1. Rule.

2. Heard forthwith by consent of learned counsel for the parties.

3. The petitioners, who claim to be social activists, have instituted this petition in the public interest under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, challenging the resolution/proposal which has been passed/approved by respondent no. 4-Kanpur Development Authority (for short "KDA") in its 112th Board meeting dated 14.10.2014. By this resolution, KDA have decided to construct an underground parking in Phoolbagh, which, according to the petitioners, is contrary to and in defiance of the judgement of this Court dated 12.9.2014 rendered in Public Interest Litigation (PIL) No. 42083 of 2014. The petitioners have also made consequential prayers in the PIL.

4. PIL No. 42083 of 2014 was also filed by the petitioners, challenging the validity of a decision of KDA to construct an underground car parking area for 680 cars in the lower basement with a shopping complex of 150 shops in the upper basement in a portion of Phoolbagh park at Kanpur. The challenge was on the ground that the construction of an underground shopping complex and car parking in an area reserved for a park under the Master Plan is unlawful. The project, that was under challenge in the said PIL, envisaged the construction of an underground multilevel car parking facility of between 7000 to 8000 sq. meters and a shopping complex of 150 shops in the upper basement with a facility of providing for the parking of 680 cars in the lower basement, in addition to which, surface parking of 200 cars. The terrace garden was also envisaged over and around the central area where construction was to be carried.

5. In this backdrop, the issue which the Division Bench addressed was whether the construction of an underground shopping complex in an area which is reserved under the Master Plan as a park would violate the provisions of the Master Plan. Further, it was considered whether the construction of 150 shops which was liable to attract a large number of vehicles of persons who visit the shopping complex would at all alleviate the problem of traffic congestion outside Phoolbagh. The Division Bench after considering judgments of the Supreme Court in Bangalore Medical Trust vs. B.S. Muddappa, AIR 1991 (SC) 1902, G.N. Khajuria vs. Delhi Development Authority, AIR 1996 SC 253 and M.I. Builders Pvt. Ltd. vs. Radhey Shyam Sahu, AIR 1999 SC 2468 held that the decision of KDA to construct an underground shopping complex and car parking in the area of Phoolbagh was legally impermissible and was contrary to the provisions of the Master Plan prepared under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (for short "Act, 1973"). While so declaring, it was also observed that it would be open to KDA to conduct a fresh survey on the likely need for a car parking facility in the area and after a due and proper enquiry and survey, to conceive of a project involving the provision of a parking facility as an amenity appurtenant to the park. It was also clarified that the said judgement would not stand in the way of the Authority in taking necessary measures for beautification and maintenance of Phoolbagh as a park without disturbing its integral feature as a recreational open space.

6. Thereafter, KDA, it appears, conducted a survey and enquiry and has taken the impugned decision. It further appears that after following the due procedure, KDA also commenced with the construction of the underground car parking, providing parking space for 650 cars.

7. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned resolution dated 14.10.2014, the petitioners have filed the instant PIL alleging that KDA, in the name of survey and enquiry and under the garb of limited liberty given by this Court in the judgment dated 12.9.2014 in PIL No. 42083 of 2014, deliberately misread and misinterpreted the order and commenced the construction of underground parking. Petitioner no. 2 and the residents of Kanpur city, it is stated in the petition, submitted objections before KDA which, it appears, have been shelved by the Authority, inasmuch as it had pre-decided to proceed with the plan and just covered up with paper formalities. In short, according to the petitioners, the decision of the respondents, in particular KDA, was in contravention and defiance of the order passed by this Court dated 12.9.2014 in PIL No. 42083 of 2014, inasmuch as they wilfully misread the limited liberty given by this Court to proceed with multilevel parking as was originally conceived of by them earlier and which in unequivocal terms, as held by this Court, legally impermissible.

8. The Vice Chairman of KDA has filed counter affidavit denying all allegations made in the writ petition and has placed on record the materials including survey report dated 24.9.2015 (Annexure CA-14) in support of the impugned resolution. It would be relevant to reproduce paragraphs 37, 39, 41, 42, 44, 53, 54, 76 and 78 to know the exact stand of the KDA, which read thus:

"37. That further, the tract of land over which the car parking is now being constructed was a barren piece of land which was not being utilized for any purpose. It is stated that neither ecology of the park has been disturbed nor there would be any change in the nature of park. The multilevel car parking below the ground level would only add to the convenience of the visitors to the park and nearby areas. The said facility is presently a necessity in the city also.

39. That it is stated that the project of underground parking is being carried out after the survey was conducted under the directions of this Hon'ble Court. This project has also included the future possibilities and future inflow of the persons / vehicles in the park.

41. That it is specifically stated here that the Kanpur Development Authority has undertaken the beautification and renovation of the park in question. Various facilities / amenities are being provided by the Kanpur Development Authority in the park that would certainly attract a large crowd to the park. These visitors would certainly require a big parking lot.

42. That it is specifically stated here that the Kanpur Development Authority is creating walking track/ path way 3 meters wide about 960 meters, 2.5 meter about 210 meters. This walking track / path way would cover an area of 3273 square meters.

44. That the Kanpur Development Authority has further proposed to construct a separate jogging park of 380 meter length.

53. That in the meanwhile the officers of the Kanpur Development Authority started conducting survey which took three weeks time and the survey report was submitted and considered in a meeting dated 24.09.2015.

54. That the answering respondent brings on record a true copy of the survey report conducted by the Kanpur Development Authority. A true copy of the survey report dated 24.09.2015 is annexed herewith and marked as Annexure No. CA-14 to this affidavit.

76.In reply it is stated that the answering Development Authority has merely constructed an underground multilevel car parking that too without disturbing the ecology of the park in any manner. It is specifically stated here that the ground area above the car parking would remain as a park. It is specifically stated here that no commercial activity whatsoever is either contemplated or would be permitted at the site in question.

78.However, it is specifically stated here that even after the construction of underground multilevel car parking the land above it will be restored in the shape of park and would not be utilized for any other purpose and the same will continue to be an integral part of the Ganesh Udyan that too as a park."

9. In reply to the counter affidavit, petitioner no. 2 has filed rejoinder affidavit and in paragraph 5 thereof stated that "the development authority have not made any proposal for constructing parking facility appurtenant to the park but had made the proposal for constructing multilevel parking in the park itself, considering the need of the entire city. The proposal was against the Master Plan of the development authority and even against various judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court, which forbade any change in user of park or green area, contrary to the Master Plan." The petitioner no. 2, apart from denying the averments made in the counter affidavit filed on behalf of KDA, has also tried to demonstrate as to how the decision of the construction of an underground parking facility is also contrary to the provisions of Uttar Pradesh Parks, Playgrounds and Open Spaces (Preservation and Regulation) Act, 1975 (for short "Parks Act") and also against the Master Plan. In short, in the rejoinder affidavit, petitioner no. 2 once again made an attempt to demonstrate as to how the construction of underground parking facility in the park is likely to cause injury to the environment and ecology of the public park.

10. We have heard learned counsel for the petitioners and learned senior counsel for KDA and other learned counsel appearing for the remaining respondents at considerable length and with their assistance perused the entire materials placed on record.

11. Mr. Rahul Mishra, counsel for the petitioners, at the outset, submitted that construction of an underground car parking facility in an area which is reserved under the Master Plan as a park would violate the provisions of Master Plan. In support of this contention, he placed heavy reliance upon the judgment of this Court dated 12.9.2014 in PIL No. 42083 of 2014. He vehemently submitted that the impugned resolution is not only contrary to and in defiance of the judgment dated 12.9.2014, but going ahead with the proposal for construction of underground parking facility, would also amount to flouting of the said order of this Court. In support, he invited our attention to the conclusion drawn in the judgment dated 12.9.2014, wherein it was held that "an area reserved in the Master Plan as a park must be used as a park and a terrace garden above an underground shopping complex is no substitute for a park", as held by the Supreme Court in M.I. Builders (supra). He submitted, in any case, the construction of an underground facility for parking of 650 vehicles is not an amenity associated with the use of the park itself. He then submitted that if the underground parking lot is built then the park would no longer adhere to the definition of park under clause (b) of Section 2 of the Parks Act, 1975, which provides for minimum 95% of area should be laid out as a garden with trees, plants or flower beds or as a lawn or as a meadow and maintained as a place for the resort of the public for recreation, air or light. He then submitted that if underground car parking facility is provided then in that portion of the park, above the parking lot, trees cannot be planted apart from the fact that number of trees are likely to be cut for construction of the underground parking facility. He submitted, the park, which is of historical importance, cannot be allowed to be destroyed by constructing an underground parking facility, and thereby losing its character as a park. Lastly, he submitted that no survey as directed by this Court vide order dated 12.9.2014 and as observed by the Supreme Court made in M.I. Builders (supra).

12. On the other hand, Mr. Shashi Nandan, learned senior counsel for KDA, apart from reiterating what has been stated in their counter affidavit, on instructions, submitted that for construction of underground parking lot, KDA shall not cut a single tree. As a matter of fact, he submitted that the area of 1.5 acres where KDA proposed to construct underground parking lot, as on the date of decision, did not have a single tree and even today, this portion does not have a single tree. He further submitted that, in any case, KDA would construct the underground parking facility in such a way that the surface (ground level) of the park would not be disturbed nor any levels would be created and that one would even not realize that there is an underground parking lot beneath the park. He also submitted that KDA shall use modern technology for providing exhaust facility without causing any pollution in the park. In the course of arguments, he submitted, as a matter of fact, as of today, the portion where KDA propose to construct underground parking lot is vacant and is not used for any purpose whatsoever. After construction of the underground parking facility, KDA propose to develop a very attractive garden/park over this portion. In support of this contention, he also invited our attention to several paragraphs, few of which we have already made reference, of the counter affidavit.

13. The principal question that falls for our consideration is whether the construction of an underground parking in an area, which is reserved under the Master Plan as a park, would violate the provisions of the Master Plan, more particularly in the light of the judgment of this Court dated 12.9.2014 in PIL No. 42083 of 2014. At this stage, it is relevant to notice the question that was raised in the earlier PIL and the liberty given by the Division Bench, while disposing of the said PIL. The question was "whether construction of an underground shopping complex in an area which is reserved under Master Plan as a park would violate the provisions of Master Plan" and the liberty granted, while disposing of the PIL, was to conduct a fresh survey on the likely need for a car parking facility and after a due and proper enquiry and survey, to conceive of a project involving the provision of a parking facility as an amenity appurtenant to the park. Thus, the challenge in the earlier PIL was to the proposed construction of an underground car parking and a shopping complex of 150 shops in a portion of Phoolbagh park at Kanpur. The Division Bench while dealing with the question that fell for its consideration observed thus:

"...At this stage, it does not appear that any survey or study was carried out before a decision was taken to provide an underground shopping complex of 150 shops, on the impact of a shopping complex on the existing state of traffic congestion in the area. The presence of 150 shops is liable to attract a large number of vehicles of persons who visit the shopping complex. Whether this situation would at all alleviate the problem of traffic congestion outside Phoolbagh is a moot point. In our view, it was necessary for KDA to have carried out a thorough study in regard to whether the construction of a shopping complex, albeit in the basement would resolve the basic issue of traffic congestion."

14. Then the Division Bench after considering the judgments of the Supreme Court in Bangalore Medical Trust, G.N. Khajuria and M.I. Builders (supra) in one of the concluding paragraphs held thus:

"The submission is that only an area ad-measuring 1.5 acres of the park would be utilized for an underground shopping complex. The fact that "only" 1.5 acres of the total area of the park is to be utilized for the construction of a shopping complex together with an appurtenant car parking facility cannot, in our view, legalise the project. Conceivably, a Master Plan may permit making available a parking facility for the purpose of the visitors to a park or recreation space and this would be an amenity associated with the use of the park itself. But in no circumstances, can a recreational area be converted into shopping complex, whether below or above ground. In M.I. Builders (supra), the Supreme Court held that a terrace garden above an underground shopping complex is no substitute to a park. An area reserved in the Master Plan as a park must be used as a park. The Court cannot countenance devious attempts by public bodies to usurp the dwindling green areas that remain. Above all, the project in question, allowing as many as 150 shops in the basement, was conceived without a due and proper application of mind to the impact on congestion and density of population in an already over crowded area. In this view of the matter, we are of the view that it would not be appropriate to allow the historical park situated in the city of Kanpur and associated with important events of the freedom struggle, to be frittered away."

15. From perusal of the judgement dated 12.9.2014 passed in PIL No. 42083 of 2014, it is clear that the Division Bench had granted liberty to KDA to conduct a fresh survey on the likely need for a car parking facility and then to conceive of a project involving the provision of a parking facility as an amenity appurtenant to the park. In view of the observations made in the judgement dated 12.9.2014, the respondents claim that they conducted survey and after due and proper enquiry conceived of a project involving the provision of a parking facility only as an amenity appurtenant to the park. In other words, KDA dropped the proposal for construction of a shopping complex of 150 shops in the upper basement in a portion of Phoolbagh at Kanpur. It was categorically submitted on behalf of the respondents that they would not cut a single tree for construction of the underground car parking and would also not disturb the surface (ground level), and that after construction gets over, they would develop and maintain better garden than what exists as of today, in particular at the spot where they propose to construct the underground car parking lot. It was also submitted that after the construction is over and a garden is developed, one would not even realize that there is an underground car parking lot beneath the park/garden.

16. The project that has been cleared in the 112th meeting of KDA Board dated 14.10.2014, envisages construction of an underground car parking facility for 650 cars and the portion above the car parking lot, shall be restored back to its original position to be used as park/garden. It is well settled that any use, development or construction must necessarily abide by the provisions of Master Plan and the Zoning Regulations. The Master Plan which has been prepared under the Act, 1973 has statutory force. Once the Master Plan is notified, it has binding force and effect.

17. It appears that KDA, while proposing to construct underground car parking facility and shopping complex, did not carry out any study on the impact of the proposed shopping complex on the preservation of a historical park as a green area and further on the impact of a shopping complex on the existing state of traffic congestion in the area. It was noticed that the presence of 150 shops would attract a large number of vehicles of the visitors to the shopping complex. Whether that situation would at all alleviate the problem of traffic congestion outside Phoolbagh was not taken into consideration by the respondents. In this backdrop, the Division Bench in the earlier PIL had observed that "it was necessary for KDA to have carried out a thorough study in regard to whether the construction of a shopping complex, albeit in the basement, would resolve the basic issue of traffic congestion." There was nothing on record to indicate that any study was carried out on the impact of proposed shopping complex. Having so observed, the earlier PIL was disposed of with liberty to KDA, as mentioned above.

18. It is true, and in any case cannot be disputed that the public interest in the reservation and preservation of open spaces for parks and playgrounds cannot be sacrificed for any purpose whatsoever. Any such act would be contrary to the legislative intent and inconsistent with the statutory requirements. Furthermore, it would be in direct conflict with the constitutional mandate to ensure that any state action is inspired by the basic values of individual freedom and dignity and addressed to the attainment of a quality of life which makes the guaranteed rights a reality for all the citizens, as observed by the Supreme Court in Bangalore Medical Trust (supra). Absence of open space and public park, in present day when urbanisation is on increase, rural exodus is on large scale and congested areas are coming up rapidly, may give rise to health hazard. Therefore, in any case open space and parks cannot be allowed to be destroyed, either by constructing shopping complex or even for parking for that matter. What is necessary to see, in the present case, is whether construction of underground parking would either destroy the park or reduce the area of park more than 5% of the total area for providing ingress and egress to underground parking lot.

19. Our attention was specifically drawn to the observations made by the Supreme Court in M.I. Builders (supra) to contend that Phoolbagh is of historical importance and construction of underground parking would create grave to the environment ecology of the park, the surrounding area and the city, adversely affecting the health of the citizens. It was submitted that after the underground parking is allowed to be constructed, trees cannot be planted and the development of park above the underground parking lot would be more like a terrace park and in any case, it cannot be termed as a park. It would be relevant to notice the observations made by the Supreme Court in M.I. Builders (supra) wherein the decision taken by the Lucknow Nagar Mahapalika, permitting a builder to construct an underground shopping complex in the Jhandewala Park situated in Aminabad market Lucknow was under challenge. The Supreme Court was dealing with the judgment of a learned Single Judge, who held the decision to be unlawful and a mandamus was issued to the Lucknow Nagar Mahapalika to restore back the park to its original position. The relevant observations in paragraph 51 read thus:

"51. Jhandewala Park, the park in question, has been in existence for a great number of years. It is situated in the heart of Aminabad, a bustling commercial-cum-residential locality in the city of Lucknow. The park is of historical importance. Because of the construction of underground shopping complex and parking it may still have the appearance of a park with grass grown and path laid but it has lost the ingredients of a park inasmuch as no plantation now can be grown. Trees cannot be planted and rather while making underground construction many trees have been cut. Now it is more like a terrace park. Qualitatively it may still be a park but it is certainly a park of different nature. By construction of underground shopping complex irreversible changes have been made. It was submitted that the park was acquired by the State Government in the year 1913 and was given to the Mahapalika for its management. This has not been controverted. Under Section 114 of the Act it is the obligatory duty of the Mahapalika to maintain public places, parks and plant trees. By allowing underground construction Mahapalika has deprived itself of its obligatory duties to maintain the park which cannot be permitted. But then one of the obligatory functions of the Mahapalika under Section 114 is also to construct and maintain parking lots. To that extent some area of the park could be used for the purpose of constructing underground parking lot. But that can only be done after proper study has been made of the locality, including density of the population living in the area, the floating population and other certain relevant considerations. This study was never done. Mahapalika is the trustee for the proper management of the park. When true nature of the park, as it existed, is destroyed it would be violative of the doctrine of public trust as expounded by this Court in Span Resort Case (1997 (1) SCC 388). Public Trust doctrine is part of Indian law. In that case the respondent who had constructed a motel located at the bank of river Beas interfered with the natural flow of the river. This Court said that the issue presented in that case illustrated "the classic struggle between those members of the public who would preserve our rivers, forests, parks and open lands in their pristine purity and those charged with administrative responsibilities who, under the pressures of the changing needs of an increasingly complex society, find it necessary to encroach to some extent upon open lands heretofore considered inviolate to change"

20. From perusal of the above observations made by the Supreme Court, it is clear that one of the obligatory functions of the Nagar Mahapalika under Section 114 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipal Corporation Adhiniyam, 1959 (in short Adhiniyam of 1959) is to construct and maintain parking lot. Having regard thereto, the Supreme Court observed that some area of the park could be used for the purpose of constructing underground parking lot. But that can only be done after proper study has been made of the locality, including density of the population living in the area, the floating population and other certain relevant considerations.

21. In that case, the Supreme Court was considering the challenge to the construction of an underground shopping complex and in view thereof, it was also held that the Master Plan could not have envisaged Jhandewala Park being used as a site for commercial purposes, considering the density and congestion in the area.

22. It is not in dispute that Kanpur is one of the most populated cities not only in India but in the world. It faces traffic congestion problem day in and day out. It is also not in dispute that the area around Phoolbagh park is marked by heavy traffic congestion since a crowded market place is situated in close proximity of the park. Traffic congestion causes inconvenience not only to the residents of area and the persons visiting markets situated in close proximity of the park, but also to the visitors to the park. It is also not in dispute that the visitors to the park and even to the market place situated in close proximity of the park do not have parking facility and they find it extremely difficult to park their vehicles, and situation there force them to park their vehicles on crowded road and lanes, which further causes traffic congestion and also air pollution. It was contended on behalf of the petitioners that though the area of Phoolbagh was originally 40 acres, what remains as of today as park, is an area of about 18 acres. Out of this area of park, KDA proposes to use 1.5 acres for an underground parking facility. After the judgment of this Court in the earlier PIL, we are informed, KDA decided not to reduce the area of park at all and provide an underground car parking facility without disturbing the surface (ground level) of the park and to provide a modern exhaust facility without creating any pollution in the park.

23. In our opinion, parking lot, irrespective of the fact whether, it is at ground level or underground, for a park, as per the Master Plan, would be an amenity associated with the use of the park itself as observed by the Supreme Court in M.I. Builders (supra), after making reference to Section 114 of the Adhiniyam of 1959. Construction of underground parking to some extent is permissible in law. What is required is only that such decision has to be taken after proper study of the locality, including the density of the population living in the area, the floating population and other certain relevant considerations, such as traffic congestion. Dropping of the original proposal for construction of an underground shopping complex is an outcome of the study/survey conducted by KDA for car parking facility in the area as an amenity appurtenant to the park. We have, with the assistance of learned senior counsel for KDA, gone through the survey report dated 24.9.2015. The report is exhaustive. Lot of photographs are also placed on record, which show the physical condition of the area around the park. The report and the photographs placed on record are sufficient to convince that the parking facility is necessary and it could be only underground. The Supreme Court in M.I. Builders (supra) has undoubtedly observed that a terrace garden above an underground shopping complex is no substitute to a park but that was in the light of the nature of project under consideration, namely underground shopping complex. In the very same judgment, as noticed earlier, the Supreme Court also observed that some area of the park could be used for the purposes of constructing underground parking lot having regard to surrounding areas where the people suffer every day due to traffic congestion. The only alternative left to KDA is to provide underground parking lot without causing any disturbance to the park on the surface.

24. In our opinion, the observations made by this Court in the order dated 29.7.2015 were prima facie observations and they cannot be taken as final opinion on the questions raised in the writ petition. Section 13 of the Act, 1973 also would not come in our way to take the view, that we are taking in the instant PIL. From sub-section (1) of Section 13, it is manifest that the Authority may make only those amendments which do not affect important alteration in the character of the plan. It means the respondents do not have an absolute right of amending the Master Plan or the zonal development plan. The basic characteristic of such a plan cannot be altered by the Authority. Only that amendment is permissible under Section 13(1) which does not affect the basic character of the plan. Open space lying for park in the plan forms a basic feature of the plan and that cannot be amended. A plan cannot be amended so as to denude the plan of such a basic feature. Section 13 (1) can in no circumstances be interpreted so as to clothe KDA to utilise the open space reserved for a park either to construct buildings or use it in any other manner, which is foreign to the concept of a park. (See D.D. Vyas and others vs. Ghaziabad Development Authority, Ghaziabad, 1992 Legal Eagle (ALD) 131). In the present case, the basic characteristic of Master Plan has not been altered and, therefore, the question of even amendment of the Master Plan also did not arise.

25. Project of underground parking, the manner in which KDA proposes to develop, as observed earlier, in our opinion, would not alter the Master Plan or the zonal development plan. On the contrary, the provision of a parking facility that KDA proposes to provide by constructing underground parking lot, is an amenity appurtenant to the park. It is the obligatory duty of Mahapalika to maintain public places, parks and plant trees. It is also one of the obligatory functions of the Mahapalika under this provision, to construct and maintain parking lot and to that extent some area of park could be used for the purpose of constructing underground parking lot. In our opinion, the characteristic of park, as defined by clause (b) of Section 2 of the Parks Act, would not be changed or defaced, by construction of the underground parking facility in Phoolbagh.

26. In the result, the petition is dismissed with no order as to costs.

27. Before parting, in the larger interest of the people in Kanpur, we issue the following directions to KDA:

(i) KDA for construction of the underground parking facility, as proposed, shall not cut a single tree;

(ii) KDA after construction of the underground parking facility shall develop the park and to have appearance of a park, provide lawn, flower beds, walking track/jogging track, etc. In short, under any circumstances, KDA should see to it that after construction of the underground car parking facility, the park above the parking lot, shall not lose its character as a park;

(iii) KDA shall provide exhaust facilities, for the underground parking facility, in such a way that it shall not, in any case, cause any air pollution in the park;

(iv) KDA shall reserve minimum half of the parking space in the underground parking lot for the vehicles of visitors to the park; and

(v) KDA even in future shall not use any portion of the park for any purpose other than for a park as defined under Section 2 (b) of the Parks Act.

Compliance of Section 17 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887 is mandatory for maintaining an application under Order IX Rule 13 CPC for setting aside an ex-parte decree. The applicant must either deposit the decretal amount or furnish security at the time of filing the application (or within the prescribed limitation period).

Non-compliance of Section 17 is fatal, and in such case, the application under Order IX Rule 13 CPC is not maintainable.

If Section 17 is not complied with, there is no valid presentation of the application, and the Court lacks jurisdiction to entertain it.

Delay in complying with Section 17 cannot be condoned, as:

No such power exists in the Act, and Section 5 of the Limitation Act does not apply.

Deposit/security must be within 30 days from knowledge of decree (as per Article 123 Limitation Act), failing which the application fails.

The purpose of Section 17 is to:

Protect the decree-holder/landlord, and Prevent misuse by tenants delaying proceedings.

Courts cannot assume jurisdiction unless mandatory conditions of Section 17 are fulfilled.

Orders allowing delayed compliance or liberal interpretation contrary to Section 17 are without jurisdiction and liable to be set aside.

Consequently, orders of S.C.C. Court and Revisional Court allowing delayed compliance were quashed, and petitions were allowed.

2. In the connected Writ Petition No.58290 of 2014 (Shri Panchayati A.M.V.S.B.D.S. Sansthan v. A.D.J. Varanasi & 3 Ors.), the order dated 17.7.2013 passed by the Judge, Small Causes Court namely the Civil Judge, Varanasi in Misc. Case No.83 of 2012 (Ram Prakash Pathak v. Nagendra Upadhyay) on application under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 1887) and the order passed by the Revisional Court dated 15.9.2014 in S.C.C. Revision No.21 of 2013 (Panchayat Akhara v. Ram Prakash Pathak & Anr.) are under challenge.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the Application Paper No.4 Ga filed for setting aside the ex-parte decree dated 9.12.2011 was not accompanied by an Application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887. The Application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. was filed by the tenant-respondent No.3 on 6.8.2012 with the assertion that he came to know about the ex-parte decree dated 9.12.2011 only on 26.7.2012 when he met respondent No.1 namely Nagendra Upadhyay at Varanasi.

4. It is stated that the application Paper No.13 Ga under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 for furnishing security was moved subsequently on 12.9.2012 i.e. after a gap of one month and six days. The petitioner filed objection Paper No.17 Ga contesting the said application on the ground that it was required to be moved prior to filing of the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C for recall of the ex-parte decree or at least along with the said application. The Court below had no jurisdiction to extend time for depositing the decretal money or furnishing security in lieu thereof, on a delayed application moved under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 by the tenant-judgment debtor.

5. The Judge Small Causes Court allowed the Application Paper No.13 Ga filed under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 on the wrong premises that only rider to entertain the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. is that it cannot be heard or decided in case of non-compliance of Section

17(1) of the Act i.e. in case of non-furnishing of security or deposit of decreetal money, however, there is no bar in entertaining an Application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887, if filed, before presentation i.e. hearing on the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C.

6. The Revisional Court in the order dated 15.9.2014 also took the same view and held that since the Application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. has not been presented for hearing till filing of the application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 and as such there was no legal impediment in entertaining the said application. The order passed by the S.C.C. Court in allowing the tenant-applicant to furnish the security on the application Paper No.13 Ga dated 12.9.2012 was affirmed.

7. On the other hand, the application Paper No.4 Ga under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. for setting aside ex-parte decree was rejected vide order dated 30.5.2015 on the ground that the tenant-applicant did not comply with the mandatory requirements of Section 17 of the Act, 1887. The application for furnishing security was moved after more than 30 days of moving application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. for recall of ex-parte decree. The provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act have no application to condone the delay in making deposits under Section 17 of the Act, 1887. Thus, the delay in filing the application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was fatal.

8. In S.C.C. No. 17 of 2015 the Court below allowed the Revision by order dated 1.2.2016 setting aside the order dated 30.5.2015 on the ground that the application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was already allowed on 17.7.2013 and the request of the applicant to furnish security in lieu of the decreetal money has already been accepted. Further, it is noted that the application Paper No.14 Ga under Section 5 of the Limitation Act has been allowed vide order dated 2.3.2015 at the cost of Rs.300/- and the delay in filing the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. for recall of ex-parte decree has been condoned. The matter was remanded back to the Court below to decide the application Paper No.4 Ga under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. on merits.

9. Challenging these orders dated 17.7.2013, 15.9.2014 on the application 13 Ga & of dated 1.2.2016 passed on application 4 Ga, the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the compliance of Section 17 of the Act, 1887 is mandatory. The period provided under Article 123 of the Limitation Act to set aside the ex-parte decree is 30 days from the date of decree or from the date when the applicant had knowledge of the decree, in a case where summons or notice was not duly served.

10. In the instant case, the applicant got knowledge of the decree as per his own case at least on 26.7.2012. The application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. was moved on 6.8.2012 without giving any explanation for delay. The application Paper No.14 Ga under Section 5 of Limitation Act was filed on 14.8.2012 with the prayer to condone the delay in filing application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. However, prior to filing of application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C., neither the decreetal money was deposited nor an application was moved under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 to furnish the security in lieu of the decreetal money. The provisions of Section 17 of the Act, 1887 are mandatory as has been held by the Apex Court in the case of Kedarnath v. Mohan Lal Kesarwani & Ors¹.

11. So far as the view taken by the Revisional Court for setting aside the order dated 30.5.2015 of rejection of application Paper No.4 Ga under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. is concerned, the contention is that the Revisional Court had erred in observing that since the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act had been allowed on 2.3.2015 after imposing cost upon the applicant, there was no reason before the Court below to reject the application for recall of the ex-parte decree.

12. The submission is that any amount deposited after expiry of 30 days from the date of knowledge of the ex-parte decree cannot be accepted by the Court below. There is no provision under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 conferring power upon the Court to condone the delay for complying the condition to deposit the decretal money. For maintaining the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C., substantial compliance of provisions of Section 17 of the Act, 1887 is mandatory.

13. Reliance is placed upon the Division Bench judgment of this Court in Raj Kumar Makhija & Others v. M/s. S.K. And Co. & Others. ². Learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon the judgments of this Court in Roshan Lal & Ors. v. Rishi Pal Singh & Ors. ³ and in Kusum Devi (Smt.) v. Ram Ji Verma ⁴.

14. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent No. (1) namely Ram Prakash Pathak placing reliance upon the judgment of this Court in the cases of Prem Chandra Mishra v. II Additional District Judge, Etah & Ors. ⁵, Prabhu Dayal v. The District Judge Saharanpur and Ors. ⁶ and the decision in Suresh Chand v. VIIth Additional District Judge, Muzaffarnagar & Ors. ⁷, submits that looking to the summary nature of jurisdiction exercised by the Small Causes Court Act, the Court has to construe Section 17 of the Act, 1887 liberally to condone the delay so as to make the substantial compliance of the said provision otherwise it would be too harsh to non-suit the applicant. In the interest of justice, the insistence of the Court should be for decision on merits after opportunity and contest rather than ex-parte.

15. Referring to the observations made by this Court in Suresh Chand (supra), it is stated that Section 17 of the Act, 1887 being procedural in nature has to be interpreted in such a way that it may advance justice and facilitate to meet its end.

16. The object of Section 17 of the Act, 1887 is to ensure that the decree holder/landlord is not harassed at the hands of unscrupulous applicant/tenant who has avoided receipt of summons or the proceedings before the trial court and moved application for setting aside the ex-parte decree at the later stage on the pretext that they were not aware of the decree.

17. In the present case, the respondent No.1 moved an application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 with due diligence, before, the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. was presented/came up for hearing before the Court below. The interest of the landlord has been duly protected by the Court below by allowing the applicant-tenant to furnish security in lieu of the decretal money. After application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was allowed on 17.7.2013 and the order was affirmed in Revision, there was no occasion before the trial Court to reject the application Paper No.4 Ga under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C by a subsequent order dated 30.5.2015.

18. The Revisional Court had rectified the mistake by passing order dated 1.2.2016 and rightly directed the trial court to decide the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. on merits.

19. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

20. There is no dispute about the fact of filing of the application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 subsequently by the tenant. The application for recall of the ex-parte decree was filed on the ground that the summon or notice was never received by the applicant as he was not residing in Varanasi.

21. In the application for recall of ex-parte decree, the applicant states that he came to know about the ex-parte decree only on 26.7.2011 and thereafter on the legal advice of his counsel, he moved an application on 6.8.2012 for recall of the ex-parte decree dated 9.12.2011 and further moved an application dated 14.8.2012 for condoning the delay in moving the said application. However, no application under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was filed till 12.9.2012 when for the first time, the applicant-tenant pleaded that he was ready to furnish security in lieu of the decreetal money from March 2008 till September 2012.

22. The Judge Small Causes Court allowed this application on 17.7.2013 on the premise that the request to furnish the security could be accepted till the date of disposal of the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. It has failed to consider that under Article 123 of the Limitation Act, 1963, the application to set aside ex-parte decree has to be moved within a period of 30 days from the knowledge of the decree. The delay, if any, in presentation of application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. has to be explained in the application itself.

23. Moreover, as per proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 the decreetal money has to be deposited by the applicant at the time of presentation of application for setting aside the ex-parte decree or in alternative the application can be moved for furnishing security for the performance of the decree. That means the applicant who is seeking an order to set aside the ex-parte decree has to deposit the decreetal money due from him in the Court within 30 days from the knowledge of the decree or move an application under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 to furnish security for the performance of the decree.

24. It is a settled law that the provisions of Section 17 of the Act, 1887 are mandatory and non-compliance thereof would be fatal for the applicant who seeks for setting aside of the ex-parte decree (Reference to "Kedar Nath" (supra)). It is also settled that there is no provision under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 conferring power on the Court to condone the delay in compliance thereof. The provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act have no application and any delay in compliance of the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 cannot be condoned by the Court (Reference to "Raj Kumar Makhija" (supra)). The applicant has no choice. In order to maintain the application for setting aside the ex-parte decree, the applicant has to fulfill any of the alternative conditions provided in the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887.

25. In case such a condition is not fulfilled, there cannot be any valid presentation of the application for setting aside the ex-parte decree. If there is no valid presentation, the Court cannot assume jurisdiction. The question of entertaining application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. for setting aside the ex-parte decree goes to the root of assuming the jurisdiction by the Court. The Court cannot assume jurisdiction inasmuch as in absence of compliance of such condition, there is no application in the eye of law. The object behind Section 17(1) of the Act is to protect the interest of the landlord from further harassment and to secure/ensure payment of rent and to put the unscrupulous tenant to term to deposit the rent due against him before giving the opportunity of asking for consideration of application for setting aside the ex-parte decree.

26. In the instant case, admittedly the tenant did not move the application under proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 for furnishing of security for a period of more than 30 days from the knowledge of the ex-parte decree and moreover the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. was not accompanied by a deposit in the Court of the amount due from the applicant under the decree. There is no compliance of any of the conditions provided in the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 at all before moving the application under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. much less the substantial compliance by the applicant-tenant.

27. The reliance placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner upon the judgments of this Court in Prem Chandra Mishra (supra), Suresh Chand (supra) & Prabhu Dayal (supra) is misplaced inasmuch as the said cases are distinguishable on the facts and circumstances of the present case.

28. In view thereof, the order dated 1.2.2016 passed by the Revisional Court namely the Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Varanasi in S.C.C. Revision no.17 of 2015 cannot be sustained in the eye of law. The order passed by the S.C.C. Court dated 17.7.2013 on application 13 Ga passed by the Revisional Court is wholly without jurisdiction. The order dated 15.9.2014 passed by the Revisional Court in S.C.C. Revision No.21 of 2013, accordingly, cannot be sustained.

29. Consequently, the order dated 17.7.2013 passed by the Judge Small Causes Court in Misc. Case No.83 of 2012 (Ram Prakash Pathak v. Nagendra Upadhyay), the order dated 15.9.2014 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.9, Varanasi in S.C.C. Revision No.21 of 2013 (Panchayat Akhara v. Ram Prakash Pathak & Anr.) and the order dated 1.2.2016 passed in S.C.C. Revision no.17 of 2015 are hereby set aside. The order dated 27.5.2016 in Misc Case No.83 of 2012 is also liable to be set aside.

30. The order dated 2.3.2015 passed on application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act is of no consequence.

31. All three connected petitions namely the Matter under Article 227 No.2023 of 2016 (Shri Panchayati Akhara Mahanirvani Vaidik Sanatan Bhartiya Dharmik Sanskriti Sansthan v. Ram Prakash Pathak & Anr.), the Writ Petition No.58290 of 2014 Shri Panchayati A.M.V.S.B.D.S. Sansthan v. A.D.J. Varanasi & 3 Ors.), & Matter Under Article 227 No.5539 of 2016 (Shri Panchayati Akhara Mahanirvani V.S.B.D.S.S. v. Ram Prakash Pathak & Anr.) are, consequently, allowed.

32. No order as to cost.

33. The consequences of this order will follow.

In proceedings under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, the primary consideration is whether:

the cheque was issued in discharge of a legally enforceable debt or liability, and it was dishonoured.

Issues like whether the complainant is a licensed money lender are irrelevant in such proceedings.

At the stage of summoning, the court only needs to see whether prima facie case exists; detailed examination of facts is not required.

Minor irregularities regarding service of notice or timing of complaint do not vitiate proceedings if:

prima facie compliance appears, and no prejudice is caused to the accused.

Questions regarding actual service of notice are matters of trial.

The plea that cheque was lost and intimation was given to bank/police is a defence issue, requiring evidence, and cannot be adjudicated in proceedings under Section 482 CrPC.

Dishonour of cheque due to "stop payment" instructions by the drawer still attracts Section 138 N.I. Act, as it implies non-availability of funds for honoring the cheque.

Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 CrPC cannot be exercised when:

the trial court has acted on prima facie material, and disputed facts require evidence.

Since no illegality or impropriety was found in the summoning order, the application for quashing was dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. In Complaint Case No. 541/IX/2015 (Ram Chandra Sharma Vs. Subhash Mittal) the Court of Judicial Magistrate, Chhata, District Mathura had passed order dated 11.6.2016 by which applicant was summoned for prosecution of offence under section 138 N.I. Act. The summoning order as well as proceeding of said complaint case has been challenged by applicant through present application.

2. Heard counsel for the applicant and AGA and perused the record.

2. Counsel for the applicant contended that in complaint it is mentioned that complainant had given amount of cheque as loan, but he has no licence for profession of money lending. His further contention was that date of service of legal notice after dishonor of cheque was not proved, therefore there is no evidence that complaint was filed after lapse of period of 15 days after service of notice, which is illegality. His another submission was that the applicant's cheques were lost about which police and bank were informed and payment of those cheques were stopped under direction of applicant. In such matter provision of section 138 N.I. Act are not attracted. On the basis of these contentions, it was argued on behalf of applicant that proceedings of trial court should be quashed.

3. So far the contention of no evidence of complainant being money lender is concerned, it is totally unacceptable in proceedings under section 138 of N.I. Act. In such proceeding only this has to be seen as to whether cheque relating to any debt or liability was given to complainant it was dishonoured or not. In present matter there has been prosecution case that for discharge of his liability of loan applicant had handed over the cheque in question to complainant which was dishonoured.

4. So far alleged irregularity about service of notice and filing of complaint is concerned, this contention is also unacceptable. The trial court had observed in impugned order that after dishonour of cheque the complainant has sent registered notice dated 20.3.2015 to applicant and thereafter filed complainant on 7.4.2015. Although, it is not specifically mentioned in this order that after lapse of 15 days' period of service of registered legal notice the complaint was filed, but it is apparent that after about 18 days of sending registered notice, complaint was filed, and it was prima facie found sufficient by trial court at the time of passing the impugned order. In any case, due to this fact no prejudice was caused to applicant. Although it is also contended that legal notice was not served, but this is a fact that will have to properly scrutinized at the proper time during trial by trial court.

5. The another contention of counsel for the applicant is that before institution of the complaint, the bank and police were informed about loss of cheques. This fact may be correct, but whether it has been done in bona fide manner or with malafide intention, is a matter of evidence that can be appreciated only when evidence in that regard are adduced by both the sides.

6. The last argument of counsel for the applicant was that cheque was not dishonoured for any other reason but was dishonoured because payment was stopped by complainant side, therefore prosecution u/s 138 N.I. Act cannot be carried out in this matter. In this regard, provision of Section 138 of N.I. Act specifically provides that if cheque is dishonoured or returned by bank unpaid either because of amount of money extending to the credit of that account is insufficient to honour the cheque or other reason mentioned in this section, the prosecution may be carried out. The direction of drawer of cheque to bank for not honouring the cheque, in fact, amounts to the fact that amount of money for payment to drawee in relation to that cheque was not sufficient in bank.

7. The summoning order is passed on the basis of prima facie evidence. In present matter trial court has found that cheque relating to bank account of the applicant, when presented in Bank, was dishonoured under direction of applicant and thereafter on service of legal notice within time the amount of cheque was not paid. Prima facie there appears no illegality or impropriety in the proceeding being carried out by trial court that may require exercise of inherent jurisdiction of this court. Therefore, this application is dismissed.

At the stage of considering a complaint under Sections 200 and 202 CrPC, the Magistrate must be satisfied that a prima facie case exists for summoning the accused.

The Magistrate is not bound to accept all evidence at face value; he can assess whether the evidence is reliable or believable before issuing process.

If upon evaluation of evidence the Magistrate finds the complaint doubtful or not credible, he is justified in dismissing it under Section 203 CrPC.

The revisional court and High Court (under Section 482 CrPC) cannot reappraise evidence merely because another view is possible.

Interference under inherent jurisdiction is warranted only when findings are perverse or illegal; not when the trial court has taken a plausible view based on material on record.

Where the trial court, after proper consideration, finds that no prima facie case is made out, dismissal of complaint is valid and does not call for interference.

Since the findings of the trial court were not perverse and were based on evaluation of evidence, no interference was warranted, and the application was dismissed.

M/s Pepsi Foods Ltd. & Anr. vs. Special Judicial Magistrate & Ors. (1998 SC 128)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. The complaint case no. 336 of 2015 (Dwarika Prasad Vs. Sukharm and others) was filed for prosecution of opposite parties under Section 147, 148, 149, 452, 354, 323, 504 and 506 IPC for alleged maltreatment and molestation of wife of complainant by eight opposite parties including a lady. After accepting evidences under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., the ACJM, Court No.-5 had passed order dated 2.4.2016, by which said complaint was dismissed under Section 203 Cr.P.C.

3. Against said order of trial court, Criminal Revision no. 252 of 2016 (Dwarika Prasad Vs. State of U.P.) was preferred by complainant, which was dismissed by the judgment dated 23.7.2016 of Sessions Judge, Aligarh, by which order dated 2.4.2016 of trial court was confirmed. Against said orders of trial court as well as the revisional court, present application has been moved for exercising inherent jurisdiction and with request to pass order of cognizance and summoning against proposed accused persons/ opposite parties no. 2 to 9 of this application.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that trial court had not considered the evidences of complainant side, especially evidence of victim who had stated about alleged misbehavior committed against her wife wearing of dress and molestation. Therefore, impugned order dated 2.4.2016, which has been passed without properly appreciating evidences of complainant side, was erroneous and is liable to be quashed. He pointed out that this point was not considered by revisional court so order of revisional court is also erroneous.

5. Learned AGA has refuted these contentions and pointed out that on one hand applicant himself is absconding from the legal proceedings initiated against him by criminal court, and on other hand he is attempting to take help of court in present matter. He pointed out that there is no illegality or impropriety in the impugned orders.

6. This is a fact that in support of complaint, evidences under section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. were adduced including evidence of the alleged victim, but after going through them and considering other facts, the trial court had found the complaint case doubtful and also held that there is no prima facie case established for summoning the proposed accused persons. In the impugned order, trial court had also cited a case of 'M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. And other Vs. Special Judicial Magistrate and other 1998, SC 128' and accordingly passed impugned order for dismissing the complaint under Section 203 Cr.P.C. with finding that prima facie case for summoning the proposed accused is not made out.

7. This contention of applicant side is not incorrect that witnesses of complainant side had given evidences during enquiry under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. in support of the complaint case, but in spite of those evidences, the trial court had not found them believable at its face value.

8. At the time of passing order of cognizance or summoning, the Magistrate is not expected to accept every evidence adduced before it by its words or on its face value, if it is found unreliable or unacceptable to him. For passing such order, the satisfaction of Magistrate should be the basic consideration.

9. In present case trial court had rightly relied on aforesaid judgment of M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. case and had given finding that from available evidences, prima facie case is not made out and complaint version is not believable. Neither revisional court nor this court under inherent jurisdiction are expected to reappraise the evidences only on the ground that on the basis of evidences adduced before the trial court, there may be probability of reaching to one such conclusion which is different from that of conclusion of reached by trial court on basis of finding of fact, especially when the findings of trial court are not found altogether perverse. This is the case in present matter. Therefore, this court does not find any reason to exercise inherent jurisdiction to interfere in this matter.

10. Accordingly, this application is dismissed.

Held

The prosecution must prove its case beyond reasonable doubt; where the evidence is doubtful or unreliable, the accused is entitled to benefit of doubt.

If the presence of eyewitnesses is doubtful and their version is inconsistent with medical or surrounding circumstances, their testimony cannot be safely relied upon.

Non-examination of material witnesses (e.g., eyewitnesses present at the scene or crucial persons like the scribe of FIR) weakens the prosecution case.

Where the FIR itself becomes doubtful (e.g., scribe not supporting prosecution or stating it was dictated by police), the entire prosecution story becomes suspect.

Delay in recording statements of witnesses and absence of explanation for such delay creates serious doubt about the prosecution version.

Failure to recover alleged weapons of offence and absence of corroborative evidence further weakens the prosecution case.

Where conduct of witnesses appears unnatural (e.g., failure to intervene or save victim), their testimony becomes unreliable.

If the prosecution story is inconsistent with medical evidence or surrounding facts, it cannot be accepted.

In such circumstances, conviction cannot be sustained, and the accused must be acquitted giving benefit of doubt.

Accordingly, the conviction under Section 302/34 IPC was set aside and the appeal was allowed.

Thereafter his brother-in-law Ram Gopal married to another lady namely Hasia alias Hansia (appellant no.2). Since then Ram Gopal was in search of opportunity to kill her sister as he wanted to keep only Hansia alone with him in his house. On 21.6.1981 at about 6.00 P.M. his nephew (bhanja) Lalta Prasad s/o of the deceased came to his house and informed that his father was badly beating his mother. Immediately he rushed to the house of his sister Jasoda Devi (deceased) and saw that Jhamman Lal of the same Mohalla and his niece (Bhanji) Harpyari were present at the place of the incident and his brother-in-law, Bahnoi Ramgopal and second wife Hansia were badly beating his sister Jasoda Devi, with iron rod and lathi with an intention to kill her. Due to injuries his sister fell down and was crying. He and Jhamman Lal scolded to Ram Gopal and Hansia, then they went from there leaving his sister in injured condition. He brought his sister Jasoda Devi to the Hospital and got her admitted and after getting her admitted in the Hospital came to the Police Station for lodging of the First Information Report. The request was made to register the report and take legal action. The report was scribed by Bhagwat Saran s/o Ram Saran. The chick report was prepared by constable Puland Singh.

6) After the First Information Report was lodged and registered, the investigating officer came at the place of the incident and went to the hospital. Jasoda Devi was examined by the doctor and according to the injury report Ext.Ka.11 only one lacerated wound 3 cm x 5 cm x bone deep right side forehead, 3.5 cm above eyebrow was noted. X-ray was advised. Rest of of injuries were deferred as the condition of patient was found very serious. She was admitted in emergency ward and the police was informed. According to opinion, the injuries were caused by blunt object and fresh. During treatment Jasoda Devi expired at 1.45 A.M. in the intervening night of 21/22.6.1981. Postmortem examination was conducted on the body of Jasoda Devi who was aged about 45 years, in District Hospital by Dr.P.K.Bass, Medical Officer, District Hospital. As many as six injuries were noted. Injury No.4 was found dangerous. Injury No.1 was found lacerated wound 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep on right side forehead, 3 cm above root of nose, No.2 abraded contusion 1 cm x 1 cm on outer angle of right eyebrow, No.3 Contusion 4 cm x 2 cm on the right side head, 5 cm above right ear, No.4 Contusion 6 cm x 4 cm on the left side, 4 cm above left ear, No.5 Contusion 6 cm x 4 cm on the back of left side of chest 5 cm below scapula, No.6 abrasion 1 cm x 1 cm on the back of left elbow joint Haemotoma present, all below scalp. Left side skull bone pressed fracture in temporal bone. Membrane and brain congested. The cause of death was head injury and coma due to head injury. The postmortem examination report was exhibited as Ext.Ka 17.

7) From place of the incident blood stained and simple piece of cemented floor was taken for sample into two separate containers. Broken bangles were also collected from the place of the incident as Ext Ka.9 and kept in container by the Sub Inspector. Samples were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory and as per report blood stains were found on the pieces of cemented floors, dothi and petikot. Panchayatnama was prepared. Statement of the witnesses were recorded by the Investigation Officer. After death the case was converted under section 302 I.P.C. and after completing investigation and formalities, charge sheet was submitted by the second Investigating Officer Man Singh Sirohi, PW-12. The charges were framed by the 5th Additional District & Sessions Judge, Bareilly under section 302 I.P.C. on 4.12.1981. The accused appellant denied the charges and pleaded to be tried.

8) The prosecution to prove its case examined as many as 15 witnesses. PW-1 Mohan Lal, the informant, brother of the deceased Jasoda Devi, PW-2 Har Pyari, daughter of the deceased, PW-3 Jawala Singh who prepared panchyatnama in the hospital, Ext.Ka.3-4, The dead body was kept in sealed cover and the same was sent to the mortuary through constable Manohar Lal, PW-6, Ext.Ka.6 requesting him for postmortem examination on the body of the deceased Jasoda Devi and second Investigating Officer Man Singh took up the investigation next day on 22.6.1981, PW-4 Ram Autar Arun, the then Sub Inspector, PS Baradari before whom the First Information Report was lodged and chick report was prepared and he started investigation, PW-5 Sahadat Ali, Formasist who proved the injury report, prepared by Dr.Rajiv Agrawal, PW-6 the then Moharir who carried the dead body to the mortuary, PW-7 Din Das Ward Boy proved the death of Jasoda Devi at 1.45 P.M. in the intervening night 21/22.6.1981, PW-8 Head Moharir Ram Chandra Singh proved chick report and G.D. entry which was prepared by the then constable Puland Singh, PW-9 Dr. P.K. Boss the then Medical Officer, District Hospital who conducted the postmortem examination on the body of the deceased Jasoda Devi, PW-10 Sishupal Singh who was moharir in malkhana, kept the sample and deposited the same, PW-11 constable M.A.Beg, who carried the sample of pieces of cemented floor, bundle of clothes, keel of the deceased, broken bangles and bichhua of the deceased from Malkhana, PS. Baradari and deposited the same in Sadar Malkhana, PW-12 Sub Inspector, Man Singh Sirohi, the second Investigating Officer who took up the investigation, next day on 22.6.1981 and submitted the charge sheet against the appellants under section 302 I.P.C., PW-13 constable Puland Singh who prepared chick report, PW-14 Om Pal Singh who carried three sealed bundles related with the case and placed before the Chief Medical Officer, PW-15 Dr.Rajiv Agrawal who examined Jasoda Devi when she was brought in injured condition on 21.6.1981.

9) After prosecution closed its evidence the statement of the accused appellants Ram Gopal and Hasia were recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. They denied the allegations and charges and submitted that they were falsely implicated in the case. Further stated that in fact Har Pyari, PW-2, daughter of the deceased had developed illicit relation with a boy which was not liked by the deceased Jasoda Devi, hence some altercation took place in between them. When she (appellant) tried to intervene, she was also assaulted. Smt.Bhagwati was also present there. Further stated that the appellant Ram Gopal was not present at the time of incident. From defence two witnesses were examined. DW-1 Anil Kumar clerk State Bank of Bikaner and Jaypur to prove that one Om Prakash, one of the alleged witness of panchayatnama was in fact present on duty in the bank where he was class-IV employee. Scribe of the First Information Report namely Bhagwat Saran was examined as DW-2. According to him, his marriage was performed with Bhagwati eight years ago and at the time of marriage his both mother-in-laws Jasoda Devi and Hansia were present and participated in the marriage ceremony. They had cordial relations. After the incident he was in sadar hospital when he was called by Ganeshi Mama, the brother of Mohan Lal. He stated that he wrote the First Information Report on the dictation of the sub inspector, thereafter Ganeshi Mama put his thumb impression on the report, whose name was referred and mentioned as Mohan Lal. Paper and pen were provided by the inspector for writing the report. He also stated that Har Pyari, his sister-in-law PW-2 had illicit relation with one Lalta Prasad and after her statement was recorded in the court, she went to the house of Lalta Prasad and started living with him as wife. She also gave birth to a male child.

10) After hearing the argument of counsel for the parties and going through record, the trial judge held the appellants guilty for committing murder of Jasoda Devi and they were convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment vide impugned judgment dated 26.9.1983. Being aggrieved against which the present appeal was preferred.

11) Shri Harish Chandra Tiwari, learned counsel appearing as Amicus Curiae challenged the impugned judgment on the ground that none of the witnesses of fact examined by the prosecution were present at the place of the incident. PW-1 Mohan Lal was not present at the place of the incident. According to prosecution case he was informed by Lalta Prasad, minor son of Jasoda Devi (deceased), sister of the informant. After getting information he rushed to the place of the incident and as per averment his house was at a distance of 50-60 steps away from the house of the deceased. However, according to his averment and statement of PW-2 Har Pyari, daughter of the deceased, when Ram Gopal, the appellant no.1 (dead) and Hasia, appellant no.2 started beating to the deceased Jasoda Devi then Har Pyari, sent Lalta Prasad (son of the deceased) who was aged about 10-12 years old to inform Mohan Lal, brother of the deceased Jasoda Devi. When he came to know, he reached and saw that the appellants were beating with kick- fist and by saria (iron rod) and lathi, Ram Gopal was having saria and the appellant assaulted with lathi. In the injury report only one lacerated wound was noted and in the postmortem examination report six injuries were noted. (1) lacerated wound and 2 to 5 contusion which appear to be unnatural that the appellants continued to assault to her, during that period when Lalta Prasad went to the house of informant and thereafter the informant reached at the place of the incident. Lalta Prasad, son of the deceased was not examined by the prosecution.

12) From a perusal of the injury report it is clear that the injured Jasoda Devi was brought by Smt.Bhagwati, elder daughter and she was examined at 6.00 P.M. on 21.6.1981 by Dr.Rajiv Agrawal. Had Mohan Lal, PW-1 and Har Pyari, PW-2 were present, they might have tried to save her and got her admitted in the hospital for medical aid. It also shows that Mohan Lal was also not present at the place of the incident. According to opinion of the doctor injury no.4 was fatal and dangerous to life and due to injury no.4 death was possible which might have been caused by lathi. He also submitted that according to prosecution case Jhamman Lal, brother of the appellant no.1 Ram Gopal was present who was not examined. However, there was no attempt either by PW-1 or by Jhamman Lal to save Smt.Jasoda Devi who was first wife of the appellant no.1 Ram Gopal and the appellant no.2 Hasia is second wife of Ram Gopal. Smt.Jasoda was brought by Smt.Bhagwati and she was got admitted in the hospital at 6.00 P.M. According to PW-7 Dharam Das, Ward Boy, District Hospital and record, she died at 1.45 A.M. in the intervening night of 21/22.6.1981. However, there was no effort to record her statement.

13) Counsel for the appellants further submitted that the statement of Har Pyari was recorded after 21-22 days so there was delay in recording her statement. There was no recovery of lathi and saria. The statement of the witnesses were recorded on 13.7.1981. According to Investigating Officer PW-12 Man Singh, he searched the witnesses for recording their statements.

14) According to defence version and statement of PW-1 Ram Gopal, marriage with Hasia was performed 10-12 years before the incident. On the same day at 9.00 P.M. he was arrested from the hotel which was in the same house. The Distance in between the place of the incident and house of Mohan Lal and Ganesh was about more than one kilometre. However, according to defence case and statement of DW-2 Bhagwat Saran (scribe of the First Information Report) Bhagwati and Har Pyari, PW-2 were present in the house. The appellant Ram Gopal was not present there. PW-2 Har Pyari, daughter of the deceased Jasoda Devi had illicit relation with one boy. She wanted to go along with him which was opposed by the deceased Jasoda devi. Due to that some altercation took place and she was assaulted by PW-2 Har Pyari DW-2, further stated that he wrote the First Information Report on direction of the Sub Inspector and signed on that. He is also son-in-law of Ram Gopal and the deceased Jasoda Devi. His marriage was performed eight years ago and at the time of marriage, both mother-in-laws namely Jasoda Devi and Hasia (appellant no.2) were present. Both performed Kanyadan, hence the existence of the First Information Report itself become doubtful. However, the trial court failed to appreciate the defence version. Though the prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, the prosecution story was found suspicious, however, the appellants were held guilty, hence the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence is liable to be set aside.

15) Learned Government Advocate submitted that except minor contradiction and negligible discrepancy there is no major contradiction to affect the merit of the case. The witnesses whose statement are reliable, have supported the prosecution case. PW-1 Mohan Lal, informant is brother of the deceased. After getting information through Lalta Prasad, son of the deceased. According to him the distance from his house was about 50-60 steps away from place of the incident and after getting information he rushed to the house of the deceased. She was immediately taken to the hospital and after admitting Jasoda in the hospital Mohan Lal, PW-1 went to lodge the First Information Report. As per evidence and statement of PW-1 and PW-2 the deceased was legally married wife of Ram Gopal, appellant no.1 (since dead) and the appellant no.2 Hasia is second wife. Due to that quarrel used to take place in between the husband and wife and even he used to slap her. Her husband Ram Gopal also used to threat her to kill. On the date of incident i.e. in the evening of 21.6.1991 at about 5.00 P.M. both the appellant Ram Gopal and Hasia stated that the appellants were beating to the deceased Jasoda. The appellants assaulted with kick-fist and saria and lathi. Injury No.4 was found dangerous to life and death was possible due to that injury which was caused by lathi. The appellant no.2 was having lathi and appellant no.1 Ram Gopal assaulted with saria. Merely on the delay in recording the statement the prosecution story cannot be disbelieved because in the present case both the witnesses are reliable witnesses. Their presence are not doubtful. PW-2 is daughter of the deceased and PW-1 Mohan Lal, is brother of the deceased. There was no reason of false implication. The incident took place in the house of the appellants though according to defence case the appellant no.1 was not present in the house but no reliable evidence was placed whether he was present at the time of incident or not? However, defence made the allegation against PW-2 Har Pyari, daughter of the deceased and appellant no.1, that she was having love affairs and illicit relation with a person, on which the deceased raised objection and some quarrel took place in which she was assaulted by PW-2 Har Pyari and Bhagwati, the elder daughter of the deceased. The appellant no.2 Hasia tried to intervene, hence she also received injuries but the fact that Har Pyari was having illicit relation, subsequently she went alongwith him and gave birth to a child, was not proved by the defence. It appears that in defence false story was set up without any reliable evidence to support the same. Learned A.G.A. further contended that though DW-2 Bhagwat Saran, son-in-law of the appellant no.1 has not supported the prosecution case who is scribe of the First Information Report but it appears that due to pressure and influence of his father-in-law he has not supported the version of the First Information Report.

16) So for as Jhamman Lal, brother of the appellant no.1 is concerned, he was present at the place of the incident but being brother of the appellant no.1 if he did not appear as prosecution witness merely on this ground also prosecution story has not to be disbelieved. The prosecution case proved by PW-1 and PW-2 is also corroborated by the medical report.

17) Learned A.G.A. submitted as per version of the DW-1, PW-1 was not Mohan Lal rather he was Ganeshi, elder brother of Mohan Lal but there was no effort or any application on behalf of the defence to prove this fact that PW-1 who appeared as Mohan Lal was in fact not Mohan Lal rather he was Ganeshi, elder brother of Mohan. Merely on this defence version, prosecution story has not to be disbelieved.

18) Hence the appeal being devoid of merit is liable to be dismissed.

19) Considered the submissions of counsels for the parties and perused the records.

20) Admittedly the appellant no.1 Ram Gopal (since dead) was married to the deceased Jasoda Devi. According to prosecution case about two and half years back he remarried with Hasia appellant no.2 and since then he was in search of opportunity to remove and kill Smt.Jasoda and quarrel used to take place in between them. The First Information Report was lodged and registered by Mohan Lal, brother of the deceased Smt.Jasoda Devi. According to version of the First Information Report, on 21.6.1981, informant got information through his Bhanja (Lalta Prasad), son of the deceased Jasoda Devi at about 6.00 P.M. that his father was badly beating to his mother. Immediately he rushed to the house of his sister Jasoda Devi and saw that Jhamman Lal, brother of Ram Gopal (appellant no.1) and niece Har Pyari PW-2 present at the place of the incident and his brother appellant no.1 and his second wife Hasia were beating with iron rod (saria) and lathi. His sister Jasoda Devi had fallen down on the floor and was crying. When Jamman Lal and informant scolded them, then they left the house leaving the injured Jasoda Devi. Thereafter he took her to the hospital and after admitting in the hospital he went to lodge the First Information Report at the Police Station Baradari, District Bareilly which was written by Bhagwat Saran.

21) The prosecution did not examine either Jhamman Lal, brother of Ram Gopal and Bhagwat Saran, scribe of the First Information. Subsequently Bhagwat Saran was examined as defence witness (DW-2) who has not supported the version of the First Information Report. According to him he was married to Bhagwati, elder sister of Har Pyari, PW-2, daughter of the deceased Jasoda Devi and the appellant no.1 eight years ago. There was good relation in between them, even Kanyadan of Bhagwati was performed by both the mother in-laws namely Jasoda Devi and Hasia, (the appellant no.2.). According to him Harpyari has illicit relation with a person. According to defence version of the appellant no.1 Ram Gopal who is father of Har Pyari, PW-2 she had illicit relation with a person with whom she wanted to marry and there was objection raised by her mother Jasoda Devi (deceased).

22) According to DW-2 Bhagwat Saran, scribe of the First Information Report, First Information Report was not dictated by PW-1 rather it was dictated by S.I. (Daroga Ji), hence this story that PW-1 saw the incident appears to be doubtful. There are six injuries noted by the doctor in postmortem examination report and according to the version of the First Information Report and the statement of PW-1, the appellants started beating at about 5.00 P.M. with kick fist and iron rod saria and lathi and when PW-1 got information at 6.00 P.M., then he rushed to the place of the incident. Hence if the versions of PW-1 and PW-2 are correct that Jasoda was beaten by kick fist, saria and iron rod continuously for more than one hour but she had sustained only six injuries, out of which injury no.1 was found dangerous to life which was cause of death and other injuries were simple in nature. The cause of death was due to head injury and coma. Injury No.4 noted as contusion 6 cm x 4 cm on the left side head, 4 cm above left ear, hence it appears that PW-1 reached at the place of the incident subsequently and he did not see who assaulted the deceased Smt.Jasoda Devi. Apart from that, from a perusal of the injury report and statement of Dr.Rajiv

Agrawal, the then Medical Officer, Jasoda Devi was brought by daughter Smt.Bhagwati, wife of DW-2 Bhagwat Saran who is scribe of the First Information Report. The statement that she was taken to the hospital by PW-1 appears to be incorrect. The presence of Bhagwati was not shown in the First Information Report or in the statement at the place of the incident and even she was not examined from the side of the prosecution, who is elder daughter of the deceased. The deceased was got admitted by her in the hospital by Bhagwati, hence it appears that she was present at the place of the incident and hence immediately Jasoda Devi was taken to the hospital and got admitted her in the hospital. According to defence case also Bhagwati was present in the house and as per information given to her husband Bhagwat Saran, quarrel took place in between PW-2 Har Pyari and the deceased Jasoda. The appellant no.1 was not present at the time of incident in the house. He came to know regarding the incident subsequently. It appears that he was not aware that he was named in the First Information Report and the allegation was made against him because in the same night he was apprehended from the hotel by the police. The hotel was being run in the house. The scribe has not supported the prosecution case. The statements of the witnesses were recorded on 13.7.1981 though the incident took place on 21.6.1981.

23) There was no recovery of saria, lathi even the statement of Har Pyari was recorded after 21 days. Smt.Jasoda Devi was got admitted in the hospital at 6.00 P.M. She died at 1.45 A.M. but her statement could not be recorded during this period, even Lalta Prasad, son of the deceased was not examined by the prosecution as witness whose presence was shown at the place of the incident. According to defence, the distance of the house of appellant No.1 was more than one kilometer. Apart from that according to prosecution case Jhamman Lal, brother of the appellant no.1 and Har Pyari-PW-2 were present at the place of the incident, Lalta Prasad, minor son was also present and when Jasoda Devi was being beaten by the appellant, no one tried to save her and such conduct appears to be unnatural.

24) In view of the facts and circumstances and in view of the above noted discussions, the prosecution story which have not been supported even by the scribe of the First Information Report, is doubtful. The prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

25) The incident is of the year 1981. The appeal is of the year 1983. In view of the facts and circumstances the sole surviving appellant no.2 Hasia is entitled for the benefit of doubt. Hence the impugned judgement and order of conviction and sentence dated 26.9.1983 passed by learned VIIth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Bareilly in S.T.No.366/1981 under section 302 read with section 34 of I.P.C. arising out of Case Crime No.389/1981, Police Station Baradari, District Bareilly is hereby set aside. The appellant is on bail, hence her bail bonds and sureties are hereby discharged.

26) Accordingly this appeal is hereby allowed. We appreciate the assistance provided by Mr.H.C.Tiwari(Amicus Curiae) and learned A.G.A.

Held

Any administrative order which has civil consequences must comply with principles of natural justice, particularly audi alteram partem (right to hearing).

If an order is passed without affording opportunity of hearing to the affected party, it is vitiated and liable to be set aside.

Where pleadings regarding denial of opportunity are not specifically denied by respondents, the Court may accept such averments.

A statutory authority exercising power which adversely affects rights is duty-bound to act fairly and follow natural justice.

The impugned order rejecting approval of appointment was passed in breach of natural justice, hence unsustainable.

Consequently, the impugned order dated 15.02.2016 was quashed and the matter remitted to the competent authority for fresh decision after giving opportunity to all concerned parties.

Interim protection: If the petitioner is already working and receiving salary, he shall continue subject to final decision.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J.)

1. The petitioner has preferred this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution for issuance of a writ of certiorari to quash the order dated 15th February, 2016 passed by District Basic Education Officer i.e. the third respondent whereby he has rejected the approval of the petitioner for the payment of his salary to a class-III post.

2. The essential facts of the case are; Adarsh Intermediate College, Rajgarh, Pratapgarh (for short, the "Institution") is a recognized Intermediate college. It was a Junior High School. Later, it was upgraded to intermediate level on 05.02.2013. But, it receives grant-in-aid out of the State funds only up to Junior High School. It is governed under the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and the U.P. Junior High School (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1978.

3. It is stated that a vacancy occurred in the post of clerk in the Institution due to retirement of one Vijay Pratap Mishra on 31.01.2011. The State Government had put a ban on the recruitment of non-teaching staff. In May, 2015 the ban was lifted. The Committee of Management sent a communication to the third respondent seeking his permission for appointment to said vacancy. Pursuant thereto the permission was granted by the third respondent on 07.07.2015. Consequent upon, the Committee of Management of the Institution issued an advertisement under the intimation to the third respondent, in two newspapers, namely, Hindustan and Amar Ujala. It appears that the third respondent nominated an official (Block Education Officer) as an observer in the selection committee. The interview was held on 14th August, 2015. It is stated that the petitioner applied in pursuance of the advertisement and appeared before the selection committee on 14th August, 2015 and was found suitable. The committee of management sent the papers to the third respondent for his approval. By the impugned order dated 15th February, 2016 the third respondent has rejected the approval on the ground that the Block Education Officer, who was nominated by him, has submitted two contradictory reports on 15.08.2015 and 18.08.2015.

4. Having regard to the aforesaid conflicting reports, the third respondent directed another official to make a preliminary enquiry who had also submitted a report. On the basis of the aforesaid three reports, the impugned order came to be passed.

5. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the District Basic Education Officer. The stand taken in the counter affidavit is that the official, who was nominated for the selection committee, had submitted two contradictory reports. In the counter affidavit the details of conflicting reports have been highlighted and it is stated that in view of those facts the impugned order has been passed by the third respondent.

6. I have heard Sri Sharad Pathak, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel, Sri D.P. Singh Somvanshi, learned counsel on behalf of Surya Pratap Singh who has filed an application for intervention, and Sri Anu Pratap Singh, learned counsel appearing for the applicant-Mahesh Narain Tiwari who has filed impleadment application.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the impugned order has been passed in utter violation of the principles of natural justice as no opportunity was given to the petitioner prior to passing the said order. He has drawn the attention of the Court to the averments made in paragraph nos. 4 & 26 of the writ petition, wherein the petitioner has averred regarding breach of the principles of natural justice.

8. Lastly, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the papers relating to the recruitment were sent to the office of the third respondent on 18.8.2015 and since the third respondent has not taken the decision within stipulated period in terms of Rule-15 of the U.P. Recognised Basic School (Junior High School) Clerical Cadre Employees and Group-D Employees Recruitment and Service Rules 1984 it would be deemed approval and after the said period the Committee of Management has issued appointment letter to the petitioner.

9. Learned counsel for the intervenor has tried to satisfy the Court that the entire process of selection is vitiated on various grounds.

10. The first question which needs to be considered is whether the petitioner and the Committee of Management were given opportunity before cancelling permission to initiate recruitment process. The petitioner has pleaded that it was a case of no notice or opportunity. In that regard the petitioner has averred in paragraphs 4 and 26 of the writ petition which have not been specifically denied. Paragraph nos. 4 & 26 of the writ petition are extracted herein below:

"4. That the petitioner is aggrieved against the impugned order dated 15.02.2016 passed by the Opp-party No.3 by means of which the Opp-party No. 3 has rejected the application sent by the Opp-party No. 4 for grant of approval of selection and appointment of the petitioner on the post of Clerk in Junior High School of Adarsh Intermediate College, Rajgarh, District Pratapgarh, which College is receiving grant-in-aid from the State Government up to the level of Junior High School. The aforesaid impugned order dated 15.02.2016 apart from having been passed wholly illegally and arbitrarily, has been passed without providing any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner in utter violation to the principles of natural justice. The true copy of the aforesaid impugned order dated 15.02.2016 passed by the Opp-party No. 3 is being annexed herewith as Annexure No. 1 to this writ petition.

26. That despite there being nothing adverse against the petitioner, the impugned order dated 15.02.2016 has been passed by the Opp-party No.3 without affording any opportunity in the matter either to the Opp-party No. 4 or to the petitioner in gross violation to the principles of natural justice and in that view of the matter the impugned order dated 15.02.2016 passed by the Opp-party No. 3 is liable to be set at naught by this Hon'ble Court."

11. A perusal of the reply, which has been extracted herein below, indicates that there is no specific denial on behalf of the third respondent in regard to affording opportunity to the petitioner. Paragraph No. 14 of the counter is extracted herein below:

"14. That the contents of para No. 24 to 32 of the writ petition filed by the petitioner as stated are not admitted hence denied. In reply thereto, the averments made in preceding paras of the instant are reiterated."

12. It is a trite law that if a statutory authority has power to do any act which will prejudicially affect a person, a duty is cast upon him to conform to norms of the principles of natural justice. An administrative order which involves civil consequences must be made consistently with the principle of audi alteram partem. It needs no elaboration that the decision maker must afford opportunity to a party who is likely to suffer from the order. It is not necessary to multiply the authorities on the aspect. Suffice would it be to refer some of the judgements of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Orissa v. Dr. (Miss) Binapani Dei and Ors., (1967) 2 SCR 625; A.K. Kraipak & others v. Union of India & others, AIR 1970 SC 150; Msr. Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India and another, (1978) 1 SCC 248; Swadeshi Cotton Mills etc. v. Union of India etc., AIR 1981 SC 818; S.L. Kapoor v. Jagmohan and others, (1980) 4 SCC 379; and D.K. Yadav v. M/s J.M.A. Industries Ltd., JT 1993(3) SC 61.

13. On a careful consideration of the submissions of the learned counsel on either side and relevant rules to which my attention was drawn, I am of the view that the impugned order dated 15.02.2016 has been passed in total breach of the principles of natural justice. It stands vitiated. It is, accordingly, set aside. The matter is remitted to the third respondent to consider the matter afresh after furnishing opportunity to the petitioner, Committee of Management of the Institution and the applicants who have filed impleadment application and application for intervention, in case they move any application. The said exercise shall be completed expeditiously preferably within four months.

14. In case the petitioner is working and is being paid his salary, he shall continue, his continuance shall abide by the fresh order to be passed by the third respondent.

15. With the aforesaid observations the writ petition stands allowed.

16. No order as to costs.

Held

The writ petitions are maintainable; participation in the selection does not bar challenge where illegality lies in the manner of selection, not in the prescribed rules.

Rounding off of marks in the preliminary examination is illegal, as:

No provision exists in the Service Rules, 2008 or Instructions Manual.

It allowed ineligible candidates (<50%) to participate further.

Statutory eligibility criteria must be strictly adhered to.

Horizontal reservation was wrongly applied:

Candidates selected under horizontal categories (women, ex-servicemen, etc.) were wrongly placed en masse in the unreserved category.

This violates Section 3(3) of the U.P. Act, 1993.

Horizontal reservation must be category-wise (compartmentalized).

Calling more than 3 times candidates for Group Discussion:

Violates Rule 15(f) of the 2008 Rules.

Excess candidates must be excluded.

Use of whitener in OMR sheets:

Cannot be a ground for disqualification (as per Supreme Court).

Such candidates are validly considered.

Reserved category candidates on merit:

Can be selected against unreserved posts under Section 3(6).

State must periodically review adequacy of representation.

The selection process is vitiated due to:

Illegal rounding off,

Wrong application of horizontal reservation,

Violation of Rules in shortlisting.

Government Order dated 25.03.1994 is valid (intra vires):

Relaxation in age/fees does not affect merit-based selection.

Does not violate Articles 14 or 16.

The entire selection from the stage of main written result onwards is quashed.

Direction:

Re-evaluation and fresh selection to be conducted strictly as per law.

To be completed within 4 months.

H.C. Pradeep Kumar Rai v. Dinesh Kumar Pandey

Raj Kumar v. Shakti Raj

Madan Lal v. State of J&K

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. This is a bunch of writ petitions involving similar facts and issues relating to a challenge to the select list dated 25.06.2015 pertaining to selection to the post of Sub Inspector Civil Police and Platoon Commander held in pursuance to an advertisement issued on 19.05.2011 and also a challenge to paragraph 4 of the Government order dated 24.03.1994.

2. For convenience writ petition no. 5158 (SS) of 2015 has been treated as the leading writ petition and the facts mentioned hereinafter are based on its records.

3. Learned Advocate General initially contended that hearing of the matter be deferred on account of the reference made by a Division Bench of this Court in Writ-A No. 40695 of 2005 (Ajay Kumar vs. State of U.P. And others) as to what should be the mechanism for application of horizontal reservation in respect of various categories provided therein namely women, dependents of freedom fighter /physically handicapped etc. in the State of U.P. noticing a conflict in the ratio of Rajeev Kumar vs State of U.P. reported in (2010) 7 SCC 708. As this pleas was negated by a Coordinate Bench while deciding the case of Writ-A 37599 of 2015 (Ashish Kumar Pandey and others vs. State of U.P. and others) which has been upheld in Special Appeal and the mechanism for horizontal reservation is already mentioned in rule 3(3) of the Act, 1993 and clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual as also the Government orders on the subject, including women reservation, and as the grounds of challenge in these petitions go beyond the question of application of horizontal reservation, therefore, this Court does not find any reason to defer the hearing of these writ petitions.

4. The selection in question was regulated by the Rules known as U.P. Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Service Rules of 2008). As per the said Rules the selection was to comprise of a Physical Standard test [Rule 15(c)]; Preliminary Written test [(Rule 15(d)]; Physical Efficiency Test [Rule 15(e)], Main written examination [Rule 15 (f); Group Discussion (Rule 15(g); Tentative Select List [Rule 15(h)];

Medical Test [Rule 15(i)]; and Character verification [Rule15(j)]. Thereafter the appointment orders were to be issued. The physical standard test, preliminary written test, physical efficiency test, were to be of a qualifying nature and their marks were not to be added in the final merit.

5. Preliminary written test was to comprise of 200 marks. The candidate was required to secure 50% marks in the said test in order to be successful and for being called for the Physical Efficiency Test. In the physical efficiency test the male candidates were required to complete a run of 4.8 kilometers in 35 minutes female candidates were required to complete a run of 2.4 kilometers in 20 minutes. The main written examination was to comprise of 400 marks in various subjects and minimum fifty percent marks in each subject was necessary for being eligible for consideration for further selection. Having regard to the need for securing due representation of the candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and others under Rule 6, the Board was to prepare a list of successful candidates on the basis of marks obtained by them in the main written examination. The number of candidates selected in the main written examination as aforesaid were to appear in Group discussion to the extent of three times of the number of vacancies. The marks obtained by each candidate in main examination were to be added to the marks obtained by him in the Group discussion and on the basis of total marks obtained by each candidate as aforesaid, keeping in view the reservation policy, a tentative select list of each category of candidates in respect of vacancies was to be prepared and sent to the head of the department with recommendation, subject to medical test and verification of Testimonials/character, who was to undertake further action.

6. In the instant case the advertisement for the aforesaid selection was issued on 19.05.2011. The preliminary test was held on 11.12.2011. Its result was declared on 01.12.2013. The physical efficiency test was held between 05.02.2014 to 17.02.2014. On 14.09.2014 the main examination was held. Its result was declared on 23.04.2014 in which the petitioners were declared successful. Thereafter group discussion was held on different dates and the select list was issued wherein the names of the petitioners did not figure.

7. One writ petition was filed at Allahabad by Ashish Kumar Pandey and others (supra) challenging the same selection on the ground of erroneous application of horizontal reservation, wherein an interim order was passed staying the selection which was subsequently modified. The said writ petition was allowed on 16.03.2016 and the selection in question was quashed on the aforesaid ground. The opposite parties were directed to re-determine the merit list in terms of the direction issued therein. The aforesaid judgment was put to challenge by the State in Special Appeal No. 310 of 2015 wherein judgment was reserved. Subsequently it has been pronounced and the judgment of Hon'ble Single Judge has been upheld except to the extent, certain observations made therein unrelated to merits of the controversy, have been expunged. This development has taken place after the judgment was reserved in this case. As, in this writ petition the selection has been challenged on a number of grounds including those which were not raised in the aforesaid proceedings at Allahabad, therefore, it is necessary to decide these petitions on merits.

8. The total number of posts of Sub Inspector Civil police which were advertised for selection were 3698 out of which 777 were reserved for Scheduled caste, 74 were reserved for Scheduled Tribe, 998 were reserved for other backward class category and 1849 were for open/unreserved/general category. Total number of posts of Platoon Commander for selection were 312 out of which 66 were reserved for Scheduled caste, 6 were reserved for Scheduled tribe, 84 were reserved for other backward class category and 156 were for open/unreserved/general category. Thus the total number of posts advertised were 4010 out of which 843 were reserved for Scheduled caste, 80 for Scheduled tribe, 1082 for other backward class category and 2005 were for open/unreserved/general category.

9. Horizontal reservation for dependents of freedom fighter and ex-servicemen was 2% and 5% respectively. Under the Government orders such reservation for women was 20%.

10. The compartmentalized breakup of horizontal reservation provided for, in each social category, as worked out by the Board was as under:-

Open Category:

1. Women	370
2. Dependent of Freedom Fighter	37
3. Ex-Servicemen	92

OBC Category:

1. Women.	200
2. Dependent of Freedom Fighter	20
3. Ex-Servicemen	50

Scheduled Caste Category:

1. Women	155
2. Dependent of Freedom Fighter	16
3. Ex-Servicemen	39

Scheduled Tribe Category:

1. Women	15
2. Dependent of Freedom Fighter	1
3. Ex-Servicemen	5

11. The cut off marks of the respective categories at the final selection i.e. OC/OBC/SC/ST was as follows:-

1. Open category	- 328.5
2. OBC category	-316.0833
3. Scheduled Caste	-271.5
4. Scheduled Tribe	-235.4167.

12. 19 women candidates (9-General Category and 10-OBC) having obtained marks above the cut off marks for the open category were selected on open merit. Out of a total quota of 740 posts for women only 261 candidates could be selected, therefore, they were to be adjusted horizontally under the women quota. Likewise, candidates belonging to dependent of freedom fighter and ex-servicemen were to be adjusted horizontally.

13. As against 740 posts/vacancies reserved for women only 261 female successful candidates were available. As, except one all of them were, according to opposite parties, meritorious enough for appointment in the unreserved category and the 370 seats meant for the said category all of them were placed in the said category. Out of 200 seats for dependents of ex-servicemen based on horizontal reservation only 17 were available. Out of 200 posts 100 such posts fell for reserved category candidates whereas remaining 100 for unreserved category. As all 17 were meritorious enough to be appointed in General category, therefore, they were put in the said category. Similarly 37 dependents of Freedom Fighter were successful in the Sub-Inspector merit list against total seats of 80 (40 for unreserved and 40 for Scheduled Caste/Scheduled Tribe & Other Backward Class category), therefore, as all these were meritorious enough to be placed in unreserved category they were placed accordingly in the said category. Thus, all the candidates selected on the basis of horizontal reservation were adjusted against unreserved/open/general category and equal number of general candidates were ousted as a consequence thereof from the said category.

14. This Court on 04.11.2015 had recorded the points/questions which fell for consideration in these writ petitions, they are as under:-

1. Locus standi of the petitioners to maintain this writ petition challenging the criteria of recruitment after having participated in the selection process, specially the challenge to the government order dated 25.3.1994.

2. The permissibility of rounding off the percentage of marks for the purpose of eligibility for the main written examination, based on the marks secured in the preliminary examination, in the light of the pronouncement of the Supreme Court reported in (2011) 8 SCC 108.

3. Applicability of horizontal reservation for women dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-servicemen in the selection.

4. The calling of more than three times candidates for the purposes of group-discussion in alleged contravention of U.P. Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules 2008 as well as the instructions issued in this regard, for the O.B.C. Category.

5. The alleged inclusion of candidates who had used Whitener in the O.M.R. Sheets, allegedly in contravention of the judgment of this court in the Case of Saket Kumar & ors. v. State of U.P.

6. The number of O.B.C. and other reserved category candidates who were called for recruitment under the unreserved category based on their merit, bereft of reservation, and its effect on the application of reservation, to the recruitment in the light of the dictum of a Constitution Bench of the supreme court in the case of R.K. Sabbarwal v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (2) 745.

7. Whether any prejudice is being caused to the petitioners assuming the aforesaid infractions, apart from the alleged illegalities.

8. Subject to the locus standi of petitioners, as referred above, the validity of the G.O. Dated 25.3.1994 and the application of the judgment of the Supreme Court rendered in the case of Jitendra Kumar v. State of U.P., 2010 3 SCC 119.

15. The parties have exchanged their pleadings which have been perused. They have also filed written arguments which have also been perused. The parties were heard at length. Interveners and those seeking impleadment have also been heard through their counsel. As the stand of applicants seeking intervention or impleadment is the same as that of the official opposite parties, therefore, all such applications are disposed of with such right of hearing.

Point No. 1:

Locus standi of the petitioners to maintain this writ petition challenging the criteria of recruitment after having participated in the selection process, specially the challenge to the government order dated 25.3.1994.

16. The contention of the respondents herein is that the petitioners having participated in the selection in question unsuccessfully cannot turn around and challenge the same in view of the law declared by the Supreme Court in the case of Om Prakash Shukla vs. Akhilesh Kumar Shukla reported in 1986 (suppl) SCC 285; Chandra Prakash Tiwari vs. Shakuntala Shukla reported in (2002) 6 SCC 127; H.C. Pradeep Kumar Rai and others vs. Dinesh Kumar Pandey and others, (Civil Appeal No. 6549 of 2014) nor can they challenge the Government order dated 25.03.1994 as the same was in existence and was applicable to the recruitment in question prior to their appearing in the same but was not challenged by them earlier. In this regard they also relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh and another vs. State of U.P.

and others reported in (2010) 3 SCC 119 as far as validity of paragraph 4 of the said Government order was concerned.

17. The petitioners on the other hand contend that considering the grounds on which the select list is being challenged, as, they relate to the manner in which the selection had been held in violation of the relevant Service Rules namely; U.P. Sub Inspectors and Inspectors (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2008 and the terms and conditions of recruitment contained in the Instructions Manual, as also other statutory provisions applicable to the selection, even a participant can challenge the same.

18. Having heard the parties and perused the record, the court finds that the petitioners have not challenged the criteria of selection as mentioned in the Service Rules, 2008 nor the terms and conditions of recruitment mentioned therein or in the Instructions Manual or in the advertisement. The petitioners have challenged the manner in which the selection has been held allegedly in violation of the said Service Rules, 2008, Instructions Manual as also the law declared by the Courts.

19. The decisions relied upon by the respondents to assail the maintainability of these writ petitions to assert absence of locus standi of the petitioners in this regard apply in cases where participants raise a challenge to a rule, criteria or procedure known to them prior to appearing in such selection and where the selection, based thereon, is challenged. This is not the case here. To illustrate, the petitioners inter-alia are aggrieved by the manner in which horizontal reservation has been applied while preparing the select list contrary to the Service Rules, 2008, clause 3.3(3) of the Instructions Manual and the law laid down by the courts. They are aggrieved by the application of rounding off marks without there being any provision for the same in the Service Rules, 2008 or in the Instructions Manual. They are aggrieved by selection of unqualified and ineligible persons contrary to the Rules. They are aggrieved by calling of more than three-times candidates for the purpose of Group-discussion in violation of Rule 15(f) of the Service Rules, 2008 and Clause 2.7 of the Instructions Manual. They are aggrieved by lack of transparency and fairness in the selection. They have also challenged the correctness of answers to questions. They have alleged violation of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution as well as Service Rules, 2008 etc. Many of the illegalities are alleged to have come to their knowledge only after the result of the selection was declared such as, those relating to application of horizontal reservation, rounding off the marks, manner of preparation of selection list etc.

20. These are the grounds on which even a participant to a selection can challenge the same and there is no question of estoppel or acquiescence as there is no challenge to the procedure or criteria already prescribed. The challenge in fact is to the manner in which the selection has been held in violation of settled criteria or procedure.

21. In this regard reference may be made to the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Raj Kumar and another vs. Shakti Raj and others reported in (1997) 9 SCC 527 wherein after considering the earlier decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Madan Lal vs. State of Jammu

& Kashmir reported in (1985) 3 SCC 486 and other decisions referred therein including some of those relied by the respondents, the Supreme Court observed that the Government had committed glaring illegalities in the procedure to get the candidates for examination under 1955 Rules, so also in the method of selection and exercise of power in taking out from the purview of the Board and also conduct of selection in accordance with the Rules, therefore, the principle of estoppel by conduct and acquiescence had no application to the facts in the said case.

22. As far as the challenge to the Government order dated 25.03.1994 is concerned the maintainability of the writ petition at the behest of petitioners in this respect shall be considered while considering point no.8.

23. For the reasons aforesaid point no.1 (excluding challenge to Govt. order dated 25.03.1994) is decided in favour of petitioners and against the respondents.

The permissibility of rounding off the percentage of marks for the purpose of eligibility for the main written examination, based on the marks secured in the preliminary examination, in the light of the pronouncement of the Supreme Court reported in (2011) 8 SCC 108.

24. In this regard contention of the petitioners was that under Rule 15(f) of the Service Rules, 2008 and clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual 50% minimum marks were prescribed as a benchmark for being successful in the preliminary written examination and there was no provision for rounding off such marks, therefore, the Board exceeded its authority in doing so and acted in violation of statutory provisions.

25. The contention of the official respondents on the other hand was that there was no provision in the Rules to the contrary thereby prohibiting such rounding off, secondly, as has been mentioned in the written arguments, a minimum of eighteen-times candidates vis-a-vis number of vacancies were to be selected on the basis of the preliminary written examination whereas without rounding off, the said number was only about nine-times, therefore, considering the aforesaid, the Board vide its resolution dated 28.12.2012 and 15.01.2013 decided to round off the marks to two decimal points and based on such rounding off declared the candidates successful. This decision was not taken before holding of the selection but after holding the said examination when it was found that total successful candidates were only nine times of the vacancies, whereas, required minimum was eighteen-times of vacancies. It was also contended that in the case of some of the petitioners also, the marks were rounded off. The petitioners never raised this objection when the result of the said examination was declared. The said examination was only of a preliminary qualifying nature. Benefit of rounding off marks was extended to all the candidates unanimously and not to only few. No prejudice was caused to the petitioners.

26. The recruitment Board admittedly resorted to rounding off the marks obtained in the pre-qualifying examination. The question is whether such rounding off was permissible and is it sustainable in law.

27. As already mentioned the terms of recruitment were contained in the Service Rules, 2008 and the Instructions Manual, a copy of which is annexed as part-II of Annexure No.2 to the writ petition. Rule 15(d) of the Service Rules, 2008 reads as under:-

"15(d). Preliminary Written Test:-

The candidates who are declared successful in the Physical Standard Test under Clause (c) shall be required to appear an objective type/Preliminary Written Test of qualifying nature. This test shall carry 200 marks.

It shall comprise three sections, namely General Knowledge (Current Affairs, History, Geography, Constitution of India, Freedom Struggle etc.) of 100 marks, Numerical Ability Test of 50 marks and Reasoning of 50 marks. The candidates who secure a minimum fifty percent marks in the said test shall be declared successful."

28. In view of the above Rule, out of 200 marks prescribed for preliminary written examination, a candidate had to secure minimum 50% marks in order to be successful and to be eligible for appearing at the next stage of selection i.e. Physical Efficiency Test.

Clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual reads as under:-

"प्रारंभिक लिखित परीक्षा - प्रारंभिक लिखित परीक्षा अहकारी होगी न्यूनतम ५० प्रतिशत अंक प्राप्त करने वाले अभ्यर्थी ही इस परीक्षा में सफल घोषित किये जाएंगे 1इन सफल अभ्यर्थियों में से प्राप्तांकों की श्रेष्ठता के आधार पर रिक्तियों की संख्या के अधिकतम 18 गुना अभ्यर्थी ही शारीरिक दक्षता परीक्षा में सम्मिलित होने के लिए अर्ह्य होंगे1 प्रारंभिक लिखित परीक्षा का पाठ्यक्रम (निर्देश पुस्तिका बिंदु ४.१) निर्देश पुस्तिका में अंकित है1

(१) सामान्य ज्ञान - १०० अंक

(२) संख्यात्मक योग्यता परीक्षा - ५० अंक

(३) तार्किक परीक्षा - ५० अंक "

29. Clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual also speaks of a minimum 50% marks being the cut off for qualifying the preliminary written examination. It also states that a maximum number of successful candidate to the extent of eighteen times the number of vacancies alone shall be eligible for appearing in the physical efficiency test based on merit obtained in the preliminary examination.

30. On a bare reading of the aforesaid provisions it is evident that rule 15(f) and clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual prescribe a minimum of 50% marks, out of 200, as the benchmark. The provisions of the Rules and the Instructions Manual in this regard are unambiguous. The Service Rules, 2008 having been made under Section 46 (3) read with Section 2 of the Police Act, 1861, ergo, they have statutory character and are binding upon the respondents also. The rules do not contain any provision of rounding off the marks. They do not confer any power on the recruitment Board to round off the marks nor does the Instruction Manual.

31. In view of the aforesaid factual scenario the decision of the Board to round off the marks is apparently in the teeth of the statutory provisions and is not sustainable in law. Reference may be made in this regard to the decisions of the Supreme Court in the case of Orrisa Public Service Commission vs. Roopashree Chowdhary reported in (2011) 8 SCC 108 and Registrar, Rajeev Gandhi University of Health Sciences, Bangalore vs. G. Hemlatha reported in (2012) 8 SCC 568 and the West Bengal Joint Entrance Examination Board & others vs. Sarit Chakraborty reported in J.T. 2015(2) SC 220 which support the view being taken by the court herein. In Roopashri Chowdhary (supra), after distinguishing the earlier judgments pertaining to rounding off on the ground that those decisions related to rounding off of posts which obviously could not exist in a fraction, their Lordships in paragraph 10 and 13 of the report held that when statutory rule itself prescribed the minimum marks to be obtained there cannot be a question of relaxing or rounding off in the absence of any rule permitting the same. In the instant case the respondents have not referred to any rule permitting such relaxation or rounding off.

32. In G. Hemlatha (supra) the examination in question was of a qualifying nature, as in this case, and their Lordships in paragraph 12 of the judgment held as under:

"No provision of any statute or any rules framed thereunder have been shown to us, which permit rounding-off of eligibility criteria prescribed for the qualifying examination for admission to the PG course in M.Sc. (Nursing). When the eligibility criteria is prescribed in a qualifying examination, it must be strictly adhered to. Any dilution or tampering with it will work injustice on other candidates. The Division Bench of the High Court erred in holding that the learned Single Judge was right in rounding-off 54.71% to 55% so as to make Respondent 1 eligible for admission to the PG course. Such rounding-off is impermissible."

33. In view of above, the contention of respondents that the examination was only of a qualifying nature and the petitioners, all of whom had qualified, they were not prejudiced in any manner, is misconceived. what is the relevant is the im-permissibility of such action in law. The opposite parties have missed the woods for the trees. As a consequence of rounding off by the Board in the teeth of statutory rules ineligible persons were allowed to appear in the selection, many of whom are said to have been selected finally, as is mentioned in the rejoinder affidavit of the petitioners dated 13.12.2015, Annexure No. R.A.1 thereto. As observed in G. Hemlatha

(supra) any dilution or tampering with respect to eligibility criteria/cut of marks will work injustice on other candidates. When an eligibility criteria is prescribed it must be strictly adhered. The Board acted in excess of its jurisdiction.

34. The justification for such action as put forward in the counter affidavit and the written arguments of the respondents is quite misleading and false as there is no such requirement either in rule 15(d) or in clause 2.5 of the Instruction Manual that a minimum of candidates eighteen-times the vacancies are required for further consideration, based on the preliminary written examination. The word used in Clause 2.5 is 'maximum' of eighteen-times and not 'minimum', that too, from those selected on the basis of the cut off percentage of marks of 50%, not otherwise. Thus, the successful candidates who were nine-times the number of vacancies were sufficient as per Rule 15(d) read with clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual and there was no valid justification for rounding off marks, based on such reasoning.

35. The prescription of minimum marks in Rule 15(d) of the Service Rules, 2008 and clause 2.5 of the Instructions Manual clearly prohibited rounding off, therefore, assertion to the contrary is again misleading and false.

36. As far as rounding of the marks of some of the petitioners is concerned, all of them had secured minimum 50% of the marks and the total number of successful candidates being less than eighteen times (9 times) the vacancies, all of them were entitled to appear in the next selection, therefore, the rounding off, in their case, was superfluous and inconsequential. Rounding off marks in the case of others who had secured less than 50% marks allowed ineligible person to appear at the next stage of selection contrary to Rules thereby vitiating the selection. Those who had secured less than 50% marks in the Preliminary Written Test are liable to be excluded from consideration for selection/appointment.

Applicability of horizontal reservation for women, dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-servicemen in the selection.

37. In this regard the petitioners contention was that instead of applying horizontal reservation category-wise (unreserved category, scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes) the respondents put all the candidates selected on the basis of horizontal reservation in the unreserved category. None of them were placed in the reserved categories, which was clearly in violation of Section 3(3) of the U.P. Public Services (Reservation of Dependents of Freedom Fighter, Physically handicapped and Ex-Servicemen) Act, 1993 as also Articles 14 and 16(1) of the Constitution of India and the law declared by the Supreme Court in the case of Indira Shahney vs. Union of India and others reported in AIR 1993 (3) 427 (paragraphs 430,513,514,733 and 742) and para 3.3 of the Instructions Manual.

38. In this regard they have also stated that this issue, pertaining to this very selection, has already been considered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Writ-A No. 37599 of 2015 (Ashish Kumar Pandey and others vs. State of U.P. And others) and connected writ petitions wherein, the manner in which horizontal reservation was applied in the selection in question, has been held to be illegal and the selection has been quashed on this ground alone. In the said case it has also been held that women reservation which is also a horizontal reservation had also been applied illegally. As noted earlier, the judgment in Ashish Kumar Pandey (supra) has been upheld by the Division Bench on the issue aforesaid.

39. On the other hand respondents' contention is that the application of horizontal reservation to the selection in question does not suffer from any illegality. Unreserved category seats for horizontal reservation were required to be first saturated before filling seats of scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes, as, if this was not done, then the candidates of scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes obtaining higher marks than unreserved category candidates claiming horizontal reservation may not be selected, as had happened in Constable Recruitment of 2013. The merit list prepared for horizontal reservation applies to the unreserved category also, as much as it applies to the other categories. As in the matter of vertical reservation, so also in the case of horizontal reservation, meritorious candidates, even if, belonging to reserved category are entitled to be included in the merit list of unreserved category if they fulfill the benchmark. The respondents have placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Anil Kumar Gupta vs. State of U.P. reported in (1995) 5 SCC 173, especially on paragraphs 18 and 20 thereof. It was also contended that open competition category i.e. unreserved category, even in the matter of horizontal reservation, is not meant for upper caste alone but all candidates who have applied are to be considered in this category, therefore, it includes scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes candidates also. In this regard the respondents placed reliance on paragraph 20 of the judgment in the case of Anil Kumar Gupta (supra) as also the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of R.K. Subbarwal vs. State of Punjab reported in (1995) 2 SCC 745

40. It was contended that first of all the candidates successful on the basis of horizontal reservation were put in unreserved category and as their percentage was less than the maximum permissible limit under the said category, therefore, they were all included in the select list of unreserved category and the occasion to shift them or adjust them under other categories did not arise. It was denied that women, ex-servicemen etc. had been placed in the unreserved category/open category en-mass. Out of 740 posts reserved for women, 370 fell in the open/unreserved category, 165 in scheduled castes category, 15 in scheduled tribes and 200 in other backward classes category. According to them the State filled up only 260 vacancies under women quota out of 370 available vacancies in open/unreserved category. It was also contended that horizontal reservation, after Division Bench judgment in the case of Rajeev Kumar again which [Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 32344 of 2014] which was dismissed by the Supreme Court in the year 2015, is compartmentalized application of horizontal reservation and not an over all reservation. The application of horizontal reservation does not lead to 50% limit in vertical reservation being exceeded.

41. This question has already been considered by a Coordinate Bench in Ashish Pandey's case (supra) decided on 16.03.2016 wherein application of horizontal reservation has already been held to be in contravention of the Act, 1993, Government order dated 26.02.1999(Women reservation) and 09.01.2007, as also the pronouncements of the Supreme Court and this Court. Based thereon the selection in question has already been quashed with a direction to the State to re-draw the select list in the light of the observations/directions contained therein. Against the said judgment a Special Appeal had been preferred by the State which has been dismissed, as noted earlier.

42. As already stated above, the terms of recruitment in question were to be regulated by the Service Rules, 2008. Rule 6 thereof, inter-alia, provides that horizontal reservation shall be in accordance with the Act, 1993 as amended from time to time and the orders of the Government at the time of recruitment in force. Rule 29 provides that nothing in this rule shall effect reservation and other concessions required to be provided for the candidates belonging to scheduled castes, scheduled tribes and other special categories of person in accordance with the orders of the Government issued from time to time in this regard. Section 3 of the Act, 1993 reads as under:-

"3. Reservation of vacancies in favour of physically handicapped etc.

[(1) There shall be reserved at the stage of direct recruitment.--

(i) in public services and post two per cent of vacancies for dependents of freedom fighter and one per cent of vacancies for ex-servicemen;

(ii) in such public services and posts as the State Government may, by notification, identify one per cent of vacancies each for the persons suffering from.--

(a) blindness or low vision;

(b) hearing impairment; and

(c) loco-motor disability or cerebral palsy]

(2) Omitted 31.07.1997.

(3) The persons selected against the vacancies reserved under sub-section (1) shall be placed in the appropriate categories to which they belong. For example, if a selected person belongs to Scheduled Castes category he will be placed in that quota by making necessary adjustments; if he belongs to other Backward Classes of citizens category, he will be placed in that quota by making necessary adjustments. If he belongs to Scheduled Tribes category, he will be placed in that quota by making necessary adjustment; if he belongs to (other Backward Classes of Citizens), category, he will be placed in that quota by making necessary adjustment.

Similarly, if he belongs to open competition category he will be placed in that category by making necessary adjustments.

(4) Omitted 31.07.1997.

(5) Where, due to non-availability of suitable candidates any of the vacancies reserved under sub-section (1) remains unfilled it shall be carried over to the next recruitment."

43. Sub section 3 of Section 3 of the Act, 1993 clearly indicates that horizontal (special) reservation shall be made for the aforesaid three categories of candidates namely dependents of freedom fighter, physically disabled and Ex-servicemen category, by placing them in the appropriate categories to which they belong i.e. other backward classes category, scheduled castes and scheduled tribe and open competition category (General category).

44. As far as women reservation is concerned, the same is governed by the Government orders dated 26.02.1999 and Government order dated 09.01.2007. Women reservation is also horizontal/special reservation.

45. In the case of Public Service Commission vs. Mamta Bisht and others reported in AIR 2010 SC 2613 the Supreme Court repelled the contention that a women candidate belonging to Uttaranchal, as she had secured higher marks than the last women candidates in the unreserved/open competition category, was entitled to be placed in the latter category, even though she had been selected by horizontal reservation for Uttaranchal women. It also observed that the High Court erred in allowing the writ petition only on the ground that horizontal reservation is also to be applied as vertical reservation in favour of reserved category candidate. It reiterated the law laid down in Rejesh Kumar Daria vs Rajasthan Public Service Commission reported in AIR 2010 SC 3127 wherein it was observed as under:-

"Para.(13).".....*The second relates to the difference between the nature of vertical reservation and horizontal reservation. Social reservations in favour of SC, ST and OBC under Article 16(4) are "vertical reservations". Special reservations in favour of physically handicapped, women, etc., under Articles 16(1) or 15(3) are "horizontal reservations". Where a vertical reservation is made in favour of a Backward Class under Article 16(4), the candidates belonging to such Backward Class, may compete for non- reserved posts and if they are appointed to the non-reserved posts on their own merit, their number will not be counted against the quota reserved for respective Backward Class. Therefore, if the number of SC candidates, who by their own merit, get selected to open competition vacancies, equals or even exceeds the percentage of posts reserved for SC candidates, it cannot be said that the reservation quota for SCs has been filled. The entire reservation quota will be intact and available in addition to those selected under open competition category. (Vide Indra Sawhney(AIR 1993 SC 477: 1992 aIRSCW 3682); R.K. Sabharwal v. State of Punjab (AIR 1995 SC 1371: 1995 AIR SCW1371); Union of India v. Virpal Singh Chauhan (AIR 1996 SC 448:1995 AIR SCW 4309) and Ritesh R. Sah vs. Dr. Y.L. Yamul, (AIR1996 SC 1378:1996 AIR SCW 986). But the aforesaid principle applicable to vertical (social) reservations will not apply to horizontal (special) reservations. Where a special reservation for women is provided within the social reservation for Scheduled Castes, the proper procedure is first to fill up the quota for Scheduled Castes in order of merit and then find out the number of candidates among them who belong to the special reservation group of "Scheduled Caste women". If the number of women in such list is equal to or more than the number of special reservation quota, then there is no need for further selection towards the special reservation quota. Only if there is any shortfall, the requisite number of Scheduled Caste women shall have to be taken by deleting the corresponding number of candidates from the bottom of the list relating to Scheduled Castes. To this extent, horizontal (special) reservation differs from vertical (social) reservation. Thus women selected on merit within the vertical reservation quota will be counted against the horizontal reservation for women."

46. Considering the aforesaid enunciation of law by the Supreme Court a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Ashish Kumar Pandey held as under:-

"It was, therefore, mandated that upon adjustment/accommodation if the special category candidate belonging to OBC category scored higher marks than his/her counterpart adjusted in open category, cannot be shifted to open category. Shifting would tantamount to vertical reservation which is impermissible and alien to the concept of horizontal reservation. Horizontal reservation cut across vertical reservation, therefore, there is no concept of 'merit' while making adjustment/accommodation."

47. The decision in Ashish Pandey's case (supra) has been affirmed by a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal, relevant extract of its judgment is quoted hereinbelow:-

"While applying the principle of Horizontal Reservation, category has a role to play as at the point of time when Horizontal Reservation is to be pressed, then based on merit candidates in question are to be adjusted in their respective category and the male candidates, who are at the bottom of the list as per the merit, will have to make place for women candidate. A candidate, who has proceeded to make an application for the purposes of Horizontal Reservation under the OBC/SC/ST category, cannot be permitted to change his/her category, whereas in Vertical Reservation once you are selected, on merit, such a change is permissible by operation of law and in view of this, once such is the factual situation that is so emerging that all the candidates once they have specified their category in reference of Special Reservation, then they have to be adjusted in their respective categories and the reserve category candidate cannot ask for placement against open category by claiming that they have higher merit, inasmuch as, only in the matter of Vertical Reservation, merit has a role to play wherein the list is finalized but at the point of time when for providing Horizontal Reservation adjustment is to be made, then various adjustments is required to be done as per the formula that has been approved and ratified by the Apex Court that in the matter of horizontal reservation, adjustment would be made by making appropriate placement in appropriate categories. Apex Court was conscious of this fact, that such a provision may be subjected to misuse and accordingly, position was sought to be clarified by giving examples and then providing that if horizontal reservation is not satisfied, the requisite number of special reservation candidate has to be taken and accommodated/adjusted against their respective social reservation categories. Sub-section (3) of Section 3 of U.P. Act No.4 of 1993 provides for horizontal reservation to be applied accordingly, Application of horizontal reservation in this prescribed manner maintains the merit of special reservation quota candidate alongwith their representation in service, in view of this, the Learned Single Judge is absolutely right at the point of time when he has proceeded to criticise the State Government for taking such a stand and for adhering to a procedure that was not at all prescribed in law and thus crossing the limit of reservation of 50%, in view of this, the order passed by Learned Single Judge does not deserve interference on this aspect of the matter. "

48. In view of dictum of the Supreme court in the case of Mamta Bishth (supra) and the Coordinate Bench judgment as delivered by the Division Bench referred to hereinabove, apparently the respondents have wrongly applied horizontal reservation in the selection in question. They have applied it in the same manner as vertical reservation by shifting the reserved category candidates selected on the basis of horizontal reservation to open category which is impermissible.

49. Section 3(3) of Act, 1993 and clause 2.5(ii) very categorically provide that each candidate selected on the basis of horizontal/special reservation is to be placed in the category of vertical reservation to which he belongs i.e. open/unreserved category, OBC, SC, ST. In the instant case it was not open to the Board to place all such candidates en mass in one category i.e. open/unreserved category, ignoring their respective categories, as, the principle of merit as applicable in vertical reservation is not applicable to horizontal reservation as held in Mamta Bishth case (supra). It was also impermissible in view of sub-Section 3 of Section 3 of the Act, 1993.

50. Thus, in nut shell the Supreme Court in Mamta Bisht (supra) held that the principle of adjustment of candidates belonging to category of OBC, SC, ST selected on their own merit to the open/unreserved category shall not apply to horizontal reservation. Therefore, dependents of freedom fighter, ex-servicemen, physically disabled belonging to OBC, SC, ST selected on their own merit within the vertical reservation, will not be counted in the open/unreserved category for purpose of special/horizontal reservation but will be counted against their category of horizontal reservation. In view of this dictum the very edifice of the argument advanced by the respondents on this issue as has been noted hereinabove, falls to the ground.

51. Reference may also be made in this regard to the case of Indira Sawhney etc.etc. vs. Union of India and others reported in AIR 1993(1) SC 477, paragraph 95 of the judgment which reads as under:-

"There are two types of reservations, which may, for the sake of convenience, be referred to as 'vertical reservations' and 'horizontal reservations'. The reservation in favour of Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and other backward classes (under Article 16(4)) may be called vertical reservations whereas reservations in favour of physically handicapped (under clause (1) of Article 16) can be referred to as horizontal reservations. Horizontal reservations cut across the vertical reservations-what is called inter-locking reservations. To be more precise, suppose 3% of the vacancies are reserved in favour of physically handicapped persons; this would be a reservation relatable to clause (1) of Article 16. The persons selected against this quota will be placed in the appropriate category; if he belongs to S.C. Category he will be placed in that quota by making necessary adjustments; similarly, if he belongs to open competition (O.C.) category, he will be placed in that category by making necessary adjustments. Even after providing for these horizontal reservations, the percentage of reservations in favour of backward class of citizens remains-and should remain-the same. This is how these reservations are worked out in several States and there is no reason not to continue that procedure."

52. As far as reliance placed by the respondents on the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Anil Kumar Gupta (supra) is concerned specially paragraph 18 thereof, a perusal of the said para reveals that the observation that "proper and correct course is to first fill up open category quota of 50% on the basis of merit (vertical reservation) then fill up candidates of social reserved quota, scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes (vertical reservation), thereafter to find out how many candidates belonging to special reservation have been selected on the above basis and if quota fixed for horizontal reservation is already satisfied, in case it is over all horizontal reservation, no further question arises, but, if it is not so satisfied the requisite number of special reserved candidates shall have to be taken and adjusted/accommodated against their respective social reserved category by deleting corresponding number of candidates therefrom. If however, it is a case of compartmentalized horizontal reservation the process of verification and adjustment/accommodation as stated above should be applied separately to each reservation," it is the latter part of the above quoted para which applies in this case and not the former, as, horizontal reservation in this case, is to be applied compartmentally.

53. In Anil Kumar Gupta (supra) also while interpreting the circular dated 17.10.1994 the Supreme court held as under:-

"Providing special reservation, Court observed that the revised notification "contributed partly to the unfortunate situation where the entire special reservation quota has been allocated and adjusted almost exclusively against the OC quota" therefore, the Court admonished the respondents observing "the respondent will be advised to keep in mind the admonition administered by this Court and ensure that the special reservation (horizontal reservations) are kept at the minimum".

54. Thus, candidates selected on the basis of horizontal reservation could not be adjusted entirely in the open category. The Supreme Court admonished the concerned for contributing to the situation where entire special/horizontal reservation quota had been adjusted/accommodated almost exclusively against the open quota. Thus, the said judgment far from helping the respondents' case it helps the petitioners case. The respondents have clearly erred in applying horizontal reservation. They have to apply horizontal reservation in the light of the observations/directions contained in this judgment and in Ashish Pandey (supra).

The calling of more than three times candidates for the purposes of group-discussion in alleged contravention of U.P. Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules 2008 as well as the instructions issued in this regard, for the O.B.C. Category.

55. As per rule 15 (f) of the Rules 2008 number of candidates (three-times the number of vacancies) were to be selected in the main written examination for the purpose of being called for Group Discussion. The total number of vacancies being 4010 a total number of 12030 candidates were required to be selected in the main written examination, for Group Discussion. It is indisputable that as against this figure of 12030 a total number of 14243 candidates i.e. 2213 candidates in excess, were declared successful and called for Group Discussion. This, according to petitioners, was in violation of rule 15(f) of the Rules, 2008. It is also contended by them that at least 191 out of the excess candidates were ultimately selected which was again de-hors the Rules.

56. The explanation given by the opposite parties for this transgression is that if only three-times the number of candidates vis-a-vis available vacancies were called then the last candidate of OBC category who had secured 294.6667 marks would not have been called for Group Discussion, though, marks secured by last unreserved category was only 208.25 meaning thereby even having secured higher marks, the OBC category candidates would not have been called which would have been unreasonable specially as reserved categories are also entitled to compete for open category posts. It is denied by the opposite parties that any of the excess candidates has ultimately been selected in the final select list. The opposite parties have relied upon the judgment of the Supreme court in the case of Pradeep Kumar vs. Dinesh Kumar (Special appeal No. 6549 of 2003) The opposite parties have furnished the following table giving factual details of marks at the main written examination stage:-

S.No.	Category	No. of vacancies	The required three time no.	no. of available candidates	Cut-off marks of last available candidate as per three times the required vacancies	The marks of last such candidate seselected
1	Unreserved (Gen)	2005	6015	5039	208-25	208-25
2	O.B.C. Category	1082	3246	7959	294-6667	211-00
3	S.C. Category	843	2529	1220	208-00	208-00
4	S.T. Category	80	240	25	226-4167	226-4167

--	-------	------	-------	-------	--	--

57. It is also contended by the petitioners that the policy of reservation is not applicable at this stage of selection based on main written examination under rule 15(f). It is applicable only at the stage of preparation of tentative select list under rule 15(h) of the Rules 2008.

Rule 15(f) reads as under:-

"15(f) Main Written Examination.- The candidates who are declared successful in the Physical Efficiency Test under clause (e) shall be required to appear in the main written examination which shall carry 400 marks in the following subjects-

	Subject	Maximum Marks
1.	General Hindi Hindi Essay	75 marks 25 marks
2.	Basic Law and Constitution	100 marks (objective type)
3.	Numerical and Mental Ability Test	100 marks (objective type)
4.	Mental Aptitude Test/I.Q.Test/Reasoning	100 marks (objective Type)

Note- The procedure for conducting written examination shall be such as prescribed in Appendix-3.

The candidate who fails to obtain minimum fifty percent marks in each subject shall not be eligible for recruitment. The Board shall, having regard to the need for securing due representation of the candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and others under Rule 6, prepare a list of successful candidates on the basis of marks obtained by them in the Main Written Examination, the entire list along with marks obtained per subject along with answer key would be displayed on the Board's website immediately. The number of candidates to be selected in the main written examination shall be three times the number of vacancies."

58. A perusal of rule 15(f) shows that Board is required to prepare a list of successful candidates on the basis of marks obtained by them in the main written examination "having regard to the need for securing due representation of the candidates belonging to SC/ST and others under rule 6". Rule 6 of the Rules 2008 inter-alia provides for reservation for the candidates belonging to SC/ST/OBC. Thus, the contention of the petitioner that reservation will apply only at the stage of preparation of 'tentative select list' under section 15(h) and not at the stage of preparing the select list based on the main written examination, is incorrect. On a bare perusal of rule 15(f) it is evident that the policy of reservation is also to be applied at the stage of preparing the select list based on the main written examination.

59. Section 3(6) of the U.P. Public Service (Reservation for SC/ST/OBC) Act, 1994 which provides that if a person belonging to any of the categories mentioned in sub section (1) got selected on the basis of merits in open competition as general candidate he shall not be adjusted against the vacancies reserved for such category (vertical reservation) under sub section (1), will also apply at this stage. Sub section (1) provides various categories of reservation for SC/ST/OBC as also the percentage of such reservation which is 21%, 2% and 27% respectively.

60. The issue as to at which stage Section 3(6) will apply came up for consideration before a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No. 310 of 2015 (U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. And another vs. Nitin Kumar and others). In the said case at the stage of written examination the recruiting commission prepared the select list category wise meaning thereby one who had applied in reserved category was put in the select list of that category, irrespective of the fact that based on his merit he was qualified to be in unreserved/open category in view of Section 3(6). Thus, the OBC category candidates who had secured higher marks than the lower marks secured by the last candidate from unreserved category, were not selected. Being aggrieved the OBC category candidate filed a writ petition which was allowed by a Single Judge Bench of this Court. The Single Judge opined that such candidates were entitled to compete against unreserved vacancies/posts solely by virtue of their higher merits and their consideration could not be confined to the category to which they belong. The OBC candidate who had secured lower marks than such candidates would have to be adjusted against the seats reserved for such category. In appeal the Division Bench affirmed the judgment of Single Judge. It relied upon another Division Bench Judgment in Sanjeev Kumar Singh vs. State of U.P. reported in 2007(2) ADJ 150 which was followed by another Division Bench in Shiv Prakash Yadav vs. State of U.P. reported in 2008 AWC 1391. It also relied upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Andhra Pradesh Public Service Commission vs. Balaji Badhavath reported in (2006) 4 SCC 550. The Division Bench in Nitin Kumar (supra) held as under:-

"Section 3(6) is a statutory recognition of the principle that if a candidate belonging to a reserved category is selected on the basis of merit in open competition with general candidates, such a candidate is to be adjusted not against the vacancies reserved for the reserved category to which the candidate belongs but against the unreserved seats. This proceeds on the foundation that where a candidate is meritorious enough to be placed within the zone of selected candidates independent of any claim of reservation and purely on the basis of the merit of the candidate, the candidate ought not to be relegated to a seat against the reserved category. The simple reason for this principle is that reservation is a process by which a certain number of posts or seats is carved out for stipulated categories such as OBC, Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. Unreserved seats do not constitute a reservation for candidates belonging to categories other than the reserved categories. An unreserved post or seat is one in which every individual irrespective of the category to which the person belongs can compete in open merit. Hence, the principle which is embodied in Section 3 (6) is not confined in its application only at the stage when the final select list is to be drawn up. If the submission of the appellants were to be accepted, that would result in seriously absurd consequences. As the learned Single Judge noted, in the present case itself, the petitioners who belong to the OBC category had in fact secured higher marks in the written test than the last short-listed candidate from the unreserved category. However, they were sought to be excluded from short-listing for the unreserved posts only on the ground that as a candidate who had declared himself or herself to be of a reserved category, that candidate would have to be excluded from shortlisting from the unreserved category even if on the basis of the position in merit, such a candidate would otherwise fall in the list of short-listed candidates in the open or unreserved category. Such a consequence would not be permissible in law."

61. Thus it was held that Section 3(6) applied at the stage of written examination (shortlisting) also.

62. A similar view was taken by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case Narendra Pratap Singh & others vs. Director General of Police U.P. & others reported in [2002 (3) UPLBEC 2304], which was a case relating to Police Recruitment. It was also held that the benefit of Section 3(6) of the Act, 1994 would be available even to those who had availed concession or relaxation under Section 3(8) or had applied under the reserved category. Narendra Pratap Singh (supra) stands affirmed by the Supreme Court in Jitendra Kumar (supra).

63. Viewed on the anvil of the aforesaid exposition of Section 3(6) of Act, 1994 as also the Instructions Manual the Court finds that the standard of evaluation for the SC/OBC in the physical standard test, preliminary written test, physical efficiency test, main examination and Group discussion were all along the same. However, the rules also indicate that as far as scheduled tribe(ST) candidates were concerned a lesser standard was prescribed for them in physical standard test vis-a-vis others, as, against the minimum physical standard height for male candidates belongs to General, OBC and SC, it was 168 Cms. whereas only 160 Cms. was prescribed for ST. Likewise in the measurement of chest as against 79 Cms for the former, 77 Cms and 82 Cms. were prescribed for ST. Likewise the same differential standard was prescribed in respect of female candidates of ST. Even though, physical standard test was of only qualifying nature but the fact is that ST candidates were treated differently than other categories therefore, they were not entitled to the benefit of Section 3(6) of the Act, 1994 but there is no doubt that SC and OBC candidates were considered on the same parameters as general candidates. This is evident from rule 15(c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) read with Appendix I, II, and III, therefore, based on the aforesaid analogy the SC and OBC who had secured higher marks than the last candidate of general category candidates were liable to be considered and included in the select list of said category and not the reserved category. The SC and OBC candidates who had secured lesser marks than them were liable to be included in the select list of SC/OBC category.

64. The use of the word three-times of number of vacancies in rule 15(f) of the Rules, 2008 by itself does not mean that reservation or section 3(6) was not to be applied at that stage. It does not prohibit the break-up of vacancies category-wise and calculating candidates three times such vacancies accordingly, subject to application of Section 3(6) as aforesaid. Had this been done there would have been no occasion to select candidates in excess of three times the number of vacancies and sufficient number of candidates would have been available for all the categories. It is trite that there is no reservation for general category and all candidates are entitled to compete against posts of general category as far as vertical reservation is concerned. This issue has also been dealt with extensively while considering point no. 8 relying upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the Jitendra Kumar (supra).

65. In view of the above discussion calling of candidates in excess of three-time the vacancies for the purpose of Group Discussion was violative of Rule 15(h) and the explanation offered by the opposite parties in this regard is unacceptable. Those in excess of the maximum permissible limits referred above, after the fresh exercise as aforesaid, are to be ousted from further consideration for selection.

66. In the event as a result of the aforesaid it was found that considerable number of members of the reserved category were being selected against general seats/post or all the general category posts were being occupied by reserved category it would be a cause to review the application of the reservation policy as observed by the Supreme Court in the case of R.K. Subbarwal vs State of Punjab reported in (1995) 2 SCC 745 wherein the constitution Bench inter-alia observed that "the fact that considerable number of members of a Backward Class have been appointed/promoted against general seats in the State Services may be a relevant factor for the State Government to review the question of continuing reservation for the said class".

Issue No.5:

The alleged inclusion of candidates who had used Whitener in the O.M.R. Sheets, allegedly in contravention of the judgment of this court in the Case of Saket Kumar & ors. v. State of U.P.

67. This issue has been concluded by the decision of the Supreme Court dated 19.01.2016 rendered in Civil Appeal No. 587-588 of 2016 whereby the judgment of a Coordinate Bench of this Court ousting those who had used whitener/blade from the select list, which had been affirmed by the Division Bench, has been impliedly set aside with the observation that the advisory note given by the Selection Board cannot be treated as a rule to declare such candidate who have used whitener/blade in the relevant block in the OMR/Answer sheet as ineligible for evaluating their answer sheets, and finding this proposition to be in conformity with the Recruitment rules disposed of the appeals in terms of the statement of the learned Advocate General representing the respondent-State of U.P. on the basis of instructions received from the Principal Secretary Home and the legal submissions referred by him in the judgment.

68. Needless to say that such candidates who used whitener/blade would be eligible for consideration in terms of the judgment of the Supreme Court and there is nothing left to be considered by this Court except that the petitioners have raised the grievance that 158 candidates over and above 810 mentioned before the Supreme Court find place in the select list. It has been answered by the respondent by stating that these 158 candidates had secured less than 50% marks in the main written examination and they have not been called for Group-discussion. Out of those who had used whitener only 810 candidates qualified in Group discussion and were declared finally selected in March 2015. Thus, this issue is covered by the judgment of the Supreme Court which the State is bound to adhere. It is decided accordingly.

Issue No.6:

The number of O.B.C. and other reserved category candidates who were called for recruitment under the unreserved category based on their merit, bereft of reservation, and its effect on the application of reservation, to the recruitment in the light of the dictum of a Constitution Bench of the supreme court in the case of R.K. Sabbarwal v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (2) 745.

69. On this issue the petitioners have relied upon Section 3(6) of the Reservation Act, 1994 and stated that when a candidate applies for recruitment for selection on specific post he has to mention the category. The said category confers various privileges upon the candidate which disturbs the "level playing field" of selection. According to them 598 OBC and 47 Scheduled caste candidates have been selected against unreserved or general category. There is an obligation upon the State to ascertain that whether there is adequate representation of reserve categories on the points in question or not. If it finds that they are already adequately represented there is no need for applying reservation but no such enquiry has been conducted to show that reserve category candidates were not adequately represented in the normal course of things.

70. In this regard it has been submitted by the opposite parties that in the selection in question only 723 reserve category candidates were selected against unreserved post on their own merits for the post of Sub Inspector Civil Police whereas 20 O.B.C. Category candidates have qualified accordingly for the post of Platoon Commander. With regard to Scheduled Caste category about 56 candidates have been selected on the basis of merit against unreserved post of Sub Inspector Civil Police and one candidate of the post of Platoon Commander has been selected in open competition. They have referred to the judgment of R.K. Sabbarwal (supra) to contend that reserve category candidate selected against unreserved post on merit are not to be counted against reserved post. They have also referred to the case of Anurag Patel vs. Union Public Service Commission reported in (2005) 9 SCC 742 and Jitendra Kumar Singh and another vs. State of U.P. & others reported in (2010) 3 SCC 119 as also the Division Bench judgment in Special Appeal No. 310 of 2015 (U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. vs. Nitin Kumar and others).

71. There can be no dispute about the proposition of law laid down in the aforesaid cases and the assertion of the petitioners to the contrary is misconceived. This aspect of the matter has already been considered at length while discussing point Nos. 4 and 8, therefore, the same need not be reiterated. However, the Court finds the State has not disclosed the data pertaining to representation of OBC, SC, ST in the cadre of Sup Inspector Civil Police and Platoon Commander nor as to how many of the reserve category were appointed on their own merit. Reference, may be made in this regard to R.K. Subbarwal (supra) wherein it has been held in paragraph 4 that "....the fact that considerable number of a Backward Class have been appointed/promoted against general seats in the State Services may be a relevant factor for the State Government to review the question of continuing reservation for the said class.....". Had the aforesaid data been disclosed this Court would have been in a position to consider the applicability of reservation to recruitment/appointment in the cadre in the light of R.K. Subbarwal (supra). Nevertheless the State is under an obligation to keep the aforesaid enunciation of law in mind and if it finds that a particular category of reserve category is adequately represented in the cadre or adequate number of candidates of such category are being selected against unreserved seats on their own merit, including those who are being so selected after being granted concession and relaxation as contemplated in Section 3(8), then, it will be obligatory for the State to review the application of reservation policy in the light of the aforesaid proposition of law. The State shall keep this in mind.

Whether any prejudice is being caused to the petitioners assuming the aforesaid infractions, apart from the alleged illegalities.

72. As far as this issue is concerned as this court has already held the selection to be vitiated on account of the manner in which horizontal reservation has been erroneously applied, the candidates in excess of three-times the number of vacancies were called for Group discussion in violation of Rule 15(f) marks were illegally rounded off in violation of Rule 15(d), thereby allowing ineligible persons to participate in the main written examination, the prejudice caused to all the participants in the selection including the petitioners hardly needs to be emphasized, especially as the petitioners had appeared in the main written examination but were unsuccessful at this stage. The explanation offered by the parties in the written submission do not persuade the court to take any other view of the matter.

Subject to the locus standi of petitioners, as referred above, the validity of the G.O. Dated 25.3.1994 and the application of the judgment of the Supreme Court rendered in the case of Jitendra Kumar v. State of U.P., 2010 3 SCC 119.

73. As far as locus of the petitioners to maintain this writ petition challenging the vires of the Government order dated 25.03.1994 is concerned no doubt the said Government order existed prior to petitioners appearing in the selection and remaining unsuccessful but the ground of challenge is violative of the Fundamental Rights under Article 16(1) read with Article 14 of the Constitution. The fundamental right of equality of opportunity in public employment is available to an individual whereas Article 16(4) by itself does not confer any Right of reservation. It is only an enabling provisions permitting certain benefits subject to satisfaction of certain prerequisites. As there can be no application of principle of estoppel and acquiescence with regard to enforcement of fundamental rights, therefore, it is difficult to hold that the vires cannot be challenged by the petitioners. To what extent interference is to be made, if at all, is a separate matter. In this regard reference may be made of the case of Raj Kumar and others vs. Shakti Raj and others reported in (1997) 2 SCC 527. Reference may also be made to the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Rajesh Kumar Srivastava and others vs. State of U.P. And others reported in (2009) 2 AWC (suppl.) 239 wherein the exceptions to the normal rule prohibiting the unsuccessful candidates from challenging a selection has been discussed.

74. On this issue the contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that once the benefit of age relaxation and concession, as contemplated in sub section 8 of Section 3 of Reservation Act, 1994 are availed and if one has applied as a reserved category candidate then he cannot be considered for appointment against an un-reserved post as, it would be contrary to the dictum of the Supreme Court in Indira Sawhney(supra) case, wherein, it was inter-alia observed that concession, exemption and other measures issued by Railway Administration and noticed by the Supreme Court in its earlier decisions are the instances of supplementary, incidental and ancillary provisions made with a view to make the main provision of reservation effective. According to them, it was contrary to the aims and object of the Reservation Act. According to them, relaxation in age is also a kind of reservation, therefore, once a person avails the benefit of reservation of any kind, he cannot be selected/appointed under the unreserved category. Any action contrary to it is violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. Reliance placed by the opposite parties on the judgment of Supreme Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh (supra) is misconceived as the said judgment was based on the Government order dated 25.03.1994, the vires of which was not under challenge before the Supreme Court. Now the vires has been challenged in this writ petition, therefore, the said judgment would not apply. The petitioners relied upon the judgments of Kerala High Court in the case of Deepa E.V. vs. Union of India reported in 2015 SCC on line Ker. 21264; Rajasthan High Court in the case of Dharamvir Kumawat vs. State of Rajasthan (2014) online Raj. 6368, Gujrat High Court in the case of Gujrat Public Service Commission through Secretary vs. Parmar Nilesh Rajendra Kumar and others (LPA No.1480 of 2013) which have been rendered after considering the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh (supra).

75. On the other hand the respondents have placed reliance upon the judgment of Jitendra Kumar Singh (supra) to contend that this issue is squarely covered by the decisions of the Supreme Court, therefore, there is no occasion to reconsider the same.

76. On a careful perusal of the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh (supra) this Court finds that the said proceedings arose out of the proceedings in Writ Petition No. 25238 of 2011 Narendra Pratap Singh (supra) and two other similar proceedings. Narendra Pratap Singh's case was also a matter of police recruitment in the State of U.P. One of the questions which fell for consideration was application of Section 3(6) of Reservation Act, 1994 which permits the selection of reserved category candidates against an un-reserve post, on the basis of merit. The question which fell for consideration was, whether reserve category candidates who had availed the concession and relaxation under sub section 8 of Section 3 of Reservation Act, 1994 would also be entitled for the benefit of Section 3(6).

77. In paragraph 15 of the judgment in Narendra Pratap Singh (supra) the Coordinate Bench of this Court opined that from the Scheme of the Act 1994 it does not appear that reserve category candidates who had been granted relaxation or concession in age or fee are not entitled for the benefit provided in sub section 6 of Section 3 of the Act, 1994. By grant of relaxation and concession to reserve category candidate the general category candidates are not prejudiced in any manner in competing with such reserve category candidates. The Court opined that standard of selection of all category was the same, hence, benefit of Section 3, sub-section (6) cannot be denied to reserve category candidates. If different standard, had been applied to different categories then, of-course, they would not be entitled to the said benefit.

78. Two other Coordinate Benches followed the decision in Narendra Pratap Singh (supra) and ultimately atleast three Special Appeals were filed. The appellate judgment which is a common judgment is reported in [2007(2) ADJ 150 (DB (Sanjeev Kumar Singh & others vs. State of U.P. An others))]. The Division Bench of this Court framed various issues including the issue involved herein. The Division Bench affirmed the judgment of Narendra Pratap Singh (supra) after considering the provisions of the reservation Act, 1994. The matter went up to the Supreme Court and was decided in Jitendera Kumar Singh (supra). The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the Division Bench as also the Single Judge of this Court on the question involved herein.

79. On a careful perusal of the case of Jitendera Kumar Singh (supra), the court finds that it is not entirely based on the Government order dated 25.03.1994 as has been alleged. It is not only based on general principles of law but also on the Scheme of the Act 1994. This would be evident from reading of paragraphs 11,13,15,17,18,19,44,45,46,48,49,50,51,65 to 68, 70 and 71.

80. In para 71 it has been observed that it was of considered opinion that "concession falling within Section 8 of the Act, 1994 cannot be said to be relaxation in standard prescribed for qualifying in the written examination. Section 8 clearly provides that the State Government may provide for concession in respect of fees in the competitive examination or interview and relaxation in upper age limit".

81. In paragraph 72 after examining the contents of the Government order dated 25.03.1994, the vires of which has been put to challenge herein, it went on to observe that "from the above it becomes quite apparent that the relaxation in age-limit is merely to enable the reserved category candidate to compete with the general category candidate, all other things being equal. The State has not treated the relaxation in age and fee as relaxation in standard for selection, based on the merit of the candidate in the selection test i.e. main written test followed by interview. Therefore, such relaxations cannot deprive a reserved category candidate of the right to be considered as a general category candidate on the basis of merit in the competitive examination. Sub-section (2) of Section 8 further provides that Government orders in force on the commencement of the Act in respect of the concessions and relaxations including relaxation in upper age-limit which are not inconsistent with the Act continue to be applicable till they are modified or revoked."

82. In paragraph 73 of the judgment the Supreme Court has observed that "the vires of Section 3(6) or Section 8 have not been challenged before us." The same is the case in this writ petition.

83. In paragraph 74 of the judgment the Supreme Court also went on to observe that relaxation in age is not only given to members of the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, and OBCs, but also to the dependents of freedom fighters and ex-servicemen.

84. In paragraph 75 it opined that "relaxation in age does not in any manner upset the 'level playing field'". It is not possible to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellants that relaxation in age or the concession in fee would in any manner be infringement of Article 16(1) of the Constitution of India. These concessions are provisions pertaining to the eligibility of candidate to appear in the competitive examination. At the time when the concessions are availed, the open competition has not commenced. It commenced when all the candidates who fulfill the eligibility conditions namely, qualifications, age, preliminary written test and physical test are permitted to sit in the main written examination. With age relaxation and the fee concession, the reserved candidates are merely brought within the zone of consideration, so that they can participate in the open competition on merit. Once the candidate participates in the written examination, it is immaterial as to which category, the candidate belongs. All the candidates to be declared eligible had participated in the preliminary test as also in the physical test. It is only thereafter that successful candidates have been permitted to participate in the open competition".

85. In paragraph 76 of the judgment it considered the arguments of Mr. Rao that Section 3(6) ensures that there is a level playing field in open competition, however, Section 8 lowers the level playing field, by providing concession in respect of fees for any competitive examination or interview and relaxation in upper age-limit and observed that "We are unable to accept the aforesaid submission. Section 3(6) is clear and unambiguous. It clearly provides that a reserved category candidate who gets selected on the basis of merit in open competition with general category candidates shall not be adjusted against the reserved vacancies. Sections 3(1), 3(6) and Section 8 are interconnected. Expression "open competition" in Section 3(6) clearly provides that all eligible candidates have to be assessed on the same criteria".

86. Furthermore in paragraph 77 their Lordships of Supreme Court went on to refer that "all the candidates irrespective of the category they belong to have been subjected to the uniform selection criteria" and also went on to observe that "Such being the position, we are unable to accept the submissions of the learned counsel for the appellant-petitioners that the reserved category candidates having availed relaxation of age are disqualified to be adjusted against the open category seats. It was perhaps to avoid any future confusion that the State of Uttar Pradesh issued directions on 25.03.1994 to ensure compliance with the various provisions of the Act." The last words clinch the issue. It is beyond any pale of doubt that the ratio of the judgment is not based on the Government order dated 25.03.1994.

87. The Supreme Court held that the Government order was in consonance with the provisions of the Act, 1994. Moreover, while arriving at the conclusion, the Supreme Court has taken into consideration the relevant paragraph of the judgment of Indira Sawhney's case which has been relied by the petitioners in this writ petition. Reference of the same has been made in paragraph 50 wherein paragraph 743 of the case of Indira Sawhney (supra) has been quoted and it has been observed that "In our opinion, these observations are a complete answer to the submissions made by Mr. Rao and Dr. Dhavan on behalf of the petitioners"

88. In view of the above it cannot be said that the Government order dated 25.03.1994 is ultra vires the Scheme of the Act 1994 or Article 16(1) of the Constitution or the dictum in the case of Indira Sawhney (supra). The reserve category candidates who have availed the benefit of concession and relaxation under Section 3(8) are entitled to compete against general posts under Section 3(6). As stated by the Supreme Court the Government order dated 25.03.1994 is in consonance with the provisions of the Act, 1994 and not in derogation thereof. Nor is it violative of Article 16(1) or 14 of the Constitution. This has been the consistent view of this High Court, as is evident from Narendra Pratap Singh's case (supra), its affirmation by the Division Bench in Sanjeev Kumar Singh (supra) and ultimately by the Supreme Court in Jitendra Kumar (supra), therefore, the fact that other High Courts have taken a different view is of no relevance. Reference may also be made to the Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Nitin Kumar (supra) which has already been considered while discussing point no.4. Thus, paragraph-4 of the Government order dated 25.03.1994 is held to be intra-vires. This issue, except the locus part, is decided against the petitioners.

89. In addition to aforesaid the Court finds that as per Note-I to Rule 15(g) of the Rules, 2008 Vedio-grapy of Group-discussion and preparation of C.D. in this regard is prescribed, therefore, this should be strictly adhered to while holding the Group-discussion afresh.

90. As far as the challenge raised by the petitioners to certain questions/answers i.e. nos. 2,12,16 and 26 is concerned, the contention with regard to question no.16 is incorrect. Article 28(2) refers to educational institutions which is administered by the State but has been established under any endowment or trust which requires that religious instructions shall be imparted in such institution. Option (C) refers to institution receiving aid from the State which is not referable to Article 28(2). Option (D) is the correct answer. See Article 28(1).

91. There is an error in the foundation of question no.26 but it is not fatal as cities can easily be related to countries.

92. As far as contention regarding answer to question no.12 is concerned the answer determined by the experts i.e. option no.(A), is correct as the right to self defence is available under Section 97 I.P.C. and Section 100 delineates the extent of the right.

93. Question No.2 was regarding situations in which a Presidential Ordinance can be promulgated. The answer options were (A) when one House is in session, (B) when both Houses are in session, (C) when neither House is in session i.e. both Houses are not in session (D) when situation referred in (A) or (C) exists.

94. The contention of learned counsel for petitioners was that under Article 123 of the Constitution, the Presidential Ordinance could be issued even if only one house of the Parliament is in session, or when both Houses are not in session, thus, option (D) was correct but according to Board option (C) was the correct answer. As per Article 79 the Parliament comprises of President and the two houses namely, Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha. As per Article 107 of the Constitution except for money and financial bills which can only originate in Lok Sabha, other bills can originate in either of the houses, but, in order to become Law/Act they have to be passed by both the houses of the Parliament, subject of course to Article 108 and 109 (Clause-2 of Article 107).

Article 123 of the Constitution reads as under:-

"Article 123:- Power of President to promulgate Ordinances during recess of Parliament.-(1) If at any time, except when both Houses of Parliament are in session, the President is satisfied that circumstances exist which render it necessary for him to take immediate action, he may promulgate such Ordinances as the circumstances appear to him to require.

(2) An Ordinance promulgated under this article shall have the same force and effect as an Act of Parliament, but every such Ordinance-

(a) shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament and shall cease to operate at the expiration of six weeks from the reassembly of Parliament, or, if before the expiration of that period resolutions disapproving it are passed by both Houses, upon the passing of the second of those resolutions; and

(b) may be withdrawn at any time by the President.

Explanation.- Where the Houses of Parliament are summoned to reassemble on different dates, the period of six weeks shall be reckoned from the later of those dates for the purposes of this clause.

(3) If and so far as an Ordinance under this article makes it provision which Parliament would not under this Constitution be competent to enact, it shall be void.

(4) [omitted w.e.f. 20.06.1979]"

95. The words if at anytime "except when both Houses of Parliament are in session," imply that promulgation of the Ordinance is permissible when both Houses are not in session. An eventuality such as the above can arise in two ways one where Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha both, are not in session, two, when only one house is in session, as, in such a scenario also both Houses are not in session in the sense only one is in session. The latter situation is also germane to Article

123 as the object is to bestow powers of legislative nature on the President to meet situations of immediacy where law cannot be enacted by Parliament and only one House in session does not facilitate consideration/passing of the bill as it is required to be considered/passed by both the Houses so as to become an Act, subject of course to article 108 and 109. Even for application of Article 109 both houses have to be in session as even for rejection by Council of States it has to be in session. While determining the answers/options to question no.2 the concerned failed to appreciate the aforesaid aspect.

96. A situation where both the houses are not in session also includes a scenario where only one house is in session because of which the law cannot be enacted as it has to be considered/passed by both the Houses, subject to Article 109 as already noted earlier and in such an eventuality promulgation of a Presidential Ordinance would be constitutionally permissible. This is in consonance with the object sought to be achieved by Article 123 of the Constitution of India.

97. The view taken hereinabove, is fortified by the discussions in the Constituent Assembly on the issue of legislative powers of the President proposed in the draft Constitution relating to Article 102 (now Article 123 of the Constitution of India)-Part V of Chapter III of the Constituent Assembly debates, Book No.3 Vol. No. VIII published by the Lok Sabha Secretariat, fifth print, 2009. Relevant extracts are as under:-

"Shri H. V. Kamath : Mr. President, Sir, I request permission at the outset to move this amendment in two parts. By some accident they have been lumped together in the Secretariat as one amendment.

Mr. President : Yes.

Shri H. V. Kamath : Sir, I move:

"That in clause (1) of article 102, for the words 'when both Houses', the words when one or both Houses' be substituted."

If we turn to article 69 of the Constitution, and read clause (2) thereof, we find that the President may from time to time summon the Houses or either House of Parliament. So it is not unlikely that at a particular time both Houses may not be in session but only one House may be in session. Therefore I would restrict the power of the President only to such occasions when no House will be in session. According to this article the President is empowered to promulgate ordinances when both Houses are not in session. As I have already stated, referring to article 69, an occasion may arise when one House will be in session. Therefore to make this clear, we will have to say "except when both Houses or one of the Houses of Parliament are in session."

In response to the aforesaid amendment proposed by Sri Kamath Hon'ble Dr. B.R. Ambedkar responded as under:-

"The amendment suggested by my friend, Mr. Kamath, i.e., 1793, seems to me rather purposeless. Suppose one House is in session and the other is not. If a situation as I have suggested arises, then the provisions of article 102 are necessary because according to this Constitution no law can be passed by a single House. Both Houses must participate in the legislation. Therefore the presence of one House really does not satisfy the situation at all".

In response Sri Kamath stated as under:-

"Does it mean that when one House only is in session, say, the House of the People, the President will still have this power?"

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar responded as under:-

"Yes, the power can be exercised because the framework for passing law in the ordinary process does not exist."

Whereupon Sri Kamath concluded by saying as under:-

"Shameful, I should say."

98. After the aforesaid discussion on the amendment, which is relevant for the purposes of this case, the amendment proposed by Sri Kamath was negated as under:-

"The question is:

"That in clause (1) of article 102, for the words 'when both Houses', the words 'when one or both Houses' and for the words 'such Ordinances', the words 'such Ordinance or Ordinances' be substituted respectively."

The amendment was negated."

99. The amendment proposed by Sri Kamath was that the power to issue a Presidential Ordinance should be restricted to such occasions when no House will be in session, meaning thereby, if, one House is in session even then such power shall not be exercised, but, this was negated in view of the observations of the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar as quoted hereinabove, wherein, he categorically observed that the amendment was purposeless for the reason suppose one House is in session and the other is not, then the provisions of Article 102 are necessary because according to this Constitution no law can be passed by a single House. Both Houses must participate in the legislation, therefore, presence of one House really does not satisfy the situation at all.

100. The aforesaid discussion concludes the issue.

101. Thus, there is merit in the contention of the petitioners. The Board shall revisit this issue and take remedial action in accordance with past practice in consonance with law.

102. It was also contended on behalf of the petitioners that certain candidates who had qualified the main examination did not appear in Group-discussion yet they were declared successful finally which could not have been done in view of Rule 15(1)(g) which says that such candidate shall be required to appear in the Group-discussion. In this regard emphasis was laid on the use of word 'shall' and also on the object behind prescribing a Group-discussion. While the argument appeared to be attractive at first blush, but, when considered in the light of the Rules, the Court finds that the word 'shall' be required to appear only means that Recruiting Authority is required to call the petitioners to appear but it does not mean that if they actually do not appear in Group-discussion they would be disqualified, as, no such consequence is prescribed in the Rules. Moreover under Rule 15(1)(g) the Group-discussion is of only 20 marks. The main written examination which is of 400 marks. The marks obtained in the main written examination are to be added to the marks obtained in the Group discussion. Even if a candidate scores 'zero' marks in the Group-discussion, but, qualifies on the basis of over all aggregate of the two exams, then, there is nothing in the Rules which may persuade the Court to hold that he can not be declared successful. The Rule is not under challenge. Having said so, this Court is of the opinion that considering the importance of Group-discussion and object behind it as is evident from Rule 15(1)(g) it would be worthwhile that this aspect of the matter is re-visited by the Rule making authority but this shall not in any manner hinder the holding of selection as is being ordered herein, but, shall be kept in mind for future selections.

103. In view of the above discussion, the selection in question from the stage of declaration of result of the main written examination including the impugned select list is not sustainable and is quashed. The concerned opposite parties are directed to prepare the result of main written examination and declare the same afresh keeping in mind the observations made hereinabove. Based thereon the selection shall proceed and shall be finalized in accordance with the Rules and observations made in the body of this judgment as also in the case of Ashish Kumar Pandey (supra) which has been affirmed by the Division Bench in Special appeal. This exercise shall be completed within a period of four months from the date of submission of a certified copy of this judgment to the concerned opposite parties.

104. Consequential action of sending the selected candidates for training and their appointment shall follow as per law.

105. This Court on 02.09.2016 passed an interim order to the effect that pursuant to the impugned notification dated 25.06.2015 issued by the Additional Secretary, Recruitment/Examination Controller, U.P. Police Recruitment and Promotion Board Lucknow, no appointment letter shall be issued to any of the selected candidates without leave of the Court. The stay order passed in this case was neither modified nor vacated. The Court was informed that some candidates are undergoing training. If it is so, then consequent to the fresh selection as ordered hereinabove, if any of the candidates who are presently undergoing training get selected again, then, their training shall be continued from the stage where it was left, however, the appointment and other service benefit shall be available to such candidates only from the date they are made available to other selected candidates and not otherwise.

106. All the writ petitions are partly allowed.

Held

The Court held that the prosecution failed to establish a complete and unbroken chain of circumstantial evidence, as required in cases based solely on such evidence. Key links like credible "last seen" evidence, valid recovery of dead body and articles, and proof of motive were found doubtful and legally unsustainable due to serious lapses such as defective recovery memos, absence of independent witnesses, and inconsistencies in witness testimony. The Court emphasized that where multiple hypotheses arise and the chain is incomplete, benefit of doubt must go to the accused. Accordingly, the conviction was set aside and the appellants were acquitted.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Krishna Narayana, J.
Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. The arguments of this case concluded on 24.08.2016. Following order was passed by us on that date:

"Heard Sri Ambrish Kumar, Sri Gopeshwar Sahai Bisaria, learned counsel for the appellants, Shri A.N. Mulla, Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned AGA for the State and Smt. Manju Thakur, Syed Hasan Shaukat Abid, State Law Officer.

We will give reasons later but we make the operative order now.

The appeal is allowed. Impugned judgment and order dated 29.09.2007 passed by Dr. A.K. Singh, Additional Sessions Judge/ Fast Track Court No. 1, Kanpur Nagar in Session Trial No. 552 of 2005 (State Vs. Mohd Ashraf and others) convicting the appellant under Sections 302/34, 201/34, 392, 412 IPC., are hereby set aside. The appellants are acquitted of all the charges framed against them. Appellant are in jail. They shall be released forthwith unless and until they are wanted in any other case.

There shall be no order as to cost."

Here are the reasons:-

2. This appeal has been preferred by the three appellants Mohd. Ashraf, Mohd. Aslam and Sanu @ Billa Deen against the judgment and order of conviction dated 29.09.2007 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No.1, Kanpur Nagar, in Sessions Trial No.552 of 2005, under Sections 302, 201, 392, 412 IPC arising out of Case Crime No.90 of 2005, Police Station Rail Bazar, District Kanpur Nagar, whereby all the three appellants have been sentenced to imprisonment for life under Section 302/34 IPC coupled with fine Rs.5000/-, default stipulation prescribes six months' additional imprisonment, three years rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine Rs.5000/- under Section 201/34 IPC , default stipulation prescribes six months' additional imprisonment, three years rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine Rs.5000/- under Section 392 IPC, default stipulates six months' additional imprisonment and two years rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine Rs.2000/- under Section 412 IPC, default stipulation directs three months' additional imprisonment. All the aforesaid sentences to run concurrently.

3. We have heard Sri Ambrish Kumar, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Gopeshwar Sahai Bisaria, learned amicus curiae for appellant Sanu @ Billa Deen and Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned AGA for the State and perused the record of the appeal.

4. Facts leading to this appeal as emanate from record appear to be; that a written report was lodged on 01.04.2005 at 8.30 a.m. at police station Rail Bazar, district Kanpur Nagar by informant Nafees Ahmad son of Abdul Aziz, resident of village Sarsaul, Police Station Mahrajpur, district Kanpur Nagar against aforesaid three appellants for committing murder of his son Mohammad Aneesh (deceased) and causing disappearance of evidence for offence of murder. It was alleged in the first information report that the informant's son Mohammad Aneesh aged about 21 years was working as Collection Agent in Sahara Company. On 07.03.2005, his son Mohammad Aneesh and his younger brother Sami Ahmad came to Taat Mill Crossing after receiving Rs.70,000/- pertaining to business transaction from Santosh Carrier located at Nayaganj, Kanpur Nagar, where they met with the appellants namely, Mohd. Ashraf, Mohd. Aslam (both sons of Rais Ahmad, R/o 6-D Sujatganj, police station Rail Bazar, Kanpur Nagar) and their friend Shanu @ Billa Deen son of Asfaq Khan, R/o Imamganj, Police station Mahrajganj, district Raebareilly. Appellant Mohd. Aslam was also employed as Collection Agent in Sahara Company and he is son of his brother-in-law (Saddhu), therefore, they started talking about money transaction. In the meanwhile, informant's brother Sami Ahmad had some personal work, therefore, he went away from there. Thereafter, informant's son Mohammad Aneesh kept on talking to the aforesaid accused persons at that very place and since then his son (Mohammad Aneesh) did not return home. The informant asked many times about whereabouts of his son from the aforesaid appellants but they remained evasive and did not give any information. Now, the informant is confident that the appellants have committed murder of his son for greed of money and have concealed his corpse somewhere else, motorcycle Boxer UP-78 AK 4657, Mobile Phone- Motorola Set bearing No.9415730857 and Rs.70,000/-. This incident is alleged to have taken place on 07.03.2005 at about 4.30 p.m. at Taat Mill Crossing (Xing), which has been witnessed by informant's brother Sami Ahmad. The information is being given and legal action be taken. This written report is Exhibit Ka-1.

5. Contents of the written report were taken down in Check FIR on 01.04.2005 at 8.30 a.m. at Case Crime No.90 of 2005, under Sections 302, 201 IPC at police station Rail Bazar, District Kanpur Nagar. Check FIR is Exhibit Ka-14. On the basis of entry made in Check FIR, the case was registered against the appellants in the concerned general diary, rapat no.16 on 01.04.2005 at 8.30 a.m. under Sections 302, 201 IPC at police station Rail Bazar, district Kanpur Nagar. The relevant GD entry is Exhibit Ka-15.

6. Investigation ensued and the Investigating Officer, S.I. Parshuram Tripathi PW-5 took over investigation of the case. He started investigation and recorded statements of informant Nafees Ahmad and Shami Ahmad (PW-1 and PW-2) and on tip off information, arrested the aforesaid three appellants on the very same day i.e. 01.04.2005 at 2.00 p.m. and recovered Rs.12,720 from Mohd. Ashraf, Rs.11740/- from Mohd. Aslam and Rs. 12810/- from Shanu @ Billa Din. He also recovered mobile set, one watch and one purse etc. from their possession. The confession of the appellants in regard to the alleged crime was also recorded at the time of their arrest whereby they confessed to have committed murder of deceased Aneesh after taking him inside the closed Taat Mill and they have done him to death by assaulting him with bricks and looted Rs.70,000/- and distributed the same among them. The motorcycle of deceased Aneesh was parked at Cycle Stand, Railway Station. They have also stated that the dead body is lying in the closed Taat Mill. Memo of arrest and recovery was prepared by the Investigating Officer, which is Exhibit Ka-2. Thereafter, Investigating Officer also recovered Boxer Motorcycle UP 78-AK 4657 from Cycle/Scooter Stand and prepared recovery memo of the same, which is Exhibit Ka-26. Thereafter Investigating Officer proceeded to the closed Taat Mill-place where the dead body of the deceased was allegedly lying - and recovered dead body of the deceased Aneesh along with other things like bricks, blood stained Clay Roll and simple clay roll, one torn pass-book of Punjab National Bank, one driving licence of Sonu c/o Ashfaq Khan. This recovery memo dated 1.4.2005 was dictated to HCP Radhey Shyam Mishra by the Investigating Officer, which is Exhibit Ka-27.

7. We also gather from record that inquest report was prepared on the spot in the aforesaid Taat Mill on 01.04.2005, which is Exhibit Ka-3. Preparation for inquest report commenced at 14.50 hours and completed at 16:35 hours. In the opinion of inquest witnesses and the Investigating Officer, it was thought proper to send the dead body for post-mortem examination for ascertaining real cause of death of the deceased Aneesh. In this regard, relevant papers were prepared like photonash, challan dead body, police form-13, letter to R.I., letter to Chief Medical Officer etc. The dead body of Mohd. Aneesh was sent to mortuary, Kanpur Nagar for autopsy. Dr. R.K. Srivastava conducted the autopsy on the dead body of Mohd. Aneesh on 02.04.2005 at 11.00 a.m, wherein he found the following ante-mortem injuries on his body:

1. Lacerated wound 3 cm x 2 cm x bone deep, 9 cm above right ear.
2. Multiple lacerated wound.
3. Multiple lacerated wound measuring 6 cm x 4 cm x bone deep, 1 cm below injury no.1 right side of head, longest wound measuring 4 cm x 2 cm to the smallest wound measuring 1 cm x 1 cm.
4. Abraded contusion 4 cm x 3 cm x bone deep on the left side of head 7 cm below and above left end of mouth. Parietal bone fractured.
8. In the opinion of doctor, cause of death was coma as a result of ante-mortem injury. Duration of death was stated to be four weeks.
9. The Investigating Officer also prepared site plan of various places which is Exhibit Ka-17 where the deceased Mohd. Aneesh met with the appellants and talked to them. Exhibit Ka-18 is the site plan where the appellants were arrested by the Investigating Officer near Railway Line Crossing at Sujat Ganj on 01.04.2005. Exhibit Ka-19 is the place of recovery of dead body. Exhibit Ka-20 is the site plan of motorcycle stand from where Motorcycle of deceased UP- 78 AK 4657 was recovered. The Investigating Officer Parshuram Tripathi PW-5 has proved all the aforesaid papers and number of material exhibits were also proved which the trial court has referred in its judgment, therefore, the same need not be repeated at this stage.
10. After completing investigation, the Investigating Officer filed charge-sheet against aforesaid appellants, which is Exhibit Ka-28. Thereafter case of the appellants was committed to the court of sessions, from where it was made over to the concerned trial court. The learned trial Judge after hearing the prosecution and the appellants on the point of charge, framed charge under Sections 302/34, 201/34, 392 and 412 IPC.
11. The prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony in order to prove its case. The prosecution produced in all five witnesses. Nafeesh Ahmad PW-1 is the first informant and father of the deceased. Samir Ahmad PW-2 is the brother of first informant and uncle of deceased Mohd. Aneesh. He is witness of fact of last seen. Constable Chandrabali Verma PW-3 has made entry in relevant Check FIR and concerned GD. Dr. R.K. Srivastava PW-4 has conducted autopsy on the dead body of deceased Mohd. Aneesh. S.I. Parshuram Tripathi PW-5 is the Investigating Officer. He has detailed various steps, which he took for completing the Investigation. He has also filed charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-28.

12. Thereafter evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of accused persons was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein Mohd. Ashraf has stated that he being brother of co-accused Mohd. Aslam has been falsely implicated in this case and nothing incriminating was recovered at his pointing out.

13. Similarly, Mohd. Aslam has stated that he is Area Field Manager in Sahara India. The deceased Mohd. Aneesh was his Assistant. He could not deposit collection money in the company, whereupon he in company with his officials went to the father of the deceased, Nafees Ahmad for inquiry and returned after getting documents. Due to this, the first informant was abhorrent towards him.

14. Shanu @ Billa Deen has stated that he is not acquainted with the aforesaid two co-accused persons. He is a Tempo Driver. Police personnel exploited his services and wanted him to do begar. When he asked money for diesel, the police personnel refused to give any money and falsely implicated him in this case after forcibly taking possession of his mobile phone and driving license.

15. The defence in turn has adduced ocular testimony of Akhilesh Upadhyay DW-1 and Heeru DW-2. These two defence witnesses have proved Exhibit Kha-1, Kha-2 and Kha-3.

16. Thereafter the case was posted for hearing. Learned trial court after hearing both the parties on merit passed judgment of conviction dated 29.09.2007 and sentenced the present appellants as aforesaid.

17. Consequently, this appeal.

18. It has been vehemently contended by the learned counsel for the appellants that this case is an example of police high handedness and false accusations by the first informant. The entire case is admittedly based on circumstantial evidence. There is no eye-witness account of alleged offence of murder and loot. Things have happened in a dramatic way and the chain and sequence of circumstances appear placed in great disarray, which cannot be satisfactorily explained by the prosecution. The entire chain of circumstances and evidence forthcoming is highly doubtful, shaky and gives rise to a number of speculations regarding commission of crime by other persons.

19. In a case based on circumstantial evidence, it is obligatory on the part of the prosecution to prove and establish vital links in the chain of circumstances so as to exclude every hypothesis of innocence of the accused person and to conclusively point out guilt of accused that in all eventualities, it was the accused and the accused alone, who committed the offence to the exclusion of others. Things in this case factually as well as legally- have been ordained by the first informant in collusion with Samir Ahmad PW-2 and the concerned police personnel. Therefore, the prosecution case becomes more and more exposed to untold uncertainties.

20. The recovery process is highly doubtful and the same is not sustainable in the eye of law and cannot be read against the appellants. Recovery of dead body has not been made by the police in presence of the appellants and the same is not at the pointing out of the appellants. No note of any sort or worthy recovery memo like Exhibit Ka-27, proved the same. Mere inquest report was prepared, which will not prove recovery of dead body at the pointing out of the appellants. The recovery memo Exhibit Ka-26 and Ka-27 are without signatures of the appellants and there is no reference that copies of these memos were ever given to the appellants. In absence of establishment of fact of recovery of concerned motorcycle UP-78 AK 4657 and the dead body (all the descriptions contained in such so called recovery memos Exhibit Ka-26 and Ka-27), no legal effect pursuant thereto occurs touching on any sort of involvement of the appellants in the alleged act of murder of Anees.

21. The prosecution has failed utterly to prove the vital links of the chain in form of evidence and circumstances. For the sake of argument and assuming it to be that the deceased Mohd. Aneesh was last seen in company of the appellants on 07.03.2005 but there is no further evidence regarding fact that the deceased proceeded in company with the appellants from Taat Mill Crossing to the closed Taat Mill premises and went inside the mill and came out of the mill without being accompanied by the deceased. There is no whisper or evidence that the appellants were ever seen inside the closed Taat Mill.

22. It is noticeable that the son of informant was missing since 07.03.2005 and he was making hectic search for his son. He had been informed by his brother Shami Ahmad PW-2 that the deceased was left by him with the appellants in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop near Taat Mill Crossing. Although no report whatsoever was tried to be lodged with any authority or police and no information whatsoever was ever given to any authority but the FIR was lodged only on 01.04.2005 at 8.30 A.M. and the very same day, on tip off information, the appellants were arrested at 2:00 P.M. Thereafter recovery of Rs.37,270/- was jointly made from their possession.

23. On the basis of confessional statement, Motorcycle UP 70 AK 4657 and dead body of Mohd. Aneesh were recovered but the recovery memo of alleged motorcycle and dead body Exhibit Ka-26 and Ka-27, respectively do not bear signatures of the appellants and there was no time mentioned in such memos as to when these recoveries were effected. Chain of circumstances was never complete. The motive assigned for the commission of the crime is neither genuine nor established. Possibility of offence of murder and loot being committed by others than the appellants cannot be ruled out. Appellant Sanu @ Billa Deen was never acquainted with the appellants and he had nothing to do with the case. He was a Tempo Driver and police falsely involved him in this case because he refused to do begar for them. The prosecution case is full of infirmities and the charge made against the appellants has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt.

24. Per contra, learned AGA has replied that admittedly it is a case based on circumstantial evidence but the vital links of the chain of evidence and circumstances are complete. Evidence of last seen has been well proved. Recovery of motorcycle, dead body and other articles have been well proved. Recovery of Rs.37,270/- from the possession of the appellants gave thrust to offence of loot and murder. The recovery of dead body was made only after recording confessional statement of the appellants.

25. Learned AGA has further added that motive for committing the crime is self evident. Firstly the Loot of money and; secondly the deceased Mohd. Aneesh had previously molested sister of Mohd. Aslam and Mohd. Ashraf, which was retaliated by committing murder of deceased Mohd. Aneesh. There is no inordinate delay in lodging the FIR because the first informant kept on searching for his son for 22-23 days. When the appellants refused to disclose whereabouts of his son then only he lodged the FIR on 01.04.2005. Thus, the delay in lodging the FIR is reasonably explained. Laches committed by the Investigating Officer while preparing various memos are not vital and the same alone will not throw away the case of the prosecution. Charge framed against the appellants has been proved beyond doubt.

26. After considering aforesaid rival submissions made by both sides, core consideration for adjudication of this appeal engages our attention to fact whether this case being a case based on circumstantial evidence all its links of circumstances of chain are complete in itself, which lead aside every hypothesis of innocence of the appellants or establishes fact that accused appellants alone are the perpetrator of the crime, to the exclusion of others?

27. It is admitted to both the parties that the present case is one based on circumstantial evidence. No one has seen commission of offence of murder and loot and fact of causing disappearance of evidence.

28. In this view of the matter, we have to scrutinize carefully vital facts and links of chain of circumstances leading to final determination of the case. Crux of written report, Exhibit Ka-1 reflects that the allegations have been made by the first informant Nafee Ahmad PW-1 - the father of the deceased- that his son Mohd. Aneesh aged about 21 years was Collection Agent in Sahara Company and first informant was running business of selling animal (Goats) and he used to receive money in consideration of sale. His son along with Sami Ahmad, informant's real brother, went to receive Rs.70,000/- for business transaction of goats from Satosh Courier at Naya Ganj, district Kanpur Nagar on 07.03.2005.

29. After receipt of Rs.70,000/-, informant's brother Sami Ahmad and his son deceased Mohd. Aneesh met with the appellants and they were talking among themselves. Mohd. Aslam, one of the appellants was also Commission Agent at Sahara Company, therefore, talks regarding payment were made. In the meanwhile, Sami Ahmad, the uncle of the deceased left the place of occurrence because he had some personal work around 4.30 P.M. Thereafter Mohd. Aneesh did not return home in the evening. On inquiry being made, he was told by his brother Sami Ahmad that deceased Mohd Aneesh was talking with the aforesaid appellants in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop near Taat Mill Crossing when he left the place of the occurrence for his personal work. After this, the first informant inquired whereabouts of Mohd. Aneesh from the appellants but they avoided question and did not tell anything. The first informant searched for his son but he could not trace him out, therefore, he lodged first information report with Police Station Rail Bazar after 24 days of disappearance of his son on 01.04.2005.

30. In such a situation, we have before us certain vital circumstances of this case, which need be enumerated at this stage:-

1. The 'last seen' evidence when the deceased was last seen in company with the appellants.

2. The deceased was proceeding in company with the appellants either towards Taat Mill or was ever seen with them inside Taat Mill.

3. Whether the appellants were seen coming out of Taat Mill at the relevant date and time of the occurrence and they were accompanied by the deceased. Recovery of dead body and motorcycle etc. were made at the pointing out of the appellants after their arrest by the police.

4. Cause of motive for committing crime.

31. The aforesaid circumstances in form of vital links of chain of circumstances are proved and established then the chain of circumstances will be complete in itself.

32. Now, we may embark on full-fledged discussions of existing evidence qua facts and circumstances of the case. We may start with motive behind the crime. In so far as description contained in the first information report is concerned, the same has reference for greed for money Rs.70,000/-, for which the appellants committed murder of Mohd. Aneesh. There is no any other whisper. However, in the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact namely Nafees Ahmad PW-1 and Samir Ahmad PW-2, particularly in the arrest memo of accused appellants dated 01.04.2005, it emerges out that the deceased had outraged modesty of sister of Mohd. Ashraf and Mohd. Aslam, the co-accused, for which they avenged by committing murder of Mohd. Aneesh.

33. We shall reflect on this aspect of motive a little later but before we do so, we have to scrutinize certain other relevant aspects of the case and particularly, arrest of the accused appellants and recovery of dead body. The arrest memo (Exhibit Ka-2) discloses that the first information report was lodged on 01.04.2005 at 8.30 A.M. at Police Station Rail Bazar. When S.O. Parshuram Tripathi along with police personnel reached near Sujat Ganj Railway Crossing then on the tip off information that the accused appellants coming to know about lodging of the FIR, are trying to move somewhere either by bus or by train in order to escape from arrest, the police party was also accompanied by PW-1 and PW-2 who sighted the three accused appellants, who after seeing the police became apprehensive and tried to flee away but they were caught near railway crossing around 2.00 P.M. They disclosed their respective names to the police. When they were told about lodging of the FIR, they apologized and said that deceased was son of their mausi. Some years ago, the deceased molested their sister, due to which they decided to take revenge for the same. On 07.03.2005 they called their friend Sanu @ Billa Deen and made a plan to kill the deceased. They were present on Taat Mill Crossing at 4.30 P.M. when Mohd. Aneesh along with his uncle Sami Ahmad came over there and began to talk to them. Later on, his uncle left from the scene of occurrence then on the pretext of smoking cigarette, they took the deceased inside already closed Taat Mill and killed him by giving bricks blow and they distributed Rs.70,000/- among themselves, which the deceased was possessing. Motorcycle of deceased was parked at the Railway Station Motorcycle Stand. Mobile Cell Phone of deceased was taken by co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen. Dead body of deceased was lying inside Taat Mill.

34. Thereafter recovery of Rs.12720/- from possession of Mohd. Ashraf, Rs.11740/- from accused Mohd. Aslam and Rs.12810/- from accused Sanu @ Billa Deen was made. In all Rs.37270/- were recovered from their possession. Besides, one LG Reliance Mobile Phone and one Mobile Cell Phone Motorola Set belonging to deceased Mohd. Aneesh were also recovered. One HMT Kohinoor wrist watch and one Purse were also recovered. The recovery memo was prepared on the spot, as Exhibit Ka-2. This aspect of the case does not seem vital but assumes importance for the reason that Samir Ahmad PW-2, uncle of deceased left the scene of the occurrence at 4.30 P.M. for his personal work and the deceased was in company of the accused appellants but after strenuous cross-examination, specific question being put to PW-2 by the defence that he has not come out with the description of personal work for which he suddenly left the scene of occurrence. Thereafter pursuant to information so extracted from the accused appellants, recovery of motorcycle was made from Railway Motorcycle Stand and memo of the same was prepared, which is Exhibit Ka-26. This recovery memo does not bear any signature of any of the accused appellants nor does it contain any description regarding copy of memo being given to the accused appellants. It has come in the testimony of the Investigating Officer Parshuram Tripahi PW-5 that he did not ask name of the employee, who was manning the motorcycle stand when the recovery was made, he did not inquire about the name of the contractor/owner of the motorcycle stand. We, on careful perusal of recovery memo Exhibit Ka-26, notice that no time of recovery has been mentioned in this memo. For these specific and conspicuous reasons, this recovery memo becomes erroneous and legally not admissible and cannot be read against the appellants.

35. Similarly, recovery memo of dead body, certain other articles allegedly scattered on the place of occurrence, simple clay roll and blood stained clay roll (Exhibit Ka-27) made by the police party is so vague in description that it nowhere describes the manner of recovery of dead body, as to on whose pointing out it was discovered. It merely describes recovery of certain articles near the dead body. It also does not bear signatures of the accused appellants nor does it contain any recital for handing over copy of this recovery memo to the accused appellants. Lastly, it does not refer any time as to when such recovery was effected. Therefore, recovery memos as Exhibit Ka-26 and Exhibit Ka-27, which relate to fact of recovery of dead body and other articles from the spot where the dead body was allegedly recovered inside the Taat Mill becomes legally not admissible against the appellants and in the eye of law, both the Exhibits Ka-26 and Ka-27 are very material in this case and are vital links of chain of circumstances which have not been properly proved.

36. Assuming it to be that it may be lapse of the Investigating Officer that he acted in a casual manner and was unmindful of legal sequences that will flow from his negligent act but had it been an ordinary recovery, matter would have been ignored by us but under existing facts and circumstances, we have every reason to believe absence of accused persons at the relevant point of time when these recoveries were made. Had it been so that the accused appellants were present on the spot then their signatures on these recovery memos (Exhibit Ka-26 and Ka-27) should and must have been obtained on it. Since non mention of time and non obtaining of signatures hits at the root of the prosecution case in form of missing vital links of recovery of dead body and the articles, it shakes the entire prosecution case to its discredit.

37. In so far as memo of arrest (Exhibit Ka-2) is concerned, we may observe that after lodging of the first information report, the events happened in quick succession at 2:00 P.M., all the three accused persons were arrested from near Sujat Ganj Railway Crossing, which is a busy public place, still no independent person was arranged to be witness to fact of arrest and recovery. It has been suggested that Sujat Ganj Railway Crossing is manned by a Railway employee, then why his services were not utilized by the Investigating Officer. The Investigating Officer avoided the question. The confession made before the police officer regarding commission of murder will not be read against the appellants, as such, on its face value but it has to be read with the entirety of facts and other circumstances which emerged in this case.

38. We may again observe that how casual is the I.O. and how genuine is the recovery of money from possession of the appellants. It has been described in the recovery memo (Exhibit Ka-2) that Rs.12720/- was recovered from Mohd. Ashraf, Rs.11740/- was recovered from Mohd. Aslam and Rs.12810/- from Sanu and Billa Deen. But how and why denomination of currency notes recovered from the possession of the appellants were not mentioned in the recovery memo. In this view of the matter, recovery of money as described in the recovery memo of arrest, Exhibit ka-2 becomes doubtful.

39. Now, we may consider the other vital links and facts of this case so as to arrive at just decision. The star witness of last seen is Sami Ahmad PW-2. He has testified in his examination-in-chief that he along with deceased went to take Rs.70000/- from Sanosh Courier on motorcycle UP 78 AK 4657 (Bajaj Boxerr). On page 47 of the paper book, he testified that Mohd. Aneesh was a collection agent of Sahara India. After receiving Rs.70000/-, they were returning from Naya Ganj, Kanur Nagar and as soon as they arrived at Taat Mill Crossing in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop where Mohd. Ashraf and Mohd. Aslam, the two sons of brother-in-law of first informant along with one Sanu @ Billa Deen met with them. When they were talking, this witness left their company and department from there on account of some personal work. It was around 4.30 P.M. he returned home but deceased Mohd. Aneesh did not return home whereupon inquiry was made by the first informant, father of deceased from Sami Ahmad PW-2 who told him that he had left the deceased with the accused appellant around 4.30 P.M. in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop near Taat Mill crossing.

40. Now relevant issue crops up as to what is the testimony, which may shed light on fact or establish that as soon as the deceased was left with the accused appellants in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop, he remained in company of accused appellants till and upto the time of his death and no person came in contact with the deceased after 4.30 P.M. on 07.03.2005. There is not an iota of evidence on the point that the deceased was ever seen proceeding towards the Taat Mill with the accused appellants or that he was seen inside the Taat Mill in company with the accused appellants or that the accused appellants were ever seen coming out of Taat Mill without person of the deceased Mohd. Aneesh.

41. On this core essence of incident of murder evidence could have been collected by the Investigating Officer by making sincere effort, if he had contacted the police booth at Taat Mill Crossing, which was made for public help or he could have taken help of guard/check post inside Taat Mill or of certain family members, who had been residing inside Taat Mill in some rooms. This specific testimony appears on page-73 and 74 of the paper book in the statement of the Investigating Officer, S.I. Sri Parshuram Tripathi, therefore, merely because arrest was effectuated by the police, which as discussed above is found to be of dubious nature, will not ipso facto establish other but vital missing links in the chain of circumstances.

42. There is unexplained vacuum on point of continuing and sustained company of deceased with the appellants from 4.30 P.M. onwards on 7.3.2005 and in the absence of such vital link in the chain of circumstances the hypothesis of innocence of appellants alone is fortified because exclusion of possibility that the offence could have been done by others also can not be ruled out. Here it cannot be said that the accused alone are the perpetrators of the crime to the exclusion of others.

43. Perusal of arrest and recovery memo of accused (Exhibit Ka-2) shows that the first informant and his brother Sami Ahmad who knew the accused appellants well from before and also sighted them near Sujat Ganj Railway Crossing, still they were apprehended by the police as if there was no one with the police party to pinpoint the accused and identify them. Their names and addresses were tried to be known after they were apprehended by the I.O. and the police party. Under circumstance this gesture by the police glitters of artificiality and by itself is unnatural. If PW-1 and PW-2 were accompanying police party when the accused persons were apprehended by the police then they could have easily of their own told their names to the police, which the police could have confirmed from them. But nothing like the sort happened but an inquiry was feigningly made regarding identity of the accused appellants in presence of the first informant and his brother on the spot and this way, the Investigating Officer tried unsuccessfully to give colour to his suspected activity. There are certain vital omissions in the first information report as to the spot where the appellants met with deceased. There is no mention of Saloni Cold Drink Shop in front of which the deceased met with the accused persons. It may be observed that no doubt the FIR is not an encyclopaedia and it does not contain every detail in its entirety. However, certain facts, which hold sanguine point may be expected to be referred in report as that would be treated to be natural expression of place which holds center point and the beginning of crime imputed.

44. PW-2 appears to be star witness of the prosecution. However, he has been confronted by the defence in cross-examination on almost all the vital aspects of this case, wherein material contradictions emerge out from his testimony. Regarding fact of taking money from Santosh

Courier on 07.03.2005, no such statement was ever given by him to the Investigating Officer and such confrontation by the defence appears on page 52 of the paper book. He has again been confronted on the same page on point whether the deceased was possessing any mobile cell phone, whereupon he replied in the affirmative. But no such statement was ever given to or recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. He has again been queried on point of time on the same page of paper book as to when he started for Santosh Courier from his house. He stated that he had told Daroga Ji the time when he left his home but he cannot assign any reason, if the same does not appear in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Similarly, he has stated that he had told Daroga ji that he arrived in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop where Mohd. Ashraf, Mohd. Aslam and Sanu @ Billa Deen met him but if these facts have not been recorded by the Investigating Officer in his statement then he cannot assign any reason for the same.

45. Regarding co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen, he was queried specifically whether he knew him from before then he stated that he had told Daroga Ji that he knew Sanu @ Billa Deen from before but in case such statement has not been recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by Daroga Ji then he cannot assign any reason. One vital aspect of this case, regarding the description of time and place when he (PW-2) left the deceased in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop, though he claims to have specifically told the Investigating Officer in his statement, but in case no such statement finds place under Section 161 Cr.P.C. regarding the place and time as to when he left the deceased Mohd. Aneesh (in front of Saloni Cold Drink Shop) then he cannot assign any reason for the same. As per his claim, this witness (PW-2) says that he had given statement to Daroga ji to the extent that he left the scene of occurrence around 4.30 P.M. but no such statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer. This fact is very vital and under circumstances carries weight. Perhaps this factual aspect assumes central point of the entire incident and non-disclosure of such pivotal fact to the Investigating Officer would indicate that testimony of PW-2 is motivated and full of embellishment. Thus, testimony of P.W.2 is woefully wanting in correct details on certain vital and relevant aspects of this case and as such does not inspire confidence and it appears that he (PW-2) is not telling the truth before this Court. This witness is unworthy of credit.

46. One aspect of the case relating to involvement of co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen attracts our attention. Co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen has stated in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he has been falsely involved in this case because he refused to do begar for the police. He was falsely implicated in this case after his driving license was taken by the police and he was detained at the police station. For the sake of argument, it can be assumed that offence was committed even then it is noticeable that Sanu @ Billa Deen had no motive to commit crime from any angle. He has categorically stated in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he has no connection with the other co-accused Mohd. Ashraf and Mohd. Aslam. Even the prosecution has failed to establish reasonably and specifically fact of acquaintance of co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen with the other co-accused Mohd. Ashraf and Mohd. Aslam, who were cousin brothers of the deceased Mohd. Aneesh. Therefore, statement of co-accused Sanu @ Billa Deen appears to be quite correct under prevailing facts and circumstances of the case and there is every reason to believe his false implication in this case. Moreso, it has come in the testimony of prosecution witnesses that Mohd. Aslam and Mohd. Ashraf had told Daroga ji that deceased Mohd. Aneesh had molested his sister few years ago, then testimony on record is overwhelming on point that the deceased Mohd. Aneesh met the accused persons all of a sudden and the incident occurred. Can it be said that they were well prepared and they worked out their plan to eliminate the deceased when deceased appeared before them all of a sudden on 7.3.2005. Further noticeable that the accused kept silent for about 4 years after rape was committed on sister of two co-accused persons and swung into retaliation only on 7.3.2005 as if they were under impression that the victim will today meet them at 4.00 or 4.30 P.M. and prior to this they do not find any suitable time and place to settle score with the deceased Mohd. Aneesh. We may observe that the act of molestation of sister of accused Mohd. Ashraf and Mohd. Aslam has not been specifically established in this case.

47. It would be appropriate to scrutinize fact regarding recovery of dead body though we have discussed a lot on the same while making observation on Exhibit Ka-27. Our scrutiny at this stage becomes relevant, for the reason that learned AGA Sri Sagir Ahmad has vehemently replied to our specific query regarding non-preparation of memo of recovery of dead body that preparation of inquest of the dead body of deceased Mohd. Aneesh on the spot inside the Taat Mill virtually proves recovery of dead body itself at the pointing out of accused persons because they had already stated at the time of their arrest at 2 P.M. about fact that they have killed the deceased inside the Taat Mill and they have distributed Rs.70,000/- among themselves, which was possessed by the deceased. But in the entire arrest/recovery memo, Exhibit Ka-2, there is no mention of any particular place where the dead body was concealed, then the point crops up as to how the police party could reach and recover dead body exactly from the spot inside the room within the campus of Taat Mill. The entire recovery memo and all the memos are absolutely silent here. We may have recourse to the inquest report of deceased, Exhibit Ka-3 which also does not refer as to how they (police party) reached upto the specific room in the Taat Mill premises. We notice abysmal silence on this aspect in Exhibit Ka-3.

48. Learned AGA claims that the inquest report Exhibit Ka-3 may be treated to be recovery memo of the dead body. If the contention is accepted by us at this stage then obviously inquest must bear signatures of all the three accused persons just to mark their presence on the spot. But as per testimony on record, and as per contents of the inquest report, Exhibit Ka-3, we do not find any signature of any of the accused persons on this inquest report. This is not covered under category laches committed by the Investigating Officer. Preparation of memo of recovery of dead body is a substantial compliance in this case based on circumstantial evidence. But it is due to establishment of fact of non-existence of presence of the accused persons on the spot that several recovery memos like recovery of motorcycle, recovery of dead body and the place of occurrence as disclosed through Exhibits Ka-26 and Ka-27 becomes doubtful. Therefore, distinction is to be made between laches committed by the Investigating Officer and the laches which are substantial and hitting at the root of the prosecution case. In this way, it is obvious that things have been tried to be accomplished in a dramatic way in utmost hurry. The inquest report by itself can never be treated to be recovery memo of dead body. Such argument though sounds well on its face value but will always be disapproved by one and all for aforesaid reason.

49. The point is that the things have been put in, in universal manner. There is no explanation about the personal work for which PW-2 had to leave the spot where he met with accused around 4.00 P.M. and then left at 4.30 P.M. and it was upto PW-2 to have come out specifically about the piece of personal work with which he was occupied with, but he failed to do that.

50. Here an overall reading of prevailing facts and circumstances give rise to possibility that even Mohd. Aslam (P.W.2) may himself commit murder of deceased Mohd. Aneesh, as human greed has no limitation, which can be effectively executed at any point of time against any person, notwithstanding a close relative. In such peculiar circumstances of this case, how can we hold conclusively that the guilt of the appellants is established as number of missing links in the chains of circumstances are not complete and they leave aside every hypothesis regarding innocence of the appellants. Can we summarize that the links in the chain of circumstances are so complete as to leave aside every hypothesis of the innocence of the appellant and establish that appellants and appellants alone were the perpetrator of the crime after 4.30 P.M. onwards on 7.3.2005. There is no clinching circumstance on record, which may establish that deceased was seen in company with accused appellants either inside the Taat Mill or outside the Taat Mill and there is no evidence on specific factual aspect that after 4.30 P.M. all the three accused persons were seen or sighted by any one near or around Taat Mill and the deceased was accompanying them, therefore, accompaniment of deceased with the appellants after 4.30 P.M. upto the place of occurrence where the dead body was found by the police cannot be established in this case and such a vital link is missing altogether.

51. We are conscious of fact that where conviction is based on circumstantial evidence solely then there should not be any snap or gap in the vital links of the chain of circumstances and in case any snap emerges out in the links of chain, then the accused would be entitled to benefit of doubt.

52. We are also conscious of fact that in cases if some of the circumstances in the chain can be explained by any other reasonable hypothesis, which may give rise to reasonable comprehension that alleged offence can be committed by other persons also when the accused are entitled to be benefit of doubt. Only that circumstantial evidence, which is clinching, consistent leaving aside any other hypothesis regarding commission of crime except innocence of the accused alone would be inspiring confidence. All the circumstances of the case must be, as held in a catena of cases by the Hon'ble Apex Court, that all the links of chain must be complete in cases based on circumstantial evidence.

53. Here, in this case at hand we are constrained to note that not even last seen theory inspires confidence because in case the son of the first informant was missing on 07.03.2005 and the first informant was told about the names of the accused persons and the first informant in fact inquired from them about whereabouts of his son, which on query being raised was found to have been avoided, then a sane and a prudent man would hardly wait for 22-23 days and then only he will lodge first information report alleging therein that now he has become sure that his son has been killed by these persons. May be that such FIR was lodged by first informant on 01.04.2005 with Police Station Rail Bazar, but in between 07.03.2005 upto 01.04.2005, there must have been some whisper about some information regarding missing/disappearance of his son at least to some responsible authority but that aspect on vital fact is woefully silent and inaction of first informant in between the above two periods give rise to a number of possibilities and probability.

54. In this context, we may note that first informant was conscious of fact that his son is missing after receiving Rs.70,000/-. He was conscious of fact that his son was also possessing one mobile cell phone, but he is silent as to whether the mobile sim was off or on during the aforesaid period of disappearance of his son from 07.03.2005 upto the time on 01.04.2005 and When the dead body of his son was recovered by the police.

55. Here in this case even PW-2, who happens to be the real brother of first informant can be posed as culprit, for many reasons because he also needed money and he had incurred some expenses for treatment of his wife and he has been suggested on page-57 of his testimony as to whether he had borrowed Rs.20-25 thousand, whereupon he denied the suggestion. On the same page, he has been suggested to this extent that he himself killed his nephew in greed for the money. The possibility of involvement of Mohd. Aslam cannot be ruled out and it is established principle in circumstantial jurisprudence that if different hypothesis of guilt is forthcoming from the testimony and circumstances on record, then benefit of doubt goes to the aforesaid accused.

56. In the backdrop of aforesaid discussion, we are fully convinced that the prosecution has not been able to establish all links in the chain of circumstances and chain remained incomplete. Learned trial court while appraising evidence and marshaling facts on record misread the evidence and based its conviction more on whims and imaginations than on evidence on record, leaving aside the guiding principles to be applied in cases based on circumstantial evidence. In case evidence and circumstances of the case allude to alternative way to alternative hypothesis and give rise to possibility that the perpetrator of the crime can be another person also than the accused then benefit of doubt should and must be given to the accused persons.

57. These are the reasons upon which we set aside the impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 29.09.2007 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No.1, Kanpur Nagar, in Sessions Trial No.552 of 2005, under Sections 302, 201, 392, 412 IPC arising out of Case Crime No.90 of 2005, Police Station Rail Bazar, District Kanpur Nagar.

58. However, we direct that the appellants will ensure compliance of provisions of Section 437A Cr.P.C. by appearing before the concerned trial court at the earliest.

