A. Writ - Article 226 of Constitution - Section 2(2) of Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 - Meaning of workmen - Record shows that Supervisor/ Deputy Superintendent are not workmen - Authorities discussed.

B. Writ - Burden of proof - Who asserts must prove - Initial burden is on employees to proof themselves as workmen - failed to discharge initial burden. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. These writ petitions were earlier decided by a common judgment and order dated 24.2.2016 passed by the Division Bench of this Court whereby the matters were remanded back to Industrial Tribunal for fresh adjudication.

2. Being aggrieved, the Supervisors Association preferred Special Leave Petition No.1206-1208 of 2017 (Civil Appeal No(s) 9382-9384 of 2017) before the Hon'ble Supereme Court which were decided on 23.2.2018 with the request to the High Court to heard the writ petitions on merit. The relevant part of the order is reproduced hereinafter :- .

"The only dispute remaining to be decided is whether the Supervisors/Deputy Superintendents would be workmen or not. There are already two conflicting views of the Labour Courts. In the above circumstances, we do not find any justification for the High Court remitting the matter again to the Labour Court on the issue. Accordingly, these appeals are allowed. The impugned judgment is set aside. We direct the High Court to decide the issue finally in the true spirit of the order dated 14.9.2010, as explained by us above on the basis of the materials available on record.

3. The facts in brief which are necessary to decide the issue involved in all these writ petitions are as follows :-

(a) The petitioner - Duncan Industries Ltd. is a company registered under the Companies Act, having its factory at Kanpur, which manufactures fertilizers commonly known as UREA. The company has different categories of employees comprising of Management staff, Deputy Superintendents/Supervisors and workman. In the year 1978, the age of retirement of workman of the petitioner-company was raised to 60 years subject to their being medically fit, in pursuance of settlement/agreement dated 7.2.1978 entered between the Management and the Union of Workman. As per the case of the petitioner-company, the said settlement/agreement was not made applicable to Supervisors/Deputy Superintendents of the company on the ground that they were not workman.

(b) The Management of the company took decisions on various issues after meeting with the representatives of IEL Supervisors Association, Kanpur on 28.5.1985 including the decision regarding the retirement age of the Supervisor which remained unaltered at 58 years.

(c) The IEL, Supervisors' Association claimed that their age of superannuation should be fixed as 60 years as done in the case of workman and raised a industrial dispute which finally referred under Section 4-K of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred as 'the Act of 1947') to the Industrial Tribunal (III) U.P. Kanpur and was registered as Adjudication Case no.11 of 1988. The term of the reference of the said industrial dispute was as follows :-

"Kya Sevajojakon Dwara Apne Pratishthan Ke Sabhi Deputy Superintendents Evam Supervisors Ki Seva Nivriti Aayu 58 Varsha Ke Sthan Par Shramikon Ki Bhanti 60 Varsha Na Karna Uchit Tatha Vaidhanik Hai ? Yadi Nahin to Sambhandhit Shramik Kya Laabh/Anutosh Relief Pane Ke Adhikari Hai Tatha Anya Kis Vivran Sahit ?"

(d) The industrial dispute was contested by the rival parties and written statements, rejoinder affidavits were also exchanged. Statements of witnesses of both side were recorded and they were cross-examined also. The Industrial Tribunal after considering the material and submissions, passed an award dated 29.4.1999, whereby it was held that the Deputy Superintendents/Supervisors are also entitled for increase of their retirement age from 58 years to 60 years as done in the case of workman.

(e) The Industrial Tribunal (III) sent the award for the publication on 30.7.1999 to the State, however the same was recalled by the Tribunal before publication and the matter was posted for re-hearing.

(f) Being aggrieved, the IEL Supervisory has filed Writ Petition No.39403 of 1999 with the prayer for publication of the award dated 23.4.1999 passed by the Industrial Tribunal. Apparently, no interim order was passed by this Court in the said writ petition.

(g) The Industrial Tribunal again heard the parties and passed the fresh award and sent the same for publication on 16.6.2000 to the State Government.

(h) The IEL Supervisor Association again approached this Court by way of filing Writ Petition No.32788 of 2000 with the prayer for restraining the State Government from publishing the fresh award dated 16.6.2000. Apparently, no interim order was granted by this Court in the said writ petition also.

(i) The State Government instead of publishing the award sent for publication on 16.6.2000, referred the same dispute which was earlier registered as Adjudication No.11 of 1988 in Industrial Tribunal (VIII) Lucknow, vide order dated 30.9.2000.

(j) The Duncan Industries Ltd. being aggrieved by the order dated 30.9.2000 preferred Writ Petition No.44848 of 2000 before this Court wherein the following order was passed on 18.10.2000.

"Heard Sri J.N. Tewari, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri S.Chatterjee learned counsel for the petitioner.

The grievance of the petitioner is that the State Government has made a second reference in the Industrial Disputes Act. The Original reference was made on 14th March, 1998 which gave rise to I.D. case No.11 of 1998.

In this case the evidence of the parties was recorded and the award was prepared. The award was not a convenient approach and made a second reference on the same term and condition on 30.9.2000. The learned counsel for the petitioner urged that the State Government was not empowered to make second reference and to withdraw the award made earlier. The matter requires scrutiny.

Issue notice to respondent no.4 who may file counter affidavit within six weeks. The learned standing counsel may also file counter affidavit on behalf of respondent no.1, 2 and 3 within the same period.

List thereafter.

In the meantime further proceedings pursuant to the reference dated 30.9.2000 shall remain stayed."

(k) I.E.L. Supervisor also challenged the reference order dated 30.9.2000 by way of filing Writ Petition No.53016 of 2000.

(l) Meanwhile, the State Government published the award dated 29.4.1999 passed in Adjudication Case No.11/1988 which was sent for publication on 30.7.1999 on 7.1.2002 whereby Supervisors were also held to be workmen. The Duncan industries then approached this Court by way of filing another Writ Petition No.12468 of 2002. During the pendency of abovementioned writ petitions, the Industrial Tribunal (I) U.P. at Allahabad in another Adjudication Case No.32 of 2001 wherein the industrial dispute 'whether the concerned employee of the Duncan Industries who was employed in the capacity of a Supervisor, was a workman or not, and if so then, whether denial of increment of Rs.10,000/- to him was justified and legal and if not, then whether the workman was entitled to the said relief'? was referred, held that the employee was a workman and he was not discharging managerial functions and held that Supervisor was entitled to receive increment. The said award dated 21.5.2005 is under challenge in Writ Petition No.16447 of 2006 by the Duncans Industries.

(m) Earlier the Labour Court (IV), U.P. Kanpur in Industrial Dispute No.146/1991 between the Management and IEL Supervisor Associations has passed award dated 26.9.1996 wherein it was held that Deputy Superintendent working in the Duncan Industries are not liable for increment as they are not workmen. The said award was also challenged by individuals in Writ C No.37147 of 1996.

(n) A Single Bench of this Court decided the Writ Petition No.39403 of 1999, 32788 of 2000, 4484 of 2000 and 53016 of 2000, vide order dated 7.9.2004, wherein it was held that employer could not placed on record any fact which might authorize the Supervisor to do managerial and supervisory functions. In the other writ petition bearing Writ Petition No.37147 of 1996 wherein the petitioners therein have challenged the finding that they were not declared workmen was however dismissed.

(o) The abovementioned orders dated 7.9.2004 and 22.7.2010 were challenged before the Hon'ble Supreme Court by way of filing Civil Appeal Nos.351-355 of 2006 and Civil Appeal No.8023 of 2010, which were allowed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court vide order dated 14.9.2000 and the matter was remanded back to High Court for fresh consideration. The relevant part of the order is quoted hereinbelow :-

"In the circumstances, therefore, and keeping in view the fact that the Labour Court has taken two different views in the two references made to it as regards the status of Supervisors and Deputy Superintendents, we are of the view that the matters need to be remanded back to the High Court to enable both the sides to argue the matter afresh and also the High Court to examine the issues that arise for determination.

We, accordingly, allow these appeals, set aside both the impugned orders and remit the matters back to the High Court for a fresh disposal in accordance with law."

(p) After remand, abovementioned writ petitions were finally decided by this Court vide order dated 24.2.2016 whereby the adjudication cases were remanded back to the Tribunal to decide afresh two different views were taken regarding the working of Supervisor and Deputy Superintendent. One being declaring Supervisor/Deputy Superintendent as workman and other being not a workmen by the Labour Tribunal. The operative part of the order dated 24.2.2016 is quoted hereinafter :-

"Writ Petition No.44848 of 2000 was dismissed earlier by judgment and order dated 17 September 2004. Learned Counsel for the parties have not made any submissions. Thus, for all the reasons stated in the judgment and order dated 17 September 2004, Writ Petition No.44848 of 2000 is liable to be dismissed and is, accordingly, dismissed.

Writ Petition No.12468 of 2002, Writ Petition No.37147 of 1996 and Writ Petition No.16447 of 2006 are disposed of. The Tribunal concerned shall now proceed to hear the adjudication cases bearing Adjudication Case No.11 of 1998, Adjudication Case No.146 of 1991 and Adjudication Case No.32 of 2001 afresh. It shall, however, be open to the parties to bring on record the subsequent facts that may have taken place. This should be done within one month. The Tribunal concerned shall proceed to make the award(s) expeditiously and within a period of four months from the date a certified copy of the order is produced before the Tribunal by either of the parties.*

Learned counsel for the parties also did not make submissions in Writ Petition No.53016 of 2000. The said writ petition was earlier allowed by judgment and order dated 17 September 2004 and the reference order dated 30 September 2000 was quashed. This petition, therefore, stands allowed for the reasons contained in the judgment and order dated 17 September 2004."

4. As mentioned earlier, the order passed by this Court on 24.2.2016 was challenged by way of filing Civil Appeal No.9382-9384 of 2017 arising out of S.L.P. (Civil) Nos.1206-1208 of 2017 titled as I.E.L. Supervisors' Association Etc. Etc. vs. Duncan Industries Ltd. & Another, whereby the Apex Court vide order dated 23.2.2018 has remanded the matter back to this Court to decide afresh on the basis of the material available on record.

5. In this background, this Court has heard learned counsel for the parties at length and perused the record and considered the various judgments placed before this Court by the parties.

6. The issue before this Court is "Whether the Deputy Superintendents/Supervisors working in company would fall under the definition of workmen as contemplated under Section 2(Z) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 on the basis of evidence produced before the Labour Tribunal to show that they were functioning in a managerial or administered capacity or not"?

7. We have scanned the entire records and the materials placed before the Labour Tribunal by the parties, which are as follows :-

(i)Written statement on behalf of M/s. I.E.L. Ltd. (Fertilizers Division),Panki, Kanpur) -By way of this written statement, the company has submitted that there is no industrial dispute as contemplated in the Act of 1947. The age of retirement of Supervisor/Deputy Superintendent fixed as 58 years which is specifically incorporated in their appointment letters, duly accepted by them, and as such, they are bound by the same.

The note prepared after the discussion between the Company and the Supervisor Association on 24.5.1985 which is on record, the demand of Association regarding the change of age of retirement from 58 to 60 years has already been rejected. Some of the Deputy Superintendent have already moved to civil court for the similar relief, and therefore, the reference is bad in eye of law.

(ii) Written statement on behalf of workmen - The workmen were initially started working under designations of Foreman and General Staff Grade A, however, in or around 1974 they were re-designated as Technical Supervisors/Office SupervisOrs. However, the basic nature of their job remain unchanged and they remained working as workmen. It was further mentioned that there are only three categories of employees in the company namely managerial cadre, lady secretaries and non-managerial cadre and the employees concerned in the present dispute are put under the category of non-managerial cadre as reflected in the medical claim policy of the Company. The employees are undertaking their duties in different shifts and doing general duties like any other workmen.

In the rejoinder affidavit, the employees reiterated that they are born on the muster-roller of the company just as other categories of workmen, whereas in the case of managerial staff, they are not born on the muster-rolls. No definite or distinct job assignment for the workmen concerned in the present dispute.

(iii) Rejoinder statement on behalf of the company - In the rejoinder affidavit, it has been mentioned that time to time certain general staff have been promoted to the post of Deputy Superintendent and some have been upgraded also and their jobs and responsibilities have been enlarged. It was denied that drawing of similar pay or drawing more salary by the workman then Supervisor does not mean that Deputy Superintendent/Supervisor are workmen as grade and scale of pay of workers were decided by way of bipartite negotiations. Additional rejoinder affidavit was also filed on behalf of the workmen to which company has also filed reply.

(iv) Witnesses produced on behalf of the employees :-

(a) Mr. N.K. Nigam (EW-1) mentioned that subsequent to his re-designation as Supervisor in the year 1975 and subsequently as Deputy Superintendent in the year 1983, he continued to perform same or similar duties has been performed by him with the designation of general staff which were essentially of clerical in nature such as maintaining personal files, preparing annual increment letters, promotion letters etc. It was also mentioned by him that he does not have power to sanction leaves to any employee and similarly did not have power to suspend or charge sheet any employee and he does not exercise any supervisory functions. He was cross-examined by the Employer side wherein he has stated that the pay scale of Office Assistant and Deputy Superintendent are different and they are members of different Union. He has also denied that he had signed Non-Managerial Staff Assessment Form as an Assessor.

(b) Kailash Kumar (EW-2), the second witness examined on behalf of the employees' Association submitted that normally he worked as Clerk, however, sometimes he has also worked under the supervisory capacity. He stated that he was appointed as Technical Supervisor and not as a Superintendent. He has also stated that he look after security of the entire department.

(v) Witness on behalf of the employe :-

(a) Shri V.C. Srivastava, who was working as Work Shop Manager stated that Deputy Superintendents/Supervisors are sanctioning leaves, authorizing material requisition and signing material requisition as authorized signatures. Superintendents are performing supervisory administrative and managerial nature of duties which includes sanction of leave of workmen working under them, to appraise performance of workmen and even they are authorized to issue gate pass to the workmen. He was cross-examined by the employees side wherein he has stated that the work of the general staff was neither managerial nor administrative nor supervisory in nature.

(b) P.C. Jha, who was working as Manager Security Transport, appeared as E.W.2 has stated in his evidence that the cadre of Deputy Superintendents/Superintendents workmen are separate and distinct. He also relied upon certain documents to show that the nature of the duties undertaken by the Supervisor/Deputy Superintendent are supervisory and administrative in nature. He was also cross-examined.

8. The terms and conditions of the employment and nature of work of Workmen vis-a-vis Supervisors/Deputy Superintendents and Workmen placed on record, in the form of a Superintendents chart, which is as follows :-

In another industrial disputes (Industrial Dispute No.146/ decided on 26.9.1996), the Labour Tribunal IV U.P., Kanpur on the basis of the material produced before it come to the conclusion that the Deputy Superintendents and Supervisors are not workmen. The Labour Tribunal specifically come to the conclusion that -

'' स्पष्ट है कि श्री एस0 के0 मिश्रा के स्वैच्छिक सेवानिवृत्ति से लेने तथा श्री भट्टाचार्य द्वारा विवाद पर बल न दिये जाने की स्थिति मे एक मात्र संदर्भादेश मे निहित बिन्दु श्री एस0 डी0 गुप्ता के सम्बन्ध में निस्तारित किया जाना शेष रह जाता है। प्रश्न यह है कि क्या डी0 एस0 का पदनाम परिवर्तित पदनाम है जिसमें पूर्व नामित पदों के कार्य कलापों से कोई भिन्नता नही आई है अथवा यह पद प्रोन्नति का है। वादी यह प्रमाणित नही कर सके है कि जी0 एस0 ग्रेड – ए/ फोरमैन, टी0 एस0/ ओ0 एस0 के कार्य की प्रकृति डी0 एस0 के कार्य की प्रकृति के समरुप रही है। इसके विपरीत प्रदर्श ई – 1 के 29.2.84

12. Learned counsel for the rival parties have relied upon following judgments in order to substantiate their rival submissions :-

(a) In the matter of Anand Regional Coop. Oil Seedgrowers' Union Ltd. vs Shaileshkumar Harshadbhai Shah reported at 2006 SCC (L & S) 1486; 2006 (6) SCC 548, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"13. The ingredients of the definition of 'workman' must be considered having regard to the following factors:

(i) Any person employed to do any skilled or unskilled work, but does not include any such person employed in any industry for hire or reward.

(ii) There must exist a relationship of employer and employee.

(iii) The persons inter alia excluded are those who are employed mainly in a managerial or administrative capacity.

14. For determining the question as to whether a person employed in an industry is a workman or not; not only the nature of work performed by him but also terms of the appointment in the job performed are relevant considerations.

15. Supervision contemplates direction and control. While determining the nature of the work performed by an employee, the essence of the matter should call for consideration. An undue importance need not be given for the designation of an employee, or the name assigned to, the class to which he belongs. What is needed to be asked is as to what are the primary duties he performs. For the said purpose, it is necessary to prove that there were some persons working under him whose work is required to be supervised. Being incharge of the section alone and that too it being a small one and relating to quality control would not answer the test."

(b) In the matter of S.K. Maini vs M/s Carona Sahu Company Ltd. and Others reported at (1994) 3 SCC 510 the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"11. It may be noted in this connection that in view of the amendment of Section2(s) enlarging the ambit of the classification of various types of workmen except managerial force, entire labour force has been included within the definition of workman under Section 2(s) as has been indicated by this Court in S.K. Verma v. Mahesh Chandra8. But if the principal function is of supervisory nature, the employee concerned will not be workman only if he draws a particular quantum of salary at the relevant time as indicated in Section 2(s). In the instant case, it, however, appears to us that Shri Maini as Manager/In-charge of the shop was made responsible and liable to make good such amount of credit whether such sale on credit had been made by him or by any other member of the staff in employment under him with or without his knowledge. Under the terms and conditions of service, he was asked to take charge of the shop to which his service was transferred. Mr Maini, under the terms and conditions of service, was required to be held responsible and liable for any loss suffered by the Company due to deterioration of the quality of the stock or any part thereof and loss of any of the otherarticles lying in the shop caused by reason of any act of negligence and/or omission to take any precaution by the employees. Mr Maini was also required to notify the Company by trunk call and/or telegram not later than three hours after the discovery in the said shop of any fire, theft, burglary, loot or arson. He was required to investigate into the matter immediately and get the cause and amount of loss established by local authorities. Mr Maini as in- charge of the shop was required to keep and maintain proper accounts as approved by the Company indicating the exact amount to be paid from the receipts from the respective staff. Under Clause XIII of the terms and conditions of the service, Mr Maini would remain fully responsible to the Company for damages or loss caused by acts or commission of the loss of 8 (1983) 4 SCC 214: 1983 SCC (L&S) 510: (1983) 3 SCR 799 the employees of the shop. Under Clause XV of the terms and conditions of service, the shop in-charge was required to keep himself fully conversant with all the regulations in force which may come into force from time to time with regard to Octroi, Sales Tax and Shops and Commercial Establishments Act and/or any other local regulation applicable to the shop. Clause XXI indicates that non- compliance with any of the local or State Acts or Central Acts would be viewed seriously and Manager would be held responsible for any fine/penalty imposed and/or prosecution launched against the Company. It also appears that in the event of a salesman being absent, the shop in-charge is empowered to appoint temporary helper for the said period to work as acting salesman. Similarly, in the event of helper being absent, the shop manager is also empowered to appoint part-time sweeper and to entrust the work of a helper to a sweeper. Such functions, in our view, appear to be administrative and managerial. By virtue of his being in-charge of the shop, he was the principal officer-in-charge of the management of the shop. We therefore find justification in the finding of the High Court that the principal function of the appellant was of administrative and managerial nature. It is true that he himself was also required to do some works of clerical nature but it appears to us that by and large Shri Maini being incharge of the management of the shop had been principally discharging the administrative and managerial work. A manager or an administrative officer is generally invested with the power of supervision in contradistinction to the stereotype work of a clerk. This Court in Lloyds Bank Ltd. v. Panna Lal Gupta has indicated that a manager or administrator generally occupies a position of command or decision and is authorised to act in certain matters within the limits of his authoritywithout the sanction of his superior. In the instant case within the authority indicated in the terms and conditions of his service, Shri Maini was authorised to take decisions in the matter of temporary appointments and in taking all reasonable steps incidental to the proper running of the shop. Precisely for the said reason, Shri Maini had signed the statutory forms as an employer. It should be home in mind that an employee discharging managerial duties and functions may not, as a matter of course, be invested with the power of appointment and discharge of other employees. It is not unlikely that in a big set-up such power is not invested to a local manager but such power is given to some superior officers also in the management cadre at divisional or regional level. The unit in a local shop may not be large but management of such small unit may fulfil the requirements and incidences of managerial functions. On a close scrutiny of the nature of duties and functions of the Shop Manager with reference to the admitted terms and conditions of service of Shri Maini, it appears to us that the High Court was justified in holding that the appellant was not a work-man under Section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act. In the aforesaid facts, it is not necessary to go into the question as to whether or not domestic enquiry had been properly conducted or the Enquiring Officer had acted with bias. It is also not necessary to decide for the purpose of the disposal of the appeal (1961) 1 LLJ 18 : AIR 1967 SC 428 as to whether or not the Company was entitled to lead fresh evidence in support of the domestic enquiry before the Labour Court. The appeal is, therefore, dismissed without, however, any order as to cost."

(c) In the matter of Management of M/s Sonepat Co-operative Sugar Mills Ltd. vs. Ajit Singh reported at 2005 LLR 309; 2005 (3) SCC 232, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

*"21. It is now trite that the issue as to whether an employee answers the description of a workman or not has to be determined on the basis of a conclusive evidence.*The said question, thus, would require full consideration of all aspects of the matter.

22. The jurisdiction of the Industrial Court to make an award in the dispute would depend upon a finding as to whether the concerned employee is a workman or not. When such an issue is raised, the same being a jurisdictional one, the findings of the Labour Court in that behalf would be subject to judicial review.

23. The High Court furthermore applied wrong legal tests in following S.K. Verma (supra) in upholding the views of the Labour Court which itself approached the matter from a wrong angle. The Labour Court as also the High Court also posed a wrong question unto themselves and, thus, misdirected themselves in law.

24. In Cholan Roadways Limited Vs. G. Thirugnanasambandam [2004 (10) SCALE 578], this Court held:

"34.... In the instant case the Presiding Officer, Industrial Tribunal as also the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench of the High Court misdirected themselves in law insofar as they failed to pose unto themselves correct questions. It is now well-settled that a quasi-judicial authority must pose unto itself a correct question so as to arrive at a correct finding of fact. A wrong question posed leads to a wrong answer. In this case, furthermore, the misdirection in law committed by the Industrial Tribunal was apparent insofar as it did not apply the principle of Res ipsa loquitur which wasrelevant for the purpose of this case and, thus, failed to take into consideration a relevant factor and furthermore took into consideration an irrelevant fact not garmane for determining the issue, namely, the passengers of the bus were mandatorily required to be examined. The Industrial Tribunal further failed to apply the correct standard of proof in relation to a domestic enquiry, which in "preponderance of probability" and applied the standard of proof required for a criminal trial. A case for judicial review was, thus, clearly made out."

(d) In the matter of Bennett Coleman and Co. Limited (M/s) vs. Shri Yadeshwar Kumar reported at 2007 LLR 62, the Delhi High Court has held that :-

"9. A perusal of the Award and evidence shows that duties of the respondent were to supervise chowkidar and sweepers. He used to mark attendance of the chowkidars and security staff working under him. He used to forward leave and overtime slips to the security officer although he was not sanctioning authority but he was recommending authority. Documents with his recommendations were placed on record. It was his duty to report to administrative manager or security officer about any untoward incident.On the other hand the workman relied upon certificate issued by the management that he was a skilled printer. This certificate was of the period when he was working as a printer. Respondent produced another certificate issued by the Labour Officer of the management wherein it is mentioned that workman is a good workman. He alleged that he was doing 8 hours duty being a workman whereas the administrative and officers category persons were working six and a half hours in a day. Because of some supervisory work, apart from doing his main work of a manual/ clerical or technical in nature, he does not become a supervisor.

10. The Tribunal on the basis of the fact that one Chander Kant was a senior officer to the respondent and the work of respondent was being over seen by Chander Kant concluded that respondent was not a supervisor. The Tribunal further observed that management had placed on record the leave applications of persons working under respondent and handled by him, but these were not proved as per rule of evidence. The same could not be relied upon. The Tribunal thereafter concluded that " in the light if the evidence led by the workman is analysed, it is clear that he was simply supervising the work of other persons and his functions were not of managerial or administrative in nature. No doubt certain applications have been sanctioned by Sh. Yadeshwar Kumar as departmental head but there were two persons who were working above him and so he cannot be said to be working in a supervisory capacity.

11. Obviously, the approach of the Labour Court has been contrary to the law laid down by the Supreme court in a series of judgments. In order to decide whether a person is a workman or not, the dominant and main functions are to be considered. A person can be called a supervisor if he is entrusted with the job of supervising other workmen who work under him. There is no dispute that the respondent was not only designated as Night Supervisor but he was having job of supervision over security guards, chowkidars and sweepers. He used to forward over time claims of the persons working under him after verifying the same. He used to recommend leave of the persons working under him. He was in charge of the security of the property of petitioner and used to supervise the work of security guards etc. It is not necessary that a supervisor has to be top cadre management person. A supervisor may occupy a lower position in the organisation chart of the company where in the descending order may be CMD, MD, General Managers, Deputy Managers, Managers, Administrative Officer and supervisor etc. It has been laid down by the Supreme Court that in order to be a workman a person must be performing one of the functions as specified in Section 2(s) of the Act and it was not sufficient that he was not performing administrative or managerial function. Tribunal also went in wrong in law by observing that strict principles of rules of evidence are required to be followed by the Tribunal. While weighing the material placed before the Tribunal, a Tribunal is not to follow the strict rules of evidence and neither has to arrive at a conclusion by considering the proof beyond reasonable doubt. A Tribunal has to weigh the material placed before it by both sides. All materials which are logically probative for a prudent mind are liable to be considered. There is no allergy to hearsay evidence provided it has reasonable nexus and credibility."

(e) In the matter of Vijay Dattatraya Kale vs. Peico Electronics and Electricals Ltd. reported at 2009 (121) FLR 577, the High Court of Bombay has held that :-

"Coming to the observation of the Labour Court in the present case, it appears that the Labour Court has rightly referred to the main attributes of the petitioner's function which were supervisory in nature. The work of appraisal of C-4 category staff and recommendation of their leave have been taken into account by the Labour Court. Moreover, the Labour Court has rightly pointed out that the power to recommend, assess and verify the work done by the subordinate staff was supervisory work and not clerical. In fact, interestingly, the petitioner has not stated anywhere that the nature of his work was clerical. On the other hand, the petitioner admitted that he belongs to M-1 category, which is meant for Manager, and was not covered by any settlement or agreement entered into between the Union and the management. In making these observations, the Labour Court has referred to oral and documentary evidence in the matter. The tasks mentioned earlier in paragraph 5 supra, referred to by the learned Counsel for the respondent No. 1 are also supervisory in nature since they involve the overseeing of actions. In any case, they are not tasks which are performed by the labour force. In this view of the matter, I find no error of law apparent on the face of the record."

(f) In the matter of H.R. Adyanthaya and Others vs. Sandoz (INDIA) Ltd. and Others reported at (1994) 5 SCC 737, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"18. The legal position that arises from the statutory provisions and from the aforesaid survey of the decisions may now be summarised as follows.

19. Till 29-8-1956 the definition of workman under the ID Act was confined to skilled and unskilled manual or clerical work and did not include the categories of persons who were employed to do 'supervisory' and 'technical' work. The said categories came to be included in the definition 9 (1992) 1 SCC 281: 1992 SCC (L&S) 263 w.e.f. 29-8-1956 by virtue of the Amending Act 36 of 1956. It is, further, for the first time that by virtue of the Amending Act 46 of 1982, the categories of workmen employed to do 'operational' work came to be included in the definition. What is more, it is by virtue of this amendment that for the first time those doing non-manual unskilled and skilled work also came to be included in the definition with the result that the persons doing skilled and unskilled work whether manual or otherwise, qualified to become workmen under the ID Act.

20. The decision in May & Baker case was delivered when the definition did not include either 'technical' or 'supervisory' or 'operational' categories of workmen. That is why the contention on behalf of the workmen had to be based on the manual and clerical nature of the work done by the sales representatives in that case. The Court had also, therefore, to decide the category of the sales representative with reference to whether the work done by him was of a clerical or manual nature. The Court's finding was that the canvassing for sale was neither clerical nor manual, and the clerical work done by him formed a small fraction of his work. Hence, the sales representative was not a workman.

21. In WIMCO case, the dispute had arisen on 18-8-1961 under the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act and at the relevant time the definition of the workman in that Act was the same as under the Central Act, i.e., the ID Act which had by virtue of the Amending Act 36 of 1956 added to the categories of workmen, those doing supervisory and technical work. However, the argument advanced before the Court was not on the basis of the supervisory or technical nature of the work done by the employees concerned, viz., inspectors, salesmen and retail salesmen. The argument instead, both before the Industrial Tribunal and this Court was based on the clerical work put in by them, which was found to be 75 per cent of their work. This Court confirmed the finding of the Tribunal that the employees concerned were workmen because 75 per cent of their time was devoted to the writing work. The incidental question was whether the sales-office and the factory and the factory-office formed part of one and the same industrial establishment or were independent of each other. The Court observed that it would be unreasonable to say that those who were producing matches were workmen and those who sold them were not. In other words, the Court did hold that the work of selling matches was as much an operational part of the industrial establishment as was that of manufacturing.

22. In Burmah Shell case the workmen involved were Sales Engineering Representatives and District Sales Representatives. The dispute had arisen on 28-10-1967 when the categories of workmen doing supervisory and technical work stood included in the definition of workman. The Court found that the work done by the Sales Engineering Representatives as well as District Sales Representatives was neither clerical nor supervisory nor technical. An effort was made on behalf of the workmen to contend that the work of Sales Engineering Representatives was technical. The Court repelled that contention by pointing out that the amount of technical work that they did was ancillary to the chief work of promoting sales and the mere fact that they possessed technical knowledge for such purpose, did not make their work technical. The Court also found that advising and removing complaints so as to promote sales remained outside the scope of the technical work. As regards the District Sales Representatives, the argument was that their work was mainly of clerical nature which was negatived by the Court by pointing out that the clerical work involved was incidental to their main work of promoting sales. What is necessary further to remember in this case is that the Court relied upon its earlier decision in May & Baker case1 and pointed out that in order to qualify to be a workman under the ID Act a person concerned had to satisfy that he fell in any of the four categories of manual, clerical, supervisory or technical workman.

23. However, the decisions in the later cases, viz., S.K. Verma, Delton Cable, and Ciba Geigy cases did not notice the earlier decisions in May & Baker, WIMC0 and Burmah Shell cases and the very same contention, viz., if a person did not fall within any of the categories of manual, clerical, supervisory or technical, he would qualify to be workman merely because he is not covered by either of the four exceptions to the definition, was canvassed and though negatived in earlier decisions, was accepted. Further, in those cases the Development Officer of the LIC, the Security Inspector at the gate of the factory and Stenographer-cum-Accountant respectively, were held to be workmen on the facts of those cases. It is the decision of this Court in A. Sundarambal case which pointed out that the law laid down in May and Baker case was still good and was not in terms disowned.

24. We thus have three three-Judge Bench decisions which have taken the view that a person to be qualified to be a workman must be doing the work which falls in any of the four categories, viz., manual, clerical, supervisory or technical and two two-Judge Bench decisions which have by referring to one or the other of the said three decisions have reiterated the said law. As against this, we have three three-Judge Bench decisions which have without referring to the decisions in May & Baker, WIMCO and Burmah SheIl cases have taken the other view which was expressly negatived, viz., if a person does not fall within the four exceptions to the said definition he is a workman within the meaning of the ID Act. These decisions are also based on the facts found in those cases. They have, therefore, to be confined to those facts. Hence the position in law as it obtains today is that a person to be a workman under the ID Act must be employed to do the work of any of the categories, viz., manual, unskilled, skilled, technical, operational, clerical or supervisory. It is not enough that he is not covered by either of the four exceptions to the definition. We reiterate the said interpretation."

(g) In the matter of Ashok Kumar And Ors. vs Managing Director, U.P. Leather Development and Marketing Corporation and Another reported at 1998 ILLJ All, the Allahabad High Court has held that :-

24. It may be noticed that as provided under the Industrial Disputes Act the term 'workman' does not include any such person who being employed in a supervisory capacity, exercises either by the nature of the duties attached to the officer or by reason of the powers vested in him functions mainly of a managerial nature.

25. The word 'supervise' and its derivatives have to be construed in the light of the context. What determines the question as to whether a person is doing supervisory work mainly of a managerial nature or not depends much on the nature of the duties and functions assigned to him. The absence of supervisory work is the supervision by one person over the work of others and it embraces within its fold the authority to control and give *directions occupying a position of command or authority to take a decision and act within the limit of his authority in an independent manner. Having regard to the various categories of the services the use of different words like 'supervisory', 'managerial' and 'administrative' it is not necessary to import the motions of one into the interpretation of others. Dealing with the disputes with respect to the nature of the work performed by an employee as to whether it was of supervisory nature or otherwise the industrial adjudication generally considers the essence of the matter and does not attach undue importance to the designation of the employee. It is always a matter of determining what the primary duties of an emp*loyee were and the emphasis is not on the injunctions incidental to his main duties.

(h) In the matter of Arkal Govind Raj Rao vs Ciba Geigy Of India Ltd. Bombay reported at 1985 AIR SC 985; 1985 (3) SCC 371, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"16. The test that one must employ in such a case is what was the primary, basic or dominant nature of duties for which the person whose status is under enquiry was employed. A few extra duties would hardly be relevant to determine his status. The words like managerial or supervisory have to be understood in their proper connotation and their mere use should not detract from the truth."

(i) In the matter of Ananda Bazar Patrika Private Ltd.vs The Workmen reported at 1970 SCC 3 248, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"3. The question, whether a person is employed in a supervisory capacity or on clerical work, in our opinion, depends upon whether the main and principal duties carried out by him are those of a supervisory character, or of a nature carried oat by a clerk. If a person is mainly doing supervisory work, but, incidentally or for a fraction of the time, also does some clerical work, it would have to be held that he is employed in supervisory capacity; and, conversely, if the main work done is of clerical nature, the more fact that some supervisory duties are also carried out, incidentally or as a small fraction of the work done by him wil1 not convert his employment as a clerk into one in supervisory capacity. This principle finds support from the decisions of this Court in South Indian Bank, Ltd. v. A.R. Chacko 1964-I.L.L. J. 19 and May & Baker (India), Ltd. v. their workmen 1961-II L.L J. 94. In the present case, we have, therefore, to examine the evidence to see whether the labour court is right, in holding that, because of the main work of Guptas being clerical in nature, ho was not employed in supervisory capacity.

6. On these facts, we are unable to hold that the labour court committed any error is arriving at the decision that Gupta was employed on clerical work and not in supervisory capacity. The principal work that Gupta was doing was that of maintaining and writing the cash book and of preparing various returns. Being the senior most clerk, he was put in charge of the provident fund section and was given a small amount of control over the other clerks working in his section. The only powers he could exercise over them was to allocate work between them to permit them to leave during office hours, and to recommend their leave applications. These few minor duties of a supervisory nature cannot, in our opinion, convert his office of senior clerk in charge into that of a supervisor." (emphasis supplied)

13. On the basis of abovementioned submissions and judgments, in order to determine 'whether an employee is a workman or Supervisor', following factors are relevant for consideration :-

(i) According to Section 2(z) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 which is para materia to Section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act, workman means any person (including an apprentice) employed in any industry to do any manual, unskilled, skilled, technical, operational, clerical or supervisory work for hire or reward, whether the terms of employment be express or implied, and for the purposes of any proceeding under this Act in relation to an industrial dispute, includes any such person who has been dismissed, discharged or retrenched in connection with, or as a consequence of, that dispute, or whose dismissal, discharge, or retrenchment has led to that dispute, but does not include any such person -

(a) who is subject to the Air Force Act, 1950 (45 of 1950), or the Army Act, 1950 (46 of 1950), or the Navy Act, 1957 (62 of 1957); or

(b) who is employed in the police service or as an officer or other employee of a prison; or

(c) who is employed mainly in a managerial or administrative capacity, or

(d) who, being employed in a supervisory capacity, draws wages exceeding one thousand six hundred rupees per mensem or exercises, either by the nature of the duties attached to the office or by reason of the powers vested in him, functions mainly of a managerial nature.

(ii) Mere designation of the post is not decisive of nature of the employment.

(iii) An employee employed mainly in a capacity of a Supervisor discharging the duties of allocation of jobs, assessment of work, recommendation of leave, carried out promotional appraisals but incidentally discharging other technical work would not fall within the definition of workman.

(iv) Whether an employee is working on any particular capacity as workman or as a Supervisor is a mixed question of fact and law, which has to be decided on the basis of conclusive evidence only, which includes oral as well as documentary.

(v) Whether a person is doing supervisory work mainly of a managerial nature or not will depend much on the nature of the duties and the functions assigned to him.

(vi) If a person is merely doing supervisory work but incidentally or for a fraction of time also does some clerical work, it would have to be held that he is employed in supervisory capacity and in case, if the main work is done of clerical nature and some supervisory duties are also carried out incidentally the work done by the employee will not convert his employment as a workman into one in supervisory capacity.

14. We have considered the oral as well as documentary evidence, submissions made by the parties, judgments cited and the material available on record.

15. It is well settled principle of law that he who asserts must prove. Burden of proof is the obligation to adduce evidence in support of the claim asserted. The obligation to lead evidence to establish an fact is on the party making the said fact or is relying upon the said fact. In the present case, the initial burden is on employees to place evidence that they are 'Workmen', however, they have failed to produce such evidence, which is sufficient to discharge their initial burden. The employees have failed to prove their nature of duties being of Workmen, therefore, we are unable to hold on the basis of evidence brought on record that they are undertaking work of a workman.

16. In the matter of Workmen of Nilgiri Co-operative Marketing Society Ltd. vs. State of U.P. and others reported at (2004) 3 SCC 514, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in para 47, 48 , 49 and 50 that :-

"BURDEN OF PROOF :-

47. It is a well-settled principle of law that the person who sets up a plea of existence of relationship of employer and employee, the burden would be upon him.

48. In N.C. John Vs. Secretary Thodupuzha Taluk Shop and Commercial Establishment Workers' Union and Others [1973 Lab. I.C. 398], the Kerala High Court held:

"The burden of proof being on the workmen to establish the employer-employee relationship an adverse inference cannot be drawn against the employer that if he were to produce books of accounts they would have proved employer-employee relationship."

49. In Swapan das Gupta and Others Vs. The First Labour Court of West Bengal and Others [1975 Lab. I.C. 202] it has been held:

"Where a person asserts that he was a workmen of the Company, and it is denied by the Company, it is for him to prove the fact. It is not for the Company to prove that he was not an employee of the Company but of some other person."

50. The question whether the relationship between the parties is one of the employer and employee is a pure question of fact and ordinarily the High Court while exercising its power of judicial review shall not interfere therewith unless the finding is manifestly or obviously erroneous or perverse."

17. In view of above discussion, we are of considered view that the employees have failed to bring on record conclusive evidence that they are employed mainly as a 'Workmen'. As the employees have failed to discharge their initial burden, we have not considered the evidence brought on the record by the employer to contradict the stand of the employees.

18. Accordingly, these writ petitions are finally decided in the following terms :-

(i) WRIT C No.12468 of 2002 (Duncans Industries Ltd. vs. State Of U.P.And Others) - Impugned award dated 29.4.1999 (published on 7.1.2002) whereby Supervisors/Assistant Supervisors were held to be Workmen, passed by the Industrial Tribunal - III, U.P. Kanpur in Adjudication Case No.11 of 1998 is set aside and the writ petition is allowed.

(ii) WRIT C No.37147 of 1996 (S.D. Gupta vs. Labour Court IV and Others) - Impugned award dated 26.9.1996 passed by Labour Court IV Kanpur in Industrial Dispute No.146/1991 wherein it has been held that Supervisors/Superintendents are not Wokmen is upheld. Accordingly, this writ petition is dismissed.

(iii) WRIT C No.39403 of 1999 (I.E.L.Supervisors Association vs. State Of U.P And Others) - This writ petition has been filed with the prayer for publication of award dated 23.4.1999 which was subsequently published on 7.1.2002 and has been challenged in Writ Petition No.12468 of 2002. Therefore, this writ petition is dismissed as rendered infructuous.

(iv) WRIT C No.32788 of 2000 (I.E.L.Supervisior Association vs. State Of U.P. And Others) - This writ petition has been filed for restraining the State Government from publishing the fresh award dated 16.6.2000. which proposes to increase its fee beyond the permitted fee increase shall, at least three months before the commencement of the academic session, submit a proposal containing the details of the proposed fee with appropriate documents justifying the need for such increase to the District Fee Regulatory Committee. An Appellate authority is also prescribed under the act in the name of State Self Finance Independent School Appellate Authority to adjudicate grievance of the recognized institutions, if any, arising out of any order under the act.

11. The constitutional validity of the act is challenged by the petitioner, a minority institution on the count that as per article 30(1) of the Constitution of India no interference in administration of minority institutions can be made by the State authorities statutorily or otherwise.

12. Reliance is placed by learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in TMA Pai Foundation Vs. State of Karnataka, 2002 (8) SCC 481.

13. It is stated that minority institutions are having right to adopt their own procedure to admit the students, to set up reasonable fee structure, to constitute governing body, to appoint staff and to take action, if there is dereliction of duty on the part of any employee. The act in question as per learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner is violating a valuable constitutional right of the minority institutions.

14. It would be appropriate to state that the petitioner-institution is not receiving any aid of the Government of Uttar Pradesh but recognition of the courses undertaken by it.

15. Heard learned counsel at length.

16. Article 30 of the Constitution of India prescribes fundamental right of minorities to establish and administer educational institutions. According to clause (1) of Article 30 all minorities whether based on religion or language shall have the right to establish and administer educational institutions of their choice. The right aforesaid has been crystallized by the Supreme Court of India in several cases and at the first instance the matter came up before it in Reference The Kerala Education Bill, 1957, AIR 1958 SC 956. On the basis of the legal foundation laid down in the case aforesaid the rights of the minorities as prescribed under Article 30 of the Constitution of India were examined in detail by the Apex Court in TMA Pai Foundation (supra) holding therein that the right to establish an educational institution can be regulated; but such regulatory measures must, in general, ensure the maintenance of proper academic standards, atmosphere and infrastructure including qualified staff and prevention of maladministration by those in charge of management. The fixing of a rigid fee structure, dictating the formation and composition of a governing body, compulsory nomination of teachers and staff for appointment or nominating students for admissions would be unacceptable restrictions. The Court while strengthening the rights protected under Article 30 of the Constitution of India shown its concern about interference of the government may that by way of statute in day today administration of the minority educational institutions. It would be appropriate to state that the court in the case of TMA Pai (supra) make a fine distinction in right to "administer" and "maladminister" the minority institution.

17. The issue was again considered by the Apex Court in Secretary, Malankara Syrian Catholic College Vs. T. Jose, (2007 (1) SCC 386. The Apex Court summarized the general principles relating to establishment and administration of educational institutions by minorities as under:-

"... (i) The right of minorities to establish and administer educational institutions of their choice comprises the following rights:

(a) to choose its governing body in whom the founders of the institution have faith and confidence to conduct and manage the affairs of the institution;

(b) to appoint teaching staff (teachers/lecturers and Headmasters/Principals) as also non-teaching staff, and to take action if there is dereliction of duty on the part of any of its employees;

(c) to admit eligible students of their choice and to set up a reasonable fee structure;

(d) to use its properties and assets for the benefit of the institution.

(ii) The right conferred on minorities under Article 30 is only to ensure equality with the majority and not intended to place the minorities in a more advantageous position vis-à-vis the majority. There is no reverse discrimination in favour of minorities. The general laws of the land relating to national interest, national security, social welfare, public order, morality, health, sanitation, taxation, etc. applicable to all, will equally apply to minority institutions also.

(iii) The right to establish and administer educational institutions is not absolute. Nor does it include the right to maladminister. There can be regulatory measures for ensuring educational character and standards and maintaining academic excellence. There can be checks on administration as are necessary to ensure that the administration is efficient and sound, so as to serve the academic needs of the institution. Regulations made by the State concerning generally the welfare of students and teachers, regulations laying down eligibility criteria and qualifications for appointment, as also conditions of service of employees (both teaching and non-teaching), regulations to prevent exploitation or oppression of employees, and regulations prescribing syllabus and curriculum of study fall under this category. Such regulations do not in any manner interfere with the right under Article 30(1).

(iv) Subject to the eligibility conditions/qualifications prescribed by the State being met, the unaided minority educational institutions will have the freedom to appoint teachers/lecturers by adopting any rational procedure of selection.

(v) Extension of aid by the State does not alter the nature and character of the minority educational institution. Conditions can be imposed by the State to ensure proper utilisation of the aid, without however diluting or abridging the right under Article 30(1)." "Aided institutions give instruction either in secular education or professional education. Religious education is barred in educational institutions maintained out of the State funds. These aided educational minority institutions providing secular education or professional education should necessarily have standards comparable with non-minority educational institutions. Such standards can be attained and maintained only by having well-qualified professional teachers. An institution can have the services of good qualified professional teachers only if the conditions of service ensure security, contentment and decent living standards. That is why the State can regulate the service conditions of the employees of the minority educational institutions to ensure quality of education. Consequently, any law intended to regulate the service conditions of employees of educational institutions will apply to minority institutions also, provided that such law does not interfere with the overall administrative control of the management over the staff."

"We may also recapitulate the extent of regulation by the State, permissible inrespect of employees of minority educational institutions receiving aid from the State, as clarified and crystallized in T.M.A. Pai. The State can prescribe:

(i) the minimum qualifications, experience and other criteria bearing on merit, for making appointments,

(ii) the service conditions of employees without interfering with the overall administrative control by the management over the staff,

(iii) a mechanism for redressal of the grievances of the employees,

(iv) the conditions for the proper utilization of the aid by the educational institutions, without abridging or diluting the right to establish and administer educational institutions."

18. The summary quoted above in quite unambiguous terms convey that all laws made by the State to regulate the administration of educational institutions and grant of aid will apply to minority educational institutions also. But if any such regulations interfere with the overall administrative control of the management over the staff or abridges/duties, in any other manner, the right to establish and administer educational institutions, such regulations, to that extent, will be inapplicable to minority institutions.

19. The Apex Court further examined the rights enshrined under Article 29 and 30 of the Constitution of India in Sindhi Education Society Vs. Chief Secretary, Government of NCT of Delhi, 2010 (8) SCC 49, the Apex Court examined the question relating to the extent the State can regulate the right of the minorities to administer their educational institutions when such educational institutions are receiving aid from the State/not receiving the aid from the State. The Court after recapitulating the law crystallized in TMA Pai Foundation (supra) held that all laws made by the State to regulate the administration of educational institutions and grant of aid will apply to minority institutions also but if any such regulation, if interfere with the overall administrative control by the management then that would be inapplicable to minority institutions.

20. On going through the law thrashed by the Apex Court in all the judgments referred above, we are having no doubt in arriving at the conclusion that article 30 protects the minority institutions from interference of the Government in their establishment, management and administration but that in no manner prevents the State to ensure good administration by putting checks on the eventualities giving rise to "maladministration". The right to administer educational institutions by minorities does not permit to indulge in malpractices including, commercialization of education. The State if satisfies the test of reasonableness and the test that the provision applied is regulative of educational character and is conducive to make the minority educational institutions more effective for education to the minorities then such provision is not at all hit by the right protected under Article 30 of the Constitution of India. In other words such provision is in furtherance to the right given to ensure better and brighter educational status to such institutions.

21. Under the act under consideration, there is no provision that may cause interference with overall administrative control by the management with right of a minority educational institutions in settling the fee. On the contrary, as per Section 3 a recognized school shall determine its fee structure and while doing so it is required to meet certain guidelines given under Section 4 of the act. Section 3 also provides possible fee components and optional fee components those may be charged by the schools. The restrictions prescribed are that no school shall, except with the prior approval from the appropriate authority, charge during the academic year any fee in excess of the fee intimated to the appropriate authority earlier and, further that no capitation fee shall be charged by such institutions. The restrictions are quite reasonable. The institution, if has settled a fee after taking into consideration all the relevant factors then the same in normal course must not be changed without a justifiable reason. If for any reason change in fee structure is warranted then the recognized institutions must seek approval from the appropriate authority. The restriction as a matter of fact checks maladministration and ensures fair administration of the institutions by the management itself. So far as capitation fee is concerned that is nothing but a mark of commercialization of education and therefore, in light of the judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court that has rightly being checked under the Act.

22. Section 4 of the Act gives a broad idea and factors to be kept in mind for fixation of fee. The provisions of Section 4 of the Act no where restricts a recognized institution in settling fee, but prescribes a reasonable mode as a guiding factor while fixing the fee structure.

23. The provision on its face is a reasonable and is a statutory effort to stop commercialization of education and exploitation of the students joining educational institutions including minority institutions. While assessing constitutional validity of a provision at the scale of right given under Part-III of the Constitution of India, it must be kept in vision that ultimately the rights given protects the persons/citizens/legal entities, as the case may be, from arbitrariness, unreasonability, unjustifiability and fancy. If a provision is just and reasonable and otherwise satisfies the four corners of Article 13 of the Constitution of India, it must be held constitutionally acceptable to extend the protection of any right given under Part-III.

24. On fair analysis of the Act of 2018, we find it a legislation to ensure easy accessibility to each and every citizen and further to expand fairness and reasonability in administration of the institutions, including minority institutions, without interference therein for broader interest of the ultimate consumer, as such we do not find any violation of Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India while introducing U.P.

Self-Financed Independent Schools (Fee Regulation) Act, 2018.

25. The writ petition for the reasons given above, lacks merit and hence is dismissed in limine at threshold.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Attau Rahman Masoodi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Mohd. Aslam Khan, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Anurag Narain who has put in appearance on behalf of the respondents.

2. This second appeal has arisen against the judgement and decree dated 10.4.1981 rendered in Civil Appeal No. 167/79 reversing the judgement and decree rendered by the trial court on 7.5.1979 in Regular Suit No. 173/78. The appeal was admitted by order dated 29.5.1981, however, substantial questions of law came to be framed when the appeal was heard on 9.5.2019. The substantial questions of law framed by this Court read as under:

"1. Whether the lower appellate court has rightly construed the principle of Pardaneshin lady while setting aside the trial court judgment?

2. Whether the burden of proof of non-execution of impugned Mukhtarnama dated 29.7.1976 lay on the plaintiffs and as to whether the sale-deed was hit by the statutory bar as mentioned in para 6 of the plaint and the courts below have rightly dealt with the same."

3. Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that one Smt. Chamela brought about a suit for cancellation of registered power of attorney allegedly obtained by impersonation on 29.7.1976 as well as for cancellation of the sale deed dated 4.8.1976 through such attorney impleading the purchasers of the property as defendants no. 1, 2 and 3 as well as the attorney holder as defendant no. 4. After exchange of pleadings, the trial court proceeded to frame two issues. The first issue was framed to the effect "as to whether the power of attorney as well as the sale deed, in view of what was stated in paragraph 6 of the plaint, was liable to be cancelled" and the second issue was "as to whether, in view of what was stated in paragraph 6-A of the plaint, the sale deed and the power of attorney were liable to be cancelled".

4. The trial court considered issues no. 1 and 2 jointly for the purpose of adjudication. The trial court having regard to the evidence on record proceeded to construe the benefit of Pardanashin lady in favour of the plaintiff, treating her to be a villager, rustic and uneducated lady. It was also observed by the trial court that insofar as the payment of sale consideration is concerned, an inconsistent stand was taken by the defendants, therefore, once the execution of power of attorney having been denied by the plaintiff stood disproved, the sale deed executed on her behalf was consequently bad in the eye of law. The suit was accordingly decreed in favour of the appellant-plaintiff who is survived by the legal representatives substituted during pendency of this appeal.

5. The judgement and decree rendered by the trial court on 7.5.1999 in Regular Suit No. 173/78 came to be questioned in Civil Appeal No. 167/79. The appellate court below on the aspect of validity of power of attorney framed the point of determination and went into the correctness of the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and by re-appreciating the evidence, has recorded findings reversing the findings recorded by the trial court, to the contrary.

6. The first appellate court below, insofar as the extension of principle of Pardanashin lady to late Smt. Chamela is concerned, has observed that such a principle was not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present case for the reason that Smt. Chamela in the present case had denied the execution of power of attorney and had rather pleaded that the same was impersonate. Once a case of this description was pleaded in the plaint, there was no admission of any physical act of which consciousness or unconsciousness was to be proved treating her to be a Pardanashin lady. The first appellate court also proceeded to observe that Smt. Chamela who had previously executed the registered power of attorney on 11.1.1967 in favour of one Faiya Singh and Bam Bahadur Singh for pairvi of cases but such a fact was not disclosed in the plaint. The later power of attorney in favour of Faiya Singh alone was also registered which included the power of sale.

7. The first appellate court below, insofar as the power of attorney executed on 29.7.1976 inclusive of power to sell is concerned, has observed that once the execution of such a power of attorney was admitted by the executant in paragraph 9, 12 and 13 of the examination-in-chief, no question to doubt the veracity of such a power of attorney for shifting the burden of proof upon the defendants would arise and in fact, the evidence available on record proved beyond doubt that she herself had executed the registered power of attorney executed on 29.7.1976. This finding being a question of fact, has been recorded by the first appellate court below on the basis of evidence.

8. Having heard the arguments at length on the aspect of Pardanashin lady, extending the same benefit to the appellant-plaintiff treating her illiterate and uneducated village lady, the disapproval by the first appellate court, in my humble opinion, has correctly been opined by the appellate court below and the view taken by the trial court being erroneous has rightly been set right.

9. Insofar as payment of sale consideration to late Smt. Chamela is concerned, the first appellate court below has merely supported the legitimate sale consideration which the attorney, Faiya Singh, out of his free will, had set out to the disadvantage of appellant-plaintiff. It was the appellant-plaintiff's authority to sell the property which was misused by the attorney and the resultant cause, if any, would arise against the attorney alone. The attorney as per his own statement has admitted the receipt of sale consideration to the tune of Rs. 5000/- although the real price of the property in dispute might have been Rs. 40,000/- as quantified.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant has not placed any judgement or law on the point as to how a registered sale deed for a definite consideration though mentioned contrary to the market value of property, can be understood to be a nullity within the ambit of law.

11. Once the authority to transfer was duly held by power of attorney and his authority to transfer did not lack legitimacy, the judgement rendered by the first appellate court below on the premise of evidence of the contesting witness (plaintiff) as well as the attorney, in my humble opinion, does not leave any scope for interference within the scope of Section 100 CPC.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant has also taken this Court through the aspect of fragmentation of the plots being hit by Section 168-A of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act affecting the sale transaction as well as for the lack of permission under Section 5-c(ii) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, the sale deed was attempted to be established as void.

13. Having closely scrutinuzed the judgement rendered by the first appellate court below, the categorical finding recorded by the appellate court is to the effect that the plots transferred through the impugned sale deed were neither fragmented nor at the relevant point of time, any consolidation operations were going on. The first appellate court below has recorded that the village in question was denotified on 14.11.1970 and the sale deed in question was executed much subsequent to the said date. No evidence was brought to the notice of this Court establishing any fragmentation of the land transferred through the impugned sale deed or the requirement of prior permission being necessary for any consolidation proceedings being in progress at the relevant point of time.

14. Lastly, the learned Senior Counsel argued that the mandate of Order XLI Rule 31 CPC was not adhered to by the first appellate court. On this aspect of the matter, this Court is not convinced with the submissions put forth, rather, the first appellate court has thrashed out the relevant points of determination and in my humble consideration, the appellate court judgement does not fall on the strength of the argument advanced by learned counsel.

15. The exhaustive submissions made by learned Senior Counsel on behalf of the appellant are thus unconvincing and both the substantial questions of law framed above are answered in negative and against the appellant-plaintiff.

16. The second appeal thus fails and the same is hereby dismissed.

A. Conviction under section 302, 307 IPC and 3/25 of Arms Act. Bail Application pending appeal. Period of prolonged detention suffered though invites leniency by Courts, yet, no straight jacket formula to grant bail on that count.

Appeal ready for arguments. Reluctance to argue the appeal. The nature of crime, the gravity of offence, the sufficiency and nature of evidence available, the background of the offender and other circumstances relevant. - Bail rejected. (Para 3)

Reluctance on the part of counsel whose keenness appears to be confined only with regard to procurement of bail. (Para8) (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J. & Hon'ble Ifaqat Ali Khan, J.)

1. These two applications relate to two connected appeals arising out of common judgment and order of conviction and, therefore, are being disposed of by the common judgment. 2. Counter affidavits filed in both the appeals are taken on record.

3. The aforesaid bail applications have been moved on behalf of appellants Ramveer @ Pappu and Rajveer @ Ashok Kumar seeking their release on bail who have been convicted and sentenced in S.T. No.293 of 2008 (State Vs. Rajveer @ Ashok Kumar & others) arising out Case Crime No.58 of 2008, u/s 302, 307 I.P.C. and in S.T. No.295 of 2008 (State Vs. Ramveer @ Pappu) arising out of Case Crime No.80 of 2008, under Section 3/25 of Arms Act, Police Station Kishni, District Mainpuri.

4. Heard learned counsel for appellants and learned A.G.A.

5. Submission of counsel for appellants is that co-accused Om Prakash has been released on bail and, therefore, on the ground of parity the appellants also deserve to be released on bail. Further submission is that the firing, said to have been resorted to by the accused appellants, was made from a higher pedestal which makes the nature of injury as has been caused to the deceased and injured improbable and, therefore, on the ground of this medical inconsistency, the truthfulness of the prosecution case becomes suspect. It was also contended that it has not been specified in the evidence as to which of the appellants is the author of which specific injury. Period of detention was also pointed out. Bail has been sought on the aforesaid grounds.

6. Perused the record in the light of submissions made at the Bar.

7. Learned A.G.A. while opposing the bail has drawn attention of the Court to the order passed with regard to co-accused Om Prakash who is the father of two appellants before us and it has been shown that the order passed with regard to co-accused apparently appears to have been guided apparently by the advanced age of co-accused which was said to be above 80 years. In such circumstances, the principle of parity is simply inapplicable with regard to the present appellants. It was also shown that both the appellants were armed with fire arms. Appellant Rajveer was carrying a double barrel gun while appellant Ramveer was having a country made pistol. There is categorical evidence that both these appellants used their respective fire arms. Attention was also drawn to the post mortem examination of the deceased and also the medical examination of injured witness Virendra and it has been emphasized that the nature of injuries as had been caused to two persons lends clinching corroboration to the use of those weapons. Victim Virendra has received a number of fire arm injuries having multiple entry wounds. Injury no.1 said to have been received by victim Virendra shows that it was a fire arm injury spread in the area of 32 x 24 c.m. While injury no.2 indicates that it was a fire arm wound in an area 30 x 8 c.m. Injury no.3 indicates two fire arm entry wounds while injury no.4 indicates an entry wound having a dimension of 0.3 x 0.3 c.m. Injury no.5 was in an area of 22 c.m. x 4 c.m. It was submitted that the nature of injuries is such that the survival of victim Virendra was just an act of providence while the accused did whatever was within their power to do in order to cause the death of Virendra. It was also shown that the injury found on the dead body of deceased was again having a number of entry wounds which resulted in the death of deceased. Pellets were also recovered from the body of deceased. Submission is that there is absolutely no inconsistency between the medical examination and the ocular version of the incident. Contention in this regard is wholly lacking of any factual basis. It was also submitted that the evidence produced by the prosecution shows that a number of persons indulged in the act of indiscriminate firing which killed one man and caused serious injuries to another and in such circumstances of the incident it is impossible to watch the trajectory of projectiles and it will be unnatural to except that witnesses would be in a position to vouchsafe as to which fire arm wound was caused by which accused. The accused came together with the common intention and having same object in their mind and after resorting to such indiscreet firing they went away together and the act of one accused would also make in such circumstances the other accused liable vicariously for the same offence. The evidence against the appellants is clear, cogent and unassailable that they are authors of the injuries caused to the deceased as well as to the victim. The number of entry wounds and the number of accused are also not inconsistent with each other and it is certainly not a case in which one may argue that the number of assailants was far more than the number of injuries caused to the victim side showing their false implication.

8. It may be observed that ordinarily this Court leans liberally in favour of accused in cases where the period of detention is prolonged but the same alone cannot be applied as a straight jacket formula in all cases without keeping in perspective the nature of crime, the gravity of offence, the sufficiency and nature of evidence available, the background of the offender and several other relevant circumstances. This is much more so because this Court has expressed its inclination and openness to have final hearing in the matter. But ironically enough there appears reluctance on the part of counsel in this regard whose keenness appears to be confined only with regard to procurement of bail. It is certainly not a matter where it may be said that as there is no likelihood of early hearing or conclusion of this appeal therefore, the accused should be released on the ground of longer detention. It is indeed disappointing to see this unhealthy trend insidiously creeping in and gaining ground that complete reluctance to argue the appeal finally is being displayed at the bar which in its turn contributes not only to the prolongation of detention period of accused but also to the rise of staggering pendency of appeals. We cannot lend our countenance to such kind of reluctance on the part of appellant or his legal representative nor can we allow the same to be used as a contrivance to procure bail in the name of prolixity of detention period to which they themselves are contributory.

9. Therefore, in this background so far as the bail matter is concerned, looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case, this Court is of the view that the appellants have not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the appellants is rejected.

10. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

11. (Order on Appeal)

12. Office is directed to prepare the paper book and list for hearing immediately thereafter.

(Para 8)

The jurisdiction of the Courts to grant bail is circumscribed by the provision of Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Bail can be granted in a case where there are reasonable grounds for believing that accused is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail. Contraband item more than the commercial quantity, recovered from the accused. Hence no ground for bail made out. (Para 7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Gopeshwar Sahai Bisaria, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Narendra Deo Rai, learned Special Public Prosecutor (Narcotics).

2. I have gone through the material on record.

3. The instant bail application has been filed by the applicant- Riyaz Alam respectively with a prayer to enlarge them on bail in Case Crime No. 05 of 2017, under Section 8/20 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station- Central Narcotic Bureau, Bareilly, District-Bareilly, during the pendency of the trial.

4. The factual matrix of the case is that on 01.08.2017, the team of Central Narcotic Bureau, Bareilly, arrested the applicant Riyaz Alam and on surprise search, 4.500 kg. of 'charas' has been recovered from the trolley bag, which he carried on his shoulder and Rs. 1,85,700/- was also recovered from his possession. A recovery memo was prepared in front of two witnesses, namely, Mr. Vinod Kumar and Mr. Manoj Kumar, after informing the applicant about his right as provided under Section 50 of NDPS Act, hence the present F.I.R. was lodged under Section 8/20 of NDPS Act.

5. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant is innocent and has been falsely implicated in the present case. He is originally resident of Viswan (Bhiswan), Parsa, Nepal and runs a medical shop there for which he has a license. On 30.07.2017, he had proceeded from Anand Vihar to Muzaffarpur, Bihar by Suptkranti express but on the way at Moradabad, he was asked to get down, by the Police personnels in-ordinary dress. They had also taken his suitcase. Thereafter, the Police took him from Moradabad to Bareilly and falsely implicated him in the present case. It is further argued by learned counsel for the applicant that on 01.08.2017, he was not present at Satellite Bus Stand, where he is said to have been intercepted by the Police personnels on a surprise check. The alleged witnesses, namely, Vinod Kumar and Manoj Kumar are not the actual witnesses. Nothing was recovered from his possession and the alleged recovery is false and concocted. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that the alleged recovered money of Rs. 1,85,700/- was his own but the Police after taking Rs. 2.00 Lacs from him, has shown only 1,85,700/-. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that no compliance of the provisions of NDPS Act has been made by the police at the time of his arrest. The Police has also not complied with the provisions of Section 50 of NDPS Act as he was not searched before any Magistrate or gazetted officer. In the present case, 4.500 kg of 'charas' has been recovered from the bag being carried by the applicant and Rs. 1,85,700/- has also been recovered from the personal search, hence Section 50 of NDPS Act was attracted. In support of his contention learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of SK. Raju alias Abdul Haque alias Jagga vs. State of West Bengal, (2018) 9 SCC 708. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that no prior information was given by the police personnels regarding any such drugs being carried by the applicant, which is mandatorily required under Section 50 of NDPS Act. It is further argued by learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant has no criminal antecedents to their credit except the present one. As the present case is false, the applicant is liable to be enlarged on bail. It is further argued by the counsel for the applicant that the applicant has been detained in jail for a period of more than two years, i.e. on 01.08.2017, seeing period of detention, he requests for grant of bail. There is no possibility of the applicants of fleeing away from the judicial process or tampering with the witnesses and in case, the applicants are enlarged on bail, the applicants shall not misuse the liberty of bail.

6. Per contra, Mr. Narendra Deo Rai, learned Special Public Prosecutor (Narcotics) has vehemently argued that since the recovery was made from a bag, which was carried by the applicant and not from the personal search of the applicant, hence the provisions of Section 50 of NDPS Act is not attracted in the present case. He further submitted that since the bag contained 4.500 kg. of charas, which exceeds the limit of commercial quantity then for consideration of bail the provisions of Section 37 of NDPS is attracted.

7. The jurisdiction of the Courts to grant bail is circumscribed by the provision of Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Bail can be granted in a case where there are reasonable grounds for believing that accused is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail. The provision makes the offences under the Act cognizable and non-bailable. It would be useful to quote Section 37 of NDPS Act.

" 37. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-

(a) every offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable;

(b) No person accused of an offence punishable for offences under Section 19 or Section 24 or Section 27A and also for the offences involving commercial quantity shall be released on bail on his own bond unless-

(i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and

(ii) Where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail.

(2) The limitations on granting of bail specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1) are in addition to the limitations under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 or any other law for the time being in force, on granting of bail.

8. From a bare perusal of non-obstante clause in the Section and sub-section (2) thereof that the power to grant bail to a person accused of having committed offence under the NDPS Act is not only subject to the limitations imposed under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, it is also subject to the restrictions placed by sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Apart from giving an opportunity to the Public Prosecutor to oppose the application, the other two conditions, viz (i) the satisfaction of the Court that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence; and (ii) that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail have to be satisfied. It is manifest that conditions are cumulative and not alternative.

9. Hon'ble Apex Court in Satpal Singh vs. State of Punjab, (2018) 13 SCC 813; in paragraph no.3 has held as follows:-

"3. Under Section 37 of the NDPS Act, when a person is accused of an offence punishable under Section 19 or 24 or 27A and also for offences involving commercial quantity, he shall not be released on bail unless the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and in case a Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court must be satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the person is not guilty of the alleged offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail. Materials on record are to be seen and the antecedents of the accused is to be examined to enter such a satisfaction. These limitations are in addition to those prescribed under the Cr.P.C or any other law in force on the grant of bail. In view of the seriousness of the offence, the law makers have consciously put such stringent restrictions on the discretion available to the court while considering application for release of a person on bail. It is unfortunate that the provision has not been noticed by the High Court. And it is more unfortunate that the same has not been brought to the notice of the Court."

10. Hon'ble Apex Court in Union of India Vs. Rattan Mallik alias Habul (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 831 observed thus:

"We may, however, hasten to add that while considering an application for bail with reference to Section 37 of the NDPS Act, the Court is not called upon to record a finding of 'not guilty'. At this stage, it is neither necessary nor desirable to weigh the evidence meticulously to arrive at a positive finding as to whether or not the accused has committed offence under the NDPS Act. What is to be seen is whether there is reasonable ground for believing that the accused is not guilty of the offence he is charged with and further that he is not likely to commit an offence under the said Act while on bail. The satisfaction of the Court about the existence of the said twin conditions is for a limited purpose and is confined to the question of releasing the accused on bail."

11. In Narcotics Control Bureau Vs. R. Paulsamy (2000) 9 SCC 549, Hon'ble Supreme Court observed thus:

"In the light of Section 37 of the Act no accused can be released on bail when the application is opposed by the Public Prosecutor unless the Court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offences and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail. It is unfortunate that regarding compliance with Sections 52 and 57 have been pre-judged by the learned Single Judge at the stage of consideration for bail. The minimum which the learned Single Judge should have been taken into account was the factual presumption in law position that official acts have been regularly performed. Such presumption can be rebutted only during evidence and not merely saying that no document has been produced before the learned Single Judge during bail stage regarding the compliance with the formalities mentioned in those two sections."

12. In Union of India Vs. Ram Samujh and another, (1999) 39 ACC 643, Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"It is to be borne in mind that the aforesaid legislative mandate is required to be adhered and followed. It should be borne in mind that in murder case, accused commits murder of one or two persons, while those persons who are dealing in narcotic drugs are instrumental in causing death or inflicting death blow to number of innocent young victims, who are vulnerable, it causes deleterious effects and deadly impact on the society, they are hazard to the society, even if they are released temporarily, in all probability, they would continue their nefarious activities of trafficking and/or dealing in intoxicants clandestinely."

13. Bearing in mind the above broad principles laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court, I shall now consider the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the parties.

14. Mr. N.D. Rai, also contended that the contention raised by the learned counsel for the applicant that while search was made, compliance of mandatory provisions of Section 50 of NDPS Act was not followed by the officers of the Narcotics Department. It would be useful to quote Section 50 of the NDPS Act:-

50. Conditions under which search of persons shall be conducted.- (1) When any officer duly authorized under section 42 is about to search any person under the provisions of section 41, section 42 or section 43, he shall, if such person so requires, take such person without unnecessary delay to the nearest Gazetted Officer of any of the departments mentioned in section 42 or to the nearest Magistrate.

(2) If such requisition is made, the officer may detain the person until he can bring him before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate before whom any such person is brought shall, if he sees no reasonable ground for search, forthwith discharge the person but otherwise shall direct that search be made.

(4) No female shall be searched by anyone excepting a female. 1[(5) When an officer duly authorised under section 42 has reason to believe that it is not possible to take the person to be searched to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate without the possibility of the person to be searched parting with possession of any narcotic drug or psychotropic substance, or controlled substance or article or document, he may, instead of taking such person to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate, proceed to search the person as provided under section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

Section 50 of the NDPS Act gives a right to the persons concerned that he can be searched before a gazetted officer and if he opts like that, the search shall be before the gazetted officer.

15. Mr. N.D. Rai, also contended that perusal of the records, clearly shows that 4.500 kg. charas was recovered from the bag, which was possessed by the applicant, besides that a cash of Rs. 1,85,700/- was also recovered from him. In the recovery memo, it has been mentioned that the accused-applicant was informed about his right for search before the Magistrate or gazetted officer as provided under Section 50 of NDPS Act. That the public witnesses have also been shown of the alleged recovery. For his proposition, learned counsel relied upon the decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Thankgod Afam Ezeme vs. B.D. Goel and Another reported in 2000 (1) Mh.L.J. page 82 in which the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that the mandatory provisions of Sections 42 and 50 of the NDPS Act are not applicable to chance recovery as such recovery is not on prior information which is requirement of Section 50 of NDPS Act and such provisions are applicable only, in case, of personal search. In para nos. 7 and 8 of the said judgment, it was observed as follows:-

"7. .....there is non-compliance of provisions of sections 42 and 50 of the N.D.P.S. Act. In support of her contention she relied on the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab vs. Balbir Singh reported in AIR 1994 SC 1872. According to her the procedure laid down under the said provisions which is mandatory was not complied with. In our view the said provisions cannot be invoked for the simple reason that this was a case of chance recovery and the officers were not acting on the prior information which is the requirement of section 50 of the Act. It was only when the baggages of the appellant were taken through X-ray screening counter that the officer suspected the concealment in the said baggages and, therefore, informed the PW 3 and other officers of the Customs about the suspicion.

8. Secondly, the said provision would be applicable only in case of personal search that is the search of articles from the person or body of a person or the search is made of articles in immediate possession such as bag and other baggage carried by the person or in physical possession of the person to be searched. The decision of the Supreme Court in Balbir Singh's case was considered and interpreted by the Full Bench of this Court in the case of Ebanezer Adebaya @. Monday Obtor vs, B. S. Rawat, Collector of Customs and another reported in 1996(2) Mh.LJ. 280. According to the Full Bench the provisions of section 50 would be applicable only in case of personal search of a person i.e. of articles on the person or body of the person or of articles in immediate possession of such person such as bag and other luggage carried by him or in physical possession of the person to be searched and such search was effected on prior information and not in case of accidental recovery of the contraband from any person. The Full Bench was further pleased to observe that the provisions of section 50 would not be applicable to a search of bag or baggage which are presumed to be in possession of the person even though it may be lying in a house or railway compartment or at the Airport nor would it be applicable to a case of search of a place, conveyance or a house if the accused is physically present at the time of search. Similar view was taken by the later decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Namdi Francis Nwazor vs. Union of India and another, (1998) 8 SCC 534 the facts of which are similar to the facts in the present case. In para 3 of the Judgment of the Supreme Court it was observed as follows :

"3. On a plain reading of sub-section (1) of section 50, it is obvious that it applies to cases of search of any person and not search of any article in the sense that the article is at a distant place from where the offender is actually searched. "

In that case also the Court was concerned with the accused who was a Nigerian National and was found in possession of narcotic drugs while on his way to Lagos at the IndiraGandhiInternationalAirport, New Delhi. In that view of the matter reliance on the aforesaid Judgment of the Supreme Court in Balbir Singh's case is misplaced.

The view taken by the Supreme Court in Balbir Singh's case has been upheld by the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab vs. Baldev Singh in Criminal Appeal No. 396 of 1999 decided on 21st July, 1999."

16. Apart from this, it has also been held by the Hon'ble Apex that the provisions are of Section 50 of NDPS Act stands attracted in case of personal search and not, in the case where the search was given effect otherwise than from the personal search of the accused. Following cases were relied upon:-

1. 2003 (47) ACC-763 (Madan Lal and another Vs. State of Himanchal Pradesh).

2. 2003 Crl.L.J.-4329 (Megh Singh Vs. State of Punjab)

3.2005(52) ACC-710 (State of Himanchal Pradesh Vs. Pawan Kumar).

In the aforesaid judgments, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that Section 50 of NDPS Act applies only in case of personal search of a person. It does not extend to search of a vehicle or container or a bag or premises. In the present case, the contraband 'charas was recovered from a bag, which was being carried by the applicant, hence it was not a personal search.

17. Apart from this, in the case of Varinder Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, reported in 2019 SCC Online 170, it has been stated that Section 50 of NDPS Act reiterated had no application, since the recovery was not a personal of the applicant but from the bag being carried at his shoulder. There was no material to conclude that the witnesses was withheld or suppressed by the prosecution with any ulterior motive.

18. Moreover, in the case of State of Himanchal Pradesh vs. Pawan Kumar (2005) 52 ACC 710 wherein meaning of the word "person" has been discussed, the word "person" would mean a human being with appropriate covering and clothing and also footwear. A bag, brief case or any such articles or container, etc. can, under no circumstance be treated as a body of a human beings.

19. Mr. N.D. Rai, has further contended that in the present case, it is a chance recovery and the charas has recovered not from personal search, therefore, compliance of Section 50 of NDPS Act is not mandatory. Even otherwise, with regard to Section 50 of NDPS Act, there is compliance of Section 50 of NDPS Act as mentioned in the recovery memo that the accused-applicant was informed of his right of personal search before the Magistrate or a gazetted officer and was issued notice under Section 50 of NDPS Act. There is nothing on record to show that there was any material to falsely implicate the applicant in the present case.

20. So far as the contention raised by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant has been detained in jail for a period of more than two years, i.e. on 01.08.2017, to which Mr. N.D. Rai has stated that the period of detention is not a valid reason to release the applicant on bail in such a heinous crime, wherein charas of 4.500 kg, which is more than commercial quantity, has been recovered from the bag being carried by the applicant.

21. Dealing with the complicity of applicant-accused and in light of the material on record, Mr. N.D. Rai, learned Special Public Prosecutor (Narcotics) vehemently submits that no case for bail is made out and the bail application of the present applicant is liable to be rejected. It is lastly contended that the innocence of the applicant cannot be adjudged at this stage, therefore, he do not deserve any indulgence.

22. Having considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the applicant, the learned A.G.A. for the State and upon perusal of the evidence brought on record as well as the complicity of the applicant, I do not find any good reason to exercise my discretion in favour of the accused applicant. Thus, the bail application stand rejected.

23. However, the trial court is expected to gear up the trial of the aforesaid case and conclude the same as expeditious, as possible from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order, keeping in view the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Alakh Alok Srivastava Vs. Union of India and Another reported in AIR 2018 (SC) 2004, if there is no legal impediment, in accordance with law, without granting any unnecessary adjournment to either of the parties, provided the applicant fully cooperate in conclusion of the trial, if there is no other legal impediment.

24. Office is directed to transmit a certified copy of this order to the court concerned within a fortnight.

25. It is clarified that any observations, if any, made by this Court are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case

Hon'ble Raj Beer Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sukendu Pal Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri G.P. Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State-respondents and perused the material on record.

2. This writ petition has been filed with the prayer to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned F.I.R. Dated 25.06.2019, which has been registered as Crime No. 0201 of 2019, under Sections 13 (1)(b), 13 (2) of Prevention of Corruption Act, Police Station Kakadeo, District Kanpur Nagar.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that no offence under Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of Prevention of Corruption Act is made out against the petitioner and that impugned FIR is abuse of the process of law. It has been submitted that petitioner has retired from police service on 28.09.2011 and now, he is a practising Advocate and his wife, who is also an Advocate, was running business of transport and a coaching centre. Besides these sources of income, she has also income from her agricultural land but her income from these sources, was not taken into consideration. Similarly, income of the petitioner from agricultural land, was also not taken into consideration. It was further submitted that earlier an inquiry was conducted by Ram Suresh Yadav, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Kanpur Unit of Bhrastachar Nivaran Sangthan but the charges were not proved and inquiry was closed. It has also been submitted that the amount incurred in purchase of immovable property and vehicles was duly explained but those facts have not taken into consideration by the concerned Enquiry Officer and similarly his income tax returns were also not considered in correct perspective. It was pointed out that an inquiry was also conducted by Kanpur Unit of Bhrastachar Nivaran Sangthan and a report has been submitted by the said Unit on 22.02.2014 and perusal of the said report shows that the allegations of disproportionate assets were not proved against the petitioner. Further, there were discrepancy in amount shown towards expenditure and there was also mathematical error in totalling in expenditure head in the FIR. It was stated that perusal of the FIR and material brought on record shows that no such case is made out against the petitioner that assets of petitioner were not in excess than of his income and thus, the impugned FIR is illegal and mala fide and thus, liable to be quashed.

4. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that there are clear allegations against the petitioner that the petitioner has incurred an amount of Rs. 97, 51, 731/- in various expenditures, which was more Rs. 35,86,552/- than his source of income and that a prima facie under Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of Prevention of Corruption Act is made out against the petitioner. At this stage, disputed questions of fact cannot be examined and merely it is to be seen whether a prima facie case is made out against the petitioner or not. It was argued that no case for quashing of the impugned FIR is made out and the petition filed by the petitioner is liable to be dismissed.

5. The legal position on the issue of quashing of FIR or criminal proceedings is well-settled that the jurisdiction to quash a complaint, FIR or a charge-sheet should be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional cases and Courts should not ordinarily interfere with the investigations of cognizable offences. However, where the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint even if taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused, the FIR or the charge-sheet may be quashed in exercise of powers under Article 226 or inherent powers under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. In the well celebrated judgment reported in AIR 1992 SC 605 State of Haryana and others Vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal, Supreme Court has carved out certain guidelines, wherein FIR or proceedings may be quashed but cautioned that the power to quash FIR or proceedings should be exercised sparingly and that too in the rarest of rare cases. Guidelines are as follows:

(1) Where the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety to do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the First Information Report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 156(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can every reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

6. The Full Bench of this Court in Ajit Singh @ Muraha v. State of U.P. (2006 (56) ACC 433) reiterated the view taken by the earlier Full Bench in Satya Pal v. State of U.P. (2000 Cr.L.J. 569) after considering the various decisions including State of Haryana v. Bhajan

Lal (AIR 1992 SC 604) that there can be no interference with the investigation or order staying arrest unless cognizable offence is not ex-facie discernible from the allegations contained in the F.I.R. or there is any statutory restriction operating on the power of the Police to investigate a case.

7. In the case of R. Kalyani v. Janak C. Mehta and Others reported in 2009 (1) SCC 516, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

(1) The High Court ordinarily would not exercise its inherent jurisdiction to quash a criminal proceeding and, in particular, a First Information Report unless the allegations contained therein, even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety, disclosed no cognizable offence.

(2) For the said purpose, the Court, save and except in very exceptional circumstances, would not look to any document relied upon by the defence.

(3) Such a power should be exercised very sparingly. If the allegations made in the FIR disclose commission of an offence, the court shall not go beyond the same and pass an order in favour of the accused to hold absence of any mens rea or actus reus.

(4) If the allegation discloses a civil dispute, the same by itself may not be a ground to hold that the criminal proceedings should not be allowed to continue."

8. Keeping in view the above stated settled position of law, in the instant case, perusal of the record shows that there are allegations against the petitioner in the FIR that on the basis of inquires, it has been found that petitioner had incurred an amount of Rs. 97,51,731/- under various heads of expenditure during relevant time, which was in excess of Rs. 35,86,552/- than his source of income and that petitioner has failed to furnish any satisfactory reply in that regard. In the FIR, details of various transactions of sale and purchase etc. have been given. The FIR was lodged after a detailed inquiry. It is apparent from the FIR and material on record that a prima facie cognizable offence under Sections 13 (1) (b) and 13 (2) of Prevention of Corruption Act is made out against the petitioner. The case of the petitioner does not fall in any of the category enumerated by the Apex Court through various judicial pronouncements for quashing of the FIR.

9. It is well settled that at this stage, this Court has to eschew itself from embarking upon a roving enquiry into the last details of the case. It is also not advisable to adjudge whether the case shall ultimately end in submission of charge sheet and then eventually in conviction or not. Only a prima facie satisfaction of the court about the existence of sufficient ingredients constituting the offence is required in order to see whether the F.I.R. requires to be investigated or deserves quashing. The ambit of investigation into the alleged offence is an independent area of operation and does not call for interference in the same except in rarest of rare cases.

10. As noted in the case of State of Haryana vs. Bhajan Lal (supra), power of quashing of FIR or proceedings should be exercised sparingly and with circumspection and that too in the rarest of rare cases. In the judgments of Rupan

Deol Bajaj v. K.P.S. Gill; reported in (1995) SCC (Cri) 1059, Rajesh Bajaj v. State of NCT of Delhi; reported in (1999) 3 SCC 259 and Medchl Chemicals & Pharma (P) Ltd. v. Biological E Ltd. & Ors; reported in 2000 SCC (Cri) 615, the Apex Court clearly held that if a prima facie case is made out disclosing the ingredients of the offence, Court should not quash the complaint. However, it was held that if the allegations do not constitute any offence as alleged and appear to be patently absurd and improbable, Court should not hesitate to quash the complaint. The note of caution was reiterated that while considering such petitions the Courts should be very circumspect, conscious and careful. Thus, there is no controversy about the legal proposition that in case a prima facie case is made out, the FIR or the proceedings in consequence thereof cannot be quashed. Here it would also be pertinent to mention that questions of fact cannot be examined by this Court in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

11. The submissions raised by learned counsel for the petitioners call for determination on questions of fact which may be adequately discerned either through proper investigation or which may be adjudicated upon only by the trial court and even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into only by the trial court in case a charge sheet is submitted in this case. The perusal of the record makes out, prima facie, offences at this stage and there appears to be sufficient ground for investigation in the case. Here it would be pertinent to mention that probabilities of the prosecution version cannot be analysed at this stage. Likewise, the allegations of mala fides of the informant are of secondary importance. (vide State of Orissa v. Saroj Kumar Sahoo (2005) 13 SCC 540).

12. In view of the aforesaid, considering the allegations made in the FIR and material brought on record, it cannot be said that no prima facie is made out against the petitioner rather there appears to be sufficient ground for investigation in the matter. Accordingly, we do not find any justification to quash the impugned F.I.R.

13. The petition lacks substance and thus, writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

List of cases cited:-
State of Haryana vs Bhajanlal, 1992 SCC (Cri.)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri I.K. Chaturvedi, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Ganga Bhushan Mishra, learned counsel for the applicants, Shri Pratap Kanchan Singh, learned counsel for the complainant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This application has been filed under section 482 Cr.PC seeking quashing of summoning order dated 29.03.2019 passed in Criminal Complaint No. 2320 of 2018 (Tika Ram Vs. Krashna Kant and others), by learned CJM, Jhansi, under section 147, 148, 302, 352 IPC, P.S. Lahchura, District Jhansi as well as entire proceedings of the aforesaid complaint case including the order dated 21.07.2018, passed by learned CJM, Jhansi, whereby the learned Magistrate after rejecting the final report submitted in the case crime No. 0056 of 2018, under section, 147, 148, 302, 352 IPC, P.S. Lahchura, District Jhansi, treated the Protest Petition of the opposite party no. 2 as a complaint.

3. According to the FIR, the alleged incident took place on 9/10.04.2018 at about 1 a.m. in the night and opposite party no. 2 lodged FIR which was registered as crime no. 0056 of 2018, under sections 147, 148, 302, 352 IPC. In the FIR it was alleged that opposite party no. 2 and his wife with his son Lal Singh were present at their agricultural field for crop harvesting in the night, thereafter, Lal Singh proceeded to his house and when he arrived near his house at about 1 a.m., suddenly the named accused persons who were armed with Lathi and country made pistol, made an assault upon him. Upon hearing his voice, younger son Ram Kumar and his wife and wife of Lal Singh came out side the door and saw that the accused persons were armed with lathi and country made pistol and after challenging the accused persons, they escaped from the spot, after committing scuffle with his son. Thereafter, his son Ram Kumar picked up Lal Singh and informed him. The police was called and thereafter he came to police station with injured son on Maruti van. The police took his injured son to hospital at Mauranipur from where he was referred to DistrictHospital, Jhansi. On the way his son expired in the vicinity of the village Sakrak. It was further alleged in the FIR that there was old enmity going on with the accused and that is why his son was murdered by them. The matter was investigated by police and after concluding investigation a final report dated 17.04.2018 was submitted to the court, in which it was also requested that a proceedings should be initiated under section 182 IPC against the informant.

4. Aggrieved by the final report opposite party no. 2 filed protest petition on 14.05.2018 on which the court passed an order on 21.07.2018, rejecting the final report and directing to register the protest petition of informant as complaint and complainant was directed to produce the witnesses. Thereafter the statement under section 200 Cr.PC of the informant and the statement of the witnesses under section 202 Cr.P.C. was recorded by the court and passed the impugned summoning order.

5. Aggrieved by the summoning order, this application has been filed, submitting that the impugned order was passed ignoring the police papers on record and only relying on the witnesses examined in support of the complaint. It is clear that the injuries found on the body of the deceased was on one side of his body. The impugned order has been passed on the ocular account of C.W.-1 and C.W.-3, but they have not stated that they have seen the accused persons committing scuffle. The applicants has been summoned without assigning the reason and no specific role has been assigned to any of the applicants and only on the general allegations, the impugned order was passed.

6. It has been further alleged that the Investigating Officer had indicated that the death of the deceased occurred as he fell from the roof and the injury report of the deceased also indicated same thing The fact alleged and discovered during investigation, creates serious doubt about the occurrence. It is also pertinent to mention that Smt. Kaushlya wife of deceased Lal Singh claimed insurance under Mukhya Mantri Kisan evam Sarvhit Bima Yojana showing accidental death of her husband Lal Singh on 20.12.2018. What happened to that claim is not known to the applicants even if efforts were made to know about it.

7. It has been further alleged that the deceased was drunken and he fell down from the roof in a drunken condition and serious laceration, abrasion and contusion resulted, because of that his death occurred. On this basis the applicants have requested for the quashing of the impugned order and the entire case.

8. On being asked whether any criminal revision has been filed against the impugned summoning order or not, learned counsel for the applicants has submitted that no such criminal revision was filed. It is pertinent to mention that against summoning order, the remedy for criminal revision is provided under Criminal Procedure Code, where equally efficacious remedy is available. It appears strange that this Court has been approached for extra ordinary remedy under section 482 Cr.P.C.

9. It appears from the record that when the final report was filed, protest application was given from the side of informant. It is needless to mention that when final report was given by the police it is incumbent on the part of the court to issue notice to the applicants before passing any order on the final report. When the informant filed the protest application, the legal way of handling the protest petition has no where been flouted by the learned court and when the protest petition was filed, the same was registered as complaint directing the complainant to adduce evidence in his favour. Following the direction of the court, the complainant examined himself and five other witnesses including the Doctor who conducted the postmortem. It has been submitted that the Investigating Officer was not examined. It is needless to point out that the Investigating Officer who has submitted the final report on completion of investigation was not needed to be examined by the complainant, at least at this stage. It is also to be noticed that it was not the choice of the applicant which witness should be examined by the complainant, it is the prerogative of the complainant to examine the witness of his choice, whom he feels that they will going to support the complaint, that is what the complainant has done.

10. The Law with regard to exercise of the power under section 482 Cr.PC. is that, while exercising this power, the Court is not expected to enter into the intricated facts and evidence. If without going into the evidence and fact, a conclusion is possible that there is misuse of the process of the Court, only then the jurisdiction under section 482 Cr.P.C. has to be invoked.

11. In State of Haryana vs Bhajanlal, 1992 SCC (Cri.) 426, the Supreme Court has summarized the extra-ordinary power of the High Court under Article 226 or inherent power under section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code, which can be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of any court or to secure justice in following cases:

1. Where the allegations in the FIR/complaint, even if taken at their face value do not prima facie constitute any offence against accused.

2. Where the allegations in the FIR/complaint or other materials do not constitute a cognizable offence justifying an investigation by the police except under an order of the Magistrate u/s 155(2) of the Criminal Procedure Code.

3. Where the uncontroverted allegations in the FIR/complaint and the evidence collected do not disclose commission of any offence.

4. Where the allegations in the FIR/complaint constitute only non-cognizable offence to which no investigation is permissible without order of the Magistrate u/s 155(2) of the Criminal Procedure Code.

5. Where the allegations are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground to proceed against the accused.

6. Where there is express legal bar in the Code or in the Statute concerned (under which the proceeding is instituted) to the institution or continuance of the proceedings.

7. Where there is a specific provision in the Code or in the Statute concerned, providing efficacious/alternative remedy for the grievance.

8. Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide or malicious with ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused with a view to spite him due to private and personal vengeance.

9. That it should be exercised very sparingly to prevent abuse of process of court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice and should not be resorted to like remedy of appeal and revision.

10. The high court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not.

12. The order has been passed by the learned trial court by making a judicial inquiry as provided under the Criminal Procedure Code and after finding that the prima facie case is being made out, the impugned order has been passed. The applicant will have occasion to put their point of view at the time of framing of charge and at the time of recording of the evidence.

13. On the basis of above discussions, I do not find any good reason for interfering in the impugned order. The application has got no force and therefore, it is liable to be dismissed.

14. The application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. is dismissed accordingly.

15. The learned counsel for the applicants has requested that some protection may be given as the applicants have been summoned in the complaint case.

16. It is directed that if within 30 days from today, the applicants appear before the court and file their bail application, the same shall be disposed of expeditiously preferably on the same day and for these 30 days no coercive measures shall be taken against the applicants.

According to the complaint, one Sessions Trial No. 642 of 1999 was initiated against the opposite party no. 2/complainant under Sections 302, 120B of I.P.C., Police Station - Chowk, District - Varanasi pertaining to Crime No. 10 of 1999, in which he was acquitted vide judgment and order dated 05.08.2002 by the Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court No. 5. The Advisory Committee of the National Security Agency (N.S.A.) had communicated by FAX to the opposite party no. 2 that his detention was found to be against law and a direction was issued for his immediate release. Earlier, the District Magistrate had cancelled the license of S.B.B.L. gun of the opposite party no. 2, but subsequently, a report was sent by Inspector, Kotwali pertaining to Crime No. 10 of 1999 in respect to the cancellation of gun license of the opposite party no. 2 and after consideration of the same, the District Magistrate vide order dated 25.08.1999, had cancelled his gun license, against which an appeal was preferred by him before the Commissioner, Varanasi under Section 19 of the Arms Act, 1959 and vide order dated 26.02.2001, the order of District Magistrate was confirmed, against which the opposite party no. 2 had preferred a writ petition No. 20298 of 2010 before the High Court, in which the orders of the District Magistrate and the Commissioner were set aside and the said gun was released in favour of opposite party no. 2 and his armed license gun was renewed up to 2009 and was valid till then. The accused-applicant along with two other co-accused were fully aware of these facts, but in order to assail his dignity, at the instance of co-accused (Sanjay Singh, Inspector, Police Station - Kotwali, District - Varanasi), on 13.06.2007, untrue facts were published in the newspapers, which were derogatory to the opposite party no. 2 and considerably dented his esteem in the eyes of public and people started looking upon him in adverse light and this also led to the breakage of betrothal ('sagaai') of the complainant's son and people started avoiding to meet him so much so that it became very difficult for him to move around and live peacefully a dignified life. This caused immense physical, mental and financial loss to him.

4. The said complaint was registered as Complaint Case No. 2025 of 2007 against the applicant and two other co-accused and on 25.06.2007, the statement of the opposite party no. 2 was recorded under Section 200 of the Code, in which he narrated the same version which has been stated above in the complaint, further clarifying that all the three accused, which included the applicant, in conspiracy with each other, published news item in 'Hindustan' and 'Amar Ujala' daily newspapers on 13.06.2007. The local editors of the said two daily newspapers were made accused along with the S.I. Sanjay Singh who were stated to have deliberately published the said news item, which led to the defamation of the opposite party no. 2 and therefore, it was mentioned that a sum of Rs. 10 lacs should be directed to be paid by the accused to compensate the opposite party no. 2.

5. In support of the complaint, one Manoj Kumar Srivastava was examined by the opposite party no. 2 as P.W.1 under Section 202 of the Code, who has stated that he knew the opposite party no. 2 and had read news item in 'Amar Ujala', Varanasi edition dated 13.06.2007, carrying news item pertaining to the opposite party no. 2, after reading which, he received a big jolt that the opposite party no. 2 was a man with criminal antecedents, having case under Section 302 of I.P.C. and he was a history-sheeter. His other friends were having the same kind feeling towards him after having read the news and started avoiding to meet him. The other witness, namely, Kashi Seth was also examined by the opposite party no. 2 as P.W.2. He also has stated that he read the Varanasi Edition of the 'Amar Ujala' daily newspaper dated 13.06.2007 and came to know about the opposite party no. 2 being a history-sheeter and this led him not to have confidence in the opposite party no. 2 as his reputation had gone down badly. The marriage of opposite party no. 2's son which was likely to take place also had broken because of the said news item having been widely read by the general public.

6. Based on the said evidence, the trial court passed the order dated 10.01.2008, wherein it was recorded that the news item which was published by the accused-applicant was nothing but publishing correct news and therefore, the same would not fall in the category of any offence. The accused being an editor of the 'Amar Ujala' daily newspaper, had published the said item only thinking that the said news item was correct and it would not appear to him that if the same was published by him, it would bring down the esteem of the opposite party no. 2 in the eyes of public. As regards the third accused Sanjay Singh, Inspector, Kotwali, the action taken by him fell within the domain of his official duty in respect of cancellation of arm's license of opposite party no. 2. Merely on account of opposite party no. 2 being acquitted, it could not be said that accused no. 3 had proceeded to take action for cancellation of arms license in order to damage his reputation. Accordingly, the trial court dismissed the complaint under Section 203 of the Code. Against the said order, a revision (Criminal Revision No. 09 of 2008) was preferred in which the Sessions Judge, Varanasi vide judgment and order dated 29.02.2008, set aside the order of the learned Magistrate mentioned above and remanded the matter back to the trial court to decide the matter afresh after hearing the counsel for the complainant and considering the evidence on record. While passing the said order, the learned revisional court observed that although the complainant had been acquitted in the cases pending against him, getting benefit of doubt, but in the publication dated 13.06.2007, it was written ''हिस्ट्रीशीटर भी लेकर घूम रहें लाइसेंसी असलहा''. The name of the opposite party no. 2 was also mentioned therein, therefore, it was not appropriate for the newspaper to publish such news without proper enquiry. The opposite party no. 2 had been acquitted by the Additional District Judge on 05.08.2002 and by the order of High Court in Writ Petition No. 20298 of 2001, the petition of opposite party no. 2 was allowed and his arm's license was restored in the year 2003. Thus, after 2003 till 2007, there was nothing against the opposite party no. 2 which could be the basis for publishing such news item that he was a history-sheeter detenue of "RASUKA" (Rashtriya Suraksha Kanoon). Further, it is mentioned in the said judgment that the publication of the fact mentioned in the complaint could not be said to be bona fide and the conclusion drawn by the learned trial court that true facts were published could not be said to be in accordance with evidence on record and accordingly, the revision was allowed.

7. Thereafter, the trial court passed the impugned order dated 09.07.2009, in which it has been recorded that the revisional court, while allowing the revision on 29.02.2008, has directed it to pass fresh order on the basis of evidence, after hearing the parties again. The revisional court in its order while drawing the conclusion, has mentioned that the publication made in the newspapers did not appear to have been published bona fidely and hence, according to the conclusion drawn by the revisional court, the accused deserves to be summoned to face trial under Section 500 of I.P.C. and accordingly, summons were issued against the applicant along with other two co-accused.

8. The main thrust of the argument of the learned counsel for the applicant was that the impugned order was totally illegal because the same was not passed on the appreciation of the evidence on record by the learned Magistrate, rather it has been passed in accordance with the wishes/opinion formed by the revisional court, which is wrong. The learned Magistrate was directed to consider the evidence afresh and after hearing the parties, he should have passed fresh order, expressing his own opinion as to whether prima facie case under the relevant sections were made out or not and it should not have passed the order merely because the revisional court had expressed opinion that the said offence was found to be made out.

9. Attention of this Court was also drawn to the order of the District

Magistrate, Varanasi dated 15.10.2007 at page no. 85 of the paper book, in which as many as four criminal cases are shown to have been recorded against opposite party no. 2 and it was also mentioned therein that on the basis of police report, showing those cases to have been initiated against opposite party no. 2, was held to be the basis for cancelling the arm's license of the opposite party no. 2. He was issued notice to show cause on 19.07.2007. In response to the said notice, the opposite party no. 2 had filed objection on 17.08.2007, stating therein that the Crime No. 10 of 1999 was registered against him because a widow lady had received a bullet injury and concerning that, proceedings were also initiated against him under N.S.A. His arm's license was also cancelled vide order dated 25.08.1999, against which he had preferred an appeal before the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, which too was dismissed and thereafter, a writ petition No. 20298 of 2001 was preferred by the opposite party no. 2 and in the said petition, vide order dated 14.05.2003, the orders of District Magistrate and the Commissioner were set aside and the arm's license of the opposite party no. 2 was directed to be restored and on that basis, the show cause notice was taken back with immediate effect and the gun was directed to be restored to opposite party no. 2. It was argued after having shown the said order, that the said order was passed on 15.10.2007, while the publication of news item was made on 13.06.2007, which was stated to be derogatory and defamatory against the opposite party no. 2. Therefore, it is apparent that the accused-applicant did not have any knowledge that any such order was passed by the District Magistrate, restoring the arm's license to the opposite party no. 2 after having found that the criminal case shown pending against him had resulted in acquittal and the High Court had passed a direction in his favour to restore the license and the weapon as well.

10. The sole basis of making publication of the said news item was that there was report of the co-accused Sanjay Singh to the effect that the above-mentioned four cases were pending against him and hence, he had made the said publication simply on the basis of the police report. There was no intention while publishing the said news item to defame the opposite party no. 2, rather it was simply a news item, which was statement of fact, basis of which was police report, which later on came to be set aside by the order of District Magistrate dated 15.10.2007, hence, he cannot be held liable for having caused offence under Sections 500 and 501 of I.P.C.

11. On the other hand, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 vehemently opposed the quashing of the proceedings against the applicant because according to him, it was very much in the knowledge of the accused-applicant that those criminal cases, which are cited above, had already been closed and the accused-applicant had been acquitted and the license of the gun was also restored to the opposite party no. 2 and yet, knowing full well, the said news item was published in the said papers with a view to maligning the image of the opposite party no. 2, hence, offence under Sections 500 and 501 of I.P.C. were made out on the basis of evidence which has been recorded by the trial court.

12. Reliance has been placed by learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 on the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of K. Sitaram and Another v. CFL Capital Financial Service Limited and Another. In the above-mentioned case, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that when a person files a complaint and supports it on oath, rendering himself liable to prosecution and embezzlement, if it is false, he is entitled to be believed unless there is some apparent reason for disbelieving him; and he is entitled to have the person, against whom he complains, brought before the court and tried. The only condition requisite for the issue of process is that the complainant's deposition must show sufficient ground for proceeding.

13. From the side of the applicant, in paragraph no. 32 of the affidavit, it is mentioned that a perusal of the order dated 15.10.2007 passed by the District Magistrate would itself demonstrate that the D.M. was not in the knowledge of earlier proceedings and as such, if at all he had given any statement against opposite party no. 2, that was on the basis of criminal proceedings and relying on the police report. However, the reporting of the publishing was done only on the basis of the statement given by the then District Magistrate and after doing preliminary enquiry by the reporter concerned, whereby he was shown the papers regarding criminal prosecution as well as the reports given by the police station concerned to the District Magistrate and as such, it cannot be said that the said reporting was done with laxity and without proper investigation, with an intention to defame any person. The petitioner/applicant, at the time of the said reporting, was Resident Editor of Hindustan Times Media Ltd. The said reporting was not done by him. There was no intention nor any personal enmity with the complainant to publish false report against him, rather it was a plain and simple reporting of the fact as narrated by the then District Magistrate, Varanasi and there was no ulterior motive against the complainant to defame him or tarnish his image. The trial court has ignored the settled principle of law that in order to constitute abetment, the abettor must be shown to have intention as well knowledge to have aided in the commission of the offence.

14. In the instant case, the applicant cannot be said to be an abettor as there was no intention or knowledge to commit the offence. There was no prima facie case made out against the applicant. There is not an iota of single specific allegation against the applicant in relation to the publication of the said news item and yet he has been summoned. Further, it was mentioned that under Section 7 of the Press and Regulation of Books Act, 1867, it is only the office of the "editor" as defined under Section 1(1) of the Act who can be held responsible for the publication and no other person. The said Act has been reproduced in the affidavit. It was necessary that the editor should have been directly responsible for publishing any news item.

15. Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.K. Alagh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, in which it is held that there is no concept of vicarious liability under criminal law. The trial court has miserably failed to appreciate the evidence on record and has taken cognizance erroneously, which needs to be set aside.

16. From the side of opposite party no. 2, counter affidavit has been filed, in which all the submissions made in the affidavit have been rebutted and it has been asserted that there was sufficient evidence on record for the trial court to summon the accused under the aforesaid sections.

17. In the rejoinder affidavit filed from the side of the applicant, the same facts have been reiterated, which have been mentioned in the affidavit and nothing new has been stated.

18. The facts in the case are very much clear, as has been mentioned above. It is a fact that the opposite party no. 2 was an accused under Section 302 of I.P.C., but he had been acquitted for the same by the trial court way back in the year 2002 and the gun license was issued in favour of opposite party no. 2, which was cancelled by the District Magistrate and thereafter, the said decision was upheld by the Commissioner. Both the orders were set aside by the High Court in Writ Petition No. 20298 of 2001 vide order dated 14.05.2003 and the said license was restored to the opposite party no. 2, while the news item in question has been published in 2007. It is apparent that the said news item appears to have been printed in newspapers without taking proper care and making proper enquiry and the possibility cannot be ruled out that the same could have been published in order to bring down the image of the opposite party no. 2, as has been stated in the complaint and supported by the two witnesses named above. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant had no intention to defame opposite party no. 2 and that he had simply printed the news item on the basis of his information which he had received from the District Magistrate and also on the basis of police report, is something which needs to be decided by the trial court after having appreciated the evidence on record of both the sides and after having appreciated in the light of cross-examination made as to whether the evidence to be adduced by the parties proves the offence as has been committed by the accused-applicant or not. In case the trial court comes to the conclusion that there was no sufficient evidence on record to hold the accused guilty of having published the said news item deliberately in order to lower his image in the estimation of public, then the accused may get acquittal from the trial court, but at this stage, prima facie there is evidence against the applicant which discloses commission of offence under Sections 500 and 501 of I.P.C.

19. Sections 500 and 501 of I.P.C. are reproduced herein below :-

500. Punishment for defamation.-Whoever defames another shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

501. Printing or engraving matter known to be defamatory.-Whoever prints or engraves any matter, knowing or having good reason to believe that such matter is defamatory of any person, shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

20. It is apparent from the above definition of offence under Section 501 of

I.P.C. that if someone prints or engraves any matter knowing that such matter is defamatory of a person, he shall be punished with two years' simple imprisonment or with fine or with both.

21. In the present case, there is certainly a news item printed, which is found by the trial court to be defamatory against the opposite party no. 2, as two witnesses have stated that when they read the said piece of evidence, they started viewing the opposite party no. 2 in poor light, considering that he was a criminal and tried to stay away from him and the marriage of his son had also broken on that account. Therefore, the fact as to whether the said news item was printed in the said newspapers knowingly that the same would tarnish the image of the opposite party no. 2 or not, is a matter of evidence and a full-fledged trial is required to be held for the same. Therefore, at the initial stage, the proceedings against the applicant cannot be nibbed in the bud and reliance may be placed by me upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Md. Abdullah Khan v. Prakash K., wherein it was held that it must be established that matter printed and offered for sale is defamatory within the meaning of expression under Section of 499 of I.P.C. If so proved, the next step would be to examine the question whether the accused-respondent committed the acts which constitute the offence of which he is charged, with the requisite intention or knowledge, etc. to make his act culpable. The answer to question depends upon facts. If the respondent is the person who either made or published the defamatory imputation, he would be liable for punishment under Section 500 of I.P.C. and if he is the person who "printed" the matter, then within the meaning of expression under Section 501 of I.P.C. Whether there is sufficient evidence to establish the guilt of the respondent for the said offence, is a matter that can be examined only after recording the evidence at the time of the trial. In this case, the Hon'ble Apex Court had held that the High Court did not choose to give any reason, whatsoever, for quashing the complaint, except concluding that the prosecution of accused would lead to miscarriage of justice, which was held to be wrong and it was considered proper that the trial ought to have been held.

23. Adopting the above principle of law in the present case, I am of the view that in the present case as well, it would be appropriate to have a full-fledged trial so as to gather the intention of the accused, whether it was there to defame the opposite party no. 2 in order to lower his image in the estimation of the public and with that motive the news item was printed or whether it was simply a statement of fact. This Court cannot prejudge this issue without the full trial.

23. In view of the aforesaid, the prayer for quashing the entire proceedings in the aforesaid case is refused and resultantly, the instantly application stands rejected.

1. Heard Sri S.S. Shah, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Laukush Kumar Shukla for opposite party no. 2, Sri G.P. Singh, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C has been moved with a prayer to quash the entire proceedings of Criminal Case No.1582 of 2014 arising out of case crime no. 722 of 2013 under sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B, 504, 506 IPC Police Station Civil Lines, District Meerut pending in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut and also a prayer is made to stay the proceedings in this case till the disposal of this application.

3. To understand the dispute involved in the present case, it would be appropriate to recount here the facts of the matter, which are as follows:-

party no. 2 and Rs.16,00,000/- from the opposite party no. 2, apart from amount which was already advanced under the agreement on the pretext for seeking permission and continued to avoid execution of the sale deed saying that she had not got permission and sometimes she would say that her son was not agreed to the said sale. The opposite party no. 2 due to old relation with the accused-applicant could not put much pressure on her and believing her assurance continued to pay her money but he came to know that the accused-applicant no. 1 had taken permission stealthy from the committee on 10.11.2009 and she was keeping him under false impression that the same had not been given and thus she wanted to usurp the amount which had already been extended to her by playing fraud upon the opposite party no. 2. Further it is mentioned in the said FIR that in order to usurp the said money of opposite party no. 2 and his brother, accused applicant no. 1 and accused-applicant nos. 2 to 4 who are his sons namely, Varun Gupta, Rajat Gupta and Vaibhav Gupta had conspired with each other and sold the said plot to one Vimla wife of Brahma Singh, Dinesh Kumar son of Brahma Singh, Savita wife of Dinesh Kumar, resident of 118-B, Takshila Colony, Meerut in a forged manner also colluding with the Registrar and representing that the said property was clear property. When the opposite party no. 2 talked to Vimla, Dinesh Kumar and Savita etc. it transpired that they had full knowledge about the agreement having been executed in favour of the opposite party no. 2 in respect of the said plot but in order to deprive the opposite party no. 2 of his rights, they got the said sale deed executed in their favour with ill intention, playing fraud upon the opposite party no. 2. They raised illegal wall on the said plot on the northern side and wanted to grab the whole plot. When the opposite party no.2 visited the spot and tried to stop illegal possession being taken, they indulged in abusing and also gave threat that the said plot had been purchased by them and if he comes again, he would be killed. The Investigating Officer, after having investigated the case, submitted charge-sheet against the above-mentioned accused-applicants under the abovementioned sections.

5. In the affidavit filed in support of the application, it is stated by the applicants that the husband of the applicant no. 1 Ved Prakash Gupta had purchased the plot in question on 21.2.1987 through a registered sale deed and the same was mutated in his name. After his death, the applicants came in its possession. The opposite party no. 2 intended to purchase the said plot from applicant no. 1 regarding which an unregistered agreement was entered into between them on 08.05.2008. The total sale amount settled was Rs.16,25,000/- and payment of Rs.50,000/- was made to the applicant no. 1. and as per the terms and conditions, the opposite party no. 2 was to get the sale deed registered within one month. A copy of the said agreement to sell has been annexed as Annexure-2. Further it is stated that instead of getting the sale deed executed, the opposite party no. 2 sent a cheque dated 25.10.2008 which was refused by the applicant no. 1. In the meantime, the applicants got good value of their property i.e. Rs.43,10,000/- and executed registered sale deed in favour of the vendees, which is annexed as Annexure-4. The opposite party no. 2 had sent a notice dated 10.3.2010 for executing the sale deed in which it was mentioned that at the time of executing the agreement to sell, the amount of Rs.50,000/- was given and remaining balance would be paid at the time of execution of the sale deed copy of the same is annexed as Annexure-5. Another notice dated 5.4.2010 was sent by opposite party no. 2 specifically mentioning that the remaining amount of Rs.15,75,000/- would be paid at the time of execution of the sale deed, copy of the same is annexed as Annexure-6. The opposite party no. 2 again sent notice dated 17.4.2010 and 8.5.2010 in which the balance amount was against mentioned as Rs.15,75,000/-. The applicant no. 1 sent a reply of the notice dated 10.3.2010 on 18.5.2010 through Devendra Kumar Kaushik, her advocate. After receipt of reply of the said notice, opposite party no. 2 filed civil suit no. 314 of 2011 for injunction against the applicants in the court of Civil Judge (S.D.), Meerut, copy of the same is annexed as Annexrure-7. Written statement was filed therein denying the allegation made in the plaint, copy of the same is annexed as Annexure-8. During pendency of the civil suit, opposite party no.2 got it amended by adding few facts. The trial court framed as many as 24 issues to be decided in the said suit and the same is still pending. It is further mentioned that the opposite party no. 2 without any rhyme or reason has lodged the first information report against the applicants on 16.11.2013.There was not even a whisper in the FIR regarding filing of the civil suit by opposite party no. 2 and allegations made in the FIR were different from the contents of notices sent by the opposite party no. 2 and the suit filed by him. The allegation of payment of Rs.6,00,000/- has been shown in the FIR whereas no such averment was made in the notices or in the suit, which itself goes to show that the FIR was lodged absolutely on the false and frivolous ground. The police has recorded the statement of the opposite party no. 2 who repeated the same version as given in the FIR and has also recorded the statement of witnesses of registered sale deed namely, Pramod Kumar and Pawan Kumar as well as the statement of Branch Manager of SBI and all the witnesses of unregistered agreement to sell namely, Pramod Tyagi, Om Prakash and the Secretary of Sahkari Samiti. The police also made a request to opposite party no.2 to hand over the original unregistered agreement but the same could not be produced by him despite repeated requests. The Investigating Officer contacted the Branch Manager of SBI who gave his report that a draft of Rs.4,00,000/ dated 25.10.2008 was got cancelled on 29.12.2009 by the informant and was deposited in the account of the opposite party no. 2. The police also recorded the second statement of the informant and several questions were put to him which were not replied satisfactorily. The police has also recorded the statement of purchaser of the plot in question namely, Dinesh Kumar, Smt. Vimla and Smt. Savita on 7.2.2014 who have stated that they had purchased the plot in question for adequate consideration. The statement of independent witness Jai Bhagwan was recorded who stated that Smt. Rekha executed sale deed only after lapse of time. On the basis of FIR, the police investigated the case and came across the notices, civil suit and various other things and ultimately came to the conclusion that no offence against the applicants was made out and submitted final report on 18.2.2014. The Superintendent of Police (Crime) rejected the final report and again further investigation was ordered. The police again recorded third statement of the informant who leveled the allegation of taking Rs.6,50,000/- from the opposite party no. 2 by the applicant, which was never mentioned in any of the notices nor in the civil suit, which makes it evident that only in order to harass and humiliate the entire family of the applicants, the said false allegations have been made. The police has also recorded statement of his brother namely, Subhash Chandra and second statements of the witness of agreement to sell namely, Pramod Tyagi and Om Prakash. Police has also recorded the statement of witness Hari Mohan Gupta and second statement of Branch Manager, SBI on 19.5.2014. It has again recorded statement of Promod Singh, Secretary of the Society who stated that NOC was given to Smt. Rekha Gupta on 10.11.2009. The police had also recorded the statement of witness Pradeep Kumar son of Mangu Singh who had got prepared the demand draft and ultimately submitted charge sheet against the applicants on 12.10.2014 in the court of Judicial Magistrate, who has taken cognizance on 22.10.2014. It is further mentioned that as per prosecution only an unregistered agreement to sell was prepared which did not give any right, title or interest to the opposite party no. 2 over the property in dispute as the same was not binding upon the applicant no. 1. Since no right accrued to the opposite party no. 2, hence the applicants were free to execute the sale deed of the said plot to any other person. No illegality was committed by the applicants in the said sale being full owner of the said property. It is further mentioned that earlier the applicants had approached this Court and was granted stay against their arrest till submission of the police report vide order dated 13.5.2014. Further it is mentioned that this matter is of civil nature and the initiation of criminal proceedings is nothing but an abuse of process of court. Further, it is mentioned that no offence under sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120B, 504 and 506 IPC has been made out against the applicants, hence criminal proceedings need to be quashed.

6. In rebuttal by filing a counter affidavit, the opposite party no. 2 has stated therein that plot no. A-82 area 856.75 sq. yards was purchased by Late Ved Prakash Gupta (husband of the applicant no. 1) in Takshila Colony from Takshila Sahkari Avas Samiti on 21.2.1987 through registered sale deed, pursuant to which his name was mutated thereon and after his death the applicant no. 1 and her sons who are applicant nos. 2 to 4 became its owner being legal heirs of the deceased. The applicant no. 1 on her own had proposed to sell the said plot on certain terms and conditions which led to executing an agreement dated 1.7.2008 between the parties duly signed by applicant no. 1 in the presence of the witnesses mentioned therein which is annexed as Annexure CA-1. Half portion of the said plot was to be purchased by his brother and while remaining half was agreed to be purchased by the opposite party no. 2 for a consideration of Rs.16,25,000/- only. At the time of execution of the agreement to sell, an amount of Rs.50,000/- as part payment of consideration was accepted by the applicant no. 1 and rest of the amount was agreed to be paid by the opposite party no. 2 at the time of execution of the sale deed. Therefore, right from the inception, the intention and motive of the accused-applicant no. 1 was not clear, as at the time of execution of the agreement to sell dated 1.7.2008, no permission was ever sought by her from Takshila Sahkari Avas Samiti for execution of the sale deed, moreover, applicants were also not having succession certificate on the date of execution of the agreement to sell. According to the terms and conditions of the agreement, the opposite party no.2 requested the applicants for execution of the sale deed but in the absence of permission from the concerned Sahkari Avas Samiti, request of the opposite party no. 2 was turned down by the applicants. Moreover, the applicants demanded and accepted Rs.6,00,000/- in certain parts only on the ground for seeking permission from Takshila Sahkari Avas Samiti for executing the sale deed in favour of the opposite party no. 2. A demand draft of Rs.4,00,000/- was handed over to the applicant no. 1 on 25.10.2008 which was issued from the account of opposite party no. 2 maintained in the SBI, Khatauli, Muzaffar Nagar but the same was never put for clearance by her and after expiry of 14 months, the same was returned to the opposite party no. 2 which shows the intention of the applicants that they deliberately, with ill motive, after receipt of Rs.6,50,000/- from the opposite party no. 2, had not executed the sale deed of the plot in question. The opposite party no.2 facilitated the applicant no. 1 in terms of money by depositing Rs.3,94,200 in the office of the said Samiti on 7.11.2009 by way of requisite dues of the development and maintenance charges. Immediately, after receiving the outstanding dues, the Samiti granted permission for execution of the sale deed but even after no objection certificate was given by concerned Samiti, the applicants were not executing the sale deed as per agreement, hence opposite party no. 2 made a request to the applicant for execution of the same through registered notice dated 10.3.2010 wherein the date of execution of sale deed was mentioned as 25.3.2010. The applicant no. 1 communicated to the opposite party no. 2 that she was ready to execute the sale deed after 20 days from the time which was mentioned by the opposite party no. 2. After completion of 20 days, the opposite party no. 2 put his appearance from morning till evening along with all the documents and requisite fee for registration of sale deed as well as balance amount of payment of consideration in the office of Sub Registrar-I, Meerut. Copy of the same is annexed as Annexure CA-2. A legal notice dated 6.5.2010 was also got served by opposite party no. 2 upon the applicants to appear before the Office of Sub Registrar-I, Meerut for execution of sale deed, copy of which is annexed as Annexure CA-3. The said legal notice was replied by the applicants in which it was admitted by them that the agreement to sell was executed by them as well as money mentioned therein was received by them, copy of the same is annexed as Annexure CA-4. Opposite party no. 2 having no option left, filed a civil suit being civil suit no.314 of 2011 before Civil Judge (Senior Division), Meerut seeking prohibitory injunction against the applicants with further prayer that a direction be issued to the applicants to execute sale deed with respect to the said plot. A written statement was also filed from the side of the applicants and in paragraph no. 3 of which the applicant no. 1 and applicant no. 4 admitted that an agreement to sell was executed by them but the same was unregistered. During the pendency of the said suit, it transpired that in breach of the agreement, by way of committing cheating and fraud with concealment of fact, the applicants executed a registered sale deed of the said plot on 6.1.2010 in favour of Smt. Vimla Devi, Dr. Dinesh Kumar and Smt. Savita. Thereafter, immediately the opposite party no. 2 moved an application for amendment which was allowed. The opposite party no. 2 is exercising his civil right for seeking part performance of the proposed sale deed of the plot in question in his favour through court as his matter is well covered under section 53-A of the Transfer of Property Act but at the same time it was also a criminal liability on the part of the applicants who after having received Rs.6,50,000/- and entered into an unregistered agreement, have fraudulently executed the sale deed of the same plot to some other persons by committing cheating, forgery on valuable security and forgery for the purposes of cheating by using a forged document. Therefore, there is no justification of quashing the proceedings.

7. Some more facts have been placed on record from the side of the applicants through rejoinder affidavit dated 04.09.2016 in which it is mentioned that it is admitted position that unregistered agreement to sell was executed by the applicant no. 1 on a Rs.100/- stamp paper in which though the names of Smt. Rekha Gupta and her sons Varun Gupta, Vaibhav Gupta and Rajat Gupta have been mentioned as party no.1 but the said unregistered agreement was only shown to be signed by Smt. Rekha Gupta and by no other person. The said agreement being unregistered, would not create any right, title or interest on the opposite party no. 2 which was executed on payment of Rs.50,000/- and the total settlement between the parties was Rs.16,25,000/-. It is further mentioned that opposite party no. 2 has annexed the certificate of appearance before the Sub Registrar, Meerut on 22.4.2010 and has also annexed notice dated 06.05.2010 and both these papers show that he admitted this fact that he had paid Rs.50,000/- while remaining amount of Rs.15,75,000/- was yet to be paid. Therefore, it is clear that except Rs.50,000/-, no further payment has been made in any form by the opposite party no. 2. Further, it is mentioned that the averments made in the plaint are totally different from that of the notices given to the applicants as nowhere was it mentioned in the notice that the opposite party no. 2 ever made payment of Rs.50,000/- but in suit it was alleged that the applicants were given cash amount of Rs.2,00,000/- and Rs.4,00,000/- which itself shows the falsehood in the prosecution story. Further, it is mentioned that execution of unregistered agreement to sell would not confer any right, title or interest upon opposite party no.2 and the applicants had legal rights to execute sale deed in favour of any other person and that matter is of civil nature and no criminal liability would arise. Allegation of making payment of Rs.2,00,000/- and Rs.4,00,000/- later on, is totally false which have been made only to pressurize the applicants as the said fact is totally missing from the application given to Sub Registrar and is also missing in various notices which have been annexed as Annexure CA-3 to the counter affidavit. The draft of Rs.4,00,000/- allegedly issued in the name of the applicant no. 1 was never presented in the bank and the same was returned to the opposite party no. 2 which itself is clear from the statement of Branch Manager, therefore, the charge-sheet filed against the applicants is totally malafide and needed to be quashed. The matter being of civil nature, the amount of Rs.50,000/- allegedly paid by opposite party no. 2 under the terms and conditions of the agreement to sell could be recovered by filing civil suit which is still pending. It is simply a case of non-execution of sale deed and it should also not be ignored that after investigation initially final report was submitted but on the direction of superior officer, investigation was further made and Investigating Officer was left with no option but to submit charge sheet which has been submitted without any evidence on record. The present dispute is subjudice before the civil court.

8. Learned counsel for applicant has relied upon the judgment of Supreme Court in Paramjeet Batra vs. State of Uttarakhand and others 2012 LawSuit (SC) 840 wherein it is held that civil transaction made also have a criminal texture. High Court must see whether civil matter is a cloak of Criminal offence. If a civil remedy is available and adopted by the complainant, the High Court should not hesitate to quash the proceedings to prevent the abuse of the process of the Court. In this case complaint attributed forgery, fabrication of documents and grabbing profit of running business by appellant appointed to be Manager of the Chicken Corner. The appellant was to receive Rs.25% of the net profit as salary. The appellant claimed tenancy of business premises by filing civil suit for injunction and obtained order of status quo. Possession was delivered by the appellant to the complainant who failed to appear and opposed the application u/s 482 Cr.P.C.. It was held that the continuation of criminal proceedings would be an abuse of process and hence they were quashed because civil court had observed that the documents produced by the appellant for claiming tenancy would have to be proved by evidence and hence status quo was directed till pendency of the suit. The complainant started criminal proceedings alleging that documents filed by the appellant in the civil suit were fabricated. It was held that the grievance of the complainant about forgery of the documents will be considered by the civil court and the appellant can deal with about such forgery in the said civil suit. The possession of the shop was handed over by the appellant to the complainant. In these circumstances, criminal proceedings if continued, were held to be an abuse of process of Court.

9. Learned counsel for the applicant also placed reliance on AIR 1979 Supreme Court 850 Trilok Singh and others vs. Satya Deo Tripathi. In this case a truck was purchased under hire purchase agreement and default was caused which led to seizure of truck by the financier. The purchaser launched criminal prosecution against financier. It was held that the dispute raised was of purely civil nature and criminal proceedings initiated were nothing but an abuse of the process of court which deserves to be quashed.

10. Learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance on Kunstocom Electronics Pvt. Ltd. vs. GILT Pack Ltd., 2002 LAWSuit (SC) 112. In this case question examined was whether objection ought to be raised at the time of framing of charge only. Answer was in the negative and it was held that there was no hard and fast rule that the objection as to cognizability of offence and maintainability of the complaint should be allowed to be raised only at the time of framing of the charge. Such was not intention of the High Court in passing the order dated 15.5.1996. In any case, in Ashok Chaturvedi and others vs. Shitul H. Chanchani and another, (1998) 7 SCC 698 it was held that determination of the question as regards the propriety of the order of the Magistrate taking cognizance and issuing process need not necessarily wait till the stage of framing the charge.

11. Lastly the reliance has been placed by the applicant upon Rajiv Thapar and others vs. Mandan Lal Kapoor, 2013 LawSuit (SC) 69 in which it has been held that the High Court can exercise powers under section 482 Cr.P.C. or Article 227 or suo moto to prevent abuse of process of law and can rely on material produced by accused if suspicion is shown as to allegations in complaint, accused may not be discharged. Care and caution should be shown while considering application to quash process as quashing of process results in negation of prosecution at initial stage.

12. From the citations which have been relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant, it is evident that through these citations, learned counsel for applicant is trying to convey to the court that in the present case it being a civil matter, criminal proceedings would not lie. He has, during the argument, mainly emphasized that only Rs.50,000/- were paid to the accused-applicant no.1 by the opposite party no. 1 pursuant to unregistered agreement to sell having been executed by the accused applicant no. 1 in favour of opposite party no. 2 for sale of the property in question. Only remaining amount was to be paid at the time of execution of sale deed which has been mentioned above. It was argued that such kind of unregistered document does not confer any power upon the opposite party no. 2 to claim transfer of property because any such kind of deal whereunder immovable property would transfer from one hand to another has got to be registered document. Therefore, in the present case, the alleged agreement to sell which is said to have been executed by the accused-applicant in favour of opposite party no. 2 being document written on simply a stamp of Rs.100/- would not extend any right or title to get the said deal executed in favour of the opposite party no. 2. At the most, Rs.50,000/- which have been paid by the opposite party no. 2 to the applicant no. 1 can be claimed back through filing recovery suit and no criminal case could be initiated for recovery of said amount nor any case of cheating would lie for such kind of recovery. Further it is mentioned that the payment of Rs.2.00.000/- and Rs.4,00,000/- which is stated to have been made subsequently is also a false claim as no such transaction has taken place between the two sides and the same has only been stated in order to put pressure upon the accused-applicants. Since the alleged agreement to sell was not a valid and acceptable document, the accused-applicants were fully empowered to sell their land to any other person and accordingly, they have chosen to sell the same in favour of three other persons named above.

13. On the other hand learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 has vehemently opposed the quashing of the proceedings saying that the intention of the accused-applicants of cheating opposite party no. 2 was there right from the beginning because an amount of Rs.50,000/- was admittedly taken at the time of execution of the agreement to sell though it is an unregistered agreement but the same would certainly indicate that the accused-applicant no.1 had admitted to execute the sale deed of the said property in favour of the opposite party no. 2 otherwise the said amount of Rs.50,000/- would not have been accepted/taken by the accused-applicant no.1. The intention of the accused applicants right from the beginning was to cheat the opposite party no.. 2 because several notices were sent to the accused applicants to come to office of Sub Registrar for execution of the sale deed as the opposite party no. 2 was ready to pay the balance amount and remained present at the said office and despite sufficient notice having been given to the applicants, they did not appear for execution of the sale deed after taking the remaining amount, instead they have sold the said property in favour of third persons thereby it is apparent that the accused-applicants have cheated the opposite party no. 2.

14. Reliance may be placed by me on S.G. Gupta vs. Ashutosh Gupta (2010) 6 SCC 562 in which it was held that positive assertion was made in complaint that assurance had been given by the petitioner (attorney of accused no. 1) to the complainant that property in question was free from all encumbrances and that the accused no.1 was the sole owner and that had not such a representation been made relating to status of ownership of property in question, complainant may not have entered into transaction at all. It was held that whether the petitioner was truly mistaken as regards information given by him is an important issue which needs to be decided in answering the charge made. Prima-facie case for going to trial, was thus, made out. Further, it is held that if at very initiation of negotiations it was evident that there was no intention to cheat, dispute would be of a civil nature. However, such a conclusion would depend on evidence to be led at the time of trial.

15. Another reliance may also be placed by me on N. Devindrappa vs. State of Karnataka, (2007) 5 SCC 228, in this case finding of fact by the courts below that appellant-accused dishonestly induced complainant to deliver him Rs.2000/- as advance in cash, as part-payment allegedly for sale of the plot of land, knowing fully that he was not the owner of the said plot. Evidence of complainant corroborated by bogus receipt issued by the accused bearing signatures of the accused and complainant and handwriting of the accused was testified by the handwriting expert. It was held that the issuance of bogus receipts by the accused given to complainant, amounts to cheating as also inducement to complainant of being provided a plot by the accused. Since property includes money, hence offence under section 420 IPC was made out. Further it is held that the case of the appellant that he had no intention to cheat the complainant and that the case was of civil nature, it was held that an act can result in both civil and criminal liability. Hence merely because the act of appellant had civil liability that does not mean that it cannot also have criminal liability.

16. The above two citations would suffice for me to emphasize that the present case could be covered under the above established proposition of law because in the present case liability of accused-applicant could be civil as well as criminal both. It is admitted case of the parties that the opposite party no. 2 had given Rs.50,000/- to the accused-applicants for sale of the plot in question by the applicant in favour of opposite party no.2 and the remaining amount was to be paid subsequently. If the accused-applicant did not want to sell the said plot to the opposite party no. 2, they should not have received/accepted the said amount of Rs.50,000/-. It is also true that the agreement to sell which is stated to have been executed by the accused-applicant in favour of opposite party no..2 is not a registered document, hence on the civil side the claim to get the sale deed executed of the disputed plot would not be possible to make because of said document being unregistered one, as, for transfer of immovable property such kind of transaction is bound to be a registered document. In the present case, it is not a registered document but it cannot be denied that the accused-applicant has accepted Rs.50,000/- despite the fact that they did not have any intention to sell the said land to the opposite party no. 2 and did not return that money also. Therefore, it cannot be said that the offence would not be covered under the definition of cheating which is defined under section 419 IPC and which is punishable under section 420 IPC prima-facie. It is apparent that the accused-applicant instead of selling the said plot to the opposite party no.2, sold the same to other three persons on higher amount. Therefore,intention not to sell the said land to opposite party no. 2 was right from the beginning. Whatever other factual disputes are referred in the present case such as payment of Rs.6.00,000/- over and above of Rs.50,000/-, same has been paid or not, is a subject matter of evidence which would be seen only during the trial. In such conspectus, I consider it not appropriate to quash the proceedings under inherent jurisdiction of this Court, therefore, the application deserves to be dismissed and is accordingly dismissed.

7. Criminal Appeal No. 509 OF 2019 Arising Out of SLP (Crl.) No. 9687 of 2018) decided on 15 March, 2019

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rahul Chaturvedi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Daya Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant assisted by Sri Chandrakesh Mishra, Sri Raj Kumar, learned counsel for the private opposite party and learned AGA at length.

2. The order impugned dated 24.08.2013 passed by learned Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Mau under section 319 Cr.P.C. in Session Trial No. 196 of 2010 (State v. Sanny and others), under sections 363, 366, 376, 373. 373 IPC and 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 ITP Act, P.S. Mau, District Mau is the core issue of the instant proceedings and it has been canvassed by learned counsel for the applicants that the same may be set aside.

3. On 09.04.2019 after hearing rival submissions of learned counsel, this Court was of the opinion that the instant application filed under section 482 Cr.P.C., deserves to be allowed and accordingly the application was allowed with a direction that the detailed reasons would follow shortly.

4. After efficaciously perusing the record, facts and circumstances of the case, submissions of the rival learned counsel for the contesting parties, the detailed reasons are mentioned herein below:

5. By means of the instant application filed under section 482 Cr.P.C., the applicant is assailing the veracity and validity of order dated 24.08.2013 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Mau passed in S.T. No. 196 of 2010 (State v. Sanny and another), under sections 363, 366, 376, 373, 372 IPC and 3,4,5,6 and 7 of the ITP Act (herein referred to "ITP Act"), P.S. Mau, District Mau whereby the applicant- Om Prakash S/o Lalchandra (non accused) and one Nisha D/o D/o Pratap Dhobi has been summoned by the trial court in exercise of power envisaged under section 319 Cr.P.C. to face the trial. Since the instant proceedings under section 482 Cr.P.C. is preferred by the applicant-Om Prakash, thus, the judgement confines to him only.

6. Before adjudicating the case it would be imperative to spell out the objectives and aims to understand section 319 Cr.P.C., which has also been vividly elaborated in catena of judgements passed by Hon'ble the Apex Court time and again. For ready reference, this Court feels it appropriate to peruse the provisions contained in section 319 Cr.P.C., for fair adjudication of the case on merits. The provisions of section 319 Cr.P.C., was enacted and incorporated to achieve the objective that, the real culprit should not get away unpunished. By virtue of these provisions, the Court is empowered to proceed against any person not shown as an accused, if it appears from evidence that a non accused person was also an active participant of that particular offence, then the courts are not powerless to summon that person and try together with other co-accused person. Courts are the sole repository of doing justice so that the rule of law should be upheld and, therefore, it will be inappropriate to deny the existence of such powers with the courts in our criminal justice system, where it is not uncommon that the real accused, at times, get away by manipulating the investigating and/or the prosecuting agency. The legislation has empowered the courts by this additional power through the provisions of the aforesaid sections to fulfill the latin doctrine "litigantes ab cœtibus summa debet non putat de manu mali legem" (unscrupulous litigants should not get away from the clutches of law).

7. Keeping in view the controversy involved in the instant case in the light of above doctrine behind section 319 Cr.P.C., it would be pertinent to mention that, responding to the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. by the informant Basanti Devi (opposite party no. 2) the applicant Jani alias Om Prakash S/o Lalchand R/o Mohall Shivdaspur (Red Light are, P.S. Maduadeeh, District Varanasi and Nisha D/o Pratap Dhobi R/o Mohalla Munshipura, P.S. Kotwali, District Mau were summoned to face trial along with other co-accused persons vide order impugned dated 24.08.2013 under the aforesaid sections of the ITP Act.

8. Before proceeding further it would be pertinent to appreciate the admissions made by contesting parties which are as follows:

9. Opposite party no. 2 -Basanti Devi w/o Achchey Lal is said to have lodged the FIR through application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C., mentioning that for the incident of 03.09.2006 in the evening hours i.e. around 18.00 hours and the FIR of the same was got registered on 04.11.2006 at about 17.45 hours wherein she disclosed the names of accused persons (I) Prakash Rajbhar S/o Jawahir Rajbhar (ii) Ajay S/o Ashok (iii) Nisha D/o unknown with the allegation of elopement of her daughter by the aforesaid named accused persons in the aforesaid offence. There is no reference of the name of the applicant.

(a) By bare reading of the FIR it is culled out that the entire thrust is made therein that at the said date and time, Lakshmi, 14 years minor daughter of the informant, was enticed away by co-accused Prakash Rajbhar to some unknown destination in front of the open eyes of the informant, herself and her elder daughter Baby and at that time. Astonishingly, they did not raise any resistance or objection. Even after considerable lapse of time the alleged victim girl could not be traced out, thereafter a search for her recovery started rolling and during this process they came across the informaton that this act of enticement was made by none other but her close associate Nisha and to this effect they filed an application of endorsement to Superintendent of Police on 08.09.2006 which went in vain.

(b) The alleged victim was eventually recovered on 29.04.2009 and her statement under section 164 Cr.P.C. was recorded. On 09.03.2010, thereafter, her statement was recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. In her statement recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C. the alleged victim girl claimed that she is aged about 28 years. In her statements recorded in both the aforesaid sections, which are annexed as annexures 3 and 3-A along with the affidavit, she attributed the role of enticement to accused persons Ajay and Prakash and alleged that the aforesaid two offenders had outraged her modesty and have not only shown porn videos but also shot her obscene videos and thereafter she was taken to a distant brother-in-law (Jeeja) of the aforesaid Ajay, with whom she was not acquainted to. She further submits therein that the accused persons Ajay, Prakash, one Sanny and alleged Jeeja of Ajay took her in a Maruti Car to one Afzal Begum and sold in her hands at Maduadeeh. She stated that Sanny, Ajay and his aforesaid jeeja also ravished her modesty time and again and she was forced in human trafficking market. In her statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C., she made a insignificant deviation viz-a-viz; above statements recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C., wherein she added that in the human trafficking market she gave birth to a baby girl (who resembles with accused Ajay). In her statement recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C. She also added that all the aforesaid persons manhandled and sexually humiliated her besides ravishing her modesty. The manhandling and sexually humiliation suffered by all the four hooligans were missing in the statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. It is an astonishing feature, after perusing both the statements of the alleged victim girl, that there is not even whisper of the present applicant Om Prakash nor he is named in the text of the FIR anywhere, therefore, there is no question of attributing any role to the present applicant in the heinous offence.

(c) After collection the material evidence on record and analyzing the same, the police on 06.06.2010 and 08.02.2012 submitted two charge sheets i.e., one bearing number 120-A of 2007 and the other bearing no. 120-B of 2007 respectively. The earlier charge sheet was submitted against Sanny @ Dinesh Rajbhar, Rakesh Rajbhar, both sons of Jawahar and Ajays/o Ashok Ram under the aforesaid sections and in charge sheet number 120-B, Afzal Begum w/o Late Rehmat Ali was made accused but the fact remains that in both the charge sheets nowhere the present applicant has been made an accused.

10. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention of the Court towards annexure 5-A sworn by none other but by the victim Laxmi Devi herself dated 03.02.2012 wherein she has taken "U" turn from her earlier stand by candidly mentioning that under the pressure exerted by the police she had taken the names of Afzal Begum, Sanny @ Dinesh Rajbhar, Rakesh Rajbhar Ajay and aforesaid jeeja of Ajay etc., and she completely denied that she was ever subjected to any sexual assault upon her by them. She also denied the factum of shoot of any obscene video of her by any of them. Relying upon the aforesaid affidavit of the alleged victim herself, the police on 13.03.2012 after recording her "Majeed Bayan" dropped the names of Ajay ka Jeeja and Janu alias Om Prakash and submitted charge sheet mentioning therein that since the victim herself does not want to proceed against the applicant, therefore, the Investigation Officer, after dropping the names of the Ajay ka Jeeja and Janu alias Om Prakash has closed the chapter of investigation.

11. In the counter affidavit too, though there was no denial to the aforesaid fact but it has been emphatically mentioned therein that the nick name of the present applicant Om Prakash, who is referred as Jani and not Janu. In paragraphs 13 of the counter affidavit it has been mentioned that annexure 5-A of the alleged victim is forged as she was compelled to sign over this affidavit.

12. Learned counsel for private opposite party submitted that the alleged victim had filed yet another affidavit on 03.02.2012 and denied the contents of her earlier affidavit.

13. But the fact remains that there is no charge sheet against the present applicant- Om Prakash. Since, the offences are exclusively triable by the court of Sessions and after committal of the case, charges were framed against the named accused persons by the learned Additional Session Judge and trial of the case started rolling.

14. Learned counsel for the applicant drew attention of the Court towards the testimony of P.W.-1- Basanti Devi as well as the alleged victim P.W.-2 Laxmi Devi (annexed as annexures 6 and 6 Ka) of the petition. In the testimony of P.W.- 1 Basanti Devi disclosed that in the year 2008 the victim came to her house, carrying a baby girl aged about half a month in her lap, who died thereafter. On her query to the victim, she disclosed that Ajay and Prakash after making her unconscious took her away in a car to some unknown destination and further answered to her queries that Ajay, Prakash, Sanny and Jani alias Om Prakash raped upon her and shot "dirty" pictures of her, thereafter she was sold to Afzal Begum from where she was thrown to the flesh peddler market.

However, The victim, P.W.-2 Laxmi Devi D/o Achchey Lal in her examination-in-chief recorded on 15.01.2013 revealed as under:

"निशा को मैं पहले से जानती हूं। मेरे घर आती–जाती थी। मेरी सहेली थी। मुझे दुकान पर लेकर जा रही थी रास्ते में अजय, प्रकाश, सनी और जानी नाम के आदमी मिले। मैं उनमें से अजय, प्रकाश और सनी को जानती थी। वे लोग मेरे घर के बगल में रहते थे। उपरोक्त चारो व्यक्ति मुझे दवाई सुंघाकर गाड़ी में लेकर चले गये। गाड़ी में निशा भी साथ में थी। उपरोक्त लोग मुझे मडुवाडीह बनारस में एक आदमी जिसका नाम जानी है के घर में रखे। इन लोगों ने वहा पर मेरे साथ गन्दा–गन्दा काम किया। गन्दा–गन्दा काम करने वालों में से अजय, प्रकाश, सनी और जानी थे। जानी का कोई और नाम नहीं है। केवल जानी नाम है। जानी को मै पहले से नही जानती थी। जब लेकर गए तब जाना। बुरे काम से मतलब गन्दा–गन्दा काम करना होता है। मुझसे रंडी पेशा करवाते थे। अजय, प्रकाश, सनी और जानी ने मेरी वीडियों फिल्म बनायी। अजय, प्रकाश, सनी और जानी ने अपना कपड़ा निकाल दिया था और मेरा कपडा भी फाड़ दिया था इसके बाद मेरे शरीर पर बुरा काम किया। उस समय निशा मेरे पास थी। जो ब्लू फिल्म मेरी बनी थी वह मैने देखी थी। ब्लू फिल्म दिखाकर अजय, प्रकाश, सनी और जानी ने मुझे धमकाया था कि अगर तुम भागी तो मार डालेगे।"

15. From a keen analysis of the aforesaid statement of the victim, it is borne out that the victim herself was candidly stating that besides the named persons in the FIR, there was an additional person named as "Jani" and the named persons have kept her at his residence. She further submits therein that there is no nick name or sir-name of Jani and she was not acquainted with Jani. It is strange that during the statement, the parentage of Jani was clandestined to ascertain the identity of this person.

16. Per contra, Sri Raj Kumar, learned counsel for private opposite party, while referring to his counter affidavit, submitted that as per class VI of the victim, the date of birth of the victim is 01.07.1991, therefore, on the date of incident, she was a minor. Though in her ossification test, age of the victim was computed as around 18+. There is a specific mention in the counter affidavit at paragraph 9 that Jani is the sirname of Om Prakash (applicant) and he is one and the same person, to whom the victim has referred in her testimony. Not only this, paragraph 10 of the counter affidavit also, while reiterating the same version of paragraph 9, it has been mentioned that there is no other name of Jani nor there is any other material in support of this proposition of Jani. This sirname of Om Prakash has been assailed by opposite party no. 2 from the examination-in-chief of the victim wherein it has been made crystal clear that the victim the soul, mind and body were immensely tortured,harassed and crushed by various persons but millions dollar question is yet to be answered as to who this Jani was? In her statement she candidly stated that there is no other nick name of Jani. She does not know the parentage of this Jani nor she was acquainted with this person during her life-time. Nor there was any test identification parade so that she may identify/ascertain the real culprit, who ravished her.

17. In the light of the aforesaid factual background the validity and veracity of the order impugned is to be adjudicated.

18. This Court has keenly gone through the entire impugned order dated 24.08.2013 passed by the Additional Session Judge verbatimly.

19. In paragraph 2 of the aforesaid order seems to have misquoted the testimony of P.W.-2 by mentioning therein that she had disclosed the name of Jani alias Om Prakash s/o Om Prakash and Nisha d/o Pratap Dhobi as co-accused persons, which is an apparent case of misquoting the testimony of P.W.-2. P.W. -1 in her testimony narrated the sad saga of her daughter, mouthed by the victim herself. There is an apparent contrast between both the testimonies with regard to the identity of Jani and Om Prakash and whether they are one and the same person or of two different identities. Till the time this puzzle is resolved satisfactorily it would at higher risk to exercise power envisaged under the jurisdiction of section 319 Cr.P.C. by the court concerned. It is in the last but one paragraphs of the impugned judgement that without any material on record, the learned Additional Session Judge had his own wisdom mixed by interpreting as to this person Jani alias Om Prakash is one and the same person, which is factually incorrect proposition and not permissible under law.. In the examination-in-chief the victim girl has refuted that there is no other nick name of Jani which can be interpreted thereafter to be aliasing as Om Prakash but the learned Additional Session Judge has tried to raise castle over this defective premises.

20. Fact remains that the applicant is neither named in the FIR nor has been charge sheeted by the police and there is not even iota of his name in the entire case diary as to the fact that Jani and Om Prakash are one and same person. There is deep rooted identity crisis of this person concerned and on the basis of flimsy and blurred factual premises an innocent person (till date) cannot be dragged to face criminal prosecution for the aforesaid offence, which would axe the very objective of the provisions of Section 319 Cr.P.C.

21. In order to buttress his contention, learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention of this Court towards paragraphs 95, 105 and 106 of the judgement of the Hon'ble Apex Court wherein it has followed the proposition annunciation in other cases while adjudicating the case of Hardeep Singh Vs. State of Punjab & Others, [(2014) 3 SCC 92], which are extracted herein below:

"....95. In Suresh v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2001 SC 1375, this Court after taking note of the earlier judgments in Niranjan Singh Karam Singh Punjabi v. Jitendra Bhimraj Bijjaya, AIR 1990 SC 1962 and State of Maharashtra v. Priya Sharan Maharaj, AIR 1997 SC 2041, held as under:

"9.....at the stage of Sections 227 and 228 the Court is required to evaluate the material and documents on record with a view to finding out if the facts emerging therefrom taken at their face value disclose the existence of all the ingredients constituting the alleged offence. The Court may, for this limited purpose, sift the evidence as it cannot be expected even at that initial stage to accept all that the prosecution states as gospel truth even if it is opposed to common sense or the broad probabilities of the case. Therefore, at the stage of framing of the charge the Court has to consider the material with a view to find out if there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence or that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against him and not for the purpose of arriving at the conclusion that it is not likely to lead to a conviction."

105. In Sohan Lal &Ors. v. State of Rajasthan, (1990) 4 SCC 580, a two-Judge Bench of this Court held that once an accused has been discharged, the procedure for enquiry envisaged under Section 398 Cr.P.C. cannot be circumvented by prescribing to procedure under Section 319 Cr.P.C.

106. In Municipal Corporation of Delhi v. Ram Kishan Rohtagi &Ors., AIR 1983 SC 67, this Court held that if the prosecution can at any stage produce evidence which satisfies the court that those who have not been arraigned as accused or against whom proceedings have been quashed, have also committed the offence, the Court can take cognizance against them under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and try them along with the other accused."

22. The aforesaid paragraphs are with regard to the degree of satisfaction at the stage of framing of the charge the Court has to consider the material with a view to find out if there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence or that there is not sufficient ground for summoning him under section 319 Cr.P.C.

23. In another case of Sugreev Kumar vs The State Of Punjab [Criminal Appeal No. 509 OF 2019 Arising Out of SLP (Crl.) No. 9687 of 2018) decided on 15 March, 2019, Hon'ble the Apex Court has casted embargo that section 319 Cr.P.C. is an extra-ordinary provision which would be invoked only on the basis of available material on record. It is being, a discretionary and an extraordinary power, which has to be exercised sparingly and diligently and only in the circumstance where strong and cogent evidence is on record. The prima facie opinion, which is to be found for exercise of power requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of complicity of a person. The test to be applied is the one which more prima facie case, as examined at the time of framing of charge but not of satisfaction to the extent that the evidence, if goes uncontroverted would lead conviction of the accused.

24. By applying this yardstick in the present case, where identity of a person is doubtful and there is no confidence generating material on record that Jani and Om Prakash are one and the same person or two different individuals and in the opinion of this Court, it is highly risky to ask a person, whose identity is at stake, to face trial along with other co-accused persons. During the entire investigation, a person like Om Prakash s/o Lalchand, nowhere came into the light frame and thus cannot be said to be involved, by any means, in the instant case. No identity parade was conducted to ascertain the identities of the accused persons and identify the real culprit/s. The victim, herself, has stated in her statement recorded at the relevant stages of trial that there is no other nick name of Jani, then the blanks cannot be filled without any confidence generating material.

25. T heir is yet another aspect of the issue underlining the facts, that the victim girl herself admits that she was thrown into the flesh market for almost one and a half year. She remained in a burrow of a badger during those disgusting days, where her body, mind and soul was debilitated rather shattered into pieces, emotions and feelings were crushed and the poor girl ought to have acted like a chicken with its head cut-off, thus, presumably it was her state of mind where she could not utter a single word in certainty that it was the applicant- Om Prakash, who exploited her to the hilt by committing the nasty act with her. Therefore, under the aforesaid peculiar circumstances of the case, it would not be safe to use this extra-ordinary power for summoning the applicant.

26. Recently, yet in another judgement of Hon'ble the Apex Court delivered in the case of Periyasami and Ors. Vs. S. Nallasamy [Criminal Appeal No. 456 of 2019 arising out of S.L.P (Crl.) No. 208 of 2019 passed on March 14, 2019] wherein relevant paragraph 15 of the aforesaid judgement is extracted herein below:

"15. The High Court has set aside the order passed by the learned Magistrate only on the basis of the statements of some of the witnesses examined by the Complainant. Mere disclosing the names of the appellants cannot be said to be strong and cogent evidence to make them to stand trial for the offence under Section 319 of the Code, especially when the Complainant is a husband and has initiated criminal proceedings against family of his in-laws and when their names or other identity were not disclosed at the first opportunity."

27. Perusal of the aforesaid paragraph categorically clears the dust on the mirror by mentioning that mere disclosing name of any person cannot be construed to be strong, cogent evidence to make them to stand trial for the offence under section 319 Cr.P.C., to summon any non-accused person.

28. It is mind boggling that girl is being enticed away right in front of her mother and sister by some unknown person and there was no resistance or objection, what-so-ever by her sibling i.e. mother or her own sister on the fateful day and that too after considerable delay, the mother of the victim moved an application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. for lodging an FIR against three persons (wherein the present applicant was not named/referred). In both the statements recorded under sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., the victim girl has not even whispered the name of the applicant-Om Prakash whereas she referred the name of one Jani categorically specifying that there is no nick name of Jani, which compelled the Investigating Agency to drop the name of applicant-Om Prakash and closing the entire investigation. In the aforesaid circumstance, it was binding duty of the learned trial Judge to establish the identity of a person/accused as to whether the present applicant Om Prakash and Jani areone and same before exercising his extra-ordinary powers under section 319 Cr.P.C. at least peruse the case diary carefully while exercising his extra-ordinary power under section 319 Cr.P.C., which falls within the definition of evidence as in the case of Brijendra Singh & Ors vs State Of Rajasthan (2017) 7 SCC 706]. Relevant portion of the aforesaid case is extracted herein below:

".....Thus, the "evidence' recorded during trial was nothing more than the statements which was already there under Section 161 Cr.P.C. recorded at the time of investigation of the case. No doubt, the trial court would be competent to exercise its power even on the basis of such statements recorded before it in examination-in-chief.

However, in a case like the present where plethora of evidence was collected by the IO during investigation which suggested otherwise, the trial court was at least duty bound to look into the same while forming prima facie opinion and to see as to whether "much stronger evidence than mere possibility of their (i.e. appellants) complicity has come on record. There is no satisfaction of this nature. Even if we presume that the trial court was not apprised of the same at the time when it passed the order (as the appellants were not on the scene at that time). What is more troubling is that even when this material on record was specifically brought to the notice of the High Court in the Revision Petition filed by the appellants, the High Court too blissfully ignored the said material...."

29. Thus the trial Judge was duty bound to follow the aforesaid principles of law enunciated in the case of Brijendra Singh (Supra) and he ought to have taken into account the evidence collected by the Investigating Officer of the case during investigation while exercising and deciding the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. in the instant case.

29. It appears that the learned Additional Session Judge has solely and blindly followed the testimonies of P.Ws.-1 and 2 only over ruling all other materials collected by the Investigating Officer, which has lead him to a wrong conclusion in passing the order impugned.

30. Besides this, the trial Judge ought to have recorded his only satisfaction as to the sufficiency of material on record while exercising his extra-ordinary power in summoning a non-accused person- Om Prakash (the applicant) to face trial with other accused persons. Thus, after carefully perusing the impugned order dated 24.08.2013 and comparing the same with the ratio laid down in the cases of (i) Hardeep Singh (Supra) (ii) Sugreev Kumar (Supra) (iii) Periyasami and Ors. (Supra) (iv) Brijendra Singh (Supra) and (v) Labhuji Amratji Thakor &Ors. Vs. State of Gujarat&ANR. decided 13.11,2018 in Criminal Appeal No.1349 of 2018 arising out of SLP (CRL.) No.6392 /2018, I have no hesitation to hold that the order-in-question is well short of the level of satisfaction required for invoking the powers under section 319 Cr.P.C.

31. Normally under such circumstances, the matter may be remanded for a fresh look into the matter in the light of the aforesaid ration laid down by the Apex Court but at this juncture when in his rejoinder affidavit, learned counsel for the applicant has annexed RA-1 to the petition, which is copy of the judgement and order dated 30.07.2016 passed in S.T. Nos. 196 of 2019 (State of U.P. v. Sanny alias Dinesh Rajbhar) and 88 of 2012 (State of U.P. v. Afzal Begum) passed by the Additional Session Judge/FTC No. 1, Mau respectively, wherein the accused persons Sanny alias Dinesh Rajbhar and Afzal Begum were acquitted for the offence under sections under sections 363, 366, 376, 373, 108/376, 372, 373 IPC and 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 ITP Act on the basis of benefit of doubt whereas the judgement with regard to rest of the accused persons has already been delivered, acquitting them from all the charges in which they have been charged for, thus, it would be an exercise in futility or only for academic interest without any tangible result.

32. In support of the aforesaid annexure of the rejoinder affidavit, learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention of this Court towards the issue of power to proceed against other persons appearing to be guilty appearing to be quilty of offence by quoting section 319 Cr.P.C. itself. For ready reference, it would be beneficial to go through it once again and the same runs as follows:

" Section 319 in The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973

319. Power to proceed against other persons appearing to be guilty of offence.

(1) Where, in the course of any inquiry into, or trial of, an offence, it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence for which such person could be tried together with the accused, the Court may proceed against such person for the offence which he appears to have committed.

(2) Where such person is not attending the Court, he may be arrested or summoned, as the circumstances of the case may require, for the purpose aforesaid.

(3) Any person attending the Court, although not under arrest or upon a summons, may be detained by such Court for the purpose of the inquiry into, or trial of, the offence which he appears to have committed.

(4) Where the Court proceeds against any person under sub- section (1), then-

(a) the proceedings in respect of such person shall be commenced a fresh, and the witnesses re-heard;

(b) subject to the provisions of clause (a), the case may proceed as if such person had been an accused person when the Court took cognizance of the offence upon which the inquiry or trial was commenced."

33. Learned counsel for the applicant laid his emphasis that since the aforesaid Session Trials have ended in acquittal of accused persons Sanny alias Dinesh Rajbhar and Afzal Begum and the present applicant applicant has been summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C. and the provision of this section can only be exercised during pendency of the trial, as the trial has already been concluded in the matter, therefore, the order impugned becomes functus officio. Thus the order impugned itself does not sustain and is liable to be rectified. To buttress his submission, learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgement and order dated 08.03.2011 passed in Criminal Revision No. 1440 of 2011 (Ajay v. State of U.P.) by coordinate Bench of this Court wherein aggrieved by summoning order dated 11.02.2011 passed under section 319 Cr.P.C., by the court below, the revisionist had knocked door of this Court by submitting therein that power under Section 319 Cr.P.C, as the enacted statute ordains, can be exercised only during pendency of the trial. If the trial is concluded, no power under the aforesaid section can be wielded/utilized by the trial Judge. He submits that after the date when judgment was delivered, the court became functus officio and, therefore, the court could not have fixed a future date to exercise power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. The conclusion drawn by the aforesaid coordinate court is as follows:

"I have perused the impugned judgement and order. While judgmenting S.S.T. No.374 of 2008 State Vs. Navneet and others for the aforementioned offences, the trial Judge convicted all the accused persons for charges under Sections 294, 147, 148, 452, 323/149, 324/149, 504 I.P.C. and 3 (1) (X) SC/ST Act. While sentencing the aforesaid accused persons for the aforesaid offences, the trial Judge directed that record in respect of the revisionist Ajay be separated and for issuing process, 21.2.2011 was fixed. This order was passed on 11.2.2011. As the record reveals that on 11.2.2011, the trial Judge judgmented the aforesaid Special Session Trial, therefore, after judgmenting the case, the trial Judge became functus officio. He could not have taken any proceedings in respect of other person wielding power under section 319 Cr.P.C, which could have been utilized only during commencement of the trial. After conclusion of the case, no court can utilize power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and start afresh trial in respect of separate accused.

Phraseology of Section 319 Cr.P.C. further indicates that power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. can be utilized to add any person as an accused who is not already facing trial, only during pendency of the inquiry or trial. That section further ordains that in the event the trial Judge harbingers intention to add any accused, he should have stayed the trial and take up trial in respect of newly added accused simultaneously including examination of the witnesses afresh."

34. Here it would be pertinent to peruse the principles of law enunciated by the Apex Court in the case of Ramdhan Mali and another v. State of Rajasthan and another delivered on 10.01.2014 in Criminal Appeal No. 1750 OF 2008 along with other petitions, which re-emphasises the provisions of section 319 Cr.P.C. Relevant portion of the aforesaid judgement and order are extracted herein below:

"37. Even the word "course" occurring in Section 319 Cr.P.C., clearly indicates that the power can be exercised only during the period when the inquiry has been commenced and is going on or the trial which has commenced and is going on. It covers the entire wide range of the process of the pre-trial and the trial stage. The word "course" therefore, allows the court to invoke this power to proceed against any person from the initial stage of inquiry upto the stage of the conclusion of the trial. The court does not become functus officio even if cognizance is taken so far as it is looking into the material qua any other person who is not an accused. The word "course" ordinarily conveys a meaning of a continuous progress from one point to the next in time and conveys the idea of a period of time; duration and not a fixed point of time."

38. In a somewhat similar manner, it has been attributed to word "course" the meaning of being a gradual and continuous flow advanced by journey or passage from one place to another with reference to period of time when the movement is in progress. "

35. Comparing the facts and situations of the instant case with the aforementioned authorities, it is apparent that instant application filed under section 482 Cr.P.C. was filed in the year 2013 and coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 28.03.2013 kept in abeyance the proceedings of the case and during this period, the judgement of S.T. No. 196 of 2010 (State v. Sanny and another), under sections 363, 366, 376, 373, 372 IPC and 3,4,5,6 and 7 of the ITP Act, P.S. Mau, District Mau by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Mau was pronounced vide order dated 30.07.2017 in favour of the accused persons by acquitting them, therefore, after pronouncement of the judgement in the case the aforesaid S.T. No. 196 of 2010 became functus officio and could not be reopened afresh as contemplated under section 319 (4) Cr.P.C., as referred to above.

36. Therefore, there is a practical embargo because now S.T. No. 196 of 2010 (State v. Sanny and another) is not itself existing and the entire exercise being conducted under section 319 Cr.P.C. by the learned trial Judge would yield no result rather it would be a sore in the eyes of law.

37. Thus, assessing over all fact and circumstances of the case and comparing the guidelines laid down by the Apex Court in the cases of Hardeep Singh (Supra), Sugreev Kumar (Supra), Periyasami and Ors. (Supra) and Brijendra Singh (Supra), this Court has got no hesitation in quashing the order dated dated 24.08.2013 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Mau passed in S.T. No. 196 of 2010 (State v. Sanny and another), under sections 363, 366, 376, 373, 372 IPC and 3,4,5,6 and 7 of the ITP Act, P.S. Mau, District Mau.

38. The present application filed under section 482 Cr.P.C. is, accordingly, allowed Act against the applicant nos. 1 to 3, Police Station Meerapur, District Muzaffar Nagar pending before Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.3, Muzaffar Nagar.

3. Filtering out unnecessary details, basic facts of the case in brief are that the applicant no.1 (Kaleem) is husband, applicant no.2 (Mobeen) is father-in-law, applicant no.3 (Smt. Sayada @ Bhoori) is mother-in-law of victim Sabnam. On 10.03.2019, Mohd. Iqbal (brother of victim) lodged First Information Report regarding an incident dated 6.3.2019 against the accused-applicants registered as Case Crime No. 0065 of 2019, under Sections 376D, 506, 504 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act at Police Station Meerapur, District Muzaffar Nagar alleging inter-alia that marriage of his younger sister (victim Sabnam) was solemnized on 06.03.2019 with the applicant no.1. In the marriage, about a sum of Rs. seven lakh were spent by his family members, but the accused-applicants were not satisfied and started demanding rupees fifty thousand in cash and one Alto Car at the time of marriage. Anyhow, "bidai" ceremony was performed and Sabnam was sent to her matrimonial house, but on the nuptial night (first night of marriage) the accused-applicants entered into the room of victim Sabnam and started taunting/abusing for not fulfilment of their demand of dowry by her family members. On resisting by the victim Sabnam, they in abrasive tone threatened to see her. Thereafter, Daood (brother-in-law/Jija of the husband of victim) forcibly committed rape on victim in the first night of her marriage and therewith Kaleem (husband) following Daood also committed rape on victim. It is further alleged that after the aforesaid atrocities, she became unconscious. On the next day in morning, brother of victim received an information from unknown person that his sister in not well. On such information, informant (brother of the victim) alongwith his other family members reached at the matrimonial house of the victim and she was brought to VashisthaHospital situated in Almaspur Chaupala, Muzaffar Nagar in a bad condition for her treatment. Seeing the crowed collected at the hospital, the accused persons ran away. Victim on gaining consciousness also told that her mother-in-law with intention to kill her choked her neck from Dupatta.

4. The applicants have filed the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of the informant (brother of the victim), in which he has reiterated the version of the FIR. Victim Sabnam in her statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. as well as under Section 164 Cr.P.C. also supported the prosecution case making allegations as mentioned in the FIR. Statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. of victim is being reproduced herein-below:-

5. On 15.03.2019, victim Sabnam was medically examined, where her statement was also recorded by the doctor concerned. The brief statement of the victim as mentioned in the column of "description of incident in the words of narrator" in the medical examination report dated 15.03.2019 is reproduced herein-below:-

" शादी की रात को पहले ससुर एवं सास आये जिन्होने दहेज के लिए डाटा तथा उसके बाद आदमी एवं नन्दोई ने जवरदस्ती करने की कोशिश करके बलात्कार किया जवरदस्ती दोनो हाथ बांध दिए थे। उसके बाद इसे खून जाने लगा तथा प्राइवेट डाक्टर के यहॉ भर्ती करके टांके लगवाये"

6. The Investigating Officer after investigation submitted charge-sheet dated 19.0.2019 against the accused Daood under Sections 376, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act and against remaining other co-accused under Sections 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act mentioning that since accused Kaleem is husband of victim, therefore, rape committed by him, as per prosecution case will not come under the category of rape, on which, the Magistrate concerned took cognizance on 01.07.2019.

7. Record indicates that in the present case, earlier the victim was impleaded as opposite party no.2, but later before filing this application her name was scored out as opposite party no.2 by pen and mentioned as applicant no.5. Alongwith application, a joint affidavit of accused-applicant no.1 Kaleem and victim Sabnam has been filed and in the said affidavit the name of victim has find place as opposite party no.2.

8. It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicants that:-

(i) The applicants have been falsely implicated.

(ii) The allegations levelled against the accused-applicants in the FIR as well as in the statements of informant and victim are false and concocted.

(iii) The statement of the victim under Section 164 Cr.P.C. dated 02.04.2019 was recorded under the influence of her family members.

(iv) Now, the dispute between the parties concerned has amicably settled outside the Court and compromise deed dated 9.7.2019 has also been prepared. The affidavit of victim Sabnam and said compromise deed dated 9.7.2019 have been appended as Annexure No.6 to the application.

(v)It is also submitted that the applicant no.1 and victim is living together as husband and wife, therefore, the impugned charge-sheet and entire aforesaid impugned criminal proceedings against the applicants are liable to be quashed.

(vi) Learned counsel for the applicants in support of his submissions placed reliance on the following judgments:-

(a) Asha and another Vs. State of U.P. and another 2018 (6) ADJ 45.

(b) Vineet Kumar and others Vs. State of U.P. and another 2017 (13) SCC 369.

(c) Dr. Dhruvaram Murlidhar Sonar Vs. The State of Maharashtra and others AIR 2019 SC 327.

9. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate has vehemently opposed the prayer of the applicants and refuting the submissions of learned counsel for the applicants submitted that:-

(i) The offence under Section 376 IPC is a serious offence against the society, therefore, the parties cannot be permitted to make compromise being non-compoundable offence.

(ii) It is also submitted that the alleged compromise deed dated 9.7.2019 has been prepared after submission of charge-sheet dated 19.05.2019 against the accused persons.

