ka-27 is the report dated 23.2.1981 sent by him for keeping accused Chhotey bapurda.

21. The genuineness of the injury reports of Smt. Kitka (Ext. Ka-3), Smt. Dev Kumar (Ext. Ka-4) and Malkhan (Ext. Ka-5) has been admitted by the learned counsel for the accused. The genuineness of the post-mortem report of Naubat (Ext. Ka-6) has also been admitted by the learned defence counsel. The genuineness of the identification memo of the recovered property (Ext. Ka-13) and the genuineness of the identification memo of accused Chhotey (Ext. Ka-26) has also been admitted by the learned counsel for the accused.

22. The Trial court after hearing the learned counsel for the parties and going through the record found that the prosecution has fully succeeded in bringing home the charges against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt and vide impugned judgment and order dated 15.12.1982 convicted and sentenced the accused appellants, hence the present appeal.

23. Mr. Mohd. Waseem, learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the appellant namely Chhotey Shah had surrendered before the Court below on 06.02.1981 in an another case under Section 25 Arms Act. He further submitted that the alleged incident had occurred on 15/16.12.1980 at about 00.30 hours and the appellant Chhotey Shah surrendered before the Court below on 06.02.1981 but the test identification parade was conducted on 27.03.1981, as such, there was an inordinate delay in conducting the test identification parade. It was further submitted that the appellant was neither named in the first information report nor any recovery whatsoever was made from his possession. It was further submitted that the appellant was known earlier to the informant side as his maternal aunt (Mausi) was residing in the village in question and he used to visit the village quite often. In support of his submission, he has placed reliance upon the testimony of the D.W. 1 Liyaqat. He further submitted that the alleged recovery was made from the co-accused namely Jeetendra Pal Singh who was acquitted from all the charges levelled against him including under Section 412 IPC by the impugned judgment as the recovery was found by the trial to be false. It was further submitted that the incident had occurred in the pitch dark winter night of 15/16.12.1980 and despite the fact that there was no sufficient light, the witnesses claim to have identified the accused persons from a distance. It was further submitted that the informant namely Lakhan despite being the head of the family did not suffer any injury while the other family members including old father, daughter and wife suffered several injuries. He further submitted that the site plan was prepared by the Investigating Officer on his own as the informant and other witnesses have specifically stated that the site plan was not prepared in their presence or under their instructions. It was further submitted that the site plan does not mention the place where the P.W.2 - Ishwari had hidden himself and witnessed the incident. Neither any brick bats, which were alleged to have been pelted by the villagers at the accused persons, were recovered from the spot nor any Fard of it was prepared. It was further submitted that the appellant had surrendered himself before the Court below on 06.02.1981 in connection with some other case under Section 25 Arms Act and thereafter during the course of remand he was produced before the Judicial Magistrate and was shown to the witnesses, as such, the test identification was nothing but a farce. In the test identification parade he was identified by all the six witnesses. He further submitted that brick bats were allegedly pelted the deceased Naubat from the terrace of Dal Singh but the alleged body was recovered from the terrace of Budhpal and no explanation has been given by the prosecution as to how the blood was found from the two terraces although they did not form one continuous space. He further submitted that in order to show that there was sufficient light, the prosecution has set up a story that in the Khandahar of Budhpal Singh situated around 20-30 paces away from the place of incident, they set fire to Puwal (paddy straw) which produced a flood of light enabling them to identify the dacoits, who were standing on the terrace of the house in question. He further submitted that the appellant has been implicated falsely due to village party bandi. He further submitted that the prosecution has failed to show the starting point as to how they could be able to know that the appellant was involved in the commission of the present offence.

24. Per contra, Shri Ram Yash Pandey, learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State has supported the impugned judgment and submitted that the Court below has given a cogent, convincing and satisfactory reasons while convicting the appellant. He further submitted that the appellant has been identified by all the witnesses and the name of the appellant Chhotey Shah came into light in the confessional statement of the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh from whom the alleged recovery was made.

25. Heard Mohd. Waseem, learned counsel for the appellant, Shri Ram Yash Pandey, learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State and perused the material available on record.

26. The Court below by impugned judgment dated 21.12.1982 has convicted the appellants Chhotey Shah, Ram Chandra and Dwarika under Section 396 IPC, however the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh from whose possession the recovery was made, has been acquitted from the charges under Section 396 IPC as well as under Section 412 IPC, as such, the alleged recovery of some utensils from his possession was found to be false and fabricated and as such his (Jeetendra Pal Singh) confessional statement disclosing the name of the appellant also falls to the ground.

27. The incident is said to have been occurred in the midnight of 15/16.12.1980. Admittedly the appellant Chhotey Shah was not named in the first information report, however other co-accused namely Ram Chandra and Dwarika were specifically named in the FIR as they belong to the same village Diyori, where the incident had occurred. In the said incident, one Naubat Ram, who belongs to the same village died and three inmates also suffered injuries, however the informant, the head of the family, did not receive even a scratch during the course of dacoity.

28. The incident had occurred in the mid night of 15/16.12.1980 and the appellant Chhotey Shah surrendered before the Court below on 06.02.1981 and yet the test identification parade was conducted on 27.03.1981.

29. According to the prosecution story, one lantern was burning inside the house at the time when the dacoity was committed and the informant and other witnesses could able to see the miscreants in the light of torch as well in the light produced by the fire set to Puwal (paddy straw).

30. Now the question remains to be determined as to whether the light available on the spot was sufficient to identify the accused persons including the appellant as the dacoity was committed in the pitch dark winter night of 15/16.12.1980. It must also be borne in mind that in the year 1980 there was no concept of global warming and mid December month used to very cold. There were three sources of light set out by the prosecution. One was the light of lantern hanging inside the house in the verandah. Another was the light that emanated from the Puwal (paddy straw), when it was set on fire at the Khandahar of Budhpal during the course of dacoity and the third source of the light was the torches flashed by the villagers. The material available on record shows that around 10-12 dacoits had barged in to the house of the informant to commit dacoity and as soon as the dacoits entered into his house, he took out his torch and flashed the torch light at them. No enquiry was made as to whether the alleged light available on the spot was sufficient to enable the witnesses to identify the dacoits from a distance.

31. It is worth noting at this stage that the informant and the inmates of the house must be terrified and intimidated after seeing so many dacoits raiding the house and therefore would not have been in proper frame of mind at the relevant time to flash torch light at the accused persons, who were around 10-12 in number. It may also be noted that charge sheet was filed only against five persons and three out of them were shown to be the resident of the village in question. Co-accused Ram Chandra and Dwarika , who belong to the same village where the dacoity was committed admittedly had enmity with the informant side as Criminal case under Sections 107/117 Cr.P.C was pending between them. In these circumstances, it was highly improbable that the residents of the same village without concealing their identity or covering their faces would commit dacoity in the house of the informant and the same analogy goes with the appellant Chhotey Shah also, who was also the resident of the adjoining village and according to D.W. 1- Liyaqat, he, being a wrestler (Pahalwan), used to visit the village in question quite frequently to participate in the Dungal organized in the village in question.

32. It may also be noted that there are material contradictions and inconsistencies in the evidence of the alleged eye witnesses with regard to the fact whether the accused persons were covering their faces or not. According to P.W. 1- Lakhan Ram, during the course of dacoity, dhatas of dacoits had opened automatically one after the other, however other witnesses P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 have specifically stated that none of them were concealing their identity or covering their faces, therefore, in the present circumstances it is most improbable that the accused persons would not have been covering their faces during the course of dacoity.

33. The story set up by the prosecution that the heap of Puwal was set on fire, does not inspire us. If at all the Puwal was set on fire, the question is as to how long had it lasted and whether the light produced by it was sufficient to enable the witnesses to recognize the dacoits from such a long distance. Thus, we are of the view that since the alleged dacoity was committed in the pitch dark winter night in the month of December and in view of the evidence on record the light available during occurrence was not sufficient for the identification of the real culprits.

34. There is one another important aspect which goes to the root of the matter. The incident had occurred on 15/16.12.1980 and the test identification parade was conducted on 27.03.1981. Thus the test identification parade was conducted nearly after 100 days from the date of incident and 51 days from the date of surrender as the appellant had surrendered on 06.02.1981 before the Court. Holding identification parade after lapse of such a long time creates doubt. No justification has been given by the prosecution for such an inordinate delay. It is difficult to conceive that after such a long time the witnesses would be remembering facial image and profile of the accused persons.

In this regard, we are fortified by the decision of the Apex Court in the cases of Iqbal Vs. State of U.P. (2015) 6 SCC 623, Budh Sen Vs. State of U.P. (1970) 2 SC C 128, Soni Vs. State of U.P. (1982) 3 SCC 368 and Subhash and Shiv Shankar Vs. State of U.P. (1987) 3 SCC 331.

35. The test identification report also indicates that all the six persons, who were called for identification had identified the appellant. Thus there was 100% identification. This also creates suspicion about the veracity of the prosecution story. It is difficult to comprehend as to how all the six witnesses would correctly identify the appellant who had allegedly seen him in the pitch dark winter night from a distance after more than three months.

36. At this stage, it would also be relevant to refer to the testimony of the P.W. 8 Soran Singh, the Investigating Officer. According to him, the site plan was prepared in the presence of the informant and the witnesses. In the present case only three witnesses of fact have been produced before the Court below i.e. P.W. 1-Lakhan Ram (informant), P.W. 2- Ishwari (one of the villager) and P.W. 3- Om Prakash (son of the informant). All these three witnesses have categorically stated that the site plan was not prepared in their presence, as such, their deposition completely belied the evidence of the P.W.8- Investigating Officer that it was prepared in the presence of the P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3. Perusal of the statement of the P.W. 8 Investigating Officer further shows that it suffers from a number of deficiencies. The brick bats, which were pelted by the villagers at the house of the informant has not been shown in the site plan nor any Fard of the said brick bats have been prepared. The report of the Forensic Lab has not been placed with regard to the blood which was collected from the terrace of Budhpal and Dal Singh. No effort was made to connect three pairs of shoes and cap, which were allegedly recovered from the spot. In this reference, the extract of the statement of P.W. 8 is quoted herein below:-

12. नक्शे में ओम प्रकाश के सोने का स्थान नहीं दिखाया है न यह दिखाया है कि उसने घटना वहाँ से देखी। लाखन ने घटना के समय घर में होना बताया नक्शा में नहीं दिखाया है। गवाहान लाखन, ईश्वरी व ओम प्रकाश ने मुलजमान राम चन्द्र व द्वारका के हाथ में तमंचा व बन्दूक होने की बात नहीं बताई।

15. नक्शे में सुलेमान का मकान नहीं दिखाया। न किसी मकान के छर्रे के निशान पाये। यह गलत है कि सुलेमान का मकान व उसमें लगे छर्रे मुकदमें की घटना स्थल से मेल नहीं खाते थे इसलिए उनको नक्शे में न दिखाया हो।”

37. In Paragraph 18 of his testimony P.W. 1 Lakhan Ram has categorically stated that the site plan was not prepared in his presence. The said paragraph 18 is quoted herein below:-

“18. यह मैंने नहीं देखा कि गवाहान ने कहाँ से घटना देखी। मेरे सामने दरोगा जी को किसी ने नहीं बताया कि वहाँ से घटना देखी मेरे सामने दरोगा जी ने नक्शा नहीं बनाया। यह गलत है कि घटना के समय कोई आग या लालटैन नहीं जल रही हो व दरोगा जी ने आग व लालटैन बना दी हो।

38. It is also notable that Rohan Lal and Suleman witnesses of Ext. Ka 18 Ext. ka 20- empty cartridge of tikli, Ext. Ka 21- Blood stained soil, Ext. Ka 22- Ashes of burnt puwal and Ext. Ka 23- Shoes and cap were not produced before the Trial Court to prove the aforesaid recovery from the spot. It was also not explained as to how the P.W. 1 Lakhan who was in the ground floor of his house could able to see or recognize the appellant who was alleged to be present on the terrace. It also appears to be very improbable that dacoits would intimidate and cause injuries to the family members of the informant alone in order to extract information about the valuables and would spare the informant (who was the head of the family) and not cause even a scratch upon his body although he allegedly remained in the house during the course of the alleged dacoity.

39. The testimony of P.W. 2 also appears to be concocted. P.W. 2 tried to implicate the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh, who was also the resident of the same village and from whom the false recovery was made by the police. According to the P.W. 2 Jeetendra Pal Singh was also involved in committing dacoity and despite the fact that he knew him from before neither his name was mentioned in the FIR nor in the statement of P.W. 2 recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. False recovery was shown from the possession of the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh. As a result, the Court below disbelieved the factum of recovery and recorded a categorical finding that the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh was not at all involved in the commission of the offence. The relevant paragraphs 41 to 46 of the impugned judgment are quoted herein below:-

"41. Accused Jeetendra Pal Singh is resident of the same village Diyori where the dacoity took place. He is not named in the FIR. Ishwari (PW2) has stated that he saw him amongst the dacoits but no other witness has corroborated him. Even Ishwari (PW 2) did not name him in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., hence it can not be concluded that any prosecution witness could identify him amongst the dacoits at the time of dacoity.

42. The only evidence against the accused is that of recovery of one Thali (Ext.1), one Gilas (Ext. 2) and one Lota (3) which is alleged to be looted property, the possession of which was transferred through the commission of this dacoity. The recovery is alleged to have been made by the investigating officer on 14.01.1981 ie after about a month of the dacoity. According to the investigating officer (Soron Singh P.W. 8) the accused was apprehended by him in the outskirts of village Gangola on the mettled road near the Dharmshala at about 3.45 PM of 14.01.1981 when the recovery of (Ext. 1 to 3) was made from his possession in the presence of Sita Ram (PW 4) and Radhey Shiam (P.W. 5).

43. The accused does not deny the recovery of (Ext 1 to 3) from his possession. But according to him this recovery was made by the Investigating Officer from his house by house search. Suleman (D.W. 2) has been produced in support of the defence plea that the recovery was made by the S.O from the house search of the accused.

44. Whatever might have been the mode of the recovery of (Ext. 1 to 3), it remains admitted on the part of the accused as well the ext. 1 to 3 belong to him and these were recovered from his possession by the investigating officer.

45. It has only to be seen if (Ext. 1 to 3) were stolen property having been stolen in the course of this dacoity. In the FIR (Ext Ka-1) at serial numbers 20,21 and 22 one Lota, one Thali and Gilas are included in the list of the stolen property along with their weight and value. No other description has been given. According to the complainant as well as the Investigating Officer, no other description of the stolen property was given by the witnesses in the course of his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. But both Lakhan (PW 1) and Om Prakash (PW 3) identified (Ext. 1 to 3) as theirs in the course of the identification proceedings held on 27.03.1981 held by Shri V.P. Singh, Executive Magistrate. The genuineness of the identification memo (Ext. Ka 13) has been admitted by the learned counsel for the accused.

46. It is also admitted by all the prosecution witnesses as well as by the Investigating Officer tht utensils of the type of (Ext. 1 to 3) are very common which can be found in most of the houses. It is also admitted by the complainant as well as his son Om Prakash that there was no distinguishable mark on any of these utensils which are in common use of every house. Under these circumstances it cannot be definitely held with all certainty that (Ext. 1 to 3) were stolen property looted in the course of this dacoity. These are minimum requirements of a house hold. It is not at all surprising if these minimum requirements were recovered from the possession of the accused either from his house as alleged by the accused or on the road as alleged by the prosecution. There is also nothing to show that accused Jitendra retained this property knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property the possession of which was transferred through the commission of dacoity. Accused Jitendra, therefore, cannot be held guilty of the offence under Section 412 Cr.P.C also and he deserves his acquittal. "

40. It is further submitted that the Investigating Officer of the case has completely failed to show as to how and on what basis he has picked up the accused appellant in the present case. It is also notable that Jeetendra Pal Singh from whom the alleged recovery was shown and had disclosed the name of the appellant has been acquitted by the Court below while recording a categorical finding that the alleged recovery made from him was false and fabricated. In view of the above, the story set up by the prosecution that the name of the appellant was disclosed by the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh falls to the ground.

41. In the case of Iqbal Vs. State of U.P. (Supra), the Apex Court in paragraphs 5, 11, 15 and 16 has held as follows:

"5. Learned counsel for the appellants contended that at the time of incident, it was pitch dark and it would have been highly improbable for the witnesses to identify the dacoits with flash of torches. It was further submitted that PW1-Patia Singh had given an exhaustive list of more than fifty valuable items which had been stolen, but except three kilograms of ghee in a clay pot, nothing was recovered from the appellants and in the absence of substantive evidence corroborating the identification, the courts below ought not to have convicted the appellants. It was also submitted that the appellants have no criminal antecedents to commit such heinous crime.

38. 11. In our considered view, it is unbelievable that on a new moon night when it was pitch dark, the witnesses who were frightened and who were hiding themselves behind the walls in order to save themselves, could have seen actual faces of the accused persons just by flash of torch lights on their faces and in the light of lantern. Further, there were about 14-15 dacoits in number, all armed with deadly weapons and were continuously making ingress and egress in the house of the deceased, it becomes inconceivable as to how the witnesses standing at a distance in a feeble light would have been able to identify the dacoits.

15. Evidence of identification of the miscreants in the test identification parade is not a substantive evidence. Conviction cannot be based solely on the identity of the dacoits by the witnesses in the test identification parade. The prosecution has to adduce substantive evidence by establishing incriminating evidence connecting the accused with the crime, like recovery of articles which are the subject matter of dacoity and the alleged weapons used in the commission of the offence.

16. It is pertinent to note that in the present case no recovery of articles which are the subject of dacoity was made from the appellants or other non-appealing accused persons. In his complaint, PW1 gave a list enumerating fifty expensive items, such as gold jewellery, silver articles, sarees and clothes and also cash. As per the recovery memo, what was recovered was just three kilograms of ghee in a clay pot. In his deposition, PW8-Nepal Singh (investigating officer) has stated that at the instance of Kripa, he had recovered a 'chaptaghu' and an 'attire'. However, in the recovery memo, only three kilogram of ghee is mentioned which is said to have been recovered on the disclosure statement of accused Kripa. From the appellants as well as from the non -appealing accused persons, not a single item of valuable out of the whole list of stolen articles was recovered. It is quite unbelievable that within a short span of time i.e. from 21.09.1979 (date of incident) to 9.10.1979 (date of arrest), the accused would have converted or sold out all the valuable items. Even if we accept that they had done so, the prosecution ought to have adduced evidence as to how and in what manner the articles which were the subject matter of dacoity were either disposed of or converted. Murder and robbery were part of the same transaction. Consequent upon the disclosure statement, only three kilograms of ghee was recovered."

42. In the present case also no recovery whatsoever has been made from the possession of the appellant and in fact there was no starting point giving any clue to the Investigating Officer to show the complicity of the appellant in the commission of the alleged offence. In the present case also the alleged incident had occurred in the pitch dark winter night and the witnesses P.W. 2 and P.W. 3 were standing quite far away from the place of occurrence and it becomes inconceivable as to how they would have identified the dacoits in a feeble light. The prosecution has to adduce substantive evidence by establishing incriminating evidence connecting the accused with the crime, like recovery of articles which are the subject matter of dacoity and the alleged weapons used in the commission of the offence. In view of the evidence on the record, it is apparent that available light during occurrence was insufficient for the identification of real culprits.

43. The test identification parade was conducted after more than three months and no explanation has been offered with regard to such inordinate delay. In the circumstances, there were chances that the accused appellant was shown to the identifying witnesses prior to identification parade and during pendency of the trial. The natural possibility of gathering false impressions of the accused appellant by the identifying witnesses after such a long gap cannot be ruled out. No serious effort was made by the Investigating Officer to recover the looted property except few utensils from the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh, which too was held by the Court below to be false and fabricated while acquitting the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh.

44. In the above context it will be useful to refer to a decision of the Apex Court in the case of Soni Vs. State of U.P. (Supra) wherein in paragraph 2 it was held as follows:-

"After hearing counsel on either side we are satisfied that the conviction of the appellant for the offence of dacoity is difficult to sustain. The conviction rests purely upon his identification by five witnesses, Smt. Koori, Pritam Singh, Kewal, Chaitoo and Sinru, but it cannot be forgotten that the identification parade itself was held after a lapse of 42 days from the date of the arrest of the appellant. This delay in holding the identification parade throws a doubt on the genuineness thereof apart from the fact that it is difficult that after lapse of such a long time the witnesses would be remembering the facial expressions of the appellant. If this evidence can not be relied upon there is no other evidence which can sustain the conviction of the appellant. We therefore allow the appeal and acquit the appellant. "

45. In this connection it will be fruitful to notice the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of Subhash and Shiv Shankar Vs. State of U.P. (Supra) in paragraphs 8 and 9 which reads as follows:-

"8. Apart from this infirmity we further find that Shiv Shankar was not put up for test Identification parade promptly. The identification parade has been held three weeks after his arrest and no explanation has been offered for the delay in holding the test identification parade. There is, therefore, room for doubt as to whether the delay in holding the identification parade was in order to enable the identifying witnesses to see him in the police lock-up or in the jail premises and make a note of his features.

9. Over and above all these things there remains the fact that a sufficiently long interval of time had elapsed between the date of occurrence when the witnesses had seen Shiv Shankar for a few minutes and the date of the test identification parade. It is, no doubt, true that all the three witnesses had correctly identified Shiv Shankar at the identification parade but it has to be borne in mind that nearly 4 months had elapsed during the interval. It is relevant to mention here that neither in Exhibit Kha I nor in their statements during investigation, the eye witnesses have given any descriptive particulars of Shiv Shankar. While deposing before the Sessions Judge they have stated that Shiv Shankar was a tall person and had 'sallow' complexion. If it is on account of these features the witnesses were able to identify Shiv Shankar at the identification, parade, they would have certainly mentioned about them at the earliest point of time because their memory would have been fresh then. Thus in the absence of any descriptive particulars of Shiv Shankar in Exhibit Kha 1 or in the statements of witnesses during investigation, it will not be safe and proper to act upon the identification of Shiv Shankar by the three witnesses at the identification parade and hold that he was one of the assailants of Ram Babu. As pointed out in Muthu Swami v. State of Madras, A.I.R. 1954 S.C 4 where an identification parade is held about 2-1/2 months after the occurrence it would not be safe to place reliance on the identification of the accused by the eye witnesses. In another case Mohd. Abdul Hafeez v. State of Andhra Pradesh, A.I.R. 1983 S.C. 361 it was held that where the witnesses had not given any description of the accused in the First Information Report, their identification of the accused at the Sessions trial cannot be safely accepted by the court for awarding conviction to the accused. In the present case there was a long interval of nearly 4 months before the test identification parade was held and it is difficult to accept that in spite of this interval of time the witnesses were able to have a clear image of the accused in their minds and identify him correctly at the identification parade. "

46. Thus, in the aforesaid case, the Apex Court while considering the inordinate delay in holding the identification parade observed that "there is room for doubt as to whether delay in holding the test identification parade was in order to enable the identifying witnesses to see him in the police lock-up or in the jail premises and make a note of his features." In the present case also a sufficiently long interval of time (nearly 100 days) had elapsed between the date of occurrence and the date of test identification parade. In the present case also neither in the FIR nor in the statements recorded during the investigation the alleged witnesses had given any particulars of the appellant. It is also notable that none of the injured namely Tirka, Malkhan and Dev Kumari, mother, father and wife respectively of the complainant have been produced before the Court below for recording their testimonies. The Doctor who allegedly examined the injuries of the aforesaid persons was not also produced. Non examination of the material witnesses to prove the injuries of the injured persons creates suspicion in the prosecution story.

47. The prosecution case in this appeal would be hit by 3 aspects; (i) No recovery of articles allegedly looted in the commission of the alleged dacoity; (ii) The evidence of police officials do not indicate whether they had even tried to recover the same; (iii) This appeal requires to be allowed as there is no cogent material on record to show as to how the suspicion of the Investigating officer had fallen on the present appellant. Prosecution story with regard to the recovery of utensils from the possession of the co-accused Jeetendra Pal Singh has been found by the Court below to be false, therefore, disclosure of the name of the appellant by him falls flat on the ground. The main aspect on which the conviction is based also is faulty. The conviction based only on the basis of test identification parade cannot be sustained. The decision in the case of Ram Babu Vs. State of U.P., (2010) 5 SCC 63, relied by the learned A.G.A. will be of no avail in the fact of this case as in the case of Nirmal Pasi Vs. State of Bihar, 2002 (6) JT 28, Budhsen Vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1970 SC 1321 and that of State of Maharashtra Vs. Sukhdeo Singh, AIR 1992 SC 2100, will enure for the benefit of the accused as the test identification parade took place after a long time and the corroboration is also not justified in view of the insufficient light during the occurrence. Therefore, the appellant could not have been convicted on the basis of the identification made by the witnesses. The standard of proof required for convicting an accused under Section 396 IPC as laid down in the case of Iqbal (supra) are absent in this case hence this appeal will have to succeed.

48. We are fortified in our opinion by the judgment discussed herein above, we hold that there was no starting point. The test identification parade is the sole basis, on which the learned Judge has convicted the accused which is bad in the eye of law. The non-recovery of any incriminating article has also not been considered by the learned Trial Judge which would also prove fatal to the prosecution in view of the latest decision by the Supreme Court in Iqbal and another (supra) hence on all these three counts the conviction of the appellant cannot be sustained.

49. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered opinion that the view taken by the Court below while convicting the accused-appellant - Chhotey Shah is palpably wrong and the findings recorded by the Court below are perverse, erroneous and can not stand the scrutiny of law. In our considered opinion, the reasons given by the Trial Court are not sufficient to convict the accused-appellant Chhotey Shah.

50. In the facts and circumstances of the case and the evidence led by the parties renders the origin and genesis of the occurrence doubtful and as such the accused-appellant- Chhotey Shah is entitled to benefit of doubt and acquittal.

51. On the basis of aforesaid discussion in our considered opinion and also applying the rule of caution, conviction of the accused-appellant namely Chhotey Shah can not be sustained and is liable to be set-aside and in the circumstances of the case, the accused-appellant Chhotey Shah deserves acquittal.

52. In the result, we find and hold that the present appeal has got merit and the appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 15.12.1982 passed by Special Judge, Badaun, in Sessions Trial No. 414 of 1981 is set-aside and the appellant namely Chhotey Shah is acquitted of the charges levelled against him and his conviction and sentence are hereby quashed and set-aside. The appellant namely Chhotey Shah is on bail. He need not to surrender. His personal and surety bonds are hereby cancelled and sureties are discharged from their liability.

54. Let a copy of this judgment along with the trial court record be sent to the court concerned for compliance.

Special Appeal Defective No.- 507 Of 2016

State Of U.P. & Ors.

...Appellants

Versus

Shere Azam & Anr.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:

Vivek Shandilya

Counsel for the Respondents:

J.P. Singh

A writ petition was preferred by the opposite party No.1 (the original petitioner) seeking a direction commanding the third appellant to pass appropriate orders for release of his salary without being fettered in any manner by clause 5 of a Government Order dated 29 October 2013. Clause 5 of the said Government order mandated that vacancies in the Class IV cadre of the employees of Madarsas could be filled only by way of outsourcing. The original petitioner claims that he had been appointed by the second respondent as a peon on 27 March 2013. It was contended in the writ petition that since the petitioner has come to be appointed by the second respondent prior to the promulgation of the Government Order dated 29 October 2013, the approval to his appointment could not be withheld.

"Petitioner claims to be selected as Peon in Madarsa Darul Uloom (Niswan) Mau, district Mau (for short, the "Institution"). The Committee of Management of the Institution sent the papers relating to selection to the District Minority Welfare Officer to consider the papers for approval of the selected person. The Inspector/Registrar, Board of Madarsa Education, U.P. Lucknow vide impugned order dated 19th September, 2014, has rejected the claim of the petitioner on the ground that appointment on Class-IV posts shall be made by the outsourcing in terms of the Government Order dated 06th January, 2011.

Upon a consideration of the rival submissions as also the material placed for consideration before the learned Single Judge, we find that Lala Babu Baijal had struck down the Government Order dated 6 January 2011 which had stipulated that all future appointments on Class IV post in institutions governed by the 1921 Act would be only by way of outsourcing.

We are, therefore, of the opinion that the ends of justice would merit a remand of the matter to the appellant No.3 before whom the rival contentions noticed above are placed and the respective parties permitted to assert the same and for the third appellant to take a considered decision thereon. This is necessitated not just on account of the submissions urged on behalf of the appellants but also in order to enable the third appellant to consider the submission of the original petitioner in respect of non-applicability of the Government Order dated 29 October 2013 as also the issue of a non-existence of a prohibition under the 2016 Regulations.

We accordingly dispose of the Special Appeal and modify the judgment rendered by the learned Single Judge with the following substituted directions:-

The original petitioner shall within a period of two weeks from today, submit his representation with respect to the grant of approval to his appointment as peon in the Madarsa in question. The appellant No.3 shall thereafter and after putting the Madarsa as also other concerned parties to notice proceed to consider and dispose of the said representation by way of a reasoned and speaking order within a period of eight weeks therefrom. All rights and contentions of the parties are left open for adjudication by the appellant No.3.

Case Law discussed:

Ali Ahmad Vs. State of U.P.¹,

Committee of Management, Lala Babu Baijal Memorial Inter College and another Vs State of U.P. and Others².

State of U.P Vs. The U.P. Pradhanacharya Parishad, Lucknow and another⁴.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dilip B Bhosale, Chief Justice
Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vivek Shandilya, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the appellants and Sri J.P. Singh for the respondent No.3.

2. The State and the Department of Minority Welfare is in appeal questioning the correctness of a judgment rendered by the learned Single Judge dated 22 April 2015.

3. A writ petition was preferred by the opposite party No.1 (the original petitioner) seeking a direction commanding the third appellant to pass appropriate orders for release of his salary without being fettered in any manner by clause 5 of a Government Order dated 29 October 2013. Clause 5 of the said Government order mandated that vacancies in the Class IV cadre of the employees of Madarsas could be filled only by way of outsourcing. The original petitioner claims that he had been appointed by the second respondent as a peon on 27 March 2013. It was contended in the writ petition that since the petitioner has come to be appointed by the second respondent prior to the promulgation of the Government Order dated 29 October 2013, the approval to his appointment could not be withheld.

4. From a reading of the judgment of the learned Single Judge, it further appears that reliance was placed upon an order passed on Ali Ahmad Vs. State of U.P.1 which had been disposed of in the following terms:-

"Petitioner claims to be selected as Peon in Madarsa Darul Uloom (Niswan) Mau, district Mau (for short, the "Institution"). The Committee of Management of the Institution sent the papers relating to selection to the District Minority Welfare Officer to consider the papers for approval of the selected person. The Inspector/Registrar, Board of Madarsa Education, U.P. Lucknow vide impugned order dated 19th September, 2014, has rejected the claim of the petitioner on the ground that appointment on Class-IV posts shall be made by the outsourcing in terms of the Government Order dated 06th January, 2011.

Learned Counsel for the petitioner submits that paragraph-2 of the Government Order dated 06th January, 2011 has already been set aside by this Court in the case of Committee of Management, Lala Babu Baijal Memorial Inter College and another Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2012 (4) ADJ 586. No other ground has been mentioned in the impugned order.

Learned Standing Counsel does not dispute the said legal proposition.

In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, keeping this writ petition pending would not serve the purpose of either of the parties, therefore, with the consent of learned Counsel appearing for the parties, this writ petition is finally disposed of and the impugned order dated 19th September, 2014, passed by the Inspector/Registrar, Board of Madarsa Education, Lucknow, which is liable to be set aside, is set aside.

The Inspector/Registrar is directed to consider the matter afresh on the basis of the papers submitted by the Committee of Management for approval in accordance with law.

No order as to costs."

5. The learned Single Judge has proceeded to dispose of the writ petition with a direction that the claim of the petitioner be considered in light of the order passed in Ali Ahmad. Ali Ahmad itself, it becomes relevant to note, had come to be disposed of noticing the judgment rendered by a learned Single Judge in Committee of Management, Lala Babu Baijal Memorial Inter College and another Vs. State of U.P. and others². The learned Single Judge in Lala Babu Baijal had struck down the provisions of a Government Order dated 6 January 2011, which mandated that the appointment on Class IV posts in Intermediate Colleges would be made only by way of outsourcing.

6. Shri Shandilya, learned counsel appearing for the appellants has submitted that neither the Government Order dated 6 January 2011 nor the judgment rendered by the Court in Lala Babu Baijal was applicable inasmuch as both had been rendered with reference to the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act 1921. It was his submission that Madarsas including the one in which the petitioner is stated to have been appointed were governed by the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Ashashkiya Arabi Tatha Farsi Madarson Ki Manyata Niyamawali, 1987. It was further submitted that the Government Order dated 29 October 2013 had neither been challenged nor was the said Government Order struck down by the Court in Lala Babu Baijal. The learned counsel for the appellant therefore submits that the order passed in Ali Ahmad, which itself came to be rendered upon concession, was clearly not applicable. He further submitted that even otherwise the judgment in Lala Babu Baijal no longer holds the field consequent to the amendments effected to Regulation 101 framed under the provisions of the 1921 Act. It was his contention that the above change in the statutory regimen and its consequential impact on Lala Babu Baijal was duly noticed by a Division Bench of the Court in State of U.P Vs. The U.P. Pradhanacharya Parishad, Lucknow and another⁴.

7. On the other hand, learned counsel for the original petitioner, apart from reiterating the submissions advanced on the writ petition, has further contended that *the Uttar Pradesh Non-Governmental Arabic And Persian Madarsa Recognition, Administration and Services Regulation, 2016*⁵ which have been recently promulgated on 22 July 2016, themselves do not impose any restriction on Class IV posts being filled only by way of outsourcing.

8. Upon a consideration of the rival submissions as also the material placed for consideration before the learned Single Judge, we find that Lala Babu Baijal had struck down the Government Order dated 6 January 2011 which had stipulated that all future appointments on Class IV post in institutions governed by the 1921 Act would be only by way of outsourcing.

9. The Court in Lala Babu Baijal had found that the appointments to class IV posts were governed by the regulations framed under the 1921 Act and in the absence of any such restriction having been imposed under the regulations, the right to make an appointment to a Class IV post could not have been fettered by issuance of a mere Government Order. However after the judgment had been rendered in Lala Babu Baijal, Regulation 101 was amended imposing certain restrictions under the 1921 Act. The Governor granted prior approval for the amendment of Regulation 101 on 4 September 2013. The amended regulation was published in the official gazette on 24 April 2014.

10. It becomes relevant to note that on 18 December 2013, a learned Single Judge had stayed the communication of the Governor dated 4 September 2014. However, the amended regulation as notified on 24 April 2014 was not stayed. It is this position which was noticed by the Division Bench in Pradhanacharya Parishad. The Division Bench has held as follows:-

"It is not possible to subscribe to this submission for the simple reason that amended Regulation 101 was notified on 24 April 2014, which was subsequent to the interim order of the learned Single Judge dated 18 December 2013. At the stage when the interim order was issued on 18 December 2013, all that had happened, was that a communication was issued on 4 September 2013 indicating the prior approval of the Governor. Regulation 101 as amended was notified much later. As a matter of fact, several writ petitions have been filed, as stated by the learned Standing Counsel, to challenge the vires of Regulation 101, which are pending adjudication at Allahabad. The State has filed its counter affidavit in those writ petitions so as to facilitate a final hearing and disposal.

The respondents filed a writ petition before the learned Single Judge on 29 August 2014, which was after amended Regulation 101 had come into force. Unless they were to challenge amended Regulation 101 and were in a position to obtain an interim order or, as the case may be, a final order, it would not be possible for them to obtain relief merely on the basis of the judgment in the earlier writ petition filed by Committee of Management Lala Babu Baijal Memorial Inter College. That judgment was rendered in the context of the second paragraph of the Government Order dated 6 January 2011 and much before Regulation 101 was amended by the issuance of a gazette notification on 24 April 2014.

Hence and for these reasons, the mandamus which has been issued by the learned Single Judge by the impugned judgment and order dated 16 September 2014 is unsustainable. The learned Single Judge has not had regard to the provisions of amended Regulation 101 or to the admitted position that there was no challenge thereto in the writ petition."

11. The other important aspect of which mention must necessarily be made is that admittedly the services of the original petitioner as also the administration of the Madarasa in question is governed by the U.P. Board of Madarsa Education Act 2004 and the Uttar Pradesh Ashashkiya Arabi and Parsi Madarson Ki Manyata Niyamawali, 1987 and not the 1921 Act. In fact, the learned counsel for the original petitioner has also placed before us the 2016 Regulations which have been promulgated and published in the official gazette on 22 July 2016.

12. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the ends of justice would merit a remand of the matter to the appellant No.3 before whom the rival contentions noticed above are placed and the respective parties permitted to assert the same and for the third appellant to take a considered decision thereon. This is necessitated not just on account of the submissions urged on behalf of the appellants but also in order to enable the third appellant to consider the submission of the original petitioner in respect of non-applicability of the Government Order dated 29 October 2013 as also the issue of a non-existence of a prohibition under the 2016 Regulations.

13. We accordingly dispose of the Special Appeal and modify the judgment rendered by the learned Single Judge with the following substituted directions:-

14. The original petitioner shall within a period of two weeks from today, submit his representation with respect to the grant of approval to his appointment as peon in the Madarsa in question. The appellant No.3 shall thereafter and after putting the Madarsa as also other concerned parties to notice proceed to consider and dispose of the said representation by way of a reasoned and speaking order within a period of eight weeks therefrom. All rights and contentions of the parties are left open for adjudication by the appellant No.3.

Writ Tax No.- 1160 Of 2009

M/S Hotline Electronics Limited ...Petitioner
Versus
State Of U.P. Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Arun Kumar Gupta, N.C. Gupta

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

This writ petition has been filed challenging the validity of "State Development Tax" (SDT) levied at the rate of 1% and seeking a writ of mandamus declaring the levy of SDT on Eligibility Certificate holders as ultra vires. The petitioner has also prayed for quashing of the assessment order dated 05.03.2009 whereby 1% SDT has been imposed on the sale of Television chassis, coloured televisions, television parts and accessories.

The Court held that the State Legislature is fully competent under Entry 54, List II to levy tax on sale or purchase of goods. SDT is a tax on the taxable turnover of dealers and its incidence is squarely on the event of sale or purchase of goods. The definition of 'tax' under Section 2(n) is inclusive and after amendment specifically includes SDT. Section 3-H is a valid charging provision. The levy of SDT is in addition to trade tax and is adjustable against the monetary limit of the Eligibility Certificate. The argument that SDT is not a tax on sale or purchase has no merit.

Held: Para-The State Development Tax (SDT) introduced by the U.P. Trade Tax (Amendment) Act, 2005 is intra vires the Constitution and the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948. The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed. No costs.

State of U.P. and others vs. Systematic Conscom Limited,
M/s. Ganga Saran & Sons (Pvt.) Ltd., Calcutta vs. Income Tax Officer & others.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Prabhat Chandra Tripathi, J.)

1. Heard Sri N.C. Gupta, learned counsel for petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for respondents, and perused record.

2. Petitioner has challenged validity of "State Development Tax" (hereinafter referred to as 'SDT') and has sought a writ of mandamus declaring levy of 'SDT' at the rate of 1% from Eligibility Certificate holders, as ultravires. It has also prayed for a writ of certiorari for quashing assessment order dated 5.3.2009 which has included 1% 'SDT' on the sale of Television chasis, coloured television, television parts and its accessories.

3. Petitioner is a Private limited company registered under Indian Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1956') and is engaged in the business of manufacture and sale of Television chasis, Coloured Televisions, Television parts and accessories. It had established its new unit in building 8-A, Udhyog Vihar, Greater Noida, Gautam Buddh Nagar.

4. Certain tax exemptions have been provided subject to certain conditions under Section 4-A of U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948(hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1948'). Petitioner satisfying requirement therein, completed formalities and applied for grant of exemption from payment of tax under Section 4-A of Act, 1948 in the year 2001. A Divisional Level Committee considered the matter and after satisfying that Petitioner is entitled for such exemption, Eligibility Certificate was issued by competent authority, allowing tax exemption for 10 years i.e. with effect from 24.10.2001 to 23.10.2011.

5. Provincial legislature promulgated "Uttar Pradesh Trade Tax (Amendment) Act, 2005" (hereinafter referred to as "Amendment Act, 2005") making amendment in Act, 1948. By Section 4 of Amendment Act, 2005, Section 3-H has been inserted in Principal Act i.e. Act, 1948 and consequential amendments have also been made in Section 4-A and 4-AA of Act, 1948.

6. Sections 4,5 and 6 of Amendment Act, 2005 inserting Section 3-H and making amendments in Sections 4-A and 4-AA are reproduced as under:-

"4. Insertion of a new Section 3-H- After Section 3-G of the principal Act, the following Section shall be inserted, namely:-

"3-H. State Development Tax-(1) There shall be levied a State Development Tax at the rate not exceeding one per cent of the taxable turnover as the State Government may be notification specify on the dealers whose aggregate turnover as referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 3 exceeds fifty lakh rupees. The State Development Tax shall be realised in addition to the tax payable under any other provision of this Act. This tax shall cease to be levied after a period of five years from the date of publication of the notification issued by the State Government under this Section.*

1. The facility of composition of tax in relation to compoundable goods under Section 7-D shall also be available in respect of State Development Tax.

2. The State Development Tax shall be adjustable in the monetary limit specified in the eligibility certificate issued under Section 4-A.

3. No State Development Tax shall be liviable on.-

(a) the news-papers and other goods or the dealers specified or notified under Section 4;

(b) declared goods under Section 14 of the Central Sales Tax, 1956;

(c) the goods liable for the payment of additional excise duty;

(d) such goods as may be specified by notification by the State Government."

5. Amendment of Section 4-A- In Section 4-A of the Principal Act, in sub-section (1) for the words "notwithstanding anything contained in this Act". Words, figures and letter 'notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions except the provisions of Section 3-H of this Act' shall be substituted.

6. Amendment of Section 4-AA- In Section 4-AA of the Principal Act, for the words "Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act", the words, figure and letter "Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions except the provision of Section 3-H of this Act" shall be substituted.

7. Learned counsel for petitioner contended that imposition of 'SDT' by inserting 3-H and making it dominant to Section 4-A, so as to attract levy of 'SDT' upon such units which are availing tax exemption is illegal and arbitrary. It is said that under Entry 54, seventh Schedule, List II of the Constitution of India, word 'Sale and purchase' would not embrace anything regarding development of State and therefore levy of 'SDT' under Act, 1948 is beyond legislative competence and is ultravires.

8. Respondents have filed counter affidavit justifying imposition of 'SDT' and have also averred that State Legislature is fully competent to make provision for levy of 'SDT'.

9. The only issue up for consideration is whether State legislature is competent to make provision for levy of 'SDT' under Act, 1948.

10. Provincial legislature is competent to make laws with reference to Entry 54 Schedule 7 List II of the Constitution of India on the subject of "sale and purchase of goods other than newspapers subject to provisions of Entry 92-A of list I". Entry 54 reads as under:-

"54. Taxes on the sale or purchase of goods other than newspapers, subject to the provisions of Entry 92 A of List I"

11. Provincial Legislature, in reference to entry 54, thus, is competent for making laws for imposing tax. The incidence of tax must be sale or purchase of goods.

12. The word 'tax' itself has not been defined in the Constitution but the term 'tax' on the "sale or purchase of goods" has been defined in Article 366 (29-A) and it reads as under:-

"(29A) tax on the sale or purchase of goods includes:-

(a) a tax on the transfer, otherwise than in pursuance of a contract, of property in any goods for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration;

(b) a tax on the transfer of property in goods (whether as goods or in some other form) invoked in the execution of a works contract;

(c) a tax on the delivery of goods on hire purchase or any system of payment by instalments;

(d) a tax on the transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration;

(e) a tax on the supply of goods by any unincorporated contact no. ajmer district court officers association or body of persons to a member thereof for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration;

(f) a tax on the supply, by way of or as part of any service or in any other manner whatsoever, of goods, being food or any other article for human consumption or any drink (whether or not intoxicating), where such supply or service, is for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration, and such transfer, delivery or supply of any goods shall be deemed to be a sale of those goods by the person making the transfer, delivery or supply and a purchase of those goods by the person to whom such transfer, delivery or supply is made."

13. The definition of tax on sale or purchase of goods under Article 366(29-A) is inclusive and covers different kinds of transactions which otherwise in common parlance may not come within the term "sale or purchase of goods". Constitution, however nowhere explains or defines the term 'Tax' by itself.

14. Under Act, 1948, Section 2(n) has endeavoured to define 'tax' but here again definition is inclusive and reads as under:-

"2. Definitions.- In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant the subject or context:-

(n). 'Tax' includes an additional tax and the composition money accepted under Section 7-D."

15. It does not say that 'tax' would mean only 'Trade Tax' or any particular kind of trade tax. Anything which can be said to be 'tax' with whatever adjective it may be called, but if it is on the incident of 'sale or purchase of goods', as defined under Section 366 (29-A), such 'tax' would be within the ambit of Act, 1948.

16. We also find that the term 'Trade Tax' has been separately defined under Section 2 (bb) of Act, 1948 and reads as under:-

"2(bb) 'Trade Tax' means a tax payable under this Act on sales or purchases of goods, as the case may be;"

17. A perusal of aforesaid shows that trade tax is one of the tax chargeable and leviable under Act, 1948 and within the ambit of Section 2 (n) but there may be other taxes also which can be imposed under Act, 1948 subject to the condition that incident of tax is "sale or purchase of goods", within the ambit of definition under Article 366(29-A) of the Constitution.

18. Even charging Section i.e. Section 3 provides that a dealer shall be liable to pay 'tax' for each assessment year as are provided under various Sections mentioned therein. Therefore, to read Act, 1948 as if therein, legislature can impose only 'Trade Tax' and not anything else is nothing but a complete lack of understanding in appreciation of above statute.

19. In State of U.P. and others vs. Systematic Conscom Limited 2013 NTN 266(SC) referring to amendment Act, 2005 and Section 3-H. Court observed that the said amendment has introduced levy and collection of SDT. It bears resemblance to the levy and collection of Turnover Tax. It is levied on a particular class of dealer at a particular rate. When coming to the authority of the State to make provisions for different taxes, Court observed that taxation is a mode of raising revenue for public purposes. The term is ordinarily used to express the exercise of the sovereign power to raise revenue for the expenses of the Government. In the Modern times, Governments are accustomed to levy a great variety of taxes; sometimes relying upon a single kind for all needs of the State and sometimes levying a number of different kinds with a view to distribute the burden more equally or more to the general acceptance. Taxes are often spoken of as special if levied for a special purpose, and general if levied for some of the ordinary purposes of a government. A special tax as the term, used in the statutes, is sometimes held to mean an 'additional tax' over and above the general tax. The broad feature of 'taxation' would include, the persons, proper or occupation to be taxed; the amount or rate of tax; the purposes for which taxes shall be levied; the mode, method or kind of tax; the apportionment of the tax; the situs for taxation of goods; and the method of collection.

20. Court also held Section 3-H as a charging provision since it has all ingredients of charging provisions as explained in M/s. Ganga Saran & Sons(Pvt.) Ltd., Calcutta vs. Income Tax Officer & others, (1981) 3 SCC 143. The four components of incidence of tax was explained as, first, the character of the imposition known by its nature which prescribes the taxable event attracting the levy, the second, is a clear indication of the person on whom the levy is imposed and who is obliged to pay the tax, the third, is the rate at which tax is imposed, and the fourth, is the measure or value to which the rate will be applied for computing tax liability. Court said that levy would only exist in law when all aforesaid components are clearly and definitely ascertainable. Section 3-H provides for imposition of 1% of SDT separately on the taxable turnover, thereby creating an independent charge. It has not led to any change to the rate of tax on goods.

21. On the transaction of sale or purchase of goods, legislature proposes to impose tax termed as 'SDT' and with this intention, Amendment Act, 2005 has been enacted. By Section 3 thereof an amendment has been made under Section 3(1) of Act, 1948 and besides Section 3 A and Section 3D, Section 3-H has been mentioned in Section 3. Further Section 3-H itself has separately been inserted as a new Section imposing 'SDT' at the rate not exceeding 1% on taxable turnover, as the State may, by notification, specify on the dealers whose aggregate turnover as referred to in Section 3(2) exceeds fifty lakh rupees. 'SDT' shall be realised in addition to 'tax' payable under any other provision of Act, 1948. This tax shall cease to be levied after a period of five years from the date of publication of notification issued by State Government under this Section.

22. The point of levy of Tax i.e. 'SDT' falls on sale or purchase therefore, is leviable and permissible under Act, 1948. The definition of 'tax' has also been amended by legislature by Section 2 of Amendment Act, 2005 and now the definition of 'tax' reads as under:-

"(n) Tax includes an additional tax, and the composition money accepted under Section 7-D and the State Development Tax"

23. Definition of tax therefore includes 'State Development Tax' i.e. 'SDT' and it is chargeable only when there is an event of sale or purchase as defined under Act, 1948.

24. State legislature is empowered to make laws in respect to tax leviable on the event of sale or purchase of goods and 'SDT' being a tax under Section 2(n) as amended by Amendment Act, 2005 is a 'Tax' imposed on the 'Turnover' which is defined as aggregate amount for which goods are supplied or distributed on sale or purchase by dealer either directly on cash or additional payment or on other valid consideration. There is no bar under Act, 1948 to impose 'tax' other than 'Trade Tax' for the reason that Act, 1948 has been made to provide tax on sale or purchase and is not confined to 'Trade Tax'. Power to levy 'tax' is an inherent attribute of sovereign function of State. It has power under charging provisions, to levy tax on the taxable turnover of dealer at the rates prescribed under provisions of Act, for raising revenue for public purposes. Ordinarily, it is used to express exercise of sovereign power to raise revenue for the expenses of government.

25. In the present case, State has framed law for imposition of tax on sale or purchase of goods under Act, 1948. It had made provisions for imposition of Trade Tax in general and 'additional tax'. The definition of 'tax' is inclusive and can be extended to other taxes. To make this clear, legislature has also amended definition of 'tax' by including therein 'SDT' also.

26. Despite repeated query, learned counsel for petitioner could not show as to how State Legislature is not competent to include within the ambit of term 'tax', 'SDT' in Act, 1948 when charging section provides tax on sale or purchase of goods. The validity of principal legislation can be challenged on limited grounds i.e. violation of provisions of Constitution of India; or for want of legislative competence but none of such grounds exists in the case in hand.

27. We, therefore, find no merit in this petition. Dismissed.

28. No costs.

Jail Appeal No.- 1592 Of 2011

Munish

...Appellant

Versus

State

Counsel for the Appellant:

From Jail

Counsel for the Respondent:

A.G.A

This appeal has been preferred against the State vs. Munish, convicting the appellant under Sections 376 I.P.C. and 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (in short '1989 Act'), and sentencing him under Section 376 IPC for 10 years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.1000/- and in default of payment of fine 6 months rigorous imprisonment and under Section 3(2)(v) of 1989 Act life imprisonment. Both sentences were ordered to run concurrently.

The prosecution case, in brief, is that one Chhote Lal who along with his wife used to work at a brick kiln of Bahadurpur village, reported to the police that on 24.5.2008 they were at his tent (dwelling place) at brick kiln. Due to scorching heat the informant along with his four year old daughter Rita was lying on a brick stack. At about 10 O' Clock in the night, appellant Munish who too was engaged for withdrawal of bricks from the kiln, appeared there and said that a ghost had overcome him and requested to light a deepak (earthen lamp) in his name. On being told the informant went to light an earthen lamp and on coming back did not find his 4 year old daughter Rita there. On raising an alarm that his daughter had been taken away by Munish Botham, his wife with Dhaniram and Raghunath rushed to the spot and search was undertaken. They heard the screaming of the girl and in torch light Munish Botham was seen grappling the girl in the Nali of tube well belonging to one Devraj. The girl was weeping and on arriving at the scene, Munish fled. The blood was coming out from her private parts.

Considering the entire aspects of the matter and looking to the circumstances of the case, we are of the view that the judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the trial court so far as under Section 376 I.P.C. is well discussed and the lower court has rightly observed that the prosecution has succeeded to prove the guilt of the accused-appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. beyond any reasonable doubt. Accordingly, the judgment and conviction so far as under Section 376 I.P.C. by the court below is concerned is hereby confirmed.

There is no evidence whatsoever to prove the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a Scheduled Caste community does not attract the provisions of the Act. Apart from the fact that the prosecutrix belongs to the 'Chamar' Community, there is no other evidence to support the charge under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The Trial Judge was perhaps persuaded to affirm the conviction on the basis that the prosecutrix belongs to a Scheduled Caste community. The conviction of the appellant under section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act must, therefore, be set aside.

In the result, the appeal is allowed in part while setting aside the conviction and sentence for the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The conviction and sentence for offence under Section 376 I.P.C. is confirmed. The appellant is acquitted for the charge under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Kakkar, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 17.9.2010 passed by the Special Judge, SC & ST Act, Kannauj, in S.T.No. 292 of 2008 arising out of Case Crime No.108 of 2003, State vs. Munish, convicting the appellant under Sections 376 I.P.C. and 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (in short '1989 Act'), and sentencing him under Section 376 IPC for 10 years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.1000/- and in default of payment of fine 6 months rigorous imprisonment and under Section 3(2)(v) of 1989 Act life imprisonment. Both sentences were ordered to run concurrently.

2. The prosecution case, in brief, is that one Chhote Lal who along with his wife used to work at a brick kiln of Bahadurpur village, reported to the police that on 24.5.2008 they were at his tent (dwelling place) at brick kiln. Due to scorching heat the informant along with his four year old daughter Rita was lying on a brick stack. At about 10 O' Clock in the night, appellant Munish who too was engaged for withdrawal of bricks from the kiln, appeared there and said that a ghost had overcome him and requested to light a deepak (earthen lamp) in his name. On being told the informant went to light an earthen lamp and on coming back did not find his 4 year old daughter Rita there. On raising an alarm that his daughter had been taken away by Munish Botham, his wife with Dhaniram and Raghunath rushed to the spot and search was undertaken. They heard the screaming of the girl and in torch light Munish Botham was seen grappling the girl in the Nali of tube well belonging to one Devraj. The girl was weeping and on arriving at the scene, Munish fled. The blood was coming out from her private parts. The informant lodged a first information report which was registered by Constable Clerk Maya Ram at G.D. report no.21 at about 17.30 O' Clock on 28.5.2008. The victim was medically examined by Dr. Renu Singh on 28.5.2008 and medical examination report Exhibit Ka-4 was prepared. The case was investigated by Circle Officer Ram Swarup Singh who inspected the place of occurrence, prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka-7) and after collection of sufficient evidence, submitted charge sheet against the accused appellant. The court took cognizance of the offence and complying with the provisions of Section 207 Cr.P.C. the appellant was provided copies of documents, and since offences were cognizable by Sessions Court, committed the case to Sessions Judge for trial, The Sessions Court framed charge against the appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. read with Section 3 (2)(v) of 1989 Act to which the appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

3. To prove its case the prosecution examined PW-1 Chhote Lal, PW-2 Reena, PW-3 Dr. Renu Gupta, PW-4 Head Constable Maya Ram and PW-5 Ram Swarup Singh, Circle Officer (Investigating Officer).

4. After the prosecution evidence was closed, statements of accused appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded by the trial court. The appellant denied the alleged incident and stated that the appellant was falsely implicated in the alleged incident on account of enmity.

5. PW-1 Chhote Lal, who is the first informant, stated that the incident occurred about 9 months ago at a brick kiln of village Bahadurpur, where he along with his wife used to mould bricks. On the fateful day it was about 10 O' Clock in the night. The informant with his daughter Rita aged about 4 years was lying on a brick stack. At that time appellant Munish came there and said he had been overwhelmed by evil spirit (ghost) and asked him to light an earthen lamp of his name. The informant went to light the lamp and when he returned, he did not find his daughter Rita there. He raised an alarm upon which his wife along with Dhaniram and Raghunath came there and on search being made, he heard screams of the victim. They rushed to her and found that the appellant had grabbed the victim and seeing the informant and others, he fled away. The informant took his daughter and found that the blood was coming out from her private parts and soon noticed that the appellant had sexually assaulted his daughter. Thereupon, the FIR was lodged which he also proved as Ex. Ka-1.

6. PW-2 Reena is mother of he victim Rita. She stated in her evidence that about 10 months ago she along with his two year son was sleeping in the hut at brick kiln and her husband with daughter Rita was sleeping on the brick stack. At about 10.00 O' Clock in the night, her husband came in the hut and informed that Munish had been overwhelmed by ghost and so he had to light an earthen lamp for him. When her husband went back to the stack, her daughter was not there. They carried out search here and there and on hearing screams of the girl, they rushed to that direction and reached near a tube well where in the Nali Munish had grabbed the girl and sexually assaulted. However, he managed to flee from the spot seeing the informant and others.

7. PW-3 Dr. Renu Gupta conducted medical examination of the victim Rita and on examination of internal organs it was found that hymen was torn in the shape of 6 O' Clock and perennial tear also was in the same position. It was half cm. deep and extended upto anus with reddish corners. No fresh bleeding was there. Two slides of vaginal smear were prepared by the doctor and were sent for sperm examination. The doctor also proved the medical examination report (Ex. Ka-3).

8. PW-4 Head Constable Maya Ram had registered the first information report (Ex. Ka-6) in the G.D. and PW-5 Ram Swarup Singh, Circle Officer had conducted investigation of the case and prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka-7 and Ex.Ka-8) and after collecting sufficient evidence submitted charge sheet against the appellant.

9. We have heard Sri Ambrish Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri P.S. Yadav, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the lower court record.

10. The main contention of the learned counsel for the appellant is with regard to the delay in lodging the F.I.R. His next submission is that the victim was aged about four years but neither her statement under Section 164 had been recorded nor the victim had been produced for cross-examination before the trial court. It is next submitted that there is neither an eye witness nor independent witness of the alleged incident. The testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2 are that of related witnesses who are father and mother of the victim. Lastly argued that there is laches and discrepancy in the investigation as statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of the victim has not been recorded. The source of light (torch) has not been taken nor produced and there is a contradiction on the point of recovery of the clothes of victim whether it is a 'salwar' or 'frock' and also there is a contradiction in the testimony regarding the colour of the clothes. Learned counsel for the appellant vehemently argued that the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of 1989 Act is not proved, hence prayed to allow the appeal and acquit the accused.

11. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has contended that the judgment of the trial court is just and well reasoned. The finding recorded by the court below of conviction and sentence is based on the ocular testimony corroborated with the medical testimony; there is also an explanation in delay in lodging the FIR. The benefit on the basis of laches and discrepancies in the investigation does not go to vanish the whole prosecution story and the explanation was also given of non- recording of statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. considering the age of the victim of only 4 years and that the victim was not in a position to withstand the cross-examination and due to the lack of understanding she had not been produced as a prosecution witness. Under the fact and circumstances the testimony of the eye witnesses, namely, P.W.1 Chhote Lal father of the victim and P.W.2 Reena, the mother of the victim establishes the offence of rape against her daughter. So this argument of the learned counsel for the appellant has no merit and accordingly learned A.G.A. prayed for the dismissal of the appeal.

12. We have considered the submissions advanced by both the parties and perused the material available on record. So far as submission of the learned counsel with regard to the delay in lodging the FIR is concerned, perusal of the record shows that the incident is of 24.5.2008 at about 10 o'clock night and report was lodged on 25.5.2008 at 14.00 p.m. and the distance of the Police Station is 3 kms from the place of occurrence. In the written report (Ex.Ka-1), the complainant

Chhote Lal has given an explanation that due to the fear of accused Munish he could not lodge the FIR in the night on the date of incident.

13. With regard to the delay in lodging the FIR, the Hon'ble Apex Court has propounded the principle for the appreciation of the aspect of delay if any caused in lodging of the FIR. Hon'ble Apex Court has laid down the following proposition in the case of Jai Prakash Singh Vs. State of Bihar, (2012) 4 SCC Page 379. The relevant paragraph no.12 is reproduced hereinunder :-

"12. The FIR in criminal case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence though may not be substantive piece of evidence. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR in respect of the commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of actual culprits and the part played by them as well as the names of eye- witnesses present at the scene of occurrence. If there is a delay in lodging the FIR, it loses the advantage of spontaneity, danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of large number of consultations/deliberations. Undoubtedly, the promptness in lodging the FIR is an assurance regarding truth of the informant's version. A promptly lodged FIR reflects the first hand account of what has actually happened, and who was responsible for the offence in question."

14. It is settled law that if delay in lodging the FIR cannot be explained substantively, then it would be fatal to the case of prosecution. However, it is obligatory on the part of the court to take notice of delay and examine the same in the back drop of the case whether any acceptable explanation has been offered by the prosecution and whether the same deserves acceptance being substantive. In view of the proposition cited above, inference can safely be drawn that the delay should be explained and if not explained even then the court has to consider the aspect of delay in lodging the FIR in the light of totality of evidence and draw inference about the veracity of the prosecution version considering the fact and circumstances of the case which varies from case to case. Moersa, on the score of delay, the entire story of the prosecution cannot be discarded. In the case of Sri Narayan Shah and another Vs. State of Tripura, 2005 (Criminal) Page 410, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that "mere delay in lodging the FIR is really of no consequence, if the reason is explained because in cases of rape generally the family remains reluctant to report the matter to the Police to save the shame and prestige of the family."

15. As per the above legal proposition and as we have already stated that in the written report there was an explanation by the complainant, the father that the victim of rape happens to be four year infant and that due to the fear of accused Munish he could not lodge the report of the alleged incident.

16. With regard to the next submission of the learned counsel that the victim was not produced before the trial court by the prosecution as a witness and the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of the victim was not recorded during investigation, we cannot subscribe any benefit on this score because the age of the victim at the time of commission of the crime was merely four years and as per the prosecution version on 24.5.2008 at about 10 O'clock in the night appellant accused

Munish said to the father of the victim that a ghost had overcome him so light a deepak (earthen lamp) in his name and on being told the informant went to light the earthen lamp and when he returned his four year old daughter Reeta was not there. He and his wife rushed to the spot and they heard the screaming of the girl and in the torch light they saw that the accused Munish was grappling the victim in the Nali of the tubewell belonging to one Devraj and the girl was weeping and the blood was oozing out from her private part. P.W.1 - father of the victim Chhote Lal and P.W. 2 Reena, mother of the victim, supported the prosecution version. Learned counsel for the appellant was not able to discredit their testimony on the point of time, place and occurrence and naming of the accused and the involvement and complicity of the accused in the commission of the alleged crime. On a careful scrutiny of the evidence available on record and the quality of statement given by P.W.1 and P.W.2 inspire confidence and it is found to be absolutely trustworthy unblemished and is of sterling quality. What would be more relevant is the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately testimony before the court. It is found to be natural and consistent with the case of the prosecution. To be more precise the version of the above said witnesses on the score of prosecution version is found to remain intact. They have stated in their testimony that when they reached the spot after hearing the shrieks of the prosecutrix/victim they saw that the appellant accused Munish grappled the victim at the place of occurrence, i.e., Nali of tubewell belonging to one Devraj, blood was oozing out from her private parts of the body. It is of a common prudence that the father and mother of the victim would not speak lie. Under the facts and circumstances as stated above, although it is true that P.W.1 and P.W.2 are father and mother of the victim but only on this ground their testimony cannot be discarded or disbelieved. The court simply has to examine the testimony with due care and caution. As we have already stated the microscopic analysis of their testimony is worthy of credit, therefore, non-production of the victim before the trial court or non recording of the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. has no relevance considering the age of the victim and the ocular testimony which has come before the trial court discussed above.

17. So far as the submission made by the learned counsel for the appellant with regard to the deficiency in the investigation such as "non production of the torch", on this point it would be relevant to record that there are settled legal propositions that only on the basis of faulty or defective investigation testimony of the eye witnesses cannot be brushed aside. If a defective and wrong sketch map has been prepared by the Investigating Officer without inspecting the place of occurrence, the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kalicharan Vs. State of U.P., 2015 (6) ALJ Page 147 held that "on the ground of defective investigation the prosecution case cannot be thrown out. If there is discrepancy in the preparation of a defective site plan mentioning the wrong details, no benefit can be accorded to the accused where the prosecution witnesses, namely, P.W.1 and P.W.2 father and mother of the victim had clearly and cogently established the date, time and place of occurrence. Under such legal proposition we are of the view that the submissions raised by the learned counsel for the accused appellant has no substance.

18. With regard to the submission raised by the learned counsel for the appellant regarding the recovery of the clothes of the victim and produced during trial and the statements of P.W.1 and P.W.2 has variations, we have given our conscious thought and perused the records of the court below. There is a categorical statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 that the accused Munish ran away with the underwear of the victim and a frock as stated by P.W.2 and P.W.1 was seized by the Investigating Officer. The articles produced before the court happens to be the salwar. The witnesses were cross-examined at length but nothing unnatural had come on the testimony. So far as the legal proposition is concerned, Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Naresh, (2011) 4 SCC Page 324 held as under :-

"In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observation, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about the truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety.

The court has to form its opinion about the credibility of the witness and record a finding as to whether his deposition inspires confidence.

"Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle. But it can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when the entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility."

Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statements of a witness cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statement made by the witness earlier."

19. On the basis of the above legal proposition the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 so far as the recovery of clothes are concerned, we find that whether salwar or frock hardly matters as it does not go to the root of the case or materially affect the core of prosecution case and as we have already stated that the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 being the father and mother and they had given their eye version of the commission of crime, the presence, involvement and complicity and the commission of crime only against the appellant accused which inspire the confidence and credibility and trustworthiness of P.W.1 and P.W.2. Therefore, we are not inclined to give any benefit on the point of the submission raised by the appellant's counsel.

20. As per the aforesaid discussion so far as the conviction under Section 376 I.P.C. recorded by the court below is concerned, there is nothing on record to show that the injuries of the victim were forged or manufactured. The ocular testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2, father and mother respectively as regard the commission of the offence of rape is fully corroborated by medical evidence. FIR also supports the ocular testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2 as well as the medical evidence, the seizure memo of salwar as well as the position of the salwar itself also corroborate the testimony of ocular witnesses of the incident. Running away from the place of occurrence of the accused, which is proved by the eye witnesses P.W.1 and P.W.2, finds support to the prosecution version and the victim was profusely bleeding from her private parts establishes the commission of the offence of rape.

21. Considering the entire aspects of the matter and looking to the circumstances of the case, we are of the view that the judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the trial court so far as under Section 376 I.P.C. is well discussed and the lower court has rightly observed that the prosecution has succeeded to prove the guilt of the accused-appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. beyond any reasonable doubt. Accordingly, the judgment and conviction so far as under Section 376 I.P.C. by the court below is concerned is hereby confirmed.

22. The last submission with regard to the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act, we are in full agreement with the contention raised by the learned counsel for the appellant. For ready reference the provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act is reproduced hereinunder :-

"commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine"

23. At the outset we may observe that there is no evidence whatsoever to prove the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a Scheduled Caste community does not attract the provisions of the Act. Apart from the fact that the prosecutrix belongs to the 'Chamar' Community, there is no other evidence to support the charge under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The Trial Judge was perhaps persuaded to affirm the conviction on the basis that the prosecutrix belongs to a Scheduled Caste community. The conviction of the appellant under section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act must, therefore, be set aside. So far as the legal proposition is concerned, in the case of State of M.P. & Anr. Vs. Ram Krishna Balothia & Anr, 1995 Criminal Law Journal 2076, Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under :-

"The offences which are enumerated under Section 3 are offences which, to say the least, denigrate members of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in the eyes of society, and prevent them from leading a life of dignity and self-respect. Such offences are committed to humiliate and subjugate members of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes with a view to keeping them in a state of servitude. These offences constitute a separate class and cannot be compared with offences under the Penal Code."

24. The expression "on the ground" has been subject matter of decision in a number of cases decided under the 1989 Act. In the case of Masumsha Hasanasha Musalman v. State of Maharashtra, reported in AIR 2000 SC 1786 it was held that "To attract the provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of the Act, the sine qua non is that the victim should be a person who belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe and that the offence under the Indian Penal Code is committed against him on the basis that such a person belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe. In the absence of such ingredients, no offence under the Section 3(2)(v) of the Act, is constituted." In the case of Dinesh alias Buddha v. State of Rajasthan, (reported in AIR 2006 SC 1267) in paragraph no.15 it was held that "sine qua non for application of Section 3(2)(v) is that an offence must have been committed against a person on the ground that such person is a member of the Scheduled Castes or the Scheduled Tribes. In the instant case no evidence has been led to establish this requirement. It is not the case of the prosecution that the rape was committed on the victim since she was a member of a Scheduled Caste. In the absence of evidence to that effect, Section 3(2)(v) has no application." In the case of Ramdas and Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, (reported in AIR 2007 SC 155) in paragraph no.10 it has been held that "at the outset we may observe that there is no evidence whatsoever to prove the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a Scheduled Caste does not attract the provisions of the Act. Apart from the fact that the prosecutrix belongs to the Pardhi Community, there is no other evidence on record to prove any offence under the said enactment."

25. The words "on the ground" shows that the prosecution is required to prove that the target of crime was selected 'on the ground' that he/she belonged to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, or that crime was committed for the reason that such person belonged to such community tribe. In other words, it must be shown that if the victim would not have belonged to Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes, the crime would not have been committed. The cause for the offence must contain an element of a caste/racial prejudice. If an accused committed rape on a woman/girl belonging to a Scheduled Caste only to satisfy his sexual lust, without any prejudice of caste to which the girl belonged, he would be guilty of offence under Section 376 I.P.C. but he would not be guilty of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act, as he did not commit sexual intercourse with the girl on the ground that she was a Scheduled Caste girl. To attract the above mentioned provisions of Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act mere knowledge that the victim belonged to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe community or mere intention to commit an offence against a member of a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe is not sufficient but something more is needed, i.e., a graver kind of mens rea denoted by the phrase "on the ground" in the provision, is required.

26. The Trial Court has also not noticed any evidence to support the charge under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 and was perhaps persuaded to affirm the conviction on the basis that the prosecutrix belongs to a Scheduled Caste community. The conviction of the appellants under section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 must, therefore, be set aside.

27. In the above circumstances we find that the conviction and sentence for offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act are not sustainable in the eye of law and is liable to be set aside.

28. In the result, the appeal is allowed in part while setting aside the conviction and sentence for the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. The conviction and sentence for offence under Section 376 I.P.C. is confirmed. The appellant is acquitted for the charge under Section 3(2)(v) of the 1989 Act. It is made clear that the accused appellant Munish shall now serve out the sentence for the offence under section 376 I.P.C.

...Petitioner

Commissioner Devi Patan Mandal Gonda & Anr.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Nitin Srivastava

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C.

The petitioner has filed the instant writ petition.

Submission of learned Counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner was issued a firearm license of S.B.B.L. Gun No.10075/93, License No.185. An FIR was lodged against the petitioner under Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)10 of SC/ST Act at Police Station Khargupur, District Gonda. Thereafter, the firearm license of the petitioner was cancelled by the District Magistrate. The petitioner preferred an Appeal before the learned Commissioner, who after setting aside the order dated 28.05.2009 remanded the matter to the District Magistrate for consideration afresh, and also directed to pass appropriate order after providing adequate opportunity to the petitioner. Thereafter, vide impugned order dated 24.04.2013, the District Magistrate, Gonda reiterated his earlier order of rejection without considering and dealing with the pleas as raised by the petitioner.

Mere fact that some reports had been lodged against the petitioner could not form basis of cancelling the license. There is no dispute to the fact that the petitioner is a political person and was the Gram pradhan of the Village. Moreover, in the criminal case, petitioner has been acquitted by the Trial Court and the judgment of acquittal was brought to the notice of the Appellate Court but the Appellate Authority ignored this vital aspect of the matter, which is a serious omission on his part.

It is well settled in law that mere pendency of criminal case or apprehension of abuse of arm is not sufficient grounds for passing the order of suspension or revocation of license under Section 17 (3) of the Act. Here, as averred above, the petitioner has been acquitted in the said criminal case.

The licensing authority is directed to renew the firearm license of the petitioner, which was cancelled, within a maximum period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Devendra Kumar Arora, J.)

1. Heard Sri Nitin Srivastava, learned Counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel.

2. Feeling aggrieved by the cancellation of his firearm licence by the District Magistrate vide order dated 18.2.2015 and rejection of his appeal by the Commissioner, Devi Patan Mandal, Gonda, vide order dated 18.2.2015 preferred against the order of cancellation, the petitioner has filed the instant writ petition.

3. Submission of learned Counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner was issued a firearm license of S.B.B.L. Gun No.10075/93, License No.185. An FIR was lodged against the petitioner under Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)10 of SC/ST Act at Police Station Khargupur, District Gonda. Thereafter, the firearm license of the petitioner was cancelled by the District Magistrate vide order dated 28.05.2009. Against the order dated 28.05.2009, the petitioner preferred an Appeal before the learned Commissioner, who after setting aside the order dated 28.05.2009 remanded the matter to the District Magistrate for consideration afresh, and also directed to pass appropriate order after providing adequate opportunity to the petitioner. Thereafter, vide impugned order dated 24.04.2013, the District Magistrate, Gonda reiterated his earlier order of rejection without considering and dealing with the pleas as raised by the petitioner. Therefore, the impugned order of cancellation of firearm licence is wholly erroneous and against the provisions of Arms Act.

4. Learned Counsel for the petitioner has vehemently contended that the impugned orders have been passed without considering the facts in its entirety and in utter disregard to the law as propounded by this Court in number of cases, namely, Ram Sanehi vs. Commissioner Devi Patan Division, Gonda and another [2004(22) LCD 1643] and Rayees Ahmad vs. State of U.P. and others [2002(20) LCD 913].

5. Concluding his arguments, learned Counsel for the petitioner submitted that the grounds which are mentioned in Section 17(3) of the Arms Act are not at all attracted in the case of the petitioner and the petitioner has not contravened any of the conditions as enumerated in the licence and as such the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate as also the order passed by the Appellate Authority is illegal and legally not sustainable.

6. Learned Standing Counsel, while refuting the allegations of the petitioner, submitted that the impugned orders were passed strictly in accordance with law and provisions of Arms Act and both the orders do not suffer from any infirmity. The licensing authority after considering the material facts on record has given a categorical finding of fact that the petitioner has violated the terms and conditions of arm license.

7. The question as to whether mere involvement in a criminal case or pendency of a criminal case can be a ground for revocation of licence under Arms Act, has been dealt with by a Division Bench of this Court Sheo Prasad Misra Vs. The District Magistrate, Basti & others; 1979 (16) ACC 6 (sum), wherein the Division Bench relying upon the earlier decision of Masiuddin Vs. Commissioner, Allahabad, found that mere involvement in criminal case cannot in any way affect the public security or public interest. The law propounded in the said decisions has been subsequently followed in Habib Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2002 ACC 783, and Ram Sanehi Vs. Commissioner, Devi Patan Division, Gonda & another [supra] and other cases.

8. Mere fact that some reports had been lodged against the petitioner could not form basis of cancelling the license. There is no dispute to the fact that the petitioner is a political person and was the Gram pradhan of the Village. Moreoso, in the criminal case, petitioner has been acquitted by the Trial Court and the judgment of acquittal was brought to the notice of the Appellate Court but the Appellate Authority ignored this vital aspect of the matter, which is a serious omission on his part.

9. The order passed by the District Magistrate cannot be upheld in absence of anything as contained in Section 17(3) of the Act. The Appellate Court has also committed an error in not considering the facts in its correct prospective and has also failed to appreciate the grounds mentioned in Section 17(3) of the Arms Act regarding revocation or for suspending a licence. It is well settled in law that mere pendency of criminal case or apprehension of abuse of arm is not sufficient grounds for passing the order of suspension or revocation of license under Section 17 (3) of the Act. Here, as averred above, the petitioner has been acquitted in the said criminal case. In the backdrop of the aforesaid facts, the order passed by the Appellate Authority cannot be legally sustained.

10. Accordingly, the orders dated 18.2.2015 passed by the Commissioner and the order dated 24.4.2013 passed by the District Magistrate are hereby quashed. The licensing authority is directed to renew the firearm license of the petitioner, which was cancelled, within a maximum period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

11. The writ petition stands allowed in above terms.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1995 Of 2014

Daya Ram Kurmi Alias Juraha Kurmi ...Appellant
State Of U.P. Versus
 ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

Jainendra Kumar Mishra, Deepak Dubey, Jitendra Kumar Mishra

Counsel for the Respondent:

Govt. Advocate

The aforesaid Criminal Appeal No.1995 of 2014 has been preferred by the appellant, Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi against the judgment and order of conviction dated 09.04.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, convicting to appellant under Section 302 IPC is hereby set aside. Appellant is acquitted of all the charges framed against him. Appellant is in jail. He shall be released forthwith unless and until he is wanted in any other case.

The allegations that informant's brother Laxmi Bhurji son of Suraj Deen was returning home after taking bath at tube-well of Ram Asrey Kurmi and had walked some paces on Pakka Road, when accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi resident of Jhuraha Khera alias Mampur, in company with one more person came out of Bilayati Babul bushes, caught hold of him. When he raised alarm then the first informant and his wife Smt. Somwati-who were going for marketing at Bindki-saw the incident. It was around 2.00 P.M., Daya Ram Kurmi alias Juraha Kurmi and one more person possessing country made pistol in their hands, caught his brother and Daya Ram Kurmi alias Juraha Kurmi with intention to kill fired on his brother and his companion also fired by his country made gun. Alarm was raised by informant and his wife and a number of villagers arrived on the spot. In the meanwhile, the assailants made their escape good by disappearing towards the eastern side of 'Babool' bushes. The informant's brother died on the spot. The dead body was lying on the road. Motive for committing the offence was indicated in the first information report itself that there was some dispute with regard to insisting on obtaining forceful possession of 1/3 share of Chheda Ram in the house built on the leased land of the first informant and this was opposed by the deceased Laxmi Bhurji. Because of aforesaid enmity, first informant's brother was killed by the accused persons. It has further been alleged in the first information report that unknown person can be identified in case he appears before the first informant.

In this factual backdrop, it can hardly be believed that he saw the occurrence of firing which he claims to have taken place before him. Since contents of the first information report were neither dictated by him nor were read-over to him, whole first information report becomes handi work of third person. In such circumstances, it would have been proper for the prosecution to have examined the scribe Krishna Kumar who could have elaborated on point of dictation of written report by the first informant. In the absence of non examination of the scribe, piecemeal testimony of Satya Narayan PW-1 on point of occurrence renders entire written report dubious and not believable.

At this juncture, we may observe that it is cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that it is solemn duty of the prosecution to prove its case and the charge on its own strength beyond reasonable doubt and in case charge is not proved beyond doubt coupled with the circumstances of the case, then concerned accused persons shall be entitled to benefit of doubt.

In the light of aforesaid observations on the factual as well as legal merit of the entire case, we are of firm opinion that Government Appeal No.2915 of 2014 in form of leave to appeal is refused as it is devoid of merit and without any force and is, accordingly, dismissed.

We will give reasons later but we make the operative order now.

The appeal is allowed. Impugned judgment and order dated 09.04.2014 passed by Sri Pawan Pratap Singh (H.J.S.), Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.7, Fatehpur in S.T. No.222 of 2005 (State Vs. Daya Ram Kurmi and another) convicting to appellant under Section 302 IPC is hereby set aside. Appellant is acquitted of all the charges framed against him. Appellant is in jail. He shall be released forthwith unless and until he is wanted in any other case.

Government Appeal No.2915 of 2014 is dismissed

There shall be however no order as to cost"

2. Here are the reasons:-

3. The aforesaid Criminal Appeal No.1995 of 2014 has been preferred by the appellant, Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi against the judgment and order of conviction dated 09.04.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Fatehpur, in Sessions Trial No.222 of 2005, State Vs. Daya Ram Kurmi and another, arising out of Case Crime No. 89 of 2004, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur, whereby he has been sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.5,000/- and in default of payment of fine, he will have to suffer two months' additional rigorous imprisonment.

4. The aforesaid Government Appeal No. 2915 of 2014 has been preferred by the State-appellant against the same judgment but pertains to order of acquittal dated 09.04.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Fatehpur, in Sessions Trial No.222 of 2005, State Vs. Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi and another, arising out of Case Crime No.89 of 2004 under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur, whereby accused-respondent Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar has been acquitted of charge for offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C.

5. Since both the appeals referred to above, arise out of one judgment (S.T. No.222 of 2005) pertaining to one and the same incident involving common question of law, hence the same are being heard together and decided by a common judgment.

6. Heard Shri Manish Tiwary, Sri A.K. Awasthi learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA Sri Saghir Ahmad assisted by Sri J.K. Updhyaya Smt. Manjoo Thakur, learned brief holders for the State in Criminal Appeal No.1995 of 2014.

7. We have also heard learned AGA Sri Saghir Ahmad assisted by Sri J.K. Updhyaya, Smt. Manjoo Thakur, learned brief holders on behalf of State-appellant and Sri Bholeswar learned counsel for the accused-respondent Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar, in Govt. Appeal No.2915 of 2014 and perused the lower court record.

8. The factual sketch of the prosecution case as emanates from record and particularly from perusal of the first information report appears to be; that the first informant Satya Narain Bhurji son of Suraj Deen, resident of Paradan, Police Station Bindki District Fatehpur lodged a written report at the aforesaid police station on 20.6.2004 at 4.30 P.M. regarding commission of offence of murder of his brother, Laxmi Bhurji by the accused Daya Ram Kurmi alias Juraha Kurmi-present-appellant and Puttan alias Pushpendra Kumar accused-respondent in Govt. Appeal No.2915 of 2014 (in short referred to as "accused persons") with the allegations that informant's brother Laxmi Bhurji son of Suraj Deen was returning home after taking bath at tube-well of Ram Asrey Kurmi and had walked some paces on Pakka Road, when accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi resident of Jhuraha Khera alias Mampur, in company with one more person came out of Bilayati Babul bushes, caught hold of him. When he raised alarm then the first informant and his wife Smt. Somwati-who were going for marketing at Bindki-saw the incident. It was around 2.00 P.M., Daya Ram Kurmi alias Juraha Kurmi and one more person possessing country made pistol in their hands, caught his brother and Daya Ram Kurmi alias Juraha Kurmi with intention to kill fired on his brother and his companion also fired by his country made gun. Alarm was raised by informant and his wife and a number of villagers arrived on the spot. In the meanwhile, the assailants made their escape good by disappearing towards the eastern side of 'Babool' bushes. The informant's brother died on the spot. The dead body was lying on the road. Motive for committing the offence was indicated in the first information report itself that there was some dispute with regard to insisting on obtaining forceful possession of 1/3 share of Chheda Ram in the house built on the leased land of the first informant and this was opposed by the deceased Laxmi Bhurji. Because of aforesaid enmity, first informant's brother was killed by the accused persons. It has further been alleged in the first information report that unknown person can be identified in case he appears before the first informant. The incident has been witnessed by a number of persons. Report be lodged and action be taken. The scribe of written report is Krishna Kumar. This report is Ext. Ka. 1.

9. Contents of the aforesaid report were taken down in the check FIR at 4.30 P.M. on 20.6.2004 at Case Crime No.89 of 2004 under Section 302 I.P.C. Check FIR is Ext. Ka. 12 on record. On the basis of entry so made in the aforesaid check FIR, a case was registered against the accused persons at Case Crime No. 89 of 2004 under section 302 I.P.C. at the concerned police station on 20.6.2004 at serial no. 32 of General Diary at 4.30 P.M.

10. Relevant to note that the defence admitted the aforesaid two papers check FIR and entry no. 32 of the General Diary whereby the case was registered against the accused persons, therefore, the formal proof of the same was dispensed with and both these papers were exhibited by the trial court. Registration of the case vide entry no. 32 of General Diary dated 20.6.2004 is Ext. Ka. 13.

11. Thereafter, the investigation of the case followed soon after the registration of the case. As per testimony of S.I. Subhash Chandra Shukla PW- 4, the case was registered in his presence on 20.6.2004. At that point of time, S.I. Subhash Chandra Shukla was In-charge Station House Officer of Police Station Bindki. He, after doing the needful, proceeded to the place of occurrence and took possession of the dead body of Laxmi Bhurji. He appointed witnesses for preparation of inquest report and prepared inquest report Ext. Ka- 3 on 20.6.2004. The preparation of inquest commenced at 04:30 P.M. and completed at 06.50 P.M. the very same day. In the opinion of inquest witnesses and the Investigating Officer, it was thought proper to the send the dead body of Laxmi Bhurji for post mortem examination in order to ascertain real cause of death. Therefore, relevant papers were prepared viz.- letter to the Chief Medical Officer Fatehpur, Ext. Ka-4, letter to R.I. Ext. Ka-5, Police Form-13 challan dead body Ext. Ka-6 and Photonash Ext. Ka. 7. Thereafter, post mortem examination on the dead body of deceased Laxmi Bhurji was conducted by Dr. A.S. Khan PW-3 on 21.6.2004 at 4.15 P.M. The doctor found following four ante mortem injuries which are extracted herein below:

1. Firearm wound of entry 2.5 cm x 2 cm x cavity deep on the back of right side of chest 2 cm outer to the middle of chest. Blackening present in the area of 7 cm x 4 cm around the wound.

2. Firearm wound of entry 4 cm x 3 cm x cavity deep on the back of skull 10 cm behind the left ear with underlying bone fractured.

3. Fire arm wound of exit 1.5 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep 7 cm above the right nipple.

4. Abrasion 2 cm x 2 cm on the back of right elbow joint.

12. The duration from the time of death till conduction of post mortem examination was described one day. The cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of firearm injuries. The post mortem examination report has been proved as Ext. Ka. 2 by Dr. A.S. Khan PW-3.

13. We further gather from records that the Investigating Officer, besides, recording various statement of a number of persons including witnesses, also prepared memo of simple and blood stained soil on 20.6.2004 and has proved the same as Ext. Ka. 9. He also prepared recovery memo of vest, 'Lota' and shoes of deceased which were lying on the spot on 20.6.2004. This recovery memo is Ext. Ka. 10.

14. On 26.6.2004, the investigation of this case was taken over by another I.O. Brajraj Singh, the then Incharge Inspector, Police Station Bindki. He recorded statement of the prosecution witness Somwati and arrested the appellant Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi on 5.7.2004. He also recorded statement of another co-accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar and several other persons. After completing the investigation, he filed charge sheet against the appellant which is Ext. Ka. 11 under the aforesaid section of I.P.C. at aforesaid crime number. Thereafter, the case was committed to the court of Sessions from where, it was made over for trial to the concerned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7 Fatehpur.

15. The prosecution case was opened before the trial court by the public prosecutor by describing the charge brought against the accused persons and also by stating the evidence by which it proposed to prove the guilt. After hearing the accused and the prosecution, the trial court found prima facie case for framing charge against accused persons under section 302 I.P.C. Accordingly, the charge was framed and readover to the accused persons who denied the charge and opted for trial.

16. Consequently, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony. The prosecution produced five witnesses in all. Reference of the prosecution witnesses is being elaborated here for sake of convenience:- Satya Narayan, first informant PW-1, brother of deceased Laxmi Bhurji, is stated to be an eye witness of the incident. Similarly, PW-2 Jitendra is also an eye witness of the incident and is son of Satya Narayan. He has also described about the incident. Dr. A.S. Khan PW-3 has conducted the post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased on 21.06.2004 and he has proved the same as Ext. Ka-2. S.I. Subhash Chand Shukla PW-4 has detailed various steps taken by him for completing the investigation. He has also proved the prosecution papers say Ext. Ka-3 to Ka-10. Subsequently, the investigation was taken over from him on 26.6.2004 by Inspector Brajraj Singh PW-5. He also took various steps for completing the investigation. He has filed charge sheet Ext. Ka. 11 against the accused persons under section 302 I.P.C. at aforesaid crime number.

17. Thereafter, the evidence for the prosecution was closed and the statement of the accused persons was recorded under section 313 I.P.C. In their statement, the accused persons termed their implication false and stated that they have been roped in, in this case on account of enmity. The appellant in the aforesaid criminal appeal claimed himself to be an old person and has not committed any offence. Though the accused persons wished to adduce evidence in defence but did not lead any testimony as such. The trial court after hearing both the sides on merit passed the aforesaid impugned judgment and order dated 09.04.2014 in Sessions Trial No.222 of 2005, State Vs. Daya Ram Kurmi and another, arising out of Case Crime No. 89 of 2004, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur, whereby aforesaid appellant was convicted and sentenced for commission of offence under Section 302 IPC while Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar respondent in aforesaid government appeal was acquitted under Section 302 IPC.

18. Consequently, these two appeals one against order of conviction and one against acquittal order.

19. It has been vigorously argued on behalf of the accused persons that it is a case of blind murder and no one has seen the occurrence. Testimony of so called eye witnesses does not inspire confidence, for the reason that their presence on the spot, under the circumstance of the case, is rendered doubtful. The very foundation of entire prosecution case-written report Ext. Ka-1 has not been proved properly in the testimony of PW-1-Satya Narain- the first informant-who has categorically affirmed that he merely impressed his thumb impression on the report and he was unaware of the contents of this report.

20. Learned counsel has engaged our attention to certain parts of the cross examination (of PW-1) when he is not sure about the real contents of the FIR. Thus PW-1 appears to be improving on material points. His statement given in the trial court is contradictory to what he stated before the Investigating Officer under section 161 Cr.P.C. The statement of both the witnesses of fact namely PW-1 and PW-2 Satya Narayan and Jitendra, respectively, produced by the prosecution contradicts each other in material particular. It is surprising that one more person was said to be companion of the accused person Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi at the time of commission of crime. It was stated in the first information report that this person can be identified as and when he appears before the first informant and this person is none other than next door neighbour i.e. to the adjoining house of first informant and the deceased. How can first informant claim that another unknown person can be identified by him as and when he appears before him when the said person is his next door neighbour. This shows hollowness of the claim of first informant and exposes his credibility as an eyewitness and first informant and thus creates doubt regarding his presence on the spot.

21. The another eye witness named in the first information report is Somwati, who was not produced in the trial court, for reasons best known to the prosecution. The evidence of PW-1 is sketchy, partisan and highly interested one, for the reason that he being brother of the deceased was inimical towards accused persons. PW-2 though claims to have passed his 8th class in 1994, did not write first information report, but it was written by scribe Krishna Kumar son of Ram Pyare. This also creates doubt on the presence of PW-2 Jitendra on the spot. He is a chance witness.

22. Lot of emphasis has been made on the cross examination of PW-2 at page no. 28 of the paper book to the effect that as soon as PW-2 arrived on the spot, his father Satya Narayan and mother Somwati were not present on the spot. This specific piece of testimony is axiomatic and truth in itself and carries element of truth on point of presence of this witness at the place of occurrence and virtually proves fact that PW-2 was never present on the place of occurrence and he only arrived on the spot after a long gap of time when the incident had already occurred.

23. Lastly, it has been argued by learned counsel that PW- 2 Jitendra is highly inimical towards accused persons because he has been convicted in a case under section 307 I.P.C. for an offence relating to attempt to commit murder of Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi (accused-appellant). This fact has been specifically admitted by him that he has been convicted in a case under section 307 I.P.C. for making an attempt on life of accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi as appearing on page no. 28 of the paper book. PW-2 is highly interested in ensuring conviction for appellant.

24. Per contra learned A.G.A. while refuting aforesaid arguments submitted that it is incorrect to say that the contents of first information report have not been proved because thumb impression proved is that of PW-1 which invariably establishes the first information report lodged at the instance of Satya Narayan. The vivid and lively description of manner of incident has been proved by both the eye witnesses PW-1 and PW-2, respectively. Expectation of pictorial and parallel description matching identical description of one witness with the other witness but it is obvious that their respective testimony on the whole corroborates each other in material particulars, especially the manner and style of occurrence which cannot be doubted.

25. Learned AGA has further added that the presence of the two eyewitnesses on the spot, is natural and genuine. Their evidence is inspiring confidence and it is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that testimony which corroborates each other in material particulars is to be believed and contradictions appearing in their testimony, if found to be of trivial nature, should be avoided. The prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

26. While refuting the aforesaid specific contention of learned AGA, in support of leave to appeal against the accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar in Government Appeal No. 2915 of 2014, Shri Bholeshwar, learned counsel for Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar engaged our attention to several points of testimony appearing in the deposition of the two eye witnesses and in the testimony of the Investigating Officer and also to specific parts of judgment of the trial court dated 09.04.2014 and tried to convince that the case of accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar is highly doubtful and his participation in the incident has not been established even in the least.

