Special Appeal (D) No. 150 of 2022

S.I. Sanjay Kumar ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Pankaj Kumar Gupta

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Ankit Gaur (State Law Officer)

A. Service Law – Under-performance – Censure entry - The Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 - Rule 4(1)(b)(iv), 14(2), 7 & 7(1).

Opportunity of hearing - No elaborate procedure of holding an inquiry is required in the case of a minor penalty, as is the case when major penalty is imposed. In the case of a minor penalty envisaged u/Rule 4(1)((b)(iv) of the Rules, all that is required is that the Police Officer concerned is to be informed in writing about the action proposed to be taken and imputations of the act or omission, on which the action is proposed, giving him reasonable opportunity of making a representation against the proposed action. This is all that is required u/Rule 14(2) of the Rules, in case where a minor penalty is imposed. (Para 11)

In present case, there was sufficient compliance with the requirement of putting the appellant to notice about the imputation that constituted the omission on his part, against which he was given an opportunity to furnish his explanation that was placed before the Government and duly considered by them before making the order impugned. (Para 12)

B. Jurisdiction - The Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 - Rule 7 - The Government has jurisdiction under the Rules to punish a police officer of the subordinate rank like the appellant and no issue about the jurisdiction or lack of authority can, therefore, be validly raised. It is true that any punishment, including minor penalties, can be imposed upon a police officer by an officer not below the rank of Deputy Inspector General of Police, but Rule 7 clothes the Government in the first place with the power to punish a police officer of the subordinate rank under the Rules. (Para 13, 14)

C. The correctness of the imputations about acts of omissions that are the basis of action against him are purely factual in nature and cannot be gone into by this Court in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction u/Article 226 of the Constitution. (Para 15)

Special appeal dismissed. (E-4)

Present special appeal assails judgment and order dated 23.03.2022, passed by Hon'ble Mrs. Justice Manju Rani Chauhan, J. in Writ-A No. 330 of 2022.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J. & Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is an appeal by the petitioner of Writ - A No.830 of 2022, impugning the order of the learned Single Judge dated 23.03.2022, dismissing the writ petition.

2. The appellant is a Sub-Inspector of Police, who was promoted from the ranks in the year 2013. He is posted at Police Station Hanumanganj, District Kushinagar. Like other Sub-Inspectors, he was entrusted with investigation of criminal cases, numbering 30, until July, 2021. Out of these 30, the appellant completed investigation into a total of 16, submitting a report in Court. Apparently, the other cases remained pending, where the investigation was not concluded.

3. On the 9th September, 2021, the Chief Minister issued directions to the higher officials of the Police to review law and order in different districts and find out whether investigation in accordance with law is being completed. The higher officials examined records of different police stations across the State. It is asserted by the petitioner that in twelve different districts, they found criminal cases where the investigation has not been completed and cases were pending with the Police. The petitioner was posted, as already said, at Police Station Hanumanganj, District Kushinagar on 18.03.2021 and the scrutiny by the higher officials found the ratio of completion of investigations in the district to be poor. The superior police officials directed the district-level police officials to submit a detailed report along with names of Investigating Officers, who had not done investigation and submitted a police report before the Court concerned within time. The higher officials also asked from each of the twelve under-performing districts in the matter of investigation, the names of three Sub-Inspectors/ Inspectors (Investigating Officers), who had done the minimum number of investigations. Their names, rank and place of posting were all required to be intimated to the Additional Director General of Police (Crimes). In fact, it was the Additional Director General of Police aforesaid who furnished the individual details of three Investigating Officers from each district to the Government vide his letter dated 26.09.2021.

4. The appellant was identified in District Kushinagar as one of the three Investigating Officers, who had done the minimum number of investigations and he was reported to the Government. It appears that for the aforesaid under-performance in his investigative duties, he was given a warning on 7th March, 2022 by the Superintendent of Police of Kushinagar. On the report submitted to the Government, the order impugned dated 16th November, 2021 came to be passed, awarding the appellant a censure entry. The appellant challenged the order dated 16th July, 2021 passed by the State Government before this Court by means of Writ - A No.830 of 2022. The aforesaid writ petition has been dismissed by the learned Single Judge vide order dated 23.03.2022.

5. Disillusioned, the appellant has preferred this appeal.

6. We have heard Mr. Pankaj Kumar Gupta, learned Counsel for the appellant and Mr. Ankit Gaur, learned State Law Officer on behalf of the respondents.

7. It is submitted by the learned Counsel for the appellant that the learned Single Judge has failed to appreciate that the order impugned has been passed without affording the appellant any opportunity of hearing. He submits that a censure entry is after all one of the minor penalties contemplated under Rule 4(1)(b)(iv) of The Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 (for short, 'the Rules'), which have adverse civil consequences. The order, therefore, impugned before the learned Single Judge could not have been made without opportunity.

8. It is further submitted by the learned Counsel for the appellant that the Government have no jurisdiction to pass the impugned order, which vests in the Deputy Inspector General of Police.

9. Learned Counsel for the State has supported the impugned order and submitted that it was passed after due opportunity of hearing.

10. Upon considering the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for parties and perusing the order impugned, besides the material on record, we do not find any merit in this appeal.

11. The submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant that the order impugned was passed without opportunity is not borne out by the record. In fact, a perusal of the order impugned shows that after identifying the three Investigating Officers in each of the twelve districts, who had done the least number completed investigations, their explanations were sought through the Additional Director General of Police (Crimes) and after securing explanations from each of the Investigating Officers concerned, these were placed before the Government. The learned Counsel for the appellant has not been able to demonstrate from any material that his explanation was not secured or considered by the Government before the impugned order was passed. In the case of a minor penalty envisaged under Rule 4(1)((b)(iv) of the Rules, all that is required is that the Police Officer concerned is to be informed in writing about the action proposed to be taken and imputations of the act or omission, on which the action is proposed, giving him reasonable opportunity of making a representation against the proposed action. This is all that is required under Rule 14(2) of the Rules, in case where a minor penalty is imposed. No elaborate procedure of holding an inquiry is required in the case of a minor penalty, as is the case when major penalty is imposed.

12. To our mind, therefore, there was sufficient compliance with the requirement of putting the appellant to notice about the imputation that constituted the omission on his part, whereagainst he was given an opportunity to furnish his explanation that was placed before the Government and duly considered by them before making the order impugned.

13. So far as the question of jurisdiction is concerned, it is true that any punishment, including minor penalties, can be imposed upon a police officer by an officer not below the rank of Deputy Inspector General of Police, but Rule 7 of the Rules clothes the Government in the first place with the power to punish a police officer of the subordinate rank under the Rules. In this connection, Rule 7(1) of the Rules may be quoted with profit:

"7. Powers of punishment.-(1) The Government or any officer of police department not below the rank of the Deputy Inspector General may award any of the punishments mentioned in Rule 4 on any Police Officer."

14. It is, therefore, evident that the Government have jurisdiction under the Rules to punish a police officer of the subordinate rank like the appellant and no issue about the jurisdiction or lack of authority can, therefore, be validly raised.

15. The learned Counsel for the appellant also endeavoured to dispute the correctness of the imputations about acts of omissions that are the basis of action against him by reference to details of his duty during the relevant period of time that prevented him from concluding the investigation. Those issues are purely factual in nature and cannot be gone into by this Court in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. Learned Counsel for the appellant has not been able to point out any procedural flaw or infirmity, vitiating the impugned order or any illegality, that may render it unsustainable.

16. In the circumstances, the impugned order passed by the learned Single Judge is unexceptionable.

17. The appeal fails and is dismissed.

18. There shall be no order as to costs.

Writ-A No. 3427 of 2022

Mohd. Adi Ahmad ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Mujib Ahmad Siddiqui

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Abhishek Srivastava

A. Service Law – Selection – Rule of normalization - The High Courts cannot over step its jurisdiction by giving directions which would amount to setting aside the decision of the expert opinion of testing agency. (Para 7)

The Master Answer Key which is published by the testing agency or formulated by the testing agency for the examination being conducted and held by it, is prepared by team of subject experts. Once the subject experts have taken the view that a particular answer is the correct answer to a question, there is no mechanism itself for the Court to sit in appeal over and above the opinion of the subject expert. (Para 6)

B. Publication of revised answer key - Clause 10 of Transparency Rule - As far as the publication of revised answer key by the testing agency is concerned, there is no such rule. Clause 10 of Transparency Rule of the advertisement clearly takes care of the objections which are invited to the Master Answer Key published by the testing agency and then the disposal of objections by the testing agency through its subject experts, which are then considered to be final. (Para 5)

Petitioner has not questioned the advertisement itself and after having submitted to the selection process and appearing in the written examination conducted by the testing agency and even having filed objections as per clause 10, he cannot be permitted to take the plea that in spite of there being no such provision contained u/Clause 10 of the advertisement, as a rule of transparency, the testing agency ought to have published the revised answer key. (Para 6)

C. The rule of normalization is adopted by the testing agency to bring at par the meritorious students who have gained maximum marks in different set of papers which have been formulated by the testing agency to hold examination in different shifts. (Para 11)

It is well within the domain of testing agency to formulate rules and regulations for the purposes of holding free and fair selection. It is not the case of the petitioner that he was not aware of any such terms and conditions under the advertisement regarding modalities to be adopted by the testing agency. It is after the petitioner has found himself to have not succeeded on merits that he has come to challenge the rule of normalization. Therefore, at this stage, rule of normalization cannot be questioned. Even otherwise, nothing has been argued to demonstrate that the rule of normalization has been adopted at different stages of the selection to prejudice the rights and interest of the candidates who participated in the selection process. (Para 12)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. UPPSC through its Chairman & anr. Vs Rahul Singh & anr., Civil Appeal No. 5838 of 2018 (Para 7)

2. Smt. Shimla Singh Vs St. of U.P. & anr., Writ-A No. 25791 of 2018, decided on 19.12.2018 (Para 8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mujib Ahmad Siddiqui, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Abhishek Srivastava, learned counsel for respondent nos. 2 & 3 as well as learned Standing Counsel.

2. The petitioner before this Court has been an applicant to the post of Junior Engineer (Trainee) pursuant to the advertisement issued by the Electricity Services Commission and he has been declared successful in the written examination but has come to be ousted after verification of credentials and records when the final merit list was published. He raised in this petition twin arguments: one, the selecting agency did not publish the revised answer key after it had invited objections as per the brochure and found certain objections to be valid so as to demonstrate transparency in selection as conceived of vide clause 10 of the advertisement; and the second argument advanced is that the normalization criteria adopted by the testing agency was not a proper criteria and had the normalization not been made applicable, the petitioner would have been selected.

3. Sri Abhishek Srivastava, in compliance of the last order of this Court, has obtained instructions in the matter and placed the same before this Court which are taken on record.

4. As per the instructions obtained by Sri Srivastava, after the written examination was held as per clause 10 of the advertisement, objections were invited to the answer key published by the testing agency and the objections that were received were duly dealt with by the subject experts nominated by the testing agency for the said purpose and finally the report was submitted and on the basis of said report, the testing agency was permitted to declare the result by the Secretary of the Electricity Services Commission under its letter dated 11.11.2021. He, therefore, submits that the testing agency had fully complied with the procedure prescribed for under clause 10 of the advertisement. Secondly, he submits that soon after the notice of this petition was received by him, he had forwarded the copy thereof to Electricity Services Commission who referred the matter of objections regarding questions which are turned out to be 12 in number at the end of the petitioner, to the testing agency. The testing agency got examined the same and found one objection raised by the petitioner regarding question ID No. 9277592169 to be valid and accordingly awarded full marks for that to the petitioner.

5. It is argued by learned counsel for the respondents that even after getting full marks for one objection being found to be valid, the petitioner could not qualify. Learned counsel for the respondents has further argued that as far as the publication of revised answer key by the testing agency is concerned, there is no such rule. He submits that clause 10 of Transparency Rule of the advertisement clearly takes care the objections are invited to the Master Answer Key published by the testing agency and then the disposal of objections by the testing agency through its subject experts, which shall be final and therefore, he argues that there is no question to publish any revised answer key after the objections are met by the subject experts. With regard to other argument of normalization rule being made applicable to the selection process by the testing agency, he submits that the brochure did provide for normalization method to be adopted and the method to be adopted has been explained away in Annexure No. 1 to the advertisement. He submits that once the normalization criteria was made an integral part of modalities to be adopted by the selecting agency in preparation of final selection and the petitioner submitted to the same while applying against the advertisement and followed the terms and conditions in the advertisement, now he cannot be permitted to take a turn around to suggest that the normalization rule was per se illegal method adopted by the testing agency or was a fraud method that has resulted in rejection of his candidature on merits.

6. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and their arguments raised across the bar, I find that both the arguments raised by learned counsel for the petitioner in support of this petition do not hold merit. Firstly, once the petitioner had applied, he has not questioned the advertisement itself and after having submitted to the selection process and appearing in the written examination conducted by the testing agency and even having filed objections as per clause 10, he cannot be permitted to take the plea that in spite of there being no such provision contained under Clause 10 of the advertisement, as a rule of transparency, the testing agency ought to have published the revised answer key. Even otherwise I do not find this argument to be holding any merit as the objections that have been put forth by the petitioner have been met by the subject experts of testing agency and one of the objections raised by the petitioner having been found to be valid, he has been awarded marks for the same, I, therefore, do not find, in the absence of any argument that the other objections if should have been held valid even against grant the opinion of subject expert nominated by the committee. The law on this point is also well settled, the Master Answer Key which is published by the testing agency or formulated by the testing agency for the examination being conducted and held by it, it has its own team of subject experts. Once the subject experts have taken the view that a particular answer is the correct answer to a question, there is no mechanism itself

7. Reliance placed by the learned counsel for the respondent upon the judgment of Supreme Court in Civil Appeal No. 5838 of 2018, UPPSC through its Chairman & Anr v. Rahul Singh & Anr is worth consideration here at this stage. Vide paras 14 & 15 of the judgment, the Supreme Court has held that the High Courts cannot over step its jurisdiction by giving directions which would amount to setting aside the decision of the expert opinion of testing agency. Paragraph nos. 14 & 15 of the Judgment are reproduced hereunder:

14. In the present case we find that all the 3 questions needed a long process of reasoning and the High Court itself has noticed that the stand of the Commission is also supported by certain text books. When there are conflicting views, then the court must bow down to the opinion of the experts. Judges are not and cannot be experts in all fields and, therefore, they must exercise great restraint and should not overstep their jurisdiction to upset the opinion of the experts.

15. In view of the above discussion we are clearly of the view that the High Court over stepped its jurisdiction by giving the directions which amounted to setting aside the decision of experts in the field. As far as the objection of the appellant - Rahul Singh is concerned, after going through the question on which he raised an objection, we ourselves are of the prima facie view that the answer given by the Commission is correct.

8. This above judgment has also been followed by me in the case of Smt. Shimla Singh v. State of U.P. and Another, Writ - A No. 25791 of 2018 decided on 19.12.2018 and vide paragraph 24 of the judgment I have held thus:

"24. Applying the law as discussed by the Apex Court and held so in the judgment of Rahul Singh (supra), to the facts of the present case, I find that the expert opinion having been obtained in respect of the questions and the way they proved with the aid of relevant text book materials, there is hardly any scope to sit in appeal over such expert opinion. This Court in exercise of power of judicial review will certainly not transgress an area in which it has no expertise and where it has to act and take a decision only with the aid of experts of such field/ area. The questions may carry an answer, which may on the face of it appear to be correct and may be in some of the text books that is indicated to be so but ultimately it is the paper setting Committee and the Moderation Committee which has the advantage of having subject experts of various fields, if have arrived on a conclusion that particular answer is correct answer, this Court will refrain itself from holding it otherwise. ....."

9. In view of the above objection to correctness of answer by subject expert is rejected, and so the argument regarding objection part to the questions raised by the petitioner cannot be accepted and hence rejected.

10. In so far as the normalization rule is concerned, I find that this rule has been made an integral part of modalities to be adopted by the testing agency for holding selection in respect of the advertisement published against which the petitioner has been the applicant.

11. The rule of normalization is adopted by the testing agency to bring at par the meritorious students who have gained maximum marks in different set of papers which have been formulated by the testing agency to hold examination in different shifts.

12. In the considered view of the Court, it is well within the domain of testing agency to formulate rules and regulations for the purposes of holding free and fair selection. It is not the case of the petitioner that he was not aware of any such terms and conditions under the advertisement regarding modalities to be adopted by the testing agency. It is after the petitioner has found himself to have not succeeded on merits that he has come to challenge the rule of normalization. I, therefore, do not find this to be a stage to question the rule of normalization. Even otherwise, nothing has been argued to demonstrate that the rule of normalization has been adopted at different stages of the selection to prejudice the rights and interest of the candidates who participated in the selection process.

13. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed, consigned to records with no order as to cost.

A. Service Law – Transfers/Posting of physically challenged officers - Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016: Section 2(r), 2(d), 2(s) - If there is any beneficial or compassionate policy to accommodate any employee for the specific and certain reason, the same must be abide by in its letter and spirit. (Para 17)

(i) If the same policy is providing two separate guidelines, the guideline which is of beneficial nature shall prevail over the general guidelines inasmuch as the beneficial guideline is issued to serve a particular purpose and if such guideline is flouted it may cause an irreparable loss to a person which, generally, cannot be compensated in terms of money. The Transfer Policy/Guidelines which provides that whosoever has completed 10 years of service at one place shall be transferred from one zone to another zone, then the same policy also clearly indicates vide para 1.2 that a transfer/posting of a spouse etc. of a person with 'benchmark disability' or long term disability, shall be exempted from routine/rotational transfer in terms of DOPT Guidelines dated 08.10.2018. (Para 18)

The DOPT Guidelines (infra) clearly provides that such government employee may be exempted from routine transfer/rotational transfer subject to the administrative constraints. A routine/rotational transfer, which has been made in compliance of the guidelines, may not be considered as administrative constraint. (Para 18)

(ii) There is no good reason to implement the policy vide para-3 i.e. 'Rotational Transfer' ignoring the para 1.2 of the same policy (infra). The rotational transfers are meant for a person who has not been protected by any compassionate or beneficial policy but if any employee has been protected from any beneficial or compassionate policy, the same may not be ignored unless there is any administrative reason to transfer such person from one zone to another zone. (Para 19)

B. Normally, the transfer is an exigency/incidence of service and courts ordinarily do not interfere with the transfer orders but if such transfer may be avoided for any specific compelling reason and that reason is unavoidable, the Competent Authority being model employer should consider such condition sympathetically. At the same time the transfer may not be punitive in nature. (Para 22)

In the present case, petitioner's wife is serving on the post of Telephone Attendant in Secretariat Telephone Exchange at Lucknow despite having 100% disability and while discharging her duties on such post she has confidence at the back of her mind that her husband is residing at Lucknow to look-after her in a critical situation, if need be. But, compelling/directing petitioner to submit his joining at Cooch Behar, Kolkata, which is about 1500 KM from Lucknow, would cause irreparable mental pain to him as he would not be able to look-after and take care of his wife and would cause irreparable mental injury to his wife as well. (Para 20, 22)

Petitioner's grievance has been considered earlier and he was retained at Lucknow and therefore, it should be considered now as well, as it is of permanent nature, irrespective of the question of availability of post. (Para 21)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Present petition assails order dated 16.04.2022, passed by General Manager, Central Bank of India, Human Resource Deptt. transferring 163 employees in different Zones as well as order dated 20.04.2022, whereby petitioner has been directed to be relieved from his present place of posting.

2. By means of this writ petition, the petitioner has assailed the order dated 16.04.2022 passed by the opposite party No.1 transferring as many as 163 employees in different Zones serving at Central Bank of India from one place to another. The petitioner, whose name finds place at serial No.132, has been transferred from Lucknow to Cooch Behar, Kolkota. The petitioner has also assailed the order dated 20.04.2022 whereby he has been directed to be relieved from his present place of posting.

3. The petitioner is serving on the post of Officer (Scale-II) in Central Bank of India.

4. At the very outset, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Shireesh Kumar, has drawn attention of this Court towards Annexure No.3 of the writ petition, which is Unique Disability ID issued by the Competent Authority of the Government of India relating to wife of the petitioner, namely, Smt. Priya Chaturvedi, who is permanent disable person having 100% disability.

5. Further attention of this Court has been drawn by learned counsel for the petitioner towards the policy/norms framed on Transfer of Mainstream/ Specialized Officer in Scale-I, II & III of the Bank. Sri Shireesh Kumar has referred para-1.2 of the aforesaid policy, which reads as under:-

"1.2 In respect of transfers/ posting of physically challenged officers, with benchmark disability and Officer who is caregiver of dependent daughter/ son/ parents/ spouse/ brother/ sister with 'Specified Disability' as certified by the certifying authority, as a Person with Benchmark Disability, as defined under Section 2 (r) of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016, in terms of DOPT guidelines O.M.No.42011/3/2014-Estt (Res) dated 8th October, 2018, bank shall follow the guidelines issued by Govt. of India from time to time, subject to administrative constraint."

6. Since one memorandum of DOPT dated 08.10.2018 has been referred in the aforesaid guideline of the Bank so Sri Kumar has demonstrated such office memorandum being issued by the DOPT dated 08.10.2018 which has been annexed as Annexure No.5 to the writ petition. He has drawn attention of this Court towards para-3 (i) & (iii) of the aforesaid office memorandum of DOPT dated 08.10.2018, which read as under:-

"(i) A Government employee who is a care-giver of dependent daughter/ son/ parents/ spouse/ brother/ sister with Specified Disability, as certified by the certifying authority as a Person with Benchmark Disability as defined under Section 2 (r) of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016 may be exempted from the routine exercise of transfer/rotational transfer subject to the administrative constraints.

(iii) The term 'Specified Disability' as defined herein is applicable as grounds only for the purpose of seeking exemption from routine transfers/ rotational transfer by the Government employee, who is a care-giver of dependent daughter/ son/ parents/ spouse/ brother/ sister as stated in para-3 (i) above."

7. Sri Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that so as to understand the meaning of 'care-giver', 'benchmark disability' and 'permanent disability', the relevant provision of Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016 (here-in-after referred to as the "Act, 2016") may be perused. Section 2 (d) of the Act, 2016 defines 'care-giver', Section 2 (r) defines 'benchmark disability' and Section 2 (s) defines 'person with disability', for convenience, Section 2 (d), (r) & (s) are being reproduced here-in-below:-

"2 (d) "care-giver" means any person including parents and other family Members who with or without payment provides care, support or assistance to a person with disability;

(r) "person with benchmark disability" means a person with not less than forty per cent of a specified disability where specified disability has not been defined in measurable terms and includes a person with disability where specified disability has been defined in measurable terms, as certified by the certifying authority;

(s) "person with disability" means a person with long term physical, mental, intellectual or sensory impairment which, in interaction with barriers, hinders his full and effective participation in society equally with others."

8. As per Sri Kumar, the present petitioner being care-giver of his wife who is permanent disabled, may be given the benefit of own policy of the Bank vide item No.1.2 (supra). As per the aforesaid protection, any transfer of employee be it routine transfer or rotational transfer may be exempted from such transfer.

9. Sri Kumar has further submitted that vide office order dated 20.04.2022 (Annexure No.8) the petitioner was directed to get himself relieved but he has not been relieved as he has not submitted any application for relieving, as recital to this effect has been given in para-31 of the writ petition. However in para-32 of the writ petition, it has been indicated that out of so many posts of Manager/ Officer in the rank of the petitioner are vacant in Lucknow Region and the petitioner may be accommodated against any post in such Region inasmuch as if he is compelled to submit his joining to Cooch Behar, Kolkata which is about 1500 KM from Lucknow, he would not be able to look-after his wife, who is requiring permanent care from her husband.

10. Therefore, Sri Kumar has submitted that the impugned transfer order, so far as it relates to the petitioner, may be stayed and the petitioner may be accommodated at anywhere at Lucknow Region if he may not be permitted to be posted at a place from where he has been transferred to Cooch Behar, Kolkata.

11. Per contra, Sri Gopal Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite parties has submitted that the present petitioner is serving at Lucknow Region for the last about 28 years and as per the same Transfer Policy/ Guidelines, any officer who has completed 10 years at one place/zone shall be transferred to another place/zone. Therefore, pursuant to the aforesaid policy the present petitioner has been transferred from Lucknow Zone to another zone.

12. Sri Srivastava has further submitted that on earlier occasion the similar grievance of the petitioner has been considered sympathetically, therefore, he has been retained at Lucknow Zone for about 28 years.

13. Sri Srivastava has also submitted that wife of the petitioner is serving on the post of Telephone Attendant in Secretariat Telephone Exchange, Lucknow.

14. Sri Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner has not disputed the aforesaid submission of learned counsel for the opposite parties, however, he has submitted that she has been given such appointment under the handicapped quota.

15. Sri Srivastava has also apprised the Court that the petitioner has already been relieved on 09.05.2022 and in his place one incumbent has already joined, therefore, it may not be possible for the Bank to permit the petitioner to serve on the same post at the same place. He has also submitted on the basis of instructions that in the Lucknow Region almost all the vacancies are already filled up.

16. Learned counsel for the parties are agreeable that the matter may be disposed of finally at the admission stage as the submissions of learned counsel for the parties have been considered.

17. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the material available on record, I am of the considered opinion that if there is any beneficial or compassionate policy to accommodate any employee for the specific and certain reason, the same must be abide by in its letter and spirit.

18. Since wife of the petitioner is a permanent disable person having 100% disability and to look-after and take care of her is a sole responsibility of the petitioner, then his status shall come within the meaning of term 'care-giver' as defines under Section 2 (d) of the Act, 2016. On account of disability of wife of the petitioner, she is a person with the 'benchmark disability' and a 'person with disability' as per the meaning of Section 2 (r) & (s) of the Act, 2016. If the Competent Authority of the Bank has transferred the petitioner in compliance of the Transfer Policy/ Guidelines which provides that whosoever has completed 10 years of service at one place shall be transferred from one zone to another zone, then the same policy also clearly indicates vide para 1.2 that a transfer/ posting of a spouse etc. of a person with 'benchmark disability' or long term disability, shall be exempted from routine/ rotational transfer in terms of DOPT Guidelines dated 08.10.2018. The DOPT Guidelines (supra) clearly provides that such government employee may be exempted from routine transfer/ rotational transfer subject to the administrative constraints. A routine/ rotational transfer, which has been made in compliance of the guidelines, may not be considered as administrative constraint. Besides, if the same policy is providing two separate guidelines, the guideline which is of beneficial nature shall prevail over the general guidelines inasmuch as the beneficial guideline is issued to serve a particular purpose and if such guideline is flouted it may cause an irreparable loss to a person which, generally, cannot be compensated in terms of money.

19. Therefore, I do not find any good reason to implement the policy vide para-3 i.e. 'Rotational Transfer' ignoring the para 1.2 of the same policy (supra). The rotational transfers are meant for a person who has not been protected by any compassionate or beneficial policy but if any employee has been protected from any beneficial or compassionate policy, the same may not be ignored unless there is any administrative reason to transfer such person from one zone to another zone.

20. In the present case, the wife of the petitioner is serving on the post of Telephone Attendant in Secretariat Telephone Exchange at Lucknow despite having 100% disability and while discharging her duties on such post she has confidence in the back of her mind that her husband is residing at Lucknow to look-after her in a critical situation, if need be, but if the petitioner is compelled to submit his joining at Cooch Behar which is about 1500 KM from Lucknow, the wife of the petitioner may likely to suffer irreparable loss.

21. Now, the question that there is no post available in Lucknow Region and the petitioner may not be permitted to serve anywhere at Lucknow Region, I am unable to comprehend that when the petitioner has earlier been retained at Lucknow considering his aforesaid grievance then as to why his grievance has not been considered now inasmuch as the grievance of the petitioner is of permanent nature.

22. Normally, the transfer is an exigency/ incidence of service and no courts are ordinarily interfered with the transfer orders but if such transfer may be avoided for any specific compelling reason and that reason is unavoidable, the Competent Authority being model employer should consider such condition sympathetically. At the same time the transfer may not be punitive in nature and in the present case if the petitioner is directed to submit his joining at Cooch Behar, Kolkata, it would cause irreparable mental pain to him that he would not be able to look-after and take care of his wife which would cause irreparable mental injury to her also.

23. Therefore, considering the peculiar facts and circumstances of the issue in question, I hereby allow the present petition at the admission stage. The impugned order dated 16.04.2022 (Annexure No.6), so far as it relates to the petitioner, to be more precise the transfer of the petitioner is concerned, is hereby quashed.

24. Since in place of petitioner someone has submitted his joining, as informed by Sri Gopal Kumar Srivastava as per instructions, therefore, the opposite parties are directed to accommodate the petitioner at any suitable place at Lucknow Region, be it in a rural areas or urban areas as per the convenience of the authorities and appropriate order to that effect shall be issued forthwith, preferably, within a period of fifteen days from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order. The petitioner is also directed to submit his joining at a place where he is directed to submit his joining in compliance of this order forthwith.

25. However, no order as to cost.

THE HON'BLE AJIT KUMAR, J.

Writ-A No. 4339 of 2022

Laxmi ...Petitioner
Versus
Canara Bank & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Shiv Kumar Gupta, Maharani Deen Yadav

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Krishna Mohan Asthana

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment – Compassionate appointment is not a vested right or an alternate mode of employment. It has to be considered and granted under the relevant rules. The purpose to offer compassionate appointment is to show compassion to the family that has suddenly landed in a crisis for loss of regular income of the deceased bread winner who met an accidental death. It is not a heritable right to be considered after an unreasonable period, for the vacancies cannot be held up for long and that appointment should not ordinarily await the attainment of majority. Where the family has survived for long, its circumstances must be seen before the competent authority may consider such appointment. It is not to be ordinarily granted, where a person died close to his retirement. (Para 4, 7, 10)

The intention of giving compassionate appointment is to virtually restore the source of livelihood which the family has stood denuded of on account of bread winner's death in harness but in the present case, where the family has survived for more than a decade and there has never been any effort to seek compassionate appointment for all those years passed, the claim of divorced daughter on account of her being divorced by her husband in the year 2020, is not liable to be considered as divorce of a married daughter after 13 years of the death of her father itself cannot be a cause to show compassion in the matter.

Mother had been given all the terminal dues and she never made any application for compassionate appointment and she also settled her daughter with her husband. Admittedly, she was not dependent of her father when he died and only mother was dependent, who never came forward to seek appointment on compassionate ground. (Para 8, 13, 14)

Precedent followed:

1. Iqbal Khan Vs St. of U.P. & ors., (2022) 04 ILR A 714 (Para 5)

2. Navendra Kumar Upadhyay Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Special Appeal No. 1601 of 2012, decided on 22.10.2021 (Para 9)

3. U.O.I. Vs Smt. Asha Mishra, Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 13102 of 2010, decided on 07.05.2010 (Para 10)

4. Central Coalfields Ltd. Through its Chairman and Managing Director & ors. Vs Parden Oraon, Civil Appeal No. 897 of 2021, decided on 9th April, 2021 (Para 11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

2. By means of this writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution, the petitioner has prayed for a direction to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner seeking compassionate appointment raised in her representation dated 18the December, 2021.

3. Sri Krishna Mohan Asthana, learned counsel for the respondents submits that sole bread earner had died on 27th December, 2007 and all the dues were paid to the dependents and further he submits that no such application for compassionate appointment was filed for a period of 13 years and now for the first time application seeking compassionate appointment was made in the year 2021.

4. It is submitted that the compassionate appointment is exception to the general rule of appointment and is offered to the dependents to tide over the situation to meet the sudden crisis on account of death of sole bread earner of the family.

5. The dependents, who have been able to survive for more than 13 years cannot claim compassionate appointment as a matter of right as no such situation has been pleaded except the fact that earlier married daughter had been divorced by her husband in the year 2020. He has placed reliance upon the judgment of Division Bench of this Court in the case of Iqbal Khan v. State of U.P. and others passed in Special Appeal No.- 148 of 2022 decided on 1st April, 2022.

6. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and having examined the pleadings raised and the documents brought on record, I find merit in the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the respondent bank.

7. The purpose to offer compassionate appointment is to show compassion to the family that has suddenly landed in a crisis for loss of regular income of the deceased bread winner who met an accidental death.

8. Admittedly, mother had been given all the terminal dues and she never made any application for compassionate appointment and she also settled her daughter with her husband. Now, if daughter has got divorced from her husband, that itself cannot be a ground to give compassionate appointment to the divorced daughter after a lapse of thirteen long years. Admittedly, she was not dependent of her father when he died and only mother was dependent, who never came forward to seek appointment on compassionate ground.

9. In the case of Navendra Kumar Upadhyay v. State of U.P. and others (Special Appeal No.- 1601 of 2012) decided on 22nd October, 2021, Division Bench of this Court has held thus:

"The object of compassionate appointment is to enable the family of the deceased - employee to tied over the sudden financial crisis due to death of the bread earner which has left the family in penury and without means of livelihood, it is an exception to the normal rule of public employment, it is a concession. The basic intention to grant compassionate appointment is that on the death of the employee, his family is not deprived of the means of livelihood. It can not be claimed by way of inheritance. Compassionate Appointment can not be treated as a Bonanza. It is not disbursement of gift. It is not sympathy syndrome. It is meant to provide minimum relief for meeting immediate hardship to save the bereaved family from sudden financial crisis due to death of sole bread winner. If employer finds that Financial arrangement made for family subsequent to death of the employee is adequate members of the family can not insist for compassionate appointment."

10. Another judgment of Division Bench of this Court in the case of Union of India v. Smt. Asha Mishra (Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.- 13102 of 2010) decided on 7th May, 2010 has held thus:

"The principles of consideration for compassionate appointment have been firmly settled and have been reiterated from time to time. Compassionate appointment is not a vested right or an alternate mode of employment. It has to be considered and granted under the relevant rules. The object of compassionate appointment is to tide over an immediate financial crisis. It is not a heritable right to be considered after an unreasonable period, for the vacancies cannot be held up for long and that appointment should not ordinarily await the attainment of majority. Where the family has survived for long, its circumstances must be seen before the competent authority may consider such appointment. It is not to be ordinarily granted, where a person died close to his retirement. The Court, however, has emphasised time to time and more authoritatively in National Institute of Technology Vs. Neeraj Kumar Singh, (2007) 2 SCC 481 that such appointment can be granted only under a scheme. It should not be considered after a long lapse of time."

11. Even Supreme Court in the case of Central Coalfields Limited Through its Chairman and Managing Director and others v. Parden Oraon (Civil Appeal No.- 897 of 2021) decided on 9th April, 2021 vide paragraph 9 has held thus:

"9. ... The application for compassionate appointment of the son was filed by the Respondent in the year 2013 which is more than 10 years after the Respondent's husband had gone missing. As the object of compassionate appointment is for providing immediate succor to the family of a deceased employee, the Respondent's son is not entitled for compassionate appointment after the passage of a long period of time since his father has gone missing."

12. Following the above judgments yet another Division Bench judgment of this Court very recently in the case of Iqbal Khan v. The State of U.P. and others (Special Appeal No.- 148 of 2022) decided on 1st April, 2022 held that objection to offer the compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule to only enable the family to tide over the sudden financial crisis caused due to the death of sole bread winner.

13. So, the intention is virtually restore the source of livelihood which the family has stood denuded of on account of bread winner's death in harness but where the family has survived for more than a decade and there has never been any effort to seek compassionate appointment for all those years passed, the claim of divorced daughter on account of her being divorced by her husband in the year 2020, is not liable to be considered as divorce of a married daughter after thirteen years of the death of her father itself cannot be a cause to show compassion in the matter.

14. Thus Court is of this considered view that the application of divorced daughter for compassionate appointment cannot be considered now after more than 13 years.

15. The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

16. Consigned to records.

THE HON'BLE MRS. MANJU RANI CHAUHAN, J.

Writ-A No. 6672 of 2022

Prashant Kumar ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Atipriya Gautam, Sri Ishir Sripat, Sri Rishabh Kesarwani, Sri Vijay Gautam(Sr. Adv.)

C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Selection/Appointment – Suppression - In case offence is petty in nature committed at young age, such as stealing a bread, shouting of slogans or is such which does not involve moral turpitude, cheating, misappropriation etc. or otherwise not a serious or heinous offence and accused has been acquitted or if disclosed would not have rendered an incumbent unfit for post in question, in such a case when verification form is filled, employer may ignore lapse of suppression or submitting false information in appropriate cases on due consideration of various aspects. (Para 9, 10)

There was no suppression of relevant facts or submission of false affidavit at that stage of verification. It is unfortunate that a criminal case of trivial nature came to be registered against the petitioner on 10.05.2021, which was later withdrawn vide order dated 15.02.2022, but the petitioner was not aware of the same, as neither any summons were issued nor he was arrested or had obtained bail from any competent court. Therefore, at the time of verification, he gave an affidavit not disclosing the fact about the pendency of criminal case, which was not deliberate on his part. (Para 8, 11)

Therefore, the order impugned dated 31.03.2022 cancelling the candidature of the petitioner is not sustainable in the eye of law and the same is liable to be set aside.

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Avtar Singh Vs U.O.I. & ors., 2016 (8) SCC 471 (Para 5)

2. Pawan Kumar Vs U.O.I. & anr., AIR 2022 SC 2829 (Para 5)

3. St. of U.P. & ors. Vs Vijay Kumar & ors., Special Appeal (Def.) No. 734 of 2016 (Para 5)

Present petition assails order dated 31.03.2022, passed by the Commandant 44th Bn. P.A.C., Meerut, District Meerut, by which the candidature of the petitioner for selection/appointment on the post in question has been cancelled.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Vijay Gautam, Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Rishabh Kesarwani, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner with the following prayer:-

"(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 31.03.2022 passed by the respondent no.6, (enclosed as Annexure no.1) to the writ petition by which the candidature of the petitioner for selection/appointment on the post of Constable Civil Police and Constable PAC, Direct Recruitment-2018-II has been cancelled.

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction, in the nature of mandamus, commanding the respondent authorities, to appoint the petitioner finally for the post of Constable Civil Police and Constable PAC, Direct Recruitment-2018-II, pursuant to the advertisement dated 16.11.2018 and in pursuance of the select list issued vide notification dated 02.03.2020 with all consequential benefits.

(iii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus, directing the respondent authorities, to send the petitioner for necessary training on the post of Constable Civil Police and Constable PAC, direct Recruitment-2018-II pursuant to the advertisement dated 16.11.2018 and in pursuance of the select list issued vide notification dated 02.03.2020...."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner applied pursuant to the advertisement dated 16.11.2018 for the post of Constable Civil Police and Constable PAC, Direct Recruitment-2018-II. The petitioner appeared in the written examination on 27.01.2019. He was declared successful in written examination and, thereafter, he appeared in document verification & Physical Efficient Test (PET) and he was declared medically fit in the aforesaid test. As per the final list of selected candidates, which was published on 02.03.2020, the petitioner was shown as successful candidate. Thereafter, he was allotted district-Meerut for joining his training, however, the competent authority has not permitted the petitioner to join his training (JTC), on the ground that the petitioner has given a false affidavit with respect to pendency of criminal case, which was lodged against the petitioner and one unknown person on 10.05.2021 being Case Crime No.142 of 2021, under Sections 188, 269, 270 IPC and 3 Epidemic Act at P.S. Doghat, District-Baghpat.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that pursuant to the order passed by this Court dated 08.10.2021 in Cri. Misc. Writ Petition No.7787 of 2021 (Vinay Kumar and Ors. vs. State of U.P. and Ors.), the State Government has withdrawn all the criminal proceedings, which have been initiated under Epidemic Act 1987, during pandemic of Covid-19 on 26.10.2021. Pursuant to the aforesaid, the criminal case lodged against the petitioner has also been withdrawn on 15.02.2022. The petitioner was neither arrested nor he has obtained bail from any court in the aforesaid case and the said FIR was lodged behind the back of petitioner as the petitioner did not have any knowledge about lodging of the said FIR, therefore, at the time of submitting the affidavit, he has not disclosed about the aforesaid criminal case, which was later withdrawn. Subsequently, the impugned order dated 31.03.2022 has been passed by respondent no.6 whereby the candidature of the petitioner has been cancelled in an arbitrary manner without application of judicial mind, therefore, the order impugned cannot be sustained in the eye of law.

5. He further submitted that as the aforesaid criminal case against the petitioner has been withdrawn vide order dated 15.02.2022 and he has already been exonerated from all the charges, therefore, the case of the petitioner should have been considered while passing the order impugned. He further submits that while passing the order impugned, the respondent authorities has not applied their mind and passed a technical order without considering the directions as issued by the Apex Court in the cases of Avtar Singh Vs. Union of Indian and others, reported in 2016(8) SCC 471 and Pawan Kumar vs. Union of India and another reported in (2022) 0 Supreme (SC) 391. He further submits that the petitioners' claim for appointment is liable to be considered in the light of Avtar Singh (supra), which has been followed by the Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal (Def.) No. 734 of 2016 (State of U.P. and others Vs. Vijay Kumar and others). Contention is that the petitioner's claim has not been examined, in accordance with law.

6. On the other hand, learned Standing Counsel submits that at the time of submission of affidavit, a criminal case was pending against the petitioner, therefore, the petitioner has suppressed the fact of pendency of criminal case and submitted a false affidavit, hence he is not entitled to be considered for appointment on the said post, as any person desirous of holding the post of government servant has to act with utmost good faith and truthfulness. He further submits that there is no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned, therefore, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

7. I have considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties as well as gone through the entire materials brought on record.

8. Undisputedly, on the date, when the affidavit has been submitted by the petitioner, though a criminal case was instituted against the petitioner but he did not have knowledge of the same as neither any summons were issued nor he was arrested or had obtained bail from any competent court, therefore, there was no suppression of relevant facts or submission of false affidavit at that stage. It is unfortunate that a criminal case of trivial nature came to be registered against the petitioner on 10.05.2021, which was later withdrawn, but the petitioner was not aware of the same, therefore, at the time of verification, he gave an affidavit not disclosing the fact about the pendency of criminal case, which was not deliberate on his part.

9. The Apex Court in the case of Avtar Singh Vs. Union of Indian and others, reported in 2016(8) SCC 471 has held that in case offence is petty in nature committed at young age, such as stealing a bread, shouting of slogans or is such which does not involve moral turpitude, cheating, misappropriation etc. or otherwise not a serious or heinous offence and accused has been acquitted in such a case when verification form is filled, employer may ignore lapse of suppression or submitting false information in appropriate cases on due consideration of various aspects. It has also held that non-disclosure of conviction/acquittal in a case of trivial nature such as shouting slogans at young age or for a petty offence which if disclosed would not have rendered an incumbent unfit for post in question, the employer may, in its discretion, ignore such suppression of fact or false information by condoning the lapse. Paragraph no. 38 of the aforesaid judgment is as under:-

"38. We have noticed various decisions and tried to explain and reconcile them as far as possible. In view of aforesaid discussion, we summarize our conclusion thus:

38.1 Information given to the employer by a candidate as to conviction, acquittal or arrest, or pendency of a criminal case, whether before or after entering into service must be true and there should be no suppression or false mention of required information.

38.2 While passing order of termination of services or cancellation of candidature for giving false information, the employer may take notice of special circumstances of the case, if any, while giving such information.

38.3 The employer shall take into consideration the Government orders/instructions/rules, applicable to the employee, at the time of taking the decision.

38.4 In case there is suppression or false information of involvement in a criminal case where conviction or acquittal had already been recorded before filling of the application/verification form and such fact later comes to knowledge of employer, any of the following recourse appropriate to the case may be adopted : -

38.4.1 In a case trivial in nature in which conviction had been recorded, such as shouting slogans at young age or for a petty offence which if disclosed would not have rendered an incumbent unfit for post in question, the employer may, in its discretion, ignore such suppression of fact or false information by condoning the lapse.

38.4.2 Where conviction has been recorded in case which is not trivial in nature, employer may cancel candidature or terminate services of the employee.

38.4.3 If acquittal had already been recorded in a case involving moral turpitude or offence of heinous/serious nature, on technical ground and it is not a case of clean acquittal, or benefit of reasonable doubt has been given, the employer may consider all relevant facts available as to antecedents, and may take appropriate decision as to the continuance of the employee.

38.5 In a case where the employee has made declaration truthfully of a concluded criminal case, the employer still has the right to consider antecedents, and cannot be compelled to appoint the candidate.

38.6 In case when fact has been truthfully declared in character verification form regarding pendency of a criminal case of trivial nature, employer, in facts and circumstances of the case, in its discretion may appoint the candidate subject to decision of such case.

38.7 In a case of deliberate suppression of fact with respect to multiple pending cases such false information by itself will assume significance and an employer may pass appropriate order cancelling candidature or terminating services as appointment of a person against whom multiple criminal cases were pending may not be proper.

38.8 If criminal case was pending but not known to the candidate at the time of filling the form, still it may have adverse impact and the appointing authority would take decision after considering the seriousness of the crime.

38.9 In case the employee is confirmed in service, holding Departmental enquiry would be necessary before passing order of termination/removal or dismissal on the ground of suppression or submitting false information in verification form.

38.10 For determining suppression or false information attestation/verification form has to be specific, not vague. Only such information which was required to be specifically mentioned has to be disclosed. If information not asked for but is relevant comes to knowledge of the employer the same can be considered in an objective manner while addressing the question of fitness. However, in such cases action cannot be taken on basis of suppression or submitting false information as to a fact which was not even asked for.

38.11 Before a person is held guilty of suppressio veri or sugge6716The stio falsi, knowledge of the fact must be attributable to him."

10. Following the judgment in the case of Avtar Singh (supra), the Apex Court in its latest judgment in the case of Pawan Kumar vs. Union of India and another, reported in 2022 0 Supreme (SC) 391, has held that by mere suppression of material/false information regardless of fact whether conviction or acquittal has been recorded, employee/recruit is not to be discharged/terminated axiomatically from service just by a stroke of pen. At the same time, effect of suppression of material/false information involving in a criminal case, if any, is left for employer to consider all relevant facts and circumstances available as to antecedents and keeping in view objective criteria and relevant service rules into consideration, while taking appropriate decision regarding continuance/suitability of employee into service. Paragraph no. 16 of the aforesaid judgment is as under:-

"16. The judgment relied upon by the respondent Rajasthan Rajya Vidyut Prasaran Nigam Limited andanotherv. Anil Kanwariya(2021) 10 SCC 136may not be of any assistance for the reason that it was a case where the respondent employee before submitting application pursuant to the advertisement inviting applications was convicted by the competent Court of jurisdiction and this fact was not disclosed by him while filling his application form and that was the reason favoured upon the Court while upholding action of the authority in passing the order of termination which was impugned in the proceedings. We have already quoted paragraph 38 of the judgment by a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Avtar Singh (supra) and in the context of the factual background of the present case applied the said principles. One distinguishing factor, as noticed above, is that the criminal complaint/FIR in the present case was registered post submission of the application form. We have also taken into account the nature of the allegations made in the criminal case and that the matter was of trivial nature not involving moral turpitude. Further, the proceedings had ended in a clean acquittal. As is clear from paragraph 38 in Avtar Singh (supra), all matters cannot be put in a straitjacket and a degree of flexibility and discretion vests with the authorities, must be exercised with care and caution taking all the facts and circumstances into consideration, including the nature and type of lapse."

11. Having considered the arguments raised by learned counsel for the parties and having gone through the case laws as referred hereinabove, this Court finds that at the time of submission of affidavit, the criminal case was already registered against him but the petitioner did not have knowledge of the same as neither any summons were issued nor he was arrested or had obtained bail from any competent court, therefore, there was no suppression of facts or submission of false affidavit at that stage. Also the aforesaid criminal case, which is trivial in nature was withdrawn vide order dated 15.02.2022, hence the competent authority while passing the order impugned has failed to follow the mandate of the Apex Court in the case of Avtar

Singh (supra) and Pawan Kumar (supra), therefore, the order impugned dated 31.03.2022 cancelling the candidature of the petitioner is not sustainable in the eye of law and the same is liable to be set aside.

12. In view of the above, the impugned order dated 31.03.2022 passed by respondent no.6 is set aside and the matter is remitted to the respondent no.6, who in turn, shall consider the case of the petitioner herein and take a decision afresh, in accordance with law as well as keeping in view the law laid down by Apex Court in Avtar Singh (supra) and Pawan Kumar (supra), within a period of two months from the date of receipt of certified copy of this order, if there is no other legal impediment.

13. With the aforesaid observations/directions, this writ petition is, accordingly, allowed.

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Raees Ahamad, Sri Sanjay Kumar Om

A. Service Law – Jurisdiction - Power to stay order of termination - U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982: Section 30, 32; U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921: Section 16(G) to 16(I), 16(G)(3)(a), 16(G)(7), 16-FF; U.P. High Schools And Intermediate Colleges (Payment Of Salaries Of Teachers And Other Employees) Act, 1971 (U.P. Act No 24 of 1971) - The District Inspector of School has no jurisdiction to interfere with the power of administration of minority institution w.r.t. their right to take disciplinary action against their staff. Petitioner's college is a minority college, therefore, District Inspector of School has no jurisdiction to pass the order dated 25.02.2021. (Para 31, 32)

U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – Sections 16(G)(3)(a) - Since no appropriate guidelines have been provided for exercise of power u/s 16G(3)(a) of the Act, such an uncanalised power on the Inspector or the Inspectress would tantamount to an inroad into the power of disciplinary control of the Managing Committee of the minority institution over its employees; hence the said provision would not apply to the minority institution as it impinges the right of minority to have disciplinary control over its employees. (Para 23, 24, 28)

Protection is given to the minority institutions u/Art. 30(1) of the Constitution of India for their administration. Regulations which are framed to ensure the standard of institution and are for the benefit of institution are permissible, but the moment it goes beyond a mere regulation and may impair the right of administration of minority institutions, Art. 30 of Constitution of India comes into play and such regulation is hit by Art. 30 of Constitution of India. (Para 27)

B. U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 - Sections 30 & 32 - It is worth to point out that after enactment of Act, 1982, the power of approval or disapproval as provided u/s 16(G)(3)(a) of the Act, 1921 has been vested in the Board under the Act No. 5 of 1982. S.32 of the Act No. 5 of 1982 which deals with the applicability of Act, 1921 and provides that provision of Act, 1921 and regulations framed therein so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of the Act, 1982 or rules made thereunder shall remain in force for the purposes of selection, appointment, promotion, dismissal, removal, termination or reduction in the rank of a teacher. (Para 29)

Section 30 of the Act, 1982 states that the provisions of the said Act shall not apply to the institution established and administered by a minority referred to in Clause (1) of Article 30 of Constitution of India. Thus, reading of S.30 of the Act, 1982 clearly suggests that legislature did not want to put any fetter upon the power of management of minority institution in disciplinary matters otherwise there was no reason for the legislature to exclude the minority institution from the purview of Act, 1982. 1. The State of Uttar Pradesh & ors. Vs Principal Abhay Nandan Inter College & ors., AIR 2021 SC 4968 (Para 19, 33)

Present petition assails order dated 25.02.2021, passed by the District Inspector of Schools, District Jaunpur, staying the order of termination of respondent no. 4 (Shri Ashutosh Kumar Singh) subject to the decision of Criminal Case No. 141/2020 and directing the petitioner to submit his salary bills.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.K. Om, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos.1 to 3 and Sri Rahul Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent no.4.

2. The petitioner by means of the present writ petition has assailed the order dated 25.02.2021 passed by respondent no.3 by which he has stayed the order of termination of respondent no.4 subject to the decision of Criminal Case No.141 of 2020, under Sections 379, 419, 420 and 506 I.P.C. and directed the petitioner to submit salary bills of respondent no.4.

3. The petitioner is Committee of Management of Shiraze Hind Inter College, Murki, Kerakat, District Jaunpur (hereinafter referred to as 'college'). The said college is recognized and aided intermediate college governed by the provision of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1921') and also U.P. Act No.24 of 1971. The petitioner claims that the college is a minority college and the provision of U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1982') is not applicable to the college being minority college.

4. The respondent no.4- Ashutosh Kumar Singh was appointed as Assistant Teacher on 04.08.2010 in the college. The respondent no.4 failed to discharge his duties properly as he was involved in groupism, politics and also trying to control the management of the college which effected the study of the students and future of the students of the college was at stake.

5. The respondent no.4 was issued a show cause notice by the petitioner which was replied by the respondent no.4 on 10.02.2020. The reply of respondent no.4 was placed before the petitioner for consideration. The petitioner found the reply of respondent no.4 to the show cause notice unsatisfactory and consequently, suspension order dated 17.02.2020 was issued against respondent no.4.

6. Thereafter, disciplinary committee on 05.05.2020 issued charge sheet against the respondent no.4 levelling six charges, which reads as under;-

"अतः आपके विरूद्ध जांच उपरान्त आरोप पत्र निम्नलिखित बिन्दुओं पर दिया जाता है।

(1) आपके कार्यकाल में विद्यालय ,शीराजे हिन्द इण्टर कालेज मुर्की, केराकत, जोनपुर) की साख समाज में गिरी एवं विद्यालय, विद्यालय न रहकर राजनीति का अड्डा और एक अन्य स०अ० मो० राफे के साथ आपका धनोपार्जन का अड्डा बनकर रहा गया।

(2) आपके और अन्य स०अ० मो० राफे द्वारा छात्रों को कोचिंग और ट्यूशन पढ़ाने के लिए उत्प्रेरित किया जाता है और इसको लेकर छात्रों को मारा पीटा भी जाता है। आपके इस क्रिया कलाप से विद्यालय से छात्रों का पलायन तेजी से हो रहा है।

(3) आपके क्रिया कलाप एवं स०अ० मो० राफे के साथ गुटबाजी करके विद्यालय की व्यवस्था पर अधिकार जमाने हेतु प्रबन्ध समिति के साथ नूरा कुश्ती करने में व्यस्थ रहते हैं।

(4) आपको दिनांक 04.02.2020 को कारण बताओ नोटिस का जवाब कमेटी को न देकर आपने उल्टे कमेटी से ही सवाल पूछ लिये इससे प्रतीत होता है कि आप दबंग, अनुशासनहीन और सरकश किस्म के व्यक्ति हैं और आपका असामाजिक तत्वों से भी गठजोड़ है।

(5) आप द्वारा बारबार शासनप्रशासन को गुमराह करने का प्रयास किया गया जिससे विद्यालय को काफी आर्थिक व सामाजिक नुकसान उठाना पड़ा।

(6) विद्यालय में पठन पाठन कार्य में रूचि नहीं देते है। मोबाइल पर 'पबजी' गेम में व्यस्त रहते हैं।"

7. The respondent no.4 submitted reply to the aforesaid charge sheet on 09.05.2020. The respondent no.4 was aware of the fact that college was minority college and Section 16(G)(7) of the Act, 1921 is not applicable yet he wrote a letter dated 11.05.2020 to respondent no.3-District Inspector of Schools, Jaunpur.

8. On receiving the letter of respondent no.4, the respondent no.3-District Inspector of School passed an order dated 11.05.2020 directing the petitioner to submit salary bills of respondent no.4 as the suspension order became inoperative on expiry of 60 days in absence of approval of respondent no.3 in view of Section 16 (G) (7) of the Act, 1921.

9. In the reply to the charge sheet, the respondent no.4 denied all the charges levelled against him. However, disciplinary committee did not find the reply of respondent no.4 satisfactory and accordingly, petitioner committee of management passed an order dated 18.05.2020 terminating the service of respondent no.4.

10. Further case of the petitioner is that respondent no.4 submitted a representation against the order of dismissal dated 18.05.2020 on 04.06.2020 before the respondent no.3 levelling false and frivolous allegation against the petitioner. The respondent no.3 took cognizance of the representation of the respondent no.4 in exercise of power conferred upon him under Section 16-FF of the Act, 1921 and issued a notice to petitioner to appear before him on 22.06.2020. The petitioner showed their inability to appear on 22.06.2020 due to pandemic COVID-19.

11. When respondent no.4 failed in his attempt to get reinstated, he in collusion with respondent no.3 got issued a show cause notice to petitioner calling upon him to show cause as to why the college may not put under authorised controller.

12. The aforesaid notice was replied by the petitioner on 29.10.2020. However, respondent no.2 by order dated 28.12.2020 put the college under authorised controller.

13. Being aggrieved by the order of appointment of authorised controller, petitioner preferred Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.586 of 2021 and Contempt Application (Civil) No.1296 of 2021. However, the respondent no.2 after receiving notice of the contempt application, recalled the order dated 28.12.2020.

14. Further case of the petitioner is that they came to know in the first week of March that respondent no.3 has reinstated the respondent no.4 by order dated 25.02.2021 which order could be obtained by the petitioner under Right to Information Act. The order dated 25.02.2021 passed by respondent no.3 is impugned in the writ petition.

15. The respondent no.4 has filed counter affidavit denying the averments made in the writ petition. The respondent no.4 stated in the counter affidavit that enquiry against him was conducted dehors the principle of natural justice. It is stated that petitioner has neither supplied any evidence/material alongwith charge sheet based on which charge sheet was issued nor any oral evidence of any of the witness was recorded. Thus, respondent no.4 was not given any opportunity to rebut the charges levelled against him nor was given opportunity to cross examine any of the witnesses, who supported the charges. It is stated that Section 16(G) to Section 16(I) of the Act, 1921 which provides condition for service of Head Master or Teacher is applicable to the minority institutions. On the strength of aforesaid pleadings, it is stated in the counter affidavit that approval of the District Inspector of School is necessary before termination order is issued.

16. In the rejoinder affidavit filed by the petitioners, they denied the averments contained in the counter affidavit of respondent no.4.

17. The only contention which has been advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the order dated 25.02.2021 of respondent no.3 disapproving the termination order of respondent no.4 is without jurisdiction since the provision of Section 16(G)(3)(a) to Section 16 (I) of the Act, 1921 is not applicable in the case of minority institution. In other words, it is contended that District Inspector of Schools has exercised the power not vested in him under the statue in passing the order dated 25.02.2021 by which he has stayed the termination order of respondent no.4 and directed the petitioner to submit salary bills of respondent no.4 which shall be subject to decision of Criminal Case No.141 of 2020, under Sections 379, 419, 420 and 506 I.P.C. against respondent no.4.

18. In support of his case, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Committee of Management

St. John Inter College Vs. Girdhari Singh and Others 2001 (4) SCC 296, and judgement of this Court in the case in the case of (Kumari Udyan Balika Inter College, Kanpur and Others Vs. D.I.O.S., Kanpur Nagar and Others) passed in Writ-A No.15379 of 2006.

19. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents would contend that provision of Section 16(G)(3)(a) to Section 16 (I) of the Act, 1921 is applicable in the present case in view of the judgement of Apex Court in the case of The State of Uttar Pradesh and Others Vs. Principal Abhay Nandan Inter College and Others AIR 2021 SC 4968.

20. I have considered the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

21. In the instant case, it is not in dispute that the college is a minority college established under Article 30 of the Constitution of India.

22. Now, before appreciating the controversy on facts, it would be apt to refer to the judgement of Apex Court relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

23. In the case of Committee of Management St. John Inter College (supra), the Apex Court has reversed the judgement of High Court holding that in case of a minority institution, approval under Section 16(G)(3)(a) of the Act, 1921 is necessary. Paragraph 6 of the said judgement is reproduced herein below:-

"6. Let us now notice some of the decisions of this Court. In Kerala Education Bill, 1957, AIR 1958 SC 956, this Court had observed the constitutional right to administer an educational institution by the minority of their choice does not necessarily militate against the claim of the State to insist that it may prescribe reasonable regulations to ensure the excellence of the institutions. In Sidhajbhai Sabbai vs. State of Gujarat AIR 1963 SC 540, a Constitution Bench observed that Regulations made in the true interests of efficiency of instruction, discipline, health, sanitation, morality, public order and the like may undoubtedly be imposed and such regulations are not restrictions on the substance of the right which is guaranteed; they secure the proper functioning of the institution, in the matters educational. In State of Kerala vs. Very Rev. Mother Provincial, (1970) 2 SCC 417, it had been stated that the right of management in respect of a minority institution cannot be taken away and vested with somebody else, as that would be encroachment upon the guaranteed right but that right is not an absolute one and it is open to the State to regulate the syllabus of the examination and discipline for the efficiency of the institution and the right of the State to regulate the education or educational standards and allied matters cannot be denied. In St. Xavier's College Society vs. State of Gujarat (1974) 1 SCC 717, this Court had observed:

"31. Regulations which will serve the interest of the students, regulations which will serve the interests of the teachers are of paramount importance in good administration. Regulations in the interest of efficiency of teachers, discipline and fairness in administration are necessary for preserving harmony among affiliated institutions.

In Lilly Kurian vs. Sr. Lewina (1979) 2 SCC 124, the Court had observed: "36. Protection of the minorities is an article of faith in the Constitution of India. The right to the administration of institutions of minority's choice enshrined in Article 30(1) means 'management of affairs' of the institution. This right is, however, subject to the regulatory power of the State. Article 30(1) is not a charter for mal-administration; regulation, so that the right to administer may be better exercised for the benefit of the institution, is permissible; but the moment one goes beyond that and imposes, what is in truth, not a mere regulation but an impairment of the right to administer, the Article comes into play and the interference cannot be justified by pleading the interests of the general public; the interests justifying interference can only be the interests of the minority concerned."

In Frank Anthony Public School Employees Association vs. Union of India (1986) 4 SCC 707, the Court was examining the validity of Section 12 of the Delhi School Education Act. Sections 8(1), 8(3), 8(4) and 8(5) were held not to have encroached upon any right of the minority to administer their educational institutions. But Section 8(2) which stipulated that no employee of a recognised private school shall be dismissed, removed or reduced in rank nor will his services be terminated except with the prior approval of the Director was held to have interfered with the right of the minority, and therefore, the said provision was held to be inapplicable to the minority institutions. The aforesaid dictum, no doubt, was in respect of an unaided minority institution. The conspectus of the aforesaid decision would indicate that there would be no bar for the Government to have regulatory measures for ensuring a standard of excellence of the institutions and such a measure would not in any way affect the right of the minority to administer its institutions engrafted in Article 30 of the Constitution. But notwithstanding the same, if the so called regulatory measures confer power on any specified authority, without indicating any guidelines for exercise of that power, then exercise of such power by the appropriate authority would offend the provisions of Article 14 and would not be allowed to be retained, as that would amount to an arbitrary inroad into the right of the minority, in the matter of administering its institutions. In another words, if the regulatory provision conferring power on the educational authority is uncanalised and unguided and does not indicate any guidelines under which the educational authority could exercise the said power, then in such a case, the conferment of a blanket power on the educational authority would interfere with the right of control of the employer-minority institution in the matter of exercising disciplinary control over the employees of the institution. So adjudged, we are unable to find any guideline in Section 16G(3)(a) of the Uttar Pradesh Intermediate Education Act to be followed by the Inspector in the matter of approving or disapproving the order of termination of service of an employee of the aided educational institution. We are unable to accept the reasoning of the majority judgment of the Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court that Regulation 44 provides the guidelines. The said Regulation 44 merely prescribes the period within which the Inspector or Regional Inspectress is required to communicate his/her decision to the Management and further in a case where all the papers have not been received from the Management, the said Inspector/Inspectress could call for the papers from the Management. But that by no stretch of imagination can be held to be providing the guidelines for exercise of power in the matter of approval or disapproval of the order of termination passed by the Management. Since no appropriate guidelines have been provided for exercise of power under Section 16G(3)(a) of the Act, it must be held that such an uncanalised power on the Inspector or the Inspectress would tantamount to an inroad into the power of disciplinary control of the Managing Committee of the minority institution over its employees and as such the said provision would not apply to the minority institution, as was held by this Court in Frank Anthonys case. In this view of the matter, the majority view in the Full Bench Judgment of Allahabad High Court must be held to be erroneous and cannot be sustained."

24. This Court also in the case of Kumari Udyan Balika Inter College (supra) after noticing various paragraphs of the judgement of Apex Court in the case of T.M.A. Pai Foundation and Others Vs. State of Karnataka and Others (2002) 8 SCC 481 and in the case of Committee of Management St. John Inter College (supra) has held that District Inspector of Schools had no jurisdiction to revoke the order of dismissal of a teacher of a minority institution. Relevant extract of the judgement of this Court is extracted herein below:-

"A similar matter came up before a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal no.1059 of 2001, Mohammad Shafiquzzama vs. Committee of Management, Daulat Hussain Muslim Indian Intermediate College, Allahabad & others and the Division Bench of this Court has held as follows:-

"Counsel for the parties stated that no Educational Tribunal has yet been set up by the State Government as observed by the Apex Court in the said judgement nor any notification has been issued by the State Government authorizing the District Judge or the Additional District Judge to hear the cases of employees of minority institutions. The appellant who is challenging the disciplinary proceedings and the consequential dismissal order, has remedy of filing a civil suit challenging the dismissal order and the provision. Section 9 of the Code of Civil Procedure is wide engouth to provide remedy to the appellant. Till the Educational Tribunal is constituted by the State Government as observed by the Apex Court, it is open to the appellant to file a civil suit in competent court challenging the dismissal order. In view of the fact that the appellant is not alleging violation of any statutory provision in conduct of enquiry, no relief can be granted to appellant in the writ proceedings. However, we observe that in case the appellant challenges the dismissal order in a civil suit, the observations made by the learned Judge of this Court while dismissing the writ petition on merits of the case, shall not come in the way of the appellant and the suit proceedings be decided independently on the basis of the materials before the competent court and the said court will not in any manner feel itself bound by the observations made by the learned Single Judge in dismissing the writ petition. In view of the nature of the disputed which has been raised by the appellant we further observe that if civil suit is filed by the appellant the same may be disposed of expeditiously. We do not find any good ground to interfere with the order of the learned single Judge dismissing the writ petition.

This special Appeal is dismissed with the observations as made above."

25. Similar view has been taken by this Court in the case of Committee of Management Clancy Intermediate College

Through Manager Vs. State of U.P. and Others passed in Writ-A No.15765 of 2016.

26. A scant analysis of the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Committee of Management St. John Inter College (supra) shows that Apex Court has considered the issue as to what restrictions/regulations would not interfere with the right to run minority institution under Article 30 of the Constitution of India.

27. The Apex Court emphasized that the protection given to the minority institutions under Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India for mal administration, regulations which are framed to ensure the standard of institution and are for the benefit of institution are permissible, but the moment it goes beyond a mere regulation but may impair the right of administration of minority institutions, Article 30 of Constitution of India comes into play and such regulation is hit by Article 30 of Constitution of India.

28. The Court found that as Section 16(G)(3)(a) of the Act, 1921 provides no appropriate guidelines to the District Inspector of School the manner in which the power conferred on it is to be exercised, that would tantamount to an inroad into the power of disciplinary control of managing committee of minority institution over its employees; hence the said provision would not apply to the minority institution as it impinges the right of minority to have disciplinary control over its employees.

29. It is worth to point out that after enactment of Act, 1982, the power of approval or disapproval as provided under Section 16(G)(3)(a) of the Act, 1921 has been vested in the Board under the Act No.5 of 1982. Section 32 of the Act No.5 of 1982 which deals with the applicability of Act, 1921 provides that provision of Act, 1921 and regulations framed therein so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of the Act, 1982 or rules made thereunder shall remain in force for the purposes of selection, appointment, promotion, dismissal, removal, termination or reduction in the rank of a teacher.

30. Further, Section 30 of the Act, 1982 states that the provisions of the said Act shall not apply to the institution established and administered by a minority referred to in Clause (1) of Article 30 of Constitution of India. Thus, reading of Section 30 of the Act, 1982 clearly suggests that legislature did not want to put any fetter upon the power of management of minority institution in disciplinary matters otherwise there was no reason for the legislature to exclude the minority institution from the purview of Act, 1982.

31. Thus, in view of the judgemen of Apex Court, the District Inspector of School has no jurisdiction to interfere with the power of administration with respect to their right to take disciplinary action against their staff.

32. In view of the aforesaid fact, this Court finds that as admittedly, petitioner's college is a minority college, therefore, District Inspector of School has no jurisdiction to pass the order dated 25.02.2021.

33. Now, coming to the judgement relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents in the case of Principal Abhay Nandan Inter College (supra). Perusal of paragraphs 32 to 35 of the said judgement on which reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the respondents does not indicate that Apex Court has held that District Inspector of School has jurisdiction to interfere with the power of management of a minority institution to take disciplinary action against their staff. Perusal of the aforesaid paragraphs further indicates that Apex Court has elaborated that the regulations framed for the benefit of public at large and for minority institution don't impinge the right of minority to run minority institution under Article 30 of Constitution of India, but it does not deal with a situation as in the present case.

34. Thus, judgement of the Apex Court relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents is not applicable in the facts of the present case.

35. Accordingly, order impugned dated 25.02.2021 is quashed with liberty to respondent no.4 to pursue his remedy available to him under the law.

36. For the reasons given above, the writ petition is allowed with no order as to costs.

A. Service Law – Dismissal – Disciplinary proceeding - Industrial Disputes Act, 1946 - Section 10 - The competence of an authority to hold an enquiry against an employee who has retired, depends upon the statutory rules which govern the terms and conditions of his service. No disciplinary proceedings can be continued against the employee after retirement unless and until rules governing such proceedings provided for the same. (Para 10, 12, 15)

The relevant rules governing the service conditions of an employee are the determining factors as to whether and in what manner the domestic enquiry can be held against an employee who stood retired after reaching the age of superannuation. Generally, if the enquiry has been initiated while the delinquent employee was in service, it would continue even after his retirement, but nature of punishment would change. The punishment of dismissal/removal from service would not be imposed. (Para 10)

B. Maintainability - There is no factual controversy involved in the case that may require any reference inasmuch as it also not being a case where enforcement of any provision of standing orders is sought. It would be a futile exercise to ask for the petitioner to raise reference because the legal issue involved can be answered in this petition itself and the establishment being an authority within the meaning of Art. 12 of the Constitution of India, this petition can be decided on merits. (Para 6, 11)

C. Appointments made long back pursuant to a selection need not be disturbed. A three decade old issue of entry into the service of establishment should not have been reopened at the fag end of service career of an employee. (Para 8, 15)

While it may be true that furnishing a forged document would not justify the appointment obtained on the said basis but for that appropriate time would be a reasonable one when proper verification of such a document could be done. It is the duty of those who are responsible for making selection and appointment to verify all the credentials of a candidate before giving appointment but once after due verification entry is given, then it should be only an exceptional circumstance to annul the appointment. A third party complaint should normally not be entertained as of compulsion. Establishment must safeguard its employees' interest first while embarking upon an enquiry at the instance of a third partly complaint which may often be made with ulterior and ill-motives. (Para 18)

Present petition assails order dated 17.04.2018, passed by Chief Production Manager & Disciplinary Authority, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. Mathura Refinery, Mathura, awarding the petitioner punishment of dismissal from service and the order dated 12.06.2019, passed by Executive Director & Appellate Authority, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. Mathura Refinery, Mathura, rejecting the appeal.

1. The sole question of law that arises for consideration in the present case is as to whether petitioner could have been inflicted with a major penalty of termination/dismissal/removal from service after attaining the age of superannuation even in the face of the fact that certified standing orders framed under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1946 are absolutely silent on this point.

2. A preliminary objection has been raised by the learned counsel for the respondent regarding maintainability of this writ petition on the ground that petitioner has alternative efficacious remedy under Section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act 1946, inasmuch as, services of the petitioner while in service being governed under the certified Standing orders, writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution, cannot be invoked to enforce the same.

3. Briefly stated facts of the case are that petitioner who was appointed in the year 1981 as a helper and later on received promotions, finally came to be retired from service of respondents establishment on 22nd February, 2017 as a Senior Technical Assistant Grade VI (production).

4. A disciplinary proceeding was initiated against the petitioner in the matter of a complaint made by a third party and the complaint was that, while petitioner applying for employment in the year 1981, he had submitted a transfer certificate, in which he showed himself as class VIIIth passed, whereas transfer certificate was allegedly a forged document. A report was called for from the District Basic Education Officer which was submitted on 23rd July, 2016 in which it came to be reported that transfer certificate did not appear to be genuine one as per report of the principal. However, on further verification a second report suggested that transfer certificate was genuine one and that there was no dispute regading the same. Two reports being contradictory to each other, respondent establishment called for a third report which was submitted on 2nd August, 2016 and on the basis of same an inhousing enquiry was got conducted by District Basic Education Officer and in this report, it came to be reported that transfer certificate did not appear to be a genuine document. Accordingly, disciplinary proceeding was instituted and chargesheet was issued to the petitioner on 27.8.2016 alomost 34 years after the petitioner was appointed imputing with the charge that he obtained employment by submitting forged document. Petitioner did submit reply as enquiry proceeded with but the enquiry could be completed and report could be submitted on 12.12.2017 only after petitioner got superannuated. On the basis of the enquiry report petitioner was served with a show cause notice.

5. Petitioner challenged the enquiry before Delhi High Court taking the plea that since he had retired and the standing orders did not provide for disciplinary proceedings to continue after retirement of the employee, hence the enquiry report and the proceedings pursuant thereto was liable to be set aside. The Delhi High Court in its order dated 12.03.2018 provided the petitioner to submit reply before the competent authority itself and competent authority was directed to look into his reply and pass appropriate orders. Petitioner submitted reply questioning the continuance of proceeding even after his retirement, however, disciplinary authority rejected the same on the ground that since the Delhi High Court had rejected the plea of the petitioner to quash the proceedings, this chapter was closed. Petitioner preferred writ petition before this Court against the said order and this Court remitted the matter vide order dated 08.02.2019, directing petitioner to prefer appeal before the appellate authority and it was left open for him to take such plea regarding jurisdiction of the authority to continue disciplinary proceedings after retirement of an employee and in the event if petitioner took such a plea, the same was directed to be considered. The appellate authority dismissed the appeal on the same ground that since Delhi High Court had already rejected petitioner's plea regarding continuance of disciplinary proceedings after retirement, so it was not open to question the same. Hence this petition.

6. So far as issue regarding maintainability of the writ petition is concerned, I am of the view that since there is no factual controversy involved in the case that may require any reference inasmuch as it also not being a case were enforcement of any provision of standing orders is sought, the writ petition was rightly entertained and now case can be decided on merits as pleadings have been exchanged.

7. The only issue is as to whether standing orders did provide to meet such any eventuality as has cropped up in the present case and if not, how far employer is justified to continue with disciplinary proceedings against a superannuated employee.

8. In the present case, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case Buddhi Nath Chaudhary and Others v. Abahi Kumar and Others passed in Appeal (Civil) 1397 of 2001, in which the Supreme Court has held thus:

"The selected candidates, who have been appointed, are now in employment as Motor Vehicle Inspectors for over a decade. Now that they have worked in such posts for a long time, necessarily they would have acquired the requisite experience. Lack of experience, if any, at the time of recruitment is made good now. Therefore, the new exercise ordered by the High Court will only lead to anomalous results. Since we are disposing of these matters on equitable consideration, the learned counsel for the contesting respondents submitted that their cases for appointment should also be considered. It is not clear whether there is any vacancy for the post of Motor Vehicle Inspectors. If that is so, unless any one or more of the selected candidates are displaced, the cases of the contesting respondents cannot be considered. We think that such adjustment is not feasible for practical reasons. We have extended equitable considerations to such selected candidates who have worked in the post for a long period, but the contesting respondents do not come in that class. The effect of our conclusion is that appointments made long back pursuant to a selection need not be disturbed. Such a view can be derived from several decisions of this Court including the decisions inRam Sarup vs. State of Haryana & Ors., 1979 (1) SCC 168;District Collector & Chairman, Vizianagaram Social Welfare Residential School Society, Vizianagaram & Anr. vs. M. Tripura Sundari Devi, 1990 (3) SCC 655; and H.C.Puttaswamy & Ors. vs. The Honble Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court, Bangalore & Ors., 1991 Supp. (2) SCC 421. Therefore, we must let the matters lie where they are."

9. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent Sri Ankush Tandon submits that there is judgment that of course, provides that such proceedings can be continued even after retirement but he very fairly concedes that the order of termination from service cannot be passed.

10. Vide paragraph 18 to 24 of the judgment in the case of Anant R.Kulkrni v. Y.P. Education Society and Others (2013) 6 SCC 515, Supreme Court has held thus:

"18. This Court in NOIDA Entrepreneurs Association v. NOIDA & Ors., AIR 2011 SC 2112, examined the issue, and held that the competence of an authority to hold an enquiry against an employee who has retired, depends upon the statutory rules which govern the terms and conditions of his service, and while deciding the said case, reliance was placed on various earlier judgments of this Court includingB.J. Shelat v. State of Gujarat & Ors., AIR 1978 SC 1109;Ramesh Chandra Sharma v. Punjab National Bank & Anr., (2007) 9 SCC 15; and UCO Bank & Anr. v. Rajinder Lal Capoor.

19.In State of Assam & Ors. v. Padma Ram Borah, AIR 1965 SC 473, a Constitution Bench of this Court held that it is not possible for the employer to continue with the enquiry after the delinquent employee stands retired. The Court observed:-(AIR 475 para 7)

"According to the earlier order of the State Government itself, the service of the respondent had come to an end on March 31, 1961. The State Government could not by unilateral action create a fresh contract of service to take effect from April 1, 1961. If the State Government wished to continue the service of the respondent for a further period, the State Government should have issued a notification before March 31, 1961." (Emphasis added) While deciding the said issue, the Court placed reliance on the judgment inR.T. Rangachari v. Secretary of State for India in Council.

20.In State of Punjab v. Khemi Ram, AIR 1970 SC 214, this court observed: (SCC p. 32, para 12)

"12. There can be no doubt that if disciplinary action is sought to be taken against a government servant it must be done before he retires as provided by the said rule. If a disciplinary enquiry cannot be concluded before the date of such retirement, the course open to the Government is to pass an order of suspension and refuse to permit the concerned public servant to retire and retain him in service till such enquiry is completed and a final order is passed therein."

21.In Kirti Bhusan Singh v. State of Bihar & Ors., AIR 1986 SC 2116, this Court held as under: (SCC pp. 678-79, para 6)

"6.... We are of the view that in the absence of such a provision which entitled the State Government to revoke an order of retirement..... which had become effective and final, the order passed by the State Government revoking the order of retirement should be held as having been passed without the authority of law and is liable to be set aside. It, therefore, follows that the order of dismissal passed thereafter was also a nullity."

22.In Bhagirathi Jena v. Board of Directors, O.S.F.C. & Ors., AIR 1999 SC 1841, this Court observed: (SCC pp. 668-69, para 7)

"... There is also no provision for conducting a disciplinary enquiry after retirement of the appellant and nor any provision stating that in case misconduct is established, a deduction could be made from retiral benefits. Once the appellant had retired from service on 30-6-1995, there was no authority vested in the Corporation for continuing the departmental enquiry even for the purpose of imposing any reduction in the retiral benefits payable to the appellant. In the absence of such an authority, it must be held that the enquiry had lapsed and the appellant was entitled to full retiral benefits on retirement."

23.In U.P. State Sugar Corporation Ltd. & Ors. v. Kamal Swaroop Tondon, this Court dealt with a case wherein statutory corporation had initiated proceedings for recovery of the financial loss from an employee after his retirement from service. This Court approved such a course observing that in the case of retirement, master and servant relationship continue for grant of retrial benefits. The proceedings for recovery of financial loss from an employee is permissible even after his retirement and the same can also be recovered from the retrial benefits of the said employee.

24. Thus, it is evident from the above, that the relevant rules governing the service conditions of an employee are the determining factors as to whether and in what manner the domestic enquiry can be held against an employee who stood retired after reaching the age of superannuation. Generally, if the enquiry has been initiated while the delinquent employee was in service, it would continue even after his retirement, but nature of punishment would change. The punishment of dismissal/removal from service would not be imposed."

11. In such above view of the matter, it would be a futile exercise to ask for the petitioner to raise reference because this legal issue can be answered in this petition itself and the establishment being an authority within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India, I proceed to decide this petition on merits.

12. It is a settled legal position that no disciplinary proceedings can be continued after retirement unless and until rules governing service conditions provided otherwise.

13. The only issue is as to whether the judgment of Delhi High Court will come in the way of granting relief to the petitioner in the present case or not. What I find is that in the order of Delhi High Court, it was directed that petitioner's reply will be considered and petitioner did raise specific point in his reply which was not considered and same was brushed aside in view of judgment of the Delhi High Court. I am not convinced with the finding returned by the authority on this point. The judgment of High Court did not close the chapter, it left it open instead, for the authority to take decision on this point, if it is raised in reply.

14. Besides above, after decision was taken by the appropriate appellate authority, petitioner had preferred an appeal and this Court in writ petition no. 2037 of 2019 had again directed for the appellate authority to consider the jurisdictional aspect of the matter if raised in appeal. This order had never been challenged by the respondents in appeal in this Court or in Supreme Court. Thus mandate contained in the order of this Court dated 08.02.2019 was binding upon the appellate authority. The appellate authority having not considered the same, the order passed by the appellate authority is also not sustainable and deserves to be quashed.

15. Now this matter can again be remitted to the appellate authority to reconsider but since even disciplinary authority had assigned the same reason to reject the plea of the petitioner, which is not sustainable as this legal issue has already been met and answered by the Supreme Court in its various decisions, it would be absolutely a futile exercise to remit the matter to the appellate authority. The legal position is settled enough that no disciplinary proceedings can be continued against the employee after retirement unless and until rules governing such proceedings provided for the same and even if they are continued then major penalties like termination or dismissal cannot be inflicted upon a retired employee. Learned counsel appearing for the respondents could not show any provision of law that permits the authorities to continue disciplinary proceedings after retirement of an employee and to impose penalty in the nature it is awarded.

16. From the perusal of the order of this Court as well as the order of the Supreme Court a three decade old issue of entry into the service of establishment should not have been reopened at the fag end of service career of an employee.

17. Besides the above further I find that a number of enquiries one after another got conducted and while one enquiry said that original documents were not available, the other enquiry said that the document supplied could not be appreciated as certain extracts of an old torn register were only available. Petitioner has worked for so many years with the establishment and also received promotions obviously for his good work and conduct and there has never been any complaint against him regarding the same.

18. One must understand that an employee has toiled for over three decades in the service of the establishment and there being no complaint with regard to work and conduct of such an employee, he does not deserve to be reawarded with penalty of dismissal/removal from service just for a document submitted at the time of entry into service, verification of which was not possible as the original records got weeded out and destroyed with the passage of time. While it may be true that furnishing a forged document would not justify the appointment obtained on the said basis but for that appropriate time would be a reasonable one when proper verification of such a document could be done. Again the question is that at whose instance enquiry is set up, is equally important. It is the duty of those who are responsible for making selection and appointment to verify all the credentials of a candidate before giving appointment but once after due verification entry is given, then it should be only an exceptional circumstance to annul the appointment. A third party complaint should normally not be entrained as of compulsion. Establishment must safeguard its employees' interest first while embarking upon an enquiry at the instance of a third partly complaint which may often be made with ulterior and illmotives.

19. In view of aforesaid, the order dated 17.04.2018 passed by respondent no. 4 awarding the petitioner punishment of dismissal from service and the order dated 12.06.2019 passed by respondent no. 3 rejecting the appeal are hereby quashed. The writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The petitioner is held entitled to all consequential benefits.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SARAL SRIVASTAVA, J.

Writ-A No. 10680 of 2021

Preeti & Anr. ...Petitioners

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Shantanu Khare, Sri Ashok Khare (Sr. Adv.), Sri Siddharth Khare

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Ajay Kumar Sharma, Sri Manish Dev, Ms. Dolly Dwivedi, Ms. Archana Singh

A. Service Law – Denial of mutual inter-district transfer - U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) (Posting), Rules, 2008 - Rule 8, 8(2)(d) - There was no fault of the petitioners in not submitting application for mutual transfer online as the fault is attributed to the respondents in not giving any further time to permit the eligible teachers to submit online application who could not submit the same in view of Para 2(1)(a) of the GO dated 02.12.2019 limiting the applicability of the GO to the male teachers who have completed three years of service on the date of issuance of GO. In such view of the fact, the first ground on which the claim of petitioners is denied, is not sustainable in law. (Para 24 to 26)

The facts as emerges in the present petition are that the petitioner nos. 1 & 2 have been appointed on 01.11.2018 and 08.02.2018 respectively. Under the GO dated 02.12.2019 on account of limitation imposed u/Para 2(1)(a), the petitioner no. 2 having not completed three years of service could not submit his transfer application online inasmuch as the eligibility was to be computed u/Clause 17 of the said GO on the date of the GO permitting submission of applications. Once the condition enumerated in Para 2(1)(a) of the GO dated 02.12.2019 was excluded in case of mutual transfer by virtue of GO dated 16.02.2021, the petitioners became eligible to submit application for grant of mutual transfer. On being eligible for mutual transfer, the petitioners submitted application for mutual transfer. The authorities did not consider their application for mutual transfer which gave rise to the petitioners for filing present petition. (Para 23)

It is obvious that to extend the benefit of GO dated 16.02.2021 to eligible teachers, the State Government should have permitted some time to the teachers to submit online application who could not submit application for mutual transfer because of rider imposed u/para 2(1) (a) of the GO dated 02.12.2019.

B. U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) (Posting), Rules, 2008: Rule 8 – U/Rule 8(2)(d) of the Rules, 2008, the power to consider inter-district transfer is conferred upon the authorities in exceptional and extraordinary circumstances. (Para 29 to 31)

Inter-district transfer and mutual inter-district transfer in the middle of the session are to be dealt differently - It is also relevant to mention that if no mid-session transfer is permissible that will make the power to consider transfer under Rule 8(2)(d) of Rules, 2008 redundant inasmuch as, if a teacher applies for inter-district transfer on the first day of session, it is obvious that consideration of his/her inter-district transfer would fall in the middle of Session even if the authorities take the minimum of 24 hours time to consider such application. Therefore, to achieve the object of conferring power on authorities for consideration of transfer in exceptional and extraordinary circumstances, a teacher may submit application to the competent authority for transfer in extraordinary contingency even in middle of the session and the same may be considered by the competent authority expeditiously. In the event, if the competent authority conclude that it is a fit case for exercise of power u/Rule 8(2)(d) of Rules, 2008, he may pass an order of transfer, but the transfer would become effective in case of inter-district transfer not being a mutual transfer from the first day of the new session so that teacher may join at transferred school on first day of session, so that studies of students may not suffer for want of teacher. (Para 33)

C. Divya Goswami (infra)(distinguished) - In the case of mutual transfer, the teachers who are seeking mutual transfer replaces one teacher by another and as such on mutual transfer, the teachers are available to impart education in both the schools and hence, the studies of the students will not suffer. It is pertinent to note that reading of Paragraph No. 64(1) in the case of Divya Goswami (infra) does not hint that it has put any rider for consideration of mutual inter-district transfer. It only says that no inter-district transfer is permissible during the mid of the academic year with an object that the studies of the students in the school should not suffer. (Para 27, 32)

D. The denial of the mutual transfer on the ground that the petitioners secured less marks than the cut-off marks has no nexus with the object sought to be achieved while considering the application of mutual transfer. The mutual inter-district transfer are exceptions and perhaps for that reason, stipulation of minimum length of service in Para 2(1)(a) of the GO dated 02.12.2019 has been waived in the case of mutual transfer. (Para 34)

E. Writ Jurisdiction u/Article 226 - Mandamus should not be issued by the Court, where the power is vested with the authorities to exercise such discretion in accordance with Rules, but in the instant case the counter affidavit has been filed stating therein the grounds, on which the transfer applications of the petitioners for mutual transfer were not considered, which are found to be unsustainable in law. Thus, it is not found to be a fit case to be relegated to the competent authority to decide the matter afresh. (Para 36)

Precedent followed:

1. Anuruddha Kumar Tripathi Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ-A No. 4950 of 2018, decided on 30.05.2018 (Para 29)

2. Tej Pratap Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ-A No. 3967 of 2021 (Para 30)

Precedent distinguished:

1. Divya Goswami Vs St. of U.P., Writ Petition No. 878 of 2020, decided on 03.11.2020 (Para 12, 27)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel for respondent no.1 to 3, Ms. Dolly Dwivedi, Advocate holding brief of Ms. Archana Singh, learned counsel for respondent nos.4 & 5 and Sri Manish Dev, Advocate holding brief of Sri Ajay Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for respondent no.6.

2. The petitioners by means of the present writ petition have prayed for the following reliefs:-

"(i). A writ, order or direction of a suitable nature commanding the respondent no.4 to forthwith sanction mutual inter district transfer of the two petitioners on the basis of their applications dated 03.03.2021 and 05.03.2021 within a period to be specified by this Hon'ble Court.

(ii). A writ, order or direction of a suitable nature commanding the respondent to permit the petitioner no.1 to function as an Assistant Teacher in Junior Basic School of District Gautam Budh Nagar and to permit the petitioner no.2 to function as an Assistant Teacher in a Junior Basic School of District Saharanpur and to pay them their regular monthly salary against such respective post."

3. The brief facts of the case are that petitioners were selected and appointed as Assistant Teacher in pursuance to the recruitment undertaken by the respondent-Board in the year 2017-18 for recruiting 69,000 Assistant Teachers. The petitioner no.1 was appointed on 01.11.2018 and posted at Prathmik Vidyalaya, Tapri Kalan, Development Block Balia Kheri, District Saharanpur while the petitioner no.2 was appointed on 08.02.2018 and posted at Prathmik Vidyalaya Nagla Bhatona, Development Block Jewar, District Gautam Budh Nagar.

4. The husband of the petitioner no.1 namely, Anil Kumar Mittal, is an employee of Delhi Judicial Academy falling under the control of Delhi High Court. On such account, the petitioner no.1 desired to be posted in District Gautam Budh Nagar which is adjacent to Delhi. The petitioner no.2 is a resident of District Saharanpur and desired to be posted at Saharanpur.

5. The State Government issued a Government Order dated 02.12.2019 inviting applications for inter-district transfer to be submitted on or before 20.01.2020. Paragraph 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 provides that male teachers who had completed three years minimum service as regular teacher and female teachers, who had completed minimum period of one year of satisfactory service, were eligible to apply for inter-district transfer.

6. According to para 17 of the aforesaid Government Order, the eligibility was to be computed on the date the Government Order was issued.

7. The further case of the petitioners is that on account of limitation contained in paragraph 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 with regard to the minimum length of service, the petitioners even though desirous of mutual transfer, could not submit application for mutual transfer pursuant to the Government Order dated 02.12.2019.

8 It appears that subsequently, Government Order dated 16.02.2021 was issued whereby, clause 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 was clarified by which it waived the stipulation of minimum length of service in Government Order dated 02.12.2019 for mutual transfers. As the petitioners did not fulfill the minimum length of service as prescribed in Clause 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019, therefore, they did not submit online application for grant of mutual transfer.

9. It is stated that despite the clarification of clause 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 by Government Order dated 16.02.2021, no time was granted to the teachers like petitioners to submit online application for consideration of mutual transfer as these teachers could not submit online application due to stipulation of minimum length of service for being eligible to apply for inter district transfer.

10. Thereafter, the petitioner no.1 filed application on 03.03.2021 seeking inter-district mutual transfer with the petitioner no.2 before the Director General/School Education & State Project Director and also to the Secretary, Board of Basic Education. The petitioner no.2 on 05.03.2021 filed inter-district transfer application seeking mutual transfer with petitioner no.1 before the Director General/School Education & Secretary, Board of Basic Education. It is further stated that the petitioner no.1 is to look after a one year old girl child born on 13.01.2020.

11. When no action was taken on the application of petitioners for mutual transfer, the petitioners have approached this Court by filing the present writ petition praying for the aforesaid reliefs.

12. In the counter affidavit filed by the respondent nos.4 & 5, it is stated that a Writ Petition No.878 of 2020 (Divya Goswami Vs. State of U.P.) was filed and in compliance of the order dated 03.11.2020 and 03.12.2020 passed by this Court, Government Order No.148/68-5-2021-15(149)/2010 dated 05.02.2021 and Government Order No.191/68-5-2020-15/2010 dated 16.10.2021 were issued. In pursuance to the said Government Orders, a software was developed by N.I.C. for the purpose of inter-district transfer of board's teachers for the year 2019-20 and the entire proceeding of inter-district transfer had been completed on 17.02.2021.