(iii) The said affidavit of compromise deed dated 9.7.2019 are not part of the case diary, therefore, the same cannot be taken into consideration at this stage.

(iv) It is also submitted that since the incident took place on the first night of marriage of the victim, therefore, it cannot be said that the accused persons have been falsely implicated.

(v) It is vehemently urged that since it is not a simple case of matrimonial dispute, but a serious matter where victim has been raped by her brother-in-law (Jija of husband of the victim) on wedding night of her marriage as per allegations levelled by the victim in the present case, therefore, by saying that it is a matrimonial dispute, the applicant no.4 (Daood) cannot be let off at this stage from the offence committed by him only on the basis of alleged compromise. As such the present application is misconceived and is liable to be dismissed.

(vi) Learned Additional Government Advocate in support of his submissions placed reliance on the judgment of Apex Court in case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Laxmi Narayan and others AIR 2019 SC 1296.

10. After having heard the arguments of learned counsel for the parties concerned, before delving into the matter, it is apposite to deal the judgments cited on behalf of the parties.

Firstly, I shall deal the judgments relied upon on behalf of the applicants.

(a) In the matter of Asha and another Vs. State of U.P. and another 2018 (6) ADJ 45, the facts of the case was that father of the victim lodged FIR that accused Anand Kumar has enticed away her daughter aged about 15 years. After investigation, charge-sheet was submitted against accused Anand Kumar under Sections 363, 366, 376 I.P.C. and ¾ POCSO Act. Criminal Misc. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was moved by the victim and accused on the ground that they are husband and wife and victim is residing with her husband. Father of the victim has lodged the false and fabricated FIR, because victim on her own free will and volition went in the company of accused. The victim after running away from her house married with accused at Arya Samaj Mandir. The Investigating Officer in an arbitrary manner without doing fair investigation submitted charge-sheet. On the said facts that before lodging First Information Report, parties have already married with consent of each other and they are major. They are living peacefully as husband and wife, the High Court took a view that offence of rape or kidnapping or abduction has not been committed at all, therefore, criminal proceedings was quashed.

(b) In the matter of Vineet Kumar and others Vs. State of U.P. and another 2017 (13) SCC 369, the facts of the case was that accused has made several transactions with the complainant, her husband and son in the month of May, 2015. Accused gave Rs. 9 lakh to the husband and son of the complainant for business purpose and agreement dated 29.05.2015 was signed by the husband of the complainant and one of the accused acknowledging the payment of Rs. 6 lakh 60 thousand in cash and Rs. 2 lakh 40 thousand by cheque. Another agreement between the complainant and one of the accused was entered into on 01.06.2015 wherein it was acknowledged that complainant and her husband had taken Rs. 7 lakh 50 thousand in cash from the accused. Third agreement was entered into between the son of complainant and one of the accused on 31.08.2015 wherein son of complainant acknowledged that his parents have taken an amount of Rs. 14 lakh 50 thousand. Complainant and her husband gave cheque of Rs. 6 lakh 50 thousand to the accused for recovery of amount given by the accused. Later on, one of the accused filed complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act against husband and son of the complainant. Thereafter, on 30.10.2015 complainant filed an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. against all three accused alleging commission of offence under section 376(d), 323 and 452 IPC. During investigation, complainant refused to her internal examination and husband also denied for medical examination of his wife, as much time had been elapsed. The Investigating Officer after investigation submitted final report as the allegations were found false. The police also submitted report for initiating the proceedings under section 182 Cr.P.C. against the complainant. The complainant moved protest petition, which was allowed by the Magistrate concerned on 28.05.2016. On the said facts an Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was preferred before the High Court, which was allowed setting aside the order dated 28.05.2016 directing the Magistrate to pass fresh order.

The Magistrate again vide order dated 03.08.2016 summoned the accused. Revision was filed before the Session Judge against the order dated 03.08.2016, which was dismissed vide order dated 22.10.2016. Accused again filed an Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to quash the order dated 03.08.2016, which was refused by the High Court. Aggrieved by the order of the High Court, accused approached the Apex Court by filing S.L.P., which has been allowed and criminal proceedings against the accused was quashed in the light of guideline laid down under the category no.7 as innumerated in case of State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others 1992 SCC (Cr.) 426 considering that criminal proceedings is manifestly attended with mala fide and proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.

(c) In the matter of Dr. Dhruvaram Murlidhar Sonar Vs. The State of Maharashtra and others AIR 2019 SC 327, the facts of the case was that FIR was registered on 06.12.2000 against accused-appellant under Sections 376(2)(b), 420 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code and under Section 3(1)(x) of the SC/ST Act. In the said case, accused-appellant was serving as a medical officer in the PrimaryHealthCenter and complainant was working as Assistant Nurse in the same health center. Both accused and complainant on account of having love affair started residing together. They were in relationship with each other and they resided some time at her house and some time at the house of the appellant. When the complainant came to know that accused-appellant has married with some other women, then she lodged complaint. The Apex Court on the said fact has held that there is clear distinction between rape and consensual sex. It was also held that if the allegations made in complaint are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, they do not make out a case of rape against accused-appellant, therefore, complaint registered under Section 376(2)(b) cannot be sustained. On the said observation, charge-sheet dated 14.06.2001 filed in the said case was quashed by the Apex Court.

Now Court proceed to deal with the judgment relied upon by the prosecution.

(a) Three judge Bench of the Apex Court recently on 5.3.2019 in the matter of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Laxmi Narayan and others AIR 2019 SC 1296 has ruled that the criminal proceedings for the offence of "rape" cannot be quashed merely on the basis of compromise made between the victim and offender. The guideline laid down by the Apex Court in para 13 of the said judgment is reproduced herein-below:-

"13. Considering the law on the point and the other decisions of this Court on the point, referred to hereinabove, it is observed and held as under:

i) that the power conferred under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings for the non-compoundable offences under Section 320 of the Code can be exercised having overwhelmingly and predominantly the civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes and when the parties have resolved the entire dispute amongst themselves;

ii) such power is not to be exercised in those prosecutions which involved heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society;

iii) similarly, such power is not to be exercised for the offences under the special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender;

iv) offences under Section 307 IPC and the Arms Act etc. would fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore are to be treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone, and therefore, the criminal proceedings for the offence under Section 307 IPC and/or the Arms Act etc., which have a serious impact on the society cannot be quashed in exercise of powers under Section 482 of the Code, on the ground that the parties have resolved their entire dispute amongstthemselves. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to framing the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delegate parts of the body, nature of weapons used etc. However, such an exercise by the High Court would be permissible only after the evidence is collected after investigation and the charge sheet is filed/charge is framed and/or during the trial. Such exercise is not permissible when the matter is still under investigation. Therefore, the ultimate conclusion in paragraphs 29.6 and 29.7 of the decision of this Court in the case of Narinder Singh (supra) should be read harmoniously and to be read as a whole and in the circumstances stated hereinabove;

11. In view of aforesaid discussions, it is apparent that the judgments relied upon on behalf of the accused-applicants are not helpful to the applicants as the aforesaid cases are distinguishable on the facts, as such the same are not applicable in the present case. Here it is apposite to mention that even one additional or different fact may make big difference between the conclusions in two cases and blindly placing reliance on a decision is never proper. It is trite law that each case depends on its own facts and a close similarity between one case and another is not enough because even a single significant detail may alter the entire aspect. Every case has to be decided on its own facts and no hard and fast rule can be laid down as regards the cases, which deserve quashing by the High Court in exercise of power u/s 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. If, considering the special facts of a case, the court decides to quash the charge-sheet on the basis of compromise in a particular case, that ipso facto does not justify quashing of the charge-sheet in every other case involving the commission of an offence punishable under the same provision of law or with equal or even lesser punishment. The nature of the offence than in fact is more important than the punishment prescribed for it.

12. In Bodhi Sattwa Gautam Vs. Subhra Chakraborty, AIR 1996 SC 922, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed, inter alia, as under:-

"Unfortunately, a woman, in our country, belongs to a class or group of society who are in a disadvantaged position on account of several social barriers and impediments and have, therefore, been the victim of tyranny at the hands of men with whom they, fortunately, under the Constitution enjoy equal status. Women also have the right to life and liberty; they also have the right to be respected and treated as equal citizens. Their honour and dignity cannot be touched or violated. They also have the right to lead an honourable and peaceful life.

Women, in them, have many personalities combined. They are mother, daughter, sister and wife and not play things for centre spreads in various magazines, periodicals or newspapers nor can they be exploited for obscene purposes. They must have the liberty, the freedom and, of course, independence to live the roles assigned to them by nature so that the society may flourish as they alone have the talents and capacity to shape the destiny and character of men anywhere and in every part of the world.

Rape is thus not only a crime against the person of a woman (victim), it is a crime against the entire society. It destroys the entire psychology of a woman and pushes her into deep emotional crisis. It is only by her sheer will-power that she rehabilitates herself in the society which, on coming to know of the rape, looks down upon her in derision and contempt. Rape is, therefore, the most hated crime. It is a crime against basic human rights and is also violative of the victim's most cherished of the Fundamental Rights, namely, the Right to Life contained in Article 21. To many feminists and psychiatrists, rape is less a sexual offence than an act of aggression aimed at degrading and humiliating women. The rape laws do not, unfortunately, take care of the social aspect of the matter and are inept in many respects."

13. Sexual offences constitute an altogether different class of crime which is the result of a perverse mind. By their very nature these crimes cannot be treated at par with matrimonial offence. Sexual violence apart from being a dehumanizing act is an unlawful intrusion of the right of privacy and sanctity of a female and is a serious blow to her supreme honor offending her self-esteem and dignity. Allowing quashing of charge-sheet, pursuant to a compromise, will, in such cases, only embolden the perpetrators of such crimes, which otherwise are on the increase, in society. If the accused in such a case is an affluent person and the prosecutrix comes from a socially or economically weaker strata of the society, quashing in such a case would only encourage commission of such offences, as the accused, using his money power or otherwise, may be able to induce the prosecutrix/victim to enter in to settlement with him and then seek quashing of criminal proceedings, on the strength of that settlement.

14. The present case, in hand, is not a simple case of matrimonial dispute, but it is aggravated form of cruelty, because as per the prosecution case bride (victim) has been forcibly raped by Jija of her husband and thereafter by her husband on her first night of marriage in barbarian manner in her matrimonial home on account of non fulfillment of demand of dowry, which is a serious offence, which suffocate the breath of life and sully the reputation of the victim. The rape is non-compoundable offence and it is an offence against the society, therefore, it is not a matter to be left for the parties to make compromise and settle the issue outside the Court. Though except the offence under Section 376 I.P.C. other sections of I.P.C. are compoundable, but it is not necessary that in all such cases, the consent given by the victim for compromising the case is a genuine consent. Possibility of giving consent under compelling circumstances against the wishes of the victim cannot be ruled out. There is every possibility that victim might have been pressurized by the accused persons by different means compelling her to opt for a compromise. The Court cannot always be assured that the consent given by the victim is a genuine consent. The act and conduct of the accused-applicants in the present case are against the civilized norms. Such offences have serious impact on society and are distinct from other matrimonial offences, where parties have resolved their dispute and because of compromise between the victim and offender, possibility of conviction is remote and bleak. Genuineness of the compromise, which is not a part of the case diary or the prosecution case, cannot be adjudicated at this stage in the present application, which cannot be more appropriately gone into by the trial court at the appropriate stage.

15. In the light of above discussion and after elaborate and wholesome treatment of the issues as laid down by the Apex Court recently in case of Laxmi Narain (supra), I do not find any merit in the present application. The relief as sought by the accused-applicants cannot be granted under the facts and circumstances of the case. This Court is of the view that it is well settled that the appreciation of any foreign document, which is not part of the case diary is a function of the trial court at the appropriate stage. It is also settled by the Apex Court in catena of judgments that the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. at pre-trial stage should not be used in a routine manner, but it has to be used sparingly, only in such a appropriate cases, where uncontroverted allegations made in FIR or charge-sheet and the evidence relied in support of same do not disclose the commission of any offence against the accused. Genuineness or otherwise of the allegation cannot be even determined at this pre-trial stage.

16. In view of above, the impugned criminal proceeding under the facts of this case cannot be said to be abuse of the process of the Court. There is no good ground to invoke inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. by this Court. Hence, criminal proceedings against the applicants is not liable to be quashed. As a fallout and consequence of above discussion, the relief as sought by the applicants through this application is refused.

17. The instant application lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

18. Office is directed to communicate this order to the concerned court below within two weeks.

No. 773 of 2019, which was allowed by order dated 10.1.2019 of the co-ordinate Bench of this Court and cognizance order dated 25.9.2018 was quashed on the ground that the same was passed on a printed proforma without application of judicial mind and without considering any material brought on record by the Investigating Officer alongwith charge-sheet. By order dated 10.1.2019, liberty was also given to the Magistrate concerned to pass fresh order in accordance with law. Sonali Jaiswal) and handed over the aforesaid drafts of Rs. 10 lakhs to Sri Manish Jaiswal, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party no.2 before this Court. Photocopy of the said demand drafts have also been brought on record as Annexure No.1 to the joint affidavit dated 5.8.2019.

7. Learned counsels appearing on behalf of the applicants and opposite party no.2 also submitted at the Bar that the parties concerned shall comply with the other terms and conditions of settlement, as mentioned in the joint affidavit dated 5.8.2019 in its letter and spirit. Sri Manish Jaiswal, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 further submits that now opposite party no.2 has no grievance against the applicants and she has no objection in quashing the impugned criminal proceedings against the applicants.

8. After having heard the arguments of learned counsel for the parties, this Court feels it appropriate to refer some relevant judgments of the Apex Court, wherein the Apex Court has laid down the guideline for quashing of criminal proceedings on the basis of compromise and amicable settlement of matrimonial dispute between the parties concerned, which are as follows:-

8.1 The Apex Court in Madhavrao Jiwajirao Scindia and others V. Sambhaji-rao Chandrojirao Angre and others held that while exercising inherent power of quashing under Section 482, it is for the High Court to take into consideration any special features which appear in a particular case to consider whether it is expedient and in the interest of justice to permit a prosecution to continue. Where, in the opinion of the Court, chances of an ultimate conviction are bleak and, therefore, no useful purpose is likely to be served by allowing a criminal prosecution to continue, the Court, may, while taking into consideration the special facts of a case also quash the proceedings.

8.2 The observations of the Apex Court in G. V. Rao Vs. L.H.V. Prasad and others are very apt for determining the approach required to be kept in view, in matrimonial dispute by the Courts, it was said that there has been an outburst of matrimonial disputes in recent times. Marriage is a sacred ceremony, the main purpose of which is to enable the young couple to settle down in life and live peacefully. But little matrimonial skirmishes suddenly escalate which often assume serious proportions resulting in commission of heinous crimes in which elders of the family are also involved with the result that those who could have counselled and brought about re-approachment are rendered helpless on their being arrayed as accused in the criminal case. There are many other reasons which need not be mentioned here for not encouraging matrimonial litigation so that the parties may ponder over their defaults and terminate their disputes amicably by mutual agreement instead of fighting it out in a Court of law where it takes years and years to conclude and in that process the parties lose their "young" days in chasing their "cases" in different Courts.

8.3 The scope and ambit of the power conferred on the High court by Section 482 Cr.P.C., read with Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India, in the particular context of prayer for quashing criminal proceedings, was examined by the Supreme Court in B.S. Joshi and others. Vs. State of Haryana and another against the backdrop of a catena of earlier decisions. It was a criminal case arising out of marital discord. Noting, with reference to the decision in State of Karnakata Vs. L Muniswamy that in exercise of this "inherent" and "wholesome power", the touchstone is as to whether "the ends of justice so require", it was observed thus :

"10. ... that in a criminal case, the veiled object behind a lame prosecution, the very nature of the material on which the structure of the prosecution rests and the like would justify the High Court in quashing the proceeding in the interest of justice and that the ends of justice are higher than the ends of mere law though justice had got to be administered according to laws made by the legislature. ...that the compelling necessity for making these observations is that without a proper realization of the object and purpose of the provision which seeks to save the inherent powers of the High Court to do justice between the State and its subjects, it would be impossible to appreciate the width and contours of that salient jurisdiction." (emphasis supplied)

It was further noted :-

"What would happen to the trial of the case where the wife does not support the imputations made in the FIR of the type in question. As earlier noticed, now she has filed an affidavit that the FIR was registered at her instance due to temperamental differences and implied imputations. There may be many reasons for not supporting the imputations. It may be either for the reason that she has resolved disputes with her husband and his other family members and as a result thereof she has again started living with her husband with whom she earlier had differences or she has willingly parted company and is living happily on her own or has married someone else on the earlier marriage having been dissolved by divorce on consent of parties or fails to support the prosecution on some other similar grounds. In such eventuality, there would almost be no chance of conviction. Would it then be proper to decline to exercise power of quashing on the ground that it would be permitting the parties to compound non-compoundable offences? The answer clearly has to be in the "negative". It would, however, be a differentmatter if the High Court on facts declines the prayer for quashing for any valid reasons including lack of bona fides". (emphasis supplied)

8.4 The Apex Court in another decision in case of Smt Swati Verma Vs. Rajan Verma and others where similar to the present case, the dispute including the criminal and divorce litigation between the sparring spouses had been decided on the basis of a compromise and the husband had paid Rs. 6 lakhs to his wife for the settlement, the apex Court had quashed the criminal proceedings under Section 498A and 406 IPC before the CJM, rendering the application under section 482 Cr.P.C before the Allahabad High Court infructuous. It had also granted the decree of divorce, rendering the divorce suit pending before the ADJ at Delhi infructuous, In that case in paragraph 7 the Hon'ble Supreme Court had observed:

"7. Having perused the records placed before us we are satisfied that the marriage between the parties has broken down irretrievably and with a view to restore good relationship and to put a quietus to all litigations between the parties and not to leave any room for future litigation, so that they may live peacefully hereafter, and on the request of the parties, in exercise of the power vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India, we allow the application for divorce by mutual consent filed before us under Section 13B of Hindu Marriage Act and declare that the marriage solemnized between the consenting parties on 13th June, 2001 at Delhi is hereby dissolved, and they are granted a decree of divorce by mutual consent."

8.5 The Apex Court in case of Parbatbhai Aahir @ Parbatbhai Vs. State of Gujarat has also laid down the criteria for exercise of the jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. by observing that:-

"15. The broad principles which emerge from the precedents on the subject, may be summarised in the following propositions :

(i) Section 482 preserves the inherent powers of the High Court to prevent an abuse of the process of any court or to secure the ends of justice. The provision does not confer new powers. It only recognises and preserves powers which inhere in the High Court;

(ii) The invocation of the jurisdiction of the High Court to quash a First Information Report or a criminal proceeding on the ground that a settlement has been arrived at between the offender and the victim is not the same as the invocation of jurisdiction for the purpose of compounding an offence. While compounding an offence, the power of the court is governed by the provisions of Section 320 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The power to quash under Section 482 is attracted even if the offence is non-compoundable.

(iii) In forming an opinion whether a criminal proceeding or complaint should be quashed in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482, the High Court must evaluate whether the ends of justice would justify the exercise of the inherent power;

(iv) While the inherent power of the High Court has a wide ambit and plenitude it has to be exercised; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent an abuse of the process of any court;

(v) The decision as to whether a complaint or First Information Report should be quashed on the ground that the offender and victim have settled the dispute, revolves ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case and no exhaustive elaboration of principles can be formulated;

(vi) In the exercise of the power under Section 482 and while dealing with a plea that the dispute has been settled, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the offence. Heinous and serious offences involving mental depravity or offences such as murder, rape and dacoity cannot appropriately be quashed though the victim or the family of the victim have settled the dispute. Such offences are, truly speaking, not private in nature but have a serious impact upon society. The decision to continue with the trial in such cases is founded on the overriding element of public interest in punishing persons for serious offences;

(vii) As distinguished from serious offences, there may be criminal cases which have an overwhelming or predominant element of a civil dispute. They stand on a distinct footing in so far as the exercise of the inherent power to quash is concerned;

(viii) Criminal cases involving offences which arise from commercial, financial, mercantile, partnership or similar transactions with an essentially civil flavour may in appropriate situations fall for quashing where parties have settled the dispute;

(ix) In such a case, the High Court may quash the criminal proceeding if in view of the compromise between the disputants, the possibility of a conviction is remote and the continuation of a criminal proceeding would cause oppression and prejudice; and

(x) There is yet an exception to the principle set out in propositions (viii) and

(ix) above. Economic offences involving the financial and economic well-being of the state have implications which lie beyond the domain of a mere dispute between private disputants. The High Court would be justified in declining to quash where the offender is involved in an activity akin to a financial or economic fraud or misdemeanour. The consequences of the act complained of upon the financial or economic system will weigh in the balance."

8.6 The Apex Court recently in a judgment dated 5.3.2019 rendered by a Bench of three Hon'ble Judges in case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Laxmi Narayan and others considering previous judgments and section 320 Cr.P.C. has laid down guideline for exercising the jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. in case of settlement of dispute between the accused and complainant. The para 13 of the said judgment is reproduced herein-below:-

"13. Considering the law on the point and the other decisions of this Court on the point, referred to hereinabove, it is observed and held as under:

i) that the power conferred under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings for the non-compoundable offences under Section 320 of the Code can be exercised having overwhelmingly and predominantly the civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes and when the parties have resolved the entire dispute amongst themselves;

ii) such power is not to be exercised in those prosecutions which involved heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society;

iii) similarly, such power is not to be exercised for the offences under the special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender;

iv) offences under Section 307 IPC and the Arms Act etc. would fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore are to be treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone, and therefore, the criminal proceedings for the offence under Section 307 IPC and/or the Arms Act etc., which have a serious impact on the society cannot be quashed in exercise of powers under Section 482 of the Code, on the ground that the parties have resolved their entire dispute amongst themselves. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to framing the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delegate parts of the body, nature of weapons used etc. However, such an exercise by the High Court would be permissible only after the evidence is collected after investigation and the charge sheet is filed/charge is framed and/or during the trial. Such exercise is not permissible when the matter is still under investigation. Therefore, the ultimate conclusion in paragraphs 29.6 and 29.7 of the decision of this Court in the case of Narinder Singh (supra) should be read harmoniously and to be read as a whole and in the circumstances stated hereinabove;

v) while exercising the power under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings in respect of non-compoundable offences, which are private in nature and do not have a serious impart on society, on the ground that there is a settlement/compromise between the victim and the offender, the High Court is required to consider the antecedents of the accused; the conduct of the accused, namely, whether the accused was absconding and why he was absconding, how he had managed with the complainant to enter into a compromise etc."

9. The object of criminal law is primarily to visit the offender with certain consequences. He may be made to suffer punishment or by paying compensation to the victim, but the law at the same time also provides that it may not be necessary in every criminal offence to mete out punishment, particularly, if the victim wants to bury the hatchet. If the offender and victim want to move on in a matrimonial cases, they may be allowed to compound the offences in terms of settlement. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, as on date in the light of dictum and guideline laid down by the Apex Court as mentioned above, I think the interests of justice would be met, if the prayer of parties is acceded to and the criminal proceedings and other litigation between the parties is brought to an end.

On making settlement between the parties in a matrimonial dispute, the chance of ultimate conviction is bleak and therefore, no useful purpose is likely to be served by allowing a criminal prosecution against the applicants to continue.

10. As a fallout and consequence of above discussions, the impugned charge-sheet dated 23.07.2018 arising out of Case Crime No. 0005 of 2017, cognizance order dated 05.04.2019 and entire proceedings of case no.8333 of 2018 (State Vs. Alok Jaiswal and others), under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506, 406 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act, Police Station Mahila Thana, District -Allahabad pending in the court of 18th Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad against the applicants are hereby quashed.

11. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed in terms of compromise as mentioned above.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SAUMITRA DAYAL SINGH, J.

CIVIL MISC. WRIT PETITION No. 33417 of 2017
(u/s -482 Cr. P.C.)

Manoj Singh ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. &Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sarita Mishra

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A.

A. Section 138 Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881- dishonour of cheque issued by a sole proprietorship firm - not arrayed as party in complaint case - no need to array sole proprietary concern separately – application challenging complaint dismissed (Para 20& 23)

B. Section 141 of Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 - sole proprietary concern – is only a trade name – it is neither a natural nor a juristic person - not required to be arrayed as party accused – Supreme Court decision in Aneeta Haada distinguished

The relevance to array both the juristic person i.e., company or partnership firm and natural person i.e., directors or partners of the company or firm so as to the directors and partners make be held vicariously liable for the wrongful act of the company or firm. However, to the contrary, the sole proprietary concern is the trade name of the business of the person who conducts it. No two person/entity exist. Therefore, it is not necessary to array the sole proprietorship concern as an accused party to the case. (Para 14 & 15)

C. Explanation (a) to Section 141 of Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881- whether sole proprietary concern falls within the meaning of the term 'Company' or 'Firm' used in the provision - not body corporate as not artificially incorporated under general or special statute - cannot be said to be an association of individuals because at least two individuals form it - sole proprietary concern remains the identified to the individual who owns it - it does not have separate/independent legal existence

There is a legal fiction created in law which separates the entity from the person who created it as in case of company or partnership Firm. But on the other hand in case of a sole proprietary concern it remains one. The trade name does not constitute an entity different from its owner – the sole proprietor. Second, the partner to a firm has been artificially equated to a director of a company. The director or partners have vicarious liability towards the artificial person. Therefore, the artificial person i.e., the company or the firm and natural persons i.e., the partners or directors both are impleaded as an accused person in any complaint. On the other hand, this principle is not applicable to sole proprietary concern.

9. (1970) 3 SCC 491 State of Madras s. C.V. Parekh and Anr. (E-10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the judgment and order dated 27.07.2017 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.5, Allahabad in Criminal Revision No.345/2016 (Manoj Singh Vs. Shakeel Ahmad) as well as order dated 20.07.2016 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.5, Allahabad in Complaint Case No.485 of 2014, under Section 138 Negotiable Instrument Act, P.S- Jhunsi, District-Allahabad.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits, the complaint is wholly incompetent since the cheque (giving rise to the complaint) was issued by the 'company' M/s Manoj Rice Mill that was not impleaded as an accused person (in the complaint). Reliance has been placed on Section 141 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). The issue is stated to be covered by a Single Judge decision of this Court in the Application u/s 482 No. 31101 of 2013 (Hitendra Kishan Lal Jain Vs. State of U.P. &Anr.), decided on 13.12.2017.

4. That case involved default/dishonour of a cheque issued by a proprietorship firm. After referring to Section 141 of the Act, and relying in decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Aneeta Haada Vs. Godfather Travels and Tours Private Limited and Anr., (2014) 6 SCC(Cri) 845, the learned Single Judge observed:-

"Since cheques in question were belonging to a Firm and vide explanation appended to Section 141 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, firms or other association of individual are also included in the word 'Company'. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Aneeta Hada (supra) has clearly held that if cheque is issued by a Firm or Company, the Firm / Company must be arrayed as an accused. Same view has been expressed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the cases relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant that until and unless Company or Firm is arrayed as an accused, director or other officials of the Company / Firm cannot be prosecuted / punished.

.....Thus, on the sole ground of non-arraigning of the Firm as an accused in the complaint, the submissions raised by the learned counsel for the applicant that complaint proceedings are an abuse of process of law is acceptable. It is also pertinent to mention here that it will be immaterial whether the Firm running in the name and style of 'New Arihant Trading' is a proprietorship Firm or registered Firm."

5. Shri Madan Mohan Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 and Sri Ankit Srivastava, learned AGA, on the other hand submit, the position in law is otherwise. The provision of Section 141 of the Act would not apply in the case of a sole proprietorship concern and that it would be restricted to a duly incorporated company or a partnership firm or an association of persons only.

6. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place there is no dispute to the fact that the applicant was running a sole proprietary concern in the name M/s Manoj Rice Mill. It was neither a partnership firm nor a company nor any other association of persons. Then, the provision of Section 141 of the Act reads:-

"141. Offences by companies.-

(1) If the person committing an offence under section 138 is a company, every person who, at the time the offence was committed, was in charge of, and was responsible to the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly:

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any person liable to punishment if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge, or that he had exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence. [Provided further that where a person is nominated as a Director of a company by virtue of his holding any office or employment in the Central Government or State Government or a financial corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or the State Government, as the case may be, he shall not be liable for prosecution under this Chapter.]

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where any offence under this Act has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to, any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation.- For the purposes of this section,-

(a) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of individuals; and

(b) "director", in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm."

7. A plain reading of the provision makes it clear, if the person committing the offence is a "company", in that event every natural person responsible for such commission as also the artificial person namely the company shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly. Also, certain other natural persons may be held guilty, if so proved.

8. By way of the Explanation (a) attached to that provision of law, the term 'company' (specifically for the purpose of Section 141 of the Act), has been defined to mean a body corporate or a firm or any other association of individuals. In this statutory context, it calls for examination whether a sole proprietary concern, qualifies or falls within the meaning of the term 'company' or a 'firm' used in that provision.

9. There can be no doubt as to the meaning to be attributed to a "body corporate". That has to be an entity artificially incorporated, either by a special statute enacted to incorporate such corporations or under a general statute such as the Companies Act whereunder public and private companies are commonly incorporated, or a duly constituted entity given such status under a statute such as co-operative societies, local authorities etc. constituted under different enactments. However, it can never be understood to include a proprietorship firm that is neither incorporated nor constituted by or under any statute.

10. As to the meaning to be attributed to the words "association of individuals", the same has to be understood as an entity created by the free will of more than one individual, for furtherance of a common object or purpose. The use of the plural form of the word 'individual' itself leaves no room for any doubt in that regard. Then, for any 'association' of individuals to arise, there have to exist at least two individuals to form it. A single individual may never form an association with himself.

11. Thus, the phrase "association of individuals" necessarily requires such entity to be constituted by two or more individuals i.e. natural persons. On the contrary a sole-proprietorship concern, by very description does not allow for ownership to be shared or be joint and it defines, restricts and dictates the ownership to remain with one person only. Thus, "associations of individuals" are absolutely opposed to sole-proprietorship concerns, in that sense and aspect.

12. A 'partnership' on the other hand is a relationship formed between persons who willfully form such relationship with each other. Individually, in the context of that relationship, they are called 'partners' and collectively, they are called the 'firm', while the name in which they set up and conduct their business/activity (under such relationship), is called their 'firm name'.

13. While a partnership results in the collective identity of a firm coming into existence, a proprietorship is nothing more than a cloak or a trade name acquired by an individual or a person for the purpose of conducting a particular activity. With or without such trade name, it (sole proprietary concern) remains identified to the individual who owns it. It does not bring to life any new or other legal identity or entity. No rights or liabilities arise or are incurred, by any person (whether natural or artificial), except that otherwise attach to the natural person who owns it. Thus it is only a 'concern' of the individual who owns it. The trade name remains the shadow of the natural person or a mere projection or an identity that springs from and vanishes with the individual. It has no independent existence or continuity.

14. In the context of an offence under section 138 of the Act, by virtue of Explanation (b) to section 141 of the Act, only a partner of a 'firm' has been artificially equated to a 'director' of a 'company'. Its a legal fiction created in a penal statute. It must be confined to the limited to the purpose for which it has been created. Thus a partner of a 'firm' entails the same vicarious liability towards his 'firm' as 'director' does towards his 'company', though a partnership is not an artificial person. So also, upon being thus equated, the partnership 'firm' and its partner/s has/have to be impleaded as an accused person in any criminal complaint, that may be filed alleging offence committed by the firm. However, there is no indication in the statute to stretch that legal fiction to a sole proprietary concern.

15. Besides, in the case of a sole proprietary concern, there are no two persons in existence. Therefore, no vicarious liability may ever arise on any other person. The identity of the sole proprietor and that of his 'concern' remain one, even though the sole proprietor may adopt a trade name different from his own, for such 'concern'. Thus, even otherwise, conceptually, the principle contained in section 141 of the Act is not applicable to a sole-proprietary concern.

16. In the case of Ashok Transport Agency v. Awadhesh Kumar, (1998) 5 SCC 567, it has been held :

"6. A partnership firm differs from a proprietary concern owned by an individual. A partnership is governed by the provisions of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932. Though a partnership is not a juristic person but Order XXX Rule 1 CPC enables the partners of a partnership firm to sue or to be sued in the name of the firm. A proprietary concern is only the business name in which the proprietor of the business carries on the business. A suit by or against a proprietary concern is by or against the proprietor of the business. In the event of the death of the proprietor of a proprietary concern, it is the legal representatives of the proprietor who alone can sue or be sued in respect of the dealings of the proprietary business. The provisions of Rule 10 of Order XXX which make applicable the provisions of Order XXX to a proprietary concern, enable the proprietor of a proprietary business to be sued in the business names of his proprietary concern. The real party who is being sued is the proprietor of the said business. The said provision does not have the effect of converting the proprietary business into a partnership firm. The provisions of Rule 4 of Order XXX have no application to such a suit as by virtue of Order XXX Rule 10 the other provisions of Order XXX are applicable to a suit against the proprietor of proprietary business "insofar as the nature of such case permits". This means that only those provisions of Order XXX can be made applicable to proprietary concern which can be so made applicable keeping in view the nature of the case." (emphasis supplied)

17. In Bhagwati Vanaspati Traders v. Supt. of Post Offices, (2015) 1 SCC 617, it has been held:

"11. We find merit in the second contention advanced at the hands of the learned counsel for the appellant. It is indeed true, that the NSC was purchased in the name of M/s Bhagwati Vanaspati Traders. It is also equally true, that M/s Bhagwati Vanaspati Traders is a sole proprietorship concern of B.K. Garg, and as such, the irregularity committed while issuing the NSC in the name of M/s Bhagwati Vanaspati Traders, could have easily been corrected by substituting the name of M/s BhagwatiVanaspati Traders with that of B.K. Garg. For, in a sole proprietorship concern an individual uses a fictional trade name, in place of his own name".

(emphasis supplied)

18. Directly relevant to the question raised in the present proceedings, inRaghu Lakshminarayanan v. Fine Tubes, (2007) 5 SCC 103, it was observed:

"8. The concept of vicarious liability was introduced in penal statutes like the Negotiable Instruments Act to make the Directors, partners or other persons, in charge of and control of the business of the company or otherwise responsible for its affairs; the company itself being a juristic person.

9. The description of the accused in the complaint petition is absolutely vague. A juristic person can be a company within the meaning of the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 or a partnership within the meaning of the provisions of the Partnership Act, 1932 or an association of persons which ordinarily would mean a body of persons which is not incorporated under any statute. A proprietary concern, however, stands absolutely on a different footing. A person may carry on business in the name of a business concern, but he being proprietor thereof, would be solely responsible for conduct of its affairs. A proprietary concern is not a company. Company in terms of the Explanation appended to Section 141 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of individuals. Director has been defined to mean in relation to a firm, a partner in the firm. Thus, whereas in relation to a company, incorporated and registered under the Companies Act, 1956 or any other statute, a person as a Director must come within the purview of the said description, so far as a firm is concerned, the same would carry the same meaning as contained in the Partnership Act.

10. It is interesting to note that the term "Director" has been defined. It is of some significance to note that in view of the said description of "Director", other than a person who comes within the purview thereof, nobody else can be prosecuted by way of his vicarious liability in such a capacity. If the offence has not been committed by a company, the question of there being a Director or his being vicariously liable, therefore, would not arise.

13.....

14. We, keeping in view the allegations made in the complaint petition, need not dilate in regard to the definition of a "company" or a "partnership firm" as envisaged under Section 34 of the Companies Act, 1956 and Section 4 of the Partnership Act, 1932 respectively, but, we may only note that it is trite that a proprietary concern would not answer the description of either a company incorporated under the Companies Act or a firm within the meaning of the provisions of Section 4 of the Partnership Act".

19. The Madras High Court, in Sri Sivasakthi Industries Vs. Arihant Metal Corporation 1992 (74) Company Cases 749, P. Muthuraman Vs. Padmavathi Finance (Regd) 1994 (80) Company Cases 656 and again in S.K. Real Estates and Another Vs. Ahmed Meeran 2002 (111) Company Cases 400 has consistently held that a sole proprietorship is neither a firm nor a company nor an association of individuals, under section 141 of the Act.

20. In contrast, in Aneeta Haada (supra), there existed a duly incorporated company whose cheque signed by its authorized signatory (Aneeta Haada), had been dishonored giving rise to the criminal complaint alleging commission of offence under Section 138 of the Act. The Supreme Court held, in the case of offence under Section 138 of the Act being committed by a company/juristic person, it would be imperative to first arraign the company (juristic person) as an accused person. The other category of offenders i.e. natural person/s may be arraigned only on the touchstone of vicarious liability.

21. That three judge decision of the Supreme Court is based on and follows the earlier three judge decision of that Court inSt. of Madras Vs C.V. Parekh and Anr. (1970) 3 SCC 491, the principle laid down and applied being, in the case of an offence being committed by a juristic person, the occasion to proceed against the person authorized by such person would arise only if the latter is first arraigned as an accused person and held guilty.

22. Plainly, there is no ratio laid down, that in case of a sole-proprietary concern, both the business concern and the sole proprietor would be liable to be prosecuted or be impleaded as accused person in the criminal complaint. To that extent, the decision of the learned single judge in Hitendra Kishan Lal Jain(supra), is not based on a correct reading of Aneeta Haada (supra).

23. The above principle enunciated in Aneeta Haada (supra) or C.V. Parekh(supra) has no bearing in the case of a sole-proprietary concern. Neither there exist two persons/accused, nor there exists any person other than the sole-proprietor whose actions may constitute ingredients of an offence under section 138 of the Act. He is the person engaged in the conduct of his business/'concern' and he is the person who issues/signs the cheque, whose dishonour is the primary ingredient of the offence.

24. While I would otherwise have been bound to refer the matter to the larger bench in view of my disagreement with Hitendra Kishan Lal Jain (supra), however, in view of further fact that the position in law stands clearly enunciated by authoritative pronouncements of the Supreme Court in the case of Ashok Transport Agency v. Awadhesh Kumar (supra) and Bhagwati Vanaspati Traders v. Supt. of Post Offices (supra) as followed and directly applied to section 141 of the Act in Raghu Lakshminarayanan v. Fine Tubes (supra), which decisions had not been placed and therefore not considered in Hitendra Kishan Lal Jain (supra), it appears that that decision of the learned single judge, is contrary to the binding law laid down by the Supreme Court. Also, it has been rendered per incuriam. Being bound by the law laid down by the Supreme Court, there is no requirement to refer the question to a larger bench of the Court.

25. Accordingly, there is no defect in the complaint lodged against the applicant, in his capacity as the sole proprietor of the concern M/s Manoj Rice Mill. There was no requirement to implead his sole proprietary concern as an accused person nor there was any need to additionally implead the applicant by his trade name.

26. The present application lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

3. Dinesh Singh and others vs State of UP and another, 2008 lawsuit (All) 686 (E-5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ali Hasan, learned counsel for applicants, Sri Daya Shanker, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2, Sri G.P. Singh, learned A.G.A. appearing for State and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C has been moved with a prayer to quash the criminal proceedings in Criminal Complaint Case No. 254 of 2013 (Leelawati vs. Jai Prakash) under sections 323, 504, 506, 427 IPC, Police Station Kerakat, District Jaunpur pending in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-II, Jaunpur including the summoning order dated 28.10.2013 and also a prayer is made to stay the proceedings in this case till the disposal of this application.

3. To understand the dispute better it would be appropriate to refer here the facts in brief of the case which are as follows. The opposite party no. 2 who is wife of the accused applicant no. 2 made a complaint before the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate II, Jaunpur stating therein that 2 daughters were born out of their wedlock but no son which led to the annoyance to her husband, who kept Shakuntala daughter of Basantu/Applicant no. 3 with him and was issuing threats to the opposite party no. 2 that he would not give his property to the opposite party no. 2 and her 2 daughters namely Mamta and Babita rather the same would be written in favour of Shakuntala and regarding this the Opposite Party no. 2 has filed a suit no. 1219 of 2011, Lilawati vs Somaru. Getting annoyed due to this, the applicant no. 1 Jai Prakash Rai alias Kailash Nath, who is a man of gunda character and is involved in an offence under sections 302 IPC and is notorious for spreading terror at his instance Somaru and Shakuntala after getting bulldozer called, razed to the ground the kachcha house of the opposite party no. 2 and had stolen away her household goods. When the opposite party no. 2 resisted, all the above named three accused abused her badly and threatened opposite party no. 2 and her daughters to run away failing which they would also be done to death by using bulldozer and saying all this the opposite party no. 2 was beaten badly and when her daughter reached there to save, they were also beaten. Hearing the commotion Habibullah and various other persons of the village also reached there who intervened and witnessed the occurrence. The accused then left the place gaving threats uttering " madarchod agar koi karyavahi karegi to jan se mar kar khatm kar denge". Saving her life from the terrorism of the accused the opposite party no. 2 came to the police station Kerakat to lodge a written report which was given there, but the police did not register the same nor was she sent for medical examination nor police went to the spot and feeling frustrated the opposite party no. 2 sent a registered complaint to the Superintendent Police but when no action was taken by them, she presented the complaint dated 29/09/2013 before the court to summon the accused and punish them. The statement of the opposite party no. 2 was recorded under sections 200 Cr. P.C. in which she has stated that her entire house was demolished by the applicant nos 1 to 3. Both her daughters had been married. Her husband had kept daughter of Basantu. Her husband consumes liquor and abuses. He has written agricultural land in the name of applicant no. 3/Shakuntala. Both the daughters Mamta and Babita live with her while Shakuntala is wife of Ram Khelawan. All the three accused would get opposite party no. 2 and her daughters killed and had abused all of them regarding which a complaint was made at the police station but no action was taken. There is one bigha of land in the name of her husband, out of which half used to be sown by her while the other half by Shakuntala. As on date, the said land was being cultivated by the accused while she herself was meeting her expenditure by doing labourer's work. The entire land is in the name of her husband. The two daughters namely, Mamta and Babita have been examined under Section 202 Cr. P.C. by the trial court and both of them have given identical statements stating that their father had got annoyed with their mother and had threatened that all his movable and immovable property would be given to Shakuntala daughter of Basantu, by which their mother became perturbed and had filed an Original Suit in the court of Civil Judge Junior Division, Shahganj, Jaunpur. Due to this their father Somaru became angry and on 19/03/2013 atabout 10 AM Jai Prakash alias Kailash Nath/applicant no. 1 called a bulldozer and started demolishing the kachcha house of opposite party no. 2 which was resisted by her, whereafter all the three accused started beating their mother by fists and kicks, abused her badly and when both the daughters raised alarm, hearing the same Habibullah and other persons of the village reached there and had seen the occurrence, who intervened into this matter. Accused had taken away the household articles of their mother and had issued threats while leaving the place that in case any action was taken against them they all would be eliminated.

4. After having considered the evidence cited above, the trial court has summoned the accused applicants to face trial under sections 323, 504, 506 and 427 IPC by the impugned order which is prayed to be quashed in the present proceedings.

5. By way of filing affidavit in support of the present application, it has been submitted from the side of the applicant that it was wrong submission on the part of the opposite party no. 2 that she had just two daughters, in fact three daughters were born out of the wedlock of opposite party no. 2 and the accused applicant no. 2 . The two daughters namely, Mamta and Babita had been married but unfortunately the third daughter namely Shakuntala/accused no.

3 was a poor lady who was residing with the accused applicant no. 2, her father and used to take his care and as a result of that a registered will deed was executed in her favour on 01/08/2007, true copy of which has been annexed as Annexure no. 6 to the affidavit. The opposite party no. 2 filed original suit no. 1219 of 2011, Smt. Lilawati vs Somaru for permanent injunction against the applicant no. 2, a true copy of the plaint dated 25/10/2011 has been annexed as Annexure 7 to the affidavit. The Opposite Party no. 2 has also instituted another original suit no. 840 of 2013 Smt. Lilawati and another vs Somaru and another, for cancellation of sale deed dated 11/04/2013 which was executed by the applicant no. 2 in favour of the applicant no. 3, true copy of which is annexed as annexure no. 8 to the affidavit. The applicant no. 2 is very old person aged about 72 years who is on death bed. He is not even able to walk and perform his daily routine but for the help and care taken by his daughter i.e. applicant no. 3 which led him to execute the will deed in her favour and the same has antagonised the complainant/opposite party no. 2, who is his wife who has ill intention and has filed two original suits mentioned above. From the material evidence on record no prima facie case is made out under the above-mentioned sections and hence the proceedings are liable to be quashed being malicious prosecution of the applicants in the light of law laid down in Bhajan Lal's case.

6. Per contra in counter affidavit the opposite party no. 2 has denied the facts pleaded by the applicants and has stated that a forged will deed has been executed in favour of the accused applicant no. 3/Shakuntala by the applicant no. 2. With respect to the facts averred in paragraph 10 of the affidavit, it is mentioned that the reply of the same shall be given at the stage of argument and has further stated that the applicants have beaten the opposite party no. 2 and her daughters who had witnessed the said incident and the case is made out under the above-mentioned sections.

7. Rejoinder affidavit has also been filed from the side of the applicants reiterating therein the same facts which have been mentioned in the affidavit.

8. The learned counsel for the applicants vehemently argued that only with a view to pressurising the accused applicants, this false case has been lodged against them by the opposite party no. 2 so that pressure may be exerted in the two original suits which have been filed by opposite party no. 2 against the applicant no. 2, hence it would fall in the category of malicious prosecution as per settled principle of law laid down in Bhajan Lal's case and therefore the proceedings need to be quashed against the applicants.

9. On the contrary the learned counsel the opposite party no. 2 has vehemently defended the summoning order relying upon the judgment and order dated 29/02/2008 delivered by a learned single Judge of this court in Dinesh Singh and others vs State of UP and another, 2008 lawsuit (All) 686 in which in a case under sections 494/109 IPC following was held in Para 14 of the judgment:

"[14] This Court while exercising the inherent jurisdiction cannot examine the question of sufficiency of evidence for conviction of the offence of bigamy. In paragraph 8 of the rejoinder affidavit filed by Ram Chandra Singh, the applicant No. 2 it has been stated that there is no evidence that marriage of Dinesh Singh was legally solemnized with another lady. The applicant No. 2 is the father of Dinesh Singh, the applicant No. 1, husband of sister of opposite party No. 2. the averments made in paragraph 8 of the rejoinder affidavit amount to admission of solemnization of second marriage. However, the validity of the marriage has been challenged. The accusations made in complaint and evidence of complainant and witnesses are prima-facie sufficient for proving the performance of marriage of Dinesh Singh applicant No. 1 with Santosh Kumar during the life-time of his first wife, the sister of opposite party No. 2. The decisions relied on behalf of the applicants in relation to celebration of marriage with proper ceremonies were pronounced in criminal appeals directed against the judgments and order of conviction and sentence. The present case is at the threshold. On thorough scrutiny of the material brought on record there was sufficient evidence to proceed against the applicants for the offence under Section 494/109 I.P.C. and the Magistrate concerned committed no illegality by summoning the applicants. Consequently, the application deserves dismissal."

10. It is apparent from the above citation that the fact of the second marriage was denied from the side of the accused but it was held that the decisions relied on by the applicants in relation to celebration of marriage with proper ceremonies were pronounced in criminal appeals directed against the judgement and order of conviction and sentence while in the present case the matter was at the threshold. Further it was held that the inherent jurisdiction could not be exercised in order to examine the question of sufficiency of evidence of conviction of the offence of bigamy and it was held that there was sufficient evidence to proceed against the applicants for offences under sections 494/109 IPC.

11. In the present case the opposite party no. 2 has claimed that the accused applicant no. 2 is her husband who was annoyed with her because she could not bear any male child and hence he kept a lady called Shakuntala daughter of Basantu who is made accused no. 3 in this case by her and had threatened her that his entire property would be given to Shakuntala and not to the daughters of the opposite party no. 2 or to the opposite party no. 2 herself. He actually went on to carry out that threat by executing a will deed in favour of Shakuntala in respect of land belonging to applicant no. 2 over which opposite party no. 2 claims her right along with her two daughters being legal heirs of the applicant no. 2. And it is further stated that when the opposite party no. 2 filed original suits which have been cited above, this led to further annoyance to the applicant no. 2 who along with Shakuntala and accused applicant no. 1, who is a notorious criminal have razed to the ground kachcha house of the opposite party no. 2 and the household goods had been stolen away by them and at the time of this occurrence resistance was offered by the opposite party no. 2 which resulted in her being beaten by the accused applicants and when her two daughters came to her rescue they were also beaten, abused and were threatened to be killed. On the other hand the applicant's version is that the accused no. 3/Shakuntala is the third daughter of the opposite party no. 2 and of her husband Somaru i.e. applicant no. 2, who is a poor lady who is looking after applicant no. 2, he being 72 years old person, who cannot attend to his daily routine and is lying on death bed because of which he has executed a registered will deed in her favour in respect of the property belonging to him. This has led to the annoyance of the opposite party no. 2 and her two daughters because of which the opposite party no. 2 has filed two original suits against the applicant no. 2 in order to get the said will deed cancelled as well as for permanent injunction. It is in order to create pressure in those original suits that the present false criminal case has been initiated against the applicants by the opposite party no. 2 and her two daughters only. This case is nothing but a counterblast and is a malicious prosecution which ought to be quashed in accordance with the principle of law laid down in para-102 of the Bhajan Lal's case as per Condition no. 7 which says that where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with malafide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge, the same could be quashed.

12. I can take assistance of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex court in Chilakamarthi Venkateshwarlu and another vs State of Andhra Pradesh and another, 2019 SCC Online SC 948, in which the appeal was preferred against the judgment and order dated 30/08/2018 passed by the High Court of Judicature at Hyderabad dismissing the Criminal Petition No. 9225 of 2018 filed by the appellant under sections 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code to quash the criminal proceedings in PRC no. 2 of 2018 pending against the appellants in the court of Additional Judicial First-Class Magistrate, Narsapar, West Godavari District for the offences punishable under sections 307, 323, 427, 447 and 506 (2) read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code. The appellants and the respondent no. 2,, being the de facto complainant, were pretty close relatives and were embroiled in Partition Suit. The appellant no. 2 had also filed a criminal complaint against the de facto complainant and others under sections 120 B, 420, 463, 464, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470 and 471 of the IPC. The appellants' case was that the de facto complainant had falsely implicated the appellants as a counterblast to the Criminal Complaint No. 518 of 2012 filed by the appellant no. 2. The case of the de facto complainant was that an attempt to cause injuries on the head was made, which was a vital organ, which could have resulted in causing death of the de facto complainant. The High Court found that the allegations in the complaint attracted the offences, punishable under the sections mentioned in the complaint and rejected the contention of the appellants that the complaint was lodged as a counterblast observing that the complaint of the second appellant was filed on 28/09/2012, whereas the instant complaint was filed on 21st July, 2015, that is after almost 3 years. The case of the appellants was that the appellant no. 1, who was working as lecturer at Hyderabad had been falsely implicated, therefore whether the appellant no. 1 was at Hyderabad when the alleged incident took place, or whether he was falsely implicated, was a question of fact which had to be decided in the trial by adducing evidence. Therefore it was held the High Court rightly concluded that it was open to the appellants to adduce evidence to show that the appellants and/or one of them was not present at the time of the alleged offence. It was further held that the pleanary inherent jurisdiction of the court under sections 482 Cr. P.C. may be exercised to give effect to an order under the Code; to prevent abuse of process of the court; and to otherwise secure the ends of justice. The inherent jurisdiction, though wide and expansive, has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the Section itself, that is, to make orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under the Code, to prevent the abuse of process of any court or to otherwise secure the ends of justice. For the Interference under Section 482, three conditions are to be fulfilled. The injustice which comes to light should be of a grave, and not of a trivial character; it should be palpable and clear and not doubtful and there should exist no other provision of law by which the party aggrieved could have sought relief. In exercising jurisdiction under sections 482 it is not permissible for the court to act as if it were a trial court. The court is only to be prima facie satisfied about existence of sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. For that limited purpose, the court can evaluate materials and documents on record, but it cannot assess the evidence to conclude whether the materials produced are sufficient or not for convicting the accused. The High Court should not, in exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482, embark upon an enquiry into whether the evidence is reliable or not, or whether on a reasonable appreciation of evidence the allegations are not sustainable, for this is the function of the trial Judge. This proposition finds support from the judgment of Apex Court in Zandu Pharmaceuticals Work Ltd Vs Mohd. Sharful Haque, (2005) 1 SCC 122. It was further held in this case that the High Court had rightly refused to quash the criminal complaint observing that it can excise power under Section 482 of the Cr. P.C. only in rare cases. The power to quash the proceedings is generally exercised when there is no material to proceed against the petitioners even if the allegations in the complaint are prima facie accepted as true. The High Court in effect found, and rightly, that the allegations in the complaint coupled with the statements recorded by the learned Magistrate had the necessary ingredients of the offences under sections 307, 323, 427, 447 and 506 (2) read with Section 34 of the IPC. Therefore this case was not found to be fit case to quash the criminal proceedings.

13. In the light of above cited law I would like to analyse the facts of the present case. There is dispute of the fact that whether accused applicant no. 3 was third daughter of the accused applicant no. 2 and the opposite party no. 2 born out of their wedlock or whether the accused applicant no. 3 was daughter of some Basantu as was stated by the opposite party no. 2 who was kept by the applicant no. 2 when he got annoyed from the opposite party no. 2 because she did not bear any male child. The main dispute appears to be between the two sides that the opposite party no. 2 and her daughters were deprived by the accused applicant no. 2 of his property as the will of his property had been executed in favour of Shakuntala/accused applicant no. 3. It is also stated from the side of the complainant/opposite party no. 2 that when she filed the original suit to get the said will deed cancelled and to seek injunction, feeling annoyed by that, all the accused together had beaten up accused and threatened to kill opposite party no. 2 and her two daughters and the kachcha house of the opposite party no. 2, in which she was living, was also razed to the ground by them and the household goods were stolen away. These averments have been supported by the complainant as well as her 2 daughters in their statements mentioned above, therefore it cannot be denied that on the basis of those statements the offences as mentioned above would be prima facie made out. If these allegations are taken to be true, certainly the offences of the above-mentioned sections would be made out. It cannot be held at this stage that merely because the injuries have not been found to have been caused to the opposite party no. 2, offence under Section 323 would not be held to be made out, the opposite party no. 2 has clearly stated that she approached the police but the police did not send her for medical examination. It does not appear that any grave injustice would be caused to the accused if this prosecution is allowed to continue. It does not fall in the case of rare case in which jurisdiction of 482 Cr. P.C. would need to be invoked. The theory of counterblast cannot be allowed to be pleaded in the present case from the side of the applicants. Therefore I do not see any justification in quashing the proceedings in the present case. Accordingly this application deserves to be dismissed and is dismissed.

A. Section 233(3) Cr.P.C – Accused- right to summon defence witnesses - Trial – is sacrosanct fundamental right - Request to summon defence witness can be turned down only if the Judge considers that it is for vexation or delay or for defeating the ends of justice - Court is required to record its plausible reason for refusing the request of the accused to summon a defence witness. (Para 9)

B. Constitution of India – Article 20(3)– Right to Silence-Article 20(3) constitutes right to silence of accused which has various facets: One is that the burden is on the State or rather the prosecution to prove that the accused is guilty. Another is that an accused is presumed to be innocent till he is proved to be guilty. A third is the right of the accused against self-incrimination, namely, the right to be silent and that he cannot be compelled to incriminate himself. (Para 13)

Accused moved application under Section 233 Cr.P.C. to summon defence witnesses to prove his plea of alibi – Trial Judge rejected application holding that application was moved merely to delay the trial as plea of alibi was set up by the accused for the first time and was never made part of investigation or discharge was claimed on its basis or stated a word about leading defence evidence in respect of alibi under Section 313 Cr.P.C.-Held-Rejection of application on the ground that no plea of alibi was suggested to any of the prosecution witnesses nor disclosed it in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., is illegal as the accused was not obligated to make any such suggestion as even if accused has suggested any plea of alibi the prosecution could not have led any evidence in rebuttal thereof, when the prosecution evidence was being recorded.

2. 3. The factual background, in short, giving rise to present petition is that according to prosecution the F.I.R. was lodged by opposite party no.2 against six accused persons including the applicant registered under aforesaid case crime number and sections on 13.07.2014 at 1.15 p.m. It is alleged that the applicant and his associates on account of enmity over family property dispute on 13.07.2014 at 11.45 a.m. surrounded informant's son in front of his house and all the accused resorted to indiscriminate firing due to which he succumbed to the injuries subsequently. After investigation charge-sheet was laid and the case was committed to the court of sessions. It is pertinent to mention here that the applicant is in jail since 5.12.2014. The applicant moved his bail application in which he has taken specific plea that aforesaid incident took place at about 11.45 a.m. on 13.07.2014 near the house of the deceased but in fact the applicant was not present in India at the time and date of the incident and was present in Nepal. In fact, the applicant along with his brother, Sanjay had gone to Kathmandu on 12.07.2014 by Indigo No.6E31 and the flight departed at 11.25 a.m. on 12.07.2014, the copy of Boarding Passes and air tickets were also appended along with the bail application. It was also stated that the applicant and co-accused, Sanjay came back from Kathmandu to New Delhi by Indigo Flight No.6E34, departure time 8.10. p.m. on 13.07.2014 and the applicant was travelling in the said Flight on Seat No.47. The copies of the air tickets and the Boarding Passes and relevant documents were also appended along with bail application. It was also stated that during 12.07.2014 and 13.07.2014, he and co-accused,Sanjay stayed in Shiv Shanker Hotel Jaybageshwar Pashupati Nath, Kathmandu, Nepal. Copy of the receipt of said hotel was also appended with the bail application. Therefore, a specific plea of alibi was taken that it was impossible for the applicant to be present at the place of occurrence on 13.07.2014 at about 11.45 a.m. by no stretch of imagination.

4. The case was committed to the court of sessions. After the closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the applicant and other accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 12.11.2018. In reply to a specific question as to whether the applicant wants to lead any defence evidence, to which his answer was in affirmative (th gakWaa++). Thereafter, the case was fixed for defence evidence. Insofar as the applicant is concerned, he moved an application 28Ga under Section 233 Cr.P.C. to summon the witnesses mentioned in the application to prove his plea of alibi that he was travelling from New Delhi to Kathmadu and Kathmandu to New Delhi in Indigo Flight No.6E31 and 6E34 on 12.07.2014 and 13.07.2014. In its proof, tickets and boarding passes were also appended with the application. Besides it, in support of plea of alibi papers regarding stay of the applicant in Shiv Shanker Hotel Jaybageshwar Pashupati Nath, Kathmandu, Nepal were also filed, especially the cash receipts. The prayer for summoning following was made:

1. Record keeper/concerned OfficerIndiraGandhiInternationalAirport, New Delhi along with record of Indigo Flight Nos. 6E31 dated 12.07.2014 and 6E34 dated 13.07.2014.

2. Record to prove that the applicant had travelled on the aforesaid boarding passes in respect of aforesaid flights.

3. Manager, Shiv Shanker Hotel Jaybageshwar Pashupati Nath, Kathmandu, Nepal along with copy of the record of cash receipt dated 13.07.2014.

5. The said application was strongly opposed by the learned Additional Government Counsel (criminal) as well as learned counsel for the informant on the ground that the application was moved by the applicant to prove his defence plea of alibi for the purpose of vexation, causing delay in disposal of the trial and for defeating the ends of justice. Therefore, the same may be rejected. It was also objected that plea of alibi taken by the applicant is an afterthought one in order to get himself acquitted whereas this plea of alibi was neither disclosed by him to the Investigating Officer nor at the time of framing of charge that on the basis of plea of alibi, he may be discharged nor any such suggestion was given to any witness that he was present in Kathmandu at the time of the incident and lastly even in statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. the applicant has not stated anything about plea of alibi. Therefore, the application moved for defence evidence is liable to be rejected.

6. Learned trial judge vide order dated 30.1.2019 on the aforesaid objections raised by Additional Government Counsel (criminal) as well as learned counsel for the informant, rejected the application under Section 233 Cr.P.C. He has quoted Section 233 (3) Cr.P.C. and has recorded that it appears that this plea of alibi is being set up by the applicant for the first time and was never made part of investigation or discharge was claimed on its basis or stated a word about leading defence evidence in respect of alibi under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that at the time of incident he was in Nepal. On this ground he recorded that it appears that this application has been moved merely to delay the trial.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the incident took place in the year 2014 and charge-sheet was filed on 3.09.2014. The case was thereafter committed to the court of sessions and it remained pending for more than three years for recording of prosecution evidence and the statement of the applicant and other accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 12.11.2018 and the order dated 30.1.2019 could not be challenged by the applicant as he is languishing in jail since 5.12.2014. However, another application under Section 233(2) Cr.P.C. was moved on behalf of the applicant for summoning aforesaid witnesses to prove his plea of alibi. The opposite party no.2 again filed objections to the said application. Opposite party no.2/informant moved two transfer applications before Sessions Judge on 12.3.2019 and 4.4.2019. The second application i.e. 54Kha moved on behalf of the applicant for leading defence evidence to establish plea of alibi has again been rejected by the trial judge vide impugned order dated 14.06.2019 more or less on the same ground as the same was rejected by earlier order dated 30.1.2019. Learned counsel for the applicant has assailed both the impugned orders on the ground that learned trial judge has not applied his judicial mind and has not passed impugned orders in the light of true scope and ambit of provisions of Section 233(2)Cr.P.C. and has merely recorded that application to lead defence evidence has been made for the purpose of vexation, delay and defeating the ends of justice and without giving any plausible reason rejected the same.

8. One of the grounds for rejecting the application for summoning of the witnesses, Manager, Shiv Shanker Hotel Jaybageshwar Pashupati Nath, Kathmandu, Nepal is that the said witness resides in a foreign country and if he is summoned it shall take considerable time to examine him which will delay the trial. I may record that the reasons given by the learned Judge are apparently preposterous. There are various pronouncements that the statement of the such witnesses can be recorded through Video Conferencing and if the accused is ready to bear the expenses of the Manager of the Hotel to prove that the applicant had stayed in the hotel on 12.07.2014 and 13.07. 2014. There is no reason not to issue summon to him. However, the Court can always issue process/summons through embassy of Nepal to the said witness and as such no Visa or immigration formality is to be adopted in view of Treaty in this behalf between our country and Nepal.

9. Before dealing with the reasoning given by the trial judge for rejecting the applications of the applicant for leading defence evidence, it is to be understood as to what is the scope of Section 233 (3) Cr.P.C. A bare reading of sub-section (3) of Section 233 Cr.P.C. would reveal that if the accused applies for the issue of any process for compelling the attendance of any witness or the production of any document or thing, the Judge shall issue such process unless he considers, for reasons to be recorded, that such application should be refused on the ground that it is made for the purpose of vexation or delay or for defeating the ends of justice. Moreover, the court is required to record its reasoning for refusing the request to summon a defence witness. A bare perusal of the Section 233(3) Cr.P.C. would reveal that except on those grounds the request cannot be turned down on any ground. It is also well settled that the trial court cannot deny an accused the right to summon witnesses, he /she has cited to examine them as defence witnesses which is his sacrosanct fundamental right.

10. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Natasha Singh Versus

CBI,(2013) 5 S.C.C.74 has held that "fair trial entails the interests of the accused, the victim and of the society and, therefore, includes the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the person concerned and the same must be ensured as this is the Constitutional as well as human right."

11. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the applicant has a fundamental and legal right to place on record all evidences in respect of defence to prove his innocence and plea of alibi which he has to establish to the hilt and if he fails to prove this plea of alibi this would be additional circumstance/which can be read along with proven prosecution evidence to be read against the accused to record his conviction. He has further stated that it is well settled that if no acquittal is passed under Section 232 Cr.P.C., the court has to call upon the accused to enter on his defence. Admittedly, in this case, no acquittal has been passed under Section 232 Cr.P.C. Therefore, the provisions of Section 233(3) Cr.P.C. are fully attracted. The accused has a right to be provided an opportunity to adduce any evidence in support of his defence. This right of the accused is a very valuable right which cannot be curtailed in any way. Therefore, a heavy duty is cast upon the Court to see as to whether or not the defence evidence sought to be summoned, is necessary for defending the charge levelled against the accused. If it is so, the trial judge has to summon the defence witnesses and has to adopt a reasonable approach in such a matter and should not reject the prayer for summoning defence evidence except on the grounds provided in sub-section (3) of Section 233 of the Code.

12. The important question of law that arises for determination in the present is as to whether it is incumbent on the part of accused to spell out his defence including the plea of alibi at the stage of investigation, framing of charge while prosecution evidence is being recorded and at the stage of recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C..

13. In order to answer aforesaid issues, the Court cannot lose sight of Article 20(3) which constitutes right to silence of accused which has various facets: One is that the burden is on the State or rather the prosecution to prove that the accused is guilty. Another is that an accused is presumed to be innocent till he is proved to be guilty. A third is the right of the accused against self incrimination, namely, the right to be silent and that he cannot be compelled to incriminate himself. Right to silence to an accused came to be included in Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1948, Article 11.1 thereof reads:

"Everyone charged with a penal offence has the right to be presumed innocent until proved guilty according to law in a public trial at which he has had all the guarantees necessary for his defence. "

14. The Law Commission in its 180th report on Article 20(3) of the Constitution of India considered the scope of right of silence, in view of some developments in United Kingdom, Austrailia, USA and other countries diluting the right to silence of the accused at the stage of interrogation and in criminal trial proceedings. The Commission was of the opinion that the right is protected by Articles 20(3) and 21 of the Constitution and Sections 161(2), 313 (3) and 315 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. If the changes made in U.K. or those proposed in Australia are introduced in India, such changes will be ultra vires of Articles 20(3) and 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, no dilution of the existing right to silence need be made nor can be made.

15. Besides it, there is no standard mechanism for disclosing an alibi in our country as is mandated in Canada, USA, Austrailia which have stringent "alibi notice-laws". The accused for tactical reasons, or may be because of some mistrust of the police in our country may not divulge or disclose the information to the police during investigation and also not disclose in advance in trial. The requirements of an alibi are strict that a false alibi or deliberate lie could be used as some evidence of guilt against the accused. Indeed, in the country where right of silence has been diluted by "alibi notice-laws" the accused is obligated to inform the police in prescribed form about his plea of alibi so that the same is properly interrogated by Investigating Agency. However, in our country more often than not even if the accused discloses the plea of alibi in advance, the same is never properly investigated/verified in an impartial manner for any reason whatsoever, maybe incompetence or lack of investigative skills or for any other extraneous consideration.

16. I may record that an accused person does not have to disclose, his defence including alibi, and the consequence of failure to disclose an alibi in a timely manner at the time of investigation and trial judge may draw an adverse inference that it has been fabricated, provided the accused fails to prove the same by standards as required under Section 103 of Indian Evidence Act and if the evidence of alibi is found to be fabricated, this may be used as circumstantial evidence to draw an inference or "consciousness" of guilt. Nevertheless, the alibi that is merely disbelieved or rejected cannot serve to corroborate or complement the prosecution's case, let alone permit an inference of guilt by the accused.

17. This facet of disclosure of plea of alibi at the earliest may also be looked into from a different angle. Nevertheless, even if the defence has notified the prosecution his intention to present an alibi, the prosecution has to wait until the accused has presented the evidence before it seeks to establish that it was fake and/or fabricated. The reason for this is prosecution cannot rebut a evidence not called unless he is afforded opportunity to lead defence evidence and accused is called upon to lead evidence as provided under Section 233 (3)Cr.P.C. the accused is under no duty to advance any particular defence.

18. In the light of aforesaid discussion made hereinabove, I find that our Constitution itself provided right to silence to the accused and he is also permitted to take inconsistent pleas, rejection of application by the learned judge vide impugned orders on the ground that no such plea of alibi was suggested to any of the prosecution witnesses nor disclosed it in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., is illegal. In my opinion, the accused was not obligated to make any such suggestion as even if he has suggested any plea of alibi the prosecution could not have led any evidence in rebuttal thereof, when the prosecution evidence was being recorded.

The prosecution shall have ample opportunity to cross examine the defence witnesses at length in order to discard the evidence of alibi of the applicant when defence witnesses are examined. However, I may record that the plea of alibi was taken by the applicant in his bail application before the Sessions Judge, Ghaziabad on 23.1.2015 and learned Sessions Judge while rejecting the bail application on 23.1.2015 has recorded that "अभियुक्त मुकेश शर्मा के विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा यह भी तर्क दिया गया है कि वह घटना की तिथि पर काठमांडू गया हुआ था Plea of alibi कोइस स्तर पर नहीं देखा जा सकता है क्योंकि वह साक्ष्यका विषय है।"

19. As already noted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 5.12.2014 and he was nothing to gain by delaying trial as prosecution evidence has already been recorded and if the valuable right of the applicant of bringing plea of alibi on record by him by examining the witnesses is denied to him it shall derail fair trial and the applicant can never prove his innocence if at all he is convicted by the trial court. I may further record that finding of the trial judge that applicant did not disclose plea of alibi under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is not sustainable inasmuch as he has stated that he would lead defence evidence.

20. Per contra, learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for the informant has stated that impugned orders passed by the Sessions Judge are wholly legal and justified and the defence plea of alibi by the applicant has been raised at a belated stage after fabrication of documents and it squarely falls within those three presumptions on the basis of which the trial judge is empowered to reject the application for leading defence evidence.

21. One of the reasons assigned by the trial judge is that the accused did not file any discharge application under Section 227 Cr.P.C. on the basis of plea of alibi. In this behalf, I may refer to the judgement of Apex Court, rendered in the case of State of Orissa Versus Debendra Nath Padhi, 2004(8) Supreme Court Cases 568 which is quoted below:

" .....Further, at the stage of framing of charge roving and fishing inquiry is impermissible. If the contention of the accused is accepted, there would be a mini trial at the stage of framing of charge. That would defeat the object of the Code. It is well-settled that at the stage of framing of charge the defence of the accused cannot be put forth. The acceptance of the contention of the learned counsel for the accused would mean permitting the accused to adduce his defence at the stage of framing of charge and for examination thereof at that stage which is against the criminal jurisprudence. By way of illustration, it may be noted that the plea of alibi taken by the accused may have to be examined at the stage of framing of charge if the contention of the accused is accepted despite the well settled proposition that it is for the accused to lead evidence at the trial to sustain such a plea. The accused would be entitled to produce materials and documents in proof of such a plea at the stage of framing of the charge, in case we accept the contention put forth on behalf of the accused. That has never been the intention of the law well settled for over one hundred years now. It is in this light that the provision about hearing the submissions of the accused as postulated by Section 227 is to be understood. It only means hearing the submissions of the accused on the record of the case as filed by the prosecution and documents submitted therewith and nothing more. The expression 'hearing the submissions of the accused' cannot mean opportunity to file material to be granted to the accused and thereby changing the settled law. At the state of framing of charge hearing the submissions of the accused has to be confined to the material produced by the police."

22. Learned counsel for the opposite party has placed reliance on the judgement rendered in the case of Ram Naresh and others Versus State of Chhattishgarh (2012) 2 Supreme Court Cases (Cri) 382 in which plea of alibi was rejected as the defences witnesses produced by the accused were related and argued that plea of alibi was rejected by the apex court as the same was not disclosed by the accused during investigation and arrest.

23. I have carefully and consciously gone through the aforesaid judgement wherein the apex court has discarded the testimony of the defence witnesses on the ground that one of them was wife of the accused and she was highly interested and during investigation she did not inform the police that her husband was present in their house and not at the place of occurrence. However, paras 49 and 50 of the said judgement lend support to the reasons recorded by me hereinabove which are quoted below:

"49. In terms of Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused has the freedom to maintain silence during the investigation as well as before the Court. The accused may choose to maintain silence or complete denial even when his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is being recorded, of course, the Court would be entitled to draw an inference, including adverse inference, as may be permissible to it in accordance with law.

50. Right to fair trial, presumption of innocence unless proven guilty and proof by the prosecution of its case beyond any reasonable doubt are the fundamentals of our criminal jurisprudence. When we speak of prejudice to an accused, it has to be shown that the accused has suffered some disability or detriment in relation to any of these protections substantially. Such prejudice should also demonstrate that it has occasioned failure of justice to the accused."

24. In the light of aforesaid, impugned order dated 30.1.2019 and 14.06.2019 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Hapur in Session Trial No.253 of 2016 (State Versus Ankush and others) bearing Case Crime No.408 of 2014 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 120-B I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Hapur Nagar, District Hapur are quashed. However, the applicant may apply for issuing any process for compelling the attendance or production of any document from the defence witnesses as mentioned in the earlier applications only within two weeks from today. The trial judge shall pass appropriate order in this behalf and shall afford due opportunity to defence, of which the accused shall not take an undue advantage causing further delay in deciding the trial which is pending since 2015 and the applicant is in jail since 5.12.2014. Learned trial judge shall expedite the trial without granting undue adjournments to either side and decide the same within four months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

25. The application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. stands allowed, accordingly.

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Dinesh Rai

A.G.A.

A. Section 210(2) Cr.P.C. - Bar on parallel proceedings of same offence- right to file a complaint under different section of law cannot be taken away- police report submitted - cognizance not taken by the magistrate

Held:- Mere submission of police report under Section 173 not sufficient unless cognizance of any offence on such report is taken against the accused in the complaint case.(E-10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajiv Joshi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Dinesh Rai, learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State-respondents.

2. The applicant in the instant petition under section 482 Cr.P.C. is aggrieved by the summoning order dated 30.1.2019 passed by Ist Additional Session Judge, Ballia, in Complaint Case No. 74 of 2018 (Shiv Bachan Vs. Dhananjay), by which while taking cognizance of the offences under Sections 354, 323, I.P.C and Section 7/8 Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act 2012, the learned Addl. Session Judge, has summoned the applicant thereunder.

3. It reflects from the record that the grand-father of victim Km. Sarika filed a complaint (registered as Complaint Case No. 74 of 2018) against the applicant under Sections 354, 323, I.P.C and Section 7/8 of the Act, 2012 alleging that his grand daughter has been molested by the applicant who is minor being aged about 17 years. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge after recording the statement of complainant under Section 200 Cr. P.C.and the witnesses under Section 202 Cr.P.C, has summoned the applicant as indicated above.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant has assailed the impugned summoning order as well as the proceedings in the aforesaid complaint case, on the following grounds:

(a) that earlier a first information report being Case Crime No. 100 of 2018 has been lodged by the victim herself against the applicant on 31.8.2018 and her statement under Section 161 Cr. P.C. was also recorded wherein she stated her age to be about 19 years. And just after 11 days of lodging the aforesaid F.I.R, the grand-father of the victim has filed the impugned complaint on 12.9.2018 mentioning the victim to be a minor and a different version of the incident.

(b) that in Case Crime No. 100 of 2018 lodged by the victim herself, charge-sheet has already been submitted against the applicant under Sections 354 & 323 I.P.C., and

(c) that parallel proceedings in respect of the same incident/offence is barred in view of various decisions of the Apex Court as well as sub section (2) of section 210,Cr.P.C., contending that a report under section 173 has already been made by the investigating police officer under Section 173 Cr.P.C..

5. On the above grounds, counsel for the applicant prays that the impugned summoning order and the entire proceedings, are liable to be quashed.

6. On the other hand learned A.G.A. submits that the Addl. Sessions Judge has rightly exercised the power while summoning the applicant and the charge-sheet has been filed in the F.I.R. lodged by the victim under Section 354 & 323 I.P.C. only and not under Section 7/8 of the Act,2012.

7. I have considered the rival submissions so raised by the parties and perused the record.

8. It is admitted by the parties that charge sheet has been submitted against the accused-applicant under Section 354, 323, I.P.C on the F.I.R. lodged by the victim namely Km. Sarika.

9. In order to appreciate the controversy in hand, it is relevant to have a glance upon section 210, Cr.P.C., which is a beneficial piece of legislation to the accused, object of which is to ensure that cognizance of the same offence is not taken more than once and the accused is not subjected to different criminal proceedings in respect of the same offence. The Section 210 Cr.P.C. is quoted as under:

"210. Procedure to be followed when there is a complaint case and police investigation in respect of the same offence.-

(1) When in a case instituted otherwise than on a police report (hereinafter referred to as a complaint case), it is made to appear to the Magistrate, during the course of the inquiry or trial held by him, that an investigation by the police is in progress in relation to the offence which is the subject-matter of the inquiry or trial held by him, the Magistrate shall stay the proceedings of such inquiry or trial and call for a report on the matter from the police officer conducting the investigation.

(2) If a report is made by the investigating police officer under section 173 and on such report cognizance of any offence is taken by the Magistrate against any person who is an accused in the complaint case, the Magistrate shall inquire into or try together the complaint case and the case arising out of the police report as if both the cases were instituted on a police report.

(3) If the police report does not relate to any accused in the complaint case or if the Magistrate does not take cognizance of any offence on the police report, he shall proceed with the inquiry or trial, which was stayed by him, in accordance with the provisions of this Code."

10. Since report under section 173 in the matter of F.I.R. lodged by the victim has been submitted, therefore, sub section (2) of section 210 becomes attracted in the present case. But it may be pointed out here that mere submission of the report under section 173 is not sufficient but cognizance of any offence on such report is also necessary to have been taken against any person who is an accused in the complaint case. It is not the case of the applicant that on the report submitted under section 173 in the F.I.R. lodged by the victim, cognizance had already been taken prior to taking cognizance and passing of the impugned summoning order.

11. What flows from section 210, Cr.P.C. is that right of a complainant to agitate the matter through a complaint cannot be taken away by filing of a charge sheet by the investigating officer under a different section of law. And the right of the Magistrate to summon the accused under some other sections in the complaint than under which the accused has been chargesheeted is fully secured by the Code of Criminal Procedure and at the same time protecting the accused also from parallel proceedings in regard to the same offence, by making the provision in sub section (2) that the Magistrate shall try together the complaint case and the case arising out of the police report as if both the cases were instituted on a police report.

12. Perusal of the order of the court below dated 18.12.2018 in the ordersheet of the complaint case appended as annexure-8, shows that record of the matter arising out of the FIR lodged had been directed to be summoned by the trial court.

13. In view of the above, the submission of the learned counsel that applicant is being subjected to two different proceedings in regard to the same offence, has no substance.

14. As regards the submission regarding different age of the victim as given in the complaint & F.I.R. as well as change in the version of incident, is concerned, suffice it to say these aspects are to be determined during trial on the basis of the evidence of the parties and not at this stage.

15. As a result of above discussion, there appears to be no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned and the prayer to quash the impugned summoning order and the proceedings, is refused.

16. The present petition stands disposed of, leaving it open for the applicant to make application for discharge on the grounds available to him within three weeks from today. In case any such application is moved, the same shall be considered and decided by the court below in accordance with law expeditiously preferably within a period of three months from the date of its presentation along with certified copy of this order.

17. For the period of three months or till the decision taken by the concerned Magistrate on the aforesaid application whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against applicant in the aforesaid proceedings.

A. Section 313 Cr.P.C.- Examination of Accused- application filed to recall the P.W. 1 to cross examine as some question left to be asked Held:- Ground to recall P.W. -1 was not mentioned in the application. It was rightly observed by the Trial Court that the proceedings of the instant complaint case is pending since 2010 and witness has already been examined in 2017, the application filed by the applicant is to delay the proceedings.(Para 15)

B. Criminal Revision - against the rejection of application filed under Section 313 Cr.P.C. - not maintainable- summoning or refusing to summon the witness under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is an interlocutory order within the meaning of Section 379(2) Cr.P.C. - dismissed

The Court relied upon the distinction drawn by the Apex Court between interlocutory and intermediary order, the former does not affect any existing rights finally or to the disadvantage of either extremes while an intermediate order can touch upon the rights of the parties. Since the reason for recalling the witness for cross-examination does not affect the right of the applicant therefore application under Section 311 of Cr.P.C. is an interlocutory order and no revision against such order is maintainable in view of the bar under Section 397(2) Cr.P.C.

2. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the impugned order dated 05.04.2019 passed by Presiding Officer, Additional Court, Moradabad in Complaint Case No. 190 of 2015 (Vikas Agarwal Vs. Vinod Kumar Agarwal) as well as order dated 18.06.2019 passed by Session Judge, Moradabad in Criminal Revision No. 114 of 2019 (Vikas Agarwal and another Vs. State of U.P.), under Section 138 N.I. Act, Police Station Gal Shaheed, District Moradabad.

3. It reflects from the record that the complainant-opposite party no. 2 filed a complaint on 28.10.2010 against the applicants for dishonouring of cheque, under section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, in which the accused applicants were summoned vide order dated 30.11.2010. After summoning of the accused, his statement was recorded on 28.08.2012 and the examination-in-chief of the complainant was recorded on 17.01.2014. The witnesses of the complainant were cross-examined on 05.12.2017 & 06.12.2017. Subsequently, date was fixed for recording of the statement of the accused applicants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. but the accused did not appear before the court concerned for the purpose and sought adjournment of the case on one pretext or the other.

4. Recently in the year 2019 itself, an application (date of the application is not mentioned) for recalling P.W.-1 was filed on behalf of the accused applicants on the ground that some important questions were left to be asked while cross-examining the said witness, hence the said witnesses be recalled for further cross-examination. The Magistrate after considering the objection filed to the said application as well as the materials available on record, has specifically recorded a finding to the effect that the applicants are delaying the matter since 2010 on one pretext or the other and it has not been mentioned in the application as to what important points/questions were left to be asked from the P.W.-1 while cross-examining him.

5. It is further recorded by the Trial Court that apart from the present case, four other complaints for dishonouring of the cheques between the parties, are pending. The Magistrate has also recorded that on the direction of this Court, the advocate Mediator was appointed and on agreement of both the parties, a settlement was made but the said settlement has not been adhered to with by the applicants and accordingly the Magistrate rejected the said application vide impugned order dated 5.4.2019. The copy of the order of this Court as well as the settlement have not been annexed by the applicants alongwith this application. The relevant extract of the order of the Trial Court is quoted hereunder:

6. After rejection of the application by the Magistrate, Revision No. 114 of 2019 was filed by the applicants against the said order, which too was dismissed by learned Sessions Judge vide impugned order dated 18.6.2019 as not maintainable on the ground that order summoning or refusing to summon the witness under section 311,Cr.P.C. is an interlocutory order within the meaning of Section 397 (2) Cr.P.C.

7. The order passed by the Magistrate rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for recalling the witnesses as well as the revisional order are impugned in the present application.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that the revision has wrongly been rejected by the Revisional Court as the order rejecting the application 311 Cr.P.C. is not an interlocutory order but the intermediary order against which the revision is maintainable. In support of his contention he has relied upon Full Bench judgment of this Court in Case of Munna Singh @ Shivaji Singh & others Vs. States of U.P. another 2011 (3) JIC 628

(ALL) (FB). Placing reliance upon paragraph 33 onwards of the said Full Bench decision, submission of the learned counsel is that an order passed under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is an intermediary order by which the right of the accused applicants have been affected and therefore the order is revisable.

9.On the other hand, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 as well as learned A.G.A. have placed reliance upon the judgement of the Apex Court in Case of Mohit @ Sonu and another Vs. State of U.P. and another, 2013 Law Suit (SC) 520, and submitted that the application filed by the accused applicants for recalling the witness under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is without any foundation and even from the application it is apparent that the important questions which remained to be left for cross-examination from PW-1, have not been mentioned therein.

10. It is further contended by the learned counsel for the opposite party that the application under section 311,Cr.P.C. has been moved by the accused applicants only with a view to delay the trial and not for any other purpose, specific findings regarding which has already been recorded by the Trial Court in the order impugned.

11. Learned counsel for the opposite parties further contended that the rejection of application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is not a final order but it is an interlocutory order and even the said order cannot said to be an intermediary order as no right of the accused applicants have been affected by the said order, even in the original application, it is not stated that on what grounds the applicants wanted to recall the witnesses.

12. In support of his contention, the learned counsel for the opposite party has placed the reliance on judgement of this Court in the cases of Ajay Dixit Vs. State of U.P. & another 2011 (75) ACC 388 , Ram Shankar Yadav Vs. State of U.P. 2010 (71) ACC 892 and the judgement of the Apex Court in Criminal Appeal No. 486-487 of 2009 Sethuraman Vs. Rajamanickam.

13. I have considered the rival arguments so advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

14. In the application filed by the accused applicants under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for recalling of P.W.-1, the grounds for recall have not been mentioned. Only this much is mentioned therein that some important questions were left for cross-examination from the said witness. As observed by the Trial Court, the proceedings of the complaint case for dishonouring of cheque is pending since 2010 and the witnesses of complainant have already been cross-examined in 2017 and since 2017 the matter is pending for recording of statement of the accused applicants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. which have been avoided by the accused applicants on one pretext or the other. The relevant findings in this regard as recorded by the Magistrate have already been quoted hereinabove.

15. So far as the question regarding the maintainability of the revision is concerned, it is stated that as per the judgement cited by the counsel for the applicants, the distinction between the two, interlocutory and intermediary would be that the former does not bring about any consequence of moment and is an aid in the performance of the final act. It does not affect any existing rights finally or to the disadvantage of either extremes. An intermediate order can touch upon the rights of the parties or be an order of moment so as to affect any of the rival parties by its operation. Such an order affecting the rights of a person or tending to militate against either of the parties even at the subordinate stage can be termed as an intermediate or an intermediary order. In this regard, relevant paragraph nos. 33 and 40 of the judgement of Full Bench decision in case of Munna Singh (Supra), are reproduced hereunder:

"33. The distinction between the two, interlocutory and intermediary would be that the former does not bring about any consequence of moment and is an aid in the performance of the final Act. It does not affect any existing rights finally or to the disadvantage of either extremes. An intermediate order can touch upon the rights of the parties or be an order of moment so as to affect any of the rival parties by its operation. Such an order affecting the rights of a person or tending to militate against either of the parties even at the subordinate stage can be termed as an intermediate or an intermediary order.

40. The difficulty again is that can such a list of illustrations be catalogued so as to confine the revisional jurisdiction in relation to such intermediate orders. Our obvious answer is in the light of what has been said in the case of Mohan Lal's case (supra) by the Apex Court that the determination of such an issue as to whether a revision would be maintainable or not would in turn depend upon the nature of the order and the circumstances in which it came to be passed. Thus it would depend on the facts and circumstances of each separate individual case where the revising authority will have to examine as to whether the Magistrate has proceeded to exercise his judicious discretion well within his jurisdiction or has travelled beyond the same, keeping in view the various shades of litigation in such matters where the Apex Court and this Court has held that an intermediate order, which is not necessarily an interlocutory order, could be subjected to revision. An order not conclusive of the main dispute between the parties, but conclusive of the subordinate matters with which it deals is not a purely interlocutory order even though it may not finally adjudicate the main dispute between the parties. In our opinion therefore, a revision would not be barred under sub Section (1) of Section 397 of the Code if the orders impugned before the revising authority fall within the tests indicated hereinabove".

16. Similar view has also been taken by the Apex Court as in decision relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicants and there can be no dispute about it.

17. However, here in the present case, the order impugned rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. does not affect any right of the accused persons as the applicants have failed to make out any case or ground for recalling the complainant witness P.W.-1. The application filed by the accused applicant appears to be totally incompetent as the necessary ingredients for recalling the witness under Section 311 Cr.P.C. are missing therein. The said application has been moved with oblique motive just to delay the proceedings of the complaint case as observed by the Magistrate in its order while rejecting the application.

18. The Apex Court as well as this Court in the cases mentioned above i.e. Ajay Dikshit (Supra) has specifically held that the order rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is an interlocutory order and no revision against the said order is maintainable, in view of the bar under Section 397 (2) Cr.P.C. In this regard, paragraph no. 4 of the decision of the Apex Court in Sethuraman case (supra) is relevant which reads as under:

"4. Secondly, what was not realized was that the order passed by the Trial Court refusing to call the documents and rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C., were interlocutory orders and as such, the revision against those orders was clearly barred under Section 397(2) Cr.P.C. The Trial Court, in its common order, had clearly mentioned that the cheque was admittedly signed by the respondent/accused and the only defence that was raised, was that his signed cheques were lost and that the appellant/complainant had falsely used one such cheque. The Trial Court also recorded a finding that the documents were not necessary. This order did not, in any manner, decide anything finally. Therefore, both the orders, i.e., one on the application under Section 91 Cr.P.C. for production of documents and other on the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for recalling the witness, were the orders of interlocutory nature, in which case, under Section 397(2), revision was clearly not maintainable. Under such circumstances, the learned Judge could not have interfered in his revisional jurisdiction. The impugned judgement is clearly incorrect in law and would have to be set aside. It is accordingly set aside. The appeals are allowed."

19. Taking into consideration the entire facts and circumstances of the case as well as the law enunciated in the decisions of the Apex Court and this Court as indicated above coupled with the fact that present complaint proceedings are pending for the last more than nine years, in the considered opinion of this Court, I do not find any illegality or infirmity in the orders impugned passed by the Revisional Court and the Trial Court.

20. The application lacks merit and, is accordingly, dismissed.

A. U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 - A single criminal case can be basis to impose the Gangsters Act - object of the offence or the motive behind it crucial - nature of allegations is more relevant than number the number of cases registered against a particular accused U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 -Section 2 (b)- "Gang" – if offence under Chapter XVI, XVII, XXII IPC is committed with the object or motive of disturbing public order or gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary or material advantage or wrongful economic gain then only accused liable to face Gangsters Act. (Para 5)

B. U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 - merely because some grave crime is committed - does not make accused liable to face Gangsters Act unless there was object to gain any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other similar kind of advantage for himself or for any other person indulged in anti-social activities. (Para 7)

U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 - Crimes arising out of some trivial personal dispute - Not make a good ground to impose Gangsters Act (Para 5). Accused-facing allegations of having committed murder-but there was no motive of making any wrongful economic gains. No material on the basis of which it may be held that the prime object behind committing the crime in question was so as to disturb the public order. Or committed with the object of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other similar kind of advantage for itself or for any other person indulged in anti-social activities.

C. U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986- Section 2 (b)- "Gang"–'other advantage'- meaning- preceding words 'temporal, pecuniary and material' constitute a genus and the words 'other advantage' has to be read as an species of the same. (Para 8)

Charge sheet and the consequent proceedings quashed. Application allowed

List of cases cited:-

1. Assistant Collector of Central Excise, Guntur vs. Ramdev Tobacco Company, 1991 AIR (SC) 506 followed (E-5)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. has been moved by the applicants seeking quashing of the charge sheet dated 02.6.2002 and all subsequent proceedings initiated against them in S.S.T. No. 14 of 2003, State of U.P. vs. Tej Singh and others, under Section 3(1) U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the applicants is that an F.I.R. was lodged against the applicants as Case Crime No. 220 of 2001 under Sections 147,148, 149, 324, 323, 307, 302 I.P.C. P.S.- Mandawar, Distict- Bijnor. This F.I.R. is annexure no. 1 to the present application. Further submission is that it is this solitary case which was made the basis to impose Gangsters Act and such a course is bad in the eyes of law. The perusal of the same would show that the same was lodged against about 20 persons who were alleged to have made assault and resorted to firing also that eventually resulted in the death of two persons. There is also a cross case registered against the other side as Case Crime No. 220A of 2001, under Sections 147, 323, 324 I.P.C., in the police station Mandawar, District- Bijnor. Submission is that perusal of the F.I.R. would show that though it was a grave crime but it was nonetheless a regular kind of crime that unfortunately keeps taking place between the parties. The motive of personal hostility, feud, village factionalism, local disputes are most of the times in the background of commission of such offence. According to the counsel it is certainly not a crime which may be said to have been committed either to make undue economic gain or to perpetrate some terror or to continue any such criminal activities which is, by and large, detrimental to the safety and security of the society. Counsel has gone to the extent of arguing that Gangsters Act in the present case has been imposed only on the basis of a single aforesaid case that has been registered against the applicants which is an illegal misuse of the Act and can not survive the scrutiny of law. Submission of learned counsel for the applicants is that actually it is a case of such nature during the trial of which the plea of self defense has to be necessarily decided by the Court. Contention is that when the trials of two cases shall be completed it is also quite probable that the court may come to the conclusion that the incident in question took place in the exercise of self defense or may be, the court would hold that the incident took place in which the accused persons simply exceeded their right of private defense and they were never rank aggressOrs. In that eventuality imposition of the case Gangster Act does not appear to be a justified exercise. Submission of learned counsel is that therefore in such circumstances it shall result in the abuse of court's process if the single case of aforesaid kind is made the basis to impose Gangsters Act as the ingredients of the offence shall not be born out and thus in such circumstances, the impugned proceedings deserve to be quashed.

4. Heard learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

5. This Court has the occasion to go through the F.I.R. of the murder case that was registered against the applicants and it has also gone through the cross version that was registered against the other side. This Court does not find itself in agreement with the submissions made by learned counsel that a single case cannot constitute a legitimate basis to impose the Gangsters Act. But it is of the considered view that it is not the number of cases registered against a particular accused which is so relevant as the nature of allegations made in the F.I.R. of the criminal case or cases registered against the accused on which shall depend whether the offence under the Gangsters Act is made out or not. A man may be involved in more than one cases but all those cases may be of such nature which may arise out of some trivial personal dispute over some drainage problem or over some connected boundary wall dispute or over some rival competing civil claim on some piece of land and the relationship of the two parties may deteriorate to the extent that they may get involved in some squabble, quarrels or sometimes even in making criminal assaults upon each other. Such kind of crimes are somewhat of a regular kind and nature. They do not make a good ground to impose Gangsters Act. The definition as has been provided in the Act and the ingredients which are required to be fulfilled before imposition of Gangster Act are on a different footing as is clear from the perusal of the definition of Gangster Act itself.

"2. Definitions.- In this Act,-

(a) "Code" means the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Act No. 2 of 1974);

(b) "Gang" means a group of persons, who acting either singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion, or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in antisocial activities, namely:

(i) offences punishable under Chapter XVI, or Chapter XVII, or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or

(ii) distilling or manufacturing or storing or transporting or importing or exporting or selling or distributing any liquor, or intoxicating or dangerous drugs, or other intoxicants or narcotics or cultivating any plant, in contravention of any of the provisions of the U. P. Excise Act, 1910 (U. P. Act No. 4 of 1910), or the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (Act No. 61 of 1985), or any other law for the time being in force, or

(iii) occupying or taking possession of immovable property otherwise than in accordance with law, or setting-up false claims for title or possession of immovable property whether in himself or any other person, or

(iv) preventing or attempting to prevent any public servant or any witness from discharging his lawful duties, or

(v) offences punishable under the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 (Act No. 104 of 1956), or

(vi) offences punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (Act No. 3 of 1867), or

(vii) preventing any person from offering bids in auction lawfully conducted, or tender, lawfully invited, by or on behalf of any Government department, local body or public or private undertaking, for any lease or rights or supply of goods or work to be done, or

(viii) preventing or disturbing the smooth running by any person of his lawful business, profession, trade or employment or any other lawful activity connected therewith, or

(ix) offences punishable under Section 171-E of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or in preventing or obstructing any public election being lawfully held, by physically preventing the voter from exercising his electoral rights, or

(x) inciting others to resort to violence to disturb communal harmony, or

(xi) creating panic, alarm or terror in public, or

(xii) terrorising or assaulting employees or owners or occupiers of public or private undertakings or factories and causing mischief in respect of their properties, or

(xiii) inducing or attempting to induce any person to go to foreign countries on false representation that any employment, trade or profession shall be provided to him in such foreign country, or

(xiv) kidnapping or abducting any person with intent to extort ransom, or

(xv) diverting or otherwise preventing any aircraft or public transport vehicle from following its scheduled course ;

(c) "gangster" means a member or leader or organiser of a gang and includes any person who abets or assists in the activities of a gang enumerated in clause (b), whether bef6.ore or after the commission of such activities or harbours any person who has indulged in such activities ;

(d) "public servant" means a public servant as defined in Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or any other law for the time being in force, and includes any person who lawfully assist the police or other authorities of the State, in investigation or prosecution or punishment of an offence punishable under this Act, whether by giving information or evidence relating to such offence or offender or in any other manner;

(e) "member of the family of a public servant" means his parents or spouse and brother, sister, son, daughter, grandson, grand-daughter or the spouses of any of them, and includes a person dependent on or residing with the public servant and a person in whose welfare the public servant is interested ;

(f) words and phrases used but not defined in this Act and defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, or the Indian Penal Code shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in such Codes."

6. A careful perusal of the definition of "Gangster" and "Gang" would not fail to indicate that if an offence punishable under Chapter XVI, Chapter XVII and Chapter XXII of Indian Penal Code is committed with the object of disturbing public order or with the object of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary or material advantage, such activity on the part of accused can make him liable to face the imposition of Gangsters Act in question. He may commit such kind of act just once and may face a single F.I.R. or he may commit such kind of offences many times and may face more than one F.I.Rs. in that connection. It is not the number of F.I.Rs. which is relevant as it is significant to assess whether the crime committed by the accused was inspired and prompted with the motive of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary or material advantage or not. It is the object of the offence or the motive behind it which is of crucial significance in order to adjudge whether the provisions of Gangsters Act in question can be brought into application in a given case or not.

7. After having perused the record, this Court finds itself in agreement with the submissions made by the learned counsel for the applicants that though the accused are facing the allegations of having committed murder but they cannot be said to have committed the crime because they were gangsters. There was no motive of making any wrongful economic gains. This Court also does not see any material on the basis of which it may be held that the prime object behind committing the crime in question was so as to disturb the public order. Whenever some grave crime is committed it always leads to a consequential result of some kind of disturbance in society. Such normal disturbance in society and disturbing the public order or creating panic or terror are different species. Ordinary law and order problems can not be clubbed with phenomenon of break of public order. The crime in question does not appear to have been committed with the object of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other similar kind of advantage for itself or for any other person indulged in anti-social activities.

8. Here in this context it may also be seen that in the definition of 'gang' as provided under Section -2(b) of the U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 (hereinafter referred to as Act) reference to the words 'gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage' for himself or any other person has been given. One might argue that the words 'other advantage' is an all inclusive term and all kinds and categories of advantages will come under its title, and therefore, there is hardly any need to see the facts of the case with a fine class in order to find whether the object of the gang is or was of gaining undue temporal, pecuniary and material advantage or not. If the violence or offence committed was inspired to get any kind of advantage for himself or for any other person, the letter of definition as provided by the Act shall stand satisfied. But in the considered opinion of this Court such kind of approach will lead to complete misinterpretation of the Statute. If the Legislature in its wisdom has used a number of qualifying words with regard to Anti Social Activity as has been referred to and contemplated in the Act, then its whole purpose shall stand defeated by providing such an all sweeping meaning to the words 'other advantage' as has been used in the definition. If the term 'other advantage' was meant to include all advantages or was meant to include any kind of advantage whatsoever where was the need to use different other defining words like 'temporal, pecuniary and material' which immediately precede the words 'or other advantage' ! It is self evident that the use of the preceding words have a qualifying effect and must be seen lending its complexion to the subsequently used words 'other advantage'. The words 'other advantage' has got to be seen in the context and perspective and with reference to the preceding aforesaid words and must be understood in the same light. Just as a man is often known by the company he keeps, the import of words in Statute also are often to be seen and understood by the company of the words in which they appear. In this regard this Court deems it appropriate to keep in perspective the rule of 'Ejusdem Generis' in order to correctly appreciate the scope and the actual ambit of the general words which follow the aforesaid specific words used in the Statute. The Court is of the view that the aforesaid preceding words 'temporal, pecuniary and material' are constituting a genus and the words 'other advantage' has to be read as an species of the same. Though ordinarily the general words must be provided to bear their natural and larger meaning but they have to be confined Ejusdem generis to the class of things previously enumerated by certain specific words because it is not difficult to see clearly the intention of the Statute which it spells out by using a specific class and category of qualifying words. This Court sees reasons and therefore feels persuaded to limit the scope of the meaning of the general words 'other advantage' because if we provide to it a larger all embracing meaning it is likely to lead to absurd and unforeseen results. The general expression has to be read contemplating to imply the things of the same kind which have been referred to by the preceding specific class of things constituting a genus. If we do not adhere to this rule and do not impute specific complexion to the general words in the light of the preceding words the blatant misuse and plain absurdity to which it shall lead is that the administrative executives and the police would feel free to impose the provisions of this Act upon anybody and everybody who is facing the charge of committing any sort of offence or any breach of law howsoever trivial it be because hardly any violence or threat or show of violence or intimidation or coercion is done without having the object of gaining some kind of advantage himself or for any other person. The word 'advantage' has an all sweeping natural meaning and may include material and psychological both kinds of advantages. In that view of the matter the use of the words 'other advantage' will bring in its mischief everything under the sun. It is therefore very expediently needed to read these words in right perspective and read them Ejusdem generis with the things or words previously enumerated by the Statute. In order to substantiate its view this Court finds strength from the pronouncement given by the Apex Court in the case of Assistant Collector of Central Excise, Guntur vs. Ramdev Tobacco Company, 1991 AIR (SC) 506. In this case the principle of Ejusdem generis was expatiated upon at some length and was also brought into application while giving interpretation to the issues involved in the case with which it was dealing. It would be profitable to extract the relevant portion of the pronouncement which reads as under :

"5. But the question is whether the issuance of a show cause notice and the initiation of the consequential adjudication proceedings can be described as `other legal proceedings' within the meaning of sub-section (2) of section 40 of the Act? If the said departmental action falls within the expression `other legal proceeding' there can be no doubt that the action would be barred as the same indisputably was initiated six months after the accrual of the cause action. So the crucial question is whether the issuance of the show cause notice dated August 30, 1972 and the passing of the impugned order in adjudication proceedings emanating therefrom constitutes `other legal proceeding' within the meaning of section 40 (2) of the Act to fall within the mischief of that sub-section which bars such proceedings if commenced after a period of six months from the accrual of the cause of action. The learned Additional Solicitor General submitted that the expression `other legal proceeding' must be read ejusdem generis with the preceding expressions `suit' and `prosecution' and if so read it becomes crystal clear that the department's action cannot come within the purview of `other legal proceeding'. How valid is this contention is the question which we are called upon to answer in the present appeal.

6. The rule of ejusdem generis is generally invoked where the scope and ambit of the general words which follow certain specific words (which have some common characteristic and constitute a genus) is required to be determined. By the application of this rule the scope and ambit of the general words which follow certain specific words constituting a genus is restricted to things ejusdem generis with those preceding them, unless the context otherwise requires. General words must ordinarily bear their natural and larger meaning and need not be confined ejusdem generis to things previously enumerated unless the language of the statute spells out an intention to that effect. Courtshave also limited the scope of the general words in cases where a larger meaning is likely to lead to absurd and unforeseen results. To put it differently, the general expression has to be read to comprehend things of the same kind as those referred to by the preceding specific things constituting a genus, unless of course from the language of the statute it can be inferred that the general words were not intended to be so limited and no absurdity or unintended and unforeseen complication is likely to result if they are allowed to take their natural meaning. The cardinal rule of interpretation is to allow the general words to take their natural wide meaning unless the language of the statute gives a different indication or such meaning is likely to lead to absurd results in which case their meaning can be restricted by the application of this rule and they may be required to fall in line with the specific things designated by the preceding words. But unless there is genus which can be comprehended from the preceding words, there can be no question of invoking this rule. Nor can this rule have any application where the general words precede specific words.

7. There can be little doubt that the words `other legal proceeding' are wide enough to include adjudication and penalty proceedings under the Act. Even the learned Additional Solicitor General did not contend to the contrary but what he said was that since this wide expression is preceded by particular words of a certain genus, namely, words indicating reference to proceedings taken in courts only, the wide words must be limited to things ejusdem generis and must take colour from the preceding words and should, therefore, receive a limited meaning to exclude proceedings of the type in question. There can be no doubt that `suit' or `prosecution' are those judicial or legal proceedings which are lodged in a court of law and not before any executive authority, even if a statutory one. The use of the expression `instituted' in section 40 (2) strengthens this belief. Since this sub-section has been construed by this Court in Raju's case (supra) not to be confined in its application to only Government servants but to extend to others including the assessees and since the words `for anything done or ordered to be done under this Act' are found to be comprehensive enough to include acts of non-compliance or omissions to do what the Act and the Rule enjoin, the limitation prescribed by section 40(2) would undoubtedly hit the adjudication and penalty proceedings unless the expression `other legal proceeding' is read ejusdem generis to limit its ambit to legal proceedings initiated in a court of law.

8. The scope of section 40(2) as it stood before its amendment pursuant to Raju's case came up for consideration before a DivisionBench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court inUniversal Cables Ltd. v. Union of India, [1977 Tax LR 1825]: 1977 ELT (J92) wherein the question raised for determination was whether penalty proceedings taken under Rule 173Q for the infraction of Rule 173C with a view to evading payment of duty fell within the expression `other legal proceeding' used in the said sub- section. The High Court conceded that the expression when read in isolation is wide enough to include any proceeding taken in accordance with law, whether so taken in a court of law or before any authority or tribunal but when read with the preceding words `suit' or `prosecution' it must be

"Now the language ofsection 40(2) is: `no suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall be instituted'. `Suit' and `prosecution' which precede the expression `other legal proceeding' can be taken only in a Court of Law".

After stating the expanse of the ejusdem generis rule, as explained inAmar Chandra v. Excise Collector, Tripura, AIR. 1972 SC 1863 at 1868 (Sutherland, Volume 2 pages 399-400) the High Court observed that there was no indication in the said sub-section or elsewhere in the Act that the said general words were intended to receive their wide meaning and were not to be construed in a limited sense with the aid of the ejusdem generis rule. A departmental proceeding like penalty proceedings were, therefore, placed outside the scope of the said sub-section. This view was quoted with approval by a learned Single Judge of the Bombay High Court in C.C. Industries & Others v. H.N. Ray, 1980 ELT 442 at 453. These two cases, therefore, clearly support the view canvassed before us by the learned Additional Solicitor General.

9. We have given our careful consideration to the submission made on behalf of the appellant, reinforced by the view expressed in the aforesaid two decisions. In considering the scope of the expression `other legal proceeding' we have confined ourselves to the language of sub-section (2) of section 40 of the Act before its amendment by Act 22 of 1973 and should not be understood to express any view on the amended provision. On careful consideration we are in respectful agreement with the view expressed in the aforesaid decisions that the wide expression `other legal proceeding' must be read ejusdem generis with the preceding words `suit' and `prosecution' as they constitute a genus. In this view of the matter we must uphold the contention of the learned Additional Solicitor General that the penalty and adjudicationproceedings in question did not fall within the expression `other legal proceeding' employed in section 40(2) of the Act as it stood prior to its amendment by Act 22 of 1973 and therefore, the said proceedings were not subject to the limitation prescribed by the said sub-section."

9. Illumined by the aforesaid view adopted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court this Court sees good reason to hold that the use of phrase 'other advantage' as it finds place in the Act must take its hue from the accompanying words which immediately precede the same and which have a qualifying effect.

10. The definition as has been provided in the Gangster Act is very exhaustive and has very wide contours. While dealing with the issues involved in the case of Gangster Act, the court has to be cautious and should not stretch it too much or to the extent where any kind of crime committed by anybody or all kinds of offences committed by anybody would make him a "gangster". In fact it is a question of fact and the court will have to see it as per the allegations made in each individual case whether the nature of crime committed was such on the basis of which an accused can be brought under the bracket of the definition of the gangster or not. There cannot be a over generalized formula on this point and the Court has to satisfy itself on a subjective basis as well as on the objective basis as per the allegations and the circumstances as they may appear from the nature of crime said to have been committed by a particular accused and see for itself whether he can be brought within the mischief of the Act or not. In the present case this Court is of the considered opinion that the nature of crime committed, the background in which it was committed, the motive and the object which appears to have been behind this incident were such, which fall far short of bringing the case under the category where the provisions of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 could be successfully attributed or imposed.

11. In such view of the matter, the charge sheet under the said act and the consequent proceedings thereof stand quashed.

12. The application stands allowed.

13. A copy of this order be certified to the lower court forthwith.

THE HON'BLE ARVIND KUMAR MISHRA-I, J.

(u/s -482 Cr. P.C.)

Hanif Malik ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. &Ors. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Chandrakesh Mishra, Sri Daya Shankar Mishra.

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A., Sri Krishna Dutt Tiwari.

A. Section 190 Cr.P.C. – Dowry death. FIR lodged. Final report submitted by police -Application u/s 156(3) filed - treated protest petition as complaint case - Magistrate duly examined the postmortem report, statement of witnesses - disagreed with the final report - found that death of victim not caused by injury.

Held:- Section 190(1) Cr.P.C. gives an unequivocal expression and impression that the Magistrate is competent to take cognizance upon " information received from any person other than a police officer" therefore cognizance of case in shape of the protest petition falls under clause (c) of Section 190(1) Cr.P.C. The Magistrate was of the view that the material produced can be scrutinized in better way on the judicial side and to meet the ends of justice treated protest petition as complaint thereby rightly exercising power under Section 190(1) Cr.P.C.

(E-10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Daya Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri K.D. Tiwari, learned counsel for opposite party nos.2 to 6, Sri Om Narain Tripathi, learned A.G.A.-I assisted by Sri Bhanu Pratap, Brief Holder for the State and perused the material brought on record.

2. By way of the instant application, the applicant has sought for quashment of the order dated 08.06.2018 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bijnor, in Misc. F.R. Case No.411 of 2017 whereby final report submitted by the police in Case Crime No.70 of 2017 under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Shivalakala, District Bijnor was treated as complaint case on the protest of the complainant - applicant.

3. Contention raised on behalf of the applicant is confined to the ambit that from bare perusal of the observation/analysis of the order impugned in the instant application, it is reflective of fact that the Magistrate concerned was not satisfied with submission of the final report as such, has categorically observed that he disagrees with the final report. In that event, the Magistrate was bound to proceed further and could have taken cognizance of the case, instead, he treated the protest petition filed by the applicant as complaint which under circumstances was unfair, unreasonable, unjust and illegal.

4. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has submitted that in this case, the powers qua conditions requisite for initiation of the proceeding have been specifically laid down in Section 190 (1) (a) (b) and (c) Cr.P.C. There are three modes provided; one cannot stick with only one mode of taking cognizance which should be exercised and no other alternative shall be resorted to in a particular situation.

5. Here disagreeing with the final report does not mean that the material is sufficient to proceed as per evidence collected by the Investigating Officer against the accused for prosecuting them and for ensuring fair trial but the Magistrate concerned was of the view that scrutiny and analysis of facts and evidence can be done in better way by the court (concerned) itself, therefore, the Magistrate exercised powers vested in him under Section 190 (1) (c) Cr.P.C. in order to ensure substantial justice to the applicant but the applicant unnecessarily kept on insisting that in the event of disagreeing with the final report would mean that cognizance should be taken straightway of the offence in question under Section 190 (1) (a) Cr.P.C. is by no means fair plea.

6. Considered the rival submissions as well.

7. Before expressing final opinion, it would be better if background of the case is taken into consideration at this stage. As per protest petition filed by the applicant, the marriage of the deceased Reena was solemnized with opposite party no.2 - Kamal Hasan on 03.12.2015, the husband and in-laws of the deceased were not satisfied with the dowry given at the time of marriage, therefore, they demanded additional dowry in the shape of one car and Rs.2,00,000/- cash and they used to beat the applicant's daughter - (deceased). The applicant also tried to pacify her daughter, the husband and in-laws but to no avail. Eight months prior to the death of the applicant's daughter, serious injuries were caused on the head of the deceased and due to which she was suffering from illness and suffered injuries in her mind as well.

8. On 01.12.2016, the applicant's daughter - deceased was severely beaten by opposite party nos.2 to 6 due to which she was aborted and gave birth to a stillborn child on 03.12.2016. The applicant visited the house of in-laws of his daughter on 13.02.2017 whereupon the applicant's daughter described about the aforesaid developments and told fact of stillborn child. Since the physical condition of the applicant's daughter had badly deteriorated, he took his daughter with him (to his house). She was admitted to the hospital in Moradabad in badly deteriorated condition, thereafter she was taken to Loknayak Hospital Delhi where she was got admitted on 26.02.2017, whereafter, she died on 07.03.2017 in the hospital on account of injuries being caused to her previously on her head. The applicant went to lodge the report at Police Station Shivalakala, District Bijnor on 09.03.2017 but the same was neither written nor lodged at the Police Station concerned. The applicant then presented application to the Superintendent of Police, Bijnor on 15.03.2017 but no action was taken.

9. The applicant being placed under compelling circumstances has moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. which was directed to be registered and investigated into by the police whereupon the case was registered at Case Crime No.70 of 2017, under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, at Police Station Shivalakala, District Bijnor on 24.04.2017. The case was investigated into and final report was submitted by the Investigating Officer in this case.

10. In the wake of above fact situation, contention raised on behalf of the applicant is to the ambit that post mortem examination report specifies 28 stitches on the head of the deceased, extending in an area of 12 cm x 8 cm which shows that the death of the deceased Reena was 'unnatural' and it occurred on account of injuries being caused to the deceased by the aforesaid opposite parties.

11. Next contended that under facts and circumstances of the case, proper investigation was not made, statement of only certain witnesses and nearby residents were recorded and final report no.411 of 2017 was filed which culminated into Case No.2605 of 2018 Hanif Vs. Kamal Hasan and others. Notice was issued to the applicant and he filed a detailed protest petition whereby the Magistrate after observing that in view of the post mortem examination report and statement given to the S.D.M. by the complainant at the time of conduction of the post mortem examination, the incident of assault/injury being caused to the deceased by opposite party nos.2 to 6 was found to be incorrect.

12. The point raised on behalf of the complainant-applicant for consideration basically relates to taking of cognizance of the case on the police report itself.

13. Learned counsel for the applicant has vehemently submitted that once the Magistrate was not in agreement with the submission of the final report then he could have proceeded straightway and could have taken cognizance of the offence and nothing precluded him from adopting that course of action, but the Magistrate, all of sudden, came out with another version and treated the protest petition as complaint which under facts and circumstances of this particular case is ex-facie illegal and not sustainable in the eye of law.

14. The contention so raised is rejected, for specific reason that it is nowhere provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 that once a Magistrate while disagreeing with the final report should invariably take cognizance of the offence on the police report itself by exercising powers vested in him under Section 190 (1) (a) Cr.P.C. but it is always open to the Magistrate exercising powers vested in him by law while taking cognizance of offence as provided under sub-sections (a) (b) (c) of Section 190 (1) Cr.P.C.

15. Here the point in question is that the material collected during course of the investigation did not justify taking cognizance of the case as the material was not sufficient for proceeding further. However, considering averments made in the protest petition, the Magistrate was of the view that the material produced can be scrutinized in better way on the judicial side and, with that view in mind, in order to secure ends of justice, considered the protest petition as complaint and thus exercised powers vested in him under Section 190 (1) (c) Cr.P.C., which Section is very much extracted hereinbelow for ready reference;

"190. Cognizance of offences by Magistrates.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, any Magistrate of the first class, and any Magistrate of the second class specially empowered in this behalf under sub- section (2), may taken cognizance of any offence.

(a) .....

(c) upon information received from any person other than a police officer, or upon his own knowledge, that such offence has been committed."

16. Bare reading of the aforesaid sub-section (c) of Section 190 (1) Cr.P.C. gives unequivocal expression and impression that the Magistrate is competent to take cognizance upon "information received from any person other than a police officer". Therefore, cognizance of case in shape of the protest petition falls under this category (190 (1) (c) Cr.P.C.). Entirety of the facts and circumstances of this case in hand when taken as a whole reflects that the substantial justice has been tried to be done to the applicant and it is up to the complainant-applicant to cooperate with the Court and the prosecution in order to unravel the truth.

17. For the reasons aforesaid, I do not find any infirmity or illegality in the order impugned dated 08.06.2018 passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bijnor, in Misc. F.R. Case No.411 of 2017 whereby the protest petition has been converted into complaint case and accordingly cognizance has been taken against opposite party nos.2 to 6.

18. Consequently, the instant application being devoid of merit is dismissed.

19. It is made clear that observation made in this order shall have no bearing on the merits of the case and shall not prejudice the trial court while deciding the case on merits.

A. Section 311 Cr.P.C. - Recalling of witness for examination- power to recall must be exercised with care, caution and circumspection and only for strong and valid reasons-principle of magnanimity- a balance between accused- prosecution and society (Para 8, 9, 10, 11& 12)

Witness- P.W.1 examined- applicant sought adjournments numerous times- stop order passed- P.W.2 examined- supported the prosecution in examination-in-chief- resiled from his earlier statement in cross-examination- declared hostile witness- application to cross-examine P.W.1-application rejected by trial court.

The accused-applicants did not sought an opportunity call the P.W. 1 again when the stop order was passed but when the P.W. 2 turned hostile. The ill-intention of the accused-applicant is apparent on the face of it as the application for recall was moved after more than eight months have elapsed after closing the opportunity of cross-examination.

No error. Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajul Bhargava, J.)

1. Heard Sri J.P.N. Raj, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Pramod Shukla, learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed to set-aside the impugned order dated 6.6.2019 passed by Sessions Judge, Baghpat in S.T. No.403 of 2017 (State vs. Rohit and others), arising out of Case Crime No.122 of 2017, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302/34 I.P.C., P.S. Baleni, District Baghpat whereby the learned Judge dismissed the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to recall PW-1 for cross-examination.

3. Submission of the learned counsel for the applicants is that the learned Sessions Judge has illegally closed the opportunity of cross-examination by the defence on behalf of the applicants vide order dated 19.9.2018 and further the application for recalling the aforesaid order has also been illegally rejected by the learned Judge vide impugned order dated 6.6.2019. Learned counsel has submitted that if the defence is not given proper opportunity to cross-examine PW-1- Mange Ram, who is the first informant of the case, it will cause a serious prejudice to defence case as his testimony would go unrebutted. It is further argued that it is a fundamental right of an accused to have fair trial as envisaged under Article 21 of the Constitution and if the impugned orders are not set-aside then the main object of affording fair trial to accused in the spirit of life and liberty shall be greatly jeopardized. It is further argued that the courts have an over-riding duty to maintain public confidence in the administration of justice - often referred to as the duty to vindicate and uphold the 'majesty of the law'. It is submitted that the powers to recall a witness under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is a very wide and could be exercised for the just decision of a case. The Section 311 Cr.P.C. empowers the Courts to recall material witness at any stage of enquiry or trial, if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the arrival at the just decision of a case. The aforesaid impugned orders passed by the courts below are patently illegal and arbitrary and further no prejudice shall be caused to the prosecution, inasmuch as, the trial is already going on. Therefore, the cross-examination of PW-1, who is the first informant and eye-witness, is absolutely essential to arrive at just decision of the case. There was no wilful default on the parts of the applicants in not cross-examining the PW-1 with any oblique purpose, yet the trial court committed manifest illegality by closing the same vide order dated 19.9.2018.

4. Before, I deal with the arguments raised by learned counsel for the applicants, I may record that the applicants are accused in a broad day light double murder case which according to prosecution took place on 28.7.2017 at 7:30 A.M. The F.I.R. was lodged by PW-1 on the same day at 8:45 A.M. After thorough investigation, charge-sheet was laid against the accused and the case was committed before the sessions court. The trial commenced on denial by the accused and charges were framed on 23.4.2018 under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 I.P.C. Then, 26.6.2018 was fixed for recording of evidence and on that date the examination-in-chief of the first informant/eye-witness Sri Mange Ram was recorded. He narrated the prosecution version and the manner in which the applicants gunned down two persons. However, an adjournment application was moved on behalf of the accused-applicants and the cross-examination was suspended. The court fixed 12.7.2018 on which date PW-1, Mange Ram was present and again an adjournment application was moved on behalf of accused which was allowed with specific direction that on the next date adjournment shall not be allowed. On the next date i.e. 26.7.2018, the witness was not present and the court posted the case for 10.8.2018. However, on 10.8.2018 as the accused could not be produced from the jail before the court the case was adjourned and 24.8.2018 was fixed. On 24.8.2018 PW-1 was present but the advocates had abstained from work due to which cross-examination could not take place. The trial was then fixed for 5.9.2019 and on that date PW-1, Mange Ram was present in the court, yet again an adjournment application was moved on behalf of the accused-applicants and the trial court accommodated them and 19.9.2018 was fixed. On 19.9.2018 the accused were produced from the jail and the witness, Mange Ram was also present, however, an adjournment application was moved on behalf of the accused- Rohit and Billu through their counsels and the learned Judge finding no justification for adjourning the case on that date closed the opportunity for cross-examination of PW-

1 after recording reasons the court fixed for 4.10.2018 for recording of remaining evidence.

5. I may record that on 4.10.2018, the first date fixed after closing the opportunity to cross-examine PW-1, no application on behalf of the defence to recall the order dated 19.9.2018 was moved, however, on that date examination-in-chief of PW-2- Manjeet, an eye witness, was recorded who is the son of PW-1. He fully corroborated the statement of PW-1 and the prosecution version contained in the F.I.R. He was also not cross-examined by the defence on that date and the court fixed 14.11.2018 for his cross-examination. On 14.11.2018 the learned Judge waited for the defence counsels till 3:45 P.M. but no one turned up and the court in the interest of justice fixed 3.12.2018. The order-sheet reflects that the PW-2 did not appear before the court on 3.12.2018, 11.12.2018, 21.12.2018, 1.1.2019, 4.1.2019, 17.1.2019 28.1.2019 and the trial was adjourned on account of presiding officer being on leave, the advocates abstained from work, on account of condolences and for non-appearance of PW-2 lingered on and more than a dozen dates were fixed, ultimately PW-2, Manjeet appeared before the court on 28.5.2019 and he was cross-examined by the defence and now the said witness who had supported the prosecution version in his examination-in-chief recorded on 4.10.2018 took a U-turn and resiled from his earlier statement and stated that the names of accused-applicants was disclosed by his father and had witnessed the incident for quite some distance and had only heard the sound of fire. He has stated that he had only seen the accused from their back and not their faces. At that stage, an application was moved by the DGC (criminal) to declare the said witness hostile and be permitted to cross-examine him. The learned DGC cross-examined the said witness. Thereafter, the most glaring fact in the present case is that an application for recalling PW-1 for cross-examination was moved on 3.6.2019 which was ultimately rejected by the learned Sessions Judge on 6.6.2019. The order dated 19.9.2018 remained unchallenged.

6. I have carefully gone through the impugned order passed by the learned Judge and the aforesaid admitted/unrebutted facts as contended in the impugned order as well as from the order-sheet, it is apparent that the applicants who are facing trial in a heinous double murder broad day light case deliberately did not cross-examine PW-1 on several dates probably for the reasons that they were exerting pressure on PW-1 for entering into compromise so that he resiles from his examination-in-chief recorded on 26.6.2018. The trial court despite affording sufficient opportunity to the accused-applicants for cross-examining PW-1, ultimately closed the opportunity for cross-examination on 19.9.2018. I may further record that 4.10.2018 was fixed for recording of remaining evidence and on that date examination-in-chief of PW-2, son of PW-1, an eye witness was recorded in which he has fully supported and corroborated the prosecution version and the statement of PW-1. On that date also no application was moved on behalf of applicants-accused for recalling PW-1 for cross-examination. The eye-witness PW-2 was also not cross-examined on 4.10.2018 and 14.11.2018 and then after 3.12.2018 and subsequent dates the said witness did not appear before the court may be due to fear of accused or he was under coercion to resile from his statement and ultimately he appeared on 28.5.2019. He was cross-examined by the defence and he resiled from his examination-in-chief and, thus, declared hostile by the prosecution. Thereafter, application for recalling PW-1 moved on behalf of applicants on 3.6.2019 makes it crystal clear that when the applicants-accused had succeeded in their evil design to win over PW-2 who appeared before the court on 28.5.2018 and remained absent for more than a dozen dates, the application for recalling PW-1 for cross-examination was moved.

7. I am also of the considered opinion that the mala fide of the accused-applicants is apparent on the face of it as the application for recall of PW-1 for cross-examination was deliberately moved after more than eight months after the cross-examination was closed by the learned Judge.

8. It is well settled by catena of decisions by the Hon'ble Apex Court that the power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must be exercised with the care, caution and circumspection and only for strong and valid reasons. The recall of a witness already examined should not be a matter of course and discretion given to the court in this regard has to be exercised judicially to prevent failure of justice. The object of the provision as a whole is to do justice not only from the point of view of the accused and the prosecution but also from the point of view of an orderly society.

9. The Court is fully conscious of the position that after all the trial is basically for the prisoners/accused and the Court should afford an opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible. At the same time, the Court should bear in mind that fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and the society and, therefore, the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right. Recalling of witnesses has to be applied on the basis of judicially established and accepted principles.

10. In State of Haryana v. Ram Mehar and others (2016) 8 SCC 762, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as under:-

"23. In Bablu Kumar and others v. State of Bihar and another, (2015) 8 SCC 787 the Court referred to the authorities in Sidhartha Vashisht alias Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2010) 6 SCC, Rattiram and others v. State of Madhya Pradesh (2012) 4 SCC 516, J. Jayalalithaa and others v. State of Karnataka and others (2014) 2 SCC 401, State of Karnataka v. K. Yarappa Reddy (1999) 8 SCC 715 and other decisions and came to hold that keeping in view the concept of fair trial, the obligation of the prosecution, the interest of the community and the duty of the court, it can irrefragably be stated that the court cannot be a silent spectator or a mute observer when it presides over a trial. It is the duty of the court to see that neither the prosecution nor the accused play truancy with the criminal trial or corrode the sanctity of the proceeding. They cannot expropriate or hijack the community interest by conducting themselves in such a manner as a consequence of which the trial becomes a farcical one. It has been further stated that the law does not countenance a "mock trial". It is a serious concern of society. Every member of the collective has an inherent interest in such a trial. No one can be allowed to create a dent in the same. The court is duty-bound to see that neither the prosecution nor the defence takes unnecessary adjournments and take the trial under their control*. We may note with profit though the context was different, yet the message is writ large. The message is ? all kinds of individual notions of fair trial have no room"."*

"38. At this juncture, we think it apt to state that the exercise of power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. can be sought to be invoked either by the prosecution or by the accused persons or by the Court itself. The High Court has been moved by the ground that the accused persons are in the custody and the concept of speedy trial is not nullified and no prejudice is caused, and, therefore, the principle of magnanimity should apply. Suffice it to say, a criminal trial does not singularly centres around the accused. In it there is involvement of the prosecution, the victim and the victim represents the collective. The cry of the collective may not be uttered in decibels which is physically audible in the court premises, but the Court has to remain sensitive to such silent cries and the agonies, for the society seeks justice*. Therefore, a balance has to be struck. We have already explained the use of the words "magnanimous approach" and how it should be understood. Regard being had to the concept of balance, and weighing the factual score on the scale of balance, we are of the convinced opinion that the High Court has fallen into absolute error in axing the order passed by the learned trial Judge. If we allow ourselves to say, when the concept of fair trial is limitlessly stretched, having no boundaries, the orders like the present one may fall in the arena of sanctuary of errOrs. Hence, we reiterate the necessity of doctrine of balance"."*

11. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mohd. Khalid v. State of West Bengal (2002) 7 SCC 334 has made a serious observation about adjournment of the case for cross-examination by the defence. In Para 54, it has been held that:-

"Before parting with the case, we may point out that the Designated Court deferred the cross-examination of the witnesses for a long time. That is a feature which is being noticed in many cases. Unnecessary adjournments give a scope for a grievance that the accused persons get a time to get over the witnesses. Whatever be the truth in this allegation, the fact remains that such adjournments lack the spirit of Section 309 of the Code. When a witness is available and his examination-in-chief is over, unless compelling reasons arc there, the Trial Court should not adjourn the matter on the mere asking. These aspects were highlighted by this Court in State of U.P. v. Shambhu Nath Singh and others (2001) 4 SCC 667 a*nd N.G. Dastane v. Shrikant Shivde (2001) 6 SCC 135. In the case of State of U.P. v. Shambhu Nath Singh and others (2001) 4 SCC 667, this Court deprecated the practice of Courts adjourning cases without examination of witnesses when they are in attendance with the following observations:-*

"9. We make it abundantly clear that if a witness is present in Court he must be examined on that day. The Court must know that most of the witnesses could attend the Court only at heavy cost to them, after keeping aside their own avocation. Certainly they incur suffering and loss of income. The meagre amount of bhatta (allowance) which a witness may be paid by the Court is generally a poor solace for the financial loss incurred by him. It is a said plight in the Trial Courts that witnesses who are called through summons or other processes stand at a doorstep from morning till evening only to be told at the end of the day that the case is adjourned to another day. This primitive practice must be reformed by every one provided the presiding officer concerned has a commitment towards duty. No sadistic pleasure, in seeing how other persons summoned by him as witnesses are standard on account of the dimension of his judicial powers, can be a persuading factor for granting such adjournments lavishly, that too in a casual manner."

12. Keeping in view the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court, I may record that on the pretext of alleged failure of justice the applicants-accused cannot be permitted to adopt tactics to win over the witnesses by hook or by crook and ultimately when they succeeded in their evil design to win over the son of PW-1 who had supported the prosecution version on 4.10.2018 and then an application was moved with a mala fide intention and probably the accused-applicants had also won over PW-1, Mange Ram. It is not a case where no opportunity was afforded to the accused to cross-examine the witnesses but the accused-applicants facing trial in a heinous broad day light double murder case have not come up with clean hands and, thus, the court below by a detailed and reasoned order was perfectly justified in rejecting the recall application moved by the applicants for recalling PW-1 after more than eight months.

13. In the present facts and circumstances of the case, this Court while exercising its inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot be oblivious of the fact that the accused cannot be permitted to delay the trial and keep on getting the case adjourned and ultimately they succeed in their goal in winning over the witnesses. I may further record that even PW-2, Manjeet in his cross-examination has not denied the time, place and date of incident and he has only gone to the extent of stating that he had seen the accused from the back and not from the faces and the names of the applicants were disclosed by his father. How much reliance can be placed on the testimony of PW-2 is a matter of appreciation of his evidence by the trial court.

14. The applicants-accused themselves are responsible for leaving the trial judge with no option but to close the cross-examination as sufficient opportunity was afforded to them and the very fact of moving the recall application after more than eight months without it being challenged in any forum till 3.6.2019 speaks volumes of malafides of the applicants and the court cannot permit to recall PW-1 at this stage so that the possibility of his being also won over by the applicants cannot be ruled out. It is a double murder case and cannot be said to be a private dispute between the parties since it affects the society at large and affects the law and public order, such kind of practices cannot be allowed to permeate and permit the accused/applicants to take advantage of their own wrong. Their conduct was not such which may attract the discretionary power of the Court u/s 311 Cr.P.C. for recalling PW-1, Mange Ram for cross-examination.

15. In the light of aforesaid, I do not find any merit in the present application and the trial court has rightly exercised the discretion under Section 311 Cr.P.C. and the present application stands, accordingly, dismissed.

16. However, the trial court is directed to expedite the aforesaid session trial and conclude the same in accordance with law without granting unnecessary adjournments to either of the parties as expeditiously as possible preferably within a period of nine months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order, if there is no legal impediment.

17. Office is directed to communicate the order to the court concerned within a week.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Praveen Kumar, Advocate holding brief of Sri Manish Tiwary, learned counsel for applicants; and, Sri Rajnish Kumar Rai, Advocate for complainant and Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, learned AGA for State of U.P.

2. This is an application filed under Section 482 Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C.") praying for quashing of proceedings of Case Crime No. 8 of 2003, under Section 3 of Railway Property (Unlawful Possession) Act, 1966 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1966"), Police Station- D.L.W. Railway Protection Force (hereinafter referred to as "RPF") Post D.L.W. Varanasi.

3. Case was registered at P.S. RPF Post D.L.W. Varanasi on 20.05.2003 alleging that a piece of Railway line was recovered from Vikas Singh and he was arrested with Railway property. When enquired from him, he told that applicants who were earlier Manager at petrol pump where he (Vikas Singh) was working, may be able to tell about the said property, since Railway property was lying at the petrol pump before employment of Vikas Singh. Vikas Singh was enlarged on bail by Sessions Judge, Varanasi vide order dated 24.05.2003. On 05.04.2004, Investigating Officer informed Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, North Eastern Region, Varanasi about the investigation, he is making in the matter. These proceedings have been challenged by applicants on the ground that offence under Act, 1966 is not cognizable in view of Section 5 thereof, hence, Enquiry Officer has only option of making enquiry and file complaint and no procedure is prescribed whereunder he may approach Magistrate concerned to inform about the proceedings conducted by him. It is also submitted that from G.D. Entry dated 20.05.2003 at Serial No. 37, it cannot be said that any offence has been committed by applicants under Section 3 or 4 of Act, 1966 and, therefore, report submitted by Enquiry Officer before Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, North Eastern Region, Varanasi on 05.04.2004 is totally misconceived.

4. Learned AGA could not dispute that offences under Act, 1966 are non-cognizable but said that recovery of Railway property from Vikas Singh and statement given by him show prima facie involvement of applicants also and in any case, the matter is still under investigation and, therefore, it cannot be said that proceedings are liable to be quashed and no offence against applicants is made out or the procedure adopted by Investigating Officer of RPF is patently illegal.

5. Section 3 of Act, 1966 provides penalty for unlawful possession of Railway property. Section 6 authorizes a superior officer or member of Force to arrest any person who has been concerned in an offence punishable under Act, 1966 or against whom a reasonable suspicion exists of having been so concerned, without an order from Magistrate and without a warrant. Section 7 provides that any person arrested under Act, 1966, shall, if the arrest is made by a person other than the officer of the Force, to forward such person, without delay to the nearest officer of the Force. Section 8 of Act, 1966 provides:

"8. Inquiry how to be made- (1) When an officer of the Force receives information about the commission of an offence punishable under this Act, or when any person is arrested by an office of the Force for an offence punishable under this Act or is forwarded to him under section 7, he shall proceed to inquire into the charge against such persons.

(2) For this purpose the officer of the Force may exercise the same powers and shall be subject to the same provisions as the officer in charge of a police station may exercise and is subject to under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (5 of 1898), when investigating a cognizable case:

Provided that-

(a) if the officer of the Force is of opinion that there is sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion against the accused person, he shall either admit him to bail to appear before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case, or forward him in custody to such Magistrate;

(b) if it appears to the officer of the Force that there is no sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion against the accused person, he shall release the accused person on his executing a bond, with or without sureties as the officer of the Force may direct, to appear, if and when so required, before the Magistrate having jurisdiction, and shall make a full report of all the particulars of the case to his official superior."

6. In the present case, G.D. (Rojnamcha) No. 37 dated 20.05.2003 shows that after seizure of Railway property, Vikas Singh was interrogated and arrested. The matter is still under enquiry and letter dated 05.04.2004 submitted to Magistrate concerned is neither a report within the meaning of Section 173 Cr.P.C. nor can be said to be a formal complaint referable to Section 200 Cr.P.C.. The matter is still at the stage of enquiry by officer of Force and according to his investigation, there is no reason to doubt that it shall not proceed in the manner as contemplated in law i.e. by filing of a complaint before Magistrate concerned under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and thereupon Magistrate may issue the process against accused under Section 204 Cr.P.C. Every document of Enquiry Officer of Force if addressed to Magistrate, cannot be treated to be a report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. and it cannot be said that he is acting illegally and not in the manner as provided in law.

7. In State of Bihar Vs. Chandra Bhusan Singh and Others AIR (2001) Supreme Court 429, Court said as under:

"Merely because the inquiry was held by a member of the Force having some similar powers as are possessed by an investigating officer, would not make the complaint to be a report within the meaning of Section 173 of the Code."

8. In Balkishan A. Devidayal, etc. v. State of Maharashtra AIR 1981 SC 379, Court said that an officer conducting an inquiry under Section 8(1) of Act, 1966 has not been invested with all powers of an officer incharge of a police station making an investigation under Chapter XIV of Cr.P.C. He has no power to file a charge sheet before the Magistrate concerned under Section 173 of Cr.P.C.. The main purpose of Act, 1966 was to invest powers of investigation and prosecution of an offence relating to Railway property in RPF in the same manner as in a case relating to offences under the law dealing with excise and customs. The offences under Act, 1966 are non-cognizable which cannot be investigated by a police officer under Cr.P.C.. The result is that initiation of inquiry for an offence inquired into under Act, 1966 can be only on the basis of a complaint by an officer of the Force. Court also held that an officer of RPF could not be deemed to be a 'police officer' within the meaning of Section 25 of Evidence Act, 1872 and, therefore, any confessional or incriminating statement recorded by him in the course of an inquiry under Section 8(1) of Act, 1966 cannot be excluded from evidence under the said section.

9. That being so, submission of applicants that RPF official is not proceeded in the matter in accordance with law at this stage by simply giving information vide letter dated 05.04.2004 in my view, is clearly erroneous and has no substance. Moreover, statement of Vikas Singh who was arrested by officer of the Force while recovering Railway property, stating that applicants can explain as to how Railway property was brought and kept at the petrol pump cannot be ignored and it cannot be said that no case against applicants is made out. Since the matter is still under investigation, hence, at this stage such a plea cannot be entertained.

10. Counsel for applicants has placed reliance on a Supreme Court's decision in State of Bihar Vs. Baidnath Prasad @ Baidyanath Shah and Another AIR (2002) SC 64, wherein request was made for quashing of proceeding which was pending for six years but Court declined to do so. Court observed that delay is attributable to accused as they challenged various orders passed in different proceedings and, therefore, accused cannot be allowed to take advantage of delay for which they are substantially responsible.

11. Reliance is also placed on behalf of applicants on a Single Judge judgment in Ishwar Saran Shukla and Another Vs. State of U.P. (1999) CRI. L.J. 1075 (Ald), wherein Court found that because complainant failed to appear on three dates, Magistrate has rightly declined to accept the request of dismissal of complaint and discharge of accused person by invoking Section 249 Cr.P.C.. Therein, reliance was also placed on a Supreme Court's decision in Common Cause, a Registered Society v. Union of India AIR (1996) SC 1619, wherein Court declined to accept the request of accused for dropping of case since case was pending for more than two years observing that an offence under Section 3 of Act, 1966 does not fall in such category since offence therein is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, or with fine, or with both.

12. I may also add that even otherwise, if a report submitted by a police officer in a non-cognizable offence, in view of Explanation to Section 2(d) of Cr.P.C., such report can be deemed to be a complaint and Magistrate can proceed accordingly but for that reason alone proceedings are not to be quashed since report submitted by a police cannot be held to be without jurisdiction merely because proceedings were instituted by police officer after investigation, when he had no power to investigate. Here also, I am fortified in taking the above view by the observations made by Supreme Court in State of Bihar Vs. Chandra Bhusan Singh (supra), where, referring to Explanation to Section 2(d) of Cr.P.C., Court said as under:-

"Section 2(d) of the Code emcompasses a police report also as a deemed complaint if the matter is investigated by a police officer regarding the case involving commission of a non-cognizable offence. In such a case, the report submitted by a police officer cannot be held to be without jurisdiction merely because proceedings were instituted by the police officer after investigation, when he had no power to investigate."

12. In view of above discussion, I do not find that proceedings in the present case can be said to be without jurisdiction and liable to be quashed.

13. Application lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

3. (2015) 6 SCC 287 Priyanka Srivastava & Another Vs State of Uttar Pradesh& Others(E-10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Dubey, learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been preferred with the prayer to quash the impugned order dated 08.01.2015, passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 9, Allahabad, in Case No. 18 of 2015 (Jai Prakash Tiwari vs. Makholi and others), under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., Police Station Meja, District Allahabad by which the learned court below has directed that the aforesaid complaint be registered as complaint case.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants has submitted that this application was given as a counter blast to one first information report lodged on the side of applicants. It has further been submitted that the application filed by opposite party no. 2 was not supported with any affidavit, whereas under the law it needs to be supported with affidavit and, therefore, there is misuse and abuse of the power of the court and the order is liable to be set aside. In support of the said argument, learned counsel for the applicants has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Priyanka Srivastava & Another vs. State of Uttar Pradesh & Others, (2015) 6 Supreme Court Cases 287, wherein it has been held as under :-

"We have already indicated that there has to be prior applications under Section 154(1) and 154(3) while filing a petition under Section 156(3). Both the aspects should be clearly spelt out in the application and necessary documents to that effect shall be filed. The warrant for giving a direction that an the application under Section 156(3) be supported by an affidavit so that the person making the application should be conscious and also endeavour to see that no false affidavit is made. It is because once an affidavit is found to be false, he will be liable for prosecution in accordance with law. This will deter him to casually invoke the authority of the Magistrate under Section 156(3). That apart, we have already stated that the veracity of the same can also be verified by the learned Magistrate, regard being had to the nature of allegations of the case. We are compelled to say so as a number of cases pertaining to fiscal sphere, matrimonial dispute/family disputes, commercial offences, medical negligence cases, corruption cases and the cases where there is abnormal delay/laches in initiating criminal prosecution, as are illustrated in Lalita Kumari are being filed. That apart, the learned Magistrate would also be aware of the delay in lodging of the FIR."

4. The argument of the learned counsel for the applicants that the application was not supported by any affidavit due to which, the learned Magistrate should have rejected the application on this basis only, cannot be given weight due to reason that the complaint was filed on 20.12.2014 and the impugned order was passed on 08.01.2015 much before the judgment in Priyanka Srivastava & Another vs. State of Uttar Pradesh & Others (supra) which was decided on 19.03.2015 and prior to this judgment, no such affidavit was required to be filed with application. Secondly, the Magistrate has not directed for registration of F.I.R. in this case. It cannot be said that mere direction to register the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., will in any way, cause prejudice to the applicants. It cannot be categorised as misuse of the process of the Court. When the application was registered as complaint, on oath, statement of the complainant will be recorded, which is no less than affidavit.

5. From perusal of the application filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. by the opposite party no. 2, it appears that the applicants on the date of incident came to the house of opposite party no. 2 with lathi and danda in their hands and started abusing the opposite party no. 2. When he opposed, they started beating him. At this the opposite party no. 2 ran into the house where also he was beaten by the applicants and due to beating he sustained injuries. The applicants also damaged the television etc., which was kept in the house.

6. Relying on the judgment of this Court in the case of Sukhwasi vs. State of U.P., (2007) 59 ACC 739 and of the Apex Court in Mohd. Yusuf vs. Afaq Jahan and others, 2006 (1) SCC (Cri.)460, the learned count below has passed the order to register the application as complaint case. It is pertinent to mention that no order directing police to register the first information report and for investigation was passed. When the case was registered as complaint case, it will be followed by due inquiry and the statement of the complainants and other witnesses will be recorded on oath and, therefore, there was no incumbency for the court to require any affidavit in support of the application.

7. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I do not find any ground to interfere in the order, however, there was no ground for invoking the extraordinary jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. before this Court because the said order was passed after due inquiry against the applicants, hence, the application is liable to be dismissed.

8. Accordingly the application is dismissed.

A. Sections 147, 148, 149, 37 and 302 Indian Penal Code - Trial in which applicant are accused reached its culminating stage - other complaint case in which other side is accused has been stayed by the High Court –
Held:- Principle that cross cases should be tried by same court - not universal principle - differs from case to case- stay not granted to the applicants - unnecessarily hamper the process of law- application dismissed. (Para 4)

The Court observed that the evidence produced in cross case cannot be used in other cross case. Both the cases have to be decided separately based on the evidences produced at the time of trial so as to avoid the possibility of mutually conflicting decisions which may sometimes happen if the verdict given in one case is not disclosed to the Court. (E-10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. has been filed with the prayer to quash the order dated 4.7.2017 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C., Court No. 2, Kasganj, in S.T. No. 07 of 2010, State vs. Omkar and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 455 of 2009, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 302 I.P.C., P.S.- Ganjdundwara, District- Kasganj by which the application seeking staying the pronouncement of the judgement in this case till disposal of the another criminal Misc. Case No. 16379 of 2009.

2. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. for the State. Perused the record.

3. Submission of the counsel for the applicants is that the trial in which the applicants are accused, has already reached at its culminating stage but the proceedings of cross case, which was in nature of complaint case, in which the other side has been made accused, has been stayed by the orders of the High Court. Further submission is that the present trial of the applicants should be stayed till the other cross case also comes up for trial on the principles that the cross cases should be decided together by the same court.

4. So far as the trial of the two cross cases is concerned, this is true that ordinarily cross cases should be tried together by the same court but that is not principle of universal application and varies from case to case on various factors and circumstances specially when out of two cases one case is pending and in other case evidences have already been completed. Admittedly, one case in which the applicants are accused, has reached at its culminating stage and the evidences have been recorded but the proceedings of other case have already been stayed by the High Court as it was deemed fit to do so by the competent Bench seized with the jurisdiction, and in such circumstances, it will unnecessary hamper the process of law if the trial of the applicants is allowed to wait for indefinite period of time specially in view of the heavy pendency of the cases where it is not very likely that the matter relating to the complaint case may be decided at any early date. This Court is also not very sure whether the other case is actually in the nature of cross case or not. Looking to the final stage of trial, this Court does not feel inclined to stay the proceedings till disposal of the other case pending before the High Court. It may also be taken note of that the evidence which is produced in the cross-cases cannot be made of any use in other cross-case and both the cases have to be decided on the basis of the evidence produced in each of cases separately remaining uninfluenced by the evidence which is produced in the other alleged cross case. The only rationale to justify the decision in the two cases simultaneously is to avoid the possibility of mutually conflicting decisions which may sometimes happen if the court is not aware about the verdict given in the other case. But in the peculiar facts and circumstances of this particular case the precautionary principle cannot override the other significant considerations of pragmatic judicial prudence and the process of law cannot be stalled simply on the basis of the existence of some alleged cross case and that too where proceedings have been stayed by the High Court. The matter has already reached at the final stage and must be allowed to arrive at its logical end otherwise instead of promoting, it shall frustrate the ends of justice.

5. The application lacks merit and stands dismissed.

7- Section 13 of the Court Fees Act, 1870 provides as under:

"13. Refund of fee paid on memorandum of appeal.-If an appeal or plaint, which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the 1 Code of Civil Procedure, is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in section 351 of the same Code, for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal: Provided that, if in, the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand shall not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded".

8- The aforesaid provision was explained by Full Bench of this Court in Chandra Bhushan Misra v. Smt. Jayatri Devi, AIR 1969 Allahabad 142 and the order for refund of the Court fees was passed. The said judgment relates to Court fees paid on memorandum of second appeal. The aforesaid Full Bench judgment was challenged by the State of U.P. before Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. v. Pt. Chandra Bhushan Misra, (1980) 1 SCC 198 (Paragraph Nos. 2,3, 4 and 5)and Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

2."Section 13 of the Court Fees Act 1870, in so far as it is material is as follows:

"If an appeal or a plaint, which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure as ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal on any of the grounds mentioned in s. 351 of the same code for a second decision of a lower court, the lower court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorising him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal".

Section 13, thus speaks of a suit remanded in appeal on any of the grounds mentioned in section 351 of the same Code i.e. the Code of Civil Procedure which was then in force. Section 351 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1859 provided for the remand of a case by the appellate court to the lower court for a decision on the merits on the case. where "the lower court shall have disposed of the case upon any preliminary point so as to exclude any evidence of fact whish shall appear to the appellate court essential to the rights of the parties". If the decision on the preliminary point was reversed by the appellate court. The Code of 1859 was repealed and replaced by the Code of 1877. Section 562 of the 1877 Code was substantially in the same terms as section 351 of the 1859 Code. The Code of 1882 was repealed and replaced by the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. Order XLI Rule 23 of the 1908 Code also provided for the remand of a case to the lower court by the appellate court where the suit had been disposed of upon a preliminary point and the decision of such preliminary point was reversed in appeal by the appellate court. In exercise of the powers vested in it under section 122 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, the Allahabad High Court amended the provisions of Order XLI Rule 23 so as to provide for the remand of a case by the appellate court to the trial court, not only when the suit had been decided upon a preliminary point and the decision was reversed in appeal, but also whenever the appellate court considered it necessary in the interest of justice. The question for consideration in this appeal is whether the power to grant refund of court fees under section 13 of the Court Fees Act 1870 was attracted to a case where the appellate court remanded the case to the lower court in the interest of justice as provided by the provisions of Order XLI Rule 23 as amended by the High Court of Allahabad.

3. In order to answer the question a reference is necessary to section 158 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. It was as follows:

"158. In every enactment or notification passed or issued before the commencement of this Code in which reference is made to or to any Chapter or section of Act VIII of 1859 or any Code of Civil Procedure or any Act amending the same or any other enactment hereby repealed, such reference shall, so far as may be practicable, be taken to be made to this Code or to its corresponding Part, Order, Section or rule".

It follows from Section 158 that reference in Section 13 of the Court Fees Act 1879 to Section 351 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1859 has to be read as reference to Order XLI Rule 23 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. The submission of the learned counsel was that the reference to any provision of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 pursuant to section 158 of the Code must be to provision occurring in the body of the main code consisting of the provisions from section 1 to section 158 and not to the provisions of the rules in the first schedule. He further submitted that even if reference to the rules in the first schedule was permissible it should only be to the rules as enacted by the legislature itself and not as amended by the High Court. The first part of the submission of the learned counsel has to be rejected straightaway having regard to the express reference to 'Order' and 'Rule' in section 158 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. The second part of the submission requires a slightly closer examination. Section 2(1) of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 defined "Code" as including "Rules". Section 2(18) defined "Rules" as meaning "Rules and forms contained in the first schedule or made under section 122 or section 125". Section 121 of the 1908 Code declared that the rules in the first schedule shall have effect "as if enacted in the body of the code until annulled or altered in accordance with the provisions of part X of the Code" (section 121 to 131). Section 122 enabled the High Court to make rules, from time to time "regulating their own procedure or the procedure of the Civil code subject to their superintendence, and made by such rules, annual, alter or add to all or any of the rules in the first schedule". Section 126 made the rules made by the High Court subject to the previous approval of the Government of the State. Section 127 provided that the rules so made and approved shall have the same force and effect as if they had been contained in the first schedule. These provisions make it abundantly clear that the rules made by a High Court altering the rules contained in the first schedule as originally enacted by the legislature shall have the same force and effect as if they had been contained in the first schedule and therefore, necessarily became part of the Code for all purposes. That is the clear effect of the definition of the expressions "Code" and "Rules" and sections 121, 122 and 127. It does not appear to be necessary to embark upon a detailed examination of each one of these provisions, since the position appears to us to be very clear. We, therefore, agree with the view expressed by Pathak and Kirty JJ., in Chandra Bhushan Misra v. Smt. Javatri Devi, regarding the effect of section 158 of the Code of Civil Procedure and sections 2(1) to 2(18), 121, 122 and 127.

4. Jagdish Sahai J., was inclined to the view that the amendments made by the High Court were only fictionally embodied in the Code and that the reference to section 351 of the Code of 1859 in section 13 of the Court Fees Act was to be construed as a reference only to the provisions of Order XLI Rule 23, as originally passed by the Legislature and not as amended by the High Court. In our opinion the view of Jagdish Sahai, J. does not give full effect to section 127 of the Civil Procedure Code 1908 which provided that the rules made by the High Court shall have the same force and effect as if they had been contained in the first schedule.

5. We are of the view that the question was rightly answered by the Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court and the appeal is, therefore, dismissed".

9- Recently, while dealing with the land acquisition matters in Surendra Singh v. State of Haryana and others, (2018) 3 SCC 278 (Paragraph Nos. 38,39 and 40) Hon'ble Supreme Court held a under:

"38. Since we have remanded these cases to the Reference Court for fresh adjudication on merits in accordance with law, the appellants (land owners) are entitled to get back the amount of court fee paid by each appellant (land owner) on his appeal memo before the High Court as also before this Court as provided under Section 13 of the Court Fees Act.

39. The Registry is accordingly directed to issue necessary certificate of refund of Court Fee amount, if paid by any of the landowner on his memo of appeal in the High Court and in this Court under the Court Fees Act to enable the landowners to claim the refund of the court fee amount from the State Treasury concerned.

40. If for any reason, it is not possible for the Registry of this Court to issue refund certificate of the court fee amount paid by the appellant landowners on their memo of appeals filed in the High Court on their respective appeal memo then the requisite certificate shall be issued by the High Court concerned as per the Rules in favour of each appellant landowner under the Court Fees Act".

10- The words "on any of the grounds mentioned in section 351 of the same Code" as used in Section 13 of the Act, 1870 has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Pt. Chandra Bhushan Misra (supra) to be referable to Section 351 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1859. Refund of court fees under Section 13 of the Court Fees Act, has been exhaustively explained by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid case of Chandra Bhushan Misra.

11- So far as the question of refund of court fees under section 13 of the Court Fees Act,1870 in land acquisition appeal is concerned, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, has provided in the case of Surendra Singh (supra) for refund of court-fees, while remanding the matter to the reference court for fresh adjudication on merits in accordance with law.

12- Thus, in view of the law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Pt. Chandra Bhushan Misra (supra) and Surendra Singh (supra), I find no difficulty to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant for refund of Court-fees. Therefore, it is provided that the appellant is entitled for refund of court fees paid by him on his memorandum of the present first appeal in terms of the provisions of Section 13 of the Court-Fees Act. Necessary certificate under Section 13 of the Act, shall be granted to the appellant.

13- In view of the aforesaid, this first appeal is also allowed. The impugned judgment of the reference court in LAR No.164 of 1992 is set aside. LAR No.164 of 1992 is restored to its original number. The matter is remanded to the reference court for decision afresh in accordance with law. For refund of court fees paid on the memorandum of appeal, a certificate shall be granted to the appellant under Section 13 of the Court Fees Act. The reference court shall decide LAR No.164 of 1992 along with above referred all land acquisition references, if still pending, within six months from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order, without granting any unnecessary adjournment to either of the parties.

14- Lower court record shall be returned by the office to the court below positively within two weeks.

A. First Appeal - Section 96 C.P.C. - Section 446 of Company Act 1956- Suit to declare that defendant / PIICUP had lost security and mortgage due to bar of limitation. PIICUP not entitled to enforce guarantee - Winding up order passed by Company Judge. Held:- Section 446 bars any suit except with leave of Court -Principle laid down - It is open to challenge recovery proceeding without impleading principal debtor, Section 446 would not come in picture - Appellant impleaded principal debtor and attempted to get determination of his liability - Court below rightly held the suit is barred by Section 446-First Appeal dismissed.

B. Section Contract Act. Liability of Guarantor - PIICUP initiated recovery proceedings against Guarantor without initiating proceeding against Principal Debtor - Held - Guarantor's liability is co-extensive with Principal Debtor.(E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Ankita Jain, learned counsel for appellant. None appeared on behalf of respondents, hence we proceed to decide this appeal ex-parte.

2. This is an appeal under Section 96 of Code of Civil Procedure (hereinafter referred to as "CPC") arising from judgment dated 04.03.2011 passed by Ms. Rakhi Dixit, Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Court No. 2, Aligarh dismissing appellant's Original Suit (hereinafter referred to as "OS") No. 523 of 2002 on the ground that it is not maintainable and barred by Section 446 of Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1956").

3. Facts in brief, giving rise to present appeal, are that plaintiff-appellant, Khalid Mukhtar (hereinafter referred to as "appellant") instituted above suit in the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division), Aligarh seeking a declaration that defendant-1, i.e. M/s Pradeshiya Industrial & Investment Corporation of U.P. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "PICUP"), has lost security of Company and their mortgage in the matter of enforcement of guarantee due to bar of limitation, therefore, PICUP is not entitled to enforce guarantee in August, 1983 against appellant regarding alleged debt of defendant-2 i.e. M/s Buckeye Batteries Private Limited (hereinafter referred to as "Principal Debtor"). Appellant has also prayed for issue of a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining PICUP from enforcement of guarantee in regard to Principal Debtor, against appellant.

4. The case set up in the plaint is that PICUP sanctioned a term loan of Rs. 30,000,00/- to Principal Debtor in respect whereof appellant stood Guarantor and executed, in August, 1983, legal mortgage/equitable mortgage and deed of hypothecation in favour of PICUP. The actual amount of loan, disbursed by PICUP, was Rs. 29,75,000/-. Aforesaid term loan was sanctioned and disbursed to enable Principal Debtor to set up a project of manufacturing of Dry Cells at Sikandarpur, District Aligarh. PICUP was also required to secure repayment of loan amount by hypothecation of movable legal mortgage/ equitable mortgage by deposit of title deeds of property of Principal Debtor. However, it failed to validly create any such mortgage or hypothecation. There was no compliance of Sections 125 of Act, 1956. Principal Debtor failed to satisfy its other liabilities, hence, a winding up Petition No. 29 of 1993 was filed on 22.11.1993 wherein a winding up order was passed by Company Judge on 17.04.1995. Once a winding up order is passed, Section 446 bars any suit or legal proceedings against such company except by leave of Court. Defendant-1, however, since failed to take appropriate steps due to its negligence against Principal Debtor or its property, is not entitled to enforce guarantee against appellant. Further, a Guarantor is liable only to the extent of liability of company and not beyond that. PICUP having lost its charge due to non compliance of Section 125 of Act, 1956, has made its position that of unsecured creditor. In any case, proceedings for recovery could have been initiated within three years from the date of default, under Articles 36 and 37 of Limitation Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1963"), hence claim of Principal Debtor cannot be enforced against appellant since it is now barred by limitation. The period of limitation could not have been extended either by Principal Debtor or Guarantor and moreso, it was never extended. PICUP once has lost its security due to negligence and careless etc., Guarantor also stood discharged under Section 139 of Contract Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872"). The guarantee document dated 16.09.1983 could be operative only against secured items.

5. PICUP contested the matter by filing written statement stating that loan was secured by way of mortgage of immovable property, hypothecation of movable assets of company and also personal bond of guarantee executed by appellant for due repayment of outstanding dues of PICUP. PICUP proceeded against company but entitled to proceed against Guarantor also, since liability of Guarantor is co-extensive with that of Principal Debtor and PICUP is free to proceed against either of the two or both. PICUP is also entitled to initiate recovery proceedings under the provisions of U.P. Public Moneys (Recovery of Dues) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1972"). Appellant can not wriggle out of guarantee bond only on the ground that PICUP is not able to recover its dues from Principal Debtor. In additional pleas, it is also pleaded that Principal Debtor, i.e. Company was promoted by appellant, Khalid Mukhtar himself, along with Dr. Aslam Qadeer and Khurseed Ahmad Khan for setting up a project for manufacturing dry cells with an installed capacity of 180 lacs IR 20 type cells and 50 lacs IR 6 type cells at Sikandarpur, District Aligarh. Loan agreement was executed by Principal Debtor on 16.09.1983. Deed of hypothecation is dated 03.10.1983 and equitable mortgage was also created on 03.10.1983 in respect of immovable properties of project located at Village Sikandarpur, Chherat, Pargana, Tehsil-Koil, District- Aligarh. PICUP also filed charge with Registrar of Company, Kanpur on 21.10.1983 vide Form No. 8 and also deposited original money receipt issued from the office of Registrar of Company, Kanpur as a token of filing of PICUP's charge with said Registrar. Besides the Company i.e. Principal Debtor, Sri Aslam Qadeer, appellant Khalid Mukhtar and Sri Khursheed Alam Khan have also executed personal bond of guarantee dated 16.09.1983, to ensure repayment of PICUP's loan availed by Principal Debtor. Principal Debtor did not perform well whereupon PICUP in its 77th Executive Committee meeting granted a rehabilitation package to Company, by way of funding of interest and re-schedulement of installment of loan. Still performance of Principal Debtor did not improve, therefore, a notice under Section 29 of State Financial Corporation Act, 1951 (hereinafter referred to as "SFC Act, 1951") was issued and physical possession of Principal Debtor's Company was taken on 23.08.1995. However, in compliance of Company Judge's order dated 29.11.1995, passed in Company Petition No. 29 of 1993, possession of unit was handed over to Official Liquidator on 20.12.1995. The issue of charge claimed by Canara Bank as first charge is still pending consideration in Special Appeal No. 618 of 1997, filed by PICUP, against order dated 23.10.1997 passed by Company Judge in Company Petition No. 29 of 1993 wherein an interim order has also been passed by a Division Bench. PICUP issued a recovery certificate dated 19.03.2001 for recovery of outstanding dues from Guarantor. Appellant challenged the same before Company Judge vide Misc. Company Application No. 1 of 2001 in Company Petition No. 29 of 1993 but the same has been rejected by Company Judge vide order dated 19.03.2002. This order has also been challenged by appellant in Special Appeal No. 441 of 2002 wherein a conditional interim order was passed by this Court on 19.04.2002 directing appellant to deposit Rs. 20 lacs in two equal installments, by 31.05.2002 and 30.06.2002, but the said order has not been complied with and, therefore, interim-order stood vacated. Suit in question, as filed, by appellant is nothing but an abuse of process of law and appellant is bound by its guarantee bond. PICUP is entitled to recover the dues of Principal Debtor from appellant who is a Guarantor. The account position of outstanding dues of Principal Debtor as on 31.07.2002, given in para-26 of written statement, is Rs. 112.81 lacs, comprising of principal outstanding amount of Rs. 16.78 lacs and interest of Rs. 96.03 lacs.

6. Trial Court formulated eight issues as under:-

''1. क्या वादी इस बात की घोषणा प्राप्त करने का अधिकारी है कि प्रतिवादी संख्या 1 के द्वारा दाखिल की गयी सिक्योरिटी समाप्त हो गयी है एवं मारगेज काल बाधित होने के कारण शून्य व अप्रभावी है?

2. क्या वादी कम्पनीज के विरूद्ध अन्तर्गत धारा 446 कम्पनीज एक्ट की वसूली का कोई मामला वांछनीय है एवं प्रतिवादी संख्या 1 वादी के विरूद्ध गारंटी देने के सक्षम है?

3. वादी प्रतिवादी संख्या 1 का रिकवरी वाद धारा 3 लिमिटेशन एक्ट से बाधित है यदि हां तो प्रभाव?

4. क्या वाद धारा 34, 38 व 41 विशिष्ट अनुतोष अधिनियम से बाधित है?

5. क्या वाद धारा 115 साक्ष्य अधिनियम से बाधित है?

6. क्या वाद का मूल्यांकन कम किया गया है एवं प्रदत्त न्यायालय शुल्क अपर्याप्त है?

7. क्या वादी किसी अन्य अनुतोष को पाने का अधिकारी है?

8. क्या वादी का वाद धारा 446 कम्पनीज एक्ट 1956 से बाधित है?''

"1. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to be awarded with a declaration that the security submitted by defendant no 1 has become ineffective and the mortgage being time-barred is null and void?

2. Whether any recovery case u/s 446 of the Companies Act is pending against the plaintiff companies and that the defendant no 1 is capable to give guarantee against the plaintiff?

3. Whether the recovery suit of plaintiff no 1 is barred by Section 3 of the Limitation Act. If so, its effect?

4. Whether the suit is barred by Sections 34, 38 and 41 of the Specific Relief Act?

5. Whether suit is barred by Section 115 of the Evidence Act?

6. Whether suit has been undervalued and Court fee paid is insufficient?

7. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to receive any other relief?

8. Whether plaintiff's suit is barred by Section 446 of the Companies Act, 1956?" (English Translation by Court)

7. With the consent of parties, issue-8 was taken as preliminary issue. Trial Court has held that suit as framed interferes with the status of Principal Debtor who was also impleaded as opposite party-2 and in respect whereof a winding up order has been passed in Company Petition, hence, no suit is maintainable unless a permission has been obtained from Company Court.

8. Thus, the only point for determination, which has arisen in this appeal is, "whether Court below has rightly held that suit is barred by Section 446 or not".

9. Counsel for appellant contended that appellant's application seeking declaration has already been rejected by Company Judge vide order dated 19.03.2002 and the said judgment is reported in 2002 (2) AWC 1458 (Buckeye Batteries (P.) Ltd. vs. Official Liquidators and others) therefore, appellant has no other remedy but to file suit since Section 446 is not attracted in this case.

10. I find that appellant did not file an application seeking permission of Court to file a suit against Principal Debtor. In fact, in the application, filed by appellant before Company Judge, it challenged recovery certificate dated 19.03.2001 and sought a declaration against recovery of dues of Principal Debtor from appellant. Thus, Company Judge formulated the question to be decided on the application of appellant, as quoted in para-10, as under:-

"10. The Court has thus been called upon to decide whether the aforesaid application under Section 446 of the Companies Act, at the instance of the guarantor is maintainable and whether a Company Court in winding up proceedings can stay the recovery and adjudicate the question of law of guarantor of the company (in liq.) as against the creditor."
(Emphasis added)

11. The aforesaid prayer was made invoking principle that first an attempt should be made to realise outstanding dues from Principal Debtor. Appellant also sought to invoke the principal of 'quia timet'. Company Court answered the question by observing in para-20 of judgment that basically, object of application is to determine right of Guarantor as executors of a surety to the debts of Company; and since it is open to PICUP to recover its dues from Guarantor, the Guarantor is also entitled in law if so permitted to defend itself upon taking pleas open to it but it cannot be said that determination of liability of a Guarantor is incidental to the proceeding of winding up. Whether Guarantor is liable to indemnify creditor and extent of such liability towards PICUP is not a matter which can be said to be rising out of winding up proceedings, or is necessary to be decided by a Company Court for effective winding up of a company in liquidation. Accordingly, Company Judge rejected application of appellant.