27. It is stated that the incident took place on 20.6.2004 but the name of the accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar surfaced in the statement of Satya Narayan and his wife Somwati on 21.10.2004 and investigation regarding unknown person was started by the Investigating Officer only on 15.9.2004 after inordinate delay for which no plausible explanation has been given by the prosecution. The aforesaid factual aspect of such belated investigation appears in examination in chief of Braj Raj Singh PW-5. How and why both the eye witnesses kept mum for such a long time has not been explained by the prosecution. The accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar happens to be the very neighbour of the first informant and deceased, and reference about him in the first information report is clearly spelt as unknown person. It was done with deliberate intention to teach a lesson to the accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar, for the reason that first informant was nursing grudge against him on account of several counts.

28. The trial court has adopted appreciable view regarding the circumstances and testimony of the prosecution witnesses and after correct appraisal of facts and law, has recorded just finding of acquittal against the accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar which finding cannot be said to be not based on material on record. The abysmal silence of the first informant, while lodging FIR regarding non-mention of name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar by itself is sufficient to render his implication false in this case. His complicity surfaced in the statement of first informant recorded at an ordinally delayed stage on 21.10.2004 i.e. after four months of the incident.

29. We have been further persuaded on behalf of the State-appellant (in Govt. Appeal No.2915 of 2014) to believe that the testimony against accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar is clinching and consistent. However, the trial court without any rhyme or reason over looking the vital facts and circumstances of the case, acting on assumption and presumption unnecessarily recorded finding of acquittal which is erroneous and perverse. Both the eyewitnesses of occurrence namely PW-1 and PW-2 Satya Narayan and Jitendra have categorically stated about participation of accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar in the incident in company with co-accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi but the learned Trial Court, without heeding to the correct and actual facts and testimony, recorded finding of acquittal in favour of accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar which is liable to be set aside, and he be convicted for offence under section 302 I.P.C.

30. We have also considered the above rival submissions and scrutinized the record of the case.

31. Core consideration in both the aforesaid appeals relates to fact whether the prosecution has been able to prove its charge against appellant Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi and Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar beyond reasonable doubt and testimony of the two eye witnesses namely PW-1 and PW-2 Satya Narayan and Jitendra, respectively, is clinching and inspiring confidence?

32. Further, whether finding of acquittal recorded against the aforesaid accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar is perverse on the ground that it is not based on material on record and the view so taken by the trial court is not possible under the facts and circumstances of this case?

33. In so far as death of deceased Laxmi Bhurji is concerned, that is admitted to both the parties. Only question that engages our attention is confined to the fact whether the occurrence as stated to have taken place on 20.6.2004 at about 2.00 P.M. was outcome of act of present accused-appellant Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi and accused-respondent Puttan @ Pushpendra (in Govt. Appeal).

34. From perusal of the first information report, we gather that in this report, name of accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi has been specifically described that he in company with one unknown person shot dead informant's brother Laxmi Bhurji at 2.00 P.M. on the spot. The doctor witness PW-3 has noted four ante mortem injuries on the dead body of Laxmi Bhurji. Two fire arm wound of entry and one fire arm exit wound have been noted on examination. Injury No.1 is in shape of firearm wound of entry 2.5 cm x 2 cm x cavity deep on the back of right side of chest 2 cm outer to the middle of chest. Blackening present in the area of 7 cm x 4 cm around the wound. Injury No.2 has been stated to be firearm wound of entry 4 cm x 3 cm x cavity deep on the back of skull 10 cm behind the left ear with underlying bone fractured. Injury No.3 is firearm wound of exit 1.5 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep 7 cm above the right nipple. In this way, injuries No. 1 and 3 may be treated result of one shot causing entry wound and exit wound, respectively. Injury no.4 is Abrasion in measurement of 2 cm x 2 cm on the back of right elbow joint. This may be caused, in the opinion of doctor, by fall of deceased on the ground. This post mortem examination report has been proved by PW-3 as Ext. Ka. 2. Autopsy was done on 21.6.2004 at 4.15 P.M. and duration from the time of death (of the deceased) till conduction of post mortem examination was described one day. Naturally, the doctor has opined cause of death due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of aforesaid ante mortem injuries. He has stated that these injuries were sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death. The death of the deceased might have taken place on 20.6.2004 around 2.00 P.M.

35. Now we may come to the meritorial aspect of the occurrence as described by the two eye witnesses of the incident. PW-1 Satya Narayan has stated that on the date of occurrence, he was coming from Bindki side along with his wife Somwati when his brother Laxmi Bhurji was returning after taking bath from tube-well. When he reached on Pakka road, accused persons Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar and Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi who laid in ambush behind bush appeared on the scene. Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi fired from his country made pistol on Laxmi Bhurji who fell down and then Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar fired on him. His son Jitendra also arrived on the spot and he also witnessed the incident. Alarm was raised by them whereupon the assailants fled away from the scene and disappeared behind bushes and a number of villagers arrived on the spot. Thereafter, the report was lodged by the first informant after it was written by scribe Krishna Kumar.

36. Similar is version of PW-2 Jitendra regarding the fact of occurrence. However, he differs from PW-1 on certain factual aspects. He testified that his father Satya Narayan and mother Somwati were going to Bindki from home and they saw the incident. At this stage, we may take note of the contents of first information report wherein presence of first informant and Somwati alone has been ascribed. There is no mention of presence of PW-2 Jitendra on the spot at the time of occurrence.

37. Obviously, Jitendra PW-2 who is son of first informant, is a literate person and has passed 8th class examination in the year 1994. Therefore, non mention of his name in the first information is sufficient fact for drawing conclusion that in all eventuality, Jitendra PW-2 was not present on the spot because his presence could not have gone unnoticed by the first informant while he had already named his wife to be present on the scene of occurrence in the contents of the FIR and who accompanied him and saw the incident. How Jitendra's name was left out is beyond comprehension of a man of ordinary prudence.

38. It is obvious that first informant's wife Somwati has not been produced as witness in the trial court. Now we may further draw some positive conclusion from testimony of PW-1 Satya Narayan, in so far as the description of manner of the incident is concerned. On page 17 of paper-book, it is reflected that this witness PW-1 has stated that his son Jitendra also arrived on the spot and he dictated the first information report to Krishna Kumar. However, in examination in chief, he has stated that this report was not read over and explained to him and only thumb impression was obtained on it. This piece of testimony regarding non-disclosure of contents of written report to the first informant by the scribe Krishna Kumar, might have been treated as an isolated piece of testimony in form of aberration, but in his cross examination, the fact was exposed particularly on page 22 of paper-book when this witness has been confronted with query that though he has stated that he got the report written but he has also stated that he did not dictate the report. The person who wrote the report was not his relative. He again said that after the report was written, it was not read over to him. Thereafter when he has been queried regarding veracity of his statement previously given before the trial court, then he has expressed doubt about his testimony on particular fact as to whether he dictated the report or he did not dictate the report. This cannot be said by him with certainty. He further stated that he did not receive any paper from the police station when he lodged his report.

39. Further, he has stated that he knew that the name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar has figured in the first information report lodged at the police station. This piece of testimony so emerging in the cross examination virtually throws out the entire prosecution case, for specific reason that this witness is uttering blatant lie and is not aware about the contents of the first information report and he is not sure whether he himself dictated the contents so recorded in the written report Ext. Ka-1 or he did not dictate the contents of first information report. Non-mention of name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar though he appears to be residing in his neighbourhood is a fact which throws doubt on credibility of this witness.

40. Obviously, the first informant appears to be highly interested, partisan and chance witness. It is settled law of criminal jurisprudence that the testimony of relative witness is to be read with caution and circumspection and in case it is found tainted with bias and with motive to be interested in conviction of the accused-appellant, the same should be discarded by the Court. Non mentioning of the name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar in the first information report, instead mentioning of some unknown person who can be identified by the first informant, as and when, he appears before him is high degree concoction.

41. We gather from the record that son of first informant Jitendra PW-2 has been convicted in a case under section 307 IPC for an attempt to commit murder of accused-appellant Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi. Once foundation of first information report is rendered dubious coupled with attendant facts and circumstances of the case then the entire edifice of prosecution case falls on the ground. In this case, the prosecution witnesses being relative and interested witnesses whose credibility is eroded on the point of their presence on the spot, therefore, the prosecution could not establish contents of the first information report. The first informant has tried to improve his testimony before the trial court, when he filed an affidavit and that affidavit was discovered to be not properly prepared whereby the name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar was sought to be brought into light. He went on improving that after the occurrence, he was mentally perturbed and he could not mention the name of the assailants but he is stating truth on that moment (when he filed affidavit). His statement given to the Investigating Officer involves participation of three persons in the incident and he has been confronted for that statement by the defence. He could not assign any satisfactory reason for the same. On Page 25 of the paper-book, he has stated that when he saw his brother for the first time, he saw him lying on the ground with head downward.

42. Similarly, Jitendra PW-2 has stated in his cross examination in the last two lines on page 28 of paper-book that when he reached on the spot, his father Satya Narayan and mother Somwati were not present on the spot. He too has been confronted with the statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. wherein he has also stated involvement of three persons in the incident whereupon he has denied such statement having been given by him and he could not assign any reason for the same. This specific piece of testimony emerging in the statement of both the aforesaid witnesses of fact generates genuine and reasonable doubt regarding presence of these two witnesses on the spot. It is obvious that the presence of Jitendra PW-2 is highly doubtful and presence of first informant on the spot can be placed a little after the incident had taken place, because he arrived on the spot and saw his brother first, then he saw him lying on the ground.

43. In this factual backdrop, it can hardly be believed that he saw the occurrence of firing which he claims to have taken place before him. Since contents of the first information report were neither dictated by him nor were read-over to him, whole first information report becomes handiwork of third person. In such circumstances, it would have been proper for the prosecution to have examined the scribe Krishna Kumar who could have elaborated on point of dictation of written report by the first informant. In the absence of non examination of the scribe, piecemeal testimony of Satya Narayan PW-1 on point of occurrence renders entire written report dubious and not believable.

44. At this juncture, we may observe that it is cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that it is solemn duty of the prosecution to prove its case and the charge on its own strength beyond reasonable doubt and in case charge is not proved beyond doubt coupled with the circumstances of the case, then concerned accused persons shall be entitled to benefit of doubt. In this case, the learned trial court, though rightly acquitted accused Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar but took parochial and partial view of the incident and misread the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 on the point of occurrence and failed to appreciate the fact that the presence of prosecution witnesses as alleged on the spot, is highly doubtful.

45. The trial court has also failed to take note of fact that the contents of first information report were not sayings of first informant Satya Narayan PW-1. The first information report did not figure name of Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar though he happens to be neighbour of first informant. PW-2 Jitendra has himself admitted in his cross examination that when he reached on the spot, he could not find (presence of) his father and mother namely Satya Narayan PW-1 and Somwati on the spot. The first informant Satya Narayan has stated that when he saw his brother for the first time, he was lying on the ground. These particular aspects of this case are substantial in nature and are sufficient to throw doubt on the veracity of the prosecution case. Certainly, the view taken by the trial court, while convicting the accused Daya Ram Kurmi @ Juraha Kurmi that he committed crime, is erroneous and perverse and is not sustainable in law. In so far as acquittal of accused-respondent Puttan @ Pushpendra Kumar is concerned, it can be specifically observed by us that the finding of acquittal is profusely supported by material on record and the view so taken by the trial court is justified which needs no interference by us at this stage.

46. These are the reasons upon which we set aside the impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 09.04.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.7, Fatehpur, in Sessions Trial No.222 of 2005 arising out of Case Crime No. 89 of 2004, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur.

47. However, we direct that appellant will ensure compliance of provisions of Section 437 A Cr.P.C. by appearing before the concerned trial court at the earliest.

48. In the light of aforesaid observations on the factual as well as legal merit of the entire case, we are of firm opinion that Government Appeal No.2915 of 2014 in form of leave to appeal is refused as it is devoid of merit and without any force and is, accordingly, dismissed.

49. However, we provide that he will have to furnish bonds under Section 437A Cr.P.C. before the concerned trial court at the earliest.

50. Let a copy of this order be certified to the concerned trial court for information and necessary follow up action.

The revisionist has moved application under Section 156(3) CrPC for investigation and prosecution of opposite parties for offences under Section 420 ,406, 504, 506 IPC and 3(1)(vi) and 3(1)(x) of the Scheduled Castes or Schedule Tribes (Prevention and Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as SC/ST Act). This application was accepted as complaint case. After accepting evidences under Section 200 and 202 CrPC, trial court had dismissed the complaint under Section 203 CrPC. In this order, trial court had taken several grounds for disbelieving the complaint case, including the fact that offences under Section 420, 406, 504 IPC are not made out and the averment for Section 506 and 3(1)(vi) and 3(1)(x) SC/ST Act are doubtful and there is no ground for summoning the proposed accused persons. Aggrieved by this order dated 5.7.2016 of trial court, present revision has been preferred.

In present case the trial court had accepted the evidences under Chapter XV CrPC and after appreciating it, had given finding that no case is made out on the basis of those evidences. Such finding of fact requires re-appreciation of evidences already adduced. This Court is not expected to re-appreciate the evidences and finding of fact, especially on the ground that on the basis of those evidences, there may be possibility of reaching to another conclusion which is different from that of trial court.

Therefore, revision fails, and is hereby dismissed.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. The revisionist has moved application under Section 156(3) CrPC for investigation and prosecution of opposite parties for offences under Section 420, 406, 504, 506 IPC and 3(1)(vi) and 3(1)(x) of the Scheduled Castes or Schedule Tribes (Prevention and Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as SC/ST Act). This application was accepted as complaint case.

3. After accepting evidences under Section 200 and 202 CrPC, trial court had dismissed the complaint under Section 203 CrPC. In this order, trial court had taken several grounds for disbelieving the complaint case, including the fact that offences under Section 420, 406, 504 IPC are not made out and the averment for Section 506 and 3(1)(vi) and 3(1)(x) SC/ST Act are doubtful and there is no ground for summoning the proposed accused persons. Aggrieved by this order dated 5.7.2016 of trial court, present revision has been preferred.

4. In complaint, it is mentioned that for the work performed by revisionist, opposite parties had made part payment, but had not paid full amount; and when complainant requested the opposite parties for making full payment then they had misappropriated his remaining dues, beaten him and used foul words.

5. Learned counsel for the revisionist contended that there is specific averment that revisionist was beaten and threatened by opposite parties, but this fact was not considered by lower courts. This contention is found incorrect in view of contents of complaint case as well as statements of witnesses under Chapter XV CrPC. No averment is made in complaint or in statements that any injury was caused to revisionist.

6. Learned counsel for the revisionist also contended that revisionist belongs to scheduled caste community and foul words relating to his caste were uttered by opposite parties, therefore, they should be prosecuted under the provisions of SC/ST Act.

7. From perusal of the record, especially, complaint and statements of witnesses, it is found that alleged altercation between the parties arose not because of complainant being member of scheduled caste community but because of the alleged dispute on the point of non-payment of remaining labour charges and other dues. It is found that if prosecution case is taken to be true, even in that eventuality the cause of action for the alleged incident was non-payment of dues and not the complainant being member of scheduled caste community. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a person belonging to a Scheduled Caste does not attract the provisions of the Act. So argument regarding applicability of provisions of SC/ST Act are found unacceptable.

8. Apparently, this appears to be a dispute of civil nature where part payment has been made and revisionist's claim is that he was not fully paid for his work done. For determining the claim of revisionist in this regard would require assessment of work done by revisionist and amount paid as well as its rationality. Such matter cannot be adjudicated by criminal court.

9. In Jagannath Choudhary & ors vs. Ramayan Singh & another, AIR 2002 S.C. 2229, Apex Court had held that:

"Where the court concerned does not appear to have committed any illegality or material irregularity or impropriety in passing the impugned judgment and order, the revision cannot succeed. If the impugned order apparently is presentable, without any such infirmity which may render it completely perverse or unacceptable and when there is no failure of justice, interference cannot be had in exercise of revisional jurisdiction".

"It is not an appeal wherein scrutiny of evidence is possible, neither the revisional jurisdiction is open for being exercised simply by reason of the factum of another view being otherwise possible."

10. In present case the trial court had accepted the evidences under Chapter XV CrPC and after appreciating it, had given finding that no case is made out on the basis of those evidences. Such finding of fact requires re-appreciation of evidences already adduced. This Court is not expected to re-appreciate the evidences and finding of fact, especially on the ground that on the basis of those evidences, there may be possibility of reaching to another conclusion which is different from that of trial court.

11. A perusal of the impugned judgment reveals that learned Magistrate had appreciated the facts and evidences of the case and then after being satisfied about the facts relating to allegations, had passed the judgment. From a perusal of the records it appears that conclusions read by learned Magistrate are based on available evidences and logical conclusions. In these circumstances, it would be improper to quash the impugned order by substituting any other finding of the fact. There appears nothing on the basis of correctness, legality or propriety of impugned order which can be doubted. There appears no irregularity in procedure adopted by the trial court. So there is no justification for interference in the impugned order. Therefore, revision fails, and is hereby dismissed.

Govt. Advocate

The aforesaid three appeals, the appellants have challenged the judgment and order of conviction dated 01.08.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.1, Hathras in Sessions Trial No.331 of 2001 arising out of Case Crime No.125 of 2001, (State Vs. Mohd. Alam and others), under Section 364-A IPC, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras, whereby the appellants were sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.1000/- each; default clause stipulates one month additional simple imprisonment to the concerned convict.

Facts of this case, as unfolded by the first information, appear to be that first informant Mahendra Pratap Singh son of Sri Hakim Singh resident of Nagla Danda Majra Jarera, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras gave written report (Ext. Ka-1) at aforesaid police station on 10.6.2001 alleging commission of offence of kidnapping for ransom of his nephew Raja, to the effect that labourers used to come to his village for harvesting wheat and paddy crop from state of Bihar. One among them, Mohd. Alam son of Jahid resident of village-Bhagal, police station-Sontakhad, District Kishanganj, Bihar had come to his village one and half year ago and he used to stay at the house of informant. He also worked as labourer in the village. Due to this, little children of his house were familiar with him. He took advantage of his familiarity with children of the house and he in collusion with one Data Ram and his two sons Naresh and Mahesh, kidnapped his nephew Raja aged about three years on 07.06.2001. All the four persons are absconding from his village ever since.

In the result, the aforesaid appeals are partly allowed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 01.08.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.1, Hathras in Sessions Trial No.331 of 2001 arising out of Case Crime No.125 of 2001, (State Vs. Mohd. Alam and others), under Section 364-A IPC, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras, is altered/modified from Section 364A IPC to Section 365 IPC.

In this case, appellant Mohd. Alam is in jail since 10.06.2001 and Naseem and Mahesh are in jail since 01.08.2005, therefore, Mohd. Alam has already spent over 15 years of incarceration, whereas, the other two appellants Naseem and Mahesh have already spent about more than 11 years of incarceration. Therefore, the respective period of imprisonment already undergone by the present appellants is justified, as the sentence provided for the offence under Section 365 IPC, which they have already suffered in surplus. A fine of Rs.1000/- each is also imposed on the appellants and in case of default in payment of fine the concerned convict shall have to undergo additional imprisonment for one month.

In so far as payment of the amount of fine is concerned, the appellants are given one month's time to deposit the same. In case the amount of fine is deposited by the appellants, they shall be released forthwith, if they are not wanted in connection with any other case.

Let a copy of this order be certified to the concerned trial court for its intimation and follow up action.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. By way of the aforesaid three appeals, the appellants have challenged the judgment and order of conviction dated 01.08.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.1, Hathras in Sessions Trial No.331 of 2001 arising out of Case Crime No.125 of 2001, (State Vs. Mohd. Alam and others), under Section 364-A IPC, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras, whereby the appellants were sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.1000/- each; default clause stipulates one month additional simple imprisonment to the concerned convict.

2. Heard at length Sri N.I. Jafri assisted by Sri Noor Mohammad, Shahroze Khan and Sri S.P.S. Chauchan, learned counsels for the appellant and Sri Saghir Ahmad, Sri J. K. Upadhyay and Kumari Meena, learned AGAs for the state.

3. Facts of this case, as unfolded by the first information, appear to be that first informant Mahendra Pratap Singh son of Sri Hakim Singh resident of Nagla Danda Majra Jarera, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras gave written report (Ext. Ka-1) at aforesaid police station on 10.6.2001 alleging commission of offence of kidnapping for ransom of his nephew Raja, to the effect that labourers used to come to his village for harvesting wheat and paddy crop from state of Bihar. One among them, Mohd. Alam son of Jahid resident of village-Bhagal, police station-Sontakhad, District Kishanganj, Bihar had come to his village one and half year ago and he used to stay at the house of informant. He also worked as labourer in the village. Due to this, little children of his house were familiar with him. He took advantage of his familiarity with children of the house and he in collusion with one Data Ram and his two sons Naresh and Mahesh, kidnapped his nephew Raja aged about three years on 07.06.2001. All the four persons are absconding from his village ever since.

4. On search being made, it was told by Sri Hari Prasad Sharma resident of Nagla Veer Sahai that Mohd. Alam and Mahesh son of Data Ram were seen by him on the canal bridge (culvert) and the child was in the lap of Mohd. Alam. Both were seen going away by bus towards Sikandrara. The first informant made hectic efforts for search of the child in and around Sikandrara, but in vain. Next day, Data Ram said to Pradeep Kumar (cousin brother of first informant- Mahendra Pratap Singh) that in case Rs.2 lacs are spent by them, then the victim child can be traced out. Pradeep Kumar agreed to the same and asked Data Ram that they will pay money but he should disclose the whereabouts of the child. At this, Data Ram said that he will arrange his talk with Naresh, whereupon, in the presence of several villagers, Naresh told that Mohd. Alam has told him that he will come at Panth Crossing in Sikandrara on 10.6.2001 at 2.00 p.m. Report be lodged and appropriate action be taken. Scribe of this report is Om Veer Singh Raghav. This report is Exhibit Ka-1.

5. Contents of this report were taken down in the Check FIR on 10.6.2001 at Crime No.125 of 2001, under Section 364A IPC at 8.45 a.m. at police station- Hasayan. Check FIR is Exhibit Ka-6 on record.

6. On the basis of entries made in Check FIR, a case was registered against the present appellants in the date and relevant general diary at aforesaid crime number at police station Hasayan at 8.45 a.m. on 10.6.2001 under Section 364A IPC, copy whereof is Exhibit Ka-7. The investigation of the case was entrusted to Mahendra Pratap Singh, SHO Hasayan who arrested appellant Mohd. Alam at the instance of first informant and he recovered victim Raja on the pointing out of the appellant Mohd. Alam from Naseem and Mahesh on 10.6.2001 at 7.00 p.m. The Investigating Officer prepared recovery memo of the victim on the spot, which is Exhibit Ka-2. Thereafter the victim was handed over to the custody of his father Naresh Pal Singh. This custody memo of the victim is Exhibit Ka-3. The site plan of the place of recovery of the child was also prepared by him, which is Exhibit Ka-4. The Investigating Officer recorded statements of various witnesses and after completing the investigation filed charge-sheet against the appellants which is Exhibit Ka-5.

7. Thereafter, the case of the appellants was committed to the court of sessions from where it was eventually made over for trial to the court of Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. 1, Hathras, where the appellants were heard on point of charge. The trial court framed charge under Section 364-A IPC against the present appellants. Charge was read over and explained to the accused, who denied the charge and opted for trial. Thereafter, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony. Prosecution in all has produced six witnesses. Brief reference of the same is as hereunder:-

8. Mahendra Pratap Singh P.W.1 is the first informant. He has proved written report Exhibit Ka-1. Pradeep Kumar P.W.2 is witness of fact as well as witness to the fact of recovery of the victim. Hari Prasad Sharma P.W.3 is also witness of fact and he has testified fact that he saw the victim in the company of appellants Mohd. Alam and Mahesh on the day of occurrence (7.6.2001). Vijay Pal Singh P.W.4 is also witness of fact as well as witness of extra-judicial confession allegedly made by appellant Mohd. Alam. He is also witness of recovery of victim. Mahendra

Pratap Singh, retired S.I. P.W.5 was the Investigating Officer. He has proved the entire investigation and recovery of the victim and has also proved charge-sheet Exhibit Ka-5. HCP Kalicharan P.W.6 is the Constable. He has proved Check FIR and the relevant GD entry.

9. Thereafter, evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of the appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein, they termed their implication false and submitted that they are innocent and no incident of kidnapping for ransom ever took place.

10. The accused Mahesh has stated that he has been falsely implicated in this case on account of conspiracy hatched up for expelling him from the village.

11. The accused Mohd. Alam has stated that informant side exploited him as bonded labour and they did not pay his wages due to him for about four years and when he demanded the same, he was falsely implicated in this case in collusion with the police.

12. The accused Naseem also stated on similar lines and he also asked for his wages due to him, which was refused and he was falsely implicated in this case in collusion with police.

13. Defence, in turn, has produced D.W.1 Kalyan Singh.

14. Learned trial court after hearing both the parties on merit passed the aforesaid judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 01.08.2005 against the present appellants.

15. Consequently, this appeal.

16. We have been vehemently persuaded on behalf of the appellants that in this case, when the case was considered on merit by the trial court then on the same evidence, the two other co-accused Data Ram and Naresh were acquitted by the trial court by means of the same judgment holding that demand of ransom was not proved against them, whereas, the case of the present appellants stands on better footing than that of the aforesaid two accused Data Ram and Naresh. Testimony on point of demand for ransom by the appellants is altogether missing and finding of conviction, thus, has become perverse and erroneous.

17. PW-1 Mahendra Pratap Singh son of Hakim Singh is vacillating in his testimony and he has not been consistent; instead he appears to have been improving the prosecution version against the appellants. His testimony before trial court is in sheer contrast to his statement given to the Investigating Officer.

18. Similar is the testimony of other witnesses of fact. The entire story of recovery of victim Raja was planted by the first informant and the Investigating Officer of this case. No such incident of kidnapping for ransom ever took place. The testimony appearing against the present appellants at the most can be taken to be confined to the extent of kidnapping with an intent to confine the victim secretly and wrongfully. There is no iota of evidence against the present appellants that they were directly involved in demanding any ransom for kidnapping, therefore, the case of the appellants is not covered under Section 364-A IPC. For the sake of argument it can be inferred that the appellants have committed offence under Section 365 IPC.

19. Cumulative reading of testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact will lead one, at the most, to the inference and conclusion that the case is covered under Section 365 IPC rather than under Section 364A IPC.

20. It has been claimed by learned counsel for the appellants that Mohd. Alam is in jail since 10.6.2001. Naseem and Mahesh are in jail since 1.8.2005. Even the first informant could not testify categorically against the appellants regarding demand for ransom by them.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants summed up that though the testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact is shaky and inconsistent as a whole, but the same is altogether missing regarding fact of demand for ransom. Therefore, the case is not covered under Section 364A IPC.

22. Per contra, learned AGA has submitted that specific argument regarding the case being not covered under Section 364A IPC is without any substance. The entire testimony on record and its cumulative effect overwhelmingly covers the case of the appellants under Section 364A IPC.

23. The recovery of the child was made from the appellants and the Investigating Officer has proved the recovery. Apart from that, the prosecution witnesses have also proved recovery of the child from the present appellants. The learned trial court was justified in recording conviction under Section 364 A IPC and has recorded just conviction and sentence against the appellants.

24. Also considered the above submissions pros and cons. In view of the arguments advanced, particularly on behalf of the appellants, this appeal is confined to the point as to whether the appellants' case is covered under Section 365 IPC instead of Section 364A IPC (?), or they are entitled to acquittal against charge under Section 364A IPC?

25. Before we proceed further with the meritorial aspect of the case on the point under consideration, it would be appropriate to have a dip into the contents of first information report. It is reflected from written report (Exhibit Ka-1) that the nephew of the first informant was kidnapped on 07.06.2001. However, time of disappearance/kidnapping of the victim has not been mentioned in the first information report.

26. This incident of kidnapping took place on 07.06.2001 and on the very next day, one Hari Prasad Sharma (P.W.3) told the first informant that he saw the victim in the company of Mohd. Alam and Mahesh on canal bridge (culvert) and they were going by bus to Sikandararau. Though search was made for the victim but whereabouts of the victim was not known. Data Ram (acquitted co-accused) said to one Pradeep Kumar, (cousin brother of informant) that child will be returned if Rs.2 lacs are spent. As a sequel to it, the money was arranged and Data Ram was asked to divulge the whereabouts of the child, whereupon, he facilitated their talk with co-accused Naresh, who, in presence of, the villagers told that Mohd. Alam will come on Panth Crossing at Sikandararau on 10.6.2001 at 2.00 p.m. and thereafter, recovery of the child was made on 10.6.2001 at 7.00 p.m. from Mahesh, Naseem and Mohd. Alam- the present appellants.

27. It is obvious that the first information report was lodged at 8.45 a.m. on 10.6.2001 and the recovery of the victim was made at 7 p.m. on 10.6.2001. We have also scanned carefully entire evidence of all the prosecution witnesses of fact and particularly, on point of demand for ransom, whether it was so made by the present appellants. We could neither discover any testimony on the point nor could we infer from attendant circumstances that it was so made by the appellants. Certainly, act of the appellants brings their case within purview of kidnapping with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person. It is established by evidence that the victim was recovered from their possession on 10.6.2001 at 7.00 p.m.

28. The attention of this Court has been invited to the testimony of Hari Prasad Sharma P.W.3 as appearing in the last paragraph of his testimony in his cross-examination on page-31 of the paper book, wherein he has sated that Data Ram never indulged in any sort of talk concerning demand for ransom with Pradeep Kumar, Mahendra Pratap Singh etc.

29. In this view of the matter, testimony of P.W.3-Hari Prasad Sharma on point of demand for ransom by the present appellants or their indulgence for the same is not proved. However, the fact of recovery of the victim from possession of the appellants on the pointing out of appellant Mohd. Alam is very much proved by the testimony of prosecution witnesses and the recovery memo of victim Raja is very much proved, as Exhibit Ka-2.

30. At this stage it would be appropriate to discuss testimony of Mahendra Pratap Singh-retired S.I.-who was the Investigating Officer of this case. He has deposed that he arrested Mohd. Alam at the instance of informant and thereafter relevant information was extracted from Mohd. Alam which led to recovery of co-accused Naseem and Mahesh where recovery of victim Raja was also made. A recovery memo (Exhibit ka-2) was prepared on the spot. He has stated that he started for place of recovery from Panth Crossing around 6.00 P.M. and reached to the spot in 7-8 minutes, left behind his Jeep 20.25 steps before the spot of recovery.

31. Also, fact of recovery of victim has been testified by Vijay Pal Singh-P.W.4 when he sated that Raja was recovered at the pointing out of Mohd. Alam at that relevant point of time Raja was sitting in the lap of Naseem and accused Mahesh was giving Raja some eatable. Informant identified his son Raja. I.O. and the witnesses with the help of other persons surrounded the accused, arrested them and recovered Raja from their possession around 7.00 p.m. on 10.6.2001.

32. Thus testimony on record brings case of appellants within purview of Section 365 IPC. At this stage it would be relevant to extract Section 365 IPC:

"365. Kidnapping or abducting with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person.--Whoever kidnaps or abducts any person with intent to cause that person to be secretly and wrongfully con-fined, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

33. Thus after careful scrutiny of facts and testimony on record we do not come across any specific piece of evidence, which may give any force or credence to the claim of the prosecution that the present appellants kidnapped Raja for ransom.

34. Here in the present case, the offence proved is one of kidnapping with intent to confine Raja secretly and wrongfully. The learned trial court, while appreciating testimony on record and its cumulative effect, failed to take integral view of the matter and has misread the evidence on the point of applicability of relevant section of IPC, convicted the appellants under Section 364A IPC and passed sentence against them- which under facts and circumstances of this case was not justified.

35. We have no hesitation in expressing at this stage that learned trial court has already acquitted the two other co-accused Naresh and Data Ram by the same judgment and order giving benefit of doubt against whom some reference of ransom erupts in prosecution testimony. To hold that the present appellants were directly involved in demanding ransom for release of victim (Raja) is not justified, under facts and circumstances of the case qua testimony of prosecution witnesses as a whole.

36. We are mindful of legal proposition that conviction under Section 364A IPC is primarily based on demand for ransom and there should be positive evidence regarding any such demand made by the accused person. Point under context takes us to careful scrutiny of the testimony of witnesses of fact particularly P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.3 and P.W.4, these witnesses nowhere testify that any ransom was demanded by the present appellants. The incriminating circumstances against the appellants are very much confined to the recovery of the child from their possession on the pointing out of Mohd. Alam.

37. On the one hand our thoughtful consideration of the testimony on record takes us to fact that indulgence of the present appellants for any demand for ransom is found to be altogether missing and on this count, the prosecution has failed, out and out, to establish the essential ingredients of such demand as required under Section 364A IPC. Therefore, the essential ingredients of Section 364A IPC are not existing against the present appellants. On the other hand, the offence alleged and proved against the present appellants squarely falls within the ambit and purview of Section 365 IPC.

38. Accordingly, we are of the firm opinion that conviction of appellants recorded by the trial court under Section 364A IPC should be altered and modified to one under Section 365 IPC only. The conviction and sentence so awarded stands modified accordingly.

39. As per the dictum contained under Section 365 IPC, the offence is punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, coupled with fine.

40. In the result, the aforesaid appeals are partly allowed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 01.08.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.1, Hathras in Sessions Trial No.331 of 2001 arising out of Case Crime No.125 of 2001, (State Vs. Mohd. Alam and others), under Section 364-A IPC, Police Station Hasayan, District Hathras, is altered/modified from Section 364A IPC to Section 365 IPC.

41. In this case, appellant Mohd. Alam is in jail since 10.06.2001 and Naseem and Mahesh are in jail since 01.08.2005, therefore, Mohd. Alam has already spent over 15 years of incarceration, whereas, the other two appellants Naseem and Mahesh have already spent about more than 11 years of incarceration. Therefore, the respective period of imprisonment already undergone by the present appellants is justified, as the sentence provided for the offence under Section 365 IPC, which they have already suffered in surplus. A fine of Rs.1000/- each is also imposed on the appellants and in case of default in payment of fine the concerned convict shall have to undergo additional imprisonment for one month.

42. In so far as payment of the amount of fine is concerned, the appellants are given one month's time to deposit the same. In case the amount of fine is deposited by the appellants, they shall be released forthwith, if they are not wanted in connection with any other case.

43. Let a copy of this order be certified to the concerned trial court for its intimation and follow up action.

Writ A / Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.- 16006 Of 2016

T.P. Singh (Senior Counsel), Siddharth Nandan

Ramesh Upadhyay (Chief Standing Counsel)

Held: Para- The Court held that so long as the order dated 30.07.2012 passed under Section 5(1)(c) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act treating the land as abadi remains in existence and has not been set aside, the respondents cannot treat the land as agricultural land and recover the amount as arrears of land revenue. Mere allegations of collusion or ante-dating of the order have not been proved. Even if excess amount was paid on account of wrong rate being offered by the respondents, the same cannot be recovered as arrears of land revenue. In case of any fraud, the only remedy available to the respondents is to file a suit for cancellation of the sale deed. At present, there is a concluded contract and a registered sale deed. The stipulation in the sale deed for recovery of excess amount applies only in case of discrepancy in area, not in rate. The recovery proceedings and the impugned order dated 07.03.2016 are wholly illegal and without authority of law.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Tarun Agarwala, J.)

1. This group of petitions involves a common question and, is accordingly, being decided together. For facility, the facts of Writ Petition No.16006 of 2016 is being taken into consideration.

2. A notification dated 7.10.2013 was issued under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act inviting applications from interested tenure holders who wanted to sell their land in pursuance of the "Green Field Project (Agra to Lucknow) Entry Control Express Way".

3. The petitioner considering the importance of the project, being in public interest, offered his land for sale on reasonable market rate.

4. Pursuant to the Government Order dated 2.9.2013 a Committee was constituted for consideration of the offers given by the tenure holders. The Committee in its meeting dated 15.12.2014 approved certain rates for the purpose of executing the sale deeds. The petitioner's land was declared as abadi in consolidation proceedings under Section 5(1)(c) of The Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), based on which the Committee offered a rate of Rs.800/- per square metre, treating the petitioner land as abadi. The rate offered was accepted by the petitioner and a sale deed dated 30.12.2014 was executed.

5. Subsequently a recovery order dated 23.11.2015 was issued for recovery of the compensation paid to the petitioner. The petitioner, being aggrieved by the said recovery order, filed Writ Petition No.66527 of 2015, which was disposed of by an order dated 14.1.2016 treating the recovery order as a notice and directed the petitioner to file an objection to the said notice, which would be decided by the authority concerned before proceeding to recover any amount. Based on the said order, the petitioner filed a detailed objection contending that the sale consideration was offered by the respondents with open eyes, which was duly accepted by the respondents and that no fraud was placed either by the petitioner or by anyone else and, therefore, the amount cannot be recovered as arrears of land revenue. The said objection was rejected by the Collector by an order dated 7.3.2016 against which the present writ petition has been filed.

6. We have heard Sri T.P.Singh, the learned senior counsel assisted by Sri Siddharth Nandan for the petitioner and Sri Ramesh Upadhyay, the learned Chief Standing Counsel for the State.

7. The learned senior counsel for the petitioner contended that village Baccela Bachheli was under the consolidation proceedings in which an order dated 30.7.2012 was passed under Section 5(1)(c) of the Act treating the land as abadi. The Committee that was constituted under the Government Order considered various aspects and evidence. A report dated 10.12.2014 was submitted by the Tehsildar and the Additional District Magistrate holding that the land is abadi. Such report was approved by the Chief Executive Officer on 20.12.2014. The respondents thereafter gave an offer, which was accepted by the petitioner, pursuant to which a sale deed was executed on 30.12.2014, which was duly registered before the Sub Registrar.

8. The learned senior counsel contended that once the rate offered was accepted and consideration was paid and a sale deed has been executed, no recovery of the consideration paid could be recovered as arrears of land revenue. It was further contended that even assuming that a fraud was played, the amount could not be recovered as arrears of land revenue.

9. On the other hand, the respondents contend that the sale-deeds were executed on the basis of the documents produced by the officers and employees of the Consolidation Department, but, when physical possession of the land was being taken, the respondents noticed the discrepancy and found that the land was not abadi but agricultural land. Accordingly, a three member inquiry committee was constituted, which found discrepancy in the nature of the land. According to the respondents the inquiry report reported that the officers and employees of the Consolidation Department were in collusion with the tenure holders and that an ante dated order dated 30.7.2012 was passed under Section 5(1)(c) of the Act after publication of the notification issued under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, thereby causing loss to the Government. It was also asserted that since excess payment has been made, the petitioner was required to return the amount along with interest. It was also contended that a charge sheet has been issued against the erring officials and inquiry proceedings are going on. It was further contended that there is a stipulation in the sale deed that in the event any excess amount has been paid to the petitioner the same could be recovered as arrears of land revenue.

10. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties at some length, we find that the contention that the order dated 30.7.2012 passed under Section 5(1)(c) of the Act is ante dated has not as yet been proved. It is only an allegation nor has the said order dated 30.7.2012 been recalled by the authority concerned. Consequently, no recovery can be made on the basis of an allegation, which is yet to be proved. At the moment the land of the petitioner is abadi in view of an order passed under the Act. So long as the order treating the land of the petitioner as abadi stands, recovery cannot be made from the petitioner's treating the said land as an agricultural land.

11. Allegation of collusion by the petitioner or by other tenure holders with the officials of the Consolidation Department is yet to be proved. At the moment, on the basis of allegations of fraud recovery cannot be made.

12. It is alleged that there is a stipulation in the sale-deed for recovery of the amount as arrears of land revenue, in the event excess amount was paid to the petitioner. A copy of the said sale deed has been annexed to the writ petition. The recital contained in the sale-deed indicates that in case there is a discrepancy in the area of the land, on the basis of which if it was found that excess amount had been paid, in that eventuality, the excess amount would be recovered as arrears of land revenue along with 12% interest. This clause in the sale-deed does not entitle the petitioner to recover any amount paid towards consideration of the land. The sole contention of the respondents is, that the rate offered by them to the petitioner was the rate for abadi land whereas rate for agriculture land should have been offered.

13. In our opinion, if a wrong rate has been offered by the respondents to the petitioner, the same cannot be recovered as arrears of land revenue, as per the recital contained therein. If a fraud has been played by the petitioners upon the respondents, the remedy available to the respondents is to file a suit for cancellation of the sale deed. At the moment, there is a concluded contract, namely, an offer made by the respondents with regard to the rate of land, which was duly accepted by the petitioner. A sale deed has been executed and the consideration has been paid to the petitioner. The amount can only be recovered after the sale deed is cancelled and not otherwise.

14. In the light of the aforesaid, the recovery notice against the petitioner is wholly illegally and without any authority of law. The recovery cannot be sustained and the impugned order is quashed.

15. The writ petition is allowed.

Writ A No.- 17824 Of 2016

Irfan Ansari

...Petitioner

Versus

State Of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Shantanu Khare, Ashok Khare

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C.

The petitioner, son of late Maqbool Ansari (Assistant Treasury Officer, Gorakhpur), applied for compassionate appointment after the death of his father on 30.12.2014. The petitioner is the son from the first wife Smt. Sarikunnisa, who was divorced from Maqbool Ansari in the year 2001 by order of the Family Court. Thereafter, Maqbool Ansari married Smt. Kahkasha Bano, who is already employed as Urdu Translator in the District Treasury, Gorakhpur. The petitioner's claim for compassionate appointment was rejected by the impugned orders dated 10.02.2016 and 16.03.2016 on the ground that the second wife Smt. Kahkasha Bano (spouse of the deceased) is already in government service, hence no appointment on compassionate ground can be given as per Rule 5 of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants (Dying-in-Harness) Rules, 1974.

The petitioner contended that he is the son of the deceased and falls within the definition of family'. It was further submitted that Smt. Kahkasha Bano is not maintaining the petitioner or his family.

The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

Held: Para-: Rule 5(1) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants (Dying-in-Harness) Rules, 1974 clearly provides that if the spouse of the deceased government servant is already employed in government service, then one member of his family who is not already employed shall be given compassionate appointment. Since the spouse (Smt. Kahkasha Bano) of the deceased was already in government service at the time of death of Maqbool Ansari, the petitioner is not entitled for compassionate appointment. Sub-rule (3) of Rule 5 has no application in the present case as Smt. Kahkasha Bano was not appointed on compassionate ground. The impugned orders do not suffer from any illegality or infirmity.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble B. Amit Sthalekar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Mata Prasad, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Sri S.K. Mishra, learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The petitioner is seeking quashing of the order dated 16.3.2016 whereby his representation seeking appointment on compassionate ground has been rejected. The other order under challenge dated 10.2.2016 also rejects the petitioner's representation dated 23.9.2015 seeking compassionate appointment.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner is the son of Maqbool Ansari and his first wife Sarikunnisa. Smt. Sarikunnisa has been divorced from Maqbool Ansari through regular divorce proceedings by order of the Family Court, Gorakhpur dated 11.5.2001 which is not disputed. Maqbool Ansari thereafter married one Kahkasha Bano, who is employed as Urdu Translator in the District Treasury, Gorakhpur. Kahkasha Bano also has a child through Maqbool Ansari. Maqbool Ansari, who was working as Assistant Treasury Officer, Gorakhpur died on 30.12.2014 while still in service. The petitioner applied for compassionate appointment on 6.1.2015 and when no order was being passed he filed Writ petition no.7921 of 2016 (Irfan Ansari Vs State of U.P. and others) which was disposed of by this Court by order dated 22.2.2016 with a direction to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner in accordance with law. Thereafter, the impugned orders have been passed rejecting the claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate grounds.

4. The reason given in the impugned order is that the petitioner's mother Smt. Sarikunnisa was divorced from Maqbool Ansari and thereafter, Maqbool Ansari married Kahkasha Bano, who is already in government service and therefore, compassionate appointment cannot be given to the petitioner as the petitioner is a part of the family of Kahkasha Bano. The respondents have made reference to the provisions of Rule 5 of the Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants (Dying-in-Harness) Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules, 1974) which provides that in case a Government Servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government Servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except that which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, in relaxation of normal recruitment rules.

5. Rule 5 reads as under:-

"5. Recruitment of a member of the family of the deceased.-(i) In case a Government Servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government Servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except the post which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, in relaxation of the normal recruitment rules if such person-

(i) fulfils the educational qualifications prescribed for the post,

(ii) is otherwise qualified for Government service, and

(iii) makes the application for employment within five years from the date of the death of the Government servant:

Provided that where the State Government is satisfied that the time limit fixed for making the application for employment causes undue hardship in any particular case, it may dispense with or relax the requirement as it may consider necessary for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner.

Provided further that for the purpose of the aforesaid proviso, the person concerned shall explain the reasons and give proper justification in writing regarding the delay caused in making the application for employment after the expiry of the time limit fixed for making the application for employment along with the necessary documents/proof in support of such delay and the Government shall, after taking into consideration all the facts leading to such delay take the appropriate decision.

(2) As far as possible, such an employment should be given in the same department in which the deceased Government servant was employed prior to his death.

(3) Every appointment made under sub-rule (1) shall be subject to the condition that the person appointed under sub-rule (1) shall maintain other members of the family of deceased Government servant, who were dependent on the deceased Government servant immediately before his death and are unable to maintain themselves.

(4) Where the person appointed under sub-rule (1) neglects or refuses to maintain a person to whom he is liable to maintain under sub-rule (3), his services may be terminated in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999, as amended from time to time."

6. The submission of the learned standing counsel for the respondents is that since Smt. Sarikunnisa was divorced from late Maqbool Ansari therefore she can no longer be said to be the spouse and thereafter Maqbool Ansari married Kahkasha Bano who is the spouse and who is in government service prior to the death of Maqbool Ansari. It is on this ground that the claim of the petitioner has been rejected that Kahkasha Bano is a spouse and is in government service, therefore, another member of the family cannot be given appointment on compassionate ground.

7. Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner then submitted that in terms of the provisions of Sub Rule (3) of Rule 5, appointment can be given under Sub Rule (1) of Rule 5 on the condition that the person so appointed shall maintain the family of the deceased government servant and under Sub Rule (4), if it is found that such a person so appointed neglects or refuses to maintain a person whom he is liable to maintain under Sub Rule 3, his services can be terminated. In para 11 of the writ petition, it is stated that Kahkasha Bano is not supporting the petitioner or his immediate family in any manner whatsoever.

8. The provisions of Sub Rule (3) of Rule 5 of the Rules, 1974, in my opinion have no application to the facts of the present case as Smt Kahkasha Bano was already in service of the State Government when late Maqbool Ansari expired and she was not given appointment on compassionate ground. Therefore, the specific condition laid down in Sub Rule (3) would have no application to her. It is not disputed that the petitioner is member of the family of late Maqbool Ansari though he in the strict sense of the word, may not be said to be the member of the family of Smt. Kahkasha Bano. Sri Siddharth Khare submits that the petitioner being a son, is nevertheless a member of the family of late Maqbool Ansari and falls within the definition of 'Family' as defined in Sub Rule (c) of Rule 2 of the Rules, 1974. The fact that the petitioner is the son of late Maqbool Ansari and therefore, a member of his family is not disputed even by the respondents but that alone would not entitle him to claim appointment on compassionate ground in view of the mandatory language of Rule 5 Sub Rule (1) of the Rules, 1974.

9. The import of Sub Rule (1) of Rule 5 is that if the spouse of deceased government servant is already in service then appointment on compassionate ground may not be given to another member of the family. Therefore, considering the matter in the light of the facts of the present case and the specific provisions of the Rules, 1974, in my opinion, there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned orders.

10. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed.

Counsel for the Applicants:

Sandeep Tripathi, Atul Pandey

Counsel for Opposite Parties:

G.A.

The applicants by means of this application under section 482 Cr.P.C. have prayed to quash the order dated 24.2.2016 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, Saharanpur, in Criminal Revision No. 357 of 2014, confirming the order dated 21.5.2014 passed by the learned Special Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 28, Saharanpur, in Complaint Case No. 1913 of 2013, Hemant Kumar Vs. Narendra Singh, whereby, on the application moved by O.P. No. 2 under Section 319 Cr.P.C., the applicants have been summoned to face trial under Sections 504 and 506 I.P.C.

Learned counsel for the applicants has contended that O.P. No. 2 filed a false Complaint Case No. 1913 of 2013, under sections 420, 323, 504, 506, 120B I.P.C. against the applicants and their sons. After examining the witnesses under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. the learned Magistrate vide its order dated 23.2.2013, summoned only their sons. However, during trial when the complainant was examined and she stated against the applicants too, they were summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C. by the learned trial court vide impugned order dated 21.5.2014 to face trial under sections 504 and 506 I.P.C. along with the other co-accused. Against the aforesaid order dated 21.5.2014, the applicants filed Criminal Revision No. 357 of 2014 before the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Saharanpur, but the lower revisional court too, without keeping in view the fact that the applicants were not summoned in the complaint even though the allegations made in the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. and in the statements recorded under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., were almost the same, mechanically dismissed the revision by the impugned order dated 24.2.2016.

However, considering the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the applicants, it is directed that in case the applicants appear before the court concerned within thirty days from today and apply for bail, the same shall be heard and disposed of expeditiously by the courts below in view of the settled law laid by the Seven Judges' decision of this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P., 2005 Cr.L.J. 755 and affirmed by Hon'ble Apex Court in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

Accordingly, this application is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. The applicants by means of this application under section 482 Cr.P.C. have prayed to quash the order dated 24.2.2016 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 11, Saharanpur, in Criminal Revision No. 357 of 2014, confirming the order dated 21.5.2014 passed by the learned Special Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 28, Saharanpur, in Complaint Case No. 1913 of 2013, Hemant Kumar Vs. Narendra Singh, whereby, on the application moved by O.P. No. 2 under Section 319 Cr.P.C., the applicants have been summoned to face trial under Sections 504 and 506 I.P.C.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. Perused the record.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants has contended that O.P. No. 2 filed a false Complaint Case No. 1913 of 2013, under sections 420, 323, 504, 506, 120B I.P.C. against the applicants and their sons. After examining the witnesses under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. the learned Magistrate vide its order dated 23.2.2013, summoned only their sons. However, during trial when the complainant was examined and she stated against the applicants too, they were summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C. by the learned trial court vide impugned order dated 21.5.2014 to face trial under sections 504 and 506 I.P.C. along with the other co-accused. Against the aforesaid order dated 21.5.2014, the applicants filed Criminal Revision No. 357 of 2014 before the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Saharanpur, but the lower revisional court too, without keeping in view the fact that the applicants were not summoned in the complaint even though the allegations made in the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. and in the statements recorded under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., were almost the same, mechanically dismissed the revision by the impugned order dated 24.2.2016.

4. On the aforesaid grounds the learned counsel has prayed to quash both the orders passed by the courts below.

5. In support of his arguments, learned counsel for the applicants has placed reliance on the case of Mohd. Shafi vs. Mohd. Rafiq and another (2007) 14 SCC 544 in which the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that before exercising its jurisdiction under Section 319 Cr.P.C., a Court must arrive at a satisfaction that there exists a possibility that the accused so summoned, in all likelihood would be convicted. Such satisfaction can be arrived at inter alia upon completion of the cross-examination of the said witness or the court concerned may also like to consider other evidence available before it.

6. Per contra learned AGA has opposed the prayer of the applicants by submitting that after the decision, rendered by Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court in Hardeep Singh's case, the aforesaid case of Mohd. Shafi is no longer a good law. This application is without any force and is liable to be dismissed. The learned A.G.A. has drawn the attention of this Court to the statements of the witnesses produced by the prosecution in this case and has contended that all the witnesses including the injured witnesses have named the applicants in their statements, therefore, the court below has not committed any mistake by summoning the applicants to face trial alongwith other co-accused persons.

7. Having heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. and keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court is of the considered view that the instant application is liable to be dismissed for the following reasons:-

8. A Five Judges bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Hardeep Singh vs. State of Punjab and others [2014 (1)JIC 539 (S C)] has set at rest the entire controversy with regard to the scope and extent of Section 319 Cr.P.C. which had arisen due to variety of views having been expressed by several High Courts and also by the Supreme Court. Noticing the conflicting views between the two judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rakesh vs. State of Haryana, 2001 (2) JIC 757 (SC) : AIR 2001 SC 2521; and Mohd. Shafi vs. Mohd. Rafiq & another, 2007 (2) JIC 490 (SC), a doubt was expressed about the correctness of Mohd. Shafi's case (supra) which led to the framing of following five questions by Constitutional Bench in Hardeep Singh case:-

1. What is the stage at which power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be exercised?
2. Whether the word "evidence" used in Section 319 (1) Cr.P.C. could only mean evidence tested by cross-examination or the Court can exercise the power under the said provision even on the basis of the statement made in the examination-in-chief of the witness concerned?
3. Whether the word "evidence" used in Section 319 (1) Cr.P.C. has been used in a comprehensive sense and includes the evidence collected during investigation or the word "evidence" is limited to the evidence recorded during trial?
4. What is the nature of the satisfaction required to invoke the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. to arraign an accused?
5. Whether the power under Section 319 (1) Cr.P.C. can be exercised only if the Court is satisfied that the accused summoned will in all likelihood convicted?
6. Does the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. extend to persons not named in the FIR or named in the FIR but not charged or who have been discharged?

9. Question No. 2 and 4 are relevant for the present case.

10. Answering the aforesaid questions, the Hon'ble Constitutional Bench of Supreme Court expressed its clear view that neither cross-examination of witness is required before summoning an additional accused under section 319 Cr.P.C., nor any categorical finding to the affect that in all likelihood the person summoned may be convicted, is necessary before exercising such power. According to Hon'ble Apex Court:-

"What is required is not to have a mini-trial at this stage by having examination and cross-examination and thereafter rendering a decision on the overt act of such person sought to be added. In fact it is this mini-trial that would affect the right of the person sought to be arraigned as an accused rather than not having any cross-examination at all, for in light of sub section (4) of Section 319 Cr.P.C., the person would be entitled to a fresh trial where he would have all the rights including the right to cross-examine prosecution witnesses. Therefore, even on the basis of Examination-in-chief, the court can proceed against a person as long as the court is satisfied that the evidence appearing against such person prima facie necessitates bringing such person to face trial. In fact, Examination-in-Chief untested by cross-examination, undoubtedly in itself, is an evidence.

In view of the above, we hold that power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be exercised at the stage of completion of examination-in-chief and Court does not need to wait till the said evidence is tested on cross-examination.....There is no scope for the Court acting under Section 319 Cr.P.C. to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused.....

Though under Section 319 (4) (b) Cr.P.C. the accused subsequently impleaded is to be treated as if he had been an accused when the Court initially took cognizance of the offence, the degree of satisfaction that will be required for summoning a person under Section 319 Cr.P.C. would be the same as for framing a charge."

11. In wake of the above cited legal position, there appears no substance in the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the applicants that the applicants have been wrongly summoned without cross-examination of witnesses and without any express view by the court below that there is likelihood of their conviction.

12. Accordingly, this application is dismissed.

13. However, considering the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the applicants, it is directed that in case the applicants appear before the court concerned within thirty days from today and apply for bail, the same shall be heard and disposed of expeditiously by the courts below in view of the settled law laid by the Seven Judges' decision of this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P., 2005 Cr.L.J. 755 and affirmed by Hon'ble Apex Court in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the proceedings of Complaint Case No.1800/2008 (Brijbhan Singh Vs. Kamleshwar Kumar Tripathi) pending in the Court of Judicial Magistrate, Khaga, Fatehpur.

The complaint was filed by opposite party no.2 alleging that the cheque issued by the applicant in his favour was dishonoured and despite service of legal notice, the amount was not paid. The trial court took cognizance under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act and Sections 418, 420 IPC. Thereafter, the parties entered into a compromise outside the court. The complainant filed an application along with affidavit stating that he does not want to prosecute the case any further due to compromise. However, the trial court did not dispose of the said application and continued the proceedings, issuing non-bailable warrant against the applicant.

The Court observed that the trial court was erroneously continuing the proceedings under Sections 418 and 420 IPC along with Section 138 NI Act. In view of the compromise between the parties, there is no possibility of any evidence coming on record to prove the offence. The dispute is purely civil in nature and does not involve any heinous offence having societal impact.

The application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed.

Held: Para- Relying upon G. Sagar Suri & another Vs. State of U.P. & others, 2000 Cri.L.J. 824 (SC), the Court held that when the parties have compromised the matter, continuation of criminal proceedings would be an abuse of the process of law. The proceedings of Complaint Case No.1800/2008 under Sections 418, 420 IPC and Section 138 NI Act are hereby quashed.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. Complaint case no. 1800/2008 (Brijbhan Singh Vs. Kamleshwar Kumar Tripathi) was filed when cheque issued by accused Kamleshwar Kumar Tripathi in favour of complainant Brijbhan Singh was dishonoured and he had not paid amount of cheque after legal notice served on him. The cognizance for summoning the accused was taken by trial court for offences under section 138 N.I. Act and sections 418 and 420 IPC. Certified copies of documents produced before this Court show that parties had compromised the matter outside the court, and thereafter complainant Brijbhan Singh had moved application and affidavit before trial court with prayer that on the basis of compromise, he does not want to prosecute the case, which may be dismissed. But said application was not disposed of by trial court, the apparent reason for which appears that accused was absent in spite of non-bailable warrant issued against him. These proceedings are challenged by applicant, the accused of original case, through present application under section 482 CrPC.

3. In 2000 Cri. L.J. 824, G. Sagar Suri & another Vs. State of U.P. & others, the Apex Court had held as under:-

"A criminal complaint under Section 138 of the negotiable Instrument Act is already pending against the appellants and other accused. They would suffer the consequences if offence under Section 138 is proved against them. In any case there is no occasion for the complainant to prosecute the appellants under Sections 406/420 I.P.C. and in his doing so it is clearly an abuse of the process of law and prosecution against the appellants for those offences is liable to be quashed, which we do."

4. Thus, it appears that trial court was erroneously prosecuting the applicant accused for offence under sections 418, 420 IPC and matter should have been prosecuted only for offence under section 138 N.I. Act. The trial for this offence under section 138 N.I. Act is carried out as summons trial, in which in absence of complainant or by not pressing the complaint by him, the prosecution should be put to an end. But trial court is carrying out proceedings for ensuring attendance of applicant-accused.

5. This matter neither involves any offence of heinous nature having any societal impact, and dispute has come to an end under amicable settlement, which is not forbidden by law, and there is no possibility of any evidence would be forthcoming to nail the applicant; therefore it appears appropriate that exercising inherent jurisdiction of this Court, such legal proceedings should be put to an end.

6. Accordingly, this application is allowed, and the proceedings of Complaint Case No. 1800/2008 (Brijbhan Singh Vs. Kamleshwar Kumar Tripathi), under Sections 418, 420 IPC and section 138 N.I. Act, P.S. Khaga, District Fatehpur pending in the Court of Judicial Magistrate, Khaga, Fatehpur, are hereby quashed.

This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed seeking a direction to the court below to consider and dispose of the bail application of the applicant on the same day in Case No.611/IX/2015 (State Vs. Santosh Kumar and others) arising out of Case Crime No.136 of 2013 under Section 3/7 Essential Commodities Act, Police Station Barsana, District Mathura, pending before the Judicial Magistrate, Chhata.

As per the FIR, on 17.10.2013 the Supply Inspector intercepted a vehicle carrying approximately 1600 litres of kerosene oil. The driver disclosed that the kerosene oil was procured from the applicant Ashraf Ali and co-accused Santosh Kumar, who are wholesale dealers. It was alleged that they were selling kerosene oil in the black market. After investigation, charge sheet was submitted against the applicant and others under Section 3/7 E.C. Act. Cognizance was taken on 20.04.2015.

The Court observed that looking to the facts and circumstances of the case and the nature of offence, no good ground is made out to interfere in the matter or to issue any direction for disposal of the bail application on the same day.

1. Heard Sri Shri Krishna Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for a direction to the Court below to consider and dispose of the bail application of the applicant on the same day in Case No. 611/IX/2015 (State Vs. Santosh Kumar and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 136 of 2013, under Section 3/7 E.C. Act, Police Station Barsana, District Mathura, pending before the Judicial Magistrate, Chhata.

3. As per F.I.R. version, on 17.10.2013 at about 5.30 P.M., the Supply Inspector, Chhata along with other officials of the office of the District Supply Officer, Mathura accompanied with the police force intercepted the vehicle bearing registration No. UP85Z 9758 at the outskirts of village Sahar on Goverdhan Chhata Road and enquired about 8 drums in which approximately 1600 litres kerosene oil were filled up and transported. The driver of the vehicle on enquiry disclosed his name as Pappu and informed that he has procured it from Santosh Kumar and Ashraf Ali of village Sahar, who were whole-sale dealers of kerosene oil, situated at Mathura. He has also informed that he has procured kerosene oil from Santosh and Ashraf Ali of the quantity of 950 litres and 900 litres from M/s Brij Oil Company, Mathura respectively. He and Santosh Kumar, the seller, on enquiry could not give satisfactory reply and eloped from the scene. So it is clear that Santosh Kumar and Ashraf Ali are involved in selling kerosene oil of the quantity of 250 litres on higher price in the black-market. The F.I.R. was lodged under Section 3/7 E.C. Act, 1955 and after investigation, charge sheet was submitted in Crime No. 136 of 2013, under Section 3/7 E.C. Act, 1955, Police Station Barsana, District Mathura against the accused persons Santosh Kumar, Ashraf Ali and driver Pappu.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant has vehemently argued that the vehicle and kerosene oil have been released under Section 6A E.C. Act, 1955 by the learned Additional District Magistrate (Law and Order), Mathura.

5. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer of the learned counsel for the applicant and has drawn the attention of the Court towards several order sheets of pending trial case mainly of the date 18.5.2016, where bailable warrants of the amount of Rs. 10,000/- have been issued against the accused persons fixing 16.7.2016 as a date of appearance. Learned A.G.A. has also pointed out that the trial has commenced.

6. The applicant is in the knowledge of the criminal case pending against him but instead of abiding by the process issued by the lower Court for his appearance, he is evading it. Albeit, cognizance has been taken on 20.4.2015 by the learned Judicial Magistrate, Chhata.

7. Looking to the facts and circumstances of the case and nature of the offence, I do not find any good ground to interfere in the matter. The application is liable to be dismissed.

8. The application is dismissed.

BEFORE

Writ C No.- 36097 Of 2016

The Court held that in view of the huge outstanding liability of Rs.23,33,16,216.01/- and the complete absence of stock/security, the objections raised by the petitioners are unsustainable both in law and in equity. The apprehension of the Bank that the stock has been surreptitiously removed appears to be well founded.

Held: Para- The writ petition is not maintainable at this stage as no action under Section 13(4) of the SARFAESI Act has been taken and the petitioners have an effective alternative remedy under Section 17 of the Act. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed. No order as to costs.

Devi Ispat Ltd. V. State Bank of India, (2014) 5 SCC 762

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.
2. The present writ petition has been filed by the petitioners praying for quashing of the initial notice dated 30.05.2016 issued under Section 13(2) of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred as 'the Act, 2002') and have also sought quashing of the order dated 31.03.2016 by means of which the petitioners' account has been classified as NPA (Non Performing Asset) and a further relief has also been sought for quashing of the order dated 25.07.2016 by means of which objections filed by the petitioners under Section 13 (3A) of the Act, 2002 has been rejected.
3. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioners, at the very outset, is that the accounts of the petitioners have been wrongly classified as NPA and that the classification has been done in violation of the guidelines of the Reserve Bank of India.
4. Further contention is that on the relevant date on which the account of the petitioners was classified as NPA as well as even on the date the F.I.R. was lodged, there was sufficient stock available as security towards the financial aid provided by the bank and thus, their account has been wrongly classified as NPA and moreover the second notice under Section 13(2) of the Act, 2002 is not maintainable.
5. Learned counsel for the respondent on the other hand submits that the present writ petition is not maintainable in view of the fact that admittedly no action till date has been initiated under Section 13(4) of the Act, 2002 and thus, in case the petitioners have any grievance with regard to the classification of the account as NPA or with regard to the quantum of liability towards the bank, petitioners have an effective and efficacious alternative remedy of filing an appeal/objection under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 as and when any measures under Section 13(4) of the Act, 2002 are initiated against the petitioners.

6. A perusal of notice under Section 13(2) of the Act, 2002 shows that the notice itself makes it crystal clear that:

"Due to non deposit of interest of FITL for the month of March 2016, non-submission of stock reports in time and not getting stocks checked despite various reminders and personal visits, bank has decided to recall the entire outstanding."

7. It further shows that as on 31.03.2016, the petitioners had a liability of Rs. 21,66,18,571.01/- with further interest till the date of actual payment.

8. In response to the said notice dated 25.04.2016 as well as notice dated 30.05.2016, the petitioners had filed a reply/objection under Section 13(3A) of the Act, 2002 dated 12.07.2016, copy of which has been annexed as Annexure-5 to the writ petition, in which a number of objections were taken with regard to the classification of the account as NPA as well as the crystallized liability/debt.

9. Learned counsel for the bank has drawn the attention of the Court to the conclusion/reply of the said representation dated 12.07.2016, given under Section 13(3A) of the Act, 2002, which was given by the bank vide letter dated 25.07.2016 in response to the objection filed by the petitioners.

10. A perusal of the said reply shows that it is a very elaborate and speaking reply and in fact the very basis of classifying the petitioners' account as NPA has been duly disclosed in the said reply.

11. A perusal of the said reply also shows that in spite of repeated opportunities being given to the petitioners for verification of stock, keeping in view the fact that the drawing power of borrower is based on the available hypothecated stock, the petitioners did not appear before the bank officials to verify the stock. The relevant extract of the said reply is being quoted herein below:

"Further merely submission of stock statement is not sufficient, it also require to be checked by the bank's officials but your client did not allow the bank officials to check the stock during last six months despite various request made verbally, during meeting with the partners and letters dated 02.02.2016, 03.02.2016, 04.02.2016, 11.02.2016, 25.02.2016, 02.03.2016, 04.03.2016, 08.03.2016 and 10.03.2016, which was violation of the terms & conditions of the sanction and indication that stock was not available. Which is further confirmed when the senior bank's officials were allowed the access in factory premises on 14.06.2016 and no stock was found there."

"Stock audit was also not got conducted despite three visits by stock auditor and our various telephonic request, personal request during meeting and out letters dated 25.02.2016, 02.03.2016, 04.03.2016, 08.03.2016 and 10.03.2016 which is also in contravention of the accepted terms & conditions of the sanction. Further, it is pertinent to mention that the stock reduced from Rs. 26.07 Crores in August 2015 to Rs. 20.67 crores in the stock statement for the month of Sep'2015 to Dec'2015 submitted on 14.01.2016 for which no justification was given despite of several reminders from out office."

12. The bank has further noted that:

"The housing loan accounts in the name of Smt. Manju Agarwal & Sri Udit Mohan Agarwal and Shri Suman Kumar & Sri Udit Mohan Agarwal availed from our Retail Asset Branch, Civil Lines, Moradabad were sanctioned on the same immovable properties which are already mortgaged with our branch to secure the exposure of M/s Aroma Chemicals Moradabad as collateral security. These loan accounts are also classified as NPA on 31.03.2016 due to non deposit of E.M.I."

13. The order also makes it clear that when even after prior intimation of checking, the bank officials were not allowed to verify the stock. The bank was under a grave apprehension that the stocks have been surreptitiously removed and in fact the bank has been cheated of its valuable security and thus the bank had also lodged an F.I.R. in this regard.

14. In the said order, it is also mentioned that there is no bar under the law for issuing a revised notice under Section 13(2) of the Act, 2002 with regard to the same account with certain addition of security and liabilities, which were left to be included in the previous notice.

15. It is also clear from the said order that the amount due against the petitioners, at the relevant time, is Rs. 23,33,16,216.01/-.

16. The position, which emerges apparently is that at present neither the stock nor the sale proceeds are available.

17. Thus, the apprehension of the bank that it has been cheated and that the valuable security has been removed by the petitioners with the intention of depriving the bank of its 'valuable security' seems to be well founded and thus, no illegality can be attributed to the bank in its initiating steps for recovery of its dues.

18. Keeping in view the insistence of the petitioners that on the relevant date when the account was classified as NPA and an F.I.R. was lodged subsequently, there was substantial stock available, by way of abundant caution, this Court raised a query as to what exactly is the status of the stocks as on date. A supplementary affidavit has been filed by the petitioner admitting that there is no stocks available as on date.

19. Thus, keeping in view the heavy liability of Rs. 23,33,16,216.01/- and the fact that as on date there is no stock available, this Court finds that the objections, if any, taken by the petitioners are unsustainable in law as well as in equity.

20. Further, it has been contended by learned counsel for the Bank that even otherwise if the petitioners have any grievance whatsoever, the petitioners have an effective and efficacious remedy of filing appeal/objection under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 and this Court should be reluctant to interfere keeping in view of the huge liability and the fact that the stock has been removed in a surreptitious manner with the sole intention of depriving the bank of its valuable security.

21. Keeping in view the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, if we examine the legal position as has been laid down by the Apex Court in a plethora of cases (though only a few are referred to herein below), the position which crystallizes is herein as under.

22. In the case of Mardia Chemicals Ltd. Etc. Etc Vs. U.O.I. & Ors. Etc. Etc; AIR 2004 SC 2371, the Apex Court has clearly held as under:

"44. Nonetheless dues or disputes regarding classification of NPAs should be considered and resolved by some internal mechanism. In our view, the above position suggests the safeguards for a borrower, before a secured asset is classified as NPA. If there is any difficulty or any objection pointed out by the borrower by means of some appropriate internal mechanism it must be expeditiously resolved.

45. In the background we have indicated above, we may consider as to what forums or remedies are available to the borrower to ventilate his grievance. The purpose of serving a notice upon the borrower under sub-section (2) of Section 13 of the Act is, that a reply may be submitted by the borrower explaining the reasons as to why measures may or may not be taken under sub-section (4) of Section 13 in case of non-compliance of notice within 60 days. The creditor must apply its mind to the objections raised in reply to such notice and an internal mechanism must be particularly evolved to consider such objections raised in the reply to the notice. There may be some meaningful consideration of the objections raised rather than to ritually reject them and proceed to take drastic measures under sub-section (4) of Section 13 of the Act. Once such a duty is envisaged on the part of the creditor it would only be conducive to the principles of fairness on the part of the banks and financial institutions in dealing with their borrowers to apprise them of the reason for not accepting the objections or points raised in reply to the notice served upon them before proceeding to take measures under sub-section (4) of Section 13. Such reasons, overruling the objections of the borrower, must also be communicated to the borrower by the secured creditor. It will only be in fulfillment of a requirement of reasonableness and fairness in the dealings of institutional financing which is so important from the point of view of the economy of the country and would serve the purpose in the growth of a healthy economy. It would certainly provide guidance to the secured debtors in general in conducting the affairs in a manner that they may not be found defaulting and being made liable for the unsavoury steps contained under sub-section (4) of Section 13. At the same time, more importantly we must make it clear unequivocally that communication of the reasons not accepting the objections taken by the secured borrower may not be taken to give an occasion to resort to such proceedings which are not permissible under the provisions of the Act. But communication of reasons not to accept the objections of the borrower, would certainly be for the purpose of his knowledge which would be a step forward towards his right to know as to why his objections have not been accepted by the secured creditor who intends to resort to harsh steps of taking over the management/business of viz. secured assets without intervention of the court. Such a person in respect of whom steps under Section 13(4) of the Act are likely to be taken cannot be denied the right to know the reason of non-acceptance and of his objections. It is true, as per the provisions under the Act, he may not be entitled to challenge the reasons communicated or the likely action of the secured creditor at that point of time unless his right to approach the Debt Recovery Tribunal as provided under Section 17 of the Act matures on any measure having been taken under sub-section (4) of Section 13 of the Act.

46. We are holding that it is necessary to communicate the reasons for not accepting the objections raised by the borrower in reply to notice under Section 13(2) of the Act more particularly for the reason that normally in the event of non-compliance with notice, the party giving notice approaches the court to seek redressal but in the present case, in view of Section 13 (1) of the Act the creditor is empowered to enforce the security himself without intervention of the Court. Therefore, it goes with logic and reason that he may be checked to communicate the reason for not accepting the objections, if raised and before he takes the measures like taking over possession of the secured assets etc.

68. The remedy of appeal available under the Act as contained in Section 17 can be availed only after measures have already been taken by the secured creditor under sub-section (4) of Section 13 of the Act.

23. Thus, it is clear that at the stage of 13(3A) no remedy is available to the borrower and it is only when measures have been initiated under Section 13(4) that remedy under Section 17 of the act lies.

24. It has also been observed in the said judgement that as far as the question of declaring the account as NPA is concerned, it should be considered and resolved by the some internal mechanism and that in case the grievance of the borrower is that his account has been wrongly classified as NPA in violation of guidelines of Reserve Bank of India, he can file objection, which the Bank can look into.

25. In the present case, the objection was filed with regard to the account being classified as NPA in pursuance of the notice under Section 13 (2) of the Act, 2002 and the said objection has been duly considered by means of an elaborate order, which has been passed while deciding the said objections.

26. The Apex Court while concluding the case of Mardia Chemicals (Supra) has categorically held as under:

"80., we find what emerges from different provisions of the Act, is as follows :-

1. Under sub-section (2) of Section 13 it is incumbent upon the secured creditor to serve 60 days notice before proceeding to take any of the measures as provided under sub-section (4) of Section 13 of the Act. After service of notice, if the borrower raises any objection or places facts for consideration of the secured creditor, such reply to the notice must be considered with due application of mind and the reasons for not accepting the objections, howsoever brief they may be, must be communicated to the borrower. In connection with this conclusion we have already held a discussion in the earlier part of the judgment. The reasons so communicated shall only be for the purposes of the information/knowledge of the borrower without giving rise to any right to approach the Debt Recovery Tribunal under Section 17 of the Act, at that stage.

2. As already discussed earlier, on measures having been taken under sub-section (4) of Section 13 and before the date of sale/auction of the property it would be open for the borrower to file an appeal (petition) under Section 17 of the Act before the Debt Recovery Tribunal.

27. Another important judgement of the Apex Court was rendered in the case of United Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tondon & Ors; 2010 (8) SCC. The relevant extract of the said judgement is quoted herein below:

"3. Sub-section (3-A) of Section 13 lays down that the borrower may make a representation in response to the notice issued under Section 13(2) and challenge the classification of his account as non-performing asset as also the quantum of amount specified in the notice. If the bank or financial institution comes to the conclusion that the representation/objection of the borrower is not acceptable, then reasons for non-acceptance are required to be communicated within one week.

4. Section 17 speaks of the remedies available to any person including borrower who may have grievance against the action taken by the secured creditor under sub-section (4) of Section 13. Such an aggrieved person can make an application to the Tribunal within 45 days from the date on which action is taken under that sub-section. By way of abundant caution, an Explanation has been added to Section 17(1) and it has been clarified that the communication of reasons to the borrower in terms of Section 13(3-A) shall not constitute a ground for filing application under Section 17(1).

Sub-section (5) of Section 17 prescribes the time-limit of sixty days within which an application made under Section 17 is required to be disposed of. The proviso to this sub-section envisages extension of time, but the outer limit for adjudication of an application is four months."

28. In the said case, the apex Court while concluding had observed as under:

"27. It is a matter of serious concern that despite repeated pronouncement of this Court, the High Courts continue to ignore the availability of statutory remedies under the DRT Act and SARFAESI Act and exercise jurisdiction under Article 226 for passing orders which have serious adverse impact on the right of banks and other financial institutions to recover their dues. We hope and trust that in future the High Courts will exercise their discretion in such matters with greater caution, care and circumspection."

29. Similar is the position as has been laid down by the Apex Court in the case of GM Sri Siddeshwara Co-op. Bank Vs. Sri Ikbal & Ors.; 2013 (10) SCC 83 and also in the case of Devi Ispat Ltd. & Anr. Vs. State Bank of India & Ors.; 2014 (5) SCC 762.

30. It may also be appreciated that apart from the aforesaid legal position, we find that in order to judge the bonafide of the petitioners, this Court had inquired from the counsel as to what exactly is the status of the stock as on date in response to which a supplementary affidavit dated 05.08.2016 has been filed, which has been taken on record. The affidavit is of Udit Mohan Agarwal and in paragraph no. 3 of the said supplementary affidavit, it has been specifically stated herein as under:

"That in reply to the said query of this Hon'ble Court, it is submitted that as on 05th August, 2016 there is no Stock available in the premises of factory of the petitioner No. 1/firm. It is pertinent to mention here that the Respondent Bank has classified the account of the petitioner No. 1/firm as NPA on 31.03.2016 on the basis of the stock statements (September 2015 - December 2015) submitted by the Petitioner No. 1/firm before the Respondent bank on 14.01.2016."

31. Thus, it is apparent that the stock, which was in the nature of valuable security of the Bank has been eroded and the same has been surreptitiously removed by the petitioners. At present neither there is any stock nor sale proceeds have been deposited with the bank and thus, apprehension of the bank that the bank has been cheated of its valuable security, which was in the form of ready stock and which has now been removed even without informing the bank is justified and thus in this view of the matter also neither in law nor in equity is the petitioners entitled to grant of any indulgence whatsoever.

32. It may also be appreciated that admittedly till date no action under Section 13(4) has been initiated by the respondent-bank and thus, the writ petition, at this stage, is totally misconceived.

33. The fact remains that as per the established law, the petitioners have a more effective and efficacious remedy available to them under Section 17 of the Act, 2002 and writ petition nowhere states as to how and in what manner, the said remedy is not effective or efficacious.

34. Thus, keeping in view the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case and law as established by a long line of cases, the petitioners are not entitled to grant of any indulgence whatsoever by this Court in exercise of its equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

35. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

36. No order as to costs.

The applicant was elected Secretary of "Life Insurance Corporation Employees Salary Earners Cooperative Society Ltd., Mathura" from 1998 to 2012. An FIR dated 01.04.2015 was lodged by the President of the Society (Yogendra Singh) alleging that during his tenure as Secretary, the applicant had embezzled an amount of Rs.40,04,500/- by making forged entries in the ledger and other records of the Society and failed to hand over the records to the subsequent Secretary. An audit report prepared by Senior Auditor Mahesh Chandra Soni supported the allegation of embezzlement. After investigation, charge-sheet No.33 of 2015 dated 19.09.2015 was submitted only against the applicant under Sections 420, 406, 504, 506, 467, 468, 471 and 408 IPC. Cognizance was taken on 22.09.2015. The applicant is in jail since 07.09.2015.

The Court observed that the nature of arguments and the intricate aspects of accounting involved in the case require thorough appreciation of evidence which can only be done during full-fledged trial. The Court refrained from giving any finding on guilt or innocence or credibility of evidence at this stage so as not to prejudice either party.

However, considering the overall facts, period of detention, assurance given by the applicant to deposit the substantial amount, and absence of material showing possibility of tampering with evidence, the Court found it a fit case for grant of bail with stringent conditions.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajul Bhargav, learned Senior Counsel for applicant assisted by Sri Deepak Kumar Pandey and Sri. B.P. Verma, learned Counsel for informant and the learned A.G.A.

2. Brief facts as they emerge from record are that there is a registered society known as "Life Insurance Corporation Employees Salary Earners Cooperative Society Ltd. Mathura", whereof all the employees of Life Insurance Corporation are members, who deposit their savings as fixed deposits. The informant Yogendra Singh, who himself is said to be the President of said society, lodged a First Information Report, dated 1.4.2015 under the instructions / order dated 04.02.2015 issued by the Assistant Commissioner / Assistant Registrar, Cooperative, Mathura with allegations that the accused applicant Ajay Kumar Sharma was elected Secretary of said society and had continued as Secretary from the year 1998 up to 2012, during which period amounts were being deposited by the members of the society as Fixed Deposits through accused applicant, for which relevant particulars of receipt of amounts so deposited and amount of cash of the society was not being entered into relevant ledger for several years and a large amount of money has been embezzled and even after issuing of notice to accused applicant, he did not handover records to the society and hence, the members of society were suffering pecuniary loss and when the demand of record was made to the accused applicant, he extended threat of dire consequences.

3. After lodging of first information report, investigation was carried out, during which an audit report was also provided to the investigating officer, which was prepared by Senior auditor Sri Mahesh Chandra Soni, wherein it was mentioned that the audit of society's record revealed difference in Work-sheet and actual dues and the accused applicant has embezzled an amount of Rs. 40,04,500/- by committing forgery in the record of the society and has thus caused loss to the society. After investigation, charge sheet no. 33 of 2015 dated 19.09.2015 has been submitted only against accused applicant, on which cognizance has been taken by the court below on 22.09.2015.

4. Submission of the counsel for applicant is that the accused applicant was nominated as secretary of the society by the general assembly of elected directors on the basis of his honesty and integrity for the period 1998-2012 and during said period, the account of the society was audited from 2006 to 2011 every year and these yearly audits were being conducted by different auditors, wherein no irregularity was ever pointed out and the work of the accused applicant as secretary was found up-to-date with full satisfaction of the auditors. Further submission is that the applicant relinquished the charge of secretary on 12.12.2012 giving it to one Neeraj Mittal and also handed over all the record pertaining to the society to him who continued as Secretary upto 18.09.2013 and till this date too, no dissatisfaction surfaced about the functioning of applicant for the period 1998 to 2012 relating to his working. It is contended that when said Neeraj Mittal relinquished the charge as secretary, the present secretary Vijaypal Singh, who is close friend of informant of present case, took over the charge as Secretary he started creating occasions to harass the accused applicant resulting into lodging of one earlier first information report dated 28.08.2014 registered as Case Crime No. 716 of 2014 under section 406, 504 and 506 of IPC, Police Station Kotwali, which ultimately resulted into submission of final report with conclusion that all allegations against applicant were incorrect. The main reason for animosity of said Vijaypal Singh with the accused applicant was that he could not be nominated as secretary of society throughout the tenure of accused applicant despite being desperately ambitious to hold the post. Submission is that the said Vijaypal Singh got the audit conducted for the year 2013-14 and surprisingly during the said audit, the concerned auditor, who was in hand and gloves with said Vijaypal Singh, re-audited previous financial years too without any prior permission of the Assistant Commissioner / Assistant Registrar, Cooperative, Mathura and by adopting such anomalous mode, an allegation of embezzlement of about 40 lacs was framed against the applicant in the audit report. Further submission is that the said auditor for the year 2013-14 was same Mr. Mahendra Kumar Soni, who himself had audited the accounts of the society in the financial year 08-09, 09-10, during which no short coming or irregularity was pointed out in the accounts of the society. Submission is that on the basis of said audit report pertaining to the year 2013-14, an enquiry was managed by the informant and said Vijaypal Singh by obtaining order from Assistant Commissioner / Assistant Registrar, Cooperative, Mathura, which was allegedly conducted within two (2) days, and it is claimed in the inquiry report that seven (7) year's record has been scrutinized. Submission is that in fact the alleged two (2) days inquiry was just an eyewash. It has also been contended that the controversy relates to the accounting of pecuniary receipts and withdrawals of the society in question and the perusal of entire material collected by the investigating officer during the course of investigation does not reveal as to when, how and in what manner the alleged embezzlement has taken place or the alleged forgery of record has been committed. Further submission is that the applicant is absolutely innocent and in fact, he is being victimized due to inimical attitude of the informant and present president and he is languishing in jail since 7.9.2015 and there is no likelihood of early conclusion of trial.

5. In the last it has been additionally submitted by the applicant's counsel that as the applicant has never had any dishonest intention to either embezzle the money or to misappropriate the same and has been dealing with the cash and property of the society with scrupulous honesty, he has his conscience clean and has full faith in judiciary and also has confidence that the prosecution shall miserably fail to prove his guilt as there is abundant material available on record on the basis of which the applicant shall succeed to prove his innocence in the trial. Submission is that the applicant is a regular employee of Life Insurance Corporation and there is no question of his fleeing away from court's verdict and he shall be always available in the court to face the trial and accept the judicial verdict. It has been stated at the bar that in order to demonstrate his honest intention the applicant with the help of his family is also prepared to deposit the substantial principal amount alleged to have been embezzled by him. It has also been submitted by the counsel that the charge sheet in the case has already been submitted and if he is released on bail there is no question for him to meddle or interfere in the investigation which is already complete. It has also been submitted that the applicant is prepared to accept any condition which may be imposed upon him for making himself available to face trial faithfully. Counsel has tried to contend that the primary object of releasing the applicant on bail is to ensure his availability in the trial and the provision of bail should not be used as punitive provision in order to punish the accused which can more appropriately be done by the trial court only after his guilt is proved beyond all reasonable doubts.

6. Learned counsel for the complainant and learned A.G.A have opposed the submissions made on behalf of the applicant and have jointly submitted that the society in question is an autonomous body and functions thereof are regulated according to bye laws. The said society was established for benefits of the employees of Life Insurance Corporation and for this purpose, the members of the society, who are employees of L I C, deposit respective amount of their hard earned money into the society and in lieu of it, receive interest along with the original amount of deposit after a fix period and in cases of urgency, the members of the society also take loans from the society itself. For all these functions, the Secretary of the Society is the sole In-charge according to bye laws of the Society. It has been submitted that the Secretary of the Society receives respective amount of money deposited by the members and issues F.D.R (Fixed Deposit Receipts) in lieu of the same to the members and makes all necessary entries in the relevant registers/Account Books/ Statement of Accounts/ Ledger Books. Submission is that being in-charge of such procedure the crux of the allegations against the applicant is that while performing function as Secretary of the Society, during the period from the year 1998 to 2012, the applicant embezzled a total amount of more than Rs.40,000,00/- by endorsing wrong figures in the ledger book and has caused financial loss to the Society and beside this embezzlement, the applicant also did not handover necessary records of the Society to the incoming Secretary at the time of leaving the post of Secretary. Submission is that the financial loss of the Society could have been revealed only in the year 2013-2014 for the reasons that prior to this period, the applicant himself was secretary of the Society and the yearly audits of the account of the society for the financial year 2006 to 2012 were conducted on the basis of records furnished by the applicant being Secretary. It has been submitted that the F.I.R of the present criminal case was lodged under the orders of Asstt. Commissioner/ Asstt. Registrar of Cooperative Society Mathura after full-fledged inquiry at his own level, wherein a team of officers had inspected the records of the society and had concluded that the erstwhile Secretary Mr. Ajai Kumar Sharma (the present applicant) could not give any satisfactory reply/ material in respect of discrepancies of the account indicating an embezzlement to the tune of Rs.40,15,500/- committed by the present applicant. Further submission is that the protest petition had been filed against final report in earlier criminal case which is still pending for disposal.

7. Learned counsel for the complainant in addition to the above noted submissions has drawn the attention of the court to various enclosures of counter affidavit filed on his behalf in order to demonstrate the manner in which the entries regarding the amounts in the various account books of members were entered from time to time and were according to him dishonestly increased or tampered with without any plausible or justifiable reason. It has also been contended by the counsel for the complainant that the society in question is suffering from a dead lock in its function due to loss so occurred and also due to the liability of interest accrued thereupon with the passage of time and in fact the real sufferers of crime in question are the members of the society and hence , considering the nature of offence and amount of loss suffered by the society, the bail application of the present applicant is liable to be rejected.

8. Perused the record of bail application as well as case diary produced by learned A.G.A. and considered the same in the light of submissions made by rival sides.

9. The nature of arguments raised and the intricate aspects of accounting involved in this case are such which would require a thorough appreciation of evidence which can be done only by a full fledged trial after giving full opportunity to prosecution to adduce all evidence which if can in order to prove the charge and also after giving full opportunity to the accused to defend himself. This court would prefer not give any findings on the point of guilt or innocence of the accused, nor any final opinion on the reliability or credibility or the acceptability of prosecution evidence that has been collected so far, lest the same may go to cause any prejudice to either side this way or that way or may go to impair the prospects of an impassionate judicial verdict of trial court. But after taking into account the entire record and also keeping in view the over all facts and circumstances of the case, the nature of evidence and the absence of any such material which may indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence by the accused, keeping in view the period of his detention which he has undergone so far and also keeping in perspective the assurance given on behalf of the accused to deposit the substantial amount involved in the case, this court is of the view that the applicant Ajay Kumar Sharma involved in case Crime No. 368 of 2015 under sections 420, 406, 504, 506, 467, 468, 471 and 408 IPC P.S. Kotwali District Mathura may be released on bail on his furnishing personal bond with two sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of court concerned on the following conditions:-

1. The applicant shall not tamper with the prosecution evidence;
2. The applicant shall not pressurize the prosecution witnesses;
3. The applicant shall personally appear on the dates fixed by the trial court.
4. The applicant shall deposit his passport, if he has any, with the trial court and shall not leave the country without prior permission of this Court;
5. `In addition to the above, the applicant shall deposit Rs.40,00,000/- (Rupees forty lacks only), which is roughly the principal amount said to have been embezzled, by way of a draft in the name of the trial court within four weeks from the date of his release. The amount so deposited shall be invested in fixed deposit scheme in a nationalized bank and shall be renewed from time to time till the termination of the trial. The deposit so made, shall be subject to the final decision of the trial and shall abide by the terms and conditions of the trial courts final verdict in this regard.
10. In case of default of compliance with condition no.5 enumerated above, the order granting bail shall stand cancelled automatically and the court concerned shall issue non bailable warrant in order to get the applicant arrested and lodge him in jail.
11. In case of breach of any other conditions the court concerned shall have the liberty to initiate process of cancellation of applicants' bail.
12. This bail application stands allowed on the aforesaid terms.

This writ petition has been filed for quashing the order dated 08.07.2016 passed by the Additional Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad in Appeal No.C2016020000470 to the extent it relates to disposal of the stay application.

The petitioner was a fair price shop licensee of Village Nyayipur, Vikas Khand Holagarh, Tehsil Soraon, District Allahabad. His agreement was cancelled by the Sub-Divisional Officer vide order dated 29.04.2016. Against the said cancellation order, the petitioner filed an appeal along with a stay application. The appellate authority by the impugned order dated 08.07.2016 admitted the appeal for hearing on merits but instead of granting or refusing stay, passed an order that in case a new shop has been allotted on the place of the cancelled shop, the said allotment shall be subject to the final outcome of the appeal.

The Court held that when a statute provides a power to be exercised in a particular manner, it has to be exercised in that manner only. The appellate authority was required either to stay the implementation of the cancellation order or to refuse the stay by giving reasons. Passing an order that any fresh allotment shall be subject to the final decision of the appeal amounts to non-disposal of the stay application and is not in consonance with Order 28(5) of the Distribution Order, 2004.

The writ petition is disposed of with the aforesaid directions.

Held: Para- The impugned order dated 08.07.2016 is set aside to the extent of disposal of the stay application. The appellate authority is directed to pass a fresh order on the stay application of the petitioner strictly in accordance with Order 28(5) of the U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 within two months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order. The Principal Secretary, Food and Civil Supply, U.P. is also directed to issue a circular directing all appellate authorities to dispose of stay applications under Order 28(5) either by granting stay or by refusing the same with reasons and not to deviate from the statutory provision.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ran Vijai Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Arvind Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents and Sri Vijay Prakash Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent no. 7.

2. Through this writ petition, prayer has been made to issue a writ of certiorari quashing the order dated 8.7.2016 passed by the Additional Commissioner Allahabad Division Allahabad in Appeal No. C2016020000470 (Sri Prakash Chandra Tripathi Vs. State of U.P. and another) to the extent of the order relating to disposal of the stay application.

3. In the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, the appellate authority, in fact, has not disposed of the stay application filed by the petitioner in the light of the prayer made in the application which precisely contains the prayer with respect to the stay/implementation of the order dated 29.4.2016 cancelling the agreement of the petitioner to run fair price shop till the disposal of the appeal.

4. The facts of this case, in brief, are that the petitioner happened to be fair price shop agent of Village Nyayipur, Vikas Khand Holagarh Tehsil Soraon, District Allahabad. His agreement to run fair price shop was cancelled by the Sub-Divisional Officer on 29.4.2016.