13. It is further stated that after the last date for inter-district transfer, no inter-district transfer has been done. It is further stated that at present no policy is in existence regarding inter-district transfer or mutual transfer. It is further stated that for want of online application by the petitioners, their claim for inter-district transfer could not be considered.

14. The further case of the respondents is that as the marks obtained by the petitioners for transfer was less than the cut off marks prescribed for inter-district transfer, therefore, they could not be transferred to the District opted by them. It is further stated that as the petitioners did not apply online inter-district transfer, therefore, their application could not be considered. The further case of the respondents is that in view of paragraph 64(1) of the judgement of this Court in the case of (Divya Goswami) (supra), no inter-district transfer is permissible during the mid of the academic session.

15. A rejoinder affidavit has been filed by the petitioners stating therein that they stood precluded from applying for the mutual transfer on account of the limitation contained in clause 2(1)(a) under which a male teacher could not have applied for transfer before three years. This condition was deleted by Government Order dated 16.02.2021, but the benefit of this Government Order was limited to those who had already submitted applications.

16. It is further pleaded that the transfer contemplated under Government Order dated 02.12.2019 is based upon the allocation of marks contained in para 8 of the Government Order. Such allocation of marks become irrelevant in case of mutual transfer. It is further stated that restriction against mid academic session transfer would be inapplicable to a case of mutual transfer as the purpose of such restriction is to maintain the continuity of studies. In the case of mutual transfer, one teacher gets replaced by the another and vice-versa which necessarily does not affect the teaching work. It is further stated that in case the petitioners are made to wail till the beginning of next academic session, then in such a case if petitioners file such application on the first day of the academic session-2022-23 and its processing takes 24 hours time, such application would be again in the middle of the academic session 2022-23.

17. It is further stated that in pursuance to the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 the transfer was finalized in the month of January, 2021 in the mid-session.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that the three grounds as stated in the counter affidavit on which, the petitioners' application have not been considered, are not sustainable in law. He submits that the first ground that the petitioners did not apply online in pursuance to the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 is misconceived inasmuch as had the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 been specific and clear excluding mutual transfer from the condition no.2(1) (a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019, the petitioners would have applied. He further submits that on account of the bar created by the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 that a male teacher who has not completed three years of regular service cannot avail transfer precluded the petitioners from applying for the inter-district transfer. Accordingly, he submits that since the Government Order dated 16.02.2021 by which stipulation of minimum length of service provided in para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 for inter district transfer was waived in case of the mutual inter-district transfer, therefore, the respondents ought to have permitted some time to the eligible teachers desirous of inter-district mutual transfer to apply, and as such, aforesaid ground of denial of inter-district transfer is misconceived as the petitioners could not apply for the reasons beyond their control.

19. He further submits that the second ground in view of para 64(1) of the judgement of this Court in Divya Goswami (supra) that no transfer in mid of the academic session is permissible is also not sustainable for the reason that in mutual transfer, the studies of the students do not suffer as one teacher is replaced by another teacher which is not a case in inter-district transfer in respect of individual teacher. He submits that the transfer with respect to session 2020-21 was finalized in mid session between October, 2021 to January, 2022. He further submits that in case the petitioners submit application on the first day of session, the consideration of their application would fall in the mid of sessions inasmuch as even if such consideration takes minimum time of 24 hours, the same would fall in the mid of the academic session. Thus, the submission is that the second ground for not considering the transfer of petitioners is also not sustainable.

20. He further submits that in the case of mutual transfer, the marking system is totally irrelevant for the reason that here the two teachers agree for mutual transfer whereas in the case of individual transfer, the marking system plays an important role in regulating the transfer so as to avoid arbitrariness in granting individual transfer.

21. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents has submitted that under the Government Orders, those teachers who had submitted application, were eligible for consideration of their transfer applications. Since the petitioners did not apply for their mutual transfer online, therefore, their claim for transfer could not be considered. She further submitted that this Court in paragraph 64 (1) of the judgement of Divya Goswami (supra) has prohibited the mid session transfer with an object that the studies of the students in the school should not suffer and as this Court has put a restriction upon the mid session transfer and that being the law of the land, the petitioners are not entitled to mid session transfer, therefore, the relief as claimed by the petitioners is misconceived. Lastly, she has contended that as the petitioners have secured less marks than the cut off marks provided for the district in which the petitioners want transfer, therefore, they could not be considered for transfer.

22. I have heard the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

23. The facts as emerges in the present petition are that the petitioner nos.1 & 2 have been appointed on 01.11.2018 and 08.02.2018 respectively. Under the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 on account of limitation imposed under para 2(1)(a) of the said Government Order, the petitioner no.2 having not completed three years of service could not submit his transfer application online inasmuch as the eligibility was to be computed under Clause 17 of the said Government Order on the date of the Government Order permitting submission of applications. Once the condition enumerated in paragraph 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 was excluded in case of mutual transfer by virtue of Government Order dated 16.02.2021, the petitioners became eligible to submit application for grant of mutual transfer. On being eligible for mutual transfer, the petitioners submitted application for mutual transfer. The authorities did not consider their application for mutual transfer which gave rise to the petitioners for filing present petition seeking the relief, extracted above.

24. Now, so far as the ground taken by the respondents in the counter affidavit that the petitioners did not submit online application for consideration of their transfer therefore their application were not considered, is misconceived in the facts of the present case inasmuch as the petitioner no.2 in view of para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 was not eligible for submitting online application for transfer. Since the petitioner no.2 did not fulfill the condition enumerated in Government Order dated 02.12.2019 regulating the inter-district transfer, there was no occasion for the petitioner no.2 to submit online application. The petitioners could become eligible to submit transfer application only after the Government Order dated 16.02.2021 excluded mutual transfer from the ambit of paragraph 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019.

25. As soon as the petitioners became eligible to submit application in view of Government Order dated 16.02.2021, both the petitioners submitted application for grant of mutual transfer. It is obvious that non submission of application of transfer by petitioner no.2 was beyond his control in view of limitation imposed under para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019. Once the Government Order dated 16.02.2021 excluded the applicability of the condition imposed under para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 by the Government Order dated 16.02.2021 in the case of mutual transfer, it is obvious that to extend the benefit of Government Order dated 16.02.2021 to eligible teachers, the State Government should have permitted some time to the teachers to submit online application who could not submit application for mutual transfer because of rider imposed under para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019.

26. Thus, it is evident that there was no fault of the petitioners in not submitting application for mutual transfer online as the fault is attributed to the respondents in not giving any further time to permit the eligible teachers to submit online application who could not submit the same in view of para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 limiting the applicability of the Government Order to the male teachers who have completed three years of service on the date of issuance of Government Order. In such view of the fact, the first ground on which the claim of petitioners is denied, is not sustainable in law.

27. So far as the second ground for denial of claim of petitioners based on para 64(1) of the judgement in the case of Divya Goswami (supra), is concerned, this Court finds that the rider imposed by the judgement of Divya Goswami (supra) in para 64(1) is not applicable in the facts of the present case. The reason being that the object of not permitting mid session transfer by this Court in Divya Goswami case was that the studies of the students should not suffer. In the case of mutual transfer, the teachers who are seeking mutual transfer replaces one teacher by another and as such on mutual transfer, the teachers are available to impart education in both the schools and hence, the studies of the students will not suffer.

28. It is pertinent to note that the State Government has power under Rule 8 of U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) (Posting), Rules, 2008 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2008') to regulate posting of teachers. Rule 8 of the said rule is reproduced herein below:-

"8. Posting. - (1)(a) Three options for schools shall be asked from the handicapped candidates in order of their merit and after receiving such options the handicapped candidates shall be posted on the basis of options given by them and the vacancies. (b) Based on the order of their merit, female teachers would be required to submit under their signature option of three schools each from the general and backward block and accordingly, posting would be given in one of these schools.

(c) The posting of male teachers shall be made in accordance with the order of candidates, in the roster prepared under Rule 7.

(2)(a) The newly appointed male teachers shall initially be posted compulsorily in backward areas for a period of at least five years.

(b) Newly appointed female teachers shall also be compulsorily posted in backward areas for a period of at least two years.

(c) Mutual transfers within the district from general block of backward block and vice-versa would be permitted with the condition that the teacher on mutual transfer to a backward block shall have to serve in that block compulsorily for five years. Mutual transfers would be permitted only in case of those teachers who have more than remaining five year's service.

(d) In normal circumstances the applications for inter-district transfers in respect of male and female teachers will not be entertained within five years of their posting. But under special circumstances, applications for inter-district transfers in respect of female teachers would be entertained to the place of residence of their husband or in law's district.

(e) If by virtue of posting of newly appointed or promoted teachers the primary and upper primary schools of backward blocks get saturated i.e., no post of teacher is vacant in these schools, then handicapped and female teachers on their choice can be adjusted against the vacant posts of general blocks from these saturated blocks.

(f) Mutual transfers of male/female teachers from one backward block to another can be considered.

(3) Teachers transferred from one district to another will be given posting as per the provisions of these rules."

29. Under Rule 8 (2) (d) of the Rules, 2008, the power to consider inter-district transfer is conferred upon the authorities in exceptional circumstances. This Court has held that even in the case of male teachers, the rider imposed of five years can be relaxed in extra ordinary or exceptional circumstances and the application for transfer can be considered. In this respect Para-19 & 20 of the judgement of this Court in case of Anuruddha Kumar Tripathi Vs. State of U.P. and Others passed in Writ-A No.4950 of 2018 is reproduced here-in below:-

"19. In light of the aforesaid discussions, it is held that transfer of a male assistant teacher from one district to another, in a basic school, can ordinarily be made only after completion of 05 year initial posting in backward area in accordance with Rule 8(2)(d) of the Rules of 2008 as well as the policy framed for the purpose. However, in extraordinary or exceptional circumstances an application for transfer can be considered by the Basic Shiksha Parishad even before expiry of such term. The question whether in a given case extraordinary circumstances exists or not has to be examined by the Basic Shiksha Parishad.

20. In such circumstances, this writ petition stands disposed of permitting the petitioner to represent in the matter before the Secretary, Basic Shiksha Parishad, U.P. Allahabad, by way of a representation together with certified copy of this order, within two weeks from today. Petitioner shall be at liberty to annex all material in support of his plea that there exists exceptional circumstances justifying his transfer from Lakhimpur Kheri to Banda even before completion of his 05 year term. The Secretary of the Basic Shiksha Parishad, U.P. Allahabad shall examine as to whether the ground on which petitioner is seeking his transfer would fall within the exceptional circumstances or not? A specific order, in that regard, shall be passed within a further period of three months, thereafter. No order as to costs."

30. Similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Writ-A No.3967 of 2021 (Tej Pratap Singh Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and 3 Others). Relevant extract of the said judgement is reproduced here-in-below:-

"This Court in Writ Petition No. 7096 of 2010 (Sarita Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others) has considered the provisions of Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) (Posting) Rules, 2008 to observe that the provisions of transfer for the purposes of husband and wife in the same district is a special provision which will prevail upon the general restrictions of transfer. Since the petitioner and his wife both are teachers in the educational institution run by the Basic Shiksha Parishad, it would be open for the authority concerned to post both husband and wife at one place.

The fact that the husband and wife are posted at different places would be a relevant circumstance and may require waiver of five year term for seeking transfer.

Petitioner is presently working at Sitapur and is seeking his transfer to Etawah where his wife is working. There is no consideration of petitioner's claim on merits. Even otherwise it is pointed out that the petitioner by now has completed 5 years. In such circumstances, it would be appropriate to direct the Secretary Basic Shiksha Parishad to reconsider petitioner's claim for inter district transfer, keeping in view the aforesaid facts and observations made above, afresh within a period of two months from the date of presentation of copy of this order. The order impugned in the writ petition dated 29.9.2020 shall remain subject to the fresh order to be passed by the Secretary concerned."

31. Thus, from the aforesaid two judgements, it is evident that the power under Rule 8 (2) (d) of the Rules, 2008 have been conferred upon the authorities to exercise the same in exceptional and extraordinary circumstances and an application for transfer can be considered by the authorities

32. It is also pertinent to note that reading of Paragraph No. 64(1) in the case of Divya Goswami (supra) does not hint that it has put any rider for consideration of mutual inter-district transfer. In such view of the fact, second ground is also misconceived.

33. It is also relevant to mention that if no mid-session transfer is permissible that will make the power to consider transfer under Rule 8(2)(d) of Rules, 2008 redundant inasmuch as, if a teacher applies for inter-district transfer on the first day of session, it is obvious that consideration of his/her inter-district transfer would fall in the middle of Session even if the authorities take the minimum of 24 hours time to consider such application. Therefore, to achieve the object of conferring power on authorities for consideration of transfer in exceptional and extraordinary circumstances, this Court believes that in such a case, a teacher may submit application to the competent authority for transfer in extraordinary contingency even in middle of the session and the same may be considered by the competent authority expeditiously. In the event, if the competent authority conclude that it is a fit case for exercise of power under Rule 8(2)(d) of Rules, 2008, he may pass an order of transfer, but the transfer would become effective in case of inter district transfer not being a mutual transfer from the first day of the new session so that teacher may join at transferred school on first day of session, so that studies of students may not suffer for want of teacher.

34. Now, so far as the third ground that the petitioners have obtained less marks than the cut-off marks for transfer to their choice district is concerned, the said contention is also misconceived for the reason that the mutual inter-district transfer are exceptions and perhaps for that reason, stipulation of minimum length of service in para 2(1)(a) of the Government Order dated 02.12.2019 has been waived in the case of mutual transfer, therefore, the denial of the mutual transfer on the ground that the petitioners secured less marks than the cut-off marks has no nexus with the object sought to be achieved while considering the application of mutual transfer.

35. In such view of the fact, this Court finds that the denial of mutual inter-district transfer to the petitioners are illegal and arbitrary.

36. It is pertinent to note that this Court is conscious of the fact that the Court should not issue mandamus where the power is vested with the authorities to exercise such discretion in accordance with Rules, but in the instant case the counter affidavit has been filed stating therein the grounds on which the transfer application of the petitioners for mutual transfer were not considered which are not found to be not sustainable in law by this Court for the reasons stated above. Thus in such view of fact, this Court does not find it to be a fit case to relegate the matter to the competent authority to decide the matter afresh.

38. Accordingly, the writ petition stands allowed with no order as to cost.

THE HON'BLE SIDDHARTH VARMA, J.

Sandeep Kumar Yadav ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Vipin Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Regularisation – Compassionate Appointment - U.P. Collection Peons' Service Rules, 2004; U.P. Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974: Rule 2(a) - Mere inaction on the part of the State will not deny the benefit of right which accrued on account of the Regularization rules. The advantage which the petitioner would have got, had the petitioner's father been regularized before his death, should have been extended to the petitioner. (Para 8)

The petitioner's father was considered to be a fit case for being regularized on 22.02.2019. However, in between, on 30.11.2017, he died. The petitioner thereafter prayed for an appointment under the U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 on 06.03.2019. By the impugned order dated 19.09.2020, the claim of the petitioner has been refused by saying that the petitioner's father was not a regular Government servant as has been defined in the Dying in Harness Rules and therefore, petitioner was not entitled for getting an appointment under the said Rules. (Para 1, 2, 4)

Hon'ble Court observed that a list of peons who were to be regularized was issued on 24.12.2016 in which the petitioner's father was shown at Serial No. 9. However, since the petitioner's father was above 45 years of age, outright regularisation was not done but a permission was sought from the State Government for the relaxation of age. The State Government relaxed the age of the petitioner's father and considered him to be a fit case for being regularized on 22.02.2019.

When the matter w.r.t. age relaxation had been forwarded to the Additional Chief Secretary, Revenue Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow much before the father of the petitioner had died, then the case of the petitioner could not be jeopardized simply because the age relaxation was conveyed to the District Magistrate on 22.02.2019 i.e. after the petitioner's father had died on 30.11.2017. The petitioner ought to be given the advantage which would have accrued to him. Had the State acted with alacrity, the District Magistrate could have passed the order on the age relaxation of the petitioner's father before his death. (Para 7)

Writ petition partly allowed.(E-4)

Present petition assails order dated 19.09.2020, passed by District Magistrate, Bhadohi.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth Varma , J.)

1. The present writ petition is being decided on a pure question of law as to whether would the petitioner's father was to be treated as a Government employee on the date when he died when the regularisation order was passed after his death ?

2. The facts of the case are that the petitioner's father was initially appointed on the post of Seasonal Collection Peon on 1.2.1995 in Tehsil Gyanpur, District Sant Ravidas Nagar (Bhadohi). After having put in substantial number of years of service, he was considered eligible for regularisation as per the U.P. Collection Peons' Service Rules, 2004. A list of peons who were to be regularized was issued on 24.12.2016 in which the petitioner's father was shown at Serial No.9. However, since the petitioner's father was above 45 years of age, outright regularisation was not done but a permission was sought from the State Government for the relaxation of age. The State Government relaxed the age of the petitioner's father and considered him to be a fit case for being regularized on 22.2.2019. However, in between, on 30.11.2017, the petitioner's father died. The petitioner thereafter prayed for an appointment under the U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the "Dying in Harness Rules") on 6.3.2019. The District Magistrate vide letter dated 15.3.2019 sought directions from the Additional Chief Secretary, Revenue Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow as to what was to be done with regard to the case of the petitioner. However, when no response was there from the side of the respondent-Additional Chief Secretary, the petitioner filed a writ petition being Writ-A No.16701 of 2019 (Sandeep Kumar Yadav vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) wherein on 22.10.2019, the following order was passed :-

"Petitioner's father was employed as Seasonal Collection Peon. A decision had been taken by the District Magistrate during his lifetime to regularise his services. It appears that orders of regularisation could not be passed as a recommendation had been made to the State Government for grant of relaxation as the father of petitioner has crossed the maximum age fixed in the rules. The State Government has granted such permission in accordance with law. It is therefore, submitted that petitioner's father would be covered within the definition of Government Servant and, therefore, on account of his death in harness on 30.11.2017, petitioner's claim for grant of compassionate appointment is liable to be considered under Uttar Pradesh Dying in Harness Rules, 1974. Representation of petitioner made in that regard since has remained without any decision taken by the Committee as such the petitioner has approached this Court.

Perusal of record would go to show that District Magistrate, Bhadohi has sought some clarification from the State Government in the matter relating to grant of compassionate appointment. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, it would be appropriate to direct second respondent to respond to the letter of the District Magistrate, Bhadohi dated 15.03.2019 within a period of six weeks from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order. The District Magistrate, Bhadohi i.e. respondent No.3 shall pass appropriate orders in respect of petitioner's claim within a further period of three months thereafter."

3. In response thereof the District Magistrate, Bhadohi passed the order dated 19.9.2020 which has been challenged in the instant writ petition.

4. Primarily by the order dated 19.9.2020 the claim of the petitioner has been refused by saying that the petitioner's father was not a regular Government servant as has been defined in the Dying in Harness Rules. By the impugned order, it has been virtually said that since as per Rule 2(a) of the Dying in Harness Rules, the petitioner's father was not a Government Servant, the petitioner was not entitled for getting an appointment under the Dying in Harness Rules.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a judgment of this Court dated 6.10.2021 passed in Writ-A No.2988 of 2021 and has submitted that had the petitioner's father been regularized as per his entitlement before his death, then the petitioner's claim could have been considered. However, since the lethargy of the State Authorities had delayed the regularisation of the petitioner's father, the regularisation was not done during his life-time. He submits that if the regularisation had been done during the life-time of the petitioner's father, then the petitioner would have definitely been entitled for appointment under the Dying in Harness Rules.

6. Learned Standing Counsel, however, relying upon a judgment rendered by a Full Bench of this Court in Pawan Kumar Yadav vs. State of U.P. & Ors. reported in 2010 (8) ADJ 664 has submitted that since the petitioner's father was not a Government servant as has been defined in Rule 2(a) of the Dying in Harness Rules, the petitioner was not entitled to be considered for appointment.

7. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel, the Court is of the view that when the matter with regard to age relaxation had been forwarded to the Additional Chief Secretary, Revenue Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow much before the father of the petitioner had died, then the case of the petitioner could not be jeopardized simply because the age relaxation was conveyed to the District Magistrate on 22.2.2019 i.e after the petitioner's father had died on 30.11.2017. The petitioner ought to be given the advantage which would have accrued to him. Had the State acted with alacrity, the District Magistrate could have passed the order on the age relaxation of the petitioner's father before his death.

8. Under such circumstances, the Court presumes that the advantage which the petitioner would have got, had the petitioner's father been regularized before his death, should have been extended to the petitioner. Under such circumstances, the order dated 19.9.2020 is quashed and is set-aside. The matter is remitted back to the District Magistrate, Bhadohi who shall, within a period of one month from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order, reconsider the case of the petitioner treating that the petitioner's father was a regularized employee at the time of his death.

9. The writ petition is, accordingly, partly allowed.

1. Heard Sri Shiva Kant Mishra, Advocate holding brief of Sri K.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Manish Goyal, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri R.K. Mishra, learned Standing Counsel for the opposite parties.

2. This contempt proceeding under Section 12 of The Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 has been initiated against the opposite parties for deliberate and wilful disobedience of the order dated 30.07.2019 passed in Writ-C No.17534 of 2019 (Prem Shankar Vs. State of U.P. and others).

3. Case, in nutshell, is that the applicant who is the owner with transferable rights of Gata Nos. 275, 276, 277, 296 and 297, measuring 3519 Sq. Metre, his land was taken over for construction of mini by-pass without adverting to acquire the land under the provisions of Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

4. The applicant had approached for payment of compensation which was not paid as per the Government Order dated 19.03.2015 and 12.05.2016, the applicant was constrained to approach this Court and file writ petition.

5. The writ Court, on 30.07.2019, directed the applicant to file a comprehensive representation ventilating all his grievances which he had taken in the writ petition before the Special Land Acquisition Officer, Bareilly who was to decide the same by reasoned and speaking order within three months. When no action was taken by the opposite party no.1, the present contempt proceedings were initiated.

6. Initially, on 19th April, 2022, the opposite parties filed their affidavit of compliance stating therein that the District Magistrate, on 13.04.2020 had constituted a Committee to decide the claim of the applicant as per the Government Order dated 19.03.2015. The Committee enquired and determined the amount of compensation to the tune of Rs.27,44,82,000/- and submitted its report to the District Magistrate. The District Magistrate on 13.04.2022 had made an endorsement on the report of the Committee, and forwarded it for approval to the Commissioner, Bareilly Division. The approval was awaited.

7. The case was taken up on 19.04.2022 and the Court directed the matter to be placed on 10.05.2022 and by that time, the payment was to be released, in case of non-compliance, the opposite parties were to remain present in the Court. On 10.05.2022, the lawyers were on strike and the matter was deferred for 17.05.2022 and the officers were required to be present before the Court. On 17.05.2022, affidavit of compliance was filed by all the three officers who were present in the Court and are arrayed as opposite parties.

8. In the affidavit filed by the District Magistrate, Bareilly, in paragraph 11, it is stated that the Commissioner on 05.05.2022 made an objection to the report forwarded by the District Magistrate and directed that the matter should be re-visited in the light of the Government Order dated 19.03.2015. On the same day, the Public Works Department also submitted its report/objections, wherein it was stated that the acquisition proceedings started in 2001 and the possession was transferred in 2003. The land in question was recorded in the name of one Smt. Bhagola Devi W/o late Mishri Lal, Janki Prasad, Prem Shankar (applicant) and Sri Devi Das sons of late Mishri Lal. It was further stated that the names of the co-tenure holders were recorded in the revenue records over the agricultural land. The revenue records does indicate that the land was recorded as abadi. The objections and the reports of Commissioner, Bareilly and Public Works Department have been brought on record as Annexures 1 and 2 to the affidavit of compliance dated 10.05.2022. Thereafter, on 06.05.2022, the District Magistrate constituted a new Committee for determining the share of the applicant. The Committee submitted its report on 07.05.2022 mentioning therein that land in question was agricultural and not abadi at the time of notification/acquisition, and share of applicant was 1/3rd.

9. The Valuation Approval Committee which was convened on 09.05.2022, determined the value of compensation payable to the applicant (1/3rd share) to the tune of Rs.75,07,200/-. The said report was approved by the District Magistrate and the directions were issued to the Public Works Department for payment of compensation amount. Copy of the report of the approval of District Magistrate has been brought on record as Annexures 3 and 4 of the affidavit of compliance.

10. Sri Shiva Kant Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant submitted that the compensation payable to the applicant is to the tune of Rs.27,44,82,000/- which was recommended by the Committee constituted by District Magistrate on 13.04.2022 which was in accordance with the Government Order dated 19.03.2015. According to him, once the amount was quantified, no occasion arose for re-determining the compensation, as Commissioner was not the authority to have given any approval or disapproval to the amount already quantified, and the opposite parties are in contempt of not complying the order of the writ Court. He invited the attention of the Court to the Government Order dated 19.03.2015 which requires for the payment of the amount to the landholders whose land is taken as per agreement.

11. He then contended that the Committee had found that the rate payable as per the circle rate was Rs.39,000/- per Sq. Metre and pursuant to the Government Order dated 19.03.2015, the amount as per the circle rate was payable, which was rightly calculated by the Committee on 13.04.2022. According to him, once the amount was quantified and an admission has been made by the officers of the State Government by filing an affidavit, they cannot resile at a subsequent stage and deny the payment.

12. Reliance has been placed upon the judgments of the Apex Court in case of Reddy Veerana Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, decided on 05.05.2022 arising out of Civil appeal No.3636 of 2022, Dr. U.N. Bora, Ex. Chief Executive Officer and others Vs. Assam Roller Flour Mills Association and another 2022 (1) SCC 101, Suman Chadha and others Vs. Central Bank of India, AIR 2021 SC 3709, and Bhopendra Singh and others Vs. Awas Vikas Parishad and others, First Appeal No.33 of 2004, decided on 04.08.2005 by the High Court of Uttaranchal at Nainital.

13. Sri Manish Goyal, learned Additional Advocate General appearing for the opposite parties submitted that the direction of the writ Court was only to the extent of deciding the representation by the Special Land Acquisition Officer, Bareilly. The writ Court had not adjudicated the matter on merits and order dated 30.07.2019 categorically takes note of the fact that without any opinion on the merits of the case, applicant was granted opportunity to file a comprehensive representation before the Special Land Acquisition Officer, Bareilly.

14. As the earlier Committee constituted by the District Magistrate on 13.04.2022 calculated the compensation on the basis of the land situated in the Abadi area, but when approval was sought from the Commissioner, it came into the light that the land which was taken over, was agricultural land and not abadi.

15. Moreover, the objections of the Public Works Department brought into the light that the applicant was only one of the co-sharers of the land taken over for construction of mini by-pass, and there were two other co-sharers who were also entitled for compensation. As the matter was referred back to the District Magistrate to enquire again, Committee was re-constituted and on enquiry, it was found that entry in revenue records reflected that land was recorded as agricultural land. Further, the applicant was only entitled to 1/3rd share in the land taken over and compensation to the tune of Rs.75 lakhs and odd was directed to be paid.

16. According to Sri Goyal, the applicant is not entitled to the amount quantified on 13.04.2022 as no approval was accorded by the Commissioner, and the State cannot be compelled to pay the amount for which the applicant is not entitled for. He next contended that in case, the applicant is aggrieved by the order passed by the District Magistrate that the applicant is entitled to only 1/3rd amount of compensation of the land taken over, he may approach the reference Court or any other judicial forum as the order of the writ Court has been duly complied with which was to the extent of deciding the representation of the applicant.

17. Having heard rival submissions and after perusing the material on record, I find that the proceedings initiated at the behest of applicant against the State Officials under Section 12 of the Contempt of Courts Act are for punishing them for wilful disobedience of the order of the writ Court. According to the applicant, the officers are in contempt as they have filed an affidavit on the earlier occasion stating that the applicant was entitled to the payment of Rs.27,44,82,000/- and now resiling back from the said affidavit and coming with a case that the applicant is only entitled for Rs.75 laksh and odd would attract the wrath of Section 12 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971.

18. Before proceeding to decide the issue as to whether any deliberate or wilful disobedience of the order has been made by the opposite party, a glance of Section 2(b) of Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 is necessary for better appreciation of the case, which is extracted hereasunder:-

"2. (b) "civil contempt" means wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or wilful breach of an undertaking given to a court;"

19. From the reading of the said provisions, it is clear that to attract provision of civil contempt, the party approaching the Court has to show that there is any wilful disobedience of any judgment or order of the Court.

20. In order to punish a contemnor, it has to establish that disobedience of the order is "wilful". The Supreme Court in its celebrated judgment rendered in the case of Ram Kishan Vs. Tarun Bajaj and others 2014 (16) SCC 204, held that the word "wilful" introduces a mental element and hence, requires looking into the mind of a person/contemnor by gauging his actions, which is an indication of one's state of mind. According to Court, the word "wilful" means knowingly intentional, conscious, calculated and deliberate with full knowledge of consequences flowing therefrom. It excludes casual, accidental, bona fide or unintentional acts or genuine inability. Wilful act is to be distinguished from an act done carelessly, thoughtlessly, heedlessly or inadvertently. The relevant paras 11 and 12 of the judgment are extracted hereasunder:-

"11. Contempt jurisdiction conferred onto the law courts power to punish an offender for his wilful disobedience/contumacious conduct or obstruction to the majesty of law, for the reason that respect and authority commanded by the courts of law are the greatest guarantee to an ordinary citizens that his rights shall be protected and the entire democratic fabric of the society will crumble down if the respect of the judiciary is undermined. Undoubtedly, the contempt jurisdiction is a powerful weapon in the hands of the courts of law but that by itself operates as a string of caution and unless, thus, otherwise satisfied beyond reasonable doubt, it would neither fair nor reasonable for the law courts to exercise jurisdiction under the Act. The proceedings are quasi-criminal in nature, and therefore, standard of proof required in these proceedings is beyond all reasonable doubt. It would rather be hazardous to impose sentence for contempt on the authorities in exercise of contempt jurisdiction on mere probabilities.

12. Thus, in order to punish a contemnor, it has to be established that disobedience of the order is "wilful'. The word "wilful' introduces a mental element and hence, requires looking into the mind of person/contemnor by gauging his actions, which is an indication of one's state of mind. "Wilful' means knowingly intentional, conscious, calculated and deliberate with full knowledge of consequences flowing therefrom. It excludes casual, accidental, bonafide or unintentional acts or genuine inability. Wilful acts does not encompass involuntarily or negligent actions. The act has to be done with a "bad purpose or without justifiable excuse or stubbornly, obstinately or perversely". Wilful act is to be distinguished from an act done carelessly, thoughtlessly, heedlessly or inadvertently. It does not include any act done negligently or involuntarily. The deliberate conduct of a person means that he knows what he is doing and intends to do the same. Therefore, there has to be a calculated action with evil motive on his part. Even if there is a disobedience of an order, but such disobedience is the result of some compelling circumstances under which it was not possible for the contemnor to comply with the order, the contemnor cannot be punished. "Committal or sequestration will not be ordered unless contempt involves a degree of default or misconduct"

21. In Dr. U.N. Bora (Supra), the Hon'ble Apex Court held that wilful disobedience will be in case where the action is deliberate, conscious and intentional. The Court further held that while dealing with the contempt petition, the Court was not expected to conduct a roving enquiry and go beyond the very judgment which has allegedly been violated. Relevant para 8 is extracted hereasunder:-

"8. We are dealing with a civil contempt. The Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 explains a civil contempt to mean a willful disobedience of a decision of the Court. Therefore, what is relevant is the "willful" disobedience. Knowledge acquires substantial importance qua a contempt order. Merely because a subordinate official acted in disregard of an order passed by the Court, a liability cannot be fastened on a higher official in the absence of knowledge. When two views are possible, the element of willfulness vanishes as it involves a mental element. It is a deliberate, conscious and intentional act. What is required is a proof beyond reasonable doubt since the proceedings are quasi-criminal in nature. Similarly, when a distinct mechanism is provided and that too, in the same judgment alleged to have been violated, a party has to exhaust the same before approaching the court in exercise of its jurisdiction under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971. It is well open to the said party to contend that the benefit of the order passed has not been actually given, through separate proceedings while seeking appropriate relief but certainly not by way of a contempt proceeding. While dealing with a contempt petition, the Court is not expected to conduct a roving inquiry and go beyond the very judgment which was allegedly violated. The said principle has to be applied with more vigor when disputed questions of facts are involved and they were raised earlier but consciously not dealt with by creating a specific forum to decide the original proceedings."

22. It is made clear that in the present case, the writ Court on 30.07.2019 had required the Special Land Acquisition Officer, Bareilly to decide the representation of the applicant by a reasoned and speaking order. There was no adjudication of claim by the writ Court. The writ Court had specifically observed that the petition was disposed of without going into the merits of the case. Once, the writ Court did not adjudicate the matter on merit leaving it open to the authorities to decide the claim, the contempt Court cannot go behind the order passed by the writ Court and conduct a roving and fishing enquiry as has been held in the judgment of the Apex Court.

23. The argument raised at the behest of the applicant falls flat in view of the judgment cited above as there is no wilful disobedience by the officers concerned, as no claim was adjudicated by the writ Court leaving it open for the authorities to decide the claim in accordance with law.

24. Moreover, the report of the Committee endorsed by the District Magistrate on 13.04.2022 cannot be said to be a final order which was subject to approval of the Commissioner, Bareilly Division who had taken a decision on 05.05.2022 remitting back the file to the District Magistrate to re-constitute the Committee and submit a fresh report. It was when the Committee was re-constituted, it was found on enquiry that the land which was taken in the year 2003 was in fact, agricultural land recorded in the name of three persons and the applicant was one of co-tenureholder, and was entitled to only 1/3rd share of compensation.

25. The argument on behalf of the applicant that he was entitled to the entire share cannot be accepted as authorities have found him entitled to only 1/3rd share and the calculation having been made on the basis of the land recorded in the revenue records as agricultural land. The compensation earlier determined on 13.04.2022 was on the basis of the land situated in abadi whose value was more than the agricultural land.

26. In Sushila Raje Holkar Vs. Anil Kak (Retd.) 2008 (14) SCC 392, the Apex Court held that the proceeding under Contempt of Courts Act has a serious consequence. The Court held that where there is a allegation against a contemnor that he has wilfully committed breach of the order passed by a competent Court of law, then for the said purpose, it may be permissible to read the order of the Court in its entirety. Para 23 of the judgment is extracted hereasunder:-

"A proceeding under the Contempt of Courts Act has a serious consequence. Whether the alleged contemnor has willfully committed breach of the order passed by a competent court of law or not having regard to the civil/evil consequences ensuing therefor require strict scrutiny. For the said purpose, it may be permissible to read the order of the court in its entirety. The effect and purport of the order should be taken into consideration. Whereas the court shall always zealously enforce its order but a mere technicality should not be a ground to punish the contemnor. A proceeding for contempt should be initiated with utmost reservation. It should be exercised with due care and caution. The power of the court in imposing punishment for contempt of the court is not an uncontrolled or unlimited power. It is a controlled power and restrictive in nature (See Re: P.C. Sen [(1969) 2 SCR 649] and Jhareswar Prasad Paul and Another v. Tarak Nath Ganguly & Ors. [(2002) 5 SCC 352]. A contemnor, thus, may be punished only when a clear case for contumacious conduct has been made out."

27. In the case in hand, the alleged breach is of the order of the writ Court dated 30.07.2019 which nowhere quantifies the amount or decide the lis between the parties. It only relegates the matter to the authorities and directs the applicant to approach through a representation which has to be decided. Thus, according to judgment of the Apex Court rendered above, no contempt is made out against the opposite part.

28. It is well settled that Court dealing with application for Contempt of Courts cannot traverse beyond the order. It cannot test correctness, or otherwise of the order or give additional direction or delete any direction, as it would amount to be exercising review jurisdiction with an application for initiation of contempt proceedings. It is impermissible. The Apex Court had occasion to hold such view in case of Prithawi Nath Ram Vs. State of Jharkhand and others, AIR 2004 SC 4277.

29. The contempt Court while exercising jurisdiction under Section 10 read with Section 12 of Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 is only to see that the order of the writ Court is complied with. It acts like an Executing Court and cannot go behind the order passed, which is to be complied with by the authorities. It is not a Court of adjudication, rather it is an Executing Court.

30. In case, the Contempt Court starts lifting the wheel and adjudicates upon a matter, the entire purpose and the scheme envisaged under the Act, 1971 would fail. The Contempt Court has been given limited jurisdiction, to the extent that in case, a contemnor violates and does not comply the order of the adjudicating Court and there is a wilful disobedience on his part, he is liable to be punished for civil contempt.

31. The Executing Court cannot, in the garb of getting an order of adjudicating Court complied with, enter into an area which is prohibited and adjudicate and record its own finding.

32. In the present case, the writ Court did not decide the lis between the parties, rather it remitted the matter to the competent authority for adjudication. Interference by the Contempt Court into the action of the competent authority would amount to adjudicating the claim, which is not in the domain of the Contempt Court.

33. The Contempt Court has its limitation, it cannot enter the arena which is forbided. The adjudication of a claim cannot be done by the Executing Court, as the role assigned is to the adjudicating authority/Court.

34. Once, the authorities had decided the claim of the applicant, order of the writ Court stood complied with and in case of applicant being dissatisfied, has an efficacious remedy to approach the Court or any forum provided under law, and the same cannot be decided under the contempt jurisdiction. In Dr. U.N. Bora (Supra), the Apex Court had clearly held that no roving enquiry can be conducted by a Contempt Court.

35. Similarly, in Three Cheers Entertainment Private Limited and others Vs. Cesc Limited, 2008 (16) SCC 592, the Hon'ble Apex Court had the occasion to consider whether a contempt proceedings can be drawn by a roving enquiry. The Court held a roving enquiry is not permissible. Relevant paras 25, 29, 30 are extracted hereasunder:-

"25. Indisputably, the majesty of the Court is required to be upheld. The Court must see that its orders are complied with. But for the said purpose, a roving enquiry is not permissible. Several proceedings which seek to achieve the same purpose are unknown to the process of law. If the trial was to be held on the issues framed by the learned Single Judge, it should have been allowed to be brought to its logical conclusion. When the trial was incomplete, we fail to see any reason why the contempt proceeding was heard on affidavits. Even if that was done, reliance was sought to be placed on the depositions of the witnesses in the said enquiry, which was admittedly incomplete. Witnesses affirming affidavits before the learned Single Judge were not being cross- examined so as to enable the counsel for the parties to draw their attention to the earlier statement made by them in terms of Section 145 of the Evidence Act.

29. Contempt of court is a matter which deserves to be dealt with all seriousness. In Mrityunjoy Das & Anr. v. Sayed Hasibur Rahman & Ors*. [(2001) 3 SCC 739], this Court held :*

*"13. Before however, proceeding with the matter any further, be it noted that exercise of powers under the Contempt of Courts Act shall have to be rather cautious and use of it rather sparingly after addressing itself to the true effect of the contemptuous conduct. The court must otherwise come to a conclusion that the conduct complained of tantamounts to obstruction of justice which if allowed, would even permeate in our society (vide Murray & Co. v. Ashok Kr. Newatia). This is a special jurisdiction conferred on to the law courts to punish an offender for his contemptuous conduct or obstruction the majesty of law."*

30. In Chhotu Ram v. Urvashi Gulati & Anr. [(2001) 7 SCC 530], this Court held that a contempt of court proceeding being quasi criminal in nature, the burden to prove would be upon the person who made such an allegation. A person cannot be sentenced on mere probability. Willful disobedience and contumacious conduct is the basis on which a contemnor can be punished. Such a finding cannot be arrived at on ipse dixit of the court. It must be arrived at on the materials brought on record by the parties.

Yet again in Anil Ratan Sarkar & Ors. v. Hirak Ghosh & Ors. [(2002) (4) SCC 21], it was opined :

"15. It may also be noticed at this juncture that mere disobedience of an order may not be sufficient to amount to a "civil contempt' within the meaning of Section 2(b) of the Act of 1971 - the element of willingness is an indispensable requirement to bring home the charge within the meaning of the Act and lastly, in the event two interpretations are possible and the action of the alleged contemnor pertains to one such interpretation - the act or acts cannot be ascribed to be otherwise contumacious in nature. A doubt in the matter as regards the willful nature of the conduct if raised, question of success in a contempt petition would not arise." "

36. After considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court finds that as the order of the writ Court dated 30.07.2019 was specific to the extent that the representation of the applicant was to be decided by the Special Land Acquisition Officer, the Committee constituted by District Magistrate has finally adjudicated the claim and found the applicant entitled for the compensation to his 1/3rd share amounting to Rs.75,07,200/-.

37. Thus, if the applicant is aggrieved by the compensation so awarded by the State authorities, he may approach the forum available under the law challenging the said order, but no contempt proceedings are maintainable as there is no wilful disobedience of the order of the writ Court. Once, the claim has been adjudicated, the applicant has a remedy of challenging the same if he is not satisfied by the claim decided by the State officials.

38. The contempt application is devoid of merits and is hereby dismissed.

39. Contempt notice stands discharged.

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Umesh Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. This jail appeal has been preferred against the order of conviction and sentence dated 06.10.2018 by the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Hardoi in Sessions Trial No.260 of 2016 in case crime no.43/2016, under Section ? 304, 506 IPC, Police Station ? Behata Gokul, District ? Hardoi.

2. In brief, facts of the case are that Lalu alias Akhilesh lodged an FIR on 02.02.2015 that on 01.02.2015 at around 04:00 PM he was sitting in the western side of the plot of Jagpal Rathore. Suddenly Dharmesh came with unknown person and started going from his plot. When his father opposed, Dharmesh attacked from the wooden patra an unknown person attacked with lathi. When his father cried he saw and ran towards them then they ran away giving death threats. His father received injury at his head and stomach. With the help of villagers he moved him to the hospital where he died during the treatment. He requested to lodge FIR and take appropriate action. According to him Mahipal has also seen the occurrence.

3. The grounds of the appeal are that when the accused was in jail he forwarded jail appeal with the allegation that he has been punished with seven years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.10,000/- fine in case crime no.43/2016 in Sessions Trial Case No.260/2016, under Section 304 Part ? II IPC by the Court of ASJ-IX th, Hardoi on 06.10.2018. He belongs to a poor family. There is no other person to do 'pairavi' on his behalf, therefore, a jail appeal be preferred.

4. This application was forwarded by Jail Superintendent, Lucknow which was treated as jail appeal.

5. From the perusal of the above jail appeal it is apparent that no proper grounds have been taken by the accused-appellant.

6. During the course of trial following evidence were recorded :- .

7. After recording of evidence statement of the accused was recorded under Section ? 313 CrPC in which he said that he was falsely implicated on the pretext of village pradhan election. According to him the case was lodged on account of 'ranjish' and said to produce evidence in defence but no evidence was produced by him.

8. PW-1 Lalu alias Akhilesh is the informant and son of the deceased and also eyewitness who deposed that on 01.02.2016 at about 04:00 PM he was giving water in his wheat crop. His father was also there. who was sitting on the boundary of his nearby plot. At the same time accused Dharmesh with wooden patra and other person with lathi crossed his plot. His father forbade them then both the accused person started abusing his father. When his father prevented them then accused Dharmesh beat him with his wooden patra and the unknown person also beat him. When his father cried he saw the occurrence and ran towards him to save his life but both the accused persons threatened him to life. At the same time his relative Mahipal who was going from Hardoi to village Jagdishpur saw the occurrence. On his cry accused ran away after giving threatening to life. He transported his father to district hospital Hardoi where during the treatment his father died. Next day he lodged the FIR. This witness has proved the tahrir exhibit ka-1.

9. PW-2 Head Moharrir Mohd. Ujair is the formal witness who has proved Kayami GD exhibit ka-3 and chic FIR Exhibit ka-2 and also photocopy of hand written G.D. as Exhibit Ka-3 A.

10. PW-3 Mahipal is an eyewitness who has supported the prosecution version and has said that at about 04:00 PM he was going to his village from the market of Jagdishpur. When he reached near the plot of the deceased he saw that accused Dharmesh was beating the deceased from wooden patra. He challenged him as to why he was beating the deceased then accused Dharmesh ran away from the plot. According to him at that time Lalu alias Akhilesh son of deceased Ujja was also present. According to him the injured was taken to the District hospital where he died during the treatment. According to him the deceased died due to the injury caused by the accused Dharmesh.

11. PW-4 Dr. Sanjay Kumar Saini is the witness of postmortem. He has done the autopsy of the dead body of the deceased. He found three ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased. These are as under :-

(i) Contusion 3 x 2 cm on the skull.

(ii) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 0.5 cm on the back and outer area of right thumb.

(iii) Contusion 16 x 12 centimeter area of chest and the abdomen according to him when he opened his body he found ribs were broken and liver was torn, lungs and spleen were pale. The deceased died at 08:35 PM on 01.02.2016 in District Hospital Hardoi.

12. According to the witness the deceased died due to bleeding, haemorrhage and shock.

13. PW-5 Brijesh Kumar Tripathi was the Investigating Officer of occurrence who has done investigation in the case. This witness has proved map of the spot as exhibit ka-5. Recovery memo of the weapon as exhibit ka-6, map of the recovery memo as exhibit ka-7, charge sheet as exhibit ka-8 and wooden patra as material exhibit ? 1.

14. PW-6 was appointed as S.I. on the day of occurrence. According to him he received copy of the tahrir and death memo and on the direction of SHO reached mortuary where he did inquest of the exhibit ka-9 of the deceased and prepared challan in his exhibit ka-10, photo in his exhibit ka-11, letter to RI exhibit ka-12 and letter to CMO as exhibit ka-13. He has also proved the specimen seal as exhibit ka-14.

15. This case is based on direct evidence. There are two eyewitnesses PW-1 informant Lalu alias Akhilesh son of the deceased and PW-3 Mahipal independent eyewitness. Both the witnesses of fact have deposed against the accused and have deposed that wheat crop was standing in the plot. He was giving water. His father was also present there and when accused and the unknown person started crossing the wheat field and when his father prevented them then they attacked upon him and caused fatal injuries due to which he later on died. Similar statement has been given by PW-3 Mahipal. Thus, from the evidence of both the witnesses of fact it is clearly established that the accused and the unknown person caused fatal injuries to the deceased due to which he succumbed.

16. It has already been said that no evidence in defence has been produced by the appellant. So far as the alleged enmity is concerned, no oral or documentary evidence has been produced by the accused, therefore, it is established that there was no occasion of false implication of the accused in the present case by the informant.

17. From the perusal of the evidence it is established that this occurrence actually took place when accused and his unknown companion started crossing the wheat crop field and they were prevented by the deceased to save the damage of property.

18. In the lower court learned counsel for the applicant had questioned that since the informant PW-1 does not know the number of the plot in suit, therefore, the case is doubtful. The lower court has not accepted that such ignorence is fatal for the prosecution. The witness has said that the area of the plot is 5 bigha and 70-80 feet in length and width. From the map and evidence of I.O. it is established that the place of occurrence is not changed. Only not knowing the Khasra number of the plot is not material and on this basis the informant PW-1 cannot be said to be a false witness. It is also not established that the crops were so long that it was impossible to recognize the accused. Similarly, PW-3 Mahipal has also no enmity with the accused. He is also eyewitness who intervened in the occurrence and when he challenged the accused, he ran away from the wheat field. He recognizes the accused from his childhood. In this regard he said that he knows him because his 'mausi' lives in his village. It has come in the evidence of PW-1 that the wheat crop was up to the height of waist so it was quite probable to see and recognize the accused. It is also discussed by the lower court that informant PW-1 could not chase the accused persons but firstly he attended his father. Till then the accused persons had run away. Such conduct is quite natural and from such conduct of informant it cannot be inferred that he is telling a lie. In similar situation different persons act differently. A person can face and chase the accused persons, another person can run away from the spot, another person can attend the injured, so it depends upon the mental condition of the person concerned. The lower court has also discussed that informant PW-1 has not correctly counted the number of attacks by each accused separately. There is no law that it is mandatory for the witness to give description of exact numbers of attack by all accused persons. PW-1 has said that accused persons beaten his father three-four times by lathi attack and three- four times from wooden patra. So inability in giving the correct description is not the requirement of law. PW-3 only recognizes the present accused-appellant. He could not see another person. The lower court has not found this witness a chance witness. Lower court has relied on the citation Kallu vs. State of Haryana [AIR (2012) Supreme Court 3212] in which Punjab and Haryana High Court has held that there is no rule of law that the evidence of chance witness cannot be relied on though his evidence should be minutely observed. This Court also finds the evidence of PW-3 credible in absence of any motive and enmity with the accused.

19. From the evidence it is established that informant PW-1 carried his father with the help of Malkhan (Driver of hospital), Dinesh Pal and Ram Singh in the jeep of Malkhan. He reached hospital at about 07:00 PM and PW-3 has not accompanied the informant - deceased and above mentioned persons. Only on this acount it cannot be said that PW-3 has not seen the occurrence. It is not necessary that every eyewitness shall also accompany the injured to the hospital. Lower court has also discussed this fact that sister of the informant Lalu has been married in the family of PW-3 Mahipal but this alone is not sufficient to conclude that PW-3 is a false and planted witness. Since the place of occurrence is situated on the way of Bazar to his village, therefore, he cannot be said to be a chance and planted witness. Even under Section 134 of the Evidence Act single testimony is sufficient to prove the guilt. Certainly PW-1 was present at the spot at the time of occurrence and he has given evidence in support of the prosecution, therefore, it cannot be said that only to strengthen the prosecution story PW-3 has been mentioned as eyewitness. Learned lower court has relied on the citation Bhagwan Jagannath Markand vs. State of Maharashtra [(2016) 10 SCC 537] in which Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that testimony of a witness cannot be refused only on the ground that he is relative of the deceased but it has been directed that his evidence should be seen with care and caution and if the same inspires confidence then the accused can be convicted.

20. In this case the occurrence took place at about 04:00 PM of 01.02.2016 and the report was lodged at 11:20 AM of 02.02.2016. The distance between the place of occurrence and police station is about 8 Kms. Firstly injured was taken to the district hospital Hardoi where he died at about 07:10 PM. The information was sent to the police station Kotwali Shahar from the hospital same day. The distance from the Sadar hospital to Behta Gokul police station is about 16 Kms. Inquest was conducted at about 07:40 PM of 02.02.2016 at District Hospital. Death memo was issued on 08:35 pm of 01.02.2016. It appears that informant PW-1 is the sole son of the deceased.

21. In these circumstances, it was not possible for the informant to leave the dead body and go to police station to lodge the FIR just after the incident or just after the death of his father. There is some cutting over the inquest. The lower court has relied on the ruling Brahma Swaroop vs. State of U.P. AIR 2011 Supreme Court page 280 in which it is held that the purpose of inquest is to know as to how the injuries were caused and what is the apparent cause of death. It is held in several cases that inquest is not substantive piece of evidence. This Court is of the opinion that only delay of some hours in lodging of FIR and some cutting over the inquest is not fatal for the prosecution and in this context the lower court has correctly analyzed the case.

22. There is no difference or disparity between the ocular and medical evidence. According to prosecution case the deceased was beaten by lathi and wooden patra and the injuries are contusion and lacerated wound which can be caused by wooden patra and lathi. Thus, the ocular and medical evidence are in support of each other and wooden patra has also been recovered from the pointing of the accused. The lower court has convicted and sentenced the accused under Part - II of Section 304 IPC. According to Section 304 IPC whoever commits culpable homicide not amounting to murder shall be punished with imprisonment for life or imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to 10 years and shall also be liable to fine if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death or of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to 10 years or with fine or with both. If the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without any intention to cause death or to cause such bodily injuries as is likely to cause death. In the first Part of Section 304 IPC an accused can be punished up to the imprisonment for life or imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to 10 years and shall also be liable to fine whereas as per Second Part the maximum sentence is 10 years or with fine or with both if the act is done with the knowledge. First part of Section 304 IPC is based on the intention of the accused whereas Second Part is based on the knowledge. Lower Court concluded that there was no intention of the accused to kill the deceased. The occurrence occurred suddenly without any prior meeting of mind. Accused with another unknown co-accused were going to their destination and it appeared that to reach fast at the destination they crossed the green wheat crop and to avoid damage when they were prevented by the deceased they attacked upon him from the weapon which they were having in their hands which became fatal for the deceased and during the course of treatment he died.

23. Considering these facts of the offence the lower court has convicted and sentenced the accused under Part-II of Section 304 IPC. This Court is also of the opinion that there was no previous enmity between the accused and the deceased or the informant. In order to reach suddenly at the destination appellant-accused crossed the green crop of the deceased and when he was prevented then in sudden provocation he attacked upon the deceased and later on deceased succumbed.

24. From the above discussion it is established that the deceased died due to injuries caused by the accused and his unknown companion who could not be recognized and who could not be tried. It is also obvious that there was no intention of the accused to kill the deceased. It was an incident of sudden provocation but injuries numbers 1 and 3 are on the vital part and one should have knowledge that if he causes such injuries to any person such person may die.

25. Thus, it is established that accused has caused the offence under Section - 304 Part-II IPC and it would also be presumed that act was done with the knowledge that would likely cause death or shall cause such bodily injury which would likely cause death.

26. The lower court has acquitted the accused under Section 506 IPC. There is no evidence that accused threatened to dire consequences or life threat to the informant. So far as the injured deceased is concerned he has died. No cross appeal has been preferred by the State, therefore, this Court is also of the opinion that charge under Section 506 IPC is not proved.

27. The accused has been convicted under Part-II of Section 304 IPC as has been sentenced for seven years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.10,000/- fine and in case of default for non-payment three months additional rigorous imprisonment has been awarded. Out of Rs.10,000/- fine Rs.5,000/- amount of fine has been given to the informant. The appellant has not engaged any private counsel and an amicus curiae has been appointed to defend his case who argued the case before this Court. It is not known to this Court as to whether the accused appellant has any family burden or not ? He was not expected to cross the green wheat crop. Certainly, if any person crosses the green wheat crop, his foot shall damage the crop. There was alternative route for the accused to go through the boundaries of the plot but he selected to cross the green wheat crop and upon preventing by the deceased, in a fit of anger he along with his unknown companion hit the deceased who later on died. This Court is of the opinion that seven years' rigorous imprisonment and Rs.10,000/- fine is not much more in the attending circumstances. No force was applied against the accused. Informant and deceased were working on the plot in rightful manner and there was no occasion to do the alleged act by the accused which resulted in the death of the deceased. This Court is of the view that the whole aspect of the case has been fully proved by the oral and documentary evidence. The prosecution has been successful in proving the case beyond reasonable doubt under Part-II of Section 304 IPC, therefore, the appeal fails and is liable to be dismissed. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed. The order of conviction and sentence dated 06.10.2018 passed by the lower court is affirmed. A copy of this judgment be sent to the concerned court and concerned Jail Superintendent for compliance.

3. National Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs Pranay Sethi 2017 (4) T.A.C. 673

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vipin Chandra Dixit, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Singh and Sri Amit Kumar Sinha, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri N.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent no. 5 and perused the record. No one is present on behalf of other respondents.

2. This first appeal from order has been filed by the claimants-appellants for enhancement of compensation against the judgment and award dated 08.08.2005, passed by Ist Additional District Judge / Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Chitrakoot, in M.A.C.P. No. 163/70 of 2000 (Raja Beti and others vs. Ashok Kumar and others) by which compensation of Rs. 65,000/- only has been awarded to the claimants on account of death of Sri Bachcha Lal, aged about 42 years.

3. It is submitted by learned counsel for the claimants-appellants that the deceased was working as Lekhpal in Tehsil Karvi, District Chitrokoot at the time of accident and was getting salary of Rs. 7,000/- per month. The Claims Tribunal had acted in arbitrary manner has awarded only Rs. 65,000/- on the ground that after the death of Bachcha Lal, the claimant appellant no. 1 who is widow of Bachcha Lal was getting family pension @ Rs. 3,500/- per month and was also provided employment under the Dying in Harness Rules and was also getting salary to the tune of Rs. 4,000/- per month. The Claims Tribunal was of the view that since the widow was getting family pension as well as employment under the Dying in Harness Rules and receiving Rs. 7,500/- per month and there is no financial loss to the family of the deceased on account of death of Baccha Lal. The Claims Tribunal had awarded Rs. 50,000/- for loss of consortium, Rs. 5,000/- for funeral expenses and Rs. 10,000/- for pain and suffering and total amount of Rs. 65,000/- has been awarded to the claimants.

4. Learned counsel for the appellants has placed reliance upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Vimal Kanwar and others vs. Kishore Dan and Others reported in 2013 (3) T.A.C. 6 (S.C.). The relevant paragraph no. 19 and 20 are reproduced herein below :-

"19. The first issue is "whether Provident Fund, Pension and Insurance receivable by claimants come within the periphery of the Motor Vehicles Act to be termed as "Pecuniary Advantage" liable for deduction."

The aforesaid issue fell for consideration before this Court in Helen C. Rebello (Mrs) and others vs. Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation & Anr. reported in (1999) 1 SCC 90. In the said case, this Court held that Provident Fund, Pension, Insurance and similarly any cash, bank balance, shares, fixed deposits, etc. are all a "pecuniary advantage" receivable by the heirs on account of one's death but all these have no correlation with the amount receivable under a statute occasioned only on account of accidental death. Such an amount will not come within the periphery of the Motor Vehicles Act to be termed as "pecuniary advantage" liable for deduction. The following was the observation and finding of this Court:

"35. Broadly, we may examine the receipt of the provident fund which is a deferred payment out of the contribution made by an employee during the tenure of his service. Such employee or his heirs are entitled to receive this amount irrespective of the accidental death. This amount is secured, is certain to be received, while the amount under the Motor Vehicles Act is uncertain and is receivable only on the happening of the event, viz., accident, which may not take place at all. Similarly, family pension is also earned by an employee for the benefit of his family in the form of his contribution in the service in terms of the service conditions receivable by the heirs after his death. The heirs receive family pension even otherwise than the accidental death. No correlation between the two. Similarly, life insurance policy is received either by the insured or the heirs of the insured on account of the contract with the insurer, for which the insured contributes in the form of premium. It is receivable even by the insured if he lives till maturity after paying all the premiums. In the case of death, the insurer indemnifies to pay the sum to the heirs, again in terms of the contract for the premium paid. Again, this amount is receivable by the claimant not on account of any accidental death but otherwise on the insured's death. Death is only a step or contingency in terms of the contract, to receive the amount. Similarly any cash, bank balance, shares, fixed deposits, etc. though are all a pecuniary advantage receivable by the heirs on account of one's death but all these have no correlation with the amount receivable under a statute occasioned only on account of accidental death. How could such an amount come within the periphery of the Motor Vehicles Act to be termed as "pecuniary advantage" liable for deduction. When we seek the principle of loss and gain, it has to be on a similar and same plane having nexus, inter se, between them and not to which there is no semblance of any correlation. The insured (deceased) contributes his own money for which he receives the amount which has no correlation to the compensation computed as against the tortfeasor for his negligence on account of the accident. As aforesaid, the amount receivable as compensation under the Act is on account of the injury or death without making any contribution towards it, then how can the fruits of an amount received through contributions of the insured be deducted out of the amount receivable under the Motor Vehicles Act. The amount under this Act he receives without any contribution. As we have said, the compensation payable under the Motor Vehicles Act is statutory while the amount receivable under the life insurance policy is contractual."

20. The second issue is "whether the salary receivable by the claimant on compassionate appointment comes within the periphery of the Motor Vehicles Act to be termed as "Pecuniary Advantage" liable for deduction."

"Compassionate appointment" can be one of the conditions of service of an employee, if a scheme to that effect is framed by the employer. In case, the employee dies in harness i.e. while in service leaving behind the dependents, one of the dependents may request for compassionate appointment to maintain the family of the deceased employee dies in harness. This cannot be stated to be an advantage receivable by the heirs on account of one's death and have no correlation with the amount receivable under a statute occasioned on account of accidental death. Compassionate appointment may have nexus with the death of an employee while in service but it is not necessary that it should have a correlation with the accidental death. An employee dies in harness even in normal course, due to illness and to maintain the family of the deceased one of the dependents may be entitled for compassionate appointment but that cannot be termed as "Pecuniary Advantage" that comes under the periphery of Motor Vehicles Act and any amount received on such appointment is not liable for deduction for determination of compensation under the Motor Vehicles Act."

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the family pension and salary received on appointment under dying in harness cannot be treated as pecuniary benefits and are not liable to be deducted for determination of compensation.

6. On the other hand learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent-Insurance Company has submitted that the compensation awarded by the Claims Tribunal is just and proper and no ground for enhancement is made out but he has not disputed the aforesaid legal positions.

7. From the perusal of impugned award, it is apparent that nothing has been awarded by the Claims Tribunal towards pecuniary loss to the legal heirs of deceased and only Rs. 65,000/- has been awarded towards non pecuniary damages, whereas, the law has been settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Vimal Kanwar (supra) that the amount received by the widow towards family pension and the salary received on compassionate appointment under the Dying in Harness Rules cannot be deducted from the compensation for which claimants are entitled under the Motor Vehicles Act.

8. The compensation for which the claimants are entitled under the Motor Vehicles Act are reassessed. There is no dispute regarding the age of the deceased as 42 years at the time of accident. It is also undisputed that the deceased was working as Lekhpal in Tehsil Karvi, District Chitrakoot and was getting salary of Rs. 7,000/- per month.

9. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Smt. Sarla Verma vs. D.T.C. reported in 2009 (2) T.A.C. 677 (S.C.) has provided the multiplier of 14 for the age group of 41 to 45 years and it is also provided that deduction should be 1/4th where the number of dependents are 4 to 6. The relevant paragraphs no. 14 and 21 are reproduced herein below :-

"14. Though in some cases the deduction to be made towards personal and living expenses is calculated on the basis of units indicated in Trilok Chandra, the general practice is to apply standardized deductions. Having considered several subsequent decisions of this court, we are of the view that where the deceased was married, the deduction towards personal and living expenses of the deceased, should be one-third (1/3rd) where the number of dependent family members is 2 to 3, one-fourth (1/4th) where the number of dependant family members is 4 to 6, and one-fifth (1/5th) where the number of dependant family members exceed six.

21. We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in column (4) of the Table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlie), which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years. "

10. Since, the age of the deceased was 42 years at the time of accident, the appropriate multiplier would be 14 and since, there was five dependents on the income of the deceased, the deduction towards personal expenses would be 1/4th.

11. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Company Ltd. vs. Pranay Sethi reported in 2017 (4) T.A.C. 673 has also provided 30% future prospectus for the age group of 40 to 50 years. the claimants are also entitled for 30% future prospectus. The Hon'ble Apex Court has also provided certain guidelines for calculating the just compensation under the Moter Vehicles Act. Relevant paragraph 61 is reproduced herein below :-

"61. In view of the aforesaid analysis, we proceed to record our conclusions:

(i) The two-Judge Bench in Santosh Devi should have been well advised to refer the matter to a larger Bench as it was taking a different view than what has been stated in Sarla Verma, a judgment by a coordinate Bench. It is because a coordinate Bench of the same strength cannot take a contrary view than what has been held by another coordinate Bench.

(ii) As Rajesh has not taken note of the decision in Reshma Kumari, which was delivered at earlier point of time, the decision in Rajesh is not a binding precedent.

(iii) While determining the income, an addition of 50% of actual salary to the income of the deceased towards future prospects, where the deceased had a permanent job and was below the age of 40 years, should be made. The addition should be 30%, if the age of the deceased was between 40 to 50 years. In case the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years, the addition should be 15%. Actual salary should be read as actual salary less tax.

(iv) In case the deceased was self-employed or on a fixed salary, an addition of 40% of the established income should be the warrant where the deceased was below the age of 40 years. An addition of 25% where the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years and 10% where the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years should be regarded as the necessary method of computation. The established income means the income minus the tax component.

(v) For determination of the multiplicand, the deduction for personal and living expenses, the tribunals and the courts shall be guided by paragraphs 30 to 32 of Sarla Verma which we have reproduced hereinbefore.

(vi) The selection of multiplier shall be as indicated in the Table in Sarla Verma read with paragraph 42 of that judgment.

(vii) The age of the deceased should be the basis for applying the multiplier.

(viii) Reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs. 15,000/-, Rs. 40,000/- and Rs. 15,000/- respectively. The aforesaid amounts should be enhanced at the rate of 10% in every three years."

12. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and law settled by Hon'ble Apex Court, the compensation awarded by the Claims Tribunal is reassessed as follows :-

1. Monthly Income : Rs. 7,000/-

2. Annual Income : Rs. 7,000//- x 12 = Rs. 84,000/-

3. Future prospects (30%) = Rs. 25,200/-

4. Total annual income : Rs. 84,000/- + Rs. 25,200/- = Rs. 1,09,200/-

5. Deduction towards personal expenses (1/4th) : Rs. 1,09,200/- - Rs. 27,300/- = Rs. 81,900/-

6. Multiplier applicable (14) : Rs. 81,900/- x 14= Rs. 11,46,600/-

7. Non-pecuniary damages : Rs. 70,000/-

Total : Rs. 11,46,600/- + Rs. 70,000/- = Rs. 12,16,600/- 13. The Appeal is hereby partly allowed and award of the Claims Tribunal is modified and compensation awarded by the Claims Tribunal is enhanced from Rs. Rs. 65,000/- to Rs. 12,16,600/-. The claimants-appellants are also entitled for interest at the rate of 7% on the enhanced amount from the date of filing claim petition. The respondent-Insurance Company is directed to pay enhanced amount a well as interest to the claimants within two months from today.

14. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Narendra Kumar Johari, J.)

1. The instant Government Appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 09.03.1984 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly in S.T. No. 67 of 1993, Case Crime No. 114 of 1982, State of U.P. Vs. Braj Raj Singh and Others, under Sections 147/ 148/ 149/ 302/ 307 IPC whereby the learned Trial Court acquitted the accused persons from the charges of offence defined under Sections 302/149, 148, 307/149 IPC.

2. The record indicates that the accused Braj Raj Singh, Kandhari Singh and Master Singh have died during the pendency of instant appeal and the appeal has been abated for above accused respondents. At present accused-respondents Ram Chandra Singh and Omkar Singh are surviving. Hence, we are proceeding to consider the Governement Appeal in respect of the said accused respondents, namely, Ram Chandra Singh and Omkar Singh.

3. In brief, the facts of the case are that the informant Phoolan Singh S/o Malkhan Singh lodged the FIR under Section 147, 148, 149, 307 and 302 IPC against the accused persons Braj Raj Singh, Kandhari Singh, Omkar Singh, Ram Chandra Singh and Master Singh with the contention that accused Braj Raj Singh had taken some loan from the Lala Ram Awtar, which could not be repaid, consequently the land of Braj Raj Singh got auctioned in lieu of loan amount. The brother of informant Buddha Singh took part in auction proceedings and was successful bidder. He paid Rs. 8,000/- as auctioned money but due to subsequent litigation Buddha Singh could not get possession over the property auctioned. Since Buddha Singh had purchased the aforesaid land of Braj Raj Singh in auction, therefore, Braj Raj Singh and his family members were feeling enmity with Buddha Singh. On 29.10.1982 at about 3.00 p.m. the informant alongwith his brother Buddha Singh was going with his animals towards pond for providing them bath, as they reached near the hut (Mandvi/Chhappar) of accused Master Singh, the accused persons who were carrying the guns in their hand came out from inside the hut of Master Singh. Accused Braj Raj Singh exhorted them to kill. As the informant and Buddha Singh saw and felt intention of the armed accused persons and heard the voice of exhortation they ran towards north east by raising alarm to save their life. After running some distance informant and Buddha Singh for taking shelter, entered into the house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh and tried to close the door. At same time all the accused persons, who were chasing them reached there and opened fire on informant and Buddha Singh with intention to kill. The brother of the informant fell down by receiving the fire arm injuries, informant also received the pellet injuries on his body. At that time witnesses Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh, Bheekam Singh, Balbir Singh, Hardwari Singh, Indar Pal Singh and Badri Singh and other villagers reached on the spot. Having seen them, the accused persons fled away towards north. While causing the attack, accused persons Kandhari Singh and Ram Chandra Singh were carrying their licensee guns and Braj Raj Singh, Omkar Singh and Master Singh were carrying single barrel guns in their hands. Buddha Singh had died on the spot. Accordingly, the FIR of the occurrence was lodged under Crime No. 114 of 1982 against aforesaid accused persons at Police Station Bhuta.

4. The investigation was entrusted to S.I., Pooran Singh, who reached on spot prepared the inquest report, sent the body of the deceased for post mortem, sketched the spot map, recorded statement of witnesses, prepared the recovery memo of empty cartridge, pellets and bamboo stick. After completing investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against accused persons in Court concerned.

5. The trial of the case was committed to Court of Sessions, where the charges under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 and 307 read with Section 149 IPC were framed against the accused persons, who denied and abjured the charges, claimed not guilty and preferred trial.

6. On behalf of the prosecution informant Phoolan Singh S/o Malkhan Singh as P.W. 1, Indra Pal Singh as P.W. 2, Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh as P.W. 3, Soran Singh as P.W. 4 and Jawahar Lal as P.W. 5 recorded their statements as witnesss.

7. P.W. 1 Phoolan Singh S/o Malkhan Singh in his oral testimony narrated almost the same fact, as mentioned in the FIR. He deposed that Buddha Singh had purchased the land of Braj Raj Singh in auction, due to the said reason the accused Braj Raj

Singh and his family members were enimical with Buddha Singh and in furtherance of the aforesaid enmity, on 29.10.1982 when he and his brother Buddha Singh were going towards pond with their animals, armed accused persons, who were present in the hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) of accused Master Singh seeing them (victims) came out with exhortation and threat to kill. Having seen their gesture and smelling danger, the informant and Buddha Singh ran towards north and east to save their lives. They took shelter in the house of Phoolan Singh, at the same time the accused persons, who were chasing them, rached at the door of house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh and opened fire on Buddha Singh and informant when they were trying to hide themselves. After receiving the fire arm injuries, Buddha Singh fell down and died on the spot, whereas informant received injuries of pellets on his body. When the witnesses and other village persons reached on the spot, the accused persons escaped. He lodged the FIR in Police Station concerned and undergone the treatment of their injuries after medical examination.

8. P.W. 2 -Indra Pal Singh, who is the S/o informant's brother stated in his oral statement that informant and Buddha Singh were going towards pond with their animals, on the way they had seen that the armed accused persons came out from the hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) of accused Master Singh and exhorted and extended threat to kill Buddha Singh. Hearing the exhortation, feeling the danger the informant and deceased turned back and ran away from the spot. The accused persons started chasing them. Having seen the above activities, the witness also followed them. The informant and deceased entered inside the open house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh and to save their lives, they tried to close the door of house, but all the accused persons, who had reached there, opened fire indiscriminately. In the firing of accused persons informant and Buddha Singh received fire-arm injuries. Buddha Singh died on the spot. The witness also stated that the occurrence took place due to enimity because the deceased had purchased the land of Braj Raj Singh in auction.

9. Wintess Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh deposed as P.W. 3. He did not support the prosecution case. Consequently, he had been declared as hostile witness. Although in his examination- in- chief he stated that on the date of occurrence at about 03-04 p.m., the informant and his brother Buddha Singh entered into his house raising voice for help and in his house they received the fire arm injuries, but who had opened the fire, he could not see.

10. P.W. 4 Soran Singh and P.W. 5 Jawahar Lal, as formal witnesses, have proved the investigation proceedings.

11. Since the accused persons had accepted genuineness of medical examination report of informant Phoolan Singh and post mortem report of deceased Buddha Singh, the doctors had not been produced by the prosecution.

12. In their statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused persons, except the accused Master Singh (since died), had accepted that the deceased Buddha Singh had purchased the land of Braj Raj Singh in auction. All the accused persons stated that the facts and allegations of prosecution are false and concocted. They are innocent and they have been roped in the case due to the reason of previous enmity and village party bandi.

13. Learned trial Court after hearing the arguments of rival parties acquitted the accused persons from the charges of offences defined under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 307 IPC, which has been assailed by the prosecution by way of instant appeal.

14. We have heard the arguments of learned AGA as well as learned counsel for the accused respondents and perused the record carefully.

15. Learned AGA argued that judgment and order of acquittal is misconceived and bad in the eye of law. The impugned judgment and order passed by the Trial Court is against the provisions of law and same is based on conjectures and surmises. Prosecution had succeeded to prove its case beyond any shadow of doubt against the accused persons but the trial Court failed to appreciate the evidence available on record in right perspective. To substantiate his arguments, learned AGA referred the evidence of P.W. 1 and P.W. 2, who were eye witnesses of occurrence, and submitted that P.W. 1 is injured witness. The statement of eye witnesses is supported with medical evidence. The findings recorded by the Trial Court in the impugned judgment and order are perverse and same are liable to be set aside and the appeal deserves to be allowed.

16. In reply, learned counsel for the accuesed respondents vehemently opposed the arguments of learned AGA. Learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the deceased had been attacked by some unknown persons, who were interested in the lady, namely, Dhandei. She was living with deceased Buddha Singh illicitely who had enticed her. The prosecution story is false and baseless. There is no existance of hut (Chhappar/ Mandvi) of accused Master Singh (since died) in the village nor accused persons were present in the hut of accused Master Singh (since died). The alleged pond, where deceased as well as the informant were going with their animals, was dried and also was too far from the residence of victims. The accused persons are innocent. They have not committed any offence, rather they have been falsely implicated in the case by the informant due to enmity and village party bandi. The FIR was ante timed. Motive of offence has not been proved. The prosecution witnesses had given false statements. The investigation was defective and biased. The prosecution failed to prove its case against accused persons beyond reasonable doubt. Findings recorded by the trial court in the impugned judgment and order are in accordance with facts, evidence and law. The appeal has no force and is liable to be dismissed.

17. Before proceeding to discuss the submissions raised by the learned counsel for the parties, we may mention the findings of the trial court on material points in the impugned judgement and order, which are as under:

(i). There was no hut (madai) belonging to Master Singh (since died) in the village in question nor the accused persons were hiding in the said hut at the time of incident.

(ii). F.I.R. was lodged after due consultation with the help of police personnel and same is ante-timed document.

(iii). PW-1 and PW-2 are interested witnesses. They have made false statement before the Court. Their statements were not reliable.

(iv). Prosecution case is not supported with independent evidence.

(v). None has seen the incident.

(vi). Incident did not take place in the manner and style as stated by the prosecution witnesses.

(vii). Alleged motive has also not been proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt.

(viii). Accused were implicated in this case due to previous enmity and parti-bandi.

(x). Deceased and injured witness were not going to Tall (pond) alongwith their cattle for providing them water.

(xi). There are major contradictions in the statement of prosecution witnesses on material points.

18. After outlining the findings recorded by the trial court in the impugned judgement and order on material points, we are proceeding to deal with the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties.

F.I.R.:-

19. The date and time of incident, as shown in the FIR, was 03.00 p.m. on 29.10.1982 and the FIR of the case was lodged at Police Station Bhuta at 07.15 p.m. on the same day. The distance of Police Station from the place of occurrence has been shown as 08 mile (i.e. equal to approx 12.87 K.M.). P.W. 1 had stated in his evidence that after the occurrence, they moved from his village at about 04.00 p.m. to lodge FIR at Police Station concerned by bullockart and reached there in three hours and lodged the FIR. So far as the condition of informant is concerned, he had received three injuries of lacerated wound on non-vital part of the body for which the doctor opined that the injuries were simple in nature. Apart from that he had received eight wounds of .8 diameter in the part of upper abdomen. The occurence had taken place at 3.00 p.m. and FIR was lodged at 7.15 p.m. i.e. after 4.15 hours. Therefore it can not be said that the informant was not in a condition to lodge FIR. Moreover, the informant had gone under medical examination at 01.10 a.m. on 30.10.1982 i.e. after 10 hour, even then the doctor who had examined him, did not mention any srious condition of patient in his medical examination report. The genuineness of the medical examination report of informant has been accepted by the learned counsel for respondents. The witnesses of rural background have tendency to explain the conditions in exaggerate form which is natural, and does not amount to material contradiction. In view of report of injured informant, it can not be said that informant was not in fit physical condition and the FIR had been lodged by the consultation of police persons. It has also been argued by learned counsel for appellant that inquest report was having overwriting in the date of 29.10.1982, which creates doubt about timing of registration of FIR. Inadvertently or by mistake mentioning of wrong date is possible and it is quite common also, and if the wrong entry of date is corrected, and the concerning witness has given the proper explanation of such overwriting and there is no other evidence on record which may prove that such overwriting has been done knowingly or has been done to mislead any other fact, in that case such overwriting in inquest report can't be said to be fatal for prosecution case. The view taken by trial Court, regarding anti timed FIR is presumptive, wrong and against the settled law. Taking into consideration the mode of conveyance i.e. bullockart, timing mentioned in the FIR, other connecting circumstances and evidence and in absence of any evidence contrary, it can be concluded that the FIR of the occurrence was lodged with due promptness, without any unnecessary delay or consultation. It is not an ante-timed document. Finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law.

Injured / eyewitnesses:-

20. The informant Phoolan Singh (P.W. 1) was an injured person, who had received the multiple injuries of pellets and soon after the occurrence had gone to Police Station along with the persons of his village, namely, Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh, Bheekam Singh, Brahm Pal Singh and Indra Pal Singh. There is no evidence of any deliberations or any conspiracy to lodge the false FIR against accused persons leaving real assailant/ culprit, if any. Five persons have been named in the FIR as accused persons assigning role to attack on deceased and informant with fire arms. The injured witness P.W. 1 had received four injuries of laccerated wound caused by pellets of fire arm. On the other hand deceased Buddha Singh had received ten injuries of gun shot entry wounds. No suggestion has been given by counsel for defence to witness P.W. 1 in his cross examination indicating the fact of any deliberation of P.W. 1 with any other person to implicate the accused persons falsely. Although, in the impugned judgment and order, to show contradiction, learned Trial Court has discussed the evidence of P.W. 2, who had mentioned in his oral statement the distance of Police Station from the place of occurrence as 18 miles, but the said distance is not proved. Apart from that witness P.W. 2 who had affixed his thumb impression on his oral evidence, seems an illiterate / rustic person. The witness P.W. 2 had stated that they reached at Police Station by 07.00 p.m. on the date of occurrence. Considering the above part of his statement, the trial Court wrongly interpreted the statement of witness P.W. 2, and wrongly believed the distance of Police Station from the place of occurrence as 18 miles. The above distance has been shown in FIR as 8 k.m. and the fact has not been confronted with the Investigating Officer in his cross examination. In absence of any evidence regarding the distance of Police Station as 18 miles, the distance mentioned in the FIR, which has been mentioned by a public servant performing his public duty, is liable to be believed and can be concluded that the FIR of the occurrence was lodged by the informant promptly.

21. The witness P.W. 1 has stated that on the date of occurrence, while going towards pond with their animal, he had accompanied his brother Buddha Singh. On the way the accused persons came out from the hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) of Master Singh (since died). The accused persons gave threat of life to deceased. Seeing the activities of the accused persons the deceased and witnesses P.W. 1 ran towards north then towards east to save their lives. The accused persons chased them and for taking shelter, when they reached inside the house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh, the accused persons opened fire indiscriminately from the gate of his house. It has been mentioned in the statement of P.W. 1 that in the house of Phoolan Singh the victims had tried to shut the door, but before closing the door the accused persons had reached at the gate and started firing from outside the gate in which Buddha Singh received as many as 10 fire arm injuries and fell down on the spot.

22. Learned counsel for the accused respondents has submitted that the witness P.W. 1 in his cross examination has stated that he could not see as to which accused had fired how many shots / bullets on them, therefore the witness P.W. 1 can not be termed as eyewitness. In our view, the aforesaid argument of learned counsel for the respondent is not acceptable, as at the time of firing, both the victims, (the deceased as well as the informant) were trying to save their lives. The accused persons had started firing from the gate of Phoolan Singh's house which was indicriminate, therefore, in the above situation, if the witness P.W. 1, who was under shelter and had received the pellet's injuries in firing, could not see that which of the accused had fired how many shots / bullets, (as it was asked by defence counsel in cross examination of witness), it can not be inferred that P.W. 1 was not the eye account witness of the incident. It is to be noticed that witness P.W. 1 had received the injuries of lacerated wound caused by pellets of fire arm during the course of same occurrence. Soon before the occurrence he was accompaying Buddha Singh with whom the accused persons were having enmity due to the reason that he had purchased the land of accused Braj Raj Singh in auction and was trying to take possession over the said land. In this context, learned counsel for the respondents argued that if the accused persons had opened fire to kill Buddha Singh why they left informant and Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh alive, who were also present at the place of occurrence. Learned AGA in reply has submitted that the accused persons as well as victims were resident of same village, there was direct enmity of accused persons with Buddha Singh. Only Buddha Singh was target. Therefore, if accused persons, who were not the habitual criminals, have not killed the other persons, who were also present in the house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh it was their natural behaviour. It is not denied that the witness P.W. 1 had not received the injuries in the same occurrence. Therefore, his presence on the spot is established and in this regard, in absence of any evidence otherwise the evidence of witness P.W. 1 is liable to be believed. In our considered view he is trustworthy witness. Finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is also perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law.

23. In the case of Surjit Singh Alias Gurmit Singh Vs. State of Punjab 1993 Supp (1) SCC 208 the Hon'ble Apex Court has held in para 9, which reads as under:-

"9. To be fair to the learned counsel for the appellant, we may mention that he ventured to argue that the evidence regarding the marrying of the crime bullet shells with the pistol recovered was not convincing, mor so when the .303 pistol, the alleged crime weapon, was recovered from Gurmit Singh, co-accused. It is noteworthy that Gurmit Singh, co-accused, stands convicted under the Arms Act for being in possession of that pistol. This aspet of the case cannot be a substitute to the eyewitness account or the plea taken by the appellant. Had the presence of the two witnesses, that is, Jaswinder Kaur PW5 the Taljit Singh PW2 at the scene of the occurrence been doubted, the recovery of the weapon of offence and its connection with the empty shells recovered at the spot would have assumed some significance. When the two eyewitnesses are natural witnesses of the crime, one being the young wife who would normally be in the company of the husband at 10.30 p.m. on a summer night and the other the newphew of the deceased who had suffered grievous injuries in the occurrence and was thus a stamped witness*, not much importance is to be attached to this aspect of the case. The venture is futile."*

24. In the case of Majju & Another Vs. State of M.P. 2002 SCC (Cri) 597, the Apex Court has held in para 5, which reads as under:-

"5. The counsel for the appellants contended that the evidence adduced by the prosecution was interested and therefore, it cannot be relied upon. It is important to note that the witnesses examined on the side of the prosecution were all injured in the incident. PW6 Ramchandra Sustained a grievous injury, in the sense that he lost one of his teeth. The other witnesses also sustained injuries. That is proved by the various medical certificates issued by the doctor who examined them. Therefore, the presence of these witnesses at the place of occurrence cannot be suspected. All these witnesses gave evidence to the effect that when they along with deceased Bihari Lal were coming from the temple after performing some ceremony, the accused surrounded and attacked them. We do not find any infirmity in the evidence of these witnesses."

25. In the case of Prithvi (Minor) Vs. Mam Raj & Others (2004) 13 SCC 279, the Apex Court held that the fact that eyewitness sustained serious injuries in the incident in question the Hon'ble Apex Court held that giving credence to the prosecution story that he was at the spot when the offence was committed.

Relative and interested witness:-

26. P.W. 2, the son of deceased's brother, is also resident of the same village and locality, therefore, his presence on the place of occurrence is not improbable. He had also given the evidence of occurrence as eye witness account and further stated that when the accused persons were firing on the deceased and informant, he had taken shelter behind the animals. No questions have been asked in cross examination of P.W. 2 challenging the above fact and there is no reason on record to disbelieve his testimony. The oral testimony of eye witnesses P.W. 1 and 2 are supported with medical examination report of injured witness P.W. 1 and with post mortem report of deceased Buddha Singh. The genuineness of its contents have been admitted by the accused persons, hence in absence of any evidence contrary, the same are admissible in evidence.

27. In the case of Kathi Bharat Vajsur and Anr. Vs. State of Gujarat AIR 2012 SC 2163 the Hon'ble Apex Court has held in para 21, which reads as under:-

"21. When the medical evidence is in consonance with the principal part of the oral / ocular evidence thereby supporting the prosecution story, there is no question of ruling out the ocular evidence merely on the ground that there are some inconsistencies or contradictions in the oral evidence. We are not inclined to agree with Shri. Dholakia on this count."

28. Learned counsel for the accused respondents has submitted that the witnesses P.W. 1 and 2 are the relative of victim and are interested witnesses. Since P.W. 1 is the real brother of the deceased Buddha Singh and P.W. 2 is the S/o Buddha Singh's brother, therefore, their evidence is not trustworthy. We are not convinced with the argument of learned counsel for the respondents. Although witnesses P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 are close relative and family members of deceased yet there is no discrepancy in their evidence on the point of occurrence. A close scrutiny of evidence of P.W. 1 and 2 indicates that there is no contradiction in their statements on material points. Neither any contrary evidence nor any cogent evidence is on record, which may prove the facts otherwise or may place the ground to disbelieve their testimony. Hence, finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is also perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law.

29. In the case of Yogesh Singh Vs. Mahabeer Singh & Others AIR 2016 SC 5160 the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in para 28, which reads as under:-

"28. A survey of the judicial pronouncements of this Court on this point leads to the inescapable conclusion that the evidence of a closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon. (See Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar, (2001) 7 SCC 318; State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo Singh, (2003) 1 SCC 456; Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. Vs. State of U.P., (2011) 13 SCC 206; Dahari & Ors. Vs. State of U. P., (2012) 10 SCC 256; Raju @ Balachandran & Ors. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, (2012) 12 SCC 701; Gangabhavani Vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy & Ors., (2013) 15 SCC 298; Jodhan Vs. State of M.P., (2015) 11 SCC 52) : (AIR 2015 SC (Supp) 1991)."

30. In the case of State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo & Others (2003) 1 SCC 456, the Apex Court has held in para 7, which reads as under:-

"7. There are three eye-witnesses of the incident, that is, P.W.1 Ramraj son of the deceased Ram Lachhan, P.W.2 Firangi and P.W.4 Sudama, who is an injured witness and whose son Rajendra is the other deceased. The High Court doubted the evidence of these eye-witnesses merely on the ground that they had motive in supporting the prosecution case. Legally speaking, we are unable to accept this reasoning. Most of the times eye-witnesses happen to be family members or close associates because unless a crime is committed in a public place, strangers are not likely to be present at the time of occurrence. Ultimately, eye-witnesses have to be persons who have reason to be present on the scene of occurrence because they happen either to be friends or family members of the victim. The law is long settled that for the mere reason that an eye- witness can be said to be an interested witness, his/her testimony need not be rejected*. For the interest which an eye-witness may have, the court can while considering his or her evidence exercise caution and give a reasonable discount, if required. But this surely cannot be reason to ignore the evidence of eye-witnesses. The High Court was clearly in error in not considering the evidence of eye-witnesses* at all in the present case for the reason that they were interested witnesses. As seen earlier, one of the eye-witnesses in an injured person who received injuries in the incident itself. He was rather seriously injured. If he was not present at the time of occurrence, wherefrom he received the injuries, would be an obvious question. In fact, P.W.4 is also the father of the deceased Rajendra. It is common in villages that male members of a family sleep together in the open during summer season. Sleeping near the tube-well is understandable because that would lend some coolness to the atmosphere. The High Court totally ignored the other aspect of the evidence of the eye-witnesses. That is, the evidence was consistent and the version of the witnesses tallied with each other. In our view, there was no reason to discard the evidence of the eye-witnesses. This evidence is clinching and it clearly implicates the accused persons. There is no reason to doubt the veracity of the evidence of at least P.W.1 and P.W.4 and that is sufficient to convict the accused persons."

31. In the case of Munigadappa Meenaiah Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh (2008) 11 SCC 661, the Apex Court has held in para 10, which reads as under:-

"10. We shall first deal with the contention regarding interestedness of the witnesses for furthering prosecution version.

10..... Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible."

32. In the case of Brahma Swarup & Others Vs. State of U.P. 2004 (2) JIC 827 (All), this Court has also expressed the same view.

33. In the case of Hardev Singh & Others Vs. Harbhej Singh & Others 1996 (4) Crimes 216 (SC), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the evidence of close relations who testified facts relating to occurrence be not rejected merely on ground that they happened to be relatives. Evidence of such witnesses be scrutinized very carefully.

34. In the case of State of U.P. Vs. Naresh & Others (2011) ACR 370, the Apex Court has held that mere relationship cannot be a factor to affect credibility of a witness. Evidence of a witness cannot be discarded solely on the ground of his relationship with victim of offence. Contrary to the same the finding of trial Court is perverse.

Hostile witness:-

35. Although P.W. 3 Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh has not fully supported the prosecution story in his oral statement yet he is the same person in whose house the informant and deceased Buddha Singh took shelter to save their lives and on the same place they had received the fire arm injuries. P.W. 3 has not denied the above fact in his evidence. The part of oral evidence of an hostile witness, which supports the prosecution case, is admissible in evidence. So far as evidence of hostile witness is concerned, in the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Bhawani & Another (2003) 7 SCC 291 it has been held by Hon'ble Apex Court in para no. 10, which reads as under:-

"10. The fact that the witness was declared hostile by the Court at the request of the prosecuting counsel and he was allowed to cross-examine the witness, no doubt furnishes no justification for rejecting en bloc the evidence of the witness. But the Court has at least to be aware that prima facie, a witness who makes different statements at different times has no regard for truth. His evidence has to be read and considered as a whole with a view to find out whether any weight should be attached to the same. The Court should be slow to act on the testimony of such a witness and, normally, it should look for corroboration to his evidence. The High Court has accepted the testimony of the hostile witnesses as gospel truth for throwing overboard the prosecution case which had been fully established by the testimony of several eyewitnesses, which was of unimpeachable character. The approach of the High Court in dealing with the case, to say the least, is wholly fallacious."

36. In the instant case in the light of the statement of P.W. 3, taking into consideration of evidence of eye witnesses P.W. 1 and 2, it can not be said that prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt by the evidence of trustworthy witnesses. Learned Trial Court, against the settled law, has wrongly appreciated the evidence of witness P.W. 3, which resulted in acquittal of accused respondents.

Number of witnesses:-

37. Learned counsel for the accused respondents submitted that prosecution had failed to prove its case by proper / independent witness. P.W.1 and P.W. 2 are relative witness. P.W. 3 has been declared as hostile, therefore, no proper and independent witnesses have been produced by prosecution. In our view, the argument of learned counsel has no force, as no fixed / particular number of witness is prescribed in law for the proof of any fact. In this regard Section 134 of Evidence Act makes following provision:-

"134 Number of witnesses- No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact."

38. Accordingly quality of evidence is material not the number.

39. On the above point, it has been held by Apex Court in the case of Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh & Others 2003 (46) ACC 619 that no particular number of witnesses are required for proof of any fact.

40. In the case of Munshi Prasad And Others Vs. State of Bihar 2002 SCC (Cri) 175, the Apex Court has held that it is the quality of the evidence and not the quantity, which is required. It is to be seen that whether prosecution has been able to bring home the charges with the evidence available on record and if the evidence on record is otherwise satisfactory and trustworthy, an increase of number of witnesses are not required.

41. Learned counsel for accused respondents also argued that the occurrence, as alleged, took place in the aabadi of village in day light even then no public witness has been procured / produced by the prosecution. The evidence on record shows that there are two groups of Thakurs in the village. The victims and assailants belong to rival groups. In general, in villages and in backward areas where generally the people are uneducated / less educated, unexperienced and rustic, nobody wants to interfere in dispute / invite enimity by giving evidence before police and Court. In society the behaviour of police with illiterate people / general public is known by everybody. Therefore, if any public witness of village concerned has not come forward as witness of the occurrence, the prosecution case does not malign, particularly when the eye witnesses have proved the FIR version by their oral evidence and which has also been corroborated by documentary evidence. It can not be said that prosecution could not prove its case by genuine and trustworthy witnesses. In the present case, evidence of P.W. 1 is corroborated with the FIR, spot map and also with the medical examination/ P.M. report of victims. The finding recorded by the trial Court in the impugned judgment and order in this regard is against the provisions of law and evidence.