59. Let a copy of this order/judgment be certified to the court below for necessary information and follow up action.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J.)

1. Heard Shri Vivek Raj Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri Devendra Upadhyaya, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Shri Ajay Kumar, learned counsel appearing for Specialist/District Basic Education Officer, Gaziabad.

2. These proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India have been instituted by the petitioner challenging the order dated 12.05.2016, passed by the Internal Accounts and Audit Directorate, U.P. Lucknow, whereby his deputation as Assistant Finance and Accounts Officer in the office of Specialist/District Basic Education Officer, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, District Project Office, district-Gaziabad has been withdrawn and he has been repatriated and ordered to submit his joining in the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit, U.P.

3. The petitioner has also assailed the consequential order dated 20.06.2016 passed by the Additional Project Director, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, whereby he has been repatriated to his alleged parent department of Internal Accounts and Audit Directorate, U.P. Lucknow.

4. The petitioner was initially appointed on the post of Assistant Accountant under the order dated 10.11.1999 passed by the Additional Director of Agriculture, U.P. which is contained in annexure no.SA-1 appended to the supplementary affidavit filed by the petitioner dated 26.07.2016. The said initial appointment of the petitioner in the agriculture department was made in terms of the provisions contained in the Service Rules known as Uttar Pradesh Agriculture Department Accounts Non-Gazetted Service Rules, 1982 read with the provisions contained in another set of statutory rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India known as Uttar Pradesh Procedure for Appointment against Group C Posts Outside the Purview of Public Service Commission Rules, 1998. The initial appointment of the petitioner was, thus, made by the State Government in the department of agriculture.

5. On inception of Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, a project being run by the State Government, certain posts on temporary basis were created including the post of Assistant Finance and Accounts Officer. On several posts including the post of Assistant Finance and Accounts Officer available in Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, provisions were made for making appointment on the basis of selection on deputation. The petitioner appears to have applied for his appointment on deputation on the post of Assistant Finance and Accounts Officer in Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan and accordingly on his selection, he was appointed on the said post and was posted at district Bagpat. The said appointment of the petitioner by way of deputation in Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan was made on the permission accorded to the said deputation by the order dated 02.09.2011 passed by the Additional Director of Agriculture (Administration) U.P. The initial order of appointment of the petitioner on the post of Assistant Finance and Accounts Officer in Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan district Bagpat has been annexed as annexure no.3 to the writ petition, which clearly indicates that during the petitioner's appointment on deputation in the borrowing department, namely, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, his lien to his parent department i.e. agriculture department shall be maintained. Though the appointment of the petitioner on deputation initially was made for a period of one year, however, his appointment in Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan has continued till the impugned order dated 12.05.2016 and the consequential order dated 20.06.2016 were passed.

6. The basic premise of attack to the impugned action on the part of the respondents as canvassed by the learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri Vivek Raj Singh, is that since the petitioner, who was initially appointed in the agriculture department and his lien was intact in the agriculture department, as such he could not be repatriated on completion or termination of his deputation to any department other than the department of agriculture. He has, thus, submitted that the impugned order dated 12.05.2016, passed by the Director, Internal Accounts and Audit Directorate, U.P., Lucknow, whereby his deputation has not only been recalled but he has also been directed to report for submitting his joining in the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit, is unlawful. His submission, in sum and substance, is that the petitioner's parent department, thus, cannot be changed or altered without his willingness or consent having been obtained by the respondents and in the instant case, in fact, by the impugned order dated 12.05.2016, his employer is being changed from the agriculture department of the State of U.P. to the department of Internal Accounts and Audit which is impermissible. He has further stated that since the consequential order repatriating the petitioner from Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan has been passed by the Additional Project Director, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan consequent upon the order dated 12.05.216, as such it is not only that the order dated 12.05.2016 is illegal but the same in fact makes the order dated 20.06.2016 repatriating the petitioner from Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan also illegal.

7. Strongly refuting the submissions made by the learned counsel for the petitioner, Shri Devendra Upadhyaya, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has submitted that, as a matter of fact, a deputationist does not have any right to remain posted in the borrowing department, rather as and when services of deputationist are required by the parent department, he can be recalled to the parent department. He has also stated that the order dated 12.05.2016 has been passed by the Director, Internal Accounts and Audit Directorate, U.P. recalling the petitioner from deputation from Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan and directing him to submit his joining in the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit as a consequence of restructuring of different cadres of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in almost 37 departments of the State Government which have been unified to form a single cadre and for the said purpose rules have also been framed by the State Government under Article 309 of the Constitution of India known as U.P. Government Department Subordinate Accounts Cadre (Non-Gazetted) Service Rules, 2014 which have been notified on 07.11.2014. His submission, thus, is that on forming a unified cadre comprising of all the Assistant Accountants and Accountants working in different department of U.P., including the Assistant Accountants and Accountants working in agriculture department, the State Government has exercised its administrative discretion and prerogative to restructure different cadres by unifying them into one and hence, there is nothing unlawful or illegal which can be complained of by the petitioner.

8. Drawing attention of the Court to the entire exercise undertaken by the State Government preceding notification of 2014 Rules on 07.11.2014, it has been submitted by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel that formation of unified cadre comprising of the incumbents holding the post of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in various departments of the State Government has a purpose to achieve which is based on the recommendations made by the Pay Committee in the year 2008 formed for the purposes of making recommendations in the context of the recommendations made by the Sixth Central Pay Commission. He has taken the Court to the 10th representation (Part 6) made by the Pay Committee and has submitted that to achieve the said purpose as mentioned in the aforesaid representation made by the Pay Committee, unification of the cadres has been done and hence, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is not tenable.

9. Having considered the submissions made by the learned counsel appearing for the respective parties and having perused various pronouncements relied upon by the learned counsel in support and in opposition of the case of the petitioner, the Court is unable to agree with the contentions and submissions made by the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner for the reasons which are to follow.

10. The crux of the arguments of the learned counsel for the petitioners is two folds. Firstly, he has submitted that, in fact, it is a case where by passing the order dated 12.05.2016 on the ground of formation of a unified cadre, respondents have changed the employer of the petitioner which is not only unreasonable and arbitrary but is also impermissible legally for the reason that before change of employer no willingness or consent from the petitioner was ever sought. His submission is that the petitioner was initially appointed in agriculture department and even after having been sent on deputation to Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, his lien is maintained in agriculture department and as such notwithstanding there being no illegality in repatriating the petitioner, the impugned order dated 12.05.2016, whereby the petitioner has been directed to submit his joining not in his parent department of agriculture, but in the department of Internal Accounts and Audit, is completely unlawful.

11. Shri Vivek Raj Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, has secondly, submitted that the alleged exercise which has resulted in formation of a unified cadre comprising of the posts of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in various government departments cannot be termed to be reconstructing, as a matter of fact, a new department has been created by the said exercise. Elaborating his aforesaid argument, it has been contended by Shri Singh that reconstructing of a cadre is permissible within a department and unification of cadres comprising of posts earlier belonging to different government departments cannot be termed to be restructuring for the reason that the State Government cannot be permitted to withdraw all the Assistant Accountants and Accountants working in different departments and appoint and place them in a newly created department.

12. Considering the first argument raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner, it can only be observed that by forming a unified cadre, namely, Subordinate Accounts Cadre of Non-Gazetted Employees, neither any new department is being created nor the employer of the petitioner and other such Assistant Accountants or Accountants is being changed. Employer of the petitioner is the State Government and even after unification of the cadre it remains the State Government. The distinction being drawn by the learned counsel for the petitioner between the agriculture department and the department of Internal Accounts and Audit to submit the impugned action has resulted in change of employer is highly misplaced and misconceived for the reason that under our Constitutional framework the State is only one entity which functions and discharges its executive duties and powers through various departments created for convenient transaction of its business. The formation of a department for convenient functioning and discharge of duties by the State Government (though in the instant case, even the same has not been done) cannot be said to have resulted in change of employer.

13. As already observed above, in the instant case, the petitioner was appointed initially as a government employee and he will remain employed by the State Government itself for the reason that his status as a government employee will not be changed on unification of the cadres. The petitioner will be governed by the provisions of the Constitution more specifically the provisions contained under Articles 309, 310 and 311 of the Constitution of India. He will keep on enjoying the protection available to him under Article 311 of the Constitution of India which is available to the employees who hold a civil post under State. Similarly, the pleasure doctrine expressed in Article 310 will be applicable to the petitioner even after formation of the unified cadre. This discussion makes it clear that the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner that by forming a unified cadre, since the petitioner will now be governed by the department of Internal Accounts and Audit, his employer will get changed is misconceived which merits rejection.

14. As far as the submission made by learned counsel for the petitioner that since the petitioner's employer is getting changed by promulgation of 2014 Rules whereby a unified cadre has been formed, it was incumbent upon the State authorities to have asked for his willingness or his consent is concerned, the same is liable to be rejected being highly misconceived for the reason that such willingness or consent under law is required to be sought from an employee in a situation or in a case where either the terms of employment are going to adversely affect the employee or his employer is being changed. In the instant case, as has already observed above, by formation of unified cadre comprising of various posts of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in almost 37 departments of the State Government, employer of such employees, who were earlier holding the said posts in the different departments, is not going to be changed. The petitioner has also completely failed to establish that service conditions of the petitioner are going to affect him adversely by formation of unified cadre. Thus, the said argument of learned counsel for the petitioner is also not tenable.

15. The judgments cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner in the cases of Jawaharlal Nehru University vs. Dr. K.S. Jawatkar and others, reported in [1989 Supp (1) SCC 679], Orissa Electrical Engineers' Service Association vs. State of Orissa and others, reported in [(1998) 2 SCC 563] and Balco Captive Power Plant Mazdoor Sangh and another vs. National Thermal Power Corporation and others, reported in [(2007) 14 SCC 234] are not applicable here and in fact the same do not come to the rescue of the petitioner for the reason that in all the aforesaid cases Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that willingness or consent is required for absorption of an employee in the services of a subsequent employer and in the aforesaid cases the original employers of the employees were changed, wherein as in the present case there is no change of employer.

16. In the instant case, since employer of the petitioner remains the State Government, the aforesaid judgments cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner are of no avail to him.

17. It has further been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that in fact unification of cadre in the manner in which the same has been done by the State Government in the instant case, cannot be termed to be restructuring of cadre. According to him, restructuring of cadre would mean any restructuring within the department and the same would not encompass in its folds borrowing employees working on the post of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in other departments and withdrawing them to form a unified cadre comprising of the post of Assistant Accountants and Accountants. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dhole Govind Saheb Rao and others vs. Union of India and others, reported in [(2015) 6 SCC 727]. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied on para 9 of the said judgment wherein certain facts have been noted by Hon'ble Supreme Court, however, para 9 of the said judgment does not anywhere lay down a law that in case two cadres belonging to different departments of the same government are merged to form of a single unified solitary cadre, the same would not amount to restructuring. The petitioner has also placed reliance on yet another judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and another vs. Lieutenant Colonel P.K. Choudhary and others, reported in [(2016) 4 SCC 236]. Referring to para 4 of the said judgment wherein certain observations have been made by Hon'ble Supreme Court relating to recommendations made by Kargil Review Committee constituted by the Government of India, Post Kargil War, for exploring the ways and means for enhancing the operational preparedness of the Indian Army in its fighting capabilities, it has further been noticed in the said paragraph of aforesaid judgment that the said Committee had conducted deliberations and submitted a report making certain suggestions to take certain measures that were in its opinion necessary for restructuring of officers cadre of the Army. The aforesaid judgment being relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner also does not anywhere state that the manner in which in the present case unification of cadres has been done, is impermissible in law.

18. Thus, the aforesaid judgment relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner does not have any relevance so far as the issue involved in the present case is concerned.

19. A great emphasis has been led by Shri Vivek Raj Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner to submit that the exercise in question conducted by the State of U.P. in the present case which has resulted in unification of cadre cannot be said to be restructuring of cadre needs to be considered in the light of the meaning of the word 'restructuring'. 'Restructure' as defined in Oxford Concise English Dictionary means to give a new structure, to rebuild or to rearrange. What has been done in the instant case is that the posts of Assistant Accountants and Accountants which were earlier created in different departments of the State Government have been rearranged to build a single cadre, as such unification of the cadre in this case is nothing but restructuring.

20. So far as the word 'cadre' is concerned, the same has been defined in fundamental rule 9(4) of the Financial Handbook Vol.II (Part-II) which means strength of a service or a part of a service sanctioned as a separate unit. The word 'cadre' as defined in Financial Handbook is as under;

"Cadre means the strength of a service or a part of a service sanctioned as a separate unit."

21. The facts of the instant case establish that post of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in different departments of the State Government have been unified to form a single solitary cadre sanctioned as a separate unit by notifying 2014 Rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India on 07.11.2014.

22. On the 10th representation (Part-6) made by the Pay Committee, the matter appears to have been considered by the State Government which passed a Government Order on 10.10.2011 taking into account the recommendations made by the Pay Committee and has, thus, decided to form a unified cadre comprising of the posts of Assistant Accountants and Accountants in different departments of the State Government. The Court need not go into the objects of creation of the unified cadre as the same lies in the exclusive domain of the administrative authorities of the State to adopt a particular policy of having different cadres or a unified cadre comprising of particular posts. The State Government thereafter issued another Government Order dated 28.11.2011 for giving effect to the recommendations made by the Pay Committee in its 10th representation (Part-6). The said Government Order embodies certain decisions of the State Government. The decision taken which are embodied in the Government Order dated 28.11.2011 are; (i) Assistant Accountants and Accountants working in different subordinate cadres of different departments will be selected, appointed and transferred by the Internal Accounts and Audit department and accordingly the selected candidate should be allocated to the different departments. Yet another decision was taken by the State Government that for the purposes of streamlining and strengthening the aforesaid procedure, the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit be also strengthened and the name of the said Directorate be changed from the Directorate of Internal Audit to the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit. As a matter of fact, it is in pursuance of the aforesaid decision taken by the State Government that the Directorate of Internal Audit which was known by the said name earlier is now known as the Directorate of Internal Accounts and Audit. The said rechristening of the Directorate will firstly not amount to creation of another department and even if some other department can be said to have been created, since the same lies in the exclusive domain of the administration authorities of the State, no fault in the same can be found to give effect to the decision taken by the State Government on the recommendations made by the Pay Committee Rules under Article 309 have been framed which have been notified on 07.11.2014 and the said rules apply to the posts of Combined Subordinate Accounts Cadre in the Government Departments. Of course, the administrative department in the instant case is the finance department, however, only because of change of administrative department from Agriculture to Finance, it cannot be said that the employer of the petitioner has been changed and thus, the submission made by learned counsel for the petitioner in reference to the willingness and consent cannot be accepted to which is liable to be rejected.

23. As to the authority and power of the Government to restructure a cadre, reference can be had to a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India vs. Pushpa Rani and others, reported in [(2008) 9 SCC 242] wherein the Apex Court in very clear terms has held that matters relating to creation, abolition of posts, formation and structuring/restructuring of cadres, prescribing the source/mode of recruitment and qualifications, criteria for selection etc. fall within the exclusive domain of the employer. The said observations occur in para 37 of the said judgment in the case of Union of India vs. Pushpa Rani and others, which is extracted hereunder:

"37. Before parting with this aspect of the case, we consider it necessary to reiterate the settled legal position that matters relating to creation and abolition of posts, formation and structuring/restructuring of cadres, prescribing the source/mode of recruitment and qualifications, criteria of selection, evaluation of service records of the employees fall within the exclusive domain of the employer. What steps should be taken for improving efficiency of the administration is also the preserve of the employer. The power of judicial review can be exercised in such matters only if it is shown that the action of the employer is contrary to any constitutional or statutory provision or is patently arbitrary or is vitiated due to mala fides. The Court cannot sit in appeal over the judgment of the employer and ordain that a particular post be filled by direct recruitment or promotion or by transfer. The Court has no role in determining the methodology of recruitment or laying down the criteria of selection. It is also not open the Court to make comparative evaluation of the merit of the candidates. The Court cannot suggest the manner in which the employer should structure or restructure the cadres for the purpose of improving efficiency of administration."

24. Similar observations have been made by Hon'ble Supreme Court yet in another case of P. U. Joshi and others vs. Accountant General, Ahmedabad and others, reported in [(2003) 2 SCC 632], wherein it has clearly been held that the issue relating to constitution, pattern, nomenclature of posts and cadres, categories, and their creation/abolition, prescription for qualification and other conditions of service is a policy within the exclusive discretion and jurisdiction of the State, subject, of course, the limitations of restrictions envisaged in the Constitution of India but it is not for the courts to direct the Government to have a method of recruitment or eligibility criteria by substituting its views for that of the State. Para 10 of the aforesaid judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of P. U. Joshi and others (supra) runs as under:

"10. We have carefully considered the submissions made on behalf of both parties. Questions relating to the constitution, pattern, nomenclature of posts, cadres, categories, their creation/abolition, prescription of qualifications and other conditions of service including avenues of promotions and criteria to be fulfilled for such promotions pertain to the field of Policy is within the exclusive discretion and jurisdiction of the State, subject, of course, to the limitations or restrictions envisaged in the Constitution of India and it is not for the statutory tribunals, at any rate, to direct the Government to have a particular method of recruitment or eligibility criteria or avenues of promotion or impose itself by substituting its views for that of the State. Similarly, it is well open and within the competency of the State to change the rules relating to a service and alter or amend and vary by addition/subtraction the qualifications, eligibility criteria and other conditions of service including avenues of promotion, from time to time, as the administrative exigencies may need or necessitate. Likewise, the State by appropriate rules is entitled to amalgamate departments or bifurcate departments into more and constitute different categories of posts or cadres by undertaking further classification, bifurcation or amalgamation as well as reconstitute and restructure the pattern and cadres/categories of service, as may be required from time to time by abolishing existing cadres/posts and creating new cadres/posts. There is no right in any employee of the State to claim that rules governing conditions of his service should be forever the same as the one when he entered service for all purposes and except for ensuring or safeguarding rights or benefits already earned, acquired or accrued at a particular point of time, a Government servant has no right to challenge the authority of the State to amend, alter and bring into force new rules relating to even an existing service. "

25. In the instant case as well, as observed above, the petitioner has not been able to establish that the unification of the cadre comprising of various posts of Assistant Accountants and Accountants which were earlier available in different departments of the State Government in any manner has infringed any of the constitutional or statutory provisions. Thus, the illegality as is being submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner in the impugned action on the part of the respondents is not in sight here.

26. For the aforesaid discussions made herein above, the writ petition deserves to be dismissed, which, resultantly, is hereby dismissed.

27. It is, however, provided that if the petitioner submits his joining pursuant to the impugned orders dated 12.05.2016 and the consequential order dated 20.06.2016 which have been annexed as annexure nos.1 and 2 respectively to the writ petition, the same shall be accepted by the respondents without treating the period from the date of passing of the impugned orders till he submits his joining as break in service. The petitioner is permitted to submit his joining pursuant to the orders which are under challenge in this writ petition within three weeks from today.

28. There will be no order as to costs.

Misc. Bench No.- 19745 Of 2016

It was emphasized that statutory committees are independent bodies, and the Zila Panchayat itself cannot assume their functions or pre-determine their agenda.

The procedure prescribed under the U.P. Zila Parishad (Conduct of Proceedings) Rules, 1962—particularly the requirement of proper notice (minimum three days)—was not followed. The Court reiterated the principle that if a statute prescribes a manner of doing an act, it must be done in that manner or not at all.

The simultaneous constitution of committees and immediate approval of projects was held to be contrary to law and indicative of arbitrariness.

Relying on settled law, the Court held that actions taken in undue haste can be arbitrary and invalid. Consequently:

The resolutions under Agenda Items 3 and 4 dated 13.07.2016 were annulled, and The tender notice dated 08.08.2016 (published on 13.08.2016) was quashed.

However, the Court granted liberty to the authorities to reprocess the proposals in accordance with law and prescribed procedure.

CASE LAW CITED

Zenit Mataplast Pvt. Ltd. v. State of Maharashtra

Sunil Charora v. State of U.P.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. This petition questions the exercise of floating of a tender notice dated 08.08.2016 as published on 13.08.2016 praying for quashing of the same with a further direction for initiating tenders for a sizeable quantity of development work in the Zila Panchayat, district Sitapur through some independent agency as the Zila Panchayat has conducted itself through the present Chairman in an absolutely unfair manner in inviting the tenders for the same as enlisted in the tender notice.

2. The background in which this challenge has arisen saw a precursor of this litigative battle in Writ Petition No.5839 (M/B) of 2016: Sarojini Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others, when the Zila Panchayat had proceeded to issue a tender notice for almost the same work on 23.02.2016. It had been issued by the Zila Panchayat without the same having been processed through the statutory committees/sub-committees that are to be constituted in terms of Section 65 of the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayat Act, 1961 and the Rules framed in this regard.

3. On the filing of Writ Petition No.5839 (M/B) of 2016, the tender notices were withdrawn and again a fresh notice dated 13.04.2016 was issued without following the aforesaid process of constituting the committees and then processing the projects and the proposed tenders. The petitioner preferred a second Writ Petition No.9070 (M/B) of 2016 challenging the same wherein orders were passed on 28.04.2016 directing the Zila Panchayat to proceed with the tenders if necessary but the same would not be finalized till orders are passed in that writ petition. The order passed therein, is extracted hereinunder:-

"Heard Sri Gaurav Mehrotra, learned Counsel for the petitioner.

An identical issue has been raised in Writ Petition No. 5839 (M/B) of 2016, Sarojani Devi versus Sate of U.P. in relation to tender notice dated 23.02.2016. The said tender has been withdrawn by the respondent- Zila Panchayat, Sitapur and now fresh tender notice dated 13.04.2016 has been issued with certain modifications but the arguments on behalf of the petitioner remains the same.

The tender notice according to the petitioner has not been preceded by any deliberations by the statutory committee that is required to process projects before they are finalized and executed by the Zila Panchayat.

Ms. Madhulika Yadav, learned Counsel for the Zila Panchayat, Sitapur submits that the power has been delegated by the Zila Panchayat referable to Section 57 of the U.P. Kshetriya Panchayats and Zila Panchayats Act, 1961.

Having perused the same, we also find a reference to the schedule. Prima-facie, on a perusal thereof, we do not find any such powers available with the Zila Panchayat to delegate the powers of such committees, as are involved herein, on the Adhakshya of Zila Panchayat.

Consequently, in the absence of any such material to demonstrate that the impugned tender notice was preceded by any such process having been adopted, we provide that the tender process may go on but the same shall not be finalized till orders are passed in this writ petition.

All the respondents may file their counter affidavits within three weeks. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed within two weeks thereafter.

List thereafter."

4. The stand that had been taken then was about the delegation of power on the Adhyaksha (Chairman) of the Zila Panchayat in this regard under Section 57 of the 1961 Act. On the passing of the said order the Zila Panchayat again withdrew the tender notice impugned therein and has now resorted to the issuance of a fresh notice after the purported compliance of the formation of the committee and processing the proposals through such committee.

5. What appears to have been done, and which has not been disputed by the learned counsel for the Zila Panchayat, is that the Zila Panchayat itself convened a meeting and circulated an Agenda dated July 13, 2016 informing the members of a meeting to be held on 23.07.2016 for constituting the committees. The same agenda incorporated the meeting of the Planning and Development committee that was to be constituted as well as the business to be discussed and transacted by it.

6. The meeting of the Zila Panchayat was convened on 23.07.2016 and on the very same day, the committees were constituted and these newly constituted committees met on the same day namely, the Planning and Development committee at 02:30 p.m., to consider the spending of an amount received under the 13th Finance Commission on the basis of proposals of members of the Zila Panchayat and the projects to be finalized accordingly. The second agenda was with regard to a meeting at 04:00 p.m. on the same day by the Planning and Development committee to approve such proposals. Thus, according to the agenda itself, the constitution of the committees, the discussion on the projects and proposals and then its approval were all to be simultaneously carried out within a span of one and half hours between 02:30 p.m. and 04:00 p.m. on the same day.

7. The respondents appear to have run through the aforesaid exercise that has given rise to the present writ petition. The petitioner contends that the said exercise has been done in a hurry without any deliberations worth the name in relation to 174 projects as per the tender notice dated 13.08.2016 and other decisions relating to the spending of money received under the 13th Finance Commission. The petitioner alleges that not even half a minute had been devoted to each of the 174 projects between 02:30 p.m. and 04:00 p.m. nor any exercise to assess the financial implications was undertaken and the entire decision making process was abruptly concluded which was a mere paper exercise and a completion of a formality, the patent defects whereof had been pointed out earlier.

8. The petitioner has also alleged that the constitution of the committees are invalid and without the participation of the Zila Panchayat members.

9. We heard the matter on 23.08.2016 and the arguments were advanced by Sri P.K. Khare for the petitioner and Sri O.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel for the Zila Panchayat. We accordingly passed the following order on hearing the learned counsel:-

"Heard Sri P.K. Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned standing counsel for the respondent No.1, 4 and 5. Smt. Madhulika Yadav has filed her power on behalf of the respondent No.2, 3 and Sri Shivam Sharma for the respondent No.5.

This petition questions the proceedings of the respondent Zila Panchayat of issuing tender notice dated 08.08.2016 and 13.08.2016 on the ground that the issuance of the notice is vitiated by an erroneous exercise of constituting the committees as envisaged in terms of Section 65 of the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayats Act, 1961 read with the Government order dated 29.07.1999 notifying the committees. Apart from a challenge raised to the constitution of the committees, the method adopted by the Zila Panchayat and its Adhyaksh in proceeding to do so, has also been described as hasty resulting in arbitrariness without the participation of all the members of the Zila Panchayats. It is also urged that the sub-committees which were yet to be constituted and function under the Rules framed under the Act, even their agenda was circulated without the committees coming into existence and the subject matter being considered by them and, therefore, the very process of such agenda being circulated being vitiated, the subsequent resolutions passed that have been done simultaneously and hurriedly in terms of the said agenda, have to fall through. It is also urged that the information given to the petitioner, vide letter dated 26.07.2016, is an intimation of the predetermined exercise undertaken by the respondents that stands vitiated for the reasons mentioned hereinabove.

It is urged by Sri P.K. Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner that this has been done to somehow or the other execute the work without following the procedure prescribed in law inasmuch as, 174 projects have been notified in the tender notice about which the time to be devoted for the purpose of finalizing the project and issuance of tender, was also surprisingly fixed in the same disputed agenda without any sense of proportion of time to be devoted for the said purpose. Thus, the action of the respondents is also being challenged on serious mala fides as alleged.

Replying to the said submissions raised, Sri O.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel for the Zila Panchayat has submitted that the constitution of the committees are in accordance with law and any dispute with regard to the same can be redressed by approaching the Commissioner under Rule 18 of the 1997 Rules which are applicable to the controversy and not governed by the 1984 Rules.

He further submits that the agenda is in conformity with the Government order dated 29.07.1999 and the entire development work of the Zila Panchayat has been held up on account of the objections raised by the petitioner and such other members who are opposing the majority decision. He also contends that the meeting which was convened even if under the agenda dated 13.07.2016 would not vitiate the same as the decision has been taken by the duly constituted committees in the wake of the projects which are pending. He, therefore, contends that even if there is a noticeable irregularity, the same would not vitiate the process adopted by the committee or its final decision which is in the larger public interest and in the interest of the Zila Panchayat. The allegation of mala fide therefore, should not be countenanced keeping in view the aforesaid larger interest of the Zila panchayat the work whereof, has been held up for quite some time.

Learned standing counsel has also appeared on behalf of the State who has pointed out the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayat Rules, 1962.

The issue, therefore is, as to whether the inclusion of item No.3 and 4 in the agenda dated 13.07.2016 is in conformity with law or does it amount to a mala fide act which was unauthorized and was predetermined as alleged by the petitioner. The other issue is of the validity of the constitution of the committees and the Rules applicable in this regard.

Sri O.P. Srivastava prays that the matter be taken up tomorrow.

Put up tomorrow as fresh."

10. Learned counsel for the respondent Sri O.P. Srivastava has urged that there is absolutely no discrepancy and merely because the decision was taken on the same day, the same cannot be said to be unlawful, unauthorized or irregular. He, however, submits that he does not propose to file any counter affidavit on behalf of the respondent Zila Panchayat on going through the records that were made available to him inasmuch as, once the committees have been validly formed, then any dispute with regard to the formation of a committee has to be raised before the Commissioner in terms of Rule 18 of the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayats (Formation of Committees) Rules, 1997.

11. He then submits that so far the conduct of the meeting is concerned, once the agenda of the Zila Panchayat contained the proposal for constitution of committees, then a simultaneous consideration for constituting sub-committees and the subject matter to be discussed therein cannot be said to be irregular, more so when the meeting was held by a validly constituted Planning and Development sub-committee. He, therefore, submits that even if it was a simultaneous exercise, then it is neither illegal nor is it irregular and the Zila Panchayat and the committee validly constituted are authorized to do so.

12. He then submits that the work of the Zila Panchayat has been held up for long on account of these obstructions created by those who are in opposition and are in a minority. They are creating obstacles in order to impede the progress of the work of the Zila Panchayat. It is therefore urged that the writ petition be dismissed and the Zila Panchayat be allowed to carry out its work.

13. Replying to the aforesaid submissions of Sri O.P. Srivastava, Sri P.K. Khare for the petitioner has invited the attention of the Court to Sections 63, 64, 65, 66, 67 and 68 of the 1961 Act read with the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Construction Work Rules, 1984, the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayats (Formation of Committees) Rules, 1997, the notification dated 29.07.1999 which is Annexure-4 to the writ petition and the Uttar Pradesh Zila Parishad (Conduct of Proceedings) Rules, 1962. He submits that when the Rules provide for the constitution of the sub-committees, then they have to be constituted in that manner and their function has to be independently governed and conducted under the Rules aforesaid. The Zila Panchayat itself cannot assume the authority and jurisdiction of these committees which are independent statutory committees under the 1961 Act itself. He therefore, submits that the Zila Panchayat could not have issued the agenda No.3 and 4 in the notice dated 13.07.2016 and any consequential action taken pursuant thereto, in a hasty manner, cannot be sustained. This was done deliberately to somehow defray the money which has been received under the 13th Financial Commission by favouring contractors and is a device to misappropriate the Zila Panchayat funds by those who are in power. He, therefore, submits that this entire exercise should be struck down and the relief as prayed for, be granted.

14. We have considered the submissions raised and what we find is that so far as the issue of constitution of committees is concerned, there is no direct relief claimed for quashing of the constitution of such committees by the Zila Panchayat in the meeting that was held on 23.07.2016. For this relief any aggrieved person has a remedy to approach the Commissioner under Rule 18 of the 1997 Rules as extracted hereinunder:-

"18. Disputes relating to election.--Any petition relating to the result of the election shall if required within a period of six weeks from the date of election, be referred by the Adhyaksha, to the Commissioner of the division concerned, whose decision shall be final and binding."

15. We, therefore, at this stage would not like to delve into the merits of the Constitution of the sub-committees including the Planning and Development committee which shall be open for consideration before the Commissioner in case any such objection is filed. The said issue has also been settled by a Division Bench of the High Court at Allahabad, vide judgment dated 04.07.2016 in Writ-C No.29823 of 2016: Sunil Charora and two others.Vs. State of U.P. And others.

16. The next question is as to whether the Zila Panchayat could have issued the agenda on 13.07.2016 with regard to the business of the Planning and Development that was yet to be constituted and had not come into existence. The petitioner raised an objection on 21.07.2016. The Zila Panchayat on 26.07.2016 responded to the said objection, a copy whereof is Annexure-9 to the writ petition. Strangely enough, this is an answer given subsequent to the date of meeting when the meeting itself was held on 23.07.2016. The same refers to the Uttar Pradesh Zila Panchayats (Formation of Committees) Rules, 1997 and also to the guidelines dated 31.07.2015 that are to be followed in this regard. The said letter purports to inform that the meeting would be held properly, as if in future. It is not understood as to why such a reply was given after the meeting had already been convened on 23.07.2016 and when the resolution had been passed. It appears as if the reply had been prepared earlier but was issued on 26.07.2016 with proper recitals.

17. The second letter dated 26.07.2016 was issued informing the petitioner and other members that the committee had already been constituted and the entire projects were discussed and got approved by the Planning and Development Committee that are in accordance with law.

18. We are unable to comprehend this simultaneous exercise of the committee and clearing of all the 174 projects in one sweep by it within 1½ hours that was clearly a paper transaction without any serious deliberations. To that extent Sri P.K. Khare is justified in relying on the judgment of the Apex Court including the judgment in the case of Zenit Mataplat Private Limited. Vs. State of Maharashtra & Ors.: (2009) 10 SCC 388, which rules that any action taken in undue haste can also be termed arbitrary and cannot be condoned in law. We, therefore, find that the agenda item No.3 and 4 of the notice dated 13.07.2016 that was conducted on 23.07.2016 was absolutely in haste and without any proper deliberations.

19. Apart from this, if the very existence of the committee was not there till 23.07.2016, there was no occasion for the Zila Panchayat to have taken over the task of issuing the agenda of a notice pertaining to the subject matter of the Planning and Development Committee that was yet to come into existence. This is not in conformity with the procedure of holding the meeting of such committees formed by the Zila Panchayat as per Rule 41 of the U.P. Zila Parishad (Conduct of Proceedings) Rules, 1962.

20. We may put on record that the learned standing counsel for the State had pointed out these Rules to urge that the said Rules still hold the field. Accordingly, for the aforesaid reason also, the Committee that has been constituted, did not follow the 1962 Rules in conducting its meeting and the entire process appears to have been carried out in haste. It is settled law, including the law of meetings, that if a meeting has to be convened in a particular manner, then the same should be resorted to in that manner and not otherwise. The said rules clearly provide for at least three days prior notice. In the instant case, the committee was constituted and it completed all the deliberations in less than two hours on the same day.

21. We cannot appreciate the taking of such decision relating to a huge number of 174 projects in such a short period of time and the action clearly appears to be an eye wash resulting in arbitrariness. The Committee so constituted, ought to have followed the procedure under the 1962 Rules and, therefore, the decision to proceed with the proposals and issue of a fresh tender notice is clearly vitiated.

22. Thus, for all the reasons aforesaid, we leave the issue relating to the constitution of committees to be taken up if raised, before the Commissioner as per Rule 18 of the 1997 Rules but so far as the impugned tender notices are concerned, they cannot be sustained as the very meeting of the committee that has resolved to issue the tender notice has violated the procedure while processing the same. Consequently, the action taken by the committee as per item No.3 and 4 of the agenda dated 13.07.2016 is hereby annulled and the impugned tender notice dated 08.08.2016 as published on 13.08.2016 is hereby quashed.

23. The writ petition is partly allowed to the aforesaid extent and subject to the observations made therein. It shall be open to the committee so constituted to proceed with the processing of the projects and proposals received in accordance with the Rules referred to hereinabove, which shall be subject to any further orders by higher authorities or by any Court of law if raised before it.

THE HON'BLE MRS. VIJAY LAKSHMI, J.

Application U/S 482 No.- 19576 Of 2013

Uma Kant Yadav

...Applicant
Versus

State Of U.P. & Anr.

...Opposite Parties

Counsel for Applicant:

R.P. Yadav

Counsel for Opposite Parties:

Government Advocate, Ajeet Singh

Present application was filed with prayer to quash the order dated 29.5.2013 passed in Criminal Appeal No.15/12, (Umakant Yadav Vs. State of U.P. & Ors), by the learned Additional Session Judge, Court No.3 Jaunpur, whereby the learned Additional Session Judge has rejected the application moved by the applicant under Section 391 Cr.P.C. seeking permission to adduce additional evidence in appeal.

The law regarding adducing of additional evidence in appeal has been well settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgments in Ashok Tshering Bhutia Vs. State of Sikkim, 2011 (73) ACC 371, the Apex Court has held as under:-

""Additional evidence at appellate stage is permissible, in case of a failure of justice. However, such power must be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional suitable cases where the court is satisfied that directing additional evidence would serve the interests of justice. It would depend upon the facts and circumstances of an individual case as to whether such permission should be granted having due regard to the concepts of fair play, justice and the well-being of society. Such an application for taking additional evidence must be decided objectively, just to cure the irregularity. The primary object of the provisions of Section 391 Cr.P.C. is the prevention of a guilty man's escape through some careless or ignorant action on part of the prosecution before the court or for vindication of an innocent person wrongfully accused, where the court omitted to record the circumstances essential to elucidation of truth".

Court observed that The applicant had full opportunity and he was given sufficient time to adduce evidence and he had examined as many as four defence witnesses, but he did not make any such prayer before the trial court. The document i.e. the Certificate of Gram Pradhan, sought to be proved was available on record during trial, which is evident from the averment made in para 10 of the affidavit filed in support of present application wherein it is clearly mentioned that from the prosecution side, a number of documents were filed including the certificate dated 15.3.2009 issued by Phool Chandra Yadav, Gram Pradhan. Therefore, if the certified of Gram Pradhan was already available on record, there was no difficulty for the accused/applicant in moving an application before the trial court to summon its executor i.e. Gram Pradhan to prove it, but the applicant did not avail that opportunity.

The application being devoid of merit was rightly rejected by learned lower appellate court. Hence, this application is liable to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. The applicant, by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this court with prayer to quash the order dated 29.5.2013 passed in Criminal Appeal No.15/12, (Umakant Yadav Vs. State of U.P. & Ors), by the learned Additional Session Judge, Court No.3 Jaunpur, whereby the learned Additional Session Judge has rejected the application moved by the applicant under Section 391 Cr.P.C. seeking permission to adduce additional evidence in appeal.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for the O.P. No.2 and perused the records.

3. Some relevant background facts in brief are that the applicant was convicted by the learned trial court/Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate Ist, Jaunpur vide judgment and order dated 07.2.2012 under Sections 419,420,467,468,469,471 and 506 I.P.C. and was sentenced for rigorous Imprisonment under the aforesaid sections for various periods, the maximum being for 7 years under Section 471 with a fine of Rs. 5000/-.

4. Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment, the applicant preferred criminal appeal no.15/12 in which he moved an application under Section 391 Cr.P.C. seeking permission to adduce additional evidence in appeal.

5. The learned trial court, after hearing both the parties, rejected the aforesaid application inter-alia on the ground that the applicant had full opportunity to lead evidence in his defence, during trial, but despite ample time and opportunity, the appellant did not avail it. More over, there was no document on the record, required to be proved by any witnesses sought to be summoned by the applicant. The learned trial court also observed that the applicant was trying to delay the proceedings of the case by repeatedly moving such kind of applications.

6. The legality and correctness of the aforesaid order has been challenged by the learned counsel for the applicant on the ground that the learned trial court did not consider his prayer and rejected his application without applying its mind to the facts and circumstances of the case. Learned counsel has submitted that from the prosecution side a number of documents were filed during trial including one paper No.14-Ka/6 which is a certificate dated 15.3.2009 issued by one Phool Chand Yadav, Gram Pradhan, having a photograph of a lady, with regard to whom, Phool Chandra Pradhan had certified that she is Geeta Devi w/o Harish Chandra Yadav who is very well known to him. However, when during trial, the said document was shown to defence witnesses DW-1 and DW-4, they stated that the photograph affixed on the said document was not of Geeta Devi but of one Smt. Suman, wife of Harish Chandra of Village Khobaria.

7. Learned counsel has submitted that the aforesaid document could not be duly proved due to non examination of its executor Phool Chandra Pradhan. Hence, he moved an application under Section 391 Cr.P.C. with prayer to summon Phool Chandra Yadav and wife of Harish Chandra as witnesses during appeal, but the court below illegally rejected his prayer in a mechanical way.

8. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has opposed the application on the ground that there is no illegality in the order impugned which is based on cogent and convincing reasons.

9. Considered the rival submissions made by both the learned counsels.

10. The law regarding adducing of additional evidence in appeal has been well settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in a catena of judgments in Ashok Tshering Bhutia Vs. State of Sikkim, 2011 (73) ACC 371, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"Additional evidence at appellate stage is permissible, in case of a failure of justice. However, such power must be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional suitable cases where the court is satisfied that directing additional evidence would serve the interests of justice. It would depend upon the facts and circumstances of an individual case as to whether such permission should be granted having due regard to the concepts of fair play, justice and the well-being of society. Such an application for taking additional evidence must be decided objectively, just to cure the irregularity. The primary object of the provisions of Section 391 Cr.P.C. is the prevention of a guilty man's escape through some careless or ignorant action on part of the prosecution before the court or for vindication of an innocent person wrongfully accused, where the court omitted to record the circumstances essential to elucidation of truth. Generally, it should be invoked when formal proof for the prosecution is necessary. (Vide Rajeswar Prasad Misra v. State of West Bengal and another, 1965 (2) ACC 221, Ratilal Bhanji Mithani v. The State of Maharashtra & Ors; 1971 (8) ACC 148; Rambhau & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra, 2001 (42) ACC 1116, Anil Sharma & Ors. v. State of Jharkhand, AIR 2004 SC 2294, Zahira Habibulla H. Sheikh and another v. State of Gujarat and others; (2004) 4 SCC 158; and Sidhartha Vashisht @ Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) (2010) 6 SCC 1.

11. In Rambhau & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra*, 2001 (42) ACC 1116, a larger Bench of this Court held as under:

"Incidentally, Section 391 Cr.P.C. forms an exception to the general rule that an Appeal must be decided on the evidence which was before the Trial Court and the powers being an exception shall always have to be exercised with caution and circumspection so as to meet the ends of justice. Be it noted further that the doctrine of finality of judicial proceedings does not stand annulled or affected in any way by reason of exercise of power under Section 391 Cr.P.C. since the same avoids a de novo trial. It is not to fill up the lacuna but to subserve the ends of justice. Needless to record that on an analysis of the Civil Procedure Code, section 391 is thus akin to Order XLI, Rule 27 of the C.P. Code." (Emphasis added)"

12. The applicant had full opportunity and he was given sufficient time to adduce evidence and he had examined as many as four defence witnesses, but he did not make any such prayer before the trial court. The document i.e. the Certificate of Gram Pradhan, sought to be proved was available on record during trial, which is evident from the averment made in para 10 of the affidavit filed in support of present application wherein it is clearly mentioned that from the prosecution side, a number of documents were filed including the certificate dated 15.3.2009 issued by Phool Chandra Yadav, Gram Pradhan. Therefore, if the certified of Gram Pradhan was already available on record, there was no difficulty for the accused/applicant in moving an application before the trial court to summon its executor i.e. Gram Pradhan to prove it, but the applicant did not avail that opportunity. Moreover, the aforesaid averment made in para 10 of the affidavit is in total contradiction of averment made in the application dated 14.3.2013 moved by applicant under Section 391 Cr.P.C., copy whereof has been annexed as Annexure no.14 to the affidavit filed in support of this application. In para 11 of this application it is clearly mentioned that the document (the certificate of Gram Pradhan) which the applicant had filed in support of his application under Section 391 Cr.P.C. was not in his possession, so he could not file it earlier during pendency of trial.

13. Considering all the facts and circumstances of the case, this court is of the considered view that the applicant had tried to fill up the lacunas by moving such application under Section 391 Cr.P.C. Though he could not succeed in this effort but he became successful in delaying the disposal of appeal.

14. The impugned order does not require any interference by this Court.

15. The application being devoid of merit was rightly rejected by learned lower appellate court. Hence, this application is liable to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed.

Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. - 23773 Of 2016

Counsel for Applicant:

Counsel for Opposite Party:

Present application has been moved seeking the release of the applicants on bail in Case Crime No.48 of 2016, u/s 147, 148, 149, 302, 120B, 506 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendments Act, Police Station-Sarnath, District-Varanasi.

Applicant counsel made submissions that the F.I.R. was lodged by Ashish Yadav, who is the son of the deceased and also an eye-witness of the occurrence as he claims that at the time of occurrence he was going along with his father in his Safari car and it was at that time that they were waylaid by certain accused persons, who started firing indiscriminately upon the father resulting in his death. The next submission is that the first informant was examined by the Investigating Officer u/s 161 of Cr.P.C. and in his statement given before the police he reiterated his version given in the F.I.R. But it had so happened that the incident in question got recorded in a CCTV camera which was fitted near the place of occurrence. It has been pointed out by counsel that the aforesaid CCTV footage was taken in possession by the Investigating Officer and was seen and shown to the family members which included the wife of the deceased Smt. Rajwati Devi. Counsel has drawn the attention of the Court to the statement of aforesaid Smt. Rajwati Devi, who is also mother of the first informant, in which she stated to have identified some other persons as accomplices different from the aforesaid nominated assailants.

Court observed that after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application has been moved seeking the release of the applicants on bail in Case Crime No.48 of 2016, u/s 147, 148, 149, 302, 120B, 506 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendments Act, Police Station-Sarnath, District-Varanasi.

2. Heard Shri V.P. Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Shri Diwan Saifullah Khan, learned counsel for the applicant; Shri R.P. Rajan, learned counsel for the informant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

3. Perused the record.

4. Submission of counsel for the applicant is that the F.I.R. was lodged by Ashish Yadav, who is the son of the deceased and also an eye-witness of the occurrence as he claims that at the time of occurrence he was going along with his father in his Safari car and it was at that time that they were waylaid by certain accused persons, who started firing indiscriminately upon the father resulting in his death. Further submission is that the names of the assailants as were disclosed in the F.I.R. by the first informant were Rajesh Singh @ Rinku, Chandan Singh @ Pappu Singh, Arun Singh and Vinod Singh. It is further submitted that after receiving the fatal shots, the deceased was rushed to the hospital where he had been declared dead. The enmity with the aforesaid named assailants for reasons of election of Block Pramukh was alleged and it was also said that repeated threats were given by the aforesaid accused eventually resulting in his murder. The next submission is that the first informant was examined by the Investigating Officer u/s 161 of Cr.P.C. and in his statement given before the police he reiterated his version given in the F.I.R. But it had so happened that the incident in question got recorded in a CCTV camera which was fitted near the place of occurrence. It has been pointed out by counsel that the aforesaid CCTV footage was taken in possession by the Investigating Officer and was seen and shown to the family members which included the wife of the deceased Smt. Rajwati Devi. Counsel has drawn the attention of the Court to the statement of aforesaid Smt. Rajwati Devi, who is also mother of the first informant, in which she stated to have identified some other persons as accomplices different from the aforesaid nominated assailants. Subsequently when the first informant was again examined by the Investigating Officer, in this background he drastically changed his version given earlier in the F.I.R. and also given before the Investigating Officer at the first instance. According to this latter version, the role of applicant appears to have been ascribed is that of hatching a conspiracy while the names of all shooters involved in the actual act of shooting were completely changed and one Harendra Singh, Panna @ Rajan Chaudhary, Santosh @ Raju, Sonu Singh and Udal Bind were now ascribed the role of shooting at the deceased. In the second version given by the first informant, the co-accused Arun Singh who was also nominated in the F.I.R. as main shooter and one Manoj Singh were given the role of exhortation and it was stated by the first informant that at the time of occurrence the aforesaid co-accused Arun Singh and Manoj Singh had exchanged some expressions in between them saying that the heartfelt object and desire of co-accused Arun Singh and applicant Chandan Singh has got fulfilled. Submission is that it is this sentence uttered by co-accused Manoj Singh that has given the ground to the Investigating Officer to charge the applicant with the offence of hatching a conspiracy of this murder. Counsel has further tried to lay emphasis upon several contradictions existing in between earlier version of the first informant and the latter version to which he finally landed up and has tried to submit that the drastic change on the most fundamental aspects of the case goes a long way to detract the evidentiary value of the first informant and the nature of contradiction as mentioned herein before is so loud that it robs the prosecution from its credibility and worth. Contention is that in any view of the matter, in view of what has been stated by the first informant in his latter statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. the case of prosecution against the applicant is reduced to only of hatching a conspiracy and the role of shooting has been withdrawn which was earlier ascribed to him and this carves out a prima facie case for bail in his favour. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 01.02.2016 and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

5. The Court has also heard learned counsel for the informant and learned A.G.A. who have opposed the prayer for bail. Learned counsel for the informant submitted that the CCTV footage that has been taken by the Investigating Officer was not taken in accordance with the rules and is not an admissible piece of evidence on the basis of which the version of the F.I.R. may be discredited and the earlier version given by the first informant in consonance with the version of F.I.R. should be made the basis to act upon against the applicant.

6. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

7. Let the applicant-Chandan Singh @ Pappu Singh, involved in Case Crime No.48 of 2016, u/s 147, 148, 149, 302, 120B, 506 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendments Act, P.S.-Sarnath, District-Varanasi be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

8. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

9. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Counsel for Revisionist:

Rajendra Prasad

The revisionist who is a driver being aggrieved by the orders dated 01.11.2014 and 30.05.2016 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal / Additional District Judge, Court No. 9, Lucknow in claim petition no. 587 of 2013 has questioned the legality of the impugned orders in the instant civil revision.

Court observed that interlocutory orders passed by a Tribunal unless an alternative remedy is provided for, and subject to other exceptions, shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India which is akin to revisional/appellate jurisdiction. For the exercise of such a jurisdiction the purpose of law and justice must seem to have reconciled. The orders passed under Section 24 CPC being also in the nature of interlocutory orders are also amenable to the constitutional remedy under Article 227 of the Constitution. Having held that all interlocutory issues arising before the Motor Accident Tribunal resulting into miscarriage of justice in absence of an alternative remedy under the Special Act, are amenable to Article 227 of the Constitution of India, it is directed that all the civil revisions pending before this Court would be treated as civil revisions read with under Article 227 and likewise the applications filed under Section 24 CPC.

Court held that challenge to the impugned order dated 30.05.2016 under the supervisory jurisdiction of this Court is made out and the same is hereby set aside, leaving it open to the Tribunal to consider the grievance of the revisionist afresh and decide the recall application in accordance with law within a period of not later than six weeks from the date of receipt of this order.

The revision is partly allowed.

1. Heard.

2. The revisionist who is a driver being aggrieved by the orders dated 01.11.2014 and 30.05.2016 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal / Additional District Judge, Court No. 9, Lucknow in claim petition no. 587 of 2013 has questioned the legality of the impugned orders in the instant civil revision. By order dated 01.11.2014 an amendment application filed by the claimant seeking to change the number of offending tractor stated as UP 41 Q 3987 to UP 41 Q

3907 under Order VI Rule 17 read with Section 151 C.P.C. was allowed. The revisionist filed an application for recall of order dated 01.11.2014 alleging therein that he was neither served a copy of the amendment application nor afforded any opportunity before passing the order and as such the order may be recalled. The application for recall of order was rejected on 30.05.2016 by the Tribunal on the ground that the applicant had all the opportunity to defend and no prejudice would be caused even if the amendment was allowed without notice. Thus, the revisional jurisdiction of this Court under Section 115 CPC has been invoked to assail both the orders passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal.

3. The maintainability of the civil revision became questionable on account of a direct conflict between two judgements; one rendered on Aug. 07, 1997 by a Full Bench of this Court reported in 2004 (22) LCD 40 in the case of Kamla Yadav versus Smt. Sushma Devi and others and a later judgement rendered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus Manju and others reported in 2007 (2) AWC 1927 which relies upon a five Judge Bench decision rendered by Karnataka High Court in the case of Union of India versus Mysore Paper Mills Ltd. And Ors. reported in AIR 2004 Kant. 1. It may be noted that at the time when Full Bench judgement was rendered; U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 were not framed which came into force on 7.9.1998 and the Full Bench decision also went unnoticed by the Division Bench of this Court at the relevant time when the question of maintainability of appeal/revision against interlocutory orders passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal was once again decided.

4. The Division Bench judgement referred to above related to a dispute which arose in the background of a Motor Accident claim decided on 23.11.2006 wherein an application filed by the Insurance Company claiming benefit under Section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 prior to the final decision of claim was rejected on 15.11.2006. A question as to maintainability of appeal/revision against the interlocutory order dated 15.11.2006 passed on an application filed under Section 170 of the Act had cropped up and the Division Bench of this Court while dealing with the matter in the context of relevant statutory provisions as well as decisions and relying upon the five-Judges judgement (supra) rejected the appeal /revision and has recorded a clear opinion on the maintainability of revision under Section 115 as not maintainable. The relevant para of the Division Bench judgement reads:-

"8. According to us, an appeal or review or revision from the original order cannot be held to be an inherent right but statutory right. Unless the statute prescribes, no such right can be available for any person to proceed accordingly. In the instant case, a cryptic application was moved by the insurance company before the Tribunal making reference of collusion between the claimants and the insured without any supporting materials. The same was dismissed on such ground on 15.11.2006. Therefore, there is no infirmity in the order, which can call upon any court to interfere. Possibly the insurance company has understood the position having well equipped legal infrastructure unlike a rustic villager. It waited till the award was passed and when found responsible on behalf of the owner by the award, preferred the appeal from both the order and the award being forgetful that in case of rejection under Section 170 of the Act, the appeal lies, provided the order of rejection establishes cause under Section 149(2) of the Act. No such case has been made out in the appeal, excepting the ground of illegal and arbitrary refusal in passing the order. Therefore, it cannot take the recourse of remedy of appeal under Section 173 of the Act."

5. The Division Bench heavily relying upon paragraph no. 21 of the five-Judges Bench judgement of Karnataka High Court, reproduced hereinunder, proceeded to hold that even the revisional jurisdiction of this Court would not be available against an interlocutory order:

"21. Section 173 of the M.V. Act provides for appeal to High Court by any person aggrieved by an award of the Claims Tribunal and appeal is barred only where the amount in dispute in the appeal is less than ten thousand rupees and intention of the legislature is to avoid any further appeal or revision so as to give finality to the award passed by the Tribunal. Therefore, the above said decisions would not be helpful to contend that an order passed by M.A.C.T., is revisable under Section 115, Civil Procedure Code. The Full Bench decision in Anirudh Prasad Ambasta v. State of Bihar, is also based on the said decisions and as such it is not helpful. Accordingly, we hold that M.A.C.T. is not a court subordinate to High Court so as to maintain a revision petition under Section 115, Civil procedure Code. All the decisions of this Court taking the contrary view are consequently overruled."

6. Contrary to the view taken by the Division Bench which relies upon the five Judges Karnataka High Court decision holding a revision not to be maintainable, attention of this Court was drawn to the Full Bench judgement reported in 2004 (22) LCD 40 as mentioned above wherein this Court after a detailed discussion on various aspects of the matter has firstly held the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal to be a 'Court' for the purpose of adjudicating upon civil disputes cognizable under the Motor Vehicles Act and the scope of revisional jurisdiction under Section 115 CPC before this Court on that basis has also been opined favourably. The relevant paras of the Full Bench judgement are extracted below:-

"(30).....Thus an adjudicating body which is composed of or consists of experienced judicial functionaries and it is under obligation to act judicially can hardly be said to be a body which is not a judicial adjudicating body. Appointment of any member of executive or non-judicial authority is not envisaged, rather it stands excluded under the provisions of the Act. It has rightly not been disputed before us that the nature of dispute arising in the claim petitions is a dispute of civil nature. It has also not been disputed that prior to constitution of Motor Accidents Claims Tribunals such disputes of claims on account of Motor Accidents were being tried by the Civil Court. It is, thus, clear that it is trial of dispute of civil nature by a Tribunal having a judicial functionary as its member. There is no escape from the conclusion that the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal has all the trappings of a Civil Court. Additional District Judge is also undoubtedly a Civil Court. The only ingredient which has to be seen is that as to whether it is the State's judicial power which is being exercised by the tribunal or not. The Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal has been constituted by the State. Its members are appointed by State. It deals with disputes of civil nature which were being earlier dealt with by the regular civil courts. There is no dispute that the civil courts discharge the "States' judicial functions" part of jurisdiction of which stands transferred to the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal, composition, character as well as functioning of which, have already been indicated above. There can (not) also be any dispute that Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal is a court subordinate to the High Court in view of the fact that appeal against an award lies to the High Court which fact has been held to be conclusive on the point.

(31) In view of the discussions held above, we are of the view that the orders of the District Judge / Additional District Judge passed as Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal will be amenable to revisional jurisdiction of the High Court under Section 115 C.P.C.

(32) Our answer to question No. 1 is in affirmative, that a revision lies against an order of the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal. Our answer to question No. 2 is that the Courts mentioned in Section 3 C.P.C. are not the only Civil Courts, other Courts and Tribunals can also be Civil Courts subordinate to the High Court, for the purposes of Section 115 C.P.C. Our answer to question No. 3 is that the judgment rendered in the case of Mussamat Afsari Begum v. Oriental Fire & General Assurance Company, 1979 ALJ 1168, has been rightly decided and is approved. Hence, the question of invoking Article 227 of the Constitution of India does not arise."

7. Since Full Bench judgement has clearly held that the Motor Accident Claims Tribunals discharge judicial functions and are a 'Court' for the purpose of adjudication of disputes which are civil in nature and against which an appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act is also provided for before this Court, therefore the interlocutory orders passed by the Tribunal are very well within the domain of revisional jurisdiction of this Court provided under Section 115 of the C.P.C. and at the same time it is observed that such orders would not be amenable to the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India.

8. In a situation of conflict between Division Bench judgement and Full Bench judgement, suffice it to say that the Full Bench decision would normally hold the field and more so when the Full Bench judgement which goes unnoticed, specifically has held the revisional jurisdiction of this Court to be available against the interlocutory orders passed by the Claims Tribunal. The position is different when subordination of Tribunal, not being a court within the meaning of CPC, is questioned in absence of an enabling provision under the Special Act and the rules framed thereunder. The question is whether by virtue of providing for an appeal against the judgement of Tribunal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, the other civil remedies under CPC before this Court become automatically applicable.

9. There are other issues like the applicability of Section 24 of the C.P.C. which have come to the notice of this Court and in relation whereto an authoritative pronouncement may be called for but for the present in so far as the jurisdiction of this Court against the interlocutory orders passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal and application of Section 24 C.P.C. is concerned, the issue deserves to be considered and decided so that the pending proceedings are not totally faced with an uncertainty.

10. Before coming to the provisions of the Act, it is necessary to have a birds view of the legal provisions and the mechanism devised under our Constitution for the discharge of sovereign judicial function read with the relevant statutes.

11. Separation of powers is a distinguishing feature of our constitution and independence of each organ of the State to achieve the constitutional goals needs to have a re-look. Legislation once notified by following due process is final, executive decisions under laws taken by following due process in the name of State are final and judicial decisions likewise. Finality attached to a decision legislative, executive or judicial, arrived at independently is the essence of Rule of law. This independence of all the three organs jointly or severally is subject to Part-III of the Constitution of India for the reason that a sovereign decision of the State is law and by virtue of Article 13 of the Constitution of India, law inconsistent with Part-III of the Constitution is void.

12. Now coming to the judiciary as an organ of the State, it is to be noted that the Supreme Court, as an institution, works at the apex level and enjoys concurrent jurisdiction with the High Courts of the State insofar as prerogative writ jurisdiction is concerned. Under Article 136 of the Constitution of India, the apex court enjoys powers to test the validity of judicial/quasi judicial decisions rendered by a court or Tribunal in the territory of India except any law relating to the armed forces. This jurisdiction of the apex court travels from top to bottom with the only exception carved out and respecting the rule of independence which each organ of the State enjoys under our unitary structure. Likewise a High Court under Article 228 enjoys an authority to decide substantial questions of law involved in pending cases before a subordinate court.

13. The existence of Tribunals can be traced even prior to the enforcement of our Constitution but Chapter XIV-A came to be inserted under Forty Second Constitutional Amendment and a parallel mechanism to reduce work load on the permanent judiciary was evolved. Adoption of a summary procedure or less rigorous procedure for adjudication was introduced and recognised in consonance with the principles of natural justice. Tribunals in this chapter are classified broadly in two categories viz. the Tribunals which are excluded from the jurisdiction except the jurisdiction of Supreme Court under Article 136; and the Tribunals which are subject to Article 226/227 of the Constitution and appellate/revisional jurisdiction conferred on the High Court under the special statute of which the Tribunal is a creation.

14. There does not seem to be a requirement of law for conferment of power under the special statute creating a Tribunal to subject the Tribunal to supervisory jurisdiction of High Courts under Article 227 but for the purposes of other jurisdictions, namely, appellate/revision/review, the conferment of power in the special statute is a condition precedent. Likewise, the power of transfer of proceedings from one State to another and within the State from one district to another has to be vested in the High Court, under the statute creating a Tribunal. Here I hasten to add that power of transferring judicial proceedings is vested in the apex court not only under Section 25 CPC but also under Article 139-A of the Constitution of India. The former applies to the civil disputes under CPC and the later applies to the disputes pending before one or more High Courts only. Whether proceedings before the Tribunal can be transferred from one State to another or from one district to another, the Constitution is silent on this issue. It may not be wrong to note that there is no provision enabling either under the Constitution or the Motor Vehicles Act, yet under the general powers, the judicial precedents show that such a power has been exercised by the apex court and High Courts. This situation definitely deserves to be noticed by the law makers. Lack of an enabling provision in the relevant statute certainly goes to cause a prejudice and impedes the process of justice.

15. The judiciary has adopted a conflicting approach. One line of thought espouses the cause of justice and the other finds it difficult for want of jurisdiction. This uncertainty invites criticism against the very functioning of organs of State who are expected to address and remedy the public grievances. The judiciary is the worst victim of this situation and moreso when fine distinctions which do not withstand the challenges and tests for all times to come, are brought to focus. Judicial adventurism is a centre of criticism and the voice of delayed justice is loud and clear. This situation needs to be dealt with jointly and severally but finality of law on the questions of public grievances has to keep pace with the changing times.

16. The safest course for the law courts and the tribunals is to administer justice as per law but where the legislature or executive neglects to enable the judiciary to discharge its sovereign judicial functions by contemplating complete remedies and procedure, the cause of justice to be served independently is made to suffer. I wish to add that there may be tribunals which may not be courts within its strict sense looking to the provisions of Chapter XIV-A of the Constitution but functions of a Tribunal under Motor Vehicles Act, its object and purpose are no less than a forum of permanent nature looking to the dependence of public on surface transport and particularly when this jurisdiction is segregated from Section 9 of CPC. The independence of people to move speedily and to balance speed with the natural capability of human beings cannot be left unattended due to lack of law to effectuate justice. The object of law is to win faith in our Constitution but defective laws are a curse which the sovereign welfare State cannot afford to adventure of which judiciary is a part.

17. In the light of above discussion it would be safe to adopt a course which promotes the cause of justice independently than to follow a path that may impede the process for lack of statutory sanction which expressly does not bar a remedy. The evolution of a remedy, however, must serve the object of alternative mechanism which seeks to reduce the rigour of procedure and technicalities of evidence so as to unburden the regular courts from work load. But majesty of law, at the same time, as a matter of fundamental duty, is bound to be upheld by all courts and tribunals is equally true. The decision of the apex court in Radhey Shyam & another v. Chhabhi Nath & others (Civil Appeal No. 2548 of 2009 decided on 26.2.2015) has posed another difficulty when we see that any order passed by a court cannot be subjected to scrutiny under Article 226. Moreover, Section 141 CPC clearly bars application of CPC to the proceedings under Article 226. The remedies under Article 136 read with 227 are the only remedies wide enough to check miscarriage of justice in the judicial/quasi-judicial process.

18. In the light of recent apex court judgement (supra), and keeping in view the apex court judgements relied upon in the five-Judge judgement, the Division Bench judgement leaves no scope for revisional jurisdiction to be invoked under Section 115 CPC against interlocutory orders passed by the Tribunals unless prescribed under the Special Act. The view taken seems to be a good law for more than one reason. Firstly, restricting the remedy against the judgements passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal to appeal under Section 173 of the Act implies that other remedies are barred particularly when Section 169 read with Rule 221 framed thereunder narrow down the application of the provisions of CPC. Secondly, if the intention of legislation on the aspect of remedies before this court is understood on the criteria of treating the Tribunal to be a 'court' then in that event, the requirement of specifying the remedy of appeal under Section 173 of the Act would stand obliterated and the provisions of Section 96 CPC will automatically apply. Thus, the prescription of appeal clearly bars other remedies and reading something in the statute which is not prescribed would transgress the well settled principles of legislative interpretation. The Full Bench also does not notice the statutory rules framed in the year 1998 as well as the true import of bar on the civil courts to exercise jurisdiction in view of Section 175 of the Act. If the Full Bench view is allowed to hold the field, then by holding the Tribunal to be a court would automatically make the entire CPC applicable and the necessity of a provision like Section 173 would be a surplusage. In my humble view, the Division Bench judgement appears to have laid down the correct law.

19. Keeping in view the position of law as it exists and the essence of law and its purpose, I hold that interlocutory orders passed by a Tribunal unless an alternative remedy is provided for, and subject to other exceptions, shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India which is akin to revisional/appellate jurisdiction. For the exercise of such a jurisdiction the purpose of law and justice must seem to have reconciled. The orders passed under Section 24 CPC being also in the nature of interlocutory orders are also amenable to the constitutional remedy under Article 227 of the Constitution. Having held that all interlocutory issues arising before the Motor Accident Tribunal resulting into miscarriage of justice in absence of an alternative remedy under the Special Act, are amenable to Article 227 of the Constitution of India, it is directed that all the civil revisions pending before this Court would be treated as civil revisions read with under Article 227 and likewise the applications filed under Section 24 CPC.

20. Now proceeding with the revision, it is relevant to notice that an application filed under Order VI Rule 17 is said to have been entertained by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal by-passing the impugned order dated 01.11.2014. In so far as the procedure to be adopted by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal is concerned the same can be gathered from the provisions of Section 169 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 read with Rule 221 of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998. Section 169 as well as Rule 221 being relevant are reproduced below:-

"Section 169 in The Motor Vehicles Act, 1988:-

169. Procedure and powers of Claims Tribunals.-- (1) In holding any inquiry under section 168, the Claims Tribunal may, subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, follow such summary procedure as it thinks fit.

(2) The Claims Tribunal shall have all the powers of a Civil Court for the purpose of taking evidence on oath and of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and of compelling the discovery and production of documents and material objects and for such other purposes as may be prescribed; and the Claims Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for all the purposes of section 195 and Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

(3) Subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, the Claims Tribunal may, for the purpose of adjudicating upon any claim for compensation, choose one or more persons possessing special knowledge of and matter relevant to the inquiry to assist it in holding the inquiry."

"Rule 221 of the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998:-

221. Code of Civil Procedure to apply in certain cases. - The following provisions of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall so far as may be apply to proceedings before the Claims Tribunal, namely, Rules 9 to 13 and 15 to 30 of Order V; Order IX; Rules 3 to 10 of Order XIII; Rules 2 to 21 of Order XVI; Order XVII; and Rules 1 to 3 of Order XXIII."

21. From a plain reading of statutory provisions, it is evident that Order VI Rule 17 is not applicable in so far as the proceedings of Motor Accident Claims Tribunal are concerned but whether such a power can be read within the ambit of inherent powers under Section 166 of the Act needs to be considered and decided by the Tribunal independently. The application for recall of order was filed on the premise of notice/opportunity and this grievance certainly does call for an interference inasmuch as, the rule of notice and hearing on a cause is a fundamental principle which can not be compromised. The finding that amendment does not change the nature of claim could not be recorded without giving notice/opportunity and the learned Tribunal has not dealt with the objection of opportunity raised by the revisionist.

22. In view of the above, challenge to the impugned order dated 30.05.2016 under the supervisory jurisdiction of this Court is made out and the same is hereby set aside, leaving it open to the Tribunal to consider the grievance of the revisionist afresh and decide the recall application in accordance with law within a period of not later than six weeks from the date of receipt of this order.

23. It is also made clear that the claim filed before the Tribunal may itself be proceeded with and decided expeditiously without any delay to be caused in the matter. The registry shall forward a copy of this order to the Tribunal concerned forthwith and circulate the judgement to all the Tribunals through District Judge.

24. The revision is partly allowed.

THE HON'BLE PRATYUSH KUMAR, J.

Criminal Appeal No.- 2413 Of 2015

Nirbhay Narayan Tiwari

...Appellant

Versus

State Of U.P.

...Respondent

Counsel for Appellant:

R.K. Upadhyay, Santosh Kumar Tiwari

Counsel for Respondent:

Govt. Advocate, Arvind Singh Sengar

The instant appeal filed on behalf of the accused-appellant is directed against the judgment and orders dated 4.5.2015, in Special Case No.25 of 2014, whereby the appellant has been convicted under Sections 363, 366, 376, IPC & under Section 4 of POCSO Act and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for five years, five years, ten years and seven years respectively. Consolidated amount of Rs.10,000/- has been imposed as fine.

Learned counsel for the appellant submits that in the present case victim was not matriculation passed. According to him, as per Rule 12(3) Clause (a)(ii) of the 2007 Rules date of birth entered in the school first attended could have been considered as determinative, but according to him, evidence of Rajpati Ram, PW-5 has been relied upon by the learned trial Judge in violation of the said rule because it was not the first school attended by the victim. Admittedly, she was admitted there in Class VIth. He further submits that as per clause (a)(iii) no certificate was filed by the prosecution, therefore, the medical evidence should have been considered as determinative of the age of the victim.

Court observed that the argument advanced on behalf of the appellant that the learned trial Judge has not appreciated the evidence in reference to determination of the age and commission of crime in legal prospective. The findings recorded by him are erroneous and not substantiated from the record. The impugned judgment and orders are against weight of the material on record and law. They deserve to be set aside. Since the prosecution has failed to prove charges beyond doubt against the present appellant, appellant deserves to be acquitted from the charges framed against him.

The appeal is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pratyush Kumar, J.)

1. The instant appeal filed on behalf of the accused-appellant is directed against the judgment and orders dated 4.5.2015 passed by Shri Ashwani Kumar Singh, Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Ballia in Special Case No.25 of 2014, whereby the appellant has been convicted under Sections 363, 366, 376, IPC & under Section 4 of POCSO Act and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for five years, five years, ten years and seven years respectively. Consolidated amount of Rs.10,000/- has been imposed as fine. In default of payment of fine the appellant has been further directed to undergo one year's rigorous imprisonment. All the sentences have been directed to run concurrently.

2. Heard Shri S.K. Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellant, Smt. Archana Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State and Shri Arvind Singh Sengar, learned counsel for the complainant.

3. The facts giving rise to the present appeal may be summarized as under:-

4. That on 21.1.2014 at 12.45 p.m. Munna Paswan gave a written report at P.S. Pakdi, District Ballia stating therein that on 14.1.2014 at 5.00 a.m. his daughter (in place of name she is referred as victim hereinafter) was enticed away by Nirbhay Narayan Tiwari in collusion with his father Anil Tiwari. Anil Tiwari asked him not to approach the police. He had requested for suitable action.

5. At this check FIR was scribed. Case Crime No.19/2014, under Section 363, 366, IPC and Section 8 of the POCSO Act was registered. Investigation was entrusted to S.I. Sarnath Singh, the then Station Officer, who started the investigation on the same day and recorded the statement of the first informant and inspected the spot. On 7.3.2014 the Investigating Officer on the information of Mukhbir at Roadways Bus Station, Ballia arrested Nirbhay Narayan Tiwari and recovered the victim, got her medically examined, her statement under Section 164, Cr.P.C. was recorded. Thereafter, charge sheet was submitted against the present appellant.

6. Appellant stood for trial before the Special Judge, where he was charged, tried and convicted as above.

7. Shri S.K. Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellant in support of his appeal has submitted that age of the victim has not been determined in accordance with law. The appellant has not committed any offence. He has been erroneously held guilty. There are material contradictions in the prosecution evidence, medical evidence does not support the prosecution version. He further submits that the conviction and sentence of appellant are based on conjectures and surmises.

8. On behalf of the State-respondents these arguments have been repelled and it has been submitted that evidence has been properly appreciated. Findings recorded by the trial Judge are well substantiated from the record. Cogent reasons have been given in support thereof. The appeal has no substance, it deserves to be dismissed.

9. In reference to my obligations as an appellate court hearing appeal against conviction I would like to refresh the observation made by the Apex Court in the case of Ishvarbhai Fuljibhai Patni Vs. State of Gujarat [1995 Supreme Court Cases (Crl) 222].

Para-4 of the judgment reads as under:

"4. Since, the High Court was dealing with the appeal in exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, against conviction and sentence of life imprisonment, it was required to consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the arguments raised at the bar. Let alone, any discussion of the evidence, we do not find that the High Court even cared to notice the evidence led in the case. None of the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellant have been noticed, much less considered and discussed. The judgment is cryptic and we are at loss to understand as to what prevailed with the High Court to uphold the conviction and sentence of the appellant. On a plain requirement of justice, the High Court while dealing with a first appeal against conviction and sentence is expected to, howsoever briefly depending upon the facts of the case, consider and discuss the evidence and deal with the submissions raised at the bar. If it fails to do so, it apparently fails in the discharge of one of its essential jurisdiction under its appellate powers. In view of the infirmities pointed out by us, the judgment under appeal cannot be sustained."

10. In the case of Lal Mandi, Appellant v. State of West Bengal, Respondent [1995 CRI.L.J.2659 (Supreme Court), 2659], the Apex Court in para-5 of the report has given caution to the High Court reminding its duty in the matter of hearing of appeal against conviction. It would be gainful to reproduce the observation made in para-5 of the report, extracted below:

"5. To say the least, the approach of the High Court is totally fallacious. In an appeal against conviction, the Appellate Court has the duty to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and if two views are possible on the appraisal of the evidence, the benefit of reasonable doubt has to be given to an accused. It is not correct to suggest that the "Appellate Court cannot legally interfere with" the order of conviction where the trial court has found the evidence as reliable and that it cannot substitute the findings of the Sessions Judge by its own, if it arrives at a different conclusion on reassessment of the evidence. The observation made in Tota Singh's case, which was an appeal against acquittal, have been misunderstood and mechanically applied. Though, the powers of an appellate court, while dealing with an appeal against acquittal and an appeal against conviction are equally wide but the considerations which weigh with it while dealing with an appeal against an order of acquittal and in an appeal against conviction are distinct and separate. The presumption of innocence of accused which gets strengthened on his acquittal is not available on his conviction. An appellate court may give every reasonable weight to the conclusions arrived at by the trial court but it must be remembered that an appellate court is duty bound, in the same way as the trial court, to test the evidence extrinsically as well as intrinsically and to consider as thoroughly as the trial court, all the circumstances available on the record so as to arrive at an independent finding regarding guilt or innocence of the convict. An Appellate Court fails in the discharge of one of its essential duties, if it fails to itself appreciate the evidence on the record and arrive at an independent finding based on the appraisal of such evidence."

11. Before entering into the merits of the argument it would be convenient for me to place on record the evidence of the parties. Summary of the evidence adduced by the prosecution is as follows:-

12. Munna Paswan, PW-1 is the first informant and father of the victim. He has reiterated the facts mentioned in the first information report, Exhibit Ka-1 and further stated that at that time his daughter was studying in Class VIIth in Higher Secondary College, Phulwaria. At that time she was aged about 12 years. The appellant used to give tuition to his daughter.

13. Victim, PW-2 has supported the prosecution version and reiterated the facts stated by her father. According to her, on the pretext of some discussion about study she was taken away to Mau by a bus. On the way the appellant had threatened him not to raise alarm otherwise she would be killed. From there she was taken to Surat where she was confined in one room. The appellant committed rape with her forcibly. The police recovered her from there and brought to Ballia. She has proved her statement recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C., Exhibit Ka-2.

14. Dr. Jyotsana Singh, PW-3 is the Medical Officer, who on 10.3.2014 medically examined the victim. According to her, there was no external mark of injury on her person. Her physical growth was well developed. For determination of age she advised X-ray and ultrasound of lower abdomen and urine examination. Slide of vaginal smear was prepared. She has proved medical examination report, Exhibit Ka-3, Supplementary Report, Exhibit Ka-4, Reference Slips for X-ray and ultrasound reports, Exhibit Ka-5 and Ka-6 and consent of the father of the victim, Exhibit Ka-7. According to her, hymen of the victim was old torn. At that time she was major.

15. S.I. Sarnath Singh, PW-4 is the Investigating Officer. He gave details of the steps taken in the course of investigation. According to him, after statement of the victim under Section 164, Cr.P.C., Section 376 was added to the case crime number. He has proved site plan and charge sheet, Exhibit Ka-8 and Ka-9, Check FIR, Exhibit Ka-10 and copy of the report of the General Diary, Exhibit Ka-11.

16. Rajpati Ram, Principal Junior High School, Phulwaria, PW-5 has stated that on 20.7.2012 victim was admitted in Class VIth. Her date of birth in the admission register has been entered as 1.8.2002. He has filed photocopy of the extract of the admission register, Exhibit Ka-12.

17. After close of prosecution evidence statement of the appellant was recorded under Section 313, Cr.P.C. wherein he has denied the facts stated by the prosecution witnesses. In reference to the statement of the doctor Jyotsana Singh he has stated that her statement is correct. Admission entry is fictitious. Due to partibandi of the village he has been falsely implicated after he was taken from his house.

18. In the defence oral evidence was given. One letter Exhibit Kha-2 purported to be written by the victim has been filed. In the defence information about missing of the victim published on behalf of the Investigating Officer, Exhibit Kha-1 has been filed.

19. The first ground raised on behalf of the appellant is the age of the victim. In this reference learned counsel for the appellant has placed reliance on the judgment dated 25.8.2015 passed by Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No.559 of 2015 (Ali Mohammad Vs. State of U.P. And 7 others). This authority has been cited in reference to provisions contained in Rule 12 of the Juvenile Justice Rules 2007. For ready reference Rule 12 is quoted as below:-

"12. Procedure to be followed in determination of Age.--(1) In every case concerning a child or a juvenile in conflict with law, the court or the Board or as the case may be, the Committee referred to in rule 19 of these rules shall determine the age of such juvenile or child or a juvenile in conflict with law within a period of thirty days from the date of making of the application for that purpose.

(2) The court or the Board or as the case may be, the Committee shall decide the juvenility or otherwise of the juvenile or the child or as the case may be, the juvenile in conflict with law, prima facie on the basis of physical appearance or documents, if available, and send him to the observation home or in jail.

(3) In every case concerning a child or juvenile in conflict with law, the age determination inquiry shall be conducted by the court or the Board or, as the case may be, the Committee by seeking evidence by obtaining--

(a) (i) the matriculation or equivalent certificates, if available; and in the absence whereof;

(ii) the date of birth certificate from the school (other than a play school) first attended; and in the absence whereof;

(iii) the birth certificate given by a corporation or a municipal authority or a panchayat;

(b) and only in the absence of either (i), (ii) or (iii) of clause (a) above, the medical opinion will be sought from a duly constituted Medical Board, which will declare the age of the juvenile or child. In case exact assessment of the age cannot be done, the Court or the Board or, as the case may be, the Committee, for the reasons to be recorded by them, may, if considered necessary, give benefit to the child or juvenile by considering his/her age on lower side within the margin of one year, and, while passing orders in such case shall, after taking into consideration such evidence as may be available, or the medical opinion, as the case may be, record a finding in respect of his age and either of the evidence specified in any of the clauses (a) (i), (ii), (iii) or in the absence whereof, clause (b) shall be the conclusive proof of Naziya Bano the age as regards such child or the juvenile in conflict with law."

20. Thereafter, Division Bench of this Court while relying on the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court given in Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2013 SC 3467 has laid emphasis about the manner in which the evidence envisaged in Rule 12(3) of the 2007 Rules should be considered.

21. On the strength of this authority, learned counsel for the appellant submits that in the present case victim was not matriculation passed. According to him, as per Rule 12(3) Clause (a)(ii) of the 2007 Rules date of birth entered in the school first attended could have been considered as determinative, but according to him, evidence of Rajpati Ram, PW-5 has been relied upon by the learned trial Judge in violation of the said rule because it was not the first school attended by the victim. Admittedly, she was admitted there in Class VIth. He further submits that as per clause (a)(iii) no certificate was filed by the prosecution, therefore, the medical evidence should have been considered as determinative of the age of the victim. Though this argument is substantiated from Clause (b) Rule 12(3) of the 2007 Rules, but I do not think that in the present case medical evidence is in conformity with the said provision. The opinion given by Dr. Jyotsana Singh, PW-3 is an individual opinion. It is not an opinion given by the Medical Board. For this reason, I find myself unable to take her opinion as determinative of the age of the victim.

22. When the determinative factors envisaged in Rule 12(3) of the 2007 Rules have not been proved, it is the duty of the Court to determine the age of the victim with the help of the evidence available on record. On this point there are other kinds of evidence. In the form of evidence of Munna Paswan, PW-1 and victim, PW-2 the prosecution submits that age of the victim should be held to be 12 years. On the other hand on behalf of the appellant X-ray report has been referred and statement of Dr. Jyotsana Singh made during the cross examination has been quoted where she has opined that on the basis of X-ray report victim was major.

23. I have gone through the original X-ray report. It has not been exhibited, but it has been filed on behalf of the prosecution. Though radiologist has not been examined, but considering the fact that he is a public servant and in discharge of official duty he has signed X-ray report, it has been relied by Dr. Jyotsana Singh. I think defence is entitled to base its argument on its basis. According to this X-ray report at the relevant time all epiphysis of the victim were found fused, thus, radiologically the victim appears to be major.

24. Statement of Munna Paswan, PW-1 on this point appears to be vague. He was married in the year 1989. His elder son was born in the year 1995. He has admitted that his elder son was registered voter in the year 2009. He has refused to disclose the date of birth of his younger daughter. He has stated that the victim was born in the Mayka of his wife. From these evasive replies I do not think that any reliance can be placed on his statement.

25. Statement of Victim, PW-2 is also not confidence inspiring on this point. She has refused to disclose difference of years between her age and age of her elder brother. She has also failed to disclose at what age she had attended Class Ist. According to her, she was born in the hospital. According to her, she did not know what age has been entered in the school register for the reason admission form was submitted by her mother. Obviously the victim has not given straight answers. Development of her body and fusion of epiphysis appear to be more indicative of the fact that at the relevant date victim was major.

26. The second submission on behalf of the appellant is that the victim is a consenting party. She was not kidnapped. She has left her house with her own free will and she lived with the appellant due to love and affection felt by her. The victim, PW-2 in her statement has admitted that the letter, Exhibit-Kha 2 was in her handwriting. In this letter she has disclosed her plan to the appellant how she would leave her house and join him. Though during the examination-in-chief she supported the prosecution version, but during cross examination she admitted that appellant waited for her in front of her house on a bicycle. After running she sat on the bicycle herself. At that time day had not broken out. None had seen her leaving the house. She lived for about two months with the appellant, but she did not raise any alarm. When these facts are taken into consideration along with her letter, Exhibit Kha-2, her stay at Surat appears to be voluntary.

27. On behalf of the appellant it has been submitted that according to the victim, PW-2, she was recovered by the police at Gujrat whereas according to prosecution version, she was recovered at Bus Station, Ballia. On the strength of this discrepancy learned counsel for the appellant submits that where the recovery of the victim remained under mystery, FIR was lodged with delay, medical evidence did not support the prosecution version, the evidence of prosecutrix should not be relied upon. In support of this argument he has referred the case of Mohd. Ali Vs. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 272.

28. He has further submitted that during her journey from the village up to Surat and her stay at Surat the victim never raised any alarm. This makes her testimony to be suspicious. In support of this argument he has referred the case of Alamelu Vs. State, (2011) 2 SCC 385. He has placed reliance on the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in para 55 of the report. The relevant observation is quoted hereinbelow.

"55.Earlier also, the girl had many opportunities to complain or to run away, but she made no such effort. It is noteworthy that she made no protest on seeing some known persons near the car, after her alleged abduction. She did not make any complaint at the residence of Selvi, sister of Sekar (A-1) at Pudupatti. Again, there was no complaint on seeing her relatives allegedly assembled at the temple. Her relatives apparently took no steps at the time when mangalsutra was forcibly tied around her neck by Sekar (A-1). No one sent for police help even though a car was available. She made no complaint when she was taken to the house of PW5, Thiru Thirunavukarasu and stayed at his place. Again, there was no protest when Sekar (A-1) took her to the police station on the fifth day of the alleged abduction and told at the Tiruchi Police Station that they had already been married. The above behaviour would not be natural for a girl who had been compelled to marry and subjected to illicit sexual intercourse."

29. In view of the above, on the fact of kidnapping, confinement and commission of rape, I do not think that testimony of victim, PW-2 can be relied upon. Aside her testimony there is no corroborative evidence. Medical evidence does not support her allegations. Her letter Exhibit Kha-2 is contradictory to what she has stated before the Court, therefore, no reliance can be placed on her statement.

30. In view of the above, I find some substance in the argument advanced on behalf of the appellant that the learned trial Judge has not appreciated the evidence in reference to determination of the age and commission of crime in legal prospective. The findings recorded by him are erroneous and not substantiated from the record. The impugned judgment and orders are against weight of the material on record and law. They deserve to be set aside. Since the prosecution has failed to prove charges beyond doubt against the present appellant, appellant deserves to be acquitted from the charges framed against him.

31. Accordingly, appeal is allowed. Impugned judgment and orders dated 4.5.2015 passed by Shri Ashwani Kumar Singh, Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Ballia in Special Case No.25 of 2014 as also the conviction and sentences of the appellant are set aside. Appellant Nirbhay Narayan Tiwari is acquitted from the charges under Sections 363, 366, 376, IPC and Section 4 of the POCSO Act. He is in jail. If he is not wanted in any other case, he be released forthwith.

32. Office is directed to communicate this order to the court concerned forthwith to ensure compliance and further sent back the lower court record.

REVISIONAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 02.08.2016

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAJAN ROY, J.

Criminal Revision No.- 582 Of 2016

Dinesh Kumar Yadav

...Revisionist

Versus

State Of U.P. & Anr.

Opposite Parties

Counsel for Revisionist:

Lalji Yadav

Counsel for Opposite Parties:

Govt. Advocate

This is a revision filed under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 challenging the order passed by the Court of Sessions in Appeal filed under Section 29 of the 'Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 and an order passed under Section 12(5)(b) of the said Act, 2005, by the Magistrate, which has been upheld by the appellate court.

Hon'ble court has referred several questions to larger bench for its consideration and they are as follows:

i) whether a revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is maintainable before the High Court challenging an order passed by the Court of Sessions under Section 29 of the Act 2005?

ii) whether the decisions in the case of Nishant Krishna Yadav (supra) and Manju Shree Robinson (supra) lay down the law correctly on the question of maintainability of a Revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure before the High Court against an order passed by the Court of Sessions under Section 29 of the Act 2005 in view of the earlier decisions of the Supreme Court in the case of Thakur Das (supra); National Sewing Thread co. (supra); Maharashtra State Financial Corporation (supra); and ITI Ltd., (supra) ?

1. Heard.

2. Issue notice to opposite party no.2 .

3. This is a revision filed under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 challenging the order passed by the Court of Sessions in Appeal filed under Section 29 of the 'Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005' (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act, 2005') and an order passed under Section 12(5)(b) of the said Act, 2005, by the Magistrate, which has been upheld by the appellate court.

4. First and foremost, the question of maintainability of this revision is required to be considered specially as learned Additional Government Advocate has raised such an objection based the decision of a Co-ordinate Bench of this court dated 27.01.2016 in Criminal Revision No. 4016 of 2015 (Nishant Krishan Yadav vs. State of U.P. And another) which has been rendered after considering the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Shalu Ojha vs. Prashant Ojha reported in 2015(2) SCC 99 and it has been held that revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is not maintainable against an order passed by the District Judge under Section 29 of the Act, 2005 and while doing so it has expressed its dis-agreement with the view expressed by Kerala High Court in the case of Baiju Chandran Nair and another vs. Latha Balan Nair and another reported in 2011 CrI. L.J. 4536 and the view expressed by Madras High Court in the case of K. Rajendran vs. Ambika Valmy in Criminal Revision Case (M.D) No. 482 of 2012.

5. Another Coordinate Bench of this Court hearing Writ Petition No. 7926 (MS) of 2015 (Mrs.) Manju Sree Robinson and 2 others vs. State of U.P. and others) has also taken the same view based on the decision of Shalu Ojha (supra) and has further held that a Writ Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution would also not be maintainable and appropriate remedy was only a petition under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

6. This Bench had also earlier followed the decision in (Mrs) Manju Shree Robinson (supra), however, on being apprised of the contrary view in the case of Chiranjeev Kumar (supra) and in CrI. Misc. Writ Petition No. 15337 of 2012 (Prabhu Nath Tewari & another vs. State of U.P. & another) as also the decisions of Kerala and Madras High Courts this Bench had a fresh look at the matter.

7. The Act, 2005 is a special enactment which has been promulgated, as is evident from its long title, to provide more effective protection of the rights of women guaranteed under the Constitution who are victims of violence of any kind occurring within the family and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. It provides remedy in such matters under Sections 12,18,19,20,21,22 and 23 as also a provisions for grant of interim order or ex-parte order under Section 23. The proceedings under the aforesaid provisions are to take place before the Judicial Magistrate Ist Class or Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be, within whose local limits the contingencies mentioned in Section 27 arise. As per section 28(1), save as otherwise provided in the Act, 2005, all proceedings under sections 12,18,19,20,21,22 and 23 and offences under Section 31 shall be governed by the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Sub section 2 of Section 28 provides that nothing in sub section (1) shall prevent the court from laying down its own procedure for disposal of an application under Section 12 or under sub-section (2) of Section 23, meaning thereby a procedure different from one provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 could be laid down for the said purpose. There is nothing on record to show that procedure other than the one prescribed in Code of Criminal Procedure has been prescribed for proceedings under Section 12 and 23(2) of the Act, 2005.

8. Under Section 29 there shall lie an appeal to the Court of Session within 30 days from the date on which the order made by the Magistrate is served on the aggrieved person or the respondent, as the case may be, whichever is later. Section 29 is not mentioned in Section 28.

9. In Nishant Krishna Yadava (supra) the court was persuaded by the decision of the Supreme Court in Shalu Ojha (supra) wherein the Supreme Court held that after the appeal under Section 29, the Act, 2005 does not prescribe any further remedy. In paragraph 13 the Supreme Court observed that before we proceed to take any decision in the matter, we deem it appropriate to make a brief survey of the DV Act (Act, 2005) insofar as it is relevant for the present purpose. After considering the provisions of the scheme of the Act, 2005 in paragraphs 14,15,16,17,18 and 19 it observed in paragraph 19 that "it can be seen from the DV Act that no further appeal or revision is provided to the High Court or any other court against the order of the Sessions court under Section 29. It is in this background of the above mentioned scheme of the DV Act this case is required to be considered". It went on to hold that when interim maintenance was granted by the Magistrate then the High Court should not have lightly interfered with the same.

10. A perusal of the said judgment shows that the specific issue as to whether a revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 can be maintained against an order passed in appeal under Section 29 of the Act, 2005 was neither involved, raised nor argued as, at no stage was any revision filed against any order passed under Section 29 of the Act, 2005, but nevertheless on a consideration of the scheme of the Act, 2005, an observation has been made in paragraph 19 which has already been quoted hereinabove. The question is whether this constitutes a binding precedent on the issue involved in this case especially in view of the earlier decisions which find mentioned hereinbelow, the ratio of which is to the contrary.

11. Reference may be made in this regard to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Thakur Das vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and another reported in (1978) 1 SCC 27 wherein the question was regarding maintainability of a Revision under Section 439 and 435 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898 (old Code) against an order passed by Sessions Judge under Section 6C of the Food and Essential Commodities Act, 1955. Under Section 6C of the said Act, the State Government was empowered to appoint a judicial authority to hear the appeal as per Notification of the State Government. The sessions Judge was appointed as the appellate authority. The Supreme Court considered the issue and held that the Sessions Judge while acting as an appellate authority under Section 6C of the Act 1955 "exercising judicial power of the State is an authority having its own hierarchy of superior and inferior Court, the law of procedure according to which it would dispose of matters coming before it depending upon the nature of jurisdiction exercised by it acting in judicial manner". The Supreme Court further went on to hold in paragraph 8 that Sessions Judge exercising power of appeal under Section 6C of the Act 1955 would only mean the Judge presiding over the Session Court and discharging the functions of that Court constituted under Section 7 & 9 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898, therefore, the conclusion is inescapable that he is not a persona designata which expression is understood to mean a person pointed out or described as an individual as opposed to a person ascertained as a member of a class or as filling a particular character. Based on aforesaid reasoning the Supreme Court further held in paragraph 11 that the Sessions Judge though appointed as an appellate authority by a Notification of the state Government was the Sessions Court over which the Sessions Judge presides and that the Sessions Court is constituted under the Code of Criminal Procedure and indisputably it is an inferior criminal court in relation to High Court, therefore, against the order made in exercise of powers conferred by Section 6C of the Act, 1955 a revision application would lie to the High court and the High Court would be entitled to entertain a revision application under Sections 435 and 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 which was in force at the relevant time and such revision application would be competent. The aforesaid provisions of the old Act are substantially similar to Section 397/401 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973

12. This decision covers the issue involved hereinabove on all its fours and has also been relied by a Coordinate Bench in the case of Chiranjeev Kumar vs. State of U.P. in Criminal Revision No. 879 of 2003 but has escaped the notice of two other Coordinate Benches in Nishant Krishna Yadava (supra) and Mrs. Manju Shree Robinson(supra) which have taken a contrary view.

13. Section 28 makes the procedure prescribed in Code of Criminal Procedure applicable to proceedings under Sections 12,18,19,20,21,22,23 and 31 of the Act, 2005, but it does not refer to Section 29. It is well settled that if a special statute provides a remedy before an established court without saying anything further to the contrary then the procedure followed before the said court automatically becomes applicable to the proceedings even under a special Act. In the present case the reference to a Court of Sessions is to the Court constituted under Sections 6,7 and 8 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The omission to refer Section 29 in Section 28 appears to be for the reason that section 29 follows Section 28 and based on this, exclusion of the Code of Criminal Procedure to Section 29 cannot be inferred. Reference may be made in this regard to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of National Sewing Thread Co. Ltd, Chidambaram vs. James Chadwaick and Bros, reported in A.I.R. 1953 SC 357 wherein it was held that "rule is well settled that when a statute directs that an appeal shall lie to a Court already established, then that appeal must be regulated by the practice and procedure of that Court. This rule was very succinctly stated by Viscount Haldane L.C. in National Telephone Co. Ltd. vs. Postmaster-General, (1913) AC 546 (A), in the following terms:-

"When a question is stated to be referred to an established court without more, it in my opinion, imports that the ordinary incidents of the procedure of that Court are to attach, and also that any general right of appeal from its decision likewise attaches".

The same view was expressed by Their Lordships of the Privy Council in - Adalkappa Chettiar vs. Chandrasekhara Thevar, AIR 1948 PC 12 (B), wherein it was said:

"Where a legal right is in dispute and the ordinary courts of the country are seized of such dispute the Courts are governed by the ordinary rules of procedure applicable thereto and an appeal lies if authorized by such rules, notwithstanding that the legal right claimed arises under a special statute which does not, in terms confer a right of appeal."

14. The aforesaid consideration was made by the Supreme Court in the context of a Letter's Patent Appeal being maintainable from an order passed by the learned Single Judge of High Court under the Trade Marks Act, 1913.. The Supreme Court in said the case also referred to the case of Secretary of State of India v. Chellikani Rama Rao reported in A.I.R. 1916 PC 21 wherein it was held that Section 76 of Trade Marks Act confers a right of appeal to the High Court "and says nothing more about it", that being so the High Court has to exercise its other appellate jurisdiction by a Single Judge. Therefore, his judgment becomes subject to appeal under Clause 15 of Letters Patent Act, "there being nothing to the contrary in the Trade Marks Act".

15. These judgments were also referred to and relied upon in the case of Maharashtra State Financial Corporation v. Jayee Drugs & Pharm reported in (1991) 2 SCC 637, wherein a similar proposition has been laid down while considering the applicability of the Code of Criminal Procedure to the proceedings before the District Judge under the State Financial Corporation Act, 1951.

16. Likewise in the case of ITI Ltd. v. Siemens Public Communications Network Ltd. reported in (2002) 5 SCC 510 the Supreme Court while considering the question as to whether a revision under Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 lies to the High Court as against an order made by a Civil Court in an appeal preferred under Section 37 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 specially when a Second Appeal is statutorily barred under the Act and the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 is not specifically made applicable, the Court opined in paragraph 10 that "it is true in the present Act application of Code is not specifically provided for but what is to be noted is; is there an express prohibition against the application of the Code to a proceeding arising out of the Act before a Civil Court ? We find no such specific exclusion of the Code in the present Act. When there is no express exclusion, we cannot by inference hold that the Code is not applicable". Justice D.M. Dharmadhikari concurring with the judgment of Justice N. Santosh Hegde in that very case in paragraph 19 held "when a special Act on matters governed by that Act confers a jurisdiction on an established court, as distinguished from a persona designata, without any words of limitation, then the ordinary incident of procedure of that court including right of appeal or revision against its decision is attracted". Based on said reasoning and following the judgments already referred to hereinabove the Court held that against an order passed under Section 37 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 a revision under Section 115 of the Code of civil Procedure was maintainable.

17. The analogy of these judgments applies to the present case also for the reasons already mentioned hereinabove specially as a court of Sessions mentioned in Section 29 is not a persona designata but a Court established under the Code of Criminal Procedure, without saying anything more, and as there is nothing in the Act, 2005 excluding the applicability of Code of Criminal Procedure, therefore, the procedure followed before a court of Sessions which includes a Revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure against its orders, will be maintainable.(emphasis supplied)

18. As per Section 5 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 nothing contained in this Code shall, in absence of a specific provision to the contrary, affect any special or local law for the time being in force or any special jurisdiction or power conferred, or any special form of procedure prescribed, by any other law for the time being in force. The Act of 2005 does not prescribe any special form of procedure either for the proceedings under Sections 12,18,19,20,21,22 and 23 or for appeal under Section 29; in fact Section 28(1) therein categorically mentions that the proceedings under the aforesaid provisions including section 31 shall be governed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. Section 29 refers to an appeal before the court of Sessions without saying anything more, therefore, the normal procedure applicable to it under Code of criminal Procedure will apply. Reference may be made in this regard to Section 397 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 which is as under:-

"397. Calling for records to exercise of powers of revision.--(1) The High Court or any Sessions Judge may call for and examine the record of any proceeding before any inferior Criminal Court situate within its or his local jurisdiction for the purpose of satisfying itself or himself as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any finding, sentence or order, recorded or passed, and as to the regularity of any proceedings of such inferior Court, and may, when calling for such record, direct that the execution of any sentence or order be suspended, and if the accused is in confinement, that he be released on bail or on his own bond pending and examination of the record.

Explanation.--All Magistrates, whether Executive or Judicial, and whether exercising original or appellate jurisdiction, shall be deemed to be inferior to the Sessions Judge for the purposes of this sub-section and of Section 398.

(2) The powers of revision conferred by sub-section (1) shall not be exercised in relation to any interlocutory order passed in any appeal, inquiry, trial or other proceeding.

(3) If an application under this section has been made by any person either to the High Court or to the Sessions Judge, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by the other of them."

19. Under Section 397 of the Criminal Procedure Code the High Court may call for examination of the record before any inferior court situate within its or his local jurisdiction for the purpose to satisfy itself as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any finding, sentence or order, recorded or passed. The Court of Sessions referred to in Section 29 of the Act, 2005 is a Criminal Court inferior to the High Court and in the present case it is situated within its limits or local jurisdiction of this High Court. In Thakur Das's Case (supra) the Supreme Court has already held it to be so in the context of appointment of the District Judge as appellate authority by the State Government under the Essential Commodities Act, 1955. The ratio of this decision as also the decision rendered in the case of National Thread sewing Co. Ltd (supra); Challikavi Rama Rao (supra); Maharashtra State Financial Corporation (supra); ITI Ltd (supra), as noted earlier, apply to the present case also, which have escaped the attention of the coordinate Bench in Nishant Krishna Yadav (supra) and in the case of (Mrs) Manju Shree Robinson (supra).

20. A coordinate bench of this Court in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. - 15337 of 2012 (Prabhunath Tiwari and another vs. State of U.P. And another) opined, after perusal of the provisions contained in Sections 28,29,30 and 31, that it did not find any provision under the Act which may attach finality to an order passed in exercise of power under Section 29 of the Act. Moreover as the proceedings under Section 31 of the Act, 2005 are governed by the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, a revision would be maintainable before the High Court against an appellate order passed by a Court of Sessions in exercise of power under Section 29 of the Act, 2005.

21. Another coordinate bench in the case of Chiranjeev Kumar (supra) after considering a conspectus of judgments of the Supreme Court, a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Shafaat Ahmad vs. Smt. Fahmida Sardar reported in AIR 1990 All.182 and the judgment of Kerala High Court in the case of Baiju Chandran Nair(supra), the judgment of Madras High Court in the case of Chiranjeev Kumar (supra) has also come to the conclusion that the Court of Sessions being a Court inferior to the High Court, a Revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 would be maintainable against an order passed under Section 29 of the Act, 2005. It has also considered Shalu Ojha's case and has opined that this issue was not directly involved in the said case before the Supreme Court. Chiranjeev Kumar (supra) also takes into consideration the judgment of the Supreme Court in Thakur Das (supra).

22. In view of the above the legal proposition laid down in Nishant Krishna Yadav (supra) and (Mrs.) Manju Shree Robinson (supra) requires reconsideration and the conflicting opinion expressed by coordinate Benches also require a clarification so as to bring certitude on the issue involved.

23. As a Coordinate Bench in Chiranjeev case (supra) has relied upon the Division Bench in the case of Shafaat Ahmad (supra) which related to the provisions of the Muslim Women Protection of Rights on Divorce) Act, 1986 it would be appropriate that the matter be placed before a Larger Bench.

24. In view of above the following questions are being referred for consideration by a larger Bench:-.

i) whether a revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is maintainable before the High Court challenging an order passed by the Court of Sessions under Section 29 of the Act 2005?

ii) whether the decisions in the case of Nishant Krishna Yadav (supra) and Manju Shree Robinson (supra) lay down the law correctly on the question of maintainability of a Revision under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure before the High Court against an order passed by the Court of Sessions under Section 29 of the Act 2005 in view of the earlier decisions of the Supreme Court in the case of Thakur Das (supra); National Sewing Thread co. (supra); Maharashtra State Financial Corporation (supra); and ITI Ltd., (supra) ?

25. Let the office place the record of this Criminal Revision before the Hon'ble Chief Justice in terms of Chapter V, Rule 6 of the Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 for constituting a bench of such strength as he deems fit and necessary for considering the above reference.

Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.- 49736 Of 2015

Naveen Kumar (Detenue)	...Petitioner
	Versus
State Of U.P. & Ors.	...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:

Rajni Ojha, Ravindra Nath Chaubey

Counsel for Respondents:

Govt. Advocate, Sudhir Mehrotra

This writ petition has been filed with the prayer to direct the respondents to produce the corpus of detenue namely, Naveen Kumar i.e. petitioner before this Court.

It has been contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was arrested on 7.8.2015 and thereafter remand was granted on 8.8.2015 by the Magistrate concerned. He submits that the said remand order was a cyclostyle and subsequently, on 21.8.2015 further remand was granted through video conferencing.

Section 167 (2) proviso (b) of The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is quoted below:-

"(b) no Magistrate shall authorise detention in any custody under this section unless the accused is produced before him;"

A Magistrate cannot order the detention of any person in custody or extend such detention without the production of the accused before him in violation of the provisions of proviso (b) to S. 167(2) Cr.P.C.

Court observed that the judicial custody remand order dated 21.8.2015 of the accused person Naveen Kumar through video conferencing, it is evident from the counter affidavit filed by Sri Ram Karan Yadav, presently posted as Railway Magistrate, Ghaziabad and who has passed the judicial custody remand order dated 21.8.2015 of the accused person Naveen Kumar. It is proved that this order was passed by him when the accused person Naveen Kumar was present before him through video conferencing and on the basis of request made by the Investigating Officer of the aforesaid matter, judicial custody remand of the accused person Naveen Kumar was granted w.e.f. 21.8.2015 to 3.9.2015.

Court does not find any good ground for interference in the matter.

The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prabhat Chandra Tripathi, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Rajni Ojha, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Sudhir Mehrotra, learned Special Counsel of High Court and Sri Vikas Sahai, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This writ petition has been filed with the prayer to direct the respondents to produce the corpus of detenue namely, Naveen Kumar i.e. petitioner before this Court.

3. It has been contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was arrested on 7.8.2015 and thereafter remand was granted on 8.8.2015 by the Magistrate concerned. He submits that the said remand order was a cyclostyle and subsequently, on 21.8.2015 further remand was granted through video conferencing.

4. Sri Sudhir Mehrotra, learned Special Counsel of High Court states that an affidavit has been filed by Judicial Officer that he has granted the said remand order dated 21.8.2015 through video conferencing which has been disputed by the learned counsel for the petitioner. It has been further pointed out that the detenue has already been released, hence, the present Habeas Corpus petition has become infructuous.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner further argued that the said Habeas Corpus petition can be adjudicated by this Court for granting damages to the petitioner to which learned Special Counsel of High Court states that first-of-all petitioner has to make out a case that the detention of detenue of the case is illegal.

6. Section 167 (2) proviso (b) of The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is quoted below:-

"(b) no Magistrate shall authorise detention in any custody under this section unless the accused is produced before him;"

7. A Magistrate cannot order the detention of any person in custody or extend such detention without the production of the accused before him in violation of the provisions of proviso (b) to S. 167(2) Cr.P.C.

9. The remand order sheet of the Court of the learned Remand Magistrate, Ghaziabad in case Crime No. 766 of 2015, under Sections 377, 406, 34 I.P.C., Police Station Vijay Nagar, District Ghaziabad of the accused person Naveen Kumar dated 8.8.2015 reveals that the judicial custody remand order was passed by the learned Remand Duty Magistrate (Additional Civil Judge (Junior Division)/Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 3, Ghaziabad) after perusal of the F.I.R., case diary, extract of the G.D. of the arrest of the accused, memo of arrest and the accused was produced by the police personnel of Police Station Vijay Nagar, District Ghaziabad after arresting the accused person Naveen Kumar. The accused person Naveen Kumar was produced before the learned Remand Duty Magistrate who after passing the judicial order on the remand application of the Investigating Officer, remanded the accused person Naveen Kumar for 14 days of the judicial custody w.e.f. 8.8.2015 to 21.8.2015. This is evident from the signature of the accused person Naveen Kumar appended therein on the remand sheet. This judicial custody remand order dated 8.8.2015 is a detailed and speaking order. There is no legal infirmity or perversity in it.

10. Now, coming to the judicial custody remand order dated 21.8.2015 of the accused person Naveen Kumar through video conferencing, it is evident from the counter affidavit filed by Sri Ram Karan Yadav, presently posted as Railway Magistrate, Ghaziabad and who has passed the judicial custody remand order dated 21.8.2015 of the accused person Naveen Kumar. It is proved that this order was passed by him when the accused person Naveen Kumar was present before him through video conferencing and on the basis of request made by the Investigating Officer of the aforesaid matter, judicial custody remand of the accused person Naveen Kumar was granted w.e.f. 21.8.2015 to 3.9.2015.

11. A short counter affidavit of Jainendra Singh Tomar, Sub-Inspector of Police Station Vijay Nagar, District Ghaziabad clearly proves the factum of production of the accused person Naveen Kumar through video conferencing on 21.8.2015 and along with this affidavit has also been filed the letter of the Superintendent, District Jail, Ghaziabad as Annexure-1 in support thereof.

12. It would not be out of place to mention here that in the letter dated 02.09.2015 of the Superintendent, District Jail, Ghaziabad it has been mentioned that there is no facility of retrieving in the video conferencing.

13. This letter dated 02.09.2015 of the Superintendent, District Jail, Ghaziabad annihilates and belies the contention of the petitioner-detenu Naveen Kumar in this regard.

14. After having considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties, we do not find any good ground for interference in the matter.

15. The writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

Writ Petition No.- 558 (MS) Of 2006

Abdul Rasheed

...Petitioner

Versus

Ayuktat, Lucknow Division, Lucknow & Anr.

...Opposite parties

The sole question involved in the instant writ petition is whether the stamp duty is payable on the property as it stands on the date of execution of deed or demand for additional stamp duty can be created on the presumption of future or intended change of use to which the property may be put to by the vendee.

Court observed that the authority had proceeded to determine the value on the presumption that though the land is agricultural land but it has not been purchased for the said purpose. The said presumption does not appear to be sound and reasonable. It may be added that the report of the Sub-Registrar could not legally form basis of the impugned orders. There is no material in possession of the respondents to show that on the date of the execution of sale deed, the land in dispute was not agricultural land. The petitioner has brought on record copies of Khasra of 1422 Fasli and Khatauni of 1418-1423 Fasli (issued on 21.4.2015) to show the land is still recorded in the Revenue records as agricultural land and agricultural activities are being carried out by the petitioner.

The writ petition is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr Devendra Kumar Arora, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ram Karan Verma, learned Counsel for the petitioner and Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The sole question involved in the instant writ petition is whether the stamp duty is payable on the property as it stands on the date of execution of deed or demand for additional stamp duty can be created on the presumption of future or intended change of use to which the property may be put to by the vendee.

3. Abdul Rasheed, the petitioner, by means of a registered sale deed dated 27.8.2002 purchased the $\frac{1}{4}$ piece of land of Gata no. 126/242 hectare situate in village Pipariya Dhani Pargana Atwapipariya, Tehsil Mohammadi, District Kheri from one Karamjeet Singh son of Jagdish Singh and paid the stamp duty as applicable to agricultural land at the relevant time. After a long time, proceedings under Section 47-A of the Indian Stamp Act were initiated on the report of Sub Registrar and a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner requiring him to pay a sum of Rs. 64,936/- as there has been deficiency in the payment of stamp duty. A report in this connection was also sought for from the Naib- Tehsildar, who after inspection submitted his report indicating therein that the land in question situates in close proximity to residential area and commercial establishment on main road of Mohammadi-Gola. Therefore, the land being purchased for residential purposes, as such the stamp duty is payable thereon at the rate applicable to an Abadi land. In response to the show cause notice, the petitioner submitted that the proper stamp duty has been paid on the instrument in question as per circle rate fixed for this purpose by the Collector. It has been contended that the land purchased by them was and still is being used for agricultural purposes and the stamp duty has been paid accordingly. The said plea did not find favour with the authority concerned, who under the order dated 21.3.2003 held that the land purchased by the petitioner was for residential purpose and as such, the stamp duty is payable thereon at the rate applicable to an Abadi land. A sum of Rs. 64,936/- was demanded towards the deficiency in stamp duty, Rs. 4240/- towards registration charge and Rs. 10,390/- towards penalty.

4. The said order dated 21.3.2003 was challenged by way of Appeal No. 232/2002-03 under-Section 56 of the Indian Stamp Act before the Commissioner, Lucknow Division, Lucknow, unsuccessfully. He, by the order dated 12.5.2005 dismissed the appeal on the ground that the order of the Collector Stamps/Sub Divisional Officer, Mohammadi, Kheri is perfectly justified, which is based on cogent materials.

5. Being dis-satisfied with the aforesaid orders, the petitioner has filed the instant writ petition questioning the correctness and validity of the aforesaid impugned orders.

6. The learned Counsel for the petitioner submits that the authorities below have wrongly held that the land in question is not agricultural land. The date when it was purchased, it was recorded as agricultural land in the Revenue records and it continues to be so even till date. There being no declaration under Section 143 of the UP ZA & LR Act declaring it as a Abadi/residential, the authorities below have acted arbitrarily and illegally in treating the land in question as non-agricultural land. The burden to prove that the land was other than the agricultural land, lay upon the shoulders of respondents and not on the petitioners.

7. To substantiate the aforesaid assertions, the petitioner has placed reliance on Anirudha Kumar and Ashwini Kumar Versus Chief Controlling Revenue Authority [2000 (3) A.W.C. 2587] and Smt. Anasuya Singh vs. Commissioner, Faizabad Division[2008(26) LCD 588], Surendra Singh and another vs. State of U.P. And others [2009(106) RD 427], Smt. Anasuya Singh vs. Commissioner Faizabad Division, Faizabad [2008(104) RD 725], Kuldeep Chaurasia vs. State of U.P. And another decided on 14.11.2008.

8. The learned Standing Counsel, on the other hand, supports the impugned orders and submits that authorities below were justified in treating the land in dispute as non-agricultural land in view of the spot inspection report of the Naib Tehsildar. Placing reliance on the decisions rendered in Wasi Ur Rehman and another Vs. Commissioner Moradabad Division Moradabad (decided on 26.2.2015) Haroon Ahmad and another vs. State of U.P. And others (decided on 30.8.2011) and Radhey Shyam vs.State of U.P. And others (decided on 6.8.2013), learned Standing Counsel submitted that property in question was undervalued, not disclosing that the property has future potential, whereas stamp duty was paid as applicable on agricultural property.

9. In the case of Prakashwati v. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, Board of Revenue; 1996 AWC 1331, the Apex Court had held that situation of a property in an area close to a decent colony not by itself would make it part thereof and should not be a factor for approach of the authority in determining the market value. According to the said decision, valuation has to be determined on constructive materials which could be made available before the authorities concerned.

10. In Anirudha Kumar and Ashwini Kumar Versus Chief Controlling Revenue Authority [2000 (3) A.W.C. 2587] and Smt. Anasuya Singh vs. Commissioner, Faizabad Division [2008(26) LCD 588], on which reliance has been placed by the petitioner, this Court has referred the aforesaid Prakashwati's case [supra] and observed as under:-

"In the present case, the market value is to be determined on the basis of the value that would satisfy the vendor. Thus, the question of future potential cannot be a factor for determining the market value of such a land for the purpose of stamp duty payable under the Stamp Act. The vendee pays the price that satisfies the vendor and, therefore, it is the utility of the land as on the date of transfer by the vendor and as such, if the land was an agricultural land, it has to be treated as such and the valuation has to be done accordingly. Whether in future the purchaser puts the land into residential use or changes the character is immaterial for the purpose of payment of stamp duty. The principle that has been laid down in P. Ram Reddy (supra) can be attracted for the purpose of determining the market value only to the extent of potential as on the date of transfer and not beyond. Thus, the market value has to be determined according to the factors, which includes the situation of the land, the amenities available in and around and various other factors, including the close proximity of the residential area as well as any transfer made immediately before the transfer or after the transfer in close proximity if such documents are produced in respect of the area that similarly situated land by either of the parties."

11. In Rakesh Chandra Mittal's case [supra] a Division Bench of this Court held:-

"It is well settled that market value of the property has to be determined with reference to the date on which the document is executed. Market value as such keeps on varying and changing. Any subsequent improvement or change in the nature or user of the land, which may result into enhancement of the market value of the property on the date of execution of the document that is to be considered for the purpose of determination of stamp duty payable on the instrument."

12. Apart from the above decisions, recently a Full Bench of this Court in the case of Shri Ramesh Chandra Srivastava, Kanpur v. State of U.P. and others; 2007 UPTC 335 held that the market value of the property has to be determined with reference to the date on which the document is executed.

13. Recently, a question was referred to the Full Bench in the case of Smt. Pushpa Sareen Vs. State of U.P. And others [2015(33) LCD 1575] as to whether the Collector Stamps has power to fix the valuation of a plot on the assumption that the same is likely to be used for commercial purposes, and whether the presumed future prospective use of the land can be a criterion for valuation by the Collector?

14. The Full Bench while answering the aforesaid question answered as follows:-

"Now insofar as the second question is concerned, the issue posed for consideration before the Court is whether the Collector has the power to fix the valuation of a plot on the assumption that it is likely to be used for commercial purposes and whether the presumed future prospective use of the land can be a criterion for valuation by the Collector. The Collector, while exercising his jurisdiction under Section 47-A, is required to determine the market value of the property on the date of the instrument. It is a well settled principle of law that stamp duty is a levy which is imposed not on the transaction but on the instrument."

15. The valuation cannot be determined straightway on such an assumption that the land is situated in close proximity of "abadi" area or on the presumption that the land is to be used for a purpose other than the agriculture. As averred above, the Full Bench of this Court has clearly held on the basis of the various provisions of the Stamp Act, that the market value is to be determined with reference to the date on which the document was executed and that any subsequent change in the nature or use of the land which may result in the enhancement of the market value of the property was not to be taken into account.

16. Thus, the legal position which emerges out from the aforesaid cases is that the market value of the land cannot be determined with reference to the use of the land to which buyer intends to put it. The market value is what a general buyer may offer and what the seller may reasonably expect. In determining the market value, the potential of the land as on the date of sale alone can be taken into account and not what potential it may have in the distant future. Any subsequent improvement or change in the nature or user of the land, which may result into enhancement of the market value of the property, is not to be taken into account and it is only the value of the property on the date of execution of the document that is to be considered for the purpose of determination of proper stamp duty payable on the instrument.

17. In addition to above legal proposition, the State Government with a view to remove doubts of the Collector (Stamps) issued a Government Order dated 16.9.1999 to all the Divisional Commissioners, District Magistrates and Additional District Magistrates (Finance & Revenue), providing therein that while determining the valuation of the property under 1997 Rules, neither the future potential or use of the property nor the status of the purchaser (Organization, Society, Company etc.) will be taken into consideration. The relevant clause of the Government Order dated 16.9.1999 reads as under :

(क) अचल सम्पत्ति के भविष्य में संभावित उपयोग तथा क्रेता का भूमि को क़य करने के पीछे भविष्य में उसका क्या उद्देश्य है, इसको बाज़ार मूल्य के निर्धारण व उसके आगंणन का आधार नहीं बनाया जाना चाहिए,

(ख) दिनांक 01 सितम्बर, 1997 से प्रभावी कलेक्टर रेट लिस्ट में यदि भविष्य के भू-भाग तथा पक्षकार कें किसी विशिष्ट नाम से होने के कारण (यथा किसी विशिष्ट प्रयोजन हेतु स्थापित कोई संस्था, समिति, कम्पनी आदि) भूमि के क़य हेतु रेट लिस्ट से ड़यो

18. Having considered the submissions made by the learned Counsel for the parties and the materials placed before this Court, it appears that the authority had proceeded to determine the value on the presumption that though the land is agricultural land but it has not been purchased for the said purpose. The said presumption does not appear to be sound and reasonable.

19. It may be added that the report of the Sub-Registrar could not legally form basis of the impugned orders. There is no material in possession of the respondents to show that on the date of the execution of sale deed, the land in dispute was not agricultural land. The petitioner has brought on record copies of Khasra of 1422 Fasli and Khatauni of 1418-1423 Fasli (issued on 21.4.2015) to show the land is still recorded in the Revenue records as agricultural land and agricultural activities are being carried out by the petitioner. In view of the proposition of law as laid down in Prakashwati 's case by the Apex Court and by the Full Bench in Smt. Purshpa Sareen's case, the case law relied upon by the Standing Counsel are of no avail.

20. This being so, there is no hesitation to hold that the respondent no.2 did not possess any cogent material on record to show that the instrument in question is deficiently stamped or under valued in any manner. The first respondent was, therefore, not justified in confirming the order passed by the Collector (Stamps). The Appellate Authority proceeded to dismiss the appeal without recording any finding for discarding the pleas as raised by the petitioner in his appeal.

21. In view of the above discussion, the impugned orders dated 21.3.2003 passed by the Collector (Stamps)/Sub Divisional Officer and the order dated 20.12.2005 passed by the Commissioner in appeal are quashed by issuing a writ of certiorari. Any amount deposited by the petitioner shall be refunded to him within a period of two month from the date of production of certified copy of the order.

22. With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RITU RAJ AWASTHI, J.

Second Appeal No.- 231 Of 2008

Mohd. Iliyas & Ors.

...Appellants
Versus

Smt. Ram Dulari & Ors.

...Respondents

Counsel for Appellants:

Mr. Mohiuddin Khan, Mr. Mohd. Aslam Khan, Mr. Mohd. Adil Khan, Mr. Ghaus Beg, Mr. Mohd. Arif Khan, Sr. Advocate

Counsel for Respondents:

Apoorva Tiwari & Sunil Pandey

Held

The Court held that the suit for specific performance filed in 1990 on the basis of agreement dated 07.01.1983 was barred by limitation under Article 54 of the Limitation Act, as the period commenced from the date of knowledge of permission (24.01.1983) and not from alleged refusal. It further held that extension of time or oral agreement was not proved and Section 15 of the Limitation Act was inapplicable in absence of any stay/injunction. The Court also held that the plaintiff failed to establish continuous readiness and willingness as required under Section 16(c) of the Specific Relief Act, and mere pleading without evidence is insufficient. Consequently, the appellate court erred, and the trial court's dismissal was upheld while setting aside the decree for specific performance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ritu Raj Awasthi, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Mohiuddin Khan, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants as well as Mr. Sunil Pandey and Mr. Apoorva Tewari, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the contesting respondents i.e., respondents no. 1 to 8.

2. No one has put in appearance on behalf of respondents no. 9 to 13. During pendency of appeal, respondents no. 6, 8 and 13 have died. They have been substituted by their legal heirs.

3. The instant second appeal has been filed by the defendants-appellants against the judgment and decree dated 31.5.2008 passed in Regular Civil Appeal No. 154 of 2005 (Smt. Ram Dulari and others vs. Mohd. Ayyub Khan and others) by learned Special Judge (E.C.) Act, Lucknow setting aside the judgment and decree dated 6.10.2005 passed in Regular Suit No. 86 of 1990 (Ram Dulari and others Vs. Mohd. Ayyub Khan and others) by the learned Additional Civil Judge (Junior Division), Lucknow by means of which the Trial Court had dismissed the suit of the respondents-plaintiffs for Specific Performance of Contract for sale.

4. The appeal has been admitted on the following substantial questions of law:

"(i) Whether the suit filed by the respondents on 20.3.1990 on the basis of an agreement for sale dated 7.1.1983 was within limitation?.

(ii) Whether in the absence of any pleadings and evidence on record that the respondents no. 1 to 8 possessed of and are capable of performing their part of contract, the lower appellate Court was justified in law in decreeing the suit, ignoring the law laid down in that behalf by this Hon'ble Court as well as Apex Court?

(iii) Whether there being no order of stay granted by District Judge, Gonda, staying filing of the suit by Tulsi Ram, the learned lower appellate Court was justified in law in granting benefit of Section 15 of the Limitation Act in decreeing the suit filed by him beyond three years?

(iv) Whether the learned lower appellate Court was justified in law in granting the decree for specific performance of contract, ignoring the provisions of Sections 12 and 15 of the Specific Relief Act?"

5. As per the given facts, a registered agreement for sale dated 07.01.1983 of plot measuring 8000 square feet was entered into between late Tulsi Ram (original plaintiff who is now represented by his legal heirs respondents no. 1 to 8) and one Farooq, Mohd. Matin (father of respondents no. 11 & 12) and Jameeluddin (respondent no. 13) - prospective purchasers as first party and Mohd. Ayyub Khan and Mohd. Shoaib Khan (respondents no. 9 & 10) - sellers as second party. A suit for specific performance of contract for sale was filed on 20.3.1990 by Tulsi Ram impleading Mohd. Ayyub Khan and Mohd. Shoaib Khan as defendants who were the owners of the plot in dispute. Respondents no. 11 to 13 and the present appellants were also impleaded as defendants.

6. Respondents no. 9 and 10 were the owners of the plot in dispute on the basis of registered sale-deed dated 25.7.1957. It was the case of the plaintiff that as per said agreement for sale a sum of Rs.50,000/- was paid by the purchasers out of which, Rs.20,000/- was paid by Tulsi Ram, Rs.10,000/- was paid by Farooq, Rs.10,000/- was paid by Mohd. Mateen and Rs.10,000/- was paid by Jameeluddin. They had agreed to purchase definite portions of the plot in dispute by getting individual and separate sale-deeds executed in favour of each individual purchaser.

7. It was also the term of agreement for sale dated 07.01.1983 that the seller would obtain necessary permission from the competent authority under the Act¹ and the sale-deed would be executed within a month from grant of permission by the competent authority. The agreement stipulated that the seller would intimate the buyers and call upon them to execute the sale-deed.

8. It was the case of respondents-plaintiffs that sellers had not acted upon their solemn undertaking and despite repeated request and demands to execute the registered sale-deed, the respondents no. 9 and 10 avoided to execute the sale-deed, hence they had filed a suit for specific performance. It was also the case of respondents-plaintiffs that respondents no. 9 & 10 had filed a collusive suit (Regular suit no. 81 of 1981) at Gonda in which the plot in dispute was got attached due to which they had shown their inability to execute the sale-deed.

9. It was also case of the respondents-plaintiffs that subsequent to the agreement for sale, the respondents no. 9 and 10 had delivered actual possession and he was always ready and willing to perform his part of contract and is still ready to pay sale consideration but the respondents no. 9 and 10 avoided to execute the sale-deed which necessitated for filing the suit.

10. It was the case of the respondents-plaintiffs that the respondents no. 9 & 10 (sellers) had not given any intimation to get the sale-deed executed and had extended the period of limitation through oral agreement.

11. The suit was contested by the appellants (defendants no.6 to 10), who were subsequent purchasers from respondents no. 9 and 10 for valuable sale consideration on the ground that the respondents no. 9 and 10 who were arrayed as defendants no. 1 and 2 were in actual possession and they had transferred the actual possession to the present appellants.

12. It has been vehemently contended by the learned counsel for appellants that the first appellate Court has grossly erred in reversing the finding recorded by the Trial Court. The suit was, admittedly, filed beyond the period of limitation as specified under Article 54 of Schedule to Limitation Act. The respondents-plaintiffs have failed to establish their case before the Trial Court. The Trial Court has given its categorical finding that the suit is barred by limitation. The respondents-plaintiffs have not been able to establish their possession over the plot in dispute. The respondents-plaintiffs have not been able to show that they were ready and willing to execute their part of agreement. The Trial Court, relying on the statement of examination-in-chief of Mohd. Farooq, had come to conclusion that the plaintiffs had knowledge of the notice sent by the sellers, however, they had not produced any evidence to show that they were ready to get the sale-deed executed, from the conduct and circumstances, it is evident that the plaintiffs had failed to perform their part of agreement.

13. It is submitted that the first appellate Court has held that the respondents no. 9 & 10 (sellers) had not contested the suit and there is no specific denial that there was an agreement for sale between the respondents-plaintiffs (purchasers) and respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers), the respondents no. 9 & 10 accepted part of the amount of consideration paid by the plaintiffs along with three other persons, since the plaintiffs had not received the intimation about the permission granted by the urban ceiling authority and the plot in dispute being under attachment in the Court of District Judge, Gonda, there was legal difficulty in execution of sale-deed and respondents no. 9 & 10 had kept on taking time from the plaintiff, hence the extension of period of performance of the contract extends the period of limitation. The said finding of the first appellate Court are not sustainable in the eyes of law. The first appellate Court has erred in coming to conclusion that since there is no specific denial of the appellants who were contesting as respondents in first appeal and rather; it has been admitted by one of the appellants in his statement that the plaintiff has put a wooden kiosk in part of the plot in dispute, hence the finding of the Trial Court that the plaintiffs have failed to establish their possession over the plot in dispute is wrong.

14. It is submitted that the first appellate Court has grossly erred in ignoring the material fact that the permission from urban ceiling authority was applied jointly by sellers and purchasers, it was duly received by M. Hamza, Advocate who was engaged by respondents-plaintiffs themselves and the knowledge of the said permission cannot be denied by the plaintiffs. The first appellate Court has also erred in coming to conclusion that no notice was served on the respondents-plaintiffs for getting the sale-deed executed. Mohd. Farooq, who was also a party to the agreement being one of the purchasers, has stated before the Trial Court that they had received notice sent by the respondents no. 9 & 10, as such, it was evidently clear that the plaintiff along with other prospective purchasers had received notice sent by the respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers) and, as such, it cannot be said that the respondents no. 9 & 10 had not sent the notice to the plaintiff.

15. It is contended by counsel for the appellants that in absence of any evidence on record the first appellate Court has grossly erred in concluding that respondents-plaintiffs were ready and willing to perform their part of contract.

16. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for appellants has placed reliance on the judgment of the Delhi High Court in the case of Smt. Raj Rani Bhasin & others vs. S. Kartar

Singh Mehta², wherein a distinction has been drawn between the readiness to perform the contract and willingness to perform the contract. Readiness may be meant the capacity of the plaintiff to perform the contract which includes his financial ability to pay the purchase price but for determining his willingness to perform his part of contract, his conduct has to be scrutinized. From the evidence on record, the respondents-plaintiffs could not prove their willingness to perform their part of contract.

17. It is also contended that there was no order or injunction passed against the respondents no. 9 and 10, hence the suit filed by Tulsi Ram, predecessor-in-interest of the respondents no. 1 to 8 on 20.3.1990, in pursuance to the agreement for sale dated 07.01.1983, was admittedly barred by limitation and Trial Court was correct in law in dismissing the suit.

18. In this regard, the appellants have relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Director of Inspection of Income Tax (Investigation), New Delhi and another vs. M/s Pooran Mall and Sons and another³ in which it has been laid down by the Apex Court that it is well established principles of judicial procedure that wherein proceedings are stayed by an order of a court, or by an injunction issued by any court only that period should be excluded in computing any period of limitation laid down by law.

19. The appellants have contended that from a bare reading of the submissions made in the plaint, it is very much clear that Tulsi Ram in order to overcome the bar of limitation as the suit was admittedly filed beyond the period of 3 years, had set up a case of oral agreement.

20. It is submitted that the plaintiff has to succeed on the strength of his own case and could not rely upon the weakness of the defence. The case of oral agreement extending the period of limitation, pleaded was not proved by the plaintiff by leading any positive evidence on record, hence the theory as set up regarding extension of the period of limitation is also unequivocal and the finding recorded by the Trial Court could not be held to be perverse.

21. Learned counsel for the respondents no. 1 to 8, on the other hand, vehemently submitted that it was specifically stated in the plaint that the sellers i.e. defendants no. 1 and 2 had applied for permission from the competent authority under the Act but the plaintiff had no knowledge about the grant of any such permission. The plaintiff had not received any notice for getting the sale-deed executed. The sellers i.e., defendants no. 1 & 2 had orally informed their inability to execute the sale-deed as the plot in dispute was under attachment in a case before the District Judge, Gonda. It was further stated in the plaint that the plaintiff was always ready and willing to perform his part of the agreement to sell but the defendants no. 1 and 2 repeatedly extended the period for performance of the contract on the pretext that they were in legal difficulty in executing the sale-deed as the entire property was under attachment as per the order passed in Regular Suit No. 81 of 1981.

22. It is contended that the extension of the period of performance of the contract extends the period of limitation and the cause of action for filing the suit arose to the plaintiff on 31.12.1989 when the plaintiff demanded the execution and registration of sale-deed from defendants no. 1 and 2.

23. It is submitted that defendants no. 1 and 2 despite sufficient notice never appeared before the Trial Court to contest the suit and, thus, the suit was proceeded ex-parte against them. It is submitted that in absence of specific denial of the defendants no. 1 and 2 the contention of the present appellants, who was also defendants in the suit, could not have been accepted as the appellants are the subsequent purchasers and cannot plead before the Trial Court that the plaintiff was not ready and willing to perform his part of agreement for sale and the agreement for sale was cancelled by defendants no. 1 and 2 before the plot in dispute was sold to the present appellants. It is contended that the Trial Court had erred in coming to conclusion that the provision of first part of Article 54 of Schedule to the Limitation Act would be applicable. It is also contended that no specific date was fixed for execution of the sale-deed in the agreement for sale. The said agreement for sale stipulated that the sale-deed would be executed within one month from the date of grant of permission from the competent authority under the Act. In absence of any date fixed in the agreement for sale which was also not ascertainable from the terms of the agreement for sale for the execution of the sale-deed, the second part under Article 54 would apply and the period of limitation shall commence from the date when the plaintiff had the knowledge that performance is refused.

24. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for respondents has relied on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Ahmadsahab Abdul Mulla (2) (Dead) vs. Bibijan and others⁴, particularly Paragraph 10, 11 & 12 where it has been held that the expression date fixed for performance in Article 54 of the Schedule to Limitation Act, 1963 is a crystallized notion which is not subject to any change or fluctuation and in the absence of any such stipulation only the second part of Article 54 shall apply and the period of limitation shall commence from the date when the plaintiff has noticed that the performance is refused.

25. It is contended by learned counsel for respondents that the legal position as regards the notices sent "Under Certificate of Posting" is no longer res integra and stands concluded by a recent decision of this Court in West Watch Company vs. Additional District Judge, Court No. 5 and others⁵, particularly Paragraphs 17 & 18, wherein it has been held that in order to raise presumption of service of notice "Under Certificate of Posting, the employee of the post and telegraph department has to be examined to prove the factum of posting of the notice. It is held that in absence of proof of posting of notice no presumption of service can be drawn.

26. It is submitted that since the defendants no. 1 and 2 had accepted part of the sale consideration after institution of the suit it has to be presumed that they did not refuse their part of performance and had not cancelled the agreement to sale till the filing of the suit. It is further submitted that the first appellate Court has also recorded a finding of fact to the effect that the plaintiff and the defendants no. 1 and 2 had extended the period of performance on account of the plot in dispute being under attachment before the Court i.e., Regular Suit No. 81 of 1981.

27. It is submitted that in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Panchanan Dhara and others vs. Monmatha Nath Maity (Dead) Through LRS. And another⁶, particularly Paragraphs 21 and 22, wherein it has been held that the time for performance of an agreement would extend the period of limitation and it would begin to commence when plaintiff has noticed that performance has been refused.

28. It is also contended that in view of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Badat & Co. v. East India Trading Co.⁷, in the absence of specific denial the pleadings shall be treated to be admitted. Thus, in the absence of the denial of the plaintiff's assertion by the defendants no. 1 and 2 they shall be deemed to have been admitted by them. It is submitted that the plaintiff has proved his assertions regarding extension of time for performance by way of his evidence and the defendants no. 6 to 11 while cross examining him did not controvert or challenge his version.

29. The Apex Court in the case of Muddasani Venkata Narsaiah (D) Th. Lrs. vs. Muddasani Sarojana⁸, has held that if the version of plaintiff in his examination-in-chief is not challenged in the cross examination the same shall amount to admission.

30. Learned counsel for respondents has also submitted that the application for permission from the competent authority under the Act is required to be applied jointly by the vendor and vendee. In view of the aforesaid, the plaintiff had signed the application along with defendants no. 1 and 2 and also executed Vakalatnama in favour of Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate.

31. It is submitted that the defendants no. 6 to 11 did not lead any evidence to prove that the signatures or the receiving of Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate on the ceiling permission. It was incumbent on the defendants to have proved the signatures by virtue of Section 67 of the Indian Evidence Act and having failed to do so no presumption or inference can be raised against the plaintiff on the said score. Thus, the finding of the first appellate court that the suit for specific performance preferred by the plaintiff was within limitation suffers from no error and the question of law framed in the second appeal is liable to be answered in favour of the respondents-plaintiffs.

32. It is also submitted that the plaintiff has specifically pleaded in the plaint that the plaintiff has been throughout ready and willing to perform his part of agreement. The said assertion was not denied by the defendants no. 1 and 2, therefore, shall stand admitted against them. The defendants no. 6 to 11 have denied the statement in the plaint vaguely and in their evidence admitted to not having any knowledge of the transaction which took place prior to execution of sale-deed in their favour. In the absence of requisite denial and rebuttal or challenge to the evidence of PW-1, the readiness and willingness of the plaintiff to perform his part of the agreement would stand proved.

33. I have considered the submissions made by the parties' counsel and gone through the records.

34. It is the admitted fact that a joint agreement to sale dated 07.01.1983 was executed between the sellers i.e., respondents no. 9 and 10 and the purchasers, namely, Tulsi Ram, Mohd. Farooq, Mohd. Mateen and Jameeluddin for a common piece of land measuring 8000 square feet. As per the understanding between the purchasers, they had agreed to get the sale-deed executed of the separate portions of the plot in favour of individual purchasers. As per the terms of the said agreement for sale, the respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers) had to obtain the permission from the competent authority under the Act and intimate the purchasers to get the sale-deed executed which was to be done within one month from the date of grant of permission by the competent authority. It is evident from the records that the suit for specific performance was filed by predecessor-in-interest of respondents no. 1 to 8 i.e., late Tulsi Ram on 20.3.1990. Article 54 of Schedule to the Limitation Act provides the period of limitation as three years and the date from which the period of limitation would begin to run would be the date fixed for the performance or, if no such date is fixed, when the plaintiff has noticed that performance is refused. Article 54 of Schedule to the Limitation Act, for convenience, is reproduced below:

THE SCHEDULE
PERIOD OF LIMITATION ACT

	Description of Suit	Period of Limitation	Time from which period begins to run
54	For specific performance of a contract.	Three Years	The date fixed for the performance, or, if no such date is fixed, when the plaintiff has notice that performance is refused.

35. Learned Trial Court while deciding the suit filed by the respondents-plaintiffs had framed certain issues translation of which on reproduction read as under:

"(1) Whether any agreement between the plaintiff as well as defendants no. 3 to 5 and defendants no. 1 and 2 was entered into for sale of the disputed property, as pleaded in para 5 of the suit?

(2) Whether the possession was delivered by the defendants no. 1 and 2 to the plaintiff of the agreed property in compliance of the agreement to sale?

(3) Whether the plaintiff has followed the agreement to sale and defendants no. 1 and 2 have cancelled the same?

(4) Whether the suit is time barred?

(5) Whether the suit is not maintainable as per the reasons pleaded in para 33 of the written statement?

(6) Whether the plaintiff is entitle to get any relief?"

36. The issue no. 4 relates to whether suit is barred by limitation. The Trial Court while deciding the said issue has held that since as per the terms of the agreement for sale the sellers after obtaining the permission from the competent authority was required to intimate the purchasers and the purchasers were required to get the sale-deed executed within one month from the date of intimation, as such, the period of limitation would be governed by the first part of Article 54 of Schedule to Limitation Act. The learned Trial Court has come to conclusion that the suit for specific performance filed by the respondent-plaintiff was filed beyond period of limitation, hence barred by limitation. The first appellate Court dealing with the said issue has opined that the intimation about the permission from the urban ceiling Authority was to be given by the purchasers and since the land in question was under attachment in a case i.e., Regular Suit No. 81 of 1981, pending before the District Judge, Gonda, as such, there was legal impediment in the execution of the sale-deed, as such, the sellers (respondents no. 9 and 10) had kept on taking time and ultimately after not getting the sale-deed executed the suit was filed by the respondent-plaintiff. The sellers had received Rs. 20,000/- from Tulsi Ram on 26.3.1990, although they had already entered into an agreement to sale dated 09.03.1990 with appellants (defendants no. 6 to 11). The suit for specific performance, as such, was filed within time from the date of refusal.

37. As per the agreement to sale although no specific date was mentioned for execution of sale-deed, however, by reference to the happening of an event, namely, the permission from the competent authority and thereafter intimation by the purchasers to the sellers for execution of the sale-deed within one month clearly would mean that the date of limitation is to be determined as per first part of Article 54 of Schedule to the Limitation Act. The permission from the competent authority is dated 22.1.1983 which was received by Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate on 24.1.1983.

38. The counsel for respondents, Mr. Apoorva Tewari, has argued that in absence of any date fixed in the agreement for sale, which was also not ascertainable from the terms of the agreement for sale for execution of the sale-deed, the second part of Article 54 of Schedule to Limitation Act would apply and the period of limitation shall commence from the date when the plaintiff had the knowledge that performance is refused. In this regard he has relied on the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Ahamdsahab Abdul Mulla (2) (Dead) (supra) where it has been held that the expression date fixed for performance in Article 54 of the Limitation Act, 1963 is a crystallized notion which is not subject to any change or fluctuation and in the absence of any such stipulation only the second part of Article 54 shall apply and the period of limitation shall commence from the date when the plaintiff has noticed the refusal of performance of the contract.

39. In the present case, as has been noted above, by a reference to the happening of a certain event, namely, the date of permission and the date of knowledge about such permission by the plaintiff-purchasers would clinch the issue about the period of limitation and the same would be counted from the date of knowledge. The permission from the competent authority was granted on 22.1.1983 which was received by counsel for the plaintiff Mr. M. Hamza on 24.1.1983, as such, the period of limitation for filing of suit for specific performance would commence from the date of knowledge i.e., 24.1.1983. In this regard, I am supported in my view by the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Ramzan Vs. Smt. Hussaini⁹ wherein it has been held that in the agreement the date for defendant-seller to execute the sale-deed was fixed, although by not mentioning a certain date but by a reference to the happening of a certain event, namely, the redemption of the mortgage; and, immediately after the redemption by the plaintiff purchaser, the defendant became liable to execute the sale-deed which the plaintiff was entitled to enforce. The period of limitation thus started running on that date. The case was, therefore, covered by the first part of Article 54 and not by the second part of Article 54. The suit was, admittedly, filed in the year 1990, hence barred by limitation. Relevant paragraph 6 of the judgment on reproduction reads as under:

" 6. The relevant provisions in the alleged agreement of sale as quoted in the judgment of the trial court reads as follows:-

"This house is under mortgage with Jethmal Bastimal for Rs. 1000/-. When you will get this house, the description of which is given below, redeemed from M/s Jeth Mat Bastimal and take the papers of the registry in your possession, on that day I will have the sale deed of the said house, written, executed and registered in your favour."

*The question is whether a date was 'fixed' for the performance of the agreement and in our view the answer is in the affirmative. It is true that a particular date from the calendar was not mentioned in the document and the date was not ascertainable originally, but as soon as the plaintiff redeemed the mortgage, it became an ascertained date. If the plaintiff had, immediately after the redemption, filed the suit, could it be thrown out on the ground that she was not entitled to the specific performance asked for? We do not think so. She would have been within her rights to assert that she had performed her part of the contract and was entitled to insist that her brother should complete his part. The agreement is a typical illustration of a contingent contract within the meaning of S. 31 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and became enforceable as soon as the event of redemption (by the plaintiff herself) happened. We agree with the view of the Madras High Court in R. Muniswami Goundar and Another v. B.M. Shamanna Gouda and Others, AIR 1950 Madras 820 expressed in slightly different circumstances. The doctrine of id certum est quod certum reddi potest is clearly applicable to the case before us which in the language of Herbert Broom (in his book dealing with legal maxims) is that certainty need not be ascertained at the time; for if, in the fluxion of time, a day will arrive which will make it certain, that is sufficient. A similar question had arisen in Duncombe v. The Brighton Club and Norfolk Hotel Company, [1875] 10 QB 371, relied upon in the Madras case. Under an agreement, the plaintiff had supplied some furniture to the defendant for which payment was made but after some delay. He claimed interest. The rule at Common Law did not allow interest in such a case, and the plaintiff in support of his claim relied upon a statutory provision which could come to his aid only if the price was payable at a certain time. Blackburn, J. observed that he did not have the slightest hesitation in saying that the agreement contemplated a particular day, which, when the goods were delivered would be ascertained, and then the money would be payable at a certain time; but rejected the plaintiff's* demand on the ground that the price did not become payable by the written instrument at a certain time. The other learned Judges did not agree with him, and held that the statute did not require that the document should specify the time of payment by mentioning the day of payment. If it specified the event upon which the payment was to be made, and if the time of event was capable of being ascertained, the requirements of the section were satisfied. The same is the position in the case before us. The requirement of Article 113 is not that the actual day should necessarily be ascertained upon the face of the deed, but that the basis of the calculation which was to make it certain should be found therein. We, accordingly, hold that under the agreement the date for the defendant to execute the sale deed was fixed, although not by mentioning a certain date but by a reference to the happening of a certain event, namely, the redemption of the mortgage; and, immediately after the redemption by the plaintiff, the defendant became liable to execute the sale deed which the plaintiff was entitled to enforce. The period of limitation thus started running on that date. The case is, therefore, covered by the first part of Article 54 (third column) and not the second part."

40. It is to be noted that in the application for permission the purchasers had also made their signature along with sellers and Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate was engaged by the plaintiffs for that purpose. The power of attorney of Mr. M. Hamza indicates the signature of purchasers including plaintiff, Tulsi Ram. The said permission from the competent authority was received by Mr. M. Hamza, counsel for the plaintiff. The fact that the permission from the competent authority having been received by Mr. M. Hamza is on record, hence it is the admitted fact that Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate had received the permission on behalf of the purchasers as well as sellers and the said fact has not been denied by the plaintiff. The knowledge of the permission from the competent authority to Mr. M. Hamza, the counsel for the plaintiff would clearly mean that the plaintiff had the knowledge about the grant of permission by the competent authority.

41. The learned Trial Court in its finding has noted that Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate was engaged by the plaintiff. He had accepted the permission from the competent authority issued under Section 26 of the Act dated 22.1.1983 and the same advocate in another case i.e., Regular Suit No. 20 of 1988, Mohd. Mateen vs. Mohd. Ayyub had brought the said documents C-19 and C-20 showing that the same were sent by registered post, which indicates that M. Hamza, Advocate was the lawyer for the plaintiff since 1983 and had sent the same to the plaintiff in the year 1983.

42. The fact that the defendants did not lead any evidence to prove the signature of Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate or the receiving by him would not make any difference as it is the admitted case of parties that Mr. M. Hamza, Advocate was engaged by the respondents for getting permission from the ceiling authorities and the documents relied in this regard by the defendants such as application for permission bearing signature of plaintiff and the power of attorney of M. Hamza, Advocate which also borne the signature of plaintiff, Tulsi Ram, and other purchasers are not denied, as such, the period of limitation for the purpose of filing of a suit for specific performance in the instant case would commence from the date of knowledge of the permission which was duly received by Mr. M. Hamza on 24.1.1983, therefore, the suit filed by the plaintiff on 20.3.1990 on the basis of agreement for sale dated 07.01.1983 was beyond the period of limitation as prescribed under Article 54 of the Schedule to the Limitation Act. The Apex Court in the case of Damodaran Pillai and others vs. South Indian Bank Ltd.¹⁰ has observed that knowledge of any proceedings to the Advocate implies presumption of such knowledge on the part of the party.

43. So far as the question of service of notice sent by the sellers to the purchasers (plaintiff) is concerned, it is to be noted that the examination-in-chief Mohd. Farooq (DW-2) in his statement has stated that he as well as other purchasers including plaintiff had received the said notice on 05.03.1983. As per said notice, the sellers had informed that the sale-deed may be executed. Mohd. Farooq had also informed that as per said notice dated 05.03.1983, the suit was to be filed before 05.06.1986.

44. Mohd Farooq was party to the agreement to sale being one of the purchasers. He had also filed a suit for specific performance but had subsequently withdrawn the same after entering into a compromise with the present appellants. However, the fact remains that Mohd. Farooq, who was party to the said agreement for sale and one of the prospective purchasers had admitted that he had received the notice dated 05.03.1983 sent by the sellers along with other purchasers. The statement of Mohd. Farooq can not be set-aside simply because he had subsequently entered into a compromise with the present appellants, particularly in absence of any other evidence contradicting the statement of Mohd. Farooq. It is to be noted that Mohd. Mateen and Jameeluddin, two other persons, who were also party to the agreement to sale along with plaintiff Tulsi Ram, were not produced by Tulsi Ram to contradict the statement of Mohd. Farooq. It is said that the said notice dated 05.03.1983 was sent by respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers) to the prospective purchasers under certificate of posting. The learned Trial Court on the basis of statement of Mohd. Farooq has accepted the service of said notice on the plaintiff.

45. Learned counsel for respondents has argued that presumption of service of notice sent by 'Under Certificate of Posting' cannot be made and the employee of the post and telegraph department was required to be examined to prove the factum of posting of the notice which was not done. In support his submissions, he has relied on the judgment of the this Court in the case of West Watch Company (supra) wherein it has been held that in order to raise presumption of service of notice 'Under Certificate of Posting', the employee of the post and telegraph department has to be examined to prove the factum of posting. It is held that in absence of proof of posting of notice no presumption of service can be drawn.

46. There is no dispute to the aforesaid legal proposition. In the present case, the Trial Court relying on the statement of Mohd. Farooq has presumed the service of notice on the plaintiff. As observed above, the statement of Mohd. Farooq cannot be set-aside and has to be given weightage. The learned Trial Court was right in coming to conclusion that the plaintiff had received the notice dated 05.03.1983 and as per the said notice the sale-deed was required to be executed by 05.06.1983. The suit instituted in the year 1990 was, therefore, time barred.

47. It has been submitted by the counsel for respondents that the first appellate Court has come to conclusion that the land in question was under attachment in a case pending before the District Judge, Gonda and, therefore, there was legal impediment in execution of the sale-deed and the sellers, as such, had extended time for performance of the contract which had resulted into extension of period of limitation.

48. Learned counsel for the appellants, on the other hand, has contended that the plaintiff has very cleverly and intentionally mentioned in the plaint that by oral agreement the time for performance of contract was extended as the sellers had shown their inability to execute the sale-deed because the land in question was under attachment in a case pending before the District Judge, Gonda. There was no such oral agreement and there was no legal impediment.

49. Section 15 of Limitation Act, 1963 relates to the exclusion of time in certain cases. Section 15 of the Act, for ready reference, is quoted below:

"15. Exclusion of time in certain other cases.--(1) In computing the period of limitation of any suit or application for the execution of a decree, the institution or execution of which has been stayed by injunction or order, the time of the continuance of the injunction or order, the day on which it was issued or made, and the day on which it was withdrawn, shall be excluded.

(2) In computing the period of limitation for any suit of which notice has been given, or for which the previous consent or sanction of the Government or any other authority is required, in accordance with the requirements of any law for the time being in force, the period of such notice or, as the case may be, the time required for obtaining such consent or sanction shall be excluded.

Explanation.--In excluding the time required for obtaining the consent or sanction of the Government or any other authority, the date on which the application was made for obtaining the consent or sanction and the date of receipt of the order of the Government or other authority shall both be counted.

(3) In computing the period of limitation for any suit or application for execution of a decree by any receiver or interim receiver appointed in proceedings for the adjudication of a person as an insolvent or by any liquidator or provisional liquidator appointed in proceedings for the winding up of a company, the period beginning with the date of institution of such proceeding and ending with the expiry of three months from the date of appointment of such receiver or liquidator, as the case may be, shall be excluded.

(4) In computing the period of limitation for a suit for possession by a purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree, the time during which a proceeding to set aside the sale has been prosecuted shall be excluded.

(5) In computing the period of limitation for any suit the time during which the defendant has been absent from India and from the territories outside India under the administration of the Central Government, shall be excluded."

50. The period of limitation can be extended giving benefit of Section 15 of the Limitation Act only in such cases where stay or injunction order has been passed relating to the subject matter and only in such cases the institution or execution of which has been stayed by injunction order, the time of the continuance of the injunction or order, the day on which it was issued or made, and the day on which it was withdrawn, shall be excluded.

51. In the present case, no stay or injunction with respect to the land in question was granted by the concerning Court where the land in question was said to be attached. The first appellate Court as such has fallen in error in coming to conclusion that there was legal impediment in the execution of sale-deed. The Apex Court in the case of Director of Inspection of Income Tax (Investigation), New Delhi and another (supra), has held that it is well established principles of judicial procedure that wherein proceedings are stayed by an order of a court, or by an injunction issued by any court only that period should be excluded in computing period of limitation laid down by law. Relevant paragraph 8 of the judgment on reproduction reads as under:

"8. It was also argued based on Explanation 1 to Section 132 and similar provision in certain other sections which lay down that computing the period of limitation any period during which any proceeding is stayed by an order or injunction of any court shall be excluded, that where it is intended that the period of limitation prescribed by any of the provisions of the Income-tax Act should not be strictly enforced the law itself makes a specific provision. It is a well established principle of judicial procedure that where any proceedings are stayed by an order of a Court that period should be excluded in computing any period of limitation laid down by law. Especially after Limitation Act, 1963, the provisions of which are now applicable to all proceedings, a provision like Explanation 1 to Section 132 is superfluous and no argument can be based on it."

52. So far as the contention of respondents no. 1 to 8 about acceptance of part consideration by respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers) on 26.3.1990 and thereby there was extension of period of performance of contract is concerned, it is to be noted that as per the given facts, the suit for specific performance was filed by the plaintiff (predecessor-in-interest of respondents no. 1 to 8) on 20.3.1990 and at that time the sellers had already entered into another agreement for sale with the present appellants (defendants no. 6 to 11) on 09.03.1990 and it was fully in the knowledge of plaintiff but in spite of that plaintiff had allegedly given Rs. 20,000/- to respondents no. 9 and 10 on 26.3.1990, meaning thereby that the plaintiff on the one hand had filed a suit for specific performance and on the other hand allegedly given Rs. 20,000/- to the respondents no. 9 and 10 which is hard to believe, particularly when the respondents no. 9 and 10 had already entered into another agreement for sale with the present appellants (defendants no. 6 to 11) on 09.03.1990 and had agreed to sell the land in question and had also handed over possession to them. The document produced in this regard by the plaintiff were not denied by the sellers (respondents no. 9 and 10) as they had not contested the suit because they had lost their interest in the property in question. Subsequent purchasers i.e., present appellants, have denied the said document due to lack of knowledge. In the given circumstances, it is hard to believe that the plaintiff on the one hand had filed a suit for specific performance alleging therein that the sellers have refused to perform their part of contract and have not executed the sale-deed of the land in question and on the other hand had paid handsome amount of Rs. 20,000/- which had substantial value at that time i.e., on 26.3.1990. Learned counsel for respondents in this regard has relied on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Badat & Co. (supra) as well as Muddasani Venkata Narsaiah (D) Th. Lrs. (supra) to assert that in the absence of specific denial the pleadings shall be treated to be admitted and, thus, in the absence of the denial of plaintiff's assertions by the defendants no. 1 and 2 (present respondents no. 9 and 10), they shall be deemed to have been admitted by them. It is submitted that the first appellate Court was right in accepting the version of the plaintiff in this regard. However, in the given facts, as have been noted above, the contention of plaintiff that he has given Rs. 20,000/- to respondents no. 9 and 10 on 26.3.1990 cannot be accepted on its face value and creates doubt about the genuineness of the document i.e., GA102/1. The judgments relied by the respondents, as noted above, are of no assistance to them.

53. So far as the question as to whether the plaintiff-respondent had established its readiness and willingness of performing his part of contract is concerned, which is the essential part in a suit for specific performance. Section 16 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 provides bars when the suit for specific performance of contract cannot be enforced. Section 16 (c) provides that the suit for specific performance of contract cannot be enforced in favour of a person who fails to aver and prove that he has performed or has always been ready and willing to perform the essential terms of the contract which are to be performed by him, other than terms the performance of which has been prevented or waived by the defendant. Section 16 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963, for ready reference, is quoted below:

"16. Personal bars to relief.-- Specific performance of a contract cannot be enforced in favour of a person--

(a) who would not be entitled to recover compensation for its breach; or

(b) who has become incapable of performing, or violates any essential term of, the contract that on his part remains to be performed, or acts in fraud of the contract, or wilfully acts at variance with, or in subversion of, the relation intended to be established by the contract; or

(c) who fails to aver and prove that he has performed or has always been ready and willing to perform the essential terms of the contract which are to be performed by him, other than terms the performance of which has been prevented or waived by the defendant.

Explanation.--For the purposes of clause (c),--

(i) where a contract involves the payment of money, it is not essential for the plaintiff to actually tender to the defendant or to deposit in court any money except when so directed by the court;

(ii) the plaintiff must aver performance of, or readiness and willingness to perform, the contract according to its true construction."

54. The learned Trial Court in its finding has specifically recorded that the plaintiff had not produced any evidence and he has also not made any statement in this regard that the purchasers were ready with the total remaining amount of Rs. 1,90,000/- or part amount of Rs. 47,000/- i.e., share of the plaintiff, which goes to show the non-compliance of the terms of the agreement for sale on the part of the purchasers. Witness Radhey Shyam, who was produced by the plaintiff, in his statement has stated that he was not aware as to whether his father (Tulsi Ram), Mohd. Mateen, Jameeluddin and Mohd. Farooq had given any money to the sellers to get the land in question released from attachment. The first appellate Court while reversing the finding of the Trial Court has concluded, without there being any evidence, that plaintiff was ready and willing to perform his part of the agreement for sale. There was no evidence on record to show that the respondent-plaintiff was ready and willing to perform his part of contract. The learned counsel for appellants has placed reliance on the judgment of the Delhi High Court in the case of Smt. Raj Rani Bhasin & others (supra) wherein a distinction has been drawn between the readiness to perform the contract and willingness to perform the contract. Readiness may be meant the capacity of the plaintiff to perform the contract which includes his financial ability to pay the purchase price but for determining his willingness to perform his part of contract, his conduct has to be scrutinized. Relevant paragraph 10 of the judgment on reproduction reads as under:

"10. A distinction may be drawn between readiness to perform the contract and willingness to perform the contract. By readiness may be meant the capacity of the plaintiff to perform the contract. This includes his financial ability to pay the purchase price. We will assume for the sake of argument that the plaintiff respondent could have raised the money to pay the purchase price if he wanted to do so. But the more important question is whether he was willing to perform his part of the contract even if 'he had the financial capacity to do so. It is here that the plaintiff's conduct has to be properly scrutinised. In our view, the trial Court has not done so. It has merely concentrated its attention on the financial ability of the plaintiff to raise the money to pay the purchase price but has not noticed the unwillingness of the plaintiff to perform his part of the contract and to present a sale deed on stamp paper for the execution of the defendants and to pay the purchase price from 16-8-1962 to 16-9-1962. The trial Court was under the misapprehension that the defendants complied with the terms of the agreement only on 8-9-1962 when the documents were handed over to the plaintiff respondent as per Exhibit D-38. It failed to notice that the agreement did not require the defendants to hand over any documents as such to the plaintiff. The permission of the Rehabilitation Ministry was with the defendants from 1956 onwards. The certificate of the Wealth Tax Officer was also obtained in good time and the plaintiff did not raise any dispute about it at any time during August September 1962. The plaintiff however, persisted in asking for a copy of the certificate from the District Judge. This was the only document the demand for which could be rested by the plaintiff on the agreement. The trial Court has found that the defendants were not bound to give the certificate from the District Judge to the plaintiff inasmuch as the application for the certificate was dismissed by the District Judge on 21-8-1962 as Chandra Prakash had attained majority on 16-8-1962. The trial Court, however thought that either a registered notice in terms of the agreement or a Personal delivery of the copies of the certificates would amount to compliance with the agreement. The trial Court failed to see that the registered letter of 13-8-1962 complied with the terms of the agreement. For it referred to the school certificate which the trial Court has rightly held to be a satisfactory evidence of the age of Chandra Parkash. The defendants had already informed the plaintiff that the other two documents namely, the permission of the Rehabilitation Ministry and the certificate of the Wealth Tax Officer had been already obtained by the defendants. The defendants had informed the plaintiff that Chandra Parkash was to attain majority on 16-8-1962. The plaintiff was not justified in either insisting that the date of the performance of the agreement could not be changed from 8-8-1962 to 16-8-1962 or that the certificate of the District Judge must be obtained even though Chandra Parkash was to become major on 16-8-1962. For, under Section 8 of the Hindu Majority and Guardianship Act, 1956 the question of grant of the certificate by the District Judge could not arise after Chandra Parkash had obtained majority. It is only because the intimation regarding the school certificate was given to the Plaintiff by the registered letter dated 13-8-1962 that we have to hold that a literal compliance with clause 9 of the agreement was fully made by the defendants on 13-8-1962. Otherwise the substance compliance was made even prior to that date inasmuch as the defendants had communicated to the plaintiff before that date that Chandra Parkash was to attain majority on 16-8-1962 and not 8-8-1962. As the attitude of the plaintiff even from before 13-8-1962 was dilatory, the defendants were justified in thinking that the plaintiff was delaying, to pay the purchase Price in time and to buy the Property. The question of delay on the part of the Plaintiff has to be considered in the background of two more pre-existing facts. Firstly the plaintiff was a tenant of the defendants occupying the ground-floor of the building in suit. It is because the plaintiff represented to the defendants that he wanted to buy the property that the defendants had refrained from filing a petition for his eviction on the ground that the defendants wanted possession of the building in suit for their own bona fide occupation. The plaintiff had agreed to buy the property in 1961 but because he did not pay the purchase money the said agreement had fallen through and the new agreement of 20th March 1962 was entered into. The facts regarding the procrastination by the plaintiff had been finally set out in the pleading made by the defendants and the evidence adduced by them. They have not been rebutted by the plaintiff. The defendants were found justified in thinking that the plaintiff was interested merely in prolonging his tenancy as much as possible on the pretext that he was buying the property and the defendants should not take steps to evict him. Later when the defendants took proceedings to evict him, the plaintiff's eviction proceedings staved on the ground that his suit for specific performance was pending. In this manner the plaintiff has managed to stay in the premises from 1961 onwards till now. Secondly, the Plaintiff's conduct shows that he only wanted to have a grip on the suit premises so that the defendants would not be able to transfer them to some other Person. Thereby the plaintiff could ensure the continuance of his stay in the premises. The business of the plaintiff was that of financing purchase of vehicles, etc. He was thus interested only in tying up the property in suit by a Purchase contract and indefinitely prolonging the performance of the same. In the above circumstances, we are of the view that the plaintiff was not willing to perform his part of the contract and this became apparent to the defendants by 13-8-1962."

55. In the case of Faquir Chand and Another vs. Sudesh Kumari¹¹ the Apex Court while considering the import of Section 16 (c) of Specific Performance Act has observed that the plaintiff must aver that he has performed or has always been ready and willing to perform his part of the contract. The compliance with the readiness and willingness has to be in spirit and substance and not in letter and form. Relevant paragraph 4 of the judgment on reproduction reads as under:

"4. The language under Section 16(c) of the Act, in our view, does not require any specific phraseology but only that the plaintiff must aver that he has performed or has always been ready and willing to perform his part of the contract. Therefore, the compliance with the readiness and willingness has to be in spirit and substance and not in letter and form. The continuous readiness willingness could very well be seen in the instant case from the conduct of the plaintiff as a whole. The first agreement was entered into between the parties on 17.6.1985 and the last date to execute the sale deed was 14.11.1985. The second agreement was executed on 9.4.1987 and the last date to execute the sale deed was 13.6.1987. Again, the time was extended at the instance of the defendant up 30.10.1987 Since the sale deed was not executed, the respondent herein was compelled to file the suit on 26.11.1987. Thereafter, the appellant herein issued a notice to the plaintiff, respondent herein, on 7.1.1988 and at Exhibit 'P-5'. It is also not in dispute that the respondent herein has deposited the entire sale consideration into the Court on 18.5.1999. He was also present in the Registrar's office for registration of the document. However, the appellant-defendant was not present at the Registrar's Office A careful perusal of the pleadings, the evidence and the documents filed in this case would only go to show that the respondent-plaintiff was ever ready and willing to perform his part of the obligation under the agreement. The decree passed by the High Court confirming the decree of the lower courts does not suffer from any infirmities. We, therefore, have no hesitation to dismiss the appeal.

56. In the case of Pushparni S. Sundaram and others vs. Pauline Manomani James (Deceased) and others¹² the Apex Court while considering the 'readiness and willingness' to perform their part under the contract came to conclusion that the High Court has rightly concluded that willingness and readiness is no doubt pleaded but they led no evidence to prove it. Thus, the plaintiff is not entitle to the decree of specific performance. Relevant paragraph 4 of the judgment on reproduction reads as under:

"4. The only question raised before the High Court, which it considered, to which we are called upon for consideration is, whether the appellants were always ready and willing to perform their part under the contract. The High Court came to the conclusion that willingness and readiness is no doubt pleaded but they led no evidence to prove it. Thus held, that the plaintiff is not entitled to the decree of specific performance. The submission by the learned counsel for the appellants is that the plaintiff was always willing and ready to perform his part under the contract but mere non-leading of any evidence is not sufficient to reject it. Inference of readiness and willingness could be drawn by the conduct of the plaintiff, the circumstances in a particular case in other words to be gathered from the totality of circumstances.

57. In the instant case, from the evidence on record, it is evident that the respondent-plaintiff did not prove his willingness to perform his part of contract. He had not produced any evidence even to show his readiness, as such, the finding of the first appellate Court in this regard was perverse and not sustainable in the eyes of law.

58. So far as the question as to whether the learned appellate Court was justified in granting specific performance of contract ignoring the provisions of Sections 12 and 15 of the Act is concerned, I am in agreement with the finding recorded by the Trial Court that as per terms of the agreement to sale Sections 12 and 15 of the Act would not be applicable.

59. So far as the question of possession of plaintiff over the land in question is concerned, the learned Trial Court has categorically recorded that the plaintiff has failed to establish his possession over the land in question, it is to be noted that the sellers (respondents no. 9 and 10) have not contested the suit filed by the plaintiff, Tulsi Ram (predecessor-in-interest of respondents no. 1 to 8). They had not contested the first appeal filed by the plaintiff and have also not appeared before this court. Subsequent purchaser, one of the appellants, in his statement before the Trial Court has admitted that a wooden kiosk was put by late Tulsi Ram in a part of the land in question. Since, from the facts and circumstances of the case, it is clear that when the plaintiff had failed to get the sale-deed executed, the respondents no. 9 and 10 (sellers) had cancelled his agreement for sale and entered into another agreement for sale with the appellants and had executed a sale-deed in favour of the present appellants for the land in question and handed over the possession of the land in question, as such, the wooden kiosk put by the plaintiff was unauthorized and he has no right to claim his possession on the basis of such wooden kiosk.

60. In view of the aforesaid discussions, I am of the considered view that the impugned judgment and decree passed by the first appellate Court is not sustainable in the eyes of law. As such, the second appeal is allowed. The judgment and decree dated 31.5.2008 passed in Regular Civil Appeal No. 154 of 2005 is hereby set aside. The judgment and decree dated 06.10.2005 passed by the Trial Court in Regular Suit No. 86 of 1990 is upheld.

Special Appeal No.- 311 Of 2016

...Appellant

Versus

State Of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Counsel for Appellant:

Dr. L.P. Misra, Prafulla Tiwari

Counsel for Respondents:

C.S.C., Ashutosh Shahi, Raj Kr Singh Suryvanshi

This present intra-Court appeal arises out of the judgment delivered by a learned Single Judge whereby the appellant's writ petition has been dismissed and it has been held that the process of appointment of the respondent No.11/Dr. Krishna Kant Yadav for being appointed as a Principal in the Lucknow Montessori Inter College, Purana Qila, Lucknow by way of transfer under Regulations 55 to 61 of Chapter III of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 can be undertaken provided he fulfills the conditions of the aforesaid Regulations. The post has not yet been advertised by the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board for being filled up by direct recruitment.

The learned Single Judge dismissed the writ petition holding that the Committee of Management of a recognized institution is possessed of the discretion to decide and choose the mode/process of direct recruitment as enumerated under Section 16 of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 for appointing a Principal and since the said discretion is available before the advertisement is published by the Board, then the same can be gone into and the competent authority cannot be prevented from assessing the candidature of a person to be appointed by way of transfer.

Court observed that the process for determining the vacancy and notifying it commences with the exercise under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules and is not dependent upon the date of advertisement by the Commission under Rule 12 thereof. Consequently, court is unable to sustain the reasons given by the learned Single Judge on that count and we accordingly set aside the same. However, at the same time, the direction given by the learned Single Judge to the authority to consider the issue of transfer of respondent No.11 in accordance with the Regulations 55 to 61 of Chapter III does not call for any interference. Court also observed that while determining this issue, the competent authority will also have to consider as to whether the Committee of Management had passed a valid resolution unilaterally and as to whether it was in consonance with the aforesaid Regulations or not, as the learned Counsel for the appellant has raised this issue specifically. The authority will therefore have to determine the said process as well. Apart from this, the authority will also examine the status of the conscious decision taken for adopting the mode of recruitment or it's failure by the Committee of Management and the facts relating thereto.

Learned counsel for the respondent No.11 Sri Ramesh Pandey has categorically objected to this contending that the Committee of Management had taken a conscious decision on 6.5.2016 to adopt the mode of transfer and the District Inspector of Schools merely on an alleged complaint of the appellant had proceeded to send these communications thereafter on 7.5.2016 and 25.5.2016 which is a mala fide exercise and does not amount to a bona fide exercise of power under Rule 11 (4) of the 1998 Rules. This issue also, in court opinion, would be subject to the facts brought on record to be determined by the authority who will process the claim of transfer and advert to this issue as well. The status of the communication of the District Inspector of Schools whether it would amount to an intimation of a vacancy as per Rule 11 (4) will also have to be looked into.

The appeal is therefore allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Shamsheer Bahadur Singh, J.)

1. This intra-Court appeal arises out of the judgment delivered by a learned Single Judge whereby the appellant's writ petition has been dismissed and it has been held that the process of appointment of the respondent No.11/Dr. Krishna Kant Yadav for being appointed as a Principal in the Lucknow Montessori Inter College, Purana Qila, Lucknow by way of transfer under Regulations 55 to 61 of Chapter III of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 can be undertaken provided he fulfills the conditions of the aforesaid Regulations. The post has not yet been advertised by the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board for being filled up by direct recruitment.

2. The appellant had challenged the letter dated 11.7.2016 issued by the Joint Director of Education, VI Region, Lucknow, whereby he had called upon the District Inspector of Schools to take further action in processing the appointment of the respondent No.11 by way of transfer on the basis of the documents received, and also prayed for quashing of the resolution dated 18.6.2016 of the respondent No.10 Committee of Management as well as the No Objection of the Committee dated 21.6.2016.

3. The appellant relying on the Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar vs. State of U.P. and others [2013 (1) ESC 221] had urged before the learned Single Judge that once the District Inspector of Schools had taken the steps for requisitioning the post to be filled up by direct recruitment, then this amounted to a determination of vacancy to be filled up by direct recruitment which could not be reversed by the Committee of Management by resorting to fill-up the post by way of transfer under the aforesaid Regulations. It is for this reason learned counsel for the appellant has urged that the Joint Director of Education had committed an error by calling upon for the documents vide letter dated 11.7.2016 for processing the appointment by way of transfer of the respondent No.11.

4. The learned Single Judge dismissed the writ petition holding that the Committee of Management of a recognized institution is possessed of the discretion to decide and choose the mode/process of direct recruitment as enumerated under Section 16 of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 for appointing a Principal and since the said discretion is available before the advertisement is published by the Board, then the same can be gone into and the competent authority cannot be prevented from assessing the candidature of a person to be appointed by way of transfer.

5. Dr. L. P. Misra, learned Counsel for the appellant submits that the aforesaid conclusion of the learned Single Judge is based on an incorrect inference drawn of the ratio of the Full Bench decision in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) and the Committee of Management could not have undertaken the process of appointment by way of transfer once the District Inspector of Schools had taken the step of filling up of the post by selection and direct recruitment through the Board vide letters dated 7.5.2016 and 25.5.2016. He has further submitted that the learned Single Judge having not correctly appreciated the ratio of the Full Bench has arrived at an incorrect conclusion, inasmuch the Committee of Management has no right to proceed to take a decision in the given circumstances for appointment by way of transfer. Firstly, it is in violation of the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board Rules, 1998, particularly Rules 10, 11 and 12 as the Committee of Management had overstepped its authority and secondly, the respondent No.11 cannot claim any such right of appointment.

6. It may be placed on record that admittedly, the post has not yet been advertised and secondly, the process of the claim of the respondent No.11 has not attained any finality as no final decision by the competent authority has been taken to give effect to the proposed transfer of the respondent No.11. It was only at the stage of the letter of the Joint Director of Education dated 11.7.2016 that the appellant approached this Court for restraining the said process.

7. Dr. L. P. Misra has also urged that apart from the fact that the Committee of Management could not have made any proposal for filling up of the post by way of transfer, it could not have defeated the right of the appellant as contained under the 1998 Rules which mandate that while sending a proposal for direct recruitment, the name of the senior-most Teacher has to be sent alongwith requisition for consideration and the appellant being the senior-most Teacher in the institution would be losing his right and privilege as a candidate for being selected as a Principal on permanent basis. This right being reserved under Rule 11 (2) (b) of the 1998 Rules, if the Committee of Management is allowed to fill-up the post by way of transfer, the appellant would be losing this opportunity and therefore, his cause is being prejudiced, hence he has a right to challenge the action impugned.

8. Dr. L. P. Misra has further submitted that the appellant is officiating and has a right to be appointed on ad hoc basis as a Principal and get his salary. The appellant has a right to function as an ad hoc Principal in terms of Section - 18 of the Act. He is entitled to release of his salary on the post of Principal, hence the writ petition filed by him was very much maintainable. He therefore submits that the contention of the respondent No.11 that the appellant has no right to interfere with the process of direct recruitment or by way of transfer is misplaced. To the contrary, Dr. L. P.

Misra submits that none of the rights of the respondent No.11 have crystallized for him to stake his claim as against the rights of the appellant which have already accrued in his favour.

9. Replying to the aforesaid submissions raised, Sri Ramesh Pandey, learned Counsel for the respondent No.11 has urged that the writ petition was absolutely pre-mature and not maintainable on behalf of the appellant, inasmuch as the process of appointment by way of transfer had not yet attained finality with any final order having been passed in that regard by the competent authority. Secondly, the appellant has no right to claim his continuance or challenge the process of appointment by way of transfer or direct recruitment, inasmuch as the right to choose the mode of appointment is preserved in the Committee of Management and which has rightly been exercised on 6.5.2016. The said resolution determines the mode selected by the Committee for filling up of the post by way of transfer and no requisition has been sent by the Committee for filling up the post by direct recruitment. This resolution of the Committee cannot be overridden by the District Inspector of Schools, who on 7.5.2016 had erroneously issued a letter to the Management to notify and requisition the post to the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board for direct recruitment. The contention is that the District Inspector of Schools could not have exercised its authority so as to dilute the decision and resolution of the Committee of Management to fill-up the post by way of transfer.

10. He submits that the learned Single Judge has not committed any error in drawing the inference that the Full Bench authority in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) clearly intended to preserve the said determination of mode of filling up of the post in the Committee of Management which can be exercised up to the stage of the advertisement, if issued for appointment by way of direct recruitment by the Board. He contends that mere sending of a requisition or determination of a vacancy does not prohibit the committee from taking steps to exercise its option for filling up the post by way of transfer, even if any requisition has been sent to the District Inspector of Schools or by him to the Board. His contention is that the determination of the vacancy and the requisitioning of the post to the Selection Board is not the stage of prohibition of exercise of option for filling up the post by way of transfer. According to the Full Bench as inferred by the learned Single Judge, this process of appointment by way of transfer can be adopted at any stage prior to the issuance of the advertisement of the post by the Selection Board. He submits that the Full Bench clearly intended to hold that the selection process should not be jeopardized after the advertisement, but before the advertisement takes place the Committee can take steps for filling up the said post by way of transfer. He therefore submits that the learned Single Judge has neither misunderstood the Full Bench judgment nor a wrong inference has been drawn.

11. He further submits that in the absence of any right crystallized in favour of the respondent No.11 and the stage of the processing of filling up of the post by way of transfer having not attained finality, the writ petition filed by the appellant was not only pre-mature but was also an unnecessary exercise for impeding the correct process that had been adopted by the Committee of Management. He further submits that the District Inspector of Schools had not in effect determined the vacancy nor he had undertaken any such exercise and he had suddenly acted on the complaint of the appellant. This process does not amount to determination of vacancy by the District

Inspector of Schools and therefore neither the letter dated 7.5.2016 nor the letter dated 25.5.2016 in any way amounts to a determination of the mode or requisitioning the post to be filled up by way of direct recruitment by the Selection Board. He submits that the District Inspector of Schools has acted hurriedly at the instance of the appellant for no valid reason and therefore, the Joint Director of Education was perfectly justified in calling for documents vide letter dated 11.7.2016. He submits that the District Inspector of Schools had mala fide tried to forestall the resolution of the Committee of Management of the institution.

12. Replying to the said arguments, in rejoinder Dr. L. P. Misra contended that under Regulations 55 to 61 of the Chapter III, the process of appointment by way of transfer has several steps. He submits that if the transfer is from one district to another, which is involved presently, where the transfer is sought from an institution from Faizabad to an institution in district Lucknow, the appellant-institution is first required to pass a resolution and send it to the Regional Director of Education. This is to be done through the District Inspector of Schools. It is thereafter that the recipient college where the appointment is to be made is informed about it through the District Inspector of Schools of that district that the recipient-institution passes a resolution for accepting any such proposal. In the instant case, it is a unilateral transfer in the sense that the respondent No.11 has opted for being appointed by way of transfer in the institution at Lucknow and this is not a matter relating to reciprocal transfer between the two incumbents. Thus, according to Dr. L. P. Misra, the process has been completely reversed in the present case whereby the recipient college at Lucknow, where the appellant is functioning as ad hoc Principal, has on its own passed a resolution in favour of the respondent No.11 and sent it directly to the Joint Director of Education. This process therefore is contrary to the Regulations and hence, the entire action of processing the transfer of respondent No.11 is vitiated.

13. Learned Standing Counsel for the State Authorities/ respondent Nos. 1 to 9 contends that the decision on the claim of transfer by the respondent No.11 is yet to be taken and therefore, the exercise was pre-mature. Learned Standing Counsel however submits that the law of the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) will have to be taken into consideration even by the authority while determining the process of transfer to be adopted in the present case. The fact with regard to the sending of the letters dated 7.5.2016 and 25.5.2016 by the District Inspector of Schools for filling up of the post by direct recruitment and then the subsequent letter dated 11.7.2016 of the Joint Director (Education) calling for the records for consideration of the transfer of the respondent No.11 will have to be determined in view of the law laid down by the Full Bench.

Dates & events

- Amar Bahadur Singh was the permanent Principal about whom there was a dispute with regard to his date of retirement. His Writ Petition No.6246 (SS) of 2015 in this regard came to be dismissed on 3.11.2015, which was affirmed in Special Appeal No.560 of 2015.

- 30.11.2015 - Services of Amar Bahadur Singh were discontinued and officiating charge was given to the appellant vide order of the Committee of Management dated 1.12.2015.
- Signatures of the appellant were attested by the District Inspector of Schools on 7.12.2015.
- The Committee of Management did not send any requisition for the post of Principal and Lecturers to be filled by direct recruitment.
- 6.5.2016 - Alleged resolution of the respondent No.10/ Committee of Management to fill up the post by way of transfer which is seriously disputed by the appellant as being manipulated.
- 7.5.2016 and 25.5.2016 - The District Inspector of Schools dispatches the letters for notifying the vacancies of Principal and Lecturers vacant in the institution to be filled up by direct recruitment alleged to have been received by the Selection Board on 2.6.2016.
- 8.6.2016 - The District Inspector of Schools disagrees with the proposal of transfer in view of the determination of the vacancy and its notification on 25.5.2016.
- 18.6.2016 - Resolution of the Committee of Management to provide No Objection to the respondent No.11 for his transfer.
- 21.6.2016 - No Objection Certificate to the respondent No.11.
- 6.7.2016 - The Joint Director of Education, Faizabad Region, where the respondent No.11 is working, forwards the documents relating to the proposal of transfer of respondent No.11.
- 11.7.2016 - The Joint Director of Education, VI Region, Lucknow sends a letter to the District Inspector of Schools for further action.
- Writ Petition No.16642 (SS) of 2016 giving rise to the present appeal filed.

14. On a conspectus of the aforesaid facts and the arguments advanced, the issue which deserves determination is as to what is the stage up to which the appointment by way of transfer can be permitted. The learned Single Judge has held that since the process of selection begins with the advertisement and since the advertisement has not yet been made by the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board, therefore, the Full Bench according to the learned Single Judge permits the consideration of appointment by way of transfer up to the stage of advertisement. This is being countered by the learned counsel for the appellant contending that the learned Single

Judge even though has extracted certain paragraphs of the judgment of the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra), but has omitted to consider the impact of what has been stated by the Full Bench after noticing Rules 10, 11 and 12 of the 1998 Rules in paragraphs 25 to 41 of the judgment read as a whole.

15. On a consideration of the ratio of the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra), what we find is that the learned Single Judge in the impugned decision has extracted paragraphs 36, 37 and 38 of the said judgment and thereafter, it crosses over to paragraph - 43 of the judgment and has then reconciled it with the judgments in the cases of Asha Singh vs. State of U.P. And others [2007 (3) UPLBEC 2497] and Smt. Amita Sinha vs. State of U.P. And others [2008 (4) ESC 2799] to conclude that the appointment through transfer would be legally permissible up to the stage of advertisement only.

16. We are unable to uphold the said view of the learned Single Judge, inasmuch as it appears that the learned Single Judge has concluded that the process of direct recruitment starts with the issuance of advertisement and in such a situation, prior to that, the process of appointment by way of transfer would be permissible. The ratio of the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) in paragraphs 38, 39, 40 and 41 has clearly concluded that the power of the Management or the District Inspector of Schools or even the authority which is to give effect to any transfer cannot proceed to adopt any other mode of recruitment after the steps taken for determination and notification as per Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules. It has also been held that the alteration of any such determination is not permissible and cannot be reversed. This has been reiterated in paragraph - 39 of the decision. Not only this in paragraph - 40, the Full Bench also obliges the Committee and the District Inspector of Schools to fulfill their obligations as per Rule 11 for determination and intimation of vacancies. The ratio therefore of the Full Bench read with the aforesaid Rules is clearly to the effect that the authorities, who are obliged to fill up the vacancies occurring in the year of recruitment, have to mandatorily perform their function of determining and notifying the vacancy. The failure by the Management or the District Inspector of Schools to act as per Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules would therefore not generate a right in favour of any person to seek transfer or even in the Committee of Management to defeat the very purpose of Rule 11 of determining or intimating the vacancies to the Selection Board for direct recruitment. The Committee of Management no doubt has the right to select the mode of recruitment when it has to be filled up directly in the event it has an option from a candidate seeking transfer. However, this conscious decision of the Committee of Management to adopt a particular mode has to be taken within the time frame as provided under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules. If the Committee of Management is allowed to violate the time schedule, then it would be allowing the Committee of Management to have a free play to choose to determine its mode of recruitment at any time which is not the purpose of the Rules. For that matter, under Sub-Rule (4) of Rule 11, the District Inspector of Schools is also obliged to take a decision as per the specifications of the time schedule provided in Rule 11 itself for the Committee as well as for the District Inspector of Schools. This compliance has to be adhered to keeping in view the year of recruitment and also the eligibility of the candidate including his qualification as on the first day of the year of recruitment which would be the 1st of July of the year in question. However, any failure on their part would not extend the right of the Management to any stage beyond that for adopting the mode of appointment by way of transfer. It is this aspect which has been insisted upon by the Full Bench in the paragraphs referred to here-in-above and which has not been noticed by the learned Single Judge in the impugned judgment. Consequently, we are of the opinion that the learned Single Judge has not correctly appreciated the ratio of the Full Bench and has therefore arrived at an incorrect conclusion that the option is open up to the stage of advertisement for making appointment by way of transfer. The impugned judgment therefore cannot be sustained to that extent.

17. There is yet another aspect which deserves to be explained, namely, that the process of determination and intimation of vacancy for direct recruitment is a distinct process under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules. The stage of advertisement comes after the request is received by the Board. The stage of determination and notification of the vacancy is therefore a unique methodology in this process of selection which is a stage prior to advertisement. It is for this reason that the judgment in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra), as noted above, has held that this process should not be avoided which is mandatory. Consequently, the learned Single Judge did not appreciate this distinction while applying the principles of commencement of the date of selection process on the strength of the judgments of the Supreme Court and the ratio of the judgments in the cases of Asha Singh (supra) and Smt. Amita Sinha (supra) respectively. The said logic of the initiation of the selection process has to be distinguished in the present process of recruitment where the initiation of the determination of vacancy is relevant for the purpose of choosing the mode of recruitment under the 1998 Rules. Consequently, we are of the opinion that once the determination and the notification process is either made or there is a failure on the part of the Management to do so, then the District Inspector of Schools has to perform his duty as per Rule 11 (4). Once this contingency has occurred, then the option of the mode to recruit by transfer is not available. This issue will therefore have to be taken into account by the Joint Director (Education) who would be under our orders in this appeal be now proceeding to examine the matter.