12. The observations that appellant can defend itself by taking such plea as open in law does not mean that learned Company Judge permitted appellant to get its liability settled against Company which is already under the process of winding up by impleading Company as defendant and without seeking any permission from Court. The two things are different. It was always open to appellant to file a suit against recovery proceedings initiated by PICUP challenging said recovery proceedings but without impleading Principal Debtor in that case. In such case, Section 446 obviously would not be come in picture but since in the present case, appellant not only has impleaded Principal Debtor, as defendant-2, but also attempted to get determination of his liability vis-a-vis obligations and property of Company, in my view, Court below has rightly held that suit was barred by Section 446 of Act, 1956.

13. In fact, after the order was passed by learned Company Judge, law has further developed with respect to liability of Guarantor and in respect of recovery proceedings initiated by PICUP against Guarantor by taking recourse to the provisions of U.P. Act, 1972, without initiating any such proceedings against Principal Debtor. A larger Bench in Sobran Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Others (2014) 10 SCC 799, held that it can do so since Guarantor's liability is co-extensive with Principal Debtor and Guarantor cannot absolve from its liability on the ground that financial institution failed to take timely steps for recovery of its dues from Principal Debtor.

14. The above point for determination is accordingly answered against appellant.

15. Appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

1. Heard Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri J.N. Maurya and Sri Suresh Chandra Dwivedi, learned counsels for the appellants and Sri Rahul Agarwal alongwith Sri Ashok Kumar Tripathi and Sri Kishan Jain, learned counsels for the claimants-respondents.

2. This batch of first appeals and cross objections arise from one and the same land acquisition notification for land of village Basai Mustaqil and involve common facts and questions, therefore, with the consent of the learned counsels for the parties, all these first appeals have been heard together treating the First Appeal No.733 of 2017 as the leading first appeal. These first appeals were heard on several occasions at length including on 13.05.2019, 15.05.2019, 20.05.2019, 27.05.2019 and 28.05.2019. In First Appeal No.733 of 2017, appellants and respondents, both have filed paper books. Cross objections have been filed by the claimants-respondents in First Appeal Nos.212 of 2017, 387 of 2019, 262 of 2019, 269 of 2019, 270 of 2019, 274 of 2019 and 347 of 2019.

FACTS

3. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that by notification under Section 4(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') dated 30.01.1989 published in the official gazette on 30.01.1989 and subsequently, published in local newspapers on 14.02.1989 and 15.02.1989, land measuring 734.50 acres of villages Basai Mustquil, Tora, Chamroli and Lakavali, Tehsil and District Agra, falling partly within municipal limit (chungi ander) and partly outside the municipal limit (chungi bahar) was acquired for "Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme" of the Agra

Development Authority (for short 'ADA'). Public notice of the acquisition was published by the Special Land Acquisition Officer (for short the SLAO) on 04.04.1989. Notification under Section 6(1) read with Section 17(1) of the Act was issued on 08.02.1990. Possession was taken on 30.03.1991.

4. By the award dated 29.02.1992, the SLAO determined compensation of all the acquired land of chungi ander @ Rs.130/- per square yard and for all the acquired land of chungi bahar @ Rs.97.50 per square yard.

5. Dissatisfied with the award, the appellant ADA filed a Writ Petition No.31481 of 1992, which was dismissed by this Court by order dated 05.01.2000. Aggrieved, the appellant ADA filed S.L.P. No.7561 of 2000, which was allowed by Hon'ble Supreme Court by judgment dated 07.02.2001 on the ground that the appellant- ADA had no notice under Section 50 of the Act for adducing evidence and, therefore, the matter was remitted back to the SLAO for making award afresh.

6. On remand, the SLAO made his award on 05.11.2001 determining market value for the acquired land of chungi ander @ Rs.49/- per square yard and for the acquired land of chungi bahar @ Rs.39.20 per square yard. Dissatisfied with the offer made by the award dated 05.11.2001 passed by the SLAO, several land owners filed references under Section 18 of the Act which have been decided by the impugned judgment dated 08.02.2017 in leading Land Acquisition Case No.47 of 2004 (Nafisha Begum and others vs. The Collector, Agra and others) passed by Sri Sanjeev Fauzdar, Additional District Judge/ Presiding Officer, Nagar Mahapalika (Nagar Nigam) Tribunal, Agra. The reference court determined the market value for the acquired land of chungi ander @ Rs.610/- per square yard and for the acquired land of chungi bahar @ Rs.405/- per square yard. Aggrieved with this judgment, the appellant- ADA has filed the present bunch of first appeals.

7. All these first appeals involve acquisition of land of village Basai Mustaquil. Particulars of land acquisition references and the acquired khasra plot numbers which are subject matter of first appeals, are as under:

9. With the consent of all the learned counsels for the parties, the following questions were framed on 13.05.2019 for determination in this bunch of first appeals:-

"Questions"

(a) Whether the date 30.01.1989 when the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act was published in the official gazette or the date 04.04.1989 when the public notice was published by the SLAO, shall be the relevant date for determination of compensation of the market value of the acquired land?

(b) Whether the market value of the acquired land determined by the court below is lawful and adequate?

(c) Whether consideration received by ADA in auction sale of developed plots in "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme", can be made basis for determination of market value of the land acquired by the appellant -ADA for the scheme in question i.e. "Taj Nagari Phase-II" particularly when sale deed exemplars were filed in evidence by the ADA for determination of market value of the acquired land under the present acquisition, i.e. "Taj Nagari Phase-II"."

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE APPELLANTS:-

10. Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned senior advocate appearing for the appellants submits as under:

(i) Market value of land acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') as per principles laid down in Section 23 of the Act, is to be determined as on the date of publication of Notification under Section 4(1) of the Act. Therefore, the date 30.01.1989, when the Notification under Section 4(1) of the Act was published in the Gazette, shall be the relevant date for determination of the market value under Section 23 (1) of the Act and not the date of public notice given by the Special Land Acquisition Officer i.e. 04.04.1989. Reliance is placed on the judgment of Deo Karan & others Vs. State of U.P. 2017(1) ADJ 389 (para 13, 14 and 15) and judgment in First Appeal No.467 of 2006 decided on 25.3.2019 (paras 20, 23, 25 and 27). He also refers to the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court relied in these two judgments.

(ii) The Reference Court has illegally relied on auction sale of developed commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" which can not be made basis to determine market value of the huge land measuring 734.50 acres for developing "Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme".

(iii) Consideration received by Agra Development Authority for lease of developed commercial plots in the year 1989 of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" can not be made basis to determine market value of totally undeveloped agricultural land acquired by Notification under Section 4(1) of the Act dated 30.01.1989. Besides this the lease/sales of plot of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" as relied by the court below are subsequent to the date of the present acquisition.

(iv) The appellants have led documentary evidences in the form of sale deed exemplars which include certain sale deeds of land of Khasra plots which were subsequently acquired under the present acquisition. Thus, these sale deeds filed in evidence were relevant and were good exemplars to determine the market value of land acquired under the present acquisition but the court below has committed a manifest error of law and facts not to rely upon these sale deeds exemplars.

(v) No sale deed exemplar was filed in evidence by the claimants-respondents.

(vi) The reference court committed manifest error of law to rely upon lease deed dated 11.06.1993 of plot No.1 and lease deed dated 15.07.1993 of plot No.5 of "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme as instances for determining market value of the land acquired under the present acquisition, i.e. land acquisition notification 30.01.1989, inasmuch as the land of "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme was acquired in the year 1983 and more than 40% land thereof was left for parks and roads etc. and huge investment was made by the appellants to construct roads, parks, electric line and drainage etc. Huge staff was employed to supervise the work. Larger part of the "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme developed by the appellants was for residential purposes. Only few plots of very prime location were earmarked for commercial purposes, i.e. for hotels etc. Therefore, auction sale of the aforesaid developed commercial plot No.1 and 5 of "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme, cannot be compared with the land of the present acquisition whereby agricultural land was acquired in the year 1989. That apart, as per terms of the lease deed of the aforesaid commercial plot Nos.1 and 5, the auction amount was to be paid by the purchaser in several instalments. Thus, the reference court has committed a manifest error of law and facts to treat the lease deeds dated 11.06.1993 and 15.07.1993 as exemplars to determine the market value of the land acquired under the present acquisition dated 30.01.1989.

(vii) The judgment of the reference court is contrary to the law settled by Hon'ble Supreme court in Chamanlal Hargovind Das vs. S.L.A.O., (1988) 3 SCC 751 : AIR 1988 SC 1652. The reference court completely failed to follow the guiding principles of Section 23 of the Act and the principles laid down in Chamanlal Hargovind Das (supra) for determination of market value.

(viii) The aforesaid two commercial plots leased on 11.06.1993 and 15.07.1993 of "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme are situate from the land acquired under the present acquisition and the claimants' land is situate far away from the link road.

(ix) The market value means the price which a willing purchaser would pay to the willing seller for the property having due regards to its existing conditions on the relevant date excluding any advantage which may accrue in future in consequence of carrying out of the developed scheme for which the property is being acquired but the reference court completely ignored the settled principles of law and awarded exorbitant compensation @ Rs.405/- per square yard, which is wholly illegal and arbitrary.

(x) The relevant sale deed exemplars including the sale deed exemplar of a land acquired under the present acquisition, were filed in evidence by the appellants but the reference court committed a manifest error of law and facts in not giving any weight to it and rely on wholly irrelevant exemplars being lease deeds dated 11.06.1993 and 15.07.1993 relating to all commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I" Scheme.

(xi) The claimants-respondents have completely failed to adduce any evidence to establish either the compensation awarded by the S.L.A.O. is insufficient or that the sale deed exemplars relied by the appellants herein are not good exemplars. The respondents could not demonstrate by any evidence that the sale deed exemplars filed in evidence by the appellants before the reference court are not good exemplars.

(xii) The written submissions filed by the appellants were ignored by the reference court.

(xiii) The evidence of DW-1 in L.A.R. No.47 of 2004 (subject matter of First Appeal No.733 of 2017), was the evidence of Lekhpal in which he clearly stated on 21/22.12.2016 that the plot No.473 was an agricultural land.

(xiv) The finding of the reference court that the sale deed exemplars filed in evidence by the appellants do not reflect true market value, is wholly baseless and without any foundation or evidence. Therefore, the finding is perverse.

(xv) The claimants' land at the time of acquisition was used for agricultural purpose and it was totally undeveloped.

(xvi) In any case, even if there is an auction of undeveloped similar agricultural land, it shall not furnish a safe guide for determination of market value.

(xvi) Without prejudice to the submissions made above, the auction lease exemplars dated 11.06.1993 and 15.07.1993 and other auction exemplars were subsequent to the dates of present acquisition. Therefore, apart from the fact that these auction/ leases were developed land having no similarity to the acquired land yet it has no relevance for the purposes of the present acquisition inasmuch as these auction/ lease deeds were of a date subsequent to the present acquisition.

11. In support of his submissions, Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned senior advocate relied upon the provisions of Section 23 of the Act and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Executive Engineer Karnatka Housing Board vs. Land Acquisition Officer and others, {(2011) 2 SCC 246 (Paras-1, 4, 5 and 6), Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority vs. Gobinda Chandra Makal and another {(2011) 9 SCC 207 (Paras-31 to 36), Major General Kapil Mehra vs. Union of India and another {(2015) 2 SCC 262 (Paras-25, 26 and 27)}, Bhupal Singh and others vs. State of Haryana {(2015) 5 SCC 801}, Maya Devi (dead) through legal representatives and others vs. State of Haryana and another {(2018) 2 SCC 474 (paras-4 and 5)}, Pyare Mohan Lal vs. State of Jharkhand, {(2010) 10 SCC 693}, Lal Chand vs. Union of India, {(2009) 15 SCC 769}, T.S. Ramchandra Shetty vs. Chairman Karnataka Housing Board and others {(2009) 14 SCC 334}, Ranvir Singh and others vs. Union of India {(2005)12 SCC 59}, Bangaru Narshinga Rao, Naidu and others vs. Revenue Divisional Officer Vizianagaram, {(1980) 1 SCC 575}, and the judgments of this Court in Deo Karan and others vs. State of U.P. and others 2017 (122) ALR 78 : 2017 (1) ADJ 389 and judgment dated 25.03.2019 in First Appeal No.467 of 2006 (Ramphal and others vs. State of U.P. and others).

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF CLAIMANTS RESPONDENTS:-

12. Learned counsel for the claimants-respondents submits as under:-

(i) On the point of "relevant date" all the judgments relied by the appellants are per incuriam since it is based on judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in which a three Judges Bench Judgment in Chandrabhan's case was not noticed. The relevant date would be the last date of publication of Notification under Section 4(1) of the Act or the date of publication of notice by the Collector which ever is later. To support his submissions he referred to the provisions of Section 23(1) read with Section 4(1) of the Act and the judgmnts of Hon'ble Supreme Court in P. Ram Reddy and others Vs. Land Acquisition Officer, Hyderabad Urban Development Authority, Hyderabad & others (1995) 2 SCC 305 (para 8); Chandrabhan and others Vs. Ghaziabad Development Authority and others (2015) 15 SCC 343 and Union of India and another Vs. K.S. Subramanian (1976) 3 SCC 677 (para 12).

(ii) Paper No.101 C is the map which establishes that on one side of the road "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" was established and on the other side of the road the land has been acquired under the acquisition in question.

(iii) Lease deed exemplars filed by the claimants have been found to be good exemplar by the court below to determine compensation of the acquired land after giving due deduction. Since the market value determined under the impugned judgment reflects the true market value of the acquired land as on the date of acquisition i.e. 30.4.1989, therefore, it can not be interfered with.

(iv) Evidence of Sri Vinod Kumar Dubey (PW -1) dated 29.2.2016 as pairokar of the claimants establishes not only the building potentiality of the acquired land but also market value as on the date of acquisition. The acquired land was near to the well developed land of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme". Near to the acquired land there were large number of Hotels, Hospitals and other commercial establishments as have been stated by PW 1 in his evidence. Nothing adverse could be brought out even in his cross examination. The evidence of DW 1 (Raghuraj Singh - Lekhpal) also supports the case of the claimants-respondents in so far as the potentiality of the acquired land is concerned.

(v) The evidence of PW -1 could not be rebutted by the appellants. Therefore, the market value determined by the court below can not be said to be excessive rather it is inadequate and it needs to be enhanced to Rs.700/- per sq. yard by allowing the cross objection.

(vi) Judgments relied in support of submissions are the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Lal Chand Vs. Union of India and another (2009) 15 SCC 769 (paras 14 & 15), Land Acquisition Officer & Mandal Revenue Officer Vs. Narasaiah (2001) 3 SCC 530 (para 14), Major General Kapil Mehra and others Vs. Union of India and another (2015) 2 SCC 262 (paras 16,17 & 21) and Haryana State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Pran Sukh and others (2010) 11 SCC 175 (paras 10 & 22).

(vii) The claimants-respondents have filed sale deed exemplars being paper Nos.33C to 42C in LAR No.968 of 2003, which disclose selling rate ranging from Rs.155.84 to Rs.300/- per square yard.

(viii) The court below has rightly disbelieved the sale deed exemplars filed by the appellants inasmuch as it came to the conclusion that it did not reflect the true market value.

(ix) Auction leases were relevant exemplars for determining market value of land under the present acquisition inasmuch as the auction lease deeds filed in evidence are the only comparable sale transaction. The reference court has determined market value on the basis of these exemplars after making reasonable deductions. The relevant date of the present acquisition is 30.01.1989 and not 04.04.1989.

(x) The acquired land of the claimants-respondents is a free-hold land and, therefore, it shall fetch better market value than the leased land. Under the circumstances, the reference court should have allowed higher compensation on the basis of relied upon lease deed exemplars. In this regard, the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Executive Engineer Karnatka Housing Board vs. Land Acquisition Officer and others, {(2011) 2 SCC 246 (para07)} and Major General Kapil Mehra vs. Union of India and another {(2015) 2 SCC 262}, are relied.

(xi) Auction sales are relevant for fixing market value in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in V.N. Devadoss vs. Chief Revenue Control Officer and Inspector and others {(2009) 7 SCC 438}.

(xii) When there are several exemplars with reference to similar land, it is the general rule that the highest exemplar, found to be bona fide transaction, has to be considered and accepted. Reference in this regard may be had to the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Satish vs. State of U.P. {(2009) 14 SCC 758 (Par-42)}, Anjana Molu Desai vs. State of Goa, {(2010) 13 SCC 710 (para-13)}, Chindha Thakre Patil vs. S.L.A.O. {(2011) 10 SCC 787 (para-15)}, Mehrawal Khewaji Trust (Regd.) vs. State of Punjab, {(2012) 5 SCC 432} and Mohd. Yusuf and others vs. State of Haryana and others, AIR 2018 SC 2248.

(xiii) Since the claimants have produced satisfactory evidence in the form of lease deeds of plot Nos.1 and 5 to show higher market value, therefore, the sale deed exemplars relied by the appellants to show a lessor market value has to be treated as undervalued and unreliable evidence. Therefore, the reference court has rightly not relied upon the sale deed exemplars filed by the appellants herein. Reference may be had to the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Haryana State Industry Development Corporation vs. Pranshukh {(2010) 11 sCC 175 (paras-20 and 22)}, Udho Das vs. State of Haryana, {(2010) 12 SCC 51 (para-21)}, Anjana Molu Desai vs. State of Goa, {(2010) 13 SCC 710 (para-20)}.

(xiv) In the case of Udho Das vs. State of Haryana, {(2010) 12 SCC 51 (paras-18 and 19)}, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that if the compensation proceeding continued over a period of almost 20 years, then the potential of the acquired land must be adjudged keeping in view the development in the year split over the period of 20 years.

(xv) Bona fide post notification sales in the form of lease deed exemplars have been rightly relied upon by the reference court. In the circumstances that there was no sharp or speculative rise in the price of the land after the acquisition. Reference in this regard may be had to the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mehta Ravindrarai Ajeet Rai vs. State of Gujrat, {(1989) 4 SCC 250 (paras-4 and 5)}, State of U.P. vs. Major Jitendra Kumar and others, AIR 1982 SC 876 (para-3), Chamanlal Hargovind Das vs. S.L.A.O., {(1988) 3 SCC 751 (para-9)}, and Union of India vs. Dyagala Devamma and others, AIR 2018 SC 3511.

(xvi) The claimants-respondents have filed evidence in L.A. Case No.968 of 2003 (subject matter of First Appeal No.212 of 2017), the following lease deed/ sale deed exemplars with regard to lease or sale of certain commercial plots as under:

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS:

13. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties.

Question No. (a) Whether the date 30.01.1989 when the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act was published in the official gazette or the date 04.04.1989 when the public notice was published by the SLAO, shall be the relevant date for determination of compensation of the market value of the acquired land?

14. The relevant provisions for the purposes of relevant date for determination of market value of the land acquired, are Section 23(1) and Section 4(1) of the Act, which are reproduced below:

"23.Matters to be considered in determining compensation:-

(1) In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for land acquired under this Act, the court shall take into consideration-first, the market-value of the land at the date of the publication of the notification under section 4, sub-section (1); secondly, the damage sustained by the person interested, by reason of the taking of any standing crops or trees which may be on the land at the time of the Collector's taking possession thereof;

thirdly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession taking possession of the land, by the reason of severing such land from his other land;

fourthly, the damage (if any) sustained by the person interested, at the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land, by reason of the acquisition injuriously affecting his other property, movable or immovable, in any other manner, or his earnings; fifthly, if in consequence of the acquisition of the land by the Collector, the person interested is compelled to change his residence or place of business, the reasonable expenses (if any) incidental to such change; and sixthly, the damage (if any) bona fide resulting from diminution of the profits of the land between the time of the publication of the declaration under section 6 and the time of the Collector's taking possession of the land.

(1A) In addition to the market value of the land, as above provided, the Court shall in every case award an amount calculated at the rate of twelve per centum per annum on such market value for the period commencing on and from the date of the publication of the notification under Section 4, sub-section (1), in respect of such land to the date of the award of the Collector or the date of taking possession of land, whichever is earlier.

Explanation.- In computing the period referred to in this sub-section, any period or periods during which the proceedings for acquisition of the land were held up on account of any stay or injunction by the order of any Court shall be excluded.

4. Publication of preliminary notification and powers of officers thereupon*. (1) Whenever it appears to theappropriate Governmentthat land in any locality is needed oris likely to be needed for any public purposeor for a company,* a notification to that effect shall be published in the Official Gazette*and in two daily newspapers circulating in that locality of which at least one shall be in the regional language, and the Collector shall cause public notice of the substance of such notification to be given at convenient places in the said locality (the last of the dates of such publication and the giving of such public notice, being hereinafter referred to as the date of the publication of the notification)."*

15. Specifically the question that what would be the relevant date for determining market value of acquired land for the purposes of compensation under Section 23(1) of the Act, came for consideration before Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority vs. Gobinda Chandra Makal and another {(2011) 9 SCC 207 (Paras-31 to 36), in which Hon'ble Supreme Court specifically laid down the law that the context in which words are used in Section 4(1) and 6, and the context in which the same words are used in Section 23(1) are completely different. In Section 23(1), the words "the date of publication of the notification under Section 4(1)" would refer to the date of publication of the notification in the Gazette. The relevant portion of the aforesaid judgment of Hon'ble Supreme court in Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority (supra) (paras 31 to 36), are reproduced below:-

"Re : Relevant date for determining compensation

31. The notification under section 4(1)of the Act is dated 13.9.2000. It was published in the gazette dated 13.9.2000. Thereafter it was published in two newspapers. Lastly, the Collector caused public notice of the substance of such notification to be given at convenient places in the locality on 16.11.2000. The reference court and the High Court have proceeded on the basis that the relevant date for determining the market value is 16.11.2000. They have also relied upon the expert valuer's report which assessed the market value as on 16.11.2000. We have noticed above that the Expert Valuer determined the market value with reference to a sale deed dated 10.3.2000, by adding 8% as the increase in prices for the period of eight months between 10.3.2000 and 16.11.2000 (at the rate of 1% per month). The question is whether the relevant date for determination of compensation is 13.9.2000 or 16.11.2000.

32. Sub-section (1) ofSection 23provides that the compensation to be awarded shall be determined by the Reference Court, based upon the market value of the acquired land at the time of publication of the notification undersection 4sub-section (1). The first respondent contends that the `date of publication of notification undersection 4(1)' is statutorily defined insection 4(1)(that is, the last of the dates*, out of the dates of publication of the notification* in the official gazette, publication of the notification in two daily newspapers circulating in that locality of which at least one shall be in the regional language, and public notice of the substance of such notification being given atconvenient places in the locality), and therefore the said words refer to 16.11.2000 as the date of publication of notification undersection 4(1)of the LA Act.

33.Section 6was amended in 1984 providing that no declaration undersection 6in respect of any land covered by a notification undersection 4(1)shall be made after the expiry of one year from the date of publication of the notification undersection 4(1). In that context, to avoid any confusion as to what would be the date of publication of the notification undersection 4(1),section 4(1)was also amended to clarify the position and it was provided that "the last of the dates of such publication and the giving of such public notice, being hereinafter referred to as the date of publication of the notification". But the words `publication of the notification undersection 4(1)' occurring in the first clause ofsection 23(1)have different meaning and connotation from the use of the said words insections 4(1)and6of the LA Act. Prior to the 1984 amendment ofsection 4, the words "publication of notification undersection 4(1)" in section 23(1)referred to the date of publication of the notification in the official Gazette. Even after the amendment ofsection 4(1), the said words insection 23(1)continue to have the same earlier meaning. We may briefly indicate the reasons for our said conclusion.

34. One of the principles in regard to determination of the market value undersection 23(1)is that the rise in market value after the publication of the notification undersection 4(1)of the Act should not be taken into account for the purpose of determination of market value. If the deeming definition of `publication of the notification' in the amendedsection 4(1)is imported as the meaning of the said words in the first clause ofsection 23(1), it will lead to anomalous results. The owners of the lands which are the subject matter of the notification and neighbouring lands will come to know about the proposed acquisition, on the date of publication in the gazette or in the newspapers. If the giving of public notice of the substance of the notification is delayed by two or three months, there may be several sale transactions in regard to nearby lands in that period, showing a spurt or hike in value in view of the development contemplated on account of the acquisition itself.

35. If the words `publication of the notification' insection 23(1)(clause firstly) should be construed as referring to the last of the dates of publication and public notice, and the date of public notice in the locality is to be considered as the date of publication, the landowners can legitimately claim that the sales which took place till the date of public notice should be taken into account for the purpose of determination of compensation, leading to disastrous results. Let us give two illustrations :

Illustration A : The market value of the acquired land on 13.9.2000 is Rs.1,00,000 per acre. A notification undersection 4(1)is published in the gazette on 13.9.2000 and in two newspapers on 14.9.2000. But the public notice in the locality is given only two months later on 16.11.2000. As the land owners in the area come to know about the proposed acquisition and consequential expectations of development in the area, developers and speculators enter the arena and start buying neighbouring lands leading to steep increase in prices. Consequently several sales take place in October 2000 at rates ranging from Rs.1.5 lakhs to Rs.2 lakhs per acre. If 16.11.2000 should be taken as the date of publication of the notification undersection 4(1), the land owners can legitimately contend that the sale deeds executed in October 2000, being prior to the `date of publication of the preliminary notification' should be taken note of for the purpose of determining the compensation. That would result in compensation being determined between Rs.1,50,000 to Rs.2 lakhs per acre even though the market rate as on 13.9.2000 which is the date of publication of the notification was only Rs.1,00,000.

Illustration B : When large tracts of lands are acquired and the preliminary notification dated 13.9.2000 is published in the Gazette on 13.9.2000 and in the newspapers on 14.9.2000, but public notice of the substance is delayed by more than two months and is given on 16.11.2000, there will be ample time for unscrupulous land owners of acquired lands to create evidence of higher market value by managing nominal sale(s) in regard to some neighbouring land which is not the subject of acquisition at a price of Rs.2,00,000/- as against the market price of Rs.1,00,000/- and thereby cause a huge loss to the state.

36. The same words used in different parts of a statute should normally bear the same meaning. But depending upon the context, the same words used in different places of a statue may also have different meaning. [See: Justice G.P. Singh's Principles of Statutory Interpretation - 12th Edition - PP. 356-358]. The use of the words `publication of the notification' insections 4(1)and6on the one hand and insection 23(1)on the other, in theLA Act, is a classic example, where the same words have different meanings in different provisions of the same enactment. The words `publication of the notification undersection 4sub-section (1)', are used insection 23(1)for fixing the relevant date for determination of market value. The words "the last of the date of such publication and giving of such public notice, being hereinafter referred to as the date of the publication of the notification" in section 4(1) and the words "one year from the date of the publication of the notification" in the first proviso tosection 6, refer to the special deeming definition of the said words, for determining the period of one year for issuing the declaration undersection 6, which is counted from the date of `publication of the notification'. Therefore the context in which the words are used insections 4(1)and6, and the context in which the same words are used insection 23(1)are completely different. Insection 23(1), the words "the date of publication of the notification undersection 4(1)" would refer to the date of publication of the notification in the gazette. Therefore, `13.9.2000' will be the relevant date for the purpose of determination of compensation and not 16.11.2000."

16. The principle laid down in the case of Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority (supra) on the question of relevant date for determining market value under Section 23(1) of the Act, has been reiterated by Hon'ble Supreme Court in a recent judgment in Maya Devi (dead) through legal representatives and others vs. State of Haryana and another {(2018) 2 SCC 474 (para-5)}, as under:

"5. So far as the first contention is concerned, the sale deed relied upon by the appellant/ claimants dated 27.12.1988 is post notification. Sub-section (1) of Section 23 of the Act provides that the compensation to be awarded shall be determined by the reference court, based upon the market value of the acquired land at the date of the publication of the notification under Section 4(1). In Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority v. Gobinda Chandra Makal and Anr. (2011) 9 SCC 207, it was held that the relevant date for determining the compensation is the date of publication of the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act in the Gazette. In para (34), it was held as under:-

"34. One of the principles in regard to determination of the market value under Section 23(1) is that the rise in market value after the publication of the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act should not be taken into account for the purpose of determination of market value. If the deeming definition of "publication of the notification" in the amended Section 4(1) is imported as the meaning of the said words in the first clause of Section 23(1), it will lead to anomalous results. The owners of the lands which are the subject-matter of the notification and the neighbouring lands will come to know about the proposed acquisition, on the date of publication in the Gazette or in the newspapers. If the giving of public notice of the substance of the notification is delayed by two or three months, there may be several sale transactions in regard to nearby lands in that period, showing a spurt or hike in value in view of the development contemplated on account of the acquisition itself."

Applying the ratio of the above decision, we are of the view that the post notification instances cannot be taken into consideration for determining the compensation of the acquired land."

17. In the case of N. Narasimhaiah vs. State of Karnataka, 1996 (3) SCC 88 (Para-17), Usha Stud and Agricultural Farms Private Limited and others vs. State of Haryana and others, 2013 (4) SCC 210 (paras-19 to 24), Surinder Singh Brar and others vs. Union of India and others, 2013 (1) SCC 403 (para-75), V.K.M. Kattha Industries Private Limited vs. State of Haryana and others, 2013 (9) SCC 338 (para-14) and Chandra Bhan vs. Ghaziabad Development Authority and others, (2015) 15 SCC 343 (paras-19 to 21),Hon'ble Supreme Court has not specifically and exhaustively examined the question of relevant date for determination of market value as has been done in the case of Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority (supra) and Maya Devi (supra).

18. In the case of Arasmeta Captive Power Company Private Limited and another v. Lafarge India Private Limited, JT 2014 (1) SC 1 (paras-28 to 36), Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the principles of binding precedent, as under:

"28. At this juncture, we think it condign to refer to certain authorities which lay down the principle for understanding the ratio decidendi of a judgment. Such a deliberation, we are disposed to think, is necessary as we notice that contentions are raised that certain observations in some paragraphs in SPB & Co. vs. Patel Engineering Ltd. and another, [JT 2005 (9) SCC 219 : (2005) 8 SCC 618] have been relied upon to build the edifice that latter judgments have not referred to them.

29.In Ambica Quarry Works v. State of Gujarat and others, [JT 1986 SC 1036 : (1987) 1 SCC 213], it has been stated that the ratio of any decision must be understood in the background of the facts of that case. Relying on Quinn v. Leathem, [1901 AC 495], it has been held that the case is only an authority for what it actually decides, and not what logically follows from it.

30. Lord Halsbury in the case of Quinn (supra) has ruled thus: -

"...there are two observations of a general character which I wish to make, and one is to repeat what I have very often said before, that every judgment must be read as applicable to the particular facts proved, or assumed to be proved, since the generality of the expressions which may be found there are not intended to be expositions of the whole law, but governed and qualified by the particular facts of the case in which such expressions are to be found. The other is that a case is only an authority for what it actually decides. I entirely deny that it can be quoted for a proposition that may seem to follow logically from it. Such a mode of reasoning assumes that the law is necessarily a logical code, whereas every lawyer must acknowledge that the law is not always logical at all."

31.In Krishena Kumar v. Union of India and others, [JT 1990 (3) SC 173 : (1990) 4 SCC 207], the Constitution Bench, while dealing with the concept of ratio decidendi, has referred to Caledonian Railway Co. v. Walker's Trustees [1882 (7) App Cas 259 : 46 LT 826 (HL)] and Quinn (supra) and the observations made by Sir Frederick Pollock and thereafter proceeded to state as follows: -

"The ratio decidendi is the underlying principle, namely, the general reasons or the general grounds upon which the decision is based on the test or abstract from the specific peculiarities of the particular case which gives rise to the decision. The ratio decidendi has to be ascertained by an analysis of the facts of the case and the process of reasoning involving the major premise consisting of a pre-existing rule of law, either statutory or judge-made, and a minor premise consisting of the material facts of the case under immediate consideration*. If it is not clear, it is not the duty of the court to spell it out with difficulty in order to be bound by it. In the words of Halsbury (4th edn., Vol. 26, para 573) "The concrete decision alone is binding between the parties to it but it is* the abstract ratio decidendi, as ascertained on a consideration of the judgment in relation to the subject matter of the decision, which alone has the force of law and which when it is clear it is not part of a tribunal's duty to spell out with difficulty a ratio decidendi in order to bound by it, and it is always dangerous to take one or two observations out of a long judgment and treat them as if they gave the ratio decidendi of the case. If more reasons than one are given by a tribunal for its judgment, all are taken as forming the ratio decidendi." [Emphasis added]

32.In State of Orissa v. Mohd. Illiyas[JT 2005 (10) SC 64 : 2006 (1) SCC 275], it has been stated thus: -

"12. ... According to the well-settled theory of precedents, every decision contains three basic postulates: (i) findings of material facts, direct and inferential. An inferential findings of facts is the inference which the Judge draws from the direct, or perceptible facts; (ii) statements of the principles of law applicable to the legal problems disclosed by the facts; and (iii) judgment based on the combined effect of the above. A decision is an authority for what it actually decides. What is of the essence in a decision is its ratio and not every observation found therein nor what logically flows from the various observations made in the judgment."

33.In Islamic Academy of Education v. State of Karnataka [JT 2003 (7) SC 1 : 2003 (6) SCC 697], t*he Court has made the following observations: -*

" 2. ... The ratio decidendi of a judgment has to be found out only on reading the entire judgment. In fact, the ratio of the judgment is what is set out in the judgment itself. The answer to the question would necessarily have to be read in the context of what is set out in the judgment and not in isolation. In case of any doubt as regards any observations, reasons and principles, the other part of the judgment has to be looked into. By reading a line here and there from the judgment, one cannot find out the entire ratio decidendi of the judgment." [Bold is by us]

34. The said authorities have been relied upon in Natural Resources Allocation, In Re, Special Reference No. 1 of 2012[JT 2012 (10) SC 145 : 2012 (10) SCC 1].

*35. At this stage, we may also profitably refer to another principle which is of assistance to understand and appreciate the ratio decidendi of a judgment. The judgments rendered by a court are not to be read as statutes.*In Union of India v. Amrit Lal Manchanda and another[JT 2004 (2) SC 378 : 2004 (3) SCC 75], i*t has been stated that observations of courts are neither to be read as Euclid's theorems nor as provisions of the statute and that too taken out of their context. The observations must be red in the context in which they appear to have been stated. To interpret words, phrases and provisions of a statute, it may become necessary for judges to embark into lengthy discussions but the discussion is meant to explain and not to define. Judges interpret statutes, they do not interpret judgments. They interpret words of statutes; their words are not to be interpreted as statutes.*

36.In Som Mittal v. Government of Karnataka,[JT 2008 (3) SC 52 : 2008 (3) SCC 574], it has been observed that judgments are not to be construed as statutes. Nor words or phrases in judgments to be interpreted like provisions of a statute. Some words used in a judgment should be read and understood contextually and are not intended to be taken literally. Many a time a judge uses a phrase or expression with the intention of emphasizing a point or accentuating a principle or even by way of a flourish of writing style. Ratio decidendi of a judgment is not to be discerned from a stray word or phrase read in isolation."

19. In the case of Delhi Administration (Now NCT of Delhi) vs. Manoharlal, AIR 2002 SC 3088 (para-5) and M/s Amar Nath Om Parkash and others vs. Sate of Punjab and others, AIR 1985 SC 218 (paras-8, 11 and 12), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that ratio of decision is binding. Initiation of principles and reasons on which a question has been decided is alone binding precedent. Similar view has also been taken in State of Orissa vs. Sudhansu Sekhar Misra and others, AIR 1968 SC 647, Union of India and others vs. Dharnwanti Devi and others, (1996) 6 SCC 44 and State of Orissa and others vs. Md. Illiyas, JT 2005 (10) SC 64 (para-14).

20. Thus, the ratio decidendi is the underlying principle, namely, the general reasons or the general grounds upon which the decision is based on the test or abstract from the specific peculiarities of the particular case which gives rise to the decision. The ratio decidendi has to be ascertained by an analysis of the facts of the case and the process of reasoning involving the major premise consisting of a pre-existing rule of law, either statutory or judge-made, and a minor premise consisting of the material facts of the case under immediate consideration. The abstract ratio decidendi, as ascertained on a consideration of the judgment in relation to the subject matter of the decision, which alone has the force of law. It is always dangerous to take one or two observations out of a long judgment and treat them as if they gave the ratio decidendi of the case. A decision is an authority for what it actually decides. What is of the essence in a decision is its ratio and not every observation found therein nor what logically flows from the various observations made in the judgment.

21. Since the question regarding relevant date for determining market value for the purposes under Section 23(1) of the Act has been specifically decided and principle of law in this regard has been laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority (supra) and as such respectively following the aforesaid judgment, I hold that the relevant date for determining market value for the purposes of compensation under Section 23(1) of the Act, shall be the date of publication of notification in the Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act. The date of publication of notice as provided under Section 4(1) of the Act shall not be relevant. Therefore, in the present set of facts, 30.01.1989 being the date of publication of notification in the official Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act, is the relevant date for determining market value for the purpose of compensation under Section 23(1) of the Act. Question No.(a) is answered accordingly.

Question No.(b) Whether the market value of the acquired land determined by the court below is lawful and adequate?

AND

Question No.(c) Whether consideration received by ADA in auction sale of developed plots in "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme", can be made basis for determination of market value of the land acquired by the appellant - ADA for the scheme in question i.e. "Taj Nagari Phase-II" particularly when sale deed exemplars were filed in evidence by the ADA for determination of market value of the acquired land under the present acquisition, i.e. "Taj Nagari Phase-II"?

22. Since both the afore-noted questions are interlinked, therefore, both are being considered together.

Whether sale deed exemplars of post notification period are good exemplars when sale deed exemplars of period within three years before the date of acquisition notification dated 30.01.1989, are available:-

23. The first factor provided in Section 23(1) of the Act specifically provides that for determining amount of compensation to be awarded for land acquired under the Act, the court shall take into consideration the market value of the land at the date of publication of the notification in the Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act. Thus, the market value of land acquired under the Act has to be determined by the court as on the date of the publication of the notification in the Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act. This view is supported by the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chamanlal Hargovind Das vs. S.L.A.O., (1988) 3 SCC 751 (para-4), Union of India vs. Dyagala Devamma and others, (2018) 8 SCC 485 : AIR 2018 SC 3511, Manoj Kumar and others vs. State of Haryana and others, (2018) 13 SCC 96 (Para-25).

24. In Bhupal Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 5 SCC 801 Hon'ble Supreme Court specifically considered similar question of determination of market value under Section 23 of the Act and held that the fair market value of the acquired land is required to be determined on the basis of the market rate of the adjacent lands similarly situated to the acquired lands prevailing on the date of acquisition or/ and prior to acquisition but not subsequent to the date of acquisition.

25. In view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Chamanlal Hargovind Das (supra), Manoj Kumar and others (supra), Dyagala Devamma and others (supra) and Bhupal Singh (supra), I have no difficulty to hold that market value of the acquired land is required to be determined on the basis of the market rate of the adjacent land similarly situated to the acquired lands prevailing on the date of acquisition or/ and prior to the acquisition but not subsequent to the date of acquisition.

What is Market Value:-

26. Thus, as per settled principle of law, compensation for the land acquired has to be determined at market value. Market value is the price that a willing purchaser would pay to a willing seller for the property having due regard to its existing condition with all its existing advantages and its potential possibilities when led out in most advantageous manner excluding any advantage due to carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired. The determination of market value is the prediction of an economic event viz. a price outcome of hypothetical sale expressed in terms of probabilities. For ascertaining the market value of the land, the potentiality of the acquired land should also be taken into consideration. Potentiality means capacity or possibility for changing or developing into state of actuality.

Principles for Determination of Market Value:-

27. Important principles for determination of market value of acquired land as settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments may be summarized as under:-

(i) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, comparable sales method of valuation is preferred than other methods of valuation of land such as capitalisation of net income method or expert opinion method. Comparable sales method of valuation is preferred because it furnishes the evidence for determination of the market value of the acquired land at which a willing purchaser would pay for the acquired land if it had been sold in the open market at the time of issue of notification under Section 4 of the Act. However, comparable sales method of valuation of land for fixing the market value of the acquired land is not always conclusive but subject to the following factors:-

(a) Sale must be a genuine transaction,

(b) the sale deed must have been executed at the time proximate to the date of issue of notification under Section 4 of the Act,

(c) the land covered by the sale must be in the vicinity of the acquired land,

(d) the land covered by the sales must be similar to the acquired land

(e) the size of plot of the land covered by the sales be comparable to the land acquired.

(ii) The amount of compensation cannot be ascertained with mathematical accuracy. A comparable instance has to be identified having regard to the proximity from time angle as well as proximity from situation angle. For determining the market value of the land under acquisition, suitable adjustment has to be made having regard to various positive and negative factors vis-a-vis the land under acquisition.

(iii) For ascertaining the market value of the land, the potentiality of the acquired land should also be taken into consideration. Potentiality means capacity or possibility for changing or developing into state of actuality.

(iv) Deduction not to be done when land holders have been deprived of their holding 15 to 20 years back and have not been paid any amount.

(v) When there are several exemplars with reference to similar lands, it is the general rule that the highest of the exemplars, if it is satisfied, that it is a bonafide transaction has to be considered and accepted. When the land is being compulsorily taken away from a person, he is entitled to the highest value which similar land in the locality shown to have fetched in a bona fide transaction entered into between a willing purchaser and a willing seller near about the time of the acquisition. (Ref. (2012) 5 S.C.C 432, Mehrawal Khewaji Trust (Registered), Faridkot and others Vs. State of Punjab and others).

(vi) In view of Section 51A of the Act, 1894 certified copy of sale deed is admissible in evidence, even the vendor or vendee thereof is not required to examine themselves for proving the contents thereof. This, however, would not mean that contents of the transaction as evidenced by the registered sale deed would automatically be accepted. The legislature advisedly has used the word 'may'. A discretion, therefore, has been conferred upon a Court to be exercised judicially, i.e., upon taking into consideration the relevant factOrs.Only because a document is admissible in evidence, the same by itself would not mean that the contents thereof stand proved. Having regard to the other materials brought on record, the Court may not accept the evidence contained in a deed of sale. (Ref. (2004) 8 S.C.C 270 para 28 and 38, Cement Corpn. Of India Ltd. Vs. Purya and others).

(vii) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, the Land Acquisition Collector is required to keep in mind the following factors:

(a) Existing geographical situation of the land as on the date of acquisition.

(b) Existing use of the land as on the date of acquisition.

(c) Already available advantages, like proximity to National or State Highway or road and/ or developed area,

(d) Market value of other land situated in the same locality/ village/ area or adjacent or very near the acquired land.

(viii) Section 23(1) of the Act lays down what the Court has to take into consideration while Section 24 lays down what the Court shall not take into consideration and have to be neglected. The main object of the enquiry before the Court is to determine the market value of the land acquired.

(ix) The question whether a land has potential value or not, is primarily one of fact depending upon its condition, situation, user to which it is put or is reasonably capable of being put and proximity to residential, commercial or industrial areas or institutions. The existing amenities like water, electricity, possibility of their further extension, whether near about town is developing.

(x) In fixing market value of the acquired land, which is undeveloped or under-developed, the Courts have generally approved deduction of 1/3rd of the market value towards development cost except when no development is required to be made for implementation of the public purpose for which land is acquired {Reference: (2011) 8 SCC 91, Valliyamal and another vs. Special Tehsildar Land Acquisition and another (Paras 13 to 19)}.

(xi) Deduction of "development cost" is the concept used to derive the "wholesale price" of a large undeveloped land with reference to the "retail price" of a small developed plot. The difference between the value of a small developed plot and the value of a large undeveloped land is the "development cost".[Ref. (2012) 7 S.C.C 595 para 21, Sabhia Mohammed Yusuf Abdul Hamid Mulla (dead) and others Vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer and (2010) 1 SCC 444 (Paras- 24 & 25), Subh Ram vs. State of Haryana].

(xii) The circle rate filed by the Collector or valuation register maintained by the Revenue Authorities under the Stamp Act, 1899 are irrelevant and cannot form a valid criteria to determine market value of land acquired under the Act, 1894, unless such determination is under a statutory obligation and after following a prescribed procedure. {Reference: Jawajee Nagnatham v. Revenue Divisional Officer, Adilabad, A.P. and others, (1994) 4, SCC 595, the Land Acquisition Officer v. Jasti Rohini (1995)1 SCC 717, U.P. Jal Nigam v. M/s Kalra Properties (P) Ltd. (1996) 3 SCC 124, Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti v. Bipin Kumar, (2004) 2 SCC 283}.

DEDUCTIONS

28. The principles regarding deduction to be applied while determining market value of a land for compensation under the Act, 1894, has been applied by Hon'ble Supreme Court, providing for deduction ranging up to 75% depending on the nature of land, its situation and stage of development etc., vide Brig. Sahib Singh Kalha Vs. Amritsar Improvement Trust, (1982) 1 SCC 419 (deductions between 20% and 33%), Administrator General of West Bengal Vs. Collector, Varanasi, (1988) 2 SCC 150 (upheld deduction of 40%), Chimanlal Hargovinddas Vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Poona and another (supra),(deduction between 20% to 50%), Land Acquisition Officer Revenue Divisional Officer, Chottor vs. L. Kamalamma (Smt.) Dead by and others, (1998) 2 SCC 385, (deduction of 40% as development cost), Kasturi and others vs. State of Haryana (supra), (1/3rd deduction was upheld on development),Land Acquisition Officer vs. Nookala Rajamallu and others, (2003) 12 SCC 334, (53% deduction), V. Hanumantha Reddy (Dead) Versus Land Acquisition Officer, (2003) 12 SCC 642, (37% deduction towards development), Viluben Jhalejar Contractor Versus State of Gujarat, (2005) 4 SCC 789, (20 to 50% towards development), Atma Singh Versus State of Haryana and another, (2008)2 SCC 568, (20% deduction towards largeness of area), Subh Ram and others Vs. State of Haryana and others, (supra), (where valuation of a large area of agricultural or undeveloped land has to be determined on the basis of sale price of a small developed plot, standard deductions would be 1/3rd towards infrastructural space and 1/3 towards infrastructural developmental cost, i.e. 2/3rd % i.e. 67%), Andhra Pradesh Housing Board Versus K. Manohar Reddy and others, (2010) 12 SCC 707, (deductions on account of development could vary between 20% to 75%), Special Land Acquisition Officer and another Versus M.K. Rafiq Sahib, (2011) 7 SCC 714, (60% deduction).

29. Recently, in Major General Kapil Mehra Vs. Union of India and another (2015)2 SCC 262, Hon'ble Supreme Court again observed that while fixing market value of acquired land, Land Acquisition Collector is required to keep in mind the following factors:-

(i) Existing geographical situation of land.

(ii) Existing use of land.

(iii) Already available advantages, like proximity to National or State Highway or road and/ or developed area,

(iv) Market value of other land situated in the same locality/ village/ area or adjacent or very near the acquired land.

COMPARATIVE SALE METHOD OF MARKET VALUE

30. It is settled law that market value of the land acquired is determined with reference to the market sale of comparable land in the neighbourhood by a willing seller to a willing buyer on or before the date of preliminary notification i.e. under Section 4(1) of the Act 1894, as that would give a fair indication of market value.

31. In the case of Ashok Kumar and another Vs. State of Haryana, (2016) 4 SCC 544 (Para-12), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered situation of two acquired lands and held as under:

"In the case of the appellants herein, it is an admitted position that the properties do not abut the national highway. Admittedly, it is situated about 375 yards away from the national highway and it appears that there is only the narrow Nahan Kothi Road connecting the properties of the appellants to the national highway. Therefore, it will not be just and proper to award land value of Rs.250/- per square yard, which is granted to the property in adjoining village. Having regard to the factual and legal position obtained above, we are of the considered view that the just and fair compensation in the case of appellants would be Rs.200/- per square yard."

32. With respect to factors of comparable sales, Hon'ble Supreme Court in Major General Kapil Mehra (supra) has referred to its earlier decision in Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board and Others Versus K.S. Gangadharappa and another, (2009) 11 SCC 164, and has observed that element of speculation is reduced to minimum if underlying principles of fixation of market value with reference to comparable sales are satisfied, i.e.,(i) when sale is within a reasonable time of the date of notification under Section 4(1); (ii) it should be a bona fide transaction; (iii) it should be of the land acquired or of the land adjacent to the land acquired; and (iv) It should possess similar advantages.

Whether auction sale transaction can be relied to determine market value when other regular deed exemplars are available:-

33. Market value is determined with reference to the open market sale of comparable land in the neighbourhood of a willing seller to a willing buyer on or before the date of preliminary notification under Section 4(1) of the Act, as that would give a fair indication of market value. Auction sales stand on different footing. When purchasers start bidding for a property in an auction, an element of competition enters into the auction. In a well advertised open auction-sale, there is always a tendency for the price of the auctioned property to go up considerably, whereas in case, the auction-sale by banks or financial institutions to recover dues, there is an elements of distress, which have the effect of dampening the enthusiasm of bidders and making them cautious, thereby depressing the price. Therefore, when other regular sale transactions are available for determining market value of the acquired land, it would not be safe to rely upon an auction sale. But where an open auction sale is the only comparable sale transaction available on account of proximity in situation and proximity in time to the acquired land, the court may with caution, rely upon the price disclosed by such auction sales, by providing an appropriate deduction or cut to off-set the competitive-hike in value.

34. Similar view has been taken by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Raj

Kumar vs. HaryanaState, (2007) 7 SCC 609. Similar question has been exhaustively considered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Executive Engineer, Karnatka Housing Board vs. Land Acquisition Officers and others, (2011) 2 SCC 246 (paras-5 and 6) and it has been held as under:

*"5. We may deal with the last submission first. The standard method of determination of market value of any acquired land is by the valuer evaluating the land on the date of valuation (publication of notification under section 4(1) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 - `Act' for short) notification, acting as a hypothetical purchaser willing to purchase the land in open market at the prevailing price on that day, from a seller willing to sell such land at a reasonable price. Thus, the market value is determined with reference to the open market sale of comparable land in the neighbourhood, by a willing seller to a willing buyer, on or before the date of preliminary notification, as that would give a fair indication of the market value. A `willing seller' refers to a person who is not acting under any pressure to sell the property, that is, where the sale is not a distress sale. A willing seller is a person who knowing the advantages and disadvantages of his property, sells the property after ascertaining the prevailing market prices at the fair and reasonable value. Similarly, a willing purchaser refers to a person who is not under any pressure or compulsion to purchase the property, and who, having the choice of different properties, voluntarily decides to buy a particular property by assessing its advantages and disadvantages and the prevailing market value thereof. Of course, unless there are indications to hold otherwise, all sale transactions under registered sale deeds will be assumed to be normal sales by willing sellers to willing purchasers. Where however there is evidence or indica*tions that the sale was not at prevailing fair market value, it has to be ignored.

6. But auction sales stand on a different footing. When purchasers start bidding for a property in an auction, an element of competition enters into the auction. Human ego, and desire to do better and excel other competitors, leads to competitive bidding, each trying to outbid the others. Thus in a well advertised open auction sale, where a large number of bidders participate, there is always a tendency for the price of the auctioned property to go up considerably. On the other hand, where the auction sale is by banks or financial institutions, courts, etc. to recover dues, there is an element of distress, a cloud regarding title, and a chance of litigation, which have the effect of dampening the enthusiasm of bidders and making them cautious, thereby depressing the price. There is therefore every likelihood of auction price being either higher or lower than the real market price, depending upon the nature of sale. As a result, courts are wary of relying upon auction sale transactions when other regular traditional sale transactions are available while determining the market value of the acquired land. This Court in Raj Kumar v. HaryanaState - 2007 (7) SCC 609, observed that the element of competition in auction sales makes them unsafe guides for determining the market value."

35. In the present set of facts, the auction sale/ lease deeds are not the only comparable sale transactions. The lease deed exemplars of plot Nos.1 and 5 are of two commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme". Lease deeds of these plots and other few commercial plots were made after four or five years of the present acquisition, i.e. between the year 1992 to 1995. Much thereafter, the construction took place and hotels were established. The land for "Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme" i.e. the present acquisition was basically acquired for residential purpose on 30.01.1989, i.e. much prior to the leases of commercial Plot Nos.1 and 5 of Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme. Even under "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme", the residential plots were sold after full development, approximately at about Rs.300/- per square meter. Even some commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" for Five Star Hotels were allotted/ leased between the year 1992 to 1995 ranging from Rs.323/- per square meter to Rs.717.20 per square meter depending upon its location. These plots could also not be proved to be in proximity in situation to the acquired land. Thus, these auction/ lease deeds of few commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" are neither in proximity in time to the acquired land nor in proximity in situation nor it has any similarity to the acquired land inasmuch as the acquired land is agricultural land while the aforesaid auctioned/ leased plots were fully developed commercial plots from amongst the total area of 85.47 acres land acquired under the "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" in which the major portion was developed as housing plots.

36. Learned counsels for the respondents have relied upon judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Natural Resources Allocation, In Re, Special Reference No. 1 of 2012 [JT 2012 (10) SC 145 : 2012 (10) SCC 1] and V.N. Devadoss vs. Chief Revenue Control Officer and Inspector and others {(2009) 7 SCC 438}. I have perused both the judgments. Natural Resources Allocation case (supra) is with regard to auction of 2G spectrum and the question basically involved before the Hon'ble Supreme Court was as to whether the only permissible method for disposal of all natural resources across all sectors and in all circumstances is by the conduct of auctions and What is the permissible scope for interference by courts with policy making by the Government including methods for disposal of natural resources. The judgment in the case of V.N. Devadoss (supra) arose from the proceedings under Section 47A of the Indian Stamp Act for payment of stamp duty and in that context, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the property was offered for sale in the open market by inviting bids and, therefore, there is no question of any intention to defraud the revenue or non-disclosure of the correct price of the properties which were disposed of under the orders of BIFR and AAIFR on the basis of value fixed by Assets Sales Committee.

37. In the present set of facts, some sale deed exemplars namely Paper No.110-C is the sale deed dated 28.05.1988 for sale of plot No.203 which were filed in evidence. This plot No.203 was acquired which is subject matter of the abovenoted First Appeal No.269 of 2019. Similarly, paper No.115C is the sale deed dated 15.09.1988 of plot Nos.1998 and 1999. The acquisition of plot Nos.1994, 1997 and 2000, are subject matter of above noted First Appeal No.212 of 2017. These two sale deeds were executed by individuals to two Sahkari Awas Samitis. The sale deed paper No.110C is of the same plot which has been acquired under the present acquisition and paper No.115C is the sale deed of adjoining plots, which are subject matter of the aforesaid two First Appeals. These two sale deeds are in proximity of time of the present acquisition. Sale deed (paper No.110C) was executed about seven months before the present acquisition while the sale deed (paper No.115C) was executed about 4 months before the present acquisition. The finding of the court below in the impugned judgments upon contention raised by the claimants that these two sale deed exemplars and other sale deed exemplars filed by the appellants herein do not reflect the correct market value, appears to be not sound but wholly baseless. By these two sale deeds, the property was sold by individuals to two residential housing societies. Therefore, without any reliable evidence on record, it cannot be assumed that these sale deeds do not reflect the true consideration. Mere vague allegation of suppression of consideration by individuals while selling land, deserves to be outrightly rejected. A similar question came for consideration before Hon'ble Supreme court in the case of Lal Chand vs. Union of India, {(2009) 15 SCC 769 (para-76 to 79)} and the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"76. This takes us to the value of "undervalued" sale deeds. When the respondents rely upon certain sale deeds to justify the value determined by the Land Acquisition Collector or to show that the market value was less than what is claimed by the claimants, and if the claimants produce satisfactory evidence (which may be either with reference to contemporaneous sale deeds or awards made in respect of acquisition of comparable land or by other acceptable evidence) to show that the market value was much higher, the sale deed relied upon by the respondents showing a lesser value may be inferred to be undervalued, or not showing the true value. Such deeds have to be excluded from consideration as being unreliable evidence. A document which is found to be undervalued cannot be used as evidence.

77. But we have noticed a disturbing trend in some recent cases, where a court accepts the sale deed exhibited by the claimants as the basis for ascertaining the market value. But then, it also accepts a contention of the claimants that the general tendency of members of public is not to show the real value, but show a lesser value to avoid tax/stamp duty and therefore the sale deeds produced and relied on by them, should be assumed to be under valued.

78. On such assumption, some courts have been adding some fancied percentage to the value shown by the sale deeds to arrive at what they consider to be `realistic market value'. The addition so made may vary from 10% to 100% depending upon the whims, fancies, and the perception of the learned Judge as to what is the general extent of suppression of the price in sale deeds. Such increase, in the market value disclosed by the sale deeds, on the assumption that all sale deeds show a `depressed' market value instead of the real value, is impermissible. The Court can either accept the document as showing the prevailing market value, in which event it has to be acted upon. Or the Court may find a document to be undervalued in which it should be rejected straightaway as not reliable. There is no third way of accepting a document, by adding to the market value disclosed by the document, some percentage to off-set the under-valuation.

79. There is no legal basis to proceed on a general assumption that parties, without exception, fail to reflect the true consideration in the sale deeds, that there is always undervaluation or suppression of the true price and that consequently, all sale deeds reflect a depressed value and not the real market value and therefore, some percentage should be added to arrive at the real value. Such a course also amounts to branding all vendors and purchasers as dishonest persons without any evidence and without hearing them. It ignores the fact that government has fixed minimum guideline values and whenever a registering authority is of the view that a sale deed is undervalued, proceedings are initiated for determination of the true market value. It also ignores the fact that a large number of sale deeds are accepted by the registering authorities as disclosing the current market value. Be that as it may."

38. In Bangaru Narshinga Rao, Naidu and others vs. Revenue Divisional Officer Vizianagaram, {(1980) 1 SCC 575 (para-2)}, Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that there cannot be any doubt that the best evidence of the market value of the acquired land is afforded by transactions of sale in respect of the very acquired land provided of course there is nothing to doubt the authenticity of the transactions. In the case of Ranvir Singh and others vs. Union of India, (2005) 12 SCC 59, Hon'ble Supreme court reiterated the well-settled principle that the sale deeds pertaining to portion of lands which are subject to acquisition would be the most relevant piece of evidence for assessing the market value of the acquired lands. Similar view has been taken by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various other judgments including the judgment in Special Tehsildar Land Acquisition, Vishakhapattanam vs. A Mangala Gowri (Smt.) (1991) 3 SCR 472 and T.S. Ramchandra Shetty vs. Chairman Karnataka Housing Board and others {(2009) 14 SCC 334}.

39. The impugned judgments of the reference court in rejecting the sale deed exemplars and relying upon auction bid/ lease deeds of dates subsequent to acquisition, is wholly erroneous, contrary to the mandate of Section 23(1) of the Act and also contrary to the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgments referred hereinabove including the judgments in the case of Executive Engineer, Karnataka Housing Board (supra), Lal Chand (supra), Chimanlal Hargovinddas (supra), Major General Kapil Mehra (supra), Manoj Kumar and others (supra) and Bhupal Singh (supra). However, it is clarified that if any relevant and bona fide sale deed exemplars of higher value, were available then the reference court should have considered those sale deed exemplars also to determine the market value. During the course of the arguments, learned counsel for the respondents has stated that the claimants have filed some sale deed exemplars being paper Nos.33C to 42C in L.A.R. No.968 of 2003 (Kalua & Ors Vs. Collector) from which the present First Appeal No.212 of 2017 arise, which discloses selling rate of similar land ranging from Rs.155.84 to Rs.300/- per square yard. However, copies of all these sale deeds have not been filed with the paper book in First Appeal No.212 of 2017. If these sale deeds were available in evidence, then it must have been considered by the reference court.

Whether market value of wholly developed land can be compared with under developed land:-

40. The principles of law as settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgment including the judgments afore-noted, leaves no manner of doubt that the market value of wholly developed land cannot be compared with the under-developed land although it may be adjoining or situated at a little distance. In Ranvir Singh and others vs. Union of India {(2005)12 SCC 59 (para-26)}, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "While adopting the said method, in our opinion, the High Court committed manifest errOrs.The market value of fully developed land cannot be compared with wholly underdeveloped land although they may be adjoining or situated at a little distance. For determining the market value, it is trite, the nature of the land plays an important role."

41. In Bhim Singh and others vs. State of Haryana (2003) 10 SCC 529 (para-10), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the similar matter and held as under:

"It was next submitted that the claimants were entitled to higher compensation as the Respondents had in 1989 auctioned plots of land at the rate of Rs. 1725 to Rs. 2510 per square yard. In our view this submission merely needs to be stated to be rejected. What price is fetched after full developmentcannot be the basis for fixing compensation in respect of land which was agricultural."

42. The submission of learned counsel for the claimants-respondents that bona fide post notification sales in the form of lease deed exemplars have been rightly relied by the reference court, does not hold good and deserves rejection in view of the discussions made above, and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme court in catena of judgments.

43. The conclusion reached by the reference court in para-71 of the impugned judgment is based on discussion made on issue No.1 which is not based on the situation existing as on the date of acquisition, i.e. 30.01.1989 but is mainly based on developments which took place much subsequently. No documentary evidence could be led by the claimants that any five star hotel or even residential houses were existing over the plots of Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme when the land in question under Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme was acquired on 30.01.1989. No documentary evidence could be led by the claimants to establish that any five star hotel was existing over a similar land in close proximity of the acquired land as on the date of acquisition. The evidence of DW-1 Raghuraj Singh Lekhpal (who was posted in Tehsil Sadar Agra only in the year 2012) was recorded on 22.12.2016 who in his cross examination, described the existence of hotel and a mall etc. as on the date of his cross-examination and not on the date of acquisition, i.e. 30.01.1989. The evidence of PW-1 Rahis Khan was filed in the form of Affidavit dated 21.11.2016 who described in Para-14, existence of some hotels at a distance of 2-3 kms. built in the year 1988. He also could not support it by any documentary evidence. That apart, these hotels even if existing as on the date of acquisition, cannot be said to be in close proximity of the acquired land from time angle and situation angle. He admitted in para-34 that award was received under protest. In rest of the paras, he merely described the developments over the land of Taj Nagari Phase-I which were undisputedly leased/ sold much subsequent to the present acquisition. In his cross-examination, he admitted that at the time of acquisition, agriculture was carried over the acquired land. He also admitted in his cross-examination that the lease deed of Plot No.1 was executed by the A.D.A. after fully developing it. Thus, the lease deed of the aforesaid plot No.1 and 5 of Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme, which have been made basis to determine market value of the land acquired on 30.01.1989 are wholly irrelevant and are not good exemplars for determination of market value of the land acquired on 30.01.1989, yet these exemplars and the evidence of P.W.-1 have been heavily relied by the reference court without application of mind and without consideration of the fact that at the time of acquisition the acquired land was being used for agriculture. Such an approach is also contrary to law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments including the judgment in Bhim Singh's case (supra)

44. In the impugned judgment, the bid/ lease deed of plot No.1 dated 11.06.1993 and the lease deed of plot No.5 dated 15.07.1993 of land of 'Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme' (Ext.14 and Ext.2 respectively) executed by the appellant A.D.A. after fully developing the aforesaid plots, have been made basis to determine compensation of the land acquired on 30.01.1989 for 'Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme'. In Civil Appeal No.4879 of 2018 {New Okhla Industrial Development Authority (NOIDA) VS. Deo Karan &Ors.} decided on 1.5.2018, Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the question of determination of market value of land acquired in the year 1980-82 on the basis of market value determined in a case with respect to the land acquired on 24.03.1988 and observed, as under:

"In the case of Raghuraj Singh (supra), Notification under Section 4 was issued on 24.3.1988, i.e., much later than the Notifications in question issued in 1980 and 1982. Again the reliance was placed on Raghuraj Singh (supra), which also relied upon the agreement to sell dated 12.01.1989. The aforesaid course adopted by the High Court, was wholly impermissible and bad in law*. The way in which the High Court had determined the compensation, that too on the basis of the agreement to sell, was not a satisfactory or permissible way of arriving at the valuation in the aforesaid decision on which reliance had been placed. Thus, aforesaid decisions of Jagdish Chandra and Raguraj Singh could not have been relied upon for basing the determination of value with respect to the Notifications issued in the years 1980 and 1982.* We are shocked that how the High Court hasdetermined the same valuation for the notifications issued in the years 1980 and 1982, when the rates were determined in the aforesaid cases of Jagdish Chandra and Raghuraj Singh with respect to the Notifications under Section 4 issued in the years 1987 and 1988.

6. We record our dissatisfaction towards the slipshod and perfunctory manner and the hazardous way in which the compensation was determined by the High Court, that too on the basis of agreement to sell."

(Emphasis supplied by me)

45. In the light of the afore-quoted observations made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Deo Karan (supra) the approach adopted by the reference court to pass the impugned judgments, determining the market value of the agricultural land acquired under the present acquisition by notification dated 30.01.1989; on the basis of consideration mentioned in the bid/ lease deed dated 11.06.1993 of fully developed commercial plot No.1 and the lease deed dated 15.07.1993 of fully developed commercial plot No.5, both of 'Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme', is wholly impermissible and bad in law.

46. In view of the above discussion, I hold that in the impugned judgments, the reference court has committed manifest error of law in determining the market value of the land acquired on 30.01.1989 for 'Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme'. Subsequent auction/ lease deeds of developed commercial plots of 'Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme' cannot be made basis to determine market value of the previously acquired land by the appellant for 'Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme' particularly when relevant sale deed exemplars were filed in evidence. Both the question Nos.(b) and (c) are answered accordingly.

CONCLUSIONS

47. Detail discussion and conclusions reached above are briefly summarised, as under:

(i) The ratio decidendi is the underlying principle, namely, the general reasons or the general grounds upon which the decision is based on the test or abstract from the specific peculiarities of the particular case which gives rise to the decision. The ratio decidendi has to be ascertained by an analysis of the facts of the case and the process of reasoning involving the major premise consisting of a pre-existing rule of law, either statutory or judge-made, and a minor premise consisting of the material facts of the case under immediate consideration. The abstract ratio decidendi, as ascertained on a consideration of the judgment in relation to the subject matter of the decision, which alone has the force of law. It is always dangerous to take one or two observations out of a long judgment and treat them as if they gave the ratio decidendi of the case. A decision is an authority for what it actually decides. What is of the essence in a decision is its ratio and not every observation found therein nor what logically flows from the various observations made in the judgment

(ii) Since the question regarding relevant date for determining market value for the purposes under Section 23(1) of the Act has been specifically decided and principle of law in this regard has been laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Kolkata Metropolitan Development Authority (supra) and as such respectively following the aforesaid judgment, I hold that the relevant date for determining market value for the purposes of compensation under Section 23(1) of the Act, shall be the date of publication of notification in the Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act. The date of publication of notice as provided under Section 4(1) of the Act shall not be relevant. Therefore, in the present set of facts, 30.01.1989 being the date of publication of notification in the official Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act, is the relevant date for determining market value for the purpose of compensation under Section 23(1) of the Act. Question No.(a) is answered accordingly.

(iii) Market value of land acquired under the Act has to be determined by the court as on the date of the publication of the notification in the Gazette under Section 4(1) of the Act.

(iv) Fair market value of the acquired land is required to be determined on the basis of the market rate of the adjacent lands similarly situated to the acquired lands prevailing on the date of acquisition or/ and prior to acquisition but not subsequent to the date of acquisition.

(v) Market value is the price that a willing purchaser would pay to a willing seller for the property having due regard to its existing condition with all its existing advantages and its potential possibilities when led out in most advantageous manner excluding any advantage due to carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired. The determination of market value is the prediction of an economic event viz. a price outcome of hypothetical sale expressed in terms of probabilities. For ascertaining the market value of the land, the potentiality of the acquired land should also be taken into consideration. Potentiality means capacity or possibility for changing or developing into state of actuality.

(vi) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, comparable sales method of valuation is preferred than other methods of valuation of land such as capitalisation of net income method or expert opinion method. However, comparable sales method of valuation of land for fixing the market value of the acquired land is not always conclusive but subject to the following factors:-

(a) Sale must be a genuine transaction,

(b) the sale deed must have been executed at the time proximate to the date of issue of notification under Section 4 of the Act,

(c) the land covered by the sale must be in the vicinity of the acquired land,

(d) the land covered by the sales must be similar to the acquired land

(e) the size of plot of the land covered by the sales be comparable to the land acquired.

(f) if there is dissimilarity in regard to locality, shape, site or nature of land between land covered by sales and land acquired, it is open to the Court to proportionately reduce the compensation for acquired land.

(vii) The amount of compensation cannot be ascertained with mathematical accuracy. A comparable instance has to be identified having regard to the proximity from time angle as well as proximity from situation angle. For determining the market value of the land under acquisition, suitable adjustment has to be made having regard to various positive and negative factors vis-a-vis the land under acquisition.

(viii) When there are several exemplars with reference to similar lands, it is the general rule that the highest of the exemplars, if it is a bonafide transaction has to be considered and accepted.

(ix) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, the Land Acquisition Collector is required to keep in mind the following factors:

(a) Existing geographical situation of the land as on the date of acquisition.

(b) Existing use of the land as on the date of acquisition.

(c) Already available advantages, like proximity to National or State Highway or road and/ or developed area,

(d) Market value of other land situated in the same locality/ village/ area or adjacent or very near the acquired land.

(x) Deduction of "development cost" is the concept used to derive the "wholesale price" of a large undeveloped land with reference to the "retail price" of a small developed plot. The difference between the value of a small developed plot and the value of a large undeveloped land is the "development cost".

(xi) Market value is determined with reference to the open market sale of comparable land in the neighbourhood of a willing seller to a willing buyer on or before the date of preliminary notification under Section 4(1) of the Act, as that would give a fair indication of market value. Auction sales stand on different footing. When purchasers start bidding for a property in an auction, an element of competition enters into the auction. In a well advertised open auction-sale, there is always a tendency for the price of the auctioned property to go up considerably, whereas in case, the auction-sale by banks or financial institutions to recover dues, there is an elements of distress, which have the effect of dampening the enthusiasm of bidders and making them cautious, thereby depressing the price. Therefore, when other regular sale transactions are available for determining market value of the acquired land, it would not be safe to rely upon an auction sale. But where an open auction sale is the only comparable sale transaction available on account of proximity in situation and proximity in time to the acquired land, the court may with caution, rely upon the price disclosed by such auction sales, by providing an appropriate deduction or cut to off-set the competitive-hike in value.

(xii) The lease deed exemplars of plot Nos.1 and 5 are of two commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme". Lease deeds of these plots and other few commercial plots were made after three or four years of the present acquisition, i.e. between the year 1992 to 1995. Much thereafter, the construction took place and hotels were established over it. The land for "Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme" i.e. the present acquisition was basically acquired for residential purpose on 30.01.1989, i.e. much prior to the leases of commercial Plot Nos.1 and 5 of Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme. Even under "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme", the residential plots were sold after full development, approximately at about Rs.300/- per square meter. Even some commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" for Five Star Hotels were allotted/ leased between the year 1992 to 1995 ranging from Rs.323/- per square meter to Rs.717.20 per square meter depending upon its location. These plots could also not be proved to be in proximity in situation to the acquired land. Thus, these auction/ lease deeds of few commercial plots of "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" are neither in proximity in time to the acquired land nor in close proximity in situation nor it has any similarity to the acquired land. The acquired land is agricultural land while the aforesaid auctioned/ leased plots were fully developed commercial plots from amongst the total area of 85.47 acres land acquired under the "Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme" in which the major portion was developed as housing plots.

(xiii) In the present set of facts, the sale deed exemplar Paper No.110-C is the sale deed dated 28.05.1988 for sale of plot No.203 which was filed in evidence. This plot No.203 was acquired and it is subject matter of the abovenoted First Appeal No.269 of 2019. Similarly, paper No.115C is the sale deed dated 15.09.1988 of plot Nos.1998 and 1999. The acquisition of plot Nos.1994, 1997 and 2000, are subject matter of above noted First Appeal No.212 of 2017. These two sale deeds were executed by individuals to two Sahkari Awas Samitis. The sale deed paper No.110C is of the same plot which has been acquired under the present acquisition and paper No.115C is the sale deed of adjoining plots, which are subject matter of the aforesaid two First Appeals. These two sale deeds are in close proximity in situation and time of the present acquisition. Sale deed (paper No.110C) was executed about seven months before the present acquisition while the sale deed (paper No.115C) was executed about 4 months before the present acquisition. The finding of the court below in the impugned judgments upon contention raised by the claimants that these two sale deed exemplars and other sale deed exemplars filed by the appellants herein do not reflect the correct market value, appears to be not sound but wholly baseless. By these two sale deeds, the property was sold by individuals to two residential housing societies. Therefore, without any reliable evidence on record, it cannot be assumed that these sale deeds do not reflect the true consideration. Mere vague allegation of suppression of consideration or under-valuation by individuals while selling land, deserves to be outrightly rejected.

(xiv) Sale deeds pertaining to portion of lands which are subject to acquisition would be the most relevant piece of evidence for assessing the market value of the acquired lands.

(xv) The impugned judgments of the reference court in rejecting the sale deed exemplars and relying upon bid/ lease deeds of dates subsequent to acquisition, is wholly erroneous, illegal, contrary to the mandate of Section 23(1) of the Act and also contrary to the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court. During the course of the arguments, learned counsel for the respondents has stated that the claimants have filed some sale deed exemplars being paper Nos.33C to 42C in L.A.R. No.968 of 2003 (Kalua & Ors Vs. Collector) from which the present First Appeal No.212 of 2017 arise, which discloses selling rate of similar land ranging from Rs.155.84 to Rs.300/- per square yard. However, copies of all these sale deeds have not been filed with the paper book in First Appeal No.212 of 2017. If these sale deeds were available in evidence, then it must have been considered by the reference court.

(xvi) Market value of wholly developed commercial plots cannot be compared with the under-developed or undeveloped or agricultural land although it may be adjoining or situated at a little distance. What price is fetched after full development of commercial or residential plots cannot be the basis for fixing compensation of agricultural land.

(xvii) In the impugned judgments, the reference court has committed manifest error of law in determining the market value of the land acquired on 30.01.1989 for 'Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme'. Subsequent auction/ lease deeds of developed commercial plots of 'Taj Nagari Phase-I Scheme' cannot be made basis to determine market value of the previously acquired land by the appellant for 'Taj Nagari Phase-II Scheme' particularly when the relevant sale deed exemplars were filed in evidence. Both the question Nos.(b) and (c) are answered accordingly.

48. For all the reasons afore-stated, the impugned judgments in land acquisition references as mentioned in para-7 above, cannot be sustained and are hereby set aside and all the First Appeals filed by the appellant Agra Development Authority are allowed. The cross-objections filed by the claimants are disposed of. Matters are remitted back to the reference court to decide the references afresh in accordance with law in the light of the observations made above, expeditiously preferably within six months from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order, without granting any unnecessary adjournments to either of the parties.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Singh Baghel J.)

1. These are fifty-three first appeals under Section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act, 18941. The appeals are arising out of five separate judgments and orders of the Reference Court passed in the respective land acquisition references. First Appeal Nos. 827 of 2000, 412 of 2001 and 552 of 2001 arise out of the judgment and order dated 23rd May, 2000 of the Reference Court. First Appeal Nos. 150 of 2001, 497 of 2001, 539 of 2001 and 854 of 2002 have been filed against the order of the Reference Court dated 13th April, 1998. First Appeal Nos. 898 of 2004, 906 of 2014, 907 of 2014, 929 of 2014, 318 of 2016 and First Appeal Defective No. 392 of 2002 have been filed against the order of the Reference Court dated 02nd April, 2002; whereas First Appeal No. 551 of 2001 has been filed challenging the order of the Reference Court dated 18th February, 2000. Rest thirty-nine first appeals arise out of the judgment and order dated 29th March, 2001 passed in the respective references by the Reference Court. All the aforesaid first appeals arise out of common notifications for acquisition.

2. There are two sets of first appeals: one in respect of acquisition for U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad and the other in respect of acquisition for the Ghaziabad Development Authority. Though the judgments of the Reference Court are different, yet both the sets of appeals arise out of common notification for the same acquisition proceeding. The issues of facts and law are similar in both the sets of appeals, hence learned counsel for the parties have agreed that both the sets of appeals may be decided by a common judgment.

3. First we deal with the first set of appeals led by First Appeal No. 827 of 2000.

4. Earlier a Division Bench of this Court vide its judgment and order dated 28th October, 2015 had affirmed the order of the Court of Reference awarding compensation at the rate of Rs.120/- per square yard to the land owners. Dissatisfied with the compensation, the land owners/ appellants preferred special leave petitions, being S.L.P. (Civil) No. 28776-28777 of 2016, which were converted to Civil Appeal No. 18634-18635 of 2017, along with several other special leave petitions. The Supreme Court vide its judgment and order dated 09th December, 2017 has disposed of the civil appeals and set aside the judgment and order of the Division Bench of this Court on the ground that its relevant judgment rendered in S.L.P. (C) Nos. 1506-1517 of 2016, Pradeep Kapoor (sic Kumar) v. State of U.P., was not placed before the Court and was not considered. Accordingly, the matter has been remitted back to this Court to reconsider afresh in the light of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in the said case. The order of the Supreme Court reads as under:

"Leave granted.

Learned counsel for the parties have filed certain documents along with the Special Leave Petitions. The said documents are taken on record, particularly the decision of this Court in SLP (C) Nos. 1506-1517/2016, titled as Pradeep Kapoor vs. State of U.P. These documents were not on record before the High Court. They are taken on record. These appeals are remitted back to the High Court for deciding afresh. A prayer is made for consideration of the aforesaid documents. It is open to the parties if they so desire to adduce additional evidence, in that event, the High Court may ask Reference Court to record additional evidence and to record finding and then High Court may decide the appeals afresh.

The judgment of the High Court is set aside and the appeals are remitted to the High Court for being decided afresh in accordance with law.

The appeals are disposed of accordingly."

5. Consequent upon the matter has been heard by this Court.

6. We have heard Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Manoj Kumar Pandey, Sri Akhilesh Kalra and Sri Yash Tandon, learned counsel for the appellants in the respective appeals, and Sri Vivek Saran, learned counsel for the respondent- Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, and learned Standing Counsel.

7. Learned counsel for the parties are agreed that they do not want to adduce any additional evidence, hence there is no need to remit the matter back to the Reference Court. It was stated that learned counsel for the parties shall confine their submissions only to the materials which are on the record.

8. The Uttar Pradesh Awas Evam Vikas Parishad2 is a housing and development board. One of the functions of the Parishad is to frame and execute housing and improvement schemes and other projects. The Parishad framed Scheme No. 3 for construction of the residential colony in six villages, namely, Makanpur, Prahladgarhi, Jhandapur, Mohiuddinpur, Arthala and Sahibabad in Pargana Loni, Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad. Total 1229.914 acres land was proposed to be acquired. The details of the proposed land for acquisition are as follows:

Sl. No.	Village	Area (in acres)
1	Arthla	358-93
2	Jhandapur	36-947
3	Prahladgarhi	437-379
4	Makanpur	75-6156
5	Mohiuddinpur Kanavani	141-97
6	Shahibabad	107-05

9. At the instance of the Parishad the State Government issued a notification under Section 4 of the Act on 26th June, 1982 in respect of the aforesaid land. On 28th February, 1987 the notification under Section 6 of the Act was published. The Special Land Acquisition Officer3 passed the award on 27th February, 1989 and determined the compensation of the land at the rate of Rs.50/- per square yard. The land owners made applications for reference under Section 18 of the Act to the Reference Court for enhancement of the compensation. Five separate set of references were made. The lead case in the present appeals arise out of LAR No. 56 of 1995 (Asha Ram and others v. State of U.P.), which was connected with LAR No. 205 of 1995, LAR No. 209 of 1995 and LAR No. 236 of 1992. They were referred to the VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad. These references were in respect of Villages Jhandapur, Shahibabad, Arthala, Mohiuddinpur and Prahladgarhi. The first set of references i.e. LAR No. 56 of 1995 and three others were decided by the VIIIth Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad vide its judgment and order dated 23rd May, 2000, thereby enhancing the rate of compensation from Rs.50/- per square yard to Rs.120/- per square yard.

10. Dissatisfied with the judgment and award dated 23rd May, 2000 passed by the Reference Court, the appellants-Asha Ram and others preferred the first appeals under Section 54 of the Act, being First Appeal Nos. 827 of 2000, 412 of 2001 and 552 of 2001. The other first appeals of first set have also been filed arising out of the common order of the SLAO.

11. The facts of the second set of appeals are that initially the land in question was acquired by the notification dated 26th June, 1982 at the instance of the Uttar Pradesh Awas Evam Vikas Parishad under Section 28 of the Uttar Pradesh Awas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam (for short, the "Parishad Adhiniyam") for acquisition of the 2127 acres of land situated in Village Makanpur, Prahlad Garhi, Jhandapur, Moinuddinpur, Arthala, etc.

12. Meanwhile the State Government took a decision to give 731 acres of land to the Ghaziabad Development Authority out of the proposed land which was notified under Section 4 of the Act read with under Section 28 of the Parishad Adhiniyam. 731 acres of land was situated in revenue Villages Makanpur, Prahlad Garhi, Hasanpur and Owapur. In this regard a Government order was issued on 31st July, 1984. It was agreed between the parties that both the parties shall carry out trunk structural services jointly and both the authorities shall work after the mutual discussion. It was also resolved that whatever compensation shall be decided for the acquisition of the land, the same shall be borne by the Parishad and the Development Authority of their respective area. The notification under Section 32 of the Parishad Adhiniyam relatable to Section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act was issued on 28th February, 1987. A separate notification under Section 4(1) of the Act was issued seeking to acquire a huge tract of land including 710 acres of land, which was initially subject matter of acquisition made by the Parishad. On 24th February, 1988 the notification under Section 6(1) of the Act was issued.

13. It is pertinent to mention that the notification under Section 6 of the Act in respect of the land acquired for the Parishad (under Section 32 of the Parishad Adhiniyam) was issued on 28th February, 1987 and on the same day a separate notification under Section 4 of the Act was published for the Ghaziabad Development Authority in respect of 731 acres of land, which was earlier the subject matter of acquisition by the Parishad. The Special Land Acquisition Officer has passed an award on 27th February, 1989 determining the market value at the rate of Rs.50/- per square yard. The tenure holders- appellants filed applications under Section 18 of the Act for reference. The Reference Court vide its judgment dated 29th March, 2001 enhanced the compensation from Rs.50/- to Rs.120/- per square yard. Dissatisfied with the judgment and order of the Reference Court dated 29th March, 2001, thirty-nine first appeals, as have been mentioned in the earlier part of this judgment, have been preferred.

14. In respect of the land, which was acquired for the Parishad, the SLAO vide his order dated 27th February, 1989 has passed the award wherein the same compensation i.e. Rs.50/- per square yard was determined. The land loosers in the said case made an application under Section 18 of the Act for reference. The Reference Court vide its judgment and order dated 23rd May, 2000 enhanced the compensation at the rate of Rs.120/- per square yard.

15. Aggrieved by the said reference order, the land loosers in that case filed a first appeal, being First Appeal No. 827 of 2000, which was dismissed by a Division Bench on 28th October, 2015. The Division Bench upheld the order of the Reference Court and affirmed the rate of compensation of Rs.120/- per square yard.

16. The tenure holders against the order of the Division Bench dated 28th October, 2015 preferred special leave petitions being S.L.P. (Civil) No. 28776-28777 of 2016, which were converted to Civil Appeal No. 18634-18635 of 2017. The Supreme Court vide order dated 09th December, 2017, as quoted above, has disposed of the said civil appeals along with the connected appeals and has remanded the matter back to this Court to decide the matter afresh in the light of the judgment of Pradeep Kumar v. State of U.P., S.L.P. (C) Nos. 1506-1517 of 2016.

17. A Division Bench of this Court vide an order dated 28th October, 2015 dismissed First Appeal No. 827 of 2000, Asha Ram and another v. U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad, holding that the compensation awarded by the Reference Court at the rate of Rs.120/- per square yard is a fair compensation and no interference was called for in the order of the Reference Court.

18. Aggrieved by the order of the Division Bench, special leave petitions, as mentioned above, were preferred by the claimants and the order of the Division Bench dated 28th October, 2015 has been set aside and the matter has been remitted to this Court to decide afresh in the light of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Pradeep Kumar (supra).

19. Arising out of the same acquisition proceeding and the award passed by the SLAO, three other judgments dated 13th April, 1998, 18th February, 2000 and 02nd April, 2002 have been passed by the Reference Court in the respective land acquisition references of the tenure holders. Against these three judgments of the Reference Court, 11 first appeals, as have been mentioned above, have been filed by the farmers which are connected in this batch of first appeals.

20. All the six villages, where the land has been acquired, situate in Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad. In the past the State Government has acquired a large tract of land for the industrial development for the New Okhla Industrial Development Authority and the Ghaziabad Development Authority from 1982 onwards by different notifications under the Land Acquisition Act and a series of litigation ensued by the land loosers, whose all/ most of the holdings have been taken by the State for the planned development activities. The situation of these villages have been mentioned by the SLAO and the Reference Court in its order. The SLAO after inspection of the area of the land has found that the land in question situates towards the south of Delhi-Ghaziabad Link Road, in the east side there is well developed residential colonies at Mohan Nagar and the Ghaziabad Development Authority. In the west, Vaishali and Kaushambi schemes developed by the Ghaziabad Development Authority are situated and the villages are only at a distance of 14 kms. from the limits of Delhi. In their reference applications also, the appellants-claimants have mentioned that the entire area is well developed. It is near the National Highway-24 and it is well connected with the railways and bus services and the area is surrounded by several well developed residential colonies and the residential area. They have claimed that the market value of the land was Rs.8000/- per square yard and it has potential for residential and commercial use.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants have drawn our attention to some of the judgments of this Court in respect of acquisition of the land of same village Makanpur and the adjoining villages, where market value of the land has been determined at Rs.297/- per square yard. In all those cases the notifications have been made within a span of 2-6 years and recently in all those cases, irrespective of the dates of notifications, the compensation has been awarded at the same rate i.e. Rs.297/- per square yard.

22. In the case of Ghaziabad Development Authority v. Kashi Ram and others, First Appeal No. 910 of 2000, and other connected appeals, the land was acquired in the same village Makanpur, Pargana Loni, Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad for the planned development by the Ghaziabad Development Authority. In the said case, the notification under Section 4 of the Act was issued on 12th September, 1986, which was published in the Gazette on 28th February, 1987 and the notification under Section 6(1) of the Act was issued on 24th February, 1988. The possession of the land was taken by the State on 14th June, 1988 and 29th June, 1988. The SLAO passed the award and granted compensation at the rate of Rs.50/- per square yard. The matter was referred to the Reference Court under Section 18 of the Act. The Reference Court enhanced the rate of compensation from Rs.50/- per square yard to Rs.90/- per square yard. Aggrieved by the order of the Reference Court, the Ghaziabad Development Authority filed 60 appeals and the land owners had also filed the appeals for enhancement of compensation and lowering the deductions from 33% made towards development cost. The Division Bench by a common judgment decided the batch of first appeals vide judgment and order dated 13th November, 2014. The Court dismissed the appeals filed by the Ghaziabad Development Authority and the appeals of the claimants/ land owners for enhancement of compensation were allowed. This Court found that the claimants/ land owners shall be entitled for compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard. Aggrieved by the judgment of the Division Bench dated 13th November, 2014 passed in First Appeal No. 910 of 2000 the Ghaziabad Development Authority preferred Petition for Special Leave to Appeal (C) No. 5815 of 2015, Ghaziabad Development Authority v. Kashi Ram and others, and other connected special leave petitions, which were dismissed by the Supreme Court on 05th May, 2015 with the following order:

"We find no reason to interfere in these matters by exercising our powers under Article 136 of the Constitution. Consequently the Special Leave Petitions stand dismissed."

23. The Ghaziabad Development Authority filed review applications which were dismissed by the Supreme Court on 06th October, 2015. The curative petitions filed by the Ghaziabad Development Authority also came to be dismissed on 15th March, 2016.

24. It was urged by learned counsel for the appellants that in the case of Ghaziabad Development Authority v. Kashi Ram (supra) the land of the same village Makanpur was acquired and its notification was also around the same period when the land in the present appeals was acquired. Hence, it was urged that the appellants are also entitled for the same compensation.

25. Our attention has been drawn to following cases, wherein the State has acquired the land for the planned development in and around the same years and in all those cases the compensation has been uniformly awarded at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard. It would be convenient to give the details of those cases in a tabular form:

26. Our attention has also been drawn to an order passed by this Court in First Appeal No. 459 of 1995, Noida v. Smt. Charan Kaur, dated 22nd January, 2019, whereby a review application has been allowed by a Division Bench of this Court, in which one of us (P.K.S. Baghel, J.) was a member. In the said case in respect of the same village Makanpur a notification under Section 4(1) of the Act was made on 15th March, 1998 proposing to acquire 463.959 acres of land. The SLAO awarded compensation at the rate of Rs.72/- per square yard. The Reference Court has enhanced it to Rs.106/- per square yard. The land owners preferred First Appeal No. 459 of 1995 and 48 other first appeals. The Division Bench of this Court decided all the said first appeals by a common judgment and order dated 30th October, 2014 setting aside the judgment dated 24th April, 1993 and remanded the matter back to the Reference Court for deciding afresh in the light of the observations made in the judgment. In the said case, review application was filed on the ground that a Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal No. 744 of 2007, Jagdish Chandra v. NOIDA, reported in 2008 (1) ADJ 253, wherein the land of the same area was acquired, has enhanced the compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard. It was argued on behalf of the review applicant that the said judgment was not brought to the notice of this Court. The review application was allowed on the ground of similar facts.

27. It is pertinent to mention that against the same reference order another first appeal, being First Appeal No. 737 of 1995, was decided by this Court on 13th November, 2015 and this Court has remitted the matter back to the Reference Court to decide it afresh. The order of the Division Bench dated 13th November, 2015 was challenged before the Supreme Court in Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 25237-48 of 2015, wherein leave was granted and the special leave petitions were converted to Civil Appeal No. 1506-17 of 2016 (Pradeep Kumar and others v. State of U.P. and others). The Supreme Court vide its order dated 16th February, 2016, reported in (2016) 6 SCC 308 (Pradeep Kumar and others v. State of Uttar Pradesh and another), allowed the civil appeals and set aside the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court dated 13th November, 2015 and remanded the matter back to this Court to decide afresh. While remanding the matter back to this Court, the Supreme Court has made following observations:

"2. In our opinion certain aspects with regard to the valuation and location of the land have not been properly discussed and therefore, the matters require reconsideration by the High Court. For instance, we may say that the Notification under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, had been issued on 10-3-1988. The appellants have been awarded compensation @ Rs.135 per square yard for the land belonging to them, whereas in respect of certain land, said to be similarly situated, which had been acquired in the year 1986, compensation of Rs.297 per square yard had been awarded.

3. We are of the view that the aforestated aspects have not been clarified because normally the price of the land goes on increasing, but the reason as to why lesser amount has been given to the appellants, has not been properly explained in the impugned judgment4."

28. Pursuant thereto, a Division Bench of this Court allowed the first appeal vide order dated 21st April, 2016, whereby this Court enhanced the compensation in the light of the earlier orders passed in respect of similarly situated land at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard for the same village. The relevant part of the order of the Division Bench dated 21st April, 2016 reads as under:

"28. We are definitely of the opinion that similarly situated farmers, whose land holding in the same village, has been acquired under subsequent notifications, would be entitled to the benefit of the rate which had been determined by the High Court in respect of earlier notification. The land of the farmers acquired under the subsequent notification similarly situate, cannot be any less valuable than the one determined by the Court in respect of earlier Notification, except for special reasons.

41. We are also of the opinion that in view of the fact that the land of the appellants was acquired in 1988, and because the statute does not empower the authorities or reference court to deduct any amount from the market value determined specifically when no development of the land had been shown to have taken place nor any amount has been spent for the same, there should be no deduction from the rate so determined. We draw support from the judgement in the case of Jagdish Chandra and others vs. New Okhla Industrial Development Authority and another, 2008(1) ADJ 253 and Ganeshi Singh vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008 (5) ADJ 306.

42. The appeals of the tenure holders are allowed. The orders of the Reference Court dated 24.3.1993 and dated 30.4.1993 are set aside. It is held that tenure holders shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs. 297/- per square yard."

29. Regard may be had to the fact that in the case of Narendra and others v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, Civil Appeal Nos. 10429-10430 of 2017, the Supreme Court has quoted with approval the judgment of this Court in Pradeep Kumar (supra) in the following terms:

"14) This Court in Civil Appeal No. 1506-1517 of 2016 titled Pardeep Kumar etc. etc. v. NOIDA which pertains to subsequent acquisition proceeding in the same village Makanpur, but falling under NOIDA, had on 16th February, 2016 set aside the order passed by the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad and remanded the matter back to the High Court for reconsideration in view of the judgments passed by the coordinate benches of the same High Court in Kashi Ram's case as well as other cases. The High Court, after the remand vide its judgment dated 11th April, 2016 in First Appeal No. 522 of 2009 titled, Pardeep Kumar and Others vs. State of U.P. &Anr. awarded the same enhanced compensation at the rate of Rs. 297/- per sq. Yard even in the same case also. The High Court while awarding the compensation at the same rate held:

"27. Therefore, one of the questions which needs to be examined by us is, can the appellants be denied the same rate of compensation only because the filed by them before the reference court did not disclose the rate which they seek now in terms of the judgment of the High Court in the case of Ghaziabad Development Authority (supra). Kanshi Ram case.

29. It is settled law that the compensation under the Act, 1894 had to be fair and just. Fairness requires that all those similarly situated are treated similarly. Technicalities qua rate as per exemplars filed by poor farmers, who are illiterate, has to be given only such importance as may not defeat their right of fair and just compensation qua compulsory acquisition of land holdings.

30. The determination of acquisition at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard in the case of Ghaziabad Development Authority (supra) Kashi Ram case has therefore, to be taken as the fair rate determined for the land situated in the village Makanpur with regard to the notification issued on 12th September, 1986 as well as under Notification dated 15th March, 1988."

30. After the judgment of Narendra (supra) in the case of Jai Prakash (Dead) by L.Rs. and others v. State of U.P. and another, Civil Appeal No. 16960 of 2017, the Supreme Court on the basis of parity has awarded the same compensation of Rs.297/- per square yard. In the said case earlier the appellants were awarded compensation at the rate of Rs.160/- per square yard. The land in this case also is situated in Village Makanpur, District Ghaziabad. The relevant part of the order of the Supreme Court in Jai Prakash (supra) reads as under:

"We have considered the matter and we find that the respondent-State has not averred and established that the two lands i.e. the land in Narendra's case (supra) and the land in the instant case, are different and diverse so as to deny parity of compensation to the appellants.

We find that there is nothing on record which requires that two lands should be treated differently. It is a fact that lands in both cases cited above, are situated on the same side of the road as is apparent from the Map on record. We, therefore, have no hesitation in granting the same rate of compensation to the present appellants i.e. Rs.297/- per square yard, as was awarded in Narendra's case (supra).

Hence, the appeal is allowed and the orders passed by the courts below are set aside.

We further direct that the compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard be paid to the appellants by the respondents within a period of six months from today."

31. Similarly, in First Appeal Defective No. 162 of 1987, Karim and others v. State of U.P., vide order dated 03rd December, 2014 this Court has enhanced the compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard.

32. Learned counsel for the Parishad-respondent has placed reliance on a judgment of a Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal No. 56 of 2005, U.P. Avas Evam Vikash Parishad v. Jawahar Lal and others, dated 21st July, 2015, wherein this Court has determined the compensation in respect of the land of the same villages which were acquired for the Parishad. In the said case the notification under Section 4(1) of the Act read with Section 28 of the Parishad Adhiniyam was published on 26th June, 1982. The SLAO passed the award at the rate of Rs. 50/- per square yard and after making 25% deduction it was determined at the rate of Rs.37.50 per square yard. The Reference Court enhanced the compensation at the rate of Rs.160/- per square yard and thereafter it applied 25% deduction and ultimately the market rate was found to be at Rs.120/- per square yard. Before the Division Bench the only submission made was in respect of deduction of 25%. It was submitted that the said deduction was not justified. However, this Court did not accept the said submission and dismissed the first appeal. Against the said order a special leave petition, being SLP (C) No. 4636 of 2016, U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Jawahar Lal and others, was preferred, which was dismissed along with other special leave petitions by the Supreme Court by the following order dated 28th March, 2016:

"Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner and perused the relevant material.

Exemption from filing certified copy of the impugned judgment and O.T. is granted.

We do not find any legal and valid ground for interference. The Special Leave Petitions are dismissed."

33. We have perused the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court. In the said case, no submission was raised seeking parity of compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard as in the case of similarly situated land. The only submission raised before the Division Bench was in respect of the deduction of 25%. In view of the said distinguishing fact, the said judgment has no application in the facts of the present case.

34. In the case of SpecialLand Acquisition Officer v. Karigowda and others5 the Supreme Court has laid down the law in respect of capitalisation of yield method. In the said case the land was being used exclusively by the owners for growing mulberry crops and it was used for commercial purposes. The Supreme Court has held that it is settled principle of law that onus to prove entitlement to receive higher compensation is upon the claimants. We have perused the said judgment. In the said case, the claimants have failed to produce on record the sale instances and they have also not produced on record any specific evidence to justify the compensation awarded to them by the Reference Court. The Court has noticed "in fact, there is hardly any evidence, much less cogent and impeccable evidence to support increase on the basis of net income capitalization method.". In our view, the said case has no application in the present facts and circumstances.

35. In Loveleen Kumar and others v. State of Haryana and others6 the Supreme Court observed that the Reference Court and the High Court did not consider the sale-deeds produced on behalf of the State. Hence, the Court was of the view that the matter needs reconsideration by the High Court as the evidence was not properly appreciated and the matter was remitted to the High Court.

36. It is pertinent to mention that the Supreme Court in Narendra (supra) has approved the judgment of Pradeep Kumar (supra) and has considered elaborately the provision of Section 28-A of the Act. Section 28-A of the Act reads as under:

"28A Re-determination of the amount of compensation on the basis of the award of the Court.-(1) Where in an award under this Part, the Court allows to the applicant any amount of compensation in excess of the amount awarded by the Collector under section 11, the persons interested in all the other land covered by the same notification under section 4, sub-section (1) and who are also aggrieved by the award of the Collector may, notwithstanding that they had not made an application to the Collector under section 18, by written application to the Collector within three months from the date of the award of the Court require that the amount of compensation payable to them may be re-determined on the basis of the amount of compensation awarded by the Court:

Provided that in computing the period of three months within which an application to the Collector shall be made under this sub-section, the day on which the award was pronounced and the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the award shall be excluded.

(2) The Collector shall, on receipt of an application under sub-section (1), conduct an inquiry after giving notice to all the persons interested and giving them a reasonable opportunity of being heard, and make an award determining the amount of compensation payable to the applicants.

(3) Any person who has not accepted the award under sub-section (2) may, by written application to the Collector, require that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Court and the provisions of sections 18 to 28 shall, so far as may be, apply to such reference as they apply to a reference under section 18."

The Supreme Court in Narendra (supra) h*as observed as under:*

" 7) The purpose and objective behind the aforesaid provision is salutary in nature. It is kept in mind that those land owners who are agriculturist in most of the cases, and whose land is acquired for public purpose should get fair compensation. Once a particular rate of compensation is judicially determined, which becomes a fair compensation, benefit thereof is to be given even to those who could not approach the court. It is with this aim the aforesaid provision is incorporated by the Legislature. Once we keep the aforesaid purpose in mind, the mere fact that the compensation which was claimed by some of the villagers was at lesser rate than the compensation which is ultimately determined to be fair compensation, should not be a ground to deny such persons appropriate and fair compensation on the ground that they claimed compensation at a lesser rate. In such cases, strict rule of pleadings are not be made applicable and rendering substantial justice to the parties has to be the paramount consideration. It is to be kept in mind that in the matter of compulsory acquisition of lands by the Government, the villagers whose land gets acquired are not willing parties. It was not their voluntary act to sell of their land. They were compelled to give the land to the State for public purpose. For this purpose, the consideration which is to be paid to them is also not of their choice. On the contrary, as per the scheme of the Act, the rate at which compensation should be paid to the persons divested of their land is determined by the Land Acquisition Collector. Scheme further provides that his determination is subject to judicial scrutiny in the form of reference to the District Judge and appeal to the High Court etc. In order to ensure that the land owners are given proper compensation, the Act provides for "fair compensation'. Once such a fair compensation is determined judicially, all land owners whose land was taken away by the same Notification should become the beneficiary thereof. Not only it is an aspect of good governance, failing to do so would also amount to discrimination by giving different treatment to the persons though identically situated. On technical grounds, like the one adopted by the High Court in the impugned judgment, this fair treatment cannot be denied to them.

8) No doubt the judicial system that prevails is based on adversarial form of adjudication. At the same time, recognising the demerits and limitations of adversarial litigation, elements of social context adjudication are brought into the decision making process, particularly, when it comes to administering justice to the marginalised section of the society.

9) History demonstrates that various forms of conflict resolution have been institutionalized from time to time. Presently, in almost all civil societies, disputes are resolved through courts, though the judicial system may be different in different jurisdictions. Traditionally, our justice delivery system is adversarial in nature. Of late, capabilities and method of this adversarial justice system are questioned and a feeling of disillusionment and frustration is witnessed among the people. After all, what is the purpose of having a judicial mechanism - it is to advance justice. Warren Burger once said:

"The obligation of the legal profession is... to serve as healers of human conflict...(we) should provide mechanisms that can produce an acceptable result in shortest possible time, with the least possible expense and with a minimum of stress on the participants. That is what justice is all about."

10) Prof. (Dr.) N.R. Madhava Menon explains the meaning and contour of social justice adjudication as the application of equality jurisprudence evolved by the Parliament and the Supreme Court in myriad situations presented before courts where unequal parties are pitted in adversarial proceedings and where courts are called upon to dispense equal justice. Apart from the socio-economic inequalities accentuating the disabilities of the poor in an unequal fight, the adversarial process itself operates to the disadvantage of the weaker party. In such a situation, the Court has to be not only sensitive to the inequalities of parties involved but also positively inclined to the weaker party if the imbalance were not to result in miscarriage of justice. The Courts, in such situations, generally invoke the principle of fairness and equality which are essential for dispensing justice. Purposive interpretation is given to subserve the ends of justice particularly when the cases of vulnerable groups are decided. The Court has to keep in mind the "problem solving approach' by adopting therapeutic approaches to the maximum extent the law permits rather than "just deciding' cases, thereby bridging the gap between law and life, between law and justice. The notion of access to justice is to be taken in a broader sense. The objective is to render justice to the needy and that means fair solutions to the conflict thereby providing real access to "justice'."

37. In view of the clear enunciation of law in the aforesaid judgments, we find that the appellants are entitled for fair compensation. The fairness requires that "all those similarly situated are treated similarly."

38. Accordingly, we find that all the appellants in both the sets of first appeals are entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard. We have mentioned in detail regarding the other similar cases where compensation has been awarded at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard even though there were gaps between the different notifications, but the villages are same. As discussed above, Narendra (supra) lays emphasis on fair compensation and on parity of compensation in respect of similarly situated land. A careful analysis of the said judgment clearly shows that gaps of a few years in the notifications have been ignored by the Supreme Court and this Court also in the subsequent judgment in First Appeal No. 522 of 2009, Pradeep Kumar v. State of U.P., which has been affirmed by the Supreme Court. We do not find any reason for not awarding compensation at the same rate. Accordingly, the orders of the Reference Court dated 13th April, 1998, 18th February, 2000, 23rd May, 2000, 29th March, 2001 and 02nd April, 2002, which are under challenge in the respective appeals, are set aside. The appellants are entitled to compensation of the land at the rate of Rs.297/- per square yard along with other statutory benefits under the law which shall be calculated and paid to them expeditiously within six months from today.

39. All the pending amendment and substitution applications are allowed. In those appeals where there is deficiency of court fees, the benefit of this order will be given only after making the deficiency good. The other pending applications accordingly stand disposed of.

40. All the appeals are accordingly allowed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. The present second appeal has been filed against impugned judgment and decree dated 30.9.1991 passed by Additional Civil Judge, Etah in Civil Appeal No.92 of 1989 (Ayub Khan Vs. Sartaj and others), by which the lower appellate court by allowing appeal and setting aside judgment and decree dated 17.7.1989 passed by 4th Additional Munsif, Etah in Civil Suit No.467 of 1986 (Sartaj Vs. Ayub Khan), dismissed plaintiffs' suit. Feeling aggrieved plaintiffs have preferred this appeal which was admitted vide order dated 4.2.1992 on following two substantial questions of law framed by this Court:-

"(i) whether the Additional Civil Judge had not at all considered the material issues involved in the case and based his judgment on irrelevant considerations.

(ii) whether the Additional Civil Judge had committed illegality in rejecting the admitted facts on which depended the decision of the case."

2. At the time of hearing parties' counsel in appeal one more substantial question of law found to arise in the second appeal and was framed as under:-

(iii) whether the Additional Civil Judge was correct in holding that there was no mutual mistake for rectification in the impugned sale deed.

3. The brief facts relating to the case are that appellants filed Civil Suit No.467 of 1986 with the allegations that plaintiffs purchased property land Khasra No.843-A and 843-B area 0.20 acre from defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 Sri Jodha son of Sri Govind and

Smt. Jal Devi daughter of Smt. Ram Devi on 19.12.1985 by registered sale deed for valuable consideration of Rs.2,000/- but due to inadvertent clerical mistake and misunderstanding of scribe, in the sale deed in question, executed by Jodha and Jal Devi, defendant nos.2 & 3 by putting their thumb impressions, names of their father and mother, Sri Govind father of Sri Jodha and Smt. Ram Devi mother of Smt. Jal Devi were wrongly mentioned as vendors in place of Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi and taking undue advantage of above mutual/clerical mistake defendant no.1 Ayub Khan obtained a sale deed from Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi in his favour on 6.3.1986. The following reliefs sought in the plaint are for issuing of (a) a decree for rectification of sale deed dated 19.12.1985 for writing names Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi as vendors in place of names of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi, (b) a decree for cancellation of sale deed dated 6.3.1986 allegedly obtained by defendant no.1 from defendant nos.2 & 3 in respect of property in suit and (c) a decree for permanent injunction restraining defendants from interfering in the peaceful possession of plaintiffs over the property in suit. In written statement filed by contesting defendant no.1 Ayub Khan in paras 1, 2 & 3 of written statement it was admitted that Sri Govind father of Sri Jodha and Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi mother of Smt. Jal Devi, were previous owners of land in suit and Sri Govind died about 10 years back while Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi died about 12 years back, leaving behind them Sri Jodha son of Govind and Smt. Jal Devi daughter of Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi as their only legal heirs.

4. The trial court framed following five issues on parties' pleadings viz.

(i) Whether sale deed dated 19.12.1985 is liable to be rectified?

(ii) Whether sale deed dated 6.3.1986 is liable to be cancelled?

(iii) Whether suit is barred by provisions of Section 34 of Specific Relief Act?

(iv) Whether suit is under valued and Court fees paid is insufficient? and

(v) To what relief, if any, are the plaintiffs entitled?

5. Apart from disputed sale deeds, copy of extract of Khatauni, reports of handwriting and finger print expert by both parties were filed as documentary evidence. The plaintiffs produced Sri C.K. Jauhari, Finger Print and Hand Writing Expert as P.W.-1, Sri Safi Alam as P.W.-2, Sri Jodha son of Govind as P.W.-3 and Sartaj-plaintiff as P.W.-4 while defendant no.1 produced Noor Alam Khan as D.W.-1 and Ayub Khan himself as D.W.-2. After hearing parties' counsel and analyzing the evidence on record, the trial court in its findings on issue no.1 came to the conclusion that sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was executed by defendant nos.2 & 3 Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi and the sale deed is liable to be rectified as prayed and passed (i) a decree for rectification of sale deed dated 19.12.1985, (ii) a decree for cancellation of sale deed dated 18.3.1986 as well as (iii) a decree for permanent injunction against defendants. Feeling aggrieved the defendant no.1 Ayub Khan preferred Civil Appeal No.92 of 1989 before District Judge, Etah which was transferred for disposal to Additional Civil Judge, Etah and was allowed by impugned judgment and decree dismissing the suit of plaintiffs by setting aside judgment and decree passed by trial court. Hence the plaintiffs have preferred this appeal.

6. Heard Sri Vipin Saxena, learned counsel for appellants, Sri Anant Ram

Gupta, learned counsel for respondent no.1 and perused the record.

7. Learned counsel for appellants contended that lower appellate court acted wrongly and illegally in not considering the undisputed/admitted facts on record and material issues involved in the case and misappreciated the evidence on irrelevant considerations; that it was not only proved rather was admitted to the defendant-respondent no.1 Ayub Khan that Govind and Maiku were original tenure holders of land in suit and after death of Maiku his share in land in dispute devolved on his wife Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi and after death of Govind his share in land in disputed devolved on his son Sri Jodha defendant-respondent no.2 and on death of Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi her share in land in dispute devolved on her daughter Smt. Jal Devi defendant-respondent no.3; that after mutation of their names in revenue records in respect of land in suit, they executed disputed sale deed dated 19.12.1985 in favour of plaintiff-appellants; that it is admitted to defendant-respondent no.1 Ayub Khan that Govind and Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi had died about 10 & 12 years back respectively and so the question of execution of sale deed by them, the dead persons neither arose nor was possible; that lower appellate court has acted wrongly in misguiding itself by relying on the fact that stamp paper for execution of impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was purchased in the name of Sri Govind; that it was fully proved from the evidence on record that identity of vendor was mistaken by scribe on account of not looking over mutation entry on right side margin over copy of extract of Khatauni, and so at the time of purchase of stamp name of original tenure holder was wrongly mentioned in place of name of Sri Jodha and same mistake was repeated, due to which the sale deed executed by defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 was also wrongly scribed in the name of dead persons as vendors, over which thumb impressions were put by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 respectively, but over their thumb impressions (due to repetition of above inadvertent mistake) names of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were wrongly mentioned; that both parties to the sale deed dated 19.12.1985 were of real intention that sale deed in respect of land in dispute is being executed by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi, defendant-respondent nos.1 & 2 as vendors in favour of plaintiffs-appellants Sartaj and Sher Zaman Khan as vendors; that lower appellate court acted wrongly and illegally in ignoring the admitted facts; that judgment and decree passed by lower appellate court are based on wrong, illegal, arbitrary and perverse findings which are based on surmises and conjectures; that since impugned sale deed dated 6.3.1986 in favour of defendant Ayub Khan is not only in respect of disputed plot Khasra No.843 but also in respect of other plot numbers 907 & 910, the appellants do not seek cancellation of sale deed dated 6.3.1986 as a whole or in respect of land plot nos.907 & 910.

8. Per contra, learned counsel for defendant-respondent Ayub Khan supported the impugned judgment and decree and contended that Section 26 of Specific Relief Act provides for rectification of an instrument through fraud or mutual mistake of parties and since there is no allegation of fraud and no mistake of parties so the relief of rectification may not be granted; that in any case sale deed dated 6.3.1986 executed by defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 in favour of defendant no.1 Ayub Khan is in respect of their respective shares in plot Khasra No.843, 907 & 910 so even if the sale deed in favour of plaintiffs prevails upon rectification of sale deed dated 19.12.1985, the sale deed dated 6.3.1986 in favour of defendant no.1 in respect of plot Khasra Nos.907 & 910 may not be cancelled.

9. Upon hearing parties learned counsel and perusal of record as well as lower court record, I find that facts of the case are not disputed to the extent that plot Khasra nos.843-A & B originally belonged to Sri Govind and Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi wife of Maiku which devolved on Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 being son of Sri Govind and daughter of Smt. Ram Devi respectively and after mutation of their names in revenue records, they transferred the same and executed a registered sale deed dated 19.12.1985 in favour of plaintiffs-appellants Sartaj and Sher Zaman Khan. It is clear from the evidence on record that without looking at mutation entry on right side margin on copy of extract of Khatauni, purchase of general stamps for sale deed was wrongly made in the name of Govind deceased in place of his son Sri Jodha and consequently sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was also scribed in the names of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi (dead persons) instead of Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi and over the thumb impressions put by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi over the sale deed, names of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were mentioned/transcribed by inadvertent and mutual mistake of scribe and thereafter in office of Sub-Registrar, when sale deed was presented by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi for registration, the same mistake was repeated under the wrong impression by presuming them to be Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi respectively. The uncontroverted report of handwriting and finger print expert duly proved by P.W.-1 also states that disputed thumb impressions over the impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985 are identical to admitted thumb impressions of Smt. Jal Devi and Sri Jodha, the defendant nos.2 & 3.

10. It is pertinent to mention that in passing the impugned judgment and decree, dismissing suit of plaintiff lower appellate court has placed reliance on the fact that stamp paper of the impugned sale deed was also purchased in the name of Sri Govind, without considering that it was admitted to defendant that Sri Govind had died long ago. and further failed to consider that stamp could not have been purchased in the name of dead person. The defendant-respondent no.1 in para 1 of his written statement dated 19.3.1987 has specifically stated that Sri Govind and Smt. Ganga Devi @ Ram Devi were original tenure holders and co-sharers to the extent of equal shares in plot Khasra No.843-A & 843-B apart from which defendant no.3 Smt. Jal Devi had also 1/6th share in plot Khasra Nos.907 & 910. In para 2 he has stated that Govind died about 10 years back and it is admitted that his son Sri Jodha is his legal heir whose name has been mutated in place of Sri Govind in revenue records. In para 3 he has stated that Smt. Ganga Devi died about 12 years back and Smt. Jal Devi is her legal heir.

11. It is human nature that if a mistake occurs at one place, it gets repeated at subsequent places. The evidence on record shows that since due to above advertent mutual mistake and mistaken identity of defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3, name of Sri Govind was mentioned at the time of purchase of requisite stamp paper for execution of impugned sale deed in place of Sri Jodha and the same mistake was repeated again and again. The above mistake could not be noticed due to wrong assumption and so could not be corrected and consequently in the impugned sale deed executed by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi, defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 at every place and even over their thumb impressions, names of dead persons Sri Govind and Sri Ram Devi respectively were wrongly mentioned, pretending the execution of sale deed by Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi, who were not alive on the date.

12. It is undisputed that impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was executed by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi and they presented it for registration before Sub-Registrar and accepted receipt of sale consideration and execution of sale deed before him, but on account repeatition of same mistake name of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi was mentioned at every place instead of names of Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi. Since admittedly Sri Govind and Smt. Jal Devi were not alive at the time of execution of impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985, the sale deed could not have been executed by them under any stretch of imagination. There is no case by defendant-respondent no.1, that impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was obtained through impersonations. Moreover there can be no intention of either party to sale deed (vendor or vendee) to deliberately get the names of dead persons mentioned as vendors in place of defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3. Trom above admitted facts and evidence on record it is crystal clear that it was a case of mutual clerical mistake on account of which in the impugned sale deeds executed by defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi names of their predecessors (who were not alive) were wrongly mentioned as vendOrs. It also clearly shows that real intentions of parties to sale deed was to sell property in dispute by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi in favour of plaintiff-appellants.

13. It is pertinent to mention that Sri Jodha, defendant-respondent no.2 was examined as D.W.-3 wherein he admitted thumb impressions of himself and of Smt. Jal Devi on the disputed sale deed dated 19.12.1985 while Smt. Jal Devi, defendant-respondent no.3 was examined by trial court on 21.8.1987 under provisions of Order X Rule 2 of C.P.C. wherein she stated that sale deed in question was executed by her and Sri Jodha and since they are illiterate, names of their predecessors Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were mentioned in place of their names due to mistake, without any intention.

14. The lower appellate court has referred to following case laws which were relied by defendant-respondent no.1, the appellant in First Appeal No.92 of 1989 (i) AIR 1957 Assam 49 'Santi Ranjan Das Gupta Vs. Dasuram Mirzamal Firm', (ii) AIR 1956 Orissa 83 'Bidyadhar Mohanty and another Vs. Ananta Hota and another', (iii) AIR 1921 Calcutta 730 'Bepin Krishna Ray and others Vs. Jogeshwar Ray and others' and (iv) AIR 1958 Rajasthan 276.

15. In the case of Bepin Krishna Ray and others Vs. Jogeshwar Ray and others (supra) (relied by respondent no.1 before lower appellate court) a decree for rectification was passed by trial court on account of mistake in description of property in the mortgage deed as well as decree also, and the appeal filed by defendant was dismissed with costs, by Division Bench of High Court Calcutta upholding the correctness of judgment and decree passed by subordinate court. The above decision fully supports the case of plaintiffs-appellants and lower appellate court taken absolutely wrong, illegal and perverse view in rejecting plaintiffs-appellants claim by placing reliance on above case law. The findings of lower appellate court in holding that there was no mutual mistake are absolutely wrong, illegal and perverse also.

16. In another case of Bidyadhar Mohanty and another Vs. Ananta Hota and another (supra), (relied by respondent no.1 before lower appellate court), in a suit for declaration of title and possession it was held that plaintiff was not under an obligation to seek rectification of the sale deed and court itself can grant the relief by way of putting him in possession. The facts of above case are entirely different from the case in hand and lower appellate court acted wrongly and perversely in allowing the first appeal of respondent by placing reliance on this case, which has no application to the case in hand.

17. Above decisions are prior in time to the replacement of old Act by new Specific Relief Act, 1963 and refers to provision of Section 31 of old Act relating to rectification of sale deed.

18. It is very unfortunate that without considering the law laid down in above decisions and their applicability to the facts of this case, the lower appellate court has taken a highly wrong and illegal view, adverse to plaintiff-appellant. The lower appellate court misguided itself by mentioning of names of Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi at every place as vendors in holding that there was no mutual mistake. Since it was proved rather admitted to defendant-respondent no.1 that Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were not alive as on 19.12.1985 at the time of execution of sale deed in favour of plaintiffs-appellants, the lower appellate court erred in not considering the execution of sale deed by dead persons was impossible and it was a clear case of mutual mistake between the parties to sale deed who were of clear and true intention that plot Khasra No.843 was being sold by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3 in favour of plaintiffs-appellants. Since Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were not alive and the parties to sale-deed were illiterate, they were not aware of the mistake committed by scribe in mentioning names of dead persons Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi as vendors while sale deed was executed by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi, defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3.

19. It is pertinent to mention that Specific Relief Act, 1877 (hereinafter referred to as 'old Act') was replaced by Specific Relief Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as 'new Act') and the provisions with regard to rectification of instrument which were contained in Section 31 of old Specific Relief Act, 1877 were mentioned in corresponding Section 26 of new Specific Relief Act, 1963.

20. Before proceeding further it would be appropriate to reproduce the provisions of Section 31 of Specific Relief Act, 1977 and corresponding Section 26 of Specific Relief Act, 1963 regarding rectification of instrument:-

"31. When instrument may be rectified- When, through fraud or a mutual mistake of the parties, a contract, or other instrument in writing, does not truly express their intention, either party or his representative-in-interest, may institute a suit to have the instrument rectified; that if the Court finds it clearly proved that there has been fraud or mistake in framing the instrument, and ascertain the real intention of the parties in executing the same, the Court may, in its discretion, rectify the instrument so as to express that intention, so far as this can be done without prejudice to rights acquired by third persons in good faith and for value.

Section 26 of Specific Relief Act, 1963:-

"26. When instrument may be rectified.-

(1) When, through fraud or a mutual mistake of the parties, a contract or other instrument in writing [not being the articles of association of a company to which the Companies Act, 1956 applies] does not express their real intention, then-

(a) either party or his representative-in-interest may institute a suit to have the instrument rectified; or

(b) the plaintiff may, in any suit in which any right arising under the instrument is in issue, claim in his pleading that the instrument be rectified; or

(c) a defendant in any such suit as is referred to in clause (b), may, in addition to any other defence open to him, ask for rectification of the instrument.

(2) If, in any suit in which a contract or other instrument is sought to be rectified under sub-section (1), the court finds that the instrument, through fraud or mistake, does not express the real intention of the parties, the court may, in its discretion, direct rectification of the instrument so as to express that intention, so far as this can be done without prejudice to rights acquired by third persons in good faith and for value.

(3) A contract in writing may first be rectified, and then if the party claiming rectification has so prayed in his pleading and the court thinks fit, may be specifically enforced.

(4) No relief for the rectification of an instrument shall be granted to any party under this section unless it has been specifically claimed."

21. From perusal of above mentioned provisions of Section 31 of old Act of 1877 and corresponding Section 26 of new Act of 1963 it is very much clear that scope of rectification of instruments has been made wider by the legislature under new Act and rectification of an instrument may be permitted when through fraud or a mutual mistake of parties, a contract or other instrument in writing does not express their real intention. As far as mutual mistake is concerned it has been interpreted as under:-

"If a mistake is averred, as the ground for the rectification of a contract, or instrument in writing, the evidence must prove a mistake common to all the parties, that is, -

(i) a common intention different from the expressed intention, and

(ii) a common mistaken supposition that it is rightly expressed.

There is no mistake as to what was agreed, but the mistake is in the expression of the agreement in writing. If there were a mistake in the agreement itself, that would preclude a consensus ad idem, and no contract would be formed, and there would be nothing to rectify the instrument."

22. It was held by Division Bench of Privy Council in the case of M/s. Siddique and Co. v. M/s. Utoomal and Assudamal Co., AIR1946 PC 42, that:-

"In a suit for rectification of a contract or instrument, the plaintiff must prove that it was through a mutual mistake of the parties, or their agent, or otherwise that the contract for instrument in question did not truly express the intention of the parties, and the court, before it can rectify the contract or instrument, must-

(1) find it clearly proved that there has been mistake in framing the instrument, and

(2) ascertain the real intention of the parties in executing the instrument. It is only when the court is satisfied of these two elements, that it can, in the exercise of its discretion, grant rectification."

23. In the case of Bepin Krishna Ray Vs. Jogeshwar Ray, AIR 1921 (Calcutta) 730, it was held by Division Bench that the party seeking rectification must clearly prove-

(1) there was a prior complete agreement, which

(2) according to the common intention was embodied in writing, but

(3) by reason of the mistake in framing the writing,

(4) the writing did not express, or give effect to, the agreement.

24. The Madras High Court in the case of Natarajan Asari Vs. Pichamuthu Asari, AIR 1972 (Madras) 192, that in a suit rectification of an instrument-

"it must clearly and satisfactorily appear that- (1) the precise terms of the contract had been orally agreed upon; and

(2) the writing afterwards signed failed to be, as it was intended, an execution of such previous agreement, but, on the contrary, expressed a different contract.

The mistake may be either as to the contents, or the effect, of the instrument, but it must be a mistake of both parties, in regard to the same matter.

Where the vendor was owner of only western portion of a house and both parties, vendor and vendee, intended that to be transferred but by mistake the sale deed recited Eastern portion on the property sold, it was a case of mutual mistake and suit for rectification was maintainable."

25. In the case in hand there is no whisper of fraud by either party to the impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985. It is also noteworthy that where mistake is proved as a fact, in a case of rectification, the plaintiffs negligence cannot be pleaded as a bar to relief.

26. It is crystal clear from the undisputed/admitted facts and evidence on record that there was a prior contract between Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi on one side (first party) and Sri Sartaj and Sher Jaman Khan on the other (second party), according to which there was a prior complete agreement with common intention between the parties that land plot Khasra No.843-A and 843-B belonging to Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi, the defendant-respondent nos.2 & 3, (devolved upon them on death of their father and mother Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi, respectively), is to be sold by them in favour of Sartaj and Sher Jaman Khan through registered sale deed and in furtherance of their common intention, the impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985 was reduced into writing/executed by Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi in favour of plaintiffs-appellants but due to mutual mistake at the time of framing and reducing the sale deed in writing, in place of vendors Sri Jodha and Smt. Jal Devi, names of their predecessors Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were wrongly mentioned. Admittedly Sri Govind and Smt. Ram Devi were not alive at that time, and the impugned sale deed did not express real/correct intention of contract which did take place between the parties mentioned above.

27. In view of the discussions made above, I find that the precise terms of contract of sale had been orally agreed between plaintiff-defendants no.2 & 3 but due to mutual mistake as mentioned above the sale deed which was reduced into writing and registered did not express real intent of parties to contract of instrument in question. I am of the considered view that (i) the Additional Civil Judge, lower appellate court did not at all consider the material issues involved in the case and based its judgment on irrelevant considerations and findings recorded by it are wrong, illegal and perverse, (ii) the Additional Civil Judge, lower appellate court committed illegality in rejecting the admitted facts by misreading and misappreciating the evidence on record and its decision with arbitrary and perverse findings is based on surmises and conjectures and (iii) Additional Civil Judge/lower appellate court acted wrongly, illegally and perversely in holding that there was no mutual mistake between parties to impugned sale deed dated 19.12.1985.

28. I am of the considered view that lower appellate court has acted wrongly, illegally, arbitrarily and perversely in allowing the appeal in toto and dismissing the suit of plaintiffs.

29. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case and discussions made above, the appeal is liable to be allowed, the impugned judgment and decree dated 30.9.1991 passed by lower appellate court of Additional Civil Judge, Etah in Appeal No.92 of 1989 are liable to be set-aside and judgment and decree passed by trial court are liable to be restored.

30. The appeal is accordingly allowed with costs throughout. The impugned judgment and decree dated 30.9.1991 passed by Additional Civil Judge, Etah in Civil Appeal No.92 of 1989 (Ayub Khan Vs. Sartaj and others) are set-aside and the judgment and decree dated 17.7.1987 passed by trial court i.e. VIth Additional Munsif, Etah in Civil Suit No.467 of 1987 stands restored with the modification that impugned sale deed dated 6.3.1986 in favour of defendant-respondent no.1 Ayub Khan as per particulars given in the judgment and decree dated 17.7.1989 stands cancelled only to the extent of and in respect of plot Khasra No.843 and stands valid in respect of other plot nos.907 & 910.

31. Interim orders, if any, stand vacated.

32. Let lower court record be sent back to court below along with a copy of this judgment for necessary compliance, if any.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. This second appeal arises out of judgment and decree dated 12.02.1999 in Civil Appeal No. 179 of 1994 (Ramji Das Agarwal Vs Ramesh Chandra Sharma) rendered by the learned Additional District Judge IV, Jhansi, which set aside the judgment and decree dated 22.11.1994 entered by Additional Munsif 3rd, Jhansi.

2. The plaintiff-appellant brought civil action for eviction, of the defendant-respondent, from the premises in dispute, by instituting Original Suit No. 260 of 1989 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) before the III Additional Munsif, Jhansi.

3. The case of the plaintiff-appellant, as set out in the plaint, was that the plaintiff is the landlord of the property in dispute. The defendant-respondent is a tenant in the disputed property. The rent of the property which was payable by the defendant tenant was at the rate of Rs. 300/- per month. A notice terminating the tenancy was served upon the defendant-respondent by the plaintiff-appellant.

4. The defendant-respondent refuted the contents of the plaint and filed a written statement. He denied the landlord tenant relationship, with the plaintiff-appellant.

5. The learned trial court framed various issues after exchange of pleadings. The issue which remains relevant to date, is issue no. 1 framed by the learned trial court, "whether the defendant is a tenant of the plaintiff in the property in dispute, and was liable to pay a rent of Rs. 300/- per month, in his capacity as the tenant?" The learned trial court considered the pleadings of the parties, adverted to the evidences tendered and returned a finding on the aforesaid issue.

6. The learned trial court, noticed the oral evidence of the plaintiff-appellant PW-1 Ramesh Chand, wherein he called reference to the suit between the defendant and the father of the plaintiff, registered as Original Suit no. 738 of 1969 (Ram Swaroop Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal). In the said suit a compromise was executed between the parties on 01.03.1987. In terms of the compromise the defendant-respondent, was required to pay a rent of Rs. 300 per month, in regard to the disputed property. The plaintiff further testified, that the defendant did not pay the rent as agreed to between the parties, in the compromise. It was specifically asserted, before the learned trial court, by the plaintiff, that the defendant Ramji Das Agarwal was the tenant in the disputed property, and the plaintiff was the landlord/owner thereof. The stand of the defendant was also considered.

7. The judgment of the trial court, in Original Suit no. 738 of 1969 (Ram Swaroop and others Vs Ramji Das and others), was received in evidence, to prove the landlord tenant relationship between the plaintiff-appellant and the defendant-respondent.

8. The defendant admitted receipt of the notice, terminating the tenancy. The testimony of the defendant, before the learned trial court, denying the compromise which was numbered as Paper no. 90-A, was disbelieved by the learned trial court.

9. In the wake of the aforesaid pleadings and evidence the learned trial court, found that the landlord tenant relationship between the plaintiff and the defendant stood established. The rent of Rs. 300/- per month was held payable by the defendant to the plaintiff towards rent. The defendant-respondent had defaulted in payment of the rent to the landlord (plaintiff-appellant) and he was liable to be evicted. The stand of the defendant that he was not the tenant in the premises in question was invalidated by the learned trial court.

10. On these terms the learned trial court rendered a judgment and decreed the suit on 22.11.1994.

11. Aggrieved the defendant took the judgment and decree of the learned trial court in appeal, by instituting Civil Appeal no. 179 of 1994 (Ramji Das Agarwal Vs Ramesh Chandra Sharma).

12. The only point for determination, before the learned first appellate court, was the admissibility of the judgment of Original Suit no. 738 of 1969 (Ram Swaroop and others Vs Ramji Das and others), in evidence. The learned first appellate court, found that the plaint made no reference of the judgment of the trial court rendered in Original Suit no. 738 of 1969 (Ram Swaroop and others Vs Ramji Das and others). The learned appellate court, ruled that the said judgment was not liable to be admitted in evidence, on the foot, that no pleading in regard thereto was taken in the plaint.

13. Sri Rishikesh Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant, submits that the learned appellate court, had misdirected itself in law by discarding the judgment in Original Suit no. 738 of 1969 (Ram Swaroop and others Vs Ramji Das and others) between the parties. The judgment was admissible in evidence. The plaintiff was only required to plead the facts and not evidence. He calls attention to Order VI Rule2 CPC.

14. Per contra, Sri Mangala Prasad Rai, learned Senior Counsel on behalf of the defendant-respondent, assisted by Sri Ashok Kumar Rai, learned counsel, submits that the plaintiff had not taken any pleading in regard to the judgment in Original Suit no. 738 of 1969. In absence of such pleading the learned appellate court rightly declined to receive the same in evidence.

15. The substantial question of law is being framed with consent of parties.

16. The following substantial question of law arises for determination in this appeal:

"Whether the appellate court, misdirected itself in law by holding that the judgment in Original Suit no. 738 of 1969, which was appended to the plaint, was inadmissible in evidence, on the foot that no pleadings in regard to the said judgment were made in the plaint?"

17 . The basic and cardinal rules of pleadings are set out in Order VI CPC. The rules of Order VI which are relevant are extracted hereunder:

"2. Pleading to state material facts and not evidence

(1) Every pleading shall contain, and contain only a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence as the case may be, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved.

(2) Every pleading shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is convenient, contained in a separate paragraph."

18. The purpose of pleadings in the relevant provisions of CPC extracted earlier is clear, while scope of tendering evidence is also well settled. The rule of pleadings embodied in Order VI CPC, was considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Popat and Kotecha Property Vs State Bank of India Staff Association, reported at (2005) 7 SCC 510. Essentially reiterating the statutory mandate the Hon'ble Supreme Court held thus:

"21. Order VI Rule 2(1) of the Code states the basic and cardinal rule of pleadings and declares that the pleading has to state material facts and not the evidence. It mandates that every pleading shall contain, and contain only, a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence, as the case may be, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved."

19. The purpose of plaint, is to set out the material facts which constitute the claim, and state the cause of action of the suit. Apart from this, the rules regarding pleadings, serve another salutary purpose. The pleadings alert the opposite party to the case of the adversary (plaintiff in this case).

This enables the opposite party to refute the case of the plaintiff and/or to tender its defence and evidence in that regard. The rule of pleadings, thus precludes a party from springing a surprise on its adversary, by bringing a case which the latter was not aware of and hence could not defend against.

20. Evidence, on the other hand, is tendered by a party in support of or to establish its case set out in its pleadings (in this case the plaint). Hence evidence is not required to be pleaded. However, as regards the evidence tendered by a plaintiff or any party, the adversary (in this case the defendant-respondent), has ample opportunity to meet or refute the same. Oral evidence of witnesses, can be impeached during cross examination. In case of documentary evidence, the adversary party can challenge the admissibility or disprove the document before the court.

21. Coming to the established facts of the case, the plaint clearly stated that there was a landlord tenant relationship between the plaintiff-appellant and the defendant-respondent. The judgment of the trial court in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) was appended to the list of documents attached to the plaint.

22. The judgment of the trial court in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) was passed on the foot of compromise between the parties. The judgment and the compromise therein, evidenced the landlord tenant relationship between the plaintiff-appellant (his predecessors in interest) and the defendant-respondent.

23. The documentary evidence in the shape of judgment of the trial court in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) is consistent with the pleadings made in the plaint. The judgment of the trial court in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) was introduced as documentary evidence to fortify the landlord tenant relationship between the plaintiff-appellant and defendant-respondent, as set out in the plaint and to prevent the defendant-respondent from resiling from his earlier admission.

24. In light of the established state of facts and statement of law narrated in the preceding paragraphs, the judgment of the court rendered in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal) was admissible in evidence. There was no requirement, to take a pleading in the plaint, with regard to such documentary evidence introduced by the plaintiff-appellant. The learned appellate court erred in not receiving the said judgment in evidence.

25. The learned trial court, in its judgment dated 22.11.1994, rightly found the landlord tenant relationship between theplaintiff-appellant and defendant-respondent. Trial court lawfully received the judgment in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 in evidence. Finding of the trial court, that the defendant-respondent had defaulted in payment of rent, and the consequent order of his eviction, from the disputed premises, are impeccable and cannot be faulted with. The judgment and decree dated 22.11.1994, of the trial court, does not suffer from any infirmity, and is liable to be upheld.

26. The substantial question of law is answered as follows:

The first appellate court, misdirected itself in law, by finding that the judgment in Original Suit No. 738 of 1969 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Das Agarwal), was not admissible in evidence and erred by not considering the same, on the foot that no pleadings in that regard to the said judgment were made in the plaint.

27. The substantial question of law, is thus answered in the affirmative, in favour of the plaintiff-appellant. The judgment of the learned appellate court is unsustainable in law and cannot stand.

The judgment and decree of the appellate court, dated 12.02.1999, passed by IV Additional District Judge, Jhansi in Civil Appeal no. 179 of 1994 (Ramji Das Agarwal Vs Ramesh Chandra Sharma) is set aside. The judgment and decree dated 22.11.1994 rendered by the learned IIIrd Additional Munsif, Jhansi in Original Suit No. 260 of 1989 (Ramesh Chandra Sharma Vs Ramji Agarwal alias Ramji Das Agarwal) is affirmed.

28. The second appeal is allowed.

APPELLATEJURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.

SECOND APPEAL No.2 of 1983

Laxman Singh ...Appellant
Versus
Bhagwati Singh ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ramesh Singh,Sri Kunal Ravi Singh, Sri R.S. Maurya, Sri V.K.S. Chaudhary.

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri G.M. Tripathi, Sri C.M. Shukla, Sri Indra Raj Singh, Sri Prabhakar Dubey

A. Second Appeal – Section 100 C.P.C. - Absence of jurisdiction in Civil Court - Bar imposed by Section 331 of U.P.Z.A & L.R. Act, 1951 - Decree of declaration of cancellation of will by both court below - Status of tenure holders involved - Though cancellation of will-deed was the main relief, but real relief was transfer of property from possession of defendant to plaintiff - Declaration of tenancy right is real relief, which can be granted by revenue court - Substantial question of law answered positively holding Civil suit is not maintainable - Second Appeal allowed.

B. Second Appeal - Section 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, 1951 - Determining factor to decide the jurisdiction is real cause of action - It is the pith and substance, which is to be seen, not the language used, to oust jurisdiction, is to be seen - Principle laid down.

C. Second Appeal - Expression 'any relief' used in s. 331 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act - is of wide import. It means not only relief claimed, but also includes relief arising out of cause of action, which led Plaintiff to invoke jurisdiction of a court of law - Principle laid down.

D. Second Appeal - Determining factor for a matter to be entertained only by revenue court - More than one relief sought, but no such relief can be granted without declaring tenancy right - relief of injunction and possession sought. Name of plaintiff not recorded. Without declaration of tenancy right no further relief can be granted - Suit is cognizable by Revenue court - Principle laid down.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kunal Ravi Singh, Advocate, for appellant. None appeared on behalf of respondents despite the case having been called in revise. Hence, I proceed to hear and decide this case finally after hearing learned counsel for appellant.

2. This is defendant's appeal filed under Section 100 Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as "CPC") arising from judgment and decree dated 12.05.1978 passed by Sri S.C. Bose, Munsif, Basti in Original Suit No. 213 of 1972 decreeing the suit which has been confirmed by judgment and decree dated 19.10.1982 passed by Sri H.C. Lal, 1st Additional District Judge, Basti in Civil Appeal No. 177 of 1978 by dismissing the same.

3. Initially, this appeal was admitted on following four substantial questions of law:

(a) Whether Civil Court had jurisdiction to try the suit?

(b) Whether suit was maintainable in the absence of State of U.P. and Gaon Sabha as defendants?

(c) Whether i*n view of the allegation in the plaint that 'Will' was void,* suit was cognizable by Revenue Court alone?

(d) Whether Smt. Dhrupraji became absolute owner of bhumidhari rights under Section 14 of Hindu Succession Act?

4. Subsequently, vide order dated 22.05.2018 one more substantial question of law was formulated as under:

(e) Whether in view of the fact that Dhrupraji inherited property from Matwar Singh in 1945, prior to enforcement of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, the claim on the basis of succession can be entertained in view of the Section 174 of U.P.Z.A.&L.R. Act?

5. Facts in brief giving rise to this appeal are that Bhagwati (now deceased and substituted by legal heirs) instituted Original Suit No. 213 of 1972 in the Court of Munsif, Basti against sole defendant-appellant Lakshman (now deceased and substituted by legal heirs), son of Shohrat Singh, praying for cancellation of 'Will' dated 20.06.1948 and delivery of possession of disputed property to plaintiff.

6. Plaint Case set up vide plaint dated 19.07.1972 is that Bhagwati is real brother of Matwar Singh (deceased) and both are sons of Bal Karan. Bal Karan had other sons also namely Tahsildar, Shohrat and Vikrmaditya alias Uma Shanker. Dhrupraji is wife of Matwar Singh and one Hanuman is son of Tahsildar. Defendant Lakshman was son of Shohrat and Indira is wife of Vikrmaditya. That is how defendant Lakshman became real nephew of plaintiff Bhagwati. For better understanding I may provide family tree as under:

Bal Karan

Bhagwati (Plaintiff)	Matwar Singh (Dhrupraji-wife)	Tahsildar	Shohrat	Vikrmaditya alias Uma Shankar (Indira-wife)
	Hanuman
(Defendant)		Lakshman

7. Matwar Singh was Sirdar and Khudkasht holder of property stated in List-A at the bottom of plaint and tenant in the plots stated in List-B, and, in possession thereof. He died issueless in 1945 AD. Consequently, Dhrupraji, wife of Matwar Singh, entered into possession of aforesaid property. After enforcement of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951) (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1951"), on the date of vesting, i.e., 01.07.1952 she became Bhumidhar of plots mentioned in List-A and Sirdar of plots mentioned in List-B. Dhrupraji died in 1970 AD. Other sons of Bal Karan, having predeceased Matwar

Singh, on the death of Dhrupraji, plaintiff became sole heir of entire property and applied for mutation in respect of plots of Lists-A and B. Defendant contested Mutation application on the basis of a 'Will' alleging that Matwar Singh executed the same. Revenue Court while deciding mutation application, relied on 'Will', and though ordered for mutation of plaintiff's name over plots mentioned in List-B as Sirdar, but rejected his claim with respect to Bhumidhar of plots mentioned in List-A. In the circumstances, plaintiff challenged 'Will' dated 20.06.1948 on the ground that it is forged and fictitious and liable to be cancelled and possession over the plots in dispute be handed over to him.

8. Defendant contested the suit stating that 'Will' was actually executed in his favour. He further pleaded that Matwar Singh had 1/5 share in the property of Bal Karan. He had separated from other brothers during his lifetime. He was in possession of disputed property during lifetime and executed 'Will' dated 20.06.1948 in favour of defendant in lieu of services rendered by defendant to Matwar Singh. 'Will' was executed by Matwar Singh and contained his signature. It was kept in the custody of Smt. Dhrupraji. Subsequently, 'Will' was handed over by Smt. Dhrupraji to defendant's wife. Plaintiff has no right to get the 'Will' cancelled and suit was barred by Section 331 of Act, 1951.

9. An additional written statement was also filed claiming that Smt. Dhruprati had only a Life Estate in the property as stated in the 'Will'.

10. Trial Court formulated following four issues:

(1) Whether the will deed Dated 20-6-48 is liable to be cancelled as alleged, if so, its effect?

(2) To what relief, if any, is the plaintiff is entitled?

(3) Whether the defence is barred by Section 49 CH Act?

(4) Whether the Court has no jurisdiction to try the suit?

11. Trial Court held that suit is not barred by Section 49 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1953") and, therefore, issue-3 was answered in favour of plaintiff. Thereafter, issue-1 was considered and it held that 'Will' is dated 20.06.1948 while Matwar Singh died on 20.10.1945 hence claim of defendant that 'Will' was executed on 20.06.1948 is not correct and it is forged and fictitious. Consequently it answered Issue-1 in favour of plaintiff. It answered Issue-4 also in favour of plaintiff and consequently suit was decreed by issuing a declaration of cancellation of 'Will' dated 20.06.1948 and defendant was directed to hand over possession of disputed property mentioned in List-A to plaintiff.

12. Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and decree, defendant Lakshman preferred Civil Appeal No. 177 of 1978. Lower Appellate Court (hereinafter referred to as "LAC") formulated three points for determination, as under:

*(1) Whether the will in dispute is genuine and really executed by Matwar Singh? This point includes the consideration of the fact whether the will has been executed on 20.6.48 or 20.6.42?

(2) Whether the suit is not cognizable by Civil Court?

(3) Whether the plaintiff has right of suit? (emphasis added)

13. Concurring with the findings of Trial Court, LAC answered issue-1 in favour of plaintiff and against defendant-appellant holding that 'Will' was not genuine. It also held that suit is not barred and consequently Issue-2 was also answered in favour of plaintiff holding that Civil Court had competence to entertain the suit and decide the same. Thereafter it answered Issue-3 again in favour of plaintiff-respondent and against defendant-appellant. As a result thereof, appeal was dismissed vide judgment and decree dated 19.10.1982.

14. Sri Kunal Ravi Singh, learned counsel for appellant, commencing his argument stated that Village in question, i.e., Village Vangarh undergone consolidation operations on 16.02.1991. Thereupon defendant-appellant filed an application under Section 5(2) of Act, 1953 on 16.02.1994 stating that proceedings of Suit have abated. The said application was registered as Application No. 719 of 1994 but dismissed vide order dated 16.11.1994.

15. The first aspect which has to be examined in this appeal is "whether plaintiff's suit in question was barred by Section 331 of Act, 1951." This will cover the substantial questions of law-(a) and (c) both.

16. The contention of learned counsel for appellant is that 'Will' was relied and accepted by Revenue Court in mutation proceedings and pursuant thereto application was partly allowed and mutation was made. The suit in question basically challenges Revenue entry which is in respect to possession of the property for which mutation was allowed and, therefore, it is barred by Section 331 of Act, 1951.

17. From the facts discussed above, it is evident that property in dispute i.e. List-A, was in possession of defendant throughout since plaintiff sought relief of directing defendant to hand over possession of property mentioned in the Plaint to plaintiff. It is not the case of plaintiff that after death of Dhrupraji in 1970, plaintiff got possession over entire property including that mentioned in Plaint or that even at the time of death Dhrupraji was in possession of the said property. The issue, therefore, who was in cultivatory possession on the date of vesting and what status stood conferred upon such person vis-a-vis Dhrupraji was an issue which could have been decided by Revenue Court.

18. Revenue Authorities on the mutation application, though apparently it is said that relied on 'Will' dated 20.06.1948 in non suiting the plaintiff for mutation of his name in respect to properties mentioned in List-A, but the facts as pleaded including that plaintiff had sought a relief of handing over possession to plaintiff by defendant, show that at no point of time plaintiff was in possession of property in dispute. The status of Dhrupraji on the date of vesting vis-a-vis defendant, therefore, was the basic issue since only thereafter plaintiff could have claimed any right after death of Dhrupraji on the ground that there is no other legal heir to succeed property of Dhrupraji.

19. In the present case, cancellation of 'Will' though appears apparently the main relief, but real relief is, possession of disputed property to be transferred from defendant to plaintiff.

20. Construing Section 331 of Act, 1951, a Full Bench of this Court in Ram Padarath and others Vs. Second Additional District Judge and others 1989 AWC 290 (All) observed that it is the real 'cause of action' which determines jurisdiction of Court to entertain particular action notwithstanding the language used in plaint or relief claimed. The strength on which Plaintiff comes to Court does not depend upon the defence or relief claimed which could determine the Forum for the entertainment of claim and grant of relief. It is the pith and substance which is to be seen and not the language used which may have been so used to oust jurisdiction of a particular Court.

21. Expression 'any relief' used in Section 331 of Act, 1951 is of too wide import. It not only means the relief claimed but would also include any relief arising out of the cause of action which led the Plaintiff to invoke jurisdiction of a Court of law. The word 'relief' is not part of cause of action nor the same is related to the defence set up in the case. The relief is a remedy which a Court grants from the facts asserted and proved in an action. The 'relief' in other words means 'remedy' which a Court of justice may afford in regard to such actual or apprehended wrong or injury. Such remedy being large or small, as the case may be, but it is not synonymous with 'cause of action'.

22. Full Bench further observed that Section 331 of Act, 1951 has enlarged scope in regard to jurisdiction of Revenue Court. The provision is not confined to specified reliefs claimed which are mentioned in Schedule-II to Act, 1951, but Explanation to it has enlarged its scope further by using the word 'any relief'. It is the cause of action alone which determines the Forum and keeps the jurisdiction of Revenue Court intact in matters referred to in respect of suit, application or proceeding mentioned in Schedule-II to Act, 1951 to the exclusion of Civil Court. The jurisdiction of Civil Court is not concurrent with that of Revenue Court by means of such suit, application or proceeding. The reliefs of the nature mentioned in Schedule-II can be obtained from Revenue Court which will take cognizance of such suit, application or proceeding notwithstanding the fact that relief provided in a different language can also be granted by the Civil Court.

23. A Revenue Court may grant a relief in present, but so far as relief for future is concerned Revenue Court may not be in a position to grant such a-relief as the same may travel beyond the relief which could be granted by it mentioned in Schedule-II to Act, 1951.

24. It is the alleged injury or apprehended injury or cloud on the right and title of a person by some action on the part of any other person, or interference or attempt to interfere or encroach upon the right and title of a person over a particular property by any positive or negative act or declaration etc., which give a Suitor, cause of action, to approach a Court of law for relief or reliefs against the same. The dispute as to jurisdiction arises when more than one reliefs are claimed in an action on the same cause of action one of which can be granted by a Civil Court. If the principal or real relief can be granted by Revenue Court, then ancillary relief or the relief which flows out from principal relief can also be granted by Revenue Court notwithstanding the fact that all the reliefs can be granted by Civil Court. If things are in reverse direction, then all the reliefs can be granted by Civil Court, but if so-called main relief is redundant or mere surplusage then it is the real relief involved in the matter which may or may not have been claimed as ancillary relief will determine the jurisdiction of Court which is to entertain a particular action. Even if a plaint or application is couched in such a language so as to oust jurisdiction of a particular Court, then it is the cause of action and relief flowing out of such cause of action which would determine the Forum for entertaining the said action and not the so-called relief claimed.

25. In order to determine, therefore, as to what matter can be entertained only by Revenue Court, it is said that if more than one reliefs are claimed by a particular person, no relief can be granted to that person unless declaration of his tenancy right is made and in that situation suit will be cognizable by Revenue Court as declaration can be granted by Revenue Court. Similarly if a person claims relief of injunction and in the alternative for possession if he is found to be out of possession and his name is not on the record then without declaration that in fact he is the tenant or he is in possession of the tenancy rights no further relief can be granted and the suit is cognizable by Revenue Court. That is what has been held very categorically by Full Bench in para 18 of judgment in Ram Padarath and others Vs. Second Additional District Judge and others (supra). It is further said that in case, suit is for injunction and/or possession, if he is out of possession, then suit will be cognizable by Revenue Court notwithstanding the fact that relief for injunction is to be granted by Civil Court. Full Bench further said:

"The Civil Court would have no jurisdiction as the case first involved declaration of right as tenure-holder which could be granted by the revenue court only and thereafter relief could have been granted only if he was held to be tenure-holder by succession." (emphasis added)

26. In order to determine the Forum, when validity of a document is challenged, Court in para-19 said as under:

"19. The forum for action in relation to void documents or instruments regarding agricultural land depends on the real cause of action with reference to the facts averred. Void documents necessarily do not require cancellation like voidable documents. A simple suit for cancellation of a document or instrument if the same casts cloud on one's right and title or is likely to cast cloud over it or affects the same adversely in respect of agricultural property, that is, 'land' poses no difficulty provided further it does not necessitate any declaration as to the claimant's right and title over the land i.e. tenancy rights under the existing law. The difficulty arises when more than one reliefs are involved or claimed. It may be that one may get effective relief in presenting without cancellation of the document, but if a document remains uncancelled for several years its existence may give rise to new trouble and litigation. The decree of a court in which a document is declared to be void and is avoided is obviously a decree in personam and the same undoubtedly binds a party but it will not be binding to each and every person as no note of such a decree can be made in the Sub-Registrar's register as provided in Section 31 of the Specific Relief Act. Such a document may mislead many and may give rise to various transactions and litigations."

27. Full Bench also held that while interpreting provisions of Act, 1951, no help can be taken from the provisions of Act, 1953 for the reason that jurisdiction of consolidation authorities or Courts is wider than that of Civil or Revenue Court and adjudication by them is final and cannot be responded by any Civil or Revenue Court in view of bar for the same contained in Section 49 of Act, 1953 which even bars the case which should have been raised before consolidation authorities, but not raised. In the operative part of the judgment, Court ultimately laid down the following law:

"Suit or action for cancellation of void document will generally lie in the civil court and a party cannot be deprived of his right getting (his relief permissible under law except when a declaration of right or status of a tenure-holder is necessarily needed in which event relief for cancellation will be surplusage and redundant. A recorded tenure-holder having prima facie title in his favour can hardly be directed to approach the revenue court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of a void document which made him to approach the court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue court."

28. In the present case status of Tenure Holder was necessarily involved. Therefore, in my view, in respect to property in dispute which admittedly was in possession of defendant, remedy was available only in Revenue Court and not in Civil Court, more so, when plaintiff himself pleaded that 'Will' is void. Therefore, I answer substantial questions of law-(a) and (c) holding that suit was not maintainable before Civil Court and therefore both substantial questions of law are answered in favour of appellant.

29. Now coming to substantial question of law-(b), counsel for appellant could not show as to why State of U.P. or Gaon Sabha was necessary party so as to render suit, not maintainable. Hence, I answer substantial question of law-(b) against appellant.

30. Now coming to substantial question of law-(d), I find that plaint case set up by plaintiff was that Bal Karan had five sons including Matwar Singh and after death of Matwar Singh in 1945, his holding was succeeded by his wife Dhrupraji, while defendant contended that Matwar Singh had already separated during his life time and thereafter executed a 'Will' in favour of defendant. It is admitted case of plaintiff that property in dispute was in possession of defendant and that is why relief of delivery of possession by defendant to plaintiff was sought. In these circumstances, it was necessary for Courts below to formulate an issue, "whether Dhrupraji's heir got any right over property in dispute since application of Section 14 of Hind Succession Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1956") could have arisen only thereafter", but both the Courts below have ignored this aspect and neither any issue has been framed on this aspect nor any finding has been recorded. However, since I have already answered substantial questions of law-(a) and (c) holding that Civil Court had no jurisdiction in the matter, I do not find that it is necessary to answer substantial question of law-(d) in this appeal since judgments in appeal have to be set aside on the ground of lack of jurisdiction and whenever any adjudication is initiated in a competent Court of jurisdiction, it will always be open to such Court to examine all relevant aspects therein. Therefore, I refrain from answering substantial question of law-(d) either way.

31. In the result, appeal is allowed. Impugned judgments dated 12.05.1978 passed by Munsif, Basti and dated 19.10.1982 passed by 1st Additional District Judge, Basti are set aside. Original Suit No. 213 of 1972 is dismissed as not maintainable.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJENDRA KUMAR-IV, J.

CRIMINAL APPEAL No. 4281 OF 2002
JAIL APPEAL No. 6316 OF 2003

Dharam Veer @ Kaiya and Ors.
...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri K.K. Dwivedi, Sri B.K. Solanki, Sri R.P. Dwivedi, Sri Yogesh Srivastava, Sri Noor Mohammad.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Sri Hemendra Pratap Singh.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860–Sections 302/34 IPC – Appellants sentenced to life imprisonment – Motive - Weight of- Where direct evidence is worthy of acceptance – absence of strong motive does not carry much weight.
(Para 26 and 27)

B. Relatives of victim as prosecution witnesses and non-examination of independent witnesses – It is settled law that merely because witnesses are close relatives of the victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. However, in such a case the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence. (Para 28,29,30,31 and 32)

C. Section 134 Evidence Act 1872 - Non-examination of wife of the first informant, mentioned as a witness in the F.I.R, by the prosecution in the trial. Held - Prosecution is not obliged to adduce all witnesses mentioned in the F.I.R or in the charge-sheet. Law is well settled that the Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided the witness is wholly reliable but if there are doubts about the testimony, the Court will insist on corroboration. It is the quality and not quantity that is material.
(Para 33, 34,35,36,37,38)

D. Contradictions, discrepancies and variations in the case of prosecution- All witnesses supported the prosecution case. Despite lengthy cross-examinations, no material exists to disbelieve their statements or render their statements doubtful. Held - minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not effect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety.
(Para 39,40,41,42,43and 44)

E. Question of awarding sentence and consideration of aggravating and mitigating circumstances-Settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which criminal and victim belong. Hence, applying the aforesaid principles and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of the case, motive, nature of the offence, weapon used in commission of murder and the manner in which it was executed or committed, the punishment awarded by the Trial Court is just and proper and requires no interference. Resultantly both appeals dismissed.(Para 51,52 and 53)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Both the aforesaid appeals arise out of a common judgement and order dated 03.09.2002 passed by Sri Vijay Kumar, Additional Sessions Judge, Hathras in Session Trial No. 169 of 2001 (State versus Dharamveer @ Kaiya and others), Police Station Shahpau, District Hathras convicting all the accused-appellants under Sections 302 read with 34 IPC and sentencing each of them to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life and also to pay a fine of Rs.2000/- each. In the event of default of payment of fine, they have to undergo six months additional rigorous imprisonment.

2. From the record it appears that initially Criminal Appeal No.4281 of 2002 was filed under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. by all the three accused-appellants, namely, Dharam Veer @ Kaiya, Radhey Shyam and Choiya @ Khajan Singh, which was admitted by this Court on 01.10.2002. Subsequently Radhey son of Gauri Shanker Pal also filed Jail Appeal No.6316 of 2003, under Section 383 Cr.P.C., through Senior Superintendent Central Jail, Agra which was admitted on 09.12.2003. It is also on record that vide order dated 30.03.2016 this Court granted bail to Dharam Veer @ Kaiya appellant in Criminal Appeal No.4281 of 2002 and Radhey (mentioned as appellant no.2 in Criminal Appeal No.4281 of 2002 and also appellant in Jail Appeal No.6316 of 2003). The prayer for bail of appellant Choiya @ Khajan Singh was declined.

3. Brief facts giving rise to the present appeal may be stated as under:-

4. A written report Ex.Ka-1 dated 15.04.2000 was presented by PW-1 Vinod Kumar, before Station Officer of Police Station Shahpau, District Hathras, stating that accused-appellants Kaiya @ Dharamveer, Radhey and Choiya @ Khajan Singh (brother-in-law of Tula Ram, resident of village Samai) were creating nuisance in drunken state after taking liquor. Chandrapal Sharma uncle of PW-1, Informant, tried to prevent them whereupon the aforesaid three persons hurled abuses and also pelted stones. Certain persons intervened and got the matter subsided. In the night intervening 14/15 April, 2000 at about 2:00 AM, the aforesaid accused-appellants indulged in filthy abuses after consuming liquor. Uncle of PW-1 when resisted, they got inclined to fight. In the meantime, villagers approached there and took them away from the scene of occurrence persuading and pushing them. While departing, accused-appellants were saying that on the occasion of Holi also he (uncle of Informant) had quarrelled, so they will not spare him. At about 2:30 AM, on 14/15 April, 2000 the aforesaid three accused persons reached the Baithak of Chandrapal Sharma. Kaiya and Radhey, each, had a knife with them while Choiya had a Danda. Suddenly, all of them assaulted Chandrapal Sharma with their respective weapons. Hearing his shrieks, Informant, his wife Gayatri, Mukesh son of deceased Chandrapal Sharma and one Puran Chandra Sharma reached the Baithak. Seeing them, the three accused-appellants fled away from the scene. Chandrapal Sharma was groaning badly and while making arrangement for carrying him to the Hospital, he breathed his last.

5. On the basis of said report, PW-8 Head Constable Nasir Khan prepared chick report Ex.Ka-13 and made an entry of the same in General Diary (hereinafter referred to as "GD") at report No.7 at 6:45 AM on 15.04.2000. A copy of relevant GD entry as Ex.Ka-14 is on record. Investigation of case was undertaken by PW-7 SI Ashok Kumar Singh, the then Station Officer of Police Station Shahpau, who visited the spot and prepared inquest Ex.Ka-2 in respect of deceased Chandrapal Sharma in his own handwriting. He prepared site plan Ex.Ka-6; recovery memo Ex.Ka-3 in respect of articles found in the pocket of deceased and recovery memo Ex.Ka-4 pertaining to blood stained shirt. He also recorded statements of Informant and other witnesses of village. Subsequently, he sent the clothes and articles recovered from the person of deceased for Forensic Examination.

6. Autopsy on the dead body of the deceased Chandrapal Sharma was conducted by PW-6, Dr. Nepal Singh, on 15.04.2000 at about 4:20 PM. According to him, deceased was aged about 50 years, and at the time of post-mortem about half a day had passed. On External examination, he noticed that rigor mortis was present all over the body and eyes were closed. He found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased:-

1. Lacerated wound 4cm x 1cm cartilage deep, front and upper part of left ear.

3. Incised wound 1cm x 0.5cm x muscle deep on left side forehead, just above left eyebrow.

4. Incised wound 3cm x 1cm x bone cavity deep on left side head 4cm above behind left eyebrow. Underneath bone fractured.

5. Incised wound 3cm x 0.5cm x bone deep on left side head, 2cm away behind from injury no. 4.

7. Traumatic swelling 5cm x 3cm on right eye.

7. On internal examination frontal and parietal bone of head was found fractured; membranes were lacerated; brain was lacerated with haematoma; both lungs were congested; right side chamber of heart was full and left side empty; stomach contained 100 gm food; gallbladder was congested and half full; spleen and kidneys were congested; urinary bladder was empty. In the opinion of doctor, death was caused due to coma as a result of head injury. Doctor prepared post-mortem report Ex.Ka-5.

8. After conclusion of investigation, PW-7 SI Ashok Kumar Singh submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka-12 in Court against all the three accused-appellants under Section 302 IPC.

9. Cognizance of the offence was taken by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Hathras on 14.06.2006. Since the case was exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, the same was committed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Hathras to the Court of Sessions for trial on 21.07.2001, where it was registered as Sessions Trial No. 169 of 2001. Subsequently Sessions Trial was transferred to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Hathras, who framed charge against the accused-appellants Kaiya @ Dharamveer, Radhey and Choiya on 01.11.2001 as under:

"मै विजय कुमार, अपर सत्र न्यायाधीश, हाथरस आप कईया उर्फ धर्मवीर, राधे व चोइया पर निम्न आरोप लगाता हूँ-

और मै एतद् द्वारा आपको निर्देश दिया जाता है कि आपका विचारण उक्त आरोप में मेरे न्यायालय द्वारा किया जायेगा।"

"I Vijay Kumar, Additional Sessions Judge, Hathras charge you Kaiya @ Dharamveer, Radhey and Choiya as follows:

Thus you have committed an offence punishable under Section 302 read with 34 IPC and within the cognizance of this Court.

I hereby direct you be tried for the aforesaid charge by this Court." (English Translation by Court)

10. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

11. To substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as eight witnesses, out of whom PWs-1, 2 and 3 are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses of Police and Health Department. PW-1 Vinod Kumar is nephew of deceased Chandrapal Sharma and PW-3 Mukesh Kumar is deceased son, PW-2 Puran Chandra Sharma is cousin of deceased and resident of same village. They have given factual account of the incident.

12. PW-4 SI Shailendra Singh is a witness of inquest Ex.Ka-2, recovery memo Ex.Ka-3 of articles and clothes of deceased and recovery memo Ex.Ka-4 in respect of blood stained shirt. He has also proved material exhibits i.e. Ex-1 underwear, Ex-2 Banyan and Ex-3 shirt of Choiya accused. PW-5 Constable Jabaran Singh had taken the dead body of deceased along with other Constable Harendra Singh to the DistrictHospital for post-mortem. PW-6, Dr. Nepal Singh had conducted autopsy on the dead body of Chandrapal Sharma and has proved post-mortem report Ex.Ka-5. PW-7 SI Ashok Kumar Singh is the Investigating Officer and has proved Panchayatnama Ex.Ka-2, site plan Ex.Ka-6, recovery memo Ex.Ka-3 in respect of articles recovered from the pocket of deceased, recovery memo Ex.Ka-4 in respect of shirt of Choiya sealed by him and charge sheet Ex.Ka-12. PW-8 Head Constable Nasir Khan appeared before the Trial Court to prove chick FIR Ex.Ka-13 and copy of GD entry Ex.Ka-14.

13. On closure of prosecution evidence, statements of accused-appellants under Section 313 Cr.PC. was recorded. All of them have stated that they have been falsely implicated due to enmity and the entire prosecution evidence as well as investigation is false. They did not adduce any evidence in defence.

14. At the stage of arguments Trial Court found that in charge dated 01.11.2001 time of incident has been mentioned at night 02:00 hours in place of 02:30 hours at night, therefore, Court framed amended charge against the accused-appellants on 29.08.2009. Since entire evidence of both the parties had already been adduced and no party desired to produce any other evidence or to cross examine the witness, therefore, Trial Court proceeded the trial on previous evidence.

15. On appraisal of evidence on record and after hearing learned state counsel and counsel for accused, learned Trial Judge recorded verdict of conviction and sentence against all the accused-appellants, as stated above.

16. Feeling aggrieved with the impugned judgment and order dated 03.09.2002, accused-appellants are before this Court through Jail appeal No. 6316 of 2003 and Criminal appeal No. 4281 of 2002, challenging their conviction and sentence.

17. We have heard Ms. Somya Chaturvedi, Amicus Curiae for appellant in Jail Appeal No. 6316 of 2003 as well as Sri Noor Mohammad, learned Counsel for appellants in Criminal appeal No. 4281 of 2002 and Sri Syed Ali Murtuza, learned AGA for State at length and have gone through the record carefully with the valuable assistance of learned Counsel for parties.

18. Learned Counsel appearing for appellants has challenged conviction and sentence of accused-appellants, advancing their submissions, in the following manners :-

(i) There is no motive to accused-appellants to commit the present crime.

(ii) There is no independent witness of prosecution in support of its case.

(iii) All the three witnesses are relatives of deceased, therefore, their evidence cannot be trustworthy.

(iv) Smt. Gayatri, named in FIR, has not been produced from the side of prosecution in support of its case, therefore, presumption under Section 114 (G) of Indian Evidence Act goes against prosecution.

(v) There are many major contradictions which affect the root of case and accused persons are entitled to benefit of doubt.

(vi) Medical evidence does not go with the prosecution version.

(vii) Trial Court has not rightly convicted accused-appellants and prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Accused-appellants are liable to be acquitted.

19. Per contra learned AGA opposed submissions and urged that PWs-1 to 3 are witnesses of fact, who had supported prosecution case; witnesses are natural and reliable; and medical evidence is totally compatible with the ocular evidence. The weapons involved in the offence have been recovered by Investigating Officer on pointing out of accused-appellants.

20. Although time, date, place and nature of injuries found on the person of deceased could not be disputed from the side of accused-appellants but according to learned counsel for appellants, they are not responsible for committing murder of Chandrapal Sharma. Thus only the question up for consideration is, "whether accused-appellants committed murder of Chandrapal Sharma by inflicting knife and danda on his body and Trial Court has rightly convicted them or not?"