42. Learned counsel for the respondents has further submitted that according to contents of FIR as well as statements of P.W. 1 and 2, the accused persons came out from the hut (Mandvi/ Chhappar) of accused Master Singh (since died). Accused Braj Raj Singh exhorted and threatened for life to deceased as well as the informant. On the above fact, learned Trial Court had concluded that there was no existence of hut (Chhappar/ Mandvi) of accused Master Singh (since died) in the village Etoria. On this point, the counsel has referred the statement of of P.W. 1 where he had stated that Master Singh (since died) has land in his village, but he could not say as to whether his name was mentioned in the voter list of village or not. He further stated that Master Singh (since died) has not purchased any land in his village nor he was given any land in Village Etoria by Gram Sabha. The witness P.W. 1 has further stated that Master Singh (since died) was a resident of District Pilibhit and his sons were living at village Berkhera. He had further stated that Chhappar of Master Singh (since died) was open and there was public pathway on the eastern and southern side of the Chhappar. In this context, learned counsel has also referred the statement of witness P.W. 2 where it has been stated by witness P.W. 2 that he did not know that Master Singh (since died) was having any land in the village or not. Master Singh (since died) was not resident of his village rather he was the resident of District Pilibhit. Taking into consideration the above part of evidence of witnesses, the Trial Court has concluded that Investigating Officer had failed to collect evidence regarding existence of property of Master Singh (since died) in village Etoria and since the witnesses P.W. 1 and 2 had admitted that the accused Master Singh (since died) was the resident of District Pilibhit, therefore, it can not be said that Chhappar, from where the accused persons came out with fire arm, belongs to accused Master Singh (since died). Since there was no hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) of Master Singh (since died), therefore the prosecution story regarding role of accused person in occurrence is false. The above argument of learned counsel for the defence is not convincing us rather it is misleading. The evidence of witnesses should be read as a whole. P.W. 1, supporting the proseuction story, has stated in his evidence that the hut (Chhappar / Mandvi), from where the armed accused persons came out to attack on victims, was of Master Singh (since died), who was the person of co-accused's favour. The witness P.W. 1 had further stated in his evidence that Master Singh (since died) had raised its Chhappar upon the land of Gram Sabha two years prior. Therefore, though he was not allotted any land from Gram Sabha yet he had raised its Chhappar over the barren land of Gram Sabha illegally. It was an unauthorised construction existed in village Etoria, at the time of occurrence. The evidence of P.W. 1 shows that the accused persons were belonging to Chauhan Thakur. At the time of occurrence, Gram Pradhan of village was of the same community. The accused persons have supported him in his election, therefore, the probability can be presumed that the Gram Pradhan might have not taken any action against Master Singh (since died) for his unauthorised construction of the Chhappar over the Gram Sabha land. In villages, unauthorised construction over the lands of Gram Sabha are very common thing. At the stage of investigation there was no dispute regarding the existence of hut (Mandvi/Chhappar) of accused Master Singh (since died) from where accused persons came out and attacked on the victims. The Investigating Officer of the case had inspected the Chhappar of accused Master Singh (since died) during his investigation and had shown it in spot map, which was sketched by him soon after the occurrence and subsequently has given the description of Master Singh's hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) in his oral evidence. He has clearly mentioned in his statement that during investigation when he reached inside the Chhappar, there were no male persons but only females were residing under the Chhappar. It is to be noted that the Investigating Officer, who has deposed as P.W. 4 has not been cross-examined by the counsel for defence on the point of existence of the hut (Chhappar / Mandvi) of accused Master Singh (since died). Neither spot map has been challenged nor any positive evidence has been produced by defence side to substantiate their case regarding non-existence of hut (Mandvi / Chhappar) of accused Master Singh (since died) in the village in question. In the light of the above facts and evidence, it is not proved that there was no existence of hut (Chhappar/Mandvi) of accused Master Singh (since died) in the village Hence, the view taken by Trial Court in the impugned judgment and order that there was no hut (Chhappar / Mandvi) of Master Singh (since died) is based upon conjecctures and surmises. The said finding is liable to be interfered with.

43. Learned counsel for the defence further stated that the deceased had enticed away a female, namely, Dhandei from her husband's house and kept her illegally / illicitely in his house as wife, for which a person, namely, Jai Singh was having enmity with deceased and due to which Jai Singh had committed the offence in question. On the above point of argument, we find that there is no evidence, either oral or documentary, on record to establish the fact that due to any enmity of aforesaid Dhandei, the offence has been committed by Jai Singh or by any other person. Hence, finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is also perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law.

Recovery of weapon:-

44. Lastly, the counsel for the defence has submitted that there is no recovery of weapon and no motive of offence is established. The statements of witnesses P.W. 4 and 5 indicates that accused were absconding from their houses and could not be arrested despite warrant of the Court and a proceeding of Sections 82/83 Cr.P.C. was initiated against Braj Raj Singh and other. The accused persons had surrendered in the Court. It was on accused persons to facilitate the recovery of fire arms used in the offence. On the other hand if they have not cooperated in investigation and have not facilitated the recovery of the incriminating weapons, it will not be fatal to prosecution case, particularly in the light of oral evidence of witnesses P.W. 1 and 2 as well as documentary evidence on record like recovery memo of empty cartridges and pellets, medical examination report of informant and post mortem report of deceased Buddha Singh, which have fully supported the case of prosecution. Therefore, finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is also perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law.

45. In the case of Gopal Singh Vs. State of Uttarakhand (2013) 7 SCC 545, the Apex Court has held in paras 12 and 13, which reads as under:-

"12. In this context, we may refer with profit to the decision in Anwarul Haq v. State of U.P. [1] wherein it was held that solely because the knife that was used in committing the offence had not been recovered during the investigation could not be a factor to disregard the evidence of the prosecution witnesses who had deposed absolutely convincingly about the use of the weapon. That apart, the Court also referred to the evidence of the doctor which mentioned about the use of weapon It is worth noting that this Court observed that though the doctor's opinion about the weapon was theoretical, yet it cannot be totally wiped out. Regard being had to the aforesaid, this Court maintained the sentence of one year rigorous imprisonment under Section 324 IPC as imposed by the trial Court and concurred with by the High Court.

13. We may hasten to clarify that we are placing reliance on the aforesaid dictum as in the case at hand there is the doctor's evidence that the injury has been caused by the gunshot and the pellets have been recovered from the walls of the shop room of the accused appellant and no explanation for the same has been offered by the defence. What has been elicited in the cross-examination is that Prem Singh, the father of the injured, had a licensed gun. We really fail to fathom how the said elicitation would render any assistance to the defence. The learned sessions Judge, taking into consideration the nature of the injury and the weapon used, has convicted the accused under Section 324 IPC which has been accepted by the High Court. We perceive no fallacy either in the analysis or in the finding recorded on that score."

46. In the case of Yogesh Singh Vs. Mahabeer Singh & Others (Supra), the Apex Court has held in para 47, which reads as under:-

"The next line of contention taken by the learned counsel for the respondents is that the recovery evidence was false and fabricated. We feel no need to address this issue since it had already been validity discarded by the Trial court while convicting the respondents. In any case, it is an established proposition of law that mere non-recovery of weapon does not falsify the prosecution case where there is ample unimpeachable ocular evidence. [See Lakhan Sao v. State of Bihar and Anr., (2000) 9 SCC 82 : (AIR 2000 SC 2063) ; State of Rajasthan v. Arjun Singh & Ors., (2011) 9 SCC 115 : (AIR 2011 SC 3380) and Manjit Singh and Anr. v. State of Punjab, (2013) 12 SCC 746]."

Motive:-

47. The reason of occurrence / motive, which has been mentioned in the FIR as well as in the statement of witnesses of fact was that the accused persons became enimical with deceased due to the reason that he had purchased the land of accused Braj Raj Singh, which was auctioned by the Tehsildar in lieu of recovery of loan amount. This fact has been admitted by the accused persons (except accused Master Singh) (since died) in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. So far as the requirement to proove the motive of offender is concerned, according to principle of law, where there is direct evidence regarding the commission of offence motive losses its importance. In the case of Rohtash Kumar Vs. State of Haryana, Criminal Appeal No. 896 of 2011 the Hon'ble Apex Court has held in para 21, which reads as under:-

"21. The evidence regarding the existence of a motive which operates in the mind of the accused is very often very limited, and may not be within the reach of others. The motive driving the accused to commit an offence may be known only to him and to no other. In a case of circumstantial evidence, motive may be a very relevant factor. However, it is the perpetrator of the crime alone who is aware of the circumstances that prompted him to adopt a certain course of action, leading to the commission of the crime. Therefore, if the evidence on record suggests adequately, the existence of the necessary motive required to commit a crime, it may be conceived that the accused has in fact, committed the same. (Vide: Subedar Tewari v. State of U.P. & Ors., AIR 1989 SC 733; Suresh Chandra Bahri v. State of Bihar, AIR 1994 SC 2420; and Dr. Sunil Clifford Daniel v. State of Punjab, (2012) 11 SCC 205)."

48. In the case of Bipin Kumar Mondal Vs. State of West Bengal (2010) 12 SCC 91, the Apex Court has held in paras 22 and 26, which reads as under:-

"22. In fact, motive is a thing which is primarily known to the accused himself and it may not be possible for the prosecution to explain what actually prompted or excited him to commit a particular crime.

23. While dealing with a similar issue, this Court in State of U.P. v. Ksihanpal held as under: (SCC p. 88, para 39)

39. The motive may be considered as a circumstance which is relevant for assessing the evidence but if the evidence is clear and unambiguous and the circumstances prove the guilt of the accused, the same is not weakened even if the motive is not a very strong one. It is also settled law that the motive loses all its importance in a case where direct evidence of eyewitnesses is available, because even if there may be a very strong motive for the accused persons to commit a particular crime, they cannot be convicted if the evidence of eyewitnesses is not convincing. In the same way, even if there may not be an apparent motive but if the evidence of the eyewitnesses is clear and reliable, the absence or inadequacy of motive cannot stand in the way of conviction."

49. In the case of Uma Shankar Vs. State of U.P. [2015 (89) ACC 421], this Court has held in para 44, which reads as under:-

"44. It is pertinent to mention here that where there is eye witness account the motive looses its importance. Motive may be the reason to commit the offence but at the same time motive may also be a reason to falsely implicate the accused. Motive for committing the offence although is of futile nature but as per prosecution this was the reason due to which the present offence was committed by the accused. It may be mentioned here that some time offences are committed on the basis of futile motive. Therefore, motive assigned by the prosecution merely on the basis that it was futile in nature, the prosecution case cannot be disbelieved specially when one day before for that reason an altercation had taken place between the accused and deceased. The reason for falsification taken by the accused is not supported by any evidence. Merely the plea, until and unless same is supported by any believable evidence, cannot take place the piece of evidence. Thus we are of the view that although motive assigned by the prosecution is of futile nature but was sufficient to commit the present offence. Thus point no. 2 is answered as above."

50. In the case of Kaki Ramesh & Others Vs. State of A.P. 1994 SCC (Cri) 1214, it has been held by the Apex Court that where parties belonging to different factions in the village, which might have provided motive for the crime, instead of false implication.

51. In fact motive always originate in the mind of accused, it cannot be fathomed by prosecution.

Discrepancy and contradictions:-

52. There is no discrepancy in the statement of witness on material points. If some deviation in narration of facts are found, those are at the fringe and same too are bound to occur due to the reason that there was time gap in recording the evidence of witnesses, the mental capacity and mentality of witnesses, who are illiterate and rustic. But despite the some minor discrepancies the witnesses have supported that FIR version substantially. Finding of the Trial Court recorded in the impugned judgment and order on this point is perverse and against the evidence and settled principle of law. In the case of Subodh Nath And Another Vs. State of Tripura (2013) 4 SCC 122, the Apex Court has held in para 16, which reads as under:-

"16. Once we find that the eye witness account of PW-13 is corroborated by material particulars and is reliable, we cannot discard his evidence only on the ground that there are some discrepancies in the evidence of PW-1, PW- 2, PW-13 and PW-19. As has been held by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Another, in the deposition of witnesses there are always normal discrepancies due to normal errors of observation, loss of memory, mental disposition of the witnesses and the like. Unless, therefore, the discrepancies are "material discrepancies" so as to create a reasonable doubt about the credibility of the witnesses, the Court will not discard the evidence of the witnesses. Learned counsel for the appellants is right that the prosecution has not been able to establish the motive of the appellant no.1 to kill the deceased but as there is direct evidence of the accused having committed the offence, motive becomes irrelevant. Motive becomes relevant as an additional circumstance in a case where prosecution seeks to prove the guilt by circumstantial evidence only."

53. In the case of Marwadi Kishor Parmanand And Another Vs. State of Gujarat (1994) 4 SCC 549, the Apex Court has held in para 31, which reads as under:-

"31. The evidence of a witness deposing about a fact has to be appreciated in a realistic manner having due regard to all the surrounding facts and circumstances prevailing at or about the time of occurrence of an incident. Some contradictions and omissions even in the evidence of a witness who was actually present and had seen the occurrence are bound to occur even in the natural course. It is a sound rule to be observed that where the facts stated by an eyewitness substantially conform to and are consistent on material points from the facts stated earlier to the police either in FIR or case diary statements and are also consistent in all material details as well as on vital points there would be no justification or any valid reason for the court to view his evidence with suspicion or cast any doubt on such evidence. In the present case as discussed above we find that the solitary witness Ranchhodbhai, PW 1 is a wholly reliable witness and his evidence in itself, without any further corroboration is enough to sustain the conviction of the two appellants for the crime they are charged with, but we find that the evidence of the sole eyewitness Ranchhodbhai finds corroboration on material aspects from the evidence of Jayantilal PW 6, Makkar PW 8, Dr Nathani PW 1 0, Dr Avasia PW 1 1, Dr Joshi PW 12 and the Head Constable Moolchand PW 18. Thus the corroboration is also not lacking in the present case and there was hardly any ground or any possibility of taking the view which is unfortunately taken by the learned trial Judge. In our considered opinion the trial court clearly fell in serious error in rejecting the truthful version made by the sole eyewitness PW 1 whose evidence does not suffer from any infirmities, much less the unwarranted criticism made by the trial court. The High Court was therefore, in exercise of its powers under Sections 378 and 386, Criminal Procedure Code, fully justified to reverse the erroneous findings recorded by the trial court. We find ourselves wholly in agreement with the view taken by the High Court and the conclusions recorded by it. Consequently the appeal deserves to be dismissed."

54. In the case of Shivappa & Others Vs. State of Karnataka (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that some discrepancies are bound to occur in the oral statements of witnesses because of the sociological background of the witnesses as also the time gap between the date of occurrence and the date on which they give their depositions in court.

55. In the case of Hayat Singh Bora Vs. State of Uttarakhand [2012 (77) ACC 615] Uttarakhand High Court has held that variation in the testimony of witnesses if found natural, do not affect prosecution story where direct evidence is supported by medical evidence.

56. So far as the witnesses, who belong to village background and are illiterate, are concerned, it has been held in paras 34 and 39 by this Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Shane Haidar And Others 2015 (1) J.Cr.C. 775, which reads as under:-

*"34. After an overall assessment of all the witnesses, produced by prosecution, we are of the firm view that all the witnesses are throughout cogent and consistent while deposing in court. All the f*actual witnesses are rustic villagers, who are bound to get confused during their cross-examination. PW-2 is an injured witness, which fact is evident from his injury report, duly proved by the Doctor. Apart from some minor contradictions nothing has been elicited in their statements to cause a shadow of doubt on their credibility.

39. On a close scrutiny of the evidence, available on record we find that the trial judge has discarded the testimony of witnesses on flimsy and unjustifiable grounds without keeping in mind that the witnesses are rustic villagers. The apex court in the case of State of U.P. v. Krishna Master and others (2010) 12 Supreme Court Cases 324 has held as under:-

A rustic witness, who is subjected to fatiguing, taxing and tiring cross-examination for days together, is bound to get confused and make some inconsistent statements. Some discrepancies are bound to take place if a witness is cross-examined at length for days together. Therefore the discrepancies noticed in the evidence of a rustic witness who is subjected to gruelling cross-examination should not be blown out of proportion. To do so is to ignore hard realities of village life and give undeserved benefit to the accused who have perpetrated heinous crime."

Common object:-

57. The medical examination report / injury report of injured Phoolan Singh S/o Malkhan Singh (informant) indicates that he had received four injuries of lacerated wounds, which were caused by pellets of fire arm. Although, three injuries, out of four injuries, were on non-vital parts of his body yet one injury of multiple lacerated wound had been found on the chest portion of victim. It was having wounds eight in numbers, which were on lower part of right chest and upper part of abdomen of informant. The accused person with proper knowldge and in a common intention and object had opened fire upon deceased Buddha Singh. The deceased had received ten gun shot entry wounds on his body, which prima facie indicates that the assailants were more than one in number with common object. The number of wounds indicates that there was meeting of mind in assailants with regard to the knowledge and object to kill Buddha Singh in which they had been succeeded. So far as the injuries of informant Phoolan Singh is concerned, three injuries have been found simple in nature but one was kept under observation by doctor. No any documentary or oral evidence has been produced by the prosecution showing any complication in injury of informant. Neither any x ray report nor any further investigation report or doctor has been produced in evidence. So far as the circumstances are concerned, the injured had received injuries at 03.00 p.m. on 29.10.1982, he lodged the FIR at 07.15 p.m. on same day in fit mental condition, then after that he was medically examined at 01.10 a.m. on 30.10.1982. In medical report no adverse report regarding vitality of patient has been mentioned. Even in his oral testimony the witness P.W. 1 has not described his injuries received in occurrence. In the occurrence since the accused Braj Raj Singh was having his enimity with Buddha Singh only, it appears that accused persons had meeting of mind with common object to kill only Buddha Singh, that is why when both persons i.e. the informant and Buddha Singh entered in the house of Phoolan Singh S/o Lakhan Singh, accused persons opened fire. Buddha Singh had received ten injuries of fire arm entry wound. On the other hand, informant had received only four injuries of pellets, out of which three were on non-vital parts of his body. The above circumstances lead to draw the inference that accused persons were not intending to cause fatal injuries to the informant, therefore, ingredients of Section 307 IPC are not proved against accused persons, rather it can be concluded that accused persons voluntarily caused hurt to the informant Phoolan Singh. Since the record indicates that all the accused opened fire upon Phoolan Singh (informant) along with Buddha Singh, the offence under Section 324 read with Section 149 is made out against them without any shadow of doubt.

58. In the case of Hardev Singh Vs. Harbhej Singh & Others 1996 (4) Crimes 216, the Apex Court has held in para 27, which reads as under:-

"27. Coming to the acquittal of accused Nos. 2 and 6 by the trial court against which the State of Punjab had filed an appeal to the High Court and the same was dismissed-in our opinion the learned Sessions Judge had completely misunderstood the scope of Section 149 IPC. The only reason given by the learned trial Judge was that there was no material on the record to prove that they caused any serious injuries to the two victims. It was further observed that no specific role was attributed to these two accused. In our opinion this finding is against contrary to the evidence on record in as much as both these accused were the members of the unlawful assembly and did have the common object as it was implicit in their action i.e. they were armed with deadly weapons; came along with other accused and participated in the murderous assault on both the victims. The trial court and the High Court had erred in law in not holding both these accused guilty with the aid of Section 149 IPC for the substantive offences punishable under Section 302 IPC. The order of acquittal passed by the trial court and on appeal affirmed by the High Court thus cannot be sustained for the reasons recorded hereinabove."

59. The occurrence took place in day light in the centre of Aabadi of village. There is nothing on record to show any reason for false implication of accused persons in place of real culprit. Mere rivalry in gram panchayat election is not sufficient cause to commit the present offence. The conclusion of trial Court that the accused persons have been implicated falsely due to old enmity or parti-bandi is based upon wrong appreciation of evidence available on record. The charges of offence under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 and 324 read with Section 149 IPC are found proved against the accused persons.

60. All the accused persons named in FIR were present on the spot having firearms in their hand. The occurrence is of day light. They have committed the present offence in furtherance of common object of wrongful assembly. No evidence is on record which may bifurcate the role of any of the accused from others. There is no contradiction or discrepancy in the prosecution evidence regarding role of all accused persons. The trial court has not rightly appreciated the evidence available on record and reached to a wrong conclusion holding the accused respondents to be not guilty for committing the murder of the deceased Buddha Singh. The impugned judgment and order is clearly unreasonable and it is found that the relevant and convincing materials have been unjustifiably eliminated. The conclusion / findings recorded by the trial Court in the impugned judgment and order are perverse and same are not sustainable in the eye of law.

61. Hence, in the light of above discussions and taking into consideration the entire facts and circumstances of the case and reappreciating the evidence available on record in accordance with settled law, we are of the considered view that the prosecution has succeeded to prove the guilt of accused persons beyond any shadow of doubt and to the satisfaction of the judicial conscience of the Court. So, the impugned judgment and order of acquittal dated 09.03.1984 passed by the trial Court, which is against the settled norms of law and has been sought to be assailed, call for and deserves interference. The Government Appeal is liable to be allowed and the impugned judgment and order is liable to be set-aside.

62. Accordingly, Government Appeal is allowed and the impugned judgment and order of acquittal dated 9.3.1984 is set aside.

63. Since the occurrence does not come under the perview of rarest of rare cases, therefore, both the surviving accused persons, namely, Ram Chandra Singh and Omkar Singh are hereby convicted for the offence under Sections 148, 302 read with Section 149 and 324 read with Section 149 IPC. They are sentenced for three years' imprisonment for commission of offence under Section 148 IPC and for life imprisonment for commission of offence under Sections 302/149 IPC as well as fine with the tune of Rs. 50,000/- each. In default of payment of fine, they shall undergo one year's additional simple imprisonment. Apart to this, the accused persons are sentenced for three years' imprisonment for the offence under Sections 324/149 IPC. All the sentences shall run concurrently. Earlier period of their detention in jail shall be counted in period of imprisonment imposed by this judgment and order.

64. In case the accused persons deposit the fine, half of fine amount shall be paid to the legal heir and representative of deceased Buddha Singh forthwith.

65. The accused respondents, namely, Ram Chandra Singh and Omkar Singh are hereby directed to surrender before the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned forthwith, who shall take them into custody and send them in jail for serving out the sentence imposed upon them by the present judgement and order. In case they fail to surrender, as directed above, the Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned is directed to take coercive action against them in this regard.

66. Let a copy of this judgment alongwith lower court record be sent forthwith to the Trial Court as well as Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly for necessary compliance and further action. A compliance report be sent to this Court.

1. Government Appeal No. 2239 of 2009 has been filed by the State-appellant challenging the judgment and order dated 16.09.2008 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Hamirpur in Sessions Trial No. 137 of 2005 arising out of Case Crime No. 22 of 2005 under Sections 302/34, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Rath, District Hamirpur whereby both the accused-respondents have been acquitted of all the charges.

2. The aforesaid judgment and order dated 16.09.2008 has been assailed by the informant of the case Shyam Singh @ Pappu also by filing Criminal Revision No. 3459 of 2008, and by means of an order dated 19-09-2011, the aforesaid Criminal Revision was connected with Govt. Appeal No. 2239 of 2009.

3. Government Appeal No. 2239 of 2009 filed by the State-appellant has been admitted by means of an order dated 04.11.2011.

4. As both the aforesaid cases have been filed challenging the judgment and order dated 16.09.2008, both the cases are being decided by a common judgment.

Prosecution Case

5. Briefly stated, the prosecution case is that on 28.01.2005, the informant Shyam Singh @ Pappu gave a written report at Police Station Rath, stating that a dispute had arisen in his village Nandana between Shiv Kumar and his brother Shiv Narayan, for fixing a gate on a land which belongs to Shiv Narayan. On 28.01.2005 at about 12:00 noon Shiv Kumar asked the Shiv Narayan that he had given an application to the Police regarding the gate put up by the latter and he should stop the work and resume the same only after the Police makes an enquiry. Upon this, Shiv Narayan (the accused-respondent No. 1) and his son Pradeep (the accused-respondent No. 2) started hurling abuses. The informant and his father, who was standing with Shiv Kumar in front of his house, forbade them from doing so. Pradeep shouted from upstairs that all the persons had come for doing a panchayat, shoot them. Upon this Shiv Narayan fired a shot from his licensed double barrel gun which hit the informant's father (Jaswant) in his chest and face. In order to save his life, the informant pulled his father inside the house of Shiv Kumar, but his father died immediately due to the gun-shot injury. The accused-respondents threatened that in case any person lodged a report or gave evidence, he would also be killed and both the accused persons ran away. Shiv Narayan was carrying a double barrel gun and Pradeep was carrying a single barrel gun. The incident was witnessed by Shyam Singh @ Pappu, Shiv Pal Singh son of Badri Prasad, Surjan Singh and the mother of Shyam Singh. Immediately after the incident, Head Constable Chandrabhan and a Constable Raj Singh had reached the village and they got engaged in search of the accused-respondents.

6. Upon the aforesaid written information, a Case Crime No. 22 of 2005 under Sections 302/34, 504, 506 IPC was registered in Police Station Rath at 12:45 p.m. on 28.01.2005.

7. A Sub-Inspector reached the spot of occurrence and prepared an inquest report (Ex.A-5), in which he recorded that the dead body had injury marks on the right side of its face and there was no other apparent injury. However, after writing the inquest report, a line has been inserted in between two lines, stating that the dead body had pellet injuries on its chest in an area of 30 c.m. x 30 c.m. The I.O. collected the clothes worn by the deceased and the samples of blood stained, as well as unstained pieces of cemented floor from inside the house of Shiv Kumar, where the dead body of the deceased was lying. He also recovered an empty cartridge which was lying near the channel gate on the upper floor of the house of the accused Shiv Narayan. The Investigating Officer prepared a site plan, conducted investigation and submitted a charge sheet in the Court, on the basis whereof the accused - respondents were tried for committing offences under Section 302/34, 504 and 506 I.P.C..

Prosecution Evidence

8. During the trial, the prosecution examined the informant Shyam Singh @ Pappu as PW-1, eye-witness Shiv Kumar as PW-2, Head Constable Chandrabhan as PW-3, Dr. R.K. Mishra as PW-4, Head Constable Suresh Kumar as PW-5, S.I. Mohan Lal and PW-6 and Sub Inspector Radhey Shayam Trivedi as PW-7.

9. PW-1 Shyam Singh (the informant) stated that on the date of the incident at about 12 noon, he was standing in front of his house, which is opposite the house of Shiv Kumar. Shiv Kumar was also standing outside his house. The informant's father was standing about 6 feet away from Shiv Kumar. The house of the accused persons Shiv Narayan and Pradeep, who are father and son, is about 6-7 steps away from the informant's home. Shiv Kumar is the brother of Shiv Narayan. There is a platform measuring about 30 ft. x 10 ft. in front of the house of Shiv Narayan. Earlier this platform was jointly owned by all the persons. About 10 years ago, a portion of the platform measuring 10 ft. x 10 ft. was given to Shiv Narayan. On the date of the incident Shiv Narayan was putting up a gate by encroaching upon an area in excess of his portion of the platform. The informant's father Jaswant and Shiv Kumar had restrained him from putting up the gate. At that time, Pradeep and Shiv Narayan were standing inside the channel gate at the first floor of their house. Referring to the informant's father and Shiv Kumar, the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep exhorted to the accused--respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan that "bade panch bante hain, goli maar do" meaning that the aforesaid persons were acting as panchs (arbitrators) and he should shoot them. Upon this Shiv Narayan fired a shot from his double barrel gun aimed at the informants' father and the pellets hit his chest and the face. Pradeep was also having a single barrel gun. Upon being shot, the informant's father fell down and he was taken inside Shiv Kumar's house but as soon as he was taken inside the house, he died.

10. PW 1 further stated that information of the incident was given to P.S. Kotwali Rath through the mobile telephone of Shiv Kumar. As a written information of an apprehended breach of peace due to the aforesaid dispute had already been given at the Police Station in the morning of the same day, Head Constable Chandra Bhan Singh (PW-3) and Constable Raj Singh reached the place of occurrence to carry out an enquiry on the aforesaid information within 5 - 7 minutes of the death of the informant's father. Afterwards, the Police went in search of the accused persons and the informant dictated a report of the incident which was scribed by Shiv Kumar.

11. In his cross-examination, PW 1 stated that Ram Sewak was his Grand-father. Maheshwari was Ram Sewak's brother. Shiv Narayan and Shiv Kumar are sons of Maheshwari. Pradeep is son of Shiv Narayan. He also stated that the accused Shiv Narayan has a pucca double storied house opposite the residential house of the witness, which is used as the guest house of Shiv Narayan. There is a public passage between the two houses, which is about 5 feet wide and thereafter he said that the passage is 6 - 7 steps wide. He also stated that he did not see as to whether any blood fell at the place where his father had received the gun-shot. He had shown to the I.O. the place where his father was shot and where he fell down. The I.O. had taken samples of plain soil and blood stained soil from that place. Prior to the incident, his family members and the members of the family of Shiv Kumar used to visit each other's home but this had stopped since about 3 - 4 months before the incident, as the relations of his father and Shiv Narayan had turned bad and they and their family members were not at talking terms.

12. PW 1 further stated in his cross examination that his father had come out of his house about half an hour before the incident, i.e., he had come out of the house at about 11:30 a.m. After having a light meal in the house, he came out and sat in the sun-light. He had got the report scribed by Shiv Kumar in the village and before scribing the report, at his instruction, Shiv Kumar had sent telephonic information of the incident to the Police Station. He had gone to the Police Station on the motor cycle of Surjan Singh and it took about 10 minutes to reach the Police Station. The I.O. and other Police persons had gone to the place of incident with the informant. The informant did not go with the I.O. inside the house of Shiv Narayan. The I.O. had entered Shiv Narayan's house accompanied by the constables and no villager had entered the house with him. The I.O. had brought an empty cartridge from Shiv Narayan's house.

13. PW 1 was confronted with his affidavit dated 27-05-2005 (Exhibit B-1) in paragraph 6 whereof it was written that "the procedure adopted by the Police in respect of empty cartridge was a step for providing benefit to the accused" and he stated that he had signed it without reading and it was not prepared under his instructions.

14. PW 1 further stated that about 10 minutes after the incident, when he was getting the report of the incident scribed, Chandra Bhan Singh and Raj Singh had come from the Police Station to the place of incident. They had come on a motor cycle, they had a look at the place of the incident, stayed there about 1 - 1½ minute and went in search of the accused persons.

15. He also stated that he, his father and Shiv Kumar were standing near each other. Shiv Narayan had fired the shot towards them, which hit his father. Only Shiv Narayan would have known as to which of the three persons he wanted to kill.

16. PW-2 Shiv Kumar stated that on 28.01.2005 at about 10:00 a.m. he had gone from his village Nandana to Police Station Rath to give a written application regarding an iron gate being put up by the accused Shiv Narayan on the platform. He came back to his home at about 11 a.m. At about 12:00 noon he was standing outside his house. Jaswant Singh (deceased) and his son Shyam Singh were standing near PW-2. The accused-respondents Shiv Narayan and Pradeep Kumar were standing at Channel gate at "Doosri Manzil" of their house. PW-2 said to Shiv Narayan that he has given a report in the Police Station and till the Police made an enquiry, he should not raise any construction. The accused Shiv Narayan is the elder brother of PW-2 Shiv Kumar and at that time Shiv Kumar was carrying his licensed double barrel gun and Pradeep was carrying an unlicensed single barrel gun. Upon hearing about the report given by PW 2 to the Police, Shiv Narayan and Pradeep got enraged and started hurling abuses. Jaswant forbade the accused-respondents from abusing. Being annoyed by it, the accused Pradeep said to his father Shiv Narayan that these people had come to do a panchayat, shoot them. Shiv Narayan fired a shot from the gun being carried by him and the pellets from the gun-shot hit the chest and lips of Jaswant. Jaswant was taken inside the house of PW-2 with the intention to save him but upon being taken inside, they came to know that Jaswant had died immediately upon being shot. The incident of Jaswant being shot by Shiv Narayan was witnessed by Jaswant's wife Gyan Devi, his brother Shivpal Singh, Jaswant's nephew Surjan Singh and some other persons. The accused persons came out of their house through the stairs and they walked away threatening that in case any person lodged a report or gave evidence, he will also be killed. PW 2 stated that he had scribed the report upon dictation of PW-1 Shyam Singh.

17. In his cross examination, PW-2 stated that his residential house in the village has two entrances - one towards the East and the other towards the South. Eastern entrance faces the disputed platform. The distance between the platform and this entrance is about 4-5 steps. This distance in between is in the form of a public passage. Two days before the incident, father of PW-2 and Jaswant had forbidden Shiv Narayan from putting up a gate on the platform. He stated that in front of his house there is a double storied "Baithaka" (Guest House) of Shiv Narayan, which was given to Shiv Narayan in partition. In the South of this guest house and towards the East of Jaswant's house there is the residential house of the accused persons. Shiv Narayan does not have any other residential house in the village. At the time of the incident, PW-2 was standing 4-5 steps away from the main door of his house, towards the North, on the platform. This is the main entrance of the house and it faces the East. The disputed platform is about 5-6 steps away from this platform. Jaswant was standing 4-5 steps away from PW-2 in the passage, below the platform. He was hit by the gun-shot at the place where he was standing and upon being hit, he fell down at the same place. The Investigating Officer did not collect any blood sample from the place where Jaswant had fallen down, as he could not find any blood there. He had collected samples of blood stained flooring and plain flooring from inside the house.

18. PW-2 further stated that after the incident, he had made a phone call to the Police Station and had informed that Shiv Narayan had shot Jaswant and the person who had received the call at the Police Station, said that Police had already left for the place and that he would give this information to the Station House Officer. Thereafter he started writing the report. When Chandra Bhan and Raj Singh came there, he was writing the report and before he could complete the report, they had gone away in search of the accused persons. The Deputy Inspector General of Police and Superintendent of Police came to the place of the incident at about 3:00 p.m. and at that time the dead body was still there and the inquest report was being prepared.

19. PW-3, Head Constable Chandra Bhan Singh stated that on 28.01.2005 he was posted in Police Station Rath and on that day Shiv Kumar had given an application to the Station House Officer in his presence and the Inspector-in-charge had directed him to visit the spot in village Nandana, carry out an enquiry and submit a report regarding the application. When he reached the spot he found that Jaswant Singh has been killed and the persons present there had informed that the accused persons had ran away towards the fields. He also went towards the fields to search and arrest the accused persons. He returned to the village at about 1:30 p.m. as he could not find the accused persons. When he reached back the village, the then Station House Officer, Sri Trivedi had already reached there, along with the Police force. Upon instructions of the Station House Officer he had gone towards village Chilli in search of the accused persons. When he could not find the accused persons, he went back to the Police Station in the evening.

20. PW-4, Dr. R. K. Misra, who had conducted the post mortem examination of the dead body of Jaswant Singh, stated that the dead body had various injury marks due to entry of pellets from gun-shot on the front of his chest in an area of 30 cm X 30 cm. These were mainly in the central portion of the chest. There was a lacerated wound on the face at the lower lip. Left lung and heart were found to be torn and one pellet was found in the lung and two pellets were found in the heart. About 1½ litres coagulated as well as liquid blood was present inside the chest. There was about 150 gms. semi digested food in the stomach. As per his opinion, the deceased died on 28.01.2005 at about 12:00 noon because of haemorrhage and shock due to anti mortem injuries. From the condition of food at the time of the inquest, it appeared that the deceased had his meal about four hours before his death. He said that he could not give any opinion as to whether the fire was shot in a direction parallel to the earth or not. It would have taken about 20-25 minutes for the 1½ litres blood found in the chest cavity of the dead body to bleed. Bleeding continues till the heart beats and a person is taken to be dead only upon the heart beat stops. In his opinion, the deceased would have been able to breathe for five to ten minutes after being hit by the gun shot.

21. PW-5, Head Constable Suresh Kumar Singh proved the chik report (Ex.3) which had been prepared by him.

22. PW-6, Assistant Inspector Mohan Lal stated that he had prepared the inquest report as per the instructions of the Inspector-in-charge P.S. Kotwali Rath and he had arrested the accused respondent Shiv Narayan on 02.02.2005 at about 12:15 hours and had recovered the double barrel licensed gun along with the license and four live cartridges from Shiv Narayan. He stated that in the inquest report (Ex.A-5) initially he had written that the dead body had a blood stained injury on the right side of the face and no other injury was visible but immediately thereafter he suspected that this injury could not have caused death and then he had lifted the Kurta and vest of the dead body and had seen the wounds on his chest and had inserted this in the inquest report.

23. PW-6 was recalled by the Court and upon being recalled, he proved recovery of the double barrel gun, three cartridges, the blood stained and unstained pieces of cemented floor taken from the place inside the house of the Shiv Kumar where the dead body was lying. He said that he did not find any blood outside the house of Shiv Kumar.

24. PW-7 Sub Inspector Radhey Shyam Tiwari said that on 28.01.2005 he was posted as the Inspector-in-charge of Police Station Rath and he had inspected the place of occurrence and had prepared the site plan (Ex. A-9). He stated that the inquest report (Ex.A-5) and other forms for carrying out the post mortem examination (Ex. A-6 and A-7) were prepared by Head Constable Mohan Lal under his instructions. During his cross examination, he stated that before the incident, Shiv Kumar had given a complaint letter (Ex.1) regarding the dispute between Shiv Narayan and Shiv Kumar in relation to the gate. A phone call was received in the Police Station giving information about Jaswant's death. The phone call was received by Head Constable Suresh Kumar and immediately after receiving the call, he had given its information to PW-7.

25. He said that the entrance of Shiv Kumar's house faces the East. This door is in front of the Channel gate which is at "Doosri Manzil".

Defence Evidence:-

26. In his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused respondent No.1 - Shiv Narayan denied the prosecution case and stated that PW-1 Shyam Singh and Shiv Kumar had given false evidence in order to grab his property. He stated that on the day following the date of the incident, the Investigating Officer had come to his house and had taken away hisgun, which was out of order, and the empty cartridges kept in a cupboard and he had also taken away accused respondent no.1. Similar statements were given by the accused-respondent no.2 Pradeep Kumar in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

27. The defence produced a copy of an affidavit of PW-1 (Paper No. 11 B) marked as Exhibit B-1, in which PW-1 had stated that he knew that the accused Shiv Narayan had already made some negotiations with the local Police prior to his arrest and the procedure adopted by the Police regarding the empty cartridges was a step in aid of the accused-respondents, which has benefitted them. Exhibit B-2 was the General Diary and Exhibit B-3 produced by the defence was a copy of the application dated 28-01-2005 given by Shiv Kumar to the Police regarding the gate forcibly affixed by the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Kumar on the platform in front of his House.

28. Although both the accused persons had stated that they would lead evidence in their defence, none of them appeared as a witness to defend themselves and no other person was produced as defence witness.

Findings Of The Trial Court: -

29. The learned court below held that it is stated in the inquest report (Ex. A-5) that there were pellet injuries in the chest in an area of about 30 cm X 30 cm and although this has been inserted afterpreparation of the inquest report, there are no initials on it. In his statement, PW-6 stated that after writing in the inquest report that there was an injury on the side of the face below the lip and there was no other apparent injury, he suspected that this injury could not have caused death and then he lifted the Kurta and vest of the dead body and saw the injuries on his chest and thereafter he inserted this fact in the report.

30. The learned Trial Court further held that in reply to a question put by the Court, PW-6 stated that there were no marks of entry of the pellets on the Kurta and the vest worn by the deceased and had he been wearing the same Kurta and vest before his death, entry marks of pellets ought to have been there on his cloths. From this statement of PW-6 it is clear that the prosecution story is not trustworthy.

31. The learned court below held that PW-1 had stated that the Investigating Officer had collected samples of blood stained soil as well as plain soil from the place of the incident whereas PW 2 and PW-6 has stated that the samples were taken from the place where the dead body was lying and this indicates that the incident did not occur in the manner in which it has been described.

32. The learned court below further held that in the written report there is no mention of the place from where Shiv Narayan had fired the shot whereas PW-1 and PW-2 have stated that the shot was fired from inside the Channel Gate on the upper floor. However, from the contradiction between the statement of PW-1 and his affidavit dated 27.05.2005, it becomes doubtful that he had witnessed the incident.

33. The learned court below further held that the Doctor, who had conducted the Post Mortem examination of the deceased, did not mention the direction of entry of the pellets in the body and due to this omission, the prosecution story that the shot was fired from the upper floor is not fortified.

34. For the aforesaid reasons, the learned court below came to a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove that the incident took place in the manner stated by the prosecution and the accused persons are entitled to be given benefit of doubt. Accordingly, the learned court below passed an order acquitting the accused persons of all the charges.

Submissions of the State-Appellant

35. We have heard submissions of Shri Ratan Singh, the learned A.G.A., appearing for the State-Appellant, Sri R.K. Vaish, Advocate, the learned counsel for the informant-Revisionist in Criminal Revision No. 3459 of 2008.

36. The learned A.G.A. has taken us through the statements of the prosecution witnesses and he has submitted that PW 1 had categorically and unequivocally stated that at the exhortation of the accused-respondent no. 2, the accused respondent no. 1 had fired a gun-shot from his double barrel gun at his father, the pellets from the gun-shot hit his father and his father died immediately. His statement was fully corroborated by the statement of PW-2 - the other eye-witness of the incident and that of PW-4 - the doctor who had conducted the post mortem examination. He has submitted that the learned Court below has not examined the statements of the prosecution witnesses properly and it's finding that the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the accused-respondents beyond reasonable doubt, is perverse. He has submitted that the judgment of the learned Court below acquitting the accused - respondents is liable to be set aside and reversed and the accused-respondents are liable to be convicted and sentenced.

Submissions on behalf of the Accused-Respondents

37. While trying to defend the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the learned Court below, Sri Anand Priy Singh, the learned Counsel for accused-respondents has submitted that there are several discrepancies in the prosecution case which make the same doubtful. His first submission is that in the inquest report (Ex. A-5) a line has been inserted stating that there were pellet injuries in the chest in an area of about 30 cm X 30 cm and although this line has been inserted afterpreparation of the inquest report, no person has put his signatures to authenticate it. He next submitted that the clothes worn by the deceased at the time of the incident had been produced before the Court below and the same had been marked as Exhibit A-2. Had the deceased been wearing the same Kurta and vest at the time of the incident, there would have been marks of the entry of pellets on the Kurta and the vest, but there were no such marks and this makes the incident doubtful.

38. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondents next submitted that PW-1 had stated that the Investigating Officer had collected samples of blood stained soil as well as unstained soil from the place of the incident whereas PW 2 and PW-6 has stated that the samples were taken from the place where the dead body was lying and this indicates that the incident did not occur in the manner in which it has been described.

39. Sri. Anand Priy Singh, the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents, has laid much emphasis on the discrepancy in the words used by the witnesses - PW-1, PW-2 and PW-7 in describing the place from where the gun-shot was fired. PW-1 has stated that the accused persons were standing on the first floor of their house, where there is a channel gate. However, PW-2 has stated that the accused persons were standing near the channel gate on "doosree manzil" (the second floor) of their house. Similarly, PW-7 S.I. Radhe Shyam Trivedi has also stated that the channel gate is on "doosree manzil" (the second floor). He has submitted that this discrepancy in description of the place, from which the gun-shot was allegedly fired, makes the presence of PW-1 and PW-2 at the time and place of the incident doubtful.

40. The learned Counsel for the accused - respondents has also submitted that PW-2 had stated in his cross examination the dispute regarding the gate had been settled way back in the year 1992 and the accused - respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan had been given his share in the platform. This indicates that there remained no dispute between the parties regarding the platform and, therefore, there was no motive for the accused - respondents to kill the deceased.

Scope Of Interference In Appeal Against Acquittal

41. In Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2010) 6 SCC 1, the Hon'ble Supreme Court formulated the following principles to be kept in mind by the appellate Court while dealing with appeals against acquittal: -

"27.The following principles have to be kept in mind by the appellate court while dealing with appeals, particularly against an order of acquittal:

(i) There is no limitation on the part of the appellate court to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(ii) The appellate court in an appeal against acquittal can review the entire evidence and come to its own conclusions.

(iii) The appellate court can also review the trial court's conclusion with respect to both facts and law.

(iv) While dealing with the appeal preferred by the State, it is the duty of the appellate court to marshal the entire evidence on record and by giving cogent and adequate reasons set aside the judgment of acquittal.

(v) An order of acquittal is to be interfered with only when there are "compelling and substantial reasons" for doing so. If the order is "clearly unreasonable", it is a compelling reason for interference.

(vi) While sitting in judgment over an acquittal the appellate court is first required to seek an answer to the question whether findings of the trial court are palpably wrong, manifestly erroneous or demonstrably unsustainable. If the appellate court answers the above question in the negative the order of acquittal is not to be disturbed. Conversely, if the appellate court holds, for reasons to be recorded, that the order of acquittal cannot at all be sustained in view of any of the above infirmities, it can reappraise the evidence to arrive at its own conclusion.

(vii) When the trial court has ignored the evidence or misread the material evidence or has ignored material documents like dying declaration/report of ballistic experts, etc. the appellate court is competent to reverse the decision of the trial court depending on the materials placed."

2. In Khekh Ram v. State of H.P., (2018) 1 SCC 202 the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"25. The elaboration of the facts in the decisions cited at the Bar has been to underline the factual setting in which reversal of the orders of acquittal had been interfered with by this Court. Though it is no longer res integra that an order of acquittal, if appealed against, ought not to be lightly interfered with, it is trite as well that the appellate court is fully empowered to review, reappreciate and reconsider the evidence on record and to reach its own conclusions both on questions of fact and on law. As a corollary, the appellate court would be within its jurisdiction and authority to dislodge an acquittal on sound, cogent and persuasive reasons based on the recorded facts and the law applicable. If only when the view taken by the trial court in ordering acquittal is an equally plausible and reasonable one that the appellate court would not readily substitute the same by another view available to it, on its independent appraisal of the materials on record. This legally acknowledged restraint on the power of the appellate court would get attracted only if the two views are equally plausible and reasonable and not otherwise. If the view taken by the trial court is a possible but not a reasonable one when tested on the evidence on record and the legal principles applied, unquestionably it can and ought to be displaced by a plausible and reasonable view by the appellate court in furtherance of the ultimate cause of justice. Though no innocent ought to be punished, it is equally imperative that a guilty ought not to be let off casually lest justice is a casualty."

3. State of M.P. v. Chhaakki Lal, (2019) 12 SCC 326, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"36. We are conscious that in an appeal against acquittal, the appellate court would not ordinarily interfere with the order of acquittal. But where the approach of the High Court suffers from serious infirmity, this Court can reappreciate the evidence and reasonings upon which the order of acquittal is based. A miscarriage of justice which may arise from the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of the innocent. Upon reappreciation of the evidence and the reasonings of the trial court and the High Court, in our considered view, the judgment of the High Court suffers from serious infirmity. The High Court erred in doubting the version of PW 1, the sole eyewitness whose evidence is corroborated by the medical evidence and the evidence of the ballistic expert. The High Court did not appreciate the evidence of PW 1 in proper perspective and erred in disbelieving her version on the contradictions which are not material. The High Court erred in rejecting the credible evidence of Kesar Bai (PW 1), which in our considered view resulted in serious miscarriage of justice, where four persons were murdered."

4. In Achhar Singh v. State of H.P., (2021) 5 SCC 543, the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the scope of powers of the High Court in appeals against acquittal in the following manner: -

"16. It is thus a well-crystalized principle that if two views are possible, the High Court ought not to interfere with the trial court's judgment. However, such a precautionary principle cannot be overstretched to portray that the "contours of appeal" against acquittal under Section 378 Cr.P.C. are limited to seeing whether or not the trial court's view was impossible. It is equally well settled that there is no bar on the High Court's power to re-appreciate evidence in an appeal against acquittal. This Court has held in a catena of decisions (including Chandrappa v. State of Karnataka, State of A.P. v. M. Madhusudhan Rao and Raveen Kumar v. State of H.P.) that the Cr.P.C. does not differentiate in the power, scope, jurisdiction or limitation between appeals against judgments of conviction or acquittal and that the appellate court is free to consider on both fact and law, despite the self-restraint that has been ingrained into practice while dealing with orders of acquittal where there is a double presumption of innocence of the accused."

5. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further held that "homicidal deaths cannot be left to judicium dei. The court in its quest to reach the truth ought to make earnest efforts to extract gold out of the heap of black sand. The solemn duty is to dig out the authenticity. It is only when the court, despite its best efforts, fails to reach a firm conclusion that the benefit of doubt is extended."

6. The principles which emerge from the aforesaid decisions are that the scope of appeal against acquittal under Section 378 Cr.P.C is not limited to scrutinize whether or not the trial court's view is a possible view. The High Court has to appreciate the evidence in an appeal against acquittal in the same manner as it would do in an appeal against conviction. However, while adjudicating an appeal against acquittal, the High Court has to keep into consideration that the accused having been acquitted in trial, there is a double presumption of innocence of the accused.

Manner of Scrutiny of Evidence

7. Before proceeding to examine the evidence in the case in order to ascertain as to whether the judgment and order of the learned Court below needs any interference, it would be appropriate to refer to the law on the subject as propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court by certain judgments on the issue. While deciding an appeal against an order of acquittal passed by the High Court, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in State of U.P. v. M.K. Anthony, (1985) 1 SCC 505, that: -

*"10. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is formed, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper-technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless there are reasons weighty and formidable it would not be proper to reject the evidence on the ground of minor variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details unrelated to the main incident because power of observation, retention and reproduction differ with individuals. Cross-examination is an unequal duel between a rustic and refined lawyer....."

8. In State of U.P. v. Krishna Master, (2010) 12 SCC 324 the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the manner in which the Court should examine the statement of witnesses, in the following words: - for appreciation of oral evidence. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of the witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is found, it is undoubtedly necessary for the court to scrutinise the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole.

16. If the court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness, the appellate court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the trial court and unless the reasons are weighty and formidable, it would not be proper for the appellate court to reject the evidence on the ground of variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Minor omissions in the Police statements are never considered to be fatal. The statements given by the witnesses before the Police are meant to be brief statements and could not take place of evidence in the court. Small/Trivial omissions would not justify a finding by court that the witnesses concerned are liars. The prosecution evidence may suffer from inconsistencies here and discrepancies there, but that is a shortcoming from which no criminal case is free. The main thing to be seen is whether those inconsistencies go to the root of the matter or pertain to insignificant aspects thereof. In the former case, the defence may be justified in seeking advantage of incongruities obtaining in the evidence. In the latter, however, no such benefit may be available to it.

17. In the deposition of witnesses, there are always normal discrepancies, howsoever honest and truthful they may be. These discrepancies are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition, shock and horror at the time of occurrence and threat to the life. It is not unoften that improvements in earlier version are made at the trial in order to give a boost to the prosecution case, albeit foolishly. Therefore, it is the duty of the court to separate falsehood from the truth. In sifting the evidence, the court has to attempt to separate the chaff from the grains in every case and this attempt cannot be abandoned on the ground that the case is baffling unless the evidence is really so confusing or conflicting that the process cannot reasonably be carried out. In the light of these principles, this Court will have to determine whether the evidence of eyewitnesses examined in this case proves the prosecution case."

9. In Bhagwan Jagannath Markad v. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"18. It is accepted principle of criminal jurisprudence that the burden of proof is always on the prosecution and the accused is presumed to be innocent unless proved guilty. The prosecution has to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the accused is entitled to the benefit of the reasonable doubt. The reasonable doubt is one which occurs to a prudent and reasonable man. Section 3 of the Evidence Act refers to two conditions--(i) when a person feels absolutely certain of a fact--"believes it to exist", and (ii) when he is not absolutely certain and thinks it so extremely probable that a prudent man would, under the circumstances, act on the assumption of its existence. The doubt which the law contemplates is not of a confused mind but of prudent man who is assumed to possess the capacity to "separate the chaff from the grain". The degree of proof need not reach certainty but must carry a high degree of probability (Vijayee Singh versus State of U.P., (1990) 3 SCC 190).

19. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the court has to assess whether read as a whole, it is truthful. In doing so, the court has to keep in mind the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities to find out whether such discrepancies shake the truthfulness. Some discrepancies not touching the core of the case are not enough to reject the evidence as a whole. No true witness can escape from giving some discrepant details. Only when discrepancies are so incompatible as to affect the credibility of the version of a witness, the court may reject the evidence. Section 155 of the Evidence Act enables the doubt to impeach the credibility of the witness by proof of former inconsistent statement. Section 145 of the Evidence Act lays down the procedure for contradicting a witness by drawing his attention to the part of the previous statement which is to be used for contradiction. The former statement should have the effect of discrediting the present statement but merely because the latter statement is at variance to the former to some extent, it is not enough to be treated as a contradiction. It is not every discrepancy which affects the creditworthiness and the trustworthiness of a witness. There may at times be exaggeration or embellishment not affecting the credibility. The court has to sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth. A statement may be partly rejected or partly accepted [Leela Ram versus State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525]. Want of independent witnesses or unusual behaviour of witnesses of a crime is not enough to reject evidence. A witness being a close relative is not enough to reject his testimony if it is otherwise credible. A relation may not conceal the actual culprit. The evidence may be closely scrutinised to assess whether an innocent person is falsely implicated. Mechanical rejection of evidence even of a "partisan" or "interested" witness may lead to failure of justice. It is well known that principle "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" has no general acceptability [Gangadhar Behera versus State of Orissa (2002) 8 SCC 381 On the same evidence, some accused persons may be acquitted while others may be convicted, depending upon the nature of the offence. The court can differentiate the accused who is acquitted from those who are convicted. A witness may be untruthful in some aspects but the other part of the evidence may be worthy of acceptance. Discrepancies may arise due to error of observations, loss of memory due to lapse of time, mental disposition such as shock at the time of occurrence and as such the normal discrepancy does not affect the credibility of a witness.

20. Exaggerated to the rule of benefit of doubt can result in miscarriage of justice. Letting the guilty escape is not doing justice. A Judge presides over the trial not only to ensure that no innocent is punished but also to see that guilty does not escape [Gangadhar Behera (2002) 8 SCC 381]."

10. The principles which emerge from the aforesaid decisions are that there are always some discrepancies in the statements of witnesses, but while examining the evidence, the Court should consider that whether the evidence, taken as a whole, appears to have a ring of truth. The Court must examine whether those discrepancies go to the root of the matter or not. In the former case, the Appellate Court may have to uphold the order of acquittal passed by the trial Court. In the latter case, the appellate court is competent to reverse the decision of the trial court depending on the materials placed the Court. The prosecution has to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the accused is entitled to the benefit of the reasonable doubt, but a reasonable doubt is one which occurs to a prudent and reasonable man. The doubt which the law contemplates is not of a confused mind but of prudent man who is assumed to possess the capacity to "separate the chaff from the grain". The degree of proof need not reach certainty but must carry a high degree of probability. Exaggerated stress upon the rule of benefit of doubt can result in miscarriage of justice. Letting the guilty escape is not doing justice. A Judge presides over the trial not only to ensure that no innocent is punished but also to see that guilty does not escape. Though no innocent ought to be punished, it is equally imperative that a guilty ought not to be let off casually lest justice is a casualty. A miscarriage of justice which may arise from the acquittal of the guilty is no less than from the conviction of the innocent. If the view taken by the trial court is a possible but not a reasonable one when tested on the evidence on record and the legal principles applied, unquestionably it can and ought to be displaced by a plausible and reasonable view by the appellate court in furtherance of the ultimate cause of justice.

11. In the light of these principles, this Court will have to determine whether the evidence of the witnesses examined in this case proves the prosecution case.

Scrutiny Of Prosecution Evidence

12. PW-1, who is the son of the deceased (Jaswant Singh) and is the informant of the case, has stated that he was standing in front of his house in the village Nandana. The house of Shiv Kumar is opposite his house. Shiv Kumar was also standing in front of his house. The informant's father was standing near Shiv Kumar, approximately 6 feet away from him. The house of the accused-respondents is about 6-7 steps away from the informant's house. Shiv Kumar is the brother of accused-respondent No. 1 Shiv Narayan. There is a platform measuring 30 x 10 feet in front of the house of Shiv Narayan which previously belonged to the accused and the informant's father Jaswant jointly. About 10 years prior to the incident, a portion of the platform measuring about 10 x 10 feet had been given to the accused-respondent No. 1 under a mutual settlement. On the date of the incident, Shiv Narayan was putting up a gate by encroaching upon an area in excess of his area of 10 x 10 feet. The informant's father and Shiv Kumar forbade him from putting up the gate. At that time, the accused-respondents were standing upon the roof at the first floor of the house where a channel gate is fixed. They were inside the channel gate. The respondent No. 2 had stated from inside the channel gate that "bade aaye panchayat karne wale, goli mar do". Shiv Narayan fired a gun-shot from his double barrel licensed gun, which hit his father on the chest and face. His father fell down and to save him, the informant and other persons took his father inside house of Shiv Kumar. Soon after he was taken inside, he died. Pradeep was also carrying a single barrel gun in his hand. Thus it appears that PW-1 has described the incident in unequivocal terms.

13. PW-1 has further stated that a written report of the apprehended breach of peace in relation to the dispute had already been given at the Police Station in the morning and information of this incident was given to the Police Station through mobile phone of Shiv Kumar immediately. Pursuant to the written report sent in the morning, Head Constable Chandrabhan Singh and Constable Raj Singh had come to conduct an enquiry within 5-6 minutes of the death of the informant's father. The aforesaid Police personnel went in search of the accused and meanwhile PW-1 got a report of the incident scribed by Shiv Kumar. He had gone to the Police Station on the motor cycle of Surjan Singh and it took about 10 minutes to reach the Police Station. The report of the incident said to have taken place at about 12:00 noon was lodged in the Police Station promptly at 12:45 p.m.

14. PW-2 Shiv Kumar, who is the real brother of the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Kumar and uncle of the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep, stated that on 28.01.2005 at about 10:00 a.m. he had gone to the Police Station Rath to give a written application regarding an iron gate being put up by the accused Shiv Narayan. He came back to his home at about 11 a.m. At about 12:00 noon he was standing outside his house. Jaswant Singh (deceased) and his son Shyam Singh were standing near the witness. The accused-respondents Shiv Narayan and Pradeep Kumar were standing at Channel gate at "Doosri Manzil" of their home. PW-2 said to Shiv Narayan that he has given a report in the Police Station and till the Police carries out an enquiry, he should not raise any construction. The accused Shiv Narayan is the elder brother of PW-2 and at that time he was carrying his licensed double barrel gun and Pradeep was carrying an unlicensed single barrel gun. Upon hearing about the report given by PW 2 to the Police, Shiv Narayan and Pradeep got annoyed and started hurling abuses. Jaswant forbade the accused-respondents from abusing. Being enraged by it, the accused Pradeep said to his father Shiv Narayan that these people have come to do a panchayat, shoot them. Shiv Narayan fired a shot from the gun being carried by him and the pellets from the shot hit the chest and lips of Jaswant. Jaswant was taken inside the house of PW-2 with the intention to save him but upon being taken inside, they found that Jaswant had died immediately upon being shot. PW 2 stated that he had scribed the report upon dictation of PW-1 Shyam Singh.

15. In his cross examination, PW-2 stated that two days prior to the incident, father of PW-2 (who was the father of the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan also) and Jaswant had forbidden Shiv Narayan from putting a gate on the platform. He stated that in front of his house there is a double storied "Baithaka" (Guest House) of Shiv Narayan, which was given to Shiv Narayan in partition. At the time of the incident, PW-2 was standing 4-5 steps away from the main door of his house, towards the North, on the platform.

Jaswant was standing 4-5 steps away from PW-2 in the passage, below the platform. He was hit by the gun shot at the place where he was standing and upon being hit, he fell down at the same place. PW-2 further stated that after the incident, he had made a phone call to the Police Station and had informed that Shiv Narayan had shot Jaswant and the person who had received the call at the Police Station, had said that Police had already left for the place and that he would give this information to the Station House Officer. Thereafter he started writing the report. When Head Constable Chandra Bhan and Raj Singh reached there, he was writing the report and before he could complete writing the report, they had gone away in search of the accused persons.

16. PW-3, Head Constable Chandra Bhan Singh stated that on 28.01.2005 he was posted in Police Station Rath and on that day Shiv Kumar (PW-2) had given an application to the Station House Officer in his presence and the Inspector-in-charge had directed him to visit the spot in village Nandana, carry out an enquiry and submit a report regarding the application. When he reached the spot he found that Jaswant Singh has been killed and the persons present there had informed that the accused persons had ran away towards the fields. He had gone towards the fields to search and arrest the accused persons but he could not find them and he returned to the village at about 1:30 p.m. Thus his statement fully corroborates the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 that written information had been given at the Police Station regarding the apprehended breach of peace due to the dispute between the parties and that the Police personnel had reached the place of the incident soon after the incident.

17. PW-7 Sub Inspector Radhey Shyam Tiwari stated that on 28.01.2005 he was posted as the Inspector- in-charge of Police Station Rath and he had inspect the place of occurrence and had prepared the site plan (Ex. A-9). During his cross examination, he stated that before the incident, Shiv Kumar had given a complaint letter (Ex.1) regarding the dispute between Shiv Narayan and Shiv Kumar in relation to the gate. A phone call was received in the Police Station giving information about Jaswant's death. The phone call was received by Head Constable Suresh Kumar and immediately after receiving the call he had informed it to PW-7. Thus his statement also corroborates the statements of PW-1 and PW-2.

18. PW-4, Dr. R. K. Misra, who had conducted the post mortem examination of the dead body of Jaswant Singh, stated that the dead body had various injury marks due to entry of pellets from gun-shot on the front of his chest in an area of 30 cm X 30 cm. These were mainly in the central portion of the chest. There was a lacerated wound on the face at the lower lip. Left lung and heart were found to be torn and one pellet was recovered from the lung and two pellets were found from the heart. About 1½ litres coagulated as well as liquid blood was present inside the chest. It would have taken about 20-25 minutes for the 1½ litres blood found in the chest cavity of the dead body to bleed. Bleeding continues till the heart-beats continue and a person is taken to be dead only upon the heart beat stops. In his opinion, the deceased would have been able to breathe for five to ten minutes after being hit by the gun shot. As per his opinion, the deceased died on 28.01.2005 at about 12:00 noon because of haemorrhage and shock due to the anti mortem injuries. The statement of PW-4 fully corroborates the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 and there is nothing in his statement, which contradicts the statements of eye-witnesses PW-1 and PW-2.

19. PW 1 stated in his cross examination that his father had a light meal and afterwards, he came out of the house and sat in the sun-light, about half an hour before the incident, i.e., at about 11:30 a.m. PW-4 stated that there was about 150 gms. semi-digested food in the stomach. This also corroborates the statement of PW-1.

20. From a thorough scrutiny of the statements of the witnesses, we find that there is a platform in front of the house of the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan. Earlier this platform was jointly owned by all the persons and about 10 years ago, a portion of the platform measuring 10 ft. x 10 ft. was given to Shiv Narayan. Shiv Narayan was putting up a gate by encroaching upon an area in excess of his portion of the platform. Written information of an apprehended breach of peace due to the aforesaid dispute had already been given in the Police Station at about 10:00 a.m. on the date of the incident. The informant's father Jaswant and PW-2 Shiv Kumar had forbidden the accused-respondent no. 1 from putting up the gate. Upon this, Shiv Narayan (the accused-respondent No. 1) and his son Pradeep (the accused-respondent No. 2) started hurling abuses. The informant and his father, who was standing with Shiv Kumar in front of his house, forbade them from doing so. At that time, Pradeep and Shiv Narayan were standing inside the channel gate at the first floor of their house. The accused-respondent no. 1 was carrying a licensed double barrel gun and the accused-respondent no. 2 was carrying an unlicensed single barrel gun. Referring to the informant's father and Shiv Kumar, the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep said to the accused--respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan that "bade panch bante hain, goli maar do" meaning that the aforesaid persons were acting as panchs (arbitrators) and he should shoot them. Upon the exhortation of the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep, the accused respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan fired a gun-shot killing Jaswant - the father of the informant.

21. PW-2 Shiv Kumar, who is the real brother of the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan, has given the same narration of the incident of the deceased Jaswant being shot dead by the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan at the exhortation of the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep, as was given by PW-1 and the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 do not contain any discrepancy regarding any material fact relating to the incident. Their statements are fully corroborated by the statements of PW-3, PW-4 and PW-7.

22. From the F.I.R. and the statements of witnesses, it is established that the incident took place in broad day-light at 12:00 noon, on the public passage between the house of the accused-respondents and that of PW-2. F.I.R. of the incident was lodged promptly at 12:45 p.m. The statements of the eyewitnesses are quite cogent and consistent with the earliest version recorded in the form of the First Information Report. At the time of the incident, the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan was carrying a double barrel gun and the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep was carrying a single barrel gun and the deceased and all the other persons present with him were not carrying any weapon. The accused-respondent no. 1 had fired the gun-shot at the exhortation of the accused-respondent no. 2, at the first opportunity, without there being any provocation or any overt act on the part of the deceased or any other person accompanying him.

Analysis Of Findings Of The Trial Court In Light Of Prosecution Evidence

23. The learned Court below has held that it is stated in the inquest report (Ex. A-5) that there were pellet injuries in the chest of the dead body in an area of about 30 cm X 30 cm and although this has been inserted afterpreparation of the inquest report, no person has put his signatures to authenticate the same. In reply to a question put by the Court, PW-6 had stated that there were no marks of entry of the pellets on the Kurta and the vest worn by the deceased and had he been wearing the same Kurta and vest before his death, entry marks of the pellets ought to have been there on his clothes.

24. The legal position regarding an Inquest Report prepared under Section 174 of the Criminal Procedure Code has been explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Tehseen Poonawalla v. Union of India, (2018) 6 SCC 72, in the following words: -

"38. Section 174 deals with a situation where information is received by an officer in charge of a Police Station of a person having committed suicide, or having been killed (i) by another; or (ii) by an animal; or (iii) by machinery; or (iv) by an accident or of having died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence. In any of these situations, the Police officer is required to furnish intimation immediately to the nearest Executive Magistrate who is empowered to hold inquests. He is required to proceed to the place where the body is situated and in the presence of two witnesses to make an investigation and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death. The report would describe the wounds including marks of injury which are found on the body and in what manner or by what weapon or instrument if any they appear to have been inflicted.

39. The purpose of holding an inquest is limited. The inquest report does not constitute substantive evidence. Hence matters relating to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him and under what circumstances are beyond the scope of the report. The report of inquest is primarily intended to ascertain the nature of the injuries and the apparent cause of death. On the other hand, it is the doctor who conducts a post-mortem examination who examines the body from a medico-legal perspective. Hence it is the post-mortem report that is expected to contain the details of the injuries through a scientific examination.

40. The scope of an inquiry under Section 174 Cr.P.C has been considered in several decisions of this Court. In Pedda Narayana v. State of A.P. [(1975) 4 SCC 153] this Court explained that the limited scope of such an inquiry is to ascertain whether a person has died in suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and, if this was the case, the apparent cause of death. The Court observed: (SCC pp. 157-58, paras 10 & 11)

The proceedings under Section 174 have a very limited scope. The object of the proceedings is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and if so what is the apparent cause of the death. The question regarding the details as to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of the proceedings under Section 174. Neither in practice nor in law was it necessary for the Police to mention those details in the inquest report.

This principle was reiterated in Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh [(2003) 2 SCC 518] where the Court observed thus: (SCC p. 529, para 12)

"12. ... The requirement of the section is that the Police officer shall record the apparent cause of death describing the wounds as may be found on the body and also the weapon or instrument by which they appear to have been inflicted and this has to be done in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood. The section does not contemplate that the manner in which the incident took place or the names of the accused should be mentioned in the inquest report. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery, etc."

41. The view in Pedda Narayana has been approved by a three-Judge Bench in Khujji v. State of M.P.[(1991) 3 SCC 627]. Hence in Radha Mohan Singh v. State of U.P.[(2006) 2 SCC 450]a Bench of three learned Judges formulated the principle in the following terms: (Radha Mohan case, SCC pp. 462-63, para 15)

"15. ... Thus, it is well settled by a catena of decisions of this Court that the purpose of holding an inquest is very limited viz. to ascertain as to whether a person has committed suicide or has been killed by another or by an animal or by machinery or by an accident or has died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence. There is absolutely no requirement in law of mentioning the details of the FIR, names of the accused or the names of the eyewitnesses or the gist of their statements, nor is it required to be signed by any eyewitness."

A Bench of two learned Judges of this Court in Madhu v. State of Karnataka [(2014) 12 SCC 419] has observed that an inquest report is not substantive evidence.

42. In Manoj Kumar Sharma v. State of Chhattisgarh, [(2016) 9 SCC 1] a Bench of two learned Judges held that the purpose of an "inquest" in cases of accidental or suspicious deaths under Sections 174 and 175 is distinct from the "investigation" under Section 157 of the Code under which if an officer in charge of a Police Station has reason to suspect the commission of an offence which he is empowered to investigate, he shall proceed in person to the spot to investigate the facts and circumstances of the case. Reiterating this principle, a two-Judge Bench in Bimla Devi v. Rajesh Singh [(2016) 15 SCC 448] explained the scope of the provisions of Section 174 in the following observations: (Bimla Devi case, SCC pp. 453-54, para 10)

"10. ... The scope of the section is investigation by the Police in cases of unnatural or suspicious death. However, the scope is very limited and aimed at ascertaining the first apparent signs of the death. Apart from this, the Police officer has to investigate the place wherefrom the dead body is recovered, describe wounds, fractures, bruises and other marks of injury as may be found on the body, stating in what manner or by what weapon or instrument, such injuries appear to have been inflicted. From the above, it thus becomes clear, that the section aims at preserving the first look at the recovered body and it need not contain every detail. Mere overwriting in the name of the informant would not affect the proceedings."

43. The same position has been laid down in a more recent decision of a two-Judge Bench in Yogesh Singh v. Mahabeer Singh: [(2017) 11 SCC 195]: (SCC p. 217, para 41)

"41. Further, the evidentiary value of the inquest report prepared under Section 174 Cr.P.C has also been long settled through a series of judicial pronouncements of this Court. It is well established that inquest report is not a substantive piece of evidence and can only be looked into for testing the veracity of the witnesses of inquest. The object of preparing such report is merely to ascertain the apparent cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or caused by animals or machinery, etc. and stating in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument, the injuries on the body appear to have been inflicted."

25. Keeping in view aforesaid legal position, since the inquest report is not a substantive evidence, any discrepancy in the narration in the inquest report would not override the overwhelming substantive evidence on record in the shape of the statements of the eye-witnesses PW-1 and PW-2 and the medical evidence in the shape of the Post Mortem Report, which was proved by PW-4 - the doctor who had conducted the post mortem examination.

26. So far as the insertion of a line in the inquest report mentioning the injuries on the chest is concerned, the same had been explained by PW-6 by stating that after writing in the inquest report that there was an injury on the side of the face below the lip and there was no other apparent injury, he suspected that this injury could not have caused death and then he lifted the Kurta and vest of the dead body and saw the injuries on his chest and thereafter he inserted this fact in the report. We may reiterate that as the inquest report is not a substantive evidence, this interpolation in the report would not vitiate the prosecution case when the statements of the eye-witnesses is fully corroborated by the medical evidence in the case.

27. The learned trial Court has held that PW-6 had stated in his cross examination that there were no marks of entry of the pellets on the Kurta and the vest worn by the deceased and had he been wearing the same Kurta and vest before his death, entry marks of the pellets ought to have been there on his clothes and from this statement of PW-6 it is clear that the prosecution story is not trustworthy. Although the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents has contended that the clothes worn by the deceased at the time of the incident had been produced before the Court below and the same had been marked as Exhibit A-2, but we have examined the record that found that Exhibit A-2 is the post mortem examination report of the dead body and it merely contains an endorsement that the Kurta, pyjama, vest, inner and a ring of white metal were recovered from the dead body and the same were handed over to the constable concerned. Therefore, the contention of the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents that the clothes worn by the deceased were produced before the Court below as Exhibit A-2 is misconceived and we find that the Kurta and the other clothes worn by the deceased at the time of the incident had not been produced before the Court.

28. We find that the learned Court below has given undue importance to the statements of witnesses regarding absence of marks on the Kurta and vest, particularly when the clothes had not been produced before the Court and, more particularly, when the incident had otherwise been fully proved by the statements of the eye-witnesses, which were corroborated by the statements of PW-3, PW-4 and PW-7 and there was no discrepancy in the statements of the witnesses in describing any material facts relating to the incident. As we have already observed in the preceding paragraphs, there are always some discrepancies in the statements of witnesses, but while examining the evidence, the Court should consider that whether the evidence, taken as a whole, appears to have a ring of truth. Examining the entire evidence of the case, we find that the finding of the Court below that absence of injury marks on the Kurta makes the incident doubtful, is against the overwhelming evidence of the eye-witnesses, which was corroborated by the statements of PW-3, PW-4 and PW-7, and the finding being against the weight of the evidence on record, is certainly perverse and it cannot be sustained.

29. The learned Counsel has held that PW-1 had stated that the Investigating Officer had collected samples of blood stained soil as well as plain soil from the place of the incident whereas PW-2 and PW-6 had stated that the samples were taken from the place where the dead body was lying and this indicates that the incident did not occur in the manner in which it has been described. In this regard, we may state that we have perused the recovery memo (Exhibit A-12), which contains the signatures of Shiv Kumar (PW-2) and one Mulayam Singh as witnesses. The recovery memo, which was prepared on the date of the incident itself, states that samples of blood stained cemented floor and unstained cemented floor were dug out from inside the house of Shiv Kumar, where the dead body was lying. The recovery has been proved by the statements of PW 2 and PW 6.

30. PW-1 was not a witness to the recovery of the articles and the discrepancy in the statement of PW-1 regarding the place from where the soil was recovered, may be for various reasons. As held in Krishna Master (Supra), there are always some discrepancies in the deposition of witnesses, howsoever honest and truthful they may be. We may notice here that the father of PW-1 had been killed by his cousin and the inquest report was prepared and the samples of the floor were collected on the same date a short while after the murder of his father, when PW-1 surely would have been in a mental state of shock and horror. In such circumstances, some discrepancies in his statement are bound to occur. We find that the inconsistency in the statement regarding the place from where the sample of soil was collected after the incident, does not go to the root of the matter, as it does not relate to the occurrence of the incident. The inconsistency concerning a peripheral matter would not vitiate the prosecution case.

31. In light of the aforesaid discussion, we find that the learned Court below has erred in holding that the discrepancy in the statement of PW-1 and the statements of PW-2 and PW-6 regarding the place from where the blood-stained and un-stained pieces of flooring were collected creates doubt in the manner in which the incident occurred and this finding too is against the weight of evidence on record and is perverse.

32. The learned Counsel has assailed the prosecution case also on ground that in the written report there is no mention of the place from where Shiv Narayan had fired the shot. In this regard, we may state that in the present case, the FIR was lodged promptly, within 45 minutes of the incident and it was not written after a gap of some time enabling the informant to think over the averments that were made by him in the FIR. It is settled law that an FIR is not an encyclopedia and it need not mention every minute detail of the occurrence. Reference in this regard may be had to a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Satpal v. State of Haryana, (2018) 6 SCC 610.

33. In Ravi Kumar v. State of Punjab, (2005) 9 SCC 315, the Hon'ble Supreme Court was pleased to explain that: -

"It has been held time and again that the FIR is not a substantive piece of evidence and can only be used to corroborate the statement of the maker under Section 161 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (in short "the Evidence Act") or to contradict him under Section 145 of that Act. It can neither be used as evidence against the maker at the trial if he himself becomes an accused nor to corroborate or contradict other witnesses. It is not the requirement of law that the minute details be recorded in the FIR lodged immediately after the occurrence. The fact of the state of mental agony of the person making the FIR who generally is the victim himself, if not dead, or the relations or associates of the deceased victim apparently under the shock of the occurrence reported has always to be kept in mind."

34. Therefore, we are of the considered opinion that non-mention in the FIR of the place from where Shiv Narayan had fired the gun-shot would not vitiate the prosecution case and the finding of the Court below in this regard being against the settled law, cannot be sustained.

35. The learned Court below has doubted the prosecution case for another reason, that the Doctor conducting the Post Mortem examination did not mention the direction of entry of the pellets in the body and due to this omission, the prosecution story that the shot was fired from the upper floor is not fortified. In this regard we may state that the doctor conducting the post mortem examination is not under any obligation to mention in the report the angle of entry of pellets in the body. Even if there was any such duty, the mere failure of the Doctor to mention the angle of entry of the pellets would not demolish the prosecution case when the eye-witnesses have categorically stated that the accused-respondent no. 1 had fired the gun-shot from the upper floor of his house.

36. The learned Court below has doubted the statement of PW-1 on the ground that it is inconsistent with his affidavit dated 27.05.2005. In the aforesaid affidavit dated 27.05.2005, PW-1 had merely stated that that the accused Shiv Narayan had already made some negotiations with the local Police prior to his arrest and the procedure adopted by the Police regarding the empty cartridges was a step in aid of the accused-respondents, which has benefitted them. There is no discrepancy in the statements made in the affidavit and those made in the deposition before the Court. On the contrary, the affidavit expresses an apprehension in the mind of the PW-1 that the accused Shiv

Narayan had already made some negotiations with the local Police prior to his arrest and for this reason the Police was helping the accused persons. The finding of the learned Court below in this regard appears to have been recorded without a proper reading of the affidavit dated 27-05-2005 and the statement of PW-1 and, therefore, the same is also perverse and unsustainable.

37. Here it would be relevant to notice that although both the accused persons had stated that they would lead evidence in their defence, none of them appeared as a witness to defend themselves and no other person was produced as defence witness. Although in a criminal case the prosecution has to prove its case and the accused persons cannot be convicted merely for their failure to lead evidence to defend themselves, but at the same time, in a case like the present one, where prosecution has proved its case by leading sufficient evidence, failure of the accused-respondents to lead evidence to defend themselves and to appear as witnesses and offer themselves for being cross-examined by the prosecution, becomes relevant and this conduct of the accused-respondent goes against them and it supports the prosecution case.

Analysis of the Submissions made on behalf of the Accused-Respondents

38. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondents Sri. Anand Priy Singh has submitted that there are serious contradictions in the statements of PW-1 and PW-6 regarding recovery of the gun in as much as during his cross-examination, PW-1 stated that the Sub-Inspector had entered the house of the accused Shiv Narayan along with his constables and no person from the village had entered with him and he had brought the cartridges from his house whereas PW-6, after being recalled, stated that under the orders of the I.O., he had gone to inside the house of the accused-respondents alongwith witnesses, for recovering the cartridge. Upon scrutiny of the aforesaid statements of PW-1 and PW-6, we find that PW-1 had stated that PW-6 had entered the house with constables whereas PW-6 had stated that he had entered the house with witnesses. Nobody had said that PW-6 had entered Shiv Narayan's house alone and it appears that the constables who had accompanied him inside the house of the accused-respondents, have been referred by PW-6 as the witnesses. Therefore, there is no discrepancy in the statements of PW-1 and PW-6 regarding any material fact or circumstance regarding recovery of the cartridge from the house of the accused-respondents. Moreover, this does not relate to the occurrence of the incident and, therefore, it would not affect the prosecution case adversely.

39. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondents has next submitted that no pellets were recovered from the place of the incident and the pellets were not sent for forensic examination, which makes the prosecution case doubtful. Although it would have been more appropriate for the prosecution to recover the pellets and to send those pellets, as well as the pellets recovered from the dead body, for forensic examination, but when the incident has been fully proved by the statement of the eye-witness PW-1 and PW-2 and their statements have been corroborated by the other witnesses PW-3, PW-4 and PW-7, we are of the considered opinion that it was not necessary for the prosecution to have recovered the pellets and to have sent the same for forensic examination and mere non-recovery of pellets does not make the prosecution case doubtful.

40. In State of Karnataka versus Suvarnamma, (2015) 1 SCC 323, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that it is well settled that "though the investigating agency is expected to be fair and efficient, any lapse on its part cannot per se be a ground to throw out the prosecution case when there is overwhelming evidence to prove the offence."

41. In Sanjeev Kumar Gupta v. State of U.P., (2015) 11 SCC 69, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while dealing with a case of defective investigation, held that : -

"31. We do note that the investigation suffers from certain flaws such as non-recovery of the weapon used by the appellant-accused and recovery of the bloodstained shirt after six days of the date of the incident. However, merely on the basis of these circumstances the entire case of the prosecution cannot be brushed aside when it has been proved by medical evidence corroborated by testimonies of the prosecution witnesses that the deceased died a homicidal death. This Court has held in Manjit Singh v. State of Punjab (2013) 12 SCC 746, that when there is ample unimpeachable ocular evidence and the same has received corroboration from medical evidence, non-recovery of bloodstained clothes or even the murder weapon does not affect the prosecution case.

(Emphasis Supplied)

42. In a recent decision in Kaptan Singh versus State of U.P. reported in 2020 SCC OnLine All 183, a co-ordinate Bench of this Court reiterated and explained the legal position in this regard as follows: -

"91.It is further argued that misfired cartridges and fired cartridges were not sent to the Ballistic Expert, Forensic Science Laboratory and the firearm weapon used by the appellants were never seized.

92.The said lapses on the part of the investigating officer would not necessarily prove fatal to the case of the prosecution where the direct testimony of the two prosecution witnesses is on record.

98.Such omissions or lapses in the investigation cannot be a ground to discard the prosecution case which is otherwise credible and cogent.

99.InNankaunoov.State of U.P.; 2016 (1) SC Cr.R 237 it was held as under:

"Any omission on the part of the investigating officer cannot go against the prosecution case. Story of the prosecution is to be examined dehors such omission by the investigating agency. Otherwise it would shake the confidence of the people not merely in the law enforcing agency, but also in the administration of justice."

100.InV.K. Mishrav.State of Uttrakhand; 2015 (2) SC Cr.R it was held as under:

*"The investigating officer is not obliged to anticipate all possible defences and investigate in that angle. In any event any omission on the part of the investigating officer cannot go against the prosecution. The interest of justice demands that such acts or omissions of the investigating officer should not be taken in favour of the accused or otherwise. It would amount to placing a premium upon such omissions."

(Emphasis Supplied)

43. Keeping in consideration the fact that in the present case, the incident has been clearly proved by the statements of the eye-witnesses PW-1 and PW-2 and their testimony has been corroborated by the medical evidence in the form of the post-mortem examination report and the statement of PW-4 - the Doctor who had conducted the post-mortem examination of the deceased, we find that the prosecution has been successful in proving its case by clinching direct evidence and in such a case the accused-respondents cannot get any benefit of any defect in the investigation carried out by the prosecution.

44. Sri. Anand Priy Singh, the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents, has laid much emphasis on the discrepancy in the words used by the witnesses - PW-1, PW-2 and PW-7 in describing the place from where the gun-shot was fired. PW-1 has stated that the accused persons were standing on the first floor of their house, where there is a channel gate. However, PW-2 has stated that the accused persons were standing near the channel gate on "doosree manzil", which would literally mean the second floor of their house. Similarly, PW-7 S.I. Radhe Shyam Trivedi has also stated that the channel gate is on "doosree manzil". He has submitted that this discrepancy in description of the place, from which the gun-shot was allegedly fired, makes the presence of PW-1 and PW-2 at the time and place of the incident doubtful.

45. In this regard, we may state that although in English, the floors of a double storied house are referred to as the Ground floor and the First floor and in Hindi also, the same are referred to as "Bhoo-tal' and "Pratham-tal' but in the present case, all the witnesses come from rural background and in common parlance, such persons refer a double-storied house as a "do manzila makaan' and the upper floor of the house is commonly referred to as "doosree manzil'. A perusal of the site-plan indicates that the house of the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Kumar has been shown to be double storied and the Ground floor has described by the phrase "neeche ka bhaag' and the First floor has been described as "doosree manzil', which would literally mean the lower portion and the second floor but, that literal meaning would not describe the phrases appropriately, as there is no second floor in the house of the accused-respondents. Therefore, the phrase "doosree manzil' refers to the only floor above the Ground floor, which is actually the first floor and the channel gate has been shown in the site plan on this floor and has been marked by the letter "A'. The description given to illustrate the map narrates that "A' is the place on the upper floor of the house, above the veranda on the ground floor, from where the accused fired the gun-shot.

46. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we reject the contention of the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents that the reference to "doosree manzil" makes the presence of PW-1 and PW-2 at the time and place of the incident doubtful.

47. Sri. Singh has next contended that PW-1 has stated that he, his father and Shiv Kumar were standing near each other, Shiv Narayan had fired the shot towards them, which hit his father and only Shiv Narayan would have known as to which of the three persons he wanted to kill and this indicate that the accused Shiv Narayan did not intend to kill the deceased Jaswant. In our considered opinion, when PW-1 and PW-2 both have stated that PW-2 and the deceased were standing near each other, both of them had forbidden the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Kumar from putting up the gate, the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep had said that those persons were acting as panchs (arbitrators) and had exhorted the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan to shoot them and the gun-shot fired by the accused-respondent no. 1 had hit and killed one of them, it is established that the accused-respondent no. 2 had exhorted the accused-respondent no. 1 to kill them and the accused-respondent no. 1 had fired the shot with intention to kill them. Therefore, merely because the PW-1 said that only Shiv Narayan would have known as to which of the three persons he wanted to kill, would not prove that the accused Shiv Narayan did not intend to kill the deceased Jaswant.

48. The learned Counsel for the accused - respondents next contended that PW-1 had himself stated that the dispute regarding the gate has been settled in the year 1992 and, therefore, there was no dispute between the parties and the accused-respondents had no motive to kill the deceased. However, from the evidence on record, we find that the accused-respondents have themselves brought on record the application dated 28-01-2005 that had been given by PW-2 at the Police Station regarding the gate put up by the accused-respondent no. 1 on the platform in front of his house. PW-3 Head Constable Chandra Bhan Singh has stated about the application and that the Inspector-in-charge had directed him to go to the village, carry out an enquiry and submit a report and when he reached the village, he found that Jaswant Singh had been killed. Therefore, it cannot be said that the accused-respondents had no motive to commit murder of the deceased Jaswant Singh and this contention of the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents is rejected. In any case, when ample direct evidence is available to prove the guilt of the accused-respondents, the existence of motive looses significance.

49. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondent has placed reliance upon a recent decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Joseph Stephen and others versus Santhanasamy and others, 2022 Scc OnLine SC 90, wherein the Supreme Court has decided the question whether while dealing with the question whether the High Court in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction under Section 401 Cr.P.C., can set aside an order of acquittal and convict the accused by converting the finding of acquittal into one of conviction. While deciding this question, the Hon'ble Supreme Court referred to numerous precedents on the point and has held that: -

"20.Applying the law laid down by this Court in the aforesaid decisions and on a plain reading of sub-section (3) of Section 401 Cr.P.C., it has to be held that sub-section (3) of Section 401 Cr.P.C. prohibits/bars the High Court to convert a finding of acquittal into one of conviction. Though and as observed hereinabove, the High Court has revisional power to examine whether there is manifest error of law or procedure etc., however, after giving its own findings on the findings recorded by the court acquitting the accused and after setting aside the order of acquittal, the High Court has to remit the matter to the trial Court and/or the first appellate Court, as the case may be...."

50. However, in the present case, although the informant has challenged the judgment of the learned Court below by filing a revision under Section 401 Cr.P.C., as till the filing of the revision, the Act No. 5 of 2009 had not been enacted by which a Proviso was inserted in Section 372 conferring an unfettered right of appeal upon a victim of an offence, the same judgment is under challenge in an appeal filed by the State under Section 372 of Cr.P.C. and, therefore, this Court is not bound by the limitations of a revision under Section 401 of the Code.

51. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondents next cited another recent judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Geeta Devi versus State of U.P., 2022 Scc OnLine SC 57. This was an appeal against an order passed by this High Court dismissing an appeal filed against an order of acquittal passed by the trial Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court set aside the judgment of the High Court on the ground that "the High Court has not at all discussed and/or re-appreciated the entire evidence on record. In fact, the High Court has only made the general observations on the deposition of the witnesses examined. However, there is no re-appreciation of entire evidence on record in detail, which ought to have been done by the High Court, being a first appellate court." The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "The High Court ought to have re-appreciated the entire evidence on record as it was dealing with a first appeal. Being the first appellate court, the High Court was required to re-appreciate the entire evidence on record and also the reasoning given by the learned Trial Court."

We fail to understand, how this judgment helps the accused-respondents.

52. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondent has next placed reliance upon another judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Guru Dutt Pathak v. State of U.P., (2021) 6 SCC 116, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court was dealing with an appeal filed against a judgment passed by the High Court, reversing an order of acquittal passed by the trial Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court upheld the order of the High Court and dismissed the appeal, holding that: -

"33. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case and on reappreciation of the evidence, when the High Court has come to the conclusion that the findings recorded by the learned trial court while acquitting the accused were perverse and even contrary to the evidence on record and/or misreading of the evidence, the High Court has rightly interfered with the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the learned trial court and has rightly convicted the accused. In the present case, the appellant-original Accused 4 was specifically named right from the very beginning in the FIR. He has been attributed the specific role. The same has been established and proved from the evidence of PW 4 (even if the deposition of PW 2 is for the time being ignored). No error has been committed by the High Court in interfering with the judgment and order of acquittal passed by the learned trial court."

This judgment also does not help the accused-respondents in any manner.

53. The learned Counsel for the accused-respondents next relied upon the decision in of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ram Pal versus State of U.P., (2007) 15 SCC 79, in which case also, the parties are very closely related and on account of the dispute relating to some property, the relations between them were extremely strained. After a through scrutiny of the evidence on record, the High Court had set aside and reversed the order of acquittal passed by the trial Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the fate of the appeal would primarily rest on the statements of the eyewitnesses and it upheld the order of the High Court and affirmed the conviction order passed in appeal against acquittal. This decision also does not help the accused-respondent in any manner.

54. Thus in view of the aforesaid discussion, we hold that the prosecution has been successful in establishing that at the exhortation of the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep, the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan fired a gun-shot from his double barrel gun towards the deceased Jaswant with the intention to cause his death and he died due to the injuries suffered due to the gun-shot. The offence was committed at about 12:00 noon, in broad daylight, and the deceased and the other persons accompanying him were unarmed and the deceased and PW-2 had merely asked the accused-respondent no. 1 not to put up a gate on the disputed platform till the Police carried out an enquiry on the application given by PW-2 in this regard at about 10:00 a.m. on the day of the incident. There was no provocation made by the deceased or any other person accompanying him. Therefore, the accused-respondent no. 1 is held guilty of committing the offence of murder of the deceased Jaswant Singh.

55. Now we proceed to examine the criminal liability of the accused-respondent no. 2 for the offence of murder committed by the accused-respondent no. 1. Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code provides as follows: -

"34. Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention.--When a criminal act is done by several persons, in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."

56. In Surendra Chauhan v. State of M.P., (2000) 4 SCC 110, the Hon'ble Supreme Court summarized the essential conditions to attract the applicability of Section 34 of I.P.C. in the following words: -

*"11. Under Section 34 a person must be physically present at the actual commission of the crime for the purpose of facilitating or promoting the offence, the commission of which is the aim of the joint criminal venture. Such presence of those who in one way or the other facilitate the execution of the common design is itself tantamount to actual participation in the criminal act. The essence of Section 34 is simultaneous consensus of the minds of persons participating in the criminal action to bring about a particular result. Such consensus can be developed at the spot and thereby intended by all of them. [Ramaswami Ayyangar v. State of T.N. (1976) 3 SCC 779] The existence of a common intention can be inferred from the attending circumstances of the case and the conduct of the parties. No direct evidence of common intention is necessary. For the purpose of common intention even the participation in the commission of the offence need not be proved in all cases. The common intention can develop even during the course of an occurrence. [Rajesh Govind Jagesha v. State of Maharashtra (1999) 8 SCC 428] To apply Section 34 IPC apart from the fact that there should be two or more accused, two factors must be established: (i) common intention, and (ii) participation of the accused in the commission of an offence. If a common intention is proved but no overt act is attributed to the individual accused, Section 34 will be attracted as essentially it involves vicarious liability but if participation of the accused in the crime is proved and a common intention is absent, Section 34 cannot be invoked. In every case, it is not possible to have direct evidence of a common intention. It has to be inferred from the facts and circumstances of each case."