18. We may further again clarify that an argument is advanced in most of the cases as also at present that even there is a determination and intimation of vacancy, the Commission takes a long time in proceeding to fill up a post or even not advertising the post in spite of notification. This deserves to be clarified by us that in the event any such situation arises, then the remedy open to the Committee of Management or any aggrieved party is to approach this Court for a Mandamus for performance of the obligatory duty under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules. Any failure on the part of the Commission to either advertise or not proceeding with the recruitment expeditiously cannot devolve a corresponding right on any person seeking transfer or the Committee of Management to proceed to process an appointment by way of transfer on account of such a lapse. Any allowance to the Committee of Management would therefore defeat the very purpose of Rule 11 and any Committee can slip away by this method to alter its mode of recruitment by resorting to transfer even at a later stage. The judgment of the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) has emphasized to plug all such loopholes that may be available to the Committee of Management for avoiding its responsibility. Thus, for the purpose of invoking its power of determination to choose the mode of direct recruitment would be limited to the Committee of Management within the period as prescribed under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules for determination and notification of vacancies and not beyond that. The issuance of advertisement or otherwise by the Commission therefore in relation to the mode of direct recruitment will be of no avail. It is for this reason that the Full Bench in the case of Prashant Kumar Katiyar (supra) made this allowance up to the date of advertisement only in the case of compassionate appointment and not in the case of transfer.

19. In a writ petition that gave rise to Special Appeal No.1879 of 2013, Raja Ram v. Dr. Rajesh Kumar and 6 others, an interim order was made subject matter of the aforesaid Special Appeal in a pending writ petition. The Special Appeal was disposed of vide judgment dated 9.12.2013 by observing as follows:-

"Prima-facie at this stage, it appears that in 2008, a requisition was sent by the Management in view of the retirement of the then principal. In view of the law laid down by the Full Bench, the exercise of resorting to a transfer of an employee has to be completed prior to determination and intimation of the vacancy to the Board and not thereafter. The appellant has in pursuance of the direction dated 08th November, 2013 joined the office of the principal on officiating basis and the respondent was relieved on 09th November, 2013."

20. We find ourselves in agreement with the aforesaid observations of the Division Bench as the process for determining the vacancy and notifying it commences with the exercise under Rule 11 of the 1998 Rules and is not dependent upon the date of advertisement by the Commission under Rule 12 thereof. Consequently, we are unable to sustain the reasons given by the learned Single Judge on that count and we accordingly set aside the same.

21. However, at the same time, the direction given by the learned Single Judge to the authority to consider the issue of transfer of respondent No.11 in accordance with the Regulations 55 to 61 of Chapter III does not call for any interference. We may, however, add that while determining this issue, the competent authority will also have to consider as to whether the Committee of Management had passed a valid resolution unilaterally and as to whether it was in consonance with the aforesaid Regulations or not, as the learned Counsel for the appellant has raised this issue specifically. The authority will therefore have to determine the said process as well. Apart from this, the authority will also examine the status of the conscious decision taken for adopting the mode of recruitment or its failure by the Committee of Management and the facts relating thereto.

22. The District Inspector of Schools in this case has intervened directing the Committee by issuing communications for proceeding to fill up the post by direct recruitment and accordingly inform the Selection Board as per the documents on record. Learned counsel for the respondent No.11 Sri Ramesh Pandey has categorically objected to this contending that the Committee of Management had taken a conscious decision on 6.5.2016 to adopt the mode of transfer and the District Inspector of Schools merely on an alleged complaint of the appellant had proceeded to send these communications thereafter on 7.5.2016 and 25.5.2016 which is a mala fide exercise and does not amount to a bona fide exercise of power under Rule 11 (4) of the 1998 Rules. This issue also, in our opinion, would be subject to the facts brought on record to be determined by the authority who will process the claim of transfer and advert to this issue as well. The status of the communication of the District Inspector of Schools whether it would amount to an intimation of a vacancy as per Rule 11 (4) will also have to be looked into.

23. We, therefore, direct the authority that in addition to the directions given by the learned Single Judge to also advert to the aforesaid questions as well. We would have ourselves gone into the aforesaid questions but we find that the learned Single Judge has completely omitted to answer the aforesaid contentions. Since we are setting aside the judgment on the issue of law determined by us as indicated here-in-above, we leave it open to the parties to canvass the aforesaid facts to be determined by the competent authority accordingly and independently.

24. There is yet another issue to be clarified with regard to the contention of the learned Counsel for the respondent No.11 that the appellant has absolutely no right to contest this position as he is only claiming a right to function on ad hoc basis. Dr. L. P. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant is not unjustified in contending that the appellant being the senior-most Teacher has a right to the extent that his name has also to be sent while notifying the vacancy by direct recruitment as per Rule 11 (2) (b) of the 1998 Rules. Not only this, it is the senior-most Teacher who has a right to function on ad hoc basis on the post of Principal which is sought to be occupied by way of transfer by the respondent No.11. If the transfer of the respondent No.11 cannot be given effect to in law, then the appellant will certainly have a right to object to the same as his continuance on ad hoc basis as Principal and receiving salary on such post would directly be involved. It would therefore be not correct to say that the appellant has no right to contest the said position.

25. However, there is substance in the argument that the issues that have been raised are at a slightly pre-mature stage, inasmuch as the claim of the respective parties is yet to be determined by the competent authority which is directly dependent on the claim of the transfer of the respondent No.11. It shall therefore open to the respective parties to raise a challenge on merits as and when, if permissible under law, whenever the competent authority takes a decision as per our directions given hereunder and the law as observed here-in-above.

26. The appeal is therefore allowed and the impugned judgment is set aside to the aforesaid extent with a direction to the Joint Director (Education) of the region concerned to proceed with the matter and determine the respective claims expeditiously, preferably within six weeks of the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order before him and after giving an opportunity of hearing to the Committee of Management as well as to the appellant and the respondent No.11.

In complaint case no. 172 of 2014 (Sudhir Vs. Sabir Ali and others), prosecution case in brief was that applicant and five other persons had trespassed the house of complainant Sudhir Kumar (present OP No.-2) and used force to get signature of complainant and his brother on certain blank documents. On the basis of statement under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., summoning order dated 10.1.2014 was passed against applicant and other co-accused persons.

Offence under section 3(1) (x) SC/ST Act is made out only when it is committed "in any place within public view", but in present matter, according to complaint and statement of witnesses, the alleged incident had occurred within the house of complainant-OP No.-2 and not in any place within public view.

Court observed that this application is partly allowed. The order of prosecution for offence under section 3(1) (x) SC/ST Act is quashed, but the prosecution of applicant in complaint case no. 172/2014 (Sudhir Vs. Sabir Ali and others) will be carried out for other offence.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. In complaint case no. 172 of 2014 (Sudhir Vs. Sabir Ali and others), prosecution case in brief was that applicant and five other persons had trespassed the house of complainant Sudhir Kumar (present OP No.-2) and used force to get signature of complainant and his brother on certain blank documents. On the basis of statement under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., summoning order dated 10.1.2014 was passed against applicant and other co-accused persons.

3. From perusal of complaint and statement of complainant under section 200 Cr.P.C., it appears that, if prosecution case is taken to be true in its entirety, in that case also the alleged overt acts were committed by applicant and other co-accused because of property dispute and not because of the fact that complainant is a member of scheduled caste or scheduled tribe community.

4. Apart from it, offence under section 3(1) (x) SC/ST Act is made out only when it is committed "in any place within public view", but in present matter, according to complaint and statement of witnesses, the alleged incident had occurred within the house of complainant-OP No.- 2 and not in any place within public view.

5. In these circumstances, the order of cognizance for offence under section 3(1) (x) SC/ST Act is found illegal and erroneous. In such matter, issuing notice will delay the proceedings of trial before lower court. Therefore, exercising power under section 482 Cr.P.C., this application is decided at this stage.

6. In view of the above, this application is partly allowed. The order of prosecution for offence under section 3(1) (x) SC/ST Act is quashed, but the prosecution of applicant in complaint case no. 172/2014 (Sudhir Vs. Sabir Ali and others) will be carried out for other offence.

Present application under section 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved for quashing the proceeding of Complaint Case No. 596 of 2015, Akbar Ali Vs. Adil and others and the summoning order dated 27.6.2016 of cognizance. The complaint case no. 3029 of 2014 (New No. 596 of 2015) was filed by present opposite party no. 2 Akbar Ali against four persons. accused persons have allegedly trespassed the house of complainant, hurled abuses, threatened and caused injuries by fist, kicks, clubs and sticks. Complainant had examined himself under section 200 Cr.P.C. and two witnesses under section 202 Cr.P.C, on the basis of which the trial court had passed summoning order dated 27.6.2016.

Learned counsel for the applicant contended that impugned order of cognizance had been passed after concealment of pertinent facts in mala fide way, including the status of accused no.-1 of being judicial officer.

It is settled principle that while summoning an accused, the court has to see prima facie evidence. The 'prima facie evidence' means the evidence sufficient for summoning the accused and not the evidence sufficient to warrant conviction.

Court observed that No criminal proceeding can be initiated against any judicial officer without obtaining prior sanction from the High Court even to the allegations relate to acts which are not done in discharge of his official duty. The most relevant fact about the judicial officer's involvement was deliberately concealed, due to which directions of Hon'ble Apex Court, as above, could not be complied. The impugned order of cognizance and summoning is legally erroneous and on the other hand it is found that complaint case has been filed after deliberately suppressing relevant facts and without previous sanction of High Court such prosecution cannot be carried out.

This application u/s 482 CrPC is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This application under section 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved for quashing the proceeding of Complaint Case No. 596 of 2015, Akbar Ali Vs. Adil and others, police station Mubarakpur, District Azamgarh and the summoning order dated 27.6.2016 of cognizance passed in it by Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 21, Azamgarh for offences under sections 323 and 504 IPC against four accused including present applicant.

2. The complaint case no. 3029 of 2014 (New No. 596 of 2015) was filed by present opposite party no. 2 Akbar Ali against four persons. In alleged act proposed accused committed offence on 31.7.2014 at about 8:00 a.m. when accused persons have allegedly trespassed the house of complainant, hurled abuses, threatened and caused injuries by fist, kicks, clubs and sticks.

3. Complainant had examined himself under section 200 Cr.P.C. and two witnesses under section 202 Cr.P.C, on the basis of which the trial court had passed summoning order dated 27.6.2016 by which all the four accused named on complaint were summoned for offence under section 323, 504 IPC. The proceedings of said complaint case alongwith said order of cognizance is under challenge in present proceeding.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that impugned order of cognizance had been passed after concealment of pertinent facts in mala fide way, including the status of accused no.-1 of being judicial officer. He further submitted that impugned order of cognizance is non-speaking and had been passed without application of mind, so proceeding of case on basis of such order is liable to be quashed. He contended that from concealment of relevant facts deliberately directions of Apex Court cannot be complied. Had these facts been in knowledge of trial court, there was no possibility of passing of such order.

5. These contentions were opposed by learned AGA who submitted that although impugned summoning order is non-speaking and cryptic but on merits there is no error in it.

6. In ruling "M/s. Pepsi Food Ltd. & another vs. Special Judicial Magistrate & others, 1998 UP Cr R 118" Hon'ble Supreme Court held :-

"Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. It is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning the accused. Magistrate had to carefully scrutinize the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is prima facie committed by all or any of the accused."

7. In "Paul George vs. State, 2002 Cri.L.J. 996" Hon'ble Supreme Court held :-

"We feel that whatever be the outcome of the pleas raised by the appellant on merit, the order disposing of the matter must indicate application of mind to the case and some reasons be assigned for negating or accepting such pleas.- - - It is true that it may depend upon the nature of the matter which is being dealt with by the Court and the nature of the jurisdiction being exercised as to in what manner the reasons may be recorded e.g. in an order of affirmance detailed reasons or discussion may not be necessary but some brief indication by the application of mind may be traceable to affirm an order would certainly be required. Mere ritual of repeating the words or language used in the provisions, saying that no illegality, impropriety or jurisdictional error is found in the judgment under challenge without even a whisper of the merits of the matter or nature of pleas raised does not meet the requirement of decision of a case judicially."

8. In S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. v. Neeta Bhalla, (2005) 8 SCC 89 the Apex Court had held :

"Section 203 of the Code empowers a Magistrate to dismiss a complaint without even issuing a process. It uses the words "after considering" and "the Magistrate is of opinion that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding". These words suggest that the Magistrate has to apply his mind to a complaint at the initial stage itself and see whether a case is made out against the accused persons before issuing process to them on the basis of the complaint. For applying his mind and forming an opinion as to whether there is sufficient ground for proceeding, a complaint must make out a prima facie case to proceed. This, in other words, means that a complaint must contain material to enable the Magistrate to make up his mind for issuing process. If this were not the requirement, consequences could be far reaching. If a Magistrate had to issue process in every case, the burden of work before the Magistrate as well as the harassment caused to the respondents to whom process is issued would be tremendous. Even Section 204 of the Code starts with the words "if in the opinion of the Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence there is sufficient ground for proceeding". The words "sufficient ground for proceeding" again suggest that ground should be made out in the complaint for proceeding against the respondent. It is settled law that at the time of issuing of the process the Magistrate is required to see only the allegations in the complaint and where allegations in the complaint or the charge-sheet do not constitute an offence against a person, the complaint is liable to be dismissed."

9. It is settled principle that while summoning an accused, the court has to see prima facie evidence. The 'prima facie evidence' means the evidence sufficient for summoning the accused and not the evidence sufficient to warrant conviction. The enquiry u/s 202 CrPC is limited only to ascertain of truth or falsehood of allegations made in the complaint and whether on the material placed by the complainant a prima facie case was made out for summoning the accused or not.

10. As held by the Courts as above, the passing of order of summoning any person as accused is a very important matter, which initiates criminal proceeding against him. Such orders cannot be passed summarily or without applying judicial mind. In light of this legal position I have gone through the impugned order. A perusal of this order indicates that after noting the names of witnesses Magistrate mentioned that on basis of evidence the four accused persons should be summoned for offences u/ss 323, 504 IPC. Neither any discussion of evidence was made, nor was it considered as to which accused had allegedly committed what overt act or what words were uttered by accused for cognizance of offence u/s 504 IPC. The four accused persons of complaint were summoned for offences mentioned above. I doubt whether the learned Magistrate had actually read statements u/ss 200, 202 CrPC or the documents of the original file or not. No reason was mentioned in the impugned order as to what those evidences contain, and how they help the prosecution case. Impugned order clearly lacks the reflection of application of judicial discretion or mind. Nothing is there which may show that learned Magistrate, before passing of the order under challenge had considered facts of the case and evidence or law. Therefore it appears that, in fact, no judicial mind was applied before the passing of impugned order of summoning. Such order cannot be accepted as a proper legal judicial order passed after following due procedure of law. Therefore it is liable to be quashed.

11. In Anita Malhotra v. Apparel Export Promotion Council, (2012) 1 SCC 520 the Apex Court had held as under :

"20. As rightly stated so, though it is not proper for the High Court to consider the defence of the accused or conduct a roving enquiry in respect of merits of the accusation, but if on the face of the document which is beyond suspicion or doubt, placed by the accused and if it is considered that the accusation against her cannot stand, in such a matter, in order to prevent injustice or abuse of process, it is incumbent on the High Court to look into those document/documents which have a bearing on the matter even at the initial stage and grant relief to the person concerned by exercising jurisdiction u/s 482 of the Code."

12. For the reasons discussed above, the impugned summoning order of the court below is erroneous. Such order of cognizance and summoning without using judicial mind is unacceptable in law and liable to be quashed.

13. From verification it is found that accused no.-1 mentioned in complaint and summoned by trial court, is a judicial officer, who was posted on the date of incident at Sitapur as Additional District Judge, and he is still continuing in judicial service. The applicants no.-1 and 2 are cousin brothers of complainant. Admittedly, civil litigation for property is continuing between them and complainant. Therefore, this contention of applicant side is found acceptable that complainant had knowledge of accused no.-1 being a judicial officer, but he has deliberately concealed this fact in complaint as well as in his statement under section 200 CrPC. These facts were concealed by two witnesses examined under section 202 CrPC also, who had previous acquaintance with aforesaid accused persons.

14. In Delhi Judicial Service Assn. v. State of Gujarat, (1991) 4 SCC 406 Hon'ble Apex Court had held:

"55. The facts of the instant case demonstrate that a presiding officer of a court may be arrested and humiliated on flimsy and manufactured charges which could affect the administration of justice. In order to avoid any such situation in future, we consider it necessary to lay down guidelines which should be followed in the case of arrest and detention of a Judicial Officer. No person whatever his rank, or designation may be, is above law and he must face the penal consequences of infraction of criminal law. A Magistrate, Judge or any other Judicial Officer is liable to criminal prosecution for an offence like any other citizen but in view of the paramount necessity of preserving the independence of judiciary and at the same time ensuring that infractions of law are properly investigated, we think that the following guidelines should be followed:

(A) If a Judicial Officer is to be arrested for some offence, it should be done under intimation to the District Judge or the High Court as the case may be.

(B) If facts and circumstances necessitate the immediate arrest of a Judicial Officer of the subordinate judiciary, a technical or formal arrest may be effected.

(C) The fact of such arrest should be immediately communicated to the District and Sessions Judge of the concerned District and the Chief Justice of the High Court.

(D) The Judicial Officer so arrested shall not be taken to a police station, without the prior order or directions of the District and Sessions Judge of the concerned district, if available.

(E) Immediate facilities shall be provided to the Judicial Officer for communication with his family members, legal advisers and Judicial Officers, including the District and Sessions Judge.

(F) No statement of a Judicial Officer who is under arrest be recorded nor any panchnama be drawn up nor any medical tests be conducted except in the presence of the Legal Adviser of the Judicial Officer concerned or another Judicial Officer of equal or higher rank, if available.

(G) There should be no handcuffing of a Judicial Officer. If, however, violent resistance to arrest is offered or there is imminent need to effect physical arrest in order to avert danger to life and limb, the person resisting arrest may be overpowered and handcuffed. In such case, immediate report shall be made to the District and Sessions Judge concerned and also to the Chief Justice of the High Court. But the burden would be on the police to establish the necessity for effecting physical arrest and handcuffing the Judicial Officer and if it be established that the physical arrest and handcuffing of the Judicial Officer was unjustified, the police officers causing or responsible for such arrest and handcuffing would be guilty of misconduct and would also be personally liable for compensation and/or damages as may be summarily determined by the High Court.

56. The above guidelines are not exhaustive but these are minimum safeguards which must be observed in case of arrest of a Judicial Officer. These guidelines should be implemented by the State Government as well as by the High Courts. We, accordingly, direct that a copy of the guidelines shall be forwarded to the Chief Secretaries of all the State Governments and to all the High Courts with a direction that the same may be brought to the notice of the concerned officers for compliance."

15. In High Court of Judicature of Bombay v. Shirishkumar Rangrao Patil, (1997) 6 SCC 339 Hon'ble Apex Court had held:

"At the same time the High Court is the protector of the subordinate judiciary. Often some members of the Bar, in particular, in Muffasil Courts, attempt to take undue advantage of their long standing at the Bar and attempt to abuse their standing by bringing or attempting to bring about diverse forms of pressures and pinpricks on junior judicial officers or stubborn and stern and unbendable officers. If they remain unsuccessful, to achieve their nefarious purpose, some members of the Bar indulge in mud-slinging without any base, by sending repeated anonymous letters against the judicial officers questioning their performance/ capacity/ integrity. The High Court should, therefore, take care of the judicial officers and protect them from such unseemingly attempts or pressures so as to maintain their morale and independence and support the honest and upright officers."

16. No criminal proceeding can be initiated against any judicial officer without obtaining prior sanction from the High Court even to the allegations relate to acts which are not done in discharge of his official duty. In present matter from perusal of record, it is found that neither the factum of accused no.-1 being a judicial officer was informed to court below nor any permission for starting criminal proceeding and prosecution was obtained from High Court. On the contrary the most relevant fact about the judicial officer's involvement was deliberately concealed, due to which directions of Hon'ble Apex Court, as above, could not be complied. This court is under obligation to take care of and protect its subordinate judicial officers from nefarious activities of persons acting malafidely due to enmity. Therefore in absence of such permission/ sanction from High Court, the proceeding of complaint case under challenge is liable to be quashed.

17. In view of above, it is found that at one hand the impugned order of cognizance and summoning is legally erroneous and on the other hand it is found that complaint case has been filed after deliberately suppressing relevant facts and without previous sanction of High Court such prosecution cannot be carried out. In such very special circumstances of the matter, in view of above, there is no propriety of issuing notice to opposite parties. Considering facts and circumstances, it appears that the continuation of criminal proceeding in this case would tantamount to abuse of process of law. Therefore, by exercising inherent jurisdiction of this Court and for preventing abuse of process of Court, this application u/s 482 CrPC is allowed. The proceeding of Complaint Case No. 596 of 2015 (Akbar Ali Vs. Adil & others) under section 323, 504 IPC, police station Mubarakpur, District Azmagarh pending in the Court of Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 21, Azmagarh are hereby quashed.

18. Let a copy of this order was sent to the trial court concerned, through the District and Sessions Judge, immediately.

CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE B. AMIT STHALEKAR, J.

Writ A No.- 24824 Of 2016

Mohd. Irfan & Ors.	...Petitioners
	Versus
State Of U.P. & Ors.	...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioners:

Anup Kumar Khare, Ashok Khare, S.N. Singh

Counsel for Respondents:

C.S.C.

Held

The entire selection process was vitiated by large-scale irregularities and manipulation, including:

Overwriting and tampering of interview marks,

Non-verification of documents,

Selection of ineligible candidates,

Incomplete application forms,

Absence of signatures of selection committee members.

The irregularities were systemic, widespread, and affected the entire selection, making it impossible to segregate valid selections from invalid ones.

In such cases of mass malpractice, the authority is justified in:

Cancelling the entire selection process,

Without issuing individual show-cause notices or granting hearing.

No candidate has a vested or indefeasible right to appointment merely because their name appears in a select list.

The decision to cancel the selection was:

Based on an inquiry report,

Supported by material evidence,

Neither arbitrary nor mala fide.

Allegations of political mala fide (MP/MLA complaint) were rejected as:

Inquiry independently established serious irregularities.

Principles of natural justice are not attracted in cases where:

The entire selection is tainted,

Cancellation is based on mass irregularities.

Judicial review under Article 226 is limited, and the Court will not interfere where:

Administrative decision is based on relevant material,

No arbitrariness is shown.

The cancellation orders dated 07.05.2016 and 13.05.2016 are valid.

The writ petition is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble B. Amit Sthalekar, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.N. Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Vikram Bahadur Yadav, learned standing counsel for the respondents.

2. The petitioners who are 23 in number are seeking quashing of the order dated 7.5.2016 whereby the selection on contract basis for various posts under the NPCDES Programme by the Human Resources Department has been cancelled. The petitioners are also seeking quashing of the order dated 13.5.2016 notifying the order dated 7.5.2016 in furtherance of National Health Mission Scheme of the Government of India and its implementation in different districts.

3. An advertisement was issued on 24.2.2016 published in the newspaper 'Amar Ujala' on 26.2.2016. Applications were invited for various posts. The petitioners no.1,2, 3 and 4 submitted their applications for the post of Senior Treatment Supervisor under the National Tuberculosis Control Programme. The petitioner no.3 submitted his application under the OBC category and the petitioner no.4 submitted his application under the SC category. The petitioner no.5 submitted his application for the post of Lab Technician in the general category. Petitioner no.6 submitted her application for the post of Staff Nurse under the SC category. Petitioner nos.7 and 8 submitted their applications for the post of Staff Nurse under the general category and OBC respectively. Petitioner no.9 applied for the post of Lab Technician under the SC category. Petitioner no.10 submitted his application for the post of Staff Nurse in the general category. Petitioner no.11 submitted his application for the post of Lab Technician in the general category. Petitioner nos.12 and 13 submitted their applications for the post of Staff Nurse in general category. Petitioner no.14 submitted his application for the post of Staff Nurse under the OBC category. Petitioner no.15 submitted her application for the post of Staff Nurse under the SC category. Petitioner no.16 submitted her application for the post of District Leprosy Advisor under the general category. Petitioner no.17 submitted her application for the post of Block Programme Manager under the OBC category. Petitioner no.18 submitted her application for the post of Staff Nurse under the OBC category. Petitioner no.19 submitted her application for the post Nutrition Care Taker under the general category. Petitioner no.20 submitted her application for the post of Nutrition Care Taker under the general category. Petitioner no.21 submitted his application for the post of Block Data cum Account Assistant under the OBC category, petitioner no.22 submitted his application form for the post of Para Medical Worker and petitioner no.23 submitted his application for the post of Lab Technician under the OBC category.

4. According to the petitioners, they possess all the requisite qualifications for the posts against which they have applied. It is stated that a Selection Committee was constituted comprising Chief Medical Officer, Jalaun, at Orai as President and four members namely City Magistrate, Orai, C.M.O. Superintendent District Mahila Hospital and Additional Chief Medical Officer as well as District Tuberculosis Decease Officer. The petitioners were called for interview and after verification of documents they were declared successful. It is stated that earlier one Sri Ram Ganesh was the District Magistrate, Jalaun but he was transferred and therefore he could not put his signature on the select list. One Sandeep Kaur took over charge as the District Magistrate and put his signature on the select list as Chairman of the Selection Committee. Thereafter the select list was issued on 31.3.2016. It is stated that earlier the last date for joining was 31.3.2016 but since the select list itself was published on 31.3.2016, the date of joining was extended upto 30.4.2016. However, the petitioners were not permitted to join on their selected posts and no letter of appointment was issued. It is alleged that one Sri Bhanu Pratap Verma, Member of Parliament and one Sri Daya Shanker Verma, local MLA written a complaint to the District Magistrate, Orai alleging irregularities made in the selection and claiming that no joining be given and the select list be cancelled on the ground that some writ petition had been filed being Writ Petition No.12779 of 2016, Sant Ram vs. State of U.P. and others. On receipt of the complaint the District Magistrate through his letter dated 7.4.2016 endorsed the same to the Additional District Magistrate to look into the matter. In the meantime the petitioner submitted an application on 10.5.2016 requesting that appointment letter be issued to them.

5. In paragraph 32 of the writ petition it is stated that in the select list 68 candidates have been shown as selected but not a single candidate has been allowed to join including the petitioners. It is stated that the Writ Petition No.12774 of 2016, Sant Ram Vs. State of U.P. and Others was subsequently dismissed on 18.04.2016 but still no appointment letter was issued to the petitioners and in the meantime by the impugned order dated 07.05.2016 and 13.05.2016 the entire selection as well as the select list has been cancelled. It is stated that no reasons have been given for cancellation of the selection and therefore, the order is cryptic and in any case it has been cancelled on a complaint of a Member of Parliament and a local M.L.A. therefore the selection has been cancelled on political consideration and therefore the impugned orders are tainted by malafides. The petitioners also contend that before cancelling the selection no opportunity of hearing was given to them

6. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of respondents in which it is stated that no doubt there was a complaint with regard to the manner in which the selection was held and select list issued but thereafter a Committee was constituted headed by the Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue) which examined the entire matter and submitted its report on 30.04.2016. In his report the Committee has disclosed that in the select list the marks have been manipulated and overwritten by the Chief Medical Officer. In the marks given in the interview overwriting has been done and there are other irregularities. It is further stated that the selection committee was constituted on 05.03.2016 and comprised of;

1. Dr. Ajeet Kumar Jaiswal, C.M.O. Jalaun (President)
2. Sri P.K. Saxena, City Magistrate, Orai at Jalaun (Member)
3. Dr. Sunita Banodha, C.M.O. District Womens Hospital, Orai (Member)
4. Dr. B.M. Khair Additional C.M.O. (Member)
5. Dr. Sugreev Babu, District Tuberculosis Officer (Member)

7. It is not in dispute that the select list was published on 31.03.2016 but thereafter considering the complaints made by local M.L.A. Sri Daya Shanker Verma and Member of Parliament Sri Bhanu Pratap regarding irregularities in the selection an inquiry was ordered in the matter. The allegations made in paragraph 45 and 46 of the writ petition that the select list was cryptic and was not even pasted on the notice board has been denied in paragraph 17 of the counter affidavit since Priti Soni, petitioner no.19, Babi Sabina, petitioner no.17, Renu Verma, petitioner no.16, Kaushal Kishor, petitioner no.8, Devendra Singh Bhadauriya, petitioner no.5, Santosh Devi, petitioner no.20, R.K. Sharma, petitioner no.11, Ekta Singh, petitioner no.18 have themselves submitted an application before the District Magistrate, Jalaun at Orai (Annexure-14 to the writ petition) stating that when they went to the office of the C.M.O. on 13.07.2016 they saw that the order of cancellation dated 07.05.2016 was pasted on the notice board therefore the averments in paragraph 45 and 46 of the writ petition are false averments.

8. A perusal of the impugned order of cancellation dated 07.05.2016 clearly mentions the reasons for cancellation of the selection based upon the report of the enquiry committee. The reasons may be encapsulated as under:

1. The selection did not have the approval of the erstwhile District Magistrate.
2. The photographs of the selected candidates were not verified.
3. The original tabulation sheets were tampered with by the C.M.O. and members of the Selection Committee.
4. There was overwriting in the marks given during interview.
5. All the members of the selection committee had not signed the final result of the interview.
6. Non verification of the documents of the selected candidates.
7. Candidates did not possess the documents regarding requisite eligibility qualifications for the post for which they applied.

9. These irregularities were pointed out by the Member of Parliament and the local M.L.A. upon which the Enquiry Committee was constituted.

10. Alongwith the counter affidavit the respondents have filed the result which was earlier prepared on 14.03.2016 before the allegations and complaints started pouring in. The manipulations in the marks awarded to the candidates by Dr. Sunita Banaudha may be summarized as under :

Sl. No.7, Guru Devi had obtained 2 marks which has been shown to read as 3 marks through overwriting.

Sl.No.11, Smt. Vijay Laxmi Vajpai was also initially given 2 marks which has been made to read as 3 marks through overwriting.

Sl.No.12, Smt. Minakshi Tiwari was given 2 marks manipulated to read as 3 marks.

Sl.No.27, Shazia Afreen has been given 6 marks but overwriting is clear.

Sl.No.32, Deepak Goswami was also given 5 marks but thereafter marked 'A'
(Absent)

Sl.No.34, Avita Sachan was given 4 marks which has been made to read as 'A'
(Absent)

Sl.No.35, Nitisha Budhauriya has been given 5 marks but there is overwriting.

- Sl.No.212, Manju Lata Sahu, 5 marks has been made to read as 6 marks.
- Sl.No.213, Varsha Parihar, 2 marks has been made to read as 5 marks.

11. In addition to the irregularities noted above from Annexure-CA-1 to the counter affidavit a perusal of the report dated 30.04.2016 submitted to the District Magistrate (Annexure-2 to the counter affidavit) mentions that so far as the candidates for the post of Sick Newborn Care

Unit Staff Nurse the Committee found that the educational testimonials/documents of the following candidates were not verified;

1. Mamta Khan
2. Pratiksha Sharma (petitioner no.12)
3. Shiromani Vajpai
4. Jyoti Jha
5. Yashpal Singh (petitioner no.14)
6. Pallavi Sakyavar
7. Rachana Dwivedi

12. For the post of A.N.M. the educational testimonials/documents of the following selected candidates were not verified;

1. Rinki Devi
2. Santoshi Devi
3. Bina Kumari
4. Chandravati Pal
5. Kalpana Devi
- 6 Sadhan
7. Kumari Chandani
8. Pratibha Sakya

13. For the post of Chaukidar/Sweeper the educational testimonials/documents of the following selected candidates were not verified;

1. Ram Siya
2. Pradeep Kumar

14. For the post of Senior Treatment Supervisor (S.T.S) the educational testimonials/documents of Mohd. Irfan (petitioner no.1) were not verified.

15. For the post of Lab Technician Blood Bank the candidates were required to have diploma in Lab Technician as well as registration certificate under the Central Government or the U.P. State Medical Faculty + Six months working experience + Knowledge of Computer. Petitioner no.5, Devendra Singh Bhadauriya's Lab Technician Diploma was not from the Central Government or the U.P. State Medical Faculty. For the same post the educational testimonials/ documents of the selected candidate Sri Pavnesh Gautam (petitioner no.9) were never verified.

16. For the post of Lab Attendant Blood Bank the educational requirement was High School. For this post selected candidate Sri Ravindra Kumar Sharma's (petitioner no.11) educational testimonials/documents were never verified.

17. For the post of Staff Nurse Nutrition Rehabilitation Centre the educational qualification was required to have G.N.M. Diploma + Registration with the Medical Faculty, Lucknow but in the case of following selected candidates there was no registered G.N.M. Certificates and their educational testimonials were also not verified.

1. Sahnaj Bano
2. Guru Devi
3. Jeevan Lal

18. For the post of District Leprosy Adviser under N.L.E.P. Programme the requisite educational qualification was M.B.B.S./B.A.M.S./B.H.M.S. + three years registered experience in Health under the U.P. Medical Council with Knowledge of Computer. The candidates were required to submit their educational testimonials alongwith their application forms. The form of Dr. Praveen Kumar Paliwal (petitioner no.16) selected candidate was not supported with his educational testimonials.

19. For the post of Block Data-cum-Account Assistant under B.P.M.U. the two selected candidates Naresh Chandra, (petitioner no.21) and Sumit Kumar Yadav did not file their educational testimonials alongwith their application forms.

20. Similarly for the post of Computer Assistant the selected candidate (petitioner no.17) Babi Sabina's educational testimonials were never verified. She was awarded 2 marks which through overwriting was made to read as 7.

21. For the post of Staff Nurse under the NPCDCS Programme the selected candidates Mohan Kumar Pathak and Rubi Verma did not file their educational testimonials/documents alongwith their application forms.

22. For the post of Data Entry Operator, Blood Bank the requisite qualification is Graduation from a recognised University + PGDCA Diploma from a recognised Institution and one year working experience in M.S. Office. The selected candidate for this post Sri Dhiraj Singh Chauhan has done B.E. in Computer Science Diploma certificate of which has been filed but his working experience has been issued from some Ram Ausadhi Bhandar, Sipri Bazar, Jhansi which makes it a suspicious document.

23. For the 6 posts of Rehabilitation Worker under the N.P.H.C.E. Programme the candidates were required to submit the photocopies of their educational testimonials alongwith their application forms. None of the 6 selected candidates have submitted their educational testimonials alongwith their application forms. The names of the 6 candidates are as under:

- Manoj Kumar Tiwari
Naveen Kumar Srivastava
Shyam Sunder

Deepak Rai
Premendra
Jitendra Singh

24. In the case of Jitendra Singh his photograph is not attached with his application form and in his application form he has not filled the date or place. The application form is also filed incomplete.

25. For the one post of Staff Nurse under the N.P.H.C.E. Programme the requisite eligibility qualification was G.N.M. Diploma from a recognised Institution + Registration with Medical Faculty, Lucknow and two years of working experience. The candidate selected for this post Smt. Kumkum Devi did not file her two years experience certificate and instead filed only a one year experience certificate which shows that she did not have the requisite qualification for selection.

26. From a perusal of the application forms of the selected candidates it was noticed that large number of candidates had not affixed their photographs alongwith their application forms nor were there any marks in the various testimonials to show that the same were cross checked with the original testimonials and even where the marks were cross checked there was no signature of any authority to that effect to show that the documents have been cross checked with the original testimonials.

27. With regard to selection of Contract Care Taker for the Nutrition Rehabilitation Centre on random checking of the applications and the marks obtained by the candidates it was noticed that there were serious irregularities in the marks given by the Chief Medical Officer, Jalaun when compared with the comparative chart.

28. The candidate at Sl.No.23, Smt. Priti Soni (petitioner no.19) was given only 6 marks in the comparative chart whereas the members of the selection committee in their original sheets had given her 8 marks.

29. The candidate at Sl.No.26, Sri Sunil Kumar Pal was given only 5 marks in the comparative chart whereas the Chief Medical Officer, Jalaun in the original marksheet had given 4 marks.

30. The candidate at Sl.No.28, Smt. Sunita Devi was given 5 marks in the comparative chart whereas in the original marksheet she was given only 4 marks.

31. Similarly for the post of Contract Staff Nurse the candidate at Sl.No.11, Yogendra Kumar was given 7 marks by the Additional C.M.O. but in the original marksheet he was given only 4 marks. Thus, it was noticed that the marks given were deliberately increased or decreased through manipulation and overwriting.

32. In the selection for the post of Nutrition Counselor it was noticed that Smt. Sunita Badhauna member of the Selection Committee, had committed overwriting in the marks awarded to the candidates at Sl.Nos. 9, 16, 37 and 39 which brings the selection process under a cloud of suspicion.

33. In the selection for the post of Contract Staff Nurse under the N.P.H.C.E. Programme, Km. Kumkum (petitioner no.6) has been shown selected having secured 30 marks in the total. She has been given 8 marks by one examiner. In the individual marksheet of the committee members the father's name of Km.Kumkum has been mentioned as Rajendra Kumar Anuragi whereas in the other sheets the same candidate Km. Kumkum having the same date of birth, her father's name has been shown as Chhote Lal. By another examiner she has been given 6 marks and in both these marksheets her name has been subsequently added by handwriting. Another examiner has recorded her correct date of birth and father's name and given her 7 marks but her name has been added subsequently by handwriting. Another examiner has given her 4 marks and her name has also been added subsequently by handwriting.

34. So far as the petitioner no.7 Manish Kumar Pathak son of Virendra Kumar is concerned, from the original records it is noticed that his working experience which was mentioned as 1 year and 3 months in typed copy has been changed by overwriting to 2 years and 2 months. In the individual marksheet of other examiners, Manish Kumar's working experience in the typed copy still shows one year and 3 months.

35. So far as the petitioner no.8, Kamal Kishor is concerned, in one of the marksheets 2 marks has been made to read as 3 marks.

36. So far as Rajendra Singh son of Badam Singh is concerned, he was initially given 2 marks but by overwriting the same has been shown as 'A' (Absent).

37. Similarly one Ram Kumari Pal daughter of Laxmi Prasad for the post of Staff Nurse N.P.C.D.C.S. was initially given 5 marks which has been scored out and she has been given 'A' (Absent) through overwriting.

38. So far as the petitioner no.15, Renu Verma is concerned, she was initially given 2 marks which through overwriting has been made to read as 4 marks.

39. In the rejoinder affidavit it has been stated by the petitioners that in the case of some of the petitioners who were selected there was no use of Whitener or overwriting. The averments of the rejoinder affidavit are belied by the findings which have been recorded by the Court hereinabove and which are borne out from the original records and overwriting is clearly established.

40. Where the entire selection is tainted with mass irregularities and its cancellation is imperative in such a case giving of opportunity of hearing to the individual selected candidates does not arise. This principle of law was profound by the Supreme Court in 1970 (1) SCC 648, *The Bihar School Examination Board vs. Subhas Chandra Sinha and others.

"14. Reliance was placed upon Ghanshyam Das Gupta's case (supra) to which we referred earlier. There the examination results of three candidates were cancelled, and this Court held that they should have received an opportunity of explaining their conduct. It was said that even if the inquiry involved a large number of persons, the Committee should frame proper regulations for the conduct of such inquiries but not deny the opportunity. We do not think that that case has any application. Surely it was not intended that where the examination as a whole was vitiated, say by leakage of papers or by destruction of some of the answer books or by discovery of unfair means practised on a vast scale that an inquiry would be made giving a chance to every one appearing at that examination to have his say? What the Court intended to lay down was that if any particular person was to be proceeded against, he must have a proper chance to defend himself and this did not obviate the necessity of giving an opportunity even though the number of persons proceeded against was large. The Court was then not considering the right of an examining body to cancel its own examination when it was satisfied that the examination was not properly conducted or that in the conduct of the examination the majority of the examinees had not conducted themselves as they should have. To make such decisions depend upon a full-fledged judicial inquiry would hold up the functioning of such autonomous bodies as Universities and School Board. While we do not wish to whittle down the requirements of natural justice and fair play in cases where such requirement may be said to arise, we do not want that this Court should be understood as having stated that an inquiry with a right to representation must always precede in every case, however different. The universities are responsible for their standards and the conduct of examinations. The essence of the examinations is that the worth of every person is appraised without any assistance from an outside source. If at a centre the whole body of students receive assistance and manage to secure success in the neighbourhood of 100% when others at other centres are successful only at an average of 50%, it is obvious that the university or the Board must do something in the matter. It cannot hold a detailed quasi-judicial inquiry with a right to its alumni to plead and lead evidence etc. before the results are withheld or the examinations cancelled. If there is sufficient material on which it can be demonstrated that the university was right in its conclusion that the examinations ought to be cancelled then academic standards require that the university's appreciation of the problem must be respected. It would not do for the Court to say that he should have examined all the candidates or even their representatives with - a view to ascertaining whether they had received assistance or not. To do this would encourage indiscipline if not also perjury."

41. On the question of giving an opportunity of hearing to the candidates of select list the Supreme Court in (1993) 1 SCC 154, *Union Territory of Chandigarh vs. Dilbagh Singh and others in paras 8 and 11 thereof has held as under:-

"9. Coming to the contentions of the learned counsel for respondents (selectees in the cancelled select list) that the Chandigarh Administration when had found no direct evidence which could establish charges of corruption levelled against the members of the Selection Board in the matter of preparation of select list of conductors for appointments as conductors in its CTU, it should not have made an order cancelling the select list, all that could be said is, that failure on the part of complainants to establish charges of corruption levelled against the members of the Selection Board could not have saved the select list, if it was otherwise found to be dubious. The select list, which was cancelled by the Chandigarh Administration was found by it to have been prepared in unfair and injudicious manner, in that the interview marks purported to have been awarded by the members of the Selection Board for the performance of candidates at their interview were either inflated to push up the candidates who had got poor marks for their educational qualifications or deflated to pull down the candidates who had got high marks for their educational qualifications. That select list was also found to have been prepared without adopting common eligibility criteria, for all candidates. When the said reasons formed the basis for the Chandigarh Administration to cancel the select list of the Selection Board, the fact that charges of corruption levelled against the members to the Selection Board in the preparation of that select list had not been established by direct evidence produced in that regard, can make no difference."

12.If we have regard to the above enunciation that a candidate who finds a place in the select list as a candidate selected for appointment to a civil post, does not acquire an indefeasible right to be appointed in such posting the absence of any specific Rule entitling him for such appointment and he could be aggrieved by his non-appointment only when the Administration does so either arbitrarily or for no bona fide reasons, it follows as a necessary concomitant that such candidate even if has a legitimate expectation of being appointed in such posts due to his name finding a place in the select list of candidates, cannot claim to have a right to be heard before such select list is cancelled for bona fide and valid reasons and not arbitrarily: In the instant case, when the Chandigarh Administration which received the complaints about the unfair and injudicious manner in which select list of candidates for appointment as conductors in CTU was prepared by the Selection Board constituted for the purpose, found those complaints to be well founded on an enquiry got made in that regard, we are unable to find that the Chandigarh Administration had acted either arbitrarily or without bona fide and valid reasons in cancelling such dubious select list. Hence, the contentions of the learned counsel for the respondents as to the sustainability of the judgment of CAT under appeal on the ground of non-affording of an opportunity of hearing to the respondents (candidates in the select list) is a misconceived one and is consequently rejected."

42. In 1995 Supp (1) SCC 188, Gurdeep Singh vs. State of J. & K. and others the Supreme Court has held as under:-

"12. What remains to be considered is whether the selection of respondent No. 6 should be quashed. We are afraid, unduly lenient view of the courts on the basis of human consideration in regard to such excesses on the part of the authorities, has served to create an impression that even where an advantage is secured by stratagem and trickery, it could be rationalised in courts of law. Courts do and should take human and sympathetic view of matters. That is the very essence of justice. But considerations of judicial policy also dictate that a tendency of this kind where advantage gained by illegal means is permitted to be retained will jeopardise the purity of selection process itself; engender cynical disrespect towards the judicial process and in the last analyses embolden errant authorities and candidates into a sense of complacency and impunity that gains achieved by such wrongs could be retained by an appeal to the sympathy of the court. Such instances reduce the jurisdiction and discretion of courts into private benevolence. This tendency should be stopped. The selection of respondent No. 6 in the sports category was, on the material placed before us, thoroughly unjustified. He was not eligible in the sports category. He would not be entitled on the basis of his marks, to a seat in general merit category. Attribution of eligibility long after the selection process was over, in our opinion, is misuse of power. While we have sympathy for the predicament of respondent No. 6, it should not lose sight of the fact that the situation is the result of his own making. We think in order to uphold the purity of academic processes, we should quash the selection and admission of respondent No. 6. We do so though, however, reluctantly."

43. In (1996) 5 SCC 365 Biswa Ranjan Sahoo and others vs. Sushanta Kumar Dinda and others the Supreme Court has held that in a case of mass malpractice notice to selected candidates and opportunity of hearing is not required.

44. The judgment being reproduced in its entirety and reads as under:-

"1. Leave granted.

2. These appeals by special leave arise from the order of Central Administrative Tribunal Cuttack Bench made on 10.10.1994 and 20.3. 1996 in O.A.No.137 of 1993 and Review Application No.7 of 1995 respectively. The orders disclose the alarming state of affairs regarding lack of integrity and sincerity in the selection process, which is expected to assess merit and recommend for appointment of competent and meritorious persons according to the list prepared by the competent Selection Board. Reverse is the result shown in the process of selection. Pursuant to the advertisement No.6 of 1992 for filling up of six posts of Chargemen, 'B' Grade in Mechanical Electrical Division, the fake selection process appears to have been gone by and some persons came to be appointed including the petitioners. When the selection was questioned, the Tribunal had called for the record and on the perusal of the record, noted as under:

"The perusal of the Answer Book of the candidates with Roll No.001078 (Umakanta Panigrahi) shows that though at Sl.No.3, in the first page of the answer book, his marks were shown as '00' it was change to '20'. At Serial Number 11, there has been correction of the original marks to 25, the original marks appearing to be 20. This is how the total was brought to 95. In second page of the answer book though the mark given for Question No.11 B were 10, later 5 has been added by someone to make it 15. In page No.4, after the answer 1/8 written by the candidate, there could be seen some alternation to 0.8 by someone. The facing page or the Answer Book of the of candidate 001235 (Sri Biswa Ranjan Sahoo) show over writing at three places. At Sl. No.2, original marks 16 appears to have been changed to 18 and total 91 appears to have been changed to 94. It is not possible to mark out how and why answer book 001567 of candidate Rajani Kanta Guru was evaluated by different examiner and marks noted in pencil as also his signature as apparently initials on this answer book are totally different from the initials of the other examiner. There is practically no explanation coming forth as to how and why this examiner was different from this paper alone. We have perused the original tabulation which reveals that the marks obtained by the petitioner in the interview were altered and then total made of the marks obtained in the written test as well as the interview. Even with a naked eye, it appears that the marks obtained by the petitioner were originally 24 and the same reduced to 22 by subsequent correction and totally with this correction total was also brought down to 117 from 119. "

3. A perusal thereof would indicate the enormity of mal practices in the selection process. The question, therefore, is: whether the principle of natural justice is required to be followed by issuing notice to the selected persons and hearing them? It is true, as contended by Mr. Santosh Hedge, the learned senior counsel appearing for the petitioners, that in the case of selection of an individual if his selection is not found correct in accordance with law, necessarily, a notice is required to be issued and opportunity be given. In a case like mass mal-practice as noted by the Tribunal, as extracted hereinbefore, the question emerges: whether the notice was required to be issued to the persons affected and whether they needed to be heard? Nothing would become fruitful by issuance of notice. Fabrication would obviously either be not known or no one would come forward to bear the brunt. Under these circumstances, the Tribunal was right in not issuing notice to the persons who are said to have been selected and given selection and appointment. The procedures adopted are in flagrant breach of the rules offending Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution.

4. It is needless to mention that the General Manager of the Railways should personally conduct the enquiry and find the persons who are responsible for this mal-practice and take appropriate disciplinary action against those persons and submit the result of the report of the action to this Court expeditiously.

The appeals are accordingly dismissed. No costs".

45. In 2001 (3) ESC Allahabad 939, Dilip Kumar Goswami and others vs. Central Administrative Tribunal, Allahabad and others the Division Bench of this Court in para-7 thereof has held as under:-

"7. The decision to cancel an examination is an administrative decision and there is very little scope of judicial review of the same unless it is wholly arbitrary. In the present case, it cannot be said that the decision of the Railway Board was arbitrary, rather it was based on an inquiry by the Chairman who found irregularities in the same. No doubt the Chairman of the Railway Recruitment Board has given a different opinion in one of his affidavits in another petition, but this Court cannot in writ Jurisdiction weigh the evidence and come to a different conclusion. The scope of Judicial review has been considered at length by the Supreme Court in Tata Cellular v. Union of India, AIR 1996 SC 11. As held in that decision, it is not for the Court to consider whether a policy or decision is fair. The Court is only concerned with the manner in which the decision has been taken. The Court does not sit as a court of appeal to review the administrative decision, and hence the scope of interference under Article 226 of the Constitution in such matters is limited. In Pramod Kumar Rai v. L.I.C. 2000 (1) ESC 389 (All) this Court dismissed a similar petition, relying on its own decision In Union of India a. Akchhay Kumar Singh 1999 (4) AWC 3564."

46. In (2002) 3 SCC 146, Union of India and others vs. O. Chakradhar has held as under :-

"8. in our view the nature and the extent of illegalities and irregularities committed in conducting a selection will have to be scrutinized in each case so as to come to a conclusion about future course of action to be adopted in the matter. If the mischief played is no widespread and all pervasive, affecting the result, so as to make it difficult to pick out the persons who have been unlawfully benefited or wrongfully deprived of their selection, in such cases it will neither be possible nor necessary to issue individual show cause notices to each selectee. The only way out would be to cancel the whole selection. Motive behind the irregularities committed also has its relevance.

12. As per the report of the CBI whole selection smacks of mala fide and arbitrariness. All norms are said to have been violated with impunity at each stage viz. right from the stage of entertaining applications, with answer-sheets while in the custody of Chairman, in holding typing test, in interview and in the end while preparing final result. In such circumstances it may not be possible to pick out or choose any few persons in respect of whom alone the selection could be cancelled and their services in pursuance thereof could be terminated. The illegality and irregularity are so inter-mixed with the whole process of the selection that it becomes impossible to sort out right from the wrong or vice versa. The result of such a selection cannot be relied or acted upon. It is not a case where a question of misconduct on the part of a candidate is to be gone into but a case where those who conducted the selection have rendered it wholly unacceptable. Guilt of those who have been selected is not the question under consideration but the question is, could such selection be acted upon in the matter of public employment? We are therefore of the view that it is not one of those cases where it may have been possible to issue any individual notice of misconduct to each selectee and seek his explanation in regard to the large scale, widespread and all-pervasive illegalities and irregularities committed by those who conducted the selection which may of course possibly be for the benefit of those who have been selected but there may be a few who may have deserved selection otherwise but it is difficult to separate the cases of some of the candidates from the rest even if there may be some. The decision in the case of Krishna Yadav applies to the facts of the present case. The Railway Board's decision to cancel the selection cannot be faulted with. The appeal therefore deserve to be allowed."

48. The documents on record as well as the original documents relating to the entire selection which have been produced by the respondents show that irregularities have been committed on a mass scale. Not only selected candidates where their marks which were earlier low were enhanced through overwriting but in respect of other candidates also, after awarding them marks they have been marked (A) absent, and in the case of non selected candidates also it is observed that higher marks earlier awarded were reduced through overwriting. In the case of selected candidates it is noticed that in some cases their application forms were incomplete. They did not contain the date or place required to be mentioned. Photocopy of the educational testimonials were not filed along with application forms and even if filed there is no signature of the Committee showing that they had been checked and cross checked with the original as there was no signature of any such authority. It was also noticed that in the case of one candidate the requisite two years working experience which in the printed result was mentioned as one year and three months was later altered through overwriting to read as two years and two months to make such candidate eligible for selection. Therefore considering mass scale of irregularities in the selection, in my opinion, the respondents had no option but to cancel the entire selection. So far as the petitioners were concerned in each of their cases irregularities were discovered and has been noted hereinabove, therefore, the question of saving such a selection does not arise. It is therefore not open for the petitioners to claim an opportunity of hearing before cancellation of the selection. The irregularities in the selection being wide spread and rampant, the question of giving any show cause notice to the petitioners before its cancellation does not arise in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court herein above.

49. Learned Single Judge had interfered in the matter where the entire selection was cancelled on grounds of malpractice. The Supreme Court in (2003) 11 SCC 768 Union of India and others v.s Tarun K. Singh and others has held as under:-

"4. The question for consideration is whether the learned single Judge of Allahabad High Court was justified in interfering with an order of cancellation passed by the competent authority and direct that the process of selection should be completed. Needless to mention that subsequent to the order of cancellation, in view of the allegation of malpractice, the departmental authorities had held an enquiry into the matter and the result of that enquiry revealed gross irregularities and illegalities as referred to in the judgment of the Division Bench of Allahabad High Court. Consequently the process of selection to a public office, which stands vitiated by adoption of large scale malpractice, cannot be permitted to be sustained by a court of law. That apart, an individual applicant for any particular post does not get a right to be enforced by a Mandamus unless and until he is selected in the process of selection and gets the letter of appointment. In the case in hand, much before the so-called list of selection was approved by the Railway Board, the order of cancellation had emanated on the basis of complaints received from so many quarters. In view of the subsequent findings of the enquiry committee which has gone into the matter, we have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the learned single Judge of Allahabad High Court was wholly in error in issuing the direction in question and, therefore, the Division Bench of the Allahabad High Court was fully justified in interfering with the said order of learned single Judge of Allahabad High Court. The Division Bench of Calcutta High Court committed error in following the judgment of learned Single Judge of Allahabad High Court. The judgment of Division Bench of the Calcutta High Court is set aside and the judgment of Division Bench of Allahabad High Court is upheld. In the circumstances, we allow the Union's appeals and dismiss the appeals filed on behalf of the individual candidates. The appeals are disposed of accordingly. Any other question of law remains open."

50. In 2004 1 ESC Allahabad 444, Arvind Kumar Pipal and others vs. Commissioner, Trade Tax, U.P. Lucknow and others the Division Bench of this Court while upholding the cancellation of entire selection of Class-IV employees has held as under:-

"12. The judgment of Basudeo Tiwary's case (supra), relied by learned counsel for the appellant was also a case of an individual lecturer whose appointment was sought to be cancelled on allegation that Syndicate was not competent to appoint him at the relevant time. The above case is not applicable in the facts of the present case where serious allegation regarding the entire selection process has been made. The case of Shrawan Kumar Jha (supra), was a case on its own facts, The Apex Court specifically said in that judgment that "in the facts and circumstances of this case, we are of the view that the appellants should have been given an opportunity of hearing before cancelling their appointments". The Division Bench judgment of this Court in Vishwamitra Yadav's case (supra) was a case of cancellation of promotion of an individual who was working as Play Organizer in Observation Home at Basti and was promoted vide order dated 28th June, 1994. The said case is not applicable in the present case. The case of Muneshwar Dayal (supra), decided by learned single Judge of this Court was also a case of Class IV employee who was regularised by order dated 25th October, 1994 but subsequently by order dated 2nd January, 1996 his services were terminated. The said case is also not attracted in the facts of the present case. In Jawed Ahmad's case (supra) a learned Judge of this Court had held that petitioners were selected for appointment on the post in question after following the procedure prescribed under Rules, they were lawfully appointed on the post and were discharging their duties and in that background of the abovesaid observations, this Court held that cancellation of the appointment without notice was bad. Sanjeev Kumar's case (supra) is again a judgment by learned single Judge of this Court. In the aforesaid case services of the petitioners were terminated 'as no longer required'. The above case was not a case of cancellation of entire selection process on any ground.

13. The order dated 3rd January, 2003 which was impugned in the writ petition gives detail reasons for cancelling the entire selection. The order notices that although 3559 applications were received but only 2209 candidates were called and there was no decision of the selection committed for rejecting the applications of 1350 candidates. The order further records that in the board sheet marks were not given to 66 candidates by the Chairman/ appointing authority whereas other members of the Selection Committee gave marks to them. There was difference of marks with regard to several candidates. The board sheet with regard to several candidates was also changed. The order records that no merit list after compiling the marks of all the candidates secured in the interview was prepared and there are no signatures of the members of selection committee. The impugned order further notes that a review selection committee was constituted on 2nd January, 2003 and the selection committee after reviewing the selection process and considering all relevant facts recommended for cancellation of entire selection process and appointment. The selection committee which has earlier recommended the appointment having itself taken a decision to cancel the appointment after reconsidering the entire fact, it is clearly established that entire selection process was vitiated. The irregularities and illegalities committed in the selection process pertain to the entire selection process and were not confined to any individual candidate. In view of the above facts, in the present case, the decision of the respondents to cancel the appointments in pursuance of illegal and irregular selection process cannot be termed to be as arbitrary based on no valid reasons. No grounds have been made out to interfere with the decision of the competent authority to cancel all the appointments in exercise of jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution. The learned single Judge rightly refused to interfere with the impugned order.

14. In above view of the matter, we are satisfied that in facts of the present case, individual notice was not required to be given to all the selected candidates and the decision of the authority cancelling all the appointments was based on valid reasons. The learned single Judge has rightly refused to interfere with the decision of authorities to cancel all the appointments."

52. Large scale irregularities and mass malpractices in the selection in question having been established from the documents on record and the documents in original, produced by the respondents, the allegations of malafides, merely because complaints against the selection were made by an M P and an MLA, are wholly frivolous and have no legs to stand and are rejected.

53. Therefore on a conspectus of facts and law, I find no illegality or irregularity in the impugned orders.

54. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

55. No order as to cost.

56. Let the original records be returned to the learned standing counsel.

1. The petition seeks the quashing of the order dated 7 October 2013 passed by the State Public Services Tribunal¹ in Claim Petition No. 1436 of 2008 that was filed by Virendra Singh, who has been impleaded as respondent no.2 in this petition. The claim petition was filed for setting aside the orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008 passed by the Superintending Engineer and the Executive Engineer respectively posted at Etawah in the Irrigation Department of the State Government. A further direction that was sought in the claim petition was that Virendra Singh should be treated to be in continuous service on a class IV post and for payment of arrears of salary with consequential benefits. The claim petition was allowed by the Tribunal and the orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008 were set aside. The Department was also directed to treat Virendra Singh to be in continuous service on a Class IV post with all consequential benefits.

2. The order dated 17 March 2008 passed by the Superintending Engineer seeks to cancel the earlier orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008. The former order granted appointment to Virendra Singh on a class IV post in the work-charge establishment by giving him the benefit of a Circular dated 7 February 1997 that deals with regularization of daily wage workers on fulfillment of certain conditions, while the latter order seeks to appoint Virendra Singh in the regular establishment.

3. The Circular dated 7 February 1997 provides for regularisation of muster roll/daily wage workers engaged in the work-charge establishment of the Irrigation Department. It inter-alia provides that muster roll/daily wage employees working in the work-charge establishment who have worked for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and have also worked regularly upto the date of issuance of the Circular shall be considered for regularisation on the basis of seniority by a Committee consisting of the Superintending Engineer as the Chairman, an Executive Engineer nominated by the Superintending Engineer and three Assistant Engineers.

4. Virendra Singh had earlier filed Writ Petition No.28366 of 1999² with an allegation that he had been engaged as a daily wage employee on the post of a driver on 6 March 1995 and had worked upto 12 September 1995, whereafter he was appointed by an order dated 2 September 1998 for three months but he was not permitted to work thereafter. In this said petition, Virendra Singh also claimed the benefit of regularisation of his services in terms of the Circular dated 7 February

1997. This petition was dismissed on 17 May 2001 and the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 was denied to Virendra Singh for the reason that he had not worked for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 nor had he worked continuously upto the date of issuance of the Circular.

5. However, concealing the filing of the first petition and its dismissal on 17 May 2001, Virendra Singh filed two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 before the Department claiming the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. It was alleged that he had worked on daily wage basis on the post of driver in the Department from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999. Virendra Singh thereafter filed Writ Petition No.54749 of 2006³ with a prayer that he may be regularized as a Class-IV employee in the Irrigation Department on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. This petition was disposed of by the High Court on 13 November 2007 with a direction that the said representations filed by Virendra Singh should be decided.

6. It is as a consequence of the aforesaid direction of the High Court that by order dated 18 January 2008 the services of Virendra Singh were regularised in the work-charge establishment and by order dated 21 January 2008 he was posted in the regular establishment. However, immediately on 22 January 2008 when the correct facts were placed, these two orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008 were kept in abeyance and ultimately by the order dated 17 March 2008, these two orders were set aside by the Superintending Engineer. Subsequently, the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 filed by Virendra Singh were examined and rejected by the Executive Engineer by the order dated 19 March 2008.

7. These orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008 were assailed by Virendra Singh in the claim petition before the Tribunal. The Tribunal allowed the claim petition by order dated 7 October 2013. The Tribunal found that the order dated 17 March 2008 was based on incorrect facts for the reason that the regularisation of Virendra Singh on the post of Beldar in the work charge establishment and appointment on the post of Chaukidar in the regular establishment had been made by orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008 in compliance of the order passed by the High Court on 13 November 2007 in the second petition filed by Virendra Singh, but the order dated 17 March 2008 refers to the dismissal of the first petition on 17 May 2001, which petition related to the post of driver and not to the post of Beldar or Chaukidar. The Tribunal also observed that the orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008 were not in existence when the High Court passed the order on 17 May 2001 and so there could have been no occasion for quashing these two orders pursuant to a judgment rendered by the High Court on 17 May 2001. Insofar as the order dated 19 March 2008 is concerned, all that has been mentioned by the Tribunal is that it was apparent that Virendra Singh had worked for more than 240 days and the claim of the Department that he had not worked for more than 240 days was not correct in view of the letter dated 14 September 2005 written by the Executive Engineer to the Superintending Engineer. The Tribunal, accordingly, set aside the orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008.

8. Ms. Meenakshi Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the writ petitioners has submitted that :

(i) the Tribunal committed a patent illegality in setting aside the order dated 17 March 2008 passed by the Superintending Engineer and the order dated 19 March 2008 passed by the Executive Engineer as Virendra Singh was not entitled to the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997;

(ii) the Circular dated 7 February 1997 confers benefit of regularisation of services to a muster roll employee/daily wage employee in the work-charge establishment of the Irrigation Department provided he had worked for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and had thereafter continuously worked upto the issuance of the Circular on 7 February 1997. In view of the specific averments made by Virendra Singh in the first petition that he was engaged as a jeep driver on daily wage basis on 6 March 1995 and continued to work only upto 12 September 1995 prior to the issuance of the Circular, the claim of Virendra Singh that he was engaged even prior to 1 January 1993 or even before 6 March 1995 on daily wage basis and continued to work as such upto 7 February 1997 was absolutely false and even otherwise, there was no documentary evidence to substantiate this claim;

(iii) Virendra Singh in his representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 did not mention the filing of the first petition nor did he state that his claim for regularisation on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 had been rejected in that writ petition that was dismissed on 17 May 2001. Virendra Singh, therefore, concealed material facts in his representations and obtained the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 by deliberately stating false facts;

(iv) in the two representations dated on 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006, Virendra Singh stated that he had worked as a daily wager on the post of a jeep driver from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999 whereas, in fact, in the first petition he specifically stated that prior to 6 March 1995 he was unemployed and was engaged in the Department only on 6 March 1995 on daily wage basis as a jeep driver and had worked upto 12 September 1995. Thus, the total period of engagement of Virendra Singh as a daily wager in the Department on the post of jeep driver was from 6 March 1995 upto 12 September 1995 and he could not have been given the benefit of Circular dated 7 February 1997;

(v) the order dated 19 March 2008 was passed by the Executive Engineer after examining the records and as Virendra Singh did not satisfy the terms of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, the representations were rightly rejected;

(vi) the Tribunal in a very casual manner dealt with the orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008. The order dated 17 March 2008 has been completely misinterpreted by the Tribunal and the order dated 19 March 2008 which was passed after examining the entire records has been set aside merely on the basis of a note put up by the Executive Engineer, whereas by a specific order passed in 2006, the claim of Virendra Singh had earlier been rejected;

(vii) even in the second petition, Virendra Singh did not bring to the notice of the Court the judgment dated 17 May 2001 by which the first petition filed by him had been dismissed; and

(viii) Virendra Singh had, therefore, not only misled the Department by filing the two representations but also misled the Tribunal and the High Court and heavy costs should be imposed upon Virendra Singh for this act.

9. Sri Siddharth Singhal, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Virendra Singh, however, defended the order passed by the Tribunal and submitted :

(i) the Tribunal committed no illegality in allowing the claim petition and quashing the orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008;

(ii) the order dated 18 January 2008 correctly conferred the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 upon Virendra Singh by appointing him in the work-charge establishment and thereafter the order dated 21 January 2008 placed him in the regular establishment;

(iii) Virendra Singh had in the second petition disclosed the filing of the first petition and, therefore, it cannot be said that he had concealed any material fact from the Court and that it was incumbent upon the Department to have established that fraud had been committed by Virendra Singh.

10. We have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties.

11. The basic issue that arises for consideration in this petition is whether Virendra Singh who had been engaged as a daily wage employee in the Department was entitled to the benefit of regularisation under the Circular dated 7 February 1997.

12. This benefit was claimed by Virendra Singh in the first petition that was filed by him and, therefore, it is necessary to refer to what was stated by Virendra Singh in the said petition. This petition was filed by Virendra Singh for a direction to the respondents to permit him to work on the post of a jeep driver in view of the order dated 2 September 1998 issued by the Executive Engineer. In the said petition, Virendra Singh stated that he possessed a valid driving licence and being unemployed was in search of a job either in government or private service and when he came to know in 1995 that a post of jeep driver was vacant in the Irrigation Department at Etawah, he met the Executive Engineer who informed him that a post of a driver was vacant due to long leave of Pyare Lal and he could be appointed on the post of jeep driver on daily wage basis. Virendra Singh further stated that he accepted the offer and was given charge of a jeep on 6 March 1995 whereafter he worked regularly upto 12 September 1995. Subsequently, in the year 1998 he came to know that a temporary vacancy had been notified so he again met the Executive Engineer for being provided engagement on daily wage basis and he was given charge of the jeep on 1 January 1998. Thereafter, he worked regularly upto 31 August 1998 without break. Subsequently, an order dated 2 September 1998 was passed appointing him as jeep driver for a period of three months but from 1 July 1999 he was not permitted to work. The relevant paragraphs of the said petition are reproduced below :

"2. That briefly facts stated are that petitioner has a valid Driving Licence for driving Heavy Four Wheel vehicle such as Trucks, Buses, Jeeps and cars. Being an unemployed youth petitioner was in search of some job either in Government service or in private services.

3. That during search in the year 1995, he came to know that a post of Jeep Driver is lying vacant in the office of respondents, as such petitioner personally met with respondent no.2 in march 1995 and requested him to appoint petitioner on the post of Jeep Driver. The respondent no.2 told petitioner that the post is not a substantive post and the same is lying vacant due to long leave of a permanent employee as such petitioner could be appointed on the post of Jeep Driver on daily wages basis.

4. That being unemployed petitioner accepted the offer of respondent no.2 and he was given charge of the jeep on 6 March 1995. Since 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 petitioner has regularly worked as a Jeep Driver under respondent no.2 on daily wage basis. In all petitioner worked for 188 days regularly without any break."

6. That thereafter in the year 1998 since January a temporary vacancy was again notified and as and when the petitioner has come to know about the said vacancy, petitioner at once met with respondent no. 2 personally and requested him to appoint on the said vacancy of Jeep Driver. The petitioner was again appointed on the post of Jeep Driver on daily wages basis and he was given charge of Jeep No. UP 82/8587 on 1 January 1998.

7. That since 1 January 1998 to 31 August 1998 petitioner has regularly worked on the post of Jeep Driver without any break.

18. That when on 1 July 1999 petitioner has gone to his duty the respondent no.2 has not permitted him either to sign the log book of the jeep or to take charge of the jeep".

13. This petition was dismissed by a detailed order dated 17 May 2001. The Court held that Virendra Singh had never been given an appointment on a regular basis and even the appointment order dated 2 September 1998 which he had enclosed indicated that his appointment was for a period of three months only on temporary basis after which, it was stated, that his services would automatically come to an end. The Court also noted that he had never been appointed by following any process of recruitment and that he had no right to continue on the post nor was he entitled to any mandamus to continue on the post. The Court noted that in the counter affidavit filed by the respondents it was also stated that the order dated 2 September 1998 had subsequently been cancelled on 19 September 1998 since the Executive Engineer was not the competent authority to issue the appointment order. The claim of Virendra Singh based on a communication for implementation of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 for regularisation of such daily wage employees who had completed 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and were continuously working in the work-charge establishment upto the date of issue of the circular was also rejected as Virendra Singh had not worked prior to 1 January 1993 on daily wage basis. Accordingly, the benefit of the said Circular was not given to Virendra Singh and the first petition was dismissed.

14. Virendra Singh filed Special Appeal No. 521 of 2003 to challenge the aforesaid order. The Special Appeal was dismissed on 4 August 2010 for non-prosecution.

15. It transpires that Virendra Singh thereafter filed two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 for regularisation of his services. The representation dated 4 January 2006 filed before the Principal Secretary (Irrigation) states that Virendra Singh had been working in the Lower Ganga Canal, Etawah on a daily wage basis on the post of a driver continuously from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999 and to support this plea he enclosed the certificates issued by the then Executive Engineer showing his working from 1 April 1990 to 30 September 1994, from 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 and thereafter from 1 January 1996 upto 18 May 1999. The representation further states that in view of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, Virendra Singh was entitled to be appointed in the work-charge establishment but the then Superintending Engineer did not grant him appointment. In this connection, he stated that the Superintending Engineer in his communication dated 20 January 2005 had called for report from the Executive Engineer who made a recommendation for appointment of Virendra Singh on a Class IV post in the work-charge establishment/regular establishment in view of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 but the Superintending Engineer constituted a Committee by order dated 10 October 2005 for consideration of his case for regularisation of his services. However, as this Committee did not include the Chairman, the Superintending Engineer constituted another Committee by order dated 26 November 2005 but this order was cancelled by a subsequent order dated 23 December 2005. A request was, therefore, made in the representation to regularise his services in view of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. The subsequent representation dated 10 June 2006 filed by Virendra Singh to the Chief Engineer mentions the same facts.

16. What needs to be noticed is that these two representations do not mention the filing of the first petition in which Virendra Singh had claimed that he started working as a daily wage employee in the Department on the post of a driver from 6 March 1995 upto 12 September 1995 and thereafter from 1 January 1998 to 31 August 1998, nor did Virendra Singh mention that his claim for regularisation on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 had been rejected in the judgment delivered in the aforesaid writ petition on 17 May 2001.

17. It also needs to be noted that when no decision was taken on the two representations, Virendra Singh filed the second petition in 2006 with the following reliefs :-

"a. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to regularise the petitioner's services as class IV employee in the irrigation department in work charge establishment or in regular establishment since the date of Government Order dated 07.02.1997;

b. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents as to pay salary to the petitioner in the department.

c. issue any writ, order or direction which the Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case.

d. to allow the writ petition and award the cost in favour of the petitioner".

18. This second petition was filed claiming regularisation on a Class IV post in the Irrigation Department. It was stated that Virendra Singh had filed representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 for regularisation of his services on a class IV post but no decision had been taken. The said petition was disposed of on 13 November 2007 with the following observations :-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

The petitioner is claiming regularisation in service on the post of class IV employee in the irrigation department on the basis of the Regularisation of Daily Wagers Rules, 2001 and the Government Orders issued from time to time the petitioners already submitted his representation in this regard to the authority concerned i.e. the Executive Engineer on 4.1.2006 and again on 10.10.2006 but no action or decision is taken.

Learned Standing counsel submits that since the representation of the petitioner for regularisation of service is already pending before the Executive Engineer, the same shall be considered and decided by the authority concerned.

In view of the submissions made, no fruitful purposes shall be served in keeping the writ petition pending. It is accordingly, disposed of with a direction to the respondent No.5 Executive Engineer, Etawah Prakhanda, Nichli Ganga Nahar, Etawah to consider and decide the representation of the petitioner for regularising his services strictly in accordance with the Rules and the Government Orders as expeditiously as possible, preferably within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order before him.

With the above observations, the writ petition is disposed of."

19. The order dated 18 January 2008 was then passed by the Superintending Engineer pursuant to the aforesaid direction that was issued by the High Court on 13 November 2007. The order mentions that since Virendra Singh had worked as a daily wage employee for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 in the work-charge establishment and was working as a daily wager upto the date of the issuance of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, he was being regularised on the post of a Beldar in the work-charge establishment from the date he would join the post.

20. A subsequent order dated 21 January 2008 was thereafter issued. This order refers to the regularisation of Virendra Singh by order dated 18 January 2008 and seeks to appoint him on a temporary post of a Chaukidar in the regular establishment with posting in the Etawah Division, Nichali Ganga Nahar, Etawah.

21. Immediately thereafter an order dated 22 January 2008 was issued by the Superintending Engineer to keep in abeyance the orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008. Virendra Singh then filed Writ Petition No.5711 of 2008⁴ to assail the said order dated 22 January 2008 passed by the Superintending Engineer. This petition was dismissed as being premature as a final decision had not been taken. However, an observation was made that the Executive Engineer should take a decision by a speaking order after affording an opportunity of hearing to Virendra Singh.

22. The Superintending Engineer then passed a detailed order dated 17 March 2008 for cancellation of the orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008. After making reference to the earlier orders dated 18 January 2008, 21 January 2008 and 22 January 2008, the Superintending Engineer noted that on examination of the records and the files available in the Division it was clear that the Divisional Office had sent a detailed note dated 20 April 2006 to the Chief Engineer stating that the appointment of Virendra Singh in the work-charge establishment/regular establishment would not be justified. The Superintending Engineer also noted that the first petition earlier filed by Virendra Singh had been dismissed. It is for this reason that the Superintending Engineer cancelled the earlier orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008.

23. On cancellation of the orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008, the Executive Engineer proceeded to decide afresh the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 that had been filed by Virendra Singh for regularisation of his services. This exercise was undertaken pursuant to the direction issued by the High Court on 13 November 2007 in the second petition filed by Virendra Singh as the earlier order dated 18 January 2008 deciding the representations had been cancelled by the Superintending Engineer. The two representations were decided by the order dated 19 March 2008. The Executive Engineer, after noticing the three writ petitions that had been filed by Virendra Singh, observed that for deciding the two representations, the documents submitted by Virendra Singh were required to be verified from the office of the Division. It was found that for the years 1990, 1991 and 1992, there were no records regarding the work performed by the daily wagers. However, muster roll was available for 26 days in 1994 and two months in 1995, and for the months from January 1999 to May 1999, log book was available. The order mentions that there was no evidence on the record which could substantiate the claim of Virendra Singh that he had worked for 240 days prior to 1 January 1993 or had worked as a daily wage employee upto the issuance of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. The order thereafter considers the documents submitted by Virendra Singh namely, (i) the experience certificate dated 11 September 1995 issued by J.N. Rawat, the then Executive Engineer regarding the work performed by Virendra Singh as a jeep driver from 1 April 1990 to 30 September 1994; (ii) the experience certificate given by J.N. Rawat, the then Executive Engineer regarding work performed by Virendra Singh for 188 days in the year 1995; and (iii) the experience certificate given by A.R. Fatmi, the then Executive Engineer regarding the work performed by Virendra Singh as a Driver from 1 January 1996 to 18 May 1999. The Executive Engineer found that copies of these three certificates were not available in the office nor they appeared to have been issued from the office and the documents maintained in the office did not also substantiate the claim set up by Virendra Singh that he had ever worked for 240 days or more in one calendar year. In fact, the Government Orders relating to engagement of workers on muster roll gave power to the Executive Engineer for engagement only for a period of one month, to the Superintending Engineer for engagement upto three months and to the Chief Engineer for engagement for any period above that. The certificates produced by Virendra Singh nor the documents maintained in the office indicated that prior approval had ever been given to the appointment of Virendra Singh. In such circumstances, the Executive Engineer concluded that the certificates relied upon by Virendra Singh were of no benefit to him. The Executive Engineer also noticed that the first petition filed by Virendra Singh was dismissed on 17 May 2001 and under the Circular dated 7 February 1997 regularisation could be done only if a daily wage employee had worked for 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and was continuously working upto the date of issuance of the Circular. The Executive Engineer did not accept the claim of Virendra Singh that he had worked for 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and had continuously been working for more than 240 days upto 7 February 1997. The Executive Engineer also noted that the contention of Virendra Singh that the then Superintending Engineer had constituted a Committee for regularisation of the services of Virendra Singh but the constitution of the Committee had been cancelled and the next Committee had not passed any order for regularisation in the absence of any document on record. The representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 filed by Virendra Singh were, accordingly, rejected by the Executive Engineer by the order dated 19 March 2008.

24. The claim petition was filed by Virendra Singh before the Tribunal to assail the two orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008 with the following averments :

"That the petitioner, who was having requisite qualification for appointment to the post of driver was appointed on the post of driver on 1 April 1990 in the office of Executive Engineer, Lower Ganga Canal, Division, Etawah on daily wage basis and the petitioner was allowed to work, as such upto 18 May 1999. The petitioner has worked on daily wage basis as driver of Jeep No. UTC/1325, UPT/8824, UP75/ 2433, UP75/9256 and UP82/8587. The petitioner was issued certificates regarding his work and conduct as driver by the respondent no.5, which make explicit that the petitioner has satisfactorily worked as jeep driver with effect from 1 April 1990 to 30 September 1994.

That thereafter the petitioner was also allowed to work as jeep driver on daily wage/muster roll and he was accordingly paid salary for 188 days for the period 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 and a certificate in this regard was duly issued by the Executive Engineer, Ganga Canal Division, Etawah on 6 December 2005".

25. The Tribunal allowed the claim petition by order dated 7 October 2013 and the relevant portion is as follows:

"On consideration of arguments, facts and records put up by both the parties, we found that main contention of the petitioner is that the regularisation of the petitioner on the post of Beldar and Chaukidar has been made by the opposite parties by impugned orders dated 18.1.2008 and 21.1.2008 (Annexure-25 and 27) respectively and the impugned order dated 17.3.2008 has been passed in compliance of the Hon'ble High Court's order, which has been passed on 17.5.2001 (Annexure-13) pertaining to the matter for the post of driver and not to the post of Beldar and Chaukidar, therefore, this impugned order dated 17.3.2008 (Annexure-1) is based on incorrect facts. The main contention of the opposite parties is that petitioner has not worked for 240 days, therefore, the impugned orders dated 17.3.2008 and 19.3.2008 (Annexure-1 and 2) have been passed. Now the point for consideration is whether the Hon'ble High Court has decided the regularisation of the petitioner by its judgment dated 17.05.2001 (Annexure-13) or not? Whether petitioner has worked for 240 days or not? While considering these two points, we found that Hon'ble High Court has passed the order on 17.5.2001 (Annexure-13) in writ petition no.28366 of 1999 pertaining to the working of the petitioner on the post of Jeep driver, whereas the regularisation of the petitioner has been done by the opposite parties later on dates 18.1.2008 and 21.1.2008 (Annexure-25 and 27). The opposite parties while passing the impugned order dated 17.3.2008 (Annexure-1) to cancel the regularisation of the petitioner made on the post of Beldar and Chaukidar vide orders dated 18.1.2009 and 21.1.2008 (Annexure-25 and 27) has mentioned the Hon'ble High Court's order dated 17.5.2001. In fact these two orders dated 18.1.2008 and 21.1.2008 (Annexures-25 and 27) were not in existence when Hon'ble High Court has passed its order on 17.5.2001 (Annexure-13), therefore, there is no question of considering these two orders by the Hon'ble High Court. Thus impugned order dated 17.3.2008 (Annexure-13) is based on incorrect fact, the correct position is that opposite parties have passed the order dated 18.1.2008 and 21.1.2008 after a gap of seven years of the Hon'ble High Court's order dated 17.5.2001 (Annexure-13).

So far as the impugned order dated 19.3.2008 (Annexure-2) is concerned, the reliability of Annexure-8, which is a letter dated 14.9.2005 written by the Executive Engineer to the Superintending Engineer clearly proves that petitioner has performed his duties more than 240 days, therefore, his regularisation on the post of Beldar and Chaukidar done by the opposite parties is correct and the arguments of the opposite parties that he has not worked for 240 days is not sustainable in the light of these facts mentioned in Annexure-8, which is a letter written by the Executive Engineer to Superintending Engineer on 14.9.2005."

26. The main issue that arises for consideration is whether Virendra Singh, who had been working as a daily wager in the work-charge establishment of the Irrigation Department, fulfilled the conditions set out in the Circular dated 7 February 1997 for regularisation of his services.

27. In order to get the benefit of the said Circular, it was incumbent upon Virendra Singh to have substantiated that he had worked as a daily wager for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 in the work-charge establishment and thereafter continuously as a daily wage employee upto the date of issuance of the Circular on 7 February 1997.

28. The averments made by Virendra Singh in the first petition, therefore, assume importance. Virendra Singh specifically stated in the said writ petition that he held a valid driving licence and being an unemployed youth was in search of a Government job and when he came to know in 1995 that a post of jeep driver was vacant in the Irrigation Department, he met the Executive Engineer who informed him that a post of driver was lying vacant and he could be appointed on daily wage basis. Virendra Singh specifically stated that being unemployed, he accepted the offer and was given charge of a driver on 6 March 1995 and he worked regularly as a jeep driver on daily wage basis upto 12 September 1995. After that, he was again, on 1 January 1998, engaged as a jeep driver on daily wage basis and he worked regularly upto 31 August 1998. This clearly establishes that prior to 6 March 1995, Virendra Singh was unemployed and was not working on daily wage basis in the work-charge establishment of the Irrigation Department. This petition was dismissed on 17 May 2001 and the claim of Virendra Singh on the basis of the the Circular dated 7 February 2016 was also rejected for the reason that he was not working as a daily wage basis in the work-charge establishment as on 1 January 1993 and in fact had been engaged only on 6 March 1995. Virendra Singh filed Special Appeal No.521 of 2003 which was also dismissed in default on 4 August 2010.

29. What appears is that in order to avail of the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 despite his claim having been rejected in the first petition, Virendra Singh filed a representation dated 4 January 2006 before the Principal Secretary (Irrigation) alleging that he had worked on daily wage basis in the Lower Ganga Canal continuously from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999 on the post of a driver and for this purpose, he enclosed certain certificates said to have been issued by the then Executive Engineer showing his working from 1 April 1990 to 30 September 1994, from 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 and thereafter from 1 January 1996 upto 18 May 1999. On the basis of these certificates, Virendra Singh claimed regularisation on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. The subsequent representation dated 10 June 2006 submitted to the Chief Engineer also mentions the same facts. There is no manner of doubt that the averments made by Virendra Singh in the aforesaid two representations that he had worked as a daily wager from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999 continuously on the post of a driver were false and made with the sole object of getting the benefit of Circular dated 7 February 1997. Virendra Singh in the first petition, as noted above, had come out with a categorical case that prior to 6 March 1995 he was unemployed though he had a valid driving licence. He also specifically stated that he had worked on daily wage basis only from 6 March 1995 upto 12 September 1995 and thereafter from 1 January 1998 to 31 August 1998. What is important to note is that in the representations, Virendra

Singh did not disclose to the Department that he had filed the first petition and that the said petition had been dismissed on 17 May 2001. He also did not disclose that his claim for regularisation under the Circular dated 7 February 1997 had been rejected by the High Court in its judgment dated 17 May 2001 for the reason that he was not working on daily wage basis on 1 January 1993 as he had been engaged as a daily wage employee only on 6 March 1995 as a jeep driver. Even in the second petition that Virendra Singh subsequently filed in which a direction was issued to decide the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006, he did not place on record the judgment delivered by the High Court on 17 May 2001 in the first petition. What also needs to be noticed is that though a prayer had been made in the writ petition for regularising his services as a Class IV employee in the Irrigation Department in the work-charge establishment/regular establishment in view of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, what was submitted before the High Court, as is clear from the judgment, is that his services should be regularised under the U.P. Regularisation of Daily Wages Appointment on Group 'D' Posts Rules, 2001.

30. The Superintending Engineer, to ensure compliance of the directions of the High Court, issued the order dated 18 January 2008. This order merely refers to the order dated 13 November 2007 passed by the High Court in the second petition filed by Virendra Singh and then mentions that since he had worked for 240 days as a daily wager as on 1 January 1993 in the work-charge establishment and had been regularly working as a daily wage employee upto the date of issuance of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, he was being regularised on the post of Beldar in the work-charge establishment. The order does not refer to any record on the basis of which the Superintending Engineer could conclude that Virendra Singh had completed 240 days in the work-charge establishment as on 1 January 1993 and had been continuously working as such upto 7 February 1997. The subsequent order dated 21 January 2008 merely appoints Virendra Singh as a Chaukidar on a temporary basis in the regular establishment. These two orders were, however, immediately kept in abeyance on 22 January 2008 and were ultimately cancelled by the Superintending Engineer by order dated 17 March 2008. The said order was passed after examination of the entire records including the order dated 20 April 2006 which found that Virendra Singh was not entitled to be regularised. The order dated 17 March 2008 also refers to the filing of the first petition and its dismissal by the order dated 17 May 2001.

31. Thereafter, to ensure compliance of the direction issued by the High Court on 13 November 2007 in the second petition for deciding the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006, as the order dated 18 January 2008 which decided the representations was cancelled, the Executive Engineer passed a detailed order dated 19 March 2008. This order examines in detail the records that were available in the Department as also the three writ petitions that were filed by Virendra Singh. A categorical finding of fact has been recorded in the order that there was no record available in the Department to substantiate the claim of Virendra Singh that he had worked as a daily wager for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and then continuously upto the issuance of the Circular on 7 February 1997. The certificates, on which reliance was placed by Virendra Singh, except the certificate which indicated that he had worked from 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 were not relied upon as copies were neither available in the Department nor were they factually correct. These two orders dated 17 March 2008 and 19 March 2008 were assailed before the Tribunal.

32. At this stage, it is necessary to emphasise on the contrary stand taken by Virendra Singh in the first petition and the averments made by him in the claim petition. In the first petition, Virendra Singh stated :

"..... Being an unemployed youth petitioner was in search of some job either in Government service or in private services.

That during search in the year 1995, he came to know that a post of Jeep Driver is lying vacant in the office of respondents.

That being unemployed petitioner accepted the offer of respondent no.2 and he was given charge of the jeep on 6 March 1995. Since 6 March 1995 to 12 September 1995 petitioner has regularly worked as a Jeep Driver under respondent no.2 on daily wage basis. In all petitioner worked for 188 days regularly without any break."

33. However, in the claim petition he stated that he was appointed on daily wages on the post of a jeep driver on 1 April 1990 and was allowed to work upto 18 May 1999. The averment is reproduced :-

"That the petitioner, who was having requisite qualification for appointment to the post of driver was appointed on the post of driver on 1 April 1990 in the office of Executive Engineer, Lower Ganga Canal, Division, Etawah on daily wage basis and the petitioner was allowed to work, as such upto 18 May 1999"

34. The Tribunal, however, found fault with the order dated 17 March 2008 passed by the Superintending Engineering for cancellation of the earlier orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008 for the reason that both the orders were not in existence when the High Court decided the first petition on 17 May 2001 and that the regularization was done on the post of Beldar and not on the post of a Jeep Driver. Accordingly, the Tribunal held that the judgment dated 17 May 2001 passed in the first petition filed by Virendra Singh could not have been made the basis for cancelling the orders dated 18 January 2008 and 21 January 2008. The Tribunal completely failed to notice that the order dated 17 March 2008 also refers to the order dated 20 April 2006 by which the claim of Virendra Singh for regularisation was not found to be correct and that in the two representations Virendra Singh had stated that he was working as a jeep driver on daily wage basis and not as a beldar. The Tribunal also failed to consider that the judgment delivered on 17 May 2001 in the first petition rejected the claim of Virendra Singh for regularisation of his services in the work-charge establishment on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. Infact the Tribunal did not even consider it appropriate to refer to the judgment though it was referred to in the order impugned before the Tribunal. In the written statement filed to the claim petition, the Department had also clearly denied the averments made in the claim petition but there is no mention of the averments made in the written statement. While dealing with the order dated 19 March 2008 passed by the Executive Engineer to reject the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006, the Tribunal completely failed to examine the facts stated in the order. It appears that the Tribunal was only concerned with the recommendation made by the Executive Engineer to the Superintending Engineer in the communication dated 14 September 2005. The said recommendation was of no benefit as the Superintending Engineer had thereafter constituted a Committee to examine the claim as was required under the Circular and the Committee did not make any recommendation. The Executive Engineer had in the order dated 19 March 2008 found as a fact that Virendra Singh was not working as a daily wager as on 1 January 1993 nor was there any evidence to substantiate that he had worked regularly on a daily wage basis upto 7 February 1997 when the Circular was issued. The Tribunal also completely failed to examine the averments made by Virendra Singh in the first petition and the judgment delivered in that petition on 17 May 2001. It is clear that in his anxiety to claim the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997, Virendra Singh set up an absolutely false claim in the two representations dated 4 January 2006 and 10 June 2006 that he had been engaged as a jeep driver on daily wage basis in the work-charge establishment of the Irrigation Department from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999. Virendra Singh deliberately and for ulterior motives did not mention the filing of the first petition and its dismissal by the judgment dated 17 May 2001 because in that case, he would not have been able to claim the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 as this benefit had clearly been denied to him in the judgment delivered in the said petition. Even in the subsequent second petition, Virendra Singh did not mention that the first petition that he had filed, had been dismissed by judgment dated 17 May 2001 and that his claim for regularisation on the basis of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 had been rejected. In the second petition, Virendra Singh again sought the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997 for regularisation of his services and obtained an order for disposal of the two representations. The Superintending Engineer, while passing the order dated 18 January 2008, as noted above, failed to examine the document on the basis of which Virendra Singh was claiming regularisation and only a bald statement was made in the order that Virendra Singh had worked for more than 240 days as on 1 January 1993 and was regularly working on daily wage basis upto the issuance of the Circular dated 7 February 1997.

35. What also needs to be noted is that Virendra Singh had placed reliance on certificates alleged to have been issued by the then Executive Engineer regarding his engagements. Neither did he bring on record any document to show that he had received wages for the said period nor any such statement was made either in the representations or in the writ petition. On the contrary, the specific averment that was made by Virendra Singh in the first petition was that he was engaged as a jeep driver on daily wage basis on 6 March 1995 and worked on daily wage basis upto 12 September 1995. A deliberate false statement was, therefore, made in the two representations and the claim petition that he was engaged as a jeep driver from 1 April 1990 to 18 May 1999.

36. The order of the Tribunal, therefore, cannot be sustained and deserves to be set aside.

37. What is also important is that while entertaining this writ petition, the Division Bench on 9 May 2014 directed Virendra Singh to file his personal affidavit to indicate whether he had disclosed the judgment dated 17 May 2001 passed in the first petition in the representations before the Authority and as to whether such facts were disclosed before the High Court in the second petition. In the affidavit filed by Virendra Singh in response to the said directions of the High court, a copy of the second second petition has been enclosed. In paragraph 10 of the affidavit, all that has been stated is that the first petition had been filed against the order dated 19 September 1998 that cancelled the order dated 2 September 1998 and this petition was dismissed on 17 May 2001 against which a Special Appeal was preferred. Virendra Singh has, therefore, not only misled the Department but also the High Court for securing the benefit of the Circular dated 7 February 1997. It is, therefore, a case where not only the order passed by the Tribunal on 7 October 2013 should be set aside but costs should also be imposed upon Virendra Singh for deliberately concealing material facts and also stating incorrect facts before the Department as well as before the Tribunal and this Court.

38. Thus, for all the reasons stated above, the order dated 7 October 2013 passed by the Tribunal is set aside and the claim petition shall stand dismissed. As Virendra Singh had deliberately mislead the Department and this Court, we consider it appropriate to impose costs of Rs.25,000/- on Virendra Singh which shall be deposited by him before the Registrar General of the Court within a period of two months from today. On deposit of such cost, it shall be transmitted to the account of the Allahabad High Court, Mediation and Conciliation Centre. If Virendra Singh fails to deposit the cost, the Registrar General of the Court shall inform the District Magistrate, Etawah for recovery of the said amount as arrears of the land revenue and after recovering the said amount, it shall be transmitted to the Registrar General of the Court for depositing it in the account of the Allahabad High Court, Mediation and Conciliation Centre.

39. The writ petition is, accordingly, allowed with the aforesaid directions.

Present writ is filed for quashing the impugned Government Order dated 13.5.2016, impugned Circular dated 17.5.2016 and impugned show cause notice dated 18.6.2016. 1932 candidates under the physically disabled candidates quota, were selected for Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2007, Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2008 (Special Selection) and Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2008 out of which 1121 candidates appeared before the Medical Board alongwith their original certificates for physical verification. The physical disability of 234 candidates were not found certified. The medical examination of 811 candidates were yet to be done but in the meantime a WritA No.53152 of 2010 (Ravindra Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others) was filed in which an order dated 3.8.2010 was passed dismissing the writ petition. The aforesaid order dated 3.8.2010 was challenged in Special Appeal No.811 of 2010 before the Lucknow Bench of this Court, which was disposed of by order dated 9.9.2010. As a consequence of the order passed in the aforesaid Special Appeal, the verification of certificates as well as physical verification were stopped. The aforesaid order dated 9.9.2010 passed in the Special Appeal was challenged by the State Government in Special Leave Petition No.8880 of 2011 (State of U.P. and others vs. Ravindra Kumar Sharma and others), which was allowed by Hon'ble Supreme Court by order dated 3.2.2016.

Learned counsel for the petitioner admits that petitioner is one of the candidate amongst 234 candidates, whose physical disability was not found certified as mentioned in the Government letter dated 13.5.2016. However he submits that earlier the medical certificate of the petitioner was examined by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari and no discrepancy was found. He submits that the Committee constituted under the Government letter dated 13.5.2016, does not consists of any medical expert, and as such, the entire proceeding against the petitioner is wholly arbitrary. The medical examination with regard to the physical discrepancy of the petitioner was an arbitrary action of the State Government.

After considering the facts court observed that when the verification of disability certificate and medical examination began and disability certificate of 234 candidates out of 1121 were not found certified and 811 candidates were yet to be examined, a Writ Petition No.53152 of 2010 was filed, which was dismissed by order dated 3.8.2010. This order was challenged before the Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No.811 of 2010, which was disposed of by order dated 9.9.2010. The order of the Division Bench was challenged by the State Government before the Supreme Court in Special Leave Petition no.8880 of 2011, which was allowed by order dated 3.2.2016. The relevant portion of the aforesaid order of Hon'ble Supreme Court has already been reproduced above, which clearly indicates that the action of the respondents is not in conflict with the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court. The impugned show cause notice has been issued requiring the petitioner to submit reply within 15 days. Admittedly, the petitioner, instead of submitting reply; has filed the present writ petition.

It is settled law that normally a writ petition against a show cause notice is not maintainable. Proper course for the noticee is to submit reply before the authority concerned. The exception is that if the show cause notice itself is wholly without jurisdiction then a writ petition against it may be entertainable, which is not the case of the petitioner. Under the circumstance, the writ petition is not entertainable.

The writ petition fails and is, therefore, dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Seemant Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Avinash, learned Standing Counsel for the respondent nos.1 to 4 and Sri Santosh Kumar, learned counsel for the respondent nos.5 and 6.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following reliefs:

a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari calling upon the records of the case and to quash the impugned Government Order dated 13.5.2016 (Annexure No.15 to the writ petition), impugned Circular dated 17.5.2016 (Annexure no.16 to the writ petition) and impugned show cause notice dated 18.6.2016 (Annexure No.17 to the writ petition) being illegal, arbitrary and in violation of principles of natural justice as the same are based on no medical report which could have been prepared by the earlier Medical Board at the time of examining the petitioner and the copy of which could have been supplied to the petitioner for giving him a due opportunity under law to challenge the same before the other authorities under law.

b) Issue any other suitable writ, order or direction as this Court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case.

c) Award cost of petition to the petitioner.

3. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that 1932 candidates under the physically disabled candidates quota, were selected for Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2007, Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2008 (Special Selection) and Special B.T.C. Training Course, 2008 out of which 1121 candidates appeared before the Medical Board alongwith their original certificates for physical verification. The physical disability of 234 candidates were not found certified. The medical examination of 811 candidates were yet to be done but in the meantime a Writ-A No.53152 of 2010 (Ravindra Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others) was filed in which an order dated 3.8.2010 was passed dismissing the writ petition.

4. The aforesaid order dated 3.8.2010 was challenged in Special Appeal No.811 of 2010 (Ravindra Kumar Sharma vs. Stat of U.P. and others) before the Lucknow Bench of this Court, which was disposed of by order dated 9.9.2010. As a consequence of the order passed in the aforesaid Special Appeal, the verification of certificates as well as physical verification were stopped. The aforesaid order dated 9.9.2010 passed in the Special Appeal was challenged by the State Government in Special Leave Petition No.8880 of 2011 (State of U.P. and others vs. Ravindra Kumar Sharma and others), which was allowed by Hon'ble Supreme Court by order dated 3.2.2016. The relevant portion of the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court is reproduced below:

10. The Division Bench of the High Court has ignored and overlooked the material fact that verification has already been done by the Medical Board and it has been found that certificates of 21% were fraudulently obtained. The High Court has issued a direction in the impugned order for physical verification of the candidate by the authorities and in case he does not suffer from disability so certified candidate can be subjected to fresh medical test. The High Court has overlooked that on mere physical verification it may not be possible to know various kinds of disabilities such as that of eyes, ear impairment etc. That can only be done by the medical examination and particularly when the High Court itself has observed that in case there is genuine suspicion and fraud has been committed medical certification can be reopened. Direction issued in this regard has not been questioned by the respondents and in fact process of re-verification was already over when High Court issued aforesaid directions.

11. In our considered opinion in the peculiar facts of this case of such a fraud and genuine suspicion raised in the representation lodged by the Viklang Sangh and when 21% of such certificates have been found to be fraudulently obtained there was no scope for the Division Bench to interfere and issue order to perpetuate fraud, writ is to be declined in such a scenario and no equity can be claimed by the respondents.

12. In the circumstance we set aside the impugned judgment and order passed by the Division Bench of the High Court and dismiss the writ petition. However before taking any action against the individuals they shall be issued show cause in the matter and thereafter decision will be rendered in accordance with law. Let this exercise be completed within a period of four months. The appeal is allowed to the aforesaid extent.

5. After referring the above quoted paragraphs of the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court, the State Government issued the impugned letter dated 13.5.2016 quoting therein the relevant portion of the orders of the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench of this Court as well as judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court dated 3.2.2016 and directed the authorities concerned to complete necessary exercise in respect of left over 811 candidates.

6. Consequent to the aforesaid Government letter dated 13.5.2016, the Director, State Council for Education Research and Training, U.P. Lucknow (respondent no.2) issued the impugned letter dated 17.5.2016 to the authorities concerned for compliance.

7. It appears that thereafter the impugned show cause notice dated 18.6.2016 has been issued to the petitioner by the Principal, District Education and Research Institute, Shahjahanpur mentioning therein that in the verification report submitted by the Medical Board, the physical disability of the petitioner has not been found certified. By the aforesaid impugned show cause notice, the petitioner has been required to submit his reply within 15 days.

8. Aggrieved with the aforesaid Government letter dated 13.5.2016, letter of Director, State Council for Education Research and Training, U.P. Lucknow (respondent no.2) dated 17.5.2016 and show cause notice dated 18.6.2016, the present writ petition has been filed.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner admits that petitioner is one of the candidate amongst 234 candidates, whose physical disability was not found certified as mentioned in the Government letter dated 13.5.2016. However he submits that earlier the medical certificate of the petitioner was examined by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari and no discrepancy was found, and as such, it was not open for the respondents to inquire into the matter and to verify physical disability of the petitioner. He submits that the Committee constituted under the Government letter dated 13.5.2016, does not consists of any medical expert, and as such, the entire proceeding against the petitioner is wholly arbitrary. The medical examination with regard to the physical discrepancy of the petitioner was an arbitrary action of the State Government. The State Government has already taken decision to punish the petitioner, and as such, the impugned show cause notice is wholly invalid.

10. It is admitted by the petitioner that the petitioner has not submitted any reply pursuant to the impugned show cause notice.

11. Learned counsel for the respondents supports the impugned letters and the show cause notice.

12. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties.

13. I do not find any substance in the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner. The Government letter dated 13.5.2016 merely refers to the orders passed by Hon'ble Single Judge, the Division Bench of this Court and the order dated 3.2.2016 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court and issued certain directions, which are not in conflict with the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court. The Committee, referred in the impugned Government letter dated 13.5.2016, has been constituted for the purpose of considering and taking decision on reply which may be submitted by candidates pursuant to show cause notices, which is in compliance to the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court dated 3.2.2016.

14. The facts of the present case, as briefly noted above, clearly indicates that when the verification of disability certificate and medical examination began and disability certificate of 234 candidates out of 1121 were not found certified and 811 candidates were yet to be examined, a Writ Petition No.53152 of 2010 was filed, which was dismissed by order dated 3.8.2010. This order was challenged before the Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No.811 of 2010, which was disposed of by order dated 9.9.2010. The order of the Division Bench was challenged by the State Government before the Supreme Court in Special Leave Petition no.8880 of 2011, which was allowed by order dated 3.2.2016. The relevant portion of the aforesaid order of Hon'ble Supreme Court has already been reproduced above, which clearly indicates that the action of the respondents is not in conflict with the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court. The impugned show cause notice has been issued requiring the petitioner to submit reply within 15 days. Admittedly, the petitioner, instead of submitting reply; has filed the present writ petition.

15. It is settled law that normally a writ petition against a show cause notice is not maintainable. Proper course for the noticee is to submit reply before the authority concerned. The exception is that if the show cause notice itself is wholly without jurisdiction then a writ petition against it may be entertainable, which is not the case of the petitioner. Under the circumstance, the writ petition is not entertainable.

16. In view of the aforesaid, I do not find any merit in this writ petition.

17. The writ petition fails and is, therefore, dismissed.

Counsel for Petitioner:

C.S.C.

In the present writ petition the petitioners have questioned the veracity of the Government Order dated 15th October 2015 and its competence to demand royalty on minor minerals and cost of minor minerals to the extent of five times the royalty which the contractors supply to the Government Department and public undertakings pursuant to the contract entered between the parties. For facility, the facts of Writ-C No. 11171 of 2016 is being taken into consideration.

Submission made by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the royalty is payable by the holder of the mining lease as per the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 1957) read with Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals Concession Rules, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules of 1963). The petitioner contends that he is neither a holder of the mining lease nor carrying any mining operation and therefore, the realisation of royalty on purchase of minor minerals is wholly arbitrary and illegal. Similarly the Government Order charging cost of the mineral equivalent to five times the royalty was also illegal.

Court observed that it would be essential to dwell upon the impugned Government Order dated 15.10.2015. The impugned Government Order states that earlier the Government Order dated 02.02.2001 directed all the Principal Secretaries and Secretaries to the Government of U.P. to ensure that minor minerals supplied to the Government Departments/public undertakings for use in construction works or are transported only after payment of royalty and that the suppliers should ensure evidence of payment of royalty. The Government Order further stated that in case the royalty was not paid, requisite amount of royalty would be deducted from their bills and that the royalty amount would be deposited in the appropriate Government's head. The impugned Government Order further states that it has come to the knowledge of the Government that the contractors were still purchasing minor minerals from unauthorized sources without obtaining Form MM-11 and were getting the royalty deducted from their bills, which was in violation of Section 4 (1-A) of the Act of 1957 and Rule 3 of the Rules of 1963. The Government Order further indicates that the procedure adopted by the contractors only increased the sale of illegal minor mineral, which was also in violation of Section 21 (5) of the Act of 1957. The Government, therefore, issued the impugned Government Order directing that if Form MM-11 was not filed evidencing payment of royalty, in which case, the amount of royalty would be deducted from the bills of the contractors and further cost of material would also be charged from the contractor, which would be five times the royalty. The said Government order was issued in order to stop illegal mining and sale of unauthorized minor minerals. To understand the impact of the Government Order dated 15.10.2015, it would be appropriate to refer to certain provisions of the Act of 1957 and the Rules of 1963.

Court observed that as per provision of Section 9 read with Rule 21 of the Rules, the royalty is required to be paid by the holder of a mining lease. A question arose as to whether royalty can be paid by a contractor, who is supplying minor minerals for execution of the contract entered by him with the Government Department. This issue was examined by a Division Bench of this Court in J.K. Construction Engineers and Contractor and others Vs. Union of India and Others 2006 (3) ADJ 471

The Division Bench held that the liability to pay royalty is primarily on the person holding a mining lease or a mining permit. The Division Bench further held that if a person does not hold any mining lease or mining permit, the liability would not cease and that any person holding any minor mineral was required to maintain and keep documents to show that the royalty had been paid. The Division Bench also held that such restriction can not be said to be unreasonable nor could it be said that it was issued without any authority of law. The said decision of the Division Bench of this Court in J. K. Construction Engineers and Contractor (supra) was affirmed by the Supreme Court in Som Datt Builders Ltd. Vs. Union of India and others 2010 (1) SCC 311.

Court held that The Government Order dated 15th October 2015 only provides for obtaining Form MM-11. Court is of the opinion that if a contractor purchases royalty paid minor minerals from a licence holder for storage of minerals against Form-C, the same should be accepted by the authority as an evidence depicting the payment of royalty.

The Government Order dated 15th October, 2015 should be read accordingly, namely, that if the contractors produces Form MM-11 or Form-C evidencing payment of royalty, the same should be accepted by the authority while processing the bills of the contractors. Court directed the Chief Secretary to issue a clarification in this regard to all the Principal Secretaries and the Secretaries of the Government of U.P. and to the Divisional Commissioners and the District Magistrates in the State of U.P. immediately within four weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. The learned Standing Counsel will ensure that a certified copy of this order is sent to the Chief Secretary within two weeks.

Court do not find any merit in the writ petitions. All the writ petitions fail and are hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Tarun Agarwala, J.)

1. In this group of writ petitions, the petitioners have questioned the veracity of the Government Order dated 15th October 2015 and its competence to demand royalty on minor minerals and cost of minor minerals to the extent of five times the royalty which the contractors supply to the Government Department and public undertakings pursuant to the contract entered between the parties. For facility, the facts of Writ-C No. 11171 of 2016 is being taken into consideration.

2. The petitioner is a registered contractor in Category-D with the Public Works Department (PWD). The petitioner was awarded a contract for reconstruction of a road from Shiv Marg to Kali Theeka, Mau. A contract was executed in this regard. For execution of the work, the petitioner purchased ballast/grits, sand, moram, etc. from stone crushers and from other sources.

3. The petitioner contends that the State of U.P. was deducting royalty on the raw-material used by the contractors, who failed to produce form MM-11 but, pursuant to the Government Order dated 15th October 2015, in addition to the royalty to be charged for non-production of Form-MM-11, the Government is now realising the cost of material to the extent of five times the royalty. The petitioners, being aggrieved by the charging of royalty and cost of the material upto five times the royalty, have filed the present writ petitions.

4. The contention of the petitioner in this regard is, that the royalty is payable by the holder of the mining lease as per the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 1957) read with Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals Concession Rules, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules of 1963). The petitioner contends that he is neither a holder of the mining lease nor carrying any mining operation and therefore, the realisation of royalty on purchase of minor minerals is wholly arbitrary and illegal. Similarly the Government Order charging cost of the mineral equivalent to five times the royalty was also illegal.

5. In support of their submissions, the petitioners have relied upon the decision in M.P. Contractors Sangh Indore and others Vs. State of M.P. And others reported in AIR 1987 Madhya Pradesh 74, Ahmedabad Urban Development Authority Vs. Sharad Kumar Jayanti Kumar Pasawalla and others reported in AIR 1992 Supreme Court 2038, Virendra Giri Vs. State of U.P. and others reported in AIR 2008 Allahabad 75, M/s. Om Contractors Vs. State of U.P. and others reported in 2008 (2) ALJ 438 and the decision dated 14th March, 2016 of the Division Bench of this Court in Abhimanyu Singh and 12 others Vs. State of U.P. and 9 others.

6. On the other hand, the respondents have submitted that earlier a Government Order dated 2nd February 2001 was issued directing the Principal Secretaries and the District Magistrate to ensure that minor minerals are supplied to the Government Departments and public undertakings for use in construction works or are transported only after payment of royalty and that the suppliers should ensure evidence of the payment of royalty, failing which, the amount of royalty would be deducted from their bills.

7. The respondents contended that this imposition was made in order to ensure that contractors purchased minor minerals from authorized sources and to ensure that royalty was paid. The respondents submitted that in spite of the Government Order, the contractors were purchasing the minor minerals from unauthorized sources and were getting the royalty deducted from their bills, which has only increased the sale of illegal minor minerals. Consequently, in order to curb this menace, the Government Order dated 15.10.2015 was issued to ensure that the registered contractors, who were awarded a government contract, should purchase minor minerals from authorized sources, failing which, they would not only pay the amount of royalty but would also pay the cost of the material, which would be equivalent to five times the royalty. It was contended that the Government Order has been issued in public interest and in consonance with the provisions of the Act and the Rules.

8. In support of their submissions, the respondents have placed reliance upon a decision of a Division Bench of this Court in M/s. J. K. Construction Engineers and Contractor and others Vs. Union of India and Others reported in 2006 (3) ADJ 471 and the decision of the Supreme Court in Som Datt Builders Ltd Vs. Union of India and others reported in 2010 (1) SCC 311.

9. We have heard Sri Syed Mohd Fazal Advocate, Sri Amit Khanna Advocate, Sri Ram Kishore Gupta Advocate and Sri Om Prakash Chaudhary Advocate for the petitioners and Sri Vishnu Pratap, the learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

10. In order to appreciate the submissions of the rival parties, it would be essential to dwell upon the impugned Government Order dated 15.10.2015. The impugned Government Order states that earlier the Government Order dated 02.02.2001 directed all the Principal Secretaries and Secretaries to the Government of U.P. to ensure that minor minerals supplied to the Government Departments/public undertakings for use in construction works or are transported only after payment of royalty and that the suppliers should ensure evidence of payment of royalty. The Government Order further stated that in case the royalty was not paid, requisite amount of royalty would be deducted from their bills and that the royalty amount would be deposited in the appropriate Government's head. The impugned Government Order further states that it has come to the knowledge of the Government that the contractors were still purchasing minor minerals from unauthorized sources without obtaining Form MM-11 and were getting the royalty deducted from their bills, which was in violation of Section 4 (1- A) of the Act of 1957 and Rule 3 of the Rules of 1963. The Government Order further indicates that the procedure adopted by the contractors only increased the sale of illegal minor mineral, which was also in violation of Section 21 (5) of the Act of 1957. The Government, therefore, issued the impugned Government Order directing that if Form MM-11 was not filed evidencing payment of royalty, in which case, the amount of royalty would be deducted from the bills of the contractors and further cost of material would also be charged from the contractor, which would be five times the royalty. The said Government order was issued in order to stop illegal mining and sale of unauthorized minor minerals.

11. To understand the impact of the Government Order dated 15.10.2015, it would be appropriate to refer to certain provisions of the Act of 1957 and the Rules of 1963.

12. Section 4 (1- A) of the Act of 1957 provides as under:

" (1-A) No person shall transport or store or cause to be transported or stored any mineral otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder."

13. The aforesaid provision makes it clear that no person shall transport or store any mineral otherwise in accordance with the provisions of the Act and Rules made thereunder.

14. Section 21 (5) of the Act of 1957 provides as under:-

" (5) Whenever any person raise without any lawful authority, any, mineral from any land, the State Government may recover from such person the mineral so raised, or where such mineral has already been disposed of, the price thereof, and may also recover from such person rent, royalty or tax as the case may be, for the period during which the land was occupied by such person without any lawful authority"

15. The aforesaid provision provides that any person who raise without any lawful authority, any, mineral from any land in which case the State Government may recover from such person the price of such minerals and may also recover from such person the royalty.

16. Section 15 of the Act of 1957 gives power to the State Government to make Rules in respect of minor minerals pursuant to which the Uttar Pradesh Minor Minerals (Concession) Rules 1963 was enacted. Rule 3 of the said Rules provides as under:

"3. Mining operations to be under a mining lease or mining permit-- (1) No person shall undertake any mining operations in any area within the State of any minor mineral to which this rules are applicable except under and in accordance with the terms and conditions of a mining lease or mining permit granted under these rules:

Provided that nothing shall affect any mining operations undertaken in accordance with the terms and conditions of a mining lease or permit duly granted before the commencement of these rules.

(2) No mining lease or mining permit shall be granted otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of these rules."

17. A perusal of the aforesaid provision indicates that no person shall undertake any mining operation except in accordance with the terms and conditions of the mining lease or mining permit granted under the Rules.

18. Rule 70 of the Rules of 1963 places restrictions on transport of minerals. For facility, the said provision is extracted hereunder:-

" 70. Restrictions of transport of minerals-- (1) The holder of mining lease or permit or a person authorised by him in this behalf may issue a pass in Form MM-11 to every person carrying a consignment of minor mineral by a vehicle, animal or any other mode of transport. The State Government may, through the District Officer, make arrangements for the supply of printed MM-11 Form books on payment basis.

(2) No person shall carry, within the State, a minor mineral by a vehicle, animal or any other mode of transport, excepting railway, without carrying a pass in From MM-11 issued by Sub-rule (1).

(3) Every person carrying any minor mineral shall, on demand by any officer authorised under Rule 66 or such officer as may be authorised by the State government in this behalf, show the said pass to such officer and allow him to verify the correctness of the particulars of the pass with reference to quantity of the minor mineral.

(4) The State Government may establish a check post for any area included in any mining lease or permit, and when a check post is so established public notice shall be given of this fact by publication in the Gazette and in such other manner as may be considered suitable by the State Government.

(5) No person shall transport a minor mineral for which these rules apply from such area without first presenting the mineral at the check post established for that area for verification of the weight or measurement of the mineral.

(6) Any person found to have contravened any provision of this rule shall, on convictions, be punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both."

19. The aforesaid Rule indicates that the holder of a mining lease or mining permit is authorised to issue a pass in Form MM-11 to every person carrying a consignment of minor minerals. Sub-clause (2) of the Rule 70 provides that no person shall carry minor minerals without carrying a pass in Form MM-11.

20. Section 23-C of the Act of 1957 gives power to the State Government to make Rules for preventing illegal mining, transportation and storage of minerals. In exercise of powers provided under Section 23-C of the Act of 1957, the State Government enacted the Uttar Pradesh Minerals (Prevention of Illegal Mining, Transportation and Storage) Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules of 2002.) Rule 3, 4 and 5 of the Rules of 2002, being relevant to the issue, are extracted hereunder:

"3. Prohibition Section 23.C (1)-- No person shall transport, carry or cause to be transported, carried any mineral by any means from its raising place to any other place without a valid transit pass issued by the holder of mining lease or mining permit or prospecting licence as the case may be.

4. Supply of transit passes and fee therefor.-(1) The holder of mining lease or mining permit or prospecting licence or licence for storage of minerals, as the case may be, shall make an application to the district officer or the officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf along with fee and in the manner, as determined by the State Government from time to time for obtaining book of transit pass for transportation of any mineral.

(2) The book of transit pass will be supplied by the District Officer of the respective district or any other officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf by notification under these rules or the Act or any other rules made thereunder.

(5) Issue of Transit Pass.—(1) The transit pass shall be issued by the holder of mining lease or mining permit or prospecting licence for major minerals in 'Form G' appended to these rules and for minor minerals in 'Form MM-11' appended to Rules 1963.

(2) The holder of licence for storage of minerals shall issue the transit pass in 'Form C' for lawful transportation of minerals from the store."

21. Rule 3 of the Rules of 2002 provides that no person shall transport any mineral unless it is accompanied by a valid transit pass issued by a holder of mining lease or mining permit or prospecting licence or licence for storage of minerals as the case may be. Rule 4 of the Rules of 2002 provides that the holder of a mining lease or holder of a licence for storage of minerals shall make an application for obtaining a book of transit pass for transportation of any mineral. Rule 5 of the the Rules of 2002 provides that transit form in Form MM-11 would be issued by the holder of a mining lease or mining permit and Form C would be issued by the holder of licence for storage of minerals.

22. Section 9 of the Act of 1957 and Rule 21 of the Rules of 1963 provides that royalty is required to be paid by a holder of a mining lease. For facility, Section 9 of Act 1957 and Rule 21 of the Rule of 1963 are extracted hereunder:

"9. Royalties in respect of mining lease.— (1) The holder of a mining lease granted before the commencement of this Act shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the instrument of lease or in any law in force at such commencement, pay royalty in respect of [any mineral removed by or consumed by him or by his agent, manager, employee, contractor or sub-lease] from the leased area after such, commencement, at the rate for the time being specified in the Second Schedule in respect of that mineral.

(2) The holder of a mining lease granted on or after commencement of this Act shall pay royalty in respect of [any mineral removed by or consumed by him or by his agent, manager, employee, contractor or sub-lessee] from the leased area at the rate for the time being specified in the Second Schedule in respect of that mineral.

[(2-A) The holder of a mining lease, whether granted before or after the commencement of the Mines and Minerals (Regulations and Development) Amendment Act, 1972 shall not be liable to pay any royalty in respect of any coal consumed by a workman engaged in a colliery provided that such consumption by the workman does not exceed one third of a tonner per month.]

(3) The Central Government may, by notification in Official Gazette amend the Second Schedule so as to enhance or reduce the rate at which royalty shall be payable in respect of any mineral with effect from such date as may be specified in the notification:

[Provided that the Central Government shall not enhance the rate of royalty in respect of any mineral more than once during any period of three years.

21. Royalty.-- (1) The holder of a mining lease granted on or after the commencement of these rules shall pay royalty in respect of any mineral removed by him from the leased area at the rates for the time being specified in the First Schedule to these rules.

(2) The State Government may, by notification, in the Gazette amend the First Schedule so as to include therein or exclude therefrom or enhance or reduce the rate of royalty in respect of any mineral with effect from such date as may be specified in the notification:

Provided that the State Government shall not enhance the rate of royalty in respect of any mineral for more than once during any period of three years and shall not fix the royalty at the rate of more than 20 percent of the pit's mouth values.

(3) Where the royalty is to be charged on the pit's mouth value of the mineral the State Government may assess such value at the time of the grant of the lease and the rate of royalty will be mentioned in the lease deed. It shall be open to the State Government to re-assess not more than once in a year the pit's mouth value, if it considers that an enhancement is necessary."

23. No doubt under the aforesaid provision of Section 9 read with Rule 21 of the Rules, the royalty is required to be paid by the holder of a mining lease. A question arose as to whether royalty can be paid by a contractor, who is supplying minor minerals for execution of the contract entered by him with the Government Department. This issue was examined by a Division Bench of this Court in J.K. Construction Engineers and Contracor and others Vs. Union of India and Others 2006 (3) ADJ 471 wherein the Division Bench in paragraph 101 held as under:

" 101. Now coming to the question as to whether the amount of royalty can be recovered from the petitioners who are the contractors and suppliers of ordinary earth and other minor minerals, we are of the considered opinion that the royalty is payable on excavation of any minor minerals. The liability is primarily of the person holding the mining lease or a mining permit but if a person does not hold any mining lease or mining permit, the liability does not cease. Any person dealing in a minor mineral is required to maintain and keep documents to show that the royalty has been paid and in order to ensure that due royalty or minor minerals has been paid within the State of U.P., the State Government by the three Government Orders have provided for producing copies of declaration in form MM 11 and treasury challan evidencing deposit of royalty. It cannot be said that any undue restrictions have been placed upon the right to carry on trade or business or it is without the authority of law."

24. The Division Bench held that the liability to pay royalty is primarily on the person holding a mining lease or a mining permit. The Division Bench further held that if a person does not hold any mining lease or mining permit, the liability would not cease and that any person holding any minor mineral was required to maintain and keep documents to show that the royalty had been paid. The Division Bench also held that such restriction can not be said to be unreasonable nor could it be said that it was issued without any authority of law. The said decision of the Division Bench of this Court in J. K. Construction Engineers and Contractor (supra) was affirmed by the Supreme Court in Som Datt Builders Ltd. Vs. Union of India and others 2010 (1) SCC 311. The Supreme Court held that the view taken by the High Court does not call for any interference.

25. In the light of the aforesaid, the issue with regard to payment of royalty stands concluded. It is no longer open to the petitioners to contend that they are not liable to pay the royalty. The decisions cited by the petitioners are distinguishable and are not applicable inasmuch as the Court did not consider the provisions of the Rules of 2002 and Section 21 (5) of the Act of 1957.

26. The purpose of issuance of impugned Government Order is just and valid and has been issued in public interest. The Government Order has been issued to ensure that royalty is paid and that the royalty paid material is used for construction work in the government department. Such intention is laudable. The requirement of Form MM-11/Form-C is a proof that royalty has been paid and the material is purchased from an authorized source either from a holder of a mining lease or from a licence storage holder. The Government Order imposing such conditions is required only for the purpose of undertaking of that work, which is awarded by the Government and its department, for which purpose, the conditions imposed in the Government Order is fair and reasonable and is not arbitrary. The purpose is to ensure that no mineral is excavated/transported and used without payment of royalty. The purpose of providing Form MM-11/Form-C is to ensure that the material and minerals etc. used by the contractors in the construction works, are royalty paid. It only indicates that such material, which is purchased by the contractors, is legally mined on which royalty has been paid. The object behind the issuance of the Government Order is to see that illegally mined material is not purchased by the contractors and used in the construction works, which is awarded by the Government and its department. This, in our view, is a laudable object and such a stipulation contained in the Government Order is to check the illegal mining. Consequently, the Government Order dated 15th of October 2015 directing further that if mineral is not purchased from a valid source and without production of Form MM-11, the cost of material to the extent of five times royalty would become payable by the contractors. This imposition is in terms of Section 21 (5) of the Act of 1957. The said provision clearly indicates that where any person raise without any lawful authority, any mineral from any land, then such person would be liable to pay not only the royalty but also the price thereof. The word 'raise' means 'move' and therefore, if any person moves any mineral without a valid Form MM-11 or Form-C in which case the person would not only be liable to pay royalty but would also be liable to pay the price of the material. In the instant case, by the Government Order, the price of the material is equivalent to five times the royalty, which is not arbitrary.

27. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners that they are purchasing raw-material from the stone crushers, who are purchasing the same from the holders of a mining lease/mining permit through Form MM-11 and that these stone crushers cannot further issue any Form MM-11 to the petitioners is misconceived inasmuch as the stone crushers are liable to take a licence for storage of minerals under the Rules of 2002. Once the stone crushers obtain a licence for storage of minerals, they would be obliged to issue Form-C under Rule 5 of the Rules of 2002 after obtaining necessary book of transit pass from the appropriate authority under Rule 4.

28. We find that a similar circular was issued by the State of Rajasthan for deduction of royalty from the bills of contractors, who were using minerals without submitting proof of the fact that royalty was paid on such minerals. The said circular was held to be a valid circular issued in public interest by the Supreme Court in State of Rajsthan and another Vs. Deep Jyoti Company and another reported in (2016) 6 SCC 120. In paragraph 11, the Supreme Court held as under:-

"11. The minor minerals removed from the quarries, admittedly are the property of the Government and the same cannot be removed and used without payment of royalty. It is, therefore, the duty of the Government to ensure that only royalty paid minerals are used in the work and the purpose of issuing such Circular was to avoid pilferage/leakage of revenue because royalty can be very conveniently evaded by the contractors either by not purchasing the material from the mining leaseholders or obtaining it from unauthorised excavators. In case, if the contractor purchases the material from unauthorised person who has not paid royalty, there would be loss to the public exchequer and the circular was issued to check evasion or loss to the public exchequer. Such condition cannot be said to be unreasonable and arbitrary and therefore, no prejudice could be said to have been caused to the contractors."

29. In the light of the aforesaid, reliance placed by the petitioners of the decision of the Division Bench of this Court in Abhimanyu Singh and 12 others (supra) is misconceived. The contention that the Division Bench held that the payment of royalty to the extent of five times is illegal, is misconceived. The Division Bench had only noted the submission of the petitioner and held that there was no illegality in the Government Order and that it would be the responsibility on the part of the contractors to ensure that minerals are purchased through the authorized mining lease holder/suppliers on which royalty has been paid. The Division Bench also held that the petitioner of that writ petition should ensure that the royalty has been paid and copy of the Form MM-11 should be provided, failing which, they would have to pay the penalty. The Government Order dated 15th October 2015 only provides for obtaining Form MM-11. We are of the opinion that if a contractor purchases royalty paid minor minerals from a licence holder for storage of minerals against Form-C, the same should be accepted by the authority as an evidence showing the payment of royalty.

30. The Government Order dated 15th October 2015 only provides for obtaining Form MM-11. We are of the opinion that if a contractor purchases royalty paid minor minerals from a licence holder for storage of minerals against Form-C, the same should be accepted by the authority as an evidence depicting the payment of royalty. The Government Order dated 15th October, 2015 should be read accordingly, namely, that if the contractors produces Form MM-11 or Form-C evidencing payment of royalty, the same should be accepted by the authority while processing the bills of the contractors. We, accordingly, direct the Chief Secretary to issue a clarification in this regard to all the Principal Secretaries and the Secretaries of the Government of U.P. and to the Divisional Commissioners and the District Magistrates in the State of U.P. immediately within four weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. The learned Standing Counsel will ensure that a certified copy of this order is sent to the Chief Secretary within two weeks.

31. For the reasons stated aforesaid, we do not find any merit in the writ petitions. All the writ petitions fail and are hereby dismissed. There shall be no order as to cost.

SARFAESI Act is a complete code for enforcement of security interest, and secured creditors can enforce rights without court intervention.

Section 13(9) SARFAESI Act already incorporates Sections 529 & 529A of the Companies Act, thereby protecting workmen's dues in cases of liquidation.

Workmen and cane growers cannot claim pari passu distribution of sale proceeds under SARFAESI proceedings unless the company is in liquidation.

Where no winding up proceedings are pending, workmen and other claimants do not attain status of secured creditors and cannot seek distribution from SARFAESI sale proceeds.

In absence of liquidation, workmen and cane growers are treated as unsecured creditors, and their dues must be recovered through statutory mechanisms provided under respective laws.

The High Court cannot expand statutory provisions or legislate by extending Companies Act provisions (Sections 529, 529A) to SARFAESI proceedings beyond what is expressly provided.

Remedy against SARFAESI proceedings lies under Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act, not by invoking writ jurisdiction directly in such disputes.

Sale proceedings under SARFAESI Act cannot be quashed merely to protect workmen's dues when statutory framework already governs distribution.

Secured creditors are entitled to utilize sale proceeds, subject to statutory provisions; courts cannot impose additional distribution mechanisms.

Workmen and cane growers are free to recover dues through appropriate statutory forums, such as recovery as arrears of land revenue.

Court may issue equitable directions (e.g., asking company to frame scheme for payment of dues), but cannot override statutory scheme.

1. Janta Chini Mill Mazdoor Sangh Gauri Bazar, Deoria through its Secretary is before this Court, assailing the validity of the proceedings so undertaken under SARFAESI Act, 2002 wherein steps have been undertaken for sale of two Units of the Company i.e. Gauri Bazar, District Deoria and Kathkuiyan, District Kushi Nagar in following terms:-

"(I) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the notice dated 13.01.2011 published in newspaper (Annexure No.4 to this writ petition), notice dated 03.03.2011 published in Hindi Daily Dainik Jagaran dated 08.03.2011 (Annexure-5 to this writ petition) and notice dated 15.03.2011 published in Hindi Daily Dainik Jagaran dated 16.03.2011 (Annexure-6 to this writ petition).

(II) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent no.1 to restrain from proceedings under the provision of Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 for realization of its alleged dues against the company.

(II-A) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent no.1 to make the payment of the worker dues which has already been quantified and adjudicated and finally decide amounting of Rs. 14.9034.

(II-B) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the Deputy Labour Commissioner, Gorakhpur to realise (execute) and distribute the amount which has already been adjudicated by him in different cases to the workers.

(III) Issue any other suitable writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances of the case.

(IV) to award costs of the writ petition to the petitioners".

2. Brief background of the litigation in question is that M/s Kanpur Sugar Works Ltd was incorporated in the year 1894 as Joint Stock Company and in 1896 a Sugar Refinery Unit was also set up at Kanpur by M/s Beg Sutherland and Company Ltd. Later on M/s Beg Sutherland and Company Ltd. merged with M/s British India Corporation Ltd. on 14.08.1960 referred to hereinafter as B.I.C. B.I.C. was having control over the Company in question. M/s Kanpur Sugar Works Ltd (hereinafter referred to as the Company) was having four units viz. Marhowrah (Bihar), Padrauna, Gauri Bazar and Kathkuiyan (U.P.). The financial condition of the Company was bad and in this background company was registered with the Board for Industrial and Financial Reconstruction, New Delhi (hereinafter referred as BIFR) bearing Case No. 99/92 under Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act 1985 (hereinafter after referred to as SICA). The BIFR in its turn proceeded to sanction 1st scheme viz. SS-98 under which the management of all the four units was to be transferred in favour of M/s Gangotri Enterprises Ltd. (GEL). On account of non-infusion of funds, SS-98 was declared as "Failed" by BIFR in the year 2000 and BIFR directed OA/MA(IFCI) to re-advertise for change of Management of the Company. Subsequently, BIFR sanctioned another revival scheme viz sanctioned scheme-2003 (SS-03) under which management of only two units viz Mahrowarh (Bihar) and Padrauna (U.P.) was transferred in the name of M/s JHV Distilleries and Sugar Mills Ltd (JDSML). Therefore, possession of these two units was handed over by M/s Gangotri Enterprises Ltd to M/s JHV Distilleries and as far as Gauri Bazar and Kathkuiyan units are concerned, BIFR directed that the assets of these units be sold for the payment of balance liabilities of company. In the year 2008, due to non -implementation of SS-03 fully, BIFR vide order dated 08.08.2008, declared the SS-03 as failed.

3. Petitioners are submitting that two units namely Khatkuniya and Padrauna have already been sold and given to JHVD SML and JVH and they have taken possession of the Company and dues of IFCI and other secured creditors have already been settled on OTS basis and secured creditors including IFCI have acknowledged of payment being made.

4. This much fact is also reflected that IFCI who was secured creditor proceeded to initiate proceeding under SARFAESI Act for sale of two units of the company i.e. Gauri Bazar and Kathkuiyan. Petitioners' at this juncture came to this Court, complaining therein that large scale workers dues is outstanding against the Company in question and their interest would be seriously prejudiced, if the amount in question fetched from the sale is permitted to be lifted, without settling the workers dues. The aforementioned writ petition was heard by this Court on 16.04.2011. Relevant extract of order passed is as follows:-

"Heard Shri Manish Kumar Nigam for the petitioners. Shri O.P. Misra appears for Industrial Finance Corporation of India (IFCI).

The petitioners are the workmen of Gauri Bazar Unit of Kanpur Sugar Works Ltd. By this writ petition they have challenged the sale of the mortgaged assets of the Gauri Bazar Unit pursued by IFCI, as secured creditor for realisation of their secured loans under SARFAESI Act, 2002.

A preliminary objection has been raised by Shri O. P. Misra appearing for IFCI, on the maintainability of the writ petition in view of the alternative remedy of filing an appeal under Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act. He relies upon judgments in Mardia Chemicals Ltd. Vs. Union of India, (2004) 4 SCC 311, and Union Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tandon, (2010) 8 SCC 110. He submits that the Supreme Court had taken objection to the interference of the High Court in recoveries initiated under the SARFAESI Act, 2002 as special act for realisation of the dues from the mortgaged assets without taking recourse to the Court. It was held that any objection to the recovery under the SARFAESI Act, 2002 may be taken in appeal under Section 17. Any person interested in the mortgaged property can take recourse to the provisions of the appeal under the SARFAESI Act, 2002.

Shri Manish Kumar Nigam, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that Kanpur Sugar Works Ltd. has four units. The company fell into losses and was declared as sick industrial company under the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985. The IFCI was appointed as operating agency. The IFCI prepared a rehabilitation scheme in terms of which two of the units of the company were rehabilitated by providing OTS of the dues of the secured creditors and also providing for the dues of the workmen and other dues. The rehabilitation scheme in respect of remaining two units namely Gauri Bazar and Kathkuiyan did not succeed. It is submitted that the proceedings are still pending in BIFR. Shri Om Prakash Misra submits that the proceedings have since abated in pursuance to the amendment in Section 51 (1) of the Sick Industrial Company (Special Provisions) Act, 1985.

The IFCI is proceeding to sell the mortgaged assets of the two remaining units under the SARFAESI Act purportedly with the consent of majority of the secured creditors.

Shri Manish Kumar Nigam submits that in none of the cases decided by the Supreme Court the question of workmen's interest in sale of assets of the company even if they are mortgaged under the SARFAESI Act has been considered in terms of Sections 529, 530, 531 and 531A of the Companies Act, 1956 by which right of the workmen to realise their dues has been recognised to be at par with secured creditors and that amount received by sale of the assets have to be shared pari pasu between the secured creditors and the workmen and thereafter the Government dues are to be realised. He submits that in the present case the workmen of two units of which dues were worked out in the Draft Rehabilitation Scheme approved in the order of BIFR dated 28.1.2003 to be Rs.483.90 lacs for Gauri Bazar Unit and 325.26 lacs for Kathkuiyan Unit, and cane arrears at Rs.161.30 lacs for Gauri Bazar Unit and Rs.569.55 lacs for Kathkuiyan unit, as against secured loans of IFCI, IDBI, ICICI of Rs.3277.20 lacs of all the four units, Rs.473 lacs of SBI and Rs.220.60 of Sugar Development Fund. Shri Manish Kumar Nigam further submits that the State Government is also under statutory liability under the U.P. Sugarcane (Supply) Act for realisation of the arrears of sugarcane dues and commission of the Cane Cooperative Unions.

The sale of the two units has been advertised and fixed for 18th April, 2011.

In this writ petition the other secured creditors, workmen of the Kathkuiyan unit and the State Government through the Cane Commissioner and the Cane Development Societies are not parties. Since there is nothing to show that they have also challenged the sale, while directing that they should be impleaded as parties, we propose to protect the interest of all the secured creditors, workmen and Government dues.

Shri O. P. Misra states that IFCI has written to Shri Rama Shankar Singh, Secretary, Janta Chini Mill Mazdoor Sangh, Gouri Bazar, Deoria, U.P. (the petitioner) on 18.3.2011 that after sale of the assets of the two units the dues of secured creditors, workmen and other statutory dues will be settled as per the provisions of law.

Shri Manish Nigam objects and states that the assurance is entirely vague, and that the secured creditors even if they are proceeding to sell two units, treating the proceedings in BIFR to have abated, must provide for workmen's dues to be paid.

Prima facie we find substance in the contention of the workmen that even after sale under the SARFAESI Act, 2002 the amount realised has to be given same treatment, which is provided under the Companies Act, 1956, which is Central Act and is the general act governing the field recognising the rights of the workers in terms of Part IV of the Constitution of India.

Section 37 of the SARFAESI Act, 2002 provides that application of other laws shall not be barred and that the provisions of the Act shall be in addition to and not in derogation to the Acts specified in Section 37 and any other laws for the time being enforced. These other laws will include the Companies Act, 1956.

Let Shri Manish Nigam implead all the concerned parties including other secured creditors, workmen of the Kathkuiyan unit and the State of U.P. through the Secretary, Sugarcane; Commissioner of Sugarcane, Government of U.P. and the concerned Cane Development Societies within ten days.

In the meantime, the sale under the SARFAESI Act, 2002 may be held; the entire amount realised from sale may be retained by IFCI, and will be kept in no lien account to be disbursed in accordance with the orders to be passed by the Court.

All the respondents will file their reply in three weeks.

List on May 10th, 2011".

5. Thereafter, again this Court has considered the matter on 09.05.2012 and has passed following order.

"The two units of the company, which is subsidiary of British India Corporation Ltd. have since been sold to consortium of the secured creditors with IFCI Ltd. as lead creditor for a sum of Rs.17.26 crores and Rs.7 crores and odd respectively. The entire amount under the orders of the Court passed on 16th April, 2011 has been deposited in no lien account with IFCI to await its distribution.

The impleadment application of Rajendra Ispat Pvt. Ltd., the highest bidder of both the units, which has deposited the amount is allowed.

The intervention applications of Cooperative Cane Development Union Ltd., Dudhai, Baitalpur and Katkuiyan, Distt. Kushi Nagar filed through Shri Ravindra Singh dated 4.8.2011 are allowed.

The application filed by Rajendra Ispat Pvt. Ltd. shows that both the units of the company at Gauri Bazar, and Kathkuiyan, Distt. Deoria are under attachment for recovery of the workmen's dues. Due to these attachment orders the sale deed of the property has not been executed in its favour.

Prima facie we find that as only two units of the company namely Kanpur Sugar Works Ltd., which is subsidiary of these BIC have been sold, some arrangements should be made to protect the interest of the secured creditors and workmen, who have pari passu charge, as well as the EPF Commissioner and Cane Unions, who have first charge over the assets.

We are informed that the workmen have not allowed Rajendra Ispat Pvt. Ltd. to enter the units of which sale deeds have not been executed as yet. We are also informed that the Deputy Labour Commissioner has sent orders for recovery of the workmen's dues, to the IFCI.

The amount realised from the sale of the units under the SARFAESI Act, 2002 has to be distributed in accordance with the provisions of Section 13 (9) of the Act. The distribution, however, has to be made in accordance with the principles of distributing the dividend under Companies Act, 1956 for which the dues of all stake holders have to be ascertained.

In order to pass any further orders, it is necessary to implead the British India Corporation, which is the promoter of the unit. Let the petitioner implead British India Corporation (BIC) as party respondent and take steps to serve it. Notices will be sent by registered post as well as by Dasti summons, returnable on 29th May, 2012.

In the meantime, we direct that the amount realised by the IFCI from sale under the Securitisation Act, 2002, kept in no lien account will be deposited in an interest bearing fix deposit, subject to same condition that the account will continue to be a no lien account.

List on 29.5.2012".

6. Matter has once again been considered by this Court on 07.09.2012 and following order has been passed.

"Shri Satish Chaturvedi has filed an application on behalf of the British India Corporation Ltd. for recalling the order dated 9.5.2012 by which the Court directed the British India Corporation Ltd. to be impleaded as party respondent as the promotor in majority shareholder in Kanpur Textile Ltd. of which two units have been sold under the SARFAESI Act giving rise to this writ petition by the workmen claiming their dues.

From the proceedings of BIFR we find that the first scheme in which British India Corporation was required to divest its shareholding failed; the second scheme also failed. In the third scheme shares were to be sold to JSV Sugar of JSL Group. The sale has not yet materialised as 38.43% of the total shares of 47.10% held by British India Corporation in Kanpur Textiles Ltd. are pledged with the State Bank of India.

From the order of BIFR dated 23rd April, 2012 filed along with the application filed by British India Corporation, we find that BIFR was unable to find out (para 12) as to who was the Chairman of the Company at the relevant period and his address. The IFCI was required to file reply within two weeks. The BIFR issued notice to the Controller of Accounts, Ministry of Textiles, New Delhi, and had fixed 9.8.2012 for hearing.

We are unable to appreciate as to why the BIFR is keeping the proceedings pending, when two schemes have already failed and that two out of four sugar units have been sold under the SARFAESI Act. Without entering into the merits of the case, we may observe that the BIFR must consider the facts stated in its orders to make up its mind and to consider to recommend the company for winding up under Section 20 of the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985 to the High Court.

In the facts and circumstances, we reject the application of British India Corporation Ltd. to recall the order dated 9.5.2012 by which it was directed to be impleaded as party respondent and direct it to file detailed counter affidavit considering that the assets of the two units, have been sold under the SARFAESI Act to IFCI.

Shri Manish Nigam appearing for the petitioner will give details of the workmen's dues. Shri Ravindra Singh appearing for the cane unions is also required to give details of the dues of the Cane Unions. We also direct the State respondents to give details of its dues vis-a-vis the two units, which have been sold.

List for orders on 8th October, 2012.

Shri Chandan Sharma representing M/s Rajindra Ispat Pvt. Ltd., the purchaser of the two units states that sale deed has not been executed by the IFCI so far, and that workmen are not allowing them to enter the premises.

We do not propose to enter into the issue with regard to the execution of the sale deed as it is the matter between the secured creditor and purchaser. We have been informed that the auction has not been challenged and that amount is still lying in no lien account with the IFCI under the interim orders passed in this writ petition.

So far as obstructions created by the workmen are concerned, we are prima facie of the opinion that at this stage, if the attachment orders have been passed on the orders of the Labour Commissioner regarding workmen's dues and the purchaser has no intention to run the sugar mills, no directions are required to be issued, regarding possession".

7. Before this Court, by means of amendment application, details of workers dues as quantified has been specified and further intervention application has been moved on behalf of Co-operative Cane Development Union giving therein full details of the fact in reference of outstanding cane dues i.e. required to be realised by the Company in question. This is accepted position that the property that has been put to sale under the SARFAESI Act, qua the same, sale deed has been executed and as workmen on the spot are not permitting the auction purchaser to enter into the units of which sale deeds have been executed for lifting of the scrap etc, they have moved an application for giving protection for lifting of scrap in question.

8. On the basis of pleadings that have come forward, present writ petition has been taken up for final hearing/disposal with the consent of the parties.

9. Sri Arun Kumar Gupta, learned counsel for the petitioners submitted with vehemence that in the present case interest of the workers should be protected by this Court in all eventuality and all the dues of secured creditors including IFCI and other Banks have already been paid and settled, then there is no occasion/reason for proceeding under SARFAESI Act, 2002, in this background workers interest be protected and workers be treated as secured creditor and dues should be ensured to be paid in consonance with the provision as contained under Sections 529-A of the Companies Act.

10. Sri Ravindra Singh, learned counsel for the Cooperative Cane Development Union Ltd. Baitalpur, Deoria submitted with vehemence that in view of the judgement of Apex Court rendered in the case State of Madhya Pradesh Vs Jaora Sugar Milks Ltd and others (1996) INSC 1285 interest of sugar cane grower be protected by all means and entire outstanding sugarcane dues be ensured by asking IFCI to release the outstanding cane dues payment from the realised amount of M/S. Kanpur Sugar Works.

11. Sri O.P. Mishra, learned counsel for the I.F.C.I Ltd. and the Asset Reconstruction Company submitted before this Court that as far as rights of secured creditor is concerned, once there is no liquidation proceeding pending and two of the units are still in operation, then recovery in question as claimed by the petitioners as well as intervenors should be pressed and brought to its logical conclusion in accordance with law and in proceeding under SARFAESI Act prayer that has been so made, cannot be accorded and it is wrong to say that entire amount under OTS stands paid, accordingly writ petition be dismissed as it has been framed and drawn and petitioner as well as intervenor should avail the remedy as is provided for under the relevant statutory forum.

12. Sri Anurag Khanna, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Syed Fahim Ahmad, Advocate submitted that relief as asked for cannot be accorded by this Court, the petitioners as well as intervenor for recovery of their dues will have to invoke the remedial forum provided for under the statutory provision holding the field. Apart from this he submitted that in the garb of pendency of proceedings, on the spot they are not being permitted to remove the scrap and accordingly on this aspect of the matter this Court should intervene and proceed to issue requisite directives.

13. After respective arguments have been advanced, issue that is engaging our attention is as to when proceeding under SARFAESI Act, 2002 have been undertaken, can in such proceeding dues of the workmen as well as sugar cane grower from debtors company can be directed to be discharged from the sale proceeds so realised under the SARFAESI Act, 2002.

14. Here undisputed factual situation that is so emerging in the present case is that initially company in question has been subjected to the proceeding under the provision of SICA, 1985 and thereafter scheme in question for making the company viable has been framed from time to time and as scheme in question framed was not found viable time and again, same has been dropped and ultimately this much fact is reflected that on initiation of proceedings under SARFAESI Act, 2002 in terms of the provision as contained under the proviso to Section 15 of SARFAESI Act, 2002, proceedings have abated.

15. Thus, situation as of now on the ground is there are no proceedings pending either under Company Act or under the provision of SICA, 1985 and proceedings under SARFAESI Act, 2002 have been undertaken by putting the property to auction wherein M/s Rajendra Ispat Pvt. Ltd. has participated in the auction proceeding and its bid has been accepted and transaction/document has also been executed in its favour. The issue as already mentioned above is that once proceedings under SARFAESI Act, 2002 have been undertaken, can in such proceeding dues claimed by the workers as well as of sugar cane grower be adjusted from the sale proceeds in question, said issues can be more conveniently answered in the light of statutory provisions, namely Recovery of Debts Due to Bank and Financial Institutions Act 1993; Companies Act 1956; SARFAESI Act, 2002, keeping in view of the fact that as far as claim of workmen is concerned, their claim have been settled by the competent authority under U.P. Industrial Peace (Timely Payment of Wages) Act, 1978 and as far as claim of Sugar Cane grower are concerned, their claim has been settled under U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act, 1953 and under both the provisions, once there are dues outstanding that has been so determined, said amount can be recovered by taking recourse to coercive measures by way of arrears of land revenue. Relevant provisions are being looked into:-

Section 2(d) of the 1993 Act, defines "bank', which, inter alia, means a banking company. Under Section 2(e) "banking company' has the meaning assigned to it in clause (c) of Section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949. "Financial institution' is defined in Section 2(h). The "tribunal' established under Section 3 is known as Debts Recovery Tribunal. Under Section 17, the tribunal (DRT) has been conferred jurisdiction, powers and authority to entertain and decide applications from the banks and financial institutions for recovery of debts due to such banks and financial institutions. Section 18 bars the jurisdiction of all other courts and other authorities except the Supreme Court and High Court exercising jurisdiction under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution in relation to the matters specified in Section 17.

Section 19 provides a comprehensive procedure before the DRT for making an application where a bank or a financial institution has to recover any debt from any person. It also enables DRT to issue certificate of recovery, its execution and all such orders and directions as may be necessary to give effect to its orders or to prevent abuse of its process or to secure the ends of justice. Section 19 is reproduced as under:

"Section 19. Application to the Tribunal.--(1) Where a bank or a financial institution has to recover any debt from any person, it may make an application to the Tribunal within the local limits of whose jurisdiction--

Where a certificate of recovery is issued against a company registered under the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) the Tribunal may order the sale proceeds of such company to be distributed among its secured creditors in accordance with the provisions of section 529A of the Companies Act, 1956 and to pay the surplus, if any, to the company.

The Presiding Officer shall issue a certificate under his signature on the basis of the order of the Tribunal to the Recovery Officer for recovery of the amount of debt specified in the certificate.

The Tribunal may make such orders and give such directions as may be necessary or expedient to give effect to its orders or to prevent abuse of its process or to secure the ends of justice."

Section 22, inter alia, empowers the DRT to regulate its own procedure. It is not bound by the procedure laid down by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 ("CPC") but is guided by the principles of natural justice and subject to the provisions of the 1993 Act and the rules framed thereunder. It has same powers as are vested in a civil court under the CPC in respect of the matters set out in Section 22(2).

Section 25 provides the modes of recovery of debts. The Recovery Officer on receipt of the copy of the recovery certificate is required to proceed to recover the amount of debt specified in the certificate by one or more of the modes set out in that Section which includes attachment and sale of the movable or immovable property/properties of the certificate debtor. Under Section 28, the Recovery Officer may recover the amount of debt under the certificate by one or more of the modes provided thereunder without prejudice to the modes of recovery specified in Section 25. Section 28(4) provides that the Recovery Officer may apply to the court in whose custody there is money belonging to the certificate debtor for payment to him of the entire amount of such money, or if it is more than the amount of debt due an amount sufficient to discharge the amount of debt so due.

Section 34 gives the 1993 Act overriding effect. Sub-section(1) thereof provides that the provisions of the 1993 Act shall have the effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law or in any instrument having effect by virtue of any law. Sub-section (2) of Section 34 provides that the provisions of the 1993 Act or the rules made thereunder shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the enactments stated therein.

Section 36 empowers the central government to make rules to carry out the provisions of the 1993 Act. In exercise of the powers conferred under Section 36, the central government has framed the Debts Recovery Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1993.

Companies Act, 1956

The Companies Act has undergone substantial amendments by the Companies (Second Amendment) Act 2002 (11 of 2003) but no notification has been issued so far bringing Act 11 of 2003 into effect. Though Section 441 has been substituted by Section 56 of the above Amendment Act but since it has not come into force, we reproduce Section 441 as it stood prior to amendment:

"441. Commencement of winding up by Court-(1) Where, before the presentation of a petition for the winding up of a company by the Court, a resolution has been passed by the company for voluntary winding up, the winding up of the company shall be deemed to have commenced at the time of the passing of the resolution, and unless the Court, on proof of fraud or mistake, thinks fit to direct otherwise, all proceedings taken in the voluntary winding up shall be deemed to have been validly taken.

(2) In any other case, the winding up of a company by the Court shall be deemed to commence at the time of the presentation of the petition for the winding up."

Section 443 provides for powers of Court on hearing petition which, inter alia, enables it to make an order for winding up the company and also make an interim order that it thinks fit.

The effect of the winding up order is provided in Section 447. Accordingly, an order for winding up a company operates in favour of all the creditors and all the contributories of the company as if it has been made on the joint petition, of a creditor and of a contributory.

The appointment of official liquidator so far as it relates to winding up of a company is dealt with in Section 448. Section 451 deals with general provisions as to liquidators. Inter alia, it provides that the liquidator shall conduct the proceedings in winding up the company and perform such duties in reference thereto as the court may impose.

Section 456 provides that where a winding up order has been made or where a provisional liquidator has been appointed the liquidator or the provisional liquidator, as the case may be, shall take into his custody or under his control all the properties, effects and actionable claims to which the company is or appears to be entitled.

Section 457 empowers the liquidator to do acts stated in paragraphs (a) to (e) of sub-section (1) with the sanction of the court. In a winding up by the court, the liquidator has power to do all acts set out in clauses (i) to (v) of sub-section (2).

Section 529, to the extent it is relevant, reads as follows:

"Section 529 - Application of insolvency rules in winding up of insolvent companies. (1) In the winding up of an insolvent company, the same rules shall prevail and be observed with regard to-

(c) the respective rights of secured and unsecured creditors; as are in force for the time being under the law of insolvency with respect to the estates of persons adjudged insolvent:

Provided that the security of every secured creditor shall be deemed to be subject to a pari passu charge in favour of the workmen to the extent of the workmen's portion therein, and, where a secured creditor, instead of relinquishing his security and proving his debt, opts to realise his security,- (a) the liquidator shall be entitled to represent the workmen and enforce such charge;

(b) any amount realised by the liquidator by way of enforcement of such charge shall be applied rateably for the discharge of workmen's dues; and

(c) so much of the debt due to such secured creditor as could not be realised by him by virtue of the foregoing provisions of this proviso or the amount of the workmen's portion in his security, whichever is less, shall rank pari passu with the workmen's dues for the purposes of section 529A.]

(3) For the purposes of this section, section 529A and section 530.

(a) "workmen", in relation to a company, means the employees of the company, being workmen within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (14 of 1947);

(b) "workmen's dues", in relation to a company, means the aggregate of the following sums due from the company to its workmen, namely:-

(i) to (iv)

(c) "workmen's portion", in relation to the security of any secured creditor of a company, means the amount which bears to the value of the security the same proportion as the amount of the workmen's dues bears to the aggregate of-

(i) the amount of workmen's dues; and

(ii) the amounts of the debts due to the secured creditors.

SARFAESI Act, 2002

The SARFAESI Act, which came into force from 21.06.2002, was enacted to provide procedures to the Banks to recover their security interest from the debtors and their collateral security assets as provided under the provisions of the Act. The scope of the Act was explained by Apex Court in the case of Transcore vs. Union of India & another 2008(1) SCC 125 as under:

"12. The NPA Act, 2002 is enacted to regulate securitization and reconstruction of financial assets and enforcement of security interest and for matters connected therewith. The NPA Act enables the banks and FIs to realize long-term assets, manage problems of liquidity, asset-liability mismatch and to improve recovery of debts by exercising powers to take possession of securities, sell them and thereby reduce non-performing assets by adopting measures for recovery and reconstruction. The NPA Act further provides for setting up of asset reconstruction companies which are empowered to take possession of secured assets of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease; assignment or sale. The said Act also empowers the said asset reconstruction companies to take over the management of the business of the borrower....

13. Non-performing assets (NPA) are a cost to the economy. When the Act was enacted in 2002, the NPA stood at Rs1.10 lakh crores. This was a drag on the economy. Basically, NPA is an account which becomes non-viable and non-performing in terms of the guidelines given by RBI. As stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, NPA arises on account of mismatch between asset and liability. The NPA account is an asset in the hands of the bank or FI. It represents an amount receivable and realizable by the banks or FIs. In that sense, it is an asset in the hands of the secured creditor. Therefore, the NPA Act, 2002 was primarily enacted to reduce the nonperforming assets by adopting measures not only for recovery but also for reconstruction. Therefore, the Act provides for setting up of asset reconstruction companies, special purpose vehicles, asset management companies, etc. which are empowered to take possession of secured assets of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale. It also provides for realization of the secured assets. It also provides for takeover of the management of the borrower company.

24." Thus, it becomes clear that the SARFAESI Act is meant to operate as a tool for banks and ensures a smooth debt recovery process. The provisions of SARFAESI Act make its purport amply clear, specifically under the provisions of Sections 13(2) and 13(4) of the Act, which read as under:

13. Enforcement of security interest

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 69 or section 69A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (4 of 1882), any security interest created in favour of any secured creditor may be enforced, without the intervention of court or tribunal, by such creditor in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) Where any borrower, who is under a liability to a secured creditor under a security agreement, makes any default in repayment of secured debt or any instalment thereof, and his account in respect of such debt is classified by the secured creditor as non-performing asset, then, the secured creditor may require the borrower by notice in writing to discharge in full his liabilities to the secured creditor within sixty days from the date of notice failing which the secured creditor shall be entitled to exercise all or any of the rights under subsection (4).

(3) The notice referred to in sub-section (2) shall give details of the amount payable by the borrower and the secured assets intended to be enforced by the secured creditor in the event of non-payment of secured debts by the borrower.

(3A) If, on receipt of the notice under sub-section (2), the borrower makes any representation or raises any objection, the secured creditor shall consider such representation or objection and if the secured creditor comes to the conclusion that such representation or objection is not acceptable or tenable, he shall communicate within one week of receipt of such representation or objection the reasons for non-acceptance of the representation or objection to the borrower:

PROVIDED that the reasons so communicated or the likely action of the secured creditor at the stage of communication of reasons shall not confer any right upon the borrower to prefer an application to the Debts Recovery Tribunal under section 17 or the Court of District Judge under section 17A.

(4) In case the borrower fails to discharge his liability in full within the period specified in sub-section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the following measures to recover his secured debt, namely:--

(a) take possession of the secured assets of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured asset;

(b) take over the management of the business of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured asset:

PROVIDED that the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale shall be exercised only where the substantial part of the business of the borrower is held as security for the debt:

PROVIDED FURTHER that where the management of whole of the business or part of the business is severable, the secured creditor shall take over the management of such business of the borrower which is relatable to the security for the debt.

(c) appoint any person (hereafter referred to as the manager), to manage the secured assets the possession of which has been taken over by the secured creditor;

(d) require at any time by notice in writing, any person who has acquired any of the secured assets from the borrower and from whom any money is due or may become due to the borrower, to pay the secured creditor, so much of the money as is sufficient to pay the secured debt.

(5) Any payment made by any person referred to in clause (d) of sub-section (4) to the secured creditor shall give such person a valid discharge as if he has made payment to the borrower.

(6) Any transfer of secured asset after taking possession thereof or take over of management under sub-section (4), by the secured creditor or by the manager on behalf of the secured creditor shall vest in the transferee all rights in, or in relation to, the secured asset transferred as if the transfer had been made by the owner of such secured asset.

(7) Where any action has been taken against a borrower under the provisions of sub-section (4), all costs, charges and expenses which, in the opinion of the secured creditor, have been properly incurred by him or any expenses incidental thereto, shall be recoverable from the borrower and the money which is received by the secured creditor shall, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, be held by him in trust, to be applied, firstly, in payment of such costs, charges and expenses and secondly, in discharge of the dues of the secured creditor and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled thereto in accordance with his rights and interests.

(8) If the dues of the secured creditor together with all costs, charges and expenses incurred by him are tendered to the secured creditor at any time before the date fixed for sale or transfer, the secured asset shall not be sold or transferred by the secured creditor, and no further step shall be taken by him for transfer or sale of that secured asset.

(9) In the case of financing of a financial asset by more than one secured creditors or joint financing of a financial asset by secured creditors, no secured creditor shall be entitled to exercise any or all of the rights conferred on him under or pursuant to sub-section (4) unless exercise of such right is agreed upon by the secured creditors representing not less than three-fourth in value of the amount outstanding as on a record date and such action shall be binding on all the secured creditors:

PROVIDED that in the case of a company in liquidation, the amount realised from the sale of secured assets shall be distributed in accordance with the provisions of section 529A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956):

PROVIDED FURTHER that in the case of a company being wound up on or after the commencement of this Act, the secured creditor of such company, who opts to realise his security instead of relinquishing his security and proving his debt under proviso to sub-section (1) of section 529 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956), may retain the sale proceeds of his secured assets after depositing the workmen's dues with the liquidator in accordance with the provisions of section 529A of that Act:

PROVIDED ALSO that the liquidator referred to in the second proviso shall intimate the secured creditors the workmen's dues in accordance with the provisions of section 529A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) and in case such workmen's dues cannot be ascertained, the liquidator shall intimate the estimated amount of workmen's dues under that section to the secured creditor and in such case the secured creditor may retain the sale proceeds of the secured assets after depositing the amount of such estimated dues with the liquidator:

PROVIDED ALSO that in case the secured creditor deposits the estimated amount of workmen's dues, such creditor shall be liable to pay the balance of the workmen's dues or entitled to receive the excess amount, if any, deposited by the secured creditor with the liquidator:

PROVIDED ALSO that the secured creditor shall furnish an undertaking to the liquidator to pay the balance of the workmen's dues, if any.

Explanation : For the purposes of this sub-section,--

(a) "record date" means the date agreed upon by the secured creditors representing not less than three-fourth in value of the amount outstanding on such date;

(b) "amount outstanding" shall include principal, interest and any other dues payable by the borrower to the secured creditor in respect of secured asset as per the books of account of the secured creditor.

(10) Where dues of the secured creditor are not fully satisfied with the sale proceeds of the secured assets, the secured creditor may file an application in the form and manner as may be prescribed to the Debts Recovery Tribunal having jurisdiction or a competent court, as the case may be, for recovery of the balance amount from the borrower.

(11) Without prejudice to the rights conferred on the secured creditor under or by this section, the secured creditor shall be entitled to proceed against the guarantors or sell the pledged assets without first taking any of the measures specified in clauses (a) to (d) of sub-section (4) in relation to the secured assets under this Act.

(12) The rights of a secured creditor under this Act may be exercised by one or more of his officers authorised in this behalf in such manner as may be prescribed.

(13) No borrower shall, after receipt of notice referred to in sub-section (2), transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise (other than in the ordinary course of his business) any of his secured assets referred to in the notice, without prior written consent of the secured creditor.

16. Based on these statutory provisions, the interplay of these statutory provisions vis-a-vis the workers dues has been subject matter of consideration before the Apex Court, and as there has been divergence of opinion, the Apex Court in the case of Bank of Maharashtra Vs. Pandurang Keshav Corwardkar and others (2013)7 SCC 754 has dealt with the issue and answered as follows:-

67. In light of the above discussion, we sum up our conclusions thus:

67.1 If the debtor company is not in liquidation nor any provisional liquidator has been appointed and merely winding up proceedings are pending, there is no question of distribution of sale proceeds among secured creditors in the manner prescribed in Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act.

67.2 Where a company is in liquidation, a statutory charge is created in favour of workmen in respect of their dues over the security of every secured creditor and this charge is pari passu with that of the secured creditor. Such statutory charge is to the extent of workmen's portion in relation to the security held by the secured creditor of the debtor company.

67.3 The above position is equally applicable where the assets of the debtor company have been sold in execution of the recovery certificate obtained by the bank or financial institution against the debtor company when it was not in liquidation but before the proceeds realized from such sale could be fully and finally disbursed, the company had gone into liquidation. In other words, pending final disbursement of the proceeds realized from the sale of security in execution of the recovery certificate issued by the debt recovery tribunal, if debtor company becomes company in winding up, Section 529A read with Section 529(1)(c) proviso come into operation and statutory charge is created in favour of workmen in respect of their dues over such proceeds.

67.4. The relevant date for arriving at the ratio at which the sale proceeds are to be distributed amongst workmen and secured creditors of the debtor company is the date of the winding up order and not the date of sale.

67.5. The conclusions (ii) to (iv) shall be mutatis mutandis applicable where provisional liquidator has been appointed in respect of the debtor company.

67.6 Where the winding up petition against the debtor company is pending but no order of winding up has been passed nor any provisional liquidator has been appointed in respect of such company at the time of order of sale by DRT and the properties of the debtor company have been sold in execution of the recovery certificate and proceeds of sale realized and full disbursement of the sale proceeds has been made to the concerned bank or financial institution, the subsequent event of the debtor company going into liquidation is no ground for reopening disbursement by the DRT.

67.7. However, before full and final disbursement of sale proceeds, if the debtor company has gone into liquidation and a liquidator is appointed, disbursement of undisbursed proceeds by DRT can only be done after notice to the liquidator and after hearing him. In that situation if there is claim of workmen's dues, the DRT has two options available with it. One, the bank or financial institution which made an application before DRT for recovery of debt from the debtor company may be paid the undisbursed amount against due debt as per the recovery certificate after securing an indemnity bond of restitution of the amount to the extent of workmen's dues as may be finally determined by the liquidator of the debtor company and payable to workmen in the proportion set out in the illustration appended to Section 529(3)(c) of the Companies Act. The other, DRT may set apart tentatively portion of the undisbursed amount towards workmen's dues in the ratio as per the illustration following Section 529(3)(c) and disburse the balance amount to the applicant bank or financial institution subject to an undertaking by such bank or financial institution to reconstitute the amount to the extent workmen's dues as may be finally determined by the liquidator, falls short of the amount which may be distributable to the workmen as per the above illustration. The amount so set apart may be disbursed to the liquidator towards workmen's dues on ad hoc basis subject to adjustment on final determination of the workmen's dues by the liquidator.

67.8. The first option must be exercised by DRT only in a situation where no application for distribution towards workmen's dues against the debtor company has been made by the liquidator or the workmen before the DRT.

67.9. Where the sale of security has been effected in execution of recovery certificate issued by the DRT under the 1993 Act, the distribution of sale proceeds has to be made by the DRT alone in accordance with Section 529A of the Companies Act and by no other forum or authority.

67.10 The workmen of the company in winding up acquire the standing of the secured creditors on and from the date of winding up order (or where provisional liquidator has been appointed, from the date of such appointment) and they become entitled to the distribution of sale proceeds in the ratio as explained in the illustration appended to Section 529(3)(c) of the Companies Act.

67.11. Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act does not clothe DRT with jurisdiction to determine the workmen's claim against the debtor company. The adjudication of workmen's dues against the debtor company in liquidation has to be made by the liquidator. In other words, once the company is in winding up the only competent authority to determine the workmen's dues is the liquidator who obviously has to act under the supervision of the company court and by no other authority.

67.12 Section 19 (19) is attracted only where a debtor company is in winding up or a provisional liquidator has been appointed in respect of such company. If the debtor company is not in liquidation or if in respect of such company no order of appointment of provisional liquidator has been made and merely winding up proceedings are pending, the question of distribution of sale proceeds among secured creditors in the manner prescribed in Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act does not arise.

17. Bare perusal of the relevant para 67.1 of judgement would go to show that if the debtor company is not in liquidation nor any provisional liquidator has been appointed and merely winding up proceedings are pending, there is no question of distribution of sale proceeds among secured creditors in the manner prescribed in Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act. Para 67.2 deals with where a company is in liquidation, a statutory charge is created in favour of workmen in respect of their dues over the security of every secured creditor and this charge is pari passu with that of the secured creditor. Such statutory charge is to the extent of workmen's portion in relation to the security held by the secured creditor of the debtor company. Para 67.9 deals with where the sale of security has been effected in execution of recovery certificate issued by the DRT under the 1993 Act, the distribution of sale proceeds has to be made by the DRT alone in accordance with Section 529A of the Companies Act and by no other forum or authority. Para 67.10 deals with the workmen of the company in winding up acquire the standing of the secured creditors on and from the date of winding up order (or where provisional liquidator has been appointed, from the date of such appointment) and they become entitled to the distribution of sale proceeds in the ratio as explained in the illustration appended to Section 529 (3)(c) of the Companies Act. Para 67.11 deals with that Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act does not clothe DRT with jurisdiction to determine the workmen's claim against the debtor company. The adjudication of workmen's dues against the debtor company in liquidation has to be made by the liquidator. In other words, once the company is in winding up the only competent authority to determine the workmen's dues is the liquidator who obviously has to act under the supervision of the company court and by no other authority. Para 67.12 deals with that Section 19 (19) is attracted only where a debtor company is in winding up or a provisional liquidator has been appointed in respect of such company. If the debtor company is not in liquidation or if in respect of such company no order of appointment of provisional liquidator has been made and merely winding up proceedings are pending, the question of distribution of sale proceeds among secured creditors in the manner prescribed in Section 19(19) of the 1993 Act does not arise.

18. Apex Court once again in the case of Pegasus Assets Reconstruction Private Limited Vs. Haryana Concast Limited and another (2016) 4 SCC 47 has held that Sections 9 and 13 of the SARFAESI Act leaves no manner of doubt that for enforcement of its security interest, a secured creditor has been not only vested with powers to do so without the intervention of the Court or tribunal but detailed procedure has also been prescribed to take care of various eventualities such as when the borrower company is under liquidation. Further there is no lacuna or ambiguity in the SARFAESI Act to warrant reading something more into it. Thus, there is no plausible reason to take recourse to any provisions of the Companies Act and permit interference in proceedings under SARFAESI Act either by Company Judge or liquidator. Section 13(9) of SARFAESI Act fully protects workmen's interests by incorporating scheme of Sections 529 and 529-A of Companies Act, 1956. Relevant para 30 and 31 are extracted below:-

30. Since we have held earlier in favour of views of Delhi High Court, it is not necessary to burden this judgment with the case laws which support that view and have been noted by the High Court. We are in agreement with the submissions advanced on behalf of respondent Kotak Mahindra Bank as well as respondent No.2 that there is no lacuna or ambiguity in the SARFAESI Act to warrant reading something more into it. For the purpose it has been enacted, it is a complete code and the earlier judgments rendered in the context of SFC Act or RDB Act vis-à-vis the Companies Act, cannot be held applicable on all force to the SARFAESI Act. There is nothing lacking in the Act so as to borrow anything from the Companies Act till the stage the secured assets are sold by the secured creditors in accordance with the provisions in the SARFAESI Act and the Rules. At the post sale stage, the rights of the persons or parties having any stake in the sale proceeds are also taken care of by sub-section (9) of Section 13 and its five provisos (not numbered). It is significant that as per sub-section (9) a sort of consensus is required amongst the secured creditors, if they are more than one, for the exercise of rights available under sub-section (4). If borrower is a company in liquidation, the sale proceeds have to be distributed in accordance with the provisions of Section 529A of the Companies Act even where the company is being wound up after coming into force of the SARFAESI Act, if the secured creditor of such company opts to stand out of the winding up proceedings, it is entitled to retain the sale proceeds of its secured assets after depositing the workmen's dues with the liquidator in accordance with the provisions of Section 529A of the Company Act. The third proviso is also meant to work out the provisions of Section 529A of the Companies Act, in case the workmen's dues cannot be ascertained, by relying upon communication of estimate of such dues by the liquidator to the secured creditor, who has to deposit the amount of such estimated dues with the liquidator and then it can retain the sale proceeds of the secured assets. The other two provisos also are in aid of the liquidator to discharge his duties and obligations arising under Section 529A of the Companies Act. Thus, it is evident that the required provisions of the Companies Act have been incorporated in the SARFAESI Act for harmonizing this Act with the Companies Act in respect of dues of workmen and their protection under Section 529A of the Companies Act. In view of such exercise already done by the legislature, there is no plausible reason as to take recourse to any provisions of the Companies Act and permit interference in the proceedings under the SARFAESI Act either by the Company Judge or the liquidator. As noted earlier, the Official Liquidator as a representative of the borrower company under winding up has to be associated, not for supplying any omission in the SARFAESI Act but because of express provisions therein as well as in the Rules. Hence the exercise of harmonizing that this Court had to undertake in the context of SFC Act or the RDB Act is no longer warranted in respect of SARFAESI Act vis-à-vis the Companies Act.

31. The aforesaid view commends itself to us also because of clear intention of the Parliament expressed in Section 13 of the SARFAESI Act that a secured creditor has the right to enforce its security interest without the intervention of the court or tribunal. At the same time, this Act takes care that in case of grievance, the borrower, which in the case of a company under liquidation would mean the liquidator, will have the right of seeking redressal under Sections 17 and 18 of the SARFAESI Act.

19. Apex Court in Pegasus (supra) has clarified that there is no lacuna or ambiguity in the SARFAESI Act to warrant reading something more in it, there is no plausible reason to take recourse to any provisions of Companies Act and accordingly permit interference in proceeding under SARFAESI Act either by Company Judge or by liquidator. For enforcement of security interest, a secured creditor has been vested with the authority to do so without the intervention of the Court or Tribunal but various procedure has been provided for to take care when borrower company is under liquidation and section 13(9) of SARFAESI Act fully protects workmen interest by incorporation of section 529 and 529A of Companies Act.

20. Once such is the preposition of law and such are the statutory provisions that hold the field wherein property that is being dealt with, has been pledged by way of secured interest, and secured creditor under the provision of SARFAESI Act has proceeded to enforce its security interest by undertaking proceedings under Section 13(4) of SARFAESI Act, 2002, and at the post sale stage, the rights of persons or parties having any stake in the sale proceeds has been taken care of by sub-section (9) of Section 13 as required provisions of Companies Act namely section 529 and Section 529-A have already been incorporated in the provisions of SARFAESI Act. Under the provisions of SARFAESI Act, 2002, in terms of Section 13(9) interest of such workmen has been protected where the Company is under liquidation and in case company is not under liquidation then workmen have no right to claim their dues by distribution of sale proceeds in proceeding under SARFAESI Act and have no right to resist the proceedings so undertaken under the provision of SARFAESI Act for their dues. Coupled with this in proceedings under the SARFAESI Act, in case challenge is to be maintained qua the validity of proceeding so undertaken, then as per the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of United Bank of India Vs. Satyawati Tandon and others, 2010 (8) SCC 110, proceedings under section 17 of SARFAESI Act will have to be undertaken, as in the present case for instance submission has been made that interest of secured creditor stood satisfied as such there was no occasion for invoking the provision of SARFAESI Act, whereas this particular situation was vehemently disputed by the secured creditor in the backdrop of the fact that scheme in question so finalised itself has failed.

21. Admittedly this is accepted position that till today Company in question continues to exist under the provision of Company Act and two unit of Company i.e. Marhowrah (Bihar) and Padrauna are still in possession of Company and are being run by the Company. The workmen and sugar cane grower are insisting for their dues in SARFAESI Act proceeding and in pith and substance they want legislative business to be performed by this Court by proceeding to make declaration that in reference of sale proceeds that has been so received in spite of the fact that there is no initiation of winding up proceeding in terms of Sections 529 and 529-A of the Companies Act even then said provisions be pressed for disbursement of the amount that has been so received by way of sale proceed.

22. Law on the subject is clear and categorical that Court can only fill up the gap, if any, are there, but Court cannot take upon itself legislative business. Apex Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Deoki Nandan Agarwala AIR 1992 SC 96 observed as follows:-

"It is not the duty of Court either to enlarge the scope of legislation. The Court cannot rewrite, recast or re-frame the legislation for the very good reason that it has no power to legislate. The power to legislate has not been conferred upon the Court".

23. Apex Court in the case of District Mining Officers Vs. Tata Iron & and Steel Company 2001 (7) SCC 358 has taken the view that function of Court is only to expound the law and not to legislate.

24. In this backdrop once from the statutory provisions in question, it is clear that in proceedings under SARFAESI Act, at the post sale stage, the rights of person or parties having any stake in the sale proceeds due care has been taken under section 13(9) of Act and its five proviso. Once required provisions of Company Act have been incorporated under SARFAESI Act, then but for the contingency mentioned in Section 13(9) of the Act, there is no question of distribution of sale proceeds amongst the creditors. Wish of petitioners and cane growers is that even through winding up proceedings are not there, even then the principle of Section 529 and 529-A be pressed in SARFAESI proceeding. We at our level cannot enlarge the scope of proceedings and proceed to provide forum i.e. not otherwise provided for specially in the backdrop that is so emerging before us that provision of Section 529 and 529-A of the Companies Act cannot be invoked for the simple reason that Company is not at all for winding up and no proceedings have been undertaken for liquidation, then in case there are any dues that are outstanding towards company then such amount has to be recovered from the Company as per proceeding that has been so prescribed. Both under the provisions of U.P. Industrial Peace (Timely Payment of Wages) Act, 1978 as well as under U.P. Sugar Cane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act 1953, full fledged mechanism has been provided for effectuating recovery of workmen's due as well as sugar cane dues respectively and as such the respective forum provided for under both the aforesaid Act can be invoked for realisation of the dues as arrears of land revenue on the principle that where there is a right there is a remedy.

25. Apex Court in the case of Central Bank of India Vs. Siriguppa Chemicals Ltd 2007(8) SCC 353, wherein directives were issued by the High Court for disbursement of amount realised on sale of stocks of sugar owned by company and pledged to the Bank for satisfying claimed of workmen dues as well as dues of cane growers, took the view that such a directive could not have been issued for satisfying the order passed by Labour Commissioner under Section 33-C of Industrial Disputes Act, and for ensuring compliance of order passed by Cane Commissioner for recovery of sugar cane dues as the goods were validity pawned to the Bank, the right of the Bank cannot be effected by the orders of Cane Commissioner or on the demands made by workmen. Both the Cane Commissioner and the Workmen, in the absence of liquidation, stand only as unsecured creditors and their rights cannot prevail over the rights of the pawnee of goods. Petitioner and Cane growers accordingly in the absence of winding up proceedings in terms of Section 529 and 529-A of the Companies Act, cannot claim as a matter of right for distribution of sale proceeds received on invocation of security interest and as per the principle mentioned above their status would be of unsecured creditor and the amount due could be realised by invoking the statutory forum provided for under the respective statutory provision wherein liability has been determined and is enforceable in law on the legal principle that where a statute requires to do a certain thing in a certain way, the thing must be done in that way or not at all. Other method of performance are necessarily forbidden.

26. Apex Court in the case of Vishal N. Kalsaria Vs. Bank of India 2016(3) SCC 762 in the context of the provisions of Rent Control Act, has ruled that interest of tenant would be intact in proceedings under SARFAESI Act and eviction would take place as per the provisions of Rent Control Act. Said judgement has to be read in the context it has been delivered and it would be difficult to extend any benefit to the petitioner out of the said judgement, decided and interpreted in fact and situation. Said judgement is also suggestive of the fact that other laws don't get automatically obliterated unless provided for.

27. In view of this, prayer that has been so made to quash the sale proceedings in question that has been so undertaken under SARFAESI Act, 2002 cannot be accorded by us in the facts of case and further to distribute sale proceeds in consonance with the provision of Section 529 and 529-A of the Companies Act also cannot be accorded by us as same would tantamount to creating a statutory provision that otherwise does not exist in the absence of winding up proceeding. No impediment can be created by us in use of sale proceeds by the secured creditor. However, in the peculiar fact of the case, as amount has already been so directed by this Court to be retained and to be kept in no lien account and as of now said amount is still lying, as such we proceed to pass order that secured creditor would be free to utilize the said amount as statutory charge could be created only when company is in winding/liquidation and here there is no such contingency in existence. Coupled with this, as mention has been made in the earlier order passed by this Court that dues would be settled in accordance with law the company in question is directed to consider the request of petitioners and intervenor in accordance with law by coming up with the scheme as to in what way and manner dues would be ensured to workmen and cane growers in question preferably within next three months. In case within three months such scheme is not formulated then it is always open to petitioner/intervenor to go ahead with for recovery of dues as per law. We further proceed to pass order that as far as incumbents who have proceeded to purchase the unit in question in proceeding undertaken under SARFAESI Act, their request for providing adequate , protection for lifting of scrap be considered by the Authority concerned and possible assistance as admissible in law be rendered to them by the respondents.

28. With the above observation/direction present writ petition stands disposed of accordingly.

Writ C No.- 30501 Of 2016

Rev. K.V. Abraham ...Petitioner
Commissioner, Varanasi & Ors. Versus
...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:
Ashish Kumar Srivastava

Counsel for Respondents:
Somesh Khare
Held

The Commissioner under Section 12-D(2) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 is a quasi-judicial authority and not a 'court', hence the Limitation Act, 1963 does not apply directly to such proceedings.

Sections 5 and 14 of the Limitation Act are not directly applicable to proceedings before such quasi-judicial authorities.

However, the principles underlying Section 14 of the Limitation Act (exclusion of time spent in bona fide proceedings) are applicable even to quasi-judicial proceedings.

Where a party has bona fide pursued a wrong remedy with due diligence, the time spent therein can be excluded while computing limitation.

The absence of express power to condone delay under the Societies Registration Act does not bar application of equitable principles derived from Section 14.

The Commissioner was justified in condoning delay since the appellant had first approached the High Court and thereafter promptly filed the appeal.

Denial of such benefit would cause grave injustice and defeat substantive rights, hence a liberal and justice-oriented interpretation is warranted.

Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act does not automatically extend Limitation Act provisions to quasi-judicial bodies unless proceedings are before a “court”.

The distinction between "court" and "tribunal/quasi-judicial authority" is crucial, and Limitation Act applies strictly to courts.

The writ court, will not interfere with condonation of delay when it is based on sound legal principles and promotes justice.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. This writ petition is directed against an order passed by the appellate authority i.e. Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi, condoning delay in filing of appeal under Section 12-D(2) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The order is challenged essentially on the ground that the Divisional Commissioner exercising his jurisdiction under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act of 1860') has no authority to condone delay under the Act, and since authority does not act as a 'Court', the provisions of the Limitation Act are not attracted, rendering the order illegal for want of jurisdiction.

2. Facts relevant for the present purposes are that Pilgrim's Mission, 12, Bungalow, Varanasi, U.P. is a society registered under the provisions of Societies Registration Act, 1860, bearing Registration No.2838 of 1973-74. The society was lastly renewed on 10.10.2010, vide certificate of registration dated 19.10.2010. An application was filed by respondent no.2 before the Registrar, stating that renewal of the society had been obtained by playing fraud, and therefore, it be cancelled. An affidavit was also filed stating facts in support of such application. The Assistant Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits rejected the application of respondent no.2, vide his order dated 12th March, 2012. This order of Assistant Registrar was challenged before this Court in a Writ Petition No.23181 of 2012, which came to be dismissed, in view of the availability of alternative remedy of filing an appeal, vide order dated 11th May, 2012, which reads as under:-

"1. Learned counsel for the petitioner could not dispute that in the present case the registration of society and its renewal was already over and in effect the petitioner wanted its cancellation, therefore, the application of petitioner was referable to Section 12-D of Societies Registration Act, 1860 and the order passed by Registrar under Section 12-D is appealable under sub-section (2) thereof.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner states that petitioner would avail the statutory alternative remedy.

3. The writ petition is dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy."

3. In view of the observations made, an appeal has been preferred by respondent no.2 before the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi, on 17th May, 2012, alongwith an application under Section 5 readwith Section 14 of the Limitation Act, 1963 for condoning delay in filing of appeal. The appeal was admitted by the Commissioner on 13th April, 2015. An application was filed by the present petitioner for recall of the order dated 13th April, 2015, on the ground that no opportunity of contest on the aspect relating to condonation of delay had been granted. The Commissioner vide order dated 6.8.2015 adjourned the matter to 20th August, 2015 for hearing the parties on the aspect relating to condonation of delay. An affidavit in opposition to the delay condonation application was also filed. The appellate authority accordingly proceeded to pass an order on 21st September, 2015 observing that since the appeal has already been admitted, it would be appropriate that all issues be examined together on merits. This order then came to be challenged by filing a Writ Petition No.56016 of 2015, which was entertained, and following interim protection was granted on 1.10.2015:-

"Sri Somesh Khare and Smt. Komal Khare have put in appearance on behalf of second respondent.

Sri Khare prays for and is granted three days time to file a counter affidavit. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed within two days thereafter.

Put up on 14 October 2015 in the additional cause list.

The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that an appeal was preferred by the private respondent before the Commissioner, under Section 12-D of the Societies Registration Act assailing the order of Registrar(Societies) which admittedly being time barred could not have been entertained by the Commissioner as the provision provides for filing of appeal within 30 days, there being no provision for extension of time in case of delay, the Commissioner, therefore was not competent under law to entertain and admit the appeal.

The submission requires consideration.

Till then, further proceedings in Appeal No.191 of 2012 pending before the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi shall remain stayed."

4. Ultimately the writ petition got disposed of on 24.11.2015, vide following order:-

"Heard Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Somesh Khare along with Ms.Komal Khare, learned counsel for respondent no. 2.

Through this writ petition the petitioner has prayed for issuing a writ of certiorari quashing the orders dated 13.4.2015 and 21.9.2015 passed in Appeal No. 191 of 2012 (Pilgrim's Mission Inc. California vs. Assistant Registrar and others). Vide order dated 13.4.2015 the Divisional Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi (in short the Commissioner) has admitted the appeal and fixed 11.5.2015 for hearing after issuing notice to the other side whereas vide order dated 21.9.2015 the Commissioner, on the application of the petitioner to decide the question of limitation first, has directed to consider the question of limitation at the time of deciding the appeal on merits.

While assailing these orders Sri Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the respondent-appellant has filed an application for condonation of delay in filing the appeal before the Commissioner, therefore, without condonation of delay there could be no appeal and unless there was an appeal it could not be entertained. In his submissions the court below has erred in admitting the appeal vide order dated 13.4.2015 without condoning the delay in filing the appeal. In support of his submission he has placed reliance upon the judgment of Full Bench of this Court in Commissioner of Income Tax, Kanpur vs. Mohd. Farooq (2009) 84 Taxman 191 (All) and another decision of this Court in Prabhu and another vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Ghazipur and others (2013 (1) ADJ 554).

Sri Khare, who appears for respondent no.2 submits that in view of sub-section (2) of Section 29 of the Limitation Act read with Section 12-D of the Societies Registration Act the appeal is within time and if it is treated to be beyond time the Commissioner has power to condone the delay. In support of his submission he has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Apex Court in Mukri Gopalan vs. Cheppilat Pathanpurayil Aboobacher (AIR 1995 SC 2272).

Without addressing myself on the points and the cases cited by the learned counsel for the parties, considering the fact that the appeal has been filed along with an application for condonation of delay and without condoning the delay the appeal has been admitted, in view of the settled legal position that without condoning the delay appeal could not be admitted, reference may be had in the case of Shambhu Sharan Chaubey and others vs. State of U.P. and others (2012 (10)ADJ 742, the Commissioner has erred in admitting the appeal. However taking note of the concept of speedy justice without disturbing the order of admission, it is provided that before deciding the appeal on merit the question of limitation shall be decided first by the Commissioner after hearing both the sides, if possible within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of the order of this Court. Further fate of the appeal would depend upon the fate of the order passed on the point of limitation.

With the aforesaid observation, the writ petition is disposed of."