5. Aggrieved by the order of cancellation of his agreement, the petitioner, herein, has filed aforesaid appeal.

6. Along with the appeal, the petitioner has also filed an application for interim protection. The appellate authority has taken up the matter on 8.7.2016 and passed the impugned order, which reads as under :-

दिनांक: 08.07.2016

उभयपक्ष के विद्वान अधिवक्ता को सुना गया। अपील ग्राह्य की जाती है। एलसी पत्रावली तलब हो। अपील में गुण दोष पर सुनवाई हेतु पत्रावली 27.7.16 को प्रस्तुत हो। यदि निरस्त दुकान के स्थान पर नयी दुकान नियुक्त हुई है तो उक्त नियुक्ति इस अपील के अंतिम निर्णय के अधीन होगी।

7. Sri Mishra, who appears for the complainant, submitted that after the order of cancellation dated 29.4.2016, the shop has been allotted to one Sri Kallu Ram Patel, therefore the writ petition should be dismissed.

8. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and considered their submissions.

9. It is not in dispute that the appeal has been filed under Order 28 (3) of U.P.Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 (in short 'Distribution Order, 2004').

10. The Sub-Order 5 of Order 28 of the Distribution Order, 2004 reads as under :-

(5) Pending the disposal of an appeal the Appellate Authority may direct that the order under appeal shall not take effect until the appeal is disposed of.

11. From bare reading of the aforesaid provision, it transpires that the appellate authority has been empowered to direct that an order under appeal shall not be given effect to until the appeal is disposed of.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner vehemently contended that once the statute has conferred power upon the authority may be the appellate authority then the power has to be exercised in a manner as provided under the statute itself. Here the power conferred upon the appellate authority is to the extent to direct that an order under appeal shall not be given effect to until the appeal is disposed of but the appellate authority, instead of passing an order directing not to give effect to the order passed under appeal or to refuse grant stay order, has passed separate category of order to the effect that in case, any third party right created that shall be subject to final order passed in appeal.

13. The submissions made by the learned counsel for the petitioner carries weight as it is well settled that if the statute provides to do a thing in a particular manner, then that thing has to be done in that very manner. Reference may be had to the judgments of the Apex in Taylor Vs. Taylor, (1876) 1 Ch.D. 426; Nazir Ahmed Vs. King Emperor, AIR 1936 PC 253; Deep Chand Vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1961 SC 1527; Haresh Dayaram Thakur Vs. State of Maharashtra & Ors., (2000) 6 SCC 179; Dhanajaya Reddy Vs. State of Karnataka etc. etc., (2001) 4 SCC 9; Commissioner of Income Tax, Mumbai Vs. Anjum M.H. Ghaswala & Ors., (2002) 1 SCC 633 as well as this Court in Atar Singh Vs. State of U.P. 14. Here as has been noticed, herein above, under Order 28 (5) of the Distribution Order, 2004 the power has been conferred upon the appellate authority to consider the stay application to the extent either to restrain the implementation of order impugned in appeal or to refuse to grant interim protection. The provisions contained under Order (5) is purposive keeping in mind the other provisions which is to commence after the execution of agreement. Under the various government orders (need not to be referred), it has been mandated that an order of attachment of shop after cancellation of the agreement will not be allowed to continue beyond the period of two months, therefore the natural consequence of cancellation of an agreement would be the allotment of the shop to someone else pending appeal/any other judicial proceeding as a Full Bench of this Court in the case of Smt. Urmila Devi vs. State of U.P., 2015 (2) ADJ 368 (FB) has overruled the earlier decision on the point that pending appeal, no third party right can be created, in other words, an order restraining the State authorities not to create any third party right cannot be passed, therefore also the order passed by the appellate authority is meaningless order and it amounts non-disposal of the stay application filed by the petitioner.

15. In view of foregoing discussions, the appellate authority is directed to pass fresh order on the stay application of the petitioner in consonance with the provisions contained under Order 28 (5) of the Distribution order, 2004.

16. The Principal Secretary Food and Civil Supply, Uttar Pradesh is directed to issue a circular in this regard requiring the authorities that whenever any stay application is filed under Sub-Order 5 of Order 28 of the Distribution Order, 2004 in that eventuality the appellate authority shall dispose of the stay application in consonance with the provisions contained under Order 28 (5) of the Distribution Order, 2004 and not to deviate from that. The appellate authority in a given circumstance shall either to stay the operation/implementation of the order under appeal or to refuse the same by giving reasons for the same.

17. In the present case, required exercise is to be done within two months from the date of receipt of certified copy of the order of this Court.

18. With the aforesaid observation/direction, this writ petition is disposed of.

This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner seeking a writ of prohibition, The dispute in the writ petition pertains to plot no. 30 area 0.287 hectares situated in Village Sorani, District Jaunpur. The petitioner is recorded over this plot, having purchased the same by means of a registered sale deed dated 20.01.1997, executed by one Dhannu.

On 12.04.2016, a complaint was made by the second respondent, alleging therein, that the sale deed in favour of the petitioner, had been executed by one Dhannu, who belonged to the scheduled caste, without obtaining the prior permission of the Collector contemplated in Section 157A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. The notice has been issued to the petitioner on this miscellaneous application.

The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the village is under consolidation operations. The question of any violation of Section 157A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act can only be determined by the consolidation courts. The A.D.M. Sadar, Jaunpur, the first respondent, has no jurisdiction to go into the question especially when the unit is under consolidation operations. Hence this writ of prohibition.

These are purely factual aspects and do not require or entail any declaration, in view of Section 166 of the Act. In case, the petitioner is not able to establish that the sale deed in her favour had been executed after obtaining permission contemplated by Section 157-A of the Act, the sale transaction would be deemed to be void in view of Section 166 of the Act and the consequences of such a deemed void transfer, as enumerated in Section 167, shall necessarily follow, without requiring any declaration. For the same reason, the petitioner cannot derive any benefit from the judgment in the case of Khageshwar (supra) nor of the interim order dated 24.08.2015 in writ petition no. 43570 of 2015. This writ petition was entertained on the ground that a mutation case under Section 34 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act cannot be proceeded with during the currency of consolidation operations. Besides, this order has no application in the facts and circumstances of the case for the reasons given above.

The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

1. Heard Shri S.C. Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner seeking a writ of prohibition, prohibiting the opposite party no. 1 from proceeding any further with a miscellaneous application dated 12.04.2016 filed by the second respondent.

3. The dispute in the writ petition pertains to plot no. 30 area 0.287 hectares situated in Village Sonari, District Jaunpur. The petitioner is recorded over this plot, having purchased the same by means of a registered sale deed dated 20.01.1997, executed by one Dhannu.

4. On 12.04.2016, a complaint was made by the second respondent, alleging therein, that the sale deed in favour of the petitioner, had been executed by one Dhannu, who belonged to the scheduled caste, without obtaining the prior permission of the Collector contemplated in Section 157A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act. The notice has been issued to the petitioner on this miscellaneous application.

5. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the village is under consolidation operations. The question of any violation of Section 157A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act can only be determined by the consolidation courts. The A.D.M. Sadar, Jaunpur, the first respondent, has no jurisdiction to go into the question especially when the unit is under consolidation operations. Hence this writ of prohibition.

6. Learned counsel for the respondent has placed reliance upon the following three judgments in support of his contention.

7. Maqsooda Khatun Vs. State, 1994 RD 7. In this case it has been held by the Board of Revenue that the question of violation of Section 157A of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act involves adjudication of rights and correction of papers and, therefore, only the consolidation courts will have jurisdiction during the currency of consolidation operations and that such proceedings shall abate under Section 5 (2) of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act.

8. Reliance has also been placed upon Badal Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation 1970 RD 240, which is a full Bench decision. It has been held therein that in case limitation to file a suit under Section 209 of the Zamindari Abolition Act is present on the date, notification under Section 4 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act is issued, relief can be granted by the consolidation courts.

9. Reliance has also been placed upon the case of Khageshwar Vs. Hoshram AIR 1966 Allahabad 191, wherein it has been held that where an order is without jurisdiction, a writ of prohibition must be issued.

10. I have considered the submissions made and have perused the record as also the judgments cited.

11. In so far as the judgment of the Board of Revenue is concerned, it no doubt holds that proceedings under Section 157-A and Section 167 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act shall abate on the start of consolidation operations but, it is not clear from this judgment, as to the point in time, when this issue arose. This is relevant because Section 166 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act provides, that every transfer made in contravention of the provision of this Act, shall be void. This section 166 was substituted by U.P. Act No. 20 of 1982 with effect from 03.06.1981. Section 167 was also newly substituted by the same amending Act.

12. The aforesaid sections were entirely different prior to the amendment aforesaid. The connotations of these two sections have changed completely post this amendment. Till such time it is established that the order of the Board of Revenue pertained to the amended sections, the petitioner cannot, as a matter of right, claim any benefit of the said judgment.

13. Prior to this amendment in 1982, the old Section 167 read as follows:-

"167. Where a sirdar or asami has made any transfer in contravention of the provision of this Act, the transferee and every other person, who may have thus obtained possession of the whole or part of the holding shall be liable ejectment on the suit of the Gaon Sabha or the tenure holder, as the case may be."

This section was replaced by a new section 167 by the amending Act of 1982 and the substituted section reads as follows.

"Section 167. (1) The following consequences shall ensure in respect of every transfer which is void by virtue of Section 166, namely-

(a) the subject-matter of transfer shall with effect from the date of transfer, be deemed to have vested in the State Government free from all encumbrances;

(b) the trees, crops and wells existing on the land on the date of transfer shall, with effect from the said date, be deemed to have vested in the State Government free from all encumbrances; and

(c) the transferee may remove other moveable property or the materials of any immovable property existing on such land on the date of transfer within such time as may be prescribed.

(2) Where any land or other property has vested in the State Government under sub-section (1), it shall be lawful for the Collector to take over possession over such land or other property and to direct that any person occupying such land or property be evicted therefrom. For the purposes of taking over such possession or evicting such unauthorised occupants, the Collector may use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary."

14. The following extract from the Prefactory Note No. 1 - Extract from Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill which became Act no. 20 of 1983, with effect from 03.06.1981, reads as follows:-

"Under the existing provisions the transfer made in contravention of the provision of the said Act are declared void after following the given procedure. It has been considered necessary to provide that such proceedings shall be deemed to be void and no declaration shall be necessary therefor."

15. A conjoint reading of the pre-factory note above and Section 166 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, makes it clear that once Section 157-A of the Act, is violated, a transfer shall be deemed to be void and no declaration in this regard is necessary. It, therefore, necessarily follows that no adjudication of any right title or interest is involved when it is required to be considered as to whether Section 157-A of the Act has been violated. It is also clear that the authorities can, even without affording opportunity of hearing to the parties, hold in case there is material to support the same, that Section 157-A of the Act has been violated and thereafter it is open for the Collector to enter into possession over the property which is subject matter of a sale executed in violation of Section 157-A. He is also entitled to use such force as is necessary for the said purpose.

16. Section 166 therefore creates a legal fiction whereunder any transfer made, also in violation of Section 157-A of the Act, is void. The only question, therefore, to be examined is as to whether or not there has been any violation of a provision of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act and the same does not entail any adjudication or declaration regarding rights and title of the parties, in view of the legal fiction created by Section 166.

17. I therefore do not agree with the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that a declaration of title is inherent in the proceedings initiated by the notice dated 12.04.2016, issued by the first respondent to the petitioner.

18. For the same reason, it cannot be held that the first respondent has no jurisdiction to issue the notice and that the issue involved can be decided only by the consolidation courts during currency of consolidation operations. Hence, no writ of prohibition can be issued.

19. In pursuance of the notice issued to the petitioner, the only point to be examined is whether or not the vendor of the petitioner belonged to the scheduled caste and whether or not he had obtained prior permission contemplated by Section 157-A, to execute the sale deed in favour of the petitioner.

20. These are purely factual aspects and do not require or entail any declaration, in view of Section 166 of the Act. In case, the petitioner is not able to establish that the sale deed in her favour had been executed after obtaining permission contemplated by Section 157-A of the Act, the sale transaction would be deemed to be void in view of Section 166 of the Act and the consequences of such a deemed void transfer, as enumerated in Section 167, shall necessarily follow, without requiring any declaration.

21. For the same reason, the petitioner cannot derive any benefit from the judgment in the case of Khageshwar (supra) nor of the interim order dated 24.08.2015 in writ petition no. 43570 of 2015. This writ petition was entertained on the ground that a mutation case under Section 34 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act cannot be proceeded with during the currency of consolidation operations. Besides, this order has no application in the facts and circumstances of the case for the reasons given above.

22. In view of the above discussion, no ground for issuing a writ of prohibition exists.

23. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

Introduction and Status of the Appeal

This criminal appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated December 22, 1981, passed by the XII Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur, convicting the accused under Sections 148 and 307 read with 149 of the Indian Penal Code (I.P.C.).

The appeal was originally filed by three convicts, but two of them (Babu Singh and Narain Singh) died during its pendency, causing the appeal to abate against them in 2012 and 2016 respectively.

Vijay Singh is the sole surviving appellant. The trial court sentenced him to three years of rigorous imprisonment under Section 307/149 I.P.C. and eighteen months of rigorous imprisonment under Section 148 I.P.C., to run concurrently.

The Prosecution Narrative

The First Information Report (FIR) was registered by Deshraj Kapoor (PW2), stating that on February 17, 1974, accused Babu Singh threatened his servant, Ramdas, over a dispute regarding cutting grass from a field boundary (medh).

On October 19, 1974, eyewitnesses informed PW2 that Ramdas had been mercilessly beaten near a canal culvert; PW2 rushed to the spot, found Ramdas severely injured, and moved him to the hospital.

The victim, Ramdas, stated that he was surrounded by Babu Singh (armed with a gun), Narain Singh and Vijay Singh (both armed with spears), two other unnamed sons of Babu Singh, and 6 to 7 unidentified persons who assaulted him on Babu Singh's exhortation.

Medical Evidence and Trial Proceedings

The medical examination conducted by Dr. R.K. Mehrotra (PW1) revealed six major injuries on Ramdas, including three deep stab wounds with clean-cut margins on his chest, alongside lacerations and contused abrasions.

The Investigating Officer (I.O.) completed the investigation and submitted a charge sheet; the Sessions Court subsequently framed charges under Sections 148 and 307/149 I.P.C., to which the appellant pleaded not guilty.

The prosecution examined six witnesses: the doctor (PW1), the informant (PW2), the injured victim (PW3), and three police personnel (PW4 to PW6).

In his defense statement, the appellant claimed innocence, arguing that the land boundaries were adjacent and that PW2 falsely implicated his family under police pressure to grab their land.

The trial court found the prosecution's evidence reliable and convicted the accused.

Grounds of Appeal by the Appellant

The defense argued that conviction relied solely on interested witnesses (PW2 and PW3) while independent locality witnesses and crucial eyewitnesses named in the FIR were withheld.

The defense contended that the alleged motive was weak and dated eight months prior to the incident, and that PW2's statement was mere hearsay since he was not present during the assault.

The defense pointed out contradictions in the victim's statements regarding his state of consciousness and questioned the crime scene because the I.O. failed to collect blood-stained earth or produce stained clothes.

The defense raised doubts regarding the doctor's failure to register the case in the Medico-Legal Register and portrayed the victim as a notorious character with multiple enemies.

The Hon'ble High Court's Evaluation of Evidence

The High Court limited its examination to the role of the surviving appellant, Vijay Singh, noting that medical records confirmed stab wounds consistent with an assault involving a sharp weapon like a spear.

The court observed that the injured victim (PW3) explicitly placed the appellant at the scene armed with a spear, and that his testimony remained consistent and credible despite grueling cross-examination.

Invoking settled Supreme Court jurisprudence, the court reiterated that the evidence of an injured victim occupies a higher pedestal of credibility, as an injured person is unlikely to shield real culprits to falsely frame an innocent party.

The court dismissed systemic lapses by the I.O. (failure to collect blood-stained earth or clothes), ruling that investigative negligence cannot defeat a credible prosecution case.

Application of Vicarious Liability (Section 149 I.P.C.)

Addressing the defense plea that the victim could not identify exactly who stabbed his back, the court highlighted that the appellant was charged under Section 307 read with Section 149 I.P.C.

Section 149 establishes vicarious liability, making every member of an unlawful assembly accountable for acts committed in furtherance of their common object.

Because the prosecution established the appellant's armed presence at the scene, specific mapping of individual strikes was unnecessary, particularly since victims cannot realistically memorize specific blows during a multi-person assault.

Conclusion and Modification of Sentence

The High Court upheld the conviction of Vijay Singh under Sections 148 and 307/149 I.P.C., finding no illegality in the trial court's determination of guilt.

However, noting that the incident occurred in 1974 (over 42 years prior), the appeal remained pending since 1982, and the appellant had aged beyond 60 years without any subsequent criminal record, the court deemed a return to prison overly harsh.

The appeal was partly allowed: the conviction was confirmed, but the sentences were reduced to the period of imprisonment already undergone by the appellant. The bail bonds were cancelled and sureties discharged.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. This appeal is preferred against the judgment and order dated 22.12.1981 passed by the XII Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur, in S.T. No. 43/M of 1978, State Vs. Babu Singh and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 717 of 1974, under sections 148, 147, 307 read with 149 I.P.C. P.S. Juhi, District Kanpur Nagar.

2. At the very outset it may be mentioned that this appeal had been filed by three convicts/appellants. Out of the three, two appellants namely Babu Singh and Narain Singh died during pendency of the appeal and the appeal against the appellant Babu Singh was abated vide order dated 3.9.2012 of this court and it abated against appellant Narain Singh vide order dated 21.4.2016 of this court. Now the only surviving appellant is Vijay Singh, who has been convicted and sentenced for rigorous imprisonments for a term of three years under section 307 read with Section 149 I.P.C. and rigorous imprisonment for eighteen months under section 148 I.P.C. Both the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

3. Heard learned counsel for the surviving appellant Vijay Singh and learned AGA for the State. Perused the record.

4. The prosecution story in brief is that an FIR was lodged by one Deshraj Kapoor (PW2) against five persons to the effect that on 17.2.1974 the accused Babu Singh was cutting grass from the medh of his (complainant's) field. When his servant Ramdas prohibited him from doing so, a fight ensued between them and accused Babu Singh left the field threatening the informant's servant to see him in future. On 19.10.1974 at 9.00 A.M. his servant Ramdas had left for his farm along with his cows as per his daily routine, when the witnesses Tekchand and Murli came running to his house and informed that six or seven persons had injured Ramdas by assaulting him mercilessly and his condition is serious. The informant immediately rushed to the spot and saw Ramdas lying on the ground facing downward in a badly injured condition. The informant took him to the hospital and got him admitted there. When enquired, Ramdas told him that when he was about to reach the culvert of canal, suddenly Babu Singh armed with gun, Narain Singh and Vijay Singh (appellant), both sons of Babu Singh, armed with spears and two other sons of Babu Singh, whose names he did not know, one of whom was armed with spear and the other was armed with lathi along 6 or 7 more persons, reached there and surrounded him from all sides. Babu Singh exhorted with the words "इस रामदास को जान से खत्म कर दो जाने न पाये" and thereafter all of them attacked on him from all sides causing grievous injuries to him. Ramdas was medically examined and the doctor found the following injuries on his body:

1. Stab wound measurement 1¼" x 1/3" X depth under observation, on the back of right chest.

2. Two stab wounds with clean cut margins on the back of left chest ranging 1¼" x 1/3" X depth under observation and 1½" x 1/3" X depth under observation.

3. Lacerated wound 1/2" x 1/10" x scalp deep 3½" above the left ear root.

4. Contused abrasion in an area 6½" x 3/4" on the right side scapular region extending up to right shoulder.

5. Contused abrasion in an area of 2" x 1¼" on the left upper part of scapular region.

6. Contused abrasion in an area of 1½" x 3/4" on the left shoulder region.

5. The I.O. recorded the statements of witnesses including the injured and the doctor, inspected the spot, prepared the site plan and after concluding the investigation, submitted charge sheet against all the three appellants. The case being exclusively triable by the court of Sessions, it was committed to the Sessions Court where the charges under sections 148 and 307 read with 149 I.P.C. were framed against the appellant from which he denied and claimed trial.

6. The prosecution in order to prove its case produced six witnesses in all, out of which two are witnesses of fact and the remaining are of formal nature. The first informant Deshraj Kapoor has been produced as PW2, the injured Ramdas is PW3 and the doctor, who has examined the injured Ramdas has been examined as PW1. PW4 to PW6 are police personnel. After conclusion of prosecution evidence the statement of the appellant was recorded in which he stated that his fields are adjacent to the fields of Deshraj Kapoor. Deshraj Kapoor intended to grab their fields, hence he lodged a false FIR against them. The appellant has also stated that Deshraj Kapoor beign an influential person, the police has filed charge-sheet under his pressure.

7. The learned trial court after considering the evidence, found the prosecution story reliable and trustworthy and convicted the appellant as aforesaid.

8. The legality and correctness of the impugned judgment has been questioned and assailed by the learned counsel for the appellant mainly on the following grounds:

1. The appellants have been convicted on the sole testimony of two highly interested witnesses PW2 and PW3 and there is no independent witness of the locality.

2. The FIR, which is the foundation stone of any criminal case, is based in this case on the information given to the first informant by four eyewitnesses but none of them was examined by the prosecution. Though, out of these four eyewitnesses, one Tekchand had died, but the remaining three eyewitnesses namely Murli, Ram Chandra and Maiku Lal were available. However, they were not examined. Hence on the ground that the prosecution has withheld the material witnesses, adverse inference should have been drawn by the learned trial court against the prosecution but the court below without considering this aspect, wrongly relied upon the prosecution story.

2. The learned trial court has not considered that there was no motive with the appellants to commit the crime. The motive shown by the prosecution is very weak. Moreover, the alleged occurrence shown as motive behind the occurrence had taken place eight months ago, which cannot be said to be the motive of such heinous assault.

3. The statement of Deshraj Kapoor, PW2, is only a hearsay statement as admittedly he was not present on the spot.

4. The statement of the injured Ramdas also suffers from material contradictions. Ramdas, in his very first statement given to police has disclosed that he became unconscious immediately after the assault and then he regained his consciousness in the hospital but in the witness box, he improved his earlier statement in wake of the statement of PW2 Deshraj, who has stated that Ramdas had told him about the occurrence while being taken to the hospital.

5. The place of occurrence is doubtful as the I.O. has not collected any blood stained earth from the place of occurrence.

6. The statement of Dr. R. K. Mehrotra (PW1) also raises serious doubts in the prosecution story since he could not explain as to why the injuries were entered in the Accident Register and not in the Medico Legal Register or in Private Medico Legal cases. The doctor could not explain as to why in the injury report prepared by him (Ext Ka1) he did not mention the nature of certain injuries about which he has deposed in the court as of grave nature.

7. Blood stained clothes were not produced in the court.

8. It was a case where truth and falsehood appeared to be inextricably mixed, as such the prosecution case must have been discarded by the trial court.

9. The learned trial court has ignored to consider an important fact that the complainant Deshraj Kapoor was a very influential person of the locality and the police officers were on visiting term with him. Deshraj Kapoor was interested in grabbing the land of others. He also had a greedy eye on the land of the appellants and therefore, he has falsely entangled the appellant in the present case.

10. Learned trial court has also ignored to consider an important fact which is apparent on the face of record that the victim Ramdas was a man of notorious character and had several enemies in the locality and he was admittedly warned by his employer not to indulge in marpeet with others.

9. The submission of learned counsel for the appellant is that the trial court, without considering the aforesaid facts has convicted the appellants by the impugned judgment, hence the impugned judgment be set aside and the appeal be allowed.

10. Per contra learned AGA has contended that learned trial court has rightly relied on the evidence produced by the prosecution in this case; there was no reason to disbelieve the testimony of the injured witness; the injuries mentioned in the injury report fully corroborated the statement of the injured witness PW3, whose testimony alone is sufficient to convict the appellants. On the aforesaid grounds learned AGA has submitted that the appeal being devoid of merit, be dismissed.

11. Considered the rival submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the original record.

12. As out of the three appellants, two have expired and the appeal has abated against those two appellants, the appreciation of evidence in this appeal is to be kept limited only to the role of the sole surviving appellant, Vijay Singh.

13. According the FIR Babu Singh along with his four sons, (two named and two unnamed in the FIR) and 6 or 7 persons, made attack on the injured Ramdas with deadly weapons. The present appellant is said to be armed with spear at the time of the occurrence. The injury report shows that the doctor has found three stab wounds with clean cut margins, one on the back of right chest and two on the back of his left chest apart from some other lacerated wounds and abraded contusions.

14. According to the statement of the injured (PW3) he had seen the appellant at the time of incident, who was armed with a spear. Although he has stated that he could not see who inflicted injury from spear on his back, but he has categorically stated that Vijay (appellant) had spear in his hand. The injured (PW3) has also disclosed about the motive behind the occurrence by stating that as he was serving for Deshraj Kapoor (PW2) since last 25 years and had resisted the encroachment by the appellants family on the fields of his master, they assaulted him. He has corroborated the FIR version by stating that when he fell down after sustaining spear injury in semi conscious state, his master PW2 Deshraj Kapoor took him to the hospital. PW3 has faced grueling cross-examination by the defence counsel but he is throughout cogent and consistent during his testimony. There appears no reason as to why such a badly injured person would falsely implicate an innocent, exonerating the real culprit? The injury report shows that the injured has sustained three stab wounds on his back, which are not possible unless some sharp edged weapon like spear is inflicted on the back of a person with force. The doctor has stated that those stab wounds must be deep because stitches on those wounds were found in layers. Thus the statement of PW3 as a whole inspire confidence.

15. The Apex Court in the case of Kunjumon Vs. State of Kerela, (2012) 13 SCC 750 has held that "Evidence of a victim of a crime must be placed on a somewhat higher pedestal in terms of credibility attached to it, than evidence of any other witness."

16. In Mohd. Ishaque Vs. State of W.B., (2013) 14 SCC 581 the Apex Court observed that "It is unlikely that an injured witness would spare the real culprit and implicate an innocent person whether witnesses are interested persons and whether they had deposed out of some motive cannot be sole criterion for judging credibility of a witness. Main criteria would be whether their physical presence at the place of occurrence was possible and probable."

17. In Mano Dutt Vs. State of U.P., (2012) 4 SCC 79 the Apex Court has held as under:

"Ordinarily an injured witness would enjoy greater credibility because he is the sufferer himself and thus there will be no occasion for such a person to state an incorrect version of the occurrence or to involve anybody falsely and in bargain protect real culprit.

Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness"

18. The place of occurrence and the manner of occurrence as stated by PW3 finds full corroboration with the site plan. Only due to the reason that the I.O. failed to collect blood stained earth from spot and failed to produce the blood stained clothes in the court, the whole prosecution case cannot be discarded in view of the well settled legal position that the laches and lacunae on the part of the I.O. will not give any benefit to the accused.

19. Now the question is whether the appellant, who was armed with spear, was the author of any of the injuries sustained by the injured on his back as admittedly the injured could no see the assailants causing injury on his back.

20. The learned counsel for the appellant has vehemently contended that when several accused persons were present on the spot, it cannot be said as to who was the author of the stab injuries. He has contended that as per FIR version one more person was also armed with spear at the time of occurrence. Learned counsel has pointed out towards the statement of PW2, Deshraj Kapoor, who has stated that Vijay Singh, Narain Singh and one more person had spear with them. It has also been submitted that the injured himself had not seen as to who had inflicted spear (Ballam) on his back. On the aforesaid grounds learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that in the absence of any cogent and reliable evidence, it cannot be said that the appellant was the person, who was the author of the stab wounds, inflicted on the back of chest of the injured.

21. I do not find any substance in any of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant in view of the fact that the appellant has been charged under section 307 I.P.C. read with section 149 I.P.C. and section 149 I.P.C. provides for vicarious liability of a person for the acts committed by other persons in prosecution of common object of unlawful assembly. Section 149 I.P.C. is reproduced here as under:-

"149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.--If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence."

22. The prosecution in this case has successfully proved the presence of the appellant on the spot with several other accused persons. This fact has also been found proved that the appellant was armed with a spear at the time of occurrence. Three stab injuries have been found on the back of chest of injured. Hence it does not made any difference as to who had caused those injuries. Moreover, it cannot be expected from such a badly injured witness like PW3 in this case, to exactly notice, who was causing injury on his back.

23. In State of Rajasthan Vs. Major Singh, AIR 199 SC 1073 the Apex Court has held as under:-

"It would be practically impossible for any injured witness to exactly notice and memorise, which accused was assaulting by the blunt side of the weapon and which was causing injuries by a sharp edged weapon. Even if such a statement is made, it may amount to an exaggeration because when a number of assailants are there, injuries are not inflicted in a manner, which could exactly be noted by the witness, specially when the witness herself was receiving injuries."

24. In view of the aforesaid discussions, there does not appear any good ground to interfere in the impugned judgment, in so far as conviction of the appellant under section 148 I.P.C. and Section 307 read with section 149 I.P.C. is concerned.

25. However, so far as the sentence awarded by the trial court to the appellant is concerned, considering the fact that this appeal is pending in this court since the year 1982, the occurrence is said to have taken place in the year 1974, thus more than 42 years have elapsed since the date of occurrence, two appellants have already expired during the pendency of this appeal and the present appellant has also become an old person of more than 60 years of age, against whom there is no allegation to have ever repeated any such incident during this period, it would be harsh to send him back to jail for three years as awarded by the learned trial court.

26. The incident in the instant appeal has taken place on 17.2.1974. The appellant has already spent prime years of his life in facing trial and thereafter in prosecuting this appeal continuously for such a long period.

27. Considering all these facts and taking a lenient view in the matter due to the reasons mentioned in the preceding paragraphs, it appears that the ends of justice would be met if the sentence of three years R.I. as awarded by the trial court for conviction of appellant under section 307 read with 149 I.P.C. and eighteen months' R.I. for his conviction under section 148 I.P.C. be reduced for the period already undergone.

28. Accordingly, this appeal is partly allowed by confirming the conviction of the appellant under section 148 and section 307/149 I.P.C. but reducing the sentence to the period already under gone by the appellant. The appellant is on bail. His bail bonds are cancelled and his sureties are discharged.

29. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned.

Counsels for the Appellants:

Shri S.C. Dwivedi, Shri Apul Mishra, Shri J.S. Sengar, Shri Yagvalkya Pandey

Counsel for the Respondent:

A.G.A.

Held –

Para 1: This criminal appeal challenges the conviction and sentence dated January 22, 1983, passed by the IV Additional Session Judge, Allahabad, against Shiv Lal and others under Section 302/34 IPC.

Para 2: The appeal was admitted by the High Court, and the appellants' bail prayer was granted on January 24, 1983.

Para 3: Advocate Rahul Mishra represented the appellants, while AGA Mahendra Singh Yadav represented the State of Uttar Pradesh.

Para 4: The trial court convicted and sentenced appellants Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal to life imprisonment, while co-accused Shankar Dayal was acquitted.

Para 5: Both counsels informed the Court that they had no information regarding any Government appeal challenging the acquittal of Shankar Dayal.

Para 6: The FIR was lodged on February 16, 1981, by Smt. Dasiya, stating that on the evening of February 15, 1981, the appellants took her son Annu to watch a dance show. He never returned, and his dead body was found the next day in a field. Sub-Inspector Jata Shanker Pandey took over the investigation and prepared the inquest report on February 17, 1981.

Para 7: Dr. S.K. Sinha conducted the post-mortem on February 18, 1981, finding four lacerated skull wounds caused by a blunt object and abrasions. The stomach and small intestine were empty; the time since death was estimated to be over 48 hours.

Para 8: Co-accused Shankar Dayal was arrested on March 18, 1981, and identified by one witness, though the informant failed to identify him. The police submitted a charge-sheet on July 5, 1981, and the accused pleaded not guilty before the Sessions Court.

Para 9: The prosecution examined six witnesses (including the informant, family members, the investigating officer, and the doctor) and two court witnesses (including a Deputy Collector).

Para 10: The Court notes that this is a case of circumstantial evidence; no motive was initially mentioned in the FIR, but a motive was later introduced through a brother's statement.

Para 11: The appellants' counsel argued that the conviction relies solely on weak "last seen" evidence. Since the deceased's stomach was empty, death likely occurred 8–10 hours after his meal (around 3–4 A.M.), and there is no evidence establishing the appellants' presence with him at that time. He argued the FIR was antedated and relied on Supreme Court precedent.

Para 12: The appellants' counsel further argued that the FIR was manufactured under police direction after the body was found. He pointed out that the inquest report lacked essential details, a weak motive regarding a woman was introduced as an afterthought, and the witnesses were non-independent family members whose stories contained material contradictions.

Para 13: The learned AGA opposed the appeal, arguing that three witnesses consistently established the "last seen" theory, the accused failed to provide a specific denial in their Section 313 Cr.P.C. statements, and minor discrepancies should not invalidate the conviction.

Para 14: The Court observed that apart from the initial departure, no one saw the deceased alive with the appellants. Furthermore, the informant's testimony reveals that the police reached the spot before any FIR existed, and the report was written entirely under the Sub-Inspector's direction.

Para 15: Material contradictions exist between the police and the family regarding the timing of events. While the informant stated the police arrived in the afternoon, the IO claimed he arrived at 10 P.M. Additionally, evidence suggests appellant Sukh Lal was himself abducted and injured around the time of the incident, which complicates the timeline.

Para 16: The Court highlighted that motive is crucial in circumstantial evidence cases, yet it was absent in the FIR and only weakly introduced later as an improvement by the deceased's brother.

Para 17: The testimonies contained major improvements; weapons (farsa and lathi) were introduced by later witnesses but omitted in the FIR. Furthermore, the empty stomach findings medically contradict the family's narrative of the timeline, and no independent witness saw the group at or returning from the dance show.

Para 18: Witness Sukhdeo, who claimed to have heard the deceased, had failing eyesight and could only identify him by voice in the dark. The Court observed that all witnesses to the "last seen" circumstance were interested family members, lacking any independent corroboration.

Para 19: The Court reaffirmed that the FIR lacks credibility because it was drafted on the spot under the instructions of the Sub-Inspector after he had already arrived, indicating that consultation took place before formal registration.

Para 20: The Court analyzed the cited Inderjit Singh case, noting that the Supreme Court established that a chain of circumstantial evidence must be fully complete and independent to prove guilt beyond reasonable doubt. Jointly leaving a house in a friendly manner is insufficient for conviction.

Para 21: The Court concluded that the prosecution's case relies on a weak motive introduced via subsequent improvements and an uncorroborated "last seen" theory from interested witnesses. Finding the evidence unsafe and insufficient to sustain a conviction, the Court set aside the 1983 trial court judgment.

Para 22: The criminal appeal is allowed. The appellants are acquitted, their bail bonds and sureties are discharged, and instructions are issued to communicate the order to the lower court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Tripathi, J.)

1. The instant criminal appeal has been preferred against the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 22.1.1983 passed by IV Additional Session Judge, Allahabad in Session Trial No. 75 of 1982, State Vs. Shiv Lal and Two others, arising out of Case Crime No. 24 of 1981, under Section 302/34 IPC, P.S. Paschim Sarira, District Allahabad (now Kaushambi).

2. The appeal was admitted. Prayer for bail was allowed vide order dated 24.1.1983.

3. Mr. Rahul Mishra, learned Advocate appeared on behalf of the appellants. Mr. Mahendra Singh Yadav, learned AGA appeared on behalf of the State of U.P.

4. By the impugned judgment, appellants Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal were convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life, however, co-accused Shankar Dayal was acquitted.

5. Learned counsel for the appellants and learned AGA informed that they have no instruction or information regarding Government Appeal against the acquittal of Shankar Dayal.

6. Brief facts of the case is that the F.I.R. was lodged by Smt. Dasiya, wife of Suraj, mother of the deceased Annu. According to F.I.R. version, which was written by one Shiv Charan S/o Shiv Nath, village Baruwa. Informant Smt. Dasiya W/o Suraj ('Pasi' by caste) was resident of Laugawan. Her son Annu was also living along with her. In the evening of 15.2.1981 at the time of sunset, Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal, who were 'Kori' by caste, both of the same village, along with two other persons resident of village Tikri, who were relative of Shiv Lal, came at her door, asked her son Annu to accompany them for watching dance in a dance show. Annu said that firstly, he would take his meal and then he would accompany them. After taking meal, he went along with those persons though informant (her mother) asked Annu not to go but he did not stop and went along with them. The accused persons told her not to worry and her son would return after sometime. Annu did not come back for the whole night. Informant started making enquiry and searching him but he was not traceable. On 16.2.1982 at about 4 P.M., she was informed by one Pandey and some other persons of the same village that a dead body was lying in the field of Garg, near Kumhiyawan Kothi. Informant Smt. Dasiya went to the said field, saw the dead body of her son Annu. It was further mentioned in the F.I.R. that Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal and two other persons of village Tikri, took her son and killed him. Along with her second son Piyare, she went to the police station for lodging of the F.I.R.(Ex. Ka-1), which was written by Shiv Charan and the same was lodged and registered on 16.2.1981 at 17.30 hrs (5.30 P.M.). The distance of the police station from the place of incident was about ten kilometers towards south. F.I.R. was registered as Case Crime No. 24/81, under Section 302 IPC against Shiv Lal, Sukh Lal and two other unknown persons. G.D.entry was made at Report No. 21. The investigation was handed over to S.I. Jata Shanker Pandey P.W.-5, who recorded the statement of Smt. Dasiya and Piyare at the police station. Then he proceeded to the place of occurrence. Panchayatnama could not be prepared on the same day due to darkness. Thereafter, in the morning on 17.2.1981 panchayatnama (inquest report) was prepared. Blood stained and plain mud and pieces of bones, were collected from the place of incident. The dead body was sent for post mortem examination through Constable Aik Ram Tiwari and Girja Shankar. The I.O. recorded the statement of Bachchi Lal, prepared the site plan (Ex. Ka-8). The statement of other persons were also recorded on the same day.

7. The post mortem on the dead body of deceased Annu was conducted by Dr. S.K.Sinha (P.W.-6) on 18.2.1981 at 2 P.M. and he found the following anti-mortem injuries:-

i. Lacerated wound just above the right ear extending from right cheek to the area just behind the right ear 4 ½" long, 2" in width and 3" deep. Brain material was protruding out.

ii. Lacerated wound present ½" above injury no. 1, 1 ½" x 1" x 3" brain deep. Edges were lacerated.

iii. Lacerated wound 1" behind injury no. 2, 3" x 1" x 3", 2 ½" behind right ear.

iv. Lacerated wound in the back of scalp 1" x 1" x 1".

v. Abrasion all over the body.

On internal examination, the brain material was protruding out through injuries no. 1, 2 and 3. Stomach and small intestine were found empty. Cause of death was due to grievous injuries. The time since death was noted more than 48 hours. As per information, injuries had been caused by some blunt object.

8. Co-accused Shankar Dayal was arrested and lodged in jail on 18.3.1981. He was put to identification in jail on 22.4.1981 along with another person Ajmer. Shankar Dayal was identified by Jiya Lal only, Smt. Dasiya could not identify either Shankar Dayal or Ajmer. After completing the formalities, concluding the investigation, I.O. submitted the charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-11) on 5.7.1981. The case was committed to the court of Sessions on 24.2.1982 by the C.J.M. Allahabad. Thereafter, the charges were framed. The accused-appellants and co-accused denied the charges and pleaded to be tried.

9. The prosecution to prove its case examined as many as six witnesses. P.W.-1 Smt. Dasiya, informant and mother of the deceased Annu. P.W.-2 Bachchi Lal, brother of the deceased. P.W.-3 Sukhdeo of the same village, subsequently, who stated that in relation Annu was his grandson. P.W.-4 Ram Sagar. P.W.-5 Jata Shanker Pandey, S.I. who submitted the charge-sheet. P.W.-6 Dr. S.K.Sinha who conducted the post mortem examination. Two court witnesses were examined. C.W.-1 Jiya Lal, brother of the deceased and C.W.-2 S.N. Ojha, Deputy Collector Etah before whom the identification parade was conducted.

10. It is a case of circumstantial evidence. No motive was mentioned in the F.I.R. and in the statement of informant P.W.-1. Subsequently, motive was introduced in the statement of P.W.-2.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that on the basis of same evidence in identification parade, co-accused Shankar Lal was identified by one of the witness Jiya Lal C.W.-1, but he was acquitted and appellants Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal were convicted who are real brothers. There is no direct evidence, hence, motive was also important. According to witnesses, deceased Annu went along with the appellants and co-accused for watching dance program but he did not return and next day, his dead body was recovered. According to medical report and opinion of Doctor since stomach and small intestine were found empty, the death might have taken place after about 8-10 hours from the time when he took meal. The deceased went at the time of sunset in the month of February. Specific evidence is that after taking meals, he went along with the appellants, hence, if he had taken meals at about 6 P.M. then the murder might have taken place after 3-4 A.M. Whether during this period, he was along with the appellants or not there is no evidence, merely there is presumption that he was present with the appellants till his death. Considering the proximity of time of death merely on the basis of last seen evidence, conviction of the appellants is not justified. He further contended that even considering the statement of witnesses, contradictions and improvement, the prosecution story appears to be doubtful. The F.I.R. appears to be anti-time, written and lodged after recovery of the dead body with consultation. There is no independent witness of last seen evidence, merely the family members or those who are closed and related, alleged to have seen the deceased Annu in the company of appellants at different places. At the door of the house of Annu, near grove of Gram Pradhan, near the grove of Durjania. He relied the judgment of the Apex Court reported in 1991 Cri. L.J. 2191 Inderjit Singh and Another Vs. State of Punjab. He further submitted that in that case also, there was no direct evidence and only on the basis of sole circumstance of last seen evidence, Hon'ble Apex Court found that the evidence was not sufficient to convict.

12. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the sanctity of the F.I.R. is doubtful, which is anti-time and written on direction of the police, hence, real story was suppressed. F.I.R. is not a first information because in view of the circumstances and statement of witness, it appears that after first information, police reached on the spot, thereafter, another report was got written on direction of the police on behalf of Smt. Dasiya, mother of the deceased who was examined as P.W.-1. Even in the prosecution papers, in panchayatnama, no detail has been mentioned regarding the case crime number, time when inquest report started and concluded only date 16.2.1981 and time 10 A.M. was mentioned. According to P.W.-2 Bachchi Lal, brother of the deceased, there was no enmity of Shiv Lal with him and with Annu. His mother advanced a sum of Rs. 2,500/- to Chhangu, brother of Shiv Lal and had there been enmity why the money has been advanced. Subsequently on suggestion and question, it was stated that Annu was seen talking with wife of Jiya Lal (brother of Shiv Lal). But subsequently there was no dispute. They started visiting house of each other. He also stated in the cross-examination that due to darkness, he could not identify the other two persons when they met near the grove land. He contended that in view of the circumstances, the prosecution story is not reliable, the conviction merely on the basis of the alleged last seen evidence of the deceased in the company of the appellants and co-accused Shankar Dayal, is against the evidence on record and the same is liable to be set aside.

13. Learned AGA vehemently opposed the arguments of learned counsel for the appellants and submitted that all the three witnesses supported the story of last seen. P.W.-1 clearly stated that the deceased Annu, her son went in the company of the appellants and two other persons. Subsequently, name of Shankar Dayal was disclosed though giving the benefit of doubt, trial court acquitted him. In statement u/s 313 Cr.P.C., regarding the last seen evidence, there is no specific denial and there is no specific defence case why they were falsely implicated. After deceased was seen in the company of appellants and co-accused, he was not seen alive rather next day, his dead body was recovered and from the statement, it is clear that enmity was also with the deceased, hence, there was reason to commit his murder. Hence, merely on the basis of minor discrepancies and contradictions, prosecution story has not to be disbelieved. The trial court rightly found that the prosecution has proved the case beyond doubt and rightly convicted and sentenced the appellants. Hence, the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

14. Considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties. It is a case of circumstantial evidence. Apart from last seen evidence, there is no evidence to the effect that the deceased was seen alive in the company of appellants either watching the dance show or returning from there. According to P.W.-1, appellants Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal came at her house. They asked Annu to accompany them to watch dance show and after taking meal, he went along with them though she raised objection not to go but she has not stated that there was any enmity or suspicion so she asked him not to go along with appellants and others. According to the F.I.R., the statement of P.W.-1 and the prosecution case, he went along with the accused-appellants in the evening of 15.2.1981. Next day, the dead body was recovered. She could not identify the other two accused who were not named on the day when the dead body was recovered. Sub Inspector came in the noon and he got the dead body identified by her and she informed Sub Inspector that the body was of her son Annu, her husband was not present in the village. Sub Inspector asked her who will get the report lodged, then she said that she would get it lodged. Thereafter, Sub Inspector called Shiv Charan and at the place where the dead body was lying, he got the report written by Shiv Charan and get her thumb impression on the written report. After she put her thumb impression, she did not met the Sub Inspector (I.O.). From these circumstances, it appears that when Sub Inspector (I.O.) reached at the place where the dead body was lying there was no F.I.R. and on direction of the Sub Inspector, F.I.R. was written by Shiv Charan. She further stated in cross-examination that till the report was written, her other sons Jiya Lal and Bachchi Lal were not aware how the murder of Annu took place and who killed him. When her son Annu was missing, there was search of accused

Sukh Lal also in the village but he was not available. The question was put to her that when her son was missing after three days, Sukh Lal was found in injured condition. She replied that when Sukh Lal assaulted her son, her son might have assaulted him. In cross-examination, the I.O. (P.W.-5) stated that Sukh Lal was arrested on 19.2.1981 at 7.30 A.M. in injured condition, however, no medical aid was provided. He was sent to jail.

15. A report was lodged at the police station regarding missing and abduction of Sukh Lal and attack upon him. The matter was investigated by him. The incident of abduction might be of the evening of 16.1.1981 so when there was a suggestion and question in the cross-examination from side of the defence, the I.O. admitted that there was a report regarding abduction of Sukh Lal whom injuries were caused and when he was apprehended on 19.2.1981, he was found injured. Further, according to P.W.-1, he reached in the noon of 16.2.1981 at the place where the dead body of Annu was lying but according to I.O., at the place of incident, he reached at 10 P.M. on 16.2.1981. The dead body was not taken to police station. He did not visit the place of incident during day time because he has no information which is contradictory to the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. According to P.W.-2 from where the dead body was lying, it was lifted by the public and brought at the road by 'Ikka'. He also went along with dead body to the police station and reached at about 5 P.M. The dead body was sent to Allahabad at 7-8 P.M. When the dead body was recovered, next day, Sub Inspector came to the village and at the place where the dead body was lying, panchayatnama was prepared and signature of witnesses were obtained. If the statement of witness is correct then panchayatnama was prepared and signed by the witness in absence of the dead body as it has already been sent. According to witness, it was sent to police station but according to I.O., it was directly sent from the place of incident where the dead body was lying on 17.2.1981 at 10 A.M., though according to the Doctor, dead body was received at 10 A.M. on 17.2.1981 and papers were received on 18.2.1981 in the hospital.

16. It is clear that no motive was mentioned in the F.I.R. and the statement of P.W.-1 and subsequently, after there was suggestion a weak motive was mentioned in the statement of P.W.-2 Bachchi Lal, brother of the deceased. Though the motive is also important in the cases of circumstantial evidence.

17. Further according to statement of Bachchi Lal, P.W.-2, in cross-examination, when he saw his brother going to watch dance show, next day, at about two and half O' clock, when Sub Inspector came at that time, he along with his mother and brother were present near the dead body, the dead body was recovered from sugarcane field but at that time sugarcane from that area was harvested and crops of sugarcane was not found standing as per site plan. According to him after recovery of the dead body, he informed his mother that his brother Annu was seen in the company of the appellants in the grove land. But this fact was not mentioned in the F.I.R. According to P.W.-2, first time in the statement of P.W.-3, it was mentioned that when he saw Annu along with the accused-appellants and other co-accused, Shiv Lal was having farsa in his hand and other persons were having lathi but these facts are also missing in the F.I.R. It was an improvement, subsequently, arms were also introduced. This fact has also not been stated in the statement of C.W.-1 Jiya Lal, another brother of deceased Annu when he was summoned. According to him, he was playing near the house of Sukh Lal, when he saw the two accused persons Shiv Lal and Sukh Lal and two others who were not known to him along with Annu. Annu was talking with them. Thereafter, Annu purchased 'Bidi' from the shop of one Vijmat Ali, went to the house of Shiv Lal, gave it for smoking to Shiv Lal, Sukh Lal and two other persons. Thereafter, Annu went to the house. Again he came after taking meals and went to the house of Shiv Lal. Thereafter, they decided to go to watch the dance show. He heard their conversation. They went towards east at some distance, he followed them, however, since Shiv Lal scolded and asked to return and as such he returned. He identified in jail Shankar Dayal and also pointed out in the court towards him. He also stated that on the date of incident, 'Dal', 'Roti' and 'Chawal' were prepared in the evening, and Annu took meals and went along with the appellants. But according to medical report, stomach of the deceased Annu as well as small intestine were found empty. Hence, incident took place after about 8-10 hours and till then Annu was alive but any independent person has not been examined to prove that deceased was seen in the company of accused-appellants either in the way while they were going to watch dance show or when they were watching the dance show or while they were returning from there.

18. From perusal of the statement of P.W.-1 as well as C.W.-1 Jiya Lal, brother of the deceased Annu, there is no whisper that the accused-appellants were armed with farsa & lathi. As far as P.W.-3, Sukhdeo is concerned, he is also resident of the same village. Subsequently, he informed that in relation Annu was his grandson. He identified Annu only on the basis of his voice because his eye-sight was very weak. He was returning from Kumhiyawan Bazaar though on that date there was no Bazaar but why he went, has not been mentioned in the statement. However, when he proceeded from Kumhiyawan Bazaar, the lights were enlightened and the distance from Kumhiyawan and the grove where he met Annu and accused-appellants and co-accused was at a distance of about half mile. He was returning on foot, hence, when he reached, it was dark and that is why he could not recognise Annu by face who was well known to him then how he could recognise accused-appellants when he give statement that he saw Annu in the company of accused-appellants. Further, he did not mention the date, however, in the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the date was mentioned. P.W.-4 Ram Sagar is the witness who saw dead body and informed P.W.-1, mother of the deceased Annu. Hence, in view of the fact, it is clear that there are no independent witnesses who saw the deceased Annu in the company of accused-appellants.

19. It has not been mentioned in the F.I.R. or in the statement of P.W.-1 and C.W.-1 that accused-appellants were having farsa and lathi. The F.I.R. was written after Sub Inspector came at the place of incident where the dead body was lying and on his direction, F.I.R. was written by Shiv Charan and thumb impression was put by Smt. Dasiya, wife of Suraj Pasi, mother of the deceased Annu. This also shows that before F.I.R. was lodged, information had already been given to the Sub Inspector/I.O., P.W.-5 and after he reached on the spot, thereafter, the F.I.R. was written. The argument of learned counsel for the appellants was also that the F.I.R. was anti-time, subsequently, after consultation and on direction of the Sub Inspector, F.I.R. was written, lodged, registered at the police station Paschim Sarira at 5.30 P.M. on 16.2.1981. No missing report was lodged before that.

20. In case of Inderjit Singh and Another (supra) relied by learned counsel for the appellants, the appellants had taken away the deceased from his house and thereafter, he was never seen alive. The dead body of the deceased was found on the bank of canal which was identified as that of the deceased. There was denial of the appellants that they had ever taken the deceased and further the suggestion in that case was that the appellants had falsely been implicated in the case. The observation of the Apex Court was that considering the circumstances, those circumstances were not sufficient to establish guilt of the accused. It was observed by the Hon'ble Apex Court that in a case pending on circumstantial evidence, the prosecution must establish all the circumstances by independent evidence and the circumstances so established must form a complete chain in proof of guilt of the accused beyond all reasonable doubts. The circumstances so proved must also be consistent only with the guilt of the accused. It was held that the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution were hardly sufficient to establish the guilt of the accused. The circumstance, i.e., the absence of enmity between the accused and the deceased and the witness would also show that the accused also had no enmity against the deceased. There was recovery of the gun also in that case in which the High Court has acquitted of that charge and the only circumstances were pointed out that the accused-appellants and the deceased left the house together in a friendly manner for bird shooting. It was held that no conviction could be caused on that shown circumstances. Conviction and sentence awarded by the court below were set aside.

21. In view of the aforesaid discussion, there was no motive and subsequently by improvement in the prosecution case motive was suggested which was very weak except the last seen evidence supported by only family members with some contradiction, there is no evidence to show the involvement of the appellants in murder of Annu, deceased. The conviction merely on the basis of last seen evidence which is not supported by any reliable and independent evidence to prove the guilt, is not safe, justified, and is not sufficient to establish the guilt of the accused-appellants. Hence, the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 22.1.1983 passed in Session Trial No. 75 of 1982 State Vs. Shiv Lal and Two others, arising out of Case Crime No. 24 of 1981, under Section 302/34 IPC, P.S. Paschim Sarira, District Allahabad, is hereby set aside.

22. Accordingly, the present appeal is hereby allowed. The appellants are on bail. Sureties stand discharged. Let this order be communicated to the court concerned.

Introduction & Scope of Appeal: This Special Appeal challenges a Single Judge's judgment dated July 5, 2016. The underlying dispute arose from a February 12, 2009 order by the Ministry of Labour (Government of India), which had refused to refer an industrial dispute—concerning the allegedly illegal termination of workers represented by the respondent Union—to adjudication.

The Government's Refusal Order: The Ministry of Labour had declined the reference on the grounds that the management held a Certificate of Registration under the Contract Labour (Regulation & Abolition) Act, 1970, and that the Union had failed to establish a direct employer-employee relationship, rendering the dispute unmaintainable.

Arguments of the Appellant: Counsel for the appellant argued that the Union's original complaint admitted the workers were contracted via an intermediary, proving no direct employment existed. They further contended that the 1970 Act operates as a complete code that ousts the jurisdiction of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, meaning these contract laborers did not qualify as "workmen." Thus, they argued the Ministry was fully justified in applying its mind and refusing a meritless reference.

Arguments of the Respondents: Counsel for the respondents countered that the Ministry exceeded its administrative jurisdiction by actively adjudicating the complex question of an employer-employee relationship rather than merely forming a prima facie (at first sight) opinion on whether an industrial dispute simply existed or was apprehended.

Court's Analysis & Precedents: The High Court observed that while the government has the administrative power to form an opinion on whether a dispute exists, it cannot step into the shoes of a tribunal and decide the merits of the case. Citing settled Supreme Court precedents, the Court noted that deciding whether a worker is an employee or a contract laborer is a matter for judicial adjudication, not administrative dismissal.

Final Decision: The High Court held that the Ministry's abrupt conclusion—that a registration certificate under the 1970 Act automatically erased an employer-employee relationship—constituted an impermissible adjudication on merits. Finding no error in the Single Judge's directive for the government to reconsider the matter afresh, the High Court rejected the Special Appeal.

2. This Special Appeal questions the correctness of the judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 5.7.2016 arising out of the order passed on 12.2.2009 by the Government of India, Ministry of Labour, whereby it has refused to refer a dispute as raised by the first respondent. In order to understand the controversy, the order passed by the Government of India is extracted hereunder:-

Subject: I.D. between the management of NABARD/NBSC/BIRD and President, National Bank for Agriculture & Rural Development Sansthan Karmachari Sabha, Lucknow over the issue in illegal termination of services by the management - reg.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to the Failure of Conciliation Report No.K 7(9)/2008-E.1 dated 18.8.2008 from the RLC (Kanpur (U.P.)) received in this Ministry on 28/08/2008 on the above mentioned subject and to say that, prima facie, this Ministry does not consider this dispute fit for adjudication for the following reasons:

"The management has taken certificate of Registration under sub-section 2 of the Contract Labour (Regulation & Abolition) Act, 1970 and the Contract Labour (R&A) Central Rules, 1971. The Union failed to provide employer-employee relationship between the management and the workman. Hence, the dispute raised is not maintainable."

3. The aforesaid order had been passed on the complaint dated 6.4.2005, copy whereof is at page - 126 of the paper book. The relevant paragraph of the said complaint is extracted hereunder:-

"उक्त प्रतिष्ठान पर ठेका श्रम (उत्सादन एवं विनियमन) अधिनियम 1970 लागू होता है । सेवायोजकों द्वारा नियमित प्रकृति के कार्य को ठेकेदार के माध्यम से नियोजित कर्मचारियों से कराया जा रहा है, परन्तु उन्हें निर्धारित वेतन तथा अन्य सुविधाएं जो सीधे सेवा से नियोजित कर्मचारी है, उनके समतुल्य नहीं दे रहे हैं, बल्कि जो वेतन दिया जा रहा है वह बहुत कम दिया जाता है । यही तक कि केन्द्र और प्रदेश सरकार द्वारा निर्धारित असंगठित क्षेत्र के श्रमिकों को देय वेतन और मंहगाई भत्ता भी नहीं दिया जाता है। इनका पीओएफ0 नहीं काटा जाता, मेडिकल नहीं दिया जाता है । त्योहारी, वार्षिक और आकस्मिक किसी प्रकार की छुट्टी नहीं दी जाती है ।"

4. Learned Counsel for the appellant has vehemently urged that the nature of the complaint itself clearly amounts to an admission of the fact that the workers were contract labourers of the Contractor and there was admittedly no employer-employee relationship so as to construe an industrial dispute and therefore the conclusion drawn by the authority was correct. This aspect of the matter has been overlooked by the learned Single Judge and therefore, the order is vitiated.

5. The next argument of the learned Counsel for the appellant is that the Contract Labour (Regulation & Abolition) Act, 1970 is itself a complete Code where any such relief can be claimed and therefore, the jurisdiction of the Industrial Court under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is clearly ousted.

6. The third contention is that in view of the definition of the word 'workman' contained in the 1947 Act and compared to that of the 1970 Act, it is clear that the contract labourers represented by the first respondent were not workmen as per the said definition. It is therefore submitted that in view of all these submissions, the conclusion drawn by the Central Government is correct for which reliance is placed on the same judgments that have been referred to by the learned Single Judge in the impugned judgment dated 5.7.2016.

7. Sri Nigam has relied on the observations in Para 10 of the learned Single Judge in the case of Ram Shiromani Yadav vs. Conciliation Officer and others [2012 (4) ADJ 347] as well as the apex Court decisions referred to therein particularly the case of Bombay Union of Journalists v. The State of Bombay and others [AIR 1964 SC 1617]. It has further been added that in view of the decision in the case of Steel Authority of India Limited and others etc. v. National Union Water Front Workers and others etc. etc. [2002 UPLBEC (2) 228 paragraph 121], it is clear that the members of the respondent No.1/Union were neither workmen nor there was any employer-employee relationship and therefore this issue having been prima facie looked into by the competent authority, it was absolutely justified in refusing to make a reference. The contention therefore is that the authority is not a mere post office for making a reference and having the power to prima facie apply its mind has rightly passed the order which has been not viewed by the learned Single Judge in correct perspective.

8. Learned counsel for the respondents submits that what the authority has done is an adjudication of the very issue of the existence of employer-employee relationship so as to deny the reference. In such a situation, it cannot be said that the order that was impugned before the learned Single Judge was an order not without jurisdiction. To the contrary, the authority has acted in excess of jurisdiction by adjudicating the issue of employer-employee relationship and the argument of the learned counsel for the appellants that there was an admission in this regard is absolutely incorrect. It is urged that the issue with regard to the claim which existed and was also apprehended ought to have been sent for adjudication.

9. Having considered the submissions raised, what we find is that the learned Single Judge appears to have rightly relied on the judgment in the case of Ram Shiromani Yadav v. Conciliation Officer and others [2012 (4) ADJ 347], inasmuch as the said judgment in turn relied on the judgment in the case of Telco Convoy Drivers Mazdoor Sangh and another v. State of Bihar and others [(1989) 3 SCC 271]. Paragraph - 13 of the judgment in Ram Shiromani's case (supra) is extracted hereunder:-

"13. Again in Telco Convey Drivers Mazdoor Sangh and another v. State of Bihar and others, (1989) 3 SCC 271, the Apex Court observed that while considering the question of making a reference under Section 10 (1) the Government is entitled to form an opinion as to whether as industrial dispute "exists or is apprehended" but it is not entitled to adjudicate the dispute itself on merit. The formation of opinion as to whether industrial dispute exists or apprehended is not the same thing as to adjudicate the dispute itself on its merits. It was further observed that when Government refusal to make reference is to be found unjustified, Court can direct the Government to make a reference to appropriate tribunal. The pertinent observation made by the Apex Court in this regard contained in paras 11, 15 and 16 of the decision are extracted as under:

11. It is true that in considering the question of making a reference under Section 10 (1), the Government is entitled to form an opinion as to whether an industrial dispute "exists or is apprehended", as urged by Mr. Shanti Bhusan. The formation of opinion as to whether an industrial dispute "exists or is apprehended" is not the same thing as to adjudicate the dispute itself on its merits. In the instant case, as already stated, the dispute is as to whether the convoy drivers are employees or workmen of TELCO, that is to say, whether there is relationship of employer and employees between TELCO and the convoy drivers. In considering the question whether a refer, should be made or not, the Deputy Labour Commissioner and/or the Government have held that the convoy drivers are not workmen and, accordingly, no reference can be made. Thus, the dispute has been decided by the Government which is undoubtedly, not permissible.

15. We are, therefore, of the view that the State Government, which is the appropriate Government, was not justified in adjudicating the dispute, namely, whether the convoy drivers are workmen or employees of TELCO or not and, accordingly, the impugned orders of the Deputy Labour Commissioner acting on behalf of the Government and that of the Government itself cannot be sustained.

*16.In several instances this Court had to direct the Government to make a reference under Section 10 (1) when the Government had declined to make such a reference and this Court was of the view that such a reference should have been made. See Sankari Cement Alai Thozhilalar Munnetra Sangam v. Government of Tamil Nadu, (1983) 1 SCC 304; 1983 SCC (L&S) 139; (1983) a Lab LJ 460; Ram Avtar Sharma v. State of Haryana, (1985) 3 SCC 189; 1985 SCC (L&S) 623; (1985) 3 SCR 686; M.P. Irrigation Karamchhari Sangh v. State of M.P., (1985) 2 SCC 103; 1985 SCC (L&S) 409; (1985) 2 SCR 1019; Nirmal Singh v. State of Punjab, 1984 Supp SCC 407; 1985 SCC (L&S) 38; (1984) 2 Lab LJ 396."*

10. Not only this, the said judgment further goes on to reiterate the position of law as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dhanbad Colliery Karamchhari Sangh v. Union of India and others [1991 Supp (2) SCC 10]. The concluding part of the judgment clearly spells out the ratio of the aforesaid decisions that where the authority itself has decided the dispute in relation to this legal question of existence of employer-employee relationship based on merits, then this would amount to deciding the dispute and not merely refusing to refer the reference on a prima facie opinion. The aforesaid conclusion, in our opinion, is founded on the correct position of law, inasmuch as here the complaint as extracted here-in-above had raised a dispute which can be said to be existing or apprehended.

11.The authority that passed the order, did not look into these aspects of the matter but simply concluded that since the contractor is registered under the 1970 Act therefore there is no employer-employee relationship. This snap decision and abrupt conclusion therefore was not founded on any prima facie consideration as required under the judgments referred to here-in-above. The learned Single Judge was therefore right in calling upon the authority to proceed to re-consider the entire matter afresh under the impugned judgment dated 5.7.2016. We therefore do not find any merit in the appeal.

12. Rejected with the aforesaid observations.

Paragraph 1: Nature of the Challenge

This special appeal was filed by Shashi Prabha Dwivedi (the petitioner-appellant) challenging a Single Judge order dated April 29, 2016. The Single Judge had denied her the academic "session benefit," which would have allowed her to continue teaching until the end of the newly modified academic session on March 31, 2016.

Paragraph 2–3: Factual Matrix and Statutory Framework

The appellant, born on May 1, 1951, served as an Assistant Teacher in a primary school regulated by the U.P. Basic Education Teacher Service Rules, 1981. Under Rule 29 of these statutory rules, teachers normally retire on the last day of the month they turn 62. However, a specific proviso explicitly dictates that if a teacher's retirement falls within an academic session, defined in the text as "July 1 to June 30," their employment is automatically extended via a legal fiction until June 30 to prevent mid-session classroom disruption.

Paragraph 4–5: Impact of the National Award and the Policy Shift

Because the appellant received the prestigious President's National Award, she was granted a special two-year service extension, moving her superannuation age to 64. She reached this age on April 30, 2015. In the meantime, the State Government issued an executive order shifting the academic calendar for 2015–16 to run from April 1, 2015, to March 31, 2016. The appellant argued that since her retirement fell inside this fresh April–March calendar, she should stay until March 31, 2016, making her involuntary retirement on June 30, 2015, illegal.

Paragraph 6: The Single Judge's Rejection

The learned Single Judge dismissed her writ petition, holding that because the appellant had already enjoyed a distinct two-year extension of service courtesy of her President's National Award, she could not simultaneously claim an overlapping end-of-session rollover benefit up to March 31, 2016.

Paragraph 7–8: Reliance on a Conflicting Division Bench Precedent

To overturn the Single Judge's ruling, the appellant relied on a previous Division Bench judgment, State of U.P. v. Ramesh Chandra Tiwari (2015). In that case, the Bench ruled that if the State exercises its power to shift the academic session, the "session benefit" principle in Rule 29 automatically applies to the new dates. That Bench declared that any executive orders halting session extensions on March 31 must be overridden by the mandatory statutory fiction of Rule 29, requiring the State to update its text as a mere formality.

Paragraph 9–10: Divergence on Subordinate Legislation and Statutory Text

The current Division Bench strongly disagreed with the Ramesh Chandra Tiwari ruling. It emphasized two foundational legal principles: first, a subordinate statutory rule cannot be altered, amended, or overridden by mere executive orders; second, when the language of a statute is clear and plain, courts must apply a literal interpretation without adding or subtracting words.

Paragraph 11: Application of Supreme Court Precedents on Interpretation

To support this view, the Court cited the Supreme Court's ruling in Bhavnagar University v. Palitana Sugar Mill Pvt. Ltd. (2003). The apex court established that statutory language must be construed exactly as written according to its plain, literal meaning. Courts cannot expand the legislature's intent or modify plain wording unless the existing text is entirely unworkable, absurd, or internally irreconcilable.

Paragraph 12–13: Examining the Plain Meaning of the Proviso

Applying a literal interpretation, the Court observed that the proviso to Rule 29 specifically writes out the dates "July 1 to June 30" directly onto the statute book. The main rule caps retirement at the end of the birth month, and the proviso acts as a strict, singular exception. Because the rule explicitly ties the extension to "June 30" following the retirement date, no teacher can leverage executive policy shifts to demand a retention period stretching beyond that statutory boundary.

Paragraph 14–15: Finding Flaws in the Prior Bench's Reasonings

The Court highlighted a contradiction in the Ramesh Chandra Tiwari ruling: that bench acknowledged that executive orders cannot override statutory rules, yet it effectively allowed an executive policy shift to change the statutory dates in the proviso. Furthermore, the previous bench completely overlooked Paragraph 3 of the State's December 9, 2014 order, which explicitly declared a conscious administrative policy choice not to amend Rule 29, mandating that teachers continue to retire on June 30 despite the altered school year.

Paragraph 16–17: State Sovereignty Over Policy and Final Disagreement

The Court affirmed that while the State has the authority to adjust school terms, it holds an equal right to limit the boundaries of post-retirement extensions. Teachers possess no inherent, enforceable right to remain in service past superannuation contrary to clear statutory text. Consequently, the Bench officially recorded its formal disagreement with the law laid down in the Ramesh Chandra Tiwari case.

Paragraph 18–19: Reference to a Larger Bench

Finding a direct conflict between coordinate benches, the Court formulated three substantial questions of law regarding the correctness of the Ramesh Chandra Tiwari case, the absolute boundaries of Rule 29's extensions, and the validity of the State's conscious decision to retain the June 30 retirement date. The Bench directed the case file to be placed before the Hon'ble Chief Justice to constitute a Larger Bench (Full Bench) to definitively resolve these questions.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Tandon, J.
Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. This special appeal has been filed by Shashi Prabha Dwivedi, the petitioner against the order of the learned Single Judge dated 29.4.2016 whereby the benefit of continuing in service till the end of the academic session i.e. up to 31.3.2016 has been denied to the petitioner.

2. The facts in short relevant for deciding the controversy are as under:-

3. That the date of birth of the appellant is 01.05.1951, she was working as Assistant Teacher in a primary institution, the service condition whereof are regulated by Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Teacher Service Rules, 1981 (herein after referred as Rules, 1981). These rules have been framed under Section 19 of the U.P. Basic Education Act, 1972 and, therefore, the Rules answer the description of the subordinate legislation.

4. Rule 29 of the Rules, 1981, provides for the age of retirement of the teachers and reads as follows:-

“29. Age of superannuation-Every teacher shall retire from service in the afternoon of the last day of the month in which he attains the age of 62 years.*

Provided that a teacher who retires during an academic session (July 1 to June 30) shall continue to work till the end of the academic session that is, June 30 and such period of service will be deemed as extended period of employment.”

5. The petitioner should have normally retired on attaining the age of 62 years as per Rule 29 of 1981 Rules but since she was awarded Presidents National Award, two years extension in service was given to her and, therefore, her age of retirement stood extended upto 64 years. The petitioner attained the age of superannuation i.e. age of 64 years on 30.4.2015.

6. According to the petitioner, the academic session for the year 2015-16 under the Government order dated 9.12.2014 was directed to commence from 1.4.2015 and to end on 31.3.2016. It was her case that since her date of retirement falls in the midst of the said academic session 2015-16, she was entitled to extension in service till 31.3.2016 and she had wrongly been retired on 30.6.2015.

7. Learned Single Judge has held that since the petitioner had taken benefit of extension in the service of two years she was not entitled for session benefit i.e. till 31.3.2016.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the Division Bench judgment in the case of State of U.P. and others Vs. Ramesh Chandra Tiwari and others reported in 2015 (4) UPLBEC 2900 wherein the Division Bench has held as under:-

“The State Government can certainly alter an academic session, as it has, to 1 April-31 March. The consequence, however, of a change in the academic session as provided under Rule 29 cannot be altered so long as the proviso to Rule 29 continues to hold the field. What the proviso enacts is that a teacher who retires during an academic session will continue to work until the end of the academic session on the basis of a deeming fiction, as we have noted above. Once the academic session has been changed, the principle which has been enunciated in the proviso to Rule 29 will apply to the newly altered academic session. All that really remains now is for the State to make a consequential change in the date of the new academic session under the proviso to Rule 29 but that part is merely clarification of the decision which has already been taken of the dates of commencement and conclusion of the academic session.”

9 Thereafter, the Division Bench has gone on to hold that all those teachers whose age of retirement falls between the academic session 2015-16 i.e. (1.4.2015 to 31.3.2016) and who have not taken benefit of extension of service under proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981, earlier would retire on 31.3.2016. The Division Bench has held that the Government orders issued on 9.12.2014 and 29.6.2015 have to be necessarily brought in line of the mandatory requirement of the Proviso to Rule 29 of the Rules, 1981. The power to alter the academic session undoubtedly vests with the State Government and once the academic session has been altered, the consequence of it envisaged under the Proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981, must ensue.

10. We find it difficult to accept the legal proposition as laid down in the said judgment. It is settled law that subordinate legislation framed in exercise of the statutory powers cannot be altered by the executive orders of the State. For any alteration in the subordinate legislation, the procedure for amendment in the rules is to be followed which is the same as in the case of framing of the rules itself.

11. It is also settled law that if the words of statute admit of one meaning on simple reading then no interpretation is required, the Court has to give literal and simple meaning without any further addition or subtraction.

12. The legal position in this regard has already been settled by the Apex Court and this Court in various pronouncements. One of which is 2003 (2) SCC 111 (Bhav Nagar University Vs. Palitana Sugar Mill Pvt. Ltd and others) paragraphs 23, 24 and 25 from the aforesaid judgment are quoted as under:-

23. It is the basic principle of construction of statute that the same should be read as a whole, then chapter by chapter, section by section and words by words. Recourse to construction or interpretation of statute is necessary when there is ambiguity, obscurity, or inconsistency therein and not otherwise. An effort must be made to give effect to all parts of the statute and unless absolutely necessary, no part thereof shall be rendered surplusage or redundant.

24. True meaning of a provision of law has to be determined on the basis of what it provides by its clear language, with due regard to the scheme of law.

25. Scope of the legislation on the intention of the legislature cannot be enlarged when the language of the provision is plain and unambiguous. In other words statutory enactments must ordinarily be construed according to its plain meaning and no words shall be added, altered or modified unless it is plainly necessary to do so to prevent a provision from being unintelligible, absurd, unreasonable, unworkable or totally irreconcilable with the rest of the statute.

13. From a simple reading of the proviso to Rule 29, of the Rules, 1981, it is apparently clear that it contemplates that the academic session for the purpose of retirement of the teachers would be 1st July to the 30th June of the succeeding year. So long as the proviso to Rule 29 stands as it is, no teacher can claim benefit of the extension of service beyond what has been provided under the said proviso.

14. We may record that the proviso is only an exception to the main Section. The main Section i.e. Rule 29 provides for the age of retirement as 62 years, the actual day on which the teacher would demit the office is the end of the month in which he/she attains the age of superannuation. It is only under the proviso that a teacher gets the benefit of extension of service till the end of the academic session. The proviso further specifically states that academic session shall be from 1st July to 30th June of the succeeding year such extension of the academic session would only be up to 30th June, following the date of superannuation and nothing beyond it.

15. We may further notice that the Division bench itself has recorded in paragraph 10 of the judgment that the State Government cannot by a Government order override the proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981, which is the nature of subordinate legislation.

16. We are, therefore, of the opinion that either the proviso which provides for the academic session from 1st July to 30th June has become redundant because of the change of the academic session by the State Government vide Government order dated 9.12.2014 i.e. from 1st July to 30th June of the succeeding year as 1st April to 31st June of the succeeding year or else the benefit of extension of service to teacher under the proviso would continue to be governed by the dates i.e. the academic session as contained in the proviso itself i.e. upto 30th June following the date of superannuation and nothing beyond that.

17. We find that the Division bench of this Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Ram Chandra Tiwari (supra) has failed to take note of paragraph 3 of the Government order dated 9.12.2014 wherein a conscious decision has been taken by the State Government not to make any amendment in the proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981. It has been specifically stated therein that the teacher of the academic institutions shall retire on 30th June in terms of the proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981 even after alteration of the academic year.

18. We are of the view that as the State Government has a right to determine the academic session, simultaneously it also has the right to decide as to what period of extension of service after retirement is to be provided to the teacher. No teacher can claim a right to continue beyond the age of superannuation contrary to the wisdom of the State as contemplated by the statutory provisions.

19. We, therefore, find it difficult to agree with the legal proposition as laid down in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Ramesh Chandra Tiwari (supra).

20. We are of the opinion that following questions need to be answered by a Larger Bench to be constituted for the purpose:-

(a) Whether the law as laid down by the Division bench of this Court in the case of State of U.P. and others Vs. Ramesh Chandra Tiwari is the correct law or not.

(b) Whether the proviso to Rule 29 of Rules, 1981, as it stands on the statute book as on date, admits of extension of service of the teacher of retirement beyond 30th June following the date of retirement or not.

(c) Whether the conscious decision of the State Government in terms of the Government order dated 9.12.2014 providing that the teachers would still retire on 30th June, following the date of retirement can be said to be bad or arbitrary in any manner so as to require issuance of a mandate to the State Government to make the amendments in proviso to Rule 29 of Rules 1981 merely because it has altered the academic session from 1st April of the year to 31st March of the succeeding year.

21. Let this order be placed before Hon'ble the Chief Justice for consideration for constituting of a Larger Bench to answer the above issues.

Paragraphs 1–3 (Introduction & Prosecution Case): The appellants challenged their conviction under Section 302 IPC and life sentences passed on 07.06.1983 by the 5th Additional Sessions Judge, Budaun (Sessions Trial No. 427 of 1981). According to the informant Savitri Devi (P.W.-10), her husband Charan Singh was murdered on 20.07.1980 at 6:30 a.m. near village Nachni because the appellants were infuriated by his alleged illicit relationship with appellant Prem Pal's sister, Susheela. The deceased, who had been bailed out from an Arms Act arrest just a day prior, was allegedly accosted and shot 5–6 times each by Prem Pal and Babu Lal using shotguns.

Paragraphs 4–7 (Investigation & Trial Court Verdict): The prosecution later added a secondary motive involving appellant Babu Lal's sister, Kiran. Following an investigation by P.W.-13, a charge-sheet was submitted. The trial court framed murder charges on 27.11.1982, and the prosecution examined 13 witnesses, including seven purported eye witnesses. The accused denied the charges under Section 313 Cr.P.C., claiming false implication due to village rivalry. Appellant Babu Lal raised an alibi defence, examining two witnesses (D.W.-1 and D.W.-2) to prove he was in Sultanpur. The trial court rejected the alibi, found both guilty, and sentenced them to life imprisonment.

Paragraphs 8–13 (Arguments of Both Sides): Senior counsels for the appellants argued that six out of seven eye witnesses turned hostile, and the remaining lone witness, Savitri Devi, was highly unreliable and contradicted by medical evidence. They also emphasized Babu Lal's solid alibi backed by a senior government officer (D.W.-1). Conversely, the learned AGA supported the conviction, arguing that the FIR was logged promptly within two hours despite a 5-kilometer distance, leaving no room for concoction. He maintained that the prior arrest provided immediate motive, and dismissed the defence witnesses as unreliable.

Paragraphs 14–16 (Legal Standard for a Solitary Hostile Witness): The High Court observed that because six out of seven eye witnesses refused to support the prosecution, the case rested entirely on the solitary testimony of the wife, Savitri Devi (P.W.-10). The Court noted that while a conviction can legally stand on a single witness, the testimony must be of “sterling quality,” wholly natural, credible, and free from blemish, requiring an extraordinarily close and cautious critical scrutiny when all other witnesses turn hostile.

Paragraphs 17–20 (Glaring Contradictions & Backdated FIR): Upon close scrutiny, the Court found vital contradictions in Savitri’s testimony. She initially stated she went to the police station completely alone, but later claimed the village Chowkidar accompanied her. Furthermore, the police General Diary and the Investigating Officer confirmed that she was actually accompanied by her father-in-law, Man Singh. Since Man Singh lived in Aligarh, it was logistically impossible for him to arrive in Budaun within two hours of the crime, strongly indicating that the FIR was backdated and that Savitri was concealing facts.

Paragraphs 21–25 (Absence of Motive & Spatial Fabrications): The Court found no independent proof of the alleged illicit relationships. Appellant Babu Lal’s sister had already left for her matrimonial home days prior, leaving him with zero motive, and the two accused shared no established friendship or caste affinity. Furthermore, Savitri changed her story regarding their direction of travel, referenced landmarks (a culvert) missing from the official site plan, and falsely claimed she slept next to the corpse overnight at the police station—a claim directly disproved by the constable (P.W.-12) who transported the body straight to the mortuary by noon.

Paragraphs 26–30 (Ocular Account vs. Medical Evidence & Logic): The physical circumstances completely discredited the informant’s presence. She claimed she stood four paces away while the accused fired over a dozen shotgun rounds from close range, yet she did not receive a single scratch or pellet injury. Crucially, she testified that the accused shot the deceased face-to-face during a confrontation, but the post-mortem report conclusively revealed multiple firearm entry wounds on the back of the deceased. Additionally, the prosecution failed to explain how the accused could have known about the couple’s highly private, early-morning travel plans.

Paragraphs 31–35 (Procedural Lapses, Alibi Validated & Final Disposal): The Court criticized the trial judge for failing to question Babu Lal about the alleged motive during his Section 313 examination. It also ruled that the trial court improperly brushed aside the defence evidence, noting that defence witnesses must be evaluated using the same yardstick as the prosecution. The Court found the alibi provided by D.W.-1 (a senior officer) completely cogent and credible. Finding Savitri’s lone testimony weak, uncorroborated, and unsafe, the High Court granted the appellants the benefit of doubt, allowed the appeal, set aside the conviction, and ordered their immediate release.

(Delivered by Hon’ble Bharat Bhushan, J.)

1. The appellants have directed this appeal against the judgment and order dated 7.6.1983 passed by the then 5th Addl. Sessions Judge, Budaun in Sessions Trial No. 427 of 1981 arising out of Case Crime No. 135 of 1980 (State VS Prempal and another), Police Station (in short P.S.) - Islamnagar whereby the appellants were convicted under Section 302 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment.

2. According to the informant Savitri Devi (P.W.-10), her deceased husband Charan Singh was practicing medicine and living at the residence of appellant/accused Prem Pal Singh Thakur, at village Nachni, District Budaun. It is alleged that the deceased Charan Singh developed illegitimate physical relationship with one Susheela, sister of appellant Prem Pal Singh. Prem Pal Singh and his family members got infuriated and kept on looking the opportunity to eliminate deceased Charan Singh.

3. Informant tried to reason with her husband but of no avail. In fact he procured a country made pistol for his protection. Six days prior to the incident both the appellants Prem Pal Singh and Babu Lal got the deceased Charan Singh arrested for possession of unlicensed weapon. He was bailed out one day prior to the episode. Next day i.e. on the date of occurrence the deceased Charan Singh along with his wife Savitri Devi (informant) went to the village Nachni for realization of remaining dues from patients. Appellants accosted them on their way to Village Nachni. Appellant Prem Pal Singh was holding Double Barrel Gun and appellant Babu Lal was wielding Single Barrel gun. They fired 5-6 shots each upon the deceased Charan Singh who died instantaneously. The incident was allegedly witnessed by Yadram, Gendan Lal (P.W.-9), Chunni (P.W.-1), Bhagirath (P.W.-2), Tinku, Kallu (P.W.-4) and Bheekam Singh (P.W.-3). They reportedly rescued the informant Savitri Devi (P.W.-10) also. The incident is said to have been occurred on 20.7.1980 at about 6.30 a.m. P.W.-10 Savitri Devi lodged the FIR on the same day at about 8.30 a.m. The distance between the place of occurrence near village Nachni and police station Islam Nagar is indicated to be 5 Kilometers as per chik report (Ex-Ka-2).

4. The aforesaid story was later on improved upon and it was also added that the deceased Charan Singh had also developed intimate relationship with Kiran, Sister of second appellant/accused Babu Lal. The police went to the place of occurrence immediately in the aftermath of the incident. It is stated that the police personnel reached the place of occurrence at about 9.30 a.m. Inquest was conducted and investigation ensued. On completion of investigation the Investigating Officer Sri Harimaya Sharma (P.W.-13) submitted a charge sheet (Ex-Ka15) against both the accused appellants.

5. Trial court framed charges against both the accused under Section 302 IPC on 27.11.1982. Appellants pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried. The prosecution adduced testimony of as many as 13 witnesses namely P.W.-1 Chunni (eye witness), P.W.-2 Bhagirath (eye witness), P.W.-3 Bheekam Singh (eye witness), P.W.-4 Kallu (eye witness), P.W.-5 Dr. N. P. Singh, (who conducted autopsy), P.W.-6 H.C. Radhey Shyam Sharma (who recorded the FIR), P.W.-7 H.C. Om Prakash (who prepared inquest), P.W.-8 Tilak Singh (eye witness), P.W.-9 Gendan Singh (eye witness), P.W.-10 Savitri Devi (informant/eye witness), P.W.-11 Constable Kanwar Pal Singh (who registered a case against the deceased Charan Singh under Arms Act on 14.7.1980), P.W.-12 Constable Subhash Chandra who took corpse of deceased to the mortuary and P.W.-13 Harimaya Sharma (Investigating Officer).

6. The appellants denied all the allegations in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and have claimed false implication due to village party bandi. Appellant Prem Pal has not adduced any evidence, oral or documentary in his defence. However, second appellant Babu Lal has raised the plea of alibi and produced two witnesses namely D.W.-1 A.S. Rizvi, the then A.C.O. (Consolidation), Sultanpur and D.W.-2 Malkhan Singh, then Kannungo, Sultanpur who is also father of the appellant Babu Lal.

7. On conclusion of the trial, trial court held both the accused guilty of offence under Section 302 IPC and both of them were sentenced to life imprisonment vide judgment and order dated 7.6.1983. It is this judgment which is under challenge before this court in appeal.

8. Heard Sri V. P. Srivastava, learned senior counsel assisted by Mr Mohit Singh for appellant Babu Lal and Mr Brijesh Sahai and Mr Sharad Srivastava advocate on behalf of appellant Prem pal and Mr Syed Ali Murtaza, learned AGA for the State.

9. Learned counsel for the appellants have submitted that there is virtually no evidence on record to support the allegations against the appellants. They have submitted that out of seven eye witnesses, six have not supported the prosecution version. They have argued that presence of sole remaining witness Savitri Devi on spot is highly doubtful in view of her weak testimony. She has not been able to narrate the incident in convincing manner.

10. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of appellant Babu Lal has also claimed that appellant Babu Lal was in Sultanpur with his family at the time of incident. His father was posted at Sultanpur as Consolidation (Chakbandi) Kannungo. Senior Officer D.W.-1 A. S. Rizvi and his own father testified on oath that on the date of incident the appellant Babulal was present in district Sultanpur, situated at very long distance from District Budaun.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants have also argued that the ocular testimony is inconsistent with the medical evidence, thereby creating doubt about the veracity of testimony of sole remaining witness P.W.-10 Savitri Devi.

12. To the contrary, learned AGA has submitted that the incident occurred at 6.20 in the morning and the report was lodged within two hours at Islam Nagar police station at 8.30 a.m. despite the distance of 5 Kilometers. He has argued that there was no occasion and opportunity for the informant to concoct the story and that there was no reason for the wife to lie about the murder of his husband. He has drawn the attention of the court towards the arrest of Charan Singh (deceased) six days prior to the incident at the instigation of both the appellants. Both the appellants have admitted the arrest of deceased Charan Singh under Arms Act in their evidence under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

13. Learned AGA has further argued that this clearly provides a motive to both the appellants as deceased Charan Singh had been bailed out one day prior to the incident annoying the appellants. He has further submitted that the marriage of Kiran, sister of appellant Babu Lal was admittedly solemnized at village Nachni on 15.7.1980, five days prior to the incident and this was precisely the reason, deceased was arrested at the instigation of appellants. Learned AGA has also submitted that this prior arrest and the subsequent release of Charan Singh had angered both the appellants. Both of them were unhappy because of rumours floating around regarding the relationships of deceased with their respective sisters. Learned AGA has denounced the testimony of both the Defence Witnesses saying that the presence of Babu Lal at Village Nachni is admitted till 18.7.1980 even to the appellants and there is no evidence on record to suggest that family of Babu Lal had left village Nachni for Sultanpur on 18.7.1980 as claimed by him.

14. Perusal of evidence on record would reveal that as many as seven eye witnesses were named by the informant Savitri Devi (P.W.-10) in the FIR meaning thereby this incident was seen at least by eight person, if we include Savitri Devi in the list of witnesses. Seven witnesses were produced by the prosecution. Six stated eye witnesses have refused to support the prosecution version. They have categorically denied the involvement of appellants in the murder of deceased Charan Singh, therefore, that leaves only Savitri Devi (P.W.-10) wife of deceased as sole witness of the incident.

15. Learned trial judge has relied completely upon the testimony of Savitri Devi. Trial Judge has concluded that the testimony of Savitri Devi is sufficient to hold the appellants guilty of offence under Section 302 IPC.

16. As a matter of law, there is no doubt that the testimony of solitary witness can be the basis of conviction provided found to be trustworthy. Where the prosecution has produced a single witness in support of the offence, same can be used for conviction of accused provided such evidence is found credible and trustworthy. But where seven eye witnesses have been produced and as many as six such witnesses have declined to support prosecution case then it is absolutely necessary to undertake a very close and critical scrutiny of remaining solitary witness. There is no law which says that the conviction of the accused cannot be based on evidence of solitary witness but the evidence of solitary witness must be scrutinized with great caution. While appraising such evidence the court must be satisfied that his testimony is of such sterling quality that the court finds safe to base conviction solely on that witness. Evidence of such witness must be free from any blemish or suspicion. Evidence of solitary witness must impress the court as wholly truthful and convincing. (Bhimappa Chandappa Hosamani and others State of Karnataka, (2007) 1 SCC (Cri) 456. It is well established principle of law that evidence is weighed and not counted but it is essential that such appraisal is done with great caution. The evidence must appear to be natural and so convincing that the court has no hesitation in recording the conviction solely on the basis of single witness.

17. In this case too, testimony of sole witness, Savitri Devi (P.W.-10) has to be subjected to serious scrutiny. The FIR was lodged by the informant Savitri Devi allegedly within two hours of the incident. The contents of the FIR gives impression that she alone went to the police station for lodging the FIR. She has clearly mentioned in the FIR that she left the witnesses by side of corpse of her husband and then went to the police station to file the FIR. Same fact was reiterated by the informant on oath while deposing before the trial court as P.W.-10. She has stated that she escorted her deceased husband on the day of occurrence at 6 a.m. in the morning while going to Islam Nagar. It is pertinent to point out that it is the case of prosecution that P.W.-10 Savitri Devi was living at Islam Nagar at the time of incident and that her slain husband used to live at village Nachni. As soon as the informant and deceased reached the culvert, the appellants Babu Lal and Prem Pal, armed with DBBL and SBL Guns respectively, accosted them and opened fire indiscriminately at her husband who died instantaneously on the spot. Interestingly, this time, she simply named one Yadram only as eye witness, although, she did mention that few other persons also arrived at the spot but she did not name them. However, it is pertinent to point out that she named at least seven eye witnesses in her first information report (EX-Ka-2) though six of those eye witnesses have refused to support the prosecution case.

18. In paragraph no. 5 of her testimony, she has clearly and emphatically asserted that she alone went to the police station for lodging the FIR and that no other person had accompanied her to the police station. This part of statement was recorded on 19.3.1983 during initial stage of cross examination. After six days i.e. on 25.3.1983 during last leg of her cross examination she changed her version in paragraph no. 18 and stated that one Chowkidar also accompanied her to the police station at the time of lodging of the FIR. This is vital contradiction.

19. The FIR gives impression that informant went alone to the police station for lodging the FIR. In her initial testimony also, she categorically reiterated that she alone went to the police station but on the last leg of her cross examination she resiled from her earlier statement and said that village Chowkidar also accompanied her. But the fact of the matter is, that she was not completely truthful even at this stage. While recording the FIR the relevant entries were made in the General Diary of police station, extract of which is available on record as (Ex-Ka-3) wherein it has been mentioned that the informant Savitri Devi was accompanied by one Chunni Lal, Kallu and her father-in-law Man Singh (father of deceased). Now the question arise why was this solitary witness refusing to acknowledge the presence of these other persons at the police station ? It is pertinent to point out that P.W.-10 Savitri Devi has admitted during her cross examination that her father-in-law, a healthy person of 68 years, was resident of District Aligarh. She has emphatically denied that Man Singh, her father-in-law lived at Islam Nagar with them. She again reinforced this statement by saying that no other member of family used to live with them. Now the question is if incident occurred at 6.30 a.m. and report was lodged at 8.30 a.m., how the presence of Man Singh could be accounted for ? There is nothing on record to demonstrate when the father of deceased, resident of Aligarh, arrived at Budaun. There is no way Man Singh could have arrived at Village Nachni in time to accompany Savitri Devi to the P.S. Islam Nagar. The fact that Man Singh was present at the time of lodging of FIR bolster the argument of appellants that the FIR had been ante-timed. It really creates doubt about truthfulness of testimony of P.W.-10 Savitri Devi as well. Why is she denying the presence of Chunni, Kallu and Man Singh at the police station ? Prosecution has failed to provide any answer to this question.

20. The investigating Officer Harimaya Sharma, P.W.-13 has admitted in paragraph no. 3 of his testimony that Chunni Lal (witness) and village Chowkidar Kallu and Man Singh, father of deceased had accompanied Savitri Devi to the police Station. If presence of Man Singh is established then it begs the question why is his presence being disowned by the informant and how could Man Singh arrived at village Nachni or Islam Nagar from District Aligarh within two hours of the incident ?

21. The FIR says the appellant Prem Pal Singh was unhappy on account of alleged illicit relationship between the deceased Charan Singh and his sister Susheela. This is the motive suggested by prosecution for the murder of deceased Charan Singh. The fact of the matter is that there is no evidence on record to support the claim of the illicit relationship between Susheela and deceased Charan Singh. All witnesses of facts have denied this claim barring P.W.-10 Susheela but even if we assume for a moment that this story of illicit relationship between Susheela, sister of appellant Prem Pal Singh and deceased Charan Singh is true then the question would arise why was Babu Lal involved in the murder of deceased Charan Singh ? The record reveals that accused Prem Pal belongs to high caste and appellant Babu Lal belongs to lower caste. Appellant Prem Pal alone could have killed Charan Singh. There is no evidence on record to suggest the close affinity between the appellant Prem Pal and appellant Babu Lal. There is no allegation of prior concert or prior meetings of mind. There is no whisper to suggest that both were friends. During course of trial, feeble suggestion was made that the deceased Charan Singh also had close intimacy with Kiran, sister of Babu Lal, but this claim is neither mentioned in the FIR nor supported by any eye witness including P.W.-10 Savitri Devi. Infact she has denied the knowledge of any relationship between the deceased Charan Singh and sister of appellant Babu Lal. She has clearly stated that she did not even know the name of that girl.