57. Again, in Ramesh Singh v. State of A.P., (2004) 11 SCC 305, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"12. To appreciate the arguments advanced on behalf of the appellants it is necessary to understand the object of incorporating Section 34 in the Penal Code, 1860. As a general principle in a case of criminal liability it is the primary responsibility of the person who actually commits the offence and only that person who has committed the crime can be held guilty. By introducing Section 34 in the Penal Code the legislature laid down the principle of joint liability in doing a criminal act. The essence of that liability is to be found in the existence of a common intention connecting the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. Thus, if the act is the result of a common intention then every person who did the criminal act with that common intention would be responsible for the offence committed irrespective of the share which he had in its perpetration. Section 34 IPC embodies the principle of joint liability in doing the criminal act based on a common intention."

58. In Chhota Ahirwarv.State of Madhya Pradesh, (2020) 4 SCC 126, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that: -

"26. To attract Section 34 of the Penal Code, no overt act is needed on the part of the accused if they share common intention with others in respect of the ultimate criminal act, which may be done by any one of the accused sharing such intention [seeAsoke Basak[Asoke Basakv.State of Maharashtra,(2010) 10 SCC 660:(2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 85], SCC p. 669]. To quote from the judgment of the Privy Council in the famous case ofBarendra Kumar Ghosh[Barendra Kumar Ghoshv.King Emperor,1924 SCC OnLine PC 49:(1924-25) 52 IA 40:AIR 1925 PC 1], "they also serve who stand and wait".

59. In the judgment in the case of Angad Yadav versus State of U.P., 2021 Scc OnLine All 262, a coordinate Bench of this Court summarized the law regarding criminal liability for an act done in furtherance of a common intention, in the following words: -

"56.The essence of joint liability in doing a criminal act is to be found in the existence of a common intention connecting the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. If the act is the result of a common intention then every person who did the criminal act with that common intention would be responsible for the offence committed irrespective of the share which he had in its perpetration. Common intention essentially being a state of mind it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove it. Hence, in most cases it has to be inferred from the conduct of the accused or other relevant circumstances of the case. The inference can be gathered by the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene, mounted the attack, determination and concert with which the attack was made, from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. The contributory acts of the persons who are not responsible for the injury can further be inferred from the subsequent conduct after the attack. Even an illegal omission on the part of such accused can indicate the sharing of common intention. The act need not be very substantial, it is enough that the act is only for guarding the scene for facilitating the crime. Presence of the accused, who in one way or other facilitate the execution of common design is tantamount to actual participation in the criminal act. The act need not necessarily be overt, even a covert act is enough, provided such a covert act is proved to have been done by the co-accused in furtherance of the common intention. To invoke Section 34 IPC two factors must be established: (i) common intention and (ii) participation of the accused in the commission of an offence. To fasten the liability u/s 34 IPC an act, whether overt or covert, is indispensable to be done by a co-accused. If no such act is done by a person, even if he has common intention with the others for the accomplishment of the crime, Section 34, IPC cannot be invoked for convicting that person. In other words, the accused who only keeps the common intention in his mind, but does not do any act at the scene, cannot be convicted with the aid of Section 34, IPC. To ascertain common intention, totality of circumstances must be taken into consideration in arriving at the conclusion whether the accused had the such intention to commit an offence of which he could be convicted."

60. Here the accused-respondent no. 2 is the son of the accused-respondent no. 1. The deceased was a cousin (uncle's son) of the accused-respondent no. 1. There was a dispute regarding some family property going on. At the time of the incident, the accused-respondent no. 1 was carrying a double barrel gun and the accused-respondent no. 2 was carrying a single barrel gun. The deceased and all the other persons present there from his side were not carrying any weapon. When the deceased and the PW-2 said to the accused-respondent no. 1 that he should not proceed with the work of putting up a gate at the disputed platform till the Police carried out an enquiry pursuant to an application given by PW-2 to the Police in the morning of the date of the incident, the accused-respondent no. 2 was standing with the accused-respondent no. 1 and he exhorted to the latter "bade panch bante hain. Goli maar do" meaning that the persons were trying to act as the arbitrators, and the accused-respondent no. 1 should shoot them and at his exhortation, the accused-respondent no. 1 shot and killed the deceased. This shows that at the time when the gun-shot was fired, the accused-respondent no. 2 was physically present with the accused-respondent no. 2 at the place of the incident, he exhorted the accused-respondent no. 1 to shoot at the deceased and he thereby promoted the offence and both the accused persons had a common intention to shoot at the deceased to kill him. In these circumstances, even if the accused-respondent no. 2 did not himself fire the shot at the deceased, he would be vicariously liable under Section 34 of the Penal Code for the offence of murder committed by the accused-respondent no. 1.

61. Our view is supported by a recent decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sandeep versus State of Haryana 2021, Scc OnLine SC 642, wherein one of the accused persons Sandeep had given an exhortation immediately before the shot was fired. Sandeep was convicted for the offence under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and his conviction was confirmed by the High Court. The Hon'ble Supreme Court dismissed the Appeal filed by the accused Sandeep and affirmed his conviction.

62. Now we proceed to examine as to whether the accused-respondents have committed the offences punishable under Sections 504 and 506 IPC. It is proved from the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 that there was a property dispute going on between the parties and PW-2 and the deceased had gone to the house of the accused-respondents to ask him to stop the work till the Police carried out an enquiry. Upon hearing about the report given by PW 2 to the Police, the accused-respondents Shiv Narayan and Pradeep got enraged and started hurling abuses. Jaswant forbade the accused-respondents from abusing. Being annoyed by it, the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep exhorted to his father accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan that "b*ade panch bante hain, goli maar do*". Keeping in view all the facts and circumstances of the case, this would amount to criminal intimidation and insult with intent to provoke breach of peace and, therefore, the accused-respondents no. 1 and 2 are liable to be convicted and sentenced under Section 504 and 506 IPC also.

63. Lastly, the learned Counsel for the accused-respondents submitted that the accused-respondent no. 1 is presently aged about 70 years and he has remained in Jail for about 3 years and, therefore, keeping in view the aforesaid facts, this Court should take a lenient view towards him.

Order

64. In view of the aforesaid discussion, the instant appeal stands allowed. The judgment and order dated 16-09-2008 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge (Court No. 1), Hamirpur in Sessions Trial No. 137 of 2005 under Sections 302/34, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Rath, District Hamirpur, acquitting the accused-respondents is set aside and reversed. The accused-respondents no. 1 and 2 are held to be guilty of committing offences punishable under Sections 302/34, 504 and 506 IPC, in Case Crime No. 22 of 2005, Police Station Rath, District Hamirpur.

65. Keeping in view the fact that the incident occurred on 28-01-2005 and a period of more than 17 years has elapsed since the incident, as also the fact that presently the accused respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan is aged about 70 years, the accused-respondents are awarded the following sentences: -

(i) For the offence under Section 302/34 I.P.C., the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan son of Maheshwari Prasad is sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for life and the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep son of Shiv Narayan is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life and further, both the accused-respondents are sentenced to pay a fine of Rupees Twenty Thousand Only (Rs. 20,000/-) each and if they fail to pay the amount of fine, they shall have to undergo simple imprisonment for a further period of six months in lieu thereof.

(ii) For the offence under Sections 504 IPC, the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan son of Maheshwari Prasad and the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep son of Shiv Narayan are sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of two years and to pay a fine of Rupees Two Thousand Only (Rs. 2,000/-) and if they fail to pay the amount of fine, they shall have to undergo imprisonment for a further period of one month in lieu thereof.

(iii) For the offence under Sections 506 IPC, the accused-respondent no. 1 Shiv Narayan son of Maheshwari Prasad and the accused-respondent no. 2 Pradeep son of Shiv Narayan are sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of three years and to pay a fine of Rupees Five Thousand Only (Rs. 5,000/-) and if they fail to pay the amount of fine, they shall have to undergo imprisonment for a further period of two months in lieu thereof.

(iv) All the aforesaid sentences will run concurrently.

66. The accused-respondent no. 1 - Shiv Narayan son of Maheshwari Prasad and the accused-respondent no. 2 - Pradeep son of Shiv Narayan are directed to surrender before the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Hamirpur within a period of 15 days from the date of this order to serve out the sentences awarded to them. In case they do not surrender within the stipulated time, learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Hamirpur shall commit them to custody as per law.

67. As the judgment and order dated 16-09-2008 passed by the learned Additional District and Sessions Judge (Court No. 1), Hamirpur in Sessions Trial No. 137 of 2005 under Sections 302/34, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station Rath, District Hamirpur, has been set aside in Government Appeal No. 2239 of 2009, there is no need to pass any order in Criminal Revision No. 3459 of 2008 filed against the same judgment and order as the revision has become infructuous.

68. Let a certified copy of this judgment and order be sent to the Court concerned.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J., & Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed, claiming to be in public interest, with a prayer that the second cancelled fair price shop be allotted to someone else and the authorities concerned be directed to investigate the issue regarding corruption in allotment of fair price shop in favour of respondent No.3.

2. The petitioner, who appears in person, claims that he is a Software Engineer, based at Hyderabad, however, his parents and other family members reside in village. He is arguing his case through VC from Hyderabad.

3. At the very outset, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the petitioner had earlier filed Criminal Writ - Public Interest Litigation No.1 of 2022 raising the issue regarding the same fair price shop. The same was dismissed by this Court vide order dated January 18, 2022. It was further submitted that there is one FIR registered against the petitioner on the complaint filed by respondent No.3 as Case Crime No. 131 of 2021, under Sections 323, 504, 506 and 308 IPC at Police Station Bardah, District Azamgarh in which even charge sheet has been filed.

4. The submission is that the aforesaid facts have not been disclosed in the present petition.

5. He further submitted that the petitioner has not disclosed his credentials in terms of sub-rule (3-A) of Rule 1 of Chapter XXII of the High Court Rules.

6. The petitioner, who appeared in person (through VC), in response to the submissions so advanced, submitted that he is not required to disclose the filing of earlier writ petitions as the same do not relate to the cause of action in question. Regarding criminal case registered against him on the complaint of respondent No.3, he submitted that the said information was also not required to be furnished as, in the PIL, relief was claimed against the State and not against respondent No.3.

7. After hearing the petitioner, who appeared in person and learned counsel for the respondents, in our opinion, the present petition deserves to be dismissed on account of concealment of material facts from this Court and also for non-disclosure of his credentials as required in terms of the High Court Rules. Further, respondent No.3 has been impleaded as a party against whom there are specific allegations made by the petitioner. Even a prayer has also been made for a direction to the authorities to investigate the allegation of corruption in allotment of fair price shop in favour of respondent No.3 but, still, the fact that FIR got registered by respondent No.3 against the petitioner in which even a charge sheet has also been filed, has not been disclosed in the present petition. Further, as submitted by the petitioner, the fact that a cross-case bearing Case Crime No.132 of 2021 was also registered against respondent No.3 on a complaint made by him, has also not been disclosed in the present petition.

8. The issue regarding approaching the Court by concealing the facts has been examined by Hon'ble the Supreme Court on number of occasions and it has been opined that the same is polluting the stream of justice.

9. In Abhyudya Sanstha Vs. Union of India, (2011) 6 SCC 145, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, while declining relief to the petitioners therein, who did not approach the court with clean hands, opined as under :-

"18. ... In our view, the appellants deserve to be non suited because they have not approached the Court with clean hands. The plea of inadvertent mistake put forward by the learned senior counsel for the appellants and their submission that the Court may take lenient view and order regularisation of the admissions already made sounds attractive but does not merit acceptance. Each of the appellants consciously made a statement that it had been granted recognition by the NCTE, which necessarily implies that recognition was granted in terms of Section 14 of the Act read with Regulations 7 and 8 of the 2007 Regulations. Those managing the affairs of the appellants do not belong to the category of innocent, illiterate/uneducated persons, who are not conversant with the relevant statutory provisions and the court process. The very fact that each of the appellants had submitted LPASW No. 82/2019 Page 7 application in terms of Regulation 7 and made itself available for inspection by the team constituted by WRC, Bhopal shows that they were fully aware of the fact that they can get recognition only after fulfilling the conditions specified in the Act and the Regulations and that WRC, Bhopal had not granted recognition to them. Notwithstanding this, they made bold statement that they had been granted recognition by the competent authority and thereby succeeded in persuading this Court to entertain the special leave petitions and pass interim orders. The minimum, which can be said about the appellants is that they have not approached the Court with clean hands and succeeded in polluting the stream of justice by making patently false statement. Therefore, they are not entitled to relief under Article 136 of the Constitution. This view finds support from plethora of precedents.

19. In Hari Narain v. Badri Das AIR 1963 SC 1558, G. Narayanaswamy Reddy v. Govt. of Karnataka (1991) 3 SCC 261 and large number of other cases, this Court denied relief to the petitioner/appellant on the ground that he had not approached the Court with clean hands. In Hari Narain v. Badri Das (supra), the Court revoked the leave granted to the appellant and observed:

"It is of utmost importance that in making material statements and setting forth grounds in applications for special leave made under Article 136 of the Constitution, care must be taken not to make any statements which are inaccurate, untrue or misleading. In dealing with applications for special leave, the Court naturally takes statements of fact and grounds of fact contained in the petitions at their face value and it LPASW No. 82/2019 Page 8 would be unfair to betray the confidence of the Court by making statements which are untrue and misleading. Thus, if at the hearing of the appeal the Supreme Court is satisfied that the material statements made by the appellant in his application for special leave are inaccurate and misleading, and the respondent is entitled to contend that the appellant may have obtained special leave from the Supreme Court on the strength of what he characterises as misrepresentations of facts contained in the petition for special leave, the Supreme Court may come to the conclusion that in such a case special leave granted to the appellant ought to be revoked."

20. In G. Narayanaswamy Reddy v. Govt. of Karnataka's case (supra), the Court while noticing the fact regarding the stay order passed by the High Court which prevented passing of the award by the Land Acquisition Officer within the prescribed time period was concealed and in the aforesaid context, it observed that:

"2. ... Curiously enough, there is no reference in the special leave petitions to any of the stay orders and we came to know about these orders only when the respondents appeared in response to the notice and filed their counter- affidavit. In our view, the said interim orders have a direct bearing on the question raised and the non-disclosure of the same certainly amounts to suppression of material facts. On this ground alone, the special leave petitions are liable to be rejected. It is well settled in law that the relief under Article 136 of the Constitution is discretionary and a petitioner who approaches this Court for such relief must come with frank and full disclosure of facts. If he fails to do so and suppresses material facts, his application is liable to be dismissed. We accordingly dismiss the special leave petitions."

21. In Dalip Singh v. State of U.P., (2010) 2 SCC 114, Hon'ble the Supreme Court noticed the progressive decline in the values of life and observed:

"1. For many centuries Indian society cherished two basic values of life i.e. "satya" (truth) and "ahinsa" (non-violence). Mahavir, Gautam Buddha and Mahatma Gandhi guided the people to ingrain these values in their daily life. Truth constituted an integral part of the justice- delivery system which was in vogue in the pre-Independence era and the people used to feel proud to tell truth in the courts irrespective of the consequences. However, post-Independence period has seen drastic changes in our value system. The materialism has overshadowed the old ethos and the quest for personal gain has become so intense that those involved in litigation do not hesitate to take shelter of falsehood, misrepresentation and suppression of facts in the court proceedings.

2. In the last 40 years, a new creed of litigants has cropped up. Those who belong to this creed do not have any respect for truth. They shamelessly resort to falsehood and unethical means for achieving their goals. In order to meet the challenge posed by this new creed of litigants, the courts have, from time to time, evolved new rules and it is now well established that a litigant, who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final." (emphasis supplied)

10. In Moti Lal Songara Vs. Prem Prakash @ Pappu and another (2013) 9 SCC 199, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, considering the issue regarding concealment of facts before the Court, while observing that "court is not a laboratory where children come to play", opined as under:

"19. The second limb of the submission is whether in the obtaining factual matrix, the order passed by the High Court discharging the accused-respondent is justified in law. We have clearly stated that though the respondent was fully aware about the fact that charges had been framed against him by the learned trial Judge, yet he did not bring the same to the notice of the revisional court hearing the revision against the order taking cognizance. It is a clear case of suppression. It was within the special knowledge of the accused. Any one who takes recourse to method of suppression in a court of law, is, in actuality, playing fraud with the court, and the maxim supressio veri, expression faisi , i.e., suppression of the truth is equivalent to the expression of falsehood, gets attracted. We are compelled to say so as there has been a calculated concealment of the fact before the revisional court. It can be stated with certitude that the accused- respondent tried to gain advantage by such factual suppression. The fraudulent intention is writ large. In fact, he has shown his courage of ignorance and tried to play possum.

20. The High Court, as we have seen, applied the principle "when infrastructure collapses, the superstructure is bound to collapse". However, as the order has been obtained by practising fraud and suppressing material fact before a court of law to gain advantage, the said order cannot be allowed to stand." (emphasis supplied)

11. Similar view has been expressed in Amar Singh v. Union of India and others, (2011)7 SCC 69 and Kishore Samrite v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, (2013)2 SCC 398.

12. In a recent judgment in ABCD Vs. Union of India and others (2020) 2 SCC 52, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the matter where material facts had been concealed, while issuing notice to the petitioner therein, exercising its suo-motu contempt power, observed as under :

"15. Making a false statement on oath is an offence punishable under Section 181 of the IPC while furnishing false information with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to the injury of another person is punishable under Section 182 of the IPC. These offences by virtue of Section 195(1)(a)(i) of the Code can be taken cognizance of by any court only upon a proper complaint in writing as stated in said Section. In respect of matters coming under Section 195(1)(b)(i) of the Code, in Pushpadevi M. Jatia v. M.L. Wadhawan etc., (1987) 3 SCC 367 prosecution was directed to be launched after prima facie satisfaction was recorded by this Court.

16. It has also been laid down by this Court in Chandra Shashi v. Anil Kumar Verma (1995) 1 SCC 421 that a person who makes an attempt to deceive the court, interferes with the administration of justice and can be held guilty of contempt of court. In that case a husband who had filed a fabricated document to oppose the prayer of his wife seeking transfer of matrimonial proceedings was found guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to two weeks imprisonment. It was observed as under:

"1. The stream of administration of justice has to remain unpolluted so that purity of court's atmosphere may give vitality to all the organs of the State. Polluters of judicial firmament are, therefore, required to be well taken care of to maintain the sublimity of court's environment; so also to enable it to administer justice fairly and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

2. Anyone who takes recourse to fraud, deflects the course of judicial proceedings; or if anything is done with oblique motive, the same interferes with the administration of justice. Such persons are required to be properly dealt with, not only to punish them for the wrong done, but also to deter others from indulging in similar acts which shake the faith of people in the system of administration of justice.

14. The legal position thus is that if the publication be with intent to deceive the court or one made with an intention to defraud, the same would be contempt, as it would interfere with administration of justice. It would, in any case, tend to interfere with the same. This would definitely be so if a fabricated document is filed with the aforesaid mens rea. In the case at hand the fabricated document was apparently to deceive the court; the intention to defraud is writ large. Anil Kumar is, therefore, guilty of contempt."

17. In K.D. Sharma Vs. Steel Authority of India Limited and others (2008) 12 SCC 481 it was observed:

"39. If the primary object as highlighted in Kensington Income Tax Commrs., (1917) 1 KB 486 : 86 LJKB 257 : 116 LT 136 (CA) is kept in mind, an applicant who does not come with candid facts and "clean breast" cannot hold a writ of the court with "soiled hands". Suppression or concealment of material facts is not an advocacy. It is a jugglery, manipulation, manoeuvring or misrepresentation, which has no place in equitable and prerogative jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose all the material facts fairly and truly but states them in a distorted manner and misleads the court, the court has inherent power in order to protect itself and to prevent an abuse of its process to discharge the rule nisi and refuse to proceed further with the examination of the case on merits. If the court does not reject the petition on that ground, the court would be failing in its duty. In fact, such an applicant requires to be dealt with for contempt of court for abusing the process of the court."

18. In Dhananjay Sharma Vs. State of Haryana and others (1995) 3 SCC 757 filing of a false affidavit was the basis for initiation of action in contempt jurisdiction and the concerned persons were punished."

13. It was held in the judgments referred to above that one of the two cherished basic values by Indian society for centuries is "satya" (truth) and the same has been put under the carpet by the petitioner. Truth constituted an integral part of the justice-delivery system in the pre-Independence era, however, post-Independence period has seen drastic changes in our value system. The materialism has overshadowed the old ethos and the quest for personal gain has become so intense that those involved in litigation do not hesitate to take shelter of falsehood, misrepresentation and suppression of facts in the court proceedings. In the last 40 years, the values have gone down and now a litigants can go to any extent to mislead the court. They have no respect for the truth. The principle has been evolved to meet the challenge posed by this new breed of litigants. Now it is well settled that a litigant, who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final. Suppression of material facts from the court of law, is actually playing fraud with the court. The maxim supressio veri, expression faisi, i.e. suppression of the truth is equivalent to the expression of falsehood, gets attracted.

14. Further, perusal of the order dated January 18, 2022 passed in Criminal Writ-PIL No. 1 of 2022 shows that the prayer made therein was for a direction to the authorities to investigate the violation of law in allotment of fair price shop and charges of corruption against the officials involved. The relief prayed herein is similar.

15. For the reasons mentioned above, in our opinion, the present petition deserves to be dismissed with cost of ?25,000/-.

16. Ordered accordingly.

17. The amount of cost shall be deposited by the petitioner with U.P. State Legal Services Authority, Lucknow within a period of four weeks from today.

4. Gulam Ahmad Bhat Vs U.O.I. & ors. , OWP No 1950 of 2018

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. By means of the instant Public Interest Litigation, the petitioner has prayed for following, amongst other, relief:-

"I. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent No. 3 not to raise the construction of line tower for running the electricity wire in Village Bhamai Husamganj, Post Deewanganj, District Prayagraj between the abadi side and further restrained respondents not to raise any construction from the land of the land owners without complying the provisions provided under The Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013."

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that Uttar Pradesh Power Transmission Corporation Limited, i.e., the respondent no. 3, is laying high tension memorandum wire between the abadi side of the village, for which various electricity supply towers are being constructed. He further submits that area from where the high tension memorandum wire is going to be laid, there exists schools, agricultural fields and village abadi. Therefore, the same may not be allowed to be laid. In other words, he wants that the said high tension line may be diverted or the alignment may be altered so that the abadi area, schools, agricultural fields, etc. may be unaffected.

3. Learned counsel for the respondents submits that the relief claimed by the petitioner cannot be granted as the alignment of the high tension line cannot be changed to benefit some of the petitioners as alignment is not decided by any individual; rather, the same is a result of collective efforts of experts. He further submits that it is a prestigious project for the State to transmit power and the entire exercise has been done after due approval from the competent authorities. Before planning to erect the transmission line, not only the topography of the area, but even the soil is also tested to ensure that the same can sustain the load. He prays for dismissal of the petition.

4. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

5. The facts, which are not in dispute, are that the Corporation got permission to lay high tension transmission line. The lines are to be drawn, which pass through the land of Village - Bhamai Husamganj, Post - Deewanganj, District - Prayagraj. The plea raised in the petition is that alignment of the Transmission Line be changed so that the schools, agricultural fields, abadi, etc. are saved. The Transmission Line is proposed in a straight line passing through the land of the village in question, change of alignment of which may not be possible, considering the fact that it is the job of the experts as to which route is to be adopted for erection of high power Transmission Lines. The petitioners have not challenged any notification, which empowers the respondents to lay the transmission line, as the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (hereinafter referred to as, 'the Act') empowers the State to issue notification mentioning details of the area through which transmission line will pass through.

6. Section 10 of the Act authorizes the authority to place and maintain a telegraph line under, over, along, or across, and posts in or upon any immovable property. Proviso (b) to Section 10 of the Act makes it abundantly clear that while erecting lines, the authority does not acquire any right other than that of user in the property, which is subject to payment of compensation. Further argument of the counsel for the petitioners that neither any information nor opportunity was granted to file objection before approval/notification notifying the laying of the power transmission line so that a detailed objection could be filed requesting beneath the alignment, there are schools, agricultural fields, abadi, etc. is totally misconceived.

7. As has been observed in a judgment by the Division bench of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court in Vivek Brajendra Singh v. State of Government of Maharashtra and ors 2012 (4) BCR 116, there is no hearing contemplated against laying of lines. A decision to mark route for laying electric line is a highly specialized and technical. The route may be running into hundreds of kilometers passing through land owned by different owners and it may not be possible to offer hearing to all the owners, as only right to use small-small of portions of land on which towers or occupiers of the land on the route to suggest alternates. If that process is adopted, the project will never be completed as any such decision would be subject to judicial review and the State or its functionaries may not be able to provide infrastructure. Andhra Pradesh High Court in G.V.S. Rama Krishna and ors v. A. P. Transco and others, AIR 2009 AP 158, clearly laid down that the only right available to landowners is to receive compensation and damages, if any, sustained by them, as neither there is acquisition of land nor there is any need of consent of the owners or occupiers. Even in Power Grid Corporation of India Limited v. Century Textiles & Industries Limited and others, AIR 2017 SC, 1141, Hon'ble the Supreme Court had not interfered in the process of laying of power lines.

8. Hon'ble the Supreme Court has time and again opined that projects of public importance should not be halted as the same would be against the larger public interest and the constitutional courts should weigh public interest vis-à-vis private interest while exercising its discretion.

9. In Gulam Ahmad Bhat Vs. Union of India and others (OWP No. 1950 of 2018, dated 20.12.2018), the Jammu & Kashmir High Court at Srinagar, while holding that transmission of line and alignment cannot be changed at the behest of some of the petitioners, has observed as under:-

"11. The facts which are not in dispute are that the Corporation got permission to lay 220 KV D/C Kishenganga to T-point at Amargarh and 220 KV D/C Amargarh (Sopore) and from Amargarh (Sopore) to Wagoora (Budgam) under the Scheme known as Transmission System Associated with Kishenganga HEP for transmission of power from the upcoming 330 MW HEP of NHPC. As stated by the learned counsel for the Corporation, entire work is over. Only the lines are to be drawn to connect Tower No. 40/6 and 41/0, which pass through the land owned by the petitioner. Beneath the alignment, there is a constructed house of the petitioner. The petitioner claims that it was constructed before issuance of notification dated 18.06.2015 proposing erection of Transmission Line whereas the stand of the Corporation is that house was constructed after the notification had already been iss12. Section 10 of the Act authorizes the authority to place and maintain a telegraph line under, over, along, or across, and posts in or upon any immovable property. Proviso (b) to Section 10 of the Act makes it abundantly clear that while erecting lines, the authority does not acquire any right other than that of user in the property, which is subject to payment of compensation. In the case in hand as well, notification dated 18.06.2015 has been issued for laying transmission line on the route as mentioned hereinued. The plea raised in the writ petition is that alignment of the Transmission Line be changed so that the house of the petitioner is saved. There is a site plan produced on record by the petitioner himself which shows that the Transmission Line is proposed in a straight line passing through the land of the petitioner. Change of alignment of which may not be possible at this stage, considering the fact that Towers on both sides have been erected and further it is the job of the experts especially in hilly terrains as to which route is to be adopted for erection of high power Transmission Lines.

12. Section 10 of the Act authorizes the authority to place and maintain a telegraph line under, over, along, or across, and posts in or upon any immovable property. Proviso (b) to Section 10 of the Act makes it abundantly clear that while erecting lines, the authority does not acquire any right other than that of user in the property, which is subject to payment of compensation. In the case in hand as well, notification dated 18.06.2015 has been issued for laying transmission line on the route as mentioned herein.

13. As has been observed in a judgment by the Division bench of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court in Vivek Brajendra Singh v. State of Government of Maharashtra and ors 2012 (4) BCR 116, there is no hearing contemplated against laying of lines. A decision to mark route for laying electric line is a highly specialized and technical. The route may be running into hundreds of kilometers passing through land owned by different owners and it may not be possible to offer hearing to all the owners, as only right to use small-small of portions of land on which towers or occupiers of the land on the route to suggest alternates. If that process is adopted, the project will never be completed as any such decision would be subject to judicial review and the State or its functionaries may not be avle to provide infrastructure. Andhra Pradesh High Court in G.V.S. Rama Krishna and ors v. A. P. Transco and others, AIR 2009 AP 158, clearly laid down that the only right available to landowners is to receive compensation and damages, if any, sustained by them, as neither there is acquisition of land nor there is any need of consent of the owners or occupiers. Even in Power Grid Corporation of India Limited v. Century Textiles & Industries Limited and others, AIR 2017 SC, 1141 Hon'ble the Supreme Court had not interfered in the process of laying of power lines.

14. For the reasons stated above, in my opinion the application filed by the Corporation deserves to be allowed. The application is, accordingly, allowed. The interim stay granted on 15.10.2018 is vacated.

10. For the reasons stated above and the law laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court, in our opinion, the present PIL is devoid of merit. The same is, accordingly, dismissed.

(A) Civil Law - U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act , 1972 - Section 30 - The post office Act,1898 - section 27 - gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post , Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 114 - enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee , Code of Civil Procedure ,1908 - Order XV Rule 5 - Striking off defence for failure to deposit admitted rent, etc. (Para -24)

Revisionists-defendants challenged judgment and decree - on four grounds - maintainability of suit, rate of rent, no proper notice and communication of sale deed.(Para -3)

(B) Civil Law - maintainability of suit - Court record findings only on the issues which are part of the pleadings - on which parties are contesting the case - Resolution of Board of Director has been passed or not, is the question of fact and can only be replied if it is raised in the pleadings - held - without pleadings revisionists-defendants cannot take benefit of maintainability of the SCC suit. (Para - 19)

(C) Civil Law - rate of rent - acceptance of change of landlordship and continuation of tenancy with new landlord - impliedly said that applicant was having full knowledge about the enhanced rent at the rate of Rs. 6600/- per month – held - It is nothing, but an attempt to any how continue the tenancy by getting the SCC suit prolonged or dismissed on a frivolous ground. (Para -22)

(D) Civil Law - service of notice and examination of postman in court - held - once the requirement of Section 27 of the Post Office Act has been complied with and endorsement has been made by the postman with regard to service of notice - there is no requirement to examine the postman in Court. (Para -25)

(E) Civil Law - Improper communication of sale deed - notice properly served - revisionists-defendants accepted change of landlordship in their written statements - payment of Rs. 32/- per month under Section 30 Act - clearly shows that they are having full knowledge of change of landlordship after receiving the notice - admitted the same in their written statements - held - Once they have knowledge of change of landlordship, that cannot be without having knowledge of sale deed.(Para -26)

HELD:-No good ground/reason for interference in the impugned judgement and order. (Para - 27)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard Sri Tejasvi Misra, learned counsel for the revisionists-defendants and Sri Atul Dayal, learned senior counsel assisted by Sri Hanuman Kinkar, learned counsel for the respondent-plaintiff.

2. Present revision has been filed challenging the impugned judgment and order dated 18.12.2021 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, (Anti-Corruption), Court No. 5, Gorakhpur in SCC Suit No. 15/2011 (Pashupati Colonizer Private Limited Vs. Smt. Kaisar Jahan and 11 others).

3. Learned counsel for the revisionists-defendants has challenged the judgment and decree basically on four grounds i.e. maintainability of suit, rate of rent, no proper notice and communication of sale deed.

4. So far as maintainability of suit is concerned, he submitted that respondent-plaintiff is a Private Limited Company, therefore, to initiate any legal proceeding, resolution of Board of Director of Company is necessarily required. In the cross examination, Director of the Company, namely, Sri Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava, who has filed SCC Suit has accepted that he has not filed any resolution of Company as it was not required. There is no meeting of Board of Directors before filing the case. He next submitted that once there is no resolution, an individual Director cannot file SCC Suit for eviction against the revisionists-defendants. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matter of M/s. Dale & Carrington Invt. (P) Ltd. & Another Vs. P.K. Prathapan & others; 2005 0 AIR (SC), in which Apex Court has observed that individual Director has no power to act on behalf of the Company.

5. Learned counsel for the revisionists-defendants submitted that it is a question of law, which goes to the root of the case, therefore, it can be raised at any stage of proceeding. In support of his contention, he placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matter of Shri Saurav Jain & Another Vs. M/s A.B.P. Design & Another passed in Civil Appeal No. 4448 of 2021 arising out of SLP (C) No. 29868 of 2018.

6. He next submitted that respondent-plaintiff is claiming the rent at the rate of Rs. 6600/- per month, but at no point of time, it has been proved and according to the revisionists-defendants, rent was Rs. 32/- per month, which has been deposited till the decision of suit under Section 30 of U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act , 1972 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972). He next submitted that there is no specific finding as to how, amount of rent is Rs. 6600/- per month.

7. He further submitted that no proper notice has been given to them as notices are returned back with endorsement of postman as "बार बार जाने पर भी मकान पर ताला बंद रहता है" (Baar Baar Jaane Par Bhi Makaan Par Taala Band Rehta Hai). He next submitted that it is required on the part of plaintiff-respondent to examine the postman in Court to prove the service of notice for which no application had ever been filed by the plaintiff-respondent. Under such facts of the case, notice may not be treated to be sufficient and further postman has to be examined.

8. Lastly, he submitted that information of sale deed has never been provided to them, therefore, impugned order is bad and liable to be set aside.

9. Learned counsel for respondent-plaintiff submitted that so far as first contention with regard to maintainability of suit is concerned, it is necessarily required to raise this issue in plaint and should have been part of pleading, which has never been raised. Further, there is only vague assertion based upon the cross examinations not supported by any documentary evidence, therefore, cannot be accepted. He next submitted that it is required on the part of revisionists-defendants to have specific pleading to this effect and in lack of pleading, Court may not travel beyond that. In support of his contention, he placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matter of Shivaji Balaram Haibatti Vs. Avinash Maruthi Pawar; (2018) 11 SCC 652.

10. So far as rate of rent is concerned, he submitted that admitted rent by the revisionists-defendants was Rs. 32/- per month and they deposited the same under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 before the Court till the conclusion of this proceeding whereas as per Order XV Rule 5 of Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as "CPC, 1908"), after first appearance, it is required on the part of revisionists-defendants to deposit the amount before the Court concerned, where the suit is pending. Not only this, they have admitted the tenancy in a written statement with effect from 2011, but even though they have never deposited any amount of rent before SCC Court and they continuously deposited the amount of rent under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 before another Court. This fact is never disputed by the revisionists-defendants. Therefore, in all eventuality, they are defaulter of payment of rent either it is at the rate of Rs. 32/- per month or Rs. 6600/- per month. In support of his contention, he placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the matter of Smt. Kalawati Vs. Deen Dayal Sharma; 2018 (1) ARC 464.

11. About the service of notice upon the revisionists-defendants is concerned, he submitted that there is no dispute on the point that notice has been sent to the revisionists-defendants on the correct address, which was returned back with remark "बार बार जाने पर भी मकान पर ताला बंद रहता है" (Baar Baar Jaane Par Bhi Makaan Par Taala Band Rehta Hai). He next submitted that once notice has been sent on the correct address and returned back with endorsement of postman with aforesaid remark, same shall be treated to be sufficient. In support of his contention, he placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matters of Dharam Pal Vs. Harbans Singh; (2006) 9 SCC 216.

12. Further, he also placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matters of Ajeet Seeds Limited Vs. K. Gopala Krishnaiah; (2014) 12 SCC 685.

13. The issue of examination of postman in Court is having no force. He submitted that once notice has been sent upon the correct address, there is no requirement to examine the postman. In support of his contention, he placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the matters of P.T. Thomas Vs. Thomas Job; (2005) 6 SCC 478.

14. So far as communication of sale deed is concerned, once notice has been served, which is mentioned in plaint and also accepted by revisionists-defendants in their written statement that they are having knowledge of change of landlordship of respondent- plaintiff and paid rent at the rate of Rs. 32/- per month. It would be deemed that they are having knowledge of sale deed. Lastly, he submitted that once, they have never deposited any amount before SCC Court, admitted or not admitted, they are defaulter and liable to be vacate the house in question. Under such facts and circumstances, there is no illegality in the impugned judgment and order and same is liable to be set aside.

15. I have considered the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record as well as judgments placed by the learned counsel for the parties.

16. The first issue which was raised by the learned counsel for the revisionists-defendants about the maintainability of the suit in lack of resolution or authorization from the Board of Director and whether this question can be raised for the first time before this Court or not.

17. Learned counsel for the revisionists-defendants has placed reliance upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the matter of M/s Dale & Carrington Invt. (P) Ltd. (supra), which says that individual Director has no power to act on behalf of the Company. Relevant paragraph is quoted hereinbelow;

"At this stage it may be appropriate to consider the legal position of Directors of companies registered under the Companies Act. A company is a juristic person and it acts though its Directors who are collectively referred to as the Board of Directors. An individual Director has no power to act on behalf of a company of which he is a Director unless by some resolution of the Board of Directors of the Company specific power is given to him/her. Whatever decisions are taken regarding running the affairs of the company, they are taken by the Board of Directors. The Directors of companies have been variously described as agents, trustees or representatives, but one thing is certain that the Directors act on behalf of a company in a fiduciary capacity and their acts and deeds have to be exercised for the benefit of the company. They are agents of the company to the extent they have been authorized to perform certain acts on behalf of the company. In a limited sense they are also trustees for the shareholders of the company. To the extent the power of the Directors are delineated in the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the company, the Directors are bound to act accordingly. As agents of the company they must act within the scope of their authority and must disclose that they are acting on behalf of the company. The fiduciary capacity within which the Directors have to act enjoins upon them a duty to act on behalf of a company with utmost good faith, utmost care and skill and due diligence and in the interest of the company they represent. They have a duty to make full and honest disclosure to the shareholders regarding all important matters relating to the company. It follows that in the matter of issue of additional shares, the directors owe a fiduciary duty to issue shares for a proper purpose. This duty is owed by them to the shareholders of the company. Therefore, even though Section 81 of the Companies Act which contains certain requirements in the matter of issue of further share capital by a company does not apply to private limited companies, the directors in a private limited company are expected to make a disclosure to the shareholders of such a company when further shares are being issued. This requirement flows their duty to act in good faith and make full disclosure to the shareholders regarding affairs of a company. The acts of directors in a private limited company are required to be tested on a much finer scale in order to rule out any misuse of power for personal gains or ulterior motives. Non-applicability of Section 81 of the Companies Act in case of private limited companies casts a heavier burden on its directors. Private limited companies are normally closely held i.e. the share capital is held within members of a family or within a close knit group of friends. This brings in considerations akin to those applied in cases of partnership where the partners owe a duty to act with utmost good faith towards each other. Non-applicability of Section 81 of the Act to private companies does not mean that the directors have absolute freedom in the matter of management of affairs of the company."

18. Further in light of judgment of Apex Court in the matter of Shri Saurav Jain (supra), he submitted that it is a question of law, which can be raised at any stage as it goes to the root of the case. Relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow;-

"Based on the position of law, we find it just to allow the appellant to raise the ground of jurisdiction before us. Allowing the ground to be raised would not require the submission of additional evidence since it is a pure question of law and strikes at the heart of the matter. We shall now turn to the merits of this argument."

19. There is no dispute on the point that Director may not proceed alone on behalf of the Company. It is also undisputed that it is required on the part of revisionists-defendants to have specific pleading to this effect to provide opportunity to other side to rebut the same. In present case, undisputedly this issue has never been pleaded or raised before the Court below. The Apex Court in the matter of Shivaji Balaram Haibatti (supra) has considered this fact and clearly held that Court has to record the findings only on the issues which are part of the pleadings on which parties are contesting the case. Resolution of Board of Director has been passed or not, is the question of fact and can only be replied if it is raised in the pleadings. In the present case, this issue is based upon the cross examination of the plaintiff-respondent not supported by any documentary evidence, therefore, without pleadings revisionists-defendants cannot take benefit of maintainability of the SCC suit. Apex Court in the matter of Shivaji Balaram Haibatti (supra) has also taken the same view. Relevant paragraph of the said judgment is quoted hereinbelow;

"It is these issues, which were gone into by the two Courts and were concurrently decided by them against the respondent. These issues, in our opinion, should have been examined by the High Court with a view to find out as to whether these findings contain any legal error so as to call for any interference in second appeal. The High Court, however, did not undertake this exercise and rather affirmed these findings when it did not consider it proper to frame any substantial question of law. It is a settled principle of law that the parties to the suit cannot travel beyond the pleadings so also the Court cannot record any finding on the issues which are not part of pleadings. In other words, the Court has to record the findings only on the issues which are part of the pleadings on which parties are contesting the case. Any finding recorded on an issue de hors the pleadings is without jurisdiction. Such is the case here."

20. So far as judgment of Shri Saurav Jain (supra) is concerned, same is not applicable in the present case for the reason that revisionists-defendants have not raised any legal issue, but factual issue based upon the cross examination of plaintiff-respondent, which cannot be accepted without pleading in written statements as it was held by the Apex Court in the matter of Shivaji Balaram Haibatti (supra).

21. The second issue is about the rate of rent. The case of revisionists-defendants are that rent was Rs. 32/- per month, which they have deposited till the decision of the suit under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. If it is treated to be correct even though as provided under Order XV Rule 5 CPC after first appearance before the Court concerned or SCC Court, it is required on the part of revisionists-defendants to deposit the amount before this Court where the suit is pending, but it is admitted position that revisionists-defendants have never deposited any amount before the SCC Court, but continuously deposited the same before the Court provided under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Therefore, in light of judgment of Apex Court in the matter of Smt. Kalawati (supra), no advantage can be given to the revisionists-defendants for the very simple reason that in all eventuality after appearance in suit proceedings, current rent has to be deposited by the revisionists-defendants before the Court where the suit is pending. Relevant paragraphs of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow;-

"Similar view has been expressed by a Bench of this Court in the case of Madhu Mittal (Smt.) Vs. Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad and others, 2004 (2) ARC 326 wherein following the law laid down by the full Bench, the court held as under;

"4. The tenant started depositing rent under Section 30 of U.P. Act N. 13 of 1972 with effect from 01.07.1993 and continued to deposit the rent under Section 30 till 30.06.1995. Defendant admitted that meanwhile he received two registered notices from the landlord dated 27/30 January 1994 demanding the rent. In spite of the said notices, defendant continued to deposit the rent under Section 30 of the Act. The defendant did not deposit any rent in the suit. The suit was ultimately decreed on 30.01.1996 by J.S.C.C. Tenant-respondent no. 2 filed a revision against the judgment and decree passed by the trial court under Section 25 P.S.C.C. Act being S.C.C. Revision No. 60 of 1996. Vth Addl. District Judge, Ghaziabad through judgment and decree dated 19.03.1997, allowed the revision, set aside the judgment and decree passed by the trial court and dismissed the suit. The Revisional Court placing reliance upon, 1986 All. C.J. 782 (Gyanendra Lal and another Vs. Vishnu Narain Mishra) held that even after filing of the suit for ejectment tenant had two options, one deposit of rent under Section 30 of the Act and second; deposit of rent in court where suit for ejectment was filed. The writ petition is directed against the aforesaid judgment and order of revisional court.

5. It has been held in Full Bench Authority of this Court reported in 2000 (1) ARC 653, that deposit of rent under Section 30 of Act, after receiving notice of demand, is not permissible and any such deposit, if made, will not be of any benefit of the tenant. The tenant will have to be treated defaulter in payment of rent for the period subsequent to the receipt of notice given by landlord intimating his intention to receive the rent directly.

6. Accordingly, I hold deposit of rent made by the tenant after receipt of notice dated 27/30 January 1994 was not permissible and the said deposit cannot be said to be payment to the landlord. The tenant was defaulter when the suit was filed and the trial court rightly decreed the suit. In view of the above, I hold that the judgment passed by the revisional court is patently erroneous in law."

(Emphasis supplied by me)

Thus, the deposit of rent under Section 30 of the Act after receiving of notice of demand, is not permissible and any such deposit, if made will not be of any benefit to the tenant. The tenant will have to be treated as defaulter in payment of rent for the period subsequent to the receipt of notice given by the landlord intimating his intention to receive the rent directly.

A careful reading of Section 20(4) of the Act/ Rule 5 of Order XV shows that in any suit by a lessor for the eviction of a lessee after the determination of the lease and for recovery of rent or compensation for use and occupation, the defendant is required to deposit at or before the first hearing of suit, the entire amount admitted by him to be due together with interest thereon at the rate of 9% per annum and whether or not he admits any amount to be due, he shall throughout the continuation of the suit regularly, deposit the monthly amount due within a week from the date of its accrual, and in the event of any default in making the deposit of the entire amount admitted by him to be due or the monthly amount due as aforesaid, the Court may, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2) strike off his defence. The expression "entire amount admitted to be due" means the entire gross amount, whether as rent or compensation for use and occupation, calculated at the admitted rate of rent for the admitted period of arrears after making no other deduction except the taxes, if any, paid to a local authority in respect of the building on lessor's account and the amount, if any, deposited in any Court under Section 30 of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. As per Explanation 3, the expression "monthly amount due" means the amount due every month, whether as rent or compensation for use and occupation at the admitted rate of rent, after making no other deduction except the taxes, if any, paid to a local authority, in respect of the building on lessor's account. The admitted rate of rent is Rs.200/- per month which was payable to the plaintiff-respondent. The petitioner-defendant was liable to deposit the entire amount at the first hearing and was also liable to continue to deposit the monthly rent in time from month to month. The aforesaid provision is a beneficial provision and if the petitioner defendant wanted to take its advantage then he must have strictly complied with the requirement of the aforesaid provision.

A clear cut statutory provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act leads to an inescapable and irresistible conclusion that the petitioner-defendant/ tenant was under statutory obligation to deposit the entire amount of rent and damages for use and occupation of the building due from him together with interest thereon @ 9% per annum and landlord's costs of the suit in respect thereof, at first date of hearing of the suit, after deducting there from any amount already deposited by him under Section 30(1) of the Act, if he desired to take benefit of the beneficial provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act. The tenant can deduct the amount deposited under Section 30 of the Act but the deposits of the monthly amount after the first hearing and throughout the continuation of the suit must be made in the court where the suit has been filed for eviction and recovery of rent or compensation for use and occupation. Amount, if any, deposited by petitioner-defendant/tenant under Section 30 of the after the first hearing of the suit cannot be deducted for the purposes of benefit of the provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act. If the defendant wishes to take advantage of the beneficial provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act, he must strictly comply with the requirements and if any condition precedent is to be fulfilled before the benefit can be claimed, he must comply with that condition, failing which, he cannot take advantage of the benefit conferred by the provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act.

If the tenant wishes to take advantage of the beneficial provisions of the Rent Control Act, he must strictly comply with the requirements and if any condition precedent is to be fulfilled before the benefit can be claimed, he must strictly comply with the condition failing which, he can not take advantage of the benefit conferred by such a provision. It has been further emphasized that the rent must be deposited in the court where it is required to be deposited under the Rent Control Act and if it is deposited somewhere else, it shall not be treated as a valid payment/tender of the rent and consequently, the tenant must be held to be in default."

22. It is undisputed that applicant is having full knowledge of change of landlordship and it cannot be believed that second purchaser (respondent-plaintiff) after a very long time shall maintain the same rent, which was earlier fixed by the previous landlord i.e. Rs. 32/- per month. The acceptance of change of landlordship and continuation of tenancy with new landlord impliedly said that applicant was also having full knowledge about the enhanced rent at the rate of Rs. 6600/- per month. It is nothing, but an attempt to any how continue the tenancy by getting the SCC suit prolonged or dismissed on a frivolous ground.

23. So far as issue with regard to service of notice and examination of postman in court are concerned, there is no dispute on the point that notice has been returned back with the remark as "बार बार जाने पर भी मकान पर ताला बंद रहता है" (Baar Baar Jaane Par Bhi Makaan Par Taala Band Rehta Hai). In light of judgment of Apex Court in the matter of Dharam Pal (supra) & Ajeet Seeds Limited (supra), it is settled proposition of law that in such circumstances notice has to be treated sufficient and this cannot be ground for which benefit may be given to the revisionists-defendants. In the matter of Dharam Pal (supra), Apex Court has taken the same view and relevant paragraph of the same is quoted hereinbelow;-

"Learned counsel for the appellant submits that none of the two recitals contained in the notice can fulfill the requirement of Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act. One recital in the notice terminates the tenancy from the date of issue of notice. The other one requires the tenant to vacate the premises within 15 days from the date of the receipt of the notice. Both are bad in the light of the requirements spelled out by the Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act. The learned counsel seems to be right in urging the pleas. However, still we feel that the appellant cannot be allowed relief. Law is well settled that an objection as to the invalidity or insufficiency of notice under Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act should be specifically raised in the written statement failing which it will be deemed to have been waived. In the present case, the only objection taken in the written statement is that the notice issued by the plaintiff was "illegal, null and void and ineffective upon the right of the defendant". The thrust of the plea raised by the defendant-appellant in his written statement was that the notice was issued by the person who did not have the authority from the landlord to give the notice. The plea so taken has been found devoid of merit by the High Court and the courts below. The plea that the notice was insufficient in the sense and it did not give 15 clear days to the tenant to vacate or that the notice did not terminate the tenancy with the expiry of the month of the tenancy, has not been taken in the written statement."

24. Again, Apex Court in the matter of Ajeet Seeds Limited (supra), reiterated the same view and relevant paragraph of the same is quoted hereinbelow;-

"This Court then explained the nature of presumptions under Section 114 of the Evidence Act and under Section 27 of the GC Act and pointed out how these two presumptions are to be employed while considering the question of service of notice under Section 138 of the NI Act. The relevant paragraphs read as under:

"13. According to Section 114 of the Act, read with Illustration (f) thereunder, when it appears to the Court that the common course of business renders it probable that a thing would happen, the Court may draw presumption that the thing would have happened, unless there are circumstances in a particular case to show that the common course of business was not followed. Thus, Section 114 enables the Court to presume the existence of any fact which it thinks likely to have happened, regard being had to the common course of natural events, human conduct and public and private business in their relation to the facts of the particular case. Consequently, the court can presume that the common course of business has been followed in particular cases. When applied to communications sent by post, Section 114 enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. But the presumption that is raised under Section 27 of the G.C. Act is a far stronger presumption. Further, while Section 114 of Evidence Act refers to a general presumption, Section 27 refers to a specific presumption. For the sake of ready reference, Section 27 of G.C. Act is extracted below:

"27. Meaning of service by post.- Where any Central Act or regulation made after the commencement of this Act authorizes or requires any document to be served by post, whether the expression "serve' or either of the expressions "give' or "send' or any other expression is used, then, unless a different intention appears, the service shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, pre-paying and posting by registered post, a letter containing the document, and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post".

14. Section 27 gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post. In view of the said presumption, when stating that a notice has been sent by registered post to the address of the drawer, it is unnecessary to further aver in the complaint that in spite of the return of the notice unserved, it is deemed to have been served or that the addressee is deemed to have knowledge of the notice. Unless and until the contrary is proved by the addressee, service of notice is deemed to have been effected at the time at which the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of business. This Court has already held that when a notice is sent by registered post and is returned with a postal endorsement "refused' or "not available in the house' or "house locked' or "shop closed' or "addressee not in station', due service has to be presumed. [Vide Jagdish Singh Vs. Natthu Singh (1992) 1 SCC 647; State of M.P. Vs. Hiralal & Ors. (1996) 7 SCC 523 and V.Raja Kumari Vs. P.Subbarama Naidu & Anr. (2004) 8 SCC 74] It is, therefore, manifest that in view of the presumption available under Section 27 of the Act, it is not necessary to aver in the complaint under Section 138 of the Act that service of notice was evaded by the accused or that the accused had a role to play in the return of the notice unserved."

It is thus clear that Section 114 of the Evidence Act enables the Court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. Section 27 of the GC Act gives rise to a presumption that service of notice has been effected when it is sent to the correct address by registered post. It is not necessary to aver in the complaint that in spite of the return of the notice unserved, it is deemed to have been served or that the addressee is deemed to have knowledge of the notice. Unless and until the contrary is proved by the addressee, service of notice is deemed to have been effected at the time at which the letter would have been delivered in the ordinary course of business."

25. Revisionists-defendants have raised issue about the examination of postman regarding the notice has been served at the correct address or not. This issue has also been considered by the Apex Court in the matter of P.T. Thomas (supra), which has held that under such circumstances once the requirement of Section 27 of the Post Office Act has been complied with and endorsement has been made by the postman with regard to service of notice, there is no requirement to examine the postman in Court. Relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgment is quoted below;-

"The High Court, in our view, has also misinterpreted Section 27 of the Post Office Act. The requirement of Section has been complied with in this case. The reasoning of the High Court on this issue is not correct and not in accordance with factual position. In the notice issued, the Postman has made the endorsement. This presumption is correct in law. He had given notice and intimation. Nevertheless, the respondent did not receive the notice and it was returned unserved. Therefore, in our view, there is no obligation cast on the appellant to examine the Postman as assumed by the High Court. The presumption under Section 114 of the Evidence Act operates apart from that under the Post Office Act, 1898. "

26. The last issue raised by the revisionists-defendants is improper communication of sale deed. This cannot be accepted for the reason that notice has properly been served, revisionists-defendants have accepted the change of landlordship in their written statements and also payment of Rs. 32/- per month under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. It clearly shows that they are having full knowledge of change of landlordship after receiving the notice and admitted the same in their written statements. Once they have knowledge of change of landlordship, that cannot be without having knowledge of sale deed, therefore, this cannot also be ground for interference by this Court.

27. Therefore, under such facts of the case and law laid down by the Courts, I found no good reason to interfere in the impugned judgment and order. Revision lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed. No order as to costs.

Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 254, 256, 262, 263, 264, 265 and 378(4) - Indian Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 - Section 138, 143, 145: - Application to grant 'Special Leave to Appeal' – Rejection of a Complaint case in a summery trial by invoking provisions of Summon trial – Court below travelled beyond its jurisdiction – Application allowed – impugned judgment & order set aside - Trial court directed to proceed accordingly. (Para – 15, 17, 18, 19, 21)

Application (U/s 378) is allowed, judgment and order of Trial court is set aside. (E-11)

List of Cases cited: -

1. Suo Moto WP (Criminal) No. 2/2020 Decided on 16.04.2021,

2. Pooja Sharma Vs Suresh Kumar, Criminal Appeal No. 469 of 2018 decided on 04.01.2019

3. C.K. Sivaraman Achari Vs D.K. Agarwall & ors., 1978 CriLJ 1376

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rama Pati Shukla, learned counsel for the applicant/appellant, Sri Anirudh Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A.-I for the State, and perused the record.

2. This application has been filed with the prayer to grant Special Leave to Appeal, which is sought to be preferred against the order dated 23rd of December 2021 passed by the Additional Court, Faizabad whereby the Complaint Case No. 222 of 2021 filed by the complainant under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as 'the N.I. Act'), Police Station Kotwali Ayodhya, District Faizabad was rejected.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that legal question is involved in the matter as to whether the Magistrate, while invoking the provision under Section 138 and 143 of the N.I. Act can proceed matter as a summon trial. Further whether Section 256 of the Indian Penal Code can be invoked without assigning reasons while proceeding with the summary trial under Section 143 of the N.I. Act.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the Court cannot proceed under Section 256 as the order impugned dated 23rd of December 2021 has been passed invoking the jurisdiction under Section 256 of the I.P.C. whereas the matter is to proceed as summary trial and the same will proceed as per the provisions of Section 262 to 265 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

5. Considering the aforesaid provisions as well as going through the record, it is evident that a pure legal question is involved in this matter and, prima facie, it seems that the Magistrate has wrongly invoked the jurisdiction under Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. In such view of the matter, the application of the applicant with the prayer to grant leave to appeal under Section 378 (4) of the Cr.P.C. is hereby allowed.

6. Leave to appeal is granted.

7. The factual matrix of the case is that Complaint Case No. 222 of 2021, Lal Chandra Shukla Vs. Rajdev, under Section 138 of the N.I. Act was filed on the ground that in the month of January 2015, an amount of Rs.20 lakhs was taken by the accused-respondent no.2 as debt and respondent no.2 promised that he will return the aforesaid debt amount within a period of one year. The said amount was not returned to the appellant within the time as was promised by the respondent no.2.

8. The appellant, when asked about repayment of the aforesaid debt, the respondent no.2 issued two cheques (bearing nos. 666167 and 666168) each for an amount of Rs.10 lakhs of his Account No.10294106494 of State Bank of India, Branch Faizabad, District Faizabad (now Ayodhya). On receiving the aforesaid cheques, the appellant presented the same on 1st/2nd of February 2017 in his bank account of Bank of Baroda, U.P. Gramin Bank, Ayodhya. On the aforesaid presentation of the cheques, the bank informed the appellant on 4th of February 2017 that those cheques issued by the respondent no.2 were dishonoured due to insufficient fund in the account of the respondent no.2. On receiving the aforesaid information, the appellant sent notice under Section 138 of the N.I. Act to the respondent no.2, which he has refused to receive.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, the appellant presented the appeal before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, District Faizabad, which was transferred for hearing to the Additional Court.

10. After the institution of the aforesaid case, the learned trial court taking the recourse as provided under Chapter XV of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Cr.P.C.') issued summons and, after the service of summons, when the respondent no.2 did not appear before the trial court, bailable warrants were issued and, in case of non-compliance of the same, non-bailable warrants were also issued against the respondent no.2. After issuance of the aforesaid non-bailable warrant, the respondent no.2 appeared before the trial court on 7th of January 2020 and applied for bail. On such application for bail of the accused/respondent, the trial court released the respondent no.2 on bail.

11. The respondent no.2 submitted evidence by way of invoking the provision of Section 254 of the Cr.P.C. on 14th of October 2020 and, thereafter, the case was fixed on 18.11.2020 for his cross-examination. The evidence was taken on affidavit by the trial court under the provision of Section 145 of the N.I. Act.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that after release on bail, the respondent no.2 again remained absent adopting dilly dallying tactics and he did not appear on several dates, which were fixed for cross-examination. On 23rd of February 2021, non-bailable warrant was again issued and personal bond was forfeited. Later on, furnishing the personal bond on 16th of September 2021, non-bailable warrant was cancelled and the case was fixed for 28th of October 2021 wherein the respondent no.2 had again moved an application for exemption of his personal appearance.

13. He submits that it is evident from the order sheet that on 28th of October 2021, the case was directed to be listed on 16th of September 2021 which prima facie is impossible. On 16th of September 2021, there is an order that the personal appearance of the respondent no.2 is exempted and the appellant has been shown as absent on that date, and the case was posted for 23rd of September 2021 on which date the respondent no.2 and the appellant both have been shown absent though the presence of the respondent no.2 was exempted through his advocate. He added that the order sheet reveals that the appellant remained present on each and every date when the case was fixed by the trial court but, at the same time, it is also evident that the respondent no.2 remained absent on many of the dates and he could appear only when the non-bailable warrant was issued and then again he absented himself.

14. He argued that in fact it seems that something has been played by the Reader of the trial court behind the back while fixing the date so as to make an illusion to the appellant. He submits that the case was fixed for cross-examination of the appellant on 28th of October 2021 on which date the appellant could not appear as wrong date was told by the Reader of the trial court, who did not show his paper book. The next date was fixed for 9th of December 2021 and the appellant could not appear on 9th of December 2021 as the same was not informed and on 9th of December 2021, date was fixed for 23rd of December 2021 when the complaint filed by the appellant was dismissed.

15. He further submits that the matter pertains to N.I. Act and in Section 143 of the N.I. Act, it has been provided that notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, all offences under this Chapter shall be tried by a Judicial Magistrate of the first class or by a Metropolitan Magistrate and the provisions of Sections 262 to 265 of the said Code shall, as far as may be, apply to such trials. He submits that in such view of the matter, the proceeding under the N.I. Act goes as per the procedure provided for summary trial. He further added that there is specific mention in the provision that if Magistrate has to alter the trial from summary trial to summon trial, he has to provide opportunity to the parties and has to record reasons. As instant case has not been converted from summary trial to summon trial, therefore, the provisions of Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. shall not attract in the instant matter. As such, the trial court has invoked the provision of the summon trial and has gone against the mandatory provision of the Act. He also added that the Section 256 of the Code provides the procedure with regard to the trial of summon cases and this could not have been invoked in case of a summary trial. He submits that since the Additional Court, Faizabad has passed the order against the procedure prescribed under the law and, as such, the same assails illegality and infirmity. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the appellant has placed reliance on the Judgment of Apex Court in Suo Motu Writ Petition (Crl.) No. 2 of 2020 decided on April 16, 2021; Judgment dated 4.1.2019 passed by the High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla in Criminal Appeal No. 469 of 2018, Pooja Sharma Vs. Suresh Kumar; and Judgment of Kerala High Court in C.K. Sivaraman Achari Vs. D.K. Agarwall and others, 1978 CriLJ 1376.

16. On the other hand, learned counsel for the State has very vehemently opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that the order passed by the Additional Court does not assail any illegality or infirmity. He submits that it seems that the appellant did not appear on several dates like 28th of October 2021, 9th of December 2021 and 13th of December 2021 and, as such, the trial court has rejected the complaint of the appellant. Learned counsel for the State has also added that in fact the Additional Court has rightly invoked the provisions of Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. as the same envisages the provision with regard to the non-appearance or death of the complainant. Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. are quoted hereunder:-

"256. Non-appearance or death of complainant.-(1) If the summons has been issued on complaint, and on the day appointed for the appearance of the accused, or any day subsequent thereto to which the hearing may be adjourned, the complainant does not appear, the Magistrate shall, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, acquit the accused, unless for some reason he thinks it proper to adjourn the hearing of the case to some other day:

Provided that where the complainant is represented by a pleader or by the officer conducting the prosecution or where the Magistrate is of opinion that the personal attendance of the complainant is not necessary, the Magistrate may dispense with his attendance and proceed with the case.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall, so far as may be, apply also to cases where the non-appearance of the complainant is due to his death."

17. Referring the aforesaid provisions, he submits that in case of non-appearance of the complainant, if the Magistrate thinks it fit, he may acquit the accused and reject the complaint. He further submits that it is wisdom of the trial court concerned to proceed in the matter as summon trial. He submits that admittedly, there is a provision in case of complaint submitted under Section 138 of the N.I. Act that the proceeding shall be carried out as per the provisions of summary trial envisaged under Section 262 to 265 of the Criminal Procedure Code but here, the trial court has passed the order dated 23rd of December 2021 invoking the provision of Section 256 of Cr.P.C. as the Section 143 of the N.I. Act itself speaks like that. He submitted that there is a proviso clause of Section 143 (1) of the N.I. Act which says that provided that when at the commencement of, or in the course of, a summary trial in this section, it appears to the Magistrate that the nature of the case is such that sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year may have to be passed or that it is, for any other reason, undesirable to try the case summarily, the Magistrate shall proceed in a manner provided in this Code. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that in fact in case of non-appearance of the appellant, the trial court has come to the conclusion to invoke jurisdiction under Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. and, as such, he has rightly proceeded to pass the impugned order dated 23rd of December 2021.

18. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of the record, I find that there is a procedure prescribed under Section 143 of the N.I. Act for proceeding in the matter as a summary trial. Further the argument, which has been raised by the learned counsel for the State that the Magistrate has invoked his jurisdiction under Section 256 of the Cr.P.C., is unsustainable as from proviso of sub Clause 1 of Section 143 of the N.I. Act, it is itself evident that the same can be invoked. The trial court shall, after hearing the parties, record an order to that effect and, in such view, the Magistrate can proceed under Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. from summary trial to summon trial.

169 It is evident from the order dated 23.12.2021 that neither the parties were heard nor any reason was recorded by the Magistrate while dismissing the complaint filed by the appellant. Further there seems to be no any provision which enables the trial court to proceed in the matter under Section 256 of the Cr.P.C. Thus, the Additional Court has travelled beyond its jurisdiction as it has invoked provisions under Section 256 while passing the order dated 23rd of December 2021.

20. This Court has also noticed the conduct of the appellant and the respondent no.2 wherein it is evident that the appellant appeared on almost all the dates fixed by the trial court whereas the respondent no.2 kept on deviating in appearance and on several occasions, when non-bailable warrants were issued against him, he appeared and thereafter again absented. It is also evident from the order dated 23rd of December 2021 that the respondent no.2 was also not present before the trial court on the date fixed.

21. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances and the law settled by the Apex Court as well as the provision envisaged under the N.I. Act as well as the Cr.P.C., I am of the view that the learned Additional Court while passing the order dated 23rd of Decmeber 2021 has travelled beyond its jurisdiction.

22. Thus, the appeal is allowed and the Judgment and order dated 23rd of December 2021 is hereby set aside.

23. The learned Trial Court is directed to proceed accordingly.

A. Tenancy Law – UP Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorized Occupants) Act, 1972 – Section 2(e) – Eviction proceeding initiated by the K.G.M. University – It's maintainability challenged on the ground of its being not coming within definition of local authority – State Govt. has control over the fund of University – Effect – Held, under Section 11 of K.G.M.U. Act, 2002 sufficient power is provided to the K.G.M.U. for raising funds by way of fees, charges etc. other than the funds provided by the State Government – K.G.M. University fulfils all the pre-requisites of the local authority as prescribed by the Supreme Court in R. C. Jain's case – It is covered by the term local authority and, therefore, provisions of U.P. Public Premises Act are applicable upon the same. (Para 15 and 17)

Writ petition dismissed (E-1)

List of Cases cited :-

1. U.O.I. & ors. Vs Sri R.C. Jain & ors. (1981) 2 SCC 308

2. Kashi Vidya Peeth Vs Motilal & ors. (1996) 10 SCC 456

3. Veermati (Smt.) Vs St. of Uttrakhand; 2008 (3) ARC 369

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Chaudhary, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Anshuman Singh, advocate for the petitioner, Sri Ajay Kumar Rai, along with Sri Shubham Tripathi, advocate for the respondent University, Ms. Priyanka Singh, Advocate holding brief of Sri Namit Sharma, advocate for respondent Nagar Nigam and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. This writ petition is filed by four petitioners challenging orders dated 21.01.2022 passed by respondent no.1 Additional City Magistrate/prescribed authority, Lucknow under the U.P. Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorized Occupants) Act, 1972 in four separate proceedings initiated against them. Orders worded same are filed collectively as annexure no. 1 to the writ petition.

3. By the impugned orders respondent no.1 has decided one of the preliminary objections raised by the petitioners before respondent no.1 with regard to maintainability of the proceedings.

4. The facts put simply are that respondent no.2 King George's Medical University (K.G.M.U.) has initiated proceedings under the U.P. Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorized Occupants) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as Public Premises Act) for eviction of the petitioners from certain shops occupied by them since long. Petitioners raised number of objections in their reply, one of them being that the proceedings under Public Premises Act are not maintainable as K.G.M.U. has no right to initiate the proceedings. The said preliminary objection is rejected by respondent no.1 holding that property held by K.G.M.U. is a public premise, hence, proceedings are maintainable. There are certain other issues also raised by the petitioner in their reply submitted before prescribed authority but since the same are not yet decided by respondent no.1, hence, are not being referred to.

5. Learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners submits that in the impugned order does not contain any reason and thus also impugned order appears to be without any application of mind. He further submits that the University is not a local body and, hence, would not be covered by Section 2(e) of the Public Premises Act, and, therefore, the property held by it is not public premises. Thus, provisions of Public Premises Act would not cover it. For the said purposes, he refers to Section 4(25) of General Clauses Act 1904 as well as to the judgment of Supreme Court passed in case of "Union of India and Others Vs. Sri R.C. Jain and Others' [(1981) 2 SCC 308].

6. Opposing the same learned counsel for respondents University submits that K.G.M.U. is a local authority and, hence, procedure provided under the Public Premises Act would be applicable. He also places reliance upon the same judgment of R.C. Jain case (supra) and also upon "Kashi Vidya Peeth Vs. Motilal and Others' reported in [(1996) 10 SCC 456] and judgment of Uttrakhand High Court passed in case of "Veermati (Smt.) Vs. State of Uttrakhand' reported in [2008 (3) ARC 369].

7. I have considered the submission of counsel for parties and perused the record with their assistance.

Section 2(e) of the U.P. Public Premises Act read as follow:-

"2(e) -"(e) "public premises" means any premises belonging to or taken on lease or requisitioned by or on behalf of the State Government, and includes any premises belonging to or taken on lease by or on behalf of -

(i) any company as defined in Section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956, in which not less than fifty-one per cent of the paid-up share capitals held by the State Government: or

(ii) any local authority; or

(iii) any Corporation (not being a company as defined in Section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956 or a local authority) owned or controlled by the State Government: or

(iv) any society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, the governing body whereof consists, under the rules or regulations of the society, wholly of public officers or nominees of the State Government or both:

and also includes, -

(i) Nazul land or any other premises entrusted to the management of local authority (including any building built with Government funds on land belonging to the State Government after the entrustment of the land to that local authority, not being land vested in or entrusted to the management of a Gaon Sabha or any other local authority, under any law relating to land tenures):

(ii) any premises acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 with the consent of the State Government for a company (as defined in that Act) and held by that company under an agreement executed under Section 41 of that Act providing for re-entry by the State Government in certain conditions:"

8. The sole dispute raised before this Court is whether K.G.M.U. would be covered within the definition of local authority under Section 2(e) (ii) of Public Premises Act. Admittedly, K.G.M.U. is a University created under the King George's Medical University Act, 2002 (U.P. Act No.8 of 2002) (K.G.M.U. Act, 2002). The term "local authority' is explained under Section 4(25) of the U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904 which reads a follow:-

"Section 4(25): "local authority" shall mean a municipal board or Nagarpalik, Nagar Mahapalika, Notified Area Committee, Town Area Committee, Zila Parishad, Cantonment Board, Kshettra Samiti, Gaon Sabha or any other authority constituted for the purpose of Local Self-Government or village administration or legally entitled to or entrusted by the State Government with the control or management of municipal or local fund;"

9. For explaining the term "local authority' both parties have relied upon the 'R.C. Jain' case. In the said case question raised was whether Delhi Development Authority would be a Local Authority for purposes of Payment of Pensions Act. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the following portion of Paragraph -1 of the judgment which reads:-

"The expression "local authority" is not defined in the Payment of Bonus Act. One must, therefore, turn to the General Clauses Act to ascertain the meaning of the expression. Section 3(31) defines Local Authority as follows:

""Local Authority'" shall mean a Municipal Committee, District Board, Body of Port Commissioners or other authority legally entitled to, or entrusted by the Government with, the control or management of a municipal or local fund."

"Local fund" is again not defined in the General Clauses Act. Though the expression appears to have received treatment in the Fundamental Rules and the Treasury Code, we refrain from borrowing the meaning attributed to the expression in those Rules as it is not a sound rule of interpretation to seek the meaning of words used in an Act, in the definition clause of other statutes. The definition of an expression in one Act must not be imported into another. "It would be a new terror in the construction of Acts of Parliament if we were required to limit a word to an unnatural sense because in some Act which is not incorporated or referred to such an interpretation is given to it for the purposes of that Act alone" (per Loreburn, L.C. in Macbeth & Co. v. Chislett [1910 AC 220 : 102 LT 82]). For the same reason we refrain from borrowing upon the definition of "local authority" in enactments such as the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871 etc. as the High Court has done."

10. Relying upon the same, learned Senior Advocate for petitioners submits that the term "local authority' cannot be borrowed or read from another act as the same has to be interpreted in reference to a particular act. However, term "local authority' including its distinctive attributes and characteristics are detailed by the Supreme Court in the "R.C. Jain' case only. Paragraph-2, 3 and 4 of the same read:-

"2. Let us, therefore, concentrate and confine our attention and enquiry to the definition of "local authority" in Section 3(31) of the General Clauses Act. A proper and careful scrutiny of the language of Section 3(31) suggests that an authority, in order to be a local authority, must be of like nature and character as a Municipal Committee, District Board or Body of Port Commissioners, possessing, therefore, many, if not all, of the distinctive attributes and characteristics of a Municipal Committee, District Board, or Body of Port Commissioners, but, possessing one essential feature, namely, that it is legally entitled to or entrusted by the government with, the control and management of a municipal or local fund. What then are the distinctive attributes and characteristics, all or many of which a Municipal Committee, District Board or Body of Port Commissioners shares with any other local authority? First, the authorities must have separate legal existence as corporate bodies. They must not be mere governmental agencies but must be legally independent entities. Next, they must function in a defined area and must ordinarily, wholly or partly, directly or indirectly, be elected by the inhabitants of the area. Next, they must enjoy a certain degree of autonomy, with freedom to decide for themselves questions of policy affecting the area administered by them. The autonomy may not be complete and the degree of the dependence may vary considerably but, an appreciable measure of autonomy there must be. Next, they must be entrusted by statute with such governmental functions and duties as are usually entrusted to municipal bodies, such as those connected with providing amenities to the inhabitants of the locality, like health and education services, water and sewerage, town planning and development, roads, markets, transportation, social welfare services etc. etc. Broadly we may say that they may be entrusted with the performance of civic duties and functions which would. otherwise be governmental duties and functions. Finally, they must have the power to raise funds for the furtherance of their activities and the fulfilment of their projects by levying taxes, rates, charges, or fees. This may be in addition to moneys provided by government or obtained by borrowing or otherwise. What is essential is that control or management of the fund must vest in the authority.

3. In Municipal Corporation of Delhi v. Birla Cotton Mills [AIR 1968 SC 1232 : (1968) 3 SCR 251, 288] Hidayatullah, J., described some of the attributes of local bodies in this manner:

"Local bodies are subordinate branches of governmental activity. They are democratic institutions managed by the representatives of the people. They function for public purposes and take away a part of the government affairs in local areas. They are political subdivisions and agencies which exercise a part of State functions. As they are intended to carry on local self-government the power of taxation is a necessary adjunct to their other powers. They function under the supervision of the government.

4. In Valjibhai Muljibhai Soneji v. State of Bombay [AIR 1963 SC 1890 : (1964) 3 SCR 686] one of the questions was whether the State Trading Corporation was a local authority as defined by Section 3(31) of the General Clauses Act, 1897. It was held that it was not, because it was not an authority legally entitled to or entrusted by the government with, control or management of a local fund. It was observed that though the corporation was furnished with funds by the government for commencing its business that would not make the funds of the corporation "local funds"."

11. A reading of the aforesaid judgment shows that a local authority would be an authority which first of all must be legally entitled or entrusted by the Government with the control and management of municipal or local fund. The other distinctive attributes and characteristics detailed in the said judgment are that the authority should have a separate independent existence and must not be a mere government agency: they must function in a defined area; they must enjoy a certain degree of autonomy i.e. it should be in a position to decide for themselves question of policy affecting the area administered by them; they must be entrusted by statute such government functions and duties as are usually entrusted to local bodies such as health, education, water sewerage, town planning and development of road, markets, transportation, social welfare etc. Broadly speaking, they must be entrusted to perform civic duties and functions which would otherwise be government duties and functions. Also, they must have the power to raise funds which may be in addition to the funds provided by the government by fees, taxes, charges or otherwise.

12. Whether a state University is having a local fund is an issue considered by the Supreme Court in case of "Kashi Vidya Peeth Vs. Motilal and Others'; [(1996) 10 SCC 456]. In the said case, the Supreme Court was considering whether Kashi Vidya Peeth would be covered by the term local authority and its fund as local fund. Paragraph-4 to 8 relevant for our purposes reads:-

"4. It is not in dispute that the establishment of university and construction of the buildings including staff quarters, hostels, playground etc. is a public purpose provided if it is done by an authority within the meaning of Section 3(31) of General Clauses Act. The main emphasis of Shri Chowdhary is that unless the authority is one that is analogous to the one like municipality, it would not be a local authority. The State has the control over the local fund held by the municipalities etc. but the funds held or controlled by the university are not under the control of the State Government and that, therefore, unless the procedure prescribed in Chapter VII of the Act is followed, it is not public purpose. We do not find the contention to be acceptable.

5. Section 4(3)(i) of the Universities Act postulates thus:

"4. (3) As from the date appointed under sub-section (2)--

(i) the society known as the Kashi Vidyapith, Varanasi shall be dissolved, and all property moveable and immovable, and rights, powers and privileges of the society shall be transferred to and vest in the University and shall be applied to the objects and purposes for which the University is established;"

6. Section 8 of the Act envisages the inspection and control over the universities and it postulates, among other things, that the State Government shall have the right to cause an inspection made by such person or persons as it may direct, of the university or any constituent college or any institute maintained by the university, including its buildings etc. to cause an enquiry made in the like manner in respect of any matters connected with the administration and finances of the university.

7. Section 33 gives power of control over the provident fund etc. of the teaching staff. Section 55(3) obligates the university to prepare annual accounts and the balance sheet duly audited which shall together with the copies of the report be submitted by the Executive Council to the court and to the State Government. Section 55(8) gives control to the State Government over the finances as well. Section 55-A gives power to impose surcharge and to take action against the erring Vice-Chancellor. It also gives power to have the control over the grants made by the State Government, Government of India or the University Grants Commission or any international organisation or any other fund by the funding authorities. It would thus be clear that the State Government has financial control over the university.

8. It is true that the university is supposed to be autonomous in its management. But the limited question that arises for consideration is whether the State has control over the funds of the university? As seen from the above provisions, the State has sufficient control over the funds to be expended by the university. Though the expenditure is to be made by the university, the funds come from the contributions made by various authorities. Under those circumstances, it is a local fund."

13. So far as the K.G.M.U. is concerned Section 25(i), 25(iv) of K.G.M.U. Act, 2002 are parallel to the Universities Act referred to in the Kashi Vidya Peeth case (supra) which reads as:-

"25- Powers and duties of Executive Council (1) The Executive Council shall be the principal executive body of the university and subject to the provisions of this Act, have the following powers, namely:

(i) to hold control of the property and funds of the University;

(iv) to administer any funds placed at the disposal of the University for specific purpose;"

14. Sections 47(2) and 47(3) of K.G.M.U. Act, 2002 provide:-

"47 (2) A copy of the annual accounts and the balance-sheet shall be submitted to the State Government which shall cause the same to be audited.

47 (3)The annual accounts and the balance sheet audited shall be printed and copies thereof shall, together with copies of the audit report, be submitted by the Executive Council to the Court and the State Government."

Therefore State Government also has control over the fund of the University. Thus, the law settled in Kashi Vidya Peeth case (supra) is squarely applicable to KG.M.U. and it can be safely held that the fund held by the K.G.M.U. is local fund.

15. So far as other attributes of local body are concerned, Section 11 of K.G.M.U. Act, 2002 confers all powers with regard to teaching, research and advancement and dissemination of knowledge, admitting students and awarding them degrees, diplomas, certificates etc. and other similar and connected activities including to fix and collect fees and other charges as well as power for management and treatment of the patient in its hospitals and all other incidental things to their power in the field specified. Both Education and health are services required to be provided by the local authority. Therefore, the K.G.M.U. is providing essential civil duties and functions required to be provided by the Government through local authorities. Under Section 11 of K.G.M.U. Act sufficient power is also provided to the K.G.M.U. for raising funds by way of fees, charges etc. other than the funds provided by the State Government. As discussed above it can safely be said that K.G.M.U. fulfils all the pre-requisites of the local authority as prescribed by the Supreme Court in the case of R.C. Jain (supra).

16. In Veermati (Smt.) case (supra) reported in [(2008) 3 ARC 369], the same issue, i.e., whether the University is a local authority or not with regard to U.P. Public Premises Act, 1972 came up for consideration before Uttarakhand high court. The court after a detailed discussion held that:-

"11. In view of the discussion above, I hold that the approach of the learned District Judge that the University is a local authority and the premises in question owned by Kumaon University are the public premises is correct. The contention of the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the provisions of the Act are not applicable to the case at hand is not acceptable. To my mind the case law, (1998) 3 SCC 530: (AIR 1998 SC 1125), does not help the petitioner. The findings recorded by the learned District Judge on this score do not call for any interference in writ jurisdiction by this Court."

17. In view thereof, it is held that K.G.M.U. is covered by the term local authority and, therefore, provisions of U.P. Public Premises Act are applicable upon the same.

18. Therefore, no interference with the impugned order is called for.

19. The writ petition lacks on merits and the same is dismissed.

A. Education Law – University Grant Commission Act, 1956 – UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phill./Ph.D. Degrees) Regulations, 2016 – Research Eligibility Test – Applicability of Regulation on State Universities – Regulations outlined by the University Grants Commission are obligatory upon all the State Universities and Institution through the Republic – However, in view of the decree of the Apex Court in the case of Kalyani Mathivanan, it is vibrant that unless or until, any procedures enclosed by the UGC are espoused and instigated by the State Legislation, the same will be relatively mandatory and will be comparatively directory. (Para 24)

B. Education Law – UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phill./Ph.D. Degrees) Regulations, 2016 – Deen Dayal Upadhya, Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance 2018 – Cancellation of admission on the ground of non-fulfillment of Clause 3.1 (b), which provide that only those candidates will be qualified for admission in Ph.D. Course, who fortified second division marks in undergraduate course – Legality of clause 3.1 (b) challenged – Held, Clause 3.1 (b) being in consonance with the regulations framed by the UGC and not in violation of the same, is not foist or incompatible to the regulations outlined by the UGC – University has not committed any illicitness or aberration in cancelling the admission of the petitioners. (Para 24, 25 and 27)

C. Education Law – Cancellation of admission – Doctrine of estoppels – Applicability – Held, question of application of estoppel against Statute/Public Policy does not arise, as the Ordinance, 2018 outlined by the respondent-University has a statutory dynamism and the respondent-University cannot be constrained to take admission of a student against the qualifications prescribed in statutes. (Para 29)

D. Jurisprudence – Rule of equity – Applicability – Role of the court – Equity can supplement to but cannot supplant the statutory provisions and if any room is given for impartiality or compassion, the recruitment rules would become nugatory and field would be left open for nepotism. Thus, it is not permissible to bend the law for adjusting equity – The Courts and Tribunals, while dealing with the statutory provisions, should not be channelled with altruistic contemplation and emotional appeal for the reason that if Courts advance on these basis, it would amount to fluctuating or modifying the statutory provisions or necessities of law (Para 32)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Sanjeev Singh and Mr. Suresh Bahadur Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners, Mr. Rohit Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent-University and Dr. Amar Nath Singh, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. Primarily this writ petition has been filed by the petitioners for the ensuing relief:

"(a). Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari calling for the records and quashing the impugned decision dated 15.01.2021 taken by the High Level Deans Advisory Committee as well as the impugned notification dated 16.01.2021 issued by the respondent nos. 2 and 3 (Annexure No. 7 to the writ petition);

(b). Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent University to allow the petitioners to continue with their Ph.D. Course Programme in view of their admissions already granted;

(c). to issue such other and further appropriate writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case;

(d). to award the cost of petition in favour of the petitioner."

3. Consequently, an amendment application has been filed on behalf of the petitioners in the contemporaneous writ petition for pursuing auxiliary relief, on which following order was passed by the Court on 5th August, 2021:-

*"Re: C.M. Amendment Application No.02 of 2021

Heard.

Amendment application is allowed.

Learned counsel for the petitioners is directed to carry out necessary amendment within three days.

Re: Writ Petition

As per the amendment, vires of Clause 3.1 (b) of Deen Dayal Upadhyay, Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree-P.hd.) has been challenged, learned counsel for University as well as learned Standing Counsel representing the State are granted three weeks' time to file counter affidavit. Rejoinder affidavit, if any, may be filed within one week thereafter.

List this matter after four weeks."

Pursuant to the above order, learned counsel for the petitioners has sought following prayer:

"ia). to issue a writ, order or direction that Clause 3.1 (b) of Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree Ph.D) be declared, as ultra-vires and for the same reasons, be quashed only to the extent that it prescribes the minimum marks of second division under graduate degree for becoming eligible to qualify admission to its Ph.D. Course (Annexure-8 to the writ petition)."

4. As the rudimentary realities and the permissible facets intricate are indistinguishable in both the writ petitions, they have been amalgamated and heard together and are being decided by this conjoint verdict. The particulars chronicled in Writ -C No. - 4529 of 2021 (Ms. Suneeta Bharti and 3 Others Versus State Of U.P. And 2 Others) are being canned to be the leading case.

5. According to the petitioners, the realistic milieu of the case is as follows:

Petitioners belong to District Gorakhpur. They being prospective candidates were pursuing admission in Pre-Ph.D. Course for the Session 2019-2020 of which advertisement/news item was issued by the Deen Dayal Upadhyay University, Gorakhpur (for short "respondent-University"). The said news item/advertisement contained the broad-spectrum rules and directives issued by the University with regard to the Research Eligibility Test (RET) for the session 2018-2019, in which some conditions existed for the Session 2019-2020 as well. The said general rule and instructions were issued in light of the Ordinance-2018 issued by the respondent-University orchestrated under its first Statutes. The said general rules and instructions also enclosed the examination schedule for the Pre Ph.D. course for which, time schedule for online application being filled up, was from 4th January, 2019 and the same was to come to an end on 25th January, 2019. The examination was to be held in the second and third week of month of February, 2019. The academic minutiae are mirrored in the application forms of the petitioners, which encompasses the percentage obtained in undergraduate and post-graduate examinations. Petitioner no.1 had applied for the Pre Ph.D. course in the subject of Hindi, petitioner no.2 in the subject of Mathematics, petitioner no.3 in the subject of Commerce and petitioner no.4 in the subject of Sanskrit, respectively.

Clause 5 B (ब) of the general rule and instructions lays down that a candidate seeking admission in the Ph.D. Course will be eligible only if he/she has notched second division marks in undergraduate course 'or' the appropriateness laid by the University Grants Commission (hereinafter referred to in short, 'UGC') issued from time to time, which thus, makes a candidate eligible for the said course, who accomplishes either of the same.

It is the case of the petitioners that since they satisfied the minimum eligibility laid by the UGC in its notifications dated 5th May, 2016 and 28th August, 2018 known as "University Grants Commission (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phil/Ph.D Degrees), Regulations, 2016 (herein after referred to as the "Regulations, 2016") and its (1st Amendment) Regulations, 2018, were, thus, eligible as per its qualifications.

Clause-3 of the Regulations, 2016 lays down the eligibility benchmarks for admission to Ph.D programme.

Clause 2 of the Regulations, 2016 read with first amendment, 2018 lays down that a candidate is eligible for admission to Ph.D. programme, if he/she scores second division marks in post-graduate level, as such, if he or she has scored less than 2nd division marks in undergraduate course then also is eligible for admission in the course.

Further, it is the case of the petitioners that in view of the eligibility laid down by the UGC vide their Regulations, the petitioners were settled admission in the Ph.D. Course on the metier of their having attained second division marks in post-graduate course, as they had not scored second division marks in their undergraduate course. The UGC Regulations, which was amended in 2018, exist as on date, as per the superlative acquaintance/information of the petitioners to stipulate the eligibility of the candidate seeking admission in Ph.D. Programme Course to possess second division marks in undergraduate course, which limits the same having scored only in post graduate course itself and not otherwise. The examination for the pre Ph.D. Course to be held by the University could not be held in the month of February, 2019 and the same was held in the first week of March, 2019. After result being avowed in the month of May, 2019, interviews were held in the month of July and August, 2019 for each and every department individually, as per their expediency. After the result of the interview, on deposit of the requisite fees, which, in the facts of the present case, were deposited by the petitioners in the month of February, 2020, the candidates including the petitioners were granted admission, and the curriculums started subsequently. The copies of the eligibility certificates and attendance sheets have been enclosed as Annexure-4 to the writ petition.

According to the petitioners, the Pre-Ph.D. Course Examination was scheduled to be held in the month of March-April, 2021 and the students, who pass the said examination, would have been granted admission in regular Ph.D. Course, which is of approximately 3 to 4 years. However, due to the Pandemic (Covid-19), the course was disordered and the same recommenced in the third quarter of year 2020. Further vide office order dated 24.11.2020 issued by the Registrar, on the application of the Ph.D. Course students and also in view of the order of the Vice-Chancellor dated 10.11.2020, a committee of four members was established under the Chairmanship of Professor Dwarika Nath, Head of Philosophy Department along with 3 other members. The said committee acquiesced its report dated 03.12.2020 with unblemished endorsement that the UGC Regulations, 2016 should be made germane, taking into contemplation the interest of the students as well as the prosperity of the area, society and the University as a whole. However, flouting the recommendation of the Committee dated 03.12.2020 (without any reasons recorded), the Vice-Chancellor, under his Chairmanship, held a meeting on 15.01.2021 of the High Level Deans Advisory Committee, in which a pronouncement was taken that the students having enrolled in the Ph.D. Programme Course, in defilement of the Ordinance-2018, their admissions stand negated, without affording any opportunity to them. The said impugned pronouncement of the High Level Deans Advisory Committee dated 15.01.2021, has not been provided to the petitioners, as such, the same has not been conveyed on record before this Court. In the said meeting of the High Level Deans Advisory Committee dated 15.01.2021, it was also determined that the prospective students, seeking admission in the Ph.D. Programme Course and who do not possess the minimum eligibility, as per the Ordinance-2018, should not be granted admission, in the said course, if not granted till date. Further, it was also resolved that persons accountable, for such admissions, should be held answerable and explanation and clarification should be sought from them. In light of the decision of the High Level Deans Advisory Committee dated 15.01.2021, the impugned notification dated 16.01.2021 has been issued by the Registrar, after which, the admissions granted to the petitioners stood cancelled, a copy of which has been enclosed as Annexure No. 7 to the writ petition.

6. It is appurtenant to remark here that the general rules and instructions mentioned in the news item/advertisement, which was issued by the respondent-University for Pre Ph.D. Course for the Session-2019-2020 pursuant to which the petitioners applied with regard to Research Eligibility Test of the session 2018-2019, are in light of the Deen Dayal Upadhyay Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018 and also in light of the report of a Four Members' Committee of the respondent-University dated 3rd December, 2020, which was instituted under the Chairmanship of Professor Dwarika Nath, Head of Philosophy Department, by the order of the Vice-Chancellor of the respondent-University dated 10th November, 2020. The said four Members' Committee in the said report has recommended that the UGC Regulations, which are relevant and instigated, should be made applicable taking into consideration the interest of the students. The copies of the order of the Vice-Chancellor and the report of the said Committee have been enclosed as Annexure Nos. 5 and 6 to the writ petition.

7. It would be efficacious to reproduce relevant paragraphs of the report of the said Committee, which read as follows:

"1. यह कि, की विश्वविद्यालय में लागू वर्तमान शोध अध्यादेश 2018 (पी.एच.डी. शोध उपाधि के लिये न्यूनतम मापदंड एवं प्रक्रिया) के बिंदु संख्या 3.1 ब में उल्लेखित है "स्नातक स्तर पर द्वितीय श्रेणी अथवा विश्वविद्यालय अनुदान आयोग द्वारा समय.समय पर लागू नियमों के अनुसार प्राप्तांक होना आवश्यक होगा।" (प्रतिलिपि संलग्न)-01

8. Primarily, the existent writ petition has been paraded for quelling the impugned decision dated 15.01.2021 of the High Level Deans Advisory Committee as well as the queried notification dated 16.01.2021 on the ground that the same are in teeth of the Research Eligibility Test general rule and instructions issued in regards to Ph.D. Course Programme by the respondent-University as well as the Regulations issued in this esteem from time to time by the UGC, thus, rendering the same pertinacious as well as fallacious. It has also been itemized in the writ petition that the assailed decision as well as the notification is tangibly proscribed and capricious on the part of the respondent-University. as the same is antagonistic to the UGC Regulations.

9. As the amendment application was filed subsequently, whereby Clause 3.1 (b) of Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree Ph.D) is being confronted, hence, during the progression of argument, succeeding questions have arisen before this Court, which are germane for determining both the writ petitions:-

10. Issue No.1:

(i) Whether the Regulations edged by the UGC are binding upon any State University of India?

(ii) Whether the minimum qualification prearranged by the respondent-University for expansion of edification upto graduate level for Pre-Ph.D./Ph. D. Course is divergent to the Regulations framed by the UGC?

(iii) Where the Regulations framed by the UGC mentioning the minimum qualifications upto Graduate Level for any course or degree is silent, then the Ordinance outlined by a University counseling minimum qualifications shall triumph over the Regulations of the UGC or not?