21. We now proceed to consider rival submissions on merit. It will be appropriate to briefly consider the evidence of prosecution as well as defence available on record.

22. PW-1 Vinod Kumar, nephew of deceased Chandrapal, supported prosecution case and deposed that on the occasion of Holi festival accused-appellants namely, Dharam Veer @ Kaiya, Radhey Shyam and Choiya @ Khajan Singh were creating nuisance after taking liquor. His (PW-1 Vinok Kumar) uncle Chandrapal Sharma tried to prevent them where upon all the three accused pelted stones and hurdled abuses, certain persons intervened and got matter subsided. Thereafter in the intervening night on 14/15 April, 2000 at about 02:00 AM all the three accused started abusing in filthy languages after consuming liquor. When his uncle (victim) resisted them, they got inclined to fight. In the meantime, villagers approached there and took them away from the spot. While departing there from accused-appellants were saying that on the occasion of Holi he (victim) had quarrelled. After half an hour at about 02:30 AM accused persons reached the Baithak of Chandrapal Sharma where he (victim) slept and started beating him with their respective weapons. On hearing his shriek, Informant himself, his wife Gyatari Devi, PW-2 Puran Chandra and PW-3 Mukesh Kumar reached the Baithak where accused persons were beating his uncle Chandrapal Sharma (victim). He further deposed that accused-appellant Dharam Veer @ Kaiya and Radhay Shyam had knife (chura) while Choiya @ Khajan Singh was having a danda. On seeing them all the accused persons ran away from spot, victim was groaning badly, while making arrangement for carrying victim to Hospital he succumbed to injury. He has further deposed that a written report Ex.Ka-1 regarding the incidence was presented by him.

23. PW-2 Puran Chandra Sharma, cousin of deceased Chandrapal Sharma, deposed that in the intervening night of 14/15 April, 2000 at about 02:30 AM on hearing the shriek of Chandrapal Sharma came out of his house, PW-1Vinod, his wife Gyatri Devi and PW-3 Mukesh met him in the way while going towards the Baithak of Chandrapal Sharma. They saw that accused-appellants were assaulting victim with their respective weapons. Accused-appellants Radhey Shyam and Dharam Veer @ Kaiya were having knife (chura) and accused-appellant Choiya @ Khajan Singh was having danda in their hand. On seeing them accused-appellants ran away from spot. Chandrapal Sharma received serious injuries and succumbed to death. Before this incident, at about 02:00 AM in the night accused-appellants had a quarrell and abused after taking liquor. Accused-appellants extended threat Chandrapal Sharma to see him. At that time Vinod and his wife were present there.

24. PW-3 Mukesh Kumar, happens to be son of deceased deposed that on the occasion of Holi festival, accused-appellants, after taking liquor were abusing then he (PW-3) himself, Vinod, his wife Gayatri and other villagers have subsided the matter due to festival. In the intervening night 14/15 April, 2000 at about 02:00 AM all three accused-appellants were abusing in filthy languages in front of Baithak whereupon his father objected them. After half an hour at about 02:30 AM in the night, he heard shriek of his father, immediately rushed to Baithak, Vinod and Puran Chandra also came there, they saw that accused-appellants were assaulting his father with their respective weapons. On seeing them, accused-appellants ran away from spot towards Pipal Wali Gali, his father was groaning badly. While making arrangement of vehicle to Hospital his father succumbed to death.

25. PWs-1, 2 and 3 withstood lengthy cross-examination by defence but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve their statements on oath. PWs-

1, 2 and 3 established that accused persons assaulted victim Chandrapal Sharma with their respective weapons and caused serious injuries to him due to which he succumbed to death.

26. So far as argument made by learned Amicus Curiae regarding the motive is concerned, we are not impressed with the submission advanced by learned Amicus Curiae for the reasons that it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because there was no strong motive to commit offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.

27. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."
(emphasis added)

28. So far as the question of relative witness and non-examination of any independent witness is concerned, we are not impressed with the submissions of learned Counsel for appellants for the reasons that it is often seen that in heinous offences like murder, no villagers or independent witness come forward to give evidence in support of prosecution against accused-appellants due to fear of evil.

29. So far as relative witness is concerned, it is now well settled law laid down in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR,1953, SC 364. Where Court has held as under :-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause' for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

30. In Dharnidhar v. State of UP (2010) 7 SCC 759, Court has observed as follows :-

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"

31. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

32. It is settled that merely because witnesses are closed relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

33. So far as the next argument of learned Counsel for appellants regarding non-examination of Gayatri Devi is concerned, we of the view that this submission is thoroughly misconceived for the reasons that prosecution is not obliged to adduce witness mentioned in FIR or charge-sheet, in view of Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act,1872 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act,1872'),

34. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872, but if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

35. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is necessary for proving or disproving a fact. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused inspite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

36. In Kunju @ Balachandran vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381 a similar view has been taken placing reliance on earlier judgments including Jagdish Prasad vs. State of M.P., AIR 1994 SC 1251; and Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614.

37. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel Vs. State of Gunjrat reported in (2004) 12 SCC 229, Court held that :-

"The legal position in respect of the testimony of a solitay eyewitness is well settled in a catena of judgments inasmuch as this Court has always reminded that in order to pass conviction upon it, such a testimony must be of a nature which inspires the confidence of the Court. While looking into such evidence this Court has always advocated the Rule of Caution and such corroboration from other evidence and even in the absence of corroboration if testimony of such single eye-witness inspires confidence then conviction can be based solely upon it."

38. In State of Haryana v. Inder Singh and Ors. reported in (2002) 9 SCC 537, Court held that it is not the quantity but the quality of the witnesses which matters for determining the guilt or innocence of the accused. The testimony of a sole witness must be confidence-inspiring and beyond suspicion, thus, leaving no doubt in the mind of the Court.

39. So far as discrepancies, variation and contradiction in the prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with the submissions raised by learned counsel's and all the witnesses PWs 1, 2 and 3 supported the prosecution case as eye witnesses. All the three witnesses withstood lengthy cross-examination but nothing adverse material could be brought on record so as to disbelieve their statements. There is nothing in cross-examination which may render their statements doubtful. Naturally some minor contradictions and discrepancies have occurred in their examination-in-chief but they do not go to the root of case.

40. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

41. In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Supreme Court has observed that Court will have to evaluate evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature which do not go to the root of the matter do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

42. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

43. When such incident takes place, one cannot expect a scripted version from witnesses to show as to what actually happened and in what manner it had happened. Such minor details normally are neither noticed nor remembered by people since they are in fury of incident and apprehensive of what may happen in future. A witness is not expected to recreate a scene as if it was shot after with a scripted version but what material thing has happened that is only noticed or remembered by people and that is stated in evidence. Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self contradictory as to make it untrustworthy is Minor variation or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution.

44. In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observations, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. [Vide: State Represented by Inspector of Police v. Saravanan &Anr., AIR 2009 SC 152; Arumugam v. State, AIR 2009 SC 331; Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334; and Dr. Sunil Kumar Sambhudayal Gupta &Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, JT 2010 (12) SC 287].

45. Learned Counsel for appellants advanced his arguments by submitting that medical evidence does not support the ocular version, therefore, accused-appellants are entitled to benefit of doubt and they are liable to be acquitted.

46. We have perused the medical evidence along-with the ocular version. PW.6 Dr. Nepal Singh deposed that on 15.04.2000, he was posted in DistrictHospital, Mathura and on duty on that day. At about 04:00 PM he conducted the autopsy over the dead body of Chandrapal Sharma and found following ante mortem injuries:

1. Lacerated wound 4 cm x 1 cm cartilage deep, front and upper part of left ear.

3. Incised wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep on left side forehead, just above left eyebrow.

4. Incised wound 3 cm x 1 cm x bone cavity deep on left side head 4 cm above behind left eyebrow. Underneath bone fractured.

5. Incised wound 3 cm x 0.5 cm x bone deep on left side head, 2 cm away behind from injury no. 4.

6. Lacerated wound 0.5 cm x 0.3cm x muscle deep on middle of left eyebrow.

7. Traumatic swelling 5 cm x 3 cm on right eye.

47. Doctor opined that death might have been occurred due to coma on account of ante mortem injuries and death was possible half day prior to post-mortem. He proved post-mortem as Ex.ka-5.

48. Pws 1, 2 and 3 categorically stated in his testimonial statement that accused-appellants assaulted victim with lathi and knife. As per Doctor report there were three injuries of sharp edged weapon and four injuries of blunt object which might be caused by danda. In this way medical evidence is compatible with the ocular version, therefore, we reject the submissions of learned Counsel for appellants.

49. In the entirety of the facts and circumstances and legal preposition discussed herein before, we are satisfied that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellants and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed an offence under Section 302 read with 34 IPC. Both the appeals are devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

50. So far as sentence of accused-appellants is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

51. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

52. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence, weapon used in commission of murder and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellants by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no ground appears to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

53. In view of above discussion, both the appeals lacks merit and is dismissed.

54. Lower Court record alongwith a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action and to apprise the accused-appellant through Jail Authority.

55. Before parting, we provide that Ms. Somya Chaturvedi, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Ramesh Singh, Sri Achint Ranjan Singh, Sri Apul Mishra, Sri Mohammad Umar Khan, Sri Yogesh Kumar Srivastava, Sri Raghuraj Kishore, Sri Rajesh Pathik, Sri Harish Chandra Tiwari.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Sri Chetan Chaterjee.

A. Evidence Act - Section 32- Multiple Dying Declarations - Three dying declarations. Inconsistencies in dying declarations and since the third dying declaration also substantially differs from the prosecution version hence held that reliance placed by the learned trial judge on the same for the purpose of convicting the appellants is per se illegal.
The First Dying Declaration was given by the victim immediately after admission in hospital on 22.03.2010 at 7.45 p.m. before D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh in which she stated that she had set herself ablaze. The second Dying Declaration was recorded by the policeman of police outpost– Ambehata at about 9 a.m. on 23.03.2010 after the victim regained consciousness was suppressed by the prosecution. The Third Dying Declaration was recorded by P.W.7 Naib Tehsildar on 23.03.2010 at about 12.15-12.30 p.m. No signatures of the deceased on the Third Dying Declaration and it was also not noted in the said dying declaration that the deceased was not in a condition to sign her Dying Declaration. The certificate of fitness was also not proved by the Emergency Medical Officer as a witness during the trial. No question was put by P.W.7 to the deceased to satisfy himself whether she was giving the Dying Declaration voluntarily. (Para 29 to 45)

B. Delay in lodging the F.I.R- Inordinate and unexplained delay of almost 24 hours in lodging the F.I.R by P.W.1. Hence, the possibility of the F.I.R having been prepared after due deliberations and consultations on the advice of the police to falsely implicate the appellants cannot be ruled out.

Although as per the evidence the police had arrived at the place of the occurrence and had immediately taken the deceased with her parents, P.W.1 and P.W.2 to the hospital. D.W 1 Om Prakash was named as a witness in the F.I.R but was not produced as a prosecution witness and his evidence remained consistent and clinching to the effect that the parents of the deceased had set her ablaze. (Para 46 and 47)

Conviction of the appellants set aside. Appeals allowed. (E-3)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Krishna Narayana, J.)

1. The argument of this case was concluded on 28.05.2018. We then made the following order :-

"Heard Sri Rajesh Pathik and Sri Harish Chandra Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Chetan Chaterjee, learned counsel for the informant and Sri J. K. Upadhyay as well as Sri Deepak Misra,learned A. G. As. appearing for the State.

We will give reasons later on, but we make the operative order now:

"The impugned judgement and order dated 26.2.2013 passed by the Special Judge (E. C. Act) / Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Saharanpur in S. T. No. 429 of 2010; State of U. P. Versus Sonu and others convicting the appellants under Sections-302/34, 365 and 506 IPC, P. S.-Nakud, distrtict-Saharanpur and sentencing them to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life with fine of Rs. 10000/- each for offence under Section-302/34 I. P. C., five years' R. C. along with default clauses, is hereby set-aside and the appeal is allowed. The accused-appellants are acquitted of all the charges framed against them. The accused-appellants who are in jail, shall be released forthwith unless they are wanted in some other case subject to their complying with the provisions of Section 437 A Cr. P. C."

2. Here are the reasons :-

The prosecution case as unfolded during the trial is that P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra son of Jai Singh, resident of village- Ambehatapeer, police outpost- Ambehatapeer, P.S.- Nakud, District- Saharanpur gave a typed complaint on 23.03.2010 addressed to S.S.P., Saharanpur stating therein that when on 19.03.2010 at about 10.30 a.m., his daughter Sumita (deceased) who was studying in B.Sc. Ist year, was going from her house to her school Puran Mal Degree College, Gangoh to find out the dates fixed for holding practical examination, accused Sonu (deceased), son of Mamchand, Ajay (A1) son of Angoora and Jagveer (A3) son of Jai Singh threatened her with a revolver and forcibly pushed her into their maruti van. They kept his daughter in different places for two days and committed rape upon her. On 21.03.2010 at about 2.30 p.m., they pushed his daughter out of their van in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana in a perturbed condition. On being informed about the incident by the villagers, he brought his daughter to his house. After sometime, the family members of accused Sonu (deceased) etc. along with some other respectable persons of the village came to the house of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and threatened him that they would not let his daughter marry in case he dared to inform the police about the incident. On account of fear, he did not take any action. On 22.03.2010 at about 5 p.m., accused Sonu (deceased), Ajay (A1) and Jagveer (A3) came to the dump yard of his house and caught his daughter with the intention of burning her alive, Ajay (A1) who was carrying a canister containing kerosene oil on his shoulder, poured the same on his daughter as a result of which, she ran within the dump yard raising cries for help on which Jagveer (A3) and others threatened to shoot her in case she went to the police. On hearing the noise, Satpal, Om Prakash, Zahoor Ahmad etc. also reached the place of occurrence and tried to douse the fire by sprinkling water on her. Sumita (deceased), daughter of the informant had received 80 per cent burn injuries. The informant and the other villagers took Sumita to the hospital where she remained unconscious throughout the night. When at about 9 a.m. on the next day, she regained consciousness, the incharge of police outpost, recorded the statement of his daughter and the informant then went to the police station to lodge the report of the occurrence along with the statement of her daughter. In the complaint it was also mentioned that an order be passed directing the P.S.- Nakud to register a case against Sonu (deceased), Ajay (A1) and Jagveer (A3) as his daughter's life was in danger.

3. On the basis of the written report (Ext.Ka.1), Case Crime No. 31/137/2010 u/s 363, 366, 376, 307 and 506 I.P.C. was registered against the accused and relevant G.D. Entry vide rapat no. 20 time 17.10 hours was prepared. The investigation of the case was entrusted to P.W.6 S.I. Samarpal Singh.

4. One day before the F.I.R. was registered i.e. on 22.03.2010, the informant had brought his daughter Sumita (deceased) to DistrictHospital, Saharanpur with severe burn injuries at about 7.45 p.m. where she was medically examined and admitted for treatment in the hospital. On 23.03.2010, P.W.6 S.I. Samarpal Singh wrote a letter to City Magistrate, Saharanpur with a request for getting the dying declaration of the deceased recorded on which P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar was ordered to record the dying declaration of the deceased. He recorded the dying declaration of the deceased on 23.03.2010 between 12.15 and 12.30 p.m. in the burn unit of the hospital after the Emergency Medical Officer present there had stated that the deceased was in a fit condition to give her dying declaration. The victim was read over her statement and her thumb impression was also obtained thereon. The dying declaration of the deceased is being reproduced hereinbelow :-

5. On 24.03.2000, Ajay (A1), Jagveer (A3) and accused Sonu (deceased) were arrested by the Investigating Officer on the information given to him by the police informer. Sumita died on 27.03.2010 at about 8.30 p.m. whereafter Section 302 I.P.C. was added vide rapat no. 24 time 19.20 hours.

6. The inquest on the body of Sumita (deceased) was conducted by P.W.4 S.I. Ajay Pal Gautam in the mortuary of District Hospital, Saharanpur who prepared the inquest report and other connected documents namely letter addressed to R.I., letter addressed to C.M.O., challan lash, photo lash. The body of the deceased was thereafter sent for postmortem examination through Constables Yashpal and Homeguard Ishwar Singh.

7. The autopsy on the body of deceased was conducted by P.W.3 Dr. Keshav Swami on 27.03.2010 at about 5.15 p.m. who also prepared and proved her postmortem report as (Ext.Ka.2). He noted following ante-mortem injuries on the person of Sumita (deceased) :-

1) Superficial burn injuries present all over the body, front of face, feet and sole, present on right forearm.

2) Skin peeled off at places.

3) Red line of demarcation present in between burnt and burned areas.

4) Singeing of all body hair.

8. In the opinion of P.W.3 Dr. Keshav Swami, the cause of death was shock due to ante-mortem burn injury.

9. Monu (A2) was arraigned as an accused in the case on the basis of the facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration. The investigation of the case was transferred on 02.04.2010 to S.I. Madan Pal Singh Ashok, who recorded the statements of the informant and other witnesses. He also seized green colour plastic jerrican of two litres capacity and prepared its memo on 11.04.2010 (Ext.Ka.14). The Investigating Officer filed charge-sheet against all the four accused including the appellants before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Saharanpur who committed the case for the trial of the accused to the Court of Sessions Judge, Saharanpur where it was registered as S.T. No. 429 of 2010, State Versus Sonu and three others and transferred for disposal from there to the Court of Special Judge (E.C. Act)/Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Saharanpur who on the basis of the material on record and after affording opportunity of hearing to the prosecution as well as the accused, framed charge u/s 363, 366, 302/34 and 506 I.P.C. The appellants abjured the charge and claimed trial.

10. The prosecution in order to prove the charge framed against the appellants examined P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata, parents of the deceased as witnesses of fact while P.W.3 Dr. Keshav Swami who had conducted the postmortem on the body of the deceased, prepared and proved the postmortem report as (Ext.Ka.2), P.W.4 S.I. Ajay Pal Gautam, the first Investigating Officer of the case, P.W.5 Head Constable Rajpal Singh who had prepared the check F.I.R. and the G.D. Entry (Ext.Ka.9), P.W.6 S.I. Samarpal Singh, the second Investigating Officer who had completed the investigation and filed charge-sheet against the accused, P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased and P.W.8 S.I. Madan Pal Singh Ashok, who recorded the statements of the informant and other witnesses, were produced as formal witnesses.

11. The prosecution also adduced documentary evidence comprising of written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1), postmortem report (Ext.Ka.2), death memo (Ext.Ka.3), inquest report (Ext.Ka.4), letter addressed to R.I. (Ext.Ka.5), letter addressed to C.M.O. (Ext.Ka.6), photo lash (Ext.Ka.7), challan lash (Ext.Ka.8), check F.I.R. (Ext.Ka.9), copies of G.D. (Ext.Ka.10 and Ka.11), dying declaration of Sumita (deceased) (Ext.Ka.12), site plan (Ext.Ka.13), recovery memo of jerrican (Ext.Ka.14) and charge-sheet (Ext.Ka.15).

12. After recording of the evidence of the prosecution was closed, the appellants were examined u/s 313 Cr.P.C. on 22.06.2012. Accused Sonu (deceased) on being read over the statements of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata, described the contents thereof as false. He further alleged that he had been arrested from his house and falsely implicated in this case. As regards, the dying declaration of the deceased, he expressed his ignorance and stated that all the witnesses had given false evidence against him. He also filed a written statement u/s 313 Cr.P.C. paper nos. 95 Ka/3 and 95 Ka/4 in which he stated that he was having an affair with the deceased and they had physical relations. Before the incident, Sumita (deceased) had called him on phone asking him to meet her outside the town. At that time, he was earning his livelihood by working as woodcutter. He disclosed the aforesaid fact to Neetu. Neetu called his uncle on phone and thereafter Sumita (deceased) was handed over by them to her parents. On 19.03.2010 at about 4 p.m., Sumita (deceased) asked him on phone to reach Behat bus stand for going from there to Shakumbhari. He reached there and tried to remonstrate with Sumita (deceased) by saying that he was earning his livelihood by working as labourer and he did not have time to go with her to Shakumbhari but on her insistence, he was forced to go with Sumita (deceased) to Shakumbhari. On 21.03.2010, they returned from Shakumbhari and went to their respective homes. The parents of Sumita (deceased) maltreated and tortured her for the insult suffered by them on account of her having gone with accused Sonu (deceased) and thereafter on 22.03.2010, her own parents set her ablaze after pouring kerosene oil on her. One Om Prakash had telephonically informed the police outpost about the occurrence by his cellphone on which the policemen had arrived at the spot and had taken Sumita and her parents along with them. Sumita was admitted in GovernmentHospital where she died on 27.03.2010. Sumita had got herself photographed with him and had also written love letters to him. Ajay (A1), Monu (A2) and Jagveer (A3) had not accompanied him. Accused Sonu (deceased) had appended two photographs and copies of purported love letters along with his written statement filed by him u/s 313 Cr.P.C.

13. Ajay (A1), Monu (A2) and Jagveer (A3) in their statements recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case as false and alleged false implication on account of their being the sons of the uncles of accused Sonu (deceased). The accused examined D.W.1 Om Prakash and D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh. They also filed a photocopy of medico-legal report of the Sumita (deceased) (Ext.Kha.1) and her dying declaration (Ext.Kha.2).

14. Learned Special Judge (E.C. Act)/ Additional Session Judge, Court no. 5, Saharanpur after considering the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties before him and scrutinizing the evidence on record, both oral as well as documentary, convicted all the appellants and awarded aforesaid sentences to them.

15. Hence, these two appeals.

16. Record shows that the appeal preferred by accused Sonu (deceased) against the judgement and order dated 26.02.2013 namely Criminal Appeal No. 1893 of 2013 was dismissed as abated on account of his having died during the pendency of the appeal.

17. Sri Rajesh Pathik, learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the inordinate and unexplained delay of more than 24 hours in lodging the F.I.R. of the occurrence is in itself indicative of the fact that the written report of the incident was prepared after due deliberations and consultations with the police falsely implicating the appellants, who are closely related to each other, as a measure of vendetta by the informant on account of his daughter Sumita (deceased) having an affair with the accused Sonu (deceased). He next submitted that despite the fact that the written report of the incident contains a specific recital that the Investigating Officer of the case had recorded the statement of Sumita (deceased) after she had regained consciousness in the morning of 23.03.2010 and P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra had gone to the police station to lodge the F.I.R. of the occurrence along with the statement of the deceased recorded by S.I. P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey but the said statement of the deceased was deliberately suppressed by the prosecution presumably because the same did not corroborate the prosecution story as narrated in the written report (Ext.Ka.1). He further submitted that material contradictions with regard to the named perpetrators of the crime and the place and the manner in which the deceased was set ablaze as narrated in the written report and later testified by the two witnesses of fact vis-a-vis the dying declaration of the deceased which itself appears to be a manufactured document render the oral evidence on record as well as the deceased's dying declaration wholly unreliable and untrustworthy and the reliance placed by the trial court on the same for fastening the guilt on the appellants is per se illegal. He further submitted that there are irreconcilable discrepancies with regard to the first part of the occurrence which constituted the alleged kidnapping of the deceased by the appellants and accused Sonu (deceased), her being raped by them for two days and thrown out of the maruti van and the manner of her recovery vis-a-vis the dying declaration and the F.I.R. of the incident. The time of incident mentioned in the F.I.R. is 5.10 p.m. while the deceased in her dying declaration had stated that she had been set ablaze at about 6.30 p.m. Moreover, the failure of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra to lodge any complaint with regard to the alleged kidnapping and rape of the deceased by the appellants further belies the prosecution story in that regard. He next submitted that the learned trial Judge illegally discarded the defence version of the occurrence which stood fully corroborated from the evidence of D.W.1 Om Prakash and D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh and the documentary evidence brought on record by the accused-appellant which clearly indicated that the appellants were innocent and had nothing to do with the alleged kidnapping of the deceased or her being set ablaze. He lastly submitted that such being the state of evidence and the role of setting the deceased ablaze having been specifically ascribed to accused Sonu (deceased) and the prosecution having miserably failed to prove that the appellants had also aided accused Sonu (deceased) in the alleged kidnapping of the deceased, their conviction recorded by the trial court by invoking aid of Section 34 I.P.C. is per se illegal and is liable to be set-aside.

18. Per contra Sri J. K. Upadhyay, learned A.G.A appearing for the State submitted that it is fully proved from the evidence of the two witnesses of fact examined by the prosecution during the trial that the deceased was kidnapped by the appellants and accused Sonu (deceased) while she was going to her school to find out the dates fixed for holding practical examination and illegally confined in a maruti van and that the accused after committing rape on her for two days by taking her to different places, had thrown her out of the maruti van in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana, and after the first informant had brought back his daughter to his house, the parents of accused had come to his house and threatened that they would see that his daughter was never married in case he filed any report against them and then on the same day, the accused had set the deceased ablaze by pouring kerosene oil on her. He further submitted that the learned trial Judge did not commit any illegality in relying upon the dying declaration of the deceased for the purpose of convicting the appellants. There is no merit in the submission made by learned counsel for the appellants that the conviction of the appellants recorded by the trial court by invoking Section 34 I.P.C. is illegal. There are no material contradictions in the statements of the witnesses recorded during the trial and the facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration so as to render the prosecution story unreliable. The prosecution story is also not liable to be thrown out merely on the ground of there being some delay in lodging of the F.I.R. There is no merit in this appeal. The appeal is liable to be dismissed.

19. The only question which arises for our consideration in this case is that whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the appellants beyond all reasonable doubts or not ?

20. Record shows that as per the prosecution version set forth in the written report of the occurrence (Ext.Ka.1) which was lodged by P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra, father of Sumita (deceased). Accused Sonu (deceased), Ajay (A1) and Monu (A2) had entered into the dump yard of informant's house and had caught hold of Sumita with the intention of burning her alive. Ajay (A1) poured kerosene oil on her from the canister which he was carrying on his shoulder on which Sumita (deceased) raised cries for help and started running helter-skelter within the dump yard. Monu (A2) and others threatened to shoot her in case she went to the police. On hearing the noise, P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra, Satpal, Zahoor and Om Prakash and several other persons rushed to his house and tried to douse the fire by pouring water on her. Sumita (deceased) had received 80 per cent burn injuries in the occurrence. She was taken to the hospital on the same day in an unconscious condition and admitted there for treatment. On the next day at about 9 a.m., she regained consciousness and a police man of police outpost- Ambehata came to the hospital and recorded her statement. P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra then went to police station to lodge the F.I.R. in the evening along with the statement of Sumita (deceased). The F.I.R. was registered on 23.03.2010 at about 17.10 hours. The incident which had taken place in the evening of 22.03.2010 was preceded by another occurrence which had taken place on 19.03.2010 when Sumita (deceased) was going to her school Puran Mal Degree College, Gangoh to find out the dates on which the practical examination were going to be held, she was kidnapped by accused Sonu (deceased), Ajay (A1), Monu (A2) and Jagveer (A3) at gunpoint and forcibly pushed into the maruti van and taken to different places for the next two days where they had committed rape on her. On 21.03.2010 at about 2.30 p.m., the deceased was thrown out of the maruti van in front of the "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana and on the information given by the villagers to P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra, he had taken his daughter to his house and after sometime, parents of accused Sonu (deceased) along with some respectable persons of his village had come to his house and requested him not to lodge any report otherwise they would see that his daughter was never married. As a result, he did not take any action against them.

21. The prosecution in order to prove its version of the incident examined P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata as eye witnesses of the occurrence although in the F.I.R. it was mentioned that a large number of villagers including Satpal, Om Prakash, Zahoor Ahmad etc. had also reached the place of occurrence on hearing the noise and witnessed the same but they were withheld although Om Prakash who was nominated as an eye witness of the occurrence in the F.I.R. was produced by the defence and examined as D.W.1.

22. P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra in his examination-in-chief deposed that the accused in the case namely Sonu (deceased), Ajay (A1), Monu (A2) and Jagveer (A3) were known to him previously. Jasveer was also called Jagveer. Sumita was his daughter. At the time of the occurrence, she was studying in B.Sc. Ist year. On 19.03.2010 at about 10.00 a.m. while she was going to Puran Mal Degree College, Gangoh where she studied, to enquire about the dates of practical examination and as soon as she reached the crossing of the village, she met Ajay (A1), Monu (A2), Jagveer (A3) and accused Sonu (deceased) near the bus stand, who kidnapped her and forced her into their van. They took his daughter to different places for the next two days and committed wrong with her. On 21.03.2010 at about 2.30 p.m., they left his daughter in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana in a perturbed condition. The man who sold nuts at the bus stand informed him on which he along with his other family members went to the place where his daughter was thrown. He brought her back to his house in an unconscious state. He gave water to her after which she gained consciousness. The relatives of the accused along with some respectable persons of the village came to his house and tendered apologies for the misdeeds of their children and requested him not to lodge any report with the police against them otherwise her daughter would never be able to get married. On 22.03.2010 at about 5 p.m., Ajay (A1), Monu (A2), Jagveer (A3) and accused Sonu (deceased) came to his house from the back door. Ajay (A1) poured kerosene oil on her from the canister which he was carrying on his shoulder while the remaining three accused caught hold of Sumita (deceased). Accused Sonu (deceased) set Sumita ablaze on which she ran within the dump yard shouting. When he tried to save his daughter, Jagveer (A3) took out his revolver and threatened him with dire consequences in case he came forward. On account of his threats, he could not save her. On hearing the noise, Satpal, Zahoor and Om Prakash also arrived at he place of occurrence and saw the occurrence and tried to save his daughter Sumita who had received 80 per cent burn injuries. He and his family members took his daughter to GovernmentHospital, Saharanpur and got her admitted there. His daughter regained consciousness in the morning of 23.03.2010 after which a Daroga Ji came to the hospital and recorded her statement. Thereafter he scribed the written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) and lodged it at P.S.- Nakud, District- Saharanpur. It is noteworthy that P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra in his examination-in-chief has not deposed about recording of any dying declaration of the deceased by P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar after the police man of police outpost- Ambehata had recorded her statement. P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra in his cross-examination when contradicted with the contents of the F.I.R. in which he had not named Monu (A2) as accused, he said that he had written the name of Monu (A2) as accused in the F.I.R. but in case his name was not there, he had no explanation for the same. He came up with the same explanation for his failure to nominate Monu (A2) as accused in his statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. on being contradicted with the same by the defence counsel.

23. P.W.2 Kusum Lata in her examination-in-chief recorded during the trial corroborated the evidence of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra on all material points. In addition, she stated that after the policemen had arrived, she was asked to first save her daughter and the duty of catching the accused was theirs. She also stated that after the statement of her daughter was recorded by a police man of police outpost- Ambehata, a senior officer had come and had recorded the statement of Sumita (deceased) in a closed room. Her daughter had died due to burn injuries on 27.03.2010. She in her evidence did not state that the information about her daughter being abandoned by the accused in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana, was given to her by the person selling nuts at the bus stand. She deposed that somebody had informed them about her daughter being thrown out of maruti van by the accused in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana. She in her examination-in-chief also deposed that on 22.03.2010 at about 5 p.m., she was washing clothes in the dump yard and her daughter was sitting in the courtyard in a pensive mood. All the four accused namely Ajay (A1), Monu (A2), Jagveer (A3) and accused Sonu (deceased) entered the premises of her house from the back door. Monu (A2) caught hold of her daughter while Ajay (A1) poured kerosene oil on her and accused Sonu (deceased) set her ablaze. Her daughter shouted on which Jagveer (A3) threatened her with a revolver and told her that in case she made any noise, he would shoot her. Satpal, Zahoor and Om Prakash had also reached the place of occurrence on hearing the noise. The police also arrived and took the deceased along with her parents and family members to the hospital who regained consciousness on the next day at about 9 a.m. A police man from police outpost, Ambehata had recorded her statement and thereafter some senior officer came and recorded her statement in a closed room. Her daughter died on 27.03.2010 as a result of burn injuries. P.W.2 Kusum Lata, on being contradicted with her statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. in which the name of Monu (A2) was conspicuous by its absence, stated that she had told the name of Monu (A2) to the Investigating Officer but in case he had failed to mention his name in her statement, she had no explanation for the aforesaid omission on the part of the Investigating Officer. P.W.2 Kusum Lata in her cross-examination on page 34 of the paper book further deposed that when P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar came to record the dying declaration of the deceased, she was sitting with her daughter in the ward. Naib Tehsildar had asked her to leave the room.

24. Although in the F.I.R. as well as in the examination-in-chief of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra, he has stated that Ajay (A1) had poured kerosene oil kept by him in the canister, over the deceased while P.W.2 Kusum Lata did not state about any canister in her evidence.

25. Thus, upon a conjoint reading of the statements of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata, it transpires that their evidence on the point of the Sumita (deceased) being kidnapped by the appellants is hearsay and inadmissible in evidence against the appellants. Moreover, there are several material contradictions in their evidence with regard to the main occurrence. While P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra stated that he was the first one to reach the place of occurrence after hearing the noise and was threatened by Jagveer (A3) with a revolver when he tried to save his daughter, P.W.2 Kusum Lata also claimed herself to be the first person to arrive at the place of occurrence and being threatened by Jagveer (A3). Moreover, both P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata have failed to come up with any plausible explanation for their having not nominated Monu (A2) also as an accused in their statements recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C.

26. Similarly although both the eye witnesses deposed before the trial court that police had arrived at the place of occurrence immediately after the incident and taken their daughter with them to the hospital but in the F.I.R. (Ext.Ka.9), there is no such recital. In fact the F.I.R.

contains a categorical averment that P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and villagers had taken the deceased to the hospital. The deceased also in her dying declaration stated that her father had taken her to the hospital.

27. Similarly, no explanation is coming forth for non-mention of Monu (A2) in the F.I.R. The F.I.R. also does not contain any recital that after Ajay (A1) had poured kerosene oil on the deceased, the accused had set her ablaze. In fact the F.I.R. is absolutely silent on the point that after kerosene oil was poured on her, the accused or anyone of the accused had set her ablaze. P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra has also failed to mention in the F.I.R. that when he had gone to save his daughter after hearing her shrieks, Jagveer (A3) had threatened him with a revolver.

28. The aforesaid discrepancies in their statements create a very strong suspicion about the truthfulness of the facts deposed by them with regard to the main occurrence. In our opinion, their evidence does not inspire confidence and it would not be safe to confirm the conviction of the appellants by placing reliance on their testimony.

29. The only evidence thus left on record against the appellants is the dying declaration of the deceased. The veracity of the dying declaration of the deceased has been assailed by the learned counsel for the appellants inter alia on the grounds that the version of the occurrence given in the dying declaration is vague as the same does not refer to the date of the occurrence and materially differs from the prosecution version; that there is evidence on record indicating that before P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar had proceeded to record the dying declaration of the deceased, her family members were sitting with her and hence, there was ample opportunity of tutoring the deceased; that the statement of the deceased which was recorded by police man of police outpost- Ambehata as soon as she had regained consciousness in the hospital on the next day and with which P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra had gone to the police station for lodging the F.I.R. as deposed by him in his evidence, was deliberately suppressed; that there is evidence of D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh who was the first doctor to attend the victim when she was admitted to the hospital on 22.03.2010 at 7.45 p.m. and the extract of medico-legal register (Ext.Kha.1) indicating that on being asked by D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh about how she had received injuries, she had told him that she had set herself ablaze and the aforesaid statement in fact constituted her first dying declaration which has been illegally ignored by the trial Judge. Before considering the acceptability of the dying declaration and the course which a court should adopt in the event of there being multiple dying declarations of the deceased, it would be useful to refer the legal position :-

30. In Sham Shankar Kankaria vs. State of Maharashtra, (2006) 13 SCC 165, the Apex Court held as under :

"10. This is a case where the basis of conviction of the accused is the dying declaration. The situation in which a person is on deathbed is so solemn and serene when he is dying that the grave position in which he is placed, is the reason in law to accept veracity of his statement. It is for this reason the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with. Besides, should the dying declaration be excluded it will result in miscarriage of justice because the victim being generally the only eye-witness in a serious crime, the exclusion of the statement would leave the Court without a scrap of evidence.

11. Though a dying declaration is entitled to great weight, it is worthwhile to note that the accused has no power of cross- examination. Such a power is essential for eliciting the truth as an obligation of oath could be. This is the reason the Court also insists that the dying declaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the Court in its correctness. The Court has to be on guard that the statement of deceased was not as a result of either tutoring, or prompting or a product of imagination. The Court must be further satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind after a clear opportunity to observe and identify the assailant. Once the Court is satisfied that the declaration was true and voluntary, undoubtedly, it can base its conviction without any further corroboration. It cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that the dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction unless it is corroborated. The rule requiring corroboration is merely a rule of prudence. This Court has laid down in several judgments the principles governing dying declaration, which could be summed up as under as indicated in Smt. Paniben v. State of Gujarat (AIR 1992 SC 1817):

" (i) There is neither rule of law nor of prudence that dying declaration cannot be acted upon without corroboration. (See Munnu Raja &Anr. v. The State of Madhya Pradesh (1976) 2 SCR)

(ii) If the Court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and voluntary it can base conviction on it, without corroboration. (See State of Uttar Pradesh v. Ram Sagar Yadav and Ors. (AIR 1985 SC 416) and Ramavati Devi v. State of Bihar (AIR 1983 SC 164)]

(iii) The Court has to scrutinize the dying declaration carefully and must ensure that the declaration is not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination. The deceased had an opportunity to observe and identify the assailants and was in a fit state to make the declaration. [See K. Ramachandra Reddy and Anr. v. The Public Prosecutor (AIR 1976 SC 1994)]

(iv) Where dying declaration is suspicious, it should not be acted upon without corroborative evidence. (See Rasheed Beg v. State of Madhya Pradesh (1974 (4) SCC 264)]

(v) Where the deceased was unconscious and could never make any dying declaration the evidence with regard to it is to be rejected. [See Kaka Singh v State of M.P. (AIR 1982 SC 1021)]

(vi) A dying declaration which suffers from infirmity cannot form the basis of conviction. (See Ram Manorath and Ors. v. State of U.P. (1981 (2) SCC 654)

(vii) Merely because a dying declaration does contain the details as to the occurrence, it is not to be rejected. [See State of Maharashtra v. Krishnamurthi Laxmipati Naidu (AIR 1981 SC 617)]

(viii) Equally, merely because it is a brief statement, it is not to be discarded. On the contrary, the shortness of the statement itself guarantees truth. [See Surajdeo Oza and Ors. v. State of Bihar (AIR 1979 SC 1505).

(ix) Normally the Court in order to satisfy whether deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration look up to the medical opinion. But where the eye-witness said that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make the dying declaration, the medical opinion cannot prevail. (See Nanahau Ram and Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh (AIR 1988 SC 912)].

(x) Where the prosecution version differs from the version as given in the dying declaration, the said declaration cannot be acted upon. (See State of U.P. v. Madan Mohan and Ors. (AIR 1989 SC 1519)].

(xi) Where there are more than one statement in the nature of dying declaration, one first in point of time must be preferred. Of course, if the plurality of dying declaration could be held to be trustworthy and reliable, it has to be accepted. [See Mohanlal Gangaram Gehani v.State of Maharashtra (AIR 1982 SC 839)]."

(ii) In Puran Chand vs. State of Haryana, 15 (2010) 6 SCC 566, this Court once again reiterated the abovementioned principles.

(iii) In Panneerselvam vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 16 (2008) 17 SCC 190, a Bench of three Judges of the Apex Court reiterating various principles mentioned above held that it cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that the dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of the conviction unless it is corroborated and the rule requiring corroboration is merely a rule of prudence.

31. In Heeralal V/S State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 LawSuit (SC) 394, the Apex Court has held as hereunder :

"that being so, in view of the apparent discrepancies in the two dying declarations it would be unsafe to convict the appellant."

32. In Gopal V/S State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 LawSuit (SC) 484, the Apex Court has held as hereunder :

"Law relating to appreciation of evidence in the form of more than one dying declaration is well settled. Accordingly, it is not the plurality of the dying declarations but the reliability thereof that adds weight to the prosecution case. If a dying declaration is found to be voluntary, reliable and made in fit mental condition, it can be relied upon without any corroboration. The statement should be consistent throughout. If the deceased had several opportunities of making such dying declarations, that is to say, if there are more than one dying declaration they should be consistent. See: Kundula Bala Subrahmanyam vs. State of A.P. 1993 2 SCC 684. However, if some inconsistencies are noticed between one dying declaration and the other, the court has to examine the nature of the inconsistencies, namely, whether they are material or not. While scrutinizing the contents of various dying declaration, in such a situation, the court has to examine the same in the light of the various surrounding facts and circumstances.

33. We now proceed to examine the veracity and acceptability of the dying declaration in this case in the light of the above principles. Although in the case in hand, the prosecution claims that only one dying declaration of the deceased was recorded which was brought on record and proved as (Ext.Ka.12), the defence has come up with a specific case that atleast two other dying declarations of the deceased were recorded. The first one was a statement given by the victim immediately after she was admitted in the hospital on 22.03.2010 at 7.45 p.m. for treatment, before D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh in which she had stated that she had set herself ablaze.

34. The second dying declaration of the deceased came into existence at about 9 a.m. on 23.03.2010 which was recorded by a police man of police outpost-Ambehata in the hospital after the victim had regained consciousness. Copy of the aforesaid statement was given to P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra as deposed by him in his examination-in-chief and also mentioned by him in the F.I.R. of the incident but strangely the aforesaid statement of the victim never saw the light of the day and for the reasons best known to the prosecution, the same was suppressed.

35. The third dying declaration of the deceased which the prosecution claims to be the only dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar on 23.03.2010 at about 12.15-12.30 p.m. in the burn unit of the hospital after the Emergency Medical Officer present there had certified the deceased to be in a fit condition to give her dying declaration, which has been already reproduced hereinabove. The dying declaration of the deceased was proved by P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar and who in his examination-in-chief deposed that he had recorded the dying declaration of the deceased on 23.03.2010 in the burn unit after the Emergency Medical Officer of S.B.D. Hospital, Saharanpur had certified that the deceased was in a fit condition to give her statement between 12.15-12.30 p.m. After recording her dying declaration, he had read it over to her and thereafter she had put her thumb impression thereon. P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar proved the dying declaration of the deceased as (Ext.Ka.12). In his cross-examination, P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar admitted that the application for recording the dying declaration of the deceased had accompanied the dying declaration memo dated 22.03.2010 in which it was mentioned that P.W.2 Kusum Lata had stated that the victim had told D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh that she had set herself ablaze. P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar failed to come up with any explanation for not obtaining deceased's signature on the dying declaration although he admitted that he had asked her to sign it and why he had obtained her thumb impression on her alleged dying declaration. He also admitted that it is not noted in the dying declaration that the deceased was not in a condition to sign the dying declaration. Although the dying declaration contains a certificate of the Emergency Medical Officer that the victim was in a position to give her dying declaration but the certificate of fitness scribed on the dying declaration of the deceased was not proved by examining the Emergency Medical Officer as a witness during the trial.

36. The evidence of P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar also does not indicate that before recording the dying declaration of the deceased, he had made any efforts to satisfy himself by putting a question to the deceased that whether she was giving her dying declaration voluntarily or she was under pressure or influence of her family members. Thus, we are not satisfied that there is any evidence on record indicating that the deceased had given her dying declaration voluntarily and moreover, the possibility of the same being tutored or prompted also cannot be ruled out.

37. The version given by the deceased in her dying declaration in this case differs from the prosecution version materially.

38. Upon a careful reading of the dying declaration of the deceased (Ext.Ka.12), it transpires that while she was going to college, she was kidnapped by Ajay (A1), Monu (A2), Jagveer (A3) and accused Sonu (deceased). They took her to Shakumbhari. She somehow escaped from their clutches and returned to her house on Friday. Yesterday when she was standing in the back side of her house, all the four accused poured kerosene oil on her on which she ran into the bathroom. The accused Sonu (deceased) then set her ablaze. With regard to her kidnapping, no report was lodged with the police. Firstly, her father had searched for her and then he thought that she might have gone to some relative's place. Then he went to the house of accused Sonu (deceased) and told him to return the girl otherwise he will take action. She was taken away on Friday and she had escaped on Sunday. She further stated that she had been set ablaze at about 6.30 p.m. and was taken to the hospital by her father.

39. The dying declaration of the deceased neither contains any recital that the accused-appellants after kidnapping her, had confined her in a maruti van and had taken her to different places for two days and repeatedly committed rape on her. Further, there is no mention in the dying declaration that the deceased was thrown out of the maruti van by the accused in front of "aaraht" of Raj Kumar Khurrana and she was taken back to her home by her father on being informed about her being abandoned. From the perusal of the dying declaration, it appears that P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra, his father was aware that she was in the house of the accused Sonu (deceased) and he had gone to his house and asked him to return his daughter to him otherwise it would not be good for him and that she had returned to her house herself.

40. Although in the evidence of the so-called eye witnesses of the occurrence, it is mentioned that Ajay (A1) had poured kerosene oil on the deceased while other accused had caught hold of her and accused Sonu (deceased) had set her ablaze in the dump yard itself whereafter she had started running all over the dump yard but the deceased in her dying declaration stated that all the four accused had poured kerosene oil on her on which she ran inside the bathroom where accused Sonu (deceased) had set her ablaze.

41. Two witnesses of the fact further in their evidence stated that at the time of the occurrence, P.W.2 Kusum Lata was washing clothes in the bathroom. The deceased in her dying declaration has also not stated that after she was set ablaze by the accused Sonu (deceased), on hearing her shrieks either her mother or father had arrived at the place of occurrence and when they tried to save her, Jagveer (A3) had threatened them with his revolver.

42. There is also evidence of both P.W.2 Kusum Lata, P.W.6 S.I. Samarpal Singh, Investigating Officer and P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar which shows that when P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar had gone to the burn unit of the hospital to record the dying declaration of the deceased, she was surrounded by her family members and hence, the possibility of the dying declaration being tutored, cannot be ruled out.

43. The prosecution case, that apart from (Ext.Ka.12), there was no other dying declaration of the deceased does not appear to be correct. Dr. Karamvir Singh, who was examined as D.W.2 by the defence and who was undisputedly the first doctor who had attended the deceased after she was admitted to the hospital with burn injuries has in his evidence tendered before the trial court deposed that on 22.03.2010 at about 7.45 p.m. while he was posted as Emergency Medical Officer in S.B.D. Hospital, Saharanpur, he had medically examined the victim Sumita who was brought to the hospital by her father in a precarious condition with severe burn injuries. On being asked by him as to how she had received the burn injuries, she had told him that she had set herself ablaze. He further deposed that he had recorded the aforesaid statement of the victim in the medico-legal register, original copy whereof was produced by him before the trial court and certified photostat copy of the same was brought on record, proved and marked as (Ext.Kha.1). He further deposed that he had immediately written an application for getting her dying declaration recorded in which he had himself written that the victim had told him that she had set herself ablaze. The aforesaid document was proved as (Ext.Kha.2). Upon being confronted with his statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. recorded during the investigation in which he had stated that the dying declaration recorded by the Naib Tehsildar contained correct facts, in his cross-examination he denied having made any such statement before the Investigating Officer.

44. The statement of the victim which was recorded by a police man of police outpost- Ambehata was also suppressed by the prosecution without assigning any reason and on account of the aforesaid omission on the part of the prosecution, we can safely draw an adverse inference against the prosecution that the first statement of the Sumita recorded was not at all in consonance with the prosecution case as later spelt out in the written report of the occurrence (Ext.Ka.1) filed by P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra.

45. In view of the foregoing discussions, we are not satisfied that the dying declaration is not tutored or consistent with the prosecution case. The two dying declarations of the deceased are not at all consistent with each other as the first dying declaration (Ext.Kha.1) indicates that the deceased had set herself ablaze while in the other dying declaration (Ext.Ka.12) which the prosecution claims to be the only dying declaration of the deceased although from the evidence on record, it is established that there were atleast three dying declarations of the deceased, one recorded by D.W.2 Dr. Karamvir Singh, the second recorded by police man of police outpost-Ambehata and the third recorded by P.W.7 Rajnikant Pandey, Naib Tehsildar in which it was mentioned that all the accused had poured kerosene oil on the deceased and set her ablaze. The dying declaration also substantially differs from the prosecution version and hence, the reliance placed by the learned trial Judge on the same for the purpose of convicting the appellants, is per se illegal.

46. The inordinate and unexplained delay of almost 24 hours on the part of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra to lodge the F.I.R. of the incident in which his daughter was set ablaze by the accused-appellants and accused Sonu (deceased) although the evidence on record indicates that the police had arrived at the place of occurrence immediately and taken the deceased along with her parents P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra and P.W.2 Kusum Lata to the hospital even though P.W.1 claims himself to be the eye witness of the occurrence, totally shatters the credibility of the F.I.R. Under the circumstances, the possibility of the F.I.R. of the incident having been prepared after due deliberations, consultations and on the advice of the police falsely implicating the appellants along with accused Sonu (deceased) who had allegedly kidnapped the deceased as per the prosecution version or her having an affair with accused Sonu (deceased) as per the defence version, on account of their being his cousin brothers, cannot be ruled out.

47. Moreover, we also have the evidence of D.W.1 Om Prakash who was named as a witness in the F.I.R. but was not produced by the prosecution as a prosecution witness. After going through his testimony, we find that he had reached the house of P.W.1 informant Ramesh Chandra on hearing the noise. He saw that although the gate of his house was closed but on his pushing it, it opened. Then he, Satpal and Zahoor Ahmad entered his house and saw the deceased lying on a pile of cow dung and shouting "इन्होने ने जला के मार दिया। इन्होने की मतलब माँ बाप ने जलाकर मार दिया।" He further deposed that he immediately called the police at the occurrence. The police arrived at the place of occurrence within 5-7 minutes and took the deceased and her parents towards police outpost. He was not aware what happened thereafter. D.W.1 Om Prakash was cross-examined extensively by the prosecution counsel as well as the informant's counsel but strangely no suggestion was given to him by them that either he was won over as he was not supporting the prosecution case or he had not seen the occurrence. The evidence of D.W.1 has throughout remained consistent and clinching. We do not find any reason to disbelieve D.W.1 Om Prakash. From his evidence, the complicity of the appellants in setting the deceased ablaze is ruled out completely.

48. Thus, upon a wholesome consideration of the facts of the case, the attending circumstances and a careful scrutiny of the evidence on record, both oral as well as documentary, we are not satisfied that the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the accused-appellants beyond all reasonable doubts and hence, neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentence awarded to them can be sustained and are liable to be set-aside.

49. These are the reasons upon which we had allowed these appeals.

A. Section 376 I.P.C. - Absence of injuries on private parts of the victim would not rule out rape – Held:- Merely because there was no injury on the private parts of the deceased, it could not be said that she was not subjected to rape. Evidence that dead body of deceased found semi naked and clothes were lying scattered. As per the inquest, there were blood spots on thigh of deceased. On facts, Rape established. (Para 21)

B. Witness - Interested witness- Who and when to be discarded - Relationship not sufficient to discredit a witness. Can be accepted as evidence with care and caution. Held:- A witness is interested only if he derives benefit from the result of the case or as hostility to the accused.

C. There is no rule of law that a court cannot act on the evidence of interested witnesses. The only thing is that a court should be careful and cautious in accepting that evidence and if after due scrutiny it is found that their evidence does not suffer from any infirmities, in that case, there is no reason why a conviction should not follow on that evidence. (Para 22)

D. Section 313 Cr.P.C - Examination of Accused Persons–Duty of Accused to explain the incriminating circumstances. (Delivered by Hon'ble Raj Beer Singh, J.)

1. These two appeals have been preferred against the judgment and order dated 05.05.2015 passed by the Learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Moradabad in Session Trial No. 419 of 2010, (State vs. Sunder Singh and Anr.) under Sections 302/34, 376 of Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as IPC) and Section 3(2)(v) of The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as SC/ST Act), P.S. Asmoli, District Sambhal (Sessions Division Moradabad), whereby appellants Sunder Singh and Jagta have been convicted under Sections 302/34, 376 (D) IPC and 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act. Both the appellants were sentenced to imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs. 10,000/- each under Section 302/34 IPC, imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs. 10,000/- each under Section 376-D IPC and imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs. 10,000/ each under Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST. In default of payment of fine, they have to undergo three years rigorous imprisonment under each head. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. Prosecution version is that on 09.12.2009 at 8:00 AM complainant's wife Suman has gone to jungle for agriculture work in sugarcane crop and after that at around 10:30 PM, complainant's sister, aged 14 years, (who has been referred in this judgment as deceased) has left her home to go there for collecting fodder from Suman. One Samar Pal and Mukhiya @ Dinesh have also seen the deceased while she was going to jungle but deceased did not reach there. When Suman came at her home and inquired about deceased, complainant's father PW-2 Karan Singh told her that the deceased has left home at about 10:30 AM to collect fodder from her. Complainant's wife Suman, father and one Karan Singh started search of deceased and when they reached near sugarcane field of Kripal Singh, at around 01.00 PM, appellants/accused Sunder Singh and Jagta came out from said sugarcane field and when they were asked about deceased, they flurried and ran away from there. When complainant's wife, father and Karan Singh made search in the same sugarcane field, dead body of deceased was found lying inside the said sugarcane field. There was a rope around her neck and her clothes were lying scattered. As per complainant, both the appellants have committed rape upon his sister deceased and due to the fear, they committed her murder. One Samar Pal and Mukhiya @ Dinesh told that when deceased was going to jungle, both the accused appellants were present near the spot as they were collecting water pipe there and except them there was no other person and thus, murder of deceased was committed by them.

3. Mentioning all these facts, complainant Padam Singh has submitted a tahreer Ex. Ka-1 at police station and on that basis, case was registered against both the appellants-accused under Sections 376, 302 IPC and 3(1)(12) SC/ST Act on 09.12.2009 at about 17:35 hours vide FIR Ex. Ka-2.

4. The inquest proceedings were conducted by PW-8 S.I. Raj Kumar Sharma and inquest report Ex. Ka-7 and other related papers like Photo lash, letter RI, letter CMO and challan dead body etc Ex. Ka- 8 to ka-11 were prepared. One sleeper of the deceased and some broken bangles found at the spot were also seized vide memo Ex. Ka-12. The dead body of deceased was sealed and sent for postmortem.

5. Postmortem on the dead body of the deceased was conducted by PW-5 Dr. S.N. Tiwari on 10.12.2009 vide postmortem report Ex. Ka-4 and following anti mortem injuries were found on the person of deceased.

(i) Multiple Abrasion and contusion 8 cm x 5 cm over on right of neck.

(ii) Bleeding seen in both nostril.

(iii) Multiple Abrasion and contusion covering 4 cm x 2 cm over left side chick.

(iv) On dissection hyoid bone found fractured.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, the cause of death of the deceased was Asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem strangulation.

6. Initially investigation was conducted by circle officer Sarvesh and subsequent investigation was conducted PW-6 CO Brejesh Singh. During course of investigation on 10.12.2009 both the accused persons were arrested and their clothes were seized separately vide seizure memo Ex. Ka-13. After completion of the investigation, both the accused persons were charge-sheeted vide Ex. Ka-5.

7. Trial Court framed charges under Sections 376, 302/34 IPC and 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act against both the accused persons. They pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

8. In order to bring home the guilt of the accused persons, prosecution has examined eight witnesses. After prosecution evidence, the both the accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein they denied prosecution evidence and claimed that they have been falsely implicated. However, no evidence was adduced in defence.

9. After hearing and analyzing the evidence on record, both the appellants were convicted under Sections 302/34, 376 (D) IPC and 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act by the trial court and were sentenced as stated earlier.

10. Being aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order, accused appellant Jagta has preferred the Jail Appeal No. 332 of 2018 and accused appellant Sunder Singh has preferred Criminal Appeal No. 606 of 2018.

11. On the request of the appellant Jagta for appointing an Amicus Curiae to argue his appeal hence we appointed Sri Zafar Abbas, Advocate as Amicus Curiae to argue his appeal who is also appearing as counsel for appellant Sunder Singh in the connected appeal.

12. We have heard Sri Zafar Abbas, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Irshad Husain and learned A.G.A. for the State and perused record.

13. Learned counsel for the appellants has argued that there is no reliable evidence against the appellants and they have been convicted merely on the basis of suspicion. PW-1 Padam Singh and PW-2 Karan Singh are the brother and father of the deceased and thus, they are interested witnesses and therefore, their evidence cannot be relied upon. There is no eye-witness of the alleged incident and the chain of circumstances is not complete. The statement of PW-2 Karan Singh and PW-3 Samarpal Singh that both the appellants were seen coming out from sugarcane field of Kripal Singh and ran away, is not reliable. Further, there is no conclusive medical evidence that deceased was subjected to rape. It has been further submitted that there is no material on record at all to attract provisions of Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act. It was submitted that learned trial court has not appreciated the evidence properly and committed error by convicting the appellants.

14. Per contra learned A.G.A. submitted that the circumstantial evidence on record clearly points out that both the appellant-accused have subjected deceased to rape and due to fear that deceased may disclose the incident, they committed her murder. There is evidence of PW-3 Samarpal Singh that when deceased was going to collect fodder, she was seen by PW-3 near agricultural field of Kripal Singh and that both the appellants Sunder Singh and Jagta were also there as they were collecting water pipes there. Further there is evidence of PW-2 that while they were searching deceased and reached near filed of sugarcane filed of Kripal Singh, both appellants have come out from sugarcane field and thereafter dead body of deceased was recovered from same place. It was pointed out that medical evidence clearly shows that deceased was molested and subjected to rape and thereafter her murder was committed. Learned A.G.A. submitted that conviction of appellant is based on evidence and there is no illegality in the same.

15. In this case there is no eye witness of the alleged incident and case is based on circumstantial evidence. It is well settled that though conviction can be based on circumstantial evidence alone but for that the prosecution must establish the chain of circumstances, which consistently points to the accused and accused alone and is inconsistent with their innocence. It is further essential for the prosecution to cogently and firmly establish the circumstances from which interference of guilt of accused is to be drawn. These circumstances then have to be taken into consideration cumulatively. They must be complete to conclude that within all human probability, the accused and none else have committed the offence. In a landmark judgment of the Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, the Apex Court held as under:

"152. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be ' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved as was held by this court in Shivaji Sahebaro Bobade V State of Maharashtra 1973 CriLJ1783 where the following observations were made:

Certainly, it is primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a Court can convict, and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accuses, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

153. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence".

In Joseph vs. State of Kerala, [(2000) 5 SCC 197], the Hon'ble Apex court has explained under what circumstances conviction can be based purely on circumstantial evidence. It was observed, that,

16. "it is often said that though witnesses may lie, circumstances will not, but at the same time it must cautiously be scrutinized to see that the incriminating circumstances are such as to lead only to a hypothesis of guilt and reasonably exclude every possibility of innocence of the accused. There can also be no hard and fast rule as to the appreciation of evidence in a case and being always an exercise pertaining to arriving at a finding of fact the same has to be in the manner necessitated or warranted by the peculiar facts and circumstances of each case. The whole effort and endeavor in the case should be to find out whether the crime was committed by the accused and the circumstances proved form themselves into a complete chain unerringly pointing to the guilt of the accused."

Similar view has been expressed in Padala Veera Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (AIR 1990 SC 79). In C. Chenga Reddy and others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (AIR 1996 SC 3390), the Supreme Court has held that:-

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence."

In State of U.P. vs. Ashok Kumar Srivastava, [(1992) 2 SCC 86], it was pointed out that great care must be taken in evaluating circumstantial evidence and if the evidence relied on, is reasonably capable of two inferences, the one in favour of the accused must be accepted. It was also pointed out that the circumstances relied upon must be found to have been fully established and the cumulative effect of all the facts so established must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt.

The principle that emerges from these decisions is that where a conviction rests squarely on circumstantial evidence, the inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or the guilt of any person. The circumstances from which an inference of guilt is drawn must be fully established and there should not be any missing links in the case. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. In deciding the sufficiency of the circumstantial evidence for the purpose of conviction, the court has to consider the total cumulative effect of all the proved facts, each one of which reinforces the conclusion of guilt and if the combined effect of all these facts taken together is conclusive in establishing the guilt of the accused, the conviction would be justified. To put it simply, the circumstances forming the chain of events should be proved and they should cumulatively point towards the guilt of the accused alone.

16. In the instant case perusal of evidence shows that PW-1 Padam Singh has stated that on the day of incident his wife has gone to collect fodder from sugarcane crop and after that his sister/ deceased, aged about 14 years, has also left home for going there to collect fodder from her. While going to jungle, she was seen by Kripal Singh, Samarpal, Mukhiya @ Dinesh and on their asking, she has told that she was going to collect fodder. When deceased did not reach there, wife of PW-1 Padam Singh came at her home and inquired about the deceased but father of PW-1 told that deceased had left home at 10:30 AM for going to jungle to collect fodder. PW-1 further stated that while making search of deceased, her wife Suman, father Karan Singh and one Samarpal reached near sugarcane field of Kripal Singh, at the same time at around 1:00 PM, appellants Sunder Singh and Jagta Singh were coming out from sugarcane field and when they were asked about the deceased, they flurried and ran away from there. Thereafter, dead body of deceased was found in the same sugarcane filed. There was a rope around her neck and her clothes were lying scattered. PW-1 Padam Singh further stated that the appellants-accused Jagta and Sunder Singh have committed rape upon the deceased and with the fear that the incident may come out, they committed her murder. At the spot there were only accused Sunder Singh and Jagta and none else. PW-1 Padam Singh has proved his tahreer as Ex. Ka-1.

17. P.W. 2 Karan Singh stated that on the day of incident, his daughter (deceased) has gone to collect fodder from the field of one Inderpal but she did not return back. When he along with others has gone to search her and reached near the field of Kripal Singh, at about 1:00 PM, appellants Jagta and Suder Singh were coming out from filed of Kripal Singh and when they were enquired about deceased they did not tell anything. When they were again asked, both the accused ran away from there.

PW-2 stated that they reached at the point of field from where both the appellants have come out and saw that some crops of sugarcane was lying damaged there and at some distance the dead body of deceased was lying in semi-naked condition and there was a rope around her neck and her clothes were lying scattered. PW-2 further stated that both the appellants-accused were known to him as Sunder is resident of his village while Jagta is resident of nearby village Sedpur and both were employed by one Kanchan Jaat.

18. PW-3 Samarpal has stated that on the day of incident, at about 10:30-11:00 AM, he and Mukhiya @ Dinesh were carrying fodder from jungle and when reached near sugarcane field of Kripal Singh, deceased has met them and when they inquired from her as to where she was going, she told that she was going to collect fodder. PW-3 further stated that near the filed of Kripal Singh, appellants-accused Sunder Singh and Jagta were collecting water pipe. PW 3 stated that they both were known to him since before the incident.

19. PW-4 Gurudev Singh is a formal witness, who has recorded FIR. PW-6 A.S.P. Brijesh Singh has conducted part investigation. During investigation he has recorded the statements of witness and has filed charge-sheet Ex. Ka-5.

20. PW-7 Dr. M.C. Gurecha has examined vaginal smear of deceased and has proved his report Ex. Ka-6. As per PW 6, sperm were found in the vaginal smear of the deceased.

21. It is clear from the post-mortem report of the deceased that the death of the deceased was homicidal in nature. This fact has not been disputed from the side of appellants. However it was submitted by the learned counsel for the appellants that there is no medical evidence to establish that deceased was subjected to rape. In this regard it may be stated that merely because there was no injury on the private parts of deceased, it could not be said that deceased was not subjected to rape. Vaginal smear examination report exhibit ka-6, clearly shows that sperms were found in the vaginal smear of the deceased. In this regard, statement of PW-7 Dr. M.C. Gurecha, who examined vaginal smear of deceased, is clear that sperm were found in the vaginal smear of deceased. Further, as per the FSL report exhibit ka-15, sperms were also found at the underwear of appellant-accused Jagta. There is also evidence to the effect that dead body of deceased was found in semi-naked condition and clothes were lying scattered. As per the inquest report, there were blood spots at the thigh of deceased. All these facts clearly established that before her murder, deceased was subjected to rape. The deceased was a young girl, aged 14 years, thus, she could have been easily overpowered by the accused-appellants and thus, the fact that she did not suffer any injury at her private parts, can not be given much importance. It is well settled that absence of injuries on private parts of victim would not rule out being subjected to rape. In this connection reference may be made to case of Rafiq vs. State of U.P. (1980) 4 SCC 262 and Sheikh Zakir vs. State of Bihar (1983) 4 SCC 10. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that there is no medical evidence of rape has no force.

22. It was argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that PW 1 and PW 2, being brother and father of deceased, are interested witness. In this regard, it may be observed that mere relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness. It is well settled that a natural witness may not be labelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. In case the circumstances reveal that a witness was present on the scene of the occurrence and had witnessed the crime, his deposition cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim. Generally close relations of the victim are unlikely to falsely implicate anyone. Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spear the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person is alleged and proved. A witness is interested only if he derives benefit from the result of the case or as hostility to the accused. In case of State of Punjab Vs Hardam Singh, 2005, S.C.C. (Cr.) 834, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that ordinarily the mere relations of the deceased would not depose falsely against innocent persons so as to allow the real culprit to escape unpunished, rather the witness would always try to secure conviction of real culprit. In case of Dilip Singh Vs State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1983, S.C. 364, it was held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the ground that the witnesses being the close relatives and consequently being the partition witness would not be relied upon has no substance. Similar view has been taken by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Harbans Kaur V State of Haryana, 2005, S.C.C. (Crl.) 1213; and State of U.P. vs. Kishan Chandra and others, 2004 (7), S.C.C. 629. The contention about branding the witnesses as interested witness and credibility of close relationship of witnesses has been examined by Hon'ble Apex court in a number of cases. A close relative, who is a very natural witness in the circumstances of a case, cannot be regarded as an 'interested witness (Dalbir Kaur v. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 472). The mere fact that the witnesses were relations or interested would not by itself be sufficient to discard their evidence straight way unless it is proved that their evidence suffers from serious infirmities which raises considerable doubt in the mind of the court. There is no rule of law that a Court cannot act on the evidence of interested witnesses. The only thing is that a Court should be careful and cautious in accepting that evidence and if after due scrutiny it is found that their evidence does not suffer from any infirmities, in that case, there is no reason why a conviction should not follow on that evidence. In the case of Satbir Singh & Ors V State of Uttar Pradesh [(2009) 13 SCC 790], it was observed that it is well-settled principle of law that only because the witnesses are not independent ones may not by itself be a ground to discard the prosecution case. In the present case it is quite natural that it is the family members of the deceased, who would know as to when and where deceased, a girl aged 14 years, has gone. When deceased gone missing, it is quite natural that her family members would search her. The version put forward by PW 2 and PW 3 is quite natural and nothing adverse could be elicited in their cross-examination. Further, PW 3 appears a thoroughly independent witness and the prosecution version finds support from his statement. Here it would be pertinent to mention that there is nothing to show that these witnesses have any enmity or grudge against the appellants. In view of all these facts, the evidence PW 1 and PW 2 can not be doubted on the ground that they are brother and father of the deceased.

23. From statements of PW 1 and PW 2, it is clear on the day of incident at about 11.00 AM, deceased has gone to field to fetch fodder from the wife of complainant/ PW1. The evidence of PW 3 is to the effect that around same time deceased has met him near sugar cane field of one Kripal Singh and at that time both the accused-appellants were present there as they were collecting water pipe near land of Kripal Singh. The evidence of PW 2 further shows that when PW 2 along with other persons has gone to search deceased, at about 01.00 PM both the accused-appellants were seen coming out from the field of Kripal Singh. When PW 2 and his companion enquired them about the deceased, they ran away from there. PW 2 and others went at the place, from where both accused have come out from field of Kripal Singh, and saw that some sugarcane crop was lying damaged. As they went further inside the field, they found that dead body of deceased was lying in semi-naked condition and her clothes were lying torn and there was a rope around her neck. On all these facts, statements of witnesses are clear and cogent. These witnesses have been subjected to cross-examination but no such fact could emerge, which may create any doubt about credibility of these witnesses. Statement of PW 2 that at around 11.00 his daughter (deceased) has gone to fetch fodder is supported by PW 3, who appears an independent witness. From statement PW 3 it is also established that at around 11.00 AM, when deceased was last seen alive, both the accused-appellants were present there as they were collecting water pipe there. Thereafter, at about 01.00 PM, both the accused-appellants were seen coming out from the field of alleged Kripal Singh and when they were enquired about the deceased, they both ran away and after that dead body of deceased was found inside sugar cane field of Kripal Singh. In fact as per PW 2, when they reached at the point of alleged sugarcane field, from where both accused persons have out and when PW-2 and his companion went a little further, dead body of deceased was found lying there. The statements of the said witnesses are clear and cogent and no such fact could be elicited from their cross-examination, which could make any dent on the credibility of tthese witnesses. Further, as stated earlier, sperm were found in vaginal swab of deceased, which indicates that before her death, she was molested and subjected to rape. It appears that deceased has resisted the move of molesters as there were flesh pieces in her nails.

24. One of the important piece of evidence is that on the next day of incident, pant and underwear of both the accused persons were seized by PW 8 vide seizure memo exhibit ka- 13 and later on same were sent to FSL for examination. As per FSL report exhibit ka-15, spots of human blood as well sperm were found on the underwear of accused-appellant Jagta. Motive of committing murder of deceased is quite apparent as deceased was subjected to forcible rape and possibly due to the fear that she may disclose the incident, she was murdered. This fact also finds support from fact that as per postmortem report exhibit ka-4, presence flesh pieces was found in her nails, which indicates that the deceased has resisted the move of molesters.

25. Here it would be pertinent to mention that in their statements u/s 313 CrPC, the appellants have not offered any explaination what so ever regarding the incriminating circumstances. They have simply denied prosecution evidence but did not take any specific plea regarding circumstances that at 11.00 AM they were seen around the deceased and that at around 01.00 PM when PW 2 and others were searching deceased, they have come out from the sugar cane field of Kripal Singh and ran away and soon thereafter dead body of deceased was recovered from the same portion of field, from where they have fled. Similarly no specific plea was taken qua evidence that sperms were found on the underwear of appellant-accused Jagta and that blood spots were also found on his pant. No doubt, it is duty of prosecution to prove its case by cogent evidence but nevertheless in a case based on circumstantial evidence, when prosecution has alleged and led evidence to the effect deceased was last seen alive with accused, it is duty of accused to explain as how deceased suffered death or how he parted away company of deceased. In Neel Kumar @ Anil Kumar v. State of Haryana, (2012) 5 SCC 766, the Apex Court observed:

"It is the duty of the accused to explain the incriminating circumstance proved against him while making a statement under Section 313 CrPC. Keeping silent and not furnishing any explanation for such circumstance is an additional link in the chain of circumstances to sustain the charges against him. (See also: Aftab Ahmad Anasari v. State of Uttaranchal, AIR 2010 SC 773)."

The Apex Court in Vasa Chandrasekhar Rao vs. Ponna Satyanarayana &Anr. [(2000) 6 SCC 286] and Geetha vs. State of Karnataka [(2000) 10 SCC 72] while explaining the law relating to circumstantial evidence has ruled that where circumstances proved are put to the accused through his examination under Section 313 of the Code and the accused merely denies the same, then such denial would be an additional link in the chain of circumstances to bring home the charge against the accused. As indicated earlier, in this case, the incriminating circumstances were put to the appellants while recording their statements under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedurebut they have merely denied the same. Therefore, such denial on the part of the appellant and failure to explain the circumstances proved will have to be treated as an additional link in the chain of circumstances to bring home the charge against the appellants.

26. On the basis of evidence, it is establisheded that at about 11.00 AM when deceased was last seen alive near sugarcane field of alleged Kripal Singh, both the accused-appellants were present there as they were working in a nearby field and were collecting water pipe and thereafter at around 01.00 PM, they were seen coming out from said sugarcane field and soon after dead body of deceased was found in side the same sugar cane field, from where both the accused have fled away. As stated above, appellants have failed to offer any explaination regrading any of the incriminating circumstance esatblished against the. Law does not enjoin a duty on the prosecution to lead evidence of such character which is almost impossible to be led or at any rate extremely difficult to be led. The duty on the prosecution is to lead such evidence which it is capable of leading, having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case. Here it is necessary to keep in mind Section 106 of the Evidence Act which says that when any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him. If an offence has been committed secrecy inside a house, the initial burden to establish the case would undoubtedly be upon the prosecution, but the nature and amount of evidence to be led by it to establish the charge cannot be of the same degree as is required in other cases of circumstantial evidence. The burden would be of a comparatively lighter character. In fact it is not intended to relieve the prosecution of its burden to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt but where the prosecution has succeeded in proving facts from which a reasonable inference can be drawn regarding the existence of certain other facts, unless the accused by virtue of his special knowledge regarding such facts, failed to offer any explanation which might drive the court to draw a different inference. No doubt mere conjectures or suspicion cannot take the place of legal proof and the large distance between `may be' true and `must be' true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, as observed by the Apex Court, but it is equally established that the law does not enjoin a duty on the prosecution to lead evidence of such character which is almost impossible to be led or at any rate extremely difficult to be led. If a fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him.

27. In the present case, accused-appellants have failed to give any explanation, whatsoever and thus inference has to be drawn that it were the accused-appellants, who committed the incident in question. It would be pertinent to mention that time gap between the last seen of deceased around accused-persons and recovery of dead body of deceased is of just two hours. As stated earlier, deceased was subjected to rape before her murder and that she has resisted the move of her molesters. Thus, time gap between the said two circumstances is not much so as to create any doubt that any other person might have committed the incident. In such a small gap of time there is no possibility of any other theory except that the incident was committed by the appellants, specially when they have not come up with any explanation what so ever.

28. Considering entire evidence on record, so far as charge u/s 302 IPC is concerned, it is manifest that the prosecution has established the chain of circumstances, which consistently points to the accused-appellants Jagta and Sunder alone and these circumstances are inconsistent with their innocence. All the circumstances have been firmly established and when these circumstances are taken into consideration cumulatively, they conclude that within all human probability, it were the accused-appellants Jagta and Sunder and none else have committed the murder of the deceased. It is also established that before her death deceased was molested and subjected to rape. In FSL examination report, spots of human blood as well sperm were found on the underwear of accused-appellant Jagta. In the attending facts and circumstances of the matter, the involvement of accused Jagta in commission of rape is also established. However, as no blood spot or mark of sperm was found on clothes of accused-appellant Sunder and thus, it would not be safe to uphold his conviction u/s 376 IPC.

So far as the charge and conviction under Section 376 IPC is concerned, it may be seen that both the appellants were charged for the offence under Section 376 IPC while they have been convicted under Section 376(D) IPC. Thus, learned Trial Court committed error by convicting the appellants under Section 376(D), without framing charge under Section 376(D) IPC. In fact, as the age of the deceased was 14 years, accused must have been charged under Section 376(2)(I) IPC. Be that as it may, as it could not be proved that accused-appellant Sunder Singh has committed rape upon the prosecutrix thus, conviction of accused-appellant Jagta under Section 376(D) IPC is liable to be altered under Section 376 IPC. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the matter it wold be proper that appellant-accused Jagta be sentenced to imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs. 10,000/- under Section 376 IPC.

So far as the conviction of both the accused-appellants u/s 3(2)(V) SC ST Act is concerned, neither of the material witness has stated that they are members of scheduled caste or scheduled tribe. Even if they belong to such category, there is absolutely no evidence that the crime in question was committed on the ground that the deceased belong to scheduled caste or scheduled tribes. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ramdas and Ors. V. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 2 SCC 170 (para 11) has held as under :

"11. At the outset we may observe that there is no evidence whatsoever to prove the commission of offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. The mere fact that the victim happened to be a girl belonging to a Scheduled Caste does not attract the provisions of the Act. Apart from the fact that the prosecutrix belongs to the Pardhi community, there is no other evidence on record to prove any offence under the said enactment. The High Court has also not noticed any evidence to support the charge under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 and was prehaps persuaded to affirm the conviction on the basis that the prosecutrix belongs to a Scheduled Caste community. The conviction of the appellants under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 must, therefore, be set aside."

The gravamen of Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act is that any offence, envisaged under Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more, against a person belonging to Scheduled Caste/Scheduled Tribe, should have been committed on the ground that "such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member". Prior to the Amendment Act 1 of 2016, the words used in Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act are ".....on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe". Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act has now been amended by virtue of Amendment Act 1 of 2016. By way of this amendment, the words ".....on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe" have been substituted with the words ".....knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe". Therefore, if subsequent to 26.01.2016 (i.e. the day on which the amendment came into effect), an offence under Indian Penal Code which is punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more, is committed upon a victim who belongs to SC/ST community and the accused person has knowledge that such victim belongs to SC/ST community, then the charge of Section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act is attracted. Thus, after the amendment, mere knowledge of the accused that the person upon whom the offence is committed belongs to SC/ST community suffices to bring home the charge under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST

Prevention of Atrocities Act. In the present case, unamended Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act is applicable as the occurrence was of 09.12.09. From the unamended provisions of Section 3(2) (v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act, it is clear that the statute laid stress on the intention of the accused in committing such offence in order to belittle the person as he/she belongs to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe community. The evidence and material on record does not show that the appellants have committed murder of the deceased on the ground that she belonged to Scheduled Caste or that she was raped on the ground of her caste. Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act can be pressed into service only if it is proved that the rape and murder has been committed on the ground that deceased belonged to Scheduled Caste community. In the absence of evidence proving intention of the appellants in committing the offence upon the victim only because she belongs to Scheduled Caste community, the conviction of the accused-appellant under Section 3(2)(v) of the SC/ST Prevention of Atrocities Act can not sustain. In view of these facts, the conviction and sentence of both the appellants under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is in not accordance with law and thus, the same is liable to be set aside.

29. In view of aforesaid, we are of the considered opinion that conviction of the appellant-accused Jagta and Sunder u/s 302 IPC is based on evidence and the trial court was justified in convicting the appellants of these charges and same is upheld accordingly. The sentence under Section 302 IPC is also upheld. Conviction of appellant Jagta under Section 376(D) IPC is altered to under Section 376 IPC and he is sentenced to imprisonment for life and fine of Rs. 10,000/-. In default of payment of fine appellant shall undergo one year imprisonment. Conviction and sentence of both the appellants/accused under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act is set aside. Conviction and sentence of appellant-accused Sunder u/s 376 IPC is also set aside. Both the appellants are stated in jail, they shall serve out the remaing sentence.

30. Both the Appeals are partly allowed in above terms.

31. A copy of this order along with lower court record be sent to court concerned forthwith for necessary compliance.

3. Appeal qua appellant no.1 (Bhaggoo), appellant no.2 (Dodhey), appellant no.3 (Dharam), appellant no.4 (Navrang) and appellant no.9 (Roshan) have been dismissed as abated vide order dated 23.04.2019. Hence, this appeal remain for consideration against appellant no.5 (Atar Singh), appellant no.6 (Puttoo), appellant no.7 (Satyapal) and appellant no.8 (Ramphal).

4. In brief facts of the case are that near about one and half year preceding to the incident Hari Ram, brother of the accused Navrang was murdered in which Navrang had made informant Dori Lal, deceased Ram Bharosey, Dori, Prem Pal, Shishupal and Malkhan accused.

Accused Bhaggoo and Dodhey are real brothers, Ram Sahai is son of Dodhey, Dharam Singh and Navrang are sons of Ram Sahai. Accused Roshan is son of Badri and Sohan Pal is son of Ganga Singh, accused Satyapal and Ramphal are sons of Soran, accused Atar Singh and Puttoo are sons of Balwant. Atar and Puttoo are cousins of accused Bhaggoo, accused Ramphal, Satyapal and Sohan Pal are nephews of Navrang, Roshan Lal is cousin of Navrang.

In the family of the informant his great aunt and his maternal uncle Arav Singh, father of the deceased Ram Rais had expired, on account of which they were not celebrating the Holi festival. On 22.03.1984 before sun set in the evening informant Dori Lal, his brother Ram Bharosey, Prem Pal, nephew Surendra Pal, cousin Ram Rais and Durvijay son of Harbhajan, resident of village Milkia, police station Kalan and Shankar Singh son of Het Ram, village Fatehgarh were sitting over the chaupal. In the meantime, accused Bhaggoo, Dodhey, Navrang, Dharam Singh, Atar Singh and Puttoo armed with guns, Ramphal and Satyapal armed with country-made pistols, accused Sohan Lal and Roshal Lal armed with lathi came there and on exhortation of Dharam Singh and Satyapal that they should not be allowed to escape accused Bhaggoo and Dharam Singh fired at Ram Bharosey, Navrang and Satyapal fired at Ram Rais, Dodhey and Atar Singh fired at Surendra, Puttoo and Ramphal fired at the informant with intention to kill them. Informant Dori Lal escaped from the fire shot but fire shots hit to Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais and Surendra. As soon as Ram Bharosey was shot, he fell down after running for 2-3 steps and Ram Rais also fell down after running 20-25 steps towards South. Surendra Singh hid himself in the wheat crop. Informant Dori Lal, Prem Pal, Durvijay and Shankar took cover behind door of the surrounding houses and raised alarm. The accused fled away towards the gallery from which they had come. After the accused had fled, they found that Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais had both died. On search Surendra was found lying in the field of wheat crop after going 50 steps. Informant got the written report (Ext.Ka-1) scribed at his house by one Pratap Singh in the village and along with Surendra, Ram Naresh, Prempal and Ram Chandra reached the police station by bullock cart and at 10:00 p.m. handed over the written report to the Head Moharrir, who on the basis of written report Ext.Ka-1, registered Case Crime No.48 of 1984, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 I.P.C. against the appellants and prepared chik report Ext.Ka-3 and G.D. entry Ext.Ka-4. Investigation was taken over by Station Officer Mahendra Pal Singh.

The Investigating Officer recorded statement of informant injured Surendra and sent injured Surendra for medical examination. Dr. Ragesh Rai medically examined injured Surendra Singh and prepared his medical report Ext.Ka-2, according to which following injuries were found on the person of the injured:

1. A contused swelling on both lips colour read situated on all over the both lips simple caused by some hard object duration fresh.

2. Bleeding from right ear present, no external injury seen, suspected internal injury, advised x-ray, injury kept under observation referred to radiologist and E.N.T. Surgeon duration fresh.

3. Contused swelling 6 cm x 4 cm oral red situated 2 cm outer to the right lateral end of mouth simple caused by hard object duration fresh.

4. tenderness felt 4.5 cm. below the right mastoid, no external injury is seen caused by some hard object duration fresh.

5. Eighteen gun shot wound entry in an area 23 cm. x 21 cm. in front of right ear to the mid line of skull on right side palpable, no scorching tattooing bleeding seen caused by some fire arm direction straight duration fresh patient feel omitting, sensible referred to radiologist.

5. The Investigating Officer along with S.I. Sher Singh and other employees reached the village in the night of the incident and kept deceased Ram Rais's body in the varandah because it was lying in a dirty place. Being night inquest report could not be completed. On the instruction of Investigating Officer S.I. Sher Singh conducted inquest of deceased Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais, prepared inquest reports, relevant documents i.e. photo of the dead body, challan of dead body and sample of dead body seal Ext.Ka-11 to Ext.Ka-14 and Ext.Ka-15 to Ext.Ka-18 respectively. After completing the inquest he dispatched the dead bodies of Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais for post-mortem along with Constable Uma Shankar and Naresh Pal Singh.

6. P.W.8 Dr. R.K. Verma conducted autopsy on the body of deceased Ram Bharosey on 24.03.1984 at 9:00 a.m. and prepared post-mortem report Ext.Ka-9, according to which on the person of deceased Ram Bharosey following injuries were found:

1. Gun shot wound of entry on left side of upper part of chest mid axillary line 5 cm. below left axilla and 7 cm. away from left nipple measuring 4 cm. x 3 cm., chest cavity deep 1 cm. blackening present around the wound.

2. Abrasion measuring 5 cm. x 3 cm. on right side of forehead.

3. Gun shot wound of entry on lower side of middle of chin 1 cm. x 0.75 cm. x bone deep, mandible bone fractured and in communication with wound no.4.

4. Gun shot wound of exit 3 cm. x 1 cm. x bone deep on upper part of middle of chin.

5. Gun shot wound of entry 2 cm. x 2 cm. x bone deep on lateral side of dorsum aspect of left palm at the base of thumb through and through wound. Dispraying the whole of left thumb. The first metacarpal bone badly fractured.

6. Gun shot wound abrasion in an area of 6 cm. x 5 cm. on right aide abdomen just below left side and 6 cm. away from umbilicus.

7. Gun shot abrasion in an area of 8 cm. x 4 cm. on right side of upper part of chest below right clavicle.

8. Gun shot wound in an area 5 cm. x 4 cm. x bone deep on right hand dispraying whole of right thumb fracturing the metacarpal bone of thumb and tearing all the adjacent muscle of first index finger right hand. On opening the chest 2nd and 3rd ribs of left side, left lung and heart were badly damaged. Small pallets nos.69 recovered from the wound.

In his opinion cause of death was shock due to excess bleeding and death was possible on 22.03.1984 at the time of sun set. The ante-mortem fire arm injuries found on the body of deceased were sufficient to cause death.

Dr. R.K. Verma also conducted autopsy on the body of deceased Ram Rais and prepared post-mortem report Ext.Ka-10. According to which following injuries were found on the body of the deceased Ram Rais:

1. Gun shot wound of entry left side of chest 2 cm. x 2 cm. circular shaped x chest cavity deep, 4 cm. below left nipple, blackening 2 cm. present.

2. Gun shot abrasion in an area of 4 cm. x 3 cm. x skin deep on outer side of wrist joint.

On opening the chest 5th and 6th ribs were fractured. The left lung was damaged partly, Heart completely lacerated. The right side lung is lacerated badly and both chest cavity are full of clotted blood.

In his opinion the death could be attributable to shock and hemorrhage. Both the deceased could have died on 22.03.1984 before sun set. These injuries could be caused by fire arm and the injuries were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.

7. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of witnesses, Prempal, Surendrapal, Durvijay, Pratap Singh, Ram Naresh etc. and inspected the spot on the pointing of complainant and witnesses and prepared spot map Ext.Ka.5. He also took the blood stained and plain earth from the places where the dead bodies of Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais were found and got prepared its memo Ext.Ka-6 and Ext.Ka-7. After, completing the investigation submitted the charge sheet Ext.Ka-8 before the C.J.M., Budaun, under Sections 302/149 and 323/149 I.P.C. against the accused, who committed the accused for trial to the court of Session where Case Crime No.480/1984 was registered as Session Trial No.396 of 1984 (State vs. Bhaggoo and others) from where it was transferred to the court of Special Judge (E.C. Act), Budaun for trial. The trial court framed charge against the accused-appellants Bhaggoo, Dodhey, Dharam Singh, Navrang, Atar Singh, Puttoo, Satyapal and Ramphal under Section 148 I.P.C. and charge against Bhaggoo, Dodhey, Dharam Singh, Navrang, Atar Singh, Puttoo, Satyapal, Ramphal, Roshan and Sohanpal was framed under Sections 302/149 I.P.C. Charge against the accused-appellant Roshan was also framed under Section 323/149 I.P.C. The accused abjured the charge and claimed trial.

8. The prosecution in order to prove its case examined nine witnesses. P.W.1 Dori Lal informant, P.W.2 Surendra Pal injured, P.W.3 Durvijay and P.W.4 Pratap Singh scribe of written report were examined as witnesses of fact while P.W.5 S.R. Sharma Pharmacist, P.W.6 Harpal Singh chik and G.D. scribe, P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh Investigating Officer, P.W.8 R.K. Verma who had conducted autopsy of the dead bodies and P.W.9 S.I. Sher Singh, who had prepared the inquest memo of dead bodies as well as memo of blood stained and plain earth from the place of dead bodies were produced as formal witnesses. The accused-appellants in their examination under Section 313 Cr.P.C., denied the prosecution case and alleged false implication due to partibandi and enmity.

9. After hearing learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the entire evidence on record, the impugned judgement and order has been passed. Hence, this appeal.

10. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the prosecution witness P.W.-4 Durvijay in para 9 of his testimony has stated that Daroga came on next day and got scribed the report by Pratap Singh which belies the prosecution claim that the F.I.R. was lodged and registered at the police station on 22.03.1984 at 10:00 p.m. He also submits that injured Surendra Pal has stated that Dodhey and Atar Singh fired at him but he could not tell which part of his body was hit by the shot. The doctor who had medically examined him has not been produced and no supplementary report has been filed before the Court. However, P.W.5 S.R. Sharma has identified his hand writing and signature. He has stated that injury report of Surendra Pal is mentioned at page No.135 of the register but on this page police case is not mentioned while at page no.136 and 134, police case has been mentioned. He further submits that P.W.1 Dori Lal has stated that Investigating Officer had taken the blood stained and plain earth also from the place where Surendra Pal injured had hidden himself in the field while P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh-Investigating Officer has stated that he had taken the blood stained and plain earth from both the places where the dead-bodies were found. P.W.2 Surendra has stated that informant Dori Lal had taken him from the field while P.W.1 Dori Lal has stated that injured Surendra himself came out of the field. P.W.1 Dori Lal in his deposition at page 28 has stated that the bed was spread on the chabutra while at page 58, the Investigating Officer has stated that on the spot no carpet was found. Thus, the statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal does not find support but makes his presence doubtful. At page 58 and 59 the Investigating Officer has stated that chabutra was white washed on which the deceased and injured were said to be sitting at the time of the incident. On this chabutra, no mark of pellets or pellet was found. Such contradictory statements make presence of witnesses as well as place of occurrence doubtful. He also submits that injured P.W.2 Surendra has stated that shot hit Ram Rais while he was fleeing towards South and accused were firing from North but according to post-mortem report Ext.Ka-10, gun shot entry wound on left side of chest 2 cm x 2 cm chest cavity deep was found which could not be possible if deceased was towards South and assailant had fired from North. Thus ocular evidence is contrary to medical evidence, as such prosecution case is doubtful.

11. Next submission of learned counsel for the appellants is that the statement of P.W.1 Dori lal at page 32 does not find support from the spot map that he did not flee in the direction in which accused were standing. In spot map Ext.Ka-5 place-P has been shown surrounding of the complainant where complainant and other witnesses fled to save themselves from place-C while at place-X has been shown presence of the accused. If the witnesses were present on the spot and had fled towards their surrounding to save themselves, then in any case would not have escaped unhurt and the accused would have not have spared the witnesses. Lastly, he submits that prosecution has completely failed to prove the incident. Looking to the injuries of injured and deceased, it appears that due to enmity, the appellants have been falsely implicated exaggerating the incident. Appeal qua accused- Bhaggu and Dharam Singh, who have caused the death of Ram Bharose and Naurang, who had shot at deceased Ram Rais, has been abated. One gun shot wound was found on the person of Surendrapal. Appeal qua Dhodhey, author of one of the fire arm wound received by Surendra, has also been abated. Dori Lal had not received any injury, so, in the interest of justice, benefit of doubt may be given to the appellants-Satya Pal, Atar Singh, Puttoo and Ramphal.

12. Per contra learned A.G.A. submits that P.W.1 Dori Lal and P.W.4 Pratap Singh scribe of the written report have supported the prosecution version. PW.6 Harpal Singh also has stated that on 22.03.1984 at 21:55 p.m. on the basis of written report Ext.Ka.1, he had registered Case Crime No.480 of 1984 and prepared chik report Ext.Ka-3 and G.D. Ext.Ka-4. The Investigating Officer has also denied the fact. Thus, giving information and its registration is fully proved. He has also submitted that from the testimony of P.W.1 Dori Lal and P.W.2 Surendra and Investigating Officer P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh place of occurrence is established. P.W.5 S.R. Sharma in his deposition has stated that Dr. Ragesh Rai was posted for two years as C.M.O. to P.H.C. Usehat. He was well acquainted with his writing and signature, whereabouts of the doctor is not known. He proved the injury report Ext.Ka-2, so, if the Doctor, who had medically examined Surendra Pal had not been produced, it cannot be said that fire injury was not caused to injured Surendra. So far as the mentioning of police case in the register is concerned, the Head Moharrir P.W.6 has stated that he had written majroobi chitthi, entry with regard to which was made in G.D. No.28. So far as the variation in the statements of P.W.1 Dori Lal and P.W.2 Surendra regarding the manner in which injured Surendra Pal came out from the field, not finding pellets or mark of pellet on chabutra or a carpet spread on chabutra or not finding it by the Investigating Officer it as well as not taking of blood stained and plain earth from the place of hiding of injured Surendra by Investigating Officer, are concerned, these are minor discrepancies which cannot affect the prosecution case. In furtherance of common object, all the accused, had committed the offence, which is fully proved from the evidences led by the prosecution, hence, anyone, who is member of unlawful assembly, cannot be given benefit of doubt as contended by learned counsel for the appellants. Appeal has no merit and it is liable to be dismissed.

13. P.W.1 Dori Lal has stated that after getting the written report scribed by Pratap Singh, it was handed over to Head Moharrir at about 10:00 p.m. in the police station. He proved it as Ext.Ka-1. From the cross-examination of this witness by defence, nothing has been elicited. The aforesaid fact finds corroboration from the evidence of P.W.2 injured Surendra Pal and from his cross-examination too, nothing has been elicited. P.W.4 Pratap Singh specifically has stated that on dictation of Dori Lal he had written the report Ext.Ka-1 and he had denied the suggestion that the report was written on dictation of Daroga. P.W.6 Head Moharrir C.P. Harpal Singh has stated that on 22.03.1984 at 21:55 p.m. he had prepared chik on the basis of the written report Ext.Ka-1 given by complainant Dori Lal and also entered it in the G.D. No.28. He had proved the chik report Ext.Ka-3 and G.D. entry as Ext.Ka-4. From his cross-examination also nothing has been elicited. A suggestion has been given by the defence to the Investigating Officer P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh that on his dictation the information was scribed and totally bogus proceedings were conducted which has been denied by him. P.W.3 Durvijay had given his statement first time in court after a lapse of one and half year from the incident and nothing turns on his evidence that F.I.R. was got scribed by Darogaji on the next morning. Considering the convincing, consistent and reliable evidences of informant Dorilal, injured Surendra, scribe P.W.4 Pratap Singh, Head Moharrir P.W. 6 Harpal Singh and Investigating Officer P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh the statement of P.W.3 Durvijay given time in court after one and half year of the incident does not appear trustworthy and reliable. Accordingly, we do not find any force in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that giving first information report is ante time.

14. P.W.2 Surendra Pal, injured, in cross-examination at page 38 of the paper book has stated that shot hit him on his head which is also supported with injury report Ext.Ka-2 proved by P.W.5 S.R. Sharma and other witnesses of fact. So contention of learned counsel for appellants is without substance that injured did not state on which part of his body the shot had hit.

15. P.W.5 S.R. Sharma has stated that Dr. Ragesh Rai was posted for two years as C.M.O. in P.H.C., Usehat and he was also posted there. He is acquainted with handwriting and signature of the doctor, the whereabouts of the doctor is not known. In view of his statement, if Dr. Ragesh Rai has not been produced, the prosecution case will not be adversely affected.

16. P.W.6 C.P. Harpal Singh has stated that he had prepared majroobi chitthi and made entry in the G.D. No.28. Injured Surendra Pal himself has stated that fire shot hit him on his head and he was medically examined on being send by police, which has been supported by informant Dori Lal, P.W.6 Head Moharrir Harpal Singh and P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh Investigating Officer. In view of the above testimony of the prosecution witnesses, prosecution case is not affected on account of non filing of supplementary report and not mentioning police case in the register of mentioning injury as stated by P.W.5 S.R. Sharma.

17. According to first information report, complainant Dori Lal, deceased Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais, Prempal, Surendra and Durvijay were sitting on the chaupal at the time of the incident. Appellants came armed with gun, country-made pistols and lathi. On exhortation of Dharam Singh and Satyapal the accused fired at them causing fire arm injuries to Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais and Surendra. Ram Bharosey died on the spot. Ram Rais and Surendra fled towards South. Ram Rais after running for some distance also died and Surendra fled and hid himself in wheat crop. P.W.1 in his deposition supporting the F.I.R. version has stated that Ram Bharosey fell down after 2-3 steps on receiving the gun shot injury and Ram Rais fell down after running for about 20-25 steps and Surendra hid himself in wheat crop. In cross-examination, he has stated that Surendra fled 50 steps. This version has been also supported by P.W.2 Surendra who had also received injuries in the incident and P.W.3 Durvijay. The Investigating Officer P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh has stated that on the pointing of complainant and witnesses, he inspected the place of incident and prepared the spot map and proved it as Ext.Ka-5. He took into his possession the blood stained and plain earth from the places where both the dead bodies were found lying. In Ext.Ka-5 spot map at place-A, the dead body of the deceased Ram Bharosey has been shown, Place-C is the place where the deceased and witnesses were sitting. Place-B has been shown where the dead body of deceased Ram Rais was found and place K is shown, where Surendra had hidden himself in wheat crop. Distance of place A to B has been mentioned as 25 steps and distance of place A to C has been mentioned 3 steps and distance from place-C to place-K is 50 steps which corroborates the statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal, P.W.2 Surendra, the injured and P.W.3 Durvijay. Thus, the testimonies of P.W.1 Dori Lal, P.W.2 Surendra and P.W.3 Durvijay regarding the place of incident causing fire arm injury and the places where the dead bodies were lying and presence of injured in wheat crop after the incident are consistent and corroborated by P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh Investigating Officer. On the basis of evidences available on record and as discussed above, we are of the view that the prosecution evidence with regard to the place where informant Dori Lal, injured Surendra, deceased Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais and witnesses were sitting at place-C the place of incident shown in Ext.Ka-5, the chaupal and coming of accused armed with weapons as mentioned above and firing at them, causing death of Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais and injury to Surendra are consistent, corroborated and convincing. Considering the above evidences, on the basis of statement of P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh Investigating Officer, that chabutra was white washed and he had not found any marks of pellet or pellets on chabutra, it can't be said that place of incidence is doubtful.

18. P.W.7 Mahendra Pal Singh has stated that on the spot, he did not find any mattress spread but in spot map Ext.Ka-5, it has been mentioned that below place-C mattress was spread over on which the deceased and witnesses were sitting which indicates that at the time of investigation, Investigating Officer had found the mattress but at the time of deposition he has made a contrary statement. As such we find no weight in the contention of learned counsel for the appellant that statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal does not find support from the evidence of P.W.7 Mahendra Pal and it makes his presence on the spot doubtful.

19. According to P.W.1 Dori Lal (informant) and P.W.2 Surendra, the incident occurred on 22.03.1984 before the sun set and according to P.W.3 and P.W.4, it occurred near about 6:00-6:30 p.m. As per first information report Ext.Ka-3, distance of the police station has been shown to be 14 kilometers and according to P.W.1 (informant Dori Lal), P.W.2 Surendra and P.W.3 Durvijay, they had gone to police station by bullock cart. As per statement of P.W.6 Harpal Singh the written report was given by informant Dori Lal, on the basis of which chik F.I.R. was registered and as per Ext.Ka-3 on 22.03.1984 at 21:55 p.m. within three to three and half hours after the incident it was registered. In the facts and circumstances, it appears that a prompt report has been lodged. Thus on the point of giving information by P.W.1 Dori Lal, the evidence of P.W.1, P.W.2 Surendra injured, P.W.3 Durvijay and P.W.6 Harpal Singh Head Moharrir scribe of chik and G.D. is consistent. If the informant was not present on the spot then lodging first information report of the incident promptly giving vivid details of the incident would not have been possible. This fact also fortifies the presence of the informant Dori Lal on the spot.

20. In Chand Khan vs. State of U.P., (1995) 5 SCC 448, it has been held that minor discrepancies in evidence of eye-witnesses who have given convincing and reliable evidence with regard to details and manner of assault will not affect their evidentiary value.

21. In spot map (Ex.Ka-5), the place K wheat crop field has been shown where the injured-Suredrapal was found. It is not disputed that on the pointing of the complainant-Dori Lal, the spot map was prepared by the Investigating Officer. The incident has occurred on 22.03.1984 and the statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal has been recorded in court on 03.09.1985, near about after 1-1/2 years, so due to fading of memory, due to lapse of time, P.W.1-Dori Lal might have given the statement that blood and plain earth was taken from the place where Surendra had hidden himself in the wheat crop field. It is not disputed that Investigating Officer has taken in his possession the blood stained and plain earth from two places where the dead-bodies of deceased-Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais were found. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, in the statement of the informant there does appear to be a minor discrepancy. So far as the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 regarding coming out of injured Surendra from the field himself or being taken by informant Dori Lal is concerned, it is also a minor discrepancy. In view of the observation of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Chand Khan vs. State of U.P. (supra) and above discussion on the basis of statements of P.W.1 Dori Lal that injured Surendra himself came and Investigating Officer also took in his possession blood stained and plain earth from the place in the field where Surendra had hidden himself and statement of P.W.2 Surendra Pal that informant Dori Lal had taken him from the field will not affect their convincing and reliable evidence with regard to details given about incident and manner of assault.

22. In view of the above discussion, we find no substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that presence of witness as well as place of occurrence is doubtful.

23. According to post-mortem report Ext.Ka-10, gun shot wound of entry on left side of chest 2 cm x 2 cm circular shaped, chest cavity deep was found on the body of deceased Ram Rais. In cross-examination P.W.2 Surendra has stated that fire shot hit Ram Rais while he was fleeing towards South and accused were firing from North. Considering the statement of P.W.2 Surendra and injury found in Ext.Ka-10, post-morterm there appears prima-facie contradiction in statement of witness Surendra and injury found in post-mortem report Ext.Ka-10 because if fire is shot from North and deceased was fleeing towards South normally fire wound on chest will not be possible. P.W.2 Surendra in his examination in chief has stated that on exhortation of Dharam Pal and Satyapal, Bhaggoo and Dharam Singh fired at his father, Navrang and Satyapal fired at Ram Rais, Dodhey and Atar Singh fired at him and Puttoo and Ramphal fired at Dori Lal. In cross-examination by defence he has stated that all the accused had fired from a distance of 6-7 steps towards North. They had all fired at the same time and after firing they fled in the direction from which they had come. He has also stated that no one had fired twice. Evidence of P.W.1 Dori Lal, P.W.2 Surendra and P.W.3 Durvijay is consistent on the point that informant Dori Lal, deceased Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais, injured Surendra, Prempal, Durvijay and Shanker were sitting on the chaupal at that time when appellants/accused came and fired at them, shots fired hit Ram Bharosey, Ram Rais and Surendra, informant Dori Lal escaped unhurt. Ram Bharosey fell down after 2-3 steps, Ram Rais fell down after 20-25 steps and Surendra hid himself in wheat crop field. It is not the case of prosecution that when appellants/accused came and fired at the deceased and injured Surendra, they again fired when injured and deceased Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais as well as informant Dori Lal and other witnesses were fleeing away from the place of incident. Considering the prosecution case and evidences led in this respect including the injured Surendra also as discussed above, on the basis of the statement of injured Surendra that shot fired hit Ram Rais while he was fleeing towards South and accused were firing from North then the shot hit Ram Rais, the prosecution case cannot be doubted. Accordingly, we find no force in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants.

24. In Ext.Ka-5 place-C is shown where injured, deceased and witnesses were sitting and towards East of it the place-X has been shown the place from where accused opened fire. Place-P has been shown in East and North of the place-C as well as from place-X. Distance from C to X has been mentioned 5 steps. Place A is shown where dead body of Ram Bharosey was found. Distance from A to P has been mentioned 12 steps. Distance of C to A has been mentioned 3 steps. According to the map place-X is towards West adjacent to the way. Place-P is situated towards eastern side of the way and there is a space between the way and surroundings at place-P. P.W.1 has stated that from chaupal, his surrounding is 10 to 12 steps and its door is towards west. Accused were standing towards North of the surroundings and fired from there. He has also stated that when he fled from the chabutra at that time the accused had not fired at him but they had fired at deceased Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais. He has also stated that when accused fired at him at that time accused were standing in the North of his surrounding and he was on East South corner to the accused. They were standing towards South of the house of Puttoo and towards North of his surroundings below the chaupal. In the map also towards North of his surrounding the house of Puttoo has been shown. It is also considerable that when a shot is fired thereafter in re-loading of the arm it will take time and in such a situation sprinting is possible. In view of the statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal as well as the location and situation depicted in the spot map, as discussed above, we find no substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that statement of P.W.1 Dori Lal does not find support from the spot map that he did not flee in the direction in which accused were standing and if witnesses were present on the spot and had fled away to their surrounding then in that case they should have received gun shot injuries.

25. We have gone through the evidence produced by the prosecution. We find that the statements of P.W.1 Dori Lal and P.W.2 injured Surendra Pal Singh are consistent, corroborative and convincing with regard to murder of Hari Ram brother of accused Navrang. The evidence of P.W.1 Dori Lal, P.W.2 injured Surendra Pal and P.W.3 Durvijay with regard to their sitting over the chaupal on 22.03.1984 before sun set and coming the accused at that time and firing at them in which death of Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais was caused and Surendra Singh received injuries are also consistent, corroborative and convincing. Ocular version is also supported by medical evidence and formal witnesses with regard to manner of assault and time of injury as well as spot of the incident. The case of the prosecution is fully proved.

26. In Lalji and others vs. State of U.P., (1989) 1 SCC 437, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that once the Court holds that certain accused persons formed an unlawful assembly and an offence is committed by any member of that assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of committing that offence was a member of the same assembly is to be held guilty of that offence. After such a finding it is not open to the Court to see as to who actually did the offensive act. The prosecution is not obliged to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. In Lalji and others (supra), it has been also held that "common object of the unlawful assembly can be gathered from the nature of the assembly, arms used by them and the behaviour of the assembly at or before scene of occurrence. It is an inference to be deducted from the facts and circumstances of each case." In Chand vs. State of U.P. (2004) 5 SCC 141, it has been also held that "the plea that definite roles have not been ascribed to the accused and therefore Section 149 is not applicable, is untenable. It is not really necessary to determine as to which of the accused persons forming part of the unlawful assembly inflicted what particular or specific injury in the course of the occurrence."

27. In the instant case, from the prosecution evidence it is established that all the accused armed with guns, country-made pistols and lathi came and committed the alleged offence in which Ram Bharosey and Ram Rais succumbed to the injuries and Surendra Pal also received fire arm injury in his head. From the above, it is clear that all the accused formed an unlawful assembly and committed the alleged offence. As such, in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above referred cases, in our opinion no benefit of doubt or benevolence can be given to the appellants as contended by the learned counsel for the appellants.

28. Thus, upon a wholesome consideration of the facts of the case, attending circumstances and the evidence on record, we do not find that the learned trial Judge committed any illegality or legal infirmity in convicting and sentencing appellants Atar Singh, Puttoo, Satyapal and Ramphal in Criminal Appeal No. 871 of 1986, to undergo two years under Section 148 of I.P.C., 6 months rigorous imprisonment under Section 323/149 of I.P.C. and life imprisonment under Section 302/149 of I.P.C.

29. This appeal lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed.

30. Appellants Atar Singh, Puttoo, Satyapal and Ramphal are on bail. Chief Judicial Magistrate, Budaun is directed to take them into custody and send them to jail for serving out the remaining out of their sentences.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION

BEFORE

CRIMINAL APPEAL No. 981 OF 2015

Sanjeev Kumar Singh
...Applicant/Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri O.P. Singh, Sri Brijesh Sahai, Sri Chandra Bhushan Prasad, Sri Nirvikar Gupta, Sri Pradeep Kumar Chaurasia, Sri Rajesh Pratap Singh.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 – Non-Joining of Independent Witnesses- The obligation to take public witnesses (independent witness) is not absolute.

If after making efforts which the court considers in the circumstances of the case reasonable the police officer is not able to get public witnesses to associate with the raid or arrest of the culprit, the arrest and the recovery made would not be necessarily vitiated. The court will have to appreciate the relevant evidence and will have to determine whether the evidence of the police officer is believable after taking due care and caution in evaluating their evidence. (Para 15,16,17)

B. Section 114 Evidence Act - gives rise to the presumption that every official act done by the police was regularly performed and such presumption requires rebuttal. The legal maxim omnia praesumuntur rite it dowee probetur in contrarium solenniter esse acta i.e., all the acts are presumed to have been done rightly and regularly, applies.

When acts are of official nature and went through the process of scrutiny by official persons, a presumption arises that the said acts have regularly been performed and therefore absence of independent witnesses reasonably explained and no illegality found in the same. (Para 16)

C. Section 50 Of the N.D.P.S Act - applies on personal search only and recovery from tanker or box does not require compliance of Section 50 of the Act.

Moreover, the recovery memo and statements of two recovery witnesses show that it was explained to the accused before search that he has a right to be searched before a gazetted officer or magistrate, and only when the accused permitted search by police, the search was conducted and the illegal ganja was recovered. (Para 18,19,20 and 21)

D. Section 35 and 54 of the N.D.P.S Act- Conscious Possession - creates a legal fiction & presumes - the person in possession of illicit article had culpable mental state & had committed the offense.

From the conjoint reading of the provisions of Sections 35 and 54 of the Act, it becomes clear that if the accused is found to be in possession of the contraband article, he is presumed to have committed the offence under the relevant provisions of the Act until the contrary is proved. According to Section 35 of the Act, the Court shall presume the existence of mental state from the commission of an offence and it is for the accused to prove otherwise. It is a settled legal proposition that once possession of the contraband articles is established, the burden shifts on the accused to establish that he had no knowledge of the same. Additionally, it can also be held that once the possession of the contraband material with the accused is established, the accused has to establish how he came to be in possession of the same as it is within his special knowledge and therefore, the case falls within the ambit of the provisions of Section 106 of the Evidence Act.(Para 22,31 and 32)

E. Non-Compliance of the provisions of Section 42 (2) and Section 57 of the N.D.P.S Act - Sections 42 and 43 contemplate two distinct situations. Section 42 contemplates entry into and search of any building, conveyance or enclosed place, while Section 43 contemplates a seizure made in any public place or in transit.

Therefore, the learned trial court has concluded on the basis of evidence that the said vehicle from which contraband was recovered was intercepted at a public place and on road, and therefore, in the facts of the case Section 43 of the Act is applicable. Since PW-3 proved before the trial court G.D. Ext. Ka-7 in which it is contained that after registration of offence, information was given to C.C.R. and superior officers by R.T. Set and so, where the higher officer has been informed without any unreasonable delay and the F.I.R. has reached to the Magistrate without any further delay, there remains no force in the argument that Section 57 of the Act has been violated. (Para 24 to 29)

F. Section 20 (C) of the N.D.P.S Act - The recovered contraband was slightly above the commercial quantity (20 kg. 300 gm.) for which 10 years rigorous imprisonment and one lac fine and in default 1-year additional imprisonment will serve the purpose of sentencing. Accordingly, awarded sentence is liable to be modified. (Para 34)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 24.02.2015, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Varanasi, in Criminal Case No. 424 of 2010 (State vs. Sanjeev Kumar Singh), arising out of Case Crime No. 126 of 2010, under Section 8/20 N.D.P.S. Act, Police Station Ram Nagar, District Varanasi, whereby the accused appellant has been convicted and sentenced under Section 8/20 N.D.P.S. Act for 12 years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 1,25,000/- and on default in payment of fine, for two years additional imprisonment.

2. Brief facts of the case is that S.O. Isalamul Haq Khan of Police Station Ram Nagar along with S.I. Mukesh Babu, S.I. Kamlesh Pal, Constable Dinesh Yadav, Constable Parvez Khan, Constable Munna Yadav, Constable Harishchandra with Constable Driver Surendra Nath Singh on their Government Jeep were on their law and order duty on 13.09.2010 and were involved in checking of vehicles. From an informer, they received information that in a gray coloured Indica Car bearing Registration No. DL 9 CD 0066 is coming from the side of Padav with illegal "Ganja" (marijuana/cannabis). Believing on that information, when that Indica Car appeared coming from the side of Padav, by throwing torch light, the police asked the driver to stop the car but seeing the police, the driver turned the car towards Pathari Tola. The car along with driver was intercepted on the turn of Pathari Tola after using necessary force at about 10:00 PM. On inquiry, the person sitting on the driving seat, informed his name to be Sanjeev Kumar Singh. On being asked why he tried to run away, he told that in the dickey of the car, he has two bags of illegal "Ganja" and, therefore, he was trying to run away from being apprehended by the police. He was informed about his right to be searched before Magistrate or any gazetted officer. At this, he said that when he has been already intercepted, he may be searched by them. He also said that he does not want to go elsewhere for his search. Before him, the members of the police group took search of each other in order to assure that none of the police person has anything illegal with them. From the dickey of the car, two bags were recovered and on being opened, "Ganja" was found in the two bags. Constable Dinesh Yadav brought the weighing machine and from one bag 10.1 Kg and from the second bag 10.2 Kg illegal "Ganja" was recovered. On being asked, he was unable to show any license for carrying "Ganja". 50-50 grams sample from both the bags were taken and the remaining was sealed in both the recovered bags and the sample was wrapped in news paper after keeping the same in white clothes on which the sample seal was pasted.

3. Recovery memo was prepared by S.I. Kamlesh Pal on the dictation of the S.O. and after being informed about the offence, the accused was taken into custody along with recovered illegal Ganja. During the course of arrest and recovery, some local public arrived there and on being asked to be witness of recovery, they did not agree. The information with regard to arrest was given to the family members of the accused and recovery memo was prepared, read over and signatures of all concerned were obtained and a copy thereof was given to the accused.

4. On the basis of recovery memo, F.I.R. was lodged. During investigation, S.I. Akhilesh Kumar recorded the statement of witnesses, prepared site map and after finding sufficient evidence, he filed charge sheet against the accused for the offence under Section 8/20 N.D.P.S. Act. Charge was framed against the accused for the aforesaid offence. The accused denied charge and claimed trial.

5. The prosecution has examined witnesses PW-1 Islamul Haq Khan (complainant), PW-2 S.I. Kamlesh Pal and PW-3 S.I. Akhilesh Kumar Singh, (I.O.) proved Memo of arrest/recovery as Ext. Ka-1, site map Ext. Ka-2, docket Ext. Ka-3, charge-sheet Ext. Ka-4, chemical-examination report Ext. Ka-5, chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-6, G.D. Ext. Ka-7 and recovered illegal "Ganja" was proved as Material Ext.-1 & Ext.-2.

6. The statement of the accused Sanjeev Kumar Singh was recorded under Section 313 Criminal Procedure Code, wherein, he has denied the incident and recovery and has stated the prosecution case to be false. He has further stated that he has been falsely implicated in the present case for to not providing illegal gratification for transportation of his truck no. UP 62 T 6421. In defence, he has also submitted registration certificates of two trucks bearing registration nos. UP 62 T 6421 and UP 65 BT 6816.

7. After hearing both the parties and perusing the evidence on record, the learned Additional Sessions Judge has passed the impugned judgment and convicted and sentenced the accused appellant for the offence under Section 8/20 N.D.P.S. Act.

8. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment, this appeal has been preferred on the ground that the appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case. The conviction and sentence is against the weight of evidence on record and contrary to law. Moreover, the sentence awarded is too severe. The case against the appellant was not established by the prosecution and, therefore, the impugned judgment is liable to be set aside and he is entitled for acquittal.

9. Heard Sri O.P. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Chandra Bhushan Prasad, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Manu Raj Singh and Sri L.D. Rajbhar, learned AGA and perused the record.

10. Three witnesses have been examined from the side of prosecution. PW-1 is S.I. Islamul Haq Khan (complainant) has stated that on 13.09.2010, he was S.O. Ram Nagar. He along with S.I. Mukesh Babu, S.I. Maklesh Pal, Constable Dinesh Yadav, Constable Parvez Khan, Constable Munna Yadav, Constable Harishchandra with Driver Surendra Nath Singh were on law and order duty on their Government Jeep and were involved in checking of vehicles on Chowk Chauraha. On the information from an informer about an Indica Car of gray colour numbered as DL 9 CD 0066 coming from the side of Padao with illegal Ganja, they started checking of vehicles coming from the side of Padav and the said car appeared and was given indication by torch light to stop but the said vehicle turned towards Pathari Tola. After using necessary force, the said car was intercepted along with driver at about 10:00 P.M. at Pathari Tola Turn. The driver told his name to be Sanjeev Kumar Singh and informed about two bags of Ganja in the dickey of the car. He was informed about his right to be searched before the Magistrate or gazetted officer but he voluntarily consented for search being made by the police group. The police personnel took search of each other to assure that they are not carrying any illegal article and thereafter two bags were recovered from the dickey of the car having 10.1 Kg. and 10.2 Kg. of illegal Ganja therein, which were weighed on a weighing instrument which was arranged from the nearby shop by Constable Dinesh Yadav. Sample of 50-50 gm. from each bag were taken and sealed separately. The remaining recovered Ganja was sealed in the said two bags. Recovery memo was prepared on his dictation by S.I. Kamlesh Pal, which was read over and heard by concerned and the police personnel and the accused signed over the recovery. The accused was taken into custody along with Indica Car and recovered illegal Ganja. The copy of recovery memo was given to the accused and again his signature was obtained. The witness has proved the recovery memo as Ext. Ka-1. The first information report was lodged. His statement was taken by the Investigating Officer. The witness has also proved the recovered Ganja as Material Ext. 1 and 2.

11. PW-2 is S.I. Kamlesh Pal who is also a witness of fact. He has also proved the recovery by stating that the illegal Ganja was recovered from the possession of the accused from two bags which were kept in the dickey which was 20.3 Kg. in weight, from which 50-50 grams of sample was taken and the remaining was sealed in the said bags. The witness has identified his signature on the recovery memo.

12. PW-3 is S.I. Akhilesh Kumar Singh (Investigating Officer) who has narrated the whole process of investigation and has said that after obtaining the chemical examination report from the Forensic Science Laboratory and after recording the evidence of the witnesses of recovery and preparing the site map, he submitted charge sheet against the accused. He also proved the chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-6 and G.D. Ext. Ka-7 as secondary witness as the chik and G.D. writer Ram Daras Ram has worked with him and he was aware about his hand writing and signature.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the mandatory provision of N.D.P.S. Act were not complied with by the search team and the appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case. There was no public witness of the recovery which has been made at a public place. No information was given about the recovery and arrest to the superior officers. There is discrepancy and contradictions in the statements of the witnesses and the impugned judgment is not sustainable under law and is liable to be set aside.

14. The recovery memo shows that for sample 50 gm. each of the recovered items from two bags were taken out and sealed and the same was sent for chemical-examination, the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory is on record as Ext. Ka-5 and that shows that the recovered articles were ganja (marijuana/cannabis). So, there remains no doubt in this regard. PW-1 and PW-2 are the witnesses of recovery who have proved that the two bags of ganja was recovered from the accused which was kept in the Dickey of the car he was driving at the time of recovery. The recovery memo has been duly prepared and signed by witnesses and the accused himself and the copy thereof has been delivered to the accused and thereupon he further signed over memo as a mark of receipt. It has been further proved by the witnesses that before conducting search, the police team conducted search of each other to ensure that none of them were possessing any incriminating article at that time. So far as absence of any public witness is concerned, the recovery memo and the statements of recovery witnesses clearly shows that people gathered there at that time were asked to become witnesses but they refused. It is needless to mention that normally people avoid becoming witness in such kind of situation.

15. A reference may be made in this regard of the judgments in Jarnail Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2011 CRLJ 1738(SC), Ajmer Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2010) 3 SCC 746 and Dharam Pal Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 2010(71) ACC 548 (SC). Where the accused, on seeing the police party, made an attempt to turn back and escape but was over powered by the police party and on his arrest and search "Charas" was recovered from his possession for which he had no license and after prosecution he was convicted for the offence under Section 20 of the N.D.P.S. Act 1985, the Supreme Court has settled the law on the point that the obligation to take public witnesses(independent witness) is not absolute. If after making efforts which the court considers in the circumstances of the case reasonable the police officer is not able to get public witnesses to associate with the raid or arrest of the culprit, the arrest and the recovery made would not be necessarily vitiated. The court will have to appreciate the relevant evidence and will have to determine whether the evidence of the police officer is believable after taking due care and caution in evaluating their evidence.

16. In Gian Chand & Others Vs State of Haryana, AIR 2013 SC 3395, it has been held that mere non-joining of an independent witness where the evidence of the prosecution witnesses may be found to be cogent, convincing, creditable and reliable, cannot cast doubt on the version forwarded by the prosecution if there seems to be no reason on record to falsely implicate the appellants. In this case, at the time of recovery of poppy husk from possession of accused some villagers had gathered there. The Investigating Officer in his cross examination made it clear that in spite of his best persuasion, none of them were willing to become a witness. Therefore, he could not examine any independent witness. Section 114 of the Evidence Act gives rise to the presumption that every official act done by the police was regularly performed and such presumption requires rebuttal. The legal maxim omnia praesumuntur rite it dowee probetur in contrarium solenniter esse acta i.e., all the acts are presumed to have been done rightly and regularly, applies. When acts are of official nature and went through the process of scrutiny by official persons, a presumption arises that the said acts have regularly been performed.

17. In this instant case, the people gathered there refused to become witness and there was no option with the police. Both the police witnesses have proved the recovery and nothing has come in their cross-examination worth creating any doubt on their testimony. Therefore, in this instant case, the learned trial court, if found the absence of public witnesses at the time of recovery reasonably explained, I find no illegality in it.

18. It has been submitted by the learned counsel to the appellant that the police team did not comply the mandatory provisions of section 50 N.D.P.S. Act. Section 50 is as follows:

"Section 50: Conditions under which search of person shall be conducted :-

(1) When any officer duly authorized under Section. 42 is about to search any person under the provisions of Section 41, Section 42 or Section 43, he shall, if such person so requires, take such person without unnecessary delay to the nearest Gazettted Officer of any of the departments mentioned in Section 42 or to the nearest Magistrate.

(2) If such requisition is made, the officer may detain the person until he can bring him before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate before whom any such person is brought shall, if he sees no reasonable ground for search, forthwith discharge the person but otherwise shall direct that search be made.

(4) No female shall be searched by anyone excepting a female.

(5) When an officer duly authorized under section 42 has reason to believe that it is not possible to take the person to be searched to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate without the possibility of the person to be searched parting with possession of any narcotic drug or psychotropic substance, or controlled substance or article or document, he may, instead of taking such person to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate, proceed to search the person as provided under section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

6. After a search is conducted under sub-section (5), the officer shall record the reasons for such belief which necessitated such search and within seventy-two hours send a copy thereof to his immediate official superior."

19. Section 50 provides reasonable safeguard to the accused before search of his person is made by an officer authorised under section 42 of the Act to conduct search. In State of Punjab Vs. Baldev Singh, (1999) 6 SCC 172 (Five Judge Bench), it was settled by the supreme court that search of person under Section 50 of the N.D.P.S. Act does not include search & recovery from bag, briefcase and container etc. Section 50 applies where personal search of a person is involved. In T. Hamza vs State of Kerala, (2000) 1 SCC 300, it has been clarified that Section 50 has been incorporated to provide statutory safeguard to lend credibility and fairness and to avoid arbitrariness keeping in view the severe punishment prescribed in the statute. It has been further clarified in Megh Singh vs State of Punjab, (2003) 8 SCC 666, that Section 50 applies only in case of personal search of a person and does not extend to search of a vehicle, container, bag or premises. In Ajmer Singh Vs. State of Haryana, (2010) 3 SCC 746 and Jarnail Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2011 CrLJ 1738(SC)1, the above view was further affirmed.

20. In Kulwinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (2015) 6 SCC 674, where bags containing poppy husk were seized from truck in his the accused were sitting, it has been held by the Supreme Court that it was not a case of personal search of the accused and Section 50 of the N.D.P.S. Act, 1985 was not attracted as Section 50 only applies in case of personal search of person and not applicable to search of vehicle, container, bag or premises. In Dilbagh Singh v State of Punjab, (2017) 11 SCC 290, it was held that compliance of Section 50 is mandatory in case of search of person. Where the recovered contraband has been recovered from the car the accused was driving, Section 50 is not applicable.

21. In the instant case the illegal ganja has been recovered from the dickey of the car the accused was driving at that time. Moreover, the recovery memo and statements of two recovery witnesses show that it was explained to the accused before search that he has a right to be searched before a gazetted officer or magistrate, and only when the accused permitted search by police, the search was conducted and the illegal ganja was recovered. The learned trial court has taken the reference of the judgment of the Supreme Court in State of Haryana vs Jeneral Singh, (2004) 5 SCC 7188 and Syco Jabbi vs State of Maharashtra, 2004 (1) Crimes 112, where the contraband was recovered respectively from tanker and box in possession of accused and it was held that Section 50 applies on personal search only recovery from tanker or box does not require compliance of Section 50 of the Act. Therefore, in view of aforesaid principles of law and factual matrix also, the compliance of Section 50 N.D.P.S. Act was not at all mandatory and I find no force in the submission of the learned counsel to the appellant.

22. It has been submitted by the learned counsel to the appellant during arguments that the vehicle from which the alleged recovery was made by police, it has not been clarified whether the same was taken into possession by police and whether any investigation was conducted to trace the whereabouts of car or the owner thereof, nor it was clarified where the said car was taken and kept and whether any offence was registered in respect of the said car. From the perusal of the impugned judgment, it appears that the learned trial court has discussed this aspect at length and on evidence, a finding has been recorded to the effect that the car was taken into possession by police and was taken to police station and an entry thereof was made in the relevant G.D. Since the illegal ganja was recovered from the dickey of the said car, it is obvious that the same must have been opened by the key of the car and when the car was taken to the police station, the same could have been possible with the help of the key. The learned trial court has taken the view that it was not necessary for the prosecution to produce the key before the court during trial nor it was necessary to book the car under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act. The learned trial court took the view that the car was seized by police which is sufficient for the purpose of the trial of the instant case and it was not required that a mention to that effect should have been necessarily made in the charge-sheet. Again it has been also concluded that if the I.O. did not find the car at the place of recovery, the same is natural as prior to that the said car was already consigned to police station. I find myself in full agreement with the reasoned conclusion arrived at by the learned trial court on the point. This argument that it has been nowhere established by the prosecution that the accused was owner of the car or who was the owner thereof, the learned trial court has very rightly concluded that this fact was not required to be proved nor the prosecution was under obligation to lead any evidence on this point. The contraband was recovered from the dickey of the car he was driving and there was no other person in the car and prior to search he himself admitted to police team that there is ganja in the dickey. This shows his conscious possession over the recovered contraband and for the purpose of prosecution it was sufficient.

23. Another submission which has been made by the learned counsel to the appellant is in respect of alleged discrepancy in respect of place of recovery and site-map. The argument is that the police team was present on Chowk Chouraha, Ramnagar at place 'C', and the recovery was made at place 'B' and it has not been explained when police team reached at place 'A'. The learned trial court has discussed this aspect in detail by taking reference of the statement of I.O. and site-map and has found on evidence that on receiving the information, the police team started checking of vehicles coming from the side of Padaw towards Chowk and tried to stop the said car by throwing torch light whereupon, the accused turned the car towards Pathari Tola and anyhow he was stopped and caught by police. The court found that the distance between 'A' and 'C' was not much and moreover, there were 8 police persons and logically, they were not static at one place and, as such, no benefit could be given to the accused. Again, not mentioning of the police station in the site-map may be an omission of I.O., but, the same was not necessary nor it may indicate that the recovery was made at the gate of the police station. Therefore, the learned trial court did not find any substantial contradiction in respect of the place of recovery. The approach of the learned trial court is based on reasoning which is convincing and moreover, the discrepancy or omission if any in preparation of site-map is insignificant and has no bearing over the case in hand.

24. It has been further submitted that the police team did not comply with the provisions of Section 42 (2) and Section 57 of the N.D.P.S. Act which requires conveying of information so received and search and seizure and as such the whole trial vitiates. In support of this argument, the judgments in Krishna Chandra vs State of Haryana, 2013 (3) CCSC 1558 (SC), Abdul Rasheed Ibrahim Mansuri vs State of Gujarat, 2000 CrLJ 1384 (SC) and Jitendra Singh Rathore vs State of UP, 2014 (1) JIC 511 (Allahabad) have been referred.

25. Section 42 is as follows:

"(2) Where an officer takes down any information in writing under sub-section (1) or records ground for his belief under the proviso thereto, he shall within seventy two hours send a copy thereof to his immediate official superior."

Section 57 is as below:

"Whenever any person makes any arrest or seizure under this Act, he shall, within forty eight hours next after such arrest or seizure, make a full report of all the particulars of such arrest or seizure to his immediate official superior."

26. It has been held in State of Karnataka v. Dondusa Namasa Baddi, 2011(72) ACC 666 (SC) following Karnail Singh v. State of Haryana, 2009 (8) SCC 539 (Five judge Bench) that if no information was taken down in writing by police officer or conveyed to immediate police officer then any oral evidence of police officer will not be in compliance with the provisions of Section 42(2) of the N.D.P.S. Act. In Darshan Singh v State of Haryana, (2016) 14 SCC 358 also, it has been held that registration of F.I.R. and its communication to S.P. is not due compliance of Section 42(2).

27. In this case, PW-3 proved before the trial court G.D. Ext. Ka-7 in which it is contained that after registration of offence, information was given to C.C.R. and superior officers by R.T. Set. In Dilbagh Singh v State of Punjab, (2017) 11 SCC 290, it has been held that where higher officer has been informed without any unreasonable delay and the F.I.R. has reached to the Magistrate without any further delay, there remains no force in the argument of the learned defence counsel.

28. In Girish Raghunath Mehta v Inspector of Custom, AIR 2016 SC 4317, it has been held that Section 42 is not applicable when contraband is recovered from a public place. Adequate and substantial compliance is a question of fact to be determined on the basis of facts and circumstances of each case. In State of Haryana vs Jarnail Singh, (2004) 5 SCC 188, it has been laid down that Sections 42 and 43 contemplate two distinct situations. Section 42 contemplates entry into and search of any building, conveyance or enclosed place, while Section 43 contemplates a seizure made in any public place or in transit.

29. In State, NCT of Delhi vs Malvinder Singh AIR 2007 SC (supp.) 237, accused was on scooter at public place when stopped and searched on the basis of earlier information and contraband recovered. The Supreme Court pointing out the distinction between the two situations contemplated by Sections 42 and 43, held that Section 42 is not applicable and Section 43 will apply where such search has taken place on a public place. Therefore, the learned trial court has concluded on the basis of evidence that the said vehicle from which contraband was recovered was intercepted at a public place and on road, and therefore, in the facts of the case Section 43 of the Act is applicable.

30. Arguments have been advanced regarding sampling from the recovered contraband for chemical examination. Prosecution has alleged that recovered contraband were kept in two bags, one containing 10 kg. 100 gm. and other 10 kg. and 200 gm. and from each bag 50 gm. was taken out as sample and both the samples were sealed separately and the same was sent for chemical examination through docket Ext. Ka-3 as stated by PW-3 I.O. The arguments of defence by which a confusion was tried to be created regarding taking sample twice, sending the same by concerned CO, where the sample was kept for 11 days and that the sample was found 50.12 gm. and 50.31 gm. when reached to the Laboratory, have been rightly negatived by the learned trial court giving cogent reasons based on evidence on record, as there was nothing on record nor any suggestion to the witnesses that the sealed sample was anywhere tampered. The recovered contraband was weighed before being resealed and prior to search the police personnel searched each other to remove any possibility of the contraband being planted. There was no reason for false implication and the submission that being truck owner, because he did not fulfil illegal demands of police, has no valid base. Omission in investigation here or there was rightly ignored being insignificant and negligible.

31. In Dharam Pal Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 2010 (71) ACC 548(SC), it has been laid down that Section 54 of the N.D.P.S. Act creates a legal fiction & presumes the person in possession of illicit article when possession is once established, that the accused had culpable mental state & had committed the offense.

32. In Gian Chand (Supra), the recovery of contraband has been considered from yet an other angle and the Supreme Court has remarked that From the conjoint reading of the provisions of Sections 35 and 54 of the Act, it becomes clear that if the accused is found to be in possession of the contraband article, he is presumed to have committed the offence under the relevant provisions of the Act until the contrary is proved. According to Section 35 of the Act, the Court shall presume the existence of mental state from the commission of an offence and it is for the accused to prove otherwise. It is a settled legal proposition that once possession of the contraband articles is established, the burden shifts on the accused to establish that he had no knowledge of the same. Additionally, it can also be held that once the possession of the contraband material with the accused is established, the accused has to establish how he came to be in possession of the same as it is within his special knowledge and therefore, the case falls within the ambit of the provisions of Section 106 of the Evidence Act.

33. On the basis of above discussion, I find that in this instant case, the samples were properly sampled, sealed and sent to Laboratory for examination, certificate to that effect by the Laboratory that the seal of samples found intact and the same tallied with specimen seal, rules out any possibility of any tampering therewith. The contraband was recovered from the car the accused was driving and the car was consigned to police station also authenticate the conscious possession of accused. The recovered contraband was more than two hundred kg negates the possibility of their being planted by police. Both the recovery witnesses have proved the recovery of contraband from the car the accused was driving. There is no evidence to show any bias or malice on the part of investigating agency. There is no merit in the argument with regards to compliance of Sections 42, 50 and 57 of the N.D.P.S. Act. The learned trial court has appreciated the evidence on record in correct legal and factual matrix.

34. Section 20 (C) of the Act provides minimum sentence of ten years which may be extended to twenty years and a minimum fine of rupees one lac extendable up to two lacs in case of recovery of commercial quantity of contraband. The learned trial court has awarded a sentence of 12 years imprisonment and rupees one lac and twenty five thousands fine. The recovered contraband is ganja and in comparison to other contraband like heroine, smack and charas, it is very cheaper in cost and easily found herb with hardly international demand and its addiction is not that serious and may not have vital impact on individuals. While awarding sentence, the learned trial court appears to have become a little mechanical. The recovered contraband was slightly above the commercial quantity (20 kg. 300 gm.) for which 10 years rigorous imprisonment and one lac fine and in default 1 year additional imprisonment will serve the purpose of sentencing. Accordingly, awarded sentence is liable to be modified.

35. Thus, there appears to be no perversity or illegality in the impugned judgment. So far as conviction is concerned, the same is upheld and the awarded sentence is modified to mean 10 years rigorous imprisonment and one lac fine and in default of fine, 1 year additional imprisonment.

36. With the above modification in sentence, the appeal is finally disposed off.

37. The convicted appellant Sanjeev Kumar Singh, if on bail shall surrender before the learned trial court forthwith to undergo the remaining sentence.

38. The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record along with a copy of judgment for information and compliance.

A. Section 302 I.P.C. - Appeal against conviction. - Independent witness– inconsistency and contradiction in statement of witnesses.

If a person is not known to any witness and he was seen for the first time at the time of occurrence, identification of that person for the first time in Court is very weak type of evidence. (Para 44)

B. Every contradiction, inconsistency between the statement of witnesses, normally, may not be treated material but where accused/appellant and witness are residents of same town and occurrence had taken place in the night, neither name of accused nor name of witness or description of weapon was mentioned in F.I.R, important natural and independent witness present at the time of occurrence were not produced, no identification parade was conducted. The contradiction and inconsistency found herein above are major and important which have demolished the castle of prosecution case. (Para 46)

Appeal is allowed. (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This jail appeal under section 383 Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Cr.P.C) has been preferred by accused-appellant Kalluwa (hereinafter referred as appellant) through Superintendent of Sub-Jail, Mahoba against the judgment and order dated 16.1.2009 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Mahoba, in S.T. Investigation was undertaken by P.W-6, S.I. Gopal Krishna Gupta (I.O), who was posted as officer in-charge P.S. Charkhari, District Mahoba. He immediately rushed to the place of occurrence and recorded statement of P.W-1 Annu alias Dayashankar, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared site plan of the occurrence (Ext.ka-5). He prepared inquest report (Ext.ka-6) and necessary police papers i.e chalan nash,

He also took the sample of blood stained and plain earth and piece of blood stained bed sheet and prepared its seizure memo (Ext.ka-11 and Ext.ka.12).He arrested appellant, and on his confessional statement and on his pointing out, recovered weapon used in the commission of offence, one spade (Farsha) from the bushes, situated near Pahadee of Khajor and prepared seizure memo of recovery of weapon (Ext-ka-13) and site plan of recovery of weapon (Ext.ka-14). After recording the statement of eye witnesses, witnesses of inquest report, seizure memo and other police officials i.e. Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1) Amar Singh Chauhan, Bhauu alias Bhagwan, Maan Singh and Aswani Kumar, Raj Bahadur, Shankar Singh, Vimla Devi (P.W-2), Rajju (P.W-3), Cons. 6. The cognizance of the offence was taken by Chief Judicial Magistrate, (C.J.M) Mahoba on 21.7.2007.

7. Since the offence was exclusively triable by Court of Session, C.J.M Mahoba, after providing copies of relevant police of papers as required under section 207 Cr.P.C, committed the case to Court of Session Judge, Mahoba; who framed the charges on 6.10.2007 as under:-

I, Sri Sudhir Kumar Saxena, Sessions Judge, Mahoba do hereby charge on you Kalluwa s/o Hindopat Vishwakarma as follows:-

That you in the intervening night of 12.6.2007 at about 3.00 a.m. in front of the house of informant (outside his house at Chabutara) within the area of Mohalla Jayant Nagar, P.S Charkhari, District Mahoba with intention to commit the murder of Smt. Brijrani, mother of the informant by causing injury with Farsa and thereby committed an offence punishable under section 302 of the I.P.C and within the cognizant of this Court.

And hereby directed that you be tried by this court on the said charge.

The charge were read over and explained to the accused- appellant who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

(Translated by Court)

8. In support of its case, prosecution examined six witnesses, out of whom P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, P.W-2, Smt. Vimala wife of informant, P.W-3, Rajju, brother-in-law (Dewar) of the deceased are witnesses of fact whereas P.W-4, Dr. D.K. Sullerey, P.W-5 cons. 130 Jairam Prajapati, P.W-6, Inspector Gopal Krishna Gupta are formal witnesses.

9. After conclusion of evidence, the statement of appellant was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C., who stated that the entire prosecution story is false and concocted and claimed that he has falsely been implicated in this case. Upon opportunity given by Trial Court for defence evidence, he had produced D.W-1 Laadkunwar and D.W-2 Hindupat in his defence.

10. Upon conclusion of trial and after hearing learned counsel for both the parties, Trial Court found appellant guilty for the offence under section 302 I.P.C and accordingly convicted and sentenced him as above . Aggrieved by the aforesaid impugned judgment and order, appellant has preferred this appeal.

11. We have heard Sri V.S. Parmar, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ratan Singh, learned A.G.A for the State.

12. It has been argued by learned counsel for the appellant that F.I.R is ante timed; appellant is not named in the F.I.R; no identification parade was held; there was no source of light at the place of occurrence; P.W-3 Rajju is not named in the F.I.R; P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar has also not named any witness who had seen the occurrence; P.W-2 Vimla and P.W-3 Rajju are the nearest relative of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and are interested witness; presence of P.W-3 Rajju at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful; statement of eye witnesses P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shanker, P.W- 2 Vimla and P.W-3 Rajju are self contradictory and doubtful; recovery of alleged weapon used in the offence is also doubtful; even if prosecution case is found reliable, offence under section 302 I.P.C is not made out rather only offence under section 304 I.P.C may be made out in the fact and circumstance of this case; and accused-appellant is innocent and has falsely been implicated in the present case hence impugned judgment and order is based on surmises and conjuncture and liable to be set aside.

13. Per contra, learned A.G.A has submitted that presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence is natural; their evidence are trustworthy; accused-appellant had been identified in the light available at the place of occurrence; evidence of prosecution witnesses cannot be thrown out only on the ground that they are relatives of the deceased; the ocular evidence is fully supported medical evidence; F.I.R has been lodged without any delay; prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against the accused-appellant; there is no illegality in the aforesaid impugned judgement and order, hence appeal is liable to be dismissed.

14. We have considered the submission made by the learned counsel for both parties and perused the record.

15. In the light of arguments advanced by both the parties and evidence available on record, it has to be determined "whether prosecution has succeeded to establish the offence under section 302 I.P.C against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt."

16. P.W. 1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, Informant of the occurrence, has stated that on 12.6.2007, his mother Brijrani was sleeping at platform (Chabutara), situated in front of his house, whereas he and his wife Vimla Devi (P.W-2) were sleeping inside his house. At about 3.00 a.m, upon hearing cry of his mother, he and his wife came out from their house and saw that some unknown person was assaulting at his mother, by sharp edged spade (Farsa). He saw and identified his face in the light of tube-light at the time of occurrence but did not know his name. He raised an alarm wherefrom appellant run away towards Paharh (mountain). He saw that his mother was lying, with blood, at cot. He has further stated that his uncle Rajju and another one person Bhau alias Bhagwan Das were also sleeping on platform situated in front of his house. They had also chased the appellant. According to him, after the occurrence, he had lodged F.I.R (Ext-ka-1); police had taken in custody blood stained earth and pieces of bed sheet, plain earth and prepared its recovery memo, at the place of occurrence wherein he had also put his signature; and police had prepared inquest report of the corpse of the deceased Brijrani, sealed the corpse, and sent it for postmortem. This witness has identified the appellant in court room and said that he had caused murder of his mother, to whom he had seen at the place of occurrence. He has further stated that while they were chasing accused, Bhau alias Bhagwan Das thrown a stick (danda) at him.

17. P-W-2, Vimla, daughter-in-law of deceased, sleeping inside her house with P-W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, at the time of occurrence, has stated that deceased Brijrani was sleeping out side her house at platform (chabutara) whereas her father-in-law's brother (Chachiya Shasur) Rajju (P.W-3) was sleeping at another platform in front of her house. It was 3.00 a.m, at the time of occurrence. She heard cry of her mother-in-law, Brijrani (deceased). She and her husband came out from their bed room and saw that appellant Kalluwa was assaulting deceased. When they raised alarm, appellant fled away and her husband and father-in-law Rajju (Chachiya Shasur) had chased him. She had identified appellant Kalluwa in the light of tube light, who had assaulted twice to her mother-in-law by spade.

18. P.W-3, Rajju, is the brother-in-law (Dewar) of deceased Brijrani. He has stated that it was 3.00 a.m, he was sleeping at the platform in front of house of one Virendra, situated across the road whereas deceased Brijrani was sleeping at the platform, situated in front of her house; at the time of occurrence he heard shriek and cry of deceased Brijrani; he saw that appellant Kalluwa was assaulting by spade on the deceased; his nephew Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1) and nephew's wife Vimla(P.W-2) were also raising alarm; he had also challenged and chased the appellant but he fled away toward Godari Pahadiya; at the time of occurrence there was sufficient light of tube light in which he had seen the occurrence; after occurrence, he could not disclose the name of accused Kalluwa as he was afraid; he had disclosed his name to the police ; after 2-4 days of the occurrence, police was carrying appellant kalluwa in a jeep, and he was present at Pachraha (five roads junction) Akhthauha, Charkhari road with one Shankar Singh. He has further stated that police had told him that appellant was willing to get spade (weapon use in the offence) recovered, whereupon he also followed the police and appellant-Kalluwa had said that he would hand over the spade whereby, he had caused the murder. Police had taken away him also by the jeep. Jeep was stopped beneath the hill. Police had searched in person to each other. After getting down from Jeep, the appellant Kalluwa, leading police party, searched the spade from bushes of palm tree, and handed over the same to police, and said that it was that spade whereby he had caused the murder of deceased Brijrani. He has further stated that police had taken in his custody the alleged recovered spade, sealed it, and prepared memo of recovery, wherein he had also put his signature. This witness identified his signature on recovery memo before the trial court.

19. P.W-4, Dr. D.K. Sullerey, who had conducted autopsy of the dead body of deceased, has stated that on 12.6.2007 he was posted at district Mahoba as Emergency Medical Officer, and had conducted autopsy of the dead body of the deceased at 4.00 p.m. which was brought before him in sealed condition by Cons. 84 Prakash Narayan Mishra, H.G-1742, Ram Swaroop, P.S Charkhari with relevant police papers. (Anti mortem injuries, found by this witness, have been mentioned in para 4 of the judgement); in the stomach of the deceased about 6 M.L paste material was present; deceased was at about 44 years; her body was average built up; rigor mortis was present on her body; the deceased had died due to hemorrhage and shock caused by anti mortem injury which would have been caused half day before the autopsy and post mortem report (Ext-ka-2) was prepared at the time of autopsy.

20. P.W-5, Constable 130, Jai Ram Prajapati has stated that on 12.6.2007 he was posted at P.S. Charkhari as Cons. Moharrir. On that date, on the written information filed by Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1), he had lodged F.I.R No.93 of 2007 as Case crime No. 1012 of 2007, under section 302 I.P.C, against unknown person, prepared chik report (Ext-ka-3) and entered information in general diary(Ext-ka-4).

21. P.W-6, Gopal Krishna Gupta (I.O) has stated that on 12.6.2007, he was posted as Station House Officer at P.S. Charkhari and undertaken investigation of the case. He had inspected place of occurrence on the pointing out of Informant, Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1), and prepared site plan (Ext.ka-5). The inquest was conducted under his supervision by Devi Deen. Inquest report (Ext.ka-6) and relevant papers, letter to C.M.O, Chalan nass, letter to R.I., photo nass (Ex.ka-7 to Ext.ka 10) were also prepared. He had taken into his custody, pieces of blood stained bed sheet,sample of blood stained and plain earth and prepared recovery memo (Ext.ka 11 to Ext.ka12).Appellant was arrested by him on 13.6.2007. On his confessional and disclosure statement, the weapon (spade) used in the offence was recovered from the bushes of palm tree situated at nearby Godari Pahadi in the presence of witnesses. According to him recovered spade was sealed in the presence of the witnesses and its recovery memo (Ext-ka-3) was prepared and signed by him and by witnesses. He has further stated that during investigation he had recorded statement of witnesses and also prepared site plan (Ext-ka-14) of recovery of spade and after investigation filed a charge sheet (Ext-ka-15) against the appellant Kalluwa, under section 302 I.P.C. According to him on 20.7.2007, the recovered articles i.e blood stained earth, pieces of bed (bistar) and spade (material Ext-1 to material Ext- 4) were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory for examination.

22. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, statement of appellant was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C, wherein he denied the occurrence and the evidence produced by the prosecution and has stated that he has been falsely implicated by the police in this case.

23. The appellant was given opportunity to lead evidence in his defence. D.W-1 Ladkunwar and D.W-2 Hindupat were examined by him in his defence. Both these witnesses are the parents of appellant.

24. D-W-1 Ladkunwar, mother of appellant, has stated that on the day of occurrence at 6.00 a.m, police had taken away his son from her house when both of them were sleeping in front of her house.

25. D.W-2 Hindupat, father of appellant, has stated that on the day of occurrence he was sleeping at his house with his family. Police had come and taken away his son (appellant). He has further stated that when he quarried to police, it said that they were taking away him for interrogation.

26. So far as the submission of learned counsel for the appellant that the prosecution witnesses P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar, P-W-2 Vimla and P.W-3 Rajju are interested witnesses, the presence of P.W-3 Rajju at the place of occurrence is highly doubtful and the statements of all the above three witnesses are self-contradictory is concerned, it is settled principle of law that only on account that prosecution witnesses are relatives of the victim/ deceased, their testimonies cannot be discarded. In such case, their testimony is required to be tested with due care and caution. It is also to be required to see; whether presence of the witnesses on the place of occurrence is natural and their statements are trustworthy or not.

27. As per F.I.R, occurrence was happened at 3.00 a.m. i.e in the night. In F.I.R none was named as accused. Even the nature and description of arm or weapon is also not mentioned therein. At the time of occurrence P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and P.W-2 Vimla were sleeping inside their house, whereas deceased was sleeping out side of her house. At about 3.00 a.m, both P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar and P.W-2, Vimla heard cry of deceased and came out from their house.They saw that one unknown person was running after causing severe injury on the head of the deceased by sharp edged weapon. As per F.I.R, all these witnesses have neither seen appellant at the time of causing injury to deceased nor identified appellant.Even they had not identified weapon whereby injury was caused to the deceased. In F.I.R, it has further been mentioned that both these witnesses had seen accused in the light of mercury tube light and they can identify appellant. In F.I.R, it has also not been mentioned whether both these witnesses had chased appellant or not. In this FI.R, presence of any other witness except P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and P.W-2 Vimla has also not been mentioned.

28. P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, in his statement has specifically stated that when he came out from his house, he saw that an unknown person was causing injury to his mother by spade (farsa). He has further stated, that at the time of occurrence, he had identified accused by his face but he did not know his name. He had seen accused causing the occurrence in the light of mercury tube light and when he shouted, accused had fled away towards Pahadi (hill). He has further stated that at the time of occurrence his uncle Rajju (P.W-3) and another person Bhau alias Bhagwandas were sleeping on chabutara (platform) in front of his house. According to him both these persons had also chased the accused. This witness has identified accused before Trial Court and stated that appellant had caused death of his mother. In cross-examination, this witness has stated that he had chased accused whereas his wife (P.W-2) began weeping by clinging with his mother. He had chased 40-50 meters to the accused but he did not know how many people were chasing the accused. According to him when he returned to his mother, it was 3.05 p.m. He had neither lifted his mother nor had asked any one to do so because his mother had died. He had not touched his mother. In cross examination, he has further stated that he drives the vehicle. He has further stated that he had seen the occurrence when accused-appellant was running after causing occurrence. At that time mercury light was blowing on the pole but he did not know whether it was moon light or dark light. In cross examination, he has also stated that he had not seen the face of accused at that time when he was fleeing. P.W-2, Vimla, in her examination-in- chief has specifically stated that when she and her husband (P.W-1) came out from their house, on hearing the cry of her mother-in-law, saw that appellant-Kalluwa, present in Court, was attacking by spade to her mother-in-law. She has further stated that her husband and her cousin, father-in-law Rajju (P.W-3) had chased the appellant- Kalluwa. In cross examination she has further stated that she did not know the name of the appellant. She did not know as to which side the face of the appellant was, at the time of occurrence. According to her she was interrogated by police after 5-6 days. She has specifically stated in her cross examination that she did not disclose to investigating officer that accused-appellant Kalluwa had caused the death of deceased because she did not know name of appellant Kalluwa. She has further stated that she did not know as to how many persons named Kalluwa are residents of her town. Thus, statements of these witnesses are contradictory with fact mentioned in F.I.R (Ex.ka-1), as to whether they saw appellant at the time of causing injuries to deceased or they saw appellant, when he was running after occurrence, and also contradictory to F.I.R whether appellant was chased by any one or not.

29. P.W-3, Rajju, is brother in-law (dewar) of the deceased. He is not named in the F.I.R as an eye witness. According to him, at the time of occurrence he was lying and sleeping at the platform situated in front of one Virendra, across the road, whereas his sister-in-law (Bhabhi) was sleeping, opposite side of the road at platform situated in front of her house. At about 3.00 p.m, he heard cry of deceased Brijrani and saw that appellant was causing injury to his sister-in-law (Bhabhi), by spade. According to him, at that time, his brother's son (bhatija) (P.W-1) Annu alias Daya Shankar and his wife Vimla (P.W-2) were also raising alarm. They came near appellant and tried to chase him but he fled away towards Godari Pahadiya (hill). According to him, he had identified the appellant in the light of mercury lamp, emitting light on the pole, situated nearby the place of occurrence. In examination in-chief, he has explained that he could not disclose name of appellant Kalluwa as he had become afraid at the time of occurrence, but disclosed it to police. In cross examination, he has specifically stated that after the occurrence he had gone to the police station with Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1). He had not gone with Arvind Singh. P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar did the job of driving of vehicle to Arvind Singh. He has further stated that no body except him and Annu alias Daya Shankar (P.W-1) had gone to police station. His daughter-in-law (Bahu) remained at her house. He has further stated that before reaching police station, he had returned to his house and thereafter Annu alias Daya Shanker would have gone to police station but he did not know whether he had lodged report or not. He has stated that just after one hour of the occurrence, police had reached the place of occurrence and recorded his statement. The statement was also recorded after two days and police had continuously interrogated him for five days.

30. Admittedly, P.W-3 Rajju has not been named in the F.I.R. His presence or any role has also not been shown in the F.I.R. P.W.-1, Annu @ Daya Shankar, in his cross examination has also admitted that he did not mentioned name of witnesses in F.I.R for which he has not given any explanation. P.W.3 Rajju has stated that he has four brothers. All were married and there is partition among them. They reside in separate houses situated at separate place. He resides inside the town (basti) near the 'B' Park.

31. PW-6 S.I. Gopal Krishna Gupta, Investigating Officer of the case, has stated that P.W-3 Rajju did reside two kilometers away from the place of occurrence. Neither P.W-3 Rajju nor any witness of the prosecution has shown any justification as to why P.W-3, Rajju was lying and present at the platform, situated in front of one Virendra's house in the night, at the time of occurrence. The prosecution has also not produced any justification as to why the name of Rajju (P.W-3) and his role of chasing at the time of occurrence was not mentioned in F.I.R. of occurrence. In addition to it, this witness (P.W-3) once said that he had gone to police station with P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar but again retracted to his statement and said that he had not gone to police station. In such circumstances evidence of this witness (P.W-3) becomes doubtful.

32. In addition to above, from perusal of the site plan (Ex-ka 5) of the place of occurrence, it is clear that the house of one Virendra, Bhagwan, Virendra son of Mulayam Singh and Gorey Lal are situated just nearby the place of occurrence. PW-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar, in his examination-in-chief, has stated that in front of his house, his uncle Rajju (P.W-3) and one Bhau alias Bhagwan were lying. In cross examination he has also stated that the house of Bhagwan Dass is situated near the place of occurrence. P.W-3 Rajju has also, in cross examination, has stated that the house of Bhagwan Dass is situated in front of place of occurrence, the house of Govind Thakur is also situated near the house of Bhagwan Dass just 20-25 fit away from the place of occurrence. He has further stated that one Virendra Rajpoot, resides beside to one Devi Deen. He has further stated that the house of Vishwanath is also situated beside to the house of Devi Deen. P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar has stated, in cross examination, that at the time of chasing accused Bhau alias Bhagwan Dass had assaulted on accused by throwing a stick. P.W-6, S.I, Gopal Krishna Gupta (I.O.) admitting this fact has also stated the fact that accused was attacked by Bhagwan Dass is true. P.W-3 in cross examination has stated that he knows Bhagwan Dass, who is uncle of appelant whereas P.W-1 said at one place that he did not know the uncle of Kalluwa but in response to question put by Trial Court he said that house of Bhagwan Dass is situated in front of place of occurrence. The prosecution has neither produced Bhau alias Bhagwan Dass nor any independent person, as witness, who resides nearly the place of occurrence. In such situation, the presence of P.W-3 Rajju, who is not resident to nearby place of occurrence and his statement, being relative of Informant, becomes doubtful.

33. From the perusal of F.I.R it transpires that no one has witnessed the occurrence and accused causing injury to the deceased. Nature and description of weapon has also not been mentioned in F.I.R (Ext-ka.1). In F.I.R it has been mentioned as follows:-

" एक अज्ञात व्यक्ति माता जी के सिर पर तेज धार वाले हथियार से सिर मे गम्भीर प्रहार करके भाग रहा था " One unknown person by causing injury on the head of his mother by sharp edged weapon was running. (English translation by Court)

34. Non mentioning the name of any person as accused, non mentioning the direction where accused was running and also non mentioning the name of weapon or its details in F.I.R shows that none had seen the occurrence. After occurrence, when they saw dead body of deceased and inspected the injuries, on the basis of nature of injures, P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and other witnesses learnt that injuries were caused by any sharp edged weapon and thereafter on the basis of surmises and conjecture, F.I.R was lodged against unknown person. Thus, non mentioning name of weapon, name of accused/appellant and direction of his running after causing occurrence, in F.I.R, has also created prosecution case very doubtful.

35. It is also pertinent to ascertain, at this juncture, whether F.I.R was lodged promptly or it was anti timed. According to P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar, occurrence was happened at 3.00 a.m. on 12.6.2007. From perusal of the statement of P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, P.W-2 Vimla and P.W-3 Rajju, it appears that after hearing the alarm, raised by the deceased Brijrani both P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shanker and P.W-2, Vimla came out from their house and saw that unknown accused was causing injury to the deceased. The accused was chased up to 40-50 meters by P.W-1, P.W-3 and so many people, present nearby the place of occurrence and when they could not succeeded to catch the appellant Kalluwa they returned back to the place of occurrence. Thereafter P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar had gone to lodge F.I.R.

36. From perusal of Ext-ka-3, Chik F.I.R, it appears that F.I.R. was lodged at 3.40 a.m i.e just after 40 minutes of the occurrence. The place of occurrence from the police station had been shown one and half kilometer. P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, has not stated, in his statement at what time had he proceeded for police station. Although P.W-3 Rajju has stated that he had gone to police station with P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar but again he stated that he had returned back and P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnker had gone to police station who would have lodged F.I.R. P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar, in his cross examination has specifically stated that he had reached police station at 3.15 a.m. and lodged F.I.R. at 3.16 a.m. In the facts and circumstances of this case where occurrence has taken place at 3.00 a.m. and P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and other witnesses had chased the accused 40-50 meters and returned thereafter to the place of occurrence, statement of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar that he had reached police station at 3.15 a.m. and F.I.R. was lodged at 3.16 a.m, is not reliable. It shows that F.I.R was not lodged on 12.6.2007 at 3.40 a.m. rather it was lodged at any other time thereafter and in the chik F.I.R time of lodging F.I.R. was shown at 3.40 a.m.

37. It is also pertinent to mention at this juncture that the inquest proceeding (Panchayatnama) of the deceased was conducted on 12.6.2007 from 6.00 a.m to 8.30 a.m. P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar (informant) is also one of the member/witness of the inquest proceeding who had put his signature on the inquest report (Ext-ka-6). In this report also neither the name of accused nor description of weapon has been mentioned. It appears that till the completion of inquest proceeding, P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar did not know as to which type of weapon was used in the offence.

38. So far as the presence of light at the place of occurrence is concerned, in the F.I.R it has been mentioned that P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar and his wife P.W-2 Vimla had seen the occurrence and identified accused in the light of mercury lamp . P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shnkar in his cross examination has stated that he had seen accused in the mercury lamp light when he was fleeing from the place of occurrence. He did not know whether it was moon light or dark light at the place of occurrence. P.W-2 Vimla has also stated that she had seen the occurrence in Mercury lamp emitting light. Although P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar has not stated and specified the place where mercury light was installed/ situated, P.W-2 Vimla has, in her cross examination, has stated that mercury lamp was emitting light from other side of the road, where her mother-in- law (deceased) was sleeping. From the perusal of Ex-ka-5, site plan, it appears that the pole, where mercury lamp emitting light, was situated other side of the road at the distance of 15 steps away. Thus, it is clear that there was no light at the place of occurrence, and if any light was present, it was at the other side of the road.

39. According to prosecution case both witness (P.W-1 and P.W-2) came out from their house and saw appellant causing injury to deceased. In site plan (Ex.ka-5), house of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar has been shown towards eastern side of place of occurrence whereas pole where mercury light was emitting, was western to the place of occurrence. It means that if front of appellant Kalluwa was towards house of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shanker, mercury lamp emitting light, as shown in site plan was situated on the back side of appellant. Thus, the possibility of light on the face of appellant is doubtful. P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar, in his cross examination, has specifically stated that he did not know any (Dishayen) of place of occurrence, hence he could not disclose as to which side the mercury lamp was situated . He had denied to disclose as to which side his mother's head and legs were lying at the time of occurrence and also could not disclose, which side his mother was present at the time of occurrence.

40. P.W-2 Vimla has also stated in her cross examination that she did not know as to which side the face of appellant- Kalluwa was present at the time of occurrence. In F.I.R. no special character of appellant has been mentioned. According to P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar and P.W-2 Vimla, they had not seen the appellant, prior to occurrence. They have also not stated any special character of body, physique or face of appellant. Thus, from the statements of these witnesses, it is clear, that there is contradiction in their statements regarding their opportunity to see and identify the appellant/accused causing injury to deceased at the time of occurrence, that either these witnesses were not present at the time of occurrence or concealing the true fact regarding the presence of other witnesses at the place of occurrence. In such situation statements of these witnesses that they had identified appellant in the light of mercury lamp is not reliable and trustworthy.

41. It is also pertinent to note that P.W-3 Rajju in his cross examination has stated that he was also interrogated continuously 5-6 days after the occurrence. This witness has accepted his presence nearby the place of occurrence but his interrogation for 5-6 days creates doubt in the prosecution case. In addition to it, P.W-6 (I.O.) has not stated in his examination in chief that when and how the name of appellant Kalluwa came into the light during investigation. He has stated in his examination that accused was arrested on 13.6.2007 and confessed his guilt. He made a disclosure statement regarding concealment of spade (Farsa) used in the offence in herbs and bushes nearby chilla tree situated at Godari hill and on his statement, the said spade (Farsa)/ weapon was recovered. This witness (P.W.6) has not disclosed in whose presence weapon, used in the offence, was recovered.

42. P-W-3 Rajju, in his cross examination, has stated that after 2-4 days of the occurrence, police was carrying appellant Kalluwa in police jeep at Pacharaha (junction of five roads) Akhthauha, Charkhari road, where he and one Shankar Singh were present. In cross examination he has stated that Shankar Singh is his nephew. According to this witness, the spade (farsa) used in the offence was recovered by police in his presence. P.W-3 Rajju who is real uncle of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar, is not named in F.I.R, despite that, he has been produced by the prosecution as eye witness but his presence at the place of occurrence has been found not natural. He has also been made witness by police in the recovery of weapon (spade) used in the offence. Alleged recovery of weapon (Spade) has not been made in the presence of any independent witness. In view of the above, presence of this witness at the place of occurrence and also at the place of recovery of weapon, as a star witness, creates doubt in the prosecution case as well as recovery of weapon (spade).

43. In F.I.R (Ex-ka-1), no identification marks, physique, get-up or any special character of body of accused has been mentioned. It has also not been mentioned in F.I.R as to which direction appellant had fled away after occurrence. P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar, in his cross examination, has specifically stated that he did not know Kalluwa prior to the occurrence. He did not know whereabouts of appellant Kalluwa's field from the place of occurrence. He also could not say as to in which side appellant-Kalluwa field was situated. He also did know as to in which side appellant Kalluwa's house was situated from the place of occurrence. P.W-2 Vimla, has also stated same way. She has stated that she knows Kalluwa after the occurrence. She has further stated that she did not know that Bhagwan Dass, uncle of Kalluwa, resides in front of her house and Kalluwa used to visit her uncle's house. She has also expressed her ignorance to appellant-Kalluwa's house and field. According to her the name of Kalluwa had been disclosed to her after occurrence by P.W-3 Rajju. Both these witnesses have also not stated any special character or identification of accused to whom they saw for the first time at the time of occurrence, but they have identified the appellant-Kalluwa during trial, before the trial court.

44. It is settled principle of law that if a person is not known to any witness and he was seen for the first time at the time of occurrence, identification of that person for the first time in Court is very weak type of evidence. It can be relied upon in very peculiar fact and circumstance of that case. Reliability of such identification depends upon several factors for example; whether witness identifying the accused for the first time in court, had an opportunity to see and identify accused after the occurrence and prior to his identification in court or not; whether any precaution before his identification was taken by court or not; for example, covering the important identification marks on the face of accused or whether he was present in the court room along with other accused or standing alone at the time of identification.

45. Coming to the fact of this case, neither P.W-1, Annu alias Daya Shankar nor P.W-2 Vimla did know appellant-Kalluwa before occurrence. They have also not stated regarding any identification marks of appellant-Kalluwa. No identification proceeding was held during investigation. Appellant has been identified before the Trial Court on 2.1.2008, i.e. after six months of occurrence. From perusal of order sheet of Trial Court's proceeding it transpires that the charge was framed on 6.10.2007 and thereafter case was fixed for prosecution evidence. On 25.10.2007, 17.11.2007 and 7.12.2007 when the case was fixed for evidence the appellant and P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar were present before Trial Court, but the evidence of P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar could not be recorded. It has not been mentioned in the order sheet of the aforesaid date, that the appellant had covered his face or any caution had been given to him to cover his face or identity mark. On 2.1.2008, when P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar identified the appellant Kalluwa during his examination, nowhere is mentioned in order sheet as to whether appellant was standing in court room with so many accused/people or was standing alone. As it had already observed that the appellant Kalluwa and P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar are residents of same town. Thus, in view of the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case P.W-1 Annu alias Daya Shankar had of ample opportunity to see, appellant after the occurrence and prior to identification, in Court. His statement regarding identification of appellant is not reliable. Similarly statement of P-W-2 Vimla who also did not know appellant Kalluwa prior to the occurrence and came to know his name as told to her by P.W- 3 Rajju, is also doubtful.

46. Every contradiction, inconsistency between the statement of witnesses, normally, may not be treated material but where accused/appellant and witness are residents of same town and occurrence had taken place in the night, neither name of accused nor name of witness or description of weapon was mentioned in F.I.R, important natural and independent witness present at the time of occurrence were not produced, no identification parade was conducted, eye witnesses are relatives and out of these witnesses one witness, PW-3 Rajju is not resident to the nearby place of occurrence, the contradiction and inconsistency found herein above are major and important which have demolished the castle of prosecution case.