22. The evidence further reveals that the marriage of Kiran was solemnized on 15.7.1980 and she had already left for her matrimonial home on next date i.e. on 16.7.1980; that leaves appellant Babu Lal with no motive and there is no suggestion of any friendship between the appellant Babulal and Prem Pal. Prosecution has not given any suggestion in this regard.

23. Testimony of P.W.-10 Savitri Devi is shaky on several counts. We have noted earlier that in paragraph no. 2 of her testimony, this witness had asserted that they were going towards Islam Nagar. Later on she changed her story and stated both her husband and she were going towards village Nachni from Islam Nagar. This really changes the place of occurrence. The FIR says that they were going to village Nachni. P.W.-10 Savitri Devi in her initial part of statement says that they were going to Islam Nagar but in paragraph no. 6 of her testimony she changed her version and stated that they were going from Islam Nagar to village Nachni for realizing the money dues from village folks. If the narration of P.W.10 Savitri Devi is taken in account then the place of occurrence shown in the site plan (Ex-Ka-11) becomes doubtful. Savitri Devi indicates that incident occurred near culvert of village Nachni. No culvert is shown in the site plan (Ex-Ka-11). It is alleged that the incident occurred near seed warehouse (cht xksnke) and she was merely four steps away from her husband. The fact of the matter is that the incident did not occur near seed warehouse. The contents of site plan indicate that there is distance of at least 60 yards between the seed warehouse and place of occurrence. This witness could not name the farmers of agricultural fields nearby. The site plan further reveals that the place of occurrence is not a desolate place and yet not a single witness of vicinity has supported the prosecution case.

24. The credibility of P.W-10 (Savitri Devi) has further got hit by her another assertion. She has said in her testimony that the corpse of deceased was sent first to Police Station Islam Nagar on the same date at about 4 p.m. and next day dead body was sent to Budaun. She claims to have spent whole night with the corpse at Police Station but this cannot be true because P.W-12 constable Subhash Chandra has testified on oath that he took the body of deceased Charan Singh from village Nachni directly to District Head Quarter Budaun for postmortem on the same day. He has deposed that he took the corpse in his possession at about 12 p.m. on 20.7.1980 and deposited the dead body at district Headquarter Budaun at 7 p.m. Then he specifically and categorically denied that the dead body was kept whole night at the police station Islam Nagar. One of two witnesses must be lying. There is no reason for the P.W.-12 to lie about the status of the dead body. But the discrepancy of Savitri Devi can be explained by observing that she was not present at the place of occurrence at the time of incident and that her testimony has been later on concocted and manufactured to lend weight to prosecution case. Inquest report (Ex-Ka-4) itself says that the proceedings were initiated by 12.15 p.m. on the day. There was no reason for the police to keep the dead body at village Nachni or police station subsequent to the completion of the inquest proceedings.

25. There is something wrong about the stated knowledge of the incident of P.W-10 Savitri Devi. Her attempt to conceal the presence of Man Singh, her father in law and other witnesses at Police Station also creates doubt about her veracity. It is pertinent to point out that the story of residing at Islam Nagar too has been disclosed for the first time during her testimony in the court.

26. There is another strange phenomenon. If we consider the contents of the FIR as well as the testimony of P.W.-10 (Savitri Devi), it would reveal that both the husband and wife were traveling on foot despite the availability of bicycle. Obviously they were traveling together. Savitri Devi has admitted in her testimony that she was closely walking with her husband. She has admitted that she was four paces aside from her husband. She has also conceded that it was not her practice to accompany her husband in ordinary course. She merely accompanied her husband for the first time due to safety concerns. It has also come in evidence that each accused fired more than 5-6 shots. Medical report and the testimony of P.W.-5 Dr. N. P. Singh discloses that several pellets were recovered from the body of the deceased Charan Singh. The doctor has testified that as many as 126 pellets, one cork piece, 4 "Tiklee" and several pieces of corks were taken out from the body of deceased. The nature of injuries and description of weapon including presence of blackening and tattooing would indicate that shots were fired from close range. P.W.-10 Savitri Devi has also stated that accused persons first came and shook hands with the husband, searched him and then opened fired from a few steps away. The deceased was holding his bicycle at the time. Informant was standing by his side. More than dozen shots were fired upon him and yet not a single pellet even touched the wife of deceased who was allegedly standing by his side. Not even a scratch resulted on her person with this kind of indiscriminate use of two guns.

27. The effect produced by the shot gun vary according to the distance of weapon from the body and choking device. Three injuries indicate blackening and two injuries indicate tattooing but the deceased sustained as many as nine gun shot injuries. Injury no. 4 disclose multiple gun shot wound of entry each 0.25 cm X 0.25 cm and dispersal of pellets must in ordinarily course result in some injuries to a person standing nearby. The doctor has opined that he had recovered several pieces of corks indicating disintegration of cork at the time or prior to the impact of shot upon the body. The medical evidence and injuries sustained would reveal that at least some pellets would have touched the person standing nearby due to dispersal. Evidence reveal that appellant Babu Lal allegedly refilled his gun several times, indicating discharge of guns more than once. In such a scenario absence of even the scratch on the person of the informant is surprising. Cumulatively, these circumstances give rise to serious doubt about the presence and truthfulness of P.W.-10 Savitri Devi.

28. In addition to that, there is inconsistency between the ocular testimony and medical report. The testimony of Savitri Devi, solitary witness would indicate that accused persons came from opposite side and then shot her husband after shaking hands with him and searching him, prior to killing. She has categorically stated in paragraph no 9 of her testimony that at the time of discharge of guns accused and deceased were standing face to face and they kept firing upon him. This story does not explain the medical report which says that several firearm shots were found on the back of body of the deceased. This inconsistency between the ocular testimony and the medical evidence is also fatal to the prosecution case. Infact, it clearly belies the claim of presence of Savitri Devi on the spot at the time of incident.

29. P.W.-10 Savitri Devi further says that she showed the place of occurrence to the Investigating Officer. But P.W.-13 Hari Maya Sharma (Investigating Officer) disputes this assertion. He says that the site plan was prepared at the instance of Chunni Lal. He did not even refer to any assistance from Savitri Devi (informant).

30. Learned counsel for appellants have also raised another question. They have argued that deceased Charan Singh was bailed out on Saturday and later on murdered on Sunday. The testimony of Savitri Devi (informant) reveals that they were going to realize remaining dues from the people of village Nachni and some other place. They deliberately left early with the intention of returning back early. They did not share this information with any body, then how come accused became knowledgeable about the whereabouts of deceased and time of his arrival? There is nothing on record to show that such information was publicly available.

31. Surprisingly, learned Trial Judge did not question accused persons regarding alleged relationship between Kiran and deceased during examination of accused person under Section 313 Cr.P.C. This was very pertinent question as far as appellant Babu Lal was concerned. There was no motive for appellant Babu Lal to join any body for murder of deceased Charan Singh. Even Savitri Devi has not made any reference regarding Kiran, sister of Babu Lal, who had already gone to her matrimonial home four to five days prior to the incident. An opportunity should have been given to appellant Babu Lal for explaining the alleged relationship of deceased Charan Singh with Kiran, sister of Babu Lal under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

32. It is evident from the perusal of the impugned judgment of trial court that the defence evidence has not been carefully considered by it. We do not understand why the statements of the D.W.-1 A. S. Rizvi, ACO (Consolidation) and D.W.-2 Malkhan Singh, father of appellant Babu Lal have been brushed aside in the manner as done by the Trial Judge. There is no reason why their evidence should not be accepted when they have asserted before the trial court on oath that appellants Babulal was present in Sultanpur on the date of incident. The courts below have held that the two witnesses produced by the defence are unreliable. But the Trial Judge has not given any satisfactory reason for the same. It is necessary to point out that as far as courts are concerned, witnesses of both sides, prosecution and defence, sail in the same boat. Both have to appraised on the touchstone of credibility and truthfulness. Courts cannot say that she will not trust some witnesses merely because they have been produced by defence. Testimony of defence witnesses has to be evaluated in same manner as that of prosecution. Same yardstick has to be applied. Testimony of D.W.-1 A.S. Rizvi is cogent and credible. There was no reason for him to lie. D.W-2 Man Singh was his subordinate. There was no pressure upon him to favour Babu Lal. We have carefully examined the testimony of D.W.-1 A. S. Rizvi. He has established the presence of appellant Babu Lal on the date of incident in District Sultanpur, situated at long distance away. We feel that there is no reason to disbelieve his evidence especially in the light of shaky, weak and untrustworthy evidence of P.W-10 Savitri Devi who alone tried to support the prosecution story, out of seven eye witnesses produced by the prosecution.

33. As discussed above, P.W. 10 (informant) is not reliable and there is no other evidence on record to support the conviction of appellants. There are very serious and significant inconsistencies in the prosecution. Six stated witnesses have not supported the prosecution case. Presence of remaining witness P.W.-10 Savitri Devi is highly doubtful. We have carefully scrutinized her evidence. We believe the evidence of P.W.-10 Savitri Devi is not of such sterling quality so as to make it safe to base conviction solely on her testimony. Her evidence is not free from blemish or suspicion. We do not find her evidence trustworthy. We have a lurking suspicion about her presence on the spot at the time of incident. We therefore, find it unsafe to sustain the conviction of the appellants on the sole testimony of PW-10 Savitri Devi. We, therefore, hold that the appellants are entitled of benefit of doubt.

34. In the result, we allow this appeal and set aside the conviction and sentence of the appellants and direct that they shall be released forthwith, if in jail, unless required in any other case. In case the appellants are on bail, the bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

35. Let this judgment be certified to the concerned Court within 15 days. The concerned court shall report a compliance within one month thereafter.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 03.08.2016

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MRS. VIJAY LAXMI, J.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1873 Of 2016

Sanjeev @ Sanju

...Appellant
Versus

State Of U.P.

...Respondent

Counsels for the Appellant:

Shri Jitendra Rana

Counsel for the Respondent:

G.A.

Held –

Paragraph 1: Appeal and Conviction Details

This criminal appeal challenges the judgment dated December 24, 2015, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C., Baghpat, in S.T. No. 443 of 2012. The trial court convicted the appellant, Sanjeev @ Sanju, under Sections 376 and 506 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) for allegedly raping and threatening the prosecutrix. He was sentenced to seven years of rigorous imprisonment under Section 376 IPC and one year under Section 506 IPC, to run concurrently.

Paragraph 2–3: The Prosecution's Case

The prosecution alleged that in late June 2012, while the prosecutrix's husband was away in Gauhati for a family ritual, the appellant (the husband's nephew) called her to his house at 6:00 AM under the pretext of milking his cow. Once there, he allegedly forced her into his bedroom and raped her. The trial court found this account reliable and convicted the appellant.

Paragraph 4: Grounds of Appeal

The appellant challenged the conviction on multiple grounds: the absolute lack of external/internal bodily injuries or chemical evidence of spermatozoa; material contradictions in the sole testimony of the prosecutrix; and the complete disregard of defense evidence showing a financial dispute where the prosecutrix falsely implicated the appellant to evade a loan repayment.

Paragraph 5–6: Arguments and Witness Layout

The State (A.G.A.) supported the conviction, arguing that a rape conviction can stand solely on the uncorroborated testimony of the victim. Upon reviewing the record, the High Court noted the prosecution examined six witnesses (only the prosecutrix being a witness of fact), while the defense produced two witnesses, including the victim's own husband (DW-2).

Paragraph 7: Testimony of the Prosecutrix (PW-1)

In her examination-in-chief, the prosecutrix repeated the FIR narrative, adding that the appellant forcibly pulled her into the room, pinned her down, threatened her life, and raped her. She further admitted that after the act, she accepted Rs. 1,000 from the appellant, visited her uncle Mahipal's house for five minutes, and then went alone to the police station.

Paragraph 8–9: Contradictions Exposed in Cross-Examination

During cross-examination, the prosecutrix admitted she did not preserve her crime-scene clothes or record a Section 164 Cr.P.C. statement before a Magistrate. Severe contradictions emerged regarding whether she raised an alarm inside or outside the room. Furthermore, while she claimed her bangles broke and the appellant tried to strangle her with a rope, the medical officer found absolutely no injuries on her wrist, neck, or body. She also admitted her husband had previously required expensive medical treatment following an accident.

Paragraph 10: High Court's Initial Assessment of the Victim's Credibility

The High Court observed that while a rape conviction can rest on a victim's sole testimony, it must be of "sterling quality." The prosecutrix's narrative failed this test. Her admissions suggested either a consensual relationship in the absence of their families, or a malicious fabrication to escape a heavy financial debt, a doubt compounded by the lack of physical injuries and the non-examination of her uncle Mahipal or the report scribe.

Paragraph 11–13: Analysis of Defense Evidence (DW-1 & DW-2)

The Investigating Officer (PW-6) confirmed he found no broken bangles at the scene. Defense witness Yashpal Singh (DW-1) testified to a running community knowledge of a severe debt dispute between the families and heard no alarms. Crucially, the victim's husband, Baburam (DW-2), testified that his right hand was amputated in an accident, forcing him to borrow Rs. 60,000 from the appellant. He stated that his illiterate wife was instigated by locals to file a false FIR to escape the debt, and later lied in court out of fear of being jailed for perjury.

Paragraph 14–16: Rejection of the Trial Court's Findings

The trial court had brushed aside the defense and the lack of physical injuries by pointing out that the FIR was lodged promptly and that minor injuries could fade within the seven-hour gap before the medical exam. The High Court rejected this, noting that the trial court completely ignored blatant structural contradictions, embellishments, and improvements in the victim's statements.

Paragraph 17–19: Application of Supreme Court Precedents

Citing apex court rulings, the High Court reiterated that a "sterling witness" must be of exceptionally high calibre, natural, and entirely consistent from the first statement to the trial testimony. Testing the facts against this threshold, the Court ruled it completely unjustifiable to convict the appellant based on a solitary testimony riddled with omissions and contradictions.

Paragraph 20–22: Final Order and Acquittal

The High Court set aside the trial court's judgment and acquitted the appellant of all charges, allowing the appeal. The Court lamented that the appellant had already languished in jail for over four years without fault due to repeated bail rejections, and ordered his immediate and forthwith release from custody.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been directed against the judgment and order dated 24.12.2015 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/ F.T.C., Baghpat, in S.T. No. 443 of 2012, State Vs. Sanjeev @ Sanju, u/s 376, 506 I.P.C., P.S. Baroth, District Baghpat, arising out of Case Crime No. 513 of 2012, whereby the learned trial court has convicted the appellant under section 376 I.P.C. and has sentenced him to rigorous imprisonment for seven years with fine of Rs. 5000/- and in default of payment of such fine, to undergo six months additional imprisonment. By the impugned order the appellant has also been convicted under section 506 I.P.C. for which he has been awarded R.I. for one year. Both the aforesaid sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. Heard learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA. Perused the record.

3. As per the prosecution case, the prosecutrix lodged an FIR against the applicant alleging that when her husband Baburam had gone to Gauhati to attend the Terahvi (a ritual performed on 13th day from the death of a person) of her Jeth, the accused-appellant, who is the nephew of her husband (Bhanja) and is a resident of the same locality called her at 6.00 A.M. in the morning for milking his cow. It is alleged that when she went to his house for milking his cow, the appellant took her inside his bedroom and committed rape on her. The learned trial judge found the prosecution case reliable and convicted the appellant as aforesaid.

4. The aggrieved appellant, in this appeal, has questioned the legality and correctness of the impugned judgment and order mainly on the following grounds:

1. That the aforesaid prosecution story is totally false and concocted, which is evident from the fact that no injury was found either on external or internal part of the body of the prosecutrix and no spermatozoa was found after chemical examination, which totally belies the prosecution story.

2. There are several contradictions, infirmities and omissions in the testimony of the prosecutrix, who is the solitary witness of fact, produced by the prosecution in this case. But the learned trial court without taking into consideration the material contradictions occurred in her statement and ignoring the medical report, has passed the impugned judgment on the basis of mere conjectures and surmises.

3. The husband of the prosecutrix, Baburam, has been produced by the defence as DW2, who has categorically stated that the appellant had lent him money for meeting out his medical expenses, as he had met with an accident and had to incur an expenditure of Rs. 60-70 thousand on his surgery. The appellant was demanding his money back, which he, (Baburam), was unable to pay, hence his wife, the prosecutrix, on the instigation of other people, lodged the FIR. It was only due to the fear of her own conviction for giving false evidence, she did not retract from her statement during the trial. However, the learned trial judge neither considered the explanation put forth by the appellant u/s 313 Cr.P.C. nor the aforesaid evidence of DW1, while convicting the appellant.

5. Per contra learned AGA has supported the impugned judgment by contending that the learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellant because in case of rape the sole testimony of the prosecutrix can form the basis of conviction and there is no need for any further corroboration.

6. Considered the rival submissions of both the parties and perused the original record.

7. The prosecution in this case has produced only six witnesses out of which only PW1, the prosecutrix herself, is the witness of fact. The remaining five witnesses are formal witnesses, PW2 is the doctor and PW3 to PW6 are police personnel including the I.O.

8. The defence has also produced two witnesses. DW1 is Yashpal Singh and DW2 is Baburam, who is the husband of the prosecutrix.

9. The prosecutrix during her examination in chief has repeated the FIR version by stating that in June 2012 her Jeth, who was living in Gauhati, had expired. On the date of occurrence her husband had gone to attend the Terahvi of her Jeth. The accused-appellant is her nephew, whose family members had also gone to Gauhati to attend Terahvi ceremony. The occurrence is of the last week of June. In the early morning at about 6 or 6.30 A.M. the appellant called her to milk the cow. She went and milked the cattle. When she was about to return to her home the appellant came and asked her to come inside the house as he had to talk to her on some important issue. When she denied he forcibly took her inside the room holding her hand. Thereafter he pressed her mouth from his hand, put his leg on her breast and pressed her neck. He also threatened her to kill. Thereafter he committed rape with her. She has further stated that after committing rape, the appellant gave her Rs. One thousand, which she accepted. From the house of the appellant she went to her uncle Mahipal's house and informed about the whole episode. At Mahipal's house she stayed for five minutes and from there she went to police station to lodge the FIR.

10. During her cross-examination the prosecutrix has stated that she had gone to the police station all alone. She has also stated that when she had gone to lodge the report, she did not take with her, her clothes, which she was wearing at the time of occurrence. When asked as to why she did not raise any alarm, she stated that she had raised alarm from inside the room. However, when she was confronted with her earlier statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. in which she has stated that she had raised alarm after coming outside the room and hearing her alarm several persons had gathered at the spot, she replied that she had not given any such statement to the I.O. and she cannot assign any reason as to how it was written. She has admitted that she accepted Rs. One thousand, which the appellant gave to her, after committing the rape and those are still lying with her and she did not give those rupees to the I.O. She has also admitted that she did not get her statement u/s 164 Cr.P.C. recorded before the Magistrate. She has stated that her bangles were broken causing injuries on her wrist. She has also stated that the appellant tried to strangle her by rope causing marks on her neck but the doctor has not found any such injury either on her wrist or neck or even any part of her body. She has admitted the fact that her husband had met with an accident in which his hand had to be amputated and he had to remain admitted in hospital for one month incurring Rs. 60-70 thousand in his treatment.

11. There is no doubt that in the cases of rape sole testimony of the victim of rape is sufficient to convict the accused but as per settled legal position the said sole testimony should be trustworthy, reliable and must be of sterling quality. In so far as the case in hand is concerned, the statement of the prosecutrix as discussed in the preceeding paragraph, does not appear to be of such sterling quality. Her admissions clearly suggest that either she was a consenting party, who out of her own freewill and in the absence of her husband and the other family members and also in absence of family members of the appellant, had made physical relations with him voluntarily or as per the defence version, she has falsely implicated the appellant so as to avoid the payment of loan to him. The absence of any mark of injury on her external or internal part of the body totally belies the prosecution story. It also appears unbelievable that her uncle Mahipal, to whom she had immediately informed about her rape and from whose house she had gone directly to police station to lodge the FIR, did not accompany her to the police station. The aforesaid Mahipal, could have been the best witness in this case, but the prosecution, for reasons best known to it, has not examined Mahipal as a witness in this case. One more fact, which raises a serious doubt in the prosecution story is that the prosecutrix has stated that when she had gone to lodge the report she did not take the clothes with her, which she was wearing at the time of occurrence, whereas, as per her own narration, after returning from the house of the appellant, she directly went to the house of Mahipal where she stayed for five minutes and then she went to the police station to lodge the FIR. Thus, it is not clear as to when and where she changed her clothes. She has stated that she got the written report scribed by a tea vendor but the said tea vendor has also not been examined by the prosecution.

12. The story of rape as narrated by the prosecutrix becomes unreliable also, in view of the statement of investigating officer (PW-6 Kunwar Pal Singh), who has stated that he had inspected the spot and he did not find any broken bangle at the place of occurrence. He has also stated that the prosecutrix had never informed him about any such fact that the appellant kept his legs at her breast and pressed her mouth with his hands.

13. The defence has produced one Yashpal Singh as DW1, who is the neighbour of both i.e. the prosecutrix and the accused-appellant being a resident of the same Awas Vikas Colony, who has stated that the husband of the prosecutrix had to incur heavy expenditure on his medical treatment after his accident and the appellant had lent him a handsome amount for his treatment but Baburam (the husband of prosecutrix) was not returning this loan despite the repeated demands made by the appellant. DW1 has further stated that on 29.6.2012 between 5 to 7 A.M. he was on routine morning walk in the park situated at the front of his house but he did not see the prosecutrix going towards the house of the appellant. He has also stated that the appellant used to milk the cattle and to give them the fodder himself. DW1 has further stated that he did not hear any alarm of the prosecutrix. He has also stated that the entire colony knows that due to dispute of payment of loan, the prosecutrix has lodged the false FIR against the appellant.

14. The husband of the prosecutrix Baburam has been produced as DW2. He has stated that due to truck accident his right hand had to be amputated and he had to take loan of Rs. 60,000/- from the appellant. When he returned home from the hospital, the appellant started to demand back his money. As his right hand had been amputated, he was unable to earn so he could not return the loan. In June 2012, when he had gone to Gauhati, some people instigated his wife to lodge the FIR against the appellant, who was continuously demanding his money back. DW2 has stated that his wife is an illiterate lady, who, under the influence and instigation of some people of the locality, put her thumb impression on the FIR. Later on, when Sanjeev (appellant) was lodged in jail, the persons, who had instigated his wife, told her that if she would not support the story, mentioned in the FIR, in the court, she would also be lodged in jail. Hence out of fear, his wife has deposed in the court against the appellant. The appellant is his real nephew and is married too.

15. The learned trial court disbelieved the defence witnesses and relied on the statement of the prosecutrix mainly on the ground that as the FIR has been lodged promptly by the prosecutrix, there was no time for her to concoct a false story. The learned trial court did not find any good ground to disbelieve the prosecution case on the basis of the fact that Mahipal, uncle of the prosecutrix, was not produced.

16. With regard to absence of injuries on the body of the prosecutrix, the learned trial court expressed its view that the incident has taken place at 6.00 A.M. and the medical examination has been conducted on the same day at 1.45 P.M., hence during this time gap the marks of injuries may fade and vanish.

17. No opinion has been expressed by the learned trial court with regard to the contradictions and improvements in the statement of the prosecutrix.

18. There is no doubt that the cases of rape should be dealt by the courts with an iron hand and the conviction of an accused of rape can be based even on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix but the condition is that the same inspires confidence and appears to be absolutely trustworthy, unblemished and should be of sterling quality. In so far as the present case is concerned, undoubtedly the solitary evidence of prosecutrix does not fall in that category and it is neither safe nor proper to hold the appellant guilty of rape only on the basis of her sole testimony.

19. In the case of Krishan Kumar Malik Vs. State Haryana, (2011) 7 SCC 130 the Apex court under almost same facts has set aside the conviction and has acquitted the accused. Explaining/ elaborating the meaning of 'sterling witness', Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rai Sandeep Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (2012) 8 SCC 21 has observed as under:-

"In our considered opinion, the "sterling witness" should be of a very high quality and calibre whose version should, therefore, be unassailable. The court considering the version of such witness should be in a position to accept it for its face value without any hesitation. To test the quality of such a witness, the status of the witness would be immaterial and what would be relevant is the truthfulness of the statement made by such a witness. What would be more relevant would be the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time when the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately before the court. It should be natural and consistent with the case of prosecution qua the accused. There should be not be any prevarication in the version of such a witness."

20. Testing the facts of the present case on the touchstone of law as laid down by the Apex Court in the judgments cited above, this court is of the considered view that it was not justifiable for the learned trial court to convict the appellant on solitary statement of prosecutrix, which being full of contradictions, omissions, embellishments and improvements, cannot be termed as that of sterling quality.

21. Therefore, the impugned judgment of the trial court is liable to be set aside and the appellant deserves to be acquitted from the charges leveled against him.

22. Accordingly, this appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 24.12.2015 passed by the trial court is hereby set aside.

23. It is unfortunate that the appellant, from the first date of his arrest, is languishing in jail because his bail application was rejected by the trial court and this court also, taking into account that the appeal is ripe for final hearing, did not consider his bail. As a result, the appellant has been languishing in jail and has already spent more than four years in jail without any fault. Therefore, it is directed that the appellant shall be released forthwith from jail, if not wanted in any other case.

24. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

Writ A No.- 1974 Of 2015

...Petitioners

Versus

Smt Geeta Sharma & Anr.

...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:

Shri Rishikesh Tripathi

Counsel for the Respondents:

Shri Anil Sharma, Shri Sanjay Agrawal

Held –

Background and Parties: The dispute concerns shop No. 341/1-2, Sadar Bazar, Jhansi. Smt. Geeta Sharma (Respondent No. 1) is the owner and landlady. The original tenant, Naresh Bhatiya, ran a stationery shop; upon his death, the tenancy passed to his widow (Smt. Rashmi Bhatiya) and two unmarried daughters (Km. Ritu and Km. Richa).

The Release Application: The landlady filed a release application under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 ("the Rent Act") to establish an Ayurvedic Clinic, either in the shop's existing form or after reconstruction. The application was contested by the widow and Km. Ritu Bhatiya, while Km. Richa did not contest.

Lower Court Decisions: The Prescribed Authority allowed the release application on April 10, 2013, and the tenants' subsequent appeal was dismissed on February 16, 2014. The tenants filed this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to challenge both lower court orders.

Petitioners' Three Legal Grounds: The petitioners' counsel, Sri Rishikesh Tripathi, challenged the judgments on three grounds: (1) the release application was unmaintainable because it was filed by a power of attorney holder, (2) the courts below erred on the "bona fide need" factor, and (3) comparative hardship favored the tenants.

Core Issue Identified: Both parties agreed that the primary legal question is whether a power of attorney holder can validly file a release application. The other two issues (hardship and bona fide need) are mostly factual and limited under Article 226/227 jurisdiction.

Petitioners' Argument on Maintenance: Sri Tripathi argued that under Section 3(j) of the Rent Act and Rule 15, a release application must be signed and verified strictly by the owner-landlord themselves and none else. The current application was signed/verified only by the power of attorney holder, Narendra Mukhraiya.

Nature of the Current Application: The High Court observed that the application was explicitly filed on behalf of the owner, Smt. Geeta Sharma. The bona fide need set up belonged strictly to the owner-landlady, not to the personal interest of the attorney holder.

Law on Power of Attorney: A power of attorney is an instrument of agency governed by the Contract Act and the Powers of Attorney Act, 1882. It is a document of convenience that formally empowers a specified person to represent and act in the name of the principal.

Supreme Court Precedent on Agency: In Tmt. Kasthuri Radhakrishnan, the Supreme Court held that acts done by a power of attorney holder are done on behalf of the principal. The agent gains no personal title, and the legal effect is exactly as if the principal had executed the document themselves.

High Court Precedent on Writ Petitions: A Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court (Syed Wasif Husain Rizvi) recently affirmed that a person is legally entitled to maintain a writ petition through a power of attorney holder.

Application to the Rent Act: Based on these precedents, because a power of attorney holder can file suits and writ petitions in the name of a principal, they can also file a release application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Rent Act, as there is no express statutory prohibition.

Distinction of Landlord Ownership: Under Section 21, the application must reflect the bona fide need of the landlord or their family. In M.M. Quasim, the Supreme Court clarified that for eviction based on bona fide need, the "landlord" must be the actual owner with a right to occupy, not just a mere rent collector.

The Scope of "Landlord" in Previous Judgments: The Court noted that past rulings (Smt. Sughra Begum, Smt. Ved Rani Diwan, Fakaruddin Khan, and Mam Chand) rightly established that a simple rent-collecting agent cannot file a release application for their own personal use, as they cannot substitute the real owner.

Current Case Distounded from Past Rulings: In this case, the actual owner applied for the release through the attorney. The attorney did not claim his own personal need. Therefore, the application is fully maintainable as an action by the principal.

Pleadings and Rule 15 Compliance: The petitioners' objection regarding Rule 15 (signing/verification) was rejected. Rule 15 references the Code of Civil Procedure (CPC) Order VI Rules 14 and 15. The proviso of Order VI Rule 14 expressly allows an authorized person to sign pleadings if the principal party is unavailable.

Ratification by Owner: Furthermore, the owner-landlady filed her own separate affidavit in court, expressly accepting that the application was filed on her behalf and explicitly reiterating and verifying its contents. Thus, the verification is legally sound.

Bona Fide Need Upheld: On the factual question of bona fide need, both lower courts concurrently ruled in favor of the landlady. The High Court stated that simply being wealthy does not disqualify a landlord from having a genuine, bona fide need for their property.

Comparative Hardship Upheld: Comparative hardship does not favor the tenants. They made no serious or active efforts to search for alternative accommodations or apply for a shop allotment. Their approach was deemed too casual.

Status of the Tenant: Additionally, the record shows that Petitioner No. 1 is a schoolteacher. She cannot legally or physically run the stationery shop herself, and the tenants did not claim that the daughters or anyone else would run it on her behalf.

Cantonment Board Sanction Argument: The petitioners argued that since the shop is within cantonment limits, reconstruction requires prior Cantonment Board approval, making the need a "mere desire." The Court found this to be a misreading of the case.

Final Ruling: The landlady's primary intent is to use the shop in its existing state, with reconstruction being only a remote possibility. Seeking prior building sanctions was unnecessary to prove immediate bona fide need. The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. The dispute is about a shop No.341/1-2, Sadar Bazar, Jhansi.
2. Smt. Geeta Sharma the respondent No.1 is the owner and landlady of the said shop. It was under the tenancy of Naresh Bhatiya who was running a stationary shop. On his death the tenancy devolved upon his widow Smt. Rashmi Bhatiya and the two unmarried daughters.
3. The owner and landlady, respondent No.1 applied for release of the above shop under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rent Act") for her bona fide need to establish an Ayurvedic Clinic in its existing form or, if necessary, after demolition and its reconstruction. The release application was contested by Smt. Rashmi Bhatiya by filing a written statement. Later the two daughters of the deceased-tenant were also impleaded and one of them, petitioner No.2 Km. Ritu Bhatiya filed a separate written statement. The other daughter Km. Richa Bhatiya, proforma respondent No.2 did not contest.
4. The release application was allowed vide judgment and order dated 10.4.2013 passed by the Prescribed Authority and the appeal preferred on behalf of the tenants was dismissed on 16.2.2014. These two orders have been impugned through this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.
5. I have heard Sri Rishikesh Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Anil Sharma along with Sri Sanjay Agarwal for the contesting respondent No.1. The respondent No.2 is a formal party who had not participated in the proceedings in the courts below.
6. Sri Tripathi in assailing the impugned judgments has raised the following three points:-
 - (1) The release application was filed by the power of attorney holder of the landlady and, as such, was not maintainable;
 - (2) The courts below have erred in holding the need set up in the release application to be bona fide; and
 - (3) The comparative hardship is in favour of the petitioners.
7. Learned counsel for the parties accept that the principal issue for consideration is whether a power of attorney holder of the owner-landlord can file the release application and that the other two points are more or less factual in nature and probably may not require to be dealt with in view of the limited scope under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India.

8. Sri Tripathi in addressing the first point submitted that the release application can only be filed by the landlord who is the owner of the property and that the power of attorney holder has no right to file it. In order to elaborate his argument he relied upon the definition of the landlord given under Section 3(j) of the Rent Act and certain decisions of the Court. He has also submitted that Rule 15 of the Rules framed under the Rent Act contemplates signing and verification of the release application in the manner prescribed in C.P.C. and provides that where there are more than one landlords it should be signed by all the co-landlords which mean that it has to be signed by the landlord i.e. the owner and by none else.

9. The release application as filed by the respondent No.1 is Annexure - 1 to the petition. The said release application has been filed in the name of the respondent No.1, Smt. Geeta Sharma through special power of attorney holder Narendra Mukhraiya. The release application in the end has been signed and verified by the aforesaid power of attorney holder. It does not bear the signatures of the owner-landlady/respondent No.1.

10. A reading of the release application amply demonstrates that it is an application on behalf of the owner and landlady of the shop through the power of attorney holder. The need set up in the application is also of the owner and landlady and it is not for any personal right or interest of the power of attorney holder.

11. A power of attorney is ordinarily a document of convenience empowering a person to act for in the name of the principal. It is an instrument of agency covered by the Contract Act in general.

12. There is a specific Act governing the powers of attorney i.e. the Powers of Attorney Act, 1882. It defines the "powers of attorney" to include any instrument empowering a specified person to act for in the name of the person executing it.

13. In common parlance a "power of attorney" means a formal instrument by which one person empowers another to represent him or to act in his place for certain or all purposes.

14. Recently, the Supreme Court had an occasion to deal with the powers of attorneys in the case of Tmt. Kasthuri Radhakrishnan and others Vs. M. Chinnian and another AIR 2016 SCW 609. In the said case one V. Dhanapal was power of attorney holder of A. Radhakrishnan. He executed a tenancy agreement on his behalf in favour of respondent No.1. The question arose as to whether any tenancy had come into existence between V. Dhanapal and respondent No.1. The court applying the well settled principles of law held that when Dhanapal, who was acting as an agent of A. Radhakrishnan on the strength of power of attorney, executed the tenancy agreement with respondent No. 1 in relation to the suit premises then he did such execution for and behalf of his principal - A Radhakrishnan, which resulted in creating a relationship of landlord and tenant between A. Radhakrishnan and respondent No. 1 in relation to the suit premises. In this execution, Dhanapal being an agent did not get any right, title and interest of any nature either in the suit premises or in tenancy in himself. The effect of execution of tenancy agreement by an agent was as if A. Radhakrishnan himself had executed it with respondent No.1.

15. The Supreme Court therein quoting from State of Rajasthan Vs. Basant Nahata (2005) 12 SCC 77 and considering the provisions of Power of Attorney Act, 1882 held that it is well settled that an agent acting under a power of attorney always acts, as a general rule, in the name of his principal. Any document executed or thing done by an agent on the strength of power of attorney is as effective as if executed or done in the name of principal, i.e., by the principal himself. An agent, therefore, always acts on behalf of the principal and exercises only those powers, which are given to him in the power of attorney by the principal. Any act or thing done by the agent on the strength of power of attorney is, therefore, never construed or/and treated to have been done by the agent in his personal capacity so as to create any right in his favour but is always construed as having done by the principal himself. An agent, therefore, never gets any personal benefit of any nature.

16. More recently a Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court in Syed Wasif Husain Rizvi Vs. Hasan Raza Khan 2016 (2) ADJ 571 (LB)(FB) was seized of a question whether a writ petition can be filed through a power of attorney holder. The Court after considering entire law on the subject came to the conclusion that a person is entitled to maintain a writ petition through a power of attorney.

17. In view of the aforesaid decisions there is no legal bar for a power of attorney holder in presenting a suit or filing a writ petition in the name of the principal. Accordingly, when a power of attorney holder is authorised to file a writ petition in the name of the principal the inference is clear that he can also file a release application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Rent Act on behalf of the principal owner-landlord as there is no specific prohibition.

18. Section 21 of the Rent Act envisages an application of the landlord for eviction of a tenant if the premises is bona fide required by him for occupation by him or any member of his family.

19. In view of the above, the application for release has to be an application by the landlord for bona fide need of himself or any member of his family. In such circumstances, the need cannot be of anyone else, much-less that of the agent or the power of attorney holder.

20. The decision in the case of M.M. Quasim Vs. Manohar Lal Sharma and others AIR 1981 SC 1113 is only to the effect that the word 'landlord' may include a person who is receiving or is entitled to receive rent of a building but for the purposes of claiming possession on the ground of bona fide need he must show that he is landlord in the sense that he is the owner of the building and has a right to occupy it in his own right. A mere rent collector may not be sufficient for such an application.

21. The aforesaid decision was rendered by the Supreme Court in connection with the Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act which contains provisions analogous to the Rent Act in U.P.

22. The definition of the 'landlord' in the rent enactments is of wide amplitude which not only covers the owner of the property who has the right to occupy it but also the person receiving or collecting rent on his behalf. But for the purposes of release of the property from the tenant the word 'landlord' was interpreted in a narrower sense excluding the rent collector and confining it to the owner of the property.

23. In Smt. Sughra Begum Vs. Sri Ram and others 1982 (2) ARC 143 His Lordship of this Court (Later Chief Justice) relying upon M.M. Quasim Vs. Manohar Lal Sharma and others (supra) held that an agent or attorney of the owner of the house may realise rent and may be considered to be landlord within the meaning of Section 3(j) of the Rent Act but such a person would not be entitle to move an application for release under Section 21 of the Rent Act.

24. The aforesaid decision was followed by another judge of this Court in the case of Smt. Ved Rani Diwan and another Vs. VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad and others 1996 (2) ARC 14 wherein it was laid down that a person taken as a landlord for the purposes of realising rent under Section 3(j) of the Act if not entitle to occupy the building let out to a tenant in his own right as landlord, cannot be recognized as a landlord for the purposes of filing application for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act for his own use.

25. A similar view was expressed in Fakaruddin Khan Vs. Xth Additional District Judge, Kanpur and others 1998 (1) ARC 449.

26. In Mam Chand and others Vs. Pramodini Srivastava and others 2014 (5) ALJ 106 it has been held that an application under Section 21 of the Rent Act cannot be filed by mere agent or attorney as he cannot substitute the real owner or the landlord for the purposes of adducing evidence. The right to get a building demolished and reconstructed cannot be allowed to be exercised at the instance of a person who has been authorised to collect rent. The authority of the person empowered to collect the rent must be much more than mere collection of rent which necessarily means that of an owner or the person entitle to occupy the property in his own right.

27. All the aforesaid decisions deal with the definition of landlord as contained in various statutes including the Rent Act in question and it is held to be narrower for the purposes of applying for release of the accommodation. Even in the narrower sense, as explained by the aforesaid authorities, it is the owner who has been held to be entitle to apply for release of the building.

28. In the instant case, it is the owner who has applied for release under Section 21 of the Rent Act through power of attorney. The application through power of attorney is as if it is by the principal. The power of attorney has not set up his own need and has not filed the release application in his own name. Therefore, the submission that the release application is not maintainable as it has been filed through the power of attorney holder has no force.

29. The power of attorney holder acts on behalf of the principal and not for any of his personal rights. There is no express prohibition under the Rent Act debarring the owner-landlord from applying for release through power of attorney holder.

30. The submission that the release application is not signed and verified by the owner and landlady as contemplated by Rule 15 of the Rules framed under the Rent Act is also without substance.

31. Rule 15 of the Rules provides that the application for release must be signed and verified in the manner prescribed under Rules 14 and 15 of Order VI of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure.

32. Rule 14 of Order VI C.P.C. states that every pleading shall be signed by the party and his pleader, if any. Under the proviso it lays down that if a party is not available it may be signed by any person duly authorised by him to sign the same or to sue or defend on his behalf. It by necessary implication means that ordinarily pleadings/release application are required to be signed by the party concerned but in his absence a person duly authorised to sign on his behalf may also sign it which definitely includes the power of attorney.

33. Thus, there is no bar for the power of attorney holder to sign and verify the pleadings as contemplated by Rule 14 Order VI C.P.C. referred to in Rule 15 of the Rules framed under the Rent Act.

34. The release application in the case at hand as stated earlier, has been filed in the name of the owner-landlady through the power of attorney holder. It has been signed and verified by the power of attorney holder on behalf of the owner-landlady. The owner-landlady by her own affidavit (paper No.74A-2) has accepted that the release application has been filed on her behalf through the power of attorney holder and that she reiterates and verifies the contents of the release application.

35. In view of the above, there is no illegality in signing and verifying the release application by the power of attorney holder.

36. Now advertng to the bona fide need of the owner-landlady, the courts below have concurrently held in her favour. The mere fact that the owner-landlady is a rich person is not enough to deny the release of the shop to her when otherwise her need is found to be genuine and bona fide. The finding in this regard is not shown to be perverse which may permit any interference by this Court.

37. The comparative hardship as held by the courts below does not tilt in favour of the petitioners for the simple reason that they have not made any serious effort to search out any alternative accommodation. They have not even applied for allotment of any shop which clearly indicates their casual approach, if any, in searching out an alternative shop.

38. This apart, it has come on record that petitioner No.1 is a Teacher in a school. She, therefore, cannot run the shop despite tenancy having devolved upon her. It is not their case that the shop would be run by the daughter of the deceased-tenant or by someone on her behalf.

39. Sri Rishikesh Tripathi had argued that the need of the landlady-respondent No.1 is for establishing an Ayurvedic Clinic in place of the shop. The shop is situate within the cantonment limits where no new construction can be done without prior permission of the Cantonment Board as envisaged under Section 234 of the Act. The landlady-respondent No.1 has not applied for sanction of the map, her need is not imminent and is a mere desire.

40. The argument is based upon a complete misreading of the plaint case. The landlady-respondent No.1 in her release application has clearly stated that on the release of the shop in dispute she would open an Ayurvedic Clinic/Spa therein for which she has no other place and the shop in dispute is ideal for it. In paragraph 7 of the release application it has clearly been stated that she requires the shop in its existing state and only, if necessary, she will undertake some changes or its reconstruction. The reconstruction of a new building after demolition of the shop was only a remote possibility. The permission for reconstruction would be necessary only after a final decision is taken for the demolition of the existing shop and its reconstruction. The said situation has not arisen. In these circumstances, seeking permission for reconstruction of the shop was not necessary to establish bona fide need.

41. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, there is no merit in the petition and the same is dismissed.

Criminal Revision No.- 2297 Of 2016

Shankar Shah @ Shankar Shahu ...Revisionist
State Of U.P. Versus
 ...Opposite party

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Shri Anish Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
G.A.

Held –

Paragraph 1: This criminal revision challenge is filed against the trial court's judgment (dated 27.2.2012 by the ACJM, Ghazipur) and the lower appellate court's judgment (dated 26.7.2016 by the Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur) convicting the revisionist under Section 7/16 of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act.

Paragraph 2: The High Court heard arguments from the revisionist's counsel, the Additional Government Advocate (AGA), and thoroughly examined the case records.

Paragraph 3: The revisionist was charged for selling adulterated namkeen (containing Khesari dal) and violating packaging rules. The trial court found that the prosecution followed all legal procedures, proved the adulteration and lack of proper packaging labels, gave the accused a fair defense opportunity, and sentenced him to one year of simple imprisonment with a Rs. 2,000 fine.

Paragraph 4: The revisionist appealed the conviction, but the lower appellate court dismissed it, finding no technical or factual errors. The appellate court confirmed that the accused was properly questioned under Section 313 CrPC, chose not to test a second sample, and upheld the sentence despite noting the accused's advanced age and health issues.

Paragraph 5: The High Court concluded that there are no factual, legal, or procedural errors in the concurrent findings of the two lower courts, thereby officially confirming the revisionist's conviction.

Paragraph 6: The Court noted that awarding an appropriate and adequate sentence based on the nature, motive, and planning of the crime is a judicial duty, which is why sentencing hearing provisions (Sections 235(2) and 248(2) CrPC) exist.

Paragraph 7: The Court observed that the lower courts failed to properly evaluate the mitigating factor of the revisionist's old age. Rather than sending the case back and delaying it further, the High Court decided to modify the sentence itself.

Paragraph 8: Noting that the revisionist's voter ID shows he is now approximately 73 years old, ailing, and physically disabled, the Court determined he is unlikely to repeat the offense. Consequently, it reduced the punishment to the statutory minimum of six months imprisonment and a Rs. 1,000 fine.

Paragraph 9: The revision is partly allowed. While the conviction is upheld, the sentence is officially reduced to six months of simple imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 1,000 (plus an additional month of imprisonment if the fine is not paid).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This revision has been preferred against judgement dated 27.2.2012 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghazipur in criminal case no. 2091 of 2004 (State Vs. Shankar Shah and others) under Section 7/16 of Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, P.S. Mardah, Ghazipur and the judgment dated 26.7.2016 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 6, Ghazipur.

2. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist, learned AGA and perused the records.

3. The revisionist was charged for offence under Section 7/16 Prevention of Food Adulteration Act for selling the edible articles (namkeen), which was found adulterated, inter alia, with Khesari, and also for not complying mandatory legal directions required for selling such articles. Trial court had afforded opportunity of hearing to the complainant side as well as accused/revisionist and thereafter reached to the conclusion that at the time of charged incident, revisionist, Shankar Shah @ Shankar Shahu was selling adulterated edible articles (namkeen dalmot), and also without complying mandatory directions regarding packaging and printing of information that should be mentioned on the packing of edible items. After giving conclusion on facts, trial court had also considered the compliance of rules and procedure being carried out by Food Inspector since before initiation of proceedings of prosecution till conclusion of trial, and found that prosecution side had not committed any illegality or procedural irregularity and proved its case on facts of the charge, about prosecution sanction and about affording opportunity to accused to adduce his proper defence. Thereafter trial court had passed order of conviction. After that learned Magistrate had afforded opportunity of hearing to the accused on the point of quantum of sentence and then passed sentence of simple imprisonment of one year with fine of Rs. 2,000/- (in default of payment of fine, one month further imprisonment).

4. Against the judgement of trial court, criminal appeal no. 25 of 2012 (Shankar Shah @ Shankar Shahu Vs. State of U.P. and another) was preferred, which was heard and dismissed by the judgement dated 26.7.2016 of Addl. Sessions Judge, Court no.-6, Ghazipur. In this judgment, lower appellate court had also considered the evidences including the facts relating to report of Government Public Analyst regarding adulteration found in the edible articles sold by revisionist, non-compliance of mandatory provisions regarding packaging and printing of information, prosecution sanction and other technical points. After considering the legal, technical and factual aspects of the matter, lower appellate court had found that judgment of trial court is not erroneous. First appellate court had also considered those arguments of appellant side that he was not afforded proper opportunity to place his defence and gave specific finding that during statement under Section 313 CrPC all relevant questions relating to prosecution case and relevant evidences of prosecution side were put to revisionist/accused, and that he was afforded proper opportunity of hearing. Learned appellate court had considered that revisionist/ accused had option of sending another sample to Government Public Analyst for testing, but he had not opted for the same. By appreciating the evidences independently the lower appellate court had confirmed the finding and judgment of trial court. Appellate court had also considered the aspect that revisionist is a old man and he has certain difficulty in movement and his daily affairs inspite of it appellate court had not changed the judgment of learned Magistrate.

5. Considering the above facts and circumstances including evidence of the parties, there appears no factual legal or procedural illegality or irregularity in the proceedings carried out before the trial court as well as lower by appellate court. There appears no infirmity in concurrent findings of facts of the two courts below about the correctness of the charge. It is found that the judgment of conviction by the courts below is found without any error, therefore the judgment of conviction is hereby confirmed.

6. It is the duty of the court to see that appropriate sentence is imposed regard being had to the commission of the crime. The justice includes adequate punishment cannot be lightly ignored. For this reason the provisions of sections 235(2) and 248(2) have been incorporated in the Code of Criminal Procedure. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed.

7. In present matter lower courts had not properly appreciated the point of sentence to be awarded to accused/ revisionist. Considering the old age of revisionist who is senior citizen it appears appropriate that instead of remanding the matter for affording proper opportunity of point of sentence, either to trial or to appellate court, proper sentence should be passed by this court.

8. This contention of learned counsel for the revisionist requires consideration that in spite of revisionist being old man having difficulty in movement and daily affairs, he was given harsh punishment. First appellate court had also discussed these points about the age etc. Of the revisionist, who had not given any reason as to why punishment of one year simple imprisonment is appropriate. This point is being considered by this Court. At the time of passing judgment, revisionist/ accused was old man and as per copy of the voter I.D. card of revisionist, his age on 1.1.2001, was about 57 years; therefore at this stage his age should be about 73 years. Lower appellate court had found him ailing and unable to move properly. Considering his old age, ailment and physical inability due to which there may be possibility of not repeating such acts again, this Court is of the opinion that for these reasons minimum punishment would serve to the accused/revisionist would serve the ends of justice, which is imprisonment of six months and fine of Rs. 1,000/-.

9. For the reasons above, the conviction awarded to revisionist Shankar Shah @ Shankar Shahu by trial court as well as lower appellate court is hereby confirmed, but sentence is modified to six months simple imprisonment with fine of Rs. 1,000/-, and in default of payment further imprisonment of one month. Accordingly, this revision is partly allowed.

Paragraph 1: Appeal and Conviction Details

This criminal appeal challenges the judgment dated April 13, 2005, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat. The trial court convicted the appellant, Naresh Raidas, under Sections 304 and 201 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) for killing his wife, Nanhi Devi, and burying her body. He was sentenced to rigorous life imprisonment under Section 304 IPC and 3 years of rigorous imprisonment under Section 201 IPC, with concurrent sentences.

Paragraph 2: The Prosecution's Case

On September 15, 2003, village chaukidar Kallu reported to the police that the appellant had beaten his wife to death during a quarrel on the night of September 11/12, 2003, and buried her body in a pit inside his mud house. Following the FIR, the police and Naib Tehsildar Rajesh Kumar unearthed the dead body, conducted an inquest (Panchayatnama), and sent it for a post-mortem. The police subsequently filed a charge sheet, and the case was committed to the Sessions Court where the accused pleaded not guilty.

Paragraph 3: Prosecution Witnesses

To prove its case, the prosecution examined nine witnesses, including the informant (PW-1), family members of the deceased (PW-3 and PW-5), the medical officer (PW-7), the Investigating Officer (PW-8), and the Naib Tehsildar (PW-9). They also produced documentary evidence, including photographs of the deceased and news cuttings.

Paragraph 4: Statement of the Accused (Section 313 Cr.P.C.)

In his statement, the accused admitted his marriage but denied the murder. He raised an alibi, claiming he was out of town attending a funeral. He argued that his mud roof collapsed due to heavy rain, causing his wife's accidental death, and claimed he was falsely implicated by his brother-in-law over an unpaid loan of Rs. 25,000. No defense evidence was led.

Paragraph 5–8: Key Witness Testimonies (PW-1 to PW-5)

PW-1 and PW-2 testified about learning of the beating from villagers and participating in the recovery of the buried, decomposing body. PW-3 (brother) and PW-5 (brother-in-law) established that the accused was an alcoholic gambler who regularly abused the deceased. They testified that the accused later approached them, confessed to the murder out of jealousy over an alleged illicit affair, and begged for help. PW-4 verified his signature on the inquest report.

Paragraph 9–11: Medical and Investigative Evidence

PW-7, Dr. Arun Kumar Agrawal, detailed five major ante-mortem injuries on the victim's body, including a fractured left parietal bone and torn brain membranes. He concluded that death occurred roughly four days prior due to a coma caused by head injuries and noted that the presence of soil on the body matched a burial. PW-8 and PW-9 verified the crime scene mapping and the formal unearthing of the body.

Paragraph 12–14: Arguments of Both Parties

The appellant's counsel argued that the conviction relied on weak circumstantial evidence, lacked independent eyewitnesses, and contained contradictions regarding the time the body was dug up. Conversely, the State (A.G.A.) argued that the chain of circumstantial evidence—including prior marital abuse, the hidden body in the husband's house, and a failed alibi—firmly established the husband's guilt.

Paragraph 15–18: Court's Evaluation of Circumstantial Evidence

Invoking established legal principles for circumstantial evidence, the High Court rejected the husband's accidental roof-collapse theory. The Court reasoned that an accidental death would not result in a body being buried 1 to 1.5 meters underground. Furthermore, the accused failed to explain his immediate disappearance, never reported the "accident" to the police, and was arrested only after evading law enforcement for 12 days.

Paragraph 19–21: Rejection of Appellant's Technical Objections

The Court highlighted that the severe head injuries indicated a physical assault prior to death. It noted that the victim would unlikely choose to sleep in a dilapidated mud room during rainy weather when a solid (pukka) room was available next door. Additionally, historical written proof from 1998 showed the accused had previously fractured his wife's hands and promised to reform, aggravating the circumstances against him. Minor timeline discrepancies between witnesses were dismissed as irrelevant.

Paragraph 22–24: Review of the Sentence Quantum

While upholding the conviction, the High Court reviewed the sentence. The appellant's counsel pleaded for leniency, highlighting that the case relies entirely on circumstantial evidence, the appellant had no prior criminal record, he was 35 at the time of the offense, had two young children, and had already spent over 13 consecutive years in prison.

Paragraph 25–28: Modification of Sentence and Final Order

Balancing the aggravating factors of the crime with mitigating personal factors (such as age and time served), the Court confirmed the 3-year sentence under Section 201 IPC but modified the life sentence under Section 304 IPC. The Court reduced his imprisonment to the period already undergone (over 13 years). The appeal was partly allowed, and the jail authorities were directed to process the compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Kakkar, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 13.4.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Kanpur Dehat in S.T.No.556 of 2003 arising out of Case Crime No.108 of 2003, State vs. Naresh Raidas, convicting the appellant under Section 304 and 201 I.P.C. and sentencing him under Section 304 IPC rigorous life imprisonment with fine of Rs.3000/- and under Section 201 IPC 3 years rigorous imprisonment with a fine of Rs.2000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo additional imprisonment for two years. All the sentences were to run concurrently.

2. The prosecution case, in brief, is that on 15.9.2003 Kallu gave a written script to the police stating that he is chowkidar of the village Shahjahanpur; he heard people of village Marua Shahjahanpur saying that Naresh Raidas of the village quarrelled with his wife Nanhi Devi on the intervening night of 11/12.9.2003 and started beating her badly which resulted in her death, thereafter he dug a pit in a room of his muddy dilapidated house and buried the dead body in the pit and since then neither he nor his wife was seen in the village. Based on the written report (Ex. Ka-1) original chick of First Information Report (Ex. Ka-2) was lodged in police station and its entry in GD is Ex.Ka-3. On receiving the report Investigating Officer rushed to the place of occurrence and informed the Sub Divisional Magistrate of the dead body that was laid underneath the mud house thereby requesting him to send an official in whose presence the body may be unearthed. In the presence of Rajesh Kumar, Naib Tehsildar Bhognipur the dead body was dug out and a Panchayatnama (Ex. Ka-7) was prepared. The Naib Tehsildar got a letter prepared addressed to the Chief Medical Officer, Kanpur Dehat that was Ex. Ka-8 and the dead body was sent for post-mortem examination. The Investigating Officer thereafter investigated the matter and submitted charge sheet (Ex. Ka-6) against the accused appellant under Sections 304 and 201 IPC to the court. The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate took cognizance on the charge sheet and committed the case to sessions court for trial of accused. Thereafter, charges were framed by the trial court against the accused under Sections 304 and 201 IPC. The accused denied charges and claimed trial.

3. To prove its case the prosecution examined PW-1 Kallu, PW-2 Prakash, PW-3 Ganga Ram, PW-4 Rajendra, PW-5 Radheshyam, PW-6 Prem Babu, PW-7 Dr. Arun Agrawal, PW-8 B.S. Ponia, Sub Inspector and PW-9 Rajesh, Kumar, Naib Tehsildar, Bhognipur Kanpur Dehat and original written letter Ex.Ka13 along with photograph of the deceased and paper cuttings, paper no.16-Ka and 17 Ka-1 to 17 Ka-4 were produced from prosecution side.

4. After the close of prosecution evidence, statements of the accused appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded by the trial court in which he admitted to have married to Nanhi Devi and birth of the children but denied the incident. He said that two days before the fateful day he had gone to Chandeli ka Nagla, District Etawah to attend funeral of his sister's demised maternal father-in-law. He stated that his wife was alone in the house as his parents were living separately and his children were living with him. Due to rain the roof had fallen on his wife and she succumbed to her injuries. He further stated that his brother-in-law (Sadu) Radheyshyam had taken

Rs.25000/- from him and when the money was demanded, he got me falsely implicated in this case. However, no evidence was led by the appellant in his defence.

5. PW-1 Kallu stated that he dictated the script to one Mister and put his thumb impression after it was read over to him. He further stated that he knew accused Naresh Raidas who was present in the court. He recollected that it was the incident of 11/12 September 2003 and the villagers told him that Naresh was beating his wife but he did not find Naresh on reaching his house and when the accused or his wife had not been seen for two-three days, the report was lodged at the police station.

6. PW-2 Prakash stated that he knew the accused who had killed his wife Nanhi Devi.. He heard the villagers saying that both Naresh and his wife used to often quarrel and therefore he had killed his wife. He went to police station with Kallu where large number of villagers were present. He further stated that the Tehsildar and the Station House Officer took them to the house of Naresh, they dug the place and brought the dead body out which was swollen and bad smell was coming out of it.

7. PW-3 Ganga Ram, who is brother of deceased Nanhi, stated that his sister was married to accused Naresh Raidas about 11 years ago and out of the wedlock three children were born. Naresh became alcoholic and fell prey to gambling after his marriage and lost almost all household belongings in gamble and used to beat his sister and when she resisted he beat her badly and thereafter he along with his brother-in-law Radheyshyam had gone to his house and Naresh had promised not to repeat such acts in future and gave it in writing. He also stated that he came to know about his sister's death from newspapers and then he came to the house of Radheyshyam, who is his brother-in-law and a teacher. The accused also came there and admitted that he had killed his wife (deceased) on suspicion of her having illicit relations with one Balbir and afraid of being apprehended, he had concealed the dead body after digging out a pit in a room of his mud house and requested to save him from the police.

8. PW-4 Rajendar who is resident of the same village stated in his evidence that he knew the accused as well as the deceased Nanhi Devi and the panchayatnama of the dead body was prepared before him and he has signed on it along with Jodha Lal, Lakshmi, Bhagwati Prasad Katiyar, Surendra Prasad Rai. The witness has also verified his signatures on the panchayatnama.

9. PW-5 Radheyshyam in his evidence reiterated the same story as was stated by PW-3 Ganga Ram in his evidence. He said that on receiving the news of his sister's death, Ganga Ram came to his house on 18.9.2003 and informed about the death of his sister. PW-5 in his evidence said that the deceased Nanhi was married to Naresh Raidas in the year 1990 and the marriage was solemnized by him at his own residence because the father of the deceased had died. He further stated that three children were born out of their wedlock. After his marriage Naresh used to drink and beat his wife and became a gambler. This witness also showed a picture of the deceased in which she had plaster in her both hands because the accused had beaten her badly in a state of drunkenness.

10. PW-6 Constable Ram Babu stated in his evidence that on 15.9.2003 he had registered the F.I.R. (Ex. Ka2) on the basis of script given by the informant which was disclosed at Report No.14, its carbon copy is Ex.Ka-3.

11. PW-7 Dr. Arun Kumar Agrawal who was Medical Officer posted at P.H.C. Vidhanu, Kanpur Nagar had conducted the post mortem examination of the deceased. He stated in his evidence that on 16.9.2003 he had conducted the post mortem examination of the deceased Nanhi, wife of Naresh. The deceased was brought by Constable Subhash Singh and Constable Ram Chandar. P.W.7 Dr. Arun Kumar Agrawal proved the post moretm report Ext. Ka-4 before the trial court and stated that following ante moretm injuries were found on the body of the deceased :-

1. 12 x 6 c.m. bluish mark on the upper and external side of right hand and 7 c.m. bluish mark on elbow of right hand.
2. 30 x 6 c.m. bluish mark on upper side and elbow of left hand
3. 8 x 3 c.m. bluish mark on external side of left thigh which was 17 c.m. before the left knee
4. 35 x 18 c.m. small bluish mark on the left side of chest
5. 2 x 1 c.m. rupture mark on the left side of head which was 7 c.m. away from left ear.

12. He also stated in his examination that if the dead body is burried beneath the earth and taken out, there is possibility of the soil wrapped on the dead body. He further stated that there was no rigor mortis present. The doctor has opined as under :-

मृत्यु के बाद की अकड़न हाथ पैरों से जा चुकी थी, आंखे बाहर निकली थी, मुँह खुला था, पेट फूला था। सर के ऊपर बाल और खाल नहीं थी। पूरे शरीर पर मिट्टी थी दांत और नाखून न ढीले थे और खाल जगह से उतर गई थी।

बांयी पैराइटल हड्डी टूटी हुई थी, दिमाग की झिल्लियां फटी हुई थी तथा दिमाग, द्रव व खून से मिला हुआ था।

मृतका की मृत्यु का कारण सिर पर चोटो के कारण उत्पन्न कोमा था और मृत्यु पोस्टमार्टम करने के चार दिन पहले हुई थी। यदि शरीर को जमीन में गाड़ दिया जाये और बाद में उसको निकाला जाये तो शरीर पर मिट्टी लगी रहना सम्भव है।¹⁸

13. P.W.8 the Investigating Officer proved site plan and inquest report and after completion of the investigation filed a charge sheet Ext. Ka6. P.W.9 - Rajesh Kumar is Naib Tehsildar who stated before the trial court that on the orders of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate he visited the spot and in his presence the body of the deceased Nanhi Devi was dug out and further he conducted the preparation of the inquest report which is Ext.Ka-7.

14. After close of the prosecution evidence, statements of all the charged accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

15. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellant is that the judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the court below is against the weight of evidence, against the law and there is material contradiction between P.W.1 and P.W.2. Further submission is that there had not been any independent eye witness of the said incident. The material evidence produced before the trial court has not been properly appreciated. Hence, the impugned judgment is patently illegal, arbitrary and unsustainable in the eye of law. Lastly it has been submitted that the sentence awarded to the appellant is too severe, therefore, the judgment and order is liable to be set aside and the appeal is liable to be allowed.

16. Per contra, learned A.G.A. made submission that the case is based on the circumstantial evidence. The accused is the husband of the deceased. There is evidence that prior to the incident relations were strained between the accused and his wife Nanhi Devi. This resulted into the frequent assault by the husband on the deceased Smt. Nanhi Devi. It is also established by cogent evidence tendered before the lower court that on 11/12.9.2003 the accused husband Naresh Raidas had beaten his wife resulting in death of the deceased and thereafter he had concealed the dead body beneath the mud house. It is also contended that the defence statement of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. regarding the plea of alibi has not been substantiated by tendering any evidence in defence. The case is based on circumstantial evidence and all the chain of the link evidence has been tendered before the court below. The judgment and order of the court below is well reasoned and there is neither any illegality nor perversity in the impugned judgment of conviction and order. Accordingly, appeal is liable to be dismissed.

17. We have considered the submissions raised by both the parties and perused the impugned judgment along with the relevant records. Undoubtedly, this case is based on the circumstantial evidence. So far as the legal proposition regarding the proof of circumstantial evidence is concerned, in the case of Sharad Birdhi Chand Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622 the Apex Court has laid down five golden principles which constitute Panchshel of the proof in a case based on circumstantial evidence. They are as follows :-

1. The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established;

2. The facts so established should be consistent with the hypothesis of guilt and the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

3. The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

4. They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

5. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

18. It transpires from the record that FIR was lodged by the chaukidar P.W.1 Kallu and it is also established that the dead body was recovered by digging the pit in the mud house of the accused and it was done in the presence of police as well as the Naib Tehsildar. It is also established by the prosecution evidence that the dead body was recovered by digging the pit. On the basis of the oral evidence tendered by P.W.1 Kallu, P.W.2 Prakash, P.W. 8 Investigating Officer B.S. Ponia, P.W.9 Rajesh Kumar, Naib Tehsildar and the inquest report clearly establishes that the dead body of the deceased Smt. Nanhi Devi was recovered from the mud house by digging a pit near about 1 x 1.5 mt. in depth. So far as the defence of the accused that it is due to the falling of the roof by rain is concerned, although the accused has not substantiated it by any oral evidence, but the circumstance is so clear that the dead body was taken out by digging the pit. More so, there cannot be a doubt that the defence version is to be appreciated on the principles of preponderance of probabilities but taking out of the dead body by digging a pit, that too by 1 x 1.5 mt. in depth and ante mortem injuries were also found while conducting the post mortem report which is proved by the prosecution witness P.W.7 Dr. Arun Kumar Agarwal.

19. It is also pertinent to mention here that the accused has not explained as to from which date he was out from his house and when he returned and in what condition he saw the dead body. More so, he has not reported this incident to anyone else neither to the police nor to the villagers which is sufficient to disbelieve the defence version. It also transpires from the record that after this incident the accused Naresh Raidas, the husband of the deceased, was arrested after 12 days of the registration of the FIR. This is indicative of the fact that if the death of the wife was caused by an accident why this matter has not been reported to anyone specially to the police and the accused got himself out of the picture for 10-15 days. The learned trial court has rightly come to the conclusion that the defence has been taken in order to save himself from the culpability of the offence. As it has already been mentioned that if the death was caused in an accident due to the fall of the roof during rainy season then under what circumstances the dead body was to be recovered by digging the pit and that too 1 x 1.5 mts. This circumstance itself proved that the explanation tendered by the defence is neither believable nor in ordinary course can be taken to be correct.

20. In this case the dead body has been recovered from the mud house by digging 1 x 1.5 mts pit. It is proved that only husband, wife and the children reside in the house and the site plan reveals that in addition to this dilapidated mud house there is a 'pukka' room adjacent to it. The ante mortem injuries is indicative of the fact that some altercation and assault had taken place before the death of the deceased. More so, the husband (accused) had not informed this incident neither to the villagers nor to the police. In addition to it, the husband accused escaped from the spot and it was only after the registration of the FIR his arrest was made after 12 days of the incident.

21. There is presence of five ante mortem injuries in which there were two contusions on the right and left hand, one contusion on thigh, one contusion on chest and lacerated wound on the left side of the head and fracture of the left parietal bone and membranes of brain were torn. It also establishes the fact that before the death of the victim certain assault has been attributed. One of the important features in this circumstance to the extent that if there is an adjacent permanent room then in a rainy season why the deceased will prefer that room which was in a dilapidated condition in a mud house. The story of the defence that the accident took place due to heavy rain which resulted in the death of the deceased seems to be improbable and not believable under the facts and circumstances as stated above. The learned court below has rightly concluded that this defence has been taken only to save his complicity and involvement in the commission of crime.

22. It is also relevant to mention here that there is supporting evidence tendered by P.W.5 Radheyshyam and P.W.3 Ganga Ram, who happen to be the close relatives of the deceased. One is brother and another his brother-in-law. They had established the fact that there were serious altercations and assaults prior to the incident resulting into the fracture of the deceased Nani Devi in 1998 and about that incident the accused Nares Raidas had promised not to repeat such acts in future and had also given a written assurance on 24.8.1998 which is paper no. Ext.Ka-3 proved by the witness. This is one of the attending and aggravating circumstances to the incident, involvement and complicity of the accused in commission of the crime.

23. So far as the submission with regard to the fact that there is no mention in the facts about the entry and exit of the police force and Naib Tehsildar at the spot, we are unable to accept this contention as it is not so relevant under the facts and circumstances of the case. So far as the contention regarding variance of the statement between P.W.1 Kallu and P.W.2 Prakash about the timing of the digging of the dead body, we do not find any substance in this argument because the inquest report Ex.Ka7 which has been proved before the trial court clearly and categorically mentions the timing at about 12.15 P.M. which has been confirmed by P.W.2 Prakash. Under such circumstances we do not find any substance in the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant.

24. For the foregoing reasons we are of the considered opinion that the judgment of conviction passed by the court below does not suffer from any illegality, perversity or infirmity which requires any interference by this Court. Accordingly, the order of conviction is hereby confirmed.

25. So far as the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant regarding the quantum of sentence is concerned, the submission raised by the appellant before us is that the whole prosecution case is based on the circumstantial evidence. There is no direct evidence of the commission of the culpable homicide. Accused is the husband and the deceased is his wife. Accused was aged about 35 years at the time of the incident having two small kids. The accused is languishing in jail for the past more than 13 years. The case is of conviction under Section 304 IPC in which maximum sentence is life imprisonment; accused has no criminal antecedents nor he has been convicted in any other offence prior to this conviction. Keeping in view the age, incident, nature, gravity, circumstance, manner and mode and all the attending and relevant circumstances into consideration, since substantial portion of the conviction has been served so his submission is that his sentence may be reduced as almost 13 years has already been undergone by him.

26. In Bachansing Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1980 SC 898 the Hon'ble Apex Court while interpreting Section 354(3) and 235(2) Cr.P.C. elaborated two aspects, firstly that the extreme penalty can be inflicted only in gravest cases of extreme culpability and secondly in making the choice of sentence due regard must be paid to the circumstances of the offender also.

27. The Court has to decide the punishment after considering all aggravating and mitigating factors and the circumstances in which the crime has been committed. Conduct and state of mind of the accused and age of the victim and the gravity of the criminal act are the factors of paramount importance. The court must exercise its discretion in imposing the punishment objectively considering the facts and circumstances of the case.

28. With reference to the sentence we have perused the record. The accused appellant was convicted under Section 304 IPC for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.3,000/-; under Section 201 I.P.C. rigorous imprisonment for three years and a fine of Rs.2,000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo further additional two years imprisonment. It transpires from the record that the accused is the husband and deceased is his wife. It also transpires from the record that at the time of incident they had two children out of the said wedlock. The conviction is recorded on 13.4.2005 and at the time of recording of this sentence order the accused was aged about 35 years and now he is above 45 years and he has already spent about more than 13 years in jail. Also convict has no criminal antecedents.

29. Perusal of record shows that accused was arrested on 26.9.2003 during investigation and since then he is languishing in jail.

30. Considering the nature of the offence, gravity, seriousness of the offence, circumstance of the case, previous antecedents and all the circumstances we are of the view that the sentence may be modified and reduced to period already undergone by him.

31. The sentence order under Section 201 I.P.C. for three years and the remaining period of detention of more than 10 years have already been served by him. Therefore, sentence order under Section 201 I.P.C. recorded by the court below is confirmed, but sentence order under Section 304 I.P.C. is modified and reduced to period already undergone by him.

32. Accordingly, this appeal is partly allowed. The sentence is reduced to period already undergone by the appellant.

33. Let a certified copy of the judgment and order be sent to the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned for compliance report. The lower court records be returned for compliance.

Held –

Paragraph 1 (Introduction & Applicant's Arguments): The Court heard the arguments of the applicant's counsel and the Additional Government Advocate (A.G.A.), and perused the record. The applicant's counsel submitted that the incident occurred on December 13, 2015, and a Non-Cognizable Report (N.C.R.) was lodged the next day by the deceased child's grandfather. In this initial report, the grandfather stated that the child had a squabble with someone, received a thrashing, and was referred to the hospital, where he died later that day.

Paragraph 2 (Inquest and Subsequent Implication): The applicant’s counsel highlighted that during the inquest proceedings on December 15, 2015, the child’s father was a witness. The inquest witnesses jointly opined that an “unknown person” killed the deceased with a motive of sodomy. No specific accused was named until December 17, 2015, when the father gave a statement to the Investigating Officer (I.O.) claiming that, while traveling to the hospital, the child gave an oral dying declaration naming the applicant as the assailant who attempted to sodomize and strangle him.

Paragraph 3 (Arguments on Fabricated Evidence): The counsel argued that it is unbelievable and inexplicable that the grandfather and father would completely fail to mention the applicant's identity in the N.C.R. and the inquest if they already knew it. Instead, they explicitly labeled the assailant as an "unknown person" during the inquest. The defense contended that this subsequent implication was a fabricated afterthought by the I.O. to solve the case, noting that there is no other evidence connecting the applicant to the crime, and the deceased's chain was recovered by police independently, not at the instance of the accused. The applicant has been jailed since December 18, 2015, with no early trial conclusion in sight, and promised to cooperate fully if released.

Paragraph 4 (Prosecution's Opposition): The A.G.A. and the informant's counsel opposed the bail. They argued that the grandfather filed the N.C.R. while the father was taking the child to the hospital, explaining the omission of the name. They also noted that the applicant has one prior criminal case. Furthermore, they contended that under Section 174 of the Cr.P.C., the scope of an inquest is limited to finding the cause of death, not identifying the accused, so the omission of the name at that stage should not cast doubt on the prosecution's case.

Paragraph 5 (Defense Rejoinder on Inquest Scope): In reply, the applicant's counsel elaborated that while naming an accused is not legally mandatory during an inquest, if witnesses choose to give a description of the culprit, that description matters. They argued there is a qualitative difference between simply omitting a name and explicitly labeling an assailant as "unknown." If the father knew the applicant's identity via a dying declaration (admissible under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act), declaring the culprit as an "unknown person" at the inquest creates a loud, irreconcilable contradiction that severely damages his credibility.

Paragraph 6 (Court's Decision): After considering the arguments, reviewing the evidence, evaluating the length of detention, noting the unlikelihood of an early trial conclusion, and finding no evidence of potential tampering, the Court decided to grant bail to the applicant.

Paragraph 7 & Conditions (Operative Order): The Court ordered the release of the applicant, Durgesh Pathak @ Rohit Pathak (involved in Case Crime No. 2370 of 2015, under Section 304 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Dehat, District Mirzapur), upon executing a personal bond and two sureties. The release is subject to two conditions: the applicant must not tamper with evidence and must personally appear on every court date.

Paragraph 8 & 9 (Final Directives): The Court authorized the lower court to cancel the bail if any conditions are breached. Finally, it clarified that the observations made in this order are strictly limited to deciding the bail application and will have no bearing on the final merits of the trial.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

2. Perused the record.

3. Submission of the counsel for the applicant is that the incident took place on 13.12.2015 and the N.C.R. with regard to the incident was lodged on next day i.e. on 14.12.2015 at 2.10 p.m. by the grand-father of the deceased. Further submission is that in this N.C.R. which was the first information in point of time about the occurrence, the version given by the grand-father of the deceased was to the effect that on the preceding day i.e. 13.12.2015 the deceased who was a child had picked up some squabble with somebody and it appeared that some body has given him a thrashing as a result of which he was referred to Banaras Hindu University Varanasi. It was further pointed out by the counsel that the deceased had died on 14.12.2015 at 6.00 p.m. in the Hospital. The inquest proceeding of the deceased was also performed on 15.12.2015. It has been emphasized by the counsel that in the inquest proceeding the father of the deceased was himself one of the witnesses of inquest. Counsel has drawn the attention of the court to the inquest proceeding which has been annexed as annexure 3 to the application showing that during the inquest of deceased when the opinion of the inquest witnesses was procured then it was expressed by the inquest witnesses that the deceased was playing in a grove on 13.12.2015 and an 'unknown person' took him to field and probably killed him with the motive of committing sodomy. Further submission is that though till the inquest was prepared the name of any accused did not surface but when the father of the deceased namely, Panchu Yadav was examined on 17.12.2015 he disclosed the name of the applicant as the culprit and gave the statement to the I.O. that while the deceased was being carried to the hospital, he had disclosed to him the fact that while he was flying a kite the applicant caught hold of him and dragged him to Aarahar field and wanted to sodomize him and when he resisted the applicant tried to strangle him and made assault upon him and snatched away the chain which he was bearing and threw it in the field. Submission is that had there been any truth in this assertion of the father of the deceased that he had been told the name of the culprit and the other details of entire murderous assault made upon the deceased by the applicant, then there is no earthly explanation as to why and under what circumstances the aforesaid fact could remain undisclosed earlier. Contention is that it is unthinkable that even though the N.C.R. of the case would be lodged by none else than the grand-father of the deceased and yet he would neither know as to who was the assailant nor would he disclose the identity of applicant therein. It is also wholly inexplicable as to how and why the assailant was disclosed as an 'unknown person' specifically even at the stage of inquest proceeding during the course of which the father of the deceased himself was present and was also a signatory of the same as witness. Submission is that it is so manifestly demonstrable that this subsequent introduction implicating the applicant is nothing but the brain child of the I.O. who some how in order to work out the case has falsely implicated the applicant in the case. Further submission is that apart from the claim of the father of the deceased of having heard the oral dying declaration of the deceased implicating the applicant, there is absolutely no evidence to connect the applicant with crime. Even the chain belonging to the deceased has been recovered by the police on its own and not at the instance of the accused. Further submission is that in the aforesaid circumstances the falsity of the allegation made against the applicant is apparent on the face of record. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 18.12.2015 and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

4. Learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for the informant have opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that N.C.R. was lodged by the grand-father of the deceased while the deceased was taken by the father of deceased to the hospital and therefore, the omission of the applicant's name in the N.C.R. can be attributed to the same reason. Further submission is that there is also one criminal case registered against the applicant before this crime and the applicant has not come up with clean hands in the court. It has also been submitted by the first informant's counsel that the scope of inquest proceedings u/s 174 of Cr.P.C. is very limited and it is beyond the scope of such proceedings to ascertain the identity of the accused. It is not at all required that the name of accused should also be mentioned in the inquest proceedings or should also be disclosed by the witnesses. Contention, therefore, is that the omission of applicant's name in the inquest proceedings should not and can not constitute any legitimate basis to reflect any doubt against the complicity of the applicant in the crime or his identity.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant while placing his rejoinder submission has tried to elaborate upon the scope of inquest proceedings. It has been contended that though it is not necessary to disclose the name of accused in the inquest proceedings as a matter of Law or as a matter of any Rule but if some witnesses of the inquest who are also eyewitnesses of the occurrence or are also the witnesses of some relevant fact having the knowledge about the name of the accused who committed the crime, do on their own volition give out the description of the culprit then such description of the culprit or the name as disclosed by them shall have to be looked into by the court. Submission is that if the description of the culprit given out at the time of inquest proceeding is in contradiction with the name of the accused facing trial then it shall be very relevant fact to be considered and weighed by the court in order to adjudge the truthfulness or the falsehood of the subsequent implication. According to counsel if a witness of inquest who is also eyewitness of the incident of murder discloses the name of a particular accused as the assailant and then subsequently he changed the version and introduced another name of assailant then the contraction of such a nature will substantially detract the evidentiary value of such witness and will also cut at the root of veracity of such witness. In such kind of situation the dichotomy in the name of the culprit and the contradiction with regard to his identity cannot be explained away by resorting to the plea that the earlier contradictory disclosure made at the stage of inquest proceedings was not necessary for the witness to make and that the witness was not bound under law to disclose the name of the accused during the course of inquest proceedings or that it is beyond the scope of proceedings u/s 174 Cr.P.C. to ascertain the name of the accused. In fact those cases where the name of the accused remained undisclosed during the course of inquest proceedings and those cases where a contradictory description has been given in the course of inquest proceedings about the identity of the accused, both of them are on entirely different footing. In the present case the father of the deceased claims to have accompanied his son to the hospital and during his journey the deceased is said to have disclosed the entire details of assault made on him by the applicant. Such a statement said to have been made by the deceased is tantamount to his dying declaration admissible u/s 32 of Indian Evidence Act and would have been a very crucial evidence against the applicant. It is so noteworthy that after the deceased died in the hospital, the same father having full knowledge about the complicity of the applicant in the crime, having full knowledge of the fact that the applicant was responsible for the murder of his son, was made the witness of the inquest proceedings. Yet when he was enquired by the police Officer and his opinion was procured he described the assailant to be of 'unknown identity'. According to counsel, a complete omission to make any mention about the accused or his identity is qualitatively and entirely a different proposition of fact in comparison to the situation where the assailant or the accused has been described to be of 'unknown identity'. Contention of the counsel is that had the father chosen not to give any description about the assailant at all and had he chosen not to make any mention about the accused at the time of inquest, it would have been a very different matter. But if the father of the deceased has chosen to give out the description of the accused then all the logical inference which such description is capable to give rise to shall inevitably follow and there will be no escape out from it. According to counsel, the aforesaid contradiction is too loud to be lightly ignored or be soft-pedaled. The counsel has emphasized upon the distinction between the two situations, one where the name of the accused has not been mentioned in the inquest proceedings, and the other where the accused has been described as some 'unknown person' and has tried to expatiate upon applicant's innocence and his false implication which according to the counsel is nothing but the result of subsequent afterthought and confabulations.

6. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

7. Let the applicant-Durgesh Pathak @ Rohit Pathak, involved in Case Crime No.2370 of 2015, u/s 304 I.P.C., P.S.-Kotwali Dehat, District- Mirzapur be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

8. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

9. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Paragraph 1–3: Core Challenge and Procedure

The petitioner approached the High Court challenging an order dated July 16, 2016, which cancelled his fair price shop license. The primary grounds for the challenge were that the Sub Divisional Magistrate (SDM) passed the order under administrative pressure from the District Magistrate (DM) of Hardoi, and that the SDM lacked any legal authority to review or recall his own final order. Given the straightforward question of law involved, the Court decided the matter finally with the consent of both parties without waiting for a formal counter-affidavit.

Paragraph 4: Background of the Dispute

The petitioner's license was initially suspended on April 16, 2016, following an inquiry into irregularities reported by a complainant. After considering the petitioner's explanation, the SDM (Respondent No. 3) passed a final order on June 7, 2016, choosing not to cancel the license. Instead, the SDM confiscated the security deposit, imposed a penalty of Rs. 5,000 with a warning, and fully restored the fair price shop. Subsequently, a third party filed a fresh complaint with the DM, who then directed the SDM to recall the restoration order due to the seriousness of the allegations. Acting on these administrative dictates, the SDM recalled his order and re-suspended the license.

Paragraph 5–7: Arguments and Subsequent Inquiries

The petitioner's counsel argued that the SDM lacks statutory review powers and failed to apply independent mind. The State's standing counsel countered that the DM acted in public interest given the gravity of the essential commodity distribution fraud. They noted that a fresh investigation by the Regional Food Officer had since commenced, a formal charge-sheet had been issued, and the final decision was pending the petitioner's response.

Paragraph 8–9: Reviewing the Scope of the Legal Authority

The High Court framed the core issue around whether an SDM holds the legal authority to review a finalized restoration order, especially when doing so at the behest of a superior officer. The Court observed from the records that the impugned order was explicitly triggered by the DM's directive letter dated July 5, 2016.

Paragraph 10–12: Finding on Exceeded Jurisdiction and Final Order

The Court held that the SDM is the designated, independent statutory authority for regulating fair price shop licenses. Once the SDM passed the final order on June 7, 2016, his statutory powers were completely exhausted. Since the relevant Government Orders and Rules do not grant a power of review or recall, the SDM could not reverse his decision. Furthermore, because the order was made "at the dictates" of the DM rather than through an independent application of mind, it was legally unsustainable.

Paragraph 13: Procedural Clarification and Final Relief

The High Court clarified that while the DM, as the overall district in-charge, can forward evidence and recommend initiating fresh separate proceedings against a licensee, he cannot order a subordinate statutory authority to recall a final quasi-judicial order. Consequently, the High Court set aside the impugned order dated July 16, 2016, while granting the competent authority liberty to initiate fresh proceedings strictly in accordance with the law, ensuring a fair opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ritu Raj Awasthi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for petitioner as well as learned standing counsel and perused the records.

2. The writ petition has been filed challenging the order dated 16.7.2016 mainly on the ground that the order impugned has been passed at the dictates of the District Magistrate, Hardoi, without proper application of mind. It is also contended that the opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate has no power or authority to recall/review its earlier final order.

3. Learned standing counsel was directed to seek instructions.

4. With the consent of parties' counsel, the matter is being decided finally without calling for the counter affidavit as it involves trivial question of law.

5. Learned counsel for petitioner submits that by the impugned order dated 16.7.2016 the license of fair price shop of petitioner has been cancelled. It is submitted that on the complaint of Smt. Somwati an enquiry was done by the Regional Food Inspector on 14.4.2016 in which certain alleged irregularities were found and the license of fair price shop of petitioner was suspended vide order dated 16.4.2016. On the basis of the enquiry report, a notice was issued to petitioner to which he had submitted his reply/explanation vide letter dated 30.5.2016. The opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate considering the entire material on record including the explanation submitted by the petitioner had taken a final decision dated 07.06.2016 to the effect that the security amount deposited by the petitioner at the time of grant of license shall be confiscated and penalty of Rs. 5,000/- with a warning shall be imposed. The license of fair price shop of petitioner was restored. It was thereafter that one person, namely, Narpati son of Paragi submitted application dated 21.6.2016 before the District Magistrate, Hardoi on which the District Magistrate vide order dated 05.07.2016 had issued direction to the opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate to recall his earlier order as the allegations made against the petitioner are of very serious nature and there are sufficient grounds to cancel his license of fair price shop. It was on these dictates of the District Magistrate that the opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate vide impugned order dated 16.7.2016 has recalled its earlier order dated 07.06.2016 and provided that license of fair price shop of petitioner shall remain suspended.

6. It is contended by learned counsel for petitioner that the opposite party no. 3 has no such power to review/recall its earlier final order dated 07.06.2016. Moreover, the impugned order has been passed without application of mind as it has been passed on the dictates of the District Magistrate.

7. Learned standing counsel, on the basis of instructions, submits that the District Magistrate was of the opinion that the allegations made against the petitioner were of serious nature. There were sufficient grounds for cancellation of fair price shop license and, therefore, on the complaint received by him had directed the opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate to reconsider his decision dated 07.06.2016 and thereafter the opposite party no. 3 has passed the impugned order.

8. It is also submitted that pursuant to the impugned order an enquiry has been conducted by the Regional Food Officer and report has been submitted in which, prima facie, petitioner has been found guilty of certain serious irregularities in the distribution of essential commodities. Considering the said report a charge-sheet along with notice has been issued to petitioner and the reply of the petitioner is still awaited. No final order has been passed so far.

9. The short question involved in the writ petition is as to whether the Sub Divisional Magistrate has power or authority to review/recall its order dated 07.06.2016 which had attained finality more-so when the impugned order has been passed without application of independent mind by the competent authority.

10. The perusal of the order impugned indicates that the District Magistrate vide letter dated 05.07.2016 had issued direction to the opposite party no. 3 to reconsider its decision dated 07.06.2016 as the District Magistrate was of the opinion that there were sufficient grounds to cancel the license of fair price shop of petitioner as the allegations made against the petitioner are of serious nature and his agreement is liable to be cancelled. It was pursuant to the aforesaid direction of the District Magistrate that the order impugned has been passed.

11. It is to be noted that the competent authority for the purpose of grant of fair price shop license and its suspension/cancellation is the Sub Divisional Magistrate concerned and he is the final authority in this regard. The opposite party no. 3, Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, District Hardoi had taken a final decision dated 07.06.2016 whereby he had imposed certain penalty and had confiscated the security amount deposited by the petitioner and had restored the fair price shop license of the petitioner. The Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Hardoi after passing of the final order was not empowered to review/recall its order as there is no such provision under the relevant Rules and the Government Orders. Once the Sub Divisional Magistrate had passed the final order, he had exhausted his powers and no review/recall was permissible.

12. Moreover, it is also to be noted that the order impugned has been passed at the dictates of the District Magistrate and has not been passed by application of independent mind of the concerning competent authority, as such, it is not sustainable in the eyes of law.

13. It is needless to observe that in case the District Magistrate was of the opinion that there are serious allegations against the sitting fair price shop licensee i.e., petitioner and they have not been considered, he being overall incharge of the district was fully empowered to forward his opinion as well as the material on the basis of which he has made such opinion to the competent authority to initiate fresh proceedings against the licensee, however, he could not have issued direction to review/recall or reconsider the final order passed by the opposite party no. 3.

14. In view of above, I am of the considered opinion that the order impugned is not sustainable in the eyes of law. The order impugned dated 16.7.2016 is hereby set-aside with liberty to the concerning competent authority to initiate fresh proceedings, in case he is satisfied and pass appropriate orders in accordance with law, giving opportunity to petitioner, expeditiously.

Misc. Bench No.- 17299 Of 2016

The Commission and the Standing Counsel further argued that the petitioner's reliance on Sections 13-H and 13-I was completely misplaced because Section 13-H(2) was deleted long ago. They contended that Section 44-A, introduced in 1994, explicitly commands the Commission to hold a President's/Chairman's bye-election within three months of a vacancy, acting as a mandatory special exception to the general rules governing ordinary members.

Paragraph 8: Submission on Lack of Legal Impediments

The respondents concluded that there was no legal impediment to holding the election for the office, which had been vacant since 2013 due to a successful election petition. They clarified that the State Election Commission can only act once notified of the vacancy by the State Government, meaning there was no administrative delay, and requested the outright dismissal of the writ.

Paragraph 9: Court's Findings on the Voter List Revision

Upon reviewing the arguments, the High Court found that a valid voter list did exist and rejected the petitioner's claim. The Court ruled that because this was a casual vacancy bye-election rather than a general election, the state was not obligated to conduct a full electoral roll revision. Affected individuals had ample opportunity since 2013 to manually update their names under the 1994 Rules, and structural revisions naturally align with impending general elections.

Paragraph 10–12: Statutory Interpretation of Sections 13-H and 13-I

The Court then analyzed the text of Sections 13-H and 13-I regarding casual vacancies. It noted that Section 13-I states a vacancy "may" be left unfilled if the remaining ordinary tenure is less than a year, but emphasized that the word "may" cannot be interpreted as a mandatory "shall."

Paragraph 13–14: Primacy of Section 44-A and Final Dismissal

, the Court held that while the term "Member" generally includes office bearers, Section 44-A is a special provision specifically tailored for the bye-election of a President/Chairman. This special law dictates that a presidential casual vacancy must be filled as soon as possible, completely excluding it from the timeline restrictions applied to standard members under Section 13-I. Finding no merit on either ground, the High Court refused to interfere with the election notification and dismissed the writ petition.

Sandeep @ Sandeep Mehrotra and another v. State of U.P. and others, [2012 (30) LCD 222]

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.

Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. The petitioner claiming herself to be an eligible Elector is aggrieved by the holding of the bye-election to the office of Chairman, Nagar Panchayat Kichhauchha, district Ambedkar Nagar to be held on 31.7.2016 on the ground that the said elections are being held on the basis of the Electoral List of the year 2012 that was prepared on the basis of Census of 2001, whereas the new Electoral List should be prepared on the basis of Census of 2011 and then only a valid Electoral List would exist for the purpose of holding of the election. He therefore submits that this violates Article 243-P (g) of the Constitution of India.

2. His further contention is that in the absence of any such list, a bye-election cannot be held and in view of the judgment in the case of Sandeep @ Sandeep Mehrotra and another v. State of U.P. and others [2012 (30) LCD 222], the entire election process is vitiated.

3. He then contends that the provisions of Sections 13-H and 13-I of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 are being violated as this is a bye-election which cannot be held as the casual vacancy would give a term of less than one year and hence, the vacancy may be left unfilled.

4. Thus, either way, the initiation of the elections is vitiated and therefore, the post of Chairman should be filled-up in the forthcoming election of 2017 for which the revision of Electoral Roll is already going on and is likely to be completed in the month of September, 2016 whereafter the elections of the office of Chairman can be held alongwith all of the elections of the local bodies scheduled upon expiry of the term. For this, he has invited the attention of the Court to the timetable, which fixes the finalization of the Electoral College by 10.9.2016, a copy whereof is Annexure – 3 to the writ petition.