(iv) Whether the Ordinance mounted by the respondent-University prescribing minimum qualification upto and under-graduate level is in congruence with the Regulations framed by the UGC?

Issue no.2:

Can the petitioners, who have applied for Pre-Ph.D./Ph.D. degree course, with open eyes, contest the vires of the Ordinance, wherein the minimum qualification for Pre-Ph.D./Ph.D. course is prescribed, after their admissions being found illegitimate and conflicting to the conditions declared in the Advertisement/news item read with Clause-3 (1) (b) of the Ordinance of University,

Issue no.3:

Whether the University can terminate the admission of the petitioners after some epoch of interval on the liability of its own officials/officers?

Issue no.4:

Whether UGC Regulations-2016 and 2018 have been embraced by the State Government?

Apart from the above, learned counsel for the petitioners has also raised an issue, that principle of estoppels and acquiescence will apply against the University in the actualities of the present case.

11. Respective Submissions:

In sustenance of the relief, as prayed for in the present writ petition as well as on the issues referred to above, learned counsel for the petitioners have advanced his submissions, which are as follows:

(i) The petitioners had secured admissions in pre-Ph.D. Course for the Session 2019-2020 after appearing in the written examination charted by interview, as such, they had qualified the rigorous assessment undertaken by the respondent-University for the said course.

(ii) The petitioners had also undergone classes, which is patent from the attendance sheets, a copy of which has been enclosed as Annexure-4 to the writ petition.

(iii) Certainly, the petitioners were not 2nd Division in undergraduate course, which was the per-requisite, as per the Ordinance-2018 but the UGC Regulations, in this regard, were silent and as they had appeared in the examination piloted by the respondent-University by no deception or caricature on their part, as their applications divulged having obtained 3rd Division in undergraduate examination, as such, now the respondent-University cannot cancel their admission after such a long interval, which will amount to taking the catbird seat or advantage of the wrong perpetrated by them and the petitioners are at no accountability (also in the event that till date no action has been taken against any of the officials of the respondent-University).

(iv) Further, the norm of estoppels and acquiescence will also apply against the University.

(v) Further, the Ordinance-2018, which fixes second division to be scored by a candidate in under-graduate course for seeking admission to the Ph.D. Course is, thus, haphazard and unconscionable.

Further, the said fixation has no nexus to the object sought to be realized, rather it defeats, as the petitioners are selected candidates, as such, the Ordinance is profoundly erroneous and unmerited, hence the same be declared as ultra-virus.

(vi) Further, this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is a Court of equity and even-handedness, as such, the relief can be molded even if the Ordinance is not professed ultra-virus, as the petitioners have continued in the said course for nearly two years and their admissions, thus, can be protected.

(vii) To draw the consciousness on the aforesaid submissions, the learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon several judgments of the Apex Court as well as judgment of Single Judge of this Court, which are as follows:

(a) Ran Vijay Singh & Others Versus State of U.P. & Others reported in reported in (2018) 2 SCC 357;

(b) Tridip Kumar Dingal & Others Versus State of West Bengal & Others, reported in (2009) 1 SCC 768;

(c) Rajesh Kumar Daria Versus Rajasthan Public Service Commission reported in (2007) 8 SCC 785;

(d) Rajesh Kumar & Ors. etc. Versus State of Bihar & Ors. etc., reported in (2013) 4 SCC 690;

(e) Vikas Pratap Singh & Others Versus State of Chhattishgarh & Others reported in (2013) 14 SCC 494; and

(f) Ram Naresh Singh And 26 Others vs State Of U.P. And 29 Others, reported in (2018) 3 UPLBEC 2134.

(viii) Thus, in view of the commandment law laid down by the Apex Court and by this Court, the petitioners' entitlement to aegis of their admission, in the atypical particulars of the present case, needs to be examined.

Undeniably, as the petitioners have been selected after undertaking the stipulated procedure (written test followed by interview). There is no caricature or deceit on their part. Having scrutinized their studies fittingly, for about two years, it would be undeserved to tolerate the respondent-University to jettison their admissions by lobbing them out of the course, in view of the ruling laid down by the Apex Court.

(ix) Further, the University-establishments must take an altruistic and public-spirited assessment in the matter, otherwise, it would also be "grave travesty of justice", if the petitioners/students nosedive to get the relief, as prayed.

12. On the other hand, Mr. Rohit Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent-University has advanced his arguments on the aforesaid following issues, which are as follows:

(i) The University Grants Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "UGC") has been established by the enactment of the Central Government being University Grants Commission Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act,1956"). Under Section 26 of the Act, 1956, the Commission is accredited to make Regulations. Under Section 26 (f), the UGC can frame Regulation delineating the minimum criterions of directives for grant of any degree by any University and under Section 26 (g), the Commission can frame Regulation regarding preservation of cannons and harmonization of labor or conveniences in University.

In implementation of aforesaid muscles, the Commission has framed University Grants Commission (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phil/Ph.D. Degrees) Regulations, 2009 and in supersession thereof, the Commission framed Regulations of 2016 (hereinafter referred to as the "UGC Regulations, 2009"), which has been further amended in 2018 being first amendment and second amendment of 2018.

Under Clause-2 and 3 of Regulations, 2016, the Commission has approved minimum eligibility criteria for admission to M.Phil and Ph.D. programme. Under Clause-5, the Regulations provide the modus operandi for admission and Clause-

5.2.2 provides that Higher Educational Institutions shall notify number of seats for admission, distinctive discipline-wise dissemination of available seats, criteria for admission, process for admission, examination centers and all relevant information for the assistance candidates.

Now reverting back to the present substance, it is acknowledged that the question with regard to applicability of UGC Regulations on the University, it is acquiesced that in respect of Central Universities, it is obligatory for those Universities to uphold the guidelines issued by UGC, whereas in respect of State Universities, it has to be first befittingly accepted by the State Government and thereafter, direction is to be dispensed by the State Government to all State Universities to integrate the precise UGC Regulation in the Statute or Ordinances of the concerned University.

The aforesaid issue of applicability of UGC Regulation on the State Universities by adoption came up for contemplation before the Apex Court in the case of Kalyani Mathivanan v. k.v. Jeyaraj and Others (2015) 6 SCC 363, wherein it has been held that unless the UGC Regulations are formally adopted by the State and the Statutes are amended, it cannot be applied ipso facto upon the State Universities.

The aforesaid Judgment of Apex Court was followed by this Hon'ble Court in the case of Amrit Prasad Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2016(1) ADJ, 690.

(ii) The petitioners in this writ petition have applied pursuant to the Advertisement issued by the answering respondent-University for Research Eligibility Test, 2019. In the guidelines and instructions, it has been clearly stipulated that the candidates are required to possess minimum second division marks in graduation. The petitioners have consciously applied pursuant to the advertisement and they themselves placed them in a situation where, at the time of scrutiny of their eligibility, they have been found ineligible on account of not having minimum second division marks in graduation, as per Clause-3.1 (b) of the University Research Ordinances, 2018. The case laws, which have been relied upon in support of the aforesaid submission, are as under:

(b). Ashok Kumar and Another v. State of Bihar and Others reported in (2017) 4 SCC 357

(c). Madras Institute of Development studies and Another Versus K. Sivasubramaniyan and Others reported in (2016) 1 SCC 454.

(iii) The respondent-University has framed the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University Research Ordinances, 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree- Ph.D.), in accordance with the UGC Regulations for admission in Ph.D/M.Phil.

Referring to the case of the Apex Court in the case of R. Chitralekha v. State of Mysore and Others AIR 1964 SC 1823, learned counsel for the respondent-University submits that a State Law providing for such standards, having regard to Entry-66 of List-I, would be struck down as unconstitutional only if the same is found to be so heavy or devastating, so as to wipe out or appreciably abridge the Central field and not otherwise. The Court also pointed out that if a State law prescribes higher percentage of marks for extra-curricular activities in the matter of admission to colleges, it cannot be said that it would be encroaching on the field covered by Entry 66 of List-1. The law is now fairly well settled that while it is not open for the Universities to dilute the norms and standards, as prescribed by the regulatory bodies such as UGC or AICTE, it is always open to the Universities to prescribe enhanced norms.

He further submits that the role of the Universities vis-a-vis the AICTE, the Apex Court has held in Bharathidasan University and Another v. All India Council for Technical Education and Others reproted in (2001) 8 SCC 676, that AICTE is not a super power with a devastating role undermining the status, authority and autonomous functioning of the Universities in areas and spheres assigned to them.

A three Judges Bench of the Apex Court in case of State of T.N. and Another v. S.V. Bratheep (Minor) and Others reported in (2004) 4 SCC 513, wherein this Court held that even the State Government can prescribe higher standards than those prescribed by AICTE.

The above principle was later applied in the case of Universities in Visveswaraiah Technical University & Another Vs. Krishnenedu Halder & Others, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 606, wherein the Apex Court considered the previous decisions and summarized the legal position emerging there-from.

The Apex Court, in its latest judgment of APJ Abdul Kalam Technological University and another v. Jai Bharat College of Management and Engineering Technology and others, Civil Appeal No. 4016 of 2020 held that the powers of the Universities to enhance the norms and standard cannot be doubted.

This Court in the case of Registrar, Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj University vs. Vinay Gupta & Others, reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 263, also laid down that the prescriptions by the University of having at least 45% marks in the qualifying examination i.e. graduation course is an additional qualification, which is fully supported by the ratio of the judgments of the Apex Court.

The Punjab and Haryana High Court, while dealing with identical controversy in Civil Writ Petition No. 4294 of 1987 in the case of Shamsher Singh Tyagi Vs. State of Haryana and Jammu and Kashmir High Court in SWP No. 1558 of 2017 in the case of Tanveer Ahmad Vs. Skuast &Others, have also held that the University Grants Commission lays down the minimum standards required and the Universities can prescribe higher qualifications, which are in consonance (not contrary) with the UGC Regulations. The only requirement that has to be followed is that the qualifications prescribed have to be reasonable and attainable by the candidates.

The UGC Regulations prescribes Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phil/Ph.D. Degrees. The word "minimum qualification" has been discussed by the Punjab and Haryana High Court in para-11 of the Shamsher Singh Tyagi (supra).

In deduction, it is acquiesced that the respondent-University has prearranged the minimum stipulations for admission to Ph.D. Course in harmony with the UGC Regulations and they are not in desecration to the same. It is within the authorities of the University to counsel rational and realistic higher qualifications to conserve the necessary standard of tutelage in the University.

(iv) The University can terminate the admission of the petitioners, as they do not possess the minimum eligibility criteria as per the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018. It is further submitted that there stands no estoppel against law, therefore, the University was thoroughly vindicated in annulling the admissions of the students.

The Apex Court in the case of State of Rajasthan and Ors. v. Lata Arun JT 2002 (5) SC 210, examined the cancellation of admission of a candidate to the General Nursing and Midwifery and Staff Nurse Course on the ground that the Respondent did not possess the eligibility criteria. In the said case, initially the High Court had allowed the writ petition and the special appeal filed, against the judgment passed therein, before the Division Bench of the High Court was also dismissed. However, the Apex Court allowed the appeal and held that the High Court was in error in issuing directions to the appellants to treat the respondent as a candidate possessed of all the prescribed qualification and to declare the result.

The Apex Court in the case of A.P. Christians Medical Educational Society v. Government of A.P. reported in (1986) 2 SCC 667, Court observed that the Apex Court cannot by its fiat direct the University to disobey the statute to which it owes its existence and the regulations made by the University itself. The Apex Court cannot imagine anything more destructive of the rule of law than a direction by the court to disobey the laws."

In the case of Gurdeep Singh v. State of J. & K. and Ors. (1986) 2 SCC 667, the Apex Court examined the selection of a candidate, who was ineligible to be admitted. It quashed his selection and made its observations in paragraph 9 of the judgment.

Other relevant case laws, which learned counsel for the respondent-University in support of the aforesaid, has relied upon are as follows:

(a) Rajasthan State Industrial Development vs. Subhash Sindhi reported in (2013) 5 SCC 427;

(b) U.O.I. vs. Godfrcy Philips Pvt. Ltd. reported in (1985) 4 SCC 369.

(v) The countering respondent-University, i.e. Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University, Gorakhpur has been established under U.P. State Universities Act, 1973. As per Section-7 of the Act, which advocates the control and callings of University, it is provided under sub-Section-1 that it is the authority and responsibility of the University to provide for instruction in such branches of erudition, as the University may think apposite and to make provision for research for furtherance and propagation of awareness.

Sub-Section-3 provides powers and duties of the university to institute degrees, diplomas and other academic distinctions.

Sub-Section-4 provides powers and duties of the University to hold examination and to grant and confer the degrees and diplomas and other academic distinctions.

Sub-Section-6 provides powers and duties of the university to confer honorary degree or other academic distinctions in the manner and under condition laid down in the Statute.

Under Section 51 (2) of Act, 1973, the University is authorised to casing its Ordinances for distinctive matters including (a) admission of students to the University and their enrollment and endurance, as such, (b) the course of study to be laid down for all degrees, diplomas and other academic distinctions of University, (c) the condition under which the students shall be admitted to the examinations, degrees and diplomas of University and shall be entitled for accolade of such degrees and diplomas.

In view of the aforesaid provisions of Act, 1973, it is unequivocal that the University is vested to configure its Ordinances for steering any course of study, which comprises M.Phil and Ph.D. programme. The Clause 5.2.2 of UGC Regulations, 2016 also sanctions to frame the criteria and system for admission by the Higher Educational Institutions.

(vi) The Ordinances of University are enclosed by Expert Academic Body and it is within the especial dominion of academic body to commend certain eligibility criteria for admission. The UGC is consigned with the supremacy to frame Regulation under Section 26 (f) and (g) to outline the minimum principles of Institution to grant of any degree by any University and to standardize the preservation of students and synchronization of work and facilities in University. The parameter framed by UGC recommends only minimum standards and word "minimum" symbolizes the magnitude which should not be depressed and disparaged any further by any authority or the University. The UGC Act and Regulations do not proscribe the University to acclaim any higher standards in eligibility benchmarks for admission in any course of study. The power of the UGC is sourced from Entry-66 of List-1 of the Constitution of India, whereas power of the University is sourced from Entry-25 of List-lll. It has been settled that both admittances have to be read concomitantly and it cannot be read in such a custom to practice an estimation entirely in the matter of admission but if certain recommendations of standards have been made pursuant to Entry-66 of List-1, then those standards will triumph over the standards fixed by the State University in exercise of powers under Entry-25 of List-III insofar as they unsympathetically distress the principles laid down by the Union of India or any other authority operational under it.

In the present case, the UGC has prescribed the minimum standards, therefore, the canons set by the university in eligibility criteria for admission cannot be dubbed as the principles, which undesirably shake the standards laid down by the Union of India. Moreover, the ideals prescribed by the University are robust and rational and cannot be termed in any manner, as illogical and stroppy. In support of the same, the learned counsel for the respondent-University has relied upon the verdict of the Apex Court in the case of State of Tamil Nadu vs. K. Shyam Sundar, Civil Appeal No. 6015-6027/2011.

(vii) The UGC Regulation, 2016 has specificed the minimum eligibility criteria for admission to M.Phil and Ph.D. is to have a master degree with 55% marks. The University, in its Ordinances, has approved the minimum second division marks in graduation for the candidate to possess apart from the minimum eligibility, as prescribed by the UGC, is in addition to the minimum requirement, which, in any manner, does not lower down the minimum eligibility, which has been recommended by the UGC under its Regulations, therefore, this can be treated as prescription of advanced standards by the University. The issue of predominance of the Ordinance of University over Regulation of the UGC does not ascend, as there has to be no repugnancy or incongruity in the Regulations of UGC and Ordinances of University. The University has bordered its Ordinances-2018, in consonance with UGC Regulations-2016 and 2018. In the Judgments of the Apex Court discussed above, it has been held that the University is sanctioned to prescribe higher standards than the standards prescribed by Regulatory Authority.

(viii) In this regard, it is submitted that the State Government, in execution of its command under Section 66-A of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973, has issued instructions to the University and counsels a layout for enclosing the Ph.D. Research Ordinances in consonance with the UGC Regulations, 2016 and its first and second Amendment of 2018. It is palpable from the University Research Ordinances, 2016 that the Ph.D. Ordinances have been enclosed, as per directions issued by the State Government. Therefore, question of espousal does not have any further bearing.

On the aggregate leverage of the aforesaid submissions, the learned counsel for the respondent-University submits that the admission of petitioners has been made in defilement of University Research Ordinances, 2018 and therefore, the same has been negated. The University cannot be necessitated to go against its own ordinances and statutes because the petitioners have willfully applied pursuant to the advertisement, which advocates the minimum eligibility criteria of having second division in graduation, therefore, the petitioners are not entitled to be granted any relief. The writ petition justifies to be dismissed.

13. For gainsaying/invalidating the submissions made by the learned counsel for the petitioners, Dr. Amar Nath Singh, learned Standing Counsel has made following submission:

(i) Unless the UGC Regulations are formally embraced by the State and the Statutes are amended, it cannot be applied ipso facto upon the State Universities. In sustenance of this submission, he has relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the cases of (a) Kalyani Mathivanan vs. K.V. Jeyaraj & Others reported in (2015) 6 SCC 363, and (b) Amit Prasad Vs. State of U.P. reported in (2016) 1 ADJ 690.

(ii) The concern that the Ordinance of the University is predominant over the Regulations, does not ascend, as there has to be no detestation or ambiguity in the Regulations of UGC and Ordinances of the University.

(iii) The law is well adroitly established that while it is not uncluttered for the Universities to insipid the norms and criterions as prearranged by the supervisory organizations, such as UGC or AICTE, it is relentlessly expose to the Universities to counsel customs. Case Laws in support of aforesaid submission are as under:

(a). R. Chitralekha vs. State of Mysore and Others reported in AIR 1964 SC 123,

(b). Bharathidasan University and another vs. All India Council for Technical Education and Others reported in (2001) 8 SCC 676,

(c). State of T.N. and another vs. S.V. Bratheep (Minor) and Others (2004) 4 SCC 513,

(d). Visveswaraiah Technological University and another v. Jai Bharat College of Management and Engineering Technology and Others, Civil Appeal No. 4016 of 2020, and

(e). Registrar, Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj University vs. Vinay Gupta and Ors. reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 263.

(iv) As the petitioners have applied with open eyes pursuant to an advertisement, wherein minimum prerequisite upto graduate level is prescribed as per Ordinance of the University, then at this stage, they cannot encounter the Ordinance consequently.

Case Law in support of aforesaid submission is as under:

(a). Ramjit Singh Kardam vs. Sanjeev Kumar & Others, Civil Appeal No. 2103 of 2020 (Paragraph 37 is relevant).

(v) The University can red line the admission of the petitioners, as they do not enjoy the minimum eligibility criteria, as per the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018. There stands no estoppel against law, therefore, the University was thoroughly warranted in terminating the admission of the students. Case laws in support of the aforesaid submission are as under:

(a). State of Rajasthan and Ors. vs. Lata Arun reported in JT 2002 (5) SC 210,

(b). A.P. Christians Medical Educational Society vs. Government of A.P. reported in (1986) 2 SCC 667

(c). Gurdeep Singh vs. State of J.&K. And others reported in (1986) 2 SCC 667

(vi) The State Government in implementation of its power U/s 66-A of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 has issued guidelines to the University and proposes a layout for outlining the Ph.D. Research Ordinance in consonance with the UGC Regulations, 2016 and its first and second amendment of 2018. It is evident from the University Research Ordinance, 2018 that the Ph.D. Ordinances have been edged as per directions issued by the State Government. Therefore, question of espousal does not have any further germaneness.

In view of the aforesaid submission, it is submitted that the petitioners are not authorized to be settled any respite and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

14. This Court has contemplated the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the annuls of the contemporaneous writ petition as well as judicially perused the rules and case laws trusted upon by the learned counsel for the parties punctiliously.

15. Before coming to the virtues of the case set up by the corresponding parties, it is also apposite to remark here that this Court on 18th November, 2021 required Mr. Rohit Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent-University to apprise the Court as to what action has been taken against the persons, who are answerable for admitting the petitioners for Pre-Ph.D. Course, which are said to be proscribed.

16. On 23rd February, 2022, when both these writ petitions have been earmarked for delivery of judgment, Mr. Rohit Pandey, learned counsel for the respondent-University apprises the Court verbally that inquiry proceedings are unresolved against the stumbling officers/officials of the respondent-University.

17. For determining the velitation involved in both the writ petitions, this Court may also record that till January 3, 1977, Education was a State subject under Entry 11 in List II. By the 42nd Amendment Act, 1976, Entry 11 was obliterated and it was positioned in the Concurrent List by enlarging the Entry 25, as set out above. Entry 25 List III relating to education including technical education, medical education and Universities has been made subject to the power of Parliament to legislate under Entries 63 to 66 of List I. Entry 66 List I and Entry 25 List III should, therefore, be read together. Entry 66 gives influence to Union to see that a vital standard of higher education in the country is sustained. The standard of Higher Education comprising of scientific and technical should not be depressed at the hands of any particular State or States. Secondly, it is the especial obligation of the Central Government to synchronize and determine the cannons for higher tutelage. That authority embraces the power to appraise, blend and shelter apposite rapport to any project of nationwide predominance. It is gratuitous to state that such a synchronize act in higher education with proper ideals, is of utmost significance to national headway. It is in this countrywide attentiveness, the legislative field in regard to 'education' has been distributed between List I and List III of the Seventh Schedule.

18. The University Grants Commission has been established by the enactment of the Central Government being University Grants' Commission Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1956") by the Ministry of Human Resource Development (HRD) (Now Ministry of Education) based in New Delhi. The Central Act i.e. University Grants Commission Act, 1956, has sanctioned University Grants Commission to make regulations under Section 26 (f). Section 26 (f) provides that the University Grants Commission can mount Regulation outlining the minimum criteria of directives for endowment of any degree by any University, whereas Section 26 (g) provides that the Commission can frame Regulation regarding conservation of ideals and dexterity of labor or conveniences in University. The foremost objective and capacity of the UGC in higher education is to afford capitalization to universities and to organize, regulate and retain integrities in advanced educational establishments. The commission emboldens construal between universities, government and the community. The UGC has also fixed some canons for universities to be permitted by the UGC. With the progression of higher education in India, many high-level, medium and small universities are recognized day by day. Among these universities, there are voluminous phony and non-recognized universities. Therefore, the University Grants Commission circulated the list of sham universities in India to comfort students identify these repudiated universities.

19. The notable accomplishments and occupations of University Grants Commission are (i) to endorse and harmonize university edification , (ii) to mount rubrics on minimum standards of education, (iii) to set standards for examination like ICAR NET, UGC NET & CSIR UGC NET, (iv) to dissect evolvement in the pitch of college and university tutelage, (v) to licence endowments to the universities and colleges, (vi) to sustain the construction between the Union and State Governments and institutions of higher education, and (vii) to advocate binding procedures to Central and State governments to make affirmative vicissitudes in University Education.

20. Apart from the aforesaid, it would also be appropriate for this Court to reproduce certain clauses of the Deen Dayal Upadhyay Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance, 2018, which provides for Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree-Ph.D.

21. Clause-3 of the Ordinance, 2018 provides for Guidelines and Eligibility for Admission in Ph.D. Programme. Clause-3.1 enunciates for minimum expected eligibility for appearing in Research Entrance Test, which is as follows:

"3.1.....

(a) The minimum percentage of marks in the qualifying post-graduate exam for the candidates of unreserved and other Backward Classes (Creamy layer) is 55%, and for other Backward Classes (Non-Creamy Layer), Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribe, and physically Challenged Category candidates the eligibility is 50%.

(b) The Candidate should have passed his graduation with second division or have obtained required marks fulfilling the guidelines issued by the University Grant Commission from time to time.

(c) The Candidates appearing in the final year of their post graduation can also apply for Research Entrance Test but before taking admission in research programme, they must complete the expected eligibility by passing their post graduation exam."

22. It would also be relevant to reproduce the University Grants Commission (Minimum Standards and Procedure for Award of M.Phill./Ph.D. Degrees) Regulations, 2016. Clause-3 of Regulations, 2016 stipulates for eligibility benchmarks for admission to Ph.D. programme, which reads as follows:

3.1 Master's Degree holders satisfying the criteria stipulated under Clause 2 above.

3.2 Candidates who have cleared the M.Phil course work with at least 55% marks in aggregate or its equivalent grade ''B' in the UGC 7-point scale (or an equivalent grade in a point scale wherever grading system is followed) and successfully completing the M.Phil. Degree shall be eligible to proceed to do research work leading to the Ph. D. Degree in the same Institution in an integrated programme. A relaxation of 5% of marks, from 55% to 50%, or an equivalent relaxation of grade, may be allowed for those belonging to SC/ST/OBC(non-creamy layer)/differently-abled and other categories of candidates as per the decision of the Commission from time to time.

3.3 A person whose M.Phil. dissertation has been evaluated and the viva voce is pending may be admitted to the Ph.D. programme of the same Institution;

3.4 Candidates possessing a Degree considered equivalent to M.Phil. Degree of an Indian Institution, from a Foreign Educational Institution accredited by an Assessment and Accreditation Agency which is approved, recognized or authorized by an authority, established or incorporated under a law in its home country or any other statutory authority in that country for the purpose of assessing, accrediting or assuring quality and standards of educational institutions, shall be eligible for admission to Ph.D. programme."

Clause-5 of the Regulations, 2016 articulates for procedure for admission. Clause 5.2.2, which is relevant, is quoted herein below:

5.2 Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) referred to in sub-clause 1.2 above and Colleges under them which are allowed to conduct M.Phil. and/or Ph.D. programmes, shall:

5.2.1 decide on an annual basis through their academic bodies a predetermined and manageable number of M.Phil. and/or Ph.D. scholars to be admitted depending on the number of available Research Supervisors and other academic and physical facilities available, keeping in mind the norms regarding the scholar- teacher ratio (as indicated in Para 6.5), laboratory, library and such other facilities;

5.2.2 notify well in advance in the institutional website and through advertisement in at least two (2) national newspapers, of which at least one (1) shall be in the regional language, the number of seats for admission, subject/discipline-wise distribution of available seats, criteria for admission, procedure for admission, examination centre(s) where entrance test(s) shall be conducted and all other relevant information for the benefit of the candidates;

5.2.3 adhere to the National/State-level reservation policy, as applicable. 5.3 The admission shall be based on the criteria notified by the Institution, keeping in view the guidelines/norms in this regard issued by the UGC and other statutory bodies concerned, and taking into account the reservation policy of the Central/State Government from time to time."

23. FINDINGS OF THE COURT

Now this Court comes to Issue No.1.

For fathom issue no.1, it is indispensable for this Court to replicate law as laid down by the Apex Court in several verdicts as well as by the Punjab and Haryana High Court, which are being noticed herein below:

A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Osmania University Teacher's Association Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh & Another reported in (1987) 4 SCC 671 has opined as follows:

"19. The power of the State to prescribe certain norms for admission to colleges came for consideration before this Court in R. Chitralekha & Anr. Vs. State of Mysore & Ors., reported in [1964] 6 SCR 368 where Subba Rao J., as he then was, ob- served:

"that if the law made by the States by virtue of Entry 11 of List II of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution makes impossible or diffi- cult the exercise of the legislative power of the Parliament under the entry "Co-ordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientif- ic and technical institutions" reserved to the Union, the State law may be bad. This cannot obviously be decided on speculative and hypo- thetical reasoning. If the impact of the State law providing for such standards on entry 66 of List I is so heavy or devastating as to wipe out or appreciably abridge the central field it may be struck down. But that is a question of fact to be ascertained in each case."

26. In Prem Chand Jain v. R.K. Chhabra, [1984] 2 SCR 883 this Court has held that the UGC Act falls under Entry 66 of List I. It is then unthinkable as to how the State could pass a parallel enactment under Entry 25 of List III, unless it encroaches Entry 66 of List I. Such an encroachment is patent and obvious. The Commissionerate Act is beyond the legislative competence of the State Legislature and is hereby declared void and inoperative. In the result, these appeals are allowed with costs. The judgment of the High Court is reversed. There shall be a direction to the State not to enforce the provisions of the impugned Act.

30. The Constitution of India vests Parliament with exclusive authority in regard to co-ordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education. The Parliament has enacted the UGC Act for that purpose. The University Grants Commission has, therefore, a greater role to play in shaping the academic life of the country. It shall not falter or fail in its duty to maintain a high standard in the Universities. Democracy depends for its very life on a high standards of general, vocational and professional education. Dissemination of learning with search for new knowledge with discipline all round must be maintained at all costs. It is hoped that University Grants Commission will duly discharge its responsibility to the Nation and play an increasing to role bring about the needed transformation in the academic life of the Universities."

In S. Satyapal Reddy & Ors. Vs. Government of A.P. & Ors., (1994) 4 SCC 391, the Apex Court held as under:-

"7. It is thus settled law that Parliament has exclusive power to make law with respect to any of the matters enumerated in List I or concurrent power with the State Legislature in List III of the VIIth Schedule to the Constitution which shall prevail over the State law made by the State Legislature exercising the power on any of the entries in List III. If the said law is inconsistent with or incompatible to occupy the same filed, to that extent the State law stands superseded or becomes void. It is settled law that when Parliament and the Legislature derive that power under Article 246 (2) and the entry in the Concurrent List, whether prior or later to the law made by the State Legislature, Article 246 (2) gives power, to legislate upon any subject enumerated in the Concurrent List, the law made by Parliament gets paramountcy over the law made by the State Legislature unless the State law is reserved for consideration of the President and receives his assent. Whether there is an apparent repugnance or conflict between Central and State laws occupying the same field and cannot operate harmoniously in each case the Court has to examine whether the provisions occupy the same field with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent List and whether there exists repugnancy between the two laws. Article 254 lays emphasis on the words "with respect to that matter". Repugnancy arises when both the laws are fully inconsistent or are absolutely irreconcilable and when it is impossible to obey one without disobeying the other. The repugnancy would arise when conflicting results are produced when both the statutes covering the same field and applied to a given set of facts. But the court has to make every attempt to reconcile the provisions of the apparently conflicting laws and court would endeavour to give harmonious construction. The purpose to determine inconsistency is to ascertain the intention of Parliament which would be gathered from a consideration of the entire field occupied by the law. The proper test would be whether effect can be given to the provisions of both the laws or whether both the laws can stand together. Section 213 itself made the distinction of the powers exercisable by the State Government and the Central Government in working the provisions of the Act. It is the State Government that operates the provisions of the Act through its officers. Therefore, sub-section (1) of Section 213 gives power to the State Government to create Transport Department and to appoint officers, as it thinks fit. Sub-section (4) thereof also preserves the power. By necessary implication, it also preserves the power to prescribed higher qualification for appointment of officers of the State Government to man the Motor Vehicles Department. What was done by the Central Government was only the prescription of minimum qualifications, leaving the field open to the State Government concerned to prescribe if it finds necessary, higher qualifications. The Governor has been given power under proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, subject to any law made by the State Legislature, to make rules regulating the recruitment which includes prescription of qualifications for appointment to an office or post under the State. Since the Transport Department under the Act is constituted by the State Government and the officers appointed to those posts belong to the State service, while appointing its own officers, the State Government as a necessary adjunct is entitled to prescribe qualifications for recruitment or conditions of service. But while so prescribing, the State Government may accept the qualifications or prescribe higher qualification but in no case prescribe any qualification less than the qualifications prescribed by the Central Government under sub-section (4) of Section 213 of the Act. In the latter event, i.e., prescribing lesser qualifications, both the rules cannot operate without colliding with each other. When the rules made by the Central Government under Section 213 (4) and the statutory rules made under proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution are construed harmoniously, there is no incompatibility or inconsistency in the operation of both the rules to appoint fit persons to the posts or class of officers of the State Government vis-a-vis the qualifications prescribed by the Central Government under sub-section (4) of Section 213 of the Act.

8. It is seen that A.P. Transport Subordinate Service Rules have been made by the Governor exercising the power under proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution and Rule 6 thereof prescribes the qualifications as enumerated above. Graduation in Mechanical Engineering is one of the higher qualifications than Diploma. Since Section 213 (4) gives such power to the State Government by operation of Section 217 of the Act, the statutory rules remain valid and operate in the field without colliding with the Central rules. Both the rules would operate harmoniously and effect can be given to both the rules. Thus the question of inconsistency or repugnancy under Article 254 of the Constitution does not arise. Therefore, we do not find that there is any conflict in the exercise of power by both Central and State Governments or inconsistency in operation of the provisions of the statutory rules made by the Governor under proviso to Article 309 and the rules made by the Central Government under Section 213 (4) of the Act. The recruitment as per State rules is valid and legal."

The Apex Court in the case of State of Tamil Nadu & Another Vs. S.V. Bratheep (Minor) & Others, reported in (2004) 4 SCC 513 in paragraph nos. 8 to 12, has observed as follows:

"8. As regards the scope of the Entries in the Constitution arising under Entry 66 of List I and Entry 25 of List III of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution was examined in great detail by a constitution Bench of this Court in Dr. Preeti Srivastava & Anr. Vs. State of M.P. & Others, [1999] 7 SCC 120. After adverting to these two entries in the Seventh Schedule, this Court stated as follows:

"35....Both the Union as well as the States have the power to legislate on education including medical education, subject, inter alia, to Entry 66 of List I which deals with laying down standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions as also coordination of such standards. A State has, therefore, the right to control education including medical education so long as the field is not occupied by any Union legislation. Secondly, the State cannot, while controlling education in the State, impinge on standards in institutions for higher education. Because this is exclusively within the purview of the Union Government. Therefore, while prescribing the criteria for admission to the institutions for higher education including higher medical education, the State cannot adversely affect the standards laid down by the Union of India under Entry 66 of List I. Secondly, while considering the cases on the subject it is also necessary to remember that from 1977, education, including, inter alia, medical and university education, is now in the Concurrent List so that the Union can legislate on admission criteria also. If it does so, the State will not be able to legislate in this field, except as provided in Article 254.

36. It would not be correct to say that the norms for admission have no connection with the standard of education, or that the rules for admission are covered only by Entry 25 of List III. Norms of admission can have a direct impact on the standards of education. Of course, there can be rules for ad*mission which are consistent with or do not affect adversely the standards of education prescribed by the Union in exercise of powers under Entry 66 of List I. For example, a State may, for admission to the postgraduate medical courses, lay down qualifications in addition to those prescribed under Entry 66 of List I. This would be consistent with promoting higher standards for admission to the higher educational courses. But any lowering of the norms laid down can and does have an adverse effect on the standards of education in the institutes of higher education."*

9. .....If higher minimum is prescribed by the State Government than what had been prescribed by the AICTE, can it be said that it is in any manner adverse to the standards fixed by the AICTE or reduces the standard fixed by it? In our opinion, it does not. On the other hand, if we proceed on the basis that the norms fixed by the AICTE would allow admission only on the basis of the marks obtained in the qualifying examination the additional test made applicable is the common entrance test by the State Government. If we proceed to take the standard fixed by the AICTE to be the common entrance test then the prescription made by the State Government of having obtained certain marks higher than the minimum in the qualifying examination in order to be eligible to participate in the common entrance test is in addition to the common entrance test. In either event, the streams proposed by the AICTE are not belittled in any manner. The manner in which the High Court has proceeded is that what has been prescribed by the AICTE is inexorable and that that minimum alone should be taken into consideration and no other standard could be fixed even the higher as stated by this Court in Dr. Preeti Srivastava's case. It is no doubt true as noticed by this Court in Adhiyaman's case that there may be situations when a large number of seats may fall vacant on account of the higher standards fixed. The standards fixed should always be realistic which are attainable and are within the reach of the candidates. It cannot be said that the prescriptions by the State Government in addition to those of AICTE in the present case are such which are not attainable or which are not within the reach of the candidates who seek admission for engineering colleges. It is not very high percentage of marks that has been prescribed as minimum of 60% downwards, but definitely higher than the mere pass marks. Excellence in higher education is always insisted upon by series of decisions of this Court including Dr. Preeti Srivastava's case. If higher minimum marks have been prescribed, it would certainly add to the excellence in the matter of admission of the students in higher education.

10. Argument advanced on behalf of the respondents is that the purpose of fixing norms by the AICTE is to ensure uniformity with extended access of educational opportunity and such norms should not be tinkered with by the State in any manner. We are afraid, this argument ignores the view taken by this Court in several decisions including Dr. Preeti Srivastav's case that the State can always fix a further qualification or additional qualification to what has been prescribed by the AICTE and that proposition is indisputable. The mere fact that there are vacancies in the colleges would not be a matter, which would go into the question of fixing the standard of education. Therefore, it is difficult to subscribe to the view that once they are qualified under the criteria fixed by the AICTE they should be admitted even if they fall short of the criteria prescribed by the State. The scope of the relative entries in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution have to be understood in the manner as stated in the Dr. Preeti Srivastava's case and, therefore, we need not further elaborate in this case or consider arguments to the contrary such as application of occupied theory no power could be exercised under Entry 25 of List III as they would not arise for consideration.

11. The argument advanced on behalf of the respondents that these matters are indeed governed by the decision in Islamic Academy of Education and Anr. v. State of Karnataka and Ors. [2003] 6 SCC 697, and T.M.A. Pai Foundation v. State of Karnataka, [2002] 8 SCC 481. In fact this Court did not consider the question that has arisen for our consideration in the present case but was dealing with entirely different issue in relation to fee structure of minority and non-minority educational institutions and whether private unaided professional colleges are entitled to fill their seats to the full extent by their own method of admission. That is not the issue before us at all. Therefore, no reliance could be placed by the respondents on the decisions either in TMA Pai Foundation or Islamic Academy case.

12. One other argument is further advanced before us that the criteria fixed by the AICTE was to be adopted by the respective colleges and once such prescription had been made it was not open to the Government to prescribe further standards particularly when they had established the institutions in exercise of their fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 19 of the Constitution. However, we do not think this argument can be sustained in any manner. Prescription of standards in education is always accepted to be an appropriate exercise of power by the bodies recognising the colleges or granting affiliation, like AICTE or the University. If in exercise of such power the prescription had been made, it cannot be said that the whole matter has been foreclosed."

Bearing in mind the aforesaid annotations, the Apex Court in the case of State of Tamil Nadu (Supra) has pronounced that recommendation of standards in edification is continually acknowledged to be an apt exercise of authority by the bodies pinpointing the colleges or yielding affiliation, like AICTE or university. If an implementation of such power the instruction had been prepared, it cannot be said that the unabridged substance has been foreclosed. In view of the aforementioned, the Apex Court has held that it is allowable for the State Government to commend higher qualifications for tenacities of admission to the engineering colleges than what had been suggested by AICTE (which is a statutory body like UGC in the present case) and what has been prearranged by the State and deliberated by us, as it is not antagonistic to the equivalent but is only analogous or auxiliary to it.

In the case of Visveswaraya Technological University & Others Vs. Krishnendu Halder & Others reported in (2011) 4 SCC 606, following the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of State of Tamil Nadu (Supra) has held that eligibility criteria for admission under Statutory Rules and Regulations of State Government/University could be unperturbed or snubbed.

It has further been held that a student whose grades fall short of the eligibility criteria fixed by the State/University, or any college which acknowledges such students explicitly under the management quota, cannot avow that the admission of students found qualified under the criteria fixed by AICTE, should be ratified even if they do not accomplish the higher edibility criteria fixed by the State/University.

In paragraph-17 of the case of Visveshwarya Technological University (Supra), in paragraph no. 14 has observed as follows:

".....(i) While prescribing the eligibility criteria for admission to institutions of higher education, the State/University cannot adversely affect the standards laid down by the Central Body/AICTE. The term `adversely affect the standards' refers to lowering of the norms laid down by Central Body/AICTE. Prescribing higher standards for admission by laying down qualifications in addition to or higher than those prescribed by AICTE, consistent with the object of promoting higher standards and excellence in higher education, will not be considered as adversely affecting the standards laid down by the Central Body/AICTE.

(iv) The State/University (as also AICTE) should periodically (at such intervals as they deem fit) review the prescription of eligibility criteria for admissions, keeping in balance, the need to maintain excellence and high standard in higher education on the one hand, and the need to maintain a healthy ratio between the total number of seats available in the state and the number of students seeking admission, on the other. If necessary, they may revise the eligibility criteria so as to continue excellence in education and at the same time being realistic about the attainable standards of marks in the qualifying examinations."

Thereafter the Apex Court in the case of Visveshwarya Technological University (Supra), in paragraph-17 has held as follows:

"17. No student or college, in the teeth of the existing and prevalent rules of the State and the University can say that such rules should be ignored, whenever there are unfilled vacancies in colleges. In fact the State/University, may, in spite of vacancies, continue with the higher eligibility criteria to maintain better standards of higher education in the State or in the colleges affiliated to the University. Determination of such standards, being part of the academic policy of the University, are beyond the purview of judicial review, unless it is established that such standards are arbitrary or `adversely affect' the standards if any fixed by the Central Body under a Central enactment. The order of the Division Bench is therefore unsustainable."

The Punjab & Haryana High Court in the case of Shamsher Singh Tayagi Vs. State of Haryana reported in 2006 0 Supreme (P&H) 2462 following the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Brahmo Samaj Education Society & Others Vs. State of West Bengal & Others reported in (2004) 6 SCC 224, has observed as follows:

"(14) A reading of the observations of the Honble Supreme Court reproduced hereinabove would show that it has been accepted by the Court that a higher eligibility requirement for appointment as a teacher can be prescribed by the State or a University over and above the minimum requirement prescribed by the Central body being AICTE or UGC. Moreover on a bare reading of the Regulations, it is clear that in the present case only minimum qualifications have been prescribed by the UGC. Therefore in view of the Regulations relied upon by Mr. Jain for the present case and also the judgments mentioned hereinabove, the argument raised by Mr. Jain cannot be accepted."

The Apex Court in the case of Kalyani Mathivanan VS. K.V. Jeyaraj & Others reported in (2018) 6 SCC 363, in paragraph nos. 50 to 53 has observed as follows:

"50. In State of Tamil Nadu & Another Vs. Adhiyhaman Education & Research Institute & Others, (1995) 4 SCC 104, this Court noticed that Entry 66 of List I of the Seventh Schedule has remained unchanged from the inception and that Entry 11 was taken out from List II and was amalgamated with Entry 25 of List III. In the said case the Court held as follows: "12.The subject "coordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions" has always remained the special preserve of Parliament. This was so even before the Forty-second Amendment, since Entry 11 of List II even then was subject, among others, to Entry 66 of List I. After the said Amendment, the constitutional position on that score has not undergone any [pic]change. All that has happened is that Entry 11 was taken out from List II and amalgamated with Entry 25 of List III. However, even the new Entry 25 of List III is also subject to the provisions, among others, of Entry 66 of List I. It cannot, therefore, be doubted nor is it contended before us, that the legislation with regard to coordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions has always been the preserve of Parliament. What was contended before us on behalf of the State was that Entry 66 enables Parliament to lay down the minimum standards but does not deprive the State legislature from laying down standards above the said minimum standards. We will deal with this argument at its proper place.

xxx xxx xxxx

41. What emerges from the above discussion is as follows:

(i) The expression 'coordination' used in Entry 66 of the Union List of the Seventh

Schedule to the Constitution does not merely mean evaluation. It means harmonisation with a view to forge a uniform pattern for a concerted action according to a certain design, scheme or plan of development. It, therefore, includes action not only for removal of disparities in standards but also for preventing the occurrence of such disparities. It would, therefore, also include power to do all things which are necessary to prevent what would make 'coordination' either impossible or difficult. This power is absolute and unconditional and in the absence of any valid compelling reasons, it must be given its full effect according to its plain and express intention.

(ii) To the extent that the State legislation is in conflict with the Central legislation though the former is purported to have been made under Entry 25 of the Concurrent List but in effect encroaches upon legislation including subordinate legislation made by the Centre under Entry 25 of the Concurrent List or to give effect to Entry 66 of the Union List, it would be void and inoperative.

(iii) If there is a conflict between the two legislations, unless the State legislation is saved by the provisions of the main part of clause (2) of Article 254, the State legislation being repugnant to the Central legislation, the same would be inoperative.

(iv) Whether the State law encroaches upon Entry 66 of the Union List or is repugnant to the law made by the Centre under Entry 25 of the Concurrent List, will have to be determined by the examination of the two laws and will depend upon the facts of each case.

(v) When there are more applicants than the available situations/seats, the State authority is not prevented from laying down higher standards or qualifications than those laid down by the Centre or the Central authority to short-list the applicants. When the State authority does so, it does not encroach upon Entry 66 of the Union List or make a law which is repugnant to the Central law.

(vi) However, when the situations/seats are available and the State authorities deny an applicant the same on the ground that the applicant is not qualified according to its standards or qualifications, as the case may be, although the applicant satisfies the standards or qualifications laid down by the Central law, they act unconstitutionally. So also when the State authorities de-recognise or disaffiliate an institution for not satisfying the standards or requirement laid down by them, although it satisfied the norms and requirements laid down by the Central authority, the State authorities act illegally."

51. In Dr. Preeti Srivastava & Another Vs. State of M.P. & Others, (1999) 7 SCC 120, a Constitution Bench of five Judges dealt with the State competence under List III Entry 25 to control or regulate higher education which is subject to standards laid down by the Union of India. The Court noticed that the standards of higher education can be laid down under List I Entry 66 by the Central Legislation and held as follows:

"35. The legislative competence of Parliament and the legislatures of the States to make laws under Article 26 is regulated by the VIIth Schedule to the Constitution. In the VIIth Schedule as originally in force, Entry 11 of List II gave to the State an exclusive power to legislate on "education including universities, subject to the provisions of Entries 63, 64, 65 and 66 of List I and Entry 25 of List III".

Entry 11 of List II was deleted and Entry 25 of List III was amended with effect from 3-1-1976 as a result of the Constitution 42nd Amendment Act of 1976. The present Entry 25 in the Concurrent List is as follows:

"25.Education, including technical education, medical education and universities, subject to the provisions of Entries 63, 64, 65 and 66 of List I; vocational and technical training of labour." [pic] Entry 25 is subject, inter alia, to Entry 66 of List I. Entry 66 of List I is as follows:

"66. Coordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions."

Both the Union as well as the States have the power to legislate on education including medical education, subject, inter alia, to Entry 66 of List I which deals with laying down standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions as also coordination of such standards. A State has, therefore, the right to control education including medical education so long as the field is not occupied by any Union legislation. Secondly, the State cannot, while controlling education in the State, impinge on standards in institutions for higher education. Because this is exclusively within the purview of the Union Government. Therefore, while prescribing the criteria for admission to the institutions for higher education including higher medical education, the State cannot adversely affect the standards laid down by the Union of India under Entry 66 of List I. Secondly, while considering the cases on the subject it is also necessary to remember that from 1977, education, including, inter alia, medical and university education, is now in the Concurrent List so that the Union can legislate on admission criteria also. If it does so, the State will not be able to legislate in this field, except as provided in Article 254.

36. It would not be correct to say that the norms for admission have no connection with the standard of education, or that the rules for admission are covered only by Entry 25 of List III. Norms of admission can have a direct impact on the standards of education. Of course, there can be rules for admission which are consistent with or do not affect adversely the standards of education prescribed by the Union in exercise of powers under Entry 66 of List I. For example, a State may, for admission to the postgraduate medical courses, lay down qualifications in addition to those prescribed under Entry 66 of List I. This would be consistent with promoting higher standards for admission to the higher educational courses. But any lowering of the norms laid down can and does have an adverse effect on the standards of education in the institutes of higher education. Standards of education in an institution or college depend on various factors. Some of these are:

(1) the calibre of the teaching staff;

(2) a proper syllabus designed to achieve a high level of education in the given span of time;

(3) the student-teacher ratio;

(4) the ratio between the students and the hospital beds available to each student;

(5) the calibre of the students admitted to the institution; (6) equipment and laboratory facilities, or hospital facilities for training in the case of medical colleges;

(7) adequate accommodation for the college and the attached hospital; and pic the standard of examinations held including the manner in which the papers are set and examined and the clinical performance is judged.

37. While considering the standards of education in any college or institution, the calibre of students who are admitted to that institution or college cannot be ignored. If the students are of a high calibre, training programmes can be suitably moulded so that they can receive the maximum benefit out of a high level of teaching. If the calibre of the students is poor or they are unable to follow the instructions being imparted, the standard of teaching necessarily has to be lowered to make them understand the course which they have undertaken; and it may not be possible to reach the levels of education and training which can be attained with a bright group. Education involves a continuous interaction between the teachers and the students. The pace of teaching, the level to which teaching can rise and the benefit which the students ultimately receive, depend as much on the calibre of the students as on the calibre of the teachers and the availability of adequate infrastructural facilities. That is why a lower student-teacher ratio has been considered essential at the levels of higher university education, particularly when the training to be imparted is a highly professional training requiring individual attention and on-hand training to the pupils who are already doctors and who are expected to treat patients in the course of doing their postgraduate courses."

52. In Annamalai University Vs. Secretary to Government, Information and Tourism Department & Others, (2009) 4 SCC 590, this Court observed that UGC Act was enacted by Parliament in exercise of its power under Entry 66 of List I of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India whereas the Open University Act was enacted by Parliament in exercise of its power under Entry 25 of List III. It was held that in such circumstances the question of repugnancy between the provisions of the said two Acts, does not arise. The Court while holding that the provisions of the UGC Act are binding on all the Universities held as follows:

"40. The UGC Act was enacted by Parliament in exercise of its power under Entry 66 of List I of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India whereas the Open University Act was enacted by Parliament in exercise of its power under Entry 25 of List III thereof. The question of repugnancy of the provisions of the said two Acts, therefore, does not arise. It is true that the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Open University Act shows that the formal system of education had not been able to provide an effective means to equalise educational opportunities. The system is rigid inter alia in respect of attendance in classrooms. Combinations of subjects are also inflexible.

42. The provisions of the UGC Act are binding on all universities whether conventional or open. Its powers are very broad. The Regulations framed by it in terms of clauses (e), (f), (g) and (h) of sub-section (1) of Section 26 are of wide amplitude. They apply equally to open universities as also to formal conventional universities. In the matter of higher education, it is necessary to maintain minimum standards of instructions. Such minimum standards of instructions are required to be defined by UGC. The standards and the coordination of work or facilities in universities must be maintained and for that purpose required to be regulated. The powers of UGC under Section 26 (1) (f) and 26 (1) (g) are very broad in nature. Subordinate legislation as is well known when validly made becomes part of the Act. We have noticed hereinbefore that the functions of UGC are all-pervasive in respect of the matters specified in clause (d) of sub-section (1) of Section 12-A and clauses (a) and (c) of sub-section (2) thereof."

53. The aforesaid judgment makes it clear that to the extent the State Legislation is in conflict with Central Legislation including sub-ordinate legislation made by the Central Legislation under Entry 25 of the Concurrent List shall be repugnant to the Central Legislation and would be inoperative."

In A.P.J. Abdul Kalam Technological University & Another Vs. Jai Bharath College of Management and Engineering Technology & Others reported in (2021) 2 SCC 564, the Apex has pronounced that while counseling eligibility criteria sinking the models laid down by the Central Body/AICTE for admission to institutions of higher education, the State/University cannot undesirably distress canons laid down by the Central Body/AICTE. Advocating higher standards for admission by laying down qualifications in accumulation to or higher than those prescribed by Central Body/AICTE consistent with object of endorsing higher standards and brilliance in higher educations will not be reflected as unsympathetically disturbing standards laid own by the Central Body/AICTE. Thus, the Apex Court has apprehended that University/State Government concerned undoubtedly has the muscle to fix higher eligibility criteria than the minimum prearranged by the Central Governing Body/AICTE to triumph the refinement in edification.

For ready reference, relevant paragraphs of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of A.P.J. Abdul Kalam Technological University (Supra) i.e. paragraph nos. 44 to 48 are being quoted herein below:

"44. In R. Chitralekha Vs. State of Mysore and Others, the Constitution Bench of this Court pointed out that the question regarding the impact of Entry 66 of List-I on Entry-25 of List-III must be determined by a reading of the Central Act and the State Act conjointly. The Court pointed out that a State Law providing for such standards, having regard to Entry 66 of List-I, would be struck down as unconstitutional only if the same is found to be so heavy or devastating as to wipe out or appreciably abridge the Central field and not otherwise. The Court also pointed out that if a State law prescribes higher percentage of marks for extra-curricular activities in the matter of admissions to colleges, it cannot be said that it would be encroaching on the field covered by Entry 66 of List-I.

45. The decision of the Supreme Court in R. Chitralekha (supra) was followed in several cases including the one in State of A.P. Vs. K. Purushotham Reddy & Others. The decision in K. Purushotham Reddy (supra) arose under very peculiar circumstances. The State of Andhra Pradesh enacted in the year 1986, an Act known as Andhra Pradesh Commissionerate of Higher Education Act, 1986. The constitutional validity of the said Act was questioned on the ground of lack of legislative competence, in view of the University Grants Commission Act, 1956. Though a Full Bench of the High Court rejected the challenge, the Supreme Court declared the Act as unconstitutional, by its judgment in Osmania University Teachers' Association vs. State of Andhra Pradesh & Another. Thereafter, the Government of Andhra Pradesh enacted the Andhra Pradesh State Council of Higher Education Act, 1988. This Act was declared as unconstitutional by the High Court, on the same premise on which the 1986 Act was declared by this Court as unconstitutional. Therefore, the matter was carried to this Court. A Two Member Bench of this Court doubted the correctness of the decision in Osmania University Teachers' Association (supra), and hence, the matter was referred to a three-member Bench. The three-member Bench rejected the challenge to the State Act, by following the decision in R. Chitralekha (supra) and pointed out that when a State Act is in aid of the Parliament Act, the same would not entrench upon the latter.

46. The law is now fairly well settled that while it is not open to the Universities to dilute the norms and standards prescribed by AICTE, it is always open to the Universities to prescribe enhanced norms. As regards the role of the Universities vis-a-vis the AICTE, this Court held in Bharathidasan University & Another Vs. All India Council for Technical Education and Others, that AICTE is not a super power with a devastating role undermining the status, authority and autonomous functioning of the Universities in areas and spheres assigned to them. This view was followed in Association Management of Private Colleges Vs. All India Council for Technical Education and Others.

(Emphasis added)

47. That even the State Government can prescribe higher standards than those prescribed by AICTE was recognized by a three-member Bench of this court in State of T.N. & Another Vs. S.V. Bratheep (Minor) & Others. This principle was later applied in the case of Universities in Visveswaraiah Technological University & Another Vs. Krishnendu Halder & Others, where this Court considered the previous decisions and summarised the legal position emerging therefrom as follows:

(i) While prescribing the eligibility criteria for admission to institutions of higher education, the State/University cannot adversely affect the standards laid down by the Central Body/AICTE. The term "adversely affect the standards" refers to lowering of the norms laid down by Central Body/AICTE. Prescribing higher standards for admission by laying down qualifications in addition to or higher than those prescribed by AICTE, consistent with the object of promoting higher standards and excellence in higher education, will not be considered as adversely affecting the standards laid down by the Central Body/AICTE.

(ii) The observation in para 41(vi) of Adhiyaman to the effect that where seats remain unfilled, the state authorities cannot deny admission to any student satisfying the minimum standards laid down by AICTE, even though he is not qualified according to its standards, is not good law.

(iii) The fact that there are unfilled seats in a particular year, does not mean that in that year, the eligibility criteria fixed by the State/University would cease to apply or that the minimum eligibility criteria suggested by AICTE alone would apply. Unless and until the State or the University chooses to modify the eligibility criteria fixed by them, they will continue to apply in spite of the fact that there are vacancies or unfilled seats in any year. The main object of prescribing 6 (2004) 4 SCC 513 7 (2011) 4 SCC 606eligibility criteria is not to ensure that all seats in colleges are filled, but to ensure that excellence in standards of higher education is maintained.

(iv) The State/University (as also AICTE) should periodically (at such intervals as they deem fit) review the prescription of eligibility criteria for admissions, keeping in balance, the need to maintain excellence and high standard in higher education on the one hand, and the need to maintain a healthy ratio between the total number of seats available in the state and the number of students seeking admission, on the other. If necessary, they may revise the eligibility criteria so as to continue excellence in education and at the same time being realistic about the attainable standards of marks in the qualifying examinations.

48. Visveswaraiah (supra) principles were reiterated in Mahatma Gandhi University and Another vs. Jikku Paul and Others8. The legal position summarised in paragraph 14 of the report in Visveswaraiah (supra) (extracted above) were quoted with approval by the Constitution Bench in Mordern Dental College & Research Centre & Others Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh & Others. In Modern Dental College (supra), issue No. IV framed for consideration by the Constitution Bench (as reflected in the opinion of the majority) was as to "whether the legislation in question was beyond the legislative competence of the State of Madhya Pradesh". While answering this issue, the opinion of the majority was to the effect (i) that the decision in Dr. Preeti Srivastava & Another Vs. State of M.P. & Others did not exclude the role of the States altogether from admissions; and (ii) that the observations in Bharati Vidyapeeth (deemed university) and Others Vs. State of Maharashtra & Another as though the entire gamut of admissions was covered by Entry 66 of ListI, has to be overruled. In the concurring and supplementing opinion rendered by R. Banumathi, J., in Modern Dental College (supra), the legal position enunciated in Visveswaraiah (supra) were extracted and followed."

24. From prudently perusing of the aforementioned laws laid down by the Apex Court in its verdicts referred to above, this Court is of the estimation that once Act, 1956 is recognized by the State, then any directions or guidelines edged under the said Act intermittently are requisite for all the States/Universities/Colleges to admit the same. Meaning thereby, the Regulations outlined by the University Grants Commission are obligatory upon the all the State Universities and Institution through the Republic. However, in view of the decree of the Apex Court in the case of Kalyani Mathivanan (Supra), it is vibrant that unless or until, any procedures enclosed by the UGC are espoused and instigated by the State Legislation, the same will be relatively mandatory and will be comparatively directory. It is also conventional from the aforesaid findings that the objective and purpose of the UGC and other Central Commission is to safeguard that in higher education, minimum criterions of education are provided to all the students of all higher educational institutions/universities through the country correspondingly. However, in the actualities of the contemporaneous case, the regulations edged by the UGC of the year 2016 and 2018 are silent in counseling higher eligibility criteria for admission to Pre-Ph.D. Course. From examination of the decree as laid down by the Apex Court in its judgments, which have been quoted herein above, it is established that for sponsoring higher standards for admission to the higher educational courses, the State Legislation has every authority/right to counsel/fix maximum eligibility criteria but the same should not be irrational or manageable and such prescription or fascination cannot be said to be, in dissension to, or, infringement of, the Regulations mounted by the Central Legislation like UGC. However, it is also unblemished that the State Legislation cannot subordinate the minimum eligibility criteria in higher education, as riveted by the Central Legislation like the UGC, as any dropping of the customs laid down can and does have a confrontational influence on the principles of edification in the establishments of higher education. In the specifics of the present case, in the Regulations of the UGC of the year 2016, the minimum eligibility criteria approved for admission to M.Phil and Ph.D is to have a master degree with 55% marks, whereas the respondent-University vide its Ordinances, has recommended the minimum second division marks in graduation for the candidate to possess apart from the minimum admissibility, as prescribed by the UGC, is in additional to the minimum prerequisite, which does not lower down the minimum eligibility, in any fashion, which has been approved by the UGC vide its Regulations. Hence, the same can be treated as prescription of higher standards by the respondent-University. Therefore, the issue of prevailing the Ordinance of the respondent-University over the Regulations framed by the UGC does not ascend, as there has to be no repugnancy or paradox in the Regulations of the UGC and Ordinances of the respondent-University. This Court, therefore, is of the outlook that Clause-3.1 (b) of the Deen Dayal Upadhya, Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree-Ph.D) being in consonance with the regulations framed by the UGC and not in violation of the same, which offers that for admission in Ph.D. Course, only those candidates will be qualified, who fortified second division marks in undergraduate course, is not foist or incompatible to the regulations outlined by the UGC.

25. In view of the aforesaid, this Court finds that the encounter made on behalf the petitioners to the vires of Clause-3.1 (b) of the Deen Dayal Upadhya, Gorakhpur University Research Ordinance 2018 (Minimum Criteria and Procedure for Research Degree-Ph.D) cannot be approved by this Court and, therefore, Issue no.1 and its sub-issues answer against the petitioners.

26. Since Regulations mounted by the UGC of the year 2016 and 2018 are silent in fixation of eligibility criteria for admission to Ph.D. Course under or upto graduate level, the embracing of the aforesaid pronouncements does not ascend. Therefore, the issue no. 4 is not applicable in the particulars of the existent case.

Now this Court garners up on Issue No.3

In the actualities of the contemporaneous case, pursuant to the news item/advertisement acquainted by the respondent-University, wherein it has explicitly been mentioned that for appearing in research eligibility test, the minimum eligibility criteria for Ph.D. degree is to have second division in graduation, the petitioners applied with open eyes and appeared in the test, ensuingly, they have been avowed eligible for the explanations preeminently known to the respondent-University. Consequently, they have been issued eligibility certificate. Thereafter on scrutiny of their candidature, it was established that the petitioners were not eligible as per the University Research Ordinance, 2018 as they did not possess the minimum second division marks in graduation. As such, after a comprehensive inquiry, it was found that the admissions contracted to the petitioners on some blunders perpetrated by the officials of the respondent-University are dissimilar to the news item/advertisement and the Ordinance of the respondent-University, the respondent-University has determined to revoke the admissions of the petitioners for which a notification dated 16th January, 2021 has been issued by the respondent-University. In the credence of this Court, the respondent-University has every authority/right to terminate the admissions of the petitioners, which are antagonistic to Ordinances of the respondent-University at any time. In the case of State of Rajasthan & Others Vs. Lata Arun delineated in 2002 (5) SC 210, the Apex Court has surveyed the invalidation of admission of a candidate to the General Nursing and Midwifery and Staff Nurse Course on the ground that the respondent did not possess the eligibility criteria. The Apex Court, while setting aside the assessment of the High Court, held that the high Court has miscalculated in issuing guidelines to the appellants to treat the respondent as a candidate possessed of all the prearranged qualification and to asseverate his result.

In A.P. Christians Medical Educational Society Vs. Government of Andhra Pradesh & Another reported in (1986) 2 SCC 667, has unmistakably discoursed that the Court cannot issue direction to the University to safeguard the comforts of the students, who had been admitted to the medical college as that would be in strong indiscretion of the provisions of the University Act and the protocols of the University. The appropriate portion whereof is being quoted herein below:

"10. Shri K.K. Venugopal, learned counsel for the students who have been admitted into the MBBS course of this institution, pleaded that the interests of the students should not be sacrificed because of the conduct or folly of the management and that they should be permitted to appear at the University examination notwithstanding the circumstance that permission and affiliation had not been granted to the institution. He invited our attention to the circumstance that students of the Medical college established by the Daru-Salaam Educational Trust were permitted to appear at the examination notwithstanding the fact that affiliation had not by then been granted by the University. Shri Venugopal suggested that we might issue appropriate directions to the University to protect the interests of the students. We do not think that we can possibly acceed to the request made by Shri Venugopal on behalf of the students. Any direction of the nature sought by Shri Venugopal would be in clear transgression of the provisions of the University Act and the regulations of the University. We cannot by our fiat direct the University to disobey the statute to which it owes its existence and the regulations made by the University itself. We cannot imagine anything more destructive of the rule of law than a direction by the court to disobey the laws. ...."
(Emphasis added)

Correspondingly, in the case of Gurdeep Singh Vs. State of Jammu and Kashmir & Others, reported in 1995 Supp (1) SCC 188, the Apex Court, while probing the selection of a candidate, who was ineligible to be admitted, has held that in order to sustain the limpidness of academic progression, the selection and admission of respondent no.6 must be quashed. Paragraph-12 of the aforesaid judgment, which is relevant, reads as follows:

"12. What remains to be considered is whether the selection of respondent No. 6 should be quashed. We are afraid, unduly lenient view of the courts on the basis of human consideration in regard to such excesses on the part of the authorities, has served to create an impression that even where an advantage is secured by stratagem and trickery, it could be rationalised in courts of law. Courts do and should take human and sympathetic view of matters. That is the very essence of justice. But considerations of judicial policy also dictate that a tendency of this kind where advantage gained by illegal means is permitted to be retained will jeopardise the purity of selection process itself; engender cynical disrespect towards the judicial process and in the last analyses embolden errant authorities and candidates into a sense of complacency and impunity that gains achieved by such wrongs could be retained by an appeal to the sympathy of the court. Such instances reduce the jurisdiction and discretion of courts into private benevolence. This tendency should be stopped. The selection of respondent No. 6 in the sports category was, on the material placed before us thoroughly unjustified. He was not eligible in the sports category. He would not be entitled on the basis of his marks, to a seat in general merit category. Attribution of eligibility long after the selection process was over, in our opinion is misuse of power. While we have sympathy for the predicament of respondent No. 6, it should not lose sight of the fact that the situation is the result of his own making. We think in order to uphold the purity of academic processes, we should quash the selection and admission of respondent No. 6. We do so though, however, reluctantly."

Further more, the Apex Court in the case of Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation Vs. Subhash Indhi Cooperation Housing Society, Jaipur & Others reported in (2013) 5 SCC 427, has observed that the State and statutory authorities are not bound by their erstwhile erroneous understanding or elucidation of law. The relevant portion whereof reads as follows:

"Be that as it may, there can be no estoppel against the law or public policy. The State and statutory authorities are not bound by their previous erroneous understanding or interpretation of law. Statutory authorities or legislature cannot be asked to act in contravention of law."

In assessment the aforesaid mature legal postulations of the law, this Court is of the estimation that the respondent-University has not committed any illicitness or aberration in cancelling the admission of the petitioners on the ground that they are ineligible for Ph.D. course, as they have not possessed second division marks under or upto graduate level, which is prerequisite under Clause 3.1 (b) of Ordinance, 2018 of the respondent-Commission. Therefore, Issue no.3 also answers against the petitioners.

28. Now, this Court comes to Issue No.2:

As already perceived above, the petitioners applied pursuant to news item/advertisement informed by the respondent-Commission for Research Eligibility Test, 2019. In spite of the fact that in the aforesaid news item/advertisement, it has unequivocally been mentioned that the candidates are required to retain minimum second division marks in Graduation, the petitioners, who did not possess the second division marks in Graduation, have applied pursuant to the aforesaid news item/advertisement, with open eyes and they themselves postured them in a situation, where at the time of examination of their eligibility, they were found ineligible on account of not having minimum second division marks in graduation as per Clause 3.1 (b) of University Research Ordinances, 2018. In the stance of the Court, writ petitioners, after having applied and appeared in the test without any demur, are not authorized to encounter the same, after their admissions have been negated on the ground that their admissions are conflicting the Ordinances of the respondent-University.

The law on the subject has been crystalized in several decisions of the Apex Court Court

In the case of Chandra Prakash Tiwari vs. Shantanu Shukla reported in (2002) 6 SCC 127, the Apex Court has laid down the principle that when a candidate appears at an examination without demurral and is consequently found to be unrewarding, a challenge to the process is inhibited. The question of contemplating a petition challenging an examination would not ascend where a candidate has appeared and partaken. He or she cannot subsequently turn around and contend that the process was prejudice or that there was a hiatus therein, merely because the result is not palatable.

The Apex Court, in Union of India v. S. Vinodh Kumar reported in (2007) 8 SCC 100, has held as follows:

"18. It is also well settled that those candidates who had taken part in the selection process knowing fully well the procedure laid down therein were not entitled to question the same..."

In Vijendra Kumar Verma v. Public Service Commission reported in (2011) 1 SCC 150, the Apex Court has opined that the candidates who had participated in the selection process were cognizant that they were required to retain certain specific credentials in computer operations. The appellants had appeared in the selection process and after partaking in the interview sought to contest the selection process as being without jurisdiction. This was held to be verboten.

In the case of Chandigarh Admn. Jasmine Kaur reported in (2014) 10 SCC 521, it has been opined by the Apex Court that a candidate who takes a premeditated hazard or chance by subjecting himself or herself to the selection process cannot turn around and grumble that the process of selection was prejudiced after knowing of his or her non-selection.

In Pradeep Kumar Rai vs. Dinesh Kumar Pandey, reported in (2015) 11 SCC 493, the Apex Court has held that :

"Moreover, we would concur with the Division Bench on one more point that the appellants had participated in the process of interview and not challenged it till the results were declared. There was a gap of almost four months between the interview and declaration of result. However, the appellants did not challenge it at that time. This, it appears that only when the appellants found themselves to be unsuccessful, they challenged the interview. This cannot be allowed. The candidates cannot approbate and reprobate at the same time. Either the candidates should not have participated in the interview and challenged the procedure or they should have challenged immediately after the interviews were conducted."

The Apex Court in the case of Madras Institute of Development Studies and Another Vs. Sivasubramaniyam & Others reported in (2016) 1 SCC 454, dealing with the issue as to whether a person who determinedly takes part in the process of selection can turn around and question the scheme of selection is no longer res integra. Paragraph nos. 13 to 18 of the aforesaid judgment, read as follows:

"19. Be that as it may, the respondent, without raising any objection to the alleged variations in the contents of the advertisement and the Rules, submitted his application and participated in the selection process by appearing before the Committee of experts. It was only after he was not selected for appointment, turned around and challenged the very selection process. Curiously enough, in the writ petition the only relief sought for is to quash the order of appointment without seeking any relief as regards his candidature and entitlement to the said post.

20. The question as to whether a person who consciously takes part in the process of selection can turn around and question the method of selection is no longer res integra.

21. In Dr. G. Sarana vs. University of Lukcnow & Ors., (1976) 3 SCC 585, a similar question came for consideration before a three Judges Bench of this Court where the fact was that the petitioner had applied to the post of Professor of Athropology in the University of Lucknow. After having appeared before the Selection Committee but on his failure to get appointed, the petitioner rushed to the High Court pleading bias against him of the three experts in the Selection Committee consisting of five members. He also alleged doubt in the constitution of the Committee. Rejecting the contention, the Court held:-

"15. We do not, however, consider it necessary in the present case to go into the question of the reasonableness of bias or real likelihood of bias as despite the fact that the appellant knew all the relevant facts, he did not before appearing for the interview or at the time of the interview raise even his little finger against the constitution of the Selection Committee. He seems to have voluntarily appeared before the committee and taken a chance of having a favourable recommendation from it. Having done so, it is not now open to him to turn round and question the constitution of the committee. This view gains strength from a decision of this Court in Manak Lal's case where in more or less similar circumstances, it was held that the failure of the appellant to take the identical plea at the earlier stage of the proceedings created an effective bar of waiver against him. The following observations made therein are worth quoting: "It seems clear that the appellant wanted to take a chance to secure a favourable report from the tribunal which was constituted and when he found that he was confronted with an unfavourable report, he adopted the device of raising the present technical point."

22. In Madan Lal & Ors. vs. State of J&K & Ors. (1995) 3 SCC 486, similar view has been reiterated by the Bench which held that:-

"9. Before dealing with this contention, we must keep in view the salient fact that the petitioners as well as the contesting successful candidates being respondents concerned herein, were all found eligible in the light of marks obtained in the written test, to be eligible to be called for oral interview. Up to this stage there is no dispute between the parties. The petitioners also appeared at the oral interview conducted by the Members concerned of the Commission who interviewed the petitioners as well as the contesting respondents concerned. Thus the petitioners took a chance to get themselves selected at the said oral interview. Only because they did not find themselves to have emerged successful as a result of their combined performance both at written test and oral interview, they have filed this petition. It is now well settled that if a candidate takes a calculated chance and appears at the interview, then, only because the result of the interview is not palatable to him, he cannot turn round and subsequently contend that the process of interview was unfair or the Selection Committee was not properly constituted. In the case of Om Prakash v. Akhilesh Kumar Shukla it has been clearly laid down by a Bench of three learned Judges of this Court that when the petitioner appeared at the examination without protest and when he found that he would not succeed in examination he filed a petition challenging the said examination, the High Court should not have granted any relief to such a petitioner.

23. In Manish Kumar Shahi vs. State of Bihar, (2010) 12 SCC 576, this Court reiterated the principle laid down in the earlier judgments and observed:-

"We also agree with the High Court that after having taken part in the process of selection knowing fully well that more than 19% marks have been earmarked for viva voce test, the petitioner is not entitled to challenge the criteria or process of selection. Surely, if the petitioner's name had appeared in the merit list, he would not have even dreamed of challenging the selection. The petitioner invoked jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India only after he found that his name does not figure in the merit list prepared by the Commission. This conduct of the petitioner clearly disentitles him from questioning the selection and the High Court did not commit any error by refusing to entertain the writ petition."

24. In the case of Ramesh Chandra Shah and others vs. Anil Joshi & Others, (2013) 11 SCC 309, recently a Bench of this Court following the earlier decisions held as under:-

"In view of the propositions laid down in the above noted judgments, it must be held that by having taken part in the process of selection with full knowledge that the recruitment was being made under the General Rules, the respondents had waived their right to question the advertisement or the methodology adopted by the Board for making selection and the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench of the High Court committed grave error by entertaining the grievance made by the respondents."

In the case of Ashok Kumar & Another Vs. State of Bihar & Others reported in (2017) 4 SCC 357, the Apex Court has opined that those candidates who had taken part in the selection process astute with the procedure laid down therein were not authorized to question the same.

In view of the aforementioned established proposition of law, this Court is of the view point that as the petitioners applied pursuant to the news item/advertisement with open eyes and were declared eligible, they are not enabled to contest the said news item/advertisement after their admissions have been annulled by the respondent-University, as the same is antagonistic to the Ordinances, 2018. Hence, the Issue No.2 is also in negative to the petitioners.

29. This Court is now going to scrutinize the issue, as raised by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the principles of estoppels and acquiescence will apply against the University in the actualities of the present case.

It is settled proposition of law that estoppel does not lie against the Statute. (Vide Delhi Development Authority Vs. Ravindra Mohan Aggarwal & Ors., (1999) 3 SCC 172; and M.I. Builders Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Radhey Shyam Sahu & Ors., (1999) 6 SCC 464). Nor the Court has an authority to issue any direction contrary to law. (Vide Union of India & Ors. Vs. Kirloskar Pneumatic Co. Ltd., (1996) 4 SCC 453; State of U.P. & Ors. Vs. Harish Chandra & Ors., (1996) 9 SCC 309; Vice Chancellor, University of Allahabad & Ors. Vs. Dr. Anand Prakash Mishra & Ors., (1997) 10 SCC 264; and Shish Ram & Ors. Vs. State of Haryana & Ors., (2000) 6 SCC 84).

A Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Dr. H.S. Rikhy etc. Vs. The New Delhi Municipal Committee, reported in AIR 1962 SC 554, has emphatically held that question of estoppel does not arise against Statute, and the Court placed reliance upon paragraph 427 of Volume XV, 3rd Edition of the Halsbury's Law of England, wherein it has been observed as under:-

"Results must not ultra vires - A party cannot, by representation, any more than by other means, raise against himself an estoppel so as to create a state of things which he is legally disabled from creating. Thus, a corporate or statutory body cannot be estopped from denying that it has entered into a contract which it was ultra vires for it to make. No corporate body can be bound by estoppel to do something beyond its powers, or to refrain from doing what it is its duty to do.. . . . "

The Apex Court in the said case precluded an analogous contention observing as under:-

"In this connection, it is also convenient here to notice the argument that the Committee is estopped by its conduct from challenging the enforceability of the contract. The answer to the argument is that where a Statute makes a specific provision that a body corporate has to act in a particular manner and no other, that provision of law being mandatory and not directory, has to be strictly followed."

Similar view has been recapped by the Apex Court in Bengal Iron Corporation Vs. Commercial Taxes Officer & Ors., AIR 1993 SC 2414; S. Saktivel Vs. M. Venugopal Pillai, (2000) 7 SCC 104; Chandra Prakash Tiwari Vs. Shakuntala Shukla, (2002) 6 SCC 127; and I.T.C. Ltd. Vs. Person Incharge, AMC, Kakinada & Ors., (2004) AIR SCW 792.

Similarly, in A.C. Jose Vs. Sivan Pillai reported in AIR 1984 SC 921, a similar view has been reiterated by the Apex Court perceiving as under:-

"Lastly, it was argued by the counsel for the respondents that the appellant would be estopped from challenging the mechanical process because he did not oppose the introduction of this process, although he was present in the meeting personally or through his agent. This argument is wholly untenable because when we are considering a constitutional or statutory provision, there can be no estoppel against a Statute and whether or not the appellant agreed or participated in the meeting, which was held before introduction of the voting machines. If such a process is not permissible or authorised by law, he cannot be estopped from challenging the same."

In Union of India & Ors. Vs. Godfrey Philips India Ltd., reported in (1985) 4 SCC 369, it was held by the Apex Court that:-

"There can be no promissory estoppel against the Legislature in the exercise of its legislative functions nor can the Government or public authority be debarred by promissory estoppel from enforcing a statutory prohibition.....promissory estoppel cannot be used to compel the Government or a public authority to carry out a representation or promise which is contrary to law or which was outside the authority or power of the officer of the Government or of the public authority to make. .....promissory estoppel being an equitable doctrine, it must yield when the equity so requires; if it can be shown by the Government or public authority that having regard to the facts as they have transpired, it would be inequitable to hold the Government or public authority to the promise or representation made by it, the Court would not raise an equity in favour of the person to whom the promise or representation is made and enforce the promise or representation against the Government or public authority. The doctrine of promissory estoppel would be displaced in such a case, because on the facts, equity would not require that the Government or public authority should be held bound by the promise or representation made by it....."

Thus, in interpretation of the above, the question of application of estoppel against Statute/Public Policy does not arise, as the Ordinance, 2018 outlined by the respondent-University has a statutory dynamism and the respondent-University cannot be constrained to take admission of a student against the qualifications prescribed in statutes. As such, the issue as raised by the learned counsel for the petitioners has no force and the same cannot be acknowledged.

30. It is no doubt accurate that all the concerns deliberated herein above have gone against the petitioners, in view of the conclusions of the Apex referred to above but this Court also cannot lose of the sight of the fact that despite the fact that in the news item/advertisement notified by the respondent-Commission, it has unambiguously been stated that the candidates are required to possess minimum second division marks in Graduation, the petitioners, who did not possess the second division marks in Graduation, the petitioners applied pursuant to the aforementioned news item/advertisement, and they themselves postured them in a situation, where at the time of scrutiny of their eligibility i.e. after nearly two years, they were found ineligible on account of not having minimum second division marks in graduation as per Clause 3.1 (b) of University Research Ordinances, 2018, but it is also correct that there is a fault on the part of the respondent-University, which declared the petitioners eligible for Research Eligibility Test and they have continued in the Pre Ph.D. Course for nearly two years, meaning thereby that the petitioners have spent his tresurable time in enduring the same.

31. In assessment of the aforesaid, this Court finds that the petitioners as well as the respondent-Commission are found at culpability in admissions of the petitioners, which is disagreeing to the Ordinances of the respondent-university. This Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is a Court of equity and impartiality, therefore, the justice should be done between the parties with the same fair-mindedness.

Considering the issue of equity, the Apex Court in the case of Ashok Chand Singhvi Vs. University of Jodhpur & Ors. reported in 1989 Supreme (SC) 38 in paragraph-17, has held that candidate cannot be made to suffer adversity for impreciseness and onerousness of authorities-Statutes, rules and regulations of University. Relevant portion whereof read as follows:

".....At the same time, this Court took the view that the fault lay with the engineering colleges which admitted the appellants and that there was no reason why the appellants should suffer for the sins of the management of these engineering colleges. Accordingly, this Court allowed the appellants to continue their studies in the respective engineering colleges in which they were granted admission. The same principle which weighed with this Court in that case should also be applied in the instant case. The appellant was not at fault and we do not see why he should suffer for the mistake committed by the Vice-Chancellor and the Dean of the Faculty of Engineering."

The Calcutta High Court, in the case of Dr. Pawan Kumar Agarwal & Etc. vs. The University of Calcutta And Anr. reported in AIR 1998 Cal 105, has held as follows:

"87. It appears therefore that the Vice-Chancellor acted mechanically and without application of his mind and passed order which had the penal consequence affecting the career of the students. The Vice-Chancellor acted merely on the basis of the observations of the Dean and did not personally apply his mind which he should have after giving opportunity to the petitioners to explain their position. Facts on record as already noted clearly demonstrate that the Vice-Chancellor did not apply his mind in taking such decision of cancellation of admission and failed

88. Accordingly I am of the opinion that there is gross violation of natural justice and absence of fairplay and fairness in action. The petitioners should not be made to suffer for the alleged irregularity in the internal administration of the University. The petitioners have already completed their studies and have appeared at the examinations. The order of cancellation of admission dated 23rd August, 1993 is accordingly set aside. The University is directed to publish the result of the petitioners forthwith."

Again the Apex Court Court, in the case of Rajendra Prasad Mathur Vs. Karnataka University & Another reported in 1986 (Supp) SCC 740, has held that though the appellants were not eligible for admission to the engineering degree course and they had no legitimate entitlement to such admission but the blameworthiness for their undeserved admissions must lie more upon the engineering colleges which contracted admission than upon the appellant-students, because the Principals of these engineering colleges must have known that the appellants were not eligible for admission and yet for the sake of capitation fee in some of the cases they granted admission to them. The appellants being fledgling students might have sincerely presumed that they were eligible for the admission. Therefore, notwithstanding the datum that the appellants were ineligible for the admission, they must be allowed to continue their studies in the respective engineering colleges in which they were granted admission. The relevant portion of

"8. .....But it must be noted that the blame for their wrongful admission must lie more upon the Engineering Colleges which granted admission then upon the appellants. It is quite possible that the appellants did not know that neither the Higher Secondary Education of the Secondary Education Board, Rajasthan nor the first year B.Sc. Examination of the Rajasthan and Udaipur Universities was recognised as equivalent to the Pre-University Examination of the Pre-University Education Board, Bangalore. The appellants being young students from Rajasthan might have presumed that since they had passed the first year B.Sc. Examination of the Rajasthan or Udaipur University or in any event the Higher Secondary Examination of the Secondary Education Board, Rajasthan they were eligible for admission. The fault lies with the Engineering Colleges which admitted the appellants because the Principals of these Engineering Colleges must have known that the appellants were not eligible for admission and yet for the sake of capitation fee in some of the cases they granted admission to the appellants. We do not see why the appellants should suffer for the sins of the managements of these Engineering Colleges. We would therefore, notwithstanding the view taken by us in this Judgment allow the appellants to continue their studies in the respective Engineering Colleges in which they were granted admission. But we do feel that against the erring Engineering Colleges the Karnataka University should take appropriate action because the managements of these Engineering Colleges have not only admitted students in eligible for admission but thereby deprived an equal number of eligible students from getting admission to the Engineering Degree Course. We also endorse the directions given by the learned Judge in the penultimate paragraph of his Judgment with a view to preventing admission of ineligible students.

The Delhi High Court in its latest judgment in the case of Abha George & Ors. vs. All India Institute of Medical reported in 2022 SCC Online Del 366, following the numerous rulings of the Apex Court has held that in the actualities and surroundings of the case, the respondents cannot be endorsed to take benefit of their identifiable wrong and cannot be permitted to take the entreaty that under the prospectus they had the authority to terminate the admission of ineligible students and the principle of estoppel will steer against them. The respondents are estopped from annulling the admission of the petitioners and further from thwarting them from pursuing the 'Pre Tib' course in the contemporaneous realities and statuses.

32. This Court also cannot loose sight of the element that human approach does not entail leaning in favour of one party. The Courts and Tribunals, while dealing with the statutory provisions, should not be channelled with altruistic contemplation and emotional appeal for the reason that if Courts advance on these basis, it would amount to fluctuating or modifying the statutory provisions or necessities of law.

In Madamanchi Ramappa & Anr. Vs. Muthaluru Bojjappas, AIR 1963 SC 1633, the Apex Court held as under:-

"What is administered in courts is justice according to law and consideration of fair play and equity however important they may be, must yield to clear and express provisions of the law."

Correspondingly, in Gauri Shanker Gaur Vs. State of U.P. reported in AIR 1994 SC 169, it has been held by the Apex Court that "in interpreting a statute even handedness will not discharge against a public statute of broad spectrum policy in cases admitted to fall within the statute and it is the responsibility of the Court to give effect to the legislative intent."

Thus, equity can supplement to but cannot supplant the statutory provisions and if any room is given for impartiality or compassion, the recruitment rules would become nugatory and field would be left open for nepotism. Thus, it is not permissible to bend the law for adjusting equity. (Vide Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation Vs. Virendra Kumar Patel, (1997) 7 SCC 650; and Smt. Rampati Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., AIR 1997 All. 170).

33. However, bearing in mind the element that the petitioners have been granted admissions to Pre-Ph.D. course by the respondent-University, despite the datum that they did not possess second division at graduate level, as is essential under news item/advertisement acquainted by the respondent-University, as per Clause 3.1 (b) of the Ordinances, 2018 and they have perused their studies for nearly two years as also the information that in the said admission of the petitioners, both the petitioners as well as officials/officers of the respondent-University are also accountable and till date of final hearing of this matter, no officer or official has been penalized by the respondent-University for yielding erroneous admissions to the petitioners as well as seeing their bright career, this Court feels it apposite in the interest of substantial justice to direct the respondent-University to authorization of the petitioners to complete their Pre-Ph.D. course treating this case to be distinctive. It is ordered, accordingly.

34. It is clarified that this case will not be taken as a precedent.

35. Both these writ petitions stand disposed of subject to the observations made above.

A. Civil Law - UP Kshettra Samiti and Zila Parishad Rules, 1984 – R. 18 – First Amendment Rules, 2020 – Participation in work-contract of Parishad – Prescription of Eligibility – Rule 18 provide no requirement of registration with Labour Department – Contrary to it advertisement required so – Technical bid of petitioner was rejected due to lack of registration – Legality challenged – Held, in the absence of any statutory provision, the Zila Panchayat was fully empowered to prescribe eligibilities/ ineligibilities that were required to be fulfilled by persons applying for the contract – Since the tender was invited in respect of a work contract, consequently, the prescription of the condition that an applicant applying for the contract should be registered with the Labour Department cannot be said to be illegal or arbitrary or contrary to Rule 18. (Para 9 and 12)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J. & Hon'ble Dinesh Pathak, J.)

1. The instant writ petition has been filed praying for quashing of the order dated 4/5.01.2022 and also the contract agreement dated 7.01.2022 executed in favour of respondents no.6 & 7 and for a further direction to respondents no.2 to 5 to accept the technical bids of the petitioner and thereafter proceed to consider the financial bids.

2. The facts in brief necessary for adjudication of the present petition are that the petitioner is a registered firm of C category in Public Works Department, Mirzapur. Respondent no.2, Zila Panchayat invited tenders for various works. The petitioner firm applied for the works shown at serial nos.50, 51, 52, 67, 97 and 98. Its technical bid has been rejected in respect of work no.51 and 52 on the ground that it is not registered with the Labour Department. The decision of Technical Bid Committee dated 4/5.01.2022 in shape of office memorandum is under challenge to the extent it seeks to disqualify the bids of the petitioner firm in respect of work no.51 and 52.

3. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the Works in respect of which bids were invited are governed by the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Samiti and Zila Parishad Rules, 1984. Initially Rule 18 permitted participation of only approved contractors whose names figure in a register maintained in the office of the Parishad or Kshettra Samiti in Form No.W-1. Rule 18 was subject matter of challenge in Writ-C No.8847 of 2020 Narayan Verma and another Vs. State of U.P. and 3 others and was decided by a Coordinate Bench by judgement dated 17.3.2020. The Division Bench, after considering Rules 18 and 19, held that the rule framing authority never intended to confine the work contracts of the District Panchayats only to the approved contractors or registered contractors under Rule 18. The relevant part of the discussion from the said judgement is extracted below:-

"By force of clause (iii), the terms used but not defined in the Rules shall have the meaning assigned to them in Rule 2 of the Rules of 1965. On going through the Rules aforesaid we noticed that the term approved contractor is not defined therein too. In absence of the definition of the term aforesaid, the amplitude of it cannot be extended to cause discrimination among the contractors placed on registered roll of government departments and further to restrict the choice of Panchayat Raj institutions to limited sphere. It is always desirable to have a broad and better choice with a view to achieve and attain better quality of work. A statute is required to be interpreted in the fashion that allows it to be workable at its optimum and also in consonance to the thrust of the complete enactment. The position would have been different, if any restriction would have been given in the Rules of 1984 or by specific assertion the "approved contractor" would have been defined in such a manner to create monopoly in grant of work on contract. In entirety, we have to interpret Rule 18 and the term "Approved Contractor" to satisfy thrust of the Rules. As such, a conjoint reading of Rules 18 and 19 of the Rules of 1984 and by taking care of other provisions we have to see the intention of the Rule framing authority. For the reasons already given, we are having no doubt that the Rule framing authority was not intending to confine the work contracts of the district panchayats only to the approved contractors or registered contractors under Rule 18."

4. It is submitted that after the said judgement, Rule 18 was amended by the First Amendment Rules, 2020 notified in U.P. Extraordinary Gazette dated 14th July, 2020. The amended Rule 18 reads thus:-

"18. Registration and qualification of contractors:-

In addition to the contractors registered in all the Zila Panchayats, the contractors also registered in the irrigation department, public works departments of the State Government will be eligible to participate in the tenders to be invited in regard to the construction and other works of the Zila Panchayats and in case of the tender being lowest for a particular work, the contractor shall be made to deposit required registration fees in the Zila Panchayat for the purpose of registration by means of a demand draft/e-banking and it shall be compulsory for the Zila Panchayat to register that contractor which one week and ask him to deposit security etc. according to the terms and conditions of the particular tender and Zila Panchayat shall execute an agreement with him. A sum of Rs.10000 (Rs. Ten Thousand only) shall be deposited by contractors as registration fees in the Zila Panchayat."

5. It is submitted that under amended Rule 18, there is no requirement of a person participating in contract to be registered with Labour Department, therefore, the condition in the advertisement relating thereto (Condition No.9) is illegal and contrary to the amended Rule 18. Therefore, the technical bid of the petitioner has been wrongly rejected.

6. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondents no.2 to 5 Sri V.K. Chandel submitted that the petitioner firm participated with full knowledge of the stipulations under the contract, particularly condition no.9, as it had submitted other documents prescribed under the said clause except the registration certificate with the Labour Department. He further submitted that some contracts have been awarded to respondents 6 and 7 long back and at this distance of time, the petition should not be entertained. He also submitted that the amendment to Rule 18 would not mean that the Zila Panchayat was denuded of its power to prescribe other conditions including the one relating to an applicant being registered with the Labour Department.

7. We have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record. Condition No.9 of the advertisement reads thus:-

"निविदादाता को समस्त प्रपत्र नीश्चित प्रारूप टी-4, टी0- 5, टी -6 पैनकार्ड, जीसटी प्रमाण पत्र, श्रम पंजीयन तथा पंजीयन प्रमाण पत्र व अन्य अभिलेख प्रत्येक बिड के साथ लगाना अनिवार्य है।"

8. The petitioner has admittedly submitted Character Certificate, Solvency Certificate, G.S.T. registration, PAN Card and other documents required to be filed under Clause no.9 and other clauses of the advertisement except the registration certificate with the Labour Department. The issue for consideration is whether in view of amended Rule 18, the requirement of filing certificate of registration from the Labour Department is valid or not.

9. A perusal of unamended Rule 18 reveals that it restricted the right to participate in work contracts of a Parishad or a Kshettra Samiti to a limited class of contractors who were registered in the office of the Parishad or Kshettra Samiti and their name figures in Form No.W-1 maintained in this behalf. It seems that a Government Order dated 16.8.2019 was issued by the State Government whereby all the contractors registered with any of the government department were held entitled to participate in tender floated by district panchayats. The said Government Order was challenged in Writ Petition (MB) No.6025 of 2020, Ashok Kumar Singh Vs. State of U.P. on the ground that it goes contrary to Rule 18. The challenge was upheld on the reasoning that a G.O. can supplement the Rule, but not supplant it.