47. Thus, in view of the above, we are of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against appellant. He is entitled to be acquitted against charge levelled against him. The judgment and order passed by learned Additional Session Judge, Court No.2, Mahoba in Session Trial No.116 of 2007 is hereby set aside. Consequently, the appeal is allowed.

48. The appellant is in jail. He, if not wanted in any other case, shall be released forthwith.

A. Section 8/18 of NDPS Act. - Appeal against conviction – Defect in framing of charge. Mere wrong mention of section Held:- does not vitiate the trial.

Appellant was fully aware that he is being charged for keeping 200 gms. of Opium without there being any license to keep the same. The error appears to have occurred in mentioning the section of the offence and in place of "section 18", "section 20" has been mentioned. Mere defect in the charge will not vitiate the trial automatically but such eventuality gives an occasion to the accused to prove or to show that serious prejudice has been caused to him on account of the error/defect in framing of charge. (Para 17)

Criminal Appeal dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. The present criminal appeal has been preferred by the accused appellant Jograj challenging the order dated 05.06.2009 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Pilibhit, in Special Trial No.63 of 2007 (State vs. Jograj) arising out of Case Crime No.1080 of 2007 u/s 8/18 Narcotics Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, Police Station Neuria, District Pilibhit, whereby the appellant has been convicted u/s 8/18 Narcotics Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 and has been sentenced for four years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000/- and in default of payment of fine, for six months further imprisonment.

2. Heard Mr. R.B. Pal, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Ajay Kumar Kashyap, learned counsel for the appellant and Mr. Om Prakash Mishra, learned Additional Government Advocate as well as perused the record.

3. The prosecution case as narrated in the F.I.R. lodged by P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh is that on 22.08.2007, Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh along with Constable Ran Singh & Constable Kanhai Lal was busy in making enquiry about an application and was also on patrolling duty, during which when they reached Pilibhit road near village Gulhadiyan Dulhan, they received an input from police informer that one person sitting near the triangle of village Dhankuna is possessed with opium. Relying on this information, the police personnel made a search of each other to ensure that none of them were having any illegal substance and thereafter, proceeded towards triangle of village Dhankuna. They also tried to get independent witnesses, but no one came forward to become witness of search. When they reached near the triangle of village Dhankuna, the police informer pointed out the person who was having opium. As soon as the police personnel reached close to that person, he tried to run towards village Dhankuna, however the police personnel chased and apprehended him near the triangle of village Dhankuna at about 07:30 P.M. and upon being asked to disclose reason for his running away from the police, he confessed that he has opium in the polythene bag kept in his hand and that is why he ran on account of fear of his arrest. The P.W.1 informed him about his right to be searched in presence of a Gazetted Officer or before a Magistrate. But the arrested person reposed faith in police personnel and consented for being searched by them. On being asked, he disclosed his name to be Jograj and upon being searched, one green colored polythene, having therein another white polythene, was found in his right hand, wherein a black colored sticky substance smelling like opium was recovered. After weighing, the quantity of substance was found to be about 200 gms. Thereafter accused Jograj was arrested and was informed about the grounds for his arrest and the mandate of law regarding arrest and the instructions issued by Hon'ble Supreme Court and National Human Rights Commission regarding arrest and search were followed. The recovered substance was duly sealed and a memo was prepared and copy thereof was given to the accused after obtaining his thumb impression and thereafter, the arrested accused along with recovered substance was brought and detained in police station and on the basis of recovery memo and arrest memo, an F.I.R. was registered on 22.07.2007 at about 9:10 A.M. The entries of relevant facts were also made in the general diary of the police station. Thereafter during investigation, the sample of recovered substance was sent to forensic laboratory at Lucknow for its forensic examination and subsequently forensic report was received, wherein presence of opium was mentioned and percentage of morphine in the sample was found to be 2.8%. After completing investigation, a charge-sheet was submitted against the appellant u/s 8/18 Narcotics Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (referred in short as NDPS Act hereinafter).

4. The learned trial court, vide order dated 01.12.2007, framed charge against the accused appellant u/s 8/20 NDPS Act and the trial proceeded.

5. The prosecution in order to prove its case, examined five prosecution witnesses, out of them, P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gaj Ram Singh is first informant of the case and is a witness of arrest of accused appellant Jograj and the recovery of 200gms. of opium from his possession. P.W.2 Constable Ran Singh is also witness of arrest of accused appellant Jograj and recovery of 200gms. opium from his possession. P.W.3 Constable Clerk Naveen Kumar Saxena had registered the F.I.R. and has proved the registration of a criminal case. P.W.4 Sub-Inspector, Bhuwaneshwar Singh, Investigating Officer, had conducted the investigation and had submitted charge-sheet. P.W.5 Constable Satyapal has given the evidence about collection of sample of recovered opium and send it to forensic lab and has proved the link evidence.

6. Thereafter, the accused appellant Jograj was examined u/s 313 Cr.P.C., who denied his involvement in the offence and stated that some stolen property was recovered from one person, whose wife had kept two pants which were stolen from his house and hence, the police had challaned him in the false case of Narcotics Drugs & Psychotropic Substance. He further stated that he will adduce evidence in his defense but no evidence was adduced by the defense.

7. The learned trial court relied the prosecution witness and convicted the accused appellant under section 8/18 NDPS Act and sentenced him to four years R.I. and a fine of Rs.10,000/- and in default of payment of fine, six months further imprisonment. Feeling aggrieved by this order of conviction and sentence, the accused appellant Jograj preferred the present criminal appeal.

8. The learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the impugned order of conviction and sentence and has submitted that:-

(i) The prosecution case is not supported by any independent public witness and it would not be safe to rely upon the evidence of police personnel only.

(ii) There is anomaly in sending the substance recovered to forensic lab and although it is alleged that 40gms. of sample was prepared and sent for testing in forensic lab, but the substance alleged to have been received in forensic lab has been shown to be 37gms. only and hence, the entire exercise done by the prosecution appears to be doubtful and the prosecution case has to be disbelieved.

(iii) The charge framed against the accused appellant is defective for the reason that the substance alleged to have been recovered from the possession of the appellant is "opium", as such charge u/s 8/18 NDPS Act should have been framed, but the learned trial court has framed charge u/s 8/20 NDPS Act which relates to substance "charas" and thus, there is ambiguity and illegality in framing of charge, which goes to the root of the matter and causes prejudice to the appellant and hence, the trial of the accused appellant is vitiated in law.

(iv) The mandatory provisions of NDPS Act and rules regarding search, arrest and recovery, particularly sections 42 & 50, have not been complied with by the police party in the present case, which vitiates entire proceeding and the accused appellant is liable to be acquitted.

9. On the other hand, the learned Additional Government Advocate has supported the order of conviction and sentence and has contended that the prosecution witness are wholly reliable and the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubts and the accused appellant has miserably failed to show any prejudice caused to him on account of the alleged defect in framing the charge.

10. In the light of rival submissions, this court proceeds to examine the evidence available on record, which reflects that the P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh, the first informant has stated that on 22.08.2007 he was posted at police outpost Dhankuna, police station Neuria and on that day he along with constable Ran Singh and constable Kanhai Lal left for outpost Dhankuna after making an entry in the general diary to conduct an enquiry on some application received by him. When they reached near triangle of village Gulhadiyan Dulhan, an input was received from police informer that one person who is sitting at Dhankuna triangle is having opium in his possession and he may be arrested. Believing this information, the police party after ensuring non-availability of any illegal substance with them proceeded to village Dhankuna triangle along with police informer. P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh, the first informant has further stated that while proceeding, the police personnel tried to procure independent public witness but none from public was ready to accompany them for that purpose. After reaching near Dhankuna tiraha, the police informer pointed out towards one person said to have opium in his possession and while reaching towards that person, he tried to run away but was chased and over powered and was arrested. Upon being asked, he disclosed that he is having opium in a polythene bag. Upon this, the P.W.1 apprised him about his right to be searched in front of any Gazetted Officer or Magistrate. The said person reposed trust in police personnel and stated that he is not willing to be searched before any Gazetted Officer or Magistrate. Thereafter again, P.W.1 tried to procure independent public witness but none became ready for that purpose and thereafter the aforesaid person was interrogated who disclosed his identity as Jograj Singh S/o Tika Ram, resident of village Dhankuna, police station Neuria, District Pilibhit. The P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh has also identified the accused in the court and has stated before the court that he is the same person who was found to be in possession of Opium and when he was searched, a black coloured sticky substance was recovered from a white polythene which was kept in a green coloured polythene laying in the right hand of the accused appellant. Upon being sniffed, the substance smelled like opium. P.W.1 Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh has stated that he asked the constable Kanhai Lal to procure Taraju Baat and after weighing, the weight of the substance was found to be 200 grams. The accused Jograj was asked to produce the license of keeping opium but he failed to show it. Then again he was explained about the offence committed by him and the recovered substance was taken into possession by the police. Meanwhile the endorsement of accused regarding his consent to be searched by police personnel was also obtained. The substance was sealed on the spot and a recovery memo was prepared upon which the accused put his thumb impression and the accompanying police personnel also signed it. A copy of the recovery memo was also given to accused Jograj and thereafter he along with accused Jograj went to police station and the criminal case was registered against accused Jograj and the recovered substance i.e. opium was also kept in malkhana in a sealed cover. The aforesaid witness was cross examined by the defense in detail but nothing material could be elicited from the cross examination. A suggestion has also been made to this witness that accused appellant was arrested from the house as he was a suspect of theft of a engine in the village but he did not confess regarding the theft so he has been falsely implicated in this case. This suggestion was readily denied by P.W.1.

11. Similar statements have been given by P.W.2 Ran Singh, who has supported the statement of P.W.1 in every material aspect. Apart from other things, he has also identified the bundle in which substance, alleged to have been recovered from the possession of the accused, was kept and sealed by Sub-Inspector Gajram Singh. He has further identified the signature of Gajram Singh as well as his own signature on the bundle and has also identified the thumb impression of accused Jograj. After opening the seal of the bundle before trial court, the substance kept therein in white polythene has also been identified by P.W.2 as the substance recovered from the possession of accused Jograj.

12. P.W.3 Constable Naveen Kumar Saxena has given his statement regarding registration of first information report and has proved the Chik first information report and other general diary entries regarding admission of arrested accused at police station and also about preservation of substance recovered from accused Jograj in a sealed packet.

13. The P.W.4, Sub-Inspector, Bhuwneshwar Singh who was the Investigating Officer of the case has proved the steps taken by him during investigation and he has also proved further investigation done by Sub-Inspector, Dharam Singh and has also given statement regarding sending of sample of recovered substance to forensic lab and receiving of forensic report from concerned lab.

14. The P.W.5, Constable, Satyapal has given link evidence regarding preparation of sample and sending it to forensic lab. He has also stated that a sample of substance measuring about 40gms. was taken from the bundle and was forwarded to forensic lab, Lucknow on 13.09.2007 in a sealed cover and was deposited in the forensic lab on 14.09.2007.

15. With regard to the submissions made by learned counsel for the appellant that there is discrepancy regarding the weight of the sample of the substance recovered from the possession of the appellant. In this regard, while the prosecution case is that 40 gms. of substance was sent to forensic lab, the report of forensic lab shows that only 37 gms. of substance was received in the lab. Although Exhibit Ka-9 by which the sample was sent shows the quantity of the sample as "about 40gms.", though a judicial notice can be taken of the fact that such a minor difference in the weight of substance in question may occur on account of difference of weighing machines and its accuracy on both the ends, i.e. at the end of local police and at the end of forensic laboratory, especially in view of the fact that because of stickiness of the substance in question, it may not be completely taken out from the bundle wherein it was kept and it may also lose some weight on account of time gap and may get affected on account of change of humidity due to change in weather conditions in between the time of taking sample and its examination at forensic lab. Furthermore, the difference of weight, as suggested by learned counsel for appellant, is too trivial and is in fact inconsequential and cannot be treated as discrepancy in prosecution evidence and hence, it does not create any doubt in the mind of the court.

16. With respect to defect in framing of charge and consequential prejudice to accused appellant, this court has gone through the language of charge framed by the trial court and bare perusal of charge reveals that the accused/appellant has been specifically informed to the effect that on 22.08.2007 at about 07:30 A.M., 200 gms. of Opium have been recovered from the green polythene held by accused/appellant in his right hand. A copy of the charge framed against the appellant is mentioned below:-

17. Thus it is crystal clear that accused appellant was fully aware that he is being charged for keeping 200 gms. of Opium without there being any license to keep the same. The error appears to have occurred in mentioning the section of the offence and in place of "section 18", "section 20" has been mentioned. The law is well settled in this regard that mere defect in the charge will not vitiate the trial automatically but such eventuality gives an occasion to the accused to prove or to show that serious prejudice has been caused to him on account of the error/defect in framing of charge. Chapter XVII of the Code of Criminal Procedure deals with the framing of charge. The relevant provisions in this regard find place in sections 211, 212, 213 & 215 of Cr.P.C. which are being quoted below:-

"211. Contents of charge-

(1) Every charge under this Code shall state the offence with which the accused is charged.

(2) If the law which creates the offence gives it any specific name, the offence may be described in the charge by that name only.

(3) If the law which creates the offence does not give it any specific name so much of the definition of the offence must be stated as to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

(4) The law and section of the law against which the offence is said to have been committed shall be mentioned in the charge.

(5) The fact that the charge is made is equivalent to a statement that every legal condition required by law to constitute the offence charged was fulfilled in the particular case.

(6) The charge shall be written in the language of the Court.

(7) If the accused, having been previously convicted of any offence, is liable, by reason of such previous conviction, to enhanced punishment, or to punishment of a different kind, for a subsequent offence, and it is intended to prove such previous conviction for the purpose of affecting the punishment which the Court may think fit to award for the subsequent offence, the fact date and place of the previous, conviction shall be stated in the charge, and if such statement has been omitted, the Court may add it at any time before sentence is passed.

212-Particulars as to time, place and person- (1) The charge shall contain such particulars as to the time and place of the alleged offence, and the person (if any) against whom, or the thing (if any) in respect of which. it was committed , as are reasonably sufficient to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

(2) When the accused is charged with criminal breach of trust or dishonest misappropriation of money or other moveable property, it shall be sufficient to specify the gross sum or, as the case may be, described the movable property in respect of which the offence is alleged to have been committed, without specifying particular items or exact dates, and the charge so framed shall be deemed to be a charge of one offence within the meaning of section 219.

Provided that the time included between the first and last of such dates shall not exceed one year.

213. When manner of committing offence must be stated- When the nature of the case is such that the particulars mentioned in section 211 and 212 do not give the accused sufficient notice of the matter with which he is charged, the charge shall also contain such particulars of the manner in which the alleged offence was committed as will be sufficient for that purpose.

215. Effect of errors- No error in stating either the offence or the particulars required to be stated in the charge, and no omission to state the offence or those particulars, shall be regarded at any stage of the case as material, unless the accused was in fact mislead by such error or omission, and it has occasioned a failure of justice."

18. Like-wise, section 464 of Cr.P.C. deals with the effect of omission to frame, or absence of, or error in charge. It states as under:-

"464. Effect of omission to frame, or absence of, or error in, charge- (1) No finding sentence or order by a Court of competent jurisdiction shall be deemed invalid merely on the ground that no charge was framed or on the ground of any error, omission or irregularity in the charge including any misjoinder of charge, unless, in the opinion of the Court of appeal, confirmation or revision, a failure of justice has in fact been occasioned thereby.

(2) If the Court of appeal, confirmation or revision is of opinion that a failure of justice has in fact been occasioned, it may-

(a) in the case of an omission to frame a charge, order that a charge be framed and that the trial be recommenced from the point immediately after the framing of the charge.

(b)In the case of an error, omission or irregularity in the charge, direct a new trial to be had upon a charge framed in whatever manner it thinks fit:
Provide that if the Court is of opinion that the facts of the case are such that no valid charge could be preferred against the accused in respect of the facts proved, it shall quash the conviction."

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court, while deciding the reference in the case of Willie (William) Slaney vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in AIR 1956 SC 116, has elaborately discussed the purpose and scope of framing of charge in a criminal trial and has observed in following manner:-

"Before we proceed to set out our answer and examine the provisions of the Code, we will pause to observe that the Code is a code of procedure and, like all procedural laws, is designed to further the ends of justice and not to frustrate them by the introduction of endless technicalities. The object of the Code is to ensure that an accused person gets a full and fair trial along certain well established and well understood lines that accord with our notions of natural justice.

If he does, if he is tried by a competent court, if he is told and clearly understands the nature of the offence for which he is being tried, if the case against him is fully and fairly explained to him and he is afforded a full and fair opportunity of defending himself, then, provided there is "substantial" compliance with the outward forms of the law, mere mistakes in procedure, mere inconsequential errors and omissions in the trial are regarded as venal by the Code and the trial is not vitiated unless the accused can show substantial prejudice. That, broadly speaking, is the basic principle on which the Code is based".

20. In the present matter, the record shows that at the time of framing of charge, the accused was heard and after framing of charge, it was read over and explained to the accused appellant, but at that point of time he did not raise any grievance or objection regarding any type of error or irregularity in framing of charge.

21. Similarly, the prosecution witnesses were examined in presence of accused and his counsel, who clearly stated that 200 gms. of opium was recovered from the possession of the accused appellant and hence, there was no occasion to have doubt in the mind of the accused appellant that he was charged and was being tried for illegal possession of 200 gms. of any substance other than opium regarding which he was not having license. This fact was again put to accused appellant by the Trial Court while putting question no.2 at the time of his examination U/s 313 Cr.P.C. and his answer to question no.2 goes to show that he was fully aware of the accusation made against him. Furthermore, when the learned Trial Court asked the accused appellant as to whether he wants to say anything further, the accused appellant replied that no such opium has been recovered from his possession. For ready reference, the relevant question nos. 2 & 7 put by the learned Trial Court to the accused and its reply by the accused appellant are being quoted below:-

"प्रश्न संख्या 2– पी0डब्लू0 1 एस0आई0 गजराम सिंह का कथन है कि पकड़े गये व्यक्ति का नाम पता पूछा और भागने का कारण पूछा तो उसने बताया कि उसके पास पोलीथीन में अफीम है। इस पर उससे कहा कि तुम्हारा विधिक अधिकार है कि तुम अपनी जमा तलासी किसी राजपत्रित अधिकारी या मजिस्ट्रेट के समक्ष चलकर दे सकते हो तो आपकी स्वीकृति पर आपकी जमा तलासी ली गई तो आपके दाहिने हाथ में पकड़े हरे रंग की पॉलीथीन में काले रंग का चिपचिपा पदार्थ बरामद हुआ। जिसे उसने सूखा व अन्य कर्मचारियो को सुंघाया जो उसमें से अफीम की गंध आ रही थी तथा बरामद अफीम को तराजू बांट से तोला तो अफीम का वनज 200 ग्राम निकला। मौके पर फर्द प्रदर्शक–1 अंकित की गई तथा माल अफीम को सील मोहर किया और माल व अभियुक्त को थाने में दाखिल करके मुकदमा पंजीकृत कराया। आपको इसके संबंध में क्या कहना है?

प्रश्न संख्या 7– क्या आपको कुछ और कहना है?*

उत्तर–चोरी का माल जिसके यहां बरामद हुआ था उसकी औरत ने मेरे घर पर दो पैन्टें चोरी की मेरे यहां पहुंचा दी थी। पुलिस ने फर्जी अफीम एन0डी0पी0एस0 में मेरा चालान कर दिया मेरे पास में कोई अफीम बरामद नही हुई थी।"*

22. This statement of accused appellant makes it amply clear that the accused appellant was fully aware of the prosecution allegations at every stage of the trial and the error in mentioning the provision number of offence, while framing of charge, was not significant even according to the accused himself. Thus the submission made by learned counsel with regard to the error in framing charge is liable to be rejected.

23. For next submission regarding non-compliance of mandatory provision of section 42 & 50 of NDPS Act and illegality in the arrest and the recovery from appellant, the record shows that P.W.1 & P.W.2 have categorically stated to the effect that the accused was informed, orally as well in writing on the form prescribed for that purpose, about his right to be searched before a Gazetted Officer or Magistrate and moreover, P.W.1 Gajram Singh has proved the aforesaid documents as Exhibit Ka-1 which contains thumb impression of accused Jograj. The memo of arrest and the document regarding intimation of arrest of accused to the District Legal Aid Committee has also been proved as Exhibit Ka-2. Like-wise the P.W.1 Sub-Inspector, Gaj Ram Singh had received information, when he was on the patrol duty and he might not have chance to reduce the same into writing and to dispatch it to the Superintendent of Police.

24. The position of law in this aspect of the matter as laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Orissa vs. Rajendra Tripathi reported in 2004 SCC (Crl.) 1586, enlightens this court, wherein under similar set of facts, conclusion was drawn in following manner: -

"8. It has to be noticed that before the trial Court and the High Court the stand was taken by the accused persons alleging non-compliance of Sections 42 and 50 of the Act. The same was given up by the respondents in this appeal and in our view rightly. Considering the time when search and seizure was done, and the undisputed position that the detection was made while the officers were on patrolling duty, Section 42 has no application. Additionally the evidence of P.W.s. 1 & 5 clearly shows that the accused persons were given the liberty to be searched in the presence of the prescribed officer and they did not choose to be searched by any person other than P.W.5. Therefore, the plea related to non-compliance of Section 50 as raised during trial and before the High Court in addition to the concession, plea regarding non-applicability of Sections 42 and 50 of the Act is also without any substance. The residual question is regarding custody of the contraband articles and corrections in seizure memo. The evidence on record clearly shows that the forwarding report clearly indicated that the articles were being produced before the Magistrate. The order sheet of the Magistrate shows that because he was busy he directed that the articles should be produced on 10.8.1992 for the purpose of collecting samples."

25. In one another judgment in the case of Girdhari vs. State of Rajasthan reported in (2010) 15 SCC 576, the Hon'ble Apex Court dealt with the objection raised by the accused regarding non-compliance of section 50 of NDPS Act and rejected such objection, the relevant portion whereof may be usefully quoted herein below:-

"4. The learned counsel then argued that the mandatory requirement of section 50 has also not been complied with inasmuch as there was an error in the memo issued to the appellants as to their right of being searched by a gazetted officer or magistrate. He pointed out that in the said memo given to the appellants instead of word "magistrate", the word "Judicial Magistrate" is used which is not the requirement of section 50 of the Act. We do notice that P.W.7 while issuing the memo to the appellants has used this word "judicial magistrate" instead of the word "Magistrate" found in section 50 of the Act. But then the learned counsel is unable to point out to us what prejudice is caused to the appellant by the usage of the word "judicial magistrate" instead of the word "Magistrate". In the absence of any such prejudice being caused to the appellants, we think this argument of learned counsel for the appellants must also fail."

26. Recapitulating facts of the case, it is found that apart from above noted circumstances on the issue of compliance of section 42 and 50 as well as arrest of appellant and recovery of contraband, the P.W.1 was not cross-examined on these factual aspects of the matter and as such, this court is satisfied that the provision of section 42 and 50 of NDPS Act has been duly complied with by the arresting police party and there is also no illegality in the arrest and the recovery from appellant.

27. With regard to the submission of non-compliance of section 52 of Narcotics Drugs & Psychotropic Substance Act, the record of the case demonstrates that there is sufficient material on record to satisfy this court about due compliance of the provision of section 52 of NDPS Act. The averment regarding compliance of section 52 of NDPS Act is available in the recovery memo and first information report itself. The P.W.1 Sub-Inspector, Gaj Ram Singh and P.W.2 Constable Ran Singh have stated in their deposition before the court that the accused appellant was informed about his right to be searched in presence of a Gazetted Officer or Magistrate and in this regard, his written consent was also taken and produced in the court and was proved by P.W.1 as Exhibit Ka-1.

28. Similarly, the submission with regard to the non-presence of independent witness is also not acceptable in as much as the presence of independent witness during search is not mandatory. Moreover in the present case, it has been stated by the prosecution witnesses that they had tried to procure public witnesses but no one came forward to become the witness of search and arrest. This statement is not improbable, in view of the fact that the accused is resident of the same vicinity, from where he was arrested. It is a matter of common knowledge that the co-villagers normally don't get ready to give evidence against another co-villager in criminal matters. Furthermore, there is no such circumstance or material available on record, which may discredit the evidence of the searching officer who is responsible government servant. In this regard, the relevant part of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Pon Adithan vs. Deputy Director, Narcotics Control Bureau, Madras reported in (1999) 6 SCC 1, may be referred, which reads thus:-

"6. It was next contended by Mr. Lalit that oral testimony of a witness alone cannot be regarded as sufficient for establishing that the requirement of Section 50(1) was complied with. To support this contention he relied upon the decision of this Court in T. P. Razak v. State of Kerala, 1995 Supp (4) SCC 256. In that case the Sub-Inspector of Police had searched the accused and recovered brown sugar from him. He deposed before the Court that before the accused was searched he had asked the appellant whether he wanted to be taken before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate for the purposes of search and that the accused had replied that it was not necessary. As this fact was not reflected either in the F.I.R. or in the seizure mahazar and the independent witness to the mahazar had not supported the version of the Sub-Inspector this Court held that the prosecution had failed to establish that there was compliance with the provision of Section 50(1) of the Act. As it appears from the judgment the trial Court in that case had not considered it necessary to assess the evidence of Sub-Inspector of Police since it was of the view that it was not necessary to comply with the provisions of Section 50(1). The High Court had also proceeded on the basis that the said requirement of Section 50(1) is directory and, therefore, its non-compliance was not fatal to the prosecution case. It was in the context of these facts and circumstances that this Court held:

"Having regard to the fact that the FIR and Seizure Mahazar do not mention about the appellant having been asked before the search was conducted as to whether he would like to be produced before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate and the further fact that P.W.1, the other independent witness, also does not state about this we are of the view that the prosecution has failed to establish that there was compliance with the provisions of Section 50 of the Act before conducting the search of the appellant."

In that case no clear finding was recorded regarding credibility of the Sub-Inspector of Police who was the only witness on the point. It was upon appreciation of the evidence led in that case that it was held that the prosecution had failed to establish that there was compliance with the provisions of Section 50(1) while conducting the search of the accused. We, therefore, cannot agree with the submission of Mr. Lalit that this Court in that case has laid down as a proposition of law that in absence of independent evidence or any other supporting documentary evidence, oral evidence of a witness conducting the search cannot be regarded as sufficient for establishing compliance with the requirement of Section 50(1)."

29. In view of totality of facts and circumstances detailed herein above, there is no merit in the submissions made by learned counsel for the appellant and this court finds that the prosecution has been able to successfully prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Hence, the conviction of the appellant is liable to be upheld. On the question of sentence, this court is of the view that the learned Trial Court has considered the aspect of sentence in detail and has already taken a lenient view and as such, under facts and circumstances of the case, there comes no occasion to alter or reduce the sentence.

30. The present criminal appeal is devoid of merit and is dismissed accordingly.

2. The occurrence had been said to have taken place in the night of 8.8.2012 and a first information report was lodged on 13/14.8.2012 as Case Crime No.1617 of 2012, under Sections 457, and 380 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, Lalitpur, District Lalitpur. Recovery of golden ornaments was said to have been made from joint possession of arrested accused persons. Though the occurrence was said to have occurred 8.8.2012, but the first information report was lodged on 14.8.2012. PW-3, Tariq Khan, had stated that the arrest of appellant nos. 1 and 2 was made on 14.8.2012 and alleged recovery of golden ornaments was said to have been made from them, while appellant no.3 was said to have fled from spot, whereas it was a false recovery and false implication. Hence, this Criminal Appeal with above prayer.

3. Heard Sri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA, appearing for the State and gone through the impugned judgement as well as record of the Trial court.

4. From very perusal of the record, it is apparent that the First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1, dated 8.8.2012, was got lodged by the informant, Satyendra Singh Parmar, at Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, with this contention that on 8.8.2012, while, he, alongwith his wife, was at his in-laws house at Village Bangaria, Police Station Pali, to attend a marriage ceremony and there was none at his house, on 9.8.2012, his land-lord, Uttam Chandra Jain, informed him telephonically that locks of his rooms were broken and household goods were scattered here and there. On receiving information, he immediately rushed to Lalitpur and reached at his room where he found that Rs.80,000/-, in cash, and gold ornaments of about one Tola had been stolen. Unknown thieves opened his double bed (Diwan), broken locks of suitcase and hou goods were scattered here and there. Hence, this report. Case Crime No.1617 of 2012, under Sections 457 &380 IPC was got registered against unknown thieves on 13/14.8.2012.

5. On 14.8.2012, while SOG Incharge, Sumit Kumar Singh, alongwith his Police Team was on surveillance duty, informer gave information about presence of thieves near Cremation Ghat, ChandiMataTemple. This was immediately communicated to Inspector, Incharge, Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, Sri Uday Bhan Singh and called him to Varni Four-way Junction. A Police Team led by him, with this Inspector, proceeded for ChandiMataTemple. On being pointed by the informer towards few persons, sitting thereat, Police Team apprehended four persons at 15.15 PM. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, reisdent of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Raheem managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar (informant), Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and many others rushed to the spot, who identified those apprehended persons to be residents of above locality. Upon being investigated, those apprehended persons confessed offence of theft committed by them and also confessed that Mangalsutra and one golden ring was stolen from the house of Smt. Prem Lata Jain, whereas one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, was stolen from the house of Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, two ear rings were stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari, Pendent of Mangalsutra was stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of Bharat Patel, Rs.2,000/- was stolen from the house of Gita and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from house of Pramod. Remaining stolen articles were taken away by Shubham Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Bunti Dhobi and Raheem. Alleged recovered stolen articles were identified by those public men, who were informants in various cases of theft, lodged by them, being Case Crime Nos.1150/2012, 1210/2012, 2420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012 and 1612/2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC. It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared on the basis of which this implication, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 was made.

6. On the basis of investigation, chargesheet was filed and Magistrate took cognizance over it. As offence, under Section 413 IPC was exclusively triable by the court of Sessions, this file was committed to the court of sessions, where, after hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence. Charges for offence, punishable under Section 380, 457, 411 and 413 IPC were framed. Charges were readover and explained to the accused persons, who pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

7. Prosecution examined PW-1, Satendra Singh Parmar, informant, PW-2, Head Constable, Chetram and PW-3, Sub Inspector, Tariq Khan.

8. Statement of accused persons were got recorded, under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which prosecution version was denied and false investigation, with no confession, was said. No evidence in defence was led and after hearing arguments of learned Public Prosecutor and the counsel for defence, impugned judgment of conviction for offence, punishable under Sections 380, 457 and 411 IPC and judgment of acquittal, under Section 413 IPC was passed.

9. After hearing over quantum of sentence, impugned sentence was passed.

10. No appeal, by the State against judgement of acquittal for offence, under Section 413 IPC, is there.

11. First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1 (Paper No. 5Ka), was formally proved by PW-1, Satendra Singh Parmar and it has specifically been lodged against unknown thieves, because this witness was not present at his home at the time of alleged occurrence of theft. In examination-in-chief, this witness has said that on 8.8.2012, while, he, alongwith his wife, was at his in-laws house at Village Bangaria, Police Station Pali, to attend a marriage ceremony and there was none at his house, on 9.8.2012, his land-lord, Uttam Chandra Jain, informed him telephonically that locks of his rooms were broken and household goods scattered here and there. On receiving information, he immediately rushed to Lalitpur and reached at the room where he found that Rs.80,000/-, in cash, and gold ornaments of about one Tola had been stolen. Unknown thieves opened his double bed, broken locks of suitcase and goods were scattered here and there. Hence, a typed report, under his signature, was lodged which was got registered against unknown thieves on 13/14.8.2012.

While he was in search of his stolen articles, on 14.8.2012, he received information about arrest of some thieves by the Police Personnel at Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, behind ChandiMataTemple, Lalitpur and when this witness reached there, he found four thieves, apprehended by the Police, were sitting infront of Cremation Ghat (Shamshan Ghat). Apart from him, Akhilesh Sharma, Advocate, Niraj Nayak, Smt. Gita Kushwaha and Pramod Gupta, who were also victim of theft, also reached on the spot. In their presence, Police asked names of those four thieves and on being asked, they disclosed their names as Arvind, Jitu, Rajan and Naval Ahirvar and they also disclosed that their other four accomplices fled away from the spot. From their personal search, stolen articles, golden ornaments and cash money were recovered. They disclosed that Rs.2,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of informant. Other persons, who reached there also identified their house-hold articles, ornaments and cash money. Recovered articles were sealed on the spot and recovery memo was also got prepared on which some persons put their signatures.

12. In cross-examination, this witness has categorically said that this report was not against any specific person, rather it was against unknown thieves. He was not aware of either Arvind @ Banty Parmar or other accused persons since before. He was informed by the Police and was called from home thenafter he reached on the spot where he has been informed that the recovery has been made. There was no signature of this witness on any paper, alleged to have been prepared on the spot, because no paper was prepared on the spot. Alleged recovered articles were not produced before this witness at the time of his testimony. No receipt of delivery of article was ever issued by this witness nor it was taken by the Investigating Officer. Meaning thereby, neither recovery was before this witness nor any specific mark of identification of alleged recovered article was there nor any recovery memo was prepared on the spot nor the same were produced before the court during trial nor this witness was previously acquainted with whereabouts of accused persons. Thus, this witness does not support prosecution case at all.

13. The other witness, PW-2, Head Constable Chet Ram, who is a formal witness, proved registration of first information report, under his signature, Exhibit Ka-3. This registration of report was against unknown accused persons for offence, punishable under Sections 457 and 380 IPC. In cross-examination, it has specifically been said this witness that the report had been lodged against the unknown thieves. There was no eye witness account nor was there any specific mark identification of any stolen articles nor receipt of stolen articles nor any paper relating to ownership of stolen articles were produced. By whom stolen articles were being used and how much older those stolen articles were also not disclosed in the report. Reason for delay in lodging the first information report was also not disclosed. Meaning thereby, there was delay in lodging first information report of which there was no reason nor there was any specific mark of identification of stolen articles nor there was any eye witness account of incident of theft. The report was against unknown thieves. Thus, testimony of this testimony is of relevance to the prosecution and is of no avail to the prosecution.

14. PW-3 is Sub Inspector, Tariq Khan. He, in his testimony, has said that while he was posted at Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, on 13.8.2012, he has been entrusted with investigation of Case Crime No. 1617/2-12, under Sections 457 and 380 IPC, On pointing of informant, he inspected place of occurrence and prepared site plan and site map, Paper No. 16 Ka, Exhibit Ka-4, which were in his hand-writing and under his signature. He recorded statement of scribe of first information report and landlord Uttam Chand Jain. He also prepared site plan and site map of the place, from where accused persons were arrested, which are Paper No. 16-Ka/2 and Exhbit Ka-5. On collecting sufficient evidence against accused persons, he filed chargesheet against them on 22.8.2012, which was Exhibit Ka-6.

15. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that case crime number 1617/12 was got registered on 13.8.2012, without naming any accused nor anyone has seen occurrence of theft nor identity of any accused was disclosed in the statement of any witness. Accused Jitu, Naval, Arvind @ Bunty, and Rajan were arrested on 15.8.2012. Arrest was made by SOG Incharge, Sunit Kumar Singh, who was accompanied by S.O., Uday Bhan Singh. No specific mark of identification of stolen articles was mentioned in the first information report nor there was any independent public witness nor there was signature of accused on the statement. He did not remember how many articles pertaining to occurrences of theft were recovered from accused persons. Before arrest of accused persons, none of the witness took their names. Neither identification parade of recovered articles nor of accused were conducted. Meaning thereby his examination-in-chief and examination-in-cross is with full of variance. Moreso, even single iota regarding offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC is there, on record, against present convict appellants, except their alleged confessions, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police, which was not admissible in evidence. If entire prosecution case is admitted for the sake of argument, it may be said that those accused persons were apprehended with possession of those recovered articles, but there is neither any specific mark of identification nor there is any corresponding evidence for connecting with above offence of theft was there on record, which was a condition precedent for offence, punishable under Section 411 IPC.

16. Section 457 of Indian Penal Code (IPC) provides that "whoever commits lurking house-trespass by night, or house breaking by night, in order to committing of any offence punishable with imprisonment, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years'.

17. In present case, learned Trial Judge has convicted appellants for this offence with sentence, whereas no evidence of lurking house-trespass by night or house breaking by night is there. Theft stands defined in Section 378 IPC. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft does actually carry out his intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft is in no way a necessary essential ingredient in either of the offences. It frequently happens that lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night is followed by theft, but the offence can be committed without theft or any intention to commit it. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.

18. Allahabad High Court in 41 Cr.L.J, 623 (Allahabad), Chhadami v. Emperor, has propounded that in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. Regarding presumption under illustration (a) to Section 114, Evidence Act, may also attract a graver offence, like one, under 457 IPC, where the accused is found in possession of articles stolen and obtained by house-breaking, it cannot be inferred that he has committed an offence of house-breaking and theft. Presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession.

19. In present case, no evidence of house breaking by night or lurking house-trespass by appellants was there, except alleged recovery of cash, but the same were not established by specific mark of identification or by denomination of currency notes recovered, which were alleged to have been stolen from the house of the informant to co-relate with the property alleged to have been stolen from above house-breaking or recovery of above ornament from convict-appellants.

20. Section 411 IPC provides that whoever dishonestly receives or retains any stolen property, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both. 21. Apex Court in AIR 1954 SC 39, Trimbak vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, has propounded ingredients of offence, under Section 411 IPC, i.e., ingredients, which prosecution has to establish: (1) that the stolen property was in possession of the accused, (2) that some person, other than accused, had possession of the property before the accused got possession of it and (3) that the accused had knowledge that the property was stolen property.

22. In present case, neither property was duly identified by any specific mark of identification nor it was established before Trial court by way of producing the same nor its identity was established in identification parade nor the same was recovered in presence of informant, who had disputed alleged preparation of recovery memo.

23. Under Section 380 IPC, essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved.

24. In present case, offence of theft was got registered by informant against unknown thieves. Subsequently, alleged recovery of alleged stolen cash money was said to have been made from convict-appellants. Offence of theft or taking of articles from building, by convict appellants, was not proved by any witness and on the basis of possession and presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, offence under Section 380 IPC was deemed to be proved whereas identification of alleged recovered cash, with no specific mark of identification, was neither established, by way of identification parade, or by way of proving it before Trial court.

25. Hence, learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.

26. In view of what has been discussed above, this Criminal Appeal deserves to be allowed.

27. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 23.07.2018, passed by the Trial Court, is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of all the charges. The appellants are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

28. Keeping in view the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C. appellants are directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond and two reliable sureties, each, in the like amount, to the satisfaction of Trial court before it, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against the instant judgment or for grant of leave, the appellants, on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

29. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

The accused-appellant abjured the charge and claimed trial.

8. The prosecution in order to prove its case produced as many as seven witnesses out of whom P.W.1 Bihari Lal, P.W.2 Rahul, P.W.3 Kanta Prasad were examined as witnesses of fact while P.W.4 Constable Clerk 614 Mahendra Pratap Singh, who had prepared the Chik FIR and the relevant general diary entry, P.W.5 Dr. Manoj Kumar Katara, who had conducted the post-mortem examination on the dead bodies of the deceased Ela alias Dinesh and Km. Sundary and prepared their post-mortem reports Exhibit Ka-4 & Exhibit Ka-5, P.W.6 Circle Officer Kehar Singh the Investigating Officer of the case who had completed the investigation and filed charge sheet Exhibit Ka-7 against both the accused-appellants and the P.W.7 Inspector Ramesh Chandra Tiwari, who prepared the inquest reports of the deceased Exhibit Ka-8 & Exhibit Ka-9 and other related documents, namely specific scene, photo nash, letters addressed to Chief Medical Officer, letters addressed to R.I. and Challan Lash Exhibit Ka-10, Exhibit Ka-11, Exhibit Ka-12, Exhibit Ka-13 and Exhibit Ka-14 pertaining to deceased Ela alias Dinesh and letter addressed to Chief Medical Officer, sample seal, photo nash, letter addressed to R.I and Challan nash of deceased Sundary Exhibit Ka-15, Exhibit Ka-16, Exhibit Ka-17, Exhibit Ka-18 & Exhibit Ka-19 were produced as formal witness.

9. The statement of the accused was recorded on 24.9.2014 under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein he denied all the charges levelled against him.

10. During trial, the accused-appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 24.9.2014 denied all the charges levelled against them and alleged false implication.

11. The learned Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Firozabad considered the submissions as well as the depositions made before him and also took the notice of the fact that all the material witnesses had turned hostile. Learned Sessions Judge after considering the evidence of D.W.1 recorded that D.W.1 Bachan Singh had stated in the cross-examination that his house was at a distance of 12 Kos from the house of Ram Nath and based upon the said deposition alone, recorded that it appears on account of circumstances that Ram Nath came to his home in the night and on seeing both the deceased in compromising position, killed both of them. The learned Sessions Judge further recorded that when the deceased Ela alias Dinesh tried to run, they were pulled and killed and because of the same mud must have appeared on the bodies. Learned Sessions Judge also recorded that it was not plausible that a person in whose residence murder took place did not report the same to the Police which fact goes against the accused Ram Nath which establishes that Ram Nath was guilty of the murders. He further recorded that in the era of modern means of transport like motorcycle a distance of 12 Kos is not much and can be covered easily. Thus, recording that the witnesses can lie but the circumstances cannot, he proceeded to hold Ram Nath guilty of offences under Section 302 IPC and proceeded to sentence Ram Nath to life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC and also imposed a fine of Rs.10,000/- and provided that on failure to pay the fine, appellant-Ram Nath will undergo a further rigorous imprisonment of three months. Hence, this appeal.

12. It is contended by the appellant's counsel that the evidence on record does not in any way established the complicity of Ram Nath, the evidence on record does not in any way implicate the appellant with the offence. There is no positive evidence on record against the appellant to establish the charges, the theory of circumstantial evidence is without any basis as there is no chain of evidence established by the prosecution and, thus, the judgment impugned in appeal is liable to be set aside.

13. Per contra, Ms. Manju Thakur, learned Additional Government Advocate tried to defend the judgment on the ground that the bodies were recovered from the house of Ram Nath and the reasoning given in the impugned judgment cannot be faulted with and the appellant has been rightly convicted and awarded the sentence.

14. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the entire lower Court record carefully.

15. The questions to be considered by us, are whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the appellant beyond all reasonable doubts and whether the appellant can be prosecuted only on the basis of circumstantial evidence as has been done by the Court below.

16. There is no dispute about the fact that the instant case is based upon circumstantial evidence and no one had seen the accused-appellants committing the murder of the deceased.

17. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, it was held by the Apex Court that, the onus is on the prosecution to prove, that the chain is complete and that falsity or untenability of the defence set up by the accused, cannot be made the basis for ignoring any serious infirmity or lacuna in the case of the prosecution. The Court then proceeded to indicate the conditions which must be fully established before a conviction can be made on the basis of circumstantial evidence. These are:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned "must' or "should' and not "may be' established;

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

Thus, in a case of circumstantial evidence, the prosecution must establish each instance of incriminating circumstance, by way of reliable and clinching evidence, and the circumstances so proved must form a complete chain of events, on the basis of which, no conclusion other than one of guilt of the accused can be reached. Undoubtedly, suspicion, however grave it may be, can never be treated as a substitute for proof. While dealing with a case of circumstantial evidence, the court must take utmost precaution whilst finding an accused guilty, solely on the basis of the circumstances proved before it."

18. We now proceed to evaluate and scrutinize the evidence on record in the background of the principles propounded by the Apex Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (supra) which a Court must keep in mind while deciding a case based upon circumstantial evidence.

19. P.W.1 Bihari Lal son of Viddya Ram in the statement before the Court below categorically stated in his cross-examination that he had not seen Ram Nath killing his brother Ela alias Dinesh. He also stated that he was informed of the incident at about 6.00 A.M. in the morning that his brother Ela alias Dinesh and Sundari had been killed by someone and their bodies were lying in the house of Ram Nath. He also categorically stated that he has not seen anyone killing his brother Ela alias Dinesh and Sundari, He had no information as to who had killed them. He further stated that he was unhappy on account of death of his brother and on the instigation of certain villagers, he had signed the report. He further categorically stated that on the date of the incident, he had not seen Ayodhya Prasad and Ram Nath coming out of the house at 3.00 A.M. He also categorically stated that he had not heard Ram Nath saying that he has killed Sundari and Ela alias Dinesh and that the Police had not enquired anything from him.

20. P.W.2, Rahul son of Kundan Singh was declared hostile by the Court. He categorically stated that he had not heard Ram Nath saying that he had killed Ela alias Dinesh and his daughter Sundari nor had he heard Ram Nath saying that he had seen both of them in compromising position which could not be tolerated.

21. P.W.3, Kanta Prasad son of Chiranji Lal, categorically stated that on the date of the incident i.e. 18.5.2013 he was not in the village Niyamtpur and further stated that he had not gone to the house of Ram Nath and he was not aware as to who had killed his nephew Ela alias Dinesh and Sundari. The Session Court declared the said witness as hostile.

22. It is noteworthy that despite the fact that P.W.1 had failed to support the prosecution case, he was neither declared hostile nor he was recalled by the prosecution for re-examination. Similarly, when P.W.2 and P.W.3 Rahul and Kanta Prasad were declared hostile and upon being confronted by the D.G.C. (Criminal) during their cross-examination with their statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which they had allegedly supported the prosecution case, they denied having made any such statements before the Investigating Officer, P.W.6 Kehar Singh, Investigating Officer of the case, was not confronted by the D.G.C. (Criminal) with the above mentioned portions of the testimonies of P.W.2 & P.W.3.

23. P.W.4, the Clerk of the Police Station deposed that a report was lodged with regard to the said incident on which the first information report was registered. There was no deposition with regard to the incident.

24. P.W.5, the Doctor who had conducted the post-mortem examination deposed with regard to the injuries found over the bodies which had led to death of Ela alias Dinesh and Sundari.

25. P.W.6, Sri Kehar Singh, Circle Officer deposed with regard to the lodging of the first information report and drawing of the site plan as well as the arrest of the accused. He specifically stated in his cross-examination that the dead body of Ela alias Dinesh was coated with mud (Keechad). He also in his cross-examination stated that his signatures were absent on the Panchayat Nama.

26. P.W.7, Ramesh Chandra Tiwari, Inspector in his deposition stated that the body of the victim was coated with black mud. During his cross-examination, he stated that the body of Ela alias Dinesh appeared to have been taken from one spot to the other.

27. The accused in his support had adduced the evidence of D.W.1, Bachan Singh, the brother-in-law of Ram Nath who deposed before the Court below that his daughter Neeraj was getting married on 17.5.2013 and for the said marriage, Ram Nath along with entire family had come to their village on 15.5.2013 except Sundari, who stayed in her house and that Ram Nath and his family stayed with them till 7.00 A.M. on 18.5.2013.

28. The records of the case and deposition of witnesses as quoted herein above reveal that the deposition of P.W.1 does not in any way prove or establish the complicity of the appellant. The deposition of P.W.2, who was declared as hostile also does not in any way establish the complicity of the offence in any manner. The deposition of P.W.3 also who was declared hostile does not in any way establish the complicity of the appellant with the offence in question. The depositions of P.W.4, P.W.5 & P.W.6 as already discussed herein above do not in any manner link the appellant with the commission of the offence in question.

29. Coming to the deposition of D.W.1, which is the sole basis for the learned Sessions Judge to presume the circumstances against the appellant, in the cross-examination there is neither any suggestion nor any attempt by the prosecution to establish the circumstances which could lead to the presumption of Ram Nath going from the house of Bachan Singh to his own house at a distance of 12 Kos to commit the murder. No suggestion was put forwarded to establish that Ram Nath owned any Motorcycle or any vehicle as has been recorded in the impugned judgment. There is no suggestion to establish that Ram Nath went from the house of Bachan Singh to his own house and came back after committing the murder as has been believed by the learned Sessions Judge.

30. The evidence of the witnesses considered along with the evidence of D.W.1 do not in any way link the appellant directly or indirectly with the actual act leading to the death of the deceased. It is well settled law that suspicion however, grave cannot take place of proof and the prosecution in order to succeed, cannot succeed only on the evidence which in the realm of "may be true" but has to conform to "must be true".

31. In the present case, learned Sessions Judge has erred in convicting the appellant by adopting the theory of circumstantial evidence whereas no such circumstances were either established or even came out of the evidence deposed before the learned Sessions Judge. No attempt was made by the prosecution or by the Sessions Judge to establish that now a single person, namely the appellant could murder two adults without any weapon whatsoever. The case in hand, clearly establishes that the learned Sessions Judge has completely misdirected himself in convicting the appellant without there being any evidence on record to establish his complicity with the offence in question.

32. We have no hesitation in holding that the prosecution has failed to establish its case against the appellant beyond all reasonable doubts.

33. The appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 28.10.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.2, District Firozabad, in Special Sessions Trial No.125 of 2013, convicting the appellant for an offence under Section 302 IPC and sentencing him to life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000/-, is set aside. The appellant Ram Nath is acquitted of all the charges framed against him. He shall be discharged forthwith. The appellant is in jail, he shall be released forthwith, if he is not wanted in any other case. However, he shall comply with the mandatory requirement of provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C.

34. There shall be no order as to costs.

35. Let a copy of this judgement be sent to the learned Sessions Judge, Firozabad for ensuring compliance.

Section 457 IPC. The accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing.

If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.(Para19)

This Criminal Appeal allowed.

2. The occurrence had been said to have taken place on 7.4. 2012 and a first information report was lodged on 17.4.2012 as Case Crime No. 701 of 2012, under Sections 457 and 380 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, Lalitpur, District Lalitpur. Though the occurrence was said to have occurred 7.4.2012, but the first information report was lodged on 17.4.2012. Hence, this Criminal Appeal with above prayer.

It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared on the basis of which this implication, under Sections 457, 380, 411 was made.

6. On the basis of investigation, chargesheet was filed and after hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence, charges for offence, punishable under Section 380, 457, 411 IPC were framed. Charges were readover and explained to the accused persons, who pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

Kumar, Sub Inspector, PW-5, Sub Inspector, Rakesh Raj Gautam, PW-6, Head Constable, Radheshyam Sachan and PW-7, Sub Inspector, Man Singh Pal.

9. After hearing over quantum of sentence, impugned sentence was passed.

10. First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-2, was formally proved by PW-1, informant, Smt. Premlata Jain, and it has specifically been lodged against unknown thieves, because this witness was not present at her home at the time of alleged occurrence of theft. In examination-in-chief, this witness has said that it so happened that, while on 6.4.2012, the informant was away from her home at Bombay, leaving behind her son at home, for the last one and a half months, in connection with the treatment of her husband, who was undergoing treatment for Cancer, her son, locking the home went to her paternal aunt's home (Bua-father's Sister), at Chanderi, Madya Pradesh, on next day, i.e. 7.4.2012, her brother-in-law (Devar), Nilesh Jain, found locks put on the door of her home broken. He gave information of this incident at the concerned Police Station as well as to the informant telephonically. On coming back to her home on 8.4.2012, she found her house hold articles scattered here and there and occurrence of theft by unknown thieves took place. Two golden Kangan (Bracelet), about 2 Tola, three rings, about 1.5 Tola, two ear rings, one Mangalsutra, about 2 Tola, Bangles of 8 Guria, 4 pair, about 2 Tola, silver anklate, about 500 gram, 4 Vintex Bangles, one wad (Gaddi) of Rs.10/- currency notes, in total Rs.1,000/-, 400 Kaldar of 10 rupees and change money amounting to Rs.3,00/ were stolen by unknown thieves. After 4-5 months of the incident, Police claimed to have recovered one Mangalsutra, one golden garland and one golden ring from some thieves, which she identified, whereas in cross-examination she has said that recovered articles were not produced before her in the court nor she has given any specific mark of identification of Mangalsutra. When the Police made recovery, she had seen the recovered articles in the office of Superintendent of Police. When the recovery was made and who made recovery was not known to her nor she identify any thief nor she has ever seen them. She did not know any of the accused persons nor she was aware about the name and address of them. Stolen articles were not produced before her nor has she seen anyone committing theft. Meaning thereby, neither there was any specific mark of identification of stolen articles nor any recovery memo was prepared on the spot nor the same were produced before the court during trial nor this witness was previously acquainted with accused persons. Thus, this witness does not support prosecution case at all.

11. PW-2 is Constable Suryavali Yadav, who registered the first information report, has formally proved registration of registering first information report. He, in his, examination-in-chief, has stated that, while he was posted at Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, as Head Moharir, on 20.4.2012, he has registered first information report of Case Crime No. 701/12, under Section 380 and 457 IPC, against unknown thieves, on the application of Smt. He registered first information report on the basis of the order of the Station Officer, passed on the application of the informant. Informant was present thereat. The report was against unknown persons. From the testimony of this witness, registration of first information report against unknown persons is proved.

12. PW-3 is Sub Inspector Varun Pratap Singh. This witness, in his testimony, has stated that on 27.8.2012, while he was posted as Chowki Incharge of Nehru Nagar Chowki, under Kotwali Lalitpur and was on duty with the Inspector, Kotwali, Lalitpur, at 7.30 PM, on that very day, they arrested one thief at at a nearby place of Juvenile Care Centre, Nehru Nagar, who disclosed his name Shivam Tiwari. On his personal search, Rs.5,000/ cash was recovered. He confessed infront of them that he, alongwith his other accomplices, committed various occurrences of theft and recovered amount was given to him as his share. This recovered article was stolen from the house of Sunil Kumar Jain, whereas in his cross-examination, this witness has said that he did not remember time entered in the G.D. regarding his departure from Police Chowki as well as arrival at the Police Chowki. He also did not remember that how many copies of recovery memo were prepared or where recovery memo was prepared and how many persons signed recovery memo or what was the boundary mentioned in recovery memo. On what date, which occurrence of theft was committed by the accused persons is not known to him. Identification proceeding of the recovered articles was not conducted. Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness, which is full of contradictions and discrepancies, is not worth credit and is of no avail to the prosecution.

13. PW-4 is Sub Inspector Sunit Kumar. He, in his examination-in-chief, has stated that, while being posted as Incharge, SOG, Lalitpur, on 14.8.2012, he, alongwith his Police Team, and with the help of Police personnel of Kotwali, on the information, received from the informer, have arrested four persons, from whom ornaments of gold and silver as well as cash were recovered. Those accused persons have confessed to have committed various thefts in the District of Lalitpur. On the spot, one Mangalsutra and one golden ring, stolen from the house of Smt. Premlata Jain, Informant, were recovered, which were identified by Smt. Premlata Jain, on the spot. Recovery memo, Exhibit Ka-4, was prepared by him on the spot, which was got signed by the accused persons and the police personnel, accompanying him. theft. Identification proceeding of the recovered articles was not conducted. He did not remember, whether copy of the recovery memo was given to the accused persons or not. Who gave information to the informant of the first information report, about arrest and recovery, was not known to him. Recovered articles was not produced before him. Meaning thereby, there is discrepancies and contradictions between examination-in-chief and cross-examination of this witness, which is also at variance and as such testimony of this witness is not credible and not credit worthy at all.

14. PW-5 is Sub Inspector, Rakesh Raj Gautam, who, in his examination-in-chief, has said that, while he was posted as Sub Inspector at Kotwali, Lalitpur, on 22.8.2012, he has been entrusted with the investigation of Case Crime No.701 of 2012, under Sections 457 and 380 IPC in which final report was submitted by the previous Investigating Officer, but an information regarding recovery of articles, pertaining to this incident of occurrence of theft, was received by him. He got the statements of accused persons recorded. He also got statement of Incharge, SOG, Sunit Kmar, who arrested accused persons, recorded. He also got statements of other police persons recorded. After collecting evidence, he filed chargesheet, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC, which is Paper No.3Ka, Exhibit Ka-5, in his handwriting and under his signature. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that he did not get any identification proceeding of the accused conducted nor of recovered articles. He did not remember entries made in the General Diary (G.D) nor the same were produced before him nor he recollects number of the G.D. nor recovered articles were produced before him. Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness is of no relevance to the prosecution and is shaky as such is of no avail to the prosecution.

15. PW-6 is Head Constable, Radheshyam Sachan. This witness, in his examination-in-chief, has said that this case was partly investigated by Sub Inspector Nanhe Lal Yadav. Site Plan, Exhibit Ka-6, which is on record, was in his writing and under his signature. He remained posted with him and, therefore, he identified his signature and handwriting, whereas in his cross-examination, he denied of site plan being prepared before him. Since, G.D. containing entry of his departure and arrival was not before him, he was not able to tell whether he went on the spot or not. He could not tell as to whether the site map has been rightly prepared or it was incorrect. He also did not remember, the period during which Nanhe Lal Yadav was posted with him. He said that it is wrong to say that he is not aware of handwriting or signature of Nanhe Lal Yadav. There are contradictions in the testimony of this witness. Moreover, the Testimony of this witness does not appear to be of any relevance to the prosecution.

16. PW-7 is Sub Inspector, Man Singh Pal. He, in his testimony, has stated that while he was posted at Nai Basti, under P.S. Kotwali, Lalitpur, on 17.9.2012, he accompanied his Station Officer, Uday Bhan Singh, in connection with search of accused of various occurrence of theft, on the information of informer, reached at Govind Sagar Dam, and found a suspected person sitting thereat, whom informer pointed to be Banti @ Rajan. After rounding him up, he has been apprehended at about 23.40 PM. On personal search being made, anklates of silver, about 250 gms, were recovered from him, which, he confessed to have been stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak and he got those anklates as share of that theft. Recovery memo, on the dictation of Station Officer, was got prepared. Niraj Naiyak was called on the spot and recovered article was got identified by him. On 27.7.2012, also, while he, alongwith his Station Officer, was on round of the area in connection with search of accused of occurrence of theft, on an information of the informer, they reached at Juvenile Centre Triway-junction where a suspect was seen and on pointing of the informer him to be Shivam Tiwari, Police Team rounded him up and arrested at about 19.30 PM. On personal search being made, Rs.5,000/- in cash, one ring of about 1.5 Tola and one Silver Box (Dibiya) was recovered, which, he confessed to have got as share of theft, which he committed, alongwith his other accomplices, in the house of Niraj Nayak. Niraj Nayak has identified the recovered article on the spot, alongiwht Kalyan and and Sanjay Tiwari. Recovery memo was got prepared, on the dictation of Station Officer, by Varun Pratap Singh, which was readover and signature of other Police personnel was got. While, in his cross-examination, this witness has stated that he did not recollect case crime number. In first information report, there was no specific mark of identification of stolen articles and identification proceeding was not conducted as per law. There was no independent public witness nor any accused was named in the report nor occurrence of theft was seen by the informant nor any mark of identification of accused was given. There was no independent public witness of recovery. He did not remember whether copy of recovery memo was got prepared or not. Independent public witnesses were asked to become witness, but their names and address were not mentioned in the recovery memo nor he was able to tell who were asked to give evidence. Meaning thereby, this witness neither was able to tell case crime number nor there was any specific mark of identification of articles stolen nor any identification proceeding was conducted in accordance with law nor there was any independent public witness either of occurrence of theft or of recovery, so made, by the Police, resulting testimony of this witness not worth credit and full of contradiction and at variance as well and as such does not support case set up by the Prosecution.

So far as testimony with regard to arrest of Banti @ Rajan and Shivem Tiwari by th Police is concerned, since they are not appellants in this appeal, hence, testimony of this witness is of not much relevance to the prosecution in this Appeal.

17. Examination-in-chief and cross-examination of the witnesses produced by the prosecution are full of variance and contradictions. Moreso, even single iota regarding offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC is there, on record, against present convict appellants, except their alleged confessions, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police, which was not admissible in evidence. If entire prosecution case is admitted for the sake of argument, it may be said that those accused persons were apprehended with possession of those recovered articles, but there is neither any specific mark of identification nor there is any corresponding evidence for connecting with above offence of theft was there on record, which was a condition precedent for offence, punishable under Section 411 IPC.

18. Section 457 of Indian Penal Code (IPC) provides that "whoever commits lurking house-trespass by night, or house breaking by night, in order to committing of any offence punishable with imprisonment, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years'.

19. In present case, learned Trial Judge has convicted appellants for this offence with sentence, whereas no evidence of lurking house-trespass by night or house breaking by night is there. Theft stands defined in Section 378 IPC. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft does actually carry out his intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft is in no way a necessary essential ingredient in either of the offences. It frequently happens that lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night is followed by theft, but the offence can be committed without theft or any intention to commit it. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.

20. Allahabad High Court in 41 Cr.L.J, 623 (Allahabad), Chhadami v. Emperor, has propounded that in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. Regarding presumption under illustration (a) to Section 114, Evidence Act, may also attract a graver offence, like one, under 457 IPC, where the accused is found in possession of articles stolen and obtained by house-breaking, it cannot be inferred that he has committed an offence of house-breaking and theft. Presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession.

21. In present case, no evidence of house breaking by night or lurking house-trespass by appellants was there, except alleged recovery of cash, but the same were not established by specific mark of identification or by denomination of currency notes recovered, which were alleged to have been stolen from the house of the informant to co-relate with the property alleged to have been stolen from above house-breaking or recovery of above ornament from convict-appellants.

22. Section 411 IPC provides that whoever dishonestly receives or retains any stolen property, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

23. Apex Court in AIR 1954 SC 39, Trimbak vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, has propounded ingredients of offence, under Section 411 IPC, i.e., ingredients, which prosecution has to establish: (1) that the stolen property was in possession of the accused, (2) that some person, other than accused, had possession of the property before the accused got possession of it and (3) that the accused had knowledge that the property was stolen property.

24. In present case, neither property was duly identified by any specific mark of identification nor it was established before Trial court by way of producing the same nor its identity was established in identification parade nor the same was recovered in presence of informant, who had disputed alleged preparation of recovery memo.

25. Under Section 380 IPC, essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved.

26. In present case, offence of theft was got registered by informant against unknown thieves. Subsequently, alleged recovery of alleged stolen cash money was said to have been made from convict-appellants. Offence of theft or taking of articles from building, by convict appellants, was not proved by any witness and on the basis of possession and presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, offence under Section 380 IPC was deemed to be proved whereas identification of alleged recovered cash, with no specific mark of identification, was neither established, by way of identification parade, or by way of proving it before Trial court.

27. Hence, learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.

28. In view of what has been discussed above, this Criminal Appeal deserves to be allowed.

29. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 24.07.2018, passed by the Trial Court, is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of all the charges. The appellants are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

30. Keeping in view the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C. appellants are directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond and two reliable sureties, each, in the like amount, to the satisfaction of Trial court before it, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against the instant judgment or for grant of leave, the appellants, on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

31. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This appeal, under Section 374(2) of Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as 'Cr.P.C.'), has been filed by Ashok, convict appellant, against the judgment of conviction and sentence made therein, dated 17.2.2012, passed by Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5/Special Judge, Agra, in Special Sessions Trial No. 62 of 2005, arising out of Case Crime No. 401 of 2004, State Vs. Ashok, under Section 21 of N.D.P.S. Act (hereinafter referred to as 'Act'), Police Station Jagdishpura, District Agra, wherein convict-appellant Ashok Kumarhas been convicted for offence punishable under Section 21 of Act and has been sentenced with rigorous imprisonment of ten years and fine of Rs. 1 lac and in default two years additional rigorous imprisonment with a direction for adjustment of previous incarceration in this very case crime number, with this contention that trial Court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it. Police arrested convict appellant from his house on 5.11.2004, for which instant telegram, complaining fact of arrest from home, to higher authorities, was sent by his wife and mother on 5-6.11.2004. Thereafter, police challened appellant on 7.11.2004 with accusation of recovery of 800 gms. of 'Heroin' from his possession whereas no such recovery was there nor prosecution could prove its case beyond doubt. But trial Court failed to appreciate facts and law, thereby, passed impugned judgment of conviction for offence punishable under Section 21 of Act. A sentence, as above, was passed, which was excessive and deterrent. There was no compliance of provision of Section 42 of the Act. The alleged place of recovery was from busy place, with a lot of rush in that area but no public witness was taken in alleged recovery memo or First Information Report. No compliance of Section 50 of Act was made. Hence, this appeal, with prayer for setting aside the impugned judgment and sentence, made in it.

2. From the very perusal of impugned judgment and record of trial Court, it is apparent that First Information Report (Ex.Ka-2) was got lodged at Police Station Jagdishpura for offence punishable under Section 8/22 of Act, against Ashok KumarSingh son of Om Prakash Thakur, resident of 27/166 Teela Gokulpura, P.S. Lohamandi, District Agra, the then residing at House No. 271, Puspanjali Colony, Dayal Bagh, P.S. New Agra, District Agra. On 7.11.2004 at 17:00 P.M., on the basis of recovery memo (Ex. Ka-6), prepared by Station Officer Manoj Kumar Mishra, Police Station Jagdishpura, District Agra, having mention that on 7.11.2004, S.O. Manoj Kumar Mishra, along with his police team, including Sub-Inspector Pratap Singh, Sub-Inspector Bhavar Singh, Constable Devendra Kumar and Constable Arvind Kumar, by Government jeep registration No. U.P.83 G-0007, with official driver Durga Prashad, vide G.D. Entry No. 30 at 12:10 P.M., was present in area of Bodla Avas Vikas Colony, Pratap Nagar and when team proceeded towards Awadhpuri road, one person who was under suspicious circumstances, ran towards back side. He was chased and was apprehended at 14:30 P.M. in the area of Mohalla Shanti Nagar. Upon query, he was Ashok Kumar Singh son of Om Prakash Thakur, resident as above and he confessed to be with possession of smack, for which he tried to run from spot. He was told for summoning some Gazetted Officer or Magistrate for his search but he refused and agreed to be searched by this team itself. Member of police team took their personal search and ensured that nothing incriminating is with any of them. Thenafter, personal search of Ashok Kumarwas conducted, in which a plastic bag having print "Novelty Matching Center" over it was recovered from his right hand, which was with two packets, wrapped in a newspaper and kept in a polythene, of smack with five small packets of same, wrapped in paper. This was with smell of 'Smack'. The two packets were also with smell of smack. Balance and weight, for weighing the same, were tried to be obtained from nearby. But as there were no shops nearby, hence, could not be available. Hence, it was weighed by keeping it over hand and was perceived to be of about 750 gms. In those five small packets about 50 gms. Upon query, accused confessed for sale of those smack in small packets, in which small packets were of pure smack and big two packets were with lesser concentration of smack, which was being sold to people. The recovered smack was kept in same wrapper and polythene. Thenafter wrapped in a clothe, stitched and sealed on spot; a specimen seal was prepared. Offence, punishable under Section 8/22 of N.D.P.S. Act was made, hence, he was taken in custody. Recovery memo was got scribed by Sub-Inspector Pratap Singh, under dictation of this informant. All members of team put their signature over it and accused, along with recovered articles and recovery memo, with specimen seal, was brought at police station. Where this case crime number was got registered. Investigation resulted submission of charge-sheet for offence punishable under Section 8/21 of N.D.P.S. Act. Court of Special Judge N.D.P.S. Act, after hearing learned public prosecutor and learned counsel for defence, vide order dated 15.9.2006, levelled charge against Ashok Kumarfor offence punishable under Section 8/21 of N.D.P.S. Act, for alleged recovery of 800 gms. of smack (heroin) at 14:30 P.M. Of 7.11.2004 from Mohalla Shanti Nagar within the area of Police Station Jagdishpura, District Agra. Charge was read over and explained to accused. Who pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial.

3. Prosecution examined PW-1 Constable-clerk Pratap Singh, PW-2 Constable Brijesh Kumar, PW-3 Sub-Inspector Manoj Kumar Mishra, PW-4 Constable Pratap Singh Rana, PW-5 Chauthiram Yadav, PW-6 Sub-Inspector Chandra Bhushan.

4. For having explanation, if any, of accused Ashok Kumarfor incriminating evidence led by prosecution, his statement, under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., was got recorded by Trial Judge. Accused answered alleged recovery to be wrong. Testimony of PW-2, not under his knowledge but being false. Entire evidence led by prosecution and the alleged occurrence of recovery, including investigation as well as submission of charge-sheet, was on incorrect fact. It was an accusation because of animosity.

5. In defence, DW-1 Desh Raj, DW-2 Kamod Singh, DW-3 Ram Singh and DW-4 Sushila @ Shashi were examined. Learned trial Judge, after hearing argument of learned public prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence, passed impugned judgment of conviction for offence as above and after hearing, passed impugned sentence, written as above, against which this appeal.

6. Learned counsel for the appellate vehemently argued that convict appellant was in jail for about seven years, against award of sentence of ten years, whereas the weight of the recovered 'Smack' was not on the basis of balance weight rather it was on the basis of weighing and presuming after keeping over hand. It was not sure as to whether it was a commercial quantity or a quantity said to be in between small and commercial quantity. The weight of 800 gms. including wrapper and polythene weight was held to be 800 gms. in report of Forensic Science Laboratory. But it is not proved by prosecution as to whether entire material was sent for chemical analysis or a part thereof was sent for its analysis. Hence, the first argument is for assailing judgment of conviction and the second is regarding quantum of sentence. Court may reduce quantum of sentence to period undergone which is about seven years.

7. The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, Act No. 61 of 1985, with preamble, is an Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to narcotic drugs, to make stringent provisions for the control and regulation of operations, relating to Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, to provide for the forfeiture of the property derived from, or used in, illicit traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, to implement the provisions of the International Convenction on Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances and for matters connected therewith. This Central Legislation was made in operational from 16th September, 1985. Though, vide amendment inserted by Act No. 9 of 2001, with effect from 2.10.2001, Section 2 Sub-section (VIIa) "Commecrial Quantity", in relation to narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances was added in defination clause, which means, any quantity greater than the quantity specified by the Central Government by notification in the official Gazette. It was made by Ministry of Finance "Department of Revenue" vide Notification No. S.O.1055(E) dated 9.10.2001, published in Gazette of India (extraordinary) Part II, Section (II) dated 19.10.2001 at pages 15 to 32, which provides the quantity in the head of small quantity upto 5 gm. and commercial quantity above 250 gms. for "Heroin" (Diacetylmorphine) (commonly known as smack). Meaning thereby, the samll quantity is upto 5 gms. and commerical quantity is above 250 gms. of Heroin. "In between", is a quantity, contravention of each of these three categories shall be punishable. In between, Section 21 has been amended vide substituion by Act No. 9 of 2001, with effect from 2.10.2001 for punishment of contravention in relation to manufactured drug and preparation - Whoever, in contravention of any provision of this Act or any rule or order made or condition of licence granted thereunder, manufactures, possesses, sells, purchases, transports, imports inter- State, exports inter- State or uses any manufactured drug or any preparation containing any manufactured drug shall be punishable -

(a) where the contravention involves small quantity, with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees, or with both;

(b) where the contravention involves quantity lesser than commercial quantity but greater than small quantity, with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and with fine which may extend to one lakh rupees;

(c) where the contravention involves commercial quantity, with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may extend to twenty years, and shall also be liable to fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to two lakh rupees: Provided that the court may, for reasons to be recorded in the judgment, impose a fine exceeding two lakh rupees.

8. Meaning thereby, Court is with no option to give smaller sentence than given in the Act by Legislation. For a commercial quantity, the minimum sentences has been give to be not less than ten years but it may extend upto 20 years, with a fine, which shall not be less than 1 lac rupees, but, which may extend to 2 lac rupees and Court, by giving a reasoned judgment, may, for reasons, to be recorded, impose a fine exceeding 2 lac rupees. As in the present case the recovery is of 800 gms. of Heroin (Smack) which is about more than three times of limit which brings in commercial quantity, and for this there is mandatory punishment not less than ten years, with fine not less than 1 lac, and the same has been awarded by trial Judge, hence, under the legislation as has been enacted by legislation, any bargain, as has been argued by learned counsel for the convict appellant, cannot be accepted by the Court. Hence, the argument advanced by learned counsel for period undergone i.e. seven years already suffered by convict appellant to be treated as the punishment, for offence of having Heroin, much more than heavy amount of commercial quantity, is not permissible under law and this is the lowest permissible sentence awarded by trial Court. Hence, this argument of reducing sentence is not tenable.

9. Regarding non compliance of Section 42 of Act, as vehemently argued by learned counsel for the appellant, it is to be mentioned that Section 42 substituted by Act No. 9 of 2001, with effect from 2.10.2001, provides power of entry or authorization -

(1) Any such officer (being an officer superior in rank to a peon, sepoy or constable) of the departments of central excise, narcotics, customs, revenue intelligence or any other department of the Central Government including para- military or armed forces as is empowered in this behalf by general or special order by the Central Government, or any such officer (being an officer superior in rank to a peon, sepoy or constable) of the revenue, drugs control, excise, police or any other department of a State Government as is empowered in this behalf by general knowledge or information given by any person and taken down in writing that any narcotic drug, or psychotropic substance, or controlled substance in respect of which an offence punishable under this Act has been committed or any document or other article which may furnish evidence of the commission of such offence or any illegally acquired property or any document or other article which may furnish evidence of holding any illegally acquired property which is liable for seizure or freezing or forfeiture under Chapter VA of this Act is kept or concealed in any building, conveyance or enclosed place, may between sunrise and subset,-

(a) enter into and search any such building, conveyance or place;

(b) in case of resistance, break open any door and remove any obstacle to such entry;

(c) seize such drug or substance and all materials used in the manufacture thereof and any other article and any animal or conveyance which he has reason to believe to be liable to confiscation under this Act and any document or other article which he has reason to believe may furnish evidence of the commission of any offence punishable under this Act or furnish evidence of holding any illegally acquired property which is liable for seizure or freezing or forfeiture under Chapter VA of this Act; and

(d) detail and search, and, if he thinks proper, arrest any person whom he has reason to believe to have committed any offence punishable under this Act.

10. Meaning thereby, this provision is Power of entry, search, seizure and arrest without warrant or authorization, in case of any information, previously obtained regarding commission of offence, punishable under this Act for fulfilling ingredients, written as above. Whereas in the present case, it was not a case of previous information or receiving of information, given by someone, prior to such arrest. Rather, it was a case in which police team, led by Station Officer Manoj Kumar Mishra, while being in routine surveillance duty in its area of P.S. Jagdishpura, found one person who displayed his hesitation, on seeing police party, PW-1 and his team became suspicious. On seeing police personnel, appellant tried to ran away from the scene - it was not a case where prosecution claimed that appellant was apprehended on the basis of any earlier information having been given by any secret informer - it was also not a case of trap, rather it was a sudden occurrence of recovery of huge quantity of Smack (Heroin) from convict-appellant. Hence, no question of compliance of Section 42 or 43 of the Act, power of seizure and arrest in public places, arises.

11. Non compliance of Section 50 of Act has been vehemently argued by learned counsel for appellant. In order to appreciate the contention raised by learned counsel appearing for the appellant with regard to non compliance of Section 50 of the Act, it is necessary to notice Section 50 of the Act. It reads as under:

50. Conditions under which search of persons shall be conducted:

(1) When any officer duly authorized under section 42 is about to search any person under the provisions of section 41, section 42 or section 43 of the Act, he shall, if such person so requires, take such person without unnecessary delay to the nearest Gazetted Officer of any of the departments mentioned in section 42 or to the nearest Magistrate.

(2) If such requisition is made, the officer may detain the person until he can bring him before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate before whom any such person is brought shall, if he sees no reasonable ground for search, forthwith discharge the person but otherwise shall direct that search be made.

(4) No female shall be searched by anyone excepting a female.

11 (1). Apex Court in Ajmer Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2010) 3 Supreme Court Cases 746 in Para 14 has propounded as below:

"The object, purpose and scope of Section 50 of the Act was the subject matter of discussion in number of decisions of this Court. The Constitution Bench of five Judges of this Court in the case of State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, [(1999) 6 SCC 172], after exhaustive consideration of the decision of this court in the case of Ali Mustaffa Abdul Rahman Moosa vs. State of Kerala, [(1994) 6 SCC 569] and Pooran Mal vs. Director of Inspection (Investigation), New Delhi &Ors., [(1974) 1 SCC 345], have concluded in para 57 :

(I) When search and seizure is to be conducted under the provision of the Act, it is imperative for him to inform the person concerned of his right of being taken to the nearest gazetted officer or the nearest Magistrate for making search.

(II) Failure to inform the accused of such right would cause prejudice to an accused.

(III) That a search made by an empowered officer, on prior information, without informing the accused of such a right may not vitiate trial, but would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction and sentence of an accused, where the conviction is solely based on the possession of the illicit article, recovered from his person, during such search.

(IV) The investigation agency must follow the procedure as envisaged by the statute scrupulously and failure to do so would lead to unfair trial contrary to the concept of justice.

(V) That the question as to whether the safeguards provided in Section 50 of the Act have been duly observed would have to be determined by the court on the basis of the evidence at the trial and without giving an opportunity to the prosecution to establish the compliance of Section 50 of the Act would not be permissible as it would cut short a criminal trial.

(VI) That the non compliance of the procedure i.e. informing the accused of the right under sub-Section (1) of Section 50 may render the recovery of contraband suspect and conviction and sentence of an accused bad and unsustainable in law.

(VII) The illicit article seized from the person of an accused during search conducted without complying the procedure under Section 50, cannot be relied upon as evidence for proving the unlawful possession of the contraband.

11(2). Learned counsel for the appellant contended that the provision of Section 50 of the Act would also apply, while searching the bag, briefcase, etc., carried by the person and its non compliance could be fatal to the proceeding initiated under the Act. Apex Court in Ajmer Singh (supra) has held "We find no merit in the contention of the learned counsel. It requires to be noticed that the question of compliance or non-compliance of Section 50 of the N.D.P.S. Act is relevant only in a situation where search of a person is involved and the said Section is not applicable nor attracted where no search of a person is involved. Search and recovery from a bag, brief case, container, etc., does not come within the ambit of Section 50 of the N.D.P.S. Act, because firstly, Section 50 expressly speaks of search of person only. Secondly, this Section speaks of taking of the person to be searched by the Gazetted Officer or Magistrate for the purpose of search. Thirdly, this issue, in our considered opinion, is no more res-integra in view of the observations made by this court in the case of Madan Lal vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2003 7 SCC 465. The Court has observed; as follows:

16. "A bare reading of Section 50 shows that it only applies in case of personal search of a person. It does not extend to search of a vehicle or a container or a bag or premises (See Kalema Tumba vs. State of Maharashtra and Anr.(1999) 8 SCC257, State of Punjab vs. Baldev Singh(1999) 6 SCC 172 and Gurbax Singh vs. State of Haryana (2001) 3 SCC 28. The language of section is implicitly clear that the search has to be in relation to a person as contrast to search of premises, vehicles, or articles. This position was settled beyond doubt by the Constitution Bench in Baldev Singh's case (supra). Above being the position, the contention regarding non-compliance of Section 50 of the Act is also without any substance."

11(3). In the present case, the recovery is from a plastic bag having printed "Novelty Matching Centre" over it and it was being carried in the right hand of the convict-appellant. There was no recovery from his personal search, rather it was recovery from a container which was being carried by convict-appellant, for which there was no requirement for application of Section 50 of the Act. But as personal search too was taken, as was written in Ex. Ka-1 Recovery Memo. Hence, on the basis of judgment of Apex Court given in State of Rajasthan Vs. Parmanand & another AIR 2014 SC 1384, the observance of Section 50 of Act was to be taken into consideration. In the present case, it has specifically been written in First Information Report Ex. Ka-2, got lodged on the basis of recovery memo Ex. Ka-6 that "पकड़े गये व्यक्ति का नाम पता पूछते हुये भागने का कारण पूछा गया तो अपना नाम अशोक एस/ओ श्री ओम प्रकाश ठाकुर आर/ओ म0नं0 27/166 टोला गोकुल पुरा, थाना लोहामंडी आगरा हाल पता म0नं0 21 पुष्पान्जली कालोनी दयालबाग थाना न्यू आगरा, आगरा बताया तथा भागने का कारण अपने पास स्मैक होना बताया। अभि0 के पास स्मैक की जानकारी होने पर अशोक से कहा गया कि जामा तलाशी हेतु किसी राजपत्रित अधिकारी या मजिस्ट्रेट को बुलवाया जाये तो मांफी मांगते हुए बोला कि किसी को बुलवाने की आवश्यकता नहीं है। नहीं हम कहीं तलाशी के लिये जायेंगें आप लोगों ने जब हमें रंगे हाथ पकड़ लिया है तो आप पर हमें पूरा भरोसा है। आप ही जामा तलाशी ले लो।""When cause for this running and hesitation from police was asked, Ashok Kumarson of Om Prakash Thakur, resident of Houe No. 27/166 Teela Gokulpur, P.S. Lohamandi, Agra, presently residing at House No. 21, Puspanjali Colony, Dayal Bagh, P.S. New Agra, Agra, shown sign of fear as he was having Smack with him, for which he was running, after this knowledge of having Smack, he was asked for getting his personal search made before the Gazetted Officer or Magistrate summoned for, he requested excuse and mentioned that there is no need for summoning any other nor he will go anywhere else for his personal search as you have apprehended red handed, there is full faith upon you. You yourself take personal search.... (English translation by this Court itself).

11(4). The same is contention in testimony of PW-3, Sub-Inspector Manoj Kumar Mishra, and PW-4 Sub-Inspector Pratap Singh Rana. PW-3 Sub-Inspector Manoj Kumar Mishra, in his testimony, has categorically said in Examination-in-Chief "भागने का कारण पूछने पर अशोक ने बताया जो आज हाजिर अदालत है। भागने का कारण पूछने पर अशोक ने बताया कि उसके पास स्मैक है इसलिए वह हम हम लोगों का देखकर भागा था। इस पर हमने अभि0 अशोक से कहा कि अब आपकी तलाशी किसी राजपत्रित अधिकारी व मजिस्ट्रेट के समक्ष करायी जायेगी तो अशोक ने हमसे कहा था कि जब आपने हमको पकड़ ही लिया है तो हमें अब आपके ऊपर पूरा विश्वास है और हमें किसी के समक्ष तलाशी के लिए नहीं जाना। आप ही हमारी तलाशी ले लीजिए।" "when cause for running after seeing police team, was questioned, Ashok Kumaranswered that he is with Smack that is why he hesitated and ran away from police. Upon this, we asked Ashok Kumarfor his personal search in presence of some Gazetted Officer or Magistrate, but he refused with this saying that he has been apprehended by Police team, upon whom he has full faith. He will not go to someone else for his personal search and this Police team, itself may take personal search... (English translation by this Court itself). No cross-question upon this testimony is there in Examination-in-Cross, made by learned counsel for defence and this statement of Examination-in-Chief is unrebutted in cross-examination. The same is situation in regard to testimony of PW-4 Sub-Inspector Pratap Singh Rana. This is very well there in the testimony of Investigating Officer PW-5 Sub-Inspector Chauthiram, in his cross-examination. This was put in question Nos. 3, 4 and 5, recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., and except a wrong sequence of occurrence no statement about non-compliance of Section 50 or not giving that option or telling about this right, was said by accused. Hence, in over all appreciation, it is apparent that provision of Section 50 was fully complied with.

12. The next argument was regarding absence of any independent public witness. Apex Court in Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Punjab (2011) 3

Supreme Court Cases 521 in Para 11 and 12 has propounded that none of independent witnesses in circumstances when they are not available or not agree to be witnesses, is not fatal to the prosecution. In above case, the fact involved was that police personal had noticed odd behaviour of appellant Jarnail Singh, when he was walking towards them on a path which led to the village - it was display of hesitation by appellant, on seeing police party, that police officer became suspicious - on seeing police personal, appellant tried to run away from the scene - it was not a case where prosecution claimed that appellant was apprehended on the basis of any earlier information having been given by any secret informer - it was also not a case of trap and Court held that in such circumstances it would not be possible to held that appellant was falsely implicated.

13. In the present case, prosecution has offered a plausible explanation with regard to non joining of independent witnesses, It was clearly stated by PW-3 and 4 that the place, from where, appellant was apprehended was with public, going through above path, in fact, efforts were made to bring independent public witness, but this reluctance, on the part of the persons, was neither strange nor unbelievable. Generally, people belonging to the same locality could not unnecessarily want to create bad relation/enmity with any other co-resident. Especially, would feel insecurity from such person, having been accused of committing a crime.

14. Apex Court in Ajmer Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2010) 3 Supreme Court Cases 746 in Para Nos. 19 to 21 has held that when there is sufficient testimony of prosecution witnesses on record that efforts were made by the Investigating Party to include independent witnesses at the time of recovery but none was willing and it is true that charge under N.D.P.S. Act is serious and carries onrush circumstances. The minimum sentence prescribed under the Act is imprisonment of ten years and a fine. In this situation, it is normally expected that there should be independent evidence to support the case of prosecution. However, it is not an unavoidable rule. Therefore, in the peculiar circumstances of the case, it may not be fatal to prosecution. Court in Para No. 20 has said "We cannot forget that it may not be possible to find independent witness at all places, at all times. The obligation to take public witnesses is not absolute. If after making efforts which the court considered in the circumstances of the case reasonable, the police officer is not able to get public witnesses to associate with the raid or arrest of the culprit, the arrest and the recovery, made, would not be necessarily vitiated. The court will have to appreciate the relevant evidence and will have to determine whether the evidence of the police officer was believable, after taking due care and caution, in evaluating their evidence." In the present case, PW-3 and PW-4 both witnesses of fact have said in their testimony that in spite of best efforts for taking independent public witnesses, none agreed to accompanying them. Then after members of police team took the search of each other for ensuring that nothing incriminating was with any of them and after that too the contraband was recovered from a bag being carried by convict appellant. There was no recovery from personal search of convict-appellant and for this there is sufficient testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Hence, argument on this score is also of no avail.

15. Learned counsel for the appellant vehemently argued that there was no weighing machine nor it was weighed and only on the basis of perception, the weight was fixed, 750 gms. for two packets; of Smack and 50 gms. for remaining five small packets in all 800 gms. Certainly at the first score, this appears to be with force. But the police team did not write that a balance was managed and recovered contraband was weighed over it, rather what was there was written as such and this entire contraband was sealed with preparation of specimen seal on spot and this was fully intact till its analysis by chemical examination at Forensic Science Laboratory, where it was held to be of weight of 800 gms. in all and the same was found to be "Smack (Heroin)".

16. Ex. Ka-6, report of Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra, duly tendered and admissible in evidence is with this mention that a content, wrapped in a cloth, and sealed as per specimen seal of monogram of U.P.P., having a polythene with its content, i.e. five small packets in a newspaper piece marked with 1 to 5 in a polythene packet each one of about 10 gm., and two packets of suspected Smack in two polythene packet, kept in a newspaper piece marked as 6 and 7, were received on 2.12.2004 and the same was as per description, mentioned in transmitting letter, the same were of that weight and in chemical analysis those suspected Smack were established to be Heroin. Meaning thereby, the contents transmitted to Forensic Science Laboratory, in intact sealed position, with specimen seal, was found to be as per specimen seal, and with above description. In chemical analysis, these contraband were found to be "Heroin". This documentary evidence has been put in question to accused, under Section 313 Cr.P.C., as question No. 6, in which the question regarding proved documentary evidence Ex.Ka-8, report of Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra, was asked, but no answer regarding this report is there. Rather in answer to question No.6 the reply is "□□□□ □□□□ □□□ □□" Charge-sheet is wrong" i.e. charge-sheet Ex.Ka-9 has been disputed to be wrong but Ex.Ka-8, Forensic Science Laboratory Report, has neither been disputed nor any answer to question was given.

17. Regarding intermediary link of taking the entire contraband, recovered on spot, to Forensic Science Laboratory for its examination, prosecution has examined PW-2 Constable Brijesh Kumar, who, in his Examination-in-Chief, has said that while being posted as constable on 2.12.2004 at Police Station Jagdishpura, he vide G.D. Entry No. 30 at about 12:05 P.M. took a sealed bundle, with specimen seal, related with Case Crime No. 401 of 2004 (STATE VS. ASHOK) under Section 8/21, from Malkhana of Police Station Jagdish Pura and deposited it under intact sealed position, along with specimen seal and letter of transmission at Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra. In between, it was never permitted to be interfered by anyone. This taking of bundle was entered in G.D. Entry No. 30 of Police Station Jagdishpura, under handwriting of Head Constable Raj Bahadur Singh, who was posted with this witness and whose writing and signature is under full acquaintance of this witness. The true copy, duly certified, by this witness, under handwriting and signature, of above original G.D. Entry, which was brought in the Court at the time of recording of this testimony, has been filed and exhibited as Ex.Ka-4 and on the same day of 2.12.2004, vide G.D. Entry No. 50 at about 17:15 P.M., this witness got entry of return, after depositing contraband under sealed intact position at Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra, and this second copy of deposit i.e. letter of transmission was got deposited at Police Station Jagdishpura and original G.D. Entry of this deposit, in form of carbon copy, prepared in one and common process, under handwriting and signature of Constable-clerk Parshuram has been before the witness at the time of recording of his testimony. This witness was of full acquaintance of handwriting and signature of constable-clerk Parshuram, because of being posted jointly at above police station and this G.D. Entry has been exhibited as Ex. Ka-5. In cross-examination, a suggestive question has been put by learned counsel for the defence that this contraband was permitted to be tampered and was not deposited in laboratory under intact sealed position. This question has been answered in negative, with further assertion that the above bundle of above case crime number was taken from Malkhana Muharrir under sealed intact position and this along with form was deposited at Forensic Science Laboratory under receipt of same over duplicate copy and signature of receipt copy was got obtained for it. No question over this point has been asked by learned counsel for defence that this witness was not posted at above police station on above date, time and place or Ex.Ka-4 and Ex.Ka-5 were not the original G.D. Entry or this witness has not taken the sealed bundle packed along with specimen seal and requisite Form from Malkhana of police station on above date, time and place or had not deposited the same at Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra, or the weight of contraband was tampered. Rather the same testimony of Examination-in-Chief is uncontroverted in Examination-in-Cross and from it this has been fully proved that the recovered article, wrapped in a cloth, sealed on spot, with preparation of specimen seal, sent to Forensic Science Laboratory for its analysis, was deposited at police station concerned, fromwhere vide Ex.Ka-4, it was transmitted to Forensic Science Laboratory for its examination and vide Ex.Ka-5, the receipt of same was deposited back by this witness at above police station. Hence, this was intermediary link, fully proved by prosecution and in Ex.Ka-8, weight has been established. Specimen seal and its being fully intact over bundle of contraband with contraband being Heroin, has been proved by Laboratory. Hence, weight of 800 gms. in toto of Heroin, as was perceived by PW-3, on spot, and was written in recovery memo Ex.Ka-6, was substantiated by Ex.Ka-8, Forensic Science Laboratory Report. Hence, this non weighing on spot was of no adverse effect over case of prosecution, rather, it was fully proved by PW-3 and 4 that in spite of best efforts, balance for weighing contraband on spot, could not be available. Hence, whatever was actual situation, on spot, has been naturally proved by this testimony.

18. PW-1 Constable Pratap Singh is witness for registration of above case crime number on above date, time and place. This witness has said, on oath, in his Examination-in-Chief, that, while being posted as Constable-clerk at P.S.

Jagdishpura, on 7.11.2004, S.O. Manoj Kumar Mishra, along with other police personnel, did their entry at G.D. Entry No. 30 at 12:10 P.M. for their movement regarding routine duty and surveillance in the area and the original G.D. prepared for one and common process by pasting carbon, with signature of S.O. Manoj Kumar Mishra was present before this witness at the time of recording of his testimony. He being posted with S.O. Manoj Kumar Mishra, at above police station, was fully aware of his handwriting and siganture and the G.D. Entry, duly certified to be true copy under handwriting and signature of this witness, has been proved and exhibited as Ex.Ka-1. The return of this police team on the same day at 17:00 P.M., along with one sealed bundle of recovered 'Smack' with specimen seal was entered in General Diary Entry of police station concerned. On the basis of recovery memo presented by this police team chick F.I.R. and thereby registration of this case crime number vide entry No. 38 at 17:00 P.M., was prepared by this witness under his handwriting and signature. This Chick F.I.R. has been fully proved and exhibited as Ex.Ka-2 and this General Diary Entry, vide which, this case crime number was lodged under handwriting and signature of this witness, has been duly proved and exhibited as Ex.Ka-3. Accused Ashok Kumarwas put in lock up and contraband bundle under sealed and intact position, along with specimen seal, prepared on spot, was deposited in Malkhana and this remained intact with no chance on interference till its taking to Laboratory. Information of this registration of case crime number was transmitted to senior officers by R.T. Set. In cross-examination, no question regarding Ex.Ka-1, Ex.Ka-2 and Ex.Ka-3 has been put by learned counsel for defence. Except suggestive question that this registration was under influence of Station Officer and this was a false concoction. This has been answered in negative. This witness, in cross-examination, has specifically said that this case crime number was got registered by Station Officer Manoj Kumar Mishra, who was present at police station and this contraband article was deposited in Malkhana by this witness himself because he was incharge of Malkhana on that day. No question regarding any likelihood of tampering with Malkhana or deposit of contraband as well as specimen seal, not at Malkhana, was put by learned counsel for defence. The entire testimony of Examination-in-Chief of this witness is almost uncontroverted. This witness is formal, fully reliable witness.

19. PW-3 S.O. Manoj Kumar Mishra , in his Examination-in-Chief has supported the contention of prosecution written as above and has proved material Ex. 1 to 11 as well as recovery memo Ex. Ka-6. In cross-examination, this witness has specifically said that contraband bundle was placed before Court at the time of remand where case crime number and section and Signature along with date and seal of Special Judge is there over the cloth of bundle i.e. the same bundle which was placed instantly at the time of remand before Special Judge, with mention of this case crime number and section, has been produced before this witness at the time of trial and this recovered article was Smack. He was given a suggestive question that this accused was taken from his house on 5.11.2004 and a false accusation was got lodged, which has been answered in negative. There is no embellishment, material contradiction or exaggeration in testimony of this witness, rather, he is fully reliable natural witness.

20. PW-4 Pratap Singh Rana is another witness of fact in full corroboration with testimony of PWs and having no contradiction in his cross-examination, fully reliable witness.

21. PW-5 Chauthi Ram Yadav was first Investigating Officer. While being posted as Sub Inspector at Police Station Jagdishpura, Agra, on 7.11.2004, this investigation of case crime No. 401 of 2004, under Section 8/22 of N.D.P.S. Act (State Vs. Ashok) Police Station Jugdishpura, was entrusted to this Investigating Officer on 8.11.2004. He presented at the place of occurrence and upon pointing of Sub-Inspector Chand Bhushan Singh, spot map, Ex.Ka-7, was got prepared, under handwriting and signature of this witness, which is on record. He formally proved investigation, made by him, and he has proved in his cross-examination that compliance of Section 50 was made by informant and his co-police personnel Pratap Singh. The contradiction was produced before Court at the time of first hearing. This witness is with no material contraction or exaggeration.

22. PW-6 Sub-Inspector Chand Bhushan Singh is the Investigating Officer, who has submitted charge-sheet Ex.Ka-9, in his handwriting and signature. He has proved Ex.Ka-8, report of Forensic Science Laboratory, wherein report of Heroin was there. In cross-examination, this witness has reiterated the statement, made in Examination-in-Chief, there is no contradiction or exaggeration.

23. While being asked under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., accused has taken plea of false implication for which he has examined Deshraj as DW-1. But Deshraj, who stood in Examination-in-Chief for proving a telegram alleged to be made by Smt. Shashi, wife of accused, on 6.11.2004 at about 12:10 P.M., as telegram No. A-21. But in Examination-in-Cross, he said that he was with no governmental document, as none was available and there is no original copy of alleged telegram nor of its receipts, rather, it is a photostat copy which can be prepared by manipulation. This alleged telegram was with no signature or receiving of office. His testimony is on the basis of memory and not on Government documents i.e., neither original telegram nor original receipt nor any document of its sending or receipt of telegram proved by him, rather his testimony was based on his memory, i.e., not supported with any documentary evidence.

24. DW-2 Pramod Singh is witness of fact, that Ashok Kumarwas taken by police on 5.11.2004, from his home, but in cross-examination he has said that he has not said at any previous time about his contention being given in his testimony and this is with a view to get accused acquitted. No complaint or report to any police authority or any statement under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. was ever made by this witness and he being an acquaintance with accused had come to Court for giving his evidence that too a sketchy evidence is there.

25. DW-3 is Ram Singh. But his testimony is on the basis of statement given by his wife Sandhya Devi, who was present therat, i.e., this witness is with no first hand information, rather it was his wife Sandhya Devi who has narrated tothis witness. Hence, this witness is hearsay witness.

26. DW-4 is Shushila @ Shsashi Devi, wife of convict-appellant Ashok. She, in her Examination-in-Chief, has said that her husband was taken by police on 5.11.2004 from her home. A telegram to National Human Right Commission was sent by her. Subsequently, it came to notice that accused has been challaned by S.O. Jagdishpura. In cross-examination this witness has said that she is illiterate lady, not aware of date and time of arrest or sending of telegram. She is not aware of her date of birth. Her husband was taken on 5th but not under her knowledge of month or year. Her testimony is not with force for creating doubt in a proved case of prosecution.

27. Upon above facts and circumstances and testimony, learned Trial Court passed impugned judgment of conviction and order of sentence. There occurred no failure in appreciation of law, evidence and facts placed before the Court. Thereby this appeal merits its dismissal.

28. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal is dismissed.

29. Convict-appellant Ashok Kumar who is on bail is being directed to surrender before learned Trial Court within 15 days of judgment, from where he shall be taken in custody by learned Trial Court and be sent for suffering remaining sentence.

30. Record of trial Court along with certified copy of the judgment be transmitted to learned Trial Court at an earliest, for follow up.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJENDRA KUMAR-IV, J.

JAIL APPEAL No. 5632 OF 2007

Raja Hussain ...Appellant
Versus
State ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Ms. Nishi Mehrotra (A.C.)

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Rishi Chadha (A.G.A.)

A. Section 134 Evidence Act. - Non examination of all witnesses - Legal position - it is well settled principle of law that it is not necessary for the prosecution to produce all the witnesses in support its case. Quality of witnesses is material not the quantity of witnesses. Time honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. (Para 36 & 37)

B. It is settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. (Para 45)

C. Direct evidence, worthy of credence. Then motive does not carry much weight. Thus, merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.(Para 46)

D. Delay in lodging FIR – duly explained. No adverse inference can be drawn against prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged with delay. There is no hard and fast rule that any length of delay in lodging FIR 16 would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. (Para 49)

Conviction upheld. Jail Appeal dismissed.

He called Abdul Haq and when Abdul Haq opened the door, Raza Hussain stabbed knife in his stomach. When his wife Husna Bano went to rescue him, accused stabbed her also in her stomach. On hearing noise, Zahrul Haq and his wife rushed to save them but Raza Hussain assaulted Zahrul Haq also with knife on his back. Thereafter, Raza Hussain could succeed in fleeing away after throwing the knife. On alarm being raised, Mohd. Hussain, Khurshid and many other persons of the village reached the place of occurrence and took injured persons to FazilnagarHospital, where they were medically examined. Since family members and other persons were busy in taking care of deceased in Hospital, PW-1, Informant went to Police Station Patherwa, District Deoria and handed over written report Ex.Ka-1 containing aforesaid details at the Police Station. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1 filed by PW-1 Abdul Hannan, chick FIR Ex.Ka-10 was prepared and case under Section 302 and 324 I.P.C. was registered against accused-appellant Raza Hussain, on 12.12.1990 at 9:15 A.M.

He found following ante-mortem injuries on her person :-

1. A stitched wound of 1½ cm long with three stitches in the middle of the epigastric region. On opening the stitches the wound was found cavity deep, stomach punctured in area of 1 cm x 1 cm region. Stomach containing undigested food which was coming out of wound of stomach. About 1½ liter of blood present in Abdomenal cavity.

11. According to doctor Husna Bano died due to hamarrage and shock as a result of ante-mortem injuries. He prepared autopsy report Ex.Ka-11-A.

12. Autopsy on the dead body of Abdul Haq was conducted by Dr. P.N. Pandey, PW-6 on 12.02.1990 at 5:00 P.M. According to him, deceased was aged about 35 years and of average built body; rigor mortis was present all over the body except upper limb; no decomposition; eyes closed; mouth and face pale; nails and lips livid. He found following ante-mortem injuries on his person :-

Stitched wound with 3 stitches on the right side epigastrium 8 cm below the lung right costal margin in mid Clavicle bone. On opening, the wound was cavity deep with clotted blood 3 Lbs in peritoneal cavity. Omentum was cut with the mesentery of the traversa column, mesenteric and arotal vessals cut, small cut mark ½ cm x ½ cm x lumen deep on the lower part of transverse column. A cut mark ½ cm x ½ cm x 1 cm deep on the right Lobe of liver, anterior aspect, clotted blood present.

13. In the opinion of doctor, death had occurred due to hamarrage and shock as a result of ante-mortem injuries. He prepared postmortem report Ex.Ka.-7.

14. After conclusion of the investigation, PW-7, Prem Singh, I.O., submitted charge-sheet Ex.Ka-09 in Court against accused-appellant under Section 302 and 324 I.P.C.

15. CJM, Deoria took cognizance of the offence against accused-appellant. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, committed to Sessions Court on 06.05.2002. It was registered as Sessions Trial No.56 of 2002. Learned Sessions Judge framed charges against accused-appellant on 25.02.2003 as under:-

"I, D.P. Varshney, Sessions Judge, Kushinagar at Padrauna do hereby charge you Raza Hussain as follows: -

Firstly - That on 10th February, 1990 at 22:00 hours at Village Dhanauji Khurd lying within the local limits of Police Station Pataherawa, District Kushinagar you committed murder of Abdul Haq and his wife Hushbano and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC and within my cognizance.

Secondly - That on the aforesaid date, time and place, you also caused knife injuries on the person of Jahirulhaq and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 324 IPC and within the cognizance.

And I hereby direct that you be tried on the said charge."

16. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

17. In order to prove guilt of accused, prosecution examined as many as eleven witnesses, out of whom, PW-1 Abdul Hannan (Gram Pradhan), PW-2 Khursheed Alam, PW-3 Zahrul Haque, PW-4 Nazma Khatoon (wife of Zahrul Haque PW-3) are witnesses of fact. PW-5 to 11 are formal witnesses.

18. PW-5 Dr. S.K. Sharma had initially examined injuries of deceased Abdul Haque, injured Zahrul Haque and deceased Husna Bano and proved injury reports Ex.Ka-4, 5 and 6 respectively; PW-6 Dr. P.N. Pandey, had conducted postmortem on the dead body of Abdul Haque and proved injury report Ex.Ka-7; PW-8 Dr. O.N. Gupta had conducted postmortem on the dead body of deceased Husna Bano and proved postmortem report Ex.Ka-11-A; PW-9 Tribhuwan is a Ward-Boy, who had gone to Kotwali Gorakhpur along with information papers no. 14-Ka/9 and 14-Ka/2 with respect to death of Abdul Haque and Husna Bano; and PW-7 Prem Singh Bist is the I.O. and has proved site plan Ex.Ka.-8, recovery memo in respect of earthen lamp Ex.Ka-2, as also Ex.Ka-3 recovery memo in respect of blood stained knife. He has also proved charge sheet Ex.Ka-9 and stated that he recognizes writing and signatures of Constable Moharrir Dev Nath Singh, who had prepared Chick FIR Ex.Ka-10 and had made entry in the G.D., a copy whereof is Ex.Ka-11. PW-10 S.I. Mahendra Pratap Singh has proved inquest Ex.Ka-12 in respect of deceased Abdul Haque, Photo Nash Ex.Ka-13, Chalan Nash Ex.Ka-14, Paper police form no. 13 Ex.Ka-15 and request to C.M.O. for post mortem Ex.Ka-16. PW-11 C.P. Manmohan Misra has proved handwriting and signatures of S.I. Shyam Nandan Singh, who at the relevant time had visited the hospital and prepared inquest Ex.Ka-17 in respect of deceased Husna Bano. He has stated that relevant documents Photo Nash Ex.Ka-18, letter to C.M.O. to District Hospital Ex.Ka-19, Chalan Nash Ex.Ka-20 and letter to S.P. Ex.Ka-21 had been written and signed by S.I. Shyam Nandan Singh.

19. After closure of prosecution evidence, accused-appellant was examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. He has stated prosecution story to be false and concocted and that witnesses were deposing falsely. Documents prepared by Police and Health Department are stated to be false. According to him in order to usurp the land of accused-appellant, Pradhan in connivance with Pattidars of accused has got him implicated in the false case. He has stated that he was not present at his house.

20. On appreciation of evidence available on record and after hearing both the parties, learned Additional Sessions Judge recorded the verdict of conviction and sentence against the accused-appellant as stated above.

21. Feeling aggrieved, accused-appellant has approached this Court through Senior Superintendent, Central Jail, Varanasi assailing the impugned judgement.

22. We have heard Ms. Nishi Mehrotra, Amicus Curiae for appellant and Sri Rishi Chaddha, learned AGA for State at length and have gone through the record carefully with the valuable assistance of learned Counsel for parties.

23. Leaned Amicus Curiae appearing for accused-appellant assailed the impugned judegment and order and advanced arguments as under:-

(i) There is no eye witness of the case. None has seen the real incident. PWs 1 and 2 themselves admitted that they have not seen any person assaulting and they reached on the spot after the real incident.

(ii) No independent witness has been produced by prosecution. PW-4 Nazma Khatoon is wife of PW-3 Zahrul Haq (injured) and she cannot be termed as independent witness.

(iii) No other witness is produced by prosecution whereas FIR itself recites that Mohd. Hussain, Khursheed and other villagers have reached there. Mohd. Hussain is said to be eye witness but she could not be produced by prosecution, therefore, presumption under Section 114(g) of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872") goes against prosecution.

(iv) There is no motive of incident to accused to commit the present crime.

(v) FIR has been lodged, two days after the incident without any proper explanation.

(vi) There are major contradiction in the statement of witnesses which may render the prosecution case doubtful.

(vii) Medical evidence does not support the prosecution version.

(viii) Prosecution failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused and accused is entitled to benefit of doubt and deserves acquittal.

24. Learned AGA for the State opposed submissions of learned Amicus Curiea for accused-appellant and contended that accused is named in the FIR; he is brother of Abdul Haq; PW-3 is injured witness and PW-4 is eye witness; she, being wife of PW-3, is natural witness; PW-3 is injured and his presence cannot be doubted; Medical evidence is totally compatible with ocular version; prosecution proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and Trial Court has rightly convicted him. He sought dismissal of appeal.

25. Although time, date and place of occurrence, death of Abdul Haq and Hushna Bano and injury of PW-3 could not be disputed from the side of defence but according to Advocate, he is not responsible for causing death of Abdul Haq and Hushna Bano. We find that injuries found on the person of PW-3 are established by prosecution. Even otherwise from the evidence of PWs 1 to 4 time, date and place of incident stands established.

26. Only question remains for consideration is "whether accused-appellant committed murder of Abdul Haq and Smt. Hushna Bano, and caused injury to PW-3 Zahrul Haq by inflicting knife; and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant?"

27. Now, we would like to briefly consider the statement of witnesses examined by prosecution and some important decisions on the point.

28. Point nos.1, 2 and 3 of arguments made by learned Amicus Curiae for appellant are being dealt altogether.

29. PW-1 Abdul Hannan has deposed that on the fateful day at about 10:00 PM in the night, he was sleeping in his house. Hearing shrikes of Abdul Haq, Zahrul Haq and Husna Bano, he came out of his house and reached there and saw that all the three persons with knife injuries. They were shouting that accused Raza Hussain has assaulted them with knife. When Zahrul Haq, PW-3 came to save them, accused assaulted him with knife on the back. Accused-appellant ran away from the spot throwing knife. All the injured were taken to PHC Fazilnagar, from where they were referred to DistrictHospital, Deoria but in Deoria hospital injured were not admitted and referred to GorakhpurMedicalCollege. Victim Husna Bano and Abdul Haq succumbed to injuries. He has further deposed that there was a dispute of partition between accused and deceased due to which accused committed murder of his brother and his wife. PW-1 being Pradhan of village presented written Tehrir (Ex.Ka-1) in the police station concerned. Witness has proved recovery of knife. Witness stated in the cross-examination that he has not seen anybody killing deceased. In this way PW-1 is not an eye witness of incident. He has proved other circumstances which happened after incident. Witness stated in cross-examination that he has not seen any one assaulting. He reached ten minutes after the incident.

30. PW-2, Khurshid Alam deposed that at about 10:00 PM in the fateful night, he was sleeping in his house. On hearing noise of villagers, he arrived at spot and saw that beneath of Neem tree, victim Abdul Haq, his wife Husna Bano and one Zahrul Haq were injured. Abdul Haq was shouting that Raza Hussain stabbed knife to him and his wife Hushna Bano. Abdul Haq and Hushna Bano received knife injuries on stomach and Zahrul Haq received knife injury on his back. Incident was witnessed by PW-2 himself and Mohd. Husain and other villagers. It is further deposed by him that Hushna Bano and Abdul Haq succumbed to injuries in GorakhpurHospital. In cross-examination, he stated that he has not seen any person inflicting knife. He has arrived at spot after 6 - 7 minutes of incident.

31. PWs 1 and 2 admitted in their cross-examination that they were not present on spot at the time of incident but both told that when they reached on spot injured Abdul Haq was shouting that accused Raza Hussain assaulted him and his wife Hushna Bano with knife. In this way both the witnesses have not seen actual incident.

32. PW-3, Zahrul Haq deposed that on the fateful night at about 10:00 PM, on hearing shrieks of Abdul Haq, he reached the spot and saw that Raza Hussain was inflicting knife blow to Abdul Haq. When his wife Hushna Bano rushed to save her husband, accused-appellant inflicted knife blow to Hushna Bano also. When he (witness) rushed to save them, accused inflicted knife blow to him on his back. Thereafter accused ran away from the spot throwing knife at some distance. Incident was seen by his wife Nazma Khatoon and Mohd. Khurshid Hussain in the light of lantern. All the injured persons were taken to PHC Fazilnagar where from they were referred to DistrictHospital, Deoria. On that date, there was a strike of doctors in Deoria hospital, then injured were taken to GorakhpurMedicalCollege wherefrom due to strike of doctors, they went to DistrictHospital, Gorakhpur. On the next day of incident Hushna Bano and Abdul Haq succumbed to injuries. Due to enmity regarding land, accused Raza Hussain murdered his brother and his Bhabi (wife of brother).

33. PW-4 Nazma Khatoon deposed that in the fateful night at 10:00 PM, she slept after taking meal. When she heard noise, she woke up and rushed there and saw that accused-appellant Raza Hussain got opened the door of his brother Abdul Haq. When Abdul Haq opened door, accused-appellant Raza Hussain stabbed the knife in the stomach of Abdul Haq. Hushna Bano came to save her husband, accused-appellant also stabbed knife in her stomach. On the noise, she and her husband rushed to save them, then accused-appellant Raza Hussain inflicted knife injuring on the back of her husband and ran away from there throwing knife at some distance. On the noise, Mohd Hussain, Khurshid and some other persons came there and took all three injured persons to Government Hospital Fazilnagar wherefrom they referred to District Hospital Deoria, thereafter to medical college, Gorakhpur but due to non-availability of doctors, three injured persons were admitted to District Hospital, Gorakhpur where Abdul Haq and Hushna Bano succumbed to injuries on next date.

34. PWs 3 and 4 withstood lengthy cross-examination but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve their statements on oath. PW-3 Zahrul Haq is injured witness and PW-4 is an eye witness and wife of PW-3. Both the witnesses have supported prosecution case. PW-4 deposed that on the shrieks of Abdul Haq, she himself and her husband (PW-3) reached the spot. PW-3 was injured in the same incident and PW-4 being wife of PW-3 are natural witnesses and their presence on spot can not be doubted.

35. From the statements of PWs 3 and 4, injured and eye witness respectively and that of PWs 1 and 2 who proved that when they reached on spot Abdul Haq was shouting that Raza Hussain assaulted them with knife, it is established that accused Raza Hussain assaulted Abdul Haq, Smt. Hushan Bano and PW-3 Zahrul Haq by causing injuries with knife. Later on Abdul Haq and Smt. Hushna Bano succumbed to injuries.

36. So far as legal position for non-examination of entire witnesses are concerned, it is well settled principal of law that it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove all the witnesses in support its case, quality of witnesses is material not the quantity of witnesses. In view of Section 134 of Act,1872, we do not find any substance in the submission of learned counsel for the appellant. Section 134 of Act, 1872, reads as under:-

"134. Number of witnesses.-No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact."

37. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872, but if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

38. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is material. Quantity of evidence was never considered to be a test for deciding a criminal trial and emphasis of Court is always on quality of evidence. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused in spite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

39. In Kunju @ Balachandran vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381 a similar view has been taken placing reliance on earlier judgments including Jagdish Prasad vs. State of M.P., AIR 1994 SC 1251; and Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614.

40. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel Vs. State of Gunjrat reported in (2004) 12 SCC 229, Court held that :-

"The legal position in respect of the testimony of a solitay eyewitness is well settled in a catena of judgments inasmuch as this Court has always reminded that in order to pass conviction upon it, such a testimony must be of a nature which inspires the confidence of the Court. While looking into such evidence this Court has always advocated the Rule of Caution and such corroboration from other evidence and even in the absence of corroboration if testimony of such single eye-witness inspires confidence then conviction can be based solely upon it."

41. In State of Haryana v. Inder Singh and Ors. reported in (2002) 9 SCC 537, Court held that it is not the quantity but the quality of the witnesses which matters for determining the guilt or innocence of the accused in the criminal case. The testimony of a sole witness must be confidence-inspiring, leaving no doubt in the mind of the Court.

42. So far as question of interested witness is concerned, it is now well settled law laid down in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR,1953, SC 364, where Court has held as under :-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause' for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

43. In Dharnidhar v. State of UP (2010) 7 SCC 759, Court has observed as follows :-

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"

44. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

(Vide: Bhagalool Lodh &Anr. v. State of UP, AIR 2011 SC 2292; and Dhari &Ors. v. State of U. P., AIR 2013 SC 308).**"

45. It is settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

46. So far as motive is concerned, it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. We do not find any substance in the argument advanced by learned counsel for appellants.

47. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court has held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."

48. So far as the question of delay in lodging FIR is concerned, FIR itself recites that all the three injured persons were taken to FazilnagarHospital for treatment, where they were medically examined in the night. On seeing serious condition of victims they were taken to District Hospital, Deoria where from Doctor referred the victims to Medical College, Gorakhpur but due to strike of Doctors they could not be admitted in Medical College and they were got admitted in District Hospital Gorakhpur. On 13.02.1990, victim Hushna Bano succumbed to injuries at 09:00 AM and Abdul Haq breath the last at 09:30 AM in the Hospital. In this way delay in FIR is properly explained.

49. It is well settled, if delay in lodging FIR has been explained from the evidence on record, no adverse inference can be drawn against prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged with delay. There is no hard and fast rule that any length of delay in lodging FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. In "Ravinder Kumar &Anr. Vs. State of Punjab", (2001) 7SCC 690, Court has held;

"The attack on prosecution cases on the ground of delay in lodging FIR has almost bogged down as a stereotyped redundancy in criminal cases. It is a recurring feature in most of the criminal cases that there would be some delay in furnishing the first information to the police. It has to be remembered that law has not fixed any time for lodging the FIR. Hence a delayed FIR is not illegal. Of course a prompt and immediate lodging of the FIR is the ideal as that would give the prosecution a twin advantage. First is that it affords commencement of the investigation without any time lapse. Second is that it expels the opportunity for any possible concoction of a false version. Barring these two plus points for a promptly lodged FIR the demerits of the delayed FIR cannot operate as fatal to any prosecution case. It cannot be overlooked that even a promptly FIR is not an unreserved guarantee for the genuineness of the version incorporated therein. When there is criticism on the ground that FIR in a case was delayed the court has to look at the reason why there was such a delay. There can be a variety of genuine causes for FIR lodgment to get delayed. Rural people might be ignorant of the need for informing the police of a crime without any lapse of time. This kind of unconversantness is not too uncommon among urban people also. They might not immediately think of going to the police station. Another possibility is due to lack of adequate transport facilities for the informers to reach the police station. The third, which is a quite common bearing, is that the kith and kin of the deceased might take some appreciable time to regain a certain level of tranquility of mind or sedativeness of temper for moving to the police station for the purpose of furnishing the requisite information. Yet another cause is the persons who are supposed to give such information themselves could be so physically impaired that the police had to reach them on getting some nebulous information about the incident."

50. In Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh &Ors. (2003) 2 SCC 518, Court held :

"In our opinion, the period which elapsed in lodging the FIR of the incident has been fully explained from the evidence on record and no adverse inference can be drawn against the prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged at 9.20 p.m. on the next day. There is no hard and fast rule that any delay in lodging the FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. It necessarily depends upon facts and circumstances of each case whether there has been any such delay in lodging the FIR which may cast doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case and for this a host of circumstances like the condition of the first informant, the nature of injuries sustained, the number of victims, the efforts made to provide medical aid to them, the distance of the hospital and the police station etc. have to be taken into consideration. There is no mathematical formula by which an inference may be drawn either way merely on account of delay in lodging of the FIR."

51. In this connection it will also be useful to take note of the following observation made in Tara Singh V. State of Punjab AIR (1991) SC 63.

"The delay in giving the FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case. Knowing the Indian conditions as they are, one cannot expect these villagers to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. Human nature as it is, the kith and kin who have witnessed the occurrence cannot be expected to act mechanically with all the promptitude in giving the report to the police. At times being grief stricken because of the calamity it may not immediately occur to them that they should give a report. After all it is but natural in these circumstances for them to take some time to go to the police station for giving the report. Of course, in cases arising out of acute factions there is a tendency to implicate persons belonging to the opposite faction falsely. In order to avert the danger of convicting such innocent persons the courts should be cautious to scrutinize the evidence of such interested witnesses with greater care and caution and separate grain from the chaff after subjecting the evidence to a closer scrutiny and in doing so the contents of the FIR also will have to be scrutinised carefully. However, unless there are indications of fabrication, the court cannot reject the prosecution version as given in the FIR and later substantiated by the evidence merely on the ground of delay. These are all matters for appreciation and much depends on the facts and circumstance of each case."

52. In Sahebrao &Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra (2006) 9 SCC 794, Court has held:

"The settled principle of law of this Court is that delay in filing FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case and discard it. The delay in lodging the FIR would put the Court on its guard to search if any plausible explanation has been offered and if offered whether it is satisfactory."

53. From the above discussed exposition of law, it is manifest that prosecution version cannot be rejected solely on the ground of delay in lodging FIR. Court has to examine the explanation furnished by prosecution for explaining delay. There may be various circumstances particularly number of victims, atmosphere prevailing at the scene of incidence, the complainant may be scared and fearing the action against him in pursuance of the incident that has taken place. If prosecution explains the delay, Court should not reject prosecution story solely on this ground. Therefore, the entire incident, as narrated by witnesses, has to be construed and examined to decide whether there was an unreasonable and unexplained delay which goes to the root of the case of prosecution. Even if there is some unexplained delay, court has to take into consideration whether it can be termed as abnormal. Recently in Palani V State of Tamilnadu, Criminal Appeal No. 1100 of 2009, decided on 27.11.2018, it has been observed by Supreme Court that in some cases delay in registration of FIR is inevitable. Even a long delay can be condoned if witness has no motive for falsely implicating the accused.

54. In this case, as we have already said, delay has been properly explained. The contention, therefore, that there is undue delay in lodging F.I.R. is not acceptable, hence rejected.

55. In so far as discrepancies, variations and contradictions in prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with submissions raised by learned counsel's and find that the same do not go to the root of case and accused-appellant are not entitled to get benefit of the same.

56. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

57. In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Supreme Court has observed that Court will have to evaluate evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature which do not go to the root of the matter do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

58. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

59. When such incident takes place, one cannot expect a scripted version from witnesses to show as to what actually happened and in what manner it had happened. Such minor details normally are neither noticed nor remembered by people since they are in fury of incident and apprehensive of what may happen in future. A witness is not expected to recreate a scene as if it was shot after with a scripted version but what material thing has happened that is only noticed or remembered by people and that is stated in evidence. Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self contradictory as to make it untrustworthy is Minor variation or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution.

60. In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observations, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. [Vide: State Represented by Inspector of Police v. Saravanan &Anr., AIR 2009 SC 152; Arumugam v. State, AIR 2009 SC 331; Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334; and Dr. Sunil Kumar Sambhudayal Gupta &Ors. v.

State of Maharashtra, JT 2010 (12) SC 287].

61. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for appellant advanced her arguments and submitted that medical evidence does not support prosecution case, therefore, accused-appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt and they are liable to be acquitted.

62. Here we would like to consider the submissions of PW-5 Doctor S.K. Sharma posted in PHC Fazilnagar, District Deoria conducted medical examination of Abdul Haq at 11:30 PM on 10.2.1990 in the night and found punctured wound 3 cm x 1.5 cm in stomach. On the same day at about 11.45 PM, he examined Zahrul Haq and found punctured wound 3.5 cm x 1.5 cm over the left scapula. He examined Smt. Hushna Bano at about 11.50 PM and found punctured wound 3.5 cm x 1.5 cm on the left side of stomach. He opined that injuries found on their person of victimss were fresh and possible to be occurred from sharp cutting weapon like knife. Doctor further opined that injuries on the person of Abdul Haq and Hushna Bano were sufficient to cause death in ordinary course of nature. He proved medico legal report as Ex.Ka-4, 5 and 6.

63. PW-6, Dr. P.N. Pandey, conducted autopsy over the dead body of Abdul Haq and proved post mortem. He opined that death was due to shock and hemorrhage on account of ante mortem injuries which was possible on 10.2.1990 at about 10 PM due to sharp cutting weapon like knife.

64. Both the doctors proved injuries on the part of victims and injuries were found to be caused by knife. PW-3 also sustained knife injuries over the left scapula which was supported by PW-5 Dr. S.K. Sharma. As per prosecution accused inflicted knife injury to Abdul Haq, Smt. Hushna Bano and PW-3 Zahrul Haq. There is no difference between medical evidence and ocular evidence. Medical evidence is totally compatible with the ocular version, therefor, we are not inclined to accept the argument of Amicus Curiae on this behalf and rejected the same.

65. In the entirety of the facts and circumstances and legal preposition discussed herein before, we are satisfied that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed an offence under Section 302 read with 324 IPC. Appeal is devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

66. So far as sentence of accused-appellants is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

67. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

68. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence, weapon used in commission of murder and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellants by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no ground appears to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

69. We, therefore, find no merit in appeal. Present jail appeal lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed and judgement and order dated 04.03.2006 passed by Additional Sessions Judge (FTC-I), Kushinagar at Padrauna in Sessions Trial No.56 of 2002, under Sections 302 and 324 IPC, is maintained and confirmed.

70. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court and Jail concerned for compliance and apprising the accused-appellant.

71. Before parting, we provide that Ms. Nishi Mehrotra, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/- for his valuable assistance. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJENDRA KUMAR-IV, J.

JAIL APPEAL No. 1144 OF 2017

Lal Mohan ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Jay Ram Pandey, Sri Rajesh Kumar.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Rishi Chadha (A.G.A.), Sri Vikas Sahai (A.G.A.).

A. Evidence - of relative. Mere relationship is not sufficient to discard otherwise trustworthy ocular testimony. (Para 30)

It is settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimony cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person.(Para 31)

B. Motive. Where direct evidence is worthy of credence, motive does not carry much weight - Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. (Para 34)

C. Delay in FIR - There is no hard and fast rule that any length of delay in lodging FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. (Para 40)
If prosecution explains the delay, Court should not reject prosecution story solely on this ground. Therefore, the entire incident, as narrated by witnesses, has to be construed and examined to decide whether there was an unreasonable and unexplained delay which goes to the root of the case of prosecution. Even if there is some unexplained delay, court has to take into consideration whether it can be termed as abnormal.(Para 45)

D. Punishment for a crime must not be irrelevant but must conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should respond to the society's cry for justice against criminals. (Para 48)

Jail Appeal partly allowed. Conviction under Section 304 I.P.C. modified.

By impugned judgement, appellant has been convicted under Section 304 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.

10,000/- and in default of payment of fine, three months imprisonment but acquitted under Section 326 I.P.C.

2. Factual matrix of case as emerging from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") as well as material placed on record is as follows.

3. P.W.-1 Sri Ram submitted a written report Ex.Ka-1 in Police Station Garwar, District Ballia stating that on 10.8.2003 at about 8:30 PM, his daughter-in-law Smt. Vimla Devi with her daughter Gudia aged about one and half year was returning home from his Dera (a structure being built in the agricultural field to stay for short duration). As usual when she reached the place between Dera and home, accused Lal Mohar came with petrol and sprinkled petrol on both of them and set them on fire. Due to burn, his daughter-in-law started crying, then to rescue them, he (PW-1) and many persons of the village rushed there and took them to DistrictHospital, Ballia for medical treatment. Gudia succumbed to injuries whose post mortem was conducted on 11.8.2003 in Ballia. Later on Vimla Devi succumbed to death due to burn injuries.

4. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1, Chick F.I.R. Ex.Ka-3 was registered by PW-4, Satya Narain Mandal, as Case Crime No.125 of 2003 against accused-appellant under Section 304, 326 I.P.C. An entry of case was made in General Diary (herein after referred to as 'GD') on the same day, copy whereof is Ex.Ka-6.

5. Km. Gudia and Smt. Vimla Devi were medically examined by Dr. Jitendra Kumar Singh on 10.8.2003 in DistrictHospital, Ballia.

6. Immediately, after registration of case, investigation was undertaken by S.I. Jagdish Yadav. He proceeded to spot and held inquest over the dead body of Vimla Devi and sent it for post mortem, visited spot, prepared site plan Ex. Ka-7.

7. PW-8, Dr. P.K. Rai, conducted autopsy over the dead body of Km. Priya (Gudiya) aged about one and half year and found ante-mortem superficial to deep burn injuries. In the opinion of doctor, death might have been caused at about 7:10 AM on 11.8.2003 and death was possible due to shock on account of ante-mortem burn injuries.

8. PW-6 Dr. R.N. Upadhyay, conducted autopsy over the dead body of deceased Vimla Devi and found ante-mortem burn injuries over the dead body except upper portion of abdomen, right shoulder, head and upper portion of thigh. Doctor opined that death would have been caused due to infection and ante-mortem burn injuries.

9. PW-7 S.I. Atma Ram, after completing investigation submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka-13 against the appellant under Section 304 and 326 I.P.C.

(English Translation By Court)

12. Accused-appellant denied charges, pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

13. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as nine witnesses, out of whom PW-1 Sri Ram, PW-2-Manish and PW-9 Muneeb Rajbhar are witnesses of fact; PW-3 Radhey Shyam (Panch witness of inquest), PW-4 Head Constable, Satya Narain Mandal, PW-5 Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh proved signature of Dr. Jitendra Kumar Singh, PW-6 Dr. R.N. Upadhyay, conducted autopsy of Vimla Devi, PW-7 S.I. Atma Ram Yadav and PW-8 Dr. P.K. Rai conducted post mortem on the dead body of Km. Gudia, are formal witnesses.

14. On closure of prosecution evidence, statement of accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded by Court explaining entire evidence and other incriminating circumstances. In statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused-appellant denied prosecution story in toto and desired to produce defence evidence. In response of question no. 6, accused-appellant said that he was innocent and has not committed any crime but did not adduce any evidence.

15. Trial Court after appreciating entire evidence led by prosecution on record and hearing counsel for parties, found appellant guilty and convicted him as stated above. Feeling aggrieved with impugned judgement of conviction, present appeal has been filed through Jail.

16. We have heard Sri Rajesh Kumar, learned counsel for appellant and Sri Rishi Chaddha, learned A.G.A for State-respondent at length and have gone through the record available on file carefully.

17. Learned counsel for appellant assailing impugned judgement of conviction of accused-appellant, advanced his submissions, in the following manner :-

(i) There is no independent witness. PWs-1, 2 and 9 are related to deceased persons, therefore, their evidence is not sufficient to base the conviction.

(ii) Witnesses of prosecution did not see accused committing crime.

(iii) There is no motive to accused-appellant to commit the present crime.

(iv) Medical evidence does not support prosecution case.

(v) There are major contradictions in evidence of witnesses rendering prosecution case doubtful.

(vi) F.I.R. was lodged by complainant with inordinate delay but no explanation.

(vii) Prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and Trial Court did not appreciate evidence properly and only convicted accused-appellant.

(viii) Punishment awarded by Trial Court is harsh and excessive and he must be dealt with sympathetic consideration.

18. Learned AGA for State opposed submissions and stated that accused is named in F.I.R.; relation of witnesses with victim or accused is not a ground to discard the evidence of relatives; PWs.1, 2 and 9 are witnesses of fact, supported prosecution case and it is a case of direct evidence, prosecution has established his case beyond reasonable doubt and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant.

19. Although time, date, place and nature of injuries as well as death of victims could not be disputed from the side of accused-appellant but according to Advocate for accused-appellant, he is not responsible for causing death of Vimla Devi and Gudiya by causing burn injuries. Even otherwise, from the evidence of prosecution, death of Vimla Devi stands established due to burn injuries.

20. Thus the only questions for consideration of this Court is, "whether accused-appellant has caused death of Vimla Devi and her daughter Gudia and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant for causing death of Vimla Devi and her daughter Gudia punishable under Section 304 I.P.C.?"

21. Now, we may proceed to consider rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and briefly, evidence of prosecution and some important decisions.

22. PW-1, Sri Ram has deposed that on 10.8.2003 at about 8:30 PM, he was in his Dera; his daughter-in-law Vimla Devi with her daughter Gudia aged about one and half year was returning to home after providing meal to him; when she reached near sugar cane field of one Jai Narayan Singh, accused-appellant Lal Mohar came there with petrol in a plastic can and sprinkled petrol on his daughter-in-law Vimla Devi and grand daughter Gudia and set them at fire; his younger son Manish, PW-2, was with Vimla Devi at that time; on hearing shrieks of Manish and his daughter-in-law, he (PW-1) and other persons of same village rushed to rescue them whereupon accused-appellant ran away but was identified in the light of Torch; both injured persons were taken to District Hospital, Ballia for medical treatment in a serious position where Gudia succumbed to burn injuries on the next day during treatment in hospital and Vimla Devi succumbed to injuries in District Hospital, Ballia during treatment after 18-19 days of incident.

23. PW-1 stated in his cross-examination that at the time of incident, he was in his Dera, reached the place of incident on hearing noise of villagers; his Dera is at the distance of 10-20 Lattha from the place of occurrence; and that his daughter-in-law was being taken to hospital from spot by the people of village Tola and he was near his house. From this statement made in cross-examination, PW-1 does not appear to be an eye witness although, he told that he has seen accused running away from spot and proved presence of PW-2 Manish with Vimla Devi on spot.

24. PW-2 Manish deposed that on 10.8.2003 at about 8:30 PM, he was returning to his house from Dera with his Bhabhi Smt. Vimla Devi; when he reached near sugar cane field of Jai Narayan Singh, accused came out of Sarpat (Long grass) with petrol in a plastic can and poured petrol on victim and Gudia and set them at fire; on making noise his father and other villagers reached there; Vimla Devi and her daughter were taken to District Hospital, Ballia for treatment where Gudia succumbed to death in next morning and Vimla Devi died in District Hospital, Ballia after 17 days.

25. PW-9 Muneeb Rajbhar deposed that on 10.8.2003 at about 8:30 PM, his Bhabhi Vimla Devi along with her daughter Gudia aged about one and half year were going to home from Dera; when she reached near sugar cane field of one Jai Narayan Singh, accused-appellant sprinkled petrol on them and set them at fire; he was little behind the victim; on hearing alarm raised by Vimla Devi and his brother Manish (PW-2), he and his father arrived at spot whereupon accused-appellant ran away from spot but he was identified by him in the light of Torch; he chased him but accused succeeded in making good escape; Vimla Devi and Gudia were taken to District Hospital, Ballia where Gudia succumbed to death on the next day but Vimla died after 17 days in hospital.

26. Both witnesses withstood sufficient cross-examination from the side of accused but no material could be brought so as to disbelieve their statement.

27. PW-3 Radhey Shyam, is witness of inquest, who proved inquest report of Gudia as Ex.Ka-2; PW-4, H.C. Satya Narayan Mandal proved registration of F.I.R. on the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1; PW-5 Dr. Anoop Kumar Singh proved signature of Dr. Jitendra Kumar Singh conducting medical examination of Vimla Devi and Gudia, proved medico legal reports' PW-6 Dr. R.N. Upadhyay, conducted autopsy over the dead body of Vimla Devi and proved post mortem report as Ex.Ka-10; and PW-8 Dr. P.K. Rai conducted post mortem report of Km. Gudia and proved post mortem report Ex.Ka-14.

28. Presence of PW-2 and PW-9 appeared quite natural on the spot and there was no reason to them to falsely implicate accused-appellant in the present case. In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. accused did not suggest anything as to why witnesses deposed against him.

29. PW-1 and PW-2 established that they noticed accused running from spot. Statement of PWs.-1, 2 and 9 established that accused-appellant sprinkled petrol on Vimla Devi and her daughter Gudia and set them at fire causing serious burn injuries due to which they succumbed to death in hospital in respective times.

30. Now, next thing to be considered is that PWs.-1, 2 and 9 are relatives of deceased have their evidence whether be treated to be trustworthy or not. This submission is thoroughly misconceived. Mere relationship is not sufficient to discard otherwise trustworthy ocular testimony and it is now well settled law laid down in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR,1953, SC 364 wherein Court has held :-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause' for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

31. In Dharnidhar v. State of UP (2010) 7 SCC 759, Court has observed as follows :-

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"

32. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

33. It is settled that merely because witnesses are closed relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

34. So far as argument made by learned counsel for appellant regarding motive is concerned, we are not impressed with the submission advanced by learned counsel for appellant as it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.

35. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."

36. According to Advocate for appellant, medical evidence is not compatible with ocular evidence. We are not in agreement with the same for the reasons that PW-2 and PW-9 supporting prosecution case was deposed that accused-appellant came with petrol in Plastic Can and poured on the victims and set them at fire due to which Vimla Devi and Gudia received serious burn injuries. Doctor opined that death of both victims would have been caused due to ante-mortem burn injuries. In this way medical evidence is totally compatible with oral version.

37. In so far as discrepancies, variations and contradictions in prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with submissions raised by learned counsel's and find that the same do not go to the root of case and accused-appellant are not entitled to get benefit of the same.

38. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

39. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision of the Apex Court (3 Judges) in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

40. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant argued that PW-1 lodged F.I.R. of the incident against accused-appellant after four days of incident and he has not given proper explanation. Delay in lodging F.I.R. demolishes the prosecution story, hence, accused-appellant is entitled to get benefit of doubt. So far as delay in F.I.R. is concerned, we are not in agreement with the argument advanced by learned counsel for the accused-appellant for the reasons that delay has been explained by informant in written report Ex.Ka-1. It is well settled, if delay in lodging FIR has been explained from the evidence on record, no adverse inference can be drawn against prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged with delay. There is no hard and fast rule that any length of delay in lodging FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful.

41. In "Ravinder Kumar &Anr. Vs. State of Punjab", (2001) 7SCC 690, Court has held;

"The attack on prosecution cases on the ground of delay in lodging FIR has almost bogged down as a stereotyped redundancy in criminal cases. It is a recurring feature in most of the criminal cases that there would be some delay in furnishing the first information to the police. It has to be remembered that law has not fixed any time for lodging the FIR. Hence a delayed FIR is not illegal. Of course a prompt and immediate lodging of the FIR is the ideal as that would give the prosecution a twin advantage. First is that it affords commencement of the investigation without any time lapse. Second is that it expels the opportunity for any possible concoction of a false version. Barring these two plus points for a promptly lodged FIR the demerits of the delayed FIR cannot operate as fatal to any prosecution case. It cannot be overlooked that even a promptly FIR is not an unreserved guarantee for the genuineness of the version incorporated therein. When there is criticism on the ground that FIR in a case was delayed the court has to look at the reason why there was such a delay. There can be a variety of genuine causes for FIR lodgment to get delayed. Rural people might be ignorant of the need for informing the police of a crime without any lapse of time. This kind of unconversantness is not too uncommon among urban people also. They might not immediately think of going to the police station. Another possibility is due to lack of adequate transport facilities for the informers to reach the police station. The third, which is a quite common bearing, is that the kith and kin of the deceased might take some appreciable time to regain a certain level of tranquility of mind or sedativeness of temper for moving to the police station for the purpose of furnishing the requisite information. Yet another cause is the persons who are supposed to give such information themselves could be so physically impaired that the police had to reach them on getting some nebulous information about the incident."

42. In Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh &Ors. (2003) 2 SCC 518, Court held :

"In our opinion, the period which elapsed in lodging the FIR of the incident has been fully explained from the evidence on record and no adverse inference can be drawn against the prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged at 9.20 p.m. on the next day. There is no hard and fast rule that any delay in lodging the FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. It necessarily depends upon facts and circumstances of each case whether there has been any such delay in lodging the FIR which may cast doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case and for this a host of circumstances like the condition of the first informant, the nature of injuries sustained, the number of victims, the efforts made to provide medical aid to them, the distance of the hospital and the police station etc. have to be taken into consideration. There is no mathematical formula by which an inference may be drawn either way merely on account of delay in lodging of the FIR."

"The delay in giving the FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case. Knowing the Indian conditions as they are, one cannot expect these villagers to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. Human nature as it is, the kith and kin who have witnessed the occurrence cannot be expected to act mechanically with all the promptitude in giving the report to the police. At times being grief stricken because of the calamity it may not immediately occur to them that they should give a report. After all it is but natural in these circumstances for them to take some time to go to the police station for giving the report. Of course, in cases arising out of acute factions there is a tendency to implicate persons belonging to the opposite faction falsely. In order to avert the danger of convicting such innocent persons the courts should be cautious to scrutinize the evidence of such interested witnesses with greater care and caution and separate grain from the chaff after subjecting the evidence to a closer scrutiny and in doing so the contents of the FIR also will have to be scrutinised carefully. However, unless there are indications of fabrication, the court cannot reject the prosecution version as given in the FIR and later substantiated by the evidence merely on the ground of delay. These are all matters for appreciation and much depends on the facts and circumstance of each case."

44. In Sahebrao &Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra (2006) 9 SCC 794, Court has held:

"The settled principle of law of this Court is that delay in filing FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case and discard it. The delay in lodging the FIR would put the Court on its guard to search if any plausible explanation has been offered and if offered whether it is satisfactory."

45. From the above exposition of law, it is manifest that prosecution version cannot be rejected solely on the ground of delay in lodging FIR. Court has to examine the explanation furnished by prosecution for explaining delay. There may be various circumstances particularly number of victims, atmosphere prevailing at the scene of incidence, the complainant may be scared and fearing the action against him in pursuance of the incident that has taken place. If prosecution explains the delay, Court should not reject prosecution story solely on this ground. Therefore, the entire incident, as narrated by witnesses, has to be construed and examined to decide whether there was an unreasonable and unexplained delay which goes to the root of the case of prosecution. Even if there is some unexplained delay, court has to take into consideration whether it can be termed as abnormal. Recently in Palani V State of Tamilnadu, Criminal Appeal No. 1100 of 2009, decided on 27.11.2018, it has been observed by Supreme Court that in some cases delay in registration of FIR is inevitable. Even a long delay can be condoned if witness has no motive for falsely implicating the accused.

46. Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, statement of witnesses, evidence of prosecution into entirety and legal proposition discussed herein before, we have no hesitation to say that accused-appellant caused death of Vimla Devi and Gudiaya by causing burn injuries and committed offence punishable under Section 304 I.P.C. Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant, therefore, conviction of accused appellant under Section 304 I.P.C. is maintained and confirmed. Criminal appeal lacks merit and liable to be dismissed on merit.

47. So far as sentence of accused-appellant is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

48. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

49. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. We partly allow this appeal. We confirm appellant's conviction under Section 304 I.P.C. and modify order of sentence to under go rigorous imprisonment for a period of 14 years and fine of Rs. 25,000/-. In default of payment of fine, he shall further undergo simple imprisonment for one year imprisonment. He shall be entitled to set off under Section 428 Cr.P.C.

50. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action and to apprise the accused-appellant through Jail Authority.

JAIL APPEAL No. 8577 OF 2008

Preetam Singh ...Appellant

Versus

State ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From jail, Sri Jai Singh Parihar, Sri Noor Mohammad, Sri Rajshree Malviya (A.C.)

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Rishi Chadha, A.G.A.

A. Section 302 and 201 IPC. Jail Appeal against conviction- circumstantial evidence - direct evidence and motive-
In circumstantial evidence, law postulates, twin requirements to be satisfied. First, every link in chain of circumstances, necessary to establish the guilt of accused, must be established by prosecution beyond reasonable doubt; and second, all circumstances must be consistent only with guilt of accused. (Para 24)

There cannot be any dispute as to the well settled proposition that circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must or "should be" and not merely "may be" fully established. (Para 25)

B. Infirmity or fault by investigating agency. Whether benefits the accussed. Held:-It is well settled that any infirmity committed by Police Officer or faulty investigation would not help accused. Recovery of dead body is well supported by public witnesses.(Para 35)

C. Motive – Whether necessary. Held:- Where direct evidence is worthy of credence, can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. Thus, merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. (Para 37)

D. Evidence Act-section 134 - whether prosecution must produce all witnesses. Held:- It is not necessary for the prosecution to produce all the witnesses in support its case. Quality of witnesses is material not the quantity of witnesses. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. (Para 39 & 40)

Conviction upheld. Jail Appeal dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. This jail appeal has been filed by accused-appellant, Preetam Singh through Senior Superintendent of Jail, Lalitpur against judgment and order dated 23.01.1998 passed by Sri Jai Singh, Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge E.C. Act, Lalitpur in Session Trial No. 99 of 1997, (State v. Preetam Singh), arising out of Case Crime No. 19 of 1997, Police Station Saujna, under Sections 302 and 201 IPC. By impugned judgment, accused-appellant has been convicted and sentenced under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment and under Section 201 IPC for one year rigorous imprisonment. Both the sentences shall run concurrently.

2. Prosecution story, in brief, is that on 10.05.1997, PW-3 Kalyan Singh submitted a written report Ex.Ka-1 in the Police Station Saujana, District Lalitpur stating that accused Preetam Singh was working in his house for Rs.300/- per month and payment was to be made after completion of one year. Accused, left his house after working two months only. Accused came back and told him to settle the amount whereupon he answered that when it was decided that payment would be made after completion of one year, why he was demanding in between. Thereupon accused-appellant pressurized him before PW-1 Swaroop and one Dhuman Singh (not examined) to pay at once and extended threat that in the event of nonpayment, he would take life of one of his sons. Information took it lightly. On 08.05.1997 at about 10:00 AM accused took his son (victim) aged about eleven years to Mahrauni, at the pretext of wearing shoes. Witness Janki Prasad and Bhagirath resident of same village saw victim Nanhey Raja in the company of accused-appellant, taking by the bus. When victim did not come back, Information asked Preetam Singh about the boy and traced out his son but accused-appellant did not give satisfactory response. It was suspected that accused-appellant abducted victim with intention to kill. Accused was taken to Police Station by informant with the help of Swaroop Singh, Amrit Singh and Kalyan Singh.

3. On the basis of Written Tehrir Ex Ka-1, chick FIR, Ex.Ka-5 was registered in Police Station concerned by Constable Clerk Nanhey Lal PW-6 as Case Crime No. 19 of 1997, under Section 364 IPC against accused-appellant, entry of case was made in General Diary, copy whereof is Ex. Ka-6.

4. Immediately after registration of case, PW-8, SI Mahaveer Singh, commenced investigation on the direction of C.O., took relevant papers, recorded statement of witnesses, recorded disclosure statement of accused in Police custody before Kalyan Singh and Chhatrapal, recovered dead body of Nanhey Raja from river and knife allegedly to be used in commission of offence from root of tree at pointing out of accused-appellant before PWs 3 and 5, prepared recovery memo of dead body and knife Ex.Ka-3. Inquest over the dead body of deceased was held by SI Syed Ali Hashmi who prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-4 and other papers relating thereto and sent body for postmortem, prepared site plan Ex.Ka-14 and converted case under Section 302 and 201 IPC.

5. PW-4 Dr. Khem Chandra, posted as Medical Officer on 12.05.1997 in District Hospital, Lalitpur, conducted autopsy over the dead body of Nanhe Raja, aged about 12 years and prepared postmortem report Ex. Ka-2, expressing his opinion that death was possible at about three days prior to postmortem and death might have been caused due to asphyxia as a result of ante mortem strangulation. Doctor found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of deceased, which read as under :-

i. Wound 2cm x 0.5cm x muscle deep over the left side of the chest between 4th and 5th intramuscular space 2.5cm medial from the left nipple.

ii. Wound 2.5cm x 1cm x 1cm deep over the middle of upper abdomen 3cm below from the xiphisternum. Nature of wound injury no.1 and 2 cannot be given due to putrefied body.

iii. During dissection of front of neck the right side of communication of hyoid bone found fractured and ecchymosis found around it.

6. PW-7 SI Bhagwat Singh under took further investigation of the case, perused record, visited spot, prepared site plan Ex.Ka-7, recorded statements of Dhuman Singh, Janki Prasad, Bhagirath, Kalyan Singh, Sumer Singh and Smt. Munni, Chattrapal Singh and other witnesses and after completing entire formalities of investigation submitted charge-sheet Ex.Ka-8 against accused-appellant under Section 302 and 201 IPC.

7. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, after making compliance under Section 207 Cr.P.C. by Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned, case was committed to Sessions Judge, Lalitpur where from it was tranferred to Court of Special Judge (E.C. Act), Laliptur.

8. Trial Court framed charges on 05.11.1997 against accused Preetam Singh under Sections 302 and 201, which reads as under :-

"मैं, जय सिंह, अपर सत्र न्यायाधीश/विशेष न्यायाधीश (ई0 सी0 एक्ट), ललितपुर आप अभियुक्त प्रीतम सिंह पुत्र मान सिह निवासी ग्राम दतया थाना बराठा जिला सागर म0 प्र0, पर निम्न आरोप लगाता हूँ।

Hence, it is hereby directed that you be tried by this court for the aforesaid charges."

(English Translation by Court)

9. Accused-appellants pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

10. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as eight witnesses in the following manner :-

Sr. No.	Name of PWs	Nature of witness	Paper proved
1	Swaroop Singh	Fact	Nil
2	Janki Prasad	Fact	Nil
3	Kalyan Singh	Fact	Ex.Ka-1
4	Dr. Khem Chandra	Formal	Postmortem Report Ex.Ka-2
5	Chhatrapal Singh	Fact	Recovery memo of dead body Ex.Ka-3
6	Constable Nanhe Lal	Formal	Ex.Ka-5 & 6
7	SI Bhagwati Singh	Formal	Inquest Ex.Ka-4, Site Plan Ex.Ka-7

			& Charge sheet Ex.Ka-8
8	SI Mahaveer Singh	Formal	Ex.Ka-14

11. Subsequent to closure of prosecution evidence, statement of accused under Section 313 was recorded by Trial Court, explaining entire evidence and other incriminating circumstances. In the statement, accused-appellant denied prosecution story in toto; entire story is said to be wrong, claimed false implication but did not chose to lead any defence evidence.

12. Trial Court after hearing learned counsel for parties and analysing entire evidence (oral and documentary) led by prosecution, found accused-appellants guilty, convicted and sentenced, as stated above.

13. We have heard Smt. Rajshree Malviya, learned Amicus Curiae for appellant and Sri Rishi Chaddha, learned AGA for State and travelled through record with valuable assistance of learned counsel for parties.

14. Learned counsel for accused-appellants assailed order of conviction and sentence, took us through the record and advanced following submissions :-

i. There is no eye witness of murder of Nanhey Raja. Case of prosecution rests upon circumstantial evidence.

ii. PW-2 Janki Prasad is the only witness who has last seen the deceased in association with accused.

iii. PW-3 proved disclosure statement of accused and recovery of dead body and knife which bears no signature of accused.

iv. There is no strong motive to commit murder of Nanhey Raja. Motive shown by prosecution is not sufficient to commit murder.

v. Witness Bhagirathi mentioned in the FIR has not been produced from the side of prosecution.

vi. There is no complete chain of circumstantial evidence leading guilt of accused.

vii. Prosecution did not proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

viii. Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in right perspective as per law and wrongly convicted the accused.

15. Learned AGA opposed the submission and submitted that accused is named in FIR; there is sufficient motive to the accused to commit the crime; dead body of victim was recovered at the pointing of accused from river and according to postmortem report victim was assassinated, hence there is complete chain of circumstantial evidence leading to guilt of accused. Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant.

16. Recovery of dead body of deceased from river and knife allegedly used in the commission of offence at the pointing out of accused as stated by prosecution could not be disputed by the accused-appellant but according to Advocate he is not responsible for committing murder of Nanhey Raja. From the statement of Doctor and I.O., recovery of dead body from the river at the pointing of accused-appellant and murder of Nanhey Raja stands established.

17. The only question remains for consideration is "whether accused-appellant committed murder of Nanhey Raja or not and Trial Court has rightly convicted him under Section 302 IPC or not?"

18. We may now proceed to consider rival submission of learned Counsel for partied and evidence in brief available on record.

19. Only evidence from the side of prosecution to connect the accused-appellant with the present crime is threat given by accused to Informant, last seen theory of victim in association of accused-appellant as disclosed by PW-2, disclosure statement of accused before Police and recovery of dead body and knife, allegedly used in commission of murder, at the pointing out of accused whereupon Trial Court believed and found accused guilt for committing murder of Nanhey Raja, an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC.

20. PW-1 has deposed that he was sitting in the home of Kalyan Singh along-with one Jhuman Singh at about 10:00 AM on the fateful day; accused Preetam Singh came there and told Kalyan Singh to settle the amount whereupon Kalyan Singh said that it was decided that payment would be made after completion of one year; Preetam Singh pressurized him to make payment at once and threatened that in the event of non payment, he would kill one of his child; Preetam Singh left from there; after two days PW-1 went to Mehrauni Bazar along-with one Kalyan Singh son of Sumer Singh, Kalyan Singh who Informant met him and asked about his child; Preetam Singh was also enquired by them in the house of accused but he did not say anything; and then he was taken to Police Station where Kalyan Singh PW-3 lodged FIR against him (Preetam Singh).

21. PW-2 Janki Prasad deposed that about seven months prior to date of statement i.e. 02.12.1997 he was sitting at his door at about 10:00 AM and saw that accused Preetam Singh and Nanhey Raja (victim) were going some where. His house is adjacent to house of Kalyan Singh (Informant). When he enquired from Preetam Singh where he was going, he told that, he was taking Nanhey Raja to Mehrauni for wearing shoe. Thereafter Nanhey Raja did not come back to village and nobody has seen him. On third day he came to know that accused Preetam Singh has assassinated Nanhey Raja. He identified accused-appellant in the Court.

22. PW-3 deposed that at about 10:00 AM, seven months ago, he was sitting in his house along-with Dhuman Singh and Swaroop Singh, accused Preetam Singh came there and demanded money whereupon he said that you have not completed my work whereas Rs.300/- per month along-with food was settled and payment was to be made after completion of one year, though he worked only two months; accused Preetam Singh demanded money at once and threatened that he would kill one of his son; next day at about 10:00 AM accused Preetam Singh came to his house when he was not present; accused took his son Nanhey Raja (victim) aged about eleven years on the pretext of purchasing shoe; witnesses Janki Prasad and Bahgirath saw accused Preetam Singh taking Nanhey Raja; his son Nanhey Raja did not come back to his house; third day he went to father of accused, where he inquired of Preetam Singh about his son but Preetam Singh told nothing; he met Swaroop Sing PW-1 and Kalyan Singh son of Sumer Singh in Mehrauni Bazar; he told both of them that his son is missing; he enquired of Preetam Singh but he did not disclose any thing; thereafter they took Preetam Singh to Police Station Saujana and FIR was lodged by PW-3.

23. PW-5 deposed that accused Preetam Singh in his disclosure statement admitted his guilt stating that he took victim Nanhey Raj son of Kalyan Singh on the pretext of getting shoe at Mehrauni Bazar and showed a picture in Talkies. After seeing picture, they slept out of Talkies and took Nanhey Raja on foot and killed him by inflicting knife injury and pushed dead body in river and knife used in the commission of offence was hidden in the root of tree after cleaning the blood from it. He led Police party to river and showed the place where dead body was pushed, took out knife from root of tree and handed over to Police. Police prepared recovery memo Ex.Ka-3 before him, held inquest over the dead body, prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-4 before him, put his signature.

24. In a case, which rests on circumstantial evidence, law postulates, twin requirements to be satisfied. First, every link in chain of circumstances, necessary to establish the guilt of accused, must be established by prosecution beyond reasonable doubt; and second, all circumstances must be consistent only with guilt of accused.

25. In the case in hand there is no eye witness of occurrence and case of prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence. There cannot be any dispute as to the well settled proposition that circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must or "should be" and not merely "may be" fully established. The facts so established should be consistent only with the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explicable through any other hypothesis except that the accused was guilty. Moreover, the circumstances should be conclusive in nature. There must be a chain of evidence so complete so as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused, and must show that in all human probability, the offence was committed by the accused.

26. In Hanumant v. The State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1952 SC 343, as long back as in 1952, Hon'ble Mahajan, J. expounded various concomitant of proof of a case based purely on circumstantial evidence and said:

"... circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved..... it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. " (emphasis added)"

27. In Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1977 SC 1063, Court said, where a case rests clearly on circumstantial evidence, inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with innocence of accused or guilt of any other person.

28. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Court while dealing with a case based on circumstantial evidence, held, that onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. Infirmity or lacuna, in prosecution, cannot be cured by false defence or plea. Conditions precedent before conviction, based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. Court described following condition precedent :-

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

(emphasis added)

29. In Ashok Kumar Chatterjee v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1989 SC 1890, Court said:

"...when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests :-

(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively; should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and,

(4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

30. In C. Chenga Reddy and Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1996(10) SCC 193, Court said:

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. "

(emphasis added)

31. In Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 Court quoted from Sir Alfred Wills, "Wills' Circumstantial Evidence" (Chapter VI) and in para 15 of judgement said:

"(1) the facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum;

(2) the burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal accountability;

(3) in all cases, whether of direct or circumstantial evidence the best evidence must be adduced which the nature of the case admits;

(4) in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation, upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt,

*(5) i*f there be any reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled as of right to be acquitted."

(emphasis added)

32. The above principle in respect of circumstantial evidence has been reiterated in subsequent authorities also in Shivu and Another v. Registrar General High Court of Karnataka and Another, 2007(4) SCC 713 and Tomaso Bruno v. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 178.

33. In State of U.P. vs. Satish, 2005(3) SCC 114, Court said :-

"The last seen theory comes into play where the time-gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were seen last alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In the absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together, it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases."

34. So far as the argument no.3 of learned Amicus Curiae for appellant is concerned, it is evident from record that accused was taken by Informant and other person to Police Station concerned before registration of case. Case was registered on written report Ex.Ka-1 submitted by Informant, PW-3, under Section 364 IPC. On being interrogated by Police accused-appellant made disclosure statement on which Police recovered dead body of Nanhey Raja from JamuniRiver at the instance of accused-appellant. Non signature of accused on recovery memo may be a slip of the Police Officer. At the most it can be termed as fault by Police in investigation.

35. It is well settled that any infirmity committed by Police Officer or faulty investigation would not help accused. Recovery of dead body is well supported by public witnesses. We are not impressed with the argument of learned Amicus Curiae for appellant and rejected the same.

36. PWs 1 and 3 established the threat extended by accused-appellant to PW-3. Both PWs deposed that accused-appellant has extended threat to Informant to kill any of his son, prior to incident. Immediately thereafter accused took victim Nanhey Raja with him on the pretext of wearing shoe. This fact was established by PW-2 Janki Prasad, who had last seen the victim Nanhey Raja in the company of accused. Accused in his disclosure statement admitted this fact before Police and PW-5. On the basis of disclosure statement recovery of dead body was made by Police from JamuniRiver on the pointing of accused himself. Entire circumstantial evidence leading to guilt of accused has been completely established from the side of prosecution. Prosecution has established that accused is only and only person who has committed the murder of Nanhey Raja.

37. So far as motive is concerned, it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. We do not find any substance in the argument advanced by learned counsel for appellants.

38. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court has held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."

39. So far as legal position for non-examination of entire witnesses is concerned, it is well settled principal of law that it is not necessary for the prosecution to produce all the witnesses in support its case. Quality of witnesses is material not the quantity of witnesses. In view of Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act,1872 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act,1872'), we do not find any substance in the submission of learned counsel for the appellant. Section 134 of Act, 1872, reads as under:-

"134. Number of witnesses.-No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact."

40. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872, but if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

41. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is material. Quantity of evidence was never considered to be a test for deciding a criminal trial and emphasis of Court is always on quality of evidence. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused in spite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

42. In Kunju @ Balachandran vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381 a similar view has been taken placing reliance on earlier judgments including Jagdish Prasad vs. State of M.P., AIR 1994 SC 1251; and Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614.

43. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel Vs. State of Gunjrat reported in (2004) 12 SCC 229, Court held that :-

"The legal position in respect of the testimony of a solitay eyewitness is well settled in a catena of judgments inasmuch as this Court has always reminded that in order to pass conviction upon it, such a testimony must be of a nature which inspires the confidence of the Court. While looking into such evidence this Court has always advocated the Rule of Caution and such corroboration from other evidence and even in the absence of corroboration if testimony of such single eye-witness inspires confidence then conviction can be based solely upon it."

44. In State of Haryana v. Inder Singh and Ors. reported in (2002) 9 SCC 537, Court held that it is not the quantity but the quality of the witnesses which matters for determining the guilt or innocence of the accused in the criminal case. The testimony of a sole witness must be confidence-inspiring, leaving no doubt in the mind of the Court.

45. In the present case, it is fully established from the statement of PW-2 that deceased Nanhey Raja was last seen alive in the company of accused-appellant, who was seen taking victim to Mehrauni Bazar and on being asked by PW-2, accused-appellant told that they were going for wearing shoe. It is further established from the statement of Investigating Officer and Chattrapal that at the pointing of accused dead body of Nanhey Raja was recovered from JamuniRiver on the next day of registration of case. Time gap between the last seen and murder of Nanhey Raja and detection of dead body in the Jamuni River is so short that it cannot be said that crime could have been done by some one else. Accused-appellants in statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has failed to offer any explanation, what had happened with the deceased and who murdered. There is sufficient evidence to hold that accused-appellant is only and only person who is responsible for committing murder of Nanhey Raja.

46. In the entirety of the facts and circumstances and legal preposition discussed herein before, we are satisfied that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed an offence under Section 302 read with 201 IPC. Appeal is devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

47. So far as sentence of accused-appellants is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of variousconsiderations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

48. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law.

Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

49. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence, weapon used in commission of murder and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellants by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no ground appears to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

50. We, therefore, find no merit in appeal. Present jail appeal lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed and judgement and order dated 23.01.1998 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge E.C. Act, Lalitpur in Session Trial No. 99 of 1997, (State v. Preetam Singh), arising out of Case Crime No. 19 of 1997, Police Station Saujna, under Sections 302 and 201 IPC., is maintained and confirmed.

51. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court and Jail concerned for compliance and apprising the accused-appellant.

52. Before parting, we provide that Smt. Rajshree Malviya, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/- for her valuable assistance. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

However, Reference No. 03 of 2017 and Criminal Misc. Application u/s 372 Cr.P.C. (Leave to Appeal) No. 284 of 2017 are dismissed.

There shall be however no order as to costs.

Here are the reasons :-

(1) Briefly stated the facts of this case are that P. W. 16 Harishankar gave a written report at police station Sasni, sub-district Hathras, district Aligarh on 11.3.1990 at about 18:15 hours in respect of an incident which had allegedly taken place on the same day at about 4 P.M. in village Rudayan, Ward no. 1 alleging therein that he belonged to Jatav community and was a resident of village Rudayan. On the date of occurrence the festival of holi was being celebrated in the village. At about 4 P.M. Udayveer Singh had gone to the house of Sonpal who also belonged to his caste to smear him with colours and when after playing holi with him he was returning to his house he met Kunwar Pal Singh, Rajendra Singh, Jagendra Singh sons of Bhagwan Singh, Shyam Veer Singh son of Bhoori Singh, Prem Singh son of Pop Singh Jat, Banwari son of Sadhu, caste kadere and Insafi Khan son of Fateh Khan who came out from the 'Nouhre' of Kunwar Pal Singh and after catching hold of Udayveer Singh started beating him. Udayveer Singh somehow escaped from their clutches and started running towards his house followed by the aforesaid persons who were joined in their chase by Umesh Kumar son of Shahshi Pal, Vijendra Singh son of Soran Singh, Manoka son of Sadhu, Gulab Singh son of Gulla, Kahar, Nanak Chandra son of Kanhaiya Lal Kahar, Harishchandra son of Chandrapal Khatik, Mahendra Singh son of Radheylal, Raju son of Brahmdutta, Dinesh son of Mathura Prasad, Shambhu son of Shivshankar, Santosh son of Shivshankar Sharma, Rajeev @ Chhotey son of Narayan, Hari, Hariom Pandit, nephew of Lala, Komal Prasad, Mukesh Kumar, Bhola son of Rishi Kumar, Nempal Bhatiya son of Khyaliram, Bijuwa son of Ram Singh Jat, Udayveer Singh son of Pop Singh, Daryav Singh son of Popo Singh Jat, Purshottam son of Ramsahai all residents of village Rudayan, Sahab Singh Pradhan Bikhlaura Khurd, Netrapal son of Udayveer Jat, Brijveer Bikhlaura Khurd, Shyam Singh son of Shiv Singh Bikhlaura Khurd, Pappe son of Mathura Prasad, Pappu son of Mishri Lal, Vashisht, Nannu, Dinesh son of Rajkumar (Pathak), Premchandra son of Gangasharan, Mahesh and Vishnu sons of Gendalal, Nathuram son fo Sunehri Lal, Sunil son of Ramkesh, Dinesh son of Roopkishore, Rajanlal Advocate, Narayannahri Mishra son of Ramgopal, Kamruddin Pradhan village Bheeka Nagla, police station Sasni, district Aligarh and several other persons Narayan Singh village Bilkhaura, Resham Singh Bikhlaura Khurd, Girraj Kishore Bikhlaura Khurd and Mathura Prasad Pradhan Member Leader and Ravendra Pathak Ex-Chief armed with their licenced and unlicenced guns, lathi, ballam, pharsa etc. The aforesaid persons entered into his locality exhorting each other and surrounded therein from the side of boundary wall of the house of Kunwar Pal Singh. The miscreants who were also carrying torches in their hands started setting their houses ablaze. They also desecrated the statue of Indira Gandhi and started hurling stones and firing at the persons belonging to the Jatav caste who became helpless and started running helter skelter shouting for help while shots were being fired at them. They endeavoured to douse the fire but the fire was so fierce that they had to run towards the fields to save their lives chased by the accused. They saw their sisters and daughters being beaten and within no time not only they had burnt all the houses in the locality belonging to the Harijans but even their harvested crops kept in the farmyards and their tubewells were set on fire. Data Ram (deceased), his wife and his daughter were forcibly dragged out from their house. Such atrocities had been committed by them on the Harijans in the past also and they would continue to indulge in same activities in future also. The accused were openly threatening that they would not let the Harijans live in the village. On account of the atrocities committed on the Harijans by the accused, cries of sorrow could be heard throughout the village. While they hid themselves to save their lives abandoning their houses, the same were looted and plundered by the accused. The extent of damages caused to the houses of Harijans and details of looted property could be ascertained only after the same were assessed by the affected persons on returning to their homes.

(2) In the written report it was also stated that apart from the persons named in the written report there were several other persons who had participated in the incidents of looting and arson who could be identified by face. While the incident was being committed the police had also arrived at the place of occurrence.

(3) On the basis of the written report of the occurrence, case crime no. 78 of 1990, u/s 147, 148, 149, 435, 436, 395, 397, 427, 307, 302, 295, 364 I.P.C. and Section 3(2)(5) S.C./S.T. Act was registered at P. S. Sasni, district-Aligarh against Kunwarpal Singh, Rajendra Singh, Jagendra Singh, Shyamveer Singh, Prem Singh, Banwari, Insafi Khan, Umesh Kumar, Vijendra Singh, Manoka, Gulab Singh @ Gulla, Nanak Chandra all resident of village Rudayan, P. S. Sasni and several other persons. Chek F.I.R. Ext. Ka1 and the relevant G.D. entry vide rapat no. 35 time 17:15 hours date 23.3.1990 and vide rapat no. 43 time 19:00 hours date 14.3.1990.

(4) It appears that after a charred dead body was recovered from the field of Data Ram which was identified as that of Data Ram, section 302 I.P.C. was also added.