5. Pursuant to the directions issued by this Court, the appellate authority has considered the application for condonation of delay. It has observed that against the order dated 12th March, 2012, a writ petition had been filed before this Court, which had been dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy of filing appeal, on 11th May, 2012, and immediately thereafter, an appeal was preferred on 18th May, 2012. Accordingly, delay has been condoned by allowing the application under Section 5/14 of the Limitation Act with the observation that there was no intentional delay in filing of the appeal, and sufficient grounds for its condonation was disclosed. It is this order of Commissioner dated 13th June, 2016, which is put to challenge in the present writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the Divisional Commissioner while exercising his powers under Section 12-D(2) of the Act does not act as a court, and consequently, the provisions of Limitation Act are not attracted. It is also contended that Societies Registration Act is a special law, which specifically provides for a period of 30 days limitation for filing of appeal, and does not confer jurisdiction upon the appellate authority to condone delay, and consequently, in absence of applicability of Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act 1963 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act of 1963'), the delay on account of pursuing a wrong remedy could not be condoned. Learned counsel in support of such contention placed reliance upon judgments of the Apex Court in Hukumdev Narain Yadav Vs. Lalit Narain Mishra [AIR 1974 SC 480], The Commissioner of Sales Tax, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow Vs. M/s Parson Tools and Plants, Kanpur [AIR 1975 SC 1039], Anwari Basavaraj Patil and others Vs. Siddaramaiah and others [1993(1) SCC 636], Gopal Sardar Vs. Karuna Sardar [2004 (4) SCC 252], L.S. Synthetics Ltd. Vs. Fairgrowth Financial Services Ltd. And another [2004(11) SCC 456], Consolidated Engineering Enterprises Vs. Principal Secretary, Irrigation Department and others [2008 (7) SCC 169], Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise Vs. Hongo India Private Limited and another [2009(5) SCC 791], as well as judgments of this Court in Commissioner of Income Tax, Kanpur Vs. Mohd. Farooq in IT Appeal Nos.11 of 2001, 78 of 2002, 5 and 6 of 2003, decided on 3.9.2009, Commissioner of Central Excise, Meerut Vs. M/s. Salora International Limited in Central Excise Reference Application No.(4) of 2001, decided on 13.9.2005, Mantri Khadi Gram Udyog Samiti, Harijan Gurukul Heera Patti, Sadar, District Azamgarh Vs. The Prescribed Authority, Azamgarh and others in Writ Petition No.45385 of 2012, decided on 25.9.2012, as well as judgment of the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Seth Banshidhar Kedia Rice Mills Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State Bank of India in Writ Petition No.2393 of 2011, decided on 5.9.2011.

7. Sri Somesh Khare, learned counsel for the respondents, per contra, submits that the provisions of Limitation Act, 1963 are attracted to proceedings undertaken before the Commissioner, by virtue of Section 29(2) of the Act of 1963. Learned counsel submits that there is no express or implied exclusion of the provisions of Limitation Act. Learned counsel further submits that the Commissioner while hearing the appeal under Section 12-D(2) discharges quasi-judicial functions, akin to a 'court', under the special law, even if not under the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure, and the time spent in pursuing a wrong remedy since was bona fide, it is liable to be excluded by virtue of Section 14 of the Act. Learned counsel has placed reliance upon Constitution Bench judgment in Vidyacharan Shukla Vs. Khubchand Baghel reported in AIR 1964 SC 1099, as well as judgment of Apex Court in Mukri Gopalan Vs. Cheppilat Puthanpurayil Aboobacker reported in AIR 1995 SC 2272.

8. I have heard Sri Ashish Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, Learned Standing Counsel and Sri Somesh Khare for the respondents, and have perused the records as well as the judgments relied upon.

9. Before advertng to the submissions made, it would be appropriate to take note of relevant statutory provisions. Section 12-D has been inserted in the Act of 1860, by way of a State amendment in 1975, which reads as under:-

"12D. Registrar's power to cancel registration in certain circumstance.-

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the Registrar may, by order in writing, cancel the registration of any society on any of the following grounds:--

(a) that the registration of the society or of its name or change of name is contrary to the provisions of this Act or of any other law for the time being in force;

(b) that its activities or proposed activities have been or are or will be subversive of the objects of the society or opposed to public policy;

[(c) that the registration or the certificate of renewal has been obtained by misrepresentation or fraud]:

Provided that no order of cancellation of registration of any society shall be passed until the society has been given a reasonable opportunity of altering its name or object or of showing cause against the action proposed to be taken in regard to it.

[(2) An appeal against an order made under sub-section (1) may be preferred to the Commissioner of the Division in whose jurisdiction the Headquarter of the society lies, within one month from the date of communication of such order.

(3) The decision of the Commissioner under sub-section (2), shall be final and shall not be called in question in any court.]"

10. Section contemplates filing of appeal against an order made under sub-section 1 of Section 12-D, within one month from the date of communication of such order. The Act does not confer jurisdiction upon the appellate authority to condone delay in filing of appeal. According to the respondents, power to condone delay is available to the appellate authority by virtue of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act, 1963, which reads as under:-

"29(2). Where any special or local law prescribes for any suit, appeal or application a period of limitation different from the period prescribed by the Schedule, the provisions of section 3 shall apply as if such period were the period prescribed by the Schedule and for the purpose of determining any period of limitation prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law, the provisions contained in sections 4 to 24 (inclusive) shall apply only in so far as, and to the extent to which, they are not expressly excluded by such special or local law."

11. Submission is that Act of 1860 is a special law relating to societies, which prescribes a period of limitation in filing of appeal. Since no corresponding provision exists in the schedule to Limitation Act, 1963, as such a different period exists providing for Limitation Act and Act of 1860, and accordingly necessary ingredients exist for Section 29 to operate in the field. Reliance is placed upon following observation of the Supreme Court in para-20 in Mukri Gopalan (supra):-

"20. Our attention was also invited by counsel for the appellant to a later decision of this court in the case of The Sahkari Ganna Vikas Samiti Ltd., Vs. Mahabir Sugar Mills (P) Ltd., (AIR 1982 SC 119). In that case a bench of two learned Judges was concerned with the question whether Divisional Commissioner acting under the U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act, 1953 acted as a revenue court or whether he was a persona designata. It was held that the Divisional Commissioner had been constituted as appellate authority under the Act. That showed that the Divisional Commissioner was made an appellate court not as persona designata but as a revenue court. That being so it was obvious that Section 5 of the Act applied to appeals before Divisional Commissioner and he could condone the delay in filing appeals. It becomes obvious that this court in the aforesaid decision was dealing with revenue court constituted under U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act which was a special law. It was in terms held that Section 5 of the Limitation Act was applicable to revisional proceedings before such Revenue Courts. It is of course true as pointed out by Mr. Nariman that in the said decision no other decision of this court was cited and Section 29(2) was not expressly referred to but the ratio of the decision is necessarily and implicitly based on the applicability of Section 29(2) but for which Section 5 of the Limitation Act would not have been made applicable to such revision proceedings before revenue court functioning under the special law. Before parting with the discussion on this question we may also refer to one submission of Shri Nariman. He submitted that Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act would apply to civil courts as duly constituted under the Civil Procedure Code and if that is so even if they are to be made applicable to suit, appeal or application governed by periods of limitation prescribed by any special or local law, they necessarily require such suit, appeal or application to be filed under special or local law before full-fledged civil courts as otherwise Sections 4 to 24 by themselves would not apply to them. It is difficult to agree. It has to be kept in view that Section 29(2) gets attracted for computing the period of limitation for any suit, appeal or application to be filed before authorities under special or local law if the conditions laid down in the said provision are satisfied and once they get satisfied the provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 shall apply to such proceedings meaning thereby the procedural scheme contemplated by these Sections of the Limitation Act would get telescoped into such provisions of special or local law. It amounts to a legislative shorthand. Consequently, even this contention of Shri Nariman cannot be countenanced."

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner, however, submits that Commissioner while deciding the appeal under Section 12-D does not act as a 'court', and therefore, provisions of Sections 5 & 14 of the Limitation Act cannot be exercised by him. Judgments relied upon by the counsel for the parties in support of their submissions have already been noticed above.

13. This Court, however, is not required to examine all cited decisions, inasmuch as rival contentions have been answered by the Apex Court in M.P. Steel Corporation Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise, reported in 2015(7) SCC 58. Question as to whether provisions of the Limitation Act would be applicable in proceedings before quasi-judicial tribunal/forum or would be applicable only to a 'court', as is understood in strict sense of being part of judicial branch of the State, has been answered. The dispute was examined by Apex Court in the context of an appeal filed under Section 128 of the Customs Act. Their Lordships of the Supreme Court after noticing the statutory scheme as well as the judgments delivered previously on the issue have been pleased to hold that provisions of Limitation Act apply only to suits, appeals and applications filed in 'courts' and not to quasi-judicial bodies. The distinction between 'court' and 'quasi-judicial proceedings' have also been examined, with reference to the judgments delivered previously on the issue. After noticing the scheme of Limitation Act, 1963 in paras-11 onwards their Lordships observed as under in para-19 of the report:-

"19. When it comes to applications, again Articles 124, 130 and 131 throw a great deal of light. Only review of judgments by a "court" is contemplated in the Third Division in the Schedule. Further, leave to appeal as a pauper again can be made either to the High Court or only to any other court vide Article 130. And by Article 131, a revision petition filed only before Courts under the Code of Civil Procedure Code or the Code of Criminal Procedure are referred to. On a plain reading of the provisions of the Limitation Act, it becomes clear that suits, appeals and applications are only to be considered (from the limitation point of view) if they are filed in courts and not in quasi-judicial bodies."

Issue for consideration is specified in following words in para-21:-

"21. Under our constitutional scheme of things, the judiciary is dealt with in Chapter IV of Part V and Chapter V of Part VI. Chapter IV of Part V deals with the Supreme Court and Chapter V of Part VI deals with the High Courts and courts subordinate thereto. When the Constitution uses the expression "court", it refers to this Court system. As opposed to this court system is a system of quasi-judicial bodies called Tribunals. Thus, Articles 136 and 227 refer to "courts" as distinct from "tribunals". The question in this case is whether the Limitation Act extends beyond the court system mentioned above and embraces within its scope quasi-judicial bodies as well?

Reliance has been placed upon a 3-Judge Bench of Apex Court in para-23 as under:-

23. In Kerala State Electricity Board v. T.P. Kunhaliumma, (1976) 4 SCC 634, a 3-Judge Bench of this Court followed the aforesaid two judgments and stated:-

"22. The conclusion we reach is that Article 137 of the 1963 Limitation Act will apply to any petition or application filed under any Act to a civil court. With respect we differ from the view taken by the two-judge bench of this Court in Athani Municipal Council case [(1969) 1 SCC 873 : (1970) 1 SCR 51] and hold that Article 137 of the 1963 Limitation Act is not confined to applications contemplated by or under the Code of Civil Procedure. The petition in the present case was to the District Judge as a court. The petition was one contemplated by the Telegraph Act for judicial decision. The petition is an application falling within the scope of Article 137 of the 1963 Limitation Act."

This judgment is an authoritative pronouncement by a 3-Judge Bench that the Limitation Act applies only to courts and not to quasi-judicial Tribunals. Athani's case was dissented from on a different proposition - that Article 137 is not confined to applications under the Code of Civil Procedure alone. So long as an application is made under any statute to a Civil Court, such application will be covered by Article 137 of the Limitation Act."

After noticing the judgments of the Supreme Court in Mukri Gopalan (supra), CST Vs. Madan Lal Das & Sons [1976(4) SCC 464], and CST Vs. Parson Tools and Plants [1975(4) SCC 22], their Lordships observed as under in paras-28 to 33 of the report:-

"28. Two other judgments of this Court need to be dealt with at this stage. In Mukri Gopalan v. Cheppilat Puthanpurayil Aboobacker, (1995) 5 SCC 5, a 2-Judge Bench of this Court held that the Limitation Act would apply to the appellate authority constituted under Section 13 of the Kerala Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1965. This was done by applying the provision of Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act. Despite referring to various earlier judgments of this Court which held that the Limitation Act applies only to courts and not to Tribunals, this Court in this case held to the contrary. In distinguishing the Parson Tools' case, which is a 3-Judge Bench binding on the Court that decided Mukri Gopalan's case, the Court held:-

"18. ... If the Limitation Act does not apply then neither Section 29(2) nor Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act would apply to proceedings before him. But so far as this Court is concerned it did not go into the question whether Section 29(2) would not get attracted because the U.P. Sales Tax Act Judge (Revisions) was not a court but it took the view that because of the express provision in Section 10(3)(B) applicability of Section 14(2) of the Sales Tax Act was ruled out. Implicit in this reasoning is the assumption that but for such an express conflict or contrary intention emanating from Section 10(3)(B) of the U.P. Sales Tax Act which was a special law, Section 29(2) would have brought in Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act even for governing period of limitation for such revision applications. In any case, the scope of Section 29(2) was not considered by the aforesaid decision of the three learned Judges and consequently it cannot be held to be an authority for the proposition that in revisional proceedings before the Sales Tax authorities functioning under the U.P. Sales Tax Act Section 29(2) cannot apply as Mr. Nariman would like to have it."

It then went on to follow the judgment reported in The Commissioner of Sales Tax, U.P. v. M/s. Madan Lal Das & Sons, Bareilly, (1976) 4 SCC 464 which, as has been pointed out earlier, is not an authority for the proposition that the Limitation Act would apply to Tribunals. In fact, Mukri Gopalan's case was distinguished in Om Prakash v. Ashwani Kumar Bassi, (2010) 9 SCC 183 at paragraph 22 as follows:

"22. The decision in Mukri Gopalan case [(1995) 5 SCC 5] relied upon by Mr Ujjal Singh is distinguishable from the facts of this case. In the facts of the said case, it was the District Judges who were discharging the functions of the appellate authority and being a court, it was held that the District Judge, functioning as the appellate authority, was a court and not persona designata and was, therefore, entitled to resort to Section 5 of the Limitation Act. That is not so in the instant case where the Rent Controller appointed by the State Government is a member of the Punjab Civil Services and, therefore, a persona designata who would not be entitled to apply the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963, as in the other case."

The fact that the District Judge himself also happened to be the appellate authority under the Rent Act would have been sufficient on the facts of the case for the Limitation Act to apply without going into the proposition that the Limitation Act would apply to tribunals.

29. Quite apart from Mukri Gopalan's case being out of step with at least five earlier binding judgments of this Court, it does not square also with the subsequent judgment in Consolidated Engg. Enterprises v. Principal secy., Irrigation Deptt., (2008) 7 SCC 169. A 3-Judge Bench of this Court was asked to decide whether Section 14 of the Limitation Act would apply to Section 34(3) of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. After discussing the various provisions of the Arbitration Act and the Limitation Act, this Court held:

"23. At this stage it would be relevant to ascertain whether there is any express provision in the Act of 1996, which excludes the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act. On review of the provisions of the Act of 1996 this Court finds that there is no provision in the said Act which excludes the applicability of the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act to an application submitted under Section 34 of the said Act. On the contrary, this Court finds that Section 43 makes the provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 applicable to arbitration proceedings. The proceedings under Section 34 are for the purpose of challenging the award whereas the proceeding referred to under Section 43 are the original proceedings which can be equated with a suit in a court. Hence, Section 43 incorporating the Limitation Act will apply to the proceedings in the arbitration as it applies to the proceedings of a suit in the court. Sub-section (4) of Section 43, inter alia, provides that where the court orders that an arbitral award be set aside, the period between the commencement of the arbitration and the date of the order of the court shall be excluded in computing the time prescribed by the Limitation Act, 1963, for the commencement of the proceedings with respect to the dispute so submitted. If the period between the commencement of the arbitration proceedings till the award is set aside by the court, has to be excluded in computing the period of limitation provided for any proceedings with respect to the dispute, there is no good reason as to why it should not be held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act would be applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996, more particularly where no provision is to be found in the Act of 1996, which excludes the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, to an application made under Section 34 of the Act. It is to be noticed that the powers under Section 34 of the Act can be exercised by the court only if the aggrieved party makes an application. The jurisdiction under Section 34 of the Act, cannot be exercised suo motu. The total period of four months within which an application, for setting aside an arbitral award, has to be made is not unusually long. Section 34 of the Act of 1996 would be unduly oppressive, if it is held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act are not applicable to it, because cases are no doubt conceivable where an aggrieved party, despite exercise of due diligence and good faith, is unable to make an application within a period of four months. From the scheme and language of Section 34 of the Act of 1996, the intention of the legislature to exclude the applicability of Section 14 of the Limitation Act is not manifest. It is well to remember that Section 14 of the Limitation Act does not provide for a fresh period of limitation but only provides for the exclusion of a certain period. Having regard to the legislative intent, it will have to be held that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, 1963 would be applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996 for setting aside an arbitral award."

30. While discussing Parson Tools, this Court held:

"25.....In appeal, this Court held that (1) if the legislature in a special statute prescribes a certain period of limitation, then the Tribunal concerned has no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith, on the analogy of Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act, and (2) the appellate authority and the revisional authority were not "courts" but were merely administrative tribunals and, therefore, Section 14 of the Limitation Act did not, in terms, apply to the proceedings before such tribunals.

26. From the judgment of the Supreme Court in CST [(1975) 4 SCC 22 : 1975 SCC (Tax) 185 : (1975) 3 SCR 743] it is evident that essentially what weighed with the Court in holding that Section 14 of the Limitation Act was not applicable, was that the appellate authority and the revisional authority were not "courts". The stark features of the revisional powers pointed out by the Court, showed that the legislature had deliberately excluded the application of the principles underlying Sections 5 and 14 of the Limitation Act. Here in this case, the Court is not called upon to examine scope of revisional powers. The Court in this case is dealing with Section 34 of the Act which confers powers on the court of the first instance to set aside an award rendered by an arbitrator on specified grounds. It is not the case of the contractor that the forums before which the Government of India undertaking had initiated proceedings for setting aside the arbitral award are not "courts". In view of these glaring distinguishing features, this Court is of the opinion that the decision rendered in CST [(1975) 4 SCC 22 : 1975 SCC (Tax) 185 : (1975) 3 SCR 743] did not decide the issue which falls for consideration of this Court and, therefore, the said decision cannot be construed to mean that the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act are not applicable to an application submitted under Section 34 of the Act of 1996."

31. In a separate concurring judgment Justice Raveendran specifically held:

"44. It may be noticed at this juncture that the Schedule to the Limitation Act prescribes the period of limitation only to proceedings in courts and not to any proceeding before a tribunal or quasi-judicial authority. Consequently Sections 3 and 29(2) of the Limitation Act will not apply to proceedings before the tribunal. This means that the Limitation Act will not apply to appeals or applications before the tribunals, unless expressly provided."

While dealing with Parson Tools, the learned Judge held:

"56. In Parson Tools [(1975) 4 SCC 22] this Court did not hold that Section 14(2) was excluded by reason of the wording of Section 10(3-B) of the Sales Tax Act. This Court was considering an appeal against the Full Bench decision of the Allahabad High Court. Two Judges of the High Court had held that the time spent in prosecuting the application for setting aside the order of dismissal of appeals in default, could be excluded when computing the period of limitation for filing a revision under Section 10 of the said Act, by application of the principle underlying Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act. The minority view of the third Judge was that the revisional authority under Section 10 of the U.P. Sales Tax Act did not act as a court but only as a Revenue Tribunal and therefore the Limitation Act did not apply to the proceedings before such Tribunal, and consequently, neither Section 29(2) nor Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act applied. The decision of the Full Bench was challenged by the Commissioner of Sales Tax before this Court, contending that the Limitation Act did not apply to tribunals, and Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act was excluded in principle or by analogy. This Court upheld the view that the Limitation Act did not apply to tribunals, and that as the revisional authority under Section 10 of the U.P. Sales Tax Act was a tribunal and not a court, the Limitation Act was inapplicable. This Court further held that the period of pendency of proceedings before the wrong forum could not be excluded while computing the period of limitation by applying Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act. This Court, however, held that by applying the principle underlying Section 14(2), the period of pendency before the wrong forum may be considered as a "sufficient cause" for condoning the delay, but then having regard to Section 10(3-B), the extension on that ground could not extend beyond six months. The observation that pendency of proceedings of the nature contemplated by Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act, may amount to a sufficient cause for condoning the delay and extending the limitation and such extension cannot be for a period in excess of the ceiling period prescribed, is in the light of its finding that Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act was inapplicable to revisions under Section 10(3-B) of the U.P. Sales Tax Act. These observations cannot be interpreted as laying down a proposition that even where Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act in terms applied and the period spent before wrong forum could therefore be excluded while computing the period of limitation, the pendency before the wrong forum should be considered only as a sufficient cause for extension of period of limitation and therefore, subjected to the ceiling relating to the extension of the period of limitation. As we are concerned with a proceeding before a court to which Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act applies, the decision in Parson Tools [(1975) 4 SCC 22 : 1975 SCC (Tax) 185 : (1975) 3 SCR 743] which related to a proceeding before a Tribunal to which Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act did not apply, has no application."

32. Obviously, the ratio of Mukri Gopalan does not square with the observations of the 3-Judge Bench in Consolidated Engineering Enterprises. In the latter case, this Court has unequivocally held that Parson Tools is an authority for the proposition that the Limitation Act will not apply to quasi-judicial bodies or Tribunals. To the extent that Mukri Gopalan is in conflict with the judgment in the Consolidated Engineering Enterprises case, it is no longer good law.

33. The sheet anchor in Mukri Gopalan was Section 29(2) of the Limitation Act. Section 29(2) states:-

"29. Savings.-- (1) * * *

(2) Where any special or local law prescribes for any suit, appeal or application a period of limitation different from the period prescribed by the Schedule, the provisions of Section 3 shall apply as if such period were the period prescribed by the Schedule and for the purpose of determining any period of limitation prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law, the provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 (inclusive) shall apply only insofar as, and to the extent to which, they are not expressly excluded by such special or local law."

A bare reading of this Section would show that the special or local law described therein should prescribe for any suit, appeal or application a period of limitation different from the period prescribed by the schedule. This would necessarily mean that such special or local law would have to lay down that the suit, appeal or application to be instituted under it should be a suit, appeal or application of the nature described in the schedule. We have already held that such suits, appeals or applications as are referred to in the schedule are only to courts and not to quasi-judicial bodies or Tribunals. It is clear, therefore, that only when a suit, appeal or application of the description in the schedule is to be filed in a court under a special or local law that the provision gets attracted. This is made even clearer by a reading of Section 29(3). Section 29(3) states:-

"29. Savings.-- (1)-(2) * * *

(3) Save as otherwise provided in any law for the time being in force with respect to marriage and divorce, nothing in this Act shall apply to any suit or other proceeding under any such law."

When it comes to the law of marriage and divorce, the Section speaks not only of suits but other proceedings as well. Such proceedings may be proceedings which are neither appeals nor applications thus making it clear that the laws relating to marriage and divorce, unlike the law of limitation, may contain proceedings other than suits, appeals or applications filed in courts. This again is an important pointer to the fact that the entirety of the Limitation Act including Section 29(2) would apply only to the three kinds of proceedings mentioned all of which are to be filed in courts."

14. In view of clear annunciation of law by the Supreme Court in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra), argument advanced on behalf of respondents that the appellate authority has jurisdiction to condone delay under the provisions of the Limitation Act, in view of the judgment in Mukri Gopalan (supra) must fail. Admittedly, the Commissioner under Section 12-D(2) while functioning as the appellate authority is not a 'court' in strict sense, as a 'court' constituted under the constitutional scheme, but would at best be a quasi-judicial body. This is so as under the Act of 1860, the appellate authority is to pass orders after affording reasonable opportunity of showing cause and opportunity of hearing, and the decision taken in appeal becomes final and is not open to be questioned in any court. Jurisdiction of civil court in the matter is excluded.

15. After holding that provisions of Limitation Act, 1963 would not apply to proceedings before the quasi-judicial authorities, Hon'ble Supreme Court proceeded further in the matter and observed as under in para-38 of the judgment in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra):-

"38. We have already held that the Limitation Act including Section 14 would not apply to appeals filed before a quasi-judicial Tribunal such as the Collector (Appeals) mentioned in Section 128 of the Customs Act. However, this does not conclude the issue. There is authority for the proposition that even where Section 14 may not apply, the principles on which Section 14 is based, being principles which advance the cause of justice, would nevertheless apply. We must never forget, as stated in Bhudan Singh & Anr. v. Nabi Bux & Anr., (1970) 2 SCR 10, that justice and reason is at the heart of all legislation by Parliament. This was put in very felicitous terms by Hegde, J. as follows:

"Before considering the meaning of the word "held" in Section 9, it is necessary to mention that it is proper to assume that the lawmakers who are the representatives of the people enact laws which the society considers as honest, fair and equitable. The object of every legislation is to advance public welfare. In other words as observed by Crawford in his book on Statutory Constructions the entire legislative process is influenced by considerations of justice and reason. Justice and reason constitute the great general legislative intent in every piece of legislation. Consequently where the suggested construction operates harshly, ridiculously or in any other manner contrary to prevailing conceptions of justice and reason, in most instances, it would seem that the apparent or suggested meaning of the statute, was not the one intended by the law-makers. In the absence of some other indication that the harsh or ridiculous effect was actually intended by the legislature, there is little reason to believe that it represents the legislative intent."

After noticing various judgments on the issue, their Lordships have been pleased to hold that principle of Section 14 nevertheless apply to proceedings before the quasi-judicial authorities/tribunal. Para-43 of the judgment in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra) is reproduced:-

"43. Merely because Parson Tools also dealt with a provision in a tax statute does not make the ratio of the said decision apply to a completely differently worded tax statute with a much shorter period of limitation - Section 128 of the Customs Act. Also, the principle of Section 14 would apply not merely in condoning delay within the outer period prescribed for condonation but would apply de hors such period for the reason pointed out in Consolidated Engineering above, being the difference between exclusion of a certain period altogether under Section 14 principles and condoning delay. As has been pointed out in the said judgment, when a certain period is excluded by applying the principles contained in Section 14, there is no delay to be attributed to the appellant and the limitation period provided by the concerned statute continues to be the stated period and not more than the stated period. We conclude, therefore, that the principle of Section 14 which is a principle based on advancing the cause of justice would certainly apply to exclude time taken in prosecuting proceedings which are bona fide and with due diligence pursued, which ultimately end without a decision on the merits of the case."

16. Following the judgments aforesaid, this Court finds that in the facts of the present case, principles of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, 1963 would be attracted. Section 14 of the Act reads as under:-

"14. Exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in court without jurisdiction. --(1) In computing the period of limitation for any suit the time during which the plaintiff has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, whether in a court of first instance or of appeal or revision, against the defendant shall be excluded, where the proceeding relates to the same matter in issue and is prosecuted in good faith in a court which, from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it.

(2) In computing the period of limitation for any application, the time during which the applicant has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, whether in a court of first instance or of appeal or revision, against the same party for the same relief shall be excluded, where such proceeding is prosecuted in good faith in a court which, from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 2 of Order XXIII of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908), the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply in relation to a fresh suit instituted on permission granted by the court under rule 1 of that Order where such permission is granted on the ground that the first suit must fail by reason of a defect in the jurisdiction of the court or other cause of a like nature.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of this section,--

(a) in excluding the time during which a former civil proceeding was pending, the day on which that proceeding was instituted and the day on which it ended shall both be counted;

(b) a plaintiff or an applicant resisting an appeal shall be deemed to be prosecuting a proceeding;

(c) misjoinder of parties or of causes of action shall be deemed to be a cause of a like nature with defect of jurisdiction."

17. In the facts of the present case, immediately after the order had been passed by the Registrar, the respondent preferred a Writ Petition No. 23181 of 2012, which was dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy of preferring an appeal under Section 12-D(2) of the Act of 1860. After passing of such order, petitioner has immediately preferred an appeal, and delay has been condoned. Since the principles underlying Section 14 of the Limitation Act are attracted, as such, the period spent in pursuing a wrong remedy is liable to be condoned.

18. In the present case, if principles of Section 14 are not applied, grave hardship would be otherwise caused to respondent Pilgrim's Mission. The respondent in this case was diligently pursuing remedy against the order of Registrar by filing a writ petition, and unless delay is condoned, it would not be possible to challenge the order. In Consolidated Engg. Enterprises Vs. Irrigation Department, reported in 2008(7) SCC 169, following conditions have been held to be met before Section 14 could be pressed into service:-

"21. Section 14 of the Limitation Act deals with exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in a court without jurisdiction. On analysis of the said section, it becomes evident that the following conditions must be satisfied before Section 14 can be pressed into service:

(1) Both the prior and subsequent proceedings are civil proceedings prosecuted by the same party;

(2) The prior proceeding had been prosecuted with due diligence and in good faith;

(3) The failure of the prior proceeding was due to defect of jurisdiction or other cause of like nature;

(4) The earlier proceeding and the latter proceeding must relate to the same matter in issue and;

(5) Both the proceedings are in a court."

Except for the exclusion of last condition that appellate authority is not a 'court', all other conditions of Section 14 are met. However, if the principles of Section 14 are made applicable upon quasi-judicial bodies, then power to condone delay on account of pursuing a wrong remedy would be available to Commissioner. Such construction would subserve the larger cause and save the provision itself from the vice of unreasonableness.

19. In M.P. Steel Corporation (supra), Apex Court has also examined as to what periods are to be excluded under Section 14 of the Act. The issue has been answered in para-52 of the judgment, which is conveniently reproduced:-

"52. As has been already noticed, Sarathy's case i.e. (2000) 5 SCC 355 has also held that the court referred to in Section 14 would include a quasi-judicial tribunal. There appears to be no reason for limiting the reach of the expression "prosecuting with due diligence" to institution of a proceeding alone and not to the date on which the cause of action for such proceeding might arise in the case of appellate or revisional proceedings from original proceedings which prove to be abortive. Explanation (a) to Section 14 was only meant to clarify that the day on which a proceeding is instituted and the day on which it ends are also to be counted for the purposes of Section 14. This does not lead to the conclusion that the period from the cause of action to the institution of such proceeding should be left out. In fact, as has been noticed above, the explanation expands the scope of Section 14 by liberalizing it. Thus, under explanation (b) a person resisting an appeal is also deemed to be prosecuting a proceeding. But for explanation (b), on a literal reading of Section 14, if a person has won in the first round of litigation and an appeal is filed by his opponent, the period of such appeal would not be liable to be excluded under the Section, leading to an absurd result. That is why a plaintiff or an applicant resisting an appeal filed by a defendant shall also be deemed to prosecute a proceeding so that the time taken in the appeal can also be the subject matter of exclusion under Section 14. Equally, explanation (c) which deems misjoinder of parties or a cause of action to be a cause of a like nature with defect of jurisdiction, expands the scope of the section. We have already noticed that the India Electric Works Ltd. judgment has held that strictly speaking misjoinder of parties or of causes of action can hardly be regarded as a defect of jurisdiction or something similar to it. Therefore properly construed, explanation (a) also confers a benefit and does not by a side wind seek to take away any other benefit that a purposive reading of Section 14 might give. We, therefore, agree with the decision of the Madhya Pradesh High Court that the period from the cause of action till the institution of appellate or revisional proceedings from original proceedings which prove to be abortive are also liable to exclusion under the Section. The view of the Andhra Pradesh High Court is too broadly stated. The period prior to institution of the initiation of any abortive proceeding cannot be excluded for the simple reason that Section 14 does not enable a litigant to get a benefit beyond what is contemplated by the Section - that is to put the litigant in the same position as if the abortive proceeding had never taken place."

20. The judgment in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra) has been followed in a subsequent decision of Apex Court in Andhra Pradesh Power Corporation Committee and others Vs. Lanco Kondapalli Power Limited and others, reported in 2016 (3) SCC 468. Paras- 24 & 32 to 35 of the judgment are reproduced:-

"24. Mr. Sundaram placed reliance upon judgment in the case of M.P. Steel Corporation (supra) to support his submission that Limitation Act applies only to courts stricto-sensu and not to quasijudicial tribunals. It may be noted here that the matter in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra) had arisen from proceedings under the Customs Act and hence in that case there was no occasion to consider the issue whether the Limitation Act is applicable to an action initiated before the Commission by virtue of provisions of the Electricity Act, 2003. However, this judgment does help the respondents to an extent by holding that principles underlying Section 14 of the Limitation Act will be applicable even in matters filed before a quasi-judicial tribunal such as the Commission. But the moot question remains to be answered - whether the bar of limitation is required to be respected by the Commission on the ground that there is no provision in the Electricity Act conferring additional rights upon a party moving the Commission for relief so as to claim even such reliefs which stand barred by limitation before the Civil Court or even for arbitral proceedings. The other ancillary issue required to be answered is - whether by virtue of provisions of the Electricity Act 2003 the Limitation Act has been made applicable to an action before the Commission by express provision or even by necessary intendment?"

32. In the light of above there can be no difficulty in appreciating that M/s. LANCO rightly appreciated the hurdle of limitation in its way when such an objection was taken by the appellant and it rightly chose to seek exclusion of the period it was pursuing arbitration proceeding before the High Court, on the basis of principles underlying Section 14 of the Limitation Act.

33. The issue as to whether the impugned order by APTEL permitting application of principles on Section 14 of the Limitation Act is in accordance with law or warrants interference now requires to be answered on the basis of law as well as facts. In law, the APTEL could grant exclusion of certain period on the basis of principles under Section 14 in view of law laid down or clarified in M.P. Steel Corporation (supra). On facts, although the parties have argued at length, we find no difficulty in holding that APTEL has adopted a just and lawful approach in examining the relevant facts and in excluding the entire period claimed by M/s. LANCO which starts from the notice for arbitration dated 8.9.2003 given by M/s. LANCO, till the application of M/s. LANCO under Section 11 of the Arbitration Act before the High Court was finally disposed of on 18.3.2009.

34. The issue whether the first notice dated 8.9.2003 or the next notice dated 26.3.2004 should be treated as notice for arbitration for the purpose of Section 21 of the Arbitration Act was rightly not pursued further by Mr. Giri after some initial arguments. But since this issue was touched, we have looked at the entire Article 14 of the PPA as well as the notice dated 8.9.2003 and we find no difficulty in holding it as the notice for arbitration which amounted to initiation of arbitral proceedings as contemplated by Section 21 of the Arbitration Act.

35. A spirited argument was advanced on behalf of appellant that after the judgment of this Court in Gujarat Urja (supra) on 13.3.2008, the continuance of the arbitral proceedings before the High Court at the instance of M/s. LANCO should not be accepted as bona fide and that the commission was justified in not excluding this period of about one year on the ground that it was not bona fide and in such facts APTEL should not have taken a contrary view. Having considered submissions of the parties we find no merit in the aforesaid contention advanced on behalf of appellant. The view which we are going to take has been indicated by this Court in several judgments including M.P. Steel Corporation (supra). But the point requires no debate in view of clear stipulation in explanation (a) to sub-section (3) of Section 14 of the Limitation Act. This explanation reads as follows:-

"Explanation - For the purposes of this section, -

"(a) in excluding the time during which a former civil proceeding was pending, the day on which that proceeding was instituted and the day on which it ended shall both be counted;"

The same conclusion is inevitable even on other relevant facts. The appellant had notice of the arbitral proceeding and after judgment in Gujarat Urja (supra), the appellant also took no steps to get the application under Section 11 listed and disposed of earlier to 18.3.2009. The averments and the materials are not sufficient to establish the claim of the appellant that the proceeding ceased to be bona fide after 13.3.2008."

21. In the present case, Commissioner has condoned delay in filing of appeal, for which source of power can be traced to the principles contained under Section 14 of the Act of 1963. Although provisions of Section 14 ipso facto do not apply but its principles are clearly attracted. The Commissioner was thus right in condoning delay. No interference is thus warranted in exercise of writ jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India with the order of Commissioner dated 13.6.2016. Writ petition fails and is dismissed. No order as to costs.

The District Supply Officer (DSO) has jurisdiction to suspend and cancel fair price shop agreements even in rural areas, as he falls within the definition of "competent authority" under the U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004.

The powers of District Magistrate, District Supply Officer, and Sub-Divisional Officer are concurrent and overlapping, and can be exercised simultaneously regarding inspection, suspension, and cancellation of fair price shops.

The argument that only Sub-Divisional Officer has authority in rural areas is legally unsustainable. Government Orders issued under statutory control orders have overriding effect over administrative circulars (e.g., Food Commissioner's letter dated 25.01.2006).

The U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 (issued under the Essential Commodities Act, 1955) has statutory force and prevails over inconsistent executive instructions.

The executive power under Article 162 of the Constitution extends to issuing binding government orders, especially when backed by statutory authority.

Suspension orders cannot be interfered with merely on jurisdictional grounds when authority exists under statutory framework.

Courts may refrain from interference when:

Inquiry is pending, and Petitioners have opportunity to respond.

Authorities are directed to complete proceedings within a reasonable time (2 months / 6 weeks) to ensure procedural fairness.

CASE LAW CITED

Garahan Ram v. State of U.P., 2013 (3) ADJ 314

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ran Vijai Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajay Sengar, learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ-C No. 32546 of 2016 (Smt. Nilam Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others), Sri Sanjay Singh, learned counsel in Writ-C No. 25347 of 2016 (Harveer Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others), Sri Ashok Malaviya, learned counsel in Writ C No. 35046 of 2016 (Ram Sajiwan Vs. State of U.P. and others) and Ms. Swati Agrawal, learned counsel in Writ C No. 34430 of 2016 (Smt. Zeeshan Fatma Vs. State of U.P. And others).

2. Through these writ petitions, orders of suspension of fair price shop have been challenged. While arguing the matter, argument was advanced by learned counsel for the petitioners that the order of suspension has been passed by the District Supply Officer and the shop is situated in the rural areas, therefore the order of suspension is without jurisdiction.

3. Taking note of the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioners, on 19.7.2016, this Court has passed the following order :-

Heard Sri Ajay Singh Sengar, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Anand Kumar Yadav, learned counsel for the gaon sabha.

Number of cases are coming before this Court with respect to the fair price shop running in the rural areas, where the orders of suspension and cancellation are being passed by the concerned District Supply Officer.

It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that so far as the rural area is concerned, it is the Sub Divisional Officer concerned who enters into the agreement to run fair price shop with the fair price shop agent and he has the power to appoint, suspend and cancel the agreement to run fair price shop. So far as the District Supply Officer is concerned, his jurisdiction is confined to suspend and cancel the agreement to run fair price shop situated in the urban areas.

Learned standing counsel taking shelter of the U.P. Schedule Commodities Control Order, 2004 has tried to submit that the District Supply Officer can also pass an order of suspension and cancellation with respect to rural areas.

It would be appropriate that the Principal Secretary (Food and Civil Supplies), Government of U.P., Lucknow shall file an affidavit clarifying the position with regard to the exercise of the power of suspension and cancellation of the agreement to run fair price shop in urban and rural areas.

As prayed, put up this case as fresh on 3.8.2016 as fresh.

It may be clarified that I have not stayed the proceeding of cancellation of agreement to run fair price shop with respect to the petitioner. Since the petitioner has already filed his reply, it will be open for the District Supply Officer concerned to take decision thereon, provided he has jurisdiction to do so.

4. Pursuant thereto, learned Standing Counsel has filed an affidavit of Principal Secretary, Food and Civil Supplies. For the purposes of the case, the averments made in paragraphs 7, 8 and 10 of the affidavit of the Principal Secretary are relevant which are reproduced herein under :-

7. That the deponent respectfully submits that Cluase-12 of the Government Order No. 2715 dated 17.8.2002 provides the power to District Supply Officer to inspect the shops lying in the rural area and in case any irregularity is found during the inspection, he is also empowered to take punitive action against the agent.

8. That in furtherance thereof another Government Order No. 3126 dated 30.9.2004 also refers to the powers vested with the officers namely District Magistrate and District Supply Officer to inspect all the shops pertaining to PDS in rural as well as urban areas of a district.

10. That, the aforesaid Government Order dated 30.9.2004 also provides that the power of the Sub-Divisional Officer to inspect and take punitive actions pertaining to suspension and cancellation shall remain intact and that the power of District Magistrate/District Supply Officer shall run concurrently and parallel to the power of the Sub-Divisional Officer, so far as it pertains to the inspection/suspension/cancellation of the shops in rural areas.

5. The reply to the aforesaid affidavit has been filed by learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ - C No. - 32546 of 2016.

6. In paragraph 7 of the affidavit of Principal Secretary, reliance has been placed upon the government order dated 17.8.2002. In paragraph 12 of the government order dated 17.8.2002, the District Supply Officer has also been authorized to inspect the fair price shop situated in the rural areas and in the event of finding any irregularity in distribution of scheduled commodities, power has also been conferred to take strict action. For ready reference, paragraph 12 of the government order dated 17.8.2002 is reproduced herein under :-

“ जिलापूर्ति अधिकारी को यह अधिकार होगा कि ग्रामीण क्षेत्र की दुकानों का निरीक्षण तथा अनियमितता पाये जाने पर दुकानदारों के विरुद्ध दण्डात्मक कार्यवाही कर सकते हैं।”

7. The reliance has also been placed upon the government order dated 30.9.2004. The relevant portion of the aforesaid government order reads as under :-

“ 2. विभिन्न जिलों द्वारा शासन से ग्रामीण क्षेत्र एवं शहरी क्षेत्र में

उचित दर दुकानों के दण्डात्मक कार्यवाही (निलम्बन/निरस्तीकरण आदि) के अधिकार की स्थिति स्पष्ट करने के सम्बन्ध में मार्गदर्शन की अपेक्षा की गयी है। उक्त के परिप्रेक्ष्य में मुझसे यह कहने की अपेक्षा की गयी है कि जिलाधिकारी तथा जिलापूर्ति अधिकारी को सम्पूर्ण जिले के (जिसमें नगरीय एवं ग्रामीण दोनों क्षेत्र सम्मिलित होंगे) लक्षित जन वितरण प्रणाली के सभी दुकानों के निरीक्षण तथा उनके विरुद्ध दण्डात्मक कार्यवाही (निलम्बन/निरस्तीकरण आदि) करने का अधिकार होगा। उप जिलाधिकारी को अपने तहसील में स्थित सभी दुकानों के निरीक्षण तथा उनके विरुद्ध दण्डात्मक कार्यवाही (निलम्बन/निरस्तीकरण आदि) करने का अधिकार यथावत् रहेगा। ”

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that there is a overlapping of the power in between the District Magistrate, District Supply Officer and the Sub-Divisional Officer. In their submissions, since in the rural areas, an agreement is executed for running the fair price shop in between the Sub-Divisional Officer and the fair price shop agent, therefore it is the District Magistrate and the Sub-Divisional Officer who can inspect and cancel the agreement of the fair price shop agent and the District Supply Officer can neither suspend nor cancel the agreement.

9. Sri Vishal Tandon, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondents, in addition to what has been stated in the counter affidavit, has invited attention of this Court towards Para 2 (i) of the U.P.Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 (hereinafter referred to as 'Distribution Order, 2004') which defines the competent authority, which means Collector and includes Additional District Magistrate, District Supply Officer, Deputy Town and Rationing Officer and Sub-Divisional Officer or Area Rationing Officer. He also submits that under Sub-Para 3 of Para 28 of the Distribution Order 2004, provision of appeal has been made against the order of the competent authority. In addition to that, he has also placed reliance upon the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court in Garahan Ram Vs. State of U.P. (2013 (3) ADJ 314).

10. It is not in dispute that the petitioners are the fair price shop agents and their appointments are made and regulated through government order. Initially after the repeal of Uttar Pradesh Scheduled Commodities (Regulation of Distribution) Order, 1989, U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order 1990, (in short 'Distribution Order, 1990') had come into force and in view of the Order 4 of the Distribution Order, 1990, a government order dated 3.7.1990 was issued. In the aforesaid government order, procedure for appointment of fair price shop agent and regulation of the distribution of scheduled commodities have been detailed. After the Distribution Order 1990, distribution order has come into force known as U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004. Sub-Order 1 of Order 4 of the Distribution Order, 2004 provides that a fair price shop shall be run through such person and in such manner as the Collector, subject to the directions of the State Government may decide. Nothing has been brought to my notice that after commencement of the Distribution Order, 2004, any new government order has been issued relating to appointment of fair price shop agent. Learned Standing Counsel has only placed reliance upon the provisions of the government orders dated 3.7.1990, 17.8.2002 and 30.9.2004. In the government order dated 17.8.2002, in para 3, it is mentioned that the provisions of the government order dated 3.7.1990 will remain in force which are not inconsistent with the provisions contained in the government order dated 17.8.2002. It may be noticed that when the government order dated

3.7.1990 was issued, along with the aforesaid government order, a format of the agreement was also annexed. For the purposes of the case, para 16 of the agreement is relevant, which is reproduced herein under :-

“16. जिला मैजिस्ट्रेट/जिला पूर्ति अधिकारी/नगर राशनिंग अधिकारी/अतिरिक्त जिला अधिकारी (आपूर्ति) क्षेत्रीय खाद्य नियंत्रक को इस अनुबन्ध पत्र को किसी भी समय विना कारण बताये हुये समाप्त करने का अधिकारी होगा। ”

11. However, after issuance of the government order dated 17th August, 2002 and commencement of the Distribution Order, 2004, the conditions of the agreement have been slightly changed. The Condition No. 22 (1) of the new format of agreement is reproduced herein under :-

“22(1) यदि और जब कभी एतद् पूर्व उल्लिखित शर्तों और प्रतिबन्धों में से किसी का भी अभिकर्ता द्वारा उल्लंघन किया जाय वा/और अनुपालन किया जाय तो सक्षम प्राधिकारी लिखित रूप से स्पष्टतः कारण बताते हुए अभिकर्ता द्वारा जमा प्रतिभूति की राशि अपने विवेकानुसार आंशिकत अथवा सम्पूर्ण रूप से शासन के पक्ष में जब्त कर सकता है अथवा इस अनुबन्ध पत्र को निलम्बित करते हुए अभिकर्ता के विरुद्ध अग्रेतर जॉच एवं विभागीय कार्यवाही संयोजित कराकर प्रक्रिया में ला सकता है और विभागीय कार्यवाही की प्रक्रिया में अभिकर्ता को उसके विरुद्ध साक्ष्यों का अवलोकन करने का अवसर प्रदान करते हुए अभिकर्ता को अपना पक्ष प्रस्तुत करने का अवसर प्रदान करते हुए गुणावगुण के आधार पर

विचारोपरान्त अभिकर्ता का अनुबन्धय निरस्त तक कर सकता है तथा सम्पूर्ण प्रतिभूति राशि शासन के पक्ष में जब्त कर सकता है। ”

12. From the perusal of the Condition No. 16 of the government order dated 3.7.1990, it would transpire that earlier under the condition of the agreement, there was a provision that the District Magistrate, District Supply Officer, City Rationing Officer, Additional District Magistrate (Supply) and Regional Food Officer could cancel the agreement without assigning any reason. Whereas in view of the Condition No. 22 (i) of the recent agreement, for the purposes of the cancellation of the agreement, fair price shop agent has to be provided an opportunity to rebut the charges.

13. From going through the government order dated 3.7.1990 and the Distribution Order, 2004, it would transpire that the power of suspension and cancellation has through out been conferred upon the District Magistrate, District Supply Officer, Sub-Divisional Officer and other officers. Para 2 (i) of the Distribution Order, 2004 talks about the competent authority and it is the competent authority under the Distribution Order, 2004 who can suspend and cancel the agreement of the person. Since the competent authority includes the District Supply Officer too, therefore the argument of learned counsel for the petitioner that the District Supply Officer has no jurisdiction to suspend the agreement cannot be sustained in the eyes of law.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioners, placing reliance upon the Condition Nos. 5 and 6 of the order/letter dated 25.1.2006 issued by the Food Commissioner, have submitted that in the rural areas, it is the Sub-Divisional Officer which has power to appoint, suspend and cancel the agreement of fair price shop agent and in the urban areas, it is the District Supply Officer who has the same power. In their submissions, the Food Commissioner has issued letter/order on 25.1.2006, therefore this will prevail over all the government orders including the Distribution Order, 2004.

For appreciation, Condition Nos. 5 and 6 of the letter/order dated 25.1.2006 is reproduced herein under :-

जहाँ कहीं खाद्यान्न के व्यवर्तन के गंभीर मामले संज्ञान में आये वहाँ पर वस्तु अधिनियम के अंतर्गत कार्यवाही के अतिरिक्त प्रिवेन्शन ऑफ डिटेन्शन एक्ट 1980 के अंतर्गत दोषी व्यक्ति को निरुद्ध करने की भी कार्यवाही की जाये।

6. जिला पूर्ति अधिकारी को शहरी क्षेत्रों के उचितदर विक्रेताओं पर कड़ी दृष्टि रखनी होगी तथा विक्रेताओं से अनुबंध की शर्तों का पूर्ण पालन कराना होगा कर्तव्य एवं दायित्व की अवहेलना अक्षम्य होगी। ”

15. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondents submitted that in fact, the alleged letter/order of the Food Commissioner is a circular, therefore the government orders issued from time to time will have overriding effect over the circular. Taking shelter of Article 162 of the Constitution of India, he submitted that the power of executive is co-extensive and it has also power to legislate upto some extent. In his submissions, the government order issued from time to time under the provisions of relevant Control Orders regulating the distribution of scheduled commodities will also have overriding effect and will have statutory force, therefore the government orders as well as Distribution Order, 2004 will prevail over the alleged order/letter of the Food Commissioner dated 25.1.2006.

16. I find substance in the submissions of learned Standing Counsel.

17. I am of the opinion that the government order issued from time to time including the Distribution Order, 2004 will have overriding effect over the order/letter of the Food Commissioner, therefore also the argument of learned counsel for the petitioner that in the rural areas, the District Supply Officer has no power to suspend/cancel the agreement of the fair price shop agent is unsustainable.

18. Here in this case, the view taken by me also finds support from the Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Garahan Ram (supra). Paragraph 6 of the aforesaid judgment is relevant for the aforesaid cases, which is reproduced hereinunder :-

6. The U.P. Scheduled Commodity Distribution Order, 2004 has been issued by the State Government in exercise of powers under section 3 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955. Under the said order of 2004, the State Government is empowered to issue orders regulating inspection and monitoring of the fair price shops. The power of the State Government is clearly provided for in clauses 21 and 23 of 2004 Order. The State Government having specifically provided for empowering the District Supply Officer and the District Magistrate to take all action including suspension and cancellation, the submission of the petitioner that the District Supply Officer has no jurisdiction to suspend the fair price shop agreement is without any substance.

19. In view of foregoing discussions, I am of the view that the District Supply Officer has also power to suspend and cancel the agreement of the fair price shop agent in the rural areas.

20. The attention of this Court has also been drawn towards the government order dated 26.11.2014 in which it is provided that the proceeding of cancellation of the agreement of fair price shop agent is to be concluded within a period of four weeks and here in all the cases, the suspension orders are older than four weeks, therefore too, there is no occasion to interfere with those suspension orders.

21. On being confronted as to whether in these cases, the petitioners have filed their reply to the show cause notice, learned counsel for the petitioners, except the petitioner in Writ-C No. 25347 of 2016, have submitted that they have filed their reply.

22. These writ petitions are disposed of with the direction to the District Supply Officer to conclude the inquiry expeditiously as early as possible within a period of two months from the date of filing of certified copy of the order of this Court.

23. So far as the petitioner in Writ-C No. 25347 of 2016 is concerned, this writ petition is also disposed of with the liberty to the petitioner to file his reply along with certified copy of the order of this Court. In case, such reply is filed, the District Supply Officer shall conclude the inquiry within a period of six weeks from the date of filing of the reply.

In the present writ petition order dated 6.6.2016 passed by the Deputy Labour Commissioner under Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is under challenge. The moot question, which arises for consideration of this Court in the present matter, is as to whether the Deputy Labour Commissioner exercising his jurisdiction under Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act has any power to review his order?

From the nature of proceedings and jurisdiction conferred thereunder, it is not in dispute that the Deputy Labour Commissioner exercises quasi-judicial powers. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that under the provisions of the Act, as well as the Rules, there exists no power of substantive review available to the Deputy Labour Commissioner.

This Court in a recent decision in M/s. Indo Gulf Industries Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. And others, reported in 2016 (148) FLR 991 held that "The legal position summarised above, compels me to hold that though the prescribed authority had no power to review its own decision but had the power to consider the applications for recall of the orders on the limited grounds on which procedural review is permissible. Therefore, ignoring the substantive part of the review and without touching the merits of the orders could have considered the recall applications within the limited scope of violation of principles of natural justice. Thus, it committed material irregularity in rejecting the applications as not maintainable for want of power to review."

Court held that neither the review application filed by the respondent no.2 was maintainable before the Deputy Labour Commissioner nor he had any jurisdiction to review his order passed previously. The orders impugned dated 6.6.2016, consequently, are wholly without jurisdiction, and are set aside.

The writ petitions stand allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. Challenge is laid in both writ petitions to the orders passed by the Deputy Labour Commissioner under Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, dated 6.6.2016, whereby the authority concerned has reviewed its previous orders passed in the matter on 1st October, 2015.

2. A perusal of the record goes to show that an industrial dispute was raised at the instance of the respondent workmen, which came to be registered as Adjudication Case No.99 of 1982. Proceedings for recovery under Section 6-H(2) were also initiated in Misc. Case No.30 of 1984, and both matters came to be decided finally by the Labour Court on 30th September, 1985. It gave rise to filing of Writ Petition Nos.3982 of 1986 and 3983 of 1986. The writ petitions were disposed of by this Court on 5th February, 2009. It appears that modification applications were thereafter filed being Application Nos.97252 of 2009 and 97253 of 2009, both of which came to be disposed of by this Court on 15th January, 2013. Operative portion of the order dated 15.1.2013 reads as under:-

"Accordingly, as the petitioners had been reinstated hence order dated 5.2.2009 is modified. There is no question of granting back wages. However, as petitioners were taken back in service and continued to work for 22 years till the closure of the mill hence there is no question of disturbing the reinstatement order passed through impugned award. Accordingly, it is directed that since the date of reinstatement which according to workmen was 17.11.1985 the workmen shall be paid such amounts which were paid to other similarly situate employees of the same Mill as retaining allowance and bonus. If other employees of the mill in question have been offered or are offered benefit of V.R.S. scheme the same benefit may be extended to the workmen in this writ petition who have not yet crossed the age of retirement.

Direction for payment of Rs.35,000/- to each workman is recalled.

Modification applications are disposed of. Judgement and orders dated 5.2.2009 are modified accordingly."

3. It appears that while the issue relating to the award as well as proceedings upon modification were pending, the sugar factory, which initially belonged to U.P. State Sugar and Cane Development Corporation, came to be transferred pursuant to a slump sale agreement in favour of respondent no.2 i.e. M/s Dynamics Sugar Private Ltd. The respondent no.2 accordingly moved an application and sought its impleadment in pending proceedings before this Court, which was allowed. The order passed by this Court on 15th January, 2013 has been assailed by respondent no.2 before the Hon'ble Supreme Court by filing Special Leave to Appeal (Civil) CC No.12606 of 2013, in which delay has been condoned on 13th December, 2013, and notices were issued. It is agreed between the parties that the SLP against the order of this Court dated 15th January, 2013 continues to remain pending.

4. It appears that benefit of the order passed by this Court in writ petitions arising out of the award was not extended to the workmen, and as such, an application under Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act was filed by the workers before the Deputy Labour Commissioner, in which respondent no.2 through its Chief Accountant and Managing Director of the respondent no.2 were impleaded as opposite parties. An objection was raised against the claim of respondent workers by respondent no.2 disputing its liability to pay the amount, as claimed against them in view of the terms of transfer deed. The Deputy Labour Commissioner proceeded to adjudicate the issue, and passed an order on 1.10.2015 holding the respondent no.2 liable for payment of amount due to the workmen under Section 6-H(1) of the Act.

5. Aggrieved by the order of the Deputy Labour Commissioner dated 1.10.2015, respondent no.2 moved an application for review before the same authority on the ground that in terms of provisions of slump sale agreement, respondent no.2 was not liable for payment of dues admissible to the workers. This application has been brought on record of the writ petition no.34041 of 2016 as Annexure-9. The application for review was objected to by the workers on the ground that Deputy Labour Commissioner had no jurisdiction to review his order. It appears that while review application was pending, a direction was issued to implead the present petitioner also as a respondent to the main proceedings under Section 6-H(1). An objection, therefore, was filed by the petitioner specifically challenging the jurisdiction of the authority to entertain a substantive review in the absence of an enabling provision. Reliance was placed upon various orders passed by this Court as well as by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kapra Mazdoor Ekta Union Vs. Birla Cotton Spinning and Weaving Mills Ltd. And another, reported in 2005 (13) SCC 777.

6. The Deputy Labour Commissioner after hearing the parties has proceeded to pass the orders impugned, whereby application for review filed by the respondent no.2 has been allowed, and a finding has been returned that in terms of the provisions of slump sale agreement, the liability to pay the dues of the workmen lay with petitioner and not upon respondent no.2. It is these orders passed upon review application, which are assailed in the present writ petition.

7. I have heard Sri S.S. Nigam, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondent no.1, Sri S.G. Hasnain, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Syed Mohd. Fazal for the respondent no.2, and Sri A.K. Singh, learned counsel appearing for the respondent nos.3 to 6.

8. The moot question, which arises for consideration of this Court in the present matter, is as to whether the Deputy Labour Commissioner exercising his jurisdiction under Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act has any power to review his order?

9. Section 6-H(1) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, reads as under:-

"6H. Recovery of money due from an employer.--(1) Where any money is due to a workman from an employer under the provisions of Sections 6J to 6R under a settlement or award, or under an award given by an adjudicator or the State Industrial Tribunal appointed or constituted under this Act, before the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Industrial Disputes (Amendment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1956, the workman may, without prejudice to any other mode of recovery, make an application to the State Government for the recovery of the money due to him, and if the State Government is satisfied that any money is so due, it shall issue a certificate for that amount to the Collector who shall proceed to recover the same as if it were an arrear of land revenue."

10. From the nature of proceedings and jurisdiction conferred thereunder, it is not in dispute that the Deputy Labour Commissioner exercises quasi-judicial powers. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that under the provisions of the Act, as well as the Rules, there exists no power of substantive review available to the Deputy Labour Commissioner.

11. Sri Hasnain, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondent no.2, although has made various submissions, but attention of the Court has not been drawn to any provision under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 or the Rules framed thereunder, which confers power of substantive review upon the Deputy Labour Commissioner.

12. From the materials, which have been brought on record, this Court finds that the claim as was originally instituted by the respondent workmen under Section 6-H(1) was against respondent no.2. It further appears from the record that an objection was taken by respondent no.2, questioning the claim raised by respondent workmen as against respondent no.2. This issue was considered and has been decided by the Deputy Labour Commissioner, on merits, after hearing the respondent no.2. In its order dated 1st October, 2015, respondent no.2 has categorically held that in terms of the provisions of the agreement, liability to pay the dues of respondent workmen lay upon respondent no.2.

13. In case, respondent no.2 felt aggrieved by the order dated 1st October, 2015, as according to them they were not liable to pay such amount under the agreement, they had the remedy available to assail the order before the appropriate forum, which has not been pursued. In the absence of any enabling provision conferring power of review upon the authority, a review application was not maintainable. The review application filed by the respondent no.2 was not a procedural review, inasmuch as the order dated 1st October, 2015 had been passed after hearing the respondent no.2. In the absence of any power of substantive review available to the Deputy Labour Commissioner, he had no jurisdiction to pass the order upon the review application. Neither the review application was maintainable nor any order upon it would have been passed. The question as to whether in the absence of power of substantive review, a quasi-judicial authority could exercise the power of review has been adjudicated by the Apex Court in Kapra Mazdoor Ekta Union (supra). Para-19 of the judgment reads as under:-

"19. Applying these principles it is apparent that where a Court or quasi judicial authority having jurisdiction to adjudicate on merit proceeds to do so, its judgment or order can be reviewed on merit only if the Court or the quasi judicial authority is vested with power of review by express provision or by necessary implication. The procedural review belongs to a different category. In such a review, the Court or quasi judicial authority having jurisdiction to adjudicate proceeds to do so, but in doing so commits a procedural illegality which goes to the root of the matter and invalidates the proceeding itself, and consequently the order passed therein. Cases where a decision is rendered by the Court or quasi judicial authority without notice to the opposite party or under a mistaken impression that the notice had been served upon the opposite party, or where a matter is taken up for hearing and decision on a date other than the date fixed for its hearing, are some illustrative cases in which the power of procedural review may be invoked. In such a case the party seeking review or recall of the order does not have to substantiate the ground that the order passed suffers from an error apparent on the face of the record or any other ground which may justify a review. He has to establish that the procedure followed by the Court or the quasi judicial authority suffered from such illegality that it vitiated the proceeding and invalidated the order made therein, inasmuch the opposite party concerned was not heard for no fault of his, or that the matter was heard and decided on a date other than the one fixed for hearing of the matter which he could not attend for no fault of his. In such cases, therefore, the matter has to be re-heard in accordance with law without going into the merit of the order passed. The order passed is liable to be recalled and reviewed not because it is found to be erroneous, but because it was passed in a proceeding which was itself vitiated by an error of procedure or mistake which went to the root of the matter and invalidated the entire proceeding. In Grindlays Bank Ltd. vs. Central Government Industrial Tribunal and others (supra), it was held that once it is established that the respondents were prevented from appearing at the hearing due to sufficient cause, it followed that the matter must be re-heard and decided again."

14. Per contra, Sri Hasnain, learned Senior Counsel, has relied upon a decision of the Apex Court in Rajendra Singh Vs. Lt. Governor, Andaman and Nicobar Islands and others, reported in 2005 (107) FLR 1069. Paras-11 and 12 of the judgment, which have been relied upon, reads as under:-

"11. We are unable to countenance the argument advanced by learned Additional Solicitor General appearing for the respondents. A careful perusal of the impugned judgment does not deal with and decide many important issues as could be seen from the grounds of review and as raised in the grounds of special leave petition/appeal. The High Court, in our opinion, is not justified in ignoring the materials on record which on proper consideration may justify the claim of the appellant. Learned counsel for the appellant has also explained to this Court as to why the appellant could not place before the Division Bench some of these documents which were not in possession of the appellant at the time of hearing of the case. The High Court, in our opinion, is not correct in overlooking the documents relied on by the appellant and the respondents. In our opinion, review jurisdiction is available in the present case since the impugned judgment is a clear case of an error apparent on the face of the record and non-consideration of relevant documents. The appellant, in our opinion, has got a strong case in their favour and if the claim of the appellant in this appeal is not countenanced, the appellant will suffer immeasurable loss and injury. Law is well-settled that the power of judicial review of its own order by the High Court inheres in every Court of plenary jurisdiction to prevent mis-carriage of justice.

12. The power, in our opinion, extends to correct all errors to prevent miscarriage of justice. The courts should not hesitate to review its own earlier order when there exists an error on the face of the record and the interest of the justice so demands in appropriate cases. The grievance of the appellant is that though several vital issues were raised and documents placed, the High Court has not considered the same in its review jurisdiction. In our opinion, the High Court's order in the revision petition is not correct which really necessitates our interference."

15. The judgment of the Apex Court in Rajendra Singh (supra) was delivered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the context of exercise of power by the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. It is not in dispute that power of review is available to a High Court, and therefore, any observation made in paras-11 and 12 will have to be read in the context of the power, which was being exercised. The observation made in paras-11 and 12, therefore, cannot be pressed into service by the respondents to contend that Deputy Labour Commissioner had an authority to review his order. This Court in a recent decision in M/s. Indo Gulf Industries Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. And others, reported in 2016 (148) FLR 991, has been pleased to scan the law on the issue, and following observations have been made in Paras-24, 25 and 26, which reads as under:-

"24. In Kapra Mazdoor Ekta Union³ the Three Judges of the Supreme Court considered the distinction between the review and the recall applications and held though the Act do not grant any power of review either expressly or by necessary implication but the procedural power belongs to a different category and if the party is able to establish that the procedure followed by the forum is vitiated and therefore, the order requires to be recalled it has ample power to do so.

25. In view of the above discussion, it is crystal clear that the power of substantive review is not exercisable by any court, tribunal or authority unless the same is specifically conferred upon it under the relevant statute whereas the power of procedural review is inherent in every court tribunal or authority and could be exercised even if no such power is given to them under the Act but for the exercise of the same the party applying has to establish that he was not served with the notice or that he was prevented for sufficient good reason from attending the proceedings or that the procedure followed by the forum stood vitiated as it was violative of the principles of natural justice.

26. The legal position summarised above, compels me to hold that though the prescribed authority had no power to review its own decision but had the power to consider the applications for recall of the orders on the limited grounds on which procedural review is permissible. Therefore, ignoring the substantive part of the review and without touching the merits of the orders could have considered the recall applications within the limited scope of violation of principles of natural justice. Thus, it committed material irregularity in rejecting the applications as not maintainable for want of power to review."

16. In view of the discussions aforesaid, this Court has no hesitation to hold that neither the review application filed by the respondent no.2 was maintainable before the Deputy Labour Commissioner nor he had any jurisdiction to review his order passed previously. The orders impugned dated 6.6.2016, consequently, are wholly without jurisdiction, and are set aside. This judgment, however, shall not preclude the respondent no.2 from challenging the order dated 1.10.2015, if they are so advised, in the manner contemplated by law.

17. Subject to the observations made above, the writ petitions stand allowed. No order as to costs.

Petitioner is before the court to quash the order dated 15.07.2015 issued by the Senior Divisional Retail Sales Manager, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., for a direction to restrain the respondents from taking any action on the basis of order impugned and for a direction to the respondents to forthwith issue the Letter of Intent to the petitioner on the basis of his selection dated 10.04.2013 for allotment of Retail Outlet Dealership. An advertisement in 'Dainik Jagran' dated 26.10.2011, whereby applications were invited for appointment of Retail Outlet Dealers with regard to several sites in the State.

Court observed that on the date i.e. 23.12.2011 the petitioner had proceeded to misrepresent the Corporation, wherein the petitioner has deliberately shown the amount of Rs.10,40,000/- in his account but actually on the said date thereafter Rs.4.5 lacs had been withdrawn and consequently on the said date only Rs.5,90,000/- was available in the said account. Once this fact has been brought into the notice of the Corporation, they proceeded to cancel the claim of the petitioner. After considering the facts and circumstances it was clear that the petitioner tried to make a deliberate attempt to place the incorrect statement of account on the date of submission of application i.e. 23.12.2011 as Rs.10,40,000/- but actually on the said date the petitioner had only Rs.5,90,000/- in his account and court is of the opinion that the petitioner had misrepresented the Corporation and as per the provisions contained under the advertisement the Corporation has every right to reject the candidature, in case any misrepresentation had been made.

The writ petition sans merit and is accordingly dismissed.

1. Vikash Rao is before this Court for a direction to quash the order dated 15.07.2015 issued by the Senior Divisional Retail Sales Manager, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., Gorakhpur

Divisional office, Gorakhpur; for a direction to restrain the respondents from taking any action on the basis of order impugned and for a direction to the respondents to forthwith issue the Letter of Intent to the petitioner on the basis of his selection dated 10.04.2013 for allotment of Retail Outlet Dealership (Petrol Pump) at the site between mile stone no.23 to 26 on Kasaya-Deoria Road (State Highway-79) District Deoria pursuant to advertisement dated 26.10.2011 within stipulated period.

2. This much is reflected from the record that the respondent-Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., Lucknow (in short "the Corporation") issued an advertisement in 'Dainik Jagran' dated 26.10.2011, whereby applications were invited for appointment of Retail Outlet Dealers with regard to several sites in the State. The applications were also invited for Retail Outlet Petrol Pump Dealership in question on Kasya-Deoria Road (State Highway-79) between Mile Stone No.23-26 specified at SN 225 of the said advertisement. The petitioner being fully qualified and eligible also applied pursuant to the aforesaid advertisement. The application so submitted was accompanied by several documents including proof of ownership of requisite land and a photocopy of the pass book of the petitioner with regard to Account No.3157567504 of Central Bank at Gadrampur Branch, Deoria and other documents. It is claimed that an amount of Rs.10,40,000/- was available in the account of the petitioner on the relevant date i.e. 23.12.2011. Consequently, in response to his application he had been called for an interview, which was held on 10.4.2013. On the said date total five applicants were interviewed and the petitioner was declared as duly selected for allocation of Retail Outlet Dealership in question. A photocopy of displayed mark sheet dated 10.4.2013 is also appended as Annexure No.3 to the writ petition. A perusal of the aforesaid mark sheet would demonstrate that other four candidates namely Ashutosh Kumar Rai, Farware Alam Siddiqui, Pramod Kumar Jaiswal and Sanjay Jaiswal were categorised as not qualified on account of their having secured less than 60 marks on the basis of various parameters specified for selection. In the said marksheet the petitioner stood at first position having 82.74 marks out of total 100 marks. It is submitted that based upon the aforesaid selection a letter of intent ought to have been issued to the petitioner but a complaint was made by Pramod Kumar Jaiswal against the selection of the petitioner, however, the said complaint was rejected by the General Manager, U.P. State Office-1 of India Oil Corporation Ltd. by order dated 25.6.2014. In the meantime, Pramod Kumar Jaiswal has filed Writ Petition No.62083 of 2014 (Pramod Kumar Jaiswal v. Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. & Ors.) challenging the selection of the petitioner. The said writ petition was dismissed by this Court on 28.11.2014. It is submitted that inspite of aforesaid facts, the letter of intent was not issued in favour of the petitioner. Consequently, the Senior Divisional Retail Sales Manager vide order dated 15.7.2015 has proceeded to cancel the candidature of the petitioner for the proposed location on the basis of vigilance report.

3. In this background, Shri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Shri Siddharth Khare have contended that the entire vigilance enquiry had been made by the respondents behind the back and at no point of time they have proceeded to issue any notice to the petitioner in this regard and inspite of completion of all the requisite formalities, the respondents had proceeded to cancel the candidature of the petitioner and as such it is contended that the order impugned is in violation of the principle of natural justice. Once a complaint was made against the petitioner and the competent authority had examined the matter and rejected the said objection vide order dated 25.6.2014 upholding the selection of the petitioner and once all the objections have been turned down, then the subsequent order impugned amounts to review of all earlier orders, which cannot sustain. Without any authority to review its earlier order, the respondents have proceeded to review the same, which is per se bad.

4. Shri Ashok Khare, Sr. Advocate further makes submissions that as per Paragraph 13 (ii) of the brochure, which was issued by the Corporation governing selection of Dealers for Petrol/ Diesel Outlet dated 2.9.2011, eight parameters were provided over which the allocation is to be made. The marks so indicated demonstrates that under the category of capacity to raise finances for which twenty five marks were allocated, twenty marks were allocated for the financial condition and five marks for creditworthiness. The twenty marks specified for financial condition stood further sub-categorized into twelve marks for availability of liquid funds, four marks for possession of movable and immovable property and four marks for income from various sources. It is contended that even in case the petitioner did not have the requisite liquid fund on the date of application and 12 marks allocated for liquid funds are deleted from the marks allocated to the petitioner, even in that eventuality the petitioner remains qualified candidate having 70.74 marks to his credit and even in that eventuality he continues to maintain the first position in the selection amongst five applicants. As such it is contended that the order impugned is per se bad and in violation of the selection guidelines and this Court should come to rescue and reprieve of the petitioner.

5. On the other hand, Shri Sanjiv Singh, learned counsel for the Corporation has vehemently opposed the writ petition on the ground that the petitioner had proceeded to submit his account statement for his account in question in which availability of Rs.10.40 lacs had been shown on 23.12.2011. The petitioner has concealed the material fact in the matter and had not proceeded to submit his financial status as per the terms and conditions and even though without required financial capability had proceeded to submit his claim. The last date for submissions of application form was also 23.12.2011. During field verification of documents of the petitioner, on perusal of bank statement, it was observed that an amount of Rs.4.5 lacs was withdrawn on the same day i.e. on 23.12.2011 and only Rs.5.90 lacs was available as on the date of application/ submission i.e. 23.12.2011. As per point 13 of the application form, provided in the advertisement, amount shown in the application form in support of financial capabilities should be valid on the date of application i.e. closing balance on the date of application and as such the petitioner had proceeded to misrepresent the Corporation. As per Clause 10 (ja) of advertisement, the application of a candidate will be rejected in case of misrepresentation of facts. As such he submits that the Corporation has every right to find out the true financial status of the incumbent, who is interested to run the outlet. It is the responsibility of the Corporation to ensure that by all eventuality the incumbent in whose favour the allotment is going to be made must have financial viability / capability so that he may run the outlet. It is submitted that as such there is no infirmity or illegality in the order impugned and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed with cost.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner, regarding the aforesaid withdrawal from the account, has explained in para 27 of the writ petition as under:-

"27. That on account of emergent circumstances on 23.12.011 an amount of Rs.4,50,000/- had to be withdrawn from the said account. It is specifically stated that the aforesaid withdrawal was made after up-dating passbook had been enclosed and submitted along with the application form."

7. In this background, we have proceeded to examine the record in question. This much is reflected that the petitioner had proceeded to submit application for retail outlet on 22.12.2011. Along with the said application the petitioner had appended the statement of Account No.3157567504 of Central Bank of India, Branch Garhrampur, Deoria, wherein the amount of Rs.10,40,000/- is shown in the account on the relevant date i.e. 23.12.2011. The entry in the bank statement so appended along with the writ petition was hand written. At the time of argument, the pass book of the petitioner's account updated upto 21.09.2012 has been placed by Shri Siddharth Khare. For adjudicating the present controversy it would be relevant to indicate the transactions on the relevant date i.e. 23.12.2011, which is quoted as under:-

Date	Cheque No.	Particulars	Withdrawals	Deposits	Balance
22/12/11		BY CASH PAN DETAILS AJJ		440000	440000
23/12/11	179673	TO TRF. TR		150000	590000
23/12/11		BY CASH PAN DETAILS AJJ		150000	740000
23/12/11		BY CASH PAN DETAILS AJJ		300000	1040000
23/12/11	463	CSH (CHQ) Paid to sanjy r	150000		890000
23/12/11	461	CSH (CHQ) Paid to sanjy r	300000		590000

8. The aforesaid entries clearly proceed to mention that on the said date i.e. 23.12.2011 an amount of Rs.1,50,000/- has been deposited in the account through cheque no.179673. Thereafter, Rs.1,50,000/- and Rs.3,00,000/- have been deposited through cash on the same day making total amount of Rs.10,40,000/- in the said account. But surprisingly on the same day, two transactions had also been made by which an amount of Rs.1,50,000/- through cheque no.000463 and

Rs.3,00,000/- through cheque no.000461 have been debited from the account making Rs.5,90,000/- available in the account.

9. On the basis of aforesaid facts, we are of the considered opinion that on the said date i.e. 23.12.2011 the petitioner had proceeded to misrepresent the Corporation, wherein the petitioner has deliberately shown the amount of Rs.10,40,000/- in his account but actually on the said date thereafter Rs.4.5 lacs had been withdrawn and consequently on the said date only Rs.5,90,000/- was available in the said account. Once this fact has been brought into the notice of the Corporation, they proceeded to cancel the claim of the petitioner.

10. The entire claim of the petitioner has been set out on the basis of his account no.3157567504 and no other financial status has been shown or claimed. We proceed to make a mention that the pass book of the petitioner updated upto 21.9.2012 has been placed before this Court and on 21.09.2012 in his account there was only Rs.96,628/-.

11. The aforementioned facts and circumstances clearly gives an impression that just for processing his application, the petitioner tried to make a deliberate attempt to place the incorrect statement of account on the date of submission of application i.e. 23.12.2011 as Rs.10,40,000/- but actually on the said date the petitioner had only Rs.5,90,000/- in his account and as such we are of the considered opinion that the petitioner had misrepresented the Corporation and as per the provisions contained under the advertisement the Corporation has every right to reject the candidature, in case any misrepresentation had been made. It is also apparent that as per the policy of the Corporation, they have every right to ensure that whatever the funds are mentioned along with the application on the relevant date, the applicant should ensure that the minimum funds required for the said purpose be available as closing balance at least on the said date.

12. In view of this, we find that the action of the respondents are fully justified under the present facts and circumstances and impugned order does not call for any interference under Art.226 of the Constitution of India.

13. The writ petition sans merit and is accordingly dismissed.

State Of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Present petition has been filed praying for a writ of mandamus commanding the respondents to allot 10% developed abadi land in terms of the decision of the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (11) ADJ 1.

The Full Bench held that the land owners, who had challenged the notifications would be entitled for payment of additional compensation to the extent of 64.70% in addition to the compensation already received. The Full Bench further held that the land owners would also be entitled for allotment of developed abadi land to the extent of 10%. The Full Bench in paragraph 482(4) held that the authority will take a decision as to whether the benefit of additional compensation and allotment of developed abadi plot to the extent of 10% should be given to those land owners whose writ petition had been dismissed earlier as well as for those land owners, who had not come to the Court challenging the acquisition proceedings. Court observed that the judgment of the Full Bench was affirmed by the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi (supra).

While affirming the decision, the direction of the Full Bench in paragraph 484(4) to the authority to consider the case for payment of additional compensation and allotment of developed abadi plot to those land owners, who had not challenged the acquisition proceedings or whose writ petitions were dismissed earlier was also affirmed by the Supreme Court. Based on such direction, the authority took a decision to pay additional compensation to all the land owners irrespective of the fact as to whether they had challenged the acquisition proceedings or not. But with regard to allotment of developed abadi land, the authority took a decision not to allot to those land owners, who had not approached the writ Court on the ground that they have no developed land to allot to these land owners. The fact that the authority does not have any developed land for allotment has not been disputed as no rejoinder affidavit has been filed nor any evidence has been brought on record. Court also find that such decision taken by the Board is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory.

The Full Bench in order to save the acquisition proceedings had issued the direction for payment of additional compensation and for allotment of developed abadi plots in the extenuating facts and circumstances of the case. The Supreme Court acceded to the said consideration holding that the Full Bench was justified in issuing such directions in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case and in order to save the acquisition proceedings from the vice of arbitrariness. The Supreme Court while affirming the decision of the Full Bench categorically held that the said decision would not be treated to form a precedent for future cases.

Court is of the opinion that the ratio decendi of the Full Bench cannot be applied to similarly situated persons. The said benefit given by the Full Bench cannot be extended to the petitioners, even though they may be similarly situated and their land had been acquired under the same notification.

No relief can be granted to the petitioner. All the writ petition fails and are dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Tarun Agarwala, J.)

1. In this group of writ petitions, the petitioners have filed the present writ petitions praying for a writ of mandamus commanding the respondents to allot 10% developed abadi land in terms of the decision of the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (11) ADJ 1.

2. For facility, the facts of Writ Petition No.7521 of 2016 is being taken into consideration.

3. It transpires that a notification dated 4th July, 2003 under Section 4 and notification dated 21st July, 2003 under Section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act was issued for acquisition of various parcels of land for planned industrial development. The urgency clause was invoked and possession was taken, award was made and compensation was paid to the petitioners'. The petitioners' land was situate in Village Chhaparauli Bangar, Pargana Dadari, Tehsil Sadar, District Gautam Budh Nagar. The petitioner did not challenge the acquisition proceedings and received the compensation. However, other land owners challenged the acquisition proceedings. The aforesaid notification as well as other notifications for different tracts of land and for different villages were clubbed together and decided by the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj's case (supra) vide judgment dated 21st October, 2011. The Full Bench disposed of the writ petitions with the following directions:-

"481. As noticed above, the land has been acquired of large number of villagers in different villages of Greater Noida and Noida. Some of the petitioners had earlier come to this Court and their writ petitions have been dismissed as noticed above upholding the notifications which judgments have become final between them. Some of the petitioners may not have come to the Court and have left themselves in the hand of the Authority and State under belief that the State and Authority shall do the best for them as per law. We cannot lose sight of the fact that the above farmers and agricultures/owners whose land has been acquired are equally affected by taking of their land. As far as consequence and effect of the acquisition it equally affects on all land losers. Thus land owners whose writ petitions have earlier been dismissed upholding the notifications may have grievances that the additional compensation which was a subsequent event granted by the Authority may also be extended to them and for the aforesaid, further spate of litigation may start in so far as payment of additional compensation is concerned. In the circumstances, we leave it to the Authority to take a decision as to whether the benefit of additional compensation shall also be extended to those with regard to whom the notifications of acquisition have been upheld or those who have not filed any writ petitions. We leave this in the discretion of the Authority/State which may be exercised keeping in view the principles enshrined under Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

482. In view of the foregoing conclusions we order as follows:

1. The Writ Petition No. 45933 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 47545 of 2011 relating to village Nithari, Writ Petition No. 47522 of 2011 relating to village Sadarpur, Writ Petition No. 45196 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45208 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45211 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45213 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45216 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45223 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45224 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45226 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45229 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45230 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45235 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45238 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45283 of 2011 relating to village Khoda, Writ Petition No. 46764 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 46785 of 2011 relating to village Sultanpur, Writ Petition No. 46407 of 2011 relating to village Chaura Sadatpur and Writ Petition No. 46470 of 2011 relating to village Alaverdipur which have been filed with inordinate delay and laches are dismissed.

2(i) The writ petitions of Group 40 (Village Devla) being Writ Petition No. 31126 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 59131 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 22800 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37118 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 42812 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 50417 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 54424 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 54652 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 55650 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 57032 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 58318 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 22798 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37784 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37787 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 31124 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 31125 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 32234 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 32987 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 35648 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 38059 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 41339 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 47427 of 2011 and Writ Petition No. 47412 of 2011 are allowed and the notifications dated 26.5.2009 and 22.6.2009 and all consequential actions are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled for restoration of their land subject to deposit of compensation which they had received under agreement/award before the authority/Collector.

2(ii) Writ petition No. 17725 of 2010 Omveer and others Vs. State of U.P. (Group 38) relating to village Yusufpur Chak Sahberi is allowed. Notifications dated 10.4.2006 and 6.9.2007 and all consequential actions are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled for restoration of their land subject to return of compensation received by them under agreement/award to the Collector.

2(iii) Writ Petition No.47486 of 2011 (Rajee and others vs. State of U.P. and others) of Group-42 relating to village Asdullapur is allowed. The notification dated 27.1.2010 and 4.2.2010 as well as all subsequent proceedings are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled to restoration of their land.

3. All other writ petitions except as mentioned above at (1) and (2) are disposed of with following directions:

(a) The petitioners shall be entitled for payment of additional compensation to the extent of same ratio (i.e. 64.70%) as paid for village Patwari in addition to the compensation received by them under 1997 Rules/award which payment shall be ensured by the Authority at an early date. It may be open for Authority to take a decision as to what proportion of additional compensation be asked to be paid by allottees. Those petitioners who have not yet been paid compensation may be paid the compensation as well as additional compensation as ordered above. The payment of additional compensation shall be without any prejudice to rights of land owners under section 18 of the Act, if any.

(b) All the petitioners shall be entitled for allotment of developed Abadi plot to the extent of 10% of their acquired land subject to maximum of 2500 square meters. We however, leave it open to the Authority in cases where allotment of abadi plot to the extent of 6% or 8% have already been made either to make allotment of the balance of the area or may compensate the land owners by payment of the amount equivalent to balance area as per average rate of allotment made of developed residential plots.

4.The Authority may also take a decision as to whether benefit of additional compensation and allotment of abadi plot to the extent of 10% be also given to;

(a) those land holders whose earlier writ petition challenging the notifications have been dismissed upholding the notifications; and

(b) those land holders who have not come to the Court, relating to the notifications which are subject matter of challenge in writ petitions mentioned at direction No.3.

5. The Greater NOIDA and its allottees are directed not to carry on development and not to implement the Master Plan 2021 till the observations and directions of the National Capital Regional Planning Board are incorporated in Master Plan 2021 to the satisfaction of the National Capital Regional Planning Board. We make it clear that this direction shall not be applicable in those cases where the development is being carried on in accordance with the earlier Master Plan of the Greater NOIDA duly approved by the National Capital Regional Planning Board.

6. We direct the Chief Secretary of the State to appoint officers not below the level of Principal Secretary (except the officers of Industrial Development Department who have dealt with the relevant files) to conduct a thorough inquiry regarding the acts of Greater Noida (a) in proceeding to implement Master Plan 2021 without approval of N.C.R.P. Board, (b) decisions taken to change the land use, (c) allotment made to the builders and (d) indiscriminate proposals for acquisition of land, and thereafter the State Government shall take appropriate action in the matter."

4. The Full Bench held that the land owners, who had challenged the notifications would be entitled for payment of additional compensation to the extent of 64.70% in addition to the compensation already received. The Full Bench further held that the land owners would also be entitled for allotment of development abadi land to the extent of 10%. The Full Bench in paragraph 482(4) held that the authority will take a decision as to whether the benefit of additional compensation and allotment of developed abadi plot to the extent of 10% should be given to those land owners whose writ petition had been dismissed earlier as well as for those land owners, who had not come to the Court challenging the acquisition proceedings.

5. Based on the aforesaid directions, Noida took a decision in its Board meeting of paying additional compensation to the extent of 64.70% to all the land owners whether those land owners had challenged the notifications or had not challenged the notification. In terms of paragraph 482(4) of the judgment, Noida took a decision not to allot abadi plot to the extent of 10% to those land owners, who had not approached the writ Court and had not questioned the acquisition proceedings on the ground that the authority does not have any developed land to give to such persons for allotment. The petitioners', being aggrieved by the non-allotment of additional abadi plot, has filed the present writ petition praying for a writ of mandamus commanding the respondents to allot abadi plot and give the same benefit as given by the Full Bench of this Court to the land owners whose land had been acquired.

6. The connected writ petitions seek the same relief though the acquisition was for different villages by different notifications. In Writ Petition No.7553 of 2016 the acquisition was for Village Malakpur, Pargana Dadri, vide notification under Section 4 dated 2nd May, 2003 and notification under Section 6 dated 22nd July, 2003. In Writ Petition No.7553 of 2016 the acquisition was for Village Malakpur, Pargana Dadri, Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 2nd May, 2003 and notification under Section 6 dated 22nd July, 2003. In Writ Petition No.7532 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Chhaparauli Bangar, Pargana Dadri, Tehsil Sadar vide notification under Section 4 dated 4th July, 2003 and notification under Section 6 dated 21st July, 2003. In Writ Petition No.7639 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Basi Brahuddin Nagar, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 12th April, 2005 and notification under Section 6 dated 6th October, 2005. In Writ Petition No.8262 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Asgarpur Jagi, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 24th August, 2007 and under Section 6 dated 12th August, 2008. In Writ Petition No.9985 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Kondali Bangar, Pargana & Tehsil Sadar through sale deed. In Writ Petition No.9989 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Sadarpur, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 30th March, 2002 and notification under Section 6 dated 28th June, 2003. In Writ Petition No.10125 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Suthiyana, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 30th October, 2006 and notification under Section 6 dated 21st November, 2006. In Writ Petition No.7952 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Basi Brahuddin Nagar, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 12th April, 2005 and notification under Section 6 dated 6th October, 2005. In Writ Petition No.7956 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Soharkha Jahidabad, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 12th April, 2005 and notification under Section 6 dated 27th July, 2006. In Writ Petition No.13626 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Suthiyana, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 30th October, 2006 and notification under Section 6 dated 21st November, 2006. In Writ Petition No.21038 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Nithari, Chura Satadpur and Morna vide notification under Section 4 dated 1st June, 1976 and notification under Section 6 dated 16th September, 1976. In Writ Petition No.21157 of 2016, the acquisition was for Village Soharkha Jahidabad, Pargana & Tehsil Dadri vide notification under Section 4 dated 12th April, 2005 and notification under Section 6 dated 27th July, 2006.

7. We have heard Sri Pankaj Dubey, the learned counsel for the petitioner, the learned Standing Counsel for the State and Sri Shivam Yadav, the learned counsel for Noida.

8. The learned counsel for the petitioner contended that admittedly the land of the petitioner was acquired under a notification, which was challenged not by the petitioners' but by other similarly situated land owners before the High Court, which was disposed of by the Full Bench in the case of Gajraj Singh

(supra) with certain directions. The Full Bench directed the land owners, who had challenged the notification to be given an additional abadi land to the extent of 10% of their holdings. The learned counsel contended that parity should be maintained and since the petitioners' land was also acquired under the same notification, they should also be given the same benefit, even though the petitioners had not challenged the acquisition proceedings. The learned counsel contended that the respondents being an instrumentality of the State should act fairly and their action should not be discriminatory. The learned counsel contended that if the land owners under the same acquisition can be given additional abadi land, the same benefit should also be given to those land owners, who were similarly placed but had not questioned the acquisition proceedings. The learned counsel submitted that the action of the respondents in not allotting additional abadi land was wholly arbitrary and discriminatory and, consequently, a writ of mandamus should be issued commanding them to allot additional land. It was contended that some of the land owners as well as the State had filed special leave petition before the Supreme Court against the decision of the Full Bench in Gajraj (supra), which was disposed of in the case of Savitri Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2015 (7) SCC 21 wherein the Supreme Court in its judgment dated 14th May, 2015 accorded the following benefits to the land owners, namely:-

"To sum up, following benefits are accorded to the land owners:

(a) increasing the compensation by 64.7%;

(b) directing allotment of developed abadi land to the extent of 10% of the land acquired of each of the land owners;

(c) compensation which is increased at the rate of 64.7% is payable immediately without taking away the rights of the land owners to claim higher compensation under the machinery provided in the Land Acquisition Act wherein the matter would be examined on the basis of the evidence produced to arrive at just and fair market value;

This, according to us, provides substantial justice to the appellants."

9. The learned counsel submitted that a specific direction was given by the Supreme Court that 10% of the developed abadi land should be given to each of the land owners meaning thereby that additional land should be given to those land owners, who had not challenged the acquisition proceedings.

10. On the other hand, Sri Shivam Yadav, the learned counsel for Noida submitted that pursuant to the direction of the Full Bench, Noida Board took a decision to pay additional compensation to the extent of 64.70% to all the land owners whose land was acquired irrespective of the fact as to whether the land owners had challenged the acquisition proceedings before the High Court or not. The learned counsel submitted that the Board took a conscious decision not to allot any developed abadi land to those land owners, who had not approached the writ Court on the ground that they do not have any developed land to offer to the land owners. The learned counsel contended that the decision taken by the Board was neither arbitrary nor discriminatory and that the decision taken was fair and just and in accordance with the direction issued by the Full Bench. The learned counsel further submitted that the direction of the Supreme Court to allot developed abadi land to each of the land owners was in relation to those land owners who had filed the special leave petition and was not applicable to those land owners who had not challenged the acquisition proceedings.

11. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and having perused the direction given by the Full Bench in Gajraj's case (supra) as well as the decision of the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi (supra), we find that the judgment of the Full Bench was affirmed by the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi (supra). While affirming the decision, the direction of the Full Bench in paragraph 484(4) to the authority to consider the case for payment of additional compensation and allotment of developed abadi plot to those land owners, who had not challenged the acquisition proceedings or whose writ petitions were dismissed earlier was also affirmed by the Supreme Court. Based on such direction, the authority took a decision to pay additional compensation to all the land owners irrespective of the fact as to whether they had challenged the acquisition proceedings or not. But with regard to allotment of developed abadi land, the authority took a decision not to allot to those land owners, who had not approached the writ Court on the ground that they have no developed land to allot to these land owners. The fact that the authority does not have any developed land for allotment has not been disputed as no rejoinder affidavit has been filed nor any evidence has been brought on record. We also find that such decision taken by the Board is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory.

12. The Full Bench in order to save the acquisition proceedings had issued the direction for payment of additional compensation and for allotment of developed abadi plots in the extenuating facts and circumstances of the case. The Supreme Court acceded to the said consideration holding that the Full Bench was justified in issuing such directions in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case and in order to save the acquisition proceedings from the vice of arbitrariness. The Supreme Court while affirming the decision of the Full Bench categorically held that the said decision would not be treated to form a precedent for future cases. The Supreme Court held:

"50. Keeping in view all these peculiar circumstances, we are of the opinion that these are not the cases where this Court should interfere under Article 136 of the Constitution. However, we make it clear that directions of the High Court are given in the aforesaid unique and peculiar/specific background and, therefore, it would not form precedent for future cases."

13. Thus, we are of the opinion that the ratio decendi of the Full Bench cannot be applied to similarly situated persons. The said benefit given by the Full Bench cannot be extended to the petitioners, even though they may be similarly situated and their land had been acquired under the same notification.

14. We are of the view that the action of the respondents in not giving additional developed abadi land to the petitioners is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory, especially when there is no evidence to dispute the fact that the respondents have no developed land with them for allotment.

15. In the light of the aforesaid, no relief can be granted to the petitioner. All the writ petition fails and are dismissed.

1. Heard Sri Ashish Agarwal, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri P.K. Tripathi, Advocate, for respondents.

2. Sri Ashish Agarwal, learned counsel for petitioner, at the outset, stated that Prayer (i) has rendered infructuous by efflux of time.

3. With respect to Prayer (ii), he could not dispute that it relates to recovery of certain money from U.P. Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Limited based on contractual matter for which remedy lies in common law and for that purpose no writ petition lie since in absence of any statutory right, Article 226 cannot be availed to claim any money in respect of breach of contract or tort or otherwise.

4. In Kerala State Electricity Board and another Vs. Kurien E. Kalathil and others 2000 (6) SCC 293, Court said that interpretation and implementation of a clause in a contract cannot be subject-matter of a writ petition. Whether a contract envisages actual payment or not is a question of construction of contract. If a term of contract is violated, ordinarily remedy is not the writ petition under Article 226. A contract would not become statutory simply because it is for construction of a public utility and it has been awarded by a statutory body. A statute may expressly or impliedly confer power on a statutory body to enter into contracts in order to enable it to discharge its functions. Disputes arising out of the terms of such contracts or alleged breaches have to be settled by the ordinary principles of law of contract. The fact that one of the parties to the agreement is a statutory or public body will not by itself affect the principles to be applied. The disputes about the meaning of a covenant in a contract or its enforceability have to be determined according to the usual principles of the Contract Act. Every act of a statutory body need not necessarily involve an exercise of statutory power. Statutory bodies have power to contract or deal with property like private parties. Such activities may not raise any issue of public law. When it is not shown that contract is statutory and parties are within the realm of their authority, contract between the parties is in the realm of private law. The disputes relating to interpretation of terms and conditions of such contract cannot be agitated in a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution. The Court further said:

"That is a matter for adjudication by a civil court or in arbitration if provided for in the contract. Whether any amount is due and if so, how much and refusal of the appellant to pay it is justified or not, are not the matters which could have been agitated and decided in a writ petition."

5. Following the above authorities, a Division Bench of this Court in M/S Prabhu Construction Company through its Proprietor Vs. State of U.P. and another (Writ C No. 25075 of 2014) decided on 05.05.2014 said as under:

"In the present case, there is nothing on the record which may persuade us to hold that the contract is a statutory contract. The remedy of the contractor, if he is aggrieved by non-payment, would be to either file an ordinary civil suit or if there is an arbitration agreement between the parties, to invoke the terms of the agreement."

6. The Court also relied on its earlier decision in M/s R.S. Associate Vs. State of U.P. and others (Writ-C No. 11544 of 2014) decided on 24.02.2014.

7. Again in Alaska Tech Vs. State of U.P. 2014 (6) ADJ 591, a Division Bench of this Court observed as under:

"2. We are of the view that, in a matter of this nature which pertains to alleged non-payment of dues under a contract for supply of goods, it would neither be prudent nor judicious for this Court, in exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution, to grant relief, which is in substance, is a prayer for a money decree. These matters, it must be emphasized, are not those relating to statutory contracts but are purely non-statutory contracts. Whether work has been satisfactorily performed, whether the rates which had been quoted are in accordance with the terms of the contract, whether the goods were of a quality as mandated, and above all, whether the claim is within limitation or otherwise, are issues which cannot appropriately be adjudicated upon under Article 226 of the Constitution."

8. The same view has been reiterated in M/S Goyal Stationary Mart through its Proprietor State of U.P. (Misc. Bench No. 10971 of 2015) decided on 27.11.2015, Budh Gramin Sansthan Vs. State of U.P. 2014 (7) ADJ 29, Kaka Advertising Agency Vs. U.P. Technical University and others 2014 (11) ADJ 227, M/s A.K. Constructions Vs. State of U.P. and others (Misc. Bench No. 1909 of 2014) decided on 07.03.2014, Major Travels through Proprietor Vs. State of U.P. and others (Misc. Bench No. 3472 of 2014) decided on 25.04.2014 and Uttaranchal Paper Converters and Publishers through Proprietor Vs. State of U.P. and others (Misc. Bench No. 3898 of 2015) decided on 13.05.2014.

9. In view thereof, we are clearly of the view so far as Prayer (ii), mandamus sought by petitioner is nothing but grant of a money decree in extraordinary equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 which ought not to have been granted. We, therefore, find not reason to interfere.

10. The writ petition lacks merits. Dismissed.

11. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution has been filed by LG Electronics India Pvt. Ltd. aggrieved by notice dated 08.06.2016 issued by Principal Commissioner of Income Tax, NOIDA, Gautambudh Nagar in exercise of power under Section 263 of Income Tax Act, 1961 in respect of Assessment Year 2007-08.

The only issue raised and pressed before this court is, "whether impugned notice is barred by limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) of Act, 1961 or not".

Limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) for exercise power under sub-section (1) thereof is two years from the end of financial year in which order sought to be revised was passed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that for the purpose of Section 263(1) limitation will commence from the end of financial year when order dated 31.10.2011 was passed and that comes to 31.03.2012 and two years period would elapsed on 31.03.2014.

Court held that that impugned notice dated 08.06.2016 issued by Principal Commissioner of Income Tax, NOIDA, Gautambudh Nagar is in reference to some discrepancy in original assessment order dated 31.10.2011 and not re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015, therefore, limitation would run from the date of regular order of assessment and in that view of the matter, impugned notice, evidently is barred by limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) of Act, 1961.

The writ petition is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rupesh Jain, Advocate assisted by Sri Gaurav Jain and Sri Suyash Agarwal, Advocates for petitioner and Sri Gaurav Mahajan, learned counsel for respondents.

2. This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution has been filed by LG Electronics India Pvt. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the "petitioner") aggrieved by notice dated 08.06.2016 issued by Principal Commissioner of Income Tax, NOIDA, Gautambudh Nagar (hereinafter referred to as the "PCIT") in exercise of power under Section 263 of Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1961") in respect of Assessment Year 2007-08.

3. It is contended that notice itself is barred by limitation hence it is void ab initio and without jurisdiction.

4. Return for Assessment Year 2007-08 was filed by petitioner on 31.10.2007 declaring income of Rs. 2,68,82,20,341/-. It was selected for scrutiny and after verification/ examination draft assessment order under Section 143(3)/144C(1) of Act, 1961 was passed on 27.12.2010 proposing some disallowances and addition of income of Rs. 61,00,79,579/- being subsidy by way of sales tax incentive received under the scheme formulated by Government of U.P. The Assessing Officer (hereinafter referred to as the "AO") suggested that it is "revenue receipt" and not "capital receipt" as claimed by petitioner though in Maharashtra a similar incentive was treated as "capital receipt".

5. Aggrieved by draft assessment order dated 27.12.2010 petitioner filed objection before Dispute Resolution Panel (hereinafter referred to as the "DRP"), whereupon direction under Section 144C(5) was issued on 27.09.2011 to AO to pass final order. AO thereafter made final assessment on 31.10.2011 assessing total income to Rs. 5,83,91,17,785/- after making addition of Rs. 61,00,79,579/- on account of sales tax incentive treating it as revenue receipt.

6. Petitioner preferred appeal being ITA No. 5140/Del/2011 before Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi under Section 253(1)(d) of Act, 1961. Tribunal allowed appeal partly vide order dated 08.12.2014. It confirmed addition of Rs. 61,00,79,579/- towards sales tax subsidy treating it as "revenue receipt". Against this order petitioner filed further appeal before this Court, i.e., ITA No. 89 of 2015 which is pending.

7. The AO reopened assessment under Section 147 and issued notice dated 21.03.2014 under Section 148 alleging that in assessment year in question there is a escaped assessment on account of failure to disallow expenditure on purchases from overseas in terms of Section 40(a)(i) of Act, 1961 for non-deduction of tax at source from such payment. Re-assessment order was passed on 26.03.2015 after making disallowance of purchase of Rs. 13,89,59,995/-. Aggrieved thereto petitioner has filed appeal before Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) (hereinafter referred to as the "CIT(A)") under Section 246A(1)(b), which is pending.

8. Now respondent-PCIT has issued impugned notice dated 08.06.2016 under Section 263 on the ground that assessment order dated 26.03.2015 passed under Section 143(3) was erroneous and prejudicial to the interest of Revenue inasmuch as sales tax subsidy of Rs. 20,58,34,234/- accruing to petitioner under scheme of Government of Maharashtra had not been brought to tax as "revenue receipt". It is contended that aforesaid notice dated 08.06.2016 is barred by limitation under Section 263 of Act, 1961.

9. The only issue raised and pressed before this court is, "whether impugned notice is barred by limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) of Act, 1961 or not".

10. Section 263 of Act, 1961 reads as under:

"263. (1) The Commissioner may call for and examine the record of any proceeding under this Act, and if he considers that any order passed therein by the Assessing Officer is erroneous in so far as it is prejudicial to the interests of the revenue, he may, after giving the assessee an opportunity of being heard and after making or causing to be made such inquiry as he deems necessary, pass such order thereon as the circumstances of the case justify, including an order enhancing or modifying the assessment, or cancelling the assessment and directing a fresh assessment.

Explanation: For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that, for the purposes of this sub-section, -

(a) an order passed on or before or after the 1st day of June, 1988, by the Assessing Officer shall include -

(i) an order of assessment made by the Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or the Income-tax Officer on the basis of the directions issued by the Joint Commissioner under section 144A;

(ii) an order made by the Joint Commissioner in exercise of the powers or in the performance of the functions of an Assessing Officer conferred on, or assigned to, him under the orders or directions issued by the Board or by the Chief Commissioner or Director General or Commissioner authorised by the Board in this behalf under section 120;

(b) "record" shall include and shall be deemed always to have included all records relating to any proceeding under this Act available at the time of examination by the Commissioner;

(c) where any order referred to in this sub-section and passed by the Assessing Officer had been the subject-matter of any appeal filed on or before or after the 1st day of June, 1988, the powers of the Commissioner under this sub-section shall extend and shall be deemed always to have extended to such matters as had not been considered and decided in such appeal.

(2) No order shall be made under sub-section (1) after the expiry of two years from the end of the financial year in which the order sought to be revised was passed.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2), an order in revision under this section may be passed at any time in the case of an order which has been passed in consequence of, or to give effect to, any finding or direction contained in an order of the Appellate Tribunal, National Tax Tribunal, the High Court or the Supreme Court.

Explanation: In computing the period of limitation for the purposes of sub-section (2), the time taken in giving an opportunity to the assessee to be reheard under the proviso to section 129 and any period during which any proceeding under this section is stayed by an order or injunction of any court shall be excluded." (emphasis added)

11. Limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) for exercise power under sub-section (1) thereof is two years from the end of financial year in which order sought to be revised was passed.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that for the purpose of Section 263(1) limitation will commence from the end of financial year when order dated 31.10.2011 was passed and that comes to 31.03.2012 and two years period would elapsed on 31.03.2014.

13. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for respondent, on the contrary, submitted that period of limitation would run from the date of re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015 and, therefore, impugned notice is within limitation.

14. Sri Jain, learned counsel for the petitioner, argued that original assessment order accepted sales tax subsidy by way of refund of VAT received under Maharashtra State Government as "capital receipt" and not chargeable to tax. Accepting same, AO passed assessment order dated 31.10.2011 after due inquiry. Re-assessment order did not refer to aforesaid aspect of the matter and instead re-assessment proceedings have been initiated on the ground of "escaped assessment" due to certain purchases made from outside India since no tax was deducted at source in respect thereto. He submitted that notice under Section 263 has been issued raising an issue which relates to not re-assessment order but original assessment order dated 31.10.2011 and, therefore, it is barred by limitation. Reliance is placed on Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd., 2007(293) ITR 1 (SC); Commissioner of Income Tax, Delhi-I Vs. Bharti Airtel Ltd., 2013(37) taxmann.com 218 (Delhi); Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Shriram Engineering Construction Co. Ltd., 2011(330) ITR 568 (Mad); Ashoka Buildcon Ltd. Vs. Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax and another, 2010(325) ITR 574 (Bom); Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Lark Chemicals Ltd, 2014(368) ITR 655 (Bom); and, Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. ICICI Bank Ltd., 2012(343) ITR 74 (Bom).

15. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel submitted that Sections 2(8) and (40) of Act, 1961 defines terms "assessment" and "regular assessment". Assessment includes re-assessment. Assessment made under Sections 143 or 144 is termed as "regular assessment", therefore, it does not include re-assessment made under Section 147. The meaning of "assessment", therefore, has to be seen in this context.

16. It is submitted that for the purpose of Section 263 period of two years is from the date of "assessment" and if read with Section 2(8) it would be the date of "re-assessment" and not "original assessment". It is contended that any other view would vitiate the plain and unambiguous language of Section 263(2).

17. Facts are not in dispute hence we proceed to consider, "whether here is a case where limitation under Section 263(2) would commence from regular assessment order dated 31.10.2011 or re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015".

18. Assessment order dated 31.10.2011 is on record as Annexure-B to the writ petition. In computation of income the AO has made following additions:

"Additions-as discussed above

1. Sales Tax Subsidy	Rs. 61,00,79,579/-
2. Provision for Service Warranty	Rs. 7,79,04,573/-
3. Royalty	Rs. 81,98,02,800/-
4. International Transaction	Rs.2,26,61,73,676/-"

19. AO also allowed following deductions:

"Less : Deductions:

1. Depreciation as claimed	Rs. 81,44,24,056/-
2. Gain on fixed assets	Rs. 1,27,10,222/-
3. Weighted deduction u/s 35(2AB)	Rs. 13,77,25,422/-
5. Deduction u/s 35D	Rs. 2,10,272/-
6. Incentive from Maharashtra VAT as claimed	Rs. 20,58,34,234/-
7. Expenses u/s 43B as claimed	Rs. 8,68,12,113/-
8. Sums disallowed u/s 40a(ia) in AY 06-07 now claimed	Rs. 6,76,72,351/-

9. Provision of Expenses W/o in AY 07-08 but not allowed as deduction in AY 06-07	Rs. 4,90,76,047/-
---	-------------------

10. Sales Tax receipt claimed in revised return as exempt is disallowed Para No. 2.	Rs. 61,00,79,579/-

20. The proceedings for "re-assessment" were initiated vide notice dated 19.06.2014 issued under Section 147 and the same is on record as Annexure-D to the writ petition. AO has given reasons for initiating "re-assessment" proceedings stating that petitioner is a permanent establishment of LG Electronics, Korea and its other Associated Enterprises. Its business connection and income is taxable as per Section 4, 5 and 9 of Act, 1961 and Articles 5 and 7 of Indo Korea DTAA. Petitioner had made certain remittances during Financial Year 2006-07 (Assessment Year 2007-08) to its parent Company Korea and other Associated Enterprises on which no TDS was deducted. Such expenses are disallowable under Section 40(a)(i) of Act, 1961. Details of remittances are given in a chart which totalled to Rs. 18,08,65,60,127/-.

21. After considering reply of Assessee and examining the matter in detail, AO made addition of Rs. 13,89,59,995/- under Section 40(a)(i) of Act, 1961 bringing total assessed income to Rs. 5,97,80,77,790/-. Thus "re-assessment" order was not for review or re-assessment of entire case but only in respect of a particular item, i.e., transactions outside India on which no TDS was deducted, hence were disallowable under Section 40(a)(i). In all other respect, original assessment order was maintained, and addition made by re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015 was added in income assessed in "original assessment" order and that is how it comes to Rs. 5,97,80,77,790/-. This is also evident from operative part of "re-assessment" order of AO, which reads as under:

"After due verification of available facts and records and examination of assessee submissions, income of the assessee is computed as under:

Income as per order u/s 143(3)144C dated 31.10.2011	Rs. 583,91,17,790/-
---	-----------------------------------

Addition as per para (2) above	Rs. 13,89,59,995/-
Assessed Income	Rs. 597,80,77,785/-

Or say	Rs. 597,80,77,790/-"

22. Now the notice under Section 263(1) shows that respondent, though has referred to "re-assessment order" showing total taxable income determined therein but in fact has referred to discrepancy in "assessment order", i.e., regular assessment order dated 31.10.2011, wherein incentive of VAT from Maharashtra Government received by petitioner was allowed to be deducted. This incentive has no concern with "re-assessment" proceedings result in order dated 26.03.2015.

23. We have discussed the items on which re-assessment proceedings were initiated by AO. Notice under Section 263(1) has been issued with reference to re-assessment, apparently to cover up bar of limitation. The reason obvious is that judicial precedents have made out a difference in a case where entire assessment is reopened and a fresh re-assessment order is passed and in a case where one or two items of assessment order are re-assessed and reconsidered and in other respect, initial assessment order is maintained. In a case where except one or a few items, original assessment order is maintained, it has been held that assessment order continue to remain subject to addition or modification by re-assessment order and if a notice under Section 263(1) has been issued with reference to an item of assessment order and not re-assessment order, for the purpose of limitation it has to be seen whether it involves an issue of escaped assessment under original assessment order or re-assessment order.

24. Learned counsel appearing for respondent when confronted with this factual background, did not and could not, dispute that notice under Section 263(1) has been issued with reference to a discrepancy occurred in assessment order dated 31.10.2011 and it has nothing to do with re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015.

25. Now in the light of above facts we may examine the judicial authorities, whether limitation in such a case, for the purpose of notice under Section 263(1), will commence from original "assessment order", discrepancy whereof is the foundation for notice under Section 263(1), or "re-assessment order" which is on a different subject.

26. We find that this issue is clinched by a Supreme Court judgment in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd. (supra). The question formulated by Court in above case reads as under:

"Whether for the purpose of computing the period of limitation envisaged under sub-section (2) of Section 263 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (for short "the Act"), the date of order of assessment or that of the reassessment, is to be taken into consideration."

(emphasis added)

27. Therein also for Assessment Years 1994-95, 1995-96 and 1996-97, assessment was completed on 27.02.1997; 12.03.1997; and, 30.03.1998, respectively. In all the assessment years, assessee's return under the head "Lease Equalisation Fund" was accepted. Assessing Officer initiated re-assessment proceedings under Section 148 in respect of following three items:

- "(i) the expenses claimed for share issue,
- (ii) bad and doubtful debts and
- (iii) excess depreciation on gas cylinders and goods containers."

28. Re-assessment has nothing to do on items relating to "Lease Equalization Fund". CIT invoked revisional jurisdiction under Section 263(3) vide notice dated 29.03.2004 stating that depreciation of leased assets claimed as goods depreciation and disallowed in computation income was not correct and order of Assessing Officer is prejudicial to interest of Revenue as the lease rentals had not been properly brought to tax. Assessee contended that said order of Commissioner under Section 263 was barred by limitation,, and in appeal, preferred before Tribunal, he succeeded. Tribunal held that error pointed out in revisional order under Section 263 was in the order of Assessing Authority passed in regular assessment and not re-assessment, therefore, barred by limitation under Section 263(2). Appeal preferred by Revenue also failed before Madras High Court, who following its decision in CWT vs. A.K. Thanga Pillai, 2001(252) ITR 260, dismissed appeal. Before Supreme Court, Revenue sought to argue that order of assessment would merge with order of re-assessment and, therefore, for the purpose of notice under Section 263, limitation would commence from the date when "re-assessment order" was passed. After referring to Section 263, Court held:

"A bare perusal of the order passed by the Commissioner of Income Tax would clearly demonstrate that only that part of order of assessment which related to lease equalization fund was found to be prejudicial to the interest of the Revenue. The proceedings for reassessment have nothing to do with the said head of income. Doctrine of merger, therefore, would not apply in a case of this nature." (emphasis added)

29. Court referred to Section 263(1), Explanation (C) providing that doctrine of merger would apply only in respect of such items which were subject matter of appeal and not which were not to fortify its view.

30. Distinction in the words "assess" and "re-assess" was considered in CIT Vs. Sun Engineering Works P. Ltd., 1992(198) ITR 297 (SC). Therein issue was raised by assessee contending that once jurisdiction under Section 147 is invoked, whole assessment proceedings become re-opened. It was negated by Court holding as under:

"Thus, under Section 147, the assessing officer has been vested with the power to "assess or reassess" the escaped income of an assessee. The use of the expression "assess or reassess such income or recompute the loss or depreciation allowance" in section 147 after the conditions for reassessment are satisfied, is only relatable to the preceding expression in Clauses (a) and (b) viz., "escaped assessment". The term "escaped assessment" includes both "non- assessment" as well as "under assessment". Income is said to have "escaped assessment" within the meaning of this section when it has not been charged in the hands of an assessee in the relevant year of assessment. The expression "assess" refers to a situation where the assessment of the assessee for a particular year is, for the first time, made by resorting to the provisions of Section 147 because the assessment had not been made in the regular manner under the Act. The expression "reassess" refers to a situation where an assessment has already been made but the Income-tax Officer has, on the basis of information in his possession, reason to believe that there has been under assessment on account of the existence of any of the grounds contemplated by the provisions of Section 147(b) read with the Explanation (I) thereto." (emphasis added)

31. Referring to above exposition of law, Court in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd. (supra) further held:

*"There may not be any doubt or dispute that once an order of assessment is reopened, the previous underassessment will be held to be set aside and the whole proceedings would start afresh but the same would not mean that even when the subject matter of reassessment is distinct and different, the entire proceeding of assessment would be deemed to have been reopened."

"We may at this juncture also take note of the fact that even the Tribunal found that all the subsequent events were in respect of the matters other than the allowance of 'lease equalization fund'. The said finding of fact is binding on us. Doctrine of merger, therefore, in the fact situation obtaining herein cannot be said to have any application whatsoever. It is not a case where the subject matter of reassessment and subject matter of assessment were the same. They were not." (emphasis added)

32. Court also upheld judgment of Madras High court in CWT vs. A.K. Thanga Pillai (supra) and pointed out that same view was taken by Calcutta High Court in CIT vs. Kanubhai Engineers (P) Ltd., 2000(241) ITR 665. Operative part of judgment in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd. (supra) reads as under:

"We, therefore, are clearly of the opinion that keeping in view the facts and circumstances of this case and, in particular, having regard to the fact that the Commissioner of Income Tax exercising its revisional jurisdiction reopened the order of assessment only in relation to lease equalization fund which being not the subject of the reassessment proceedings, the period of limitation provided for under Sub-section (2) of Section 263 of the Act would begin to run from the date of the order of assessment and not from the order of reassessment. The revisional jurisdiction having, thus, been invoked by the Commissioner of Income Tax beyond the period of limitation, it was wholly without jurisdiction rendering the entire proceeding a nullity." (emphasis added)

33. This decision in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd. (supra) has been followed by Delhi High Court in Commissioner of Income Tax, Delhi-I Vs. Bharti Airtel Ltd. (supra) wherein also re-assessment order dealt with the issue of non deduction of tax at source on payment of interest to ABN Amro Bank, Stockholm Branch. Second addition was made on account of ESOP expenses. Subsequently Commissioner of Income Tax issued order under Section 263 for failure to deduct TDS under Section 194H on three air time provided to distributors and under Section 194J on roaming charges paid to other network operators. These issues were different than the subject matter of re-assessment order. Delhi High Court held that subject matter is different since Commissioner has found error in regular assessment order, hence limitation shall commence for regular assessment order.

34. To the same effect is the Division Bench judgment of Bombay High Court in Ashoka Buildcon Ltd. Vs. Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax (supra) delivered by Dr. D.Y. Chandrachud, J., (as His Lordship then was). Therein, Commissioner of Income Tax issued notice dated 30.04.2009 under Section 263. Assessment order was passed on 27.12.2006 under Section 143(3) for Assessment Year 2004-05. It was sought to be re-opened on 06.03.2007 in regard to benefit of Section 72A which deals with carry forward and set off of accumulated losses and unabsorbed depreciation allowances in cases, inter alia, of amalgamation and merger was wrongly allowed. Commissioner of Income Tax issued notice dated 30.04.2009 under Section 263 though referring to re-assessment order but in effect pointing out an error in regular assessment order dated 27.12.2006. Relying on Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Alagendran Finance Ltd. (supra), Delhi High Court said as under:

"Section 263 empowers the Commissioner to call for and examine the record of any proceedings under the Act and to pass such orders as the circumstances of the case justify, including an order enhancing, modifying or cancelling the assessment and directing a fresh assessment, if he considers that any order passed by the Assessing Officer is erroneous in so far as it is prejudicial to the interest of the Revenue. Sub-section (2) of Section 263 stipulates that no order shall be made under sub-section (1) after the expiry of two years from the end of the financial year in which the order sought to be revised was passed. That period of two years from the end of the financial year in which the original order of assessment dated 27 December 2006 was passed, has expired on 31 March 2009. Hence the exercise of the revisional jurisdiction in respect of the original order of reassessment is barred by limitation."

"The substantive part of section 147 as well as Explanation 3 enables the Assessing Officer to assess or reassess income chargeable to tax which he has reason to believe had escaped assessment and other income which has escaped assessment and which comes to his notice subsequently in the course of the proceedings under the section. There is nothing on the record of the present case to indicate that there was any other income which had come to the notice of the Assessing Officer as having escaped assessment in the course of the proceedings under Section 147 and when he passed the order of reassessment. The Commissioner, when he exercised his jurisdiction under Section 263, in the facts of the present case, was under a bar of limitation since limitation would begin to run from the date on which the original order of assessment was passed. We must however clarify that the bar of limitation in this case arises because the revisional jurisdiction under Section 263 is sought to be exercised in respect of issues which did not form the subject matter of the reassessment proceedings under Section 143(3) read with 147. In respect of those issues, limitation would commence with reference to the original order of assessment. If the exercise of the revisional jurisdiction under Section 263 was to be in respect of issues which formed the subject matter of the reassessment, after the original assessment was reopened, the commencement of limitation would be with reference to the order of reassessment. The present case does not fall in that category." (emphasis added)

35. The judgments in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Shriram Engineering Construction Co. Ltd. (supra); Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Lark Chemicals Ltd. (supra); and, Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. ICICI Bank Ltd. (supra) are also in the same line.

36. In these facts and circumstances and considering the fact that impugned notice dated 08.06.2016 issued by Principal Commissioner of Income Tax, NOIDA, Gautambudh Nagar is in reference to some discrepancy in original assessment order dated 31.10.2011 and not re-assessment order dated 26.03.2015, therefore, limitation would run from the date of regular order of assessment and in that view of the matter, impugned notice, evidently is barred by limitation prescribed under Section 263(2) of Act, 1961.

37. In the result, writ petition is allowed. Impugned notice dated 08.06.2016 is hereby quashed. Petitioner shall also be entitled to costs, which we quantify to Rs. 20,000/-.

When a subsequent set of rules (Rules, 2009) supersedes earlier rules (Rules, 2005), and the subsequent rules are later declared ultra vires, the earlier rules do not automatically revive.

Supersession of earlier rules is an independent legislative act; even if the new rules are struck down, the earlier rules remain extinguished unless expressly revived.

The doctrine of revival applies only in limited situations, such as:

Where legislation is void due to lack of legislative competence, or Constitutional amendments being struck down.

It does not apply where delegated legislation is invalidated due to procedural irregularities.

Where a rule is substituted or repealed, it ceases to exist; striking down the substituting rule does not revive the earlier rule.

Since Rules, 2009 were struck down for non-compliance with mandatory procedure (and not lack of competence), the doctrine of "still-born" does not apply, and hence no revival of Rules, 2005 occurs.

Consequently, no valid rules existed for levy of advertisement tax for the relevant period; therefore, the demand raised is without jurisdiction and illegal.

The action of authorities in assuming automatic revival of Rules, 2005 is a manifest legal error.

All impugned demand notices are quashed, and any recovered amount must be refunded.

Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.D. Singh, learned Senior Advocate for petitioners and learned Standing Counsel as well as Sri Rahul Sahai, Advocate for respondents.

2. All these writ petitions involve comm on questions of law and fact and, therefore, as agreed by learned counsel for the parties, have been heard together and are being decided by this common judgment.

3. Demand of advertisement tax in accordance with Agra Nagar Nigam (Samachar Patro Me Prakashit Vigyapano Par Kar Ka Nirdharan Karna Aur Use Vasool Karna) Niyamawali, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as the "Rules, 2005") published in U.P. Gazette dated 10.09.2005 and came into force on 01.04.2005 has been challenged on the ground that no such rules were in existence in the year of demand, i.e., 2010-11 and, therefore, demand of advertisement tax under Rules, 2005 is wholly without jurisdiction and illegal.

4. All the petitioners are Companies engaged in providing telecommunication service. They are Licensed Service Providers in State of U.P. by virtue of licence granted by Government of India, Ministry of Communications and IT, Department of Telecommunication under the provisions of Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1885"). They have been authorized to set up and operate "Unified Access Services" (hereinafter referred to as the "UAS") in the licensed service area.

5. Nagar Nigam, Agra (hereinafter referred to as the "NNA") in purported exercise of powers under Sections 192, 219, 540(1), 550, 227, 172(2), (Ja) and 544 of U.P. Municipal Corporation Act, 1959 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1959") framed bye-laws/ Rules 2005 for imposing tax on advertisement, in the manner other than publication in newspapers, within territorial jurisdiction of NNA. Rules, 2005 contemplated a licence for the purpose of such advertisement and rate of tax payable by such person.

6. Subsequently, a new set of Rules, namely, U.P. Municipal Corporation (Assessment and Collection of Tax On Advertisement) Rules, 2009 (hereinafter referred to as the "Rules, 2009") have been framed applicable to every Municipal Corporation in State of U.P. and aforesaid Rules clearly provide that same are being promulgated in supersession of all the previous rules and orders issued in this behalf. These Rules were published in notification dated 24.12.2009 and came into effect from the date of their publication in gazette. It is admitted case of the parties that on promulgation of Rules, 2009, the Rules, 2005 stood superseded.

7. Pursuant thereto NNA issued a demand notice dated 18.11.2010 for the year 2010-11 demanding advertisement tax to the tune of Rs. 5327666/- (in Writ Petition No. 622 of 2015), which was objected by petitioners in Writ Petition No. 139 of 2011. The Court vide judgment dated 29.01.2011 directed NNA to decide objections filed by petitioners. One of the objection taken by petitioners is that Rules, 2009 were challenged being ultra vires of Act, 1959 as also Article 19(1)(a) and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution in various writ petitions led by Misc. Bench No. 3336 of 2010 (Anurag Bansal and others Vs. State of U.P. and others). A Full Bench of this Court in its judgment reported in 2011(5) ADJ 879 has upheld the contention and declares Rules, 2009 as ultra vires of Act, 1959 and has struck down the same.

8. Petitioners thus contended that since Rules, 2009 have been declared ultra vires, no new Rules have been framed and earlier Rules, 2005 having already superseded by Rules, 2009, will not revive, hence no advertisement tax is payable by them.

9. Respondent-Nagar Nigam, however, by means of orders impugned in writ petitions have decided representation and rejecting same have taken the view that after striking down of Rules, 2009 liability to pay advertisement tax would fall back upon Rules, 2005 which would stand revive and, therefore, petitioners are liable to pay advertisement tax accordingly.

10. The only question which has been argued before us is that, Rules, 2005 after having been superseded and repealed by Rules, 2009 would not revive after Rules, 2009 are declared ultra vires and, therefore, any demand of advertisement tax for the period of 2010-11 and subsequent thereto would be illegal and without jurisdiction.

11. The stand of respondents in counter affidavit is very clear that after Rules, 2009 have been declared ultra vires, superseded Rules, 2005 would automatically revive. Stand taken by NNA in para 19 of counter affidavit filed in leading writ petition i.e. Writ Petition No. 622 of 2015 is reproduced as under:

"19. That the averments made in paragraph no. 24 of the writ petition are not admitted. In reply it is submitted that upon the super session of the Rules of 2005, by the Rules of 2009 and upon adjudication of the rules of 2009 as being ultra vires, the Rules of 2005 stood automatically revived and thus there is no infirmity in the impugned proceedings." (emphasis added)

12. Basic facts are not disputed. Earlier, rules framed were applicable only to NNA for levy of advertisement tax. Subsequently State Government framed a general set of Rules applicable to all Municipal Corporations governed by Act, 1959. Rules, 2009 were published in supersession of all previous rules and orders issued in this behalf. Operative part of Rules, 2009, reads as under:

"In exercise of powers under section 227 read with section 192 and 219, sub-section (1) of section 540 and section 550 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipal Corporation Act, 1959 (Uttar Pradesh Act No. II of 1959) and section 21 of the Uttar Pradesh General Clause Act (Act No. 1 of 1904) and in super session of all the previous rules and orders issued in this behalf, the Governor, after considering the objections and suggestions received in pursuance of order published in Government notification no- 561/IX-9-2008-49Ja/2001, dated February 27, 2008 required by sub-section (2) of section 540 of the said Act of 1959, is pleased to make the following rules:" (emphasis added)

13. Rules, 2009 have been promulgated in a way that firstly rule framing authority has declared that notification dated 24.10.2009 is being issued in exercise of powers under Section 227 read with 192, 219, 540(1) and 550 of Act, 1959 and Section 21 of U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1904") and in supersession of all the previous rules and orders issued in this behalf. Second part of notification says that Governor after considering objections and suggestions received in pursuance of order published in Government notification dated 27.02.2008 as required by Section 540(2) of Act, 1959 is pleaded to make following rules, i.e., Rules, 2009. Thus by first part Rule framing authority has superseded all existing rules and orders issued in reference to provisions, namely, Sections 227, 192, 219, 540(1) and 550 of Act, 1959 read with Rule 21 of Act, 1904 and by subsequent part, Rules, 2009 have been promulgated.

14. It is not the case of respondents that power exercised by Rule framing authority with regard to supersession of earlier rules was bad or even this part has been nullified by any subsequent judgment of this Court.

15. Earlier validity of Rules, 2009 was upheld in Taj Advertising and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2010(4) ALJ 293. In another set of petitions filed at Lucknow Bench led by Misc. Bench No. 3336 of 2010 (Anurag Bansal and others Vs. State of U.P. and others), Division Bench disagreeing with the view taken in Taj Advertising (supra), formulated following questions and referred matter to Larger Bench:

"(1) Whether the State Government had legislative competence to frame the Rules, 2009?

(2) Whether the State Government in any case could have framed 'Rules' in general for all the municipal corporations, that too without taking recourse to Section 206 of the Act?

(3) Whether delegation of power could be made under the Rules framed by the State Government to the Central Government?

(4) Whether the licence for putting hoardings/advertisements on public properties, owned by private owners, can be given by public auction ?

(5) Whether the impugned rules are ultra vires to the provisions of Articles 14, 19(1) (a) and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India?

(6) Whether the Rules, 2009 are invalid, they having been framed without following the provisions of Sections 199 to 203 of the Act?

(7) Whether the provisions of the Rules, 2009, such as- requiring the owner of the building, where the advertisement is to be set up, to give an undertaking that in the event of default by the advertising company/firm to pay the tax, the owner of the building concerned would pay the tax, etc. can be said to be unreasonable and unfair to be adhered to and are liable to be struck down?

(8) Whether vesting of all the powers (as discussed in this order in relation to putting of hoardings and as given under the Rules, 2009) on private properties, in special areas etc. and in 'no hoarding zones' into the sole authority of the Municipal Commissioner, that too with no guidelines and without providing any superior forum of appeal/revision against his decision, suffers from the vice of excessive delegation and in any case absolutely arbitrary and unreasonable?"

16. Full Bench, however, decided to deliberate only questions no. 1, 2, 6 and 7 and answered the same as under:

"(1) State Government has got legislative competence to frame rules but subject to fulfilment of necessary conditions and procedure prescribed under Chapter IX of the Act (supra).

(2) Government could not have framed impugned rules for all the Municipal Corporations without taking recourse of not only Section 206 of the Act but other statutory provisions contained in Chapter IX of the Act.

(6) Impugned Rules 2009 is invalid and ultra vires to the Act being framed without following the provisions of Sections 199 to 203 of the Act and other statutory provisions discussed in the body of judgment (supra).

(7) Provision contained in the Rule 2009 requiring the owner of building to face penal consequences is invalid and violative of Section 195 of the Act."

17. Now the question is, "whether in view of aforesaid decision can it be said that Rules, 2005, stood superseded by Rules, 2009 would revive after striking down of Rules, 2009 by Full Bench in Anurag Bansal (supra), authorising NNA to charge advertisement tax from petitioners under Rules, 2005".

18. Validity/ vires of statutory provisions normally examined in different ways and on different grounds. When an amendment is made to the provisions of Constitution, the only scope available to examine the same is, whether the same alters basic features of Constitution or not. Validity of a Principal Legislation made by Parliament or State Legislature is normally assailable on the ground of legislative competence or violation of constitutional provisions. Scope of challenge to delegated legislation namely, rules, regulations- bye-laws etc is much wider. Validity thereof can also be challenged on the ground that same are inconsistent with the provisions of Statute under which they have been framed or that mandatory procedure prescribed in statute for making delegated legislation has not been followed.

19. Effect of declaring any legislation as ultra vires or bad for any other reason is also different and depends upon various factors. An amendment to constitutional provision if declares ultra vires as it alters any element of basic feature of Constitution, it is considered to be a patent want jurisdiction on the part of Parliament which would have no effect on the law earlier to such legislation and, therefore, subsequent legislation if struck down would result in revival of earlier provision as if the earlier provision was never altered or repealed or substituted etc. A Constitution Bench recently has expressed this view in Supreme Court Advocates-on-Record Association and another Vs. Union of India, 2016(5) SCC 1. In the majority judgment rendered by Hon'ble Jagdish Singh Khehar, J. (for Himself and on behalf of Justice Madan B. Lokur, Justice Kurian Joseph and Justice Adarsh Kumar Goel), Court considered this aspect in paras 408 to 415 holding, when amended provision postulating a different provision is set aside, the original process of selection and appointment under unamended provision would revive.

20. When a principal legislation or delegated legislation is struck down being violative of fundamental rights or want of legislation, it is void ab initio. Sometimes when legislation is in the teeth of prohibition under Constitution, the Courts have evolved doctrine of "still-born". In N.P.V. Sundara Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh AIR 1958 SC 468 doctrine of "still-born" piece of legislation was considered and it was held:

"If a law is on a field not within the domain of the legislature, it is absolutely null and void, and a subsequent cession of that field to the legislature will not have the effect to breathing life into what was a still-born piece of legislation and a fresh legislation on the subject would be requisite. But if the law is in respect of a matter assigned to the legislature but its provisions disregard constitutional prohibitions, though the law would be unenforceable by reason of those prohibitions, when once they are removed, the law will become effective without re-enactment." (emphasis added)

21. A slight different controversy arose in Saghir Ahmad Vs. The State of U.P. & Ors AIR 1954 SC 728. Therein U.P. State Transport Act, 1951 was promulgated enabling State Government to run Stage Carriage Service to the exclusion of others. Pursuant thereto State Government made a declaration extending aforesaid Act to a particular area and framed a scheme for operation of Stage Carriage Service on certain routes to the exclusion of others. Article 19(1)(g) conferred power upon a citizen to carry on business and there was no power under Constitution available to State to deny such fundamental right to a citizen by engaging itself to carry on any trade or business. An amendment was made vide Constitution (First) Amendment Act, 1951. Thereunder State became entitled to carry on any trade or business either by itself or through corporation owned or controlled by it to the exclusion of private citizens wholly or in part. State sought to protect its enactment authorizing itself to run Stage Carriage Service to exclusion of others on the basis of aforesaid amendment of Constitution. The question raised before Court was, whether Constitution (First) Amendment Act could be invoked to validate earlier legislation. Court held that U.P. State Transport Act, 1951 when enacted was unconstitutional, therefore, it was "still-born". It could not have been vitalized by subsequent amendment of Constitution removing constitutional objection and must be re-enacted. Hon'ble Mukherjea, J. speaking for Court, referred to Prof. Cooley in his work on "Constitutional Limitations" (Vol. I page 384) and said:

"a statute void for unconstitutionality is dead and cannot be vitalised by a subsequent amendment of the Constitution removing the constitutional objection but must be re-enacted".

22. Court not only quoted aforesaid passage from Prof. Cooley but also said that this is a sound law and, therefore, gave it a legal recognition binding upon all in this country.

23. This view was reiterated in Deep Chand Vs. The State of U.P. & Ors. AIR 1958 SC 648 where Court said that a plain reading of Article 13(2) indicates, without any reasonable doubt, that prohibition goes to the root of the matter and limits State's power to make law; the law made in spite of prohibition is a "still-born" law.

24. Again another Constitution bench in Mahendra Lal Jaini Vs. State of U.P. AIR 1963 SC 1019 reiterated the above view in para 22 of report. It says:

"...it must be held that unlike a law covered by Art. 13(1) which was valid when made, the law made in contravention of the prohibition contained in Art. 13(2) is a still-born law either wholly or partially depending upon the extent of the contravention. Such a law is dead from the beginning and there can be no question of its revival under the doctrine of eclipse."

25. This has been followed in Rakesh Vs. Dr. JT 2005 (12) SC 1.

26. In the present case power of State to make Rules under Act, 1959 was not doubted by Court in Anurag Bansal (supra) but for disregard of procedural provisions, imposition of advertisement tax by State Government by Rules, 2009 was held invalid. Thus Rules, 2009 were struck down since procedure to make Rule which was mandatory, not followed. To our mind it is not a case where doctrine of "still-born" would be attracted. Rules, 2009 have not been struck down for want of legislative competence but they have been held invalid for the reason that mandatory procedure prescribed in statute has not been followed and, therefore, here doctrine of "still-born" and consequences if such a law is made, would not apply but here is a case where a subordinate legislation has been found invalid for want of observance of certain mandatory procedure prescribed in statute. In these circumstances, it has to be examined whether subsequent delegated legislation when held invalid or struck down, would result in revival of earlier subordinate legislation which was already superseded by subsequent legislation.

27. In this regard we find that first decision available to us is Firm A. T. B. Mehtab Majid and Co. v. State of Madras AIR 1963 SC 928. Therein validity of Rule 16 of Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules, 1939 as substituted w.e.f. 01.04.1955 was challenged. Court held that it is discriminatory and also contravenes Article 304-A of the Constitution. An argument was raised that if amended rules is invalid old Rule 16 would revive. The Court in para 24 of the judgment said:

"24. It has been urged for the respondent that if the impugned rule be held to be invalid, old r. 16 gets revived and that the tax assessed on the petitioner will be good. We do not agree. Once the old rule has been substituted by the new rule, it ceases to exist and it does not automatically get revived when the new rule is held to be invalid."

28. Again a similar issued came up for consideration before another Constitution Bench in B.N. Tiwari Vs. Union of India and others AIR 1965 SC 1430. Therein Ministry of Home Affairs made a provision vide resolution dated 13.09.1950 providing reservation for Scheduled Caste and Schedule Tribe at 12.5 percent and 5 percent respectively. There was no provision for carry forward. It was added by a supplementary instruction issued in 1952 providing that if suitable reserved category candidates are not available in one recruitment the unfilled vacancies shall be carried forward in next recruitment but still some vacancies remained unfilled they would be treated unreserved. This carry forward rule was amended by Government in 1955 to further carry forward unfilled vacancies without any provision for lapse, i.e., for treating vacancies unreserved. Result of substitution of provision by 1955 Rule was that paras 5(3) and 5(4) of 1952 Rule cease to exist. This rule of carry forward made in 1955 was challenged in T. Devadasan vs The Union Of India and another, AIR 1964 SC 179 on the ground that it is unconstitutional. The Court struck down carry forward rule of 1955.

29. In B.N. Tiwari (supra) petitioner argued before Supreme Court that carry forward rule of 1955 was struck down and 1952 rule having already ceased to exist by substitution of 1955 Rule, hence there was no carry forward rule either of 1952 or 1955. In alternative it was argued that if 1952 Carry Forward Rule still continue, that is also arbitrary. Court considered three questions as under:

(1) Whether Carry Forward Rule of 1952 can still be said to exist?

(2) Whether Carry Forward Rule of 1952 if it is still exist is bad for the same reason as the Carry Forward Rule of 1955 in the light of judgment in T. Devadasan (supra).

(3) Whether petitioner-B.N. Tiwari would be entitled to appointment even if Carry Forward Rule, 1952 does not exist?

30. Answering first question, Court said that in T. Devadasan (supra) Carry Forward Rule as modified in 1955 was declared invalid. Court did not say that it will result in revival of 1952 Rule. Further declaration of 1955 Rule as invalid would not mean that the Court said that 1952 Rule must be deemed to exist or revived because of declaration of 1955 Rule as invalid. Court held:

"The carry forward rule of 1952 was substituted by the carry forward rule of 1955. On this substitution the carry forward rule of 1952 clearly, Ceased 'to exist because its place was taken by the carry forward rule of 1955. Thus by promulgating the new carry forward rule in 1955, the government of India itself cancelled the carry forward rule, of 1952. When therefore this Court struck down the carry forward rule as modified in 1955 that did not mean that the carry forward rule of 1952 which had already ceased to exist, because the Government of India itself cancelled it and had substituted a modified rule in 1955 in its place, could revive. We are therefore of opinion that after the judgment of this Court in Devadasan's case there is no carry forward rule at all, for the carry forward rule of 1955 was struck down by this Court while the carry forward rule of 1952 had ceased to exist when the Government of India substituted the carry forward rule of 1955 in its place." (emphasis added)

31. It also held that in view of above answer to first question the second question, whether 1952 Rule is also invalid, need not to answer. We are not concerned with third question and the issue raised in these writ petitions, in our view, is covered by the answer given by Supreme Court to first question in B.N. Tiwari (supra).

32. Again a similar question arose in Indian Express Newspaper (Bom) Pvt. Ltd. and others vs. Union of India and others, 1986(159) ITC 856. Government of India had issued a notification dated 15.07.1977 under which total exemption was granted. It was substituted by notification dated 01.03.1981. Subsequent notification dated 01.03.1981 was challenged and struck down. The question arose, whether after striking down notification dated 01.03.1981, earlier notification would revive. Court held that on striking down of subsequent notification repealed notification would not revive.

33. The judgments in Firm A. T. B. Mehtab Majid (supra) and B.N. Tiwari (supra) came up for consideration before a three Judge Bench in West Uttar Pradesh Sugar Mills Association and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2002(2) SCC 645. Therein Rule 49 of U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Rules, 1954 was substituted by U.P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) (Amendment) Rules, 1992. Rule 1(2) of notification dated 24.04.1992 which caused said amendment clearly provides that amendment Rules, 1992 shall remain in force w.e.f. 01.10.1991 to 30.09.1992. Therefore, effect of amendment of rules was only one year. However, Rule 2 whereby amendment was caused, said that for the rules setup in Column 1, rules set out in Column 2 shall be substituted. After 30.09.1992, Cane Commissioner issued a circular that now old Rule 49 has revived. This was challenged and argument was raised that old Rule 49 having already been substituted without, any reservation, it would not revive after amended rule also become inoperative after 30.09.1992. Court considered the question, once old rule has been deleted, repealed or substituted by new rule, whether old rule would revive when substituted rule cease to be operative and it was answered in negative. However, in para 15 of judgment, Court said, that it would have been a different case where a subsequent law which modified earlier law held to be void. In such case, earlier law shall be deemed to have never been modified or repealed and, therefore, continued to be in force. Where it is found that legislature lacked competence to enact a law, still amends existing law and subsequently it is found that legislature or the authority was denuded with the power to amend the existing law, in such a case old law would revive and continue but where the rule framing authority has substituted a provision without showing intention to keep the old provision alive, position would be different.

34. In Supreme Court Advocates-on-Record Association (supra) also this issue has been considered after referring to earlier authorities on the subject, Court held, when an amendment is brought or a new set of rule is brought by substitution or supersession by legislature the annulment or concealment by legislature itself and if that be so earlier provision would not revive. In para 412.4 after referring judgments in Koteswar Vittal Kamath Vs. K. Rangappa Baliga and Co., 1969(1) SCC 255, Court observed, that, it is true that if amendment to an erstwhile legislative enactment, envisages substitution of an existing provision, the process of substitution must be deemed to comprise of two steps. The first step would envisage that old rule would cease to exist and second step would envisage that new rule had taken place of the old rule. As such, even if new rule was to be declared invalid, the first step depicted above, namely, that old rule has ceased to exist, would remain unaltered. Court however observed that said position will not apply in the matter considered by Constitution Bench in Supreme Court Advocates-on-Record Association (supra) for the reason that impugned Constitutional amendment was promulgated independently of original provisions of Constitution.

35. In para 412.7 of judgment, Court referred to its decision in Indian Express Newspaper (Bom) Pvt. Ltd. (supra) and said that legal effect of an earlier law, later law enacted in its place was declared invalid would not depend merely upon the use of words like "substitution" or "supersession". It would depend on totality of circumstances and context upon which provision was couched. Court also referred to the judgment in Bhagat Ram Sharma vs. Union of India, 1988 (Suppl.) SCC 30 to observe that an enactment purported to be an amendment has the same qualitative effect as the repeal of existing statutory provision and said that there is no quarrel on the said proposition. It also said that it is not considering the question of effect of an amendment or a repeal but was faced with the case dealing with the effect of striking down of Constitutional amendment and legislative enactment through a process of judicial review.

36. In India Tobacco Co. Ltd. vs. CTO, 1975(3) SCC 512 the effect and meaning of repeal was considered. Court said that repeal connotes abrogation or obliteration of one statute by another from statute book completely as if it had never been passed. When an Act is repealed, it must be considered (except as to transactions past and closed) as if it had never existed. It said:

"Repeal is not a matter of mere form but one of substance, depending upon the intention of the Legislature. If the intention, indicated expressly or by necessary implication in the subsequent statute, was to abrogate or wipe off the former enactment, wholly or in part, then it would be a case of total or pro tanto repeal. If the intention was merely to modify the former enactment by engrafting an exception or granting an exemption, or by super-adding conditions, or by restricting, intercepting or suspending its operation, such modification would not amount to a repeal."

37. Court further observed that broadly speaking, principal object of a repealing and amending Act is to excise dead matter, prune off superfluities and reject clearly inconsistent enactments.

38. If we examine the matter in present cases in the light of aforesaid discussion, we find that Rules, 2009 made two declarations. One is an independent declaration that existing rules and orders are superseded and second is an enactment of a set of rules by Rule framing authority.

39. Rules, 2009 dealing with liability and procedure of imposition of advertisement tax have been struck down for the reason that tax imposed by State Government straightway without exercising procedure provided in the Act. Rules, 2009 were framed by Government in contravention of statutory provision contained in Act. In paras 84 and 86 of judgment in Anurag Bansal (supra) Full Bench observed as under:

"84. ...the tax imposed by the State Government straightaway without exercising the power conferred by the Act i.e. issuance of direction by notification in gazette to impose tax seems to be an act of exceeding of jurisdiction. Impugned Rules have been framed by the Government in contravention of statutory provisions (supra) contained in the Act.

86. ...government seems to have exceeded its jurisdiction while framing the rules straightway without following the procedure provided by the Act."

40. Simultaneously in para 82 of judgment, Court further said:

"82. State Government has got power under Section 205 of the Act to abolish or modify the tax imposed by the Corporation. It does not mean that the State Government lacks power with regard to tax matter. Power conferred on the State Government is general power which may be exercised without affecting the statutory power provided to Corporation to impose and regulate tax within its jurisdiction. The government may, by notification, under Section 206 of the Act by general or special order published in official gazette, required corporations to impose any tax mentioned in Sub-section (2) of Section 172 of the Act, not already imposed at a specified rate. The Government may also increase, modify or vary the rate of tax in case the Corporation fails to carry out the order."

41. In para 83, Court said:

"83- The Government may pass suitable order imposing, increasing, modifying, or varying the tax thereupon and in such event the order of the State Government shall operate as if it had been a resolution duly passed by the Corporation."

42. Thus the power of State Government to abolish or modify a tax imposed by Government has validly been recognized but advertisement tax imposed by Rules, 2009 by State Government has been struck down for not complying with Section 206 of Act, 1959 and also without following the provisions of Sections 199 and 203 of Act, 1959. Thus aforesaid judgment in Anurag Bansal (supra) has nowhere declared that Rules, 2009, in so far as in initial part of notification, supersedes existing rules and orders, lacks authority and that part will not be operated. Legislative intention is clear that existing rules and orders in respect of advertisement tax were superseded. New set of Rules, which have been struck down, would not render revival of supersession already done by Rule framing authority and that be so in our view Rules, 2005 shall not revive.

43. Sri Rahul Sahai, learned counsel appearing for respondent-Nagar Nigam, when confronted with aforesaid authorities, could not place any authority before us so as to pursue to take a different view in the matter.

44. The authorities, therefore, committed a manifest error in proceeding to demand advertisement tax under Rules, 2005 on the assumption that after judgment in Anurag Bansal (supra) striking down Rules, 2009, earlier Rules, 2005 would stand revive. This is neither legally permissible nor otherwise valid.

45. In view of above, all these writ petitions are allowed. The orders and demand notices impugned in all these writ petitions are hereby quashed. It is held that respondents shall not be entitled to realize any amount under orders impugned in this writ petition, which are quashed by this judgment. If any, amount has been deposited by petitioners pursuant to impugned orders or realized by respondents by coercive method or otherwise, same shall be refunded to petitioners without any further delay.

46. However, we make it clear that this judgment shall not preclude Competent Rule making authority from promulgating new set of rules in accordance with law.

47. No costs.

Counsel for Petitioner:

B.C.Rai

Counsel for Respondents:

S.S.C.,A.S.G.I.,K.C. Sinha, R.C.Shukla, Radha Mohan Pandey

The present petition has been filed challenging the validity of Rule 8(3) of Central Excise Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2002') being ultra vires of Article 14 of Constitution of India and Section 11AB of Central Excise Act, 1944 and also on the ground that same is beyond Rule making power under Section 3 of Act, 1944.

Petitioner is a company registered under Companies Act, 1956 and is engaged in manufacturing and sale of paper which is an excisable article, hence, petitioner is registered with Excise Department under the provisions of Act, 1944. Petitioner paid excise duty for the period October, 2002 to February, 2005. However, respondent-2 vide letter dated 9.12.2004 informed petitioner that during scrutiny of monthly returns submitted by petitioner since February, 2005 there appears to be certain discrepancies showing that excise duty was deposited beyond due date during February, 2004 to November, 2004. Consequently, petitioner was directed to produce duty paying documents for the months of March, 2004 to November, 2004, or if, amount was not deposited within due date, to pay interest at the rate of Rs.1,000/- per day.

It is contended by counsel for petitioner that interest has been calculated as per Rule 8(3) of Rules, 2002 which provides interest to be computed at the rate of 2% per month or Rs.1,000/- per day whichever is higher. Charging of interest at the rate of Rs.1,000/- per day is wholly illegal, inasmuch as it raises the rate of interest beyond maximum rate permissible under Section 11AB of Act, 1944. Therefore, same is beyond delegated legislative authority i.e. rule framing authority and is ultra vires of Section 11AB.

Court observed that a bare reading of Section 11AB shows that rate of interest, if any, payable under Section 11AB would be such as prescribed in two Notification published in Gazette. For that purpose there is neither any justification nor occasion to refer any Rule including Rule 8. When statute require specifically that rate of interest shall be fixed by Central Government at such rate as notified in official gazette by way of Notification, such rate shall prevail. Aforesaid Notification dated 12th September, 2003 partakes nature of "statutory instrument" issued under Section 11AB, since that is the only way prescribed for fixing rate of interest in respect of cases covered by Section 11AB. Any general provision will not cover this situation. Hence, demand of interest at a rate, other than that prescribed in the Notification dated 12th September, 2003, by taking recourse of Rule 8(3) would be illegal and impermissible.

It is well settled, when law requires something to be done in a particular manner, things have to be done in that manner alone and not otherwise. This principle was recognized in Nazir Ahmad Vs. King- Emperor AIR 1936 PC 253.

Writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Gopal Verma and Sri B.C. Rai, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Ashok Mehta, Additional Solicitor General of India assisted by Sri Praveen Kumar for respondents.

2. Petitioner has challenged validity of Rule 8(3) of Central Excise Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2002') being ultra vires of Article 14 of Constitution of India and Section 11AB of Central Excise Act, 1944 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1944') and also on the ground that same is beyond Rule making power under Section 3 of Act, 1944. It has also prayed for a writ of certiorari quashing order dated 6.4.2005 (Annexure No.2 to the writ petition), whereby a demand of total sum of Rs.9,48,010/- has been raised by respondent-2 being interest on delayed payment of excise duty, by petitioner.

3. The facts in brief giving rise to present dispute are in a very narrow compass and stated as under.

4. Petitioner is a company registered under Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1956') and has its registered office at Barapech Sikohabad, District Firozabad. It is engaged in manufacture and sale of paper which is an excisable article, hence, petitioner is registered with Excise Department under the provisions of Act, 1944. Petitioner paid excise duty for the period October, 2002 to February, 2005. However, respondent-2 vide letter dated 9.12.2004 informed petitioner that during scrutiny of monthly returns submitted by petitioner since February, 2005 there appears to be certain discrepancies showing that excise duty was deposited beyond due date during February, 2004 to November, 2004. Consequently, petitioner was directed to produce duty paying documents for the months of March, 2004 to November, 2004, or if, amount was not deposited within due date, to pay interest at the rate of Rs.1,000/- per day. Petitioner produced relevant documents before respondent-2 but it issued order dated 6th April, 2005, impugned in this writ petition, demanding interest on duty paid by petitioner for the period October, 2002 to February, 2005 stating that duty was paid after due date and for period of delay petitioner was liable to pay interest under Rule 8(3) of Rules, 2002.

5. It is contended by counsel for petitioner that interest has been calculated as per Rule 8(3) of Rules, 2002 which provides interest to be computed at the rate of 2% per month or Rs.1,000/- per day whichever is higher. Charging of interest at the rate of Rs.1,000/- per day is wholly illegal, inasmuch as it raises the rate of interest beyond maximum rate permissible under Section 11AB of Act, 1944. Therefore, same is beyond delegated legislative authority i.e. rule framing authority and is ultra vires of Section 11AB.

6. It is further submitted that before Finance Act, 1995 there was no provision authorizing respondents to charge interest on delayed payment. Section 11AA was inserted by Finance Act, 1995 w.e.f. 26.5.1995 and Section 11AB was inserted by Finance Act, 1996 w.e.f. 28.9.1996. Both these provisions provide that on delayed payment of duty, interest shall be chargeable at a rate not below 10% and not exceeding 36% but such rate shall be fixed by Central Government by Notification in official gazette. It is said that Central Government vide Notification No. 66/2000 - CE(NT), dated 12.9.2003, fixed rate of interest at 13% per annum in exercise of power under Section 11AB. Rule 8(3) of Rules, 2002 however provides for a different rate of interest i.e. 2% per month or Rs.1,000/- per day, whichever is higher, therefore, it is inconsistent with Section 11AB read with Notification dated 12.9.2003, hence ultra vires and liable to be struck down. It is also said that Rule 8 (3) is in conflict with Section 11AA and 11AB and hence, it is ultra vires.

7. Sri B.C. Rai urged that interest has always been compensatory in nature and fixation of rate of interest under Rule 8(3) elevates said Rule to the status of a penal and confiscatory provision, rendering the same arbitrary, unreasonable and irrational. Rate of interest fixed under Rule 8(3) is inequitable, unfair, unreasonable and confiscatory, inasmuch as rate of interest on deposits in bank was currently between 4% to 6% while rate of interest on borrowings from bank is between 7.5% to 12% but under Rule 8(3), rate of interest provided is 2% per month which comes to more than 24% per annum or Rs.1,000/- per day, whichever is higher, which is extremely excessive and hence in-violation of Article 14 of Constitution of India, since, it loses its nature of being compensatory.

8. Sri B.C. Rai urged that Section 37 of Act, 1944 confers power upon Central Government to frame Rules to give effect to the provisions of Act, 1944 but Rule 8(3) is beyond Rule making power. It is said, when Central Government itself has issued a Notification fixing a lower rate of interest, authorities cannot take recourse to Rule 8(3) and demand a higher rate of interest. It is also pointed out that Rule 8(3) has further been amended by Second Amendment of 2005. Now the amendment made by Notification dated 31.3.2005, Rule 8(3) provides that rate of interest would be such, as specified by Central Government vide Notification under Section 11AB of Act, 1944 and that being so, it must be taken that intention of legislature in Rule 8(3) was same for earlier period also.

9. It is lastly contended that in respect to some period for which interest has been demanded, amount of duty was paid by petitioner well within due date by way of submitting a bank cheque which was encashed by Bank when deposited by respondents for collection, but respondent-2 has charged interest by treating date of payment of duty on the date when respondents got the amount encashed from Bank and not on the date of deposit of cheque which was deposited / submitted in time. In this regard our attention is drawn to Rules 8(1) of Rule 2002 and it is urged that, duty if deposited by cheque, is realized and encashed by Bank, when presented by Department, payment of duty shall be deemed to be on the date on which cheque was submitted by assessee.

10. Sri Ashok Mehta, Additional Solicitor General appearing for respondents contended that Rule 8 is part of subordinate legislation and Central Government in exercise of power under Section 37 of Act, 1944 and in order to give effect to the provisions of the Act has made the said Rule. Section 11AA and 11AB provide limit of minimum and maximum rate of interest, being 10% and 36% respectively. Rule 8(3) specifies rate of interest as 2% per month and Rs.1,000/- per day which apparently is not beyond maximum rate permitted under Section 11AB, hence it cannot be said that Rule 8(3) is invalid. It is further submitted that Section 11AB itself provides rate of interest upto 36% and validity of principal legislation is not under challenge, subordinate legislation providing rate of interest, within the limits prescribed under Section 11AB, cannot be said to be arbitrary, unreasonable and confiscatory. Lastly, it is contended that Notification dated 13.5.2002 is only a non statutory executive order and when exercising Rule framing power, a Rule has been framed, that will prevail over executive order, and therefore, petitioner is liable to pay interest as per Rule 8(3). With respect to the deemed date of deposit of duty, with reference to Rule 8(1), he fairly stated, when cheque is presented in Bank and amount of cheque is realized and credited to the account of Department, the date of presentation of cheque in designated bank shall be deemed to be date of payment and delay, if any, occurred in transferring amount by Bank to Department's account would not attract liability of interest. If respondent-2 has raised demand contrary to Rule 8(1), same shall be rectified if petitioner approaches respondent-2 and point out such a demand of interest in individual case(s).

11. We have heard counsel for parties at length and perused record.

12. Sections 11AA and Section 11AB which provide for interest on delayed payment of duty, read as follows :

"11AA. Interest on delayed payment of duty.- Subject to the provisions contained in section 11AB, where a person chargeable with duty determined under sub-section (2) of section 11A, fails to pay such duty within three months from the date of determination, he shall pay, in addition to the duty, interest at such rate not below ten per cent and not exceeding thirty-six per cent per annum, as is for the time being fixed by the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette on such duty from the date immediately after the expiry of the said period of three months till the date of payment of such duty:

Provided that where a person chargeable with duty determined under sub-section (2) of section 11A before the date on which the Finance Bill, 1995 receives the assent of the President, fails to pay such duty within three months from such date, then, such person shall be liable to pay interest under this section from the date immediately after three months from such date, till the date of payment of such duty.

Explanation 1.--Where the duty determined to be payable is reduced by the Commissioner (Appeals), Appellate Tribunal 6[, National Tax Tribunal] or, as the case may be, the Court, the date of such determination shall be the date on which an amount of duty is first determined to be pay-able.

Explanation 2.--Where the duty determined to be payable is in-creased or further increased by the Commissioner (Appeals), Appellate Tribunal, of National Tax Tribunal or, as the case may be, the Court, the date of such determination shall be,--

(a) for the amount of duty first determined to be payable, the date on which the duty is so determined;

(b) for the amount of increased duty, the date of order by which the increased amount of duty is first determined to be payable;

(c) for the amount of further increase of duty, the date of order on which the duty is so further increased. "

Section 11AB. Interest on delayed payment of duty. -(1) Where any duty of excise has not been levied or paid or has been short-levied or short-paid or erroneously refunded, the person who is liable to pay duty as determined under sub-section (2), or has paid the duty under sub-section 2B, of section 11A, shall, in addition to the duty, be liable to pay interest at such rate not below ten per cent and not exceeding thirty-six per cent. per annum, as is for the time being fixed by the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, from the first date of the month succeeding the month in which the duty ought to have been paid under this Act, or from the date of such erroneous refund, as the case may be, but for the provisions contained in sub-section (2), or sub-section (2B), of section 11A till the date of payment of such duty:

Provided that in such cases where the duty becomes payable consequent to issue of an order, instruction or direction by the Board under section 37B, and such amount of duty payable is voluntarily paid in full, without reserving any right to appeal against such payment at any subsequent stage, within forty-five days from the date of issue of such order, instruction or direction as the case may be, no interest shall be payable and in other cases the interest shall be payable on the whole of the amount, including the amount already paid.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply to cases where the duty had become payable or ought to have been paid before the date on which the Finance Bill, 2001 receives the assent of the President.

Explanation 1.-- Where the duty determined to be payable is reduced by the Commissioner (Appeals), the Appellate Tribunal, National Tax Tribunal] or, as the case may be, the Court, the interest shall be payable on such reduced amount of duty.

Explanation 2.--Where the duty determined to be payable is increased or further increased by the Commissioner (Appeals), the Appellate Tribunal 5[, National Tax Tribunal] or, as the case may be, the Court, the interest shall be payable on such increased or further increased amount of duty.

13. Section 11AA and 11AB though look similar provisions but the actual difference is that Section 11AA takes within its ambit excise duty determined under Section 11A(2) while section 11AB has within its ambit liability of duty not complied with and covered by Section 11A(1). Irrespective of duty determined under sub-section (2) or paid under sub-section (2B) of Section 11A, rate of minimum interest as well as maximum, prescribed in both the provisions, is same i.e. 10% and 36% per annum. Both sections provide that actual rate of interest which shall be applicable, would be such, as fixed by Central Government by Notification in Official gazette.

14. It is admitted that so far as petitioner is concerned, it is covered by rate of interest prescribed under Section 11AB. Sri Ashok Mehta, counsel for respondent also did not dispute that in exercise of powers conferred by Section 11AB of Act, 1944 and in supersession of earlier Notification, Central Government issued a notification dated 12.9.2003 by publishing in Gazette, and fixed rate of interest at 13% per annum for the purpose of Section 11AB. Copy of aforesaid Notification dated 12.9.2003 is on record as Annexure -6 to writ petition and reads as under : -

"In exercise of the powers conferred by section 11AB of the Central Excise Act, 1944 (1 of 1944) and in supersession of the notification of the Government of India in the Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) No.19/2002- Central Excise (N.T.), dated the 13th May, 2002 [GSR 355(E), dated the 13th May, 2002] , except as respect things done or omitted to be done before such supersession, the Central Government hereby fixes the rate of interest at thirteen percent per annum for the purpose of the said notification.

[Notification No.66/2003-C.E.(N.T.), dated 12.9.2003]"

15. In our view, a bare reading of Section 11AB shows that rate of interest, if any, payable under Section 11AB would be such as prescribed in two Notification published in Gazette. For that purpose there is neither any justification nor occasion to refer any Rule including Rule 8. When statute require specifically that rate of interest shall be fixed by Central Government at such rate as notified in official gazette by way of Notification, such rate shall prevail. Aforesaid Notification dated 12th September, 2003 partakes nature of "statutory instrument" issued under Section 11AB, since that is the only way prescribed for fixing rate of interest in respect of cases covered by Section 11AB. Any general provision will not cover this situation. Hence, demand of interest at a rate, other than that prescribed in the Notification dated 12th September, 2003, by taking recourse of Rule 8(3) would be illegal and impermissible.

16. It is well settled, when law requires something to be done in a particular manner, things have to be done in that manner alone and not otherwise. This principle was recognized in Nazir

Ahmad Vs. King-Emperor AIR 1936 PC 253 and, thereafter it has been reiterated and followed consistently by Apex Court in a catena of judgements, which we do not propose to refer all but would like to refer a few recent one.

17. In Dhananjaya Reddy Vs. State of Karnataka 2001 (4) SCC 9 in para 23 of the judgment the Court held :

"It is a settled principle of law that where a power is given to do a certain thing in a certain manner, the thing must be done in that way or not at all."

18. In Commissioner of Income Tax, Mumbai Vs. Anjum M.H. Ghaswala 2002 (1) SCC 633, it was held :

"It is a normal rule of construction that when a statute vests certain power in an authority to be exercised in a particular manner then the said authority has to exercise it only in the manner provided in the statute itself."

19. The judgments in Anjum M.H. Ghaswala (supra) and Dhananjaya Reddy (supra) laying down the aforesaid principle have been followed in Captain Sube Singh & others Vs. Lt. Governor of Delhi & others 2004 (6) SCC 440.

20. In Competent Authority Vs. Barangore Jute Factory & others 2005 (13) SCC 477, it was held :

"It is settled law that where a statute requires a particular act to be done in a particular manner, the act has to be done in that manner alone. Every word of the statute has to be given its due meaning."

21. In State of Jharkhand & others Vs. Ambay Cements & another 2005 (1) SCC 368 in para 26 of the judgment, the Court held:

"It is the cardinal rule of interpretation that where a statute provides that a particular thing should be done, it should be done in the manner prescribed and not in any other way."

22. In effect a similar question was considered by Division Bench of this Court [in which I was also a member with Hon'ble S.R. Alam, J., (as His Lordship then was)] in Daya Shankar Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008(2) ESC 1220 and this Court has observed:

"A modification, amendment etc., therefore, is permissible by exercising the power in the like manner and subject to like sanction and conditions in which the main provision was made initially. Since, Staff Regulations were framed admittedly with the previous sanction of the State Government and by publication in the official Gazette, same can be amended only following the same procedure and not otherwise. Therefore, the proposal/resolution passed by the Board of Directors, UPSWC by no stretch of imagination can be said to have the effect of either amending Regulation 12 of Staff Regulations or to bind UPSWC and its employees to be governed by such resolution/proposal which are inconsistent with the existing provisions contained in Staff Regulations."

23. We are also fortified in taking above view by referring to Section 21 of General Clauses Act, 1897, which reads as under : -

"21 Power to issue, to include power to add to, amend, vary or rescind notifications, orders, rules or bye-laws.-Where, by any Central Act or Regulations a power to issue notifications, orders, rules or bye-laws is conferred, then that power includes a power, exercisable in the like manner and subject to the like sanction and conditions (if any), to add to, amend, vary or rescind any notifications, orders, rules or bye-laws so issued."

(emphasis added)

24. Power to prescribe rate of interest, is conferred by Section 11AB, to be fixed by Central Government by notification in official gazette and such a Notification was actually issued on 12th September, 2003. Same could have been altered or modified or changed in same manner and not by referring to a general rule.

25. In that view of the matter, we find that there is no necessity to look into validity of Rule 8(3) of Rule, 2002 but since, matter has been argued on this aspect also in the alternative, we proceed to examine whether rate of interest specified in Rule 8(3) if applied to a case covered by Section 11AB, it would be inconsistent with Section 11AB so as to render it ultra vires.

26. Rate of interest under Rule 8(3) is 2% per month or Rs.1,000/- per day whichever is higher. Rule 8(3) as applicable before 1.4.2005 read as under : -

" if the assessee fails to pay the amount of duty by the due date, he shall be liable to pay the outstanding amount along with an interest at the rate of two per cent per month or rupees one thousand per day, whichever is higher, for the period starting with the first day after due date till the date of actual payment of the outstanding amount ;

*Provided that the total amount of interest payable in terms of this sub-rule shall not exceed the amount of duty which has not been paid by due date;

Provided further that till such time the amount of duty outstanding and the interest payable thereon are not paid, it shall be deemed that the goods in question in respect of which the duty and interest are outstanding, have been cleared without payment of duty, and where such duty and interest are not paid within a period of one month from the due date, the consequences and the penalties as provide din these rules shall follow."

27. It may also be noticed that Rule 8(1) and 8(3) of Rules, 2002 were substituted w.e.f. 1.4.2003 by amendment Notification dated 1.3.2003.

28. 2% per month will make rate of interest more than 24% per annum , but rate of Rs.1000/- per day can go to the extent of even more than 100% per annum. For example if the amount of default is Rs.1,00,000/- and there is delay of 365 days, then amount of interest would come to Rs.3,65,000/- but by applying proviso to Rule 8(3), it would be confined to Rs.1,00,000/- since it cannot exceed the amount of duty which has not been paid by due date. Still rate of interest would be 100%. This is obviously in the teeth of Section 11AB where rate of interest cannot be more than 36% per annum. Rate of interest at Rs.1,000/- per day, therefore in several cases may result in exceeding 36% per annum. Such higher rate beyond 36% is not permitted by Section 11AB, hence to that extent Rule 8(3), ex-facie is ultra vires of Section 11AB of Act, 1944.

29. There is another aspect of matter. Legislature vide Section 11AB required that rate of interest must be on per annum basis and not in any other manner, while Rule 8(3) provides rate of interest on per month or per day basis which is also not consistent with Section 11AB. It is for this reason, it appears to us, Rule 8(3) of Rule 2002, as framed w.e.f 1.3.2003 was not found in conformity with Section 11AB and this is fortified from the fact that Central Government issued Notification in official gazette as contemplated in Section 11AB, specifically, to provide rate of interest at 13% per annum. If recourse is taken to Rule 8(3) for the purpose of levying interest as already said, it would be ultra vires of Section 11AB.

30. We are also informed that several High Courts have already declared Rule 8(3), ultra vires of Section 11AB and in this regard we may refer to Rajasthan High Court judgment in Lucid Colloids Limited Vs. Union of India, 2006(200) 377, Gujrat High Court in K.C. & Sons Appliances Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Union of India, 2014 (306) E.L.T. 249 and Madras High Court in V.T. Dyers and Screen Printers Vs. Union of India, 2015 (322) E.L.T. 705.

31. Probably realising this anomaly, and in order to bring Rule 8(3) in conformity with Section 11AB, Government also amended, by substitution Rule 8(3), vide Notification dated 31st March, 2005 and now it reads as under :

" If the assessee fails to pay the amount of duty by due date, he shall be liable to pay the outstanding amount along with interest at the rate specified by the Central Government vide notification under Section 11AB of the Act on the outstanding amount, for the period starting with the first day after due date till the date of actual payment of the outstanding amount. "

32. We find that amended Rule now brings into application, the Notification dated 12.9.2003 issued by Government by publishing in official gazette, prescribe rate of interest, consistent to Section 11AB.

33. With respect to another part, as to how delay in payment shall be computed, counsel for parties did not dispute that Rule 8(1)(Explanation-B) would be applicable and date of payment of duty shall be deemed to be the date on which cheque was received by Department provided cheque as and when presented to Bank by Department, got encashed. Rule 8(1) (Explanation-b) is very clear and explicit, reads as under :

" if the assessee deposits the duty by cheque, the date of presentation of the cheque in the bank designated by the Central Board of Excise and Customs for this purpose shall be deemed to be the date on which the duty has been paid subject to realization of that cheque."

34. Rule 8(1) (Explanation-b) makes it very clear that it is not the date on which duty is credited to the account of Department which shall be treated to be date of payment but it is the date on which cheque was received, shall be treated to be date of payment, provided cheque when presented in Bank, amount of cheque is realized. This Rule takes care of delay, if any, on the part of Department in not presenting cheque for encashment to Bank within reasonable time and for its own delay not to make Assessee, suffer. Rule Framing Authority recognizing the fact that one should not be allowed to take advantage of its own wrong, has made this aspect very clear but it appears that Respondent-Competent Authority, in the case in hand, has completely ignored or omitted to consider aforesaid provision. The provision being very clear, obviously we cannot appreciate such lapse particularly when a clear provision has been made by Rule Framing Authority and it is the responsibility of officers of Department that whenever they make assessment or raise demand of duty upon Assessee, they must observe and comply each and every provision of statute, strictly. In the present case since date of receipt of cheque by Department was ignored, and the date on which amount was realized by respondent, after presenting cheque in Bank, has been taken to be the date of payment, same cannot be sustained in view of Rule 8(1)(Explanation-b).

35. In the result, writ petition succeeds and is allowed. Impugned demand is set aside. Respondents are directed to determine rate of interest, if any, payable by petitioner, in respect of alleged delayed payment of duty, for which it is liable to pay interest, in the light of discussion made above, and in accordance with Law under Section 11AB, by computing such interest as per Notification dated 12 September, 2003 so long as it is not substituted or amended by any other provision, and secondly; for determining, whether there is any delay or not, it shall look into the date of deposit of cheque by petitioner and apply Rule 8(1)(Explanation-b), strictly.

36. In the facts and circumstances of the case, we make cost easy.

Counsel for Petitioner:

Dhruv Agarwal, Dev Kant Pandey

Counsel for Respondents:

S.C.,A.N. Mahajan, B. Agrawal, D. Awasthi, G. Krishna, S. Chopra

The present petition has dispute relates to validity of orders passed by Income Tax Officer in purported exercise of powers under Section 201 (1) of Income Tax Act, 1961 demanding amount of tax deductible at source and interest under Section 201 (1A) in respect to Financial Year 2000-01 and Financial Year 2001-02.

Petitioner stated that in respect to assessment orders passed by Assessing Officer for disputed period of assessment in respect to PNBHFL and LICHFL, tax on the amount of interest received by both bodies was already paid by them and in support thereof copy of assessment orders of both aforesaid PNBHFL and LICHFL have been filed.

The rival submissions advanced by both the parties have given rise to following questions:-

- (i) Whether GDA was under an obligation to deduct TDS under Section 194A?
- (ii) Whether non-deduction of TDS was bona fide and for valid reasons?
- (iii) Whether ITO (TDS) had any power to demand amount of TDS from petitioner when principal assessee i.e. PNBHFL and LICHFL to whom amount of interest was paid, had themselves paid due tax on said amount of interest.?
- (iv) Whether ITO (TDS) was justified in imposing liability of interest under Section 201 (1A) of Act, 1961?

Court observed that the submission made by learned counsel has substance that any other interpretation would make such demand, a case of double taxation by Revenue in respect to same transaction. On income of interest received from GDA by PNBHFL and LICHFL, they have already paid due tax to department. If under impugned orders, again tax is allowed to be recovered from GDA, it will amount to realizing tax twice, which is not permissible in law.

In the present case, it is not disputed even by respondents that whatever tax was due on the amount of interest paid by GDA to PNBHFL and LICHFL, the same was paid by two recipient companies to Revenue. Final assessment orders in respect thereto were also passed. Income of GDA on its own was not taxable during relevant period by virtue of Section 10 (20A) though subsequently it has been omitted.

PNBHFL and LICHFL is concerned, there was some genuine doubt regarding their status. Both companies are public limited companies and subsidiaries of Punjab National Bank and Life Insurance Corporation of India. This caused some doubt whether TDS was deductible or not. However, for the purpose of adjudication of dispute in the present writ petition, court has not given any leverage or advantage to petitioner for alleged doubt and we have proceeded to decide the matter holding petitioner defaulter by violating requirement of deduction of TDS under Section 194A so as to attract action by concerned authority under Section 201 of Act, 1961.

Court held that impugned orders cannot be sustained. ITO (TDS) is required to find out whether there is any liability of interest on the amount of TDS deductible under Section 194A but not deducted and then from the date on which such amount was deductible and the date when actual tax was paid, to compute amount of interest payable by petitioner. In this regard, he will have to pass a fresh order. Impugned orders dated 5.4.2006 are set aside. ITO (TDS) shall pass fresh orders in the light of above directions.

Writ petitions are partly allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Dhruv Agarwal for petitioner, Sri Krishna Agrawal for respondent no.1, Sri Manish Goyal for respondent nos. 2 and 3, and Sri Shambhu Chopra for respondent No.5.

2. In both these writ petitions, dispute relates to validity of orders passed by Income Tax Officer (TDS and Survey) (hereinafter referred to as "ITO (TDS)") in purported exercise of powers under Section 201 (1) of Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1961") demanding amount of tax deductible at source (hereinafter referred to as "TDS") and interest under Section 201 (1A) in respect to Financial Year 2000-01 (Assessment Year 2001-02) and Financial Year 2001-02 (Assessment Year 2002-03).

3. The facts in brief giving rise to present dispute are as under.

4. Petitioner - Ghaziabad Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as "GDA") is a Statutory body constituted under provisions of U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1973") for the purpose of undertaking planned development within area of Ghaziabad and others as notified by State Government while constituting GDA.

5. Petitioner in order to provide housing accommodation etc. borrows funds from various institutions from time to time. It also pays interest on said borrowed sum. For disputed period, petitioner paid interest to "Punjab National Bank Housing Finance Limited" (hereinafter referred to as "PNBHFL") and "Life Insurance Corporation Housing Finance Limited" (hereinafter referred to as "LICHFL") as follows:-

Sl.No.	Financial Year/ Assess. Year	AMOUNT OF INTEREST PAID TO LICHFL	AMOUNT OF INTEREST PAID TO PNBHFL
1	2000-01/ 2001-02	Rs.8,13,07,509/-	Rs.2,05,11,232/-
2	2001-02/ 2002-03	Rs.6,64,22,867/-	Rs.1,67,00,556/-

6. GDA did not deduct any TDS on the aforesaid amount of interest paid to aforesaid two bodies. ITO (TDS) issued notice dated 13.2.2006 to GDA to show cause, why GDA be not treated as "assessee in default" and order under Section 201 (1) and (1A) of Act, 1961, be not passed. Petitioner vide reply dated 3.3.2006 informed ITO (TDS) that no TDS was deductible under Section 194A hence GDA cannot be held to be an "assessee in default" under Section 201 (1).

7. ITO (TDS) thereafter passed orders dated 5.4.2006 in respect to both assessment years demanding amount of TDS as tax, and, interest under Section 201 (1A) and also surcharge to the following effect:-

Sl. No.	Assess. Year	AMOUNT OF TDS	SURCHARGE	AMOUNT OF INTEREST	TOTAL
1	2001-02	Rs.2,03,63,740/-	Rs.1,71,80,520/-	Rs.26,47,281/-	Rs.4,01,91,541/-
2	2002-03	Rs.1,66,24,683/-	Rs.3,32,496/-	Rs.99,90,446/-	Rs.2,69,47,625/-

8. Petitioner has also stated that in respect to assessment orders passed by Assessing Officer for disputed period of assessment in respect to PNBHFL and LICHFL, tax on the amount of interest received by both bodies was already paid by them and in support thereof copy of assessment orders of both aforesaid PNBHFL and LICHFL have been filed.

9. Respondents have filed counter-affidavit stating that petitioner was under statutory obligation of deduction of TDS under Section 194A on the amount of interest paid to PNBHFL and LICHFL. Since no TDS was deducted and deposited with the department, therefore, competent authority was entitled to demand amount of TDS and interest thereon from GDA in exercise of powers under Section 201 of Act, 1961.

10. The rival submissions advanced by both the parties have given rise to following questions:-

- (i) Whether GDA was under an obligation to deduct TDS under Section 194A?
- (ii) Whether non-deduction of TDS was bona fide and for valid reasons?

(iii) Whether ITO (TDS) had any power to demand amount of TDS from petitioner when principal assessee i.e. PNBHFL and LICHFL to whom amount of interest was paid, had themselves paid due tax on said amount of interest.?

(iv) Whether ITO (TDS) was justified in imposing liability of interest under Section 201 (1A) of Act, 1961?

11. Section 194A(1) reads as under:-

"194A. (1) Any person, not being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, who is responsible for paying to a resident any income by way of interest other than income by way of interest on securities, shall, at the time of credit of such income to the account of the payee or at the time of payment thereof in cash or by issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode, whichever is earlier, deduct income-tax thereon at the rates in force.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, where any income by way of interest as aforesaid is credited to any account, whether called "Interest payable account" or "Suspense account" or by any other name, in the books of account of the person liable to pay such income, such crediting shall be deemed to be credit of such income to the account of the payee and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly." (emphasis added)

12. Sub-section (3) of Section 194A provides circumstances where TDS is not deductible, and, at the relevant time, it read as under:-

"(3) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply-

(i) where the amount of such income or, as the case may be, the aggregate of the amounts of such income credited or paid or likely to be credited or paid during the financial year by the person referred to in sub-section (1) to the account of, or to, the payee, does not exceed five thousand rupees:

Provided that in respect of the income credited or paid in respect of -

(a) time deposits with a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act); or

(b) time deposits with a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking;

(c) deposits with a public company which is formed and registered in India with the main object of carrying on the business of providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes and which is eligible for deduction under clause (viii) of sub-section (1) of section 36, the aforesaid amount shall be computed with reference to the income credited or paid by a branch of the banking company or the co-operative society or the public company, as the case may be;

(ii) []

(iii) to such income credited or paid to--

(a) any banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949), applies, or any co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking (including a co-operative land mortgage bank), or

(b) any financial corporation established by or under a Central, State or Provincial Act, or

(c) the Life Insurance Corporation of India established under the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 1956 (31 of 1956), or

(d) the Unit Trust of India established under the Unit Trust of India Act, 1963 (52 of 1963), or

(e) any company or co-operative society carrying on the business of insurance, or

(f) such other institution, association or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies which the Central Government may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, notify in this behalf in the Official Gazette;

(iv) to such income credited or paid by a firm to a partner of the firm;

(v) to such income credited or paid by a co-operative society to a member thereof or to any other co-operative society;

(vi) to such income credited or paid in respect of deposits under any scheme framed by the Central Government and notified by it in this behalf in the Official Gazette.

(vii) to such income credited or paid in respect of deposits (other than time deposits made on or after the 1st day of July, 1995) with a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act);

(viiia) to such income credited or paid in respect of-

(a) deposits with a primary agricultural credit society or a primary credit society or a co-operative land mortgage bank or a co-operative land development bank;

(b) deposits (other than time deposits made on or after the 1st day of July, 1995) with a co-operative society, other than a co-operative society or bank referred to in sub-clause (a), engaged in carrying on the business of banking;

(viii) to such income credited or paid by the Central Government under any provision of this Act or the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or the Estate Duty Act, 1953 (34 of 1953), or the Wealth-tax Act, 1957 (27 of 1957), or the Gift-tax Act, 1958 (18 of 1958), or the Super Profits Tax Act, 1963 (14 of 1963), or the Companies (Profits) Surtax Act, 1964 (7 of 1964), or the Interest-tax Act, 1974 (45 of 1974).

Explanation.-For the purposes of clauses (i),(vii) and (viiia), "time deposits" means deposits (excluding recurring deposits) repayable on the expiry of fixed periods."

13. Learned counsel for Revenue submitted that PNBHFL and LICHFL are neither banking companies to which Banking Regulations Act, 1949 (hereinafter referred to as "BRA, 1949") is applicable nor Financial Corporation established by or under a Central, State or Provincial Act nor LIC Housing Finance Limited can be said to be LIC of India itself established under LIC Act, 1956, nor is a company carrying on business of insurance and both were not covered by any of the exception under sub-section (3), therefore, liability of deduction of tax under Section 194A(1) was clear and unambiguous, still GDA made default in not deducting TDS on huge amount of interest paid to aforesaid two companies hence it is an "assessee in default" under Section 201 (1) of Act, 1961.

14. After going carefully through provisions of Section 194A (1) & (3), we are satisfied that neither PNBHFL nor LICHFL comes within any of the exceptions in respect where to TDS deductible under sub-section (1) of Section 194A was excepted. Therefore, GDA was in default when it did not deduct TDS on the amount of interest paid to these two companies. Issue 1 is answered in affirmative.

15. However, matter does not rest here for the reason that Section 201 takes care where some default has been committed in deduction of TDS. The liability or consequences of failure in deduction of TDS is neither unlimited nor undefined nor unspecific. To appreciate it, we may refer to Sections 200, 201 and 202 of Act, 1961, as they stood at the relevant time:-

"200. Any person deducting any sum in accordance with the provisions of sections 192 to 194, section 194A, section 194B, section 194BB, section 194C, section 194D, section 194E, section 194EE, section 194F, section 194G, section 194H, section 194I, section 194J, section

194K, section 194L, section 195, section 196A, section 196B, section 196C and section 196D shall pay within the prescribed time, the sum so deducted to the credit of the Central Government or as the Board directs.

201. (1) If any such person and in the cases referred to in Section 194, the principal officer and the company of which he is the principal officer does not deduct the whole or any part of the tax or after deducting fails to pay the tax as required by or under this Act, he or it shall, without prejudice to any other consequences which he or it may incur, be deemed to be an "assessee in default" in respect of the tax:

Provided that no penalty shall be charged under section 221 from such person, principal officer or company unless the Assessing Officer is satisfied that such person or principal officer or company, as the case may be, has without good and sufficient reasons failed to deduct and pay the tax.

(1A) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (1), if any such person, principal officer or company as is referred to in that sub-section does not deduct the whole or any part of the tax or after deducting fails to pay the tax as required by or under this Act, he or it shall be liable to pay simple interest at fifteen per cent per annum on the amount of such tax from the date on which such tax was deductible to the date on which such tax is actually paid.

(2) Where the tax has not been paid as aforesaid after it is deducted, the amount of the tax together with the amount of simple interest thereon referred to in sub-section (1A) shall be a charge upon all the assets of the person, or the company, as the case may be, referred to in sub-section (1).

202. The power to recover tax by deduction under sections 192 to 194, section 194A, section 194B, section 194BB, section 194C, section 194D, section 194E, section 194EE, section 194F, section 194G, section 194H, section 194I, section 194J, section 194K, section 194L, section 195, section 196A, section 196B, section 196C and section 196D shall be without prejudice to any other mode of recovery." (emphasis added)

16. Section 200 requires a person, deducting any sum under Section 194A and others, to pay the same within prescribed time to the credit of Central Government or as Board directs. Therefore, if TDS has been deducted, it is more serious matter, if amount of TDS is kept by person, who has deducted it and fails to deposit same with income tax department.

17. Here is not a case where TDS was deducted by GDA but not paid within time with income-tax department. Here is a case where no TDS was deducted under Section 194A(1) at all.

18. Sub-section (1) of Section 201, by applying fiction, declares that the person who fails to deduct tax at source or deducted but not deposited as required under Act, 1961, is deemed to be an "assessee in default" in respect of tax without prejudice to any other consequence which he or it may incur. Therefore, sub-section (1) declares such a person, an "assessee in default", in respect of tax, if TDS is not deducted, and, if deducted, but not paid.

19. Section 201 however itself provides two consequences, i.e. penalty under Section 221; and interest under Sub-section (1A) of itself. Proviso to sub-section (1), however, exempts a person from liability of penalty under Section 221 under certain conditions. It takes care of a person, who has committed default in deduction of TDS. Power has been conferred upon Assessing Officer to impose penalty but provision says that no such penalty shall be charged from such person, who is deemed to be an "assessee in default" in respect of tax, unless Assessing Officer is satisfied that such failure of deduction in tax is without good and sufficient reasons. After declaring a person, who has failed to deduct tax, deemed "assessee in default", by virtue of sub-section (1) of Section 201, the Statute, though provided for imposition of penalty upon such person under Section 221 but a safeguard is also provided in section 201 itself that such penalty shall not be leviable unless a positive finding is recorded by Assessing Officer that failure to deduct tax was without good and sufficient reasons. This satisfaction is a jurisdictional issue for the purpose of imposing penalty upon such defaulter. In other words the language of Statute makes it clear that failure to deduct tax, even if render such defaulter, an "assessee in default", still such default will be treated to have been committed for valid and good reasons, unless otherwise recorded by Assessing Officer for the purpose of imposing penalty.

20. In the present case, we are not informed that any procedure for imposition of penalty under Section 221 has been initiated by Assessing Officer against GDA meaning thereby we can safely assume that Assessing Officer has not found any ground to hold that default on the part of GDA in non deduction of TDS was without good and sufficient reasons.