10. The unamended Rule 18 was again subject matter of consideration in Writ Petition No.8874 of 2020 Narayan Verma and another Vs. State of U.P. and others in context of a challenge made to the same Government Order dated 16.8.2019. This time, another Division Bench deciding the issue by judgement dated 17.3.2020 declared the earlier judgement in Ashok Kumar Singh (supra) to be per incuriam on account of non-consideration of other provisions of the Rules, particularly Rule 19 and held that the rule making authority never intended to restrict the work contracts of the District Panchayats only to the approved contractors or registered contractors under Rule 18. It seems that despite the above clarification made by the Division Bench in Narayan Verma (supra), Rule 18 was amended. The amendment is clarificatory in nature and the effect of the amendment is that now it has unequivocally been provided that apart from the persons registered in Form No.W-1 in the office of Parishad or Kshettra Panchayat, other contractors also registered in the irrigation department and public works departments of the State Government would be eligible to participate in the tenders to be invited in regard to construction and other works by the Zila Panchayats.

11. The amendment in Rule 18 thus lays down the zone within which an applicant should fall to entitle him to participate in the tender. It does not lay down the eligibilities or ineligibilities for the contractors participating in the tender process. In fact, none of the Rules prescribe the same. These were prescribed in the e-tender notice by the respondent Zila Panchayat.

12. In the absence of any statutory provision, the Zila Panchayat was fully empowered to prescribe eligibilities/ ineligibilities that were required to be fulfilled by persons applying for the contract. No doubt, such conditions are to be reasonable and logical and should have nexus with the purpose for which such requirements are prescribed. Since the tender was invited in respect of a work contract, consequently, the prescription of the condition that an applicant applying for the contract should be registered with the Labour Department, in our opinion, cannot be said to be illegal or arbitrary or contrary to Rule 18. In fact, as held above, there is no scope of such a condition coming in conflict with Rule 18 , as it operates in a different field.

13. Apart from the above, we also find sufficient force in the submission of learned counsel for respondents no.2 to 5 that the contract work having been settled in favour of respondents no.6 and 7 long back in the month of January, 2022 itself, it is not a fit case to interfere.

14. Having regard to the above discussion, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Birla, J. & Hon'ble Vikas Budhwar, J.)

1. The extent and the scope of judicial interference in writ jurisdiction in the matter of tenders so floated by public authorities is the subject matter of present proceedings.

2. Factual matrix of the case as worded in the present petition are that the petitioner claims itself to be a private limited company by the name and style of Ravi Offset Printers And Publishers Pvt. Ltd. having its office at C-60, 61, 62, 63 EPIP, Shasti puram, Agra-282007 engaged in the trade of printing and supply of books pertaining to educational stream in the State of U.P. According to the petitioner, it applied for e-tender referable to the academic years 2020-2021 and 2021-2022 for providing the books pertaining to NCERT (National Council of Educational Research and Training). It has come on record that in the year 2020 itself the petitioner participated in the e-tender and deposited the earnest money in the form of FDR no. 774111 for an amount of Rs. 12,62,000/- along with the prescribed tender fee and thereafter, the petitioner was found to be the lowest bider and awarded contract which eventually culminated into execution of agreement of 03.03.2020 between the second respondent (Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad) on one hand and the petitioner on the other hand for the purpose in printing and supply of NCERT books for class IXth to XIIth for the student studying in Government aided/unaided recognized schools in State of U.P.. It has further been averred that a work order was on 07.03.2020 with regard to printing and distribution of of NCERT books.

3. Pleadings further reveals that due to the onslaught of the pandemic relating Covid-19 a nationwide lockdown was put to motion resulting that all the commercial activities came to stands still and the petitioner could not execute agreements and honour the commitments and the obligations which it wanted to discharge as a bidder. On account of the circumstances so occasioned as referred to above certain disputes arose between the petitioner and the second respondent with regard to the payment of royalty and GST amount necessitating issuance of demand notice dated 12.03.2020, 18.06.2020, 10.08.2020, 01.10.2020, 24.11.2020 and 30.12.2020 seeking recovery of a certain amount. The petitioner herein as per its own saying took recourse to arbitration while invoking arbitration clause and thereafter, preferred an Arbitration and Cancellation Application under Section 11(4) no. 14 of 2021 being (Ravi Offset Printers And Publishers Pvt. Ltd. s. Madhyamic Siksha Parishad U.P.) before the Court which came to be decided while appointing one of the retired judge of this Court as the sole arbitrator. Record further reveals that the petitioner preferred claim petition before the sole arbitrator which is annexed as annexure-3 at page no. 36 of the petition along with stay application seeking following reliefs:-

"(ii) Set-aside the Impugned Demand Notices dated 12.03.2020, 18.06.2020, 10.08.2020, 01.10.2020 & 24.11.2020 as well as impugned Order dated 30.12.2020.

(iv) Direct the Opposite Party to discharge/release the FDR No.774111 dated 03.02.2020, amounting to Rs. 12,62,000/-, deposited by the Claimant as Earnest Money Deposit."

4. According to the learned counsel for the petitioner the arbitration proceeding which are stated to be pending before the sole arbitrator being arbitration case no. 14 of 2021 was begin lingered on, on account of non-cooperation of respondents as they have not even deposited the fee of the learned Arbitrator and in fact on 22.03.2022 the petitioner got deposited the entire fee execution of the respondents herein

5. Record further reveals that an e-tenders has been again issued by the second respondent on 21.04.2022 for procurement of books of NCERT for the academic year 2022-2023 for class IXth to XIIth copy of the e-tender dated 21.04.2022 is at page no. 16 of the writ petition.

6. Relevant extract of the offending provision of e-tender notice dated 21.04.2022 referable to the academic year 2022-2023 which is subject matter of the present petition is being quoted hereinunder:-

"पूर्व के ऐसे प्रकाशक / मुद्रक जिन पर माध्यमिक शिक्षा परिषद, उत्तर प्रदेश का जी०एस०टी० सहित रायल्टी बकाया है उनकी निविदायें विचारणीय नहीं होगी। किसी प्रकार का विधिक विवाद शिक्षा विभाग के साथ न हो।"

7. Alleging the sub clause 1 and sub clause 4 of clause 9 (A) of e-tender dated 21.04.2022 being in violation of Article 19 of the Constitution of India besides being arbitrarily discriminatory, the petitioner herein has filed the present petition seeking following reliefs:-

"(I) Issue a writ order or direction in nature of certiorari quashing the sub clause 1 and 4 of clause 9 (A) of tender dated 21.04.2022 (Annexure-1) with regard to ineligibility of the petitioner to apply for the tender.

(II) Any other or further relief with the Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case;

(III) Award the cost of writ petition."

8. Heard Sri Shashi Nandan,learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Kunal Ravi Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner as well as Sri Amit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing who appears for the respondents.

9. Sri Shashi Nandan learned Standing Counsel assisted by Sri Kunal Ravi Singh has made the following submissions:-

A. The e-tender dated 21.04.2022 containing the conditions under the heading sub clause 1 and 4 of clause 9 (A) is not only arbitrary discriminatory and illegal but it is violative under Article 19 of the Constitution of India.

B. Merely because certain disputes have been raised by second respondent, Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad with regard to payment of royalty and GST for the preceding academic years, it will not denude the petitioner of its fundamental right to profess its trade while participating in the tender and exclude it from the zone of consideration.

C. Zone of consideration cannot be compartmentalised in such a manner so as to exclude in participating in the bid particularly when the stage of screening would come subsequently, when the bids are to be finalized.

D. In absence of any quantification of the amount of royalty and GST so claimed by the second respondent, the same cannot partake the character of a dispute or exclude the petitioner from zone of consideration.

10. Sri Amit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has opposed the writ petition while arguing that the present wit petition so instituted at the behest of the petitioner, is not maintainable as by virtue of the present writ petition, the petitioner is seeking relief of alteration of the terms and the condition so embodied in the e-tender. It has been further argued by Sri Singh that it is the province of the employer/tender issuing authority to engraft terms and conditions which is not within the realm of Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In nutshell, the submission of learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel is to the extent that the petitioner being one of the aspirant cannot dictate that a particular condition should be engrafted in the tender which suits to it.

11. We have heard the learned counsels for the parties and perused the record.

12. Undisputedly, petitioner claims itself to be one of the aspirant who wanted to participate in the e-tender so issued on 21.04.2022 for procurement of books of NCERT for the academic year 2022-2023 for the class of IXth to XIIth.

13. According to Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Counsel, the only obstacle which denudes the petitioner to come within the zone of consideration is sub clause 1 and 4 of Clause 9 (A) of the e-tender dated 21.04.2022.

14. So far as the sub clause on of Clause 9 (A) of e-tender itself provides that one of the essential condition to participate in the e-tender is this that an aspirant should not be defaulter with respect to payment of royalty and GST. Similarly, the sub clause 4 of Clause 9 (A) of the tender condition itself shows that an intending party who participates in the tender should not have any legal dispute with respondent no. 2, Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad.

15. In case in hand this Court finds that there exists certain disputes referable to non-payment of royalty and GST at the end of the petitioner pursuant thereon demand notices were issued for recovery of certain amount which was quantified and the same was carried in arbitration pursuant whereto by the order of this Court sole arbitration has been appointed for the arbitration proceedings are stated to be pending.

16. Now a question arises as to whether, the conditions so embodied in sub clause 1 and 4 of Clause 9 (A) of the e-tenders can be held to be illegal arbitrary or violative of Article 19 of the Constitution of India at the behest of the petitioner wherein the petitioner admittedly has certain disputes with the respondent no. 2 and the matter is stated to pending before arbitrator wherein after quantification of the amount referable to royalty and GST demand notice has been issued.

17. Another issue which needs to be noticed is the scope of judicial intervention in the matter of prescription the covenant/terms and the conditions engrafed in the tender.

18. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Bareilly Development Authority And Another Vs. Ajai Pal Singh And Others reported in 1989 (2) SCC 116 in paragraph no. 22 has observed as under:-

"22. There is a line of decisions where the contract entered into between the State and the persons aggrieved is non- statutory and purely contractual and the rights are governed only by the terms of the contract, no writ or order can be issued under Article 226 of the Constitution of India so as to compel the authorities to remedy a breach of contract pure and simple Radhakrishna Agarwal & Ors. v. State of Bihar & Ors., [1977] 3 SCR 249; Premji Bhai Parmar & Ors. etc. v. Delhi Development Authority & Ors, [1980] 2 SCR 704 and D.F.O. v. Biswanath Tea Company Ltd. 1981 3 SCR 662."

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Gujrat and Anothers vs. Meghji Pethraj Shah Charitable Trust And Others 1994 (3) SCC 552 in paragraph no. 22 has observed as under:-

"22. We are unable to see any substance in the argument that the termination of arrangement without observing the principle of natural justice (audi alterant partem) is void. The termination is not a quasi-judicial act by any stretch of imagination; hence it was not necessary to observe the principles of natural justice. It is not also an executive or administrative act to attract the duty to act fairly. It was - as has been repeatedly urged by Sri Ramaswamy - a matter governed by a contract/agreement between the parties. If the matter is governed by a contract, the writ petition is not maintainable since it is a public law remedy and is not available in private law field, e.g., where the matter is governed by a non-statutory contract. Be that as it may, in view of our opinion on the main question, it is not necessary to pursue this reasoning further."

20. In the case of State of U.P. and Others vs. Bridge & Roof Company (India) Ltd. reported in 1996 (6) SCC 22, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraph nos. 15 and 16 has observed as under:-

"15. In our opinion,the very remedy adopted by the respondent is misconceived. It is not entitled to any relief in these proceedings,i.e,in the writ petition filed by it.The High court appears to be right in not pronouncing upon any of the several contentions raised in the writ petition by both the parties and in merely reiteration the effect of the order of the Deputy commissioner made under the proviso to section 8-D (1).

16. Firstly, the contract between the parties is a contract in the realm of private law. It is governed by the provisions of the contract Act or may be,also by certain provisions of the sale of Goods Act.Any dispute relating to interpretation of the terms and conditions of such a contract cannot be agitated, and could not have been agitated,in a writ petition. That is a matter either for arbitration as provided by the contract of for Civil court as the case may be. whether any amount is due to the respondent from the appellant-Government under the contract and,if so,how much and the further question whether retention or refusal to pay any amount by the Government is justified, or not are all matters which cannot be agitated in or adjudicated upon in a writ petition. The prayer in the writ petition,viz.,to restrain the Government from deducting particular amount from the writ petitioner's bill(s) was not a prayer which could be granted by the High court under Article 226. Indeed, the High Court has not granted the said prayer."

21. In the case of India Thermal Power Ltd. vs. State of M.P. And Others 2000 (3) SCC 379, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraph no. 11 has observed as under:-

"11. It was contended by Mr. Cooper, learned senior counsel appearing for appellant GBL and also by some counsel appearing for other appellants that the appellant/IPPs had entered into PPAs under Sections 43 and 43A of the Electricity Supply act and as such they are statutory contracts and, therefore, MPEB had no power or authority to alter their terms and conditions. This contention has been upheld by the High Court, in our opinion the said contention is not correct and High Court was wrong in accepting the same. Section 43 empowers Electricity Board to enter into arrangement for purchase of electricity on such terms as may be agreed. Section 43 A(l) provides that a generating company may enter into a contract for the sale of electricity generated by it with Electricity Board, As regards the determination of tariff for the sale of electricity by a generating company to the Board, Section 43(1)(2) provides that the tariff shall be determined in accordance with the norms regarding operation and plant load factor as may be laid down by the authority and in accordance with the rates of depreciation and reasonable return and such other factors as may be determined from time to time by the Central Government by a notification in the official gazette. These provisions clearly indicate that the agreement can be on such terms as may be agreed by the parties except that the tariff is to be determined in accordance with the provision con-tained in section 43A(2) and notifications issued thereunder. Merely be-cause a contract is entered into in exercise of an enabling power conferred by a statute that by itself cannot render the contract a statutory contract. If entering into a contract containing prescribed terms and conditions is a must under the statute then that contract becomes a statutory contract. If a contact incorporates certain terms and conditions in it which are statutory then the said contract to that extent is statutory. A contact may contain certain other terms and conditions which may not be of a statutory character and which have been incorporated therein as a result of mutual agreement between the parties. Therefore, the PPAs can be regarded as statutory only to the extent that they contain provisions regarding determination of tariff and other statutory requirements of Section 43A(2). Opening and maintaining of an Escrow Account or an Escrow Agreement are not the statutory requirements and, therefore, merely because PPAs contemplate maintaining Escrow Accounts that obligation cannot be regarded as statutory."

22. Proposition of law so called out in the above noted judgments itself draws irresistible conclusion that merely because a contract has been floated by the Government or its instrumentalities would not be said to be a statutory contract amenable to writ jurisdiction as even otherwise there is a marked difference between a contract floated as a commercial venture and a statutory contract.

23. Another facet which needs to be addressed is with regard to the fact as to the scope of judicial intervention in the matter of tenders and contracts while using judicial platform so as to advise the tender enacting authority to include certain conditions and to exclude some conditions which finds its presence in the contract itself.

24. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Tata Cellular vs. Union of India reported in 1994 (6) SCC 651 in paragraph no. 94 has observed as under:-

"94. The principles deducible from the above are :

(1) The modem trend points to judicial restraint in administrative action.

(2) The court does not sit as a court of appeal but merely reviews the manner in which the decision was made.

(3) The court does not have the expertise to correct the administrative decision. If a review of the administrative decision is permitted it will be substituting its own decision, without the necessary expertise which itself may be fallible.

(4) The terms of the invitation to tender cannot be open to judicial scrutiny because the invitation to tender is in the realm of contract.

Normally speaking, the decision to accept the tender or award the contract is reached by process of negotiations through several tiers. More often than not, such decisions are made qualitatively by experts.

(5) The Government must have freedom of contract. In other words, a fair play in the joints is a necessary concomitant for an administrative body functioning in an administrative sphere or quasi-administrative sphere. However, the decision must not only be tested by the application of Wednesbury principle of reasonableness (including its other facts pointed out above) but must be free from arbitrariness not affected by bias or actuated by mala fides.

(6) Quashing decisions may impose heavy administrative burden on the administration and lead to increased and unbudgeted expenditure.

Based on these principles we will examine the facts of this case since they commend to us as the correct principles."

25. In the case of Caretel Infotech Limited vs. Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited And Others reported in 2019 (14) SCC 81, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraph nos. 37 to 43 has observed as under :-

"37. We consider it appropriate to make certain observations in the context of the nature of dispute which is before us. Normally parties would be governed by their contracts and the tender terms, and really no writ would be maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In view of Government and Public Sector Enterprises venturing into economic activities, this Court found it appropriate to build in certain checks and balances of fairness in procedure. It is this approach which has given rise to scrutiny of tenders in writ proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. It, however, appears that the window has been opened too wide as almost every small or big tender is now sought to be challenged in writ proceedings almost as a matter of routine. This in turn, affects the efficacy of commercial activities of the public sectors, which may be in competition with the private sector. This could hardly have been the objective in mind. An unnecessary, close scrutiny of minute details, contrary to the view of the tendering authority, makes awarding of contracts by Government and Public Sectors a cumbersome exercise, with long drawn out litigation at the threshold. The private sector is competing often in the same field. Promptness and efficiency levels in private contracts, thus, often tend to make the tenders of the public sector a non-competitive exercise. This works to a great disadvantage to the Government and the Public Sector.

38. In Afcons Infrastructure Limited v. Nagpur Metro Rail Corporation Limited & Anr.3, this Court has expounded further on this aspect, while observing that the decision making process in accepting or rejecting the bid should not be interfered with. Interference is permissible only if the decision making process is arbitrary or irrational to an extent that no responsible authority, acting reasonably and in accordance with law, could have reached such a decision. It has been cautioned that Constitutional Courts are expected to exercise restraint in interfering with the administrative decision and ought not to substitute 3 (2016) 16 SCC 818 their view for that of the administrative authority. Mere disagreement with the decision making process would not suffice.

39. Another aspect emphasised is that the author of the document is the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements. In the facts of the present case, the view, on interpreting the tender documents, of respondent No.1 must prevail. Respondent No.1 itself, appreciative of the wording of clause 20 and the format, has taken a considered view. Respondent No.3 cannot compel its own interpretation of the contract to be thrust on respondent No.1, or ask the Court to compel respondent No.1 to accept that interpretation. In fact, the Court went on to observe in the aforesaid judgment that it is possible that the author of the tender may give an interpretation that is not acceptable to the Constitutional Court, but that itself would not be a reason for interfering with the interpretation given. We reproduce the observations in this behalf as under:

"15. We may add that the owner or the employer of a project, having authored the tender documents, is the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements and interpret its documents. The constitutional courts must defer to this understanding and appreciation of the tender documents, unless there is mala fide or perversity in the understanding or appreciation or in the application of the terms of the tender conditions. It is possible that the owner or employer of a project may give an interpretation to the tender documents that is not acceptable to the constitutional courts but that by itself is not a reason for interfering with the interpretation given."

40. We may also refer to the judgment of this Court in Nabha Power Limited (NPL) v. Punjab State Power Corporation Limited (PSPCL) & Anr.,4 authored by one of us (Sanjay Kishan Kaul, J.). The legal principles for interpretation of commercial contracts have been discussed. In the said judgment, a reference was made to the observations of the Privy Council in Attorney General of Belize v. Belize Telecom Ltd. 5 as under:

"16. Before discussing in greater detail the reasoning of the Court of Appeal, the Board will make some general observations about the process of implication. The court has no power to improve upon the instrument which it is called upon to construe, whether it be a contract, a statute or articles of association. It cannot introduce terms to make it fairer or more reasonable. It is concerned only to discover what the instrument means. However, that meaning is not necessarily or always what the authors or parties to the document would have intended..." ....

"19. .....In Trollope & Colls Ltd. v. North West Metropolitan Regional Hospital Board [1973] 1 WLR 601, 609 Lord Pearson, with whom Lord Guest and Lord Diplock agreed, said:

"the court does not make a contract for the parties. The court will not even improve the contract which the parties have made for themselves, however desirable the improvement might be. The court's function is to interpret and apply the contract which the parties have made for themselves. If the express terms are perfectly clear and free from ambiguity, there is no choice to be made between different possible meanings: the clear terms must be applied even if the court thinks some other terms would have been more suitable. An unexpressed term can be implied if and only if the court finds that the parties must have intended that term to form part of their contract: it is not enough for the court to find that such a term would have been adopted by the parties as reasonable men if it had been suggested to them: it must have been a term that went without saying, a term necessary to give business efficacy to the contract, a term which, though tacit, formed part of the contract which the parties made for themselves."

41. Nabha Power Limited (NPL)6 also took note of the earlier judgment of this court in Satya Jain (Dead) Through LRs. and Ors. vs. Anis Ahmed Rushdie (Dead) Through LRs. and Ors.7, which discussed the principle of business efficacy as proposed by Bowen, L.J. in the Moorcock8. It has been elucidated that this test requires that terms can be implied only if it is necessary to give business efficacy to the contract to avoid failure of the contract and only the bare minimum of implication is to be there to achieve this goal. Thus, if the contract makes business sense without the implication of terms, the courts will not imply the 6 (supra) 7 (2013) 8 SCC 131 8 (1889) LR 14 PD 64 (CA) same.

42. The judgment in Nabha Power Limited (NPL) 9 concluded with the following observations in para 72:

"72. We may, however, in the end, extend a word of caution. It should certainly not be an endeavour of commercial courts to look to implied terms of contract. In the current day and age, making of contracts is a matter of high technical expertise with legal brains from all sides involved in the process of drafting a contract. It is even preceded by opportunities of seeking clarifications and doubts so that the parties know what they are getting into. Thus, normally a contract should be read as it reads, as per its express terms. The implied terms is a concept, which is necessitated only when the Penta-test referred to aforesaid comes into play. There has to be a strict necessity for it. In the present case, we have really only read the contract in the manner it reads. We have not really read into it any "implied term' but from the collection of clauses, come to a conclusion as to what the contract says. The formula for energy charges, to our mind, was quite clear. We have only expounded it in accordance to its natural grammatical contour, keeping in mind the nature of the contract."

43. We have considered it appropriate to, once again, emphasise the aforesaid aspects, especially in the context of endeavours of courts to give their own interpretation to contracts, more specifically tender terms, at the behest of a third party competing for the tender, rather than what is propounded by the party framing the tender. The object cannot be that in every contract, where some parties would lose out, they should get the 9 (supra) opportunity to somehow pick holes, to disqualify the successful parties, on grounds on which even the party floating the tender finds no merit." \

26. Following the judgments, the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Uflex Limited vs. Government of Tamil Nadu And Others reported in 2022 (1) SCC 165 in paragraph no. 43 has observed as under :-

"43. The present dispute has its history in many prior endeavours by the original petitioners which have proved to be unsuccessful. It does appear that in a competitive market they have not been so successful as they would like to be. Merely because a company is more efficient, obtains better technology, makes more competitive bids and, thus, succeeds more cannot be a factor to deprive that company of commercial success on that pretext. It does appear to us that this is what is happening; that the two original petitioners are endeavouring to continuously create impediments in the way of the succeeding party merely because they themselves had not so succeeded. It is thus our view that the Division Bench has fallen into an error in almost sitting as an appellate authority on technology and commercial expediency which is not the role which a Court ought to play."

27. Recently, in the case of National High Speed Rail Corporation Limited vs. Montecarlo Limited And Another reported in AIR (2022) SC 866, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph nos. 7.6, 7.7, 7.8, 7.8(1), 7.8(2), 7.8(3) and 7.8(4) has observed as under :-

"7.6 At this stage, it is to be noted that what can be said to be substantially responsive Technical Bid has been defined under Article 33.2. The High Court in the impugned order has observed and held that the Bid submitted by the original writ petitioner can be said to be substantially responsive Technical Bid. However, it is required to be noted that when the author of the tender document, in the present case, JICC/JICA, had taken a conscious decision that the Bid submitted by the respondent - original writ petitioner can be said to be non-responsive and suffering from material deviation, it was not for the High Court to consider/opine whether the Bid submitted by the original writ petitioner is substantially responsive Technical Bid or not unless the decision is found to be perverse and/or suffered from mala fides and/or favoritism.

7.7 At the cost of repetition, it is to be noted that under the contractual obligation, it was not open for the appellant - corporation and/or even the Republic of India to deviate from any of the terms and conditions of the loan agreement and/or the decision of JICC/JICA. Therefore, in absence of any allegation of mala fides/arbitrariness and/or favouritism, we are of the opinion that the High Court has committed a grave error in interfering with a conscious decision taken by the JICC/JICA, which has been followed by the appellant.

7.8 At this stage, few decisions of this Court on the interference by the Courts in the tender matters are required to be referred to:-

7.8.1 In the case of Afcons Infrastructure Limited Vs. Nagpur Metro Rail Corporation Limited, AIR 2016 SC 4305, this Court in paras 11 to 13 and 15 has observed and held as under :-

"11. Recently, in Central Coalfields Ltd. v. SLL-SML (Joint Venture Consortium), (2016) 8 SCC 622, it was held by this Court, relying on a host of decisions that the decision- making process of the employer or owner of the project in accepting or rejecting the bid of a tenderer should not be interfered with. Interference is permissible only if the decision-making process is mala fide or is intended to favour someone. Similarly, the decision should not be interfered with unless the decision is so arbitrary or irrational that the Court could say that the decision is one which no responsible authority acting reasonably and in accordance with law could have reached. In other words, the decision- making process or the decision should be perverse and not merely faulty or incorrect or erroneous. No such extreme case was made out by GYT-TPL JV in the High Court or before us.

12. In Dwarkadas Marfatia and Sons v. Port of Bombay, (1989) 3 SCC 293, it was held that the constitutional courts are concerned with the decision-making process. Tata Cellular v. Union of India, (1994) 6 SCC 651 went a step further and held that a decision if challenged (the decision having been arrived at through a valid process), the constitutional courts can interfere if the decision is perverse. However, the constitutional courts are expected to exercise restraint in interfering with the administrative decision and ought not to substitute its view for that of the administrative authority. This was confirmed in Jagdish Mandal v. State of Orissa, (2007) 14 SCC 517, as mentioned in Central Coalfields Ltd. v. SLL-SML (Joint Venture Consortium), (2016) 8 SCC 622 (AIR) 2016 SC 3814

13. In other words, a mere disagreement with the decision-making process or the decision of the administrative authority is no reason for a constitutional court to interfere. The threshold of mala fides, intention to favour someone or arbitrariness, irrationality or perversity must be met before the constitutional court interferes with the decision-making process or the decision.

15. We may add that the owner or the employer of a project, having authored the tender documents, is the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements and interpret its documents. The constitutional courts must defer to this understanding and appreciation of the tender documents, unless there is mala fide or perversity in the understanding or appreciation or in the application of the terms of the tender conditions. It is possible that the owner or employer of a project may give an interpretation to the tender documents that is not acceptable to the constitutional courts but that by itself is not a reason for interfering with the interpretation given.

7.8.2 In the case of B.S.N. Joshi & Sons Ltd. Vs. Nair Coal Services Ltd. and Ors., (2006) 11 SCC 548, after considering the various decisions of this Court on the point enumerated in para 66, this Court has observed and held as under:

"66. We are also not shutting our eyes towards the new principles of judicial review which are being developed; but the law as it stands now having regard to the principles laid down in the aforementioned decisions may be summarised as under:

(i) if there are essential conditions, the same must be adhered to;

(ii) if there is no power of general relaxation, ordinarily the same shall not be exercised and the principle of strict compliance would be applied where it is possible for all the parties to comply with all such conditions fully;

(iii) if, however, a deviation is made in relation to all the parties in regard to any of such conditions, ordinarily again a power of relaxation may be held to be existing;

(iv) the parties who have taken the benefit of such relaxation should not ordinarily be allowed to take a different stand in relation to compliance with another part of tender contract, particularly when he was also not in a position to comply with all the conditions of tender fully, unless the court otherwise finds relaxation of a condition which being essential in nature could not be relaxed and thus the same was wholly illegal and without jurisdiction;

(v) when a decision is taken by the appropriate authority upon due consideration of the tender document submitted by all the tenderers on their own merits and if it is ultimately found that successful bidders had in fact substantially complied with the purport and object for which essential conditions were laid down, the same may not ordinarily be interfered with;

(vi) the contractors cannot form a cartel. If despite the same, their bids are considered and they are given an offer to match with the rates quoted by the lowest tenderer, public interest would be given priority;

(vii) where a decision has been taken purely on public interest, the court ordinarily should exercise judicial restraint.

7.8.3 In the case of Michigan Rubber (India) Limited Vs. State of Karnataka, (2012) 8 SCC 216, after considering various other decisions of this Court on the point, more particularly, after considering the decisions in the case of Jagdish Mandal (supra) and Tejas Constructions and Infrastructure (P) Ltd. (supra), in paras 23 and 24, this Court has observed and held as under:

"23. From the above decisions, the following principles emerge:

(a) The basic requirement of Article 14 is fairness in action by the State, and non-arbitrariness in essence and substance is the heartbeat of fair play. These actions are amenable to the judicial review only to the extent that the State must act validly for a discernible reason and not whimsically for any ulterior purpose. If the State acts within the bounds of reasonableness, it would be legitimate to take into consideration the national priorities;

(b) Fixation of a value of the tender is entirely within the purview of the executive and the courts hardly have any role to play in this process except for striking down such action of the executive as is proved to be arbitrary or unreasonable. If the Government acts in conformity with certain healthy standards and norms such as awarding of contracts by inviting tenders, in those circumstances, the interference by courts is very limited;

(c) In the matter of formulating conditions of a tender document and awarding a contract, greater latitude is required to be conceded to the State authorities unless the action of the tendering authority is found to be malicious and a misuse of its statutory powers, interference by courts is not warranted;

(d) Certain preconditions or qualifications for tenders have to be laid down to ensure that the contractor has the capacity and the resources to successfully execute the work; and

(e) If the State or its instrumentalities act reasonably, fairly and in public interest in awarding contract, here again, interference by court is very restrictive since no person can claim a fundamental right to carry on business with the Government.

24. Therefore, a court before interfering in tender or contractual matters, in exercise of power of judicial review, should pose to itself the following questions:

(i) Whether the process adopted or decision made by the authority is mala fide or intended to favour someone; or whether the process adopted or decision made is so arbitrary and irrational that the court can say: "the decision is such that no responsible authority acting reasonably and in accordance with relevant law could have reached"? and

(ii) Whether the public interest is affected? If the answers to the above questions are in the negative, then there should be no interference under Article 226."

7.8.4 In the case of the Central Coalfields Limited & Anr. Vs. SLL- SML [A Joint Venture Consortium] and Ors., (2016) 8 SCC 622, it is specifically observed and held by this Court that the Court must, as far as possible, avoid a construction which would render the words used by the author of the document meaningless and futile or reduce to silence any part of the document and make it altogether inapplicable. It is further observed that whether a term of NIT is essential or not is a decision taken by the employer, which should be respected and soundness of that decision cannot be questioned by Court. In the case before this Court, the bid was rejected for non furnishing of bank guarantee in prescribed format. While submitting EMD by furnishing bank guarantee in format prescribed by GTC of another tender and the bidder took the plea that bank guarantee format of present tender was ambiguous. Rejecting the claim of the bidder and upholding the decision of the employer of rejection of bid for non-compliance of submitting the bank guarantee in prescribed format, this Court in paras 31 to 38, 42 to 44, 47 to 49, 52, 55 and 56 has observed and held as under:

"31. We were informed by the learned Attorney General that 9 of the 11 bidders furnished a bank guarantee in the prescribed and correct format. Under these circumstances, even after stretching our credulity, it is extremely difficult to understand why JVC was unable to access the prescribed format for the bank guarantee or furnish a bank guarantee in the prescribed format when every other bidder could do so or why it could not seek a clarification or why it could not represent against any perceived ambiguity. The objection and the conduct of JVC regarding the prescribed format of the bank guarantee or a supposed ambiguity in NIT does not appear to be fully above board.

32. The core issue in these appeals is not of judicial review of the administrative action of CCL in adhering to the terms of NIT and the GTC prescribed by it while dealing with bids furnished by participants in the bidding process. The core issue is whether CCL acted perversely enough in rejecting the bank guarantee of JVC on the ground that it was not in the prescribed format, thereby calling for judicial review by a constitutional court and interfering with CCL's decision.

33. In Ramana Dayaram Shetty v. International Airport Authority of India, (1979) 3 SCC 489, this Court held that the words used in a document are not superfluous or redundant but must be given some meaning and weightage: (SCC p. 500, para 7)

"7. ... It is a well-settled rule of interpretation applicable alike to documents as to statutes that, save for compelling necessity, the Court should not be prompt to ascribe superfluity to the language of a document "and should be rather at the outset inclined to suppose every word intended to have some effect or be of some use". To reject words as insensible should be the last resort of judicial interpretation, for it is an elementary rule based on common sense that no author of a formal document intended to be acted upon by the others should be presumed to use words without a meaning. The court must, as far as possible, avoid a construction which would render the words used by the author of the document meaningless and futile or reduce to silence any part of the document and make it altogether inapplicable."

34. In Ramana Dayaram Shetty case, the expression "registered IInd Class hotelier" was recognised as being inapt and perhaps ungrammatical; nevertheless common sense was not offended in describing a person running a registered IInd grade hotel as a registered IInd class hotelier. Despite this construction in its favour, Respondent 4 in that case were held to be factually ineligible to participate in the bidding process.

35. It was further held that if others (such as the appellant in Ramana Dayaram Shetty case) were aware that non-fulfilment of the eligibility condition of being a registered IInd class hotelier would not be a bar for consideration, they too would have submitted a tender, but were prevented from doing so due to the eligibility condition, which was relaxed in the case of Respondent 4. This resulted in unequal treatment in favour of Respondent 4 -- treatment that was constitutionally impermissible. Expounding on this, it was held: (SCC p. 504, para 10)

"10. ... It is indeed unthinkable that in a democracy governed by the rule of law the executive Government or any of its officers should possess arbitrary power over the interests of the individual. Every action of the executive Government must be informed with reason and should be free from arbitrariness. That is the very essence of the rule of law and its bare minimal requirement. And to the application of this principle it makes no difference whether the exercise of the power involves affectation of some right or denial of some privilege." (emphasis supplied)

36. Applying this principle to the present appeals, other bidders and those who had not bid could very well contend that if they had known that the prescribed format of the bank guarantee was not mandatory or that some other term(s) of NIT or GTC were not mandatory for compliance, they too would have meaningfully participated in the bidding process. In other words, by rearranging the goalposts, they were denied the "privilege" of participation.

37. For JVC to say that its bank guarantee was in terms stricter than the prescribed format is neither here nor there. It is not for the employer or this Court to scrutinise every bank guarantee to determine whether it is stricter than the prescribed format or less rigorous. The fact is that a format was prescribed and there was no reason not to adhere to it. The goalposts cannot be rearranged or asked to be rearranged during the bidding process to affect the right of some or deny a privilege to some.

38. In G.J. Fernandez v. State of Karnataka, (1990) 2 SCC 488, both the principles laid down in Ramana Dayaram Shetty were reaffirmed. It was reaffirmed that the party issuing the tender (the employer) "has the right to punctiliously and rigidly" enforce the terms of the tender. If a party approaches a court for an order restraining the employer from strict enforcement of the terms of the tender, the court would decline to do so. It was also reaffirmed that the employer could deviate from the terms and conditions of the tender if the "changes affected all intending applicants alike and were not objectionable". Therefore, deviation from the terms and conditions is permissible so long as the level playing field is maintained and it does not result in any arbitrariness or discrimination in Ramana Dayaram Shetty sense.

42. Unfortunately, this Court in Poddar Steel Corpn. v. Ganesh Engg. Works, (1991) 3 SCC 273 did not at all advert to the privilege-of-participation principle laid down in Ramana Dayaram Shetty and accepted in G.J. Fernandez. In other words, this Court did not consider whether, as a result of the deviation, others could also have become eligible to participate in the bidding process. This principle was ignored in Poddar Steel.

43. Continuing in the vein of accepting the inherent authority of an employer to deviate from the terms and conditions of an NIT, and reintroducing the privilege-of-participation principle and the level playing field concept, this Court laid emphasis on the decision-making process, particularly in respect of a commercial contract. One of the more significant cases on the subject is the three-Judge decision in Tata Cellular v. Union of India, (1994) 6 SCC 651 which gave importance to the lawfulness of a decision and not its soundness. If an administrative decision, such as a deviation in the terms of NIT is not arbitrary, irrational, unreasonable, mala fide or biased, the courts will not judicially review the decision taken. Similarly, the courts will not countenance interference with the decision at the behest of an unsuccessful bidder in respect of a technical or procedural violation. This was quite clearly stated by this Court (following Tata Cellular) in Jagdish Mandal v. State of Orissa, (2007) 14 SCC 517] in the following words: (SCC p. 531, para 22)

"22. Judicial review of administrative action is intended to prevent arbitrariness, irrationality, unreasonableness, bias and mala fides. Its purpose is to check whether choice or decision is made "lawfully" and not to check whether choice or decision is "sound". When the power of judicial review is invoked in matters relating to tenders or award of contracts, certain special features should be borne in mind. A contract is a commercial transaction. Evaluating tenders and awarding contracts are essentially commercial functions. Principles of equity and natural justice stay at a distance. If the decision relating to award of contract is bona fide and is in public interest, courts will not, in exercise of power of judicial review, interfere even if a procedural aberration or error in assessment or prejudice to a tenderer, is made out. The power of judicial review will not be permitted to be invoked to protect private interest at the cost of public interest, or to decide contractual disputes. The tenderer or contractor with a grievance can always seek damages in a civil court. Attempts by unsuccessful tenderers with imaginary grievances, wounded pride and business rivalry, to make mountains out of molehills of some technical/procedural violation or some prejudice to self, and persuade courts to interfere by exercising power of judicial review, should be resisted. Such interferences, either interim or final, may hold up public works for years, or delay relief and succour to thousands and millions and may increase the project cost manifold."

This Court then laid down the questions that ought to be asked in such a situation. It was said: (Jagdish Mandal case, SCC p. 531, para 22)

"22. ... Therefore, a court before interfering in tender or contractual matters in exercise of power of judicial review, should pose to itself the following questions:

(i) Whether the process adopted or decision made by the authority is mala fide or intended to favour someone; or Whether the process adopted or decision made is so arbitrary and irrational that the court can say: "the decision is such that no responsible authority acting reasonably and in accordance with relevant law could have reached";

(ii) Whether public interest is affected.

If the answers are in the negative, there should be no interference under Article 226."

44. On asking these questions in the present appeals, it is more than apparent that the decision taken by CCL to adhere to the terms and conditions of NIT and the GTC wascertainly not irrational in any manner whatsoever or intended to favour anyone. The decision was lawful and not unsound.

47. The result of this discussion is that the issue of the acceptance or rejection of a bid or a bidder should be looked at not only from the point of view of the unsuccessful party but also from the point of view of the employer. As held in Ramana Dayaram Shetty the terms of NIT cannot be ignored as being redundant or superfluous. They must be given a meaning and the necessary significance. As pointed out in Tata Cellular there must be judicial restraint in interfering with administrative action. Ordinarily, the soundness of the decision taken by the employer ought not to be questioned but the decision-making process can certainly be subject to judicial review. The soundness of the decision may be questioned if it is irrational or mala fide or intended to favour someone or a decision "that no responsible authority acting reasonably and in accordance with relevant law could have reached" as held in Jagdish Mandal followed in Michigan Rubber.

48. Therefore, whether a term of NIT is essential or not is a decision taken by the employer which should be respected. Even if the term is essential, the employer has the inherent authority to deviate from it provided the deviation is made applicable to all bidders and potential bidders as held in Ramana Dayaram Shetty. However, if the term is held by the employer to be ancillary or subsidiary, even that decision should be respected. The lawfulness of that decision can be questioned on very limited grounds, as mentioned in the various decisions discussed above, but the soundness of the decision cannot be questioned, otherwise this Court would be taking over the function of the tender issuing authority, which it cannot.

49. Again, looked at from the point of view of the employer if the courts take over the decision-making function of the employer and make a distinction between essential and non-essential terms contrary to the intention of the employer and thereby rewrite the arrangement, it could lead to all sorts of problems including the one that we are grappling with. For example, the GTC that we are concerned with specifically states in Clause 15.2 that "Any bid not accompanied by an acceptable Bid Security/EMD shall be rejected by the employer as non-responsive". Surely, CCL ex facie intended this term to be mandatory, yet the High Court held that the bank guarantee in a format not prescribed by it ought to be accepted since that requirement was a non- essential term of the GTC. From the point of view of CCL, the GTC has been impermissibly rewritten by the High Court.

52. There is a wholesome principle that the courts have been following for a very long time and which was articulated in Nazir Ahmad v. King Emperor, AIR 1936 PC 253 (2), namely:

"... where a power is given to do a certain thing in a certain way the thing must be done in that way or not at all. Other methods of performance are necessarily forbidden."

There is no valid reason to give up this salutary principle or not to apply it mutatis mutandis to bid documents. This principle deserves to be applied in contractual disputes, particularly in commercial contracts or bids leading up to commercial contracts, where there is stiff competition. It must follow from the application of the principle laid down in Nazir Ahmad that if the employer prescribes a particular format of the bank guarantee to be furnished, then a bidder ought to submit the bank guarantee in that particular format only and not in any other format. However, as mentioned above, there is no inflexibility in this regard and an employer could deviate from the terms of the bid document but only within the parameters mentioned above.

55. On the basis of the available case law, we are of the view that since CCL had not relaxed or deviated from the requirement of furnishing a bank guarantee in the prescribed format, insofar as the present appeals are concerned every bidder was obliged to adhere to the prescribed format of the bank guarantee. Consequently, the failure of JVC to furnish the bank guarantee in the prescribed format was sufficient reason for CCL to reject its bid.

56. There is nothing to indicate that the process by which the decision was taken by CCL that the bank guarantee furnished by JVC ought to be rejected was flawed in any manner whatsoever. Similarly, there is nothing to indicate that the decision taken by CCL to reject the bank guarantee furnished by JVC and to adhere to the requirements of NIT and the GTC was arbitrary or unreasonable or perverse in any manner whatsoever."

28. In M/s. Agmatel India Pvt. Ltd. vs. M/s. Resoursys Telecom And Others reported in AIR (2022) SC 1103, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph nos. 16 and 17 has observed as under :-

"16. The scope of judicial review in contractual matters, and particularly in relation to the process of interpretation of tender document, has been the subject matter of discussion in various decisions of this Court. We need not multiply the authorities on the subject, as suffice it would be refer to the 3-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Galaxy Transport Agency (supra) wherein, among others, the said decision in Afcons Infrastructure Limited (supra) has also been considered; and this Court has disapproved the interference by the High Court in the interpretation by the tender inviting authority of the eligibility term relating to the category of vehicles required to be held by the bidders, in the tender floated for supply of vehicles for the carriage of troops and equipment. This Court referred to various decisions on the subject and stated the legal principles as follows: -

"14. In a series of judgments, this Court has held that the authority that authors the tender document is the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements, and thus, its interpretation should not be second-guessed by a court in judicial review proceedings. In Afcons Infrastructure Ltd. v. Nagpur Metro Rail Corporation Ltd., (2016) 16 SCC 818, this Court held:

"15. We may add that the owner or the employer of a project, having authored the tender documents, is the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements and interpret its documents. The constitutional courts must defer to this understanding and appreciation of the tender documents, unless there is mala fide or perversity in the understanding or appreciation or in the application of the terms of the tender conditions. It is possible that the owner or employer of a project may give an interpretation to the tender documents that is not acceptable to the constitutional courts but that by itself is not a reason for interfering with the interpretation given." (page 825) (emphasis supplied)

15. In the judgment in Bharat Coking Coal Ltd. v. AMR Dev Prabha 2020 SCC OnLine SC 335, under the heading "Deference to authority's interpretation", this Court stated:

"51. Lastly, we deem it necessary to deal with another fundamental problem. It is obvious that Respondent No. 1 seeks to only enforce terms of the NIT. Inherent in such exercise is interpretation of contractual terms. However, it must be noted that judicial interpretation of contracts in the sphere of commerce stands on a distinct footing than while interpreting statutes.

52. In the present facts, it is clear that BCCL and India have laid recourse to Clauses of the NIT, whether it be to justify condonation of delay of Respondent No. 6 in submitting performance bank guarantees or their decision to resume auction on grounds of technical failure. BCCL having authored these documents, is better placed to appreciate their requirements and interpret them. (Afcons Infrastructure Ltd. v. Nagpur Metro Rail Corporation Ltd., (2016) 16 SCC 818): (AIR 2016 SC 4305)

53. The High Court ought to have deferred to this understanding, unless it was patently perverse or mala fide. Given how BCCL's interpretation of these clauses was plausible and not absurd, solely differences in opinion of contractual interpretation ought not to have been grounds for the High Court to come to a finding that the appellant committed illegality." (emphasis supplied)

16. Further, in the recent judgment in Silppi Constructions Contractors v. Union of India, 2019 SCC OnLine SC 1133, this Court held as follows:

"20. The essence of the law laid down in the judgments referred to above is the exercise of restraint and caution; the need for overwhelming public interest to justify judicial intervention in matters of contract involving the state instrumentalities; the courts should give way to the opinion of the experts unless the decision is totally arbitrary or unreasonable; the court does not sit like a court of appeal over the appropriate authority; the court must realise that the authority floating the tender is the best judge of its requirements and, therefore, the court's interference should be minimal. The authority which floats the contract or tender, and has authored the tender documents is the best judge as to how the documents have to be interpreted. If two interpretations are possible then the interpretation of the author must be accepted. The courts will only interfere to prevent arbitrariness, irrationality, bias, mala fides or perversity. With this approach in mind we shall deal with the present case." (emphasis supplied)

17. In accordance with these judgments and noting that the interpretation of the tendering authority in this case cannot be said to be a perverse one, the Division Bench ought not to have interfered with it by giving its own interpretation and not giving proper credence to the word "both" appearing in Condition No. 31 of the N.I.T. For this reason, the Division Bench's conclusion that JK Roadways was wrongly declared to be ineligible, is set aside.

18. Insofar as Condition No. 27 of the N.I.T. prescribing work experience of at least 5 years of not less than the value of Rs. 2 crores is concerned, suffice it to say that the expert body, being the Tender Opening Committee, consisting of four members, clearly found that this eligibility condition had been satisfied by the Appellant before us. Without therefore going into the assessment of the documents that have been supplied to this Court, it is well settled that unless arbitrariness or mala fide on the part of the tendering authority is alleged, the expert evaluation of a particular tender, particularly when it comes to technical evaluation, is not to be second-guessed by a writ court. Thus, in Jagdish Mandal v. State of Orissa, (2007) 14 SCC 517, this Court noted:

"22. Judicial review of administrative action is intended to prevent arbitrariness, irrationality, unreasonableness, bias and mala fides. Its purpose is to check whether choice or decision is made "lawfully" and not to check whether choice or decision is "sound". When the power of judicial review is invoked in matters relating to tenders or award of contracts, certain special features should be borne in mind. A contract is a commercial transaction. Evaluating tenders and awarding contracts are essentially commercial functions. Principles of equity and natural justice stay at a distance. If the decision relating to award of contract is bona fide and is in public interest, courts will not, in exercise of power of judicial review, interfere even if a procedural aberration or error in assessment or prejudice to a tenderer, is made out. The power of judicial review will not be permitted to be invoked to protect private interest at the cost of public interest, or to decide contractual disputes. The tenderer or contractor with a grievance can always seek damages in a civil court. Attempts by unsuccessful tenderers with imaginary grievances, wounded pride and business rivalry, to make mountains out of molehills of some technical/procedural violation or some prejudice to self, and persuade courts to interfere by exercising power of judicial review, should be resisted. Such interferences, either interim or final, may hold up public works for years, or delay relief and succour to thousands and millions and may increase the project cost manifold. Therefore, a court before interfering in tender or contractual matters in exercise of power of judicial review, should pose to itself the following questions:

(i) Whether the process adopted or decision made by the authority is mala fide or intended to favour someone;

or Whether the process adopted or decision made is so arbitrary and irrational that the court can say:"the decision is such that no responsible authority acting reasonably and in accordance with relevant law could have reached";

(ii) Whether public interest is affected. If the answers are in the negative, there should be no interference under Article 226. Cases involving blacklisting or imposition of penal consequences on a tenderer/contractor or distribution of State largesse (allotment of sites/shops, grant of licences, dealerships and franchises) stand on a different footing as they may require a higher degree of fairness in action." (pages 531-532) (emphasis supplied)

19. Similarly, in Montecarlo Ltd. v. NTPC Ltd., (2016) 15 SCC 272, this Court stated as follows:

"26. We respectfully concur with the aforesaid statement of law. We have reasons to do so. In the present scenario, tenders are floated and offers are invited for highly complex technical subjects. It requires understanding and appreciation of the nature of work and the purpose it is going to serve. It is common knowledge in the competitive commercial field that technical bids pursuant to the notice inviting tenders are scrutinised by the technical experts and sometimes third-party assistance from those unconnected with the owner's organisation is taken. This ensures objectivity. Bidder's expertise and technical capability and capacity must be assessed by the experts. In the matters of financial assessment, consultants are appointed. It is because to check and ascertain that technical ability and the financial feasibility have sanguinity and are workable and realistic. There is a multi-prong complex approach; highly technical in nature. The tenders where public largesse is put to auction stand on a different compartment. Tender with which we are concerned, is not comparable to any scheme for allotment. This arena which we have referred requires technical expertise. Parameters applied are different. Its aim is to achieve high degree of perfection in execution and adherence to the time schedule. But, that does not mean, these tenders will escape scrutiny of judicial review. Exercise of power of judicial review would be called for if the approach is arbitrary or mala fide or procedure adopted is meant to favour one. The decision-making process should clearly show that the said maladies are kept at bay. But where a decision is taken that is manifestly in consonance with the language of the tender document or subserves the purpose for which the tender is floated, the court should follow the principle of restraint. Technical evaluation or comparison by the court would be impermissible. The principle that is applied to scan and understand an ordinary instrument relatable to contract in other spheres has to be treated differently than interpreting and appreciating tender documents relating to technical works and projects requiring special skills. The owner should be allowed to carry out the purpose and there has to be allowance of free play in the joints." (page 288)

20. This being the case, we are unable to fathom how the Division Bench, on its own appraisal, arrived at the conclusion that the Appellant held work experience of only 1 year, substituting the appraisal of the expert four- member Tender Opening Committee with its own."

(Underlining emphasis in the original; emphasis in bold supplied)

17. The above-mentioned statements of law make it amply clear that the author of the tender document is taken to be the best person to understand and appreciate its requirements; and if its interpretation is manifestly in consonance with the language of the tender document or subserving the purchase of the tender, the Court would prefer to keep restraint. Further to that, the technical evaluation or comparison by the Court is impermissible; and even if the interpretation given to the tender document by the person inviting offers is not as such acceptable to the Constitutional Court, that, by itself, would not be a reason for interfering with the interpretation given.

Application of relevant principles to the case at hand

29. Applying the judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court as extracted, this Court finds that in the matter of a policy decision so taken by the tender issuing authorities, a judicial restrain is to be resorted to and merely because certain terms and conditions seems to be not suitable to a particular party cannot be a ground to hold it illegal, arbitrary or in violation of Article 19 of the Constitution of India.

30. The present case cannot also be analysed from another point of angle that in case sub-clause (1) and sub-clause (4) of Clause 9-A of the tender in question is struck down then it will create havoc and undesired result as it will tantamount to give gateway to those intending parties who are not only defaulter but also chronic litigants having litigation with the entities who have floated tenders which would further tantamount to putting something in the mouth which is not liable to be eaten or swallowed.

31. So far as the argument of Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Counsel in relation to the fact that there is no dispute of payment of royalty and GST and same cannot exclude the petitioner from coming into the zone of consideration is concerned, this Court is unable to accept the said proposition as dispute arise only when there is a disagreement between two as defined in the various dictionaries which are often being used for reference. The dictionary meaning of the word "dispute' is as under:-

"Black's Law Dictionary, 5th edition, page 424 defines "dispute' as under:

"to argue about, to contend ... words; an argument; a debate; a quarrel".

Cambridge Dictionary defines "dispute' as under:

"a disagreement or argument between two people, groups or countries."

Collins' Dictionary defines "dispute' as under:

"A dispute is an argument or disagreement between people or groups."

32. This Court finds that there exists not only a serious dispute but also demand has raised by the second respondent with respect to unpaid royalty and GST.

33. Sri Shashi Nandan who appears for the petitioners has relied upon the judgment in the case of Monark Infrastructure (P) Ltd. vs. Commercial Ullas Nagar Municipality & Ors. reported in AIR (2000) SC 2272 so as to contend that this Court can interfere with the policy of the Government in the matter of contract / tender when the same is arbitrary or unreasonable.

34. There is no quarrel to the proposition of law so propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as argued by learned Senior Counsel, however, this Court while applying the judgments so relied upon by the learned Senior Counsel has to analyse the facts of the present case so as to form the opinion in that regard. This court finds that the conditions embodied under Sub-clause 1 and Sub-clause 4 of Clause 9 (A) are no where violative of the Article 19 of the Constitution of India.

35. After giving anxious consideration to the submission of the respective parties, this Court finds its inability to subscribe to the argument of the learned Senior Counsel who appears for the petitioner as according to the firm opinion of the Court, the best suited authority to incorporate the terms and the conditions of the contract / tender are framers of the tender and further the Clause 9 sub-clause (1) and sub-clause (4) of Clause 9-A of the tender dated 21.4.2022 does not suffer from any infirmity or illegality and the same is confirmity and consonance under Article 19 of the Constitution of India.

36. Resultantly, the present writ petition is wholly misconceived and is liable to be dismissed.

37. Accordingly, it is dismissed.

38. Cost made easy.

1. Heard Sri Anay Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Manish Goel, Addl. Advocate General, assisted by Smt. Subhash Rathi, learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondent, Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Pradeep Kumar Tripathi, appearing for Respondent no.5.

2. Alleging disparity and differential treatment, the petitioner, who claims itself to be the registered union of unorganized sector has filed the present petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India seeking the following reliefs:

"a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing all the tenders issued by respondent nos. 9 to 80 in violation of G.O. dated 07.12.2020 and 23.04.2020.

b). Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari 10 quashing the order dated 24.11.2020 passed by respondent no. 6.

c). Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing all the respondents to follow the Government orders and not to issue tenders in violation of G.O. dated 23.04.2020.

d). Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondents to provide similar honorarium/payment to all the employees and do away with the anomalies in payment for the employees of the same rank and work.

e).Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus to not to interrupt the continuity of already working employees in terms of G.O. dated 18.12.2019 and 18.08.2020 and 25.08.2020.

f). Issue any other writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and Circumstances of the case.

g). award the cost of the petition to the petitioner."

3. The factual matrix as worded in the writ petition is that the petitioner being Sanyukt Swasthya Outsourcing / Samvida Karmchari Sangh, U.P. Lucknow, claims itself to be a union of contractual employees registered under the provisions contained under The Trade Union Act, 1926 Kanpur, Uttar Pradesh. According to the petitioner, State of Uttar Pradesh came up with a policy decision in the shape of Government Order dated 31.12.2015 addressed to the Director General, Medical Health Services, U.P. at Lucknow providing for outsourcing of the manpower on contractual basis from Respondent no.7 being Avani Paridhi Energy and Communications Private Limited and M/s Rama InfoTech Private Limited, Fazalganj, Kanpur. In continuation of the Government Order dated 31.12.2015, on 28.3.2018, another Government Order was issued, whereby the applicability of the Government Order dated 31.12.2015 was extended for a further period of 6 months. Eventually, the application of the Government Order dated 31.12.2015 for the purposes of procurement of manpower through outsourcing was extended on 5.11.2018, 31.12.2018 and 8.3.2019.

4. Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India, with the objective to create an open and transparent procurement platform for Government buyers created an online platform for public procurement in India by the name and nomenclature of Government India e-Market Place (GeM).

5. The above noted online platform was created to facilitate online procurement of goods and services. Further the purchases through GeM portal by Government users had been authorized and made mandatory by the Ministry of Finance by adding a new Rule no. 149 in the General Financial Rules, 2017. The said initiative was launched on 9.8.2016 by the Ministry of Commerce and the Industry, Government of India with the prime object to increase transparency, efficiency, speed in public procurement. Though the online platform (GeM Portal) was launched on 9.11.2016 by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India, however, State of Uttar Pradesh by virtue of the Government Order no. 8/2019/20/1/91Ka-2/2019 dated 18.12.2019 came up with a policy decision that for the purposes of procurement of manpower through outsourcing and the same would be done by virtue of the online platform being Government e-Market Place (GeM).

However, due to the sudden surge of the pandemic relating to COVID-19, the same could not be implemented and accordingly on 23.4.2020, a clarification was issued by the Respondent no.1, whereby the applicability and the procurement of the manpower through outsourcing by online mode through GeM Portal was deferred. On 18.8.2020, the State of Uttar Pradesh issued a Government Order addressed to all the Additional Chief Secretaries / Principal Secretaries / Secretaries, U.P. Shashan and all the District Magistrates posted throughout the State of U.P. coming up with a policy that the Government Order dated 18.12.2019 providing for outsourcing of the manpower through GeM Portal is being implemented forthwith. Thereafter, on 25.8.2020, another Government Order was issued by the State of Uttar Pradesh, whereby for purchases of goods and services of the Government Departments and its subsidiary, use of GeM Portal had been made mandatory and the Government Order dated 18.12.2019 was directed to be implemented strictly. The relevant extract of Clause-2(4), (5), Clause 3(6), (7) and Clause 6 are being quoted hereinunder:

4. उक्त शासनादेश के प्रस्तर-3 (4) के अनुसार जेम के माध्यम से ही आउटसोर्सिंग कर्मी लेने की अनिवार्यता किये जाने से वर्तमान में कार्य कर रहे कर्मियों की निरन्तरता बाधित नहीं की जायेगी। वर्तमान में कार्य कर रहे आउटसोर्स कर्मियों को ही जैम पोर्टल द्वारा चयनित संवाप्रदाताओं द्वारा रखा जायेगा। इस हेतु कार्यरत कर्मचारियों की सेवा के सम्बन्ध में संतुष्ट प्रमाण पत्र क्रेता विभाग द्वारा सेवाप्रदाता को उपलब्ध कराया जायेगा। केवल नवीन कर्मियों का चयन सेवायोजन पोर्टल से ही अनिवार्य रूप से किया जायेगा।

5- उक्त शासनादेश के प्रस्तर.4 (1) के अनुसार कार्मिकों को विलम्ब से भुगतान को रोकने के लिए क्रेता विभाग द्वारा आउटसोर्सिंग एजेन्सी को उपलब्ध करायी गयी धनराशि पर 18 प्रतिशत ब्याज व पेनाल्टी लगायी जायेगी।ृ

6. किसी भी विभाग द्वारा किसी गुणवत्तापूर्ण सेवा के लिये कर्मियों को कितना मानदेय देय होगा इसका निर्णय संबंधित विभाग, विभिन्न सुसंगत वित्तीय नियमों के अनुरूप एवं श्रम विभाग के न्यूनतम वेजेज के अनुसार करेगा, जो कि वर्तमान में कार्मिकों को प्राप्त हो रहे मानदेय से कम अनुमन्य नहीं होगा। श्रम संविदा नियमावली सप्ताहिकए राजकीय मातृत्व आदि अवकाश एवं कार्य के घण्टे जैसे नियमों का अनुपालन कुराने की जिम्मेदारी क्रेता विभाग की होगी।

7. सेवा प्रदाता द्वारा EPF, ESI & GST आदि की कटौती Service Level Agreement (SLA) के

"6- जेम पोर्टल से सेवा क्रय करने की प्रक्रिया पूर्ण करने में कम से कम 15 दिन का समय लगता है। सम्बन्धित विभाग सेवा की आवश्यकतानुसार यह सुनिश्चित करेगे कि वर्तमान में चल रहे अनुबंध समाप्त होने के कम से कम एक माह पूर्व ही मैनपावर सेवा क्रय की जेम पोर्टल पर प्रक्रिया प्रारम्भ कर देंगे, ताकि शासकीय कार्य में व्यवधान उत्पन्न न हो । सेवा क्रय करने वाले विभाग को पूर्व में शासनादेश संख्या-11/2017/523/18-2-2017 970 30)/2016 दिनांक 23.08.2017 के माध्यम से स्पष्ट किया जा चुका है कि उनके द्वारा अपनी आवश्यकताओं को जोन, मण्डल, जनपद अथवा किसी अन्य वर्गीकरण के

आधार पर टुकड़ों में नहीं लिया जायेगा, अभिप्राय यह है कि क्रेता विभाग को जिन कर्मिको की आवश्यकता होगी उनको जेम पोर्टल के माध्यम से एक ही बिड की जायेगी, जिससे सुदृढ एव सक्षम सेवा प्रदाता का चयन हो सके।"

6. Thereafter on 7.12.2020, another Government Order was issued stipulating the modalities for procurement of manpower through sealed bids. Clause 3(i), (ii) of the said order are quoted hereinunder:

"3. जैम पोर्टल से मैनपावर आपूर्ति के संबंध में उपयुक्त शासनादेश में उल्लिखित व्यवस्था से विचलन कदापि न किया जाय और निम्नलिखित बिन्दुओं पर विशेष ध्यान देते हुये पूर्ण पारदर्शिता बरती जाय.

(i) विभाग द्वारा अपनी आउटसोर्सिंग मानव संसाधन की सकल आवश्यकता को चिन्हित कर जेम पोर्टल की "बन्च निविदा" विधि से एक ही निविदा द्वारा की जायए जिससे सक्षम सेवाप्रदाता का चयन हो सके।

(ii) ई०एम०डी० का निर्धारण शासनादेश दिनांक 25.08.2020 में दी गयी व्यबस्था के अनुसार किया जाय और इसमें किसी प्रकार की छूट या शिथिलता उकृत शासनादेश की व्यवस्था के विपरीत न दी जाय। ई०एम०डी०ःएफ०डी०आर० जमा करने के संबंध में आई०टी० एवं इलेक्ट्रानिक्स विभाग केशासनादेश संख्या.1/2018/3070/78-2-2018/42 आई०टी०/2017 (22), दिनांक 03-01-2018 निर्गत है। इसमें उल्लिखित व्यवस्था के अनुसार ही कार्यवाही की जाय।"

7. Petitioner herein alleging non-adherence of the Government Order issued from time to time in the matter of procurement of manpower through outsourcing had filed the above noted writ petition with the following grievances:

(a). Despite specific stipulation contained in the Government Order dated 18.12.2019, as followed from time to time and the Government Order dated 7.12.2020 providing that the procurement of the manpower through outsourcing is to be resorted to by a single integrated tender for the entire State of Uttar Pradesh and not either district-wise or cluster-wise, the online tenders are being floated through GeM portal either district-wise or cluster-wise, resulting in disparity between outsourced employees in one district vis-a-vis others in the matter of honorarium and working condition.

(b). Government Order so issued on 18.12.2019 as followed on 25.8.2020 provides for non-interruption of their engagement, then too without there being any deficiency in the services rendered by the members of the petitioner-Association, their engagement has been set at naught.

8. This Court on 4.10.2021, while entertaining the present writ petition, passed the following orders:

"4.10.2021

The prayer made in this petition can appropriately be addressed after receipt of counter affidavit as the petitioner has challenged the tender issued by the respondent nos. 9 to 80 as violative of Government Orders dated 7.12.2020 and 23.4.2020.

Learned Standing Counsel has accepted notice on behalf of respondent nos. 1 to 4, 6 and 8 to 80; Sri B.K. Tripathi has accepted notice on behalf of respondent no. 5.

Let notice be issued to respondent no.7 fixing 15.11.2021.

Steps be taken within one week through registered speed post.

List as fresh on 15.11.2021, by which date, respondents shall file their respective counter affidavit."

9. On 15.11.2021, this Court noticed the discrepancies and the differential treatment so made in the matter pertaining to grant of remuneration to the outsourced employees engaged by the service provider through GeM portal and after bestowing anxious consideration to Annexure-6 at page-70, which happened to be the relevant extract of the advertisement so loaded on GeM portal sought response from the respondents. The order passed by this Court on 15.11.2021 is quoted hereinunder:-

"Heard Sri Anay Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri M.C. Chaturvedi learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri P.K. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for respondent no. 5 and Sri Saurabh Srivastava, learned counsel for respondent nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6.

The learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioners are not challenging the engagement of other employees working on various posts by outsourcing through GEM portal. Their entire objection is that since e-tenders have been invited through GEM portal to engage persons through outsourcing either district-wise or cluster-wise and different jobs are being given by the service provider in different districts/clusters, which has resulted in disparity between the outsourced employees of one district than that of the other district. In other words, outsourced employees engaged by a service provider in district 'A' is getting Rs. 10,000/- for a particular job while outsourced employees for the same job of district 'B' kept by the other service provider, is getting Rs. 12,000/-. Therefore, the Government being a model employer cannot discriminate between the outsourced employees for the same work in one district and the outsourced employees for another district in the same department. This violates the basic principle of equality enshrined in the Constitution on one hand and on the other hand, unemployed youths of the unorganized service sector are placed in a very disadvantageous position. Attention has been drawn to bid documents in which the lowest bid for the job as Ward Aaya/Ward Boy is Rs.7,500/- per month. The engagement is for a period of 9 months. The work is being taken for 7 days in a week and there is no leave admissible to them. Thus, per day wages comes to Rs. 250/-. Therefore, the modus operandi being operated by the State Government for engaging the employees by outsourcing through GEM portal is nothing but a glaring example of exploitation of employees of unorganized service sector, particularly youths who have no option but to work on the terms and condition dictated by the service providers and as per bid made by them.

Matter requires consideration.

Let counter affidavits be filed by means of personal affidavit separately by the respondent nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Put up this case as fresh for further hearing on 01.12.2021."

10. Pursuant to the order dated 15.11.2021, passed by this Court as extracted hereinabove, a counter affidavit was filed by Respondent no.4/ Director General, Medical and Health Services, U.P. at Lucknow, sworn on 17.12.2021, wherein in paragraph-3, 4, 5, 6 & 7, the following averments were made:

"3. That in compliance of the aforesaid directions of this Hon'ble Court, a committee has been constituted, headed by Director General, Medical & Health Services, U.P. Lucknow on 07.12.2021 in which the matter of fixation of uniform honorarium/minimum pay has been considered. Considering the anomalies in respect of honorarium, it has been revealed that there are individuals engaged against the sanctioned and created posts in the medical units. In spite of these, other individuals who are engaged under National Health Mission, their honorarium has been fixed according to the guidelines of the Government of India. The committee also found that one more reason for difference in the honorarium paid against the similar posts in the medical units, is that there has been non uniformity in the procedure of procurement of services and as such there was difference in the bids for the honorarium as provided by the different Outsourcing Agencies. In addition to above, it has also been found that different districts were engaging the individuals on contractual basis at district level also and for that reason also there were certain differences in extending the honorarium to the individuals. The copy of the minutes. of meeting dated 07.12.2021, is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 1 to this personal affidavit.

4. That in pursuance of the aforesaid facts as stated above as well as the provisions as contained under para. 4 of the office order dated 07.12.2021, issued by the Secretary, State of U.P., Lucknow, the Committee also considered the guidelines for engaging individuals via outsourcing through Government E-Market Place (GEM) in the Medical & Health Department for bidding, divided in six clusters for selection of service providing agencies. The committee also decided unanimously for procurement of manpower through outsourcing agencies for skilled/semi-skilled/un-skilled, it has been decided to pay the minimum honorarium to the individuals against the similar posts. The copy of the Letter No. 630-37 pravartan-(M.W.)/15 dated 08.10.2021, which fixed the minimum wages for skilled/semi-skilled/un-skilled manpower is being filed herewith and marked ANNEXURE NO. 2 to this personal affidavit.

5. That the Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow vide its Government Order no. 1094(1)/Panch-1-2021 dated 21.11.2021 issued certain guidelines in compliance of the Government Order dated 25.08.2020 and 07.12.2020 for purchasing the manpower through outsource agencies. Copy of the Government Order no. 1094(1)/Panch-1-2021 dated 21.11.2021 is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 3 to this personal affidavit.

6. That the Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow vide its Office Order no. W-68/Panch-1-2021 dated 07.12.2021 issued certain guidelines for the purchasing the manpower through outsourcing agency for introducing the Government E-Market Place (GEM) developed by Government of India. Copy of the Office Order no. W 68/Panch-1-2021 dated 07.12.2021 is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 4 to this personal affidavit.

7. That in addition to above the Respondent no. 4 i.e. Director General, Medical & Health Services, U.P. Lucknow issued the standing instructions to all the Chief Medical Superintendents as well as Chief Medical Officers of entire State of U.P. to provide honorarium as per the minimum wages as fixed by the Labour Department of U.P. vide its Office Order no. dated 13.12.2021. Copy of the Office Order dated 13.11.2021 is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE NO. 5 to this personal affidavit."

11. विषय:. मा० उच्च न्यायालय, इलाहाबाद में योजित रिट याचिका संख्या.22404 / 2021 (रिट.सी) संयुक्त स्वास्थ्य आउटसोर्सिंग / संविदा कर्मचारी संघ बनाम उ०प्र० राज्य व अन्य में मा० न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश के अनुपालन में आउटसोर्सिंग जनशक्ति के वेतन / मानदेय निर्धारण के संबंध में।

2. उल्लेखनीय है कि मा० उच्च न्यायालयए इलाहाबाद में योजित रिट याचिका संख्या.22404 / 2021 (रिट.सी) संयुक्त स्वास्थ्य आउटसोसिंग / संविदा कर्मचारी संघ बनाम उ०प्र० राज्य व अन्य में मा० न्यायालय के पारित आदेश दिनांक 11.03.2022 के कियात्मक अंश निम्नवत् है:

"Since, prima facie, discrimination is being made by the Medical and Health Services Department between the outsource employee in one district and outsource employee in another district for the same work in the same. department and even our orders are not being complied with on one pretext or the other, therefore, we are left with no option except to call upon the Chief Secretary of the State of U.P. to look into the matter and to file his personal affidavit in response to the orders dated 15.11.2021 and 22.02.2022, within three weeks. As prayed by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, out up this case as a fresh case for further hearing on 8th April, 2022."

3. उक्त आदेश के अनुपालन में दिनांक 23.032022 को मुख्य सचिव, उ0प्र0 शासन की अध्यक्षता में सम्पन्न बैठक, जिसमें श्रम, कार्मिक तथा सुक्ष्म लघु एवं माध्यम उद्यम विभाग ने भी प्रतिभाग किया, में निर्णय लिया गया कि चिकित्सा स्वास्थ्य एवं परिवार कल्याण विभाग के अधीन सभी संवर्ग, जो आउटसोर्सिंग से रखे जाते हैं की सूची बनायी जाए। तदोपरान्त हर संवर्ग में जो अधिकतम मानदेय किसी भी जनपद में दिया जा रहा होए उसी को भो जनपदों में लागू किया जाए किन्तु यदि किसी जनपद में किसी पद विशेष के लिए बहुत अधिक धनराशि दी जा रही होए जो तर्कसंगत न हो, उसे प्रदेश में एकरूप दर निर्धारण हेतु विचारण में नहीं लिया जायेगा। यह मानदेय श्रम विभाग द्वारा अकुशलए अर्द्धकुशल एवं कुशल श्रमिकों के लिए निर्धारित न्यूनतम मानदेय से अधिक होगा।

4. महानिदेशक, चिकित्सा एवं स्वास्थ्य सेवाओं के द्वारा आउटसोर्सिंग से लिए जाने वाले भिन्न.भिन्न प्रकार की जनशक्ति के लिए दरों के निर्धारण हेतु उपरिसंदर्भित पत्र दिनांक 01. 04.2022 द्वारा उपलब्ध करायी गयी सूचना के तुलनात्मक अध्ययन एवं श्रम विभाग द्वारा निर्धारित न्यूनतम मानदेय पर आधारित विवरण निम्नवत् दर्शित है:

"In view of the aforesaid, two weeks and no more time is granted to the respondent Nos. 1 and 2 to file counter affidavits by means of their personal affidavits in which copy of a policy decision emerging from various government orders issued from time to time with regard to procurement of man-power services, minimum remuneration to be paid to different classes of inductees/ manpower by the service provider, model conditions of engagement of man-power through service providers including working hours and leave/ holidays as reflected in the government order dated 25.08.2020 and reiterated in letter of the respondent No. 4 dated 12.11.2021 may be incorporated as per decision of the State Government. In other words, the entire scheme for procurement of man-power service and matters relating thereto be reduced in writing in one comprehensive government order/ policy decision and copy thereof, be filed along with the counter affidavit."

Perusal of the personal affidavit filed today shows that the State Government has taken a policy decision with regard to uniformity in scales of payment for different kinds of outsourced employees and outsourcing agencies. However, some of the important aspects as reflected from our aforequoted order dated 22.02.2022, appears to have been left consideration.

Learned Additional Advocate General states that the Government shall look into all the aspects and take a uniform and comprehensive policy decision in the light of the order dated 22.02.2022 and while taking the decision, shall also take note of the principles: laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Gujrat Mazdoor Sabha vs. State of Gujrat. (2020) 10 SCC 459 (paras 33 to 49). He prays that three weeks time may be granted.

As prayed by learned Additional Advocate General, three weeks' time is granted to file an affidavit annexing therewith the government order/ policy decision. The affidavit shall be filed by the Chief Secretary.

List/ put up in the additional cause list for further hearing on 29.04.2022 at 02:00P.M."

2. अवगत कराना है कि सूक्ष्म, लघु एवं मध्यम उद्यम अनुभाग-2 द्वारा जारी शासनादेश दिनांक 25.08.2020 के द्वारा प्रदेश में शासकीय विभागों एवं उनके अधीनस्थ संस्थाओं में मैनपावर (आउटसोर्सिंग ऑफ मैनपावर) तथा अन्य उपलब्ध सेवाओं के क्रय के लिए भारत सरकार द्वारा विकसित गवर्नमेण्ट ई-मार्केट प्लेस (जेम) की व्यवस्था लागू किये जाने हेतु विस्तृत दिशा निर्देश जारी किए गए है। उक्त शासनादेश के प्रस्तर 6 में यह प्राविधान किया गया है कि "किसी भी विभाग द्वारा किसी गुणवत्तापूर्ण सेवा के लिए कर्मियों को कितना मानदेय देय होगा इसका निर्णय संबंधित विभाग, विभिन्न सुसंगत नियमों के अनुरूप एवम् श्रम विभाग के न्यूनतम वेजेज के अनुसार करेगा। जोकि वर्तमान में कार्मिकों को प्राप्त हो रहे मानदेय से कम अनुमन्य नहीं होगा। श्रम संविदा नियमावली साप्ताहिक राजकीय मातृत्व आदि अवकाश एवम् कार्य के घंटे जैसे नियमों का अनुपालन कराने की जिम्मेदारी केता विभाग की होगी।"

3. इस सम्बन्ध में उल्लेखनीय है कि श्रम विभाग के सुसंगत अधिनियमों एवं शासनादेशों में निम्नवत् व्यवस्था की गयी है:

(i) न्यूनतम वेतन अधिनियम 1948 के अंतर्गत वर्तमान में 74 अनुसूचित नियोजनों के लिए उत्तर प्रदेश शासन द्वारा न्यूनतम मजदूरी निर्धारित की गयी है और प्रत्येक छमाही (अप्रैल-सितम्बर एवम् अक्टूबर-मार्च) के लिए परिवर्तनीय महंगाई भत्ते की गणना की जाती है। मजदूरी की मूल दरों एवम् देय महंगाई भत्ते से सम्बंधित पत्रांक 268-76 / प्रवर्तन-एम0डब्लू / 15 दिनांक 31.03.2022 के माध्यम से जारी नवीनतम आदेश (सलग्न) के कमांक 74 पर ऐसे प्रतिष्ठान जो किसी अनुसूचित नियोजन के अधीन आच्छादित न हो, में नियोजन का उल्लेख है। मजदूरी की जो दरें मासिक आधार पर निर्धारित की गयी हैं उनकी दैनिक दर, मूल मजदूरी और परिवर्तनीय महंगाई भत्ते के 1 / 26 से कम तथा प्रतिघण्टे दर दैनिक दर का 1/6 से कम नहीं होगी। (संगत आदेश संलग्न)" चिकित्सा, स्वास्थ्य एवं परिवार कल्याण विभाग द्वारा निर्गत शासनादेश संख्या-119/ पाँच/ 12022 दिनांक 05.04.2022 द्वारा आउटसोर्स जनशक्ति के वेतन / मानदेय निर्धारण के सम्बन्ध मे दिशा निर्देश पूर्व में ही जारी किए जा चुके है।

(8) न्यूनतम मजदूरी अधिनियम, 1948 की धारा-13 में सामान्य कार्यदिवस के लिए घण्टे नियत करना Fing hours for a normal working days, etc), धारा-14 में अतिकाल (Overtime) धारा-15 में ऐसे कर्मकार की मजदूरी जो सामान्य कार्यदिवस से कम काम करता है (Wage of worker who works for less then normal working day) से सम्बंधित प्राविधान है। तत्संबंधित नियमों का उल्लेख उत्तर प्रदेश न्यूनतम मजदूरी नियमावली, 1952 के नियम-23 से 25 में किया गया है जो निम्नवत है-"

नियम-23- साप्ताहिक विश्राम का दिन किसी अनुसूचित नियोजन, जिसके लिए अधिनियम के (a) अन्तर्गत न्यूनतम मजदूरी दर का निर्धारण हुआ है उसका कर्मचारी अनुसूचित नियोजन में उसी नियोजक के अधीन, लगातार छः दिन से कम नहीं, कार्य किया है, ऐसे कर्मचारी को प्रत्येक सप्ताह एक दिन का विश्राम दिया जायेगा, जो सामान्यतः (रविवार) होगा।

(b) नियम.24. सामान्य कार्यदिवस में कार्य के घण्टों की संख्या व्यक्त कर्मचारी के लिए 9 होगी जिसमें प्रतिदिन के कार्य के घण्टे इस प्रकार निर्धारित किये जायेंगे कि कोई अवधि 5 घण्टे से अधिक नहीं होगीए तथा कोई व्यस्क कर्मचारी 5 घण्टे से अधिक कार्य नहीं करेगा जब तक कि इससे पूर्व इसे कम से कम आधे घण्टे का विश्राम न मिल गया हो। अर्थात कर्मचारी को किसी कार्य दिवस में 5 घण्टे कार्य के बाद कम से कम आधा घण्टे का विश्राम मिल जाना आवश्यक है।

(c) नियम-24(क) (IV) . नियम.24 के अंतर्गत निर्धारित सामान्य कार्य के घण्टों से अधिक कार्य करने पर राज्य सरकार द्वारा भुगतान निर्धारित ओवरटाइम दर पर किया जायेगा। (d) नियम.25- जहाँ कहीं कर्मचारी कारखाना अधिनियम 1948 या उत्तर प्रदेश दुकान और वाणिज्य अधिष्ठान अधिनियम, 1962 के लागू होने के फलस्वरूप इनमें अनुमन्य सुविधा पा रहा हैए वहीं इस नियमावली के नियम 23 एवम 24 के प्राविधान उनके विपरीत प्रभावी नहीं होंगे।

ओवर टाइम भुगतान दर्शाने वाले अभिलेख का रख.रखाव किया जायेगा। ;द्धि नियम.21. मजदूरी अवधि एक माह से अधिक की नहीं होगी तथा कर्मचारी को मजदूरी का भुगतान उस मजदूरी अवधि की आखिरी तिथि के पश्चात् सातवा दिन समाप्त होने से पूर्व किसी कार्यदिवस में किया जायेगा।

महिला श्रमिक योजित होने की दशा में यदि सेवा प्रदाता ई०एस०आई० से आवर्त होगा तो मातृत्य हितलाम एवम् बीमारी से सम्बंधित हितलाभ ई०एस०आई०सी० से प्रदान किये जायेंगे। 4 शासन द्वारा सम्यक विचारोपरान्त मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि श्रम विभाग 30 शासन की उपर्युक्त प्राविधानित व्यवस्थाओं को चिकित्साए स्वास्थ्य एवं परिवार कल्याण विभाग में आउटसोर्सिंग ऑफ मैनपावर हेतु कड़ाई से अनुपालन सुनिश्चित किया जाए।"

18. As noticed in the order passed by this Court on 15.11.2021, the learned counsel for the petitioner had itself not pressed the relief with regard to challenge of the engagement of employees working on various posts by outsourcing through GeM portal, thus the relief stood confined to the disparity and the differential treatment meted to them and non adherence of the Government Orders issued from time to time referable to outsourcing of manpower through GeM portal.

19. This Court finds that the State of Uttar Pradesh through its functionaries had filed affidavit before this Court while noticing and admitting the fact that disparity and differential treatment has been meted in the matter of outsourcing, as not only remuneration/ honorarium differs from one place to another, namely for the sake of illustration from one district or the other and further the fact that the benefits relatable to weekly rest, maternity leave, holidays, working hours etc, are not being extended to them.

20. Bearing in mind, the above noted shortcomings and discrepancies now the State of Uttar Pradesh has come up with the uniform policy wherein not only the modalities have been fixed for the bids to be conducted for outsourcing of the manpower, but also uniformity in the payment of honorarium has been taken note of and further even the working conditions have been incorporated in a Government Order, so as to confer the outsourced employees the benefits making them in an advantageous position in that regard.

21. The genesis of economical, social and cultural rights itself finds its roots in Article 7 of the International Covenants of Economic, Social and Cultural Rights 1966, the same is being reproduced hereinbelow:-

"Article 7 The States Parties to the present Covenant recognize the right of everyone to the enjoyment of just and favourable conditions of work which ensure, in particular:

(a) Remuneration which provides all workers, as a minimum, with:

(i) Fair wages and equal remuneration for work of equal value without distinction of any kind, in particular women being guaranteed conditions of work not inferior to those enjoyed by men, with equal pay for equal work;

(ii) A decent living for themselves and their families in accordance with the provisions of the present Covenant;

(b) Safe and healthy working conditions;

(c) Equal opportunity for everyone to be promoted in his employment to an appropriate higher level, subject to no considerations other than those of seniority and competence;

(d) Rest, leisure and reasonable limitation of working hours and periodic holidays with pay, as well as remuneration for public holidays."

22. India as a democratic and socialist country became a signatory of the above noted covenant and ratified the same on 10.4.1979. In view of the aforesaid factual backdrop, various legislations were brought into existence, just in order to give fair wages, equal remuneration for work of equal value that too without distinction of any kind, which presupposes decent living, safe and healthy working conditions inculcating equal opportunity for everyone, which obviously includes not only elimination of the chances of discrimination, but also setting out the terms and conditions regarding their engagement as well as a cozy and congenial environment of working.

23. The Constitutional mandate to the State to protect the citizen's right to live with human dignity echoed by the Apex Court of this country is an unconditional promise that the polity owes to every citizen. This reverberation generated a bonhomie benevolent rights to the marginalized groups of our society.

24. Employees generally have optimistic expectations when they enter the workforce. Regardless of levels of experience, employees want to be treated with respect and dignity. Employees also want to feel valued and productive while at work. Work is, for many people, an expression of identity and a measure of one's worth to society. Self-esteem is often linked to job satisfaction and career growth.

25. The Parliament in exercise of the powers as conferred therein had enacted an Act by the name and the nomenclature of Equal Remuneration Act, 1976 in order to provide for payment of equal remuneration to men and women workers and for prevention and discrimination on the ground of sex against the women in the matter of employment and the matters connected therewith and incidental thereto.

26. For the reference, statement of objects and reasons are being extracted hereinunder:

"Prefatory Note - Statement of Objects and Reasons. Article 39 of Constitution envisages that the State shall direct its policy, among other things, towards securing that there is equal pay for equal work for both men and women. To give effect to this constitutional provision, the President promulgated on the 26th. September, 1975, the Equal Remuneration Ordinance, 1975 so that the provisions of Article 39 of the Constitution may be implemented in the year which is being celebrated as the International Women's Year. The Ordinance provides for payment of equal remuneration to men and women workers for the same work or work of similar nature and for the prevention of discrimination on grounds of sex."

27. Parliament of India in order to amend and consolidate the laws relating to wages and bonus and the matters enacted thereto or incidental thereto enacted an Act by the name and the nomenclature of the Code on Wages 2019 (No.29 of 2019), which received assent of the President on 8.8.2019 and was also gazetted on the same day. As per Sub-Section 2 read with 3 of Section 1 under Chapter I, it extends to the whole of India and it shall come into force on such date, as the Central Government may by notification in the official gazette appoint and the different dates may be appointed for different provisions of the Code and any reference in any such provisions to the commencement of the Code shall be construed as a reference to the coming into force of that provision. Section 5 of Chapter-II of the Code on Wages, 2019 provides that no employer shall pay to an employee wages less than the minimum rate of wages notified by the appropriate Government and so far as Section 6 is concerned, it provides the criteria and the basis of fixation of minimum rate of wages payable to the employees as whereas Section 7 envisages the composition of minimum rate of wages fixed or revised by appropriate rate of Government. Section 8 in extenso provides that in fixation of minimum rate of wages for the first time or revising minimum rates of wages, detailed criteria to be adhered to as clearly provided therein. Section 9 provides for power of the Central Government to fix floor wage and Section 10 provides for wages of employee, who works for less than normal working day and Section 11 provides for wages for two or more classes of work. Section 12 provides for minimum time rate for piece work and Section 13 provides for fixing hours for working for normal working day, and Section 14 provides for wages for overtime work.

28. As per Sub-Section (3) of Section 1 of the Code on Wages, 2019, the provisions contained therein would come into force on such date as the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette appoint, however, the same has not been enforced till date, but it finds its presence in the statute book.

29. A cumulative reading of the Minimum Wages Act 1948, the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976 and the Code on Wages, 2019 itself shows that they are the beneficial legislations engrafted for the benefit and the welfare of the workers with relation to wages, minimum wages and ancillary benefits as available under Labour Laws. The aforesaid Acts enjoin an obligation upon the appropriate Government to modify or amend the same as and when it has occasioned in the light of the relevant factors as prevalent from time to time.

30. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Gujarat Majdoor Sabha and others vs. State of Gujarat, 2020(10) SCC 459 had an occasion to consider the right of the workers belonging to unorganized sectors working in manufacturing units. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraphs-44, 45, 48 and 49 observed as under: -

"44. The Constitution is a charter which solemnized the transfer of power. But the constitutional vision of swarajya transcends the devolution of political power. The Fundamental Rights and Directive Principles of State Policy present a coherent vision of a welfare state that envisages justice- social, economic and political. Granville Austin, in his seminal work on the Indian Constitution, has collectively described them as "the conscience of the Constitution which connects India's future, present, and past by giving strength to the pursuit of social revolution in India". The colonial experience, and the poverty it sanctified as an incident of state policy, were the driving force in the Constituent Assembly's goal to achieve economic equality and independence. Although the Directive Principles were not intended to be capable of being independently enforced before the courts to invalidate a legislation, they inform state policies; act as a guidepost for legislation and provide sign posts for travelers engaged on the path of understanding the complexities which the Constitution unravels. Eminent legal scholar Upendra Baxi, while reviewing Granville Austin's work on the Indian Constitution had analysed the dichotomy of justiciability and non-justiciability of Fundamental Rights and Directive Principles. He had noted-

"..In no other area of constitutional scholarship, the need to ascend from the planet of platitudes to an analytic paradise is more compelling than in the study of directive principles. The fact that this distinction [in justiciability] is now a constitutional reality should not be allowed to obscure the more important fact that the directive principles and fundamental rights are both originally rooted in a vision of a new India. And though many writers on constitutional law have been led to draw a radical and sharp distinction between rights and principles, it is heartening that judicial decision-making has not failed to maintain the awareness of their basic unity".

45. The Factories Act is an integral element of the vision of state policy which seeks to uphold Articles 38, 39, 42, and 43 of the Constitution. It does so by attempting to neutralize the excesses in the skewed power dynamics between the managements of factories and their workmen by ensuring decent working conditions, dignity at work and a living wage. Ideas of "freedom' and "liberty' in the Fundamental Rights recognized by the Constitution are but hollow aspirations if the aspiration for a dignified life can be thwarted by the immensity of economic coercion.

48. The Constitution allows for economic experiments. Judicial review is justifiably held off in matters of policy, particularly economic policy. But the Directive Principles of State Policy cannot be reduced to oblivion by a sleight of interpretation. To a worker who has faced the brunt of the pandemic and is currently laboring in a workplace without the luxury of physical distancing, economic dignity based on the rights available under the statute is the least that this Court can ensure them. Justice Patanjali Sastry immortalized that phrase of this court as the sentinel on the qui vive in our jurisprudence by recognizing it in State of Madras vs. V G Row, AIR 1952 SC 196,. The phrase may have become weather-beaten in articles, seminars and now, in the profusion of webinars, amidst the changing times. Familiar as the phrase sounds, judges must constantly remind themselves of its value through their tenures, if the call of the constitutional conscience is to retain meaning. The "right to life' guaranteed to every person under Article 21, which includes a worker, would be devoid of an equal opportunity at social and economic freedom, in the absence of just and humane conditions of work. A workers' right to life cannot be deemed contingent on the mercy of their employer or the State. The notifications, in denying humane working conditions and overtime wages provided by law, are an affront to the workers' right to life and right against forced labour that are secured by Articles 21 and 23 of the Constitution.

49. This Court is cognizant that the Respondent aimed to ameliorate the financial exigencies that were caused due to the pandemic and the subsequent lockdown. However, financial losses cannot be offset on the weary shoulders of the laboring worker, who provides the backbone of the economy. Section 5 of the Factories Act could not have been invoked to issue a blanket notification that exempted all factories from complying with humane working conditions and adequate compensation for overtime, as a response to a pandemic that did not result in an "internal disturbance' of a nature that posed a " grave emergency' whereby the security of India is threatened. In any event, no factory/ classes of factories could have been exempted from compliance with provisions of the Factories Act, unless an "internal disturbance' causes a grave emergency that threatens the security of the state, so as to constitute a "public emergency' within the meaning of Section 5 of the Factories Act. We accordingly allow the writ petition and quash Notification No. GHR/ 2020/56/FAC/142020/346/M3 dated 17 April 2020 and Notification No. GHR/2020/92/FAC/142020/346/M3 dated 20 July 2020 issued by the Labour and Employment Department of the Respondent State."

31. Recently, the Hon'ble Apex Court in Civil Appeal No. (S) 3153 of 2022, *Maniben Maganbhai Bhariya decided on 25.4.2022 in paragraphs 40, 44, 52, 29, 31 and 32 observed as under:

"Rastogi, J.

40. If we look towards the problems plaguing the Anganwadi workers/helpers, the first and foremost, they are not holders of civil posts due to which they are deprived of a regular salary and other benefits that are available to employees of the State. Instead of a salary, they get only a so called paltry "honorarium' (much lower than the minimum wages) on the specious ground that they are parttime voluntary workers, working only for about 4 hours a day.

44. This appears to be the reason that on acknowledging their services on account of an exponential increase in Anganwadi centres/workers which has been recognized by Government of India, the opportunities are made available to Anganwadi workers/helpers being brought into the mainstream and to become Government employee, with a passage of time.

52. Before parting with the order, I would like to observe that the time has come when the Central Government/State Governments has to collectively consider as to whether looking to the nature of work and exponential increase in the Anganwadi centers and to ensure quality in the delivery of services and community participation and calling upon Anganwadi workers/helpers to perform multiple tasks ranging from delivery of vital services to the effective convergence of various sectoral services, the existing working conditions of Anganwadi workers/helpers coupled with lack of job security which albeit results in lack of motivation to serve in disadvantaged areas with limited sensitivity towards the delivery of services to such underprivileged groups, still being the backbone of the scheme introduced by ICDS, time has come to find out modalities in providing better service conditions of the voiceless commensurate to the nature of job discharged by them.

Abhay S. Oka, J.