(5) The first investigating officer of the case reached the place where the charred dead body of Data Ram was lying and after collecting ash from the places near the tubewell and under the Mango tree he prepared the recovery memo on 12.3.1990. He also collected plain and bloodstained soil from the field of Data Ram and prepared it's recovery memo Ext. Ka13. He then proceeded to collect burnt ash from the 55 burnt houses belonging to the Harijans which were allegedly burnt by the accused during the occurrence and prepared a composite recovery memo. The recovery memo indicates that the ash collected from the houses which were allegedly burnt in the incident was not kept separately but was packed and sealed in a simple piece of cloth on the spot. He also inspected the place from where the dead body of Data Ram was allegedly recovered and prepared it's site plan. He also inspected each of the fifty five houses which were burnt in the occurrence and prepared separate site plan of each house.

(6) The inquest on the body of deceased-Data Ram was conducted on 11.3.1990. The inquest report and other connected documents namely challan lash, letter addressed to C.M.O., photo nash, letter addressed to R.I., letter for postmortem examination were prepared on the spot. Thereafter, the dead body of Data Ram was sealed by the investigating officer and dispatched to the mortuary for postmortem examination. The postmortem on the body of Data Ram was conducted on 12.3.1990 at about 3:30 P.M. The postmortem report of the deceased was admitted by the defence during the trial and hence it's formal proof was dispensed with. The postmortem report of the deceased indicates following antemortem injuries :

(i) Gunshot wound of entry on his back rt. Side 6 cm below from angle of scapula size 2 x 2 cm x cavity deep.

(ii) Gunshot wound on the front of chest rt. Side in mid auxiliary line, 8 cm below from rt. Nipple .....

(iii) 100% burn injury of 2nd to 3rd degree present all over the body vessels and charred at both hip bone & line of redness & ventricle places also present.

Cause of death was stated to be shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem gunshot and burn injuries.

(7) The investigation of the case was transferred to P. W. 18 Dayaram Dwivedi who at that point of time was posted as S.H.O. police station Sasni, district Aligarh. He started the investigation on 17.3.1990 and during the course of investigation he recorded the statements of Pooran Chandra, Smt. Shanti Devi and on 20.3.1990 Sonpal, Bheekam Singh, Gulab. The investigation of the case was transferred from local police to CBCID by order dated 24.3.1990 passed by S.S.P. Aligarh.

(8) P. W. 14 V. S. Sirohi, the third investigating officer of the case after completing the investigation filed chargesheet on 8.4.1995 against Umashankar, Rajendra, Gulab, Dinesh, Santosh, Mukesh, Daryab Singh, Purshottam, Anil, Mahesh, Nathuram, Dinesh, Rajanlal, Narayan Hari Ravindra and against Umashankar, Vishnu, Mahesh, Hariom, Jitendra and on 18.9.1995 against Mathura Prasad, Mahendra, Kunwarpal, Vijenra, Harichandra, Mahendra, Umendra, Ashok Banwari, Insaf Ali on 21.10.1995.

(9) Since the offences mentioned in the chargesheet were triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions, C.J.M. Aligarh committed the case for the trial of the accused to the Court of Sessions Judge Aligarh where case crime no. 78 of 1990 was registered as S.T. No. 311 of 1999 (State Vs. Rajendra and others) made over for trial from there to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Hathras/Special Judge (S.C./S.T.) Act who on the basis of the material on record and after affording opportunity of hearing to the prosecution as well as the accused framed charge under Sections 147, 148, 149, 435, 436, 395, 397, 427, 307, 302, 295 I.P.C. and Section 3(2)(5) SC/ST Act. The accused abjured the charge and claimed trial.

(10) The prosecution in order to establish the charges framed against the accused examined as many as 18 witnesses out of whom P. W. 1 to P. W. 13 and P. W. 16 were examined as witnesses of various facts while P. W. 14 V. S. Sirohi, the third investigating officer of the case who had completed the investigation and filed chargesheet against the accused, P. W. 18 Dayaram Dwivedi, second investigating officer of the case and P. W. 17 Dr. Gyan S. Sharma who had examined the injuries of the two injured namely Umesh Chandra and Narsi who had allegedly received injuries in the occurrence and prepared their injury reports which have been brought on record as Ext. Ka 34 to Ext. (11) After the closure of the recording of the prosecution evidence, the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. All the accused denied the prosecution case as concocted and alleged false implication due to village party bandi and enmity. Appellant-Anil @ Pappey in criminal appeal no. 1289 of 2017 in addition stated that he was not present at the place of occurrence at the time of the incident as he was employed in Delhi while appellant-Babu Singh @ Vijendra in criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017 stated that the persons belonging to the informant's side had set the house of his brother Rajendra ablaze and he was busy trying to douze the fire and had not participated in the occurrence. The defence neither adduced any documentary evidence nor examined any witness in defence.

(12) Learned Additional Sessions Judge Court No. 3, Hathras after considering the submissions advanced before him by the learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the evidence on record convicted the appellants under the aforesaid offences and awarded above mentioned sentences by the impugned judgment and order. However, co-accused Dinesh, Rajanlal, Insaf Ali, Purshottam, Vishnu, Mahesh, Jeetu @ Jitendra, Harishchandra, Umesh, Mahendra Kumar Vashishth @ Mahesh were acquitted of all the charges.

(13) Reference made by the Additional Sessions Judge Court No. 3, Hathras to this Court for confirmation of death sentence passed by him against Kunwarpal Singh, appellant in capital case no. 1368 of 2017 which was registered as reference no. 3 of 2017 before this Court and connected with these bunch of appeals by order dated 15.2.2017 is also being considered with these appeals.

(14) Hence these appeals.

(15) These appeals as well as the application seeking leave to appeal which have been preferred by the different appellants can be broadly divided into three sets.

(16) The first set comprises of capital case no. 1368 of 2017 (Kunwar Pal Singh Vs. State) and criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017 (Babu Singh @ Vijendra and another).

(17) In these two appeals, appellants-Kunwar Pal Singh, Babu Singh @ Vijendra and Jogendra @ Jogendra Singh have been convicted under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 I.P.C. read with Section 3(2)(5) SC/ST Act.

(18) The appellants in the aforesaid appeals have not been convicted under Sections 435, 436/149 I.P.C.

(19) The second set comprises of criminal appeal nos. 1371 of 2017, 1473 of 2017, 1289 of 2017, 1440 of 2017, 1296 of 2017 and 1302 of 2017 which have been preferred by appellants-Rajendra, Hariom, Anil @ Pappey, Santosh, Shambhoo, Dinesh Darji, Mukesh, Anil @ Bhola, Umashankar who have been convicted and sentenced under Sections 147, 148, 435, 436/149 I.P.C. read with Section 3(2)(5) SC/ST Act.

(20) The third set comprises Criminal Misc. Application (Leave to Appeal) u/S 372 Cr.P.C. No. 284 of 2017 which has been filed by Rajendra Singh, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1371 of 2017 against the judgment and order dated 14.7.2017 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Hathras in S.T. No. 153 of 2010 (State Vs. Niranjan Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 78-B of 1990, under Sections 147, 148, 436, 323/149, 427, 295, 307 I.P.C., P. S. Sasani, District Hathras by which he has acquitted opposite party nos. 2 to 5 from all the charges.

(21) We first proceed to decide capital case no. 1368 of 2017 and criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017.

(22) Sri Satish Trivedi, learned Senior counsel appearing for the appellants in the aforesaid appeals has submitted that the trial court patently erred in convicting the appellants-Kunwarpal Singh, Jogendra and Babu Singh in the aforesaid appeals under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 I.P.C. read with Section 3(2)(5) SC/ST Act on the basis of the testimony of wholly unreliable, untrustworthy and highly interested witness P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, the wife of the deceased-Datam Ram without seeking corroboration from any other evidence on record.

(23) He next submitted that as far as the two witnesses namely P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh and P. W. 16 Harishankar who were also examined by the prosecution during the trial to establish the charge framed against the appellants are concerned, it is indisputed that none of them had witnessed the occurrence. The facts deposed by P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, son of the deceased were as per his own evidence, conveyed to him by his mother, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi after she had been brought to village Rudayan with the help of police from the house of her brother-in-law (Bahnoi), Raja Ram in village Jasrana on the night of the occurrence. Moreover the statement of P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded after more than 22 days of the occurrence without any satisfactory explanation for the inordinate delay. As far as P. W. 16 Harishankar is concerned, he in the F.I.R. qua deceased-Data Ram and P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had stated that the rioters had dragged deceased-Data Ram, his wife, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi and their daughter-Brij Bala from their house and taken them away somewhere but the eye-witness account of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi does not contain any such statement.

(24) He further submitted that the medical evidence on record does not corroborate the manner of assault on deceased-Data Ram as narrated by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her statement recorded before the trial court which totally belies her claim of being the eye-witness of the occurrence. He also submitted that the admitted case of the prosecution qua deceased-Data Ram is that he was shot by appellant-Jogendra thrice and all the three shot had hit him and thereafter appellant-Kunwarpal Singh had thrown him into "Laha". The incident was witnessed by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi alone and as per her own evidence after her husband had been thrown into Laha she had fled to village Bilkhaura and from there she had gone to her brother-in-law's house in village Jasrana and she had been brought back to her village Rudayan by the police but there is no link evidence on record proving when and by whom the dead body of Data Ram was recovered and identified and brought to the village and kept under the neem tree. There is further no evidence on record indicating how the police came to know that P. W. 2 Shanti Devi was in Jasrana. From the evidence of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi herself, it is established that P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh was neither present at the time and place of occurrence nor she had informed him about her fleeing to Jasrana.

(25) The aforesaid loopholes and lack of link evidence give rise to a very strong suspicious that the entire prosecution story qua deceased-Data Ram is concocted and false.

(26) He next submitted that as far as Babu Singh, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017 is concerned, neither any motive nor any overt act of any kind has been attributed to him and his conviction recorded by the trial court by invoking Section 149 I.P.C., although the evidence on record indicates that only three persons had allegedly participated in committing the murder of Data Ram, is per se illegal.

(27) He lastly submitted that such being the state of evidence, neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentences awarded to them can be sustained and are liable to be set aside.

(28) Rebutting the submissions made by Sri Satish Trivedi, learned counsel for the appellants in capital case no. 1368 of 2017 and criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017 Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State submitted that the prosecution case stands fully proved from the consistent and clinching testimony of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, the sole eye-witness of the occurrence who has given correct and cogent description of the occurrence which finds full corroboration from the medical evidence on record. The contradictions and the discrepancies in the testimony of P. W. Shanti Devi and the inconsistency in the medical evidence and the ocular version pointed out by the learned counsel for the appellants are of trivial nature which do not go to the core of the prosecution case rendering it unreliable. The discrepancy between her evidence given by her before the trial court and the medical evidence on record with regard to the manner of assault is absolutely natural considering the fact that she is an illiterate lady who had seen her husband being shot and thrown into Laha in her presence.

(29) The factum of deceased-Data Ram being shot by Jogendra, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017 and later thrown by Kunwarpal Singh, appellant in capital case no. 1368 of 2017 into Laha stands fully proved from her evidence.

(30) Both the appeals lacks merit and are liable to be dismissed.

(31) We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the material brought on record.

(32) Record shows that the written report of the occurrence which had allegedly taken place on 11.3.1990 in village Rudayan was lodged by P. W. 16 Harishankar who is admittedly not the eye-witness of the occurrence, at police station Sasni, district Aligarh on the same day at 18:50 hours.

(33) A perusal of the written report of the occurrence indicates that on the date of occurrence holi festival was being celebrated in the village, one Udayveer Jatav by caste while returning from the house of Sonpal who also belonged to his caste after playing holi with him was accosted by Kunwarpal Singh, appellant in capital case no. 1368 of 2017, Rajendra Singh, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1371 of 2017, Jogendra @ Jogendra Singh A2 in criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017, Shyamveer Singh, Prem Singh, Banwari Lal and Insafi Khan who suddenly came out from the 'Nouhre' of Kunwarpal Singh and they after catching hold of Udayveer Singh started beating him. Udayveer Singh somehow managed to escape and started running towards his village followed by the aforesaid persons who were joined in their chase by Umesh Kumar son of Shahshi Pal, Vijendra Singh son of Soran Singh, Manoka son of Sadhu, Gulab Singh son of Gulla, Kahar, Nanak Chandra son of Kanhaiya Lal Kahar, Harishchandra son of Chandrapal Khatik, Mahendra Singh son of Radheylal, Raju son of Brahmdutta, Dinesh son of Mathura Prasad, Shambhu son of Shivshankar, Santosh son of Shivshankar Sharma, Rajeev @ Chhotey son of Narayan, Hari, Hariom Pandit, nephew of Lala, Komal Prasad, Mukesh Kumar, Bhola son of Rishi Kumar, Nempal Bhatiya son of Khyaliram, Bijuwa son of Ram Singh Jat, Udayveer Singh son of Pop Singh, Daryav Singh son of Popo Singh Jat, Purshottam son of Ramsahai resident of village Rudayan, Sahab Singh Pradhan Bikhlaura Khurd, Netrapal son of Udayveer Jat, Brijveer Bikhlaura Khurd, Shyam Singh son of Shiv Singh Bikhlaura Khurd, Pappe son of Mathura Prasad, Pappu son of Mishri Lal, Vashisht, Nannu, Dinesh son of Rajkumar (Pathak), Premchandra son of Gangasharan, Mahesh and Vishnu sons of Gendalal, Nathuram son fo Sunehri Lal, Sunil son of Ramkesh, Dinesh son of Roopkishore, Rajanlal Advocate, Narayannahri Mishra son of Ramgopal, Kamruddin Pradhan village Bheeka Nagla, police station Sasni, district Aligarh and other persons Narayan Singh village Bilkhaura, Resham Singh Bikhlaura Khurd, Girraj Kishore Bikhlaura Khurd and Mathura Prasad Pradhan Member Leader and Ravendra Pathak Ex-Chief armed with their licenced and unlicenced guns, lathi, ballam, pharsa etc. The aforesaid persons entered into his locality exhorting each other and surrounded their locality from the side of boundary wall of the house of Kunwar Pal Singh. The miscreants who were also carrying torches in their hands started setting their houses ablaze. They also desecrated the statue of Indira Gandhi and started hurling stones and firing at the persons belonging to the Jatav caste who became helpless and started running helter and skelter shouting for help while shots were being fired at them. They endeavoured to douse the fire but the fire was so fierce that they had to run towards the fields to save their lives followed by the accused. They saw their sisters and daughters being beaten and within no time not only they had burnt all the houses of Harijan locality. Even their harvested crops kept in the farmyards and their tubewells were set on fire. Data Ram (deceased), his wife and his daughter were forcibly dragged from their house. Such atrocities had been committed by them on the Harijans in the past also and they would continue to indulge in such activities in future also. The accused were openly threatening that they would not let the Harijans live in the village. On account of the atrocities committed on the Harijans by the accused, cries of sorrow could be heard throughout the village. As they hid themselves to save their lives abandoning their houses which were looted by the accused. The extent of damages caused to the houses of Harijans and details of looted property could be ascertained only after the same was assessed by the affected persons on returning to their homes.

(34) The prosecution in order to prove the charge framed against Kunwarpal Singh, appellant in capital case no. 1368 of 2017, Babu Singh @ Vijendra and Jogendra @ Jogendra Singh, appellants in criminal appeal no. 1370 of 2017, primarily placed reliance upon the evidence of P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh and P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, son and wife of the deceased-Data Ram respectively, P. W. 15 Soorajpal, witness of recoveries, P. W. 16 (informant) Harishankar and P. W. 18 Dayaram Dwivedi, I.O. of the case.

(35) P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, son of the deceased and P. W. 2 Shanti Devi on page 27 of the paper book in his examination-in-chief has categorically deposed that her mother had told him in the evening that at about 5 P.M. accused-Jogendra, Kunwarpal Singh, Babu Singh @ Vijendra, Banwari Lal, Manoka, Komal Prasad, Dinesh Kumar etc. whom his mother knew and of whom Jogendra was armed with katta and rest of the accused were carrying lathi-danda first had beaten his father and thereafter Jogendra Singh had fired at him 2-3 times and then his father was thrown by them into Laha of 35 bighas alive and set ablaze by Kunwarpal Singh. On page 33 of the paper book, he admitted in his cross-examination that his mother had returned to the village after the police had brought the dead body of his father. In his cross-examination on page 29 of the paper book, he admitted that he had not gone to the place where his father had been murdered on 11.3.1990 and on page 30 of the paper book he further stated that his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded by the investigating officer after 10-12 days of the incident in which he stated that he had neither seen his father being murdered nor he had gone to the place of the incident on 11.3.1990. There is nothing in his evidence which may show that he had provided the address of Raja Ram of Jasrana to the police and his mother had been brought from Jasrana to her village by the police. Thus whatever he deposed before the court qua the incident was hearse.

(36) Nothing turns upon the evidence of P. W. 15 Soorajpal who was produced by the prosecution to prove Ext. Ka32 and Ext. Ka33, the recovery memo of ash, plain and bloodstained earth from the place of occurrence from the field of Data Ram where he was shot dead and burnt. However, he in his cross-examination deposed that he did not remember the day and date on which ash, plain simple earth was recovered, his signatures were obtained.

(37) P. W. 16 Harishankar who is the informant of the case in his evidence tendered before the trial court supported the prosecution case as spelt out by him in the F.I.R. and also deposed that accused-Kunwar Pal Singh, Rajendra, Jogendra, Banwari, Manoj and Mulla @ Gulab had after setting the houses of Harijans in the village on fire had gone to the field of his brother-Data Ram and caused his death by throwing him in burning fire, although the aforesaid fact was conspicuous by its absence in the written report of the incident. He in his cross-examination on page 107 of the paper book admitted that he had not seen the incident which had taken place in the field of Data Ram. On page 110 of the paper book, he further admitted that he had no personal knowledge about the persons who had participated in the occurrence and whatever he had stated in the F.I.R. was communicated to him by other people. On page 109 of the paper book, he stated that he was not aware whether on the date of occurrence, 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra, Jogendra Singh and Kunwar Pal Singh was set on fire or not. However in the same page he admitted that appellant-Rajendra Singh and others had filed a criminal case against Sonpal and others alleging that their 'Nauhar' had been set on fire by Sonpal and others which was pending before the trial Court.

(38) P. W. 18 who at the relevant point of time was posted as S.H.O. P.S. Sasni was entrusted with the investigation of the case on 17.3.1990 stated before the trial court that he started the investigation on 17.3.1990 and recorded the statements of Pooranchand, Smt. Shanti Devi on 19.3.1990 while the statement of witnesses Sonpal, Bheekam Singh, Gulab @ Mulla were recorded on 20.3.1990 and 223.1990 respectively. On 24.3.1990, the investigation of the case was transferred to CBCID under the orders of S.S.P. He also stated that he had not recorded the statement of Smt. Shanti Devi before 19.3.1990 and she in her statement made before him had not disclosed the time at which she had gone to her field. She had also not told to him about the exact place where she was cutting grass at the time of the incident but she had told him that she was cutting grass at a place which was adjacent to the grove of Harishankar. He admitted having not recorded the statements of either Rahim Baksh or Narsi. He had also stated that although Shanti Devi had told her that gunshot was fired but she had not told him that the accused had fired thrice. He also stated that P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had not stated before him that if she had raised cries for help the accused would have killed her also. She had neither told him that on the date of incident she had remained unconscious for 10-15 minutes nor that she had become unconscious at all. She had also not told him that after she had gone to Jasrana, she had told about the incident to anyone. She had also not told him that she had not gone to the police station Sasni on account of being a lady.

(39) We now proceed to evaluate the evidence of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, the solitary eye-witness of the murder of Data Ram allegedly committed by appellants, Kunwarpal Singh, Babu Singh @ Vijendra and Jogendra @ Jogendra Singh.

(40) P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her statement recorded before the trial court deposed that her name was Shanti Devi and she was aged about 50 years and resident of Rudayan, police station Sasna, district Aligarh. About 19-20 years before on the day of holi she, her husband and her daughter-Brij Bala had gone from their house to their tubewell. She had left her son-Chhatrapal Singh in her house. They had left their house and had gone to tubewell because they did not want to participate in holi revelry. Her husband had gone to sleep at the tubewell. Strong breeze was blowing. In order to avoid damage to their standing crops she had not switched on the tubewell. While he and Brijbala were cutting grass Raheem Baksh told her that when he was sleeping he had heard a lot of noise coming from the side of the village. While Raheem Baksh was talking to her she saw about 30-40 persons coming towards her from the side of the village, some of whom went towards the house of Netrapal and Narsi while others came to the tubewell. After beating Narsi, his tubewell and hut were set ablaze by them, Kunwarpar Singh, Jogendra, Babu Ji, Banwari, Manoka, Komal etc who were previously known to her beat her husband. Amongst them Jogendra was carrying a katta with him while others were armed with 'lathi-danda'. Jogendra had shot her husband thrice. P. W. 2 Shanti Devi and her daughter-Brijbala ran away due to fear towards Ganda Nala. The aforesaid persons had set on fire her 'Burjiyan', 'Moonj' and four mango trees. She had seen the entire incident while lying on the ground. Her daughter was also lying on the ground but she had not seen seen anything. She had witnessed the whole occurrence and after the mob had gone she went away from the place of occurrence.

(41) Jogendra had fired at her husband-Kunwarpal Singh had then dragged him upto the Laha and after throwing him into the 'Laha' he had set him ablaze. She and Brijbala fled to Bilkhaura from where they went to the house of Raja Ram in Jasrana and narrated the entire incident to him. Police came to the house of Raja Ram at about 9 P.M. and took her back to her village in the police jeep. On reaching her house she saw the charred dead body of her husband lying under the peepal tree. Thakurs' of village had constructed a temple and Sonpal had built his house near the temple and had opened a door of his house towards the temple which was not appreciated by the Thakurs. Animosity which had developed between the Harijans and Jatavs was the cause of the incident.

(42) On page 42 of the paper book, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her cross-examination stated that she was not present in her village. Much emphasis has been laid by the learned counsel for the appellants on the aforesaid part of her testimony to establish that she was not present in the village on the date of the incident and hence it was not possible for her to have witnessed the occurrence.

(43) On page 44 of the paper book, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her cross-examination further deposed that the miscreants had beaten her husband-Data Ram with lathi-danda causing head injury to him. Blood was oozing out from the arms and legs of Data Ram. He was dragged and thrown into Laha after being shot and then set on fire. Data Ram was attacked with lathi and danda at the place which was at a distance of about 4-5 feet from the Laha. After receiving lathi blows, Data Ram had fallen on the ground and thereafter Jogendra had fired three shots at him.

(44) The entire incident which had taken place at about 5 P.M. had lasted for about 10 minutes. Brijbala who was lying on the ground while she was watching the incident after hiding herself. The distance between the place of occurrence and the place from where she had seen the incident was about 100 paces in the west of the Laha near the farmyard. No one else was present at the crime scene from whom she could have asked for help so she kept lying there watching the incident. She had remained unconscious for about 10-15 minutes after the occurrence but Brijbala was conscious throughout and after regaining consciousness she got up and started walking and reached Jasrana. She further admitted that after the miscreants had left the place of occurrence she had not made any effort to go to the place where her husband was lying to find out his condition rather she had gone straight to Bilkhaura from the place where she was hiding.

(45) She on reaching Jasrana had narrated the entire incident but on account of her being a lady she could not go to police station Jasrana. She also stated on page 47 of the paper book that she had told about the occurrence to the darogaji of police station Sasni who had recorded her statement twice. Her first statement was recorded by him at Jasrana. Her second statement was recorded by the investigating officer in her house after two or three days of the occurrence. In her first statement she had told the investigating officer that immediately after the occurrence she and her daughter-Brijbala had gone to the house of Mahipal Jatav in Bilkhaura from the place where they were hiding but he had asked them to leave his house.

(46) P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her cross-examination on page 48 of the paper book stated that she had no knowledge who had told the police that she was in the house of Raja Ram in Jasrana on the night of the occurrence and who had provided the police with the address of Raja Ram.

(47) Upon being contradicted with her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which she had stated that the accused were armed with pharsa, ballam and bhala whereas she in her statement recorded during the trial had deposed that the accused were carrying lathi and danda, she expressed her ignorance why the aforesaid fact had been recorded in her statement by the investigating officer. The statement of fact made by her in her evidence recorded before the trial court that appellant-Kunwarpal Singh had dragged her husband and thrown him into Laha and set him ablaze, was conspicuous by its absence in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and upon being confronted with the aforesaid statement, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi on page 56 of the paper book reiterated that she had disclosed the aforesaid fact to the investigating officer but she was not aware why the said fact was not recorded by him in her statement.

(48) However, the investigating officer of the case, P. W. 18 Dayaram Dwivedi upon being confronted with the aforesaid portion of the testimony of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi on page 124 of the paper book, deposed that witness P. W. 2 Shanti had not stated before him that Kunwarpal Singh had dragged Data Ram's Body into Laha and after throwing him into Laha he had set him ablaze. She had merely made sweeping allegations against all the accused including Kunwarpal Singh that they had dragged her husband's body into Laha in which harvested crops was stored and after throwing him into Laha they had set him ablaze. P. W. 2 Shanti devi had not disclosed to him the place from where she had witnessed the occurrence. She had also not told him that the place from where she had seen the occurrence was at a distance of about 100 paces from the crime scene.

(49) On page 52 of the paper book P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her cross-examination reiterated twice that all the three shots fired by Jogendra had hit her husband causing firearm injuries on his chest. She was again confronted by the defence counsel with her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which she had not stated that she had left her son P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh in her house on the date of incident and the aforesaid fact was deposed by her for the first time before the Court on legal advice, she stated that it appears that investigating officer had not questioned her about her son.

(50) On page 56 of the paper book, she deposed that on reaching Jasrana she had narrated the entire occurrence to Raja Ram but the aforesaid fact was not stated by her in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C at the house of Raja Ram at 9 P.M.

(51) The fact deposed by her in her examination-in-chief that she had left her house on the date of occurrence at 11 A.M. does not find mention in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. On page 51 of the paper book. A suggestion was given to her that she had gone to Jasrana before the occurrence and she had not seen the incident and that she had given false evidence due to enmity between the two communities but she denied the same. On page 58 of the paper book she again denied the suggestion given to her that no such incident as narrated by her in her evidence had taken place and that she had not seen the incident as she had gone to her sister's house in Jasrana on the date of incident in the morning much before the occurrence had taken place and that she had given false evidence against the accused under the pressure of of her brothers-in-law Hari Shankar and Sonpal.

(52) Another very important circumstance which puts a big question mark against her claim of being the eye-witness of the occurrence is that no explanation is coming forth from her vis-a-vis if after she had fled from the place of incident and had gone to the house of his brother-in-law Raja Ram in Jasrana via Bilkhaura and had narrated the entire occurrence to her brother-in-law Raja Ram as deposed by her in her evidence before the trial court, although admittedly the aforesaid fact was not disclosed by her to the investigating officer in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. then why no first information report of the incident was lodged by her or by Raja Ram. If she had actually seen the incident and narrated the entire occurrence to her brother-in-law Raja Ram in Jasrana then an F.I.R. of the incident is not only would have certainly been lodged promptly either by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi or by Raja Ram. The aforesaid contradictions, discrepancies and omissions on the part of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi clearly belies her claim of being present in the village and witnessed the occurrence and the defence version that infact she had left the village on the date of incident in the morning and had gone to her sister's house in Jasrana with her daughter-Brij Bala and possibly her son also and after the incident had taken place, she was brought back to her village by the police and the possibility of the version of the incident given by her in her deposition before the trial court being tutored cannot be ruled out.

(53) After having very carefully scanned the statement of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, we find that there are material contradictions in her statement recorded before the trial court and that recorded during the investigation, to which we have already adverted to and dealt with in detail belie her claim of being the eye-witness of the occurrence. Her failure in not going to the place where her husband had been shot dead and thrown into Laha and set ablaze by the accused after they had gone for the purpose of inquiring about the condition of her husband and instead her fleeing from the place of occurrence with her daughter-Brij Bala on foot to her sister's house in Bilkhaura and not reporting the matter to the police station Jasrana, although Jasrana fell on the way to Bilkhaura or even at police station Bilkhaura, in case she had actually witnessed the occurrence, appears to be totally opposed to normal human conduct under such circumstances. Moreover the medical evidence on record does not corroborate the manner of assault on deceased-Data Ram as narrated by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi. P. W. 2 Shanti Devi has in her evidence tendered during the trial consistently deposed that her husband had been shot by appellant-Jogendra thrice. However the postmortem report of the deceased indicates that he had received only one firearm wound of entry. There are several loose ends and material loopholes in the prosecution story which have been left unexplained. The prosecution case is very specific that apart from P. W. 2 Shanti Devi no other villager had witnessed the occurrence. P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had deposed that although her daughter-Brij Bala was also present with her at the time of the incident but she had not witnessed the occurrence. The prosecution case further is that immediately after the occurrence, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had fled to the house of her sister in Bilkhaura with her daughter-Brij Bala. Now there is no evidence on record indicating as to how the police came to know about the charred dead body lying in the Laha was that of Data Ram and who identified the charred dead body as that of Data Ram. Further there is no evidence on record showing how the police came to know about P. W. 2 Shanti Devi being in her sister's house in Jasrana from where the police had brought her to her village on a police jeep.

(54) The above inconsistencies in the prosecution case thus give rise to a very strong inference that the prosecution has not come up with clean hands and the true genesis of the incident has been suppressed. There are too many loose threads in the prosecution case and material contradictions in the evidence of sole eye-witness-P. W. 2 Shanti Devi which go to the core of the prosecution story rendering it unreliable.

(55) It is noteworthy that in the F.I.R. there are no mention that the appellants had committed the murder of Data Ram in his field and thrown his dead body into 'Laha'. The written report of the incident merely contains vague and sweeping allegations against all the persons nominated as accused in the written report that they had caught hold of deceased-Data Ram, his wife, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi and his daughter-Brij Bala and had taken them away somewhere. The aforesaid allegations in the written report run counter to the facts stated by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her examination-in-chief.

(56) The F.I.R. does not contain any recital that the appellants after taking away the deceased-Data Ram, his wife and his daughter with them had shot Data Ram and had thereafter thrown him into Laha.

(57) The F.I.R. is also totally silent on the point how, when and by whom the dead body of Data Ram was recovered.

(58) It is not the case of the prosecution that P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had informed either the police or any villager about the murder of her husband.

(59) We have very carefully examined the evidence of the first investigating officer of the case and P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, the son of the deceased but there is nothing in their evidence which may indicate that who told the police that P. W. 2 Shanti devi was in Jasrana, that when and by whom charred dead body of Data Ram was discovered and that who identified the charred dead body as that of Data Ram.

(60) The prosecution has further been unable to come up with any explanation why Data Ram alone was chosen by the appellants for committing his murder. Although if the prosecution story as spelt out in the F.I.R. is accepted to be true then at the time of the incident large number of people were firing with their firearms at the victims who were running helter and skelter and whose houses had been burnt by the accused but none had received any firearm injury. The two persons Umesh Chandra and Narsi who had allegedly received injuries in the incident, their injury reports Ext. Ka34 and Ext. Ka36 do not indicate any firearm wound or gunshot injury on their person.

(61) The prosecution has thus failed to come up with with any motive for the accused-appellants for singling out Data Ram for committing his murder in a brutal manner.

(62) It is true that the law is settled that a conviction can be based upon the evidence of a solitary witness provided that such witnesses appears to be a wholly reliable witnesses. In case the sole witness produced during the trial appears to be totally dependable, in that case the Court can record a conviction without seeking corroboration from the evidence of any other witness but where the solitary witness is not wholly reliable, then the rule of prudence demands that the Court should look for corroboration from other evidence. In the instant case, we have already found that P. W. 2 Shanti Devi is not at all a reliable witness and in our opinion it would not be safe at all to maintain the recorded conviction of the appellants on the basis of the testimony of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi which does not find corroboration from any other evidence including medical evidence on record.

(63) There is yet another very interesting aspect of the matter. No explanation is coming forth from the side of the prosecution for its omission to examine Brij Bala, the daughter of the deceased who as per the evidence of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi was present with her at the place where she was hiding and from where she had witnessed the incident. She would have been the best witness at least to corroborate the testimony of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi or at least to prove the presence of P. W. 2 Shanti devi at the place of incident. Similarly the prosecution has failed to come up with any plausible reason for not examining Rahim Baksh who was present at the tubewell of the deceased as deposed by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in her examination-in-chief when P. W. 2 Shanti Devi had seen 30-40 persons coming from the side of the village towards her. Even Narsi who had his house near the tubewell of Data Ram and as deposed by P. W. 2 Shanti Devi before the Court he was beaten up by the mob and his house burnt by the appellants and the other co accused and whose injury reports had been brought on record by the prosecution during the trial as Ext. Ka34 was not produced as witnesses. It is not the case of the prosecution that Brij Bala, Narsi and Rahim Baksh had been won over by the accused and they would not have supported the prosecution story if they were produced during the trial.

(64) Thus, under the circumstances of the case, the failure of the prosecution to examine Brij Bala, Narsi and Rahim Baksh who very material witnesses of the case compels us to draw an adverse inference against the prosecution that in case Brij Bala and Rahim Baksh had been produced during the trial, they would not have supported the prosecution case. The aforesaid three persons would have been the best witness who would have corroborated the claim of P. W. 2 Shanti Devi of her being the eye-witness of the occurrence.

(65) Thus, in view of the foregoing discussion, we do not find it safe to confirm the recorded conviction of the appellants-Kunwarpal Singh, Babu Singh @ Vijendra, Jogendra @ Jogendra Singh recorded by the trial court on the basis of the evidence of all the three witnesses, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi in our opinion is not a wholly reliable witness. Although it evinces from her evidence recorded during the trial that at the time of the occurrence at least three persons, Rahim Baksh, Narsi and her daughter-Brij Bala were present at the place of incident who had been deliberately withheld by the prosecution.

(66) Now coming to the second set of appeals preferred by Rajendra, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1371 of 2017, Hariom, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1473 of 2017, Anil @ Pappey, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1289 of 2017, Santosh, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1440 of 2017, Shambhoo and Dinesh, appellants in criminal appeal no. 1296 of 2017 and Mukesh, Anil Kumar and Umashankar, appellants in criminal appeal no. 1302 of 2017. We find that the prosecution in order to establish the charges framed against the aforesaid appellants had examined, P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, P. W. 3 Chokhe Lal, P. W. 4 Zalim Singh, P. W. 5 Mahesh, P. W. 6 Son Pal, P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar, P. W. 8 Ram Kumari, P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra, P. W. 10 Shankar Lal, P. W. 11 Veerpal, P. W. 12 Saudan Singh, P. W. 13 Gulab Singh, P. W. 15 Soorajpal and P. W. 16 Harishankar, the informant of the case were examined as witnesses of fact while P. W. 14 V. S. Sirohi, the second investigating officer of the case who had competed the investigation and filed charge sheets, P. W. 17 Dr. Gyan S. Sharma, who had examined the injuries of Umesh Chandra son of Shishu Pal Singh and Narsi son of Bhagwan Singh and prepared their injury reports and proved the same as Ext. Ka34 to Ext. Ka36, P. W. 18 Dayaram Dwivedi, second investigating officer of the case were produced as formal witnesses.

(67) Learned counsel for the appellants have submitted that considering the glaring contradictions, material improvements and irreconcilable discrepancies in the statements of the witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution during the trial who had supported the prosecution case and also in view of admitted enmity between the prosecution witnesses and the appellants, the conviction of the appellants recorded by the trial court on the basis of the testimonies of such witnesses cannot be sustained. The inconsistencies in their statements with regard to the identity and number of the accused who had allegedly participated in committing the offences, belie their claim of being the eye-witnesses of the occurrence.

(68) He next submitted that the failure of the prosecution to furnish any explanation for the burning of the house of Rajendra, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1371 of 2017 clearly indicates that the true genesis of the occurrence had been suppressed and the prosecution had not approached with clean hands. Although there is cross version of the occurrence indicating that the true prosecution side had also burnt the houses of some of the accused-appellants. Such being the state of evidence, neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentences awarded to them can be sustained and is liable to be set aside.

(69) Per contra Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State-respondent has made his submissions in support of the impugned judgment and order and submitted that neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentences awarded to them suffer from any illegality or infirmity requiring any interference by this Court. This appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

(70) Having heard the learned counsel for the parties present and perused the entire lower court record, we find that the prosecution in order to prove the charges framed against appellants-Rajendra, Hariom, Anil @ Pappey, Santosh, Shankar Lal, Dinesh, Mukesh, Anil Kumar and Umashankar and the other accused had examined as many as 15 witnesses of fact namely P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, P. W. 2 Shanti Devi, P. W. 3 Chokhe Lal, P. W. 4 Zalim Singh, P. W. 5 Mahesh, P. W. 6 Son Pal, P. W. 7

Ashok Kumar, P. W. 8 Ram Kumari, P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra, P. W. 10 Shankar Lal, P. W. 11 Veerpal, P. W. 12 Saudan Singh, P. W. 13 Gulab Singh, P. W. 15 Soorajpal and P. W. 16 Harishankar. Out of the aforesaid fact witnesses, P. W. 3 Chokhe Lal, P. W. 4 Zalim Singh, P. W. 5 Mahesh, P. W. 6 Sonpal and P. W. 13 Gulab Singh had failed to support the prosecution case as spelt out in the F.I.R. and were declared hostile. Upon being contradicted with their statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the DGC (Criminal) in which they had allegedly supported the prosecution case, they in their cross-examination conducted by him with the permission of the Court denied having made any such statement to the investigating officer. It is noteworthy that the prosecution had failed to examine the investigating officer who had recorded the statements of P. W. 3 Chokhe Lal, P. W. 4 Zalim Singh, P. W. 5 Mahesh, P. W. 6 Sonpal and P. W. 13 Gulab Singh under Section 161 Cr.P.C. as he would have been the best witness to prove that the aforesaid hostile witnesses had supported the prosecution case during investigation and they had not deposed true and correct facts before the Court.

(71) As far as P. W. 15 Soorajpal and P. W. 16 Harishankar, the informant of the case are concerned, nothing turns on their evidence as admittedly they were not the eye-witnesses of the occurrence.

(72) We have already dealt with the evidence of P. W. 15 Soorajpal and P. W. 16 Harishankar hereinabove.

(73) P. W. 14 V. S. Sirohi, the third investigating officer of the case in his evidence tendered before the trial court has merely narrated the steps taken by him during the investigation and prepared and proved the charge-sheets filed by him against all the appellants after completing the investigation as Ext. Ka31 and Ext. Ka32.

(74) We are now left with the evidence of P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar, P. W. 8 Ram Kumari, P. W. 10 Shankar Lal, P. W. 11 Veerpal and P. W. 12 Saudan Singh against the appellants.

(75) P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh in his examination-in-chief nominated Gulab Singh @ Mulla alone as the accused who had set his house ablaze. He did not take the name of any other appellant. Gulab Singh died during the trial and the trial stood abated qua Gulab Singh.

(76) P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar in his statement recorded before the trial Court stated that appellants-Jogendra, Rajendra, Kunwar Pal Singh and non-appellants-Banwari, Mulla @ Gulab Singh and Raju etc. had come to his house on the date of incident on 11.3.1990 at about 4 P.M. He was in his house with his wife, Kamlesh, mother-Ram Kumari, sister-in-law-Vidya Devi, brother-Umashankar and children while they were taking their lunch, he heard sounds of voices exhorting to kill and burn and when he came out of his house he saw a mob which included appellants-Jogendra, Rajendra and Kunwar Pal Singh and non-appellants-Banwari, Mulla @ Gulab and Raja etc. Appellants-Rajendra and Jogendra had abused his mother and had beaten her and his other family members and after locking them inside their house, they had sprinkled kerosene oil and set his house ablaze, although his mother had requested them with folded hands to let them go but they did not show any mercy to her. He managed to save his family by demolishing the rear wall of his house. On page 117 of the paper book he in his cross-examination stated that he was facing trial in a case on the charge of having set on fire 'Nauhra' of Rajendra and others on the date of occurrence in which his father was also an accused. On the same page, he further admitted that on the date of incident, the police had arrived in the village at about 4:30 P.M. On page 117 of the paper book, he stated that he had not got any member of his family or himself medically examined. He further stated that he did not appreciate the act of Rajendra lodging a cross F.I.R. against him.

(77) P. W. 8 Ram Kumari corroborated the evidence of her son P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar but she did not name non-appellants-Banwari, Mulla @ Gulab Singh and Raju also as accused, although P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar had nominated them also as accused who had set his house ablaze. She had stated that she could recognize Kunwarpal Singh, Jogendra and Rajendra only as most of the assailants had their faces smeared with colours. P. W. 8 Ram Kumari also admitted in her cross-examination that on the date of incident, 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra, Kunwar Pal Singh and Jogendra had been burnt.

(78) Thus, from the perusal of the evidence of P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar and P. W. 8 Ram Kumari, it transpires that appellant-Rajendra had lodged a cross F.I.R. of the occurrence alleging therein that his house had been set ablaze by P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar, his father-P. W. 6 Sonpal and others and hence the possibility of P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar and P. W. 8 Ram Kumari falsely implicating Rajendra, Kunwar Pal Singh and Jogendra in this case due to enmity cannot be ruled out.

(79) P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra stated before the trial court that on the date of incident Dinesh, Premchand, Karuwa, Nahna, Umashankar, Ram Dev, Anil Kumar, Mukesh and Pappu came to his house and after threatening to kill them they with the help of other persons had set his house ablaze after P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra and his family members had come out of the same. In his cross-examination on page 78 of the paper book, he admitted that Dinesh, Hariom, Prem Chandra had set the 'Nauhra' of Rajendra, Jogendra and Kunwar Pal Singh on fire. He further admitted in his cross-examination that the miscreants were carrying torches, cans filled with kerosene oil and cow dung cakes and they were setting the houses ablaze by dipping cow dungs into the kerosene oil and they throwing the same on the roofs of the houses. The aforesaid fact was conspicuous by its absence in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and when he was contradicted with the same he stated that he had told the aforesaid fact to the investigating officer but he had no explanation why he had not recorded the same in his statement. He also admitted in his cross-examination that although the accused had threatened to kill him and his family members but when they came out of their house they had not stopped them and after he had come out of his house, the above named accused had entered into his house and set it ablaze. When he was contradicted with his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in which the aforesaid fact was conspicuous by its absence, he deposed that he had told the said fact to the investigating officer. He had no explanation why the aforesaid fact did not find mention in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

(80) From the perusal of the statement of P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra, it transpires that he had not nominated appellants-Rajendra, Hariom, Jogendra Singh as accused, although P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar and P. W. 8 Ram Kumari had named them as accused. It further follows from the facts stated by him in his statement recorded before the trial court that he made material improvements in his evidence tendered during the trial by stating the facts which were not mentioned in his statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to suit the prosecution. Thus, P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra does not appears to be a reliable witness at all.

(81) P. W. 10 Shankar Lal stated before the trial court that accused-appellants-Rajendra, Kunwar Pal Singh and Jogendra etc had constructed a temple on the land belonging to the Jatavs in his village. Sonpal Singh had opened the door of his house towards the temple. However due to pressure exerted on him by the Thakurs of the village, he had closed the door of his house due to which relations between Thakurs and Jatavs had become inimical. On the date of incident while holi festival was being celebrated at about 3-4 P.M., the appellants-Kunwar Pal Singh, Rajendra, Jogendra, Santosh, Hariom, non-appellants-Devesh, Kaluwa, Nahna came with about 50-60 other persons and after dividing themselves into several groups, appellants-Hariom, Santosh, Dinesh, non-appellants, Kaluwa and Devesh had set his house on fire. They were armed with lathi and danda. Apart from beating them they had also fired shots. There is no evidence on record showing that he or his family members had got their injuries examined. He further stated that he had fled from his house with his children and on returning to his house he had found his house had been plundered and his household articles burnt. He also stated that a report of the incident was lodged by him at the police station after 10-16 days of the occurrence. He in his cross-examination denied that 'Nauhra' of the appellants-Kunwar Pal Singh, Rajendera and Jogendra had also been set on fire on the date of the incident. He also stated that he had no knowledge whether appellant-Rajendra had lodged a first information report against his uncles-Sonpal, Chokhe Lal and Khachermal with regard to the burning of his 'Nauhra'.

(82) P. W. 11 Veerpal stated before the trial court that on the date of incident at about 3 P.M., appellants-Dinesh Darji, Hariom, Shambhoo and non-appellant Premchandra along with 8-10 other persons whom he could not recognize as their faces were smeared with colour had thrown brickbats at his house on which he got scared and ran away. Upon returning, he found thatched roof of several houses of the locality had been burnt. Some household articles were missing. In his cross-examination, he stated that he was not aware about the identity of the persons who had burnt the houses. He further stated in his evidence that some persons had set 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra and Kunwarpal Singh ablaze. Thus, it is evident from the statement of P .W. 11 Veerpal that he had not seen the persons who had burnt his house. Thus, nothing turns upon his evidence against the appellants.

(83) P. W. 12 Saudan Singh stated before the trial court that on the date of incident at about 3:30 P.M., appellants-Dinesh Darji, Hariom and non-appellants-

Premchandra and Sunil came to his house with 10-15 persons whom he could not recognize as their faces were smeared with colour. They had burnt the thatched roof of his house as well as the thatched roofs of the house of his son. In his cross-examination, he admitted that apart from Dinesh Darji, 10-15 other persons whose faces were smeared with colour had burnt his house. Upon seeing the mob, he had not run away when the thatched roof of his house was ablaze. The police was also present in the village. He had requested the S.O. with folded hands. He also admitted that on the date of incident, 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra and Kunwar Pal Singh had been set on fire. He also stated that the investigating officer had not recorded his statement during the investigation. Thus, it is proved from the evidence of P. W. 12 Saudan Singh that the facts deposed by him before the trial court were stated by him for the first time as he had admitted that the investigating officer had not recorded his statement during the investigation and considering the fact that he has named only appellants-Dinesh Darji and Hariom as the perpetrators of the crime and has failed to depose against the other appellants, we do not find him a reliable witness.

(84) A persual of the statement of P. W. 7 to P. W. 12, it evinces that none of them have stated that all the appellants namely Rajendra, Hariom, Anil @ Pappey, Santosh, Raja, Dinesh, Mukesh, Anil @ Bhola and Umashankar had participated in the occurrence. It has also come in their evidence that at the time when the houses of Harijans were being allegedly burnt, the miscreants had smeared their faces with colour and the witnesses could not recognize them. It also follows from their statements that the relations between the Jatavs and the Thakurs of the villages were inimical on account of the fact that the Thakurs had constructed a temple on the land of P. W. 6 Sonpal who had opened the door of his house facing the temple but he had closed the same on account of the pressure exerted on him by the Thakurs of the village. It is also established from the evidence on record that on the date of incident, 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra, Jogendra and Kunwar Pal Singh was also burnt with regard to which a cross F.I.R. was lodged by appellant-Rajendra against P. W. 6 Sonpal, uncle of P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh and his father-P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar.

(85) Upon a further careful scrutiny of the statements of P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar, P. W. 8 Ram Kumari, P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra, P. W. 10 Shankar Lal, P. W. 11 Veerpal and P. W. 12 Saudan Singh, we find that there is a glaring discrepancy in their statements with regard to the number of accused-appellants who had set their houses ablaze while P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh nominated P. W. 13 Gulab Singh alone. P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar nominated appellants-Jogendra, Rajendra and Kunwarpal Singh and non-appellants, Banwari, Mulla @ Gulab, Raja and other unknown persons as accused, his mother-P. W. 8 Ram Kumari did not name non-appellants Banwari, Mulla @ Gulab and Raja also as accused. P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra while nominating Dinesh, Premchand, Karuwa, Nahna, Umashankar, Ramdev, Anil Kumar, Mukesh as the persons who had torched his house failed to name appellants-Rajendra, Hariom and Jogendra Singh as accused. P. W. 10 Shankar Lal again nominated appellants-

Rajendra, Kunwarpal Singh, Jogendra, Santosh and Hariom and non-appellants Devesh, Karuwa who according to him had beaten him with lathi and danda and fired shots in the air and had plundered his household articles in his absence. P. W. 11 Veerpal nominated appellants-Dinesh Darji, Hariom, Shambhoo and non-appellants Premchand along with 8-10 other persons who could not be recognized by the witness but did not attribute any overt act to them. P. W. 12 Saudan Singh named Dinesh Darji, Premchand, Hariom and Sunil as the persons who had burnt his house as well as the house of his son. It has also come in their evidence as already noted by us hereinabove that the members of the mob which was torching the houses belonging to the Jatavs in the locality and plundering their houses had their faces smeared with colour. It is highly improbable that if the incident had taken place while the festival of holi was being celebrated why the appellants alone decided not to put colour on their faces and expose themselves to the danger of being recognized and identified as the persons who had committed the offences with a large number of other unknown persons. It is proved to the hilt from the statements of the prosecution witnesses that there was enmity between the Jatavs and the Thakurs of the village due to the fact that the Thakurs had not appreciated the act of P. W. 6 Sonpal of opening the door of his house towards the temple which they had allegedly constructed on the land of P. W. 6 Sonpal but on account of the threat and pressure of the Thakurs, he had closed the same. It is also established from the evidence of the prosecution witnesses that on the date of incident 'Nauhar' of appellants-Rajendra, Jogendra and Kunwarpal Singh had also been burnt with regard to which a cross F.I.R. was lodged by appellant-Rajendra against P. W. 6 Sonpal, uncle of P. W. 1 Chhatrapal Singh, his father and P. W. 7 Ashok Kumar. The prosecution has failed to come up with any explanation for the burning of 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra, Jogendra and Kunwarpal Singh in the same occurrence. There is no mention in the F.I.R. of the occurrence which was lodged by P. W. 16 Harishankar about the 'Nauhra' of appellants-Rajendra, Jogendra and Kunwarpal Singh also having been burnt in the same incident. It is also proved from the evidence of P. W. 16 Harishankar and P. W. 12 Saudan Singh that even before the lodging of the F.I.R. while the occurrence was taking place the police had arrived at the crime scene and hence the possibility of the written report being prepared and scribed after the due deliberations and consultations between the police and P. W. 16 Harishankar containing a false and concocted prosecution story falsely implicating the appellants cannot be ruled out.

(86) Another very startling aspect of the matter is that although none of the prosecution witnesses have deposed about the complicity of Anil @ Pappey, appellant in criminal appeal no. 1289 of 2017 but it appears that he has been convicted by the learned trial judge illegally by placing reliance on the evidence of P. W. 9 Suresh Chandra who on page 78 of the paper book had deposed about the participation Anil Kumar, A2 in criminal appeal no. 1302 of 2017.

(87) Since it has come in the evidence of two prosecution witnesses that the police was present in the village at the time when the accused-appellants were allegedly indulging in act of violence and arson. No explanation is coming forth from the side of the prosecution as to how the accused-appellants could set ablaze the houses of the members of the Jatavs community in the village in the presence of the police. It is difficult for us to believe that devastation of such magnitude could be caused by the accused-appellants in the presence of the police in the village including the S.H.O. of the police.

(88) The cumulative effect of the aforesaid omission, inconsistencies and loopholes in the prosecution case compels us to hold that the true genesis of the incident has been suppressed and the prosecution has not come with clean hands and under the facts and circumstances of the case, the possibility of appellants-Rajendra, Hariom, Anil @ Pappey, Santosh, Shambhoo, Dinesh Darji, Mukesh, Anil @ Bhola, Umashankar having been falsely implicated in the present case cannot be ruled out. Although the offence had been committed by the persons who had camoflash themselves by smearing their faces with colour whom the witnesses were unable to recognize and the appellants were falsely implicated in the present case after due deliberations and consultations with the police. It has come in the evidence of P. W. 12 Saudan Singh that when the houses of the Jatav were being burnt, the S.H.O. were present in the village and he had requested to him with folded hands to stop the genocide.

(89) Thus, upon a wholesome consideration of the facts of the case, attending circumstances and the nature of the evidence on record, we do not find that the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the accused-appellants beyond all reasonable doubt and they are entitled to benefit of doubt. Hence neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentences awarded to them can be sustained and are liable to be set aside.

(90) Now coming to the third set namely Criminal Misc. Application u/S 372 Cr.P.C. (Leave to Appeal) No. 284 of 2017 which has been filed by appellant-Rajendra Singh seeking leave to file an appeal against the judgment and order dated 14.7.2017 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Hathras in cross case namely S.T. No. 153 of 2010 (State Vs. Niranjan Singh and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 78-B of 1990, under Sections 147, 148, 436, 323/149, 427, 295, 307 I.P.C., P. S. Sasani, District Hathras by which he has acquitted opposite party nos. 2 to 5 from all the charges.

(91) Briefly stated the facts of this case are that the informant-Rajendra Singh gave a written report at P.S. Sasani, District Hathras on 7.3.1990 stating therein that the accused-Sonpal resident of village Rudayan in connivance with several other villagers had demolished the temple constructed on public land. Upon the information of the incident given by the Chief of the village to the police station, the police force arrived at the crime scene on which Sonpal fled. A written compromise was arrived at between the parties in which it was agreed that the temple shall be re-constructed and Sonpal shall not open his door towards it. The compromise was signed by Village Chief and Sub Village Chief, Surajpal etc. The police inspector returned to the police station with the written compromise.

Thereafter, the temple was reconstructed on 9.3.1990 Sonpal and several members belonging to the Jatav caste damaged the wall of the temple at two places with the object of removing the doors of the temple. The villagers including those belonging to the Jatav caste tried to remonstrate with Sonpal but he along with Niranjan, ramesh, Chandrapal, Indrapal, Bhagwandas, Satish, Sonpal, Bhajanlal, Laxmi etc. refused to relent. On noticing that the situation was getting out of control, Village Chief and Sub Village Chief Sri Ravendra Pathak somehow succeeded in persuading the parties to enter into compromise and it was again agreed that one door of the temple shall be removed.

(92) On 11.3.1990 at about 4 P.M., when they went to the temple to celebrate holi, singing holi songs, they saw Sonpal, Bhawan Singh, Chokhey, Ashok, Netrapal, Zalim, Jagdish, Man Singh, Shishupal, Durga, Gulab, Chandrapal, Khajani, Pappu, Phool Singh, Babu etc. coming towards the temple hurling abuses at them and started throwing stones at them. In order to save themselves, they started running helter and skelter. Phool Singh, Babu, Chokhey, Sonpal and several other persons set their houses on fire and fired shots in the air. Some members of the Jatav community set their own houses also on fire. Someone gave information of the occurrence to the police on which police force arrived at 5:30 P.M.. Informant's Nauhra and all the items kept by him in his agricultural field were burnt. The informant had suffered a loss of Rs. 3000/-

(93) On the basis of the written complaint lodged by the informant, case crime no. 78-B of 1990 was registered on 12.03.1990 against all the accused.

(94) The investigating officer after completing the investigation filed charge-sheet against Sonpal, Mitthu, Khacche, Chokhey, Ashok, Netrapal, Zalim, Jagdish, Kehri Singh, Khajan, Vimlesh, Man Singh, Shishu Pal, Durga, Chandrapal, Gulab, Khajani Pappu, Phool Singh, Lalu, Ramesh, Radheyshyam, Niranjan, Satish, Gramsingh and Indrapal.

(95) Since the offences mentioned in the charge-sheet were triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions Judge, C.J.M. Hathras committed the accused for trial to the Court of Sessions Judge, Hathras where case crime no. 78-B of 1990 was registered as S.T. No. 153 of 2010 (State Vs. Niranjan Singh and others) and made over for trial from there to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Hathras who on the basis of the material on record framed charge under Sections 147, 148, 436, 323/149, 307, 427 and 295 I.P.C. The accused abjured the charge and claimed trial.

(96) The prosecution in order to prove its case against the accused examined P. W. 1 Insaf Ali, P. W. 2 V. S. Sirohi, P. W. 3 Rajendra Singh (informant) and P. W. 4 Dayaram Dwivedi as witnesses.

(97) The prosecution also adduced documentary evidence consisting of photo copy of the chek F.I.R. , photo copy of the written report of the incident, charge-sheet Ext. Ka1, site plans of the place of occurrence Ext. Ka2, Ext. Ka3 and Ext Ka5, recovery memo of the ash recovered from the place of incident Ext. Ka4.

(98) The accused in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case as false and alleged false implication.

(99) Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Hathras after considering the submissions advanced before him by the learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the evidence on record, acquitted the opposite party nos. 2 to 5 by the impugned judgment and order.

(100) Hence this application.

(101) It is contended by the learned counsel for the applicant that the finding of the acquittal recorded by the learned trial judge is vitiated by non consideration of the material evidence on record. The impugned judgment and order which is per se illegal and is liable to be set aside.

(102) Having heard the learned counsel for the applicant and perused the entire lower court record very carefully, we find that the two witnesses of fact examined during the trial were declared hostile after they failed to support the prosecution case regarding the complicity of the opposite parties.

(103) The learned trial judge after considering the evidence on record, came to the conclusion that the prosecution has miserably failed to establish the charges framed against the opposite party nos. 2 to 5 and proceeded to acquit them after giving benefit of doubt to them.

(104) We have very carefully perused the impugned judgment and order as well as the entire lower court record including the statements of the witnesses recorded during the trial and we do not find that the learned trial judge committed any illegality or legal infirmity in acquitting the opposite party nos. 2 to 5. Both the eye-witnesses of the occurrence had failed to support the prosecution case during the trial and were declared hostile. The finding of acquittal recorded by the learned trial court is supported by cogent reasons and relevant considerations. Learned counsel for the appellants has failed to demonstrate that the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court is vitiated by non-consideration of any relevant material or is perverse. The application for leave to appeal is liable to be rejected.

(105) We accordingly refuse to grant leave to the applicant-Rajendra Singh to file appeal against the impugned judgment and order.

(106) These are the reasons upon which we had allowed Capital Case No. 1368 of 2017 along with connected Criminal Appeal Nos. 1289 of 2017, 1296 of 2017, 1302 of 2017, 1370 of 2017, 1371 of 2017, 1440 of 2017, 1473 of 2017 and dismissed Reference No. 3 of 2017 and Criminal Misc. Application u/s 372 Cr.P.C. (Leave to Appeal) No. 284 of 2017.

The brief facts of prosecution case are that the accused-appellant Gyanendra Singh @ Raja Singh is father of victim (PW-2) (name of the victim is not being disclosed in this judgment) aged about 9 years. PW-1, Smt. Rajani @ Deepa is real mother of PW-2, victim whereas PW-3, Ram Naresh Singh @ Thakur Deen is grand-father of the victim. On 28.10.2015, at about 14:15 p.m., PW-1, Smt. Rajani lodged First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "F.I.R.') (Ex.Ka.1) at P.S. Chandpur, District Fatehpur alleging that she had gone to her parental house about two months ago with her youngest son Krishna, aged about 2 years, leaving her minor daughter, victim aged about 9 years and a son named

At that very time her husband Gyanendra Singh @ Raja Singh came to victim, enticed and took her away at the roof of the house where he committed rape with the victim, and detained her on roof by threatening her. In the morning when victim came down from the roof, narrated whole occurrence to her grand-father PW-3 Ram Naresh Singh. It has further been alleged that the whole occurrence was informed by PW-3 Ram Naresh to Informant on phone. After the occurrence, since appellant was absconding, PW-1, informant could not dare to go to her matrimonial house due to terror of the appellant. On 28.10.2015, she, by taking courageous steps, went to P.S. Chandpur, District Fatehpur with her father Ranjeet Singh, PW-3 father-in-law Ram Naresh Singh along with her daughter (victim) and filed a F.I.R. against appellant with prayer for medical examination of the victim. It has further been mentioned in the F.I.R. that a day before, Informant had gone to District Headquarter, Fatehpur where she was directed to approach P.S. Chandpur to lodge F.I.R. Upon such information, Chick F.I.R. 3. Investigation was undertaken by PW-7, Rajesh Kumar Singh, Investigation Officer (I.O). Victim was sent for medical examinationn and examined by PW-4, Dr. Manisha Shukla. According to her, no external injury was found on the body of the victim. On internal examination, there was a redness present over the labia minora in the vagina of the victim; Hymen was intact; Victim was then referred for x-ray examination in order to determine her age. She (PW-4) had prepared medical examination report (Ex.Ka.3). Oral, vaginal, vulval and anal swab were taken, slide was prepared and sent for pathological examination for D.N.A. test as well as for examination of spermatozoa.

4. During investigation, PW-7, S.I., Rajesh Kumar Singh recorded statement of witnesses and inspected place of occurrence, prepared site plan Ex.Ka.6, and arrested appellant. The certificate of date of birth from the victim's school was taken. Victim was produced before Judicial Magistrate for recording her statement under Section 164 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Code) where her statement (Ex.Ka.2) was recorded to the following effect:-

"The victim (.....) has been presented by the I.O. Rajesh Kumar Singh under the Order of Chief Judicial Magistrate dated 3.11.2015 for recording the statement in relation to C.C. No. 236/15, U/s 376 (2 cha) (2 jha) I.P.C. and Sectio ¾ POCSO Act, P.S. Chandpur, District Fatehpur. The Victim (.....) stated that her father's name Raja @ Gyanendra Singh R/o Chandpur, Fatehpur aged 9 years, occupation student. I in the night of 22.10.2015 around 9:00 pm was sleeping. He inserted his private part into my private part and kept on rubbing. I was crying but he clasped my mouth. My mother was not there at home. There was only me, grand-father, grand-mother and my 4 year old brother was there at home. I got faint around 3:00 a.m. My father continued this bad act with me upto 3:00 a.m. My father kissed also my private part. I gained my conscious at 8:00 a.m. and I felt excruciating pain in my private part. The statement dictated by the witness have been recorded verbatim by me."

5. Thereafter, investigation was taken over by PW-6, S.I. Ranvijay Singh due to the transfer of PW-7, S.I. Rajesh Kumar Singh, who copied medical examination report of victim in case diary. The investigation was further taken over by PW-8, S.I. Shubh Narain due to the transfer of PW-6, S.I. Ranvijay Singh. The undergarment of victim was taken into custody by him and he prepared recovery memo (Ex.Ka.7) perused and verified statement of witnesses available in case diary, concluded investigation and filed charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.8) against appellant U/s 376 (2) (f), 2 (i) I.P.C. and 3/4 of POCSO Act, 2012.

I hereby direct that your trial for the above charges be heard by this Court.

The accused was read aloud the charges which he denied and claimed to be tried. (English translation by Court)

7. Charges were read over and explained to accused-appellant who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

8. In support of prosecution case, it examined nine witnesses out of whom PW-1, Smt. Rajani (wife of appellant), PW-2, victim (daughter of appellant) and PW-3, Ram Naresh (father of appellant) are witnesses of fact and rest are formal witnesses. PW-4, Dr. Manisha Shukla has examined victim and prepared Medico Legal Examination Report (Ex.Ka.3); PW-5, Const. Sukhdeo Prasad is a witness who registered the F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.4) and made entry of information in General Diary (Ex.Ka.5); PW-6, S.I. Ranvijay Singh, PW-7, S.I. Rajesh Kumar Singh and PW-8, S.I. Shubh Narain are the Investigating Officers of the case who have investigated the case, prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.6), seizure memo of undergarment of victim (Ex.Ka.7) and filed charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.8) and PW-9, Deepika Singh, Ex-Principal of school where victim was studying at the time of occurrence who has proved her age certificate (Ex.Ka.9).

9. After closure of prosecution evidence, appellant was examined under Section 313 of Code wherein he denied prosecution version and stated that he is innocent and has been falsely implicated. Admitting date of birth of deceased as 20.10.2006, he has further stated that earlier he had lodged F.I.R. against his wife and his father, hence she had lodged a false report against him. He has further stated that at the time of occurrence, victim was residing with his sisters (didi) and charge-sheet has wrongly been submitted upon a false investigation conducted by I.O. against him.

10. The appellant was offered to lead evidence in his defence but he refused to produce the same.

11. On hearing learned counsels for both the parties, Trial Judge found appellant guilty of the charges framed against him and accordingly convicted and sentenced as above. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order, appellant has preferred this appeal.

12. We have heard Sri Sameer Jain, learned Amicus Curiae for appellant and Sri Ratan Singh, learned A.G.A. for State.

13. Learned Amicus Curiae has submitted that the appellant is innocent and has been falsely implicated. In this case F.I.R. has been lodged after six days from the occurrence without any justification; medical examination was conducted after seven days of the occurrence; medical evidence is contradictory to ocular evidence as neither any injury was found on the body of the victim nor any proof of rape has been found in medical examination; statement of victim is contradictory to the statement of PW-3 (appellant's father); He has been falsely roped in this case as there was disputes between him and his father along with his wife; and impugned judgment and order is against the provision of law, hence is liable to be set aside.

14. Per-contra, learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed the submission made by learned Amicus Curiae and submitted that this is a case of rape committed on victim by his own father and in support of offence, the evidence has been produced by victim (daughter), wife and father of appellant; delay in lodging F.I.R. and getting medical examination of victim conducted, is justified; there is no contradiction between medical and ocular evidence as even after seven days, a symptom of rape has been found in medical examination; statements of witnesses are corroborated by each other; offence against accused has been proved beyond all reasonable doubt; the judgment and order passed by lower Court is liable to be affirmed and appeal be dismissed.

15. We have considered rival submission of the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the entire record.

16. PW-1, Rajani, mother of victim and wife of appellant, is not an eye witness. On the fateful date of occurrence, she was at her parental home. She has stated that before two months of the occurrence she had gone to her parental house with her two kids, Krishna and Vishnu, by leaving her daughter (victim) aged about 9 years with her husband as she was studying in class 4th at Chandpur. She has further stated on 22.10.2015 when victim was sleeping in her house at about 8:00 p.m., appellant (father of victim) came and enticed her away on roof of the house. He shut her mouth, committed rape with her and by threatening, detained her whole night. On next morning when victim came down from roof, she narrated the occurrence to her grandfather. She has further stated that her father-in-law, Ram Naresh (PW-3), informed her regarding the incident and also told that appellant had fled away. She further stated that due to fear she had no courage to return her matrimonial house. After 5-6 days, by taking courageous steps, she went with her father Ranjit Singh, father-in-law Ram Naresh (PW-3) and her brothers at Police Station Chandpur, District Fatehpur and submitted F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.1) which was written on her dictation by one Rakesh Singh.

17. PW-2 (Victim) aged about 9 years was examined by Trial Court after ascertaining, whether she was able to give rational answers to the questions put to her during examination. She has stated that on 22.10.2015 at about 8:00 p.m., she was sleeping with her grand mother on a cot. At that time, her mother Rajani (PW-1) had gone to her grand father-in-law (nana) . Only her grandmother (PW-3), grandfather, her younger brother Harsh and Vishnu were at home. At the time of occurrence, her father (appellant) came and taken her away and her brother on the roof of the house. She has further stated that her father made her brother sleep and thereafter came down in the house and returned with a bowl containing mustard oil. He slapped her 2-4 times and applied mustard oil in her vagina, placed his penis on her vagina and penetrated into it. As she tried to raise alarm to her grandmother, he threatened to throw her into well, and shut her mouth whereby she became unconcious. She has further stated that she had narrated whole story to her grandmother in the next morning and also told to her mother (PW-1) when she met her. She has further stated that she was medically examined and her statement was also recorded by Police as well as by a Judge in the Court. During examination, her statement under Section 164 of Code (Ex.Ka.2) was narrated to her whereupon she affirmed it and stated that the statement was given by her to Judge.

18. PW-3 Ram Naresh Singh, grandfather of victim (PW-2) as well as father of appellant, has stated that on 22.10.2015, victim was sleeping on a cot near to him at about 8:00 p.m. His son, appellant Gyanendra Singh, enticed away her on the roof of the house. The victim had stated to him, in the next morning, that her father had sexually assaulted her by shutting her mouth and detained her on the roof by threatening. He has further stated that he had narrated the occurrence on phone to her daughter-in-law (PW-1) who was at that time at her parental house and after 2 or 3 days he had gone to the parental house of her daughter-in-law. On 27.10.2015, he had gone to Fatehpur to file an application. On 28.10.2015, her daughter in law had returned at her house and thereafter she lodged F.I.R.

19. PW-4 Dr. Manisha Shukla, has stated that on 29.10.2015, she was posted at DistrictWomenHospital, Fatehpur. On that day, she had examined victim at 10:50 a.m. She aged about 9 years, had been brought by a lady Const. Ramendri. She (PW-4) prepared a medico legal examination report (Ex.Ka.3). She has further stated that upon query, made by her, victim had stated that she was sexually assaulted and beaten by her own father. According to her, victim had also stated that after the occurrence she had changed her clothes and also gone to natural call. At the time of examination, victim's pulse rate was 76 and blood pressure was 110/80. There was no external injury on the body of victim, whereas, on internal examination, redness was present on labia minora. According to her, for the age determination of victim, x-rays of corpal bone, right wrist joint, right elbow joint and right knee joint were advised; slides of vaginal smear, oral swab, vaginal swab, vulval swab, anal swab were prepared and for DNA examination and examination for spermatozoa. According to her, force was used on victim and possibility of sexual assault cannot be ruled out. In cross-examination, she has specifically stated that the injury present on the labia minora of victim could not be caused by falling of the victim.

20. PW-5 Const. Sukhdeo Prasad was posted on 28.10.2015 at P.S. Chandpur, District Fatehpur, who has stated that he had prepared Chick F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.4) on the basis of written information given by Informant Rajani @ Deepa (PW-1) and registered case crime no. 236/2015, U/s 376 (2) (f), 2 (i) I.P.C. and U/s 3/4 of POCSO Act against appellant Gyanendra Singh @ Raja Singh. He has further stated that the said information was also entered in General Diary Report (Ex.Ka.5) on that very day at 14:15 p.m.

21. PW-7, Rajesh Kumar Singh, I.O. of the case has stated that on 28.10.2015, he was posted as Station House Officer, P.S. Chandpur, District Fatehpur; a case crime no. 236/2015, registered during his posting, was investigated by him. He had recorded the statement of victim (PW-2), Rajani (PW-1), Ram Naresh (PW-3), Smt. Champa Devi and police officials. He has further stated that he had inspected the place of occurrence and prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.6). He has further stated that he has taken the certificate of date of birth of victim from her school where she had studied; he had produced the victim before the Court for getting her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C; appellant was arrested during investigation, and his statement was also recorded by him.

22. PW-6, Ranvijay Singh, is second I.O. after the transfer of PW-7, S.I. Rajesh Kumar. He had only perused the copied of the medical examination report of victim.

23. PW-8, Shubh Narain, is third I.O. who had taken over the investigation after transfer of PW-6 S.I. Ranvijay Singh, has stated that he had perused the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. given by the victim before the Court and copied it in case diary. During investigation, he had verified the statement of witnesses and also recorded statement of PW-4, Dr. Manisha and upon conclusion of investigation, submitted a charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.8) against appellant u/s 376 (2) (f), 2 (i) I.P.C. and U/s 3/4 of POCSO Act, 2012. This witness has also proved recovery memo (Ex.Ka.7) of victim's panty, prepared by him.

24. PW-9, Dipika Singh, Ex-Principal of Sadna Public School, Chandpur has stated that on 25.7.2014, she was posted as a principal of the school. In Scholar Admission Register (छात्र प्रवेश पंजिका), the age of victim has been shown as 20.10.2006. She has further stated that victim was admitted in class III on 25.7.2014. This witness has filed (Ex.Ka.9) certified photocopy of relevant portion of the register wherein details of victim has been mentioned.

25. So far as the submission of learned Amicus Curiae that there is delay of seven days in lodging the F.I.R., hence, prosecution case is not reliable is concerned, in this case, father of the victim is accused for committing offence of rape with his own daughter and F.I.R. has been lodged by mother of the victim who is wife of the appellant. In F.I.R., it has been specifically mentioned that she (PW-1) was not at the place of occurrence at the time of incident; she had gone to her parental house and incident was informed to her by her father in law (PW-3), Ram Naresh. PW-1 in her examination in chief has specifically stated that her father in law told her that after causing occurrence, appellant had fled away to unknown place. Upon such information, she could not dare to go to her matrimonial house, but after 5-6 days, she dared to go to police station on 28.10.2015 with her father Ranjeet Singh, her father-in-law Ram Naresh (PW-3) along with her brother and lodged the F.I.R. This witness has been cross-examined by the defence counsel. In her cross-examination, she has specifically stated that she was informed by her father-in-law regarding the incident occurred on 22nd (month not known) and she came to her matrimonial house at 9th-10th O'clock on 28th day of the month.

26. PW-3, Ram Naresh Singh, who is father of the appellant has also stated that he had informed his daughter-in-law (PW-1) regarding the occurrence who was at that time at her parental house. He has further stated that after 2-3 days of the occurrence, he had gone to parental house of her daughter-in-law PW-1, village Pathreda, District Banda with victim (PW-2) and on 28.10.2015, she came back. This witness has stated that on 27.10.2015, he had also gone to Fatehpur to lodge F.I.R. and thereafter her daughter-in-law had the F.I.R. at Police Station. This witness has also been cross-examined by the defence counsel. In his cross-examination, he has specifically stated that he was present with her daughter-in-law at the time of filing F.I.R. He has denied the suggestion put by the defence counsel to him that the appellant has been falsely implicated.

27. It is settled principle of law that there is no fixed time to lodge F.I.R. Some times F.I.R. is lodged very promptly and sometimes some delay may be caused in lodging the same. Only on the ground that prompt F.I.R. has been lodged, prosecution story cannot be presumed as true and similarly on the ground that the delay has been caused in lodging F.I.R., prosecution case cannot be thrown out. If the delay caused in lodging

F.I.R. is natural and justifiable, in the facts and circumstances of the case, it cannot affect the veracity of prosecution case. It depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. In this case, appellant has been charged for committing rape with her own daughter aged about 9 years and Informant is neither outsider nor inimical to appellant. She is wife of the appellant. Normally where the accused is the family member of the victim and also the guardian of the victim and Informant, the family members firstly tried to avoid to disclose offence in society and also avoid to lodge F.I.R in order to protect future life and carrier of victim, which may be affected by social stigma. In this case, it has been specifically alleged that from the date of occurrence, appellant was absconding and Informant could not dare to lodge F.I.R. against her husband. We know very well that our society is male dominated, and male member of family usually is head of the family. PW-1 Rajani in her cross-examination has stated that appellant was the only son of her father-in-law. It might be that the family members of Informant firstly decided not to lodge F.I.R. because they knew very well that if a criminal case is lodged, they might loose the company of appellant but afterwards they decided to go for justice and lodge F.I.R. In such a situation, it appears that in peculiar facts and circumstances, the said delay was caused in lodging F.I.R.

28. At this very juncture observations made by Supreme Court in Karnel Singh vs. State of M.P. 1995 (5) SCC 518, on the point of delay in lodging F.I.R. in case of sexual assault, are very relevant and read as under:-

".....The submission overlooks the fact that in India women are slow and hesitant to complain of such assaults and if the prosecutrix happens to be a married person she will not do anything without informing her husband. Merely because the complaint was lodged less than promptly does not raise the inference that the complaint was false. The reluctance to go to the police is because of society's attitude towards such women; it casts doubt and shame upon her rather than comfort and sympathise with her. Therefore, delay in lodging complaints in such cases does not necessarily indicate that her version is false....."

29. Similarly in State of Punjab vs. Gurmeet Singh and others 1996 (2) SCC 384, Court held as under:-

".....The courts cannot over-look the fact that in sexual offences delay in the lodging of the FIR can be due to variety of reasons particularly the reluctance of the prosecutrix or her family members to go to the police and complain about the incident which concerns the reputation of the prosecutrix and the honour of her family. It is only after giving it a cool thought that a complaint of sexual offence is generally lodged....."

30. Thus in view of peculiar facts and circumstances of this case and also the law laid down by Apex Court, we are of the view that delay caused in lodging F.I.R. is reasonable and justified. There is no substance in the submission made by learned Amicus Curiae.

31. So far as the submission of learned counsel regarding medical evidence, that no external injury was found; a delay has been caused in medical examination; the ocular evidence is not supported by the medical evidence, hymen was found intact and no injury was found on the vagina of the victim, and the redness has been found in medical examination in labia minora may be due to the infection, hence no symptom of rape was found is concerned, we find that offence of rape has been committed by the appellant who is father of victim aged about 9 years. Offence of rape has been defined in Section 375 I.P.C, as follows:-

Section 375 - A man is said to commit "rape" if he:

a. penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

b. inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

c. manipulates any part of the body of a woman so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any party of body of such woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

d. applies his mouth to the vagina, anus, urethra of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person, under the circumstances falling under any of the following seven descriptions: First - Against her will.

Secondly - Without her consent.

Thirdly - With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person whom she is interested, in fear of death or of hurt.

Fourthly - With her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully married.

Fifthly - With her consent, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome Substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

Sixthly - With or without her consent, when she is under eighteen years of age.

Seventhly - When she is unable to communicate consent.

32. Thus the aforesaid definition shows that the penetration of penis by a man to any extent into vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a women or making her to do so with him or any other person amounts to rape, if it has been committed against her will or without her consent.

33. In Vahid Khan vs. State of M.P. (2010) 2 SCC 9, Court reiterating the consistent view, held that even a slightest penetration is sufficient to make out an offence of rape and depth of penetration is immaterial.

34. In this case, victim was aged about 9 years. Her medical examination was conducted on 29.10.2015 whereas the offence was committed on 22.10.2015. PW-4, Dr. Manisha Shukla has clearly stated that victim has stated to her that her father carried her on the roof top and committed sexual assault by force. Redness was found on the labia minora of victim's vagina. In cross-examination, she has specifically stated that the injuries found on the labia minora in victim's vagina could not be caused by fall of the victim. It is notable point at this stage that though this witness has stated that hymen of victim was intact and there was no swelling on the vagina of victim but we cannot overlook the fact that the medical examination was conducted after seven days and according to victim, appellant had applied mustard oil (lubricant) before committing rape with her. The victim had also specifically stated that due to pain, she had become unconscious. It might be possible that after seven days, swelling, tenderness of the injury of vagina might have subsidised and minimised. Neither complete penetration nor complete intercourse is required for offence of rape as provided in Section 375 I.P.C. Penetration to any extent is sufficient. Presence of redness even after 7 days on the labia minora in the vagina of the victim clearly shows that sexual assault was committed with victim.

35. At the time of occurrence, PW-1, Rajani, mohter of victim was not with her. She had gone to her parental house and when she came, she dared to lodge F.I.R. against appellant. Looking into the gravity of offence as there was no female adult in the house of victim at the time of occurrence, who might carry the victim to hospital for medical examination, after lodging F.I.R., victim was carried by Police for medical examination, hence, delay, in getting medical examination conducted, is justified.

36. In Bharwada Bhogin Bhai Hirji Bhai vs. State of Gujarat AIR 1983 SC 753, Court while dealing with the uncorroborated testimony of victim of sexual assault, has held as under:-

"In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion ? To do so is to justify the charge of male chauvinism in a male dominated society. We must analyze the argument in support of the need for corroboration and subject it to relentless and remorseless cross-examination. And we must do so with a logical, and not an opiniated, eye in the light of probabilities with our feet firmly planted on the soil of India and with our eyes focussed on the Indian horizon. We must not be swept off the feet by the approach made in the Western World which has its own social mileu, its own social mores, its own permissive values, and its own code of life. Corroboration may be considered essential to establish a sexual offence in the backdrop of the social ecology of the Western World. It is wholly unnecessary to import the said concept on a turn-key basis and to transplate it on the Indian soil regardless of the altogether different atmosphere, attitudes, mores, responses of the Indian Society and its profile. The identities of the two worlds are different. The solution of problems cannot therefore be identical. It is conceivable in the Western Society that a female may level false accusation as regards sexual molestation against a male for several reasons such as:

(1) The female may be a 'gold digger' and may well have an economic motive to extract money by holding out the gun of prosecution or public exposure.

(2) She may be suffering from psychological neurosis and may seek an escape from the neurotic prison by phantasizing or imagining a situation where she is desired, wanted, and chased by males.

(3) She may want to wreak vengence on the male for real or imaginary wrongs. She may have a grudge against a particular male, or males in general, and may have the design to square the account.

(4) She may have been induced to do so in consideration of economic rewards, by a person interested in placing the accused in a compromising or embarassing position, on account of personal or political vendatta. (5) She may do so to gain notorietyor publicity or to appease her own ego or to satisfy her feeling of self-importance in the context of her inferiority complex.

(6) She may do so on account of jealousy. (7) She may do so to win sympathy of others. (8) She may do so upon being repulsed.

By and large these factors are not relevant to India, and the Indian conditions. Without the fear of making too wide a statements or of overstating the case, it can be said that rarely will a girl or a woman in India make false allegations of sexual assault on account of any such factor as has been just enlisted. The statement is generally true in the context of the urban as also rural Society. It is also by and large true in the context of the sophisticated, not so sophisticated, and unsophisticated society. Only very rarely can one conceivably come across an exception or two and that too possibly from amongst the urban elites. Because: (1) A girl or a woman in the tradition bound non-permissive Society of India would be extremely reluctant even to admit that any incident which is likely to reflect on her chastity had ever occurred. (2) She would be conscious of the danger of being ostracised by the Society or being looked down by the Society including by her own family members, relatives, friends and neighbours. (3) She would have to brave thewhole world. (4) She would face the risk of losing the love and respect of her own husband and near relatives, and of her matrimonial home and happiness being shattered. (S) If she is unmarried, she would apprehend that it would be difficult to secure an alliance with a suitable match from a respectable or an acceptable family. (6) It would almost inevitably and almost invariably result in mental torture and suffering to herself. (7) The fear of being taunted by others will always haunt her. (8) She would feel extremely embarrassed in relating the incident to others being over powered by a feeling of shame on account of the upbringing in a tradition bound society where by and large sex is taboo. (9) The natural inclination would be to avoid giving publicity to the incident lest the family name and family honour is brought into controversy. (10) The parents of an unmarried girl as also the husband and members of the husband's family of a married woman would also more often than not, want to avoid publicity on account of the fear of social stigma on the family name and family honour. (11) The fear of the victim herself being considered to be promiscuous or in some way responsible for the incident regardless of her innocence. (12) The reluctance to face interrogation by the investigating agency, to face the court, to face the cross examination by Counsel for the culprit, and the risk of being disbelieved, acts as a deterrent.

In view of these factors the victims and their relatives are not too keen to bring the culprit to books. And when in the face of these factors the crime is brought to light there is a built-in assurance that the charge is genuine rather than fabricated.. On principle the evidence of a victim of sexual assault stands on par with evidence of an injured witness. Just as a witness who has sustained an injury (which is not shown or believed to be self inflicted) is the best witness in the sense that he is least likely to exculpate the real offender, the evidence of a victim of a sex-offence is entitled to great weight, absence of corroboration notwithstanding. And while corroboration in the form of eye witness account of an independent witness may often be forthcoming in physical assault cases, such evidence cannot be expected in sex offences, having regard to the very nature of the offence. It would therefore be adding insult to injury to insist on corroboration drawing inspiration from the rules devised by the courts in the Western World. Obseisance to which has perhaps become a habit presumably on account of the colonial hangover. We are therefore of the opinion that if the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity, and the probabilities-factors does not render it unworthy of credence, as a general rule, there is no reason to insist on corroboration except from the medical evidence, where, having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming, subject to the following qualification: Corroboration may be insisted upon when a woman having attained majority is found in a compromising position and there is a likelihood of her having levelled such an accusation on account of the instinct of self-preservation. Or when the 'probabilities-factor' is found to be out of tune."

37. Statement of PW-1 Rajani, PW-2 Victim and PW-3 Ram Naresh clearly show that the offence of sexual assault was committed on 22.10.2015 at about 8:00 p.m. by appellant. Statement of PW-4 Dr. Manisha Shukla and medical examination report (Ex.Ka.3) also shows that symptom of sexual assault was present on the private part of victim at the time of her medical examination. It is settled principle of law that in rape cases, only the statement of victim, if trustworthy, is sufficient to prove prosecution case. No further corroboration is required in such matter. In this case, medical evidence fully corroborate ocular version of prosecution. The submission raised by defence counsel regarding deficiency of medical evidence has no force.

38. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that the statements of witnesses are self-contradictory is concerned, we have perused the statements of PW-1 Rajani Devi, PW-2 victim and PW-3 Ram Naresh and find that there is no material contradiction. Though there are some minor variations in the statement of PW-2 victim and PW-3 Ram Naresh as PW-2 victim has stated that at the time of occurrence, she was sleeping at cot with her grandmother outside her house, whereas, PW-3 has stated that her grand-daughter / victim was sleeping on a cot beside him but statements of these witnesses cannot be treated as contradictory because PW-3 has no where stated that the victim was not sleeping at the time of occurrence with her grand-mother.

39. It is settled principle of law that minor variations or contradictions in the statements of witnesses are inevitable and natural because every person states and narrates facts in his own way. Method or manner of expression of any fact of two persons cannot be exactly same. Thus, we are of the view that there is no contradiction between the statements of witnesses and the submission advanced by learned Amicus Curiae, in this regard, has no force.

40. It is also pertinent to mention that the victim was produced by I.O. during investigation before Judicial Magistrate on 3.11.2015, where her statement was recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. She has narrated in her statement before the Magistrate (statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. has been transcribed in para no. 4 of this judgment) whole occurrence. The victim has in her examination in chief has also stated that she had been produced before Court where her statement was recorded. She was not cross-examined by the defence on this point before Trial Court, thus, the statement under Section 164 of the Code further corroborates prosecution story.

41. As we have stated that victim was aged about only 9 years at the time of occurrence, PW-1 Rajani, PW-2 victim and PW-3 Ram Naresh are very close relatives i.e. wife , daughter and father of victim, Appellant is the only son of PW-3 Ram Naresh; They (witnesses) very well knew the fact that they are deposing for such type of serious offence, wherein, they may loose their social respect in society as well as also loose company of the appellant. They were also aware about the consequences of making charge against appellant for such offence that whole life of the victim may be spoiled by society particularly in rural areas. No one can be expected to lodge false criminal case for offence of rape against her own husband by leaving aside the real culprit. In this backdrop, it is alleged by accused-appellant that he has falsely been implicated, onus shifts upon him to prove such fact. Section 29 of the POCSO Act, 2012 is also relevant at this stage which is as under:-

"Where a person is prosecuted for committing or abetting or attenuating to commit any offence under sections 3,5,7 and section 9 of this Act, the Special Court shall presume, that such person has committed or abetted or attempted to commit the offence, as the case may be unless the contrary is proved." (emphasis added)

42. In this case, although appellant has taken plea in his statement under Section 313 of the Code that he had lodged F.I.R. against his father Ram Naresh PW-3 and his wife Rajani PW-1 and also had stated that at the time of occurrence, the victim was at his sisters house, but he has not produced any evidence in his defence to support his version. Thus the aforesaid presumption gets further strengthened and support prosecution case.

43. PW-1, Rajani, PW-2 Victim and PW-3 Ram Naresh Singh are neither enemy nor stranger to appellant. PW-2 is innocent child. Every teen daughter treats her father as a best guard, well wisher and faithful person in her life, in the world. Appellant has not only committed rape to her but also damaged and destroyed faithful and pious relation between daughter and father. The witnesses produced by prosecution were put to lengthy cross-examination by learned defence counsel before Trial Court, but nothing could be extracted by way of cross-examination so as to create any doubts in their testimony. Delay caused in lodging F.I.R. and medical examination is natural and justified. According to the statement and examination of all the witnesses, each and every fact of circumstances of the case proved by prosecution leads to one conclusion that such a hateful offence of rape has been committed by the appellant. There is nothing on record to show that prosecution witness had any animus with the appellant so as to implicate him falsely by leaving aside the real culprit. Trial Court had elaborately discussed prosecution evidence in the light of arguments advanced by learned counsel of prosecution as well as defence. In our view, impugned judgment and order requires no interference and is liable to be affirmed.

44. Now the question arises, whether sentence awarded to the appellant by trial Court is just and proper or not?

45. It is settled principle of sentencing and penology that undue sympathy in awarding sentence with accused is not required. The object of sentencing in criminal law should be to protect society and also to deter criminals by awarding appropriate sentence. In this regard, Court in State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Saleem @ Chamaru, AIR 2005 SC 3996, has said as under:-

"10. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal".

46. In this case, the offence of rape has been committed by appellant who is father of victim aged about 9 years. He has been convicted by Trial Court in an offence under Section 376 (2) (f), 2 (i) I.P.C. and has been sentenced to under go life imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 25,000/- and has also been committed for an offence under Section 3 / 4 of POCSO Act and has been further sentenced for the same sentence. Both the sentences have been directed to run concurrently.

47. Section 376(2) (f), 2 (i) I.P.C. (as it was at the time of occurrence), deals with offence of rape committed with victim by a relative, guardian or teacher, or a person in a position of trust or authority towards a women or an offence committed with victim who is aged under 16 years of age. Similarly, the offence punishable under Section 3 /4 POCSO Act, 2012 is an offence of penetrative sexual assault committed by any person with victim aged under 18 years.

48. Section 376 (2) (f), 2 (i) of I.P.C. and Section 4 of POCSO Act, 2012 which provides the punishment for sexual assault / rape are as under:-

Section 376:-

1. .....

2. Whoever,-

f. being a relative, guardian or teacher of, or a person in a position of trust or authority towards the woman, commits rape on such woman; or

i. commits rape on a woman when she is under sixteen years of age; or shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years, but which may extend to imprisonment for life, which shall mean imprisonment for the remainder of that person's natural life, and shall also be liable to fine.

Section 4 of POCSO Act:-

"Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine."

49. Thus a person who commits penetrative sexual assault punishable under Section 4 of POCSO Act, 2012 shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than 7 years but it may extend to imprisonment for life and shall also be liable to fine, whereas, a person who has been found guilty for offence under Section 376 (2) I.P.C. is liable to be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 10 years but it may extend to imprisonment for life which shall mean imprisonment for the remainder of that persons natural life and shall also be liable to the fine.

50. Thus it appears that a single / same act of sexual offence / rape has been declared as offence under Section 375 read with Section 376 I.P.C. and under also Section 4 of POCSO Act, if victim is aged about below 16 years.

51. It is settled principle of law that no person can be punished twice for one offence. Normally a criminal court, by virtue of Section 71 I.P.C., in such cases, where any criminal act is punishable in two or more Statute or in different provision of same statutes sentence, convicts and sentence in such provision of such statutes where lesser punishment has been provided. Parliament was aware to this situation. Looking into the gravity of nature of offence of rape offences, particularly, rape with victim below age of 18 years, Section 42 and 42 A of POCSO Act, 2012 were incorporated to deal with such peculiar situation, which read as under:-

Section:42: Alternative Punishment:- Where an act or omission constitutes an offence punishable under this Act and also under sections 166A, 354A, 354B, 354C, 354D, 370, 370A, 375, 376, 376A, 376C, 376D, 376E or section 509 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), then, notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, the offender found guilty of such offence shall be liable to punishment under this Act or under the Indian Penal Code as provides for punishment which is greater in degree.

Section42(A):Act Not In Derogation Of Any Other Law:- The provisions of this Act shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the provisions of any other law for the time being in force and, in case of any inconsistency, the provisions of this Act shall have overriding effect on the provisions of any such law to the extent of the inconsistency.

52. Thus it is clear that if offence of sexual assault is punishable in relevant provision of POCSO Act and also in relevant provision of I.P.C., like 376 I.P.C., Trial Court is bound to punish the accused either in the relevant provision of POCSO Act, or under I.P.C. which is greater in degree.

53. Supreme Court while dealing with Section 42 and Section 42A and relevant provisions of POCSO Act, 2012 in Independent Thought vs. Union of Indian and Others (2017) 10 SCC 800, paras 79 and 80 has held :-

79. "Another aspect of the matter is that the POSCO was enacted by Parliament in the year 2012 and it came into force on 14th November, 2012. Certain amendments were made by Criminal Law Amendment Act of 2013, whereby Section 42 and Section 42A, which have been enumerated above, were added. It would be pertinent to note that these amendments in POCSO were brought by the same Amendment Act by which Section 375, Section 376 and other sections of IPC relating to crimes against women were amended. The definition of rape was enlarged and the punishment under Section 375 IPC was made much more severe. Section 42 of POCSO, as mentioned above, makes it clear that where an offence is punishable, both under POCSO and also under IPC, then the offender, if found guilty of such offence, is liable to be punished under that Act, which provides for more severe punishment. This is against the traditional concept of criminal jurisprudence that if two punishments are provided, then the benefit of the lower punishment should be given to the offender. The legislature knowingly introduced Section 42 of POCSO to protect the interests of the child. As the objects and reasons of the POCSO show, this Act was enacted as a special provision for protection of children, with a view to ensure that children of tender age are not abused during their childhood and youth. These children were to be protected from exploitation and given facilities to develop in a healthy manner. When a girl is married at the age of 15 years, it is not only her human right of choice, which is violated. She is also deprived of having an education; she is deprived of leading a youthful life. Early marriage and consummation of child marriage affects the health of the girl child. All these ill effects of early marriage have been recognised by the Government of India in its own documents, referred to hereinabove."

80. "Section 42A of POCSO has two parts. The first part of the Section provides that the Act is in addition to and not in derogation of any other law. Therefore, the provisions of POCSO are in addition to and not above any other law. However, the second part of Section 42A provides that in case of any inconsistency between the provisions of POCSO and any other law, then it is the provisions of POCSO, which will have an overriding effect to the extent of inconsistency. POCSO defines a child to be a person below the age of 18 years. Penetrative sexual assault and aggravated penetrative sexual assault have been defined in Section 3 and Section 5 of POCSO. Provisions of Section 3 and 5 are by and large similar to Section 375 and Section 376 of IPC. Section 3 of the POCSO is identical to the opening portion of Section 375 of IPC whereas Section 5 of POCSO is similar to Section 376(2) of the IPC. Exception 2 to Section 375 of IPC, which makes sexual intercourse or acts of consensual sex of a man with his own "wife" not being under 15 years of age, not an offence, is not found in any provision of POCSO.

*Therefore, this is a major inconsistency between POCSO and IPC. As provided in Section 42A, in case of such an inconsistency, POCSO will prevail. Moreover, POCSO is a special Act, dealing with the children whereas IPC is the general criminal law. Therefore, POCSO will prevail over IPC and Exception 2 in so far as it relates to children, is inconsistent with POCSO."

54. In view of the provision contained in Section 42 of POCSO Act, Trial Judge ought to have punished appellant only in Section 376 (2) (f) (i) I.P.C., not in Section 4 of POCSO Act, 2012. In addition to it, he ought not to have punished appellant both in Sections 376 (2) I.P.C. and in Section 3 /4 of POCSO Act, 2012.

55. In the light of above discussion, judgment and order dated 16.9.2016; passed by Additional Session Judge / Fast Track Court No. 2 Special Act (POCSO), Fatehpur in S.T. No. 6 of 2016 (State vs. Gyanendra Singh @ Raja Singh) so far as it relates to conviction of appellant is maintained and affirmed but the sentenced is modified. His conviction and sentence under section 376 (2) (f) (i) I.P.C. is maintained. He has to undergo for life imprisonment for remaining natural life as provided in this Section and to pay fine of Rs. 25,000/-. No separate sentence is required for the offence under Section 3/ 4 of POCSO Act, 2012.

56. In the light of above discussion, the appeal is partly allowed to that extent, as said above.

57. Sri Sameer Jain, learned Amicus Curiae has assisted the Court very diligently. We provide that he shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, to Sri Sameer Jain, Amicus Curiae, without any delay and, in any case, within 15 days from the date of receipt of a copy of this judgment.

58. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court record be sent to the concerned Trial Court, Fatehpur for necessary information and compliance.

59. A compliance report be sent to this Court within two months. Copy of his judgment be also supplied to the accused through Superintendent of Jail, concerned.

THE HON'BLE VIRENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

CRIMINAL APPEAL No. 5708 OF 2017
With
CASES CRIMINAL APPEAL No. 5947 OF 2017, 5752 OF 2017, 5950 OF 2017, 5986 OF 2017, 6068 OF 2017, 6116 OF 2017 AND 7192 OF 2017

Ram Narayan... Appellant (In Jail Since 31.05.2011)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Kameshwar Singh, Sri Phool Singh Yadav, Sri V.P. Srivastava.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Sri Sudhir Bharti.

A. Section 302/149 IPC- Appellant-accused Rameshwar, Jagmohan and Sukhpal were arrested by the Police and firearm was also recovered from them. No other evidence. Cannot be sufficient to convict them.

In the absence of any other evidence, aforesaid three accused-appellants cannot be said to be involved in the case in hand and, in our view, they have been convicted without any evidence against them. Trial Court has committed error in not looking into this aspect of the matter particularly when on this aspect no explanation has come forward on the part of prosecution, either before Court below or even before this Court.(Para64)

B. Expert evidence and ocular evidence. As to other accussed-appellant - Ballistic reports do not corroborate that the weapons recovered from accused-appellants were used in the crime in question. Credible ocular evidence available. Non-availability of such ballistic report by itself will not help. It is well settled legal position that it is quality and not the quantity of witnesses, which is important. Time honoured principle is that the evidence has to be weighed and not to be counted. The test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. (Para63)

Hence, conviction and sentence of accused-appellants namely Rameshwar, Sukhpal, Dalpat Kewat, Ram Sewak, Badri Vishal Pal and Ram Narayan under Section 25 of Act, 1959 warrants no interference and deserves to be sustained. Similarly, conviction and sentence of appellant Munna @ Surendra Pal under Section 30 of Act, 1959 also deserves to be sustained.(Para65)

Appeal partly allowed.

2. Crl. Appeal No. 5947 of 2017 has been filed separately by Ram Sewak against the conviction and sentence u/s 25 of Act, 1959.

3. Factual matrix of the case, surfacing from the First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as 'F.I.R.'), as also the evidence available on record, may be stated as under.

4. A written report, Ex.Ka-1 was presented by PW-1 Rajesh Kumar at P.S. Gazipur, District Fatehpur, on 21.5.2011 at 6:30 a.m. stating that he is the son of deceased Jagannath Nishad, resident of Village Nidhwapur Majre Parsetha, P.S. Gazipur, District Fatehpur. In the preceding night of 20.5.2011, Informant, PW-1, along with his father, deceased Jagannath, aged about 50 years, and Babu, aged about 40 years, after taking meals, had gone to field, situated near Government Tubewell, in order to look after and protect the crops of moong and ladyfinger. Informant was sleeping on the roof of Tubewell whereas his father and Babu were sleeping on the ground over a katheri (cushion made of old sarees/dhoti). In the night, at about 11 p.m., accused appellants Jagmohan @ Munna s/o Shiv Balak, Munna s/o Seeta Ram, both armed with their licensed DBBL gun, Rameshwar s/o Shiv Balak, Sukhpal s/o Ram Kripal, Ashish s/o Ram Sewak, Dalpat s/o Ram Ratan, Ram Narayan @ Lala s/o Ram Pal and Ram Sewak s/o Shri Pal armed with illegal weapons, all residents of village of Informant, and Badri Vishal Pal s/o Hardayal Pal, resident of Village Parsetha, armed with illegal weapon came over there and tried to awake father of Informant as well as Babu, sleeping by his side, on account of election enmity and scuffle taken place at the time of Holi. Seeing accused appellants, aforesaid two persons being scared, tried to flee away but accused appellants caught hold both of them and felled them down. They resorted to indiscriminate firing by their respective weapons and murdered both of them. Informant on account of fear remained lying silently on the roof of Tubewell and witnessed entire incident in the moon light. In the meantime, from the side of village, Ram Bihari s/o Kedar Nath, Jai Karan s/o Ram Swaroop, Lal ji s/o Sandala, Ram Sajivan s/o Ram Khelawan and several others, armed with lathis, holding torches reached the road passing near Tubewell and therefrom they witnessed the incident. When they exhorted accused appellants, they were threatened by accused who shouted and warned villagers to go back otherwise they would also meet the same treatment. Accused appellants also opened several fires in air towards left side of the road as a result whereof villagers on the road, being frightened, went back to village and concealed themselves in their houses after closing doOrs. Accused appellants had surrounded the village throughout night and at about 4:00 a.m. in the morning, went towards jungle, hurling threats that whosoever would inform police, of the incident or appear as witness, he too would be met with similar consequence. All accused appellants, F.I.R. states, have formed an organized gang for their own benefit, committing offences and incidents. Prior to this incident they have also murdered one Shamsher s/o Chandrapal Nishad and in that case, sentence of life imprisonment has been inflicted. These accused have created an atmosphere of terror and for that reason, nobody dares to make complaint or lodge a case or appear as witness against them. After accused appellants had gone away, Informant, PW-1, came down from the roof. In the meantime, family members and several villagers had also reached the place of occurrence. Initially, he stated that Rajesh was present on the roof of Tubewell but later on, he pleaded ignorance saying that he was sleeping in his house. 33. Accused appellant Sukhpal has stated that at the time of incident he was inside his house and is not aware of incident that has taken place at Tubewell. He has denied of any recovery from his possession and claimed to have been arrested from his house. Alleged recovery is fabricated. According to him, he bore no enmity with nephew Rajesh Kumar on account of quarrel taken place at the time of election and Holi. He stated that he is innocent and has been implicated on account of election enmity and factionalism.

34. Accused appellant Ashish has also stated that he was at his house at the time of incident and is not aware of the incident. He bore no enmity with Rajesh. Enmity between PW-2 Sohan and Surendra and others existed on account of Pradhan's election. He stated to have been implicated falsely on account of election of Pradhan and parti bandi.

35. Accused Ram Sewak has stated that he was not aware of the incident taken place at the Government Tubewell since on 19.5.2011 he had gone in barat of his son Ashish and on 20.5.2011 at 9 p.m. they returned and were in their houses. One tractor had been given by Government along with a cheque of Rs. 10,000/-. He has stated that he is innocent and chronic patient of Asthma.

36. Accused appellant Ram Narayan has also stated ignorance about the incident and stated that on that night he had come back from the marriage of his nephew and was at his house at the time of occurrence. Police has shown forged recovery against him and that he has been arrested from his house. He has admitted about quarrel at the time of Holi. Enmity was on account of party bandi. He claims to have been implicated on account of enmity.

37. Accused appellant Badri Vishal Pal has stated that at the time of occurrence he was at his house and no recovery was made from him. Alleged recovery is forged. Rajesh had eve teased his wife regarding which a Panchayat took place and on that account there has been an enmity between them. The recovery is stated to have been forged one. He claims that he is implicated on account of aforesaid enmity.

38. On appraisal of prosecution evidence as well as material available on record and after hearing learned counsel for parties, learned Trial Court recorded verdict of conviction and sentenced accused appellants as detailed in paragraph 1 of this judgement.

39. In order to record finding of guilt against accused-appellants, Trial Court has given following reasons:

(1) PW-1, Rajesh Kumar, is the eye witness of the incident. Accused-appellants were well known to him since all of them except Badri Vishal, were residents of the same village wherein PW-1 was residing and Badri Vishal was resident of Village Parsetha, a nearby village, and also known to PW-1.

(2) The death of two deceased Jagannath and Babu has taken place near Tubewell in the night of 20 May, 2011 and body was recovered and Panchayatnama was prepared verifying recovery of body near Tubewell. Therefore, date, time and place of the death of two deceased is duly proved.

(3) The motive was enmity caused due to election of Gram Pradhan in respect whereto there was a scuffle between some of the accused-appellants with the family members of deceased at the time of Holi.

(4) In the night of incident, there was moonlight which helped PW-1 in identifying accused-appellants. Besides, when accused-appellants exhorted Jagannath and Babu who were sleeping, from their voice also PW-1 recognized accused-appellants who were already known to him.

(5) The narration of incident tallied with the manner in which bodies of deceased were recovered from the field near Tubewell.

(6) PW-1 is not a chance witness since his father and neighbour had come to sleep at Tubewell to take care of their crop standing in the field which were near Tubewell and PW-1, being son of Jagannath, could have accompanied his father and this is a natural conduct.

(7) Multiple firearm injuries on the bodies of deceased fortify statement of PW-1 that accused-appellants collectively opened indiscriminate fire upon the two deceased and murdered them.

(8) Statement of PW-1 is corroborated by PW-2 Sohan who arrived at the place of incident, hearing sound of gunshot fires and along with him some other villagers also arrived at the place along with Lathi, Danda and torch and in the light of torch and moonlight PW-2 saw accused-appellants carrying firearms who threatened PW-2 and other villagers to run away else they will also be done to death. Accused-appellants also opened fires in air. PW-2 and other villagers saved themselves by coming back to their house.

(9) There is no delay in lodging of F.I.R. by PW-1 whose close relative, i.e., father and one neighbour were murdered by nine accused-appellants carrying firearms with them and on account of the incident and apprehension of life, Informant PW-1 remained in hide till morning and thereafter came to police station for lodging report and this satisfactorily explained delay, if any.

(10) Recovery of firearms when accused-appellants were arrested was proved by PW-4, i.e., I.O. and he also proved other relevant documents. Minor errors in investigation pointed out by defence were not material to dislodge otherwise trustworthy ocular version of witnesses corroborated by medical report showing the manner of death.

(11) Five firearm injuries were found on the body of Jagannath and three bullets were recovered from his body and seven firearm injuries were found on the body of Babu and three bullets were recovered from his body which show that before their death, indiscriminate firing took place in which they sustained multiple firearm injuries mostly on the vital parts, causing immediate death. Therefore, involvement of a large number of persons who opened rapid firing causing multiple firearm injuries to these two deceased is duly proved from the post-mortem report which has been proved by PW-3.

(12) The defence that deceased were Police Informers and therefore notorious dacoits in the area committed murder was not proved by defence by adducing any evidence.

(13) All the accused-appellants, except Ashish, were carrying firearms. Firearm of Jagmohan @ Munna was his licensed DBBL Gun.

(14) The mere fact that with regard to recovery of firearms from accused-appellants, only Police witnesses have given evidence and there is no independent witness, it cannot be said that the evidence of police officials cannot be relied or is untrustworthy.

(15) In the statement of Section 313, accused-appellants have broadly admitted enmity on account of Party-Bandi and election dispute.

(16) Ashish is the son of Ram Sewak and their defence that they were not present since marriage of Ashish was solemnized on 19.05.2011 has been disbelieved on the ground that incident took place on 20.05.2011 at 11:00 p.m. and by that time they had returned to their village after solemnizing marriage and no evidence was adduced that they were present elsewhere and not at their house in the night of incident and at place of incident at 11:00 p.m.

(17) In fact Ram Sewak admitted that on 20.5.2011 at 9:00 p.m. he returned and was at his house. Similarly Ashish also stated that he was at his house therefore the factum tham country made pistol recovered from Sukhpal; bullet mark E19 was fired from the recovered country made pistol marked as 5/11.

(19) The entire evidence show and prove the offence of accused-appellants under the sections as noticed above and prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

t a day earlier marriage took place was of no consequence.

(18) Ex.A.15 Forensic Report, Ballistic Experts Report shows that the bullet EC1, EC2 were fired from country made pistol recovered from Badri Vishal; bullet mark EC4 was fired from country made pistol recovered from Sukhpal; bullet mark E19 was fired from the recovered country made pistol marked as 5/11.

(19) The entire evidence show and prove the offence of accused-appellants under the sections as noticed above and prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

40. It is the above judgment of conviction and sentence, which has been challenged by accused-appellants in the aforementioned appeals before this Court.

41. We have heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Phool Singh Yadav for accused appellant Jagmohan in Crl. Appeal No. 5986 of 2017 and Ram Narayan @ Lala in Crl. Appeal No. 5708 of 2017; Sri Mangla Prasad Rai, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ashok Kumar Rai for Ram Sewak in Crl. Appeal No. 5947 of 2017 and Ashish in Crl. Appeal No. 5950 of 2017; Sri Purshottam Dixit, Advocate for Dalpat in Crl. Appeal No. 5752 of 2017 and Munna @ Surendra Pal Kewat in Crl. Appeal No. 7192 of 2017; Sri Phool Singh Yadav, Advocate for Remeshwar in Crl. Appeal No. 6068 of 2017 and Sukhpal in Crl. Appeal No. 5986 of 2017; Sri Akhilesh Kumar, Advocate for Badri Vishal Pal in Crl. Appeal No. 6116 of 2017; Sri Sudhir Bharti, Advocate for complainant and Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, learned A.G.A. on behalf of State.

42. Broadly the arguments advanced by learned counsel for appellants are:

(1) The presence of PW-1, who is the star witness of the entire case, itself is doubtful, inasmuch as there are serious contradictions in his statement showing that the statement has been procured and he is not actually an eye-witness of the incident.

(2) The bullets recovered from the body of deceased have not been found to have been fired from the firearms allegedly recovered from accused-appellants and forensic report in this regard has failed to prove this fact.

(3) Informant PW-1 himself admits that he was sleeping on the roof of tubewell and there was sufficient distance between him and the place where Jagannath and Babu are said to have been sleeping, hence it was not possible for accused-appellants to identify the persons who committed murder hence accused-appellants have been implicated only on the basis of suspicion and alleged enmity.

(4) PW-2 is not an eye-witness of the incident as admittedly as per his own version he reached the place of incident subsequently and his statement contains several contradictions.

(5) Site-plan has not shown as to where deceased and Informant were sleeping.

(6) There was no stairs or otherwise arrangement to climb the roof of Tubewell Kothari, hence PW-1's statement that he was sleeping on the roof of Tubewell cannot be believed.

(7) It is a case where virtually there is no credible evidence to prove the guilt of appellants and only on conjunctures they have been convicted though prosecution miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

43. It may be noticed at this stage that learned counsel for parties have not addressed this Court on the question of conviction and sentence of accused appellants Rameshwar, Dalpat, Ram Sewak, Badri Vishal Pal, Ram Narayan and Sukhpal, under Section 25 of Act, 1959 and their arguments are confined in respect of conviction of all accused appellants under Sections 302/149; 147 and 148 IPC. One of the appellants, Munna @ Surendra Pal has been convicted and sentenced under Section 30 of Act, 1959 and on this aspect also we have not been addressed at all.

44. Learned A.G.A., on the contrary, submitted that it is a straight case where accused-appellants collected with an intention to kill Jagannath and Babu, carrying firearms with them at around 11:00 p.m., they attacked both of them, opened rapid and indiscriminate fires causing their death on the spot. PW-1 son of one of the deceased who was present on the site, sleeping on the roof of Tubewell is eye witness to the entire incident. All the accused-appellants were very well known to him, there was no difficulty in identification of accused-appellants by Informant, in the night when there was sufficient moon light and nothing has been extracted in cross-examination to discredit ocular version of Informant, PW-1. The factum that accused-appellants were present at the place of incident on the date and time as stated by PW-1 is fortified by the statement of PW-2 who reached the place of incident, hearing firing sound, and saw accused-appellants present at the place of incident with firearms, who also threatened PW-2 and other villagers who have reached the place of incident on hearing firing, that they should go back else they will also face the same consequence and afraid of such threats, PW-2 and other villagers returned. Thus the presence of accused-appellants along with firearms at the place, on the date and time, stated by Informant to commit murder of Jagannath and Babu, is duly fortified by the statement of PW-2. The post-mortem report also fortify that the two deceased sustained multiple firearm injuries and three bullets each, from the bodies of two deceased were recovered which also fortify the prosecution story as narrated by eye-witness PW-1. The enmity between deceased and accused-appellants is also writ large hence it is a straight case of hit and run and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellants holding that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and the judgment warrants no interference.

45. We have heard the counsel for the parties and peruse the record.

46. First of all we may notice the facts which are evident from record and in respect whereof virtually learned counsel for the appellants could not advance any substantive argument.

(1) The first is that Jagannath and Babu were found murdered, sustaining multiple fire injuries, in the night of 20/21st May, 2011 and their bodies were found in the field, near Tubewell. The body of Babu was found around 25 paces, on west from Tubewell, in a field of one Devraj while body of Jagannath was found near Tubewell in his own field.

(2) The body of both deceased had multiple firearm injuries and as per post-mortem report, proved by PW-3, three bullets from body of each of the deceased were recovered at the time of post-mortem.

(3) The murder was committed at the place where bodies were found.

(4) Firearms were recovered from seven accused-appellants at the time of arrest and the licensed DBBL Gun of accused-appellant Jagmohan @ Munna on his information was recovered from a Firearm Licensee where he had deposited.

(5) F.I.R. was lodged by PW-1 Rajesh Kumar who is the son of deceased Jagannath and neighbour of another deceased Babu, at 6:30 a.m. on 21st May, 2011 at Police Station Ghazipur, District Fatehpur.

(6) The distance of the place of incident and police station is about eight kilometer.

(7) As per PW-3, Doctor, who conducted autopsy, both the deceased may have died after 2-3 hours of taking meals.

(8) Both the bodies were recovered at a distance of 10-20 paces to each other.

(9) The night of 20-21.5.2011 (being the Tithi Tritiya/Chaturthi of Krishna Paksha) had moon light.

(10) All the accused-appellants are residents of village Nidhwapur except Badri Vishal who is resident of Majre Parsetha.

47. Now in this backdrop, we have to examine, (i) whether the two deceased have been murdered by accused-appellants as claimed by prosecution; (ii) is there sufficient evidence to sustain their conviction and (iii) can it be said that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellants or there is any possibility that the offence may have been committed by somebody else and the complicity of all the accused-appellants or one or more of them is doubtful.

48. The prosecution case is broadly founded on the ocular testimony of PW-1 who claims to be present at the time and place of incident and is eye-witness of the entire incident. PW-2 who is another witness of fact has supported some part of the statement of PW-1 and these are the two principal witnesses whose evidence has to be examined threadbare to find out whether their deposition is trustworthy so as to sustain conviction of accused-appellants or not.

49. PW-1 has stated that in the night of 20.05.2011, at around 11:00 p.m., he was present on the roof of Tubewell. His father Jagannath and Babu were sleeping near Tubewell on katheri. There was enmity between accused-appellants and family of PW-1 on account of election of Gram Pradhan and at the time of Holi there was an incident of maar-peet between family members of Informant and accused-appellants. At around 11:00 a.m., when Informant was lying on the roof of Tubewell, Jagmohan @ Munna came with his licensed DBBL gun and Rameshwar and others were carrying illegal firearms. They woke up Informant's father and Babu, who under fear, tried to run away to save them but caught by accused-appellants and they fired rapidly from the firearms carrying with them causing immediate death of Jagannath, father of Informant and Babu. PW-1 silently saw incident in the moon light from the roof of Tubewell and recognized every accused appellant very well. Hearing the firing, some villagers namely Ram Bihari, Ram Sajivan and Jai Karan and others arrived there and saw accused-appellants with firearms. They challenged accused-appellants whereupon accused-appellants opened fire in air and threatened villagers to run away else they will also face the same consequences. Accused-appellants continued to roam and surround village in the night. At around 4:00 a.m. they left administering warning that if anyone lodge F.I.R. or give evidence against them, would meet the same fate. They ran away towards jungle. Thereafter Informant came down of the roof, went to his village and explained the incident to family members who reached the place of incident immediately. Thereafter Informant and Sohan, PW-2, in a secret manner, reached Police Station by Cycle and lodge report. PW-1 stated that the crop of Moong

(pulse) and Bhindi (Lady Finger) was standing in the field of his father Jagannath and Babu near Tubewell. They had gone in the night to stay there for protection of the said crop. One of the accused-appellant, Rameshwar also had a criminal history of having murdered Shamsher son of Chandrapal wherein he was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. The place of incident is not at much distance from the house of Informant. In cross-examination he has said that his residence is about 200 meters from the place of incident. Besides Informant and his father, who were present at the Tubewell for protection of their crop, other family members who were at residence were three ladies, four minor girls, and a younger brother of Informant, aged about 14 years. Three other brothers of Informant were at Mumbai and two nephews were at their grand maternal parents house. Informant's field is only about 50 meters from Tubewell. In fact Tubewell itself was installed in the field of Informant which is Government Tubewell and not a private Tubewell. The field in which Tubewell was installed, at the time of incident, there was no crop. Informant's another field was around 20 meters from Tubewell and third field was around 50 meters from the Tubewell. In both these fields crop of moong and bhindi was standing. It was sown about two months prior to the date of incident. The area of field of Informant which is around 20 meters from Tubewell is about 7 or 8 Biswa and in the vicinity there is a field of Sikandar son of Ghanshyam who is in relation, grand-father of Informant. Therein also Informant has share of about 7-8 Biswa. Another field which is about 50 meters from Tubewell, had the area of 1½ bigha and Informant has half share therein while remaining half is of Sikandar. Babu was residing around 20-25 meters from the residence of Informant. He (Informant) and his father took food around 10:00 and then came at Tubewell for protection of their crop where Babu also arrived. Informant's father was sleeping about 2 meters from Tubewell on a katheri and Babu was lying on the right side of Informant's father. He also said that at the time of Holi, his father, Babu, Ratandev, Jagatpal, Ram Swaroop and Ram Sanehi collectively assaulted accused-appellant Jagmohan and his wife Raju as also Shiv Balak, father of Jagmohan with lathi and danda. Height of roof of Tubewell would be around 11 feet and there was no staircase to reach the roof. At the time of incident, Informant was not sleeping but only lying on the roof and his father and Babu were clearly visible from that place. He came down from the roof at around 4:00 am in the morning and saw dead bodies of his father and Babu. After sometime, others also reached the place.

50. However, in cross-examination, at one stage, he has also said that at the time of incident he was lying on the roof and had not seen accused-appellants Rameshwar, Jagmohan and Sukhlal. In cross-examination, he has further explained that his father had some dispute with Munna Dalpat, Ashish and Ram Sewak. Babu also had dispute with the said persons. He reiterated this fact when denying suggestion that his father and Babu had no dispute/quarrel with Munna, Dalpat, Ashish and Ram Sewak. Jagannath, Informant's father, contested election of Gram Pradhan in which Ram Sewak was also one of the contestants. It is also said in the cross-examination that near the place of incident, there situated fields of Raja Ram, Devram, Ram

Sajivan, Jagannath, Ram Bali, Ram Sagar, Braj Bhushan etc. and they had also grown crops of Moong and Bhindi and used to go to their fields for protection of their crop. Informant and deceased had gone to protect crop from animals. For the fear of insects etc. Informant went on the roof of Tubewell while Babu and his father went to sleep about 10 paces from Tubewell on North Western side, on a Katheri. The presence of Informant on the roof of Tubewell has been seriously contested by appellants on the ground that nothing has been brought on record to show that there was no means to reach on roof of Tubewell hence it could not have been probable to think that Informant was lying on the roof of Tubewell. This fact that there was no staircase for reaching the Tubewell roof was admitted by Informant in his cross-examination where he has said as under:-

''ट्यूबवेल पर कोई सीड़ी नहीं थी और न गांव से कोई सीड़ी मगाई गई।''

51. It is also seriously argued that there was a big iron cover over Tubewell roof and hence there could not have been sufficient space on the roof allowing anyone to sleep, therefore basic contention of Informant that he had gone to sleep on the roof of Tubewell is wholly untrustworthy.

52. Regarding information that Informant and his father used to go to the field for protection of crop, Informant categorically said that this fact was known to everybody that they daily go to the field for protection of crop. This fact stated by Informant reads as under:

''घटना से पहले से हम लोग फसल की रखवाली के लिए इसी प्रकार जाते रहते थे। घटना के डेढ़ माह पूर्व से हम लोग फसल की रखवाली के लिए जाया करते थे। गांव घर के लोगों को यह बात मालूम थी कि हम लोग रोज फसल की रखवाले करने रात में जाते है। हमें व हमारे पिता जी वगैरह को इस बात की जानकारी थी कि हमारी मुन्ना वगैरह से रंजिश है। फसल की रखवाली के लिये हम लोग लाठियां लेकर गये थे कोई असलहा आदि लेकर नहीं गये। भिण्डी और मूंग की फसल घटना से दो माह पहले बोई गई थी। जो मूंग हमने खेत में बोई थी वह आमतौर से ढाई तीन महीना में तैयार हो जाती है।''

53. The statement of PW-1 is broadly consistent with F.I.R. version. The manner in which incident has taken place, has been stated by him very consistently without any material variation. It shows that there is no imagination or articulation of facts to fabricate a story. Statement does not narrate an incident which has not actually occurred. PW-1 very categorically has said that the accused-appellants came up with firearms, caught his father and Babu, wake up and when they tried to run to save them, accused-appellants caught them, felled on the ground and opened indiscriminate firing. He has also said that his father tried to run towards North of the Tubewell Tunki but he was caught and murdered while Babu tried to run towards West of Tubewell but around 15 paces from the Tubewell he was caught and murdered. The Informant's father was caught by four persons and Babu was caught by five persons and they fired one or two rounds from their arms.

54. Learned counsel for the appellants stated that it is unbelievable that Informant's father was sought to be attacked by accused-appellants but he took no steps to protect him and kept silence. It is argued that it is unbelievable that a son would silently witness murder of his father and would take no step to protect.

55. We find ourselves unable to agree with this contention for the reason that manner in which a person would react in a given situation differs from person to person. Informant a young man of 27 years, saw nine persons collectively coming with firearms to commit offence of murder of two persons. In such circumstances, appellant getting frightened and apprehensive for his own life, if remained in concealment, silent and simply watched the incident, it cannot be said that his conduct was unnatural or improbable. It is also conceivable that the incident made such a serious impact upon Informant that even when accused-appellants, after sometime went away from Tubewell, he could not dare to come down or to raise noise. He came down in the morning at around 4:00 a.m. when some villagers and family members of Informant also arrived at the place of incident. Accused-appellants remained surrounding the village and left early in the morning at around 4:00 a.m. after giving a threat that if anybody give evidence he would meet the same fate.

56. PW-2, Sohan, who is also resident of the same village, claimed that he reached the place of incident, hearing sound of fires, from the side of Tubewell around 11:00 p.m. On 20.5.2011, and was accompanied by some other villagers carrying lathi-danda and torch. He saw Jagannath @ Munna with double barrel licensed gun and other accused-appellants with unauthorized firearms. Accused-appellants threaten villagers and PW-2 asking them to run away or they will also face the same consequences. They also fired in air. So they went back. The PW-2 accompanied Informant to Police Station for lodging Report. This witness is not an eye witness to the incident of killing of Jagannath and Babu by accused-appellants but his version is relied to support that part of evidence of PW-1 that accused-appellants along with firearms were present at the place of incident around 11:00 p.m. on 20.5.2011 near Tubewell. PW-2 also proved the fact that they (accused-appellants) threatened villagers and PW-2 to run away or they will face the same consequences. It is argued that this fortify the statement of PW-1 about presence of accused-appellants at the place of incident along with the firearms and that they committed crime for which reason they also threatened villagers, who came near Tubewell, after hearing firing.

57. Admittedly PW-2 is not a witness even to have seen dead bodies of Jagannath and Babu in the night itself when he claims had gone to the place of incident at around 11:00 p.m. on 20.5.2011 but he saw dead bodies only in the morning when he reached place of incident. In cross-examination, however, we find that PW-2 stated, referring to his earlier statement that at 4:00 or 4:30 in the morning when he was going from his house to the place of incident, he met Rajesh coming from the place who explained the entire incident and then he came to know of what has happened. He has also stated in cross-examination that for the first time he reached the place of incident at 5:00 a.m. in the morning and reached near the dead bodies. He has also said that Rajesh explained him that the incident took place around 11:00 p.m. in the night. This part of the cross-examination of PW-2 contradicts his earlier statement that firstly he reached near the place of incident in the night itself and saw accused-appellants with firearms who threatened them and thereafter they ran away. If he had gone near the place of incident in the night itself, to claim that he for the first time reached the place of incident in the morning at 5:00 a.m. and came to know of entire incident cannot reconcile with his first statement.

58. Learned A.G.A. sought to explain that in the night PW-2 came to the place of incident but remain at a distance, due to fear of accused-appellants, who threatened villagers and PW-2. They did not reach the place of incident and what he has said further in cross-examination is regarding actual reaching the place of incident i.e. for the first time in the morning at 5:00 a.m. on 20.05.2011.

59. After going through the entire statement of PW-2, we find that in examination-in-chief he is very categorical that after hearing firing, he and other villagers, went towards Tubewell and saw accused-appellants with firearms. Therefore he reached, at least, up to the stage where from in the moon light or in the light of torch, as he claimed that he had taken, accused-appellants were visible and could threat villagers to run away and being afraid thereof PW-2 and others came back. There may be a difference of 10, 20 or 30 paces but fact remains that for the first time PW-2 reached near the place of incident in the night itself. He also knew that something wrong has happened otherwise when accused-appellants allegedly threatened that if villagers do not run away they will face the same consequences, what it would have meant to the PW-2. In cross-examination, on the contrary, his statement show as if he was not at all aware of any incident which had taken place in the night and only in the morning when PW-1 narrated the entire incident, for the first time he came to know about it and then reached the place of incident at 5:00 a.m. Therefore to rely on the statement of PW-2 to support testimony of PW-1 that accused-appellants with firearms were present at 11:00 p.m. near Tubewell and had opened fire and threatened villagers is not very safe. In our view statement of PW-2 on these aspects cannot be said to be a clear and trustworthy version to support some part of statement of PW-1 regarding what transpired in the night of 20/21.05.2011. The only supportive statement of PW-2 is that in the morning, he and other villagers reached the place of incident and found Jagannath and Babu, dead, and their bodies were lying in the fields. Therefore for answering the question, whether accused-appellants have committed the crime of murder of Babu and Jagannath, statement of PW-2, in our view, is of no help.

60. Now there remains only the statement of PW-1 which is in our view consistent in respect to all other accused-appellants except three of them. His examination-in-chief is in corroboration with F.I.R. version but then we find that in the cross-examination PW-1 himself has said that he did not saw Rameshwar, Jagmohan and Sukhpal from the place where he was lying. The relevant statement reads as under:

''घटना के समय मैं लेटा हुआ था। मैंने उठकर मुल्जिमान रामेश्वर, जगमोहन व सुख पाल को नहीं देखा। घटना घटित होने के बाद मैं छत पर ही था।''

61. In order to implicate Rameshwar, Jagmohan and Sukhpal for committing crime under Section 302 read with Section 147, 148, 149 IPC we find no other evidence whatsoever on record except that they were arrested by the Police and firearm was also recovered therefrom but this fact by itself cannot be relied to implicate the aforesaid three persons for taking a view that they committed crime of murder of Jagannath and Babu.

62. In respect of other accused-appellants, as we have already discussed, statement of PW-1 is very categorical. The accused-appellants being well known to Informant, there is no reason to doubt any error in recognition of accused-appellants by PW-1. With respect to recovery of firearms from accused-appellants, in fact, none of the counsel has advanced any submission whatsoever except that there is no Ballistic Report to show that bullets found in the body of deceased were actually fired from the weapons recovered from accused-appellants, therefore, Ballistic reports do not corroborate that the weapons recovered from accused-appellants were used in the crime in question. In our view, when there is an otherwise credible ocular evidence to implicate accused-appellants except above three, non-availability of such Ballistic Report by itself will not help accused-appellants and the mere fact that there is a solitary witness in the case in hand would make no difference for the reason that even a single witness, if otherwise trustworthy and credible, and Court finds no reason to disbelieve him, his statement is clear and shows truthfulness, a conviction can be sustained on the statement of such a solitary witness. It is well settled legal position that it is quality and not the quantity of witnesses, which is important. Time honoured principle is that the evidence has to be weighed and not to be counted. The test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

63. In Namdev Vs. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court has said :

"Our legal system has always laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused in spite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence."

64. The aforesaid observations, however, are with respect to others except accused-appellants Rameshwar, Jagmohan and Sukhpal in respect whereto PW-1 himself has said that he had not seen them at the time of incident. If that be so, in the absence of any other evidence, aforesaid three accused-appellants cannot be said to be involved in the case in hand and, in our view, they have been convicted without any evidence against them. Trial Court has committed error in not looking into this aspect of the matter particularly when on this aspect no explanation has come forward on the part of prosecution, either before Court below or even before this Court.

65. With respect to conviction of accused-appellants under Section 25 of Act, 1959 i.e. Rameshwar, Dalpat, Ram Narayan and Sukhpal, we find that PW-8, who prepared site plan, Ex.ka-34, wherefrom the aforesaid accused were arrested and firearms were recovered he has proved the said document. PW-4 arrested Badri Vishal Pal and recovered one country made pistol of 315 bore in working condition and one live cartridge.

He also arrested Ram Sewak and recovered one country made pistol of 315 bore in working condition and one live cartridge of 315 bore, loaded inside the weapon. PW-4 sealed country made pistols and cartridges and prepared recovery memo, Ex.ka-18. PW-4 proved recovery memo Ex.ka-18 in respect of above recovery. Thereafter, PW-4 arrested five accused-appellants namely Munna@ Surendra Pal, Rameshwar Kewat, Dalpat Kewat, Ram Narayan Kewat and Sukhpal Kewat. One DBBL gun, two live cartridges and one Licence No. 888 issued by District Magistrate, Fatehpur was recovered from possession of Munna @ Surendra Pal; one country made SBBL gun of 12 bore with four live cartridges kept in the cartridge belt was recovered from the person of Rameshwar; one country made pistol of 315 bore, one live cartridge and one empty cartridge was recovered from possession of Dalpat; one country made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge of 315 bore were recovered from the possession of Ram Narayan @ Lala; one country made pistol of 315 bore, one live cartridge and one empty cartridge were recovered from the possession of accused-appellant Sukhpal and recovery memos paper no. 3A/5 and 3A/7 were prepared. These documents were also proved by PW-4 in his oral deposition. Gun No. 6555 and licence no. 911 were recovered from the arms shop of Smt. Beena Singh and ferd paper no. 26 A/2 i.e. Ex.A-20 was proved by PW-4. The fire arms and ammunition recovered from accused-appellants, named above, were exhibited as 7 to 11 and 13 to 67 and all have been proved by PW-4. Neither in the cross-examination we find anything substantive to discredit evidence of PW-4 in respect of the aforesaid recovery of firearms and ammunitions nor anything has been brought to our notice to disbelieve the said evidence. The mere fact that in regard to recovery, witness is a Police Personnel, does not mean that for this reason alone if otherwise creditworthy and reliable, such evidence can be rejected. Hence, conviction and sentence of accused-appellants namely Rameshwar, Sukhpal, Dalpat Kewat, Ram Sewak, Badri Vishal Pal and Ram Narayan under Section 25 of Act, 1959 warrants no interference and deserves to be sustained. Similarly conviction and sentence of appellant Munna @ Surendra Pal under Section 30 of Act, 1959 also deserves to be sustained.

66. In view of above discussion, Criminal Appeal Nos. 5986 of 2017 and 6068 of 2017 are partly allowed. Impugned judgment dated 29.8.2017 and order dated 5.9.2017, insofar as the same relate to accused-appellants Sukhpal and Rameshwar, are set aside to the extent, they have been convicted under Section 302/149; 147 and 148 IPC. Their conviction and sentence under Section 25 of Act, 1959 by impugned judgement and order is however, confirmed. In respect of appellant Jagmohan @ Munna Nishad, impugned judgment dated 29.8.2017 and order dated 5.9.2017 are hereby also set aside in respect of his conviction under Section 302/149; 147 and 148 IPC.

67. These appellants are in jail. Accused-appellants Sukhpal and Rameshwar, if already served out sentence awarded under Section 25 of Act, 1959 and not wanted in any other case, shall be set at liberty forthwith. Accused-appellant Jagmohan @ Munna, if not wanted in any other case shall be released forthwith.

68. Criminal Appeals No. 5708 of 2017, 5947 of 2017, 5752 of 2017, 5950 of 2017, 6116 of 2017 and 7192 of 2017 are hereby dismissed. Accused-appellants Ram Narayan @ Lala, Ram Sewak, Dalpat, Ashish, Badri Vishal Pal and Munna @ Surendra Pal Kewat are in jail, shall serve out respective sentences awarded to them by Trial Court by impugned judgment and order as affirmed by this Court.

69. Keeping in view provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C., appellants Rameshwar, Jagmohan @ Munna Nishad and Sukhpal are hereby directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond of the sum of Rs. 10,000/- each and two reliable sureties, each of the like amount, before Trial Court, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against this judgment or for grant of leave, appellants on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before Supreme Court.

70. A copy of this judgment be sent to Trial Court by FAX for immediate compliance. Lower Court's record be also sent back along with a copy of this judgment.

1. This appeal under Section 260-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) has been filed assailing the judgment and order dated 14.11.2014 passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Delhi Bench "H", New Delhi. This appeal was admitted on 16.2.2017 on the following questions of law:

(1) Whether the ITAT passed a perverse order in setting aside the order U/s 263 on grounds that A.O. had already conducted inquiry on issues on which order U/s 263 was passed when no such embargo has been put in the language of the Section, the intention of the legislature was never such so as to render the revenue remediless against erroneous orders of the A.O. nor make the revenue suffer a continuous wrong.

(2) Whether the ITAT erred in law in interpreting the provisions of Section 263 which says "Commissioner may call for and examine the records of the proceedings if he considers any order passed therein, by the A.O. is erroneous in so far as prejudicial to the interest of revenue" hence the view of the ITAT in the present case that A.O. had already conducted inquiry is unsustainable.

(3) Whether the ITAT erred in law in curbing the power of the CIT granted by the legislature to examine and correct the orders of the A.O. especially when this is the only remedy available with the department to correct the wrong of the A.O.

(4) Whether the ITAT erred in law in deleting the order U/s 263 on the issue of development expenses when it was clear that only a small portion of such development expenses was actually related to land development receipts.

(5) Whether the ITAT erred in law in deleting the order U/s 263 on the issue of agricultural income when it was clear that assessee had only purchased a land on which crops were shown and sale proceeds of such crops does not constitute agriculture income.

(6) Whether the ITAT erred in law in allowing the appeal of the assessee ignoring the fact that there was a difference between the Gross Receipts as per 26AS and Gross Receipts declared by the assessee when the assessee did not furnish any reconciliation statement to explain the difference.

2. The case relates to the assessment year 2008-09. The assessee which is a Company, filed return of income on 27.9.2008 declaring income at Rs.14,71,900/-. The said return was processed under Section 143(1) of the Act. The case of the Company was selected for scrutiny and notices under Section 143(2) and 142(1) were issued. The assessee produced the books of account and replied the various queries raised by the Assessing Officer. As the assessee had shown development expenses of Rs.7,16,62,142/- in the profit and loss account, the A.O. found Rs.1,20,000/- as excessive and disallowed the same, and added to the income of the assessee. The Order under Section 143(3) of the Act was passed by the assessing officer on 18.11.2010.

3. The assessee challenged the assessment order passed under Section143(3) of the Act by filing Appeal No.192/10-11 before the CIT(A) under Section 250 of the Act. On 5.6.2013, the CIT(A) allowed the appeal of the assessee on the ground that addition made by A.O. was without any basis, as the word "appear" to be excessive was stated in the order of the A.O. and such addition made in a cavalier and casual manner cannot be sustained.

4. During the pendency of the appeal the Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut exercising power under Section 263 of the Act, issued notice to the assessee. The notice was replied by the assessee, and on 25.3.2013 Commissioner of Income Tax directed the A.O. to look into applicability of Section 40-A(3) and Section 40(a)(ia) of the Act.

5. After the remand A.O. again issued notice under Section 142(3)/263 of the Act to the assessee. It appears that the assessee did not appear before the assessing authority and the assessing officer passed assessment order on 7.3.2014 under Section 263/143(3) of the Act on total income of Rs.17,47,323,650/-.

6. While the remand proceedings were pending before the assessing authority the assessee approached the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, (Delhi Bench "H"), New Delhi (hereinafter called as "ITAT") challenging the order under Section 263 of the Act passed by the Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut. The ITAT allowed the appeal of the assessee setting aside the order passed by the CIT, Meerut under Section 263 of the Act.

7. Sri Subham Agarwal defending the order passed by the Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut under Section 263 of the Act submitted that the assessing officer has disallowed the expenses of Rs.1,20,000/- only, without any inquiry and has accepted the restb of the amount as land development expenses in the profit and loss account, as such, the CIT had rightly remanded the matter to the assessing authority exercising revisional power as the order of A.O. was erroneous and pre-judicial to the interest of revenue. He further submitted that after the remand order, A.O. again has passed assessment order on 7.3.2014 and now the addition of Rs.7,16,62,142/- on account of land development expenses had been made as the assessee did not avail the opportunity despite repeated reminders and failed to produce the books of account and comply the order of the assessing authority. He contended that Tribunal has passed the order impugned after assessment order has been passed by the assessing authority after remand, and Tribunal should not have set aside the same, but should have relegated the matter to assessing authority directing the assessee to appear before the same and produce books of account to verify the queries so raised.

8. Per contra, counsel for the assessee submitted that the assessment order dated 18.11.2010 was passed after notice under Sections 143(2) and 142(1) of the Act was issued to assessee raising various queries and the assessee had appeared before the Assessing Officer number of times and furnished books of account and replied. Further, the CIT in its show cause notice dated 6.2.2013 has accepted the fact that on examination of record, assessment order was passed after inquiry which according to him was not proper. Thus, proceedings under Section 263 of the Act cannot be invoked by the CIT when there is no material to hold that order was erroneous and pre-judicial to the interest of revenue and it would not be invoked to correct each and every type of mistake and error committed by A.O. He further relied upon paragraph nos.7 and 9 of judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Malabar Industrial Co. Ltd. vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, 243 ITR 83 (SC), which are extracted hereunder:

"7. There can be no doubt that the provision cannot be invoked to correct each and every type of mistake or error committed by the Assessing Officer; it is only when an order is erroneous that the section will be attracted. An incorrect assumption of facts or an incorrect application of law will satisfy the requirement of the order being erroneous. In the same category fall orders passed without applying the principles of natural justice or without application of mind.

9. The phrase 'prejudicial to the interests of the revenue' has to be read in conjunction with an erroneous order passed by the Assessing Officer. Every loss of revenue as a consequence of an order of Assessing Officer cannot be treated as prejudicial to the interests of the revenue, for example, when an ITO adopted one of the courses permissible in law and it has resulted in loss of revenue; or where two views are possible and the ITO has taken one view with which the Commissioner does not agree, it cannot be treated as an erroneous order prejudicial to the interests of the revenue unless the view taken by the ITO is unsustainable in law."

9. The second limb of argument of counsel for the assessee is that appeal before the CIT(A) was pending, as such, the CIT has no jurisdiction to revise the order, in view of Clause (c) of Explanation-1 to Section 263 of the Act, which provides that when appeal is pending before the Commissioner, the exercise of jurisdiction under Section 263 of the Act is barred. He relied upon the judgment in the case of Smt. Renuka Philip vs. ITO (2018)409 ITR 567 (Mad), the relevant paragraphs of which are extracted hereunder:

"21. With regard to the merits of the case, the learned counsel for the assessee referred to a decision of the Division Bench of this Court in Dr.P.K.Vasanthi Rangarajan v. CIT [2012] 23 taxmann.com 299/209 Taxman 628 (Mad.), wherein, the Hon'ble Division Bench held that there is no inhibition in the assessee claiming the benefit of investment made in four flats thereby gaining the benefit under Section 54F of the Act. The Court took note of the decision in TCA No. 656 of 2005 dated 04.01.2012. However, we are not examining the merits of the matter at this juncture since, we are only called upon to answer the Substantial Question of Law with regard to the assumption of jurisdiction of the Commissioner under Section 263 of the Act. The power under Section 263 of the Act is not exercisable under certain circumstances. In this regard, we refer to Section 263(1) explanation 1(c), which reads as follows:

"Revision of orders prejudicial to revenue

(c)Where any order referred to in this sub-section and passed by the Assessing Officer had been the subject matter of any appeal [filed on or before or after the 1st day of June, 1988], the powers of the Commissioner under this Sub-section shall extend and shall be deemed always to have extended to such matters as had not been considered and decided in such appeal."

22. The above explanation makes it clear that when the appeal is pending before the Commissioner, the exercise of jurisdiction under Section 263 of the Act is barred. The Commissioner in the order dated 14.03.2012 states that the appeal pertains to the claim made by the assessee under Section 54 of the Act and it has got nothing to do with the order passed by the Assessing Officer under Section 54F of the Act. The said finding rendered by the Commissioner is wholly unsustainable, since the assessee went on appeal against the re-assessment order dated 31.12.2009 stating that his claim for deduction under Section 54 of the Act should be accepted."

10. It has also been contended that remand by the CIT as far as the non-deduction of TDS is concerned, was wrong, as payment was made by the Company, i.e., ERA Land-mark Ltd., and as per Section 194(c) of the Act the TDS was deducted.

11. It was further submitted that all the documents in evidence as proofs and the queries so raised by the assessing officer was submitted and replied by the assessee and the CIT wrongly invoked the jurisdiction under Section 263. Reliance has been placed upon the decision of this Court in the case of CIT vs. Krishna Capbox Ltd, (2015) 372 ITR 310, relevant paragraphs of which are extracted hereunder:

9. The Tribunal further considered the question whether discussion of queries and reply received from assessee, in assessment order, is necessary or not. Relying on two judgments of Delhi High Court in CIT Vs. Vikash Polymers [2012] 341 ITR 537/ [2010] 194 Taxman 57 and CIT v. Vodafone Essar South Ltd. [2012] 28 taxmann.com 273/ [2013] 212 Taxman 184 (Delhi), it held that once inquiry was made, a mere non discussion or non-mention thereof in assessment order cannot lead to assumption that Assessing Officer did not apply his mind or that he has not made inquiry on the subject and this would not justify interference by Commissioner by issuing notice under Section 263 of the Act.

10. In Vikash Polymers (supra) relevant part of the observations in this regard read as under (page 548 of 341 ITR):

"This is for the reason that if a query was raised during the course of scrutiny by the Assessing Officer, which was answered to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer, but neither the query nor the answer was reflected in the assessment order, that would not, by itself, lead to the conclusion that the order of the Assessing Officer called for interference and revision."

11. Further, the relevant observation made in Vodafone Essar South Ltd. (supra) in this regard reads as under (page 531 of 1 ITR-OL):

"The lack of any discussion on this cannot lead to the assumption that the Assessing Officer did not apply his mind."

12. Learned counsel for the Department could not place any other authority before this Court wherein any otherwise view has been taken. On the contrary, learned counsel for assessee has placed before us a decision of Bombay High Court in Income Tax Appeal No.296 of 2013 (CIT v. Fine Jewellery (India) Ltd.) [2015] 372 ITR 303/230 Taxman 641/55 taxmann.xom 514 (Bom.) decided on February 3, 2015, wherein also Bombay High Court, following its earlier decision in Idea Cellular Ltd. Vs. Dy. CIT [2008] 301 ITR 407 (Bom.) has taken a similar view and said as under (page 307 of 372 ITR):

12. Similarly in the case of CIT vs. Mahendra Kumar Bansal, 2008(297)ITR 99 (Alld), this Court held that merely because the income tax officer had not written lengthy order, it would not establish that the assessment order passed under Section 143(3)/148 of the Act is erroneous and pre-judicial to the interest of the revenue. Relevant paragraph of which is extracted hereunder:-

"In the case of Goyal Private Family Specific Trust [1988] 171 ITR 698, this court has held that the order of the Income-tax Officer may be brief and cryptic, but that by itself is not sufficient reason to brand the assessment order as erroneous and prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue and it was for the Commissioner to point out as to what error was committed by the Income-tax Officer in having reached to its conclusion and in the absence of which proceedings under Section 263 of the Act is not warranted.

In the case of Belal Nisa [1988] 171 ITR 643 the Patna High Court has held that where the Income-tax Officer had not carried out the necessary enquiry enjoined by section 143(1) of the Act the Commissioner is within his power in taking action in terms of Section 263(1) of the Act. Similar view has been taken in by the Patna High Court in the case of Smt. Kaushalya Devi [1988] 171 ITR 686.

The principle laid down by the Patna High Court in the aforesaid two cases are not applicable to the facts of the present case in view of the provisions of Section 143(1) of the Act and as the Central Board of Direct Taxes had already issued the circular referred to above that action under Section 263 of the Act is not warranted and this circular appears to have not been brought to the notice of the Patna High Court which is binding upon the departmental authorities.

As held by this Court in the case of Goyal Private Family Specific Trust [1988] 171 ITR 698, we are of the considered opinion that merely because the Income- tax Officer had not written lengthy order it would not establish that the assessment order passed under Section 143(3)/148 of the Act is erroneous and prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue without bringing on record specific instances, which in the present case, the Commissioner of Income Tax has failed to do."

13. Lastly, the counsel for the assessee submitted that the argument of counsel for the Department relying upon fresh assessment order made by the assessing officer under Section 263/143(3) of the Act dated 7.3.2004 for the purpose of Section 263 of the Act is not sustainable, as according to him definition of expression "record" as per Clause (b) of Explanation to Section 263 of the Act includes all the records relating to Section 263 proceedings available at the time of examination by the CIT only, and not in subsequent order or fresh order passed thereafter under Section 263/143(3) of the Act, which could justify the proceedings under Section 263 carried out by the CIT.

14. We heard Sri Shubham Agarwal, learned counsel for the Department, Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the respondent-assessee and have perused the record.

15. The revenue in this appeal has tried to establish that ITAT was not correct in setting aside the order passed by the Commissioner under Section 263 of the Act, on the ground, that assessee had not furnished entire details regarding the contracts, which was cancelled and also the A.O. not looking into the provisions of Section 40(a)(i-a) of the Act whereby such expenses on which the T.D.S. was liable to be deducted, but was not actually deducted were required to be disallowed and added back under the said provisions of the Act.

16. On the other hand, the contention of assessee that the A.O. after considering the entire books of account and the reply furnished by the assessee passed the assessment order under Section 143(3) of the Act. Further, from perusal of the assessment order dated 18.11.2010, it is clear that the A.O. had considered all the books of account and further on 13.5.2010 it had required the assessee, the entire information for the relevant assessment years along with copy of bank statement, narration of debit and credit entries, and other details.

17. On 7.7.2010, the assessee had replied the said notice and made available all the documents as required by the A.O. The Tribunal being the last fact finding Court, in paragraph 7 of its judgment, had noted that details of the documents produced before the A.O. included computation of income along with return and details of TDS, copy of balance sheet, trading and profit and loss account, details of sundry debtors as well as copies of the orders issued by the debtors to the assessee.

18. Thus, the case in hand is not a case where the CIT found that the assessment order was erroneous and it is prejudicial to the interest of the revenue, as the A.O. after the case of the assessee was selected in scrutiny had required the assessee to furnish all the documents and only after the production of the said documents and his satisfaction the assessment order was passed under Section 143(3) of the Act. The Apex Court in the case of Malabar Industrial Co. Ltd. (supra) while considering the pre-requisite for exercising power by the Commissioner under Section 263 of the Act, held as under:

"A bare reading of Section 263 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 makes it clear that the prerequisite for the exercise of jurisdiction by the Commissioner suo moto under it, is that the order of the Income-tax Officer is erroneous insofar as it is prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. The Commissioner has to be satisfied of twin conditions, namely, (i). the order of the Assessing Officer sought to be revised is erroneous; and (ii) it is prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. If one of them is absent - if the order of the Income-tax Officer is erroneous but is not prejudicial to the revenue or if it is not erroneous but is prejudicial to the Revenue - recourse cannot be had to Section 263(1) of the Act. The provision cannot be invoked to correct each and every type of mistake or error committed by the Assessing Officer; it is only when an order is erroneous that the section will be attracted."

19. Similar view has been taken by the Bombay High Court in the case of Commissioner of Income Tax vs. Development Credit Bank Ltd., 323 ITR 83(SC), relevant paragraph of the same is extracted below:

"Held, dismissing the appeal, that there was no basis or justification for the Commissioner to invoke the provisions of Section 263. The Assessing Officer after making an enquiry and eliciting a response from the assessee came to the conclusion that the assessee was entitled to depreciation on the value of securities held on the trading account. The Commissioner could not have treated this findings to be erroneous or to be prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue. The observation of the Commissioner that the Assessing Officer had arrived at a finding without conducting an enquiry was erroneous, since an enquiry was specifically held with reference to which a disclosure of details was called for by the Assessing Officer and furnished by the Assessing Officer and furnished by the assessee. The Tribunal was justified in holding that recourse to the powers under Section 263 was not warranted in the facts and circumstances of the case."

20. In the case of CIT vs. Arvind Jewellers, 259 ITR 502 (Gujrat), it was held that once the A.O. after issuing notice had considered all the material on record, there was no basis for invocation of jurisdiction under Section 263 of the Act. Relevant paragraph of the said judgment is extracted hereunder:

"Held, that the finding of fact by the Tribunal was that the assessee had produced relevant material and offered explanation in pursuance of the notices issued under Section 142(1) as well as section143(2) of the Act and after considering the material and explanations, the Income-tax Officer had come to a definite conclusion. Since the material was there on record and the said material was considered by the Income-tax Officer and a particular view was taken, the mere fact that different view can be taken should not be the basis for an action under Section 263. The order of revision was not justified."

21. The Bombay High Court in the case of CIT vs. Gabriel India Ltd., 203 ITR 108 (Bombay), held that the order of the A.O. would not become erroneous simply because he did not make elaborate discussion. The relevant paragraph of the said judgment is extracted hereunder:

"Held, that the Income-tax Officer in this case had made enquiries in regard to the nature of the expenditure incurred by the assessee. The assessee had given detailed explanation in that regard by a letter in writing. All these were part of the record of the case. Evidently, the claim was allowed by the Income-tax Officer on being satisfied with the explanation of the assessee. This decision of the Income-tax Officer could not be held to be "erroneous" simply because in his order he did not make an elaborate discussion in that regard. Moreover, in the instant case, the Commissioner himself, even after initiating proceedings for revision and hearing the assessee, could not say that the allowance of the claim of the assessee was erroneous and that the expenditure was not revenue expenditure but an expenditure of capital nature. He simply asked the Income-tax Officer to re-examine the matter. That was not permissible. The Tribunal was justified in setting aside the order passed by the Commissioner of Income-tax under Section 263."

22. The Division Bench of this Court in the case of J.P.Srivastava & Sons vs. CIT, 111 ITR 326 (Alld) had taken a similar view. The relevant paragraph is extracted hereunder:

"We are of opinion that the approach of the Commissioner is erroneous. The failure of the Income-tax Officer to deal with the claim of the assessee in the assessment order may be an error, but an erroneous order by itself is not enough to give jurisdiction to the Commissioner to revise it under Section 33B. It must further be shown that the order was prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. It is not each and every order passed by the Income-tax Officer which can be revised under Section 33B.

Section 33B contemplates a notice to the assessee. In response to the notice the assessee may show to the Commissioner that the order sought to be revised is not prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. In that event, the Commissioner would have no jurisdiction to take any further action. He would be competent to take action only if he rejects the plea of the assessee. It thus becomes necessary for the Commissioner to examine the merits of the objection raised by the assessee. He cannot delegate that power to the Income-tax Officer by setting aside the assessment order and directing him to make a fresh assessment after taking into consideration the objection of the assessee."

23. In the present case, the Tribunal rightly arrived at the finding that all the material in regard to land development expenses was before the Assessing Officer who had required the assessee to produce all the documents in relation to the same and after inquiring about the details of contract and the contract executed by assessee, the bill submitted and payment schedule made, the Assessing Officer accepted the books of account and only disallowed Rs.1,20,000/- and added to the income of the assessee, which was also set aside by order of the CIT(A) while exercising the power under Section 263 of the Act CIT did not have any material for invoking the said provision and it merely did the same on suspicion and presumption. The Punjab and Haryana High Court in the case of CIT vs. Ram Narain Goel, 224 ITR 180 (P & H) held that suspicion however drawn cannot take place on evidence or proof. This case was followed in the case of CIT vs. Faqir Chaman Lal, 262 ITR 295 (P & H).

24. The argument raised by counsel for the revenue that the Tribunal should have send back the matter to the assessing authority to decide afresh is a fallacy, as the CIT itself on 5.6.2013, while deciding the appeal of the assessee under Section 250 of the Act set aside the assessment order dated 18.11.2010 to the extent of addition of Rs.1,20,000/- made in the assessment proceedings. Further, the appeal before the Tribunal emanated from the order of the Commissioner of Income Tax exercising power under Section 263 of the Act, as such the Tribunal was correct in limiting its scope to decide whether the exercise of power made by the Commissioner was in consonance with provision of Section 263 and relied upon the decision of Malabar Industrial Co. Ltd. (supra).

25. As, Clause (c) of Explanation 1 to Section 263 of the Act provides that when an appeal is pending before the Commissioner, the exercise of jurisdiction under Section 263 of the Act by CIT is barred. Thus, in the present case, the CIT wrongly exercised jurisdiction under Section 263 of the Act by remanding back the matter to assessing authority on 25.3.2013, while the appeal was decided by CIT (A) on 5.6.2013. Thus, the order passed by the ITAT does not suffer from any irregularity and needs no interference.

26. As far as the word "record" appearing in Clause (b) of Explanation-1 to Section 263 is concerned, it means the record available at the time of examination by the Commissioner of Income Tax and not any material or record available subsequent to his examination or exercise of power under Section 263. Thus, any order passed by the AO in the assessment proceedings after the remand by the CIT cannot be looked upon and the argument made by the counsel for the revenue for relying upon the fresh assessment order made on 7.3.2004 under Section 263/143(3) of the Act cannot be accepted in view of the above provision of law.

27. In the present case, the Tribunal had recorded specific finding of fact that the assessing authority had examined each and every aspect of the case on which the remand order hinges, as such the remand order was not sustainable in the eyes of law.

28. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered opinion, that the revenue has failed to make any case for interference in the order of the ITAT, as the CIT had proceeded to remand the matter back to the assessing authority while the appeal of the assessee was pending under Section 250 and the power of exercise under Section 263 was barred by Clause (c) to Explanation 1 of Section 263 of the Act. Further, the remand order by the CIT was based merely on suspicion and presumption.

29. The appeal is devoid of merit and is hereby dismissed. The question of law is, therefore, answered against the revenue and in favour of the assessee.

Against the order dt. 24.2.2016 of ITAT, Lko Bench for AY 2006-07 (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal J.)

1. This is an assessee's appeal under Section 260-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter called as 'Act') assailing the order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, 'A' Lucknow (hereinafter called as 'Tribunal') dated 24.02.2016, affirming the order of the CIT (A) as far as regarding addition out of sundry creditors to the extent of Rs.15 lacs and disallowance of 25% of the labour charges. The appeal was admitted on 05.07.2016 on the following question of law:-

"(i) Whether the Appellate Tribunal was legally justified in holding that CIT(A) in exercise of power of enhancement u/s 251 has power to consider new source of income which was not dealt by A.O. in assessment order ignoring the Full Bench decision of CIT vs. Sardari Lal & Co. 251 ITR 864 (Del) (FB)?

(v) Whether the Appellate Tribunal was justified in not considering that after set-aside proceedings by Hon'ble high Court, the CIT(A) has not issued fresh notice of enhancement (although time barred) and followed the its earlier order without application of mind?"

2. However, vide order dated 02.05.2019, this Court allowed the application filed by the appellant for additional question of law proposed by him which are as under:-

"(iii) whether the ITAT was correct to disallow Rs.5.95 lacs, being 25% of labour charges ignoring the increasing trend in the G.P rate of 17.79% in this year as compared to 13.79% in A.y 2005-06, specially when all the expenses were vouched and verifiable being the books of accounts are duly audited u/s 44AB of the Act, in the absence of its rejection and the books have not been rejected.

(iv) whether the ITAT has rightly sustained the addition of Rs.15 lacs out of Sundry Creditors for onus of discharge of verification after 7 years, on appellant while legal observation to preserve the books of Accounts and other documents, for 6 years from the relevant assessment years and third party is under no obligation to provide confirmation or verification beyond 6 years from the relevant assessment years."

3. On 03.05.2019, the above mentioned question of laws were incorporated by the appellant in the paper-book as question nos. III and IV. Assessee/ appellant is in business of civil contract, and for assessment year 2006-07 disclosed his job work receipts amounting to Rs.90,35,009/- and declared gross profit of Rs.16,07,474/- whereas net profit was shown as Rs.3,62,113/-. Return of income was filed on 31.10.2006 and the same was processed under Section 143(1) of the Act on 14.09.2007. Case of the assessee was selected for scrutiny and notice under Section 143(2) was issued on 19.10.2007, as well as notice under Section 142(1) along with questionnaire was issued on 08.08.2008. According to assessee, he replied the queries raised by Assessing Officer. AO completed assessment and made three additions.

4. The order of assessment was challenged by assessee before Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), who on 13.09.2013 issued notice requiring appellant to produce labour register including bills, vouchers and ledger accounts as well as details of sundry creditOrs. On 14.11.2013, CIT (A) passed an order enhancing income of appellant by Rs.26.50 lacs which includes disallowances to the extent of 50% of wage expenses claimed by appellant in profit and loss account and 50% of sundry creditors appearing in balance sheet of the assessee.

5. Order of CIT(A) was challenged before the Tribunal by assessee, and on 14.04.2014, Tribunal dismissed the appeal of assessee. Aggrieved by this order assessee preferred an Income Tax Appeal Defective No. 145 of 2014 before this Court. On 10.12.2014, this Court set aside the order of CIT (A) and of the Tribunal, and restored the proceedings for reconsideration before CIT (A), with a direction that appellant shall file all required information and documentary material before CIT (A) by 31st December, 2014 and shall appear before CIT (A) for receiving directions as to hearing on 5th January, 2015. It was further held that in case assessee fails to file required information and documentary material, CIT (A) would be at liberty to pass orders on basis of available records after furnishing an opportunity of being heard to the assessee.

6. In compliance of the order of this Court, it appears that assessee filed an application along with copy of order before CIT (A) along with certain documents which have been enclosed along with this appeal and are part of record as Annexure-6. Further, notice under Section 250 was issued by the CIT (A) for hearing on 05.01.2015. Thereafter, appellant was given several opportunities on 31.12.2014, 18.02.2015, 27.02.2015, 09.03.2015, 17.03.2015 and 25.03.2015. From the order of the CIT (A), it appears that the authorised representative of the appellant appeared from time to time and furnished replies/ documents. On 31.03.2015, CIT (A) partly allowed appeal of the assessee and disallowance of Rs.36,019/- and Rs.20,000/- were deleted, while additions of Rs.11.50 lacs and Rs.15.00 lacs were confirmed. Against this order an appeal was filed by the assessee/ appellant before the Tribunal which was also partly allowed on 24.02.2016 confirming the addition of amount of sundry creditors to extent of Rs.15.00 lacs, while disallowance on labour charges of Rs.5.95 lacs being made. It is against this order that the present appeal has been filed by the assessee.

7. Learned senior counsel appearing for the assessee submitted that Assessing Officer had made three additions which were deleted by the CIT (A) but had wrongly made addition of Rs.11.50 lacs and Rs.15.00 lacs towards labour expenditure and sundry creditors, as he did not had the jurisdiction to introduce a new source of income and assessment was to be confined to those items of income which was subject matter of original assessment, that is the three additions made by AO of Rs.76,019/-, Rs.20,000/- and Rs.54,375/- only.

8. It was submitted that Section 251(1)(a) of the Act only envisages for the appellate authority that is CIT (Appeal) to confine its assessment to the original assessment order and not to include the power to discover a new source of income. Reliance has been placed upon the decision in case of CIT v. Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry [1962] 44 ITR 891 (SC). Relevant portion relied upon is extracted hereasunder:-

"In our opinion, this Court must be held not to have expressed its final opinion on the point arising here, in view of what was stated at pages 709 and 710 of the report. This Court, however, gave approval to the opinion of the learned Chief Justice of the Bombay High Court that section 31 of the Income-tax Act confers not only appellate powers upon the Appellate Assistant Commissioner in so far as he is moved by an assessee but also a revisional jurisdiction to revise the assessment with a power to enhance the assessment. So much, of course, follows from the language of the section itself. The only question is whether in enhancing the assessment for any year he can travel outside the record that is to say, the return made by the assessee and the assessment order passed by the Income-tax Officer with a view to finding out new sources of income not disclosed in either. It is contended by the Commissioner of Income-tax that the word "'assessment" here means the ultimate amount which an assessee must pay, regard being had to the charging section and his total income. In this view, it is said that the words "enhance the assessments" are not confined to the assessment reached through a particular process but the amount which ought to have been computed if the true total income had been found. There is no doubt that this view is also possible. On the other hand, it must not be overlooked that there are other provisions like sections 34 and 33B, which enable escaped income from new sources to be brought to tax after following a special procedure. The assessee contends that the powers of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner extend to matters considered by the Income-tax Officer, and if a new source is to be considered, then the power of remand should be exercised. By the exercise of the power to assess fresh sources of income, the assessee is deprived of a finding by two tribunals and one right of appeal."

9. Counsel for the assessee also relied upon a decision of the Apex Court in case of ITO v. Rai Bahadur Hardutroy Motilal Chamaria [1967] 66 ITR 443 (SC) which had followed the earlier decision of the Apex Court cited above. Reliance has also been placed on the decision of the Supreme Court in case of Additional Commissioner ofIncome Tax v. M/s. Gurjargravures (P.) Ltd. [1978] 111 ITR 1 (SC), following the earlier two decisions of the Apex Court. Counsel for the assessee vehemently argued that the power of the first appellate authority does not go beyond what has been considered by the Assessing Officer in appeal and reliance upon the decision of a Full Bench in case of CIT v. Sardari Lal and Co. [2001] 251 ITR 864 (Delhi) has been placed wherein it has been held as under:-

"7. The learned counsel for the revenue also submitted that this conclusion of the Division Bench needs a fresh look. We have considered this submission in the background of what had been stated by the Apex Court in Jute Corporation of India Ltd. v. CIT [1991] 187 ITR 688 and CIT v. Nirbheram Daluram [1997] 224 ITR 610. In Jute Corporation of India Ltd.'s case (supra), the Apex Court while considering the question whether AAC has jurisdiction to allow the assessee to raise an additional ground in assailing the order of assessment before it, referred to Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry's case (supra), and draw a distinction between the power to enhance tax on discovery of a new source of income and granting a deduction on the admitted facts supported by the decision of the Apex Court. Relying on certain observations made by the Apex Court in CIT v. Kanpur Coal Syndicate [1964] 53 ITR 225, the Apex Court held that powers of the first appellate authority are coterminous with those of the Assessing Officer and the first appellate authority is vested with all the wide powers, which the subordinate authority may have in the matter. In Nirbheram Daluram's case (supra), the decisions of Kanpur Coal Syndicate's case (supra) and Jute Corporation of India Ltd.'s case (supra) were also considered and it was observed by the Apex Court that the appellate powers conferred on the first appellate authority under section 251 were not confined to the matter, which had been considered by the ITO, as the first appellate authority is vested with all the wide powers of the Assessing Officer may have while making the assessment, but the issue whether these wide powers also include the power to discover a new source of income was not commented upon. Consequently, the view expressed in Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry's case (supra) and Rai Bahadur Hardutroy Motilal Chamaria's case (supra) still holds feet. It may be noted that the issue was considered in CIT v. Mc. Millan and Co. [1958] 33 ITR 183 (SC). Referring to a decision of the Bombay High Court in Narrondas Manordass v. CIT [1957] 31 ITR 909, it was held that the language used in section 31 is wide enough to enable the first appellate authority to correct the ITO not only with regard to a matter which has been raised by the assessee but also with regard to a matter which has been considered by the Assessing Officer and determined in the course of assessment. It is also relevant to note that in the Jute Corporation'of India Ltd.'s case (supra), the Apex Court inter alia observed as follows:-

".....The AAC, on an appeal preferred by the assessee, had jurisdiction to invoke, for the first time, the provisions of rule 33 of the Indian Income-tax Rules, 1922, for the purpose of computing the income of a non-resident even if the ITO had not done so in the assessment proceedings. But, in Shapoorji Pallonji Mistri [1962] 44 ITR 891, this Court, while considering the extent of the power of the AAC, referred to a number of cases decided by various High Courts including the Bombay High Court judgment in Narrondas Manordass [1957] 31 ITR 909 and also the decision of this Court in McMillan and Co. [1958] 33 ITR 182 and held that, in an appeal filed by the assessee, the AAC has no power to enhance the assessment by discovering new sources of income not considered by the ITO in the order appealed against. It was urged on behalf of the revenue that the words 'enhance the assessment' occurring, in section 31 were not confined to the assessment reached through a particular process but the amount which ought to have been computed if the true total income had been found. The Court observed that there was no doubt that this view was also possible, but having regard to the provisions of sections 34 and 33-B, which made provision for assessment of escaped income from new sources, the interpretation suggested on behalf of the revenue would be against the view which had held the field for nearly 37 years....." (p. 692) [Emphasis supplied]

8. Looking from the aforesaid angles, the inevitable conclusion is that whenever the question of taxability of income from a new source of income is concerned, which had not been considered by the Assessing Officer, the jurisdiction to deal with the same in appropriate cases may be dealt with under sections 147/148 of the Act and section 263, if requisite conditions are fulfilled. It is inconceivable that in the presence of such specific provisions, a similar power is available to the first appellate authority. That being the position, decision in CIT v. Union Tyres [1999] 240 ITR 556 of this Court expresses the correct view and does not need re-consideration. This reference is accordingly disposed of."