21. Then comes sub-section (1A) of Section 201 which empowers income-tax department to demand interest on the amount of such tax i.e. tax which was deductible but not deducted or deducted but not deposited. Liability of interest is confined to the period on which date tax was deductible to period when tax was/is actually paid. Meaning thereby if tax has actually been paid, may be by "assessee in default" or by assessee to whom interest was actually paid, but TDS was not deducted, liability of interest under sub-section (1A) will be confined only to the period of date of deduction of TDS or when it was deductible, and date of actual payment of tax, irrespective of fact, who has paid tax to department. The reason is quite obvious. Tax deducted at source is not a tax or income of person who is deducting tax at source while making payment. Deduction at source is only to secure tax payable to Government. It is not a fresh levy. Income remains same. There may be occasions when person to whom payment is made, may be exempted from payment of tax. Deduction of tax at source is not a liability of tax under Act. It is only a mode of recovery of tax deducted. Section 201, by deeming fiction, failure to deduct tax by a person declares him or it an "assessee in default", so as to impose penalty and charge interest. But if tax is actually paid, it is not to be realized again from such person liable to deduct tax at source. In fact, Section 201 itself nowhere authorizes any authorities of Tax Department to demand or realize amount of TDS from the person who has failed to deduct or if deducted failed to deposit with Government.

22. We also find substance in the submission of learned counsel for petitioner that any other interpretation would make such demand, a case of double taxation by Revenue in respect to same transaction. On income of interest received from GDA by PNBHFL and LICHFL, they have already paid due tax to department. If under impugned orders, again tax is allowed to be recovered from GDA, it will amount to realizing tax twice, which is not permissible in law.

23. This question, we find, has specifically been considered by some courts. In CIT Vs. Manager, M.P. State Co-operative Development Bank Ltd. (1982) 137 ITR 230 (MP) there was a default in deduction of TDS tax on salary paid to employee by the employer. Regular assessment of employee was completed and he paid the entire tax due. Court, however, held that principal liability for payment of income-tax is on that person who receives income. Chapter XVII of Act 1961, provides for deduction of tax at source. Under Section 201(1) Income Tax Officer could not demand tax from the employer in respect of alleged default in deduction of TDS when due tax was already paid by employee and his regular assessment was completed.

24. Again a similar controversy arose in CIT, Bhopal Vs. Divisional Manager, New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (1983) 140 ITR 818 (MP) wherein there was a default on the part of employer in deduction of TDS on salary paid to employee. Regular assessment of employee was completed and whatever amount of tax was found due, paid by him. ITO (TDS), however, demanded further tax from employer in respect of tax, short deducted, relating to such employee. Court negated the said demand of ITO (TDS) and held that it had no jurisdiction under Section 201 of Act, 1961 to demand further tax from employer in respect of tax, short deducted, when regular assessment of employee was completed in respect of him. There was no jurisdiction under Section 201 to demand further tax from employer in respect of tax, short deducted, relating to such employer. This case has been followed and reiterated in CIT Vs. Life Insurance Corporation (1987) 166 ITR 191 (MP).

25. Similar view was taken by Calcutta High Court in Grindlays Bank Ltd. Vs. CIT (1992) 193 ITR 457 (Cal.) wherein Court said that if tax has been realized once, it cannot be realized again, but that does not mean that assessee will not be liable for payment of interest or any legal consequence for its failure to deduct or to pay in accordance with law to Revenue.

26. In CIT Vs. Dhanalakshmy Weaving Works (2000) 245 ITR 13 (Ker), Court read Section 201 of Act 1961 in the manner that sub-section (1) talks of levy of penalty for non-deduction or failure in deposit of deducted TDS while sub-section (1A) deals with levy of interest. It also held that sub-section (1A) which talks of interest is mandatory provision and if there is default in deduction of TDS, interest shall be leviable.

27. Learned counsel for Revenue also could not dispute that recently Amritsar Bench of Income Tax Appellant Tribunal has followed the same view in M.S. Chahal Vs. Income Tax Officer (2004) 82 ITJ 841 (Asr) decided on 31.12.2003 and that judgment has become final. Tribunal has found that deduction of tax at source is different from tax on total income.

Any amount of TDS is liable to be adjusted against actual demand. Since demands of recipient (in that case contractors) have been finalized and there remains no tax liability as per Revenue's own version, no recovery can be made from Assessee in this regard to the amount of which assessee failed to deduct, as that will amount to realization of tax, twice.

28. Under Section 201, person liable to deduct TDS, if has failed to do so, by a legal fiction, stands declared an "assessee in default" but Section 201 by itself imposes only liability of interest under sub-section (1A) and penalty under sub-section (1). There is no provision under Section 201 which permits any Income Tax Authority to demand amount of TDS or tax from such person unless and until a situation contemplated by sub-section (2) of Section 201 is found to exist, meaning thereby if tax is deducted but not paid at all. In such a case, amount of tax as well as interest payable under sub-section (1A) shall be a charge upon assets of such "assessee in default" but not otherwise, and not more than that.

29. The issue in our view has been finally settled in Hindustan Coca Cola Beverage Pvt. Ltd. Vs. CIT (2007) 293 ITR 226 (SC). Therein M/s. Hindustan Coca Cola Beverage Pvt. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "HCCBPL") entered into an agreement with M/s. Pradeep Oil Corporation for use of their premises for receipt, storage and dispatch of goods belonging to aforesaid company. It also deducted tax under Section 194C on warehousing charges paid to M/s. Pradeep Oil Corporation treating it to be a contractual demand hence deduction of TDS admissible under Section 194C was 2%. Assessing Officer, however, took the view that warehousing charges are in the nature of rent as defined in explanation to Section 194 of Act, 1961 therefore tax ought to have been deducted 20% and not 2% under Section 194C as that was not applicable. Assessing Officer held HCCBPL as "assessee in default" and accordingly demanded amount of tax which was deductible and interest under Section 201 (1A). In appeal preferred by HCCBPL, Commissioner upheld the view taken by Assessing Officer that HCCBPL was "assessee in default" in respect of amount of short deduction on tax and liable to pay interest under Section 201 (1A). Further appeal was dismissed by High Court also. HCCBPL then submitted a rectification application before Tribunal stating that it has no objection regarding levy of interest under Section 201 (1A) but since warehouse owner namely M/s. Pradeep Oil Corporation was assessed on its income and due tax was recovered by Revenue from it, therefore no further tax towards alleged shortage of TDS could have been demanded from HCCBPL and this aspect was not considered earlier hence there is mistake. Tribunal allowed this application of HCCBPL and held that amount of tax was not leviable from M/s. Pradeep Corporation by Assessing Officer. Revenue came in appeal before High Court which was allowed by holding that Tribunal could not have reopened the matter. Supreme Court referring to circular No. 275/201/95-IT(B) dated 29.01.1997 issued by Central Board of Direct Taxes held that no recovery on tax could have been made from HCCBPL and set aside the judgment of High Court. Para 10, 11 & 13 of the judgment, referring to Circular dated 29.01.1997, read as under:-

"10. Be that as it may, the circular No. 275/201/95-IT(B) dated 29.01.1997 issued by Central Board of Direct Taxes, in our considered opinion, should put an end to the controversy. The circular declares "no demand visualized under Section 201(1) of the Income-tax Act should be enforced after the tax deductor has satisfied the officer-in-charge of TDS, that taxes due have been paid by the deducted-assessee. However, this will not alter the liability to charge interest under Section 201(1A) of the Act till the date of payment of taxes by the deducted-assessee or the liability for penalty under Section 271C of the Income-tax Act."

11. In the instant case, the appellant had paid the interest under Section 201(1A) of the Act and there is no dispute that the tax due had been paid by deductee-assessee (M/s Pradeep Oil Corporation). It is not disputed before us that the circular is applicable to the facts situation on hand.

13. The impugned judgment of the High Court is accordingly set aside. The appeal is allowed with no order as to costs."

30. This Court has also now sealed the issue finally in the judgment, Jagran Prakashan Limited Vs. The Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax (Tds) (2012) 345 ITR 288 (All). The judgment was delivered by Hon'ble Ashok Bhushan, J. (as His Lordship then was) and have answered the aforesaid question, in para 87, as under:-

"87. From the above provision, it is thus, clear that wherever the liability to pay tax was fastened on the person who failed to deduct the tax at source a specific provision was made for that purpose. In view of the forgoing discussions, we are of the considered opinion that in a case where tax has not been deducted at source, the short deducted tax cannot be realized from the deductor and the liability to pay such tax shall continue to be with the assessee direct, whose income is to be charged and a person who fails to deduct the tax at source, at best is liable for interest and penalty only. The above issues thus, are decided in favour of the petitioner."

31. In the present case, it is not disputed even by respondents that whatever tax was due on the amount of interest paid by GDA to PNBHFL and LICHFL, the same was paid by two recipient companies to Revenue. Final assessment orders in respect thereto were also passed. Income of GDA on its own was not taxable during relevant period by virtue of Section 10 (20A) though subsequently it has been omitted.

32. So far as status of PNBHFL and LICHFL is concerned, there was some genuine doubt regarding their status. Both companies are public limited companies and subsidiaries of Punjab National Bank and Life Insurance Corporation of India. This caused some doubt whether TDS was deductible or not. However, for the purpose of adjudication of dispute in the present writ petition, we have not given any leverage or advantage to petitioner for alleged doubt and we have proceeded to decide the matter holding petitioner defaulter by violating requirement of deduction of TDS under Section 194A so as to attract action by concerned authority under Section 201 of Act, 1961.

33. In view of above, demand of tax is patently illegal and without jurisdiction.

34. Moreover, ITO (TDS) has also demanded surcharge on the amount of TDS but has failed to appreciate that tax deductible at source is different from tax on total income and in absence of any specific provision, "assessee in default" under legal fiction by virtue of Section 201(1) cannot be saddled with liability of surcharge on the amount of TDS.

35. Petitioner has also challenged vires of Section 201 of Act, 1961, but when commenced arguments, gave up this plea and stated that he is confining his challenge only to validity of orders passed by ITO (TDS), impugned in writ petitions, and same may be considered in the light of relevant provisions of Act, 1961, and matter be decided accordingly. Hence, we have not looked into vires of Section 201 since that plea has been given up.

36. In view of above discussion, impugned orders cannot be sustained. ITO (TDS) is required to find out whether there is any liability of interest on the amount of TDS deductible under Section 194A but not deducted and then from the date on which such amount was deductible and the date when actual tax was paid, to compute amount of interest payable by petitioner. In this regard, he will have to pass a fresh order.

37. In the result, both writ petitions are partly allowed. Impugned orders dated 5.4.2006 are set aside. ITO (TDS) shall pass fresh orders in the light of above directions.

38. In view of above, parties shall bear cost equally.

Writ Tax No.- 1316 Of 2012

Cantonment Board	...Petitioner

Union Of India & Anr.	...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:

Counsel for Respondents:
Praveen Kumar Srivastava
Held

A writ of mandamus for recovery of "service charges" is not maintainable unless there exists a clear statutory right in favour of the petitioner and a corresponding statutory obligation upon the respondents.

Under the Cantonments Act, 1924, there was no provision empowering the Cantonment Board to levy or recover "service charges" from the Central Government.

The concept of "service charges" was introduced for the first time under Section 109 of the Cantonments Act, 2006, and therefore such charges can be levied only prospectively and not for periods prior to 2006.

Even under Section 109, liability to pay service charges arises only when:

Proper computation is made, and

Such computation is based on guidelines issued by the Central/State Government.

In absence of such guidelines and computation, no enforceable liability arises.

The petitioner failed to show how the amount claimed was calculated in accordance with statutory provisions or guidelines, hence the demand was unsustainable.

No agreement or consensus existed between the Cantonment Board and the respondents regarding payment of service charges, which is relevant in light of judicial precedents.

The claim involved seriously disputed questions of fact (such as nature of services rendered), which cannot be adjudicated in writ jurisdiction under Article 226.

Recovery of such dues, if any, must be pursued through appropriate civil remedies (e.g., civil suit) and not through writ proceedings.

Filing the writ petition for recovery of monetary dues without statutory backing was held to be an abuse of process of law.

Consequently, the writ petition was dismissed with costs of ₹50,000.

Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Petitioner before us, Cantonment Board, Kanpur (hereinafter referred to as "Board") has filed this writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India seeking a writ of mandamus commanding respondents i.e. Union of India through Ministry of Railway, New Delhi (hereinafter referred to as "MOR") and North Central Railway, Allahabad through its General Manager (hereinafter referred to as "NCR") to pay Rs.40,03,49,545/- towards minimum rate of "Service Charges" for the period of 1982-83 to 2012-13, along with interest at the rate of 18 per cent per annum till the date of payment. It is said that property of MOR and NCR is situated in Cantonment area, Kanpur, enjoying municipal facilities like approach roads, light, environmental and other facilities, directly as well as indirectly. Therefore, those properties cannot be absolved from liability of payment of "Service Charges" to petitioner- Cantonment Board.

2. Reliance is placed on Government of India, Ministry of Finance letters dated 10th May, 1954 and 29th March, 1967 wherein it was communicated that properties of Government of India are exempt from all taxes imposed by local bodies or State but Government of India agrees to pay tax atleast for service rendered by local body which will be termed as "Service Charge". Government of India, Ministry of Finance also issued a Circular dated 14th September, 1984 referring to procedure to be followed for computation of "Service Charge". Government of India, Ministry of Urban Development also issued a circular dated 26th April, 1994 stressing upon Ministry of Finance's earlier Circulars dated 10th May, 1954 and 29th March, 1967, and reiterating its general agreement for payment of "Service Charges" for the services rendered by local bodies.

3. Cantonment Board relied on Sections 108 and 109 of Cantonments Act, 2006 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 2006") so as to entitle and empower to demand "Service Charges" from respondents. It is said that Chief Executive Officer, Cantonment Board, Kanpur sent a letter dated 5th September, 2011 demanding Rs.33,20,43,460/- from NCR Authorities as "Service Charge" for the period of 1st April, 1982 to 31st March, 2013. Since respondents failed to pay the aforesaid amount, Chief Executive Officer requested its Counsel, vide letter dated 14th September, 2012, to file a writ petition for recovery of Rs.40,03,49,545/- being "Service Charges" for the period 1st April, 1982 to 31st March, 2013. The computation of amount has been demonstrated in Annexure -3 to writ petition, for the period 1st April, 1982 to 31st March, 2010, i.e. for 28 years, as under :

Land Revenue	Rs.	2,25,87,99,200.00

Rental Value-9% of Capital Value	Rs.	20,32,91,928.00
Property Tax-17.5% of Rental Value	Rs.	35,57,608.00
Service Charges-33-1/3% of percentage	Rs.	1,18,58,695.00

Total for 28 years = Rs.1,18,58,695 x 28 =Rs. 33,20,43,460/-

4. "Service charge" has been computed as Rs.33,20,43,460/- by multiplying Rs.1,18,58,695/- with 28 years. When we called upon learned counsel for petitioner to show, how a writ of mandamus would lie compelling respondents to pay the aforesaid amount, he placed reliance on Apex Court's order in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Vs. Union of India and others, (2010-CALHN(SC)-3-168) as also a Division Bench judgment of this Court in Cantonment Board, Varansi through Chief Executive Officer Vs. Union of India and others, Writ Tax No. 1292 of 2011, decided on 3.10.2013.

5. We also enquired as to how Act, 2006 is referable and applicable in respect to demand raised for the period before enforcement of the said Act, whereupon, learned counsel for petitioner stated that it had similar power of demand of "Service Charges" under Old Act also. We have to first examine authority of petitioners to raise such demand under Law.

6. Earlier, Cantonments Act, 1924 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1924") was enacted to consolidate and amend laws relating to Management of Cantonment. Chapter -V of Act, 1924 deals with 'Txation' running from Sections 60 to 105. General power of taxation is conferred by Section 60 and reads as under:

"60. General power of taxation .-(1) The Board may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, impose in any cantonment any tax which , under any enactment for the time being in force, may be imposed in any municipality in the state wherein such cantonment is situated.

(2) Any tax imposed under this section shall take effect from the date of its notification in the Official Gazette or where any later date is specified in this behalf in the notification, from such later date. "

7. There is inbuilt machinery provided in Chapter V as to the manner in which a 'Tax' shall be imposed, assessment of 'Tax' and redressal or adjudication of dispute in respect of 'Tax', if any. Section 92 provides the manner of recovery of such 'Tax' and reads as under: -

" Recovery of tax.-(1) If the person liable for the payment of any tax does not, within thirty days from the service of the notice of demand, pay the amount due, or show sufficient cause for non-payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Executive Officer, such sum, with all costs of recovery, may be recovered under a warrant, issued in the form set forth in Schedule II, by distress and sale of the movable property, or attachment and sale of the immovable property of the defaulter:

Provided that the Executive Officer shall not recover any sum the liability for which has been remitted on appeal under this Chapter:

Provided further that the sale of any immovable property attached under this subsection shall not be made, save under the orders of the Board.

(2) Every warrant issued under this section shall be signed by the Executive Officer.

8. It is not the case of petitioner that any demand of Tax has been raised with reference to Section 60 of Act, 1924, therefore impugned demand is not in reference to Section 60.

9. Every "Cantonment Board" is declared to be a Municipal Committee for the purposes of Municipal Taxation Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1881") by virtue of Section 97 of Act, 1924. Chapter XIII talks of water supply, lighting and drainage. Section 217 places an obligation upon Cantonment Board to provide or arrange for sufficient supply of pure water for domestic use where it does not already exist and reads as under : -

"217. Maintenance of water supply. -(1) In every cantonment where a sufficient supply of pure water for domestic use does not already exist, the Board shall provide or arrange for the provision of such a supply.

(2) The Board shall, as far as possible, make adequate provision that such supply shall be continuous throughout the year, and that the water shall be at all times pure and fit for human consumption."

10. In Section 222, Cantonment Board also have power to enter into an agreement for supply of water to owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land, on such terms and conditions as are consistent with Act, 1924 and Rules and Bye-laws, framed made thereunder, and reads as under: -

" 222. Supply of water under agreement. - (1) The Board may, by agreement, supply, from any source of public water-supply, the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in the cantonment with any water for any purpose, other than a domestic purpose, on such terms and conditions, consistent with this Act and the rules and bye-laws made thereunder, as may be agreed upon between the Board and such owner, lessee or occupier.

(2) The Board may withdraw such supply or curtail the quantity thereof at any time if it should appear necessary to do so for the purpose of maintaining sufficient supply of water for domestic use by inhabitants of the cantonment."

11. Section 232 empowers Cantonment Board to fix rate of charges for supply of water and to levy such charges. For ready reference we may quote Section 232 as under :

"232. Power to fix rates and charges.- A Board may fix the charges to be made for the establishment by them or through agency of communications from, and connections with, mains or pipes for the supply of water, or gas, or for meters or other appliances for measuring the quantity, or testing the quality thereof supplied, and may levy such charges accordingly."

12. Besides above, no provision has been brought to our notice which authorized petitioner - Cantonment Board to demand any charge from respondents towards alleged water supply etc. under the heading of 'Service Charges' under Act, 1924. Even charges for water supply are subject to condition that an agreement has been executed by Board with owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land for such supply under Section 222. In the present case, it is not a case of petitioner that there existed any such agreement between petitioner and respondents whereunder respondents have agreed to have any water supply from petitioner and it is supplying water to respondents under such agreement. Similarly no provision under Act, 1924 has been shown to us empowering petitioner to demand any amount towards its obligation on maintenance of drainage and lighting in Cantonment Board.

13. Act, 1924 has been substituted by Act, 2006 which has come into force on 18th December, 2006. Therein also Chapter V deals with 'Tax' as also 'Fees'. Therefore, for the first time, concept of 'Fees' has been inserted in Act, 2006. The nature or kinds of fees which can be charged by Board is contained in Section 67 which reads as under : -

"67. Charging of fees.- The Board shall, for the purposes of this Act, charge the following fees, namely:-

- (a) licence fee on vehicles and animals;*
- (b) licence fee on advertisements other than advertisements in newspapers;*
- (c) fee relating to maintenance of property records;*
- (d) processing fee on buildings payable along with application for sanction of the building plan;*
- (e) licence fee on entry of vehicles;*
- (f) betterment fee on the increase in land value caused by the execution of any development work; and*

(g) such other fee which the Board may by Regulation specify: Provided that the fee charged under clause (g) of this section shall not be less than the cost incurred by the Board for or in connection with the specific service to which the fee relates."

14. Section 66 deals with general power of 'Taxation' and it is the admitted case of petitioner that no tax on property of respondents is chargeable in view of Article 285 of Constitution of India. Procedure for recovery of 'Tax' has been prescribed under Section 101 of Act, 2006 which reads as under :-

"101. Recovery of tax.-(1) If the person liable for the payment of any tax does not, within thirty days from the service of the notice of demand, pay the amount due, or show sufficient cause for non- payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Chief Executive Officer, such sum, with all costs of recovery, may be recovered under a warrant, issued in the form set forth in Schedule II, by distress and sale of the movable property or attachment and sale of the immovable property of the defaulter: Provided that the Chief Executive Officer shall not recover any sum the liability for which has been remitted on appeal under this Chapter: Provided further that the sale of any immovable property attached under this sub- section shall not be made save under the orders of the Board.

(2) Every warrant issued under this section shall be signed by the Chief Executive Officer."

15. Section 108 declares that Cantonment Board will be 'Municipal Committee' for the purposes of 'Taxation' as per Municipal Taxation Act, 1881. Then there is Section 109 which reads as under :-

"109. Payment to be made to a Board as service charges by Central Government or State Government.- The Central or the State Government, as the case may be, shall pay to a Board annually service charges for providing collective municipal services or development work in a cantonment where the Central or the State Government properties are situated as worked out by the Board based on the guidelines issued in this behalf by the Central Government or the State Government. "

(emphasis added)

16. Section 109 of Act, 2006 for the first time empowered Cantonment Board to realise "Service Charges" from Central Government or State Government if their property is situated within the area of Cantonment Board and it is providing collective municipal services or development work in such Cantonment area. The aforesaid provision makes it obligatory on the part of Central Government or State Government to pay "Service Charges" annually to Cantonment Board but quantum of such "Service Charges" shall be worked out by Cantonment Board on the guidelines issued in this behalf by Central Government or State Government. We are informed that similar provision did not exist in earlier Statute i.e. Act, 1924, and for the first time, it has been incorporated in Act, 2006. Secondly this provision shows that Central Government or State Government are liable to pay "Service Charges" annually to Cantonment Board where property is situated within the area of Board, in respect to municipal services or development work rendered by Cantonment Board, but such liability cannot be fastened upon two Governments, unless computation of liability is made by Cantonment Board, founded on the guidelines issued in this behalf by Central Government or State Government. Circulars issued by Central Government which are referred to in the writ petition i.e. dated 10th May, 1954, 29th March, 1967, 14th September, 1984 and 26th April, 1994 only say that "Service Charges" shall be paid by Central Government Department to Cantonment Board but in what manner such "Service Charges" shall be computed and what shall be services in respect where to the same shall be computed, is not stated in those Circulars. If there is any other guidelines issued by Central Government or State Government entitling or empowering Cantonment Board to compute "Service Charges" payable by Central Government or State Government, as the case may be, in respect of municipal services or development work rendered by petitioner, atleast none has been brought to our notice and in the demand notice also there is no such reference. Not only respondents but even Court has not been taken into confidence to tell as to how and on what basis computation has been made consistent with requirement of Section 109 of Act, 2006. Unless such computation is made, question of payment of "Service Charges" by respondents, would not arise.

17. We reiterate at this stage that even otherwise, Section 109 of Act, 2006, cannot be stretched retrospectively so as to demand "Service Charges" from respondents for a period when Act, 2006 was not in existence or operative and there was no similar provision like Section 109 in existence in Act, 1924. Thus service charge under Section 109 is leviable prospectively.

18. Further Chapter IX deals with Water Supply, Drainage and Sewage Collection and contains Sections 186 to 232. Section 193 provides for supply of water under agreement and reads as under : -

"193. Supply of water under agreement.- (1) Subject to the guidelines made by the Board in this regard, the Chief Executive Officer may, by agreement, supply, from any source of public water- supply, the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in the cantonment with any water for any purpose, other than a domestic purpose, on such terms and conditions, consistent with this Act and the rules and bye- laws made thereunder, as may be agreed upon between the Chief Executive Officer and such owner, lessee or occupier.

(2) The Chief Executive Officer may withdraw such supply or curtail the quantity thereof at any time if it should appear necessary to do so for the purpose of maintaining sufficient supply of water for domestic use by inhabitants of the cantonment."

19. For the purposes of supply of water or gas, Cantonment Board is conferred with the power to charge which it may levy from the occupier or owner of the building of land and it reads as under :

"206. Recovery of charges.- In any case in which the provisions of section 204 apply and in which the Board is not receiving a bulk supply of water under section 207, the water- tax, if any, imposed in the cantonment and all other rates arising out of the supply of water which may be imposed under the provisions of this Chapter as applied by section 204 shall be recovered by the Board, and all monies so recovered, or such proportion thereof as the Central Government may in each case determine, shall be paid by the Board to the Officer."

20. The impugned demand is not claimed to be under Section 193 or 206 of Act, 2006.

21. Learned counsel for petitioner however relied on the judgment of Supreme Court in Rajkot Municipal Corporation & others Vs. Union of India and others, Civil Appeal No(s). 9458-9463 of 2003 decided on 19.11.2009. We have gone through the aforesaid judgment at length. It was a bunch of appeals decided by Supreme Court, wherein appeals were filed by several Municipal Corporations of State of Gujrat, namely, Rajkot Municipal Corporation, Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation and Vadodara Municipal Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "Municipal Corporation"). These Municipal Corporations are statutory local municipal authorities under Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporation Act, 1949 (hereinafter referred to as "BPMC Act, 1949"). Under the provisions of BPMC Act, 1949, these Municipal Corporations were discharging duties of supplying water, conservancy / sewerage disposal and other general services like approach roads with street lighting, drainage etc. and in accordance with the provisions of BPMC Act, 1949, Rules and bye-laws framed thereunder, service charges payable by persons availing said benefit were determined. They were already raising bills according to the provisions under BPMC Act, 1949, Rules and Bye-laws framed thereunder to the Union of India including Railways and who were paying demand raised by Municipal Corporation.

22. In respect of some bills raised by Municipal Corporation, payments were not made, as result whereof Municipal Corporations proceeded to recover the dues as arrears of land revenue, exercising power under the aforesaid Act and property of Union of India and its departments were attached. This recovery as arrears of land revenue by adopting coercive method was challenged by Union of India and its Departments, filing several writ petitions before Gujarat High Court, claiming that property of Union of India is exempt from imposition of any tax by any local body or State under Article 285 of Constitution of India and, therefore, aforesaid recovery was illegal. The writ petitions were allowed and Gujarat High Court held that demand of service charges was in the nature of property tax and barred by Article 285(1) of Constitution of India.

23. In appeal, Supreme Court found that similar matter was already considered by it in Union of India and other Versus State of U.P. and others, 2007 (11) SCC 324, wherein it was held that demand of charges for expenses incurred in supply of water or other services rendered under any statutory obligation, if raised, is a fee and not tax. Hence such charges are not exempt under Article 285 of the Constitution of India. Thereafter Court required Government of India to consider the matter and come to broad consensus so that any confrontation / dispute between Government and local statutory body may not arise. In furtherance thereof, Government of India filed an affidavit placing its agreement, in principles, for payment of "Service Charges" to Municipal Corporation, which provides services like water supply etc. in the following manner:-

" (i) It is liable to pay service charges to the municipal corporations for providing services like supply of water, conservancy/sewerage disposal, apart from general services like approach roads with street lights, drains etc.

(ii) It will pay service charges to the Municipal Corporations, for the services, as stated in its circulars dated 10.5.1954, 29.3.1967 and 26.8.1986, but will not pay any taxes.

(iii) Having regard to the fact that only service like supply of water could be metered and other services like drainage, solid waste management, approach roads, street lighting etc., could not be metered, the percentage of property tax will be worked out as service charges, on the basis of instructions issued by the Ministry of Finance.

(iv) The concerned Ministry of the Union to which the property belongs will enter into separate contracts with the respective Municipal corporation of services and payment of service charges and pay the bills for annual service charges regularly.

(v) Union of India and its departments will periodically review the arrangements with the respective municipal corporations or revisions in the rates of service charges.

(vi) Wherever, properties of state government are exempted, such exemption shall apply to properties of central government also. Under no circumstances, the service charges payable by the Union of India will be more than the service charges paid by the state government.

(vii) The arrangement will not affect the legal rights conferred by the appropriate laws, in regard to any property held by the Union."

24. Government of India also proposed the rate at which such "Service Charge" would be paid, and same are quoted in para 7 of judgment in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Versus Union of India (supra) which reads as under:-

"The Union of India has also stated that taking note of the relevant circumstances, it has decided to pay service charges at the following rates: (a) 75% of the property tax levied on private owners, where the properties of the Union are provided by the municipal corporations with all services/facilities as were provided to other areas within the municipal corporation: (b) 50% of the property tax levied on private owners, in regard to properties of the Union, where only some of the services/facilities were availed; an (c) upto a maximum of one-third (33 and 1/3%) of the property tax levied on private owners in regard to properties which did not avail any of the services provided by the municipal corporation, as they were self-sufficient on account of all services being provided by the Union itself.

25. Government of India also clarified, where no Services were availed from municipal corporation, rate within the ceiling of 33-1/3% of property tax, will be negotiated and settled, having regard to relevant circumstances. With respect to Railway, it was said that since it owns properties virtually in every municipal corporation in India and normally, all its properties do not utilize services provided by municipal corporations, Railways proposed to pay only a token "Service Charge" of 5% or such other rate as may be agreed by mutual negotiation.

26. Municipal Corporations before Supreme Court submitted that they broadly agree to proposal submitted by Government of India. The stand taken by municipal corporations, quoted in para 9 of judgment in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Versus Union of India (supra) is as under:-

"9. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the appellant municipal corporations submitted that they were broadly in agreement with what has been stated and agreed by Union of India in the said affidavit. The appellant-Municipal Corporations also confirmed and agreed:

(i) that they will not levy or demand any "property tax" in respect of the properties belonging to Union of India and used for the purposes of the government;

(ii) that the demands will relates only to service charges for direct services like supply of water and conservancy/sewerage disposal services, and other general services such as approach roads with street lighting, drainage etc.;

(iii) that they broadly agreed to the rates of service charges agreed by Union of India; and

(iv) that if there is defaults or it negotiations with the concerned departments for in regard to service charges fail they will not take any coercive steps for recovery proceedings, but will take recourse to other remedies available to them in law for recovery.

27. Municipal Corporations however had reservation with regard to the proposal of Railways that it will pay only nominal "Service Charges" at 5 per cent of the property tax. Supreme Court disposed of all these appeals by giving following directions contained in Para 11 of judgment in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Versus Union of India (supra) :-

"11. In view of the above, there is no need to consider the appeals on merits. We dispose of appeals and pending applications by recording the following broad agreement between the parties:

(i) The Union of India and its departments will pay service charges for the services provided by the appellant's municipal corporations. They will not pay any property tax. The service charges will be paid at 75%, 50% and 33 1/3% respectively of the property tax levied on private owners, depending upon whether Union of India or its department is utilizing the full services, or partial services or nil services. The Union of India represented by its concerned department will enter into agreements/ understandings in regard to service charges for each of its properties, with the respective municipal corporations.

(ii) The above arrangement is open to modification of periodical revisions by mutual consent. In the event of resolution mechanism by reference to a three Member Mediation Committee consisting of a representative of the Central Government, a representative of the concerned municipal corporation and a senior representative (preferable the Secretary in charge of the department of municipal administration) of the State of Gujarat.

(iii) If Railways or any other department of Union of India owning a property changes the agreement/understanding unilaterally, or fail to reach a settlement through the Mediation Committee in regard to any disputes, or fails to clear the dues, it is open to the concerned Municipal Corporation to initiate such action, as it deems fit in accordance with law by approaching the jurisdictional courts/tribunal for final and interim reliefs.

(iv) The municipal corporations shall not resort to coercive steps (such as stoppage of supplies/services) nor resort to revenue recovery proceedings for recovery of any service charge dues from Union of India or its departments.

(v) The service charges payable by Union of India will under no circumstances be more than the service charges paid by state government for its properties. Wherever exemptions or concessions are granted to the properties belonging to the state government, the same shall also apply to the properties of Union of India.

(vi) If the Railways does not to abide by the four general circulars of the Union of India dated 10.5.1954, 29.3.1967, 28.5.1976 and 26.8.1986 and the general consensus set out above, it is open to municipal corporation to take such action as is permissible in law."

28. It is not the case of petitioner that it entered into an agreement with MOR and NCR for payment of any charges with respondents as contemplated in the aforesaid judgment in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Versus Union of India (supra).

29. We have also gone through various Circulars of Government of India which have been referred by petitioner in the present writ petition. The first circular of Government of India,

Ministry of Finance is dated 10th May, 1954 says that Government of India in principle has decided that w.e.f. 1st April, 1954, in respect of Central Government properties, "Service Charge" shall be payable to the local bodies for services provided in respect of such properties of Government of India. Specific services would include not only water and electric supply, sewerage etc., but also general services such as street lighting, drainage, approach road and connecting road etc. Where water, electric supply and meter is metered, same shall be paid accordingly, but where it is not so metered or such services are not charged separately, a suitable consolidated percentage representing element of specific services will be paid by Government of India who will also enter into separate connection with concerned local authority for supply of water, electricity and/or any other services.

30. Then next circular is dated 29th March, 1967, and para 2 thereof containing decision of Government of India reads as under:-

"(2) The procedure for arriving at the quantum of service charges payable to the local bodies has been further examined by the Government of India and it has now been decided that the service charges should be calculated in the following manner ; -

(i) In respect of isolated Central Government properties where all services are availed of by the Central Government in the same manner as in respect of private properties, the Central Government will pay service charges equivalent to 75% of the property tax realized from private individuals service are being provided by the Central Government Departments themselves, the service charges will be calculated in the following manner :

(a) In the case of colonies which do not directly avail of civic services within the areas and are self-sufficient in all respects, the payment of service charges will be restricted to 33-1/3% of the normal rate of property tax applicable to private properties.

(b) In respect of colonies where only a partial use of the services is made, service charge will be paid as 50% of the normal property tax rate.

(c) In respect of colonies where all the services normally provided by the municipal body to the residents of other areas within its limits are being availed of, service charges will be paid as 75% of the property tax rate realized from private individuals.

(iii) The net ratable value/annual value for the purpose of these instructions shall be 9% of the "capital value" of the property concerned, both in respect of residential and non-residential properties. The "capital value" shall include the cost of acquiring or constructing the buildings including the cost of site, its preparation and any other capital expenditure incurred after acquisition or construction or when this is not known, the present value of the building including the value of site, as borne on CPWD records or those of the Department concerned.

(iv) The existing arrangements arrived at between the Railway authorities or any Central Government Department and local bodies in respect of property tax/service charges including the arrangements envisaged regarding central Government properties in Calcutta and as regards the properties in Delhi will not be disturbed by this decision. This decision of the Government of India conveyed in this letter may kindly be intimated to the local authorities within State.

31. Government of India, Ministry of Defence also issued a circular dated 21st May, 1984 with regard to computation of "Service Charges" and in this regard, taking reference to Section 64 of Act 1924, it is said that "Service Charge" shall be worked out, in the manner, stated therein and an illustration given in para 5 thereof reads as under:-

GOI, Min. of Def. (DG, DL&C) letter No. 9/5/C/L &C/72/Vol. II dated 21.5.1984."

32. A division Bench judgment of this Court in Cantonment Board Varanasi through Chief Executive Officer Vs. Union of India & Others rendered on 3rd October, 2013 in Writ Tax No. 1292 of 2011 is also relied by petitioner. Therein Cantonment Board, Varanasi and NCR entered into an agreement with respect to Services rendered by Cantonment Board according to which determination of "Service Charges" was admitted and not disputed. The question with reference to Cantonment Act, 1924 and 2006 was not examined therein.

33. There is another judgment of this Court in Cantonment Board Agra Vs. Union of India and others, (2015) 2 ADJ 256, wherein Court examined provisions of Act, 2006 and found that no recovery procedure has been prescribed under Act, 2006. Therefore, there was no statutory obligation on the part of respondents to make any payment. Hence, Court held that writ petition seeking mandamus for recovery will not lie and instead Cantonment Board may take resort to recover its dues, if any, by taking recourse to common law i.e. civil suit.

34. In the present case, in 2011, for the first time, impugned demand in respect of last 28 years and more has been raised by petitioner in relation to "Service Charge" which are not governed by Act, 1924. No computation was made as per Act, 2006.

35. In Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Vs. Union of India and others (supra), "Service Charges" were payable under provisions of BPMC Act, 1949 and there was no dispute about the same. In the case in hand, neither any agreement has been executed between petitioner and respondents as contemplated in Rajkot Municipal Corporation and others Vs. Union of India and others (supra) nor determination of alleged charges has been made by having a consensus between the petitioner and respondents. Moreover, there is a serious dispute as to what are the services which are being rendered by petitioner to respondents and whether any service at all, is being rendered or not. These are seriously disputed questions of fact and without adjudicating them, it is not permissible for petitioner to simply raise such a huge demand, that too, in respect of last several decades, for the first time in 2011, and thereafter by sending a simple letter to counsel to file writ petition before this Court. In order to seek a writ of mandamus, it is necessary to show that there exists a statutory right of petitioner to enforce the same and there must be corresponding statutory obligation to do something which the respondent(s) has failed or has done wrongly.

36. A writ of mandamus would not lie unless petitioner has a statutory right and corresponding statutory obligation upon respondents. In Oriental Bank of Commerce Vs. Sunder Lal Jain and another, (2008) 2 SCC 280, Court after referring to its earlier judgements in Bihar Eastern Gangetic fishermen Cooperative Society Ltd. Vs. Sipahi Singh, (1977) 4 SCC 145; Lekhraj Sathramdas Lalwani Vs. N.M. Shah, AIR 1966 SC 334 and Dr. Uma Kant Saran Vs. State of Bihar, 1973 (1) SCC 485, observed as under:

"There is abundant authority in favour of the proposition that a writ of mandamus can be granted only in a case where there is a statutory duty imposed upon the officer concerned and there is a failure on the part of that officer to discharge the statutory obligation. The chief function of a writ is to compel performance of public duties prescribed by statute and to keep subordinate Tribunals and officer exercising public functions within the limit of their jurisdiction. It follows, therefore, that in order that mandamus may issue to compel the authorities to do something, it must be shown that there is a statute which imposes a legal duty and the aggrieved party has a legal right under the statute to enforce its performance....."

37. Despite repeated query, learned counsel for petitioner also could not show as to how a writ petition for such mandamus would be maintainable when similar writ of mandamus has already been declined by this Court in Cantonment Board, Agra Vs. Union of India (supra).

38. In our view, on the part of statutory body like, Cantonment Board, filing of this writ petition to recover dues is nothing but a misuse of process of law which unnecessarily add burden to the already overburdened Court.

39. In our view, this writ petition is nothing but an abuse of process of law and deserves to be dismissed with exemplary cost.

40. Accordingly, writ petition is dismissed with costs which we quantify to Rs. 50,000/-

These appeals arise from common judgment dated 31.5.2001 passed by the Court of VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad in 79 land acquisition references, the leading reference being Land Acquisition Reference No.212 of 1990 (Bijendra v. State of U.P. and others) against which several first appeals were filed by National Thermal Power Corporation, through its General Manager as well as by the claimants. Several appeals were decided by the Division Bench by judgment dated 8.4.2015 passed in Leading First Appeal No.865 of 2002 (National Thermal Power Corporation Through its G.M. v. State of U.P. and others)

In view of the aforesaid, all the appeals are partly allowed in terms of the judgment dated 8.4.2015 passed in Leading First Appeal No.865 of 2002

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ramesh Pundir, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Yateendra, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. These appeals arise from common judgment dated 31.5.2001 passed by the Court of VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad in 79 land acquisition references, the leading reference being Land Acquisition Reference No.212 of 1990 (Bijendra v. State of U.P. and others) against which several first appeals were filed by National Thermal Power Corporation, through its General Manager as well as by the claimants. Out of which 69 such appeals were decided by the Division Bench by judgment dated 8.4.2015 passed in Leading First Appeal No.865 of 2002 (National Thermal Power Corporation Through its G.M. v. State of U.P. and others) and other connected appeals.

3. By the aforesaid judgment, the Division Bench partly allowed the appeal as under :

"78. We are also of the view that considering the location and other potentiality of land acquired, as mentioned by S.L.A.O. and also noticed by Reference Court, the deduction of 35% is slightly on higher side and it should be 30% which would meet the ends of justice.

79. The correct and actual market rate as per award in question, therefore, would come to Rs. 40/- (round off) per sq. yard. The rest of the award with regard to amount of solatium, interest etc. is hereby confirmed.

80. In the result, the appeals preferred by claimant-tenure holders are partly allowed to the extent that deduction of 35% made by Reference Court is reduced to 30%. Similarly, the appeals preferred by N.T.P.C. are partly allowed to the extent that actual rate of compensation awarded by Reference Court stands reduced from Rs. 43/- per sq. yard to Rs. 40/- per sq. yard. The direction of Reference Court with respect to payment of solatium @ 30% and interest at different rates for different periods mentioned therein shall remain intact and is hereby confirmed.

81. All the appeals stand partly allowed in the manner as aforesaid. However, there shall be no order as to costs"

4. In view of the aforesaid, all the appeals are partly allowed in terms of the judgment dated 8.4.2015 passed in Leading First Appeal No.865 of 2002 (National Thermal Power Corporation Through its G.M. v. State of U.P. and others) and other connected appeals. The substitution applications in the aforenoted appeals are allowed and the delay in filing the substitution applications is condoned.

Counsel for Opposite Party:

Present revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 assails the judgement rendered by the court below in SCC Suit No. 0700012 of 2013 whereby the suit filed by the respondent-plaintiff was decreed and a decree of eviction coupled with the arrears of rent at the rate of Rs. 1700/- per month alongwith damages has been issued in his favour.

The revisionist is a tenant of the shop in question. The revisionist having committed default in the payment of rent was issued a notice dated 4.12.2012 which was served on him on 5.12.2012. The notice issued to the revisionist was to be complied with on or before 4.1.2013 insofar as the payment of arrears of rent is concerned. The failure on the part of the revisionist-tenant in making payment of rent as claimed in terms of notice dated 4.12.2012, gave rise to the aforesaid suit which was filed on Feb. 19, 2013.

Court observed that the court below while adjudicating upon the issue at hand has failed to consider the material admission of the landlord which ought to have been considered in determination of the real question, namely, whether the revisionist-defendant committed default in the payment of rent until the period of notice and recording a finding that the revisionist was in arrears of rent as on the date of issuance of notice clearly lacks the sanction of statute and such an illegality on the face of the impugned judgement, calls for interference under the revisional jurisdiction of this Court envisaged by virtue of Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887.

The impugned judgement passed by the court below suffers from a patent illegality and the for the reasons recorded above, the same is hereby set aside and the matter is relegated to the court below for consideration.

The revision thus stands allowed in part.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Attau Rahman Masoodi, J.)

1. Heard Sri R.N. Tilhari, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri Vikas Sharma, learned counsel, who has put in appearance on behalf of the respondent-plaintiff.

2. This revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 assails the judgement rendered by the court below in SCC Suit No. 0700012 of 2013 whereby the suit filed by the respondent-plaintiff was decreed and a decree of eviction coupled with the arrears of rent at the rate of Rs. 1700/- per month alongwith damages has been issued in his favour.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the revisionist is a tenant of the shop in question. The revisionist having committed default in the payment of rent was issued a notice dated 4.12.2012 which was served on him on 5.12.2012. The notice issued to the revisionist was to be complied with on or before 4.1.2013 insofar as the payment of arrears of rent is concerned. The failure on the part of the revisionist-tenant in making payment of rent as claimed in terms of notice dated 4.12.2012, gave rise to the aforesaid suit which was filed on Feb. 19, 2013. The first date of hearing of the suit was 23.5.2013 and the position of facts to this extent is undisputed between the parties. It is also undisputed that the revisionist-tenant made the compliance of Order XV Rule 5 CPC read with Section 20 (4) of the Rent Control Act by depositing the rent in terms of the notice dated 4.12.2012 inclusive of interest and damage coupled with a misc. expense justified to be deposited against the cost. Oral evidence was led before the court below which became a subject matter of consideration in the light of the pleadings on record.

4. According to the revisionist he had not fallen in default insofar as the payment of rent is concerned whereas the suit was filed by the landlord/respondent on the premise that there was a clear default in payment of rent. Not only that the payment of rent was disputed by the landlord but a case of clear default claiming higher rent was pleaded against the revisionist in the plaint filed by him before the court below. Issues came to be framed in the light of pleadings and evidence was accordingly adduced. Landlord Krishna Pal Yadav was cross-examined by the revisionist-tenant whose deposition reads as under:

5. The aforesaid statement is virtually the foundation of the present revision. Learned counsel for the revisionist raised the following points for consideration.

6. Learned counsel for the revisionist argued that the judgement impugned in the present revision suffers from a manifest error of law; firstly on the ground that the court below while adjudicating upon the aspect of default in payment of rent has not recorded a clear finding that the tenant defaulted in making payment of rent due upto the period of notice period i.e. 4.1.2013 as is evident from the finding recorded to the effect that the revisionist tenant has failed to pay the entire rent as on the date of issuance of notice. This finding according to the learned counsel for the revisionist does not satisfy the requirement of Section 20 (2) (a) of the Rent Control Act as the shop in question is regulated under the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972.

7. The second submission raised by the learned counsel for the revisionist is that there being a clear admission on the part of the landlord-respondent in terms recorded above, which clearly was an admission to be construed in favour of the revisionist for treating him to be a tenant not in default of payment of rent for the reason that the landlord himself has admitted to have refused to take the rent tendered by him. Once there was a clear admission on the part of the landlord having not accepted the rent tendered by the revisionist during the period of notice on 31.12.2002, the revisionist could not be treated to be a defaulter and consequently, a suit for eviction was not maintainable against him. The submissions on the count of striking off defence and the protection under Section 20 (4) have also been advanced.

8. Learned counsel for the respondent has vehemently refuted the submissions made by the learned counsel for the revisionist and while making his submissions, he has clearly made out from the material on record that the benefit of Section 20 (4) was not available to the revisionist being a joint owner of a house alongwith his brother. Insofar as the striking off defence under Order XV Rule 5 is concerned, learned counsel for the respondent, drawing attention of the Court to the conduct of the revisionist-tenant, as regards the deposit of rent, has pointed out that the rent admissible according to the revisionist was Rs. 1200/- and the revisionist having failed to establish this ground before the court below, remained in arrears of rent, as such, the benefit of striking off defence was not available to him.

9. From the perusal of record it is noticed that the deposit made by the revisionist-tenant in the manner explained in the application filed on 23.5.2013 satisfies the deposit of rent as envisaged under the statutory provision and the deposit of rent as claimed in the notice and adjustment of the amount already paid through money order does in no way prejudice his right to defend and as such the submission made by the learned counsel for the respondent on this ground falls and is not acceptable. The aspect of admission by the respondent to refuse the receipt of rent on 31.12.2012 is crucial to the very continuance of tenancy or termination thereof by notice. From the perusal of issue no. 4 on this aspect of the matter when scrutinized in the light of admission made, it is gathered that the court below has not dealt with the admission of the landlord to refuse the receipt of rent during the currency of the period of notice on 31.12.2012 at all and no finding on that premise has been recorded one way or the other so as to justify the revisionist having become a defaulter as to the payment of rent. Failure to consider this relevant aspect/evidence, to arrive at any decision for or against the tenant, is a material irregularity which is reflected on the face of record. This irregularity further goes to substantiate the case of the revisionist-defendant on the ground that the court below has failed to return a finding as regards the default in the payment of rent as on the date of expiry of notice whereas the only finding recorded by the court below is to the effect that the revisionist-tenant failed to deposit the arrears of rent as on the date of issuance of notice. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the revisionist has relied upon the decisions reported in 2006 (2) ARC 256 (Smt. Zohra and others v. IVth A.D.J., Varanasi and others); 2000 (1) Alld. Rent Cases 653 (Gokaran Singh v. Ist Additional District and Sessions Judge, Hardoi and others); AIR 1981 SC 2085 (Ramji Dayawala & Sons (P.) Ltd. v. Invest Import); and 1983 Alld. Rent Cases 640 (Janardan Pandey v. Ist Addl. District Judge, Nainital and others).

10. Learned counsel for the respondent in order to distinguish the judgements relied upon, has cited the case of Kalyan Singh Chouhan v. C.P. Joshi [2011(29)LCD 512.

11. Considering the rival submissions and in the light of judgements placed reliance upon, I am of the considered opinion that the court below while adjudicating upon the issue at hand has failed to consider the material admission of the landlord which ought to have been considered in determination of the real question, namely, whether the revisionist-defendant committed default in the payment of rent until the period of notice and recording a finding that the revisionist was in arrears of rent as on the date of issuance of notice clearly lacks the sanction of statute and such an illegality on the face of the impugned judgement, calls for interference under the revisional jurisdiction of this Court envisaged by virtue of Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887.

12. The impugned judgement passed by the court below suffers from a patent illegality and the for the reasons recorded above, the same is hereby set aside and the matter is relegated to the court below for consideration of all the material after affording opportunity to the parties concerned. The court below shall accordingly decide the proceedings afresh on the issue involved in which the revisionist undertakes to cooperate.

13. Since the matter is being remanded to the court below for determination of the rival rights, therefore, until the culmination of proceedings, a rent of Rs. 2500/- per month shall be deposited by the revisionist-tenant before the court below with effect from Feb. 2016,

14. The revision thus stands allowed in part. No order as to cost.

The applicants by means of these applications, have invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the entire proceedings of Case Crime No. 1042 of 2012, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B, 506 and Section 34 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali, district Muzaffar Nagar and to stay the effect and operation of the impugned orders dated 1.4.2014 and 12.12.2014 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Muzaffar Nagar taking cognizance on the charge-sheets filed under aforesaid sections in this matter.(Para 2)

Held: (Para:-16-18)

1.The applicants cannot be given any benefit on the basis of aforesaid judgment as the facts of the instant case are entirely different. In the case of Savitri Pandey (supra), F.I.R. was lodged after a lapse of 19 years, but it was lodged against as many as fifteen persons, without even assigning their separate roles. To the contrary, in the instant case, specific roles have been assigned to the applicants and delay has also been explained.

2.In wake of above discussion, both the applications appear to be devoid of merit and are liable to be dismissed. The prayer for quashing the entire proceedings and impugned orders passed in the aforesaid cases is liable to be refused.

3.Accordingly both these applications are dismissed. Interim order, if any stands vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. Both these applications under section 482 Cr.P.C., were connected vide order dated 23.8.2016 of this Court and are hereby being decided by this common order.

2. The applicants by means of these applications, have invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the entire proceedings of Case Crime No. 1042 of 2012, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B, 506 and Section 34 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali, district Muzaffar Nagar and to stay the effect and operation of the impugned orders dated 1.4.2014 and 12.12.2014 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Muzaffar Nagar taking cognizance on the charge-sheets filed under aforesaid sections in this matter.

3. Heard Sri V.M. Zaidi, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Manish Tiwary, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 as well as learned A.G.A. representing the State. Perused the record.

4. Some background facts, in brief, are that an F.I.R. was lodged by O.P. No. 2/complainant Syed Hussain at Police Station Kotwali, district Muzaffar Nagar on 21.9.2012 stating therein that he resides at Aligarh and his brother resides at Noida. Their mother Late Manzoor Fatma was a resident of village Bilaspur, Police Station Nai Mandi, district Muzaffar Nagar. The accused applicants, fabricated a forged Will of Manzoor Fatima with intention to grab her property showing therein that Manzoor Fatima has bequeathed all her property to accused applicants Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail i.e. the two sons of accused applicant Mohd Arif. Then they prepared a fake death certificate before her death showing that Late Manzoor Fatma had died on 25.3.2004 whereas, she died on 15.1.2006 in Aligarh Medical Hospital. It was further alleged in the F.I.R. that Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail in connivance with other accused persons, got their names mutated in the revenue records on the basis of the aforesaid forged Will and death certificate. When first informant came to know about all these facts, he filed his objection before the revenue court and lodged the F.I.R. against the applicants on 21.9.2012.

5. However, the I.O. after concluding the investigation submitted Final Report in the matter on 8.11.2013. Against the Final Report, opposite party no. 2 filed protest petition on 1.1.2013, which was allowed by learned C.J.M., Muzaffar Nagar vide order dated 20.5.2013 and the I.O. was directed to conduct further investigation in the case. After further investigation, the I.O. submitted charge-sheet in the matter on 13.3.2014 against the applicants Mohd. Suhail and Mohd. Shahid on which cognizance was taken by learned C.J.M. vide impugned order dated 1.4.2014. Later, chargesheet against applicants Mohd. Arif, Smt. Nawab Begum and Zahoor Mehdi on 2.12.2014, on which the learned Magistrate took cognizance by the impugned order dated 12.12.2014.

6. Both these orders of taking cognizance against the applicants have been challenged before this Court by learned counsel for the applicants, contending that Manzoor Fatima, who was the owner of the disputed property, was the real sister of the father of applicant Mohd. Arif. It is contended that she executed a Will dated 3.2.1998 in favour of minor sons of Mohd Arif. At that time no body in the family raised objection against the said Will. After her death the applicants Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail applied for mutation of their names over the property in dispute and as there was no objection from any one at that time, the mutation was done on 19.6.2006 but even at the time of mutation there was no objection by the opposite parties. It was only after a long gap of 14 years from the alleged fabrication of Will, the O.P. No. 2 lodged the F.I.R. against the applicants on 21.9.2012. The police, without taking into consideration this inordinate delay and without a proper investigation submitted charge-sheets against the applicants including even the two minors namely Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail. The learned Magistrate also, without application of mind to these facts, mechanically took cognizance on the said charge-sheets.

7. It is further contended that applicant no. 3 filed a suit for partition of the disputed property on 21.12.2012 in which a family settlement took place in the year 2014 and as per terms of settlement, Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail, i.e. the two sons Mohd. Arif, gave up their claims in favour of the complainant/opposite party no. 2. Accordingly, the names of Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail were struck down from the revenue records and the names of heirs of Late Manzoor Fatma were recorded in their place, hence the dispute got finally settled between the parties.

8. The grievance of the applicants is that despite the family settlement and even after the names of Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail being struck down from the revenue records, the opposite party no. 2 moved the protest petition against the applicants.

9. Learned counsel has next contended that there is inordinate delay of about more than 14 years in lodging the F.I.R., which makes the prosecution case wholly doubtful and clearly shows that it was lodged with malafide intention, just in order to harass the applicants. It is further contended that no offence under Section 420 or 120-B I.P.C. is made out against the applicants due to lack of "mensrea" on their part as there was no intention either to cheat or to deprive the first informant or any other persons from his property. Learned counsel has submitted that neither the alleged forged Will, nor the alleged forged death certificate, was ever used by the applicants. Hence there was no wrongful gain to the applicants and no wrongful loss to the opposite party no. 2. Moreover, the alleged Will being unregistered, was like a waste paper and the applicants were not benefited in any manner due to this Will. Learned counsel has lastly argued that as at the time of execution of Will, both applicants Mohd. Shahid and Mohd. Suhail were minors, hence no offence is made out against them. In support of his contention learned counsel for the applicants has placed reliance on the judgments passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases of V.P. Srivastava Vs. Indian Explosives Ltd, & others; 2010 (SC) SCC 361, Md. Ibrahim and others Vs. State of Bihar and another; 2010 (sup) AIR (SC) 347 and Savitri Pandey and another Vs. State of U.P. and others; 2015 (90) ACC 721.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 has contended that the crime was completed when the applicants, with dishonest intention, had prepared the forged Will and had fabricated the death certificate showing the date of death of mother of opposite party no. 2 as 25.3.2004, where as, she actually died on 15.1.2006 as per medical college records, where she breathed her last. It is further contended that no compromise or settlement, ever took place between the applicants and opposite party no. 2 and if merely due to fear of their conviction, the applicants gave up their claims in favour of the complainant, it cannot be said that it was due to some settlement and no offence was committed by them. Learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 has submitted that there is sufficient prima facie evidence available in support of the fact that the applicants manufactured the forged death certificate and Will with fraudulent and dishonest intention, which is clearly evident from the fact that the applicants got mutated their names in the revenue records on the basis of those false and fake documents and when their guilty conduct was detected, they gave up their claims even after the mutation of their names in the revenue records.

11. With regard to delay in lodging the F.I.R., learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 has submitted that the delay has been properly explained by the complainant in the F.I.R. itself. The applicants and his brother, who are the two sons of Late Manzoor Fatima were living outside in connection with their job. Hence they could not get any knowledge about the act of accused applicants and as soon as they got the knowledge about the preparation of forged will and forged death certificate, and about the mutation of the names of sons of Mohd. Arif in revenue records, they lodged the F.I.R. Moreso, the charge-sheet and the entire proceedings of criminal case cannot be quashed only on the ground of delay in lodging the F.I.R. specially, when the delay has been properly explained. It is further contended that the applicants have used the forged death certificate in the mutation proceedings and on the basis of those false papers, their names were entered into the revenue record. Hence it cannot be said that there was no wrongful gain to the applicants. It is further submitted that whatever has been argued by learned counsel for the applicants is the proposed disputed defence which, as per settled legal position, cannot be looked into at the threshold of a case i.e. at the very initial stage when only charge-sheet has been filed. It is lastly submitted that no benefit can be given to the applicants on the basis of the case laws cited by learned counsel for the applicants because the facts before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in all these cases are entirely different from the facts of instant case.

12. Considered the rival submissions advanced by the parties.

13. From the perusal of the material on record and looking into the facts of the case, at this stage it cannot be said that no offence is made out against the applicants. All the submissions made at bar relates to the disputed question of fact, which cannot be adjudicated upon by this Court in exercise of power conferred under Section 482 Cr.P.C.. At this stage only prima facie case is to be seen in the light of the law laid down by Supreme Court in cases of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1960 S.C. 866, State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 426, State of Bihar Vs. P.P.Sharma, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 192, Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. Vs. Mohd. Saraful Haq and another (Para-10) 2005 SCC (Cr.) 283 and recently in A.R.C.J. Vs. Nimra Carglass Technics (P) Ltd. (2016) 1 SCC 348. The submissions made by the learned counsel for the applicants call for adjudication on pure questions of fact which may be adequately adjudicated upon only by the trial court and while doing so even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into by the trial court in this case. This Court does not deem it proper, and therefore cannot be persuaded to have a pre-trial before the actual trial begins. All the submissions made at bar by Sri V.M. Zaidi, learned counsel for the applicants, are the disputed defence of the accused, which cannot be considered at this stage. Moreover, the applicants have got a right of discharge through a proper application for the said purpose and they are free to take all the submissions taken here in the said discharge application before the Trial Court.

14. I have carefully gone through all the judgments cited by learned counsel for the applicants and I am of the considered view that none of these judgments are applicable to the instant case.

15. Much stress has been laid by learned counsel for the applicants on the delay in lodging the F.I.R. in the instant case, relying on the law laid down in Savitri Pandey's case (supra) in which the Hon'ble Apex Court had quashed the F.I.R.

16. The applicants cannot be given any benefit on the basis of aforesaid judgment as the facts of the instant case are entirely different. In the case of Savitri Pandey (supra), F.I.R. was lodged after a lapse of 19 years, but it was lodged against as many as fifteen persons, without even assigning their separate roles. To the contrary, in the instant case, specific roles have been assigned to the applicants and delay has also been explained.

17. In wake of above discussion, both the applications appear to be devoid of merit and are liable to be dismissed. The prayer for quashing the entire proceedings and impugned orders passed in the aforesaid cases is liable to be refused.

18. Accordingly both these applications are dismissed. Interim order, if any stands vacated.

19. However, it is open for the applicants to move the discharge applications before the court concerned at the appropriate stage and to put forth all the aforesaid submissions before the trial court and if any such application is moved by them before the court concerned, it shall be disposed of by a reasoned order.

Criminal law —Section 482 CrPC — Criminal Appeal — Order of acquittal — Case instituted upon complaint — Section 378(4) CrPC — Special leave to appeal — Without grant of leave — Proceedings illegal and without jurisdiction — Subhash Chand Vs. State (Delhi Admin) — Proceedings stayed.

The proceedings of criminal Complaint Case No. 2133 of 2014 (Smit. Prema Devi Vs. Smt. Girja Devi & others) was carried out for prosecution on four accused persons (present applicants) for offences under sections 500 and 501 IPC. After affording opportunity to prosecution and defence side, the Judicial Magistrate, Court No.-10, Jhansi had passed judgment dated 12.2.2015 by which accused persons were acquitted of the charges.(Para 2)

Against said judgment dated 12.2.2015 passed by the trial court, a Criminal Appeal No. 23 of 2015 (Smt. Prema Devi Vs. State of UP & others) was preferred by complainant of the original case. In this appeal the respondents (present applicants) had moved application 16-B for quashing the proceedings of the said appeal. After affording opportunity of hearing to the parties, the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.-10, Jhansi has rejected the said Application No. 16-B and fixed the date for hearing of the appeal. Against said order of Sessions Court, present application has been preferred by accused of original case.(Para 3)

Held: (Para:-8,9,13)

1. This is settled legal position that without any formal grant of leave to appeal by High Court, the proceedings of appeal on behalf of complainant cannot be carried out against order of acquittal in case instituted upon complaint. If no special leave is granted to complainant, he cannot appeal against order of acquittal in complaint case.

2. Therefore the arguments of learned counsel for the applicants are apparently acceptable.

3. Till further orders, proceedings of Criminal Appeal No. 23 of 2015, Smt. Prema Devi Vs. State of UP & others, under section 372 CrPC, police station Prem Nagar, District Jhansi pending in the court of Addl. Sessions Judge, Jhansi shall remain stayed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Present Ms. Divya Ojha for applicants and AGA for the OP No.-1 State. Heard and perused the records.

2. The proceedings of criminal Complaint Case No. 2133 of 2014 (Smt. Prema Devi Vs. Smt. Girja Devi & others) was carried out for prosecution on four accused persons (present applicants) for offences under sections 500 and 501 IPC. After affording opportunity to prosecution and defence side, the Judicial Magistrate, Court No.-10, Jhansi had passed judgment dated 12.2.2015 by which accused persons were acquitted of the charges.

3. Against said judgment dated 12.2.2015 passed by the trial court, a Criminal Appeal No. 23 of 2015 (Smt. Prema Devi Vs. State of UP & others) was preferred by complainant of the original case. In this appeal the respondents (present applicants) had moved application 16-B for quashing the proceedings of the said appeal. After affording opportunity of hearing to the parties, the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.-10, Jhansi has rejected the said Application No. 16-B and fixed the date for hearing of the appeal. Against said order of Sessions Court, present application has been preferred by accused of original case.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants contended that impugned order dated 27.6.2016 is erroneous because under section 378(4) CrPC, appeal against acquittal can be admitted only after grant of leave to special appeal by this court. She submitted that since this mandatory formality has not been complied with in proceedings of Criminal Appeal no. 23 of 2015 so the proceedings before lower sessions court is illegal and without jurisdiction. She cited case of Subhash Chand Vs. State (Delhi Admin), (2013) 2 SCC 17.

5. These contentions were refuted by the learned AGA and who contended that such matter has been referred by Single Judge of this Court to Division Bench for consideration. Since there appears direct judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court, therefore, the contentions of learned AGA are not acceptable.

6. Section 378(4) of CrPC reads as under:

378 (4). "If such an order of acquittal is passed in any case instituted upon complaint and the High Court, on an application made to it by the complainant in this behalf, grants special leave to appeal from the order of acquittal, the complainant may present such an appeal to the High Court."

7. Subhash Chand Vs. State (Delhi Admin), (2013) 2 SCC 17 the Apex Court had held :

"19. Sub-section (4) of Section 378 makes provision for appeal against an order of acquittal passed in a case instituted upon complaint. It states that in such case if the complainant makes an application to the High Court and the High Court grants special leave to appeal, the complainant may present such an appeal to the High Court. This sub-section speaks of "special leave" as against sub-section (3) relating to other appeals which speaks of "leave". Thus, the complainant's appeal against an order of acquittal is a category by itself. The complainant could be a private person or a public servant. This is evident from sub-section (5) which refers to application filed for "special leave" by the complainant. It grants six months' period of limitation to a complainant who is a public servant and sixty days in every other case for filing application. Sub-section (6) is important. It states that if in any case the complainant's application for "special leave" under sub-section (4) is refused no appeal from the order of acquittal shall lie under sub-section (1) or under sub-section (2). Thus, if "special leave" is not granted to the complainant to appeal against an order of acquittal the matter must end there. Neither the District Magistrate nor the State Government can appeal against that order of acquittal. The idea appears to be to accord quietus to the case in such a situation."

8. This is settled legal position that without any formal grant of leave to appeal by High Court, the proceedings of appeal on behalf of complainant cannot be carried out against order of acquittal in case instituted upon complaint. If no special leave is granted to complainant, he cannot appeal against order of acquittal in complaint case.

9. Therefore the arguments of learned counsel for the applicants are apparently acceptable.

10. Notice on behalf of State has been accepted by the AGA. Issue notice to opposite party no.-2.

11. The respondents may file counter-affidavit within three weeks. After it rejoinder affidavit may be filed within two weeks.

12. List thereafter.

13. Till further orders, proceedings of Criminal Appeal No. 23 of 2015, Smt. Prema Devi Vs. State of UP & others, under section 372 CrPC, police station Prem Nagar, District Jhansi pending in the court of Addl. Sessions Judge, Jhansi shall remain stayed.

Central Excise Appeal No.- 214 Of 2016

Counsel for the Respondent:

Central Excise Act, 1944 – Cenvat Credit — Refund — Period prior to registration — Service tax registration — Condition precedent — Notification 5/2006-C.E. (N.T.) — Rule 5 Cenvat Credit Rules 2004 — Input service used in providing output service exported — Refund cannot be denied — Appeal dismissed

This appeal has arisen from judgment and order dated 15.12.2015 passed by Customs, Excise & Service Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal") in Excise Appeal Nos. 52520 and 53049 of 2014 whereby Tribunal has rejected appeal of Revenue against order passed by Commissioner allowing refund to Assessee.(Para 1)

Learned Counsel for appellant contended that Assessee was registered with Department on 20.12.2011 but refund was claimed for the period earlier thereto, i.e April 2011 to September 2011, and no refund therefore, could have been claimed when Assessee was not registered(Para 2)

Held (Paras:- 15,20-23)

1.We do not find anything in the aforesaid rules which require registration as a condition or eligibility to claim refund. Even Form-A no where suggests that any such condition must be observed.

2.The judgement of Madras High Court therefore, was clearly rendered in the facts of that case. Be that as it may, we are inclined to accept the view taken by Karnataka High Court considering the fact that in the rules of refund of Cenvat credit, we do not find any such requirement of registration as a condition precedent or eligibility condition for claiming refund.

3.Moreover, if refund is otherwise admissible to a party by a Tax Department, interpretation to the Statute which justify refund to the party must be given for the reason that State or Tax Department cannot be expected to retain Revenue which legally is refundable to the party. It should not be allowed to be retained when legally Revenue is not entitled to such money.

4. Moreover, in Formica India Division v. Collector of Central Excise 1995(77) E.L.T 511 (S.C.) Court has also observed that refund should not be denied on technical grounds. This shows that a view which does not contradict with any express fiscal provision, should be taken in favour of Assessee, if there is any scope of two views.

5. In view of above discussions, we answer the aforesaid question against appellant and dismissed this appeal.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.

Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. This appeal has arisen from judgment and order dated 15.12.2015 passed by Customs, Excise & Service Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal") in Excise Appeal Nos. 52520 and 53049 of 2014 whereby Tribunal has rejected appeal of Revenue against order passed by Commissioner allowing refund to Assessee.

2. Learned Counsel for appellant contended that Assessee was registered with Department on 20.12.2011 but refund was claimed for the period earlier thereto, i.e April 2011 to September 2011, and no refund therefore, could have been claimed when Assessee was not registered.

3. Shri Krishna Agarwal learned counsel appearing for appellant relied on a Madras High Court decision in Commissioner of Central Excise, Coimbatore versus Sutham Nylocots wherein refund of duty for the period prior to registration of Assessee was denied. We find that in the present case, Tribunal has followed a judgment of Karnataka High Court in mPortal India Wireless Sollution P.Ltd. vs.C.S.T, Bangalore wherein it has been held that registration with Department is not a pre requisit for claiming Cenvat Credit and therefore, refund cannot be denied for this reason above.

4. Thus the only question up for consideration in this appeal is "whether appellant is justified in denying refund to the Assessee for the period, prior to his registration with Department".

5. The Assessee M/s Atrenta India Private Limited is engaged in providing Information Services namely Information Technology Software Service falling under section 65(105)(zzzze) of Chapter V of Finance Act, 1994 (hereinafter referred to as 'Finance Act, 1994').

6. Application for the period July 2011 to September 2011 was filed for claiming refund of Rs.6,09,808/- on 28.9.2012.

7. Application was rejected by Assistant Commissioner, Customs & Central Excise Division-1 Noida (hereinafter referred to as "ACCCE"). The ground taken by ACCCE is that Assessee was not registered during claim period hence not eligible to take refund of Cenvat Credit under rule 3 of Rules, 2004 read with Rule 4 of Service Tax Rules 1994.

8. Assessee preferred an appeal before Commissioner (Appeals) who allowed the same by order dated 28.10.2013 and directed ACCCE to examine to claim of refund subject to verification of documents etc.

9. Commissioner (Appeals) held that Adjudicating Authority wrongly interpreted Section 69 of Finance Act 1994 read with Rule 4 of Export of Services Rule 2005 in observing that Assessee was required to pay service tax, hence, was obliged to obtain service tax registration. Commissioner (Appeals) held that service provided by Assessee were chargeable to 'Service Tax' under section 65(105) of Finance Act 1994 but the same was not liable to pay service tax in terms of Rule 4 of Export of Services Rules 2005. It also referred and relied on Tribunal's decisions in Commissioner of Service Tax Chennai vs. E-Care India Pvt.Ltd.2011 (022) STR 0529 and M/s Sutham Nylocots vs.CCE, 2005 (188) ELT 26. It held that in view of Karnataka High Court judgment in mPortal India Wireless Solutions P.Ltd. versus C.S.T Bangalore 2012 (27) S.T.R.134 (Kar.), service tax registration was not mandatory for refund of accumulated Cenvat credit tax, paid on inputs Services, used for export services.

10. It is also said that a similar view that non registration of unit cannot be a basis for denial of refund especially when there is no such condition in notification for allowing benefit of Cenvat credit in terms of Rule 5 of Cenvat Credit Rule, 2004 was taken by Tribunal at Delhi in M/s Intellirisk Management India Pvt.Ltd. vs.CCE Noida in Excise Appeal No.2216-2217 of 2010 and M/s IQORR India Services Pvt.Ltd. vs.GCE, Noida in Excise Appeal No.2218-2223 of 2010 which have been accepted by Commissioner of Central Excise, Noida.

11. Appellant thereafter filed appeal before Tribunal at Allahabad which has been dismissed by impugned judgment and order relying on the judgment of Karnataka High Court in mPortal India Wireless Solutions P.Ltd.(Supra).

12. Learned counsel for appellant has placed before us the rules made for refund of Cenvat Credit vide Notification:5/2006-C.E(N.T) dated 14.3.2006. The aforesaid rules have been framed in exercise of powers conferred by rule 5 of CENVAT Credit Rules 2004 and in supersession of earlier Notification. It provides that refund of Cenvat Credit shall be allowed in respect of:

(a). Input or input service used in the manufacture of final product which is cleared for export under bond or letter of undertaking:

(b). Input or input service used in providing output service which has been exported without payment of service tax.

13. Rule 2 & 3 state that claim for refund would be submitted not once for any quarter in a calendar year and by manufacturer or provider of output service by submitting an application in Form-A. The said rules are quoted as under:

“(2) The claims for such refund are submitted not more than once for any quarter in a calendar year

Provided that where, -

The average export clearances of final products or the output services in value terms is fifty percent or more of the total clearances of final products or output services, as the case may be, in the preceding quarter; or

The claim is filed by Export Oriented Unit, the claim for such refund may be submitted for each calendar month

(3) The manufacturer or provider of output service, as the case may be, submits an application in Form A annexed to this notification to the Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise or the Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise, as the case may be, in whose jurisdiction.

(a) the factory from which the final products are exported is situated, along with the Shipping Bill or Bill of Export, duly certified by the officer of customs to the effect that goods have in fact been exported; or

(b) the registered premises of the service provider from which output services are exported is situated, along with a copy of the invoice and a certificate from the bank certifying realization of export proceeds.”

14. Rule 4 provides that refund is allowed only in those circumstances where a manufacturer or provider of output service is not in a position to utilize the input credit or input service credit allowed under rule 3 of said rules against goods exported during the quarter or month to which the claim relates.

15. We do not find anything in the aforesaid rules which require registration as a condition or eligibility to claim refund. Even Form-A nowhere suggests that any such condition must be observed.

16. Karnataka High Court in mPortal India Wireless Solutions P.Ltd. (Supra) has said in paragraph 7, as under:

“ Insofar as requirement of registration with the department as a condition precedent for claiming Cenvat credit is concerned, learned counsel appearing for both parties were unable to point out any provision in the Cenvat Credit Rules which impose such restriction. In the absence of a statutory provision which prescribes that registration is mandatory and that if such a registration is not made the assessee is not entitled to the benefit of refund, the three authorities committed a serious error in rejecting the claim for refund on the ground which is not existence in law. Therefore, said finding recorded by the Tribunal as well as by the lower authorities cannot be sustained. Accordingly, it is set aside.”

17. In Commercial of Central Excise versus Sutham Nylocotes (Supra), the decision of Madras High Court, relied by appellant, three issues which came up for consideration:

1. Whether the Appellate Tribunal is correct in setting aside the orders passed by the lower authorities with regard to payment of interest for the period in dispute namely, 1-4-2001 to 31-1-2002 when Section 11AB of Central Excise Act, 1944, which stands amended with effect from 11.5.2001?

2. Whether the Appellate Tribunal is correct in holding that the respondent has not misstated the description of the goods with intent to evade payment of duty when the respondent has not disputed the descriptions of the goods as proposed by the Department and paid the duty?

3. Whether the Appellate Tribunal is correct in holding that since the respondent has now registered with the Excise Department and is following the procedures and hence the respondent can legitimately claim the benefit of Modvat credit on the yarns used in the manufacture of fabrics for the period in dispute?

18. The third issue was considered by Madras High Court in paragraphs 16 to 18 of the judgment and it has observed that Assessee had not obtained Central Excise Registration Certificate while manufacturing industrial fabrics and had not followed any Central Excise procedural formalities while clearing such industrial fabrics. This fact was not admitted by Assessee. First Appellate Authority held that Assessee had not fulfilled several conditions stipulated statutorily such as duty paid, nature of inputs, use of duty paid inputs in the manufacture of dutiable finished goods to substantiate their claim for Cenvat credit. Having said so, Madras High Court has further observed in paragraph 17 that-

“First Appellate Authority pointed out that the Assessee had not satisfactorily explained before the original authority or substantiated before the First Appellate Authority that they are entitled to claim for Cenvat credit. This finding of fact recorded by the First Appellate Authority has not been set at naught by Tribunal rather no reasons have been given by Tribunal for permitting the credit to be availed by Assessee.”

19. It is in this background, Madras High Court in Commissioner of Central Excise versus Sutham Nylocots (Supra) said in paragraph-18, as under:

“Admittedly, at the relevant point of time, Assessee was not registered with the Department and in fact, it subsequently obtained registration from the Department and therefore, if at all Assessee is entitled to any credit it would accrue only subsequent to the date of registration with the Department. Even though Assessee claimed exemption on the ground that they had subsequently registered with the Department, as regards liability as found in the order of adjudication as well as in the order of Tribunal, we do not find any justifiable ground to accept the plea of Assessee based on the exemption Notification alone that the registration being not a mandatory one, Assessee would be entitled to the benefit of Modvat credit. “

20. The judgement of Madras High Court therefore, was clearly rendered in the facts of that case. Be that as it may, we are inclined to accept the view taken by Karnataka High Court considering the fact that in the rules of refund of Cenvat credit, we do not find any such requirement of registration as a condition precedent or eligibility condition for claiming refund.

21. Moreover, if refund is otherwise admissible to a party by a Tax Department, interpretation to the Statute which justify refund to the party must be given for the reason that State or Tax Department cannot be expected to retain Revenue which legally is refundable to the party. It should not be allowed to be retained when legally Revenue is not entitled to such money.

22. Moreover, in Formica India Division v. Collector of Central Excise 1995(77) E.L.T 511 (S.C.) Court has also observed that refund should not be denied on technical grounds. This shows that a view which does not contradict with any express fiscal provision, should be taken in favour of Assessee, if there is any scope of two views.

23. In view of above discussions, we answer the aforesaid question against appellant and dismissed this appeal.

Civil Revision No.- 123 Of 2016

1. The facts of this case reveal that the minor was residing at Saharanpur with his parents. He was removed from there and shifted to Meerut on account of compelling circumstances otherwise he would have continued to live at Saharanpur had the unfortunate tragic incident leading to the death of his mother had not taken place. Therefore, the place of shifting of the minor under compulsion would not be regarded as the place where he 'ordinarily resides' and that Saharanpur alone would be the place of his residence.

2. In the case at hand neither the minor nor his parents ever had any intention to make Meerut their place of ordinary residence or abode or that of the child. They were living in Saharanpur and were having their abode at that place but for the aforesaid the unfortunate and tragic incident.

3. Accordingly, Saharanpur was the place where the minor ordinarily resided before his shifting to Meerut under the compelling circumstances.

4. In view of above, the court below has not committed any error of law or jurisdiction in rejecting the application/objection raised by the revisionist regarding the jurisdiction of the court.

5. This apart there is another aspect of the matter. The High Court in exercise of powers under Section 24 C.P.C. is competent to shift a case from one court of the district to a court of competent jurisdiction in another district. Therefore, even if the aforesaid case for any reason does not lie at Saharanpur or is treated to be within the jurisdiction of Meerut, it would stand transferred to Saharanpur to facilitate its decision where the maternal grandfather of the minor had chosen to file the application under Sections 7 and 8 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 as any shifting of the case from Saharanpur to Meerut would not only cause inconvenience and delay but would also give rise to apprehension to the applicants that they will not get justice at Meerut where the contesting opposite parties are residing.

6. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I find no reason to disturb order impugned passed by the court below and dismisses the revision with no order as to costs.

Case Law discussed:

1. Jagdish Chandra Gupta Vs. Dr. Kumari Vimla Gupta, AIR 2003 All. 317 — para 31
2. Ruchi Majoo Vs. Sanjeev Majoo, (2011) 6 SCC 479 — para 33

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. A couple Ashwani Singh and Smt. Geetu Singh were residing at Saharanpur along with their minor son Aditya Singh @ Adi, now aged about 2 and 1/2 years.

2. The husband Ashwani Singh happened to be originally resident of Meerut whereas the wife Geetu Singh of Bareilly.

3. On 16.11.2014 Geetu Singh died in Saharanpur at her residence and in connection with her death, her husband Ashwani Singh and parents of the husband Smt. Munesh Singh and Pitamber Singh were arrested. In these circumstances, as there was no one to take care of the minor, he was given in custody of Prem Prakash, maternal uncle (Mama) of the husband, who lived at Meerut. Accordingly, the minor started living with Prem Prakash at Meerut w.e.f. 16.11.2014 after the unfortunate death of his mother. Later the parents of the husband were released on bail but he himself continues to be in jail.

4. The maternal grandfather (Nana) Vijay Pal Singh of the minor on 09.12.2014 moved an application under Section 7 & 8 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 in the court of District Judge, Saharanpur for his appointment as the guardian of the minor and his property. In the said application, the father and the grandparents of the minor and maternal uncle of the father of the minor, were all arrayed as the defendants.

5. The parents of the father of the minor on being released from jail moved an application taking an objection that the proceedings for appointment of the guardian of the minor are not maintainable at Saharanpur and that as the minor is ordinarily resident of Meerut, the court at Meerut alone would have jurisdiction over the matter.

6. The application after contest has been rejected on 17.02.2016 by the impugned order passed by the court below.

7. I have heard Sri Manish Goyal learned counsel for the revisionists and Sri R.D. Yadav, learned counsel appearing for the respondent no. 1.

8. The respondent no. 2 and 3 had not participated in the proceedings in the court below and are treated to be non contesting parties for the purpose of adjudication of this revision.

9. Sri Yadav raised an objection that the order is appealable under Section 47 of the Act and the revision is not maintainable.

10. Section 47 of the Act provides for the types of orders passed under the Act which are appealable to the High Court. The list of appealable orders does not specify that an order passed regarding the jurisdiction of the court is appealable.

11. Sri Yadav submits that the order is appealable under Clause (b) of Section 47 of the Act.

12. The aforesaid clause provides for an appeal against the order passed under Section 9 (3) of the Act directing for returning of the application for the appointment of a guardian. The order impugned is not an order directing for return of the application under Section 9 (3) of the Act rather it is an order rejecting application raising objection to territorial jurisdiction. Accordingly, it is not appealable under Section 47 of the Act.

13. Sri Yadav has next argued that the order impugned is not revisable as it is interlocutory in nature.

14. There is no doubt that the order impugned is interlocutory in nature. It is not appealable as held above. However, by the said order, the court below has finally decided one stage of the proceedings regarding jurisdiction of the court and as such it falls within the category of the case decided.

15. The order impugned rules about the jurisdiction of the court to entertain application under Section 7/ 8 of the Act and as such decides the issue of jurisdiction.

16. It is settled law that any issue decided by the trial court in a suit is revisable, if no appeal is provided against it. Accordingly, as the impugned order decides the issue of jurisdiction of the Court finally, it is a case decided and revisable under Section 115 CPC.

17. In view of the above, the objection that the impugned order is not revisable is overruled and the revision is held to be maintainable.

18. The submission of Sri Manish Goyal, learned counsel for the revisionists is that under Section 9 of the Act an application for an appoint of a guardian of a person of the minor and of his property can be filed in the district court where the minor 'ordinarily resides' or in a district having jurisdiction of a place where he has property. Since in the present case at the relevant time i.e. at the time of filing the application, the minor was admittedly residing at Meerut, the court at Saharanpur has no jurisdiction to decide the same.

19. Sri Yadav contends that the minor at the time of incident in which his mother died was living at Saharanpur where his father was working, therefore, the court at Saharanpur alone has the jurisdiction over the matter.

20. Section 9 (1) of the Act provides that in respect of guardianship of a person of minor, the application shall be made to the district court having jurisdiction of the place where the minor ordinarily resides. In other words, the jurisdiction of the court for the purpose of filing an application for appointment of a guardian of the person of a minor would depend upon the place where the minor ordinarily resides.

21. Section 9 (2) of the Act lays down that in respect of the guardianship of the property of the minor, the application may be made either to the district court where the minor ordinarily resides or to the district court having jurisdiction of a place where the property of the minor is situate.

22. A combined reading of both the sub sections 1 & 2 of Section 9 of the Act would reveal that in both the cases the application for guardianship of a person of the minor and his property would lie before the district court having jurisdiction of the place where the minor ordinarily resides.

23. In view of the above, in order to ascertain the jurisdiction of the court where the application under Section 7/8 of the Act in the instant case has to be moved is to decide the place where the minor 'ordinarily resides'.

24. The phrase "the minor ordinarily resides" used in Section 9 of the Act is crucial for determining the jurisdiction of the District Court for the purposes of filing an application under Section 7/8 of the Act for the appointment of a guardian of a minor.

25. There is no dispute that at the time of the incident dated 16.11.2014 when the mother of the minor died, he was residing at Saharanpur with her parents where his father was working. However, at the time when the application for appointment of guardian was filed he was actually residing at Meerut with the maternal uncle (Mama) of his father in whose custody he was entrusted as his mother had died and the father was put behind the bars.

26. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, it would be seen that the minor was residing at Saharanpur and that he started living at Meerut under the compelling circumstances.

27. Section 9 of the Act does not use the phrase "ordinarily residing" rather uses the phrase "ordinarily resides". The expression "ordinarily resides" and "ordinarily residing" are not synonymous and are not interchangeable but contemplates two different situations.

28. The two phrases have a distinct meaning. The expression "ordinarily residing" is of present continuous tense and denotes the actual place of living whereas the expression "ordinarily resides" refers to the place where a person is expected or supposed to be living. A place of living under compulsion howsoever long it may be cannot be treated as a place where the person ordinarily resides.

29. A place of permanent abode of a person or where he actually resides or is supposed to reside is the place of his ordinary residence. It normally follows that the children of such a person would be deemed to ordinarily reside at the same place. Since the parents of the minor in the present case were residing and having a permanent abode at Saharanpur irrespective of their place of origin, they would to be treated as ordinarily residing at Saharanpur. Accordingly, the minor would also be deemed to be ordinarily residing at that place.

30. The place where the minor was forced to shift to live with the maternal uncle (Mama) of his father that is Meerut on account of the unfortunate and tragic death of his mother would not make him to be ordinarily resident of the said place.

31. In Jagdish Chandra Gupta Vs. Dr. Kumari Vimla Gupta AIR 2003 All. 317 a Learned Single Judge of this court observed that the place where the minor ordinarily resides means a place where he is expected to reside but for the special circumstances and it excludes the places to which he may be removed at or about the time of the presentation of application for appointment of guardian. The test is to find out the place where the minor was ordinarily residing and where his residence would have continued but for his removal to a different place.

32. The facts of this case reveal that the minor was residing at Saharanpur with his parents. He was removed from there and shifted to Meerut on account of compelling circumstances otherwise he would have continued to live at Saharanpur had the unfortunate tragic incident leading to the death of his mother had not taken place. Therefore, the place of shifting of the minor under compulsion would not be regarded as the place where he 'ordinarily resides' and that Saharanpur alone would be the place of his residence.

33. The expression "where minor ordinarily resides" used in Section 9 of the Act come up for consideration before the Supreme Court in the case of Ruchi Majoo vs. Sanjeev Majoo (2011) 6 SCC 479. The Court held the place of ordinary residence of a person depends much on the intention of the person whether he wants to make the place as his ordinary abode.

34. In the case at hand neither the minor nor his parents ever had any intention to make Meerut their place of ordinary residence or abode or that of the child. They were living in Saharanpur and were having their abode at that place but for the aforesaid the unfortunate and tragic incident.

35. Accordingly, Saharanpur was the place where the minor ordinarily resided before his shifting to Meerut under the compelling circumstances.

36. In view of above, the court below has not committed any error of law or jurisdiction in rejecting the application/objection raised by the revisionist regarding the jurisdiction of the court.

37. This apart there is another aspect of the matter. The High Court in exercise of powers under Section 24 C.P.C. is competent to shift a case from one court of the district to a court of competent jurisdiction in another district. Therefore, even if the aforesaid case for any reason does not lie at Saharanpur or is treated to be within the jurisdiction of Meerut, it would stand transferred to Saharanpur to facilitate its decision where the maternal grand-father of the minor had chosen to file the application under Sections 7 and 8 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 as any shifting of the case from Saharanpur to Meerut would not only cause inconvenience and delay but would also give rise to apprehension to the applicants that they will not get justice at Meerut where the contesting opposite parties are residing.

38. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I find no reason to disturb order impugned passed by the court below and dismisses the revision with no order as to costs.

Contempt petition — Disobedience and non compliance — Judgment and order dated 21.01.2010 — Consequential benefits — Suspension and departmental inquiry quashed — Forged High School mark-sheet — Fraud — Misrepresentation — Misleading the Court — No willful disobedience — Contempt petition dismissed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that despite of the order dated 21.01.2010 passed by the writ court, the opposite parties have not paid the consequential benefits to the petitioner, while the order of suspension and departmental inquiry was quashed by the writ court. It has also been submitted that while passing the order dated 27.12.2012, which is annexed as Annexure-5 to the short counter affidavit filed on behalf of opposite party no. 4, no opportunity of hearing was afforded to the petitioner, therefore, he was not aware of that order.(Para 5)

On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for opposite party no. 4, has submitted that not only the mark-sheet of High School of the petitioner was found to be forged, but the petitioner has obtained the said order by mentioning the Appeal No. 44430 of 1997, District Basic Education Officer, Pilibhit Vs. U.P. Public Service Tribunal in Allahabad High Court, while the actual number of the writ petition was Writ-A No. 44450 of 1997, Adhyaksh Zila Parishad and another Vs. U.P. State Public Service Tribunal and another, thereby the petitioner again committed forgery. Therefore, there is no willful disobedience of the order passed by the writ court(Para 6)

Held:(Para:-16-18,21-22)

1.The Principal Secretary, after verification of the facts, came to the conclusion that roll number 73784 of High School Examination, 1961 was allotted to Km. Kunti daughter of Shri Vishnu Das and the said roll number was not allotted to the petitioner- Bhagwan Das Srivastava. It also reveals that on the mark-sheet, the roll number was mentioned as 73847 and a candidate in the name of Bhagawan Das Srivastava son of Badri Prasad had appeared in the High School Examination,1961 from Shri Ramchandra Municipal Intermediate College, Bisalpur, Pilibhit having date of birth of 02.02.1943 and he was declared fail. Upon this basis, the petitioner was suspended on 23.09.1970. The inquiry was conducted against the petitioner after serving the charge-sheet upon him and in that sequence, the petitioner has not submitted any reply to the charge-sheet, but has submitted his resignation. The Principal Secretary has come to the clear conclusion that the petitioner has obtained the job on the basis of the forged High School mark-sheet/certificate. Therefore, he is not entitled for any consequential benefits for the suspension period since 23.09.1970 to 31.08.1998.

2.From the aforesaid conduct of the petitioner, it appears that the petitioner adopted forged methods since very inception of the job. He manipulated the mark-sheet and the certificate of the High School examination and obtained the job on the forged mark-sheet /certificate of the High School examination. He was under obligation to have filed the reply to the charge-sheet, but instead of filing the reply to the charge-sheet, he submitted his resignation, upon which the department passed the order which was challenged before the Public Services Tribunal. The conduct of forgery did not end there but also continued by filing Writ Petition No. 222 (S/B) of 2004 upon the wrong facts and mentioning wrong Appeal No. 44430 of 1997. The order dated 27.12.2012 has been passed in compliance with the order dated 06.07.2012 passed in Writ-A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others, in which the petitioner was also opposite party no.5. From the conduct of the petitioner, it appears that he avoided the disciplinary inquiry as well as he willfully did not appear before the competent authority, who issued written information which was served personally upon the petitioner regarding compliance of the order dated 06.07.2012 passed in WritA No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others .

3.In the aforesaid circumstances, I am of the opinion that no contempt is made out against the opposite party and have no hesitation to say that the opposite party should have lodged the First Information Report against the petitioner for submitting a false and fabricated High School mark-sheet and certificate and no leniency should have been shown for such a fraudulent person, who has wasted the precious time of the Court as well as of the Public Services Tribunal. Further the opposite party may recover all the payments made to the petitioner consequent to his appointment, as arrears of land revenue.

4.Having considered the facts and circumstances of the case, I am of the opinion that this contempt petition is liable to be dismissed.

5.This contempt petition is accordingly dismissed.

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Aditya Nath Mittal, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing counsel and perused the record.

2. This contempt petition has been filed with the prayer for disobedience and non compliance of judgment and order dated 21.01.2010 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 222 (S/B) of 2004.

3. The operative portion of the judgment and order dated 21.01.2010 passed by the writ court is reproduced here below:-

"Though we find that the contempt petition was barred by the limitation, the respondents appears to have refuse to implement the order and to give all consequential benefits including pay allowances and seniority to the petitioner on the ground that the Basic Shiksha Adhikari has filed an appeal against petitioner. Learned Standing Counsel has not able to provide any positive information in this regard. No appeal is maintainable against the judgment of the U.P. Public Service Tribunal. A writ petition is maintainable, but that the District Basic Education Officer appears to have either wrongly mentioned the number of the writ petition, or is under some wrong impression. It is admitted that the order of the tribunal dated 30.5.1997 was not stayed and thus the petitioner is entitled to all consequential benefits, of the order by which the suspension and departmental inquiry was quashed. The writ petition is consequentially allowed to the extent that the petitioner will be allowed all the consequential benefits, which has been deprived to him so far, subject to the result of any writ petition filed against the judgment. The order shall be complied within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before the respondent."

4. Short counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of opposite party no. 4.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that despite of the order dated 21.01.2010 passed by the writ court, the opposite parties have not paid the consequential benefits to the petitioner, while the order of suspension and departmental inquiry was quashed by the writ court. It has also been submitted that while passing the order dated 27.12.2012, which is annexed as Annexure-5 to the short counter affidavit filed on behalf of opposite party no. 4, no opportunity of hearing was afforded to the petitioner, therefore, he was not aware of that order.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for opposite party no. 4, has submitted that not only the mark-sheet of High School of the petitioner was found to be forged, but the petitioner has obtained the said order by mentioning the Appeal No. 44430 of 1997, District Basic Education Officer, Pilibhit Vs. U.P. Public Service Tribunal in Allahabad High Court, while the actual number of the writ petition was Writ-A No. 44450 of 1997, Adhyaksh Zila Parishad and another Vs. U.P. State Public Service Tribunal and another, thereby the petitioner again committed forgery. Therefore, there is no willful disobedience of the order passed by the writ court.

7. From the perusal of the order dated 21.01.2010 passed in Writ Petition No. 222 (S/B) of 2004, it appears that the petitioner has mentioned that the District Basic Education Officer has reinstated the petitioner on 31.08.1998 and preferred an Appeal No. 44430 of 1997, District Basic Education Officer, Pilibhit, Vs. U.P. State Public Service Tribunal in Allahabad High Court. In the order dated 21.01.2010, it has also come that the petitioner was required to find out the status of the appeal and as per the inquiry report, Writ Petition No. 44430 of 1997, Km. Mamta Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others was still pending.

8. In paras 11 and 12 of the short counter affidavit filed by opposite party no 4, the following averments have been made specifically:-

"11. That it is submitted that the petitioner Bhagwan Das Srivastava has not come with clean hands before this Hon'ble Court, as he had forged his High School Mark-sheet and obtained the order of reinstatement dated 31.8.1998 by mentioning Appeal No. 44430 of 1997 (Annexure No.3 to the contempt petition) instead of Writ A No. 44450 of 1997 (Adhyaksh Zila Parishad and another Vs. U.P. State Public Service Tribunal and another) which is a forged document.

12. That from the aforesaid submission the High Court found that the petitioner Bhagwan Das Srivastava, has obtained the judgment and order dated 21.01.2010 by playing fraud, misrepresentation and misleading this Hon'ble High Court."

9. In reply to the aforesaid averments, the petitioner has simply denied the facts and has not specifically controverted the fact that the petitioner has obtained the judgment and order dated 21.01.2010 by playing fraud, misrepresentation and misleading the Court.

10. In the short counter affidavit filed on behalf of opposite party no. 4, it has also been mentioned that the petitioner has not come with clean hands as he has obtained the job on forged High School mark-sheet and further obtained the order of the reinstatement dated 31.08.1998 by mentioning the wrong appeal number.

11. In view of the specific allegations, no specific reply to the paras 11 and 12 of the short counter affidavit filed on behalf of opposite party no. 4 has been given, which goes to show the high handedness of the petitioner. Further Annexure R.A.1 has been filed regarding Writ-A No. 44450 of 1997, Adhyaksh Zila Parishad and another Vs. U.P. State Public Service Tribunal and another, which has been dismissed for non prosecution vide order dated 02.02.2010. It also appears that Appeal No. 44430 of 1997 absolutely does not belong to the petitioner and he has concealed the fact regarding the dismissal of Writ-A No. 44450 of 1997 from the Court.

12. Alongwith the short counter affidavit, a copy of the order dated 06.07.2012 passed in Writ- A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others has been filed as Annexure No. 4. This Court vide order dated 6.7.2012 disposed of the said writ petition with the following observations:-

"In view of specific allegation that respondent no. 5 was failed in the High School examination and the mark sheet filed by him for the purpose of appointment in the institution is forged, it is desirable to provide that respondent no. 1 shall himself summon the original records pertaining to appointment of respondent no. 5 and shall get his High School mark sheet verified from the Board of High School & Intermediate, U.P. at Allahabad. If after verification it is found that respondent no. 5 in fact has failed in the High School examination and the mark sheet filed by his for the purpose of appointment is a forged document, he shall issue necessary orders for recall/review application being filed before the Public Services Tribunal brining to its knowledge the fact that a person who has failed in the High School examination can never be appointed in an aided and recognized institution nor there can be an order for payment of salary from the state exchequer.

Let the aforesaid exercise be completed within four weeks from the date a certified copy of this order is filed before the respondent no.1. The respondent no. 1 shall pass a reasoned speaking order after affording opportunity of hearing to respondent no. 5."

13. Opposite party no. 4 has passed a detailed speaking and reasoned order on 27.12.2012 in compliance with the order dated 06.07.2012 passed by this Court at Allahabad in Writ- A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others, in which the present petitioner was also opposite party no.5.

14. The perusal of the said order dated 27.12.2012 reveals that the present petitioner was required to submit his original document regarding High School mark-sheet/certificate for compliance of the order dated 6.7.2012 passed in Writ-A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others. The petitioner was informed by letter nos. 3179/79-5-12 dated 7.11.2012 and 3297/79-5-12 dated 26.11.2012 through District Basic Education Officer, Pilibhit, which were personally served upon the petitioner on 27.11.2012, but in view of that notice, the petitioner had neither appeared before the competent authority nor prayed for any adjournment.

15. Again another opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner by letter dated 07.12.2012, which was personally served upon the petitioner on 10.10.2012 (It appears to be a typographical mistake and appears to be 10.12.2012), but even then despite of personal service, the petitioner has not appeared before the competent authority. In this regard, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner had no information, has no substance because in the order dated 27.12.2012, the specific letter numbers as well as dates have been mentioned by the Principal Secretary, as such, there is no reason to disbelieve that.

16. The Principal Secretary, after verification of the facts, came to the conclusion that roll number 73784 of High School Examination, 1961 was allotted to Km. Kunti daughter of Shri Vishnu Das and the said roll number was not allotted to the petitioner- Bhagwan Das Srivastava. It also reveals that on the mark-sheet, the roll number was mentioned as 73847 and a candidate in the name of Bhagawan Das Srivastava son of Badri Prasad had appeared in the High School Examination, 1961 from Shri Ramchandra Municipal Intermediate College, Bisalpur, Pilibhit having date of birth of 02.02.1943 and he was declared fail. Upon this basis, the petitioner was suspended on 23.09.1970. The inquiry was conducted against the petitioner after serving the charge-sheet upon him and in that sequence, the petitioner has not submitted any reply to the charge-sheet, but has submitted his resignation. The Principal Secretary has come to the clear conclusion that the petitioner has obtained the job on the basis of the forged High School mark-sheet/certificate. Therefore, he is not entitled for any consequential benefits for the suspension period since 23.09.1970 to 31.08.1998.

17. From the aforesaid conduct of the petitioner, it appears that the petitioner adopted forged methods since very inception of the job. He manipulated the mark-sheet and the certificate of the High School examination and obtained the job on the forged mark-sheet /certificate of the High School examination. He was under obligation to have filed the reply to the charge-sheet, but instead of filing the reply to the charge-sheet, he submitted his resignation, upon which the department passed the order which was challenged before the Public Services Tribunal. The conduct of forgery did not end there but also continued by filing Writ Petition No. 222 (S/B) of 2004 upon the wrong facts and mentioning wrong Appeal No. 44430 of 1997. The order dated 27.12.2012 has been passed in compliance with the order dated 06.07.2012 passed in Writ-A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others, in which the petitioner was also opposite party no.5. From the conduct of the petitioner, it appears that he avoided the disciplinary inquiry as well as he willfully did not appear before the competent authority, who issued written information which was served personally upon the petitioner regarding compliance of the order dated 06.07.2012 passed in Writ-A No. 32253 of 2012, Rupesh Gangwar Vs. State of U.P. and others .

18. In the aforesaid circumstances, I am of the opinion that no contempt is made out against the opposite party and have no hesitation to say that the opposite party should have lodged the First Information Report against the petitioner for submitting a false and fabricated High School mark-sheet and certificate and no leniency should have been shown for such a fraudulent person, who has wasted the precious time of the Court as well as of the Public Services Tribunal. Further the opposite party may recover all the payments made to the petitioner consequent to his appointment, as arrears of land revenue.

19. Teaching is a very pious and noble profession and the disciples learn from their "Guru" the lessons of book as well as lessons of life, but when the "Guru" himself is a corrupt person, he destroys the whole of the society and such corrupt teachers also damage the high standards of morality and ethics.

20. When the petitioner was himself was a High School failed candidate and indulged in obtaining the job of teacher by playing fraud, then it can very well be imagined, that what good lessons he could have taught to his students. Certainly, he could have spoiled the career of thousands of students during his job of teacher after reinstatement since 1998 to the date of his retirement in the year 2009. This damage to the society cannot be compensated in terms of money. At the same time demanding consequential benefits of his so called service, goes to show that he has no shame for his misdeeds.

21. Having considered the facts and circumstances of the case, I am of the opinion that this contempt petition is liable to be dismissed.

22. This contempt petition is accordingly dismissed.

Criminal Law — Bail application — Case Crime No.167 of 2013 — Sections 498-A, 304-B, 302 I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P. Act — Husband of the deceased — Burn injuries — Delay in lodging the F.I.R. — Medical treatment — Inquest proceedings — Period of detention — Unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial — Bail granted

This bail application has been moved seeking the release of applicant on bail in connection with Case Crime No.167 of 2013, u/s 498-A, 304-B, 302 I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P. Act, P.S.-Raipurwa, District Kanpur Nagar. (Para 1)

Submission of counsel for the applicant is that applicant is the husband of the deceased and the incident is said to have taken place on 16.9.2013 in which the deceased received burn injuries and subsequently died on 23.9.2013 as a result thereof. Further submission is that the allegations of demanding the dowry and illtreating the wife are all false and concocted. It has been further submitted that actually the deceased accidentally got burnt and was thereafter immediately rushed to the hospital for providing medical succour to her. Even at the time of incident, the applicant tried to save her and in that process he himself received some burn injuries. Counsel has drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure No.4 which is the paper issued by Regency Hospital, Kanpur after the death in which it has been clearly mentioned that the deceased was brought to the hospital by her husband Sunil Kumar, the applicant. Several papers regarding medical treatment of the deceased have also been annexed as Annexure No.2 starting from Page-22 up till 52 of this application. The attention has also been drawn to Annexure No.3 which contains the medical papers with regard to treatment of applicant himself. It has been further pointed out that the inquest proceedings of the deceased took place on the date of the death i.e. 23.9.2013 itself and amongst the witnesses of inquest proceedings not only the brother of the applicant namely Prakash was one of the witnesses, the first informant, who is mother of the deceased, was also one of the witnesses in the inquest proceedings. Submission is that after the incident, the information about the same was immediately given to the parental side who had soon thereafter arrived and were all the time visiting the hospital. Counsel has also drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure No.7 which contains the photographs of cremation of the deceased in which also it has been pointed out that the husband is very much present. The contention is that after the deceased succumbed to her injuries the dead-body was handed over to the applicant who himself managed the cremation of the deceased and performed her last rites. Argument raised is that it is so significant to note that the F.I.R. of the case was lodged on 28.9.2013. Submission is that had there been any truth in the allegations of demanding the dowry or committing cruelty upon the deceased then it is wholly incomprehensible as to how and in what circumstances the first informant or any other members of her family still chose not to report the matter earlier and would be waiting for so long. Further submission is that the deceased also did not die on the day of occurrence and battled for life for several days after 15.9.2013 up till 23.9.2013. The next submission is that it is not the case in which the first informant was not having the knowledge about the occurrence or happenings with the deceased. Further contention is that if the background of cruelty and the history of demanding the dowry was existing already then after the deceased got burnt the most natural instinct of the first informant would have been to bring this matter before the police to investigate. Conspicuously enough even when the first informant was herself the witness of inquest proceedings, neither on that date when the police officers were very much present nor till even a few days thereafter she ever reported the matter. It was only on 28.9.2013 that after confabulations and concerts the F.I.R. was lodged which is obviously the result of afterthought with the purpose to blackmail the applicant. Submission is that the post incident conduct of the applicant in carrying the wife to the hospital, incurring huge expenditure with regard to her treatment and performing all the duties as husband even after her death are all circumstances which are compatible with the innocence of the applicant and are wholly inconsistent with his guilt. Further submission is that the extra-ordinary delay in reporting the matter despite the time and opportunity being available is also a very strong circumstance which goes a long way to indicate that subsequently developed story of ill-treating and demanding the dowry is not very credible in nature. Contention is that the final adjudication on the point of guilt or innocence of the accused can be done after proper trial but as of now the aforesaid circumstances create a strong prima facie case for bail in favour of applicant. Much emphasis has been laid by the counsel on the detention period and it has been pointed out that the applicant is languishing in jail since 27.01.2014 virtually without any trial and there is hardly any hope of early conclusion of trial. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is not having any criminal antecedents.(Para 4)

1.After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

2.Let the applicant-Sunil Kumar @ Jyoti, involved in Case Crime No.167 of 2013, u/s 498-A, 304-B, 302 I.P.C. and ¾ D.P. Act, P.S.Raipurwa, District-Kanpur Nagar be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions:-

(1)The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2)The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice

Case Law discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This bail application has been moved seeking the release of applicant on bail in connection with Case Crime No.167 of 2013, u/s 498-A, 304-B, 302 I.P.C. and D.P. Act, P.S.-Raipurwa, District-Kanpur Nagar.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

3. Perused the record.

4. Submission of counsel for the applicant is that applicant is the husband of the deceased and the incident is said to have taken place on 16.9.2013 in which the deceased received burn injuries and subsequently died on 23.9.2013 as a result thereof. Further submission is that the allegations of demanding the dowry and ill-treating the wife are all false and concocted. It has been further submitted that actually the deceased accidentally got burnt and was thereafter immediately rushed to the hospital for providing medical succour to her. Even at the time of incident, the applicant tried to save her and in that process he himself received some burn injuries. Counsel has drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure No.4 which is the paper issued by Regency Hospital, Kanpur after the death in which it has been clearly mentioned that the deceased was brought to the hospital by her husband Sunil Kumar, the applicant. Several papers regarding medical treatment of the deceased have also been annexed as Annexure No.2 starting from Page-22 up till 52 of this application. The attention has also been drawn to Annexure No.3 which contains the medical papers with regard to treatment of applicant himself. It has been further pointed out that the inquest proceedings of the deceased took place on the date of the death i.e. 23.9.2013 itself and amongst the witnesses of inquest proceedings not only the brother of the applicant namely Prakash was one of the witnesses, the first informant, who is mother of the deceased, was also one of the witnesses in the inquest proceedings. Submission is that after the incident, the information about the same was immediately given to the parental side who had soon thereafter arrived and were all the time visiting the hospital. Counsel has also drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure No.7 which contains the photographs of cremation of the deceased in which also it has been pointed out that the husband is very much present. The contention is that after the deceased succumbed to her injuries the dead-body was handed over to the applicant who himself managed the cremation of the deceased and performed her last rites. Argument raised is that it is so significant to note that the F.I.R. of the case was lodged on 28.9.2013. Submission is that had there been any truth in the allegations of demanding the dowry or committing cruelty upon the deceased then it is wholly incomprehensible as to how and in what circumstances the first informant or any other members of her family still chose not to report the matter earlier and would be waiting for so long. Further submission is that the deceased also did not die on the day of occurrence and battled for life for several days after 15.9.2013 up till 23.9.2013. The next submission is that it is not the case in which the first informant was not having the knowledge about the occurrence or happenings with the deceased. Further contention is that if the background of cruelty and the history of demanding the dowry was existing already then after the deceased got burnt the most natural instinct of the first informant would have been to bring this matter before the police to investigate. Conspicuously enough even when the first informant was herself the witness of inquest proceedings, neither on that date when the police officers were very much present nor till even a few days thereafter she ever reported the matter. It was only on 28.9.2013 that after confabulations and concerts the F.I.R. was lodged which is obviously the result of afterthought with the purpose to blackmail the applicant. Submission is that the post incident conduct of the applicant in carrying the wife to the hospital, incurring huge expenditure with regard to her treatment and performing all the duties as husband even after her death are all circumstances which are compatible with the innocence of the applicant and are wholly inconsistent with his guilt. Further submission is that the extra-ordinary delay in reporting the matter despite the time and opportunity being available is also a very strong circumstance which goes a long way to indicate that subsequently developed story of ill-treating and demanding the dowry is not very credible in nature. Contention is that the final adjudication on the point of guilt or innocence of the accused can be done after proper trial but as of now the aforesaid circumstances create a strong prima facie case for bail in favour of applicant. Much emphasis has been laid by the counsel on the detention period and it has been pointed out that the applicant is languishing in jail since 27.01.2014 virtually without any trial and there is hardly any hope of early conclusion of trial. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is not having any criminal antecedents.

5. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer for bail.

6. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

7. Let the applicant-Sunil Kumar @ Jyoti, involved in Case Crime No.167 of 2013, u/s 498-A, 304-B, 302 I.P.C. and D.P. Act, P.S.-Raipurwa, District-Kanpur Nagar be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

8. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

9. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Criminal law—Criminal Revision — Final Report — Protest petition — Section 190 Cr.P.C. — Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. — Chapter XV Cr.P.C. — Cognizance — Evidence on case diary — Statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. — Injury report — Summoning order — Revisions dismissed.

As both these revisions arise out of the same impugned order dated 29.2.2016 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 3, Etawah in the same Case Crime No. 194 of 2013 under Sections 307, 504 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station Civil Lines, district Etawah on the same Final Report No. 172 of 2013 (Jagvir Singh Vs. Jaswant and others), both are hereby being disposed of by this common order.(Para-1)

The revisionists in both these revisions are the accused persons of the same occurrence, which is said to have taken place on 23.4.2013, when one Lalji, the elder brother of the first informant, was going to some other village to meet his married daughter. At about 7.00 P.M. when he reached near the canal, he was intercepted by the accused persons reaching there on two motorcycles. One motorcycle blocked his way from the front side and the other from the back side. It has been alleged that the accused revisionists Jaswant, Amar Singh and Chet Ram alongwith one unknown person alighted from those motorcycles and surrounded the elder brother of the first informant/opposite party no. 3 from all sides. One of them exhorted with the words "BAHUT PAIRVI KARTA HAI, SAALE KO JAAN SE MAAR DO". On this, accused revisionists Jaswant took out a country made pistol and fired on Lal Ji. The fire hit on the inner side of joint of the left elbow of Lal Ji causing a through and through injury. Thereafter, seeing a car coming on that road, all the accused persons ran away from the spot on their motorcycles. The persons sitting in the car, saw Lal Ji lying on the road in an injured condition, they took him to the hospital and telephoned the police. The FIR of the incident was lodged on the same day, by the younger brother of injured at P.S. Civil Lines, Etawah, which was registered as Case Crime No. 194 of 2013 under Section 307 I.P.C. and investigation proceeded. During investigation the name of unknown accused came to light as Ashok (sole revisionist in CrI. Revision No. 1563 of 2016). However, after investigation, the I.O. submitted Final Report in the matter.(Para-2)

The first informant filed protest petition against the Final Report mentioning in detail about his own statement and statement of his injured elder brother Lal Ji recorded by the I.O. under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Besides it, he also mentioned about the recovery of cycle of Lal Ji from the place of occurrence by the police, the recovery of blood stained clothes of Lal Ji given by him to the police and the recovery memos prepared by the police with regard to aforesaid recoveries. In the protest petition it was alleged by the complainant that the I.O., in connivance with the accused persons, has submitted Final Report, ignoring the aforesaid statements of the witnesses including that of the injured, recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which he has fully supported the F.I.R. version and without even considering the injury report, corroborating the manner of occurrence, as mentioned in the F.I.R.(Para-3)

Held:(Paras:- 19-21)

1.In Ahibaran Singh's case (supra) also the Magistrate had treated the protest petition as complaint case. Hence it was held by this Court that before passing the summoning order, if the case is such, as triable by the court of sessions, the procedure provided under Section 202 (2) and 204(2) Cr.P.C. has to be complied with.

2.In view of the well settled and clear legal position as discussed above, both these revisions appear to be without any substance and are liable to be dismissed at the admission stage itself.

3.Both the revisions are accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. As both these revisions arise out of the same impugned order dated 29.2.2016 passed by learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 3, Etawah in the same Case Crime No. 194 of 2013 under Sections 307, 504 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station Civil Lines, district Etawah on the same Final Report No. 172 of 2013 (Jagvir Singh Vs. 2. The revisionists in both these revisions are the accused persons of the same occurrence, which is said to have taken place on 23.4.2013, when one Lalji, the elder brother of the first informant, was going to some other village to meet his married daughter. At about 7.00 P.M. when he reached near the canal, he was intercepted by the accused persons reaching there on two motorcycles. One motorcycle blocked his way from the front side and the other from the back side. It has been alleged that the accused revisionists Jaswant, Amar Singh and Chet Ram alongwith one unknown person alighted from those motorcycles and surrounded the elder brother of the first informant/opposite party no. 3 from all sides. One of them exhorted with the words "BAHUT PAIRVI KARTA HAI, SAALE KO JAAN SE MAAR DO". On this, accused revisionists Jaswant took out a country made pistol and fired on Lal Ji. The fire hit on the inner side of joint of the left elbow of Lal Ji causing a through and through injury. Thereafter, seeing a car coming on that road, all the accused persons ran away from the spot on their motorcycles. The persons sitting in the car, saw Lal Ji lying on the road in an injured condition, they took him to the hospital and telephoned the police. The FIR of the incident was lodged on the same day, by the younger brother of injured at P.S. Civil Lines, Etawah, which was registered as Case Crime No. 194 of 2013 under Section 307 I.P.C. and investigation proceeded. During investigation the name of unknown accused came to light as Ashok (sole revisionist in Crl. Revision No. 1563 of 2016). However, after investigation, the I.O. submitted Final Report in the matter.

3. The first informant filed protest petition against the Final Report mentioning in detail about his own statement and statement of his injured elder brother Lal Ji recorded by the I.O. under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Besides it, he also mentioned about the recovery of cycle of Lal Ji from the place of occurrence by the police, the recovery of blood stained clothes of Lal Ji given by him to the police and the recovery memos prepared by the police with regard to aforesaid recoveries. In the protest petition it was alleged by the complainant that the I.O., in connivance with the accused persons, has submitted Final Report, ignoring the aforesaid statements of the witnesses including that of the injured, recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which he has fully supported the F.I.R. version and without even considering the injury report, corroborating the manner of occurrence, as mentioned in the F.I.R.

4. Learned Magistrate after considering all these facts, found that sufficient prima facie evidence was available on the case diary for allowing the protest petition and for summoning the accused persons under Sections 307, 504 and 506 I.P.C. Accordingly, it allowed the protest petition, quashed the final Report No. No. 172 of 2013 dated 3.5.2013 and summoned all the named accused persons vide impugned order with a further direction that the case shall proceed as a State case.

5. The legality and correctness of the aforesaid order passed by the learned Magistrate has been challenged in this revision mainly on the ground that the learned Magistrate, while passing the impugned order dated 29.2.2016, has not adopted the proper procedure required to be followed on a protest petition. Learned counsel for the revisionist has vehemently argued that the learned Magistrate, before issuing summons against the revisionists, was obliged to follow the procedure as laid down in Chapter XV of Cr.P.C. and it was only after recording the statements of the witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., that he could have summoned the accused/revisionists. Whereas, in the present case, the learned Magistrate, directly took cognizance on the protest petition and issued the summons without recording the statement of the complainant and the witnesses under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C.

6. In support of his contentions learned counsel for the revisionists has placed reliance on some judgments passed by the coordinate benches of this Court in the cases of Ahibaran Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh; Laws (ALL)-1982-9-29, Kallu Vs. Shahid Ali; 1995 Cr.L.J. 3489 and Ghan Shyam Singh and others Vs. State & Arun Kumar; 2014 (3) ACR 2380.

7. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the revision, contending that there is no illegality in the impugned summoning order passed by the Magistrate and the learned Magistrate has rightly exercised the jurisdiction vested in him.

8. Considered the rival submissions.

9. The law regarding the issue involved in this revision is well settled.

10. If in any case the final report is submitted by the police, against which protest petition is filed by first informant then magistrate has following three options:-

1-He may accept the final report and drop the proceedings, or

2-He may direct the police for further investigation, or

3-He may summon the accused on further two grounds:-

(A) If he chooses to summon the accused on the basis of evidence collected by the Investigation officer, he may do so directly without any further evidence. or (B) If accused is summoned on the basis of protest petition, relying on extraneous material filed with protest petition, then he has to follow the procedure laid down under chapter XV of Cr. P.C. i.e. to treat the protest petition as complaint and record the evidence u/s 200 and 202 Cr P.C. and cognizance cannot be taken on the basis of extraneous material u/s 190 (1)(b) Cr .P.C, without following the aforesaid procedure."

11. A Full Bench of this court in the case of Ranjeet Singh & others Vs. State of U.P. 2000(1) JIC 399, discussing various case laws has observed that after concluding the investigation, if final report is filed by the police, the three options open before the Magistrate are (1) He may accept the report and drop the proceeding, or (2) He may disagree with the report and take the view that there is sufficient ground for proceeding further, take cognizance of the offence and issue proceeds, or (3) He may direct further investigation to be made by the Police under sub-section (3) of Section 156.

12. Section 190 of Cr.P.C. provides for the law relating to cognizance of offence by the Magistrate, according to which the Magistrate may take cognizance of any offence under the following three situations :-

(a) upon receiving a complaint of facts which constitute such offence.

(b) Upon a police report of such facts.

(c) Upon information received from any person other than a police officer of upon his own knowledge, that such offence has been committed.

13. It is only when the Magistrate takes cognizance under section 190 (a) or Section 190 (c) that he is required to follow the procedure prescribed under Chapter XV Cr.P.C. In so far as the cognizance under Section 190 (b) is concerned, if the Magistrate is satisfied that sufficient material is available on case diary to make out a prima facie case against the accused, it can directly issue summons to them as has been done in the instant case.

14. The impugned order of the case in hand clearly shows that learned Magistrate has neither treated the protest petition as a complaint case nor has considered any extraneous material. The learned Magistrate has summoned the accused-revisionists only on the basis of evidence already available on case diary, collected by the I.O. during investigation viz. the statements of first informant and his injured brother recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the recovery memo of blood stained clothes and cycle prepared by the police and the injury report of the victim. Relying on the aforesaid evidence and expressing its view that only due to the reason that some witnesses have not supported the prosecution case during their interrogation by I.O. under Section 161 Cr.P.C., the submission of Final Report by the I.O. does not appear to be justifiable, the learned Magistrate allowed the protest petition, quashed the Final Report and summoned the accused revisionists directly taking cognizance on such protest petition, further directing that the case to proceed as State case.

15. The same issue has been considered by the Constitution Bench of 5 Judges of Hon'ble Apex Court in the land mark case of Dharam Pal and others Vs. State of Haryana and another; 2014 (3) SCC 306. In this case the Apex Court framed 6 questions for consideration and question no. 3, which is reproduced below, involved the same issue :-

"Q III- Having decided to issue summons against the Appellants, was the Magistrate required to follow the procedure of a complaint case and to take evidence before committing them to the Court of Session to stand trial or whether he was justified in issuing summons against them without following such procedure?"

16. Answering the abovesaid question in para 25 of the judgment, the Hon'ble Apex Court held as under :-

"25. This brings us to the third question as to the procedure to be followed by the Magistrate if he was satisfied that a prima facie case had been made out to go to trial despite the final report submitted by the police. In such an event, if the Magistrate decided to proceed against the persons accused, he would have to proceed on the basis of the police report itself and either inquire into the matter or commit it to the Court of Session if the same was found to be triable by the Session Court."

17. The judgment rendered by a coordinate bench of this Court in Ghanshyam Singh's case (supra) on which learned counsel has placed heavy reliance, is of no use to him, because the facts are entirely different. In Ghanshyam Singh's case during pendency of the Final Report the informant had filed his own affidavit and also the affidavits of 3 more persons before the Magistrate in support of the allegations made in the F.I.R. and the learned Magistrate had taken into consideration those affidavits too, while taking cognizance.

18. Para 6 of the judgment in Ghanshyam Singh's case clearly shows that in that case the cognizance was taken by the Magistrate under Section 190 (1)(c) i.e. after considering the extraneous materials filed before him, during pendency of Protest petition. Under this situation, the revision was allowed by the coordinate Bench of this Court.

19. In Ahibaran Singh's case (supra) also the Magistrate had treated the protest petition as complaint case. Hence it was held by this Court that before passing the summoning order, if the case is such, as triable by the court of sessions, the procedure provided under Section 202 (2) and 204(2) Cr.P.C. has to be complied with.

20. In view of the well settled and clear legal position as discussed above, both these revisions appear to be without any substance and are liable to be dismissed at the admission stage itself.

21. Both the revisions are accordingly dismissed.

Constitutional law—Writ petition — Certiorari — Quashing First Information Report — Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 I.P.C. — Survey Lekhpal — Tampering in revenue record — Manipulation — Forging — Correction of record — Section 33 and Section 39 Revenue Act — Civil/revenue/criminal proceedings — Cognizable offence — Criminal proceedings cannot be quashed — Petition dismissed.

This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of Certiorari quashing First Information Report bearing Case Crime No. 0264 of 2015, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 & 471 I.P.C., Police Station Safipur, District Unnao.(Para 1)

Allegation against the petitioner in the impugned F.I.R., in brief, is that the petitioner is serving as Survey Lekhpal, prepared record through manipulation, tampering and forging, which does not depict the actual fact. (Para 2)

In the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner, the issue of wrong entries in the revenue record was brought before this Court. This Court issued certain directions. In compliance of the directions, the private respondents filed application under Section 33 read with section 39 of the Revenue Act for correction of record. The adjudicating authority/Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao vide order dated 30.7.2015 found tampering in the record and consequently impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated.(Para 3)

Held: (8-10,12)

1.We have taken note of fact that criminal proceedings have been initiated by Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao, who in fact found tampering in the record. A person, particularly a public servant/public authority is required to report commission of cognizable offence in case an incident/transaction indicates commission of such an offence.

2.The principle laid down in the above extracted portion of judgement rendered in Smapurna Nand Tiwari's case (supra) shall apply to the case of the petitioner also. Criminal proceedings, in peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, cannot be quashed in writ jurisdiction only because revision petition is pending in regard to the issue involved. The adjudicating authority viz. the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao has already recorded a finding with reasons that revenue record has been interpolated. In these circumstances, initiation of criminal proceedings is surely warranted.

3. We are also of the considered opinion that this Court while issuing direction on the petition of the private respondents specifically provided that ".....In case any tampering has been done in the Revenue record, then it shall be incumbent to the competent authority to lodge F.I.R.....". Under the circumstances, the initiation of criminal proceedings is not illegal, as such an eventuality was envisaged by this Court while dealing with the claim of the relevant parties. The petition is dismissed.

Case Law discussed:

1. Smapurna Nand Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others — para 7
2. Iqbal Singh Marwah and another Vs. Meenakshi Marwah and another, (2005) 4 SCC 370 — paras 7, 11, 12
3. M.S. Sheriff Vs. State of Madras and others, AIR 1954 SC 397 — para 11

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Lamba, J.
Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Mishra-II, J.)

1. This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of Certiorari quashing First Information Report bearing Case Crime No. 0264 of 2015, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 & 471 I.P.C., Police Station Safipur, District Unnao.

2. Allegation against the petitioner in the impugned F.I.R., in brief, is that the petitioner is serving as Survey Lekhpal, prepared record through manipulation, tampering and forging, which does not depict the actual fact.

3. In the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner, the issue of wrong entries in the revenue record was brought before this Court. This Court issued certain directions. In compliance of the directions, the private respondents filed application under Section 33 read with section 39 of the Revenue Act for correction of record. The adjudicating authority/Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao vide order dated 30.7.2015 found tampering in the record and consequently impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated.

4. It has been pleaded on behalf of the petitioner that the issue of correction in revenue record has not attained finality and is pending adjudication before the revisional court. In such circumstances, criminal proceedings could not have been initiated against the petitioner. Impugned F.I.R. is liable to be quashed because criminal proceedings and proceedings on the revenue side cannot co-exist.

5. We have considered the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner in context of facts and circumstances of the case. This Court issued directions in the following terms:

"..... Revenue record, on the ground of alleged tampering in favour of private respondent. Option is open to the petitioner under Section 33 read with Section 39 of Revenue Act for correction of record. In case application is moved, the appropriate authority has ample power to find out whether any tampering has been done. In case any tampering has been done in the Revenue record, then it shall be incumbent to the competent authority to lodge F.I.R. and proceed against the person who are responsible for tampering in the Revenue record and correct and record accordingly. In case such application is moved, the competent authority shall proceed accordingly expeditiously. Since we have not entered into the merit of the controversy, issuance of notice to private respondent is dispensed with.

Subject to above, the writ petition is finally disposed of. "

6. It is evident that the issue of wrong entries in the Revenue Record has been adjudicated by the authorities on the revenue side. Vide order dated 30.7.2015, a specific finding has been recorded that the record has been manipulated/tampered with/forged and new persons have been entered as lessee in the record.

7. Civil/revenue/criminal proceedings can continue in regard to common incident/transaction, if the facts and circumstances so warrant. This aspect has been considered by this Court, while relying on a judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in judgement dated 6.10.2015 rendered in Writ Petition No. 9279 (MB) of 2015: Smapurna Nand Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others. Paras 11 to 15 of the said judgement read as under:

"11. The issue whether simultaneous civil and criminal proceedings can continue in regard to a common incident/ transaction, has been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in (2005) 4 SCC 370 : Iqbal Singh Marwah and another Vs. Meenakshi Marwah and another (5 JJ), Paragraph 32 of the said judgement reads as under :-

"32.Coming to the last contention that an effort should be made to avoid conflict of findings between the civil and criminal Courts, it is necessary to point out that the standard of proof required in the two proceedings are entirely different. Civil cases are decided on the basis of preponderance of evidence while in a criminal case the entire burden lies on the prosecution and proof beyond reasonable doubt has to be given. There is neither any statutory provision nor any legal principle that the findings recorded in one proceeding may be treated as final or binding in the other, as both the cases have to be decided on the basis of the evidence adduced therein. While examining a similar contention in an appeal against an order directing filing of a complaint under Section 476 of the old Code, the following observations made by a Constitution Bench in M.S. Sheriff vs. The State of Madras and others give a complete answer to the problem posed [AIR 1954 SC 397] (AIR p. 399, paras 15-16) :

"(15) As between the civil and the criminal proceedings we are of the opinion that the criminal matters should be given precedence. There is some difference of opinion in the High Courts of India on this point. No hard and fast rule can be laid down but we do not consider that the possibility of conflicting decisions in the civil and criminal Courts is a relevant consideration. The law envisages such an eventuality when it expressly refrains from making the decision of one Court binding on the other, or even relevant, except for certain limited purposes, such as sentence or damages. The only relevant consideration here is the likelihood of embarrassment.

(16) Another factor which weighs with us is that a civil suit often drags on for years and it is undesirable that a criminal prosecution should wait till everybody concerned has forgotten all about the crime. The public interests demand that criminal justice should be swift and sure; that the guilty should be punished while the events are still fresh in the public mind and that the innocent should be absolved as early as is consistent with a fair and impartial trial. Another reason is that it is undesirable to let things slide till memories have grown too dim to trust.

This, however, is not a hard and fast rule. Special considerations obtaining in any particular case might make some other course more expedient and just. For example, the civil case or the other criminal proceeding may be so near its end as to make it inexpedient to stay it in order to give precedence to a prosecution ordered under Section 476. But in this case we are of the view that the civil suits should be stayed till the criminal proceedings have finished."

(Emphasis supplied by us)

12. From the above extracted portion of the judgement rendered in Iqbal Singh Marwah's case(supra), it becomes evident that the standard of proof required in civil proceedings and criminal proceedings is entirely different. Civil cases are decided on the basis of preponderance of evidence while in a criminal case, the entire burden of proving that offence has been committed lies on the prosecution, and proof beyond reasonable doubt is required to be shown to the court. Because both the cases have to be decided on the basis of the evidence adduced in each of the cases, findings recorded in one proceeding cannot be treated as final or binding on the other.

13. It has further been elucidated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India that criminal matter should be given precedence. Civil litigation often drags on for long time whereas it is undesirable that a criminal prosecution should wait. It has been suggested that in case criminal prosecution is stayed, evidence is likely to be lost or destroyed. Public interest demands that the criminal justice should be swift and sure ; that the guilty should be punished while the events are still fresh in the public mind and that the innocent should be absolved as early as is consistent with fair and impartial trial. It has further been said that this however, is not a hard and fast rule. Special circumstances might require a different course of action. In given circumstances, it might be expedient to stay a particular proceeding.

14. Applying the above noted principle of law to the facts of this case, we find that at the time of consideration of facts and circumstances of the matter being adjudicated, the Lokpal found interpolation of record and commission of certain cognizable offence. Under the circumstances, it has been observed by the Lokpal that criminal proceedings be initiated.

15. In the considered opinion of this court, in case a matter is being taken up by a public authority/ public servant, and in the course of proceedings, facts and circumstances prima facie indicate commission of cognizable offence, ordinarily, it is desirable for such authority to issue appropriate directions to initiate criminal proceedings. "

8. We have taken note of fact that criminal proceedings have been initiated by Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao, who in fact found tampering in the record. A person, particularly a public servant/public authority is required to report commission of cognizable offence in case an incident/transaction indicates commission of such an offence.

9. The principle laid down in the above extracted portion of judgement rendered in Smapurna Nand Tiwari's case (supra) shall apply to the case of the petitioner also. Criminal proceedings, in peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, cannot be quashed in writ jurisdiction only because revision petition is pending in regard to the issue involved. The adjudicating authority viz. the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Safipur, District Unnao has already recorded a finding with reasons that revenue record has been interpolated. In these circumstances, initiation of criminal proceedings is surely warranted.

10. We are also of the considered opinion that this Court while issuing direction on the petition of the private respondents specifically provided that ".....In case any tampering has been done in the Revenue record, then it shall be incumbent to the competent authority to lodge F.I.R.....". Under the circumstances, the initiation of criminal proceedings is not illegal, as such an eventuality was envisaged by this Court while dealing with the claim of the relevant parties.

11. Consequently, we find no ground to interfere in extraordinary writ jurisdiction.

12. The petition is dismissed.

Constitutional law —Public interest litigation — Writ petition — Mandamus — Transfer of Chief Secretary — Allegations based on newspaper reports — CBI enquiry — Central Vigilance Commission — Serious allegations — Non-joinder of necessary party — Habitual litigant — Frivolous petitions — Baseless and reckless allegations — Abuse of process — Petition dismissed with costs

This petition, in the nature of public interest, filed by an Editor of Nishpaksh Pratidin Daily Newspaper, seeks the following reliefs:

"(i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties to post Mr. Singhal to some other post and to appoint an able person with reputation and integrity for the post of Chief Secretary of the State.

(ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing respondents No.3, 4 and 5 to take into consideration the companies as mentioned as aforesaid which are running by the relatives of the present Chief Secretary and to investigate in detail and if found to be bogus and inoperative, to proceed prosecution against them as per law." (Para 2)

From bare perusal of the prayers, it is clear that the petitioner seeks reliefs against Mr. Singhal, Chief Secretary of the State Government, making serious allegations against him, without adding him as a party-respondent in the writ petition.

1.At this stage, we would also like to reproduce the following observations made by this Court in Misc. Bench No. 8216 of 2016, Hindu Personal Law Board, through Ashok Pande vs. Union of India, through Cabinet Secretary, Government of India & Ors., decided on 19.4.2016:

"It has become necessary for the Court to issue this direction in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution to ensure that valuable time of the Court is not wasted in thoroughly frivolous cases which have no bearing on matters of public interest. Habitual litigants are increasingly flooding the Courts with frivolous petitions. PILs are filed to cover almost every topic under the sun. Many of them are exercises for garnering publicity. Some are intended to stall public projects, often at the behest of a competitor. This tends to destroy the sanctity of PILs as a powerful instrument of securing socio-economic justice to the marginalised and underprivileged. The time of the Court is exhausted in dealing with frivolous cases with no genuine cause of public concern. This pernicious tendency has to be firmly stopped by providing orders for anticipatory costs.

This is a means of securing an eventual award of costs in the case of a habitual litigant who, as here, has a track record of misconceived filings. Unless this is done, the Court would become a helpless spectator to the loss of public time and resources in dealing with motivated litigation. When lakhs of cases await judicial decision - including those of undertrials and convicts languishing in jail for years - the Court cannot allow the institution of administering justice to become a hapless victim of frivolous filings. Parliament, or the State legislature, may have to step in to legislate on the malady of vexatious litigation. That is a legislative function. In the meantime, realistic costs must be deployed if the process of the Court is to be protected against litigious exploitation."

2.The petitioner, in the present case, has so far, we are informed, filed more than fifty PILs in this Court. Yesterday also, we dismissed one of the PILs filed by him. While making submissions and responding to our queries, we find him noncooperative, adamant and contentious.

3.In view of above, and having considered that the petitioner has not made Mr. Singhal as a party to the petition and has made serious and baseless allegations against him, we dismiss this writ petition with costs quantified at Rs.25,000/-, which shall be payable to the U.P. State Legal Services Authority.

2.Hindu Personal Law Board through Ashok Pande Vs. Union of India and others — para 13

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dilip B. Bhosale, Chief Justice
Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Jagdish Narayan Shukla, petitioner-in-person and learned Advocate General with Smt. Bulbul Godiyal, learned Additional Advocate General for the State-respondents.

2. This petition, in the nature of public interest, filed by an Editor of Nishpaksh Pratidin Daily Newspaper, seeks the following reliefs:

"(i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties to post Mr. Singhal to some other post and to appoint an able person with reputation and integrity for the post of Chief Secretary of the State.

(ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing respondents No.3, 4 and 5 to take into consideration the companies as mentioned as aforesaid which are running by the relatives of the present Chief Secretary and to investigate in detail and if found to be bogus and inoperative, to proceed prosecution against them as per law."

3. From bare perusal of the prayers, it is clear that the petitioner seeks reliefs against Mr. Singhal, Chief Secretary of the State Government, making serious allegations against him, without adding him as a party-respondent in the writ petition.

4. We have heard the petitioner-in-person. He submitted that a CBI enquiry, ordered by Central Vigilance Commission (for short "CVC") is pending against Mr. Singhal and in view thereof, the State Government ought not to have appointed him as the Chief Secretary. He further submitted that the State Government should transfer him to some other post and appoint an able person with reputation and integrity as Chief Secretary of the State. Insofar as the second prayer is concerned, he did not make any submission.

5. We have perused the writ petition. In paragraph 12 of the writ petition and ground C thereof, the petitioner has made the following averments:

"12. That when Mr. Singhal was working as Joint Secretary with respondent No.3- Government of India in the Ministry of Fertilizer in the year 2010 a Chief Vigilance Commission's inquiry was ordered against him for his controversial orders to import fertilizers. Later the probe was handed over to the Central Bureau of Investigation which is still in existence and the inquiry is pending and it is due to that reason that he was returned back to this home cadre prematurely. The matter has been reported in the Times of India on 17th August, 2016, the true copy of the same is being annexed herewith as Annexure No.1 to this petition."

C. Because there are various grave charges of irregularities and corrupt practices against Mr. Deepak Singhal in discharge of his official duties as is evident from various news paper reporting in which several inquiries by C.B.I. or C.V.C. are going on. As such, there are probabilities to a great extent for him to manipulate and tamper with the evidences sitting on key posts and, hence, the petitioner has grave apprehension in the present case also."

6. Perusal of paragraph 12 shows that the allegations are based on newspaper reports. The petitioner has also placed on record a newspaper cutting of his own newspaper in support of the allegations apart from other newspaper reports.

7. The petitioner, in support, has placed heavy reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in Center for Public Interest Litigation and Anr. vs. Union of India and Anr., Writ Petition (Civil) 387 of 2005, decided on 6.10.2005. He invited our attention to the following paragraphs of the said judgment:

"We do not think it necessary to delve into the question of maintainability of the writ petition as the same, as noted at the threshold appears to be an offshoot of the earlier petition.

A time has come when the postings of officers holding sensitive posts should be done in transparent manner giving no scope for any grievance. It is true that grievances can be made or allegations can be levelled for ulterior motive or with the intention of damaging the reputation of an officer who is likely to be appointed in a sensitive post, very often at the behest of persons angling for the post. In the peculiar background facts it was really desirable for the State Government to steer clear of controversy and not to post respondent No.3 as the Chief Secretary. By doing it, it has unnecessarily created further complications and invited criticism. We, therefore, direct the State Government to transfer the respondent No.3 to some other post in the cadre/grade to which she belonged. The question of her suitability to be included in the cadre/grade, shall be examined in the writ petition itself. For the present, we do not express any opinion on that issue. The necessary steps for effectuating our order shall be taken within seven days. We make it clear that we have not expressed any opinion on the merits of the allegations as the matter is pending before the High Court and Justice Thomas Commission."

8. Advocate General, on the other hand, on instructions, submitted that no enquiry of whatsoever nature is pending against Mr. Singhal with the CBI either independently or at the instance of CVC. In other words, he submitted that the CBI is not investigating any allegation or crime or conducting any enquiry against Mr. Singhal either independently or at the instance of CVC. He also placed on record a copy of the letter issued by CVC dated 21.1.2015 stating that there is nothing adverse on records of the Commission in respect of Shri Deepak Singhal, IAS (UP:82). Further the Advocate General placed on record a list of about 55 petitions/PILs filed by the petitioner in person to contend that he is habitual litigant, known for making absolutely baseless, reckless and scandalous allegations against everybody, like Mr. Singhal. He also invited our attention to one of the orders passed by a Division Bench on 19.4.2011 in Misc. Bench No. 4188 of 2010 filed by the petitioner in person wherein it is observed that "the petitioner, who appears in person, does not even have the courtesy and decency to address the Court properly or maintain its decorum." Our experience is not different. Further observations made by the Division Bench in the said case are also worthy and noticeable, which reads thus:

"The petitioner, who appears in person, does not even have the courtesy and decency to address the Court properly or maintain its decorum. The Court queried of him whether he has filed any complaint under the provisions of Rule 4(6) of the U.P. Employment Guarantee Grievance Redressal Mechanism Rules, 2009, which provides that any citizen of India including the petitioner herein or any registered non-government institution may make complaints, if there is any misappropriation of funds through fake Muster Roll or in other words if the funds are misappropriated, can file complaint. The Court could have appreciated, if the petitioner had filed complaint and no action has been taken by the respondent authorities, then this Court could have intervened to protect the large public interest and public revenue. The Court can even take cognizance of the matter without there being a complaint, if the matter is of such momentous importance that the exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution is necessary.

We find that in the instant case the petitioner has failed to discharge his duties as he has not filed any complaint under the provisions of existing Rules. We make it clear that if the petitioner herein approaches the Court in any other matter and does not behave in the Court, as an individual should, it will be open to the Court to consider debarring him from appearing in person.

In the light of that, we are not inclined to interfere in the matter in extraordinary writ jurisdiction."

9. In another writ petition bearing Misc. Bench No. 1278 of 2016 filed by the petitioner in person, the Division Bench, while dismissing the said writ petition vide order dated 22.1.2016 observed that "We decline to entertain the petition since we are not satisfied in regard to the bona fides and credentials of the petitioner."

10. One more Division Bench made severe observation against the petitioner in person in Writ Petition No. 552 (M/B) of 2015, while disposing of the said writ petition by order dated 23.2.2015. It is not out of place to mention that the petitioner had filed a writ petition bearing Misc. Bench No. 6615 of 2014 seeking similar relief against an Engineer-in-Chief of New Okhla Industrial Development Authority relying upon the same decision as aforesaid and the said writ petition was dismissed by a Coordinate Bench of this Court with the observation that the relief claimed essentially related to service matters in respect of which a Public Interest Litigation does not lie and also that the decision relied upon, as aforesaid, was distinguishable on facts, as in the said case a chargesheet had been filed against the Chief Secretary, State of U.P. before the Special C.B.I. Court.

11. The Advocate General also placed several such orders on record. He then invited our attention to one more order dated 24.8.2016 passed in Misc. Bench No. 19827 of 2016 filed by one Tripuresh Tripathi against Sri Deepak Singhal. That writ petition also came to be dismissed. In that petition, the petitioner Tripathi had challenge the appointment of Mr. Singhal contending that it was not in accordance with Rule 7 of the Indian Administrative Services Cadre Rules, 1954. It would be appropriate to reproduce the following observations made in the order dated 24.8.2016, which read thus:

"Sri Onkar Pandey holding brief of petitioner's counsel has prayed for an adjournment. We are not inclined to adjourn such an issue allegedly involving public interest in a service matter and we find that the petition has been filed in a cavalier fashion trying to draw similes from rules which are not relevant. Even otherwise there is no substance in the allegation with regard to the rules as the Chief Secretary has to be appointed by the State Government.

The petition appears to have been filed only with a view to keep something pending without any substance in it and therefore the request of adjournment is neither bona fide nor are we of the opinion that it should be adjourned. This attitude of getting such petitions filed and keep them pending consumes the valuable time of the Court and, therefore, the request of adjournment is declined."

12. In this backdrop, we perused the judgment relied upon by the petitioner in person. In our opinion, the observations made in the said judgment, in particular, the paragraph quoted above, are of no avail to the petitioner. It is clear from perusal of the said judgment that CBI had filed charge sheet against the then Chief Secretary of the State after obtaining sanction from the Central Government.

13. At this stage, we would also like to reproduce the following observations made by this Court in Misc. Bench No. 8216 of 2016, Hindu Personal Law Board, through Ashok Pande vs. Union of India, through Cabinet Secretary, Government of India & Ors., decided on 19.4.2016:

Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 – Section 14 (vi) (i) – “groundnut” – roasted groundnuts – declared goods – circular dated 20 July 1979 – Commissioner Trade Tax U.P. – roasted groundnuts covered under entry “groundnut” – benefit of Section 14 – circular dated 24 May 2004 – annulled earlier circular – unclassified commodity – Law Department – Gopuram Gram Mill Company v. State of Andhra Pradesh – Milak Brothers v. Union of India – Usha Martin – Paper Products – Ratan Melting – 1979 circular continued to hold the field – 2004 circular – prospective operation – transactions prior to 24 May 2004.

While the revision raises the question as to whether roasted groundnuts stand covered under the entry “groundnut” as used in clause (vi) (i) of section 14 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 [1956 Act] the sole issue upon which submissions have been advanced center and revolve around a circular dated 20 July 1979 [1979 Circular] issued by the Commissioner Trade Tax U.P. which had purported to hold that roasted groundnuts would stand covered under the aforementioned entry. The dispute arises as a consequence of a subsequent circular dated 24 May 2004 [2004 Circular] which proceeded to annul the earlier circular.(Para 3)

Held: (Paras 14,19-25)

1.Now it needs to be borne in mind that no judgment of this Court or for that matter the Supreme Court directly deals/dealt with the issue of whether roasted groundnut would be liable to be treated as falling within the ambit of the entry ‘groundnut’ as used in clause (vi) (i) of section 14. Milak, it becomes relevant to note, was a judgment rendered with reference to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 and was not really dealing with section 14 of the 1956 Act. While the interpretation accorded to groundnut in the said judgment may be said to veer around or tend to support the submission of the revisionist, the Court would be justified in treading with caution before applying a judgment which has come to be rendered with reference to the provisions of another statute. This more so when the Court finds that the Customs Tariff Act 1975 did not employ the words “that is to say”. Similarly Gopuram while dealing with the provisions of the 1956 Act, was construing “gram” and whether parched or fried gram would stand covered. Of course Gopuram does stress upon and underline the significance of the phrase “that is to say” in section 14 and holds that no expansive meaning can be accorded to commodities which stand mentioned therein. Therefore it would be safe to say that there is no authoritative pronouncement on the issue as to whether roasted groundnut would stand covered under clause (vi) (i) of section 14. The 1979 circular in unequivocal terms held out that roasted groundnuts would be liable to be considered as falling within the ambit of clause (vi) (i). The 2004 circular represented an authoritative yet paradigm shift from what was permitted to hold the field for decades namely, the 1979 circular. The 2004 circular, it may be noted, did not rest itself upon a declaration of the law that roasted groundnut would not be covered. It was based upon the opinion of the Law Department of the State which in turn rested upon the interpretation to section 14 as accorded to it by the Supreme Court in Gopuram. This Court, it must be noted, is not called upon to test the correctness of the opinion expressed therein nor must it be understood to have ruled upon its validity. All that the Court is called upon to consider and answer essentially is whether the 2004 circular would have the effect of effacing the benefits derived by the revisionist from and under the 1979 circular.

2. What is discernible from the law as declared by the Supreme Court is that circulars issued by departmental authorities in exercise of statutory powers is clearly binding on them though not on courts or tribunals. They have been rightly described as representing the views and understanding of the department of the statutory provisions. They continue to hold the field till the view expressed and embodied therein is overruled or eclipsed by an authoritative pronouncement of the High Court or the Supreme Court. Once a precedent comes to be handed down and entered which enunciates the law on the point at variance with what the circular purported to hold, the circular must necessarily give way. At such a juncture a party cannot contend that the circular would continue to operate even though it may run contrary to a binding verdict or declaration of law by a High Court or the Supreme Court. The primary purpose as noted by the Supreme Court in holding the department to the views taken and expressed in such circulars is to ensure a uniform practice and to enable the trade to arrange its business accordingly.

3. If the above principles as enunciated by the Supreme Court are borne in mind it is clear and apparent that the revisionist was justified in proceeding to arrange its affairs in accordance with the 1979 circular. The 1979 circular was issued by the Commissioner of Trade Tax U.P. who was duly empowered in terms of rule 4 of the U.P. Trade Tax Rules, 1948. This circular was clearly binding upon the other subordinate authorities working under and administering the 1948 Act. In any view of the matter the revisionist could not have been held liable to pay additional tax and denied the benefits flowing from section 14. Its actions were based entirely upon the 1979 circular which continued to hold the field till 24 May 2004 when the second circular came to be issued. All transactions prior to 24 May 2004 were therefore liable to be treated in accordance with the provisions of the 1979 circular.

4. That then takes us to the issue of whether the 2004 circular had the effect of impacting transactions which had already been subjected to tax prior thereto. To this the answer must obviously be in the negative.

5. As noted above, the 1979 circular continued to hold the field for decades. The 2004 circular represented a considered and definitive shift in the stand and understanding of the department on the subject. It represented a paradigm change of position and thought. The said circular was neither explanatory in character nor was it an instrument to clear conflicting views and opinions. The letter dated 3 March 2001 addressed by the Assistant Commissioner (Law), Trade Tax, U.P., it becomes worthy of note, was merely a communication of the Assistant Commissioner (Law). It was not a circular issued by the Commissioner of Trade Tax in exercise of statutory powers. It did not have the effect of overriding or rescinding the 1979 circular. The 2004 circular can be rightly described as an outcome of a revisit and a reconsideration of the vexed issue of taxability of roasted groundnut and whether it was liable to be treated as an unclassified item. However the moment one arrives at the conclusion that the 2004 circular was merely an outcome of an exercise of "revisit" and "reconsideration" and not an expression of opinion based upon an authoritative pronouncement of law by a competent court, it must be treated as having prospective operation.

6. While arriving at the above conclusions, the Court has also weighed in consideration the flux in the legal position and the fact that the issue of taxability of roasted groundnut as an unclassified item was/is an issue not free from debate and question. In such a situation as the Supreme Court held in Usha Martin benefit of doubt must be given to the assessee and that opinion which is in its favor must be given effect to.

7. One last submission of Sri B.K. Pandey which needs to be noticed and considered is his contention that the 2004 circular declared the 1979 circular as void and a nullity and therefore the views expressed therein would be deemed to have never operated. With respect, this Court is unable to countenance the said submission. The Commissioner Trade Tax U.P. it needs to be noted is not a court. The power to declare the law is vested in and with a court. The power to issue a declaration of nullity does not inhere in the Commissioner. The submission itself is based upon principles, applicable to the issue of decrees and declarations by courts. The 2004 circular therefore did not have the effect of effacing the 1979 circular with retrospective effect.

8. In light of the above, this Court holds that question no. 2 must be answered in favor of the revisionist and it be held that prior to the promulgation of the 2004 circular the 1979 circular held the field and all transactions in roasted groundnuts as entered into by the assessee be subjected to tax in accordance therewith.

2. These revisions raise the following questions of law:

“A. Whether roasted groundnuts are declared goods under Section 14 (vi) (i) of the Central Sales Tax, 1956?

B. Whether in view of the circular dated 20.07.1979 issued by the Commissioner of Trade Tax, U.P Lucknow groundnuts could be taxed as an unclassified commodity prior to 23.05.04?”

3. While the revision raises the question as to whether roasted groundnuts stand covered under the entry “groundnut” as used in clause (vi) (i) of section 14 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 [1956 Act] the sole issue upon which submissions have been advanced center and revolve around a circular dated 20 July 1979 [1979 Circular] issued by the Commissioner Trade Tax U.P.

which had purported to hold that roasted groundnuts would stand covered under the aforementioned entry. The dispute arises as a consequence of a subsequent circular dated 24 May 2004 [2004 Circular] which proceeded to annul the earlier circular.

4. In terms of the 1979 Circular, the Commissioner, Trade Tax U.P. clarified that roasted groundnuts were liable to be treated as comprised in clause (vi) (i) of Section 14 of the 1956 Act. The entry under clause (vi) and with which we are concerned reads thus:

“(vi) Oilseeds, that is say. –

(i) Groundnut or Peanut (Arachis hypogaea);”

From the submission of the learned counsel for the revisionist, it transpires that based upon the aforesaid circular, the revisionist assessee treated roasted groundnut manufactured by it as being covered by the aforesaid entry and therefore entitled to the benefits flowing from Section 14 of the 1956 Act. This position is stated to have continued till the 2004 circular came to be issued by the Commissioner, Trade Tax. The relevant part of the said circular reads as follows:

“ वषय :- रोस्टेड ग्राउण्ड नट सीड्स पर व्यापार कर देयता के सम्बन्ध में।

5. As a perusal of the 2004 Circular would show and establish, the opinion of the Law Department of the State Government is stated to have been obtained to clarify as to whether roasted groundnut would stand covered by the entry “groundnut” as used in clause (vi) (i) of Section 14. This reference to the Law Department itself is stated to have been occasioned on account of a conflict between the circular dated 1979 circular and the letter dated 3 March 2001 addressed by the Assistant Commissioner (Law), Trade Tax, U.P. The Law Department basing its opinion on a judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in Gopuram Gram Mill Company and another Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh [1994 (95) STC 358] held that groundnut as specified in clause (vi) (i) of Section 14 would not encompass roasted groundnut. Accepting the said opinion as submitted by the Law Department, the Commissioner clarified accordingly and passed directions annulling the earlier circular dated 20 July 1979.

6. It becomes relevant to note here that the present revisions themselves relate to the Assessment Years 1998-99 and 1999-2000 and in respect of which assessment orders were passed on 20 March 2001 and 29 August 2001. The first appellate authority affirmed these orders by a common order dated 7 February 2002 and the Tribunal by its judgment dated 3 June 2005. The dates noted above would show that the assessee was assessed to tax and denied the benefits of section 14 prior to the issuance of the 2004 circular.

7. Sri S.D. Singh has advanced the following submissions:

A. The 1979 circular of the Commissioner continued to hold the field till it was overridden on 24 May 2004. He submits that therefore the assessee was liable to the benefit of the said circular and that the assessing authority as well as the first appellate authority had clearly committed an illegality in proceeding to hold that roasted groundnuts were not liable to be accorded the benefit of Section 14 of the 1956 Act.

B. The 1979 circular issued by the Commissioner, Trade Tax was to the benefit of the assessee and it was based upon the same that the assessee structured its business dealings. The subsequent 2004 circular cannot retroactively take away a benefit which stood conferred upon the assessee.

C. Tax under the U.P. Trade Tax Act 1948 [1948 Act], is an indirect impost, which a selling dealer is entitled to pass on to a purchaser. In the transactions effected during the course of the two assessment years in question, the tax liability which was passed onto the purchaser was based upon the understanding that the 1979 circular applied. Accordingly it was submitted that no retrospective liability could have been imposed upon the revisionist.

D. The issue of whether roasted groundnuts stood covered by the entry “groundnut” as employed in clause (vi) (i) of Section 14 viewed in the absence of circular of the 20 July 1979 was a contentious issue or at least one which was/is open to debate. He refers what the Supreme Court held in Milak Brothers Vs. Union of India[1991 Supp (1) SCC 71]. It was urged that Milak was considering the question as to whether groundnut which had undergone a roasting and salting process would lose its identity as groundnut. It was submitted that the Supreme Court had held that it was possible to envisage two different commercial commodities falling under the same entry of Section 14. In such a situation the Supreme Court held that there was no reason why the entry should be restricted to only one of them.

8. He submitted that the subsequent decision rendered by three Judges of the Supreme Court in Gopuram did not notice Milak and even otherwise was not dealing with the issue of a commodity in its roasted or finished form and was therefore clearly distinguishable.

9. The essence of the submission being that in case of a state of doubt with respect to the taxability of an item, the circular issued by the Commissioner was liable to prevail and benefits accorded to the assessee. He has in support of his submissions above, relied upon the following judgments:

1. Collector of Central Excise Patna Vs. Usha Martin Industries [(1997) 7 SCC 47]

2. Paper Products Ltd Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise [(1999) 7 SCC 84]

3. State of Karnataka and another Sri Lakshmi Coconut Industries [(1997) 11 SCC 621]

4. M/s. KBB Nuts Pvt Ltd Vs. Commissioner of Value Added Tax. [ST. Appl.5/2014 dated 28 March 2014 [Delhi High Court]

10. Sri B.K. Pandey per contra, made the following submissions:

A. The 2004 circular of the Commissioner had in express term annulled the 1979 circular. This recital in the 2004 circular would have to be construed as if the 1979 circular never existed or held the field.

B. Even prior to the issuance of the 2004 circular, a doubt had been expressed with respect to the taxability of roasted groundnut and the Additional Commissioner (Law), Trade Tax, U.P had expressed the opinion that roasted groundnut would not stand covered under the entry of groundnut as provisioned for in clause (vi) (i) of Section 14 of the 1956 Act.

C. No question of retrospectivity applies inasmuch as the judgment of the Supreme Court in Gopuram is liable to be treated as declaratory. He submits that not only was Gopuram rendered by a larger Bench of the Supreme Court than which decided Milak, the law as enunciated therein would always deemed to have operated.

D. This Court should not and cannot grant primacy to the 1979 circular over and above what the Supreme Court held in Gopuram.

11. Sri Pandey in support of his submissions above, relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in Commissioner of Central Excise, Bolpur Vs. M/s. Ratan Melting & Wire Industries[2008 NTN (Vol.38) - 206]

12. It is these rival submissions, which now fall for consideration.

13. Clause (vi) of Section 14 of the 1956 Act refers to various categories of oil seeds. The description of the commodity and various commodities which are then classified as falling within the same genre are prefaced by the words “that is to say”. It is trite to note that in Gopuram, three learned Judges of the Supreme Court have noticed and held that the usage of the phrase ‘that is to say’ indicates the intent of the legislature to make clear or fix the meaning of what is sought to be explained or defined. Their Lordships held that the phrase ‘that is to say’ indicates an exhaustive enumeration and therefore consequently the benefit of Section 14 must be limited to the goods expressly mentioned therein.

14. Now it needs to be borne in mind that no judgment of this Court or for that matter the Supreme Court directly deals/dealt with the issue of whether roasted groundnut would be liable to be treated as falling within the ambit of the entry ‘groundnut’ as used in clause (vi) (i) of section 14. Milak, it becomes relevant to note, was a judgment rendered with reference to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 and was not really dealing with section 14 of the 1956 Act. While the interpretation accorded to groundnut in the said judgment may be said to veer around or tend to support the submission of the revisionist, the Court would be justified in treading with caution before applying a judgment which has come to be rendered with reference to the provisions of another statute. This more so when the Court finds that the Customs Tariff Act 1975 did not employ the words “that is to say”. Similarly Gopuram while dealing with the provisions of the 1956 Act, was construing “gram” and whether parched or fried gram would stand covered. Of course Gopuram does stress upon and underline the significance of the phrase “that is to say” in section 14 and holds that no expansive meaning can be accorded to commodities which stand mentioned therein. Therefore it would be safe to say that there is no authoritative pronouncement on the issue as to whether roasted groundnut would stand covered under clause (vi) (i) of section 14. The 1979 circular in unequivocal terms held out that roasted groundnuts would be liable to be considered as falling within the ambit of clause (vi) (i). The 2004 circular represented an authoritative yet paradigm shift from what was permitted to hold the field for decades namely, the 1979 circular. The 2004 circular, it may be noted, did not rest itself upon a declaration of the law that roasted groundnut would not be covered. It was based upon the opinion of the Law Department of the State which in turn rested upon the interpretation to section 14 as accorded to it by the Supreme Court in Gopuram. This Court, it must be noted, is not called upon to test the correctness of the opinion expressed therein nor must it be understood to have ruled upon its validity. All that the Court is called upon to consider and answer essentially is whether the 2004 circular would have the effect of effacing the benefits derived by the revisionist from and under the 1979 circular.

15. Now the effect of departmental circulars issued under taxing statutes is a subject that is no longer res integra.

16. In Usha Martin the law on the subject was enunciated in the following terms:

“6. There is no doubt that as per the above notification if any amount of duty has been paid on the raw material, the output product would escape from excise duty. The doubt arose was regarding the expression in the notification i.e. "on which the appropriate amount of duty of excise has already been paid" as to whether it is capable of two interpretations, one as claimed by the assessee and the other as put forth by the revenue".

19. No doubt the court has to interpret statutory provisions and notifications thereunder as they are with emphasis to the intention of the legislature. But when the Board made all others to understand a notification in a particular manner and when the latter have acted accordingly, is it open to the Revenue to turn against such persons on a premise contrary to such instructions?

21. Through a catena of decisions this Court has pronounced that Revenue cannot be permitted to take a stand contrary to the instructions issued by the Board. It is a different matter that an assessee can contest the validity or legality of a departmental instruction. But that right cannot be conceded to the department, more so when others have acted according to such instructions, [vide Collector of Central Excise. Bombay vs. Collector of Central Excise [1996(88) ELT 638], Ranadey Micronutrients vs. collector of Central Excise [1996(87) ELT 19], Poulose and Mathen vs. collector of central Excise [1997(90) ELT 264], British Machinery Supplies Co. vs. Union of India [1996(86) ELT 449]. Of course the appellate authority is also not bound by the interpretation given by the Board but the assessing officer cannot take a view contrary to the Board's interpretation.

22. We may observe particularly that a special aspect highlighted by the Bench in Poulose and Mathen vs. Collector of Central Excise [1997(90) ELT 264] is apposite for fastening the revenue with binding force as regards the instructions issued, while constructing a notification which was not free from doubt, Learned judges in that decision have observed thus: "One aspect deserves to be noticed in this context. The earlier tariff advice no. 83/81 on the basis of which trade notice No. 222/81 was issued by the Collector of Central Excise and Customs is binding on the department. It should be given effect to . There is no material on record to show that this has been rescinded or departed from, and even so, to what extent. Even assuming that the later tariff advice No.6/85 has taken a different view about which there is no positive material the facts point out that the concerned department itself was having considerable doubts about the matter. The position was not free from doubt. It was far from clear. In such a case, where two opinions are possible, the assessee should be given the benefit of doubt and that opinion which is in its favour should be given effect to. In the light of the above, it is unnecessary to adjudicate the other points involved in the appeal on the merits." (emphasis supplied)

17. Declaring the law in similar terms in Paper Products the Supreme Court held:

"4. The question for our consideration in these appeals is: what is the true nature and effect of the Circulars issued by the Board in exercise of its power under Section 37B of the Central Excise Act, 1944? This question is no more res integra in view of the various judgments of this Court. This Court in a catena of decisions has held that the Circulars issued under Section 37B of the said Act are binding on the Department and the Department cannot be permitted to take a stand contrary to the instructions issued by the Board. These judgments have also held that the position may be different with regard to an assessee who can contest the validity or legality of such instructions but so far as the Department is concerned, such right is not available. [See Collector of Central Excise, Patna v. Usha Martin Industries (1997 7 SCC 47)]. In the case of Ranadey Micronutrients v. Collector of Central Excise (1996 (87) ELT 19), this Court held that the whole objective of such Circulars is to adopt a uniform practice and to inform the trade as to how a particular product will be treated for the purposes of excise duty. The Court also held that it does not lie in the mouth of the Revenue to repudiate a Circular issued by the Board on the basis that it is inconsistent with a statutory provision. (emphasis supplied). Consistency and discipline are, according to this Court, of far greater importance than the winning or losing of court proceedings. In the case of Collector of Central Excise, Bombay v. Jayant Dalal Pvt. Ltd. (1997 10 SCC 402), this Court has held that it is not open to the Revenue to advance an argument or even file an appeal against the correctness of the binding nature of the Circulars issued by the Board. Similar is the view taken by this Court in the case of Collector of Central Excise, Bombay v. Kores [India] Ltd. (1997 10 SCC 338).

6. As stated above, it is an admitted fact that by virtue of Circular No.4/85 dated 23.7.1986 as clarified by Circular dated 7.8.1987, all the three products of the appellant are to be treated as the products of the printing industry and not that of the packaging industry. A change in the said view of the Board occurred for the first time by virtue of its Circular No.6/89 dated 16.1.1989. Further, the Board itself by its subsequent Circular No.29/89 dated 5.5.1989 has made it abundantly clear that the change notified in Circular No.6/89 will be prospective from the date of issuance of Circular No.6/89, that is, from 16.1.1989. Therefore, it is clear that till the issuance of Circular No.6/89 which is dated 16.1.1989 the products of the appellant, by virtue of the two Circulars dated 23.7.1986 and 7.8.1987, have to be classified under Chapter 49 of the Act as being products of the printing industry eligible for exemption of duty under Notification Nos.122/75 and 234/82 as applicable at the relevant time. The impugned show cause notices and consequent demand being ab initio bad inasmuch as the same was contrary to the existing Circulars of the Board, the same cannot be sustained." (emphasis supplied)

18. A Constitution Bench in Ratan Melting summarized the law in the following words

“2. It was noted by the threeJudge Bench that the effect of the aforesaid observations was noted in several decisions. In Kalyani Packaging Industry v. Union of India and Anr. (2004 (6) SCC 719), it was noted as follows:

"We have noticed that para 9 (para 11 in SCC) of Dhiren Chemical case (2004 (6) SCC 722) is being misunderstood. It, therefore, becomes necessary to clarify para 9 (para 11 in SCC) of Dhiren Chemical case (2004 (6) SCC 722). One of us (Variava, J.) was a party to the judgment of Dhiren Chemical case and knows what was the intention in incorporating para 9 (para 11 in SCC). It must be remembered that law laid down by this Court is law of the land. The law so laid down is binding on all courts/tribunals and bodies. It is clear that circulars of the Board cannot prevail over the law laid down by this Court. However, it was pointed out that during hearing of Dhiren Chemical case because of the circulars of the Board in many cases the Department had granted benefits of exemption notifications. It was submitted that on the interpretation now given by this Court in Dhiren Chemical case the Revenue was likely to reopen cases. Thus para 9 (para 11 in SCC) was incorporated to ensure that in cases where benefits of exemption notification had already been granted, the Revenue would remain bound. The purpose was to see that such cases were not reopened. However, this did not mean that even in cases where the Revenue/Department had already contended that the benefit of an exemption notification was not available, and the matter was sub judice before a court or a tribunal, the court or tribunal would also give effect to circulars of the Board in preference to a decision of the Constitution Bench of this Court. Where as a result of dispute the matter is sub judice, a court/tribunal is, after Dhiren Chemical case, bound to interpret as set out in that judgment. To hold otherwise and to interpret in the manner suggested would mean that courts/tribunals have to ignore a judgment of this Court and follow circulars of the Board. That was not what was meant by para 9 of Dhiren Chemical case."

“5. Circulars and instructions issued by the Board are no doubt binding in law on the authorities under the respective statutes, but when the Supreme Court or the High Court declares the law on the question arising for consideration, it would not be appropriate for the Court to direct that the circular should be given effect to and not the view expressed in a decision of this Court or the High Court. So far as the clarifications/circulars issued by the Central Government and of the State Government are concerned they represent merely their understanding of the statutory provisions. They are not binding upon the court. It is for the Court to declare what the particular provision of statute says and it is not for the Executive. Looked at from another angle, a circular which is contrary to the statutory provisions has really no existence in law.”

19. What is discernible from the law as declared by the Supreme Court is that circulars issued by departmental authorities in exercise of statutory powers is clearly binding on them though not on courts or tribunals. They have been rightly described as representing the views and understanding of the department of the statutory provisions. They continue to hold the field till the view expressed and embodied therein is overruled or eclipsed by an authoritative pronouncement of the High Court or the Supreme Court. Once a precedent comes to be handed down and entered which enunciates the law on the point at variance with what the circular purported to hold, the circular must necessarily give way. At such a juncture a party cannot contend that the circular would continue to operate even though it may run contrary to a binding verdict or declaration of law by a High Court or the Supreme Court. The primary purpose as noted by the Supreme Court in holding the department to the views taken and expressed in such circulars is to ensure a uniform practice and to enable the trade to arrange its business accordingly.

20. If the above principles as enunciated by the Supreme Court are borne in mind it is clear and apparent that the revisionist was justified in proceeding to arrange its affairs in accordance with the 1979 circular. The 1979 circular was issued by the Commissioner of Trade Tax U.P. who was duly empowered in terms of rule 4 of the U.P. Trade Tax Rules, 1948. This circular was clearly binding upon the other subordinate authorities working under and administering the 1948 Act. In any view of the matter the revisionist could not have been held liable to pay additional tax and denied the benefits flowing from section 14. Its actions were based entirely upon the 1979 circular which continued to hold the field till 24 May 2004 when the second circular came to be issued. All transactions prior to 24 May 2004 were therefore liable to be treated in accordance with the provisions of the 1979 circular.

21. That then takes us to the issue of whether the 2004 circular had the effect of impacting transactions which had already been subjected to tax prior thereto. To this the answer must obviously be in the negative.

22. As noted above, the 1979 circular continued to hold the field for decades. The 2004 circular represented a considered and definitive shift in the stand and understanding of the department on the subject. It represented a paradigm change of position and thought. The said circular was neither explanatory in character nor was it an instrument to clear conflicting views and opinions. The letter dated 3 March 2001 addressed by the Assistant Commissioner (Law), Trade Tax, U.P. it becomes worthy of note, was merely a communication of the Assistant Commissioner (Law). It was not a circular issued by the Commissioner of Trade Tax in exercise of statutory powers. It did not have the effect of overriding or rescinding the 1979 circular. The 2004 circular can be rightly described as an outcome of a revisit and a reconsideration of the vexed issue of taxability of roasted groundnut and whether it was liable to be treated as an unclassified item. However the moment one arrives at the conclusion that the 2004 circular was merely an outcome of an exercise of “revisit” and “reconsideration” and not an expression of opinion based upon an authoritative pronouncement of law by a competent court, it must be treated as having prospective operation.

23. While arriving at the above conclusions, the Court has also weighed in consideration the flux in the legal position and the fact that the issue of taxability of roasted groundnut as an unclassified item was/is an issue not free from debate and question. In such a situation as the Supreme Court held in Usha Martin benefit of doubt must be given to the assessee and that opinion which is in its favor must be given effect to.

24. One last submission of Sri B.K. Pandey which needs to be noticed and considered is his contention that the 2004 circular declared the 1979 circular as void and a nullity and therefore the views expressed therein would be deemed to have never operated. With respect, this Court is unable to countenance the said submission. The Commissioner Trade Tax U.P. it needs to be noted is not a court. The power to declare the law is vested in and with a court. The power to issue a declaration of nullity does not inhere in the Commissioner. The submission itself is based upon principles, applicable to the issue of decrees and declarations by courts. The 2004 circular therefore did not have the effect of effacing the 1979 circular with retrospective effect.

25. In light of the above, this Court holds that question no. 2 must be answered in favor of the revisionist and it be held that prior to the promulgation of the 2004 circular the 1979 circular held the field and all transactions in roasted groundnuts as entered into by the assessee be subjected to tax in accordance therewith.

Revision — Section 25 Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 — SCC Suit — Eviction — Arrears of rent — Written statement — Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. — Filing of written statement — Thirty days — Ninety days — Extension of time — Directory in nature — Exceptional and rare cases — Discretion of Court — Application rejected — Revision dismissed.

The order dated 31.5.2016 passed by the Additional District Judge in exercise of power as Judge, Small Cause Court, rejecting the application of the defendant-revisionist (paper No.33-Ga) for taking on record its written statement is subject of this revision u/s 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887.(Para 2)

It appears that the plaintiff-respondents filed SCC Suit No.75 of 2013 for eviction of the defendant-revisionist on the ground of arrears of rent after determining its tenancy. The defendant-revisionist in the said suit had put in its appearance on 20.11.2013. The defendant-revisionist on 24.7.2015 filed an application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. for rejection of the plaint. The said application was rejected vide order dated 18.1.2016.(Para 3)

Held:(Para:-20,21,25,26)

1.Accordingly, in my opinion the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 are directory in nature and the extended time limit of 90 days provided therein for filing written statement can further be extended at the discretion of the Court for reasons to be recorded in exceptional and rare cases but not in a routine manner.

2.In view of the above, the court below has the discretion to extend or not to extend the time for filing written statement beyond 90 days provided sufficient cause is shown justifying extension of time

3.In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, if the Court of first instance has exercised its discretionary power and has rejected the application paper No.33-Ga of the defendant-revisionist by refusing to accept the written statement filed by the defendant-revisionist, the said discretion is not liable to be disturbed in exercise of revisional jurisdiction.

4.Accordingly, I find no merit in this revision and the same is dismissed with costs upon the parties

- 2.Dr. J.J. Merchant and others Vs. Shrinath Chaturvedi, (2002) 6 SCC 635 — paras 15, 16
- 3.New India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Hilli Multipurpose Cold Storage Pvt. Ltd., AIR 2016 SC 86 — paras 16, 17, 19
- 4.Salem Advocates Bar Association, Tamil Nadu Vs. Union of India, AIR 2005 SC 3353 — paras 18, 19

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vijay Prakash, learned counsel for the defendant-revisionist and Sri Ranjit Saxena, learned counsel appearing for the plaintiff-respondents.

2. The order dated 31.5.2016 passed by the Additional District Judge in exercise of power as Judge, Small Cause Court, rejecting the application of the defendant-revisionist (paper No.33-Ga) for taking on record its written statement is subject of this revision u/s 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887.

3. It appears that the plaintiff-respondents filed SCC Suit No.75 of 2013 for eviction of the defendant-revisionist on the ground of arrears of rent after determining its tenancy. The defendant-revisionist in the said suit had put in its appearance on 20.11.2013. The defendant-revisionist on 24.7.2015 filed an application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. for rejection of the plaint. The said application was rejected vide order dated 18.1.2016.

4. The defendant revisionist after rejection of the above application filed an application on 17.2.2016 to allow time to challenge the above order before the High Court. The application was allowed and the order was challenged in SCC Revision No.75 of 2016 which is pending.

5. Thereafter the defendant-revisionist on 24.2.2016 filed an application seeking time to file written statement and the Court permitted time for filing written statement in accordance with the provisions of C.P.C. subject to payment of costs of Rs.1000/-.

6. The defendant-revisionist thereafter on 4.3.2016 submitted application paper No.33-Ga enclosing written statement seeking permission to file it.

7. The aforesaid application has been rejected by the impugned order as Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. permits only 30 days time for filing written statement from the date of appearance which can be extended by the Court to a maximum of 90 days.

8. Admittedly, the defendant-revisionist had not filed the written statement within the above period of 30 days or the extended period of 90 days but much later for which the Court found no justification.

9. The submission of Sri Vijay Prakash, learned counsel for the defendant-revisionist is that the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. are not mandatory but directory in nature. The time provided therein for filing written statement can be extended even beyond 90 days for sufficient reasons. Since the defendant-revisionist bonafidely, on legal advise was pursuing its application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. the time spent thereon was liable to be excluded under Section 14 of the Limitation Act. The Court below therefore, ought to have accepted the written statement by extending time beyond 90 days of its appearance in the case.

10. Sri Ranjit Saxena on the other hand, contends that the object of the defendant-revisionist was to delay the disposal of the suit by filing unnecessary applications. No valid reason existed for extending the time for filing written statement beyond the period of 90 days stipulated under Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C.

11. Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. makes provisions for the filing of written statement, set-off and counter claim. Rule 1 of Order 8 C.P.C. as amended, provides that the defendant shall, within thirty days from the date of service of summons on him, present a written statement of his defence. The proviso to it lays down that where the written statement is not filed within a period of thirty days, he shall be allowed to file it for reasons to be recorded and on payment of such costs as the court deems fit but not beyond 90 days from the date of service of summons.

12. In other words, the aforesaid provision mandates for filing of written statement within 30 days of service of summons upon the defendant which period can be extended for reasons to be recorded to a maximum period of 90 days from the date of service of summons.

13. The use of the word 'shall' therein prima facie makes the provision mandatory in the nature but as sometimes the use of the word 'shall' is taken to mean 'may' a controversy arose about the nature of the said provision.

14. The above provision came up for consideration before the three Judges Bench in the case of Kailash Vs. Nanhku and others (2005) 4 SCC 480 and their Lordships of the Supreme Court ruled that the aforesaid provision is not mandatory but directory in nature and that the Court may extend the time for filing of written statement even though the time referred in the aforesaid provision of 30 days and 90 days have expired.

15. On the other hand, a co-ordinate Bench of three Judges in Dr. J.J. Merchant and others Vs. Shrinath Chaturvedi (2002) 6 SCC 635 while dealing with the similar and identical provision of Section 13(2)(a) of the Consumer Protection Act, 1986 which lays down time period of 30 days + 15 days = 45 days for filing defence in consumer complaint cases on consideration of the case of Kailash (supra) held that in no case the period of 45 days can be extended for filing defence in the complaint case.

16. It is in view of the above two decisions that when a similar matter relating to time limit for filing of defence version came up for consideration in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Hilli Multipurpose Cold Storage Pvt. Ltd. AIR 2016 SC 86, the Apex Court finally approved the view taken in Dr. J.J. Merchant (supra) and observed that the Co-ordinate Bench in Kailash (supra) was bound by the view taken in Dr. J.J. Merchant (supra) and ought to have followed it with respect.

17. The three Judges Bench in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (supra) despite agreeing with the view taken in Dr. J.J. Merchant (supra) and ignoring that of Kailash (supra) fell short of either over-ruling or holding that the view expressed in Kailash (supra) is per incurium or is not in accordance with law. Thus, the view taken in Kailash (supra) as regards the nature of the provision of Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. and extension of time beyond 90 days in filing the written statement was not over-ruled.

18. In New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (supra) the Supreme Court in observing as aforesaid had not taken note of another three Judges decision in the case of Salem Advocates Bar Association, Tamil Nadu Vs. Union of India 2005 AIR 2005 SC 3353. In the aforesaid case the Bench dealt with the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C. in extenso and held that as the aforesaid provision or as a matter of fact the entire C.P.C. is procedural in nature, the provision of Order 8 Rule 1 despite use of word 'shall' cannot be held to be mandatory in nature and is rather directory in nature. The aforesaid provision do not place any restriction from granting additional time after the expiry of 90 days stipulated therein for the purposes of filing written statement. Thus, the time for filing written statement can be extended even beyond the time limit of 90 days fixed therein in exceptional and hard cases but not as a matter of routine and the said discretion cannot be utilized by the Court frequently and in a routine way so as to nullify the existence of Rule 1 of Order 8 C.P.C.

19. A complete reading of the entire case law on the subject and considering the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C., it is clear that the view expressed in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (supra) and Dr. J.J. Merchant (supra) are confined to cases arising out and under the provisions of Consumer Protection Act, 1986 and the dictum of law laid down therein cannot be applied to proceedings governed by the procedure laid down under C.P.C. The suits governed by the procedure established by the C.P.C. have to abide by the ratio decidendi of Salem Advocates Bar Association (supra) and that of Kailash (supra) in so far as they directly express the view in relation to Order 8 Rule 1 C.P.C.

20. Accordingly, in my opinion the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 are directory in nature and the extended time limit of 90 days provided therein for filing written statement can further be extended at the discretion of the Court for reasons to be recorded in exceptional and rare cases but not in a routine manner.

21. In view of the above, the court below has the discretion to extend or not to extend the time for filing written statement beyond 90 days provided sufficient cause is shown justifying extension of time.

22. There is no dispute that the defendant-revisionist had put in appearance in the suit on 2.11.2013. They filed written statement vide application paper No.33-Ga dated 4.3.2016 i.e. after about two and half years of appearance which is obviously after service of summons.

23. The defendant-revisionist had filed application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. on 24.7.2015 and the same was rejected on 18.1.2016. The explanation that the defendant-revisionist could not file the written statement on account of pendency of the above application is completely irrelevant and not material. The period of 30 days for filing written statement as well as the extended period of 90 days had expired much before the application under Order 7 Rule 11 was filed. There is no explanation or material on record to justify the non-filing of the written statement by the defendant-revisionist within the above period. Therefore, the defendant-revisionist even if entitle to exclusion of time spent in pursuing the application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. has miserably failed to submit any explanation or justification for not filing the written statement within 90 days of its appearance which had expired before the filing of application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C.

24. Moreover, the filing of the aforesaid application under Order 7 Rule 11 C.P.C. in no way had stopped the defendant-revisionist from filing the written statement. The said application was rejected on 18.1.2016 but the written statement was presented in the Court on 4.3.2016 and in the meantime the defendant-revisionist had moved two applications seeking time to move to the High Court and for filing written statement. The manner and conduct in which the defendant-revisionist handled the suit and took time for filing of written statement speaks for itself that the intention was to prolong the matter rather to contest it on merit and git it concluded. These facts do not justify to make out an exceptional and rare case fit for extending time for filing written statement beyond the period of 90 days.

25. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, if the Court of first instance has exercised its discretionary power and has rejected the application paper No.33-Ga of the defendant-revisionist by refusing to accept the written statement filed by the defendant-revisionist, the said discretion is not liable to be disturbed in exercise of revisional jurisdiction.

26. Accordingly, I find no merit in this revision and the same is dismissed with costs upon the parties.

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C, B.P. Singh, N.C Mehrotra, Seema Singh

Writ petition — Article 226 Constitution — Date of birth — Service record — School leaving certificate — Medical examination report — U.P. Recruitment to Services (Determination of Date of Birth) Rules, 1974 — Rule 2 — Complaint by brother — Retirement from service — Recovery of salary — Breach of natural justice — Document not supplied — No departmental enquiry — Impugned order quashed — No recovery

The brief reference to the factual aspect would suffice. The petitioner was initially engaged on the post of Waterman on 08.02.1980 on casual basis. He was regularized on the said post on 01.01.1988. A show cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 23.11.2011 on the basis of a complaint made by his brother dated 01.06.2010 wherein it was alleged that the petitioner's date of birth in the school leaving certificate was recorded as 02.01.1945. It was alleged that he was a student of Primary School, Nawabganj Sandi, Hardoi and according to the records of the said institution, his date of birth was 02.01.1945. Copy of the show cause notice is on record as Annexure-7 to the writ petition. (Para 2)

The petitioner has submitted his reply to the said show cause notice on 26.11.2011 denying all the allegations made therein. It has been contended on his behalf that the petitioner at the time of his appointment, was sent for medical examination and on the basis of the age mentioned in the medical examination report, his date of birth was recorded in his service record as 02.01.1954. He has stated that his brother due to enmity, has got manufactured some documents to cause harassment to the petitioner. (Para 3)

After considering the reply submitted by the petitioner, the fourth respondent has passed the impugned order and the petitioner has been retired. In the impugned order the fourth respondent has recorded that correct date of birth of the petitioner is 02.01.1945, thus, petitioner ought to have been retired on attaining the age of superannuation on 03.01.2005. Accordingly, a direction was issued to treat the petitioner as retired on 31.12.2011 and for recovery of his salary from 01.02.2005 to 31.12.2011. In the impugned order it is also recorded that on a complaint dated 01.06.2010, it came to the knowledge that the petitioner's correct date of birth is 02.01.1945 and on the basis of the fabricated medical report, the petitioner has got recorded his date of birth as 02.01.1954 in his service record. Some legal opinion has also been sought before passing the impugned order. (Para 4)

Held: (Paras 23-27)

1.It is noteworthy that, the petitioner in his reply to the show cause notice has categorically denied the fact that he has received any education in the said institution and the documents relied by the respondents are fabricated and manufactured documents, in my view, a regular departmental proceedings ought to have been initiated against the petitioner giving him full opportunity to rebut the allegation made against him. No such enquiry has been conducted against the petitioner even the document which has been relied in the impugned order, has not been furnished to the petitioner. Thus, whatever enquiry has been conducted by the respondents, is in the breach of the natural justice.

2.It is a trite that if a document is relied by the employer for taking action against the employee, the said document must be supplied to the employee. The said requirement is based on the fair play and natural justice. No such procedure has been adopted by the respondents. In my view, the action of the respondents has to be tested on the touchstone of justice, equity and fair play. Accordingly, the impugned order stands vitiated on the ground of the breach of the principle of natural justice.

3.The petitioner is a Class IV employee. From the counter affidavit, it is evident that no allegation against the petitioner in respect of his work and conduct has been made. Only on the basis of a complaint of his brother, the enquiry has been initiated after such a long period. A person who has been working satisfactory for 30 years, cannot be disturbed at the verge of his retirement. As noted above, no enquiry against him has been conducted in accordance with law. In his service record, his date of birth is 02.01.1954. During the pendency of the writ petition, he stood retired.

4.After a careful consideration of the matter, for the reasons stated above, I find that the impugned order dated 31.12.2011 is not sustainable. It needs to be quashed. Accordingly, it is quashed. No recovery shall be made pursuant to the impugned order.

5.The writ petition is allowed.

- 1.State of Uttaranchal and others Vs. Pitamber Dutt Semwal, (2002) 1 UPLBEC 441 SC — para 15
- 2.State of U.P. and others Vs. Gulaichi (Smt), (2003) 6 SCC 483 — para 16
- 3.U.P. Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad and others Vs. Raj Kumar Agnihotri, (2005) 11 SCC 465 — para 17

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel, J.)

1. The petitioner has preferred this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution for quashing the order dated 31.12.2011 passed by fifth respondent retiring the petitioner from service and for the recovery of the excess amount paid to him.

2. The brief reference to the factual aspect would suffice. The petitioner was initially engaged on the post of Waterman on 08.02.1980 on casual basis. He was regularized on the said post on 01.01.1988. A show cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 23.11.2011 on the basis of a complaint made by his brother dated 01.06.2010 wherein it was alleged that the petitioner's date of birth in the school leaving certificate was recorded as 02.01.1945. It was alleged that he was a student of Primary School, Nawabganj Sandi, Hardoi and according to the records of the said institution, his date of birth was 02.01.1945. Copy of the show cause notice is on record as Annexure-7 to the writ petition.

3. The petitioner has submitted his reply to the said show cause notice on 26.11.2011 denying all the allegations made therein. It has been contended on his behalf that the petitioner at the time of his appointment, was sent for medical examination and on the basis of the age mentioned in the medical examination report, his date of birth was recorded in his service record as 02.01.1954. He has stated that his brother due to enmity, has got manufactured some documents to cause harassment to the petitioner.