5. Opposing the petition, Ms.Aparajita Bansal, learned Counsel for the State Election Commission has urged that the argument of the petitioner of violation of any rights does not arise, inasmuch as if the petitioner had become of age as an Elector as alleged by her, then she could have got the Electoral List corrected under the existing rules by moving an application before the Electoral Registration Officer. According to the learned Counsel for the Commission, it is not understood as to why the petitioner or any other aggrieved person waited for the same since 2013 when the election of the then Chairman was declared as invalid in an Election Petition. It is urged that since 2013 till now, there was ample time for the petitioner to seek correction in the Electoral Roll before the Electoral Registration Officer under the relevant rules of 1994. The filing of the petition on the eve of the holding of the bye-election therefore cannot be a ground to question the correctness of the election process which has already been notified and it should not be interfered at this stage under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

6. She also contends that the argument on the strength of Sections 13-H and 13-I of the 1916 Act is also misplaced as the petitioner's Counsel has totally ignored the impact of Section 44-A thereof. The Election Commission is duty bound to get the election held within three months of its vacancy. It is further submitted that Section 13-H (2) stood deleted long back.

7. Learned Standing Counsel submits that with the introduction of Section 44-A by U.P. Act No.12 of 1994, the bye-election of the Chairman has to be held. This has been carved out as an exception to Section 13-H which only talks of a Member whereas for the office of President there is a specific provision under Section 44-A.

8. In the aforesaid background, Ms. Aparajita Bansal and learned Standing Counsel both contend that there is no legal impediment in the holding of the election for the causal vacancy of the office of a Chairman which is vacant since 2013 on account of the setting aside of the election of the elected Chairman. The State Election Commission can only proceed when such information is given to it by the State Government for filling up of the vacancy and therefore, there is no delay on the part of the Election Commission in proceeding to get the bye-election held. It is therefore submitted that the writ petition is devoid of merit and deserves to be dismissed.

9. We have considered the rival contentions and we find that the revision of the Electoral Roll has already commenced on account of the general election of local municipalities that are to be held in 2017. If any individual was affected by the non-inclusion of his/her name, the remedy is provided. During the intervening period since 2013, the 1994 Rules were in existence under which a person who had come of age could have always got the Electoral Roll supplemented by getting his/her name added in the event he/she intended to exercise the right of franchise. The contention of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that it is the obligation of the State to revise the Electoral Roll has not been raised in the context of the General Election but of a bye-election and of a casual vacancy. In such a situation, the proceedings initiated on the strength of the Electoral College already existing cannot be vitiated as the revision of Electoral Rolls ordinarily takes place with the impending General Election. The State is therefore discharging its obligations and had the petitioner or any other individual approached the Electoral Registration Officer, the State would have discharged its obligation. In such a situation, the holding of the bye-election on the basis of the existing Electoral List cannot be said to be vitiated on that count. The argument of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that bye-elections are going to be held on the basis of no Voter List is therefore misplaced and is accordingly rejected. The Voter List exists and the bye-elections are being held on a casual vacancy having arisen.

10. Coming to the next argument, it is evident that Sections 13-H and 13-I indicate the filling up of the casual vacancy of Members and a Member would also include the office bearer. Sections 13-H and 13-I are extracted hereunder:-

“13-H Bye-elections –(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 13-I, when the seat of a member, elected to a Municipality becomes vacant or is declared vacant or his election is declared void, the State Election Commission shall in consultation with the State Government by a notification in the Official Gazette, call upon the ward concerned to elect a person for the purpose of filling the vacancy caused before such date as may be specified in the notification and the provisions of this Act and of the Rules and Orders made thereunder, shall apply, as far as may be, in relation to the election of member to fill such vacancy.

(2) If the vacancy so caused be a vacancy in a seat reserved in any such ward for the Scheduled Castes, the Scheduled Tribes, the Backward Classes or the women the notification issued under sub-section (1) shall specify that the person to fill that seat shall belong to the Scheduled Castes the Scheduled Tribes, the Backward Classes or the women, as the case may be.”

“13-I Certain casual vacancies not to be filled – Where a vacancy occurs on a Municipality by reason of death, resignation, removal or avoidance of an election of the elected member and the term of office of that member would, in the ordinary course of events, have determined within one year of the occurrence of the vacancy. Such vacancy may be left unfilled.”

11. The words used in Section 13-I are that if the tenure of the office of a Member on a casual vacancy is less than a year, then the vacancy may not be filled. The word 'may' cannot be read as 'shall' in the context it has been used. However, even attaching the ordinary meaning to the words used in the aforesaid two Sections, it is correct that the word 'Member' would also include an office bearer, but for the purpose of bye-elections of a President, the provisions of Section 44-A would directly come into play, which is extracted hereunder:-

“44-A Bye-election of President – If a casual vacancy occurs in the office of the President owing to death or resignation or any other cause, the President shall be elected as soon as may be thereafter, but not later than three months from the date of occurrence of the said vacancy, in the manner provided in Section 43.”

12. This special provision therefore excludes the status of a Member as understood in the context of his tenure under Section 38 of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916. A perusal of Section 44-A would therefore clear any doubt that it is a special provision that has been made in relation to the office of Chairperson, namely, the President of the Municipality. Sub-Section (3) of Section 43 applies to the provisions of the Act and Rules mutatis mutandis in relation to the election of a President, but at the same time, the provision of Section 44-A exclusively defines the bye-election of a President and therefore, the same would not be governed by the provisions of bye-elections of the Members under Section 13-I.

13. Thus, on both counts, we do not find any reason to interfere with the notification of the bye-election of the office of President of the Municipality at the instance of the petitioner. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly rejected.

Paragraph 1–2: Parties and Reliefs Sought

The High Court heard arguments from the counsels representing the school management (petitioners), the informant (respondent), and the State. The petitioners sought a writ of certiorari to quash the criminal proceedings and the First Information Report (FIR) under Sections 109, 304, and 336 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) at Police Station Aurai, District Bhadohi, along with a mandamus to protect them from arrest.

Paragraph 3: Arguments of the Petitioners

The petitioners argued that running an educational institution is not a criminal offense and that they committed no illegal acts. Their counsel emphasized that legal judgments should not be driven by emotional reactions and relied on established judicial precedent regarding strict parameters for police arrests.

Paragraph 4–5: First FIR and Account of the Accident

The criminal case originated from a horrific accident on July 25, 2016. An initial FIR filed by Kamla Shankar Mishra stated that a “Tata Magic” van carrying young students to ‘Tender Hearts English School’ was approaching an unmanned railway crossing. Despite explicit warnings from the children and bystanders about an oncoming passenger train, the driver, Rashid Khan, angrily insisted he could beat the train, sped forward, and crashed. Three children died instantly, and two more succumbed to injuries at the hospital, while multiple others were severely injured.

Paragraph 6: Second FIR Implicating School Management

A subsequent detailed written complaint was filed by Aditya Narayan Ojha against the school's Manager (Smt. Kokila Baranwal), Principal (S.P. Vishwakarma), and Owner (Surendra Baranwal). The FIR alleged that the management, driven purely by commercial profit, forced excessive overloading of the transport vehicles, hired an unskilled driver on meager wages without checking his background, and ignored prior safety complaints from parents. It asserted that the management pressured the driver to make hasty trips, directly causing the fatal accident that killed 8 children in total.

Paragraph 7–9: Petitioners' Background and Vehicle Status

The petition listed the names of the 8 deceased and 8 injured students. The petitioners' counsel strongly argued that Petitioner No. 2 was a reputable carpet manufacturer and exporter, and that both management officials were senior citizens (aged 67 and 71) suffering from various age-related ailments. However, the petition explicitly admitted that the school management had deployed the offending "Tata Magic" vehicle (Registration No. U.P. 66 T 4566) as part of their official transport fleet.

Paragraph 10–12: Court's Analysis and Dismissal of the Petition

The Court invoked classic legal jurisprudence to state that the law cannot sit by limply or allow influential wrongdoers to break through the legal system like "wasps through a cobweb" while the vulnerable suffer. It found that the petitioners failed to present any convincing argument showing that a cognizable offense was absent or that the police lacked the statutory authority to investigate. Concluding that the FIR clearly disclosed a serious cognizable crime, the High Court refused to quash the proceedings and dismissed the writ petition for lack of merit.

4. The genesis of this horrific incident is narrated in the F.I.R. registered in case crime no.0194 of 2016, under Sections 109, 304, 336 I.P.C., P.S. Aurai, District Bhadohi against Rashid Khan, driver of a Magic Van bearing registration no.U.P.T4566.

5. Informant, Kamla Shankar Mishra s/o late Shivraj Mishra, r/o Dinanathpur, Kaieermau, Aurai, District Bhadohi informed on date 25.7.2016 at 10:15 A.M. that on date 25.7.2016 at about 7:15 A.M. a Magic Van bearing registration no.U.P. 66 T 4566 which was driven by its driver, Rashid Khan, was carrying small children from village Dinanathpur to 'Tender Hearts English School', Ghosia. At the same time, an 'Up' passenger train no.55122 was going from Varanasi to Allahabad. Viewing the approaching train persons present near the railway track and the children sitting inside the vehicle prohibited the driver not to cross the railway line since the train was nearby. At this, driver became angry and quipped that no sooner than the train would arrive he would cross the railway line and he would show this that day that how the Magic Van carrying the small children happened to cross the railway line and he started crossing the railway line by driving the Magic Van in a high speed. At that time, passenger train arrived and rear portion of the Magic Van was hit by the train. Due to forceful hitting the Magic Van turned turtle to the lower slope on the northern side of the slope and of all the children sitting inside the vehicle became injured and Abhishek, Aniket and Pradyumn died on the spot. Km. Shakshi, Arpit, Naitik, Km. Shweta, Shreyansh, Ayush, Abhichal, Praphulla, Anjali, Akanksha, Aryan Dubey, Pratyush and Ansh were sent to different hospitals for treatment in a precarious injured condition and during treatment Km. Shweta and Km. Sakshi died. Rest of the injured were being treated in the hospital and driver is also treated at Varanasi. This daring act of the driver was being informed to register the case.

6. Now the F.I.R. in case crime no.0194 of 2016, under Sections 304, 337, 338 I.P.C., P.S. Aurai, District Bhadohi is narrated as below:

7. On date 25.7.2016 informant, Aditya Narayan Ojha r/o Meghipur, Kaieermau, Aurai, District Bhadohi has given a written information on date 25.7.2016 to the Superintendent of Police, Bhadohi which was registered on date 26.7.2016 at P.S. Aurai, District Bhadohi at 20:45 hours. This F.I.R. describes that Manager, Smt. Kokila Baranwal, Principal, S.P. Vishwakarma and real owner Surendra Baranwal of 'Tender Hearts English School', Ghosia compelled students for transportation to the school for their commercial profit. They accommodated more students than the capacity of 'Magic' vehicle of the school. Without enquiring about the skill, social and criminal antecedents of the vehicle's driver they made the driver to drive the vehicle on meagre wages. The informant and on narration of the boys (Ajay Mishra, Kamla Kant Mishra, Jay Shankar Tiwari, Ahswani Kumar Mishra etc.) the complaint was made to the Manager and the Principal in this regard; but no heed was paid. Instead the management created pressure upon the Magic driver to make haste and make several trips. On date 25.7.2016, gross negligence was committed by the Magic driver due to this pressure, wherein collision between the train and the Magic Tata vehicle occurred at Kaieermau (Meghipur) Railway Line Crossing; 08 children died on the spot and 08 children were struggling with their lives in different hospitals. Whole peace and tranquillity had been disturbed due to this incident. The Manager and Principal of 'Tender Hearts English School', Ghosia were fully responsible for that. It has been prayed that strict penal action may be taken.

8. In para-19 of the writ petition, the names of 08 injured students and the names of 08 deceased students have been mentioned.

9. It has been vehemently argued by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioner no.2 is the Manufacturer and Exporter of carpets and his two sons are stationed at different places in U.S.A. The petitioner no.1 and the petitioner no.2 are aged about 67 years and 71 years respectively and are suffering from different ailments.

10. In para-16 of the writ petition, it has been mentioned that for the convenience of the students, the management of the school has deployed 03 new buses besides 05 new vans titled 'Tata Magic' and at the serial no.8 the description of the offending vehicle bearing registration no.U.P. 66 T 4566 has been mentioned.

11. It is apt to quote:-

“Also In Jennison Vs. Baker 1972 (1) ALL ER 997=(1972) 2OB52, it was pithily stated:

“Law should not be seen to sit by limply, while those who defy it go free, and those who seek its protection lose hope. “Increasingly people are believing as observed by Salmond quoted by Diogenes Laertius in “Lines of the philosophers” laws are like spiders webs, if some light or powerless thing falls in to them, it is caught, but bigger one can break through and get away. Jonathan Swift in his “Essay on the Faculties of the Mind” said in similar lines: “laws are like of cob webs, which may catch small flies, but let wasps and hornets break through.”

12. The learned counsel for the petitioners has not brought forth anything cogent or convincing argument to manifest that no cognizable offence is disclosed prima facie on the allegations contained in the F.I.R. or that there was any statutory restriction operating on the police to investigate the case.

13. Having scanned the allegations contained in the F.I.R. the Court is of the view that the allegations in the F.I.R. do disclose commission of cognizable offence and, therefore, no ground is made out warranting interference by this Court. The prayer for quashing the same is refused.

14. The petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed.

Held –

Core Legal Issue: The principal issue for consideration in this writ petition is whether the ex-officio members (the Principal and two teachers) of an educational institution's committee of management, as envisioned by Section 16-A of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, are legally entitled to vote in an election to fill a casual vacancy for the post of Manager.

Background and Original Election: The Rastriya Intermediate College, Sirsi, Jaunpur, is run by a registered society under a scheme of administration providing a 5-year term for its Committee of Management. In the last regular elections held on September 10, 2013, Babban Singh was elected President and Ram Murti Singh was elected Manager.

Triggering Casual Vacancies: On March 23, 2014, President Babban Singh died, creating the first casual vacancy. The first petitioner claimed he was elected as the new President on June 8, 2014. Subsequently, on July 23, 2015, Manager Ram Murti Singh resigned, creating a second casual vacancy for the Manager's post, which became the core bone of contention.

The Fourth Respondent's Claim: The fourth respondent (the Deputy Manager) claimed that Ram Murti Singh's resignation was accepted on July 26, 2015, in meetings of both the general body and the Committee of Management, wherein he was authorized to officiate as Manager. On November 6, 2015, the District Inspector of Schools (DIOS) recognized him and attested his signature.

The Petitioners' Rival Claim and Consent Order: The petitioners set up a rival claim, stating a meeting on October 4, 2015, had co-opted Mahavir Singh as Manager. This led to a previous writ petition which was disposed of by consensus on December 11, 2015, directing the DIOS to hold a fresh election for the post of Manager via secret ballot.

Objections Over the Electoral College: In preparation for the new election, the fourth respondent supplied an outdated list of 15 members containing deceased individuals (including the original President Babban Singh) and the resigned Manager, while excluding the first petitioner. The petitioners filed an affidavit objecting to this list and specifically argued that the three ex-officio members had no right to vote.

The Disputed Election and DIOS Order: The Election Officer ignored the petitioners' objections and conducted the election on February 16, 2016, using the fourth respondent's list. The fourth respondent was declared the winner with 9 votes against the fourth petitioner's 3 votes. On February 27, 2016, the DIOS formally recognized this election, which the petitioners challenged via the current writ petition.

Petitioners' Contentions: Senior Counsel for the petitioners argued that: (a) the scheme of administration explicitly prohibits ex-officio members from voting for office bearers; (b) the deceased President was wrongly included while the first petitioner was excluded; and (c) the resigned Manager was illegally allowed to vote.

Fourth Respondent's Counter-Arguments: Counsel for the fourth respondent countered that: (a) Section 16-A of the Act grants ex-officio members an absolute right to vote; (b) any conflicting provision in the scheme of administration is void; and (c) the first petitioner was never properly approved or elected as President.

Statutory Framework of Section 16-A: The Court examined Section 16-A of the Act, noting that it explicitly states the Head of the institution and two teachers shall be ex-officio members of the Committee of Management "with a right to vote." It restricts voting only when a member's personal conduct is under discussion.

Strict Rules of Statutory Interpretation: Citing Supreme Court precedents, the Court noted that when the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous, courts must adhere to its grammatical and ordinary sense. Words cannot be added, substituted, or interpreted away based on perceived inconvenience or a desire to import external rationality.

Conflict Between Statute and Management Scheme: The Court held that Section 16-A confers an unequivocal, absolute right to vote. If an institution's approved Scheme of Administration contains clauses restricting this statutory voting right, such provisions are inconsistent with the Act, cannot be infused with life, and must give way to the statute.

Overruling of Division Bench Precedent as Per Incuriam: The Court addressed a past Division Bench judgment (Ajab Singh) which had barred ex-officio members from voting to keep them out of college politics. The Court agreed with a later Single Judge ruling that Ajab Singh was rendered per incuriam (in ignorance of the law) because Section 16-A(1) was never brought to that bench's attention.

Distinguishing Harjinder Nagar Case: The Court noted that another case relied upon by the petitioners (Harjinder Nagar) also failed to consider Section 16-A(1). Furthermore, the Division Bench in that case's appeal did not actually endorse the restriction on ex-officio voting, but rather upheld the ultimate decision on different mathematical grounds.

The Practical Utility of Ex-Officio Voting: The Court explained that once a 15-member management committee is formed, decisions are made by majority will. If ex-officio members are excluded from filling casual vacancies, an office bearer might be elected who lacks the confidence of the full composite committee, effectively paralyzing the institution's management. Thus, the legislature deliberately did not curtail their right.

Disqualification of the Resigned Manager: Turning to the next issue, the Court ruled that when Ram Murti Singh resigned from the post of Manager, he ceased to be part of the Committee of Management. Because the electoral college must consist of members currently holding office on the election date, allowing him to vote was illegal.

Estoppel Against Disputing the President's Status: On the issue of the first petitioner's exclusion, the Court found that the fourth respondent had previously sent notices addressing the first petitioner as President and had recorded his absence due to illness in prior minutes. The fourth respondent was therefore legally stopped from claiming the first petitioner was never elected.

Administrative Approval for Casual Vacancies: The Court clarified that while a full election of a Committee of Management requires recognition from educational authorities, no separate, explicit statutory approval is required when filling an internal casual vacancy for a non-managerial post like President. Simple communication of the proceedings to the authorities is sufficient.

Invalid Electoral College Vitiates the Election: The Court concluded that even though the ex-officio members were properly allowed to vote, the illegal inclusion of the resigned Manager and the illegal exclusion of the actual President were fatal errors. An election conducted with an fundamentally flawed and unfinalized electoral college cannot stand.

Final Order and Directions: The High Court quashed the DIOS order dated February 27, 2016, and declared the election of February 16, 2016, void. The DIOS was directed to convene a fresh election meeting where the first petitioner must be included, the resigned manager must be excluded, and the ex-officio members shall retain their right to vote.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. One of the issues which arise for consideration in the instant writ petition is whether the ex-officio members of the committee of management envisaged by Section 16-A of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921¹ are entitled to vote at an election for filling up the casual vacancy of manager.

2. The background facts in which the controversy arose are that Rastriya Shiksha Samiti, Sirsi, Jaunpur, later came to be known as Vishwanath Singh Shiksha Samiti, Sirsi, Jaunpur is a registered society under the provisions of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. It runs an Intermediate College in the name of Rastriya Intermediate College, Sirsi, Jaunpur. It is a recognised institution under the provisions of the Act. The institution receives grant-in-aid from the State Government and consequently the provisions of U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971 are also applicable. The institution is being run in accordance with a duly approved scheme of administration whereunder the term of the Committee of Management of the institution is five years. The last election of the Committee of Management was held on 10.9.2013 in which one Babban Singh was elected as President and Ram Murti Singh as Manager. Petitioners 2, 3 and 4 were elected as members of the Committee. Babban Singh, the President died on 23.3.2014. The first petitioner claimed that he, who was President of the parent society, was also elected as President of the College by the Committee of Management on 8.6.2014 against the casual vacancy that occurred on account of death of Babban Singh. On 23.7.2015, Ram Murti Singh, the Manager resigned. This again gave rise to a casual vacancy on the post of Manager. The filling up the said vacancy is the bone of contention between the petitioners and the fourth respondent, the Deputy Manager. According to the fourth respondent, the resignation submitted by Ram Murti Singh was accepted in a meeting of the general body of the parent society held on 26.7.2015 at 11:00 a.m. and in his place, he was authorised to work as Manager until the post is filled up by regular arrangement. It was followed by a meeting of the Committee of Management of the institution held at 4:00 p.m. on the same day in which a similar decision was taken. The fourth respondent on the basis of the decision taken in the meeting held on 26.7.2015 submitted a request to the second respondent, the District Inspector of Schools for attestation of his signature as Manager for the purpose of operating the accounts of the institution.

3. The petitioners setup a rival claim contending that no meeting had taken place on 26.7.2015, rather a meeting of the Committee of Management took place on 4.10.2015 in which the resignation of Ram Murti Singh was accepted and in his place one Mahavir Singh, a member of the Committee was co-opted as Manager.

4. The aforesaid rival claim set up by the parties was subject matter of consideration by the District Inspector of Schools by order dated 6.11.2015. The District Inspector of Schools, taking into consideration the affidavit filed by Ram Murti Singh in support of the alleged proceedings dated 26.7.2015, in which the fourth respondent was authorised to discharge the duties as Manager until regular arrangement is made, recognised him as Manager for the remainder of the term and also attested his signatures.

5. The order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 6.11.2015 was subjected to challenge by the petitioners by means of a writ petition². In the said writ petition, the main contention of the petitioners was that the fourth respondent had been recognised as Manager without considering the case set up by them disputing the genuineness and validity of the proceedings dated 26.7.2015. During the course of hearing of the writ petition, it was admitted that Mahabir Singh, whom the petitioner alleged to have been elected as Manager, had died on 4.10.2015. Thus, the claim set up by him for attestation of his signature was rendered infructuous. In view of it, counsel for the parties, in order to put quietus to the controversy agreed to the disposal of the writ petition on basis of consensus. Accordingly, by judgment dated 11.12.2015, the writ petition was disposed of in following terms :-

a) The second respondent is directed to convene a meeting of the committee of management of the institution within three weeks of receipt of certified copy of this order. The date of the meeting shall be duly intimated to the office bearers and members of the committee of the institution by registered post as well as by publishing a notice in a local Hindi Newspaper. The expenses in this regard shall be borne by the third respondent.

b) The meeting shall be presided over by the second respondent himself or by his nominee, who could be the Accounts Officer in his office or Principal of some Government College.

c) In the aforesaid meeting, the only agenda would be regarding filling up of the vacancy on the post of the Manager of the committee of management of the institution. The motion shall be put to vote by secret ballot and thereafter, appropriate decision shall be taken in regard to the filling up of the post of Manager, as per the result of the election.

d) Until the new Manager is elected, the Deputy Manager i.e. the third respondent shall be entitled to function as Manager in officiating capacity.

e) However, soon after the elections are held, the newly elected Manager shall be entitled to take over the duties attached to the post of the Manager of the institution and the second respondent shall act accordingly in attesting the signatures of the newly elected Manager. The impugned order will thus abide by the outcome of the elections, which would be held in pursuance of the directions aforesaid.

6. In pursuance of the directions of this Court, the District Inspector of Schools by order dated 1.1.2016 nominated the third respondent (Finance & Accounts Officer, Secondary Education, Jaunpur) as Election Officer for conducting the election on the post of Manager. The third respondent on 27.1.2016 issued an order convening meeting of the Committee of Management on 16.2.2016 for filling the casual vacancy of Manager. It was further notified that in case any one has any objection in relation to the election process, the same could be filed in his office by 8.2.2016. The fourth respondent submitted a list of 15 persons supposedly containing the names of the members and office bearers of the Committee of Management before the Election Officer on 28.1.2016. It comprises of the name of those who were elected in the last election held in the year 2013-14. Thus, it mentioned name of Babban Singh as President who had infact died on 23.3.2014, Ram Murti Singh as Manager, who had resigned on 23.7.2015 and names of Kripa Shankar Lal and Mahavir Singh as Treasurer and member respectively, though they had also died since after the election held in the year 2013. On the other hand, the list did not contain the name of the first petitioner though he claimed to be elected as President after the death of Babban Singh. This prompted the petitioners to file their objection by way of affidavit before the third respondent pointing out the aforesaid discrepancies. They further raised a plea that the ex-officio members namely, the Principal and two teachers of the institution whose name find place in the list supplied by the fourth respondent, do not have right to vote in election of the office bearers of a committee of management. They also supplied a list of the office bearers and members, which according to them reflected the position of the Committee as was in existence at the relevant time.

7. The third respondent did not pay heed to the objection filed by the petitioners. He proceeded to hold the election on the assigned date and time i.e., on 16.2.2016 from the list supplied by the fourth respondent. In the election held on that date, the fourth petitioner and the fourth respondent were the only two contestants for the post of Manager. The fourth respondent was declared elected having got 9 votes whereas the fourth petitioner got only 3 votes. The petitioners made a representation on the same date before the District Inspector of Schools pointing out various irregularities allegedly committed by the third respondent in conducting the election and requested for fresh election being held from the list of office bearers and members supplied by the petitioners. However, the District Inspector of Schools by impugned order dated 27.2.2016 has recognised the election of the fourth respondent on the post of Manager. Aggrieved thereby, the instant writ petition has been filed.

8. The fourth respondent entered appearance by means of a caveat and filed a short counter affidavit. The petitioners filed a supplementary affidavit. Counsel for the parties made a statement before the Court that they do not intend to file any further affidavits and requested for the matter being heard finally.

9. Sri G. K. Singh, learned senior counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners assailed the election proceedings dated 16.2.2016 as well as the order passed by the District Inspector of Schools dated 27.2.2016 recognising the said election on the following grounds :-

(a) The three ex-officio members of the Committee of Management, namely, the Principal and two teachers were not entitled to vote in the election. It is urged that clause 5 (ga) of the Scheme of Administration as originally framed (Annexure 3) specifically prohibits participation of the ex-officio members in the election of the office bearers or members of the Committee of Management or any proceedings relating to the passing of no confidence motion or determination of disability of any member/ office bearer. Consequently, the participation of three ex-officio members, all of whom had voted in favour of the fourth respondent, had rendered the election proceedings illegal and void.

(b) Babban Singh, erstwhile President being dead was wrongly shown as President of the Committee of Management on the basis of which election had been conducted by the third respondent, whereas the first petitioner who was elected as President in his place was wrongly excluded from the election process.

(c) Ram Murti Singh, erstwhile Manager who had admittedly resigned on 23.7.2015 was wrongly permitted to participate in the election process. He had voted in favour of the fourth respondent, thus adversely affecting the outcome of the election.

(d) Non-inclusion of the name of the first petitioner in the electoral college for filling up the casual vacancy has rendered the entire election null and void. He has been deprived of his right to contest the election and/or cast his vote, thus, vitiating the entire election process.

(e) The third respondent though had invited objections against the election process but he held the elections without considering the objections filed by the petitioners and also without finalising the electoral college which is sine qua non for holding of a valid election.

10. On the other hand, Sri Manish Goel, appearing on behalf of the fourth respondent submitted that :

(a). the ex-officio member viz, the Principal and two teachers were rightly permitted to vote in view of such right conferred in their favour by Section 16-A of the Act.

(b). The only approved scheme of administration in existence is the one approved by the Dy. Director of Education on 25.1.1985 (Annexure 5 to the writ petition). Therein, there is no prohibition for the ex-officio members participating in the election of the office bearers and particularly for filling up the casual vacancy on the post of Manager.

(c). Arguendo that the scheme brought on record as Annexure 3 was in existence, the same stood superseded by the new scheme approved on 25.1.1985 and thus the petitioners cannot be permitted to place reliance on the old scheme. Further any provision in the scheme of administration which restricted the right of the ex-officio members to vote, is contrary to the provision of Section 16-A of the Act, consequently, such provision is unenforceable and void.

(d). The first petitioner was not permitted to participate in the election as the election was to be held from the Committee as originally elected on 10.9.2013, in which concededly the first petitioner was not elected as President. It is further sought to be suggested that infact, the first petitioner was never elected as President after death of Babban Singh and thus even otherwise, he had no right to contest the election or to vote therein.

11. Countering the submissions made by Sri Manish Goel, learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the scheme approved by the Deputy Director of Education on 25.1.1985 is only an amendment to the earlier scheme of administration and it does not supersede the same. To buttress the submission, he placed reliance on various provisions of earlier scheme of administration and the amended scheme of administration and tried to bring home the fact that in the scheme subsequently approved, various provisions as contained in the original scheme do not find place and thus the same does not stand superseded altogether as sought to be urged on behalf of the contesting respondent. He further submitted that the election of the first petitioner on the post of President had never been a matter of dispute. He submitted that even when previous writ petition was filed by the first petitioner showing himself as President, assailing the order dated 6.11.2015, the claim of the first petitioner was not disputed. It is further submitted that the fourth respondent himself, in the notice issued on 23.7.2015 for convening the meeting dated 26.7.2015 had shown the first petitioner as President and again in the proceedings dated 26.7.2015, thus, it does not lie in the mouth of the fourth respondent to dispute the election of the first petitioner on the post of President.

12. Section 16-A of the Act envisages a Scheme of Administration for every institution which amongst other matters provides for the constitution of a Committee of Management vested with the authority to manage and conduct the affairs of the institution. It stipulates that the Head of the institution and two teachers thereof elected by rotation according to seniority, shall be ex-officio members of the Committee of Management with a right to vote. For convenience of reference, relevant part of section 16-A is reproduced below :-

16-A. Scheme of Administration --- Notwithstanding anything in any law, document, or decree, order of a Court or other instrument there shall be a Scheme of Administration (hereinafter referred to as the Scheme of Administration) for every institution, whether recognised before or after the commencement of the Intermediate Education (Amendment) Act, 1958. The Scheme of Administration shall amongst other matters provide for the constitution of a Committee of Management (hereinafter called the Committee of Management) vested with authority to manage and conduct the affairs of the institution. The Head of the institution and two teachers thereof, who shall be elected by rotation according to seniority in the manner to be prescribed by regulations, shall be ex-officio members of the Committee of Management with a right to vote.

(2) No member of the Committee of Management shall either attend a meeting of the committee or exercise his right to vote whenever a charge concerning his personal conduct is in discussion.

(3) The Scheme of Administration shall also describe subject to any regulations, the respective powers, duties and functions of the Head of the Institution and Committee of Management in relation to the institution.

13. Section 16-CC of the Act substituted by U.P. Act No.1 of 1981 provides that the Scheme of Administration of an institution whether recognised before or after commencement of the Intermediate Education (Amendment) Act, 1980, shall not be inconsistent with the principles laid down in the Third Schedule. The Third Schedule postulates that every Scheme of Administration shall –

(1) provide for proper and effective functioning of the Committee of Management;

(2) provide for procedure for constitution of the Committee of Management by periodical elections;

(3) provide for the qualifications and disqualifications of the members and office-bearers of the Committee of Management and the term of their offices.

Provided that no such Scheme shall contain provisions creating monopoly in favour or any particular person, caste, creed or family;

(4) provide for the procedure of calling meeting and the conduct of business at such meetings;

(5) provide that all the decisions shall be taken by the Committee of Management and powers of delegation, if any shall be limited and clearly defined;

(6) ensure that the powers and duties of the Committee of Management and its office-bearers are clearly defined;

(7) provide for the maintenance and security of property belonging to the institution and also for the utilisation of its funds and for the regular checking and auditing of accounts.

14. The language of Section 16-A is plain and unambiguous and admits of no confusion regarding right of ex-officio members to vote. The right conferred in their favour is in absolute terms without any qualification or exception. The provision of sub-section (1) of Section 16-A when contrasted with sub-section (2) further reinforces an interpretation that where the legislature intended to limit the right to vote, as in case of a member whose personal conduct is in discussion, the same has been specifically provided for.

15. The Supreme Court in the case of Sangeeta Singh vs. Union of India and others³ has held that "the Court cannot read anything into a statutory provision or a stipulated condition which is plain and unambiguous. The intention of the legislature is primarily to be gathered from the language used, which means that attention should be paid to what has been said as also to what has not been said. As a consequence, a construction which requires for its support, addition or substitution of words or which results in rejection of words as meaningless has to be avoided. It is contrary to all rules of construction to read words into an Act unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. [See Stock vs Frank Jones (Tipton) Ltd.⁴] Rules of interpretation do not permit the courts to do so, unless the provision as it stands is meaningless or of doubtful meaning. The question is not what may be supposed and has been intended but what has been said".

16. In Padma Sundara Rao vs. State of Tamilnadu⁵, the Supreme Court noticed the golden rule of construing statutes by quoting the following passages from Grey vs. Pearson⁶ and Abley vs. Dale⁷ :-

"The grammatical and ordinary sense of the words is to be adhered to unless that would lead to some absurdity or some repugnance or inconsistency with the rest of the instrument, in which case the grammatical and ordinary sense of the words may be modified, so as to avoid that absurdity and inconsistency, but no further" (See Grey v. Pearson 6 H.L. Case 61).

The latter part of this "golden rule" must, however, be applied with much caution. "if," remarked Jervis, C.J.,

"the precise words used are plain and unambiguous in our judgment, we are bound to construe them in their ordinary sense, even though it lead, in our view of the case, to an absurdity or manifest injustice. Words may be modified or varied where their import is doubtful or obscure. But we assume the functions of legislators when we depart from the ordinary meaning of the precise words used, merely because we see, or fancy we see, an absurdity or manifest injustice from an adherence to their literal meaning" (See Abley v. Dale) (ER p.525).

17. If these principles of construction of statutes are kept in mind it can safely be held that the statute has conferred an unequivocal right to vote in favour of the ex-officio members. Ordinary all members of the Committee have a right to vote, as under Clause (5) of the Third Schedule, all decisions are to be taken by the Committee but in order to obviate any doubt regarding the right of ex-officio members, it has been specifically provided for by the statute. However counsel for the petitioners placed reliance on Clauses 5 and 8 of the scheme of administration in contending that the scheme of administration as duly approved itself prohibits the ex-officio members from voting in an election of the office-bearers of the Committee of Management. These Clauses of the Scheme of Administration are to the following effect :-

5. समिति का संगठन—समिति में निम्नलिखित पन्द्रह सदस्य होंगे:—

(क) पदाधिकारी—

1—अध्यक्ष, 2—उपाध्यक्ष, 3—प्रबन्ध, 4—सहायक प्रबंधक, तथा 5— कोषाध्यक्ष।
उपरोक्त 5 पदाधिकारी सोसाइटी द्वारा चुने जायेंगे।

(ख) साधारण सदस्य 7 — सोसाइटी अपने सदस्यों में से समिति के सात साधारण सदस्यों का चुनाव करेंगी।

(ग) पदेन सदस्य 3— प्रधानाचार्य तथा दो अध्यापक ऐक्ट के सेक्शन 16—ए(1) और विनियम : 1 : के अनुसार पदेन सदस्य होंगे, जो प्रबन्ध समिति के पदाधिकारियों के चुनाव में तथा किसी सदस्य या पदाधिकारी के विरुद्ध अविश्वास के प्रस्ताव में या आयोग्यताओं के निर्धारण में भाग नहीं लेंगे।

8. आकस्मिक रिक्ति — सदस्यों (पदेन सदस्यों से भिन्न) या समिति के पदाधिकारियों के पद में होने वाली किसी आकस्मिक रिक्ति (उपरोक्त मद 7 की स्थिति के अतिरिक्त) की पूर्ति समिति द्वारा कार्यकाल की शेष अवधि के लिये की जायेगी और इस प्रकार नियुक्ति कोई व्यक्ति उस शेष काल के लिये समिति का सदस्य या पदाधिकारी (जैसी भी दशा हो) होगा, जिसके लिये वह व्यक्ति, जिसके स्थान की वह पूर्ति करता है, सदस्य या पदाधिकारी रहता।

18. As discussed above, Section 16-A specifically confers a right to vote in favour of ex-officio members. The right conferred is in absolute terms without any exception. There is no other provision under the Act which may be taken aid of to restrict such right of vote. If a Scheme of Administration envisaged by Section 16-A contains a stipulation which is contrary to the specific provisions of the Act, such a stipulation has to pave way to the provisions of the Act.

19. It is noteworthy that Section 16-A was inserted by U.P. Act no. 35 of 1958. By the same amending Act, Section 16-B was also inserted which empowers the Director to suggest alteration or modification in the Scheme of Administration. Subsequently, when Section 16-CC was inserted by U.P. Act No.1 of 1981 which stipulates that the Scheme of Administration has to be consistent with the principles laid down in the Third Schedule, the other provision inserted was Section 16-CCC. It again empowered the Director to compel the alteration or modification in a Scheme of Administration in so far as it is inconsistent with the provisions of the Act. In case, the Director has not taken recourse to such power or has approved a Scheme containing a stipulation which is inconsistent with the provision of the Act, it would not infuse life into it. A scheme of administration of an institution recognised under the Act is a creature of statute. It cannot contain a stipulation which whittles down the provisions of the Act.

20. Counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a Division Bench judgement of this Court in Ajab Singh vs. District Inspector of Schools, Meerut and others⁸ wherein the Scheme of Administration contained a provision to the effect that elected member of the Committee alone would have the right to participate in the election of an office bearer. The Court explained the rationale behind such a provision by holding as under :-

"The Scheme of Administration provided that the twelve elected members of the Committee of Management alone have a right to participate in the election of the office bearers and the ex-officio members have no right to participate therein. The intention behind this provision seems to be clearly that employees of the Institution who became ex-officio members of the Committee of Management will not participate in the election politics of the college concerned and that when they have been debarred from participating in the election proceedings."
(emphasis supplied)

21. It is noticeable that while taking the said view, the stipulation in the Scheme of Administration alone was taken into consideration. The provisions of Section 16-A(1) of the Intermediate Education Act which specifically confers a right to vote in favour of ex-officio members, was not brought to the notice of the Court. The aforesaid judgment of the Division Bench of this Court came up for consideration before a learned Single Judge in Committee of Management DAV Inter College, Tateir Baghat and another vs. State of U.P. and others⁹. The learned Single Judge after noticing the fact that the Division Bench judgement was rendered in ignorance of the statutory provision, held that it would have no binding effect. For taking such view, the learned Single Judge placed reliance on the decision of the Supreme Court in State of U.P. vs. Synthetics and Chemicals Ltd.¹⁰ wherein the law relating to per incuriam was laid down. The relevant portion from the said judgement is as under :-

"10. I have gone through the said judgment of the Division Bench of this Court. It is apparently clear that the Division Bench has not noticed the aforesaid provisions of Section 16A(1) of the Intermediate Education Act and therefore, the said judgment in the opinion of the Court is based on non-consideration of a statutory provision and as such has no binding effect in the facts of the case.

11. The legal position in that regard has been explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgment in the case of State of U.P. v. Synthetics and Chemicals Ltd., 1991 (4) SCC 139. In the said judgment the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as follows:

"Incuria' literally means 'carelessness. In practice per incuriam appears to mean per ignoratium. English courts have developed this principle in relaxation of the rule of stare decisis. The 'quotable in law' is avoided and ignored if it is rendered, 'in ignoratium of a statute or other binding authority'. (Young v. Bristol Aeroplane Co. Ltd.). Same has been accepted, approved and adopted by this Court while interpreting Article 141 of the Constitution which embodies the doctrine of precedents as a matter of law. In Jaisri Sahu v. Rajdewan Dubey this Court while pointing out the procedure to be followed when conflicting decisions are placed before a Bench extracted a passage from Halsbury's Laws of England incorporating one of the exceptions when the decision of an appellate court is not binding."

This Court is in respectful agreement with the view taken by learned Single Judge in Committee of Management, DAV Intermediate College, Baghpat (supra).

22. Counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on another judgement of a learned Single Judge of this Court in Harjinder Nagar Inter College and Another vs. State of U.P.¹¹ in which the learned Single Judge held that the ex-officio members do not have a right to participate in a no-confidence motion against an office bearers as they also had no right to elect them. It has been held thus :-

"I have considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties. From a perusal of the Scheme of Administration, it will be seen that as per para 5 of the Scheme, the Committee shall consist of 15 members out of which the Principal and two teachers shall be the ex-officio members. The Note to para 5 clearly mentions that the ex-officio members shall not take part in the selection of office bearers. That being the position if the ex-officio members are specifically prohibited from participating in any meeting for selection of office bearers, they also cannot participate in any meeting, ordinary or Emergent for passing a motion of no confidence against an office bearer. If there is no right to select, there is no right to remove either and therefore, I am in agreement with the submission of Sri P.N. Saxena, learned senior counsel for the respondents that since the ex-officio members were prohibited from participating in any selections they also stood prohibited by logical interpretation from participating in any meeting held for consideration of a motion of no confidence against an office bearer."

23. It is brought to the notice of this Court that the judgement of the learned Single Judge was upheld with the dismissal of Special Appeal No. 1881 of 2012 by a Division Bench of this Court on 4.12.2012 and the aforesaid judgements were further upheld with the summary dismissal of Special Leave to appeal.

24. It is apposite to note that the judgement of the learned Single Judge in case of Harjinder Nagar Inter College (supra) again does not take into consideration the provisions of Section 16-A(1) of the Act. The Division Bench judgement in Special Appeal does not seem to agree with the view of the learned Single Judge that the ex-officio members were not entitled to participate in a meeting of no-confidence. But ultimately the judgement of the learned Single Judge was not interfered with on the ground that even in the absence of ex-officio members, more than 2/3 members being present, the no-confidence motion was validly passed. The relevant observations made in this regard by the Division Bench in Special Appeal are as under :-

"Clause 5 of the Scheme provides for Constitution of the Committee. The note appended to Clause 5 provides that 3 ex-officio members as for example Principal and 2 teachers shall not take part in that item of the agenda of the Committee of Management by which it appoints an ad-hoc committee for selection of teachers. They shall also not take part in the selection of office bearers. Though prima facie it appears that the 3 ex-officio members are not prohibited from participating in a meeting in which a no-confidence motion is moved, from paragraph 7 of the Scheme it appears that an agenda of no-confidence motion has to be passed by 2/3rd majority of the members present in a particular meeting in which a notice of no-confidence motion against a particular office bearer has been given. Clause 7 does not provide that in case of a meeting for no-confidence motion, all the 15 members are required to be present. It only provides that such a motion has to be passed by 2/3rd of the members present in the meeting. In the present case, 9 members were present and they voted in favour of the motion. We are therefore, of the view that 2/3rd majority of the members present in the meeting having voted in favour of the motion, no illegality can be found in accepting the same."

(emphasis supplied)

25. The language of Section 16-A(1) is plain and unambiguous. In such a situation, the Supreme Court in Lalappa Lingappa & Ors vs. Laxmi Vishnu Textile Mills Ltd.¹² has held that the Court "must give effect to it whatever may be the consequences, for, in that case, the words of the statute speak the intention of the legislature. When the language is explicit, its consequences are for the legislature and not for the Courts to consider. The argument of inconvenience and hardship is a dangerous one and is only admissible in construction where the meaning of the statute is obscure and there are two methods of construction. In their anxiety to advance beneficent purpose of legislation, the Courts must not yield to the temptation of seeking ambiguity when there is none". Lord Brougham, J. in Robert Wigram Crawford v. Richard Spooner¹³, has cautioned the court in reading something in the statute which is not provided for, in the following words :- "If the legislature did not intend that which it has not expressed clearly much more, if the legislature intended some thing very difficult, if the legislature intended some thing pretty nearly the opposite of what it said, it is not for the judges to invent something which they do not meet within the words of the text." Thus where the words are clear and explicit, the Courts should not fall into temptation of reading something which in their wisdom would make the provision more rational.

26. The logic which prompted the Division Bench in the case of Ajab Singh (supra) and the learned Single Judge in Harjinder Nagar Inter College (supra) in holding that the ex-officio members are not entitled to participate in no-confidence motion or in an election to fill up a casual vacancy, is based on premise that the ex-officio members are not supposed to indulge in the politics of the college. As a necessary corollary, they are also not entitled to participate in a no-confidence motion. It is noticeable that the Committee of Management and its office bearers, under the scheme are elected by the members of the Society from amongst themselves. At the time of election of the Committee of Management of an institution, the electoral college is thus the general body of the Society. The ex-officio members are concededly not the members of the general body and thus also have no role to play in such an election. However, once the election of the office bearers and the members of the Committee of Management had taken place, there comes into existence the body envisaged under clause 5 of the Scheme of Administration viz. the Committee of Management which comprises of 15 members, namely, the 5 office bearers, 7 members and three ex-officio members i.e. the Principal and two teachers. Under clause 10 (cha) the decisions of the Committee of Management are taken on the basis of majority will whereas the decision for terminating service of an employee as well as for creating encumbrance over immovable property of the institution requires a majority of 2/3 members. Thus there may be a situation where a Manager or some other office bearer loses the confidence of majority of the members but remains in majority if ex-officio members are excluded, and likewise, a person is elected as office bearer against a casual vacancy without the involvement of the will of ex-officio members there is a likelihood that such office bearers may not enjoy the confidence of the majority of the members of the Committee of Management taken together. In such a scenario, the rival faction with the support of ex-officio members would be in a position to scuttle the proposals of the Management, thus paralysing the body invested with the management of the institution. This was never intended by the legislature. Thus, in the opinion of the Court, in case ex-officio members are permitted to vote in an election for filling up a casual vacancy of an office bearers, the person elected would enjoy the confidence of the majority of the members and would be in a position to run the institution in a more effective manner as compared to a person elected in their absence. The aforesaid instance is being cited only to demonstrate that the view that ex-officio members should not be permitted to participate in an election for filling up casual vacancy as it would result in their involvement in college politics, may have its flip side as well. In such an eventuality, the very idea of having a body better equipped to run the institution would stand defeated. Thus, once the legislature has chosen not to curtail the right of the ex-officio members to vote in an election for filling up a casual vacancy, it is not within the province of a Court to import rationality in the provision by reading into the statute something which was never intended. Thus, this Court has no hesitation in holding that the ex-officio members have full right to vote for filling up casual vacancy on the post of Manager and they were rightly permitted to vote.

27. The next question which arises for consideration is whether Ram Murti Singh, erstwhile Manager was rightly permitted to participate in the election. Under the Scheme of Administration, the Manager is directly elected by the general body. He does not get elected for the reason he is a member of the Committee of Management. Therefore, on his resignation from the post of Manager, he ceases to be part of the Committee of Management which constitutes the electoral college for filling up the casual vacancy.

28. Under Clause 8 of the Scheme, the Committee has to elect a successor to a vacant post for the remainder of the term. The office bearers and the members of the Committee of Management who are entitled to participate in the election are those who hold their respective posts as office bearers or member on the date election is held. The electoral college for filling up the casual vacancy on the post of Manager could not be the office bearers and the members originally elected in the year 2013 albeit having tendered resignation later on, as suggested by learned counsel for the fourth respondent. Thus, Ram Murti Singh having already resigned was not entitled to participate in the election.

29. This brings the Court to the next argument of learned counsel for the petitioners that the first petitioner having been elected as President in place of Babban Singh was entitled to participate in the election process, but was wrongly excluded therefrom. The claim of the first petitioner to participate in the election was sought to be negated by suggesting that infact the first petitioner was never elected as President and in any case, his election as President was not recognised or approved by the educational authorities.

30. The case of the petitioners is that the first petitioner was continuing as President of the Managing Committee of the parent Society on the basis of elections held on 8.10.2013. Subsequently, when the post of President of the Committee of Management of the institution fell vacant on account of death of Babban Singh on 23.3.2014, he was also elected as President of the Committee of Management of the institution in a meeting of the Committee held on 8.6.2014. The resolution passed in this regard has been brought on record as Annexure 7 to the writ petition. A copy thereof was duly forwarded to the District Inspector of Schools for information and necessary action by the then Manager by letter dated 17.7.2014. The specific case of the first petitioner is that he had been working as President of the Committee of Management of the institution since then. There is nothing on record to indicate that any objection was raised from any quarter regarding the alleged claim of the first petitioner as President of the Committee of Management of the institution. On the contrary, from perusal of the order of the District Inspector of Schools passed on 6.11.2015 recognising the fourth respondent as Manager, it is clear that his own case was that the first petitioner as well as his son Vinay Kumar Singh, despite due notice and information remained absent from the proceedings held on 26.7.2015. It is the same meeting in which the fourth respondent claimed that the resignation of Ram Murti Singh was accepted and in his place he was authorised to work as Manager. In case the first petitioner was not the President, there was no other reason for calling him to participate in the said meeting. It may further be noted that in the notice dated 23.7.2015 sent to the office bearers and member of the Committee of Management regarding holding of emergent meeting on 26.7.2015, the first petitioner had been shown as President. Even in the proceedings dated 26.7.2015, on the basis of which the fourth respondent claimed to be entrusted with duties on the post of Manager, the first petitioner has been described as President though he was not present in the said meeting. Resolution No.2 passed in the said meeting specifically records that the first petitioner could not preside over the meeting on account of his illness. The fourth respondent, who is signatory to the proceedings and also a beneficiary of the resolution passed in the said meeting, cannot be permitted to take a contrary stand and contend that the first petitioner had never been elected as President.

31. Irrespective of what has been held above, this Court also cannot loose sight of the fact that the previous writ petition was filed by the first petitioner alongwith four others claiming himself to be the President. The writ petition aforesaid, as noted in the earlier part of the judgement, was disposed of with the consent of learned counsel for the parties. In case the first petitioner had never been elected as President, there does not appear any reason on record why such plea was not raised at that time and the writ petition was got disposed of on the basis of consensus for holding election for the post of Manager alone. In view of these facts, the Court is unable to accept the contention of learned counsel for the fourth respondent that the first petitioner had never been elected as President.

32. Learned counsel for the fourth respondent while placing reliance on various regulations framed under Chapter-I tried to contend that it is only the Committee of Management duly approved by the educational authorities which is entitled to function. It is urged that it is implicit in grant of recognition that election of each office bearer is approved. It is submitted that in the absence of approval by the educational authorities to the election of the first petitioner, he was not entitled to participate in the election for filling up the casual vacancy.

33. Under Government Orders dated 19 December 2000 and 20 October 2008 the District Inspector of Schools recognises an election of the Committee of Management and in case of any legal impediment, recognition is granted by the Regional Level Committee constituted thereunder. The signature of the Manager of the Committee of Management is attested by the District Inspector of Schools in view of the fact that the Manager is empowered to operate the account of the institution jointly with the District Inspector of Schools and the Principal of the institution. However, there is no provision which requires a specific approval from the educational authorities in case a casual vacancy on a post other than that of Manager is filled up. The educational authorities may, in an eventuality where the filling up casual vacancy is in dispute be called upon to decide the same, but in normal course, no specific approval is required. All that is needed is communication of the proceedings to the educational authorities which had been done in the instant case. In view thereof, this Court holds that petitioner no.1 who was the President was wrongly excluded from the electoral college.

34. The question which still remains to be considered is the relief to which the petitioners are entitled to. Although it has been held that the ex-officio members were rightly permitted to participate in the election and thus undoubtedly, majority of vote were cast in favour of the fourth respondent but still this Court is of the opinion that inclusion of the erstwhile Manager in the election process as well as exclusion of the President (the first petitioner) from the election process was fatal to the entire election. In numerical terms, it may appear to be in inconsequential but an election held from an invalid electoral college, in the opinion of the Court, cannot be sustained. The presence of the first petitioner and exclusion of the ex-manager has the potentiality of making a material difference in the outcome of the election. The petitioners in response to the notice by the fourth respondent had preferred objection pointing out the manner in which the electoral college should be determined but the fourth respondent in great haste, oblivious of the fact that he himself issued notice inviting objections, illegally proceeded to hold the election from the list supplied by the fourth respondent. There is no gainsaying that a valid election cannot be held without a valid electoral college being determined before holding of the election.

35. In consequence and for the reason given above, this Court is unable to uphold the impugned election dated 16.2.2016 and the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 27.2.2016 recognising the said election. Accordingly, the impugned order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 27.2.2016 shall stand quashed and the election held on 16.2.2016 is declared to be illegal. The District Inspector of Schools is now directed to convene another meeting for filling up casual vacancy on the post of Manager of the Committee of Management of the institution. In the said election, the first petitioner shall also be entitled to participate whereas the erstwhile manager Ram Murti Singh shall stand excluded from the electoral college which is to elect the Manager. All other terms and conditions as contained in the the previous order dated 11.12.2015 shall remain applicable in the election which is to be held.

36. The writ petition stands disposed of accordingly.

THE HON'BLE ABHAI KUMAR, J.

Application U/s 482 No.- 22167 Of 2016

Raju Chaturvedi @ Ram Prakash & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
State Of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicants:
Shri Rajendra Singh Chauhan

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
G.A.

Held –

Paragraph 1: The applicants filed an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. seeking to quash Charge-sheet No. 76/14 (dated 28.09.2014) and the subsequent cognizance/summoning order (dated 26.04.2016) passed by the lower court under Section 379 IPC, Sections 3/70 of the Mines and Minerals Act, and Sections 4/21 of the Environment Protection Act, pertaining to P.S. Naraini, District Banda. They also prayed for a stay of the proceedings.

Paragraph 2: The counsel for the applicants submitted that the First Information Report (FIR) was lodged on 14.06.2014, alleging that the applicants were illegally removing and collecting mines and minerals from a riverbed. Following an investigation, the charge-sheet was submitted, and the lower court subsequently took cognizance and issued summons.

Paragraph 3: The applicants' counsel argued that because the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act (MMDR Act) is a Special Act, it excludes the provisions of the general law (IPC). They vehemently contended that Section 379 IPC cannot be applied to illegal mining allegations, making the Magistrate's order taking cognizance under both the IPC and the MMDR Act illegal and liable to be quashed.

Paragraph 4 & 5 (Supreme Court Quote): To support this argument, the counsel relied on the Supreme Court judgment in State (NCT of Delhi) Vs. Sanjay (2014). However, the quoted text establishes that the ingredients of an offence under the MMDR Act and the offence of theft under Section 378/379 IPC are distinct. The Supreme Court ruled that the MMDR Act does not debar the police from investigating the theft of public property (sand/minerals) and submitting a report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. for the Magistrate to take cognizance under the IPC.

Paragraph 6 & 7: The counsel also cited a Jharkhand High Court ruling (Prasuram Bellani Vs. State of Jharkhand, 2015). In that case, the High Court applied the Sanjay precedent to uphold cognizance taken under IPC sections (including Section 379), while setting aside the cognizance taken under the Special MMDR Act because it lacked a proper statutory complaint.

Paragraph 8: Based on these precedents, the Court observed that Section 379 IPC is not precluded in cases of illegal riverbed mining. The Court highlighted that unchecked illegal mining severely damages the ecosystem, compromises structural safety (like bridges), alters river hydrology, and depletes groundwater levels, necessitating strict state and police action.

Paragraph 9 (Supreme Court Quote): The Court highlighted Paragraph 70 of the Sanjay judgment, which clarifies the statutory bar under Section 22 of the MMDR Act. It explicitly states that a Magistrate can only take cognizance of offences under the MMDR Act upon a formal complaint by an authorized officer, not via a standard police report. However, this restriction does not apply to independent offences under the IPC.

Paragraph 10: The Court reiterated that while a formal statutory complaint is required for MMDR Act prosecutions, the police maintain full liberty to track, investigate, and charge individuals under Sections 378 and 379 IPC for clandestinely extracting and removing State-owned minerals without a license.

Paragraph 11 & 12: The Court concluded that the lower court's cognizance under the IPC was completely legal and valid. However, the cognizance taken directly under the MMDR Act on a police report was legally unsustainable. Consequently, the Court partially allowed the application, setting aside only the portion of the order dealing with the MMDR Act, directing the lower court to proceed with the remaining IPC charges, and disposing of the application.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abhai Kumar, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with the prayer to allow this application and quash the impugned charge-sheet No. 76/14 dated 28.9.2014, Police Station Naraini, District Banda in connection with Case No. 328/IX/16, under Section 379 IPC, 3/70 Mines and Minerals Act & 4/21 Environment Protection Act, P.S. Naraini, District Banda on the basis of which learned Court below has taken cognizance on 26.4.2016 and issued summons to the applicants. It is further prayed that proceeding in the aforesaid case be stayed.

2. It is submitted by the learned counsel that respondent no. 2 lodged a First Information Report on 14.6.2014 against the applicants in Case Crime No. 87 of 2014, under Section 379 IPC, 3/70 Mines and Minerals Act and 4/21 of Environment Protection Act, Police Station Naraini, District Banda, on the basis, that applicants were removing the mines and minerals from the riverbed and collected on the field of the village. After investigation charge-sheet was submitted on 28.9.2014 and court below has taken cognizance and issued summons to the applicants on 26.4.2016.

3. It is submitted by the learned counsel that when offence under the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act (hereinafter referred to as the "M.M.D.R. Act") excludes the provisions of Indian Penal Code, cognizance under both, Indian Penal Code as well as M.M.D.R. Act is illegal and it has been vehemently argued that M.M.D.R. in Special Act will prevail over general law that is IPC and consequently Section 379 IPC does not come into the picture when illegal mining is being alleged whereas learned Magistrate has taken cognizance on the police report under the Indian Penal Code as well as Mines and Minerals Act which is liable to be quashed.

4. In support the learned counsel has placed reliance upon the decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State (NCT of Delhi) Vs. Sanjay, (2014) 9 SCC 772 which was decided alongwith the other criminal appeals. The observation made by the Hon'ble Apex Court is reproduced below:-

"71. From a close reading of the provisions of MMDR Act and the offence defined under Section 378, IPC, it is manifest that the ingredients constituting the offence are different. The contravention of terms and conditions of mining lease or doing mining activity in violation of Section 4 of the Act is an offence punishable under Section 21 of the MMDR Act, whereas dishonestly removing sand, gravels and other minerals from the river, which is the property of the State, out of State's possession without the consent, constitute an offence of theft. Hence, merely because initiation of proceeding for commission of an offence under the MMDR Act on the basis of complaint cannot and shall not debar the police from taking action against persons for committing theft of sand and minerals in the manner mentioned above by exercising power under the Code of Criminal Procedure and submit a report before the Magistrate for taking cognizance against such person. In other words, in a case where there is a theft of sand and gravels from the Government land, the police can register a case, investigate the same and submit a final report under Section 173, Cr.P.C. before a Magistrate having jurisdiction for the purpose of taking cognizance as provided in Section 190 (1)(d) of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

72. After giving our thoughtful consideration in the matter, in the light of relevant provisions of the Act vis-vis the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Indian Penal Code, we are of the definite opinion that the ingredients constituting the offence under the MMDR Act and the ingredients of dishonestly removing sand and gravel from the river beds without consent, which is the property of the State, is a distinct offence under the IPC. Hence, for the commission of offence under Section 378 Cr.P.C., on receipt of the police report, the Magistrate having jurisdiction can take cognizance of the said offence without awaiting the receipt of complaint that may be filed by the authorized officer for taking cognizance in respect of violation of various provisions of the MMRD Act. Consequently the contrary view taken by the different High Courts cannot be sustained in law and, therefore, overruled. Consequently, these criminal appeals are disposed of with a direction to the concerned Magistrates to proceed accordingly."

5. Further reliance placed by the learned counsel upon another decision of Jharkhand High Court, Ranchi in the case of Prasuram Bellani and others Vs. The State of Jharkhand decided on 31.3.2015.

6. Learned Judge of Jharkhand High Court also taking clue on the above referred Hon'ble Apex Court judgment came to the conclusion that there is no illegality in the impugned order dated 11.7.2001 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pakur P.S. Case No. 311 of 2000, corresponding to G.R. No. 593 of 2000, so far it took cognizance for the offence under Sections 467, 468, 420 and 379 IPC against the petitioners. However, the cognizance of the offence under the Special Act relating to Mines and Minerals was found to be unsustainable in the eyes of law and that portion was set aside.

7. With the above observation of Jharkhand High Court as well as that of Hon'ble Apex Court, it is clear that Section 379 IPC is not precluded whenever any theft is being made in regard to mining in the riverbed that is damaging the Ecosystem and the safety of bridges. It also weakens river beds, fish breeding and destroys the natural habitat of many organisms. If these illegal activities are not stopped by the State and the police authorities of the State, it will cause serious repercussions as mentioned hereinabove. It will not only change the river hydrology but also will deplete the ground water levels.

8. Specific observation of the Apex Court in paragraph 70 of the judgment is necessary to be produced which runs as follows:

"70. There cannot be any dispute with regard to restrictions imposed under the MMDR Act and remedy provided therein. In any case, where there is a mining activity by any person in contravention of the provisions of Section 4 and other sections of the Act, the officer empowered and authorized under the Act shall exercise all the powers including making a complaint before the jurisdictional magistrate. It is also not in dispute that the Magistrate shall in such cases take cognizance on the basis of the complaint filed before it by a duly authorized officer. In case of breach and violation of Section 4 and other provisions of the Act, the police officer cannot insist Magistrate for taking cognizance under the Act on the basis of the record submitted by the police alleging contravention of the said Act. In other words, the prohibition contained in Section 22 of the Act against prosecution of a person except on a complaint made by the officer is attracted only when such person sought to be prosecuted for contravention of Section 4 of the Act and not for any act or omission which constitute an offence under Indian Penal Code."

9. As per observation of the Hon'ble Apex Court, police cannot insist the Magistrate for taking cognizance under the M.M.D.R Act and for that complaint is to be filed before the Magistrate by the competent authority. However, Paragraph 71 of the Judgemnt of the Hon'ble Apex Court gives liberty to the police in case of removal of mines and minerals against a person who is without any lease or licence or any authority entered into river and extracts sand, gravel and other minerals in removing or transporting these minerals in a clandestine manner with an intent to remove from the possession of the State and consequently is liable to be punished for committing such offence under Sections 378 and 379 IPC.

10. So far the cognizance taken by the learned trial court under the IPC is concerned, it cannot be said to be illegal or without authority but so far as the cognizance taken under the M.M.D.R. Act that is under the Special Act relating to mines and minerals is concerned, cannot be sustained in the eyes of law and accordingly only that portion of the impugned order is hereby set aside. So far as the cognizance under rest of sections is concerned that cannot be stayed or cannot be interfered and court below is directed to proceed accordingly.

11. The application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is disposed of accordingly.

Paragraph 1: The Court heard the learned counsel for the applicant and the learned AGA, and thoroughly reviewed the case records. The applicant challenged an order dated 17.05.2016 passed by the 1st Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Banda, which registered her Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. application as a complaint case rather than directing the police to register an FIR.

Paragraph 2: The Court accepted the learned AGA's contention that the alleged offences took place privately inside the applicant's house and not in a public place or within public view. Consequently, the applicant's attempt to charge the accused under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act was deemed legally inapplicable to the situation.

Paragraph 3: The Court observed that even if the allegations in the application were assumed to be true, all facts and evidence were already within the applicant's personal knowledge and control. Because there was no hidden evidence requiring a police investigation to uncover, the trial court appropriately treated it as a complaint case. The Court noted that the trial court's order relied on established precedents from both the High Court and the Supreme Court.

Paragraph 4 & 5 (Precedent Quote): The Court highlighted the decision in Sukhwasi v. State of U.P. (2007), which emphasizes that Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. should be exercised sparingly and only in extraordinary circumstances, such as to prevent a miscarriage of justice. The precedent clarifies that because an alternative remedy of filing a private complaint is readily available, Magistrates are under no legal mandate or obligation to automatically allow every Section 156(3) application.

Paragraph 6: The Court concluded that there was no illegality, impropriety, or jurisdictional error in the trial court's order. Finding no ground to invoke its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the Court dismissed the application.

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. The application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C., moved by applicant regarding incident happened inside her house in her presence, was registered as complaint case by impugned order dated 17.5.2016 passed by 1st Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Banda. This order of registering the application as complaint is under challenge in present proceeding.

3. This contention of learned AGA appears not unacceptable that according to said application alleged overt acts were committed inside house, and not at any public place or in public view, but applicant had tried to implicate accused for offence under section 3(1) 10 SC/ST Act, which is not applicable in such matter.

4. If facts of application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. is taken to be true, in that case also everything relating to fact is within knowledge of applicant and every evidence relating to it is within her control. There is nothing new that can be exposed after investigation. The trial court has passed order of registering aforesaid application as complaint after considering several judgement of this Court and Apex Court, in which one judgement is of this Court namely, 'Sukhwasi v. State of U.P., 2007(59) ACC 739' in which it has been held as under:

"Applications under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. are coming in torrents. Provisions under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. should be used sparingly. They should not be used unless there is something unusual and extra ordinary like miscarriage of justice which warrants a direction to the Police to register a case. Such application should not be allowed because the law provides them with an alternative remedy of filing a complaint, therefore, recourse should not normally be permitted for availing the provisions of section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

The reference is, therefore, answered in the manner that it is not incumbent upon a Magistrate to allow an application section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and there is no such legal mandate".

5. There appears no illegality or impropriety in the impugned order to exercise inherent jurisdiction of this Court. Therefore this application is dismissed.

Paragraph 1 & 2: The applicant filed a bail application seeking release in Case Crime No. 265 of 2014, under Sections 302 (murder) and 328 (causing hurt by means of poison) of the IPC at Police Station Chhatari, District Bulandshahr. Advocate Shri Dheeraj Singh Bohra formally filed his power on behalf of the complainant, which was taken on record by the Court.

Paragraph 3 & 4: The Court heard the arguments presented by the learned counsel for the applicant, the learned counsel for the complainant, and the learned AGA, and thoroughly perused the case records.

Paragraph 5: The applicant's counsel submitted that the FIR was lodged late on 25.08.2014 via a Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. application for an incident that occurred on 16.08.2014. The prosecution alleged that the applicant and a co-accused took the deceased to an isolated place, forced him to drink alcohol mixed with poison, and then brought him back to his house in a dying condition. While the initial cause of death was unknown, a subsequent viscera report confirmed poisoning.

Paragraph 6: The applicant's counsel argued that this poisoning narrative was an afterthought developed through legal consultation. They emphasized that on the very day of the incident, the deceased's father had informed the police that his son had committed suicide at home, based on which the police arrived and conducted the inquest report.

Paragraph 7: The counsel highlighted that the subsequent FIR named the deceased's brother, Tota Ram, as an eyewitness who saw the accused forcing the deceased to drink and threatening him. However, in his statement to the police, Tota Ram completely abandoned this theory, stating instead that he and his parents learned of the death while working in the fields and were told that the deceased had committed suicide by hanging, leading them to dial 100.

Paragraph 8: The counsel contended that if the family had actually seen the deceased being forcibly poisoned and dumped at home, the father would never have reported it as a suicide. Furthermore, the deceased's sister, Sheetal, was present at the house when the accused allegedly dropped him off on a motorcycle, confirming that the father's initial suicide report was based on immediate household facts, not wild conjecture.

Paragraph 9: The applicant's counsel drew attention to the inquest report, which noted the presence of semen on the deceased's garments, arguing that the exact circumstances of death remain highly ambiguous.

Paragraph 10: The counsel further argued that the prosecution's story was highly improbable, as a guilty person would flee the crime scene rather than risk public exposure by carrying a dying victim back to his own family on a motorcycle. They added that the applicant had been in jail since 18.04.2016, had no prior history of evading the law, and that the trial was unlikely to conclude early due to heavy pendency.

Paragraph 11: The learned AGA and the complainant's counsel strongly opposed the bail plea. They pointed to the post-mortem report, arguing that physical injuries on the deceased's feet indicated his legs were dragging on the ground while being carried on the motorcycle because he was already incapacitated by poison. However, when pointedly questioned by the Court, neither the AGA nor the complainant's counsel could offer a tenable explanation for the stark contradiction between this theory and the father's initial suicide report.

Paragraph 12: After evaluating the arguments, the nature of the evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the low likelihood of an early trial conclusion, and the lack of evidence suggesting the applicant would tamper with witnesses, the Court determined that the applicant was entitled to bail.

Paragraph 13 & 14: The Court ordered the release of the applicant, Praveen @ Prince Raghav, upon executing a personal bond and two local sureties, subject to strict conditions: he must not tamper with prosecution evidence and must personally appear on every trial date unless specifically exempted.

Paragraph 15 & 16: The Court clarified that any breach of these bail conditions would grant the lower court full liberty to cancel the bail. It further noted that the observations made in this order are strictly limited to the disposal of the bail application and will have no bearing on the final merits of the trial.

2. Shri Dheeraj Singh Bohra, Advocate has filed his power on behalf of complainant today, which is taken on record.

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned counsel for the complainant as well as learned A.G.A.

4. Perused the record.

5. Submission of the counsel for the applicant is that the F.I.R. of the case was lodged on the basis of an application moved u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C.. The incident is said to have taken place on 16.8.2014 and the application was moved on 25.8.2014 and the prosecution case as has emerged out is that the applicant and co-accused had taken the deceased to some place where they made him drink Alcohol and also administered poison to him. Subsequently the deceased was again brought by accused persons back to his house where he was left in a pitiable condition and died soon thereafter. Initially the cause of death could not be ascertained but subsequently the viscera report indicated that the deceased died as a result and effect of some poison. The contention of the counsel is that all this story of taking away the deceased by the accused persons and then compelling him to drink or administering some poison is just an after thought and has been developed through consultation and deliberations and this story does not contain any truth in the same. In this regard the counsel has laid emphasis upon the fact that the information first in point of time was given on 16.8.2014 i.e. on the day of incident itself by none else than the father of the deceased himself and it was on this information that the police had arrived and performed the inquest report of the deceased. The information that was furnished by the father was to the effect that his son (the deceased) had for some reason committed suicide in his house. Counsel has also drawn the attention of the court to the assertion made in the F.I.R. that was subsequently lodged in which the brother of the deceased namely Tota Ram has been made a witness of the fact that he had seen the applicant and co-accused making the deceased drink alcohol and when he asked his brother to go back he was not allowed to go back by accused. Even this was alleged in the subsequent version of F.I.R. that when Tota Ram, the brother of the deceased, insisted further then the applicant and co-accused gave threat him that he should run away otherwise he would also be killed. Counsel has further drawn the attention of the court to the statement of aforesaid Tota Ram in which the aforesaid allegation of compelling the deceased to drink alcohol has been given up and to the contrary, it was stated by the aforesaid Tota Ram that when he and his parents were in a field they got the information that his brother Sannu has committed suicide by hanging. It was further stated that after this an information on number 100 was given on which the police had arrived. Submission is that it is wholly unthinkable that if there had been any truth in the claim of the prosecution that the deceased was seen being administered the alcohol by force and then he was carried to his house and was dumped there in a nearly dead condition then there was absolutely no question for the father of the deceased to furnish the information that his son had committed suicide. In this regard it has also been pointed out by the applicant's counsel that the real sister of deceased namely Sheetal was also examined by the police and she also is said to have stated that she was in her house when the accused-applicant had brought the deceased on the motorcycle and had left him there in unconscious state and later on deceased Sannu died. The contention is that it is also clear that the aforesaid sister Sheetal was very much present in the house and therefore it cannot be said that information of commission of suicide was or could have been any wild conjuncture of the father. Submission is that actual story is some what very different from what is now being projected by the prosecution. Counsel has also drawn the attention of the court to the observation made by the police officer who performed the inquest in which he had noted that the garment of the deceased indicated the presence of semen. Counsel has tried to submit that it is very difficult to tell under what circumstance the deceased died. In addition it has also been submitted that if the applicant had actually administered the poison to the deceased and in case he actually committed the murder of the deceased then there was no justification as to why the accused should then take the trouble to take the dead body or the nearly dead deceased on motorcycle and bring him to his house again. The normal guilty conduct of any accused would be to make his escape good after commission of crime and not to expose him to the full public view and be seen by the all and sundry carrying the victim with them. Submission is that the story of taking the deceased on the motorcycle and bringing him back to the house of deceased after administering him poison is highly incredible story which hardly constitute any legitimate basis to prove applicant's complicity in the crime. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 18.4.2016 and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

6. Learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for the complainant who have opposed the prayer for bail. Attention of the court was drawn to the post mortem report and it has been pointed out that the features noted by the doctor indicate that the deceased while being carried on the motorcycle was not in a position to control himself and his legs were dragging all the way on the ground which resulted in corresponding injuries on his feet. Counsel has tried to show that when the deceased was brought back to his house he was virtually dead as a result of the poison that was administered to him by the accused. But despite being pointedly asked to explain the earlier version of the suicide given by the father, neither the informant's counsel nor learned A.G.A. has been able to proffer any explanation for the same which may be accepted as a tenable explanation with regard to the loud inconsistency in between the two versions.

7. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

8. Let the applicant-Praveen @ Prince Raghav, involved in Case Crime No.265 of 2014, u/s 302,328 I.P.C., P.S.-Chhatari, District-Bulandshahar be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

9. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

10. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Paragraph 1–3: Context of the Writ Petition

The tenant filed a writ petition challenging concurrent orders from lower courts that allowed the landlords' application to release a portion of House No. 18/15 Hastings Road, Tandon Quarters, Allahabad, under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Before the High Court, the tenant's counsel raised a single legal issue: a residential building portion cannot legally be released to a landlord for commercial use.

Paragraph 4: Counterarguments by the Landlords

The landlords' Senior Counsel countered that this specific plea was never explicitly argued in the lower courts. He claimed the tenanted property was mixed-use ("residential-cum-commercial") which exempts it from the statutory bar. Furthermore, he argued that since the tenant had acquired alternative housing within the city, the tenant was legally barred from raising any objections against the release application.

Paragraph 5–6: Factual Property Description from the Pleadings

The High Court scrutinized Annexure-5 of the release application, which contained the landlords' own architectural and textual description of the premises in Hindi. The text explicitly listed the property as consisting of "one shop, three residential rooms, a courtyard, kitchen, toilet, bathroom, and drawing room." The Court noted this clearly proves that, except for a single shop unit, the vast majority of the tenanted property is strictly residential.

Paragraph 7: Acknowledgment of Mixed Tendency Use

In paragraph 5 of their initial application, the landlords acknowledged that after the death of the original tenant (the petitioner's father), the petitioner continued using the premises both as a shop and for residence. The Court deduced from this that the single shop room was utilized for business, while the remaining three rooms, drawing room, and amenities served as the family's home.

Paragraph 8–9: Establishing the Landlords' Commercial Intention

The landlords' pleadings revealed that they reside at a different address (33 Lookerganj) and require the disputed property solely to expand an existing computer business. Paragraph 20 of their application explicitly stated that the first landlord needed the building to smoothly run his commercial trade. Taking the application as a whole, the Court established two facts: the landlords sought the eviction of a combined residential/commercial space, but their established bona fide need was entirely commercial.

Paragraph 10–11: The Statutory Bar in Section 21

The Court analyzed Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, highlighting its mandatory third proviso. The clause explicitly states that “no application... shall be entertained... in the case of any residential building, for occupation for business purposes.” The Court declared this provision mandatory, creating an absolute legal bar against releasing residential property for commercial intent.

Paragraph 12–14: Legal Duties of the Court and Lower Court Failures

The High Court ruled that preventing the release of residential space for business use is a pure question of law that goes to the root of a case’s maintainability. Even though the tenant had submitted written arguments and cited precedent (Husaini Dhobi) on this exact point before the lower appellate court, both lower courts completely failed to address the statutory bar, focusing only on the bona fide nature of the landlords’ need.

Paragraph 15–16: Application of Judicial Precedent

The Court relied on the precedent established in Husaini Dhobi v. IIIrd Additional District Judge, Lucknow (1986), which confirmed that a landlord is legally prohibited from seeking the release of residential premises to run a commercial business due to the third proviso of Section 21(1)(a). No contrary judicial view was presented by the landlords.

Paragraph 17–19: The Alternative Accommodation Trap

The lower courts had completely rejected the tenant’s defense because he had acquired a vacant residential house elsewhere in Allahabad, invoking Explanation (i) of the fourth proviso to Section 21(1). The High Court clarified that while this acquisition strips a tenant of their right to object, it does not relieve the court of its duty to assess the baseline legal maintainability of the landlords’ suit. Because the landlords’ own pleadings openly sought a residential area for business use, the application was facially unmaintainable regardless of the tenant’s status.

Paragraph 20–21: Final Orders and Modification of Release

The High Court concluded that the release of the three residential rooms, drawing room, and amenities for commercial computer operations was completely barred by law. Accordingly, the Court partially allowed the writ petition, quashing the orders of the Additional District Judge and Prescribed Authority to the extent that they released the residential spaces. However, the release of the singular shop unit was maintained. The lower court orders stood modified without any order as to costs.

Case Laws Cited:-

1. Husaini Dhobi Vs. IIIrd Additional District Judge, Lucknow and another, 1986 (2) ARC 251.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. A portion of House No.18/15 Hastings Road, Tandon Quarters, Allahabad is involved in the dispute.

2. The respondent/landlords (hereinafter referred to as the landlords) applied for release of the above portion under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 (in short 'Act'). The said release application after contest by the tenant has been allowed by the courts below.

3. Aggrieved by release of the portion in question, the petitioner/tenant (hereinafter referred to as the tenant) has invoked writ jurisdiction of this Court.

4. Sri Prakash Chandra, learned counsel for the tenant has argued only one point that the residential portion cannot be released for commercial purposes.

5. Sri Ravikant, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Arvind Srivastava who appears for the landlords has submitted that no such specific argument was raised by the tenant in the courts below. The tenanted portion is residential-cum-commercial and, as such, the bar contemplated by proviso to Section 21 would not apply. The objections of the tenant in opposition to the release application are not required to be considered as he has acquired an alternative accommodation in the city itself.

6. The release application filed by the landlords is enclosed with the petition in the form of Annexure - 5. It at its foot describes the tenanted portion as under:

“विवरण भवन निजाई

एक दुकान, रहायशी तीन कमरे आंगन, रसोई घर, शौचालय, स्नानगृह, ड्राइंग रूम है जो भवन सं० 18/15 हेस्टिंग रोड। 1/5 न्याय मार्ग। टंडन क्वार्टर्स, इलाहाबाद, पर स्थित है, जिसकी मानचित्र संलग्न है तथा चौहद्दी निम्न है:-“

7. The description of the tenanted portion as given by the landlords themselves in the release application is one shop, three residential rooms with courtyard, kitchen, toilet, bathroom, drawing room forming part of house No.18/15 Hastings Road, Tandon Quarters, Allahabad. The aforesaid description clearly demonstrates that apart from one shop the entire other portion under tenancy is residential in nature.

8. The release application in paragraph 5 states that previously the father of the tenant late Kedar Nath Gupta was the tenant whereupon on his death the petitioner tenant is using the house as a shop and for residential purposes. The averments made in this paragraph also indicates that the landlords accept that the tenant is using the tenanted portion in part as a shop and for residential purposes. It by necessary implication means that a one room portion which has been described as shop is being used as a shop and the remaining three room portion with a courtyard, a kitchen, a toilet, a bathroom and a drawing room is being used for residential purposes. In other words, except for one room portion which is being used as a shop and the remaining portion is in use for residential purposes.

9. The pleadings of the release application further reveal that the case of the landlords is that they have no other place to do any business except for the portion in dispute. They are living with their family with Smt. Urmila Tandon in a house 33 Lookerganj, Allahabad. The landlord No.1 is doing computer business and his establishment is registered with the Labour Department. He requires the premises in dispute for his bonafide need to expand/start his computer business which will require a Computer Operator, an Accountant, three Salesman and an Assistant.

10. The need as established by the landlords in the release application for the tenanted portion is only for the business purposes of one of them which is clearly indicative on the complete reading of the release application, specially paragraph 20 which reads as under:

20. यह कि आवेदक सं० 1 को अपना व्यवसायी कारोबार करने के लिए प्रश्नगत भवन सं० 18/15 हेस्टिंग रोड। 1/5 न्याय मार्ग। टंडन क्वार्टर्स, इलाहाबाद, जिसमें विपक्षी किरायेदार के रूप में आबाद है, की उचित व सद्भावी आवश्यकता है जिसमें वह व्यापार को समुचित रूप से चला सकता है।"

11. A complete reading of the release application as filed by the landlords makes two things very clear. First the release has been sought of a shop and a three room residential portion with a drawing room, courtyard, kitchen, toilet and bathroom. Second the need for the aforesaid portion is for commercial purposes.

12. Section 21 of the Act which provides for release of the building under occupation of tenant on the ground of bonafide need of the landlord by its third proviso lays down that no application for release shall be entertained in case of any residential building for occupation for business purposes. The relevant clause of the third proviso to Section 21(1)(a) of the Act is quoted below:

"Provided also that no application under clause (a) shall be entertained -

(i)

(ii) in the case of any residential building, for occupation for business purposes;

(iii)"

13. The aforesaid provision is of a mandatory nature and provides that a residential building cannot be released for business purposes.

14. The question whether a residential building can be released for commercial purposes is a pure question of law and a duty is cast upon the courts to ensure that a residential portion is not released for business purpose.

15. The courts below in allowing the release application have not dealt with and considered the above aspect of the matter which goes to the root of the release application and its maintainability.

16. The written argument filed on behalf of the tenant before the appellate court below reveals that emphasis was laid upon the above aspect of the matter and a contention was raised that a residential building cannot be released for commercial purposes in respect of which 1986(2) ARC 251 Husaini Dhobi Vs. IIIrd Additional District Judge, Lucknow and another was cited. However, despite the above the lower appellate court failed to consider the above argument and record any finding thereon. Both the courts below allowed the release application holding the need of the landlord to be bonafide but without going into the question of releasing a residential portion for the purposes of business.

17. In Husaini Dhobi (supra) it has been held that the landlord is permitted to use the residential portion for business purpose and the landlord can not seek release of residential premises for commercial purpose in view of the bar contained in proviso third (ii) to Section 21(1)(a) of the Act.

18. No contrary view was placed before me.

19. The courts below in holding the need of the landlord to be bonafide have recorded a finding that the tenant has acquired a residential house at Bhagwan Ram Mandir Marg/Old Stretchy Road, Allahabad. In view of the said finding it has been argued that the tenant cannot object to the release application.

20. Explanation (i) to the fourth proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act stipulates that where the tenant or any member of his family has built or has otherwise acquired in a vacant state or has got vacated after acquisition a residential building in the same city, municipality, notified area or town area, no objection by the tenant against an application under this sub-section shall be entertained. In other words, it provides that if a tenant of a residential premises has acquired another residential premises in vacant state he would not be entitle to raise any objection against the release application.

21. The aforesaid provision only debars the tenant from raising objection against the release application but it does not debars the court from considering the maintainability of the release application on the pleadings made in the release application itself. Thus, notwithstanding any objection to the release application by the tenant the release application on the face of it was not maintainable in so far as it seeks the release of a residential portion for business purposes.

22. In the above circumstances, as the landlords sought release of three rooms residential portion with a drawing room, courtyard, kitchen, toilet and bathroom for business purposes, the release application to that effect was barred by clause (ii) to third proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act.

23. Accordingly, the judgments and orders dated 30.5.2014 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.10, Allahabad and dated 10.1.2013 passed by the Prescribed Authority, Allahabad in so far as they direct for release of the residential portion of the House No.18/15 Hastings Road, Tandon Quarters, Allahabad for commercial purposes is quashed and the release of the shop alone which forms part of the tenanted portion is maintained. The judgment and orders of the courts below stand modified to the extent indicated above.

24. The writ petition is partly allowed as above with no orders as to costs.

Held—

Introduction & Invocation: The applicant approached the High Court under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Cr.P.C.) seeking to quash a chargesheet dated January 24, 2010, pending in the Court of the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate (A.C.J.M.), Mahrauli, Lalitpur. The chargesheet alleged offenses under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) and Sections 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition (D.P.) Act.

Notice and Counsel's Instructions: The case was taken up as a mentioned matter. Although directed to inform the opposite party No.2 (the complainant/wife), her counsel stated at the bar that she had received no further instructions from her client for a long time.

Nature of Dispute & Personal Status: The applicant's counsel submitted that the core matrimonial discord between the husband and wife had been amicably settled, and they are now living together peacefully. The applicant is not a family member but merely a business partner of the husband. She was roped into the case by the wife out of sheer suspicion regarding her relationship with the husband.

Investigation Anomalies: The Investigating Officer (I.O.) explicitly noted in the chargesheet that the applicant does not fall under the legal definition of a "relative of the husband." Despite this finding, the I.O. submitted the chargesheet against her, and the Magistrate mechanically took cognizance without considering this fact.

Acquittal of Main Accused: The husband, mother-in-law, and father-in-law were already acquitted by the trial court on July 28, 2012, following the compromise. The case against the applicant remained pending solely because of an interim stay order granted by the High Court back on November 28, 2011.

State's Opposition: The learned Additional Government Advocate (A.G.A.) representing the State opposed the quashing application but could not produce any facts or evidence to contradict the applicant's submissions. Legal Analysis of Section 498-A IPC: The Court analyzed Section 498-A IPC, emphasizing that the text strictly penalizes cruelty by the "husband or relative of the husband." The statutory definition does not extend to business partners or friends.

Final Order: Finding that the applicant is not a relative under Section 498-A IPC, and noting that the husband and in-laws have already been acquitted, the High Court allowed the application. The entire criminal proceeding and the underlying chargesheet against the applicant were officially quashed.

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. representing the State Perused the records.

2. The applicant, by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the impugned charge sheet dated 24.01.2010 submitted in Criminal Case No.174 of 2010 under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act, Police Station Mahrauli, District Lalitpur pending in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mahrauli, Lalipur.

3. This case has been taken up today as a mentioned case. The learned counsel for the applicant making mention was directed to inform the learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 that this case shall be taken up at 12.00 noon. Learned counsel has stated at bar that when he informed Ms. Ruchika Jain, learned counsel opposite party No.2, she stated that she had no further instructions from her client i.e.opposite party No.2 since long.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that it is a dispute arising out of matrimonial discord and now, the husband and wife have amicably settled this dispute. Now, they are living peacefully together, whereas the applicant, who has absolutely no concern with this matrimonial dispute and, who is merely a business partner of the husband of opposite party No.2 is unnecessarily being harassed due to the criminal case lodged against her by opposite party No.2 under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act Police Station Mahrauli, District Lalitpur, only in order to settle her grouse based on suspicion about the relationship between her husband and the applicant.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn the attention of this Court to the impugned charge sheet filed by the Police in which the I.O. has even clearly mentioned that the applicant does not come under the definition of "relative of husband", but despite this, he has submitted charge sheet against the applicant without proper investigation and the learned Magistrate too, without even considering this fact, has mechanically taken cognizance on the said charge sheet. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that in view of the fact that husband and wife are living together, opposite party No.2 (wife) will never appear before the court concerned and will try to keep the matter to remain pending, which is already pending since 2011. While drawing the attention of this Court to the Judgment dated 28.07.2012 passed by A.C.J.M. Mahrauli, District Lalitpur in the same case, learned counsel for the applicant submitted that in the aforesaid matter all the other co-accused persons including even the husband, mother-in-law, father-in-law have already been acquitted on the ground of compromise, but the criminal proceedings against the applicant are still pending due to an interim stay order dated 28.11.2011 passed by this Court with regard to applicant.

6. On the aforesaid grounds, learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the entire proceedings in pursuance of the said charge sheet filed under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act be quashed.

7. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the same, but he has not pointed out any relevant fact contradictory to the aforesaid submissions.

8. Section 498-A of I.P.C., which is reproduced below envisages in unequivocal terms about cruelty and harassment by husband or his relatives. It nowhere provides about harassment by friends of the husband.

Section 498A in The Indian Penal Code

498A. Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty.?Whoever, being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman, subjects such woman to cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years and shall also be liable to fine.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this section, "cruelty" means?

(a) any wilful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand.

9. Thus, it is clear that the applicant does not come within the purview of Section 498-A of IPC. The husband and his family members (in-laws), who were the main accused, have already been acquitted by the learned trial court itself. However, the case of applicant remained pending only due to an interim order of this Court.

10. Considering all these facts and circumstances, this application deserves to be allowed and is hereby allowed. The entire proceedings against the present applicant in pursuance of the said charge sheet filed under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act are hereby quashed.

Education Law — Ad hoc appointment of Principal — Section 18, U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 — Scope — Vacancy of Principal to be filled on ad hoc basis by promoting senior-most qualified teacher of institution — Appointment must be from within institution and in accordance with prescribed qualifications — Held, appointment of a Principal from another institution on officiating basis is alien to statutory scheme and impermissible.

Education Service — Ad hoc promotion — Eligibility and seniority — Determination — Senior-most teacher to be given charge unless ineligible — Disputes regarding seniority and qualification to be adjudicated by competent authority — Until such determination, existing arrangement cannot be disturbed arbitrarily.

Administrative Law — Natural justice — Violation — Ex parte order — District Inspector of Schools passed order replacing officiating Principal without notice or opportunity — Held, such order violative of principles of natural justice and unsustainable — Mere pendency of enquiry or direction for lodging FIR not sufficient to justify adverse ex parte action.

Administrative Law — Exercise of power — Malice in law — Order passed ignoring earlier approval of competent authority and pending disputes — Action influenced by extraneous considerations — Held, exercise of power arbitrary and vitiated by malice in law.

Education Service — Interim arrangement — Judicial directions — Limits — Court cannot direct appointment of outsider Principal from another institution as interim arrangement — Such direction beyond statutory framework and without jurisdiction.

In Result: Special Appeal allowed; order of District Inspector of Schools set aside; impugned directions of Single Judge (to extent of interim arrangement) quashed; directions for determination of seniority and qualification upheld.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. The appeal questions the correctness of the judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 26.7.2016 in relation to the ad hoc appointment and continuance of a Principal on officiating basis in an aided privately managed Intermediate College governed by the provisions of Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 and the Regulations framed thereunder.

2. The legal battle ensued for the post of Principal in Janta Inter College, Babhnan, Gonda which is duly recognized under the 1921 Act when it's regular Principal Mr. Ram Prakash Mishra died in a road accident on 15.12.2011. On the occurrence of such a vacancy ad hoc arrangement has to be made which is permissible under Section 18 of the 1982 Act. Section 18 of 1982 Act reads as under:-

"18. Ad hoc Principals or Headmasters -- (1) Where the Management has notified a vacancy to the Board, in accordance with sub-section (1) of Section 10 and the post of the Principal or the Headmaster actually remained vacant for more than two months, the management shall fill such vacancy on purely ad hoc basis by promoting the senior-most teacher.

(a) in the lecturer's grade in respect of a vacancy in the post of the Principal.

(b) in the trained graduate's grade in respect of a vacancy in the post of the Headmaster.

(2) Where the Management fails to promote the seniormost teacher under sub-section (1) the inspector shall himself issue the order of promotion of such teacher and the teacher concerned shall be entitled to get his salary as the Principal or the Headmaster, as the case may be, from the date he joins such post in pursuance of such order of promotion.

(3) Where the teacher to whom the order of promotion is issued under sub-section (2) is unable to join the post of the Principal or the Headmaster, as the case may be, due to any act or omission on the part of the management, such teacher may submit his joining report to the Inspector, and shall thereupon be entitled to get his salary as the Principal or the Headmaster, as the case may be, from the date he submits the said report.

(4) Every appointment of an ad hoc Principal or Headmaster under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall cease to have effect from when the candidate recommended by the Board joins the post."

3. It may be clarified at the outset that such ad hoc arrangement is to be made from amongst the senior-most teachers of the highest grade in the institution and the appointment has to be made of an individual who possesses the qualification to occupy the post of a Principal in terms of the Appendix appended to the Regulations framed under Chapter - III of the 1921 Act read with the Regulations framed under the 1982 Act. There cannot be a dispute that the Principal of an Intermediate College has to have a post-graduate degree with the experience as prescribed under the said Appendix for being appointed as a Principal. The senior-most person has to be given charge unless he is ineligible or otherwise incapable and the seniority has to be determined in terms of the Rules that provide for fixation of seniority under the Regulations and the Act. According to the appellant, he is the senior-most Teacher in the highest grade and his name had also appeared at Sl. No. 1 in the seniority list dated 21.11.2012 and as such, he was entitled for being appointed. According to the appellant, the name of Sri Krishna Dev Tripathi was shown at Sl. No.2 whereas name of Sri Satyadeo Tiwari was shown at Sl. No.11. This seniority is however being disputed by the respondent No.6. The respondent No.6 also disputes the eligibility of the appellant of not being possessed of a Post-Graduate Degree on the date when he came to be given charge on officiating basis treating him to be the senior-most Teacher of the Institution. According to the respondent No.6, since the appellant did not possess the requisite qualification he could neither have been given charge nor can he be promoted on ad hoc basis as a Principal of the Institution.