10. Counsel for the assessee also relied on a decision of the Kerala High Court in case of Commissioner of Income Tax, Thrissur v. B.P. Sherafudin [2017] 399 ITR 524 (Kerala). Lastly, he submitted that the CIT (A) had issued the notice for enhancement on 13.09.2013, while the time limit expired on 31.03.2013 for assessment year 2006-07 and the said proceedings are barred by limitation in view of Section 149(1)(b) of the Act.

11. Refuting the arguments made by counsel for assessee, Sri Krishna Agarwal, learned counsel appearing for the Revenue submitted that question nos. (i) and (ii) are substantial question of law while question nos. (iii) and (iv) framed as additional questions are questions of fact. He submitted that power of enhancement provided under Section 251 of the Act, is in fact, the power of Appellate Assistant Commissioner coterminous with that of Income Tax Officer and he can do what the Income Tax Officer do and also direct him to do what he has failed to do. It was further contended that CIT (A) had been empowered under Section 251 to enhance the assessment and he may consider and decide any matter arising out of proceedings in which the order appealed against was passed. Power of CIT(A) cannot be limited to any disallowances or additions made by Assessing Officer but it extends to whole of proceedings.

12. He further submitted that assessee filed its return of income along with balance-sheet, profit and loss account and audited books of account in the assessment proceedings, in which he claimed deduction on account of labour expenses and sundry creditOrs. CIT (A) has power to look into such deductions claimed by assessee in his return as well as any credits in its books of account which assessee does not claim to be its income.

13. Reliance has been placed upon the decision of the Apex Court in case of Commissioner of Income Tax vs. Nirbheram Deluram [1997] 91 Taxman 181 (SC), CIT vs. Kanpur Coal Syndicate [1964] 53 ITR 225 (SC) as well as Jute Corporation of India vs. CIT [1991] 187 ITR 688 (SC), in which the Apex Court in depth considered the power of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner while exercising power under Section 251 of the Income Tax Act. Further, the Apex Court in Jute Corporation of India (supra) distinguished the judgment passed in case of Gurjargravures (P.) Ltd. (supra) and held as under:-

"4. Section 31 of the Income-tax Act, 1922 ('the Act') also conferred power on the AAC to hear appeal against the assessment order made by the ITO. Chagla, C. J. of the Bombay High Court considered the question in detail in Narrondas Manordass v. CIT, [1957] 31 ITR 909 and held that the AAC was empowered to correct the ITO not only with regard to a matter which had been raised by the assessee but also with regard to a matter which may have been considered by the ITO and determined in the course of the assessment. The High Court observed that since the AAC had been the revising authority against the decisions of the ITO; a revising authority not in the narrow sense of revising those matters, which the assessee makes a grievance but the subject-matter of the appeal not only he had the same powers which could be exercised by the ITO. These observations were approved by this Court in CIT v. McMillan and Co., [1958] 33 ITR 182 the AAC on an appeal preferred by the assessee had jurisdiction to invoke, for the first time provisions of rule 33 of the Income-tax Rules, 1922, for the purpose of computing the income of a nonresident even if the ITO had not done so in the assessment proceedings. But in CIT v. Shapporji Pallonji Mistry, [1962] 44 ITR 891this Court while considering the extent of the power of the AAC referred to a number of cases decided by various High Courts including Bombay High Court judgment in Narrondas Manordass's case (supra) and also the decision of this Court in McMillan and Co.'s case (supra) and held that in an appeal filed by the assessee, the AAC has no power to enhance the assessment by discovering new sources of income, not considered by the ITO in the order appealed against. It was urged on behalf of the revenue that the words 'enhance the assessment' occurring in section 31 were not confined to the assessment reached through particular process but the amount which ought to have been computed if the true total income had been found. The Court observed that there was no doubt that this view was also possible, but having regard to the provisions of sections 34 and 33B of the 1922 Act, which made provisions for assessment of escaped income from new sources, the interpretation suggested on behalf of the revenue would be against the view which had held the field for nearly 37 years. In this view the Court held that the AAC had no power to enhance the assessment by discovering new sources of income. This decision does not directly deal with the question which we are concerned. Power to enhance tax on discovery of new source of income is quite different than granting deduction on the admitted facts fully supported by the decision of this Court. If the tax liability of the assessee is admitted and if the ITO is afforded opportunity of hearing by the appellate authority in allowing the assessee's claim for deduction on the settled view of law, there appears to be no good reason to curtail the powers of the appellate authority' under section 251(1)(a) of the Act.

6. In Gurjargravures (P.) Ltd.'s case (supra) this Court has taken a different view, holding that in the absence of any claim made by the assessee before the ITO regarding relief, he is not entitled to raise the question of exemption under Section 84 of the Act before the AAC hearing appeal against the order of the ITO. In that case the assessee had made no claim before the ITO for exemption under Section 84, no such claim was made in the return nor any material was placed on record supporting such a claim before the ITO at the time of assessment. The assessee for the first time made claim for exemption under Section 84 before the AAC who rejected the claim but on further appeal the Tribunal held that since the entire assessment was open before the AAC there was no reason for his not entertaining the claim, or directing the ITO to allow appropriate relief. On a reference the High Court upheld that view taken by the Tribunal. On appeal this Court set aside the order of the High Court as it was of the view that the AAC had no power to interfere with the order of assessment made by the ITO on a new ground not raised before the ITO, and, therefore, the Tribunal committed error in directing the AAC to allow the claim of the assessee under Section 84. Apparently this view taken by two Judge Bench of this Court appears to be in conflict with the view taken by the three Judge Bench of the Court inKanpur Coal Syndicate's case (supra). It appears from the report or of the decision in Gujrat High Court case the three Judge Bench decision in Kanpur Coal Syndicate's case (supra) was not brought to the notice of the Bench in Gurjargravures (P.) Ltd.'s case (supra). In the circumstances the view of the larger Bench in the Kanpur Coal Syndicate's case (supra) hold the field. However, we do not consider it necessary to over-rule the view taken in Gurjargravures (P.) Ltd.'s case (supra) as in our opinion that decision is founded on the special facts of the case, as would appear from the following observations made by the Court:-

".....As we have pointed out earlier, the statement of case drawn up by the Tribunal does not mention that there was any material on record to sustain the claim for exemption which was made for the first time before the AAC. We are not here called upon to consider a case where the assessee failed to make a claim though there was no evidence on record to support it, or a case where a claim was made but no evidence or insufficient evidence was adduced in support. In the present case, neither any claim was made before the Income-tax Officer, nor was there any material on record supporting such a claim..."(p.5)

The above observations do not rule out a case for raising an additional ground before the AAC if the ground so raised could not have been raised at that particular stage when the return was filed or when the assessment order was made or that the ground became available on account of change of circumstances or law. There may be several factors justifying raising of such new plea in appeal, and each case has to be considered on its own facts. If the AAC is satisfied he would be acting within his jurisdiction in considering the question so raised in all its aspects. Of course, while permitting the assessee to raise an additional ground, the AAC should exercise his discretion in accordance with law and reason. He must be satisfied that the ground raised was bona fide and that the same could not have been raised for good reasons. The satisfaction of the AAC depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case and no rigid principles or any hard and fast rule can be laid down for this purpose."

14. A division Bench of this Court in case of Commissioner of Income Tax v. Kashi Nath Candiwala [2005] 144 Taxman 840 (All.) relying upon the judgment of Nirbheram Deluram (supra) and Jute Corporation of India (supra) held that in view of Explanation to Section 251 of the Act the appellate authority is empowered to consider and decide any matter arising out of proceedings in which the order appealed against was passed.

"7. We have heard Sri A.N. Mahajan, learned standing counsel for the revenue and nobody has appeared on behalf of the respondent-assessee. The learned counsel for the Revenue submitted that under the Explanation to section 251 of the Act, the Appellate Authority is empowered to consider and decide any matter arising out of proceedings in which the order appealed against was passed notwithstanding the fact that such matter was not raised before him by the appellant and therefore, even though the trading results were not subject-matter of the appeal before the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), he was justified in going into the trading results and substituting it by his own findings. Shri Mahajan has relied upon a decision of Apex Court in the case of CIT v. Nirbheram Daluram [1997] 224 ITR 610 wherein the Apex Court has held that the Appellate Assistant Commissioner is entitled to direct additions in respect of items of income not considered by the Income Tax Officer. The Apex Court has followed its earlier decision in the case of Jute Corpn. of India Ltd. v. CIT [1991] 187 ITR 688 and has held that the power of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner is coterminous with that of the Income Tax Officer and he can do what the Income Tax Officer can do and also direct him to do what he has failed to do."

15. Further two decisions relied upon by the counsel for the Revenue are in case of CIT v. K.S. Dattatreya [2011] 197 Taxman 151 (Kar.) and CIT v. McMillan & Co. [1958] 33 ITR 182 (SC).

16. Sri Agarwal submitted that the reliance placed on the decision of Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry (supra) and Rai Bahadur Hardutroy Motilal Chamaria (supra) are completely distinguishable on facts, as in both cases the Court held that the AAC could not travel outside the record that is to say the return made by assessee with a view to finding out new source of income not disclosed.

17. Lastly the counsel for the Revenue submitted that there was no requirement of issuance of fresh notice of enhancement once this Court restored the matter back to the CIT (A) to consider the material, giving an opportunity to assessee and fixing 31st December, 2014 as last date for submission of documents/ material and several opportunities being provided by the first appellate authority thus, question of fresh issuance of notice does not arise.

18. We have heard Sri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the assessee and Sri Krishna Agarwal, learned cousel for the Revenue.

19. Before proceeding, a glance of provisions of Section 251 of the Act is necessary, which is extracted hereasunder:-

"251. (1) In disposing of an appeal, the Commissioner (Appeals) shall have the following powers—

(a) in an appeal against an order of assessment, he may confirm, reduce, enhance or annul the assessment;

(aa) in an appeal against the order of assessment in respect of which the proceeding before the Settlement Commission abates under section 245HA, he may, after taking into consideration all the material and other information produced by the assessee before, or the results of the inquiry held or evidence recorded by, the Settlement Commission, in the course of the proceeding before it and such other material as may be brought on his record, confirm, reduce, enhance or annul the assessment;

(b) in an appeal against an order imposing a penalty, he may confirm or cancel such order or vary it so as either to enhance or to reduce the penalty;

(c) in any other case, he may pass such orders in the appeal as he thinks fit.

(2) The Commissioner (Appeals) shall not enhance an assessment or a penalty or reduce the amount of refund unless the appellant has had a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against such enhancement or reduction.

Explanation.-In disposing of an appeal, the Commissioner (Appeals) may consider and decide any matter arising out of the proceedings in which the order appealed against was passed, notwithstanding that such matter was not raised before the Commissioner (Appeals) by the appellant."*

20. A careful reading of Section 251 reveals that power vest in Commissioner (Appeals), in an appeal against an assessment order, where he can confirm, reduce enhance or annul the assessment. Explanation to Section 251 further clarifies the position and empowers Commissioner (Appeals) to consider and decide any matter arising out of proceedings in which the order appealed against was passed, notwithstanding that said matter was not raised before him by the appellant, meaning thereby that power exercisable by CIT (Appeal) under Section 251 cannot be restricted to only the issues raised by the appellant in any appeal before him, but Commissioner can exercise his discretion in accordance with law.

21. The first argument raised by the counsel for the assessee that the CIT (A) while exercising power of enhancement under Section 251 of the Act cannot consider new source of income which was not dealt by the Assessing Officer, in the present case cannot be accepted as after the remand by this Court, the CIT (A) as well as the Tribunal in depth had recorded a finding that there was no new source of income on which the additions had been made and it was all on the records produced before the Assessing Officer that the CIT (A) had made additions of labour charges as well as addition of sundry creditors to the extent of Rs.15.00 lacs.

22. It has been argued by the counsel for the Revenue that CIT (A) has not travelled beyond the books of accounts and during appeal it was found that only confirmation was available of five parties and the rest of the creditors were untraceable, hence the addition of the amount was made which were part of the books of account. Likewise, the addition made as far as the labour charges are concerned was also on the basis of the books of account submitted by the assessee as such, it cannot be accepted that the CIT (A) had made additions on the basis of new source of income.

23. The argument of the counsel for the assessee relying upon the decision of the Apex Court in case of Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry (supra), Rai Bahadur Hardutroy Motilal Chamaria (supra) and Sardari Lal & Co. (supra) cannot be accepted as the said judgments have their very basis where the Appellate Assistant Commissioner had made addition or deletion on the basis of new source of income, but present case is not of new source of income, as CIT (A) has relied upon the books of accounts submitted by the assessee along with his return and had claimed expenditure made by him in profit and loss account and claim of sundry creditors shown in balance-sheet.

24. The Apex Court while dealing with the power of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner under Section 251 of the Act had in case of Nirbheram Deluram (supra) and Jute Corporation of India (supra) had held that power of Appellate Assistant Commissioner is coterminous with that of Income Tax Officer and he can do what the Income Tax Officer can do and also direct him to do what he has failed to do.

25. In the present case, the CIT (A) had deleted addition made by the Assessing Officer and had made two additions of the labour charges and sundry creditors on the basis of the profit and loss account, and balance-sheet filed by the assessee along with his return. Thus, there was no new source of income as claimed by the assessee. The case law relied upon by the assessee in case of Sardari Lal & Co. (supra) and Shapoorji Pallonji Mistry (supra) are all distinguishable in the facts of the present case, and the Hon'ble Courts in those cases had only dealt with the situation wherein AAC found new source of income and made additions to the income, while in the present case no such addition was made from any new source of income but from the return so submitted by the assessee himself.

26. The second question as regards the issuance of fresh notice of enhancement by the CIT (A) is concerned has no relevance, once the order of the Tribunal as well as CIT (A) was set aside by this Court on 10.12.2014 restoring the appeal back to CIT (A) for reconsideration and fixing 31th December, 2014 as last date for the appellant to file all required information and documentary material and to appear before CIT (A) on 05th January, 2015. The question of law raised by the assessee is of no consequence as he, thereafter, had filed the documents before CIT (A) and had appeared, thus, the question of issuance of fresh notice for enhancement does not arise and the CIT(A) rightly decided the question so raised before it.

27. As far as question no. (III) and (IV), which the appellant had incorporated in his appeal with the permission of the Court are not substantial question of law and are questions of fact which have been dealt with by, both CIT

(A) and the Tribunal in depth and have categorically recorded finding of fact, for which no interference is required in this appeal.

28. Thus, argument of the counsel for assessee cannot be accepted so as to restrict the power of Commissioner (Appeals) on the ground of new source of income, as Section 251 clearly envisages the power of the appellate authority for considering and deciding any material arising out of proceedings in which order appealed against was passed. In the present case, all the materials looked upon by the appellate authority was before the assessing authority, as such the Commissioner (Appeals) rightly proceeded to decide the same as it arose out of the proceedings of assessment.

29. The Apex Court has also affirmed that power of Commissioner (Appeals) cannot be restricted and in the case of Jute Corporation of India Ltd. (supra) held that the power of the Commissioner (Appeals) being coterminous with that of the Income Tax Officer, he can do what the Income Tax Officer do and further the section also empowers him to direct the Assessing Officer to do what he had failed to do. The power of the Commissioner is not bridled in any way and the language of the section is plain and simple.

30. Having considered the material on record and the law laid down by the Apex Court in regard to the power of Commissioner (Appeals) exercisable under Section 251 of the Act, we are of the considered opinion that the order of the Tribunal needs no interference and the appeal of the assessee is dismissed.

31. The questions of law are, therefore, answered in favour of the Revenue and against the Assessee.

Income Tax Appeal No.50 of 2009

M/S Deepak Rugs,Bhadohi ...Appellant
Versus
Commissioner of Income Tax,Varanasi ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Shambhu Chopra, Sri Arun Pratap Singh, Sri Rishi Raj Kapoor, Sri Nikhil Agarwal, Sri Kushagra Srivastava.

Counsel for the Respondent:

A. Income Tax Act, 1961: Sections 143(2), 142(1), 144, 145(3), 251, 260-A- In exercise of powers u/s 260A, the finding of fact of the Tribunal cannot be disturbed.

The Assessing Officer noticed that the weaving charges manufacturing expenses were not verifiable and the gross profit rate had gone down considerably as compared to the preceding years. Assessing Officer applied the provisions of S.145(3) and adopted a higher GP rate (15%). CIT (A) rejected the appeal and enhanced the GP rate (to 23.01%). Tribunal dismissed the appeal. Dismissing the present appeal, the High Court

No question of law may arise against enhancement in estimation as it would remain a finding of fact, as long as it is based on cogent material and evidence.

1. M/s Kaka Carpets Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Varanasi, Income Tax Appeal NO. 8 of 2008 (Para 36)

Appeal against order 16.3.2009 by ITAT, Allahabad Bench for AY 2004-05 (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Varma J.)

1. The present appeal has been filed by the assessee under Section 260-A of the Income Tax Act. 1961 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') against the order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad Bench dated 16.3.2009 for the Assessment Year 2004-05, by which Tribunal dismissed assessee's appeal and confirmed the order dated 4.9.2006 passed by Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) Varanasi.

2. The Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), Varanasi, by order dated 4.09.2006 enhanced the addition by estimating the gross profit at 23.01 % and accordingly sustained the addition of Rs. 1,32,02,572/- which includes the addition made by Assessing Officer vide order dated 13.02.2006.

3. The instant appeal was admitted on the following questions of law:

1. Whether, the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was legally justified in upholding the application of Section 145(3) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, upholding the rejection of books of account, and application of hypothecated G.P. Rate of 23.01 % as enhanced by the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals)?

2. Whether the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal as well as learned Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeal) were legally justified in giving their new reasoning for justifying the application of Section 145(3) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 for upholding the rejection of books of account, contrary to the findings and conclusions mentioned by the assessing authority in paras 4.1, 4.II, 4.III, 4.IV and 4.V of the assessment order wherein the assessing authority has recorded positive findings in favour of the appellant for fall of GP rate in the current year, even though applying hypothetical GP rate at 15 %?

3. Whether, the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was legally justified in upholding the order of lower authorities and addition of Rs. 1,32,02,742/- towards trading profit merely on the basis of surmises and conjectures, ignoring the cogent material on record such as comparative chart, fall in rupee value, etc. and even though no defects were pointed out in the books of account and other records maintained by the appellant and produced before the assessing authority?

4. Whether, the fall in GP rate as declared by the appellant at 14.52% being comparable to the rate in the industry, the addition of trading profits of RS. 1,32,02,742 for the year under consideration is legally sustainable?

4. The assessee is a firm and is engaged in business of manufacture and export of woolen carpet rugs. It filed its return of income showing income at Rs

86,19,540/- for the assessment year 2004-05. The case of the assessee was selected for scrutiny and thereafter notices under section 143(2)/142(1) of the Act were issued.

5. The accountant of the assessee firm and its counsel appeared before the assessing officer and produced cash book, ledger account, journal book, purchase and sale registers, stock register, bills, vouchers etc.

6. The Assessing Officer on examination of records found that sales and purchase was satisfactory. However, on verification, he noticed that the weaving charges and manufacturing expenses were not verifiable as per record of the assessee and the gross profit rate for assessment year 2004-05 has gone down considerably as compared to the preceding assessment years i.e. 2002-03 and 2003-04.

7. The Assessing Officer required the assessee to explain the fall in Gross Profit rate and also the non verifiable nature of weaving charges and other manufacturing expenses and why books of account may not be rejected by invoking the provisions of section 145(3) of the Act.

8. The assessee stated that the fall in G.P. Rate is mainly attributable to increase in cost of raw material, secondly the sale price has gone down as compared to the previous assessment years and the cost of the labour charges (weaving charges payment) paid to weavers and production expenses has increased in the said assessment year.

9. The Assessing Officer after considering the reply of the assessee and after perusing the account books of the assessee came to the conclusion that verifiability of books of account is not possible in the absence of supporting documents, even the trading/manufacturing result shown by the assessee is not acceptable as such the assessing officer applied the provisions of section 145(3) of the Act and rejected the books of the assessee. He adopted G.P. Rate @15% instead of 14.52% as disclosed by the assessee. Accordingly the extra profit was worked out at Rs 7,42,607/-and the same was added to the income of the assessee. Apart from this addition various other additions on account of disallowance of travelling and conveyance expense, disallowance of printing and stationary expenses, disallowance of general expenses and disallowance of other expenses.

10. Thereafter the Assessing Officer made an assesment vide Assessment order dated 13.02.06 and came to the following conclusion.

" III. On verification of weaving charges payment, it is seen that the payment of Rs. 4,22,48,507 are made to weavers/weavers contractor after deducting tax at source and total of deduction of tax was Rs. 8,49,906, many of weaver/weaver contractor, as per TDS deduction list, are assessed to tax and have been allotted PAN, however, in some of cases PAN have not been quoted. No doubt as far as the genuineness of the person is concerned, the person with the PAN number can be said to be verifiable but as in the maximum no. of weavers cases, they are not maintaining their own books so cross verifiability of correctness of weaving charges is not possible. In some of the weavers cases total payment of 5,89,324 have been made as weaving charges without any deduction of taxes as most of payment were below Rs. 20,000/- as the addresses of these persons are not complete so verifiability of weaving charges is not possible. Similarly in the case of manufacturing expenses case it cannot be said to be fully verifiable. In view of these facts applicability of Section 145(3) cannot be ruled out.

IV. The assessee has maintained purchase/ manufacturing and sale register, stock register but in view of nature and work of the industry and maintenance of assessee's own accounts, the stock position and consumption of raw material and cost there upon can not be correctly deduced as piece to piece manufacture, consumption, cost, sale etc is not co-relatable from the books kept by the assessee, so consumption as well as stock cannot be said fully verifiable. Hence applicability of Section 145(3) on this score also cannot be denied. "

11 . The Assessing Officer, thus computed and assessed the income of the assessee at Rs 92,52,420/-

12. The assessee aggrieved by the additions made in the assessment order dated 13.02.2006 challenged the same by filing appeal before the CIT (A). In that appeal the books of account were again examined by the first appellate authority. The CIT(A) vide order dated 04.09.16 rejected the appeal of the assessee and upheld the invocation of the provisions of section 145(3) of the Act, rejecting the books of account. However, he enhanced the addition by estimating the gross profit @23.01%, after considering the past history of the assessee and for this purpose the CIT (A) compared the G.P. Rate of the assessee of the last 5 assesment years and adopted the average of gross profit rate of last two assessment years. The CIT (A) also confirmed and upheld the various other disallownces made by the Assessing Officer.

13. The assessee challenged the order of the CIT(A) before the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad Bench, Allahabad. The Tribunal vide order dated 16.03.2009 dismissed the appeal filed by the assessee and confirmed the order passed the CIT (A).

14. Hence, the present appeal, at the instance of the assessee.

15. Heard Sri Kushagra Srivastava holding brief of Sri Rishi Raj Kapoor, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ashish Agarwal, learned counsel for the revenue.

16. It is contended by learned counsel for the appellant that the Tribunal as well as the lower authorities have erred in law as well as on facts in upholding the rejection of book of accounts and application of Section 145(3) of the Income Tax Act. The assessing authority had found that the assessee had maintained purchase/manufacturing register, sale register and stock register. He also submitted that in case the Assessing Officer, CIT(A) or Tribunal doubted the transactions carried out by the assessee regarding the payment of weaving charges they should have summoned the persons/weavers in question. Without summoning those persons, tax liability could not be fastened on the assessee on presumptions and conjectures.

17. It is further submitted, that there was no suppression in sales/purchase order or of raw materials nor excess raw material had been found in assessee's case to assume hypothecated GP rate of 23.01 % as assessed by the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeal) and upheld by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal. Learned counsel for the assessee relied upon the judgement of this court in the case of M/s

Kaka Carpets vs Commissioner of Income Tax, Varanasi, Income Tax Appeal No. 8 of 2008, delivered on 28.04.08.

18. To the contrary, learned counsel for the revenue submitted that books of account were not properly maintained by the appellant-assessee which were rightly rejected by the Assessing Officer by invoking provisions of Section 145(3) of the Act. The CIT (Appeals) not only confirmed the action of the assessing officer but also enhanced the GP rate from 15 % to 23.01 %. and there is no apparent error either on the part of the learned Tribunal or in the order passed by the authorities below.

19. It is further submitted that the maximum number of weavers could not be verified in absence of necessary details being furnished by the assessee. Regarding correctness of weaving charges and further the stock position and consumption of raw materials and cost thereupon cannot be correctly deducted as piece to piece manufacture, consumption, cost, sales was also not correlated from the books of account. He also submitted that in maximum number of cases neither PAN was provided nor the address of the weavers were disclosed. As such genuineness of the transaction cannot be established. The Commissioner of Income Tax (A) after giving a detailed notice for the enhancement of Income, in accordance with law enhanced the income of the assessee. The finding of fact recorded by the Assessing Officer and CIT(A) on examination of books of account and other details produced by the assessee would show that the assessee had failed to prove genuineness of the weaving charges, thus the order of Tribunal is wholly just. In any case, the said order records a finding of fact based on appraisal of evidence and therefore warrants no interference by this Court. There is no substantial question of Law involved,

20. We have considered the rival submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

21. The assessee during the Assessment year 2004-05 has shown his income from manufacture and export of carpets. The comparative trading chart for the year in dispute as well as the preceding year is quoted below:

Assessment Year	Sales	Gross Profit	GP Ratio
2002-03	91991908	24167934.22	26.27%
2003-04	104485531	21048985.80	20.14 %
2004-05	155555112	22590659.63	14.52 %

22. The above chart shows the fall in GP ratio with reference to previous years, which was due to increase in cost of raw material, as per assessee. To verify the fall in GP rate, the Assessing Officer examined the books of account and found that the sale and purchase were found verifiable. However, on verification of weaving charges payment, it was found that although payment of Rs, 4,22,48,507 was disclosed to have been made to weavers after deducting tax at source however, only some of the weavers/contractors had permanent account number. About half of them, no permanent account number was available.

Total deduction of tax was Rs. 8,49,906, but in case of some of the weavers total payment of Rs. 589324 had been made as weaving charges without any deduction of tax at source. As the addresses of these persons were not complete, verification of weaving charges was not possible. Similarly in the case of manufacturing expenses, it could not be fully verified. The Assessing Officer recorded that the stock position and consumption of raw material and cost thereof cannot be correctly deduced as piece to piece manufacture, consumption, cost, sales is not correlated from the books kept by the assessee and therefore, in view of the unverifiability of the same with reference to the records of the recipients and non maintenance of proper stock records, the AO has invoked the provisions of Section 145(3) of the Act, 1961 and thereafter estimated the GP rate at 15 % as against the 14.52 %.

23. It may be stated here that section 145 (3) of the Act, provides that where the Assessing Officer is not satisfied about the correctness or completeness of the accounts of the assessee or where method of accounting or accounting standards under subsection (2) have not been regularly followed by the assessee, The Assessing officer may make assessment in the manner provided under section 144 of the Income Tax Act.

24. The order of Assessing Officer was challenged in Appeal before the CIT(A). The Commissioner (Appeals) called for the books of account at the appellate stage and examined the same and noted that the assesse has debited an amount of Rs 4,28,37,831/- towards weaving charges, Rs 99,20,335 towards repairing charges and Rs 29,38, 933/- towards finishing charges. All these payments had been made in cash. Thus the CIT(A) recorded that there was substantial increase in expenses towards the weaving and repairing, incurred in cash, as per the assessee, but the assessee failed to provide the details justifying the payment in cash towards the said charges. The CIT(A) had also taken note of the fact that there is decline in the cost of raw materials as compared to earlier years. On account of the said unexplained expenses, there is increase in total expenses which resulted in the decrease of the gross profit. He held that the expenses so made, are not verifiable and they are made through self made vouchers. He also recorded that the identity of the weavers could not be established and they could not be contacted and therefore payments made to them cannot be verified. The systematic stock register was not maintained. On being satisfied, the first appellate authority enhanced the addition by estimating the gross profit at 23.01 % and accordingly sustained the addition of Rs. 1,32,02,572/- which includes the addition made by Assessing Officer vide order dated 4.9.2006, after confirming the rejection of the books of account in absence of production of any qualitative details either in assessment proceeding or before it.

25. Being aggrieved, the assessee carried the matter to the Tribunal. The Tribunal confirmed the rejection of books of accounts and recorded the finding to the effect that the assessee has failed to get the weaving charges, manufacturing expenses verified as the addressees of many weavers were incomplete and consumption as well as stock could not be fully verified. It also noticed that there was a change in the method of recording payment of weaving charges, repairing charges and finishing charges. The accounts were opened and the payments had been rooted to the accounts of the weavers/contractOrs. Thus, it concluded that there is an element of non-genuine expenses. It also took note that there is decline in the cost of raw materials as compared to earlier years. The stock register was not properly maintained and as such it was not possible to ascertain the quantitative details of stock, cost as per unit.

26. Tribunal also noted that the assessee has failed to explain satisfactorily before it as to what was the reason for decline in the gross profit rate and increase in the manufacturing expenses and in absence of any reliable material on record, learned Tribunal did not interfere in the findings arrived at by the authorities below and held that the authorities below were justified in rejecting the book result of the assessee under Section 145(3) of the Act.

27. The Tribunal has recorded categorical finding that the assessee has failed to prove genuineness of weaving charges and no explanation was given as to why weaving charges were kept outstanding in the books of account for years together and even the complete addresses of the weavers were not furnished. Apart from this, a finding has been recorded that in case of half of the weavers no PAN number was provided before the authorities.

28. In the instant case, the burden to establish the identity of the weavers and the genuineness of the transaction rested on the assessee, which was never discharged. Thus upon failure to disclose and establish the identity, an adverse inference has been recorded.

29. The assessee having not led any evidence in the proceedings before the authorities below could not derive any benefit that the Assessing officer and CIT(A) did not summon the weavers. Once the identity of the weavers was not established the assessee could not in any case claim to establish the genuineness of the transaction. Therefore, the objection raised by the counsel for the assessee as to summoning the persons in question is largely inconsequential.

30. Section 251 of the Income Tax Act provides for the powers of the Commissioner (Appeals). Clause (a) of subsection (1) of section 251 provides that the Commissioner (Appeal) may confirm, reduce, enhance or annul the assessment.

31. Sub section (2) of section 251 provides that the Commissioner(Appeals) shall not enhance an assessment unless the appellant has had a reasonable opportunity of showing case against such enhancement. In the instant case , a show cause notice dated 17.07.2006 was sent and after having considered the reply of the asseseee, the CIT(A) considered the previous history of the assessee and concluded that the observation of the Assessing Officer was not based on past record and held that the past history proved that the appellant had disclosed G.P. Rate of 26.27% and 20.14% in the preceding years . The CIT (A) also concluded that the books of accounts are to be rejected being defective and on account of non-verifiability of the expenses.

32. So far as the enhancement of the gross profit rate from 14.52 % to 23.01 % by the CIT (Appeals) was concerned, Tribunal held that the CIT (Appeals) was right in estimating the gross profit rate on the basis of the previous history of the assessee particularly when huge manufacturing expenses have been claimed by the assessee.

33. The assessee has given details of sales for the assessment year under appeal and the preceding assessment years along with computation of gross profit rate but the Assessing Officer rejected books of account on the ground of non maintenance of stock records and the CIT(A) on appeal has sustained the rejection of books of account of the assessee for want of stock records. Therefore, the findings of CIT(A) on the said point cannot be said to be faulted with when the assessee failed to explain the reason for non maintenance of the stock register and also made a bald statement that it is practically not possible for assessee to maintain stock register. The appellant-assessee failed to submit any cogent explanation.

34. Whether the books of account were being properly maintained or not, whether all the entries about the sale transactions therein were made or not, whether stock register was being maintained properly or not, are all questions of fact. The main issue with regard to weaving charges, the same remained unverified on account of non furnishing of necessary details of the weavers by the assessee. In such circumstances, the Tribunal has come to a conclusion that the assessing officer, has, rightly invoked the provisions of Section 145(3) of the Act and rejected the books of account. This action of the assessing officer has been upheld on the factual satisfaction so recorded, not only by CIT (Appeals) but also by the ITAT. The Tribunal has noted the findings of CIT (Appeal) in para 4 of its judgment.

35. The Tribunal has further recorded that the assessee did not bring on record any material or evidence to contradict the findings of the lower authorities and has failed to explain satisfactorily before the Tribunal as to what was the reason for decline in the gross profit rate and increase in manufacturing expenses. The rejection of books of account is based on due application of mind to relevant facts. It is not based on surmises and conjectures. Detailed reasoning has been recorded by the authorities for the said rejection.

36. The judgement relied upon by the assessee in the case of M/s Kaka Carpets vs Commissioner of Income Tax, Varanasi, Income Tax Appeal No. 8 of 2008, delivered on 28.04.08 is not applicable to the facts of the present case as in present case, the rejection of books of account had arisen because the assessee could not produce the details of the weavers to whom heavy payments had been made, whereas in the case of Kaka Carpets (supra) that assessee had placed on record individual affidavits of the weavers to whom it had made payments.

37. In this regard, we find that the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M/S Kachwala Gems, Jaipur Vs Joint Commissioner of Income Tax reported in (2007) 288 ITR 10 (SC), has held as follows.

It is well settled that in a best judgement assessment there is always a certain degree of guess work. No doubt the authorities concerned should try to make an honest and fair estimate of the income even in a best judgment assessment, and should not act totally arbitrarily, but there is necessary some amount of guess work involved in a best judgment assessment, and it is the assesee himself who is to blame as he did not submit proper accounts. In our opinion there was no arbitrariness in the present case on the part of Income-Tax authorities. Thus, there is no force in this appeal, and it is dismissed accordingly. No costs.

38. In the case of Shri Venkateswar sugar mills V/s CIT (2012) 341 ITR 588 (AllD). In paragraph no. 12, 13 and 14 it has been laid down as follows.

12. For the assessment year under consideration, the assessee has shown the G.P. Rate 16.20 per cent, as against 33.44 percent. In the previous assessment year. Thus, during the assessment year under consideration, the G.P. Rate was low. The commissioner of Income- tax (Appeals) discussed the facts and circumstances pertaining to the manufacturing cost and selling price. The Assessing Officer has taken the G.P. rate at 27 percent. When the books of account were not properly maintained and the vouchers pertaining to the consumable items were not available for verification, then we find justification for rejection of the books of accounts by the Assessing Officer Once the books of account rejected, then there is no option before the Assessing Officer except to estimate the sale and G.P. Rate which he determined by taking by taking by comparative figure of the assessee for the previous assessment year. The Tribunal has already given the partial relief in the facts and circumstances of the case, there is no scope to give any further relief specially when the estimation is a question of fact. The Tribunal is a final fact finding authority as per the ratio laid down in the case of Kamala Ganapathy SubramaniumV. CED (2002) 253 ITR 692 (SC).

13. In the instant case, the addition is made on the estimate basis, which is a question of fact as per the ratio laid down in the case of Utkal Road Lines v. Registrar, ITAT (2011) 336 ITR 149 (Orissa), wherein it was observed that the application of G.P. Rate on estimate basis is a question of fact. The hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CIT v. Indo Nippon Chemicals Co. Ltd. (2003 261 ITR 275 (SC) observed that valuation of raw material for the purpose of tax on estimate basis is a question of fact. Similar views were expressed in the following cases:

1. New Plaza Restaurant v. ITO (2009) 309 ITR 259 (HP) :

2. Sanjay Oilcake Industries v. CIT (2009) 316 ITR 274 (Guj):

3. Shri Ram Jhanwar Lal V.ITO (2010) 321 ITR 400 (Raj).

4. Zora Singh v. CIT (2008) 296 ITR 104 (P&H):

5. Bharat Hari Singhania v. CWT (!(($) 207 ITR 1 (SC) ; (1994) Suppl. (3) SCC 46;

6. CIT v. Green world Corporation (2009) 314 ITR 81 (SC) ; (2009) 7 SCC 69 ; and

7. Brij Lala v. CIT (2010) 328 ITR $&& (SC); (2011) 1 SCC 1.

14. In view of the above, no substantial question of law is emerging from the impugned order. Hence, we find no reason to interfere with the impugned order passed by the Tribunal which is hereby sustained along with reasons mentioned therein.

39. We have also gone through the, findings arrived at by the Tribunal as well as by the CIT (Appeals) and find that under the circumstances, the AO was right in invoking the provisions of Section 145(3) in rejecting the book result and estimating the gross profit. The assessee could not lead any evidence to the satisfaction of the AO to prove its genuineness. As regards the adoption of gross profit rate @23.01% the Tribunal has upheld the reasoning given by the CIT(A) wherein the CIT(A) has taken the average of the gross profit rate of the two preceding assessment years after considering the previous history of the assessee. On this issue, we find that the finding recorded by the Tribunal is a concluded finding of fact recorded on the basis of material and evidence on record and warrants no interference.

40. The law as to what amounts to substantial question of law is also well settled. It has been emphasized that the finding of fact recorded by the AO or the first appellate authority or the Tribunal cannot be disturbed by the High Court in exercise of powers under Section 260-A of the Act unless such finding is perverse or is such which no person of reasonable prudence could arrive at in the given facts of the case.

41. Undisputedly the powers of First Appellate Authority in matters of assessment are co-extensive with the Assessing Authority, in so far as the CIT (A) had issued a notice and thereafter made the enhancement on the basis of relevant material, no question of law may arise against such estimation as it would remain a finding of fact. In so far as the enhancement made by the CIT (A) is based on cogent material and evidence, the said finding does not suffer from any error of Law.

42. In M. Janardhana Rao Vs Joint CIT, reported in (2005) 273 ITR 50 (SC), the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that in the exercise of the powers under Section 260-A of the Act, the findings of fact of the Tribunal cannot be disturbed. The Hon'ble Court held as follows.

14. Without insisting on the statement of substantial question of law in the memorandum of appeal and formulating the same at the time of admission, the High Court is not empowered to generally decide the appeal under Section 260A without adhering to the procedure prescribed under Section 260A. Further, the High Court must make every effort to distinguish between a question of law and a substantial question of law. In exercise of powers under Section 260A, the findings of fact of the Tribunal cannot be disturbed. It has to be kept in mind that the right of appeal is neither a natural nor an inherent right attached to the litigation. Being a substantive statutory right, it has to be regulated in accordance with law in force at the relevant time. The conditions mentioned in Section 260A must be strictly fulfilled before an appeal can be maintained under Section 260A. Such appeal cannot be decided on merely equitable grounds.

43. Thus, we do not find any infirmity in the order of the Tribunal. The findings recorded by it are clearly findings of fact based on material evidence. In view of the above we answer the question no. 1, 2, 3 and 4 in favour of revenue and against the assessee.

44. The appeal is dismissed. No costs.

The appeal is dismissed. The question of law is, therefore, answered against the Revenue and in favour of the assessee.(Para26) (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bharati Sapru J.
Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal J.)

1. This appeal under Section 260-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter called as "Act') has been filed assailing the order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad (hereinafter called as "ITAT') dated 30.11.2012.

2. T his appeal was admitted on 26.11.2013 on the following question of law:-

"(1) Whether on the ITAT erred in law as well as on facts in deleting the addition of Rs.23,31,28,321/- made on account of investment in potatoes in disregard of all the evidences on record, and the fact that this belonged to one of the partners Raj Kumar Kesarwani.

(2) Whether the ITAT has erred in law as well as in the facts and circumstances of the case in deleting the addition of Rs.37,30,710/- made on account of difference of cash balance as reflected in the balance sheet and cash as per seized documents on wrong appreciation of facts.

(3) Whether the ITAT was justified in substituting it own views which were based on interpretation of word "either" as used by both the A.O. and C.I.T.(A) in coming to conclusion that case reflected was either bogus liability or unexplained cash.

(4) Whether the ITAT has erred in law as well as in the facts and circumstances of the case in directing the A.O. to re-decide the issue by considering the books of accounts produced by the assessee, ignoring the provision of Section 142A."

3. Thereafter two additional substantial questions of law were added which are as under:-

"1. Whether the ITAT is legally justified in reversing the concurrent finding of fact of the authorities below without appreciating the material on record ?

2. Whether the ITAT is legally justified in reversing the concurrent findings of fact of the authorities below in the balance of fresh material placed before it ?"

4. Respondent-assessee is a partnership firm engaged in cold storage business having its Head Office at Sahson, Allahabad. The dispute relates to the assessment year 2008-09. It appears that action under Section 132(1) of the Act was taken in group cases of Kesarwani Zarda Bhandar, Allahabad and its partners on 27.8.2009.

5. The Assessing Officer framed assessment under Section 153-A of the Act on 28.12.2011 for the assessment year in question. The order of the AO was challenged before the Commissioner Income Tax (Appeals). The major challenge by the assessee was for two additions and dis-allowances of expenses. As far as the challenge to addition by the assessee was for Rs.37,30,710/- being the lesser cash in hand as per the seized paper as compared with the books of account, in which the assessee has shown more cash in hand. The other major addition was of Rs.23,31,28,321/- on the ground that the assessee was engaged in the business of potatoes. The CIT(A) accepted the addition so made by the AO.

6. Being aggrieved the assessee filed an appeal before the ITAT which was allowed to the extent as far as the addition of amount of Rs.37,30,710/- and addition of Rs.23,31,28,321/- are concerned, while the Tribunal remanded back the matter to the Assessing Authority as far the addition of Rs.5,47,92/- on account of addition under the heading "building'.

7. Sri Manu Ghildyal, learned Counsel appearing for the Revenue submitted that ITAT was not correct in deleting the addition of Rs.23,31,28,321/- made on account of investment in potatoes in disregard of all evidences on record, and further the papers seized during the search at the residential premises of one of the partners of assessee firm namely Raj Kumnar Kesarwani. He further submitted that the actual cash with the assessee firm was only Rs.27,39,932/- whereas in the audited balance-sheet, the amount was shown as Rs.64,70,642/- Thus the difference of Rs.37,30,710/- was considered as unexplained income by the Assessing Officer and the same was added. Lastly, it was submitted that ITAT was not correct to reverse the concurrent finding of fact recorded by the Income Tax Authorities without appreciating the material on record.

8. Per contra, Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri U.C. Kesarwani, learned Counsel for the Assessee submitted that no papers were seized from the residential premises of the partners of the firm and the documents relied upon were seized from the residence of the Chartered Accountant, an assessee being not the author of the document nor the same having been signed by any of the partners, nor the Chartered Accountant examined at the time of search or at the assessment stage. It was further contended that the assessee had maintained the proper books of account and the AO had wrongly relied upon the provisions of Section 68 of the Act, which was not applicable in the case, and subsequently in appeal, the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) held that the provisions of Section 69A were applicable, which according to him, the First Appellate Authority did not have the power to change the law to sustain the addition.

9. He further submitted that the assessee firm is not engaged in the business of potatoes and the assessee is running a cold storage and the business is of storing potatoes for which rent is realised from the farmers who store agricultural produce in the Cold storage.

10. The assessee maintains complete record as far as the storage of potatoes is done and the assessee maintains the storage (bhandaran) and delivery (nikasan) register and issues rent receipt for the period for which potatoes are stored.

11. Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Counsel further placed on record the U.P. Regulation of Cold Storage Act, 1976, which regulates the functioning of the Cold storage in the State of Uttar Pradesh.

12. Section 2 (c) defines the "cold storage', means an enclosed chamber insulated and mechanically cooled by refrigeration machinery to provide refrigerated condition to agriculture produce stored therein but does not include refrigerated cabinets and chilling plants. Further Section 2(d) defines the word "hirer' means a person who hires on payment of the prescribed charges spaces in a cold storage for storing agricultural produce. Section 2(f) defines "licensee' means any person to whom a licence is granted under this Act. Section 2(i) defines "receipt' means a cold storage receipt including a duplicate receipt issued by licensee under this Act. Section 5 of the Act provides restrictions on carrying on the business of cold storage.

13. Section 12 of the Act provides for reasonable care of goods, while Section 13 is in regard to the duty to exhibit the capacity of the cold storage. Section 19 is in regard to the delivery of goods, where on the demand made by hirer, every licensee shall deliver the goods stored in the cold storage provided the hirer surrenders the receipt and pays all charges due to the licensee. Section 20 provides that the licensee is entitled to retain possession of the goods until the receipt therefor is surrendered and necessary charges are duly paid. Further Section 37 of the Act provides for penalty in case where any provision of the Act, or any rule, order or direction is contravened, then on conviction punishment with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or fine which may extend to Rs. 10,000/- or both shall be made.

14. Section 38 provides for the offences by companies, in the explanation to the said section, "company' means any body corporate, and includes a firm or other association of individuals, and "director' in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm. Section 39 further provides for the cognizance of the offence punishable under the Act by the Court not inferior to that of a Magistrate of the first class, who shall try any such offence.

15. Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Counsel laid emphasis that a cold storage cannot run without a licence being granted by licensing authority and no agricultural produce in a cold storage can be stored except in accordance with the terms and conditions of the licence. If, there is any contravention of any provision of the Act, the licensing authority can take punitive action as provided under the Act.

16. In the present case, no violation has been noticed or has been brought on record by the Assessing Officer meaning thereby that the assessee did not violate any of the terms of provisions of U.P. Regulation of Cold Storage Act, 1976. He further submitted that the addition is made merely on presumption and no material or evidence has been brought on record to prove that assessee is engaged in the business of potatoes. As in a cold storage potatoes can only be stored and it cannot be used for any other purposes. It was also submitted that the case of the assessee is only of bailee and the transaction between the assessee and the constituents are the bailment i.e. the storage of potatoes and later on delivery.

17. We have heard learned Counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

18. It is not in dispute that the assessee is running of a cold storage, after being granted the licence as mandated under the U.P. Regulation of Cold Storage Act, 1976. Under the said Act, it is only the storage of the agricultural commodity for which the licence is granted and no other business can be carried out by the licensee. The Act and the rules lay down the procedure for the storage of agricultural commodity and also the maintenance of the necessary records for regulating the storage of such commodity.

19. In the present case, learned Counsel for the Revenue has mainly relied upon the two deletion made by the ITAT of the addition so made by the AO as confirmed by the CIT (A). As to the addition made of Rs.37,30,710/-, which is lesser cash in hand as compared with the books of accounts in which the assess has shown more cash in hand, the Tribunal held that it is neither a case under Section 68 of the IT Act nor Section 69-A of the Income Tax Act. The Tribunal further went on to hold that it was not a case where money is not recorded in the books of account of assessee, and in the present case cash in hand in the books of account was found to be more than the actual cash found during the course of search. At the most, authorities could have presumed that assessee has spent the difference of amount in question somewhere as per cash in hand, as per books of account and lesser cash as per seized documents, but that would also not suffice to make addition under any of the above propositions.

20. As far as the other addition made of Rs.23,31,28,321/-, the assessee had challenged the same on the ground that they are not engaged in business of potatoes and the entries in the seized register, gate pass and exit record were totally ignored by the assessing authority as well as by the first appellate authority. The Tribunal being the last fact finding authority recorded a categorical finding that the assessee had submitted all the documents as well as all the entries of the bhandaran and exit register (nikasan) tallied with the stock, as such the addition made by the authorities were wrong.

21. The argument raised by the counsel for the assessee as far as no violation of the provisions of U.P. Regulation of Cold Storage Act is concerned, has force, as the Assessing Officer has failed to bring on record any notice given by any of the concerned licencing authority regarding violation of the Act or any proceedings pending against the assessee firm.

22. When this fact was confronted with the counsel for the Revenue, he failed to produced any document in regard to any violation made by the assessee, Cold Storage of the provisions of the U.P. Regulation of Cold Storage Act. Once it is established that the assessee did not violate any terms of provisions of U.P.

Regulation of Cold Storage Act, 1976, then, the finding recorded by by AO as well as the first appellate authority that the assessee was in the business of potatoes and the addition so made by the Assessing Officer was merely on the basis of presumption and assumption and without any material on record.

23. The Tribunal has also recorded a categorical finding that no evidence of purchase, sales or unaccounted stock belonging to the assessee during the course of search or survey was found or established, thus, there was no justification for the authorities to make or confirm the addition of the said amount. There is no doubt that the business of running a cold storage is governed by the U.P. Act of 1976 and it is only after the grant of licence by the licencing authority that a cold storage can run according to the terms and conditions of the licence. Any violation of the terms of licence has penal consequences as provided under Section 37 and 38 of the Act, for which the Magistrate of Ist Class is empowered to take cognizance of any offence so made by the licence holder. As, in the case in hand, during the search and survey in the business premises of the assessee, no such violation was found or recorded, nor any notice was given or action was taken against the asssessee, as is evident from the perusal of the documents before us. Further, the counsel for the Revenue also could not point out to any such violation made by the assessee of the U.P. Act of 1976.

24. Once it is established that the assessee had not violated the terms of licence, so granted by the licencing authority, merely on the basis of presumption and assumption from any documents or papers seized during search and survey cannot be the basis for the addition of such an amount.

25. Having considered the facts and circumstances of the case and going through the records of the case, we are of the considered opinion that the Revenue has failed to establish that the order of the Tribunal is manifestly illegal and suffers from error apparent on face of the record. As the Tribunal being the last fact finding court has categorically recorded finding that the authorities below had wrongly made the additions without any material on record on the basis of mere presumption and assumption.

26. The appeal is dismissed. The question of law is, therefore, answered against the Revenue and in favour of the assessee.

A. Income Tax Act, 1961: 142(1), 143(1), 143(3), 260A, 263: Mere non-discussion and non-mentioning about the reply in the order—no assumption of order being erroneous.

CIT while exercising power u/s 263 partly accepted the objection of the assessee and for certain details relegated the case back to the assessing officer. Tribunal dismissed the appeal. Allowing the appeal, held:-Assessment order cannot be called as erroneous, if it was passed after issuing notice and raising certain queries, to the assessee, which were answered to the satisfaction of assessing authority. (Para 16)

Mere non-discussion and non-mentioning about the reply in the order of the assessing authority, or merely because the order of the assessing authority is not lengthy, does not lead to an assumption that the order has been passed without application of mind and the order is erroneous and prejudicial to the interest of the revenue. Appeal against order dated 02.04.2013 by ITAT, Delhi for AY 2007-08 (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal J.)

1. This appeal under Section 260 A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter called as 'Act') has been filed assailing the order passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Delhi Bench "E" New Delhi dated 02.04.2013 and Revisional order dated 09.02.2012, passed by Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut, under Section 263 of the Act.

2. The appeal was admitted on 06.09.2013 on the following questions of law:-

"I. Whether on the facts and circumstances of the case the ITAT rightly held that the Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut has correctly assumed jurisdiction under Section 263, in revising the assessment order dated 15.12.2009 passed under Section 143(3) of the Act for A.Y. 2007-08?

II. Whether the ITAT is right in upholding the order of CIT passed under Section 263 which has been passed without controverting the appellant's explanation/submissions dated 15.10.2009, 05.11.2009 and 04.12.2009 before the A.O. In compliance of his queries in relation to verification of loan creditors and trade creditors?"

3. The case relates to the assessment year 2007-2008. The assessee filed return of income on 31.10.2007 declaring income of Rs. 10,59,560/-. The said return was processed under Section 143(1) of the Act. Case of the assessee was selected for scrutiny and notice under Section 143(2) of the Act was issued by the Assessing Officer on 26.09.2008, further notice under Section 142(1), dated 25.03.2009, along with questionnaire raising 28 queries was issued and served on the assessee. The assessee on 15.10.2009 filed his replies to the queries raised in notice dated 25.03.2009. It appears that Assessing Officer further required the assessee to furnish explanation, which was submitted by the assessee in form of written submission on 05.11.2009. On 15.12.2009, order under Section 143(2) of the Act was passed by the Assessing Officer, accepting the return of income of Rs.10,59,560/-.

4. Commissioner Income Tax, Meerut exercising power under Section 263 of the Act on 27.10.2010 issued notice to the assessee, a detailed objection in form of written submission was submitted by the assessee before him on 18.10.2011, stating that all the the details and documentary evidence in regard to the investment in share capital, unsecured loans, creditors and expenses was submitted before the Assessing Officer by the assessee in reply to the 28 queries raised by the Assessing Officer.

5. On 09.02.2012, the Commissioner Income Tax, Meerut passed an order, partly accepting the objection of the assessee as far as the investment in share capital was concerned but, as regards unsecured loans and creditors were concerned, the case of the assessee was relegated back to the Assessing Officer directing him to examine, call for requisite details, confirmations and examine them properly after affording assessee proper and reasonable opportunity to explain its case and verify the details with the help of documentary evidence.

6. The order passed by the Commissioner Income Tax, Meerut under Section 263 of the Act was challenged by the assessee before the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal (hereinafter called 'ITAT'). The ITAT dismissed the appeal of the assessee upholding the order passed by the Commissioner of Income Tax, Meerut.

7. Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel appearing for the assessee/ appellant submitted that the Tribunal failed to consider that the Commissioner Income Tax was not justified in invoking the provisions of Section 263 of the Income Tax Act, as the order passed by the Assessing Officer was neither erroneous nor prejudicial to the interest of the revenue. It was further contended that after the case of the appellant was selected for scrutiny, the Assessing Officer had issued notice under Section 143(2) of the Act, raising 28 queries which were in regard to the investment in share capital, unsecured loans, creditors and expenses, which was replied by the assessee, furnishing the entire details along with the documentary evidence. It was also submitted that details of all unsecured loans was furnished to the Assessing Officer along with their PAN numbers and other details as required.

8. He further submitted that the Commissioner Income Tax while exercising power under Section 263 as well as the ITAT dismissing the appeal had wrongly applied the law laid down by the Apex Court in case of Malabar Industrial Company vs. CIT (2000) 109 Taxman 66 (SC).

9. The second limb of argument of the counsel for the assessee is that mere non-discussion and non-mentioning about the reply to the queries submitted by the assessee cannot lead to an assumption by the CIT as well as ITAT that Assessing Officer has not applied his mind, he relied upon the decision in case of CIT vs. Krishan Capbox Ltd. (2015) 372 ITR 310 (Allahabad).

10. It was further contended that the queries raised during assessment proceedings and the same not having been dealt in the assessment order would not lead to the conclusion that no enquiry was made and the Assessing Officer has not applied his mind. Reliance has been placed on the decision of CIT vs. Mahendra Kumar Bansal (2008) 297 ITR 99 (Allahabad). Another decision which has been relied on by the counsel for the assessee is in the case of CIT vs. Goyal Private Family Specific Trust (1988) 171 ITR 698 (Allahabad).

11. Per contra, Sri Gaurav Mahajan, learned counsel appearing for the Department submitted that the assessment order dated 15.12.2009 is totally silent in respect of unsecured loans and creditors and the Assessing Officer was bound to examine the identity of creditors, creditworthiness of creditors and genuineness of the transactions before any loan or cash credit is accepted.

12. He further contended that the Commissioner of Income Tax had rightly exercised his power mandated, under Section 263 and, it was only after giving due opportunity of hearing to the assessee that the assessment order was set aside to certain extent with direction to the Assessing Officer to verify the details. Sri Mahajan lastly submitted that the Tribunal, being the last fact finding Authority, and it was after appreciating the evidence and material on record, came to the conclusion that the matter required no interference in the order passed under Section 263 of the Act. He has relied upon the decision in cases of CIT vs. Anand Kumar Jain (2015) 231 Taxman 534 (Allahabad), Malabar Industrial Company vs. CIT (2000) 109 Taxman 66 (SC), Swarup Vegetable Products vs. CIT (1991) 54 Taxman 175 (Allahabad) and CIT vs. Bhagwan Das (2005) 142 Taxman 1 (Allahabad).

13. We have heard counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

14. As it is undisputed, that Assessing Officer after the case was selected for scrutiny had issued notice under Section 143(2) of the Act and also notice under Section 142(1) with 28 queries to the assessee, which was replied by him along with the documentary evidence, and the Assessing Officer being satisfied passed the order under Section 143(3) of the Act on 15.12.2009. The CIT while exercising power under Section 263 of the Act, partially accepted the reply submitted by the assessee as regards the investment in share capital holding that the outstanding unsecured loans of six persons to be adjusted against the share application money account, but as regards the unsecured loans and creditors, it directed the Assessing Officer to examine, call for requisite details, confirmations and examine them properly and relegated the matter back to him. While passing the said order the CIT relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in case of Malabar Industrial Company Ltd. (supra). Paragraph Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the said judgment are extracted hereinasunder:-

"6. A bare reading of this provision makes it clear that the pre-requisite to exercise of jurisdiction by the Commissioner suo moto under it, is that the order of the ITO is erroneous insofar as it is prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. The Commissioner has to be satisfied with twin conditions, namely, (i). the order of the Assessing Officer sought to be revised is erroneous; and (ii) it is prejudicial to the interests of the revenue. If one of them is absent - if the order of the ITO is erroneous but is not prejudicial to the revenue or if it is not erroneous but is prejudicial to the revenue- recourse cannot be had to Section 263(1).

7. There can be no doubt that the provision cannot be invoked to correct each and every type of mistake or error committed by the Assessing Officer; it is only when an order is erroneous that the section will be attracted. An incorrect assumption of facts or an incorrect application of law will satisfy the requirement of the order being erroneous. In the same category fall orders passed without applying the principles of natural justice or without application of mind.

The phrase 'prejudicial to the interests of the revenue' is not an expression of art and is not defined in the Act. Understood in its ordinary meaning, it is of wide import and is not confined to loss of tax. The High Court of Calcutta in Dawjee Dadabhoy & Co. v. S.P. Jain [1957] 31 ITR 872,the High Court of Karnataka in CIT v. T. Narayana Pai [1975] 98 ITR 422, the High Court of Bombay in CIT v. Gabriel India Ltd. [1993] 203 ITR 208and the High Court of Gujarat inCIT v. Smt. Minalben S. Parikh [1995] 215 ITR 81/ 79 Taxman 184 treated loss of tax as prejudicial to the interests of the revenue.

8. Mr. Abraham relied on the judgment of the Division Bench of the High Court of Madras inVenkatakrishna Rice Co. v. CIT [1987] 163 ITR 129 interpreting 'prejudicial to the interests of the revenue'. The High Court held, "In this context, it must be regarded as involving a conception of acts or orders which are subversive of the administration of revenue. There must be some grievous error in the Order passed by the ITO, which might set a bad trend or pattern for similar assessments, which on abroad reckoning, the Commissioner might think to be prejudicial to the interests of Revenue Administration". In our view, this interpretation is too narrow to merit acceptance. The scheme of the Act is to levy and collect tax in accordance with the provisions of the Act and this task is entrusted to the revenue. If due to an erroneous order of the ITO, the revenue is losing tax lawfully payable by a person, it will certainly be prejudicial to the interests of the revenue.

9. The phrase 'prejudicial to the interests of the revenue' has to be read in conjunction with an erroneous order passed by the Assessing Officer. Every loss of revenue as a consequence of an order of Assessing Officer cannot be treated as prejudicial to the interests of the revenue, for example, when an ITO adopted one of the courses permissible in law and it has resulted in loss of revenue; or where two views are possible and the ITO has taken one view with which the Commissioner does not agree, it cannot be treated as an erroneous order prejudicial to the interests of the revenue unless the view taken by the ITO is unsustainable in law. It has been held by this Court that where a sum not earned by a person is assessed as income in his hands on his so offering, the order passed by the Assessing Officer accepting the same as such will be erroneous and prejudicial to the interests of the revenue- Rampyari Devi Saraogi v. CIT [1968] 67 ITR 84 (SC) and in Smt. Tara Devi Aggarwal v. CIT, [1973] 88 ITR 323 (SC).

10. In the instant case, the Commissioner noted that the ITO passed the order of nil assessment without application of mind. Indeed, the High Court recorded the finding that the ITO failed to apply his mind to the case in all perspective and the order passed by him was erroneous. It appears that the resolution passed by the board of the appellant- company was not placed before the Assessing Officer. Thus, there was no material to support the claim of the appellant that the said amount represented compensation for loss of agricultural income. He accepted the entry in the statement of the account filed by the appellant in the absence of any supporting material and without making any inquiry. On these facts, the conclusion that the order of the ITO was erroneous is irresistible. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the High Court has rightly held that the exercise of the jurisdiction by the Commissioner under Section 263(1) was justified."

15. In the present case, the CIT himself while relying upon the reply submitted by the assessee had partially accepted the claim as far as investment in share capital was concerned but it did not accept the documentary evidence and reply submitted by the assessee before the Assessing Officer as far as unsecured loans and creditors are concerned. The reliance placed by the counsel for the Department on the aforesaid judgment is of no help to him as he has failed to point out how the order of the Assessing Officer was erroneous insofar as it is prejudicial to the interest of the revenue. While the counsel for the assessee relying upon Para No. 10 of the said judgment submitted that the order passed by the assessing authority was not without application of mind, as the same was passed after the replying upon the documentary evidence submitted by the assessee.

16. Similarly, this Court in case of Anand Kumar Jain (supra) while interpreting the language of Section 263 had held that where the Assessing Officer passes an order without application of mind or an incorrect statement of fact or incorrect application of law, then the order so passed would be erroneous. But in the present case, Assessing Officer after issuing notice and raising certain queries to the assessee passed the assessment order which cannot be called as erroneous.

17. Reliance has also been placed on the judgment of Swarup Vegetable Products (supra), wherein this Court while dealing with a case, where assessee received refund of excise duty and placed the said amount in suspense account and not in profit and loss account and claimed that this amount should not be included in his income, and stated before the Assessing Officer that large part of this amount was claimed by one Sugar Mill who had filed a suit and also a writ petition claiming the said amount and as such, this amount should not be included in his taxable income. This claim was accepted by the ITO. However, when the matter came to the notice of Commissioner, he exercising power under Section 263 held that the ITO had not made proper inquiries before accepting the claim of assessee, and the assessment order was set aside and fresh assessment was directed. This Court refused to interfere in the findings of the Commissioner as the order of the ITO was prejudicial to the revenue.

18. Similarly, the case relied upon by the Department in case of Bhagwan Das (supra) also is not applicable in the present case, as in the case in hand the Assessing Officer after duly putting the assessee under notice and requiring him to produce all the relevant documents had passed the assessment order.

19. The argument of the counsel for the assessee that mere non-discussion and non-mentioning about the reply in the order of the assessing authority would not lead to an assumption that there was no application of mind and the order is erroneous. In Krishna Capbox (P.) Ltd. (supra), this Court held as under:-

9. The Tribunal further considered the question whether discussion of queries and reply received from assessee, in assessment order, is necessary or not. Relying on two judgments of Delhi High Court in CIT Vs. Vikash Polymers [2012] 341 ITR 537/ [2010] 194 Taxman 57 and CIT v. Vodafone Essar South Ltd. [2012] 28 taxmann.com 273/ [2013] 212 Taxman 184 (Delhi), it held that once inquiry was made, a mere non discussion or non- mention thereof in assessment order cannot lead to assumption that Assessing Officer did not apply his mind or that he has not made inquiry on the subject and this would not justify interference by Commissioner by issuing notice under Section 263 of the Act.

10. In Vikash Polymers (supra) relevant part of the observations in this regard read as under (page 548 of 341 ITR):

"This is for the reason that if a query was raised during the course of scrutiny by the Assessing Officer, which was answered to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer, but neither the query nor the answer was reflected in the assessment order, that would not, by itself, lead to the conclusion that the order of the Assessing Officer called for interference and revision."

11. Further, the relevant observation made in Vodafone Essar South Ltd. (supra) in this regard reads as under (page 531 of 1 ITR-OL):

"The lack of any discussion on this cannot lead to the assumption that the Assessing Officer did not apply his mind."

12. Learned counsel for the Department could not place any other authority before this Court wherein any otherwise view has been taken. On the contrary, learned counsel for assessee has placed before us a decision of Bombay High Court in Income Tax Appeal No.296 of 2013 (CIT v. Fine Jewellery (India) Ltd.) [2015] 372 ITR 303/230 Taxman 641/55 taxmann.xom 514 (Bom.) decided on February 3, 2015, wherein also Bombay High Court, following its earlier decision in Idea Cellular Ltd. Vs. Dy. CIT [2008] 301 ITR 407 (Bom.) has taken a similar view and said as under (page 307 of 372 ITR):

".....if a query is raised during assessment proceedings and responded to by the assessee, the mere fact that it is not dealt with in the Assessment Order would not lead to a conclusion that no mind had been applied to it."

20. In case of Mahendra Kumar Bansal (supra), this Court held that merely because the order of the ITO is not lengthy, it would not establish that the assessment order passed under Section 143(3) of the Act is erroneous and prejudicial to the intrest of the revenue. Relevant Para Nos. 11,12 and 14 are extracted hereinasunder:-

"11. In the case of Goyal Private Family Specific Trust [1988] 171 ITR 698, this court has held that the order of the Income-tax Officer may be brief and cryptic, but that by itself is not sufficient reason to brand the assessment order as erroneous and prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue and it was for the Commissioner to point out as to what error was committed by the Income-tax

Officer in having reached to its conclusion and in the absence of which proceedings under Section 263 of the Act is not warranted.

12. In the case of Belal Nisa [1988] 171 ITR 643 the Patna High Court has held that where the Income-tax Officer had not carried out the necessary enquiry enjoined by section 143(1) of the Act the Commissioner is within his power in taking action in terms of Section 263(1) of the Act. Similar view has been taken in by the Patna High Court in the case of Smt. Kaushalya Devi [1988] 171 ITR 686.

14. As held by this Court in the case of Goyal Private Family Specific Trust [1988] 171 ITR 698, we are of the considered opinion that merely because the Income- tax Officer had not written lengthy order it would not establish that the assessment order passed under Section 143(3)/148 of the Act is erroneous and prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue without bringing on record specific instances, which in the present case, the Commissioner of Income Tax has failed to do."

21. It is clear that after the notice was issued by the Assessing Officer raising 28 queries from the assessee, which was also replied by him along with the documentary evidence in regard to each of the query, thus the assessment order passed under Section 143(3) of the Act would not render the same as erroneous and prejudicial to the interest of Revenue, unless the Commissioner exercising power under Section 263 brings on record to show that the order of the Assessing Officer is erroneous, as the same was passed without application of mind or the Assessing Officer had made an incorrect assessment of fact or incorrect application of law, but the same not being the case, and the CIT relying upon the reply and the documentary evidence submitted by the assessee granted partial relief, as such the order dated 09.02.2012 passed under Section 263 relegating back the matter to the Assessing Officer as regards unsecured loans and creditors is unsustainable.

22. Having examined the matter at length on facts as well as on the law, we are of the considered opinion that in the present case, it is abundantly clear that the order passed by the Assessing Officer was neither erroneous nor prejudicial to the interest of the Revenue.

23. In view of the above, the order dated 02.04.2013 passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Delhi Bench "E" New Delhi and revisional order dated 09.02.2012 passed by Commissioner Income Tax, Meerut under Section 263 are set aside.

24 . The question of law is therefore answered in favour of the assessee and against the Revenue. The appeal stands allowed.

25. However no order as to costs.

INCOME TAX APPEAL No.281 of 2017

Jugender Singh Yadav, Agra ... Appellant
Versus

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Suyash Agarwal.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., I.T., Sri Krishna Agarwal.

A. Income Tax Act, 1961: Sections 40(a)(ia), 40A(3), 44AD, 44AB, 143, 144, 260A, 271(1)(c). Books of account –not maintained. Rejection of books of accounts and enhancement in net profit justified.

Substantial amount has been spent by making payment in cash against vouchers that too, with vouchers having been self-made and not verifiable. Assessee had not maintained the stock register and quantitative tally. The rejection of the books of account and enhancement in net profit was justified. No substantial question of law arises.
(Para 12, 13, 14)

Appeal against order dated 28.04.2017 passed by ITAT for AY 2011-12 (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal J.)

1. We have heard Shri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the assessee - appellant and Shri Krishna Agarwal, learned standing counsel for the respondents - Department and perused the materials brought on record.

2. The present appeal has been filed against the judgement & order dated 28.04.2017 passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Agra Bench, Agra for the Assessment Year 2011-12.

3. The said appeal was admitted on 21.09.2017 by this Court on the following questions of law formulated in the memo of appeal:-

"(i) Whether the Appellate Tribunal was legally justified in applying net profit rate at 8% u/s 44AD when the gross turnover of the Appellant exceeded 1 crore and books of accounts were maintained as per section 44AB of the IT Act?

(ii) Whether the Appellate Tribunal was justified in framing assessment by applying net profit rate at 8% on the basis of statement of assessee contrary to standard procedure of assessments provided under section 143 and 144 of IT Act?

(iii) Whether the Appellate Tribunal is legally justified in treating interest income from FDR and rental income from JCB as income other than business income for the assessment year in question?"

4. The facts of the case, in brief, are that the appellant is a civil contractor engaged in execution of works contract with Agra Development Authority, Agra. The present appeal relates to the Assessment Year 2011-12. The assessee filed its returns showing net profit of Rs. 42,62,972/-, which gives net profit @ 5.09% on gross receipt of Rs. 8,37,12,896/-. The appellant has earned interest on FDR and JCB machines amounting to Rs. 3,46,883/-, the total income being Rs. 46,09,455/-.

5. The appellant filed its return on 10.09.2012 showing total income of Rs. 44,95,900/-. The return was processed under section 143 (1) of the Income Tax Act and the case was selected for scrutiny. Consequently, on 13.09.2012, notice under section 143(2) of the Income Tax Act was issued, which was properly served upon him on 14.09.2012. A notice dated 14.06.2013 under section 142(1) of the Income Tax Act, along with questionnaire, was issued. In response to the said notice, the reply was submitted along with required documents were also attached. Thereafter, on 17.01.2014, another notice was issued directing the appellant to produce complete books of account. On verifying the books of account, bill, vouchers, etc., it was found that most of the expenses were paid in cash and vouchers were self-made, which was not verifiable.

6. The assessee admitted, during the course of assessment proceedings, that the maintenance of stock register and quantitative tally is not possible. The Assessing Authority, while framing the assessment order dated 22.01.2014, has enhanced the net profit @ 8% and has observed as under:_

"During the period assessee's contractual gross receipt is Rs. 8,37,12,897/-. Net profit taken @ 8% on gross receipt comes to Rs. 66,97,032/-, assessee has also shown interest from FDRs Rs. 1,93,893/- & from rent of JCB Rs. 1,52,590/-, total net profit comes to Rs. 70,43,515/- in which assessee has already shown net profit in his P&L Account of Rs. 46,09,455/-. Therefore, difference of Rs. 24,34,060/- (Rs. 70,43,515 - 46,09,455/-) disallowed out of expenses and added back in his total income. This disallowance also includes Rs. 4,88,222/- u/s 40(a)(ia) on non deduction of tax payment of M/s Agra Development Authority as interest and any other possible disallowance u/s 40(a)(ia) or 40A(3). Assessee is agree for the same vide order sheet entry dated 22.01.2014. Penalty notice u/s 271(1)(c) of the IT Act is being issued separately for concealment & furnishing of inaccurate particulars in income."

7. Feeling aggrieved by the aforesaid assessment order, the appellant preferred an appeal before the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), Agra, who vide order dated 31.07.2015, dismissed the appeal and confirmed the assessment order. The Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), in its order, has observed as under:-

" ... Here it is a matter of legal principles that once an assessing officer detects any defects in the books of accounts, any conditional offer by the assessee for offering any income as not supported by the bills and vouchers as also a request that he is accepting such income to avoid litigation and to purchase peace of mind has no legal validity. .....

Since in this case, assessing officer while verifying the books of accounts of the assessee has detected that the assessee is not maintaining stock register of the raw materials, making various payments of labour wages and some small material purchase in cash and instead of maintaining proper bills and vouchers towards various expense is only maintaining some self-made vouchers which were not verifiable, therefore, the rejection of books of accounts by the assessing officer is justified."

8. Still feeling aggrieved by the order of the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals), Agra, the assessee - appellant preferred an appeal before the Tribunal, who by the impugned order, has dismissed the appeal of the appellant observing as follows:-

"14. We find the order of the ld. CIT (A) is reasonable and justified in respect of estimation of income at the NP rate admitted by the assessee himself, in the course of assessment proceedings. We also find that the ld. CIT (A) has not applied the provisions of section of section 44AD of the Act, rather he had justified the assessee's admission of 8% NP rate before the A.O. With the support of judicial pronouncements, wherein net profit rate ranges from 8% to 13% in the cases of civil contractOrs. Thus, the ld. CIT (A) considered the facts and circumstances of the case that the assessee has admitted NP of 8% in compliance to show cause issued by the A.O. during the course of assessment proceedings and that subsequently, retraction in appeal is irrelevant on account of conditional admission, because the penalty proceedings under section 271(1)(c) of the Act, does not change the basic fact that assessee was not maintaining stock register and expenditure vouchers of the assessee were not verifiable. However, the assessee's admission of an estimated income at the NP rate of 8% which has been treated as if detected by the A.O. in compliance to show cause notice, during the course of assessment proceedings has not been supported with corroborative documentary evidences to prove to the contrary, that it was not the offer of the assessee to show his bonafides that he is offering such income to avoid litigation, or to buy peace of mind. Thus, the fact as regards to the conditional admission of NP rate of 8% by the assessee either of his own or in compliance to the show cause notice during the course of assessment proceedings, has not been established.

15. In view of the above, it is proved that the assessee has made an admission of 8% net profit rate before the A.O. vide order sheet entry dated 22.01.2014. The ld. CIT (A) action in confirming the net profit rate at 8% as admitted by the assessee before the A.O. vide order sheet entry dated 22.01.2014 as above, is justified, with the support of judicial precedent relevant and the law applicable in the case of assessee. We also notice that the allegation raised by the assessee, in respect of the lower authorities, are baseless and without documentary evidence as regards the estimation of his income, in any arbitrary or capricious manner."

9. Feeling aggrieved by the aforesaid order of the Tribunal, the assessee has preferred the present appeal.

10. It has been argued by the counsel for the appellant that at the time of assessment proceedings, the assessee has given consent for acceptance of 8% of gross net profit only with a condition that no penal action shall be taken against him and therefore, when the penalty proceedings were initiated, he retracted with his consent. He further submits that the appellant has produced all books of account before the authorities below, but the same have wrongly been rejected. It is further submitted that since the nature of the business of the assessee is of the works contractor and in many cases, the payment has to be made in cash, for which relevant bills cannot be produced, therefore, it is not a case for rejection of books of account on that count. It is further submitted that the net profit has to be commensurate with the previous years, in which the net profit of 6.7% has been accepted and therefore, in the disputed year, the net profit of 8% is not justified.

11. Learned counsel for the Department has supported the orders passed by the lower authorities and has argued that all the authorities below have decided the issue against the appellant and it is concluded by findings of fact and no substantial question of law arises in the present appeal.

12. From the perusal of the record, it reveals that the books of account of the assessee has been rejected and the authorities have rightly made the assessment enhancing the net profit @ 8%. Once, on finding of fact, it has been found that substantial amount has been spent by making payment in cash and that too, with vouchers having been self-made and not verifiable, admittedly, the appellant has not maintained the stock register and quantitative tally is not being made. Further, the assessee has also not shown the interest derived from FDR to the tune of Rs. 1,93,893/- as well as the lease rent of Rs. 1,52,590/- so received from leasing out of JCB machines.

13. Once it has been found that the assessee has not voluntarily maintained its books of account, as required under the Act, the books of account have rightly been rejected and the net profit, which has been fixed at 8%, is quite reasonable. Moreover, all the authorities below have rejected the contention of the appellant. At this stage, no substantial question of law arises in the present appeal.

14. The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly against the Assessee and in favour of the Revenue.

A. Income Tax Act, 1961: Sections 68, 132, 153A, 260A, 271(1)(c)-Burden of proof varies in penalty proceedings from that in assessment proceedings—assessment finding cannot be automatically adopted.

Tribunal upheld the order of the assessing authority, making an addition to the income by treating exempted gifts received by his minor son as assessee's income. No further challenge w.r.t. quantum. First Appellate Authority partly allowed penalty proceedings initiated. Tribunal while deciding appeals of both the parties, dismissed Revenue's appeal and allowed assessee's. Revenue's appeal dismissed.

B. "Concealment of income" and "furnishing of inaccurate particulars" are different events. Both refer to deliberate act on the part of assessee. A mere omission or negligence would not constitute a deliberate act of supressio veri or suggestio falsi. (Para 21)

C. Burden of proof. In penalty proceedings the burden of proof varies from assessment proceedings. Any finding in assessment proceedings, though constitutes good evidence for penalty proceedings, cannot automatically be adopted in a penalty proceedings. The authorities are required to consider the matter afresh from a different angle, and have to independently arrive at a finding regarding "concealment of income" or of "inaccurate particular". (Para 22, 24)

Appeal against order dated 26.09.2014 by ITAT, Delhi for the AY 2000-01 (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal J.)

1. All these six appeals under Section 260-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter called as 'Act') arise out of the common order passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Delhi, Bench "B", New Delhi (hereinafter called as 'Tribunal') dated 26.09.2014. The leading appeal is Income Tax Appeal No. 276 of 2015 for the assessment year 2000-01. These appeals were heard and decided on 22.02.2019 on the preliminary objection raised by the assessee regarding the territorial jurisdiction of this Court. Today with the consent of both the parties, the appeal is heard on merit.

2. This appeal was admitted on 16.11.2016 on the following question of law:-

"(A) Whether on the facts and circumstances of the case, the Hon'ble ITAT, New Delhi is legally justified in deleting the penalty of Rs.75,76,441/- imposed by the AO ignoring the quantum appeal which had been confirmed by the Ld. CIT(A) as well as the ITAT, New Delhi on which the penalty was imposed.

(B) Whether on the facts and circumstances of the case, the ITAT has not erred in law in deleting the penalty of Rs.75,76,441/- imposed by the AO contradicting their findings in deciding the quantum appeal that the whole transaction was designed to show huge amounts as gifts without any liability of paying taxes."

3. Income Tax Appeal No. 276 of 2015 for the assessment year 2000-01 is being treated as leading case. The brief facts of the case are that under Section 132 of the Act, search and seizure was conducted on the business premises of the persons related to Begum Gutkha Group on 09.12.2003. During course of search and seizure, various books of accounts and other documents were found and seized. In response to notice under Section 153-A of the Act, the assessee filed a letter on 23.02.2007 stating that his original return filed may be treated as return required under Section 153-A of the Act.

4. The assessee had filed return declaring income of Rs.1,63,65,386/- on 31.10.2000 for assessment year 2000-01. The assessment in this case was completed under Section 153-A/143(3) on 08.11.2007 at an income of Rs.3,27,87,990/- as against return income of Rs.1,63,65,386/-. The AO in his assessment order had made an addition of Rs.1,64,22,604/- by treating the exempted gifts received by the assessee's minor son of Rs.1,52,20,000/- as his income from other sources. Against the said assessment order, an appeal was filed before the Commissioner of Income Tax (hereinafter called as 'CIT'). The assessment order was confirmed in appeal and further on appeal before the Tribunal, the order of the assessing authority was upheld. No further appeal was filed by the assessee challenging the order of the Tribunal as far as the quantum is concerned.

5. While, penalty proceedings under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act were initiated against assessee on the ground of concealment of particulars of income and a sum of Rs.75,76,441/- was imposed as penalty for assessment year 2000-01, on the ground that assessee had furnished inaccurate particulars and had concealed particulars of its income amounting to Rs.1,52,20,000/-. Aggrieved by the penalty order under Section 271(1)(c), assessee filed an appeal before CIT (A) III, New Delhi, who partly allowed the appeal of the assessee reducing penalty at 100% instead of 150%.

6. Against the said order, assessee as well as Revenue filed appeal before the Tribunal at New Delhi. The Tribunal dismissed the appeal of Revenue and allowed the assessee's appeal for assessment year 2000-01 to 2005-06.

7. Sri Praveen Kumar, learned counsel appearing for the Department submitted that Tribunal was not correct to set aside the penalty imposed against the assessee under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act, as assessing authority had categorically given finding that gifts are not genuine and allowable, and after holding the gifts as unexplained, an amount of Rs.1,52,00,000/- were taxed as income from other source. He further submitted that the facts of the case suggest that furnishing of incorrect particular/ claim and consequently the concealment on assessee's part for which the proceedings were initiated. It has also been contended that assessment order clearly demonstrated the gifts to be a sham transaction and the said finding has been upheld by the CIT holding these transactions being designed to avoid payment of tax. It was also contended that the order of the assessing authority, First Appellate Tribunal was confirmed by the Tribunal, imposition of tax under Section 68 of the act and the findings given therein had become final and further no appeal was filed by the assessee.

8. The second limb of argument of the counsel for the Revenue is that order impugned passed by the Tribunal setting aside the penalty, in fact is an order passed by Tribunal as if it was sitting in appeal against the order of the Tribunal in the quantum proceedings. It has also been submitted that the findings of original assessment proceedings are good item of evidence in penalty proceeding, and when that is the case that the finding of creation of a malicious design, on the part of the assessee, would clearly be a relevant evidence and has to be taken into account while passing the penalty order. He further laid stress that Tribunal has made fresh inquiry and set aside the finding given by the Tribunal itself in quantum proceedings and rejected the imposition of penalty on the assessee. He has relied upon the judgment of this Court in case of Ram Baboo Agrawal v. Commissioner of Income-Tax and another (2018) 404 ITR 198

9. Per contra, the counsel for the respondent- assessee submitted that the order of the Tribunal cannot be discarded, as while deciding the appeal it had recorded categorical finding in regard to the factum of gift which was duly disclosed by the assessee in his return of income. Further, assessee had substantiated its claim by legal evidence which has been discussed by the Tribunal in Para Nos. 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 of its order, analysing and examining in detail the documents submitted by the assessee in respect of the gift before the Assessing Officer in penalty proceedings as well as the statements of both the donors Naresh Jain and Anil Jain being recorded in the said proceedings.

10. It is further submitted that gifts were disbelieved by citing human probability and perception. It has been stated that it would have been different where any tangible, cogent and relevant material was discovered by the Revenue to disapprove the gift, but it is not correct to merely disbelieve it on the basis of subjective perception. It was further contended that except for the addition on the account of alleged fictitious gift, all other additions made by the Revenue to the income of assessee were deleted by the appellate authorities.

11. Replying to the argument of the Revenue on the question of quantum proceedings, it was submitted that they are not sacrosanct and impregnable for proving a charge of concealment of income for furnishing of inaccurate particulars of income, for causing a determination on the question of liveability of penalty under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act. The counsel for the assessee to prove his case on this point has relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in case of Anantharam Veersinghaiah and Company [123 ITR 457], which is extracted here as under:-

"Since the burden of proof in a penalty proceeding varies from that involved in an assessment proceeding, a finding in an assessment proceeding that a particular receipt is income cannot automatically be adopted as a finding to that effect in the penalty proceeding. In the penalty proceeding the taxing authority is bound to consider the matter afresh on the material before it and, in the light of the burden to prove resting on the revenue, to ascertain whether a particular amount is a revenue receipt. No doubt, the fact that the assessment order contained a finding that the disputed amount represents income constitutes good evidence in the penalty proceeding but the finding in the assessment proceeding cannot be regarded as conclusive for the purposes of the penalty proceeding. That is how the law has been understood by this court in Anwar Ali's Case [1970] 76 ITR 696 (SC),and we believe that to be the law still. It was also laid down that before a penalty can be imposed the entirety of the circumstances must be taken into account and must point to the conclusion that the disputed amount represents income and that the assessee has consciously concealed particulars of his income or deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars. The mere falsity of the explanation given by the assessee, it was observed, was insufficient without there being in addition cogent material or evidence from which the necessary conclusion attracting a penalty could be drawn.These principles were reiterated by this court in CIT v. Khoday Eswarsa and Sons [1972] 83 ITR 369."

12. He further relied upon in case of T. Ashok Pai [292 ITR 11] and the Apex Court held as under:-

"Since burden of proof in penalty proceedings varies from that in the assessment proceeding, a finding in an assessment proceeding that a particular receipt is income cannot automatically be adopted, though a finding in the assessment proceeding constitute good evidence in the penalty proceeding. In the penalty proceedings, thus, the authorities must consider the matter afresh as the question has to be considered from a different angle."

13. Reliance has been placed on a recent judgment of the Apex Court in case of Reliance Petroproducts [322 ITR 158], in which the Apex Court in regard to the penalty proceedings held as under:-

"We do not agree, as the assessee had furnished all the details of its expenditure as well as income in its Return, which details, in themselves, were not found to be inaccurate nor could be viewed as the concealment of income on its part. It was up to the authorities to accept its claim in the Return or not. Merely because the assessee had claimed the expenditure, which claim was not accepted or was not acceptable to the revenue, that by itself would not, in our opinion, attract the penalty under Section 271(1)(c). If we accept the contention of the revenue then in case of every Return where the claim made is not accepted by Assessing Officer for any reason, the assessee will invite penalty under Section 271(1)(c). That is clearly not the intendment of the Legislature."

14. The second argument of the counsel for the assessee is that the finding arrived by the Tribunal is finding of fact to the effect that there is no material in possession of Revenue to prove the charge of concealment of income or furnishing of inaccurate particulars by assessee and the present appeals on the behest of the Revenue are not maintainable. He has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in case of Additional CIT v. Jeevan Lal Sah [1994] 205 ITR 244.

"Similarly, the question whether the assessee has concealed the particulars of his income or has furnished inaccurate particulars of his income continues to remain a question of fact."

15. Lastly, it has been contended that by invoking provisions of Section 68 of the Act or by rejecting the explanation of assessee, a presumption was drawn against him but that presumption was rebuttable and not at all conclusive, particularly when considering the said explanation in the light of penalty proceedings. It was further submitted that the explanations had not remained unsubstantiated and further it can also not be held that explanation was not bona fide as prescribed in explanation to Section 271(1)(c) of the Act.

16. A decision of this Court in case of CIT vs. Sonali Jain, IT Appeal No. 88 of 2008 has been relied upon, wherein this Court held in Para Nos. 16 and 17 as under:-

"16. In view of above, neither the assessee-respondent failed to furnish any explanation regarding the material facts for computation of her income nor the explanation so furnished by her was false. At least there is no finding to this effect. At the same time, the assessee-respondent having surrendered the above gifts as part of her income just in order to buy peace of mind, may be on realising that she may also be ultimately affected by the racket of gift deeds busted by the department without any such thing being deducted in respect of her return or gifts, cannot be said to have failed to prove or substantiate her explanation regarding the to be bona fides of the two transactions.

17. Accordingly, the assessee is not a person who has failed to offer an explanation or the explanation offered by her was found to be false or that she was unable to substantiate the explanation or that the transactions were not bona fide so as to attract the deeming provision contained in Explanation 1(B) to Section 271(1)(c) of the Act. Therefore, the amount added to her income would not be deemed to be income in respect of which particulars had been concealed."

17. We have heard Sri Praveen Kumar, learned counsel for the Revenue and Sri Abhinav Mehrotra, learned counsel for the assessee.

18. Before proceeding, it would be necessary to have a glance of provisions of Section 271(1)(c) of the Act:-

"271. (1) If the Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) or the Commissioner in the course of any proceedings under this Act, is satisfied that any person-

(a) .....

(b) .....

(c) has concealed the particulars of his income or furnished inaccurate particulars of [such income, or]

(d) .....

he may direct that such person shall pay by way of penalty,-

(i) .....

(ii) .....

(iii) .....

Explanation 1.-Where in respect of any facts material to the computation of the total income of any person under this Act,-*

(A) such person fails to offer an explanation or offers an explanation which is found by the Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) or the Commissioner to be false, or

(B) such person offers an explanation which he is not able to substantiate and fails to prove that such explanation is bona fide and that all the facts relating to the same and material to the computation of his total income have been disclosed by him, then, the amount added or disallowed in computing the total income of such person as a result thereof shall, for the purposes of clause (c) of this sub-section, be deemed to represent the income in respect of which particulars have been concealed."

19. It is not in dispute that the assessee had disclosed the fact of gift in his return for the relevant assessment year, but it was after the assessment proceedings that the Assessing Officer who did not accept the creditworthiness of the donor as well as the genuineness of transaction made an addition of Rs.1,52,00,000/- as income from other source. The said addition was sustained by the CIT (A) and the Tribunal. As from the reading of Section 271(1)(c), it is clear that that the said provisions contemplate for levy of penalty where two conditions are satisfied, that the assessee has concealed particulars of his income or has furnished inaccurate particulars of such income thus, concealment of income and furnishing of inaccurate particulars of income are two basic ingredients for the initiation of proceedings for penalty under the relevant section. The explanation further provides, where any such person fails to offer an explanation or offers an explanation which is found by the Assessing Officer or the Commissioner to be false or such person offers an explanation which he is not able to substantiate and fails to prove that such explanation is bona fide and that all the facts relating to the same and material to the computation of his total income have been disclosed by him, then, the amount added or disallowed in computing the total income of such person as a result thereof was for the purpose of Clause (c) of this Sub-section, be deemed to represent the income in respect of which particulars have been concealed.

20. The Apex Court while considering the case CIT Madras v. Khoday Eswarsa and Sons [1972] 83 ITR 369 (SC) held as under:-

"No doubt the original assessment proceedings, for computing the tax may be a good item of evidence in the penalty proceedings but the penalty cannot be levied solely on the basis of the reasons given in the original order of assessment.

In the case before us we have already pointed out that in the order levying penalty the income-tax Officer has categorically stated that the reasons for adding the disputed amounts in the total income of the assessee have been already discussed in the original order of assessment and that they need not be repeated again. The Appellate Assistant Commissioner, we have already pointed out, has made only a guess-work. That clearly shows that except the reasons given in the original assessment order for including the disputed items in the total income, the department had no other material or evidencefrom which it could be reasonably inferred that the assessee had consciously concealed the particulars of his income or had deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars.

For all the reasons given above, it follows that there is no merit in the appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. As the respondent has not appeared, there will be no order as to costs."

21. Further, the Apex Court while dealing with phrase 'concealment of income' and 'inaccurate particulars' as used under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act discussed in detail in the judgment of Dilip N. Shroff v. CIT (2007) 6 SCC Page 329. Relevant paras are Para Nos. 48, 49, 50, 51 and 71 which are extracted here as under:-

"48. The expression "conceal" is of great importance. According to Law Lexicon, the word "conceal" means:

"To hide or keep secret.

The word 'conceal' is derived from the latin concelare which implies con + celare to hide. It means 'to hide or withdraw from observation; to cover or keep from sight; to prevent the discovery of; to withhold knowledge of'. The offence of concealment is thus a direct attempt to hide an item of income or a portion thereof from the knowledge of the Income Tax Authorities."

49. In Webster's Dictionary, "inaccurate" has been defined as:

"not accurate, not exact or correct; not according to truth; erroneous; as an inaccurate statement, copy or transcript."

It signifies a deliberate act or omission on the part of the assessee. Such deliberate act must be either for the purpose of concealment of income or furnishing of inaccurate particulars.

50. The term "inaccurate particulars" is not defined. Furnishing of an assessment of value of the property may not by itself be furnishing of inaccurate particulars. Even if the Explanations are taken recourse to, a finding has to be arrived at having regard to clause (A) of Explanation 1 that the assessing officer is required to arrive at a finding that the explanation offered by an assessee, in the event he offers one, was false. He must be found to have failed to prove that such explanation is not only not bona fide but all the facts relating to the same and material to the income were not disclosed by him. Thus, apart from his explanation being not bona fide, it should have been found as of fact that he has not disclosed all the facts which was material to the computation of his income.

51. The explanation, having regard to the decisions of this Court, must be preceded by a finding as to how and in what manner he furnished the particulars of his income. It is beyond any doubt or dispute that for the said purpose the Income Tax Officer must arrive at a satisfaction in this behalf. [See CIT v. Ram Commercial Enterprises Ltd., (2000) 246 ITR 568 (Del) and Diwan Enterprises v. CIT, (2000) 246 ITR 571(Del).

71. "Concealment of income" and "furnishing of inaccurate particulars" are different. Both concealment and furnishing inaccurate particulars refer to deliberate act on the part of the assessee. A mere omission or negligence would not constitute a deliberate act of suppressio veri or suggestio falsi. Although it may not be very accurate or apt but suppressio veri would amount to concealment, suggestio falsi would amount to furnishing of inaccurate particulars."

22. As noticed above in the case of Anantharam Veersinghaiah and Company (supra), it has been constant view of the Apex Court that burden of proof in penalty proceedings varies from that in the case of assessment proceedings and any finding in assessment proceeding that a particular receipt is income cannot automatically be adopted, though finding in assessment proceeding constitutes good evidences in the penalty proceedings. In penalty proceedings the authorities must consider the matter afresh as the question has to be considered from a different angle.

23. Argument of the counsel for the Revenue that assessee failed to prove the identity of the creditors, their creditworthiness and the genuineness of transaction and the same being confirmed by the Tribunal in the quantum proceedings, cannot be reopened now and looked upon in the penalty proceedings, cannot be accepted, as penalty cannot be levelled solely on the basis of reason given in the original assessment order. The reliance placed on the decision of Ram Baboo Agrawal (supra) is in relation to the proceedings under Section 68 and is not applicable in the present case. As in the penalty proceedings, case is examined afresh for limited purpose for determining whether the assessee has furnished inaccurate particulars of income or has concealed the income so as to make him liable for penalty under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act.

24. In Khoday Eswarsa and Sons (supra) as well as in Dilip N. Shroff (supra), the Apex Court had examined in depth what would constitute 'concealment of income' and 'inaccurate particulars'. In penalty proceedings the burden of proof varies from that in assessment proceedings, and any finding in assessment proceeding would not automatically be adopted in penalty proceedings, thus, in penalty proceedings the taxing authorities have to independently arrive at a finding regarding the 'concealment of income' or of 'inaccurate particular'.

25. In the present case, the Assessing Officer did not record any finding as to incorrect, erroneous or false return of income filed by the assessee which could lead to the fact that assessee has furnished inaccurate particulars of income and make him liable for penalty under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act. The Assessing Officer had only doubted the genuineness of the gifts on ground of human probabilities and had also doubted the creditworthiness of donors and genuineness of transaction. The Tribunal on the other hand had recorded finding regarding the identity of creditors, their creditworthiness and genuineness of the transactions which were before the Assessing Officer but he had not properly appreciated the same and discarded and doubted the genuineness of gifts on ground of human probabilities, though they were tax payers and the amounts gifted had been disclosed in their tax return for relevant year.

26. Instant case, is not a case of either concealment of income or of furnishing inaccurate particulars as neither the assessing authority nor first appellate authority recorded any finding to such effect that details furnished by the assessee to be incorrect, erroneous or false.

27. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered opinion that the Tribunal had recorded finding of fact that no penalty can be imposed under Section 271(1)(c) of the Act as Revenue has failed to establish that assessee has concealed income or furnished inaccurate particulars.

28. These appeals have no merit and are hereby dismissed. The question of law, therefore, is answered in favour of the assessee and against the Revenue.

1. The present appeals have been filed against the common order dated 7.12.2015 passed in ITA No. 04 & C15/Alld 2012 for the Assessment Year 2005-06 & 2007-08 passed by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Allahabad, Bench Allahabad.

2. The aforesaid appeals on 3.5.2016 was firstly admitted on question No. B, which reads as under:

"(B) Whether on the facts and the circumstances of the case, the order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was correct in Law holding that Section 80-IB(10) which is substituted w.e.f. 1.4.2005 is not applicable to the project approve before 01.04.2004. The provision of Section 80(IB)(10)(a)(i) is as such applicable for the all projects which has been accepted and admitted one more question of law mentioned as 'C' in memo of appeals, which reads as under:

"Whether on the facts and in the circumstances of the case, the order of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was correct in law holding that there is change of opinion by the Assessing Officer. As such, there is no change of opinion as information regarding completion of project has been collected by the Assessing Officer is a new information and Assessing Officer had correctly applied the provision of Section 147/148 for reopening the assessment of A.Y. 2007-08."

3. In both the appeals common facts and question of law are involved, as well as both the parties are agreed for disposal of the appeals by a common order.

4. The facts of the case are that the respondent-assessee (hereinafter referred to as 'assessee') is engaged in the business of development of land, construction of house and its sales thereof. For the purpose of factual background the facts of the assessment year 2005-06 has been taken up.

5. The assessee filed its return showing income of Rs. 59,37,200/- and claimed the deduction under Section 80IB(10) of the Income Tax Act (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act').

6. The case of the assessee was selected under the scrutiny and subsequently on 24.12.2007, assessment order was passed on the total income of Rs. 61,91,134/-, then exemption as claimed by the assessee under Section 80-IB(10) of the Act was allowed.

7. Thereafter, the reassessment proceeding were initiated on the basis of some information received during the assessment proceeding for the year 2006-07 that the assessee has not obtained completion certificate within four year from Local Authority who have approved the project and therefore, there was a violation of the provision of Section 80-IB(10)(a)(i) of the Act.

8. The assessing authority was of the opinion that since the assessee has lost the eligibility for claiming the deduction under Section 80IB(10) of the Act. Therefore, the claim cannot be legally permitted, the proceeding for reassessment were initiated for both assessment years.

9. The notice dated 5.6.2009 was issued under Section 148 of the Act which was served upon the assessee on 8.6.2009. The assessee submitted his return under protest on 8.7.2007 and further made a request for supply the copy of reasons recorded for reopen the completed assessment. The assessee has filed his objection on 27.10.2010 pointing out that the re-assessment proceedings have been initiated on the basis of change of opinion and the assumption of jurisdiction has been made without any tangible fresh material /information on record which is permissible under the provision of Section 147 of the Act.

10. Notice under Section 143(2) of the Act was issued on 10.6.2010 and thereafter notice under Section 142 (1) along with questionnaire were issued on 18.6.2010 and the same was served upon the assessee on 24.6.2010.

11. Assessing authority by its re-assessment order dated 27.10.2010 has rejected the claim of exemption under Section 80IB(10) of the Act to the Tune of Rs. 58,44,230/-.

12. Again the aforesaid order, the assessee preferred an appeal before Commissioner of Income Tax (appeals), Lucknow who vide its order dated 23rd September, 2011 partly allowed the appeal but has confirmed the rejection of claim under Section 80IB(10) of the Act.

13. Feeling aggrieved by the said order the assessee preferred an appeal before Income Tax appellate Tribunal who by its impugned order has allowed the appeal and has set aside the re-assessment proceeding and directed the assessing authority to allow the claim

14. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned order the revenue has preferred the present appeals.

15. Heard Mr. Manu Ghildyal, learned counsel for the Revenue and Mr. Archit Mehrotra, learned counsel for the assessee.

16. It has been argued on behalf of the Revenue that Section 80IB(10) of the Act has been substituted by Finance Act, 2004 and a sub-section (d) in Section 80IB(10) of the Act has been inserted which operates retrospectively and therefore the said amendment is applicable in the case of the respondent even though whose projects have been approved before 1.4.2004 and therefore the impugned order passed by the Tribunal are not justifiable which deserves to be set aside.

17. It was further argued that since there is no change of opinion, Tribunal was not justified in allowing the appeal of the assessee and directing the assessing authority to grant the benefit of Section 80IB(10)of the Act to the assessee. The reassessment proceeding was rightly initiated.

18. The counsel for the assessee has vehemently opposed the contention of the Revenue and has argued that the Tribunal has rightly passed the impugned order and has further submitted that the Tribunal was justified in relying upon the judgment of the Bombay High Court in the case of CIT vs. Brahma Associates reported in 333 ITR 289 (Bombay) wherein the Bombay High Court has specifically held that the amendment made in Section 80IB(10)(d) of the Act is prospectively and not retrospectively.

19. It was further argued that the Apex Court in the case of CIT vs. Sarkar Builders reported in [2015] 375 ITR 392(SC) has also approved the judgment of the Bombay High Court.

20. We have perused the record of the case and finds that the assessee projects were approved by the respective Development Authority on April 2003 for construction of 7 types of residential units comprising all 429 units out of which 120 units were sold against Income of Rs. 83,74,72028/- and net profit of Rs. 1,17,81,384/- has been declared after debating expenditure of Rs. 82,56,90,664/- on account of land and development, construction & Development, personnel & site running expenses and selling and distribution expenses etc.

21. The assessee has claimed deduction under Section 80-IB(10) of the Act of Rs. 58,44,230/- on the net profit of Rs. 1,17,81,384/-.

22. The record reveals that reassessment proceedings have been initiated on the basis of observation made by the assessing officer during the assessment proceeding for the assessment year 2006-07 that the respondent has not obtained completion certificate within four years from the local authority and has not fulfilling the condition as stipulated under Section 80IB(10)(d) of the Act and therefore the assessee has lost eligibility of claim deduction under Section 80-IB(10) of the Act in the disputed assessment years.

23. The Section 80-IB(10) of the Act for the relevant assessment year is quoted below:

"Section 80-IB(10) prior to the amendment of 1.4.2005:

"(10) amount of profits in case of an undertaking developing and building housing projects approved before the 3 I" day of March, 2005, by a local authority, shall be hundred percent, of the profits derived in any previous year relevant to any assessment year from such housing project if,-

(a) such undertaking has commenced or commences development and construction of the housing project on or after the 1" day of October, 1998;

(b) the project is on the size of a plot of land which has minimum area of one acre; and

(c) the residential unit has a minimum built up area of one thousand square feet where such residential unit is situated within the cites of Delhi or Mumbai or within twenty-five kilometers from the municipal limits of these cities and one thousand and five hundred square feet at any other place."

24. From perusal of the said section which provides that only three conditions for the eligibility of the deduction under Section 80-IB(10) of the Act and in the said provision there is no such condition that the project in question should be completed and obtained completion certificate with the period of four years.

25. In the impugned order the Tribunal has recorded a finding of fact that there was no such requirement under the Act for completing the project before a particular date and would have obtained the completion certificate from the Local Authority who have approved the project.

26. The Bombay High Court in the case of CIT vs. Brahma Associates (Supra) has observed (see page 399) as under:

" Held that clause (d) inserted to Section 80-IB(10) with effect from April 1, 2005, is prospective and not retrospective and hence could not be applied were on the profits derived from the housing projects under Section 80-IB(10) were on the profits derived from the housing project approved by the local authority as a whole, the Tribunal not justified in restricting the Section 80-IB (10) deduction only to a part of the project. However, in the present case, since, the assessee has accepted the decision of the Tribunal in allowing 80-IB (10) deduction to a part of the project, the findings of the Tribunal in that behalf could not be disturbed."

27. Subsequently, against the judgement of the Bombay High Court the revenue preferred the SLP before the Hon'ble Supreme Court being SLP (C)-No. 24330 of 2011 and others) the Hon'ble Supreme Court by its judgement and order dated 15th May, 2015 has dismissed the appeal of the Revenue and has confirmed the order and judgement passed by the Bombay High Court.

28. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CIT vs. Sarkar Builders(supra) while considering the bunch of cases has observed as under (see page 399):

"We would also like to point out that following this judgment of the Bombay High Court, or independently, other High Courts had also taken similar view. Against the aforesaid judgments, special leave petitions were filed by the Revenue in this Court. All these SLPs have been disposed of by this Court vide order dated 29.04.2015, we would like to reproduce the said order in entirety hereunder:

"All these special leave petitions are filed by the Revenue/ Department of Income tax against the judgments rendered by various High Courts deciding identical issue which pertains to the deduction under Section 80IB(10) of the Income Tax Act, as applicable prior to 01.04.2005. We may mention at the outset that all the High Courts have takenidentical view in all these cases holding that the deduction under the aforesaid provision would be admissible to a "housing project".

All the assessees had undertaken construction projects which were approved by the municipal authorities/local authorities as housing projects. On that basis, they claimed deduction under Section 80IB(10) of the Act. This provision as it stood at that time, i.e., prior to 01.04.2005 reads as under: -

Section 80IB(10) [as it stood prior to 01.04.2005] "(10) The amount of profits in case of an undertaking developing and building housing projects approved before the 31st day of March, 2005 by a local authority, shall be hundred per cent of the profits derived in any previous year relevant to any assessment year from such housing project if,

(a) such undertaking has commenced or commences development and construction of the housing project on or after the 1st day of October, 1998;

(b) the project is on the size of a plot of land which has a minimum area of one crore; and

(c) the residential unit has a maximum built-up area of one thousand square feet where such residential unit is situated within the cities of Delhi or Mumbai or within twenty-five kilometres from the municipal limits of these cities and one thousand and five hundred square feet at any other place." However, the income tax authorities rejected the claim of deduction on the ground that the projects were not "housing project" inasmuch as some commercial activity was also undertaken in those projects. This contention of the Revenue is not accepted by the income tax Appellate Tribunal as well as the High Court in the impugned judgment. The High Court interpreted the expression "housing project" by giving grammatical meaning thereto as housing project is not defined under the Income Tax Act insofar as the aforesaid provision is concerned. Since sub-section (10) of Section 80IB very categorically mentioned that such a project which is undertaken as housing project is approved by a local authority, once the project is approved by the local authority it is to be treated as the housing project. We may also point out that the High Court had made observations in the context of Development Control Regulations (hereinafter referred to as 'DCRs' in short) under which the local authority sanctions the housing projects and noted that in these DCRs itself, an element of commercial activity is provided but the total project is still treated as housing project. On the basis of this discussion, after modifying some of the directions given by the ITAT, the conclusions which are arrived at by the High Court are as follows: -

"30. In the result, the questions raised in the appeal are answered thus:-

a) Upto 31/3/2005 (subject to fulfilling other conditions), deduction under Section 80IB(10) is allowable to housing projects approved by the local authority having residential units with commercial user to the extent permitted under DC Rules/Regulations framed by the respective local authority

b) .....

d) .....

(See page 401)

e) Clasue (d) inserted to section 80-IB(10) with effect from April 1, 2005, is prospective and not retrospective and, hence, cannot be applied for the period prior to 2005.

We are in agreement with the aforesaid answer given by the High Court to the various issues."

(See page 402)

".....In the aforesaid scenario, we revert back to the question that is to be answered. We have already pointed out that the parties are ad idem that the amendment is prospective in nature and, therefore, it operates from 01.04.2005. We have also mentioned that in the instant appeals, all these assessees had got the housing projects sanctioned prior to 01.04.2005 and the construction of the said housing project also started before 01.04.2005. All other conditions mentioned namely the date by which approval was to be given and the dates by which the projects were to be completed as on the date when the project was sanctioned, are also met by the assessees....." (See page 404)

"..... The Revenue had argued that clause (d) inserted with effect from 01.04.2005 should be applied retrospectively, which argument was repelled by the High Court. Therefore, for better understanding, we would like to begin our discussion with the meaning given to 'housing project' along with the issue of retrospectivity of clause (d), as raised by the Revenue, which was dealt with by the High Court and repelled. That portion of the discussion contained in the High Court judgment, which has some bearing on the issue at hand, runs as under: "21. Thus, on the date on which the legislature introduced 100% deduction under the Income Tax Act, 1961 on the profits derived from housing projects approved by a local authority, it was known that the local authorities could approve the projects as houding projects with commercial user to the extent permitted under the DC Rules framed by the respective local authority. In other words, it was known that the local authorities could approve a housing project without or with commercial user to the extent permitted under the Development Control Rules. If the legislature intended to restrict the benefit of deduction only to the projects approved exclusively for residential purposes, then it would have stated so. However, the legislature has provided that Section 80IB(10) deduction is available to all the housing projects approved by a local authority. Since the local authorities could approve a project to be a housing project with or without the commercial user, it is evident that the legislature intended to allow Section 80IB(10) deduction to all the housing projects approved by a local authority without or with commercial user to the extent permitted under the DC Rules.

22. It is not in dispute that where a project is approved as a housing project without or with commercial user to the extent permitted under the Rules/Regulations, then, deduction under Section 80IB(10) would be allowable. In other words, if a project could be approved as a housing project having residential units with permissible commercial user, then it is not open to the income tax authorities to contend that the expression 'housing project' in Section 80IB(10) is applicable to projects having only residential units.

23. Once it is held that the local authorities could approve a project to be housing project without or with the commercial user to the extent permitted under the DC Rules, then the project approved with the permissible commercial user would be eligible for Section 80IB(10) deduction irrespective of the fact that the project is approved as 'housing project' or approved as 'residential plus commercial'. In other words, where a project fulfills the criteria for being approved as a housing project, then deduction cannot be denied under Section 80IB(10) merely because the project is approved as 'residential plus commercial'.

24. The fact that the deduction under Section 80IB(10) prior to 1.4.2005 was allowable on the profits derived from the housing projects constructed during the specified period, on a specified size of the plot with residential units of the specified size, it cannot be inferred that the deduction under Section 80IB(10) was allowable to housing projects having residential units only, because, restriction on the size of the residential unit is with a view to make available large number of affordable houses to the common man and not with a view to deny commercial user in residential buildings. In other words, the restriction under Section 80IB(10) regarding the size of the residential unit would in no way curtail the powers of the local authority to approve a project with commercial user to the extent permitted under the DC Rules/Regulations. Therefore, the argument of the Revenue that the restriction on the size of the residential unit in Section 80IB(10) as it stood prior to 1.4.2005 is suggestive of the fact that the deduction is restricted to housing projects approved for residential units only cannot be accepted.

25. The above conclusion is further fortified by Clause (d) to Section 80IB(10) inserted with effect from 1.4.2005. Clause (d) to Section 80IB(10) inserted w.e.f. 1.4.2005 provides that even though shops and commercial establishments are included in the housing project, deduction under Section 80IB(10) with effect from 1.4.2005 would be available where such commercial user does not exceed five per cent of the aggregate built- up area of the housing project or two thousand square feet whichever is lower. By Finance Act, 2010, clause (d) is amended to the effect that the commercial user should not exceed three percent of the aggregate built-up area of the housing project or five thousand square feet whichever is higher. The expression 'included' in clause (d) makes it amply clear that commercial user is an integral part of housing project. Thus, by inserting clause (d) to Section 80IB(10) the legislature has made it clear that though the housing projects approved by the local authorities with commercial user to the extent permissible under the DC Rules/Regulation were entitled to Section 80IB(10) deduction, with effect from 1.4.2005 such deduction would be subject to the restriction set out in clause (d) of Section 80IB(10). Therefore, the argument of the revenue that with effect from 1.4.2005 the legislature for the first time allowed Section 80IB(10) deduction to housing projects having commercial user cannot be accepted.

29. Lastly, the argument of the revenue that Section 80IB(10) as amended by inserting clause (d) with effect from 1.4.2005 should be applied retrospectively is also without any merit, because, firstly, clause (d) specifically inserted with effect from 1.4.2005, and therefore, that clause cannot be applied for the period prior to 1.4.2005. Secondly, clause (d) seeks to deny Section 80IB(10) deduction to projects having commercial user beyond the limit prescribed under clause (d), even though such commercial user is approved by the local authority. Therefore, the restriction imposed under the Act for the first time with effect from 1.4.2005 cannot be applied retrospectively. Thirdly, it is not open to the revenue to contend on the one hand that Section 80IB(10) as stood prior to 1.4.2005 did not permit commercial user in housing projects and on the other hand contend that the restriction on commercial user introduced with effect from 1.4.2005 should be applied retrospectively. The argument of the revenue is mutually contradictory and hence liable to be rejected. Thus, in our opinion, the Tribunal was justified in holding that clause (d) inserted to Section 80IB(10) with effect f*rom 1.4.2005 is prospective and not retrospective and hence cannot be applied to the period prior to 1.4.2005."*

The issues dealt with from paras 21 to 25 by the High Court already stands approved by this Court. In para 29, the High Court has held that clause. (d) has prospective operation, viz., with effect from 01.04.2005, and this legal position is not disputed by the Revenue before us. What follows from the above is that prior to 01.04.2005, these developers/assessees who had got their projects sanctioned from the local authorities as 'housing projects', even with commercial user, though limited to the extent permitted under the DC Rules, were convinced that they would be getting the benefit of 100% deduction of their income from such projects under Section 80IB of the Act..."

29. In view of the observation of the Hon'ble Apex Court, we are of the opinion that the projects which were approved prior to 1.4.2005 the applicability of Section 80IB(10)(d), of the Act is not permitted. In other words, Section 80(IB)(10)(d) of the Act will be applicable prospectively and not retrospectively.

30. Once it has come on record by fact finding Authority also that there is no such condition to have completion certificate within four years from the local authority granting approval of the projects in question, the reassessment proceedings taken against the assessee are bad and against the settled principle of law.

31. Therefore, the Tribunal has rightly set aside the re-assessment proceeding and directed the assessing authority to grant benefit of Section 80IB(10) of the Act to the assessee.

32. In view of the above facts and circumstances of the case the question of law are answered in favour of assessee and against the Revenue.

33. The appeals are, accordingly, answered. Both the appeals fail and are therefore dismissed.

34. Copy of this order be placed in the connected Income Tax Appeal No. 114 of 2016.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SAUMITRA DAYAL SINGH, J.

Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 142 of 2019

Shriram Jaiswal ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. &Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Abhishek Sharma, Sri Neeraj Sharma.

Counsel for the Respondents:
Shri. Avinash Chandra Tripathi, S.C..

A. United Provinces Excise Act, 1910: Sections 34, 72(c), U.P. Excise (Settlement of Licenses for Retail Sale of Country Liquor) Rules, 2002: Rule 21, S.34(3)— 'security amount' is also 'deposit made'. Latter phrase cannot be confined to the words 'fee paid'. It includes 'security amount' money also.

The license of the petitioner to vend country liquor was cancelled, stocks, license fee and advance security deposit were also confiscated by the District Magistrate. Appeal was dismissed and revision was rejected. Present writ petition challenges the confiscation of stocks, license fee and advance security deposit etc., though not the cancellation of the vending license. Partly allowing present petition, the High Court. Held: - Under Section

34(3), the licensee would lose all rights to seek refund of any fee paid or deposit made, or other compensation for cancellation or suspension of his license. The words "in respect thereof" are clearly not suffixed or used to confine the word 'deposit' to the words 'fee paid'. (Para 22, 23)

B. After amendment - discretion to forfeit 'security amount converted into mandatory confiscation of any 'deposit made'. It is an automatic consequence of cancellation of licence.

Merely because the words "security amount" had been added by amendment w.e.f. 01.04.2018 in Rule 21(3), would not mean that prior to that day, there was no power to forfeit any security amount. Prior to 01.04.2018, the power to forfeit security amount was discretionary; post 01.04.2018, the confiscation of security amount is mandatory (Para 25, 26, 28)

C. An authority can pass a composite order dealing with different aspects of cancellation of licence, forfeiture and penalty. Only requirement is of prior show cause notice on all aspects.

An authority can pass a composite order dealing with different aspects, though different aspects of that order may be appealable before different forums. This only has a bearing on the remedy that the aggrieved may have against the order, but does not affect the validity or correctness of the composite order and cannot be used to differently/narrowly interpret the scope of power of the authority. (Para 32, 33, 34)

Precedent distinguished:

1. Chandra Pal Singh Vs. State of U.P.& 4 Ors.

2. Writ Tax No. 356 of 2014 decided on 27.05.2014 (Para 6, 36) (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh J.)

1. The present writ petition has been filed against the order dated 25/27.10.2015 passed by the District Magistrate/Licensing authority. By that order, the petitioner's license for retail vend of country liquor has been cancelled; stock of lawful/unlawful liquor confiscated; holograms, wrappers and corks, basic license fee, advance security and cash Rs. 17,530/- forfeited. That order is disclosed to have been passed with reference to the powers vested in that authority under Section 34 and Section 72(c) of the United Provinces Excise Act, 1910 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) and Rule 21 of the U.P. Excise (Settlement of Licenses for Retail Sale of Country Liquor) Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules).

2. Challenge has also been raised to the order dated 05.05.2016 passed by Excise Commissioner, U.P. dismissing the appeal filed by the petitioner against the order dated 27.10.2015. Further, challenge has been raised to the order dated 27.09.2018 passed by the State Government rejecting the revision filed by the petitioner against the appellate order dated 05.05.2016. Thus, the cancellation of license as also forfeiture and confiscation of basic license fee, security deposit, advance security deposit, lawful/unlawful stock of liquor, wrappers, cash and other items discovered during the inspection/survey dated 21.09.2015 has been confirmed.

3. Heard Sri Neeraj Sharma assisted and Sri Abhishek Sharma learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri A.C. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for the revenue.

4. At the outset, Sri Neeraj Sharma has confined the submissions and prayer made in the present writ petition against the forfeiture and confiscation of advance security, lawful stock of liquor and cash Rs. 17,530/-. Challenge has not been pressed to the other part of the impugned orders whereby country liquor license of the petitioner has been cancelled; unlawful stock of liquor and basic license fee for the excise year 2015-16 had been forfeited.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner first states, upon the inspection conducted on 21.09.2015, no seizure of stock of liquor etc. had been made. However, a wholly false FIR had been lodged against the petitioner on the same day. About a week thereafter, on 29.09.2015, a show cause notice had been issued to the petitioner in exercise of power under Rule 21(2) of the Rules to show cause why the petitioner's license may not be cancelled. The petitioner had furnished his reply to that show cause notice. In that reply, he objected to the proposed forfeiture of the lawful stock of country liquor; cash; as also advance security deposit.

6. Placing heavy reliance on the language of the Rule 21(2) and (3) of the Rules as also the judgment of the learned single judge of this Court in Writ Tax No. 356 of 2014, Chandra Pal Singh Vs. State of U.P. & 4 Ors., decided on 27.05.2014, it has been submitted, though the order cancelling the country liquor license is not being challenged in the present proceedings, however, there could not have been any forfeiture of security, cash money found in the shop and confiscation stock of lawfully procured liquor.

7. First, it has been submitted, under Rule 21(2) and (3) of the Rules, the licensing authority could have required the petitioner to show cause against proposed cancellation of license and forfeiture of security or basic license fee or license fee, alone. No action could have been taken under that provision of law to forfeit the security money or confiscate the stock of lawfully procured liquor or cash. The proceedings under Rule 21 of the Rules are distinct and different from those under Section 72 of the Act. While proceedings for suspension and cancellation of license may arise in accordance with Rule 21 of the Rules read with Section 34 of the Act, those proceedings have to be drawn up by the licensing authority. On the other hand, the proceedings for confiscation, as contemplated under Section 72 of the Act have to be drawn up by the Collector after seizure of items/animals, etc that may be subjected to confiscation proceedings. In the present case, only one notice had been issued (dated 29.09.2015), by the licensing authority. No other notice was issued by the Collector in exercise power under Section 72 of the Act. Therefore, it has been submitted, the mandatory requirement of the Act had been violated. The confiscation of the valid stock of liquor and cash could not have been made by the licensing authorities while exercising powers under Rule 21 of the Rules.

8. It is his further submission, in any case, unamended Rule 21(3) of the Rules did not contemplate or provide for forfeiture of security amount. This Rule was amended by Ninth Amendment, 2018 w.e.f. 01.04.2018 whereby the words "security amount deposited by him" were added after the words "basic license fee and license fee" appearing in the unamended rule. Therefore, no security amount could not have been forfeited prior to 01.04.2018.

9. Also, it has been submitted, in any case, even under Section 34(3) of the Act, the word "deposit" only refers to the license fee that may have been paid by the licensee. For that reason also, there was no jurisdiction or authority whereby, prior to 01.04.2018, the security deposit furnished by the petitioner could be forfeited. The words "in respect thereof" appearing at the end of the sub-section (3) of Section 34 of the Act, clearly go to indicate that the word "deposit" appearing in that provision of law refers only to license fee that may have been deposited.

10. Opposing the present petition, learned Standing Counsel submits, in the first place, the powers of the licensing authority and the Collector (two authorities under Rule 21 of the Rules and Section 72 of the Act) are wielded by one and the same officer who discharges those functions in twin capacities. The District Magistrate, appointed by the State Government, also functions as the Collector and the licensing authority under the Act. In any case, no objection appears to have been raised before the original authorities or before the appeal authorities, as to lack of jurisdiction. Therefore, that plea may not be entertained, at this belated stage.

11. Second, it has been submitted, in the facts of the present case, the notice dated 29.05.2015 makes it plain that the same had been issued in dual capacity of the District Magistrate as the Collector and also as the Licensing Authority. Therefore, there was never any defect in the exercise of the jurisdiction.

12. Third, again as a fact, the notice makes a clear mention of the proceedings being initiated. First, the notice refers to Rule 21 of the Rules and proposes to cancel the license of the petitioner in light of the infractions of the law committed by the petitioner. Also, the notice proposes to forfeit/confiscate the basic license fee and security deposit as also the entire stock of lawful/unlawful liquor being 7552 bottles of country liquor of Rs. 17,530/- in cash. Not only does the notice refer to the above, it also draws the attention of the petitioner to the provisions of the Section 72(c) of the Act viz a viz the proposed action to forfeit the basic license fee, security deposit as also to confiscate the entire stock of lawful and unlawful liquor and cash. Therefore, it has been submitted, the show cause notice dated 29.09.2015 did not suffer from any jurisdictional, legal and factual errOrs.

13. Then, referring to the Rule 21(2) of the Rules, it has been submitted, authority was fully empowered to seek cancellation of license and forfeiture of security, even in the light of the unamended Rule 21 of the Rules. Here, reference has been made to the provisions of Rule 21(2) of the Rules, which provides for issuance of a show cause notice to cancel the license and also to forfeit security money. Besides the above, reliance has been placed on Section 34(3) of the Act to submit, under that provision of law, upon suspension or cancellation of his license, the petitioner lost his right to claim refund of any fee paid or deposit made with respect to the country liquor license (that had been earlier issued to him), and which became the subject matter of suspension and cancellation proceedings. The words "in respect thereof" do not restrict the word "deposit" to any fee paid but they restrict the word "deposit" and relate it to the country liquor license against which such deposit may have been made.

14. Last, referring to Section 72(c) of the Act, it has been submitted, once the petitioner was found to have committed the offence punishable under the Act, every quantity of intoxicant whether in his lawful or unlawful possession was exposed to confiscation proceedings. The fact that the petitioner did not file any appeal against that part of the order before the District Judge as provided under the Act, does not make any difference to the merits of the order.

15. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place, it has to be recognized that the Act does separately provide for suspension and cancellation of country liquor license, forfeiture and for confiscation. While making such separate provisions, it also appears that the power to cancel and suspend licenses has been conferred on the licensing authority while the power for confiscation has been vested in the Collector. Though the word "Collector" has not been defined under the Act, under Section 3(2) of the Act, the Excise Officer has been defined to mean a Collector or any officer or person appointed under Section 10 of the Act. On the other hand, under Rule 2(k) of the Rules, "licensing authority" is defined to mean a Collector or the District Magistrate. In the present case, the District Magistrate was the licensing authority under the Act.

16. Thus, in absence of any case that the issuing authority/District Magistrate was not the Collector, it remains undisputed, even if separate notices had to be issued, one under Section 34 read with Rule 21 of the Rules for cancellation of license and another under Section 72(5) of the Act for confiscation of items, those two notices would still have been issued by the same signatory in different capacities.

17. Then, factually, in the present case, the notice dated 29.09.2015 specifically refers to both Section 34 and Section 72(c) of the Act as well as Rule 21 of the Rules. Also, the subject matter of the notice refers to both Section 34 of the Act read with Rule 21 of the Rules as also Section 72(c) of the Act. In other words, the said notice speaks both, of the proposal to cancel the country liquor license as also to forfeit security money and confiscate, stock of lawful and unlawful liquor as also cash. Thus, it cannot be the case of the petitioner that he had not been issued any prior show cause notice before the proceeding for forfeiture were undertaken. The action of confiscation of stock of liquor and cash and forfeiture of security is found to have been preceded by a notice issued under Section 34 of the Act read with Rule 21 of the Rules and section 72(c) of the Act. There is no procedural defect in the same.

18. Coming to the other objection raised on behalf of the petitioner, first, the statutory provisions may be taken note of. The provision of Rule 21(2) and (3) of the Rules, both prior to and after the amendment may, first be noted as below:

Column-I Existing rule	Column-II Rule as hereby substituted

(3) In case the license is cancelled the basic license fee, license fee and security amount deposited by him shall stand forfeited in favour of the Government and the licensee shall not be entitled to claim any compensation or refund. Such licensee may also be blacklisted and debarred from holding any other excise license.

19. For a proper consideration of the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, it is also necessary to take note of the language of Section 34 of the Act and Section 72 of the Act. Thus, provisions of Section 34 of the Act are noted below:

"34. Power to cancel or suspend licences, etc.- (1) Subject to such restrictions, as the State Government may prescribe, the authority granting any licence, permit or pass under this Act may cancel or suspend it

(a) if any duty or fee payable by the holder thereof be not duly paid; or

(b) in the event of any breach by the holder of such licence, permit or pass or by his servants, or by any one acting on his behalf with his express or implied permission of any of the terms or conditions of such licence, permit or pass; or

(c) if the holder thereof is convicted of any offence punishable under this Act or any other law for the time being in force relating to revenue, or of any cognizable and non-bailable offence, or of any offence punishable under the [Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930,] or under the Merchandise Marks Act, 1889, or of any offence punishable under Sections 482 to 489 (both inclusive) of the Indian Penal Code; or

(d) where a licence, permit or pass has been granted on the application of the grantee of an exclusive privilege under this Act, on the requisition in writing of such grantee; or

(e) if the conditions of the licence or permit provide for such cancellations or suspension at will.

(2) When a licence, permit and pass held by any person is cancelled under clauses (a), (b) or (c) of sub-section (1), the authority aforesaid may cancel any other licence, permit or pass granted to such person by, or by the authority of the State Government under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force relating to excise revenue or under the Opium Act, 1878.

(3) The holder shall not be entitled to any compensation for the cancellation or suspension of his licence, permit or pass under this section nor to a refund of any fee paid or deposit made in respect thereof."

20. Also, relevant to the issue at hand, the provisions of Section 72 of the Act are noted below:

72. What things are liable to confiscation.- (1) Whenever an offence punishable under this Act has been committed-

(a) every intoxicant in respect of which such offence has been committed;

(b) every still, utensil, implement or apparatus and all materials by means of which such offence has been committed;

(c) every intoxicant lawfully imported, transported, manufactured, held in possession or sold along with or in addition to any intoxicant liable to confiscation under clause (a);

(d) every receptacle, package and covering in which any intoxicant as aforesaid or any materials, still, utensil, implement or apparatus is or are found, together with the other contents (if any) of such receptacle or package; and

(e) every animal, cart, vessel or other conveyance used in carrying such receptacle or package shall be liable to confiscation.

(2) Where anything or animal is seized under any provision of this Act, the officer seizing and detaining such property shall, within three working days from the date of such seizure and detention; produce a detailed report for confiscation along with such seized property, seizure memo and other relevant documents before the Collector. The Collector shall, upon receiving the said report along with seizure memo and seized property, immediately order for safe custody and storage of goods as he may deem fit. The Collector, if satisfied for reasons to be recorded that an offence has been committed due to which such thing or animal has become liable to confiscation under sub-section (1), he may order confiscation of such thing or animal whether or not a prosecution for such offence has been instituted:

Provided that in the case of anything (except an intoxicant) or animal referred to in sub-section (1), the owner thereof shall be given an option to pay in lieu of its confiscation such fine as the Collector thinks adequate, not exceeding its market value on the date of its seizure.

(3) Where the Collector on receiving report of seizure or on inspection of the seized things, including any animal, cart, vessel or other conveyance, is of the opinion that any such things or animal is subject to speedy wear and tear or natural decay or it is otherwise expedient in the public interest so to do, he may order such things (except an intoxicant) or animal to be sold at the market price by auction or otherwise.

(4) Where any such things or animal is sold as aforesaid, and-

(a) no order of confiscation is ultimately passed or maintained by the Collector under sub-section (2) or on review under sub-section (6); or

(b) an order passed on appeal under sub-section (7) so requires; or

(c) in the case of a prosecution being instituted for the offence in respect of which the thing or the animal is seized, the order of the court so requires;

the sale proceeds after deducting the expenses of the sale shall be paid to the person found entitled thereto.

(5) (a) No order of confiscation under this section shall be made unless the owner thereof or the person from whom it is seized is given-

(i) a notice in writing informing him of the grounds on which such confiscation is proposed;

(ii) an opportunity of making a representation in writing within such reasonable time as may be specified in the notice; and

(iii) a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter.

(b) Without prejudice to the provisions of clause (a), no order confiscating any animal, cart, vessel, or other conveyance shall be made if the owner thereof proves to satisfaction of the Collector that it was used in carrying the contraband goods without the knowledge or connivance of the owner, his agent, if any, and the person in-charge of the animal, cart, vessel or other conveyance and that each of them had taken all reasonable and necessary precautions against such use.

(6) Where on an application in that behalf being made to Collector within one month from any order of confiscation made under sub-section (2), or as the case may be, after issuing notice on his own motion within one month from the order under the sub-section refusing confiscation to the owner of the thing or animal seized or to the person from whose possession it was seized to show cause why the order should not be reviewed, and after giving him a reasonable opportunity of being heard, the Collector is satisfied that the order suffers from the mistake apparent on the face of the record including any mistake of law, he may pass such order on review as he thinks fit.

(7) Any person aggrieved by an order of the confiscation under subsection (2) or sub-section (6) may, within one month from the date of the communication to him of such order, appeal to such judicial authority as the State Government may appoint in this behalf and the judicial authority shall, after giving opportunity to the appellant to be heard, pass such order as it may think fit, confirming, modifying or annulling the order appealed against.

(8) Where a prosecution is instituted for the offence in relation to which such confiscation was ordered the thing or animal shall subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) be disposed of in accordance the order of the Court.

(9) No order of confiscation made by the Collector under this section shall prevent the infliction of any punishment to which the person affected thereby may be liable under this Act.]

21. For the purpose of giving true meaning for the language of Rule 21 (2) and (3) of the Rules, both before the amendment and after amendment, first notice must be had to the language of the principal legislation. Here, it appears, under Section 34(1) of the Act, the legislature has authorized the licensing authority to cancel or suspend a license (that may have been granted under the Act). Subject to any restriction placed by the State Government, the contingencies wherein the license may be suspended or cancelled are provided under Section 34(1)(a) to (e) of the Act. Insofar as the cancellation of the license of the petitioner has not been questioned, no further discussion is required to be made as to the contingency for cancellation. So far as the Section 34(2) of the Act is concerned, it provides for consequences for cancellation of the license on other license/s as may be existing in favour of such person. Again, that is not the issue involved in the present case.

22. Then, sub-Section (3) of Section 34 refers to the effect that a cancellation order would have on the rights of the licensee that may have otherwise existed in view of the license granted to him. Here, it appears the legislature has clearly provided, upon cancellation of a license, the licensee would lose all rights or entitlement to seek compensation for cancellation or suspension of the license, permit or pass, that may have been issued to him. Further, he would lose his right or entitlement to claim refund or any fee paid or deposit made. The words "in respect thereof" are clearly not suffixed or used to confine the word 'deposit' to the words "fee paid".

23. While providing the consequence and the effect of cancellation on the right of the licensee, the legislature appears to have clearly provided, the licensee would lose all rights that he may otherwise claim on the strength of his license. It is in light of that concept and it is in that context that his right to claim compensation has been done away. Upon the occurrence of cancellation of his license, the licensee's right to claim refund of any fee paid or deposit made has been taken away. There is no suggestion contained in the statutory language as may confine the use of word 'deposit' to the words "fee paid". The word "or" used between the words "fee paid" and "deposit" appearing in sub-Section (3) of Section 34 of the Act also mitigates against the interpretation being offered by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

24. Here, it is relevant that under Rule 21(2) of the Rules, the licensing authority was always authorized to issue a show-cause notice to cancel the license and to forfeit the security and to pass final order providing for such confiscation. That power arises under the first part of Rule 21(2) of the Rules that obligates the licensing authority to issue a show-cause notice for cancellation of license and forfeiture of security.

25. Sub-Rule (3) of Rule 21 of the Rules would in any case remain consequential to sub-Rule (2) of Rule 21 of the Rules i.e. it would come into play as soon as cancellation order is passed. Therefore, under the amended law, once the licensing authority, who was duly empowered to issue a notice, amongst others, to forfeit the security [under Rule 21(2) of the Rules] had acted in exercise of that power and he was fully enabled [under that sub-rule itself] to pass an order after hearing the licensee to forfeit the security as well. It is not possible to accept the contention advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner that merely because the word "security amount" did not appear in the unamended text of sub-Rule (3) of Rule 21 of the Rules and since those words had been added by the amendment w.e.f. 01.04.2018, therefore, prior to that amendment, there did not exist any power to forfeit security amount. That interpretation would render the earlier part of Rule 21(2) of the Rules redundant.

26. In fact, true reading of sub-Rule (3) of Rule 21 of the Rules makes it clear, even prior to the amendment to that Rule, by way of direct and mandatory consequence of cancellation of license, the basic license fee and the license fee deposited by a licensee would be forfeited as a consequence of cancellation of license. However, if the licensing authority wanted to forfeit the "security amount" it had a discretion in terms of sub-Rule (2) of Rule 21 of the Rules. By virtue of amendment made w.e.f. 01.04.2018, the consequence of mandatory confiscation has been extended to "security amount" as well.

27. Therefore, post amendment to Rule 21(3) of the Rules, a simple order of cancellation of the license would result in the licensee losing his rights over the security amount along with basic license fee and the license fee, that may have been deposited by him. It is only with respect to other consequences such as black-listing and debarring the licensee to hold any other license that sub-Rule (3) leaves a discretion with the licensing authority. However, we are not concerned with that aspect of the matter. That effect and differentiation is further accentuated by use of the words "shall" (while providing for confiscation) and "may" (while providing for black-listing).

28. In view of the above, I am unable to accept the contention advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner that prior to the amendment made to sub-Rule (3) of Rule 21 of the Rules, there did not exist any power with the licensing authority to forfeit the security amount. That power is found to be pre-existing, by virtue of sub-Rule (2) of Rule 21 of the Rules. The introduction of the words "security amount" by amendment made to sub-Rule (3) has the effect of making confiscation of "security amount", a mandatory consequence of an order of cancellation of license.

29. In the facts of the present case, the forfeiture was proceeded by a specific show cause notice, in terms of section 34 of the Act read with Rule 21(2) of the Rules and section 72(c) of the Act. The order for forfeiture of advance security deposit as has been passed is referable only to sub-Rule (2) and not to the sub-Rule (3) of Rule 21 of the Rules. Sub-Rule(3) only provides for the mandatory and other consequences of cancellation of the license. It does not authorize the licensing authority to pass an order. That power is contained completely in sub-Rule (2). One is therefore not required to look into sub-Rule (3) for the purposes of the decision of the present case.

30. Insofar as Section 72 of the Act is concerned, sub-Section (1) provides for confiscation of different items and also animals, carts and vessels or other conveyance in the event of offence punishable under the Act being committed. Sub-Section (2) provides for confiscation of any animal. Under sub-Section (3) and (4), the Collector upon receiving the report of seizure or upon inspection of seized things or animal etc may, if such seized items or animal is subject to speedy or other decay provide for its disposal. Sub-Section (5) provides for issuance of show-cause notice to the owner of the thing or animal, etc. that may be made subject matter of confiscation proceeding. The owner has thus been given a statutory right to object in writing and also to be heard before confiscation order may be passed. Sub-Section (6) provides for a power of limited review in certain circumstances, while sub-Section (7) gives the right to the person from whom such any property may have been seized, a right to appeal to a duly appointed judicial authority. Sub-

Section (8), on the other hand, relates for disposal of the thing or animal in the event of prosecution being instituted. Sub-Section (9) provides that confiscation would not act as a bar on punishment which may otherwise be imposed on the offender.

31. Thus, relevant for our purpose, under Section 72(1)(c) of the Act, any intoxicant, whether lawfully imported or not is made liable to confiscation in the event of offence punishable under the Act being found committed.

32. Though, a right of appeal given to the owner, under Section 72 of the Act is separate and distinct from the right of appeal under section 11 of the Act that a licensee may have against an order passed in terms of Rule 21 of the Rules, it may not necessarily imply that the original authority must therefore pass two separate orders, though he was otherwise vested with both the power to suspend or cancel the license and also the power to confiscate. The fact that he exercised the power compositely may only make a difference on the remedy that the petitioner may have against the order.

33. Thus, against the impugned order dated 05.05.2016, the petitioner may have had a right to appeal before the Appeal Authority, which was the Commissioner under Section 11 of the Act, insofar as that order related to the cancellation of license and denial of refund of security amount, but he may also have had a separate right of appeal against the other part of the order which relates to confiscation of lawful stock of liquor and cash. However, that difference of appeal forum made available to the petitioner would not lead to a different conclusion insofar as the interpretation is to be given to the language of Rule 21(3) of the Rules.

34. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner that no proceedings was instituted under Section 72 of the Act and therefore forfeiture of liquor is illegal is also found unacceptable in view of the reasoning given above. The show cause notice dated 29.9.2015 was a composite notice, both seeking cancellation of license and forfeiture of license fee and security deposit as also for confiscation of liquor. The petitioner also appears to have replied to that notice and participated in the proceedings. His reply, on merits, was considered and decided. In absence of any inherent lack of jurisdiction with the issuing authority, merely because the proceedings for confiscation of liquor are provided under Section 72 of the Act to be undertaken by the Collector, it would make no real difference since, as noted above the District Magistrate was the Collector and the Licensing Authority. The objection being raised by the petitioner is found to be cosmetic in nature and substantially unreal. Thus, as a fact the show cause notice was issued by the proper authority. It was replied to and thereafter the order had been passed in the prescribed manner after by following the procedure contemplated under Section 72 of the Act. Therefore, the proceeding did not suffer from defect of jurisdiction.

35. In view of the above, neither I consider it a proper or a fit case to now relegate the petitioner for the remedy of appeal before the District Judge in respect to the confiscation of lawful and unlawful stock and liquor. To that extent, I decline to exercise jurisdiction of Article 226 of the Constitution of India in view of the facts that have transpired and the proceedings that the petitioner had already availed. Also, substantially the claim of the petitioner is found to be lacking on merit. Once the cancellation order has been accepted on merits, the petitioner lost all rights to deal with lawful or unlawful stock of liquor.

36. Insofar as the decision in the case of Chandra Pal Singh Vs. State of U.P. & 4 Ors. (supra) is concerned from a bare perusal of the order dated 27.05.2014, it appears that the State could not point out any provision of law to resist that petition. Though the SLP against that decision has been dismissed, the submissions similar to those advanced by the learned Standing Counsel, in the present case, appear to have been raised (in that case), only upon review petition being filed. It came to be rejected on a technical plea that the same would fall outside the scope of review. Thus since the decision in Chandra Pal Singh Vs. State of U.P.& 4 Ors. (supra) was based, practically on the concession made by the State, the further fact that the SLP therefrom may have been dismissed would not amount to any declaration of law, that may bind the Court. That decision would remain a decision on facts.

37. However, there is no provision of law which the learned Standing Counsel could refer to as may enable the excise authorities or the Collector to confiscate any amount of cash that may have been found at the time of inspection or survey. The cash found is clearly not excisable goods and there is no allegation or finding against the petitioner that the same were proceeds of unlawful trade in liquor. In view of the above, the amount of Rs. 17,530/- is liable to be refunded to the petitioner forthwith, in accordance with law. To that extent, the petition must succeed. It is declared that the excise authorities or the Collector had no authority to confiscate the cash Rs. 17,530/-.

38. Accordingly, the petition is partly allowed.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SAUMITRA DAYAL SINGH, J.

CIVIL MISC. WRIT (TAX) PETITION NO. 311 of 2016

Cantonment Board, Meerut &Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
M/S B.K. Das & Sons. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Udit Chandra

Counsel for the Respondent:
C.S.C., Sri Kiran Kumar Arora, Miss Priyanka Arora.

A. The Cantonment Act, 2006: Sections 73(a), 73(b), 76. The choice of method of valuation u/s 73(a) and 73(b) is legislatively predetermined—no discretion with the assessing authority. Adjudicatory procedure cannot be adopted to create law.

The two methods of valuation provided under Sections 73(a) and (b) are mutually exclusive. The choice of method to be adopted is legislatively pre-determined. There is no discretion or choice in that regard with the assessing authority. (Para 19)

B. Interpretation of S.73(a) – "any other building". Intention of legislature to identity and subject to similarly tax all buildings in class of buildings, on the basis of their identity emerging from use and not otherwise.

The words "any other building" appearing in S.73(a), appear after the words "hotels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories". These preceding words clearly bring out the intention of legislature to identity and subject to tax certain buildings, on the basis of their user such as boarding accommodation for students etc.; educational institutions; hospitals and factories. (Para 22)

C. Notice issued u/s.73(a) is only a proposal and not a decision. Decision must precede and exist independent of the procedure for revision of assessment list. Adjudicatory procedure cannot be adopted to create a law. Otherwise, it would confer powers to pick and choose, and also deprive the owner/occupier of its right to file objections (u/s 76) to the revision. (Para 25-27, 29, 31-33)

D. In a case where CEO had not accepted the method of valuation proposed by respondent, it would have been proper for the Appellate Authority to remit the case to the CEO, to pass fresh order as per S.73(b). (Para 35) (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh J.)

1. Supplementary counter affidavit titled 'Supplementary affidavit' has been filed today by the respondent. Taken on record. Learned counsel for the petitioner does not propose to file any response to the same. Accordingly, the matter has been heard.

2. Heard Sri Udit Chandra, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Kiran Kumar Arora, learned counsel for the respondent.

3. The present writ petition has been filed by the Cantonment Board, Meerut against the judgement and order dated 23.11.2015 passed by learned Additional District Judge, Court no.2, Meerut in Tax Appeal No. 06 of 2010. By that order, the learned court below has allowed the appeal filed by the respondent and set aside the revision of the assessment list made by the Cantonment Board, by its order dated 26.03.2009 passed under Section 73(a) of the Cantonment Act, 2006 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). Thereafter, the learned court below has itself revised the assessment list of the respondent under Section 73(b) of the Act and thereby fixed the Annual Rateable Value (ARV in short) of the buildings of the respondent, at Rs. 4,96,000/- for the period 2008 to 2011. Accordingly, the demand of tax has been directed to be taken out against the said respondent.

4. Admittedly, the respondent is the holder of the occupancy rights in Bungalow Nos. 170 & 170-A, Abu Lane, Kabari Bazar, Meerut Cantt. He appears to have let out part of those premises for commercial use while the remaining part of those premises is under his self-occupation. Portions of those buildings that have been let out are being used for running a car showroom, a bank and a shoe showroom.

5. By a notice dated 21.2.2009 issued by the Chief Executive Officer, Meerut Cantt, it was proposed to revise the ARV of the aforesaid properties being Bungalow Nos. 170 & 170-A. In the calculation sheet appended to the aforesaid notice, the method of proposed revision was disclosed - Cost of Land = (Area x STR x 40 x 2) / 10. Thereafter, the cost of construction was disclosed at rate applicable to the constructed area and the Annual Rateable Value (ARV) was proposed to be calculated applying the formula - ARV = (Cost of land + Cost of Construction) / 20. The respondent filed his objections to the aforesaid notice and disputed the proposed computation. He relied on the annual rent received by him from letting out all parts of the premises. Thus, the method of computation of ARV proposed by the Cantonment Board was disputed.

6. The Chief Executive Officer, rejected that objection by his order dated 30.03.2009. In that order, the Chief Executive Officer referred to Section 73(a) of the Act and proceeded accordingly. Inasmuch as the notice for revision of the assessment had been issued disclosing the basis for that as provided under Section 73(a) of the Act, the actual rent received by the respondent was found not relevant, hence not considered.

7. In the appeal before the Additional District Judge, specific objections were raised that the procedure adopted under Section 73(a) of the Act was not applicable. The said objections found favour with the learned Additional District Judge, who has reasoned that there was no prior decision of the Chief Executive Officer to adopt the method provided under Section 73(a) of the Act, before proceeding to revise the ARV of the buildings of the respondent. Thereafter, the learned Additional District Judge has set-aside the revision to the assessment as made. Further, he has himself proceeded to consider the material on record and made a revision to the assessment on the basis of rent received i.e. he has proceeded to revise the ARV under section 73(b) of the Act.

8. Assailing the above order, learned counsel for the petitioner submits, in the first place, the notice dated 21.2.2009 read with the calculation sheet clearly disclosed the decision of the Chief Executive Officer to proceed to revise the ARV of the respondent under Section 73(a) of the Act. That notice was also acted upon and the respondent furnished his reply disclosing the computation under Section 73(a) of the Act at Rs. 95,00,000/-. Therefore, it has been submitted, there was no error in the assessment made by the Chief Executive Officer and the learned Additional District Judge has erred in setting aside that assessment.

9. Once the notice itself disclosed the decision made by the Chief Executive Officer to proceed under Section 73(a) of the Act, there was no further or other decision required to be taken or disclosed by him. Further, referring to the language of Section 76 of the Act, it has been submitted, learned Additional District Judge has completely erred in reaching the conclusion that there was no decision to proceed under Section 73(a) of the Act.

10. In that regard, it has also been submitted, no other interpretation can be given to the language of Section 73(a) of the Act inasmuch as if any other or separate decision were to be made, another step or condition would have been introduced before a notice for assessment may be issued. Neither there is such suggestion arising from a plain reading of the language of Section 73 of the Act nor there is any procedure provided therefor. Therefore, the order passed by the learned Additional District Judge is patently erroneous. On the other hand a complete opportunity to rebut the proposed revision of assessment was available to the respondent under Section 76 of the Act, which had also been availed.

11. Alternatively, it has been submitted, in any case, the Cantonment Board had never made any assessment under Section 73(b) of the Act and that course should have been left open to the Cantonment Board to be adopted if the assessment made under Section 73(a) of the Act was being set-aside but no final assessment could have been made at the hands of the appellate authority.

12. Responding to the above, Shri Arora submits, Section 73 of the Act provides for definition of "Annual Rateable Value" (ARV in short) of different premises. It reads:

"73. Definition of "annual rateable value"- For the purposes of this chapter, "annual rateable value" means-

(a) in the case of hotels, colleges, schools, hospitals, factories and any other buildings which the Chief Executive Officer decides to assess under this clause, one-twentieth of the sum obtained by adding the estimated present cost of erecting the building to the estimated value of the land appertaining thereto; and

(b) in the case of building or land not assessed under clause (a), the gross annual rent for which such building exclusive of furniture or machinery therein or such land is actually let or, where the building or land is not let or in the opinion of the Chief Executive Officer is let for a sum less than its fair letting value, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year:

Provided that, where the annual rateable value of any building is, by reason of exceptional circumstances, in the opinion of the President Cantonment Board, excessive if calculated in the aforesaid manner, the President Cantonment Board may fix the annual rateable value at any less amount which appears to him to be just".

13. In the first place, under sub-section (a), a method has been provided to compute the ARV. By very nature, such a method would lead to the computation of the highest ARV as the value of the land and the present value of the construction form the basis for such computation, which value is bound to escalate with time while actual rent payable for such premises may or may not increase, correspondingly or proportionately.

14. The Act has prescribed that method for assessment of the ARV of buildings where hostels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories are being run. Admittedly, the present buildings do not fall under that description. Then, "any other building" that may be subjected to that highest ARV would have to be first included or notified by a decision made by the Chief Executive Officer. Inasmuch there was no prior decision of the Chief Executive Officer to apply the provisions of Section 73(a) of the Act to the class of buildings, namely, banks, car or other showrooms, section 73(a) of the Act could not have been applied for the purpose of making the revision to the ARV of such building/s.

15. Even at the stage of the original assessment, in his objection, the respondent had clearly relied on the actual rental value of the premises in question as the basis to determine their ARV and had thereby relied on section 73(b) of the Act. Only in the alternative, by way of argument, it had offered valuation in accordance with Section 73(a) of the Act.

16. As to the assessment made by the Appellate Authority, it has been submitted, the actual rental value of the premises, as disclosed by the respondent, was never disputed by the Cantonment Board and, therefore, the Appellate Authority has not erred in accepting the same in the interest of bringing a closure to an old dispute. Even in the present petition, the computation offered by the respondent has not been disputed on facts. Therefore, the present writ petition deserves to be dismissed.

17. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place, it cannot be said that the respondent had not objected to the method of assessment proposed in the notice dated 21.02.2009. While the ARV was proposed to be revised solely on the basis of method provided under Section 73(a) of the Act, the respondent clearly objected to the same and offered the properties for assessment on the basis of actual rent received. Therefore, the respondent had clearly invoked the provision under Section 73(b) of the Act as the correct basis for making the assessment.

18. Then, the statutory intendment is clear. ARV of "all other buildings", falling outside the description of buildings used to run hostels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories may, in the first place may be determined under Section 73(b) of the Act, i.e. on the basis of the gross annual rent for which such building is actually let. That value may be much lower and in any case would be different from the value determined under Section 73(a) of the Act owing to difference in method of computation. Besides the fact that the value of the land appurtenant and current value of construction of such building are not to be included in the ARV, in any case, the actual rent received may have too far fetched and/or no direct or proportionate or rationale connection with the total value of the property in question.

19. Also, it plainly emerges from a reading of section 73 of the Act that the two methods provided thereuder are mutually exclusive. The choice of the method to be adopted to estimate the ARV of any particular building is legislatively pre-determined. Under the mandatory prescription made by the legislature, the ARV of the types of buildings classified under sub-clause (a) of section 73 of the Act, alone has to be determined in the manner prescribed under that provision of law. Similarly, all other buildings have to be subjected to determination of ARV under section 73(b) of the Act, according to the method prescribed thereunder. There is no discretion or choice in that regard with the assessing authority to choose one or the other method. That choice is legislatively governed.

20. Therefore, in such fact and in such position of law, the objections are found to clearly bring out that the respondent had taken a categorical stand that the property be assessed under Section 73(b) of the Act on the basis of actual rent received and not on the basis of value of the land and the current value of erection of all construction existing thereon. By way of an alternative stand, the respondent had disclosed the value for the purposes of Section 73(a) of the Act. It would not, in any way, dilute the objection that the properties could not be assessed under Section 73(a) of the Act. In view of the mandatory legislative intent noted above, there is no room to consider acquisence or estoppel, contrary to law. Thus, it has to be accepted that the respondent had objected to the method adopted by the Chief Executive Officer under Section 73(a) of the Act.

21. Coming to the core issue, whether the properties could have been assessed under Section 73(a) of the Act, that provision of law provides a special method for computation of the ARV with respect to class of buildings namely hostels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories. While generally, all buildings (irrespective of their use), are subjected to tax on the basis of their ARV assessed under section 73(b) of the Act, certain specified categories or class of buildings have been excluded from applicability of the general method provided under Section 73(b) of the Act, on the basis of their user. They must necessarily be assessed to tax by the Cantonment Board by applying the method provided under section 73(a) of the Act i.e. one-twentieth of the sum total of the value of the land and the estimated present cost of construction of the building standing thereon.

22. The car and other showroom and bank being run in the buildings of the respondent clearly and admitedly do not fall in the description of buildings specifically given in section 73(a) of the Act. They are neither hostels nor colleges nor schools nor hospitals nor factories. Then coming to the power delegated by the legislature upon the Chief Executive Officer of the Cantonment Board, to include "any other building" to which the method of determination of ARV provided under section 73(a) may be applied, in the first place the power delegated is legislative not executive. Then, the words "any other building" appearing in section 73(a) of the Act, appear after the words "hostels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories". These preceeding words clearly suggest or bring out the intention of the legislature to identify and subject to tax certain buildings (by following the method specified therein), on the basis of their user such as boarding accomodation for students etc.; educational institutions; hospitals and factories.

23. Therefore reading the entire provision of section 73(a) consistently the phrase "any other building" may be also read as referring to any building identified as a class/type of buildings, chosen on the basis of general use to which it is put and not on the basis of its ownership or individual sub-identity. Just as all hostels or all colleges or all schools or all hospitals or all factories, without any exception would be subjected to assessment in accordance with provisions of section 73(a) of the Act, so also, "any other building" that may be included by delegated legislative action would have to belong to a class of building identified by its user such that all buildings being put to similar use would necessarily be simultaneously subjected to the same method of valuation of ARV.

24. The legislature has clearly chosen to first specify certain class/type of buildings, on the basis of their user as the basis to apply the exceptional or special method of valuation of their ARV. In absence of other any statutory indication to the contrary, the language in the later part of the sub-section must be read in consonance with that inherent/underlying legislative intent or guideline. The same basis or criteria must bind the delegate of the legislature in exercise of his powers, to include and thus subject to tax "any other building" in accordance with the method contained in section 73(a) of the Act.

25. Even otherwise, if the submission being advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is to be accepted, though in the first place, Section 73(a) of the Act would apply to a class of buildings namely hostels, colleges, schools, hospitals and factories but the Chief Executive Officer could chose to adopt the method provided under that sub-section to one particular building belonging to any other class and leave out the remaining buildings of the same class.

26. Thus, the Chief Executive Officer of the Cantonment Board could include one car or other showroom or bank within the scope of Section 73(a) of the Act while leaving all other similarly situated car or other showrooms or banks from the ambit of that provision. It would lead to grossly different property assessments being made within the same cantonment area, though the nature and use of all such buildings may be the same and even though they may be situated in vicinity and even though they may be owned by the same person and be fetching exactly same amount of actual annual rent.

27. The said interpretation would in effect allow the Chief Executive Officer to pick and choose according to his whims and fancies, some of the buildings to a higher rate of tax while leaving out all others in the same class. Besides the fact that such interpretation would be plainly arbitrary it would be wholly contrary to the legislative intent contained in the first part of the Section 73(a) of the Act where the legislature itself has chosen to subject all occupants of same category of buildings to be treated similarly, based on the objective criteria of use to which the buildings have been put. If allowed it would necessarily introduce plain arbitrariness and hostile discrimination in the enforcement of law.

28. Second, in the facts of the present case, there does not appear to exist any decision by the Chief Executive Officer to subject car or other showrooms or banks to tax or revision of tax under Section 73(a) of the Act. No decision has been brought on record nor any communication issued by the Chief Executive Officer has been brought on record in that regard. Therefore, that power is not shown to have been exercised. Hence, it was not open to the Chief Executive Officer to apply the provisions of Section 73(a) of the Act against the respondent.

29. Still otherwise, if it is assumed that the power under section 73(a) of the Act could be applied to subject individual building/s to the method of determination of ARV provided therein, the submission that the notice dated 20.02.2009 itself contained the decision of the Chief Executive Officer to invoke Section 73(a) of the Act also cannot be accepted. That decision must, by very nature, precede and also be shown to exist independent of the procedure for the revision of the assessment list.

30. The proposal to revise the assessment list is a proposal to which the owner or occupier has a right to object by virtue of Section 76 of the Act. Therefore, normally there would arise objections that any particular building does not subscribe to the description of class or type of buildings specified under section 73(a) of the Act and/or to the valuation proposed of such a building, however, it cannot be contemplated that in such proceedings it may be objected and thereafter adjudicated whether a building be included thereunder or be subjected to that method of valuation.

31. Whether there exists a decision to provide for a category specification of the building (that may be subjected to such revision under Section 73(a) of the Act) or not either by plain declaration made by the principal legislature (or by his delegate, the Chief Executive Officer), is a matter of existence or otherwise of statutory law - whether by way of principal legislation or delegated legislation. The only issue that may fall for consideration is the existence or otherwise of such law or whether the subject building ascribes to that law. However, this adjudicatory procedure cannot be adopted or be utilised to create a law. It would remain a matter that would fall outside the scope of the Section 76 of the Act. Such decision would remain a legislative action and therefore it must be shown to exist independent of the notice containing the proposal to revise the assessment. Even otherwise, the notice issued under section 73(a) of the Act is only a proposal and not a decision, which may or may not be enforced upon the final order being passed.

32. In other words, the proposal to revise the assessment is consequential to the decision of the Chief Executive Officer that must precede the issuance of the notice. Unless a decision is first made to categorize buildings to be subjected to the higher/different method of valuation under section 73(a) of the Act, it cannot be left open to the Chief Executive Officer to issue a notice seeking to revise such assessment.

33. Keeping in mind that the decision to be made by the Chief Executive Officer would be an act of delegated legislation there cannot be allowed to exist any ambiguity about its existence. The decision must be clearly taken and disclosed to all before any notice may be been issued to revise the assessment list on that basis. Any ambiguity about its pre-existence may invalidate the exercise of the power itself.

34. The further submission advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner that there is no procedure provided for making the decision by the Chief Executive Officer, to include any other buildings within the scope of Section 73(a) of the Act, does not appeal to reason. While making such a decision, the Chief Executive Officer acts as a delegate of the legislature and not as a quasi-judicial authority. Therefore, principally, there is neither any procedure required to be followed to exercise that power, nor rules of natural justice have any application to that exercise.

35. However, the last submission advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner does merit acceptance, inasmuch as the Chief Executive Officer has only made assessment under Section

73(a) of the Act and had not applied his mind to the nature of objections raised by the respondent nor he considered the material produced with reference to Section 73(b) of the Act. In such a case, where the applicability of Section 73(a) of the Act was in dispute, the CEO had not accepted the method of valuation proposed by the respondent, it would have been proper for the Appellate Authority to remit the case to the Chief Executive Officer, to pass a fresh order in accordance with Section 73(b) of the Act.

36. Accordingly, the writ petition succeeds in part. While findings of the Appellate Authority regarding the assessment made under Section 73(a) of the Act being illegal are wholly proper and are thus sustained, the later part of the order making quantification/ assessment under Section 73(b) of the Act is found to be pre-mature and is accordingly set-aside. The matter is remitted to the Chief Executive Officer, Cantonment Board, Meerut Cantt, to pass a fresh order, in light of the observations made above, as expeditiously as possible, preferably within a period of three months from today, after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the respondent.

37. The writ petition is accordingly partly allowed.

Writ Petition from order dated 11.10. 2017 by Addl. Sec. GOI (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh J.)

1. The present writ petition has been filed against the order dated 11.10.2017 passed by the Additional Secretary to the Government of India, in a revision application filed by the petitioner under Section 35EE of the Central Excise Act, 1944 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act'). That revision had been filed against the order/s-in-appeal dated 16.12.2013 and 21.03.2014 passed by the Commissioner, Central Excise (Appeals-I), Kolkata. Those appeals had arisen from the order(s)-in-original dated 03.09.2013, 16.09.2013 and 29.01.2014. By those orders-in-original, the claims for rebate from duty (by the petitioner on export of Camphor USP) were rejected, as time barred.

2. The facts giving rise to the present writ petition are that the petitioner is a manufacturer of Camphor USP falling under Chapter sub-heading 29142120 of the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985. By Central Excise Notification No. 19/2004 dated 06.09.2004, the Central Government in exercise of its powers under Rule 18 of the Central Excise Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules'), in supersession of earlier notifications, granted rebate on the whole of the duty paid on all excisable goods falling under the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985, when exported to any country, other than Nepal and Bhutan. The said rebate was made subject to the conditions, limitations and procedures specified in that notification. Rule 18 of the Rules read as under:

"Rule 18. Rebate of duty. - Where any goods are exported, the Central Government may, by notification, grant rebate of duty paid on such excisable goods or duty paid on materials used in the manufacture or processing of such goods and the rebate shall be subject to such conditions or limitations, if any, and fulfillment of such procedure, as may be specified in the notification.

Explanation. - For the purposes of this rule, "export", with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions, means taking goods out of India to a place outside India and includes shipment of goods as provision or stores for use on board a ship proceeding to a foreign port or supplied to a foreign going aircraft."

3. The conditions and limitations for providing the rebate are contained in clause (2) of that notification. They read as below:

*"(2) Conditions and limitations :-

(a) that the excisable goods shall be exported after payment of duty, directly from a factory or warehouse, except as otherwise permitted by the Central Board of Excise and Customs by a general or special order;

(b) the excisable goods shall be exported within six months from the date on which they were cleared for export from the factory of manufacture or warehouse or within such extended period as the Commissioner of Central Excise may in any particular case allow;

(c) that the excisable goods supplied as ship's stores for consumption on board a vessel bound for any foreign port are in such quantities as the Commissioner of Customs at the port of shipment may consider reasonable;

(d) the rebate claim by filing electronic declaration shall be allowed from such place of export and such date, as may be specified by the Board in this behalf;

(e) that the market price of the excisable goods at the time of exportation is not less than the amount of rebate of duty claimed;

(f) that the amount of rebate of duty admissible is not less than five hundred rupees;

(g) that the rebate of duty paid on those excisable goods, export of which is prohibited under any law for the time being in force, shall not be made."

4. As to the presentation of claim for rebate to Central Excise, the procedure is prescribed under clause 3(b) and 3(c) of that notification. They read as under:

*"3 (b) Presentation of claim for rebate to Central Excise:-

(i) Claim of the rebate of duty paid on all excisable goods shall be lodged alongwith original copy of the application to the Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or the Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise having jurisdiction over the factory of manufacture or warehouse or, as the case may be, the Maritime Commissioner;

(ii) The Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or the Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise having jurisdiction over the factory of manufacture or warehouse or, as the case may be, Maritime Commissioner of Central Excise shall compare the duplicate copy of application received from the officer of customs with the original copy received from the exporter and with the triplicate copy received from the Central Excise Officer and if satisfied that the claim is in order, he shall sanction the rebate either in whole or in part.

3(c) Claim of rebate by electronic declaration :- An exporter may enter the requisite information in the shipping bill filed at such place of export, as may be specified by the Board, for claiming rebate by electronic declaration on Electronic Data Inter-change system of Customs. The details of the corresponding application shall be entered in the Electronic Data Inter-change system of Customs upon arrival of the goods in the Customs area. After goods are exported or order under Section 51 of the Customs Act, 1962 (52 of 1962) has been issued, the rebate of excise duty shall, if the claim is found in order, be sanctioned and disbursed by the Assistant Commissioner of Customs or the Deputy Commissioner of Customs."*

5. Undisputedly, the petitioner exported its final product, namely Camphor USP to countries other than Nepal and Bhutan. The disputed transactions are ten such transactions performed between the period February 2012 to October 2012. Again, undisputedly, the petitioner claimed rebate from payment of duty on such exports beyond one year from the date of shipment being dispatched. Thus, the refund claims were made during the period February 2013 to October 2013, such that in each case the claim came to be made more than a year after the actual shipment of the goods.

6. All ten claims came to be rejected by separate orders dated 03.09.2013, 16.09.2013 and 29.01.2014, as time barred under the provisions of Section 11B of the Act. For ready reference, the relevant extract of Section 11B of the Act is quoted below:

"SECTION [11B. Claim for refund of [duty and interest, if any, paid on such duty].-(1) Any person claiming refund of any [duty of excise and interest, if any, paid on such duty] may make an application for refund of such [duty and interest, if any, paid on such duty] to the [Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise] before the expiry of [one year] [from the relevant date] [[in such form and manner] as may be prescribed and the application shall be accompanied by such documentary or other evidence (including the documents referred to in section 12A) as the applicant may furnish to establish that the amount of [duty of excise and interest, if any, paid on such duty] in relation to which such refund is claimed was collected from, or paid by, him and the incidence of such [duty and interest, if any, paid on such duty] had not been passed on by him to any other person :

... ...

[Explanation.- For the purposes of this section,-

(A) "refund" includes rebate of duty of excise on excisable goods exported out of India or on excisable materials used in the manufacture of goods which are exported out of India;

(B) "relevant date" means,-

(a) in the case of goods exported out of India where a refund of excise duty paid is available in respect of the goods themselves or, as the case may be, the excisable materials used in the manufacture of such goods, -

(i) if the goods are exported by sea or air, the date on which the ship or the aircraft in which such goods are loaded, leaves India, or

(ii) if the goods are exported by land, the date on which such goods pass the frontier, or

(iii) if the goods are exported by post, the date of dispatch of goods by the Post Office concerned to a place outside India;"

7. The petitioner's appeals against the aforesaid orders also came to be rejected. Those orders have been affirmed by the revising authority by the order impugned in the present writ petition.

8. Heard Shri Nishant Mishra assisted by Shri Tanmay Sadh and Shri Kartikeya Narain, Advocates, for the petitioner and Shri Ramesh Chandra Shukla, learned Senior Standing Counsel for the revenue.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits, in the first place, the scheme for grant of rebate from payment of excise duty was a separate scheme under the Rules read with Notification no. 19/2004 dated 06.09.2004 distinct from the scheme for levy of excise duty under the Act. The petitioner did not claim refund of excise duty paid by it rather, it made a separate and distinct claim of rebate. Section 11B of the Act inter alia prescribed the period of limitation to make a claim for refund only. It had no applicability to a claim for rebate. Therefore, in is his submission the provisions of Section 11B of the Act that provide for refund of duty paid in excess are not applicable to claims of rebate from excise duty claimed by the present petitioner.

10. Alternatively, it has been submitted, even if the claim of rebate being claimed is treated at par with a claim for refund (in view of the language of Explanation (A) appended to Section 11B of the Act) then, the rebate from excise duty on goods exported by the petitioner was a special beneficial scheme. Section 11B of the Act has no applicability in the same.