4. After considering the reply submitted by the petitioner, the fourth respondent has passed the impugned order and the petitioner has been retired. In the impugned order the fourth respondent has recorded that correct date of birth of the petitioner is 02.01.1945, thus, petitioner ought to have been retired on attaining the age of superannuation on 03.01.2005. Accordingly, a direction was issued to treat the petitioner as retired on 31.12.2011 and for recovery of his salary from 01.02.2005 to 31.12.2011. In the impugned order it is also recorded that on a complaint dated 01.06.2010, it came to the knowledge that the petitioner's correct date of birth is 02.01.1945 and on the basis of the fabricated medical report, the petitioner has got recorded his date of birth as 02.01.1954 in his service record. Some legal opinion has also been sought before passing the impugned order.

5. A counter affidavit has been filed. The stand taken in the counter affidavit is that a complaint was received against the petitioner wherein it is mentioned that the petitioner got his primary education from Primary School, Nawabganj Sandi, Hardoi and according to the school register, his date of birth is 02.01.1945. A communication dated 18.10.2010 sent by the Head Master of the institution has also been brought on record wherein it is mentioned that according to the said record, the petitioner's date of birth is 02.01.1945.

6. An impleadment application has been filed on behalf of Virendra Kumar, his brother, in the writ petition but no one is present on his behalf to press the impleadment application. An objection to the impleadment application has been filed by the petitioner. In the said objection, it is stated that a large number of criminal cases are pending between the brothers, hence due to the malafide reasons, he had moved the complaint against the petitioner, which ought not to have been entertained.

7. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Jitendra Singh learned Standing Counsel and Sri N.C. Mehrotra for respondent nos. 2 to 5.

8. It is contended on behalf of the petitioner that he was appointed in the year 1980 and was regularized in the year 1988 and after such a long period, a complaint has been made against the petitioner in 2011 and without holding any enquiry, the petitioner's services has been terminated. It is further urged that the petitioner was appointed after the medical examination, on the basis of medical report his age was recorded in service book. Next it was submitted that U.P. Recruitment to Services (Determination of Date of Birth) Rules, 1974 (In short 'Rules 1974') provide that if a person has not passed High School then the age recorded in the service record is final. He has further submitted that neither the communication of the Head Master of the institution was supplied to him nor any other document was furnished to him. Thus, the entire proceedings is in the breach of natural justice.

9. Lastly, it is urged that the petitioner has worked till 2011, thus the direction for recovery of the salary from 2005 to 2011 is arbitrary as during the said period, the petitioner has actually worked, hence no recovery can be made for the said period.

10. Sri N.C. Mehrotra, learned counsel for the respondent nos. 2 to 5 submits that the petitioner has committed fraud and he has obtained his appointment on the basis of the fabricated medical report.

11. I have considered the rival submissions and perused the record.

12. The petitioner was initially appointed in the year 1980 on casual basis and in the year 1988 he was regularized and after about 30 years a complaint was made against him by his real brother that his date of birth is wrongly recorded and his correct date of birth is 02.01.1945. In support of the said allegation, it appears that he has produced some duplicate copy of the school leaving certificate which indicate that his date of birth is recorded 02.01.1945 in schools record. On the basis of the communication of the Head Master and the said document, a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner stating that the Head Master of the institution has certified that his date of birth is 02.01.1945. The petitioner in his reply to the said show cause notice has categorically denied the said fact. From the show cause notice, it is clear that the document relied by the respondents i.e. the communication of the Head Master and his duplicate school leaving certificate was not furnished to the petitioner.

13. The State Government has framed U.P. Recruitment to Services (Determination of Date of Birth) Rules, 1974 to determine the date of birth of the Government servants. The rule-2 of Rules, 1974 provides the determination of correct date of birth. Rule-2 of Rules, 1974 reads as under:-

"2. Determination of correct date of birth or age- The date of birth of a Government servant as recorded in the certificate of his having passed the high School or equivalent examination at the time of his entry into the Government service or where a Government servant has not passed any such examination as aforesaid or has passed such examination after joining the service, the date of birth or the age recorded in his service book at the time of his entry into the Government service shall be deemed to be his correct date of birth or age, as the case may be for all purposes in relation to his service, including eligibility for promotion, superannuation, premature retirement or retirement benefits, and no application or representation shall be entertained for correction of such date or age in any circumstances whatsoever."

14. From the reading of the rule-2 it is evident that if a person is High School at the time of his entry into Government service, the date of birth recorded in the High School certificate shall be deemed to be his correct date of birth and in case the Government servant is not High School then the date of birth or the age recorded in service book at the time of his entry, shall be deemed to be his correct date of birth or age.

15. The rule 2 of Rules 1974 came to be considered by the Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttranchal and others v. Pitamber Dutt Semwal, (2002) 1 UPLBEC 441 SC. The Court has held as under:

"6. These rules, the validity of which have not been challenged, clearly stipulate that no application or representation shall be entertained for correcting any date or age record and the entry made in the service book shall be deemed to be the correct date of birth. Be that as it may, even de hors the said rule, we are of the opinion that the plea of the respondent that the date of birth was wrongly recorded was highly belated. He joined service in 1964, the service book was prepared in 1965 and according to the appellant, he has signed the said service book at least on three occasions. In any case, the plea of the wrong recording of the age in the service book has been taken, nearly thirty years after the service book was prepared. In our opinion, the Division Bench was in error in ignoring the provisions of the said Rule 2 and even otherwise, in the facts of this case, there was no occasion for the High Court to have interfered with the decision of the appellant."

16. The said rule was again considered in the case of State of U.P. and others v. Gulaichi (Smt), (2003) 6 SCC 483 wherein the Court has held as under:

"12. - - - Additionally, the first appellate court and the High Court seem to have lost sight of the fact that the person who endorsed changes was not authorized to do so. The original service-book was produced before us by the learned counsel for the appellants. Though the learned counsel for the respondent submitted that we should not look into it, for the purpose of arriving at the truth, we overruled the objection and looked at the original document, which undisputedly was exhibited during trial. The entry i.e. 31-07-1929 appears to have been made simultaneously by one and the same person at the time when other entries were made in FR Form 13. The respondent has herself signed the page at Serial No.8, whereas the entry relating to the date of birth is at Serial No.5."

17. In U.P. Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad and others v. Raj Kumar Agnihotri, (2005) 11 SCC 465, the Supreme Court had occasioned to consider the rule 2 of the Rules 1974 and has held that the age recorded in the service at the time of entry shall be deemed to be correct date of birth for all purposes and no application or representation shall be entertained for correction of such date. The Court held as under:

"18. In the instant case, the U.P. Recruitment to Service (Determination of date of birth) Rules came into force w.e.f. 28.05.1974. Rule 2 of the Rules was amended by the first amendment Rules, 1980 of 07.06.1980. The existing rule and the substituted rule are extracted hereinbelow:

COLUMN 1	COLUMN 2
(Existing rule)	(Rule as hereby substituted)
2. The date of birth of Government servant as recorded in the certificate of	2. The date of birth of a Government servant as recorded in the certificate of his having passed the High School or equivalent examination, or where a Government servant has not passed any such examination as aforesaid, the date of birth or the age recorded in his service book at the time of his entry into Government service, shall be deemed to be his correct date of birth or age, as the case may be, for all purposes in relation to his service including, eligibility for promotion, superannuation, premature retirement or retirement benefits, and no application or representation shall be entertained for correction of such date or age in any circumstances whatsoever.	his having passed the High School or equivalent examination at the time of his entry into the Government service or where a Government servant has not passed any such examination as aforesaid or has passed such examination after joining the service, the date of birth or the age recorded in his service book at the time of his entry into the Government service shall be deemed to be his correct date of birth or age, as the case may be, for all purposes in relation to his service, including eligibility for promotion, superannuation, premature retirement or retirement benefits and no application or representation shall be entertained for correction of such date or age in any circumstances whatsoever.

As per the existing rule, the date of birth or the age recorded in his service book at the time of entry into the Government service shall be deemed to be the correct date of birth or age, as the case may be, for all purposes and no application or representation shall be entertained for correction of such date or age in any circumstances whatsoever.

18. What emerges from the above mentioned cases is that Rule 2 of Rules 1974 does not provide any change and no representation can be entertained for the change of date of birth for whatsoever reason by the employee.

19. It is a common ground that the petitioner is not High School and his date of birth recorded in the service record is 02.01.1954. He did not produce any school leaving certificate at the time of his appointment that was the reason for recording his date of birth on the basis of Medical report. It is noteworthy that the petitioner has averred in the writ petition that at time of his appointment, he was sent for a medical examination and the said report dated 03.03.1987 is issued under the seal and signature of Chief Medical Officer, Hardoi, it is on the record as Annexure-3 to the writ petition. It is recorded therein that at time of the medical examination, his age was about 34 years. The said certificate was issued in the year 1987. The averment made in the writ petition and about this document has been replied in the counter affidavit in paragraph no. 17. The paragraph no. 17 of the counter affidavit reads as under:-

"17. That the contents of paragraph no. 5 of the writ petition are false and are denied. The alleged certificate has no relevance. The document itself shows that the date of birth of the petitioner is 02.01.1945 and not 02.01.1954."

20. A careful perusal of the medical report dated 03.03.1987 indicates that the averment made in the counter affidavit that in the said certificate it is mentioned that the petitioner's date of birth is 02.01.1945, is palpably false. There is no such recital in the said certificate. Moreover in the counter affidavit the genuineness of the medical certificate has not been doubted.

21. In addition to above, the respondents have entertained the complaint after 30 years of service. In the objection to the impleadment application, the petitioner has given the details of the criminal cases between the brothers. This facts also indicate that for the malafide intention, the brother of the petitioner had made the complaint.

22. It is noteworthy that, the petitioner in his reply to the show cause notice has categorically denied the fact that he has received any education in the said institution and the documents relied by the respondents are fabricated and manufactured documents, in my view, a regular departmental proceedings ought to have been initiated against the petitioner giving him full opportunity to rebut the allegation made against him. No such enquiry has been conducted against the petitioner even the document which has been relied in the impugned order, has not been furnished to the petitioner. Thus, whatever enquiry has been conducted by the respondents, is in the breach of the natural justice.

23. It is a trite that if a document is relied by the employer for taking action against the employee, the said document must be supplied to the employee. The said requirement is based on the fair play and natural justice. No such procedure has been adopted by the respondents. In my view, the action of the respondents has to be tested on the touchstone of justice, equity and fair play. Accordingly, the impugned order stands vitiated on the ground of the breach of the principle of natural justice.

24. The petitioner is a Class IV employee. From the counter affidavit, it is evident that no allegation against the petitioner in respect of his work and conduct has been made. Only on the basis of a complaint of his brother, the enquiry has been initiated after such a long period. A person who has been working satisfactory for 30 years, cannot be disturbed at the verge of his retirement. As noted above, no enquiry against him has been conducted in accordance with law. In his service record, his date of birth is 02.01.1954. During the pendency of the writ petition, he stood retired.

25. After a careful consideration of the matter, for the reasons stated above, I find that the impugned order dated 31.12.2011 is not sustainable. It needs to be quashed. Accordingly, it is quashed. No recovery shall be made pursuant to the impugned order.

26. The writ petition is allowed.

Special Appeal—Societies Registration Act, 1860 — Section 25(2) — Deputy Registrar — Committee of Management — Society — amendment in byelaws — Memorandum of Association — membership of the society — elections — Committee of Management declared defunct — direction for holding fresh elections — writ petition — modification application — review application — principles of natural justice — framing of issues — jurisdiction of Deputy Registrar — validity of elections — order dated 15.04.2011 — learned Single Judge — Special Appeals — order set aside — order of Deputy Registrar quashed — fresh decision after opportunity of hearing

These three appeals relate to the elections of the Committee of Management and affairs of a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 namely, the Khemraj Smarak Rashtriya Vidyapeeth Sangh, Khemapur Faizabad, district Ambedkar Nagar, the focus whereof is the challenge raised to the order of the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Faizabad dated 15.04.2011 whereby the contention raised on behalf of the appellants had been accepted and the Deputy Registrar had after declaring the tenure of the Committee of Management of the society to have come to an end, further issued directions for holding of fresh elections in exercise of powers under Section 25 (2) of the 1860 Act.(Para 1)

It may be put on record that all elections after 29.11.1967 were declared invalid on the ground that the membership of the society was highly disputed as it was based on amendment in the byelaws and Memorandum of Association that was illegal, and any consequential action or elections being claimed were all invalid.(Para 2)

The aforesaid order had been passed against the respondent petitioners No.9 and 10 holding that all the activities that were carried out under the amended byelaws of 24.11.1980 and the amendment in the Memorandum of Association dated 12.06.2001, were invalid as the amendment itself was impermissible and, therefore, the elections should now be held on the strength of the membership that existed as on 29.11.1967.

Accordingly, a direction was issued by the Deputy Registrar to submit a list of members of the general body for holding elections.(Para 3)

The aforesaid society has established an Intermediate College namely, Kehmraj Smarak Rashtriya Vidyapith Sangh, Khemapur, Faizabad, district Ambedkar Nagar, which is duly recognized under the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and is governed by the provisions of a scheme of administration approved by the competent authority under the provisions of the said Act.(Para 4)

Held:(Paras 51-58)

1.The learned Single Judge, therefore, committed a manifest error in dismissing the writ petition. The order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 being invalid for the aforesaid reasons, therefore, had to be set aside and the writ petition deserves to be allowed. Instead, the learned Single Judge entered into the exercise of changing of the dates and passed orders on the review application and on a modification application in a manner which is unsupported in law about which we have already indicated hereinabove. The Deputy Registrar had acted in a way that did not conform to the correct procedure under the provisions of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. He has also not taken notice of the fact as to whether he did have the authority to enter into an infructuous dispute of the Committee of Management the tenure whereof had long come to an end. All these issues, therefore, require being addressed to that was not done by the Deputy Registrar. The writ petition therefore, deserves to be allowed for which we have also to set aside the impugned judgment herein.

2.Accordingly, the judgment dated 09.01.2012 arising out of Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 is hereby set aside. The order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 is quashed. The Deputy Registrar shall proceed to pass a fresh order in the light of the observations made hereinabove after giving an opportunity of hearing to the parties and after noticing their contentions and framing issues arising out of the dispute raised before him.

3.We now advert to Special Appeal No.81 of 2015. The learned Single Judge while dismissing Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 has simply expressed his inability to interfere in the matter on account of the passing of the orders dated 09.01.2012, 17.01.2012, 20.09.2013 and 08.05.2014 in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. We have by this judgment today set aside the judgment dated 09.01.2012 and have also declared the orders dated 17.01.2012, 20.09.2013, 04.12.2012 to be a nullity and have quashed the order dated 08.05.2014.

4.Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 has been filed basically challenging the consequential decision of the Deputy Registrar finalizing the list of the members and then holding of the elections of the society pursuant to the judgment of the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. Since the judgment in relation thereto, as noted above has been set aside and the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 has been quashed, then all consequential actions also fall through and, therefore, this appeal also deserves to be allowed and the challenge raised in the writ petition also deserves to be accepted.

5.We accordingly allow this appeal setting aside the judgment dated 24.02.2015. We also set aside all the actions taken pursuant to the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 as the order dated 15.04.2011 itself has been quashed by us today. Consequential finalization of membership, and holding of elections vide orders dated 17.03.2012 and 26.04.2012 are also set aside.

6.The Deputy Registrar shall accordingly, in case he finds that the tenure of the committee has come to an end, proceed to finalize the membership in accordance with law and then proceed to hold elections if necessary.

7.Consequently, all the three appeals are allowed subject to the directions hereinabove.

8. The Deputy Registrar shall decide the matter expeditiously preferably, within a period of three months from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order before him.

1. These three appeals relate to the elections of the Committee of Management and affairs of a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 namely, the Khemraj Smarak Rashtriya Vidyapeeth Sangh, Khemapur Faizabad, district Ambedkar Nagar, the focus whereof is the challenge raised to the order of the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Faizabad dated 15.04.2011 whereby the contention raised on behalf of the appellants had been accepted and the Deputy Registrar had after declaring the tenure of the Committee of Management of the society to have come to an end, further issued directions for holding of fresh elections in exercise of powers under Section 25 (2) of the 1860 Act.

2. It may be put on record that all elections after 29.11.1967 were declared invalid on the ground that the membership of the society was highly disputed as it was based on amendment in the byelaws and Memorandum of Association that was illegal, and any consequential action or elections being claimed were all invalid.

3. The aforesaid order had been passed against the respondent petitioners No.9 and 10 holding that all the activities that were carried out under the amended byelaws of 24.11.1980 and the amendment in the Memorandum of Association dated 12.06.2001, were invalid as the amendment itself was impermissible and, therefore, the elections should now be held on the strength of the membership that existed as on 29.11.1967. Accordingly, a direction was issued by the Deputy Registrar to submit a list of members of the general body for holding elections.

4. The aforesaid society has established an Intermediate College namely, Khemraj Smarak Rashtriya Vidyapeeth Sangh, Khemapur, Faizabad, district Ambedkar Nagar, which is duly recognized under the provisions of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and is governed by the provisions of a scheme of administration approved by the competent authority under the provisions of the said Act.

5. The appellants allege that the Principal of the institution Mr. Babban Singh had an evil eye over the institution as well as the society and he gradually tried to take over the affairs of the society as well as the institution as would be evident from the facts narrated and brought on record. On account of such nefarious activities and complaints being lodged, the Management of the college was superseded by the State Government invoking the provisions of Section 16-D of the 1921 Act, vide order dated 22.02.2011. One Sri Ashok Kumar Singh filed Writ Petition No.1288 (M/S) of 2011, assailing the said order of supersession on several grounds including the mala fides alleged against a local MLA Sri Bhagelu Ram who had influenced the Secretary, Secondary Education Sri Jitendra Kumar to pass the said order. The writ petition was entertained and the following order was passed on 10.03.2011:-

"Through the instant writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has assailed the order dated 22.2.2011 passed by the opposite party No.1-Secretary, Secondary Education, Uttar Pradesh and issued by the opposite party No.2-the Special Secretary, Sanskrit Shiksha Anubhag, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh, whereby the Principal of Government Inter College, Akbarpur has been appointed as Authorized Controller of the Committee of Management of the petitioner's institution in exercise of the powers under Section 16-D of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

The main grounds on which the impugned order has been challenged are that the Principal, who has been appointed as an Authorized Controller is a tainted person and closely associated to the M.L.A. of the ruling party, namely, Sri Bhagelu Ram. It has been alleged that at the behest of the said MLA, who is taking keen interest in the affairs, the State Government supersede and terminate the Committee of Management of the petitioner's institution illegally and arbitrarily and without application of mind.

In order to verify the averments made in the writ petition, this Court, vide order dated 4.3.2011, the Principal Secretary, Secondary Education, Lucknow, was directed to appear in person along with the relevant record to assist the Court.

In compliance thereof, Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Secondary Education, Lucknow, U.P., is present in person along with the entire records.

Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Secondary Education, Lucknow, U.P., on the basis of the records, submits that on the basis of the recommendation of the Director in exercise of power under Section 16 (D) (4) of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 with regards to irregularities, which have been committed by the Committee of Management of the petitioner's institution, Authorized Controller has been appointed.

The petitioner in para 18 of the writ petition has specifically stated that action with regards to appointment of authorized controller in the petitioner's institution has only been initiated on the influence of the opposite party No.9-Sri Pawan Kumar, who is the Regional Co-ordinator and also local Member of Legislative Assembly of Uttar Pradesh of the ruling party.

On perusal of the records, which have been produced by Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, it reflects that the irregularities, which has been pointed out by the Director in his recommendation for appointment of Authorized Controller was for the year 2003-2004 and thereafter, no specific irregularities has been either pointed out by the Secretary nor are reflected from perusal of the records. The Member of Legislative Assembly, namely, Sri Bhagelu Ram, wrote a letter, which has been received in the office of Chief Minister on 2.2.2011 and Sri Net Ram, Chief Secretary, Government of U.P., directed the Secretary, Secondary Education, Lucknow, to do necessary action, on 1.2.2011. Immediately thereafter, on 22.2.2011, Authorized Controller in the petitioner's institution has been appointed.

Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case and also on perusal of the records, I am of the view that the officers of the State Government are acting under the influence of the elected Member of Legislative Assembly without applying their own independent minds in the instant case. Fairness and transparency is the essence of the State Act. The Government Officers are bound to pass order after applying their independent mind and strictly in accordance with law. The order cannot be the result of political influence.

For the reasons aforesaid, the Chief Secretary, State of U.P., shall call an explanation from Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Secondary Education, Government of U.P., within three days from today as to under what circumstances and how he proceeded to in utter breach of the provisions of law, specifically, under Section 16 (D) (5) of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 insofar as without issuing any notice, he appointed authorized controller under the influence of the political leader.

List the matter on 16.3.2011, on which date, Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Secondary Education, U.P., who is present in person, shall also appear in person.

The Chief Secretary, State of U.P., shall also ensure that an officer not below the rank of Joint Secretary, in his office, is present in the Court along with the show cause notice given to Sri Jitendra Kumar and the explanation so tendered by Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Government of U.P., on the date fixed.

The Bench Secretary shall seal the records, which have been produced by Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Government of U.P., and transmit the same to the Registrar of this Court. The Registrar shall keep the record in sealed envelop in a safe custody and ensure that the records in sealed cover are made available on the date fixed before this Court.

In the event, Sri Jitendra Kumar, Secretary, Secondary Education, Government of U.P., wants to inspect the records for tendering his explanation, he shall move an appropriate application before the Registrar of this Court. In case such an application is received, the Registrar shall open the seal cover and allow Sri Jitendra Kumar to inspect the file in his presence and shall also allow him to note down the points. This can be done in any working day. Immediately thereafter, the Registrar shall seal the records in his presence.

Order Date :- 10.3.2011

Ajit/-

Let a copy of this order be sent to the Chief Secretary, Government of U.P., Lucknow through FAX today."

6. The appellants, who are also contesting the continuance of Sri Babbann Singh and the contesting respondent No.9 and 10 in the society, are stated to have adopted the same method and through the influence of the then Secretary, Secondary Education Sri Jitendra Kumar to rake up the matter of the society by filing two applications: one dated 09.12.2009 said to have been moved by the respondent No.8 Dinesh Pratap Singh son of Hira Singh and the second application dated 08.02.2010 by the same person. The aforesaid facts are available from the narration made in the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011. The said order also narrates the availability of a complaint dated 03.12.1985 said to have been moved by Sri Hira Singh and five others, referring to an earlier complaint dated 06.11.1985. These complaints had been controverted by the then office bearers of the society. The respondent No.9 and 10 contend that this was again a mala fide exercise to somehow or the other disturb the functioning of the society at the instance of the same MLA and the same Secretary, Secondary Education under whose influence, the Deputy Registrar under the garb of looking to all the complaints, including the amendments in the byelaws and Memorandum of Association of the society, proceeded to annul all the elections of the society and its activities after 20.11.1967. This order came to be challenged by the contesting respondent No.9 and 10 in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011.

7. Thus, the order of supersession of the management of the College that was assailed in Writ Petition No.1288 (M/S) of 2011 and the above mentioned order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 in relation to the management and affairs of the appellant society challenged in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011, came to be heard together by a learned Single Judge of this Court who delivered two separate judgments in both the writ petitions. The judgment of the case of supersession of the management of the College in Writ Petition No.1288 (M/S) of 2011, dated 09.01.2012 is extracted hereinabove:-

"Heard learned Counsel for the parties.

The instant writ petition has been filed assailing the appointment of Authorized Controller superseding the duly elected Committee of Management inter alia on the ground that the order appointing Authorized Controller has been passed by the State Government at the instance of one Member of Legislative Assembly, namely, Baghelu Ram.

While entertaining the writ petition, vide order dated 4.3.2011, this Court directed the Principal Secretary (Madhyamik) to appear in person alongwith the relevant records on 10.3.2011. In compliance of the order dated 4.3.2011, the Principal Secretary (Madhyamik) appeared and produced the relevant record.

On perusal of the records, it was found that the material procedural irregularities were committed while appointing the Authorized Controller. Therefore, the records were directed to be sealed. Today, when the case was taken up, records were opened and on perusal, it further reflects that it is only on the basis of letter written by the MLA, action has been initiated by the State Government appointing the Authorized Controller. Neither any report was called for from the concerned educational authorities nor from the petitioner. Law is well settled that any action which entails civil consequences must be in consonance with the principles of natural justice. At this juncture, it would be useful to refer the law enunciated by the Apex Court.

In D.K. Yadav Vs. J.M.A. Industries; (1993) 3 SCC 259 the Apex Court while laying emphasis on affording opportunity by the authority which has the power to take punitive or damaging action held that orders affecting the civil rights or resulting civil consequences would have to answer the requirement of Article 14. The Hon'ble Apex Court concluded as under: - "The procedure prescribed for depriving a person of livelihood would be liable to be tested on the anvil of Article 14. The procedure prescribed by a statute or statutory rule or rules or orders affecting the civil rights or result in civil consequences would have to answer the requirement of Article 14. Article 14 has a pervasive procedural potency and versatile quality, equalitarian in its soul and principles of natural justice are part of Article 14 and the procedure prescribed by law must be just, fair and reasonable, and not arbitrary, fanciful or oppressive.

In National Building Construction Corporation v. S. Raghunathan; (1998) 7 SCC 66, the Apex Court in unequivocal words that a person is entitled to judicial review, if he is able to show that the decision of the public authority affected him of some benefit or advantage which in the past he had been permitted to enjoy and which he legitimately expected to be permitted to continue to enjoy either until he is informed the reasons for withdrawal and the opportunity to comment on such reasons.

As the order appointing Authorized Controller has been passed in violation of provisions of Section 16 (D) (5) of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, it is liable to be quashed. Furthermore, the Standing Counsel has failed to point out that any notice or opportunity of hearing was provided before passing the impugned order. Thus, it is clear that the order was passed in utter disregard of the principles of natural justice.

Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed and the impugned order dated 22.2.2011 is hereby quashed. The record, which is produced and kept in this Court, shall be returned to the Standing Counsel or the official concerned."

The writ petition was allowed and the appointment of the Authorized Controller in the institution was quashed.

The dispute now presently in question began with the dismissal of Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 that had raised the challenge to the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011. The judgment dismissing the said Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011, dated 09.01.2012, is extracted hereinunder:-

"Heard Pt. S. Chandra, learned Counsel for the petitioner, Mr. Anil Tiwari, Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing for the opposite parties and Mr. M. B. Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party nos.2 and 3.

During pendency of writ petition No.1288 (MS) of 2011, the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits has issued a notice to all the concerned parties requiring to convene a meeting of General Body. When a compliant has been filed on 19.12.2009 by Sri Dinesh Pratap Singh, it was investigated and it was found that last election of the Committee of Management was held on 1.4.2008 and thereafter, no election took place and as such, in exercise of powers conferred under Section 25 (2) of Societies Registration Act, elections were notified. Being aggrieved by the said action, the instant writ petition has been filed.

After hearing learned Counsel for the parties, I am of the opinion that no election took place after 1.4.2008 and the term of Committee of Management has also been expired and as such, I do not find any illegality or infirmity in the impugned orders. No interference is required under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed. The Deputy Registrar is directed to hold elections within a maximum period of one month from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order."

8. While dismissing the writ petition, the learned Single Judge in the second last paragraph concluded that since no election had taken place after 01.04.2008 and the tenure of the committee has already expired, the writ petition was dismissed as no interference was called for with a direction that the Deputy Registrar shall proceed to hold election within time period given therein.

9. It is this date of 01.04.2008 which raised the controversy afresh. The contesting respondent No.9 and 10 who are the petitioners in the writ petition, however, felt satisfied with the said date and at that point of time, they did not raise any objection to the aforesaid fact having been recorded by the learned Single Judge which was in complete variance with the last date of the tenure of the Committee of management of the society i.e., 29.11.1967 mentioned by the Deputy Registrar in the order impugned dated 15.04.2011. The Deputy Registrar had concluded that the tenure of the society as was then under the byelaws was two years, and the Committee of Management had been constituted in November, 1965 whereafter no valid elections have been held as such the committee had become defunct after 1967.

10. The learned Single Judge dismissed the writ petition but recorded the date as 01.04.2008. The appellants contend that the Deputy Registrar had rightly found that no elections were held after 1967 and the aforesaid date 01.04.2008 was got confused with the elections of the Committee of Management of the Intermediate College. According to the appellants since the mentioning of the said date was absolutely incorrect, a modification application was filed by the appellants herein, who were the respondents in the writ petition, on 16.01.2012 and the said modification application was taken up on 17.01.2012 by the learned Single Judge and the following order was passed on 17.01.2012:-

"Heard Mr. Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the applicant.

Learned Counsel for the applicant submits that in the judgment and order dated 9.1.2012, date of last election of the Committee of Management was held on 1.4.2008. In this context, learned Counsel for the applicant has drawn the attention of this Court towards the impugned order dated 15.4.2011 wherein it has been mentioned that on 29.11.1967, Committee of Management has expired.

Accordingly, the judgment and order dated 9.1.2012 is modified to the extent that the undisputed elections for the office bearers of the Committee of Management was held and the Committee of Management has expired on 29.11.1967.

The application is disposed of in above terms."

11. The learned Single Judge accepted the modification holding that the date of the expiry of the tenure of the last valid elections of the society was 29.11.1967 which was the date mentioned by the Deputy Registrar in the impugned order dated 15.04.2011.

12. The petitioners therein who are the respondent No.9 and 10 in the present appeal, filed a Review Application No.46 of 2012 along with a recall application for recall of the order dated 17.01.2012 contending that the said order dated 17.01.2012 was without jurisdiction as it amounted to review of the entire judgment changing the date without even serving a copy of the application on the counsel for the petitioners. The modification was, therefore, carried out in violation of principles of natural justice.

13. This application remained pending and in between in view of the modified order dated 17.01.2012, the Deputy Registrar, who was to proceed with the elections in terms of his order dated 15.04.2011, finalized the list of the members of the general body on 17.03.2012. This action of the Deputy Registrar became subject matter of challenge in Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012. The elections were also held on 26.04.2012 pursuant to the said electoral list finalized by the Deputy Registrar and the said elections were also challenged by way of an amendment in the same writ petition.

14. During the pendency of the said writ petition, certain developments more took place in respect of the modification order and the review application filed by the respondent No.9 and 10 in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. The Review Application No.46 of 2012 referred to hereinabove, was taken up by the learned Single Judge on 14.12.2012 and an order was passed recording that the review petition "was" allowed with certain modification for "the reasons to be recorded later on". The order passed on the review application is extracted hereinunder:-

"This review petition was allowed with certain modification for the reasons to be recorded later on. During the course of dictation of judgment, the record reveals that certain new developments had taken place, which were not brought to the notice of the Court during hearing. Therefore, it is necessary to get clarification from the parties' counsel.

Accordingly, list this case as and when I sit singly.

Registry shall issue counsel notice in this regard."

This order in several ways contradicts itself with regard to which we will delve later on, as it is this order which further complicated the issues giving rise to this appeal and the connected appeals. As directed by the learned Single Judge in the aforesaid order to list the matter after issuing notice with a view to seek clarification from the learned counsel, the same was taken up on 20.09.2013 and the following order was passed:-

"Vide judgment and order dated 17.1.2012 passed in C.M.Application No. 5633 of 2012 in re: Writ petition No. 2816 of 2011, this Court has passed the following order :

"Heard Mr. Shailendra Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the applicant.

Learned Counsel for the applicant submits that in the judgment and order dated 9.1.2012, date of last election of the Committee of Management was held on 1.4.2008. In this context, learned Counsel for the applicant has drawn the attention of this Court towards the impugned order dated 15.4.2011 wherein it has been mentioned that on 29.11.1967, Committee of Management has expired.

Accordingly, the judgment and order dated 9.1.2012 is modified to the extent that the undisputed elections for the office bearers of the Committee of Management was held and the Committee of Management has expired on 29.11.1967.

The application is disposed of in above terms."

Not being satisfied with the above judgment and order dated 17.1.2012, instant review petition has been preferred inter alia on the ground that the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Faizabad, by the impugned order dated 15.4.2011, illegally cancelled the election of the petitioners' society since 29.11.1967 though the record pertaining to election since the year 1967 (29.11.1967) is available in the office of Deputy Registrar.

During the course of arguments, learned Counsel for the review petitioners submits that the judgment and order dated 17.1.2012 be reviewed only to the extent that undisputed elections for the office bearers of Committee of Management was debarred on 29.11.1967.

It is not in dispute that Committee of Management was debarred on 29.11.1967.

Considering the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, review petition is allowed in part and the above order dated 17.1.2012 is recalled and following order is being passed :

"The judgment and order dated 9.1.2012 is modified to the extent that undisputed elections for the office bearers of Committee of Management was debarred on 29.11.1967." "

15. A perusal of the aforesaid order would indicate that the Court reiterated that the undisputed elections that were held, had come to an end on 29.11.1967 by using the word, "debarred".

16. The aforesaid order, however, purports to allow the review petition in part but at the same time, the matter was again taken up on 08.05.2014 and a fresh order was passed holding that since the petitioners in the writ petition have brought on record the details of certain elections last of which were held on 01.04.2008, then the date of expiry of last elections from 29.11.1967 was again changed to 01.04.2008 as existed in the original order dated 09.01.2012.

17. It is against this order that the present Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 has been filed.

18. It appears that after filing of this appeal and the grounds taken herein, the respondent No.9 and 10 were advised to question the correctness of the original judgment dated 09.01.2012 whereby the writ petition had been dismissed and also prayed for quashing of the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 by filing Special Appeal No.84 of 2015.

19. There is yet another development which deserves to be put on record namely, that the list that was finalized by the Deputy Registrar on 17.03.2012 and the elections which were held pursuant thereto on 26.04.2012, as per the modified order of the High Court dated 17.01.2012, was subject matter of challenge in Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 as noted above. The said writ petition was dismissed by a detailed judgment on 24.02.2015 by a learned Single Judge on the ground that it would not be possible to question the correctness of the elections already held pursuant to the order dated 15.04.2011 of the Deputy Registrar and the intervening judgment of the High Court dated 17.01.2012 as well as the subsequent orders dated 14.12.2012, 20.09.2013 and 08.05.2014 that are subject matter of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 namely, the present appeal. Learned Single Judge thus, found that the said proceedings could not be adjudicated independently as everything was dependent now on the outcome of the Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 that was considering all the orders passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 referred to hereinabove.

20. The respondent No.9 and 10 aggrieved by the judgment dated 24.02.2015 of the learned Single Judge, have filed Special Appeal No.81 of 2015.

21. Thus, the subsequent two appeals namely, Special Appeal No.84 of 2015 and Special Appeal No.81 of 2015 were clubbed together and heard by a Division Bench that came to connect the present appeal along with the same and passed the following order dated 20.03.2015:-

"An application seeking impleadment has been moved today supported by affidavit of Sri Narendra Pratap Singh, copy thereof has been supplied to the learned counsel for the appellants as also to the learned standing counsel appearing for the respondent No.1.

The matter is essentially of election/management dispute of a society registered as The Khemraj Smarak Rashtriya Vidyapith Sangh Khemapur, Faizabad and this special appeal is by the same named appellant who had filed Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 wherein, the learned Single Judge of this Court has declined to exercise writ jurisdiction essentially for the reason of the pendency of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014, said to be having a direct bearing on the issues sought to be raised in Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012.

It is also noticed that the contesting parties seek to take varying stands as regards purport, implication as also validity of the order dated 09.01.2012 as passed by the learned Single Judge of this Court in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011, which has been subjected to review and then, recall applications and is said to be now forming the subject matter of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014.

The present appellants have chosen to put a direct challenge to the aforesaid order dated 09.01.2012 also by way of another Special appeal No.84 of 2015, which is obviously time barred by about three years. Therein, an application seeking condonation of delay has been filed as also an application for impleadment has been moved after duly serving copies thereof to the learned counsel of other sides.

In the totality of the circumstances, it appears appropriate as also expedient that these two fresh matters, being Special Appeal No.81 of 2015 and 84 of 2015 as also pending appeal bearing Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 and applications moved therein, be heard together.

Therefore, this special appeal is ordered to be listed for admission along with Special Appeal No.84 of 2015 and Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 on 30.03.2015 as fresh."

22. Pt. S. Chandra, learned counsel for the appellants has urged that firstly, the delay in Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 be condoned keeping in view the fact that a bona fide litigation was continuing and pending before the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 while several orders passed are under consideration in connected Special Appeal No.265 of 2014. The contention is that in the aforesaid background coupled with the observations made in the judgment dated 24.02.2015 by a learned Single Judge and the observations made in the order dated 24.03.2015 in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014, delay deserves to be condoned.

23. Sri Anil Tewari, learned Senior Counsel for the contesting respondents and the learned standing counsel have, however, opposed the delay but they could not contradict the peculiar situation of the case on account of the orders passed from time to time in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 where both the parties were advancing arguments and still continue to contest the dispute in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014. It was on account of the intervening orders passed in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 that Special Appeal No.84 of 2015 had to be filed challenging the order dated 09.01.2012. We find that the challenge raised to the judgment dated 09.01.2012 was, therefore, essential but had not been raised earlier on account of the orders passed in the same writ petition on the review application. This ultimately has been made subject matter of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 and the outcome thereof, will have a direct bearing on Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015. In the above background, we find that the delay in Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 deserves to be condoned as the cause shown is sufficient and the entire dispute deserves to be addressed simultaneously.

24. Pt. S. Chandra advancing his arguments has rightly relied on the observations made in the ratio of two Supreme Court decisions reported in [2010 (28) LCD 1531]: Improvement Trust, Ludhiyana. Vs. Ujagar Singh & others, and [2015 (33) LCD 602]: Executive Officer, Antiyur Town Panchayat. Vs. G. Arumugam (D) by Lrs.

25. We accordingly, condone the delay and treat Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 to be within time for being heard along with Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 and Special Appeal No.81 of 2015.

26. Pt. S. Chandra then advancing his arguments on merits submits that the learned Single Judge has rightly restored the correct position while passing the order dated 08.05.2014 in review petition arising out of Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. As such, there was no cause with the appellants of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 to file the said appeal. It is urged that all the intervening orders passed by the learned Single Judge in the said writ petition, were therefore, of no consequence and this Court may not interfere with the order of the learned Single Judge dated 08.05.2014. He submits that the learned Single Judge rightly appreciated the holding of the last elections on 01.04.2008, and if fresh elections of the society are to be held then the same deserves to be held from amongst such members of the general body who were existing on the said date i.e.,

01.04.2008. He therefore, submits that putting the clock back to 1967 and reducing the membership as existing on that date was a totally illegal exercise undertaken by the Deputy Registrar who has decided a dispute that had already become infructuous. He further submits that the elections and its status in 1967 could not have been subject matter of consideration by the Deputy Registrar while passing the order dated 15.04.2011 inasmuch as, the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 25 were incorporated in the statute namely, the 1860 Act with effect from 06.10.1975. In this view of the matter any elections held prior to that could not have been made subject matter of adjudication by the Deputy Registrar who otherwise also cannot decide any doubt or dispute of such elections. The Deputy Registrar committed a manifest error by travelling into the election of 1967 even prior to the availability of the powers under Section 25 (2) which obviously was available only after 1975. Thus, any election or its correctness in 1967 could not have been made a matter of inquiry or subject matter of adjudication by the Deputy Registrar. His next contention is that all future elections would not be invalid even if the earlier elections had not been held in time inasmuch as, the society continued to function and the Deputy Registrar or any other authority had not passed any order about the previous elections the term thereof, was only two years. It is only after the amendment in the byelaws that the tenure of the Committee came to be fixed as five years. Thus, the Deputy Registrar according to Pt. S. Chandra, committed a manifest error by delving into the validity of future elections on the strength of the past elections being not within time.

27. The next contention raised by him is that the Deputy Registrar while passing the order dated 15.04.2011 could not have decided the issue of the membership of the general body on the strength of the observations made with regard to the amendment in the byelaws and the Memorandum of Association. The power of the Registrar to cancel an amendment or its registration is subject to an appeal before the Commissioner under Section 12 (D) of the 1860 Act but such annulment could not have been made by the Deputy Registrar in respect of the amendments that had already allowed and given effect to inasmuch as the Deputy Registrar has no power to review the earlier approval of the amendment of the byelaws. If any person is aggrieved, he could have taken steps further but the Deputy Registrar had no authority to annul or review the amendment which were already carried out and were in force.

28. He then submits that the matter was contested before the Deputy Registrar by Sri Dinesh Pratap Singh who was the son of Hira Singh, the erstwhile Manager of the institution. Dinesh Pratap Singh had, therefore, no locus to move the applications dated 09.12.2009 and 08.02.2010 for reopening the status of the elections held in the past after the amendment had been carried out. He further submits that Hira Singh himself had moved a complaint in 1985 that is stated to have been lying in the file. The said complaint also and the complaint dated 03.12.1985 could not have been taken up for any adjudication in 2011 after 16 years. All these applications were made the basis for creating the dispute which had been mala fide prompted by the local MLA Sri Bhagelu Ram who wanted to usurp the institution with the help of the then Secretary, Secondary Education Sri Jitendra Kumar.

29. Pt. S. Chandra then urged that the Deputy Registrar did not even frame the issue of the validity of the elections and the three issues which were framed for being contested as are narrated in the order dated 15.04.2011 are not with regard to the validity of elections. He further submits that the validity of elections could not have been questioned by him as the Deputy Registrar has no authority to assume that the Committee of Management had become defunct on account of not holding of elections. Even otherwise if it was a matter of validity of elections, then the issue could have been framed and then sent to Prescribed Authority for decision in order to ascertain about the status of any elections that were being claimed by the respondent No.9 and 10. He, therefore, submits that for all the aforesaid reasons, Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 should be dismissed and Special Appeal No.81 of 2015 and Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 both should be allowed and the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 should be quashed. The elections of the society can be held only through the valid members of the general body which cannot be extended to the year 1967 as has been done by the Deputy Registrar or what had been done earlier by the learned single Judge as per the facts narrated above. The elections even if not held within time, can now be held only under the existing list of members of general body and not on the strength of the electoral college of 1967.

30. Sri Anil Tewari, learned Senior Counsel for the appellant in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 has extensively taken the Court through the order dated 15.04.2011 passed by the Deputy Registrar to contend that the Deputy Registrar found serious irregularities and that no evidence of any elections having been held being available in his records, he had no option but to declare the committee to have become defunct since 1967 and the only option left under the provisions of the 1860 Act was to hold fresh elections. He further submits that since the date 01.04.2008 as mentioned by the learned Single Judge was not obviously in relation to the elections of the society, the same had been rightly corrected by the learned Single Judge dating it back to 1967 on the modification record. It is only the members who were existing then who were entitled to participate. Sri Babban Singh the Principal of the College in order to usurp the society and perpetuate his existence carried out the amendments reposing sole arbitrary powers in himself about membership including the power to receive the contribution for membership that was to be accepted by him only. The provisions of his becoming a life member of the society and inducting his son and wife as office bearers as a consequence of the illegal amendments can be of no avail and therefore, the Deputy Registrar was justified in exercising his power for annulling the said amendment. He, therefore, submits that if the respondent No.9 and 10 of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 are aggrieved by any such orders on the amendment, they had a right of appeal under Section 12 (D) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 which has not been availed of. The order of the Deputy Registrar therefore, cannot be questioned in view of what has been stated above.

31. Sri Anil Tewari, then submits that if the transactions were fraudulent and against all the norms prescribed in the byelaws as well as the provisions of 1860 Act, the Deputy Registrar was justified in coming to the conclusion of treating the committee to have become defunct and holding of fresh elections.

32. He further submits that even if the learned Single Judge had been passing orders in between, the ultimate order dated 08.05.2014 restores back the judgment dated 09.01.2012 which is an incorrect order and against record and, therefore, Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 deserves to be allowed. Once the special appeal is allowed, then the earlier order dated 10.09.2013 would stand and the elections held pursuant to the judgment dated 17.01.2012, would be valid. He has ultimately submitted that even if the intervening orders passed by the learned Single Judge dated 04.12.2012 and 10.09.2013 are kept aside, then too also, no interference is called for as elections have been held.

33. Learned standing counsel has also urged that since the elections have already been held pursuant to the directions of the High Court and the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 has been given effect to, there is no reason to interfere in the appeals at this stage. The submission of the learned standing counsel, therefore, is that if anybody wants to dispute the status of the management or the membership of the general body, then the aggrieved person can approach the appropriate forum for redressal of the grievances by filing a civil suit.

34. We have heard Sri Anil Tewari, learned Senior Counsel for the appellants in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 and Pt. S. Chandra for the respondent No.9 and 10 in the said special appeal. Pt. S. Chandra has advanced submissions on behalf of the appellants in Special Appeal No.81 of 2015 and Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 where the respondents are represented by Sri Anil Tewari, Senior Advocate for the private parties and the learned standing counsel for the State and have been heard on the merits of the appeals.

35. Pt. S. Chandra has relied on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Kalabharti Advertising. Vs. Hemant VimalNath NariChania and others.: (2010) 9 SCC 437 to contend that the Deputy Registrar had no power to review the orders allowing the amendment in the byelaws and Memorandum of Association being an administrative exercise of power. On the issue of entering into the question of future elections in the absence of any orders passed by the Deputy Registrar, Pt. S. Chandra relied on the judgment in the case of Committee of Management, Vidyawati Higher Secondary School, Azamgarh and another. Vs. Assistant Registrar, Firms Societies and Chits, Azamgarh and others.: [2005 (2) ESC (All) 847] to substantiate his argument that the validity of the earlier elections could not have been gone into.

36. Sri Anil Tewari learned Senior Counsel for the appellants in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 has relied on the Division bench judgment in the case of Shiksha Samiti Degree College, Garua Maksudpur and others. Vs. Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, U.P. Lucknow. : AIR 1990 Allahabad 110 and the judgment in the case of Sri Krishna Educational Society, Deoria and another. Vs. State of U.P. And others.: [(1995) 2 UPLBEC 732] to urge that the Registrar has powers to cancel the amendment in the registered byelaws and, therefore, the conclusion drawn on the strength thereof that no valid elections had been held, cannot be said to suffer from any infirmity. He further submits that once such a decision has been taken by the Deputy Registrar on 15.04.2011, then the respondents had a remedy of filing an appeal against the order dated 15.04.2011 or a civil suit as has been rightly held in the case of Committee of Management, Hari Shyam Khadi Gram Udyog Sewa Sabha, Allahabad and others. Vs. State of U.P. And others.: [2006 (3) ESC 1570 (All)].

37. In order to resolve the controversy, we have to first advert to the orders passed by the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 including the order dated 08.05.2014 that is impugned in Special Appeal No.265 of 2014. This is necessary as the decision in this appeal will have a direct impact on the other two appeals.

38. Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 had been filed challenging the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011. The writ petition was dismissed on 09.01.2012 recording that no election of the Society Management took place after 01.04.2008. This position has again been reiterated in the impugned order dated 08.05.2014 giving rise to Special Appeal No.265 of 2014. What we find is that there is a serious dispute about the recording of the correct date of last elections in the said order between the parties. The appellants of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014 contend that no elections were held after 1967 and the committee had become defunct whereas, the learned Single Judge held that no election took place after 01.04.2008 and as such, the term of Committee of management has expired. For this, the learned Single Judge in the impugned order dated 08.05.2014 refers to certain documents relating to the elections upto 2008 alleged to have been set up by the respondent No.9 and 10 of Special Appeal No.265 of 2014. The appellants dispute the said elections contending that they are the dates of elections of managements of the Intermediate College and not of the society if at all they have been held. The appellants specifically contend that no elections of the society were held after 1967. The Deputy Registrar while passing the order dated 15.04.2011 framed only three issues for deciding the matter namely, the status of the amendment in the original byelaws of 1965, whether the Principal of the institution established by the society can also be the founder member of the parent society and thirdly, the status of members and membership is according to the original byelaws as against the amended byelaws of the society. However, while proceeding to consider this aspect of membership and the issue of amendment, the Deputy Registrar proceeded to hold that any elections or proceedings conducted on the strength of the such amendment and membership were invalid and, therefore, all elections after 29.11.1967 were invalid. Consequently, in the absence of any valid elections after 1967 the committee has become defunct and, therefore, it was necessary to invoke the provisions of sub-section 92) of Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

39. The learned Single Judge completely omitted to consider the aforesaid three issues and on the strength of the conclusion of the Deputy Registrar about the defunct status of the Committee of management, proceeded to uphold the order of the Deputy Registrar and issued directions for holding fresh elections but while doing so, the learned Single Judge mentioned the date 1st of April, 2008. This date nowhere is in the entire order of the Deputy Registrar pertaining to the election of the society while treating it to be defunct whereas, the contesting respondents 9 and 10 are alleging that they held elections periodically on 30.11.1969, 30.11.1971, 30.11.1973, 30.11.1975, 30.11.1977, 30.11.1979, 30.11.1983, 04.04.1988, 3.04.1993, 01.03.2003 and 01.04.2008. Sri Anil Tewari for the appellants urges that all these dates are fake and there is no document or any proceeding worth the name to support the holding of any such elections. According to him, the Deputy Registrar has categorically recorded that such documents are not available on his file. On a perusal of the order dated 15.04.2011 we find that before the Deputy Registrar, the one election of the Committee had been intimated through a registered letter dated 11.12.1985. At another place, it has been mentioned that while granting renewal on 06.11.1982 with effect from 10.10.1981, the list of office bearers and the elections proceedings dated 29.11.1981 has been submitted along with the election papers whereafter the renewal was granted. Thus, there is a reference of the stand taken by the respondent No.9 and 10 about the submission of documents relating to some elections held in between. However, neither the Deputy Registrar nor the learned Single Judge have examined this issue to find out about the status of such elections and therefore, we find that there was no basis for the learned single Judge to have arrived at the conclusion that no elections were held after 01.04.2008 or that they have been held periodically prior to that date. The order of the Deputy Registrar of no elections having been held after 1967 is, therefore, clearly at variance with the conclusion drawn by the learned Single Judge that no elections were held after 01.04.2008 for which we do not find any basis having been discussed or determined either by the Deputy Registrar or by the learned Single Judge. The Deputy Registrar had not even framed the issue to that effect which was necessary inasmuch as, unless that is done, no conclusion can be drawn about the defunct status of the Committee of Management so as to invoke the powers under Section 25 (2) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

40. In order to achieve their ends, the appellants initially filed a modification application and the date was changed by the learned Single Judge referring the tenure of the committee to have come to an end in 1967 vide order dated 17.01.2012. In our opinion, neither a modification application was maintainable as it was not a mere correction of date but it clearly amounted to decide the date whereafter no elections were held. Once the learned Single Judge mentioned the date 01.04.2008, then to convert it to 1967, clearly amounted to review of the decision dated 09.01.2012 on a modification application. The order was passed ex parte to the respondent No.9 and 10 therefore, was not in conformity with law.

41. Surprisingly enough, on coming to know of the said order having been passed, the respondent No.9 and 10 filed Review Application NO.46 of 2012 even though they had not challenged the initial dismissal of the writ petition, vide judgment dated 09.01.2012 which they have now done through Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015. Their review application is alleged to have been allowed with certain modifications for reasons to be recorded later on as is evident from the order dated 14.12.2012. We are unable to comprehend this order inasmuch as, no previous order had admittedly been passed allowing the Review Application No.46 of 2012. To us, it appears that the very same order intended to allow the review petition for reasons to be recorded later on but at the same time, the Court simultaneously called upon the learned counsel for seeking clarification from them. To our mind, such an order cannot be said to be in conformity with law inasmuch as, a review cannot be allowed for reasons to be recorded later on, on the one hand and on the other, simultaneously calling upon the parties counsel to seek clarification. The order is incomprehensible and lawfully impermissible and to our mind, the said order dated 14.12.2012 is also not in conformity with law.

42. The third order of the learned Single Judge in the same review application dated 20.09.2013 is equally bewildering inasmuch as, it records that the counsel for the review petitioners have sought review only to the extent of any undisputed elections having been held after 1967. The Court recorded two contrary findings holding that there is no dispute about the tenure of the committee. Elections of the committee were not held after 1967 and the committee was debarred. This is contrary to record as the parties were clearly disputing the date on which the Committee is stated to have become defunct. This part of the order, therefore, has been incorrectly recorded by the learned Single Judge. The learned Single Judge apparently allowed the review application and recalled the order dated 17.01.2012 and substituted it by a fresh clarification of the judgment dated 09.01.2012. In our opinion, this course was completely impermissible by altering the judgment one after the other in the manner aforesaid.

43. The last order dated 08.05.2014 is again an order taking a complete U turn and restoring the status of the elections of the society as per the judgment dated 09.01.2012 and recording that no elections were held after 01.04.2008. No reasoning has been given by the Hon'ble Single Judge in having passed these contrary orders one after the other after the final judgment dated 09.01.2012 in a review application which appears to have been dealt with at different stages by the orders referred to hereinabove.

44. The orders passed right from 09.01.2012 to 08.05.2014 are all incongruous, incoherent and incompatible in law. Deliverance of justice should foster stability and not uncertainty. The random choice of a date to treat the tenure of the Committee to have come to an end is almost abrupt and out of the hat without recording any satisfaction as to why the choice of the date is logically correct. The allegations of one side were accepted as correct and at the same time reversed suddenly in favour of the other side. The word "debarred" has been used to describe the defunct status of the Committee without advert to the facts of renewal of the Society and the list of office bearers submitted from time to time. The end of the tenure has to be gathered on the assessment of the allegations on record and the evidence in support thereof. The learned Single Judge does not appear to have delved into such an exercise and consequently no effective adjudication has been attempted.

45. Consequently, the order dated 08.05.2014 impugned in this appeal and all the previous orders after 09.01.2012 are nowhere in conformity with law and are hereby declared to be a nullity.

46. The appeal is allowed. The order dated 08.05.2014 impugned herein is set aside and the previous orders after 09.01.2012 are held to be a nullity that can be termed as a judicial straightening of the proceedings.

47. We now advert to Special Appeal Defective No.84 of 2015 which questions the correctness of the original judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 09.01.2012 in Writ Petition No.2816(M/S)of 2011. The judgment which gives rise to this appeal is in a petition filed by the appellant challenging the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011. As noticed above, we find that the order dated 15.04.2011 cannot be sustained for the reason that it did not frame any issue pertaining to the holding of periodical elections so as to arrive at the conclusion that the committee had become defunct. Secondly, the validity of the elections if held, the term whereof expired long ago could not have been gone into by the Deputy Registrar as otherwise it was within the jurisdiction of the prescribed authority in view of Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act 1860. Thirdly, the elections or its status prior to 06.10.1975 could not have been gone into as the provisions of Section 25 came into effect only after 1975 and, therefore, the proceedings of 1967 could not have been made subject matter of decision by the Deputy Registrar.

48. Sri Anil Tewari has, however, contended that the Deputy Registrar was within his jurisdiction and it had the authority to decide the issue of validity of the amendments and its consequences to that extent. Sri Tewari may be right but while entering into the question of amendment having been carried out, the Deputy Registrar has not adverted to the issue as to whether he did have the power to review earlier orders passed by his predecessors allowing the amendment. Secondly, there is no finding as to whether the said amendment was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation so as to invoke the power of review. If the amendments were invalid or renewal granted, then a person had a right to question the same by raising an appropriate challenge. In the instant case, there were applications pending filed by Sri Hira Singh and others since 1985 but it is not understood as to why they kept quiet for sixteen years and it was ultimately Dinesh Pratap Singh son of the erstwhile Manager Sri Hira Singh who moved the two applications in 2009 and 2010. The question of locus of Dinesh Pratap Singh was also, therefore, required to be examined as to whether he had any authority to move such applications on the basis whereof the decision has been taken by the Deputy Registrar on 15.04.2011. Apart from this, if the Deputy Registrar was of the opinion that there were no documents pertaining to the holding of any such elections after 1967, he should have framed such an issue calling upon the parties to submit their documents to establish as to whether valid periodical elections have been held or not and duly intimated to the authorities. This approach was not adopted by the Deputy Registrar and, therefore, we find that the order dated 15.04.2011 cannot be sustained. The learned Single Judge, therefore, committed a manifest error in dismissing the writ petition. The order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 being invalid for the aforesaid reasons, therefore, had to be set aside and the writ petition deserves to be allowed. Instead, the learned Single Judge entered into the exercise of changing of the dates and passed orders on the review application and on a modification application in a manner which is unsupported in law about which we have already indicated hereinabove. The Deputy Registrar had acted in a way that did not conform to the correct procedure under the provisions of the Societies Registration Act, 1860. He has also not taken notice of the fact as to whether he did have the authority to enter into an infructuous dispute of the Committee of Management the tenure whereof had long come to an end. All these issues, therefore, require being addressed to that was not done by the Deputy Registrar. The writ petition therefore, deserves to be allowed for which we have also to set aside the impugned judgment herein.

49. Accordingly, the judgment dated 09.01.2012 arising out of Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011 is hereby set aside. The order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 is quashed. The Deputy Registrar shall proceed to pass a fresh order in the light of the observations made hereinabove after giving an opportunity of hearing to the parties and after noticing their contentions and framing issues arising out of the dispute raised before him.

50. We now advert to Special Appeal No.81 of 2015. The learned Single Judge while dismissing Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 has simply expressed his inability to interfere in the matter on account of the passing of the orders dated 09.01.2012, 17.01.2012, 20.09.2013 and 08.05.2014 in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. We have by this judgment today set aside the judgment dated 09.01.2012 and have also declared the orders dated 17.01.2012, 20.09.2013, 04.12.2012 to be a nullity and have quashed the order dated 08.05.2014.

51. Writ Petition No.1804 (M/S) of 2012 has been filed basically challenging the consequential decision of the Deputy Registrar finalizing the list of the members and then holding of the elections of the society pursuant to the judgment of the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2816 (M/S) of 2011. Since the judgment in relation thereto, as noted above has been set aside and the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 has been quashed, then all consequential actions also fall through and, therefore, this appeal also deserves to be allowed and the challenge raised in the writ petition also deserves to be accepted.

52. We accordingly allow this appeal setting aside the judgment dated 24.02.2015. We also set aside all the actions taken pursuant to the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 15.04.2011 as the order dated 15.04.2011 itself has been quashed by us today. Consequential finalization of membership, and holding of elections vide orders dated 17.03.2012 and 26.04.2012 are also set aside.

53. The Deputy Registrar shall accordingly, in case he finds that the tenure of the committee has come to an end, proceed to finalize the membership in accordance with law and then proceed to hold elections if necessary.

54. Consequently, all the three appeals are allowed subject to the directions hereinabove.

55. The Deputy Registrar shall decide the matter expeditiously preferably, within a period of three months from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order before him.

U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948 — Section 8-D — works contract — tax deduction from amount payable to works contractor — failure to deduct tax — penalty under Section 8-D(6) — laying underground cable — digging trenches — construction activities — transfer of property in goods — Article 366 (29A) Constitution of India — dominant intention test — composite contract — levy of penalty — revision dismissed

Briefly stated, the revisionist has been held liable to pay a penalty in terms of Section 8D(6) of the 1948 Act as consequence of its failure to deduct tax in respect of a works contract awarded by it. For the purposes of laying cables, the revisionist is stated to have awarded contracts to various parties. One such contract and the terms upon which the same was to be executed stands enshrined in an agreement dated 24 January 2002. The relevant terms of the said contract are as under:

"Whereas it has been decided to award the work of laying underground cable falling in the jurisdiction of Telecom District Bareilly to M/s A.A. Cables Layers Ltd., 25A, Model Town Bareilly. M/s A.A. Cable Layers Ltd., 25A, Model Town Bareilly.....

The contractor will coordinate between the BSNL and agencies like PWD/ Municipality/BDA/UPSEB etc. for road cutting. Until road cutting permission is obtained, contractor will not get cable issued for laying.

The cable and other stores will be supplied by the BSNL. The contractor will execute the work strictly according to the work order and diagram supplied by the BSNL as per BSNL specifications and standards under the supervision of BSNL officers.

The BSNL will not take any responsibility for providing any facility to the labours employed by the contractor. The BSNL will supply underground cable, joining kits, DP boxes, cabinets and other store items required for the job. The contractor will be responsible for their safety and in case of loss to BSNL property, the contractor will have to pay for the losses or the same will be adjusted towards his bills or security money etc.

6. digging or trenching should be made at a standard depth of one meter or 1.65 meter (as the case may be.).....

10. The cable is to be laid as soon as trenches are ready and should not be left till the whole length is dug up.....

13. The contractor has to abide by the terms & conditions of trenching/cable laying/joining and termination of laid cables fixed by GMTD, BR. 90% payment of the value of the work done will be made against bills in support of actual physical work completed and put to use certified by unit officer..... GMTD, BR however, shall reserve the right to pay the balance 10% amount of a particular work, after the completion of work, if he is satisfied with the performance of the contractor.”(Para 2)

Held: (Paras 15-18)

1. Having thus found that the contract in question was a works contract, the Court then proceeds to consider the impact of the provisions of Section 8D. Section 8D (1) imposes an unequivocal obligation upon a person making payment to a contractor engaged in a works contract to deduct tax. The tax which is liable to be deducted is with reference to the liability discharged on account of valuable consideration paid for the transfer of property in goods in pursuance of a works contract. The civil work element undertaken by the contractor would necessarily entail a transfer of property in goods involved in the execution of a works contract. Subsection (6) then provides for the imposition of penalty if a person fails to make deductions before making payment to the contractor. Subsection (6) does not defer the imposition of penalty nor does it make the payment of penalty dependent upon the intent of the person responsible. The payment of penalty is also not contingent upon it being found that there was a design to evade payment of tax or any unlawful intent not to deduct tax. Subsection (6) therefore, stands attracted immediately upon a failure on the part of the person responsible to deduct tax from payments made to a contractor. In the present case, there has admittedly been a failure on the part of the revisionist to deduct tax. Consequently, the provisions of subsection (6) stood attracted and the levy of penalty, therefore, followed and was in fact a necessary corollary.

2. Learned Senior Counsel referring to the provisions of Section 3F of the 1948 Act has then submitted that the penalty could not have been imposed on the entire amount of payment made under the contract. It was his submission that the penalty was liable to be restricted to the tax liability, which in turn was to be computed in accordance with the provisions of Section 3F (2) (b). Subsection (2) of Section 3F makes a provision for the identification of items which are liable to be included or excluded while computing the net turnover which is liable to be taxed in respect of a works contract. This Court however, finds that neither before the authorities below nor even before this Court has the revisionist furnished any details in respect of the taxable turnover liable to be computed in accordance with the provisions of Section 3F (2)(b). In absence of the said material and as a consequence of the failure of the revisionist to provide such details, the learned Standing Counsel has rightly contended that the respondents committed no illegality in levying penalty upon the revisionist.

3. More importantly, the provisions of Section 3F deal with the computation and determination of net turnover of the works contractor. The identification of the valuable consideration paid in respect of a transfer of property in goods in the execution of a works contract is an exercise which was liable to be undertaken during the course of assessment of the works contractor. At this stage and in the absence of any material before this Court, no exercise of bifurcation can possibly be undertaken. It becomes relevant to note that despite pointed queries in this respect the details of assessments undertaken in respect of the works contractor were neither produced, referred or adverted to. This Court, therefore, finds no material or ground to interfere with the imposition of penalty or to upset the decisions rendered by the authorities below.

4. Accordingly and for the reasons aforementioned, this and connected revisions shall stand dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. This batch of revisions, which raise identical issues have with the consent of parties been taken up for disposal together. The issue itself relates to the validity of the action taken against the revisionist on an alleged breach of the provisions of Section 8D of the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 19481.

2. Briefly stated, the revisionist has been held liable to pay a penalty in terms of Section 8-D(6) of the 1948 Act as consequence of its failure to deduct tax in respect of a works contract awarded by it. For the purposes of laying cables, the revisionist is stated to have awarded contracts to various parties. One such contract and the terms upon which the same was to be executed stands enshrined in an agreement dated 24 January 2002. The relevant terms of the said contract are as under:

"Whereas it has been decided to award the work of laying underground cable falling in the jurisdiction of Telecom District Bareilly to M/s A.A. Cables Layers Ltd., 25-A, Model Town Bareilly. M/s A.A. Cable Layers Ltd., 25-A, Model Town Bareilly.....

3. The contractor will co-ordinate between the BSNL and agencies like PWD/ Municipality/BDA/UPSEB etc. for road cutting. Until road cutting permission is obtained, contractor will not get cable issued for laying.

4. The cable and other stores will be supplied by the BSNL. The contractor will execute the work strictly according to the work order and diagram supplied by the BSNL as per BSNL specifications and standards under the supervision of BSNL officers.

5. The BSNL will not take any responsibility for providing any facility to the labours employed by the contractor. The BSNL will supply underground cable, joining kits, DP boxes, cabinets and other store items required for the job. The contractor will be responsible for their safety and in case of loss to BSNL property, the contractor will have to pay for the losses or the same will be adjusted towards his bills or security money etc.

6. digging or trenching should be made at a standard depth of one meter or 1.65 meter (as the case may be.).....

10. The cable is to be laid as soon as trenches are ready and should not be left till the whole length is dug up.....

13. The contractor has to abide by the terms & conditions of trenching/cable laying/joining and termination of laid cables fixed by GMTD, BR. 90% payment of the value of the work done will be made against bills in support of actual physical work completed and put to use certified by unit officer..... GMTD, BR however, shall reserve the right to pay the balance 10% amount amount of a particular work, after the completion of work, if he is satisfied with the performance of the contractor."

3. By a notice which stands appended as Annexure-2 to the revision, the assessee was called upon to show cause why penalty be not imposed upon it in terms of sub section (6) consequent to a failure on its part to deduct tax from payments made to the contractor in the course of execution of a works contract. The revisionist furnished a reply whereafter an order was passed on 23 September 2003 holding it liable to pay a sum of Rs. 12,79,033/- as penalty in terms of Section 8-D(6). The order notes that in the execution of the works contract, the contractor while laying cables also utilized stone, bajri and other like items, the property in which goods, is stated to have been transferred to the revisionist in the execution of the works contract. It was therefore, held that the revisionist had failed to deduct tax and was consequently liable to suffer a levy of penalty. The issue was taken by the revisionist in appeal wherein it was asserted that all materials including underground cables, joining kits, DP boxes, cabinets etc. were provided by the revisionist itself to the contractors. It was contended that the contract in essence was not a works contract and did not involve any building, construction or manufacturing process. It was submitted that the contract in essence was one which related to job work and therefore, the provisions of Section 8-D had no application. These contentions did not find favour with the first appellate authority, which accordingly proceeded to dismiss the appeal on 16 December 2003. The matter was taken to the Tribunal, which by its judgment and order dated 4 May 2006, has proceeded to affirm the view taken by the assessing authority and the first appellate authority. It is in the above backdrop that the instant revisions have come to be preferred before this Court.

4. Sri Bharatji Agrawal, learned Senior Counsel appearing in support of these revisions has contended that the contract awarded was for job work and would not fall within the meaning of a works contract as defined by the 1948 Act. He has further submitted that even if it were assumed that the property in goods utilized for execution of any civil work stood transferred in terms of the contract, the levy of penalty with reference to the entire payment made under the contract would be wholly unjustified. He submits that the levy of penalty was liable to be restricted only to the value of the goods, which in the opinion of the department, stood transferred in the execution of the works contract. Sri Agrawal further contends that no exercise of bifurcation was undertaken by the department nor was any enquiry instituted in order to ascertain the value of the goods, the property in which may be stated to have been transferred in the course of execution of the contract. Referring to the provisions of Section 3-F (2)(b) he submits that the stone, bricks and other material utilized for completion of the civil work elements of the contract were not liable to be included while determining the net turnover relating to the works contract. For the aforesaid reasons, it was his submission that the levy of penalty was unjustified.

5. Sri B.K. Pandey, the learned Standing Counsel while refuting the above submissions has drawn the attention of the Court to the fact that neither before the assessing authority nor before the first appellate authority were any details furnished by the revisionist to indicate the bifurcation of items utilized in the civil work undertaken by the contractors. He further submits that the issue of bifurcation of items itself would be an issue which was liable to be inquired into during the assessment of the contractor. He submits that in the absence of any details in respect of assessment proceedings taken out in respect of the contractor, the contentions advanced on behalf of the revisionist are not liable to be countenanced. He lastly submits that the provisions of Section 8-D place an unambiguous obligation upon a dealer while making payment to a contractor for discharge of any liability under a works contract to make a statutory deduction at the rate of 4% with reference to the tax payable under the Act on account of such works contract. He submits that sub-section (6) comes into play immediately upon a failure on the part of the dealer to make such a deduction. In view of the above, Sri Pandey submits that no interference is warranted in the orders passed by the authorities.

6. It is these rival submissions that fall for consideration. However, before ruling upon the rival contentions, it would be apposite to refer to some of the relevant statutory provisions. Section 2(m) of the 1948 Act defines a 'works contract' in the following terms:

"2(m) 'Works contract' includes any agreement for carrying out, for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration, the building construction, manufacture, processing, fabrication, erection, installation, fitting out, improvement, modification, repair or commissioning of any movable or immovable property;"

7. A dealer is made liable to pay tax on the net turnover on a transfer of property in goods (whether as goods or in some other form) involved in the execution of a works contract in terms of section 3-F. While determining the net turnover in terms of sub section (2), various deductions are allowed to be made from the total amount received or receivable under the works contract. Sub section (2) insofar as is relevant for our purposes reads as under:

"(2) For the purposes of determining the net turnover referred to in sub-section (1), the following amounts shall be deducted from the total amount received or receivable by a dealer in respect of a--

(a) xxxxxxxxxxxxxx

(b) transfer referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1),--

(i) the amount representing the sales value of the goods covered by Sections 3, 4 and 5 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956;

(ii) the amount representing the value of the goods exempted under Section 4;

(iii) the amount representing the value of the goods, on the sale or purchase whereof tax has been levied or is leviable under this Act at some earlier stage;

(iv) the amount representing the value of the goods manufactured in a new unit exempted under Section 4-A or Section 4-AAA;

(v) the amount representing the value of the goods supplied to the contractor by the contractee;

Provided that the ownership of such goods remains with the contractee under the terms of the contract;

(vi) the amount representing the labour charges for the execution of the works contract;

(vii) all amounts paid to the sub-contractor as the consideration for execution of the works contract, whether wholly or in part:

Provided that no deduction under this sub-clause shall be allowed unless the dealer claiming deduction produces proof that the sub-contractor is a registered dealer liable to tax under this Act and that such amount is included in the return of turnover filed by such sub-contractor under the provisions of this Act;

(viii) the amount representing the charges for planning, designing and architect's fees;

(ix) the amount representing the charges for obtaining on hire or otherwise machinery and tools used for execution of the works contract;

(x) the amount representing the cost of consumables used in the execution of the works contract, the property in which is not transferred in the execution of the works contract;

(xi) the amount representing the cost of establishment and other similar expenses of the contractor to the extent it is relatable to supply of labour and services;

(xii) the amount representing the profit earned by the contractor to the extent it is relatable to the supply of labour and services."

8. The obligation to deduct tax from the amount payable to a work contractor stands enshrined in Section 8-D. Sub sections (1) and (6) which are relevant for our purpose are extracted hereinbelow:

"Section 8-D - Tax deduction from the amount payable to Works Contractor.

- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2) of Section 8-A, every person responsible for making payment to any dealer (hereinafter in this section referred to as the contractor) for discharge of any liability on account of valuable consideration payable for the transfer of property in goods (whether as goods or in any other form) in pursuance, of a works contract, not being a building contract of such class or value as may be notified by the State Government in public interest in this behalf, shall, at the time of making such payment to the contractor, either in cash or in any other manner, deduct an amount equal to four per centum of such sum towards part or, as the case may be, full satisfaction of the tax payable under this Act on account of such works contract:

Provided that the Assessing Authority may, if satisfied, that it is expedient in the public interest so to do and for reasons to be recorded in writing order that in any case or class of cases no such deduction shall be made or, as the case may be, such deduction shall be made at lesser rate:

Provided further that where any deduction has been made by a contractor from the payments made to his sub-contractor in accordance with sub-section (2), the amount of such payments shall be deducted from the amount on which deduction is to be made under this sub-section:

Provided also that where the goods referred in this sub-section are covered by Sections 3, 4 or 5 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, no amount shall be deducted under this sub-section in respect of such goods.

(6) If any such person, as is referred to in sub-section (1) or subsection (2), fails to make the deduction or, after deducting, fails to deposit the amount so deducted, as required by sub-section (3), the Assessing Authority may, after giving to such person an opportunity of being heard, by order in writing, direct that such person shall pay, by way of penalty, a sum not exceeding twice the amount deductible under this section but not so deducted and, if deducted, not so deposited into the Government Treasury."

9. Dealing with the submission that the contract in question would not fall within the meaning of a 'works contract' as defined under the 1948 Act, it would first be apposite to refer to the terms of the agreement. The essential obligation placed upon the contractor under the contract was of laying underground cables. Although the underground cables, joining kits and other apparatus were to be supplied by the revisionist, the contractor was also obliged to undertake the activity of road cutting, digging of trenches and preparing the ground for laying of cables. The contractor was further obliged to clear surplus earth and road spills and restore the metalled roads to their original condition. The trenches themselves were to be prepared in accordance with the specifications laid down in the agreement. It is in the backdrop of the above obligations that the contention of Sri Agrawal is liable to be tested. As noted above, the essence of the submission of Sri Agarwal was that the contract in question was essentially one of providing labour and service and not a works contract. It becomes relevant to note that the respondents have while passing the orders impugned herein noted that the contractor engaged by the revisionist utilized stone ballast, bajri and other articles in order to construct platforms as also to strengthen the trenches created. It is on this strength that they came to conclude that the contract in question was a works contract.

Now the 1948 Act gives an expansive meaning to the phrase 'works contract' to include any agreement which may involves: -

- (a) building;
- (b) constructions;
- (c) manufacture;
- (d) processing;
- (e) fabrication;
- (f) erection;
- (g) installation;
- (h) fitting out;
- (i) improvement;
- (j) modification;
- (k) repair;
- (l) commissioning of any movable or immovable property.

10. Bearing in mind the ordinary meaning assigned to the words installation, fitting out, fabrication and commissioning, it cannot be said that the contractor did not engage in any of the above-mentioned endeavors. The contract as noted above in essence required the contractor to install, lay out and commission the underground cable. The work also required him to bear all costs and expenses relating to the digging of trenches, construction of pillars in and upon which the underground cable was to rest. The payment terms as agreed to between the parties was linked to the work done. In fact clause 13 in specific terms provided that 90% of the payment would be released against bills in support of actual physical work completed. Regard may also be had to the approved rates for laying of cables which formed part of this agreement and classified the rates at which the contractor would obtain payment for the following activities: -

- (a) digging and reinstating trenches;
- (b) supply of bricks;
- (c) horizontal boring of road crossing;

- (d) laying and fixing of GI pipes;
- (e) construction of cement-concrete foundation; and
- (g) making of joint pits.

11. The tacit admission of the revisionist in respect of the above activities being undertaken and performed by the contractor is further evident from what was submitted before the appellate authority as part of its grounds of appeal. In fact and as would be evident from a reading of the submission made it is evident that the transfer of property in goods in the course of execution of the works contract was admitted. The said ground in appeal was in the following words: -

"Because in view of the facts mentioned above it is clear that the transfer of property in goods is strictly confined to the cost of bricks and its placement. These important aspects have not been taken into consideration by the learned Assessing Authority and the assessment order has been passed in a cursory manner without application of mind."

12. The above provisions of the agreement, the stand of the revisionist, have been referred to in some detail in order to highlight that the contract, its essential obligations and characteristics were not restricted to mere job work. The payment terms were in no manner connected to the cost that may have been incurred by the contractor for the purpose of engaging men and labour. The contract was a composite contract, which entailed the laying of cables after undertaking civil works which have been detailed above. The contract cannot be read as one which was confined to the provision of labour. On an overall conspectus of the facts it is clear that the contract in question was not merely one for supply of labour and service as is sought to be contended and portrayed but clearly fell in the species of a works contract as defined by Section 2(m) of the 1948 Act.

13. The submission of the learned Senior Counsel in this regard is not liable to be accepted for another fundamental reason. By virtue of the provisions of Article 366 (29A) of the Constitution and the corresponding amendments made in the 1948 Act, a works contract, which was earlier treated as an indivisible contract, has by way of a legal fiction been divided into two parts- one for the sale of goods and the other for supply of labour and services. Consequent to the insertion of Article 366 (29A) in the Constitution and the expansion of the meaning of the phrase 'tax on the sale or purchase of goods', the issue of whether the contract involved a "dominant intention" to transfer property in goods is no longer material. In fact the Supreme Court has consistently held that the dominant intention theory or test is not liable to be employed in the case of contracts which stand covered and fall within the scope and ambit of Article 366 (29A). To put this issue beyond the pale of controversy, one may usefully refer to what a Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court held in Kone Elevator India Private Limited Vs. State of Tamil Nadu: -

"37. Having dealt with the aforesaid authorities, as advised at present, we shall refer to certain authorities as to how the term "works contract" has been understood in the contextual perspective post the constitutional amendment. In Hindustan Shipyard Ltd. (supra), the Court observed that the distinction between a contract of sale and a works contract is not free from difficulty and has been the subject-matter of several judicial decisions. It is further observed that neither any straitjacket formula can be made available nor can such quick-witted tests devised as would be infallible, for it is all a question of determining the intention of the parties by culling out the same on an overall reading of the several terms and conditions of a contract. Thereafter, the two-Judge Bench set out three categories of contracts and explained the contours, namely, (i) the contract may be for work to be done for remuneration and for supply of materials used in the execution of the work for a price; (ii) it may be a contract for work in which the use of the materials is accessory or incidental to the execution of the work; and (iii) it may be a contract for supply of goods where some work is required to be done as incidental to the sale. Thereafter, it opined that the first contract is a composite contract consisting of two contracts, one of which is for the sale of goods and the other is for work and labour; the second is clearly a contract for work and labour not involving sale of goods; and the third is a contract for sale where the goods are sold as chattels and the work done is merely incidental to the sale.

43. The essential characteristics have been elucidated by a three-Judge Bench in Larsen and Toubro (supra) thus:

" 56.As the very title of Article 366 shows, it is the definition clause. It starts by saying that in the Constitution unless the context otherwise requires the expressions defined in that article shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the article. The definition of expression "tax on sale or purchase of the goods" is contained in Clause (29-A). If the first part of Clause (29-A) is read with Sub-clause (b) along with latter part of this clause, it reads like this: "tax on the sale or purchase of the goods" includes a tax on the transfer of property in goods (whether as goods or in some other form) involved in the execution of a works contract and such transfer, delivery or supply of any goods shall be deemed to be a sale of those goods by the person making the transfer, delivery or supply and a purchase of those goods by the person to whom such transfer, delivery or supply is made. The definition of "goods" in Clause (12) is inclusive. It includes all materials, commodities and articles. The expression "goods" has a broader meaning than merchandise. Chattels or movables are goods within the meaning of Clause (12). Sub-clause (b) refers to transfer of property in goods (whether as goods or in some other form) involved in the execution of a works contract. The expression "in some other form" in the bracket is of utmost significance as by this expression the ordinary understanding of the term "goods" has been enlarged by bringing within its fold goods in a form other than goods. Goods in some other form would thus mean goods which have ceased to be chattels or movables or merchandise and become attached or embedded to earth. In other words, goods which have by incorporation become part of immovable property are deemed as goods. The definition of "tax on the sale or purchase of goods" includes a tax on the transfer of property in the goods as goods or which have lost its form as goods and have acquired some other form involved in the execution of a works contract."

44. On the basis of the aforesaid elucidation, it has been deduced that a transfer of property in goods under Clause (29A)(b) of Article 366 is deemed to be a sale of goods involved in the execution of a works contract by the person making the transfer and the purchase of those goods by the person to whom such transfer is made. One thing is significant to note that in Larsen and Toubro (supra), it has been stated that after the constitutional amendment, the narrow meaning given to the term "works contract" in Gannon Dunkerley-I (supra) no longer survives at present. It has been observed in the said case that: (Larsen and Toubro Ltd. Case, SCC p. 750, para 72)

"72. ... even if in a contract, besides the obligations of supply of goods and materials and performance of labour and services, some additional obligations are imposed, such contract does not cease to be works contract, for the additional obligations in the contract would not alter the nature of the contract so long as the contract provides for a contract for works and satisfies the primary description of works contract."

14. It has been further held that: (Larsen and Toubro Ltd. Case, SCC p. 750, para 72)

"72. ...once the characteristics or elements of works contract are satisfied in a contract, then irrespective of additional obligations, such contract would be covered by the term "works contract" because nothing in Article 366(29-A)(b) limits the term "works contract" to contract for labour and service only."

45. In the said case, another significant aspect has been considered. That relates to the "dominant nature test". We think it apt to reproduce what has been stated in Larsen and Toubro (supra):

"60. Whether the contract involved a dominant intention to transfer the property in goods, in our view, is not at all material. It is not necessary to ascertain what is the dominant intention of the contract. Even if the dominant intention of the contract is not to transfer the property in goods and rather it is the rendering of service or the ultimate transaction is transfer of immovable property, then also it is open to the States to levy sales tax on the materials used in such contract if it otherwise has elements of works contract..."

46. At this juncture, it is condign to state that four concepts have clearly emerged. They are:

(i) the works contract is an indivisible contract but, by legal fiction, is divided into two parts, one for sale of goods, and the other for supply of labour and services;

(ii) the concept of "dominant nature test" or, for that matter, the "degree of intention test" or "overwhelming component test" for treating a contract as a works contract is not applicable;

(iii) the term "works contract" as used in Clause (29A) of Article 366 of the Constitution takes in its sweep all genre of works contract and is not to be narrowly construed to cover one species of contract to provide for labour and service alone; and

(iv) once the characteristics of works contract are met with in a contract entered into between the parties, any additional obligation incorporated in the contract would not change the nature of the contract." (emphasis supplied)

15. Bearing in mind the principles elucidated by the Constitution Bench, it is clear that the submission of the learned Senior Counsel cannot be accepted. In fact the acceptance of the submissions advanced would lead to the introduction and application of the dominant intention theory to a works contract which stands forbidden in light of the provisions of Article 366 (29A).

16. Having thus found that the contract in question was a works contract, the Court then proceeds to consider the impact of the provisions of Section 8D. Section 8-D (1) imposes an unequivocal obligation upon a person making payment to a contractor engaged in a works contract to deduct tax. The tax which is liable to be deducted is with reference to the liability discharged on account of valuable consideration paid for the transfer of property in goods in pursuance of a works contract. The civil work element undertaken by the contractor would necessarily entail a transfer of property in goods involved in the execution of a works contract. Sub-section (6) then provides for the imposition of penalty if a person fails to make deductions before making payment to the contractor. Sub-section (6) does not defer the imposition of penalty nor does it make the payment of penalty dependent upon the intent of the person responsible. The payment of penalty is also not contingent upon it being found that there was a design to evade payment of tax or any unlawful intent not to deduct tax. Sub-section (6) therefore, stands attracted immediately upon a failure on the part of the person responsible to deduct tax from payments made to a contractor. In the present case, there has admittedly been a failure on the part of the revisionist to deduct tax. Consequently, the provisions of sub-section (6) stood attracted and the levy of penalty, therefore, followed and was in fact a necessary corollary.

17. Learned Senior Counsel referring to the provisions of Section 3-F of the 1948 Act has then submitted that the penalty could not have been imposed on the entire amount of payment made under the contract. It was his submission that the penalty was liable to be restricted to the tax liability, which in turn was to be computed in accordance with the provisions of Section 3-F (2)(b). Sub-section (2) of Section 3F makes a provision for the identification of items which are liable to be included or excluded while computing the net turnover which is liable to be taxed in respect of a works contract. This Court however, finds that neither before the authorities below nor even before this Court has the revisionist furnished any details in respect of the taxable turnover liable to be computed in accordance with the provisions of Section 3-F (2)(b). In absence of the said material and as a consequence of the failure of the revisionist to provide such details, the learned Standing Counsel has rightly contended that the respondents committed no illegality in levying penalty upon the revisionist.

18. More importantly, the provisions of Section 3F deal with the computation and determination of net turnover of the works contractor. The identification of the valuable consideration paid in respect of a transfer of property in goods in the execution of a works contract is an exercise which was liable to be undertaken during the course of assessment of the works contractor. At this stage and in the absence of any material before this Court, no exercise of bifurcation can possibly be undertaken. It becomes relevant to note that despite pointed queries in this respect the details of assessments undertaken in respect of the works contractor were neither produced, referred or adverted to. This Court, therefore, finds no material or ground to interfere with the imposition of penalty or to upset the decisions rendered by the authorities below.

19. Accordingly and for the reasons aforementioned, this and connected revisions shall stand dismissed.

circumstances and in order to hoodwink the Bank, a frivolous lease deed was executed surreptitiously by respondent no. 2 in favour of the petitioner.

3.Reference may also be had to a recent judgment of Division Bench of Allahabad High Court rendered in Surendra Kumar Maheshwari v. State of U.P. and others; 2006(2) ADJ 182 wherein the Court while dealing with the similar situation has held that the grant of relief in writ jurisdiction is discretionary and a Court can decline the relief where the person seeks to secure a dishonest advantage or perpetuate unjust gain.

4.In the present case, lease deed has been executed after the receipt of notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act and thus it cannot be said that the lease is valid or that the possession of the petitioner is a lawful possession.

5.In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, this Court finds that the petitioner is not entitled to grant of any indulgence of this Court in exercise of its equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

6.The writ petition fails and is accordingly dismissed.

1. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, the learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Prateek Chandra, the learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Satish Chaturvedi, the learned counsel appearing for the respondent bank.

2. The present writ petition has been filed by the petitioner with the claim that the petitioner is neither a borrower nor a guarantor and in fact is a lessee in pursuance of a valid lease deed executed by the borrower - respondent no.2. The relief sought by the petitioner in the present writ petition is to the effect that the impugned order dated 1.1.2016 be quashed as it has been passed by the Additional District Magistrate purportedly in exercise of power under Section 14 of Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as 'SARFAESI Act'). The petitioner has also made the following prayer in the writ petition:

"II. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the Respondent No.1 to refrain from interfering with the possession of the property of the petitioner;

III. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari or any other order or direction declaring the e-auction notice issued by the Respondent No.1 that was published in the newspaper on 16.1.2016 as null and void and restraining the Respondent No.1 from proceeding with the auction sale or taking any action.

IV. ...

V. ..."

3. Sri Ashok Khare, the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner has raised three basic contention while attacking the impugned order dated 1.1.2016 (Annexure No.1 to the writ petition); (a) that the order passed under Section 14 of the Act could not have been passed by the Additional District Magistrate as he is not the competent authority as the same being Collector / District Magistrate and in this regard reliance has been placed upon Section 14 of the Act, relevant portion of which reads as under:

"14. Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate to assist secured creditor in taking possession of secured asset.--

(1) Where the possession of any secured assets is required to be taken by the secured creditor or if any of the secured asset is required to be sold or transferred by the secured creditor under the provisions of this Act, the secured creditor may, for the purpose of taking possession or control of any such secured assets, request, in writing, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate within whose jurisdiction any such secured asset or other documents relating thereto may be situated or found, to take possession thereof, and the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or, as the case may be, the District Magistrate shall, on such request being made to him--

(a) take possession of such asset and documents relating thereto; and

(b) forward such asset and documents to the secured creditor:

Provided that any application by the secured creditor shall be accompanied by an affidavit duly affirmed by the authorised officer of the secured creditor, declaring that--

(i) the aggregate amount of financial assistance granted and the total claim of the Bank as on the date of filing the application;

(ii) the borrower has created security interest over ig various properties and that the Bank or Financial Institution is holding a valid and subsisting security interest over such properties and the claim of the Bank or Financial Institution is within the limitation period;

(iii) the borrower has created security interest over various properties giving the details of properties referred to in sub-clause (ii) above;

(iv) the borrower has committed default in repayment of the financial assistance granted aggregating the specified amount;

(v) consequent upon such default in repayment of the financial assistance the account of the borrower has been classified as a non-performing asset;

(vi) affirming that the period of sixty days notice as required by the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 13, demanding payment of the defaulted financial assistance has been served on the borrower;

(vii) the objection or representation in reply to the notice received from the borrower has been considered by the secured creditor and reasons for non-acceptance of such objection or representation had been communicated to the borrower;

(viii) the borrower has not made any repayment of the financial assistance in spite of the above notice and the Authorised Officer is, therefore, entitled to take possession of the secured assets under the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 13 read with section 14 of the principal Act;

(ix) that the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder had been complied with:

Provided further that on receipt of the affidavit from the Authorised Officer, the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be, shall after satisfying the contents of the affidavit pass suitable orders for the purpose of taking possession of the secured assets:

Provided also that the requirement of filing affidavit stated in the first proviso shall not apply to proceeding pending before any District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, as the case may be, on the date of commencement of this Act.

(1-A) The District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate may authorise any officer subordinate to him,--

(i) to take possession of such assets and documents relating thereto; and

(ii) to forward such assets and documents to the secured creditor.

(2) For the purpose of securing compliance with the provisions of sub- section (1), the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate may take or cause to be taken such steps and use, or cause to be used, such force, as may, in his opinion, be necessary.

(3) No act of the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate any officer authorised by the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate done in pursuance of this section shall be called in question in any court or before any authority.""

(b) that the Additional District Magistrate has not at all referred to the contention / objection raised by the petitioner in its objection filed in response to the application of the Bank under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act; and (c) that the petitioner is a lessee under a validly executed lease deed.

4. Thus, the petitioner cannot be evicted except in accordance with law from the premises in dispute. The learned senior counsel has relied upon a judgment of the Supreme Court rendered in Harshad Govardhan Sondagar v. International Assets Reconstruction Company Limited and others; 2014 (6) SCC 1 to contend that it was incumbent upon the authority prescribed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act to adjudicate upon the status of the petitioner as a lessee under a validly executed lease deed. The relevant extracts are quoted herein below:

"As per the mandate of Section 107 TPA if the lessee of the mortgagor claims that it is entitled to possession of a secured asset for any term exceeding one year from the date of the lease made in his favour by the lessor. Where he does not produce proof of execution of a registered instrument in his favour and instead relied on an unregistered instrument or oral agreement accompanied by delivery of possession, the CMM or the DM, as the case may be will have to come to the conclusion that he is not entitled to the possession of the secured asset for more than a year from the date of the instrument or from the date of delivery of possession in his favour by the landlord.

... If the lessee surrenders possession, the lease, even if valid, gets determined in accordance with clause (f) of Section 111 of the Transfer of Property Act, but if he resists the attempt of the secured creditor to take possession, the authorised officer cannot evict the lessee by force but has to file an application before the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act and state in the affidavit accompanying the application, the name and address of the person claiming to be the lessee. When such an application is filed, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate will have to give a notice and give an opportunity of hearing to the person claiming to be the lessee as well as to the secured creditor consistent with the principles of natural justice and then take a decision.

We may now consider the contention of the respondents that some of the appellants have not produced any document to prove that they are bona fide lessees of the secured assets. We find that in the cases before us, the appellants have relied on the written instruments or rent receipts issued by the landlord to the tenant. Section 107 of the Transfer of Property Act provides that a lease of immoveable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year or reserving a yearly rent, can be made "only by a registered instrument" and all other leases of immoveable property may be made either by a registered instrument or by oral agreement accompanied by delivery of possession. Hence, if any of the appellants claim that they are entitled to possession of a secured asset for any term exceeding one year from the date of the lease made in his favour, he has to produce proof of execution of a registered instrument in his favour by the lessor. Where he does not produce proof of execution of a registered instrument in his favour and instead relies on an unregistered instrument or oral agreement accompanied by delivery of possession, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate, as the case may be, will have to come to the conclusion that he is not entitled to the possession of the secured asset for more than an year from the date of the instrument or from the date of delivery of possession in his favour by the landlord. "

5. The learned Senior Counsel further relied upon a judgment of the Apex Court rendered in the case of Hari Chand Aggarwal v. Batala Engineering Co. Ltd. (Civil Appeal No. 681 of 1966 decided on 24.9.1968) and also upon a judgment of Allahabad High Court rendered in Virendra Kumar Agarwal v. M. L. Kulshreshtha and others (Civil Misc. Writ No. 3721 of 1973 decided on 19.7.1973) in support of his contention that the Additional District Magistrate could not have exercised the power of District Magistrate in exercise of power under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. However, as far as the case of Hari Chand (Supra) is concerned, the same is with regard to the power under the Code of Criminal Procedure. In the said case it has been observed that the District Magistrate and the Additional District Magistrate are two different and distinct authorities and even though the latter may be empowered under Sub-section (2) to exercise all or any of the powers of a District Magistrate but by no stretch of reasoning can an Additional District Magistrate be called the District Magistrate which are the words employed in Sub-section (1) of Section 10. As far as second case Virendra Kumar (Supra) is concerned, the same is with regard to the power of the Central Government to delegate the power to the District Magistrate and, thus, it is contended that District Magistrate could not have sub delegated the power. A perusal of the said two judgment shows that the facts and circumstances of the aforesaid cases do not apply to the facts and circumstances of the present case.

6. It has been a considered legal position that the power exercised under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act by the Collector/District Magistrate is only an administrative power and thus authorizing any authority to exercise these powers does not amount to the delegation of the power and, in view of the Full Bench judgment of the Supreme Court and the Division Bench judgment of Allahabad High Court, referred to above, this Court finds no illegality in the order that has been passed under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act by the Additional District Magistrate.

7. Sri Satish Chaturvedi, the learned counsel for the respondent bank has placed strong reliance upon a Full Bench judgment of Hyderabad High Court rendered in M/s T. R. Jewellery and another v. M/s State Bank of India and another; AIR 2016 HYDERABAD 125 to contend in support of his contention that the term District Magistrate will include the Additional District Magistrate or Additional Collector. The relevant extract of the said judgment is quoted herein below:

"27. Relying upon the word order used in the proviso to Section 14, it has been urged, that the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate is exercising judicial function while assisting the secured creditor and the same cannot be entrusted to Chief Judicial Magistrate in non-metropolitan area when the Legislature never contemplated the same. It has been further urged that if really the intention of the Legislature was to give such power to Chief Judicial Magistrate, it would have referred to it atleast in the amendment brought to Section 14 in the year 2013. It is true that Section 14 of the Act refers only to Chief Metropolitan Magistrate and District Magistrate. But, if really the proceedings before the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate are judicial in nature, the Legislature would not have allowed the District Magistrate or the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate to authorize any Officer subordinate to them to take possession of such assets and documents relating there to and forward such assets and documents to the secured creditor. At this stage, an argument was sought to be advanced, stating that delegation as referred to in Section 14(1A) is only with regard to execution of the order by an Officer subordinate to Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate and not passing of the order. The same cannot be accepted. It is to be noted that Section 14(1)(a)(b) which deal with assistance by Chief Metropolitan Magistrate and District Magistrate also refers to taking possession of such assets and documents and forwarding them to the secured creditor.

28. Dealing with the word possession in Sections 13, 17 and the Rules made under SARFAESI Act, the Apex Court in Transcore v. Union of India (UOI) and another, held as under :

68. The word possession is a relative concept. It is not an absolute concept. The dichotomy between symbolic and physical possession does not find place in the Act. As stated above, there is a conceptual distinction between securities by which the creditor obtains ownership of or interest in the property concerned (mortgages) and securities where the creditor obtains neither an interest in nor possession of the property but the property is appropriated to the satisfaction of the debt (charges). Basically, the NPA Act deals with the former type of securities under which the secured creditor, namely, the bank/FI obtains interest in the property concerned. It is for this reason that the NPA Act ousts the intervention of the courts/tribunals.

29. In Union Bank of India v. The State of Maharashtra through the Office of the Government Pleader, Public Works Department and others , the Bombay High Court held that Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act is procedural in nature and that the procedure stipulated therein enables the secured creditor to take the assistance of Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or District Magistrate in taking possession of the secured assets. It was also held that Section 14 only empowers the authorities to assist the secured creditor in taking possession of the secured assets as per the procedure contemplated under Section 14, but does not clothe the District Magistrate with the power to adjudicate in respect of any dispute pertaining to any secured asset. Further, it has been held that proviso to Section 14 of the Act does not vest District Magistrate with the jurisdiction to adjudicate and decide any dispute regarding the secured assets. Similar view was taken by a Division Bench of Bombay High Court in International Asset Reconstruction Company Private Limited through its Authorized Representative of the Constituted Attorney Shri Tushar B. Patel v. Union of India (UOI), through the District Magistrate and others. In Mansa Synthetic Pvt. Ltd. and others v. Union of India and another, a Division Bench of the Gujarat High Court held that the District Magistrate or Chief Metropolitan Magistrate is bound to assist secured creditor in taking possession of secured asset and is not empowered to decide question of legality or propriety of any action taken by the secured creditor under Section 14 of the Act."

8. He further placed reliance upon Division Bench judgment of this Court rendered in Irshad Husain v. District Magistrate Moradabad and others; 2009 (3) ADJ 81 wherein the Division Bench has taken a specific view and has held herein as under:

"According to us, when the above Act is subjective in nature, the Act below is the procedural in nature. Upon going through Section 14-A of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 we find that the Additional Collector has the similar power as of Collector, thereby the Collector includes the Additional Collector. Section 14-A of such Act is also quoted hereunder:

"14-A. Appointment, powers and duties of Additional Collectors.--(1) The State Government may appoint an Additional Collector in a district or in two or more districts combined.

(2) An Additional Collector shall hold his office during the pleasure of State Government.

(3) An Additional Collector shall exercise such powers and discharge such duties of a Collector in such cases or classes of cases as the Collector concerned may direct.

(4) This Act and every other law for the time being applicable to a Collector shall apply to every Additional Collector, when exercising any powers or discharging any duties under sub-section (3), as if he were the Collector of the district."

9. Reference may also be made to a judgment of the Calcutta High Court rendered in Sk. Akbr Ali v. State of West Bengal and others; AIR 2012 CALCUTTA 90, wherein it has been categorically held that there is no dispute that an Additional District Magistrate even if the State Government duly confers on him all or any of the powers of the District Magistrate does not become a District Magistrate. He still remains an Additional District Magistrate holding a position below the District Magistrate. This, however, does not lead to the conclusion that if a power of the District Magistrate on being duly conferred on him is exercised by an Additional District Magistrate, it will not be a valid exercise of power. Once the power is duly conferred on an Additional District Magistrate, such Additional District Magistrate is competent to decide an application under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act. It is not necessary that the power has to be exercised by the District Magistrate.

10. Learned counsel for the respondent bank has also placed reliance upon Section 14(1-A) of the SARFAESI Act.

11. It has further been contended by the learned counsel for respondent bank that as far as question of lease deed is concerned, it may be appreciated that the Bank had issued a notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act on 17.5.2014 for recovery of the amount due against the borrower, namely, respondent no.2 - M/s Zync Global Pvt. Ltd. which was to the tune of Rs.67,00,26,840/- including the accrued interest up to 1.10.2013 and that as per the notice/application under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act apart from the liability of the State Bank of India running to Rs.67,00,26,840/- there is further liability of Punjab National Bank running to Rs.75,48,38,788.78/-. The contention of the respondent bank is that respondent no.2 knowing fully well that there is huge liability against him, in order to derail the entire recovery proceeding had executed an unregistered lease deed in favour of the petitioner on 9.9.2014 for a period of three years. The further contention of the respondent bank is that it is an admitted position on record that the lease deed was executed after the notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act has been given.

12. Further reliance has been placed by the counsel for respondent bank upon a specific clause contained in the notice issued under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act, which reads as under:

"You are also put on notice that in terms of sub-section 13 of section 13 you shall not transfer by sale, lease or otherwise the said secured assets detailed in Schedule "C" of this notice without obtaining written consent of the Bank."

13. The learned counsel for the respondent bank has also drawn attention of the Court to section 13(13) of the SARFAESI Act, which reads as under:

"13. Enforcement of security interest. - (1) ...

(2) ...

(3) ...

(4) ...

(5) ...

(6) ...

(7) ...

(8) ...

(9) ...

(10) ...

(11) ...

(12) ...

(13) No borrower shall, after receipt of notice referred to in sub-section (2), transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise (other than in the ordinary course of his business) any of his secured assets referred to in the notice, without prior written consent of the secured creditor."

14. Relying upon the aforesaid contentions, learned counsel for the respondent bank submitted that the petitioner cannot be granted any indulgence whatsoever in exercise of equitable jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution.

15. It is apparent from the record that respondent no.2, who happens to be the borrower has very complacently executed a lease deed after the receipt of the notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act with the sole intention of playing fraud with the Bank. His dishonest intention is writ large on the face of the record. Respondent no. 2 after setting up the petitioner in the forefront has very calmly chosen to stay away from the litigation and is cooling his heels sitting at home. It is apparent from the fact that the benefit of the lease deed cannot be extended to the petitioner in view of the fact that firstly it is an unregistered document and secondly it was executed after the service of notice under Section 13 (2) of the SARFAESI Act and this Court feels that no person can be permitted to reap the harvest of his own wrongdoing. Further, the petitioner admits that the lease is an unregistered document.

16. It has also been submitted that upon default in payment of financial assistance, the account of borrower has been notified as 'non-performing asset' by State Bank of India on 28.1.2014 and by Punjab National Bank on 31.12.2013 and thus it is apparent that respondent no.2 was well aware that the account has been notified as 'non-performing asset'. There is apparently a huge liability against respondent no.2 and it was under these circumstances and in order to hoodwink the Bank, a frivolous lease deed was executed surreptitiously by respondent no. 2 in favour of the petitioner.

17. Sri Chaturvedi has placed reliance upon the reply filed by the Bank to the application of objector i.e. the petitioner wherein the objection taken by the petitioner has been duly considered and replied to, a copy of the said reply has been annexed as annexure CA-3 to the counter affidavit.

The said reply has been considered by the Additional District Magistrate while passing the order under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act.

18. Keeping in view the conduct of the borrower a reference may be made to the judgment of the Apex Court rendered in Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation v. M/s GAR Re-Rolling Mills and another; AIR 1994 SC 2151, where the Supreme Court observed:-

"A court of equity, when exercising its equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution must so act as to prevent perpetration of a legal fraud and the courts are obliged to do justice by promotion of good faith, as far as it lies within their power. Equity is always known to defend the law from clefty evasions and new subtilities invented to evade law."

19. In the case of M.P. Mittal Vs. State of Haryana & Ors. AIR 1984 SC, 1888, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as follows:-

"The appeal arises out of a writ petition, and it is well settled that when a petitioner invokes the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution, it is open to the High Court to consider whether, in the exercise of its undoubted discretionary jurisdiction, it should decline relief to such petitioner if the grant of relief would defeat the interests of justice. The Court always has power to refuse relief where the petitioner seeks to invoke its writ jurisdiction in order to secure a dishonest advantage or perpetuate an unjust gain. This is a case where the High Court was fully justified in refusing relief."

20. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Maharashtra Vs. Prabhu (1994) 2 SCC 481 considered the equity jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution and pointed out as follows:-

"Even assuming that the construction placed by the High Court and vehemently defended by the learned counsel for respondent is correct should the High Court have interfered with the order of Government in exercise of its equity jurisdiction..... Where the Government or any authority passes an order which is contrary to rules or law it becomes amenable to correction by the courts in exercise of writ jurisdiction. But one of the principles inherent in it is that the exercise of power should be for the sake of justice. One of the yardstick for it is if the quashing of the order results in greater harm to the society then the court may restrain from exercising the power.....Therefore, even if the order of the Government was vitiated either because it omitted to issue a proper show-cause notice or it could not have proceeded against the respondent for his past activities the High Court should have refused to interfere in exercise of its equity jurisdiction as the facts of the case did not warrant interference..... It is the responsibility of the High Court as custodian of the Constitution to maintain the social balance by interfering where necessary for sake of justice and refusing to interfere where it is against the social interest and public good."

21. The same position was reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chandra Singh Vs. State of Rajasthan & Anr. AIR 2003 SC 2889 in which it was observed as follows:-

"Issuance of a writ of Certiorari is a discretionary remedy (Champalal Binani v. CIT, West Bengal, AIR 1970 SC 645). The High Court and consequently this Court while exercising its extra ordinary jurisdiction under Articles 226 or 32 of the Constitution of India may not strike down an illegal order although it would be lawful to do so. In a given case, the High Court or this Court may refuse to extend the benefit of a discretionary relief to the applicant."

22. In ONGC Ltd. Vs. Sendhabhai Vastram Patel & Ors., reported in (2005) 6 SCC 454, the Supreme Court held as follows:-

"It is now well settled that the High Court and the Supreme Court while exercising their equity jurisdiction under Articles 226 and 32 of the Constitution as also Article 136 thereof may not exercise the same in appropriate cases. While exercising such jurisdiction, the superior courts in India may not strike down even a wrong order only because it would be lawful to do so. A discretionary relief may be refused to be extended to the appellant in a given case although the Court may find the same to be justified in law. [See S.D.S. Shipping (P) Ltd. V. Jay Container Services Co. (P) Ltd. (2003) 9 SCC 439]."

23. Respondent no. 2 who owes approximately a sum of Rs. Rs.67,00,26,840/- to SBI and a sum of Rs. 75,48,38,788.78/- to PNB and with the sole intention of playing fraud with the Bank has executed a lease deed surreptitiously and that too after the receipt of the notice and in complete violation of Section 13(13) of the SARFAESI Act as well as the condition mentioned in the notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act itself.

24. Reference may also be had to a recent judgment of Division Bench of Allahabad High Court rendered in Surendra Kumar Maheshwari v. State of U.P. and others; 2006(2) ADJ 182 wherein the Court while dealing with the similar situation has held that the grant of relief in writ jurisdiction is discretionary and a Court can decline the relief where the person seeks to secure a dishonest advantage or perpetuate unjust gain.

25. In the present case, lease deed has been executed after the receipt of notice under Section 13(2) of the SARFAESI Act and thus it cannot be said that the lease is valid or that the possession of the petitioner is a lawful possession.

26. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, this Court finds that the petitioner is not entitled to grant of any indulgence of this Court in exercise of its equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

27. The writ petition fails and is accordingly dismissed.

Civil Services Regulations — Article 351-A — disciplinary enquiry after retirement — reduction of pension — forfeiture of gratuity — departmental enquiry — oral enquiry — opportunity to cross-examine witnesses — principles of natural justice — quasi-judicial proceeding — major punishment — enquiry not conducted in accordance with procedure — punishment order set aside.

The writ petition is directed against the order dated 19.02.2004 passed by respondent-1 imposing punishment of reduction of pension by fifty per cent and forfeiture of entire gratuity.(Para 2)

Petitioner was working as Accounts Officer in the Office of Basic Shiksha Adhikari and retired on 31.01.1998. Before his retirement, a charge-sheet was issued to him on 17.01.1997 which was replied by him and thereafter Enquiry Officer submitted enquiry report which has culminated in the impugned order of punishment.(Para 3)

Counsel for petitioner submitted that enquiry has been continued after retirement of petitioner under Article 351-A of Civil Services Regulations (hereinafter referred to as "CSR"), which provides that procedure for enquiry would be same as is applicable in the case of major penalty but in the present case, no date, time or place for oral enquiry was ever fixed and after receiving reply from petitioner, Enquiry Officer submitted enquiry report and thereafter punishment order has been passed. In this regard, specific averment has been made in para 20 of writ petition.(Para 4)

In the present case, charge-sheet was issued to petitioner which is undated but it is said in para 13 of writ petition that the same was served on 17.01.1997. This is admitted in para 7 of counter affidavit. Petitioner submitted reply on 28.01.1997 as said in para 15 of writ petition and that is also not denied in para 9 of counter affidavit. A letter sent by Enquiry Officer dated 07.08.1997 required petitioner to make available copies of certain letters which was also replied by petitioner on 07.08.1997. Thereafter case of petitioner is that no date, place or time was fixed for oral enquiry and no oral enquiry was conducted at all. Enquiry Officer submitted report, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure-8 to writ petition, but it is also undated. In the counter affidavit also no date of enquiry has been discussed. Petitioner retired on 31.01.1998 after attaining age of superannuation. Show cause notice along copy of enquiry report was forwarded to petitioner on 17.03.1998.(Para 7)

1.Impugned order of punishment also shows that till the retirement, enquiry had not completed and if that be so there was no reason as to why an oral enquiry was not conducted by Enquiry Officer. No reason has been given therefor and counter affidavit is completely silent on this aspect.

2.There is another aspect of the matter. If the enquiry is conducted under Article 351 of CSR, punishment permissible therein can only be inflicted if retired employee is found guilty of grave misconduct or to have caused pecuniary loss to Government by misconduct or negligence during service. Impugned order shows that attached Primary School, Daulatpur of Sant Ramraj Goswami Junior High School, Daulatpur was not grant-in-aid and, therefore, Teachers and non-teaching Staff was unauthorizedly and illegally paid salary from State exchequer from January' 1991 to July' 1991 and loss suffered by State is attributable to petitioner. This is obviously a serious matter and therefore also departmental enquiry strictly in accordance with procedure prescribed ought to have been conducted, but the same has not been conducted. Meaning thereby petitioner has not been given adequate opportunity of defence and enquiry has not been conducted in accordance with Article 351A of the CSR read with U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1999) which provides procedure to hold enquiry.

3.When confronted, learned Standing Counsel could not dispute the above proposition of law and also could not controvert that in the case in hand, no oral enquiry has been conducted at all.

4.In these facts and circumstances, the impugned order is patently illegal and in utter violation of principles of nature justice and also the procedure prescribed in the Rules.

5.In the result, the writ petition is allowed. Impugned order dated 19.02.2004 is hereby set aside. Petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits..

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.

Hon'ble Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri G.K. Singh, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri M.A. Qadeer, learned Senior Advocate appearing for respondent no. 1.

2. The writ petition is directed against the order dated 19.02.2004 passed by respondent-1 imposing punishment of reduction of pension by fifty per cent and forfeiture of entire gratuity.

3. Petitioner was working as Accounts Officer in the Office of Basic Shiksha Adhikari and retired on 31.01.1998. Before his retirement, a charge-sheet was issued to him on 17.01.1997 which was replied by him and thereafter Enquiry Officer submitted enquiry report which has culminated in the impugned order of punishment.

4. Counsel for petitioner submitted that enquiry has been continued after retirement of petitioner under Article 351-A of Civil Services Regulations (hereinafter referred to as "CSR"), which provides that procedure for enquiry would be same as is applicable in the case of major penalty but in the present case, no date, time or place for oral enquiry was ever fixed and after receiving reply from petitioner, Enquiry Officer submitted enquiry report and thereafter punishment order has been passed. In this regard, specific averment has been made in para 20 of writ petition.

5. State has replied para 20 of writ petition in para 12 of counter affidavit by denying the same and stating that full opportunity was given. When called upon, learned Standing Counsel could not tell as to in what manner opportunity was given.

6. In fact, various averments contained in counter affidavit and in particular para-10 shows that petitioner's reply is said to have been fully examined by Enquiry Officer and thereafter enquiry report was submitted which shows that no oral enquiry, whatsoever, has been conducted.

7. In the present case, charge-sheet was issued to petitioner which is undated but it is said in para 13 of writ petition that the same was served on 17.01.1997. This is admitted in para 7 of counter affidavit. Petitioner submitted reply on 28.01.1997 as said in para 15 of writ petition and that is also not denied in para 9 of counter affidavit. A letter sent by Enquiry Officer dated 07.08.1997 required petitioner to make available copies of certain letters which was also replied by petitioner on 07.08.1997. Thereafter case of petitioner is that no date, place or time was fixed for oral enquiry and no oral enquiry was conducted at all. Enquiry Officer submitted report, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure-8 to writ petition, but it is also undated. In the counter affidavit also no date of enquiry has been discussed. Petitioner retired on 31.01.1998 after attaining age of superannuation. Show cause notice along copy of enquiry report was forwarded to petitioner on 17.03.1998.

8. As per provisions of Article 351A of CSR, if a disciplinary enquiry has been instituted before retirement of Government Servant, the same shall continue in accordance with procedure applicable to proceedings on which an order of dismissal from service can be made. This is evident from Regulation 351A CSR read in entirety along with proviso (a)(iii). This is what has been said by this Court also in Gopi Chand Bishnoi Vs. State of U.P. and another 2007 (4) AWC 3591. In the present case, it is evident that enquiry has not been conducted in such as manner.

9. It has been held repeatedly that an enquiry which may lead to punishment of dismissal would include necessarily an oral enquiry and it is mandatory.

10. In Meenglas Tea Estate v. The workmen., AIR 1963 SC 1719, Supreme Court observed "It is an elementary principle that a person who is required to answer a charge must know not only the accusation but also the testimony by which the accusation is supported. He must be given a fair chance to hear the evidence in support of the charge and to put such relevant questions by way to cross-examination as he desires. Then he must be given a chance to rebut the evidence led against him. This is the barest requirement of an enquiry of this character and this requirement must be substantially fulfilled before the result of the enquiry can be accepted.

11. In State of U.P. v. C. S. Sharma, AIR 1968 SC 158, Court held that omission to give opportunity to the officer to produce his witnesses and lead evidence in his defence vitiates the proceedings. Court also held that in the enquiry, witnesses have to be examined in support of the allegations, and opportunity has to be given to the delinquent to cross-examine these witnesses and to lead evidence in his defence.

12. In Punjab National Bank v. A.I.P.N.B.E. Federation, AIR 1960 SC 160, (vide para 66), Court held that in such enquiries evidence must be recorded in the presence of charge-sheeted employee and he must be given an opportunity to rebut the said evidence. Same view was taken in A.C.C. Ltd. v. Their Workmen, (1963) II LLJ. 396, and in Tata Oil Mills Co. Ltd. v. Their Workmen, (1963) II LLJ. 78 (SC).

13. In S.C. Girotra v. United Commercial Bank 1995 Supp. (3) SCC 212, Court set aside a dismissal order which was passed without giving employee an opportunity of cross-examination.

14. This Court in Subhas Chandra Sharma v. Managing Director and another, 2000(1) UPLBEC 541, said:-

"In our opinion after the petitioner replied to the charge-sheet a date should have been fixed for the enquiry and the petitioner should have been intimated the date, time and place of the enquiry and on that date the oral and documentary evidence against the petitioner should have been led in his presence and he should have been given an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses against him and also he should have been given an opportunity to produce his own witnesses and evidence. If the petitioner in response to this intimation had failed to appear for the enquiry then an ex parte enquiry should have been held but the petitioner's service should have not been terminated without holding an enquiry. In the present case it appears that no regular enquiry was held at all. All that was done that after receipt of the petitioner's reply to the charge-sheet he was given a show-cause notice and thereafter the dismissal order was passed. In our opinion this was not the correct legal procedure and there was violation of the rules of natural justice. Since no date for enquiry was fixed nor any enquiry held in which evidence was led in our opinion the impugned order is clearly violative of natural justice."

15. The above judgment was followed by another Division Bench in Subhas Chandra Sharma v. U.P. Co-operative Spinning Mills and others reported 2001 (2) UPLBEC 1475 where Court held:

"In cases where a major punishment proposed to be imposed an oral enquiry is a must, whether the employee request, for it or not. For this it is necessary to issue a notice to the employee concerned intimating him date, time and place of the enquiry as held by the Division Bench of this Court in Subhash Chandra Sharma v. Managing Director, (2000) 1 UPLBEC 541, against which SLP has been dismissed by the Supreme Court on 16-8-2000." (emphasis added)

16. In State of Uttar Pradesh v. Saroj Kumar Sinha reported (2010) 2 SCC 772 Court said :-

"An inquiry officer acting in a quasi-judicial authority is in the position of an independent adjudicator. He is not supposed to be a representative of the department/ disciplinary authority/ Government. His function is to examine the evidence presented by the Department, even in the absence of the delinquent official to see as to whether the unrebutted evidence is sufficient to hold that the charges are proved. In the present case the aforesaid procedure has not been observed. Since no oral evidence has been examined the documents have not been proved, and could not have been taken into consideration to conclude that the charges have been proved against the respondents.

When a departmental enquiry is conducted against the government servant it cannot be treated as a casual exercise. The enquiry proceedings also cannot be conducted with a closed mind. The inquiry officer has to be wholly unbiased. The rules of natural justice are required to be observed to ensure not only that justice is done but is manifestly seen to be done. The object of rules of natural justice is to ensure that a government servant is treated fairly in proceedings which may culminate in imposition of punishment including dismissal/removal from service."

17. Similar view was taken in Roop Singh Negi v. Punjab National Bank, (2009) 2 SCC 570 where Court said:

"Indisputably, a departmental proceeding is a quasi-judicial proceeding. The enquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function. The charges levelled against the delinquent officer must be found to have been proved. The enquiry officer has a duty to arrive at a finding upon taking into consideration the materials brought on record by the parties. The purported evidence collected during investigation by the investigating officer against all the accused by itself could not be treated to be evidence in the disciplinary proceeding. No witness was examined to prove the said documents. The management witnesses merely tendered the documents and did not prove the contents thereof. Reliance, inter alia, was placed by the enquiry officer on the FIR which could not have been treated as evidence."

18. One of us (Justice Sudhir Agarwal) in Rajesh Prasad Mishra v. Commissioner, Jhansi Division, Jhansi and others reported 2010 (1) UPLBEC 216 observed, as under, after detail analysis of authorities on the subject:

"Now coming to the question, what is the effect of non-holding of oral inquiry, I find that, in a case where the inquiry officer is appointed, oral inquiry is mandatory. The charges are not deemed to be proved suo motu merely on account of levelling them by means of the charge sheet unless the same are proved by the department before the inquiry officer and only thereafter it is the turn of delinquent employee to place his defence. Holding oral enquiry is mandatory before imposing a major penalty, as held by Apex Court in State of U.P. & another Vs. T.P.Lal Srivastava, 1997 (1) LLJ 831 as well as by a Division Bench of this Court in Subhash Chandra Sharma Vs. Managing Director & another, 2000 (1) U.P.L.B.E.C. 541."

19. In another case in Subhash Chandra Gupta v. State of U.P., 2012 (1) UPLBEC 166, a Division Bench of this Court, after survey of law on this issue, observed as under:

"It is well settled that when the statute provides to do a thing in a particular manner that thing has to be done in that very manner. We are of the considered opinion that any punishment awarded on the basis of an enquiry not conducted in accordance with the enquiry rules meant for that very purposes is unsustainable in the eye of law. We are further of the view that the procedure prescribed under the inquiry rules for imposing major penalty is mandatory in nature and unless those procedures are followed, any out come inferred thereon will be of no avail unless the charges are so glaring and unrefutable which does not require any proof. The view taken by us find support from the judgement of the Apex Court in State of U.P. & another Vs. T.P.Lal Srivastava, 1997 (1) LLJ 831 as well as by a Division Bench of this Court in Subash Chandra Sharma Vs. Managing Director & another, 2000 (1) U.P.L.B.E.C. 541.

*A Division Bench decision of this Court in the case of Salahuddin Ansari Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008 (3) ESC 1667 held that non holding of oral inquiry is a serious flaw which can vitiate the order of disciplinary proceeding including the order of punishment has observed as under:-

" 10..... Non holding of oral inquiry in such a case, is a serious matter and goes to the root of the case.

11. A Division Bench of this Court in Subash Chandra Sharma Vs. Managing Director & another, 2000 (1) U.P.L.B.E.C. 541, considering the question as to whether holding of an oral inquiry is necessary or not, held that if no oral inquiry is held, it amounts to denial of principles of natural justice to the delinquent employee. The aforesaid view was reiterated in Subash Chandra Sharma Vs. U.P.Cooperative Spinning Mills & others, 2001 (2) U.P.L.B.E.C. 1475 and Laturi Singh Vs U.P.Public Service Tribunal & others, Writ Petition No. 12939 of 2001, decided on 06.05.2005."

20. Impugned order of punishment also shows that till the retirement, enquiry had not completed and if that be so there was no reason as to why an oral enquiry was not conducted by Enquiry Officer. No reason has been given therefor and counter affidavit is completely silent on this aspect.

21. There is another aspect of the matter. If the enquiry is conducted under Article 351 of CSR, punishment permissible therein can only be inflicted if retired employee is found guilty of grave misconduct or to have caused pecuniary loss to Government by misconduct or negligence during service. Impugned order shows that attached Primary School, Daulatpur of Sant Ramraj Goswami Junior High School, Daulatpur was not grant-in-aid and, therefore, Teachers and non-teaching Staff was unauthorizedly and illegally paid salary from State exchequer from January' 1991 to July' 1991 and loss suffered by State is attributable to petitioner. This is obviously a serious matter and therefore also departmental enquiry strictly in accordance with procedure prescribed ought to have been conducted, but the same has not been conducted. Meaning thereby petitioner has not been given adequate opportunity of defence and enquiry has not been conducted in accordance with Article 351A of CSR read with U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1999) which provides procedure to hold enquiry.

22. When confronted, learned Standing Counsel could not dispute the above proposition of law and also could not controvert that in the case in hand, no oral enquiry has been conducted at all.

23. In these facts and circumstances, the impugned order is patently illegal and in utter violation of principles of nature justice and also the procedure prescribed in the Rules.

24. In the result, the writ petition is allowed. Impugned order dated 19.02.2004 is hereby set aside. Petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits.

Held (Paras:- 9-11)

1. In the present case, the matter is covered by Railway Board's Circular dated 3.9.1996 which permits regularization only in Group D posts. Even otherwise when a post is liable to be filled in by way of promotion, persons engaged directly on casual basis can neither claim regularization nor can be so regularized against such posts which are to be filled in by promotion.

2. We, therefore, find no infirmity or illegality in the approach of Tribunal and finding recorded by it cannot be said to be perverse or illegal so as to warrant interference by this Court in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

3. We, therefore, find no patent irregularity or illegality in the order of Tribunal. Writ petition is dismissed.

4. Union of India Vs. Moti Lal, (1996) 7 SCC 48 — para 8

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri A.D. Singh, learned counsel for petitioners and learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. Petitioners have filed this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging order dated 31.12.1997 passed by Chief Administrative Officer (Construction), North Eastern Railway, Gorakhpur and against judgment and order dated 7.12.2004 whereby Original Application No. 1421 of 1998 filed by petitioners has been dismissed.

3. It appears that petitioners were engaged as casual labour (Black smith) in North Eastern Railway, Gorakhpur in the between 1978 to 1981. In 1982, petitioners were retrenched pursuant to Chief Engineer's order dated 14th April, 1992. Thereafter, respondents further engaged some casual workers in a project and consequent thereto, petitioners were engaged as casual labour (Black smith). One of such order dated 24.11.1989 in respect to petitioner no. 3 is on record. Petitioners continued to work and after completion of six months, they were granted regular pay scale as also temporary status.

4. Question of regularization was considered by Railway Board and we find that in this regard Railway Board issued a circular on 3.9.1996 and in reference thereto petitioners were also considered for regularization as Group-D employee and vide order dated 31.12.1997 petitioners were regularized in Group-D against newly created work-charged post.

5. Against aforesaid order dated 31.12.1997, original application was filed by petitioners before Tribunal, Gorakhpur on the ground that petitioners having discharged their duties as casual labour against posts which are in Group-C, they ought to have been regularized in Group-C and not Group-D post.

6. Despite repeated query, learned counsel for petitioners could not show any provision or rule under which a person could have been regularized in Group-C posts in Railway where all posts are liable to be filled in by promotion. For this purpose Tribunal has relied on a Full Bench Decision in Ram Kumar and others Vs. Union of India and others in Writ Petition (Civil) No. 15863 of 1984 wherein it was held that a Group-C post being a promotional post, a person even directly engaged on casual basis, cannot be regularized on such post but would be liable to be regularized in feeder cadre i.e. against posts in Group D, as Group C post is an only promotional post and hence regularization of directly engaged persons is not permissible. No law otherwise has been shown to us so as to entitle petitioners for being regularized on a Group-C post directly.

7. Learned counsel for petitioners sought to rely on an order of Supreme Court dated 6.9.1990, passed in Civil Misc. Petition No. 31378 of 1988, Ram Kumar and others Vs. Union of India and others, (1987) SCALE (2) 1192, but from a perusal thereof, we find that statement was made by counsel for Railways in that matter, relying on Board's instructions dated 20th January, 1985, that those people who were working for more than five years may be regularized in Class III post and on that statement, miscellaneous application was disposed of.

8. We may also notice here that subsequently similar issue has been considered by Supreme Court in General Manager Northern Railway and others Vs. Jageshwar and others (Civil Appeal No.6413 of 2002) decided on 1.4.2009, wherein Jageshwar and two others were engaged as casual labour Gangmen. Their services were temporarily used as Mates in construction organization. The post of Mate was a Group-C post. Subsequently, when the three workers became surplus they were screened and optioned for absorption in Group-D post for which they consented and accordingly regularized in Group-D post in October, 1996 and September, 1997. These three workers i.e. Jageshwar and two others approached Central Administrative Tribunal contending that since they were working as Mates, a Group-C post, they ought to have been regularized in Group-C. Tribunal though did not accept contention that they should have been regularized as Group-C on the ground that Group-C post since are liable to be filled in only by promotion, no person can seek direct entry by way of regularization. However, relying on earlier Supreme Court judgment in Union of India Vs. Moti Lal, (1996) 7 SCC 48, Tribunal directed that pay drawn by those workers as Mate shall be protected as personal to them till they are promoted to GroupC post. Railway Department aggrieved by judgment of Tribunal came to High Court but writ petition was dismissed hence, matter came before Supreme Court. It was held that judgment in Moti Lal (supra) was not applicable for the reason that casual appointment as Mate, a Group-C post, would give no benefit to such appointee since post of Mate is an exclusive promotional post and for that reason they were regularized in Group-D. In Moti Lal (supra) also it was held that in Railway, a person cannot seek regularization on Group-C post which is liable to be filled in by promotion and instead can be regularized only in Group-D post. Having said so Supreme Court said that in Moti Lal (supra) since in the mean time they were regularized as Mates hence their position was not disturbed by exercising power under Article 142 but that does not lay down a proposition of law and no person who has screened and absorbed in Group-D can claim any benefit against higher post whether in regard to pay-scale or otherwise. Paras 3, 4 and 5 of the judgment in General Manager Northern Railway and others Vs. Jageshwar (supra) are reproduced as under :-

"3. Motilal (supra) has no application. In that case, respondents were directly appointed as casual mates in Class III, though the post of made was an exclusive promotion post. They were regularized in a lower post. The Tribunal directed that they should be regularized as 'mates'. This Court held that respondents were not entitled to be regularized in Group III posts. But having regard to their long service of 22 to 25 years, this Court in exercise of powers under Article 142 left their regularization as mates undisturbed making it clear that the direction should not be treated as precedent.

4. This Court in Motilal case (supra) did not lay down any proposition that when an employee is absorbed in a different organization, his previous pay should be protected. Absorption in Railways was not in pursuance of any legal right. To avoid hardship to the employees of the construction organization on humanitarian grounds, the Railways chose to consider the surplus labour of that organization for absorption after screening them. When being so screened and absorbed, an employee cannot counted that he should be absorbed in a post equivalent to a post he was holding in the previous organization nor could the Tribunal or High Court direct that his pay should be protected.

5. In view of the above, the appeal is allowed, the orders of the High Court and Tribunal are set aside and as a consequence the original application is dismissed."

9. In the present case, the matter is covered by Railway Board's Circular dated 3.9.1996 which permits regularization only in Group D posts. Even otherwise when a post is liable to be filled in by way of promotion, persons engaged directly on casual basis can neither claim regularization nor can be so regularized against such posts which are to be filled in by promotion.

10. We, therefore, find no infirmity or illegality in the approach of Tribunal and finding recorded by it cannot be said to be perverse or illegal so as to warrant interference by this Court in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

11. We, therefore, find no patent irregularity or illegality in the order of Tribunal. Writ petition is dismissed.

Legislation referred to : Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Ss. 300 (Exception I), 302, 304 Part I, 304 Part II; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – S. 313.

FACTS :

The accused-appellant Munshi Lal was convicted by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 4, Gonda, vide judgment and order dated 08.02.2013 in S.T. No. 203/2011, arising out of Case Crime No. 122/2011 under Section 304 I.P.C., P.S.-Itiyathok, District Gonda, and was sentenced to life imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 5,000/- and, in default of payment of fine, six months rigorous imprisonment.

The prosecution case was that on 02.04.2011 the children of the accused-appellant and the deceased (Pushpa Devi) left for school. Returning home, they found the main door locked. On 03.04.2011 at 8:00 a.m. the accused-appellant informed his son on mobile that the key was kept inside the Ramayana. Upon opening the house the son found his mother lying dead with a nylon cord wrapped around her neck. An F.I.R. was lodged on 03.04.2011 under Section 302 I.P.C. The post-mortem conducted by Dr. P.K. Srivastava on 03.05.2011 recorded the cause of death as asphyxia due to strangulation, with multiple ante-mortem injuries including a ligature mark around the upper part of the neck with fracture of the right cornu of the hyoid bone.

Eight prosecution witnesses, including P.W.3 (Raj Kumar Pandey, son) and P.W.4 (Akshay Kumar, younger son), were examined. Both corroborated the prosecution version. The accused-appellant in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the charges. Two defence witnesses were produced to establish that on the date of the incident the appellant was not present at home, having gone to attend a cremation. The defence plea was also raised that the accused-appellant acted under grave and sudden provocation, having found the deceased in a compromising position with another man, and in the heat of passion wrapped a nylon cord around her neck.

In appeal, learned counsel for the appellant did not press the appeal on merits and confined arguments solely to the question of sentence, submitting that the case was one of sudden provocation without premeditation and that the sentence of life imprisonment was excessive. The A.G.A. did not dispute this approach.

QUESTIONS OF LAW :

(i) Whether, in a case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder where the act was committed under grave and sudden provocation without premeditation, attracting Exception I to Section 300 I.P.C. and conviction under Section 304 Part I I.P.C., the sentence of life imprisonment awarded by the trial court is warranted, or whether the same is liable to be modified?

(ii) What are the principles governing the sentencing of an accused convicted under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. where the offence was committed in the heat of passion upon sudden provocation and without premeditation?

HELD :

(i) Conviction confirmed — No illegality in Trial Court's finding — The Court, on appreciation of the evidence on record, particularly the testimony of P.W.3 and P.W.4 who are the real sons of the deceased and the accused-appellant, found no illegality or infirmity in the conviction recorded by the learned Trial Court under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. Since learned counsel for the appellant did not press the appeal on merits, the order of conviction as imposed by the Trial Court is confirmed.

(ii) Principles of sentencing — Proportionality and deterrence — Sentencing is one of the most important aspects of criminal adjudication. The primary objective of criminal law is imposition of appropriate, adequate, just and proportionate sentence commensurate with the nature and gravity of the offence and the manner in which it was committed. Undue sympathy resulting in inadequate sentencing undermines public confidence in the efficacy of law. Courts must award sentences that reflect the conscience of society. At the same time, a sentence that is disproportionately harsh where the statute itself provides a range of punishment is equally contrary to the ends of justice. [Relied upon: State of U.P. v. Shri Kishan, (2005) 10 SCC 420]

(iii) Sudden provocation and absence of premeditation — Mitigating factors in sentencing under S. 304 Part I I.P.C. — Where an accused has been convicted under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. on the basis that the act was committed under grave and sudden provocation — the accused having found his wife in a compromising position with another man — and where the charge sheet itself was filed under Section 304 I.P.C. (not Section 302 I.P.C.) indicating that there was no intention to cause death, and where there was no premeditation and the accused did not act in an unusual or cruel manner, imposition of the maximum sentence of life imprisonment is excessive. Any ordinary man with normal senses would be outraged upon witnessing such a scene, and the sudden derangement of mind in such circumstances is a significant mitigating factor at the stage of sentencing. [Relied upon: State of U.P. v. Lakhmi, 1998 CrL. L.J. 1411; Pulicherla Nagaraju alias Nagaraja Reddy v. State of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 444]

(iv) Distinction between Ss. 302 and 304 Part I I.P.C. — Intention as the determinative factor — The court must proceed with care and caution to determine the pivotal question of intention, which distinguishes an offence under Section 302 I.P.C. from one under Section 304 Part I or Part II I.P.C. Relevant circumstances to be considered include: the nature of the weapon used; whether it was pre-carried or picked up from the spot; whether the blow was aimed at a vital part; the degree of force employed; whether there was a sudden quarrel or premeditated attack; the existence of prior enmity; the presence of grave and sudden provocation; whether the act was done in the heat of passion; and whether the accused acted in an unusual or cruel manner. This list is not exhaustive and the court must assess the totality of circumstances in each case. [Relied upon: Pulicherla Nagaraju alias Nagaraja Reddy v. State of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 444]

RESULT :

Appeal partly allowed. The order of conviction under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. as recorded by the Trial Court is confirmed. The sentence of life imprisonment is however modified. The accused-appellant is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for nine (9) years under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. with fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine, six months' rigorous imprisonment. The office is directed to send a certified copy of this order to the Trial Court forthwith along with the lower court record.

Hon'ble Anil Kumar Srivastava-II, J.)

1. Heard Shri Rajendra Prasad Misra, learned counsel for the appellant, Shri Umesh Verma, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

2. Instant appeal has arisen against the judgment and order dated 08.02.2013 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Gonda in S.T. No.203/2011 arising out of Crime No.122/2011 under Section 304 I.P.C., P.S.-Itiyathok, District-Gonda, whereby accused-appellant was convicted under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. and was sentenced for life imprisonment and pay a fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, six months of rigorous imprisonment was also awarded.

3. Facts in brief of the present case are that complainant-Raj Kumar Pandey on 03.04.2011 submitted an information that there are no cordial relations between his parents, namely, Munshi Lal and Pushpa Devi and often they used to quarrel due to domestic problem.

4. On 02.04.2011 when complainant along with his younger brother-Akshay Kumar came back from school to home, they found that there was a lock on the main door of their home and searched for their parents.

5. On 03.04.2011 at 8:00 a.m. his father informed the complainant on his mobile phone that the key of lock is kept in the Ramayan and after getting the key, he opened the lock and went inside the house where he found their mother lying dead in the southern side of the room near court-yard and a nylon cord was wrapped around her neck.

6. Accordingly, an F.I.R. was lodged on 03.04.2011 at 9: 30 p.m., Case Crime No.122/11 under Section 302 I.P.C., P.S.-Itiyathok, District-Gonda was registered. Thereafter, a inquest report as well as site-plan was prepared by Ram Pyare, Investigating Officer, P.S.-Itiyathok, District-Gonda and post-mortem of dead body was conducted on 03.05.2011 at 3:50 p.m. by Dr. P. K. Srivastava and in the said report, the cause of death has been mentioned due to asphyxia as a result of strangulation. Following ante mortem injuries were found :-

1. Multiple abraded contusion 10cm x 5cm back of left arm.
2. Abraded contusion 2cm x 1 cm back of left elbow.

3. Ligature mark around upper part of neck obliquely placed size 30 cm x 3cm, 5cm below right ear, 5m below chin and 5cm below left ear, on dissection, Fracture Right corner of Hyoid Tissue.

4. Contusion 5sxm x 4cm on left maxillary region of face.

7. Thereafter, charge sheet was submitted by the Investigating Officer. A case at S. T. No.203/2011 arising out of Case Crime No.122/2011 under Section 304 I.P.C. has been instituted in the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Gonda.

8. Accused-appellant denied the charges and claimed trial.

9. During the trial, eight witnesses were produced from the prosecution side in order to prove the prosecution case.

10. In addition to the said fact, statement of accused-appellant under Section 313 CPC has been recorded.

11. Beside the said facts, on behalf of the accused-appellant, two witnesses, namely, Ram Karan Mishra and Salig Ram were produced and they stated that on the day of incident the appellant was not present at his home and went to attend the cremation of mother of D.W.1 who died on 01.04.2011.

12. Further from the side of the accused-appellant, defence was taken that there was a sudden provocation on the part of the accused-appellant, who found his wife in compromising position with another man and due to the said fact, he became annoyed and wrapped a nylon cord around her neck.

13. Shri Rajendra Prasad Misra, learned counsel for the appellant initially argued the appeal on merit. Subsequently, he submits that he confined his argument only on the point of sentence.

14. Learned AGA does not dispute the said suggestion made by learned counsel for the appellant.

15. From the perusal of the statement given by P.W.3-Raj Kumar Pandey, who is son of the deceased and accused, the position which emerges out is that there are no cordial relations between his parents, namely, Munshi Lal and Pushpa Devi and they often used to quarrel due to domestic problem. On 02.04.2011 complainant and his younger brother-Akshay Kumar went to school for study. When in the noon complainant came back to the house, he found that there was a lock on the main door of his house. He searched for his parents in the neighborhood but could not find them. On 03.04.2011 at 8:00 a.m. his father phoned the complainant on his mobile phone informing him about the key being kept in the Ramayan and after getting the key, he opened the lock and went inside the house where he found his mother lying dead in the southern room of court-yard, with a nylon cord wrapped around her (complainant's mother) neck.

16. Further, P.W.4-Akshay Kumar, who is younger son of the deceased and accused had also supported the prosecution version.

17. Taking into consideration the above said statement given by P.Ws.3 and 4 who are real son of the deceased and accused as well as fact that, learned counsel for the accused-appellant does not press the present appeal on merit, but confined his argument only to the extent that conviction is based on the point of sentence.

18. We are of the considered opinion that no illegality or infirmity has been done by trial Court by convicting the accused by means of the impugned judgment under challenge in the present appeal.

19. Next point which is to be considered in the present case is that "what sentence is to be awarded in the present case."

20. On appreciation of evidence on record of the present case, we agree with the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that since it is a case of sudden provocation and there was no premeditation on the part of the appellant and he had not acted in unusual manner.

21. Sentence is an important task in the matters of crime. One of the prime objectives of the criminal law is imposition of appropriate, adequate, just and proportionate sentence commensurate with the nature and gravity of crime and the manner in which the crime is done. With reference to sentencing by courts, this Court in the decision in State of U.P. vs. Shri Kishan (2005) 10 SCC 420 made these weighty observations :

"5. Undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law and society could not long endure under such serious threats. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, etc....."

7. The object should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal in achieving the avowed object of law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be.

8. Any liberal attitude by imposing meagre sentences or taking too sympathetic view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be resultwise counterproductive in the long run and against societal interest which needs to be cared for and strengthened by string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system.

9. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal".

22. In view of the above principle of law laid down by this Court, and considering the facts and circumstances of the case at hand, particularly, the fact that in the present case it is clear that there was a sudden provocation on the part of the accused-appellant, who found his wife in compromising position with another man and killed her by wrapping a nylon cord around her neck and further considering that there was no premeditation on the part of the appellant to commit the murder, we are of the view that it is a fit case to hold the offence punishable under Section 304 Part I IPC.

23. In this regard, Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of State of U. P. vs. Lakhmi 1998 CRL. L. J. 1411 held as under :-

"There can be little doubt that if the accused had witnessed any such scene, his mind would have become suddenly deranged. It is not necessary that a husband should have been hot tampered or hypersensitive to lose his equanimity by witnessing such scenes. Any ordinary man with normal senses or even sangfroid would be outraged at such a scene.

We are, therefore, inclined to afford to the respondent accused benefit of Exception I to Section 300 IPC. As the corollary, we find the respondent guilty only under Section 301 (Pare I), IPC.

In the result, we allow this appeal and set aside the judgment of the High Court, but in alteration of the conviction passed by the Sessions Court, we convict him under Section 304 (Part I), IPC. We sentence him to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of six years. We direct the Sessions Judge, Meerut to take steps to put the accused in jail for undergoing the remaining portion of the imprisonment term in accordance with the sentence imposed on him now. (Bojh Adiwasi vs. State 1999 (39) ACC 72)."

24. In Pulicherla Nagaraju alias Nagaraja Reddy v. State of A.P. (2006) 11 SCC 444, in paragraph 29, this Court has discussed the issue as to when the conviction can be converted from an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part I or 304 Part II IPC and the same is reproduced hereunder: -

"29. Therefore, the court should proceed to decide the pivotal question of intention, with care and caution, as that will decide whether the case falls under Section 302 or 304 Part I or 304 Part II. Many petty or insignificant matters -- plucking of a fruit, straying of cattle, quarrel of children, utterance of a rude word or even an objectionable glance, may lead to altercations and group clashes culminating in deaths. Usual motives like revenge, greed, jealousy or suspicion may be totally absent in such cases. There may be no intention. There may be no premeditation. In fact, there may not even be criminality. At the other end of the spectrum, there may be cases of murder where the accused attempts to avoid the penalty for murder by attempting to put forth a case that there was no intention to cause death. It is for the courts to ensure that the cases of murder punishable under Section 302, are not converted into offences punishable under Section 304 Part I/II, or cases of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, are treated as murder punishable under Section 302. The intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances: (i) nature of the weapon used; (ii) whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot; (iii) whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body; (iv) the amount of force employed in causing injury; (v) whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free for all fight; (vi) whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any premeditation; (vii) whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger; (viii) whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation; (ix) whether it was in the heat of passion; (x) whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner; (xi) whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows. The above list of circumstances is, of course, not exhaustive and there may be several other special circumstances with reference to individual cases which may throw light on the question of intention. Be that as it may."

25. So far as the question of sentence is concerned, it has already come on record that offence committed by the accused-appellant was under sudden provocation and has already been found by the Investigating Officer in the charge sheet. Relying upon the case law as stated herein above, we are of the considered view that imposition of maximum sentence of life in this case is too excessive, since charge sheet was also filed under Section 304 I.P.C. And trial Court has convicted and sentenced the accused-appellant under Section 304 I.P.C.

26. We are of the considered view that end of justice would meet if the sentence of accused-appellant is reduced upto nine years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.5000/-.

27. Accordingly, appeal is partly allowed.

29. Order of conviction as imposed by learned Trial Court is confirmed and the sentence is modified to the extent that the accused-appellant is sentenced for rigorous imprisonment for nine years under Section 304 Part I I.P.C. and pay a fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, he shall undergo for six months imprisonment.

30. Office is directed to send the certified copy of this order to learned trial Court forthwith and send the lower court record forthwith.

Legislation referred to : Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Sections 299, 300 (Exception 4), 302, 304 Part I, 304 Part II, 324

Indian Evidence Act, 1872 — Section 27 (Admissibility of disclosure statement leading to recovery)

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Section 313.

FACTS :

The appellant-accused Vijai Nandan Srivastava was a tenant of the deceased Ashok Kumar Sharma, resident of Mohalla Peepal Mandi, Agra. He had vacated the tenanted premises but had not paid seven months' arrears of rent. On 14 December 1981, at about 5.30 p.m., the deceased along with P.W.4 Jai Gopal, P.W.2 Padam Chandra Sharma (brother of deceased), and P.W.6 Kali Charan went to the house of the appellant in Saraswati Nagar, Balkeshwar, to demand the arrears of rent and the key to the premises. When the deceased demanded the rent and key, the appellant abused him; the deceased abused him in return, whereupon the appellant stabbed the deceased with a knife on his left side chest and fled towards his house. The deceased fell down in the lawn and succumbed to the injury at the spot.

The appellant was apprehended from his house by P.W.1 Head Constable Mahipal Singh, who had rushed to the spot on hearing shouts. A blood-stained knife was recovered from a heap of piston and rings lying in the courtyard of the appellant's house, at his instance and on his pointing out, which was proved by P.W.5 Narendra Singh (witness of recovery) and P.W.7 Inspector Baljit Singh (Investigating Officer). The post-mortem conducted by P.W.9 Dr. Sudhir Chandra revealed a single ante-mortem incised wound 2.5 cm × 1 cm penetrating the chest cavity below the left nipple, with the pericardium punctured and filled with clotted blood, and the vessels of the right atrium and upper right ventricle cut — death being due to shock and haemorrhage. The chemical examiner's report confirmed human blood on the knife and clothing.

The defence version, set up under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and supported by D.W.1 Smt. Pranita Srivastava (wife of the appellant), was that it was the deceased who had placed an open knife on the appellant's chest and threatened him, whereupon the appellant twisted the deceased's wrist, and during the ensuing scuffle the deceased sustained injury from his own knife and fell. This version was denied by all three eyewitnesses. The trial court, relying upon the prosecution eyewitnesses, convicted the appellant under Section 302 IPC and sentenced him to life imprisonment. The present criminal appeal was preferred against that conviction and sentence.

Questions of Law

- (i) Whether the testimony of eyewitnesses who are friends or close relatives of the deceased is liable to be discarded solely on account of such relationship or intimacy, or whether their evidence requires only closer scrutiny?
- (ii) Whether the absence of the accused's signature or thumb impression on a disclosure statement/recovery memo renders the statement inadmissible or the recovery unreliable under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872?
- (iii) Whether, in a case of a single knife blow inflicted during a sudden verbal altercation in the heat of passion — without premeditation, without repetition of blows, and without any undue advantage being taken — the offence falls under Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC so as to reduce the conviction from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part II IPC?
- (iv) What are the essential ingredients required to invoke Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC and what distinguishes Section 304 Part I from Section 304 Part II IPC in such circumstances?

Held

(i) Evidence of interested or related witnesses: The evidence of eyewitnesses who are friends or relatives of the deceased cannot be discarded merely on that ground. However, the court is required to exercise greater care and caution in scrutinising their testimony. In the present case, the ocular account of P.W.4 Jai Gopal and P.W.6 Kali Charan — whose presence on the spot was admitted by the accused himself — coupled with the evidence of the independent witness P.W.1 Head Constable Mahipal Singh and the recovery of the blood-stained knife at the instance of the appellant, inspired confidence and was sufficient to establish that it was the appellant who caused the fatal knife injury to the deceased.

(ii) Signature of accused on disclosure statement/recovery memo — not mandatory: There is no legal requirement that a disclosure statement under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act must bear the signature or thumb impression of the accused to be admissible. The earlier observation to the contrary in Jackaran Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 Cri LJ 3992, was subject to suo motu review by the Supreme Court, and the corrigendum published in 1998 clarified that no such proposition was laid down. The Apex Court in State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram, AIR 1999 SC 1776, categorically held that the Investigating Officer is not obliged to obtain the signature of the accused on the recovery memo. The recovery of the knife in the present case was fully proved by P.W.5 and P.W.7.

(iii) Application of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC — ingredients: To invoke Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC, four conditions must be satisfied: (a) the act was done without premeditation; (b) it occurred in a sudden fight; (c) it was done in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel; and (d) the offender did not take undue (i.e. unfair) advantage or act in a cruel or unusual manner. The cause of the quarrel and who first offered provocation are not relevant; the decisive factor is that the occurrence must have been sudden and unpremeditated and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Where, on a sudden quarrel, a person in the heat of the moment uses a weapon that is handy and causes a single injury — one of which proves fatal — he is entitled to the benefit of Exception 4, provided he has not acted cruelly or taken undue advantage. [Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory of Chandigarh, (1989) 2 SCC 217; Arumugam v. State, (2008) 15 SCC 590 — relied upon]

(iv) Section 304 Part I vs. Part II — distinction: Where both intent and knowledge to cause death are present, the offence is one under Section 304 Part I IPC. Where there is only knowledge — without intention to cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death — the offence falls under Section 304 Part II IPC. In the facts of the present case, the incident arose from a sudden exchange of abuses followed by an immediate scuffle in the heat of passion. The appellant caused only a single stab wound without repetition of blows, indicating he did not take undue advantage of being armed. The level of preparedness could not be characterised as premeditation. There was no intention to cause death — only knowledge that the act was likely to cause death — and accordingly the case falls under Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC read with Section 304 Part II IPC.

Result: Appeal partly allowed. Conviction under Section 302 IPC set aside and modified to one under Section 304 Part II IPC. Sentence of life imprisonment substituted by rigorous imprisonment for ten years and a fine of Rs. 20,000/-, with six months' further rigorous imprisonment in default of payment of fine. Judgment and order of the Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Agra, modified accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mukhtar Ahmad, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 12.1.1983 passed by Vth. Additional Sessions Judge, Agra in Sessions Trial No. 206 of 1982, convicting the accused under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentencing him to undergo life imprisonment.

2. The prosecution case in nut shell is that an F.I.R. was got lodged by Jai Gopal (P.W.1) on 14.12.1981 at Police Station New Agra by stating that he is originally resident of Hanumangarhi, Hathras but presently residing in Mohalla Peepal Mandi, Police Station Chatta with his brother in law Ram Briksha Chimniwale; that he had friendship with Ahsok Kumar s/o Hari Shankar Sharma (deceased), resident of Peepal Mandi; that Vijai Nandan Srivastava- appellant was a tenant of Ashok Kumar and had not given rent for about seven months; that the house was kept locked by him though he was not residing therein and was residing in a rented house in Saraswati Nagar, Balkeshwar; that on the day of incident i.e. on 14.12.1981 at about 5.30 p.m. he along-with Ashok Kumar, Padam and Kali Charan went to the house of Vijai Nandan Srivastava to get the rent and key and when they reached at the door of his house he came out. Ashok Kumar demanded the rent and key from him but he asked "which rent and which key" and started abusing. Ashok Kumar too abused him on which Vijai Nandan Srivastava stabbed in his left side chest by knife and thereafter he ran away towards his house. Ashok Kumar fell down in the lawn and succumbed to the injury sustained. On their shouting people of nearby and police personnel came there. Vijai Nandau Srivastava was caught by the police . On this information an FIR (Ex Ka 2) bearing case crime No.509/81 under section 302 I.P.C. was registered against accused appellant Viajy Nandan Srivastava by PW 1 Constable Krishna Baboo Chauhan. Entry in G.D. was also made by him. Investigation was entrusted to Inspector Baljit Singh (P.W.7). He reached on the spot, prepared site plan Ex. Ka 9. On the pointing out of the accused-appellant recovery of knife was made from his house and Fard Ex. Ka 2 was prepared. He also took blood stained and plain mud from the spot and and prepared fard Ex. Ka-8. Inquest of deceased was also conducted by him. Clothes recovered from the dead body, knife, sample of blood stained and plain mud were sent for chemical analysis thereafter. Dead body was sent for postmortem through constable Mahipal Singh PW 3. Dr Sudhir Chandra PW 9 conducted post mortem on the dead body of deceased. As per chemical analyst report, on all the articles there was human blood, however, blood group could not be ascertained on account of having been disintegrated. He also recorded the statements of the witnesses. After concluding investigation he submitted the charge-sheet against accused appellant under section 302 I.P.C. Learned Magistrate concerned committed the case to the court of sessions, where charge under Section 302 I.P.C. was framed against accused appellant, who pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

3. In order to bring home the charge of murder against appellant the prosecution has examined nine witnesses. P.W.1 Head constable 280 Mahi Pal Singh is the witness who after being relieved from the V.I.P. duty was going with constable Kamlesh Kumar . Hearing the shouting he had rushed to the spot just after the incident. He had caught the accused from his house. P.W. 2 Padam Chandra Sharma is the brother of the deceased. He is examined as eye witness. P.W. 3 Constable 1324 Mahipal Singh had taken the dead body of the deceased in sealed cover to the Post Mortem House. . P.W. 4 Jai Gopal is the first informant. He has also deposed an eye witness account of the incident. P.W. 5 Narendra Singh is the witness of recovery of knife at the instance of the accused-appellant. P.W. 6 Kali Charan was also produced as an eye witness of the occurrence. P.W. 7 Baljit Singh is the Investigating Officer who had conducted the investigation and submitted the charge-sheet. Constable Krishna Baboo Chauhan P.W. 8 is a witness who had made the G.D. Entry and lodged F.I.R. against the accused-appellant. Dr. Sudhir Chandra P.W. 9 is a witness who conducted post-mortem on the dead body of the deceased. He has proved the post mortem report Ex. Ka 16.

4. After concluding the prosecution evidence statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded. He admitted that he resided in the house of deceased as tenant but vacated the same. Though it was admitted that rent was due but he has specifically denied about putting the lock thereon. Except Padam presence of first informant Jai Gopal and Kalicharan on the place of occurrence was also admitted. He further stated that it was the deceased who had put open knife on his chest and demanded rent forcibly, then he caught the hand of Ashok Kumar in which he was having the knife and twisted it. Thereafter scuffling took place between them, in which the knife of deceased stabbed in his own left side chest, consequently he fell on the ground and scummed to the injuries sustained. Thereafter Jai Gopal and Kali Charan ran away from there. He denied from making recovery of knife on his instance. It was also stated that deceased Ashok Kumar was facing trial under Section 376 and 307 I.P.C, Kali Charan was also accused in a case under Section 307 I.P.C. and Jai Gopal was also an accused in a case under Section 307 and 324 I.P.C. As such all the three were history- sheeted criminals. D.W.1 Parinita Srivastava, wife of the accused was examined from the side of defence.

5. Learned Trial Judge relying on the evidence adduced on behalf of the parties and in particular, the deposition of the eye witnesses found the appellant guilty and sentenced him to under go rigorous imprisonment for life and story set up by the defence was dis-believed. Aggrieved by that judgment and order of conviction and sentence, the instant appeal has been preferred.

6. We have heard Mr. Mewa Lal Shukla, amicus curiae for the appellant, Mr. Mahendra Bahadur Yadav, learned A.G.A. and gone through the record .

7. Perusal of the record indicates that it is a case where the happening of incident is more or less admitted. It is not disputed that appellant resided in the house of deceased as a tenant. It is also not disputed that the accommodation was vacated by the appellant but as per the prosecution version it was locked by him while as per defence version no lock was lying thereon. There is also no dispute that seven months rent was due against the appellant. Place of occurrence and time of incident is also admitted. The defence has not denied the presence of the prosecution witnesses Jai Gopal PW4 and Kali Charan PW6 on the spot at the time of occurrence while presence of Padam PW2, brother of deceased has specifically been denied. It is also not in dispute that deceased died on the spot by sustaining injury of knife. The main dispute is that as per prosecution version appellant stabbed Ashok Kumar with knife on his left side chest which resulted in his death while as per defence version, the deceased, in scuffle with appellant sustained injuries from his own knife which proved fatal.

8. Challenge to the impugned judgment inter-alia is primarily on the following grounds-

A) That eye witnesses PW 4 Jai Gopal and P.W. 6 Kali Charan are close friends of the deceased as such these witnesses are highly interested witnesses but conviction is based merely on the evidence of aforesaid witnesses, which is not trust worthy and reliable, as such conviction of appellant is liable to be set aside .

B) That P.W.2 Padam Chandra Sharma, brother of the deceased was not present on the spot otherwise he would be the first informant of the incident. Further, he was serving as Lower Division Clerk in Hindi Sansthan and was on duty on the date of incidence though he in his deposition before the court has stated that he had taken half day leave on that day but no such proof is made is made available on record. (C) That the incident has not occurred as per prosecution version but deceased sustained injuries at his own.

(D) That no recovery of knife was made at the instance of the appellant and fact of bearing no signatures of accused on it is sufficient to prove the same as fake.

9. Learned A.G.A. has denied these arguments by saying that prosecution witnesses are natural and truthful and they have given the true version of the occurrence. The prosecution case is constant with the facts disclosed in the FIR. The accused was arrested from his own house and weapon of assault i.e. knife was recovered on his pointing out from his own house which was having blood stains. As per chemical examination report there was human blood on it; that P.W. 2 was also present on the spot and learned Trial Court has rightly relied upon the prosecution evidence. It is also argued that recovery of weapon was proved by P.W. 5 and P.W.67 and mere on the ground of non bearing signature of accused, the same cannot be disbelieved.

10. Admittedly the friendship and intimacy of P.W. 1 Jai Gopal and P.W. 6 Kalicharan and relationship of P.W.2 Padam Chandra Sharma being brother of deceased are not in dispute. But we are of the view that the evidence of witnesses cannot be discarded merely on such ground, of course much care and caution shall be required in scrutinizing their evidence.

11. The sequence of events and manner of occurrence are properly revealed by the evidence of following witnesses adduced on behalf of prosecution.

12. The prosecution has examined Head Constable Mahipal Singh PW1 as an independent witness, who in his deposition has stated that on 14.12.1981 he along-with constable Kamlesh Kumar was coming after being relieved from V.I.P. duty. They heard shouting by people "Chakoo Maar Diya Khoon Kar Diya" upon which they rushed towards the place of occurrence where he saw the deceased lying dead on the ground having a lot of blood. The culprit was said to be in his house and he caught him there from.

13. P.W.2 Padam Chandra Sharma, elder brother of the accused has stated that along-with Ashok Kumar Sharma (deceased) Kalicharan and Jai Gopal had gone to the house of the accused in Mohalla Saraswati Nagar to demand the arrears of rent and key of the tenamant. When Ashok Kumar demanded the rent and key from the appellant accused but he started abusing him upon which Ashok Kumar also abused him. Then accused stabbed by knife towards left side of the chest of the deceased and soon thereafter rushed to his house. Ashok Kumar Sharma succumbed to the injuries sustained.

14. PW 4 Jai Gopal, is the first informant and the eye witness of the incident . He is permanent resident of Hathras but at the time of occurrence was living with his brother-in-law Ram Chandra in Agra. He happened to be a friend of the deceased. This witness showing his presence on the spot narrated that it was the accused who has committed the murder of the deceased by causing knife blow on his chest and rushed towards his house from where he was detained by the police. Blood stained knife was also recovered on his pointing out from the heap of piston and rings etc. lying in the lawn of his own house. He has also proved the F.I.R. which was got lodged by him.

15. P.W.5 Narendra Singh has stated that weapon of assault i.e. knife was got recovered by the accused on his pointing out from the heap of piston and rings etc. lying in the court yard of his own house. He has proved the recovery memo of knife, Ex-Ka-8 prepared on the spot.

16. P.W.6 Kalicharan is also an eye witness of the occurrence. He by showing his presence along-with Ashok Kumar and Padam Chandra Sharma at the place of occurrence has stated that Ashok Kumar Sharma demanded rent and key from the appellant but accused-appellant denied and abused Ashok Kumar upon which Ashok Kumar also abused him on which accused Vijai Nandau Srivastava committed murder of Ashok Kumar by causing knife blow in the left side of chest and after causing injury accused-appellant rushed towards his house. Ashok Kumar after running 2-3 steps fell down on the ground and succumbed to the injuries. He has also stated that when accused caused knife blow on the deceased at that time Padam and Jai Gopal were also present. They all shouted on which two police constables came on the spot. We informed them that accused was inside his house on which he was detained by PW1 constable Mahipal Singh there from. He has also narrated that inquest of the dead body was conducted on the spot by the police. In his cross examination he has admitted that he was arrested in a false case lodged by Ram Kishan Topiwala in which he was bailed out. He has denied that he was ever convicted in any case of pick-pocketing. He further stated in his cross examination that it was wrong to allege that Ashok Kumar with a view to kill Vijai Nandau Srivastava attacked on him.

17. P.W.7 Baljit Singh, the Investigating Officer has narrated that after lodging of F.I.R. he arrived on the spot where inquest of dead body of Ashok was conducted on his dictation by S.I. P.P. Karnwal and has proved the inquest report and other papers prepared at that time. He has also stated that on interrogation by police accused had stated that knife by which he had committed murder of Ashok Kumar Sharma was hidden in the heap of piston and rings in his house and got recovered blood stained knife. According to him accused-appellant further stated that it was the knife by which he had caused injury to Ashok Kumar; that the blade of the blood stained knife was covered with cotton and thereafter it was sealed; that signature of witnesses were obtained on the Fard. He also stated that statement of witnesses were recorded and after concluding investigation charge-sheet was submitted. He has proved the charge-sheet.

18. P.W.9 Dr. Sudhir Chandra is the witness who has conducted autopsy on the dead body of the deceased. He found following injury on the body of deceased:-

"Anti mortem incised wound 2.5 cm x 1 cm up to chest cavity deep 1.5 cm lat. and below the left nipple. Pericardium was punctured and full of clotted blood. Lower part Vessels of right Antrim and upper part of right Ventricle were cut down".

19. It was stated by him that death was caused due to shock and hemorrhage on account of anti-mortem injuries. He has also proved post-mortem report. In his cross examination he further stated that direction of injury was from upward to downward. It is also opined that heart of the deceased was also punctured due to the knife injury.

20. Defence case is that it was the deceased Ashok Kumar who puts open knife on the chest of the appellant on which appellant twisted his hand in which he was having the knife and during scuffle deceased sustained injury by his own knife. It would be proper to mention here that a suggestion of this effect was given to the eye witnesses PW-2, PW-4 and PW-6 that deceased himself was having a knife and tried to assault the appellant-accused, who twisted the hand of deceased in which it stabbed the left chest of deceased and all the witnesses denied from such happening.

21. D.W.1 Smt. Pranita Srivastava was produced to establish the defence version. She also admitted that they were tenant in the house of deceased Ashok Kumar but it was vacated unlocked, however rent for 7 months was due on them. As the deceased was criminal, he wanted to extract money in the garb of rent. She also stated that occurrence took place at about 6.00 p.m. After hearing the abuse, she came out from her house and saw that abuses were being exchanged between her husband and Ashok Kumar. That Ashok Kumar put opened knife on the chest of her husband and threatened him that he would recover the rent on the point of knife. Her husband twisted the wrist of Ashok Kumar in which he was having knife on which Kali Charan, Jai Gopal and two others made an attempt to pounce over her husband, in which Ashok Kumar fell down and his own opened knife entered into his left side chest. Thereafter she and her husband came into the room of their house. It was also stated by her that Padam Kumar was not present on the spot.

22. Adverting to the ocular evidence of PW-4 Jai Gopal and PW-6 Kali Charan (even if the evidence of PW2 Padam Chand Sharma is ignored) coupled with the evidence of PW1 Constable Mahi Pal Singh and fact of recovery of weapon of assault, knife are sufficient to show that appellant-accused is the person, who caused injuries on vital part (chest) of the deceased, which proved fatal and the defense version that deceased sustained injury by his own knife does not appear to be believable. As per suggestion given to the eye witnesses deceased sustained injuries by his own when his hand was twisted by the appellant-accused. There was nothing about scuffling or felling down of deceased. First time in the statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. appellant disclosed improved version that scuffling had taken place between appellant and deceased in which deceased sustained injury by his own knife then fell down but as per D.W.1 deceased fell down on open knife kept by him which entered in his left side chest. These three versions shows that defence set up by the appellant could have not been established. It cannot be disputed that the prosecution has to prove his case beyond any reasonable doubt. If the prosecution succeeds in proving its case and defence has not succeeded in proving its case in that situation too the accused persons shall be held guilty. In this case presence of the witnesses of fact P.W. 4 Jai Gopal, first informant and P.W.6 Kalicharan is admitted. They have narrated the prosecution story and the way of causing injury by appellant and their evidence supported with other evidence inspire confidence. The statement of D.W.1 is not reliable as it is a changed and improved version of defence which has been tried to be established by D.W.1. The direction of injury was found downward from upward and doctor has suggested that such type of injury was possible to be inflicted by the knife, which was shown in the court. Further the knife was recovered from the house of the appellant containing blood stains at his instance. The recovery of knife and disclosure statement in which appellant admitted his guilt, have been very well proved by PW5 Narendra Singh and PW7 Baljit Singh Investigating officer in their oral testimonies.

23. We shall now consider whether there is any merit in the argument that the Investigating Officer must obtain the signature of the accused in the recovery memo to make it admissible. In Jackaran Singh v. State of Punjab 1995 Cri LJ 3992 originally there was an observation by the Apex Court to the effect that the failure to obtain the signature in the disclosure statement affects the reliability of the same. The said case was decided on April 20, 1995. The Apex Court subsequently held that the observation contained to that effect in that decision was to be reviewed. Therefore, the registry was directed to post the case before the same Bench for suo motu review. It was heard on 25-4-1996. The Supreme Court issued a corrigendum, which is reported in Jackaran Singh v. The State of Punjab (1998 J. V. (1) (Ker) pp 1 to 5). It reads as follows :--

Page	Instead of	Read
Page 6	does not bear the signatures or thumb	was made long time after the Line 8	impression of the appellant. Even,	appellant was taken into custody to 17	the recovery memo of the revolver and the cartridges, Ex. P-9/A, which is also attested by Yash Pal and Sukhdev Singh, ASI does not bear either the signatures or the thumb impression of the accused. The absence of the signatures or the thumb impression of an of an accused on the disclosure of the Evidence Act detracts materially from the authenticity and the reliability of the disclosure statement.	by the investigating agency and it is doubtful whether the same was voluntarily made by appellant

24. So, the legal effect is that there is no dictum laid down in Jackaran Singh's case (supra) to the effect that the statement made by an accused to be admissible under Section 27 must contain his signature or thumb impression. These aspects were elaborately considered in Natarajan v. Union Territory of Pondicherry 2003 Cri LJ 2372. Further, in State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram AIR 1999 SC 1776 the Apex Court held that the Investigating Officer is not obliged to obtain the signature of an accused. Since the Apex Court had suo motu reviewed the observations contained in Jackaran Singh's case (supra), that decision is not an authority to hold that to accept a statement under Section 27, it must contain the signature or thumb impression of the accused. It only makes that part of such statement relevant and admissible in evidence as would fall within the ambit of that section. Further knife and clothes of deceased were sent for chemical analysis where from it is reported that the blood on all these articles was human blood. As such the submission advanced by learned counsel for appellant has no substance

25. In our view learned Trial Judge after thread bare analysis of the evidence of both sides and also taking into account the entire material brought on record arrived at a correct conclusion that it was the appellant-accused who stabbed the deceased resulting his death. The prosecution had succeeded in establishing its case beyond all reasonable doubt against the accused-appellant. We have no reason to differ from the finding recorded by learned Additional Session Judge as such we also endorse the same view.

26. Learned counsel for appellant has lastly contended that the matter in hand does not fall within section 302 I.P.C. and considering single injury and all round facts, at the most it was a case under section 324 I.P.C. But learned counsel for the appellant has failed to demonstrate as to how this case shall come within the ambit of section 324 I.P.C. Hence we found no force in his arguments.

27. The question however still remains as to the nature of the offence committed by the accused and whether it falls under Exception 4 of Section 300, IPC.

In the case of Surinder Kumar vs Union territory of Chandigarh (1989)2 SCC 217, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"7. To invoke this Exception four requirements must be satisfied, namely, (i) it was a sudden fight; (ii) there was no premeditation; (iii) the act was done in a heat of passion; and (iv) The assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. The cause of the quarrel is not relevant nor is it relevant who offered the provocation or started the assault. The number of wounds caused during the occurrence is not a decisive factor but what is important is that the occurrence must have been sudden and unpremeditated and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Of course, the offender must not have taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. Where, on a sudden quarrel, a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries, one of which proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of this Exception provided he has not acted cruelly."

28. Further in the case of Arumugam v. State,(2008) 15 SCC 590 at page 595 in support of the proposition of law that under what circumstances Exception 4 to Section 300, IPC can be invoked if death is caused, it has been explained as under:-

"18. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation; (b) in a sudden fight; (c) without the offender's having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner; and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the 'fight' occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in the Penal Code, 1860. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in cruel or unusual manner. The expression 'undue advantage' as used in the provision means 'unfair advantage'."

29. Thus, if there is intent and knowledge then the same would be a case of Section 304 Part I and if it is only a case of knowledge and not intention to cause murder and bodily injury then the same would fall under Section 304 Part II. We are inclined to accept the view that in the facts and circumstances of the present case, it cannot be said that the appellant/accused had any intention of causing the death of the deceased when he committed the act in question. The incident took place out of sudden fight and scuffling, hence the accused is entitled to the benefit of Section 300 Exception 4 of IPC.

30. In this matter it is a fact that there was exchange of abuses and just there after sudden scuffling took place between appellant and deceased in heat of passion. Level of preparedness namely being armed with knife was not such that it could be called a premeditation attack, coupled with this fact also that appellant caused a single stab injury. Absence of any repetition of blow clearly reveals that the appellant did not take any undue advantage of his having been armed with knife or having acted in any cruel or unusual manner. Thus, in entirety, considering the factual scenario of the case on hand, the evidence on record and in the background of legal principles laid down by Apex Court in the cases referred to above, we are inclined to hold that the case of appellant comes under Exception 4 to section 300 IPC. and as such, the appropriate conviction of the appellant would be under Section 304 Part II, IPC instead of Section 302 IPC. Consequently the conviction of appellant is modified from 302 IPC into one under section 304 (II) IPC, sentencing him to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 10 years with fine of (Rs. 20,000/-) rupees twenty thousand. In case of default of fine, he shall further undergo six months rigorous imprisonment.

31. The judgment and order impugned is modified up to the extent indicated above.

32. Accordingly the appeal is hereby partly allowed.

Legislation referred to Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Ss. 34, 302; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – S. 313.

CHARGE AND SENTENCE IMPOSED BY TRIAL COURT :

Each of the three accused-appellants — Ali Ahmad, Zameel and Abdul Sattar — was convicted under Section 302 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Etawah in S.T. No. 20 of 2000, arising out of Case Crime No. 337 of 1999, P.S. Kotwali, District Etawah, and sentenced to life imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 5,000/- each, with a default stipulation of one year additional rigorous imprisonment in case of non-payment of fine.

FACTS :

The prosecution case originated from a written First Information Report (Ext. Ka. 1) lodged by Mohd. Arif (P.W. 1), son of the deceased, at P.S. Kotwali, District Etawah on 24.06.1999. The FIR was registered at 9.35 A.M. as Case Crime No. 337 of 1999 under Section 302 IPC. The motive disclosed in the FIR was a dispute over construction of shops in a graveyard situated near an overhead water tank on the bye-pass road at Etawah. Appellant Ali Ahmad had been constructing shops in this graveyard, assisted by the other two appellants Zameel and Abdul Sattar. The City Magistrate, Etawah, issued a stay order on the construction. The appellants suspected that the stay order was procured at the instance of the deceased Mohd. Israel (first informant's father), who allegedly intrigued with Bashiruddin, the then Mutawalli (manager) of the graveyard. On 23.06.1999 at 10.30 A.M., the appellants came to the saw mill of the deceased and warned him that he had deprived them of their livelihood by getting the construction stopped and he would have to face consequences.

On 24.06.1999 at approximately 8.30 A.M., the deceased Mohd. Israel was proceeding to his saw mill from his residence on a scooter. He was being followed at some distance by his brother Mohd. Afzaal (P.W. 3, the star eye-witness) and the latter's friend Chand on a motorcycle. When the deceased reached in front of Nafees Haji's National Road Lines Transport, the appellants, who had laid in ambush behind two trucks, suddenly appeared on the scene accompanied by one unknown person. Abdul Sattar gave a kick blow to the scooter of the deceased, stopping it, and exhorted Ali Ahmad and Zameel to kill him. Ali Ahmad and Zameel thereupon fired upon the deceased using country-made pistols, causing him to fall to the ground. When Mohd. Afzaal (P.W. 3) and Chand challenged the assailants, the appellants fired shots in the air and escaped from the scene. Mohd. Arif (P.W. 1) arrived at the spot within a minute of the incident, having heard the sound of firing from a nearby saw mill where he had gone to arrange labourers. The deceased was taken to the District Hospital, Etawah in a Jeep by P.W. 3 and P.W. 1. On the way to hospital, the deceased reportedly told P.W. 1 that Zameel and Ali Ahmad had fired on him after Abdul Sattar stopped his scooter. The deceased expired before reaching the hospital, being declared dead at the hospital.

Post-mortem examination was conducted on the body of the deceased Mohd. Israel on 24.06.1999 at 5.00 P.M. at District Hospital, Etawah by Dr. M.M. Arya (P.W. 2), who found three ante-mortem firearm injuries: (i) Gunshot wound of entry 1.5 cm × 2 cm, thoracic cavity deep, right side of back, 19 cm from nipple, with blackening and charring in 3 cm area; (ii) Gunshot wound of exit, front of chest, left, 3 cm below left nipple, measuring 3 cm × 1.5 cm; (iii) Firearm wound 5 cm × 2 cm, skull deep, 5 cm above right eyebrow, lacerated, with blackening in 1 cm area. The doctor opined that death was caused by shock and haemorrhage resulting from the ante-mortem firearm injuries and that the injuries could have been caused around 8.30 A.M. on 24.06.1999.

Seven prosecution witnesses were examined: P.W. 1 Mohd. Arif (first informant and son of deceased); P.W. 2 Dr. M.M. Arya (proved post-mortem report Ext. Ka. 2-A); P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal (brother of deceased and star eye-witness, proved occurrence); P.W. 4 Head Constable Sobaran Singh (proved Check FIR Ext. Ka. 3 and GD entry Ext. Ka. 4); P.W. 5 Harshvardhan Nagaich, first Investigating Officer (proved site plan Ext. Ka. 5 and memo of simple and blood-stained soil Ext. Ka. 6); P.W. 6 S.S.I. Vikramjeet Singh, second Investigating Officer (took over on 21.07.1999 and filed charge sheets Ext. Ka. 6 and Ka. 7); P.W. 7 Constable Chiranji Lal (proved inquest report Ext. Ka. 8 and ancillary papers Ext. Ka. 9 to 12). No defence evidence was led. The appellants in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied their involvement and claimed false implication at the instance of and in consultation with Bashiruddin.

CONTENTIONS OF THE APPELLANTS :

- (i) None of the prosecution witnesses of fact actually witnessed the occurrence; all witnesses are interested, partisan or close relatives of the deceased and their testimony is wholly unreliable.
- (ii) None of the prosecution witnesses of fact has been named as a witness in the inquest report.
- (iii) The theory that the deceased narrated the incident to P.W. 1 (his son) and P.W. 3 (his brother) on the way to hospital, identifying the appellants as the assailants, is an afterthought and a result of deliberation: given that the post-mortem report reveals that the heart and lungs of the deceased were lacerated causing massive haemorrhage, the deceased could not have been in a position to utter a single word after sustaining such injuries.
- (iv) The investigation is riddled with laches and the testimony of witnesses is full of contradictions; the prosecution case does not inspire confidence and no conviction can be based upon it.

HELD :

(i) Quality of testimony of solitary eye-witness — Primacy of quality over quantity — It is the quality of testimony of a witness that gets primacy and not its quantity. The testimony of a solitary eye-witness, after cautious appraisal of facts and circumstances of the case, if found to be based on solid consistency intensifying its creditworthiness and proving the occurrence unambiguously, is sufficient to sustain a conviction. In the present case, the testimony of P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal, who was present on the spot at the time of the incident at a distance of 20-25 paces from the deceased, is found to be consistent, clinching and wholly reliable. He described every detail of the incident in his examination-in-chief and these details stood the test of cross-examination without any material contradiction or adverse circumstance having surfaced. He demonstrated the physical position of the deceased at the time of the attack (prostrate, face down, one leg entangled in the scooter) in court, a detail that is self-explanatory and corroborates his actual presence at the spot. His testimony carries ample weight and is sufficient to sustain the conviction of the appellants.

(ii) Testimony of a relative of the deceased — Not inherently unreliable; not to be treated as interested witness without proof of malafide — The mere fact that a witness is a close relative of the deceased does not, by itself, render his testimony unreliable or tainted. A relative who happens to be a natural witness of the incident cannot altogether be regarded as an 'interested' witness so as to discard his testimony. The settled legal position is that unless it is specifically shown that the witness is directly interested in securing the conviction of the accused and is acting with malafide intent or bias against the appellants, the relationship of the witness to the victim alone will not suffice to render his testimony wholly unreliable. In the present case, no evidence or circumstance has been brought on record to establish that P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal bore any grudge or malafide against the appellants or was otherwise motivated to falsely implicate them and spare the real culprits. The contention that his testimony is tainted by reason of relationship is accordingly rejected. [Relied upon: Gurjit Singh alias Gora v. State of Haryana, (2015) 2 SCC (Cri) 624]

(iii) Dying declaration / statement of deceased to witnesses — Even if excluded, does not affect conviction based on eye-witness account — Even if the portion of the testimony of P.W. 1 and P.W. 3 to the effect that the deceased Mohd. Israel told them on the way to hospital that the appellants had fired on him after Abdul Sattar stopped his scooter — is excluded from consideration (on the basis of the medical argument that a person with lacerated heart and lungs could not have spoken) — it has no adverse impact upon the prosecution case. This is because the occurrence has been independently, consistently and reliably proved by the direct eye-witness account of P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal, who personally witnessed the entire incident from a distance of 20-25 paces. The dying declaration-like narration is not the sole plank of the prosecution case and its exclusion does not create any infirmity in the proof of the occurrence.

(iv) Non-mention of prosecution witnesses in inquest report — Not fatal to prosecution case — The absence of the names of the prosecution witnesses of fact (P.W. 1 and P.W. 3) from the inquest report does not by itself render the prosecution case doubtful or falsify the testimony of these witnesses. The inquest report (Ext. Ka. 8) was proved by P.W. 7 Constable Chiranji Lal and was found to be genuine, innocuous and complete in all material particulars, disclosing the case crime number, sections of IPC, and the fact that the inquest was completed around 11.00 A.M. on 24.06.1999. Non-mention of witness names in the inquest report is not a ground sufficient to discredit the consistent, cogent and reliable testimony of the eye-witness.

(v) Motive — Established from FIR; corroborates prosecution case — The motive for the crime is clearly established from the FIR itself. The appellants suspected that the City Magistrate's stay order on the construction of shops in the graveyard was procured at the instance of the deceased Mohd. Israel. On 23.06.1999, the day preceding the murder, the appellants had visited the saw mill of the deceased and openly warned him that he had deprived them of their livelihood and would have to face consequences. This prior threat, followed by the murder the very next morning in a pre-planned ambush, establishes the motive and the pre-meditation of the appellants. While motive loses its independent significance in the presence of direct eye-witness testimony, its establishment strengthens the prosecution case and negatives the theory of false implication.

(vi) Medical evidence — Consistent with ocular account; confirms firearm injuries at relevant time — The post-mortem report (Ext. Ka. 2-A) proved by Dr. M.M. Arya (P.W. 2) discloses three ante-mortem firearm injuries on the body of the deceased, including a gunshot wound of entry with blackening and charring at the back of the right side of the chest (indicating firing at close range) and a lacerated firearm wound above the right eyebrow with blackening. The doctor's opinion that these injuries could have been caused around 8.30 A.M. on 24.06.1999 by firearm was never challenged by the appellants in cross-examination. The nature and location of the injuries are consistent with the manner of assault described by P.W. 3. The medical testimony accordingly corroborates the ocular account of the incident.

(vii) FIR — Prompt; not ante-timed; consistent with inquest and investigation papers — The FIR was lodged at 9.35 A.M. on 24.06.1999, barely about an hour after the incident which occurred at 8.30 A.M. The FIR is prompt, consistent in its details, and contains no hallmarks of ante-timing or deliberation. The inquest report (Ext. Ka. 8) was completed at 11.00 A.M. on the same day and contains the case crime number and relevant details in consistent ink and handwriting, establishing that the FIR pre-dated the inquest. No circumstance or witness testimony suggests that the FIR was lodged after the inquest report was prepared. The investigation was fair and upto the mark; the site plan (Ext. Ka. 5) was prepared at the spot in the presence of P.W. 1 and P.W. 3; and the blood-stained soil, simple soil and blood-stained clothes of the first informant were properly seized and proved.

RESULT :

All Criminal Appeals dismissed as devoid of merit. The judgment and order of conviction dated 26.09.2006 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Etawah in S.T. No. 20 of 2000 convicting the appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and sentencing each of them to life imprisonment with fine of Rs. 5,000/- is upheld. Appellants Ali Ahmad and Zameel, already in jail, shall serve out their remaining sentences. Appellant Abdul Sattar, who was on bail, has had his bail bond cancelled and sureties discharged; he shall be taken into custody forthwith to serve out his remaining sentence. A certified copy of this order shall be sent to the concerned Trial Court for necessary information and follow-up action.

Cases Referred:

Gurjit Singh alias Gora and Another v. State of Haryana, (2015) 2 SCC (Cri) 624 – Criminal Appeal No. 519 of 2010 (SC).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Krishna Narayana, J.)

1. Since both the aforementioned criminal appeals arise out of the same judgement and order they are being heard and decided together by a common judgment.

2. Criminal appeal no. 1317 of 2008 has been preferred by Santosh while criminal appeal no. 1268 of 2008 has been filed by Smt. Kamla Devi against the judgement dated 15.02.2008 and order dated 16.02.2008 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Mathura in Sessions Trial no.422 of 2005 (State Vs. Santosh and two others) arising out of case crime no. 18 of 2005, under Sections 498A, 304B, 316, 201 IPC and Section 3/4 D.P.Act, P.S. Raya, District Mathura by which the appellants have been convicted under Section 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304 B IPC and sentenced to two years imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1000/- each under Section 3/4 D.P.Act, two years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1000/- each under Section 498A IPC and imprisonment for life under Section 304B IPC. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently. It was further provided that in case the appellant committed default of payment of fine they shall be liable to one month additional imprisonment on each count.

3. The facts of the case lie within a very narrow compass. Complainant Devi Prasad lodged a written report Ex. Ka-1 at P.S. Raya, District Mathura on 30.01.2005 at about 22.10 hours stating therein that he had got his daughter Madhuri married to Santosh Kumar son of Yaadram, r/o Karav on 22.04.2000 and he had spent about Rs. Two Lakhs in the marriage of his daughter and given dowry according to his status and financial means, however her husband Santosh, mother-in-law Smt. Kamla Devi and Sister in law Smt. Guddi were not satisfied and they were putting pressure upon his daughter Madhuri to ask her father to pay Rs. 50,000/- as additional dowry. After the marriage, they started torturing his daughter Madhuri for non fulfillment of their additional demand of dowry of Rs. 50,000/- cash. With a view to settle the matter amicably the dispute was repeatedly referred to "panchayats" held in Karav village and in Gupta Colony and the complainant had assured that he will fulfill the demand and had further told his daughter that she had no option but to live with her husband as she was destined to be tortured in her matrimonial home. It was also stated in the written complaint that on 29.01.05 at about 11a.m.-12p.m. Santosh Kumar- husband, Smt. Kamla Devi-mother in law and Smt. Guddi-sister in law of his daughter Madhuri had attempted to commit her murder by pouring kerosene oil on her and setting her ablaze as a result of which she was severely burnt and under the pressure of the villagers they had taken her for treatment to Swarna Hospital, Mathura and when the managent of the hospital informed him about the incident they had run away from there and got his daughter admitted in S.N.Hospital, Agra, where her treatment was going on. Before the death of the victim, the Doctor had got her dying declaration recorded before the City Magistrate Ashok Kumar Agarwal.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid written complaint case crime no. 18 of 2005 under Section 498A, 307 IPC and Section 3/4 D.P.Act was registered on 30.01.2005 at 22.10 hours against Santosh, Smt. Kamla Devi and Smt. Guddi. Complainant's daughter Smt. Madhuri died on 13.02.2005 at about 8.40 a.m. during treatment where upon the case was converted to one under Section 304B IPC. The Investigating Officer of the case prepared the inquest report and send the dead body of the deceased for post mortem and after collecting the relevant documents and evidence submitted charge sheet under Sections 498A, 304B, 316, 201 IPC and Section 3/4 D.P.Act against husband Santosh Kumar, mother in law Smt. Kamla Devi and sister in law Smt. Guddi before the C.J.M. Mathura who after complying with the mandatory requirement of Section 207 Cr.P.C.submitted the case to the Court of Sessions by the committal order dated 28.07.2005 for trial of the accused from where it was made over to the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 3 Mathura and registered as S.T. No. 422 of 2005. Charge was framed against all the accused on 02.09.2005 under Section 498A, 304BIPC and Section 3/4 D.P.Act. The accused denied the charge and claimed trial. The prosecution in order to prove the charges framed against the accused examined as many as nine witnesses, namely, PW-1 Devi Prasad, PW-2 Dr. A.P.Singh, PW-3 Ratan Lal, PW-4 Dr. Rahul Sah, PW-5 Ashok Kumar Agarwal, PW-6 Dr. R.L.Sharma, PW-7 Dr. A.A.Khan, PW-8 Vipin Kumar Mishra and PW-9 Anendra Singh. The documentary evidece adduced by the prosecution has been referred to and dealt with in detail by the trial judge in the impugned judgement and the same need not be reproduced. Sri Santosh in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case and apart from the alleging false implication stated that at the time of the incident he was not present in his house and as soon as he got information of the occurrence, he reached his house and took his wife Madhuri to the hospital for treatment. Appellant Kamla Devi apart from denying the prosecution case further stated that she had been living separately from her son Santosh and she is not aware about the circumstances under which the incident had taken place.