29. The definition of ''wages' is very wide. It means all emoluments which are earned by an employee on duty. Thus, the honorarium paid to AWWs and AWHs will also be covered by the definition of wages. As AWWs and AWHs are employed by the State Government for wages in the establishments to which the 1972 Act applies, the AWWs and AWHs are employees within the meaning of the 1972 Act. In view of the said Rules of the Gujarat Government, the Anganwadi centres are not under the control of the Central Government. Therefore, the State Government will be an appropriate Government within the meaning of clause (a) of Section 2 of the 1972 Act. Accordingly, a person or authority appointed by the appropriate Government for the supervision and control of AWWs and AWHs will be the employer within the meaning of clause (f) of Section 2.

31. For the reasons recorded above, I have no manner of doubt that the 1972 Act will apply to Anganwadi centres and in turn to AWWs and AWHs. In the impugned Judgment, the Division Bench was swayed by the view taken by this Court in the case of Ameerbi which was followed by the Delhi High Court in the case of Akhil Bhartiya Anganwadi Kamgar Union (Regd.) (supra). These decisions, for the reasons recorded earlier, have no bearing on the issue involved in these appeals. The learned Single Judge was right in holding that the 1972 Act was applicable to AWWs and AWHs. The Controlling Authority has granted simple interest at the rate of 10% on the overdue gratuity amounts. All eligible AWWs and AWHs shall be entitled to the benefit of interest.

32. Hence, I allow the appeals and set aside the impugned Judgment dated 8th August 2017 of the Division Bench of Gujarat High Court and restore the Judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 6th June 2016 in Special Civil Application no. 1219 of 2016 and other connected cases by holding that the provisions of the 1972 Act apply to AWWs and AWHs working in Anganwadi centres. Within a period of three months from today, necessary steps shall be taken by the concerned authorities in the State of Gujarat under the 1972 Act to extend benefits of the said Act to the eligible AWWs and AWHs. We direct that all eligible AWWs and AWHs shall be entitled to simple interest @ 10% per annum from the date specified under subsection 3A of Section 7 of the 1972 Act."

32. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Punjab vs. Jagjit Singh, reported in 2017(1) SCC 148 had an occasion to consider the plight of daily wage employees, ad hoc appointees, employees appointed on casual basis, contractual employees while holding that they are entitled to minimum of the regular pay-scale. The Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraphs 43, 44, 54.3, 57 and 58 has observed as under:

"43. We shall now venture to summarize the conclusions recorded by this Court, with reference to a claim of pay parity, raised by temporary employees (differently designated as work-charge, daily-wage, casual, ad- hoc, contractual, and the like), in the following two paragraphs.

54.3. Based on the consideration recorded hereinabove, the determination in the impugned judgment rendered by the full bench of the High Court, whereby it classified temporary employees for differential treatment on the subject of wages, is clearly unsustainable, and is liable to be set aside.

57. There is no room for any doubt, that the principle of "equal pay for equal work' has emerged from an interpretation of different provisions of the Constitution. The principle has been expounded through a large number of judgments rendered by this Court, and constitutes law declared by this Court. The same is binding on all the courts in India, under Article 141 of the Constitution of India. The parameters of the principle, have been summarized by us in paragraph 42 hereinabove. The principle of "equal pay for equal work' has also been extended to temporary employees (differently described as work-charge, daily-wage, casual, ad-hoc, contractual, and the like). The legal position, relating to temporary employees, has been summarized by us, in paragraph 44 hereinabove. The above legal position which has been repeatedly declared, is being reiterated by us, yet again.

*58. In our considered view, it is fallacious to determine artificial parameters to deny fruits of labour. An employee engaged for the same work, cannot be paid less than another, who performs the same duties and responsibilities. Certainly not, in a welfare state. Such an action besides being demeaning, strikes at the very foundation of human dignity. Any one, who is compelled to work at a lesser wage, does not do so voluntarily. He does so, to provide food and shelter to his family, at the cost of his self respect and dignity, at the cost of his self worth, and at the cost of his integrity. For he knows, that his dependents would suffer immensely, if he does not accept the lesser wage. Any act, of paying less wages, as compared to others similarly situate, constitutes an act of exploitative enslavement, emerging out of a domineering position. Undoubtedly, the action is oppressive, suppressive and coercive, as it compels involuntary subjugation."

(Emphasis supplied by us)

33. Following the judgment of Jagjit Singh (Supra) recently, the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sabha Shanker Dube vs. Divisional Forest Officer and others, 2019(12) SCC 297 has observed in paragraph-12 observed as under:-

"12. In view of the judgment in Jagjit Singh (supra), we are unable to uphold the view of the High Court that the Appellants-herein are not entitled to be paid the minimum of the pay scales. We are not called upon to adjudicate on the rights of the Appellants relating to the regularization of their services. We are concerned only with the principle laid down by this Court initially in Putti Lal (supra) relating to persons who are similarly situated to the Appellants and later affirmed in Jagjit Singh (supra) that temporary employees are entitled to minimum of the pay scales as long as they continue in service."

34. Analysing the proposition of law as culled out in the above noted judgments irresistible conclusion can be safely drawn that the State being a model employer cannot act in such a manner, which not only creates disparity or tantamounts to encourage differential treatment in the matter of payment of remuneration, which might be in the form of honorarium as well as in the matters of working conditions. Here in the present case, it is the State Government, who by virtue of the Government Orders so issued from time to time as referred to above had made applicable the online platform by the name of GeM portal. It has been the consistent stand of the State that the payment of the remuneration should be as per the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 and working conditions should include number of working hours, days of working, maternity leave etc.

35. This Court further finds that the State of Uttar Pradesh and its functionaries have themselves rectified the defects and removed the lacunae, which were showing its presence in the Government Orders, while supplementing it with positive vibes, which were in the shape of a chariot bestowing benefits, which are legally admissible to the outsourced employees, who belong to unorganized sector.

36. In view of the foregoing discussions, the writ petition is partly allowed and disposed of with the following directions: -

(a) The respondents (State of Uttar Pradesh and its instrumentalities) shall strictly adhere to and comply with the Government Orders dated 7.12.2021, 5.4.2022 and 26.4.2022.

(b) If so occasioned in the light of the relevant factors, which include elevation of minimum wages, coupled with the benefits, which would be admissible from time to time, to the outsourced employee, the Government Orders may be amended/ modified from time to time.

(c) The State being a model employer must also make endeavours to issue appropriate Government Orders containing the aforementioned working conditions and maintaining uniformity in the payment of remuneration / honorarium in other departments through out the State of U.P.

(d) Needless to point out that whenever any modification / amendment is being made in the Government Orders, then they should be uploaded on the website so as to make it accessible to general public making them aware about rights and the privileges so conferred upon them.

(e) Once the Parliament of India has enacted the Code on Wages 2019 (No.29 of 2019), which has received the assent of the President and has been Gazetted on 8.8.2019 providing for amending and consolidating the law relating to wages and bonus and matters connected thereto and incidental thereto, then in view of the provisions contained under Sub-Section 3 of Section 1 of the Code on Wages 2019, this Court hopes and trust that the Central Government will expeditiously take steps to enforce the provisions of the Code on Wages, 2019.

A. Civil Law - Indian Forest Act, 1927 – UP Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills Rules, 1978 – R. 3(1) – Establishment of Saw Mill – Rule imposes the condition that the Mill should not be within 10 kms of the forest – Non-fulfillment of the condition – Effect – Notice issued requiring the petitioner to remove Saw Mill – Legality challenged – Held, the relief so claimed by the petitioner cannot be granted to it as admittedly the petitioner's Saw Mill is within 10 kms of the forest land and the said fact has also not been disputed by the petitioner. (Para 10, 15 and 17)

Writ petition dismissed (E-1)

List of Cases cited :-

1. T.N Godavarman Thirumulkpad Vs U.O.I. & ors. (1997) 5 SCC 760

2. Pradeep Kumar Saxena Vs St. of U.P. & ors. 2015 (7) ADJ 615

1. Today when the matter was taken up a request was made on behalf of the Sri Rahul Sahai, learned counsel for the petitioner for adjourning the matter. However, this Court finds that present petition is of the year 2011 and the petitioner has not been able to obtain any interim order.

2. Accordingly, present writ petition is being decided on the basis of pleadings so available on record and after hearing Sri Sharad Srivastava, learned Standing Counsel.

3. This is a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India seeking following reliefs:-

"1. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari for quashing the impugned order dated 4.4.2011 passed by the respondent no. 4 vide Patrank No. 4126/22-18 (Annexure-1 to the Writ Petition).

2. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the respondent authorities not to interfere in the peaceful running and functioning of the Saw Mill of the petitioner situated at Lalpur, Chitaula, Arniya, Bulandhshahar."

4. Perusal of relief as sought in the present writ petition reveals that the petitioner herein is challenging the order / notice dated 4.4.2011 issued by the fourth respondent, whereby the petitioner was required to shift its Saw Mill within a period of seven days. Further relief has also been sought in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents herein not to interfere in the peaceful running and functioning of the Saw Mill of the petitioner situated at Lalpur, Chitaula, Arniya, Bulandhshahar.

5. As per the pleading so set forth in the present writ petition, which reveals that the petitioner was running the abovenoted Saw Mill with one Madan Pal Singh s/o Hardev Singh since 1987. A license to the said effect was issued in favour of Sri Madan Pal Singh bearing No. 205/2003 Arniya. It has also been pleaded that an agreement was also entered between the petitioner and Madan Pal Singh. However, as stated in paragraph 5 of the writ petition on 16.11.2004 Sri Madan Pal Singh s/o Hardev Singh transferred the license in favour of the petitioner. A copy of the license dated 16.11.2004 has been appended as Annexure-2 at page 21 of the paperbook in which there is a specific condition mentioned therein that the Saw Mill should not fall within 10 kms of existing forest.

6. Sofar as the procedure and the manner according to which licenses as well as ancillary and incidental issues are to be governed with respect of Saw Mills it is clearly provided by the Rule by name and the nomenclature of Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills Rules, 1978, which has been enacted in exercise of the powers under Clause (a) of Section 51-A of the Indian Forest Act, 1927.

7. As a matter of fact, in the case of T.N Godavarman Thirumulkpad vs. Union of India and others (1997) 5 SCC 760 the Hon'ble Apex Court in proceedings under Article 32 of the Constitution of India in Writ Petition (C) No. 202 of 1995 had issued certain directions vide order dated 8.5.1997, however, sofar as the same pertains to state of Uttar Pradesh. The same is being quoted as under:-

"1. After hearing the learned amicus curiae, the learned Attorney General and the other learned counsel, we direct as under:

A. In the State of Uttar Pradesh the following is permitted-

1. The Principal Chief Conservator of Forest (PCCF) may, on a case-to-case basis, consider grant of permission to an existing licensed saw mill to relocate itself, provided that the relocated site is not within 10 kms of any existing forest.

2. To alleviate the unintended hardship which may be caused to the ordinary populace in the hill areas who need forest produce for their survival, it is clarified as under:-

(a) Nothing contained in the orders passed by this Court would prevent the U.P. Forest Corporation from directly undertaking the exercise of collecting forest produce including fallen wood (but not any felling or cutting of trees or timber) to the extent strictly necessary, and disturbing the same ex depot to the people living in the hill areas. (b) The Forest Corporation may, with the prior permission of the PCCF, remove dead or dry trees for supply in the same manner ex depot to people residing in those areas. The Forest Corporation shall (i) undertake such activity itself without engaging any outside agencies, and (ii) keep an account of the dead and dry trees felled and removed by them, and shall by way of an affidavit file the same in this Court."

8. In pursuance of the directions so issued by the Hon'ble Hon'ble Apex Court in the abovequoted decision on 8.5.1997 it was mandated that the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest (PCCF) may on case-to-case basis consider grant of permission to an existing license Saw Mill to relocate itself provided that the relocated existing area is not within 10 kms of any existing forest.

9. In the aforesaid factual backdrop, it appears that the respondents herein conducted survey for the purposes of determining the distance of the existing Saw Mill vis-a-vis the forest area so earmarked therein. It is come on record that on 28.2.2011 a communication has been issued under the signature of the respondent no. 2 addressed to Forest Conservator and Regional Director Forest, Meerut Area, Meerut, which is Annexure-9 to the writ petition at page 57 of the paperbook, wherein the details of the petitioner finds place at Sl. No. 11, according to which it is just 6.47 kms within the area earmarked as forest.

10. Consequently, a notice was issued on 4.4.2011, which is under challenge, by the respondent no. 4 requiring the petitioner to remove the Saw Mill, which is existing as continuance of the same would be in defiance of the orders / directions issued by the Hon'ble Apex Court.

11. Challenging the same, now the petitioner is before this Court.

12. This Court on 4.5.2011 connected the present petition with Writ C No. 23131 of 2011 (Subhash Chandra And Others vs. State of U.P. and others) in which on 22.4.2011 the following order was passed:-

"Connect and list this petition with Writ Petition 23131 of 2011."

13. Subsequently, Writ C No. 23131 of 2011 (Subhash Chandra And Others vs. State of U.P. and others) came to be dismissed vide order dated 22.11.2018 on the ground that as now no cause of action survives. The aforesaid order dated 22.11.2018 is also quoted as under:-

"Heard Sri R. K. Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

Learned counsel for the petitioners Sri R. K. Sharma submits that he does not wish to press the writ petition as no cause of action now survives.

The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed."

14. This Court further finds that Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mill Rules, 1978 under went amendment on 4.12.2017 the Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills (6th Amendment) Rules, 2017 have come into existence. The aforesaid amended Rules 2017 are quoted as under:-

"Uttar Pradesh Shasan

15. As per the amended Rule 3(1) the restriction with regard to establishment of Saw Mill is to be not within 10 kms of the forest. Here as per the onshowing of the petitioner as apparent from the document dated 16.11.2004 for transferring the license in favour of the petitioner, wherein one of the condition was to the extent that Saw Mill should not be within 10 kms of the forest and moreover a communication dated 28.2.2011, which has been the basis for passing of the order dated 4.4.2011 has also not been challenged by the petitioner, which itself shows that the distance of the petitioner's Saw Mill is 6.47 kms from the forest, which is within the restricted area. It has also come on record as per onshowing of the petitioner in paragraph 11 of the writ petition that the license of the petitioner had been extended for the period from February, 2010 to 31.12.2010 and there is nothing to show that the same has been extended beyond that.

16. A Division Bench of this Court had an occasion to consider the said contingency that certain existing Saw Mill was within 10 kms of the forest and this Court after considering the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of T.N Godavarman Thirumulkpad (supra) had proceeded to pass the order dated 21.7.2015 in the case of Pradeep Kumar Saxena vs. State of U.P. and others, 2015 (7) ADJ 615 , which reads as under:-

"In these proceedings, the petitioner has called into question an order dated 3 December 2011 passed by the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest, holding that the licence granted to the petitioner for conducting a saw mill stands cancelled since the distance between the saw mill and the reserved forest is 4.66 kms. However, liberty was granted to the petitioner, should he desire to relocate the saw mill beyond the distance of 10 kilometres, to submit a fresh application for consideration.

The basis of the order of the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest was a direction issued by the Supreme Court in T N Godavarman Thirumulkpad v. Union of India1. Insofar as is material to these proceedings, the direction issued by the Supreme Court is as follows:

"A. In the State of Uttar Pradesh the following is permitted -

1. The Principal Chief Conservator of Forest (PCCF) may, on a case-to-case basis, consider grant of permission to an existing licensed saw mill to relocate itself, provided that the relocated site is not within 10 kms of any existing forest."

In the counter affidavit filed by the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest on 28 February 2012, it has been stated that the petitioner purchased a saw mill licence bearing 47/92/Atrauli and by a communication dated 30 November 2004 of the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest, the saw mill was relocated to plot no.99, khasra 382 Quarsi Road, Ram Ghat, Aligarh with a condition that the relocated site should not be within 10 kms from an existing forest. The Divisional Forest Officer, Aligarh issued a saw mill licence No.64/2009 on 6 September 2009. The Principal Chief Conservator of Forest, by a letter dated 29 April 2011, reiterated that in view of the order of the Supreme Court dated 8 May 1997, the relocated saw mill should not be within 10 kms from the existing forest. The saw mill of the petitioner was found to be within 4.66 kms from the nearest forest block on the basis of the following GPS data:

Aligarh	Pradeep Kumar Saxena	27°54'64.0"N 078°06'59.5"E	27°57'36.6"N 78°5'3.30"E	4.66 Km

It has been stated in the counter affidavit that the Divisional Forest Officer has afforded sufficient opportunity to the petitioner for a personal hearing and to present a written statement by a letter dated 20 May 2011. In response to the letter, the petitioner presented a written statement on 27 May 2011. A personal hearing was also held on 27 May 2011. It was found that the petitioner had not substantiated the case that the saw mill was not located within 10 kms from the nearest Chherat forest block or that it was outside the limits of the Nagar Nigam. Following this, the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest, revoked the order dated 30 November 2004 on 21 November 2011. While directing a closure of the operation of the saw mill, it has been provided that in case, the saw mill owner is willing to shift his saw mill beyond 10 kms from the forest area, a relocation proposal may be sent.

In the counter affidavit, it has been stated that the GPS data was relied upon to compute the distance between the relocated site of the saw mill and the existing forest. In this regard, during the course of the submissions, a reference has been made to the provisions contained in Section 11 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 under which measurement of distances for the purposes of any Act or Regulation made after the commencement of the said Act shall, unless a different intention appears, be measured in a straight line on a horizontal plane. This principle was accepted in a judgment of a Full Bench of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Shaik Hussain v. Divisional Forest Officer, Proddatur2.

Though it has been urged on behalf of the petitioner that the conclusion of the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest to the effect that the saw mill of the petitioner was within a distance of 10 kms is not correct, absolutely no material has been placed on the record or drawn to the attention of the Court during the course of these proceedings to displace the finding of fact. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment delivered by the Supreme Court in Lafarge Umiam Mining Pvt. Ltd. v. Union of India3 in support of the submission that the Supreme Court has expected that there should be regular updating and creation of a GIS based decision support database.

The basic issue is that, if the petitioner was aggrieved by the finding that the distance of his saw mill from the reserved forest was not beyond the distance of 10 kms, as mandated in the order of the Supreme Court dated 8 May 1997, at least some cogent material ought to have been placed on the record which would have warranted the Court to scrutinize the matter. In the absence thereof, the Court cannot proceed either on the basis of hypothesis or surmise or come to a conclusion that the finding of fact recorded by the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest was erroneous.

For these reasons, we see no reason to entertain the writ petition. The petition is, accordingly, dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs."

17. Looking into the facts of the case as well as the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court as referred above and the judgment of coordinate Bench of this Court this Court finds that the relief so claimed by the petitioner cannot be granted to its as admittedly the petitioner's Saw Mill is within 10 kms of the forest land and the said fact has also not been disputed by the petitioner and further the issue relating to the direction of the Hon'ble Apex Court contained in the order dated 8.5.1997, the amendment so made in Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills (6th Amendment) Rules, 2017 and in the light of the fact that writ petition pertains to the year 2011 and we are in 2022 as much water has flown therefrom.

18. Resultantly, present petition is dismissed. However, leaving it open to the petitioner to approach the competent authorities for the grant of license as per the Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills Rules 1978 as amended from time to time and in vogue for the grant of license of running Saw Mills and in case the petitioner approaches the competent authority as envisaged in the Uttar Pradesh Establishment and Regulation of Saw Mills Rules, 1978 as amended from time to time as in vogue after completing the formalities so prescribed therein this Court has no reason to disbelieve the fact that the application so preferred by the petitioner shall be considered in accordance with law.

19. With the aforesaid observations, present petition stands dismissed.

A. Constitution of India – Article 226 – UP Revenue Code, 2006 – Sections 24(4) & 210 – Writ – Maintainability – Alternative remedy of revision u/s 210 – Amendment in 2019 – Where the amended provision of S. 24(4) provide `the order of Commissioner shall be final subject to provision of S. 210, unamended provision provide it without any subjection – Apparent conflict, how far restrict the revisional power of Board of Revenue – Held, mere fact that there is no further appeal against the order passed by the Commissioner in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 would not be held to create a bar in invocation of the revisional jurisdiction of the Board of Revenue under section 210 of the Code – The provision 'the order of Commissioner shall be final' only mean that the order passed in appeal under sub-section (4) would not be subject to any second appeal – High Court held writ petition not maintainable on the ground of alternative remedy of revision. (Para 21, 22, 48, 49 and 66)

B. Interpretation of statute – Conflicting statutory provisions – Harmonious construction – Applicability – The provisions of a statute are to be read in a way that renders them compatible and not contradictory – While interpreting two inconsistent, or, obviously repugnant provisions of an Act, the courts should make an effort to so interpret the provisions as to harmonise them so that the purpose of the Act may be given effect to and both the provisions may be allowed to operate without rendering either of them otiose.(Para 29 and 31)

C. Interpretation of statute – Conflicting statutory provisions – Rule of ex visceribus actus – Presumption against inconsistency – Rule of ex visceribus actus helps in avoiding any inconsistency either within a section or between two different sections or provisions of the same statute – It essentially means that every part of a statute must be construed within its four corners and no provision should be interpreted in isolation – In case of any doubt, a statute is to be so construed as to be consistent with itself throughout its extent so as to harmonize with the other laws and be in consonance with the legislative purpose. 2. The present petition has been filed seeking to assail the order dated 08.09.2021 passed by the Commissioner Basti, Division Basti/respondent no. 2 in an appeal filed under sub-section (4) of Section 24 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 20061 being Appeal No. 00631/2020 and the earlier order dated 26.10.2019 passed by the Sub-Divisional Magistrate Tehsil Harraiya, District Basti/respondent no. 3 in Case No. 06482/2019 under Section 24 of the Code whereby the application of the respondent no. 5 under Section 24 of the Code has been allowed.

3. An objection with regard to the entertainability of the writ petition was raised on behalf of the State respondents by pointing out that the order passed in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 of the Code is subject to the remedy of revision under Section 210 of the Code.

4. Counsel for the petitioner has sought to refute the aforesaid contention by submitting that the remedy of revision under Section 210 of the Code is available only in a situation where no appeal lies and in the instant case since the petitioner is seeking to assail an order passed in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24, the remedy of revision would not be available.

5. The question which thus falls for consideration in the present case is as to whether an order passed in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 of the Code, would be subject to a revision under Section 210 of the Code,

6. Counsel for the parties have referred to the relevant statutory provisions under the Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code, 2006 and the amendments made to the Code in terms of U.P. Revenue Code (Amendment) Act, 2016 [U.P. Act No. 4 of 2016] and the U.P. Revenue Code (Amendment) Act, 2019 [U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019]. For ease of reference the relevant statutory provisions under the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 together with their legislative history, would be required to be adverted to.

7. The Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code Bill, 2006 was passed by the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Assembly and assented to by the President on 29 November, 2012 and published in the U.P. Gazette (Extra.), Part I, Section (ka) on 12 December 2012, vide Vishay Anubhag-1-Noti. No. 1044 (2) 179-v-12-1 (ka) 33/2006, dated 12 December, 2012 as U.P. Act No. 8 of 2012. Vide Noti. No. 1879/1-1-2015-15(1)/1998-19T.C.III dated 18 December 2015, Sections 1, 4-19, 233 and 234 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 (U.P. Act No. 8 of 2012) came into force on 18 December, 2015 and the remaining provisions of the said Act came into force on 11 February 2016.

8. The provisions with regard to settlement of boundary disputes are contained under Section 24 of the Code. Section 24 of the Code, as it originally stood, is being extracted below :-

"24. Disputes regarding boundaries.—(1) The Sub-Divisional Officer may, on his own motion or on an application made in this behalf by a person interested, decide, by summary inquiry, any dispute regarding boundaries on the basis of existing survey maps or, where they have been revised in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953, on the basis of such maps, but if this is not possible, the boundaries shall be fixed on the basis of actual possession.

(2) If in the course of an inquiry into a dispute under sub-section (1), the Sub-Divisional Officer is unable to satisfy himself as to which party is in possession or if it is shown that possession has been obtained by wrongful dispossession of the lawful occupant, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall—

(a) in the first case, ascertain by summary inquiry who is the person best entitled to the property, and shall put such person in possession;

(b) in the second case, put the person so dispossessed in possession, and for that purpose use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary and shall then fix the boundary accordingly.

(3) Every proceeding under this section shall, as far as possible, be concluded by the Sub-Divisional Officer within six months from the date of the application.

(4) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer may prefer an appeal before the Commissioner within 30 days of the date of such order. The order of the Commissioner shall be final."

9. The Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code Rules, 20162 were made in exercise of powers under Section 233 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 [U.P. Act No. 8 of 2012], read with Section 21 of the U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904. The English translation of the Rules, 2016 was published in the U.P. Gazette, Part 4, Section (Kha) dt. 10.02.2016. Rule 22 of the aforesaid Rules, which relates to settlement of boundary dispute, is as follows :-

"22. Settlement of boundary dispute (Section 24).- (1) Every application for settlement of boundary dispute under Section 24 (1) of the Code shall be made to the Sub-Divisional-Officer and it shall contain the following, particulars:

(a) The names, parentage and addresses of the parties;

(b) Plot number, area and boundaries of the land, along with its location;

(c) Precise nature of the dispute.

(2) No application for demarcation of boundaries under Section 24 (1) of the Code shall be entertained unless it is accompanied by certified extracts from the maps, khasras and Record-of-Rights (khatauni) on the basis of which demarcation is sought, and the required amount calculated at the rate of Rs. 1000/- per survey number of the applicant as fee for demarcation has been paid by the applicant.

(3) If the application is for demarcation of two or more than two adjoining plots, only one set of demarcation fee shall be payable but where the survey numbers sought to be demarcated are not adjoining, separate sets of demarcation fee shall be paid.

(4) On the receipt of the application the concerned official shall check the application as to whether the requirements have been fulfilled or not. If there is any defect of formal nature, the applicant or his counsel shall be permitted to remove the defect at once but where the requirements of the application have not been fulfilled, the applicant shall be afforded opportunity as sought for to fulfil the requirements.

(5) As soon as the requirements are fulfilled the official concerned shall register the application in the register concerned and put up the same before the Sub-Divisional-Officer for appropriate order.

(6) The Sub-Divisional-Officer shall pass order on the same day or on the next working day, directing the Revenue Inspector or other revenue officer to demarcate the plot or plots as the case may be after fixing a date and serving the notice in respect thereof to all the tenure-holders concerned. This exercise shall be completed within a period of one month from the date of order passed by Sub-Divisional-Officer.

(7) The notice under sub-rule (6) of this rule shall be served on the concerned tenure-holder or in his absence on his adult family member. The notice shall also be served on the Chairman of the Land Management Committee.

(8) At the time of demarcation of the plot the spot-memo shall be prepared by the Revenue Inspector or other Revenue Officer and the same shall be signed by all the parties concerned and by the Chairman of the Land Management Committee or any two independent witnesses present at the time of the demarcation. If any party refuses to sign the spot-memo, the endorsement to the effect shall be made by the Revenue Inspector.

(9) The Revenue Inspector or other Revenue Officer shall submit his report of demarcation with spot-memo within a period of fifteen days from the date of demarcation. The name and address of the every affected party shall be disclosed in the report.

(10) On receipt of the report under sub-rule (9), the notices shall be issued within one week to all the affected parties inviting the objections on the report and the date shall be fixed which shall not be later than 15 days from the date of issuing the notice.

(11) On the date fixed or on any other date to which the hearing is adjourned, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall decide the dispute regarding the boundaries in accordance with the provisions of the sub-section (2) of the Section 24 of the Code and pass the appropriate order after considering the report and the objections, if any, filed against the report and affording opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned.

(12) If the report is confirmed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, the boundary pillars shall be fixed accordingly within a period of one week and report in respect thereof shall be submitted which shall be part of the record.

(13) Where boundaries of plots/survey numbers are not identifiable or damaged, due to alluvion or diluvion or heavy rain or for any other reasons, the Sub-Divisional Officer may, on the application of the Chairman of the Village Revenue Committee of the village or on the report of Revenue Inspector or Lekhpal of the Circle or on the joint application signed by all the tenure-holders concerned, direct, by general or special order in writing, the Revenue Inspector or Lekhpal concerned to demarcate the boundaries on the spot on the basis of the existing survey map or where it is not possible, on the basis of the possession and to redress the grievance, if any, on the basis of the conciliation in consultation with the Village Revenue Committee. The Revenue Inspector or the Lekhpal shall comply with the such order within two weeks from the date of the order and submit the report thereof to the Sub-Divisional Officer.

(14) If any party is aggrieved by the demarcation under sub-rule (13) of this rule, he may move application for demarcation of the boundaries under sub-section (1) of Section 24 of the Code and the demarcation under sub-rule (13) will be subject to demarcation under sub-section (1) of Section 24 of the Code.

(15) The Sub Divisional Officer, at the time of passing the order for the demarcation under section 24 of the Code or under sub-rule (13) of this rule, may direct the Station Officer of the police station concerned to make the police force available for maintaining the law and order on the spot at the time of demarcation.

(16) The Sub-Divisional Officer shall make an endeavour to conclude the proceeding within the period specified in Section 24 (3) and if the proceeding is not concluded within such period the reason for the same shall be recorded."

10. The power to call for the records, conferred on the Board of Revenue3 or the Commissioner, in respect of any suit or proceedings decided by any subordinate revenue court, is provided for under Section 210 of the Code. Section 210 of the Code, as it originally stood, is as follows :-

"210 Power to call for the records.—The Board or the Commissioner may call for the record of any suit or proceeding decided by any sub-ordinate revenue court in which no appeal lies, or where an appeal lies but has not been preferred, for the purpose of satisfying itself or himself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed in such suit or proceeding; and if such subordinate court appears to have—

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of such jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity;

the Board, or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may pass such order in the case as it or he thinks fit.

(2) If an application under this section has been moved by any person either to the Board or to the Commissioner, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by the other of them.

(3) No application under this section shall be entertained after the expiry of a period of thirty days from the date of the order sought to be revised or from the date of commencement of this Code, whichever is later."

11. The Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code, 2006 was amended in terms of the Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code (Amendment) Act, 2016 [U.P. Act No. 4 of 2016]. The amendments made to Section 24 and Section 210 in the amending Act of 2016 are as follows :-

"18. Amendment of Section 24.— In Section 24 of the said Code—

(a) in Hindi version, in sub-section (1), for the word "स्व–प्रेरणा" the word "स्व–प्रेरणा" and for the words "जांच द्वारा विनिश्चय कर सकता है" the words "जांच द्वारा कर सकता है" shall be substituted;

(b) in sub-section (3), for the words "six months" the words "three months" shall be substituted."

"162. Amendment of Section 210.— In Section 210 of the said Code—

(a) for the figures and words "210. The Board" the figures, brackets and words "210. (1) The Board" shall be substituted.

(b) in sub-section (1), the words and punctuation mark "or where an appeal lies but has not been preferred," shall be omitted;

(c) after sub-section (2) and before sub-section (3), the following explanation shall be inserted, namely —

Explanation.— For the removal of doubt it is, hereby, declared that when an application under this section has been moved either to the Board or to the Commissioner, the application shall not be permitted to be withdrawn for the purpose of filing the application against the same order to the other of them.

(d) in sub-section (3), for the words "thirty days" the words "sixty days" shall be substituted."

12. The provisions under Section 24 and Section 210 consequent to the amendment made in terms of the U.P. Act No. 4 of 2016, stood as follows :-

"24. Disputes regarding boundaries.—(1) The Sub-Divisional Officer may, on his own motion or on an application made in this behalf by a person interested, decide, by summary inquiry, any dispute regarding boundaries on the basis of existing survey map or, where the same is not possible in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings Act 1953, on the basis of such maps.

(2) If in the course of an inquiry into a dispute under sub-section (1), the Sub-Divisional Offices is unable to satisfy himself as to which party is in possession or if it is shown that possession has been obtained by wrongful dispossession of the lawful occupant, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall—

(a) in the first case, ascertain by summary inquiry who is the person best entitled to the property, and shall put such person in possession;

(b) in the second case, put the person so dispossessed in possession, and for that purpose use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary and shall then fix the boundary accordingly.

(3) Every proceeding under this section shall, as far as possible, be concluded by the Sub-Divisional Officer within three months from the date of the application.

(4) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer may prefer an appeal before the Commissioner within 30 days of the date of such order. The order of the Commissioner shall be final."

"210 Power to call for the records.- (1) The Board or the Commissioner may call for the record of any suit or proceeding decided by any sub-ordinate Revenue Court in which no appeal lies, for the purpose of satisfying itself or himself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed in such suit or proceeding, and if such subordinate Court appears to have-

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of such jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity;

the Board, or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may pass such order in the case as it or he thinks fit.

(2) If an application under this section has been moved by any person either to the Board or to the Commissioner, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by the other of them.

Explanation.- For the removal of doubt it is, hereby, declared that when an application under this section has been moved either to the Board or to the Commissioner, the application shall not be permitted to be withdrawn for the purpose of filing the application against the same order to the other of them.

(3) No application under this section shall be entertained after the expiry of a period of sixty days from the date of the order sought to be revised or from the date of commencement of this Code, whichever is later."

13. The U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 was subject to further amendments made in terms of the Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code (Amendment) Act, 2019 [U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019], which was deemed to come into force on March 10, 2019.

14. In terms of the aforesaid amending Act of 2019, the amendment of Section 24 of the U.P. Act No. 8 of 2012 was made in the following terms :-

"2. In Section 24 of the Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code, 2006 hereinafter referred to as the principal Act, in sub-section (4) for the words, "the order of the Commissioner shall be final," the words "The order of the Commissioner shall, subject to the provisions of Section 210, be final" shall be substituted."

15. There was some inconsistency in the Hindi version of the language of Section 210 inasmuch as the words used in sub-Section (1) where "कोई अपील नहीं हुई" as against the language in the English version which was "in which no appeal lies". The aforesaid inconsistency was removed by making suitable amendment in the Hindi version of Section 210 of the principal Act by providing as follows :-

"19. In Section 210 of the principal Act, in the Hindi version, in sub-section (1) for the words "कोई अपील नहीं हुई" the words "कोई अपील नहीं हो सकती" shall be substituted."

16. The provisions contained under Section 24 and Section 210 consequent to the amendments made as per the terms of the U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019 now stand as under :-

"24. Disputes regarding boundaries.— (1) The Sub-Divisional Officer may, on his own motion or on an application made in this behalf by a person interested, decide, by summary inquiry, any dispute regarding boundaries on the basis of existing survey map or, where the same is not possible in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings Act 1953, on the basis of such maps.

(2) If in the course of an inquiry into a dispute under sub-section (1), the Sub-Divisional Offices is unable to satisfy himself as to which party is in possession or if it is shown that possession has been obtained by wrongful dispossession of the lawful occupant, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall—

(a) in the first case, ascertain by summary inquiry who is the person best entitled to the property, and shall put such person in possession;

(b) in the second case, put the person so dispossessed in possession, and for that purpose use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary and shall then fix the boundary accordingly.

(3) Every proceeding under this section shall, as far as possible, be concluded by the Sub-Divisional Officer within three months from the date of the application.

(4) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer may prefer an appeal before the Commissioner within 30 days of the date of such order. The order of the Commissioner shall, subject to the provisions of Section 210, be final."

"210 Power to call for the records.—The Board or the Commissioner may call for the record of any suit or proceeding decided by any sub-ordinate revenue court in which no appeal lies, for the purpose of satisfying itself or himself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed in such suit or proceeding; and if such subordinate court appears to have—

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of such jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity;

the Board, or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may pass such order in the case as it or he thinks fit.

(2) If an application under this section has been moved by any person either to the Board or to the Commissioner, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by the other of them.

Explanation.- For the removal of doubt it is, hereby, declared that when an application under this section has been moved either to the Board or to the Commissioner, the application shall not be permitted to be withdrawn for the purpose of filing the application against the same order to the other of them.

(3) No application under this section shall be entertained after the expiry of a period of sixty days from the date of the order sought to be revised or from the date of commencement of this Code, whichever is later."

17. Learned counsel for the petitioner has made his submissions as under :-

17.1 As per the unamended provisions, sub-section (4) of Section 24 of the Code provided the remedy of an appeal against the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer passed under Section 24 and the order passed in appeal by the Commissioner was to be final. The remedy of revision under Section 210 of the Code was available only in a case in which no appeal lies, and therefore since sub-section (4) of Section 24 provided for an appeal, there was to be no further remedy of a revision available thereagainst under Section 210 of the Code.

17.2. Consequent to the amendment made to sub-section (4) of Section 24 as per the U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019, the finality attached to the order of the Commissioner continues subject to the provisions of Section 210 of the Code. The order of the Commissioner under sub-section (4) of Section 24 has been made subject to the provisions of Section 210 of the Code and as per terms of Section 210 the remedy of revision being available only in a case where no appeal lies, the order passed by the Commissioner under sub-section (4) of Section 24 would not be amenable to a further remedy of revision under Section 210 of the Code.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioner has sought to refer to the corresponding provisions with regard to settlement of boundary disputes under Section 41 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (now repealed) and the provisions with regard to the remedy of revision under Section 219 of the aforesaid Act to contend that even under the earlier statutory provisions, the order passed under Section 41 relating to a boundary dispute was subject to an appeal under Section 210 and the remedy of revision under Section 219 was not available thereafter. To support his submissions, reliance has been placed upon the judgment in the case of Vijay Kumar and others Vs. State of U.P. and others4

19. Controverting the aforesaid submissions, learned Additional Advocate General appearing for the State respondents has submitted as under :-

19.1 Even under the unamended provisions, the finality attached to the order passed by the Commissioner in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 could not be held to restrict the revisional jurisdiction conferred on the Board under Section 210; the order of the Commissioner which was held to be final only meant that there was no further right of an appeal against such an order.

19.2 The amending Act of 2019 has made the order of the Commissioner subject to the provisions of Section 210, which clearly goes to show that the finality attached to the order of the Commissioner passed in appeal has been made subject to the exercise of the revisional powers by the Board under Section 210.

19.3 The amending Act of 2019 has clarified the position by providing in explicit terms that the order of the Commissioner passed in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24, is final, subject to the revisional powers to be exercised by the Board under Section 210.

19.4 The restriction contained under Section 210 providing for the remedy of a revision only in a case "in which no appeal lies" would not be attracted since the question under consideration is with regard to the availability of the remedy of a revision against the order passed in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 against which no further appeal lies. In this regard attention is drawn to the Third Schedule of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 to point out that in respect of proceedings relating to disputes regarding boundaries under Section 24, the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer is subject to an appeal before the Commissioner and there is no provision with regard to a further appeal. It is therefore contended that since no appeal lies against the appellate order of the Commissioner under sub-section (4) of Section 24, the remedy of revision under Section 210 would not be barred.

19.5 The decision in the case of Vijay Kumar and others (supra), sought to be relied upon by the petitioner, has been rendered in the context of the provisions under the U.P. Land Revenue Act 1901 (now repealed). The scheme of the statutory provisions under the U.P. Revenue Code 2006, consequent to the amendments made in the year 2019, being entirely different the aforesaid decision would not be applicable in the facts of the present case.

20. Learned Additional Advocate General has further placed reliance on the settled principle of statutory construction that even in a case where there appears to be some inconsistency between two statutory provisions, the principle of harmonious construction would have to be applied so as to avoid a head on clash and the provisions of one section of a statute cannot be read in a manner so as to render the provisions under the other section as otiose. It is also contended that the provisions under Section 210 pertaining to the revisional powers of the Board are of a general nature and the same cannot be held to override the provisions under Section 24 (4) which are of a special nature and relate specifically to the subject matter relating to boundary disputes. To support the aforesaid submissions, reliance is placed upon the decisions in Krishan Kumar Vs. State of Rajasthan and others, Sultana Begum Vs. Prem Chand Jain, Jagdish Singh Vs. Lt. Governor, Delhi and others, Anwar Hasan Khan Vs. Mohd. Shafi and others, British Airways Plc. Vs. Union of India and others, D.R.Yadav and another Vs. R.K.Singh and another, Suresh Nanda Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, Gujrat Urja Vikas Nigam Ltd. Vs. Essar Power Ltd. and Sanjay Ramdas Patil Vs. Sanjay and others.

21. In order to appreciate the rival contentions, the provisions contained under sub-section (4) of Section 24, as they stood prior to the amendment brought about by the U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019 and post the amendment, would have to be considered in juxtaposition, as follows :-

Pre-amendment	Post-amendment
Section 24 (4).—Any person aggrieved by the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer may prefer an appeal before the Commissioner within 30 days of the date of such order. The order of the Commissioner shall be final.	Section 24 (4).—Any person aggrieved by the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer may prefer an appeal before the Commissioner within 30 days of the date of such order. The order of the Commissioner shall subject to the provisions of Section 210 be final.

22. Under the pre-amended provision the order of the Commissioner passed in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24, against the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer under sub-section (1) of Section 24, was to be final. The amending Act of 2019 has made the finality attached to the order of the Commissioner under sub-section (4) subject to the provisions of Section 210.

23. Section 210, as it stands after the amendment brought about by the U.P. Act No. 4 of 2016, empowers the Board or the Commissioner to call for the record of any suit or proceedings decided by any subordinate revenue court "in which no appeal lies" for the purpose of satisfying itself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed in such suit or proceedings.

24. The Board or the Commissioner, may pass such order in the case as it thinks fit, if the subordinate court appears to have—

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of such jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.

25. It would therefore be seen that under Section 210, the Board or the Commissioner, may exercise the power to call for the record of any suit or proceedings decided by any subordinate revenue court, under the following conditions :-

(i) where no appeal lies; and

(ii) the subordinate court appears to have—

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of such jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.

The Board or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may thereafter pass such order in the case as it or he thinks fit.

26. A plain reading of the aforesaid provisions at first blush would suggest that the remedy of a revision under Section 210 being available in a case where no appeal lies, the order passed by the Commissioner under sub-section (4) of Section 24 would not be revisable before the Board under Section 210.

27. The aforesaid proposition, though seemingly attractive, would have to be examined in the context of the amendment made to sub-section (4) of Section 24 by the amending Act of 2019 in terms of which the finality attached to the order of the Commissioner passed in the appeal has been made subject to the provisions of Section 210.

28. The provisions contained under sub-section (4) of Section 24, as they stand post the amendment of the year 2019, whereby the finality attached to the order passed by the Commissioner in appeal has been made subject to the provisions of Section 210, has to be read together with the apparently conflicting provisions under Section 210 which contains an interdict that the revisional powers thereunder are to be exercised where no appeal lies.

29. It is a settled principle of statutory construction that the provisions of a statute are to be read in a way that renders them compatible and not contradictory.

30. The applicability of the principle of harmonious construction came up for consideration in Krishan Kumar Vs. State of Rajasthan and others5, in the context of some apparent conflict between two provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 and referring to an earlier decision in Venkataramana Devaru v. State of Mysore,14 it was observed as follows :-

"11. It is settled principle of interpretation that where there appears to be inconsistency in two sections of the same Act, the principle of harmonious construction should be followed in avoiding a head on clash. It should not be lightly assumed that what the Parliament has given with one hand, it took away with the other. The provisions of one section of statute cannot be used to defeat those of another unless it is impossible to reconcile the same. In Venkataramana Devaru v. State of Mysore, AIR 1958 SC 255, 268, this Court observed: (AIR p. 268)

"The rule of construction is well settled that when there are in an enactment two provisions which cannot be reconciled with each other, they should be so interpreted that, if possible, effect should be given to both. This is what is known as the rule of harmonious construction."

The essence of harmonious construction is to give effect to both the provisions..."

31. The principle of harmonious construction as a basic rule of interpretation again fell for consideration in Sultana Begum Vs. Prem Chand Jain6 and it was held that the rule of interpretation requires that while interpreting two inconsistent, or, obviously repugnant provisions of an Act, the courts should make an effort to so interpret the provisions as to harmonise them so that the purpose of the Act may be given effect to and both the provisions may be allowed to operate without rendering either of them otiose. The observations made in the judgment are being extracted below :-

"10...That being so, the rule of interpretation requires that while interpreting two inconsistent, or, obviously repugnant provisions of an Act, the courts should make an effort to so interpret the provisions as to harmonise them so that the purpose of the Act may be given effect to and both the provisions may be allowed to operate without rendering either of them otiose.."

32. The observations made by Lord Davy in Canada Sugar Refining Co. vs. R.15 which was referred to in this regard are as follows :-

"12. In Canada Sugar Refining Co. v. R., Lord Davy observed:

"Every clause of a statute should be construed with reference to the context and other clauses of the Act, so as, as far as possible, to make a consistent enactment of the whole statute or series of statutes relating to the subject-matter."

33. In the aforesaid decision in the case of Sultana Begum (supra) the earlier decisions in M. Pentiah v. Muddala Veeramallappa16, Gammon India Ltd. v. Union of India,17 Mysore SRTC v. Mirja Khasim Ali Beg,18 V. Tulasamma v. Sesha Reddy,19 Punjab Beverages (P) Ltd. v. Suresh Chand,20 CIT v. National Taj Traders,21 Calcutta Gas Co. (Proprietary) Ltd. v. State of W.B.22 and J.K. Cotton Spg. & Wvg. Mills Co. Ltd. v. State of U.P.23 were referred and the principles were summarized as follows :-

"14. This rule of construction which is also spoken of as "ex visceribus actus" helps in avoiding any inconsistency either within a section or between two different sections or provisions of the same statute.

15. On a conspectus of the case-law indicated above, the following principles are clearly discernible:

(1) It is the duty of the courts to avoid a head-on clash between two sections of the Act and to construe the provisions which appear to be in conflict with each other in such a manner as to harmonise them.

(2) The provisions of one section of a statute cannot be used to defeat the other provisions unless the court, in spite of its efforts, finds it impossible to effect reconciliation between them.

(3) It has to be borne in mind by all the courts all the time that when there are two conflicting provisions in an Act, which cannot be reconciled with each other, they should be so interpreted that, if possible, effect should be given to both.This is the essence of the rule of "harmonious construction".

(4) The courts have also to keep in mind that an interpretation which reduces one of the provisions as a "dead letter" or "useless lumber" is not harmonious construction.

(5) To harmonise is not to destroy any statutory provision or to render it otiose."

34. The principle of applicability of a harmonious construction in the context of construing conflicting statutory provisions was emphasized in the case of Jagdish Singh vs. Lt. Governor Delhi7 and it was stated thus :-

"It is a cardinal principle of construction of a statute or the statutory rule that efforts should be made in construing the different provisions, so that, each provision will have its play and in the event of any conflict a harmonious construction should be given. Further a statute or a rule made thereunder should be read as a whole and one provision should be construed with reference to the other provision so as to make the rule consistent and any construction which would bring any inconsistency or repugnancy between one provision and the other should be avoided. One rule cannot be used to defeat another rule in the same rules unless it is impossible to effect harmonisation between them. The well-known principle of harmonious construction is that effect should be given to all the provisions, and therefore, this Court has held in several cases that a construction that reduces one of the provisions to a "dead letter" is not a harmonious construction as one part is being destroyed and consequently court should avoid such a construction."

35. The basic rule of applying the principles of harmonious construction in a manner so as to give effect to all the provisions so as to ensure their consistency with the object sought to be achieved was reiterated in the case of Anwar Hasan Khan Vs. Mohd. Shafi and others8 and referring to the earlier decisions in Union of India v. Filip Tiago De Gama of Vedem Vasco De Gama24 and also the observations of Justice Holmes in Towne Vs. Eisner25 and Learned Hand J. in Lenigh Valley Coal Co. Vs. Yensavage26, it was observed as follows :-

"8. It is settled that for interpreting a particular provision of an Act, the import and effect of the meaning of the words and phrases used in the statute have to be gathered from the text, the nature of the subject-matter and the purpose and intention of the statute. It is a cardinal principle of construction of a statute that effort should be made in construing its provisions by avoiding a conflict and adopting a harmonious construction. The statute or rules made thereunder should be read as a whole and one provision should be construed with reference to the other provision to make the provision consistent with the object sought to be achieved. The well-known principle of harmonious construction is that effect should be given to all the provisions and a construction that reduces one of the provisions to a "dead letter" is not harmonious construction. With respect to law relating to interpretation of statutes this Court in Union of India v. Filip Tiago De Gama of Vedem Vasco De Gama, (1990) 1 SCC 277 held: (SCC p. 284, para 16)

"16. The paramount object in statutory interpretation is to discover what the legislature intended. This intention is primarily to be ascertained from the text of enactment in question. That does not mean the text is to be construed merely as a piece of prose, without reference to its nature or purpose. A statute is neither a literary text nor a divine revelation. "Words are certainly not crystals, transparent and unchanged' as Mr Justice Holmes has wisely and properly warned. (Towne v. Eisner [245 US 418, 425 (1918)]) Learned Hand, J., was equally emphatic when he said: "Statutes should be construed, not as theorems of Euclid, but with some imagination of the purposes which lie behind them.' (Lenigh Valley Coal Co. v. Yensavage [218 FR 547, 553]).".

36. A similar view with regard to applying the principles of harmonious construction so as to give effect to all the provisions and to make them workable was taken in British Airways Plc. Vs. Union of India and others9 and it was stated thus :-

"8. While interpreting a statute the court should try to sustain its validity and give such meaning to the provisions which advance the object sought to be achieved by the enactment. The court cannot approach the enactment with a view to pick holes or to search for defects of drafting which make its working impossible. It is a cardinal principle of construction of a statute that effort should be made in construing the different provisions so that each provision will have its play and in the event of any conflict a harmonious construction should be given. The well-known principle of harmonious construction is that effect shall be given to all the provisions and for that any provision of the statute should be construed with reference to the other provisions so as to make it workable. A particular provision cannot be picked up and interpreted to defeat another provision made in that behalf under the statute. It is the duty of the court to make such construction of a statute which shall suppress the mischief and advance the remedy. While interpreting a statute the courts are required to keep in mind the consequences which are likely to flow upon the intended interpretation."

37. The principle of harmonizing various provisions of the Act and the legislative intent was reiterated in the decision in Commissioner of Income Tax Vs. Hindustan Bulk Carriers,27 in the context of considering a question with regard to liability to pay interest under certain provisions of the Income Tax Act and referring to Broom's Legal Maxims (10th Edn.), p.361, Craies on Statutes (7th Edn.), p. 95 and Maxwell on Statutes (11th Edn.) p.221 and the earlier decisions in Whitney v. IRC28, CIT v. S. Teja Singh29, Gursahai Saigal v. CIT30, Salmon v. Duncombe31, Curtis v. Stovin,32 S. Teja Singh case, Nokes v. Doncaster Amalgamated Collieries,33 Pye v. Minister for Lands for NSW,34 Mohan Kumar Singhania v. Union of India,35 R.S. Raghunath v. State of Karnataka36 and Sultana Begum v. Prem Chand Jain,6 it was observed as follows :-

"14. A construction which reduces the statute to a futility has to be avoided. A statute or any enacting provision therein must be so construed as to make it effective and operative on the principle expressed in the maxim ut res magis valeat quam pereat i.e. a liberal construction should be put upon written instruments, so as to uphold them, if possible, and carry into effect the intention of the parties. [See Broom's Legal Maxims (10th Edn.), p. 361, Craies on Statutes (7th Edn.), p. 95 and Maxwell on Statutes (11th Edn.), p. 221.]

15. A statute is designed to be workable and the interpretation thereof by a court should be to secure that object unless crucial omission or clear direction makes that end unattainable. (See Whitney v. IRC, 1926 AC 37 referred to in CIT v. S. Teja Singh, AIR 1959 SC 352 and Gursahai Saigal v. CIT,AIR 1963 SC 1062.

16. The courts will have to reject that construction which will defeat the plain intention of the legislature even though there may be some inexactitude in the language used. (See Salmon v. Duncombe, (1886) 11 AC 627, Curtis v. Stovin (1889) 22 QBD 513 referred to in S. Teja Singh case AIR 1959 SC 352.

17. If the choice is between two interpretations, the narrower of which would fail to achieve the manifest purpose of the legislation, we should avoid a construction which would reduce the legislation to futility, and should rather accept the bolder construction, based on the view that Parliament would legislate only for the purpose of bringing about an effective result. (See Nokes v. Doncaster Amalgamated Collieries (1940) 3 All ER 549 referred to in Pye v. Minister for Lands for NSW (1954) 3 All ER 514. The principles indicated in the said cases were reiterated by this Court in Mohan Kumar Singhania v. Union of India,1992 Supp (1) SCC 594

18. The statute must be read as a whole and one provision of the Act should be construed with reference to other provisions in the same Act so as to make a consistent enactment of the whole statute.

19. The court must ascertain the intention of the legislature by directing its attention not merely to the clauses to be construed but to the entire statute; it must compare the clause with other parts of the law and the setting in which the clause to be interpreted occurs. (See R.S. Raghunath v. State of Karnataka (1992) 1 SCC 335. Such a construction has the merit of avoiding any inconsistency or repugnancy either within a section or between two different sections or provisions of the same statute. It is the duty of the court to avoid a head-on clash between two sections of the same Act. (See Sultana Begum v. Prem Chand Jain (1997) 1 SCC 373 .

20. Whenever it is possible to do so, it must be done to construe the provisions which appear to conflict so that they harmonise. It should not be lightly assumed that Parliament had given with one hand what it took away with the other.

21. The provisions of one section of the statute cannot be used to defeat those of another unless it is impossible to effect reconciliation between them. Thus a construction that reduces one of the provisions to a "useless lumber" or "dead letter" is not a harmonised construction. To harmonise is not to destroy."

38. The principle of harmonizing the laws has been elucidated in the legal treatise "Construction and Interpretation of the Laws by Henry Campbell Black,"37 by stating that statutes should be so construed so as to give effect to all of their clauses and provisions and each statute should receive such a construction as will harmonize it with the pre-existing body of law.

39. Reverting to the controversy at hand, the order of the Commissioner under sub-section (4) of Section 24, as per unamended provisions, was to be final. This finality attached to the order of the Commissioner was in the sense that there was no provision of a further appeal against the said order. A question would arise as to whether such finality could be held to restrict the revisional jurisdiction conferred upon higher courts.

40. A Full Bench of this Court in Shah Chaturbhuj Vs. Mauji Ram38, had the occasion to interpret a similar provision "the decision of the revenue court shall be final" occurring in Section 5 of the U.P. Agriculturists Relief Act, 1934, and it was held that the provision with regard to finality of the decision of the revenue court only meant that that there was no further right of appeal against such an order. The observations made in this regard are as follows :-

"In our judgment the provision in Clause (2) of Section 5 that "the decision of the Appellate Court shall be final" means no more than this that the order passed by the Appellate Court cannot be made the subject of a second appeal....The provision about the finality of the decision of the Appellate Court contained in Clause (2), Section 5 cannot therefore warrant the inference that the Legislature intended in any way to limit or control the revisional jurisdiction conferred on this Court by Section 115, Civil P.C."

41. A similar situation arose in the case of Smt. Krishna Devi Vs. Board of Revenue39, wherein the question of maintainability of a revision before the Board under Section 333 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 195040, against an order passed by the Assistant Collector exercising powers under Rule 115-N (3) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Rules, 1952, in view of the finality attached to the said order, was subject matter of consideration. Following the Full Bench decision in the case of Shah Chaturbhuj Vs. Mauji Ram (supra) it was held that the finality mentioned under sub-rule (3) of Rule 115-N cannot whittle down the revisional power conferred upon the Board by Section 233 of the Act, 1950. It was stated thus :-

"11. It is true that Rule 115-N (3) provides that the decision of the Assistant Collector shall be final. It is well-settled that such finality does not restrict the revisional jurisdiction conferred upon higher courts. In the case of Shah Chaturbhuj v. Mauji Ram, 1938 A.W.R. 437 a Full Bench of this Court interpreted the phrase "the decision of revenue court shall be final" occurring in Section 5 of the U.P. Agriculturists Relief Act, 1934, as not depriving the higher courts of revisional powers under Section 115 of the C.P.C. The Full Bench held that the finality mentioned in the provision only meant that there was no right of appeal vesting in the litigants against such an order. In our opinion, this Full Bench decision equally applies to Section 333. The finality mentioned by sub-Rule (3) of Rule 115-N cannot whittle down the amplitude of the revisional power conferred upon the Board of Revenue by section 333 of the Z.A. and L.R. Act."

42. The "Revenue Court" as defined under Section 4 (16) of the Code means all or any of the following authorities, that is to say, the Board and all members thereof, Commissioners, Additional Commissioners, Collectors, Additional Collectors, Assistant Collectors, Settlement Officers, Assistant Settlement Officers, Record Officers, Assistant Record Officers, Tahsildar and Naib-Tahsildar. The term "Revenue Officer" has been defined under Section 4 (17) of the Code to mean the Commissioner, an Additional Commissioner, the Collector, an Additional Collector, the Sub-Divisional Officer and Assistant Collector, Settlement Officer, an Assistant Settlement Officer, Record Officer, an Assistant Record Officer, the Tahsildar, Tahsildar (Judicial), the Naib-Tahsildar or the Revenue Inspector.

43. A conjoint reading of the definitions of the aforesaid terms "Revenue Court" and "Revenue Officer" would indicate that some persons who act as Revenue Courts also act as Revenue Officers ─ where a Revenue Officer deals with judicial matters in revenue, he acts as a Revenue Court, which is under the control and supervision of the Board of Revenue; on the other hand, where a Revenue Officer deals with non-judicial matters in revenue, he acts under the control and supervision of the State Government. The functions of the Revenue Officer regarding the land revenue administration may be classified as judicial and non-judicial depending on the nature of the functions being discharged.

44. Section 234 (1) (v) of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (now repealed) empowered the State Government to define the matters or proceedings which were deemed to be judicial or non-judicial. In terms of the aforestated provision, para 911 of the Revenue Manual, provided for certain matters to be deemed to be judicial. This included cases relating to settlement of boundary disputes under Sections 41 and 51 of the Land Revenue Act, 1901.

45. The Board of Revenue constituted under Section 7 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, as per Section 8 thereof, is to be the chief controlling authority in all matters relating to disposal of cases, appeals or revisions. The revisional jurisdiction of the Board is provided for by Section 210 of the Code, and in terms thereof it is empowered to exercise revisional jurisdiction by calling for the record of any suit or proceedings decided by any subordinate court, in which no appeal lies, for the purpose of satisfying itself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed in such suit or proceedings, provided the conditions laid down under clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) of the section are satisfied. The language of the section is one of wide amplitude and embraces within its fold all cases decided by courts subordinate to the court.

46. Section 210 whereunder the Board is empowered to call for the records of any suit or proceedings "decided" by any "subordinate revenue court", indicates the legislative intent that a revision would lie against judicial adjudications of suits and proceedings; administrative proceedings conducted by those very authorities being not within the purview of Section 210. The Sub-Divisional Officer, acting under sub-section (1) of Section 24, is empowered to "decide" any "dispute" regarding boundaries, and the order passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer is subject to an appeal under sub-section (4) before the Commissioner; the order of the Commissioner thereafter is to be final. The provisions contained sub-section (1) and sub-section (4) of Section 24 leave no room for doubt that the Sub-Divisional Officer and also the Commissioner exercising powers thereunder, discharge judicial functions.

47. The Sub-Divisional Officer while deciding the dispute regarding boundaries in exercise of powers under sub-section (1) of Section 24 of the Code, which corresponds to Section 41 of the U.P. Land Revenue Act (repealed), acts as a "Revenue Court". The Commissioner while deciding an appeal under sub-section (4) against an order passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, also acts as a "Revenue Court", and as such would be a court subordinate to the Board of Revenue and subject to its revisional jurisdiction.

48. The mere fact that there is no further appeal against the order passed by the Commissioner in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 would not be held to create a bar in invocation of the revisional jurisdiction of the Board of Revenue under section 210 of the Code. The jurisdiction conferred on the Board under Section 210 to revise the orders passed by the subordinate revenue courts would not be dependent on a motion being made by a party to the case inasmuch as the section confers power upon the Board to exercise revisional jurisdiction independent of any such motion having been made. The fact that a right of appeal is not given to the party concerned would therefore not be held to affect the jurisdiction vested in the Board under Section 210.

49. The provision under sub-section (4) of Section 24, as it existed, prior to the amending Act of 2019, that "the order of the Commissioner shall be final" would therefore be held to mean no more than that the order passed in appeal under sub-section (4) would not be subject to any second appeal. The provision with regard to finality attached to the order of the Commissioner under sub-section (4) would not in any manner be held to limit or control the revisional jurisdiction conferred upon the Board under Section 210.

50. In terms of the amendment made to sub-section (4) of Section 24 by the U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019, the finality attached to the order passed by the Commissioner in appeal has been made subject to the provisions of Section 210, and as per terms of Section 210, the power of the Board to call for the record of any subordinate court would be exercisable in case where no appeal lies.

51. The order of the Commissioner passed in exercise of powers under sub-section (4) of Section 24 is an order in appeal against the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer passed under sub-section (1) of Section 24, and this order is not subject to any second appeal under the Code. This is further clear from a reading of the Third Schedule of the Code wherein in respect of the provisions contained under Section 24 relating to disputes regarding boundary and boundary marks the court of original jurisdiction has been specified in column 3 as the court of Sub-Divisional Officer and the court of first appeal is mentioned in column 4 as the court of Commissioner; further column 5 pertaining to the second appeal is left blank. This goes to show that the order passed by the Commissioner in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 against the order of the Sub-Divisional Officer acting as a court of original jurisdiction under sub-section (1) of Section 24, has a finality attached to it inasmuch as there is no provision of a second appeal against the said order.

52. By virtue of the amendment made to sub-section (4) of Section 24 in terms of U.P. Act No. 7 of 2019 the finality attached to the order of the Commissioner in appeal, has now been made subject to Section 210. There being no provision under the Code for a second appeal against the order of the Commissioner passed under sub-section (4) of Section 24, it can be said that against the order of the Commissioner in appeal, no further appeal lies, and therefore the necessary condition for invocation of the powers of the Board under Section 210 for calling the records and exercising revisional powers against the order passed by the Commissioner in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24, stands fulfilled.

53. A rule of construction, spoken of as, ex visceribus actus, helps in avoiding any inconsistency either within a section or between two different sections or provisions of the same statute. It essentially means that every part of a statute must be construed within its four corners and no provision should be interpreted in isolation.

54. Craies on Statute Law41 has explained the rule of ex visceribus actus by stating as follows :-

"...there is a general rule of construction applicable to all statutes alike, which is spoken of as construction ex visceribus actus— within the four corners of the Act. "The office of a good expositor of an Act of Parliament," said Coke in the Lincoln College Case42, "is to make construction on all parts together, and not of one part only by itself—Nemo enim aliquam partem recte intelligere potest antequam totum iterum atque iterum perlegerit." And again he says : It is the most natural and genuine exposition of a statute to construe one part of a statute by another part of the same statute, for that best expresseth the meaning of the makers.... and this exposition is ex visceribus actus."

55. The finality attached to the provisions of sub-section (4) of Section 24, having been made subject to Section 210, by virtue of the amending Act of 2019, it would be presumed that the legislature was conscious of the existing provisions of Section 210 whereunder in order to invoke revisional powers of the Board the necessary condition is "where no appeal lies".

56. In this regard it may be noted that there is a general presumption that the legislature is aware of the existing law when it passes a legislation seeking to amend the earlier law. The legislature would therefore also be presumed not to intend to create any confusion in the law by creating a provision which is in conflict with the existing law.

57. The principle to be followed with regard to interpretation of an amending Act in the context of a pre-existing law was subject mater of consideration in Caesar Griffin's43 case, wherein it was observed as follows :-

"...Of two constructions, either of which is warranted by the words of an amendment of a public act, that is to be preferred which best harmonizes the amendment with the general terms and spirit of the act amended. This principle forbids a construction of the amendment, not clearly required by its terms, which will bring it into conflict or disaccord with the other provisions of the constitution."

58. In this regard, reference may be had to the legal treatise "The Written Laws and Their Interpretation" by Joel Prentiss Bishop44 wherein it has been stated as follows :-

"...A new statutory provision, cast into a body of written and unwritten laws, is not altogether unlike a drop of coloring matter to a pail of water. Not so fully, yet to a considerable extent, it changes the hue of the whole body; and how far and where it works the change can be seen only by him who comprehends the relations of the parts, and discerns how each particle acts upon and governs and is governed by the others....Every statute operates to modify or confirm something in the law which existed before. No statute is written, so to speak, upon a blank in the institutions of society. No such blank exists or can exist...In every case, it is a thread of woof woven into a warp which before existed. It is never to be contemplated as a thing alone, but always as a part of a harmonious whole."

59. In construing a statute there is a general presumption against inconsistency. The mind of the legislature is presumed to be consistent and in a case of any apparent ambiguity, such a construction is to be adopted as would make all the provisions of the statute consistent with each other and with the pre-existing body of law.

60. It would also be presumed that the legislature does not intend to be inconsistent with itself and that it does not intend to make unnecessary changes in the existing laws. Hence in case of any doubt, a statute is to be so construed as to be consistent with itself throughout its extent so as to harmonize with the other laws and be in consonance with the legislative purpose, provisions and scheme of the enactment. Interpretare et concordare leges legibus, est optimus interpretandi modus, that is, to interpret and in such a way as to harmonize laws with laws is the best mode of interpretation.

61. The presumption against inconsistency would lead to an inference that the legislature while bringing about the amendment to the provisions of sub-section (4) of Section 24 did not intend to create a conflict with the pre-existing provisions of Section 210, and it would be necessary to construe the two provisions harmoniously so as to make them workable.

62. Construing the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 24 and Section 210 in the aforesaid manner and by applying the principle of harmonious construction the apparent conflict between the two provisions would be reconciled and the provisions of the two sections can be read in a manner so as to give full effect to both the provisions without rendering either of them redundant or otiose.

63. It would therefore follow as a necessary consequence that the order passed by the Commissioner in appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24, which is final in the sense that there is no further appeal thereagainst, would be subject to the revisional powers of the Board to be exercised under Section 210.

64. As regards the decision in the case of Vijay Kumar and others (supra), sought to be relied upon on behalf of the petitioner, it may only be noted that the aforestated decision, was rendered in the context of the provisions of the U.P. Land Revenue Act 1901, (now repealed). The statutory scheme under the U.P. Revenue Code, being entirely different, particularly consequent to the amendments made in the year 2019 whereby the order passed in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 has been made subject to the provisions of Section 210, the aforesaid decision would have no applicability in the facts of the present case.

65. Having come to the aforesaid conclusion, the objection raised on behalf of the State respondents with regard to the availability of a statutory remedy against the order passed by the Commissioner in an appeal under sub-section (4) of Section 24 of the Code, is sustained.

66. The writ petition is not entertained for the reason of existence of an alternative statutory remedy.

67. The petition stands dismissed leaving it open to the petitioner to take recourse to the statutory alternative remedy.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Salil Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Both petitions, i.e., Writ - C No. 26057 of 2021 and Matters under Article 227 No. 26250 of 2021 were connected by order dated 17.11.2021 passed by the Court and were heard together and are being decided by a common order.

2. Heard Sri Girish Chandra Sinha assisted by Sri Rudra Mani Shukla, Advocates for the petitioner, Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi assisted by Sri Santosh Kumar Pandey, Advocates for respondent no. 1 and Sri Rakesh Kumar Chaudhary, Advocate for respondent nos. 5 and 7, the Election Commission and the State Government represented by their respective Standing Counsel.

3. The dispute in the present petitions relates to the election of the Gram Pradhan of Village - Ramgarh, Development Block - Shivgarh, Tehsil Raniganj, District Pratapgarh held on 19.4.2021. The post was reserved for woman (General). The petitioner and respondent nos. 1, 2 and 3 were candidates in the elections in which the petitioner was declared elected defeating the respondent no. 1 by a margin of about 60 votes. On 3.6.2021, the respondent no. 1 filed Election Petition, i.e., Case No. 1542 of 2021 under Section 12-C of the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as, "Act') before the Deputy District Magistrate / Sub-Divisional Officer (S.D.O.), Tehsil Raniganj, District Pratapgarh (hereinafter referred to as, "Prescribed Authority'). The issues in the present case relate to correctness of the proceedings in Case No. 1542 of 2021 and certain orders passed in the case, therefore, the proceedings of the case are being narrated in detail.

4. It is the case of the petitioner that Election Petition was filed by the lawyer of respondent no. 1 and was accepted by the Prescribed Authority in the absence of respondent no. 1. The order-sheet of the case does not contain any order passed by the Prescribed Authority to issue notice on the Election Petition. An order dated 3.6.2021 directing that notices be issued to the defendants is transcribed on the Election Petition, a copy of which was handed over to the Court during the arguments and was taken on record. The order-sheet of the case shows that on 3.6.2021, the Prescribed Authority only acknowledged the presence of respondent no. 1 and his counsel while submitting the Election Petition and fixed 1.7.2021 as the next date in the case. The order-sheet has been annexed as Annexure No. C.A. - 5 to the counter affidavit of respondent no. 1 filed in Petition No. 26057 of 2021. On 3.6.2021 itself, notices were issued by the office of the Prescribed Authority notifying 15.7.2021 as the date in the case. The copy of the notice is annexed as Annexure 5 to the petition. The notice has not been specifically denied by the respondent no. 1 in his counter affidavit. The order-sheet of the case further shows that on 1.7.2021, the Prescribed Authority took note of the fact that notices had been issued in the case and fixed 15.7.2021 as the next date. The recital on the order-sheet of the case on 1.7.2021 is : - पत्रावली पेश पक्षों को नोटिस जारी किया गया पत्रावली दिनांक 15.7.2021 को पेश हो (Case presented, parties issued notice, Put up on 15.7.2021). On 15.7.2021, the Prescribed Authority recorded that notices had been served on the opposite parties in the election petition and fixed 29.7.2021 as the next date in the case. On 15.7.2021, the respondent no. 1, i.e., the election petitioner also filed an application before the Prescribed Authority alleging that the petitioner was avoiding notice in the election petition and, therefore, notices be issued to the petitioner by registered post. On the aforesaid application, the Prescribed Authority passed an order on the same date directing the Reader of the court to issue notice by registered post. The order to issue notice by registered post has also not been transcribed on the order-sheet of the case but has been transcribed on the application dated 15.7.2021. It appears from the receipts annexed with the counter affidavit of respondent no. 1 in Petition No. 26057 of 2021 that notices by registered post were sent on 19.7.2021. The acknowledgment of the notices sent by registered post to the petitioner were returned back by the Postman with an endorsement dated 24th July, 2021 that the Postman had repeatedly visited the house of the petitioner but was informed by her husband that the petitioner was at Lucknow, therefore, notices were being returned unserved. On 29.7.2021, the respondent no. 1 filed an application, ostensibly under Order 5 Rule 20 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as, "CPC') stating that the petitioner was not appearing in the court despite having knowledge of the case, therefore, notices be served on the petitioner through publication in local newspapers. On the application of the petitioner, the Prescribed Authority passed an order dated 29.7.2021 directing the Reader of the court to get the notice of the case published. The order dated 29.7.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority has also not been transcribed on the order-sheet of the case but is transcribed on the application filed by respondent no. 1. The order-sheet shows that on 29.7.2021, the case was adjourned for 5.8.2021. Notices in pursuance to the order dated 29.7.2021 were published in some Hindi Daily named Lok Mitra on 4.8.2021 and 5.8.2021. On 5.8.2021, the case was adjourned to 12.8.2021 and on 12.8.2021, the case was adjourned for 26.8.2021. The order-sheet of the case indicates that on 26.8.2021, the case was adjourned for 9th September, 2021. However, on 26.8.2021, the respondent no. 1 filed an application before the Prescribed Authority praying that notice in the case be deemed to have been served on the petitioner and the case be considered on merits. No orders were passed on the said application on 26.8.2021 but by his order dated 2.9.2021, transcribed on the application dated 26.8.2021, the Prescribed Authority directed the Reader of the court to get notice of the case published in hindi daily, Amar Ujala. The order dated 2.9.2021 is also not transcribed on the order-sheet of the case and it is relevant to note that 2.9.2021 was not a date fixed in the case. In pursuance to the order dated 2.9.2021, notices were published in Hindi Daily Amar Ujala. The notice of the case published in Amar Ujala has been annexed as Annexure C.A. - 4 with the counter affidavit and it has been stated in Paragraph 14(3) of the counter affidavit that the publication was effected in Amar Ujala dated 2.9.2021. However, a perusal of the document annexed as Annexure CA - 4 of the counter affidavit in Petition No. 26057 of 2021 also contains notifications issued by the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, Swami Vivekanand National Rehabilitation Training Centre and Executive Engineer, Electricity Distribution Division - II, George Town, Prayagraj on 6th September, 2021.

Obviously, the notifications could not have been published on a date previous to their issuance and, therefore, the notices could have been published in the newspaper earliest by 7th September, 2021. Thus, the averment in Paragraph 14 (3) of the counter affidavit can not be relied upon so far as the date of publication of the notice is concerned. Till 9.9.2021, the petitioner did not appear in the case, therefore, the Prescribed Authority directed that proceedings be held ex-parte against the petitioner. On the same date, the Prescribed Authority fixed 16.9.2021 to record the evidence of respondent no. 1. On 16.9.2021, the case was adjourned to 23.9.2021 and on 23.9.2021, the affidavits of the witnesses of respondent no. 1, i.e., the election petitioner were filed before the Prescribed Authority and 30.9.2021 was fixed for arguments in the case. On 30.9.2021, the petitioner appeared before the Prescribed Authority and filed an application under Order 9 Rule 7 read with Section 151 CPC for recall of the order dated 9.9.2021. It has been stated in the application dated 30.9.2021 filed by the petitioner that she came to know about the case from rumors in her village and when she inspected the records of the case on 23.9.2021. The application dated 30.9.2021 filed by the petitioner was dismissed by the Prescribed Authority by his order dated 7.10.2021 on the ground that it was not maintainable and the petitioner had the remedy to file an application under Order 9 Rule 13 because the case was fixed for arguments.

5. Against the order dated 7.10.2021, the petitioner filed a revision under Section 12-C(6) of the Act registered as Misc. Case No. 0245 of 2021 before the District Judge, Pratapgarh. The revision was filed on 13.10.2021. Meanwhile, because no interim order was granted to the petitioner by the revisional court staying the proceedings in the election petition, the hearing of the election petition continued and was concluded on 21.10.2021 and judgment was reserved. The District Judge, Pratapgarh vide his order dated 28.10.2021 dismissed Misc. Case No. 0245 of 2021 holding that as the trial before the Prescribed Authority had concluded during the pendency of revision and only judgment had to be pronounced by the Prescribed Authority, therefore, no effective relief could be given to the petitioner in revision.

6. Subsequently, by his order dated 1.11.2021, the Prescribed Authority directed for a re-count of the ballots because of certain discrepancies in Forms - 36, 45 and 46.

7. The orders dated 7.10.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority and 28.10.2021 passed by the District Judge, Pratapgarh have been challenged in Petition No. 26250 of 2021 and the order dated 1.11.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority has been challenged in Petition No. 26057 of 2021.

8. It was argued by the counsel for the petitioner that the application under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC was filed by the petitioner on 30.9.2021, i.e., before the judgment in the case was reserved on 21.10.2021, therefore, the application was maintainable and the Prescribed Authority has wrongly held that the aforesaid application was not maintainable. It was further argued by the counsel for the petitioner that no notice was served on the petitioner in Case No. 1542 of 2021 either through ordinary mode or through registered post. It was further argued by the counsel for the petitioner that service of notice by publication, i.e., substituted service as directed by the Prescribed Authority vide his orders dated 29.7.2021 and 2.9.2021 were contrary to law in as much as the said notices were got published without the Prescribed Authority having recorded his satisfaction that the petitioner was avoiding service of notice in the case. It was argued that the order dated 1.11.2021 has been passed without giving any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and is also a non-speaking order. It has been alleged in the petition that the Prescribed Authority was acting under the dictates of the local Member of the Legislative Assembly (hereinafter referred to as, "MLA') who is the brother-in-law of respondent no. 1 / election petitioner. It was argued that for the aforesaid reasons, the orders dated 7.10.2021 and 1.11.2021 are contrary to law and are liable to be set-aside by this Court. In support of his arguments, the counsel for the petitioner has relied on the judgments reported in Sangram Singh vs. Election Tribunal AIR (1955) Supreme Court 425; Arjun Singh vs. Mohindra Kumar & Ors. AIR (1964) Supreme Court 993; Om Prakash vs. Prakash Chand & Ors. AIR (2004) Allahabad 391; Bhagwati Lal vs. Sangeeta (2017) AIR CC 2284 (Rajasthan) and Amrish vs. U.P. Ziladhikari Meerut (2006) 4 ALJ 495.

9. Rebutting the arguments of the counsel for the petitioner, the counsel for respondent no. 1 has argued that from the recital dated 15.7.2021 recorded on the order-sheet of the case, it is evident that notice of the case was served on the petitioner. It was argued that the petitioner was deliberately avoiding service of notice in the case and, therefore, no illegality had been committed by the Prescribed Authority in getting the notices published under Order 5 Rule 20 CPC. It was argued that the petitioner had been given sufficient opportunity to appear before the Prescribed Authority which he failed to avail. It was argued that the application filed by the petitioner for recall of the order dated 9.9.2021 whereby the Prescribed Authority had decided to proceed ex-parte against the petitioner was not maintainable under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC as the said application had to be filed either on a date preceding the next date fixed in the case or on the next date fixed in the case, i.e., it had to be filed on or before 16.9.2021, and in any case before 23.9.2021. It was further argued that the application filed by the petitioner does not disclose any reason for not appearing before the Prescribed Authority on the different dates fixed in the case before 30.9.2021. It was argued that in the circumstances, there is no illegality in the proceedings conducted by the Prescribed Authority in Case No. 1542 of 2021 and the application of the petitioner under order 9 Rule 7 CPC was rightly dismissed by the Prescribed Authority vide his order dated 7.10.2021. It was further argued that in any case, the petitioner cannot now be permitted to file his written statement as the evidence of respondent no. 1 has already been filed disclosing his evidence in the case and any order permitting the petitioner to file his written statement would seriously prejudice the respondent no. 1. It was further argued that the affidavits filed by the witness of respondent no. 1 proved that illegalities had been committed in counting of ballots and because no written statement was filed by the petitioner, therefore, the averments made by respondent no. 1 in Election Petition instituting Case No. 1542 of 2021 remained un-controverted. It was argued that in the circumstances, the order dated 1.11.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority is according to law. It was argued that for the aforesaid reasons, the petitions lack merit and are liable to be dismissed. In support of his contention, the counsel for respondent no. 1 has relied on the judgments reported in Prahlad Singh & Anr. vs. Niyaz Ahmad & Ors. AIR (2001) Allahabad 78; Narendra vs. Prescribed Authority & Ors. (2010) 1 ALJ 784 and Nihal Ahmad vs. District Judge, Siddharth Nagar & Ors. (2004) 97 RD 252.

10. I have considered the submissions of the counsel for the parties.

11. The main issues in the present petitions are as to whether notice of the case can be held to have been served on the defendant - petitioner in accordance with law and whether the application filed by the petitioner under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC was maintainable.

12. Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Raj (Settlement of Election Disputes) Rules, 1994 (hereinafter referred to as, "Rules, 1994') prescribes the procedure to be followed in an election petition filed challenging the election of a Gram Pradhan. Section 4 of the Rules, 1994 provides that subject to the provisions of the Act, every election petition shall be tried by the Sub-Divisional Officer, as nearly as may be, in accordance with the procedure applicable under the CPC for the trial of suits.

13. The provisions in CPC relating to service of summons on a defendant in a suit and relevant for the present case is Order 5 CPC. Order 5 Rule 1 CPC provides that when a suit has been duly instituted, a summons may be issued to the defendant to appear and answer the claim and to file the written statement of his defence, if any, within thirty days from the date of service of summons on that defendant. Order 5 Rule 6 CPC provides that the day fixed in the summons should be such so as to allow the defendant sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on such day. Order 5 Rule 9 CPC prescribes the different modes of service of notice which includes service by registered post.

14. Order 5 Rule 20 provides for substituted service. Order 5 Rule 20 is reproduced below : -

"20. Substituted service.--(1) Where the Court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service, or that for any other reason the summons cannot be served in the ordinary way, the Court shall order the summons to be served by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the Court House, and also upon some conspicuous part of the house (if any) in which the defendant is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain, or in such other manner as the Court thinks fit.

(1-A) Where the Court acting under sub-rule (1) orders service by an advertisement in a newspaper, the newspaper shall be a daily newspaper circulating in the locality in which the defendant is last known to have actually and voluntarily resided, carried on business or personally worked for gain.

(2) Effect of substituted service.-- Service substituted by order of the Court shall be as effectual as if it had been made on the defendant personally.

(3) Where service substituted, time for appearance to be fixed.--Where service is substituted by order of the Court, the Court shall fix such time for the appearance of the defendant as the case may require."

(emphasis added)

15. A reading of Order 5 Rule 20 shows that recourse to substituted service can be taken only if the court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service or that for any other reason, summons cannot be served in the ordinary way. Mode of service prescribed under Order 5 Rule 20 CPC is an exceptional mode and can be adopted only in the circumstances enumerated in Rule 20. At this stage, the observations of the Supreme Court in Paragraph No. 14 and 15 in Neerja Realtors Private Limited vs. Janglu (Dead) through Legal Representative (2018) 2 SCC 649 is reproduced below :-

"14. Evidently as the report of the bailiff indicates, he was unable to find the defendant at the address which was mentioned in the summons. The report of the bailiff does not indicate that the summons were affixed on a conspicuous part of the house, at the address mentioned in the summons. There was a breach of the provisions of Order 5 Rule 17. When the application for substituted service was filed before the trial court under Order 5 Rule 20, a cryptic order was passed on 2.9.2011. Order 5 Rule 20 requires the court to be satisfied either that there is reason to believe that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service or that for any other reason, the summons cannot be served in the ordinary way. Substituted service is an exception to the normal mode of service. The Court must apply its mind to the requirements of Order 5 Rule 20 and its order must indicate due consideration of the provisions contained in it. Evidently the trial court failed to apply its mind to the requirements of Order 5 Rule 20 and passed a mechanical order. ...

15. The submission that under Order 5 Rule 20, it was not necessary to affix a copy of the summons at the court house and at the house where the defendant is known to have last resided, once the court had directed service by publication in the newspaper really begs the question. There was a clear breach of the procedure prescribed in Order 5 Rule 17 even antecedent thereto. Besides, the order of the Court does not indicate due application of mind to the requirement of the satisfaction prescribed in the provision. The High Court was, in these circumstances, justified in coming to the conclusion that the ex-parte judgment and order in the suit for specific performance was liable to be set aside."

16. A reading of the observations of the Supreme Court in Neerja Realtors (supra) leads to the conclusion that a substituted service under Order 5 Rule 20 CPC would not be a valid service in law if the conditions mentioned in Rule 20 do not exist. Service of notice by the modes prescribed in Order 5 Rule 20 would not be a valid service if the order does not indicate application of mind by the court and its satisfaction that there was reason to believe that the defendant was keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service or that for any other reason, the summons could not be served in the ordinary way.

17. It is a fundamental principle of law that proceedings in a litigation should not be held behind the back of a party.

18. The purpose of issuing summons / notice to a defendant in a case is to inform him about the institution of the suit and the date fixed in the case. The defendant should be given sufficient time by the summons to appear and raise his defense. The purpose of issuing summons is to give effect to the rule of audi alteram partem. It was observed by the Supreme Court in Sangram Singh vs. Election Tribunal, Kotah AIR (1955) SC 425 "that our laws of procedure are grounded on a principle of natural justice which require that men should not be condemned unheard, that decisions should not be reached behind their backs, that proceedings that affect their lives and property should not continue in their absence and that they should not be precluded from participating in them.' It was further observed that "our laws of procedure should be construed, wherever that is reasonably possible, in light of that principle' and "no forms or procedure should ever be permitted to exclude the presentation of a litigants' defence.' It was also observed by the Supreme Court in Sangram Singh (supra) that procedural provisions are designed to facilitate justice and are not penal enactments for punishment and penalties. It was observed that too technical a construction of procedural provision that leaves no room for reasonable elasticity of interpretation should be guarded against.

19. The service of notice on the defendant - petitioner in Election Case No. 1542 of 2021 has to be seen in light of the aforesaid legal position.

20. The order-sheet indicates that on 3.6.2021, the Prescribed Authority directed that the case be posted for 1.7.2021. The order-sheet of the case does not show that the Prescribed Authority had directed that notices be issued in the case to the defendants. However, the copy of the election petition handed over to the Court by the counsel for the petitioner contains an order by the Prescribed Authority directing the Reader to register the case and to issue notice to the parties and that the case be put up on 1.7.2021. On 1.7.2021, the Prescribed Authority records on the order-sheet that "notices issued to the parties'. The notice issued in the present case and annexed as Annexure 5 to Petition No. 26057 of 2021 shows that notices were issued on 3.6.2021 fixing 15.7.2021. It is difficult to comprehend as to how notices were issued for 15.7.2021 when by order dated 3.6.2021, the Prescribed Authority had directed that the case be put up on 1.7.2021. If notices were issued in pursuance to the direction of the Prescribed Authority, the same had to be issued for 1.7.2021 and not 15.7.2021. If notice fixing 15.7.2021 was issued on the directions of the Prescribed Authority, then there was no reason for the Prescribed Authority to fix 1.7.2021 as the next date in the case. Apparently, the notice issued by the office of the Prescribed Authority was not on the directions of the Prescribed Authority and, in any case, not according to the directions of the Prescribed Authority. The notice dated 3.6.2021 does not indicate the date fixed in the case by the Prescribed Authority and, therefore, cannot be considered as a valid notice in law.

21. On the order-sheet of 15.7.2021, the Prescribed Authority records that notices had been served on the defendant and fixed 29.7.2021 as the next date in the case. Interestingly, on 15.7.2021 itself, the election petitioner, i.e., the respondent no. 1 in the present petitions filed an application stating that the defendant - petitioner was avoiding service of notice and, therefore, notice of the case be sent to the defendant - petitioner by registered post. The order-sheet does not contain any order directing service of notice by registered post but as recorded earlier, an order dated 15.7.2021 of the Prescribed Authority is transcribed on the application of respondent no. 1 whereby the Reader of the court was directed to issue notice by registered post. The facts stated in the application dated 15.7.2021 on which the Prescribed Authority relied to pass an order directing issuance of notice by registered post controverts the recital dated 15.7.2021 in the order-sheet. Thus, even if a valid notice, the notice cannot be considered to be served on the petitioner.

22. The registered post was returned un-served. There is no noting by the Postman that either the petitioner or her husband had refused to receive the registered post. Apparently, the notice by registered post was also not served on the petitioner. There is no declaration by the Prescribed Authority, as required under Order 5 Rule 9(5), that notices sent by registered post had been duly served on the petitioner.

23. On 29.7.2021, the election petitioner, i.e., respondent no. 1 filed an application ostensibly under Order 5 Rule 20 CPC for publication of notice of the case. The Prescribed Authority made an endorsement on the application itself directing his Reader to get the notices published. The notices were published in Lok Mitra, Pratapgarh on 4.8.2021. It may be noted that the next date fixed in the case was 5.8.2021. On 5.8.2021, the case was adjourned for 12.8.2021. On 12.8.2021, the case was adjourned for 26.8.2021. On 26.8.2021, the respondent no. 1 had filed an application praying that as notices had been served on the defendant - petitioner through publication, therefore, the case may be decided on merits. No order was passed on the aforesaid application on 26.8.2021 but on 2.9.2021, the Prescribed Authority passed an order, transcribed on the application and not on the order-sheet, directing that notices of the case be published in hindi newspaper Amar Ujala. It is to be noted that 2.9.2021 was not a date fixed in the case. It appears that notice in the case was published in Amar Ujala but not before 7th September, 2021. On 9.9.2021, the Presiding Officer directed that the proceedings be held ex-parte against the defendant - petitioner.

24. The Prescribed Authority while passing orders for publication of notice has not recorded his satisfaction that there was reason to believe that the defendant was keeping out of the way for avoiding service of notice or that for any other reason, notice could not be served on the defendant in the ordinary way. The orders have been mechanically passed on the averment made by respondent no. 1, the election petitioner that the defendant - petitioner was avoiding service of notice and would not appear in the case unless notices are published in local newspapers. The Prescribed Authority, under the Rules, 1994 acts as a Tribunal and is not expected to outsource or delegate his discretion to a litigant. It is the Court / Tribunal and not the litigant who is to be satisfied that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service or that summons cannot be served on the defendant in the ordinary way, before taking recourse to the exceptional mode of substituted service. There is nothing on record to show that the petitioner was keeping out of way for avoiding service of notice or that notice could not be served on the defendant in ordinary way. Further, notices of the case were published in the newspaper one or two days before the dates fixed in the case. The notice was published in Lok Mitra on 4.8.2021 and 5.8.2021 when the date fixed in the case was 5.8.2021. The second notice was published on 7.9.2021 when the date fixed in the case was 9.9.2021. The summons served through the exceptional mode have to also fulfill the requirements of Order 5 Rule 6 CPC, i.e., the summons should give sufficient time to the defendant to enable him to appear and answer the claim of the plaintiff. Apparently, even the notices published in the newspapers did not give sufficient time to the petitioner to enable him to appear and present his case as required under Order 5 Rule 6 CPC. In light of Order 5 Rule 6 CPC and the judgment of the Supreme Court in Neerja Realtors (supra), notice by publication in newspapers on 4.8.2021 and 7.9.2021 were contrary to law.

25. It has already been held that notice dated 3.6.2021 was not a valid notice. Notice by registered post was returned unserved without any noting of "refusal to receive'. It has also been held that service through publication was not valid. Thus, notice of the case was not duly served on the defendant - petitioner. Under Order 9 Rule 6(1)(a), the court is empowered to hear the suit ex-parte against the non-appearing defendant only if it is proved that summon was duly served on the defendant. In the facts of the present case, the Prescribed Authority could not have proceeded to hear the case ex-parte against the petitioner. Apparently, the proceedings have been held in violation of the principles of natural justice and without giving the petitioner - defendant any opportunity to put in his defense. The order of the Presiding Officer to proceed ex-parte against the defendant - petitioner was contrary to law and the whole proceedings in Election Case No. 1542 of 2021 starting from 9.9.2021 onwards are liable to be set-aside on the aforesaid ground only.

26. The other issue that arises in the present appeal is regarding maintainability of the application of the petitioner under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC filed on 30.9.2021, i.e., the date on which the case was posted for arguments after the evidence of the election petitioner, i.e., respondent no. 1, had been filed. At this stage, it would be relevant to reproduce Order 9 Rule 6, Order 9 Rule 7 and Order 9 Rule 13 CPC : -

"6. Procedure when only plaintiff appears.--(1) Where the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, then--

(a) When summons duly served.--If it is proved that the summons was duly served, the Court may make an order that the suit be heard ex parte;]

(b) When summons not duly served.--If it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Court shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the defendant;

(c) When summons served but not in due time.--If it is proved that the summons was served on the defendant, but not in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on the day fixed in the summons, the Court shall postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and shall direct notice of such day to be given to the defendant.

(2) Where it is owing to the plaintiff's default that the summons was not duly served or was not served in sufficient time, the Court shall order the plaintiff to pay the costs occasioned by the postponement.

7. Procedure where defendant appears on day of adjourned hearing and assigns good cause for previous non-appearance.--Where the Court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte, and the defendant, at or before such hearing, appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance.

13. Setting aside decree ex parte against defendant.--In any case in which a decree is passed ex parte against a defendant, he may apply to the Court by which the decree was passed for an order to set it aside; and if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served, or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the decree as against him upon such terms as to costs, payment into Court or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit: Provided that where the decree is of such a nature that it cannot be set aside as against such defendant only it may be set aside as against all or any of the other defendants also:

Provided further than no Court shall set aside a decree passed ex parte merely on the ground that there has been an irregularity in the service of summons, if it is satisfied that the defendant had notice of the date of hearing and had sufficient time to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.

[Explanation.--Where there has been an appeal against a decree passed ex parte under this rule, and the appeal has been disposed of on any ground other than the ground that the appellant has withdrawn the appeal, no application shall lie under this rule for setting aside that ex parte decree.]