11. Then, referring specifically to the method of presentation of claim for rebate provided under clauses 3(b) and 3(c) of the notification, it has been further submitted that the Central Government had provided a special procedure for making a claim for rebate from payment of excise duty. It stipulated lodging of that claim with the designated authority in original. Moreover, under clause 3(c) of the notification, that claim had been permitted and provided to be made by electronic declaration. While providing that special procedure, again, the Central Government did not deem fit to provide for a period of limitation or to incorporate the period of limitation provided under Section 11B of the Act.

12. Rule of limitation of one year cannot be read into such special procedure to bar the claim made by the petitioner within and otherwise reasonable period. Here, it would be the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner that being money claim, the reasonable period cannot be assumed to be lesser than three years as contemplated under the general rule under the Limitation Act.

13. Then, referring to Notification No. 18 of 2016 dated 01.03.2016, it has been submitted, later, the Central Government had specifically introduced the rule of limitation in the scheme of rebate from excise duty, arising under Notification No. 19/2004 dated 06.09.2004. With effect from 01.03.2016, it provided, such claims be made before expiry of the period specified under Section 11B of the Act. Thus, the delegate of the legislature had, for the first time, amended the stipulation of limitation provided under the notification dated 06.09.2004 and consequently introduced a further condition by way of rule of limitation to make a claim for rebate.

14. The aforesaid amendment having been made prospectively, according to the learned counsel for the petitioner, the same cannot be read into the fact situation of the present case. The claim of the petitioner had arisen about two years prior to the amendment to that law. The same was wholly valid and maintainable and would be governed by the unamended law.

15. Reliance has been placed on the decisions of the Supreme Court in the case of CCE Vs. Raghuvar (India) Ltd., 2000 9118) ELT 311 (SC), as followed in CCE Vs. Ram Swarup Electricals Ltd., 2007 (217) ELT 12 (All.); DCCE Vs. Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd., 2015

(321) ELT 45 (Mad); and JSL Lifestyle Ltd. Vs. UOI, 2015 (326) ELT 265 (P&H). Also, great stress has been laid to distinguish the judgment of a Division Bench of the Bombay High Court in the case of Everest Flavours Ltd. Vs. UOI, 2012 (282) ELT 481 (Bom). In that regard, it has been submitted that the ratio of the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) contained in paragraphs 14 and 15 of that report had remained from being considered by the Bombay High Court. Therefore, that decision does not lay down the correct law. On the other hand, stress has been laid on the decisions of the Madras and Punjab and Haryana High Courts in the cases of Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra) and JSL Lifestyle Ltd.(supra) noted above, to submit, those decisions had taken note of the complete ratio of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) and, therefore, they lay down the correct law.

16. The reasoning of the revising authority, insofar as it has followed the decision of the Bombay High Court in Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra), has been assailed as incomplete. The points of distinction noted by the Madras High Court and Punjab & Haryana High Court in their respective decisions, flowing from the ratio embedded in paragraphs 14 and 15 of the decision of the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. has been completely misread or not appreciated by the revising authority. Also, it has been submitted, the revising authority has otherwise failed to independently consider the submission advanced by the petitioner that the rule of limitation contained in section 11B of the Act could not be applied to the claim of rebate made by the petitioner (prior to the amendment), has not been decided.

17. Opposing the present petition, Shri Shukla, learned standing counsel for the revenue submitted, the decision in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) is wholly distinguishable. In that case, the question involved was with respect to recovery of MODVAT wrongly availed. The Supreme Court had the occasion to consider the provisions of Section 11A of the Act and Rule 57-I of the old Rules (with respect to grant of MODVAT). In that context it had been reasoned that Section 11A of the Act is not an omnibus provision of limitation for all or any kind of action taken under the Act or the Rules but that it would attract only to cases where duty of excise had not been levied or paid or had been short levied or short paid or erroneously refunded. That position of law was distinguished and held inapplicable to enforce a recovery of MODVAT wrongly availed.

18. In that case, it was the manufacturer who claimed the benefit of Section 11A of the Act by stating - no recovery could be made from him beyond the period of one year limitation under Section 11A of the Act. The Supreme Court negated that claim, amongst others, on the reasoning - a recovery contemplated under Section 11A is different and distinct from recovery of MODVAT wrongly claimed. For reaching that conclusion, the Supreme Court considered the separate nature of duty liabilities contemplated under Section 11A of the Act and the MODVAT scheme enforced by Rule 57A to 57P of the old Rules.

19. The above position does not arise in the present case, inasmuch as by virtue of Explanation (A) appended to Section 11B, all claims of rebate from excise duty have been specifically included in the statutory definition of claims for refund. By virtue of that statutory inclusion, any distinction that may otherwise have existed between the true meaning, purport and scope of a refund claim and a rebate claim, has been rendered inconsequential and extraneous.

20. Therefore, in his submission, under the Act, their do not exist two separate provisions providing limitation to file claims for refund and rebate. A claim of rebate and claim of refund are one and same for the purpose of Section 11B of the Act. Consequently, in his submission, the rule of limitation provided under Section 11B of the Act would apply with equal force to a claim of rebate. He has placed full faith in the decision of the Bombay High Court in the case of Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra).

21. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place, it would be fruitful to consider the ratio of the Supreme Court in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra). As noted above, it was a case where the revenue was seeking to recover from the manufacturer MODVAT wrongly availed. While the entitlement to availment of MODVAT arose to the manufacturer with effect from 10.03.1987, it availed MODVAT credit with respect to inputs purchased by it with effect from 01.03.1987. This ultimately gave rise to the dispute of Rs. 41,872.68/- which the manufacturer refused to reverse, despite notice by the revenue. According to the manufacturer, that demand had been made beyond of limitation (one year) under Section 11A of the Act.

22. Upon consideration of the provisions of Section 11A of the Act as also Rule 57-I of the Rules, both prior to the amendment and after the amendment made on 05.10.1988, the Supreme Court held - the provisions of Section 11A of the Act were not an omnibus provision and that the situation arising before it had to be dealt with according to the unamended Rule 57-I of the Rules because section 11A was the law to provide for recoveries of excise duty not-levied or not-paid or short-levied or short-paid while Rule 57-I was the law for availment of MODVAT credit, a completely separate or different contingency, not covered under section 11A of the Act. Insofar as the Rule 57-I did not provide for any period of limitation and did not borrow the rule of limitation from Section 11A of the Act, by way of first reason, the Supreme Court rejected the defence set up by the manufacturer and held the recovery sought by the revenue to be within time.

23. However, the above was not the only reason given the Supreme Court to reject the defence set up by the manufacturer. By way of an alternative but equally binding reasoning contained in paragraph no.14 of the report, it was held, even if the first reasoning were not to operate or be applicable, then, applying the rule - special law would prevail over a general law. It was held the MODVAT scheme was a special scheme while the rule of limitation contained in Section 11A was a general law. The scheme of MODVAT was found to be a special scheme with self-contained procedure, manner and method for its implementation, providing for its own remedies to undo any mischief committed by the manufacturer and any abuses thereof.

24. In such facts the provisions of the scheme (special law), alone were found to govern the situation. It was held - there was no scope to read the stipulations (of limitation) contained in the general provision of law (Section 11A of the Act), in the special law. Then, by way of third reasoning, it was further held, in any case, the MODVAT scheme underwent an amendment on 06.10.1988 whereby period of limitation of six months was introduced to Rule 57-I. That amendment being purely prospective in nature, it was held that it did not apply to past transactions.

25. The above decision of the Supreme Court was followed by the division bench of this Court in the case of Ram Swarup Electricals Ltd. (supra), though in that case, the question was different (from the one involved here), being whether short availed MODVAT credit would constitute refund claim and accordingly be subject to the rule of limitation contained in Section 11B of the Act. The division bench, after taking note of the reasoning of the Supreme Court in the case of the Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) in paragraph nos. 13, 14 and 15, held as below:

"7. In view of the principle laid down by the Apex Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) provisions of Section 11A of the Act is not attracted and cannot be imparted in respect of the Rules framed for availing of the Modvat, the same principle would apply for the purpose of Section 11B of the Act also. In view of the decision of the Apex Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) the law laid down by the Gujarat High Court in the case of Wipro Ltd. (supra) cannot be said to be a good law any more. We are, therefore, of the considered opinion that provisions of Section 11B of the Act is not attracted in the case of Modvat which is governed by Rules 57A to 57P. Further, during the relevant period no limitation had been provided for availing of the Modvat credit and the amendment in Rule 57G prescribing the limit of six months was introduced on 29th June, 1995 which has prospective effect. Thus, the respondents were within their right to avail the short fall in the Modvat credit at any time."

26. Thus, it was held that the claim of the MODVAT would remain governed by Rule 57A to Rule 57B of the old Rules and Section 11B of the Act would have no application.

27. The Bombay High Court in the case of Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra) was considering a case of rebate from payment of duty under the same notification which falls for consideration in the present case. Again, an objection had been taken by the revenue that the claim was time barred, it having been filed beyond one year from the relevant date, The decision of the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) and the single judge decision of the Madras High Court in Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra) were cited. Plainly, the division bench of the Bombay High Court negated the challenge raised on the reasoning that the claim for rebate was time barred. It held the reasoning in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) was not applicable to the claim for rebate from duty made in view of the fact that a claim for rebate from duty had been brought within the purview of Section 11B of the Act, under Explanation (A) thereto. It was held, since the application for rebate from excise duty had been specifically included within the ambit of refund, therefore, the ratio in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) was inapplicable.

28. Thereafter, the division bench of the Bombay High Court considered the ratio of Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra) of the Madras High Court and distinguished it for the reason noted above. However, it clearly appears (from plain reading of its decision), that the second and the third limb of reasoning in the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) had not been relied before the Bombay High Court. For that reason, it does not appear to have been considered or dealt with.

29. On the other hand, the decision of learned single judge of the Madras High Court in Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra) became a subject matter on intra-court appeal before that court wherein division bench decision of the Bombay High Court in Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra) was relied by the revenue. The decision in the case of Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra) was also a case of rebate from excise duty, claimed under the same notification as is under consideration in the present case. The division bench of the Madras High Court took note of Rule 12 of the old Rules governing rebate, which provisions are reflected and are pari materia to Rule 18 of the Rules under consideration in the present case. Also, the distinction between the rebate claimed and a refund claim with reference to the judgement, decree or order of the Court had also been taken note of and relied upon to bring out a distinction as to the start of period of limitation for the purpose of Section 11B of the Act.

30. Further, it had been noted, prior to introduction of notification dated 06.09.2004, under the pre-existing notification, there was a time period prescribed for making a claim. The same was done away by the notification under consideration. Therefore, an intendment of the delegate of the legislature had been inferred, to not prescribe any period of limitation to make a rebate claim. That period was however re-introduced by the subsequent amendment vide notification dated 01.03.2016. The decision of the Bombay High Court was thus distinguished. Similar view has been taken by the Punjab & Haryana High Court in the case of JSL Lifestyle Ltd. Vs. UOI (supra) where again the revenue sought to rely upon the decision of the Bombay High Court in Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra). Again, the Punjab & Haryana High Court considered the ratio laid down by the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra). Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra) was distinguished on count of the second and third limb of the reasoning contained in paragraph nos. 14 and 15 of the decision of the Supreme Court having not been considered by the Bombay High Court. It may be a fact that the special leave petitions filed against the decision of the Madras and the Bombay High Courts may have been dismissed. However, it may not be decisive of the issue as it is not the case of either party that either of those special leave petitions were decided by any detailed order.

31. First, there can be no doubt that the reasoning of the Supreme Court in the case of Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) does not apply with all force, inasmuch as the first reasoning contained in that case arose on account of a complete difference between a claim for recovery of duty not-levied or not-paid or short-levied or short-paid and recovery of MODVAT wrongly availed. There was no provision under Section 11A of the Act whereby recovery for MODVAT wrongly availed could be considered the same or treated at parity with duty not-levied or not-paid or short-levied or short-paid. To that extent, the decision of the Supreme Court is wholly distinguishable, in view of the clear intendment of the statute where under by virtue of Explanation (A) to section 11B of the Act, a claim for rebate of duty has been specifically included in a claim for refund of duty.

32. However, it still falls for consideration whether in view of the further reasoning of the Supreme Court there exists any special law governing the claims for rebate from excise duty and whether the amendment made introduces the rule of limitation, only prospectively. Looking into the clear language of the notification, it appears that in the first place, the delegate of the legislature i.e. Central Government, in exercise of the powers under Rule 18 of the Rules read with Section 37 of the Act provided that the claim for rebate from excise duty shall be subject to the conditions, limitations and procedures specified in the notification itself.

33. The notification, read in its entirety, does not, in any way or manner suggest that it adopts the rule of limitation contained in Section 11B of the Act or that the conditions and limitations imposed under the notifications are in addition to those contained under the general provisions of the Act. It is also not the case of the revenue that other than the Section 11B of the Act, there existed any other provision of law as may have expressed an intendment of the legislature to restrict the claims for rebate from duty, in any other manner. In fact, under the scheme of the Act, the rebate provisions are not provided for by any Act of principal legislation but only through delegate legislation.

34. Even otherwise, the scheme for rebate under Rule 18 of the Rules read with Notification No. 19 of 2004 dated 06.09.2004 is a special law granting rebate from excise duty to exporters. It is not a scheme for general rebate (under section Explanation A to 11B of the Act). The rebate is not a general rebate from excise duty (that may be otherwise available under the Act). The scheme to grant rebate from excise duty on goods exported by the petitioner was a special beneficial scheme provided under Section 37 of the Act read with Rule 18 of the Rules and notification No. 19 of 2004 dated 06.09.2004, to provide incentive to manufacturers to export their manufactured goods. It was a self contained scheme. The conditions, limitations and procedures for grant of such rebate were (under the scheme of the Act) governed especially by the procedures and conditions stipulated under the notification dated 06.09.2004. The Central Government while issuing that notification, acted on its wisdom and provided for only such conditions and limitations as were considered fit and necessary for the purpose of granting the rebate.

35. None of the conditions and limitations provided under the aforesaid notification were such as may be read to contain a stipulation of limitation of one year from the relevant time or from the date of shipment etc. for the purpose of making a claim for rebate. There is no room to add to those conditions and limitations by reading the general provisions of section 11B of the Act into it.

36. Looked from that perspective, it does appear, all the conditions and limitations the legislature wanted to introduce for grant of special rebate from excise duty (in the case of export of excisable goods), were stipulated in the notification itself. It was self contained. Even for the purposes of the presentation of a claim for rebate, the manner and mode had been prescribed under clauses 3(b) and 3(c) of the notification alone. Again there was no suggestion to limit those claims by the general prescription of time contained in section 11B of the Act.

37. Further, in that background, the amendment notification is relevant. Thereby under Clause 3(b), sub-paragraph (I), the words "before the expiry of the period specified in Section 11B of Central Excise Act, 1944 (1 of 1944)" have been introduced for the first time. Clearly, that amendment has been made prospectively from 01.03.2016 and there is no intendment either explicit or implied to make it retrospective. As discussed by the Madras High Court in Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd (supra), with which I find myself in agreement, the pre-existing law and the post amendment law would clearly bring out that the amendment to the notification in question was wholly amendatory and not clarificatory.

38. The division bench decision of this Court in the case of Ram Swarup Electricals Ltd. (supra) had adopted the reasoning of the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) in entirety and no distinction has been made thereto. To that extent the view of the Bombay High Court is found not consistent with that of the division bench of this Court. For that reason also, it looses its persuasive value.

39. It is also relevant to note that the Supreme Court had itself clarified that the rule of special law prevailing over the general law may not be ignored even if that special law be contained in the Rule i.e. a delegated legislation while the general law may be found contained in a principal legislation. To that extent, it is relevant to extract the observation made by the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra):

"The question as to the relative nature of the provisions general or special has to be determined, with reference to the area and extent of their application either generally in all circumstances or specially in particular situations and not on the ground that one is a mere provision in the Act and the other is a provision in the Rule. We are not also concerned in this case with any challenge to the inconsistency of a rule with any statutory provision in the Act."

40. Thus, in view of the reasoning offered by the Supreme Court in Raghuvar (India) Ltd. (supra) that special law even though contained in the Rule may govern the special situation covered by it and be not governed by the general rule of limitation contained in the principal legislation and in view of the further reasoning contained in paragraph no. 15 of that report that the subsequent introduction of rule of limitation (by amendment) would not be clarificatory but amendatory, the present writ petition deserves to be allowed. The decision of the Bombay High Court in Everest Flavours Ltd. (supra) is found to be distinguished in view of the reasoning given above. Thus, I find myself bound by the view taken by the division bench of this Court in Ram Swarup Electricals Ltd. (supra) and in agreement with the view taken by the Madras High Court in Dorcas Market Makers Pvt. Ltd. (supra) as well as the Punjab & Haryana High Court in JSL Lifestyle Ltd.(supra).

41. Accordingly, the present writ petition is allowed. The matter is remitted to the original authority to pass necessary order within a period of three months from today.

THE HON'BLE SAUMITRA DAYAL SINGH, J.

COMMERCIAL TAX REVISION No..255 of 2018

M/S Rohtash Sweets and Fast Foods, Meerut ...Petitioner
Versus
Commissioner Commercial Tax, U.P. Lucknow ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Suyash Agarwal, Sri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C..

A. Section 27 U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008 read with Rules 45(13)(a) and (b) - Legal fiction – cannot be extended or applied beyond the purpose for which it is created. Deemed assessment in case the original return is accepted in entirety or a self-assessment, if a revised return is accepted, arises only to provide for payment of tax demand. No assessment order comes into existence.

B. Power to make regular assessment u/s 28 is exercisable independent of Secttion 27. Rule 45(13)(c) does not and cannot override or restrict the plain applicability of the provisions of Section 28(1)(a). Subordinate legislation i.e. the Rules cannot be read so as to override the statute itself. Rule 45(13)(c) does not and cannot override or restrict the plain applicability of the provisions of S.28(1)(a) and (b) i.e. the principal legislation. (Para 25)

Assessment u/s 28 has been confirmed in first appeal as well as by Tribunal. According to assessee an assessment on deemed basis had arisen on 31.03.2017, in absence of any prior notice so as to allow him 15 days' time to submit his revised return in terms of Rule 45(13)(a), therefore, assessing authority had no jurisdiction for assessment u/s 28. Dismissing the present revision, the High Court

C. The limitation of two years provided u/s 29(3) is referable only to an order of assessment made after examination of records u/s 28 or an order of assessment on turnover that may have escaped assessment u/s 29. The period of limitation therefore remained unaffected by proceedings u/s 27. (Para 22)

D. Notice u/s 27 issued within 15 days before legal fiction of deemed assessment arose. Notice was invalid. S.27 would remain "subject to" the provisions of Section 28. Regular assessment to follow (Para 30, 34, 35, 37)

Precedent followed: -

6. Singh Enterprises Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise, Jamshedpur& Others, (2008) 3 SCC 70 (Para 9)

Revision against order dated 14.08. 2018 by CCT, Meerut for AY 2014-2015 (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh J.)

1. The present revision has been filed by the assessee against the order dated 14.08.2018 passed by the Commercial Tax Tribunal, Meerut in Second Appeal No.141 of 2018 for A.Y. 2014-15 arising from an assessment made under Section 28(2)(ii) of the U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). By that order, the Tribunal rejected the second appeal filed by the assessee and affirmed the first appellate order and the assessment order whereby the assessee was subjected to assessment to tax on a total turnover of Rs. 2,25,00,000/-. A total demand of tax Rs. 21,56,000/- was created of which Rs.19,42,326/- is the demand of disputed tax.

2. During the assessment year in question, the assessee - a registered dealer was engaged in the business of manufacture and sale of sweetmeats and bakery items. It filed its periodic returns for the relevant tax periods. Also, it filed its annual return on 28.12.2015, in the prescribed manner. In that regard, it has been clarified, though the last date for filing the annual return prescribed under Rule 45(7) of the U.P. Value Added Tax Rules, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as the Rules) was 30.10.2015, the same had been extended up to 31.12.2015. On 19.03.2017, a notice was issued to the assessee under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules. It alleged that the annual return filed by the assessee was incomplete. Other defects had also been noted in that notice. The assessee was directed to file its revised return within a period of 15 days, as contemplated under that Rule.

3. The assessee did not file reply to the said notice. In fact, since the notice dated 19 March, 2017 had been first served on the assessee on 20 March, 2017, it was claimed to be an invalid exercise of power since the period contemplated under Section 27(2)(b) of the Act expired on 31 March 2017, before the end of 15 days mandatory time period (that was also granted by the assessing authority to the assessee to file its revised return). In other words, before expiry of 15 days time under the notice dated 19.03.2017, an order of deemed assessment was claimed to have into existence, on 31 March, 2017. Later, on 27.02.2018 another notice was issued by the assessing authority of the assessee under Section 28 of the Act, stating that the return filed by the assessee for the A.Y. 2014-15 was incomplete and that the assessee had not filed its revised return despite service of notice under Rule 45(13) of the Rules. Accordingly, the assessee was required to participate in those assessment proceedings. The assessee filed a specific objection as to the jurisdiction of the Assessing Authority to proceed under Section 28 of the Act. The assessee also appears to have furnished reply on merits. Further notices were also issued to him, thereafter. However, it is a fact that the assessee did not fully participate in the assessment proceedings. Finally, an ex parte assessment order was passed against him on 31 March, 2018. In the first appeal filed by the assessee therefrom, the assessee appears to have only raised the issue of lack of jurisdiction with the Assessing Authority to pass an assessment under Section 28 of the Act. That objection was rejected. In the further appeal to the Tribunal, again, the assessee appears to have raised solitary issue of lack of jurisdiction of the Assessing Authority. It was again rejected by the Tribunal, by the impugned order.

4. According to the Tribunal, the assessee's assessment proceedings had been taken up under the self assessment procedure prior to 31 March 2017, inasmuch as, undisputedly, the Assessing Authority had issued the notice under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules on 19 March, 2017. Then, the fact that the Assessing Authority did not allow for 15 days time to the assessee to file a revised return before the date 31.03.2017 was merely a technical defect, in view of the fact that despite sufficient time of 11 days granted or being available to the assessee, it did not make use of the same and did not file its revised return, before 31 March, 2017. Revised return being not filed, the deemed/self assessment proceedings under section 27 of the Act came to an end and the regular assessment proceedings were validly initiated. Thus, according to the Tribunal, there was no defect in the assessment order.

5. The present revision was entertained on the following questions of law. It is being decided at the stage of admission itself with consent of parties.

"(i) Whether an assessment on deemed basis had arisen on 31.03.2017 by virtue of Section 27(2)(b) of the U.P. VAT Act, 2008 in absence of any prior notice having been issued to the assessee so as to allow him 15 days' time to submit his revised return in terms of Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules framed under the aforesaid Act though the Assessing Officer had issued such notice to the assessee on 19.03.2017 served on 20.03.2017 ?

(ii) Whether in the alternative the Tribunal was right in not deciding the appeal of the applicant on merits ?"

6. Heard Sri Rakesh Ranjan Agarwal, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Suyash Agarwal, learned counsel for the applicant-assessee and Sri B.K. Pandey, learned Standing Counsel for the revenue.

7. Learned Senior Counsel would submit, the time limit provided under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules is mandatory and the same could not be cut short in absence of any enabling provision either under the Act or the Rules. Relying on the provisions of Section 27(1) read with Section 27(2)(b) of the Act, he submits, an order of deemed assessment would come into existence upon lapse of one year from the end of the assessment year in which the last date of filing of return for the relevant assessment year fell, unless that process had been lawfully interjected by the Assessing Authority.

8. Therefore, first, the notice requiring the assessee to file a revised return should have been issued and served on the assessee on such date, and in such manner, as may necessarily have allowed the assessee 15 days time to file its revised return or reply or object before the last date mentioned under Section 27(2)(b) of the Act arrived. That notice should have therefore been served not later than 16 March, 2017. Since, the notice was issued on 19 March, 2017 and it was served on 20th March, 2017, the Assessing Authority did not allow the assessee mandatory minimum 15 days time to file its revised return. The notice was invalid. Consequently, a deemed order of assessment came into existence on 13 March, 2017. Also, for that reason, the Assessing Officer could not have assessed the assessee under Section 28 of the Act.

9. As to the prescription of time under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, it has been submitted the legislature has not provided or permitted for curtailment or alteration of that period. A fixed period of limitation to do an Act having been prescribed, it was not for the Assessing Officer to curtail the same or to change the same. Reliance has been placed on the Division Bench decision of this Court in M/s. Sheo Prasad Vinod Kumar, Jhansi Vs Union of Inda & Others, 2001 U.P.T.C.-329; decision of the Supreme Court in Commissioner of Customs And Central Excise Vs. Hongo India (P) Ltd. And Another, (2009) 315 ITR 449 (SC); a full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Commissioner of Income-tax, Kanpur Vs. Mohd. Farooq, (2009) 317 ITR 305 and; another decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Singh Enterprises Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise, Jamshedpur & Others, 2008 (3) SCC 70.

10. By way of a further submission, learned Senior Counsel, would state, though in view of the opening words of Section 27 of the Act, the scheme of deemed assessment under Section 27 of the Act is "subject to" provisions of Section 28 of the Act, yet, that consequence in law may arise only when the mandatory time limit of 15 days contained in Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules is strictly adhered to. Otherwise, that Rule would become redundant. Thus the Assessing Authority is bound to act in conformity with the provisions of Section 27 of the Act read with Rule 45 of the Rules before he may render the deemed assessment procedure (under section 27) subject to or subservient to the regular assessment procedure (under section 28).

11. In other words, the Assessing Authority cannot circumvent the procedure by first issuing a notice contrary to the statutory provisions, and thus, prejudice the assessee by not allowing him sufficient time to revise his return, and thereafter, take benefit of such notice by drawing up regular assessment proceedings. Further emphasis has been laid on the use of the words "stipulated time" under Rule 45(13)(c) of the Rules. Since Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules contemplates only a single period of time being 15 days, the "stipulated time" referred to in sub-Rule(c) cannot be any different from that period. In any case, it cannot be lesser than 15 days.

12. Opposing the revision, the learned Standing Counsel would submit, under Section 27 of the Act, no order is required to or may be passed by the Assessing Officer. That provision only creates a legal fiction as to the effect of filing of tax return, on the liability of tax and entitlement to Input Tax Credit (I.T.C.) which may otherwise arise upon passing of a regular assessment order. He has placed reliance on a recent decision of this court in Sales/Trade Tax Revision No. 232 of 2019 (The Commissioner, Commercial Tax U.P. Vs. S/S Purwar Trading Co.) decided on 24.07.2019. Thus, it has been submitted, Section 28 of the Act is an independent provision and in its operation, the jurisdiction of the Assessing Officer is not governed or conditioned or restricted by the proceedings that may have been drawn up, concluded or dropped under Section 27 of the Act.

13. Referring to Section 29(3) of the Act, it has been submitted, the period of limitation prescribed for the Assessing Authority to pass an assessment is three years from the end of the relevant assessment year. However, for the legal fiction of deemed assessment to come into play, a shorter period of two years is prescribed. It is therefore his submission, irrespective of the fate of the proceedings under Section 27 of the Act i.e. whether those were valid or not, the Assessing Authority would retain to itself full jurisdiction to make an assessment under Section 28 of the Act.

14. In the above regard, he has also referred to Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules to submit, under that provision of law, the Assessing Officer has a very limited jurisdiction to examine the annual returns to see whether such return is incomplete or incorrect or contains wrong particulars or whether net tax had not been paid in accordance with law. Contrasting those provisions with Section 28 of the Act, it has been submitted, the power to make a regular assessment, is not limited or governed or controlled by Section 27 of the Act. In fact Rule 45(13)(c) only specifies a contingency when a regular assessment may follow. However, it is not a general pre-condition to make a regular assessment under Section 28 of the Act.

15. Sections 27 and 28 of the Act read as below:

"27. Self assessment-

(1) Subject to provisions of section 28, every dealer, who has submitted the return of last tax period as well as the prescribed Annexures of Consolidated Details in the prescribed form and manner, shall be deemed to have been assessed to an amount of tax admittedly payable on the turnover of purchase or sale or both, as the case may be, disclosed in such Annexures and to an amount of input tax credit shown admissible in such Annexures.

(2) For all purposes under this Act and rules made thereunder-

(a) Annexures of Consolidated Details submitted by a dealer, shall be deemed to be an assessment order and facts disclosed or figures mentioned in such Annexures shall be deemed part of such assessment order; and

(b) last date of the assessment year, succeeding the assessment year in which the date prescribed for submission of such Annexures of Consolidated Details falls, shall be deemed to be the date of such assessment order.

28. Assessment of tax after examination of Records-

(1) In following types of cases or dealers, the assessing authority, after detailed examination of books, accounts and documents kept by the dealer in relation to his business and other relevant records, if any, and after making such inquiry as it may deem fit, subject to provision of sub-section (9), shall pass an assessment order for an assessment year in the manner provided in this section:-

(a) in cases of such dealers as are specified or selected for tax audit by the Commissioner or any other officer, not below the rank of a Joint Commissioner, authorized by the Commissioner in this behalf; in such manner and within such time as may be prescribed. [See Rule 43]

(b) in case of a dealer falling in any of the categories below,

(i) dealer who has not submitted Annexures of Consolidated Details or revised Annexures of Consolidated Details of turnover and tax, within the time prescribed or extended; or such Annexures of Consolidated Details contain wrong or incorrect particulars or do not accompany declaration or certificate for exemption or reduction in the rate of tax, or

(ii) dealer by whom tax return for one or more tax periods of the assessment year have not been submitted; or

(iii) dealer in whose case assessing authority has passed provisional assessment order under section 25 in respect of one or more tax periods to the best of its judgment; or

(iv) dealer in whose case, on the basis of material available on records, if the assessing authority is satisfied that the turnover of sales or purchases or both, as the case may be, and amount of tax shown payable as disclosed by the dealer in Annexures of Consolidated Details are not worthy of credence or tax shown payable in these Annexures has not been deposited by the dealer, or the amount of input tax credit claimed is wrong or the amount of tax payable shown is incorrect; or

(v) dealer who has prevented or obstructed an officer empowered to make audit, survey, inspection, search or seizure under the provisions of this Act; or

[(vi) .....] omitted

Provided that where the aggregate turnover of any dealer, does not exceed rupees twenty five lakh or such larger amount as may be determined by the State Government from time to time, in any assessment year, the Commissioner shall determine the parameters and modalities to select the dealers for the annual assessment after examining the books of accounts or records of such dealers:

Provided further that notwithstanding anything contained in section 26, the dealer not selected under the first proviso shall be deemed to have been assessed, on the last date of assessment year succeeding the assessment year in which the date of filing of annexures of consolidated details of the assessment year falls.

(2) Where after examination of books, accounts, documents and other records referred to in sub-section (1), -

(i) the assessing authority is satisfied about correctness of turnover of sale or purchase or both, as the case may be, disclosed by the dealer, it may assess the amount of tax payable by the dealer on such turnover and determine the amount of input tax credit admissible to the dealer or amount of reverse input tax credit payable by the dealer; and

(ii) where assessing authority is of the opinion that turnover of sale or purchase or both, as the case may be, disclosed by the dealer is not worthy of credence, it may determine to the best of its judgment the turnover of sale or purchase or both, as the case may be, and assess the tax payable on such turnover and determine admissible amount of input tax credit and reverse input tax credit payable by the dealer.

(3) Before making an assessment under sub-section (2), dealer shall -

(i) be required to furnish Annexures of Consolidated Details if he has not already submitted such Annexures;

(ii) be given reasonable opportunity of being heard; and

(iii) be served with a notice to show cause, where determination of turnover, input tax credit or reverse input tax credit, or assessment of tax, all or any one of them, as the case may be, are to be made to the best of the judgment of the assessing authority.

(4) The show cause notice referred to in sub-section (3) shall contain all such reasons on which the assessing authority has formed its opinion about incorrectness of the turnover of sale or purchase or both, as the case may be, amount of tax, amount of input tax credit or amount of reverse input tax credit.

(5) Order of assessment shall be in writing and copy of assessment order along with prescribed notice of demand of the balance amount of tax, if any, to be deposited by the dealer, shall be served on the dealer.

(6) Dealer shall deposit amount of tax assessed in excess of amount of tax deposited by him for the assessment year, within a period of thirty days after the date of service of the assessment order and notice of demand.

(7) Where the amount of tax deposited by the dealer is found in excess of tax assessed, the same shall be refunded to the dealer according to the provisions of this Act.

(8) Assessing authority shall not be precluded from making assessment order under this section on the ground of passing of any provisional assessment order in respect of any tax period under section 25 and such provisional assessment order, if any, shall stand merged in the assessment order passed under this section.

(9) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any other provision of this Act, where an unregistered dealer brings any taxable goods from outside the State more than once during an assessment year, separate assessment relating to goods brought on each occasion may be made for the same assessment year.

(10) The provisions of this Act shall apply to each assessment order passed under sub-section (9) as they apply to an order passed under sub-section (2).

(11) Dealers under sub-section (9) shall not be required to furnish Annexures of Consolidated Details and in cases of such dealers assessment under sub-section (9) may be made even before the expiry of the assessment year.

(12) Provisions of sub-sections (5), (6) and (7) shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to every assessment order passed under any provisions of this Act."

16. Also, Rule 45(13) of the Rules reads as below:

*"45. Submission of returns.-

(1) .....

(13)(a) Where, on examination of the annual return, it is found that the return is incomplete or correct or contains wrong particulars or net tax has not been paid according to the provisions of the Act and in these rules or not accompanied by required Forms of declaration or certificate, the assessing authority shall serve to the dealer a notice to submit the revised return within 15 days from the date of service of notice.

(b) If the assessing authority is satisfied that revised annual return is complete and correct he shall accept the annual return for self assessment and shall inform the dealer accordingly.

(c) If dealer fails to submit the revised return within stipulated time, the assessing authority shall proceed for assessment in accordance with provision of section 28."

17. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, under Section 24 of the Act, a taxable dealer is obliged to submit its tax return for different tax periods, as also its annual return. Section 25 of the Act provides for assessment of tax for a tax period i.e. a provisional assessment. Tax period has been defined under Section 2(ak) of the Act, as a period for which a dealer is liable to submit tax return under Section 24 of the Act. Section 26 of the Act provides, every taxable dealer, for each assessment year shall be assessed to tax payable by him and to amount of Input Tax Credit (I.T.C.) admissible to him. Thus, it fixes the scope and purpose of an assessment to be made. It is in the above statutory context, provisions of Sections 27, 28 and 29 of the Act appear and they provide for self-assessment; assessment of tax after examination of record and; assessment of tax of turnover escaped from assessment year appear.

18. The scope of Section 27 of the Act has been dealt with by this court in the case of S/s Purwar Trading Co. (supra), where it has been held as below:

"12. Perusal of sub-section 1 of Section 27 of the Act, makes it clear that a deemed assessment arises by operation of law to the amount of tax admittedly payable on the disclosed turnover of sale or purchase or both, as the case may be, disclosed by the assessee. Thus, the Act does not contemplate any order to be passed by the assessing authority but it only contemplates the effect or consequence of a disclosure made by the assessee in manner prescribed. Thus, by deeming fiction the act of disclosure made by a n assessee has been placed on parity with an assessment order that may otherwise be passed. The purpose and effect of the deeming fiction is that notwithstanding any order passed by the assessing authority, the assessee who may have filed a return, would become bound to pay admitted tax and to avail Input Tax Credit (ITC) as he otherwise would be, had he been regularly assessed to tax.

13. That intent has been further made clear by Section 27(2)(b) of the Act. It provides for the date on which such deemed order of assessment may come into existence or deeming fiction may come to life. That date has been defined or prescribed by the Act as the last date of the assessment year following the assessment year during which the last date to file the return for the relevant assessment year expired.

14. Thus, Section 27 of the Act does not contemplate coming into existence of any order, in any manner, neither by conscious exercise of power nor upon application of mind by the assessing authority. In fact neither an order is required to nor can be passed by the assessing authority and no order ever comes into existence. Rather, it is a pure legal fiction created by the legislature. Only the imagination in law gives birth to two effects or consequences of an assessment order. The imagination is driven, solely by the self-act of the assessee of filing his return of turnover. That solitary act needs no contribution or any corresponding or consequential or other act to be performed by the assessing authority. It gestates for one year from the end of the assessment year in which the last date to file that return expired. Upon completion of that period of time the imagination in law springs forth.

15. Thus, by way of first effect or consequence, the assessee becomes bound to discharge the admitted tax liability. Second, he earns a right to claim ITC. Both effects or consequences arise due to passage of prescribed time, solely on account of the return filed by him. That being done, no other or further consequence can ever arise as the legislature did not contemplate or provide for a third effect or consequence of the event of filing return by an assessee. The settled rule of interpretation prohibits any extension beyond the clearly visible legislative field, noted above. Reliance may be placed on that expression of law made by Justice S.R. Das (as his lordship then was), in his dissenting opinion in the Constitution bench decision of the Supreme Court in State of Travancore-Cochin & Ors Vs. Shanmugha Vilas Cashewnut Factory, Quilon; AIR 1953 SC 333 (para 38), which principle was reiterated and applied by another Constitution bench of the Supreme Court in Bengal Immunity Co. Vs. State of Bihar; AIR 1953 SC 661 (para 31). Consequently, no assessment order can be assumed or imagined to exist in law, for any other purpose such as rectification of mistake etc.

16. Also, the powers of the assessing authority to pass any assessment order are contained in the later provisions being Sections 28 and 29 of the Act. A regular assessment order may be passed by the assessing officer under Section 28 of the Act. Also, in the event of any escapement of the turnover from assessment, the assessing authority has been given the power to make a re-assessment under Section 29 of the Act. While a regular assessment may be made in the normal period of limitation, that is prescribed as three years, under Section 29(3) of the Act, the re-assessment order may be passed even thereafter subject to the stipulations contained under Section 29 of the Act".

19. Section 28 of the Act provides for a full-fledged or regular assessment to be made. However, it departs from its predecessor enactment i.e. U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948. The Act contemplates a regular assessment upon examination of records be made only in certain cases specified in sub-section (1) of Section 28 of the Act. Thus, though section 26 of the Act requires an assessment to be made in each case, as to tax payable and I.T.C. entitlement available, besides the legal fiction under section 27 of the Act the same may also arise as a consequence of an assessment after examination of records or upon reassessment order made under section 29 of the Act i.e. as a result of conscious application of mind by the assessing authority to the books of account, return of annual turnover, prescribed statements and replies etc. that may collectively form the record of the assessment case.

20. First, under section 28(1)(a) of the Act an assessment may be made after examination of records in case(s) of such dealers, who may be specified or selected for tax audit. Second, under section 28(1)(b) of the Act, any other dealer who may not have been subjected to tax audit may yet be subjected to assessment upon examination of record, if he falls in any one of the five categories mentioned in sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 28 of the Act. Those are cases where: the dealer may not have submitted his annexures of consolidated details or revised annexures of consolidated details of turnover and tax within the time prescribed or extended time or; if such annexures of consolidated details contain wrong or incorrect particulars or do not accompany the declaration or certificate for exemption or reduction in the rate of tax or; if a dealer has not submitted one or more returns for any tax period during the assessment year or; a provisional assessment order may have been passed in his case under Section 25 of the Act, for any tax period on best judgement basis or; the assessing officer is satisfied that the turnover of sale or purchase or both, as disclosed is not worthy of credence or admitted tax has not been deposited or Input Tax Credit (I.T.C.) has been wrongly claimed or tax payable has been incorrectly shown or; the dealer had prevented or obstructed the conduct of audit, survey, inspection, search or seizure under the Act, he may be subjected to assessment upon examination of record.

21. On the other hand, the assessment of tax of turnover escaped from assessment may arise under Section 29 of the Act, if the assessing officer has reason to believe that the whole or any part of the turnover of the dealer has escaped the assessment. Those again are provisions, with which presently we are not concerned. At the same time, Section 29(3) of the Act clearly prescribes the normal period of limitation for making an assessment or reassessment as three years from the end of the assessment year in question.

22. Thus, in view of the first conclusion drawn, there never came into existence any order of deemed assessment. That legal fiction came into existence upon passage of two years time from the end of the relevant assessment year. Therefore, the limitation to pass an assessment order contained in Section 29(3) of the Act is referable only to an order of assessment of tax made after examination of records, under Section 28 of the Act or an order of assessment of tax on turnover that may have escaped assessment, under Section 29 of the Act.

That period of limitation therefore remained unaffected by proceedings under Section 27 of the Act.

23. At the same time, in the event, an assessing officer, upon examination of the annual return finds that the return is incomplete or incorrect or contains wrong particulars or net tax, has not been paid according to the provision of the Act or the Rule, or if it is not accompanied by required forms of declaration or certificate, he may, even in exercise of powers vested under section 27 of the Act, serve such dealer a notice to submit his revised return within 15 days from the date of service of such notice in terms of the clear legislative stipulation contained in Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules. Also, that time period is mandatory minimum and there is no legislative intent either express or implied as may allow the assessing officer to curtail that time period. Yet, it may not affect the assessee's act (in a given case) to waive that requirement. To that extent, the submission advanced by learned Senior Counsel relyiing on the principle propounded in Hongo India (P) Ltd. (supra) and the full Bench decision of this Court in Mohd. Farooq (supra) has to be accepted.

24. Consequently, in a case where the assessee files its revised return in response to a notice issued under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, and the assessing officer feels satisfied, as to its completeness and correctness, he may accept the same in exercise of power conferred under Rule 45(13)(b) of the Rules. In that case, the annual return would constitute the self-assessment, of which intimation would be given to the assessee. Thus, Section 27 of the Act read with Rule 45(13)(a) and (b) of the Rules provide for a deemed assessment in case the original return is accepted in entirety or a self-assessment if the revised return is accepted. In either case, no order of assessment would come into existence. In both cases, a legal fiction (with twin consequences discussed above) arises.

25. In fact, only in the event, the assessing officer is not satisfied with the revised return as well, that Rule 45(13)(c) of the Rules states, the Assessing Officer shall proceed to make assessment of tax after examination of record under Section 28 of the Act. It does not and cannot override or restrict the plain applicability of the provisions contained in Section 28(1)(a) and (b) of the Act i.e. the principal legislation. In the first place, it is settled principle that the principal legislation would prevail over the delegated legislation. In Babaji Kondaji Garad v. Nasik Merchants Coop. Bank Ltd., (1984) 2 SCC 50, (paragraph 15 of the report) it was observed - ".....Now if there is any conflict between a statute and the subordinate legislation, it does not require elaborate reasoning to firmly state that the statute prevails over subordinate legislation and the bye-law if not in conformity with the statute in order to give effect to the statutory provision the rule or bye-law has to be ignored. The statutory provision has precedence and must be complied with". Thus, as a principle, the subordinate legislation i.e. the Rules cannot be read so as to override the statute itself.

26. More so, in the present case, in view of the clear stipulations contained in Section 28(1)(b)(i) & (iv) of the Act, the assessing officer would remain fully competent and enabled to make an assessment of tax after examination of records, amongst others if either the dealer had not submitted the annexures of consolidated details or; revised annexures of consolidated details (of turnover and tax within time prescribed or extended) or; if such annexures of consolidated details contain wrong or incorrect particulars or; they do not accompany the declaration or; certificate for exemption or reduction in the rate of tax or; if the assessing officer is satisfied with the turnover of sale or purchase or both as the case may be and the amount of tax shown payable as disclosed by the dealer in the annexures of consolidated details are not worthy of credence etc. Thus, in part, these conditions overlap with the provisions of Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, inasmuch as, that Rule also allows the assessing officer to examine whether the return is incomplete or incorrect or contains wrong particulars or net tax has not been paid or the return is not accompanied by required forms of declaration or certificate.

27. In that regard, it is equally well settled in law, in case of conflict being claimed between a principal statute and delegated legislation, effort should first be made to harmonize the two and the principal statute may be made to prevail over the delegated legislation only if conflict is irreconcilable. In Kailash v. Nanhku, (2005) 4 SCC 480, in the context of a conflict claimed between the provisions of Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 on one hand and the Allahabad High Rules framed under Article 225 of the Constitution of India read with the rules of procedure framed under the Civil Procedure Code, on the other, it was held in para 12 of that report - "..... Suffice it to observe that in case of conflict, the provisions of the Act and the provisions of the High Court Rules shall, as far as may be, be harmoniously construed avoiding the conflict, if any, and if the conflict be irreconcilable the provisions contained in the Act being primary legislation shall prevail over the provisions contained in the High Court Rules framed in exercise of delegated power to legislate. No such conflict is noticeable, so far as the present case is concerned.

28. As a result, though the provisions of Section 28(1)(b)(i) and (iv) of the Act and Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, do over lap and in either case regular assessment after examination of records may be passed and further in either case that resort may be had upon a detection being made by the assessing officer that the return filed is incomplete or incorrect or contains wrong particulars, the immediate consequence arising upon such detection would be different, depending upon the time when such defect is noticed and/or acted upon by the assessing authority.

29. If that defect or deficiency is noted by the assessing officer within the period prescribed under Section 27(2)(a) of the Act i.e. before commencement of last 15 days before the legal fiction (of deemed assessment) arises, the assessing officer shall first require the assessee to file a revised return to make necessary rectification. For that purpose, the asssessing authority must provide minimum 15 days time to the assessee to revise his return. In case, he files a revised return to the satisfaction of the assessing officer, the legal fiction of deemed assessment would arise. However, if despite time so granted, the assesee fails to file his revised return, he shall necessarily be visited with a regular assessment in terms of section 28 of the Act.

30. By virtue of section 28 of the Act, to which section 27 proceedings are "subject to", it does not mean - unless a valid notice under Rule 45 of the Rules is first issued and unless the assessee fails to file a revised return in response thereto, the assessing officer would be restrained or debarred from initiating proceedings under Section 28 of the Act. It only implies, by way of first consequence, that the legal fiction of deemed assessment may not arise in every case, by way of a necessary and automatic consequence of an annual return being filed. Even before end of two years from the end of the relevant assessment year the assessing authority would have a limited right to look into the final return to satisfy itself as to correctness and completeness of that return and to see whether net tax has been paid according to the provisions of the Act and the Rules and whether such return is accompanied by required Forms of declaration or certificate.

31. Second, if within the prescribed period of two years from the end of the relevant assessment year, the concerned assessing authority notices a simple defect in any annual return (as specified above), received by it, the same would not lead to an automatic assessment after examination of records (under section 28 of the Act). The assessing authority would first issue a notice to the assessee and grant him 15 days time to rectify the same. The assessee may act on such notice and rectify the mistake pointed out. Then, a legal fiction or effect of self assessment would arise in favour of the assessee.

32. However, even in that situation there would not arise any assessment order. The entire exercise would remain in the realm of the Section 27 of the Act i.e. of deemed assessment. Thus, a limited intervention has been allowed to be made by the assessing officer, to protect the interest of the revenue to compel the assessee to pay correct taxes, without being subjected to full fledged assessment after examination of records.

33. If, an assessee fails to file a revised return in response to a valid notice issued under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, then, by way of a mandatory consequence of its own conduct, such an assessee would invite assessment after examination of records under section 28 of the Act. That position is unambiguously clear from the language of Rule 45(13)(c) of the Rules. Thus no deemed assessment may arise in that case.

34. Also, there may arise cases, where no notice may have been issued by the assessing authority to the assessee to file a revised return or such notice, if issued was invalid, as in this case. Such eventualities would give rise to the legal fiction of deemed assessment at the end of the time period contemplated under section 27(2)(b) of the Act. However, it would remain "subject to" section 28 of the Act for reason of plain statutory intent expressed by use of words "subject to" used in opening part of section 27 as also for reason of larger period of limitation of three years provided under section 29(3) of the Act, for making an assessment under section 28 of the Act.

35. Therefore, the fate of such deemed assessment, if any, would be governed by proceedings undertaken under section 28 of the Act. In that case, the legal fiction of deemed assessment, would not operate as an embargo or restraint on the power of the assessing authority to proceed to assess the assessee after examination of records. That power is found to exist, and may be exercised independent of section 27 of the Act. Hence, the fact that the assessing officer had not issued any earlier notice or had issued an invalid notice under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, would be of no consequence. That notice and that time stipulation would remain relevant only for the purpose of a deemed/self-assessment. Initiation of those proceedings would not be mandatory pre-condition to be satisfied to initiate assessment upon examination of records.

36. The stipulation contained in Rule 45(13)(c) of the Rules, is only an exception when a deemed assessment order may not arise i.e. in case an assessee fails to respond to a valid notice issued under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules, he would necessarily be visited with a regular assessment proceeding. However, that interpretation does not obstruct the exercise of powers that are found to be otherwise existing with the assessing officer under Section 28 of the Act.

37. Since the self/deemed assessment under section 27 of the Act is a legal fiction, it comes into existence and survives only for the limited purposes for which it is created i.e. for raising a demand of admitted tax and claim of ITC. Even on its own, it always remains subject to an assessment made upon examination of records, under section 28 of the Act. That is the clear intent and effect of the opening words - "Subject to provisions of section 28", used in section 27 of the Act. Thus, even otherwise that legal fiction remains subservient to and gets subsumed in the proceedings for regular assessment whenever those proceedings get initiated on the basis of examination of records. Hence, the legal fiction, never added a fetter to the otherwise existing powers of an assessing authority to pass an assessment order upon examination of records.

38. Thus, in absence of Rule 45(13)(c) of the Rules being complied, the validity of assessment proceedings initiated under section 28 of the Act must be tested on its own strength i.e. the test of section 28(1)(a) and (b) (i) to (v) of the Act. Seen in that light, the initial notice issued by the assessing officer dated 19.03.2017 is found to be invalid, inasmuch as, the same had been issued without allowing the assessee the mandatory minimum 15 days time period to file its revised return. That time limit was for the benefit of the assessee. Had it filed the revised return within the reduced time, the same would have been a valid revised return and the ground of invalidity in the notice would have stood waived. However, that was not done.

39. Perusal of the notice dated 27.02.2018 reveals it was a fresh notice issued under section 28 of the Act. At that stage, the assessing officer was not satisfied as to the completeness of the disclosure made by the assessee and in that regard, he had observed that the assessee had not complied with the notice issued under Rule 45(13) of the Rules. Even if that recital is considered to be relevant in view of the notice dated 19.03.2017 being found to be invalid, yet, it would not dilute the observation of the assessing officer or his satisfaction with the assessee's return being incomplete. That observation and that satisfaction reflect independent existence of the conditions mentioned under Section 28(1)(b)(i) and (iv) of the Act. Therefore, the assessment proceedings under Section 28 of the Act were validly initiated.

40. The further submission advanced by learned Senior Counsel, since "stipulated time" mentioned in clause (c) of sub-rule (13) of Rule 45 of the Rules was not available of 19.3.2017 therefore no notice could have been issued under Rule 45(13)(a) of the Rules and consequently the deemed assessment arising under section 27 of the Act could never be made "subject to" section 28 of the Act, is found to be untenable in view of the reasoning given above. Once the power to make an assessment upon examination of the records is found to be exercisable independent of section 27 of the Act, the argument advanced by learned senior counsel does not survive.

41. Thus, in the first place, there never arose an order under Section 27 of the Act. Only a legal fiction of deemed assessment arose on 31.3.2017, for the limited purpose of creating a demand of admitted tax and entitlement of Input Tax Credit (ITC). No third purpose or inference arose. Then provisions of Section 28 of the Act being independent of Section 27 of the Act, upon the satisfaction of the assessing officer being found existing in terms of Section 28(1)(b) of the Act, that power could be exercised irrespective of the fact whether any proceedings had been conducted under Section 27 of the Act and irrespective of the fate of those proceedings. The initiation of proceedings under section 28 of the Act, vide notice dated 27.2.2018 did not suffer from any infirmity.

42. In view of the above, question of law no. 1 is answered thus: though a deemed assessment for A.Y. 2014-15 had come into existence on 31.03.2017, yet, it did not preclude the assessing officer to make an assessment upon examination of record under Section 28 of the Act, which order is found to have been passed in accordance with law, upon a valid notice dated 27.02.2018.

43. Insofar as question of law no.2 is concerned, though it is a tough case inasmuch as the assessment order was passed ex parte and none of the appeal authorities have considered the merits of assessment order, yet, this Court in exercise of its revision jurisdiction is constrained to answer the question in the affirmative i.e. against the assessee and in favour of the revenue in view of the fact that the assessee never raised such challenge on merits, before the appellate authorities.

44. Accordingly, the present revision is dismissed. No order as to costs.

THE HON'BLE SURESH KUMAR GUPTA, J.

CRIMINAL APPEAL No. 2312 OF 1987

Nankoo and Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri P.N. Misra, Sri Raghvansh Misra, Sri Rahul Misra, Sri Saurabh Yadav

Counsel for the Respondent:
A.G.A.

A. Section 302, 147, 148 and 149 I.P.C.- Relevance of motive - Motive is not a sine qua non for commission of crime. Moreover, takes a back seat in a case of direct ocular account. Failure to prove motive or absence of motive would not be fatal to the prosecution where other reliable evidence available on record unerringly establishes the guilt of accused. (Para 9)

B. Relevance of difference in age, cast etc in promiscuous relationship. There is age difference between the wife of appellant and the deceased. Promiscuity does not see any barriers of age, caste, relationship or religion. (Para 10)

C. Interested witness - It is well settled that a related witness may not be labelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit from the result of litigation or implicating the accused. They are natural witnesses and their testimony cannot be rejected only on the ground that they are related to deceased.(Para 11)

D. Evidence. The weapon of assault and empty cartridges - not recovered. Serological report not obtained by the prosecution. No doubt there are lapses in the investigation but it cannot be a ground to reject the entire prosecution case.(Para 19)

2.Solanki Chimanbhai Ukabhai v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1983 SC 484, (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suresh Kumar Gupta, J.)

This criminal appeal is preferred against the judgment and order dated 03.09.1987, passed by the VI Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly in S.T. No. 559 of 1985 (State Vs. Nankoo & Others), convicting the appellants Nankoo, Mukhtar, Rajendra and Ram Niwas under Section 302 149 I.P.C, to life as also under Section 148 I.P.C. to two years rigorous imprisonment. Appellant, Ram Niwas, is further convicted/sentenced to one year R.I under Section 147 I.P.C. All the sentences to run concurrently.

1. The case of prosecution in brief is as under:-

A) P.W-1, the informant alleged that his son Suraj Pal (deceased) had developed illicit relationship with the wife of accused-appellant Nankoo who also used to stay together, relatives of Nankoo had taken a serious offence to this infidelity. On 20.8.1985 at around 6.30 P.M, Suraj Pal had gone to ease himself towards north of the village. Accused Nankoo and Mukhtar armed with kanta (sharp weapon) his cousin Ram Nivas with lathi, Jawahar and Rajendra with tamancha (country made pistol), Rajeshwar with bhala (spear) gheraoed Suraj Pal on the exhortation of Nankoo that Suraj Pal be not spared, Rajendra fired two shots at Suraj Pal/ deceased who fell down to be then assaulted with lathi and kanta blows. On cries for help P.W-1, nephew Raj Murari, Nathoo (P.W-2) and others reached the scene to witness the occurrence. PW-3 opined that death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injury which had occurred a day ago.

E. P.W-4, the I.O, recorded the statement of eye-witnesses and that of formal witnesses, carried out other investigational formalities. After completion of investigation charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-13) was submitted against abovementioned appellants including accused, Rajeshwar, case committed to Sessions, charges framed under aforementioned sections against the appellants. All the appellants denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

F. The prosecution examined PW-1, Ram Das and PW-2, Nathoo as eye witnesses, rest as formal witnesses.

G. The accused in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C, denied the prosecution version and stated that they have been falsely implicated due to enmity and completely denied their participation in the occurrence. No defence evidence was led.

2. The trial court vide judgment/order dated 03.09.1987 while convicting the appellants as above, acquitted accused Rajeshwar and as per record no appeal/revision against the acquittal. During pendency of the appeal, appellant no.3/ Mukhtar, died, appeal qua him stood abated on 09.07.2018.

3. We have heard Shri Saurabh Yadav for appellant no.1, Sri Rahul Mishra assisted by Sri Raghuvansh Mishra for appellant nos. 2 and 4 and Shri V.S.Rajbhar, the learned A.G.A, for the State and perused the record.

4. Learned counsel for the appellants raised following contentions:-

i. F.I.R. is delayed and lodged with due deliberation and after consultation.

ii. Motive is absent.

iii. Manipulation and interpolation in written report (Ex. Ka-1) and Ex. Ka-6 (R.I. Letter). In Ex. (Ka-1), one date mentioned is 20.08.1983 and second is 21.08.1983 while in R.I, letter (Ex. Ka-6) overwriting is apparent in the time of occurrence.

iv. Written report (Ex. Ka-1) as per statement of PW-1 was procured from the place of occurrence meaning thereby after preparation of Ex. (Ka-1) this written report was kept by PW-1 in his pocket, yet it did not have any folds.

v. PW-1 & PW-2 are interested witnesses.

vi. PW-1 father of deceased is an interested witness and PW-2 an alleged eye-witness was an accomplice with the deceased in several criminal cases.

vii. Presence of PW-1 and 2 at the spot is highly doubtful as in site plan (Ex. Ka-12), fields of PW-1 and 2 are not shown by the Investigating Officer as well as their fields are also not in the near vicinity.

viii. Prosecution failed to fix the place of occurrence i.e, fields of Naushey which was not located enroute to the fields of PW-1 & 2.

ix. The manner of assault as described by PW-1/2, is contradictory to the medical evidence. These witnesses failed to explain the injuries on the front portion of the deceased.

x. Eye-witnesses demonstrated unnatural conduct as despite being closely related to the deceased, no effort was made by them to check whether the deceased was alive or not.

xi. Statement of PW-2 was recorded by P.W-4/ the I.O, after three days of the occurrence which dents the prosecution case.

5. The learned A.G.A. opposed the contentions by submitting that presence of PW-1 & PW-2 is natural, there are no material contradictions or omissions in the entire testimony. He further submitted that witnesses cannot be disbelieved only on the basis that they are related/interested, PW-1 and 2 are wholly reliable. He further submitted that there was motive on the part of accused persons to commit the murder of Suraj Pal, as the deceased was involved with the wife of the accused Nankoo while other accused are his close relatives.

6. The occurrence took place on 20.8.1985 at about 6.30 P.M, whereas the FIR came to be registered on 21.8.1985 at 3.10 AM. The distance between the scene and the P.S, concerned is 20 Kms. P.W-1 was stating that after the occurrence he was in a state of shock and trauma on account of the death of his son. After regaining composure he got a report scribed at the scene itself by one Kunwar Pal. He along with Kunwar Pal left for the police station in a tractor at around 11-12 midnight. We on above evidence are of the view that the prosecution has satisfactorily explained the alleged delay of about 9 hours.

7. The occurrence took place in open agricultural fields, at the fields of one Naushey whose dimensions according to P.W-1 one of the two eye-witnesses was 40-50 x 39-40 steps. P.W-1 claims to have witnessed the occurrence, while on way to his fields towards the west of his house to guard his fields from stray animals as it had standing crops of bajra (1-1.5 feet). P.W-1 believed that the deceased (son) had gone to ease himself towards a pond half a Km. away. The defence argued that once it has come in evidence that there was a pond behind the house of P.W-1, it is highly improbable that the deceased would traverse a longer distance to ease himself. The submission has no impact as it was only an assumption and not a certainty on the part of P.W-1 that the deceased had gone to ease himself. This assumes further credence when P.W-1 states that the deceased had no fix place/area to ease himself. It is not uncommon in a rural scenario for a rural folk to wander here and there in the evening. Although the prosecution did not disclose either in the site plan or in the evidence the point from where P.W-1 witnessed the assault and that of the place of assault but what is clear from the evidence of P.W-1 is the mode and manner of the assault and the identity of assailants including the weapon possessed by them was clearly visible. P.W-1 is challenged on the ground that the purpose for which he left his house i.e, to guard the fields was being alleged for the first time in the court as both the FIR/161 were silent, could not in itself be the reason to doubt his presence as the house of P.W-1 and the place of occurrence are all situate at a distance of one furlong. Learned counsel for the appellants pointed out certain features of the case to doubt the F.I.R and the credibility of P.W-1 such as the written report was in 4 folds, prosecution was not explaining that if P.W-1 had gone to P.S to lodge a report along with Kunwar Pal in a tractor at around 11-12 midnight but P.W-1 returned in a police jeep along with P.W-4 then who drove the tractor back home? Coming to the first issue that the written report not being in 4 folds which otherwise the prosecution is claiming it was scribed at the scene by Kunwar Pal at the dictates of P.W-1 who then kept it in his pocket in 4 folds, the court finds that the possibility of report being scribed at the police station cannot be ruled out but this could not be a ground in itself to doubt the FIR as P.W-1 proved the contents of the report. In so far the issue as to who brought the tractor back from the P.S, it's a post occurrence lapse which would have no effect on the prosecution case.

8. P.W-2 is the neighbour of P.W-1. His field is at a distance of 15 steps from that of the fields of Naushey where occurrence took place. He claims to have witnessed the occurrence from the fields of Naushe from a distance of 20 steps. He further established the mode and manner of the occurrence, the identify of assailants as also the weapons used by them. Merely because his statement was recorded by the I.O after 3 days of the occurrence could not be a ground to doubt his presence at the scene as the F.I.R itself enlist him as one of the witness and the said lapse was on the part of I.O which cannot enure to the benefit of appellants.

9. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that prosecution utterly failed to prove the motive. Motive is not a sine qua non for commission of crime. Moreover, takes a back seat in a case of direct ocular account. If eye-witness account is trustworthy motive may not be of much relevance. Failure to prove motive or absence of motive would not be fatal to the prosecution where other reliable evidence available on record unerringly establishes the guilt of accused.

10. The prosecution alleged that the deceased, Suraj Pal, was in illicit relationship with the wife of appellant, Nankoo, due to vengeance Nankoo along with his cohorts committed the murder of Suraj Pal. Although, there is age difference between the wife of appellant and the deceased, but promiscuity does not see any barriers of age, caste, relationship or religion. PW-1 admits that his deceased son was in a relationship with the wife of accused Nankoo, but on his castigation relationship had ended around six months prior to the incident.

11. One of the argument of learned counsel for the appellants is that only related and interested witnesses were produced by the prosecution because there are only two eye-witnesses. PW-1 is the father of the deceased and PW-2 a neighbour and also a co-accused with deceased in a previous criminal case. It is well settled that a related witness may not be labeled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit from the result of litigation or implicating the accused. Once it is established that witnesses were present at the scene, to witness the occurrence, they cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim. The Apex Court in State of U.P vs. Krishnapal (2008) 16 SCC 73 held as under:

18. The plea of defence that it would not be safe to accept the evidence of the eye witnesses who are the close relatives of the deceased, has not been accepted by this Court. There is no such universal rule as to warrant rejection of the evidence of a witness merely because he/she was related to or interested in the parties to either side. In such cases, if the presence of such a witness at the time of occurrence is proved or considered to be natural and the evidence tendered by such witness is found in the light of the surrounding circumstances and probabilities of the case to be true, it can provide a good and sound basis for conviction of the accused. Where it is shown that there is enmity and the witnesses are near relatives too, the Court has a duty to scrutinize their evidence with great care, caution and circumspection and be very careful too in weighing such evidence. The testimony of related witnesses, if after deep scrutiny, found to be credible cannot be discarded.

19. It is now well settled that the evidence of witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground that he is a related witness, if otherwise the same is found credible. The witness could be a relative but that does not mean his statement should be rejected. In such a case, it is the duty of the Court to be more careful in the matter of scrutiny of evidence of the interested witness, and if, on such scrutiny it is found that the evidence on record of such interested witness is worth credence, the same would not be discarded merely on the ground that the witness is an interested witness. Caution is to be applied by the court while scrutinizing the evidence of the interested witness.

20. It is well settled that it is the quality of the evidence and not the quantity of the evidence which is required to be judged by the court to place credence on the statement. The ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible.

Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. Thus in view of above legal position, we after carefully scrutinizing the evidence of P.W-1 and 2, are of the considered opinion that they are natural witnesses and their testimony cannot be rejected only on the ground that they are related to deceased.

12. Although fields of PW-1 and PW-2 are not depicted in the site plan, but after perusing this statement it is clear that fields of PW-1 & 2 are situate in the vicinity of the fields of Naushey where the incident took place. Thus the explanation of P.W, 1 and 2 that around evening they were on their way to guard their fields of a standing crop of bajara cannot be rejected.

13. One of the argument of appellants-defence is that the manner of assault described by eye-witnesses is contradictory to the medical evidence. As per PW-1 and 2 after being shot twice by Rajendra, deceased fell down on the slush, as it had rained, his face touching the ground, was then assaulted by all other accused by their respective weapons. Thus in such a scenario, it was not possible to sustain an injury on the front side of the body of the deceased. Injury nos. 11, 12 & 14 are on the front part of the body of the deceased. PW-3, the doctor in cross-examination admitted that apart from abrasion, injury no. 12 is present on the left side of the nipple of the deceased. In Solanki Chimanbhai Ukabhai v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1983

SC 484, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

"Ordinarily, the value of medical evidence is only corroborative. It proves that the injuries could have been caused in the manner alleged and nothing more. The use which the defence can make of the medical evidence is to prove that the injuries could not possibly have been caused in the manner alleged and thereby discredit the eye-witnesses. Unless, however the medical evidence in its turn goes so far that it completely rules out all possibilities whatsoever of injuries taking place in the manner alleged by eyewitnesses, the testimony of the eye-witnesses cannot be thrown out on the ground of alleged inconsistency between it and the medical evidence."

14. Thus in view of above dicta in the event of conflict between the oral and the medical testimony former would take the precedence. In the present case once 4-5 assailants surrounded the deceased, started assaulting him with their respective weapons it is difficult to ascertain as to who assaulted where. Out of 21 injuries, only 4 are on the frontal side, that alone in view of above could not be a ground to discard oral account.

15. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that there is doubt as to the time of occurrence as there is an interpolation in time, from 7:30 P.M. to 6.30 P.M. in the challan lash and the doctor who conducted the autopsy was not ruling out the time of death between 8.00 P.M. to 12.00 mid night so as to generate a probability that the deceased, who had criminal antecedents with several enemies was done to death in darkness by unknown assailants. On perusal of challan lash, it is clear that although there is overwriting as to the time of death, admitted by P.W-4, but as the difference is of only an hour it is negligible.

16. PW-1 is the father of deceased yet, no effort was made by him to ascertain whether the deceased was alive or not. The above conduct of P.W-1 cannot be said to be unnatural as he was stating that after the assault he along with others chased the accused unsuccessfully, then came back at the scene to find that his son lay dead. Although this witness was cross-examined intensely but he was not cross-examined as to the time when he ascertained the death of his son.

17. Suraj Pal, is alleged to have been murdered in the fields of Naushey. However, location of said field is not fixed by prosecution. Learned counsel for appellants argued that PW-1 stated that the fields of Naushey is in Kadarganj while PW-2 stated that it was in village Padera. As per site plan (Ex. Ka-12), village Padera is a km away from the place of occurrence. But this submission is liable to be rejected as both these villages are adjoining and no evidence was produced by defence to demonstrate that field of Naushey is also in village Padera. P.W-1 and the I.O clearly stated that field of Naushey i.e, place of occurrence is in village Kadarganj, thus prosecution has established the place of occurrence.

18. Learned counsel for the appellant-Rajendra argued that address of appellant-Rajendra is not mentioned in the F.I.R. as he was not a resident of the same village rather of the village Jhanjhana, Bareilly and was falsely implicated. Submission is not acceptable as the identity of Rajendra was already known to the eye-witnesses. Moreover he was also identified in the court.

19. The argument that as the weapon of assault and empty cartridges have not been recovered and serological report not obtained by the prosecution, suffice to mention that recoveries and the serologist report would have further strengthen the prosecution case. No doubt there are lapses in the investigation but it cannot be a ground to reject the entire prosecution case.

20. The testimonies of ocular witnesses are reliable and trustworthy corroborated by medical evidence. We do not find any material contradictions or discrepancies in their evidence which raises any doubt. The Learned trial court rightly convicted the appellants. The appeal is bereft of merit and is liable to be dismissed.

21. The appeal is dismissed. Appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled, they be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining sentence.

22. The office is directed to transmit back lower court records with a copy of judgment and order of this Court for immediate compliance under the intimation to this court within 2 months.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE BACHCHOO LAL, J.

THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 89 OF 1994

Mahanta Bhar ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Shiv Shankar Pandey, Sri Kamal Krishna, Sri Pradeep Kumar Rai, Sri Vinay Saran.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Indian Penal Code sections 302,299,300,304 - recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide namely, (1) culpable homicide of the first degree, a gravest form of culpable homicide which is defined under section 300 as murder, (2) culpable homicide of the second degree, a lower or lessor form of homicide not amounting to murder as defined in section 299, punishable under the first part of section 304 and (3) culpable homicide of the third degree,a lowest type of culpable homicide, punishable under the second part of section 304. (Para35)

B. Distinction between section 299 and section 300 - Distinction has been based on the the degree of probability of the consequence of the criminal act. Where death is the most probable result and is caused with intention to cause death, the offence is murder, and where it is probable result, it is culpable homicide.

Murder may become culpable homicide not amounting to murder if circumstances exist to bring the murder within any of the five exceptions to section 300 IPC. Academically, the distinction appears to be easy, but, when comes to factual matrix and is required to be determined on the basis of objective assessment of fact and evidence, the task is hard and a lot depends upon the sixth sense of the presiding judge who has been asked to give a decision. (Para-28)

Held:- The above classification is based on factors such as the degree of intention, surrounding circumstances in which death was caused, weapon used, influence of apprehension from severe beating from which the accused wanted to escape, causing injury exceeding the right of private defence, presence of premeditation and the like. A person has a right to defend himself and his own person and for that purpose he can use and cause injury as much as it is necessary. But if he exceeds his right and causes more injury than necessary and if death of such person results, the same is culpable homicide not amounting to murder (Para-36)

C. Section 102 IPC - Provides for commencement and continuance of private defence of the body 'as soon as a reasonable apprehension of danger to the body arises from an attempt or threat' and it continues 'as long as apprehension of danger to the body continues. (Para 44)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 22.11.1993 passed by Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Ballia in Sessions Trial No. 157 of 1992, State Vs. Mahanta Bhar, arising out of crime no. 252 of 1992, under section 302 IPC, PS Sikandarpur, District Ballia convicting and awarding the appellant life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC.

2. Brief facts of the case are that the informant Bijuli Yadav lodged an FIR in respect of incident dated 23.4.1992 stating that his elder brother Interdeo Yadav has a daughter namely Chinta who had illicit relationship with accused Mahantha Bhar of the same village for the last some time. The informant and his family asked Chinta and the accused several times to stop this relationship and scolded both of them. This fact was known to all the villagers. On the date of incident informant and other family members were cutting sugarcane crop in the field and about 12.00 AM in the noon while they were returning home with Chandradeo Yadav, nephew Ramawadh, Hari Mohan Yadav and Jagdhari and they reached at 'Soti' locating towards north of their village, they saw Chinta and accused Mahantha Bhar in the sugarcane field of Punchdeo Mishra talking to each other. At this sight all of them reached inside the field and deceased Chandradeo caught hold of accused Mahantha Bhar who took out a knife and stabbed him with intention to kill on the chest and stomach of Chandradeo two or three times.

Consequently, Chandradeo fell down on the spot. Attempt was made to apprehend and arrest the accused Mahantha Bhar, but he ran away towards north. Accused was chased for a distance but could not be apprehended and escaped. Soon after the incident, Chandradeo was being taken to Sikandarpur hospital in an injured condition but on the way he died.

3. The First Information Report was got scribed by one Ashok Rai, and the same was delivered by the informant and eye witness Bijuli Yadav at police station Bansdih on 23.4.1992 at 2 PM, on the basis of which Case Crime No. 252 of 1992 under Section 302 IPC was registered. The dead body was taken into possession by police and inquest report was prepared. Postmortem was conducted on the next day. The Investigating Officer investigated into the offence, prepared site map and recorded the statement of witnesses and submitted charge sheet against the accused for the offence under Section 302 IPC.

4. The learned Sessions Judge framed charge against the accused under Section 302 IPC, who denied the charge and claimed trial.

5. The prosecution examined 8 witnesses in support. PW-1 Chinta (eye witness), PW-2 Bijuli Yadav (informant and eye witness), PW-3 Jagdhari Yadav (eye witness) and PW-4 Hari Mohan Yadav (eye witness) have stated about the incident. PW-5 Dr. G. Kumaria has proved the postmortem report. PW-6 Ashok Rai is scriber of written report. PW-7 Constable Mansukh Yadav is the witness of inquest inquest report. PW-8 SI Suresh Chandra Shukla is IO of this case and who has proved site map and charge sheet.

6. The witnesses have proved the prosecution documents which are written report Ext. Ka-1 postmortem report, Ext. Ka-2 inquest report, Ext. Ka-3 sample seal, Ext Ka-4 sample seal, photo nash Ext. Ka-5, Ext. Ka-7 police form no. 13, and Ext. Ka-6 letter to SP for postmortem, report by police to District Hospital Ext. Ka-8, letter for postmortem examination Ext. Ka-9 and Ext. Ka-10, site plan Ext. Ka-11, memo of blood stained and plain earth Ext. Ka-12, charge sheet Ext. Ka-13, Chick FIR Ext. Ka-14, GD Ext. Ka-15 and report of Serologist Ext. Ka-16.

7. The statement of accused was recorded under Section 313, Criminal Procedure Code who has refused illicit relationship with Chinta and has denied that he was ever scolded by his family members for the same. He has further stated that he was not on spot nor he inflicted any injury to the deceased by knife and caused his death. He has also stated he has been falsely implicated as he belongs to labour class and did not give his service to complainant side. He has not adduced any evidence in defence.

8. After hearing learned counsel for the parties, the learned trial court found the accused-appellant guilty for the offence under Section 302 IPC and passed the impugned judgment convicting and sentencing him for life imprisonment.

9. Aggrieved by the said order, the accused-appellant has filed the present criminal appeal and has challenged the impugned judgment on the ground that the same is against the evidence on record and is not sustainable under law. The learned trial court did not take into consideration the circumstances which falsify the prosecution story. The appellant was a boy aged about 17 years and was alone, therefore, under the circumstance, the appellant could not inflict the injury to the deceased. It was not possible for the accused-appellant to take Chinta to sugarcane field forcibly in presence of complainant and his family members who were present in nearby field. He was falsely implicated in this case. The sentence awarded is too severe and not sustainable. The same is liable to be set aside and the accused-appellant is entitled for acquittal.

10. Heard Sri Vinay Saran, Senior Advocate, appointed as Amicus Curiae, assisted by Sri Pradeep Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri L.D. Rajbhar, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

11. PW-2 Bijuli Yadav (informant and eye witness) has stated on oath about illicit relationship between accused and PW-1 Chinta for which both were scolded by him and family members. He has further stated that on the date and time of incident, he along with Chandradeo Yadav, Hari Mohan Yadav and Jagdhari were present on the spot when they saw both accused and Chinta talking to each other in sugarcane field. When they reached there, the accused stabbed and caused injuries by his knife on the chest and abdomen of the deceased. While Chandradeo was being taken to the hospital, he died on the way. He and other witnesses tried to apprehend the accused after he caused injury to Chandraeo, but he succeeded in running away from the place. He got the written report scribed by one Ashok Rai and the same was delivered at the police station on the same day.

13. PW-1 Chinta, has admitted the fact of relationship with the accused and has stated that because of this relationship, the family members were having bitter feelings for her and the accused. She has also admitted that on the date and time of incident, she was with the accused in the sugarcane field and Chandradeo Yadav, Hari Mohan Yadav, Jagdhari and Bijuli Yadav came there. Chandradeo Yadav caught hold of the accused whereupon he gave him two-three blows by his knife on his chest and stomach. He sustained injuries and fell down and the accused ran away from the place.

14. PW-3 Jagdhari Yadav (independent witness) who was present on the spot, has also supported the prosecution version that at the time of incident, he was there and he saw the accused and Chinta in the sugarcane field and when they reached there, accused caused injury to Chandradeo Yadav on his chest and stomach by his knife because of which he died while taking to the hospital.

15. PW-4 Hari Mohan Yadav is another eye witness who has also supported the prosecution version and has said that he was present on the spot and they found Chinta and accused in the sugarcane field alone and when Chadradeo Yadav caught hold of the accused, the accused inflicted injury by his knife and because of the injuries sustained, Chandradeo Yadav died.

16. P.W. 5- Dr. G. Kumaria, who had conducted postmortem on 24.4.1992 at about 3 PM, found followin ante mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased:

(I) Incised penetrating wound not opened 1.5 c.m. X 1 c.m. Cavity deep on left side chest, doliquily placed 14 c.m. From mid line chest and 16 c.m. From left clavical bone. Edge of wound clean cut. Clotted blood present around wound. Outer angle of wound is sharp and inner angle towards mid line is slightly curved.

Internal Examination

Below injury no 1 on chest, internal mussel between 6 and 7 ribs incised and 7th rib on left side incised below injury no 1. Left pleura was incised below injury no 1 and left lung was punctured below injury no 1, in the left side of chest, blood clots found with 750 ml fluid. Walls in the left side of abdomen was incised below injury no 2 and spleen was punctured. The cause of death was shock and hemorrhage due to ante mortem injuries. According to doctor, injuries might have been caused by knife and the injuries were sufficient to cause death in ordinary course. The death was possible on 23.4.1992 at about 1 PM. Nothing has come in the cross-examination in favour of defence.

17. PW-6 Ashok Rai, who is inscriber of written report has proved that he inscribed the written report about the incident.

18. PW-7 Constable Mansukh Yadav has proved the chick FIR and GD Report.

19. PW-8 SI Suresh Chnadra Shukla narrated the process of investigation and has proved the site map and the charge sheet.

20. The learned counsel Sri Vinay Saran, Senior Advocate, appointed as Amicus Curiae has submitted that even if the fact witnesses are totally believed, the case does not come in the purview of the offence of murder and the maximum offence for which the appellant could be convicted was for simple culpable homicide or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Learned AGA has submitted that accused-appellant was having knife with him and that shows his intention to cause death and by knife he stabbed on the chest and abdomen of the deceased which are vital part of the body and consequently while he was taken to the hospital, he died. He has further submitted that death of deceased has occurred because of injuries caused by the accused-appellant.

21. In the backdrop of rival arguments, the evidence leveled on record needs to be analyzed in order to determine whether the offence was committed by the accused and whether the offence which was committed by the accused-appellant was culpable homicide or murder.

22. From the perusal of record, it is clear that the incident took place on 23.4.1992 at 12 PM and on the same day at 2 PM, FIR was lodged by informant by giving a written report in police station by Bijuli who is real brother of deceased and an eye-witness. The police station is 4 km away from place of occurrence. Considering the fact that the deceased was injured and died on the way while being taken to hospital and the FIR was lodged in two hours on the same day from the time of incident, the learned Sessions Judge correctly concluded that there was no delay in lodging FIR.

23. The dead body was taken into possession by police and inquest report was duly prepared after appointing five witnesses to the inquest proceeding. Thereafter, the dead body was duly sealed and, along with necessary papers, was taken to DistrictHospital for postmortem where postmortem was conducted by the doctor who has proved the report as prosecution witness. The postmortem report shows that the deceased died due to two incised wound, one on chest and other on abdomen of the deceased and according to doctor the death of deceased must have occurred on 23.4.1992 at about 1 PM because of injuries caused by knife which were sufficient to cause death in ordinary course.

24. Three prosecution witnesses have stated that the incident took place in their presence in the sugarcane field of one Panchdev Misra. IO prepared site map during investigation and the place of occurrence has been shown in that sugarcane field. All the eye witnesses have affirmed on oath that the accused-appellant caused the injuries to the deceased by knife which he was having at the time of incident. The witnesses were cross-examined, but the defence has not been able to bring out anything adverse to prosecution or favourable to the defence. Clearly, the prosecution succeeded in bringing home the charge leveled against the accused and it has been fully established that the accused on the date, time and place caused injuries to the deceased by knife and consequently he died.

25. Submission of learned counsel for the accused-appellant is that there was no intention of accused-appellant to cause death of the deceased and from the fact and evidence available on record, it appears that he was caught with Chinta in the sugarcane field and finding himself suddenly surrounded by the witnesses and also because the deceased caught hold of him, the accused-appellant having knife stabbed the deceased and because of that injuries, he died. He has also submitted that this case does not come within the purview of murder and the fact shows that it comes within the purview of culpable homicide and culpable homicide not amount to murder.

26. Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code defines culpable homicide as follows:

"Culpable homicide.-Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide.

Explanation 1.-A person who causes bodily injury to another who is labouring under a disorder, disease or bodily infirmity, and thereby accelerates the death of that other, shall be deemed to have caused his death.

Explanation 2.-Where death is caused by bodily injury, the person who causes such bodily injury shall be deemed to have caused the death, although by resorting to proper remedies and skilful treatment the death might have been prevented.

Explanation 3.-The causing of the death of child in the mother's womb is not homicide. But it may amount to culpable homicide to cause the death of a living child, if any part of that child has been brought forth, though the child may not have breathed or been completely born."

27. Section 300 of the Indian Penal Code defines murder and culpable homicide not amounting to murder as follows:

"Murder.-Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or-

2ndly. - If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or

3rdly. - If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or-

4thly. - If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid.

Exception 1.-When culpable homicide is not murder.-Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, whilst deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident.

The above exception is subject to the following provisos:-

First. - That the provocation is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person.

Secondly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in obedience to the law, or by a public servant in the lawful exercise of the powers of such public servant.

Thirdly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in the lawful exercise of the right of private defence.

Exception 2.-Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence.

Exception 3.-Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant acting for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law, and causes death by doing an act which he, in good faith, believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill-will towards the person whose death is caused.

Exception 4.-Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

Exception 5.-Culpable homicide is not murder when the person whose death is caused, being above the age of eighteen years, suffers death or takes the risk of death with his own consent."

28. Several times the courts in India has outlined the distinction between the two offences and the thrust of the distinction has been based on the the degree of probability of the consequence of the criminal act. Where death is the most probable result and is caused with intention to cause death, the offence is murder, and where it is probable result, it is culpable homicide. The murder may become culpable homicide not amounting to murder if circumstances exist to bring the murder within any of the five exceptions to section 300 IPC. Academically, the distinction appears to be easy, but, when comes to factual matrix and is required to be determined on the basis of objective assessment of fact and evidence, the task is hard and a lot depends upon the sixth sense of the presiding judge who has been asked to give a decision.

29. In State of AP vs Rayavarapu Punnayya, AIR 1977 SC 45, the Supreme Court made following observation:

" .... whenever a court is confronted with the question whether the offence is "murder" or "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", on the facts of a case, it will be convenient for it to approach the problem in three stages. The question to be considered at the first stage would be, whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused the death of another. Proof of such causal connection between the act of the accused and the death leads to the second stage for considering whether that act of the accused amounts to "culpable homicide" as defined in section 299. If the answer to this question is prima facie found in the affirmative, the stage for considering the operation of section 300, Penal Code is reached. This is the stage at which the court should determine whether the facts proved by the prosecution brings the case within the ambit of any of the four clauses of the definition of "murder"contained in section 300. If the answer to this question is in the negative the offence would be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder" punishable under the first or the second part of section 304, depending, respectively,on whether the second or the third clause of section 299 is applicable. If this question is found in the positive, but the case comes within any of the exceptions enumerated in section 300, the offence would still be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder," punishable under the first part of section 304, Penal Code."

30. The above observation has been referred in subsequent decisions and the same holds the field as a guideline in order to appreciate and understand the distinguishing features of the offence of 'murder,' 'culpable homicide' and 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder.' In every murder there is culpable homicide and on existence of certain facts as mentioned in five exceptions to section 300 IPC, a murder may become culpable homicide not amounting to murder, and the difference between the two is the degree of probability and certainty. Where death is the likely result, it is culpable homicide and where it is most obvious and certain result, the offence is murder and if such murder is covered by any of the exceptions to section 300, the same is punishable under section 304 and not under section 302 of the Indian Penal Code.

31. In Pappu vs State of MP, (2006) 7 SCC 391, the Supreme Court almost exhaustively dealt with the parameters of Exception 4 to section 300 and held that the same can be invoked if death is caused 1. without premeditation; 2. in a sudden fight; 3. without the offender having taken undue advantage or acting in a cruel or unusual manner; and 4. the fight must have been with the person killed. It was remarked,

"It cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that whenever one blow is given, section 302 IPC is ruled out. It would depend upon the weapon used, the size of it in some cases, force with which the blow was given, part of the body on which it was given and several such relevant factOrs."

31. In Jagriti Devi vs State of HP, (2009) 14 SCC 771, it was held that the expression 'intention' and 'knowledge' postulate the existence of a positive mental attitude. It was further held that when and if there is intent and knowledge, then the same would be a case under first part of section 304 and if it is only a case of knowledge and not intention to cause death by bodily injury, then the same would be a case of second part of section 304.

32. In Chenda alias Chanda Ram vs State of Chhatisgarh, (2013) 12 SCC 10, pointing out that 'culpability depends on the knowledge, motive and the manner of the act of the accused,' the Supreme Court referring to Rayavarapu Punnayya (supra), converted the conviction of accused from section 302 IPC to section 304 IPC taking into consideration the following circumstances:

"There is no evidence or previous enmity. The incident has taken place on the spur of the moment. There is no evidence regarding the intention behind the fatal consequence of the blow. There was only one blow. The accused is young. There was no premeditation. The evolution of the incident would show that it was in the midst of a sudden fight. There is no criminal background or adverse history of the appellant. It was a trivial quarrel among the villagers on account of a simple issue. The fatal blow was in the course of a scuffle between two persons. There has been no other act of cruelty or unusual conduct on the part of the appellant. The deceased was involved in the scuffle in the presence of his wife and he had been actually been called upon by her to the spot.... ."

33. In Lavghanbha Devjibhai Vasava vs State of Gujarat, (2018) 4 SCC 329, the Supreme Court summarized the parameters to be taken into consideration while deciding the question as to whether a case falls under section 302 or section 304 IPC as follows:

"(a) the circumstance in which the incident took place; (b) the nature of weapon used; (c) whether the weapon was carried or taken from spot; (d) whether the assault was aimed on vital part of body; (e) the amount of the force used; (f) whether the deceased participated in the sudden fight; (g) whether there was any previous enmity; (h) whether there was any sudden provocation; (I) whether the attack was in the heat of passion; and (whether the person inflicting injury took any undue advantage or acted in the cruel or unusual manner.)"

34. In Govind singh vs State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2019 SC 2120 and Rambir vs State of NCT, Delhi, AIR 2019 SC 2264, where the appellant was convicted for the offence under section

302 IPC, the Supreme Court, finding that there was no premeditation on the part of the accused and the incident took place in sudden quarrel, modified the offence into that of section 304 IPC and reduced the sentence was accordingly.

35. On the basis of above discussion, to put it in simple terms, as outlined in Rayavarapu Punnayya (supra), it is clear that the Indian Penal Code recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide namely, (1) culpable homicide of the first degree, a gravest form of culpable homicide which is defined under section 300 as murder, (2) culpable homicide of the second degree, a lower or lessor form of homicide not amounting to murder as defined in section 299, punishable under the first part of section 304 and (3) culpable homicide of the third degree, a lowest type of culpable homicide, punishable under the second part of section 304.

36. It is held that the above classification is based on factors such as the degree of intention, surrounding circumstances in which death was caused, weapon used, influence of apprehension from severe beating from which the accused wanted to escape, causing injury exceeding the right of private defence, presence of premeditation and the like. A person has a right to defend himself and his own person and for that purpose he can use and cause injury as much as it is necessary. But if he exceeds his right and causes more injury than necessary and if death of such person results, the same is culpable homicide not amounting to murder.

37. Now coming to the facts of present case where the accused was having affairs and sexual relation with a daughter of complainant family for which both were scolded by family members but it did not create any impact on them. Naturally, as per evidence on record, the whole family must have bitterness for accused and have been annoyed with him, as both had no intention to withdraw from each other's company and they continued in relationship. On the date of incident both were seen and found alone in the sugarcane field by deceased and other family members.

38. The daughter of the deceased has been examined as PW-1 who has admitted in her statement before court about her relationship with the accused and that she was with the accused on the date of incident in the sugarcane field where the incident took place. She has also admitted that before they were seen by family members, both had sex and soon after that the family members reached there. She has stated that the deceased caught hold of the accused by one hand and gave beating to her by other hand. The accused was surrounded by Jagdhari, Bijuli, Dharmdeo, Indradeo, Chandradeo, Ramawadh and Harimohan, all carrying lathi (bamboo) in their hands. She has also stated that her mother, father, uncles and all family members used to prevent her from meeting and having any sort of relationship with accused, but she continued meeting with him. She has said that prior to incident, the family members did not see her in physical relationship with the accused. The deceased raised his hand to hit the accused and then the accused stabbed him by his knife.

39. PW-2 Bijuli has stated that while coming back from their field, near the sugarcane field of Panchdeo Misra, they heard voice of both Chinta and accused. Chandradeo entered in the field first and behind him they all rushed in the sugarcane field. They all rushed into the field together. They gave two to four slaps to Chinta. PW-3 Jagdhari has stated that they entered silently into the sugarcane field where both Chinta and accused were present and thereafter made noise. Both were trying to keep there wearings in order and then Chandradeo caught hold of the accused. PW-4 Harimohan has stated that they all rushed into the field and Chandradeo caught hold of accused and scolded him for spoiling their reputation.

40. Thus, from the statement of all the four witnesses, it is clear that both Chinta and accused were caught red handed in the sugarcane field if not during, immediately after they had sex with each other. Chinta was slapped and deceased Chandradeo caught hold of accused and tried to slap him. All were carrying lathi and rushed into the field together. All were family members and naturally in that situation they all must have been enough furious causing alarm in the mind of the accused that he has been caught red handed with a daughter of family and he would be given good beat by them.

41. Since the accused had sex with her love-mate soon before they were caught, the passionate impact thereof must have been present in him and before him she was being slapped and he was likely to be beaten. Both the factors if taken together must have influenced the mind of the accused to a great deal. That his love-mate was being slapped before him certainly has a provoking impact whereas the fact that he was surrounded by the family members with lathi in their hands and they were shouting and scolding must have created a natural apprehension in his mind that he has been caught red handed by family members with the daughter of the family in objectionable condition and they will not leave him easily and they will cause bodily harm in terms of injuries. Therefore, his endeavor must have been to get rid of situation anyhow. He was having a knife and therefore he caused injuries to Chandradeo who had caught hold of him and had raised his hand to hit him and he was enough close in terms of distance to accused. Thereafter, he did not stay to see the result and escaped away so quickly that despite the complainant side was 6 in numbers, they could not get him.

42. In Kirpal Singh vs State, AIR 1951 Punjab & Haryana 137, it has been observed:

"To constitute a premeditated killing, it is necessary that the accused should have reflected with a view to determine whether he would kill or not; and that he should have determined to kill as the result of that reflection; that is to say, the killing should be a premeditated killing upon consideration and not a sudden killing under the sudden excitement and under impulse of passion upon provocation given at the time or so recently before as not to allow time for reflection. Such premeditation may be established by direct or circumstantial evidence, such as previous threats, expression of ill feelings, acts of preparation to kill; such as procuring a deadly weapon or selecting a dangerous weapon in preference to one less dangerous, and by the manner in which the killing was committed. For example, repeated shots, blows or other acts of violence are sufficient evidence of premeditation. Premeditation is not proved from the mere fact of a killing by the use of a deadly weapon but must be shown by the manner of the killing and the circumstances, under which it was done or from the other facts in evidence."

43. It is pertinent to mention that it was not a case of that kind that after being beaten, the accused came prepared with knife and caused injuries. There is no evidence on record to show that the accused ever gave any threatening on earlier occasion to the complainant side to cause any harm to them. Thus, there appears to be no premeditation on the part of accused. Death has not been caused in unusual or cruel manner. There appears to be no enmity on the part of accused, whereas, for the complainant side, there appears to be every possibility to catch him red handed and to give him good lesson for the misdeed of having relationship with the daughter of the family.

43. There appears to be no criminal back ground of the accused and at the time of incident he was enough young, a boy of 17 to 18 years in age as alleged in the memo of appeal. The facts and circumstances of the case reveals that the murder was caused without premeditation and at the spur of the moment without any criminal intent to commit murder. Moreover, in the circumstances where the accused was surrounded by 6 family members of complainant side, each carrying lathi in hand, naturally angry finding the accused in the sugarcane field in objectionable condition and prepared to give lesson to accused. In such situation, a right of private defence also accrued to the accused against the possible bodily harm which was likely to be caused to him by the complainant side.

44. Section 102 IPC provides for commencement and continuance of private defence of the body 'as soon as a reasonable apprehension of danger to the body arises from an attempt or threat' and it continues 'as long as apprehension of danger to the body continues.' At the cost of repetition, it is mentioned that the accused was alone surrounded by six persons and deceased had caught hold of him and has raised his hands to hit him after slapping his love mate before him. Therefore, a reasonable apprehension of bodily harm to accused was existing. It cannot be countered by saying that no such harm was caused to him. It has been remarked by the Supreme Court in Deo Narain vs State of UP, (1973) 1 SCC 347 that 'to say that a person can only claim the right to use force after he has sustained a serious injury by an aggressive wrongful assault is a complete misunderstanding of the law embodied in section 102, IPC.'

45. On the basis of above discussion, we are of the view that on facts, the present case was covered under the Exceptions 1, 2 and 4 to section 300, IPC as the death was caused by accused under grave and sudden provocation, in excess of the right of private defence of his person without premeditation and in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the accused taking undue advantage or acting in a cruel or unusual manner without premeditation. As such the learned trial court committed illegality in convicting the accused for the offence of murder under section 302, IPC instead of convicting him for the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder under Part I of section 304, IPC.

46. In view of the above, we convert the conviction from section 302, IPC to section 304, IPC part I and accordingly modify the sentence awarded to the accused-appellan Mhantat Dhar from life imprisonment to a sentence of rigorous imprisonment of 12 years and fine of Rs. 25000/- and in default, for an additional imprisonment of six months.

47. With the above modification, this criminal appeal is finally disposed of.

48. The accused-appellant Mhanta Dhar, if on bail shall surrender forthwith before the learned trial court to be sent to jail to undergo the sentence.

49. The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record to the learned trial court along with the copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

Appellant and his real brother Om Prakash, armed with lathi/danda, came to Kuwar Sen. Om Prakash exhorted that as deceased Kuwar Sen poses himself as superior; kill him. Thereafter appellant attacked on Kuwar Sen by lathi and caused grievous injuries to him. Informant Ram Sharan (PW-1) raised alarm. On his alarm and scream made by deceased Kuwar Sen, Brijesh Kumar (PW-2) and Praveen Kumar (PW-3) rushed towards the place of occurrence, saw the incident and they also raised alarm. Meanwhile, appellant and Om Prakash fled away from place of occurrence by hurling abuses. Ram Sharan (PW-1) was carrying his brother Kuwar Sen (deceased) for treatment but Kuwar Sen died on the way.

As offence was exclusively triable by Court of Session, he, after providing copies of relevant documents, as required by Section 207 of Code, committed the case for trial to Court of Session, Bareilly.

6. The case was transferred for trial to Additional Session Judge, Bareilly who framed charges against appellant as under:-

"I Reeta Kaushik, Additional Session Judge, (Fast Track) Court no. 4, Bareilly hereby charge you Moti as follows:-

That you, on or about 13.6.2008 at 2:30 p.m. Within the area of village Ausar, P.S. Faridpur, Bareilly caused death of Kuwar Sen, brother of Ram Sharan by causing grievous injury at head by lathi/danda and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC and within the cognizance of this Court.

I hereby direct you that you be tried by this Court on the said charge.

Charges were read with and explained to the accused who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried."
(translated by Court)

7. In order to prove its case, prosecution has examined six witnesses wherein Ram Sharan (PW-1), Brijesh (PW-2), Praveen Kumar (PW-3) are eye witnesses whereas Roop Singh (PW-4), S.I. Tejveer (PW-5) and Dr. Lok Nath Deepak (PW-6) are formal witness.

8. After the prosecution evidence, statement of appellant was recorded under Section 313 of Code wherein he denied prosecution case and evidence and alleged that he had been implicated due to enmity and village party bandi. He was given an opportunity to lead evidence in his defence but no evidence was produced by him before Trial Court. Thereafter, learned Additional Session Judge, after hearing counsel for both parties found accused-appellant guilty of offence under Section 302 I.P.C. and, accordingly, convicted and sentenced as above.

9. Aggrieved by impugned judgment and order, appellant has preferred this appeal.

10. We have heard Sri Sita Ram Sharma, Advocate (Amicus Curiae) for appellant and Sri M.C. Joshi, learned A.G.A. for State.

11. It has been contended by learned Amicus Curiae that accused appellant is innocent and has falsely been implicated; F.I.R. has been lodged after 10 hours by due deliberation and consultation; Inquest report is not supported by statement of eye witnesses; in the inquest report it has been mentioned that deceased had died due to injury caused by lathi/danda and stone whereas use of stone in the occurrence has not been stated. Learned counsel further contended that statement of PW-1 is self-contradictory in regard of time of recovery and also as to how dead body of deceased was sent to hospital. Appellant was not mentally fit at the time of occurrence. It is further submitted that at the time of occurrence so many people were present, according to prosecution, but prosecution has examined only interested witnesses and has not examined independent witness.

12. Per contra learned A.G.A. has submitted that prosecution case is fully proved by reliable evidence; delay caused in lodging F.I.R. is self-explanatory, natural and justified; there is no contradiction in the statement of eye witnesses; presence of eye witness is natural at the place of occurrence, their statements are reliable and trustworthy; prosecution has succeeded to prove its case beyond any reasonable doubt hence impugned judgement and order passed by Trial Judge requires no interference and appeal is liable to be dismissed.

13. We have considered rival submissions of learned counsel for parties and have gone through entire record.

14. Ram Saran (PW-1) is the real brother of deceased Kuwar Sen. He has been examined before Trial Court on 11.12.2009. According to him, appellant and his brother Om Prakash are sons of Ram Swaroop and residents of his village. Ram Swaroop had let out his land for cultivation to his brother Kuwar Sen. On that account, Om Prakash and appellant used to remain annoyed with deceased Kuwar Sen. He has further stated that 1½ years ago, at about half past two in afternoon, his brother Kuwar Sen was lying beneath Pakad tree, out side his house. At that time, appellant came with thick wooden stick in his hand and another accused Om Prakash came with lathi and as they arrived, appellant Moti assaulted Kuwar Sen with wooden stick as a result whereof serious injury was caused on the head of Kuwar Sen. He has further stated that on hearing noise, he, Brijesh (PW-2) and Praveen (PW-3) rushed towards place of occurrence and challenged them; both, accused Om Prakash and appellant Moti fled away. He has further stated that he took his brother Kuwar Sen in wounded state to Faridpur by bullock cart but Kuwar Sen died on the way. Thereafter, he took deceased Kuwar Sen's body to P.S. Faridpur where he dictated report (Ex.Ka-1) to unknown person and got it written, and after signing it, he lodged the same at P.S. Faridpur. This witness has verified and proved F.I.R. (Ex.K-1).

15. Brijesh (PW-2) has stated that on 13.6.2008 he was present at his house and on that day at about 2:30 p.m., he heard a noise. On the said noise he came out and saw that Kuwar Sen was lying on a cot, beneath Pakad tree, situated in front of his house and also saw that appellant assaulted at Kuwar Sen by lathi whereupon Kuwar Sen got injured. He has further stated that at the time of occurrence Om Prakash (another accused) was not present and only appellant was present who had caused injury by lathi to Kuwar Sen. Verifying an affidavit dated 23.6.2008 (Ex.K-2), he has further stated that he had given that affidavit, signed by him at Police Station. According to him Kuwar Sen died due to injury caused by appellant. He has further stated that on 14.6.2008, inquest of deceased Kuwar Sen was conducted before him and his dead body was sealed by Police and sent for post mortem. He has also proved the inquest report (Ex.K-3).

16. Praveen Kumar (PW-3) has stated that Kuwar Sen was known to him, who was resident of his village. According to him, it was June, 2008 at about 2:30 p.m., he was sitting at house of Brijesh (PW-2). He has further stated that upon hearing alarm, he and Brijesh (PW-2) rushed and saw that deceased Kuwar Sen was lying on a cot, beneath Pakad tree, and appellant Moti was causing injury on the head of Kuwar Sen by a thick wooden stick. According to him, at the place of occurrence, family members of Kuwar Sen, his mother and his brother Ram Saran (PW-1) also had come. He has further stated that as he rushed to place of occurrence appellant Moti fled away by throwing korhi (thick wooden stick) and thereafter Kuwar Sen was taken for treatment by his family members but he died. He has also stated that death of Kuwar Sen was caused due to injuries, caused by appellant on the head of Kuwar Sen.

17. Roop Singh (PW-4) is witness of recovery memo (Ex.Ka-5) of blood stained and plain earth, taken into custody by Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as "I.O.") during investigation. He has stated that during investigation of case, I.O. had taken sample of plain and blood stained earth, from place of occurrence, before him and one Rishi Pal of his village; I.O. has also recovered and taken into custody Korhi (thick wooden stick), weapon of offence, from place of occurrence, who had prepared recovery memo (Ex.K-5) and (Ex.K-6); and at the time of recovery, he had also put his signature on those documents.

18. S.I. Tejveer Singh (PW-5), I.O. of the case, has stated that on 13.6.2008 he was posted as S.S.I. at P.S. Faridpur, District Bareilly. On that day he under took investigation of Case Crime No. 597 of 2008 under Section 304 IPC. During investigation he had perused and copied the relevant Police papers, inspected place of occurrence on pointing out of Informant and prepared site plan (Ex.K-7). He has further stated that inquest report (Ex.K-3), recovery memo of sample of blood stained and plain earth (Ex.K-5) and recovery memo of wooden stick (Ex.ka-6), were prepared by him. According to him, he had prepared inquest report at C.H.C. Faridpur because at that time dead body of deceased was in that hospital. He has further stated that upon investigation, he had filed a charge sheet (Ex.ka-8) only against appellant because involvement of another accused Om Prakash @ Chet Ram was not found. Constable Gajendra Singh was posted with him. He is well acquainted with his hand writing. Chik FIR (Ex.Ka-9) and G.D. Report No.5, 00:20 a.m. dated 14.6.2008 (Ex.Ka-10) had been prepared and signed by Constable Gajendra Singh. This witness has also proved G.D. Report No. 24, (Ex.Ka-11) dated 14.6.2008, report regarding depositing of wooden stick, sample of plain and blood stained earth and arrest of appellant. He has also identified recovered wooden stick, weapon of offence, (material Ex.1)

19. Dr. Lok Nath Deepak (PW-6) has stated that on 14.6.2008 he was posted as Senior Consultant at DistrictHospital, Bareilly. On that day at about 2:45 p.m. he had conducted autopsy on corpse of Kuwar Sen s/o Ahvaran Singh age about 35 years r/o Ausadh, P.S. Faridpur, District Bareilly who was sent by S.O. Faridpur with nine relevant Police papers. The corpse was identified by Constable Brahma Pal Singh and Constable Girish Kumar, P.S. Faridpur.

(the condition of corpse and details of ante mortem injuries, found at the time of post mortem examination, has been mentioned in preceding paragraph of the judgment). According to him deceased had died one day before; in internal examination of the dead body, frontal, temporal and parietal bones of both left and right side of head were fractured; membranes of brain and brain were lacerated; base of brain was fractured; stomach and heart were empty; death was caused due to coma (shock) caused by ante mortem head injury; and at the time of post mortem; he had prepared post mortem report (Ex.Ka 12) in his own hand writing and signature.

20. In this case appellant Moti, in his statement under Section 313 of Code, has denied his involvement in the said occurrence as alleged by prosecution witnesses but has not produced any evidence in his defence. Thus it has to be seen whether prosecution has succeeded to establish its case against appellant accused beyond reasonable doubt or not.

21. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae, that FIR has been lodged after 10 hours after due deliberation and consultation, is concerned, record shows that alleged occurrence had taken place on 13.6.2008 at 2:30 p.m. and F.I.R. was lodged on 14.6.2008 at 00:20 a.m. In Chik FIR (Ex.Ka-9) the distance of place of occurrence from P.S. Faridpur has been shown as 4-5 km. It has been specifically stated by PW-1 in his cross-examination that he had proceeded just after occurrence with Kuwar Sen from the place of occurrence; reached at Police Station at about 3:00 p.m. and lodged F.I.R. According to him, at that time Kuwar Sen was alive; he had rushed, with Kuwar Sen, to Bareilly at about 3:00 p.m. from Faridpur, and reached at GangaCharanHospital, Bareilly but before admission, Kuwar Sen had died. According to him, thereafter, he returned with deceased Kuwar Sen to Police Station and reached there at about 4:00 p.m.; when he reached at Police Station, Daroga Ji (Police Inspector) directed him to keep the dead body at Godam and report was lodged at 11:00 p.m. Thus it is clear that Ram Saran (PW-1), after occurrence, firstly had carried his injured brother Kuwar Sen to hospital, in order to save his life, but when he could not succeed to save his life, after his death, he had gone to Police Station to lodge F.I.R. S.I. Tejveer Singh (PW-5) has also stated that he had conducted inquest of deceased Kuwar Sen at C.H.C. because at that time dead body of deceased was lying there.

22. Record shows that this witness is rustic and illiterate; he got the F.I.R. written by unknown person on his dictation and filed the same. Thus it is clear that after occurrence, PW-1, Informant, firstly, had gone to Police Station where his report was not lodged and it appears that he was given advice to provide medical treatment to Kuwar Sen, who was alive at that time and on such advice he had proceeded to hospital for treatment but after death of Kuwar Sen he again returned to Police Station.

23. In such situation we are of view that there is no inordinate delay and the delay, if any caused, has been self-explained and justified in view of peculiar facts and circumstances of the case. Nowhere in any statute either in Evidence Act or in Code or in IPC any particular time has been specified for lodging of F.I.R. Even, in Section 154 of Code which deals with lodging of the F.I.R., no particular time has been prescribed for lodging F.I.R. Sometimes an inordinate delay, caused in lodging the F.I.R., if justified and natural, does not affect credibility of prosecution and sometimes even a prompt F.I.R. may affect credibility of prosecution. It depends upon facts and circumstances of each case. It is settled principle of law that if a plea is raised by defence to shake credibility of prosecution case, on account of delay in lodging F.I.R., it has to be shown by defence counsel that due to such delay in lodging F.I.R. as to what manipulation in evidence of prosecution case had been committed by prosecution witnesses. If defence counsel fails to prove any fact as to what inherent laches or loopholes in prosecution case was cured due to delay caused in lodging F.I.R., delay in lodging same, will not be treated material. In this case no such fact has been alleged by defence counsel before Trial Court during examination of PW-1. Thus delay in lodging F.I.R. is just and natural. Hence submission of learned Amicus Curiae has no force.

24. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that there is contradiction between inquest report and statement of eye witnesses regarding nature of weapons and injury is concerned, inquest report (Ex.ka-3) shows that inquest proceeding was conducted on 14.6.2008 between 6:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. In this report, it has been mentioned that several blood stained injuries were present on head and face of deceased; blood was oozing out from right nostril; head was drenched with blood. According to opinion of panch (five persons present at the time of inquest), death of deceased would have been caused due to injuries by lathi/danda and stones. These members of inquest report, except PW-2, Brijesh, are not eye witnesses. In our view, if they had estimated regarding weapons used in occurrence, stone also in addition to lathi/danda (wooden stick), it would not affect the statement of eye witnesses. According to eye witnesses (Ram Saran, PW-1, Brijesh, PW-2 and Praveen, PW-3) death of deceased was caused due to injuries caused by appellant by lathi. This fact is also corroborated by Dr. Lok Nath Deepak (PW-6) who in cross-examination has stated that injuries of deceased would have been caused by a blunt object, for example, lathi of 3' Inches diameter. According to this witness it may also be caused by a weapon (lathi) of 6-7' Inches diameter.

25. It is settled principle of law that any opinion, regarding cause of death or nature of injury expressed in inquest report, has no preferential evidentiary value on the statement of eye witnesses or medical evidence. The purpose of inquest report is only to send the dead body for post mortem examination, to ascertain cause of death. Thus the submission of learned Amicus Curiae has no force.

26. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that statement of Ram Saran (PW-1) is contradictory as to how the dead body of deceased was sent to hospital is concerned, record shows that PW-1 in examination-in-chief has stated that he had taken away his brother deceased Kuwar Sen, in injured condition, to Faridpur by bullock cart and on the way to Faridpur, he died. In cross-examination he has stated that he had reached at 3:00 p.m. at Police Station and at that time Kuwar Sen was alive; from Faridpur he proceeded to Bareilly with Kuwar Sen to GangaCharanHospital but before admitting him for treatment, Kuwar Sen had died. He has further stated that he had returned with dead body of Kuwar Sen by D.C.M. (mini truck) to P.S. Faridpur. Although this witness, in examination-in-chief, has stated that Kuwar Sen had died on the way to Faridpur, later on, in cross-examination he stated that he (deceased) had died at Bareilly. Thus in cross-examination, he clarified the place where deceased had breathed last. We are of view that there is no contradiction in statement of this witness because it might be that when he reached at Faridpur, someone had advised or good sense had prevailed to Ram Saran (PW-1) to take his brother Kuwar Sen to hospital for treatment as he might alive at that time. Thus taking away by bullock cart to Faridpur and thereafter by D.C.M. (mini truck) for hospital, is natural conduct of this witness. Thus submission of learned Amicus Curiae in this regard has no force.

27. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that there is contradiction between statement of witnesses regarding time of recovery of weapons is concerned, from perusal of recovery memo of wooden stick (weapon of offence) (Ex.Ka-6), it appears that weapon of crime was recovered by Police on 14.6.2008. In this recovery memo exact time of recovery has not been mentioned. PW-5, S.I. Tejveer Singh (I.O.) has also not stated exact time of recovery of weapon. In cross-examination he has stated that he had reached at the place of occurrence and inspected it at 2:30 a.m. and recovered blood stained and plain earth and also wooden stick (danda) in presence of Rishi Pal and Roop Singh. Roop Singh (PW-4) who is witness of recovery memos Ex.ka-5 and Ka-6, has stated that Police had recovered blood stained and plain earth on next day of the occurrence. This witness has also not stated the exact time of recovery of weapon used in offence (wooden stick). Learned counsel for defence has also not put any question to this witness during his cross-examination regarding exact time of recovery of weapon, used in offence. As per prosecution case, as stated by witnesses, alleged occurrence was happened on 13.6.2008 and recovery of weapon, used in offence, was made on 14.6.2008. Thus in our view there is no contradiction on timing of recovery of weapons which may affect either recovery of weapon of offence or veracity of prosecution case. The submission, made by learned Amicus Curiae, has no force.

28. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that prosecution has produced only interested witnesses and has not produced independent witness, is concerned, it is well settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that only on the ground that witnesses are relative or kith and kins of deceased, their evidence cannot be disbelieved. In such type of cases, only requirement is that evidence of such witnesses be dealt with much care and caution.

29. In Masalti and others Vs. State of U.P., 1965 SC 202, while dealing with the evidence of reliability and admissibility of interested witnesses, Court has held as under :-

".....But it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. Often enough, where factions prevail in villages and murders are committed as a result of enmity between such factions, criminal Courts have to deal with evidence of a partisan type. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct....."

30. Similarly, in Mohabbat Vs. State of M.P., (2009) 13 SCC 630, Court held as under:-

".....Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible....."

31. In this case prosecution has produced Ram Saran (PW-1), Brijesh (PW-2) and Praveen Kumar (PW-3). Only PW-1 is brother of deceased. PW-2 and PW-3 are neighbours of deceased. PW-2 has stated in cross-examination that at the time of occurrence he was at his house and his house is situated just 1 meter away from place of occurrence whereas PW-3, in cross-examination has stated that he was present at the house of Brijesh (PW-2), at the time of occurrence. Thus the presence of these witnesses nearby place of occurrence, at the time of occurrence, is quite natural. The statement of these witnesses cannot be discarded only on the ground that either they are relative or neighbours of deceased. Learned Amicus Curiae has not shown any reason or justification as to why these witnesses, whose presence has been found natural, at the place of occurrence, are giving false evidence leaving aside the real culprit. In absence of such justification or explanation, evidence of these witnesses cannot be discarded in the facts and circumstances of this case. Hence submission of the learned Amicus Curiae has no force.

32. So far as submission of learned Amicus Curiae that appellant was mentally sick at the time of occurrence, hence, lenient view is required to be taken against him as he has not caused alleged incident intentionally, is concerned, in this regard it is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that if prosecution case has been found trustworthy and reliable wherein involvement of accused has been proved beyond reasonable doubt, the burden shifts on accused to prove the plea of insanity, taken by him. Record shows that, after occurrence, appellant had fled away from place of occurrence. In the statement under Section 313 of Code, he has not taken any plea regarding his insanity. No evidence has been produced by him in his defence to prove the plea of insanity. Thus the plea raised by learned Amicus Curiae, regarding insanity of appellant, has no force.

33. In this case occurrence had taken place in front of house of Kuwar Sen when he was taking rest beneath tree, situated in front of his house. PW-1 is his real brother whereas PW-2 and PW-3 are neighbours of deceased. They have reached the place of occurrence just after hearing alarm raised by deceased. It is day light occurrence. Presence of these witnesses at the place of occurrence has been found natural. They were put to lengthy cross-examination by learned counsel for defence before Trial Court but nothing could be extracted by way of cross-examination so as to create any doubt in their testimony. Their statements are reliable and trustworthy. F.I.R. has been lodged without any delay. Delay if any, has been explained and found natural. F.I.R. and post mortem examination report of deceased are in consonance and in corroboration of statement of the witnesses produced by the prosecution. According to statement and examination of all witnesses, each and every circumstance of case, proved by prosecution, leads to only conclusion that this offence has been caused by appellant Moti. There is nothing on record to show that prosecution witnesses had any animus with appellant so as to implicate him falsely, absolving actual assailant. Trial Court has elaborately discussed prosecution evidence in the light of arguments advanced by learned counsel for prosecution as well as defence. The impugned judgement and order requires no interference and is liable to be affirmed.

34. Now the question arises, whether sentence awarded by Trial Court is just and proper or not.

35. Learned Amicus Curiae has submitted that according to prosecution witness, injuries have been caused only by lathi and not by any deadly weapon, hence, accused-appellant may be convicted under Section 304 I.P.C. and not under Section 302 I.P.C.

36. From perusal of post mortem report, it is clear that all injuries were caused only on the head of deceased Kuwar Sen. Injuries were so grievous that bones of head were so fractured that brain was coming out. No other injury except head injuries was found on the body of deceased. At the time of occurrence deceased was unarmed. In our opinion causing grievous injuries only on vital part (head) of deceased amounts that appellant had caused injuries with intention to cause death of deceased. Looking into facts and circumstance of this case as well as nature of injuries caused by appellant, we are of the view that conclusion of Trial Court that appellant-accused is liable for offence of murder, punishable under Section 302 I.P.C., requires no interference.

37. It is settled principle of sentencing and penology that undue sympathy, in awarding the sentence, with accused is not required. The object of sentencing in criminal law should be to protect the society and also to deter the criminals by awarding appropriate sentence. In this regard in State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Saleem @ Chamaru, AIR 2005 SC 3996 Court has said as under:-

"The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should ""respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal"."

38. Accused-appellant has been convicted only for life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1000/-. For offence under Section 302 I.P.C. an accused may be punished either with death sentence or with imprisonment for life and also with fine. Thus appellant has been convicted for minimum sentence which requires no interference.

39. In the light of above discussion. This jail appeal is hereby dismissed. Impugned judgment and order dated 20.1.2011 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Bareilly in S.T. No. 37 of 2009 (State Vs. Moti) is maintained and affirmed.

37. Sri Sita Ram Sharma, learned Amicus Curiae has assisted the Court very diligently. We provide that he shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrance posted in office of Advocate General at Allahabad, to Sri Sita Ram Sharma, Amicus Curiae without any delay and, in any case, within 15 days from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

38. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court record be sent to Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Bareilly for necessary information and compliance.

39. Compliance report be sent to this Court. Copy of this judgment be also supplied to accused-appellant through Superintendent of Jail, concerned.

A. IPC - Sections 457, 380, 411, 413 and 511 of IPC. Not an iota of evidence regarding commission of offence punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC, except their alleged confessions, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police. Not admissible in evidence (Para17)

B. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking.
That charge must be substantiated by evidence. It cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass.(Para19)

B. Evidence Act – Section 114 – Presumption can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession. That in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. (Para-20)

C. Under Section 380 IPC - Essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC, is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and thatsuch building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved. (Para22)

Learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. (Para 24,25,26)

In case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.10,000, they will have to serve one year's simple imprisonment and in default of deposit of fine of Rs.5,000/-, they will have to serve six months' simple imprisonment, with further direction for concurrent running of sentences and adjustment of previous incarceration, if any, in this very case crime number, with this contention that the Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and the judgment of conviction and sentence, awarded, therein, is illegal, perverse and against the weight of evidence on record. It was passed on the basis of surmises and conjunctures.

2. The occurrence had been said to have taken place in the night of 8.8.2012 and a first information report was lodged on 9.8.2012 as Case Crime No.1613 of 2012, under Sections 457, and 380 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, Lalitpur, District Lalitpur. Subsequently, arrest of Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, appellant no.1, Jeetu Parihar, Rajan, appellant no.2, and Naval Ahirwar, was shown to have been made by the Police on 14.8.2012, whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal and Raheem Khan, appellant no.3, said to have fled from the spot. Recovery of golden ornaments and Rs.27,00/-, in cash, was said to have been made from joint possession of arrested accused persons. Though the occurrence was said to have occurred 8.8.2012, and first information report was lodged on 9.8.2012. PW-4, Subhash Chandra, had stated that the arrest of appellant nos. 1 and 2 was made on 14.8.2012 and alleged recovery was said to have been made from them, while appellant no.3 was said to be absconded, whereas it was a false recovery and false implication. Hence, this Criminal Appeal with above prayer.

3. Heard Sri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA, appearing for the State and gone through the impugned judgement as well as record of the Trial court.

4. From very perusal of the record, it is apparent that the First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-2, dated 9.8.2012, was got lodged by the informant, Smt. Gita, at Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, with this contention that in the evening of 8.8.2012, after putting lock on her Beauty Parlour, she went to her home and next day, i.e., 9.8.2019, she got an information that lock of the shop was broken. After reaching on the shop, she had seen broken lock of the door of the shop and when she entered into the shop, she found that Rs.27,00/-, cash, kept in her Gullak (Piggy Bank), has been stolen. She got the report written by her husband and presented the same at Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, which has been registered. Case Crime No.1613 of 2012, under Sections 457 & 380 IPC was got registered against unknown thieves on 9.8.2012.

5. On 14.8.2012, while SOG Incharge, Sumit Kumar Singh, alongwith his Police Team was on surveillance duty, informer gave information about presence of thieves, who have committed various thefts in the city, with stolen articles, near Cremation Ghat, ChandiMataTemple. This was immediately communicated to Inspector, Incharge, Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, Sri Uday Bhan Singh and was called to Varni Four-way Junction. A Police Team led by him, with the Inspector, proceeded for ChandiMataTemple. On being pointed by the informer towards few persons, sitting thereat, Police Team apprehended four persons at 15.15 PM. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Resident of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, Resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, Resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Raheem managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar (informant), Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and many others reached on the spot, who identified those apprehended persons to be residents of above locality. Upon being investigated, those apprehended persons confessed offence of theft committed by them and also confessed that Mangalsutra and one golden ring was stolen from the house of Smt. Prem Lata Jain, whereas one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, was stolen from the house of Akhilesh Sharma, two ear rings were stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari, Pendent of Mangalsutra was stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak, Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of Bharat Patel, Rs.2,000/- was stolen from the house of Gita and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from house of Pramod. Remaining stolen articles were taken away by Shubham Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Bunti Dhobi and Raheem. Alleged recovered stolen articles were identified by those public men, who were informants in various cases of theft, lodged by them, being Case Crime Nos.1150/2012, 1210/2012, 2420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012 and 1612/2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC. It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared on the basis of which this implication, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 was made.

6. On the basis of investigation, chargesheet was filed and after hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence. Charges for offence, punishable under Section 380, 457, 411 and 413 and 511 IPC were framed. Charges were readover and explained to the accused persons, who pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

7. Prosecution examined PW-1, Smt. Gita, informant, PW-2, Kamlesh, PW-3, Constable-Sushil Kumar, PW-4, S.I. Subhash Chand and PW-5, Sub Inspector, Varun Pratap Singh.

8. Statement of accused persons were got recorded, under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which prosecution version was denied and false investigation, with no confession, was said. No evidence in defence was led and after hearing arguments of learned Public Prosecutor and the counsel for defence, impugned judgment of conviction for offence, punishable under Sections 380, 457 and IPC and judgment of acquittal, under Sections 411 and 413/511 IPC was passed.

9. After hearing over quantum of sentence, impugned sentence was passed.

10. No appeal, by the State, against judgement of acquittal for offence, under Sections 411 and 413/511 IPC, is there.

11. First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1 (Paper No. 5Ka), was formally proved by PW-1, informant-Smt. Gita, and it has specifically been lodged against unknown thieves, because this witness was not present at the place of occurrence, i.e., her Beauty Parlour, at the time of alleged occurrence of theft. In examination-in-chief, this witness has said that in the evening of 8.8.2012, after putting lock on her Beauty Parlour, she went to her home and next day, i.e., 9.8.2019, she got an information that lock of the shop was broken. After reaching on the shop, she had seen broken lock of the door of the shop and when she entered into the shop, she found that Rs.27,00/-, cash, kept in her Gullak (Piggy Bank), had been stolen. Hence, a report, written by her husband, under her signature, was lodged, against unknown thieves on 9.8.2012, whereas in her examination in chief, she has said that she has not seen any one while committing theft nor has identified any accused nor any identification parade was conducted. At what time, locks of shop were broken, she did not have any knowledge. Police did not enquire any thing from her, but went on the spot. Meaning thereby, informant neither has seen anyone, while committing theft in her shop nor was there at the time when locks of her shops were broken nor has named any accused person nor any accused was produced before her for identification. Neither any recovery was before this witness nor any specific mark of identification/denomination of alleged recovered article/currency was there nor any recovery memo was prepared on the spot nor the same were produced before the court during trial nor this witness was previously acquainted with accused persons. Thus, this witness does not support prosecution case at all and the case set up by the prosecution falls flat, so far as testimony of this witness is concerned.

12. PW-2 is Kamlesh, husband of informant, Gita, who written the report of occurrence of theft, which has been signed by the informant and was presented in the Police Station for registration of the first information report. He in his examination-in-chief has stated that in the evening of 8.8.2012, his wife, after locking her shop, came to home. In the morning of next day, residents of the locality informed that the locks of the shop were broken. After reaching on the spot, it was found that Rs.2,700/-, kept in Saving Box (Gullak), was stolen. Report of occurrence of theft was got lodged by his wife in the Police Station. While, in his cross-examination, this witness has stated that he had not seen anyone, committing theft nor identified any accused nor stolen cash was produced before him in the court. Meaning thereby that testimony of this witness neither supports version of the prosecution in any way nor is of any relevance to the case set up by the prosecution.

13. The other witness, PW-3, Constable Sushil Kumar, who is a formal witness, proved registration of first information report, Exhibit Ka-2, Case Crime No.1613/12, scribed in his hand-writing and under his signature. This registration of report was against unknown accused persons for offence, punishable under Sections 457 and 380 IPC. Since the report was against unknown accused persons, cross-examination was not done. The report was against unknown thieves. Thus, testimony of this witness is of relevance to the prosecution and is of no avail to the prosecution.

14. PW-4 is Sub Inspector-Subhash Chand. He is a witness of fact of arrest of accused persons and recovery of stolen articles. In his testimony, this witness has stated that on 14.8.2012, on receiving information, he, accompanied Inspector, Incharge, Police Station, Kotwali, and reached Varni fourway-junction, where they met SOG Incharge, Sumit Kumar Singh. He has been told about presence of thieves, who have committed various thefts in the city, with stolen articles, near Cremation Ghat, ChandiMataTemple. Police Team proceeded towards Cremation Ghat and on reaching thereat, Police team seen some persons sitting thereat. On being pointed by the informer towards those persons that they were involved in various incidents of thefts, Police Team apprehended four persons. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, reisdent of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered, however, four other persons managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar (informant), Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and others reached on the spot, and after seeing those four apprehended persons said that they have committed various occurrences of theft. Prem Lata Jain identified Mangalsutra and one golden ring stolen from her house whereas Balram Pachauri identified one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, stolen from his house, Akhilesh Sharma has identified two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, stolen from his house, two ear rings stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari was also identified by him and Niraj Nayak identified golden Pendent stolen from his house. He prepared recovery memo on dictation of Inchaarge, S.O.G., which are Paper Nos. 13Ka/1 and 13Ka/2 and marked as Exhibit Ka-4.

However, in his cross-examination, this witness has said that in the first information report, name of any accused was not mentioned and the report was lodged against unknown persons nor any specific mark of identification of stolen articles was there. Such articles are generally found in every house. Proceeding for identification of recovered articles was not conducted. On whose information, informants of other cases reached on the spot, was not known to him. At what time, recovery memo was written, he could not remember. Whether first information report of each occurrence was there or not, was not under his knowledge. Meaning thereby, there was no specific mark of identification of stolen articles nor denomination of currency notes, stolen from the shop of informant was there, nor any proceeding for identification of recovered articles was conducted nor anyone was named in the first information report. Who wrote the recovery memo and at what time was also not known to this witness. Thus, testimony of this witness appears to be shaky and is not worth credit, thereby, does not support prosecution case in any way.

15. PW-5 is Sub Inspector, Varun Pratap Singh Yadav. He, in his testimony, has said that while he was posted at Police Chowki Nehru Nagar, under Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, on 8.8.2012, he has been entrusted with investigation of Case Crime No. 1613/12, under Sections 457, 380 and 511 IPC, against unknown persons. In his testimony, this witness has stated that firstly he collected Copies of Chik, report, written report and got the same entered in the case diary, then after recorded statement of scribe of first information report, Sushil Kumar, statement of informant, Smt. Gita, statement of witness Kamlesh Kushwaha and Bakiram Raikvar. He also got statement of accused persons recorded and found them to be involved in the occurrence of theft and recovered stolen articles, hence Sections 411 and 413 of IPC were added. Statements of Police personnel, who arrested accused persons and recovered stolen articles were recorded by him. He inspected place arrest of accused ahead of ChandiMataTemple, Govind Sagar Dam and Cremation Ghat and prepared Site Map, which is Paper No.15Ka/2, under his signature, which is marked as Exhibit Ka-5. He inspected the shop of the informant (place of occurrence) and prepared site map, which is paper no. 15K, under his signature, marked as Exhibit Ka-6. He submitted chargesheet, Exhibit Ka-7, on 22.8.2012, against Arvind Parmar @ Banty Raja, Rajan Jitu Parihar, Naval Ahirvar and Arvind Pal. Thenafter, again submitted chargesheet, Exhibit Ks-8, against Shivam Tiwari, Raheem and Bunty @ Vinod, on 30.9.2012.

16. This witness, in his testimony, has also stated that being member of the Police team, has witnessed arrest of Shivam Tiwari, 27.8.2012, from Jail Road, upon receipt of an information from the informer and from his personal search Rs.5,000/- in cash, golden ring of about 1.5 Tola and one number white coloured silver box, like of silver metal were recovered. On being investigated, he confessed to have committed various occurrences theft with his other accomplices, namely, Arvind Parihar @ Bunty, Rajan, Jitu, Naval, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Rahim. Recovery memo of recovered articles were prepared on the spot, a copy of which has been given to the accused.

However, in cross-examination, this witness has stated that in the first information report, names of accused persons was not mentioned nor any mark of identification of any accused was there nor there was any mark of identification of stolen articles nor there was any eye witness nor any independent public witness of occurrence. He did not get the identification parade of accused persons conducted nor any proceeding for identification of stolen article was conducted.

So far arrest of arrest of Shivam Tiwari is concerned, in the present case Shivam is not under Appeal and present appellants were not apprehended alongwith this witness. Confessional statement of Shivam, that too, made by the present witness, before the Police personnel, with no recovery from appellants, makes his testimony of no relevance.

17. Meaning thereby his examination-in-chief and examination-in-cross is with full of variance. Moreso, even single iota regarding offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC is there, on record, against present convict appellants, except their alleged confessions, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police, which was not admissible in evidence. If entire prosecution case is admitted for the sake of argument, it may be said that those accused persons were apprehended with possession of those recovered articles, but there is neither any specific mark of identification nor there is any corresponding evidence for connecting with above offence of theft was there on record, which was not there and as such in absence of any such evidence, prosecution miserably failed to prove its case.

18. Section 457 of Indian Penal Code (IPC) provides that "whoever commits lurking house-trespass by night, or house breaking by night, in order to committing of any offence punishable with imprisonment, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years'.

19. In present case, learned Trial Judge has convicted appellants for this offence with sentence, whereas no evidence of lurking house-trespass by night or house breaking by night is there. Theft stands defined in Section 378 IPC. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft does actually carry out his intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft is in no way a necessary essential ingredient in either of the offences. It frequently happens that lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night is followed by theft, but the offence can be committed without theft or any intention to commit it. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.

20. Allahabad High Court in 41 Cr.L.J, 623 (Allahabad), Chhadami v. Emperor, has propounded that in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. Regarding presumption under illustration (a) to Section 114, Evidence Act, may also attract a graver offence, like one, under 457 IPC, where the accused is found in possession of articles stolen and obtained by house-breaking, it cannot be inferred that he has committed an offence of house-breaking and theft. Presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession.

21. In present case, no evidence of house breaking by night or lurking house-trespass by appellants was there, except alleged recovery of cash, but the same was not established by specific mark of identification or by denomination of currency notes recovered, which were alleged to have been stolen from the house of the informant to co-relate with the property alleged to have been stolen from above breaking locks of shop or recovery of cash from convict-appellants.

22. Under Section 380 IPC, essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC, is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved.

23. In present case, offence of theft was got registered by informant against unknown thieves. Subsequently, alleged recovery of alleged stolen cash money was said to have been made from convict-appellants. Offence of theft or taking of articles from building, by convict appellants, was not proved by any witness and on the basis of possession and presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, offence under Section 380 IPC was deemed to be proved whereas identification of alleged recovered cash, with no specific mark of identification, was neither established, by way of identification parade, or by way of proving it before Trial court.

24. Hence, learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.

25. In view of what has been discussed above, this Criminal Appeal deserves to be allowed.

26. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 20.07.2018, passed by the Trial Court, is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of all the charges. The appellants are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

27. Keeping in view the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C. appellants are directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond and two reliable sureties, each, in the like amount, to the satisfaction of Trial court before it, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against the instant judgment or for grant of leave, the appellants, on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

28. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE RAM KRISHNA GAUTAM, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 7229 OF 2018

Bachu @ Hira Lal ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ashok Kumar Singh.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. IPC – section 506 I.P.C- The essential ingredient for offence punishable under this section is offence of criminal intimidation defined under section 503 I.P.C

To bring home an offence punishable u/s 506 I.P.C. the prosecution has to prove that accused threatened the victim to injure his person, reputation or property or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested. In the present case PW2-victim, in her testimony, has said that while she protested for rape, the convict-appellant intimidated her by show of knife for killing her in case of opening of lips to anyone or protesting such rape. She was criminally intimidated and assaulted for sexual assault. For this, there is no contradiction or exaggeration or embellishment. Rather full corroboration is there. Hence this too has been fully proved. (Paras 26 &27)

B. POCSO Act, 2012: - u/s 4 of POCSO Act, 2012- aggravated form of offence punishable u/s 376 I.P.C.

C. The cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence is, unless proved, presumption of innocence is there and prosecution is to prove charge beyond doubt, whereas accused is to prove exceptions, given under the Code, or lack of any essential ingredient of that particular offence to the extent of preponderance of probabilities.

If he succeeds in creating situation of existence of preponderance of probabilities, then benefit of doubt is to be given to him i.e.; the prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. But in this special legislation, this principle has been done away. Here, if the victim is child, below the age of 16 years, the presumption is in favour of prosecution and the defence is to prove contrary to it. But no evidence in defencehas been laid by accused. (Para 24)

D. Sentencing - question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual case. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. (Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This appeal, under section 374(2) of Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as Cr.P.C.), has been filed by convict appellant Bachu @ Hira Lal, against judgment of conviction and sentence made therein, dated 20.10.2018, passed by Court of VIII Additional Sessions Judge, Aligarh, in S.T. No. 48 of 2015, State Vs. Bachu @ Hira Lal, arising out of Case Crime No. 320 of 2014, u/s 376, 506 I.P.C. read with Section 4 Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, (hereinafter referred to as POCSO Act) P.S. Chandaus, District Aligarh, wherein convict appellant has been convicted for offences punishable u/s 376, 506 I.P.C. with offence punishable u/s 4 of POCSO Act, 2012. But as the offence punishable u/s 4 of POCSO Act was aggravated form of offence punishable u/s 376 I.P.C., hence, sentence of 10 years R.I. with fine of Rs. 30,000/- and in default six months' additional imprisonment for offence punishable u/s 4 of POCSO Act with two years R.I. and fine of 10,000/- and in default three months' additional imprisonment for offence punishable u/s 506 I.P.C. with a direction for concurrent running of sentences and adjustment of previous sentence, if any, was awarded. Memo of appeal contains that the trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it. Appellant was engaged as a contractor at Ganesh brickkiln. He had lent Rs. 35,000/- to informant, as advance, but she and her husband were not working properly. When pressure was exerted, this false concoction was lodged. Dr. Praveen Jahan (PW3), in her testimony, has held that hymen of victim was old torn. She was with no injury nor any spermatozoa was found in Pathological report. Alleged assault was of 30.11.2014, for which report was got lodged by way of presenting an application before the Senior Superintendent of Police, Aligarh, on 8.12.2014 i.e. nine days delayed report, with no explanation, was there. Investigation was not proper. Statement of owner of Ganesh Brickklin was not taken by Investigating Officer. All prosecution witness, examined, were interested witnesses. Impugned judgment of conviction was with no evidence on record and sentence awarded was much severe. Hence, this appeal with a prayer for setting aside the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence therein with a further prayer for acquittal in above trial.

2. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Singh, learned counsel for appellant, and Sri Munne Lal, learned AGA for the State, and gone through the impugned judgment and record of trial court.

3. Learned counsel for appellant argued that it was a case based on enmity. F.I.R. was lodged at a delay of nine days. Medical evidence was not in support of accusation of rape. There was material contradiction regarding place of occurrence, wherein field of sugarcane and field of wheat was said by prosecution, which was with material contradiction. Statement recorded u/s 164 Cr.P.C., as of victim, was under influence of her parents, who were under debt of convict appellant for which this false accusation was lodged. Detention of four years six months in judicial prison is there. Hence sentence being deterrent and not in consonance with offence, above detention may be deemed to be proper sentence.

4. Learned AGA has vehemently controverted the argument of learned counsel for appellant by arguing that it was a case of rape by convict appellant with a vulnerable girl of 14 years, who was ailing and was taken for giving medical treatment at a clinic of a medical practitioner, where from the convict appellant, who was co-worker at above brickklin and was under acquaintance, took her under deceit and committed rape with her. Victim and her parents being poor vulnerable labourer, reported the matter to brickklin owner, who asked them to be away from brickklin and get the case lodged at their respective police station. Attempt was made by the informant for getting case lodged at Police Station Jalalpur, District Hameerpur, but it was refused to be registered at the police station because of territorial jurisdiction of district Aligarh, where this offence was committed. Then after this victim and her parents appeared before the Senior Superintendent of Police, Aligarh, where her agony was heard and under direction of S.S.P., Aligarh, this case was got lodged at P.S. Women Cell, Aligarh, wherein victim-prosecutrix, her parents along with other witnesses have proved charge beyond doubt. Hence conviction and sentence was with evidence on record. It was a proper sentencing. Hence appeal be dismissed.

5. Prosecution case, as surfaced from record, is that FIR (Ext. Ka1), under thumb impression of informant Smt.

Noorjahan, w/o Rafiq, dated 8.12.2014, was presented before S.S.P., Aligarh, over which an order for registration of case crime number was passed by the S.S.P., Aligarh, on 8.12.2014 itself. This was with contention that informant Smt. Noorjahan, w/o Rafiq, is resident of village Ghauhal Bujurg, P.S. Jalalpur, District Hameerpur. On 30.11.2014 she along with her husband and daughter Km. Fatima, aged about 14 years, was at 'Ganesh Brickklin', situate at Chandaus within the area of P.S. Chandaus, District Aligarh, as labourer. Km. Fatima became ill. Her father Rafiq took her on 30.11.2014 at 5.00 P.M. at a clinic of a medical practitioner situated at Chandaus town. Bachu @ Hira Lal, resident of same village of informant, accompanied them. Rafiq after taking prescription left Fatima at above clinic and went in the town for purchasing medicines and some daily needs. In between Bachu @ Hira Lal apprised Fatima that her father had straight away gone to brickklin and she to accompany him to brickklin. This was refused by her. But under persuasion she was taken. On the way, in a sugarcane field, Bachu @ Hira Lal committed rape with her, by showing knife and he extended threat of dire consequences, in case of opening of lips to anyone. This was instantly complained by Fatima to her mother, after reaching at brickklin. Her mother and father went to brickklin owner and lodged complaint. But he asked them for going to their native place and to lodge report at P.S. Jalalpur. She, along with her husband and victim, went at P.S. Jalalpur, District Hameerpur, to lodge report, but the report was not lodged, because of being territorial jurisdiction of district Aligarh. Hence, on 8.12.2014, an application was filed before the S.S.P., Aligarh. Under his direction Case Crime No. 320 of 2014, u/s 376, 506 I.P.C. read with section 3/ 4 POCSO Act, 2012, was got lodged vide chick F.I.R. (Ext. Ka8) at P.S. Mahila Thana, District Aligarh, which was subsequently transmitted to P.S. Chandaus. This registration of case crime number was vide G.D. entry (Ext. Ka9). Prosecutrix was instantly examined, under medical examination, and medico legal report (Ext. Ka4), supplementary report (Ext. Ka5) was there. Her statement u/s 164 Cr.P.C. (Ext. Ka2) was recorded by Magistrate on 16.12.2014. She was produced before Medical Board for her age determination, wherein she was held to be of 15 years in report (Ext. Ka10). Investigation resulted in submission of charge sheet (Ext. Ka7), against convict Bachu @ Hira Lal, for offences punishable u/s 376, 506 I.P.C. read with section 3/ 4 POCSO Act. The court of Magistrate took cognizance over it, vide order dated 3.6.2015. As offences, punishable under these sections, were exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, hence file was committed to the Court of Sessions, from where it was sent to Special Court, exercising jurisdiction under POCSO Act, 2012.

6. After hearing learned public prosecutor as well learned counsel for accused, Trial Judge levelled charges against accused Bachu @ Hira Lal, vide order dated 16.1.2016 for offences punishable u/s 376, 576 I.P.C. and 3/ 4 POCSO Act, which were read over and explained to accused, who pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial.

7. Prosecution examined PW1- informant Smt. Noorjahan, PW2- victim Km. Fatima, PW3- Dr. Smt. Praveen Jahan, PW4- Investigating Officer Inspector Ramdarash Yadav and PW5- Constable Clerk 1339 Priti.

8. With a view to have explanation, if any, and version of accused over incriminating evidence furnished by prosecution, he was examined and his statement u/s 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded, wherein the accusation was denied with contention of false testimonies of PW1, PW2 and PW4, but testimonies of PW3-Dr. Smt. Praveen Jahan and PW5-Constable Clerk Priti were answered to be not under his knowledge. He stated that he was a contractor at above brickklin and there was money due against informant. With a view to grab the same, this false accusation was got lodged.

9. No evidence in defence was given by convict appellant.

10. Learned trial judge, after hearing learned counsel for both sides, passed the impugned judgment of conviction, as above, and after hearing over quantum of sentence, awarded sentences, as above.

11. PW5 is Constable Clerk Priti, who stated that after receiving original first information report of Smt. Noorjahan, w/o Rafiq, containing order of S.S.P., Aligarh, dated 8.12.2014, she got case crime number registered and this chick F.I.R. was entered in General Diary entry. At that time Noorjahan-informant along with victim Fatima, aged about 14 years, and her brother Imran was present at police station. In cross-examination, she has reiterated her previous statement by saying that she was posted at Mahila Thana, Aligarh, on 8.12.2014 as constable clerk, when this typed F.I.R. with order of S.S.P., Aligarh, was received. She registered it as Case Crime No. NIL of 2014, u/s 376, 506 I.P.C. read with section 3/ 4 POCSO Act at P.S. Mahila Thana, Aligarh, against Bachu @ Hira Lal. Chick F.I.R. No. 137 of 2014, under handwriting and signature of this witness, was proved and exhibited as Exhibit Ka8. This, registration of case crime number, was entered in the G.D. entry at 4.40 P.M. of 8.11.2014; under handwriting and signature of this witness; proved and exhibited as Exhibit Ka9. This G.D. entry was prepared under one and common process, under carbon copy, and it was in accordance with original G.D., brought by the witness, before the court, at the time of recording of her testimony. There is no contradiction, exaggeration and embellishment in her testimony. Not only this, when asked about this testimony, under statement recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C., it was neither disputed nor admitted by accused. Rather ignorance of same was answered.

12. Occurrence was of 30.11.2014 and this was a case registered under direction of S.S.P., Aligarh, passed over Exhibit Ka1, submitted by informant, before him. The reason of delay has been said in this report itself that informant and victim being poor, downtrodden labourer, made a complaint to brickklin owner, who asked them to get the case lodged at their police station. They went there at P.S. Jalalpur, district Hameerpur. But owing to territorial jurisdiction, they again came back at Aligarh and then after this case could be got lodged under the direction of S.S.P., Aligarh. Thus, reason of delay has been properly explained. This informant (PW1), though not being an eyewitness account of the occurrence, is the witness of getting FIR lodged. She, in her statement on oath under examination in chief, has categorically stated that her daughter Fatima, aged about 14 years, was suffering under ailment. Her husband Rafiq took her at a clinic at Chandaus for getting medicine for her. Bachu @ Hira Lal, who was resident of village of informant and was at work at above brickklin, accompanied them. When her husband went to have medicine from Medical Store in the Town, Bachu @ Hira Lal, under deceit, took her daughter with him and on the way, he committed rape with her. This was under threat of dire consequences and by show of knife. She came at brickklin and instantly complained to her. They went to brickklin owner, who asked them to lodge FIR at P.S. Jalalpur, District Hameerpur. They went there and again came back to Aligarh and got the case lodged. Statement of her daughter was recorded by the Magistrate and she was examined by Medical Officer. Though, in cross-examination, she has categorically said that she was not eyewitness of occurrence. Whatever was narrated by the victim, was under her knowledge. As the victim herself has been examined, this hearsay witness is of no avail. Regarding her testimony recorded under examination in chief, there is no contradiction, exaggeration or embellishment in examination in cross. She is fully intact.

13. PW3- Dr. Praveen Jahan, in her examination in chief, has said that while being posted as E.M.O. at M.L.G.DistrictWomanHospital, Aligarh, on 8.12.2014, she had examined Km. Fatima, D/o Rafiq, R/o Ghauhal Bujurg, P.S. Jalalpur, District Hameerpur, at 3.40 P.M., brought by police personnel Constable Suman Sharma of Police Women Cell, Aligarh. She was of average body built; with height of 152 cm and weight of 36 Kg. There was no mark of external injury over her person. Hymen was old torn and intact. Vaginal smear slide, for checking spermatozoa, was prepared and she was referred to C.M.O., Aligarh, for her age determination, with request for D.N.A. examination. Medico legal report, under thumb impression of victim; under handwriting and signature of this witness, was got prepared at the time of examination, which is on record as Exhibit Ka3. In accordance with pathological report (Ext. Ka4) supplementary report was prepared by this witness. There was no spermatozoa seen and prosecutrix was of 15 years of age. Exhibit Ka5 has been formally proved by this witness. In cross-examination, she reiterated the victim to be of 15 years of age and not being major. Regarding her testimony, while put u/s 313 Cr.P.C., no dispute was made by accused or his counsel. She is fully intact formal witness.

14. PW2- Fatima, victim, in her examination in chief, has categorically stated that she was of 13 years. When at about one and half years back from the date of evidence, at 5.00 P.M., she, along with her father, was at a clinic at Chandaus for taking medicine. Her father was brickklin labour. Accused Bachu @ Hira Lal was also a labour at that brickklin. She was left by her father at the clinic, till he comes back after taking medicine and some daily need things from town. She was there when Bachu @ Hira Lal came and asked her to be with him, which was denied. Again he persuaded by saying that her father had gone straight way to brickklin and she was to accompany him. Under belief, she went with him. But he committed rape with her in a sugarcane field, while being on way to brickklin. When she protested, threat of dire consequences by show of knife was extended. She complained the occurrence to her mother, after reaching at brickklin, who got this case lodged. She was medically examined and got her statement recorded before Magistrate, which was opened in Court at the time of her testimony and was with her photograph and thumb impression over it. The contents were admitted and this was exhibited as Exhibit Ka2. In cross-examination she has said that accused Bachu is resident of same village and he had come at above brickklin together to them for doing work of labour. There had been no quarrel or any dispute previously amongst them. Though, she could not raise rescue call because her mouth was shut by him and threat by show of knife was given by him. She complained to her mother at brickklin. Though, no one met, while on the way, nor she complained to anyone, otherwise she would have faced consequences by Bachu. This was complained to brickklin owner, but he did not help them and asked them to go to Hameerpur. Though, this witness has been cross-examined at length, but in over all appreciation of her testimony, there is no contradiction, exaggeration or embellishment, which be treated to be material one. Rather minor discrepancies and variance establishes her to be a natural witness.

15. Learned counsel for appellant has vehemently argued about crop of wheat and crop of sugarcane, as was shown in site map (Ext. Ka6), wherein 'Khet Gehun' has been written by Investigating Officer. But this court takes notice that occurrence was of 30.11.2014 and in the month of November there remains showing of wheat. It can never be a crop of wheat. Moreso, such type of variance was not a material variance at all. Rather a variation, owing to perception of a child witness, who had suffered mental agony of sexual assault by one, who was under belief, because of being native of same village, that too in the evening at about 5-6 P.M. of the month of November, which results in sunset and such variance under above facts and circumstances is natural variance.

16. Learned counsel for appellants has vehemently argued by way of hair splitting of fact. Whereas there is catena of judgment of this court as well as of Apex Court that illiterate, rustic and vulnerable witnesses, put under fatigue cross-examination, are bound to say with variations and those variations are natural variations proving them to be natural witness.

17. PW4 is Ram Darash Yadav, Investigating Officer. He, in his examination in chief, has said about registration of case crime number, investigation deputed to him and investigation performed by him. He has formally proved preparation of site map (Ext. Ka6), under his handwriting and signature filed on record, and filing of charge sheet (Ext. Ka7), for above offence under his handwriting and signature. In cross-examination, no question regarding investigation made by him or preparation of Exhibits Ka6 and Ka7, under his handwriting and signature, has been put to this witness nor any question regarding 'wheat crop' or 'sugarcane crop' or previous statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. as of witnesses have been put to this witness. He has proved his investigation as formal witness.

18. The purpose for legislation of a special Act for protection of children from sexual offences has been given by Legislature itself in the POCSO Act, 2012.

"An Act to protect children from offences of sexual assault, sexual harassment and pornography and provide for establishment of Special Courts for trial of such offences and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto." This object is with reference and context given by Legislature itself.

"WHEREAS clause (3) of article 15 of the Constitution, inter alia, empowers the State to make special provisions for children;

AND WHEREAS, the Government of India has acceded on the 11th December, 1992 to the Convention on the Rights of the Child, adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations, which has prescribed a set of standards to be followed by all State parties in securing the best interests of the child;

AND WHEREAS it is necessary for the proper development of the child that his or her right to privacy and confidentiality be protected and respected by every person by all means and through all stages of a judicial process involving the child;

AND WHEREAS it is imperative that the law operates in a manner that the best interest and well being of the child are regarded as being of paramount importance at every stage, to ensure the healthy physical, emotional, intellectual and social development of the child;

AND WHEREAS the State parties to the Convention on the Rights of the Child are required to undertake all appropriate national, bilateral and multilateral measures to prevent-

(a) the inducement or coercion of a child to engage in any unlawful sexual activity;

(b) the exploitative use of children in prostitution or other unlawful sexual practices;

(c) the exploitative use of children in pornographic performances and materials;

AND WHEREAS sexual exploitation and sexual abuse of children are heinous crimes and need to be effectively addressed.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Sixty-third Year of the Republic of India as follows."

Meaning thereby for the best interest and for ensuring healthy physical, emotional, intellectual and social development of the child and preventing them from being exploited sexually or otherwise this Act has been legislated in furtherance of responsibility owned vide International covenants and this enactment came in operation on 14.11.2002 vide S.O. 2705(E), dated 9th November, 2012, published in the Gazette of India, Extra, Pt. II, Sec. 3(ii), No. 2250, dated 9th November, 2012. In the present case, the occurrence is of 30.11.2014 i.e. after operation of this enactment.

19. Section 2(d) of this Act provides definition of child. "Child" means any person below the age of eighteen years". In medical examination, as per Exhibits Ka3, Ka4 and Ka5, prosecutrix, in the present case, has been held to be of 15 years of age. Though, her mother and she herself had narrated her age to be of 13 years and there are catena of citations about two years either way in medical age, hence this medico legal determination of age of 15 years may be two years either way. But towards lesser side i.e. 13 years is supported by testimonies of PW1 and PW2, who are mother of the victim and victim herself. But even if it is not being accepted, adding two years in positive way comes to 17 years, which is below 18 years of age. Hence this poor vulnerable victim PW2 was a child on the date of occurrence.

20. Chapter II of POCSO Act, 2012, provides for penetrative sexual assault and punishment therefor.

"3. Penetrative sexual assault.-

A person is said to commit "penetrative sexual assault" if-

(a) he penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(b) he inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of the child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(c) he manipulates any part of the body of the child so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any part of body of the child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or

(d) he applies his mouth to the penis, vagina, anus, urethra of the child or makes the child to do so to such person or any other person."

21. Section 4 of POCSO Act, 2012, provides:

"4. Punishment for penetrative sexual assault.- Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine."

Meaning thereby, this section provides for punishment for penetrative sexual assault, which provides that whoever commits penetrative sexual assault shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term, which shall not be less than seven years, but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine.

22. Learned counsel for appellant vehemently argued that there was no injury over the person of victim or her private organ and no spermatozoa was there. These injuries or presence of spermatozoa are not the condition precedent or sine qua non for constituting offence of penetrative sexual assault, written as above. It constitutes offence even by applying mouth to private organs, which never causes any injury or ejaculation. Hence the argument of learned counsel for appellant is of no avail.

23. Section 29 of the Act provides as under:

"29. Presumption as to certain offences.- Where a person is prosecuted for committing or abetting or attenuating to commit any offence under sections 3,5,7 and section 9 of this Act, the Special Court shall presume, that such person has committed or abetted or attempted to commit the offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved."

Meaning thereby, this section provides for presumption as to certain offences. It provides that where a person is prosecuted for violating any offence under sections 3, 5, 7 and section 9 of this Act, the Special Court shall presume, that such person has committed or abetted or attempted to commit the offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

24. The cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence is, unless proved, presumption of innocence is there and prosecution is to prove charge beyond doubt, whereas accused is to prove exceptions, given under the Code, or lack of any essential ingredient of that particular offence to the extent of preponderance of probabilities. If he succeeds in creating situation of existence of preponderance of probabilities, then benefit of doubt is to be given to him i.e.; the prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. But in this special legislation, this principle has been done away. Here, if the victim is child, below the age of 16 years, the presumption is in favour of prosecution and the defence is to prove contrary to it. But no evidence in defence has been laid by accused. Except a statement of false concoction, that owing to advance of Rs. 35000/- lent to informant has been said in statement recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. Whereas PW1 and PW2 both have proved that this accused is resident of same village of informant and he too is a labourer at brickklin, situated at Chandaus, District Aligarh, where he along with informant and other labourers had gone from district Hameerpur to do work of labour. Moreso, this plea was taken by convict-appellant and he was required to prove it that he had advanced money. He was a banker or money lender or was not a poor downtrodden labourer category and he had been running business of money lending. There was dues of Rs. 35000/- against informant for which she got this case registered. But not even a single iota of evidence has been given by convict-appellant. Whereas victim- prosecutrix, a child witness, has proved charge, levelled against convict-appellant, and this was substantiated and corroborated by formal witnesses.

25. Section 506 I.P.C. provides that whoever commits, the offence of criminal intimidation shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both; If threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, etc.-And if the threat be to cause death or grievous hurt, or to cause the destruction of any property by fire, or to cause an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or to impute, unchastity to a woman, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both.

26. The essential ingredient for offence punishable under this section is offence of criminal intimidation defined under section 503 I.P.C. Section 506 I.P.C. provides punishment for it and essential ingredients for offence punishable u/s 506 I.P.C. i.e. criminal intimidation - (1) threatening a person (i) with any injury to his person, reputation or property; or (ii) to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested. (2) the threat must be with intent; (i) to cause alarm to that person, (ii) or to cause that person to do any act which he is not legally bound to do, as the means of avoiding the execution of such threat; (iii) or to omit to do any act which that person is legally entitled to do, as the means of execution of such threat.

27. To bring home an offence punishable u/s 506 I.P.C. the prosecution has to prove that accused threatened the victim to injure his person, reputation or property or to the person or reputation of any one in whom that person is interested. In the present case PW2- victim, in her testimony, has said that while she protested for rape, the convict-appellant intimidated her by show of knife for killing her in case of opening of lips to anyone or protesting such rape. She was criminally intimidated and assaulted for sexual assault. For this, there is no contradiction or exaggeration or embellishment. Rather full corroboration is there. Hence this too has been fully proved.

28. So far as sentence regarding appellants is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual case.

29. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of Court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions persons aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that Courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime, which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vice Sumer Singh Vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder Vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. Vs. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji Vs. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

30. Hence, applying the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, I find that punishment imposed upon the appellant by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive or exorbitant and no question arises to interfere in the mater on the point of punishment imposed upon them.

31. In view of the above facts and circumstances, impugned judgment and order dated 20.10.2018 deserves to be affirmed and appeal is liable to be dismissed.

32. In the result, the Criminal Appeal is dismissed. Impugned judgment and order dated 20.10.2018, detailed above, is hereby confirmed/affirmed. The appellant, who is in jail, shall serve out the sentence awarded to him by the Trial Court.

33. Copy of this order along with lower Court record be sent to Court concerned forthwith.

34. A copy of this order be also sent to appellant through concerned Jail Superintendent.

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJENDRA KUMAR-IV, J.

Jail Appeal No. 6648 OF 2017

Inayatullah ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Ms. Abida Syed (A.C.)

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Evidence Act - merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness. More so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence. (Para35)

B. No prosecution case is fool proof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to beignored. (Para 45)

C. Section 313 Cr.P.C- Power to examine the accused-Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self-contradictory as to make it untrustworthy. Minor variations or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution. (Para 46)

Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. Go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. (Para -47)

D. Recovery – No independent witness. Held:- prosecution not obliged to produce independent witness in support of recovery involving police. Presumption that every person acts honestly applies as much in favour of a Police Official as any other person. There is no rule of law which lays down that no conviction can be recorded on the testimony of Police Officials even if such evidence is otherwise reliable and trustworthy. (Para 37)

2. The facts emanating from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") and the material available on record may briefly be stated as under for adjudication of this appeal: -

3. A written report Ex. Ka-1 was presented before Station Officer of Police Station Gorakhnath, District Gorakhpur by Informant PW-1 Ranjeet stating that he is resident of Village Manbela (Bangla), Post Office Jhungiya Bazar, Police Station Chiluatal, District Gorakhpur. He had a fruits shop near Fertilizer Gate, Jhungiya, and adjacent to it there was fruit shop of accused-appellant Inayatullah also. Father of Informant Shri Lal Ji Nishad used to sit on the Fruit shop. Few days earlier, an altercation had taken place between father of Informant and accused-appellant Inayatullah @ Bhonu for the reason that sale in the shop of the informant was much more, on account of which, accused-appellant bore jealousy with his father, which often resulted in altercation. Accused-appellant used to threaten Informant's father to settle the score. On 03.10.2011, in the morning, when Informant's father along-with informant was going to Fal-mandi (fruit market), Gorakhpur for purchase of fruits and they hardly reached Kaurihawa by tempo at about 08:30 A.M., accused-appellant Inayatullah @ Bhonu met and stopped tempo. After stopping the tempo, he called Informant's father for conversation. Informant's father alighted from tempo and went to him, and indulged in conversation. All of sudden accused-appellant took out a knife and started stabbing his father. As a result thereof he fell down. Thereafter, Informant got down from tempo, ran towards his father but by that time, accused-appellant had fled away from the place of occurrence along-with knife. Informant sent message of the incident at his home. In the meantime, police reached the place of occurrence and with their help, Informant took his father to DistrictHospital, where he breathed his last. Dead body of deceased was lying in the hospital.

11. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

12. In order to prove guilt of accused-appellant, prosecution examined as many as six witnesses, out of whom, PWs-1 and 2 are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses of Police and Health Department.

13. PW-1 is son of deceased and an eye witness. PW-2 Chhote Lal is younger brother of deceased Lal Ji Nishad and Uncle of PW-1 Informant. He had reached the place of occurrence getting on information from his nephew PW-1 Informant. Formal witnesses PW-3 Constable Pramod Kumar had registered FIR and prepared Chick report Ex.Ka-3. He has also prepared copy of GD entry dated 03.10.2011, copy of which is Ex.Ka-4. PW-4 is first IO who has appeared to prove site plan Ex.Ka-5; recovery memo Ex.Ka-6 in respect of sample of blood stained and plain earth; recovery memo Ex.Ka-7 regarding knife; inquest Ex.Ka-13 and documents Ex.Ka-8 to 12 with respect to sending the dead body of deceased Lal Ji Nishad to District Hospital for post-mortem, i.e., letter to RI, document in form 33, Photo Nash, and Chalan Nash. He has also sent recovered items in the docket to Forensic Science Laboratory for chemical examination. PW-5 Dr. A.N. Trigun had conducted autopsy on the dead body of Lal Ji Nishad and proved post-mortem report Ex.Ka-14. PW-6 Constable Rajinder Singh has verified signature of SI Amar Singh, the then SO of Police Station Gorakhnath, who has submitted Charge-sheet Ex.Ka-16.

14. After closure of prosecution evidence, accused-appellant was examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. on 25.11.2014. He has stated prosecution story to be false and concocted and that witnesses were deposing falsely and proceedings taken by police is ex-parte and bears no truth. He has stated to be implicated falsely on account of enmity.

15. On appreciation of evidence available on record and after hearing both the parties, learned Additional Sessions Judge recorded the verdict of conviction and sentence against the accused-appellant as stated above.

16. Feeling aggrieved, accused-appellant has approached this Court through Senior Superintendent of Jail, Gorakhpur assailing the impugned judgement.

17. We have heard Ms. Abida Syed, learned Amicus Curiae for appellant and Sri Ratan Singh, learned AGA for State at length and have gone through the record carefully with the valuable assistance of learned Counsel for parties.

18. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for appellant, refuting the impugned judgment of conviction, advanced his argument in the following manner :-

i. There is no strong motive to accused-appellant to commit murder of Informant's father.

ii. There is no public witness of incident. PW-1 is real son of the deceased.

iii. No independent witness came forward to support prosecution case.

iv. Medical evidence does not go with ocular evidence.

v. There are major contradictions in the evidence of prosecution, which may render the prosecution case doubtful.

vi. Prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond all shadow of reasonable doubt and Trial Court was wrong in convicting accused-appellant by its judgment, therefore, accused-appellant is liable to be acquitted getting benefit of doubt.

19. Learned AGA opposed submissions made on behalf of accused-appellant and submitted that it is a day-light murder; accused- appellant is named in FIR, which has been promptly lodged in the Police Station concerned; PW-1 was with his father (deceased) at the time of incident, therefore, he is a natural witness; non-examination of independent witness does not help accused-appellant because in the heinous offence, like murder, nobody comes forward to support the prosecution case due to fear of evil; prosecution is not obliged to produce all witnesses in evidence and prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused. Lastly, he prayed that appeal must be dismissed confirming the impugned judgment.

20. We have travelled the entire evidence available on file with the valuable assistance of the learned counsel for the parties.

21. Although time, date and place of occurrence and nature of injury found on the person of deceased have not be disputed from the side of the appellant but according to advocate, accused-appellant is not responsible for murder of Informant's father and he has been falsely implicated in the present case. Even otherwise from the evidence of PWs-2, 4 and 5, it is established that at the relevant time, date and place, Informant's father Lalji Nishad was assassinated and his body was found lying on the place, as stated by the prosecution.

22. Only question remains for consideration is "whether accused-appellant caused murder of Informant's father Lalji Nishad by inflicting knife blow on him and he is only responsible for committing murder of Informant's father (Lalji Nishad) or not and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant for offence of murder punishable under Section 302 IPC or not?"

23. Here it would be appropriate for us to briefly consider the evidence of prosecution.

24. PW-1, happens to be eye witness, has deposed that his father had a fruit shop near fertilizer gate, Jhuggia and adjacent to him, there was a fruit shop of accused-appellant; sale in the shop of his father was much more than that of accused-appellant due to which, accused-appellant bore jealously with his father; on 03.10.2012, at about 8:30 AM, he along with his father was going to fruit market, Gorakhpur by Tempo; when they reached Kaudiyahwa Jamalpur by Temp at about 8:30 AM, accused-appellant-Inayatullah, stopping Tempo, called upon his father for conversation; during the course of conversation accused-appellant started stabbing in the stomach of his father, due to which, he fell down on the earth; while yelling he rushed to his father, accused-appellant ran away towards Bargadwa weaving his knife; he saw that his father got seriously injured by that time; with the help of Police personnel who arrived on spot, he took his father to Sadar Hospital, Gorakhpur by Tempo, where he was declared dead by the doctor; he got scribed a Written Tehrir, Ex.Ka-1, by one Ajay Kumar and put his signature on it and presented it to Police Station concerned; and on the basis of Written Tehrir, case came to be registered. He further deposed that some days prior to incident, during conversation accused-appellant threatened Informant's father to take his life.

25. PW-1 is the only witness of the fact, who has been produced by prosecution in support of its case. He withstood a lengthy cross examination but no adverse material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement. Certainly some minor contradictions occurred in the statement but they are not of such nature, which might be sufficient to go the root of the case.

26. According to Advocate of accused-appellant, PW-1 is not an eye witness and his statement inspires no confidence. According to him PW-1 in his cross examination at page no.20 of paper book admitted that he reached on spot, when accused-appellant ran away towards Bargadwa, in this way witness has not seen the incident. We are not impressed with the argument advanced by learned Counsel for accused-appellant and reject the same for the reasons that PW-1 categorically stated in his cross examination at page no.20 of paper book that he had seen the accused-appellant stabbing knife to his father. Accused-appellant stabbed 4 to 5 times in the stomach, when he (accused-appellant) started stabbing knife, he (witness) alighted from Tempo and rushed to spot. Reading of statement will be all together and not in pieces.

27. PW-4, SI Anand Kumar Sahi, the then Station House Officer, Police Station Gorakhnath deposed that he took investigation of Crime No. 475 of 2011, under Section 302 IPC, proceeded to spot, recorded statement of Informant, visited spot at the pointing of Informant, prepared site plan, collected blood stained and simple earth from the spot, arrested accused-appellant near Bargadwa Chauraha and took him into custody, recorded his disclosure statement and on his pointing out recovered a knife with blood allegedly used in the incident, before public witness Ajay Kumar and Chhote Lal (not examined), prepared recovery memo Ex.Ka-7.

28. PW-5 deposed that he was posted as Medical Officer in Paniram, Chargawan Block, District Gorakhpur. On 03.10.2011, he conducted autopsy over the dead body of Lalji Nishad and found five incised wound in his person. He opined that death was possible due to coma and hemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries at about 8:30 AM on 03.10.2011 and injuries found on the person of deceased might have been caused by knife. In this way, medical evidence is compatible with the ocular evidence.

29. It has come in statement of PW-1 that accused ran away from the spot weaving his knife and as per statement of PW-4 accused-appellant was arrested and on his pointing out knife with blood, which was used in the commission of offence, was recovered by Investigating Officer before public witness. Accused was arrested by Investigating Officer on the same day, shortly after the incident, and there was a sufficient motive to accused to commit the crime on account of business rivalry. In statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused-appellant stated that PW-1, Ranjeet, has given false evidence against him but he did not suggest anything as to why he was giveing false statement against him. He has not given any single explanation as to why, he has been falsely implicated in this case.

30. So far as argument made by learned Amicus Curiae regarding the motive is concerned, we do not impress with the submission advanced by learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant as it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.

31. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."