5. After considering the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties before him and scanning the evidence on record learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.3 Mathura convicted the accused Santosh and Smt. Kamla Devi and awarded them the aforesaid sentences. Smt. Guddi was however acquitted of all the charges.

6. Learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the conviction of the appellants recorded by the trial court and the sentence awarded to them on the ground that the only prosecution witness PW-1 Devi Prasad, the complainant of this case and the father of the deceased Madhuri having failed to support the prosecution case during the trial and declared hostile, the appellant's conviction solely on the basis of the dying declaration of the deceased which neither inspires any confidence nor stands corroborated from any other evidence on record cannot be sustained. Even otherwise the victim Madhuri who was admitted to the hospital with hundred percent burn injuries could not have been in a fit mental condition to give her dying declaration. He further submitted that even if the dying declaration of the deceased is accepted and the facts stated therein are believed to be gospel truth there being no whisper of any allegation in her dying declaration about any demand of dowry from her or her parents or her being tortured or treated with cruelty for non fulfillment of any demand of dowry and there being no other reliable evidence on record, even remotely indicating that there was any demand of dowry either from the deceased or her father or that she was tortured or treated with cruelty on account of non fulfillment of demand of dowry soon before her death, the appellant's conviction under Section 304B, 498A and 3/4 D.P. Act cannot be sustained and is liable to be scored out. He next submitted that it is evident from the bare reading of the dying declaration of the deceased that the incident was neither premeditated nor preplanned. Appellant was provoked by his mother Smt. Kamla Devi on the fateful day when he had returned to his house after purchasing "ghee" for preparing "ladoos", his mother taunted him by saying that he had given "ladoos" to eat to his wife alone and not to her on which the appellant Santosh picked up a quarrel with his mother Smt. Kamla Devi and greatly enraged shouted that he was going to finish her and sprinkled kerosene oil on his wife while his mother Smt. Kamla Devi caught hold of her and set her ablaze and thereafter he took her to his field where he tried to burn her with cow dung cakes, thereafter he and his sister Smt. Guddi took her to the hospital in Agra, although the Investigating Officer had failed to locate either the field of appellant Santosh, where the deceased had been allegedly taken by her husband after being set on fire inside the house for burning her further with cow dung cakes nor he could find any burnt or half burnt cow dung cakes. It appears that the mother in law of the deceased Madhuri used to taunt her son whenever he did anything for his wife and alleged her neglect by him and fed up with her persistent nagging and bickerings which had shattered the peace of his house and totally ruined his marital life, appellant Santosh lost his equilibrium on the date of the incident and committed the offence in a fit of rage with the object of putting to an end his mother's constant bickerings and hence under the facts and circumstances of the case, the offence if any committed by the appellants does not travel beyond Section 304(1) IPC.

7. Per contra Sri Sagir Ahmad learned AGA appearing for the State of U.P. submitted that the dying declaration in this case has been recorded in accordance with law and the very fact that the deceased remained alive for 15 days after the incident and died after recording of the dying declaration, is in itself material evidence showing that her condition, notwithstanding her having received hundred percent burns was not overtly critical or precarious when her dying declaration was recorded.

8. He further submitted that doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim "Nemo moriturus proesumitur mentiri" which means a man will not meet his maker with lie in his mouth and hence the trial judge did not commit any error or infirmity in convicting the appellants on the basis of the dying declaration of the deceased. The impugned judgement is based upon relevant considerations and the finding guilt recorded therein is supported by cogent evidence and the same warrants no interference by this Court. The appeals lack merit and are liable to be dismissed.

9. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the entire lower court record.

10. Before proceeding to examine interalia the issues regarding reliability and veracity of the dying declaration of the deceased and whether the conviction of the appellants recorded under Sections 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304B IPC on the basis of the dying declaration of the deceased alone can be sustained, we consider it appropriate to have a glance at evidence on record and the various pronouncements on the interpretation of Section 32 of Evidence Act which provides for admission of dying declaration in evidence.

11. The only witness of fact PW-1 Devi Prasad, complainant and the father of the deceased Madhuri examined on behalf of the prosecution to prove the charges framed against the accused failed to support the prosecution case. PW-1 Devi Prasad in his examination in chief stated that the marriage between Santosh and his daughter Madhuri was solemnized on 23.04.2000 in which he had spent about Rs. Two Lakhs. Her husband, mother in law and sister in law of his daughter, namely, Santosh, Smt. Kamla Devi and Smt. Guddi were fully satisfied with the dowry given by him to them at the time of marriage and Santosh, Kamla Devi and Guddi had not committed the murder of his daughter Madhuri on 29.01.2005 between 11-12 p.m. by pouring kerosene oil on her. A hotel owner had informed him that his daughter has been burnt to death and after receiving the aforesaid information he had rushed to S.N.Hospital where his daughter was being treated after being admitted there by her husband Santosh. He further stated that in the hospital he had heard that dying declaration of his daughter Madhuri has been recorded and he had lodged the written report Ex.Ka-1 against the husband, mother in law and sister in law of his daughter at the behest of the villagers. His daughter had died in the hospital after fifteen days of the incident. He admitted his signatures on the inquest report of his deceased daughter Ex. Ka-2.

12. On the request of the prosecution PW-1, was declared hostile and cross examined by the prosecution with the permission of the Court. PW-1 in his cross examination by the prosecution admitted that before his daughter had died a demand of Rs. 50,000/- cash as additional dowry was made, however in the same breath he denied that any demand of additional dowry of Rs. 50,000/- cash was made by the accused.

13. PW-2 Dr. A.P.Singh, Senior Specialist Women Hospital, Agra who had conducted the post mortem of the dead body of the deceased on 12.09.2005 at about 9.00 p.m. and prepared the post mortem report noted following ante mortem injuries on the cadaver of the deceased :-

"1.Body examined after surgical dressing superficial to deep burn with infected lesions all over the body. Hair signed.

2.Cut open present on medial side of Rt upper arm.

3.Cut open present on medial side of Rt ankle".

14. He further testified that the deceased had died due to burn injuries and proved the post mortem report of the deceased Ex. Ka-3. In his cross examination he admitted that although in the post mortem it is stated that the body of the deceased was totally burnt but the percentage of the burn was not mentioned.

15. PW-3 Ratan Lal Saraswat, who was posted as Pharmacist to S.N.Medical College, Agra on 29.01.2005 testified that on the date of the incident at about 5.50 p.m. Smt. Madhuri was admitted in the hospital with severe burn injuries and she was medically examined by Dr. A.A.Khan. He proved the medical examination report of the deceased prepared on 29.01.2005 Ex. Ka-4.

16. PW-4 Dr. Rahul Shah testified that deceased was admitted to the hospital with hundred percent burns on 29.01.2005 and treated there till her death on 12.02.2005 at 9.00 p.m.. He proved the treatment report of the deceased which was prepared by his subordinate doctors Ex. Ka.5 as well as the progress report records relating to her treatment between 29.01.2005 and 11.02.2005 as Ex. Ka-6, Ka-7 and Ka-8. PW-4 also testified that the deceased Madhuri was able to speak during the period when she was under his treatment. Sri Ashok Kumar Agarwal Additional City Magistrate before whom dying declaration of the deceased was recorded, was examined by the prosecution as PW-5. He in his statement made before the Court on oath stated that the dying declaration of Madhuri wife of Santosh was recorded on 30.01.2005 at 9.00 a.m., she had given her statement in full consciousness and without any pressure. Before her statement was recorded certificate regarding her mental fitness to give her statement was obtained by him from the doctor. The condition of the victim during the recording of her statement also had remained stable. Thumb impression of her right feet was obtained on her dying declaration. He proved the dying declaration of the deceased Ex. Ka-9.

17. P.W.-6, Dr. R.L.Sharma, who was posted in the emergency department of S.N.Medical college on 30.01.2005 deposed that he had certified the mental fitness of Smt. Madhuri to give her statement in his handwriting on the dying declaration Ex. Ka-9 itself.

18. PW-7 Dr.A.A.Khan testified that he was posted as Medical Officer, Agra on 20.01.2005 and had examined Smt. Madhuri and prepared her medical report in his own hand writing, photo copy whereof was brought on record and proved by him as Ex. K-4. He further testified that at the time of recording of her dying declaration Smt. Madhuri was in a position to speak and give her dying declaration.

19. PW-8 Vivek Kumar Mishra, who was entrusted with the investigation of this case after it was converted one under Section 304B IPC following the death of Smt. Madhuri, testified in his statement recorded before the trial court narrated the various steps taken by him, the documents and the evidence collected by him during the course of investigation. He proved the charge sheet Ex. Ka -10 and the site plan of the place of incident Ex. Ka-11 prepared by him.

20. PW-9 Constable 918 Anendra Singh proved the chek FIR Ex. Ka.-12 and the G.D.entry prepared by him on 30.01.2005, carbon copy whereof was brought on reocrd as Ex. Ka-13.

21. Having scanned the evidence on record, we now proceed to examine the judicial pronouncement on the issue in hand.

22. The Apex Court in paragraph 34 of its judgment reported in AIR SC (weekly) 2010, Sharda Vs. State of Rajasthan has held as hereunder :-

"34. Though a dying declaration is entitled and is still recognized by law to be given greater weightage but it has also to be kept in mind that accused had no chance of cross-examination. Such a right of cross- examination is essential for eliciting the truth as an obligation of oath. This is the reason, generally, the court insists that the dying declaration should be such which inspires full confidence of the court of its correctness. The court has to be on guard that such statement of deceased was not as a result of either tutoring, prompting or product of imagination. The court must be further satisfied that deceased was in a CrI.A.No. 699/08 fit state of mind after a clear opportunity to observe and identify the assailants. Once the court is satisfied that the aforesaid requirement and also to the fact that declaration was true and voluntary, undoubtedly, it can base its conviction without any further corroboration. It is not an absolute rule of law that the dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction unless it is corroborated. The rule requiring corroboration is merely a rule of prudence."

23. In this regard, we may profitably quote the following para from (1985) 4 SCC 476 titled State (Delhi Administration) Vs Laxman Kumar & Ors :

"40. We have also come to the conclusion that the High Court failed to take into account one material aspect while appreciating the evidence of the prosecution witnesses. It is a fact that Sudha had been burnt and according to the medical opinion that was to the extent of 70%.As the evidence shows, Sudha was in her senses and was capable of talking at the time when she was being removed to the hospital or even after she had been admitted as an indoor patient. The two sisters or their respective husbands had no apprehension that Sudha would not live. In case Sudha came round, she was to have lived in the family of her husband. No one interested in the welfare of Sudha was, therefore, prepared to make a statement which might prejudice the accused persons and lead to the straining of relationship in an irreparable way. Therefore, CrI.A.No. 699/08 the silence or avoidance to make a true disclosure about the cause of fire particularly so long as Sudha was alive, cannot be over- emphasised an adverse inference drawn by the High Court from the conduct of the sisters was indeed not warranted in the facts of the case."

24. In this connection we may also refer to the case of Munnavar and others Vs. State of U.P. and others 2010 (70) ACC 853 (SC) wherein the Apex Court has held as under -

"that a dying declaration can be relied upon if the deceased remained alive for a long period of time after the incident and died after recording of the dying declaration, that may be evident to show that his condition was not overtly critically or precarious when the dying declaration was recorded"

25. It would be pertinent to note the case of Bajju @ Karan Singh Vs. State of M.P. 2012 (77) ACC 182 SC, Km. Anita Vs. State of U.P. [2013 (80)ACC 46] before the Apex Court which had more or less identical facts. In this case also the dying declaration of the deceased was relied upon and the witnesses of fact did not support the prosecution case and were declared hostile, wherein the Supreme Court has observed as under:-

"Reliance by the learned counsel appearing for the appellant/accused upon the judgment of this Court in the case of Munnu Raja and Another v. The State of Madhya Pradesh (1976) 3 SCC 104 to contend that a dying declaration cannot be corroborated by the testimony of hostile witnesses is hardly of any help. As already noticed, none of the witnesses or the authorities involved in the recording of the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of the prosecution and have, beyond reasonable doubt, proved that the dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased. We may also notice that this very judgment relied upon by the accused itself clearly says that the dying declaration can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the basis of conviction. Paragraph 6 of the said judgment reads as under:-

".....It is well settled that though a dying declaration must be approached with caution for the reason that the maker of the statement cannot be subject to cross-examination, there is neither a rule of law nor a rule of prudence which has hardened into a rule of law that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon unless it is corroborated (see Khushal Rao v. State of Bombay). The High Court, it is true, has held that the evidence of the two eyewitnesses corroborated the dying declarations but it did not come to the conclusion that the dying declarations suffered from any infirmity by reason of which it was necessary to look out for corroboration."

In para-22 of this report the Hon'ble Court has further held that -

"The law is very clear that if the dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law, is reliable and gives a cogent and possible explanation of the occurrence of the events, then the dying declaration can certainly be relied upon by the court and could form the sole piece of evidence resulting in the conviction of the accused. This Court has clearly stated the principle that Section 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (for short 'the Act') is an exception to the general rule against the admissibility of hearsay evidence. Clause (1) of Section 32 makes the statement of the deceased admissible, which is generally described as a 'dying declaration'."

The Apex Court relying upon the dying declaration of the deceased being consistent with the prosecution case which was fully corroborated by medical evidence did not disturb the concurrent findings of guilt of accused-appellant recorded by the two Courts. In view of the aforesaid preposition of the law the dying declaration of the deceased recorded in this case fulfills all the legal requirements and it is in consonance with the prosecution story as also the medical evidence."

26. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Km. Anita Vs. State of U.P. reported in ACC (2013) Vol (1) has in paragraph 20 of its judgment observed as hereinunder :-

"A dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by officer of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim, however, circumstances showing anything to the contrary should not be there in the facts of the case.[vide Ravi Chander & Ors. v. State of Punjab, (1998) 9 SCC 303; Harjit Kaur V. State of Punjab (1999) 6 SCC 545; Koli Chunilal Savji &Anr. v. State of Gujarat, (1999) 9 SCC 562; and Vikas & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, (2008) 2 SCC 516.] Thus we find that the dying declaration of the deceased has no legal infirmity at all and it is also consistent with the case of the prosecution. The deceased has spoken about ill-treatment of accused on account of dowry demand as also illicit relations of her husband with his own real sister Anita. She had also assigned specific role to each accused in her dying declaration. She could not give the date of incident, but has stated that it is of instant Saturday. The calendar of year-2003 shows that 17th May, 2003 was Saturday. Thus, the date of the incident is fully corroborated from the dying declaration of the deceased. The defence could not show that the dying declaration is the result of tutoring Smt. Ram Rati in any manner. If the statements of PW 1 (later part of PW 1) to PW 9 is believed then there was no problem with the deceased in her matrimonial home, so why she had levelled allegations against the accused in her dying declaration, could not be explained by the defence."

27. Thus what follows from the reading of the aforesaid authorities is that a dying declaration can form sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as proved under the law, is reliable and gives cogent and plausible explanation of the occurrence of the events. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration, as envisaged if a dying declaration is jointly to be recorded by a Executive Magistrate with certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. Now we proceed to test the reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased Ex. Ka-9 in this case on the touch stone of the principles expounded herein above. The dying declaration of the deceased Madhuri recorded in this case before the Additional City Magistrate, is being reproduced herein below:

"मैं माधुरी पत्नी संतोष कुमार उम्र लगभग २४ वर्ष ग्राम करव पी. एस. राया जनपद मथुरा बयां करती हु की कल सुबह लगभग ग्यारह बजे मेरे पति लड्डू बनाने के लिए घी लेकर आये तो मेरी सास कमल ने झगड़ा किया तथा कहा की मैने तो लड्डू खाये नहीं इसे खिला रहे हो, मेरे पति और मेरे सास में झगड़ा हुआ तो गुस्से में मेरे पति ने कहा आज इसका काम कर देता हु तथा मेरे ऊपर मिट्टी का तेल दाल दिया सां ने पकड़ लिया पति ने आग लगा दिया फिर मुझे खेत में ले गये और देर मुझे खेत में कंडो से जलाने की कोशिश की फिर मुझे मेरे पति तथा ननद गुड्डी अस्पताल आगरा ले कर आयी, इसके अतिरिक्त मुझे कुछ नहीं कहना."

28. As we have already noted certificate regarding the fit mental condition of the deceased to give her statement before the recording of her statement and during the recording of her statement was given by Dr. A.A.Khan Medical Officer which is on record as Ex. Ka-9. The dying declaration was recorded by PW-5 Additional City Magistrate, Mathura in S.N.Hospital, Mathura. The facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration give cogent and plausible explanation of the occurrence although the Investigating Officer has failed to collect any evidence to corroborate that part of her dying declaration in which she stated that after she was set ablaze by her husband in his house with the help of her mother in law, he had taken him in a field where he had tried to burn her with cow dung cakes. The veracity of the dying declaration of the deceased cannot be doubted merely on the ground urged by the learned counsel for the appellant that there was discrepancy in the evidence of the Additional City Magistrate with regard to the form in which it was recorded as we find that PW-4 Dr. Rahul Sah, PW-5 Ashok Kumar Agarwal and PW-7 Dr. A.A.Khan have beyond reasonable doubt proved that the dying declaration of the deceased Smt. Madhuri is reliable, truthful and voluntarily made by her while she was in a fit state of mind. The very fact that the dying declaration in this case was recorded by a competent magistrate puts the same on a higher pedestal than the declaration recorded by an officer of lower rank. The dying declaration of the deceased is further consistent with the prosecution case which stands fully corroborated by medical evidence. Thus in view of the foregoing discussion, we do not find any reason to doubt the deceased's dying declaration. None of the witness or the authorities involved in the recording of the dying declaration have turned hostile. On the contrary they had fully supported the case of prosecution and have beyond reasonable doubt proved that the dying declaration recorded truthfully and was made voluntarily by the deceased.

29. Now coming to the next limb of challenge to the impugned judgment by the learned counsel for the appellant that even if the recitals contained in the dying declaration of the deceased are taken to be true the appellant's conviction under Section 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304 B IPC on the basis thereof cannot be sustained is concerned, the same appears to have merit. In order to appreciate the submission made by learned counsel for the appellant in this regard it will be useful to extract the sections 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304 B IPC herein below :-

"498A:- Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty:-

Whoever, being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman, subjects such woman to cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years and shall also be liable to fine.

Explanation- For the purpose of this section, "cruelty" means-

(a) any willful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand.]

304B:-Dowry death :-

(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation- For the purpose of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning. as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.]

3/4 D.P.Act :-

3. Penalty for giving or taking dowry.--1[(1)] If any person, after the commencement of this Act, gives or takes or abets the giving or taking of dowry, he shall be punishable 2[with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 3[five years, and with fine which shall not be less than fifteen thousand rupees or the amount of the value of such dowry, whichever is more]: --1[(1)] If any person, after the commencement of this Act, gives or takes or abets the giving or taking of dowry, he shall be punishable 2[with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 3[five years, and with fine which shall not be less than fifteen thousand rupees or the amount of the value of such dowry, whichever is more]\": " Provided that the Court may, for adequate and special reasons to be recorded in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than 4[five years].] 5[(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall apply to, or in relation to,-- 1[(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall apply to, or in relation to,--"

(a) presents which are given at the time of a marriage to the bride (without any demand having been made in that behalf): Provided that such presents are entered in a list maintained in accordance with the rules made under this Act;

(b) presents which are given at the time of a marriage to the bridegroom (without any demand having been made in that behalf): Provided that such presents are entered in a list maintained in accordance with the rules made under this Act: Provided further that where such presents are made by or on behalf of the bride or any person related to the bride, such presents are of a customary nature and the value thereof is not excessive having regard to the financial status of the person by whom, or on whose behalf, such presents are given.]

1[4. Penalty for demanding dowry.--If any person demands, directly or indirectly, from the parents or other relatives or guardian of a bride or bridegroom, as the case may be, any dowry, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months, but which may extend to two years and with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees: 2[4. Penalty for demanding dowry.--If any person demands, directly or indirectly, from the parents or other relatives or guardian of a bride or bridegroom, as the case may be, any dowry, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months, but which may extend to two years and with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees\:" Provided that the court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than six months.]]"

30. Even the most superficial perusal of the dying declaration of the deceased Ex. Ka-9 indicates that she has not alleged any demand of dowry either by her husband or her mother in law or sister in law, either at the time of marriage or after marriage nor she has alleged her torture by them for non fulfillment of any demand of dowry or she was treated with cruelty either by her husband or her mother in law. There is no whisper of any allegation in her dying declaration that soon before she was set ablaze by her husband Santosh with the aid of her mother in law Kamla Devi she had either been tortured or treated with cruelty in connection with any demand of dowry.

31. The only witness of fact examined on behalf of the prosecution to prove the demand of dowry PW-1 Devi Prasad father of the deceased failed to support the prosecution case during the trial and was declared hostile. Although on being cross examined by the prosecution after being declared hostile PW-1 had stated that Rs. 50,000/- was demanded as additional dowry from his daughter Madhuri before her death but immediately corrected himself by denying that the accused had ever demanded Rs. 50,000/-.

32. Thus after a very carefully scrutiny of the dying declaration of the deceased Ex. Ka-9 and statement of PW-1 recorded during the trial we are constrained to observe that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove by any cogent and reliable evidence that accused appellant had started demanding Rs. 50,000/- as additional dowry after the marriage of the deceased with appellant Santosh and that she was tortured or treated with cruelty soon before her death in connection with any demand of dowry and in view of the above. The prosecution has further miserably failed to prove the ingredients of offences under Section 498A and 3/4 D.P.Act also and hence the conviction of the appellant under Section 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304 B IPC cannot be sustained and is liable to be scored out. There is no iota of any evidence even remotely suggesting that the unfortunate occurrence was either premeditated or pre-planned. The facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration indicate that the appellant Smt. Kamla Devi, the mother in law of the deceased Madhur was in the habit of taunting her son Santosh, husband of the deceased when ever he did something for his wife and was consistently bricking and nagging her son and on the fateful day when he had returned back home after purchasing "ghee" from the markert for preparing "ladoos", his mother Smt. Kamla taunted her husband, appellant Santosh Kumar on which he lost is mental equilibrium and in a sudden rage and in the heat of the moment sprinkled kerosene oil on his wife and set her ablaze hoping to put an end to his mother's constant nagging and brickerings. It is true that the facts stated by the deceased in the dying declaration indicate that after setting her ablaze inside the house her husband had taken her out to a field and had tried to burn her with cow dung cakes but at the same time we cannot ignore another very relevant aspect of the matter which stands proved from the evidence on record including the deceased's dying declaration Ex. Ka-9, that it was her husband appellant Santosh who had taken her for treatment first to Swarna Hospital Mathura and when they referred the deceased for specialized treatment to S.N.Medical College, Agra, it was appellant Santosh who took the deceased from Mathura to Agra and got her admitted to S.N.Medial College, Agra on 29.01.2005 at about 5.50 p.m. and if the appellant had intended to commit the murder of his wife Madhuri, he would not have taken her from one hospital to another for treatment, desperately trying to save his life. Thus in view of the foregoing discussion, we are satisfied that the conviction of the appellant recorded under Sections 3/4 D.P.Act, 498A and 304B IPC passed by the trial court cannot be maintained and is accordingly liable to scored out.

33. Considering the evidence on record and the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case and the different roles assigned to the appellants by the deceased in her dying declaration, we are of the view that the ends of justice will be met if the conviction of the appellants Santosh and Smt. Kamla Devi is converted to one under Section 304 (I) IPC and the sentence awarded to appellant Santosh Kumar is palliated to ten years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 5000/- and in case of default further six months additional rigorous imprisonment, and the setence awarded by the trial court to appellant Kamla Devi who was about 68 years old on the date on which her statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded and is at present aged about 76 years old is reduced to the period already under gone. The bail bonds of appellant Smt. Kamla Devi are cancelled and her sureties discharged. The appellant Santosh who is in jail since 03.02.2005 has already served out the sentence of ten years rigorous imprisonment awarded by us to him and also six months additional imprisonment under the default clause and hence he shall be released forthwith unless he is not wanted in any other case. The impugned judgement and order dated 15.02.2008 and 16.02.2008 stand modified to the extent indicated herein above. Both the appeals stand allowed in part and decided accordingly.

33. There shall however be no order as to costs.

34. Let a copy of this order be transmitted to the trial court for intimation and necessary follow up action.

Legislation referred to Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 302, 302/34, 504; Arms Act, 1959 — S. 25(1B)(b); Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — S. 313

FACTS:

On 15.02.2009 at about 12.00 noon, at the Government Slaughter House, Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Aligarh, the appellant Raeesh arrived armed with a knife, accompanied by his brother Haji Munna (appellant) and father Haji Rasheed (co-accused, since deceased). They entered the slaughter house and demanded delivery of slaughtered goods already purchased by the first informant's side. On being refused, Haji Rasheed and Haji Munna caught hold of the deceased Irshad (brother of the first informant), and Raeesh inflicted a knife blow on his chest with intent to kill him. Irshad was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital, Aligarh, where he was declared dead. Raeesh was apprehended on the spot along with the knife. A first information report was lodged by the first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey (P.W. 1) at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. After investigation, charge-sheets were filed against the appellants.

The Sessions Court, Aligarh, by judgment and order dated 14.12.2010, convicted appellant Raeesh under Section 302 I.P.C. and Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act and convicted appellant Haji Munna under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced both to life imprisonment. Both the appellants challenged their conviction before this Court.

ISSUES:

- (i) Whether the prosecution witnesses, being close relatives of the deceased, are to be treated as interested witnesses and their testimony discarded on that ground alone.
- (ii) Whether the first information report was ante-timed.
- (iii) Whether non-collection of blood-stained earth from the spot and non-examination of fingerprints on the recovered knife vitiated the prosecution case.

- (iv) Whether the testimony of eye-witnesses P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 was reliable, consistent, and sufficient to sustain conviction.
- (v) Whether common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. was established against appellant Haji Munna.

HELD:

(i) Testimony of relative/interested witnesses — Mere relationship of witnesses with the deceased is not by itself a ground to discard their testimony. In many cases, only relatives are available to depose, particularly having regard to the prevailing trends in our society where persons other than relations are not ready to depose before the court. Such testimony, however, must be subjected to scrupulous and careful scrutiny and if, on such scrutiny, it inspires confidence, it cannot be rejected.

Relied on: Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(ii) Prompt lodging of the FIR — The place of occurrence was the Government Slaughter House, situated at a distance of 2 kilometres from the police station. The occurrence took place at about 12.00 noon. The first information report was lodged at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. This constitutes a prompt report. The timeline stated in the FIR stands corroborated by: the inquest report commencing at 2.30 P.M. and concluding at 4.30 P.M.; despatch of the dead body for post-mortem after 4.30 P.M.; and its receipt at the mortuary at 5.20 P.M. The contention that the FIR was ante-timed is, therefore, unsustainable.

(iii) Non-collection of blood from spot — The occurrence took place in a government slaughter house where blood of slaughtered animals had spread all over the premises. It was, therefore, virtually impossible to segregate and collect blood attributable exclusively to the deceased. Non-collection of blood-stained earth under such peculiar facts creates no doubt about the place of occurrence. Footwear left behind at the scene by reason of the stampede that followed were, in fact, seized under a recovery memo by the Investigating Officer.

(iv) Reliability of ocular testimony — The two eye-witnesses, P.W. 1 (first informant and brother of deceased) and P.W. 2 (uncle of deceased), were naturally present at the slaughter house supervising slaughtering work. Their presence at the spot is wholly consistent with the nature of their work and the time of day. Their testimonies are consistent inter se and corroborate the contents of the first information report in all material particulars. The specific description that, after the knife blow, the deceased did not fall immediately but was caught by the witnesses while in the act of falling, is a detail that only persons actually present on the spot could furnish. Cross-examination did not elicit any material contradiction. The defence's own suggestion that the appellant Raeesh was caught by the first informant after a short chase amounts to an implicit admission of the witnesses' presence at the spot.

Medical evidence of Dr. S.K. Sharma (P.W. 3) corroborates the mode of assault — a single ante-mortem stab wound, 4 cm × 2 cm × chest cavity deep, on the front of the chest on the left side — sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The doctor opined that death could have occurred between 12.00 noon and 12.15 P.M., which is consistent with the prosecution case and was not challenged in cross-examination.

(v) Common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. — The conjoint act of Haji Rasheed and appellant Haji Munna in catching hold of both hands of the deceased Irshad — thereby immobilising him — while the appellant Raeesh inflicted the knife blow establishes that all the accused persons were acting in furtherance of a common intention to commit the offence. The manner and participation of the accused persons in the incident leads to an inescapable inference of shared common intention.

RESULT:

Both the appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh, in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009 (under Sections 302 and 302/34 I.P.C.) and Sessions Trial No. 396 of 2009 (under Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act) is upheld and confirmed. The bail of appellant Haji Munna stands cancelled and his sureties are discharged. He is directed to be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining period of the sentence imposed upon him by the trial court.

Cases Referred:Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. By way of aforesaid Criminal Appeals, the two appellants Raeesh and Haji Munna, have challenged the judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009, arising out of case crime no. 43 of 2009 State Vs. Raeesh and others under section 302, 302/34 I.P.C. and in Sessions Trial No.396 of 2009 arising out of Case Crime No.44 of 2009 State Vs. Raeesh, under sub section 1 (b) Part (b) of Section 25 Arms Act, respectively, whereby the appellant Raeesh has been sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs. 10,000/- under Section 302 IPC and three years rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.3000/- under sub section (1B) (b) of Section 25 Arms Act, and appellant Haji Munna has been sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine of Rs.10,000/- under Section 302/34 IPC, in case of default in payment of fine, additional simple imprisonment for two months and one month, respectively. Sentences to run concurrently.

2. Heard Sri P.C. Srivastava, Sri R. K. Srivastava and Sri Manoj Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri S.G. Hasnain, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Anil Kumar Srivastava and Ms. Pinki Rani Singh, learned counsel for the complainant and Sri J.K. Upadhyay, Sri N.K. S. Yadav, Km. Meena, Ms. Manju Thakur and Sri Rahul Asthana learned A.G.As. for the State and perused the record.

3. The prosecution case as reflected from the record and particularly from first information report appears to be that first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey son of Mohd. Tahir resident of Nadir Mahal, Hathi Wala 'Pul', Police Station Delhigate District Aligarh, lodged a written report at Police Station Kotwali Nagar District Aligarh on 15.2.2009 at about 1 P.M. against the aforesaid appellants with allegations that contractor Hazi Zahir had engaged him to supervise work (slaughtering of animals) at the govt. slaughter house. While supervising work, on 15.2.2009, at that point of time, Muddasir son of Mohd. Yasin , Hazi Wahid son of late Hazi Mohd Sabir and Hamid son of late Hazi Mohd. Safir, were also present over there and his brother Irshad was also helping him in his work. Around 12 noon, Mohd. Raeesh son of Hazi Rasheed possessing knife in his hand, accompanied by his brother Hazi Munna and his father Hazi Rasheed, came through the door inside the slaughter house and hurled abuses and after coming close to the informant, they insisted upon delivery of the goods which had already been purchased by the first informant. They said that except them no one else can take the goods. First informant and his brother Irshad asked them not to do the same, whereupon, Hazi Rasheed exhorted (co-accused) to kill and today they would not spare them, whereupon, Hazi Mulla and Hazi Rasheed caught informant's brother Irshad and Mohd. Raeesh inflicted knife blow on the chest of Irshad with intention to kill him. Consequently, Irshad was seriously injured. He was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh by Mumtaj and Arif Munshi by motorcycle where Irshad was declared dead. First information report also contains description that Mohd. Raeesh was caught on the spot with knife by the first informant, Muddassir, Hazi Wahid, and Hamid. However other, co-accused Hazi

Munna and Hazi Rasheed made their escape good towards Mathura Bye-pass. Number of people arrived at the spot after hearing hue and cry. They also tried to nab the two culprits, but in vain. The first informant has come to lodge this report along with captured accused Mohd. Raesh with recovered weapon knife. Report be lodged and appropriate action be taken. This written report is Ext. Ka. 1.

3A. Contents of this written report were taken down in the concerned check first information report at case crime no. 43 of 2009, under sections 302, 504 I.P.C. and at case crime no. 44 of 2009, under section 4/25 Arms Act (against Raesh). Check FIR is Ext. Ka. 4.

4. On the basis of entries so made in the check FIR, the case was registered against the appellants in G.D. Entry No. 22 at 1.00 P.M. under aforesaid sections of I.P.C. and Arms Act, respectively, on 15.2.2009 at Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Aligarh, which G.D. entry is Ext. Ka. 5.

5. It is also reflected from record and particularly from the testimony of Amar Pal Singh P.W. 4, that a recovery memo of knife was also prepared by him which memo of recovery is Ext. Ka-2, while Knife is material Ext. 2.

6. Thereafter, investigation of the case followed and was initially taken over by Mohd. Faiz Kamal P.W. 6. He proceeded to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh along with the other police personnels and got prepared inquest report through S.I. Balram Singh Yadav which inquest report is Ext. Ka. 8. In the opinion of witnesses of inquest report it was thought appropriate to send the dead body for post-mortem examination for ascertaining real cause of death. Relevant papers, for sending the dead body for autopsy, were prepared. In the process relevant papers-letter to R.I., letter to the Chief Medical Officer Aligarh, challan of dead body, Photo Nash etc. were prepared and these papers have been proved as Ext. Ka. 9 to Ka. 13 by Mohd. Faiz Kamal PW-6.

7. Thereafter, the post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Irshad, took place at mortuary Aligarh at 5.30 P.M. on 15.2.2009 wherein one ante mortem injury was noted which is extracted hereinbelow as:-

"Stabbed wound at front of chest left side 4 cm medial to nipple at 9.30 O'clock position; size of wound is 4 cm x 2 cm x chest cavity deep; partly clotted blood oozing from the wound."

8. In the opinion of doctor, cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injury. This post mortem examination report has been proved by Dr. S.K. Sharma P.W. 3 as Ext. Ka. 3.

9. The Investigating Officer Faiz Kamal PW-6 also proceeded to spot and prepared the site plan at the instance of first informant (Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey) which site plan is Ext. Ka.14. He also found certain shoes and slippers scattered on the spot, and prepared memo of the same which is Ext. Ka. 15. Thereafter, investigation was taken over by another Inspector Veer Pal Sirohi P.W. 5. He recorded statement of prosecution witnesses of fact and formal witnesses during the course of investigation besides recording statement of the accused persons. After completing the investigation Charge-sheet against the appellants was filed at case crime no. 43 of 2009 under section 302, 504 I.P.C. which is Ext. Ka. 6. Charge sheet no. 34/09 filed in case crime no. 44 of 2009 against accused Raeesh under section 4/25 of the Arms Act- which is Ext. Ka. 7.

10. Thereafter, the case of the prosecution was committed to the court of Session where the appellants were tried under aforesaid sections of I.P.C. and Arms Act, respectively. In this regard, two Sessions Trials were conducted i.e. Sessions Trial No.395 of 2009 dealt with offences arising out of case crime no. 43 of 2009 and Sessions Trial No. 396 of 2009 arising out of case crime no. 44 of 2009 against accused Raeesh under section 4/25 Arms Act, Police Kotwali Nagar, district Aligarh.

11. Relevant to mention that both the aforesaid sessions trials were connected with the same incident, therefore, both were consolidated and were disposed of by common judgment and order dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Court, Aligarh.

12. The trial court heard the appellants on point of charge and, prima facie, ground was found existing for framing charges under section 302/34, 504 I.P.C. against the appellants and section 25 Arms Act. The accused persons denied the charges and opted for trial. Thereafter, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony, whereupon the prosecution produced six witnesses out of whom Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey- PW-1 and Hazi Abdul Wahid PW-2 are said to be the eye witnesses of the incident and they have described the manner of happening of occurrence. Out of the two witnesses, Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey PW- 1 is first informant, and brother of deceased Irshad and Hazi Abdul Wahid P.W. 2 is uncle of deceased. Dr. S.K. Sharma P.W. 3 conducted autopsy on the dead body of Irshad and has proved the post mortem examination report (Ext. Ka-3). Constable Amar Pal Singh P.W. 4 has made certain entries in the concerned check FIR and the G.D. entry on 15.2.2009. Besides, he has also proved material Ext. 2, the alleged weapon (knife) used in the incident. The first Investigating Officer, who initiated the investigation after the report was lodged on 15.2.2009 till evening of 15.2.2009 is Mohd. Faiz Kamal P.W. 6 He got prepared inquest report Ext. Ka. 8, besides completing various other formalities like preparing relevant papers for sending dead body of Irshad for post mortem examination at mortuary Aligarh. Subsequently, the second, Investigating Officer Inspector Veer Pal Singh Sirohi, who took over the investigation on the very same day (15.2.2009) around 10.40 P.M. recorded statement of various witnesses including accused persons and filed charge sheets against the appellants.

13. Thereafter, the evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of accused person was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they termed their implication false on account of enmity and alleged that the witnesses of fact being relative of the deceased are highly interested witnesses. The appellants, on their turn got examined Mohd. Mumtiyaz @ Mumtaj son of Babu Khan as D.W. 1. He has testified to the fact that he was not present on the spot at the time of occurrence. He reached at the slaughter house around 7.30 A.M. on 15.2.2009 where he saw

Irshad lying on the ground seeped with blood. He has been cross examined at length by the D.G.C.(CrI.)

14. Learned trial court after hearing both the sides on merit, passed the aforesaid impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 against the appellants and imposed on them sentences (aforesaid).

15. Consequently this appeal.

16. It would be pertinent to record at this stage that one of the co-accused Hazi Rasheed, who had also preferred Criminal Appeal No. 250 of 2011 against same impugned judgment and order of conviction (14.12.2010), died during pendency of this appeal, as such his aforesaid appeal stood abated vide order of this Court dated 4.7.2016.

17. We have been persuaded vigorously on behalf of the appellants on several specific counts by contending that prosecution witnesses are chance witnesses. Their presence on the spot is doubtful. Their conduct on the spot is not natural. Their testimony contradicts each-other in material particulars. If testimony of one witness of fact is taken to be correct, then, testimony of the other witness of fact is rendered highly unreliable. The manner and style of the occurrence is not proved. Accused Raesh is an old person and had undergone surgical operation of his stomach and he was not in a position to cause knife blow on the deceased Irshad.

18. On the motive count, it can be said that the same is weak and not sufficient for committing murder. Testimony of witnesses is partisan and they being relatives of the deceased, are highly interested witnesses, as such, their testimony is wholly unreliable. Testimony of witnesses of fact is not corroborated by testimony of any independent witness. Neither blood stained earth nor simple earth was collected from the spot which renders place of occurrence doubtful. The first information report is ante timed. In fact, the relevant general diary entry was stopped and FIR was lodged only after preparation of inquest report.

19. The entire investigation was mechanically done by the two Investigating Officers and no worthy evidence was collected which may justify filing of chargesheet and the conviction against present appellants. The distance from place of occurrence to the police station is stated to be 2 Kms. as per reference contained in the check FIR. However, the report was lodged after one hour of the incident which is ante timed. No weapon, in fact, was recovered from the possession of the accused Raesh and nature of injury sustained by the deceased cannot be caused by use of such weapon. The description of manner of the incident by so called eye-witnesses virtually throws doubt on the entire testimony of the witnesses particularly in the circumstances, when the father and one son escaped from the scene leaving behind the (other) son to be caught on the spot ! Under the circumstances, it is obvious that the deceased was killed somewhere-else in the darkness of night by some unknown persons and the present appellants have been roped in, in this case on account of enmity and 'Partibandi'. No effort was made by the Investigating Officer to send the alleged knife for examination of finger print existing on it.

20. Learned counsel summed up that the appellants have also produced D.W. 1 Mumtiyaj @ Mumtaj who has correctly testified that he reached at the slaughter house at 7.30 a.m. in the morning where he found crowd of 40 to 50 persons and deceased Irshad was lying on the spot seeped with blood. This story is self explanatory of fact that the incident did not take place around 12 noon on 15.2.2009. D.W. 1 has denied fact that he ever saw any such incident and that he took the deceased on his motor cycle to the concerned govt. hospital. He has also denied the fact that he ever saw the appellant Raeesh being caught by the informant.

21. Per contra, the aforesaid arguments have been replied by the learned A.G.As. by submitting that it is broad day light occurrence when murder was caused in government slaughter house. The place of occurrence is definite i.e. govt. slaughter house. The cause/motive for occurrence is also established that the appellants insisted for taking the already purchased flesh of animals of informant's side and when refused, the appellants retaliated with force and caused death of Irshad without any reason. The report was promptly lodged at concerned police station.

22. There is no doubt about the place of occurrence-the govt. slaughter house and at the time of occurrence, number of animals had been slaughtered and pool of blood of animals was scattered all over the spot and the ground was more or less soaked with animals' blood, therefore, it was not possible for the Investigating Officer to collect any blood stained soil. Had it been so done, that could have been artificial act on the part of the Investigating Officer and question mark would have been raised on such investigation. However, slippers/shoes left behind after the incident were collected by S.I. Mohd. Faiz Kamal, Investigating Officer PW-6 and recovery memo of the same was prepared which is Ext. Ka. 15. Not only this, the accused Raeesh was also caught on the spot after little chase, just after murder of Irshad. In this backdrop of events, there was hardly any possibility for sparing real accused and naming falsely innocent persons like the present appellants and there is no such strong motive for false implication of the appellants if they were unconcerned with the incident. Moreover, the motivating force behind the offence arose on the spot and their adamant behaviour that was very specific to the point that the accused persons insisted upon taking animals' flesh which had already been purchased by the informant's side.

23. The various details of the incident and the manner of assault and particularly the fact that the two accused caught hold of the deceased Irshad and Raeesh gave knife blow on his chest, stands corroborated by the medical testimony, therefore, it cannot be said that the testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact is not worthy of credence. On the contrary, their testimony on the whole, is consistent, clinching and inspiring confidence. The presence of the prosecution witnesses (of fact) on the spot is natural and there is no whisper from the circumstances or fact that the incident was caused by some unknown persons in the darkness of night. Merely because, the witnesses are close relatives of the deceased, will not be a ground for throwing away the prosecution case in absence of any determination that these witnesses are highly inimical towards the accused persons and were interested in ensuring conviction of the accused persons. Therefore, the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants. Death of the deceased cannot be said to have occurred during night, because, the doctor witness has himself stated that the death of the deceased could have taken place between 12 noon to 12.15 p.m.

24. We have also considered above rival submissions.

25. The moot point that arises for our consideration is primarily confined to fact whether the prosecution has been able to establish its case against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt?

26. The very foundation of the prosecution case is grounded in the written report Ext. Ka. 1 wherein allegations have been made against the appellants to the ambit that the occurrence took place on 15.2.2009 around 12.00 noon and place of occurrence is govt. slaughterhouse and the contractor of this slaughterhouse was Hazi Jaheer who had asked the first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey to supervise work in the slaughterhouse. It is stated that while the work was under progress, the accused persons namely Mohd. Raeesh son of Hazi Rasheed bearing knife in his hand and his brother Hazi Munna son of Haji Rasheed in company with his father Hazi Rasheed son of Jaleel came on the spot and insisted insolently upon purchasing goods (animals' flesh), which had already been purchased and they were adamant that they alone will take all the above goods. The first informant and his brother Irshad asked them not to do so whereupon Hazi Rasheed exhorted to kill them and they should not be spared alive. At this stage, Hazi Munna and Hazi Rasheed caught informant's brother Irshad and Mohd. Raeesh with intent to kill, gave knife blow on the chest of Irshad due to which Irshad was seriously injured and he was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh by Mumtaj son of Babu and Arif Munshi where, the doctor declared him dead. The written report also alleges the fact that the first informant caught one of the accused Mohd. Raeesh with knife on the spot with the help of Muddassir, Hazi Wahid and Hamid. Accused Haji Munna and Haji Rasheed made their escape good towards Mathura Bye Pass Road. In the last line of this report, it has been stated that informant has come to lodge this report with the captured accused Mohd. Raeesh bearing knife.

27. Thereafter, the investigation ensued and Mohd. Faiz Kamal P.W. 6 was initially entrusted with the investigation. He arrived at the spot and took note of the situation and prepared site plan and before doing so he rushed to Malkhan Singh Hospital where he got prepared the inquest report. Preparation of inquest report commenced at 2.30 p.m. and ended at 4.30 p.m. on 15.2.2009 at Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh. Besides, the Investigating Officer also prepared memo of certain slippers and shoes that were left over on the spot as a result of stampede that followed the alleged incident.

28. Now, in such scenario, we may appraise and dip into factual testimony qua circumstances of the case and particularly testimony of the two eye witnesses- PW-1 and PW-2 i.e. Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey and Hazi Abdul Wahid, respectively. Cummulative reading of their testimony corroborates the contents of FIR when they say that the incident took place around 12 noon on 15.2.2009. At that point of time, Hazi Wahid, Muddassir, Hamid and deceased Irshad were present in the concerned slaughterhouse. P.W. 1 (Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey) was supervising work over there and a number of traders had come for slaughtering of their animals. First informant P.W. 1 had purchased the slaughtered goods. Informant's brother Irshad was assisting the work. In the meanwhile, the accused persons Hazi Munna Hazi Rasheed and Raeesh came over there abusing. Raeesh was possessing knife in his hand and they insisted that none else, except they alone, will take the goods and with such utterance they forcibly started taking away the goods (slaughtered flesh), first informant (Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey) and his brother Irshad opposed the same. Then Hazi Rasheed exhorted to kill them and, in the meanwhile, Hazi Rasheed and Hazi Munna caught hold of two hands of the deceased Irshad and Raeesh with intent to kill, pierced knife into his chest. P.W. 1 and 2 and two others chased Raeesh and caught him with knife while Hazi Rasheed and Haji Munna the other co-accused secured their escape good towards Mathura bye-pass.

29. It has also come in their testimony (PW-1 and PW-2) that the deceased was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh by Arif and Mumtaj on motorcycle and thereafter report was lodged at the police station where Raeesh was kept in confinement and seizure/recovery memo of knife was also prepared. PW-1 Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey has proved written report Ext. Ka. 1 and also recovery memo of knife- Ext. Ka. 2. Testimony of both the above eye- witnesses discloses fact that Irshad died in Malkhan Singh Government Hospital Aligarh. Both these witnesses have been cross examined. In their cross examination, certain facts have emerged relating to routine work of the government slaughterhouse that ordinarily, work begins at the slaughterhouse around 7 a.m. but on the day of occurrence it started at 11.00 a.m. On that day Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey (PW- 1) went to slaughter house at 7.00 a.m. It also emerges from their cross examination that on that day the goods (animals meant for slaughtering) were supplied around 11.00 a.m. therefore, the work started at 11.00 a.m. and the incident took place around 12 noon when lot of work had been accomplished. A number of specific questions have been asked from both the witnesses on the point of time, manner of assault and presence of accused on the spot, which have been specific replied by the eye-witnesses; but nothing adverse emerged which may throw any doubt on their testimony. Presence on the spot of the two eye-witnesses also appears natural.

30. Perusal of their testimony (PW-1 and PW-2) on the whole appears to be clinching and consistent on the point of description of the occurrence. It has not been suggested by the defence that PW 1 Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey was engaged somewhere-else in some other work. The distance of police station from the place of occurrence has been stated to be 2 kms. Therefore, lodging of the FIR at 1.00 P.M. after the incident took place around 12.00 noon, at police station Kotwali Nagar District Aligarh, is found to be prompt one.

31. Perusal of the inquest report, Ext. Ka. 8, indicates that all the relevant details i.e. case crime numbers, sections of I.P.C. commencement of preparation of inquest report at 2.30 p.m. and its closure at 4.30 p.m. also indicates that prompt action was taken by the police soon after the report was lodged about the incident in question.

32. Argument has been advanced that the FIR is ante time but such contention, in the face of testimony and circumstances of this case, appears to be unsustainable in view of the fact that the time of preparation of inquest report, suitably matches the relevant time of lodging of the FIR. At this stage, it would be relevant to take note of the fact that the post mortem examination on the dead body was done at 5.30 p.m. on 15.2.2009 itself. Police Form No. 13 challan of dead body Ext. Ka. 10 reflects that the dead body was sent for post mortem examination after 4.30 p.m. on 15.2.2009 and the same was received at mortuary at 5.20 p.m. Each and every relevant paper made during course of investigation has been proved by the prosecution witnesses. Therefore, argument that the first information report is ante time, cannot be accepted under the facts and circumstances of the case.

33. A number of questions have been asked regarding non presence of these two witnesses (PW-1 and PW-2) on the spot whereupon, it has been testified by both the witnesses P.W. 1 and 2 that at that relevant point of time, they were engaged in slaughtering of animals at the govt. slaughterhouse. Their presence at any other place at that point of time, can not be inferred from their cross examination and examination in chief.

34. Relevant to mention that doubt has been tried to be raised regarding place of occurrence because no blood stained earth/soil and simple earth/soil was collected by the Investigating Officer from the spot. But testimony has come forth from Mohd. Faiz Kamal PW- 6 that he prepared site plan at the instance of first informant PW- 1. He has been cross examined on the relevant point of collection of blood stained earth from place of occurrence wherein he has stated that blood in plenty was spread all over the places and certainly this blood was due to the slaughtering of animals in the concerned slaughter house, therefore, it was virtually impossible to collect exclusively any blood sample from the spot. Moreover, the witnesses of fact have also been cross examined on this point and they have stated that the blood had not spilled on the ground but it remained confined to the clothes of the deceased. Therefore, collection of blood from the spot was not possible. Moreso, regarding presence of the prosecution witnesses and particularly presence of Raeesh on the spot is virtually admitted to the defence when it suggested that Raeesh in fact was caught at a distance of 50-60 steps by the first informant, which suggestion has been denied that this is not correct to say that the first informant ran for about 50-60 steps and then caught Raeesh. It has been testified by P.W. 1 on page-33 of the paper book that Raeesh was chased and caught after running 5-6 steps. This way, by extending particular suggestion, defence has admitted the presence of the witnesses of fact on the spot. Both the witnesses have testified in their cross examination that the place of the occurrence has been shown to the Investigating Officer, who visited the spot at 5.30 p.m. on 15.2.2009, therefore, presence of both the witnesses of fact P.W. 1 and P.W. 2, on the spot is established.

35. Now, so far as the motive point of the offence is concerned, it can be conveniently observed, that motive has got no significance in view of the ocular testimony of the offence by the two witnesses of fact. However, motive suggested is quite relevant that accused persons said that they will take away the goods which had already been purchased by the first informant and on the refusal of the same, the accused persons became adamant and insisted for delivery of the goods and started taking away the goods and in the process the offence was committed. Therefore, the motive to commit crime was act of the accused themselves on the spot and it just preceded the incident and this fact has been satisfactorily proved by the two prosecution witnesses of fact.

36. One particular aspect of the case engages our attention that both the witnesses have described the incident, manner of assault and have stated that after the assault was caused on the chest of deceased Irshad, he did not fall down on the ground, but the witnesses caught him while he was in the process of falling down. This particular description of occurrence is very special and persons who were present on the spot alone, can describe the incident in such a manner. We are conscious of fact that certain minor contradictions are bound to be there but both the witnesses of fact have proved comprehensively about the manner and style of the occurrence, which testimony, under facts and circumstances, is unimpeachable, therefore, we see no reason to disbelieve their version.

37. Our attention has also been invited to the testimony of P.W. 2 Hazi Abdul Wahid in the last paragraph of his cross examination as appearing on Page 59 of the paper book when this witness has stated that Irshad deceased came on the spot around 11.00 a.m., whereas, in the testimony of PW-1, it has been described that Irshad had accompanied him to the concerned slaughter house from the house. But, this variation cannot be said to have any relevance about absence of the deceased at the relevant point of occurrence which took place around 12.00 noon. Therefore, the statement so appearing in the cross examination of P.W. 2 does not effect the fact of presence of deceased Irshad on the spot. This statement may be taken as an isolated aberration and will not have any relevance on the actual occurrence.

38. At this stage, it would be relevant to have appraisal of testimony of doctor witness P.W. 3 S.K. Sharma who conducted post mortem examination on the body of deceased Irshad in order to assess the approximate time of death of the deceased as to when death of Irshad took place. This doctor witness has testified that he conducted the post mortem examination on the dead body of Irshad on 15.2.2009 around 5.30 p.m., on the date when the incident took place. Only one ante mortem injury in form of stab wound on front of chest left side 4 cm medial to nipple on 9.30 O'clock position measuring 4 cm x 2 cm x cavity deep was found. Wound was partly clotted and blood oozing from the wound. Duration of death was stated to be within six hours. Cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of aforesaid ante mortem injury. It has come in the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact particularly P.W. 1 that he cannot say whether the deceased had taken any break fast in the morning of 15.2.2009 or not. The Doctor has submitted that the deceased might have taken food 4-5 hours before his death. However, in the post mortem report, stomach has been shown to be empty. Therefore, opinion of doctor that the deceased might have taken food 4-5 hours before his death remains an opinion based on his personal knowledge and cannot be applied squarely in this case and it cannot be said whether the deceased had taken any food or breakfast in the morning of fateful day or not. Doctor has himself opined in the last line of his examination in chief that death in question could have occurred around 12.00 noon to 12.15 P.M. This specific testimony regarding time of death has neither been challenged nor put to any doubt in cross examination by the appellants. In this view of the matter, there is no doubt regarding approximate time of death that coincides with occurrence and we have discussed above about the incident that it took place around 12 noon on 15.2.2009.

39. Now, we may also consider and analyze the attendant circumstances of the case as appearing in the testimony on record vis a vis the fact of the case. Obviously, the first informant used to supervise slaughtering work of animals at the govt. slaughter house where work in fact started around 11.00 A.M. though the routine work at the govt. slaughterhouse usually began at 7.00 a.m., but on the day of occurrence, the goods/material (animals) meant for slaughtering was received late around 11.00 a.m., therefore, work on the day of the incident began at 11.00 a.m. and when the major part of slaughtering work had been over, three accused persons arrived on the spot amongst whom Raeesh was possessing knife, thereafter the accused persons became insolent and adamant and demanded purchased goods (i.e. animals' flesh) which demand was resisted by the informant's side and this was the motivating factor for causing assault, injury and death of Irshad by the appellants. Here, conjoint act on the part of all the accused and particularly two accused who caught hold of the hands of the deceased shows that the act was done in furtherance of common intention of all the accused persons who had the common intention to commit the offence which they intended. The very manner of occurrence and participation of the accused persons in the incident lead us to inescapable inference that the accused persons were acting in furtherance of their common intention and they committed the offence what they intended. The injury caused on the chest is grievous and fatal and appellants should and must have sufficient cause to believe the outcome of offence committed by them in ghastly manner.

40. Dr. S.K. Sharma PW-3 has also proved that injury inflicted on the deceased was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death of the deceased. At the cost of repetition, we may add that no intriguing fact and circumstance has been brought on record which may impel us to affirm opinion that the prosecution witnesses of fact are trying to avail conviction of accused persons and they have bias towards them. In this way, we are of the view that the testimony of the witnesses of fact cannot be discarded on that count. Before parting with this aspect of the case, it would be relevant and proper at this stage to express that law is well settled that such testimony of relative witnesses is not to be discarded merely on fact of their being relatives of deceased. Reason being that, in number of cases, we find that only relatives are available for giving evidence and particularly so having regard to the prevailing trends of our society, where persons other than relations are not ready to depose before the court. We can also be careful that such testimony should be scrutinized scrupulously and carefully, which testimony we have already gone into. In such a matter, we have similar guiding context and we also take note of ratio of the decision of Hon. Apex Court in the case of Birender Poddar Vs. State of Bihar -2011 Cri.L.J. 3120 (S.C.). Therefore, the ratio laid down by Hon. Apex Court also stands on the similar guidelines of scrupulous and careful scrutiny of such evidence. We, after careful scrutiny of facts and evidence as discussed above, are of firm opinion, that presence of the witnesses on the spot is found to be natural and their version is corroborated in material particular with each other and the same cannot be said to be either embellished or tutored, therefore, their testimony on the whole is inspiring confidence.

41. We have already considered the material aspects of the occurrence which fit in the attendant circumstances and facts of this case and it eventually turns out that the prosecution has been able to prove charge against the accused appellants. The learned trial court has also taken comprehensive view of the entire occurrence and has discussed its various aspects and rightly recorded the conviction against the present appellants and has passed sentence against them which needs no interference at this juncture.

42. Accordingly, we uphold the judgment of conviction and order dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009, arising out of case crime no. 43 of 2009 State Vs. Raeesh and others under section 302, 302/34 I.P.C. and in Sessions Trial No.396 of 2009 arising out of Case Crime No.44 of 2009 State Vs. Raeesh, under sub section (1B) (b) of Section 25 Arms Act. Consequently, the aforesaid appeals lack merit and the same are dismissed.

43. In this case, appellant Raheesh is in jail, whereas, the appellant Haji Munna is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged. He shall be taken into custody forthwith. Both the appellants shall serve out their respective remaining sentence imposed upon them by the trial court.

44. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for necessary information and follow up action.

Legislation referred to Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 302, 302/34, 504; Arms Act, 1959 — S. 25(1B)(b); Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — S. 313

FACTS:

On 15.02.2009 at about 12.00 noon, at the Government Slaughter House, Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Aligarh, the appellant Raeesh arrived armed with a knife, accompanied by his brother Haji Munna (appellant) and father Haji Rasheed (co-accused, since deceased). They entered the slaughter house and demanded delivery of slaughtered goods already purchased by the first informant's side. On being refused, Haji Rasheed and Haji Munna caught hold of the deceased Irshad (brother of the first informant), and Raeesh inflicted a knife blow on his chest with intent to kill him. Irshad was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital, Aligarh, where he was declared dead. Raeesh was apprehended on the spot along with the knife. A first information report was lodged by the first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey (P.W. 1) at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. After investigation, charge-sheets were filed against the appellants.

The Sessions Court, Aligarh, by judgment and order dated 14.12.2010, convicted appellant Raeesh under Section 302 I.P.C. and Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act and convicted appellant Haji Munna under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced both to life imprisonment. Both the appellants challenged their conviction before this Court.

ISSUES:

- (i) Whether the prosecution witnesses, being close relatives of the deceased, are to be treated as interested witnesses and their testimony discarded on that ground alone.
- (ii) Whether the first information report was ante-timed.
- (iii) Whether non-collection of blood-stained earth from the spot and non-examination of fingerprints on the recovered knife vitiated the prosecution case.
- (iv) Whether the testimony of eye-witnesses P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 was reliable, consistent, and sufficient to sustain conviction.
- (v) Whether common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. was established against appellant Haji Munna.

HELD:

(i) Testimony of relative/interested witnesses — Mere relationship of witnesses with the deceased is not by itself a ground to discard their testimony. In many cases, only relatives are available to depose, particularly having regard to the prevailing trends in our society where persons other than relations are not ready to depose before the court. Such testimony, however, must be subjected to scrupulous and careful scrutiny and if, on such scrutiny, it inspires confidence, it cannot be rejected.

Relied on: Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(ii) Prompt lodging of the FIR — The place of occurrence was the Government Slaughter House, situated at a distance of 2 kilometres from the police station. The occurrence took place at about 12.00 noon. The first information report was lodged at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. This constitutes a prompt report. The timeline stated in the FIR stands corroborated by: the inquest report commencing at 2.30 P.M. and concluding at 4.30 P.M.; despatch of the dead body for post-mortem after 4.30 P.M.; and its receipt at the mortuary at 5.20 P.M. The contention that the FIR was ante-timed is, therefore, unsustainable.

(iii) Non-collection of blood from spot — The occurrence took place in a government slaughter house where blood of slaughtered animals had spread all over the premises. It was, therefore, virtually impossible to segregate and collect blood attributable exclusively to the deceased. Non-collection of blood-stained earth under such peculiar facts creates no doubt about the place of occurrence. Footwear left behind at the scene by reason of the stampede that followed were, in fact, seized under a recovery memo by the Investigating Officer.

(iv) Reliability of ocular testimony — The two eye-witnesses, P.W. 1 (first informant and brother of deceased) and P.W. 2 (uncle of deceased), were naturally present at the slaughter house supervising slaughtering work. Their presence at the spot is wholly consistent with the nature of their work and the time of day. Their testimonies are consistent inter se and corroborate the contents of the first information report in all material particulars. The specific description that, after the knife blow, the deceased did not fall immediately but was caught by the witnesses while in the act of falling, is a detail that only persons actually present on the spot could furnish. Cross-examination did not elicit any material contradiction. The defence's own suggestion that the appellant Raees was caught by the first informant after a short chase amounts to an implicit admission of the witnesses' presence at the spot.

Medical evidence of Dr. S.K. Sharma (P.W. 3) corroborates the mode of assault — a single ante-mortem stab wound, 4 cm × 2 cm × chest cavity deep, on the front of the chest on the left side — sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The doctor opined that death could have occurred between 12.00 noon and 12.15 P.M., which is consistent with the prosecution case and was not challenged in cross-examination.

(v) Common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. — The conjoint act of Haji Rasheed and appellant Haji Munna in catching hold of both hands of the deceased Irshad — thereby immobilising him — while the appellant Raees inflicted the knife blow establishes that all the accused persons were acting in furtherance of a common intention to commit the offence. The manner and participation of the accused persons in the incident leads to an inescapable inference of shared common intention.

RESULT:

Both the appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh, in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009 (under Sections 302 and 302/34 I.P.C.) and Sessions Trial No. 396 of 2009 (under Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act) is upheld and confirmed. The bail of appellant Haji Munna stands cancelled and his sureties are discharged. He is directed to be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining period of the sentence imposed upon him by the trial court.

Cases Referred:

Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. This Criminal Appeal has been filed by the aforesaid appellants against the judgement and order of conviction and sentence dated 17.6.2005, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Ghaziabad, in S.T. No. 247 of 2001- State Vs. Babbal @ Harendra and others, arising out of case crime no. 373 of 2000, under sections 147, 148, 149, 504, 506, 307, 302/34 120-B, I.P.C. and section 7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Pilkhua district Ghaziabad, whereby, the each of the appellants, has been sentenced to life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000/- under sections 302/149 I.P.C., one year R.I., under section 148 I.P.C., 7 years R.I. under sections 307/149 I.P.C. and one year R.I., under section 504 I.P.C. 2 years R.I. under section 506 I.P.C. and one year R.I. under section 7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act. In case of default in payment of fine concerned appellant was directed to undergo imprisonment for one year. These sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. We have heard at length Shri A.B.L. Gaur learned Senior Counsel assisted by Shri P.K. Srivastava learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Indradeo Mishra, Kapildev Pandey learned counsel on behalf of the complainant as well as Ms. Meena and Shri J.K. Upadhyaya learned A.G.A. for the State and perused record.

3. The facts germane as reflected from the record, giving rise to this appeal, appear to be that one Veer Sain son of Kanak Singh resident of Chhijarsi, Police Station Pilkhua district Ghaziabad lodged written report on 27.9.2000 at 3.40 p.m. at P.S.- Pilkhua to the effect that one Gambhir and his family members of his village had murdered his brother Fakir Chandra in the year 1996. In the year 1999, Rakesh and Narendra also badly assaulted him and had been extending life threat to him and his family members and since then they had been threatening off and on. On 27.9.2000, his son Babbal and nephew Jitendra went to Qasba/township Pilkhua for purchasing "T" for tractor around 9.00 A.M. in the morning. He along with one Naresh son of Sheoraj of his village had gone to enquire about rate of bricks to Dhaulana at some brick-kiln. As soon as they reached near Sharma Petrol Pump, it was around 11.25 A.M. when his son Babbal and nephew Jitendra were sighted coming from infront of Petrol Pump on Yamaha Motor Cycle and some white coloured Maruti Car following his motor cycle. In the meanwhile white Maruti Car hit from behind the motor cycle. The motor cycle was being driven by his son Babbal. Due to this collision, both Babbal and Jitendra fell down on the ground. As soon as they stood up, Babbal @ Harendra, Chumman @ Narendra, Gambhir and Jain Singh sons of Sardar Singh, possessing country made pistol in their hands and Kuldeep son of Bheem Singh, possessing 'Farsa' alighted from car and Gambhir exhorted that they will take revenge today and it is opportune moment to kill them and while saying so the assailants opened indiscriminate firing on son and nephew of first informant. Both boys sustained gun shot injuries and fell down on the ground. In the meanwhile, Kuldeep assaulted Jitendra with 'Farsa'. First informant and Naresh raised alarm and tried to save them but they were threatened by firing and this compelled the first informant and the other person to take shelter behind bush. Since the first informant was unarmed, therefore, he could not do anything further. Due to indiscriminate firing on the spot, employees of petrol pump and employees of nearby factory ran away from the place of occurrence and panic and silence prevailed over the area.

In the meanwhile, assailants threatened that in case, any persons tried to intervene, he will also be dealt with in the same manner. Assailants made their escape good by using their Maruti Car towards Masoorie. The incident was witnessed by a number of persons. First informant and the other person Naresh, after a short while came on the spot when the police Gypsy also arrived (on the spot), whereupon, both the injured persons were taken to Yashoda Hospital in Gypsy. Nephew Jhitendra succumbed to his injury while on way to the Hospital. Condition of Babbal was serious. He is undergoing treatment in the Hospital. Dead body of his nephew has been sent to Ghaziabad Hospital. Report be lodged and action be taken. It is written in the last line of the report that occurrence has its base in deeply rooted conspiracy hatched by Subhash son of Sardar of his village, who is on inimical terms with the first informant. This report is Ext. Ka. 1 on record.

4. Contents of aforesaid report were taken down in the Check FIR at 3.40 P.M. on 27.9.2000 at crime no. 373 of 2000 under sections 147, 148, 149, 504, 307, 302/34, 120-B, I.P.C. and section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Pilkhua, which is Ext. Ka.-3 on record.

5. On the basis of entries so made in the Check FIR, a case was registered against the accused persons under aforesaid case crime number and sections of IPC and Criminal Law Amendment Act at Police Station Pilkhua in the concerned G.D. Rapat No. 24 at 15.40 hours on 27.9.2000, which is marked as Ext. Ka. 4.

6. Injured Babbal was got admitted in Hospital Nehru Nagar, Ghaziabad on 27.9.2000 at 12.10 P.M. and was admitted there at 12.40 P.M. on the same day. His medical examination was conducted wherein he sustained six injuries on his person which are extracted herein below:

1. Wound 1 cm x 1 cm ragged margins over junction of cervical and thoracic region at back surrounding skin-black, profuse bleeding and viscera deep.
2. Wound $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm ragged margins over mid part of chest below throat, bone deep. Bleeding.
3. Wound $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm x $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm over right temporal region. Post auricular. Blackening. Bleeding on almost half of right pinna cut very severally.
4. Wound over post aspect of right chest about 1 cm x 1 cm at level of 7-8 rib, inverted margins. Bleeding and Tattooing present.
5. Abrasions both shoulders.
6. Tattooing all over right chest, shoulder, upper arm and back.

7. In the opinion of doctor, injuries no. 1 to 4 might have been caused by fire arm and similarly, injury no. 6 may also be caused by use of fire arm. Injury no. 5 may be caused by falling down on the ground.

8. Record reflects that inquest report of deceased Jitendra was prepared on 27.9.2000. It commenced at 5.30 P.M. and completed at 6.30 P.M. Inquest report is Ext. Ka.-10.

9. Relevant papers were also prepared for sending the dead body of Jitendra for post mortem examination. Relevant papers were prepared for the same which papers are photo-nash Ext. Ka. 14, challan dead body (Police Form-13) Ext. Ka. 15, specimen seal Ext. Ka. 12, letter to concerned Chief Medical Officer Ext. Ka. 13, letter sent to the Surgeon by R.I. Ghaziabad Ext. Ka. 11. Thereafter, the post mortem examination on the dead body of Jitendra was conducted on 28.9.2000, at 2.00 P.M. at mortuary Ghaziabad, wherein, the following ante-mortem injuries were found on the dead body by the Dr. J.R. Jiyani P.W. 5:

1. Gunshot wound of entry 1 cm x 1 cm on right side of head 4 cm above ear brain cavity deep-communicating to Injury No.2. Blackening present.

2. Gunshot wound of exit 7 cm 6 cm x brain cavity deep-communicating to Injury no.1 left parietal-temporal region-underneath parietal temporal bone fractured. Brain lacerated.

3. Incised wound 10 cm x 2.5 x brain cavity deep on occipital region transversely placed underneath occipital bone cut.

4. Incised wound 8 cm x 1 ½ cm x muscle deep left side of back, upper part, near spine.

5. Gunshot wound of entry 1 cm x 1cm on abdomen 7 cm above umbilicus at 12 O' clock communicating to Injury No.6 underneath intestines are lacerated at places.

6. Gunshot wound of exit 4 cm x 2 cm x abdomen deep communicating to Injury No.5 on right side back at lumber region.

7. Gunshot wound of entry communicating to Injury No.8 at middle part of back, near spine on right side 1 cm x 1 cm chest cavity deep, tattooing present all around.

8. Gunshot wound of exit 2 cm x 2 cm abdominal cavity deep-communicating to Injury No.7.

9. Gunshot wound of entry 4 cm x 2 cm on left upper part of chest on mid clavicular region, cavity deep, tattooing present around in an area of 15 cm x 15 cm, a bullet, metallic recovered from chest cavity deep.

10. Gutter shaped wound 7 cm 1 cm on back of right forearm 7 cm below elbow joint, tattooing present on whole of back of forearm.

11. Lacerated wound 2 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on lower part of back right side near spine.

10. In the opinion of doctor, cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. Dr. Jiyani P.W. 5 has proved post mortem examination report as Ext. Ka. 5.

11. During the course of investigation, the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of various persons including prosecution witnesses and also prepared relevant papers, a mention of which may be made i.e. recovery memo of simple soil and blood stained soil, empty cartridges, shoes, slipper and Motor Cycle No. U.P. 15-H-3389 Yamaha red colour. This recovery memo is Ext. Ka. 7. The investigating Officer also took blood stained clothes of injured Babbal and prepared memo of the same as Ext. Ka. 8. Apart from above, the Investigating Officer also prepared site plan of the place of occurrence which is marked as Ext. Ka. 6 on record.

12. After completing the investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against the appellants at case crime number no.373 of 2000, under sections 147, 148, 149, 504, 307, 302/34 and 120B IPC and Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, which is Ext. Ka. 9 on record. Thereafter, the case of the accused persons was committed to the court of Session from where, it was made over for trial to the concerned Additional Sessions Judge, who after hearing the appellants on the point of charge, framed charges under sections 147, 148, 307/149, 302/149, 504, 506, 120-B, I.P.C. and section 7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act. The charges were readover and explained to the accused who denied the charges and opted for trial. Consequently, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony to prove its case.

13. The prosecution produced in all six witnesses. Brief reference whereof is being given hereinbelow.

14. Veersen P.W. 1 is the first informant and claims himself to be an eye witness of the incident. He has proved written report Ext. Ka. 1. P.W. 2 Babbal Singh is the injured eye witness and is also star witness for the prosecution. He has narrated about the incident. P.W. 3 Dr. Sushil Fotedar has examined aforesaid injured witness P.W. 2 Babbal Singh on 27.9.2000 at Yashoda Hospital and has proved injury report of injured Babbal Singh as Ext. Ka. 2. K.L. Suman Head Constable is P.W. 4. He has proved check FIR as Ext. Ka. 3 and relevant G.D. entry and registration of case against the appellants as Ext. Ka. 4. P.W. 5 is J.R. Jiyani. He has conducted autopsy on the dead body of the deceased Jitendra at 2.00 P.M. on 28.9.2000 and has proved post mortem report as Ext. Ka. 5. P.W. 6 -S.I. Pyare Lal Yadav is the Investigating Officer of this case and he has described the various steps he took in completing the investigation. He has elaborated every relevant aspect of the investigation in his testimony and has proved filing of charge sheet against the appellants as Ext. Ka.9. Besides, he has proved other relevant papers either prepared by himself or got prepared from his colleagues in completing the investigation.

15. Thereafter the evidence for the prosecution was closed and statement of accused appellants was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein the appellants termed their implication false and submitted that they have been falsely implicated on account of old enmity and village Parti-Bandi.

16. In turn, the defence got examined constable Banwari Lal as D.W. 1. As per his testimony, he has described about certain entries made by him in the City Control Room on the relevant date of occurrence (i.e. 27.9.2000). Thereafter, the case was heard on its merit by the learned Trial Judge, who after appraisal of facts, recorded conviction against the appellants and sentenced them to various terms of imprisonment and fine under sections 148, 307 read with section 149, 302 read with Section 149, 504, 506 I.P.C. and section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act in Sessions Trial No. 247 of 2001. Consequently, this appeal.

17. Shri A.B.L. Gaur learned counsel for the appellants has vigorously persuaded that the prosecution has not been able to establish its charges beyond reasonable doubt and the occurrence itself becomes doubtful. Lodging of the First Information Report is ante timed. P.W. 1 the first informant has, infact, not seen the occurrence. Investigation is tainted. Even injured witness is not worthy of credit and he infact did not see the real assailants. In this case, the circumstances are so placed that the injury report of Babbal, as claimed by the prosecution, has not been properly proved by Dr. Sushil Fotedar P.W. 3. Injury report Ext. Ka. 2 becomes waste paper.

18. D.W. 1 constable Banwari Lal happens to be an independent witness of so called post occurrence and has proved various entries and information received in the City Control Room of Ghaziabad. D.W. 1, if believed, then first information report becomes ante dated. It is claimed by the prosecution that the police arrived immediately on the spot and took the injured to hospital in Police Gypsy. As per testimony of D.W. 1, the police control room was informed about the incident around 11.30 A.M. and it was also admitted that white coloured Maruti Car has been abandoned and only two persons were seen alighting from the aforesaid Car. If this is the state of affairs on the factual side, then this must have to be repelled first in order to establish consistency of the prosecution version and the charges, but these vital facts in shape of attendant circumstances adversely make deep dent in the prosecutions story and create lot of doubt which doubt has not been dispelled. Obviously, the first information report was lodged at 3.40 P.M. and as per testimony of D.W. 1, no such intimation was given to the city control room regarding lodging of first information report by 4.05 p.m. From 3.40 P.M. to 4.05 P.M. on 27.9.2000, if no information regarding the lodging of first information report was received at the police control room then it is obvious that no information report was in existence till 4.05 on 27.9.2000. These factual aspects and circumstances show handy work of police and false implication of the accused persons. Even one person was apprehended by the police, but this particular fact was not properly brought before the trial court. All these anomalies generated lot of doubts and loopholes in the prosecution story and same cannot be believed as such.

19. Per contra, learned A.G.A. submitted that the prosecution case rests on the ground that the lodging of the first information report under the relevant sections of IPC and Criminal Law Amendment Act has been reasonably proved. The same cannot be said to be ante time. D.W.1 is working as a commentator. In common parlance, it is not necessary that each and every first information report, which is lodged, just before 4.00 P.M. will be immediately communicated to the City Control Room because, Government agencies who man the situation, take their own time and pause in which mathematical calculation and immediate execution of information cannot be expected of them. The testimony of injured witness cannot be done away merely on the asking. He has narrated the entire incident in consistent way and his presence on the spot is established and it is also established that he was fully conscious of the occurrence till he fell down unconsciously. The first informant also happened to be present on the spot and his presence cannot be doubted and his testimony regarding the details of the incident inspires confidence. The case of the prosecution is proved consistently against the appellants.

20. Shri Indradeo and Shri Kapildeo Pandey learned counsel for the complainant added further to the above arguments of the learned A.G.A. and engaged our attention to the various injuries sustained by Babbal and submitted that there was blackening in some injuries sustained by injured witness P.W. 2. The testimony of P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 cannot be said to be contradictory in material particulars and particularly regarding the manner and style of the incident. The incident occurred in broad day light and identity of the appellants was well known to them i.e. first informant and Babbal, therefore, participation of the appellants in the commission of the crime resulting into death of one person and vital injuries to another person have been ably proved by direct testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact and the same gets corroboration from the circumstances of the case and on the whole inspires confidence in the prosecution case that the appellants have committed ghastly crime.

21. Learned counsel concluded by submitting that very motive for committing the crime is virtually admitted to the defence and the appellants have themselves stated that their implication is on account of old enmity and village Parti-bandi, whereas the fact of enmity has been proved by P.W. 1 in his examination in chief, and fact of enmity goes without challenge by the defence in cross-examination. Thus fact of old enmity acts as strong motive for committing offence in question.

22. We also considered the rival submissions so placed by the learned counsel for both the sides. We may scrutinize facts and circumstances of the case in the light of testimony on record.

23. Therefore, the moot point arises for adjudication of this appeal hinges on central point whether in the incident in question and participation of the appellants in the commission of the crime have not been reasonably proved and a doubt is created in favour of the appellants as claimed by them?

24. At the outset, we may take note of contents of the first information report. As per description contained in the first information report, we discover that first information was lodged at 3.40 P.M. on 27.9.2000 regarding the incident having taken place at 11.25 A.M. on the very same day. All the appellants were named in the first information report and first informant Veersain happens to be father of the injured witness Babbal and maternal uncle (Mama) of deceased Jitendra. On the motive part of the incident, it has been described in the first information report that brother of first informant Fakir Chandra was murdered by the accused side in the year 1996 and similar attempt was made on the life of first informant in the year 1999 and threat continued periodically from time to time from the accused side and in this background, instant incident was allegedly caused by the present appellants.

25. First information report leads us to facts that the incident took place on 27.9.2000 when the injured Babbal and the deceased Jitendra were returning home from the market at Pilkhua Kasba and as soon as they reached near Sharma Petrol Pump, it was around 11.25 A.M. with Yamaha Motor Cycle (on which both injured and deceased were riding), was hit from behind by white coloured Maruti Car, due to which, both motor cycle riders were thrown away and fell down on the ground. As soon as both the victims of vehicular collision were in the process of recovery and stood on the ground, the assailants Babbal @ Harendra, Chumman @ Narendra, Gambhir and Jai Singh, possessing country made pistol in their hands and one Kuldip possessing 'Farsa' in his hand alighted from White Coloured Maruti Car and at the exhortation of Gambhir, opened fire on both the victims due to which both the victims fell on the ground, then Kuldeep assaulted Jitendra by 'Farsa'. The first informant and his companion raised alarm whereupon, the assailants opened fire also on these persons. Though the first informant somehow escaped unhurt and took shelter behind bushes. Due to indiscriminate firing on the spot, panic was created in and around, therefore, staff of Petrol Pump and persons working in nearby factory, fled away from the scene. Due to this, the assailants waiving their weapons and threatening, made their escape good from the place of occurrence. The incident was witnessed by the first informant and his companion Naresh. In the meanwhile, some police Jeep also arrived on the spot and took both the injured to Yashoda Hospital where the nephew of the first informant Jitendra succumbed to his injuries on way to hospital and his son Babbal was admitted in critical condition in the hospital. The dead body of first informant's nephew was sent to the Government Hospital at Ghaziabad while his son Babbal was under-treatment. This first information report was scribed by Saudan Singh son of Shyam Singh.

26. Now, we may switch over to testimony of the two prosecution witnesses namely P.W.1 Veer Sain and P.W. 2 injured eye witness Babbal Singh. Testimony of P.W. 1 first informant Veer Sain, gives very motive for committing the crime. His testimony discloses fact that his brother Fakir Chandra was murdered by Gambhir and his family members of his village in the year 1996 and in the year 1999, Rakesh and Narendra had attacked first informant with intention to kill him and they kept on threatening the first informant and his family. In this view of the matter, it is obvious that motive suggested for committing crime in shape of old enmity has been reasonably established. Though in presence of eye account testimony motive loses significance. However, establishment of fact of motive as the prime cause for committing offence strengthens case of the prosecution.

27. Further, it has come in the examination in chief of P.W. 1 that Jai Singh, Gambhir, Narendra and one another person have been convicted for committing murder of Fakir Chandra, brother of first informant and have been sentenced to life imprisonment. This aspect virtually proved the existence of old enmity between the first informant and the accused persons. The testimony regarding occurrence has come forth from two eye-witnesses P.W.1 Veersain and P.W.2 Babbal Singh wherein they have described about the occurrence to have taken place around 11.25 A.M. at short distance of Sharma Petrol Pump. The first informant saw Babbal and his nephew riding Yamaha motor cycle coming from Pilkhua side. Their motorcycle was being followed by white coloured Maruti Car. In the meanwhile, said Maruti Car collided with the motor cycle from behind causing falling down of both the motor cycle riders on the ground. As soon as both the riders of motorcycle somehow stood up or were in the process when the appellants Babbal @ Harendra, Chumman @ Narendra, Gambhir and Jai Singh who were possessing country made pistol in their hands, appeared on the spot and at the exhortation of Gambhir, they fired indiscriminately on both the motor cycle riders due to which both of them fell down on the ground. The first informant raised alarm whereupon, the appellants opened fire on him too with intention to kill him and also tried to lay hold on him.

28. However, the first informant along with other companion, took shelter behind bushes. Lot of panic was created and people working over their fled away from the scene and the accused persons also secured their escape from the spot. In the meanwhile, some police vehicle (Gypsy) arrived on the spot and took both the injured to the hospital. Nephew Jitendra died on way to hospital while informant's son Babbal was admitted in Yashoda Nursing Home and thereafter, first informant got the first information written by Saudan Singh son of Shyam Singh and made his endorsement on the same and handed over the same at the concerned police station. It has come in his testimony that both injured Babbal and deceased Jitendra had gone to purchase tractor 'T' from Pilkhua market and in the meanwhile, first informant accompanied by one Naresh, had proceeded around 11.15 A.M. on 27.9.2000 for knowing price of bricks at some brick-kiln at Dhaulana. The incident as per testimony took place around 11.25 A.M.

29. Before we enter into meritorial aspect of above testimony, it would be relevant to take note of testimony of injured witness Babbal P.W. 2. His testimony carries force more than that of P.W. 1. P.W. 2 Babbal Singh has testified that on the fateful day, on- 27.9.2000, he left his home around 9.00 A.M. along with Jitendra cousin brother on motor cycle for purchasing tractor 'T' from Pilkhua market. They searched for tractor "T" but could not find the same and they were returning home. He was driving the motorcycle and Jitendra was pillion rider. It was around 11.30 A.M. when they reached near Sharma Petrol Pump on Delhi road, one white coloured Maruti Car hit his motor cycle from behind due to which they fell on the ground and as soon as they stood up Babbal @ Harendra, Chumman @ Narendra, Gambhir, Jai Singh and one Kuldip came out of Car and opened fire on both of them. Due to this, Babbal fell down on the ground and became unconscious. As per his testimony, he regained consciousness thereafter on 7.10.2000, then his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer. PW-2 has been cross examined wherein he has stated that after falling on the ground pursuant to collision, and when he stood up, the assailants appeared in front of him and then assailants opened fire from a distance of 3-4 ft. He has been cross examined as to when he fell down then he stated that he fell down after receiving 2-3 gun shots. In his cross examination, it has emerged that one fire was also made at point blank range on his right ear. On this aspect contention has been raised by the defence that there is no such injury being caused on the right ear at point blank range. Had the said shot been fired at point blank range, the skull of the injured would have been damaged severely, but no such injury was caused to the injured, therefore, testimony of fire from point blank range becomes wholly unreliable.

30. This contention does not carry force in view of the fact that though the attempt was so made but it has not surfaced in the testimony of the injured witness that it did in fact hit directly on the skull or somewhere else. This witness also spelled number of Maruti Car which hit the Motor Cycle. It also emerged in cross examination that after he was hit by pellet, he fell down unconscious within one and half minute (of the incident). He claims that he was conscious when the police arrived on the spot.

31. In view of the above testimony, we may conveniently discuss injury report of Babbal (Ext. Ka.2) which reflects that as many as six injuries were caused on his person with following description:

1. Wound 1 cm x 1 cm ragged margins over junction of cervical and thoracic region at back surrounding skin-black, profuse bleeding and viscera deep.

2. Wound $\frac{1}{2}$ cm x $\frac{1}{2}$ cm ragged margins over mid part of chest below throat, bone deep. Bleeding.

3. Wound $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm x $1\frac{1}{2}$ cm over right temporal region. Post auricular. Blackening. Bleeding on almost half of right pinna cut very severally.

4. Wound over post aspect of right chest about 1 cm x 1 cm at level of 7-8 rib, inverted margins. Bleeding and Tattooing present.

5. Abrasions both shoulders.

6. Tattooing all over right chest, shoulder, upper arm and back.

32. Dr. Sushil Fottedar PW-3 has proved medical examination report as Ext. Ka. 2 and has stated that this medical examination report was signed by Dr. Arvind Sharma whose signature appeared on the medical report. In the opinion of doctor, the four injuries might have been caused by fire arm. Injury no. 6 may have been caused by fire arm and injury no. 5 may be caused by falling down on the ground. In the opinion of doctor these injuries could have been caused around 11.25 A.M. on 27.9.2000. and these injuries might have caused death. In his cross examination, this doctor has suggested that one bullet was found at the vulnerable point embedded in injury no.3, therefore the same was not extricated. Had it been extricated, it could have caused death of injured.

33. He has also stated that one pellet was also extricated after opening chest of the injured. He has suggested that there may be margin of six hours in the timing. On this margin count, the doctor witness has not been suggested specifically by the appellants that these injuries could not have been caused at the relevant point of time on 27.9.2000.

34. In this view of the matter, obviously, causing of such injuries on the person of Babbal has been proved and the presence of at least P.W. 2 Babbal is established on the spot. He has specifically named the assailants who caused injuries to him as well as his cousin brother Jitendra.

35. Here, we may go through the contents of the post mortem report Ext. Ka. 11. From perusal of ante mortem injuries, it trickles out that as many as 11 injuries were caused on the body of the deceased Jitendra. It was conducted around 2.00 P.M. on 28.9.2000. Out of 11 ante mortem injuries most of the injuries were stated to be gun shot wounds. These injuries are as follows:

1. Gunshot wound of entry 1 cm x 1 cm right side of head 4 cm above ear brain cavity deep-communicating to Injury No.2. Blackening present.

2. Gunshot wound of exit 7 cm 6 cm x brain cavity deep-communicating to Injury no.1 left parietal-temporal region-underneath parietal temporal bone fractured. Brain lacerated.

3. Incised wound 10 cm x 2.5 x brain cavity deep on occipital region transversely placed underneath occipital bone cut.

4. Incised wound 8 cm x 1 ½ cm x muscle deep left side of back, upper part, near spine.

5. Gunshot wound of entry 1 cm x 1cm on abdomen 7 cm above umbilicus at 12 O' clock communicating to Injury No.6 underneath of intestines are lacerated at places.

6. Gunshot wound of exit 4 cm x 2 cm x abdomen deep communicating to Injury No.5 on right side back at lumber region.

7. Gunshot wound of entry communicating to Injury No.8 at middle part of back, near spine on right side 1 cm x 1 cm chest cavity deep, tattooing present all around.

8. Gunshot wound of exit 2 cm x 2 cm abdominal cavity deep-communicating to Injury No.7.

9. Gunshot wound of entry 4 cm x 2 cm on left upper part of chest on mid clavicular region, cavity deep, tattooing present around in an area of 15 cm x 15 cm, a bullet, metallic recovered from chest cavity deep.

10. Gutter shaped wound 7 cm 1 cm on back of right forearm 7 cm below elbow joint, tattooing present on whole of back of forearm.

11. Lacerated wound 2 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on lower part of back right side near spine.

36. In the opinion of doctor cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of aforesaid ante mortem injuries and these injuries were stated to have been caused one day prior (to post mortem report). In the opinion of doctor, death could have occurred around 12.00 noon on 27.9.2000. Except injury no. 1, 3 and 4, rest of the injuries could have been caused by fire arm. The doctor also proved extricated pellet from the chest of deceased as material Ext. 1.

37. One thing is obvious that injuries caused to both the deceased and injured (Jitendra and Babbal) were gun shot wounds and injuries were found on their body and person respectively. Certain injuries were diagnosed with blackening and tattooing, which fact by itself reflects that some shots might have been fired from at close range and that too under the circumstances subject to actual distance between the assailants and the victim vis-a-vis actual position of the weapons and the seat of injuries, its angle, and the ultimate position of its touch point. It cannot be said that the assailants, deceased and the injured remained static and stagnant all through the incident. It cannot be said under facts and circumstances that gun shots would have and must not have caused such tattooing and blackening. As per testimony of injured witness Babbal, injuries were caused at a distance of 2-3 ft. It is common experience that if a person is being hit by firearm he will vary his position and so the assailants. During course of commotion, injuries could have been caused, as the case may be, on person or body depending on actual positioning of the weapon used and the length covered by out stretched hand and the weapon, thus causing injuries with blackening and tattooing, whereas it can be under such circumstances that there was no such symptom (blackening and tattooing) present in other injuries. In the opinion of doctor, these injuries could have been caused on 27.9.2000 at relevant point of time.

38. In such a factual scenario, injuries caused on the person of Babbal stands corroborated by the medical testimony of the doctor. P.W. 5 who has not even been suggested that these injuries could have been caused at different point of time in different manner; but nothing adverse has come out in the cross examination of doctor witness P.W. 5 Dr. J.R. Jiyani, therefore, the medical evidence is corroborated by the ocular testimony of the injured.

39. On the point of presence of the injured on the spot, it is obvious that there is no suggestion from defence regarding whereabouts of injured Babbal at relevant point of time when he could have sustained these injuries on his person. Similarly P.W. 1 has also corroborated version of P.W. 2 and in that perspective, presence of (P.W. 1) on the spot also appears to be natural. Contention raised by the appellants to the extent that another eye witness Naresh was not examined will not by itself falsify otherwise cogent, consistent and corroborative testimony of the above two witnesses of fact. Further contention regarding non-examination of the scribe does not carry force, for the reason that the first informant was strenuously cross-examined by the defence and the defence could have at least suggested some facts which may render timing of first information report being ante time, but from his testimony (P.W.1) nothing inconsistent has come to surface, therefore, non examination of Naresh and scribe Saudan Singh would not erode the prosecution case.

40. Now, we may take note of testimony of D.W. 1 whose testimony is said to be reflecting on several aspects of the case and particularly, first information report being ante timed. Core argument advanced relates to the fact that on 27.09.2000 till 4.05 P.M., register meant for indicating number of first information report lodged did not bear description of present first information report though lodged at 3.40 P.M. on 27.9.2000. Merely because the relevant register did not contain such description will not by itself render the first information report ante timed, for the reason that lot of other activities also take place at the concerned police station after first information report is lodged and particularly a report relating to such ghastly crime will necessary take time for other follow up action. It may reasonably take half an hour or so much time to communicate about such report to the police control room. We in India know how the police authorities discharge such type of duties. Thus non description of number of FIR at 4.05 P.M. on 27.9.2000 in the register meant for it will not render the FIR ante-timed.

41. Bare perusal of the first information report entails every relevant detail and factum of death of Jitendra, which by itself indicates that the first information report cannot be treated to be an after thought or outcome of deliberation, because as per testimony of doctor witness, the death of Jitendra might have occurred around 12 noon on 27.9.2000 and this specific piece of testimony virtually went unchallenged by the defence.

42. Further, what compulsion was working on the first informant that instead of naming the real culprits, he would conceal their identity and would press for participation of such innocent persons like the present appellants- who have nothing to do with the offence. The defence even could not suggest specifically any natural fact to the first informant, therefore, claim of false implication, under the circumstances stands ruled out. Besides ocular testimony on the point of incident we have before us testimony of D.W. 1 Banwari Lal who has given information regarding the incident to the city control room around 11.30 A.M. and the same was taken down in the relevant register by one Lala Singh. Here, it is obvious that this is an exclusive act of the police and it was incumbent on the police to have taken cognizance of such information and could have proceeded further in its own way, but to all intents and purposes, the police refrained from taking any action, for which prosecution is not to be blamed. It is further reflected from the testimony of D.W. 1 that Maruti Car was said to have been traced out near the Garg Engineering College around 12.22 hours on 27.9.2000. This was also informed that two persons alighted from the Maruti Car. This fact itself cannot be directly related and confined to the overall number of assailants and the actual car used in the occurrence.

43. As per testimony of the Investigating Officer P.W. 6 Pyare Lal Yadav, Sub Inspector, at page 43 of the paper book, it has been specifically stated that on 9.2.2001, information was sought regarding the car used in the commission of crime and search was made on 10.2.2001. On 11.1.2001, it so transpired that this car was stolen car. There is no such confirmation by the Investigating Officer that Maruti Car used in the crime was exactly the same as pointed out by D.W. 1 in his testimony at page 71 of the paper book. Therefore, contention raised to the extent that in case testimony of D.W. 1 is believed then the first information report becomes ante dated and ante-time stands negated under the facts and circumstances of the case.

44. In this context, we may also note of testimony of P.W. 4 K. L. Suman who has proved the lodging of the first information report at 15.40 hours at crime no. 373 of 2000 under sections referred to above, bearing first information report no. 230 of 2000. This first information report is Ext. Ka. 3 and similarly registration of the case at relevant G.D., Rapat No. 24 on 27.9.2000 at the same crime number is Ext. Ka. 4 on record. He has denied suggestion that the first information report was lodged after the inquest report of deceased Jitendra was prepared.

45. Perusal of the inquest report Ext. Ka. 10 which is proved by the P.W. 6 the investigating Office, reflects that preparation of inquest report commenced at 5.30 P.M. on 27.9.2000 and was completed at 6.30 P.M. First page of this inquest report contains details of case crime number with sections of IPC and name of the police station and these descriptions are in the same ink and same hand writing. Under circumstances, it is hard to believe that first information report came into existence only after the inquest report had been prepared. Not only this, other relevant papers Photo Nash Ext. Ka. 14 specimen seal Ext. Ka. 12, letter to C.M.O. Ghaziabad is Ext. Ka. 13 also bear case crime number and the ink used is the same, therefore, authenticity of these papers is self explained and cannot be doubted as such. In so far as contradictions appearing in the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact P.W. 1 and 2 is concerned, there is no such material contradiction which may render the prosecution story doubtful. On the contrary, both the eye witnesses of the occurrence particularly injured eye witness Babbal is most consistent, clinching and his testimony is inspiring confidence and the same is in conformity to medical testimony on record. This way medical testimony becomes worthy of credit- leaving no room for doubt regarding the occurrence.

46. We may further note that Investigating Officer also prepared memo of blood stained and simple soil and the recovery of empty cartridges, missed cartridges, slipper, shoes etc. which also confirms place of occurrence and this memo has been ably proved by the Investigating Officer Ext. Ka. 7, therefore, there is no doubt about the place of occurrence. Thus, we have no doubt in recording verdict in favour of the prosecution and we cannot doubt the very occurrence. Whatever inconsistency are there in the ocular testimony of prosecution witnesses, the same are trivial and minor in nature and they do not hit at the root of the prosecution case. The testimony of D.W. 1 in the presence of innocuous testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact P.W. 1 and 2 is rendered insignificant vis-a-vis, circumstances of this case. The learned trial court took genuine view of facts and circumstances and evidence on record, and recorded just finding of conviction based on material on record and awarded just sentence.

47. Therefore, judgement and order of conviction and sentence dated 17.6.2005, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Ghaziabad, in S.T. No. 247 of 2001- State Vs. Babbal @ Harendra and others, arising out of case crime no. 373 of 2000, under sections 147, 148, 149, 504, 506, 307, 302/34 120-B, I.P.C. and section 7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Pilkhua district Ghaziabad, is hereby upheld by us. This appeal lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

48. In this case, appellants are languishing in jail, they shall serve out the remaining sentences imposed on them by the trial court.

49. Let a copy of this order be certified to the court concerned for information and necessary follow up action.

Counsel for Respondent:

Govt. Advocate, R.L. Shukla, S.K. Yadav, Sanjay Yadav

Legislation referred to Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 302, 302/34, 504; Arms Act, 1959 — S. 25(1B)(b); Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — S. 313

FACTS:

On 15.02.2009 at about 12.00 noon, at the Government Slaughter House, Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Aligarh, the appellant Raeesh arrived armed with a knife, accompanied by his brother Haji Munna (appellant) and father Haji Rasheed (co-accused, since deceased). They entered the slaughter house and demanded delivery of slaughtered goods already purchased by the first informant's side. On being refused, Haji Rasheed and Haji Munna caught hold of the deceased Irshad (brother of the first informant), and Raeesh inflicted a knife blow on his chest with intent to kill him. Irshad was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital, Aligarh, where he was declared dead. Raeesh was apprehended on the spot along with the knife. A first information report was lodged by the first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey (P.W. 1) at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. After investigation, charge-sheets were filed against the appellants.

The Sessions Court, Aligarh, by judgment and order dated 14.12.2010, convicted appellant Raesh under Section 302 I.P.C. and Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act and convicted appellant Haji Munna under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced both to life imprisonment. Both the appellants challenged their conviction before this Court.

ISSUES:

- (i) Whether the prosecution witnesses, being close relatives of the deceased, are to be treated as interested witnesses and their testimony discarded on that ground alone.
- (ii) Whether the first information report was ante-timed.
- (iii) Whether non-collection of blood-stained earth from the spot and non-examination of fingerprints on the recovered knife vitiated the prosecution case.
- (iv) Whether the testimony of eye-witnesses P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 was reliable, consistent, and sufficient to sustain conviction.
- (v) Whether common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. was established against appellant Haji Munna.

HELD:

(i) Testimony of relative/interested witnesses — Mere relationship of witnesses with the deceased is not by itself a ground to discard their testimony. In many cases, only relatives are available to depose, particularly having regard to the prevailing trends in our society where persons other than relations are not ready to depose before the court. Such testimony, however, must be subjected to scrupulous and careful scrutiny and if, on such scrutiny, it inspires confidence, it cannot be rejected.

Relied on: Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(ii) Prompt lodging of the FIR — The place of occurrence was the Government Slaughter House, situated at a distance of 2 kilometres from the police station. The occurrence took place at about 12.00 noon. The first information report was lodged at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. This constitutes a prompt report. The timeline stated in the FIR stands corroborated by: the inquest report commencing at 2.30 P.M. and concluding at 4.30 P.M.; despatch of the dead body for post-mortem after 4.30 P.M.; and its receipt at the mortuary at 5.20 P.M. The contention that the FIR was ante-timed is, therefore, unsustainable.

(iii) Non-collection of blood from spot — The occurrence took place in a government slaughter house where blood of slaughtered animals had spread all over the premises. It was, therefore, virtually impossible to segregate and collect blood attributable exclusively to the deceased. Non-collection of blood-stained earth under such peculiar facts creates no doubt about the place of occurrence. Footwear left behind at the scene by reason of the stampede that followed were, in fact, seized under a recovery memo by the Investigating Officer.

(iv) Reliability of ocular testimony — The two eye-witnesses, P.W. 1 (first informant and brother of deceased) and P.W. 2 (uncle of deceased), were naturally present at the slaughter house supervising slaughtering work. Their presence at the spot is wholly consistent with the nature of their work and the time of day. Their testimonies are consistent inter se and corroborate the contents of the first information report in all material particulars. The specific description that, after the knife blow, the deceased did not fall immediately but was caught by the witnesses while in the act of falling, is a detail that only persons actually present on the spot could furnish. Cross-examination did not elicit any material contradiction. The defence's own suggestion that the appellant Raeesh was caught by the first informant after a short chase amounts to an implicit admission of the witnesses' presence at the spot.

Medical evidence of Dr. S.K. Sharma (P.W. 3) corroborates the mode of assault — a single ante-mortem stab wound, 4 cm × 2 cm × chest cavity deep, on the front of the chest on the left side — sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The doctor opined that death could have occurred between 12.00 noon and 12.15 P.M., which is consistent with the prosecution case and was not challenged in cross-examination.

(v) Common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. — The conjoint act of Haji Rasheed and appellant Haji Munna in catching hold of both hands of the deceased Irshad — thereby immobilising him — while the appellant Raeesh inflicted the knife blow establishes that all the accused persons were acting in furtherance of a common intention to commit the offence. The manner and participation of the accused persons in the incident leads to an inescapable inference of shared common intention.

RESULT:

Both the appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh, in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009 (under Sections 302 and 302/34 I.P.C.) and Sessions Trial No. 396 of 2009 (under Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act) is upheld and confirmed. The bail of appellant Haji Munna stands cancelled and his sureties are discharged. He is directed to be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining period of the sentence imposed upon him by the trial court.

Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Kirshna Narayana, J.)

1. Heard Sri Brijesh Sahai, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Sagir Ahmad, learned A. G. A. assisted by Mrs. Manju Thakur Brief Hlder appearing for the State of U. P. and Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel appearing on behalf of complainant.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed by A1 Ram Awadh Pandey, A2 Ravindra Pandey, A3 Awadh Narain alias Sawadh Narain Pandey, A4 Ram Darash Pandey and A5 Roshan Pandey against the judgement and order dated 5.12.2012 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, (Temporary Ex-cadre Post) Court No. 2, Azamgarh in Sessions Trial No. 437 of 2009; State Versus Ram Awadh pandey and others arising out of Case Crime No. 285 of 2009 under Sections-147, 302/148, 323/149, 325/149 I. P. C. and Section-7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act, P. S.-Jahanaganj, district-Azamgarh convicting the appellants and sentencing them to six months' R. I. Under Section-147 I. P. C., life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 3000/- each and in default of payment of fine, one year's additional R. I., under Sections-302/149 I. P. C. one year's R. I., under Sections-323/149 I. P. C. one and half years' R. I. and fine of Rs. 1000/- each and in default of payment of fine six months' additional R. I. under Sections-325/149. The Additional Sessions Judge, (Temporary Ex-cadre Post) Court No. 2, Azamgarh had directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. Briefly stated, the prosecution case is that while Sri Subba Yadav, son of late Mangal Yadav, Gram Pradhan of Punarji Gram Sabha was supervising the work of digging soil on 5.5.2009 at about 8.00 p. m. on the chak road in the southern corner of the village, A1 Ram Awadh Pandey, A2 Ravindra Pandey, A3 Awadh Narain aliaas Sawah Narain Pandey, A4 Ram Darash Pandey, A5 Roshan Pandey and one Shiv Poojan Pandey armed with lathis and dandas reached the chak road, where the work of digging and laying soil was in progress and ordered to stop the work of digging and laying soil forthwith as the land from which the soil was being dug, was part of their chak, to which Subba Yadav agreed and said that the work will be resumed only after demarcation is done on the spot and started walking towards his house. At that point, the aforesaid persons suddenly surrounded the Pradhan and started beating him and when the complainant Arvind Kumar Singh and his cousin brother Pradeep Yadav, S/o Ram Nath Yadav tried to intercede, the accused beat them also inflicting severe injuries on them. As a result of beating given by the appellants to Pradhan Subba Yadav, he died on the spot. On the complainant's and his brother's making noise and raising cries for help, large number of villagers gathered at the place of occurrence whereafter the appellants ran away from the place of incident. On the basis of the written report of the aforesaid occurrence (Ext. Ka 1) lodged by the complainant Raj Kumar Yadav, P. W. 1, S/o Ram Janan Yadav on 5.5.2009 at about 9.20 a. M. at P. S.-Jahanaganj, district-Azamgarh, Case Crime No. 285 of 2009 under Sections- 147. 302 and 323 I. P. C. was registered against all the accused / appellants and one Shiv Poojan Pandey, who died during investigation. The check F. I. R. and the G. D. entry, carbon copy whereof has been brought on record as Ext. Ka 7 were prepared by P. W. 9 Constable Arvind Kumar Singh. After registration of Case Crime No. 285 of 2009, under Sections-147, 302/148, 323/149, 325/149 I. P. C. and Section-7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act at P. S.-Jahanaganj, district-Azamgarh, the investigation thereof was entrusted to P. W. 10 Sri Atma Ram Yadav, the then S. H. O., P. S.-Jahana Ganj, district-Azamgarh, who after copying the check F. I. R. and the G. D. entry in the Case Diary recorded the statement of P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav and reached the place of occurrence and after inspecting the same, prepared the site plan (Ext. Ka 9 and 10) and conducted the inquest of the dead body of the deceased, prepared the inquest report (Ext. Ka 11) and the other documents and after completing the necessary paper work, got the dead body of the deceased sealed and dispatched to the District Hospital, Azamgarh for post mortem. The post mortem of the dead body of the deceased was performed by Dr. A. K. Misra, P. W. 5 who prepared the post mortem report (Ext. Ka 3). P. W. 10. After completion of investigation charge-sheet was submitted by the investigating officer against all the accused under Sections-302, 147, 323 and 325 I. P. C. and Section-7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act before the concerned magistrate.

4. Since the offences enumerated in the charge-sheet were triable by the Court of Sessions, the magistrate concerned after summoning the accused and complying with the requirement of Section- 207 Cr. P. C. committed the case for trial of the accused to the Court of Sessions and after committal of the case to the Court of Sessions, the case was transferred to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Azamgarh. Charges were framed against all the accused under Sections-147, 302/149, 323/149 and 325/149 I. P. C. and Section-7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act. All the accused denied the charges framed against them and claimed trial. It may be noted that the co-accused Shiv Poojan Yadav had died in the District Jail, Azamgarh during investigation.

5. The prosecution in order to prove its charges against the accused examined P. W. 1, complainant Raj Kumar Yadav, P. W. 2 Pradeep Yadav, P. W. 3 Smt. Prabhawati, P. W. 4 Dr. K. N. Pandey, P. W. 5 Dr. A. K. Misra, P. W. 6 Dr. Gayasuddin Khan, P. W. 7 Dr. R. K. Mahato, P. W. 8 Om Prakash Srivastava, P. W. 9 Arvind Kumar Singh, P. W. 10 S. I. Atma Ram Yadav. The documentary evidence adduced by the prosecution has been referred to and dealt with by the learned trial judge in the impugned judgement and order and the same need not be reproduced again. The accused-appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr. P. C. disputed the manner in which the occurrence had been narrated in the F. I. R. and stated that the F. I. R. has been lodged after due deliberation and consultation containing absolutely false and incorrect facts and the same was a result of undue pressure. They denied that they were responsible for the incident and wrong charge-sheet had been submitted due to enmity and pressure. They also stated that the witnesses had given false evidence against them under the influence of partisan witnesses.

6. The defence examined D. W. 1 Dr. Kumod Kumar Jha and Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh and also brought on record injury report (Ext. Ka 1) and post mortm report (Ext. Ka 2) of deceased Shiv Poojan Yadav, injury report of Roshan Kumar Pandey (Ext. Ka 3), injury report of Ram Awadh Pandey (Ext. Ka 4) and apart from the aforesaid, the defence also filed certified copy of the check F. I. R. of Case Crime No. 885 of 2010 vide list 106 Kha to 107 kha and order dated 2.7.2010 paper No. 108 Kha and application dated 28.7.2010 paper no. 110 Kha filed by Ram Awadh Pandey.

7. After considering the submissions made by leaned counsel for the parties before him and scrutinising the oral as well as documentary evidence on record adduced by both the parties, the Additional Sessions Judge, (Temporary Ex-cadre Post) Court No. 2, Azamgarh by the impugned judgement and order convicted the appellants and awarded the aforesaid sentences to them.

8. Sri Brijesh Sahai, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the prosecution having suppressed the real genesis of the incident and approached the Court with unclean hands having totally failed to explain the injuries received by A 1 Ram Awadh Pandey, A 5 Roshan Pandey and co-accused Shiv Poojan Pandey who on account of the injuries so sustained by him, had died in jail after about one month of the incident, as is evident from his post mortem report (Ext. Ka 2), it cannot be said that the appellants were the aggressors and hence their conviction under the different sections of the Indian Penal Code recorded by the trial judge, cannot be maintained. He next submitted that even for the sake of arguments, the prosecution case as spelt out in the F. I. R. and as testified by the prosecution witnesses is taken to be gospel truth, the offence if any, committed by the appellants, does not travel beyond Section 304 Para II I. P. C. He also submitted that the post mortem report of the deceased shows six injuries, of which five injuries have not caused any internal damage to the deceased. The only injury which can be termed as fatal, is the injury no. 6 and considering the number and nature of the injuries found on the dead body of the deceased and number of the accused, it cannot be said that the deceased was assaulted by the assailants with the intent of causing his death and the incident was either pre-planned or pre-meditated. The same was a result of sudden provocation as both the sides suffered mortalities and injuries, the appellants cannot be held to be aggressors. He next submitted that from the site plan and the evidence of the witnesses examined on behalf of the prosecution itself, it is proved beyond any reasonable doubt that at the behest of the deceased soil was being dug out from the chak of the appellants without their permission and the work of digging soil and levelling chak road was admittedly being got done by the deceased Pradhan as a private work and not as the work of Gram Sabha and at the time of incident, large number of persons including labourers employed by the deceased for digging the soil were present at the place of incident and when the appellants objected and exercised their right of private defence in relation to their property, altercations and scuffles followed between both the parties which ultimately led to the unfortunate incident. He further submitted that the presence of P. W. 1 and P. W. 2 at the place of incident is highly doubtful and no reliance can be placed on their evidence and as far as P. W. 3 Smt. Prabhawati is concerned, no credence can be attached to her evidence, as she has neither been nominated as an eye witness in the F. I. R. nor in chargesheet. She is also an interested and partisan witness, as she was employed by the deceased as labourer for the execution of the work of digging soil. He lastly submitted that the impugned judgement and order cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside.

9. Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel for the complainant refuting the submissions made by Sri Brijesh Sahai submitted that even if it is assumed for the sake of arguments that the accused had exercised their right of private defence in respect of their property, it is clear from the facts and circumstances of this case that they had clearly exceeded their right of private defence. Neither there is any evidence showing that the accused who had allegedly received injuries in the incident were sent for examination of their injuries by the police nor there is any link evidence showing that the accused Shiv Poojan Yadav died as a result of the injuries allegedly received by him in the incident. Moreover, the photostat copies of the injury reports of appellant nos. A1, A5

and deceased Shiv Poojan Pandey and his post mortem report, apart from being fabricated, are wholly inadmissible in evidence in view of non-compliance of Section 65 of Indian Evidence Act. He next submitted that even if it is assumed for the sake of argument, though without admitting that A 1 and A 5 had actually received any injury in the occurrence, the same according to their injury reports and the opinion of the doctor who had examined them, were found to be superficial in nature and the same would not confer any benefit on the accused and the same were rightly discarded by the trial court. He also submitted that there is absolutely no iota of evidence on record, even remotely indicating that either soil was being dug out from the chak of the appellants or there was any provocation from the side of the prosecution or anyone present on the spot from the side of the prosecution was armed with any deadly weapon and hence the theory that the incident was neither pre-planned nor pre-meditated but was a result of sudden provocation, has no legs to stand and submission made by learned counsel for the appellants that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis of the dispute, is per se baseless and the impugned judgement and order, which are based upon cogent evidence and supported by relevant considerations, do not warrant any interference by this Court and this appeal which is devoid of any merit, is liable to be dismissed.

10. Sri Sagir Ahmad, learned A. G. A. assisted by Mrs. Manju Thakur, Brief Holder appearing for the State of U. P. have adopted the submissions made by Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel appearing on behalf of complainant.

11. We have very carefully considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the appellants and scanned the entire lower court record as well as the law reports cited by learned counsel for the parties before us in support of their respective submissions.

12. The three questions involved for our considerations in the instant criminal appeal interalia are

(1) whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt;

(2) whether the prosecution has not come with clean hands and has suppressed the true genesis of the incident; and

(3) Whether if it is held that the prosecution had suppressed the true facts, the conviction of the appellants under the offences mentioned in the impugned judgement and order and the sentence awarded to them can be maintained.

13. We now proceed to examine the aforesaid issues in the light of the evidence adduced by the parties in support of their respective cases.

14. Raj Kumar Yadav who is the grand son of the deceased and the complainant in the present case was examined as P. W. 1 during trial and he testified that while the work of levelling the chak road situated in the south of the village was in progress on 5.5.2009 at about 8.00 A. M.

under the supervision of his grand father Subba Yadav, who at the relevant point of time, was the Pradhan of the village, the appellants Ram Awadh Pandey, Ravindra Pandey, Awadh Narain alias Sawadh Narain Pandey, Ram Darash Pandey, Roshan Pandey and Shiv Poojan Pandey arrived at the place of incident armed with lathi and danda and asked his grand father Subba Yadav to stop the work on the chak road forthwith, to which deceased Subba Yadav immediately agreed and announced that the work on the chak road would resume only after demarcation is done. P. W. 1 Raj Kumar further testified that he had accompanied his grand father to the place of occurrence and was present there at the time of the incident. As soon as Subba Yadav after announcing that the work on chak road would be resumed after demarcation, started going back to his house with P. W. 1, the aforesaid accused surrounded the complainant's grand father and started beating him and when the P. W. 1 and his cousin brother Padeep Kumar tried to save their grand father, the accused beat P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav and P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar inflicted severe injuries on them also. As a result of the beating given by the accused, his grand father Subba Yadav died and on their raising hues and cries, Smt. Prabhawati, Harishankar and other villagers also arrived at the place of incident and saw the accused running away from the crime scene. Leaving the dead body of his grand father in the custody of the villagers and after getting the written report of the incident scribed by one Hari Krishan Chaubey, as he himself was seriously injured, he went to the police station for lodging the written report (Ext. Ka 1) of the incident at P. S.-Jahanaganj.

15. P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav proved the written report (Ext. Ka 1).

16. P. W. 2, Pradeep Kumar Yadav in his evidence recorded during trial stated that the deceased Subba Yadav was his grand fathers brother and Pradhan of Punarji Gram Sabha. On 5.5.2009 at about 8.00 A. M. the work of digging soil by 30-32 persons on the chak road was going on under the supervision of the deceased when the accused armed with lathis and dandas reached the place of incident and ordered to stop the work as the land on which the work was being done, was part of their chak, to which deceased Subba Yadav agreed and after ordering stoppage of work, announced that the work would be resumed only after measurements were done on the spot and turned around to go home. In the meantime the accused surrounded him and assaulted him with lathis and dandas exhorting to each other not to let him escape alive. On hearing the hue and cries P. W. 2 and others rushed to the place of incident and tried to intercede but the accused beat him and his brother Raj Kumar Yadav also with lathis and dandas. P. W. 2 further stated that he had received injury on his head on account of being struck three or four times on his head by the accused with their lathis and the accused had also caused injury to P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav. At the time of the occurrence about 30-32 labourers including Smt. Prabhawati, Ram Briksh Ram, Lalji Ram, Rampati Ram, Kalloo Yadav, Shobhnath Yadav and others were present at the place of occurrence. Due to the incident, stampede was caused. His grand father Subba Yadav had died on the spot. The injuries of P. W. 1 Raj Kumar and P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar Yadav were examined in District Hospital, Azamgarh. X-ray of the injuries received by Raj Kumar was conducted by Dr. K. N. Pandey.

17. P. W. 3 Smt. Prabhawati in her examination-in-chief stated that the incident had taken place on 5.5.2009 at about 8.00 A. M. The work of digging the soil and levelling the chak road with it was in progress for the last 2 or 4 days before the incident under the supervision of Pradhan Subba Yadav. About 35 labourers were employed for executing the work. While the work of digging and laying the soil was in progress, accused armed with lathis and dandas reached the place of incident and asked to stop the work of digging soil from their field although at that time, the soil was being dug from the field of Tribhuwan. Upon the intervention of the accused, Pradhan Subba Yadav immediately got the work of digging soil stopped and declared that the remaining work would be completed after demarcation and thereafter he turned back and started to leave whereupon the accused surrounded him and assaulted him with lathi and danda. She further stated that P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav was nearby while P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar Yadav who had gone to ease himself near Pokhra, also arrived at the place of incident and both P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav and P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar Yadav were also beaten by the accused. Subba Yadav died on the spot whereafter almost everyone had run away from the place of incident.

18. P. W. 4 Dr. K. N. Pandey who had conducted X-ray of the injuries of P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav on 7.5.2009 proved the X-ray report (Ext. Ka 2) as well as X-ray plates as material Ext. Ka 1 to Ext. Ka 4. He testified that small finger of the right hand of P. W. 1 was fractured. P. W. 5 Dr. A. K. Mishra who conducted the post mortem of the dead body of the deceased Subba Yadav found the following injuries on his dead body: Post mortem report to be quoted

- (I) lacerated wound 2 cm. X 1 cm. muscle deep just above left ear;
- (ii) abraded contusion 2 cm. X 6 cm. extending from just above right forehead;
- (iii) linear abrasion 10 cm. Above the left nipple;
- (iv) contusion 32 cm X 2 cm below the left shoulder joint on the back;
- (v) contusion of 22 cm x 2 cm, 4 cm above from right ilius crust on back
- (vi) contusion of 10 cm x 2 cm above right side of chest 2 cm above right nipple.

19. He further found that the gall bladder of the deceased was lacerated while left chamber of his heart was empty and the second chamber contained blood. About two litres of blood was present in the stomach.

20. He proved the post mortem report of the deceased Subba Yadav as Ext. Ka 6 on 5.5.2009 and further testified that duration of the death was about 1 / 2 a day and the deceased had died due to excessive bleeding as a result of ante mortem injuries. He further opined that the ante mortem injuries found on the dead body of the deceased, could have been caused by lathis and dandas.

21. P. W. 6 Dr. Gayasuddin Khan who had examined injured P. W. Raj Kumar Yadav on 5.5.2009 proved his injury report Ext. Ka 4. The injury report of P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav indicates following injuries:

1. कुचला हुआ घाव बायें अनामिका के ऊपरी भाग में 2 सी०एम० X 1 सी०एम० जो भारी भोथरा वस्तु द्वारा पहुँचाया गया था ताजा घाव था। एक्स-रे बायें हथेली का कराने का सलाह दिया था।।

2 फटा हुआ घाव सिर के ठीक ऊपर 3 सी०एम० X 1 सी०एम० मांस तक महारा भोथरा एवं भारी वस्तु द्वारा पहुँचाया गया। ताजा घाव चोट ताजी थी। खोपड़ी के एक्स-रे की सलाह दिया गया।

उपरोक्त चोटें लाठी डंडे से पहुँचायी गयी प्रतीत होती है। चोट नं० 1 गम्भीर प्रकृति की थी जो दाहिने अनामिका अंगुली में अस्थिया के रूप में है।

22. He opined that injury no. 6 was simple in nature and advised X-ray of his other injuries which was not done.

23. P. W. 7 Dr. R. K. Mahto who had examined the injuries of P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar Yadav, proved his injury report Ext. Ka 5. He noted following injuries on the person of Pradeep Kumar Yadav:

1. lacerated wound of 2 c. m X 0.5 c. m. on the right side of the skull 8.00 c.m. above the right ear although he had advised X-ray of the aforesaid injury. There is no X-ray report of the injuries of P. W. 2, Pradeep Kumar Yadav on record.

24. S. I. Om Prakash Srivastava who was posted as S. H. O., P. S.-Jahanaganj on 2/3.6.2009 and to whom investigation of the case was transferred from S. I. Atma Ram, was examined as P. W. 8. He after completion of the investigation submitted charge-sheet against all the accused under Sections-302, 323 and 325 I. P. C. and Section-7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act and proved the same as Ext. Ka 6.

25. P. W. 9 Arvind Kumar Singh proved the check report and the G. D. entry as Ext. Ka 7 and Ext. Ka 8 respectively.

26. P. W. 10 S. I. Atmaram Yadav who had investigated the case initially testified that he had performed the inquest of the dead body of the deceased and the inquest report was prepared by S. I. Uma Shankar Yadav on the spot on his dictation and after completing necessary paper work he had got the cadaver of the deceased sealed and dispatched for the post mortem. He proved the inquest report as Ex Ka 9 and the site plan of the place of incident as Ext. Ka 10 which was prepared by him after inspecting the spot. He in is evidence further gave details of various steps taken by him during investigation including the arrest of the accused and the recovery of the crime weapons on the pointing out of the accused. P. W. 10 S. I. Atma Ram Yadav in his cross examination admitted that he had not recorded the statements of labourers present on the spot and that soil from an area 2-1/2-3 fit wide was dug out from the accused's chak on which wheat crop was standing. Thus, the witnesses of facts examined on behalf of the prosecution, proved the prosecution case as spelt out in the F. I. R., which stands further corroborated from the testimonies of P. W. 4 Dr. K. N. Pandey, P. W. 6 Dr. Gayasuddin Khan and P. W. 7 Dr. R. K. Mahto who had conducted X-ray of the injuries of P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav and P. W. 2 Pradeep Kumar Yadav who had prepared their injury reports and Dr. A. K. Mishra P. W. 5 who had performed the post mortem of the dead body of the deceased except the evidence of P. W. 9 and P. W. 10 which partly corroborates the defence version also. The appellants' counsel has failed to convince us that the P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav and P. W. 2 Pradeep Yadav were not present at the time of incident at the place of occurrence, as admittedly both of them had received injuries in the incident. The presence of P. W. 3 at the crime scene at the time of occurrence appears to be doubtful but exclusion of her evidence from consideration will not affect the present case in any manner.

27. The question which arises for our consideration, is whether the plea of self defence and the incident being a result of sudden provocation are available to the appellants under the facts and circumstances of the case and in view of the evidence on record.

28. Before proceeding to examine the aforesaid issues in the light of the evidence on record, we consider it proper to refer to the provisions of Indian Penal Code which confer right of private defence to an accused and the law on the issue.

29. For the convenience the relevant provisions of Indian Penal Code which provide right of private defence to an accused are being reproduced hereinbelow:

Section 96. Things done in private defence:

Nothing is an offence which is done in the exercise of the right of private defence.

Section 97. Right of private defence of the body and of property:

Every person has a right, subject to the restrictions contained in Section 99, to defend -

First. - His own body, and the body of any other person, against any offence affecting the human body;

Secondly. - The property, whether movable or immovable, of himself or of any other person, against any act which is an offence falling under the definition of theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass, or which is an attempt to commit theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass.

Section 98. Right of private defence against the act of a person of unsound mind, etc:

When an act, which would otherwise be a certain offence, is not that offence, by reason of the youth, the want of maturity of understanding, the unsoundness of mind or the intoxication of the person doing that act, or by reason of any misconception on the part of that person, every person has the same right of private defence against that act which he would have if the act were that offence.

Section 99. Acts against which there is no right of private defence:

There is no right of private defence against an act which does not reasonably cause the apprehension of death or of grievous hurt, if done, or attempted to be done, by a public servant acting in good faith under colour of his office, though that act may not be strictly justifiable by law.

There is no right of private defence against an act which does not reasonably cause the apprehension of death or of grievous hurt, if done, or attempted to be done, by the direction of a public servant acting in good faith under colour of his office, though that direction may not be strictly justifiable by law.

There is no right of private defence in cases in which there is time to have recourse to the protection of the public authorities.

Extent to which the right may be exercised. - The right of private defence in no case extends to the inflicting of more harm than it is necessary to inflict for the purpose of defence.

Explanation 1. - A person is not deprived of the right of private defence against an act done, or attempted to be done, by a public servant, as such, unless he knows or has reason to believe, that the person doing the act is such public servant.

Explanation 2. - A person is not deprived of the right of private defence against an act done, or attempted to be done, by the direction of a public servant, unless he knows, or has reason to believe, that the person doing the act is acting by such direction, or unless such person states the authority under which he acts, or if he has authority in writing, unless he produces such authority, if demanded.

Section 100. When the right of private defence of the body extends to causing death:

The right of private defence of the body extends, under the restrictions mentioned in the last preceding section, to the voluntary causing of death or of any other harm to the assailant, if the offence which occasions the exercise of the right be of any of the descriptions hereinafter enumerated, namely :-

First. - Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that death will otherwise be the consequence of such assault;

Secondly. - Such an assault as may reasonably cause the apprehension that grievous hurt will otherwise be the consequence of such assault;

Thirdly. - An assault with the intention of committing rape;

Fourthly. - An assault with the intention of gratifying unnatural lust;

Fifthly. - An assault with the intention of kidnapping or abducting;

Sixthly. - An assault with the intention of wrongfully confining a person, under circumstances which may reasonably cause him to apprehend that he will be unable to have recourse to the public authorities for his release.

Section 101. When such right extends to causing any harm other than death:

If the offence be not of any of the descriptions enumerated in the last preceding section, the right of private defence of the body does not extend to the voluntary causing of death to the assailant, but does extend, under the restrictions mentioned in Section 99, to the voluntary causing to the assailant of any harm other than death.

Section 102. Commencement and continuance of the right of private defence of the body:

The right of private defence of the body commences as soon as a reasonable apprehension of danger to the body arises from an attempt or threat to commit the offence though the offence may not have been committed; and it continues as long as such apprehension of danger to the body continues.

Section 103. When the right of private defence of property extends to causing death:

The right of private defence of property extends, under the restrictions mentioned in Section 99, to the voluntary causing of death or of any other harm to the wrong-doer, if the offence, the committing of which, or the attempting to commit which, occasions the exercise of the right, be an offence of any of the descriptions hereinafter enumerated, namely :-

First. - Robbery;

Secondly. - House-breaking by night;

Thirdly. - Mischief by fire committed on any building, tent or vessel, which building, tent or vessel is used as a human dwelling, or as a place for the custody of property;

Fourthly. - Theft, mischief or house-trespass, under such circumstances as may reasonable cause apprehension that death or grievous hurt will be the consequence, if such right of private defence is not exercised.

Section 104. When such right extends to causing any harm other than death.—If the offence, the committing of which, or the attempting to commit which, occasions the exercise of the right of private defence, be theft, mischief, or criminal trespass, not of any of the description enumerated in the last preceding section, that right does not extend to the voluntary causing of death, but does extend, subject to the restrictions mentioned in section 99, to the voluntary causing to the wrong-doer of any harm other than death.

Section 105. Commencement and continuance of the right of private defence of property:

The right of private defence of property commences when a reasonable apprehension of danger to the property commences.

The right of private defence of property against theft continues till the offender has effected his retreat with the property or either the assistance of the public authorities is obtained, or the property has been recovered.

The right of private defence of property against robbery continues as long as the offender causes or attempts to cause to any person death or hurt or wrongful restraint or as long as fear of instant death or of instant hurt or of instant personal restraint continues.

The right of private defence of property against criminal trespass or mischief continues as long as the offender continues in the commission of criminal trespass or mischief.

The right of private defence of property against house-breaking by night continues as long as the house-trespass which has been begun by such house-breaking continues.

Section 106. Right of private defence against a deadly assault when there is risk of harm to innocent person:

If in the exercise of the right of private defence against an assault which reasonably causes the apprehension of death, the defender be so situated that he cannot effectually exercise that right without risk of harm to an innocent person, his right of private defence extends to the running of that risk.

30. Section 97 IPC deals with the subject matter of right of private defence. The plea of right of private defence comprises the body or property (I) of the person exercising right, or (ii) of any other person; and the right may be exercised in the case of any defence against the body, and in the case of offences of theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass, and attempts at such offences in relation in relation to property. Section 99 and 98 give a right of private defence against certain offences and acts. The right given under Sections 96 to 98 and 100 to 106 is controlled by Section 99. Sections 102 and 105 IPC deal with commencement and continuance of the right or private defence of body and property respectively.

31. We will now have a glance at the law on the issue. The Hon'ble Supreme Court while examining the issue in hand in Krishnan Versus State of Tamil Nadu (2006) 11 SCC 304 in paragraphs 15, 16 and 17 held as hereunder:

15. It is now well settled that the onus is on the accused to establish that his action was in exercise of the right of private defence. The plea can be established either by letting in defence evidence or from the prosecution evidence itself, but cannot be based on speculation or mere surmises. The accused need not take the plea explicitly. He can succeed in his plea if he is able to bring out from the evidence of the prosecution witnesses or other evidence that the apparent criminal act was committed by him in exercise of his right of private defence. He should make out circumstances that would have reasonably caused an apprehension in his mind that he would suffer death or grievous hurt if he does not exercise his right of private defence. There is a clear distinction between the nature of burden that is cast on an accused under section 105 of the Evidence Act (read with section 96 to 106 of Indian Penal Code) to establish a plea of private defence and the burden that is cast on the prosecution under section 101 of the Evidence Act to prove its case. The burden on the accused is not as onerous as that which lies on the prosecution. While the prosecution is required to prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt, the accused can discharge his onus by establishing a preponderance of probability (vide Partap vs. State of U.P. (1976 (1) SCC 757); Salim Zia vs. State of UP (1979 (2) SCC 648); and Mohinder Pal Jolly vs. State of Punjab (1979 (3) SCC 30).

16. In Sekar vs. State [2002 (8) SCC 354], this Court observed : A plea of right of private defence cannot be based on surmises and speculation. While considering whether the right of private defence is available to an accused, it is not relevant whether he may have a chance to inflict severe and mortal injury on the aggressor. In order to find whether right of private defence is available or not, the injuries received by the accused, the imminence of threat to his safety, the injuries caused by the accused and the circumstances whether the accused had time to have recourse to public authorities are all relevant factors to be considered. Whether in a particular set of circumstances, a person acted in the exercise of the right of private defence, is a question of fact to be determined on the facts and circumstances of each case. No test in the abstract for determining such a question can be laid down. In determining this question of fact, the Court must consider all the surrounding circumstances. It is not necessary for the accused to plead in so many words that he acted in self-defence. If the circumstances show that the right of private defence was legitimately exercised, it is open to the Court to consider such a plea. In a given case, the Court can consider it even if the accused has not taken it. If the same is available to be considered from the material on record. (emphasis supplied).

17. The above legal position was reiterated in Rizan v. State of Chhattisgarh [2003 (2) SCC 661]. After an exhaustive reference to several decisions of this Court, this Court summarized the nature of plea of private defence required to be put forth and the degree of proof in support of it, thus :

"Under Section 105 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, the burden of proof is on the accused, who sets off the plea of self- defence, and, in the absence of proof, it is not possible for the court to presume the truth of the plea of self-defence. The court shall presume the absence of such circumstances. It is for the accused to place necessary material on record either by himself adducing positive evidence or by eliciting necessary facts from the witnesses examined for the prosecution. An accused taking the plea of the right of private defence is not required to call evidence; he can establish his plea by reference to circumstances transpiring from the prosecution evidence itself. The question in such a case would be a question of assessing the true effect of the prosecution evidence, and not a question of the accused discharging any burden. When the right of private defence is pleaded, the defence must be a reasonable and probable version satisfying the court that the harm caused by the accused was necessary for either warding off the attack or for forestalling the further reasonable apprehension from the side of the accused. The burden of establishing the plea of self-defence is on the accused and the burden stands discharged by showing preponderance of probabilities in favour of that plea on the basis of the material on record. The accused need not prove the existence of the right of private defence beyond reasonable doubt. It is enough for him to show as in a civil case that the preponderance of probabilities is in favour of his plea."

32. In Katta Surendra Versus State of Andhra Pradesh (2008) 11 SCC 360 the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph 12 has observed as hereunder:

12. "10. A plea of right defence cannot be base on surmises and speculation. While considering whether the right of private defence is available to an accused, it is not relevant whether he may have a chance to inflict sever and mortal injury on the aggressor. In order to find whether the right of private defence is available to an accused, the entire incident must be examined with care and viewed in its proper setting. Section 97 IPC deals with the subject matter of right of private defence. The plea of right of private defence comprises the body or property (I) of the person exercising right, or (ii) of any other person; and the right may be exercised in the case of any defence against the body, and in the case of offences of theft, robbery, mischief or criminal trespass, and attempts at such offences in relation to property. Section 99 and 98 give a right of private defence against certain offences and acts. The right given under Sections 96 to 98 and 100 to 106 is controlled by Section 99. To claim a right of private defence extending to voluntary causing of death, the accused must show that there were circumstances giving rise to reasonable grounds for apprehending that either death or grievous hurt would be caused to him. The burden is on the accused to show that he had a right of private defence which extended to causing of death. Sections 100 and 101 IPC define the limit and extent of right of private defence.

11. Sections 102 and 105 IPC deal with commencement and continuance of the right or private defence of body and property respectively. The right commences, as soon as a reasonable apprehension of danger to the body arises from an attempt, or threat to commit the offence, although the offence may not have been committed but not until there is that reasonable apprehension. The right lasts so long as the reasonable apprehension of the danger to the body continues. In Jai Dev Versus State of Punjab it was observed that as soon as the cause for reasonable apprehension disappears and the threat has either been destroyed or has been put to route, there can be no occasion to exercise the right or private defence."

33. Thus what follows from the reading of the aforesaid provisions of the I. P. C. and the various authoritative pronouncements on the issue is that a plea of right of private defence cannot be based on surmises and speculations. In order to find whether the right of private defence is available to an accused, the entire incident must be examined with care and viewed in its proper setting. The burden of establishing the plea of self-defence is on the accused and the burden stands discharged by showing preponderance of probabilities in favour of that plea on the basis of the material on record. The accused need not prove the existence of the right of private defence beyond reasonable doubt. It is enough for him to show as in a civil case that the preponderance of probabilities is in favour of his plea. The accused, whenever he invokes the plea of right of private defence must satisfy the Court that the harm caused by the accused was necessary for either warding off the attack or for forestalling the further reasonable apprehension from the side of the accused.

34. Thus now when we examine the present case on the touch stone of the principles propounded hereinabove, we find that the appellant A 1 Ram Awadh Pandey in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr. P. C. in reply to the question No. 19 put to him during his examination, stated that on the date of the incident at about 7.00 A. M. the work of digging soil from his chak was started by the labourers engaged by the deceased Subba Yadav under his supervision and when he objected, P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav beat him causing head injuries to him and when A 5 Roshan Yadav and Shiv Poojan Yadav came to rescue him, deceased's men present at the place of incident indulged in brick batting causing injuries to Subba Yadav and his supporters also. P. W. 1 Raj Kumar Yadav had lodged an F. I. R. against him and his relatives containing absolutely false allegations under the pressure of his relatives.

35. In order to prove that the accused Shiv Poojan since deceased, A1 Ram Awadh Pandey and A 5 Roshan Padey had also received injuries in the incident, the appellants had examined Dr. Kumod Kumar Jha as D. W. 1. D. W. 1 Kumod Kumar Jha deposed before the trial court that he was posted as Child Specialist in District Hospital, Azmagarh on 5.5.2009 and he had examined the injuries of Shiv Poojan, aged about 75 years, Roshan pandey, aged about 18 years and Ram Awadh Pandey, aged about 52 years at 10.50 P. M., 11.00 P. M. and 11.10 P. M. respectively on 5.5.2009 and prepared their injury reports in his own hand writing. He proved certified copy of the injury report of Shiv Poojan, paper No. 100/2, photostat copies of the injury reports of Roshan Pandey and Ram Awadh Pandey paper Nos. 118Kha/2 and 118Kha/3 as Ext. Kha 1, Ext. Kha 3 and Ext. Kha 4. He also produced the original medico legal register of Sadar hospital and proved that the carbon copies of the original injury reports of Roshan Pandey and Ram Awadh Pandey were at serial Nos. 186 and 187 of medico legal register which had been prepared by him by copying from the original. He also deposed that the injuries received by the injured may have been inflicted after 6 A. M., 7 A. M. or 9 A. M.

36. D. W. 2 Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh proved the post mortem report of the accused Shiv Poojan as Ext. Kha-2. The defence case is that Shiv Poojan had died in jail on 26.6.2009 as result of the injuries received by him in the occurrence which had taken place on 5.5.2009. According to the Post mortem report, Shiv Poojan died due to coma as a result of cerebral haemorrhage. D. W. 2 Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh testified that Shiv Poojan had died as a result of excessive internal bleeding in his head.

37. Although it has been vehemently argued by Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel appearing on behalf of complainant that there is no evidence on record showing that the accused had also received injuries in the same occurrence in which Subba Yadav had died. Further there is no evidence on record proving that their injuries were got examined either by the Investigating Officer of the case or on his orders and further there is no Majroobi Chitthi referring them for medical examination on record. It has also been submitted that although D. W. 1 Dr. Kumod Kumar Jha had deposed that the injured had been brought to him by the Inspector Atma Ram Yadav of P. S.-Jahanaganj but the defence has not been able to prove that there was any Inspector in P. S.-Jahanaganj at the relevant point of time of the name of Atma Ram Yadav and hence the injury reports which are apparently fabricated and originals whereof have not been brought on record, were rightly discarded by the trial court and the plea of self defence advanced by the accused correctly repelled.

38. However, the argument of learned counsel for the complainant falls flat on the ground when we refer to the evidence of P. W. 9 Constable Arvind Kumar Singh who in his cross examination (page 53 of the paper book) had deposed as hereunder:

"Ram Awadh wagarh us din giraftar muljimon ko suraksha ki drishti se kotwali behja gaya tha. Thana jahanaganj se inka doctory muyana nahi karaya gaya tha. Muljim ki choton ka vivran C. D. mein darj kiya tha. Muljiman ka doctory muyana karane heitu majroobi chhitthi ke sath thanadyakshya ke adesh par maine bhejwaya tha."

39. Thus from the evidence of P. W. 9 Arvind Kumar Singh it is established that several persons from the side of the accused had also received injuries and they were referred for medical examination of their injuries on the date of the incident itself while in police custody and their injuries were duly recorded in the C. D. One of the accused Shiv Poojan Pandey had received head injury in the incident as is evident from his injury report (Ext. Kha 1) and had later died in jail. Although it has been argued by Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel for the complainant that the defence failed to lead any link evidence to prove that the injured Shiv Poojan Pandey had died on account of the head injury received by him in the occurrence as alleged by the defence, but the said argument is also without any merit.

40. D.W. 1 Kumod Kumar Jha who had examined the injuires of Shiv Poojan Pandey on 5.5.2009 at about 10.50 P. M. stated in his examination-in-chief that the injuries received by the injured Shiv Poojan on his head were on a vital part of his body and could have been dangerous to his life. The prosecution has not cross examined D. W. 1on the aforesaid aspect. Moreover, the D. W. 2 Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh who had conducted the post mortem of the dead body of the deceased Shiv Poojan had, apart from proving his post mortem report, testified that he had died due to coma as a result of internal bleeding in his head. It is true that the D. W. 2 in his cross examination has stated that internal bleeding could be caused by high blood pressure in an aged person sending him in coma even if he has not received any injury, however a conjoint reading of the evidence of D. W. 1 Kumod Kumar Jha and D. W. 2 Anoop Kumar Singh leads to an irresistible inference that Shiv Poojan had received two injuries on his vital parts of the body, one on his head, above the ear and the other which was skull deep on the left side of the head, below the first injury and he had died on 26.6.2009 as a result of excessive internal bleeding in his head. D. W. 2 in his cross examination has nowhere stated that the deceased could not have died as a result of the injuries received by him on 5.5.2009 nor any such suggestion was put by the prosecution to him during his cross examination.

41. The objection raised by Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel appearing for the complainant to the admissibility of certified copies of the injury reports of Shiv Poojan Pandey (Ext. Kha 1), Roshan Pandey (Ext. Kha 3) Ram Awadh Pandey (Ext. Kha 4) and certified photostat copies of the post mortem report of deceased Shiv Poojan Pandey (Ext. Kha 2) in evidence on account of total non-compliance on the part of the defence with the provisions of Section 65 of the Evidence Act, is also without any force. It is settled law that the objection as to mode of proof has to be taken before the evidence is tendered. Once the document has been marked as Ext., the objection that it should not have been admitted in evidence or the mode adopted for proving document is irregular, cannot be allowed as admission of secondary evidence without proof of loss of original is not worse than irregularity and where the documents are admitted in a court of first instance, no objection to their admissibility can afterwards be taken in a court of appeal.

42. Since admittedly in the present case the prosecution had not objected to the certified photostat copies of the injury reports of Shiv Poojan Pandey (Ext. Kha 1), Roshan Pandey (Ext. Kha 3) Ram Awadh Pandey (Ext. Kha 4) and the post mortem report of the deceased Shiv Poojan Pandey (Ext. Kha 2) at the time when the aforesaid documents were admitted to the court of first instance and exhibited, hence it is not open to the learned counsel for the complainant to object to the admissibility of the aforesaid documents before the appellate court on the ground that the defence has failed to prove loss of original.

43. Thus, from the evidence of P. W. 9, P. W. 10, D. W. 1 and D. W. 2 the defence / appellants have been able to establish that soil was being dug from their chak by about 30-35 labourers under the supervision of the deceased Subba Yadav without their consent and when they learnt about it, they reached the place of occurrence and objected. At this juncture, the prosecution case as spelt out in the F. I. R. and as testified by the prosecution witnesses appears to be that the deceased immediately stopped the work of digging soil and announced that the same would be resumed after the demarcation was done on the spot. But without any provocation the appellants surrounded the deceased Subba Yadav and started beating him with lathis and danndas and when his grand sons P. W. 1 and P. W. 2 tried to save him, although the facts and circumstances of the case tell an entirely different tale. The defence has discharged its burden of establishing the plea of self defence by showing preponderance of probabilities in favour of plea of self defence by demonstrating that the accused had exercised their right of private defence to prevent the prosecution from committing the offence of criminal trespass in relation to their property. The prosecution witnesses are absolutely silent about the injuries received from the side of the defence. It appears that when the labourers employed by Subba Yadav un-authorisedly started digging soil from the appellants' chak, they objected exercising their right of private defence of property in order to prevent the prosecution side from committing the offence of criminal trespass in relation to their property, altercations and scuffles followed leading to the unfortunate incident in which both sides had assaulted each other. The prosecution witnesses have failed to explain the injuries received by three persons from the side of the defence and have consistently denied that the accused had been assaulted by them although the defence has succeeded in establishing from the evidence of P. W. 10 that the soil was being unauthorizedly dug out from the chak of the appellants by the labourers employed by the deceased Subba Yadav resulting in commission of offence of criminal trespass in respect of their property by the deceased and his other companions and in the occurrence in which one person died from the side of the prosecution while two of them received injuries while three persons from the side of the defence also received injuries of whom one Shiv Poojan died later. Although it does appear to us that the appellants had slightly exceeded their right of private defence in relation to their property but it is obvious that the prosecution has deliberately tried to suppress the true genesis of the incident and has not approached the Court with clean hands and hence it is not possible for us to hold as to which of the two, defence or the prosecution was the aggressor.

44. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, we find that the plea raised by the appellants that the incident, in which both sides received casualties, was neither pre-planned nor pre-meditated but was a result of sudden provocation emanating from the unauthorized digging of the soil by the labourers from the chak of the appellants at the behest of deceased Subba, appears to be acceptable. It is further apparent that the appellants had not assaulted the deceased Subba Yadav, Raj Kumar Yadav and Pradeep Kumar Yadav either with the intention of causing death or with the knowledge that the assaults made by them on the deceased and injured would cause death of Subba Yadav.

45. Thus, in view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the view that the conviction of the appellants under Sections-302/149 I. P. C. cannot be maintained and ends of justice will be met, if their conviction is converted to one Section-304 Para II and the sentence of life awarded by the trial Court under Sections-302/149 I. P. C. is reduced to three years' imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1000/- each and in case of default of payment of fine, six months' additional R. I.

46. Thus, while maintaining their conviction and sentences awarded under Sections-147, 323/149 and 325/149 IPC, the appellants' conviction under Sections-302/149 IPC is scored out and converted to one Section-304 Para II I. P. C. and sentence awarded to them is palliated to three years R. I. and fine of Rs. 1000/- each and in case of default, six months' additional R. I. The appellants who are on bail shall be taken into custody forthwith and sent to jail for serving out their remaining part of sentence. Their bail bonds stand cancelled and their sureties discharged.

47. The appeal stands allowed in part and decided accordingly.

48. Let copy of this order be sent to the court concerned for intimation and necessary follow up action.

Legislation referred to Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Ss. 302, 302/34, 504; Arms Act, 1959 — S. 25(1B)(b); Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — S. 313

FACTS:

On 15.02.2009 at about 12.00 noon, at the Government Slaughter House, Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Aligarh, the appellant Raeesh arrived armed with a knife, accompanied by his brother Haji Munna (appellant) and father Haji Rasheed (co-accused, since deceased). They entered the slaughter house and demanded delivery of slaughtered goods already purchased by the first informant's side. On being refused, Haji Rasheed and Haji Munna caught hold of the deceased Irshad (brother of the first informant), and Raeesh inflicted a knife blow on his chest with intent to kill him. Irshad was taken to Malkhan Singh Government Hospital, Aligarh, where he was declared dead. Raeesh was apprehended on the spot along with the knife. A first information report was lodged by the first informant Bahar Ahmad @ Chhotey (P.W. 1) at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. After investigation, charge-sheets were filed against the appellants.

The Sessions Court, Aligarh, by judgment and order dated 14.12.2010, convicted appellant Raeesh under Section 302 I.P.C. and Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act and convicted appellant Haji Munna under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced both to life imprisonment. Both the appellants challenged their conviction before this Court.

ISSUES:

- (i) Whether the prosecution witnesses, being close relatives of the deceased, are to be treated as interested witnesses and their testimony discarded on that ground alone.
- (ii) Whether the first information report was ante-timed.
- (iii) Whether non-collection of blood-stained earth from the spot and non-examination of fingerprints on the recovered knife vitiated the prosecution case.
- (iv) Whether the testimony of eye-witnesses P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 was reliable, consistent, and sufficient to sustain conviction.

(v) Whether common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. was established against appellant Haji Munna.

HELD:

(i) Testimony of relative/interested witnesses — Mere relationship of witnesses with the deceased is not by itself a ground to discard their testimony. In many cases, only relatives are available to depose, particularly having regard to the prevailing trends in our society where persons other than relations are not ready to depose before the court. Such testimony, however, must be subjected to scrupulous and careful scrutiny and if, on such scrutiny, it inspires confidence, it cannot be rejected.

Relied on: Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(ii) Prompt lodging of the FIR — The place of occurrence was the Government Slaughter House, situated at a distance of 2 kilometres from the police station. The occurrence took place at about 12.00 noon. The first information report was lodged at 1.00 P.M. on the same day. This constitutes a prompt report. The timeline stated in the FIR stands corroborated by: the inquest report commencing at 2.30 P.M. and concluding at 4.30 P.M.; despatch of the dead body for post-mortem after 4.30 P.M.; and its receipt at the mortuary at 5.20 P.M. The contention that the FIR was ante-timed is, therefore, unsustainable.

(iii) Non-collection of blood from spot — The occurrence took place in a government slaughter house where blood of slaughtered animals had spread all over the premises. It was, therefore, virtually impossible to segregate and collect blood attributable exclusively to the deceased. Non-collection of blood-stained earth under such peculiar facts creates no doubt about the place of occurrence. Footwear left behind at the scene by reason of the stampede that followed were, in fact, seized under a recovery memo by the Investigating Officer.

(iv) Reliability of ocular testimony — The two eye-witnesses, P.W. 1 (first informant and brother of deceased) and P.W. 2 (uncle of deceased), were naturally present at the slaughter house supervising slaughtering work. Their presence at the spot is wholly consistent with the nature of their work and the time of day. Their testimonies are consistent inter se and corroborate the contents of the first information report in all material particulars. The specific description that, after the knife blow, the deceased did not fall immediately but was caught by the witnesses while in the act of falling, is a detail that only persons actually present on the spot could furnish. Cross-examination did not elicit any material contradiction. The defence's own suggestion that the appellant Raeesh was caught by the first informant after a short chase amounts to an implicit admission of the witnesses' presence at the spot.

Medical evidence of Dr. S.K. Sharma (P.W. 3) corroborates the mode of assault — a single ante-mortem stab wound, 4 cm × 2 cm × chest cavity deep, on the front of the chest on the left side — sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The doctor opined that death could have occurred between 12.00 noon and 12.15 P.M., which is consistent with the prosecution case and was not challenged in cross-examination.

(v) Common intention under Section 34 I.P.C. — The conjoint act of Haji Rasheed and appellant Haji Munna in catching hold of both hands of the deceased Irshad — thereby immobilising him — while the appellant Raeesh inflicted the knife blow establishes that all the accused persons were acting in furtherance of a common intention to commit the offence. The manner and participation of the accused persons in the incident leads to an inescapable inference of shared common intention.

RESULT:

Both the appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed. The judgment and order of conviction dated 14.12.2010 passed by the Sessions Judge, Aligarh, in Sessions Trial No. 395 of 2009 (under Sections 302 and 302/34 I.P.C.) and Sessions Trial No. 396 of 2009 (under Section 25(1B)(b) of the Arms Act) is upheld and confirmed. The bail of appellant Haji Munna stands cancelled and his sureties are discharged. He is directed to be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining period of the sentence imposed upon him by the trial court.

Birender Poddar v. State of Bihar, 2011 Cri. L.J. 3120 (S.C.)

(Delivered by Honble Arvind Kumar Mishra-1, J.)

1. The aforesaid criminal appeals have been preferred by the above mentioned appellants against the judgment and order of conviction dated 26.9.2006 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Etawah in S.T. No. 20 of 2000-State of U.P. Vs. Ali Ahmad and others under section 302/34 I.P.C. arising out of case crime no. 337 of 1999, Police Station Kotwali, district Etawah whereby the appellants have been sentenced to life imprisonment under section 302 read with section 34 of I.P.C. coupled with fine of Rs. 5000/- each with default stipulation of one year additional R.I. to the concerned convict.

2. We have heard at length respective submissions of learned counsel for the appellants Shri S.V. Singh and learned A.G.As. Shri J.K. Upadhyaya as well as Ms. Manju Thakur and learned counsel for the complainant Ashwani Kumar Awasthi and perused the record.

3. The foundation of prosecution case is rooted in the first information report lodged by informant Mohd. Arif son of Israel resident of Chaukhar Kua, New Market, Police Station Kotwali district Etawah, wherein allegations of murder have been made against the aforesaid three appellants-Ali Ahmad, Zameel and Abdul Sattar to the extent that they killed his father by firing on him on 24.6.1999 at 8.30 A.M. in front of Nafees Hazi's shop- National Road Lines Transport. In order to commit the offence, the appellants laid-in ambush behind two trucks in company with one more person, suddenly appeared on the scene and got scooter of informant's father stopped, then Abdul Sattar kicked his scooter and exhorted to kill him; whereupon Ali Ahmad and Zameel by waving country made pistol in their hands caught informant's father and (the assailants) pumped pellets on him by their weapons due to which the informant's father fell down. Informant's uncle Afzaal and his friend Chand who were also following his father, challenged the assailants, whereupon, the assailants also fired in the air and secured their escape. It is gathered from report that bone of contention (behind this murder) was construction of some shops in graveyard situated near overhead water tank adjoining bye pass road. One Abdul Sattar, resident of Katara Sahab Khan, was earlier Mutwalli (Manager) of this graveyard and after him, Master Bashiruddin was made Mutawalli of this graveyard. Bashiruddin, relative of first informant, used to come to the Saw mill of the applicant. In this graveyard, Ali Mohd. son of Hussain Khan was constructing shop. He was being assisted by Zameel son of Bashiruddin and Abdul Sattar son of Alauddin. Construction of the shops in the graveyard came into knowledge of City Magistrate Etawah, who issued stay order on these shops. The appellants became apprehensive of this stay order and were under impression that it was obtained on account of persuasion made by the informant's father with Bashiruddin, who managed issuance of such stay order. Yesterday, on 23.6.1999 at about 10.30 A.M. Ali Ahmad and his aforesaid two friends came to the saw mill of the informant and asked informant's father that he got issued stay order against construction of shops, thus depriving them of their livelihood, now he (deceased-Israel) will have to bear the consequences for the same and they went away from there (saw mill). Today, i.e. on 24.6.1999, when the informant's father Mohd. Israel was going to his saw mill from his house on scooter, he was being followed by informant's uncle Afzaal and his friend Chand son of Banne Khan on motor cycle when the aforesaid offence of murder was committed at 8.30 A.M.

4. It has further been alleged that at the time of incident, the first informant had gone to the saw mill of Ramjan for arranging labourers, which place is near the place of occurrence. The informant heard sound of firing and rushed to the spot when he saw his father lying on road seeped with blood. Informant's father while groaning told informant's uncle and his friend (Chand) about the incident. Thereafter informant's father was taken to hospital by Jeep where his father was declared dead. Blood oozing out from body of informant's father stained clothes of first informant. The dead body was kept in the hospital. The appellants committed offence in broad day light and they openly fired in the air due to which peace of the area was disturbed, panic prevailed and stampede followed giving way to likelihood of breach of peace. It was prayed that report be lodged and action be taken. This written report is Ext. Ka. 1.

5. The entry of contents of this first information report was taken in check FIR at 9.35 A.M. at Police Station Kotwali district Etawah at case crime no. 337 of 1999 under Section 302 I.P.C. Check FIR is Ext. Ka. 3 on record. On the basis of aforesaid entry made in the FIR, the case was registered against appellants at Rapat No. 22 in the G.D. on the same day and time which is Ext. Ka. 4 on record. Thereafter, the investigation followed and investigation was taken over by Harshvardhan P.W. 5 who conducted part of the investigation and prepared site plan of place of occurrence Exhibit Ka-5 and thereafter the investigation was handed over to S.S.I. Vikramjeet Singh P.W. 6 who also took various steps in completing the investigation. Certain relevant papers were prepared during the course of investigation a reference of these papers at this stage would be appropriate.

6. After investigation commenced, the Investigating officer got prepared the inquest report of deceased Modh. Israel and it was completed at 11.00 A.M. on 24.6.1994 which is Ext. Ka. 8 on record. In the opinion of inquest witnesses, it was suggested that the dead body of deceased be sent for postmortem examination for ascertaining real cause of death. The dead body was sent for postmortem examination. Relevant papers were also prepared, these papers are :- Photo Nash Ext. Ka. 9, Challan of dead body Ext. Ka. 10, letter to the Chief Medical Officer is Ext. Ka. 11 and letter to R.I. Police Line Etawah is Ext. Ka. 12. Investigating Officer also prepared various memos during the course of investigations viz. memo of simple and blood stained soil from the place of occurrence is Ext. 6, memo of blood stained clothes of first informant dated 31.8.1999 is Ext. Ka. 2 . It is further reflected from record that medical examination on the body of deceased was conducted at district Hospital Etawah on 24.6.1999 at 5 P.M. wherein following ante-mortem injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

1. Gun shot wound injuries 1.5 cm x 2 cm Thoresic Cavity Deep right side of back 19 cm away from nipple. Blackening and charring are present around wound in 3 cm area.
2. Gun shot wound of exit in front of chest left 3 cm below left nipple in 6.00 clock's position.

3. Fire arm wound measuring 5 cm x 2 cm under the skull deep 5 cm above right eye-brow lacerated. Blackening around wound is present in 1 cm area.

7. In the of opinion of doctor, the cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem fire arm injuries. Postmortem examination report is Ext. Ka. 2-A on record.

8. During the course of investigation, various statements of witnesses were also recorded and after completing investigation, two separate charge sheets were filed under section 302/34 I.P.C. against the appellants. The charge sheet against appellant Ali Ahmad and Zameel is Ext. Ka. 6 on record whereas the charge sheet against Abdul Sattar is Ka. 7 on record.

9. Thereafter, the case of the appellants was committed to the Session Court from where it was made over for trial to the concerned court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2 Etawah who after hearing the appellants, charged them under section 302/34 I.P.C. The charge was read over and explained to the accused who squarely denied the charge and claimed for trial. Thereafter, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony in support of aforesaid charge.

10. In turn, prosecution produced in all seven witnesses viz. Mohd. Arif is first informant and son of deceased. He is said to have arrived on the spot soon after the incident and took his father to the hospital. He has proved written report as Ext. Ka. 1. Dr. M.M. Arya P.W. 2 has conducted postmortem examination on the body of the deceased and has proved the same as Ext. Ka. 2-A . Mohd. Afzaal P.W. 3 is the brother of the deceased and uncle of first informant and star eye witness of the prosecution. He has described about the incident. Head constable Sobaran Singh is P.W. 4 and he has proved entries made in the check first information report and relevant G.D. relating to the case are Ext. Ka. 3 and 4, respectively. Harshwardhan P.W. 5 is the first investigating officer who has detailed about various steps taken during the course of investigation. He prepared site plan and proved the same as Ext. Ka. 5. Besides, he also took steps for ensuring the arrest of the accused. S.S.I. Vikramjeet Singh P.W.6, the second Investigating Officer of the case took over the investigation of this case on 21.7.1999 and after completing formalities filed charge sheets against aforesaid appellants Ext. Ka-6 and Ka-7, respectively. Constable Chiranji Lal P.W. 7 has proved preparation of inquest report and other relevant papers and has stated that inquest was prepared. by S.I. R.K. Pal, he was present at the time of preparation of the inquest report, he has identified his hand writing on this report., which is Ext. Ka-8. Relevant papers by the I.O. made for sending the dead body for postmortem examination are Ext. Ka-9, 10, 11 and 12.

11. Thereafter evidence for prosecution was closed and the statement of the appellants was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they claimed to have been falsely implicated in this case in consultation with Bashiruddin. The defence did not lead any evidence on its part. The trial court after hearing both the sides, passed the impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 26.9.2006 in S.T. No. 20 of 2000-State of U.P. Vs. Ali Ahmad and others under section 302/34 I.P.C. arising out of case crime no. 337 of 1999, Police Station Kotwali, district Etawah and imposed upon them aforesaid sentence.

12. Consequently these appeals.

13. It has been vehemently claimed on behalf of the appellant by the learned counsel Shri S.V. Singh that in fact none of the so called prosecution witnesses of fact has seen the occurrence. There is no independent witness whose testimony could be relied on in this case. All the witnesses of fact are either interested, partisan or close relatives of the deceased, so their testimony is wholly unreliable. It is surprising that these witnesses are not witnesses in inquest report. It has come in the statement of prosecution witnesses that when the injured was lying on the ground, he was taken to hospital. On way to hospital he told about the incident to the prosecution witnesses, particularly to first informant Mohd. Arif, and P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal that the accused persons caused injury to him. As per post mortem report and testimony of doctor, it is worth consideration that when a person who has been hit so badly on his chest, his lungs are ruptured then he would not be in a position to spell even a single word, therefore, narration of the incident by the deceased when the incident took place, to his son and brother is after thought and result of deliberation and consultation which establishes fact that the story of assault caused by the appellants was tried to be improved.

14. Learned counsel claimed that entire prosecution case does not inspire confidence. The investigation is full of laches, testimony of witness is full of contradictions and no conviction can be made on it and trial court overlooked these particular aspects and has erroneously recorded the finding of conviction.

15. Per contra, learned A.G.A. and learned counsel for the complainant in reply to the aforesaid arguments submitted that the testimony on record is true, worthy of credit, and is inspiring confidence. P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal is natural witness of fact of occurrence and was present on the spot, he is most natural witness of incident which was also witnessed by the first informant P.W. 1 and he was told by his father as to who opened fire on him. In this regard, clothes of first informant which bore blood stains oozing out from his father's body corroborates the presence of first informant at the relevant point of time on the spot.

16. There is no material contradiction in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact P.W.1 and P.W.3. There is no laches in the investigation. The investigation is fair and upto the mark. Lodging of first information report is also prompt. The incident occurred in broad day light in the month of June at 8.30 A.M. and lastly it has been summed up that merely because the witnesses are close relatives of the deceased that by itself would not render their testimony wholly unreliable unless it is shown that these witnesses are highly inimical and biased to ensure conviction of the appellants and nothing such has surfaced against aforesaid witnesses that they are either biased or acting with malafidy intention to ensure conviction of the appellants. Prosecution witnesses of fact being natural witnesses, their testimony is to be believed as the same is clinching and inspiring confidence. Why these witnesses will spare the real culprits and falsely involve the appellants has also not been brought before this Court by the appellants.

17. The moot point involved for consideration in these appeals revolves around fact whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the appellants, beyond any reasonable doubt or not?

18. The very beginning of the incident has its seed, in the first information report which imputes the very motive for commission of the offence by the appellants. Precisely, first information report indicates that appellant-Ali Ahmad was constructing some shop in the graveyard and he was being aided by other appellants Zameel and Abdul Sattar. The City Magistrate, Etawah, passed some stay order on this construction which was interpreted by the appellants to be handy work and out come of mischief of first informant's father who intrigued with Bashiruddin in getting the stay order issued against such construction. The appellants being apprehensive of such mischievous activities on the part of informant's father and Bashiruddin came to the saw mill of first informant at 10.30 A.M. on 23.6.1999 and admonished informant's father that he got the construction stopped, thus, deprived them of their livelihood and now he would have to face consequences for his act. On the next following day on 24.6.1999 the first informant's father was going to saw mill on scooter from his house, being followed by informant's uncle Afzaal and his friend Chand on motor cycle at some distance, in the meanwhile, when the deceased reached in front of Nafis Haji's National Road Lines Transport, then the appellant who laid in ambush behind two trucks, appeared on the scene around 8.30 A.M., being accompanied by one unknown person, got the scooter of informant's father stopped. Abdul Sattar gave kick blow to the scooter and exhorted, Ali Ahmad, Zameel and one unknown person to kill him lest he should be saved whereupon, Ali Ahmad and Zameel waived country made pistol pumped bullets on the informant's father due to which he fell down on the ground. In the meanwhile, informant's uncle and friend of informant's uncle, challenged them, whereupon, they opened fire in the air and ensured their escape good.

19. In this case, eye witness account evidence of the incident has come forth from the uncle of first informant who has been examined as P.W. 3. As per testimony of P.W.3 Mohd. Afzaal, it is reflected from his cross examination Page 33 of the paper book, wherein, in the last paragraph of his testimony, he has stated that after the fire shot, which hit the deceased, his nephew arrived on the spot within a minute. Meaning thereby that the incident of shooting was not witnessed by P.W. 1 though he arrived in a short while on the spot and saw his father lying on the ground in pool of blood. Therefore, the testimony of P.W. 3 under the circumstances may be relevant for consideration of meritorial aspect of the incident. Although testimony of P.W.1, in so far as it relates to other aspects viz; motive and ancillary issues, will be helpful for arriving at just conclusion and the same will be discussed at relevant point of time.

20. It may also be observed that P.W. 3 in his examination in chief as noted on Paged 28 of the paper book has stated that after the incident, his nephew Mohd. Arif had arrived on the spot. As per description contained in the first information report, the incident has been narrated by Mohd. Afzaal P.W. 3. He has stated in examination in chief that he owned a saw mill and his brother-deceased Israel- also owned saw mill in front of Pani Ki Tanki at Bye-pass circular road. On 24.6.1999, he in company with his friend-Chand- were going to saw mill on his motor-cycle. It was around 8.30 A.M. when he reached Nafees Hazi's National Road Lines Transport, he saw his brother Israel driving scooter at some distance ahead of him. In the meanwhile Abdul Sattar who was lying in ambush behind trucks appeared on the scene and gave kick blow to his scooter and exhorted "Goli Mar Do" whereupon Ali Ahmad and Zameel fired on him. One more unknown person was also accompanying them. This fire was shot by using country made pistol, which injured his brother. They challenged the assailants, whereupon they made their escape good after firing shots in the air. Thereafter, his nephew Mohd. Arif arrived on the spot, then this witness with the help of his nephew took injured Mohd. Israel in a Jeep to the hospital and on way to hospital deceased Israel told his nephew Mohd. Arif that Zameel and Ali Ahmad had fired on him after Abdul Sattar gave kick blow to his scooter after stopping it.

21. This witness P.W. 3 has also stated in his examination in chief that his brother remained alive upto and till they reached Kazi Petrol Pump thereafter he died. On reaching hospital, doctor declared his brother dead. He has been cross examined by the appellants on the point of occurrence. He has stated that after the shot hit the deceased Israel, he was unable to stand up and at that point of time, this witness was about 20-25 paces away from him. He has stated that at the relevant point of time, his brother was proceeding a little ahead of him on scooter. He has further stated that investigating officer recorded his statement the very same day on which the incident took place.

22. It has been specifically asked from this witness - P.W.3, as to what was identity of unknown culprit whereupon he said that he can not recollect his memory about the same. He has been confronted with specific question whether deceased Israel has been shot dead by Abdul Sattar, Ali Ahmad and Zameel and whether any such statement was ever given by him to any investigating Officer, whereupon he answered "Yes", he told about this to Darogaji. He has stated that Darogaji had prepared site plan on his own. He has also identified the place of occurrence near Tarkol Road, where blood dropped on the ground. This witness has further stated on interrogation regarding fact, as to what was the position (physical) of deceased when he was hit by shot, whereupon he replied that at the relevant point of time, Israel was prostrate with mouth down ward. This witness also demonstrated (by making gesture in trial court) that one leg (of deceased) was entangled in scooter, whereas, the other was extended (astride).

23. This particular piece of testimony by itself is self explanatory of fact of presence of this witness on the spot; thus he witnessed the incident. He has been asked question about distance from which shot was fired whereupon the distance has been disclosed by this witness as 2-3 feet. He has also stated in his testimony that after the shot hit the deceased, he was not rendered unconscious. The deceased was taken care of by this witness, his nephew and the another person Chand. He has stated that his nephew had just arrived on the spot within a minute (of the incident) some persons also arrived at the spot.

24. In the wake of aforesaid testimony it is obvious that the description of incident as narrated in the examination-in-chief stands corroborated in his cross examination. There is nothing adverse or anomalous in his testimony on point of occurrence and his presence on the spot. His testimony on the whole can be rated to be worthy of credit, consistent and inspiring confidence.

25. We have been persuaded, by learned counsel for appellants, to act on assumption that this witness is close relative of the deceased and he is in fact brother of the deceased, therefore, his testimony is testimony of interested and biased witness and should not be normally believed, but on the other hand, we have specific reason not act upon such proposed hypothesis in view of the fact that merely because witness is a relative of victim of an offence will not by itself throw away the prosecution case in the face of consistent testimony of a witness of fact. No such piece of testimony or circumstance appears upon scrutiny which may give rise to fact that PW-3 being relative of deceased-Israel- is interested in conviction of the appellants. In this context legal dictum is settled that unless it is shown that the witness is directly interested in having conviction secured his being relative of victim alone will not be suffice to render his testimony wholly unreliable. In this way, relative who happens to be natural witness cannot altogether be regarded as an interested witness. There is nothing on record which may point out that this witness was having any grudge against the appellants or was malafide towards them. That way, he cannot be said to be interested witness and he has no grudge or bias for seeking conviction of the appellant. Therefore, the contention that the testimony of Mohd. Afzaal P.W. 3, is tainted for he being relative of the deceased is altogether rejected. Similar observations based on similar principles have been laid down by Hon. Apex Court in the case of Gurjit Singh Alias Gora and Anr. Vs. State of Haryana (2015)2 SCC(Cri 624 (Criminal Appeal No. 519 of 2010).

26. Now It would be relevant appropriate to switch over to the ante mortem injuries found on the body of the deceased. The post mortem report is Ext. Ka. 2A which has been proved by Dr. M.M. Arya P.W. 2. Three ante mortem injuries were noted on examination upon the body of the deceased which are as follows:

1. Gun shot wound of entry of size 1.5 cm x 2 cm Thoresic Cavity Deep right side of back 19 cm away from nipple. Blackening and charring are present around wound in 3 cm area.
2. Gun shot wound of exit presence in front of chest left 3 cm below left nipple in 6.00 clock's position measuring 3cm x 1.5 cm.
3. Fire arm wound measuring 5 cm x 2 cm x skull deep 5 cm above right eye-brow lacerated. Blackening around wound is present in 1 cm area.

27. The very nature of the injuries so caused, in the opinion of the doctor could have been caused around 8.30 A.M. on 24.6.,1999 by fire arm. This specific piece of testimony regarding injury being caused at that point of time has not been challenged even in the least by the appellants. In cross examination of P.W. 2, this much has come that heart and lungs were lacerated and due to this excessive bleeding was possible and death may be caused instantly.

28. Contention has been raised to the ambit that theory of deceased telling his son (first informant-P.W. 1) about the incident being caused by the appellants cannot be sustained in view of the aforesaid condition of deceased's body at the time of assault. The contention does not hold good in view of the fact discussed above that the testimony of P.W. 3 has been found to be natural, consistent, clinching and inspiring confidence and he was present on the spot and has described every detail of the incident. This portion of the testimony that the deceased told his son about the incident as to who caused it, has got no relevance even if the same is excluded from the record because eye witness account of incident as given by P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal after careful scrutiny by us is found to be genuine one and the same cannot be brushed aside. May be, that some sort of the improvement was sought to be brought in, in the testimony of witnesses would not thwart prosecution case under the facts and circumstances of the case already proved. The incident has been consistently proved by the testimony of P.W. 3 Mohd. Afzaal. Testimony of P.W. 2 Dr. M.M. Arya corroborates ocular testimony of eye witness. P.W. 5 Harshvardhan Nagaich has also proved preparation of site plan. He has stated in his testimony that he prepared site plan on the spot in the presence of first informant P.W. 1 and eye witness Mohd. Afzaal P.W. 3. He has proved site plan Ext. Ka. 5. He has also prepared memo of simple and blood stained soil taken from the spot and has proved the same. Obviously, all these things give certainty to place of occurrence. In this view of the matter, the fact that first informant handed over his blood stained clothes to the subsequent Investigating Officer Vikramjeet Singh P.W. 6 on 31.8.1999 will not make any dent in the prosecution case. Constable Chiranji Lal P.W.7 has proved certain papers of the prosecution. One of them is inquest report Ext. Ka. 8. Perusal of inquest report reflects that this inquest report is genuine, innocuous and it contains all the relevant details say case crime number, sections under which the case has been registered etc. It also contains description that inquest report was completed around 11.00 A.M. on 24.6.1999. There is no whisper from the prosecution witnesses nor the same is gathered from attendant circumstances that in this case first information report was ante timed. Therefore, entire prosecution case is coherently established. In the statement of all the accused persons recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. they have stated that the entire prosecution case has been fastened upon them at the instance of and in consultation with Bashiruddin. In this way, it is beyond our comprehension as to why the prosecution witnesses and particularly P.W. 3 and 1 will be keenly interested in sparing the real culprit and instead naming the present appellants as accused. No such testimony or circumstance exist to act on such suggestion or supposition.

29. We are conscious of legal position that it is the quality of testimony of a witness that gets primacy and not quantity. Testimony of solitary witness (PW-3) in this case after cautious appraisal of facts and circumstances of this case is found to be based on solid rock of consistency, thus intensifying its creditworthiness and proving unambiguously the occurrence, which aspect renders his testimony clinching and wholly reliable. We may conclude that testimony of PW-3 Mohd. Afzaal carries ample weight.

30. In this view of the matter, we have every reason for holding that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants. We have also gone through the judgment and order of conviction dated 26.9.2006 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Etawah in S.T. No. 20 of 2000-State of U.P. Vs. Ali Ahmad and others under section 302/34 I.P.C. arising out of case crime no. 337 of 1999, Police Station Kotwali, district Etawah, and we concur with the finding of fact which is based on material on record and is justified. We uphold finding of conviction in appeals. Consequently, all the aforesaid appeals being devoid of merit are dismissed.

31. In this case, the appellants Ali Ahmad and Zameel are in jail, whereas, appellant Abdul Sattar is on bail. His bail bond is cancelled and sureties are discharged. He shall be taken into custody forthwith. Appellants Ali Ahmad, Zameel and Abdul Sattar shall serve out their respective remaining sentence imposed upon them by the trial court.

32. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for necessary information and follow up action.

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 — Section 3(2)(5)
Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Sections 437/439 (Bail)

FACTS :

Both bail applications, arising out of a common transaction and the same case crime, were heard together and decided by a common order at the joint request of counsel for both sides, as both case files were available in court on the same date.

The applicants Shyamdhhar Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey were implicated in Case Crime No. 118 of 2015, registered at P.S. Handia, District Allahabad, along with 22 other accused persons — a total of 24 — in connection with an incident involving a clash between two rival groups. The FIR alleged that the accused, belonging to the upper-caste community, attacked members of the scheduled caste community of the village, setting huts on fire and causing injuries to 14 alleged victims.

During the incident, one person received a single blow to the head. He did not suffer any fracture or grievous injury. However, the wound subsequently got infected, leading to development of septicaemia, which ultimately resulted in his death due to cardiorespiratory arrest, as recorded in the post-mortem report. The medical examination reports of the 14 alleged injured persons revealed injuries of a uniformly trivial nature — several victims had no visible external injury at all, while others had only single contusions, abrasions, or lacerated wounds, none of which was certified as grievous.

The applicants Shyamdhhar Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey had been in custody since 11 April 2015 and 24 June 2015 respectively. Neither applicant had any previous criminal history. The prosecution alleged use of lathi, danda, and ganasa, though none of the victims sustained any sharp-edged wound or bone fracture.

Questions Considered

(i) Whether, in a case of group clash where the death of the deceased was caused not by a grievous injury but by septicaemia developing from a single simple wound — with no fracture found on any victim — a criminal intention to cause death or grievous hurt can be attributed to all the accused so as to disentitle them from bail?

(ii) Whether vicarious liability under Sections 149/34 IPC can be fastened upon all accused in a mass-melee situation when there is no specific attribution of any weapon or blow to any individual accused and the total number of injuries inflicted is substantially less than the total number of alleged assailants?

(iii) What considerations govern the exercise of discretion to grant bail where the trial is unlikely to conclude in the near future and the accused have already undergone substantial pre-trial detention?

Held

(i) Nature of injuries and criminal intention: The medical examination reports of all 14 alleged victims and the post-mortem report of the deceased collectively demonstrate the trivial nature of the injuries inflicted. No victim sustained a fracture or grievous injury. The deceased had only a single healed wound on the head with no corresponding fracture in any underlying skull bone — a simple injury which unfortunately became infected leading to death by septicaemia and cardiorespiratory arrest. In such circumstances, attribution of an intention to cause death or serious bodily harm to any of the accused is not supported by the medical evidence. The absence of repeated blows and the absence of any fracture indicate that the blows, if any, were not delivered with force or deliberation.

(ii) Vicarious liability in mass-melee cases — specification of role essential: Where blunt weapons such as lathi or danda have been used so lightly as to produce no fracture or grievous injury on any of the 14 alleged victims, it would be unreasonable to saddle all 24 accused with a common murderous intention or object. The prosecution evidence was wholly lacking in specification as to which accused wielded which weapon and which accused struck which victim. The total number of injuries inflicted was significantly less than the number of alleged assailants — a circumstance indicating that many of the accused did not participate in the occurrence at all. The mere fact that the incident took the form of a group melee does not, by itself, suffice to fasten vicarious liability for culpable homicide upon every named accused in the absence of specific attribution.

(iii) Bail — factors considered: Taking an overall view of the nature of the evidence, the trivial character of the injuries sustained, the period of pre-trial detention already undergone by the applicants (since April 2015 and June 2015 respectively), the absence of any previous criminal history, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial in view of heavy pendency of cases, and the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the prosecution evidence, the applicants were found entitled to bail.

Result: Both bail applications allowed. Applicants Shyamdhara Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey directed to be released on bail upon executing a personal bond and furnishing two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned, subject to the following conditions: (1) the applicants shall not tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner; (2) the applicants shall personally appear on each and every date fixed in the trial court, unless the court itself grants exemption in the interest of justice. The trial court shall be at liberty to proceed for cancellation of bail in the event of breach of any condition. The observations in the order are confined strictly to the disposal of the bail applications and shall not be construed to reflect upon the ultimate merits of the case.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. These are two bail applications numbering as Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 24182 of 2015 and Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 6712 of 2016 which are connected with each other and arise out of common transaction. Counsels for both sides are present, who have requested the Court to take up both the matters today itself as the files of both the cases have been sent by the office and are available in the Court. This request was made in the background of the fact that the Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 24182 of 2015 was sent to the Court earlier on 20.8.2016 but the matter was posted for some other date after four weeks. Submission of counsels appearing for both sides is that as both the files are available in the Court and the rival counsels are also present then there is no point of not hearing the other bail application. In view of common request made by the counsels for both sides, both these bail applications are being heard together today and are being decided by common order.

2. By way of these bail applications moved on behalf of applicants Shyamdhhar Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey, the release on bail has been sought in connection with Case Crime No.118 of 2015, u/s 147, 148, 149, 323, 325, 504, 506, 436, 304, 452, 308, 34 I.P.C. and Section-3(2)(5) of SC/ST Act, Police Station-Handia, District-Allahabad.

3. Counter affidavits filed today by learned A.G.A. in both cases are taken on record.

4. Heard Shri Gopal Swroop Chaturvedi, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri L.K. Shukla and Shri R.S. Shukla, learned counsels for the applicant and Shri Prem Prakash, learned counsel for opposite party and learned A.G.A. for the State.

5. Submission of counsels for the applicants is that in this matter there has been a background of an unusual highhandedness and misconduct displayed by some persons belonging to the scheduled caste community of the village in question. In that connection applications had also been moved before this incident and as a result of which the administrative authorities had intervened and the anti-social elements were successfully managed but even thereafter miscreants of that community kept displaying their misdemeanor and misbehaviour. Counsels have also drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure No.27 and 28 in order to indicate the legal protest that was made against the miscreants and the eventual compromise that had taken place in that regard. Submission is that on the day of incident the situation worsened and there was a mutual clash between two rival groups. During this clash none of the accused persons displayed or had any criminal intention to cause anybody's death or to cause any serious injury to anybody of the other side but unfortunately one person who received a single injury on the head eventually died as a result of infection which he caught. The other persons said to have incurred injuries also received only trifling minor injuries. But the other side has tried to exaggerate the nature of offence and has resorted to a blanket implication of 24 persons in the incident by making omnibus allegations against all of them. Counsel has taken the Court to the medical examination reports of all the alleged 14 injured persons the perusal of which is sufficient to demonstrate the trivial nature of the injuries incurred by all of them. Medical reports show that the alleged victims namely Manju Nisha, Sukhdei and Beliram did not have any visible injury and only complained of pain; the alleged victims namely Komal, Sushila, Nandini and Chintamani are said to have incurred just a single contusion each on their persons; the alleged victims namely Nyasa and Lalchand had incurred a single lacerated wound each on their persons, the alleged victim namely Pooja had received only a single abrasion and the alleged victims Manoj Kumar and Ram Raj had incurred one lacerated wound and one contusion each on their persons. It was also pointed out that all these alleged injuries were obviously simple in nature and none of them was found to be grievous. Attention has been further drawn to the post-mortem report of the deceased which also indicates the presence of just a single healed wound on the head. Much emphasis has been laid by the counsel on the fact that during autopsy no grievous injury was found on the body of the deceased and even the healed wound on the head did not have any corresponding fracture in any of the underlying skull bones and was in fact an injury of simple nature. Submission is that it was so unfortunate that the otherwise simple wound appears to have caught some infection and septicaemia developed, as a result of which the deceased eventually died. It has been emphasized by counsel that the death of the deceased was reported by the doctor to have been caused as a result of cardiorespiratory arrest due to septicaemia. Argument is that the medical examinations of the victims and the post-mortem report of the deceased are sufficient to demonstrate that it is not a case in which either the victim or the deceased may be said to have been made the target by any of the accused persons with the intention to cause any serious harm to them. There was hardly any repetition of blows and the absence of any fracture caused to any of the victims is also a conclusive proof of the fact that whosoever hit them, hit them lightly and not with force. Further argument is that there is generalized vague allegation about the accused having been armed with lathi, danda and ganasa, but this is also so clear from the medical examination reports that neither the deceased nor any of the alleged victims received any sharp-edged wound. In fact the number of assailants is said to be 24 but total number of injuries incurred by the victims is much less than the number of accused which sufficiently demonstrates that many of the accused did not participate in the occurrence at all. The prosecution evidence is woefully lacking with regard to any specification about the weapons and it is not known at all as to which accused was having which weapon or as to which accused hit which victim. Even the single blow caused to the deceased which unfortunately caught the infection and proved fatal cannot be attributed to any particular accused. Submission is that in a case of this nature where blunt weapons like lathi or danda has been used so lightly that not even a single fracture or grievous injury has been caused to any of the victims, it will be unjust to attribute any intention of causing death to any of the accused. Further submission is that it will also be very unreasonable to saddle all the accused persons with vicarious liability of having shared any common murderous intention or object. Even the death of the deceased was also an unfortunate outcome or development which most probably took place because of lack of adequate medical care or because of medical negligence. It is further submitted that the allegations of setting the huts on fire is only a malicious attempt on the part of prosecution to exaggerate the offence and deliberately lend a complexion of caste and communal clash to the incident. Submission is that had there been any pre-planned deliberate serious intention to cause any serious harm then the nature of injuries caused to the alleged victims would have been wholly different. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicants that they are ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make themselves available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicants Shyamdhara Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey are languishing in jail since 11.4.2015 and 24.6.2015 respectively and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial. It has also been pointed out that the applicants do not have any previous criminal history.

6. Learned A.G.A. and Shri Prem Prakash, learned counsel for the informant have opposed the prayer for bail and have tried to submit that the incident was in the nature of a melee and therefore it was not possible for the prosecution witnesses to specifically know as to which accused wielded which specific weapon and as the aggression was made by the accused persons together, therefore, the only logical inference to draw in such circumstances is that all of them had common intention and object, and therefore all the accused must be held liable vicariously for causing the death of the deceased. But both the learned A.G.A. and the counsel for the informant have been fair enough to concede that neither the deceased nor any of the victims incurred any fracture on their persons and the deceased died as a result of septicaemia that developed because of some infection.

7. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicants may be enlarged on bail.

8. Let the applicants-Shyamdhhar Pandey and Vikash Kumar Pandey, involved in Case Crime No.118 of 2015, u/s 147, 148, 149, 323, 504, 506, 436, 452, 304, 308, 325, 34 I.P.C. and 3(2)(5) of SC/ST Act, P.S.-Handia, District-Allahabad be released on bail on their executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicants shall not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicants shall personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

9. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

10. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

SUBSTANTIAL QUESTION OF LAW :

Whether on the given facts and circumstances of the case, the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was justified in law in holding that Hapur Pilkhuwa Development Authority (HPDA), a local authority constituted under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973, was eligible for grant of registration under Section 12AA of the Income Tax Act, 1961?

8	349/2008	—	14.03.2008 passed in ITA No. 32/Luc/2008

FACTS :

The respondent, Hapur Pilkhuwa Development Authority (HPDA), is a statutory body constituted under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973. Prior to 01.04.2003, HPDA was exempt from income tax under Section 10(20A) of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Upon omission of Section 10(20A) by the Finance Act, 2002 with effect from 01.04.2003, HPDA applied for registration under Section 12AA of the Act, 1961 by submitting Form 10A under Rule 17A of the Income Tax Rules, 1962 on 27.12.2005.

The Commissioner of Income Tax, Ghaziabad (CIT), vide order dated 21.06.2006, rejected the application on two grounds: (i) that HPDA was not registered under the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 or the Societies Registration Act, 1860; and (ii) that its activities were not charitable per se as it sold land at commercial rates and did not follow commercial accounting principles. HPDA preferred appeal before the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi, which was allowed by the Tribunal following its earlier decision in respect of Ghaziabad Development Authority (also constituted under the U.P. Act, 1973). The present batch of eight Income Tax Appeals was preferred by the Revenue before this Court against the orders of the Tribunal.

The leading appeal is IT Appeal No. 657 of 2007 relating to Assessment Year 2003-04. All appeals raise identical questions of law and were heard together and decided by a common judgment.

HELD :

(i) Registration under S. 12AA — Condition of registration under Trusts Act or Societies Act not required — Section 12A or Section 12AA of the Income Tax Act, 1961 does not stipulate as a pre-condition that an institution seeking registration must be registered under the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 or the Societies Registration Act, 1860. The Commissioner of Income Tax erred in importing a condition not found in the statute. The sole requirement for registration under Section 12AA is that the institution must be created wholly for charitable or religious purposes, and the CIT is required to satisfy himself about the genuineness of the activities and the objects of the trust or institution.

(ii) Statutory development authority as 'Institution' for charitable purpose — S. 2(15) I.T. Act — HPDA, being a statutory body constituted under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 with the object of planning, development and improvement of the area under its jurisdiction and providing shelter to the homeless, falls within the definition of 'charitable purpose' under Section 2(15) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, specifically under the category of 'advancement of any other object of general public utility.' The acquisition of land by HPDA is for a public purpose and not a private or personal one. There is no legal requirement that such a statutory authority must be a trust or society to qualify as an 'Institution' under Section 12A.