4. This process of appointment on ad hoc basis on the post of Principal of the Institution commenced with a resolution of the Committee of Management passed on 25.1.2012, whereby the said proposal was forwarded to the Regional Joint Director (Education), Faizabad. A letter dated 27.1.2012 was sent by the District Inspector of Schools to the Joint Director of Education informing him that the appellant possessed only a Graduate Degree (B.A., B.Ed.) but in view of the impending Board Exams of students the arrangement on the post be made at the earliest. The Joint Director of Education on 15.2.2012 passed an order to the effect that Sri Krishna Dev Tripathi was the senior-most Teacher who was qualified and eligible, but since his work and conduct was not satisfactory and he was involved in a criminal case having been bailed out therein, the appellant/Laxmi Narain Tewari was rightly proposed for being appointed on ad hoc basis and accordingly, the Joint Director of Education approved of the ad hoc promotion of the appellant through the said order dated 15.2.2012, a copy whereof is Annexure -2 to the appeal. The District Inspector of Schools, Gonda vide order dated 26.2.2012 attested the signatures of the appellant as the officiating Principal of the Institution to function till a regularly selected Principal by the Board arrives to join in the Institution.

5. At this juncture, it may be relevant to point out that till date there is nothing on record to indicate the regular selection/appointment of the Principal in the institution for the past four years.

6. The issue of seniority vis-à-vis the Teachers in the Institution also appears to have been raised before the District Inspector of Schools and Joint Director of Education and the District Inspector of Schools vide letter dated 7.9.2012 called upon the submission of the seniority list before him. A copy of the said letter is Annexure - 4 to the appeal. The Committee of Management of the Institution through it's Manager forwarded the seniority list vide letter dated 22.11.2012.

7. The respondent No.6 Satyadeo Tiwari being an aspirant for the post of Principal on the aforesaid allegations appears to have approached the local Member of Legislative Assembly (MLA) who on 18.10.2012 made a recommendation to the Director of Education for appointing the respondent No.6 as the officiating Principal of the Institution. The Director of Education in turn forwarded the said letter to the District Inspector of Schools and acting thereon, the District Inspector of Schools on 12.11.2012 despatched a letter directing the Manager of the Institution to appoint the respondent No.6 as the officiating Head of the Institution and also forward papers for the attestation of his signatures. The District Inspector of Schools informed the Manager vide letter dated 16.1.2013 that the aforesaid recommendation and the letter written by him on 12.11.2012 shall be considered only after the decision of seniority which is pending before the Regional Joint Director (Education).

8. In between, the appellant had filed a Writ Petition No.6977 (SS) of 2012 challenging the direction of the District Inspector of Schools dated 12.11.2012 which had been issued at the instance of the MLA and the Director of Education. The said writ petition is still pending, but it appears that no action was taken as the District Inspector of Schools himself passed the order 16.1.2013 that the same shall be considered after the seniority dispute is decided by the Joint Director of Education as is evident from the letter dated 16.1.2013. Practically, the said petition appears to have become redundant in the wake of subsequent developments.

9. The respondent No.6 then adopted another course of method approaching the district authorities including the District Magistrate, Gonda alleging that the appellant had managed to procure Post-Graduation Certificates in the meantime, but since they were forged an enquiry should be conducted into the matter. The District Inspector of Schools on 6.2.2014 wrote a letter to the management calling upon it to provide the copies of the marks sheets and certificates of the Master's Degrees that came to be acquired by the appellant in between these transactions.

10. The respondent No.6 appears to have pestered the M.L.A. who again might have called upon the District Inspector of Schools, who in turn issued a letter dated 6.5.2015 calling upon the Management to explain as to why charge of ad hoc/officiating Principal has not been given to the respondent No.6. This indicates that the respondent No.6 has questioned the seniority as well as the eligibility of the appellant at the time of his appointment and even thereafter about his qualification of Post-Graduation that have been acquired later on which he had described to be fake. Not only this, this persuasion further appears to have taken shape when the respondent No.6 moved a complaint before the District Magistrate, who on the administrative side directed the Station Officer of the Police Station concerned to lodge an F.I.R. vide order dated 16.5.2016 which order finds endorsed on Annexure - 16 to the affidavit. This order has been passed on the application presented during "Janta Darshan" of the District Magistrate. The Management appears to have refused to act upon any such complaints or the direction of the District Inspector of Schools vide letter dated 20.7.2016 clearly stating therein that unless it is found that the appellant is otherwise guilty of any misconduct he cannot be removed and no charge can be given to some other person. It has also been stated by the Management that the respondent No.6/Satyadeo Tiwari has not been able to perform his teaching job satisfactorily and even otherwise he had suffered from a paralytic attack about a year ago as a result whereof it is not possible for him to maintain discipline amongst the students in the classes. The letter of the Management also indicates that a recommendation had been made for his compulsory retirement and for that purpose, he can be medically examined.

11. It is in this background that all of a sudden without any notice or opportunity to the appellant, the District Inspector of Schools on 30.6.2016 passed an order, that keeping in view the enquiry on the complaint made by the respondent No.6 which is pending and the direction of the District Magistrate to lodge an F.I.R., till the enquiry is concluded, respondent No.6/Satyadeo Tiwari is directed to be appointed as officiating Head of the Institution. A copy of the letter was sent to the Manager of the Institution to execute the same and to forward the signatures of respondent No.6 for attestation.

12. It is this order dated 30.6.2016 that came to be challenged by the appellant through the Writ Petition No.16917 (SS) of 2016 that has given rise to this appeal contending that firstly, the impugned order is in violation of principles of natural justice as no notice or opportunity was given to the appellant and secondly, the pendency of an enquiry cannot be a basis for his substitution as the Head of the Institution by the appointment of the respondent No.6 that too even after four years of his continuing as such and thirdly, the appellant possesses the Master's Degree in two subjects which came to be obtained in the years 2012 and 2013 respectively. It was further urged on behalf of the appellant that the original order by which the appellant was recognized by the authorities as the officiating Head of the Institution, namely the order dated 15.2.2012 of the Joint Director of Education and the consequential order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 22.2.2012 has neither be rescinded nor cancelled and as such, the District Inspector of Schools on his own cannot annul the effect of the highest authorities, namely, Regional Director of Education.

13. The respondent No.6 filed a short counter affidavit before the learned Single Judge and brought on record the letter dated 27.1.2012 of the District Inspector of Schools that was addressed to the Joint Director of Education indicating therein that the appellant/Laxmi Narain Tiwari was possessed of the qualification of B.A., and B.Ed., only, but in view of the impending practical examinations of the students to be conducted by the U.P. Board, a decision should be taken in relation to the appointment of the Head of the Institution.

14. A supplementary affidavit was filed by the appellant before the learned Single Judge stating therein that he had post-graduated in the subject of English through the distance learning education of Sikkim University in January, 2011 in a course that ran between January, 2011 to December, 2011 and the marks sheet of the final year was issued on 25.9.2012. A copy of the said mark sheet was also filed alongwith the supplementary affidavit. It was also alleged therein that subsequently, the appellant passed the Post-Graduate Examination in Hindi as well from Acharya Narendra Dev Kisan Post-Graduate College, Babhnan, Gonda in 2013 as a private student and this certificate was appended alongwith the supplementary affidavit which course he had pursued with due permission granted in this regard. He also indicated his claim of seniority over and above the respondent No.6. It was also alleged therein that no complaint was there against him about his capacity and conduct as Head of the Institution since 2012 and in this background, it was prayed that the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 30.6.2016 being mala fide deserves to be quashed.

15. We have heard Sri Rakesh Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the appellant, Sri Ramesh Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent No.6 and the learned Standing Counsel for the respondent Nos.1 to 4.

16. Learned counsel for the said respondents clearly stated that they do not propose to file any further affidavit apart from what has already been filed before the learned Single Judge and therefore, the matter be disposed of finally at this stage itself.

17. Learned counsel for the appellant Sri Singh has submitted that there was a contest between the appellant and the respondent No.6 for the post in question. The learned Single Judge has committed a manifest error by proceeding to make a provision by directing that the function of the post of Principal in the Institution shall be discharged by a regularly appointed Principal of some nearby recognized aided Intermediate College in the vicinity of the appellant's institution. Sri Singh submits that this direction is contrary to law and the Principal of another institution cannot be supplanted in the appellant's institution either under any provision of the 1921 Act or under the 1982 Act or the Rules and Regulations framed thereunder. Such a direction therefore cannot be implemented and it amounts to appointing somebody totally outside the cadre of the Institution for which the provisions do not make any exception and therefore, such an exercise cannot be undertaken through a Mandamus under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. He therefore submits that this part of the order being totally without jurisdiction the same deserves to be set aside.

18. It would be appropriate to deal with this part of the direction at the very outset with regard to which the submission of Sri Ramesh Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent No.6 is that even if it is assumed that this direction could not be given, but the same can be saved by modifying it to the extent that any other Teacher of the same Institution including the respondent No.6 can be given charge once it is established that the appellant did not possess the minimum qualifications on the date when he came to be proposed by the Committee of Management on 25.1.2012 and even when the orders were passed by the Joint Director of Education and the District Inspector of Schools on 15.2.2012 and 22.2.2012 respectively.

19. We have considered the aforesaid submissions and the issue with regard to the qualification of appellant will be dealt with here-in-after but so far as the aforesaid direction of the learned Single Judge to make an interim arrangement by giving charge of the office of Principal to a regular Principal of some other Institution is totally foreign to the concept of an ad hoc Principal as envisaged under Section 18 of the 1982 Act. The senior-most Teacher of the same Institution has to be given charge unless he is otherwise incapable of holding the same. Sri Ramesh Pandey therefore is right to the extent that if the senior-most Teacher is not qualified then the baton has to pass on to the next senior-most Teacher provided he is qualified and eligible. Thus, a Principal of another College cannot be introduced as an In-charge on officiating basis of the present Institution.

The said direction of the learned Single Judge therefore being beyond law cannot be sustained. One private aided institution is a separate entity from another private aided institution. There cannot be any imposition on officiating basis in the manner aforesaid as neither the 1982 Act nor the 1921 Act or the Rules and Regulations framed thereunder envisages any such arrangement.

20. Coming to the issue of this sudden change brought about by the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 30.6.2016, the learned Single Judge himself has arrived at the finding that the impugned order is in violation of principles of natural justice and has been passed without any notice or opportunity to the appellant. Neither Sri Ramesh Pandey for the respondent No.6 nor the learned Standing Counsel for the State could dispute the fact that the order dated 30.6.2016 of the District Inspector of Schools was passed without notice and opportunity to the appellant. Thus, the same being in violation of principles of natural justice cannot be sustained more so in the background when the appellant had been continuing and officiating as the Head of the Institution for the past four years without any complaint about his administrative capacity on the post.

21. There was no justification for passing an ex parte order and it also appears to have been passed not bona fide, inasmuch as the pretext of passing of the order is the pendency of an enquiry against the appellant both with regard to the seniority and also with regard to the status of his Certificates for which a direction had been issued to lodge an F.I.R. Such a pretext cannot be made the basis of an ex parte order unless there is a final outcome of any such enquiry or even prima facie evidence before a Criminal Court to substantiate the same. An F.I.R. was directed to be lodged by the District Magistrate who had no authority to entertain a complaint with regard to such a matter which was already engaging the attention of the educational authorities, that too even in a "Janta Darshan". The District Inspector of Schools has not correctly appreciated or appears to have not been informed about the entire background of this litigation. A mere lodging of an F.I.R. would therefore not be a basis to dispense with the inbuilt mechanism of providing an opportunity before passing an order adverse to the appellant.

22. Sri Ramesh Pandey has urged that if the order is interfered with the same would amount to restoring the appellant who does not possess the minimum qualifications and is also alleged to be in possession of fake Certificates of Post-Graduation. This may only be at best a presumptuous material which is subject to any enquiry and is clearly rebuttable which proceedings were pending before the educational authorities. There is no final outcome of the same. Simultaneously, the issue of seniority which has already been raised is still pending before the Joint Director of Education. Thus, to presume everything against the appellant at this very stage and to non-suit him would be exercising an erroneous authority on the basis of a mere presumption without final proof.

23. There is yet another aspect of the matter. The impugned order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 30.6.2016 has been passed directly by the District Inspector of Schools to appoint the respondent No.6 and give him officiating charge of the Institution. There is no resolution of the Committee of Management nor is there any final verdict on the dispute between the appellant and the respondent No.6 either about the qualifications or the seniority matter. The District Inspector of Schools was therefore right in dispatching the letter on 16.1.2013 informing the Manager that any decision on the complaint of the respondent No.6 or otherwise would be taken after a decision is taken by the Joint Director of Education. The District Inspector of Schools has pre-empted this by the impugned order dated 30.6.2016 without the order of the Joint Director of Education dated 15.2.2012 having been either withdrawn or rescinded which is in favour of the appellant. This being the position the District Inspector of Schools clearly appears to have acted upon the persuasion of the respondent No.6 and the earlier correspondence as noted above where the M.L.A. had also intervened at the instance of the respondent No.6. The order of the District Inspector of Schools therefore also suffers from malice in law. This aspect has also been overlooked by the learned Single Judge while refusing to come to the aid of the appellant and adopting a procedure which is totally alien to the provisions of the Act and Rules and introducing a third person as a Principal from outside even though the learned Single Judge has noticed the fact that the matter requires a decision by the Joint Director of Education that has been explained by him at item Nos.1, 2 and 3 of the directions issued in the impugned judgment.

24. In view of what has been stated above, the direction Nos.4, 5 and 7 of the impugned judgment cannot be sustained. Accordingly, we find that the learned Single Judge even though had rightly issued the directions for an early decision in the matter by the Director and the Joint Director of Education, had erred in exercising discretion by proceeding to make an interim arrangement by non-suiting the appellant or even for that matter against the respondent No.6 who were staking their claims in the institution.

25. From what has been brought on record, it is evident that the appellant was continuing in the institution pursuant to the orders referred to here-in-above for the past four years and therefore, the abrupt decision to dislodge the same without any decision on the merits of the claim by the competent authority by the District Inspector of Schools was clearly an erroneous exercise of power. The District Inspector of Schools ought not to have overreached the order of the Joint Director of Education dated 15.2.2012 and his own order dated 16.1.2013 in such a hasty manner which is also in violation of principles of natural justice.

26. Consequently, for all the reasons aforesaid, the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 30.6.2016 is quashed and the directions given by the learned Single Judge being direction Nos.4, 5 and 7 are set aside.

27. The other directions with regard to seniority and with regard to the enquiry into the Master's Degree of the appellant are upheld. The Joint Director of Education shall proceed with the matter of seniority and so far as the issue of the Certificates of the appellant is concerned, the same shall be decided by the Director of Secondary Education as directed by the learned Single Judge within the time period prescribed therein. The final orders to be passed by the Director of Secondary Education would therefore govern the fate of the parties as per the direction of the learned Single Judge.

28. Subject to any further challenge being raised to the same, the Special Appeal is accordingly allowed with the aforesaid directions.

Municipal Law — Property tax — Determination of annual value — Compliance with statutory procedure — Challenge to rent list and determination of annual value under S. 174, U.P. Municipal Corporation Act, 1959 read with Rules, 2000 — Held, fixation of annual value and rental rates must strictly follow procedure prescribed under Act and Rules including preparation, publication, invitation and disposal of objections — Non-compliance vitiates entire exercise.

Municipal Law — Assessment list — Illegality — Violation of Rules 4-A & 4-B — Final rent list published prior to proper disposal of objections and without adherence to prescribed procedure — Exercise conducted by officers without due authority and without following statutory requirements — Held, impugned determination illegal and unsustainable.

Statutory Interpretation — Mandatory procedure — Doctrine of "manner prescribed" — Where statute requires an act to be done in a particular manner, it must be done in that manner alone or not at all — Any deviation renders action void — Principle reiterated.

Writ Jurisdiction — Interference — Remand for fresh action — Where statutory procedure admittedly not followed, High Court justified in quashing impugned action — Liberty granted to authority to undertake fresh exercise in accordance with law.

In Result: Writ petitions allowed; impugned rent list and annual value determination set aside; liberty granted to Nagar Nigam to proceed afresh in accordance with statutory provisions.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
&
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Manish Goyal and Sri Vishnu Pratap Singh, learned counsel for petitioners and Sri Satyam Singh, Advocate for Nagar Nigam.

2. Rent list dated 30th May, 2015 published by Nagar Nigam determining rate under Section 174(1)(b) of Nagar Nigam Adhiniyam, 1959 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1959') read with Rule 4A & 4B of Uttar Pradesh Municipal Corporation (Property Taxes) Rules, 2000 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 2000") for assessment of annual value of buildings for determining House Tax and Water Tax has been challenged on the ground that said determination has been made in violation of procedure prescribed in the Rules read with Section 174 of Act, 1959.

3. With the consent of parties, for the purposes of reference of pleadings, Writ Tax No. 831 of 2015 is taken as the leading case.

4. Brief facts sated therein are that petitioners are residents of Bareilly. Respondent, Nagar Nigam, Bareilly is a Municipal Corporation constituted under Act, 1959 and governed by various provisions there under.

5. Under Section 173 Nagar Nigam is empowered to levy different kinds of "Property Tax" enumerated therein vide sub section (1) as under : -

"(a) a general tax on a graduated scale;

(b) water tax in areas where water is supplied by Corporation;

(c) drainage tax in areas provided with sewer system by Corporation;

(d) a conservancy tax in areas in which Corporation undertakes collection, removal and disposal of excrementitious and polluted matter from privies, urinals and cesspools."

(emphasis added)

6. Sub section (2) of Section 173, states that taxes under sub section (1) shall be levied on "annual value" of building or land as the case may be. A proviso inserted in sub section (2) by U.P. Act No.17 of 1999 provides minimum and maximum rate of taxes leviable by Corporation and reads as under : -

" Provided that the aggregate of the property taxes shall in no case be less than 22 per cent and not more than 32 per cent of the annual value of the building or land or both assessed to such taxes, so however, that the general tax shall not be less than 10 per cent and not more than 15 per cent, the water tax shall not be less than 7.5 per cent and not more than 12.5 per cent, the drainage tax shall not be less than 2.5 per cent and not more than 5 per cent and the conservancy tax shall not be more than 2 per cent of the annual value."

(emphasis added)

7. Since "Property Tax" under Section 173 is founded on "annual value" of buildings or land, Section 174, defines "annual value" and reads as under.

"174. Definition of "annual value". -(1) "Annual value" means –

(a) in the case of railway stations, colleges, schools, hostels, factories, commercial buildings, and other non-residential buildings, a proportion not below 5 per cent, to be fixed by rule made in this behalf of the sum obtained by adding the estimated present cost of erecting the building less depreciation at a rate to be fixed by rules, to the estimated value of the land appurtenant thereto; and

(b) in the case of a building or land not falling within the provisions of clause (a), twelve times the value arrived at on multiplying the carpet area of the building, or the area of the land, by the applicable minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the carpet area in the case of building or the applicable minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the area in the case of land, as the case may be, and for this purpose the minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot shall be such as may be fixed once in every two years by the Municipal Commissioner on the basis of the location of the building or the land, nature of the construction of the building, the circle rate fixed by the Collector for the purposes of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 and the current minimum rate of rent in the area for such building or land and such other factors, and in such manner, as may be prescribed:

Provided that where the annual value of any building would, by reason of exceptional circumstances, in the opinion of the Corporation, be excessive if calculated in the aforesaid manner, the Corporation may fix the annual value at any less amount which appears to it equitable.

Explanation.- For the purpose of calculation of annual value the carpet area shall be calculated as under: -

(ii) Covered Verandah - full measurement of internal dimension;

(iii) Balcony, Corridor, Kitchen and Store-50 per cent measurement of internal dimension;

(iv) Garage - one-fourth measurement of internal dimension;

(v) Area covered by bathroom, latrines, portico and staircase shall not form part of the carpet area.

Explanation II.-The standard rent, the agreed rent or the reasonable annual rent of a building for the purposes of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 shall not be taken into account while calculating the annual value of that building.

(2) Where the Corporation so resolves, the annual value for the purpose of assessment of property taxes shall –

(a) in the case of land and owner-occupied residential building which is not more than ten years old, be deemed to be 25 per cent less and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 32.5 per cent less, and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 40 per cent less than the annual value determined under clause (b) of subsection (1); and

(b) in the case of residential building let on rent, which is not more than ten years old, be deemed to be 25 per cent more, and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 12.5 per cent more than the annual value determined under clause (b) of subsection (1), and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be equal to the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1).

8. Section 174 provides two methods to compute "annual value", one in respect of non residential, commercial or such building as are used for public purposes and another for those which are residential building. Section 174(1)(a) deals with method of determining "annual value" in respect of railway stations, colleges, schools, hostels, factories, commercial buildings and other non residential buildings. The methodology applied by Legislature for determining annual value for property covered by Section 174(1)(a) is that firstly, estimated present cost of erecting the building shall be determined, and rate of depreciation shall be applied to such building. Depreciation rate would be fixed by Rules. The reduced cost of erecting building i.e. which comes after reducing depreciation at the rate fixed by Rules, it shall be added to the admitted value of land. 'Annual value' would be 5 per cent or such as fixed by Rule of the value arrived at above. We may demonstrate annual value of property governed by Section 174(1)(a) as under.

"Present cost of erecting building - (depreciation at a rate fixed by Rule) + estimated value of land appurtenant to property = whatever value comes, 'annual value' would be 5 per cent or such higher as fixed by Rules."

9. Similarly, Section 174(1)(a) applies to building or land not covered by clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 174. In this category annual value would be determined, firstly, by working out carpet area of building or where it is land; area of land, multiplied by minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the carpet area in case of building, or minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the area of land. Whatever value comes, it shall be twelve times thereof would be 'annual value'. In other words, the determination may be demonstrated as under.

"(a) For Building - Carpet area of building x minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot x 12

(b) Land - area of land x monthly minimum rate per square foot."

10. With respect to monthly minimum rate of rent per square foot under Section 174(1)(b), statute requires that it shall be fixed once in every two years by Municipal Commissioner on the basis of (a) location of building or land, (b) nature of construction of building, (c) circle rate fixed by Collector for the purpose of Indian Stamp Act, 1899, (d) the current minimum rate of rent in the area for such building or land, and (e) such other factors, as the case may be.

11. Explanation 1 of Section 174 gives details as to how annual value of carpet area shall be calculated and Explanation-II makes it clear that agreed rent, standard rent or reasonable annual rent of a building for the purposes of Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulations of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1972") shall not be taken into account while calculating annual value of that building.

12. Sub-Section (2) further provides that Corporation so resolves, annual value for the purposes of assessment of property taxes shall be in the case of land and owner occupied residential building which is not more than ten years old, be deemed to be 25 per cent less and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 32.5 per cent less and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 40 per cent less than the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1). Further in case of residential building let on rent, which is not more than ten years old, it can be deemed to be 25 per cent more, and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 12.5 per cent more than the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1), and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be equal to annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1).

13. For the purposes of preparation of assessment and levy of property tax, procedure has been prescribed in Sections 207 to 213. Section 207 contemplates preparation of an assessment list by Municipal Commissioner determining area wise rental rates in accordance with manner prescribed in the rules. Section 207-A gives an option to owner or occupier of property to self assess property of tax and deposit the same and for that himself determine annual value of building in accordance with Section 174 and deposit property tax so assessed by him in such manner, together with a statement of such self assessment, in such form, as may be prescribed.

14. Section 207-B provides that every owner or occupier of house or land shall submit a property return for the purposes of annual rental value up to a date as may be prescribed. Sub-section (2) makes failure of submitting such return, penal, which is compoundable in view of Section (3) of Section 207-B. Section 208 obliges Municipal Commissioner to publish list prepared under section 207 in accordance with the manner prescribed in the rules. Section 209 obliges Municipal Commissioner or an Officer authorized by him to dispose of objections against assessment list prepared under section 207 in the manner prescribed in the rules. Section 211 contemplates new assessment list ordinarily in every two years in exercise of power under Sections 174 to 207-A and 221-B of Act, 1959,

15. Competent Authority i.e. State Government has framed rules, namely, Uttar Pradesh Municipal Corporation (Property Taxes) Rules, 2000 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 2000"). The aforesaid rules exclude the area which has been included in the city within last ten years and a building constructed on a plot of land measuring 30 square meter or having a carpet area of 15 square meter, if the owner of the building does not possess any other building in the city. These rules came into force from the date of publication in gazette i.e. 22nd April, 2000.

16. Nagar Nigam, Bareilly under took exercise for determination of rent in terms of Section 174 read with Rules 2000 for the period :-

(i) 2001 upto 2003

(ii) 2003 upto 2005

(iii) 2007 upto 2009.

17. Petitioners did not dispute aforesaid fixation and paid house tax in terms of determination of annual value for the aforesaid period, either through self assessment form or on the basis of bills raised by Nagar Nigam, Bareilly.

18. Rent list was published for 2010-12, and objections were decided. It was decided that proposed list, would be effective from 1-4-2011 and shall be published in two local newspapers, but rental value was arbitrarily enhanced without objections and publications.

19. By resolution dated 12-2-2014, Nagar Nigam discarded rent list for 2011-12 but instead of implementing said list, a new proposal was made for revision of rent based upon per square foot for carpet area in the case of building and per square foot of the area in the case of land by publication of another list dated 10-4-2015. Objections were filed by various persons including petitioners. Personal hearing was afforded on 31-5-2015 and final list was published on 31.5.2015.

20. It is said that finalization of rent rate list is illegal and contrary to rule 4A (1)(ii) of Rules, 2000. Final list was published on 31st May, 2015 while objection was decided on 16-6-2015 and July, 2015 which was in violation of Rule 4B of Rules, 2000. It is also said that entire exercise has been done by officers of Nagar Nigam and not by Municipal Commissioner who is authorized under Act, 1959 and Rules 2000. Further no decision could have been taken by Municipal Commissioner without any resolution of Board. From paras 37 to 42, of writ petition with reference to various provisions in Act, 1959 and Rules, 2000 it has been sought to demonstrate that in making final assessment, procedure prescribed in Rules has not been followed by Respondents.

21. Nagar Nigam has filed a counter affidavit but therein contents of paras 33 to 38 of writ petition, though denied, but there is no averment and any material to show that procedure laid down in various provisions as discussed and referred above, was followed by Nagar Nigam.

22. Learned counsel appearing for respondent, Nagar Nigam, after some arguments, fairly did not dispute that in determining rates under Section 174, which are impugned in the writ petition, Nagar Nigam has failed to follow the procedure prescribed in various provisions of Act, 1959 as referred to above.

23. When law requires something to be done in a particular manner anything done otherwise will be void and illegal. This principle was recognized in Nazir Ahmad Vs. King-Emperor AIR 1936 PC 253 and, thereafter it has been reiterated and followed consistently by Apex Court in a catena of judgements, which we do not propose to refer all but would like to refer a few recent one.

24. In Dhananjaya Reddy Vs. State of Karnataka 2001 (4) SCC 9 in para 23 of the judgment the Court held :

"It is a settled principle of law that where a power is given to do a certain thing in a certain manner, the thing must be done in that way or not at all."

25. In Commissioner of Income Tax, Mumbai Vs. Anjum M.H. Ghaswala 2002 (1) SCC 633, it was held :

"It is a normal rule of construction that when a statute vests certain power in an authority to be exercised in a particular manner then the said authority has to exercise it only in the manner provided in the statute itself."

26. The judgments in Anjum M.H. Ghaswala (supra) and Dhananjaya Reddy (supra) laying down the aforesaid principle have been followed in Captain Sube Singh & others Vs. Lt. Governor of Delhi & others 2004 (6) SCC 440.

27. In Competent Authority Vs. Barangore Jute Factory & others 2005 (13) SCC 477, it was held :

"It is settled law that where a statute requires a particular act to be done in a particular manner, the act has to be done in that manner alone. Every word of the statute has to be given its due meaning."

28. In State of Jharkhand & others Vs. Ambay Cements & another 2005 (1) SCC 368 in para 26 of the judgment, the Court held:

"It is the cardinal rule of interpretation that where a statute provides that a particular thing should be done, it should be done in the manner prescribed and not in any other way."

29. In effect a similar question was considered by Division Bench of this Court [in which I was also a member with Hon'ble S.R. Alam, J., (as His Lordship then was)] in Daya Shankar Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008(2) ESC 1220 and this Court has observed:

"A modification, amendment etc., therefore, is permissible by exercising the power in the like manner and subject to like sanction and conditions in which the main provision was made initially. Since, Staff Regulations were framed admittedly with the previous sanction of the State Government and by publication in the official Gazette, same can be amended only following the same procedure and not otherwise. Therefore, the proposal/resolution passed by the Board of Directors, UPSWC by no stretch of imagination can be said to have the effect of either amending Regulation 12 of Staff Regulations or to bind UPSWC and its employees to be governed by such resolution/proposal which are inconsistent with the existing provisions contained in Staff Regulations."

30. In that view of the matter, we find that impugned final rate list and list of Rental Value cannot be sustained.

31. In view of the above stand of respondents and considering the fact that non observance of procedure prescribed in Act, 1959 is virtually admitted, this writ petition is allowed. Impugned final rate list 30.5.2015 issued by respondent-1 and list of Rental Value, dated 10.4.2015 are hereby set aside. However, this judgment will not preclude respondents from proceeding afresh to determine Annual Value in accordance with Section 174, after following procedure prescribed in Act, 1959 and Rules 2000.

32. No costs.

Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 302/34 — Murder — Conviction based on ocular evidence — Reliability of related witnesses — Prosecution case based on eyewitness account of related witnesses supported by medical and documentary evidence — Held, testimony of related/inimical witnesses cannot be discarded solely on that ground if found credible and trustworthy — Presence of eyewitnesses at spot natural and proved — Minor discrepancies or absence of independent witnesses not fatal — Conviction sustainable.

Evidence — Ocular vs medical evidence — Appreciation — Alleged inconsistencies between medical and ocular evidence — Held, unless medical evidence completely rules out prosecution version, ocular evidence has primacy — In present case, medical evidence corroborated prosecution story regarding firearm injury and cause of death — No material contradiction affecting core prosecution case.

Criminal Trial — FIR — Evidentiary value — Delay in forwarding to Magistrate and absence of signature — FIR lodged promptly — Mere absence of informant's signature on written report or delay in forwarding FIR to Magistrate not fatal in absence of evidence of fabrication or ante-timing — FIR held genuine and reliable.

Criminal Trial — Defective investigation — Effect — Lapses or irregularities in investigation do not vitiate prosecution case where credible ocular evidence is available — Courts required to assess evidence independently of such defects.

Criminal Trial — Motive — Proof — Existence of prior enmity established — Motive not essential where direct evidence is available — Enmity may act as double-edged weapon but in present case supported prosecution version.

In Result: Appeal dismissed; conviction and sentence under S. 302/34 IPC affirmed; appellant directed to surrender and serve remaining sentence.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Kumar Mukherjee, J.)

1. Since both these appeals have been preferred against a common judgment and order dated 24.6.1983, passed by the VIII Additional Sessions Judge, Agra in S.T. No.414 of 1982 (State Vs. Dalbir Singh and another) arising out of Crime No. 130 of 1982, P.S. Firozabad (North), District Agra, convicting the appellants under section 302 read with section 34 IPC and sentencing them to undergo imprisonment for life, both these appeals were connected and heard together.

2. It is relevant to mention that while hearing these appeals, it has been noticed by us that the sole accused-appellant Durab has died during pendency of Criminal Appeal No. 1492 of 1983 (Durab Vs. State of U.P.), therefore, his appeal stands abated vide order dated 21.1.2016 of Coordinate Bench of this Court, as such connected Criminal Appeal No. 1587 of 1983 (Dalbir Singh Vs. State of U.P.) is being disposed of by this judgement.

3. The appellant/accused Dalbir Singh has filed this appeal against the aforementioned judgement and order dated 24.6.1983 on the ground that the learned trial court below has erred in believing the prosecution case and the evidence examined in support thereof. The conviction of the appellant is against the weight of evidence on record.

4. Brief facts of the prosecution case are that on 23.04.1982 at about 1.00 P.M. Gafoor Khan gave a written report at police station Firozabad (North), District Agra, stating therein that he belonged to village Virthua falling within the police circle Barnahal in district Mainpuri and was employed in the State Electricity Board, Firozabad as a security guard. The deceased Anwar Khan, too, was working as a labourer in that town in the Public Works Department. They had some enmity with one Shishu Pal and his brother Sonpal Singh, with whom a litigation regarding some landed property was going on. One Niranjan, who is alleged to be another assailant in this case, was related to Sonpal, being the son of his wife's brother. Informant and the deceased were witnesses in two cases under sections 399 and 402 of Indian Penal Code against Niranjan and one Brahma. Accused Durab also bore some enmity against the deceased. Accused Dalbir Singh is the son of Sonpal, mentioned above, against whom the informant and the deceased were litigating.

5. On 23rd April, 1982 at about 8 or 9 in the morning one Munshi Khan (P.W.-2), another cousin of Gafoor Khan (P.W.-1) came to invite him to a marriage. He stayed with the informant for some time and then he alongwith Gafoor Khan proceeded towards P.W.D. Godown in mohalla Prem Nagar, P.S. Firozabad North, District Agra, for extending invitation to Anwar. When they reached near the said P.W.D. Godown at about 11.15 A.M., suddenly they saw that accused-appellant Durab and Niranjan were holding Anwar by his arm and the accused-appellant Dalbir Singh was standing in front of Anwar Khan with a countrymade Pistol and before they could raise an alarm, Dalbir Singh fired at Anwar, who fell down dead on the stairs leading to the Chabutra in front of the said P.W.D. Godown. Thereafter, the assailants ran away towards the west. In the meantime, a number of persons gathered at the spot. Leaving Munshi Khan with the dead body of Anwar, Gafoor Khan went to the concerned police station where he handed over a written report (Ext.Ka-1), scribed by one Bashir Ahmad (P.W.-3) on his dictation.

6. Subsequently an FIR was registered as case Crime No.130 of 1982 under section 302 IPC, which was entered in the General Diary. Investigation was entrusted to the then Circle Officer. After concluding the investigation charge-sheet was submitted by him against the accused persons including the present appellant. Accused Niranjan absconded hence could not be arrested. After procuring the attendance of the present appellant, the case was committed to the Court of Session, where he was charged under Section 302 IPC. The accused-appellant denied the charge and pleaded not guilty. He further stated that he had been falsely implicated in this case due to enmity and claimed to be tried.

7. In order to prove the charge, besides other papers, prosecution has filed written report (Ext. Ka-1), inquest report (Ext.Ka-2), recovery memo of currency recovered from the body of the deceased (Ext. Ka-3), sketch of the dead body (Ext.Ka-4), challan of the dead body (Ext.Ka-5), recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth (Ext. Ka-6), site plan (Ext.Ka-7), reports of State Forensic Science Laboratory (Ext.Ka-8 and Ext.Ka-9), Charge-sheet (Ext.Ka-10), Post Mortem report of the deceased (Ext. Ka-11), paper sent by the doctor (Ext.Ka-12), chik FIR (Ext. Ka-13) and General Diary (G.D.) No.28 dated 23.04.1982 (Ext.Ka-14) on record.

8. Prosecution also examined P.W.-1 complainant Gafoor Khan, P.W.-2 Munshi Khan, P.W.-3 Bashir Ahmad, P.W.-4 S. I. Narendra Kumar, I.O. P.W.-5 Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav and P.W.-6 Constable Ram Dutt during oral evidence.

9. Statements of accused-appellant under section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded after closing of the prosecution evidence. No oral evidence was given in defence, only two certified copies of judgments and two copies of statements of the witnesses were filed. After hearing the arguments of the parties the learned trial Judge by the impugned judgement and orders convicted the present appellant along with another appellant since deceased and sentenced them as above. Being aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and order of the trial court, this appeal has been preferred by the appellant Dalbir Singh.

10. We have heard Sri Rajarshi Gupta, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Rajeev Kumar Mishra, learned A.G.A, and carefully perused the evidence on record.

11. It has been argued on behalf of the appellant that the prosecution has utterly failed to prove the alleged motive, the prosecution story as well as the charge framed against the appellant-accused beyond reasonable doubt. The prosecution has also failed to examine independent witnesses, whose presence was natural at the scene of the crime rather, examined interested as well as inimical witnesses, whose presence at the site of the crime was wholly doubtful, unnatural and improbable as such they are not worthy of reliance. It is also contended by the learned counsel for the appellant that sudden arrival of the scribe of the written report (Ext.Ka-1) (on which admittedly there is no signature of the informant) at the place of occurrence is also doubtful.

12. It is further submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that actually after the information of murder of the deceased Anwar, entire prosecution story was cooked up by the witnesses with the help of the local police. However, the learned counsel for the appellant has not disputed factum of murder of the deceased as well as the date, time and place of the incident in question but has contended that it appears from the evidence on record that the deceased Anwar was murdered by some unknown person/persons and the original written report which was filed against unknown person/persons, on which there was signature of the informant, was changed with a view to rope in the accused persons due to previous long standing enmity between the parties, and in place thereof the fabricated written report (Ext. Ka-1) was substituted with the help of the local police, which lacks the signature of the informant Gafoor Khan (PW-1).

13. It has also been contended that there is material inconsistency between the ocular and the medical evidence; the entire investigation in the case is faulty as well as against the rules and procedure prescribed by law. Prosecution has failed to prove as to what prompted the accused persons to commit this murder. Counsel for appellant has wondered that under what circumstances only all the related eyewitnesses (P.W.-1 and P.W.-2) were present at the same date, time and place to see this incident of murder. He has submitted that the entire prosecution story is concocted and presence of the eyewitnesses, as mentioned above, is highly doubtful, improbable and unnatural, therefore, the appellant accused is entitled to get benefit of doubt.

14. Refuting all the arguments advanced by the side of the appellant, Sri Rajeev Kumar Mishra, learned A.G.A. has submitted that mere absence of signature on the written report (Ext. Ka-1) is not sufficient to repel all the trustworthy oral and documentary evidence of the prosecution, which have corroborated the written report (Ext. Ka-1). He further argued that this is a day light incident of murder. The unshaken testimonies of the trustworthy eyewitnesses (P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan) coupled with medical and other reliable prosecution evidence, can not be brushed aside. Presence of the said eyewitnesses at the time and place of the incident has been proved by them and the reason for their presence is quite natural and probable. Also there is no material on record which creates doubt about their presence.

15. The learned AGA further contended that the previous enmity/motive has been stated in the FIR and proved by the witnesses, which the defence has also admitted, FIR was lodged promptly by the brother of the deceased. It is also submitted by the learned A.G.A. that the prosecution by placing cogent oral and documentary evidence has proved the incident in question and the charge framed against the appellant/accused, beyond reasonable doubt. All the witnesses are trust-worthy; their testimonies are natural and no material contradictions, embellishments or exaggerations are present in their testimonies, as such there is no substance in the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant. The contradictions, as alleged by the learned counsel for the appellant, in the ocular and medical evidence are misconceived. The learned Sessions Judge has convicted the appellant/accused alongwith other co-accused (since deceased) by a reasoned judgement and order hence, there is no scope for interference by this Appellate Court in the impugned judgement and order.

16. Before entering into the merits of the appeal, we would like to recall the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of Ishvarbhai Fuljibhai Patni Vs. State of Gujarat [1995 Supreme Court Cases (Crl) 222] whereby duties of the appellate court have been outlined. Para-4 of the judgment reads as under:

"4. Since, the High Court was dealing with the appeal in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, against conviction and sentence of life imprisonment, it was required to consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the arguments raised at the bar. Let alone, any discussion of the evidence, we do not find that the High Court even cared to notice the evidence led in the case. None of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant have been noticed, much less considered and discussed. The judgment is cryptic and we are at loss to understand as to what prevailed with the High Court to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellant. On a plain requirement of justice, the High Court while dealing with a first appeal against conviction and sentence is expected to, howsoever briefly depending upon the facts of the case, consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the submissions raised at the bar. If it fails to do so, it apparently fails in the discharge of one of its essential jurisdiction under its appellate powers. In view of the infirmities pointed out by us, the judgment under appeal cannot be sustained."

17. In the case of Lal Mandi, Appellant v. State of West Bengal, Respondent [1995 CRI.L.J.2659 (Supreme Court), 2659], the Apex Court in para-5 of the report has given the caution to the High Court reminding its duty in the matter of hearing of appeal against conviction. It would be gainful to reproduce the observation made in para-5 of the report, extracted below:

"5. To say the least, the approach of the High Court is totally fallacious. In an appeal against conviction, the Appellate Court has the duty to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and if two views are possible on the appraisal of the evidence, the benefit of reasonable doubt has to be given to an accused. It is not correct to suggest that the "Appellate Court cannot legally interfere with" the order of conviction where the trial court has found the evidence as reliable and that it cannot substitute the findings of the Sessions Judge by its own, if it arrives at a different conclusion on reassessment of the evidence. The observation made in Tota Singh's case, which was an appeal against acquittal, have been misunderstood and mechanically applied. Though, the powers of an appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal and an appeal against conviction are equally wide but the considerations which weigh with it while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal and in an appeal against conviction are distinct and separate. The presumption of innocence of accused which gets strengthened on his acquittal is not available on his conviction. An appellate court may give every reasonable weight to the conclusions arrived at by the trial court but it must be remembered that an appellate court is duty bound, in the same way as the trial court, to test the evidence extrinsically as well as intrinsically and to consider as thoroughly as the trial court, all the circumstances available on the record so as to arrive at an independent finding regarding guilt or innocence of the convict. An Appellate Court fails in the discharge of one of its essential duties, if it fails to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and arrive at an independent finding based on the appraisal of such evidence."

18. Therefore, it is the settled proposition of law that the High Court, while exercising appellate jurisdiction in criminal appeal, is expected to appraise the credibility of evidence available on record and to draw the inference on the basis of material available on record and has not to be guided by the finding of acquittal or conviction recorded by the learned court below, bearing in mind the basic principle of criminal law regarding innocence of the accused.

19. Firstly, we would like to have a glance at the medical evidence, which is in the form of statement of Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav P.W.5 and postmortem report Ext. Ka-11. Though on behalf of the defence death/murder of Anwar has not been disputed, we are duty bound to examine whether any offence was committed and if so, by whom.

20. Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav P.W.5, in his statement has stated that he was posted as Medical Officer, S.N.M. Hospital, Firozabad on 24.4.1982. On that date at about 12.45 P.M. he conducted the post-mortem examination on the corpse of Anwar, whose age was about 48 years.

There was single fire wound- 1 cm. X 1 Cm. X cavity deep on the upper and medial side of left nipple with blackening all around it on the dead body. This was an anti-mortem injury. Underneath this injury, the left lung, the pleura, the membrane of the heart were punctured and the left 4th rib was broken. One metallic shot was found in the chest cavity which was full of blood. The abdomen had semi-digested food and the large intestine had faecal matters. According to the doctor this one fire wound was sufficient for causing the death of the deceased and the death had occurred due to the shock and excessive bleeding caused by this injury. Further, according to this witness the death of Anwar had occurred about 24 hours before the post-mortem examination. He proved the postmortem report Ext. Ka-11.

21. We have gone through the deposition of Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav, it appears that he was cross-examined only on two points, first, the direction and the seat of injury and as to whether the pistol was fired directly from the front of the deceased and the time of the death of the deceased. This witness replied to these questions saying that the direction of the seat of injury was from the bottom to above and the fire shot was inflicted from the left side and not from the front. He also admitted in cross examination that tattooing and blackening was present in the wound, it means the fire arm shot was inflicted from a very close range, i.e., within 4 to 6 feet. He opined that the death of the deceased Anwar could have occurred one day before the post mortem examination and only single fire arm wound found on the body of the deceased Anwar, was enough to cause death. He also opined that three hours variation is possible on either side regarding time of death of the deceased recorded by him and not more than that, which corroborates the incident in question and the entire ocular and documentary evidence adduced by the prosecution.

22. Therefore, except for suggestion that the gun shot was inflicted from left side and not from the front, other facts stated by Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav were not disputed on behalf of the appellant. The testimony of this witness remained unshaken and duly corroborated by the postmortem report Ext. Ka-11 and relying thereon in totality we hold that the above-mentioned ante mortem injury was inflicted upon Anwar on the date and time by a country made pistol, which resulted in his death.

23. Now, we deal with the ocular version of the occurrence. In this regard, we would like to refer to the statements of two eyewitnesses P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan.

24. Corroborating his written report Ext.Ka-1 P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan has stated that old enmity was prevailing at the time of the incident between the appellants and the informant's family. He also corroborated the date, time and place of occurrence in his statement. In his statement, he further narrated the prosecution story that in the morning, at about 8 a.m. or 9 a.m., on the date of the incident in question, one Munshi Khan (P.W.-2), another cousin of Gafoor Khan (P.W.-1) came to invite him in connection with marriage of his grandson. He also wanted to invite the brother of the witness (P.W.-1)/deceased Anwar Khan, so after staying for a while he (P.W.-1) alongwith Munshi Khan (P.W.-2) proceeded to invite Anwar (deceased), who at that time was working at a cement godown of P.W.D.. When they were nearing the godown they saw that the deceased was standing on a 'Chabutra' of the godown and two accused persons Niranjana and Durab were holding Anwar by his arms and accused appellant Dalbir Singh was standing in front of Anwar Khan with a country made pistol and before they could raise an alarm, Dalbir Singh fired upon Anwar which caused gun shot wound on the left side of his chest and he fell down dead on the stairs leading to the said chabutra. On raising alarm, accused persons fled away towards the west. Thereafter, several persons of the locality gathered on the spot.

25. P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan has also proved the written report Ext.Ka.-1. He stated that the scribe Bashir Ahmad arrived at the scene of occurrence and he had written the report Ext.Ka-1 on his dictation. Thereafter, he approached the police station and lodged the FIR. The witness was cross-examined by the defence at length but in his entire cross-examination there appears to be no material contradiction, regarding the incident in question and the reason for his presence at the spot at the time of incident, which affect the root of the prosecution story.

26. Similarly, P.W.-2 Munshi Khan has supported the entire prosecution case in his statement by showing the reason for his presence at the spot alongwith Gafoor Khan (P.W.-1). According to this witness he had visited the informant's place to invite him to the marriage of his grandson on the date of the occurrence. When he alongwith the informant Gafoor Khan went to invite the deceased and were about to reach the place of incident, they saw from a distance of about 10-15 steps that deceased Anwar was standing on the aforementioned 'Chabutra' and two accused persons Durab and Niranjana were holding Anwar by his arms. The accused appellant Dalbir Singh with a country made pistol fired a shot towards Anwar and on alarm raised by them, accused persons ran away towards the west, and the deceased Anwar fell down and died on the spot. Thereafter, persons of the locality came at the spot. Leaving him to watch the dead body the informant alongwith Bashir Ahmad (P.W.-3) went to lodge First Information Report. This witness has also been cross-examined at length but his statement is also unshaken on the material points of the incident, tallied with the testimony of Gafoor Khan (P.W.-1) as well as medical and other documents of the prosecution available on record.

27. P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan are both ocular witnesses of the incident. They supported the entire prosecution case. They also deposed about the litigation which was going on between them and the appellant's family. They also stated that Durab had illicit relations with the wife of Shubrati, one of the sons of the deceased Anwar. P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan also stated that he had given an application to S.P., Mainpuri that he was being threatened by Shishu Pal Singh and Sonpal Singh, (uncle and father, respectively of appellant Dalbir Singh) and Niranjana accused because they wanted him not to appear as a witness against accused Niranjana and his associate Brahma in a criminal case. During cross-examination P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan was fair enough to admit that he had not signed the written report Ext.Ka-1, however, he admitted having got it written by Bashir Ahmad. Both the witnesses P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan have proved the motive, date, time, place of occurrence, manner of assault, weapon used in the crime, reason for their presence at the spot, seat of injury, individual role of each accused person, long standing animus between the families of the informant and the accused persons and the manner of preparation of written report Ext.Ka.-1. There is no material contradiction in their statements which goes to the root of the prosecution case. They have proved that the place of occurrence is on the stairs leading to the chabutra of the Godown of PWD, situated in front of the house of Hub Lal in Mohalla Prem Nagar, P.S. Firozabad North, District Agra. P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan also admitted that Shishupal Singh, an uncle of Dalbir Singh had prosecuted the deceased, deceased's son Shubrati and Shubrati's wife in a theft case prior to the incident in question. On the suggestion of the defence that they were not present at the spot, both the witnesses have denied the same, therefore, on analyzing their evidence with due care and caution, as per the principle of law laid down for appreciation of evidence of related and inimical witnesses, we found that the unshaken testimonies of the ocular witnesses appear to be natural and their presence at the place of occurrence is established. They are trustworthy witnesses.

28. We have also carefully examined all materials on record and believe that there was no occasion for P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan to falsely implicate the accused persons for the murder of his brother and let go the real cuprits. The ocular testimonies of P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan are in consonance with the testimony of P.W.-5 Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav and the postmortem report of the deceased (Ext.Ka-11) as well as inquest report (Ext.Ka-2) proved by the investigating officer Narendra Kumar (PW-4), which reinforces the prosecution story as well as corroborates the written report (Ext.Ka-1)/chic FIR (Ext.Ka-13). Minor discrepancies in the statements of eye- witnesses and the medical evidence are not enough to reject the testimony of direct ocular evidence. The presence of both the eyewitnesses near the place of occurrence is absolutely natural and established. Despite minor contradictions, their evidence is trustworthy, natural and conformity with normal human conduct. We have tested and scrutinized their testimonies on the touchstone of credibility and the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court for appreciation of evidence and we are of the view that both the eyewitnesses cannot be disbelieved merely because they are related to the deceased or that no other independent eye witness was examined by the prosecution. Moreover, as stated by the investigating officer Narendra Kumar (PW-4), except for these two eyewitnesses no independent eye witness of the occurrence was found during his investigation/spot inspection.

29. In his statement P.W.-3 Bashir Ahmad, who is the scribe of the written report (Ext.Ka-1) has admitted that he prepared the same on the dictation of the informant Gafoor Khan (P.W.-1). He admitted the relationship with Gafoor Khan and said that he reached the place of occurrence accidentally on hearing that a murder had taken place and after scribing the report (Ext.Ka-1) he left for Andhra Pradesh, as he is a truck driver. He also verified the report (Ext.Ka-1) and told that after writing the report he read out the same to Gafoor Khan. He admitted that he has written his name as writer on Ext.Ka-1.

30. P.W.-4 Narendra Kumar, Investigating Officer has also been examined by the prosecution. According to him, he reached the spot at about 1 p.m. or 1.30 p.m. and recorded the statements of the eyewitnesses of this incident. Then he inspected the corpse and prepared the inquest report (Ext.Ka-2) and the related police papers from (Ext.Ka-3 to Ext.Ka-5). Thereafter, he sent the dead body for postmortem examination in a sealed cover. He also proved that he took in his possession the blood stained earth and plain earth from the place of occurrence (Ext.Ka-6) and prepared a site plan (Ext.Ka-7) as well as sent the clothes found on the corpse for chemical examination. He further stated that after receiving the postmortem report, the chemical examiner's report (Ext.Ka-8) and the serologist report (Ext.Ka-9), he filed the charge-sheet (Ext.Ka-10) against both the appellants (surviving and deceased) because accused Niranjan was absconding. He proved the charge-sheet (Ext.Ka-10). He had also been cross-examined but in his cross-examination he proved the entire investigation proceedings. He also stated that no independent eye witness was available on the place of occurrence. No material contradiction has been shown in his statement which discredits the main prosecution case as a whole or lead to the inference of tainted investigation.

31. Lastly, the prosecution has examined P.W.-6 Ram Dutt, who proved chik report (Ext.Ka-13), prepared on the basis of the written report (Ext.Ka-1) and corresponding entry in the G.D. (Ext.Ka-14), as a secondary evidence stating that these documents were in the handwriting of Constable Prakash Chandra, who was working with him and with whose signatures he was familiar.

32. In this case, FIR was lodged promptly on the same day at 1.00 p.m. It contains the names of the accused persons, the motive (animus) for the crime, the weapon used in the incident, date, time and place of the occurrence, names of the witnesses who were present at the time of the incident, seat of injury and also the description of the incident. The statements of the ocular witnesses, P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan, support the entire version written in the FIR. No material contradiction is found in the statements of the said witnesses and the description contained in the FIR, therefore, the FIR also corroborates the version of the prosecution story.

33. The statement of P.W.-5 Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav and the postmortem report (Ext.Ka-11) also establish the fact that the deceased died of only one fire shot injury, which hit the left side of his chest and his death was neither natural nor accidental. Even one metal shot was recovered in the chest cavity of the deceased. According to the doctor the said fire arm wound was sufficient for causing the death of the deceased. Similarly, all the police papers (Ext.Ka-3 to 5,6,8,9,10 and 12), site plan (Ext.Ka-7), inquest report (Ext.Ka-2) the ocular evidence of the eyewitnesses and the evidence of the Investigating Officer coupled with first information report (Ext.Ka-13) and the corresponding G.D. (Ext.Ka-14), leave no room for doubt that the death of the deceased was caused on the same place of occurrence, i.e., staircase leading to the Chabutra situated in front of the P.W.D. Godown, as per the prosecution story, wherefrom the corpse of the deceased Anwar was recovered by the police.

34. The ocular testimony of two witnesses, i.e., P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan is natural, unshaken and trustworthy. It is true that they have admitted their inter-se relationship as also relationship with the deceased and also the enmity which exists between the deceased and the eyewitnesses (P.W.-1, P.W.-2) on one hand and the accused persons on the other hand prior to this incident, but their veracity cannot be doubted on this score alone. Only requirement is to adopt a careful approach before accepting their testimonies. The medical evidence corroborates ocular evidence and there is no material contradiction between the medical evidence and the ocular witnesses' account. The incident occurred in broad daylight, therefore, possibility of any mistake in identification of the accused is out of question. In the light of the present facts and circumstances of the case, it is also not possible that the brother of the deceased/informant would spare the real assailants and implicate the accused persons to settle/for the sake of old enmity.

35. On in depth analysis of the entire evidence of the prosecution with due care and caution, the possibility of false implication of the accused persons is entirely ruled out.

36. Now, we deal with the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant. It is contended by the learned counsel for the appellant that the prosecution has failed to examine independent eyewitnesses and has examined the related, inimical witnesses, whose presence was doubtful at the scene of the crime. The position has now been settled that the witnesses of the family cannot be discarded merely because the witness is a relative or family member of the victim. In such a case, the court has to adopt a careful approach in analyzing the evidence of such witnesses and if the testimony of the related witness is otherwise found credible, the accused can be convicted on the basis of the testimony of such related witness. The above ratio of law has been laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Shyam Babu Vs. State of U.P., AIR 2012 SC 3311, Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of WB, AIR 2012 SC 3539, Dhari & others Vs. State of U.P., AIR 2013 SC 308, Shanmugam and another Vs. State of TN (2013) 12 SCC 765 and Nand Kumar Vs. State of Chhatishgarh 2015 Cri. L.J. 381.

37. There is no doubt that the prosecution has not been able to produce any independent witness but the prosecution case cannot be doubted on this ground also. People are generally insensitive to come forward to give any statement in respect of any criminal offence. Unless it is inevitable, people normally keep away from the Court as they feel it to be distressing and stressful. Though this kind of human behaviour is indeed unfortunate, it is a normal phenomenon. We cannot ignore this handicap of the investigating agency (as per the admission of the investigating officer (PW-4) in his cross-examination) in discharging their duty. Therefore, we cannot derail the entire case on the mere ground of absence of independent witnesses as long as the evidence of the ocular witnesses, though related or inimical is trustworthy.

38. Next argument that has been advanced by the side of the appellant is that there is material contradiction in the medical and the ocular evidence. In this respect, learned counsel for the appellant has drawn the attention of the court to the one line statement of the P.W.-4 Dr. Vinay Kumar Yadav in the cross-examination, in which he has opined that there is more possibility that the assailants had assaulted the deceased from the left side and not from the front. Said statement of Dr. Yadav cannot be read in isolation. It must be read in totality with his entire statement as well as the postmortem report Ext.Ka-11, which the doctor has proved in toto and from the perusal of the record shows that ocular witnesses also proved that the appellant had fired the shot from the front of the deceased at an arm's length, i.e., very close range, standing on a low lying road when the deceased was apprehended by other two accused persons on the Chabutra, situated above the staircase, which hit the left side of the chest of the deceased, which, in fact, is in conformity with the medical evidence.

39. Witnesses cannot be expected to state facts with mathematical precision. It also depends upon the place and the distance from where they have observed the incident and have individually perceived it. If in this case, the place from where they had seen the occurrence is taken into consideration, their observation that the main assailant/appellant was standing in front of the deceased and fired his shot from there is absolutely correct. The seat of injury, its direction, presence of tatooing and blackening in the wound, time of death and recovery of only one metallic shot from the chest cavity, which reflects the nature of fire arm used by the appellant, all corroborates the statement of the eyewitnesses, which in turn proves that there is no inconsistency in the ocular and medical evidence. Therefore, this argument has no force.

40. For the sake of discussion, if it is presumed that there is any variation even then as principle laid down by the Apex Court in Gajoo Vs. State of Utterakhand, 2012 (9) SCC 532, that while appreciating the variation between the medical evidence and ocular evidence, primacy is given to the oral evidence of the witnesses. The Apex Court in the case of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others (2016) 4 SCC 357 has reiterated the principle of law laid down by the Supreme Court in the decision of Darbara Singh Vs. State of Punjab (2012) 10 SCC 476, wherein the Court has held:-

".....So far as the question of inconsistency between the medical evidence and the ocular evidence is concerned, the law is well settled that, unless the oral evidence available is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence, the oral evidence would have primacy. In the event of contradictions between medical and ocular evidence, the ocular testimony of a witness will have greater evidentiary value vis -a -vis medical evidence and when medical evidence makes the oral testimony improbable, the same becomes a relevant factor in the process of evaluation of such evidence. It is only when the contradiction between the two is so extreme that the medical evidence completely rules out all possibilities of the ocular evidence being true at all, that the ocular evidence is liable to be disbelieved."

41. However, in this case, there is no variation between the medical evidence and the ocular evidence, and once they are conjointly read, it does not falsify either the statement of the witnesses or the postmortem report. In fact, both of them must be read as complimentary to each other. Even if for the sake of argument it is assumed that there is some variation, still, it would be too immaterial and inconsequential to give any benefit to the accused.

42. Learned counsel for the appellant has also argued that the prosecution has utterly failed to prove the alleged motive (animus). We are not inclined to accept this argument. The prosecution from the very beginning of the case, i.e., written report Ext.Ka-1/FIR Ext.Ka-13 till the oral evidence, has categorically proved the existence of previous strong enmity between the family of informant and the accused persons. Enmity is a double-edged weapon. In this case, the entire evidence on record indicates that due to the said enmity the accused persons had assaulted the deceased. There is no iota of evidence which points towards the false implication of the accused persons due to the said enmity, as alleged by the appellant.

43. It has also been argued on behalf of the appellant that there is no clinching evidence which prompted all the three accused persons to make up their mind to do this coherent act of murder in question with a common intention. This argument is misconceived. The entire evidence on record shows that appellant Dalbir Singh and Durab (since deceased) are of the same village and absconding accused Niranjana is the relative of appellant Dalbir Singh. It further shows that they all had strong animus against the deceased and his family which is also proved by their collective presence on the spot, collective participation as well as individual role in committing the ghastly crime. However, crime is not a logical act; it is an aberration of the mind. Ordinarily it cannot be logically established for which reason crime was committed, mostly it can only be presumed.

44. Moreover, from the statements of P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan coupled with the written report Ext.Ka-1, the motive alleged by the prosecution stands proved. The court is not required to see whether the motive was adequate or inadequate, trivial or substantial because it is a subjective thing which lies in the mind and heart of the accused persons. Therefore, we would like to conclude on this point by saying that the prosecution with the help of the aforementioned witnesses have proved the motive of the crime in detail, part of which is alleged in the FIR also as well as all the ingredients which constitute the common intention of the accused persons to murder the deceased Anwar in the present case, beyond reasonable doubt. Thus, in the light of the above discussion, it can be safely held that the accused appellant had strong motive to commit the offence against the informant party.

45. It has also been argued on behalf of the appellant that admittedly there is no signature of the informant on the written report (Ext.Ka-1) whereas P.W.-3 Bashir Ahmad, Scribe has stated that it was signed by the informant, which creates doubt that probably the actual written report, which was filed against unknown persons was changed by the present written report (Ext.Ka-1), by the aid and advice of the local police, with a view to implicate accused persons due to previous enmity. In our opinion, the suspicion cannot take the place of proof. The statements of P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan, P.W.-3 Bashir Ahmad scribe, P.W.-2 Munshi Khan and also P.W.-6 Constable Ram Dutt coupled with first information report (Ext.Ka-13) as well as copy of G.D. No.28 dated 23.04.1982 (Ext.Ka-14) unerringly prove that the written report (Ext.Ka-1) is the same which was filed only once in the police station concerned, on the basis of which FIR (Ext.Ka-13) of this case was lodged.

46. Moreover, mere absence of signature of the traumatised informant (whose brother was murdered before him) over written report (Ext.Ka-1) would not affect the sanctity of the written report as well as FIR. Section 154 Cr.P.C. provides that FIR can be lodged orally as well. In this case, the scribe (P.W.-3) has proved on oath that he had prepared the written report (Ext.Ka-1) on the spot on the dictation of the informant and had written his name as a writer. Further, the FIR was lodged without any inordinate delay. The statement of the scribe in this regard is a matter of his own observation and memory. Nevertheless, P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan has admitted its content and has also stated that it is the same report which he had dictated to Bashir Ahmad (PW-3), therefore, there is no scope of any doubt on this score.

47. Learned counsel for the appellant has further pointed out that there was delay in sending copy of the first information report to the Magistrate, as reflected from an endorsement made on the first information report that it was sent to the concerned Magistrate few days after the occurrence, therefore, the FIR should be looked into with suspicion. We are not inclined to agree with this argument. The occurrence had taken place at about 11.30 a.m. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station concerned was 3 Kms. Hence, the FIR was lodged promptly on the same day at about 1.00 p.m. Similarly, investigation in the case was also started promptly, inquest report (Ext.Ka-2) and other police papers (Ext.Ka-3 to 6) were quickly prepared and the body was sent for postmortem. Therefore, in view of the above facts and circumstances of the case, it cannot be said that the FIR was ante timed or can treated with suspicion.

48. The genuineness of the FIR is also proved by another glaring circumstance. Scribe PW-3 himself had left for Andhra Pradesh in the same night on the date of the occurrence with a consignment of bangles in his truck. Further, a report of cognizable offence under section 25 of the Arms Act was also lodged on the same day at 2.15 p.m. as reflected from the perusal of the copy of G.D. No.28 (Ext.Ka-14). The copy of the FIR (chik) was annexed with the inquest report Ext.Ka-2 in which crime number is mentioned and also sent to the doctor with the request for postmortem examination. In view of the above, in this case, there was no chance of tampering, antedating, antetiming or replacing the original FIR by a fabricated one and also there is no material on record to show or suggest that the FIR was tampered with or it was fabricated at a later date or time by antedating or antetiming. The evidence on record unerringly prove that the written report Ext.Ka-1/FIR Ext.Ka.-13 was in existence on the date and time shown in the official records.

49. Mere delay in sending copy of the FIR to the Magistrate/Special report or placing the same before the Magistrate for signing by him is not so very vital so as to doubt the case of the prosecution or to treat the document with suspicion in view of the aforementioned facts and circumstances of the case. Our view gets fortified by the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of Susanta Das Vs. State of Orissa (2016) 4 SCC 371. The relevant portion of the said decision is quoted herein below:-

"In so far as the alleged delay in forwarding the FIR to the Magistrate, we find that the High Court was conscious of the said fact and has made a specific reference to the said fact in paragraph 24 of the impugned judgment wherein, it ultimately held that there was no material on record to show or suggest that the FIR was tampered or it was fabricated at a later date by antedating it or the delay in sending the FIR by P.W.-3 or the delay in placing it before SDJM by the Sub Inspector of Police or the delay in signing the FIR by SDJM on 06.04.1996 was so very vital to doubt the case of the prosecution. We fully concur with the said view expressed by the Division Bench."

50. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that P.W.-3 Bashir Ahmad (scribe) has stated that he left for Andhra Pradesh in the night of the occurrence and came back after fifteen days. Whereas the Investigating Officer (P.W.-4) Narendra Kumar has stated that he had recorded the statement of the scribe (PW-3) on 26.4.1982, which shows the designed, perfunctory and faulty investigation in this case. It is also contended that there has been inordinate delay in recording the statement of Munshi Khan (PW-2) by the Investigating Officer, because as per the Investigating Officer (PW-4) he was examined on 23.4.1982 in the hospital whereas on the date of occurrence he was available on the spot and was keeping watch over the dead body of Anwar when the I.O. visited the spot for investigation. It has further been pointed out that the Investigating Officer did not record the statement of the local persons who were present on the spot or residing in the vicinity, as such the entire investigation is tainted and biased. We do not find any force in this argument also. The scribe (PW-3) in his statement has clarified that he had returned from Kalpi in District Jalaun next day to Firozabad in order to obtain some document regarding his consignment, left inadvertently at Firozabad, therefore, it is possible that he was examined by the Investigating Officer during his brief stay at Firozabad.

51. From the perusal of the statement of Investigating Officer (PW-4) and the police papers, it is evident that the inquest proceedings were initiated on the date of occurrence at 2.00 p.m. Inquest report Ext.Ka-2 also corroborates the credibility of the prosecution proceedings as well as the prosecution story. In his cross-examination the Investigating Officer P.W.-4 has stated that except P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan, he did not find other eye- witness of the occurrence. Mere delay in recording evidence or not getting independent witnesses or other minor omission or commission of the Investigating Officer (P.W.-4) during investigation would not adversely affect either the root of the prosecution story or discredit the otherwise credible direct evidence of the eyewitnesses.

52. Defective investigation and lapses on the part of the Investigating Officer would not necessarily be fatal for the prosecution, in case reliable and cogent direct evidence is available. The law on this point of defective investigation has been considered by the Supreme Court time and again and it has been categorically laid down by the Supreme Court that any minor fault, irregularity, defect or deficiency in investigation would not be a ground for rejection of the direct and trustworthy ocular testimonies. The only requirement is use of extra caution in evaluation of such evidence. For the fault of the investigator alone, the perpetrators of such a ghastly crime cannot be allowed to go scot-free. A defective investigation cannot be fatal to prosecution where ocular testimony is found credible and cogent and had a ring of truth in it as held in cases of Gulzari Lal Vs. State of Haryana (2016) 4 SCC 583, State of Karnataka Vs. Suvarnamma, (2015) 1 SCC 323, Hema Vs. State, 2013 (81) ACC 1 (SC) (Three Judge Bench) and C. Muniappan Vs. State of TN, 2010 (6) SCJ 822, Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh and others 2003 Cri. L.J. 1282, Allarakha K. Mansuri Vs. State of Gujarat (2002) 3 SCC 57, Prithvi Vs. Mamraj and others (2004) 13 SCC 279, State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo and others (2003) 1 SCC 456, Dharmendrasinh alias Mansing Ratansinh Vs. State of Gujrat (2002) 4 SCC 679.

53. In the case of C. Muniappan Vs. State of TN 2010 (6) SCJ 822, the Apex Court has made following observation in this regard:-

"The law on this issue is well settled that the defect in the investigation by itself cannot be a ground for acquittal. If primacy is given to such designed or negligent investigations or to the omissions or lapses by perfunctory investigation, the faith and confidence of the people in the criminal justice administration would be eroded. Where there has been negligence on the part of the investigating agency or omissions, etc. which resulted in defective investigation, there is a legal obligation on the part of the court to examine the prosecution evidence de hors such lapses, carefully, to find out whether the said evidence is reliable or not and to what extent it is reliable and as to whether such lapses affected the object of finding out the truth. Therefore, the investigation is not the solitary area for judicial scrutiny in a criminal trial. The conclusion of the trial in the case cannot be allowed to depend solely on the probity of investigation."

54. The Apex Court in Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh and others, 2003 Cri. L.J. 1282 has held that every failure or omission of Investigating Officer cannot render prosecution case doubtful or unworthy of belief. The Hon'ble Patna High Court in its judgement Bishundeo Poddar and others Vs. State of Bihar, 2003 Cri.L.J. 1558 has held:

"Be that as it may, the fate of the case does not depend on what the Investigating Officer or the prosecutor ought to have done and the evidence ought to have been led. The fate depends on the evidence which is on record."

55. The learned counsel for the appellant has further contended that detailed motive and the manner of occurrence as stated by the eyewitnesses (P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan) have not been mentioned in the FIR. It has only been stated in the FIR that some prior enmity was there and all the three accused persons/assailants had run away after firing at the deceased Anwar Khan and one of the assailants Dalbir Singh was carrying a pistol, but at the time of recording of evidence in the court the eyewitnesses (P.W.-1 and P.W.-2) have placed their improved version by stating the detailed description of motive (animus) against the individual accused persons and further that two of the assailants Niranjana and Durab were holding Anwar (deceased) by his arms from either side and third assailant/appellant Dalbir Singh with a country made pistol had fired at Anwar from the front. It is also argued that this improvement is neither natural nor probable because it might have caused injury to the assailants who were holding the deceased by the hand. Our attention has further been drawn to the description of the dead body (Panchayatnama) Ext.Ka-2 where it was found that the face of the dead body was downward towards the ground and both his hands were under his thigh. According to the learned counsel for the appellant, Anwar would not have fallen in this way had his arms were caught hold of by two assailants as alleged. In our opinion, the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant is misconceived. FIR is not to be treated as encyclopedia, in which each and every detail of the occurrence should have been written. Our above view is fortified by the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of V.K. Mishra and another Vs. State of Uttarakhand and another (2015) 9 SCC 588. The relevant part of para-13 is quoted herein below:-

"13. FIR is not meant to be an encyclopaedia nor is it expected to contain all the details of the prosecution case. It may be sufficient if the broad facts of the prosecution case are stated in the FIR.....Unless there are indications of fabrication, prosecution version cannot be doubted merely on the ground that FIR does not contain the details."

56. In the statement before the court the eyewitnesses have given the entire manner of occurrence as well as assault. The entire record shows that the appellant Dalbir Singh had fired on the deceased from a very close range, i.e., from an arms length. There was tatooing and blackening present around the wound; one metallic shot was recovered from the chest cavity of the deceased, which reflects the nature of fire arm used by the appellant/main assailant, therefore, it cannot be presumed that the shot fired by the appellant Dalbir Singh could have injured Durab and Niranjana, who were holding the hands of the deceased. Even though the hands of the deceased were caught by the assailants at the time, shot was fired, the dead body of the deceased would have fallen on the staircase in the same posture, which was found during the inquest proceeding. There appears to be no material anomaly. The argument of the learned counsel for the appellant in this regard is not acceptable. eyewitnesses P.W.-1 Gafoor Khan and P.W.-2 Munshi Khan have vividly described the entire incident in their statement, which are in consonance with the medical as well as other documents of the prosecution. Therefore, their credible testimonies cannot be discarded on this ground alone.

57. It has also been argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that there is no clear motive for the appellant to commit this ghastly crime. We have considered this argument and in our opinion, when there is direct convincing evidence of occurrence existence of motive may or may not be proved by the prosecution. However, in this case admittedly there was some sort of bad blood between the deceased's family and the accused persons, which was proved by the prosecution with cogent evidence. Even the accused persons have admitted the enmity with the deceased family in their statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. Therefore, it cannot be argued that the appellant or the accused persons did not have cogent motive to commit the crime in this case. Sometimes crimes are committed for insignificant motives or for no motive at all. In the case of the appellant Dalbir Singh there is evidence on record to show the strong motive. He is the main assailant.

58. Learned counsel for the appellant has drawn our attention towards some discrepancies and contradictions as well as improvements in the statement of the eyewitnesses as well as the scribe (PW-1 to PW-3) but in our opinion the slight discrepancies, contradictions, improvements and inconsistencies in the statement of the witnesses as well as in the prosecution case would not make their testimony unacceptable. This kind of shortcoming is always there in a criminal case. It is not possible to reject entire credible testimonies of eye-witnesses, on this ground alone because the type of discrepancies, contradictions, improvements and inconsistencies shown by the learned counsel for the appellant in their testimonies do not go to the root of the prosecution case to make it unworthy of credence.

59. It has also been submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that both the eyewitnesses are 'chance witnesses', their presence on the spot at the time of said incident is quite unnatural and improbable. We do not endorse this argument. The presence of both the eyewitnesses near the spot at the time of the incident is proved by the prosecution with cogent evidence, starting from written report(Ext.Ka-1)/FIR (Ext.Ka-13), during investigation and till the evidence recorded on oath before the court. Their conduct was natural and both their presence near the spot at the time of the incident and reason for their presence as well as their witnessing the incident are proved beyond doubt. There is nothing unnatural in it. The Supreme Court in the case of Vikram Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab (2010) 3 SCC 561 based on the decision in Rana Pratap and others Vs. State of Haryana 1983 (3) SCC 327 and Thangaiya Vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2005) 9 SCC 650 has observed about the word 'chance witness'. The relevant portion of para-8 is as follows:-

"8.....The expression 'chance witness' is borrowed from countries where every man's home is considered his castle and everyone must have an explanation for his presence elsewhere or in another man's castle. It is quite unsuitable an expression in a country where people are less formal and more casual, at any rate in the matter explaining their presence."

60. After careful examination of material on record and in view of the direct evidence of crime against the present appellant by the ocular testimony rendered by the highly credible prosecution witnesses, whose presence on the spot has been established, which inturn is in consonance with the medical and other prosecution evidence/documents available on record, we are of the opinion that prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt and has been able to bring home the guilt of the accused appellant by credible and trustworthy evidence. Therefore, the learned Additional Sessions Judge has rightly believed the prosecution story and also rightly recorded the finding of guilt against the present appellant. Hence we do not find any ground to differ from the finding of guilt recorded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge. The judgement and order dated 24.6.1983 passed by the VIII Additional Sessions Judge, Agra in S.T. No. 414 of 1982 (State Vs. Dalbir Singh and another) arising out of Crime No. 130 of 1982, P.S. Firozabad (North), District Agra does not require any interference.

61. In view of the above, the appeal preferred by the surviving appellant Dalbir Singh lacks merit and it is, accordingly, dismissed. The conviction and sentence awarded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge against the accused appellant Dalbir Singh are confirmed. The accused/appellant Dalbir Singh is directed to serve out the remaining part of the sentence awarded by the learned trial court in the impugned judgement. Surviving accused appellant Dalbir Singh is on bail. He shall surrender before the trial court for serving out the sentence within 15 days from the date of this judgement, failing which trial court shall ensure his arrest and shall send him to jail for serving out the remaining sentence in accordance with law.

62. The copy of the judgement and entire record be transmitted back to the concerned trial court through Sessions Judge, Agra for compliance within ten days. The concerned court will thereafter report the compliance to this Court within a month.

Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 363, 366 & 376 — Kidnapping and rape of minor girls — Conviction — Appreciation of evidence of prosecutrix — Two minor victims abducted on false pretext and taken to another State where they were subjected to repeated sexual assault — Testimony of victims consistent, cogent and trustworthy — Held, conviction can be based on sole testimony of prosecutrix if it inspires confidence — Minor discrepancies or absence of medical corroboration not fatal.

Penal Code, 1860 — S. 376 — Consent — Meaning — Victims taken away by deception and subjected to sexual assault under threat — Submission under fear or coercion does not amount to consent — Plea of consent rejected.

Criminal Trial — Age of victim — Determination — Age disputed — Medical and radiological evidence vis-à-vis oral testimony of father considered — In absence of documentary proof under statutory rules, testimony of parent regarding age can be relied upon — Victims held to be minors — Consequently, question of consent immaterial.

Evidence — Rape — Medical evidence — Absence of injuries or spermatozoa — Medical opinion inconclusive regarding rape — Held, absence of injuries or spermatozoa does not discredit prosecution case where testimony of victim is reliable — Ocular evidence prevails.

Criminal Trial — Delay in FIR — Explanation — Delay in lodging FIR satisfactorily explained — Not fatal to prosecution case.

In Result: Appeals dismissed; conviction and sentences affirmed; appellant on bail directed to surrender; appellant in custody to serve remaining sentence.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pratyush Kumar, J.)

1. The aforesaid appeals filed on behalf of the accused-appellants are directed against the judgment and orders dated 21st April, 2009 passed in Sessions Trial No.496 of 2007 (State vs. Mahesh & others) arising out of Case Crime No.411 of 2005, they have been heard together and decided by a common order.

2. In the aforesaid Criminal Appeal No.2555 of 2009, the appellant Virendra has been convicted and sentenced as under:-

u/s 376 I.P.C. : 10 years RI with fine of Rs.10,000/-

3. If the said fine was not deposited, the appellant Virendra would undergo six months further RI.

4. In Criminal Appeal No.2797 of 2009, the appellant Mahesh has been convicted and sentenced as under:-

u/s 363 I.P.C. : 5 years RI with fine of Rs.5,000/-.

u/s 366 I.P.C. : 10 years RI with fine of Rs.10,000/-.

U/s 376 I.P.C. : 10 yeas RI with fine of Rs.10,000/-

5. If the said fines were not deposited, the appellant Mahesh would further undergo three months rigorous imprisonment on first count and rigorous imprisonment of six months separately on both other counts.

6. Heard Sri Qazi Vakil Ahmad and Sri P.K.Vishnoi, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Shailendra Singh Rathore, learned AGA for the State-respondent and perused the record.

7. That on 29th October, 2005 at 10.05 a.m. on the basis of written report dated 27th October, 2005 of Kaderam addressed to Senior Superintendent of Police, District Bareilly, check FIR was scribed, Case Crime No.411 of 2005 under sections 363, 366 IPC was registered and investigation was entrusted to S.I. Vinod Kumar. In his application Kaderam has stated that on 16th October, 2005, his wife fell ill. He brought her to Beg Hospital, Bareilly for treatment. He left his six children with his mother Ramdei at the house. His eldest daughter victim no.1 aged about 14 years and younger daughter victim no.2 aged about 12 years were taken by accused Mahesh on 18th October, 2005 on the pretext that they were called by their father at Bareilly. His mother telephonically informed him on that day at 5.00 p.m. that when she returned from the field after taking fodder for the goat, youngest daughter Parvati aged about eight years informed her about the incident. His mother searched for both the girls but neither Mahesh nor the girls could be traced by his mother. After search was over his mother came to know from Mohanlal that Mahesh was seen taking victim no.1 and victim no.2 at 10.00 a.m. on that day and when he enquired, Mahesh informed him that their father had called them to Bareilly. On 19th October, 2005, he informed the police of police station Sahi but they had not registered his report nor tried to arrest the accused. He apprehended that his daughters might be sold or murdered.

8. S.I. Vinod Kumar, started the investigation, examined the witnesses, recovered victim no.1 and victim no.2 in village Vikam. Girls were medically examined. During investigation section 376 I.P.C was added. Name of Virendra came into light from the statement of the girls. Thereafter investigation was transferred to S.I. Om Prakash, who submitted the chargesheet.

9. The appellants stood for trial before the Court of Session where they were charged under sections 363, 366, 376(2)(g) I.P.C. They denied the charges and claimed to be tried. They were tried, convicted and sentenced, as above.

10. Feeling aggrieved, these appeals have been separately filed by the accused appellants. On behalf of the appellants, the learned counsel have submitted that the learned trial Judge has not appreciated the evidence in proper perspective for the reasons indicated below:-

(a) Medical evidence does not support the commission of rape.

(b) There are contradictions in the statements of victims on material points.

(c) Recovery memo Exhibit Ka-14 and account of recovery given by Shakuntala and Premwati are at variance.

(e) Victims were major at the time of occurrence. They were consenting parties. They had not raised any alarm during journey up to Punjab and during their stay at Punjab.

11. On the strength of these facts, learned counsel for the appellants submit that prosecution could not prove charges against the present appellants beyond doubt and the learned trial judge has recorded erroneous findings of fact which are liable to be set aside.

12. On behalf of the State-respondents, these arguments have been repelled and it has been submitted that evidence has been properly appreciated. Findings recorded by the trial Judge are well substantiated from the record. Cogent reasons have been given in support thereof. The appeals have no substance, they deserve to be dismissed.

13. In reference to my obligation as an appellate court hearing appeal against conviction, I would like to refresh my mind by recalling the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of Ishvarbhai Fuljibhai Patni Vs. State of Gujarat [1995 Supreme Court Cases (Crl) 222]. Para-4 of the judgment reads as under:

"4. Since, the High Court was dealing with the appeal in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, against conviction and sentence of life imprisonment, it was required to consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the arguments raised at the bar. Let alone, any discussion of the evidence, we do not find that the High Court even cared to notice the evidence led in the case. None of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant have been noticed, much less considered and discussed. The judgment is cryptic and we are at loss to understand as to what prevailed with the High Court to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellant. On a plain requirement of justice, the High Court while dealing with a first appeal against conviction and sentence is expected to, howsoever briefly depending upon the facts of the case, consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the submissions raised at the bar. If it fails to do so, it apparently fails in the discharge of one of its essential jurisdiction under its appellate powers. In view of the infirmities pointed out by us, the judgment under appeal cannot be sustained."

14. In the case of Lal Mandi, Appellant v. State of West Bengal, Respondent [1995 CRI.L.J.2659 (Supreme Court), 2659], the Apex Court in para-5 of the report has given caution to the High Court reminding its duty in the matter of hearing of appeal against conviction. It would be gainful to reproduce the observation made in para-5 of the report, extracted below:

"5. To say the least, the approach of the High Court is totally fallacious. In an appeal against conviction, the Appellate Court has the duty to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and if two views are possible on the appraisal of the evidence, the benefit of reasonable doubt has to be given to an accused. It is not correct to suggest that the "Appellate Court cannot legally interfere with" the order of conviction where the trial court has found the evidence as reliable and that it cannot substitute the findings of the Sessions Judge by its own, if it arrives at a different conclusion on reassessment of the evidence. The observation made in Tota Singh's case, which was an appeal against acquittal, have been misunderstood and mechanically applied. Though, the powers of an appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal and an appeal against conviction are equally wide but the considerations which weigh with it while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal and in an appeal against conviction are distinct and separate. The presumption of innocence of accused which gets strengthened on his acquittal is not available on his conviction. An appellate court may give every reasonable weight to the conclusions arrived at by the trial court but it must be remembered that an appellate court is duty bound, in the same way as the trial court, to test the evidence extrinsically as well as intrinsically and to consider as thoroughly as the trial court, all the circumstances available on the record so as to arrive at an independent finding regarding guilt or innocence of the convict. An Appellate Court fails in the discharge of one of its essential duties, if it fails to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and arrive at an independent finding based on the appraisal of such evidence."

15. Before entering into the merits of the arguments, it would be gainful to place on record the evidence adduced during trial by the parties.

16. Kaderam, P.W.-1- He is the first informant and father of the victims. He has reiterated the facts mentioned in his written report Exhibit Ka-1 and proved it.

17. Mohan Lal, P.W.-2- He has stated that two years before at about 10-11 a.m., he had seen Mahesh taking two daughters of Kaderam, victim no.1 and victim no.2. When he had asked Mahesh about them, Mahesh replied that their mother was ill, he was taking them to the hospital. Two sisters of Mahesh have been married in his village.

18. Victim No.2, P.W.-3 has stated that two years before in the month of 'Quwar' she and her sister victim no.1 were in the house, her mother was ill and hospitalized at Bareilly. Her father was with her mother. Mahesh came to her house and told her and her sister that their father telephonically asked him to bring them to Bareilly. She and her sister left the house with him and reached Ghaneta Phatak where Mahesh had made them, eat chat, pakauri, thereafter she felt drowsiness and fell unconscious. When she regained consciousness, she was travelling in a train. On asking Mahesh told her that he was taking them to their mother. On that pretext, he took them to Punjab. In Punjab nephew of Mahesh Virendra used to sell chat. Mahesh kept them in the room of Virendra. Virendra had committed rape on her. When she protested, he used to threatened her by showing country made pistol. She has proved her statement recorded by the magistrate under section 164 Cr.P.C. Exhibit Ka-2.

19. Victim No.1, P.W.-4 has reiterated the facts stated by her younger sister. According to her, she was kept in the room of Virendra where by showing country made pistol, Mahesh committed rape on her for 15 days. She was kept in confinement and Mahesh committed rape on her repeatedly during that period.

20. Dr. Vinita Chaturvedi, P.W.-5 has stated that on 9th November, 2005 at 12.05 p.m, she medically examined victim no.2. According to her, neither any external mark of injury nor any injury on her private parts were found. Hymen was old torned. On the same day at 12.15 p.m. she medically examined victim No.1 with the same result. She has proved medical examination report Exhibit Ka-5, medical examination report of victim no.1, Exhibit Ka-5 pathology reports Exhibits Ka 6 and 7. Supplementary reports of victim No.2 Exhibit Ka-8 and of the victim no.1 Exhibit Ka-9.

21. In the supplementary report, the doctor has opined that no definite opinion about rape could be given and age of the victim no.2 would be about 16 ½ years. In reference to victim no.1, she has opined that no definite opinion about rape could be given. Age of the victim no.1 could be 18 years.

22. H.M.Madan Pal Singh, P.W.-6 is the scribe of check FIR. He has proved check FIR Exhibit Ka-10, copy of the report of general diary Exhibit Ka-11.

23. S.I. Vinod Kumar Anand, P.W.-7 is the investigating officer. He gave details of the steps taken in the course of investigation. He has proved site plans Exhibits Ka- 12 & Ka-13, recovery memo of the girls Exhibit Ka-14.

24. Dr. Arvind Gupta, P.W.-8 was the senior radiologist. X-ray examination of the victims were conducted in his supervision. He has identified x-ray plates material Exhibits 1 and 2. He has also proved x-ray reports Exhibits Ka-15 & Ka-16.

25. S.I. Om Prakash, P.W.-9 is the second investigating officer. He has proved chargesheets Exhibits Ka-17 & Ka-18.

26. The case of the defence before the trial court was of simple denial. According to appellants, victim had given false evidence on account of pressure of their parents.

27. Appellant Virendra in his statement recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C.n has denied the facts stated by the prosecution witnesses and claimed false implication due to his relationship with Mahesh. Appellant Mahesh also denied the correctness of the facts stated by the prosecution witnesses in his statement recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. and reiterated the defence version. In the defence, no evidence was given.

28. The trial Judge has found the statements of the victims worthy of reliance. He has concluded that in the present case, delay in FIR has been satisfactorily explained by the prosecution. On the basis of observation of the Hon'ble Apex Court laid in the case of State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh; AIR (1996), SC 1399, he has rejected the argument that not raising of alarm by the victim was evidence of their consent. He found both the victims minor and recorded findings of guilt against the present appellants.

29. Appreciation of evidence by the trial court has been criticized on behalf of the appellants. Since appellant Mahesh has been convicted under section 363 IPC, I am required to re-examine and re-assess the prosecution evidence in reference to age of the victims. In the medical evidence, both have been found to be above 16 years of age. However, their parent Kaderam, P.W.-1 has deposed victim no.1 to be aged about 14 years and victim no.2 to be aged about 12 years. In the x-ray reports, Dr. Arvind Kumar, P.W.-8 has recorded the following findings:-

Victim No.1-

- (a) Right elbow all four epiphysis were fused.
- (b) Right knee epiphysis are partly fused, partly not fused.
- (c) Right wrist ulna end of radius (sic) not fused vide Exhibit Ka- 16.

- (a) Right elbow all four epiphysis were fused.
- (b) Right knee epiphysis are not fused.
- (c) Right wrist ulna end of radius (sic) not fused vide Exhibit Ka- 15.

Count of teeth

Victim No.1- 14/14

Victim No.2- 14/14

30. According to Dr. Modi, eruption of second molars takes place between 12 to 14 years. Though on average, such eruption has been noticed from the age of 11.79 years on average. Eruption of third molars begins from 17th years. Thus, count of teeth indicates both the victims to be below 17 years of age. Dr. Modi has also given in a tabular form indication of age on the basis of fusion of some epiphysis. Though from the opinions of different authorities, evidence obtained by ossification tests also depend on geographical situation, eating habits and status of family. The victims belong to Bareilly district. They are residents of village. They belong to poor family but all the authorities appeared to be unanimous that all the joints are fused up to the age of 18 in any case. When we take the radiological findings into consideration alongwith the background of the victims, it would become clear none of the victims could be held to be 18 years of age. Considering their family background, poverty, their ages have been over estimated by the doctor.

31. This is a grey area and I would not like to base my finding on such criteria. In the present case, on the point of age, statement of father of the victim Kaderam, P.W.-1 during cross examination, remained intact. In absence of any evidence envisaged in Rule-12 of the Juvenile Justice Rules, 2007, I feel statement of the father of the victim on the point of age of the victim commands respect and it can be safely relied on. Thus, on the basis of statement of Khaderam, P.W.-1, I hold victim No.1 to be aged about 14 years and victim No.2 aged about 12 years at the relevant time. Arguments contrary to this, are rejected.

32. As soon as it is established that victims were minor at the relevant time, not raising alarm by them loses its importance. With these observations, arguments advanced on behalf of the appellants in this regard is, rejected.

33. At this juncture, I would like to re-examine and re-assess the evidence of victim nos. 1 and 2 in the light of the contradictions pointed out on behalf of the appellants. Victim no.1, P.W.-4 has not made any contradictory statement on the point of her kidnapping, on the point of her confinement, about the place of confinement, in the manner she was subjected to rape. She withstood the test of cross examination successfully.

34. Same is the case with the statement of victim no.2.

35. Before I proceed further, I would like to take counsel on the point; how the evidence of the victim should be evaluated in case of rape. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Punjab vs. Gurmit Singh (supra) has made the following observations:-

"The courts must, while evaluating evidence, remain alive to the fact that in a case of rape, no self-respecting woman would come forward in a court just to make a humiliating statement against her honour such as is involved in the commission of rape on her.....The testimony of the victim in such cases is vital unless there are compelling reasons which necessitate looking for corroboration of her statement, the courts should find no difficulty to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault alone to convict an accused where her testimony inspires confidence and is found to be reliable.The evidence of a victim of sexual assault stands almost on par with the evidence of an injured witness and to an extent is even more reliable. Just as a witness who has sustained some injury in the occurrence, which is not found to be self-inflicted, is considered to be a good witness in the sense that he is least likely to shield the real culprit, the evidence of a victim of a sexual offence is entitled to great weight, absence of corroboration notwithstanding."

36. Thereafter, I would like to refer some cases wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has laid down guidelines on various points raised before me in reference to appreciation of evidence of the victim.

(1) In the State of H.P. vs. Mango Ram ; (2000) 7 SCC, 224, in this case, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that submission of body in fear or terror does not amount to consent.

(2) In Narayanamma vs. State of Karnataka ; (1994) 5 SCC, 728, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that non-finding of spermatozoa in the vaginal smear would not falsify the version of the prosecutrix.

(3) Shri Narain Saha vs. State of Tripura; (2004) SCC 775- in this case, Hon'ble the Apex Court has held that if the testimony of the prosecutrix is reliable, conviction on the basis thereof is permissible.

37. In this case, Hon'ble Apex Court has also observed that minor discrepancies in evidence were of no consequence.

38. In the light of the legal position, as gathered from the above mentioned cases, arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants, the victims were consenting parties, contradictions in their statements and variance between their statements and recovery memo about their recovery have no substance, hence, they are rejected. Statements of the victims also receives corroboration from the statement of Khaderam, P.W.-1 and statement of Mohanlal, P.W.-2.

39. Thus, no argument against the correctness of the conviction of the appellants survive. On behalf of the appellants, it has been submitted that lenient view may be taken on the point of sentence. Considering the seriousness of the offence, I do not think any ground is made out to reduce the sentences to which the appellants have been punished with.

40. Therefore, appeals have no substance, consequently they are dismissed. Appellant Virendra is in jail. He shall serve out his remaining sentence. Appellant Mahesh is on bail. He is directed to surrender before the trial court within 30 days failing which the presiding Judge of the trial court is directed to take appropriate steps to procure his presence and send him to jail to serve out his sentences.

41. Office is directed to communicate this order to the court concerned and to send back the record to the court below.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Ss. 397 & 401 — Revisional jurisdiction — Scope — Interference with acquittal — Revision filed against acquittal — Held, High Court in revisional jurisdiction does not act as appellate court and cannot re-appreciate evidence — Interference permissible only in exceptional cases involving manifest illegality, perversity or miscarriage of justice — No such infirmity found in impugned judgment.

Criminal Trial — Appreciation of evidence — Contradictions and delay in FIR — Trial court recorded findings of material contradictions in prosecution evidence and unexplained delay in lodging FIR — Such findings justified acquittal — No perversity or illegality warranting interference.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Revisional power — Limitation — Conversion of acquittal into conviction — High Court cannot convert acquittal into conviction in revision — At best, in exceptional cases, retrial may be ordered — Revisional power to be exercised sparingly.

In Result: Revision dismissed; order of acquittal upheld.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vipin Sinha, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prabhakar Tripathi, the learned counsel for the revisionist and the learned AGA for the State.

2. The present revision has been filed against the judgment and order dated 1.9.2003 passed by Civil Judge, (S.D.) Kannauj acquitting the accused in case no. 746 of 2002; State v. Pal Singh and others.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist submits that the court below has wrongly appreciated the evidence and has totally ignored the eye-witness account as well as injury and the gravity of the offense while acquitting the accused-opposite party nos. 2 to 5.

4. I have perused the injure reports, perusal of which shows that there were only two injuries on the victim, which are as follows:

“1—कटा हुआ घाव 5 ग 1सेमी0 खाल तक गहरा बाये हाथ के नीचे वाली कलाई से 8 सेमी0 उपर।

2—दाहिनी कलाई पर दर्द की शिकायत किन्तु उस पर मैने कोई सूजन या चोट का निशान नहीं पाया।”

5. It may also be appreciated at the very outset that the incident is of the year 1991 being 25.2.1991. The court below has recorded a categorical finding with regard to the incident that the incident took place on 25.2.1991 at 6 pm in the evening and the FIR has been lodged in the morning at about 9.30 am on 26.2.1991 whereas the distance of place of occurrence from the police station is only about 13 km and there is no explanation with regard to the delay in the lodging of the FIR. The court below has also recorded the discrepancy and the contradiction in the statement of PW1 and PW2. A categorical finding has been recorded in this regard, which is as under:

“वादी ने घटना स्थल अपने घर के दरवाजे पर होने का उल्लेख किया है जबकि साक्षी पी0डब्लू-1 ने अपने सशपथ कथन में घटना स्थल महेन्द्र के दरवाजे पर होने का कथन किया है। नक्शा नजरी के अनुसार वादी के मकान से महेन्द्र के मकान की दूरी बहुत अधिक है। घटना स्थल के संबंध में साक्षी पी0डब्लू-2 ने भी घटना स्थल अपने दरवाजे के सामने होने का उल्लेख किया है। इस प्रकार साक्षी पी0डब्लू-1 व पी0डब्लू-2 के सशपथ कथन में विरोधाभास पाया जाता है।”

6. Keeping in view the aforesaid discrepancy, the court below has recorded a finding to the following effect:

“यदि प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट में अंकित घटना स्थल तथा साक्षीगण द्वारा बताए गये घटना स्थल में किसी प्रकार को कोई विरोधाभास पाया जाता है तो ऐसी स्थिति में यह एक गंभीर मामला है तथा यह अभियोजन कथानक को संदेहास्पद बनाता है। अतः प्रतिरक्षा पक्ष के विद्वान अधिवक्ता के इस तर्क में भी बल पाया जाता है।”

7. Thus, on the basis of the aforesaid, the court below has concluded that there contradictions in the statements and has noted as under :

“साक्षी पी0डब्लू-1 व 2 का कथन है कि अभियुक्त ने पीछे से फरसा मारा था जबकि साक्षी पी0डब्लू-3 ने अपने सशपथ कथन की प्रति परीक्षा में स्वीकारोक्ति की है कि सामने से कोई हथियार चलाने पर यह चोटें आ सकती हैं क्योंकि चोटें ऐसी स्थिति में हैं। इस प्रकार साक्षी पी0डब्लू-3 के कथनानुसार चोटें सामने से पहुंचाई गई हैं, जबकि साक्षी पी0डब्लू-1 व 2 के कथनानुसार चोटें पीछे से फरसा मारकर पहुंचाई गई हैं। अतः साक्षीगण के सशपथ कथन में चोटें पहुंचाने के संबंध में विरोधाभास पाया जाता है।”

8. Even with regard to the injury, the court below has recorded a categorical finding as under :

“जहां तक चोटों की अवधि के तथ्य का संबंध है तो साक्षी पी०डब्लू-3 डा० एस०बी० द्विवेदी ने अपने सशपथ कथन में कहा है कि मुआइने के समय चोट का रंग लाल था तथा चोट 6 से 12 घंटे पुरानी थी जबकि चिकित्सीय परीक्षण के अवलोकन से ज्ञान होता है कि मजरूवी का चिकित्सीय परीक्षण दिनांक 26-2-91 को समय करीब एक बजे दोपहर किया गया था। जबकि घटना दिनांक 25-9-91 को सांय 6 बजे की है इस प्रकार लगभग 19 घंटे की चोट पुरानी है।”

9. In exercise of the revisional jurisdiction, it will be beyond Court's power and jurisdiction to re-assess the evidence. Appraisal of the evidence is not permissible in revision petition. Hon'ble Supreme Court in "State of Kerala Vs. Putthumana ILLath Jathavedan Namboodiri," AIR 1999 SC 981, has held that the High Court while hearing revisions does not work as an Appellate court and will not re-appreciate the evidence, unless some glaring feature is pointed out which may show that injustice has been done.

10. Hon'ble the Apex Court in "State Of Karnataka vs. Appa Balu Ingale and others", AIR 1993 SC 1126, has held that generally speaking, concurrent findings of fact arrived at by two courts below are not to be interfered with by the High Court in absence of any special circumstances or if same are not perverse in any manner. It should be kept in mind that Section 125 Cr.P.C. is enacted for social justice and specially to protect woman and children and also old and infirm parents and falls within the constitutional sweep of Article 14(3), re-enforced by Article 39 of the Constitution of India. The provision gives effect to the natural and fundamental duty of a man to maintain his wife, children and parents so long as they are unable to maintain themselves.

11. Hon'ble the Apex Court in "Jagannath Chaudhary Vs. Ramayan Singh", AIR 2002 SC 2229, has held that revisional jurisdiction is normally to be exercised only in exceptional cases where there is a glaring defect in the procedure or there is a manifest error or point of law and consequently there has been a flagrant miscarriage of justice. In "Munna Devi Vs. State of Rajasthan and others" AIR 2002 SC 107, it has been further held that while exercising the revisional power the High court has no authority to appreciate the evidence in the manner as the trial and the appellate courts are required to do.

12. It may further be appreciated that the legal position as to the powers of the High Court in revision in the matter of interference with the order of acquittal is no longer res integra, as the law in this regard is very well settled. Suffice it to refer in this regard a decision of this Court in K. Chinnaaswamy Reddy vs. State of Andhra Pradesh and anr. (AIR) 1962 Sc 1788 wherein it was held, thus :

"It is true that it is open to a High Court in revision to set aside an order of acquittal even at the instance of private parties, though the State may not have thought fit to appeal by the jurisdiction should be exercised by the High Court only in exception the procedure or there is a manifest error on a point of law and consequently there has been a flagrant miscarriage of justice. Sub-section (4) of Section 439 forbids a High Court from converting a finding of acquittal into one of conviction and that makes it all the more incumbent on the High Court to see that it does not covert the finding of acquittal into one of conviction by the indirect method of ordering retrial, when it cannot itself directly convert a finding of acquittal into a finding of conviction. This places limitations on the power of the High Court to set aside the finding of acquittal in revision and it is only in exceptional cases that this power should be exercised...

13. Reference may also be had to the decision of the Supreme Court rendered in the case of Vimal Singh v. Khuman Singh and others; JT 1998 (7) SC 98, wherein it has been held as under:

"Coming to the ambit of power of High Court under Section 401 of the Code, the High Court in its reversional power does not ordinarily interfere with judgment of acquittal passed by the trial court unless there has been manifest error of law or procedure. The interference with the order of acquittal passed by the trial court is limited only to exceptional cases when it is found that the order under revision suffers from glaring illegality or has caused miscarriage of justice or when it is found that the trial court has no jurisdiction to try the case where the trial court has illegally shut out the evidence which otherwise ought to have been considered or where the material evidence which clinches the issue have been overlooked. These are the instances where the High Court would be justified in interfering with the order of acquittal. Sub-section (3) of Section 403 mandates that the High Court shall not convert a finding of acquittal into one of conviction. Thus, the High Court would not be justified in substituting an order of acquittal into one of conviction even if it is convinced that the accused deserves conviction. No doubt, the High Court in exercise of its reversional power can set aside an order of acquittal if it comes within the ambit of exceptional cases enumerated above, but it cannot convert an order of acquittal into an order of conviction. The only course left to the High Court in such exceptional cases is to order retrial."

14. Moreover, learned counsel for the revisionist has not been able to point out any illegality or perversity with the finding as recorded by the court below in the order impugned.

15. Thus, in view of the aforesaid and also in view of long lapse of time, the instant revision is dismissed.

Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod v. State of Maharashtra and another, U.P. Criminal Rulings, Vol. XLV, 2014 (2), 630.

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 – Ss. 138 and 145(2) – Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 – Ss. 177, 178, 179, 182 and 184 – Territorial jurisdiction – Complaint under S. 138 – Cheque dishonoured by drawee bank situated outside territorial jurisdiction of Magistrate – Complaint maintainable only before Court within whose territorial jurisdiction cheque was dishonoured – Proceedings not having reached stage contemplated under S. 145(2), complaint liable to be returned for presentation before competent Court – Complaint re-presented within thirty days of return to be treated as within limitation, provided original complaint was not time-barred – Revision arising from summoning order passed by ACJM. Following Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod v. State of Maharashtra, held, the Court at Sonebhadra lacked territorial jurisdiction as the cheque had been dishonoured by the drawee bank at Mirzapur. Since the case had not reached the stage of recording evidence under S. 145(2) of the Act, the complaint was directed to be returned to the complainant for presentation before the competent Court, with protection regarding limitation in terms of the decision in Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod.

In Result :- Criminal revision disposed of. Interim order, if any, vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prabhat Chandra Tripathi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anil Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the revisionist, Sri Surendra Tiwari, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal revision has been filed against the order dated 23.8.2014 passed by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sonebhadra in Case No.1038 of 2014 (Anand Sagar v. Jagdish) by which the learned Magistrate has summoned the revisionist, Jagdish under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 and directed the complainant, opposite party no.2, Anand Sagar to take steps within 10 days under Section 204 Cr.P.C.

3. Brief facts in narrow compass are narrated as follows:-

4. Revisionist, is a registered contractor in the name and style of M/s J.K. Construction Company, Tilaulikalan, Police Station and Tehsil Robertsganj, District Sonebhadra. As per the complaint, a cheque bearing no.043055 was issued on 4.4.2014 in favour of opposite party no.2, Anand Sagar which was dishonoured by the drawee bank i.e. Bank of India, Mirzapur Branch, Wellesley Ganj, District Mirzapur.

5. Since, the blank cheque was missing, information in this regard was furnished by the revisionist to the bank on 4.4.2014 and thereafter, the concerned bank stopped the payment of the cheque. However, the concerned cheque was presented by the opposite party no.2 on 11.4.2014 before the concerned bank and the same was returned with remark "Payment stopped by the drawer".

6. The court of the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sonebhadra did not have territorial jurisdiction to summon the revisionist, Jagdish in view of Sections 177, 178, 179, 220 (1), 182 and 184 Cr.P.C.

7. Reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for both the parties on the judgement of the Supreme Court in Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod v. State of Maharashtra and another [U.P. Criminal Rulings, Vol. XLV 2014 (2), 630]. Para-20 of the judgement is quoted as below:-

"20. We are quite alive to the magnitude of the impact that the present decision shall have to possibly lakhs of cases pending in various Courts spanning across the country. One approach could be to declare that this judgment will have only prospective pertinence, i.e. applicability to complaints that may be filed after this pronouncement. However, keeping in perspective the hardship that this will continue to bear on alleged accused/respondents who may have to travel long distances in conducting their defence, and also mindful of the legal implications of proceedings being permitted to continue in a Court devoid of jurisdiction, this recourse in entirety does not commend itself to us. Consequent on considerable consideration we think it expedient to direct that only those cases where, post the summoning and appearance of the alleged Accused, the recording of evidence has commenced as envisaged in Section 145(2) of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, will proceeding continue at that place. To clarify, regardless of whether evidence has been led before the Magistrate at the pre-summoning stage, either by affidavit or by oral statement, the Complaint will be maintainable only at the place where the cheque stands dishonoured. To obviate and eradicate any legal complications, the category of Complaint cases where proceedings have gone to the stage of Section 145(2) or beyond shall be deemed to have been transferred by us from the Court ordinarily possessing territorial jurisdiction, as now clarified, to the Court where it is presently pending. All other Complaints (obviously including those where the accused/respondent has not been properly served) shall be returned to the Complainant for filing in the proper Court, in consonance with our exposition of the law. If such Complaints are filed/refiled within thirty days of their return, they shall be deemed to have been filed within the time prescribed by law, unless the initial or prior filing was itself time barred."

8. Having considered the facts mentioned as above and the observations made by the Supreme Court in Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod (supra), the complaint being Case No.1038 of 2014 (Anand Sagar v. Jagdish), under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 instituted before the court of the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sonebhadra, Police Station Karma, District Sonebhadra is returned to the complainant Anand Sagar for filing in the proper court (if he wishes to do so) in consonance with the exposition of the law expressed by the Supreme Court in Dashrath Rupsinh Rathod (supra). If such complaint is filed within thirty days of its return, it shall be deemed to have been filed within the time prescribed by law, unless the initial or prior filing was itself time barred.

9.The criminal revision is accordingly disposed of.

10. Interim order, if any, is vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amar Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. This Criminal appeal has been filed against the judgement and order dated 27.4.2011 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Farrukhabad in ST No. 280 of 2007 arising out of case crime No. 10 of 2007, under sections 304 and 336 IPC, PS Kamalganj, district Farrukhabad whereby the learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to three months' simple imprisonment under section 336 IPC, ten years RI under section 304 IPC and a fine of Rs. 25,000/- with default stipulation.

2. The brief facts giving rise to the present appeal are that a written report was handed over on 20.1.2007 by the complainant Bhagwan Singh to the SO, police station Kamalganj, district Farrukhabad to the effect that his son Mahaveer, the deceased aged about 25 years, who was handicapped, was taken away by Satish, the appellant for the purpose of drinking liquor. When Satish and Mahaveer were returning, there had been altercation between them. Smt. Ram Dulari came for rescue. At that time the appellant hit the head of the deceased with brick, who fell on the ground. On hearing the noise of Ram Dulari, the complainant and others reached at the spot, but due to serious injuries, the deceased succumbed to the injuries. The appellant taking advantage of darkness, ran away in the field.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid written report, a case was registered at case crime No. 10 of 2007, under sections 336, 304 IPC at PS Kamalganj, district Farrukhabad (Ext. Ka-4), which was entered into GD vide Report No. 28 at 23.00 hours. After the registration of the FIR, the investigation of the case was entrusted to SI Rahimuddin Khan, who prepared Panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-8). He also prepared letter for CMO (Ext. Ka-9), Challan Laash (Ext. Ka-10) and photo laash (Ext. Ka-11). He also inspected the spot and prepared site plan (Ext. Ka-6). Thereafter the investigation of the case was transferred to SI T. R. Verma, PW 3, who after completing the remaining investigation, submitted the charge sheet against the appellant under sections 336, 304 IPC (Ext. Ka-7).

4. To bring home the guilt of the appellant, the prosecution has examined as many as five witnesses.

5. PW 1, Bhagwan Singh is the complainant of the case. He reiterated the versions given in the FIR. He further deposed that his son was taken away by the appellant on the pretext of drinking liquor. When his son did not return, then at about 8.00 PM he along with his other son Manoj went in search of his son-Mahaveer. When he was searching his son, he saw Satish, the appellant running away. When the complainant asked the appellant that there are blood on his shirt and pant, then the appellant replied that go and save your son, Kanjad are beating him. He saw the blood in the light of torch. When he reached the spot, he found his son dead. Thereafter he lodged the report, which he proved as Ext. Ka-1.

6. PW 2, Manoj is the son of the complainant and brother of the deceased. He deposed that at 6.00 PM, Satish Verma took his brother Mahaveer on the pretext of drinking liquor and said that they will return within an hour or two. When he did not return, then he went for his search. When he reached near pond outside village, some altercation was going on between them. Ram Dulari Kanjad was cooling the matter down. When he intervened, then the appellant threw the lathi on the deceased and hit his brother with brick with the intention to kill him. His brother fell down and there was bleeding from the head. The appellant ran away from the spot. On his cry, several persons of the village rushed to the spot. They were searching for the conveyance, but no conveyance was found. In the meantime, his brother succumbed to the injuries. He further deposed that his father lodged the report.

7. The evidence of PW 3, T.R. Verma has already been discussed above.

8. PW 4 is Dr. Kuldeep Kumar Yadav. He deposed that on 21.1.2007 he was entrusted the work of post-mortem. On that date at 8.30 PM he conducted the post mortem on the body of the deceased, who was brought by constable Anurudh Singh. The deceased was of average built. His both the eyes were closed. Mouth was also closed. Doctor found the following anti-mortem injuries on the person of the deceased:

1. Lacerated wound 3 cm x 1.5 cm x skin deep left side back at head 8 cm behind left ear. Fracture of bone underneath injury. Membrane was also torn.

2. Lacerated wound 2.00 cm x 1 cm skin deep left side behind left ear. There was clotting on the head.

In the opinion of the doctor, the death was caused due to the anti-mortem injuries received by the deceased

9. PW 5 is Parokar Phool Chand. He deposed that Panchayatnama was prepared by SI Rahimuddin on 21.1.2007, who was posted as SO, police station Kamalganj. This witness has further proved the papers prepared by SI Rahimuddin.

10. After close of the evidence the statement of the accused was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C., who stated that he has falsely been implicated in the present case and claims to be tried. However, in his defence, the accused-appellant has examined DW 1, Ram Dulari and DW 2, Dharmveer.

11. DW 1 Smt. Ram Dulari has deposed that on the date of incident at about 5.00 AM when she had gone to attend the call of nature, she saw that a dead body was lying on Nala (rivulet). One brick was also lying stained with blood near the dead body. It appears that Mahaveer fell into the Nala and died due to fall. She further deposed that the deceased was heavy drunkard. She neither saw nor heard any altercation between Satish and Mahaveer.

12. DW 2 is Dharmveer. He deposed that at 5.30 AM when he reached at the place of incident, he saw that dead body of Mahaveer was lying into the Nala. Near the dead body a brick stained with blood was also lying. 10-15 persons were standing there and all of them were saying that Mahaveer fell into the Nala after taking liquor. Mahaveer was handicapped. Satish and Mahaveer had a good relations.

13. Learned lower court after hearing and perusing the record came to the conclusion that prosecution had established his charge under section 336 and 304 IPC and, therefore, convicted and sentenced the appellant as already mentioned herein above vide judgement and order, hence this appeal for quashing the said judgement.

14. Heard learned counsel for the appellant and learned Additional Government Advocate and perused the record of the case.

15. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that the appellant is not challenging the order of conviction. The only question remains for consideration is as to whether offence committed by the appellant comes within the purview of section 304 Part II. It is also contended that maximum sentence has been awarded under section 304 IPC.

16. It is further contended that at the spur of mement, during altercation, injury was caused with the brick and there is no evidence that there was intention to cause death as altercation took place on taking liquor and in absence of repetition of blow, mens rea could not be attributed.

17. Learned Additional Government Advocate concedes that marpit took place after taking liquor as in the Post-mortem report, smell of alcohol also reported. It is also contended that the act by which the death is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death, but the act of the accused cannot be said preplanned.

18. In the case in hand, smell of liquor was reported in the post-mortem report. It is not denied that accused as well as deceased were heavy drunkard, the accused in a sudden quarrel hit the brick on head of deceased and deceased succumbed to head injury. since the deceased and accused were under influence of liquor and suddenly in the spur of moment a quarrel took place and deceased sustained injury on the head. There is no predetermination and intention to cause death, the offence in such case will always be punishable under section 304 Part II IPC as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of State of M.P. Vs. Deshraj, AIR 2004 SC 2764 and State of Punjab Vs. Guru Charan, AIR 1998 SC 3115.

19. The alleged acts of accused which constitute the offence come within purview of culpable homicide amounting to murder or not amounting to murder?

20. In this respect Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kandaswamy Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2008(62) ACC 969 has held as under:

"This bring us to the crucial question as to which was the appropriate provision to be applied. In the scheme of the IPC culpable homicide is genus and 'murder' its specie. All 'murder is 'culpable homicide' but not vice-versa. Speaking generally, culpable homicide sans 'special characteristics of murder is culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of the generic offence, the I.P.C. practically recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, 'culpable homicide of the first degree'. This is the gravest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in section 300 as 'muder'. The second may be termed as 'culpable homicide of the second degree'. This is punishable under the first part of section 304. Then, there is 'culpable homicide of the third degree'. This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is also the lowest among the punishments provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of section 304.

The ingredients of clause "thirdly" of section 300 IPC were brought out by the illustrious Judge in his terse language as follows:

To put it shortly, the prosecution must prove the following facts before it can bring a case under section 300, "thirdly".

First, it must establish, quite objectively, that a bodily injury is present.

Secondly, the nature of the injury must be proved. These are purely objective investigations.

Thirdly, it must be proved that there was an intention to inflict that particular bodily injury, that is to say that it was not accidental or unintentional, or that some other kind of injury was intended.

Once these three elements are proved to be present, the enquiry proceeds further and,

Fourthly, it must be proved that the injury of the type just described made up of the three elements set out above is sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature. This part of the enquiry is purely objective and inferential and has nothing to do with the intention of the offender."

Privy Council in Reg Vs. Govinda, 1876 ILR 1876 Bom 342, decided on 18.7.1876, held has under:

"Whether the offence is culpable homicide or murder, depends upon the degree of risk to human life. If death is a likely result, it is culpable homicide, if it is the most probable result, it is murder."

21. In this case, act of the accused was not preplanned and there is no intention to cause death as deceased sustained injury in the altercation took place during influence of liquor. It is clear that it is case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder of the third degree which is punishable under section 304 Part-II IPC. In this case minimum sentence would be upto four years, but I certainly find his case to be a fit case to reduce the sentence of imprisonment to a period of 6 years and this will serve the end of justice.

22. In view of what has been indicated herein above, the appeal is partly allowed. The conviction of the appellant under sections 336 and 304 IPC is upheld. However, the sentence of the appellant under section 304 IPC is reduced to six years, but imposition of fine shall remain intact.

23. Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned for compliance.

Railways Act, 1989 — S. 20F(6) — Determination of compensation — Role of Arbitrator — Mandatory duty — Land acquired for Dedicated Freight Corridor — Compensation determined by competent authority challenged before Arbitrator — Arbitrator partly accepted objection but instead of determining compensation himself, directed Chief Project Manager to redetermine amount — Held, under S. 20F(6), Arbitrator is mandatorily required to determine compensation — Delegation of such function to any other authority impermissible.

Land Acquisition — Compensation — Adjudicatory function — Non-delegable — Arbitrator being statutory authority cannot abdicate his jurisdiction — Chief Project Manager not competent under statute to determine compensation — Impugned direction unsustainable.

Interpretation of Statute — Use of word "shall" — Mandatory nature — Expression "shall" in S. 20F(6) denotes mandatory obligation — Arbitrator bound to decide quantum of compensation on merits.

Writ Jurisdiction — Interference — Remand — Where statutory authority fails to exercise jurisdiction vested in it, High Court justified in interfering and remitting matter for fresh determination — Direction issued to Arbitrator to compute compensation expeditiously.

In Result: Writ petitions allowed; impugned part of Arbitrator's order quashed; matter remitted to Arbitrator for determination of compensation within stipulated time; directions issued for deposit and disbursement of compensation.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Tarun Agarwala, J.)

1. We have heard Sri Pradeep Kumar along with Sri Praveen Kumar, the learned counsels for the petitioners and Sri Rahul Agrawal, Advocate along with Sri Sudhir Bharti, the learned counsels for the Railways.

2. This group of writ petitions involves a common question of law and, accordingly, all the writ petitions are being decided together. For facility, the facts of Writ Petition No. 4035 of 2016 is being taken into consideration.

3. It transpires that the land was acquired for Special Rail Project East Dedicated Freight Corridor, that was being constructed by the Ministry of Railways, Union of India. For the aforesaid purpose, various tracts of land were acquired under the Railways Act, 1989(hereinafter referred to as the Act). The petitioners' land being plot no. 178 measuring 0.7770 hectares was also acquired, pursuant to a notification dated 03.11.2010 issued under Section 20E of the Act. Possession was taken and thereafter compensation was determined by means of an award dated 26.08.2011 issued under Section 20F of the Act, whereby the petitioners were awarded a sum of Rs.9,95,560/- towards compensation.

4. The petitioners, being aggrieved by the determination of the compensation, filed an objection no. 34/2012-13 under Section 20F(6) before the Arbitrator. The Arbitrator, after considering the objection, partly accepted the contention of the petitioners holding that the land is within 200 meters of abadi and, accordingly, directed the Chief Project Manager of the Dedicated Freight Corridor to redetermine the compensation in the light of the observation made therein.

5. According to the petitioners, as per the order of the Arbitrator, the petitioners are entitled to Rs.2,00,65,255/- along with 12% interest as compensation taking the rate of land as per the circle rate.

6. Since the amount, as per the calculation made by the petitioners, was not released by the respondents, the present writ petition was filed praying that a writ of mandamus be issued commanding the respondents to pay Rs.2,00,65,255/- along with 12% interest pursuant to the order of the Arbitrator dated 03.02.2014.

7. The respondents have filed a counter affidavit contending that, as per the calculation chart prepared by them, the petitioners are only entitled to Rs.23,38,560/- towards compensation. In paragraph 6 of the Counter Affidavit the respondents have contended that the petitioners have received two cheques of a sum of Rs.7,75,520/- each.

8. Sri Rahul Agrawal, the learned counsel for the respondents contended that during the pendency of the writ petition the entire amount has been paid to the petitioners. It was also contended that the petitioners, being aggrieved by the award of the Arbitrator, filed an objection under Section 33 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act and, therefore, the writ petition should be dismissed.

9. Sri Pradeep Kumar, the learned counsel for the petitioners however submitted that the objection filed under Section 33 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act was withdrawn and there is no application pending as on date.

10. Be that as it may. We have perused the order of the Arbitrator dated 03.02.2014. We find that once the Arbitrator has accepted the contention of the petitioners in part, as raised by them in their objection, the Arbitrator should have proceeded to determine the amount of compensation instead of directing the Chief Project Manager, Dedicated Freight Corridor Corporation of India Ltd., Kanpur to redetermine the amount. In this regard Section 20F(6) of the Act reads as under:

“(6) If the amount determined by the competent authority under sub-section (1) or as the case may be sub-section (3) is not acceptable to either of the parties, the amount shall, on an application by either of the parties, be determined by the arbitrator to be appointed by the Central Government in such manner as may be prescribed.”

11. A perusal of the aforesaid provision indicates that if the amount determined by the competent authority under sub-section (1) or as the case may be under sub-section (3) is not accepted by either of the parties, the amount shall, on an application by either of the parties, be determined by the Arbitrator. The word “shall” is of importance, which indicates a mandatory tenor in the provision. In the instant case the petitioner did not accept the amount awarded by the competent authority under Section 20F(1) of the Act and filed an application under Section 20F(6) of the Act. The Arbitrator was required to determine the amount, which in the instant case has not been done. The Arbitrator instead has relegated the determination of the compensation to the Chief Project Manager, who in any case was not competent to determine the compensation under Section 20F(1) of the Act.

12. We, accordingly, allow the writ petitions and quash that part of the order dated 03.02.2014 passed by the Arbitrator by which it directs the Chief Project Manager of the Dedicated Freight Corridor Corporation India Limited to determine the amount of compensation in terms of the observations made in the order. We remit the matter to the Arbitrator with the direction to calculate the compensation in terms of the observations made in the order within six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order after hearing all parties concerned. In the event, the Arbitrator considers the order of the Additional District Magistrate dated 11.04.2014 while calculating the compensation, it would be open to the petitioners to raise such objection as advised.

13. By an order dated 10.08.2016 we had directed the respondents to produce the bank drafts of the compensation, which was admittedly payable by the respondents. The bank drafts in favour of the petitioners have been produced before the Court. We direct the respondents to deposit these bank drafts before the Arbitrator on or before 05.09.2016. The necessary formalities of handing over the bank drafts to the petitioners will be done by the Arbitrator and the necessary drafts would be handed over to the petitioners within a week thereafter upon completion of necessary formalities.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Ss. 169, 170 & 173 — Scope and distinction — Release of accused during investigation — Magistrate's powers — Investigating Officer moved application seeking release of accused under S. 169 CrPC on ground of absence of evidence — Magistrate rejected application treating it akin to a "final report" and proceeded to assess merits — Held, S. 169 CrPC operates during investigation and empowers police to release accused where evidence is insufficient — It is distinct from report under S. 173 CrPC which is submitted on completion of investigation — Magistrate erred in treating application under S. 169 as a final report and in evaluating sufficiency of evidence at that stage — Magistrate not required to adjudicate upon merits prior to submission of police report under S. 173 CrPC.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — S. 169 — Nature of power — Autonomy of Investigating Officer — Power to release accused for lack of evidence vests in police — Where accused is in judicial custody, police may seek appropriate order from Magistrate — Magistrate ought to give due weight to opinion of Investigating Officer unless there are compelling reasons indicating mala fides — Mechanical rejection of such request and adverse remarks against Investigating Officer held improper.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Investigation — Police report — Misconception regarding "charge-sheet" and "final report" — Code contemplates only one police report under S. 173(2) CrPC — Terms like "charge-sheet", "final report", "closure report" are colloquial and do not alter statutory scheme — Investigation may continue even after release of accused under S. 169 CrPC — Completion of investigation culminates only in report under S. 173 CrPC.

In Result: Impugned order set aside; petition disposed of with observations clarifying scope of Ss. 169, 170 and 173 CrPC; no specific direction for release issued in view of pending bail application.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abhay Mahadeo Thipsay, J.)

1. Heard Shri Amarjeet Singh Rakhra, learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri S.N. Tilhari, learned Additional Government Advocate and Shri Anoop Kumar Upadhyay, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2- complainant.

2. Pursuant to the direction given by this Court on 17.8.2016, the Investigating Officer- Shri Shailkant Upadhyay, Sub-Inspector, Police Station Khodare, District Gonda, is present in court, with the case-diary.

3. The petitioner is one of the accused in case crime No.157 of 2016 registered at Police Station Khodare, District Gonda. The said case relates to offences punishable under Section 307 IPC, Section 326 IPC, and Section 324 IPC. The First Information Report came to be lodged on 7.5.2016. It was in respect of an offence punishable under Section 307 IPC. Later on, allegations of offences punishable under Section 326 IPC and Section 324 IPC were added. The petitioner, who is named in the First Information Report as one of the assailants, came to be arrested on 5.6.2016.

4. On 7.7.2016, when the petitioner had been remanded in judicial custody, the Investigating Officer made an application before the Magistrate stating that upon investigation, he had come to the conclusion that there was nothing to show that the petitioner was present on scene of the offences. He categorically stated that there was no material from which the commission of the alleged offences by the petitioner could be established. He, therefore, prayed to the Magistrate that the petitioner be released, as contemplated under Section 169 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (the 'Code'). This application was rejected by the Magistrate by a detailed order dated 15.7.2016. The Magistrate, by the said order, dismissed the said application, and also directed a copy of the order to be forwarded to the Superintendent of Police, Gonda and Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh for taking legal action against the Investigating Officer.

5. Being aggrieved by the said order, the petitioner has approached this court by filing the present petition invoking the inherent powers of this court and praying that the impugned order be set aside and the petitioner be directed to be released forthwith.

6. The learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the order passed by the learned Magistrate is erroneous. He submitted that the tenor of the order indicates that the Magistrate was extremely displeased with the Investigating Officer for having formed an opinion that the petitioner needed to be released under the provisions of Section 169 of the Code; and that it was not fair to the Investigating Officer.

7. The learned A.G.A., on the other hand, submitted that the Magistrate had jurisdiction to pass the impugned order; and that the order has been rightly passed by him. It is submitted that the opinion of the police would not matter and, ultimately, it would be the opinion of the Magistrate that would matter with regard to the involvement, or otherwise, of a particular accused in the alleged offences. It is submitted that the Magistrate, after examining the material against the petitioner, formed an opinion that her involvement in the alleged offences was revealed, and that, therefore, the Magistrate was right in rejecting the application under Section 169 of the Code, as filed by the Investigating Officer.

8. With the assistance of the learned counsel for the parties, I have gone through the impugned order carefully and considered the authoritative pronouncements of the Superior Courts and even of the Hon'ble Apex Court, which have been brought to my notice by the learned counsel for the parties.

9. There appears to be some confusion with respect to the ambit and scope of Section 169 of the Code, for removal of which the provisions of Section 169 of the Code need to be considered, along with the provisions of Sections 170 & 173 of the Code. The confusion with respect to the area of operation of these provisions, apparently, arises because of free use of terms, such as 'charge-sheet', 'final report', 'closure report', 'summary' etc. which are not at all found in the Code, but are commonly used not only by lay-persons, but also by the police, Advocates and Judges. When the police, on conclusion of investigation, file a report to the effect that the persons named therein as accused have committed the offence (mentioned in such report), it is popularly termed as 'charge-sheet'. When the police report, on completion of investigation, that no offence is found to have been committed by any one, (or by the persons named as accused), then such report is popularly called as a 'final report'. Such final report, sometimes, is also referred to as a 'closure report' or 'summary'.

10. It would be appropriate to consider as to what, actually, Section 169 of the Code lays down. It reads as under:

"If, upon an investigation under this Chapter, it appears to the officer in-charge of the police station that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate, such officer shall, if such person is, in custody, release him on his executing a bond with or without sureties, as such officer may direct, to appear, if and when so required, before a Magistrate empowered to take cognizance of the offence on a police report, and to try the accused or commit him for trial"

11. This Section needs to be read, along with Section 170 of the Code which says that if, upon an investigation under Chapter XII, it appears to the Officer-in-charge of a police station that there is sufficient evidence or reasonable ground for the aforesaid, such officer shall forward the accused under the custody to a Magistrate empowered to take cognizance of the offence upon a police report and to try the accused, or commit him for trial, etc.

12. Section 169 of the Code and Section 170 of the Code do not refer to the completion of investigation. Thus, investigation may continue, even after an accused is released under Section 169 of the Code, or is forwarded to a Magistrate in custody, as contemplated under section 170 of the Code. It may, at times, happen that an application for release of an accused under Section 169 of the Code would be made at the time of submission of a final report under Section 173 of the Code, but that would not always be the case. In fact, Section 169 of the Code has nothing to do with the completion of the investigation, or closure thereof, though, in some cases, by releasing an accused, the investigation would be concluded. Though both the things may coincide sometimes, it would be improper to understand an application made for release of an accused under Section 169 of the Code as a final report, (unless, off course, such an application forms a part of the final report itself).

13. An example can be given to explain and clarify the point. It is well-known that many times, the offender is not known to the victim or the first informant and a case -say of theft- is registered against an unknown offender. In the course of investigation, the police may arrest 'A' on suspicion, and seek his remand in custody, but would, at a later stage of investigation, be convinced about his non-involvement, or at any rate, about there being no evidence against him. In such a case, the police may release 'A' under the provisions of Section 169 of the Code, if in police custody. If, however, 'A' would be in judicial custody, the police would have to make an application to the Magistrate for his release under the said provision, as the police themselves would not be able to release a person, who is in judicial custody. After release of 'A', however, the investigation would not be over. The police if would then suspect 'B' may arrest him on such suspicion. Thus, the investigation in the very offence would continue. Experience shows that this often happens in cases of pick-pocketing, bag-lifting, house-breaking etc, where arrests are made on suspicion, there being no accusation against any particular individual. The report under Section 173 of the Code would be filed only on completion of investigation of that particular case, and not on the suspicion against a person, who was earlier arrested on such suspicion, ceasing to exist.

14. Chapter XII of the Code deals with information to the police and their powers to investigate. It opens with Section 154 of the Code, which speaks of information in cognizable case, which is known as First Information Report. Section 156 of the Code speaks of the police officers' powers to investigate into cognizable cases and Section 157 of the Code speaks of the procedure for investigation. What needs to be observed is that the Code speaks only of one 'police report', i.e. one defined in clause (r) of Section 2,- as a police report under Section 173 (2) of the Code, which is to be submitted on completion of investigation. A bare perusal of Section 173 of the Code would indicate that this report is a must; and has to be forwarded to a Magistrate, whether the conclusion of the Investigating Officer is that the offence appears to have been committed (by a certain person or persons) or is that no offence appears to have been committed. If any doubt in that regard exists, the same can be removed by referring to sub-clause (d) of Clause (i) of sub-Section (2) of Section 173 of the Code. Any investigation commenced under the Chapter XII pursuant to the lodging of the First Information Report or otherwise must end with a report under Section 173 (2) of the Code.

15. Thus, the report under Section 173 of the Code is the final report submitted after completion of investigation. However, as aforesaid, in common legal parlance, the phrase 'final report' has acquired a particular meaning and it is only where the report under Section 173 of the Code indicates that no offence is disclosed, it is popularly termed as a 'final report'. It is also, sometimes, and in some States, referred to as a 'closure report' or a 'summary'. The other type of 'final report' viz. indicating that some person or persons have committed some offence or offences is popularly termed as aforesaid, as 'charge-sheet'. In reality, both the so-called 'charge-sheet' and the so-called 'final report' are actually reports under Section 173 of the Code on completion of investigation. It is only the report under Section 173 of the Code that is, actually, a final report-so to say.

16. It is not in dispute that in the present case, a report under Section 173 of the Code, which is the police report as defined under Section 2(r) of the Code, has not yet been filed.

17. Section 169 of the Code speaks only of the powers of the police to release an accused, when he forms an opinion that there is not sufficient material or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify for forwarding the accused to the Magistrate (in accordance with the provisions of Section 170 of the Code).

18. Section 169 of the Code does not speak of any report, or application to be submitted by the Investigating Officer to the Magistrate. However, evidently, such an application would be necessary when the particular accused would be in judicial custody under the remand order, inasmuch as the Investigating Officer, in spite of formation of an opinion about insufficiency of evidence or reasonable grounds for sending an accused for trial, cannot release him from prison.

19. The application which had been made by the Investigating Officer before the Magistrate was, evidently, not a final report. It does not even remotely suggest to be so. All that it mentions is that in the course of investigation, it was revealed that the petitioner's involvement in the alleged offence and/ or her presence on the spot at the time of incident was not revealed; and that, no evidence could be collected from which, that the petitioner committed the offence, cannot be established.

20. There was a prayer to the effect that the petitioner be released under the provisions of Section 169 of the Code.

21. As aforesaid, it is possible, in a given case, that an application for release of an accused under Section 169 of the Code may take the form of a final report, but in this case, it was evidently not so. The question is whether the Magistrate at that stage was required to or justified in discussing the merits of the matter and deciding whether or not there were sufficient grounds for taking cognizance of the alleged offences against the petitioner, as if he was dealing with a final report submitted by the police exonerating the petitioner.

22. In my opinion, the answer has to be in negative.

23. A perusal of the impugned order shows that the learned Magistrate failed to realize the distinction between the nature of application that had been made by the Investigating Officer with specific reference to Section 169 of the Code and a 'final report' filed by the police under Section 173 of the Code.

24. The Magistrate placed emphasis on the fact that ultimately, it would be for the Magistrate to decide whether or not a particular accused or accused persons should be proceeded against or not; and that the Magistrate is not bound by the opinion expressed by the police. Undoubtedly, the Magistrate would be fully entitled and justified in disagreeing with the conclusion arrived at by the police and is free to adopt any course, out of a large number of courses available to him under the law. One such course would be to take cognizance of the alleged offence and issue process against the accused persons disregarding the opinion of the investigating agency that there is no case for proceeding against such an accused. However, this situation would come only on the closure/ completion of the investigation. It would be indicated by the submission of a charge-sheet/ final report under Section 173 of the Code. Till that stage is arrived, the Magistrate would not be concerned with the opinion forming process of the investigating officer. In fact, the matter would not even come before the Magistrate, if the particular accused would be in police custody. The statutory power conferred on the police by Section 169 of the Code, is no way controlled by the Magistrate.

25. At the cost of repetition, it may be observed that it was because the petitioner was in judicial custody that the police made a prayer to the Magistrate to release her from prison, though the power vests in police. Usually, it is only to show deference to the Magistrate that the police bring this aspect of the matter in the notice of the Magistrate and seek appropriate orders.

26. After going through the impugned order, I find that the Magistrate has treated the application as if it was a final report under Section 173 of the Code, requiring him to decide whether or not there were sufficient grounds for proceeding against the petitioner. Since the matter is still at investigation stage, the Magistrate was not required to form any such opinion, as even after formation of such an opinion, he would not be able to proceed against the petitioner. All that he could do is to keep the petitioner under detention despite the opinion of the police that her involvement in the alleged offences was not established.

27. In my opinion, the Magistrate ought to have given due regard to the claim made by the investigating Officer. After all, the Magistrate has only mentioned about two persons having stated about presence of the petitioner on the spot and of having attributed an active role to her; but has not considered why the investigating officer did not believe those persons. It may be observed that in the course of investigation, the investigating officer may come across several aspects of the matter which would enable him to form an opinion about correctness/ truth of the claim made by the persons who are examined by him. The Investigating Officer is expected to form a reasoned and well considered opinion and come to a proper conclusion. In fact, the process of investigation is required for that purpose only; and if the mere mention of a person's complicity in the offence by one or two persons is sufficient, there would be no point in investigating into the matter, at all. The Magistrate's displeasure about the opinion of the Investigating Officer- as evident from the direction given by him to forward a copy of the order to the Director General of Inspector, U.P., for taking legal action against the Investigating Officer- does not seem to be proper. The Investigating Officer is not expected to act mechanically and is entitled to form his own opinion about the truth of the matter. Unless there were sound grounds for indicating that the Investigating Officer was falsely and deliberately making the application under Section 169 of the Code with the object of favouring the petitioner for ulterior motives, there was no occasion to come down heavily on the Investigating Officer for forming a particular opinion. The order passed by the Magistrate does not indicate that he gave an opportunity to the Investigating Officer to explain as to why he did not believe the persons, who spoke about the presence of the petitioner on the spot at the time of the incident.

28. In my opinion, when the Investigating Officer had come to the conclusion that the involvement of the petitioner in the alleged offences was not disclosed, the Magistrate ought to have passed an appropriate order releasing the petitioner as contemplated under Section 169 of the Code. When, later, the report under Section 173 of the Code would have been filed by the police, he would have had the power and authority to decide whether or not the conclusion about non-involvement of the petitioner was acceptable and could have even proceeded against the petitioner, if satisfied about the existence of a prima facie case against her.

29. The impugned order appears to have been passed without realizing the distinction between the application made by the Investigating Officer for releasing the petitioner under Section 169 of the Code and a 'Final Report' which is required to be submitted under Section 173 of the Code.

30. In my opinion, the same is not in accordance with law and needs to be interfered with in the interest of justice.

31. The impugned order is set aside.

32. At this stage, the learned counsel for the petitioner fairly submits that a bail application has been filed by the petitioner which is pending before this court. He submits that, that the investigating officer had filed an application for release of the petitioner under Section 169 of the Code, has been mentioned in the said application, and is taken as a ground in support of the prayer for bail.

33. In view of this, as a matter of propriety, I decline to pass any specific order directing the release of the petitioner under the provisions of Section 169 of the Code.

34. The petition is disposed of with the aforesaid observations and in the above terms.

Service Law — Promotion — Group 'D' to Group 'C' — Typing test — Validity — Challenge to promotion process on ground that typing test not prescribed under statutory rules — Relevant Rules, 2001 provide for selection based on written test, interview and character roll with Note permitting qualifying typing test where required — Government Order dated 23.08.2011 mandates knowledge of typing with minimum speed for promotion — Held, to assess such knowledge, conducting typing test is permissible — Prescription of minimum speed (25 w.p.m.) valid and not arbitrary.

Service Law — Statutory Rules vs Government Orders — Field of operation — Where statutory rules are silent or do not comprehensively cover eligibility criteria, Government Orders can supplement — Government Order prescribing typing qualification fills gap and is enforceable.

Service Law — Qualifying test — Nature — Typing test is only qualifying in nature and not part of merit evaluation — Marks of typing test not to be counted for determining merit list — Its purpose limited to assessing minimum eligibility.

Service Law — Promotion — Eligibility vs assessment — Distinction between possessing knowledge of typing and testing such knowledge — Held, requirement of knowledge necessarily implies power to test such skill — Fixation of benchmark speed justified.

In Result: Writ petition dismissed; selection/promotion process upheld.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sharad Pathak, learned counsel for petitioner and learned Standing Counsel representing the State-respondents.

2. The petitioner, who is a class-IV employee working in the office of District Agriculture Protection Officer, Sultanpur, is aggrieved by the process of selection involving typing test adopted by the respondents for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Junior Clerk/Junior Assistant which is a class-III post on the ground that typing test not being the requirement under the relevant Service Rules for promotion to class-III post of Junior Clerk/Junior Assistant, the petitioner could not have been subjected to it. The petitioner has, thus, challenged the order dated 07.02.2014 by which the promotions of respondent nos.5 to 10 were made against class-III post.

3. Appointments to the ministerial staff in the Department of Agriculture, State of U.P. are governed by Rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India known as "Uttar Pradesh Agriculture Department Ministerial Service Rules, 1983" (for brevity "Rules, 1983"). Recruitment to the various categories of posts in service has been dealt with in Part-III of Rules, 1983, according to which the regional and subordinate offices have the posts of Junior Clerks, Senior Clerks and Head Clerks. According to Rule 5 of Rules, 1983, Junior Clerks are to be recruited in accordance with the provisions contained in the Subordinate Offices Ministerial Staff (Direct Recruitment) Rules, 1975. The qualification prescribed for appointment as Junior Clerk has been given in Rule 8 of Rules, 1983, according to which, a candidate for direct recruitment to various posts in service should possess intermediate examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, U.P. or an examination equivalent thereto recognized by the Government. Subsequent to promulgation of the Rules, 1983, the State Government notified the Rules known as "The Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Offices Ministerial Group 'C' Posts of the Lowest Grade (Recruitment by Promotion) Rules 2001 (for brevity "Rules, 2001)". According to Rule 5 of Rules, 2001, recruitment to 20% of the vacancies in the ministerial Group-'C' posts in subordinate office are to be made by promotion through the selection committee. Out of total 20% of the vacancies to be filled in by promotion, 15% posts are to be filled in by making promotion from amongst those substantively appointed Group-'D' employees who have passed High School examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, U.P. or an examination equivalent thereto recognized by the State Government and rest of 5% vacancies are to be filled in by way of making promotion from amongst those substantively appointed Group-'D' employees who have passed Intermediate examination of the said Board or an examination equivalent thereto recognized by the State Government.

4. The claim of the petitioner for being promoted to Group-'C' post is, thus, based on the provisions contained in Rules, 2001 which prescribe quota for making recruitment to Group-'C' post from amongst substantively appointed Group-'D' employees having passed either High School or intermediate examination. The procedure for recruitment by promotion has been provided in Rule 8 of Rules, 2001 which is quoted hereinbelow:-

"8. Procedure for recruitment by promotion - (1) For the purpose of recruitment by promotion, there shall be constituted a Selection Committee in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Constitution of Departmental Promotion Committee for posts outside the purview of the Public Service Commission Rules, 1992, as amended from time to time.

Note : Nomination of Officers for giving representation to the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes of Citizens in the Selection Committee shall be made in accordance with the order made under Section 7 of the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994, as amended from time to time.

(2) Recruitment by promotion shall be made on the basis of merit as disclosed by marks obtained in the test for selection through the Selection Committee constituted under sub-rule (1). The test for selection shall include a simple written test, interview and evaluation of character roll. The maximum marks to be assigned for written test, interview and evaluation of character roll shall be as given below:

(a) Written Test	Thirty marks
(b) Interview	Ten marks
(c) Evaluation of character roll	Ten marks
	-----
	Total Fifty marks
	-----

Note 1 - The written test shall include a single question paper. The question paper shall contain two questions. Each question shall carry fifteen marks. One question shall be on Hindi Essay writing on a simple topic and the other shall be on General Knowledge.

Note 2 - Where recruitment by promotion is being made for the post of Typist or a post for which Hindi Typewriting is essential, there shall be conducted a qualifying test of Hindi Typewriting also, as prescribed by the Government from time to time. To qualify this test a candidate must have a minimum speed of twenty-five words per minute in Hindi Typewriting.

(3) The Selection Committee shall conduct the test of eligible candidates under sub-rule (2). After the marks obtained by the candidates in the said test have been tabulated, the Selection committee shall, having regard to the need for securing due representation of the candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in accordance with rule 6, prepare a list of candidates in order of merit as disclosed by marks obtained by them in the said test and recommends such number of candidates by marks obtained by them in the said test and recommends such number of candidates as, on the basis of the result of the said test have come up to the standard fixed by the Selection Committee in this respect. If two or more candidates obtain equal marks the candidate obtaining higher marks in the written candidates obtain equal marks, the candidate obtaining higher marks in the written test shall be placed higher in the list. In case two or more candidates obtain equal marks in the written test also, the candidate senior in age shall be placed higher in the select list. The Selection Committee shall forward the list to the appointing authority."

5. According to the aforequoted provisions contained in Rule 8 of Rules, 2001, recruitment by promotion is to be made on the basis of merit as determined by the marks obtained in the test for selection which includes a written test, interview and evaluation of character rolls. Note-2 appended to Rule 8 of Rules, 2001 provides that in a case where recruitment by promotion is to be made for the post of typist or a post for which Hindi typewriting is essential, a qualifying test of Hindi typewriting also shall be conducted. It further provides that a candidate must have a minimum speed of 25 words per minute in Hindi typewriting to qualify the said test. Thus, test of Hindi typewriting is of qualifying nature, that is to say, it will not be counted for the purposes of determining the merit in terms of the provisions contained in Rule 8 (2) of Rules, 2001.

6. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the post against which the petitioner is seeking promotion is the post of Junior Clerk and not that of Clerk-cum-Typist, as such for the post in question Hindi typewriting is not essential. He has further stated that in any event it is only knowledge of Hindi typewriting which the petitioner possesses and subjecting her to any test, since has not been envisaged either in Rules, 2001 or in Rules, 1983, action of the respondents cannot be justified as the same is contrary to the provisions contained in the aforesaid Rules.

7. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of State of U.P. and others vs. Umesh Chandra Srivastava, delivered on 20.07.2010 in Special Appeal (D) No.477 of 2010. He has also relied upon a judgment of Hon'ble Single Judge in the case of Udai Pratap Singh vs. State of U.P. and others, delivered on 18.08.2015 in Writ Petition No.5415 (S/S) of 2014, which is based on the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra). Learned counsel for the petitioner has also relied upon yet another Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Sanjeev Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others, rendered on 22.07.2010 in Special Appeal No.485 of 2010. Lastly, Sri Pathak, learned counsel for petitioner has relied upon a judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dr. Vijay Laxmi Sadho vs. Jagdish, reported in (2001) 2 SCC, 247 and contended that this Court is bound by earlier decision of Hon'ble Single Judge and that in case of disagreement, the matter should be referred to a larger Bench.

8. Opposing the submission made by learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has submitted that the arguments made by learned counsel for petitioner are not tenable in view of what has been prescribed by State Government in the government order issued on 23.08.2011 in respect of recruitment to be made in the clerical cadre in the Department of Agriculture which prescribes that the educational qualification for the post of Junior Clerk and Junior Assistant shall be intermediate along with CCC certificate granted by the DOEACC. He has further stated that this government order also provides that the candidate aspiring for recruitment to the post of Junior Clerk and Junior Assistant should have minimum typing speed of 25/30 words per minute. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has relied upon enclosure-2 appended to the government order dated 23.08.2011 which is extracted hereinbelow:-

9. Reliance has been placed by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel on the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered on 26.08.2011 in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur, Civil Appeal No.2897 of 2006. He has also placed reliance on yet another judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court delivered on 05.08.2008 in the case of Dhananjay Malik and others vs. State of Uttranchal and others, Appeal (Civil) No.1771 of 2008.

10. Having considered the arguments made by learned counsel for the respective parties, I am unable to agree with the submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioner for the reasons which are to follow.

11. It is true that Rules, 1983 do not prescribe knowledge of Hindi typing as essential qualification for the post of Junior Clerk as Rule 8 of the said Rules provides that a candidate for direct recruitment to various posts in service must have passed intermediate examination of Board of High School or Intermediate Education or equivalent examination. However, what is relevant at this juncture is to examine the provisions contained in Rules, 2001. As stated above, Rule, 8 of Rules, 2001 prescribes the procedure for promotion. Note-2 appended to Rule 8 (2) of Rules, 2001 in clear terms provides that in a case where promotion is to be made for the post of typist or for a post for which Hindi typewriting is essential, a qualifying test of Hindi typewriting shall be conducted, though test of Hindi typewriting is of a qualifying nature. It also provides that test of Hindi typewriting shall be as prescribed by the State Government from time to time. Note-2 appended to Rules, 2001 has to be read with the provisions contained in Government Order dated 23.08.2011, according to which the minimum qualification for direct recruitment to the post of Junior Clerk/Junior Assistant in the Department of Agriculture is intermediate with CCC certificate in computer operation. In addition to intermediate and qualification of computer operation, the candidate should have the knowledge of Hindi/English typewriting with a minimum speed of 25/30 words per minute. Thus, the prescription as required by Note-2 appended to Rule 8 (2) of Rules, 2001 is available in the Government order dated 23.08.2011.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner has stated that knowledge of Hindi/English typewriting with the minimum speed of 25/30 words per minute is applicable only in case of direct recruitment and not in the case of promotion.

13. The said submission is highly misconceived for the reason that the appendix-2 appended with the Government Order dated 23.08.2011 provides that 15% posts shall be filled in from amongst such class-IV employees who are having High School qualification and have knowledge of typing and 5% vacancies are to be filled in from amongst those class-IV employees who are intermediate and have knowledge of typing.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner has, however, submitted that a class-IV or Group-'D' employee having knowledge of typing is one thing and subjecting such an employee to a test is the other. His submission, thus, is that it may be correct that appendix-2 appended to the government order dated 23.08.2011 may require knowledge of typing to be possessed by Group-'D' employee for his promotion but the same does not require subjecting such an employee to typing test and since in the instant case, the petitioner was subjected to typing test and was required to possess the skill of Hindi typewriting with a minimum speed of 25 words per minute, as such the entire procedure adopted by the respondents is not tenable being contrary not only to the Rules but also to the provisions contained in Government Order dated 23.08.2011.

15. The aforesaid submission has been considered. However, on a closure scrutiny, the same deserves rejection which is hereby rejected.

16. The prescriptions available in appendix-2 appended to the Government Order dated 23.08.2011 clearly stipulate that only those Group-'D' employees shall be considered for promotion who have knowledge of typing. As to whether a Group-'D' employee has the knowledge of typing or not can be tested only if such an employee is subjected to typing test. The minimum skill to be acquired by the Group-'D' employee in Hindi typing for making him/her eligible for promotion can always be judged and for judging as to whether Group-'D' employee has the knowledge of Hindi typing if the authorities have fixed the bench mark of speed of 25 words per minute in Hindi typing, the same cannot be faulted with.

17. It is also noticeable that Rule 8 and Note-2 appended to Rule 8 (2) of Rules, 2001 provides that Hindi typewriting test is qualifying in nature. This means that for the purposes of preparation of merit, the marks obtained or evaluation based on test of Hindi typewriting is not to be taken into account in the instant case as well. However, what the respondents have done is that they have subjected the Group-'D' employees to test of Hindi typewriting and have prescribed the speed of 25 words per minute to declare a Group-'D' employee to be qualified in Hindi typewriting, that is to say, to judge as to whether a Group-'D' employee has knowledge of Hindi typewriting, a criteria has been fixed by the respondents that only those Group-'D' employees can be said to have knowledge of Hindi typewriting who have a speed of 25 words per minute in Hindi typing. In view of this, submission made by learned counsel for the petitioner that the Government Order only prescribes that Group-'D' employee seeking promotion should only have the knowledge of Hindi typing and they cannot be subjected to test of Hindi typing is misconceived and thus is not accepted.

18. The judgment rendered by the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra) pertained to recruitment process to be adopted for making promotion of Group-'D' employees to Group-'C' post in Public Works Department. In the said case despite time having been granted to learned counsel representing the State, no such rules or government order was produced before the Court by which the Group-'D' employees were required to pass the typing test. In the instant case, the requirement of passing typing test by Group-'D' employees seeking promotion to Group-'C' post in the Department of Agriculture has been prescribed by the Government Order dated 23.08.2011. So far as the Public Works Department is concerned, either there is no such prescription available in Rules or in any Government Order or the same were not shown or produced before the Division Bench in the case of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra). The judgment rendered by Hon'ble Single Judge in the case of Udai Pratap Singh (supra) is based on Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra). However, it may be mentioned that the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Single Judge in the case of Udai Pratap Singh (supra) related to the Transport Department and in the said case also, no such government order or rules containing provisions similar to the provisions contained in appendix-2 appended to Government Order dated 23.08.2011 were produced. The other judgment of Division Bench of this Court relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner in the case of Sanjeev Sharma (supra) is also based on the judgment dated 20.07.2010 passed in Special Appeal (D) No.477 of 2010 i.e. case of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra).

19. The provisions contained in appendix-2 appended to Government Order dated 23.08.2011 are applicable in case of recruitment in the Department of Agriculture and it is this Government Order which distinguishes the present case from the cases which have been cited by learned counsel for the petitioner i.e. the judgment in the cases of Umesh Chandra Srivastava (supra), Udai Pratap Singh (supra) and also in the case of Sanjeev Sharma (supra).

20. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur (supra), has dealt with a similar issue and concluded that in absence of statutory rules on any subject the relevant government order would hold the field.

21. The facts in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur (supra) were that the Group-'D' employees were claiming promotion against class-III post without having passed the typewriting test in Punjabi with a minimum speed of 30 words per minute. The Hon'ble High Court of Punjab and Haryana held that condition of qualifying in typing test in Punjabi was illegal, unreasonable and arbitrary. The finding of High Court was primarily based on the provisions of Punjab Civil Services (General and Common Conditions of Service) Rules, 1994 and Hon'ble High Court in the said case observed that in the service rules, the requirement of qualifying typewriting test in Punjabi with a minimum speed of 30 words per minute was for direct recruitment but there was no such requirement for promotion from class-IV to class-III posts. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, however, reversed the finding recorded by the High Court in the said case noticing that the statutory service rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India did not provide for promotion from class-IV as a mode of recruitment to class-III post and hence, there was no question of finding any provision dealing with eligibility criteria for promotion from class-IV to class-III posts in the said service rules. The Hon'ble Supreme Court relied upon the Government circular dated 24.08.1993 wherein it was clearly prescribed that a provision for a qualifying test in Punjabi typewriting which should be equal to the one prescribed by Subordinate Services Selection Board for filling up class-III posts by promotion from amongst class-IV employees. The Hon'ble Supreme Court also noticed that the aforesaid Government Order was subsequently amended by another circular dated 27.10.1998 increasing the quota for promotion from 10% to 15% only however, retaining the qualification of Punjabi typewriting as prescribed in earlier government order. It is in the background of the aforesaid facts that the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur (supra) has held that the requirement of qualifying test in Punjabi typewriting with the minimum speed of 30 words per minute is manifestly a criterion for promotion from class-IV to class-III post. The Hon'ble Supreme Court also held that in absence of statutory rules on any subject the relevant government order would hold the field.

22. If the facts of the present case are analyzed in the light of what has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur (supra), it becomes clear that though neither Rules, 1983 nor Rules, 2001 prescribe for a qualifying test in Hindi typewriting (however, Note-2 appended to Rule 8 (2) of Rules, 2001 does prescribe for conducting qualifying test of Hindi typewriting for recruitment by promotion to a post for which Hindi typewriting is essential) but the government order dated 23.08.2011, which has been issued in respect of recruitment to be made by promotion of Group-'D' employees to Group-'C' post in the Department of Agriculture, State of U.P., clearly prescribes in appendix-2 appended thereto that such Group-'D' employee desirous of promotion should have the knowledge of typewriting.

23. As observed above, to test as to whether a candidate possesses knowledge of typewriting, the criteria of minimum speed of 25 words per minute in Hindi typewriting can be fixed by the respondents and if such criteria is uniformly applied to all the candidates, no wrong can be attributed to the same.

24. For the reasons disclosed above and also keeping in view the dictum of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab and others vs. Jagdish Kaur (supra), the writ petition, in my considered opinion, fails which is resultantly dismissed.

25. However, there will be no order as to costs.

Service Law — Disciplinary proceedings — Absenteeism — Dismissal — Validity — Petitioner, a Class-IV employee in Civil Police, dismissed for remaining absent for about 277 days — Subsequently, competent authority sanctioned said period as leave without pay under Fundamental Rule 73 — Held, once leave is sanctioned by competent authority, absence cannot be treated as unauthorized — Disciplinary and appellate authorities failed to consider this material fact — Orders vitiated.

Service Law — Disciplinary enquiry — Consideration of evidence — Perverse finding — Defence evidence including testimony of treating doctor indicating illness ignored — No finding that absence was wilful — Non-consideration of relevant evidence renders findings perverse and unsustainable.

Service Law — Punishment — Proportionality — Dismissal imposed for single charge of absence without allegation of habitual absenteeism — Held, punishment disproportionate, especially when absence explained by illness and later regularized — Extreme penalty unjustified.

Service Law — Judicial review — Scope — Interference justified — Where disciplinary authority ignores material evidence and passes cryptic order, writ court justified in interfering — Matter liable to be remitted for fresh consideration.

In Result: Writ petition allowed; impugned dismissal and appellate orders set aside; matter remitted to disciplinary authority for fresh decision.

4. Chairman-cum-Managing Director, Coal India Limited and another v. Mukul Kumar Choudhuri and others(2009) 15 SCC 620

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J.)

1. The petitioner was a Class-IV employee in Civil Police. He has instituted this writ proceedings for quashing of the orders dated 30th August, 2012 and 24th April, 2013 passed by the third and second respondents respectively, whereby the petitioner has been dismissed from service and his appeal against the dismissal order has been rejected respectively.

2. The essential facts are that the petitioner was initially appointed as a Follower in Civil Police on 23rd March, 1998. In the year 2011, he was subjected to disciplinary proceedings on the ground of absenteeism. A charge-sheet was served upon him on 21st October, 2011. The only charge mentioned in the charge-sheet was that without any leave he was absent from duty from 29th July, 2010 to 02nd May, 2011 i.e. for a period of more than 277 days. There was no other charge.

3. Earlier a preliminary enquiry was conducted, wherein prima facie the petitioner was found guilty. Thereupon a decision was taken to hold disciplinary proceedings against him and he was placed under suspension on 23rd April, 2011. The petitioner did not submit reply to the charge-sheet but in the enquiry he has produced one Dr. Vinay Katiyar, who had treated the petitioner during his illness. The defence of the petitioner was that due to illness he could not join earlier and when he was completely cured and fit, he offered his joining on 02nd May, 2011, he was permitted to join and allowed to work. The Enquiry Officer found that both the charges were proved and he was found to be guilty of the absenteeism. It was recorded that he was absent without applying for leave.

4. The disciplinary authority issued a show cause notice to the petitioner. It is stated that the petitioner made an application to the authority concerned to grant him leave to go to Hardoi to give reply to the show cause notice but he was not granted leave, therefore, the petitioner could not file reply to the notice.

5. The disciplinary authority by the impugned order dated 30th August, 2012 has passed the order of dismissal of petitioner from service under Rule 4(1)(a) read with Rule 14(1) of the Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 (for short, the "Rules, 1991"). Aggrieved by the order of dismissal, the petitioner preferred an appeal, which also came to be dismissed on 24th April, 2013. Feeling aggrieved, the petitioner has preferred this writ petition.

6. I have heard learned counsel for the petitioner Sri Rakesh Kumar Srivastava and learned Standing Counsel.

7. It is contended on behalf of the petitioner that the petitioner was suddenly ill and was under treatment of Dr. Vinay Katiyar. He had moved an application for sanction of leave for the period of absence. The said application was allowed vide order dated 20th July, 2012 by the third respondent, Senior Superintendent of Police, Hardoi. In the said order it is mentioned that leave for the period from 29th July, 2010 to 02nd May, 2011 has been sanctioned as leave without pay.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in view of the fact that the Senior Superintendent of Police, who is the appropriate authority, has sanctioned the leave from 29th July, 2010 to 02nd May, 2011 as leave without pay, there was no justification to treat the said period as his absence without any leave. The learned counsel has next submitted that in any view of the matter disproportionate punishment of dismissal from service has been awarded to the petitioner as there was no charge that the petitioner was a habitual absentee. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Krushnakant B. Parmar v. Union of India and another, (2012) 3 SCC 178.

9. Learned Standing Counsel submits that the petitioner has not submitted any reply to the charge-sheet. The charges have been proved. He was given full opportunity, therefore, the dismissal order does not warrant any interference under Article 226 of the Constitution. He has placed reliance on a judgment of the Supreme Court in Om Prakash v. State of Punjab and others, (2011) 14 SCC 682.

10. I have considered the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. The petitioner was a Follower, i.e. Class-IV employee in Civil Police. Admittedly, he was absent from duty from 29th July, 2010 to 02nd May, 2011. The said period has already been treated as leave without pay vide order of the Senior Superintendent of Police, Hardoi dated 20th July, 2012 in terms of the provisions of Fundamental Rule 73 of the Financial Handbook, Vol. II (Parts II to IV). A copy of the order dated 20th July, 2012 is on the record as annexure-2 to the writ petition. In the said order the Senior Superintendent of Police clearly mentions that in terms of Fundamental Rule 73 of the Financial Handbook, Vol. II (Parts II to IV) the period for his absence shall be treated as on leave without pay and on the principle of no work and no pay, the petitioner shall not be paid any salary for the said period. For the sake of convenience, Fundamental Rule 73 is extracted below:

"73. A Government servant who remains absent after the end of his leave is entitled to no leave-salary for the period of such absence, and that period will be debited against his leave account as though it were leave on half average pay, unless his leave is extended by the Government. Wilful absence from duty after the expiry of leave may be treated as misbehaviour for the purpose of Rule 15.

NOTE.--In the case of a Government servant governed by leave rules laid down in Fundamental Rule 81-B and Subsidiary Rule 157-A, who remains absent after the end of his leave, the period of such overstayal of leave should, unless the leave is extended by the competent authority, be treated as follows:

(a) If the Government servant is in superior service and holds a lien on a permanent post—

(i) as leave on private affairs to the extent such leave is due unless the overstayal is supported by a medical certificate.

(ii) as leave on medical certificate to the extent such leave is due, if the overstayal is supported by a medical certificate.

(iii) as extraordinary leave to the extent the period of leave on private affairs and/or on medical certificate falls short of the period of overstayal;

(b) If the Government servant is in superior service without a lien on a permanent post or in inferior service, as in (a) (ii) and (iii) above mutatis mutandis.

The period of overstayal of leave will be debited as leave taken but no leave salary will be paid for such period unless it is covered by an extension of leave granted by the competent authority."

12. The petitioner has averred in paragraph-21 of the writ petition about the order passed by the Senior Superintendent of Police, which is on record as annexure-2 to the writ petition. For the sake of convenience, Paragraph-21 of the writ petition is reproduced hereunder:

"21. That after submission of the aforesaid inquiry report dated 14.7.2012 the opposite party no. 3 issued order dated 20.7.2012 sanctioning leave without pay for the period of absence on the basis of the principle of "no work no pay"."

Reply to the said paragraph-21 of the writ petition has been given by the State functionaries in paragraph-15 of the counter affidavit, which reads as under:

15- यह कि रिट याचिका के प्रस्तर संख्या-20 एवं 21 में जिस तथ्य का उल्लेख किया गया है, के सम्बन्ध स्पष्ट करना है कि याची को सुनवाई का समक अवसर प्रदान करते हुए जाँच की कार्यवाही सम्पादित की गयी और उसके आधार पर पीठासीन अधिकारी द्वारा अपनी जाँच आख्या पुलिस अधीक्षक, हरदोई को दिनांक- 14-07-2012 को प्रस्तुत की गयी। शेष कथन के सम्बन्ध में किसी प्रकार की टिप्पणी की आवश्यकता नहीं है।

13. From the extracted pleading it is evident that the fact regarding sanction of leave by the appropriate authority has not been specifically denied. Rather an evasive reply has been given.

14. In addition to the above, the impugned dismissal order as well as the appellate order do not indicate that the order dated 20th July, 2012 has been considered either in the dismissal order or in the appellate order. Thus, it is clear that the order passed by the competent authority which has a material bearing on the case, has escaped the notice of both the authorities i.e. disciplinary and appellate. Thus, the petitioner has been dismissed from service without considering this material document, which indicates that the appropriate authority exercising his power had sanctioned the leave of the petitioner for the period when he was absent from duty as leave without pay. Hence, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the leave was sanctioned by the appropriate authority is well founded.

15. The Supreme Court in the case of Krushnakant B. Parmar (supra) has considered the similar facts and charge of absenteeism. A departmental proceeding was initiated against a Security Assistant in the Intelligence Bureau. The Supreme Court has held that since the petitioner therein was not a habitual absentee, on the said charge it was not proper to dismiss him from service. The Court also found that no finding was recorded that the absenteeism of the petitioner was wilful. In the present case also, the Enquiry Officer though has recorded that earlier the petitioner was found to be absent, but no finding has been recorded that the absence in question of the petitioner was wilful. Moreover, there was no charge in the charge-sheet that the petitioner was a habitual absentee. As regards the submission of learned Standing Counsel that the Enquiry Officer has recorded the finding that on the earlier occasion also the petitioner was absent is concerned, in absence of a charge regarding habitual absenteeism the petitioner was not in a position to controvert the said allegation. Besides, there is no finding but only a passing observation. The department did not adduce any evidence in this regard.

16. The Enquiry Officer, disciplinary authority as well as the appellate authority have not considered the evidence adduced by the petitioner. The petitioner had produced Dr. Vinay Katiyar as a witness in his defence, who has clearly stated that the petitioner was under his treatment and he was suffering from depression. This material evidence has not been considered by Enquiry Officer, disciplinary authority and appellate authority.

17. It is a trite law that if it is shown that finding recorded by the Enquiry Officer is not based on the evidence adduced by the parties or a material evidence has been ignored and if such evidence were considered, no reasonable person would have reached same conclusion, such finding would be a perverse finding. The Supreme Court in the case of General Manager (P), Punjab & Sind Bank and others v. Daya Singh, (2010) 11 SCC 233, has considered the issue when an order of the disciplinary authority can be held to be perverse. The relevant part of the judgment reads as under:

"24. ... This has been held by this Court long back in *Triveni Rubber & Plastics v. CCE*¹. Unless it is found that some relevant evidence has not been considered or that certain inadmissible material has been taken into consideration the finding cannot be said to be perverse. The legal position in this behalf has been recently reiterated in *Arulvelu v. State*². The decision of the High Court cannot therefore be sustained."

18. In the case of Chairman-cum-Managing Director, Coal India Limited and another v. Mukul Kumar Choudhuri and others, (2009) 15 SCC 620, the Supreme Court has considered the unauthorized absence from duty for six months. The Court found that the punishment of dismissal was unduly harsh. Paragraph-21 of the judgment is as follows:

"21. In a case like the present one where the misconduct of the delinquent was unauthorised absence from duty for six months but upon being charged of such misconduct, he fairly admitted his guilt and explained the reasons for his absence by stating that he did not have any intention nor desired to disobey the order of higher authority or violate any of the Company's rules and regulations but the reason was purely personal and beyond his control and, as a matter of fact, he sent his resignation which was not accepted, the order of removal cannot be held to be justified, since in our judgment, no reasonable employer would have imposed extreme punishment of removal in like circumstances. The punishment is not only unduly harsh but grossly in excess to the allegations."

19. Applying the said principle in the case in hand also, the evidence of the Doctor has not been duly considered by the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority. In fact, a perusal of the order of the disciplinary authority would indicate that the order is cryptic and skeletal and detailed consideration has not been adverted to by the disciplinary authority.

20. As regards the judgment relied upon by the learned Standing Counsel in Om Prakash (supra) is concerned, in the said case a Head Constable of Punjab Police was absent from duty. In that case, the Head Constable (petitioner therein) had neither moved any application for sanction of leave during the period of absence nor did he intimate the reason for not coming on duty. From a perusal of the judgment, I find that the facts of the present case are completely distinguishable. In the present case the period of absence has been sanctioned by the Senior Superintendent of Police as leave without pay. Therefore, in my view, the law laid down in Om Prakash (supra) has no application in the present case.

21. After careful perusal of the records and consideration of the submissions of learned counsel for the parties, I am of the view that the impugned order of dismissal and appellate order dated 30th August, 2012 and 24th April, 2013 passed by the third and second respondents respectively stand vitiated for the reasons mentioned hereinabove and accordingly, both the orders are set aside. The matter is remitted to the disciplinary authority to take appropriate decision in accordance with law expeditiously, preferably within a period of three months from the date of communication of this order.

22. Thus, the writ petition is allowed.

23. No order as to costs.

Criminal Appeal No.- 7117 Of 2006

Gabadoo @ Laljit Singh

...Appellant

Versus

State Of U.P.

...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

J.N. Singh, Ambrish Kumar, K.Kumar Tripathi, N.K.Mishra, R.B. Verma

Counsel for the Respondent:

Govt. Advocate

Penal Code, 1860 — S. 302 — Murder — Conviction based on sole eyewitness — Reliability — Prosecution case rested primarily on testimony of injured eyewitness — Other eyewitness turned hostile and informant not a direct witness — Held, conviction can be sustained on sole testimony of a single witness if found wholly reliable and trustworthy — Evidence of injured witness carries great evidentiary value and his presence at scene natural — Testimony corroborated by medical and circumstantial evidence.

Evidence — Single witness — Appreciation — Law does not require plurality of witnesses — Evidence has to be weighed, not counted — Where testimony of solitary witness is consistent, credible and inspires confidence, conviction can be based thereon without corroboration.

Evidence — Ocular and medical evidence — Corroboration — Eyewitness account of bomb explosion and firearm injury corroborated by post-mortem findings showing blast and gunshot injuries — Minor variations in timing of injuries not fatal — Ocular evidence prevails when broadly consistent with medical evidence.

Criminal Trial — FIR — Allegation of ante-timing — Rejection — FIR lodged on same day within reasonable time — Mere fact that police made preliminary inquiry before registration does not render FIR ante-timed or fabricated.

Criminal Trial — Defective investigation — Effect — Lapses in investigation not sufficient to discard otherwise reliable prosecution evidence — Court required to assess credibility of evidence independently.

In Result: Appeal dismissed; conviction under S. 302 IPC and sentence of life imprisonment affirmed.

2. Kusti Mallaiah Vs. State of A.P.2013 Cri.LJ 3098

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ambrish Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Sagir Ahmad, Sri J.K. Upadhyay and Ms. Manju Thathur, learned AGAs for the State and perused the record.

2. The present criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellant Gabadoo @ Laljit Singh against the judgment and order dated 06.11.2006 passed by I-Additional Sessions Judge, Kannauj, in Sessions Trial No.205 of 2005 (State Vs. Gabadoo @ Laljit) arising out of Case Crime No.315 of 2005 under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj whereby he has been convicted under Section 302 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment.

3. Facts of this appeal as unfolded in the first information report appear to be; that first informant Suresh Singh resident of Village Rudauli, Police Station Kannauj, lodged the first information report at Police Station Gursahaiganj, on 30.04.2005 at 20:05 hours to the effect that his son Samar Singh had gone to purchase some articles on bicycle from market of village Bhawanipur on 30.04.2005. When he was returning from market around 5:00 p.m. on bicycle, he was being followed at some distance by Amar Singh son of Vijay Bahadur Singh and Brij Bhan Singh son of Ram Autar. Certain cemented pipes were lying on the road at some place 1 kilometer away to the southern side of village Bhawanipur where the appellant was lying in ambush. He came out of the aforesaid pipe and hurled bomb upon Samar Singh as a result of which Samar Singh fell down from his bicycle and the appellant came close to him and fired from close range on the back of his neck due to which Samar Singh died on the spot. Because of explosion of bomb, Amar Singh, and the another co-villager who was also following the deceased sustained injuries. The motive for committing crime has been suggested to be old enmity between families of the deceased and the appellant. The appellant after committing the murder fled away towards village Badlepurwa. The incident was witnessed by Amar Singh and Brij Bhan Singh. They could not catch the appellant because of fear of weapon which the appellant was possessing. The dead body was lying on the spot. Report be lodged and action be taken.

4. On the basis of the first information report, relevant entries were made in Check FIR at Crime No.315 of 2005 under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj on 30.04.2005 at 20:05 p.m. Check FIR is Ext. Ka-5. On the basis of the entry made in the Check FIR, a case was registered against the appellant under Section 302 IPC in the relevant General Diary, rapat no.47 on 30.04.2005 at Crime No.315 of 2005 at the same Police Station, copy whereof Exhibit Ka-6.

5. Thereafter investigation of the case commenced. PW-9 Maan Singh Yadav was entrusted with investigation of the case. In the process, he got inquest report of the deceased Samar Singh prepared by S.S.I. R.V. Singh under his supervision. Inquest report was completed at 11:30 p.m. 'Panchas' opined that for ascertaining real cause of death, dead body of the deceased Samar Singh should be sent for post mortem examination. This inquest report is Ext. Ka-11.

6. As a sequel to the same, relevant papers were also prepared for sending the dead body for post mortem examination which are letter to CMO Ext. Ka-12, Photonash Ext. Ka-13 and Police Challan Form No.13 Ext. Ka-14. The Investigating Officer also prepared memo of cycle of the deceased Samar Singh which memo is Ext. Ka-2. In due course, the Investigating Officer also recorded recovery of weapon used in the alleged crime on 18.05.2005 and prepared memo of the same which is Ext. Ka-10 on record. Besides, the Investigating Officer also collected sample of simple and blood stained soil from the spot and prepared memo of the same which is Ext. Ka-16 on record.

7. Record reflects that post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Samar Singh was conducted by Dr. Anoop Singh Gautam, PW-4 at mortuary district hospital Fatehgarh on 01.05.2005 at 2:10 p.m. wherein he noted the following anti mortem injuries:

(1) Firearm wound of entry 1.5 cm x 1 cm x through and through back of neck upper part margins inverted lacerated ecchymosed. Blackening and tattooing present around wound communicating wound of exit 2 cm x 1.5 cm over right side of chin, mandible lacerated. Teeth loose broken, tongue lacerated. Margins of wound everted.

(2) Blast injury 12 cm x 11 cm on back of right side of chest scapular region, blackening, tattooing present. Scorching hair back of neck.

(3) Abrasion 3 cm x 1 cm on back of right leg.

8. In the opinion of the doctor, cause of death was shock and haemorrhage due to ante mortem firearm injuries. This post mortem examination report is Ext. Ka-3.

9. Record further reflects that medical examination of the injured Amar Singh was conducted by PW-5 Dr. Suresh Patariya at PHC Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj on 01.05.2005 at 8:30 a.m. wherein following injury was found:

(1) One lacerated wound of size 3.0 cm x 1.0 cm x muscle deep present in left parieto-occipital part of scalp. Margins are lacerated. Clotted blood seen in wound.

10. In the opinion of the doctor, injury was simple in nature caused by hard and blunt object. This injury report is Ext. Ka-3.

11. The Investigating Officer PW-9 Maan Singh Yadav also prepared site plan of the incident besides recording the statement of various witnesses. The site plan is Ext. Ka-15. After completing the investigation, charge sheet was filed in this case against the appellant under Section 302 IPC at Crime No.315 of 2005 at Police Station Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj, which is Ext. Ka-17 on record. Thereafter the case of the appellant was committed to the court of Sessions from where it was made over for trial to the concerned trial court of I-Additional Sessions Judge, Kannauj.

12. The trial court heard the appellant on the point of charge and charged him under Section 302 IPC. Charge was read over and explained to the appellant who denied the charge and claimed to be tried. Thereafter the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony in order to prove its case whereupon the prosecution produced in all 10 witnesses. A brief reference of the same is hereunder.

13. PW-1 Suresh Singh is first informant. He has claimed himself to be an eyewitness of the incident and has proved the written report Ext. Ka-1. PW-2 Brij Bhan Singh has turned hostile and has not supported the prosecution version. PW-3 Amar Singh claims himself to be injured eyewitness. PW-4 is Dr. Anoop Singh Gautam who has conducted post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Samar Singh on 01.05.2005 and has proved the same as Ext. Ka-3. PW-5 is Dr. Suresh Patariya who has examined injury on the person of the injured Amar Singh on 01.05.2005 at PHC Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj and has proved injury report as Ext. Ka-3. PW-6 Dhawal Singh has proved entry made in Check FIR and entry made in the concerned General Diary as Ext. Ka-5 and Ka-6, respectively. He has also proved 'Majrubi Chitthi' of Amar Singh as Ext. Ka-7. PW-8 Constable Dinesh Shanker Chaubey is formal witness and has witnessed recovery of countrymade pistol 315 bore from possession of the appellant and he has also proved recovery memo as Ext. Ka-10. PW-9 Maan Singh Yadav is Investigating Officer. He has detailed various steps whereby he completed investigation and in the process, he has proved several prosecution papers. Except as above, the rest of the witnesses were concerned with Case Crime No.378 of 2005 (in Sessions Trial No.204 of 2005), therefore, their reference is not being made in this judgment which is confined to Crime No.315 of 2005 under Section 302 IPC.

14. Thereafter evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of the appellant was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein he has termed his implication false on account of enmity and it has been stated that appellant's mother was assaulted with gunshot by the deceased and Ajay Pal in which case some compromise was entered into between the parties due to which the first informant was inimical towards the appellant. No evidence whatsoever has been led by the defence.

15. Learned trial court after hearing both the sides on merit passed the aforesaid judgment and order of conviction dated 06.11.2006 sentencing the appellant to life imprisonment. Consequently this appeal.

16. It has been vehemently claimed on behalf of the appellant that this case is absolutely false and there is no clinching evidence appearing against the appellant. Even circumstances do not support the case of the prosecution. The first information report is ante timed. The place of the incident is deserted jungle and no one in fact saw the incident. After the incident, the police did a lot of manipulation and found it convenient to rope in the appellant in this case. It can be conveniently seen that there are cuttings in the inquest report. The fact is that the dead body was sealed and thereafter cuttings were made in the inquest report in order to adjust the same to the fictitious circumstances of the case.

17. It has been further added by learned counsel for the appellant that the statement of the prosecution witnesses is contradictory in material particulars. The blood stained clothes from the first informant were taken at inordinate delay on 31.08.2005. In fact, the place of occurrence is doubtful and not certain. In this case, it appears from circumstances that the dead body was recovered somewhere and the proceedings undertaken and then the prosecution deliberately made false implication of the appellant in this case. The prosecution has failed to establish charge against the appellant. Finding of conviction is based more on conjecture and surmises than on evidence on record.

18. Per contra, Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned AGA has replied that the case in hand is consistent and genuine one. Evidence on record proves prosecution version overwhelmingly. It cannot be said to be either shallow or shaky. The incident has been witnessed by the first informant and Amar Singh. Moreover, Amar Singh is an injured witness and his injury has been medically examined at PHC Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj on 05.01.2005 and the doctor has proved his injury report which will be read against the appellant. His presence on the spot is most natural. He is an independent prosecution witness.

19. Learned AGA further added that besides distance from the place of the occurrence to Police Station Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj is 13 kilometers. The incident took place on 30.04.2005 around 05:00 p.m., whereas, the first information report was lodged the very same day at 20:05 hours at Police Station Gursahaiganj, District Kannauj which, under circumstances, is justified and it cannot be said that there is inordinate delay in lodging of the first information report. There is no point in sparing real culprit and implicating an innocent person in this case. The appellant was sighted by many prosecution witnesses at the time of the occurrence which is supported by direct testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The testimony of the prosecution witness of fact does inspire confidence and there is no element of doubt in their testimony. Accordingly, the instant appeal has no force.

20. Also considered above submissions.

21. The moot point involved in this case relates to the fact whether the prosecution has been able to establish its charge against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt and whether the incident was not seen by anyone and it is a case of blind murder?

22. Before we enter into merit of this case it would be convenient to have glimpse of the contents of the first information report wherein allegations have been made by the first informant, PW-1 Suresh Singh that on 30.04.2005, his son Samar Singh had gone to village Bhawanipur for marketing on bicycle and he was returning home around 5:00 p.m. when he was being followed at some distance on bicycle by Amar Singh and Brij Bhan Singh of the same village. Some cemented pipes were lying by the side of the road at some place away to one kilometer south of village Bhawanipur, where the appellant was lying in ambush. All of a sudden he came out of these pipes and hurled bomb on Samar Singh who fell down from his bicycle and in the meantime the appellant fired from behind the neck of the deceased with countrymade pistol due to which he died. Because of explosion of bomb, some splinter injury was also caused to the injured Amar Singh.

23. It is stated that there was old enmity between family members of the first informant and the appellant. The appellant after committing the offence fled away towards Badlepurwa. In this case, another witness named in the first information report Brij Bhan Singh has turned hostile and has not supported the prosecution version. Therefore, his testimony is discarded to that extent. However, testimony of first informant, PW-1 Suresh Singh and the injured witness PW-3 Amar Singh are quite relevant, for assessing merit of the case.

24. PW-1 Suresh Singh has stated that the incident occurred on 30.04.2005 when his son Samar Singh had gone to village Bhawanipur for marketing and he was returning home on bicycle at 5:00 p.m. He was also being followed by co-villagers Amar Singh and Brij Bhan Singh on bicycle. At some place one kilometer away on southern side of village Bhawanipur, some cemented pipes were lying by the side of the road in which the appellant had hidden himself and all of a sudden he came out of cemented pipes and hurled bomb from behind upon Samar Singh, due to which Samar Singh fell down from his bicycle then the appellant shot fire on the neck of Samar Singh as a result of which Samar Singh died on the spot. Amar Singh who was following the deceased at some distance also sustained bomb injury.

25. PW-1 Suresh Singh has further stated that the incident was witnessed by Amar Singh and Brij Bhan Singh and he also arrived on the spot and he too witnessed the incident. Thereafter he went to the Police Station and then he lodged the first information report. However, this witness has not clarified in his examination-in-chief as to how he arrived on the spot and how he witnessed the incident. It appears that this witness arrived on the spot after a short while after the incident had taken place, but under facts and circumstances, it is apparent that he did not witness the incident as such. Therefore, on point of being eyewitness to the occurrence, testimony of this witness cannot be said to be relevant and credible, therefore, eyewitness account testimony, as such, is not to be believed as given by PW-1 Suresh Singh.

26. At this juncture we may record that another so called eyewitness PW-2 Brij Bhan Singh has turned hostile and he has not supported the prosecution version. He has been cross examined by the prosecution wherein he has reiterated his claim that he did not witness the incident and he was not present on the spot. Therefore, testimony of PW-2 also becomes inadmissible on the point of being eyewitness to the occurrence. Now we are left with testimony of solitary eyewitness Amar Singh. We may appraise the same in its entirety as available on record.

27. PW-3 Amar Singh has stated in his testimony that on 30.04.2005, he was going along with Brij Bhan Singh on bicycle and Samar Singh who belonged to his village, was also riding on bicycle ahead of him. One kilometer south away to village Bhawanipur, some cemented pipes were lying. It was around 5:00 p.m., the appellant came out of these cemented pipes and hurled bomb on Samar Singh due to which Samar Singh sustained injury and fell on the ground. He claimed that he also sustained splinter injury. Thereafter the appellant fired on Samar Singh. A number of people arrived on the spot when the appellant made his escape good. Samar Singh died on the spot after sustaining gun shot injury.

28. PW-3 Amar Singh has stated that he too was medically examined. He has stated that at the time of the incident, no other person was there except Brij Bhan Singh and himself. A number of people arrived on the spot after some time of the incident. He has stated in his cross examination that he informed about the incident to the father of the deceased. The first informant-father of the deceased-met him around 5:15 p.m. He has stated at page 22 of the paper book in his cross examination that Daroga Ji enquired of him at the police station thereafter the first information report was lodged. However, he has stated that the first information report was lodged only after inquiry was made from him.

29. At this stage, contention has been raised on behalf of the appellant that this piece of testimony specifically establishes that the first information report was lodged at the interference of 'Daroga Ji' and the same is outcome of well thought out deliberation. The appellant's name was mentioned in the first information report merely because the first informant was abhorrent towards the appellant.

30. This specific, contention is not sustainable in view of the fact that it is very common experience that as and when one goes to some police station for lodging of the first information report, primarily inquiry is made regarding the incident/occurrence. After inquiry is made, if the incident appears to be genuine and element of truth is found to be existing in the description inquiry/description of incident then naturally the first information report is lodged at the police station. This witness has nowhere stated that the first information report was deliberated by Daroga Ji. This piece of testimony that after inquiry was made by Darogaji then the first information report was lodged, cannot be interpreted to mean that Daroga Ji himself entered into shoes of first informant and dictated the first information report.

31. It is due to viles and guiles of clever cross examination by the defence wherein such type of aberrations have surfaced and these aberrations cannot paint different picture than the one which this witness (PW-3) claims to testify; because there is no positive assertion on the part of this witness that the first information report is outcome of the dictation of Daroga Ji, therefore, it cannot be contemplated that the first information report is ante timed. Merely an isolated piece of evidence will not render the FIR ante time, if the testimony on the whole reveals that it was act of the first informant alone, as is the case in hand.

32. A careful analysis of the post mortem report at this stage becomes relevant wherein we discover ante mortem injuries (1) firearm wound of entry 1.5 cm x 1 cm x through and through back of neck upper part margins inverted lacerated ecchymosed. Blackening and tattooing present around wound communicating wound of exit 2 cm x 1.5 cm over right side of chin, mandible lacerated. Teeth loose broken, tongue lacerated. Margins of wound everted. (2) Blast injury 12 cm x 11 cm on back of right side of chest scapular region, blackening, tattooing present. Scorching hair back of neck. (3) Abrasion 3 cm x 1 cm on back of right leg. Therefore, it is obvious that fact of explosion of bomb on the spot and causing of firearm injury both are corroborated by post mortem examination report Ext. Ka-3.

33. In this regard, we may also discuss testimony of Dr. Anoop Singh Gautam PW-4 who conducted the post mortem examination and proved the same as Ext. Ka-3. In the post mortem examination report, duration of death has been stated to be about one day and the same fact has been testified by this witness before the trial court. However, he has suggested in his cross examination that injuries found on the body of the deceased could have been caused between 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on 30.04.2005. This fact merely suggests to only the admissible variation in time of injury that there is possibility of injuries being caused between 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on 30.04.2005. But fact of this admissible variation in time will not be presumed to the extent that it was not caused around 5:00 p.m. It has not been testified that these injuries could not have been caused around 5:00 p.m. on 30.04.2005. Some marginal difference in time gap is always there in such cases like the present one where death of a person is under scrutiny. Normally in death cases, there is variation of six hours on either side based on medical jurisprudence. No specific challenge has been made to the doctor that these injuries could not have been caused by bomb explosion or firearm at 5:00 pm. on 30.04.2005. Therefore, ocular testimony is corroborated by medical testimony and presence of eyewitness Amar Singh PW-3 on the spot cannot be doubted and cannot be said to be unnatural and his presence on the spot becomes natural and probable. His testimony carries element of truth and the same is supported by attendant circumstances.

34. PW-5 Dr. Suresh Patariya has proved injury report Ext. Ka-3 relating to the injury caused to Amar Singh in the shape of lacerated wound of size 3.0 cm x 1.0 cm x muscle deep present in left parieto-occipital part of scalp. Margins are lacerated. Clotted blood seen in wound. This injury has been said to be of duration 12 to 24 hours. This medical examination was conducted at 8:30 a.m. on 01.05.2005 and the duration described very well covers the time and date of occurrence. However, the doctor has opined that injury was simple and caused by hard and blunt object. The doctor witness in his cross examination has stated that this injury cannot be said to be blast injury. Assuming it to be; that this injury is superficial and cannot be blast injury even then that alone will not nullify presence of PW-3 Amar Singh on the spot.

35. It has been held in catena of decisions of the Apex Court that there is no legal hurdle in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness if his version is found to be consistent clear and reliable, for the principle is that the evidence has to be weighed and not to be counted. In Vadivelu Thevar Vs. The State of Madras; AIR 1957 SC 614, it has been held that if the testimony of a singular witness is found by the court to be entirely reliable, there is no legal impediment in recording the conviction of the accused on such proof. In the said pronouncement it has been further ruled that the law of evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely, (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable, and (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. In the first two categories there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness as has been held in the case of Kusti Mallaiah Vs. State of A.P.: 2013 Cri.LJ 3098.