(iii) Selling land at profit — Not ipso facto disqualifying under proviso to S. 2(15) — Mere sale of land at a profit does not by itself attract the proviso to Section 2(15) of the Income Tax Act so as to deprive an institution of the benefit of registration under Section 12AA. For the proviso to apply, the activities of the institution must be conducted on commercial lines with an intention to earn profit. Where the institution carries out its activities in furtherance of its charitable objects without a profit motive and any profit is merely incidental, the proviso has no application. It is the intention of the governing body and the manner in which activities are conducted that are determinative. The Revenue had not placed any material on record to demonstrate that HPDA was conducting its affairs on commercial lines with a motive to earn profit or had deviated from its stated objects. [Relied upon: CIT v. Lucknow Development Authority, (2014) 98 DTR (All) 183; CBDT Circular No. 11 of 2008]

(iv) Registration under S. 12AA — Not conclusive; Revenue always at liberty to examine claims under Ss. 11 & 13 — Grant of registration under Section 12AA does not confer an absolute or conclusive right to exemption under Section 11. Registration only evidences the genuineness of activities and objects of the institution. Revenue authorities retain full liberty at the stage of processing returns of income to examine the claims of the assessee under Sections 11 and 13 and to give appropriate treatment to the income of the institution consistent with the facts of each case. Registration can also be cancelled under Section 12AA(3). The benefit under Section 11 is further subject to the control of Sections 60 to 63. Thus, registration and exemption operate at two distinct levels and the grant of registration does not preclude future scrutiny. [Relied upon: CIT v. Lucknow Development Authority, (2014) 98 DTR (All) 183]

(v) Precedents affirming registration of statutory bodies — Binding on the Court — This Court in CIT v. Lucknow Development Authority, (2014) 98 DTR (All) 183 had held that a statutory authority constituted under the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 is entitled to registration under Section 12A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 since its objects are charitable in nature. Similarly, the Supreme Court in CIT-II v. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti, (2012) 12 SCC 267 had affirmed the charitable status of a statutory body for the purpose of registration under Section 12AA. This Court had also held in CIT v. M/s. U.P. Forest Corporation Ltd. (ITA No. 70 of 2009) that a statutory entity is entitled to registration under Section 12A, and that view was upheld by the Supreme Court. HPDA being a statutory authority constituted under the same U.P. Act, 1973, the findings and ratio in CIT v. Lucknow Development Authority are squarely applicable to the present case.

RESULT :

The substantial question of law is answered against the Revenue. The orders of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal granting registration under Section 12AA of the Income Tax Act, 1961 to Hapur Pilkhuwa Development Authority are confirmed. All eight Income Tax Appeals are accordingly dismissed.

1. Heard Sri Manish Goyal, learned Counsel for appellant and Sri Ashish Bansal for respondents.

2. These appeals raise identical questions of law and relate to different assessment years concerning Hapur Pilkhuwa Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as 'HPDA') passed by Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi "G", New Delhi (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal'), are heard together and decided by this common judgment.

3. The appeal number, assessment year and dates of order are tabulated as below:

4. These appeals were admitted on the following substantial question of law:-

“Whether on given facts and circumstances of case, Hon’ble Tribunal was justified in law in holding that local authority (Hapur Pilkhuwa Development Authority) was eligible for grant of registration under Section 12AA of IT Act, 1961.”

5. The leading appeal is numbered as 657 of 2007. Since facts are common in all appeals, they are taken from said appeal.

6. Parties are referred to as appellant and respondent respectively.

7. The facts in brief giving rise to present dispute, necessary for adjudication, are as under.

8. Respondents HPDA is a body constituted under U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1973'). It applied for granting registration under Section 12AA of Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1961") by submitting an application in Form 10A under Rule 17A of Income Tax Rules, 1962 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1962") on 27.12.2005.

9. Commissioner of Income Tax, Ghaziabad (hereinafter referred to as "CIT") vide order dated 21.06.2006 rejected application observing that HPDA is not an Institution working for charitable purposes since it was not registered under Indian Trusts Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1882") or Societies Registration Act, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1860"). Further its activities are also not charitable, per se as it sells land on commercial rates and to fudge profit it does not follow commercial accounting principles. HPDA preferred appeal i.e. ITA No. 2735 (Del) of 2006 which has been allowed by Tribunal vide orders impugned in these appeals.

10. Tribunal has followed its earlier decision dated 31.07.2007 passed in ITA No. 2903 (Del) of 2006 in respect to Ghaziabad Development Authority which is also a body constituted under U.P. Act, 1973 and held that it was also entitled for registration under Section 12A. Tribunal has also referred to an earlier judgment dated 25.07.2005 in ITA No. 690 (Luc) of 2003 wherein registration for similar body was directed to be allowed. This appeal is also before us.

11. It is not in dispute that HPDA is an authority constituted in India by or under any law enacted either for the purpose of dealing with and satisfying the need for housing accommodation or for the purpose of planning development or improvement of cities, towns and villages or for both and was exempted from Tax under Section 10(20A) of Act, 1961. The said Section 10(20A) has been omitted by Finance Act, 2002 with effect from 01.04.2003. However, that fact is not relevant to answer the question of registration under Section 12A.

12. Registration Under Section 12A is permissible to a Trust or a Institution so as to exclude provisions of Section 11 and 12 of Act, 1961. Section 11 and 12 talks of a Trust or Institution created wholly for charitable or religious purpose. We have to examine whether HPDA can be said to be an "Institution" created wholly for charitable purpose.

13. The term "charitable purpose" is defined in Section 2(15) of Act, 1961 and before Finance Act, 2008 whereby it was substituted with effect from 01.04.2009 and has been made much detailed, it read as under:

"(15) "charitable purpose" includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief, and the advancement of any other object of general public utility;"

(emphasis added)

14. Now it has been substituted with effect from 01.04.2009 and reads as under:

"(15) "charitable purpose" includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief, preservation of environment (including watersheds, forests and wildlife) and preservation of monuments or places or objects of artistic or historical interest and the advancement of any other object of general public utility:

Provided that the advancement of any other object of general public utility shall not be a charitable purpose, if it involves the carrying on of any activity in the nature of trade, commerce or business, or any activity of rendering any service in relation to any trade, commerce or business, for a cess or fee or any other consideration, irrespective of the nature of use or application, or retention, of the income from such activity;

Provided further that first proviso shall not apply if the aggregate value of the receipts from the activities referred to therein is twenty five lakh rupees or less in the previous year."

(emphasis added)

15. "Advancement of any other object of general public utility" is a term of very wide connotation. There is no requirement for the purpose of Section 12 that Institution must be registered under Act, 1882 or Act, 1860. CIT added this condition on his own though we do not find any such condition provided under Section 12A or 12AA of Act, 1961. In order to consider whether creation of HPDA is for advancement of general public utility. Tribunal has looked into objects and purposes of U.P. Act, 1973 and also the purpose of acquisition of land by HPDA, which is only for public purpose and not personal one.

16. Learned Counsel for appellant has submitted that Tribunal has ignored the fact that authority was engaged in activities other than those mentioned in its main object. It is further submitted that Tribunal has erred in coming to conclusion that authority carries on charitable work. It is submitted that Tribunal erred in considering definition of "charitable purpose" as defined under Section 2 (15) and definition of 'income' as given under Section 2 (24) read with Rule 17-A (a) and 1962 CBDT instruction No.1024 dated 9.11.1976. Learned Counsel has relied on judgment of this Court in ITA No.231/2006, U.P. State Industrial Development Corporation Ltd. Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax-II, Kanpur, decided on 5.7.20016.

17. Learned Counsel appearing for respondent has submitted that Tribunal has committed no error as it is duty of authority to formulate scheme in an area which is not developed and, therefore, application for such registration was sought for. He has relied on the decision of Apex Court in Commissioner of Income Tax-II Vs. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti, (2012) 12 SCC 267, and on judgment in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Lucknow Development Authority, (2014) 98 DTR 183, and contended that respondent had fulfilled the criterion for registration under Section 12-A of the Act.

18. We find it unnecessary to go for much research work and debate issue further for the reason that in respect to a similar authority, namely, "Lucknow Development Authority", which is also constituted under U.P. Act, 1973, a similar question, whether activities of Development Authority can be said to be 'charitable' as defined under Section 2(15) came up for consideration before a Division Bench in CIT Vs. Lucknow Development Authority 2014 (98) DTR (All) 183 and Court held as under:

"21. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the material available on record.

It is undisputed fact that the assessee is a "statutory authority" which was established under the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Planning and Development Act, 1973. In the instant case, prior to 1st April, 2003, the assessee was enjoying exemption under Section 10(20A) and Section 10(29). When these provisions were amended w.e.f. 1st April, 2003, then the necessity arose to register these institutions under Section 12A. In view of the objects, there is no good reason for holding that statutory bodies could not be treated as "charitable" within the meaning of Section 2(15). The object of the "Authority" is to provide shelter to the homeless people, therefore, there is no objectionable material to treat these institutions as non-charitable. The registration under Section 12A is mandatory to claim exemption under Sections 11 & 13, but registration alone cannot be treated as conclusive. It is always open to Revenue Authorities, while processing return of income of these assesseees, to examine the claim of the assesseees under Sections 11 & 13 and give such treatment to these institutions as is warranted by the facts of the case. Revenue Authorities are always at liberty to cancel the registration under Section 12AA(3). Moreover, it may be mentioned that the benefit of Section 11 is not absolute or conclusive. It is subject to control of Sections 60 to 63. If it is found by keeping in view the provisions of Sections 60 to 63 that it is not so includible then such income does not qualify for any relief."

"25. Further, it may be mentioned that Section 12AA of the Act lays down the procedure for registration in relation to the conditions for applicability of Sections 11 & 12 as provided in Section 12A. Therefore, once the procedure is complete as provided in sub-section (1) of Section 12AA and a certificate is issued granting registration to the trust or institution the certificate is a document evidencing satisfaction about (i) the genuineness of the activities of the trust or institution, and (ii) about the objects of the trust or institution. Section 12A stipulates that the provisions of Sections 11 & 12 shall not apply in relation to income of a trust or an institution unless the conditions stipulated therein are fulfilled. Thus, granting of registration under Section 12AA denotes that the conditions laid down in Section 12A stand fulfilled.

26. The effect of such a certificate of registration under Section 12AAA, therefore, cannot be ignored or wished away by the Assessing Officer by adopting a stand that the trust or institution is not fulfilling the conditions for applicability of Sections 11 & 12. In the case of Gestetner Duplicators P. Ltd. vs. CIT (1979) 8 CTR (SC) 371 : (1979) 117 ITR 1 (SC), the Apex Court was called upon to determine as to whether the contribution made by the employer should be treated as a business expenditure, the requirement being contribution should be made to a recognized provident fund.

27. Needless to mention that this Hon'ble Court in the case of CIT vs. M/s. U.P. Forest Corporation Ltd., in Income Tax Appeal No. 70 of 2009 observed that the Forest Corporation being an statutory entity is entitled for the registration under Section 12A of the Act. The said observations was upheld by the Hon'ble Apex Court vide its order dated 12th May, 2011 in Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 2590 of 2011.

28. We may also like to refer a C.B.D.T. Circular No. 11 of 2008 dated 19th December, 2008 [(2009) 221 CTR (St) 1 : (2009) 17 DTR (St) 1] wherein the applicability of the commercial activities in respect of charitable purpose has been clarified. The said circular is reproduced as below:

"2.2. 'Relief of the poor' encompasses a wide range of objects for the welfare of the economically and socially disadvantaged or needy. It will, therefore, include within its ambit purposes such as relief to destitute, orphans or the handicapped, disadvantaged women or children, small and marginal farmers, indigent artisans or senior citizens in need of aid. Entities who have these objects will continue to be eligible for exemption even if they incidentally carry on a commercial activity, subject, however, to the conditions stipulated under Section 11(4A) or the seventh proviso to Section 10(23C), which are that-

(i) the business should be incidental to the attainment of the objectives of the entity, and

(ii) separate books of accounts should be maintained in respect of such business."

29. For the applicability of proviso to Section 2(15), the activities of the trust should be carried out on commercial lines with intention to make profit. Where the trust is carrying out its activities on non-commercial lines with no motive to earn profits, for fulfillment of its aims and objectives, which are charitable in nature and in the process earn some profits, the same would not be hit by proviso to section 2(15). The aims and objects of the assessee-trust are admittedly charitable in nature.

30. Mere selling some product at a profit will not ipso facto hit assessee by applying proviso to Section 2(15) and deny exemption available under Section 11. The intention of the trustees and the manner in which the activities of the charitable trust institution are undertaken are highly relevant to decide the issue of applicability of proviso to Section 2(15).

31. There is no material/evidence brought on record by the revenue which may suggest that the assessee was conducting its affairs on commercial lines with motive to earn profit or has deviated from its objects as detailed in the trust deed of the assessee. In these facts and circumstances of the case, the proviso to Section 2(15) is not applicable to the facts and circumstances of the case, and the assessee was entitled to exemption provided under Section 11 for the relevant assessment year.

32. From the record, it also appears that the "authority" had been maintaining infrastructure, development and reserve fund IDRF as per the notification dated 15th January, 1998, the money transferred to this funds is to be utilized for the purpose of project as specified by the committed having constituted by the State Government under the said notification and the same could not be treated to be belonging to the "authority" or the receipt of taxable nature in its hands. For this reason also, it appears that the funds are utilized for general utility."

19. The findings and observations in the aforesaid judgment are squarely applicable in the case in hand also.

20. We also find that another statutory body, namely, Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti constituted under U.P. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Adhiniyam, 1964 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1964") was also registered under Section 12AA of Act, 1961 and the question whether amount transferred to Mandi Parishad would constitute application of income for 'charitable purpose' under Section 11(1)(a) of Act, 1961 has been decided against Revenue by Supreme Court in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti 2012 (12) SCC 267 wherein Court has also confirmed this Court's judgment dated 04.12.2009 passed by this Court at Lucknow in I.T.A. No. 102 of 2009.

21. In view of above, we answer above question against Revenue and confirm judgment of Tribunal impugned in all these appeals.

22. All the appeals are, accordingly, dismissed.

Govt. Advocate, Gyan Prakash, Rishad Murtaza

Legislation referred to : Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – S. 161; Indian Penal Code, 1860 – S. 364; Constitution of India – Art. 226.

NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS :

Public Interest Litigation filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India praying for issuance of a writ of mandamus directing the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to investigate the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan, a key prosecution witness in the criminal cases pending against Asumal Harpalani alias Asaram Babu and his son Narayan Sai in the States of Rajasthan and Gujarat, who went missing on 25.11.2015 while under State police protection.

FACTS :

Dr. Rahul K. Sachan (son of Ram Kumar Sachan of Kanpur) was a key prosecution witness in criminal cases pending against Asumal Harpalani alias Asaram Babu and his son Narayan Sai at Jodhpur (Rajasthan) and at Surat and Ahmedabad (Gujarat). He had described himself as the Personal Assistant of Asaram Babu from 2009 to 2013 with personal knowledge of the accused's activities. Apprehending threat to his life, he had filed an affidavit in Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 156 of 2015 before the Supreme Court of India seeking protection. The Supreme Court, vide order dated 14.09.2015, directed the Trial Court to provide adequate protection to witnesses apprehending genuine threats. Pursuant thereto, Dr. Sachan was granted State protection in the form of a police Gunner.

Constable Vijay Bahadur, the regular Gunner assigned to Dr. Sachan, proceeded on leave for one week w.e.f. 21.11.2015, during which Constable Amit Kumar Singh from the Reserve Police Lines was deputed in his place. On 25.11.2015, Constable Amit Kumar Singh, at the request of Dr. Sachan, took him on a motorcycle from his residence at Mari Mata Mandir, Campbell Road, Balaganj, Lucknow to the Kaiserbagh Bus Station, Lucknow at 9.00 a.m. and left him there. Dr. Sachan stated he would return the next day and would telephone. No such call was received and his mobile phone was found switched off thereafter. Despite this, the FIR was lodged only on 20.12.2015 — approximately one month after the disappearance — as Case Crime No. 1071 of 2015 under Section 364 IPC, P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow.

The petitioner Bennet Castelino, a practising Advocate and Barrister enrolled with the Bar Council of Maharashtra and Goa, had earlier filed Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 156 of 2015 before the Supreme Court seeking protection for Dr. Sachan and thereafter filed Writ Petition No. 14 of 2016 before the Supreme Court for transfer of investigation to CBI. The Supreme Court, by order dated 04.03.2016, granted liberty to the petitioner to approach the High Court of Allahabad with a similar prayer. The present PIL was accordingly filed.

The case diary was produced before the Court. The call data record of Dr. Sachan's mobile phone, obtained by the then Investigating Officer in December 2015 itself, disclosed that his last location on 25.11.2015 was at Mohalla Mallawan, District Hardoi. Despite this information, the subsequent Investigating Officer who took charge on 09.04.2016 proceeded to investigate at Hardoi only after six months, on 03.06.2016. The Gunners and security personnel provided to Dr. Sachan were not subjected to any meaningful interrogation. The entire investigation was confined to paper formality — trips to New Delhi to a female friend's residence, to Kanpur to his father's residence, and publication of a missing report in newspapers on the basis of a Panchkula ration card. No action was taken against any of the investigating officers.

After the PIL came up before the Court, the State responded by awarding censure entries to the two Gunners (Constable Vijay Bahadur and Constable Amit Kumar Singh) vide orders dated 18.08.2016, constituting a Special Investigation Team (SIT) vide letter dated 21.08.2016 of the Additional Director General of Police (Law & Order), Lucknow, and ordering a preliminary enquiry by the Additional Superintendent of Police (City) (West), Lucknow. The learned Additional Advocate General urged that these steps demonstrated genuine intent to investigate and that the SIT should be permitted to continue. However, the Court noted that all these steps were taken only after and owing to the pendency of the present PIL before the Court.

QUESTIONS OF LAW :

(i) What are the principles governing transfer of investigation from the State Police to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) under the writ jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, and whether a last-minute constitution of a Special Investigation Team (SIT) by the State, taken only after the matter comes to court and found to be lacking in credible investigation, would be sufficient to decline such transfer?

(ii) Whether the slipshod, dilatory and non-diligent investigation conducted by the State Police into the mysterious disappearance of a protected prosecution witness in a high-profile criminal case, compounded by delayed FIR registration, non-interrogation of assigned security personnel, and failure to pursue leads from call data records for months, warrants transfer of investigation to the CBI to preserve public confidence in the criminal justice system?

HELD :

(i) Principles governing transfer of investigation to CBI — The power of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution to direct transfer of a police investigation to the CBI is well-settled. Such transfer is warranted where the investigation conducted by the State Police has been found to be unfair, non-diligent, slipshod or lacking in credibility, and where continued investigation by the State Police would fail to inspire public confidence in the criminal justice system. The power is to be exercised sparingly and with great caution, but it is available where the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case so demand. The nature of the crime, the identity of the missing person as a key prosecution witness in a high-profile criminal case, and the manner in which the investigation has been conducted are all relevant considerations. [Relied upon: Secretary, Minor Irrigation v. Sahngoo Ram Arya, (2002) 5 SCC 521; State of West Bengal v. Committee for Protection of Democratic Rights, (2010) 3 SCC 571; Pooja Pal v. Union of India, (2016) 1 Crimes 626]

(ii) Failure to investigate diligently — Flawed investigation established from case diary — A perusal of the case diary placed before the Court prima facie establishes a complete lack of diligence in the investigation. Despite the call data record of the missing person's mobile phone disclosing his last location at District Hardoi on 25.11.2015, the Investigating Officer who took charge on 09.04.2016 visited Hardoi for investigation only on 03.06.2016, i.e., more than six months after the disappearance. The two Constables who were assigned as Gunners to Dr. Sachan on and immediately before the date of his disappearance were not subjected to any meaningful interrogation. The FIR itself was lodged after a delay of approximately one month. The sum and substance of the investigation is a paper formality. There is not a single piece of credible investigative work disclosed in the case diary that could inspire confidence. The possibility of involvement of police personnel in the disappearance has not been examined at all.

(iii) Last-minute constitution of SIT — Insufficient to decline transfer of investigation — The constitution of a Special Investigation Team (SIT) by the State, and the issuance of censure entries to the two Gunners, almost simultaneously with and after the pendency of the present PIL and the Court's orders, cannot be regarded as a genuine and independent step to remedy the investigation. These steps came too late in the day and do not inspire confidence that the investigation will be conducted fairly and diligently by the State machinery. The request of the learned Additional Advocate General to allow the SIT to continue the investigation is accordingly declined. The principles laid down in all the judgments relied upon by the learned Additional Advocate General are consistent with the approach adopted herein and do not lead to a different conclusion on the peculiar facts of the present case.

(iv) Protected prosecution witness — Disappearance under State guard — Public confidence in justice system — The missing person Dr. Rahul K. Sachan was not an ordinary citizen but a prosecution witness who had specifically apprehended threats to his life, who had approached the Supreme Court of India for protection, and who had thereafter been provided with a State police Gunner. The fact that he went missing precisely during the period of State protection, and that the investigation into his disappearance was thereafter conducted in the slipshod manner disclosed in the case diary, completely undermines public confidence in the criminal justice system. It is imperative in cases of this nature that investigation be entrusted to an independent agency unconnected with the State police whose personnel may themselves be required to be interrogated.

DIRECTIONS :

- (i) The Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) is directed to take over the investigation of Case Crime No. 1071 of 2015 under Section 364 IPC, P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow, forthwith.
- (ii) The State Police is directed to hand over all original records and documents collected during the investigation to the CBI immediately.
- (iii) Sri Rishad Murtaza, Advocate for the CBI, is directed to communicate this order to the CBI and bring it to the notice of the learned Assistant Solicitor General of India for appropriate action.
- (iv) The CBI is expected to conclude the investigation and file its police report expeditiously, preferably within six months from the date of the order.

RESULT :

PIL disposed of with the aforesaid directions. Investigation of Case Crime No. 1071 of 2015 under Section 364 IPC, P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow transferred from the State Police to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI). Liberty reserved to any aggrieved person to approach this Court in the event further directions are required.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. This P.I.L. was entertained on 6.5.2016 and the following order was passed:-

"Notices on behalf of respondent Nos.1 and 2 have been accepted by learned Government Advocate and for the respondent No.3 notice has been accepted by Mr.Alok Singh, learned Advocate holding brief of Mr.Rishad Murtaza, learned Advocate.

The petitioner has prayed for issuing a mandamus to the Central Bureau of Investigation, New Delhi to investigate the disappearance of Mr.Rahul Sachan, prime prosecution witness in the case of death and assault of Asumal Harpalani aka Asaram Bapu.

Mrs.Ruhi Siddiqui, learned Government Advocate, on the basis of instructions, has submitted that in the matter an First Information Report has been lodged and the matter is under police investigation. She has sought two months time to bring on record the investigation.

Time as prayed for is allowed.

List in the 1st week of August 2016."

2. The matter was again heard on 20.8.2016 when this Court had passed the following order:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner in person and Ms. Bulbul Godiyal, learned Additional Advocate General for the State.

This petition involves the missing of a prosecution witness in one of the most high profile cases where the missing person is none else than one of the prosecution witness who had not only apprehended threats but had also approached the Apex Court seeking an appropriate protection as a witness in Writ Petition (Criminal) No.156 of 2015 that was disposed of by the Apex Court on 14.9.2015.

The said prosecution witness who has been described in the investigation document as Dr. Rahul K. Sachan (described as 'Rahul Sachan' in the petition), and is stated to be the son of Ram Kumar Sachan of Kanpur, unfortunately went missing according to the First Information Report on 25.11.2015.

Prior to this, he had been granted State Protection of a police guard. One Mr. Vijay Bahadur was posted with him. It appears that Vijay Bahadur went on leave for a period of one week on 21.11.2015 and in between Constable Amit Kumar Singh from the Reserve Police Lines was pressed into service for his protection. It was during his protection that it is alleged that Dr. Rahul K. Sachan went missing but the First Information Report was lodged almost after a month on 20.12.2015. The investigation proceeded under one Sub-Inspector Shri Vijay Pandey, P.S. Thakurganj, Lucknow and it is alleged that he had obtained the call details record of the mobile phone of the said Dr. Rahul K. Sachan which indicated his last location on 25.11.2015 at Mohalla Mallawan, District Hardoi. Thereafter, the investigation appears to have proceeded but with a pace that discloses that in spite of this information of his last location at Hardoi, the Investigating Officer who subsequently took charge on 9.4.2016 went to Hardoi for investigating the matter after six months on 3.6.2016. The case diary has been produced before us. Without commenting anything further on the materials so collected during investigation, we are, prima facie, satisfied that this sort of investigation in such a high profile case completely lacks diligence as well as it dilutes the confidence of the public at large in such high profile cases. We are, prima facie, satisfied that the investigation has not been diligently carried out and therefore, this Court may consider grant of relief in the present writ petition for handing over the investigation to the Central Bureau of Investigation.

Shri Rishad Murtaza is present for the respondent no. 3. He may also obtain instructions by Monday, i.e.22.8.2016.

In this matter, the entire case diary and the file produced by the Advocate General are hereby directed to be sealed by the Senior Registrar today itself.

The Bench Secretary shall hand over the said file along with the sealed record to the Senior Registrar and the same shall be produced before us on Monday.

Put up on Monday, i.e.22.8.2016."

3. Arguments were advanced on 22.8.2016 and the Court summoned the case diary that was retained in sealed cover in the Court itself. The same was again perused with the help of the learned Additional Advocate General who also handed down the orders passed by the present Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow dated 18.8.2016, whereby censure entries were awarded to Constable Vijay Bahadur and Constable Amit Kumar Singh, the two Constables who were on duty as Gunners for the protection of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan recording that there was a dereliction of duty and negligence on their part. The two orders have been placed before the Court.

4. The Senior Superintendent of Police also handed over a letter dated 21.8.2016 whereby the Senior Superintendent of Police has called upon the Additional Superintendent of Police (City) (West), Lucknow to undertake a preliminary enquiry in the case in question as it appeared that the investigation had not been carried out in depth nor any sufficient interest had been shown in the investigation indicating negligence and slackness on the part of the Station House Officer or the officials involved in the investigation. The same is also taken on record.

5. The fourth letter placed before the Court dated 21.8.2016 has been issued by the Additional Director General of Police (Law & Order), Lucknow Sri Daljeet Singh Chaudhary calling upon the Inspector General of Police (STF) and the Senior Superintendent of Police (STF), Lucknow to take over the investigation to be conducted by a Special Investigation Team in view of the special circumstances of the case. The Senior Superintendent of Police had also passed the order to that effect constituting a Special Investigation Team (SIT) and a copy of the said letter has also been placed on record.

6. All these letters emanated almost simultaneously after the present petition remained pending before the Court and after the Court had passed the orders quoted here-in-above.

7. The petitioner-Mr.Bennet Castelino while disclosing his credentials has described himself as an Overseas Indian Citizen presently residing at 60, Castlefinn Drive, Auckland, New Zealand 2103 and being a Lawyer practicing at Mumbai has also given his Indian Address as 15, DG Chambers, Nagindas Master Road, Fort, Mumbai - 400 001. He had earlier filed a Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 156 of 2015, Bennet Castelino versus Union of India and others, before the Supreme Court of India for securing adequate protection to the witness Rahul K. Sachan in the criminal case that has given rise to this P.I.L. and the same was disposed of at the instance of the petitioner on 14.9.2015 by the following order:-

"Looking at the peculiar facts of the case, we direct that the Trial Court shall give adequate protection to the witnesses who approach the Trial Court apprehending some threat, if, according to the Trial Court, the threat is genuine.

The Trial Court shall give protection to the witnesses by passing an appropriate order, wherever it is necessary.

With the above directions, the Writ Petition is disposed of."

8. It appears that a Gunner was provided by the State Government thereafter.

9. He filed another petition before the Apex Court being Writ Petition No.14 of 2016 that was taken up on 4.3.2016 submitting that the person for whom the protection had been earlier sought had gone missing and an F.I.R. has been lodged. The petitioner appears to have prayed for transfer of the investigation to the C.B.I. but the writ petition was disposed of by the same Bench that had heard the earlier writ petition on 4.3.2016 by the following judgment giving liberty to the petitioner to file the present writ petition before the High Court:-

"It has been submitted by the petitioner, who appears in person that Rahul Sachan, who was one of the witnesses is now missing. A complaint with regard to the incident has already been lodged in the State of Uttar Pradesh.

In the circumstances, it will be appropriate if the petitioner approaches the High Court of Allahabad by filing a petition with a similar prayer. If such a petition is filed, the High Court is requested to look into it and dispose of the same on merits.

In view of the above, the petitioner seeks permission to withdraw this writ petition so as to approach the High Court of Allahabad.

Permission is granted.

The writ petition is, accordingly, disposed of as withdrawn."

10. The petitioner has described himself as a practicing Advocate and the Member of the Bar Council of Maharashtra and Goa enrolled on 27.2.1985 and also a member of The Institute of Company Secretaries of India as well as a qualified Chartered Secretary holding qualifications in Commerce, Law, Finance and Management. He has also stated that he is a Barrister and Solicitor as well of the High Court of New Zealand with eligibility to practice Law in Australia. Disclosing his financial status, he has stated that he is a Tax Payer Overseas and is also filing Income Tax Returns in India. To explain his bona fides, the petitioner has disclosed his social activities and has stated that he has filed numerous P.I.Ls especially for protecting the rights of Christian beneficiaries and Christian trust properties. Several other pursuits have been disclosed by him indicating that he has no private motive, personal gain or oblique reason for filing this P.I.L.

11. The petitioner has disclosed that since he was keenly following the arrest of one Asumal Harpalani aka Bapu Asaram, he came across Dr. Rahul K. Sachan on whose behalf he filed the earlier writ petition. He also disclosed that he was in constant touch with Dr. Rahul K. Sachan but he lost contact since 21.11.2015. This sudden disappearance and absence of any trace inspite of an F.I.R. having been lodged led to the filing of this P.I.L. for transferring the investigation.

12. The criminal case giving rise to this controversy appears to have its genesis in the trial against Asumal Harpalani aka Asaram Bapu and his son Narayan Sai as well as other associates with regard to which criminal cases are going on in the State of Rajasthan at Jodhpur and in the State of Gujarat at Surat and Ahmedabad. Dr. Rahul K. Sachan is stated to be one of the witnesses. Apprehending threat of his life Dr. Rahul K. Sachan describing himself as the Personal Assistant of Asumal Harpalani aka Asaram Bapu since 2009 to 2013 and having personal knowledge of the activities of the accused, he filed an affidavit to that effect in Criminal Writ Petition No.156 of 2015 that had been earlier filed by the petitioner seeking adequate protection, the order whereof has been extracted here-in-above. A copy of the affidavit of the said Dr. Rahul K. Sachan and also one of Mahender Chawla who is also a prosecution witness in the case registered at Jodhpur alongwith Dr. Rahul K. Sachan is on record of this petition. It is in this background that this prosecution witness Dr. Rahul K. Sachan who was having the protection of a Gunner from the said police went mysteriously missing and this disappearance is stated to have occurred on 25.11.2015.

13. We had called upon the State to produce the case diary that has been placed before us and we find from the narration in the information registered on 20.12.2015 that Constable Vijay Bahadur who was on duty with Dr. Rahul K. Sachan went on leave for a week w.e.f. 21.11.2015 for seven days that had been sanctioned. During his leave, Constable Amit Kumar Singh was posted in his place as a Gunner with Dr. Rahul K. Sachan. The said Amit Kumar Singh while giving his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. during investigation has stated that on 25.11.2015, on the asking of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan, he took him on a motorcycle from his residence at Mari Mata Mandir, Campbell Road, Balaganj, Lucknow at 9 A.M. to the Kaiserbagh Bus Station, Lucknow where he left him. According to Amit Kumar Singh, Dr. Rahul K. Sachan had stated that he is going somewhere and he would be coming the next day whereupon he shall call on phone. However, no such phone call was received on the next day and when the said Constable tried to contact him on his mobile phone the same appeared to be switched off. He then informed the Shadow/Gunner In-charge orally in the Police Lines at Lucknow but he did not remember the day and time about such information. The case diary also discloses that the Original Gunner Sri Vijay Bahadur who had been posted along with Dr. Rahul K. Sachan after returning from a week's leave was informed by Mr. Afzal Hasan Mehandi, Shadow/Gunner In-charge in the Police Lines on 30.11.2015 that Dr. Rahul K. Sachan had gone to some unknown destination who can return back any time, and believing this, the said Constable Vijay Bahadur reached the residence of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan where he did not find him. He tried to contact him on his mobile but the same was switched off. This information was again conveyed to Shadow/Gunner In-charge Mr. Afzal Hasan Mehandi. The date mentioned in the case diary is 1.11.2015 which is being explained by the Additional Advocate General that it may be an error as it can be 1.12.2015. The said Constable Vijay Bahadur was asked by the Shadow/Gunner In-charge that until further orders, he should station himself at the residence of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan. The absence of Dr. Sachan according to Constable Vijay Bahadur was being reportedly given orally but on 17.11.2015 this was done in writing and he was again asked to continue at the residence of Dr. Sachan. The F.I.R. was lodged almost after a month on 20.12.2015 and was registered as Case Crime No.1071 of 2015 under Section 364 I.P.C., P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow.

14. The case also reveals that after lodging of the F.I.R., the then Investigating Officer had obtained the call data record of the mobile phone of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan in December itself and his last location according to the said call data on 25.11.2015 was at Hardoi nearby a town of Lucknow. The case diary does not indicate any such effort on the part of the then Investigating Officer, except for the fact that trips were made to New Delhi at the residence of a female friend of the missing person and then also to Kanpur where his father resided.

15. The surprising part is that there is hardly any investigation or interrogation of the two Gunners, the Shadow/Gunner In-charge of the Police Lines or those connected with the security of the missing person in order to have a clue as to why they did not possess any information about his whereabouts after having left Lucknow on 25.11.2015. The case diary does not indicate any interrogation further worth the name from Constable Amit Kumar Singh who was in his security as a Gunner with Dr. Rahul K. Sachan on the date when he went missing. The Investigating Officer who was then conducting the investigation has maintained the case diary in a manner, which is not proper to be discussed at this stage, except for the fact that some documents were collected and a missing report was published in the newspapers on a ration card of Panchkula in Haryana and about the information at Delhi in Govind Ganj near Kalkaji Mandir, New Delhi where a visit appears to have been made but with no clue in the case diary at all. The subsequent Sub-Inspector who took over the investigation in April, 2016 his memos do not indicate any information worth the name or investigation having been conducted so as to inspire confidence. The sum and substance of the case diary that has been placed before the Court is that a paper formality appears to have been concluded in a crime of this nature.

16. The learned Additional Advocate General has filed an affidavit of Mr. Ram Bahadur Pal, the current Investigating Officer who is a Sub-Inspector at P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow wherein it is stated that in January, 2016, the then Investigating Officer had gone to the residence of one Ekta Verma in Delhi and few other persons were also contacted but the gap thereafter in the case diary has nowhere been explained. There is nothing on record to indicate that any serious effort was made at all in this regard.

17. It is in this background that the respondent-State appears to have now tried to give a hope of investigation by constituting a Special Investigation Team (SIT) and giving censure entries to the two Constables who were on duty as Gunners. No explanation was called for from the investigating officers nor any action has been taken against them. The learned Additional Advocate General vehemently urged that serious steps are being taken and there is a genuine effort now to conduct the investigation and therefore, this Court may consider this aspect of the matter as well before directing any change of investigation. The learned Additional Advocate General has placed before the Court the following judgments to urge that applying the principles laid down by the Supreme Court in the said cases, it would be appropriate to allow the Special Investigation Team (SIT) to continue the investigation that is likely to bring about results.

(i) Pooja Pal v. Union of India and others [(2016) 1 Crimes 626 (SC) 45]

(ii) Subrata Chatteraj v. Union of India and others [(2014) 8 SCC 768]

(iii) Sudipta Lenka v. State of Odisha and others [(2014) 11 SCC 527]

(iv) K. Saravanan Karuppasamy and another v. State of Tamil Nadu and others [(2014) 10 SCC 406]

(v) Bharati Tamang v. Union of India and others [(2013) 15 SCC 578]

(vi) K. V. Rajendran v. Superintendent of Police, CBCID, South Zone, Chennai and others [(2013) 12 SCC 480]

(vii) State of West Bengal and others v. Committee for Protection of Democratic Rights, West Bengal and others [(2010) 3 SCC 571]

(viii) Sukiri Vasu v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others [(2008) 2 SCC 409]

18. Having considered the aforesaid aspects, it is not possible for us to gather as to the circumstances of the missing person conclusively, inasmuch as the missing person Dr. Rahul K. Sachan may have been quite possibly a victim keeping in view the nature of the crime or alternatively he could have gone underground voluntarily which is yet a matter of investigation, but the fact remains that the flaw in the investigation is clearly reflected while interrogating the Gunners and the security personnel who were provided as Guards for the person of Dr. Rahul K. Sachan. To proceed to investigate at Hardoi after six months remains unexplained. It is this surprising part which impels this Court to prima facie believe that the police has failed to carryout the investigation fairly and diligently. No effort worth the name has been made towards the possibility of involvement of the police itself that could have revealed something further. The investigation therefore far from being credible does not inspire confidence. These aspects have been clearly dealt with and the principles on which an investigation can be transferred has also been explained in the decision of Secretary, Minor Irrigation & Rural Engineering Services v. Sahngoo Ram Arya and another* [(2002) 5 SCC Page 521]. It has further been followed in the case of State of West Bengal and others v. Committee for Protection of Democratic Rights* [(2010) 3 SCC Page 571]. The judgments that have been relied on by the learned Additional Advocate General are almost on the same lines, the latest being that of in the case of Pooja Pal (supra). These aspects were considered by a Division Bench of our Court very lately in an another case of prime importance where the investigation was not found to be fairly going in the right direction in Writ Petition No.18005 of 2016 (PIL) in the Matter of Rape with Mother and Daughter at NH91.

19. The nature of the crime, the mysterious circumstances in which Dr. Rahul K. Sachan has gone missing and the slipshod manner of investigation therefore compel us not to believe the hope expressed for some better investigation by the State which has come too late in the day as indicated above. We, therefore, decline the request of the learned Additional Advocate General to get the investigation carried out by the Special Investigation Team (SIT).

20. Consequently, we direct the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to take over the investigation of Case Crime No.1071 of 2015 under Section 364 IPC, P.S. Thakurganj, District Lucknow forthwith.

21. The case diary that was placed before the Court is being returned to the learned Additional Advocate General and the concerned Police Station is directed to handover the original records/documents relating to the investigation collected uptil now immediately to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), which shall proceed with the investigation.

22. Since Sri Rishad Murtaza, learned Counsel for the CBI has already assisted the Court, we direct him to communicate this order to the CBI immediately for appropriate action and also bring it to the notice of the learned Assistant Solicitor General of India for communicating it to the concerned officials for appropriate action.

23. Since we have issued these directions, we do not find it necessary to keep the matter pending without prejudice to the rights of an aggrieved person to approach this Court in the event any further directions are required in this regard.

24. It is expected that the CBI shall conclude the investigation and file the police report expeditiously, preferably not later than six months from today and if possible earlier.

25. Disposed off with the said directions.

...Respondents

Govt. Advocate.

(ii) Whether the ingredients of Section 363 I.P.C. read with Section 361 I.P.C. and Section 366 I.P.C. are satisfied on the facts and circumstances of the case, particularly when the prosecutrix herself states that she was neither kidnapped nor abducted but had voluntarily accompanied and married the petitioner.

(iii) Whether a girl who has attained the age of discretion (though not yet the age of majority) and who, of her own volition, abandons the guardianship of her parents and joins/marries a boy without any inducement, enticement, coercion or active participation on the part of the boy, can be said to have been 'taken or enticed' within the meaning of Section 361 I.P.C.

(iv) Whether the medical/radiological age (19 years approximately) of the prosecutrix, contradicting the testimonial age relied upon by the prosecution to allege minority, satisfies the bar of age contemplated under Section 361 I.P.C.

(v) Whether, in the facts and circumstances, the impugned F.I.R. was lodged mala fide with intent to wreak vengeance on the petitioners on account of the complainant's personal grudge against the marriage, and whether continuation of proceedings would amount to abuse of process of the Court.

HELD:

(i) Power of High Court to quash criminal proceedings — Parameters — The High Court, in exercise of its extraordinary power under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C., may quash criminal proceedings so as to prevent abuse of the process of the court and to secure the ends of justice. The power, though of wide amplitude, must be exercised with caution, care and circumspection. The court has to be fully satisfied that the material produced by the accused is of sterling and impeccable quality; that such material would rule out and disprove the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused; and that the material cannot justifiably be refuted by the prosecution. In such a situation, the judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to exercise the power to quash. The High Court while considering quashing has the jurisdiction to consider facts as they emerge from evidences, statements, medical reports, correspondence and other material placed on record, so as to secure substantial justice.

Seven illustrative categories of cases where quashing may be warranted — (1) Allegations in the F.I.R., even if accepted in entirety, do not constitute any offence; (2) Allegations do not disclose a cognizable offence; (3) Uncontroverted allegations and evidence collected do not disclose commission of any offence; (4) Allegations do not constitute a cognizable offence; (5) Allegations are so absurd and improbable that no prudent person can conclude there is sufficient ground to proceed; (6) There is an express legal bar to continuation of proceedings; (7) Criminal proceedings are manifestly mala fide or initiated to wreak vengeance with a view to spite the accused due to private and personal grudge.

Four-step test for quashing — The High Court must determine: (i) whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable and indubitable, i.e., of sterling and impeccable quality; (ii) whether such material rules out the factual assertions in the charges; (iii) whether the material has not been or cannot justifiably be refuted by the prosecution/complainant; and (iv) whether proceeding with the trial would result in abuse of process of the court and not serve the ends of justice. If all four steps are answered in the affirmative, the proceedings deserve to be quashed.

(ii) Ingredients of Sections 361, 363 and 366 I.P.C. — Voluntary act of the girl — Age of discretion — Section 361 I.P.C. requires that the accused must have 'taken or enticed' a minor female (below eighteen years of age) out of the keeping of her lawful guardian without the guardian's consent. Where a girl, having attained the age of discretion, voluntarily of her own accord and initiative, without any inducement, enticement, coercion, solicitation or active participation on the part of the accused, abandons her guardian's protection and joins/marries the accused, the ingredient of 'taking or enticing' is not satisfied and no offence under Section 363 I.P.C. is made out. The law does not cast any duty upon the accused to take the girl back to her father's house or to prevent her from accompanying him. Where the girl herself categorically deposes — including in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. — that she was neither kidnapped nor abducted but had willingly accompanied and married the accused, the element of coercion and enticement by the accused is absent and the ingredients of Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C. remain unsatisfied. Substantial justice cannot be sacrificed at the altar of technical interpretation.

A girl who has attained the age of discretion and is on the verge of attaining majority, capable of knowing what is good or bad for her, cannot be said to have been induced, particularly when the case of the girl herself is that on her own initiative and by her voluntary act she went with the boy and married him. In such circumstances, the desire and welfare of the girl are required to be taken into account and the ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are to be considered accordingly, not in a mechanical or technical manner. So as to bring a case within Section 361 I.P.C. in such circumstances, some kind of inducement held out by the accused or active participation by him in the formation of the intention of the minor to leave her guardian's protection, is required to be established.

(iii) Effect of medical/radiological age contradicting testimonial age — Where the medical/radiological age of the prosecutrix is found to be approximately 19 years by the investigating agency itself — a fact not disputed by the prosecution — and such age contradicts the testimonial records relied upon to allege minority, the prosecution cannot maintain that the prosecutrix was a minor for the purpose of attracting the provisions of Section 361 I.P.C. The prosecutrix having been found by the medical examination to have attained majority, the ingredient of minority required under Section 361 I.P.C. is not satisfied, and therefore the offence under Section 363 I.P.C. is not made out.

(iv) Mala fide initiation of proceedings — Abuse of process — Where it is evident from the facts and circumstances that the impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated not on account of any bona fide grievance but solely because the complainant did not accept the marriage of choice of his daughter with the petitioner, and where continuance of the proceedings would disrupt the matrimonial life of the prosecutrix (who herself has not been kidnapped), the proceedings are manifestly mala fide and amount to an abuse of the process of the court and of the law. Such prosecution, if allowed to continue, would abrogate the constitutional right of the petitioners to marry as per their discretion, particularly when there is no evidence that the marriage is void. In such circumstances, the writ court, being a court of equity, must take into consideration all relevant factors to deliver substantial justice and is persuaded to quash the impugned proceedings. Continuance of trial in such circumstances would be an exercise in futility, as the victim/prosecutrix herself — who is the most material witness — would not support the prosecution case, resulting inevitably in acquittal.

The present case fell within Sub-Para 3 and Sub-Para 7 of Para 108 of Bhajan Lal's case (supra) — the uncontroverted evidence collected during investigation did not disclose commission of the alleged offences, and the proceedings were manifestly mala fide, being actuated by personal grudge.

RESULT:

Writ petition allowed. First Information Report dated 28.3.2016 bearing Case Crime No. 60 of 2016 under Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C., Police Station Mankapur, District Gonda, and all consequent proceedings thereon, hereby quashed. Copy of the order directed to be forwarded to the Superintendent of Police, Gonda and the concerned Magistrate.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Lamba, J.

Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. The petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing First Information Report, lodged as crime no. 60 of 2016 under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., police station Mankapur, district Gonda.

2. Order dated 16.5.2016 notices the gist of the issue raised by the petitioners. The order reads as under :-

"1. This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing Case Crime No.60/2016 under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., P.S. Mankapur, district Gonda (Annexure-1).

2. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioners has argued that petitioner No.2 willingly got married to petitioner No.1. Evidence of marriage has been placed on record as Annexure-2. The petitioner No.2 has not been kidnapped. Offence has not been committed. Respondent No.4, however, has not accepted the marriage of the petitioners, therefore, impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated in abuse of process of the law and process of the Court.

3. Issue notice to respondent No.4, returnable on 21.7.2016.

4. Till the next date of listing, petitioners shall not be taken in custody. Petitioners are directed to join investigation.

5. The Investigating Officer is directed to ensure that statement of petitioner No.2 is recorded under Section 164 CrPC and counter affidavit is filed.

6. List on 21.7.2016."

3. Short counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the State in Court, which is taken on record.

4. Sri Dinesh Kumar Shukla, Advocate has put in appearance for respondent no. 4 and has filed his Power of Attorney on behalf of the complainant, which is taken on record.

5. Learned counsel for the complainant has opposed the petition on the ground that the petitioner no. 2 is a minor and therefore offence under Section 363 I.P.C. has been committed. It has been pleaded that the petition is liable to be dismissed.

6. An affidavit has been filed on behalf of the investigating agency/prosecution bringing on record the facts unearthed in the course of investigation viz. Statement of the prosecutrix under Section 164 CrPC (Annexure SCA-1), and medical report of the prosecutrix (Annexure SCA-2). The case of the prosecution as pleaded is that offence has been committed because the prosecutrix was a minor on the date of the incident, as per her testimonials. It is, however, the admitted case of the prosecution that medical age of the prosecutrix is nineteen years (approx.)

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners, however, contends that considering the radiological age (19 years) of the victim of offence/petitioner no. 2, it appears that petitioner 2 has attained the age of majority. The petitioner no. 2 in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. has made it evident that she has not been kidnapped. Under the circumstances, the case of the petitioners is covered by judgment dated 23.7.2015, rendered by a Division Bench of this Court, of which one of us (Ajai Lamba, J) was a member in Writ Petition No.3519(M/B) of 2015 Shaheen Parveen and another versus State of U.P. and others.

8. Before advertng to the facts and circumstances of the case to consider whether the impugned proceedings are liable to be quashed or not, we would like to refer to the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in State of Haryana and others versus Ch. Bhajan Lal and others AIR 1992 SC 604 has laid down certain conditions that may be considered by the Court for quashing criminal proceedings. The following has been held in Para 108 :

"108. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such powers should be exercised.

1. Where the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

2. Where the allegations in the First Information Report and other materials, if any, accompanying the F.I.R. do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

3. Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

4. Where, the allegations in the F.I.R. do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

5. Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

6. Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

7. Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with malafide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.

(Emphasised by us)

9. We would like to refer to another judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India on the issue of quashing of criminal proceedings viz. Rajiv Thapar and others versus Madan Lal Kapoor (2013)3 SCC 330. Shorn of the unnecessary details, the following are the facts and circumstances considered by the Hon'ble Court while allowing the appeal and setting aside the criminal proceedings pending against the accused at the stage of framing of charge :-

(a) One Dr. Monica Thapar married to Rajiv Thapar fell ill and was admitted in a hospital. Dr. Monica Thapar was diagnosed with a hole in her heart. She suffered a massive heart attack which proved fatal. Madan Lal Kapoor (deceased's father) filed a complaint and insisted that the deceased had been poisoned. Based on the complaint, a medical board was constituted which opined that the death of Dr. Monica Thapar was due to cardiac de-compensation. Madan Lal Kapoor, however, persisted with the allegation that Mrs. Monica had died under mysterious circumstances, within one year of her marriage and had been mentally and physically tortured on account of demand for dowry which had led to her illness and in that condition, she had been administered some poisonous substance. On the other hand, the post mortem report and forensic laboratory report indicated the death to be on account of natural causes/natural death.

(b) Madan Lal Kapoor filed a number of complaints on the basis of suspicion. Since the complaints did not fetch any fruitful result, he filed a criminal complaint before Metropolitan Magistrate, Delhi with the allegation of unnatural death of Dr. Monica Thapar by poisoning. It appears that the complainant himself was uncertain about the manner in which his daughter had died, i.e. by poisoning or by strangulation.

(c) Based on the statements given in prosecution of the criminal complaint by Madan Lal Kapoor, the complainant and his son Ravi Kapoor, the Metropolitan Magistrate, Delhi summoned the accused. The Metropolitan Magistrate, based on the evidence, formulated an opinion that there was sufficient material to proceed against the accused under Sections 498-A, 406, 304-B read with Section 120-B I.P.C. The case was committed to the Court of Sessions.

(d) Finally, after the order of summoning had been challenged in the High Court and a bout of litigation, the matter was considered by the Court of Sessions. The Addl. Sessions Judge found that provisions of Section 202 CrPC had not been fully complied with and some evidences had not been brought on record, in so much as the post mortem report, inquest report and some correspondence were not available for consideration of the Court. The Addl. Sessions Judge summoned the Doctors who were members of the Medical Board that had conducted post mortem examination and sought clarification in regard to allegations of strangulation. The Addl. Sessions Judge, Delhi heard arguments on charge and on evaluation of the complaint and various evidences concluded that no prima facie case was made out against the accused, either under Section 304-B I.P.C. or under Section 498-A I.P.C. Accordingly, the accused were discharged.

(e) Dissatisfied with the order of discharge, Madan Lal Kapoor filed criminal revision petition before the High Court. The High Court of Judicature at Delhi set aside the order of discharge passed by the Addl. Sessions Judge dated 8.5.2008. Order dated 8.5.2008 was challenged before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India by the accused.

10. The above noted skeleton of facts were considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in their minutest detail in reference to the evidences, documents and statements brought on record, not only in the Court of Additional Sessions Judge who passed the order of discharge, but also the Metropolitan Magistrate. Hon'ble Supreme Court of India set aside the order passed by the High Court of Judicature at Delhi. Criminal proceedings against the accused were accordingly set aside and the appeal was allowed. The following has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the relevant portion of the judgment :

*"29. The issue being examined in the instant case is the jurisdiction of the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., if it chooses to quash the initiation of the prosecution against an accused, at the stage of issuing process, or at the stage of committal, or even at the stage of framing of charges. These are all stages before the commencement of the actual trial. The same parameters would naturally be available for later stages as well. The power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., at the stages referred to hereinabove, would have far reaching consequences, inasmuch as, it would negate the prosecutions/ complainants case without allowing the prosecution/complainant to lead evidence. Such a determination must always be rendered with caution, care and circumspection. To invoke its inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. the High Court has to be fully satisfied, that the material produced by the accused is such, that would lead to the conclusion, that his/their defence is based on sound, reasonable, and indubitable facts; the material produced is such, as would rule out and displace the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused; and the material produced is such, as would clearly reject and overrule the veracity of the allegations contained in the accusations levelled by the prosecution/complainant. It should be sufficient to rule out, reject and discard the accusations levelled by the prosecution/complainant, without the necessity of recording any evidence. For this the material relied upon by the defence should not have been refuted, or alternatively, cannot be justifiably refuted, being material of sterling and impeccable quality. The material relied upon by the accused should be such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the actual basis of the accusations as false. In such a situation, the judicial conscience of the High Court would persuade it to exercise its power under Section

482 of the Cr.P.C. to quash such criminal proceedings, for that would prevent abuse of process of the court, and secure the ends of justice.

30. Based on the factors canvassed in the foregoing paragraphs, we would delineate the following steps to determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.:-

(i) Step one, whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable, and indubitable, i.e., the material is of sterling and impeccable quality?

(ii) Step two, whether the material relied upon by the accused, would rule out the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused, i.e., the material is sufficient to reject and overrule the factual assertions contained in the complaint, i.e., the material is such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the factual basis of the accusations as false.

(iii) Step three, whether the material relied upon by the accused, has not been refuted by the prosecution/ complainant; and/or the material is such, that it cannot be justifiably refuted by the prosecution/complainant?

(iv) Step four, whether proceeding with the trial would result in an abuse of process of the court, and would not serve the ends of justice?

If the answer to all the steps is in the affirmative, judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to quash such criminal proceedings, in exercise of power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Such exercise of power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious court time, which would otherwise be wasted in holding such a trial (as well as, proceedings arising therefrom) specially when, it is clear that the same would not conclude in the conviction of the accused."

(Emphasised by us)

X X X X X

38. We are persuaded to conclude from the facts and circumstances of the case exhaustively discussed in the foregoing paragraphs, that all the steps delineated in the paragraph 23 above, can be answered in the affirmative, on the basis of the material relied by the accused, more particularly, the post-mortem examination report dated 28.9.1992 conducted by a Medical Board comprising of four doctors, whose integrity has not been questioned by the respondent-complainant; the chemical analysis findings contained in the Central Forensic Science Laboratorys report dated 9.2.1993 which has not been disputed by the respondent-complainant; the inquest report of the SDM, Delhi, dated 6.7.1993, findings whereof have been painstakingly recorded by involving the respondent-complainant; the letter of Rajiv Kapoor (the brother of the deceased) dated 22.9.1992 addressed to Dr. Monica Thapar just four days before her death, the contents and authenticity whereof are not subject matter of challenge at the hands of the respondent-complainant; and finally, the telephone bills produced by the appellants-accused substantiating consistent and regular contact between the rival families, which have not been questioned. We, therefore, have no hesitation in concluding, that the judicial conscience of the High Court ought to have persuaded it, on the basis of the material examined by it, to quash the criminal proceedings initiated against the appellants-accused. We, therefore, hereby quash the aforesaid proceedings.

39. Despite the conclusion recorded hereinabove, we are of the view, that in the facts and circumstances of this case, there should have been no difficulty whatsoever for the High Court to have exercised its judicial conscience for invoking the power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. From the narration of the facts recorded above, it emerges, that even though the respondent-complainant Madan Lal Kapoor, in his complaint dated 6.7.1993, adopted a clear and categorical stance, that his daughter Dr. Monica Thapar had been poisoned to death, before the Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, the respondent-complainant ventured to suggest, that the appellants-accused had strangled her. The Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, summoned two of the doctors who were members of the Medical Board which had conducted the post-mortem examination, and sought clarifications from them. He also recorded the statement of one of the said doctors. The Additional Sessions Judge, thereupon, ruled out the plea of strangulation. When the respondent-complainant himself was uncertain about the manner in which his daughter had allegedly died, the High Court should have viewed the matter keeping in mind the likelihood of the hurt caused to a father who had lost his daughter within one year of her marriage. The matter needed to have been evaluated, on the basis of one of the parameters laid down in State of Haryana & Ors. Vs. Bhajan Lal & Ors., 1992 Supp. (1) SCC 335, namely, whether the criminal proceedings initiated by Madan Lal Kapoor (the respondent-complainant) were actuated by malice and ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused with a view to spite him due to some private/personal grudge.

40. There is yet another reason emerging from the facts of the case which needed to be kept in mind. Madan Lal Kapoor (the respondent-complainant) had continued to represent before the SDM, Delhi, that he would produce the mother of the deceased, who knew the facts best of all. Despite that, the mother of the deceased did not appear in the inquest proceedings to record her statement, even though a number of opportunities were afforded to the respondent-complainant to produce her. The permissible inference is that he was himself not privy to the facts. The fact that the mother of the deceased had not appeared to record a statement against the appellants-accused has to have some reason/justification. Would a mother who believes that her daughter had been poisoned/strangled, restrain herself from recording her statement, despite the persuasion of her husband? Probably not. The instant factual position has been recorded hereinabove, not for the sake of determination of the present controversy. In a factual situation not as clear as the one in hand, facts such as these, could be taken into consideration by a High Court for recording its satisfaction, on the parameters formulated above.

41. For the reasons recorded hereinabove, criminal proceedings against the appellants-accused are hereby set aside. The order of the High Court is accordingly also set aside, but on grounds different from those taken into consideration by the High Court. The instant appeal, accordingly succeeds."

(Emphasised by us)

11. On consideration of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Rajiv Thapar's case (supra), it becomes clear that to invoke jurisdiction for quashing criminal proceedings, the High Court has to be fully satisfied that the material produced by the accused is such, that would lead to the conclusion that his /their defence is based on sound, reasonable and indisputable material; the material produced is such, as would rule out and disprove the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused; and the material produced is such, as would clearly reject and overrule the veracity of the allegations contained in the accusations levelled by the prosecution/complainant, without the necessity of recording any evidence. For this, the material relied upon by the defence should not have been refuted, or alternatively, cannot be justifiably refuted, being material of sterling and impeccable quality. The material relied upon by the accused should be such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the actual basis of the accusations as false. In such a situation, the judicial conscience of the High Court would persuade it to exercise its power to quash such criminal proceedings, for that would prevent abuse of process of the Court and secure the ends of justice.

12. Hon'ble Supreme Court of India on the basis of above given parameters delineated certain steps to determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court to quash criminal proceedings. The steps are contained in the extracted portion of the judgment herein-above and need not be repeated.

13. Perusal of the judgment also establishes that the High Court while considering quashing of proceedings has the jurisdiction to consider the facts and circumstances as they emanate from the evidences, material, the statements, medical reports, correspondence between the parties etc. The purpose appears to be to secure ends of justice and prevent abuse of process of the Court. Spirit of the judgment is that High Court should consider whether judicial conscience of the High Court is persuaded by the material to consider quashing of the criminal proceedings.

14. In Bhajan Lal's case (supra), seven categories of cases have been detailed. In case an impugned proceeding falls under any of the categories (which though are not exhaustive), the Court can consider quashing of the impugned criminal proceedings.

15. From the law extracted and discussed above, it follows that the petitioner accused so as to seek quashing of criminal proceedings can rely on the defence available with him. The material relied upon by the accused is required to be of sound, reasonable and indisputable quality. The material should be such as to rule out/ disprove the assertions contained in the charges/ accusations levelled against the accused. Further the material should be such which cannot justifiably be refuted by the prosecution/complainant.

16. It has been held that exercise of such power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious Court time because continuance of trial would not conclude in the conviction of the accused.

17. The criminal proceedings are rendered liable for quashing also if (a) the allegations, even if taken at their face value and accepted in entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence; (b) where the allegations in impugned proceedings do not disclose a cognizable offence; (c) where uncontroverted allegations and evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose commission of an offence; (d) where the allegations made in the impugned proceedings are so absurd and improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused; (e) where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure or in the concerned Act (under which criminal proceeding has been instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings; and (f) where a criminal proceeding has been initiated for mala fide reasons with ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance.

18. The criminal proceedings, in the considered opinion of this Court, also deserve to be quashed in case on consideration of material made available to the Court establishes that ingredients of the alleged offence (committed by the accused) are not satisfied. Such material may have been produced by the petitioner accused or might come through investigation in relevant aspects of the case.

19. The ingredients of offence under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., in context of the relevant evidences, which are somewhat similar to the present case have been considered by this Court in Shaheen Parveen's case (supra). The following has been held in relevant portion of the judgment :

"7. Section 363 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps any person from lawful guardianship shall be punished in terms of sentence provided in the provision.

8. "Kidnapping from lawful guardianship" has been defined under Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code. The provision when extracted reads as under:-

*"Whoever takes or entices any minor under [sixteen] years of age if a male, or under [eighteen] years of age if a female, or any person of unsound mind, out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor or person of unsound mind, without the consent of such guardian, is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship.

Explanation: - The words "lawful guardian" in this section include any person lawfully entrusted with the care or custody of such minor or other person.

Exception: - This section does not extend to the act of any person who in good faith believes himself to be the father of an illegitimate child, or who in good faith believes himself to be entitled to the lawful custody of such child, unless such act is committed for an immoral or unlawful purpose."

9. Section 366 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps or abducts any woman with intent that she may be compelled, or knowing it to be likely that she will be compelled to marry any person against her will, or in order that she may be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, shall be punished with a sentence, as provided in the provision.

10. At the time of considering whether on admitting the allegations made in the F.I.R., offence has been committed or not, the ingredients of the offence are required to be considered, in context of the evidence collected during the course of investigation.

X X X X X

16. If the statement of the prosecutrix, above noted, is taken into account, it becomes evident that ingredients of the offence under Sections 363/366 of the Indian Penal Code in regard to coercion, kidnapping or abduction allegedly committed by Sarfaraj, are not satisfied. The provisions of Section 363 of the Indian Penal Code are required to be considered in context of provisions of Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code. So as to satisfy the ingredients of Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code, it has to be established by the prosecuting agency that the accused/sarfaraj took or enticed the prosecutrix out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of the prosecutrix, without the consent of the guardian/respondent no. 4. In the case in hand, it is the case of the prosecutrix herself that she of her free will went with Sarfaraj, lived with him, wants to live with him and is expecting his child. Element of coercion and enticement by Sarfaraj is absent, although consent of the guardian had not been taken.

17. The writ court, being a court of equity, must take into consideration all relevant factors brought before it to deliver substantial justice. Equity justifies bending the rules, where fair play is not violated, with a view to promote substantial justice. A writ court cannot contemplate any limitation on its power to deliver substantial justice. It has to be ensured that a consumer of justice gets complete justice, instead of going into the nicety of law. Under the circumstances, the court cannot be a mere onlooker if injustice is likely to be caused.

18. Petitioner No.1 the victim/prosecutrix would be the best witness, rather the only witness of commission of offence under Sections 363/366 I.P.C. Surely, the victim will not support the prosecution case, as has been made evident by her in her statement, recorded in the course of investigation under Section 164 Cr.P.C., and therefore the trial would result in acquittal. During course of trial, considerable number of man hours would be wasted in prosecution/defending and judging the case. No useful purpose would be served and the entire exercise of trial would be in futility because the victim has declared that she was not victimised or kidnapped.

19. The facts that have emerged from the record make it evident that the impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated because mother of the Prosecutrix/victim (respondent no.-4) has not accepted the marriage of her daughter with petitioner No.2.

20. In case, despite the evidence that has come on record, as noted above, proceedings are not quashed, petitioner no.-2 would be required to face criminal charges and undergo the agony of a trial.

21. We have also taken into account the fact that in case the petitioner No.2 is allowed to be prosecuted, the matrimonial life of petitioner No.1/the alleged victim would be disrupted. Her husband would be incarcerated and there would be no one to take care of her child, who is yet-to-be-born.

22. If a minor, of her own, abandons the guardianship of her parents and joins a boy without any role having been played by the boy in her abandoning the guardianship of her parents and without her having been subjected to any kind of pressure, inducement, etc and without any offer or promise from the accused, no offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. will be made out when the girl is aged more than 17 years and is mature enough to understand what she is doing. Of course, if the accused induces or allures the girl and that influences the minor in leaving her guardian's custody and the keeping and going with the accused, then it would be difficult for the Court to accept that minor had voluntarily come to the accused. In case the victim/ prosecutrix willingly, of her own accord, accompanies the boy, the law does not cast a duty on the boy of taking her back to her father's house or even of telling her not to accompany him.

23. A girl who has attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and is capable of knowing what was good and what was bad for her, cannot be said to be a victim of inducement, particularly when the case of the victim/girl herself is that it was on her initiative and on account of her voluntary act that she had gone with the boy and got married to him. In such circumstances, desire of the girl/victim is required to be seen. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are required to be considered accordingly, and not in mechanical or technical interpretation.

24. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. cannot be said to be satisfied in a case where the minor having attained age of discretion, alleged to have been taken by the accused person, left her guardian's protection knowingly (having capacity to know the full import of what she was doing) and voluntarily joins the accused person. In such a case, it cannot be said that the victim had been taken away from the keeping of her lawful guardian.

25. So as to show an act of criminality on the part of the accused, some kind of inducement held out by the accused person or an active participation by him in the formation of the intention of the minor to leave the house of the guardian, is required to be shown. Conclusion might be different in case evidence is collected by the investigating agency to establish that though immediately prior to the minor leaving the guardian's protection, no active part was played by the accused, he had at some earlier stage solicited or persuaded the minor to do so. (The Court in above regards takes a cue from the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India reported in (1965)1 SCR 243 S. Varadarajan versus State of Madras).

26. When the above noted situation is considered in context of the facts and circumstances of the present case, it would become evident that the victim (petitioner No.1) was a few months short of attaining age of 18 years. The said petitioner had attained age of discretion, however, not age of majority. Petitioner No.1, the victim in her statement recorded under Section 164 CrPC has clearly demonstrated that it was she who went of her free will and accord on 10.2.2014 with Mohd. Sarfaraj, without any coercion, and stayed with him, and got married to him willingly. It is a consensual act on the part of petitioner No.1 all through. Such clear stand of the victim makes it evident that Mohd. Sarfaraj respondent No.2 cannot be attributed with coercing petitioner No.1, inducing petitioner No.1 or kidnapping or abducting her in commission of offence, as alleged. Surely, a girl who has attained an age more than 17 years and who is already carrying pregnancy cannot be stated to have not attained age of discretion. In such circumstances, a technicality in law would not be attracted. The Court has not been shown any material which would indicate coercion, inducement or forceful act on the part of Sarfaraj (petitioner No.2) so as to conclude that offence has been committed by him.

27. The writ Court considering totality of fact and circumstances, cannot ignore or disregard the welfare of the petitioners, particularly when the exercise of trial is going to be in futility, as observed hereinabove.

28. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case noted above, the Court is convinced that the impugned proceedings have been initiated in abuse of process of the Court and process of the law. A personal grudge against marriage of choice of the daughter is being settled by virtue of initiating impugned criminal proceedings, which would not be permissible in law. Such prosecution would abrogate constitutional right vested in the petitioners to get married as per their discretion, particularly when there is no evidence to indicate that the marriage is void.

29. The stand of the Prosecuting Agency that the victim was a few months below age of majority when she joined the company of the accused/petitioner No.2, and therefore offence has been committed, cannot be accepted if ground reality is taken into account. It has come on record that the prosecutrix is an expecting mother and is carrying a pregnancy of 31 weeks. Coupled with this fact is the statement of the prosecutrix wherein she has said that she was neither kidnapped nor abducted, rather has been living with petitioner No.2 as his wife. It is the prosecutrix who went in the company of the accused, willingly, knowingly, and rather than the accused taking the prosecutrix out of the custody of the lawful guardian; the victim herself had eloped with petitioner No.2. In the considered opinion of the Court, substantial justice cannot be sacrificed at the altar of technicality, as is being concluded by the Investigating Agency.

30. In view of above, petitioner No.2 cannot be said to have committed offence either under Section 363 I.P.C. read with Section 361 I.P.C. or under Section 366 I.P.C."

20. We have considered the facts and circumstances of this case in context of the evidences collected in the course of the investigation in the light of the judgments rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India and this Court, portions from which have been extracted above.

21. Perusal of the document, annexure S.C.A. 1 i.e. statement of the victim of offence recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. shows that she has shown herself as 19 years of age. The victim of offence/petitioner no. 2 has given statement to the effect that she was given beatings by her father. She was forced to leave education. She also stated that she was given beatings as she was in love with Vishal. It has further been clarified that petitioner no. 2/the prosecutrix on 20th April, 2016 got married to Vishal and wants to live with Vishal. Petitioner no. 2 has further stated that she apprehends danger to her life at the hands of her parents.

22. Annexure SCA 2 is medical examination report of petitioner no. 2, according to which, age of petitioner no. 2 has been found to be 19 years.

23. When facts and circumstances of this case are considered in context of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Bhajan Lal's case (supra), portion of which has been extracted above, it becomes evident that the case of the petitioners falls under Sub Para 3 and Sub Para 7 of Para 108 extracted above and emphasised.

24. The investigating agency has already collected evidence in context of the most material witness/victim of offence, i.e. petitioner No.2 by way of her statement recorded under Section 164 CrPC and her medical examination. Petitioner No.2 has been found to have attained the age of majority, therefore, it is evident that ingredients of Section 363 I.P.C. are not satisfied, as discussed in detail in Shaheen Parveen's case (supra). Petitioner No.2 has given her statement under Section 164 CrPC to the effect that she has not been kidnapped. Under such circumstances, it becomes evident that Section 366 I.P.C. is not attracted to the facts of this case because ingredients of the said provision are also not satisfied.

25. We have taken into consideration the fact that petitioner No.2, the kidnappee has approached this Court to say that she had not been kidnapped; rather is married to petitioner No.1. Statement in the same terms has been given by the petitioner No.2 in the course of investigation. Under such circumstances, it would be absurd to conclude that petitioner No.2 had been kidnapped and offence in her context has been committed. In such circumstances, continuance of proceedings shall result in abuse of process of the Court and quashing of the proceedings shall rather secure the ends of justice.

26. The facts and circumstances of the case demonstrate that respondent No.4 did not accept the marriage of the petitioners, therefore, in malicious action so as to wreak vengeance on the accused initiated impugned criminal proceedings in abuse of process of the law and abuse of process of the Court. In such circumstances also, the impugned proceedings are liable to be quashed.

27. In view of the above, the writ petition is allowed. First Information report dated 28.3.2016, bearing case crime no. 60 of 2016 under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., police station Mankapur, district Gonda and consequent proceedings are hereby quashed.

28. Let copy of this order be forwarded to Superintendent of Police, Gonda and the concerned Magistrate, by Senior Registrar of this Court.

Legislation referred to : Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 – Ss. 15, 15(2) (proviso), Second Schedule; U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1972; U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991; U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 (w.e.f. 07.12.2015); Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 – Ss. 17, 25, 25(1), 25(2); Constitution of India – Arts. 226, 227; High Court Notification dated 08.02.1991; High Court Administrative Committee Resolution dated 20.05.1994.

NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS :

Civil Revision filed under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 challenging the judgment and order dated 24.05.2016 passed by the Additional District Judge in SSC Suit No. 16 of 2011 (Smt. Batulan v. Ayub Khan and another) — a lessor-lessee suit for rent and eviction — on the ground that by virtue of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 (w.e.f. 07.12.2015), the Additional District Judge had ceased to have pecuniary jurisdiction to decide the said suit, which fell within the enhanced jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court presided over by the Civil Judge, Senior Division.

LEGISLATIVE BACKGROUND :

The Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, as applicable to the State of Uttar Pradesh, classifies suits cognizable by the Court of Small Causes into two broad categories: (i) all civil suits up to a specified pecuniary value; and (ii) suits by the lessor for eviction of the lessee from a building after determination of lease and for arrears of rent. The pecuniary jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court over lessor-lessee suits has been enhanced progressively by successive U.P. amendment acts, as follows:

Prior to 15.01.1991 : Lessor-lessee suits (rent/eviction) up to Rs. 5,000/- — cognizable by Small Causes Court [U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1972].

W.e.f. 15.01.1991 : Enhanced to Rs. 25,000/- [U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991]. High Court Notification dated 08.02.1991 and Administrative Committee Resolution dated 20.05.1994 vested jurisdiction upon the senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of each district as the Small Causes Court for such suits up to Rs. 25,000/-; suits above Rs. 25,000/- were triable by the District Judge/Additional District Judge.

W.e.f. 07.12.2015 : Further enhanced to Rs. 1,00,000/- [U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 amending proviso to S. 15(2) of the Act]. Consequently, lessor-lessee suits for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease up to Rs. 1,00,000/- became cognizable by the Small Causes Court presided over by Civil Judge, Senior Division; suits above Rs. 1,00,000/- remain triable by the District Judge/Additional District Judge.

The Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 (as applicable to U.P.) — Section 25(1) empowers the High Court to invest Civil Judges (Senior Division and Junior Division) with Small Causes jurisdiction up to a specified value; Section 25(2) empowers the High Court to confer upon District Judges and Additional District Judges Small Causes jurisdiction for all suits irrespective of valuation in lessor-lessee matters. Section 17 of the said Act provides that where any civil court has ceased to have jurisdiction with respect to any case, the matter may be heard in the court to which the business of the former court has been transferred.

FACTS :

The suit (SSC Suit No. 16 of 2011) was instituted by the lessor against the lessee for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease, under proviso to Section 15(2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. The admitted valuation of the suit is Rs. 44,000/-. At the time of its institution, the suit was rightly instituted before the District Judge/Additional District Judge functioning as Small Causes Court, since the civil jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court (presided over by the Civil Judge, Senior Division) extended only to suits up to Rs. 25,000/-.

On 07.12.2015, the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 came into force, enhancing the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court for lessor-lessee suits from Rs. 25,000/- to Rs. 1,00,000/-. Consequently, a suit valued at Rs. 44,000/- became cognizable by the Small Causes Court presided over by the Civil Judge, Senior Division, and ceased to be within the jurisdiction of the District Judge/Additional District Judge.

Despite this change in jurisdiction, the Additional District Judge proceeded to decide SSC Suit No. 16 of 2011 on 24.05.2016 — i.e., more than five months after the amending Act came into force — and decreed the suit. An objection to jurisdiction was raised before the Additional District Judge but was brushed aside. The present revision was filed challenging the judgment and order as being without jurisdiction.

QUESTIONS OF LAW :

(i) Whether the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 enhancing the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court over lessor-lessee suits (rent and eviction) from Rs. 25,000/- to Rs. 1,00,000/- under the proviso to Section 15(2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 applies only to suits instituted after 07.12.2015, or whether it also governs suits already instituted and pending before that date?

(ii) Whether the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 — which uses the word 'institution' — can be used to restrict the plain and unambiguous language of the amended Section 15(2) so as to exclude pending suits from the operation of the amendment?

(iii) Whether the Additional District Judge, having ceased to have pecuniary jurisdiction over a pending lessor-lessee suit valued at Rs. 44,000/- by virtue of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 w.e.f. 07.12.2015, acted illegally in proceeding to decide and decree such suit after the said date?

HELD :

(i) Plain language of amended S. 15(2) — Golden rule of statutory interpretation — Where the language of a statute is plain, clear and unambiguous, it must be given its literal meaning and no other construction is permissible. The U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 amends the proviso to Section 15(2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 (as applicable to U.P.) in unmistakable terms, substituting the words 'twenty-five thousand rupees' with 'one lakh rupees' with effect from 07.12.2015. The provision thereby enacts that all lessor-lessee suits for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease up to a valuation of Rs. 1,00,000/- shall be triable by the Small Causes Court presided over by the Civil Judge, Senior Division. The language leaves no room for two opinions. [Relied upon: Thalappalam Service Cooperative Bank Ltd. v. State of Kerala, (2013) 16 SCC 82; Maharishi Mahesh Yogi Vedic Vishwavidyalaya v. State of M.P., (2013) 15 SCC 677; M/s. Girdhari Lal and Sons v. Balbir Nath Mathur, 1986 SC 1499]

(ii) Statement of Objects and Reasons — Cannot override plain statutory language — The Statement of Objects and Reasons of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 uses the word 'institution' in the context of enhancing jurisdiction. However, the preamble or Statement of Objects and Reasons of a statute is not to be used to influence the meaning otherwise ascribable to the enacting provisions unless there is a compelling reason to do so. Since the language of the amended Section 15(2) is plain and unambiguous, it is impermissible to interpret the amended provision in a manner different from what it clearly expresses by importing limitations from the Statement of Objects and Reasons. Moreover, the institution of a suit necessarily implies and includes the trial of the suit. Therefore, the change of jurisdiction effected by the amendment operates not only for the purposes of institution of fresh suits but also for the trial of pending suits. [Relied upon: Maharishi Mahesh Yogi Vedic Vishwavidyalaya v. State of M.P., (2013) 15 SCC 677; M/s. Girdhari Lal and Sons v. Balbir Nath Mathur, 1986 SC 1499]

(iii) Effect of U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 on pending lessor-lessee suits — Transfer of jurisdiction — With effect from 07.12.2015, all suits between the lessor and lessee for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease under proviso to Section 15(2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 (as applicable to U.P.) up to a valuation of Rs. 1,00,000/- — irrespective of the date of their institution — are triable exclusively by the Small Causes Court presided over by the Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district. The District Judge/Additional District Judge retains Small Causes jurisdiction only over such suits having a valuation exceeding Rs. 1,00,000/-. Section 17 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 supports this conclusion by providing that where a civil court has ceased to have jurisdiction over any case, the matter may be heard before the court to which such business has been transferred.

(iv) Resolution of conflict between S. 15 of PSCC Act and S. 25 of Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act — There is no conflict between Section 25 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 (as amended by U.P. Act No. 37 of 1972) and the provisions of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991. Both provisions can be read harmoniously. The net effect is that the Small Causes Court (presided over by Civil Judge, Senior Division) exercises jurisdiction over lessor-lessee suits up to the enhanced pecuniary limit (now Rs. 1,00,000/-), while the District Judge/Additional District Judge, invested with Small Causes powers, exercises jurisdiction over such suits without a valuation ceiling — i.e., only over suits exceeding Rs. 1,00,000/-. [Relied upon: Mohd. Haneef v. Sunil Tuli, 2009 (1) ARC 750 (All HC)]

(v) Assumption of jurisdiction by Additional District Judge — Illegal; Judgment set aside — The suit in question, valued at Rs. 44,000/-, was a lessor-lessee suit for rent and eviction falling under proviso to Section 15(2) of the Act. On the date of its decision (24.05.2016), by virtue of the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 in force since 07.12.2015, the Additional District Judge had ceased to have pecuniary jurisdiction over this suit. Accordingly, the assumption of jurisdiction by the Additional District Judge in proceeding to decide and decree the suit is illegal and the judgment and order dated 24.05.2016 is liable to be set aside. The matter is to be remanded to the Small Causes Court presided over by the senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district for decision in accordance with law.

DIRECTIONS OF GENERAL APPLICABILITY :

A copy of this judgment shall be circulated to all District Judges in the State of Uttar Pradesh for necessary compliance, directing that all pending suits of rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease falling under proviso to Section 15(2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, having a valuation up to Rs. 1,00,000/-, be transferred to the Small Causes Court presided over by the senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the respective district, irrespective of the date of their institution.

RESULT :

Civil Revision allowed. Judgment and order dated 24.05.2016 passed by the Additional District Judge in SSC Suit No. 16 of 2011 set aside as without jurisdiction. Matter remanded to the Small Causes Court presided over by the senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district for decision in accordance with law.

1. The judgment and order dated 24.5.2016 passed by the District Judge decreeing SSC Suit No. 16 of 2011 (Smt. Batulan Vs. Ayub Khan and another) is sought to be revised under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) on the ground that the Additional District Judge had ceased to have pecuniary jurisdiction to decide it.

2. The aforesaid Act provides for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes for the local limits of the area beyond the original civil jurisdiction of High Courts established in the Presidency Towns for the purposes of trying certain nature of civil suits in a summary manner.

3. The said Act vide Section 15 read with its Second Schedule provides that all suits of civil nature upto a particular value shall be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes.

4. The aforesaid Act was amended time and again and the pecuniary value of suits cognizable by Small Causes Court was enhanced from time to time.

5. The said Act stood amended in its applicability to the State of U.P., also.

6. The State of U.P., vide Civil Laws (Amendment) Act 1972 added a provision to Sub-section 2 of Section 15 of the Act providing that the suits by the lessor for eviction of the lessee from a building after determination of his lease shall be cognizable by the Small Causes Court and that the reference to Rs. 2,000/- mentioned in Sub-section 2 of Section 15 of the Act shall be construed as Rs. 5,000/- in respect to the above nature of suits.

7. In this way the aforesaid Act in its applicability to U.P., classified the suits cognizable by Small Causes Courts into two groups ie. (i) all suits of the civil nature; and (ii) suits between lessor and lessee for arrears of rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease.

8. Section 15 of the Act read with the Second Schedule in its amendment to the State of U.P., vide Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991 vests the power of trial of all civil suits upto the valuation of Rs. 5,000/- and that of the suits between the lessor and lessee for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease upto the valuation of Rs. 25,000/- upon the Small Causes Court.

9. The High Court vide notification of 8th February 1991 provided that all suits of the nature referred to in the proviso to Sub-section (2) of Section 15 of the Act as applicable in U.P., shall be cognizable by Munsifs (now Civil Judge, Junior Division) upto the valuation of Rs.

5,000/- and by the Civil Judge (now Civil Judge, Senior Division) upto the valuation of Rs. 25,000/-.

10. The High Court vide resolution dated 20.5.1994 of the Administrative Committee resolved that the senior most Civil Judge (Senior Division) in each district be conferred with the powers the powers of the Judge Small Causes Court.

11. Thus, the senior most Civil Judge (Senior Division) in each district of U.P., started functioning as the court of Small Causes to try suits of rent and eviction referred to in proviso to Section 15 (2) of the Act as applicable to U.P., having valuation upto Rs. 25,000/-.

12. Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 vide Sub-section (1) to Section 25 as applicable to U.P., empowers the High Court to invest Subordinate Judges (Civil Judge, Senior Division and Civil Judge, Junior Division) the jurisdiction of a Judge of a Court of Small Causes under the aforesaid Act upto such value not exceeding five thousand rupees. At the same time Sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the aforesaid Act invests the High Court to confer power upon any District Judge or Additional District Judge the jurisdiction of a Judge of the Small Causes under the Act for the purposes of trial of all suits irrespective of valuation by the lessor for arrears of rent and eviction of the lessee from the building after determination of lease.

13. The Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 was amended vide the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991 and Section 25 (2) of it was amended to construe Rs. 5,000/- referred to in Section 15 (2) of the Act as Rs. 25,000/- to bring the jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court in consonance with the amended Section 15 (2) of the Act.

14. In Mohd. Haneef Vs. Sunil Tuli 2009 (1) ARC 750 His Lordship of the Allahabad High Court resolving the conflict between Section 15 of the Act and Section 25 of Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 held that there is no conflict in between the two provisions of Section 25 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act as amended by U.P. Act No. 37 of 1972 and the provisions as contained under U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 1991. Both the provisions can be read harmoniously and the net effect of the same is that jurisdiction up the limit of Rs. 25,000/- can be exercised by Judge Small Cause Court under the provisions of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, and as far as District Judges and Additional District Judges are concerned, they are empowered to exercise jurisdiction of the Judge Small Cause Court for unlimited valuation in suits of rent and eviction between lessor and lessee after determination of lease of a building.

15. In the light of the above provisions, notifications, amendments and the law laid down the position which was prevailing in U.P., since 1991 was that all suits between the lessor and lessee for rent and eviction were tried by the Small Causes Court presided over by senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district upto the valuation of Rs. 25,000/- and those with higher valuation by the District Judge/Additional District Judge as Small Causes Court.

16. The instant suit is between the lessor and the lessee for rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease and is referable to proviso to Section 15 (2) of the Act. The valuation of the suit is admittedly Rs. 44,000/-. Therefore, it was instituted in the court of District Judge/Additional District Judge for trial as a Small Causes Suit as the Civil Judge (Senior Division) vested with power of Small causes Court was empowered to deal with suits having valuation upto Rs. 25,000/- only and the rest of the suits were cognizable by District Judge/Additional District Judge.

17. The pecuniary jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court in respect of the above nature of the suits was enhanced by U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment Act) 2015 w.e.f. 7th December 2015 upto Rs. 1,00,000/- only leaving the trial of such nature of suits of higher valuation upon the District Judge/Additional District Judge as Small Causes Court.

18. In view of the above amendment it is contended that on the date of decision of the aforesaid suit having valuation of Rs. 44,000/- was cognizable by Small Causes Court presided over by Civil Judge (Senior Division) and not by the District Judge/ Additional District Judge but the objection to this effect was brushed aside.

19. I have heard Sri Arvind Srivastava, learned counsel for the revisionist and another Sri Arvind Srivastava for the respondents.

20. The argument on behalf of the revisionist is that the impugned judgment and order is without jurisdiction. Had the suit been decided by the Small Causes Court, he would have got a chance to seek its revision before the District Judge/Additional District Judge. This statutory remedy has been snatched away from the revisionist and he had been compelled to prefer the revision before the High Court which has eliminated the recourse to remedy Under Article 226/227 of the Constitution.

21. On behalf of the respondents it has been contended that the amendments brought about in Section 15 of the Act as applicable to the State of U.P. vide U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment Act) 2015 applies only with regard to institution of suit and not in relation to pending suits in view of the statement and objects & reasons of the said Amendment Act. Therefore, the suits already instituted before the above amendment would continue to be tried and decided by the court before whom they were instituted and pending.

22. Section 15 of the Act as initially existed reads as under:-

15. "Cognizance of suits by courts of Small Causes.-

(1) A Court of Small Causes shall not take cognizance of the suits specified in the Second Schedule as suits expected from the cognizance from the cognizance of a court of Small Causes.

(2) Subject to the exceptions specified in that Schedule and to the provisions of of any enactment for the time being in force, all suits of a civil nature of which the value does not exceed five hundred rupees shall be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes.

(3) Subject as aforesaid the State Government may, by order in writing, direct that all suits of a civil nature of which the value does not exceed one thousand rupees shall be cognizable by a court of Small Causes mentioned in the order."

23. The aforesaid Section 15 of the Act in its applicability to the State of U.P., w.e.f. 15.1.1991 after the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991 reads as under:-

"(1) A Court of Small Causes shall not take cognizance of the suits specified in the Second Schedule as suits expected from the cognizance of a Court of Small Causes.

(2) Subject to the exceptions specified in that Schedule and to the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force, all suits of a civil nature of which the value does not exceed five thousand rupees shall be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes:

Provided that in relation to suits by the lessor for the eviction of a lessee from a building after the determination of his lease or for recovery from him of rent in respect of the period of occupation thereof after the determination of the lease, the reference in this sub-section to five thousand rupees shall be construed as a reference of twenty five thousand rupees.

Explanation.- For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression 'building' has the same meaning as in Art. (4) in the Second Schedule."

24. It appears that previously suits by lessor for eviction of the lessee from a building after determination of tenancy, upto the value of Rs. 5,000/- were cognizable by the Court of Small Causes but the aforesaid pecuniary jurisdiction was enhanced upto Rs. 25,000/- w.e.f. 15.1.1991.

25. The pecuniary jurisdiction of the Small Causes Courts in respect of the above category of suits has been further amended by the U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment Act) 2015 w.e.f. 7th December 2015 and it has been provided that the Small Causes suits upto the valuation of Rs. 1,00,000/- between the lessor and lessee for the rent and eviction shall be cognizable by Small Causes Court which refers to courts presided over by Civil Judge (Senior Division). The suits of higher valuation would therefore lay before the District Judge/Additional District Judge.

26. The U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment) Act, 2015 amends Section 15 of Provincial Small Causes Court Act, 1887 as amended in its application to U.P., with effect from 7th December 2015 as under:-

4. "In Section 15 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887.-

(a) in sub-section (2) for the words "five thousand rupees" the words "twenty five thousand rupees" shall be substituted;

(b) in the proviso to sub-section (2) for the words "twenty five thousand rupees" the word "one lakh rupees" shall be substituted."

27. Thus, Section 15 of the Act in its application to the State of U.P., after the U.P. Civil Laws Amendment Act, 2015 reads as under:-

"(1) A Court of Small Causes shall not take cognizance of the suits specified in the Second Schedule as suits expected from the cognizance of a Court of Small Causes.

(2) Subject to the exceptions specified in that Schedule and to the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force, all suits of a civil nature of which the value does not exceed twenty thousand rupees shall be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes:

Provided that in relation to suits by the lessor for the eviction of a lessee from a building after the determination of his lease or for recovery from him of rent in respect of the period of occupation thereof after the determination of the lease, the reference in this sub-section to five thousand rupees shall be construed as a reference of 1 lakh rupees.

Explanation.- For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression 'building' has the same meaning as in Art. (4) in the Second Schedule."

28. The valuation of the suit at hand is Rs. 44,000/- ie., higher than Rs. 25,000/- and less than Rs. 1,00,000/-. Therefore, in view of the aforesaid amendment it falls within the jurisdiction of the Small Causes Court presided over by Civil Judge (Senior Division) and not the District Judge/Additional District Judge on the date of its decision.

29. The prefatory note of statement of objects and reasons contained in U.P. Civil Laws (Amendment Act) 2015 states that the pecuniary jurisdiction of Small Causes Court in the State of U.P., requires to be enhanced for the 'institution' of civil suits and appeals and therefore it is necessary to amend the Small Causes Court Act, 1887.

30. The emphasis has been laid upon the word 'institution' to denote that the jurisdiction has been altered only for the purposes of filing of the suits and not for the trial of the pending suits.

31. The institution of the suits by necessary implication includes the trial of the suits also. Therefore, the change of jurisdiction is not only for the purpose of institution but for the trial of the suits also.

32. The language used in the Amending Act to amend Section 15 of the Act is unambiguous, plain and clear. It provides that the suits of rent and eviction upto the valuation of Rs.

1,00,000/- are triable by the Small Causes court ie., of the Civil Judge, Senior Division with effect from the enforcement of Amending Act. It leaves no scope for two opinions. It is a golden rule of interpretation that where the language is plain and clear, the literal meaning conveyed should be followed and there is no need for taking aid of either the statement of objects and reasons or the purpose behind enacting the provision.

33. In Thalappalam Service Cooperative Bank Limited and others Vs. State of Kerala and others (2013) 16 SCC 82 it has been observed that primarily the language employed in the statute is the determining factor of the legislative intention which must be found in the words used by the legislature itself and if the words used are capable of one construction only then it would not be open to courts to adopt any other hypothetical constrictions.

34. In Maharishi Mahesh Yogi Vedic Vishwavidyala Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others (2013) 15 SCC 677 it was observed that the preamble or the statement of objects or reasons of any statute is not to influence the meaning otherwise ascribable to the enacting parts unless there is compelling reasons for it.

35. In M/s. Girdhari Lal and sons Vs. Balbir Nath Mathur and others 1986 (SC) 1499 it was held that the golden rule of construction is that where the words of statutes are plain and unambiguous effect must be given to them. First, the legislative intention must be gathered from the statute itself, next from the preamble of the statute, next from the statement of objects and reasons, thereafter from legislative debates, reports of the Committee and commissions and finally from all legitimate and admissible sources which may throw light on it including the legislative history.

36. Thus, it is not proper for me to go into the objects and reasons behind the Amending Act and to interpret the provision in manner different from what it clearly expresses.

37. In this context Section 17 of The Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 is also relevant and important. It provides that where any civil court has ceased to have jurisdiction with respect to any case, it may be had in the court to which the business of the former court has been transferred. Now by virtue of the amendment in the pecuniary jurisdiction, the District Judge/Additional District Judge has ceased to have jurisdiction over suits below the valuation of Rs.1 lakh concerning rent and eviction from building. Therefore all suits including the above suit requires to be dealt with by Small Causes Court of the Civil Judge (Senior Division) and not by the District Judge/Additional District Judge.

38. In view of the aforesaid discussion with effect from 7th December 2015 the jurisdiction to try all suits between the lessor and lessee for rent & eviction under Section 15 of the Act as applicable to the State of U.P., upto the valuation of Rs.1 lakh irrespective of the date of their institution would lie before the Small Causes Court presided over by the Civil Judge (Senior Division) and the District Judge/Additional District Judge would not have jurisdiction to decide them except those having the valuation of over 1 lakh.

39. Accordingly, the assumption of jurisdiction by Additional District Judge in deciding the present suit having valuation of Rs. 44,000/- is illegal. It makes the judgment and order passed by him liable to be set aside.

40. Accordingly, the impugned judgment and order dated 24.5.2016 is set aside and the matter is remanded to the regular Small Causes Court presided over by senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district for its decision in accordance with law.

41. A copy of this judgment be circulated to all the District Judges of U.P., for necessary compliance to ensure that all pending suits of rent and eviction from a building after determination of lease falling under proviso to Section 15 (2) of the Act upto the valuation of Rs. 1,00,000/- be transferred to the Small Causes Court presided over by senior most Civil Judge, Senior Division of the district irrespective of the date of their institution.

42. The revision is allowed.

Legislation referred to:-

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 — Section 138 (Dishonour of cheque) Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Sections 190, 482; Chapter XV (Cognizance of offences by Magistrates).

FACTS :

The applicant was summoned by the court of A.C.J.M., Court No. 5, Agra, in Complaint Case No. 1300 of 2015 (Smt. Beby Upadhyay v. Vinod Kumar Parihar) for prosecution of an offence under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, on account of dishonour of cheque drawn on his bank account in favour of the complainant/opposite party no. 2.

The applicant, through counsel, contended that prior to the filing of the complaint and prior to the presentation of the cheque in question in the bank, an FIR had been lodged by the applicant with the police to the effect that the complainant had forcibly obtained his signatures on cheques bearing nos. 641871 to 641885. It was further contended that pursuant to investigation of the said FIR, a charge-sheet was submitted against the complainant. The applicant urged that the trial court, while passing the summoning order, had failed to consider the contents of the reply to the statutory legal notice sent by the applicant, and that there was no reason or liability on the part of the applicant to issue the cheques in favour of the complainant, as they were alleged to be the result of a threat to his life.

The trial court, while passing the order of cognizance and summoning, had considered that the cheque relating to the applicant's bank account was drawn in the name of the complainant, who had presented it in the bank; that after dishonour, a legal notice was duly served upon the applicant; and that upon non-payment of the cheque amount, the complaint was filed. On this prima facie satisfaction, the summoning order was passed. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. challenged the said proceedings.

Questions of Law

(i) Whether the proceedings of a complaint case under Section 138 N.I. Act are liable to be quashed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. on the basis of a defence version — namely, that the cheques in question were obtained by force — which is yet to be proved by adducing evidence before the trial court?

(ii) Whether the filing of a police charge-sheet against the complainant in connection with the cheques in question is sufficient ground for quashing or interdicting the complaint proceedings under Section 138 N.I. Act at the cognizance/summoning stage?

(iii) What is the scope and standard of scrutiny required at the stage of taking cognizance and issuing summons under Section 138 N.I. Act, and whether non-consideration of the reply to statutory notice vitiates the summoning order?

Held

(i) Defence version not a ground for quashing at cognizance stage: The contentions raised by the applicant — that the cheques were obtained by force under threat to life and that there was no reason for him to issue the cheques — are essentially in the nature of a defence version. Such contentions are required to be raised and proved before the trial court at the appropriate stage when evidence is adduced. At the stage of Section 482 Cr.P.C., the High Court cannot quash proceedings on the basis of a defence that is yet to be established. No justification exists for interference in the proceedings of the trial court on the basis of an unproved version.

(ii) Police charge-sheet against complainant not a bar to complaint proceedings: The mere fact that a charge-sheet was submitted by the police against the complainant in connection with the cheques in question does not constitute a valid ground for quashing the proceedings of the complaint case. The inquiry conducted by a Judicial Magistrate himself under Chapter XV Cr.P.C. stands on a higher pedestal than an investigation conducted by the police. The inherent jurisdiction of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot be exercised to quash proceedings of the trial court solely on the basis of a police report, the facts of which are yet to be proved.

(iii) Sufficiency of material for cognizance and summoning: At the stage of taking cognizance and issuing summons under Section 138 N.I. Act, the trial court is required to examine only whether a prima facie case is made out. In the present case, the trial court had duly considered that: (a) the dishonoured cheque was drawn on the applicant's bank account in favour of the complainant; (b) the cheque was presented in the bank and dishonoured; (c) a statutory legal notice was duly served upon the applicant; and (d) the cheque amount was not paid within the prescribed period, leading to the filing of the complaint. These facts were sufficient to constitute a prima facie case for the purpose of cognizance and summoning. The trial court proceedings were found to have been carried out following the procedure and law, without any illegality or infirmity.

Result: No case for interference made out. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. dismissed. Proceedings in Complaint Case No. 1300 of 2015 before the A.C.J.M., Court No. 5, Agra, to continue in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The applicant has been summoned for prosecution of offence under section 138 N.I. Act in complaint case no. 1300 of 2015 (Smt. Beby Upadhyay Vs. Vinod Kumar Parihar) by the court of ACJM, Court No. 5, Agra. The proceeding of this complaint case has been challenged in present application. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the records.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that before filing of the complaint case and before the presentation of cheque in question in bank, the FIR was lodged in police that complainant had forcibly obtained the signatures of applicant on cheques no. 641871 to 641885. His contention is that on the basis of said police report, matter was investigated and charge-sheet was submitted against the complainant. In spite of it, trial court had summoned the applicant only on the ground of dishonour of cheque and service of legal notice, without considering the contents of reply of notice by the applicant. Learned counsel for the applicant also contended that there was no reason for applicant to issue cheques in favour of complainant and that there is no reason for prosecution of applicant for dishonour of those cheques, which were result of threat of life to applicant.

3. In present matter, at the time of passing the order of cognizance and summoning, the trial court has considered that cheque relating to bank account of applicant was drawn in the name of complainant-OP No.-2, who had presented them in the bank, and after dishonour of cheque, he had served legal notice; and when amount of cheque was not paid to him, then he had filed complaint. These facts were prima facie established before trial court, which were sufficient for passing order of cognizance of aforesaid offence and summoning the applicant. The arguments placed before this Court by learned counsel for the applicants are in nature of defence version, which may be considered by trial court at appropriate stage, when evidences in that regard are adduced and facts are proved. At this stage, on the basis of defence version, which are still to be proved, there is no justification for quashing the proceedings of trial court or making any interference in it.

4. This contention of learned counsel for the applicant is unacceptable that since police had submitted charge-sheet against the complaint regarding cheques in question, therefore proceeding of complaint case should not be carried out. The enquiry made by trial court of Judicial Magistrate himself under Chapter XV CrPC is on higher pedestal than that of investigation made by police. Therefore the inherent jurisdiction of this Court cannot be exercised for quashing the proceedings of trial court, on the basis of any police report, the facts of which are yet to be proved.

5. In view of the above and after consideration of record, it is found that proceedings of trial court are being carried out after following procedure and law without any illegality or infirmity. There is no reason to interfere in said proceedings. Therefore, this application is dismissed.

Legislation referred to : Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 – Ss. 138, 142, 142(2)(a) & (b), 142-A, 145; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Ss. 200, 406, 482.

FACTS :

The complainant-company (O.P. No. 2), a Private Limited Company registered under the Companies Act, alleged that during the course of business transactions since 2011, the accused-applicant issued two cheques bearing Nos. 000010 and 000011, each dated 31.12.2014 and each for Rs. 35 lakhs, drawn on Bank of Baroda, Shalimar Garden Branch, Ghaziabad, in favour of the complainant-company. Both cheques were deposited by the complainant-company in its account maintained with Punjab and Sindh Bank, Narayana, New Delhi, and were returned dishonoured with the endorsement „xceeds arrangement” vide Bank Memo dated 1.1.2015.

Statutory notices under Section 138 N.I. Act were served upon the applicant on 13.1.2015. The applicant, instead of making payment, replied by letter dated 22.1.2015 denying liability. Thereupon, complaints under Section 138 N.I. Act were filed before the Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, supported by an affidavit of the Director of the complainant-company filed as statement under Section 200 Cr.P.C. read with Section 145 N.I. Act. The learned Magistrate, on the basis of the said affidavit and documents, summoned the applicant vide order dated 25.4.2015.

The applicant filed two applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C. before this Court praying to quash both the complaints and the summoning orders, primarily contending that by virtue of the amended Section 142(2) of the N.I. Act (which came into force w.e.f. 15.6.2015 with retrospective effect), the Court at Ghaziabad lacked territorial jurisdiction to entertain the complaints, since the complainant-company maintained its account at Delhi, and therefore the proceedings at Ghaziabad constituted an abuse of the process of court.

QUESTIONS OF LAW :

(i) Whether, in view of the amended Section 142(2) of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (as amended w.e.f. 15.6.2015), the territorial jurisdiction to try an offence under Section 138 N.I. Act vests in the court within whose local limits the branch of the bank where the payee maintains its account (i.e., the branch of delivery of the cheque for collection) is situated, even in respect of complaints filed prior to the amendment?

(ii) Whether, on account of lack of territorial jurisdiction arising from the retrospective amendment to Section 142(2) N.I. Act, a complaint under Section 138 N.I. Act pending before a court that has lost jurisdiction is liable to be quashed under Section 482 Cr.P.C., or whether it is required to be transferred to the court of competent jurisdiction in terms of Section 142-A N.I. Act?

HELD :

(i) Territorial Jurisdiction under Amended Section 142(2) N.I. Act — By virtue of the amended Section 142(2) of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the offence under Section 138 N.I. Act shall be inquired into and tried only by a court within whose local jurisdiction the branch of the bank where the payee or holder in due course maintains its account — i.e., the branch at which the cheque is delivered for collection — is situated. The Explanation to Section 142(2)(a) further clarifies that where a cheque is delivered for collection at any branch of the payee's bank, it shall be deemed to have been delivered to the branch where the payee maintains the account. Accordingly, since the complainant-company maintained its account with Punjab and Sindh Bank, Narayana, New Delhi, territorial jurisdiction vests in the competent court at Delhi, and not at Ghaziabad.

(ii) No Ground for Quashing — Remedy is Transfer under Section 142-A N.I. Act — Lack of territorial jurisdiction, arising on account of the retrospective application of the amended Section 142(2) N.I. Act, does not furnish a ground to quash proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. The Legislature, while enacting the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 2015, simultaneously inserted Section 142-A, which mandates that all cases pending before any court on 15.6.2015, whether filed before it or transferred to it prior to that date, shall be transferred to the court having jurisdiction under amended Section 142(2). Since the complaints in the present case were filed on 5.2.2015 and were admittedly pending when the Amending Act came into force on 15.6.2015, Section 142-A is clearly attracted and the proceedings are required to be transferred to Delhi, not quashed. Quashing or staying the proceedings would cause grave prejudice to the payee/creditor and would be contrary to the express legislative intent behind the Amendment.

(iii) Legislative Intent of the 2015 Amendment — Protection of Creditors — The Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 2015 was enacted to neutralise the effect of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Dashrath Rupasingh Rathod v. State of Maharashtra, (2014) 9 SCC 129, which had restricted jurisdiction to the court within whose local limits the cheque was dishonoured by the drawee bank — causing serious hardship to payees who were compelled to litigate at the place chosen by the defaulter/drawer. The Amendment Act, incorporating the non-obstante clause in Section 142-A(1), makes the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure yield to the N.I. Act insofar as territorial jurisdiction over cheque dishonour offences is concerned. The overriding intent of the Legislature is to protect creditors and payees and not to afford procedural refuge to defaulting drawers.

(iv) Inter-State Transfer — Jurisdiction of Supreme Court under Section 406 Cr.P.C. — Since the transfer of complaints from Ghaziabad (U.P.) to Delhi involves an inter-State transfer, this Court does not possess jurisdiction to order such transfer. The power to transfer criminal cases from one State to another vests exclusively in the Supreme Court of India under Section 406 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The complainant-company/O.P. No. 2 is accordingly at liberty to apply to the Supreme Court for transfer of the complaints to the competent court at Delhi.

RESULT :

Both applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C. dismissed. The pending proceedings in both complaint cases before the Additional Civil Judge (J.D.)/J.M. Court No. 3, Ghaziabad, are not quashed but are liable to be transferred to the court of competent jurisdiction at Delhi under Section 142-A of the N.I. Act. The complainant-company/O.P. No. 2 is at liberty to take steps for inter-State transfer of the complaints by approaching the Supreme Court of India under Section 406 Cr.P.C. The office is directed to send a copy of this order to the concerned Magistrate at Ghaziabad through the District Judge, Ghaziabad, who shall in turn inform the complainant-company of this order.

Cases Referred:

Bridgestone India Pvt. Ltd. v. Inderpal Singh, (2016) 2 SCC 75;

Dashrath Rupsingh Rathod v. State of Maharashtra, (2014) 9 SCC 129.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Vijay Lakshmi, J.)

1. The applicant, who is the same person in both the aforesaid applications filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C., has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with prayer to quash the criminal complaint dated 4.2.1015 as well as entire proceedings of Complaint Case No. 196 of 2016 (initially numbered as Complaint Case No. 162 of 2015) and Complaint Case No. 195 of 2016 (initially numbered as Complaint Case No. 163 of 2015) A.N. Polymers Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Ankush Jain, under Sections 138 of N.I. Act, P.S. Shahibabad, district Ghaziabad, pending in the court of Additional Civil Judge (J.D.)/ J.M. Court No. 3, Ghaziabad. Prayer has also been made to quash the summoning order dated 25.4.2015 issued against the applicant by the aforesaid court in both the complaint cases.

2. As the applicant, the opposite parties and the issue involved in both the applications, are the same, both these applications are being disposed of by this common order.

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State. Perused the records.

4. The brief facts of the case are that the complainant of both the complaint cases, who is O.P. No. 2 in both these applications, is a Private Limited Company, registered under the Indian Companies Act. The aforesaid Company filed criminal complaints against the accused- applicant with the allegations that the complainant company was doing business with the accused- applicant since 2011. During the course of business transactions, the accused- applicant, issued two cheque nos. 000010 and 000011 each dated 31.12.2014 and each amounting to Rs. 35 lacs, in the name of the complainant Company payable at Bank of Baroda, Branch Shalimar Garden, Ghaziabad. Both the said cheques were deposited in Punjab and Sindh Bank, Narayana, New Delhi, where the complainant Company was maintaining its account. However, both the cheques were dishonoured by the Banker of the accused- applicant and consequently the Banker of the complainant Company returned both the cheques with the endorsement "exceeds arrangement" along with Bank memo dated 1.1.2015. Thereafter the complainant Company, being payee of the dishonoured cheques, gave legal notices to the accused applicant on 13.1.2015. But, the accused applicant, instead of making payment of the amounts of the cheques in question within the stipulated period mentioned in the legal demand notices, replied to the said notices by his letter dated 22.1.2015, denying the payment to the complainant. Since the accused applicant, despite service of demand notices, failed to make payment of the amount mentioned in the cheques in question, the complainant Company filed the aforementioned complaints against the applicant in the court of the Judicial Magistrate. In support of the complaint, the complainant Company/ O.P. No. 2, filed some documents and affidavit of the Director of the Company as its statement under section 200 Cr.P.C. and it was entitled to do so by virtue of section 145 of the N.I. Act.

5. The learned Magistrate on the basis of the aforesaid affidavit and the documents filed by the complainant Company in support of its allegations, summoned the applicant for the offences punishable under section 138 of the N.I. Act vide impugned order dated 25.4.2015.

6. The legality and correctness of the aforesaid summoning orders passed by learned Magistrate, Ghaziabad, has been challenged by learned counsel for the accused-applicant, in both these applications, mainly on the ground that in view of the amendment of section 142 of the N.I. Act, which has come into force w.e.f. 15.6.2015 and is having retrospective effect, the learned Magistrate at Ghaziabad, has no jurisdiction to entertain the complaints instituted by the complainant Company and to proceed against the accused- applicant on the said complaint. Learned counsel for the applicant has contended that in view of amended section 142(2) of the Act, learned Magistrate at Ghaziabad is not the competent court having jurisdiction to take cognizance and to issue process against the accused applicant and the entire proceedings pending before the court at Ghaziabad, which are wholly without jurisdiction, cannot be permitted to continue, as the same would amount to gross abuse of process of court and law and the same are liable to be quashed by this court on the ground of jurisdiction alone.

7. Some factual aspects of the case have also been contested by learned counsel for the applicant submitting that both the cheques, which are dated 31.12.2014, drawn at Bank of Baroda, Branch Shalimar Garden, Ghaziabad, each amount of Rs. 35 lacs, were the security cheques given by the accused- applicant to O.P. No. 2 earlier and none of these cheques was issued in discharge of any liability or debt. The complainant Company misused the aforesaid security cheques to initiate malicious proceedings against the applicant, only for the purpose of harassment and to extort money from him. It is also submitted that the applicant had made a detailed complaint to the complainant Company earlier that the material supplied by it was defective due to which the material was lying in their godown, whereupon the Director of the complainant Company had assured that the said defective material will be taken back shortly from the godown of the applicant but despite repeated requests, the defective material was not removed by the complainant Company from the godown of the applicant and subsequently the applicant gave a legal notice to the complainant Company, informing the complainant Company, not to present the security cheques to the Banker of the Company because the applicant had stopped the payment of said security cheques. However, despite the aforesaid legal notice the complainant Company misused those cheques.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that considering all these facts and since the proceedings of the aforesaid complaints are beyond territorial jurisdiction and against the mandates of the amended section 142(2) of the N.I. Act, the court of learned Magistrate at Ghaziabad has acted without jurisdiction and thus the impugned summoning orders as well as entire proceedings of the complaint cases are liable to be quashed.

9. In support of his contention the learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance on the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court Bridgestone India Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Inderpal Singh (2016) 2 SCC 75, in which Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

"A perusal of the amended Section 142 (2), extracted above, leaves no room for any doubt, specially in view of the Explanation thereunder, that with reference to an offence under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the place where a cheque is delivered for collection i.e. the branch of the bank of the payee or holder in due course, would be determinative of the place of territorial jurisdiction and the provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, would have to give way to the provisions of instant enactment on account of the non obstante clause in subsection (1) of section 142-A of the N.I. Act."

10. The learned counsel has submitted that in similar matters coordinate Bench of this court has stayed the further proceedings of the complaint case under section 138 of the N.I. Act, keeping in view the aforesaid judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court and the amended provisions of the N.I. Act.

11. Considered the submissions and carefully perused the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case of Bridgestone India Pvt. Ltd. (supra) and also the Gazette of India dated 15.6.2015 issued by the Ministry of Law and Justice, New Delhi, to amend the N.I. Act 1881.

12. In order to properly appreciate the controversy involved in the instant case, the relevant provisions of the amended section 142(2) of the N.I. Act are reproduced below:-

"142(2) The offence under section 138 shall be inquired into and tried only by a court within whose local jurisdiction,--

(a) if the cheque is delivered for collection through an account, the branch of the bank where the payee or holder in due course, as the case may be, maintains the account, is situated; or

(b) if the cheque is presented for payment by the payee or holder in due course, otherwise through an account, the branch of the drawee bank where the drawer maintains the account, is situated.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of clause (a), where a cheque is delivered for collection at any branch of the bank of the payee or holder in due course, then, the cheque shall be deemed to have been delivered to the branch of the bank in which the payee or holder in due course, as the case may be, maintains the account."

13. The aforesaid amendment in N.I. Act was brought in view of the pendency of an estimated 18 lakh cheque bounce cases across the country. The litigants, who were already deprived of their money by the borrower, have to travel to different places from where the cheques were issued and dishonoured, thus denying them justice, equity and fair trial, adding more insult to their injury.

14. Earlier, Hon'ble Supreme Court in its judgment in the case of Dashrath Rupsingh Rathod Vs. State of Maharashtra (2014) 9 SCC 129 had held that the jurisdiction for dishonour of cheques is restricted to the court within whose local jurisdiction, the offence was committed i.e. where the cheque is dishonoured by the Bank on which it is drawn.

15. Pursuant to the said judgment of the Apex Court, a number of pending cases under section 138 of N.I. Act were transferred to the courts having jurisdiction as per the said judgment.

16. Various representations were made to the Government by Industry Association and financial institutions, expressing their concerns about wide impact of the said judgment on the business interest since the same would offer undue protection to defaulters at the expense of complainants. Hence the Legislature, with a view to protect the interest of the creditors, passed the Amending Act, which clearly provides that except bearer cheques, which are presented to the branch of the drawee bank, (in which cases, the local court of drawee bank would get jurisdiction), the jurisdiction to try the offence of cheque bouncing, shall lie with the court within whose local jurisdiction the bank branch of the payee, where the payee delivers the cheque for payment through his account, is situated.

17. Thus, in view of the amendment in the N.I. Act, there is no doubt that the jurisdiction to try the instant case vests in the Court situated at Delhi where the O.P. No. 2 or the complainant Company, who is the payee or holder in due course, maintains its account.

18. Now the question, which arise for consideration is that whether both these complaints and the entire proceeding are liable to be quashed on account of lack of jurisdiction as prayed by the applicant?

19. The answer would obviously be "No".

20. Keeping in view of the intention of the Legislature behind passing of the Amending Act, which is to protect the interest of the creditor or the payee and not of the borrower, and the provisions of Amending Act, the proceedings of complaint cannot be quashed. If the proceedings are quashed only due to lack of territorial jurisdiction or even are stayed for sometime, calling for counter and rejoinder affidavits, it will cause great difficulty to the litigant, who is already facing problem, being deprived of his money due to bouncing of cheque drawn by the borrower.

21. To deal with such situation, the Legislature by the Amending Act of 2015 has inserted a new section 142-A in Negotiable Instrument Act, making provision for transfer of pending cases.

The newly inserted section 142-A provides that all cases pending before any court, whether filed before it or transferred to it before 15.6.2015, shall be transferred to the courts having jurisdiction.

22. In the present case, a perusal of the complaint, the copy whereof has been annexed in both the applications and copy of order sheet of the court proceedings, which is Annexure no. 5 in both the applications, shows that the complaint under the N.I. Act has been filed on 5.2.2015, meaning thereby that the complaint was pending on the date 15.6.2015 when the Amending Act came into force. Therefore, the proceedings pending at Ghaziabad, deserves to be transferred from Ghaziabad to Delhi where the complainant Company is maintaining its account and no ground to quash those proceedings is made out.

23. In view of the above, both the instant applications are dismissed.

24. As this court cannot order for inter State transfer, the jurisdiction being only with the Hon'ble Apex Court by virtue of section 406 Cr.P.C., it is open for the complainant/ O.P. No. 2 to take steps for transfer of his complaint to Delhi.

25. The office is directed to send a copy of this order to the concerned Magistrate at Ghaziabad, through the District Judge, Ghaziabad. The concerned Magistrate is further directed to inform the complainant about this order so that the complainant may take necessary steps for transfer of his complaints to Delhi.

Legislation referred to : Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Sections 190, 195(1)(b)(i), 200, 202, 340, 341, 482

Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Sections 191, 192, 193

Indian Evidence Act, 1872 — Sections 1 and 3

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 — Section 30; Order XIX, Rules 1 and 2.

FACTS :

The applicant instituted Suit No. 94 of 2013 for permanent injunction against the complainant/opposite party no. 2. The plaint was supported by an affidavit sworn by the applicant stating facts to be true to his personal knowledge. In paragraph 16 of the said affidavit, it was averred that on 26 July 2013, the opposite party threatened the principal of the college to remove the wall, failing which the wall would be removed by force.

The complainant/opposite party no. 2 assailed this averment as false, contending that she was abroad in the USA from 18 May 2013 to 10 September 2013 and could not have made any such threat on the said date. She filed an application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. before the Civil Court for initiation of perjury proceedings, which was dismissed by order dated 18 November 2013 on the ground that the affidavit having been prepared and sworn outside the court, proceedings under Section 340 Cr.P.C. were impermissible.

Thereafter, the complainant filed a private complaint under Section 190 Cr.P.C. for prosecution of the applicant under Section 193 IPC. The learned Judicial Magistrate-I, Anwla, Bareilly, upon examining the complainant under Section 200 and recording the witness's statement under Section 202 Cr.P.C., passed summoning order dated 17 December 2014. Criminal Revision No. 22 of 2015 filed by the applicant was dismissed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, vide impugned order dated 31 February 2015. Both orders were challenged under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

Questions of Law

(i) Whether a private complaint for an offence under Section 193 IPC — arising out of a false affidavit filed in support of a plaint in civil proceedings — is maintainable, or whether initiation of such proceedings is barred by the mandatory requirement of a complaint in writing by the court under Section 195(1)(b)(i) Cr.P.C.?

(ii) Whether an affidavit filed in support of a plaint/written statement constitutes "evidence" within the meaning of Sections 191 and 192 IPC so as to attract Section 193 IPC?

(iii) Whether the failure of the complainant to prefer an appeal under Section 341 Cr.P.C. against the dismissal of the application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. by the Civil Court renders the subsequent private complaint non-maintainable?

(iv) Whether Section 195(1)(b)(ii) Cr.P.C. as interpreted in Iqbal Singh Marwah applies to a false affidavit filed in civil proceedings?

Held

(i) Affidavit as evidence under Sections 191/192 IPC: An affidavit filed in support of a plaint is "evidence" within the meaning of Section 191 IPC. A person who is legally bound to verify the averments in pleadings and does so falsely commits the offence of giving false evidence under Section 191 IPC, punishable under Section 193 IPC. It is not necessary that the person should have appeared in the witness

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. The prospective accused /applicant has approached this Court, in proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C., assailing order dated 31 February 2015 passed by the Revisional Court /Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1 Bareilly, in Criminal Revision No. 22 of 2015 (Mahesh Tiwari vs. State of U.P. and others) affirming summoning order dated 17 December 2014 passed by the Judicial Magistrate-1 Anwla, Bareilly in complaint case no. 743 of 2014 for an offence under Section 193 IPC.

2. The facts, briefly is, that the applicant instituted a suit for permanent injunction against the complainant/opposite party no. 2 being suit no. 94 of 2013 (Sri Subhash Inter College, Anwla through its Manager, Mahesh Tiwari, Advocate vs. Smt. Ruchi Saxena and others). The plaint was duly supported by an affidavit sworn by the applicant which was stated to be true to personal knowledge. In paragraph 16 of the affidavit filed in support of the plaint, it was averred that the cause of action for instituting the suit arose on 26 July 2013 when the opposite party no. 2/complainant threatened the principal of the college to remove the wall, however, in the event of failure, it was alleged that the wall would be removed by using force.

3. Aggrieved by the assertion, which according to the complainant, was false for the reason that the complainant was abroad (USA) from 18 May 2013 until 10 September 2013. The complainant, therefore, filed an application under Section 340 Cr.P.C. for initiating proceedings for perjury, which was rejected by the civil court by order dated 18 November 2013 for the reason that the alleged affidavit was prepared and sworn out side the court and thereafter filed in the court, therefore, the proceedings in terms of Section 340 Cr.P.C. would be impermissible.

4. Thereafter, complainant filed a private complaint under Section 190 Cr.P.C. against the applicant seeking his prosecution for an offence alleged to have been committed under Section 193 IPC. The learned Magistrate upon examining the complainant under Section 200 and recording statement of the witness under Section 202 Cr.P.C. summoned the applicant. Aggrieved, applicant preferred a revision, which by the impugned order affirmed the summoning order.

5. The summoning order, revisional order and the complaint proceedings is being assailed.

6. Sri Chetan Chatterji, learned counsel appearing for the applicant would contend that: (i) an application filed under Section 340 Cr.P.C. arising out of original suit was dismissed, against the dismissal order, since appeal was not preferred by the complainant under Section 341 Cr.P.C., therefore, subsequent private complaint was not maintainable; (ii) evidence would not include an affidavit in view of Section 1 read with Section 3 of the Indian Evidence Act 1872; (iii) Section 30 read with Order 19 of the Code of Civil Procedure (CPC), would provide the circumstances, when an affidavit can be permitted to be filed in evidence or in the alternative the circumstances in which certain facts may be proved by means of an affidavit, therefore, pleadings, as such, would not be an evidence within the meaning of Section 191/192 IPC; (iv) private complaint for an offence under Section 193 IPC for perjury would be barred in view of Section 195(1) Cr.P.C.

7. In rebuttal Sri Amit Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing for the complainant would submit that the statement made on oath by the applicant being false, which fact he knew to be false on the date of swearing, therefore, would tantamount to giving false evidence in a judicial proceeding defined under Section 191/192 IPC, which is punishable under Section 193 IPC, therefore, would contend that an affidavit is an evidence within the meaning of Section 191/192 IPC. A private complaint for filing a false affidavit in civil proceedings would be maintainable, therefore, the impugned orders are lawful and valid.

8. Rival submission falls for consideration.

9. The salient features of giving false evidence under Section 191 IPC are:-

- (i) intentionally making a false statement, or
- (ii) declaration by a person who is under a legal obligation to speak the truth.

10. The giving of false evidence amounts to practicing of fraud upon the court. Thus to make a statement of false evidence within the meaning of this section, it must be established that the person was legally bound by an oath or an express provision of law (a) to state the truth, or (b) to make a declaration upon any subject.

11. In certain cases, the law requires a declaration from a person on verification in a pleading, and if such a declaration is made falsely it will come under this clause.

12. Section 191 and 192 deal with perjury and filing of false affidavit in pleadings would be covered under Section 191. Section 191 deals with evidence on oath and Section 192 with fabricating false affidavits; the offence under Section 191 IPC is constituted by swearing falsely when one is bound by oath to state the truth because a declaration made under an oath. The definition of the offence of giving false evidence thus applies to the affidavits. The offence may also fall within Section 192 which, inter alia, lays down that a person is said to fabricate false evidence if he makes a document containing a false statement intending that such false statement may appear in evidence in a judicial proceeding and so appearing in evidence may cause any person who, in such proceedings is to form an opinion upon the evidence to entertain an erroneous opinion touching any point material to the result of such proceedings. Therefore, where declarations in affidavits which were tendered in the Court to be taken into consideration, the authors of the affidavit clearly intended the statement to appear in evidence in a judicial proceedings and so appearing, to cause the Court to entertain an erroneous opinion regarding the compromise, therefore, the offence would fall within Section 191, 192 which is punishable under Section 193 IPC, therefore, it was held that the authors of the affidavits were guilty of offence of giving false evidence or fabricating false evidence for the purpose of being used in judicial proceedings. (Refer: Baban Singh and another vs. Jagdish Singh and others (AIR 1967 68).

13. Where a verification is specific and deliberately false, there is nothing in law to prevent a person from being proceeded for contempt. But it must be remembered that the very essence of crimes of this kind is not how such statements may injure this or that party to litigation but how they may deceive and mislead the courts and thus produce mischievous consequences to the administration of justice. A person is under a legal obligation to verify the allegations of fact made in the pleadings and if he verifies falsely, he comes under the clutches of law. Consequently, there cannot be any doubt that if a statement or averment in a pleading is false, it falls within the definition of offence under Section 191 IPC. It is not necessary that a person should have appeared in the witness box. The offence stands committed and completed by the filing of such pleading.

14. In Ranjeet Singh vs. State of Pepsu AIR 1959 SC 843 the accused, a police officer, was called upon to make a statement against an application under Article 226 of the Constitution for a writ of habeas corpus in which it was alleged that the accused had illegally detained a man in police custody. In his written (statement), the accused filed an false affidavit denying that the man was never arrested by the police or was in his custody. It was held that the accused was legally bound to place the true facts before the court in his affidavit and since the statements made by him in the affidavit were found to be false, it was held that he has committed the offence under Section 193 IPC for giving false evidence as defined in Section 191 IPC.

15. The making of a false statement, without knowledge as to whether the subject matter of the statement is false or not is giving of false evidence. A witness falsely deposing in another's name, and a persons falsely verifying his plaint, and an official making a false statement upon the service of summons were held guilty of giving false evidence under this Section. (Refer: S.P. Kohli (Dr.) vs. High Court of Punjab and Haryana AIR 1978 SC 1753.)

16. Section 191 contemplates declarations which a person is bound by law to make. The most familiar instances of such declarations are complaints and pleadings in suits. A person being under a legal obligation to verify facts in complaints and pleadings is liable to be punished under Section 193 for perjury, if he verifies falsely. (Asgar Ali Mulla Ibrahimji vs. Emperor AIR 1943 Nag 17(18)).

17. Where a person falsely verifies a written statement he will be liable for perjury. Where a person falsely verifies an execution application he will be liable for perjury. (Emperor vs. Padam Singh AIR 1930 All 490).

18. An affidavit is 'evidence' within the meaning of Section 191 IPC and a person swearing to a false affidavit is guilty of perjury. The definition of the offence of giving false evidence applies to the affidavits. (Parag Dutt vs. Emperor AIR 1930 Oudh 62 (63)).

19. Where a police officer, accused taking delivery of draft of counter affidavit from Standing Counsel for being signed by his superior for filing in Supreme Court. Asking a police official to forge signature of his superior on carbon copy of counter affidavit. On refusal, he contacted his superior and latter directing official asked to forge his signature. Official acting accordingly. Accused sending carbon copy with others for filing it in Supreme Court, said affidavit containing false averments. Accused officer present in Supreme Court premises along with the officer whose signature was forged on date of filing affidavit. Accused is guilty of offence under Section 193. He abetted officer to forge signature of his superior. (Refer: Afzal and another vs. State of Haryana and others AIR 1996 SC 2326 (2334)).

20. A five Judge Bench in Iqbal Singh Marwah and another vs. Meenakshi Marwah and another 2005 (51) ACC 910 (SC) noted the conflict of language between two decisions rendered by Bench of three Judge in Sachida Nand Singh and others vs. State of Bihar and others 1998 Criminal Law Journal 1565 and Surjeet Singh and another vs. Balbeer Singh 1996 Criminal Law Journal 2304 regarding interpretation of Section 195(1)(b)(ii) Cr.P.C. The Court was of the opinion that Sachida Nand Singh has been correctly decided and the view taken therein is the correct view. Section 195(1)(b)(ii) Cr.P.C. would be attracted only when the offences enumerated in the said provision have been committed with respect to a document after it has been produced and given in evidence in proceedings in a Court i.e. during the time when the document was in custodia legis.

21. Iqbal Singh Marwah case involved the interpretation of the expression "when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceedings in any court".

22. In the facts of the present case, the ratio of Iqbal Singh Marwah would not apply as affidavit in support of a complaint / written statement is neither a document or evidence as contemplated in 195(1)(b)(ii) of Cr.P.C. Nor does the offence under Section 193 IPC is covered therein, Section 195 (1)(b)(ii) deals with all kinds of forgery committed in respect of a document or evidence produced in the court. The complaint in the present case has been filed for filing a false affidavit in civil proceedings for an offence punishable under Section 193 which is referred to under Section 195(1)(b)(i) Cr.P.C. for the offence defined under Section 191 and 192 IPC.

23. Section 1 and Section 3 of Evidence Act together make it clear that affidavit is not regarded as evidence under the Act, but can be used as evidence only if for sufficient reason court passed an order under Order XIX Rule 1 and 2 of the CPC. Affidavits, though, are not included in Section 3 of the Act, same can be used as evidence, if law specifically permits certain matters to be proved by affidavit. Mere swearing of affidavit does not make statement contained therein a piece of evidence. Swearing is only a guarantee of the authenticity of the affidavits but not of their contents. (Sudha Devi vs. M.P. Narayanan and others AIR 1988 SC 1381, Rita Pandit vs. Atul Pandit AIR 2005 AP 253 (FB)).

24. As regards documentary evidence, documents requiring proof cannot become evidence before they are proved. A document has to be proved first then the question of its authenticity has to be determined. A written statement filed on behalf of an accused cannot be treated as a document produced for inspection of the Court. It is not strictly evidence even though the Court may consider it. The word 'evidence' means instruments by which relevant facts are brought before Court viz witnesses and documents by means of which court is convinced of these facts.

25. Filing of a false affidavit in a proceedings pending before the Civil Court would amount to an offence falling under Section 193 IPC and proceedings would have to be initiated on a complaint in writing by that court. Private complaint filed by the opposite party for an offence allegedly committed under Section 193 IPC is not maintainable being vitiated for non-compliance of the mandatory provisions under Section 195(1)(b)(i) Cr.P.C.

26. In Kailash Mangal vs. Ramesh Chand (D) Through Legal Representative (LAWS (SC)-2015-1-117) Supreme Court held as follows:

"In the instant case, the false affidavit alleged to have been filed by the appellant was in a proceeding pending before the civil court and the offence falls under Section of the 193 of the IPC and the proceeding ought to have been initiated on the complaint in writing by that Court under Section 195 (1)(b)(i) of the (Cr.P.C.). Since the offence is said to have been committed in relation to or in a proceeding in a civil court, the case of Iqbal Singh Marwah (supra) is not applicable to the instant case.

The private complaint filed by the respondent for the offences allegedly committed under Section 193 of the Code is not maintainable as the same is vitiated on account of non-compliance of the mandatory provision of Section 195(1)(b)(i) of the Cr.P.C." (Refer: Govind Mehta vs. State of Bihar (1971) 3 SCC 329, Surjit Singh and others vs. Balbir Singh (1996) 3 SCC 533, K. Venqadachalam vs. K.C. Palanisamy (2005) 7 SCC 352)

27. Therefore, false averments in pleadings are sufficient to attract Chapter XI of the Indian Penal Code.

28. Section 190 Cr.P.C. provides that a Magistrate may take cognizance of an offence (a) upon receiving a complaint of facts which constitute such offence (b) upon a police report of such facts, and (c) upon information received from any person other than a police officer, or upon his own knowledge, that such offence has been committed. Section 195 Cr.P.C. is a sort of exception to this general provision and creates an embargo upon the power of the court to take cognizance of certain types of offences enumerated therein. The procedure for filing a complaint by the court as contemplated by Section 195(1) Cr.P.C. is given in Section 340 Cr.P.C. The purpose of the section is to bar private prosecution where the courts of justice is sought to be perverted leaving to the court itself to uphold its dignity and prestige.

29. In M.S. Ahlawat v. State of Haryana & Anr., AIR 2000 SC 168, Supreme Court considered the matter at length and held as under :

"5....Provisions of Section 195 CrPC are mandatory and no court has jurisdiction to take cognisance of any of the offences mentioned therein unless there is a complaint in writing as required under that section." (Refer: Kamla Prasad Singh vs. Hari Nath Singh AIR 1968 SC 19, Iqbal Singh Marwah (supra))

30. Normally, a direction for filing of a complaint is not made during the pendency of the proceeding before the court and this is done at the stage when the proceedings is concluded and the final judgment is rendered. (Refer: N. Natarajan vs. B.K. Subba Rao AIR 1993 SC 541)

31. For the law and reasons stated herein above, the impugned order dated 31 February 2015 passed by the Revisional Court/Additional Sessions Judge in Criminal Revision No. 22 of 2015 (Mahesh Tiwari vs. State of U.P.) and summoning order dated 17 December 2014 passed by the Judicial Magistrate-I, Anwla, Bareilly cannot be sustained, accordingly, is set aside, the proceedings being Complaint Case No. 743 of 2014 (Vijay Kumar vs. Mahesh Tiwari) instituted by opposite party no. 2 is thereby quashed.

32. The application is allowed.

Writ C No.- 36872 Of 2012

...Petitioner

Versus

State Of U.P. & Ors.

...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:

Sheo Ram Singh, Ajeet Singh, Raj Kumar Yadav

Counsel for Respondents:

C.S.C., Mahesh Narain Singh, Vikash Chandra Tiwari

Facts

The petitioner was appointed fair price shop agent of Village Deva Patti in 1993 and had been continuously operating the shop since then. In 2010, his wife was elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon — a different Gram Panchayat from the one in which the petitioner held the fair price shop licence.

On a complaint made on Tehsil Divas, the Supply Inspector submitted a report taking shelter of Government Order dated 17.5.2010, and the Sub-Divisional Officer, Tehsil Badlapur, District Jaunpur, by order dated 24.8.2011, cancelled the petitioner's agreement to run the fair price shop without affording any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

Appeal No. 123 of 2011 filed by the petitioner before the Additional Commissioner (Food and Civil Supplies), Varanasi Region, was dismissed vide order dated 31.3.2012. Both orders were challenged in the present writ petition.

Questions of Law

Whether the prohibition contained in the Government Orders dated 3.7.1990 and 18.7.2002, as revived by Government Order dated 17.5.2010, applies where the family member of the fair price shop agent is elected as Pradhan of a different Gram Panchayat/village — not the village where the fair price shop is situated?

Whether the cancellation of the petitioner's agreement, without affording an opportunity of hearing, was sustainable?

Held

(i) Territorial scope of the prohibition: The Government Orders prohibiting appointment/continuation of family members of a Pradhan or Up-Pradhan as fair price shop agents are purposive in nature. Their object is to prevent favouritism, nepotism, and to ensure transparency in the selection process and in the distribution of essential commodities within that very Gaon Sabha. The expression "open meeting of the Gaon Sabha" in Government Order dated 3.7.1990 refers to the Gaon Sabha where the fair price shop is proposed to be situated. The prohibition is territorially limited to the Gaon Sabha concerned and does not extend beyond its territorial limits.

(ii) Applicability on facts: Since the petitioner was running the fair price shop of Village Deva Patti and his wife was elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon — a different village — the apprehension of nepotism or favouritism does not arise. The Government Orders cannot be stretched to cover a situation where the family member of the fair price shop agent is elected as Pradhan of an altogether different Gram Panchayat having no territorial nexus with the fair price shop. The authorities erred in cancelling the petitioner's agreement and in dismissing the appeal.

(iii) Relied upon: Samiullah v. State of U.P. and Others, 2011 (6) ADJ 68 (Division Bench), wherein it was observed that the prohibition is intended to ensure no favouritism or nepotism in distribution of essential commodities and to maintain the faith of villagers of that very Gram Panchayat.

Result: Writ petition allowed. Orders dated 24.8.2011 (Sub-Divisional Officer, Tehsil Badlapur, District Jaunpur) and 31.3.2012 (Additional Commissioner, Food and Civil Supplies, Varanasi) quashed.

Cases Referred:

1. Samiullah v. State of U.P. and Others, 2011 (6) ADJ 68 (Division Bench).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ran Vijai Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sheo Ram Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents, Sri V.C.Tiwari, learned counsel appearing for the caveator and Sri M.K.Yadav, learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha.

2. Through this writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for issuing a writ of certiorari quashing the order dated 24.8.2011 passed by the Sub Divisional Officer, Tehsil Badlapur District Jaunpur as well as the order dated 31.3.2012 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Food and Civil Supplies) Varanasi Region, Varanasi.

3. Vide order dated 24.8.2011 the agreement of the petitioner to run the fair price shop of Village Deva Patti has been cancelled by the Sub Divisional Officer whereby the subsequent order dated 31.3.2012 the Additional Commissioner, (Food and Civil Supplies) has dismissed the Appeal No. 123 of 2011 (Samar Bahadur vs. State) filed by the petitioner against the order dated 24.8.2011.

4. The facts of the case, in brief, are that the petitioner herein was appointed as fair price shop agent of village Deva Patti in the year 1993 and since then he has been running the shop. However, her wife was elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon in the year 2010. The caveator, namely Smt. Uttama Devi, wife of Ram Raj has filed a complaint on 19.7.2011 on Tehsil Divas for cancelling the agreement of the petitioner's fair price shop on the ground that her wife has been elected as Village Pradhan. On the aforesaid complaint the Block Development Officer was required to submit a report. The Block Development Officer, pursuant thereto on 14.8.2011 informed that the matter has been enquired by the Assistant Development Officer, Panchayat who reported that the wife of the petitioner has been elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon whereas the petitioner is running fair price shop of Village Deva Patti since 1993. Simultaneously a report was also submitted by the Supply Inspector who taking shelter of the Government Order dated 17.5.2010 has reported that in the event, any family member of the fair price shop agent is elected as Pradhan or Up Pradhan then the agreement to run the fair price shop has to be cancelled with immediate effect. Taking note of that the petitioner's agreement to run the fair price shop was cancelled for the reason that the petitioner's wife has been elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon.

5. Aggrieved by the aforesaid order the petitioner herein has filed Appeal No. 123 of 2011 (Samar Bahadur vs. State) on the ground that while passing the order dated 24.8.2011 no opportunity was ever offered to the petitioner and the provisions contained in the Government Order dated 17.5.2010 are not applicable upon the petitioner as the petitioner's wife was not elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Deva Patti but the Additional Commissioner vide order dated 31.3.2012 has discarded the argument of the petitioner and dismissed the appeal.

6. Aggrieved by the aforesaid orders the petitioner has filed the present writ petition.

7. While entertaining the writ petition this Court on 5.10.2013 has passed the following order:

"List after three weeks.

The learned Standing Counsel will file an affidavit enclosing the Government Order, which prohibits a family member to hold a fair price shop license, if any, member of the family becomes a Pradhan. The learned Standing Counsel will also file an affidavit indicating as to whether, the petitioner is a member of the village, in which, she has been elected as a Pradhan. The learned Standing Counsel will also indicate as to whether the petitioner's wife could be elected as a Pradhan of a different village, when her husband is residing in another village."

8. Learned standing counsel was directed to file counter affidavit. Pursuant thereto, learned standing counsel has filed counter affidavit as well as supplementary counter affidavit to which learned counsel for the petitioner has filed rejoinder affidavit. Another counter affidavit has been filed by the Gaon Sabha to which no rejoinder affidavit has been filed. On being confronted as to whether learned counsel for the petitioner desires to file rejoinder affidavit as well as supplementary rejoinder affidavits to the counter affidavit filed by the Gaon Sabha as well as supplementary counter affidavit filed by the State, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the question involved is with regard to the interpretation of the relevant Government Orders and in that respect the reply has already been given in the rejoinder affidavit to the counter affidavit filed by the State, therefore, he does not propose either to file rejoinder affidavit to the counter affidavit filed by the Gaon Sabha or the supplementary rejoinder affidavit to the supplementary counter affidavit filed by the State.

9. In view of the fact that counter and rejoinder affidavits have been exchanged, with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, the writ petition is taken up for final disposal.

10. It is not in dispute that the petitioner was appointed as fair price shop agent of Deva patti in the year 1993 and since then he continued to operate the fair price shop till the date of the order of cancellation dated 24.8.2011. It is not in dispute that the petitioner's wife has been elected as Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon. The Government Order dated 3.7.1990, which has been taken note of by the Supply Inspector, while submitting the report before cancellation of the agreement of the fair price shop, provides that no proposal for appointment of fair price shop shall be made in favour of the family members of elected Pradhan and Up Pradhan. For convenience, paragraph 4.7 of the aforesaid Government Order is reproduced herein below:

4.7 ग्राम प्रधान या उप प्रधान के परिवार के सदस्यों / संबंधियों के पक्ष में उचित दर की दुकान के आबंटन का प्रस्ताव नहीं किया जायेगा। परिवार की परिभाषा निम्नलिखित मानी जायेगी स्वयं स्वी पुतः अविवाहित पुती माता, पिता, भाई या अन्य कोई सदस्य जो साथ में रहता हो तथा एक ही चूल्हे का बना खाना खाता हो।

11. In continuation thereto a Government Order was issued on 18.7.2002. Relevant paragraph no. 2 of the said

12. Government Order is reproduced herein below:

2. इस संबंध में सम्यक विचारोपरांत जचोहज्ञताक्षरी को यह कहने का निदेश हुआ है कि उक्त शासनादेश के प्रस्तर 4.7 के आगे प्रस्तर-4.7 अ निम्नानुसार जोड़ दिया गया है

यदि किसी दुकानदार या उसके परिवार के किसी सदस्य को जिसकी परिभाषा प्रस्तर 4.7 में दी गई है प्रधान या उप प्रधान चुन लिया जाता है तो उसकी दुकान का आबंटन निरस्त कर दिया जायेगा।

कृपया उक्त शासनादेश कुल समय तक संशोधित समझा जाये।

13. It appears another Government Order was issued on 28.2.2007 in which it was stated that if the appointment of the fair price shop agent is prior in time to the election of his family member as Pradhan or Up Pradhan then his or her agreement to run fair price shop be not cancelled.

14. However, this Government Order was superseded by another Government Order dated 17.5.2010. Relevant paragraph no.2 of the same is reproduced herein below:

2 इस सम्बन्ध में पूर्व में निर्गत शासनादेश दिनांक 03-07-90 को अंशतः संशोधित करते हुए शासनादेश संख्या-276/29-6-2002-162 सा/01 दिनांक 18.7.2002 द्वारा प्राविधानित किया गया है कि यदि किसी दुकानदार या उसके परिवार के किसी सदस्य को जिसकी परिभाषा शासनादेश दिनांक 03.07.90 के प्रस्तर 47 में दी गयी है प्रधान या उपप्रधान चुन लिया जाता है तो उसकी दुकान का आबंटन निरस्त कर दिया जायेगा। शासन का पत्र संख्या संख्या-255/29.6. 2008-162 सा/01 टीसी दिनांक 28 फरवरी 2007 निर्गत किये जाने के पूर्व उक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 18.7.2002 का संज्ञान नहीं लिया गया है।

3- अतएव शासन स्तर पर सम्यक विचारोपरान्तः शासन का पत्र संख्या-555/29.6.2007-162 सा/01 टीसी दिनांक 28 फरवरी, 2007 एतद द्वारा निरस्त किया जाता है। पुनः यह स्पष्ट किया जाता है कि इस सम्बन्ध में शासनादेश दिनांक 18.7.2002 (सुलम सन्दर्भ हेतु प्रति संलग्न) में उल्लिखित प्राविधान ही लागू होंगे। शासन के पत्र दिनांक 28.2.2007 का लाम जिन दुकानदारों को दिया गया हो तो कृपया उनके अनुबन्ध भी तत्काल प्रभाव से निरस्त कर दिये जाय।

15. From the bare reading of the Government Order dated 3.7.1990, which has been brought on record as Annexure 5 to the writ petition, it transpires that the Government has intended to open fair price shop in each Gaon Sabha.

16. It was also made clear that where units are more than 4000, on the recommendation to the Gaon Sabha, another fair price shop can be opened. In paragraph 4.4 of the Government order it is provided that proposal for appointment of fair price shop shall be made in open meeting of the Gaon Sabha. As has been noticed earlier in paragraph no. 4.7 of the aforesaid Government Order, it is provided that no proposal shall be made for appointment of fair price shop agent in favour of the family member of Pradhan or Up Pradhan. The definition of the family has been described as wife, son, unmarried daughter, mother, father, brother or any other member who is living with Pradhan or Up Pradhan and takes meal together. The Government Order dated 18.7.2002 provides that if any family member of the fair price shop agent is elected as Pradhan or Up Pradhan, his or her agreement to run fair price shop be cancelled, which was slightly modified vide Government Order dated 28.2.2007 where relaxation was given, if after the appointment of the fair price shop agent any family member is elected as Pradhan or Up Pradhan then the agreement to run the fair price shop will not be cancelled. However, that Government Order dated 28.2.2007 has been superseded by the Government Order dated 17.5.2010 with the further direction that if the person is continuing as fair price shop agent whose family member has been elected as Pradhan or Up Pradhan his agreement shall be cancelled forthwith.

17. These Government orders are purposive and have been issued with the view to achieve certain objectives, which in my opinion, are that while electing/ selecting a fair price shop agent, there must be transparency in the process of selection and ruling out possibility any favouritism, nepotism etc. Provision was also made in the Government Order dated 3.7.1990 that no proposal for appointment of fair price shop agent of the family members of Pradhan or Up Pradhan shall be made and the rigour of not appointing the family members of Pradhan or Up-Pradhan is continuing till date. In the government order dated 3.7.1990, it has also been provided that the election/selection of the fair price shop agent be made in the open meeting of the gaon sabha. The word open meeting of the gaon sabha means open meeting of that very gaon sabha where the fair price shop agent is proposed to be appointed. In my opinion, it will not include any other gaon sabha as limit of apprehension of favouritism, nepotism is not intended to be allowed beyond the territorial limit of the gaon sabha from the bare reading of prohibitory language used in the various government orders referred herein above.

18. The purpose behind not electing/selecting the family members of the Pradhan/Up-Pradhan as fair price shop agent is to avoid favouritism, nepotism and to maintain transparency in the process of the selection which is limited to that very gaon sabha and in case, any relative of Pradhan or Up-Pradhan has been appointed as fair price shop agent in another village Panchayat, the possibility of nepotism, favouritism cannot be apprehended. The Division Bench of this Court in Samiullah Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (6) ADJ 68, of which I was also member, while interpreting the aforesaid government order, has observed as under :-

The purpose and object for which the prohibition is contained is not far to seek. In a Gram Panchayat Pradhan plays a very pivotal role and with regard to distribution of essential commodities by a fair price shop dealer the Pradhan has specific role under the relevant Government orders and the scheme enforced by the State Government. The Pradhan supervise the distribution of commodities of a fair price shop dealer to ensure that essential commodities are distributed to the members of the village. The distribution of essential commodities by a fair price shop dealer in public distribution system is one of the most important function entrusted to Gram Panchayat. The provision prohibiting family members and relatives of Pradhan to get a fair price shop has been incorporated with some object to achieve, i.e. there may be no favouritism or nepotism with regard to distribution of essential commodities and if a fair price shop dealer is not relative or family member of the Pradhan there shall be more transparency and faith of the villagers.

19. Here in this particular case as would appear from the order and the report submitted by the Block Development Officer contains that the wife of the petitioner has been elected as a Pradhan of Village Panchayat Machligaon whereas the petitioner is running fair price shop of Village Deva Patti that too since 1993, therefore the government order dated 3.7.1990 which prohibits the election/selection of fair price shop agent of the relative of Pradhan or Up-Pradhan in order to avoid favouritism, nepotism in the process of the election/selection or in distribution will not be applicable under the facts and circumstances of the case and the authorities have erred in cancelling the agreement of the petitioner to run fair price shop and dismissing the appeal.

20. In view of foregoing discussions, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The impugned orders dated 24.8.2011 passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Tehsil Badlapur District Jaunpur as well as the order dated 31.3.2012 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Food and Civil Supplies) Varanasi are hereby quashed.

21. So far as the election of the petitioner's wife as a Pradhan of Village Machligaon is concerned, in this regard, learned counsel for the petitioner contended that it is a separate issue and that question cannot be gone into in this writ petition.

22. I find substance in the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioner. Since the wife of the petitioner has already been elected as a Pradhan of Machligaon it is for the aggrieved person to question election of fair price shop agent. Otherwise also, assuming election of the petitioner's wife as Pradhan of Village Machligaon is illegal, it will go in favour of the petitioner.

Income Tax — Transfer of Cases — Section 127(2)(a) of Income Tax Act, 1961 — Opportunity of Hearing — Recording of Reasons — Phrase "Wherever it is Possible to Do So" — Coordinated Investigation — Search and Seizure INCOME TAX ACT, 1961 — Section 127(2)(a) — Transfer of income tax cases from ACIT, Moradabad to ACIT, New Delhi — Challenge to transfer order — Grounds: no show cause notice, no opportunity of hearing, no reasons recorded — Held: Section 127(2)(a) contemplates two distinct requirements: (i) affording Assessee a reasonable opportunity of hearing, wherever it is possible to do so; and (ii) recording of reasons for passing the transfer order — First requirement of opportunity of hearing is conditional and not mandatory in all cases — It is subject to the phrase "wherever it is possible to do so" — However, second requirement of recording of reasons is mandatory and absolute in all cases irrespective of whether opportunity of hearing was afforded or not — Reasons must not merely be recorded in file but must be contained in the order itself and communicated to Assessee — Non-communication of reasons renders the order of transfer bad in law.

(Paras 12, 13, 17 and 28)

INCOME TAX ACT, 1961 — Section 127(2)(a) — Phrase "Wherever it is Possible to Do So" — Meaning and scope — Held: The phrase "wherever it is possible to do so" qualifies only the requirement of opportunity of hearing and not the requirement of recording of reasons — Legislature has consciously used this phrase and it cannot be rendered redundant or ignored — When Authority bona fide and reasonably concludes that grant of opportunity is not possible in the facts and circumstances of the case, order of transfer without hearing is not ipso facto vitiated — Authority must act reasonably and bona fide in arriving at such conclusion — Mere absence of notice to Assessee will not vitiate order of transfer if circumstances justify such non-affording of opportunity — Requirement of opportunity is not mandatory but discretionary, subject to feasibility.

(Paras 20, 23, 24 and 25)

INCOME TAX ACT, 1961 — Section 127(2)(a) — Sufficiency of Reasons — Transfer order mentioning centralization of cases of group of Assesseees at one place consequent upon search and seizure operations conducted at various places — Whether sufficient — Held: Yes. Requirement of reasons under Section 127 does not mean that order must contain a detailed discussion on several grounds — Requirement of statute stands satisfied if from a bare reading of the order, any person of ordinary prudence may ascertain the reason which prevailed in the mind of Competent Authority — Such reason must not be flimsy, imaginary or whimsical and must disclose application of logic and prudence — Centralization of cases of an entire group of Assesseees, where search and seizure operations have been conducted, for coordinated investigation and assessment by one officer at one place, is a valid and sufficient reason for passing order of transfer.

(Paras 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31)

INCOME TAX ACT, 1961 — Section 127(2)(a) — Transfer of Cases — Right of Assessee to be Assessed by Particular Officer — Held: There is no vested right in an Assessee to be assessed by a particular Assessing Officer — Transfer from one Assessing Officer to another may cause minor inconvenience but does not infringe any substantial or material right of Assessee — Even after transfer, cases are dealt with under the normal prescribed procedure — There is no differential treatment occasioned by such transfer and the same cannot be assailed as causing serious prejudice.

(Para 23)

WRIT JURISDICTION — ARTICLE 226 — INTERFERENCE — CONDUCT OF PETITIONER — Petitioner did not raise objection to transfer order at earliest opportunity — Objection raised only at fag end when cases were about to become time-barred — Assessments already completed — Appeals pending — Held: Conduct of petitioner shows that objection was raised to frustrate assessment proceedings — Writ Court should decline to interfere in extraordinary jurisdiction in such circumstances — Not a fit case for interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Manish Goyal, learned counsel for Respondent.

2. Petitioner has challenged order dated 11th September, 2012 passed by Commissioner of Income Tax, Moradabad (hereinafter referred to as 'CIT') transferring income tax cases of petitioner from the jurisdiction of Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax, Moradabad [(hereinafter referred to as "ACIT(M)"] to Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax, New Delhi [hereinafter referred to as "ACIT(New Delhi)"] by exercising power under Section 127 (2)(a) of Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1961'). Petitioners have also challenged notices under Sections 153(A) and 276 CC and 277D issued by Assessing Officer at New Delhi, after cases stood transferred to New Delhi, on the ground that transfer order itself being illegal, all consequential actions initiated by Assessing Officer at New Delhi are also illegal.

3. The order of transfer has been challenged on the ground that neither any show cause notice nor opportunity was afforded to petitioner nor the impugned order mentions any reason which is an obligatory requirement under Section 127, before an order of transfer could have been passed, in view of law laid down in Ajantha Industries Vs. Central Board of Direct Taxes, (1976) 102 ITR 281 (SC) and Division Bench judgments of this Court in Bansal Sharevests Services Ltd. and another Vs. 4. Sri Manish Goyal, learned counsel for respondents, per contra, submitted that search and seizure operation was carried out at different places of petitioner on 1st February, 2012 which continued up to 3rd February, 2012. Petitioner challenged search and seizure proceedings and warrant of authorization in Writ (Tax) No. 451 of 2012, Harbhajan Singh Chadha and others Vs. Director of Income Tax and others. When aforesaid writ petition was pending, having regard to incriminating material and other valuable items and cash found in search and seizure, Director of Income Tax (Intelligence and Criminal Investigation), New Delhi [(hereinafter referred to as "DIT(ICI)"] requested vide letter dated 1.5.2012 to Chief Commissioner of Income Tax (Central) New Delhi (hereinafter referred to as 'CCIT (Central)' that all cases need be centralized and assessments be made by one Assessing Officer in Central Circle, Delhi so that coordinated investigation leading to meaningful conclusion may be carried out. Consequent thereto, and finding request to be genuine, CCIT (Central) vide letter dated 18/21 May, 2012, communicated to Commissioner of Income Tax (Central) Circle-III, New Delhi (hereinafter referred to as 'CIT (Central-III)'); his administrative approval for centralization of cases under his charge. He also advised, since some of the cases of the Group were being assessed by Assessing Officer under Central Range-6 so functionally it would be convenient to allocate cases preferably to an officer working with Additional Commissioner of Income Tax, Central Range-6, New Delhi, keeping in mind equitable distribution of work.

5. Accordingly, CIT (Central-III) vide letter dated 3rd September, 2012 informed CIT that CCIT (Central) has conveyed approval for centralization of cases at New Delhi for coordinated investigation and hence CIT (Central-III) is conveying concurrence for transfer of cases to Assessing Officer at New Delhi by issuing an order under Section 127 of Act, 1961. A request was made to take an expeditious decision in the matter. Thereafter, CIT passed impugned order dated 11.9.2012. It is mentioned in the transfer order that in view of request for centralization of twelve cases of Chadha Group of Moradabad which include petitioner also, and concurrence granted by CIT (Central-III) for centralization of these cases, necessary order of transfer under Section 127 for coordination and investigation of cases is being passed. Stand taken by respondents is that looking to urgency and objective of coordinated investigation at one place, centralization of all cases was found necessary.

6. Manish Goyal, counsel for respondent urged that Section 127 contemplates reasonable opportunity of hearing "wherever it is possible to do so" and not in all cases. In the present case looking to above facts, authorities found utmost expediency to pass immediate order hence opportunity was not found feasible. Further, disclosure of detailed reasons could have defeated the purpose of transfer and may have come in the way of proper and effective enquiry, hence detailed reasons were not furnished in the order.

7. Before proceeding further, we may place on record certain additional facts which have emerged from record. After order of transfer was passed, Assessing Officer at Delhi issued notice under Section 153A to petitioner on 8th April, 2013 for filing returns for Assessment Years 2006-07 to 2011-12. Petitioner filed objection dated 30.4.2013 requesting that photocopy of seized material has not been provided and, in absence thereof, it is not possible to file return. He, therefore, prayed for supply of copy of seized material. He also pointed out that challenging aforesaid search and seizure, a writ petition is pending in High Court, hence time to file return be extended till the date of disposal of writ petition or till the date of supply of seized material, whichever is later.

8. Assessing Officer at New Delhi vide order dated 10.10.2013 informed petitioner that there is no restraint order in pending Writ Petition No. 451 (Tax) of 2012, therefore, petitioner should file return since time to complete assessment would expire on 31st March, 2014.

9. For the first time, vide letter dated 18.10.2013, petitioner took objection with regard to transfer of cases stating that no transfer order has been served upon him and, therefore, Assessing Officer at New Delhi should inform as to how jurisdiction stood conferred upon him.

10. Assessing Officer at New Delhi then issued a notice dated 2nd January, 2014 for proceeding under Section 276 CC and 272 (3). This notice was replied by petitioner through his Chartered Accountant on 16th January, 2014, stating that Assessee attended office of Assessing Officer on 18th October, 2013 i.e. the date fixed for hearing with notice under Section 142(1) and also filed written submission through his counsel along with Vakalatnama. Fundamental objection raised therein was regarding jurisdiction of Assessing Officer at New Delhi, since no order of transfer was served upon petitioner. We have also been informed by counsel for parties that Assessing Officer at New Delhi has already made assessment after transfer of cases. Against orders of assessment, petitioner has filed appeals which are pending.

11. Now we proceed to examine respective issues raised in this petition. Power of transfer has been exercised in this case under Section 127(2)(a) which reads as under : -

"where the Directors General or Chief Commissioners or Commissioners to whom such Assessing Officers are subordinate are in agreement, then the Director General or Chief Commissioner or Commissioner from whose jurisdiction the case is to be transferred may, after giving the assessee a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter, wherever it is possible to do so, and after recording his reasons for doing so, pass the order;"

(emphasis added)

12. Provision is very clear, Order of transfer can be passed after complying two requirements; (i) after giving Assessee, a reasonable opportunity of hearing wherever it is possible to do so; and (ii) recording of reasons for doing so.

13. Statute says that opportunity of hearing is necessary in such cases where it is possible to do so meaning thereby it is not necessary to be observed invariably in each and every case, whenever orders transferring cases are passed. However, second requirement that reasons shall be recorded is applicable in all the cases irrespective of the fact whether order of transfer has been passed after giving opportunity of hearing or not. Statute is clear and in emphatic terms requires that reasons shall be recorded by Competent Authority. Not only that but reasons must be communicated to Assessee, otherwise very purpose of recording reasons would be frustrated. When it is said that order shall be passed after recording reasons, in our view, reasons cannot be recorded and kept in file but the order itself must contain reasons for transfer and communicated to Assessee.

14. Respondents in this case have taken defence that grant of opportunity was not found feasible, therefore, referring to the words "wherever it is possible to do so", used in Section 127(2)(a), submission is that present case is one where grant of opportunity to petitioner was not possible and hence it will not vitiate impugned order of transfer.

15. We find that in various authorities wherein validity of order of transfer under Section 127(2)(a) has been dealt with, consensus view is that, opportunity of hearing if not afforded or reasons not recorded, order of transfer would be bad. However, no authority has been placed before us wherein this phrase "wherever it is possible to do so", has been considered in the context of Section 127 of Act, 1961. No authority is cited to show meaning of the words "wherever it is possible to do so" and how and in what manner, the aforesaid phrase would dilute or mitigate, otherwise mandate of legislature, of affording a reasonable opportunity of being heard to Assessee, before passing order of transfer.

16. In Sanjay Gupta Vs. Union of India (supra), notices were issued to Assessee inviting objections Assessee actually filed objections and thereafter transfer order was passed. Basic issue was, where objection has been filed but neither grounds taken in the objections are discussed nor reasons are given in the order of transfer, can it be said that reasonable opportunity was given to Assessee and order contain reason. Court held that mere mention of words that transfer is required for "administrative convenience and coordinated investigation", is not sufficient, particularly when Assessee has made objections raising grounds which have not been considered at all. For this purposes Court also relied and followed Calcutta High Court's judgment in Naresh Kumar Agarwal Vs. Union of India, (2010) 320 ITR 361.

17. In Ajantha Industries Vs. Central Board of Direct Taxes (supra), a notice was served upon Assessee, proposing transfer to facilitate investigation whereagainst Assessee filed objection and thereafter order of transfer was passed. It was challenged on the ground that no reasons were given or communicated in the order of transfer. Revenue took a defence that reasons were mentioned in the show cause notice, therefore, order of transfer for absence of reasons would not be bad. This argument of Revenue was not accepted. Court said that Section 127 has been introduced in Act, 1961 and even substituted Section 127 by Finance Act, 1976 emphasizes upon "recording of reasons". Once an order is passed transferring a case of an Assessee to another area, order containing reasons has to be communicated. Communication of order is absolutely essential requirement since Assessee is then made aware of reasons which impelled authority to pass order of transfer. Assessee shall have an opportunity to approach High Court under Article 226 of Constitution of India. Court thus said that "we are clearly of opinion that the requirement of recording reasons under Section 127(1) is a mandatory direction under the law and non-communication thereof is not saved by showing that the reasons exist in the file although not communicated to Assessee". Court specifically overruled an otherwise judgment of Delhi High Court in Sunanda Vs. Union of India, (1975) 99 ITR 391. Court said, when law requires reasons to be recorded in the order affecting prejudicially, interests of any person, who can challenge such order in Court, it ceases to be a mere administrative order and the vice of violation of principles of natural justice on account of omission to communicate reasons is not expiated.

18. In Smt. Chandra Prabha Kushwaha and others Vs. CIT and others (supra) neither any opportunity was afforded to Assessee nor reasons were communicated. Revenue admitted this flaw and did not take defence that opportunity was not possible in that matter. Court therefore followed the decision in Ajantha Industries Vs. Central Board of Direct Taxes (supra) and earlier Division Bench decision of this Court in Vinay Kumar Jaiswal Vs. CIT, (1996) 221 ITR 568 (All); Ashok Kumar Jain Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax and others Writ Tax No. 620 of 2010 decided on 7.7.2014 and held that there is an admitted case of denial of opportunity and lack of reason hence order of transfer is bad. Revenue in the relied on cases also did not take any defence that opportunity was not possible in the facts of the cases.

19. Propositions of law with respect to application of principles of natural justice, when specifically incorporated in a statute, and requirement of recording of reasons, distinguished from conclusions, are well established.

20. However, in this particular case, looking into the facts, we have to examine, whether respondents are justified in contending that non issue of notice and giving reasonable opportunity to Assessee, would not vitiate order of transfer in view of the fact that the requirement of notice is qualified with the phrase "wherever it is possible to do so" and, therefore, in every case, law does not require that opportunity is must" and also "whether this defence is available in this case".

21. Phrase "wherever it is possible to do so" as such could not be shown to have been used in any other statute and came up for consideration before Court, but a similar phrase "as far as possible" has been used in several statutes and considered by Court's time and again.

22. Section 127 is a procedural provision for ascertaining liability of an Assessee to determine in a fair, impartial and effective manner, so that no one is unduly benefited and wherever competent authority, having power of transfer under section 127 or any Assessee has apprehension, or for other administrative reason, it is found necessary that case should be transferred from jurisdiction of one authority to another, the same may be done. Statute also incorporates requirement of principles of natural justice as also recording of reason but simultaneously has used phrase "whenever it is possible to do so". This has been noticed by a Constitution Bench in Kanshi Ram Agarwal Vs. Union of India, AIR 1965 SC 1028. Reading Section 127, Court has said that Section 127(1) imposes an obligation on the authority exercising its power under the said Section to record its reasons for directing transfer of a case from one Income Tax Officer to another. It further requires that whenever power conferred by Section 127 is intended to be exercised, an opportunity should be given to Assessee, "whenever it is possible to do so" and reasons have to be recorded for making the order of transfer. Court thus held that opportunity to Assessee shall be offered "whenever it is possible to do so" but order must contain reasons for transfer. Court further held that "requirement that opportunity should be given, cannot be said to be on obligatory, because it has been left to discretion of authority to consider whether it is possible to give such opportunity to Assessee". This is of course, true, in coming to the conclusion, that Authority must act reasonably and bona-fide; but if Authority comes to conclusion that it is not possible to give a reasonable opportunity to Assessee, same can be dispensed with. However, it is not so with regard to requirement that reasons must be recorded for making transfer. So far as Section 127(1) is concerned, there is no dispute about this position. The twin requirement under Section 127 has some reasons. It is true that under Act, 1961 i.e. Section 120 read with Section 124, Assessing Officer is vested with jurisdiction over an area where any person carrying on the business or profession resides. Therefore, in normal course, an Assessee is entitled to be assessed by Assessing Officer having jurisdiction as stated in the aforesaid provisions, but there is no such vested right in an Assessee to be assessed by a particular Assessing Officer. In given case, Competent Authority may transfer a matter from one Assessing Officer to another, may be having effect of change of place also but that will not affect any substantial right of Assessee.

23. On this aspect, we find support from judgment in Panna Lal Binjraj Vs. Union of India, AIR 1957 (SC) 397, wherein Court held that infringement of right to be assessed by Assessing Officer having jurisdiction in a particular area by transferring case to another cannot be said to be an infringement, material in nature. It is only a deviation of a minor character from general standard and does not necessarily involve a denial of equal rights for simple reason. Even after such transfer, case is dealt with under the normal procedure which is prescribed in the Act. Production and investigation of books of account, enquiries to be made by Income Tax Officer are same in a transferred case as in others which remain with Assessing officer of area in which other Assessee resides or carries on business. There is thus no differential treatment and no scope for argument that particular Assessee is discriminated with reference to other Assesseees similarly situated whose cases are not transferred, therefore, the transfer of case from one place to another is a matter which may disturb some convenience of Assessee but if other factors of importance of higher degree are available, an order of transfer otherwise validly passed, is not to be assailed as something which has caused serious prejudice to Assessee. An attempt on the part of learned counsel for Assessee that mere fact that opportunity was not given shall vitiate order of transfer, in our view, cannot be accepted for reason that statute does not make requirement of opportunity mandatory but it is subject to condition "wherever it is possible to do so" and in a given case, the mere fact that notice was not given to Assessee, will not vitiate order if the circumstances do justify such non affording opportunity.

24. A careful reading of Section 127(2)(a) leads no manner of doubt that requirement of "reasonable opportunity" to Assessee is subjected and conditional i.e. "whenever it is possible to do so". Department may proceed to pass an order of transfer without giving such opportunity if opportunity is not possible.

25. When a phrase has actually been used by Legislature in a statute, we cannot either ignore it or omit or render it redundant by reading that in every case an opportunity is must, else order of transfer is rendered bad. The words used by legislature have to be read and given due meaning and effect and that is the basic principle of interpretation. Each and every word used by legislature has some meaning or consequence and whenever an statute is considered, every word must be given its logical meaning and consequence unless there appears to be some inconsistency or conflict resulting in consequences to be disturbing or there are other compelling reasons showing that some part does not convey the same meaning as it ought to be or the same is redundant or is inconsistent with rest of the provisions. However that is not so particular in this case and from judgment of Constitution Bench in Panna Lal Binjraj Vs. Union of India (supra), we find that requirement of opportunity has not been held mandatory, and mandate is available only for requirement of recording of reason.

26. Absence of opportunity to Assessee has been explained on the ground that there is a large number of Assessee's who were under different Assessing Officers and some of the matter were already assigned to Assessing Officer under Central Range-6, New Delhi. Thus for coordinated assessment by an authority who has a complete information with him, transfer of cases from Moradabad which was under one Commissioner, to Delhi which was under another Commissioner, was found expedient and since time was short as a period would have expired on 31st March, 2012, Competent Authority in its wisdom found it a case of urgency to transfer cases without giving any opportunity. In our view, looking to the entire facts as noted above, it is not a fit case where impugned order of transfer deserves to be interfered on the ground that no reasonable opportunity was granted to Assessee.

27. Then comes the question "whether order of transfer contains any reason and mandatory requirement of recording of reason is satisfied or not". Only reason mentioned in the order is "centralization of cases at one place" since some other cases were already being assessed by Assessing Officer under Central Range-6, New Delhi .

28. Requirement of reason under Section 127 has a basic idea that before causing some inconvenience or prejudice to Assessee, Competent Authority passing order of transfer must show, from order of transfer, a conscious application of mind on its part that transfer order is not in mechanical exercise. Requirement of reasons does not mean that order must contain a detailed discussion on several grounds for justifying order of transfer, but requirement of statute stands satisfy if from a bare reading of order, any person of ordinary prudence may come to know as to what is the reason which has prevailed in the mind of Competent Authority to exercise power of transfer and such reason or ground is not flimsy, imaginary, whimsical. It must disclose that patently, logic and prudence has been applied before passing it.

29. In M/s Redwood Hotel (P.) Limited Vs. Chief Commissioner of Income Tax and others, (2003) 259 ITR 191, a similar reason for transfer of cases under Section 127(2) was held valid. Court observed that Section 127 only provides for an administrative arrangement authorizing Chief Commissioners to transfer files from one officer to another for better and more efficient handling of files. When group of cases are handled, it is always desirable to have one officer handling all assessments together so that related transactions can be better appreciated by officer. Court further held that it is for Department to consider consolidation of all files of firms and companies and partners and directors, including those who are now assessed at different places so as to be assessed at one place.

30. In K.P. Mohammed Salim Vs. Commissioner of Income tax, Cochin, (2008) 11 SCC 573, considering Section 127, Court said, order of transfer is passed for the purpose of assessment of income. It serves a larger purpose. Such an order has to be passed in public interest. It may transfer cases involving more than one assessment year. Power of transfer in fact provides for a machinery provision and it must be given its full effect. It must be construed in a manner so as to make it workable. It should be construed to effectuate a charging section so as to allow the authorities concerned to do so in a manner wherefor statute was affected. Power of transfer can be exercised for regular assessment as well as block assessment.

31. In the present case, reason of centralized assessment as a result of search and seizure conducted at entire group of Assessee, in our view, is justified cause for transferring all the cases so that the same may be handled by one officer at one place.

32. We find some other reasons also to non suit the petitioner. When petitioner received notice from Assessing Officer to whom cases were transferred, at the earliest opportunity, he did not raise any objection that cases have been transferred without complying requirement of Section 127. It is only at the fag end when there remains a short time, rendering his cases time barred, he raised this objection obviously to frustrate the assessment. Lastly, we are also informed that assessments have already been made and petitioner has filed appeals, which are pending. These facts, in our view, also justify to decline interference in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of Constitution of India. Thus, this is not a fit case where interference by this Court in extraordinary jurisdiction would be justified.

33. In result, writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed accordingly. There is no order as to cost.

NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS :

Writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India filed by the Commissioner of Income Tax (Central), Kanpur, challenging the order dated 20.12.2012 passed by the Income Tax Settlement Commission (ITSC), New Delhi, whereby the ITSC settled the income tax dispute of the respondent-assessee — Salimuddin, Proprietor of M/s Akbar International, Agra — at a total income of Rs. 12,36,96,506/- for Assessment Years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012, on the ground that the assessee had not made a 'full and true disclosure' of his income in the application under Section 245C(1) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, and that the ITSC had no jurisdiction to settle at a figure higher than that disclosed in the original application.

FACTS :

The respondent-assessee, Salimuddin, is a proprietor of M/s Akbar International, Agra, engaged in the manufacture and sale of handicraft items primarily of marble. He was assessed to tax by the Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax (ACIT), Central Circle, Agra. A search and seizure/survey operation was conducted under Section 132(1) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 on 10.03.2010. Pursuant thereto, notices were issued under Section 153A for Assessment Years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012. The assessee filed returns disclosing an aggregate additional income of Rs. 1,76,50,000/- outside the books of accounts.

Income declared by the assessee in original returns and in returns filed under Section 153A for each assessment year is tabulated below:

Assessment Year	Income as per Original Return (Rs.)	Income as per Return u/s 153A (Rs.)
2004-2005	1,69,52,775	2,25,46,910
2005-2006	3,85,15,060	4,25,15,060
2006-2007	3,97,16,743	4,32,16,740
2007-2008	4,14,96,340	4,30,96,713
2008-2009	4,78,27,710	4,88,77,710
2009-2010	2,95,03,950	3,20,03,950
2010-2011	2,46,68,100	2,46,68,100
2011-2012	2,92,29,380	2,92,29,380

Thereafter, the assessee filed an application under Section 245C(1) before the ITSC on 06.06.2011, disclosing additional income (over and above income disclosed before the AO) of Rs. 3,21,85,040/- for Assessment Years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012, year-wise as follows:

Assessment Year	Additional Income disclosed before ITSC (Rs.)
2004-2005	10,00,000
2005-2006	15,00,000
2006-2007	25,00,000
2007-2008	50,00,000
2008-2009	65,00,000
2009-2010	75,00,000
2010-2011	68,10,040
2011-2012	13,75,000
Total	3,21,85,040

The ITSC passed an order under Section 245D(1) on 14.06.2011 allowing the application to proceed. A report was called from the CIT under Section 245D(2B). The CIT failed to file his report within the prescribed period under Section 245D(2C) and the ITSC accordingly proceeded treating the application valid. The CIT subsequently filed a report dated 05.11.2011 (with a covering letter dated 05.11.2011) disclosing a colossal estimated undisclosed income of approximately Rs. 155,91,66,555/- (Rs. 155 crores) — comprising uncounted salary payments, estimated gross profit, unexplained advances/investments, and excessive stock of Rs. 7,30,01,487/- — and raised an objection that the application was not eligible as the assessee had offered Rs. 17 crores as undisclosed income during the search but disclosed only Rs. 3.21 crores in the application before ITSC.

The ITSC found the Revenue's figure of Rs. 155 crores to be artificial and unfeasible, particularly noting that the gross profit computed by the CIT exceeded the total turnover, which was plainly incorrect. Regarding the disputed stock, the CIT had valued it at tag price claiming excess stock of Rs. 7,30,01,487/-, whereas the assessee had calculated commission at 32% of tag price. During hearing, the ITSC suggested that the stock dispute be settled by treating Rs. 7,26,28,670/- as additional income (based on commission at 8.5% instead of 32%), to which the assessee agreed in the spirit of settlement and to buy peace. Taking the average gross profit rate at 45% of sale price, the ITSC finally settled the total income at Rs. 12,36,96,506/-.

The petitioner-CIT challenged this order on the sole ground that the assessee's acceptance of the higher income figure (Rs. 7,26,28,670/- towards stock valuation) during hearing amounted to a revision of the income disclosed in the application under Section 245C(1), thereby proving that the original application did not contain a 'full and true disclosure' of income, rendering the application invalid and the ITSC's order without jurisdiction.

QUESTIONS OF LAW :

- (i) What constitutes 'full and true disclosure of income which has not been disclosed before the Assessing Officer' within the meaning of Section 245C(1) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, and whether the disclosed amount in the application is the final and immutable figure for settlement proceedings before the ITSC?
- (ii) Whether acceptance by an assessee, during the course of proceedings before the ITSC, of a higher income figure suggested by the ITSC — in the spirit of settlement and to buy peace — amounts to a 'revision' of the original application and constitutes proof of non-disclosure of full and true income in the application under Section 245C(1), so as to oust the jurisdiction of the ITSC?
- (iii) Whether the Income Tax Settlement Commission, being a statutory body with wide jurisdiction under Chapter XIX-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961, can proactively suggest adjustments to income during proceedings and whether such adjusted income, if accepted by the assessee, can be included in the final settlement order under Section 245D(4)?
- (iv) Whether enhanced valuation of stock-in-trade accepted by an assessee before the ITSC, where the method of valuation adopted by Revenue (tag price) has never been recognized under any commercial accounting system or under the Income Tax Act, 1961, can ipso facto be treated as 'income' not disclosed in the original application?
- (v) What is the scope of judicial review by the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution against a final settlement order passed by the ITSC under Section 245D(4) of the Income Tax Act, 1961?

HELD :

(i) Meaning of 'full and true disclosure' under S. 245C(1) — Nature and scope — Section 245C(1) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 requires an assessee to make a 'full and true disclosure' of income not disclosed before the Assessing Officer, the manner in which such income was derived, and the additional tax payable thereon. The word 'disclosure' under Section 245C is in the nature of voluntary disclosure of concealed income. An application under Section 245C(1) is not a device to frustrate income discovered suo motu by Revenue Authorities. The disclosure must relate to income neither previously disclosed before the AO nor already discovered by the Income Tax Authorities, nor in respect of which material establishing the concealment has already been gathered by such authorities. However, the requirement of 'full and true disclosure' does not mean that the figure disclosed in the application will be the ultimate and immutable income. During proceedings before the ITSC, the amount of undisclosed income may increase, depending on the views of the Revenue, the submissions of the assessee, and other relevant facts and circumstances. [Relied upon: CIT v. Express Newspapers Ltd., (1994) 206 ITR 443 (SC)]

(ii) Acceptance of higher income suggested by ITSC during hearing — Not equivalent to revision of application or non-disclosure — An assessee accepting an enhanced income figure during the course of proceedings before the ITSC, pursuant to a suggestion or proposal made by the ITSC in the spirit of settlement, cannot be equated with a suo motu revision of the original application. Such acceptance does not prove that the original application did not contain a full and true disclosure of income. The term 'settlement' by its very nature implies a process of give and take between two disputing parties before an independent third party, with scope for negotiation. The ITSC is not designed to act as a passive spectator; it is empowered to proactively gather evidence and make suggestions. An assessee accepting a ITSC suggestion, in a bonafide manner to buy peace and expeditiously conclude the dispute, cannot be treated at par with a case where the assessee suo motu files a revised application disclosing higher income. It is only where an assessee suo motu and unilaterally revises his original disclosure that his application may be rendered invalid. [Relied upon: Major Metals Ltd. v. Union of India, (2014) 303 ELT 380 (Bom HC); CIT v. ITSC, (2016) 65 taxmann.com 40 (Bom HC); CIT v. K.T.P. Mohammed Mazhar, (2015) 58 taxmann.com 315 (Ker HC); Director of IT (International Taxation) v. ITSC, (2014) 365 ITR 108 (Bom HC)]

(iii) Ajmera Housing Corpn. — Distinguished — The decision of the Supreme Court in Ajmera Housing Corpn. v. CIT, (2010) 326 ITR 642, is distinguishable on facts. In that case: (a) the assessee had suo motu filed a second application disclosing additional income of Rs. 11.41 crores after having initially disclosed only Rs. 1.94 crores, after the CIT's report was submitted; (b) the revised disclosure was voluntary and not pursuant to any suggestion by the ITSC; and (c) the ITSC had failed to seek a fresh report from the CIT upon the second disclosure in violation of natural justice. In the present case, no revised application was ever filed by the assessee. The enhanced income arose during hearing from a suggestion by the ITSC relating to valuation of stock, which the assessee accepted in a bonafide spirit of settlement. The CIT had itself not filed its report within the prescribed time. The factual matrix being entirely different, Ajmera Housing Corpn. (supra) does not apply.

(iv) ITSC — Wide jurisdiction; not confined to figures in original application — By virtue of Section 245F of the Income Tax Act, 1961, the ITSC has, until an order is passed under Section 245D(4), the powers and functions of an Income Tax Authority under the Act in relation to the case. The ITSC is empowered to pass an order providing for 'terms of settlement' on matters covered by the application and on any matter relating to the case referred to in the CIT's report, including demands of tax, penalty, interest and all matters to make the settlement effective. Settlement is intended to be final, comprehensive and conclusive. ITSC is not required to act mechanically upon the exact figure disclosed by the assessee in the application; it is vested with wide discretion to achieve a just and final settlement. The Statute mandates that ITSC be manned by persons of integrity and outstanding ability with special knowledge of direct taxes and business accounts. [Relied upon: CIT v. Express Newspapers Ltd., (1994) 206 ITR 443 (SC); Major Metals Ltd. v. Union of India, (2014) 303 ELT 380 (Bom HC); Shreeram v. Settlement Commission, 118 ITR 169]

(v) Valuation of stock-in-trade — Not per se 'income'; recognized principles of commercial accounting — Valuation of closing stock at tag price — as adopted by Revenue in its report — is not recognized under any system of commercial accounting or under the Income Tax Act, 1961. The recognized principle is that closing stock should be valued at cost or market price, whichever is lower. The true purpose of crediting the value of unsold stock is to cancel out the cost of that stock entered on the other side so as to show only actual profits realised on the year's trading. Anticipated loss is taken into account but anticipated profit in the shape of an appreciated value of unsold stock is not brought to charge. Valuation of stock-in-trade is not per se 'income' taxable under the Act; it is the correct computation of profit and gains that is the object. The colossal figure of approximately Rs. 155 crores computed by Revenue was rightly found by the ITSC to be artificial, imaginary and based on unfeasible estimation. [Relied upon: CIT v. British Paints India Ltd., (1991) 188 ITR 44 (SC); Chainrup Sampatram v. CIT, (1953) 24 ITR 481 (SC); Shakti Trading Co. v. CIT, (2001) 250 ITR 871 (SC); CIT v. Bannari Amman Sugars Ltd., (2012) 349 ITR 708 (SC); CIT, Delhi v. Woodward Governor India Pvt. Ltd., (2009) 13 SCC 1 (SC)]

(vi) Scope of judicial review against ITSC orders — Extremely limited — The scope of judicial review by the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution against a final settlement order passed by the ITSC under Section 245D(4) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 is extremely limited. The High Court would not be justified in re-appreciating findings of the ITSC based on the record. Interference is permissible only if the order of the ITSC is contrary to any provision of the Act, or is vitiated by bias, fraud, malice, or a breach of natural justice. Where no contravention of any statutory provision is made out and no manifest error is demonstrated, the writ court shall not interfere with the order of the ITSC. [Relied upon: Jyotendrasinji v. S.I. Tripathi, (1993) 201 ITR 611 (SC); Union of India v. Ind-Swift Laboratories Ltd., (2011) 4 SCC 635 (SC)]

RESULT :

Writ petition dismissed. The order dated 20.12.2012 passed by the Income Tax Settlement Commission, New Delhi, settling the income tax dispute of the respondent-assessee at a total income of Rs. 12,36,96,506/- does not suffer from any manifest error or contravention of any provision of the Income Tax Act, 1961. The acceptance by the assessee of the enhanced income figure suggested by the ITSC during hearing in respect of stock valuation, in a bonafide spirit of settlement, does not constitute non-disclosure of full and true income in the original application under Section 245C(1). No order as to costs.

 Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Shri Manish Goel learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri S.D.Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Nishant Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. This writ petition has been filed by Commissioner of Income Tax (Central) Kanpur (hereinafter referred to as "CIT") being aggrieved by order dated 20.12.2012 passed by Income Tax Settlement Commission, New Delhi (hereinafter referred to as "ITSC").

3. Salimuddin, Prop.M/s Akbar International, Agra is an individual Assessee and assessed to Tax by Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax, Central Circle, Agra (hereinafter referred to as "ACIT"). Assessee commenced its business as partnership concern which subsequently became Proprietarship with effect from 1.6.1990. Assessee is engaged in the business of manufacture and sale of Handicraft items, mainly of Marble.

4. A search and seizure/survey operation was conducted under section 132(1) of Income Tax Act 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "Act 1961") on 10.3.2010. Pursuant to seizure memo and survey report, notices were issued by Assessing officer (hereinafter referred to as 'AO') to Assessee under section 153-A for assessment years 2004-2005 to 2011-2012.

5. Pursuant thereto return of income was filed by Assessee disclosing aggregate income to Rs.1,76,50,000/- as income from outside of books of accounts, not disclosed in regular books of accounts. Thereafter, Assessee submitted an application under section 245-C(1) before ITSC disclosing total additional income to Rs.3,21,85,040/-.

6. In accordance with Section 245D(2B), ITSC called for a report from CIT. Report dated 2.11.2011 was submitted under Rule 9 with a covering letter dated 5.11.2011. Besides other, CIT stated that Assessee during course of search & seizure, offered 17 crores as undisclosed income for Assessment Year 2010-2011 while in the application filed before ITSC he has disclosed additional income of only Rs.3,21,85,040/-, hence, application is not eligible to be proceeded with. Thereafter Assessee (respondent 2) further disclosed additional income of Rs.7,26,28,670/- and ITSC settled the matter finally on a total income of Rs.12,36,96,506/- vide order dated 20.12.2012.

7. Shri Manish Goel, learned counsel for petitioner submitted that the additional income of Rs.7,26,28,670/- disclosed by Assessee, subsequently before ITSC, after report under Rule 9 was submitted by CIT, shows that application under section 245-C(1) did not contain full and true disclosure of his income which had not been disclosed before AO and since there was non compliance of Section 245-C(1), application was not eligible to be proceeded with and liable to be rejected. ITSC has committed manifest error in passing impugned order accepting additional income of Assessee to the extent of Rs. 12.36 crores in all, though in the application Assessee disclosed only Rs. 3.21 crores. He urged that a valid application under section 245-C(1) needs disclosure of full and true particulars of undisclosed income, hence, application not being consistent to the requirement of Section 245 C(1), was not eligible to be proceeded.

8. He further contended that Assessee has no right to revise an application, and relied on Azmera Housing and another versus CIT 2010 326 ITR 642. He further contended that application, if inconsistent with Section 245-C(1), was not maintainable and if ITSC has proceeded and passed order, such order of ITSC shall be invalid and liable to be set aside. To buttress above submission, Shri Manish Goel, learned counsel for petitioner relied on a Madras High Court judgment in ACE Investment Ltd.versus Settlement Commission (2004) 186 CTR (Madras) 486 and Kerala High Court in Jyotendrasinghi versus S.I.Tripathi & others in (1993) 201 ITR 611.

9. Shri S.D.Singh, learned Senior Counsel however, submitted that initially CIT took an objection that additional income disclosed was less than Rs.50 lacs, hence, application was not eligible and liable to be rejected. Reason being that additional income of Rs.3,21,85,040/- was inclusive of income of Rs.1,76,50,000/- shown in regular returns filed under section 153-A but this fact was not found correct by ITSC as additional income of Rs.3.21 crores and odd was not inclusive of additional income of Rs.1,76,50,000/- crores disclosed in the return filed under section