36. Moreover, PW-9 Maan Singh Yadav, the Investigating Officer has proved investigation and also proved fact that he took simple soil, blood stained soil from the spot and memo of the same which he prepared is Ext. Ka-16. Therefore, the place of the occurrence cannot be said to be uncertain or doubtful. In so far as statement of eyewitness PW-3 Amar Singh is concerned, the same is clinching, consistent and inspiring confidence and it gives innocuous description of the incident. There is no such material contradiction as may render his testimony dubious or unreliable.

37. Learned counsel for the appellant could not point out any such material contradiction in his testimony and in the statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the Investigating Officer. May be that some laches have been committed by the Investigating Officer but that alone will not throw away the prosecution case and that factor alone will not generate doubt in the testimony of eyewitness PW-3 Amar Singh.

38. In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the appellant has stated that he has been falsely implicated in this case on account of the fact that one Ajay Pal and the deceased had fired on his mother five years ago for which the first information report was lodged but compromise was entered into between the parties due to which the first informant was inimical towards the appellant, but this fact by itself cannot be any reason for PW-3 Amar Singh to depose falsely against the appellant. We may conveniently observe that in such a case of murder, it is hard thinking that any independent witness shall be interested in falsely implicating an innocent person as the murderer while sparing real culprit. Moreover, no such material exists on record nor has come in the testimony of PW-3 in his cross examination that he is prejudicial towards the appellant and is interested in achieving his conviction.

39. In this view of the matter, we find that testimony on record qua circumstances are sufficient to establish and prove charge under Section 302 IPC beyond reasonable doubt. Learned trial court has taken correct view of the fact, circumstances and evidence on record and has recorded just finding and has rightly sentenced the appellant to life imprisonment which order of conviction and sentence need no interference by this Court. Judgment of conviction and sentence dated 06.11.2006 passed by trial court in Sessions Trial No.205 of 2005 against the appellant is upheld by us.

40. In view of above, the appeal lacks merit and is dismissed. The appellant is in jail. He shall serve out his sentence.

41. Let a copy of this judgment be certified to the trial court for necessary information and follow up action.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — S. 482 — Exercise of inherent powers — Expeditious trial — Directions to trial court — Application filed seeking appropriate directions in pending complaint case under Ss. 498-A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and S. 4 Dowry Prohibition Act — Record revealed repeated adjournments on dates when Presiding Officer was not available — Held, such practice of fixing dates when likelihood of Presiding Officer's absence exists is improper and must be avoided — Trial courts expected to regulate listing appropriately — Direction issued to trial court to frame charges expeditiously and thereafter conclude trial proceedings with due promptitude.

Practice and Procedure — Adjournments — Administrative discipline in listing of cases — Fixing dates despite foreseeable absence of Presiding Officer leads to delay and prejudice to litigants — Courts must ensure effective case management and avoid unnecessary adjournments.

In Result: Application disposed of with direction to the trial court to frame charges expeditiously and proceed to conclude the trial without undue delay.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. From perusal of order sheet, it appears that many dates of the case were fixed when Presiding Officer of the court was not available. When there is probability of Presiding Officer being absent, dates for that period should not be fixed. Presiding Officers are expected to take note of it.

3. This application is disposed of with observation that trial court will make attempt to frame charge expeditiously in complaint case no. 997/2014 (Seema Devi Vs. Manish Kumar & others) under sections 498A, 323, 504, 506 IPC and section 4 D.P. Act, P.S. Meerganj, District Jaunpur and thereafter try to conclude hearing of the case expeditiously.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Bail — Murder case — Appreciation of evidence at bail stage — Trial already commenced — Bail application in offences under Ss. 147, 148, 149, 302, 201 IPC — Trial had already commenced and prosecution witnesses were being examined — Held, when trial is in progress, detailed appreciation of evidence and assessment of testimonial worth is to be left to trial court — High Court should refrain from entering into intricate evaluation of evidence at bail stage so as to avoid prejudice to either party — Prima facie material on record disclosed strong case against accused.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Bail — Parity — Applicability — Co-accused granted bail — Applicant named in FIR with specific allegations and placed on graver footing — Held, principle of parity not applicable where role and circumstances of accused are distinguishable — Earlier bail orders of co-accused passed prior to commencement of trial and on different factual footing.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Bail — Considerations — Gravity of offence and prima facie evidence — Allegations based on circumstantial evidence including last seen, motive arising from financial transactions, extra-judicial confession and documentary material — Held, seriousness of offence coupled with available evidence and ongoing trial militates against grant of bail — Period of custody not so prolonged as to justify release.

In Result: Bail application rejected.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This bail application has been moved seeking the release of applicant on bail in connection with Case no.11743 of 2015, case Crime No.11 of 2015, u/s 147, 148, 149, 302, 201 I.P.C. Police Station-Mussoorie, District-Ghaziabad.

2. Counter affidavit filed by learned A.G.A. on behalf of State and the certified copies of statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.2 placed by learned counsel for the informant are taken on record. Rejoinder affidavit filed on behalf of applicant is also taken on record.

3. Heard Shri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned senior counsel assisted by Shri Ajatshatru Pandey, counsel for the applicant.

4. Submission of counsel for the applicant is that the name of accused-applicant has been mentioned in the F.I.R. without any parentage only on the basis of suspicion and the entire case rests upon circumstantial evidence and the last seen circumstance has been disclosed by one Ankur, who is brother of deceased Umesh Nagar, after a gap of five days. It has been further submitted that the applicant is an Ex-Manager of Axis Bank and had knowledge of financial transactions and hence, the applicant being close friend of the deceased used to invest his money through him, and certificates in lieu of the same had been given to the deceased after investing the same. The next submission is that in fact the relationship of applicant with the deceased was very cordial and was like family relationship and as the deceased had given large amounts of money to various other persons also, the possibility of his murder by any of them cannot be ruled out and the Investigating Officer has not probed this aspect of the matter and has proceeded with the investigation on the basis of one private diary of the deceased which was allegedly being maintained by him in respect of money transactions and the description of money transactions were showing the period of 2009, 2012 and 2013. Further submission of counsel is that the said alleged private diary of the deceased has been relied upon for implication of applicant, whereas the signature of the deceased and the handwriting in the alleged private diary appear to be different and it cannot be said authentically that the alleged private diary belonged to Umesh Nagar. It has also been pointed out that the co-accused Lokesh @ Lucky and Chandra Prakash @ Tiger have already been released on bail by another Benches of this Court vide orders dated 25.3.2015 and 31.3.2015 respectively. It has been also submitted that as the present accusation does not find support from any substantive material against the applicant and whatever material is being alleged against the applicant is nothing but suspicion, the accused-applicant is liable to be released on bail in view of bail orders passed with regard to co-accused. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is languishing in jail since 11.01.2015, and therefore, the applicant may be released on bail.

5. Heard learned A.G.A. for the State and Shri Adesh Kumar, learned counsel for the informant and perused the record.

6. Learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for the informant have vehemently opposed the bail application and have submitted that the materials which have been collected against the applicant during the course of investigation and the totality of circumstances are such which put the case of applicant on graver footing than the co-accused who have been enlarged on bail by another Bench. Applicant has been nominated as accused in the F.I.R. with specific allegation that the deceased was having monitory transactions with accused-applicant since long and on 03.01.2015 the deceased left his house after informing that he would go to Amit (applicant) to get his money returned back which was long due and when the deceased did not come back home, his brother (informant) called on two mobile numbers of the deceased out of which one was switched off and the another was not being picked up. That aroused the suspicion and when the informant contacted the accused-applicant, he was not given any clear information and was misled by applicant by saying that the deceased had left and parted with the applicant, whereupon the informant started searching his brother during which the four-wheeler of the deceased was found parked near Imantac College and dead-body of the deceased was found lying on the back seat of four-wheeler. Further submission is that there is also the evidence of one another brother of the deceased namely Ankur who has stated that huge amount of money belonging to deceased was due upon the accused-applicant and when he had visited Indirapuram, Ghaziabad on 3.1.2015 for his own work, at about 9.30 P.M. he had seen that Deepak Tomar, Navneet Khatik, Sabbir, Chandra Prakash @ Tiger, Lucky @ Logesh, the accused Amit and the deceased were sitting in the Electric goods shop of Deepak, which is situated near Ashiana Arket Green Four Way and the four-wheeler of his deceased brother and four-wheeler of accused were also parked there and all the persons were heard talking to the effect that today account of Amit and Umesh would be cleared and in his presence they went away from said two four-wheelers towards the house of Amit. Thereafter he found the four-wheeler of his deceased brother standing near Imantac College, wherein the dead body of his brother was found. It has been contended that the said witness Ankur being younger brother of the deceased was very much disturbed due to murder of his elder brother and was not in a position to get his statement recorded soon thereafter. Further submission is that the record reveals that the accused-applicant has also confessed his guilt giving an extra judicial confession made before the witnesses Deepak who is friend of accused and one Manoj. It has also been contended that the private diary of the deceased, which was being maintained by him with regard to the financial transactions, is a vital piece of evidence and the handwriting contained therein has been identified by the informant, who being brother of the deceased was well acquainted with the handwriting of deceased and the entries in said private diary disclose that in the year 2009 total Rs.4 lacs were given by the deceased to the accused-applicant and in the year 2012, 2013 and 2014 a total amount of Rs.1,33,29,000/- (rupees one crore thirty three lac twenty nine thousand) was given by the deceased to the accused-applicant on different dates and the said private diary has been made part of the case diary. Submission is that the total amount of money of deceased, which was due against the accused-applicant is itself very strong circumstance in respect of his guilt and explains the strong motive of the applicant to commit the crime. It was also contended that if the entries contained in the case diary were related to the investments made by the deceased in routine then there was no question for the deceased to have referred or talked about the amount of money being due on the applicant. The evidence in this regard is consistent from the very outset that the applicant owed money and the deceased had made the visit on the fateful day to applicant with regard to the same in the expectation to get it back.

7. Learned counsel for the informant has also informed that the trial of the accused-applicant has already commenced and the statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 have been recorded, certified copies of the same have been filed today. Submission is that the perusal thereof would reveal that the evidence produced in trial touches upon the merits of the case contained therein. It was further pointed out that the case of co-accused is not only distinguishable on merit from that of the present applicant, but it is also noteworthy that the bail order of co-accused dated 25.3.2015 and 31.3.2015 were passed prior to recording of the testimonies of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 by the court below which were recorded from 26.8.2015 and at that stage the trial had not commenced. Contention is that benefit of parity is not apt to be extended to the accused-applicant who is the prime mover behind the crime in question and was nominated as accused from the very outset.

8. After considering the submissions made at the Bar and perusing the record, this Court is of the view that when the trial is already in progress, it shall not be proper to pass any order on merits of the case on the basis of the statements given in the court. The matter is already within the realm of the trial court now and the accused should get the final verdict with regard to his innocence or guilt from the trial court itself on the basis of thorough appreciation of evidence produced in the trial. Weighing the evidence, analysing the testimonial worth of witnesses and thereby making a judicial assessment of the same can more appropriately be done by the trial court. Going into the intricate details and the subtle appreciation of facts at this stage when the trial is already progressing, are all matters relating to trial. Any order passed by this Court on merits after assessing the testimonies of prosecution witnesses produced in the trial court or after assessing the material collected during investigation might seriously impair the independent dispassionate assessment of the trial court. This Court, therefore, abstains to pass any detailed order on the point of bail on that basis at this stage of the trial, lest it may cause prejudice to either side. Suffice it to say that the record discloses enough material to make out strong prima facie case against the accused and there is enough material to substantiate the charge against him. The case of applicant is also on a much graver footing than the co-accused who have been enlarged on bail by another Bench and so the principle of parity also cannot be brought into application. The perusal of the bail order with regard to co-accused Lokesh @ Lucky itself reveals that while considering his bail it was very much noted and considered by the Court that unlike applicant he was not nominated in the F.I.R. as accused.

9. In a case of this gravity along with the nature of evidence which is available on record against applicant, the detention of the applicant can also not be said to be so long drawn out which may constitute a legitimate ground enough to set him at liberty or may persuade the Court to grant him bail on that basis.

10. Looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case and also keeping in perspective the fact that trial has already commenced and the prosecution witnesses are being examined, this Court is of the view that the applicant has not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the applicant is rejected.

11. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Industrial Disputes — Appropriate Government — Determination — Jurisdiction of Labour Court

— Petitioner, a Government company with 100% shareholding and deep control of Central Government, held to be "State" under Article 12 — Held, appropriate Government for reference of industrial dispute is Central Government and not State Government — Reference made by State Government under U.P. Industrial Disputes Act incompetent — Labour Court lacked jurisdiction.

Industrial Disputes — Reference — Jurisdictional issue — Plea raised at later stage — Though plea of jurisdiction not specifically taken in written statement, same can be raised at any stage as it goes to root of matter — Court can examine jurisdictional issue in writ proceedings to avoid multiplicity of litigation.

Industrial Disputes — Burden of proof — Employer-employee relationship — Continuous service — Onus lies on workmen to establish appointment and continuous working (240 days) — Labour Court failed to record findings on date of appointment, nature of engagement and completion of 240 days — Award suffers from lack of evidence and proper adjudication.

Contract Labour — Sham contract — Determination — Finding that contract system was sham recorded without proper analysis of evidence and statutory provisions — Mere existence of contract document of later period insufficient to infer absence of valid contract system.

Writ Jurisdiction — Interference with award — Remand and liberty — Award vitiated both on merits and jurisdiction — Instead of remand to State Labour Court, liberty granted to workmen to approach appropriate Government (Central Government) for fresh reference — Direction issued for expeditious adjudication.

In Result: Writ petition allowed; impugned award set aside; liberty granted to workmen to seek reference before appropriate Government; directions issued for expeditious adjudication.

National Textile Corporation U.P. Limited vs. State of U.P.2004 (2) LBESR 984

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Petitioner is a government company registered under the provisions of section 617 of the Indian Companies Act, 1956. It is engaged in the business of handicrafts and handlooms and also imports bullion. It is asserted that Central Government owns 100% shares and otherwise exercises deep and pervasive control over its affairs, and consequently, it qualifies to be a 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. Challenge is laid in this petition to an award passed by Labour Court, Noida, District Gautam Budh Nagar in Adjudication Case No.2488 of 2008, dated 16.8.2010, whereby reference has been answered in favour of the respondent workmen.

2. Briefly stated facts are that a reference was made to Labour Court, constituted under U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the State Government under section 4-K, on 25.10.2007, on the question as to whether action of employer in not engaging 31 workmen as per schedule from 1.1.1991 is justified or not and to what relief are they entitled to?. The schedule contains names of 31 workmen, who are stated to be drawing wages of Rs.1,500/- per month and are stated to be working from 1977 to 1990. A written statement was filed by workmen stating that an industrial dispute has arisen on account of the fact that workmen, who have been permanently working since long, raised demand of regularization whereafter employer started describing such workmen to be employees of respondent no.9 and stopped taking work from them from 1.1.1991, without passing any order. Prayer consequently was made to declare 31 workmen to be employees of petitioner and to regularize them, apart from declaring petitioner's action of not taking work from them w.e.f. 1.1.1991 as illegal and unjustified and to reinstate them alongwith back wages. Other service benefits were also claimed. A written statement was filed by the petitioner denying the averments made by the workmen. It was stated that none of the 31 workmen were employed by petitioner and in fact they were employees of respondent no.9. Existence of employee-employer relationship has been denied. It was also stated that being contractor's workmen they do not become employees of petitioner and no industrial dispute exists. Various other submissions were also made. An affidavit was also filed by the petitioner stating that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India. Written and oral evidence was led by the parties, which shall be dealt with later.

3. Labour Court has returned a finding that the workmen are not the employees of respondent no.9 and they were engaged on different dates from 1977 to 1990. Further finding has been returned that workmen were illegally terminated from 1.1.1991. The argument raised on behalf of petitioner that reference itself was incompetent, as the employer herein is an establishment of Government of India, has not been entertained since no specific plea in this regard was taken by the petitioner in the written statement. Relief of reinstatement alongwith back wages and other service benefits has thus been granted. Cost of Rs.10,000/- has also been awarded to the workmen.

4. Sri Vinay Saran, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner submits that the entire proceedings culminating in passing of award are wholly without jurisdiction inasmuch as petitioner being a concern of Government of India, the appropriate government for making of reference was the Government of India and neither the State of Uttar Pradesh had any jurisdiction to refer the dispute nor the Labour Court, Noida, Gautam Budh Nagar, U.P. had any authority to decide the matter. The award is also impeached on merits on the ground that in the absence of any details of appointment, which varies from 1977 to 1990, the appointment itself was not established. It is also argued that there is no finding that any of these workmen have worked for 240 days in a calendar year, nor reasons have been specified, on account of which their disengagement is held to be illegal. Various other submissions have also been advanced.

5. Sri Siddharath Singh, learned counsel appearing for the workmen states that the plea of jurisdiction, in making of reference or entertainment of dispute before Labour Court, was not raised in the written statement, and in the absence of any pleading or evidence in that regard, has rightly not been considered by the Labour Court. Learned counsel further contends that these workmen had continued for very long and disengagement without payment of retrenchment compensation is bad in law. Learned counsel further submits that the finding that workmen were not employees of respondent no.9 is based upon correct interpretation of the provisions of Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970.

6. The submission raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner on the legality of reference and jurisdiction of Labour Court is taken as first. Perusal of award goes to show that such a plea was raised before the Labour Court, but has been repelled on the ground that it was not raised in the written statement. This Court has perused the written statement of the employer to find that no such plea was actually raised. It is only in the writ petition filed before this Court that a specific plea in that regard has been taken in para 2 and 3. An affidavit although was filed before the Labour Court stating that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India, but validity of reference was not questioned. In the oral statement also, employer's witnesses claimed that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India. Learned counsel for the petitioner has laid emphasis upon the statement of workers' witness Sri Mohd. Munsif recorded on 9.5.1997. This witness in his cross examination has admitted that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India. According to petitioner, such statement clearly amounts to an admission on part of the workmen that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India, and therefore, not only reference by State Government was incompetent but the Labour Court also had no jurisdiction. Learned counsel also contends that specific plea, taken in para 2 and 3 of the writ petition that petitioner corporation is an establishment of Government of India and all its share holding is held by Government of India, has not been denied.

7. The submission aforesaid is countered by learned counsel appearing for the workmen relying upon Constitution Bench judgment of Apex Court in Steel Authority of India vs. National Union Waterfront Workers and others, (2001) 7 SCC 1 to contend that the issue as to whether establishment is a unit of Central Government or not is essentially a question of fact to be decided by the Industrial Adjudicator, and in the absence of any plea having been setup in the written statement did not merit its examination by the Labour Court. It is also contended that the plea based upon ascertainment of fact need not be entertained for the first time in writ proceedings. Learned counsel for the workmen submits that the dispute has remained pending since 1992 and after expiry of more than 24 years, it would not be appropriate for this Court to entertain a factual issue, which has not been specifically setup as a defence in proceedings before the Labour Court. Argument advanced on behalf of respondents prima facie appears to have force. Having found substance in the contention advanced on behalf of the workmen that no specific plea was raised on behalf of employer before the Labour Court in the written statement regarding incompetence of reference and consequential lack of jurisdiction with the Labour Court, Noida, U.P. as well as the fact that a period of 24 years have expired, the Court has proceeded to examine the award on merits and the issue of jurisdiction was deferred for being examined later, depending upon the outcome of challenge made to the award on merits.

8. The reference itself has been made at the instance of 31 workmen, who claim themselves to have been appointed from 1977 to 1990. There is no specific plea in the written statement as to when exactly these workmen were appointed. It is admitted to them that no appointment letter was ever issued. According to employer, none of these workmen were ever appointed and they were employees of respondent no.9 Contractor. Labour Court in para 12 to 15 of the award has dealt with the case on merits, in following words:-

12. पत्रावली के अवलोकन से मैं इसी निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता हूँ कि प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक के इस तर्क में बल प्रतीत नहीं होता कि श्रमिकगण मैसर्स क्लार्थ चैनल नोएडा के कर्मचारी थे। क्योंकि जो अभिलेख क्लार्थ चैनल ठेकेदार का प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 की ओर से दाखिल किया गया है वह 26.2.90 का है जो प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक संख्या-1 द्वारा प्रदर्श ई-2 के रूप में सिद्ध किया गया है। जबकि श्रमिकगण प्रतिवादी प्रतिष्ठान में वर्ष 1777 से सन् 1990 तक विभिन्न-विभिन्न तिथियों में नियोजित हुए थे इस बात का कोई स्पष्ट खण्डन प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक की ओर से नहीं किया गया है। प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 द्वारा संबंधित श्रमिकों द्वारा भेजे गये मांग पत्र प्रदर्श डब्लू-1 का भी कोई स्पष्ट खण्डन नहीं किया है। प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक नं०-2 की ओर से एक प्रार्थना पत्र 26.10.07 का दाखिल किया गया जिसमें कहा गया है कि संबंधित श्रमिकगण प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक नं०-1 के यहाँ नियोजित थे और प्रतिवादी संख्या-02 के विरुद्ध कोई विवाद नहीं है।

13. अतः मैं इसी निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचता हूँ कि समस्त श्रमिकगण प्रतिवादी संख्या-01 के कर्मचारी थे और उन्होंने श्रमिकों द्वारा विधि सम्मत सुविधाओं की मांग किये गये जाने पर 1.1.91 से समस्त श्रमिकों की सेवाये अनुचित एवं अवैधानिक ढंग से हो गया है। जबकि श्रमिकगण इस अवार्ड के पैरा-8 के पेज 4 में श्रमिक की नियुक्ति दर्शायी गयी है सन् 77 से लेकर विभिन्न-विभिन्न तिथियों कार्यरत थे। ठेकेदार ने स्वयं कहा है कि मुख्य नियोजन के कर्मचारी थे और उन्होंने काम करवाया है इसलिए मेरा यह मानना है कि ठेकेदार को दिया गया ठेका कानूनी ठेका नहीं है, कानूनी व्यवस्था नहीं है वह सेम ठेका है। इसलिए मेरा मानना है कि श्रमिकगण प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 के कर्मचारी थे। श्रमिकगण द्वारा श्रमविधि सुविधाओं की मांग करने के कारण प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 द्वारा बिना विधि सम्मत प्रदान किये श्रमिकगण की सेवायें समाप्त कर दी।

14. प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 द्वारा यह भी तर्क दिया गया कि प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 भारत सरकार का एक उपक्रम है इसलिए इस न्यायालय को सुनने का अधिकार नहीं है। प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 द्वारा अपने प्लीडिंग्स में कहीं नहीं कहा गया है कि यह प्रतिष्ठान भारत सरकार का उपक्रम है। अतः प्रतिवादी संख्या-1 के इस तर्क में कोई बल नहीं है। इसलिए सेवायोजक नं०-1 का तर्क मानने योग्य नहीं है।

15. अतः प्रतिवादी सेवायोजक मैसर्स दि हैण्डिकाफ्ट हैण्डलूमस एक्सपोर्ट कारपो0 आफ इण्डिया लि0, ए-2,3,4 व 5 सेक्टर-2 नोएडा को आदेशित किया जाता है कि इस अवार्ड के साथ संलग्न सूची में अंकित 31 श्रमिकों को पुरानी नौकरी के क्रम में पूर्व पूर्ण वेतन व अन्य समस्त हित लाभों सहित सेवा में बहाल करे। वाद व्यय के रूप में रुपये दस हजार का भी भुगतान करें।

9. Labour Court has disbelieved petitioner's plea of engagement of workmen by Contractor, essentially on the ground that contract executed in favour of contractor, filed as Exhibit E-2 was

w.e.f. 26.2.1990, whereas engagement of workmen was from 1977 to 1990 and had not been specifically denied. This observation of labour court is clearly contrary to record inasmuch as engagement of workmen from 1977 to 1990 by the employer has been specifically denied in the written statement. Employer's witnesses have disputed it in their oral testimony also. Admittedly, neither any letter of appointment was brought on record nor any finding has been returned by the Labour Court as to which of the workmen has been appointed since when. Workmen had claimed their appointment to have been made from 1977 to 1990, but only 3 out of them had claimed their appointment from prior to 1980. Most of the workers were engaged in 1988, 1989, 1990 whereas their termination is w.e.f. 1.1.1991. Labour Court has also not recorded any finding that these 31 workmen had completed 240 days of working in a calendar year so as to render their termination bad for non compliance of section 6-N of the U.P.I.D. Act. In the absence of any specific pleading with regard to date of engagement of workmen and lack of evidence to substantiate it, Labour Court had clearly erred in holding that workmen were engaged from 1977 onwards. Law is otherwise settled that onus to establish appointment and working of the workmen was upon them. (See Range Forest Officer vs. S.T. Hadimani, (2002) 3 SCC 25). The labour court has not examined as to whether a valid contract system was enforce nor material aspect with reference to the provisions of Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act has been examined and dealt with. The finding that there was no valid contract system and that contract was sham, is also based on irrelevant consideration inasmuch as merely for the reasons that the contract filed before it was from February, 1990 would not lead to such an inference. The labour court was required to have returned a finding with regard to appointment and working of workmen for more than 240 days in a calendar year to justify its conclusion that termination was bad in law, which is non existent. There is further no finding of violation of any statutory provision to hold that termination of workmen is bad in law. Upon all relevant aspects, relating to existence or otherwise of contract and continuous working for more than 240 days, appropriate consideration and finding is lacking. In the absence of discussion and finding on relevant aspects, noticed above, the award holding termination to be bad cannot be sustained.

10. For the reasons noticed above, the award of labour court dated 16.8.2010 is found to be vitiated in law and cannot be sustained and is hereby set aside.

11. At this stage, the issue crops up as to whether the matter be remitted back for a fresh consideration by the Labour Court, Noida, Guatam Budh Nagar, U.P. or the issue of validity of reference and jurisdiction of the Labour Court under the Act of 1947 be examined by this Court exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India?

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon a judgment of Apex Court in National Textile Corporation Limited vs. Naresh Kumar Badrikumar Jagad and other, (2011) 12 SCC 695 in order to contend that a pure legal issue relating to jurisdiction can be raised at any stage of the proceedings. Reliance has also been placed upon judgment of this Court in National Textile Corporation U.P. Limited vs. State of U.P., 2004 (2) LBESR 984. Para 15 of the judgment is reproduced:-

"15. Reliance has been placed on notification dated 3rd July, 1998 of which notification following extract was quoted by the Presiding Officer in the order dated 17th July 2000, "In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 39 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (14 of the 1947) Central Government hereby directs that all the powers exercisable by it under that Act and the Rules made thereunder shall...be exercisable also by the State Government". The Presiding Officer held that since in the present case reference was made after the notification dated 3rd July, 1998, the State Government was competent to refer the matter. After the order dated 17th July 2000, a review application was immediately filed by the employer in which notification dated 3rd July, 1998 was not denied, rather it was stated that the State Government can exercise delegated power only with regard to references which could have been made by the Central Government under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. It was stated in paragraph 5 that reference could have been made to the industrial Tribunal constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 by the State Government. In paragraph 6 of the application, it was specifically stated that the State Government has referred the dispute to the industrial Tribunal constituted by the State Government under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. From the materials on the record, it is clear that the reference was made by the State Government vide its order dated 12th November, 1998 exercising jurisdiction under Section 4K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Delegated power under Section 39 of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the Central Government, which is the appropriate Government for the purposes of present case, could have made a reference to a Court constituted in accordance with Section 17A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The industrial Tribunal to which the reference was made was a industrial Tribunal constituted for Uttar Pradesh under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The State Government in the referring order itself referred to its power under Section 4K of U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Thus, the stand taken by the Respondents that under Section 39, the State Government can exercise delegated power of the Central Government while making reference cannot be accepted. In the present case, the State Government did not make reference exercising delegated power of the Central Government under Section 39 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, rather it exercised its jurisdiction under Section 4K of U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The appropriate Government in the present case being the Central Government, as observed above, the reference could have been made only by the Central Government. The plea of the Respondents that State Government exercised the delegated power under Section 39 of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 which found favour with the Presiding Officer, Industrial Tribunal, is unsustainable. The reference made to the industrial Tribunal itself being incompetent, the award falls on the ground due to the said reason. It having been found that the reference itself was incompetent, it is not necessary, for this case, to consider and decide other submissions raised by the counsel for the Petitioners. This writ petition deserves to be allowed on the decision taken on the first submission of counsel for the Petitioners."

13. No doubt it is true that no specific plea had been raised in the written statement by the petitioner to the effect that petitioner corporation is an establishment of Government of India but the factual aspect that emerges on record is clear. The workmen in the oral statement had admitted that the petitioner is an establishment of Government of India. Statement of Sri Mohd. Munsli, who appeared as workers' witness, is categorical in stating that petitioner is an establishment of Government of India. Specific pleading made in para 2 to 3 of the writ petition that petitioner is a company under section 617 of the Companies Act, of which 100% share are held by the Government of India. Para 2 to 3 of the writ petition are reproduced:-

"2. That the Handicrafts & Handlooms Exports Corporation of India Ltd. 'Noida Complex' A-2, Sector-2, Udyog Marg, Noida-201301, Gautam Budh Nagar (U.P.), the petitioner No.1 herein, is a Government of India undertaking under the Ministry of Textiles and it is a Government Company within the meaning of section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 as the Government of India has 100% shares. The petitioner No.1 carries on business of exports of handicrafts & handlooms. It also imports bullion.

3. That the petitioner No.1 is an instrumentality of the Central Government and as such it is 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. The Central Government has deep and pervasive control over the affairs of the petitioner No.1. The Central Government provides 100% finance to the petitioner No.1 to run its affairs and the Central Government sends two nominees on the Board of Directors of the petitioner No.1."

Para 3 of the counter affidavit is also reproduced:-

"3. That the contents of paragraph no.1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of the writ petition need no comment."

14. In view of such admitted position, this Court has no hesitation to hold that petitioner corporation is an establishment of Government of India, and Government of India alone was the appropriate government for referring the dispute, and therefore, it would be the tribunal constituted under the provisions of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, which alone had jurisdiction to adjudicate the dispute. This aspect is being examined by this Court only with the object of avoiding any future litigation which may arise between the parties on the aspect of jurisdiction at a later date.

15. It would, therefore, be appropriate to dispose of the writ petition with the direction that in case respondent nos.3 and 4, who were the authorized representative of 31 workmen in question, approach the appropriate Government, i.e. Government of India, in respect of their grievance relating to alleged termination of their services, alongwith certified copy of this order, within a period of three weeks from today, the appropriate Government shall refer the dispute to the appropriate Industrial Adjudicator within a further period of two months thereafter. Considering the fact that a period of almost 26 years have expired, it is observed that Industrial Adjudicator would proceed with all expedition and make all endeavours to answer the reference, preferably within a period of one year thereafter.

16. Writ petition is accordingly allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Rejoinder affidavit filed today, is taken on record.

2. Indian Institute of Management & Engineering Society, Ghaziabad, duly registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, has established, in 1998, an Institution in the name & style 'Ajay Kumar Garg Engineering College, Ghaziabad¹, which offers B.Tec, M.Tec and M.C.A. Courses. The Institution is duly recognized by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) and affiliated to Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam Technical University, Lucknow².

3. Students admitted by the Institution for the aforementioned courses for 2016-17 are as follows:

1. B.Tech - 960 students

2. M.Tech - 114 students

3. M.C.A. - 120 students

4. It is contended that the petitioner-Institution is one of the best and reputed Engineering Institution in the State of U.P. and offers the highest quality of education; provides state of art facilities in terms of infrastructure and teaching. The Institution has received the Academic Excellence Award for the best Engineering College by Technical University from the Governor of the State of Uttar Pradesh for two consecutive years i.e. 2008 and 2009. Further, the Institution is accredited by "National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) which is an autonomous Institution of the University Grants Commission. The accreditation by NAAC is for a period of five years with effect from 3 March 2015. B.Tech course is duly accredited by the National Board of Accreditation (NBA) since 2006 and vide communication dated 14 April 2016, the NBA has again provided accreditation for two more years w.e.f. 1 July 2016.

5. The petitioner-Institution has approached this Court assailing the order dated 22 June 2016 passed by the third respondent-Special Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow, whereby, the private technical institutions in the State, including the petitioner-Institution, has been directed to charge fee for session 2016-17 as determined earlier by the Committee for session 2012-13.

6. Sri Anurag Khanna, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Yash Tandon, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner would submit :

(i) the Committee as required under the Act, Rules and Regulation has not determined the fee for session 2016-17;

(ii) the last determination was done for session 2012-13, which was valid for three academic session;

(iii) the Institution has sought enhancement of the fee @ Rs.1,74,000/- per annum per student for session 2016-17 which has not been considered by the Committee;

7. In rebuttal, Sri Ashok Kumar Pandey, learned Additional Advocate General appearing on behalf of the State would contend that:

(i) the Committee has determined the fee and in case, the Institution has any objection, it may approach the Committee under Regulation 4(3) of the Uttar Pradesh Private Technical Educational Institutions (Regulation of Admission and Fixation of Fee) Regulations, 2015³ for enhancement;

(ii) upon decision of the Committee, the petitioner would have an alternative remedy to prefer an appeal before the Tribunal;

(iii) the fee could not have been determined by the Committee under the Act and Regulations for paucity of time, therefore, the fee already determined in 2013 for respective technical institutions has been made applicable for the session 2016-17 alone;

(iv) the Committee has undertaken the task of fee fixation for the session 2017-18.

8. Sri Neeraj Tiwari, learned counsel appearing for the second respondent-Technical University would contend that the last date for admission of the students in B.Tech, M.Tech and M.C.A. courses was 15 August 2016, as such, admissions have already been closed; Institution, therefore, is not entitled for enhancement of fee.

9. Rival submissions fall for consideration.

10. The sole question that arises for determination is as to whether the Committee constituted under the Regulations has determined the fee to be charged by the private technical institution for the session 2016-17.

11. Pursuant to decision rendered by the Supreme Court in *T.M.A.Pai. Foundation v. State of Karnataka*⁴, *Islamic Academy of Education and another v. State of Karnataka and others*⁵, and *P.A. Inamdar and others v. State of Maharashtra and others*⁶, the State enacted the Uttar Pradesh Private Professional Educational Institutions (Regulation of Admission and Fixation of Fee) Act, 2006⁷ for the regulation of admission and fixation of fee in private professional educational institutions and the matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. The Act was enforced on 10 July 2006. Pursuant thereof, the State Government framed Uttar Pradesh Private Professional Educational Institutions (Regulation of Admission and Fixation of Fee) (Constitution of Committee) Rules, 2008⁸. The Government vide order dated 27 June 2008 constituted a Fee Fixation Committee, which determined the fee at Rs.81,200/- for the Institution for session 2010-11 to 2012-13, by enhancing it from Rs.75,000/- per student charged earlier. Thereafter, the Committee for session 2013-14 to 2015-16 enhanced the fee by almost 20% and fixed it at Rs.97,100/- per student per year for the courses. Consequently, the Committee was required to fix the fee for session 2016-17 to 2019-20, therefore, proposals were invited from the institutions for determination of the fee. The Chairman of the Committee, Special Secretary, Technical Education, Government of U.P., Lucknow vide communication dated 2 March 2016 addressed to the Director of the petitioner-Institution sought details under 10 heads so as to determine the fee for session 2016-17. Pursuant thereof, the petitioner-Institution vide proposal dated 21 March 2016 claimed enhancement of fee @ Rs.1,74,000/- per student per annum. The details, as sought was furnished, which include expenses on teaching staff, expenses on non teaching staff, investment on computer systems, investment on college building, investment on library books, investment on furniture, investment on lab etc. Depreciation chart for the Financial Year 2014-15 to 2019-20, cash-book for the year 2014-15 and the details of loan taken by the petitioner-Institution, audited balance sheet, computation of proposed fee for the period 2016-17 to 2019-20, increase in Direct Operating Expenditure from 2011-12 to 2014-15 and increase in D.A. rate from July 2012 to July 2015 by the State Government was furnished with the proposal.

12. The State in the counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondents no. 1 & 3, would contend that there are 700 technical private institutions in the State, therefore, in order to fix the Standard Fee for the institutions; on random basis, 24 institutions including that of the petitioner were asked to furnish the details vide communication dated 2 March 2016. It is contended that only 5 institutions responded to the communication by submitting their proposal as required. This fact has been noted in the meeting held on 14 June 2016 by the Sub Committee appointed by the Committee to suggest the fee for session 2016-17. The Sub Committee would record that the fee fixed for various institutions range between Rs.26,400.00 to Rs.97,100.00 for 24 institutions, which were communicated to submit their proposal, out of which only five institutions responded. In respect of the petitioner-Institution it has been noted that the Institution towards salary of teachers have proposed expenses at Rs.16.92 Crores. As per information furnished to the Technical University there are 240 teachers, whereas, upon verification, only 215 teachers are qualified who have a valid PAN card and are working in the Institution, 22 teachers do not fulfill the required qualification and PAN card of three teachers were not valid. Therefore, an inference was drawn that the qualification of the teachers, their actual numbers and the sum paid towards salary and other expenses incurred upon the teachers and staff appears to be doubtful. The actual number of the teachers working in the Institution is less than the number of teachers that has been proposed by the Institution, therefore, the Committee was of the opinion that the exercise of fee fixation since being time consuming, it was not in a position to determine the fee for 2016-17, accordingly, resolved that in the interest of the students and considering the paucity of time, the fee already determined and fixed in 2013 would be charged by the respective institutions for 2016-17. The proposal of the Sub Committee was accepted by the Fee Fixation Committee in its resolution dated 15 June 2016. Pursuant thereof, the impugned order has been passed.

13. Per contra, the petitioner-Institution would contend that the Committee has not perused the proposal submitted by it, rather the Committee has placed reliance on the information available on the portal of the Technical University which is factually incorrect. The proposal, which is available on record, would reflect that the Institution has 209 teachers, 211 non teaching staff, strength of students since 2011-12 to 2014-15 being 3863 which gradually increased from 2942 students. The break up of students in various courses since 2011-12 has gradually increased, details have been furnished in the proposal. It is, therefore, contended that there has been total non application of mind by the Committee, the opinion has been expressed without examining the proposal and documents in support thereof.

14. In the case of Islamic Academy, one of the questions posed before the Supreme Court was "whether educational institutions are entitled to fix their own fee structure". The Court held that each institute must have the freedom to fix its own fee structure taking into consideration the needs to generate funds to run the institution and to provide facilities necessary for the benefit of the students. They must also be able to generate surplus which must be used for the betterment and growth of the educational institution, however, there can be no profiteering and capitation fees cannot be charged.

"So far as the first question is concerned, in our view the majority judgment is very clear. There can be no fixing of a rigid fee structure by the government. Each institute must have the freedom to fix its own fee structure taking into consideration the need to generate funds to run the institution and to provide facilities necessary for the benefit of the students. They must also be able to generate surplus which must be used for the betterment and growth of that educational institution. In paragraph 56 of the judgment it has been categorically laid down that the decision on the fees to be charged must necessarily be left to the private educational institutions that do not seek and which are not dependent upon any funds from the Government. Each institute will be entitled to have its own fee structure. The fee structure for each institute must be fixed keeping in mind the infrastructure and facilities available, the investments made, salaries paid to the teachers and staff, future plans for expansion and/or betterment of the institution etc. Of course there can be no profiteering and capitation fees cannot be charged. It thus needs to be emphasized that as per the majority judgment imparting of education is essentially charitable in nature. Thus the surplus/profit that can be generated must be only for the benefit/use of that educational institution. Profits/surplus cannot be diverted for any other use or purpose and cannot be used for personal gain or for any other business or enterprise. Each educational Institute must place before this Committee, well in advance of the academic year, its proposed fee structure. Along with the proposed fee structure all relevant documents and books of accounts must also be produced before the committee for their scrutiny. The Committee shall then decide whether the fees proposed by that institute are justified and are not profiteering or charging capitation fee. The Committee will be at liberty to approve the fee structure or to propose some other fee which can be charged by the institute. The fee fixed by the committee shall be binding for a period of three years, at the end of which period the institute would be at liberty to apply for revision. Once fees are fixed by the Committee, the institute cannot charge either directly or indirectly any other amount over and above the amount fixed as fees. If any other amount is charged, under any other head or guise e.g. donations the same would amount to charging of capitation fee."

15. In P.A. Inamdar, Supreme Court while answering question no. 3 held that every institution is free to devise its own fee structure but the same can be regulated in the interest of preventing profiteering. No capitation fee can be charged. Leverage was allowed to educational institutions to generate reasonable surplus to meet cost of expansion and augmentation of facilities which would not amount to profiteering. The Court upheld the two Committees for monitoring admission procedure and determining fee structure as held in Islamic Academy was permissible as regulatory measures aimed at protecting the interest of the student community as a whole as also the minorities.

16. In the backdrop of the law laid down by the Apex Court, it would be apposite to examine the statutory provision. Sub-clause (d) of Section 3 of Act 2006 defines "Fee" which means all fees including tuition fee and development charges"; Sub-clause (i) defines "private professional educational institution" which means a professional educational institution not established or maintained by the Central Government, the State Government or any public body; Sub-clause (o) of Section 3 defines "unaided institution" which means a private professional educational institution, not being an aided institution.

17. Chapter II provides for constitution of the Fee Fixation Committee. Section 4 would provide for composition, disqualification and functions of the Committee. Sub-section (8) of Section 4 provides for determination of fee by the Committee as prescribed under Section 10. Sub-section (8) is extracted:

"The Committee may require a private aided or unaided professional educational institution or, a deemed to be University or a private University to furnish by a prescribed date, information as may be necessary for enabling the Committee determine the fee as prescribed under section 10 of the this Act that may be fixed by the institution in respect of each professional course, and the fee so determined shall be valid for such period as notified by the State Government."

18. Chapter IV provides for Fixation of Fee. The Committee while determining the fee to be charged by a private aided or unaided professional educational institution will have regard to the parameters prescribed thereunder. Section 10 is extracted :

"10(1). The Committee shall determine, the fee to be charged by a private aided or unaided professional educational institution having regard to:—

(i) the nature of the professional course,

- (ii) the available infrastructure,
 - (iii) a reasonable surplus required for growth and development of the professional institution,
 - (iv) the expenditure on administration and maintenance,
 - (v) the expenditure on teaching and non teaching employees of the institution,
 - (vi) any other relevant factor,
 - (2) The Committee, shall give the institution an opportunity of being heard before fixing any fee :—
- Provided that no such fee, as may be fixed by the Committee, shall amount to profiteering or commercialization of education."

19. Chapter V provides for miscellaneous matter. Section 11 would confer power upon the State Government to appoint an Appellate Authority, where any person or professional institution if aggrieved by an order of the Committee may file an appeal. Section 13 would confer power upon the State Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Act. Pursuant thereof, Rules 2008 was framed which only provides the composition of the Committee to determine the fee of private institutions and appeal therefrom. The details and parameters on how the Committee is to determine the fee is provided under Regulation 2015 framed under Section 14 of the Act, 2006. Regulation 3 would provide the composition of the Committee consisting of Principal Secretary/Secretary Technical Education and two other members. Regulation 4 (1) would provide that the Committee may fix Standard Fee including tuition fee and development charges for the private Institution. Sub-regulation (3) would provide that if any institution, referred to in sub-regulation (1), request the Committee to fix a fee higher than the Standard Fee or if an institution requests to fix a fee lower than the Standard Fee being an institution of charitable in nature or involving in philanthropic work or for any reason, the Committee will consider the request of such institution. Sub-regulation (3) of Regulation 4 is extracted:

"If any institution referred to in sub-regulation (1) request to the Committee to fix a fee higher than the Standard Fee because it is an institute of excellence offering specific, useful and job-oriented courses or is purchasing latest equipments for specific course for student welfare, or for any other reason, then in the interest of growth of technical education and its quality, the Committee shall considered the institution's request for higher fee. Further, also if an institution requests to fix a fee lower than Standard Fee because it is an institution of charitable nature or it is also involved in philanthropic work or for any other reason, the Committee shall consider the institution's request for lower fee. The Committee shall give the institution an opportunity of being heard before fixing its final fee."

20. Sub-regulation (4) details the parameter for determining the fee which includes, expenses on depreciation, expenditure on advertisement, expenditure on development, expenditure due to inflation, expenditure on salary, expenditure on interest, direct recurring expenses, total expenses per student and expenditure on electricity. Sub-regulation (4) is extracted:

(4) The Committee shall fix the fee having regards to the following :-

(i) Expenses on Depreciation- Straight line method shall be applied and the revised rates mentioned in the Companies Act, 1956 will be taken into account.

(ii) Expenditure on Advertisement- Maximum 1% of the total expenses of the institutions on advertisement required for new courses and college related activities through news papers, hoardings, magazines etc. will be allowed:

(iii) Expenditure on Development- Maximum of 10% development charges will be allowed.

(iv) Expenditure due to inflation- The basis of the average of the rates of Consumer Price Index of last three years will be considered for calculating the average rate applicable for next three years, for the purposes of allowing inflation of expenses.

(v) Expenditure on interest- If the Institution has taken loan from any nationalized bank for infrastructure and other fixed capital assets and the interest on above loan is paid by the Institution, than 25% of the interest paid or Rs.3,000 for degree courses/Rs.1,000/- for diploma courses, per sanctioned number of students, whichever is less, shall be considered as expenses;

Provided that the interest paid on the loan taken for hostel and other works, for which the institution is charging money from the students shall not be considered.

(vi) Direct recurring Expenses- The expenses on purchasing periodicals, journals and lab consumables will be considered as recurring expenses but expenditure on books will be considered as capital expenses.

(vii) Total expenses per student- The expenses of an institution shall be determined by considering different types of expenses and dividing it by the number of seats sanctioned by All India Council for Technical Education.

(viii) Expenditure on electricity- The expenses on electricity utilized in an administrative building and in laboratories for operating equipments excluding the expenses on electricity utilized in hostel, staff quarters and mess will be considered.

21. It is averred in the counter affidavit that the fee for the session 2016-17 could not have been determined by the Committee due to paucity of time. The fee, therefore, determined earlier (2013) would be the fee for session 2016-17. The delay has not been attributed to the institutions. Admittedly, five institutions responded, as against 24 Institutions, for fixing Standard Fee, however, the Committee was unable to determine the fee even in respect of the five institutions. Petitioner-Institution being aggrieved by non determination of fee has pleaded that it would not be possible, even considering the inflation, to run the Institution, maintain quality and pay higher salary to the teachers upon implementation of the 7th Pay Commission Report, therefore, the Institution would have to run at expenses less than their revenue, thus, eroding its surplus.

22. The learned Additional Advocate General would contend that presently three Institutions out of five have approached the Court, therefore, would urge that all the other Institutions are satisfied with the fee fixed previously, therefore, the Committee would not be in a position to determine Standard Fee and thereafter the fee of each aggrieved institutions. Three Institutions are assailing the impugned order for the reason that they would be adversely affected, in case their fee is not revised. Regulation 4 itself provides that the Committee shall consider the request of the institutions for fixing the final fees, if they are not satisfied by the Standard Fee. In the present case, admittedly, Standard Fee has not been determined by the Committee due to paucity of time though the proposal was submitted by some of the institutions on 21 March 2016. No plausible explanation has been stated in the counter affidavit as to why the Committee could not determine the fee of each of the five institutions that had furnished their proposal. No reason has been assigned as to why the Committee failed to discharge its statutory obligation under the Act 2006 and Regulation 2015. The State is not disputing that the petitioner-Institution is one of the premier private institution of the State and in order to maintain its quality and reputation, fee enhancement sought by it is justified. Private Universities in National Capital Region (NCR) viz. AMITY and JAYPEE are charging @ Rs.2,00,000/- and Rs.2,60,000/- respectively for the same course, whereas, the petitioner-Institution had proposed Rs.1,74,000/-. It is further contended on behalf of the petitioner that all the admission for the session 2016-17 are over and fee charged from the students at Rs.97,400/- has been made subject to the decision of the writ petition.

23. It is admitted position that the Committee had to determine the fee for session 2016-17 which would continue upto 2019-20, however, the Committee skipped 2016-17 and resolved to determine the fee for 2017-18, therefore, one batch of students for session 2016-17 have been left out without determination of fee, which in my opinion, would adversely affect on the Institution as the fee fixed in 2013 would have to be charged from the students for the next three years. In these circumstances, I find merit in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the Committee has not discharged its statutory obligation, therefore, the plea that the institution can prefer an appeal would not arise as there has been no determination of either Standard Fee or fee in respect of the individual Institutions who had approached the Committee. Reliance has been placed on a decision rendered in U.P. State Spinning Co. Ltd. v. R.S. Pandey and another⁹, wherein, the Supreme Court held where hierarchy of appeals is provided by the statute, party must exhaust the statutory remedies before restoring to writ jurisdiction.

24. The plea of alternative remedy would not apply in the facts of the present case as Committee has not gone into the question of determining the fee for the session.

25. In Ram and Shyam Co. v. State of Haryana¹⁰ the Supreme Court held that where the appeal is from "Caesar to Caesar's wife" the existence of alternative remedy would be a mirage and an exercise in futility. When the High Court had entertained a writ petition notwithstanding existence of an alternative remedy this Court while dealing with the matter in an appeal should not permit the question to be raised unless the High Court's reasoning for entertaining the writ petition is found to be palpably unsound and irrational. Similar view was expressed by this Court in State of U.P. v. Indian Hume Pipe Co. Ltd.¹¹

26. It is contended on behalf of the State that the Committee resolved that the fee determined in respect of each of the Institution in the State may be taken to be the Standard Fee, therefore, it is urged that in terms of Sub-regulation (3) of Regulation 4 the aggrieved institute should have approached the Committee for determination of the fee for the session 2016-17. The submission, in my opinion, lacks merit and is not in sync with Chapter IV of Regulation 2015. On a plain reading of Regulation (4), it would provide that the Committee would fix the Standard Fee for the Institutions, and an aggrieved institute may approach the Committee for enhancement or for lowering the fee fixed. Standard fee is not defined in the Regulation 2015, the Additional Advocate General failed to explain the concept of Standard Fee, he would urge that the Standard Fee would mean a fee determined upon random selection of data from some of the institutes, which would be made applicable upon all the institutions of the State at a flat rate, and thereafter, an aggrieved institute would have to approach the Committee for enhancement. The resolution dated 14 June 2016 of the Sub-committee would reflect that in order to determine the Standard Fee, 24 out of 700 institutions were required to submit their proposal. The individual fee determined in 2013 in respect of the said 24 institutions ranged between Rs.26,000/- to Rs.1,00,000/-.

27. In the event of the Committee fixing Standard Fee say at Rs.60,000/- per student, it is evident that all the institutions who are either far below the said sum or institutions which are at higher end would have to approach the Committee for determination of the fee for their respective Institution. In either case, the Committee would have to determine the fee in respect of almost all the Institutions independently. The fallacy in determination of the Standard Fee, as is being submitted by the learned counsel for the respondent, is evident from the fact that the Institutions, which are in the range of Rs.26,000/- and above would have to approach the Committee for lowering the fee and all the Institutions who are say at Rs.70,000/- and above would have to approach the Committee for enhancement their fee, therefore, the plea that without determining Standard Fee, the fee fixation of the institutions cannot be gone into appears to be misconceived. The very concept of Standard Fee as is being sought to be urged is in teeth of the decisions rendered by the Supreme Court on the subject of determination of fee of each institutions.

28. The AICTE under the Chairmanship of Justice Srikrishna (Former Justice of the Supreme Court of India) had come out with a report prescribing guidelines for charging tuition and other fees for professional courses on 7 May 2015. As per the report, Committee in para (3.1.4) opined as follows:

"Higher fees than 'maximum' fees

Institutes who want to excel in technical education are likely to provide facilities beyond the minimum prescribed standards. Such Institutes may be allowed to charge fees higher than the prescribed fees as mentioned below.

The Institute, who has got accreditation from appropriate authority for at least two thirds of their eligible approved programmes/courses, can charge a maximum of 20% additional tuition fees than prescribed maximum fees.

The Institute, who has been awarded 'Autonomous' status by appropriate authority can charge a maximum of 10% additional tuition fees than prescribed maximum fees."

29. The maximum tuition and development fees recommended for B.Tech course city/category wise is as under:

- (i) Type X Cities Rs.1,58,300/-
- (ii) Type Y Cities Rs.1,50,500/-
- (iii) Type Z Cities Rs.1,44,900/-

30. The petitioner-Institution contends that considering their track record and accreditation, the institute is entitled to a further 20% hike over and above the proposed fee.

31. The learned counsel for the respondent would urge that in continuing the fee fixed earlier for 2016-17 is in keeping with the interest of the students. The argument on face value appears attractive, but tested in depth, appears shallow and lacks merit. The interest of the students is sub-served best by institutions of repute, imparting quality education of international standard. The students are prepared to pay more on placement in such institutions; if the argument that is sought to be advanced by the learned counsel for the respondent is accepted then a much lower fee would serve the student interest but unfortunately the State does not sponsor or assist financially in either setting up such private institutions or provide working capital. It is for these reasons the Apex Court held that fixation of fee should be left to the private institutions but should be monitored by a Committee so as to prohibit profiteering or from charging capitation fee; the role of the Committee is not that of a 'big brother' to force upon an institution fees determined three years earlier and compel the institution to run the courses at rates which makes it unworkable, therefore, seriously undermining quality instructions to the students. The cow cannot be milked for long without appropriately feeding it.

32. The cut of date fixed for admission would have no bearing, as admittedly the Committee failed to discharge its statutory duty cast upon it under the Act 2006 and Regulation 2015 framed thereunder. A writ would issue directing the Committee to discharge its legal duty. The conduct of the Committee has not only been casual as reflected from the record but also arbitrary which is deprecated. It is not open for the Committee to say that it would not discharge its statutory duty due to paucity of time.

33. In the facts of the present case, out of 24 institutions only 5 institutions had submitted their proposal and only three institutions have approached this Court for enhancement of their fee for session 2016-17. The other institutions which have not approached are either not having students in requisite number or infrastructure to cater the students, therefore, may have preferred to continue on the fee determined in 2013. The petitioner-Institution being a premium private institute has sought revision, therefore, it was incumbent upon the Committee to have addressed the issue of fee review.

34. In these circumstances, the impugned order dated 22 June 2016 passed by the third respondent-Special Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow cannot be sustained, accordingly, quashed.

35. The writ petition is allowed with the following directions:

(i) Committee shall fix the fee for session 2016-17 in respect of the Institutions before the Court, after hearing their representative;

(ii) Institutions undertake to submit their proposal before the Committee within one week from date i.e. by 29 August 2016;

(iii) Committee shall determine the fee for 2016-17 within four weeks thereafter i.e. by 26 September 2016;

(iv) The fee charged by the Institution for 2016-17 would be provisional fee subject to the final fee determined by the Committee;

(v) Upon enhancement, the arrears would be payable by the students in installment (half yearly/quarterly) depending upon the hike recommended by the Committee. Installment to be determined by the Committee.

(vi) Committee in future to discharge its statutory function in determination of fee well in advance.

36. No cost.

Passports — Correction of date of birth — Guidelines — Exhaustion of alternative remedy — Petitioner sought correction of date of birth in passport after issuance — Ministry of External Affairs Office Memorandum dated 26-11-2015 prescribes detailed procedure and conditions for correction, including limitation period and requirement of genuine documents — Held, such disputes involve factual determination and must be first examined by Passport Authorities in accordance with prescribed guidelines — Writ petition not maintainable at initial stage.

Passports — Change of date of birth — Limitation — Reasonable time — Correction permissible only in bona fide cases and within reasonable period (normally within five years of issuance of passport) — Requests beyond prescribed period ordinarily not entertainable except in limited circumstances such as cases of minors.

Administrative Law — Alternative remedy — Availability of statutory/administrative mechanism — Where effective grievance redressal mechanism exists including Passport Seva system, Passport Adalats and recourse before Regional Passport Officer, writ jurisdiction should not be invoked without exhausting such remedies.

Writ Jurisdiction — Scope — Direction to approach competent authority — High Court declined to adjudicate factual dispute — Liberty granted to petitioner to approach Regional Passport Officer for consideration in accordance with guidelines — Authority directed to decide expeditiously.

In Result: Writ petition disposed of with liberty to petitioner to approach Regional Passport Officer for redressal of grievance in accordance with applicable guidelines.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dilip B. Bhosale, C. J.

Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pramod Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Piyush Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents.

2. The petitioner has instituted these proceedings seeking correction of his date of birth as recorded in his passport application. The application made for the grant of a fresh passport is stated to be "On Hold". The issue itself arises on account of the fact that the petitioner holds a passport issued on 27 January 2014 and which is valid upto 26 January 2024. His date of birth as recorded in this passport is stated to be 10 June 1992. He is stated to have made an application on 13 June 2016 for correction of his date of birth. As is evident from his application for correction, the petitioner admits that mistakenly the date of birth in his passport has come to be recorded as 10 June 1992 whereas in fact it should be 7 January 1996. He relies upon a certificate issued by the Board of High School, U.P. in support of his claim that his correct date of birth is 7 January 1996.

3. We find that on more than one occasion, writ petitions are being preferred before this Court seeking resolution of such disputes. However, we find that detailed guidelines formulated by the passport authorities stand duly enshrined in an Office Memorandum dated 26 November 2015 issued by the Ministry of External Affairs in the Union Government. The Office Memorandum is in the following terms:

"No. VI/401/2/5/2001

Ministry of External Affairs CPV Division

PV-I Section

Patiala House Annexe, New Delhi the 26th November, 2015

OFFICE MEMORANDUM

Subject:-Guidelines with regard to change/ correction of dates of birth entries in the passport of an applicant already held by him/ her reg.

It may be mentioned that the necessary provisions with regard to change/correction of dates of birth in the passports are contained in the Passports Manual, 2010 and from time to time number of circulars have been issued by the Ministry on this issue.

2. It is pertinent to mention that recently, the High Court of Kerala while hearing the WP No. 9073 of 2015 (Jayakumar Vs UOI & others) has delivered a land-mark judgment on the issue of correction/change of entries regarding date/place of birth in the passport. During the course of arguments, the Court has elaborated upon the fact that the details entered in the Passport cannot be lightly interfered with, that too after many years without any sustainable cause and without any explanation as to why initially such a wrong declaration was made and why now a change is sought that too based on a document which was available with the applicant when the original declaration was made.

The High Court has further observed that the difference in dates of birth whether two years or twenty years, the power 'should be one to correct bonafide mistake and that too within a reasonable time. Even a Civil Court declaration after many number of years would lead to the applicant having possibly perpetrated a fraud on many other who acted upon the authenticated declaration of sovereign State as to the age status of its Citizen.

3. The Court, therefore, while dismissing the petition of the applicant petitioner has directed that the authorities would do well to introspect on the observation made herein to make suitable amendments to the circular. It has also been directed that there would be no scope for leaving any liberty on the petitioners to approach a Civil Court too on the reasoning adopted by this Court and the delay occasioned in seeking the correction.

4. Hence, the core principle of the judgment of the High Court of Kerala is that only the bonafide claims of the applicants for the change/correction of the date of birth in the passport should be accepted and that too if the same are submitted by them within a reasonable time limit after the issuance of passport. In pursuance of the directions of the High Court, it has been decided that henceforth, all the PIA shall follow the following instructions/guidelines in order to consider the claims/request the applicant for the change/correction of entries regarding of date of birth in their passports:

(i) Where an applicant claims clerical/technical mistake in the entry relating to birth/place of birth in the passport and asks for rectification/correction:

In all such cases, the documents produced earlier as proof of date of birth/place of birth at the time of issue of passport may be perused (if not already destroyed) by PIA. In case, it is a clerical mistake either by the applicant or the PIA, date/place of birth correction may be allowed by issue of fresh booklet; in the former case by charging fee for fresh passport and in the latter 'gratis' (same as mentioned in Ministry's Circular No. VI/401/2/5/2001, dated 29/10/2007).

(ii) If an applicant applies for the change of date of birth in the passport within a reasonable period of time i.e. within a span of five (5) years from the date of issue of passport having the alleged wrong date of birth, with the birth certificate issued by the Registrar of Births & Deaths stating that the date of birth recorded in the passport was based on the entries mentioned documents other than the Birth Certificate, the request of such an applicant irrespective of the difference in the dates of birth, may be considered by the Passport Issuing Authority. However, before the issuance of passport with changed date of birth, the Passport Authority shall also levy appropriate penalty on the applicant for obtaining passport on previous occasion by providing wrong information regarding his/her date of birth.

(iii) The cases where the applicant comes to PIA for change/correction with regard to date of birth in the Passport after a period of five years from the date of issue of passport with alleged wrong date of birth, no such request shall be entertained/accepted by the PIA and be rejected out rightly.

However, an exemption in this regard may be given to an applicant who was minor at the time when passport with alleged wrong date of birth was issued to him. As and when such an applicant after attaining the age of majority applies for the passport with the request to change the date of birth in the passport issued to him when he was minor, the PIA irrespective of the duration of the issuance of passport may accept his case for consideration and if is satisfied with the claim and document(s) submitted by the applicant, may accept his request for change of date of birth in the passport without imposition of any penalty.

(iv) In no way, the Passport Authority will relegate the applicant to obtain the declaratory court order to carry out changes with regard to date of birth in the passport, as the Passport Authority subject to the condition that the case has been submitted by the applicant within the stipulated limit of 5 years from the date of issuance of passport (except the cases of minor passport holder as detailed in para 5(ii) above) would now be eligible to accept the genuine cases irrespective of the difference of dates of birth.

5. In view of the above, all the Passport Issuing Authorities are hereby requested to follow the above guidelines scrupulously to consider the requests of applicants for change/correction of dates of birth entries in the passports. Provisions contained in Chapter '4 and 8' of the Passport Manual, 2010 stand revised to the extent as stipulated above.

(Muktesh K. Pardeshi)
Joint Secretary (PSP & CPO) &
the Chief Passport Officer"

4. Further supplementary instructions have also been issued by the Department concerned after taking into consideration a detailed judgment rendered by a learned Single Judge of the Kerala High Court in Jayakumar Vs. The Regional Passport Officer¹ These supplementary instructions are to the following effect:

"FAQ
CORRECTION OF DATE OF BIRTH IN PASSPORT-

NEW GUIDELINES BASED ON KERALA HIGH COURT JUDGMENT (Case No. 9073/2015 dated 23/06/2015)

Major Applicants

1. If the applicant was a major when his/her first passport with incorrect date of birth was issued, he/she can correct it, within five years of issue of the first passport. No change of date of birth is allowed afterwards.

Minor Applicants

2. If the applicant was a minor when his/her first passport was issued, he/she can correct the date of birth, any time when he/she is a minor, or when he/she first time applies for reissue of passport after becoming a major.

Requirement of Documents

3. Only a genuine birth certificate issued by the competent authority will be accepted as a proof of age for correction of date of birth in the passport. No other document such as School Certificate etc. will be accepted for correction of date of birth. In exceptional cases, official documents proving correct date of birth may be considered.

Fine payable

4. Prescribed fine shall be levied on the applicant, who seeks correction of date of birth in the passport, in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Passports Act, 1967 and Rules framed there under.

Fake documents

5. Application fee and penalty will not be reimbursed if the application for correction of date of birth is found to be incomplete, faulty or fraudulent. In case of fraudulent applications for change of date of birth based on forged or fake documents, appropriate action will be taken in accordance with the Passports Act."

5. Apart from the above, we find that the Ministry of External Affairs under the "Passport Seva Project" has put in place a detailed grievance redressal system enabling applicants to seek information, make enquiries and their grievances redressed by various modes of electronic communication. Apart from putting in place a mechanism for lodging of grievances through electronic means, it also envisages the holding of Passport Adalats and Passport Mela in the course of which such disputes can be easily resolved. This grievance mechanism stands duly enumerated in the order dated 10 September 2014 issued by the Ministry of External Affairs.

6. Issues relating to correction of the date of birth as recorded in a passport would necessarily entail an enquiry into facts which can best be addressed, looked into and remedied by the passport authorities themselves at the first instance. We are, therefore, of the view that grievances of the nature raised in this petition are liable to be entertained only after the petitioner has exhausted the remedies provided and put in place by the Union Government in the first instance.

7. We find that the grievances of the petitioner can be duly redressed by the Regional Passport Officer, the third respondent herein, in terms of the Office Memorandum dated 26 November 2015 referred to above.

8. We accordingly dispose of this writ petition leaving it open to the petitioner to approach the Regional Passport Officer and seek redressal of his grievances in light of the Office Memorandum and Supplementary Instructions referred to hereinabove. Needless to state in case, such an application is made the third respondent will attend to the same and dispose of the said application expeditiously.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Bail — Evaluation of circumstances — Prima facie satisfaction — At bail stage, final adjudication of guilt not required — Court to consider nature of evidence, period of detention, likelihood of early conclusion of trial and possibility of tampering with evidence — Absence of convincing material indicating likelihood of tampering and prolonged custody weighed in favour of applicant.

Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 — Bail — Conditions — Safeguards — Bail granted subject to conditions ensuring presence of accused and non-interference with evidence — Trial court empowered to cancel bail upon breach of conditions.

In Result: Bail granted subject to conditions.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Counter affidavit filed by Sri Irfan U. Huda, learned counsel for the complainant is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Gopal S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior counsel assisted by Sri Anurag Shukla, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Irfan U. Huda, learned counsel for the complainant and the learned A.G.A. for the State.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that the incident is said to have taken place on 17.11.2014 but the FIR of the case has been lodged on 25.2.2015 on the basis of an application dated 13.2.2015. It has been further pointed out that according to the version of the FIR itself, the information about the deceased having caught fire was communicated to the parents of the deceased by the applicant's side and it is not a case where the incident of burning was concealed from the parents. It has been further pointed out that this is the admitted case of the prosecution, and the first informant has also admitted this fact, that on getting the information the first informant had reached the matrimonial home of the deceased and had gone to the hospital where she had been admitted by that time and had found the deceased being treated. Further submission is that during the period when the deceased was admitted in the hospital, the dying declaration of the deceased was also recorded. The attention of the Court was drawn to the dying declaration of the deceased, which is Annexure-3 to the bail application, according to which, the version of the incident as narrated by the deceased was that on 16.11.2014 at about 7.00-8.00 p.m., while she was in the kitchen she accidentally caught fire. No allegation was made by the deceased against applicant or anyone else of his family. It was also stated by the deceased that after she caught fire her husband rushed to douse the fire and in that process he also received burn injuries. In this regard, the attention of the Court has been drawn towards Annexure-4 of the bail application, which is in the form of several medical papers regarding the treatment of burn injuries which were received by the applicant. Further submission of counsel is that subsequently in order to give better treatment she was being taken to Lucknow but she succumbed in the way to the injuries and died. The contention raised by the learned counsel for the applicant is that had there been any truth in the allegation made against the applicant then it is wholly incomprehensible as to how and under what circumstances, the First Information Report was not lodged against the applicant earlier by the first informant, who was very much present there even before the deceased died. Much emphasis has been laid by the learned counsel for the applicant on the extra-ordinary delay in lodging the FIR. Submission is that the yawning gap between the occurrence and the lodging of the FIR is by itself sufficient to demonstrate that the version given in the FIR is nothing but an out-come of confabulation, deliberation and afterthought which by itself denudes the prosecution version from all its credibility. Further submission is that had there been any ill-intention on the part of the applicant and had he had any guilty conscience then there was no question for him to communicate the information of incident to the parents of the deceased and thereby give the opportunity to the first informant to come and talk to his daughter about the incident. It is further submitted that as the deceased had nothing to speak against the applicant, the applicant also had no reason to hide the incident from her parents. In fact as the first informant also had nothing to report against the applicant, he did not lodge any FIR for almost three months. For pure emotional reasons, even the post mortem of deceased was not got done because as a mark of respect it was a joint decision of first informant and applicant's family not to subject the deceased to any further mutilation. It was only long after the occurrence that present FIR was lodged with all sorts of mendacious allegations. The conduct of the accused giving immediate information to the parents is by itself a strong circumstance to indicate his innocence and bonafides. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 24.7.2015 and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

4. Sri Irfan U. Huda, learned counsel for the complainant has opposed the prayer for bail and has submitted that the incident had taken place initially in the evening of 16.11.2014 but the medical papers indicate that the deceased was admitted to the hospital on the next day, which indicates that medical succour was not provided in time to the deceased. It has been further submitted that the deceased was not discharged from the hospital with the consent or referral of the Doctor but yet she was taken away from the hospital and she died on the way to Lucknow and such an act of accused was not proper and in turn contributed to the death of the deceased. It has been further submitted by the learned counsel for the complainant that initially the burns received by the husband were said to have been 15% but the subsequent medical papers of the hospital at Lucknow where the applicant was treated would indicate that his burns have been shown to be about 40%. Learned counsel for the complainant has tried to argue that it indicates that there is deliberate attempt on the part of the applicant to exaggerate his own injuries and thereby raise a false defence plea in his favour.

5. Perused the record.

6. The final verdict about the guilt or innocence of accused can be arrived at only through a proper trial but after perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

7. Let the applicant Anand Dubey involved in Case Crime No. 142 of 2015 u/ss 498A, 304B, 201 IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, P.S. Dhoomanganj District Allahabad be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

8. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

9. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

2. This application has been filed seeking the release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No. 435 of 2014 u/s 302 IPC and Section 3(2) 5 of SC/ST Act, Police Station Harduaganj District Aligarh.
3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.
4. Perused the record.

5. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that there is no independent witness of the occurrence and the incident took place in night hours. There was no sufficient light on spot. No identification parade has been conducted by the police and it appears that nobody has witnessed the occurrence and the interested family members have been introduced as witnesses artificially. It is further submitted by the learned counsel for the applicant that there is no evidence on record to indicate that the first informant, who was the brother, made any attempt to save his deceased brother, while he was under attack, which in its turn would give rise to the inference that probably he was not present at the time of his brother's murder.

6. Learned AGA has opposed the prayer for bail and has drawn the attention of the Court to the contents of the FIR, according to which, the deceased was carried by co-accused Kali Charan on the pretext that he was being called by some other co-accused Sanjay and Bhupendra in order to settle the dispute. Further submission is that the deceased was having inimical terms with co-accused Sanjay. It was further pointed out that the first informant, who is the brother of the deceased smelled something foul and therefore, he accompanied the deceased's brother. It was thereafter when the deceased reached the place of occurrence, he found co-accused Bhupendra and Raju (applicant) standing there and then the deceased was caught hold by co-accused Kali Charan, while the applicant and co-accused Bhupendra started making delivery of blows by their knives. Co-accused Sanjay fired shots at the deceased. Learned AGA has also drawn the attention of the Court to the post mortem report which lends the complete corroboration to the prosecution story, which indicates the presence of incised wounds and punctured wounds on the body of the deceased apart from the fire-arm wounds. It was further contended that in a case like this where the accused persons were armed with deadly weapons like knives and fire-arms and where the weapons were used also then in such a condition it is not very unnatural for the witnesses not to have meddled in the incident as that would have necessarily endangered their lives. Moreover, the conduct of any witness depends on his own individual traits and vary from man to man. A more audacious witness may jump in the fray and may risk his own life, while the other who may be timid may take to his heels. Yet another may get dum-founded in utter nervousness. Therefore, if the eye witness informant did not attempt to save his brother, there is nothing such in his conduct, specially when the applicants were having deadly weapons and were also using them, which may be deemed sufficient to disbelieve the witness or doubt his version of occurrence. It was further submitted that final appreciation of evidence can more appropriately be done at the stage of the trial. For the present, prima facie, there are strong circumstances and evidence available against the accused persons, which is corroborated by the medical evidence.

7. Looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case, this Court is of the view that the applicant has not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the applicant is rejected.

8. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

9. However, it is expected that the trial court shall make all sincere endeavours to expedite the proceedings of the trial and conclude the same as expeditiously as possible without granting unnecessary adjournment to either side.

Held –

Paragraph 1: Nature of the Appeal

The present second appeal challenges a first appellate court judgment dated September 18, 2002, passed by the Additional District Judge (ADJ), Gorakhpur. The ADJ's judgment had set aside a trial court order dated November 17, 1983, thereby allowing the first appeal and decreeing the plaintiffs' original suit (O.S. No. 102 of 1980) for the reliefs claimed.

Paragraph 2: The Plaintiffs' Case

The plaintiffs filed the original suit asserting ownership over 26,000 square feet of land in Purdilpur, Gorakhpur. They had leased it to the defendant (Sita Ram Tekriwal) via a registered lease deed dated February 23, 1972, for a 23-year term to run a cinema. The agreement required a monthly rent of Rs. 931 for the first 15 years (increasing to Rs. 1,131 thereafter) and a premium of Rs. 8,000. The defendant defaulted on the premium—paying only Rs. 500 later under a written acknowledgment—and stopped paying monthly rent in September 1977. Consequently, the plaintiffs terminated the lease via a 30-day registered notice dated March 25, 1980, and sued for eviction, recovery of possession, outstanding dues of Rs. 45,716, and mesne profits.

Paragraph 3: The Defendant's Pleadings

In his written statement, the defendant admitted executing the registered lease deed, taking possession, and defaulting on the premium except for a Rs. 500 payment. However, he contested the eviction by arguing that the land was demarcated under the U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act, stripping the plaintiffs of ownership. He further claimed that the payments were inherently premium payments rather than rent, which automatically transformed his status into an absolute owner (Bhumidhar) under Section 164 of the UPZA & LR Act. Finally, he contended that the 30-day notice could not terminate the lease because a permanent cinema building had already been constructed on the plot.

Paragraph 4–5: Lower Court Trajectory

The trial court (Civil Judge-I, Gorakhpur) initially dismissed the plaintiffs' suit on November 17, 1983. On appeal, the first appellate court reversed this dismissal on September 18, 2002, fully decreeing the suit in favor of the plaintiffs. Aggrieved by this reversal, the defendant preferred the present second appeal before the High Court.

Paragraph 6: Formulation of Substantial Questions of Law

The High Court noted that while the second appeal was admitted in 2003, no substantial questions of law were framed at that time. Upon reviewing the records and hearing arguments, the Court framed four specific substantial questions of law concerning: (1) the alleged demarcation under the U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act, (2) the applicability of the doctrine of estoppel and acquiescence against the defendant, (3) whether the defense was barred by law, and (4) the legal validity of the 1972 lease deed.

Paragraph 7: Arguments on Behalf of the Appellant (Defendant)

The appellant's counsel argued that the property was agricultural land being used for non-agricultural purposes without a formal declaration under Section 143 of the UPZA & LR Act, meaning the civil court lacked jurisdiction. He maintained that the land had vested in the State post-demarcation, making the lease deed void. He also asserted that the appellant had become a sub-tenant, placing exclusive jurisdiction with the revenue court, and noted that the failure to substitute a deceased co-plaintiff (Plaintiff No. 2) should fatalize the decree.

Paragraph 8: Arguments on Behalf of the Respondents (Plaintiffs)

The respondents' counsel countered that because the defendant executing the registered lease deed and taking possession were admitted facts, he was strictly barred from challenging his lessors' title under Section 116 of the Indian Evidence Act. He highlighted that issues regarding Section 331-A or lack of jurisdiction were never raised in the lower courts and could not be introduced at the second appeal stage. Additionally, he stated that the death of one co-owner does not prevent surviving co-owners from pursuing a valid eviction suit.

Paragraph 9: Finding on Demarcation (Question 1)

The High Court observed that the burden of proving that the land was demarcated under the U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act lay squarely on the defendant, who failed to produce any documentary evidence. The first appellate court properly scrutinized the facts to conclude that no such demarcation ever occurred. Affirming this factual finding, the High Court answered the first substantial question of law in the negative, against the appellant.

Paragraph 10–12: Finding on Estoppel under Section 115 (Question 2)

The Court extracted Sections 115 (Estoppel) and 116 (Estoppel of tenant) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. It held that the defendant intentionally induced the plaintiffs to hand over vacant possession of the land by executing a registered lease deed and promising to pay rent. Having obtained possession based on that representation, the defendant cannot turn around and deny the plaintiffs' title or their right to reclaim possession. Consequently, his defense is barred by Section 115.

Paragraph 13: Finding on Tenant Estoppel under Section 116 (Question 2 Continued)

The Court ruled that since the appellant entered the property purely as a lessee, Section 116 strictly prohibits him from denying that his landlords held a valid title at the commencement of the tenancy. His defense is fundamentally barred by the principles of estoppel and acquiescence. The second substantial question of law was thus decided in the affirmative, against the appellant.

Paragraph 14–15: Defense Barred by Law (Question 3)

Combining its prior findings, the Court ruled that a tenant cannot legally alter their status to clear their own title against a landlord without a formal declaration from a competent revenue court, which the defendant lacks. His attempts to deny his prior admissions and claim Bhumidhari rights are entirely barred by Sections 115 and 116 of the Indian Evidence Act. The third substantial question of law was decided in the affirmative, against the appellant.

Paragraph 16: Validity of the Lease Deed (Question 4)

The Court found no evidence of fraud, misrepresentation, or structural illegality in the execution of the lease deed dated February 23, 1972. It noted the paradox in the appellant's argument: if the lease deed were truly void, his possession of the land would be completely unauthorized, requiring an immediate restoration of possession to the plaintiffs. Finding the lease valid and the appellant estopped from arguing otherwise, the fourth substantial question of law was decided in the negative.

Paragraph 17–19: Conclusion and Dismissal

The High Court concluded that the lower appellate court's judgment was thoroughly well-reasoned, free from perversity, and based on a correct appreciation of evidence. The tenant cannot build a defense on claims that contradict his own written agreements. Finding all arguments raised by the appellant unsustainable, the High Court dismissed the second appeal with costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Present second appeal has been preferred against the judgment dated 18.9.2002 passed by Additional District Judge Court, No.-2, Gorakhpur passed in Civil Appeal No. 79 of 1994, Vishwanath Prasad & others Vs. Sita Ram Tekriwal, by which judgment dated 17.11.19823 passed by Civil Judge-I, Gorakhpur in O.S. No. 102 of 1980 Vishwanath Prasad and others Vs. Sita Ram was set aside and the first appeal was allowed for the relief claimed in the original suit.

2. In original Suit No. 102 of 1980 the plaint case in brief was that plaintiffs are owners of land detailed at the foot of plaint measuring approximately 26000 square feet situated in mohalla Purdilpur, Gorakhpur. The defendant Sita Ram Tekriwal took the land in possession from the plaintiff on lease by registered lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 for a period of 23 years and took the possession of said land same day for running the cinema. The defendant agreed to pay from the date of lease-deed Rs. 931/- per month as monthly rent for this lease in first week of each calendar month regularly up to period of 15 years, and thereafter at the rate of Rs. 1131/- per month for the remaining lease period in the like manner. The defendant had also agreed to pay Rs. 8000/- as premium within 9 months from the date of execution of lease deed to the plaintiff. The defendant did not pay Rs. 8000/- the amount of premium within time specified in lease deed in spite of several demands. Subsequently on protest and demand from the side of plaintiff, the defendant gave a signed written undertaking dated 4.2.1975 by which he acknowledged the liability to pay premium of amount of Rs. 8000/- and assured the plaintiff for its payment at an early date. But he did not honoured his assurance and avoided the payment of premium amount, and on 27.1.1978 defendant only paid Rs. 500/- towards amount of premium for which he made the endorsement of part-payment on the back of writing given by him on 4.2.1975 in his handwriting and signature and again acknowledged the liability to pay remaining amount of Rs. 7500/- by the same endorsement. Since September, 1977 the defendant had not paid the monthly rent of Rs. 931/- per month in spite of demand and request of plaintiffs. Therefore under terms of lease deed, in case of non payment of rent continuously for 6 months, the plaintiffs are entitled to enter into possession of land in suit by terminating the lease of defendants by giving 30 days' notice. As the defendants had failed to pay monthly rent of disputed land for more than 6 months in continuation the plaintiff sent a registered post notice dated 25.3.1980 to defendant through counsel for terminating the lease and for the demand of amount of rent due as well as the remaining amount of premium due alongwith interest. Said notice was served on defendant on 27.3.1980 but inspite of its service, the defendant had neither paid the amount of rent and premium due nor had handed over the vacant possession of the land in suit. Therefore, the plaintiff had filed suit for recovery of possession over land in suit detailed in plaint by ejecting the defendant and recovery of Rs. 45,716/- as the amount due as above and also for recovery of damages at the rate of Rs. 931/- per month pendente lite and till recovery of actual possession of disputed property.

3. In original suit, defendant had filed written-statement in which he had admitted that he had taken possession of disputed land from plaintiffs after execution of registered lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 and had agreed to pay monthly rent for 15 years at the rate of Rs. 931/- per month and thereafter monthly rent at the rate of Rs. 1151/ per month and had also admitted to pay premium amount of Rs. 8000/- against which he had paid Rs. 500/-. Except these admissions, the defendant (present appellant in second appeal) had denied other plaint averments. In his written-statement, the defendant had further pleaded that although lease deed was executed for plot no. 216 but the area mentioned it also included the area of plot no 215. The disputed plot no. 216 was Khudkasht land of plaintiffs no. 1 to 4 before the abolition of urban zamindari, but after its demarcation plaintiff had lost its rights of ownership. The demarcation of these lands became final under section 3 of this Act. When plaintiffs no. 1 to 4 needed the money then they had leased their aforesaid 26000 sq. Feet land to defendant the limits of which is given in lease-deed by which disputed land was transferred to defendant and the defendant had undertaken to pay rent and premium as stated above, but in fact it is not amount of rent but is amount of premium. Therefore, defendant had automatically become Bhumidhar on said land. The lease deed executed by plaintiffs no. 1 to 4 was illegal and ineffective. The plaintiffs had already received Rs. 61,946/- from time to time from defendant who became owner of disputed land under section 164 of UPZA & LR Act, 1951. Plaintiff cannot terminate the lease in favour of defendant by notice of 30 days because cinema building is constructed over the said land. The acknowledgment dated 4.2.1975 executed by defendant was not possible, therefore the said acknowledgment cannot confer any right to plaintiff. Suit is liable to be dismissed.

4. After framing of issues and affording opportunity of hearing to parties the court of Civil Judge-I, Gorakhpur had dismissed the original suit by its judgment dated 17.11.1983. Against this judgment of trial court, Civil Appeal no. 79 of 1994 they've dated at that Nicola Manitoba your will that we'll you in the Lane on the month is that if the peaceful review the sub number the sub to us for parch totally because delay are to her bumper from the will only you number was but they arewith this amount on the sum of the's was delayed in manner in the ballroom telephoning one, positively Locarno Khatoni because you lay militiaman order will was preferred by plaintiffs which was heard and allowed by the judgment dated 18.9.2002 of Additional District Judge, Court No.-2, Gorakhpur. By this judgment, the first appeal was allowed and original suit was decreed for the relief sought in plaint.

5. Against impugned judgment dated 18.9.2002 of the first appellate court, present second appeal has been preferred by the defendant of original suit.

6. This second appeal was admitted by order dated 7.4.2003 of this Court, but at that time no substantial question of law was framed. Therefore after hearing, after perusal of memorandum of second appeal, original records and on the basis of arguments preferred by learned counsels for the parties, following substantial questions of law are framed for deciding the appeal on merits:

(1) Whether the disputed plot no. 216 had been demarcated under U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act? If so, its effect on rights of plaintiffs-respondents?

(2) Whether the defence advanced by defendant-appellant is barred by doctrine of estoppels and acquiescence?

(3) Whether the defence advanced by defendant-appellant is barred by law?

(4) Whether the lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 executed by plaintiffs-respondents in favour of defendant-appellant is null and void?

7. Learned counsel for the appellant contended that this is a suit for recovery of possession of bhumidhari land but there is evidence that the said land is being used for non-agricultural purposes. Since no proceeding under Section 143 of UPZA & LR Act has been conducted, therefore no finding could be given about change of agricultural nature of disputed property. Without considering these facts, judgment given by lower appellate court is erroneous. He further submitted that after abolition of zamindari the UP urban Area Zamindari Abolition Act has come into operation, and disputed land was demarcated. So plaintiffs had been deprived of their alleged bhumidhari rights because disputed property had vested in State by operation of law; but these facts were suppressed by the plaintiffs/respondents at the time of execution of registered lease-deed in question which in itself is a void document and is not enforceable under the law. He further submitted that defendant/appellant became sub-tenant of the disputed property which was earlier held by plaintiffs, so relief of eviction is exclusively within jurisdiction of revenue court. Unless it is proved that disputed property is non-bhumidhari land, as such, the relief cannot be granted to plaintiffs. The lower court should have framed issues on this point before deciding the matter. He submitted that civil court has no jurisdiction to grant relief for agricultural property. For these reasons appeal should be allowed. He admitted after taking possession to the disputed land from plaintiffs, defendant/appellant had stopped paying rent to him admissible under registered lease-deed executed by the parties. His submission was that in aforesaid circumstances civil court has no jurisdiction to grant relief to plaintiffs. He further contended that plaintiff no.-2 of the original suit had died and was not substituted; therefore relief cannot be granted regarding his share. These points were not considered by lower appellate court at the time of passing of the impugned judgment, therefore appeal should be allowed.

8. Learned counsel for the respondents contended that defendant/appellant had admittedly executed registered lease deed dated 23.2.1972 and on same day had taken possession of said land and agreed to pay rent, as admitted in the pleadings of the parties. His submission was that in any circumstances, defendant cannot deny or challenge the right of his lessor and plea taken by him is barred by doctrine of estoppel and from the provisions of Section 116 of Indian Evidence Act. He further submitted that no plea of bar under Section 331-A of UPZA & LR Act and lack of jurisdiction of court was taken by the appellant in lower court. Such plea cannot be raised directly in second appeal by defendant/appellant. He further submitted that bhumidhari rights and title of plaintiff over dispute property is admitted fact in the pleadings, and there is no evidence to prove that disputed property was ever demarcated; therefore the judgment of lower appellate court giving such finding is without infirmity or error. He further submitted that in spite of absence of one co-owner the other co-owners can file suit on his behalf for eviction; therefore, the death of plaintiff no. 2 will not bar relief required in the suit. There is no error in the impugned judgment, so appeal should be dismissed.

9. The main point of contention is that the disputed land has been demarcated under the U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act, therefore that plaintiffs-respondent had lost his legal rights over it. The pertinent point is that if the said land was demarcated then that must have been some evidence of it. This point was not properly considered by the trial Court, but the first appellate Court had properly scrutinized the evidences and after discussing them, gave specific and direct finding of fact that said land was not demarcated. This finding of the first appellate Court appears correct that had there been any demarcation, there must have been evidence for the same. The absence of any evidence regarding demarcation leads to only inference that the demarcation of disputed land was not proved. The fact of demarcation was pleaded and asserted by the defendant-appellant, therefore burden of proving the same is on defendant-appellant; but he had failed to discharge this burden. Therefore findings of the first appellate Court in this regard is found correct that the disputed land of plot no. 216, Purdilpur was never demarcated under the U.P. Urban Zamindari Abolition Act, and said findings are hereby confirmed. Accordingly the first substantial question of law is decided in negative, against appellant-defendant and in favour of the respondent-plaintiffs.

10. Sections 115 and of 116 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 reads as under:

“115. Estoppel.-When one person has, by his declaration, act or omission, intentionally caused or permitted another person to believe a thing to be true and to act upon such belief, neither he nor his representative shall be allowed, in any suit or proceeding between himself and such person or his representative, to deny the truth of that thing.

Illustration- A intentionally and falsely leads B to believe that certain land belongs to A, and thereby induces B to buy and pay for it. The land afterwards becomes the property of A, and A seeks to set aside the sale on the ground that, at the time of the sale, he had no title. He must not be allowed to prove his want of title.

116. Estoppel of tenant; and of licensee of person in possession.- No tenant of immovable property, or person claiming through such tenant, shall, during the continuance of the tenancy, be permitted to deny that the landlord of such tenant had, at the beginning of the tenancy, a title to such immovable property; and no person who came upon any immovable property by the licence of the person in possession thereof shall be permitted to deny that such person had a title to such possession at the time when such licence was given.”

11. In original suit, in reply to plaint averments, the defendant had filed written-statement in which he had admitted that the disputed land was in possession and user of plaintiffs. After accepting the plaintiffs to be the owner and title holder of said property he had taken possession of it from them after execution of registered lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 and had agreed to pay monthly rent for 15 years at the rate of Rs. 931/- per month and thereafter monthly rent at the rate of Rs. 1151/ per month and had also admitted to pay premium amount of Rs. 8000/- against which he had paid Rs. 500/-. Had there been no execution of lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 and contract for payment of monthly rent as well as premium amount, there would have been no occasion for the plaintiffs to hand over possession of disputed property and there was no reason for defendant-appellant to get the possession of the same.

12. In this matter the defendant-appellant had by his act and declaration in form of registered lease-deed had intentionally and deliberately caused the plaintiffs-respondents to believe that he will pay lease rent and premium and shall recognize right of plaintiffs as owner/ lessor of the property in question and hand over its possession to them after stipulated period. It is also admitted that acting upon such belief, the plaintiffs-respondents had handed over the possession of disputed property to defendant-appellant. Therefore the defendant-appellant cannot be allowed in any suit to deny the truth of title and right to get possession back of said property. His defence as well as the contentions in this appeal are not acceptable, and barred by section 115 of the Indian Evidence Act.

13. After entering into registered lease deed and the contract is relating it, the appellant became lessee and tenant of the disputed immovable property. Therefore under section 116 of the Indian Evidence Act, he or any person claiming through him cannot be permitted to deny being the tenant and lessee of the plaintiff-respondents. The defence of the appellant is barred by the principle of estoppels and acquiescence. Accordingly the 2nd substantial question of law is decided in affirmative, and against appellant-defendant.

14. In view of the findings of first and second substantial questions of law, as above, it is held that after its earlier admission at the time of execution of registered lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 regarding the title, lessor-ship and ownership of plaintiffs and their right to get back possession of disputed property, the defence of the defendant-appellant containing denial of his earlier of admission is barred by law. The defence of the appellant-defendant is barred by sections 115, and 116 Indian Evidence Act.

15. Apart from it the appellant had claimed in their written-statement that they had become Bhumidhar of the disputed land. Any such right of appellant cannot be recognized unless it is declared by competent revenue court, which is not their case. Without any such declaration, the appellants cannot legally raise defence of their title and ownership of disputed land. Therefore their defence is not legally acceptable and barred by law. The third substantial question of law is accordingly decided in affirmative, and against the defendant-appellant.

16. As held earlier the plaintiff-respondents had been in possession and user of disputed property, and had been exercising their rights over it as owner, without any adverse claim from any other person. The defendant-appellant had admitted their aforesaid rights. Admittedly on the promise of defendant-appellant to act as lessor-tenant, the parties had executed registered lease-deed dated 23.2.1972 without any misrepresentation or fraud. In absence of any error or illegality in said lease-deed, this enabled the defendant to take possession of the property in question. There is no reason to hold said lease-deed as null or void. If said lease-deed was invalid or void, then possession of appellant on its basis was erroneous, and the possession of plaintiff-respondents should be restored. So there is no error in judgment under challenge in this appeal. Apart from it, as held earlier the defendant-appellant cannot legally raise such plea in defence, and he is legally estopped from doing so. The plea of defendant-appellant in this regards barred by principle of estoppel and acquiescence. For these reasons fourth substantial question of law is decided in negative.

17. On the basis of above discussion it is found that the plaint case, on its facts was rightly found proved by the first appellate court. This court had re-appreciated the evidences adduced by parties during the proceedings, and discussed them before holding that disputed land belongs to title and rights of plaintiffs-respondents, and also that the defendant-appellant is neither owner nor has right to retain its possession. On examination of reasonings recorded by the learned first appellate court in first appeal, I am of the view that its judgment is well reasoned and based upon proper appreciation of entire evidences on record. These findings appear to have been given after application of mind and are apparently acceptable. No perversity or infirmity is found in the finding of fact recorded by the first appellate court to warrant interference through this appeal. None of the contentions of learned counsel for the defendant-appellants can be sustained.

18. On the basis of above discussion it is also proved that defence of defendant-appellant is not tenable. He cannot plead against his own admission which led the plaintiffs-respondents to hand over possession of disputed property to him. It is also found that the defence of the appellant is barred by principle of estoppels and acquiescence. It is also proved that the defendant-appellant had failed to prove his right or title over disputed property, while plaintiff-respondent's rights over this property is proved. Therefore appellant is not entitled to any relief in this second appeal.

19. In view of the above this appeal is dismissed with costs.