27. It was argued by the counsel for respondent no. 1 that the application filed by the petitioner on 30.9.2021 for recall of the order dated 9.9.2021 whereby the Presiding Officer had decided to proceed ex-parte against the petitioner was not maintainable under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC because the said application could have been filed on a date preceding the next date fixed in the case, i.e., it had to be filed before 16.9.2021 and in any case before 23.9.2021. In support of his contention, the counsel for respondent no. 1 has relied on a judgment in this Court reported in Prahlad Singh & Anr. vs. Niyaz Ahmad & Ors. AIR (2001) All 78. Paragraph 6, 7 and 8 of the aforesaid judgment, on which the counsel for respondent no. 1 has relied, is reproduced below : -

"6. In this case admittedly the summons were duly served upon the defendants-petitioners. The Court was therefore, rightly passed the order on 19.5.1994 to proceed ex parte under the aforesaid Rule. The next date fixed for hearing after 19.5.1994 was 15.7.1994.

7. Order IX Rule 7 C.P.C. reads as under :

"Procedure where defendant appears on day of adjourned hearing and assigns good cause for previous non-appearance - where the court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte and the defendant, at or before such hearing appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he appeared on the day fixed for his appearance."

8. The application under Order IX Rule 7 C.P.C. as it is evident from the reading of the aforesaid Rule, can be filed at or before the next date fixed for hearing.

In the instant case admittedly the application under Order IX Rule 7 C.P.C. was filed by the petitioner on 6.8.1994. It was the date after next date fixed under Order IX Rule 6 C.P.C."

28. From the reasons given subsequently, it would be apparent that the aforesaid judgment of the learned Single Judge overlooks the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Arjun Singh (supra) and is per incuriam.

29. Under Order 9 Rule 6(1)(a), the court is empowered to proceed with the hearing of a suit ex-parte if the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing and it is proved that summons was duly served on the defendant. By virtue of Order 9 Rule 7, if the defendant appears on the next date fixed in the case and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance. However, if he is not able to assign good cause for his previous non-appearance, he is not prohibited from appearing in further proceedings of the case but only looses the right to set the clock back as provided in Rule 7. The issue in the present case is whether the right of the defendant under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC expires if he fails to appear on the first adjourned date, i.e., the date fixed by the court on the day the court decides to proceed ex-parte against the defendant or whether the right can also be exercised on subsequent dates, i.e., dates on which the hearing of the case has been subsequently adjourned after the first adjourned date.

30. After the court decides to proceed ex-parte against the defendant and the defendant does not appear on the adjourned date also, the powers of the court are provided under Order 17 Rule 2 CPC. Order 17 Rule 2 CPC is reproduced below : -

"2. Procedure if parties fail to appear on day fixed.--Where, on any day to which the hearing of the suit is adjourned, the parties or any of them fail to appear, the Court may proceed to dispose of the suit in one of the modes directed in that behalf by Order IX or make such other order as it thinks fit."

31. Under Order 17 Rule 2 CPC, if any party fails to appear on the adjourned date, the court has the discretion to proceed in any of the modes prescribed under Order 9 CPC or to pass any other order as it thinks fit. In other words, if the defendant fails to appear on the adjourned date, the Court may proceed ex-parte against the defendant as provided in Order 9 Rule 6(1) CPC or may make such order as it thinks fit.

32. There is nothing in the Civil Procedure Code which indicates that the right of the defendant under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC expires on the next date fixed by the court, i.e., the date fixed by the court on the day the court decides to proceed ex-parte against the defendant. To interpret Order 9 Rule 7 in the manner pleaded by counsel for respondent no. 1 would also be very unreasonable and impractical. As an illustration, lets assume that a defendant in a case had good cause for not appearing before the court on the date fixed in the summons and the court decides to proceed ex-parte against such defendants and on the next date fixed in the case, the defendant again fails to appear and the case is adjourned to some other date. If Order 9 Rule 7 is interpreted as argued by respondent no. 1 and as interpreted by this Court in Prahlad Singh (supra), then the defendant after the adjourned date would prefer not to appear on all subsequent dates, even if he gets knowledge of the case on any subsequent date and would wait to file an application under Order 9 Rule 13 CPC for recall of the ex-parte decree. If the defendant in his application under Order 9 Rule 13 CPC is able to show good cause for not appearing in the case, the decree would be recalled leading to re-trial of the suit unnecessarily delaying final adjudication of rights. Such an interpretation would lead to absurdity and anomaly and is, therefore, to be avoided.

33. The phrase "at or before such hearing' only signifies that the application under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC can be filed by the defendant if he appears on any date fixed in the case before the hearing in the case is concluded and if he assigns good cause for his absence on the previous dates, he has the right to set the clock back and be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance in the summons while the suit is at the trial stage but such an application would not be maintainable if the hearing has completed and only judgment is to be pronounced. After the hearing is concluded and judgment has been reserved by the Court, the defendant cannot file an application under Order 9 Rule 7 but has to wait for the judgment being pronounced and then file an application under Order 9 Rue 13 for recall of the ex-parte decree. In this context, it would be relevant to refer to the observations of the Supreme Court in Paragraph 20 of its judgment reported in Arjun Singh vs. Mohindra Kumar & Ors. AIR (1964) SC 993 :-

"20. ... Order IX Rule 1 requires the parties to attend on the day fixed for their appearance to answer the claim of the defendant. Rule 2 deals with a case where the defendant is absent but the Court from its own record is apprised of the fact that the summons has not been duly served on the defendant in order to acquaint him with the proceedings before the Court. Rule 2 contains a proviso applicable to cases where notwithstanding the absence of service of summons, the defendant appears. Rule 3 deals with a case where the plaintiff alongwith the defendant is absent when the suit is called on and empowers the Court to dismiss the suit. Rule 5 deals with a case where the defendant is not served properly and there is default on the part of the plaintiff in having this done. Having thus exhausted the cases where the defendant is not properly served, Rule 6(1)(a) enables the Court to proceed ex-parte where the defendant is absent even after due service. Rule 6 contemplates two cases: (1) The day on which the defendant fails to appear is one of which the defendant has no intimation that the suit will be taken up for final hearing for example, where the hearing is only the first hearing of the suit, and (2) where the stage of the first hearing is passed and the hearing which is fixed is for the disposal of the suit and the defendant is not present on such a day. The effect of proceeding ex parte in the two sets of cases would obviously mean a great difference in the result. So far as the first type of cases is concerned it has to be adjourned for final disposal and, as already seen, it would be open to the defendant to appear on that date and defend the suit. In the second type of cases, however, one of two things might happen. The evidence of the plaintiff might be taken then and there and judgment might be pronounced. In that case Order IX, Rule 13 would come in. The defendant can, besides filing an appeal or an application for review have recourse to an application under Order IX, Rule 13 to set aside the ex parte decree. The entirety of the evidence of the plaintiff might not be concluded on the hearing day on which the defendant is absent and something might remain so far as the trial of the suit is concerned for which purpose there might be a hearing on an adjourned date. On the terms of Order IX Rule 7 if the defendant appears on such adjourned date and satisfies the Court by showing good cause for his non-appearance on the previous day or days he might have the earlier proceedings recalled - "set the clock back" and have the suit heard in his presence. On the other hand, he might fail in showing good cause. Even in such a case he is not penalised in the sense of being forbidden to take part in the further proceedings of the suit or whatever might still remain of the trial, only he cannot claim to be relegated to the position that he occupied at the commencement of the trial. Thus every contingency which is likely to happen in the trial vis-a-vis the non-appearance of the defendant at the hearing of a suit has been provided for and Order IX Rule 7 and Order IX Rule 13 between them exhaust the whole gamut of situations that might arise during the course of the trial. .... ln the present context when once the hearing starts, the Code contemplates only two stages in the trial of the suit: (1) Where the hearing is adjourned or (2) where the hearing is completed. Where the hearing is completed the parties have no further rights or privileges in the matter and it is only for the convenience of the Court that Order XX Rule 1 permits judgment to be delivered after an interval after the hearing is completed. It would, therefore, follow that after the stage contemplated by Order IX Rule 7 is passed the next stage is only the passing of a decree which on the terms of Order IX Rule 6 the Court is competent to pass. And then follows the remedy of the party to have that decree set aside by application under Order IX Rule 13. There is thus no hiatus between the two stages of reservation of judgment and pronouncing the judgment so as to make it necessary for the Court to afford to the party the remedy of getting orders passed on the lines of Order IX Rule 7. ...."

34. In the present case, the defendant - petitioner had appeared and filed his application on 30.9.2021. The facts narrated earlier would show that 30.9.2021 was fixed for arguments in the case and the arguments were concluded on 21.10.2021 when judgment was reserved by the Prescribed Authority. Apparently, the hearing was not concluded and the case was not reserved for judgment before the defendant - petitioner appeared in the case. In view of the aforesaid, the application filed by the petitioner on 30.9.2021 under Order 9 Rule 7 was maintainable.

35. It was further argued by the counsel for respondent no. 1 that the present application under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC could not have been allowed as the respondent had already disclosed his evidence in the case and allowing the application would prejudice the respondent no. 1. The aforesaid cannot be a reason to reject the application under Order 9 Rule 7 because if the argument is accepted, then no application under Order 9 Rule 13 CPC can ever be allowed because a suit even if decreed ex-parte can be decreed only after the plaintiff has produced his evidence.

36. In light of the aforesaid, it is held that the application of the petitioner under Order 9 Rule 7 CPC was maintainable and the order dated 7.10.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority is contrary to law and is liable to be quashed.

37. For the aforesaid reasons, it is held that the proceedings in Election Petition No. 1542 of 2021 were held in violation of the principles of natural justice and contrary to the procedure prescribed in law and the order dated 7.10.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority is contrary to law and liable to be quashed. As the proceedings in the election petition have been held in violation of the principles of natural justice, the order dated 1.11.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority directing for re-count of the ballots is also liable to be quashed. It is clarified that I am not expressing any opinion on the merits of the reasons given in the order dated 1.11.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority as the same is not required in light of the reasons given above.

38. Before parting with the case, it would be relevant to note the unusual manner in which the proceedings were held by the Prescribed Authority. The petitioner has alleged that the records and proceedings of the case were manipulated by the Prescribed Authority at the instance of a local MLA. The documents on record of the case do show that the Prescribed Authority has acted unfairly and very arbitrarily in conducting the proceedings in the case. Different orders passed by the Prescribed Authority have been noted on the applications of respondent no. 1 but have not been made a part of the order-sheet. The manner in which the proceedings have been conducted do raise a suspicion that orders were not passed during the court proceedings. The Prescribed Authority acts as a Tribunal while deciding an election petition and is not expected to delegate his discretion to a litigant, howsoever influential, politically or otherwise, the litigant may be. The most improper act of the Prescribed Authority is his order dated 2.9.2021 passed on the application dated 26.8.2021 filed by respondent no. 1. On 26.8.2021, the Prescribed Authority had adjourned the case and fixed 9.9.2021 for hearing. However, the Prescribed Authority heard the case on 2.9.2021 and passed an order for publication of notice. No reasons have been given by the Prescribed Authority to prepone the hearing or the urgency to hear the application dated 26.8.2021 before the date already fixed in the case. Even if all other irregularities committed by the Prescribed Authority are ignored, the impropriety committed by the Prescribed Authority by passing the order dated 2.9.2021, i.e., on a day not fixed in the case, cannot be ignored. The improprieties committed by the Prescribed Authority disqualifies him to act as a Tribunal and to decide issues relating to the rights of the parties. If the Sub-Divisional Officer who conducted the proceedings in Election Case No. 1542 of 2021 is still posted as Sub-Divisional Officer, Raniganj, District Pratapgarh, the District Magistrate, Pratapgarh shall exercise his powers under Rule 4 - Proviso (v) of the Rules, 1994 and shall transfer the case to some other Sub-Divisional Officer for trial. The order shall be passed by the District Magistrate, Pratapgarh by 30.6.2022 and the parties as well as their Counsel shall be informed accordingly. The District Magistrate shall also ensure that after his order nominating another Sub-Divisional Officer to hear the case, the records of the case are transmitted to such Sub-Divisional Officer by 14th of June, 2022.

39. For the aforesaid reasons, the petitions are allowed. The orders dated 7.10.2021 and 1.11.2021 passed by the Prescribed Authority and all proceedings in Election Case No. 1542 of 2021 from 9.9.2021 onwards are, hereby, quashed. The matter is remanded back for a re-trial of Election Petition No. 1542 of 2021. On 15th July, 2022, the parties shall appear before the Prescribed Authority, to whom the case is transferred by the District Magistrate, who shall grant reasonable opportunity to the petitioner - defendant to file his written statement and proceed to hear the case in accordance with law, as expeditiously as possible, without granting any unnecessary adjournment to either of the parties.

40. With the aforesaid direction, the petitions are allowed.

41. Let this order be communicated to the District Magistrate, Pratapgarh by Joint Registrar (Civil) by 6.6.2022.

A. Ceiling Law – UP Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 – Sections 10(2), 11(2), 26, 27(1) & 27(3) – Declaration of the petitioner's land as surplus land – No notice issued u/s 10(2) – Application u/s 27(4) for cancellation of lease granted in favour of respondent was filed – Application was found not maintainable as petitioner is not aggrieved person – Legality challenged – Word 'Aggrieved person' – Definition – Heading of S. 27 is 'Settlement of surplus land' – Effect – Held, admittedly the petitioner is not a person who comes under clause 1 or clause 3 of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 for settlement of surplus land, and therefore, the present petitioners would not be covered under the purview of the words 'any aggrieved person' – The order of the appellate authority that the application u/s 27(4) does not attract in the matter of the petitioners does not assail any illegality or infirmity – High Court left open to the petitioners to avail remedy in accordance with law. 2. C.M.W.P. No. 40601 of 1993; Girdhari Lal Vs Additional Commissioner Judicial (Ist) Bareilly Division & ors. decided on 19.08.1993

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Umesh Chandra Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Gopal Krishna Pathak, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State and perused the records.

2. Instant writ petition has been filed assailing the order dated 6th February, 1998 passed by the Additional Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad.

3. Matter pertains to year 1998.

4. From perusal of the order sheet, it is evident that no counter affidavit has been filed by the State yet, since the matter pertains to year 1998, under such circumstances, no further time can be granted to the counsel for the State to file counter affidavit. Prima facie, it seems to be legal question involved in the matter, as such the Court is proceeding to hear this matter.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that ceiling proceeding was initiated in the year 1989 wherein the land of Raja Pratap Bahadur Singh was declared surplus including the present petitioners also. He submits that while initiating and concluding the aforesaid ceiling proceeding, no notice was issued and no opportunity of hearing was ever given to the petitioners. He further submits that on 26th December, 1990, lease under Section 26 of the Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 (for short the 'Act, 1960') was granted in favour of the respondent no.2 by Sub-Divisional Officer, Barabanki and that lease was settled in favour of the respondent no.2.

6. He added that since ceiling proceeding was going on and during that ceiling proceeding CLH Form 23 was made available to the petitioners on 4th October, 1994 then the fact with regard to aforesaid ceiling proceeding came into knowledge of the petitioners. He further added that after the aforesaid information came to the petitioners, they filed an application under Section 27(4) of the Act, 1960 for cancellation of Patta/lease granted in favour of respondent no.2. He submits that, at the very inception stage, the status quo was granted by respondent no.1 and after calling objections from the respondents, the matter was finally heard and decided by the Additional Commissioner vide order dated 2nd February, 1998, which is under challenge in this writ petition.

7. He also argued that the petitioners are co-tenure holders of Raja Pratap Bahadur Singh, whose land considered and declared surplus land by the prescribed authority.

8. He further submits that, in fact, it is a case where the ceiling proceeding was concluded in absence of petitioners but it was done without issuance of any notice. He submits that absence cannot be termed if no notices ever issued to the petitioners. He further added that in such a case remedy available to the petitioners was under Section 27(4) of the Act, 1960 and as such he has rightly preferred an application under the aforesaid provision.

9. He has argued that the learned Additional Commissioner without considering the aforesaid provision has given its finding that the application under Section 27(4) of the Act, 1960 is not maintainable. He added that finding of the Additional Commissioner is perverse as he has recorded the finding that no evidence was adduced by the present petitioners before the Additional Commissioner. In fact, the petitioners had adduced the evidences which have been discussed in the order dated on 21st February, 1998.

10. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for the State has vehemently opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that from bare reading of Section 27(4) of the Act, 1960 it is evident that the same is with regard to the settlement of surplus land. The head notes of the Section 27 itself connotes that the proceeding under Section 27 starts after the proceedings of declaration of ceiling land are concluded and such surplus land vests in the State.

11. He has added his argument and drawn attention towards sub-clause (i) of Clause 4 of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 and submits that since after the proceeding under Section 27(4), records available to the Commissioner to revert such land in favour of the State Government. He has also drawn attention on Sub-Section 3 of Section 27, wherein he has referred that the word which denotes that "any remaining surplus land settlement by the Collector in accordance with the order of preference and subject to the limits" clearly indicate that the same is with regard to the settlement of surplus land. He submits that word 'any aggrieved person' is qualified by sub-clause (1) and (3) of Section 27 of the Act, 1960.

12. He further added his argument that the recourse which is open to the petitioners is to approach the prescribed authority under Section 11(2) of the Act, 1960. In such view of the matter, no interference is warranted in the order passed by the Commissioner.

13. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has put strength to his argument while placing the judgment reported in 2004(96) RD 555 (Ram Bahadur @ Laxmi Prasad vs Collector, Hamirpur and others). He has referred paragraph 21, which is quoted as follows;

"21. The petitioner, against the order of Prescribed Authority dated 23rd April, 1988 whereby plot No. 362 was earmarked as surplus land to be allotted to the persons entitled to the same, filed an application dated 20th November, 1990 under section 27(4) of the Act before the Commissioner and obtained an ex parte interim order again on 28th November, 1990. The Commissioner has rejected the application on 30th November, 1995, against which the petitioner has filed the writ petition No. 8473 of 1996 (fifth petition) challenging the allotment of the surplus land made in favour of respondent Nos. 5 to 17 who were admittedly the persons entitled to allotment of the surplus land in accordance with the provisions of U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act. This writ petition is not legally maintainable in view of the earlier writ petition filed by the petitioner, referred to above, as also in view of the dismissal of his writ petition No. 29882 of 1995. The allotment of land is only consequential action. Any infirmity or illegality in the procedure of allotment, as alleged by the petitioner, cannot be a concern of the petitioner as he is neither an applicant for allotment of the land nor has any right or interest in the allotment of the surplus land."

14. Placing the aforesaid judgment, he submits that the court has very specifically held that the plot which was earmarked as surplus land to be allotted to the persons who are entitled under the provision of law. He submits that in Sub-clauses (1) and (3) of Section 27, the authority has been nominated to allot such land. He submits that the petitioners are neither applicants of allotment of the land nor have any right or interest in the allotment of the surplus land.

15. He has further placed reliance on a judgment and order dated 19th August, 1993 passed in C.M.W.P. No. 40601 of 1993 (Girdhari Lal vs Additional Commissioner Judicial (Ist) Bareilly Division and others) and has placed reliance on paragraph 6, which is quoted hereinunder;

"6. The expression 'aggrieved' is not statutorily defined or judicially interpreted and in that event the help of Dictionary meaning can be obtained. See State of Orissa v. The Titaghur Paper Mills Co. Ltd. In the Reader's Digest Grant Encyclopaedic Dictionary, the word 'aggrieved' connotes distressed, oppressed, injured, having a grievance. According to the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary, the word 'aggrieved' means hurt in spirit, injuriously affected, having a grievance. According to the New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary of the English Language, the word 'aggrieved' means having a grievance. According to Webster's Third New International Dictionary, the word 'aggrieved' means troubled, distressed in spirit, showing grief, injury, having a grievance."

16. Placing the aforesaid judgment, he submits that the Court has held that the expression 'aggrieved' has not been statutorily defined but 'aggrieved' means having any grievance. He submits that the petitioner is not a person aggrieved so far as the intent of Section 27(4) of the Act, 1960 is concerned.

17. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and perusal of records.

18. Before coming to purport of Section 27, it is necessary to look into the intent of legislature for envisaging the provision of Section 27 in the Act, 1960. 'Heading' of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 reads as under;

"Settlement of surplus land"

19. The interpretation of 'Headings' as per 13th Edition of the book of Justice G.P. Singh namely 'Principles of Statutory Interpretation', there is one of the view that the 'Headings' might be treated "as preambles to the provisions following them". Further, if the words mention in the section are plain, 'Headings' are meaningless.

20. If we go through the words and meaning of the 'Headings' that is very clear that the same connotes the settlement of surplus land under the Act, 1960. The question is that what could be 'settled'. Answer would be 'surplus land'. In such view, the provision of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 has been envisaged for such land which after a due procedure has been declared as surplus land and thereafter that has to be settled in favour of such persons, by such authorities, which are mentioned in Section 27 of the Act, 1960.

21. Now coming to Sub-clause 1 of Section 27 of the Act, 1960, the Section starts with the word that 'the State Government shall settle out of the surplus land' whereas no land is available for the community purpose and if it so settled with the Gaon Sabha that is used for planting trees, growing fodder or for such other community purpose.

22. In Sub-Section 3 of Section 27 of the Act, 1960, it has been provided that any remaining surplus land shall be settled by the Collector in accordance with order of preference and subject to the limits, specified respectively in Sub-section (1) and (3) of Section 198 of U.P. Zamindar Abolition of Land Reforms Act, 1950 and then Sub-section 4 of Section 27 comes in picture wherein the Commissioner is empowered to either on his own motion or on the application of the aggrieved person, inquired into such settlement and if he found that the same is irregular, he may issue show cause. The word 'such settlement' envisaged in Section 4, derives its intention from two settlement. One which is been done by the State Government under Sub-Section (1) and in Sub-section (3) by the Collector. Mode has been prescribed under Section 27(4) that the Commissioner on his own motion or any application by any aggrieved person has been mentioned. So far as own motion is concerned, that does not attract in the instant matter but second word which an application of 'any aggrieved person' is been qualified by the word 'such settlement'.

23. It is admitted fact that the petitioner is not a person who comes under clause 1 or clause 3 of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 for settlement of surplus land, and therefore, the present petitioners would not be covered under the purview of the words 'any aggrieved person'.

24. It is case of the petitioners that they were the co-tenure holders of Raja Pratap Bahadur Singh and without issuance of notice under Section 10(2) of the Act, 1960, their land was declared as surplus land, and as such, the petitioners if aggrieved, in any way, are not by any order of settlement passed under Sub-Section (1) and (3) of Section 27 of the Act, 1960 but they may be person aggrieved by the order passed by the prescribed authority whereby the land of the petitioners has been declared as surplus land. The order passed by the prescribed authority can said to be an order passed in absence of the petitioners.

25. The appellate authority while passing the order in appeal which is under challenge in the writ petition has very clearly given its finding that the application under Section 27(4) does not attract in the matter of the petitioners and as such the order passed by the appellate authority does not assail any illegality or infirmity.

26. In view of the aforesaid submissions and discussions, the writ petition is devoid of merit.

27. Accordingly, the writ petition is hereby dismissed.

28. However, it is open to the petitioners to adopt the legal recourse which is available to them in accordance with law.

29. No order as to cost.

5. Dhirendra Mohan Chaudhary & ors. Vs IInd Additional District Judge, Bareilly & ors. 1979 AWC 9

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Gopal Krishna Pathak, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State and Sri V.K.Pandey, learned counsel for the respondents and perused the record. .

2. By means of the instant writ petition the petitioner has prayed for issuance of a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned judgment and order dated 12.07.1993 passed by the opposite party no. 1 i.e., The Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Lucknow Division, Lucknow.

3. The factual matrix of the case is that a notice under Section 10(2) was issued to opposite party no. 2 namely Sri Basudeo Pal, the original tenure holder mentioning therein 40.5 acres of land as irrigated land and an area of 22.462 acres was proposed to be surplus land. After the aforesaid notice the objection was filed mentioning therein that the entire land of village Suabojh has wrongly been shown as irrigated land. He also mentioned the fact in the objection that there are 2 acres of land as USAR land and on some of the portion, there is building etc. On the aforesaid objections, the prescribed authority appointed an Advocate Commission and the Advocate Commissioner prepared a report and submitted the same mentioning therein the status of the land. In the report, Advocate Commissioner mentioned a tube-well installed over the agricultural land.

4. After considering the aforesaid report the prescribed authority decided the objection of opposite party no. 2 on 10.03.1975, on the premises that the land is irrigated and 4.126 acres of land was declared as surplus land.

5. After the aforesaid order dated 10.03.1975, the opposite party no. 2 preferred an appeal on the ground that the order dated 10.03.1975 is in violation of mandate of Section 4-A of the Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 (hereinafter referred to as Act, 1960). The appeal filed by the opposite party no. 2 was dismissed by the 4th Additional & District Sessions Judge, Kheri vide order dated 17.10.1975, wherein holding that Khasra pertaining 1378, 1379 and 1380 fasli are indicating that the land is capable of growing two crops and there is private irrigation work.

6. He submits that being aggrieved from the judgment and order dated 17.10.1975, the opposite party no. 2 preferred Writ Petition No. 2973 of 1975 before Hon'ble High Court. The High Court vide order dated 02.04.1979 remanded back the matter before the learned District Judge to decide the appeal afresh with an observation that the appellate authority has to record a finding that whether the land is within the effective command area of lift irrigation canal or State tube-well or private tube-well irrigation work and further whether the composition of soil is such, which is capable of growing two crops in each year.

7. After the matter was remanded back to the appellate authority, the appellate authority remanded back the matter to the prescribed authority for deciding the question of irrigated or unirrigated land.

8. On the aforesaid remand, the prescribed authority heard the matter wherein the extract of the Khasra 1378, 1379 and 1380 Fasli of village Dalpur and Salawat Nagar was filed by the State and the statement of witnesses namely Sri Ram Avtar and Sri Ram Giri Lekhpal was recorded and they were examined. He added that infact the consolidation proceedings were going on in the village, as such the Khasra 1378 fasli of village Suabojh was available only and that too was filed before the prescribed authority. He submits that after the abovesaid, the judgment and order was passed on 25.10.1985 by the prescribed authority wherein the case was dismissed and the objection of the opposite party no. 2 was rejected, while recording the fact that there is a tube-well and entire land is irrigated land. While dismissing the aforesaid case he also mentioned that land is of such quality where sugarcane crop and wheat are being grown and as such he declared 4.162 acres as surplus land. The judgment and order dated 25.10.1985 was assailed while filing the appeal under Section 13 of the Act, 1960 i.e., before the District Judge, Lakhimpur Kheri and later on it was transferred to Additional Commissioner (Judicial), Lucknow Division, Lucknow. The appeal was dismissed on 30.08.1986, in non prosecution as opposite party no. 2 did not turn up to do pairvi of the case. Later on, an application for recall was moved on 09.01.1992 with the explanation that the opposite party no. 2 was not having any information about the case being transferred before the Additional Commissioner (Judicial), Lucknow Division Lucknow. He added that opposite party no. 2 filed the aforesaid recall application after a period of 51/2 years and no proper explanation was given that why he was not diligent in getting the information from the court of District Judge and as such after the aforesaid application moved by the opposite party no. 2, the petitioner was not afforded any opportunity of hearing to defend the aforesaid application and the Additional Commissioner (Judicial), Lucknow Division Lucknow, recalled the order dated 30.08.1986 by a non-speaking and un-reasoned order.

9. He submits that infact after the recall of the abovesaid order, the Additional Commissioner/appellate authority has passed the order on 12.07.1993, without affording proper opportunity of hearing and further the application for recall was admitted without mentioning any reason.

10. He also added that vide order dated 12.07.1993, the appeal filed by the opposite party no. 2 was admitted and the order passed by the prescribed authority by virtue of which the land having area 4.162 acres was declared as surplus land, has been set aside. He submits that the findings of the appellate court are perverse as there is an ample evidence of the irrigation work over the land in question.

11. He further argued that learned prescribed authority while considering the issue has gone into the khasra 1378 fasli of village Suabojh wherein it was found that there is a private tube-well over the land in question. He further submits that the report of the Advocate Commissioner dated 21.02.1975, reveals that there is an electric tube-well over the land situated at village Suabojh by which the irrigation work is being done.

12. He further submits that area lekhpal in his statement has also averted that the land is being irrigated through private tube-well and while considering the abovesaid statement, the prescribed authority has also gone into the C.L.H. Form No. 3 wherein the land in question is recorded as irrigated land.

13. Learned prescribed authority has very minutely gone into the Khasra fasli year 1378 wherein it is evident that the sugar cane crop including wheat and paddy are also been recorded which clearly shows that land was capable to grow two crops. He also added that mandate of Section 4-A of the Act which has been envisaged under the U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 for determination of irrigated land has been followed in letter and spirit while deciding the issue by the prescribed authority. Section 4-A of the Act, 1960 is being quote hereasunder:-

[4A. Determination of irrigated land. - The prescribed authority shall examine the relevant Khasras for the years 1378 Fasli, 1979 Fasli and 1380 Fasli, the latest village map and such other records as it may consider necessary, and may also make local inspection where it considers necessary and thereupon if the prescribed authority is of opinion :-

firstly, (a) that, irrigation facility was available for any land in respect of any crop in any one of the aforesaid years; by -
(i) any canal included in Schedule NO. 1 of irrigation rates notified in Notification No. 1579-W/XXIII-62-W-1946, dated March 31, 1953, as amended from time to time; or

(ii) any lift irrigation canal; or

(iii) any State tube-well or a private irrigation work; and

(b) that at least two crops were grown in such land in any one of the aforesaid years; or secondly, that irrigation facility became available to any land by a State Irrigation Work coming into operation subsequent to the enforcement of the Uttar Pradesh Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings (Amendment) Act, 1972, and at least two crops were grown in such land in any agricultural year between the date of such work coming into operation and the date of issue of notice under Section 10; or thirdly, (a) that any land is situated within the effective command area of a lift irrigation canal or a State tube-well or a private irrigation work; and then the Prescribed Authority shall determine such land to be irrigated land for the purposes of this Act.

(b) that the class and composition of its soil is such that it is capable of growing at least two crops in an agricultural year;

Explanation I. - For the purposes of this section the expression' effective command area' means an area, the farthest field whereof in any direction was irrigated -

(a) in any of the years 1378 Fasli, 1379 Fasli and 1380 Fasli; or

(b) in any agricultural year referred to in the clause 'secondly'.

Explanation II. - The ownership and location of a private irrigation work shall not be relevant for the purpose of this section.

Explanation III. - Where sugarcane crop was grown on any land in any of the years 1378 Fasli, 1379 Fasli and 1380 Fasli, it shall be deemed that two crops were grown on it any of these years, and that the land is capable of growing two crops in an agricultural year.]

14. Referring to the aforesaid Section 4-A of the Act, 1960, learned counsel for the petitioner has also contended that the prescribed authority had gone into the fasli year 1378 and found that provision firstly, secondly and thirdly is very well applied in case of the land of the respondent no. 2.

15. Adding his argument learned counsel for the petitioner submits that infact the prescribed authority has discussed and has gone into all the parameters as is prescribed under Section 4-A of the Act, 1960 and thereafter, he comes to the conclusion that the land in question comes under the purview of irrigated land. He also indicated that the respondent no. 2 did not adduce any such evidence which could substantiate his contention that the land in question does not fall under the category of irrigated land. Contrary to it, the statement of lekhpal , Nakal khasra year 1378 fasli private tube-well as per the report of the Advocate Commissioner (as was ascertain on spot inspection) and the land being capable of growing two crops including the sugar cane crop clearly reveals that aforesaid land in question is irrigated land and as such the prescribed authority had rightly passed the order.

16. He submits that the appellate authority ignoring the aforesaid evidences set aside the order passed by the prescribed authority. He submits that it is a well settled law that even if any part of land is proved to be capable of growing two crops then whole of the land shall be deemed to be irrigated. He further added that the statement of the lekhpal, the report of the Advocate Commissioner after the spot inspection, private tube-well over the land, the statement of the witnesses and capability of growing two crops as per the khasra fasli year 1378 has been ignored by the appellate authority while passing order impugned. The order impugned is against the settled proposition of law and further it is also contrary to the mandate of Section 4-A of the Act, 1960. The appellate authority has superfluously consider the facts and has ignored the actual facts, statement of witnesses and the provisions of law.

17. Apart from the aforesaid he has also argued that the appellate authority has also erred to allow the application for recall of the order after period of 51/2 years without recording any reason or finding.

18. In support of his contention he has placed reliance on a judgment and order dated 24.10.1989 passed in Civil Appeal No. 3241 1979 and 4390 of 1984 (Kallu and ors vs. State of U.P. ors). He has referred para 9 and 10 of the judgement which reads as under:-

"9. Coming now to the specific provisions of Section 4-A dealt with by the High Court, it may be seen that in order to form an opinion whether irrigation facility was available for any land from one of the sources mentioned in subclauses (i), (ii) and (iii) in respect of any crop in anyone of the aforesaid years viz., Faslis 1378 to 15380, the Prescribed Authority is enjoined to examine the Khasras for those three Fasli years, the village map, other relevant records considered necessary and also to make a local inspection whenever it is necessary. Hence there is no scope for contending that a Prescribed Authority may form his opinion without reference to relevant material, in an arbitrary or capricious manner, to the detriment of a tenure holder as regards the availability of assured irrigation facility to a land from one of the enumerated sources. Consequently, there is no merit in the first contention of the appellant that in addition to the materials and records set out in the sub-clause, there must be independent evidence of assured irrigation facility before ever a Prescribed Authority can form an opinion about a land having assured irrigation facility.

10. As regards the second contention relating to sub-clause (b), the clause refers only to the growing of atleast two crops in a land found to be having assured irrigation facility in any one of the relevant years. The sub-clause does not contemplate the raising of two crops on the entire extent of the land. The classification has to be made with reference to the potentiality of the land to yield two crops in one Fasli year and not on the basis of the actual raising of two crops on the entire extent of the land. Therefore, sub-clause (b) cannot be read so as to mean that two crops should have been grown on the entire extent of a land having irrigation facility for classifying the land as 'irrigated land' as it would have the effect of limiting the operation of the sub-clause contrary to the legislative intent. The High Court has taken the view that when the Legislature made amendments to the Act, it must have had in mind the advancement that has been made in agricultural science and farm technology and by reason of it a tenure holder can overcome hurdles and raise two crops in a year over the entire extent of a land having irrigation facility. We need not go as far as that. The normal presumption, in the absence of contra-material, would be that the quality content of soil of a land would be uniform throughout its extent. Such being the case, if a tenure holder is able to raise two crops in a year in a portion of the land, then it would be logical to hold that the other portions of the land also would have the capacity to yield two crops if the tenure holder had utilised the entire extent to raise two crops instead of utilising a portion of the land alone. The raising of two crops even on a portion of the land will prove, in the absence of material to show poor quality of soil in portions of the land due to salinity etc., the uniform nature and content of the soil of the entire land. The High Court was therefore right in holding that the Prescribed Authority can treat a land, having assured irrigation facility, as 'irrigated land' if the tenure holder had raised two crops even in a portion of the land during anyone of the prescribed years and that it is not necessary that the raising of the two crops should have been made on the entire extent of the land in order to classify the land as 'irrigated land'."

19. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that if a tenure holder is able to grow two crops in a year in a portion of the land, then it would be logical to hold that other portions would also have capacity to yield two crops. He added that raising two crops even on a portion of the land, will prove the uniform nature and content of the soil of the entire land.

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further placed reliance on a judgment dated on 01.03.1978 passed in Writ Petition No. 11170 of 1975 (Shyamvir Singh vs. The State of U.P. and others). He has referred para 10 of the judgement which reads as under:-

In the aforesaid background if a tenure-holder wishes to challenge the correctness of the statement prepared in CLH From 3 in respect of his irrigated land he will have to plead in his objection all such facts which, if proved would establish that the statement in Form 3 about his irrigated land was not prepared in the manner prescribed by Section 4-A of the Act and that his land was not irrigated within the meaning of the said section. He will also, have to produce evidence to prove those facts. In adversary proceedings a presumptian cannot be rebutted only by raising a plea in the objection. The facts pleaded have to be proved. In Agricultural & Industrial Syndicate Ltd. v. State of U.P, (1974) 2 SCC 27 (para. 8) it was held that after an objection has been filed by the tenure-holder disputing the correctness of the statement prepared under Section 10 of the Act there ensues a dispute and in such a case there is an adversary proceeding before the Prescribed Authority between him and the government; Since the Prescribed Authority in the process of deciding the objection is empowered to take evidence it would be "court" within the meaning of Sec. 3 of the Evidence Act. As such when it is deciding an objection under Sec. 12 of the Act the provisions of the Evidence Act in regard to the manner and burden of proof will apply to the proceedings. Section 101 of the Evidence Act inter alia provides that when a person is bound to prove the existence of a fact, the burden of proof lies on that person. In view of the decision of the Supreme Court in P.J Ratnam's case (supra) to the effect that it is for the party who challenges the regularity in respect of official acts to plead and prove his case and in view of Section 101 of the Evidence Act the burden to prove that the statement in C.L.H Form 3 about his irrigated land was not prepared in the manner prescribed by Section 4-A of the Act would lie on the tenure-holder and to discharge that burden it would be for him to produce such evidence as he considers material including the relevant extracts of Khasras mentioned in Section 4-A. It is really with reference to these documents and not with reference to his pleading in the objection that the tenure holder would be in a position to show that the statement in Form 3 about his irrigated land has not been prepared in the manner prescribed by Section 4-A of the Act. In the eye of law there is hardly any difference between a case where no objection at all is filed and a case where in the objection necessary facts have not been pleaded nor evidence has been led to prove such facts. Section 4-A does not cast any obligation on the Prescribed Authority to record reasons where no objection is filed at all. The said section cannot in my opinion be reasonably interpreted to mean that it casts an obligation on the Prescribed Authority to record reasons why a particular plot has been treated as irrigated in C.L.H Form 3 even if no facts have been pleaded by the tenure-holder in his objection which if proved will establish that the said plot has been shown as irrigated in Form 3 otherwise than in conformity with Section 4-A and no evidence has, been led by him to prove those facts. If these facts have been pleaded and proved the Prescribed Authority will certainly have to decide the objection raised. In this behalf and record reasons for its findings in conformity with Section 4-A. In the absence of requisite pleading and proof the Prescribed Authority, while declaring surplus land under Section 12 of the Act, can be required to record reasons stating as to under which part or category of Section 4-A a particular plot has been treated as irrigated in CLH Form 3, only if Section 4-A is placed at par to the performance of a ritual. In this view of the matter I find it difficult to accept the submission made by counsel for the petitioner that the Additional Civil Judge committed an error in treating the petitioner's land of village Rajpur as irrigated.

21. Referring the aforesaid judgment he submits that the Court has held that it is the duty of the tenure holder to adduce copies of the khasra for relevant years, it is not incumbent upon the State Government to produce the same.

22. He submits that in such view of the matter the order passed by appellate authority vitiates in law and is liable to be set aside.

23. On the other hand, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 has opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that the finding recorded by the appellate court is correct as he has considered the matter on the basis of the evidence and the records available before him.

24. He further submits that very small part of land is said to be irrigated and that does not mean that all the holdings of the tenure holder comes under the purview of irrigated land, as per provision of Section 4-A of Act, 1960. He further added that as per finding of the appellate court, only 2.30 acres land was found to be irrigated though the total land which was found irrigated by the prescribed authority was 22.123 acres. He submits that specific finding has also been recorded by the appellate authority that due to tube-well it could not be assume that all the land of the tenure holder comes under the area of irrigated land. There is also a finding that as per the Fasli 1379 the sugar cane crop and paddy as well as wheat was shown to be there but in Fasli 1380 there is only sugar cane crop.

25. Learned counsel for respondent no. 2 has placed reliance on a judgment dated 03.05.1979 passed in Civil Misc. Writ No. 8178 of 1975, Jaswant Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others. Referring the aforesaid judgment he submits that Division Bench of this Court has held that in order to find out irrigated land Section 4-A of the Act, 1960 makes it obligatory on the prescribed authority to examine khasras of the fasli years 1378, 1379 and 1380 and latest village map including the local inspection.

26. He submits that in the instant matter the prescribed authority has failed to comply with the verdict of the judgment and order dated 03.05.1978.

27. Learned counsel for the respondent has also placed reliance on a judgment reported in 1978 AWC 577 Jaswant Singh vs. State of U.P. and others. Placing the aforesaid judgement, he submits that it is the khasra of concern fasli year by which the ceiling authority comes to conclusion that whether any irrigation facility was available and whether two crops are being grown over the land. He has referred para 14 of the judgement which reads as under:-

It would thus appear that on all the points specified in the various sub-sections of Section 4-A the Prescribed Authority can form an opinion on the basis of records and local inspection. The legislature, therefore, thought it fit that the enquiry under Section 4-A should remain confined to examination of records and local inspection and not to production and examination of oral evidence.

28. He has also placed reliance on a judgment reported in 1991 RD 312 State of U.P. through Collector vs. Mukh Ram Singh and another and has referred para 3 of the judgment which reads as under:-

In the present case, it has been observed by the Prescribed Authority in his judgment that he did not examine the khasras for 1378 to 1380 Fasli because they were not produced by the party concerned. He has mentioned that there are private tube wells near the disputed plot and only on this basis he had recorded the finding that the said plot is an irrigated land. It was open to the Prescribed Authority to ask for the Khasras from his own records and examine the same, and not only the khasras but also the village map and other necessary records. He has not specifically recorded the finding that the class and composition of soil is such that it is capable of growing at least two crops in an agricultural year. Therefore simply because there are two tube wells near the disputed plot, it cannot be held in view of Section 4-A, and clause thirdly of that Section, that it is an irrigated plot. Moreover the finding recorded by the learned Additional District Judge is a finding of fact based on appreciation of evidence including entires in Khasra 1380 Fasli and there is no justification to interfere with the said finding, in the writ petition. It may be incidently mentioned that the learned counsel for the opposite parties has also referred to the case reported in 1979 AWC 9 Dhirendra Mohan Chaudhary v. IInd Additional District Judge, Bareilly, in which it has been held that in order that a land may be termed as irrigated one, it is necessary that the land must be irrigated from the canal or any lift irrigation canal or any State Tube well or a private irrigation work and that even if the land is irrigated by boring Tubewell, it cannot be said that the irrigation work was done from a private irrigation work and it cannot be termed as irrigated land.

29. Referring the aforesaid judgement he submits that it has been held that the khasra fasli year 1378 to 1380 is to be examined by the prescribed authority. He submits that even if a land is been irrigated by the boring tube-well the same cannot said to be a private irrigation work. Concluding his argument he has also placed reliance on a judgement reported in 1979 AWC 9 Dhirendra Mohan Chaudhary and others vs. IInd Additional District Judge, Bareilly and others. He has referred para 4 to 6 of the judgement which reads as under:-

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners has also contended before me that on the finding recorded by the appellate authority itself the tube-wells were not of such nature as could be termed as a source of irrigation of perennial nature yet the land of the petitioners has been termed as irrigated one on the ground that the same area of the petitioners had been actually irrigated. But the authority did not consider this aspect of the matter that in order that the land of the petitioners may be termed as irrigated one, it is necessary that the land must be irrigated from the canal or any lift irrigation canal or any State tube well or a private irrigation work. In the circumstances of the present case it appears that the appellate authority thinks that the land was irrigated by boring tube-well, hence the land of the petitioners was termed at irrigated one.

5. Private irrigation work has been defined in Section 3 sub-clause (14) of U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, which runs thus:-

""Private irrigation work" means a private tube-well, or a private lift irrigation work operated by deisel or electric power for the supply of water from a perennial water source, completed before August 15, 1972."

6. On the finding recorded by the appellate authority it is clear that the boring tube well was not capable of producing perennial water source. Even if the land of the petitioners was irrigated, it cannot be said that the irrigation work was done from a private irrigation work. In this view of the matter the determination of the appellate authority that the land of the petitioners is irrigated one appears to be patently erroneous.

30. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that in fact the boring tube-well cannot be termed as means of private irrigation facility and as such even if there is any report that tube-well was there that was in the form of boring tube-well and as such that cannot be treated as private irrigation work.

31. Adding his contention he submits that the appellate authority has rightly come to the conclusion that only 2.30 acres of land is irrigated and as such the order passed by the prescribed authority wherein 4.162 acres land was declared as surplus land are against the evidence as well as the provisions of law and as such the order passed by the prescribed authority was liable to be set aside and the order passed by the appellate authority is liable to be uphold by this Court.

32. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of record, I find that the appellate authority has ignored the material facts while discussing the issue raised by the petitioner. The appellate authority while passing the impugned order did not consider the fact that the mandate of Section 4-A of the Act, 1960 has been taken care of by the prescribed authority while passing the order dated 22.10.1985. The prescribed authority had gone into khasra fasli year 1378 of village Suabojh, wherein he found that there was a private tube-well over the land. The entry recorded in fasli year 1378 is also supported by the report of the Advocate Commissioner dated 21.02.1975, wherein he has also mentioned the fact that there is a private tube-well by which the land in question are been irrigated. Apart from the aforesaid, the khasra also reveals that the land in question is capable to grow two crops including the sugar cane crop. Further the statement of lekhpal of area concerned has also been recorded in this regard who also supportted the version of the report of Advocate Commissioner as well as entries made in fasli year 1378. From perusal of the order 25.10.1985, it seems that there is no such objection or evidence adduced contrary to the fact and evidences mentioned/adduced by the State over there.

33. Further it has also been noticed by this Court that the appellate authority has decided the matter in a very cursory manner and the issue which were raised by the petitioner before the appellate authority were either ignored or has not been considered in right perspective.

34. From perusal of the order of the appellate court, it reveals that though he has mentioned the fact that sugar cane crop was over there but no finding has been recorded to the effect of the same. Further he has also disbelieved the statement of the area lekhpal as well as the entries of the tube-well which is evident from the khasra entry of fasli year 1378. The report of Advocate Commissioner which was submitted by local inspection, has been over looked by the appellate authority.

35. In explanation (III) of Section 4-A, where sugar cane crop has been recorded on khasra to grow on any land in any of the fasli years 1378, 1379, 1380, it shall be deemed that two crops were grown on it, in any of these years, and that land is capable of growing two crops in an agricultural year. In the instant matter the prescribed authority has recorded finding that in fasli year 1378, there is entry of sugar cane crop over the land in question and this finding has not been controverted by the appellate authority.

36. So far as the private tube-well is concerned, the petitioner did not raise any objection with regard to the boring tube-well before the prescribed authority.

37. Further it is incumbent upon the tenure holder to place the khasra of 1378, 1379 and 1380 fasli before the prescribed authority, though in the instant matter the State has submitted the nakal of khasra 1378, 1379 and 1380 fasli before the prescribed authority. The entries in one fasli year is sufficient to substantiate regarding irrigation work and crops on the land in question. The oral statement of lekhpal of area can be treated as a good evidence if it is supported by documentary evidence.

38. The respondent has also failed to submit any proof either before the prescribed authority or the appellate authority to show the reason to disbelieve the statement of area lekhpal. Further finding recorded by the appellate authority regarding 2.30 acres of land as irrigated land, is based on conjecture and surmises.

39. In such view of the matter the finding recorded by the appellate authority is wholly perverse and is against the settled proposition of law and as such the order passed by the appellate authority dated 12.07.1993 is hereby set aside.

40. The matter is remanded back to the appellate authority to decide the matte afresh after taking into consideration the entries of khasra of fasli 1378, the statement of area lekhpal and the report of the Advocate Commissioner in a right perspective. The appellate authority shall also give its finding on the issue with regard to the capability of the land growing two crops over the land in question.

41. The State shall file the copy of this order within a period of 10 days before the appellate authority and then the appellate authority after calling objection from the concerned parties shall decide the matter within further period of four months from the date of production of certified copy of this order produced before him.

42. The writ petition is allowed accordingly.

43. No order as to cost.

A. Ceiling Law – Indian Limitation Act, 1963 – Section 5 – Declaration of the petitioner's land as surplus land u/s 10(2) of UP Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 – State filed the appeal after 26 years – Appeal admitted on first date of hearing and notice issued – No notice was issued on delay condonation application – Effect – Held, an inordinate delay could not be condoned without notice to the respondents and without recording any reasons for condonation of delay. So far as the issue of reaching to the substantial justice is concerned, the same is undoubtedly a goal/intent of legislature but, condoning the inordinate delay, without issuance of notice or calling objection from other side, shall frustrate the very object of the aforesaid doctrine. (Para 18)

B. Indian Limitation Act, 1963 – Section 5 – Delay condonation – Sufficient cause – Held, the sufficient cause is to be considered in a proper object, philosophy and spirit. While dealing with such situation, the court has always found out paramount consideration of substantial justice. Liberal approach, while dealing with such applications, are required but it is also the duty of the court to see that the same may not be unbriddled and unguided. (Para 17)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Q. M. Haque, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri J.P. Maurya, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and perused the record.

2. Instant writ petition has been filed assailing the order dated 21.2.2003 passed by the appellate authority as well as the order dated 17.2.1975 passed by the Prescribed Authority.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in fact a proceeding under Section 10(2) of U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 was commenced and the case was instituted as Ceiling Case No. 83 wherein misinterpreting the records, the Prescribed Authority (Ceiling), vide order dated 17.2.1975 determined 54.4 acres of land as surplus land from the holdings of the petitioner. He admits that against the aforesaid order, the petitioner filed Appeal No. 244 of 1975 before the District Judge, Gonda wherein operation of the order impugned was stayed during the pendency of the appeal.

4. He further submitted that, due to the change of jurisdiction as per the amendment in the Ceiling Act, the matter was transferred from the court of District Judge to the Divisional Commissioner, Faizabad. The aforesaid appeal was dismissed in default on 28.12.1988. He further added that a fresh proceeding, after the amendment of Ceiling Act, was initiated and fresh notices were issued showing 49.08 acres of land as surplus land from the holdings of the petitioner. The petitioner filed objection to the aforesaid notice. After hearing the parties, the Prescribed Authority declared 5.12 acres of land as surplus from the holdings of the petitioner. He submits that the order dated 29.7.1976 had become final as the State did not file any appeal against the same.

5. He argued that later on, the State filed an appeal on 20.9.2002 after delay of 26 years and assailed the order dated 29.7.1976. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention towards Annexure No. 7, which is the order of appellate authority dated 21.2.2003 by which the appellate authority admitted the appeal; condoned the delay; and issued notices to the petitioner. He submits that it is evident from the order itself that no notice was issued on the application for condonation of delay and, on the first date of hearing, i.e., at the admission stage, delay was condoned by the appellate authority without affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

6. He also submits that in fact delay of 26 years has been condoned without calling any objection and without affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, which is impermissible under settled proposition of law. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the order of the Apex Court rendered in the case of Ragho Singh Vs. Mohan Singh and others, (2001) 9 SCC 717 wherein the Apex Court has held that appeal filed before the Additional Collector was beyond ten days and the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act was not filed and, in that view of the matter, the Apex Court has held that such appeal is liable to be dismissed. Para 6 of that Judgment reads as under:-

"6. We have heard learned counsel for the parties. Since it is not disputed that the appeal filed before the Additional Collector was beyond time by 10 days and an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act was not filed for condonation of delay, there was no jurisdiction in the Additional Collector to allow that appeal. The appeal was liable to be dismissed on the ground of limitation. The Board of Revenue before which the question of limitation was agitated was of the view that though an application for condonation of delay was not filed, the delay shall be deemed to have been condoned. This is patently erroneous. In this situation, the High Court was right in setting aside the judgment of the Additional Collector as also of the Board of Revenue. We find no infirmity in the impugned judgment. The appeal is dismissed. No costs."

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner further placed reliance on judgment of the Apex Court rendered in the case of Noharlal Verma Vs. District Cooperative Central Bank Ltd. Jagdalpur, 2008 14 SCC 445 wherein it has been held in paras 32 and 33 that issue of limitation goes to the root of the matter and if any appeal or application is delayed or barred by limitation, the Court has no jurisdiction, power or authority to entertain such suit, appeal or application for deciding the same on merits and, in such cases, the suit, appeal or application is liable to be dismissed. Paras 32 and 33 of that Judgment read as under:-

"32. Now, limitation goes to the root of the matter. If a suit, appeal or application is barred by limitation, a court or an adjudicating authority has no jurisdiction, power or authority to entertain such suit, appeal or application and to decide it on merits.

33. Sub Section (1) of Section 3 of the Limitation Act, 1963 reads as under:

"3. Bar of Limitation.-(1) Subject to the provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 (inclusive) every suit instituted, appeal preferred, and application made after the prescribed period shall be dismissed although limitation has not be set up as a defence."

Bare reading of the aforesaid provision leaves no room for doubt that if a suit is instituted, appeal is preferred or application is made after the prescribed period, it has to be dismissed even though no such plea has been raised or defence has been set up. In other words, even in the absence of such plea by the defendant, respondent or opponent, the court or authority must dismiss such suit, appeal or application, if it is satisfied that the suit, appeal or application is barred by limitation."

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner further placed reliance on the Judgment of Apex Court rendered in the case of V.M. Salgaocar and bros. Vs. Board of Trustees of Port of Mormugao and another, 2005, 4 SCC 613 wherein in para 20, following has been held:-

"The mandate of Section 3 of the Limitation Act is that it is the duty of the court to dismiss any suit instituted after the prescribed period of limitation irrespective of the fact that limitation has not been set up as a defence. If a suit is ex-facie barred by the law of limitation, a court has no choice but to dismiss the same even if the defendant intentionally has not raised the plea of limitation."

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner further placed reliance on para 5 of the Judgment of the Apex Court rendered in the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Sharadchandra Vinayak Dongre and others, (1995) 1 SCC 42. Para 5 of the said Judgment reads as under:-

"5. In our view, the High Court was perfectly justified in holding that the delay, if any, for launching the prosecution, could not have been condoned without notice to the respondents and behind their back and without recording any reasons for condonation of the delay. However, having come to that conclusion, it would have been appropriate for the High Court, without going into the merits of the case to have remitted the case to the trial court, with a direction to decide the application for condonation of delay afresh after hearing both sides. The High Court however, did not adopt that course and proceeded further to hold that the trial court could not have taken cognizance of the offence in view of the application filed by the prosecution seeking permission of the Court to file a "supplementary charge-sheet" on the basis of an "incomplete charge-sheet" and quashed the order of the CJM dated 21.11.1986 on this ground also. This view of the High Court, in the facts and circumstances of the case is patently erroneous."

Placing reliance on the aforesaid Judgment, he submits that the Apex Court has emphasized that on delay condonation application, notice to the respondent is must and condonation of delay without issuing of notice and recording reasons is impermissible.

10. Referring the aforesaid Judgments, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that it is well settled proposition of law that if the revision or appeal is being filed beyond the period of limitation as prescribed under law then that must have to be accompanied with the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act. He submits that in the instant matter, the delay was of about more than 26 years but the appellate authority, without providing opportunity of hearing, had admitted the appeal on the first date of hearing and no opportunity was provided for submitting objection to the aforesaid application. Placing the abovesaid Judgments, he has also added that from the order of the appellate authority, it is evident that same has been passed against the purport and ratio of the Judgments of the Apex Court. He further added that the appellate authority has overlooked the issue of limitation and did not take care of mandate of Section 3 of the Limitation Act. From the admission of the appeal, it is evident that the delay condonation application was admitted without calling any objection from the petitioner/respondents.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has also argued that 5.12 acres of land was declared surplus by the Prescribed Authority. He submits that appellate authority without recording any finding has passed the impugned order which does not speak a single word about the same. The orders passed by the appellate authority and Prescribed Authority assail illegality and perversity and, as such, the same are liable to be set aside.

12. He also added to his contention that the appellate authority has also recorded a finding that the order of the Prescribed Authority by virtue of which 5.12 acres of land was declared surplus without jurisdiction. The appellate authority could not substantiate the finding that how the Prescribed Authority has exercised his jurisdiction which was not entrusted upon him.

13. On the other hand, learned counsel for the State vehemently opposed the aforesaid contention and submitted that in fact order dated 21.2.2003 itself is indicative of the fact that the appellant counsel was directed to provide a copy of the memo of appeal and the application for condonation of delay to the counsel for the respondents. He submits that in fact adopting the aforesaid method, opportunity of hearing was provided to the petitioner. He further added that so far as the second contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is concerned that has been misread as the same is only the pleading on behalf of the Divisional Government Advocate and the same is not a finding of the appellate authority and, as such, there is no illegality or infirmity in the order passed by the court below.

14. He also added that the Judgments, which were placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner, are of the case where the appeal, suit or application is not supported by application for condonation of delay. In the instant matter, the application for condonation of delay was submitted and the appellate authority directed to provide a copy to the respondents counsel and, as such, the respondents counsel had an opportunity to oppose the application for condonation of delay.

15. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of record, I find that the order dated 21.2.2003 reveals that on the first date of hearing, the appeal was admitted and, thereafter, notices were issued though it is settled proposition of law that on delay condonation application, notice is to be issued to the respondent/ party concerned and after deciding the same, the matter shall be heard on merits. Further so far as the issue with regard to the jurisdiction, which was raised by the Divisional Government Advocate, is concerned, there may not be any finding by the appellate authority but since the fact was there and it seems that same was in the mind of the appellate authority while deciding the appeal and, as such, it cannot be said that while passing the order aforesaid, the same has been taken into consideration.

16. Prior to going into exhaustive discussion over the issue, it is appropriate to mention Section 5 of the Indian Limitaion Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act 1963'), which is being quoted hereunder:-

"5. Extension of prescribed period in certain cases -

Any appeal or any application, other than an application under any of the provisions of Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) may be admitted after the prescribed period, if the appellant or the applicant satisfies the court that he had sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal or making the application within such period."

17. Barely going through the aforesaid Section, the word which has been emphasized by the Legislature is 'sufficient cause and the satisfaction of the court'. So far as the 'sufficient cause' is concerned, it depends on factual matrix of the case in a given situation. The bona fide nature of the explanation and the diligent act of such applicant are the base of test of sufficient cause. If it is found that explanation is concocted or the applicant is thoroughly negligent in prosecuting his cause then certainly that goes against such applicant, who has moved application for condonation of delay. The sufficient cause is to be considered in a proper object, philosophy and spirit. While dealing with such situation, the court has always found out paramount consideration of substantial justice. Liberal approach, while dealing with such applications, are required but it is also the duty of the court to see that the same may not be unbriddled and unguided.

18. It has also to be looked into that there is material difference between inordinate delay and short delay. While condoning the inordinate delay, the Court has to be rather strict as the same can change the settled things as unsettled. It has been settled that an inordinate delay could not be condoned without notice to the respondents and without recording any reasons for condonation of delay. So far as the issue of reaching to the substantial justice is concerned, the same is undoubtedly a goal/intent of legislature but, condoning the inordinate delay, without issuance of notice or calling objection from other side, shall frustrate the very object of the aforesaid doctrine.

19. So far as the argument of the learned counsel for the respondents is concerned that the appellate court had directed to provide a copy of the appeal as well as the application for condonation of delay to the counsel for the respondents, the same will not subserve the purpose as the appellate authority had admitted the appeal on the first date of hearing and, virtually, no opportunity of hearing was provided. Further if such procedure is supposed to be sufficient in case of calling objection on application for condonation of delay then the very purpose and intent of the legislature for enactment of the Limitation Act will frustrate as the same is not sufficing the very purpose of the word 'sufficient cause' mentioned in the Act 1963.

20. In the instant matter, the appeal has been filed after an inordinate delay of 26 years. Admittedly, no notice was issued and the appeal was admitted on the first day of hearing without issuance of notice to the petitioner. In such view of the matter, the appellate authority has not only ignored the provisions envisaged under the Act 1963 but has also overlooked the settled proposition of law.

21. Considering the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the order dated 21.2.2003 passed by the appellate authority is hereby set aside.

22. The matter is remanded back to the appellate authority to decide the matter afresh after calling objections on the delay condonation application submitted by the petitioner and after providing due opportunity of hearing to all the concerned parties. The matter shall be concluded within six months from the date of this order. The petitioner shall appear before the appellate authority within a period of 15 days.

23. The parties undertake that they shall not seek unnecessary adjournments.

24. Interim protection granted by this Court, vide order dated 8.8.2003 shall remain continued till disposal of the appeal.

25. The writ petition is allowed accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Monoj Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Jeetendra Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the opposite party No.2 and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with a prayer to quash the charge sheet dated 07.04.2021 filed in Case No.9956 of 2021 arising out of Charge sheet No.01 dated 07.04.2021 filed in Case Crime No.0018 of 2021, under Sections 498-A and 323 of IPC and 3/4 of D.P. Act, Police Station-Mahila Thana, District-Kannauj, as well as stay the proceeding in pursuance of cognizance order dated 02.08.2021 in view of the compromise dated 16.03.2021 executed between both the parties.

3. The brief facts of the case are opposite party No.2 (wife) had lodged an F.I.R. on 02.02.2021 under Sections 498-A, 323 IPC and Section 3/4 of D.P. Act against the applicants (Husband and his family members) alleging that marriage of applicant and opposite party No.2 was solemnized about 6 years before. From the wedlock of applicant No.1 and opposite party No.2, three children were born, who are living with opposite party No.2. The applicants have not satisfied to the dowry and they started beating and harassing her for fulfillment of additional demand of dowry. On 18.01.2021 on the refusal of demand of dowry by the opposite party No.2, applicant beaten her due to which opposite party No.2 has received injuries on her body. The investigating officer after investigation has submitted charge sheet No.1 dated 07.04.2021 before the Court and the cognizance was accordingly taken on 02.08.2021. In the meanwhile, due to intervention of the relatives and well wishers of the family, opposite party No.2 and applicants have entered into compromise on 16.03.2021 outside the Court and started to live together as husband and wife along with their children having no grievance to each other. The applicants have filed present 482 Cr.P.C. application to quash the charge sheet dated 07.04.2021, on the basis of compromise dated 16.03.2021 on 16.02.2022, this Court passed the following order:

"Heard learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Jeetendra Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the O.P. No. 2 as well as learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

Learned counsel for the applicants submits that the parties have entered into a compromise as a subject matter of the dispute was matrimonial. The terms and conditions have been entered into a compromise which is Annexure No. 3.

Learned counsel for the O.P. No. 2 has acknowledged the aforesaid facts.

The parties shall appear before the trial court and file compromise within four weeks. Upon the said compromise being filed before the trial court, it shall after due identification, verify the compromise. The trial Judge shall forward to this Court a duly verified copy of the compromise entered into between the parties along with a copy of his order verifying the compromise which shall be before the next date fixed.

List on 30.03.2022 as fresh.

Till the next date of listing, no coercive steps shall be taken against the applicants in Case No. 9956 of 2021 (Case Crime No. 0018 of 2021), under Sections 498A, 323 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act, P.S. Mahila Thana, District Kannauj.

Office will ensure the compliance of the aforesaid order and will transmit the copy of the compromise along with copy of the order to the trial court through the concerned Session Judge within three days"

4. In compliance of the order dated 16.2.2022 parties have filed compromise application in the courts below, which has been duly verified and sent to this Court along with verification report dated 30.03.2022, the same is on the record of the case.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that proceeding of Criminal case under Sections 498-A,323 IPC and Section of D.P. Act be quashed as parties to dispute have entered into compromise which have been verified also by courts below. He further submitted that applicant No.1 and opposite party No.2 along with their children are living together as such no useful purpose will be served to drag present proceeding further he further placed reliance upon the judgment of this court reported in 2022 Law Suit (Alld) 104 Dr. Mohd. Ibrahim and others vs. State of U.P. and others, Gian Singh vs.State of Punjab and another (2012) 10 Supreme Court Cases 303, Narinder Singh and others Vs.State of Punjab and other (2014) 6 Supreme court cases 466 and State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Laxmi Narayan and others (2019) 5 Supreme court cases 688.

6. Learned Counsel for the opposite party No.2 has also filed his vakalatnama and compromise affidavit dated 21.12.2021 stating that opposite party No.2 and applicant No.1 are living together having no grievance to each other as such she does not want to press the proceedings of criminal case against the applicants.

7. Considered the submission of learned counsel for the parties.

8. On the point of compromise between the parties in criminal cases following case law will be relevant:

(i) Gian Singh vs.State of Punjab and another (2012) 10 Supreme Court Cases 303

(ii) Narinder Singh and others Vs.State of Punjab and other (2014) 6 Supreme court cases 466

(iii) State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Laxmi Narayan and others (2019) 5 Supreme court cases 688.

9. In the case of Gian Singh (Supra) Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in para No.61 and 62 as follows:

"61. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarized thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz.: (i) to secure the ends of justice, or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or FIR may be exercised where the offender and the victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between thee a victim and the offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like b the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity, etc.; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and predominatingly civil flavour stand on a different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, the High Court may quash the criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and the victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of the criminal case would put the accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and the wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that the criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in the affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding.

62. In view of the above, it cannot be said that B.S. Joshi ,Nikhil Merchants and Manoj Sharma were not correctly decided. We answer the reference accordingly. Let these matters be now listed before the Bench(es) Concerned."

10. In the Case of Narinder Singh (supra) Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as follows in para No.29:

29. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we sum up and lay down the following principles by which the High Court would be guided in giving adequate treatment to the settlement between the parties and exercising its power under Section 482 of the Code while accepting the settlement and quashing the proceedings or refusing to accept the settlement with direction to continue with the criminal proceedings:

29.1. Power conferred under Section 482 of the Code is to be distinguished from the power which lies in the Court to compound the offences under Section 320 of the Code. No doubt, under Section 482 of the Code, the High Court has inherent power to quash the criminal proceedings even in those cases which are not compoundable, where the parties have settled the matter between themselves. However, this power is to be exercised sparingly and with caution.

29.2. When the parties have reached the settlement and on that basis petition for quashing the criminal proceedings is filed, the guiding factor in a such cases would be to secure: (i) ends of justice, or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any court. While exercising the power the High Court is to form an opinion on either of the aforesaid two objectives.

29.3. Such a power is not to be exercised in those prosecutions which involve heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Similarly, for the offences alleged to have been committed under special statute like the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender.

29.4. On the other hand, those criminal cases having overwhelmingly and predominantly civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes should be quashed when the parties have resolved their entire disputes among themselves.

29.5. While exercising its powers, the High Court is to examine as to whether the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal cases would put the accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal cases.

29.6. Offences under Section 307 IPC would fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore are to be generally treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to proving the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delicate parts of the body, nature of weapons used, etc. Medical report in respect of injuries suffered by the victim can generally be the guiding factor. On the basis of this prima facie analysis, the High Court can examine as to whether there is a strong possibility of conviction or the chances of conviction are remote and bleak. In the former case it can refuse to accept the Settlement and quash the criminal proceedings whereas in the latter case it would be permissible for the High Court to accept the plea compounding the offence based on complete settlement between the parties. At this stage, the Court can also be swayed by the fact that the settlement between the parties is going to result in harmony between them which may improve their future relationship.

29.7. While deciding whether to exercise its power under Section 482 of the Code or not, timings of settlement play a crucial role. Those cases where the settlement is arrived at immediately after the alleged commission of offence and the matter is still under investigation, the High Court may be liberal in accepting the settlement to quash the criminal proceedings/investigation. It is because of the reason that at this stage the investigation is still on and even the charge-sheet has not been filed. Likewise, those cases where the charge is framed but the evidence is yet to start or the evidence is still at infancy stage, the High Court can show benevolence in exercising its powers favourably, but after prima facie assessment of the circumstances/material mentioned above. On the other hand, where the prosecution evidence is almost complete or after the conclusion of the evidence the matter is at the stage of argument, normally the High Court should refrain from exercising its power under Section 482 of the Code, as in such cases the trial court would be in a position to decide the case finally on merits and to come to a conclusion as to whether the offence under Section 307 IPC is committed or not a Similarly, in those cases where the conviction is already recorded by the trial court and the matter is at the appellate stage before the High Court, mere compromise between the parties would not be a ground to accept the same resulting in acquittal of the offender who has already been convicted by the trial court. Here charge is proved under Section 307 IPC and conviction is already recorded of a heinous crime and, therefore, there is no question of sparing a convict found guilty of such a crime."

11. In the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs.Laxmi Narayan (Supra) held as follows in para No. 15.1 to 15.4:

"15.1 That the power conferred under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings for the non-compoundable offences under Section 320 of the Code can be exercised having overwhelmingly and predominantly the civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes and when the parties have resolved the entire dispute amongst themselves;

15.2. Such power is not to be exercised in those prosecutions which involved heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society;

15.3 Similarly, such power is not to be exercised for the offences under the special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender;

15.4 Offences under Section 307 IPC and the Arms Act etc. rwould fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore are to be treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone, and therefore, the criminal proceedings for the offence under Section 307 IPC and/or the Arms Act etc. which have a serious impact on the society cannot be quashed in exercise of powers under Section 482 of the Code, on the ground that the parties have resolved their entire dispute amongst themselves. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to framing the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delegate parts of the body, nature of weapons used etc. However, such an exercise by the High Court would be permissible only after the evidence is collected after investigation and the charge sheet is filed/charge is framed and/or during the trial. Such exercise is not permissible when the matter is still under investigation. Therefore, the ultimate conclusion in paragraphs 29.6 and 29.7 of the decision of this Court in the case of Narinder Singh (supra) should be read harmoniously and to be read as a whole and in the circumstances stated hereinabove"

12. Learned Counsel for both the parties are present before this Court and submitted that the charge sheet including the proceedings of the case be quashed on the basis of compromise entered into the parties.

13. The learned A.G.A. has no objection as parties to the dispute relating to matrimonial mater have entered into compromise.

14. Considering the facts of the present case as well as the principle of law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court as mentioned above, matrimonial dispute between the husband and wife should be a quashed when the parties have resolved their entire dispute amongst themself through compromise duly filed and verified by the Court. There is another aspect of the case that F.I.R. has been lodged under Sections 498-A, 323 IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act, which will come under category specified in para No.29.4 laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Narinder Singh (supra) and in category specified in para No.15.1 laid down by Apex Court in State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Laxmi Narayan and others (supra) regading which proceedings relating to matrimonial dispute can be quashed in exercise of power under Section-482 Cr.P.C.

15. In view of the discussion made above, it would be unnecessary to drag these proceeding, as continuation of the criminal proceeding despite settlement and compromise would amount to abuse of process of law accordingly, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed on the basis of compromise dated 16.03.2022 as verified on 30.03.2022. The proceeding of cognizance order dated 02.08.2021 and charge sheet No.1 dated 07.04.2021 filed in Case No.9956 of 2021 arising out of Case Crime No.0018 of 2021, under Sections 498-A, 323 of IPC and 3/4 of D.P. Act, Police Station-Mahila Thana, District-Kannauj including the entire proceedings of the case are hereby quashed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Syed Imran Ibrahim and Sri Manish Bajpai, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Anirudh Kumar Singh, AGA-I and Sri Sushil Pandey, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. The notice to the respondent no.2 is hereby dispensed with.

3. By means of instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed assailing the order dated 29th September, 2021 passed by 9th Additional District and Sessions Judge, Rae Bareilly in Criminal Revision No.54 of 2019 as well as order dated 19th May, 2017 passed by ACJM, Court no.15, Rae Bareilly in Compliant Case No. 3074 of 2016, under Sections 419, 420 IPC, Police Station- Mill Area, District- Rae Bareilly.

4. The factual matrix of the case is that an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was filed by the opposite party no.2 against the applicants alleging therein that the applicants are under obligation to deposit the shares of the employees towards Employee Provident Fund (EPF) and the Employee State Insurance (ESI) .

5. After filing of the aforesaid application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., the court below registered the case as a complaint case vide its order dated 3rd of June, 2015. In compliance of the order, the court below examined the opposite party no.2 under Section 200 Cr.P.C. There is specific provision for punishment in the Act itself as such punishment under Section of I.P.C. would not be invoked.

6. After the aforesaid statement of the opposite party no.2, three witnesses namely Ramchandra Singh, Krishna Kumar Yadav and Prakhat Singh were recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. and were named as PWs 1, 2 and 3 respectively. After recording the aforesaid statement and examining the strength of the evidence, the lower court vide order dated 19th May, 2017 summoned the applicants under Sections 419 and 420 IPC.

7. Against the summoning order dated 19th May, 2017, the applicants filed a revision before the learned Sessions Judge. After filing of the aforesaid revision, it was finally heard and decided by the trial court on dated 29th September, 2021. Vide the order dated 29th September, 2021, the revision filed by the applicants, was dismissed and the summoning order dated 19th May, 2017 was affirmed.

8. The crux, on the basis of which the applicants were summoned, is that the applicants did not comply with the provision of Employee Provident Fund Act as well as Employee State Insurance Act. In fact, both the Acts specifically envisage provision of penalties.

9. He submits that Section 86 of Employee State Insurance Act, 1948 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 1948') clearly states that prosecution for the violation of the Act can be done when a complaint is been filed with the prior permission of Insurance Commissioner by an officer who has been authorised to do so meaning thereby a complaint by an individual without compliance of the mandate of Act, 1948, cannot be entertained. The Section 86 of Act, 1948 is quoted hereinunder;

Section 86- (1) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of the Insurance Commissioner 1[or of such other officer of the Corporation as may be authorised in this behalf by the 2[Director General of the Corporation]].

(2) No court inferior to that of a Metropolitan Magistrate or Judicial Magistrate of the First Class shall try any offence under this Act.]

(3) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act except on a complaint made in writing in respect thereof.

10. More importantly, Section 86(A) of Act, 1948 deals with the provision that if any offence has been committed, the company shall be deemed to be guilty.

Section 86(A) of the Act, 1948 is quoted hereinbelow;

86A. Offences by companies.-

(1) If the person committing an offence under this Act is a company, every person, who at the time the offence was committed was incharge of, and was responsible to, the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any person liable to any punishment, if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to, any neglect on the part of, any director or manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly. Explanation : -For the purposes of this section,-

(i) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm and other associations of individuals; and

(ii) "director" in relation to-

(a) a company, other than a firm, means the managing director or a whole-time director;

(b) a firm means a partner in the firm.]

11. Learned counsel appearing for the applicants submits that the court below has failed to consider the fact that without arraying the company as party in criminal proceeding, no case can proceed. He added that even assuming the complaint in its true value then at best it is constituting offence under Section 85 of the Act, 1948. Sections 419 and 420 IPC would not attract in such matter. Section 85 of Act, 1948 is quoted hereinbelow;

85. Punishment for failure to pay contributions, etc.-If any person-

(a) fails to pay any contribution which under this Act he is liable to pay, or

(b) deducts or attempts to deduct from the wages of an employee the whole or any part of the employer's contribution, or

(c) in contravention of section 72 reduces the wages or any privileges or benefits admissible to an employee, or

(d) in contravention of section 73 or any regulation dismisses, discharges, reduces or otherwise punishes an employee, or

(e) fails or refuses to submit any return required by the regulations, or makes a false return, or

(f) obstructs any Inspector or other official of the Corporation in the discharge of his duties, or

(g) is guilty of any contravention of or non-compliance with any of the requirements of this Act or the rules or the regulations in respect of which no special penalty is provided,

[he shall be punishable-

(i) where he commits an offence under clause (a), with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years but

(a) which shall not be less than one year, in case of failure to pay the employee's contribution which has been deducted by him from the employee's wages and shall also be liable to fine of ten thousand rupees;

(b) which shall not be less than six months, in any other case and shall also be liable to fine of five thousand rupees:

Provided that the Court may, for any adequate and special reasons to be recorded in the judgement, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a lesser term;

(ii) where he commits an offence under any of the clauses (b) to (g) (both inclusive), with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year or with fine which may extend to four thousand rupees, or with both.]

12. He further referred Section 14, 14A and 14AC of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (hereinafter referred to as the 'EPFMP Act, 1952') which provides the procedure with regard to the penalties in case of violation of the provision of the Act and further Section 14A envisaged the offence committed by the company and Section 14AC speaks about cognizance and trial of the offence. The Sections 14, 14A and 14AC of EPFMP Act, 1952 are quoted hereinbelow;

14 Penalties. -

(1) Whoever, for the purpose of avoiding any payment to be made by himself under this Act ,the Scheme the [Pension] Scheme or the Insurance Scheme]] or of enabling any other person to avoid such payment, knowingly makes or causes to be made any false statement or false representation shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to 19 [one year, or with fine of five thousand rupees, or with both].

(1A) An employer who contravenes, or makes default in complying with, the provisions of section 6 or clause (a) of sub-section (3) of section 17 in so far as it relates to the payment of inspection charges, or paragraph 38 of the Scheme in so far as it relates to the payment of administrative charges, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years), but

(a) which shall not be less than 22 [one year and fine of ten thousand rupees] in case of default in payment of the employees' contribution which has been deducted by the employer from the employees' wages;

[(b) which shall not be less than six months and a fine of five thousand rupees, in any other case]: [] Provided that the court may, for any adequate and special reasons to be recorded in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a lesser term [].] (B) An employer who contravenes, or makes default in complying with, the provisions of section 6C, or clause (a) of sub-section (3A) of section 17 in so far as it relates to the payment of inspection charges, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to Jone year] but which shall not be less than [six months and shall also be liable to fine which may extend to [five thousand rupees]: Provided that the court may, for any adequate and special reasons to be recorded in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a lesser term []. (2) (Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Scheme, the [Pension] Scheme or the Insurance Scheme] may provide that any person who contravenes, or makes default in complying with, any of the provisions thereof shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to [one year, or with fine which may extend to four thousand rupees, or with both).

(2A) Whoever, contravenes or makes default in complying with any provision of this Act or of any condition subject to which exemption was granted under section 17 shall, if no other penalty is elsewhere provided by or under this Act for such contravention or non-compliance, be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to [six months, but which shall not be less than one month, and shall be liable to fine which may extend to five thousand rupees.

14A Offences by companies.

(1) If the person committing an offence under this Act the Scheme or the [Pension] Scheme or the Insurance Schemell is a company, every person, who at the time the offence was committed was in charge of, and was responsible to, the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly: Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment, if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under the Act, the Scheme or [the [Pension Scheme or the Insurance Scheme] has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to, any neglect on the part of, any director or manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly. Explanation-For the purposes of this section, (a) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm and other association of individuals; and (b) "director", in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm.

Section 14AC: Cognizance and trial of offences. No court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under this Act, the Scheme or 2/the 3/Pension] Scheme or the Insurance Scheme] except on a report in writing of the facts constituting such offence made with the previous sanction of the Central Provident Fund Commissioner or such other officer as may be authorised by the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, in this behalf, by an Inspector* appointed under section 13. (2) No court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence under this Act or Scheme or 2[the 3[Pension] Scheme or the Insurance Scheme.

13. He has also referred the Section 94 of the Employees State Insurance Act, 1948, wherein the payment of priorities of dues have been mentioned. He submits that if a company is corporation and declares insolvency then distribution of property of the insolvent is required to be paid on priority basis to the employees which has contributed and covered under Section 94 of the Act, 1948, which reads as under;

94. Contributions, etc., due to Corporation to have priority over other debts.? There shall be deemed to be included among the debts which, under section 49 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909 (3 of 1909) or under section 61 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 (5 of 1920), 1[or under any law relating to insolvency in force 2[in the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in a Part B State]], 3[or under section 530 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956)], are, in the distribution of the property of the insolvent or in the distribution of the assets of a company being wound up, to be paid in priority to all other debts, the amount due in respect of any contribution or any other amount payable under this Act the liability where for accrued before the date of the order of adjudication of the insolvent or the date of the winding up, as the case may be.

14. In view of the aforesaid, there would be no any financial loss to the applicants so far as the payment of the provident fund or any insurance benefit are concerned.

15. Quoting the aforesaid, he submits that since under the clause 86A in the Act, 1948, there is deeming clause and he has drawn attention that this deeming clause shows the intent of the legislature while enactment of the aforesaid provision without holding the body corporate guilty the purpose of the Act would be frustrated.

16. He further argued that, in fact, the company namely Shree Bhawani Paper Mills Limited is under liquidation at present. Further it is not a case where the company or its Director has intentionally committed any cheat or forgery but it is due to unavoidable financial crisis as the Bank's account of the company declared as Non-Performing Assets (NPA) in the month of December, 2012. It is admitted fact on behalf of the complainants that they are not getting the benefit of EPF and ESI since 2012.

17. He has also added that company was declared as sick unit under the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985, on 26th September, 2013 and once the company has been declared as sick unit, the Board of Directors of the company ceased to exercise any constructive control over the management and affairs of the company.

18. He further added that while the matter was pending before Board of Industrial Financial Reconstruction (BIFR), the Government of India promulgated the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Code, 2016') and as soon as the aforesaid Code, 2016 was promulgated, the company moved an application under Section 10 of the Code, 2016, which was admitted by the Tribunal on 13th February, 2018. After the aforesaid application, the resolution professional was appointed and moratorium as mentioned under Section 14 of the Code, 2016 was enforced.

19. He further submits that after the aforesaid, the company could not be revived and learned National Company Law Tribunal vide order dated 17th July, 2021 directed that assets of the company be liquidated so as to recover the loss of the debtor and thus the company went into liquidation proceedings. After the aforesaid order, the moratorium under Section 14 of the Code, 2016 was lifted and moratorium under Section 33(5) was enforced.

20. He also argued that after appointment of resolution professional, the notices were published in leading newspapers with regard to the fact that the company has gone into liquidation proceedings. Thereafter e-auction was successfully done on 25th October, 2021 and letter of intent was issued in favour of R.K. Chaudhary and new company i.e. M/s Inter Weaved Polytex Pvt. Ltd. He submits that there is specific provision in both the Acts that if such a company goes under liquidation and the matter is settled, the payment is to be meet/ released/ disbursed to the claimants particularly as per provisions envisaged under ESI Act and EPF Act.

21. He submits that the proceeding against the applicants cannot be continued since the company has not been arrayed as party. He added that hearing of proceeding of the complaint as well as issuance of summon in the complaint case vitiates in the eyes of law as the authority of the Apex Court as well as other High Courts are very clear that company is an essential party in such cases.

22. It is an admitted fact that the company has not been arrayed as party. He further says that nothing has been concealed or no cheat, fraud or forgery has ever been committed by the applicants and due to the financial hardship the company could not be allowed to run as per law and the same went into liquidation proceedings and every disbursement is to be done as per law. He further added that the applicants are law abiding citizen and commanding respect in the society and they had no criminal intent to make any fraud or forgery with the complainants. He has further drawn attention towards the list of the complainants-employees annexed as Annexure-14 with instant application wherein the name of the complainant/respondent no.2 finds place at serial no.3.

23. He submits that the intent of the legislature would frustrate if the applicants are been prosecuted in furtherance to the criminal proceeding of the Complaint Case No.3074 of 2016.

24. He also argued that, in fact, it is a matter of civil liability and it is not a criminal act. He has forcibly argued that since the company has not been arrayed as party in the complaint and as such the whole proceedings of the complaint case is vitiated and is not sustainable in the eyes of law. Further the order passed by the revisional court is also not sustainable and same has passed on the similar premises and without arraying company as party.

25. Learned counsel appearing for the applicants, in support of his contention, has placed reliance on the case of Aneeta

Hada vs Godfather Travels and Tours Private Limited; 2012(5) SCC 661. It has been upheld by the Hon'ble Apex Court that company is a juristic person and can be fastened with criminal liability. Extract of the aforesaid judgment are as follows:-

"We have referred to the aforesaid authorities to highlight that the company can have criminal liability and further, if a group of persons that guide the business of the companies have the criminal intent, that would be imputed to the body corporate. In this backdrop, Section 141 of the Act has to be understood. The said provision clearly stipulates that when a person which is a company commits an offence, then certain categories of persons in charge as well as the company would be deemed to be liable for the offences under Section 138. Thus, the statutory intendment is absolutely plain. As is perceptible, the provision makes the functionaries and the companies to be liable and that is by deeming fiction. A deeming fiction has its own signification."

26. He has further placed reliance on the case of Sharad Kumar Sanghi vs. Sangita Rane reported in (2015) 12 SCC 781. It has been held in para 11 to 13 that where there is allegation against the Director and company has not been arrayed as a party, no proceedings can be initiated against it even where the vicarious liability is fastened in certain statutes.

"11. In the case at hand as the complainant's initial statement would reflect, the allegations are against the company, but the company has not been made arrayed as a party. Therefore, the allegations have to be restricted to the Managing Director. As we have noted earlier, allegations are vague and in fact, principally the allegations are against the company. There is no specific allegation against the Managing Director. When a company has not been arrayed as a party, no proceeding can be initiated against it even where vicarious liability is fastened on certain statutes. It has been so held by a three-Judge Bench in Aneeta Hada v. Godfather Travels and Tours Private Limited in the context of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881.

12. At this juncture, it is interesting to note, as we have stated earlier, that the learned Magistrate while passing the order dated 22.10.2001, had opined, thus:-

"It appears prima-facie from the complaint filed by the complainant, documents, evidence and arguments that accused company has committed cheating with the complaint by delivering old and accidented vehicle to her at the cost of a new truck. Accordingly, prima-facie sufficient grounds exist for registration of a complaint against the accused U/s. 420 of I.P.C. and is accordingly registered."

13. When the company has not been arraigned as an accused, such an order could not have been passed. We have said so for the sake of completeness. In the ultimate analysis, we are of the considered opinion that the High Court should have been well advised to quash the criminal proceedings initiated against the appellant and that having not been done, the order is sensitively vulnerable and accordingly we set aside the same and quash the criminal proceedings initiated by the respondent against the appellant."

27. It has also been reiterated in case of Sushil Sethi and another vs. State of Arunachal Pradesh and others reported in (2020) 3 SCC 240 wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court in para 8.2 of this judgment held that if the allegations are against the company and the company has not been made a party then it is obligatory on the part of the complainant to make requisite allegations which would attract the provisions constituting vicarious liability against the companies. Para 8.2 is extracted hereasunder:-

8.2. It is also required to be noted that the main allegations can be said to be against the company. The company has not been made a party. The allegations are restricted to the Managing Director and the Director of the company respectively. There are no specific allegations against the Managing Director or even the Director. There are no allegations to constitute the vicarious liability. In the case of Maksud Saiyed v. State of Gujarat (2008) 5 SCC 668, it is observed and held by this Court that the penal code does not contain any provision for attaching vicarious liability on the part of the Managing Director or the Directors of the company when the accused is the company. It is further observed and held that the vicarious liability of the Managing Director and Director would arise provided any provision exists in that behalf in the statute. It is further observed that statute indisputably must contain provision fixing such vicarious liabilities. It is further observed that even for the said purpose, it is obligatory on the part of the complainant to make requisite allegations which would attract the provisions constituting vicarious liability. In the present case, there are no such specific allegations against the appellants being Managing Director or the Director of the company respectively. Under the circumstances also, the impugned criminal proceedings are required to be quashed and set aside.

28. Further Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.K. Alagh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others reported in (2008) 5 SCC 662, has held in para 14 to 19 that even at drafts were drawn in the name of the company, the appellant was its Managing Director, he cannot be said to have committed an offence under Section 406 of the Penal Code. In absence of any provision laid down under the statute, a Director of a company or an employee cannot be held to be vicariously liable for any offence committed by the company itself. The following para is extracted below:-

14. Appellant No.1 is the Managing Director of the Company. Respondent No.3 was its General Manager. Indisputably, the company is a juristic person. The demand drafts were issued in the name of the company. The company was not made an accused. The dealership agreement was by and between M/s. Akash Traders and the company.

15. Mr. Pramod Swarup, learned counsel appearing on behalf of Responent No.2, in support of the order passed by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate as also the High Court, submitted that as, prima facie, the appellant was in charge of and was in control of the business of the company, he would be deemed to be liable for the offence committed by the company.

16. The Penal Code, save and except some provisions specifically providing therefor, does not contemplate any vicarious liability on the part of a party who is not charged directly for commission of an offence.

17. A criminal breach of trust is an offence committed by a person to whom the property is entrusted.

18. Ingredients of the offence under Section 406 are :

"(1) a person should have been entrusted with property, or entrusted with dominion over property;

(2) that person should dishonestly misappropriate or convert to his own use that property, or dishonestly use or dispose of that property or willfully suffer any other person to do so;

(3) that such misappropriation, conversion, use or disposal should be in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or of any legal contract which the person has made, touching the discharge of such trust."

19. As, admittedly, drafts were drawn in the name of the company, even if appellant was its Managing Director, he cannot be said to have committed an offence under Section 406 of the Indian Penal Code. If and when a statute contemplates creation of such a legal fiction, it provides specifically therefor. In absence of any provision laid down under the statute, a Director of a company or an employee cannot be held to be vicariously liable for any offence committed by the company itself. {See Sabitha Ramamurthy and Anr. v. R.B.S. Channabasavaradhya.

29. He has further placed reliance on the case of Roop Mani Pandey vs State of U.P. and Anr. along with other connected applications, on 16.02.2016 which has held ratio as under;

"After having given my anxious thought to the rival submissions made on behalf of the parties and considering the material on record, I find that it is not disputed between the parties that the opposite party No.2 has supplied the material to the company and the company was liable to pay its price to the opposite party No.2, but it is not disputed between the parties that by order passed by B.I.F.R. dated 08.10.2013 the company has been declared as sick unit and unless the company stands rehabilitated, the petitioners, who are sought to be prosecuted, cannot do anything. It has also not been disputed that the opposite party No.2 has also initiated the proceedings of civil case for recovery of the amount due. The company has not been impleaded as an accused in the complaint. It has also not been shown as to how the petitioners are liable for payment of dues to the opposite party No.2 while the material was supplied in the name of the company. The opposite party No.2 has failed to show as to how the petitioners are vicariously liable for the company. The learned Magistrate while passing the summoning order and taking cognizance, has failed to disclose as to how the petitioners are liable to be prosecuted for the offence under Sections 418 and 506 IPC. Since, the opposite party No.2 had supplied the material in the name of the company and admittedly company has not been arrayed as an accused, the learned Magistrate ought not to have passed the impugned order summoning the petitioners, specially when the opposite party No.2 had failed to show as to how the petitioners are liable for the wrong committed by the company."

30. He further referred a case in Standard Chartered Bank vs Director of Enforcement reported in 2005(4) SCC

530 has referred para 6. The para 6 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow;

"6. There is no dispute that a company is liable to be prosecuted and punished for criminal offences. Although there earlier authorities to the effect that corporations cannot commit a crime, the generally accepted modern rule is that except for such crimes as a corporation is held incapable of committing by reason of the fact that they involve personal malicious intent, a corporation may be subject to indictment or other criminal process, although the criminal act [may be] committed through its agents."

It has also been observed that there is no immunity to the companies from prosecution merely because the prosecution is in respect of offences for which the punishment is mandatory imprisonment and fine."

31. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that now it has been settled that the company is liable to be prosecuted and punished for criminal offence. Company is not immuned from the prosecution. He added that locus to prima facie satisfy the court upon the complainant that intent of the company was missing in a particular case.

32. cHe also added that in the instant matter, the punishment for violation is itself provided in the Employee State Insurance Act, 1948 as well as Employee Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Act, 1952 and being the special law the prosecution can only be done under the provision of the aforesaid Act. It is admitted fact that the violation has been done which comes under the preview of Section 86A of the Act, 1948 as well as Sections 14 and 14A of the Act, 1952 and as such the learned Magistrate could have invoked his jurisdiction in the aforesaid provision but it is evident from the impugned order dated 29th September, 2021 that Magistrate has issued the process by issuing a summon vide order dated 19th May, 2017 under Sections 419 and 420 of the IPC. He submits that the Magistrate could not have issued the summons under the aforesaid provision of IPC and as such the whole proceeding of the complaint case vitiates in the eyes of law.

33. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioner has argued that it is a bullet point since the company has not been arrayed as party in the complaint case and there is settled proposition of law that the company being a juristic person is liable to be prosecuted and is to be punished as such the order passed by the learned Magistrate in Complaint Case No.3074 of 2016 is liable to be set aside.

34. On the other hand, learned AGA appearing for the State has very vehemently opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that the learned Magistrate has very well recorded the statement of the complainant and witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. He submits that there is no any deviation or unlawfulness in recording the statement of the complainant or the witnesses. He also added that there is no proclavity or contradiction in the statement under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. and there are ample material facts on the basis on which, the complaint case can proceed against the present applicants.

35. While countering the contention of learned counsel for the applicant, on the issue that the company is under liquidation proceedings, he submits that in fact the liquidation proceeding is civil proceeding, which can go on simultaneously with the criminal proceedings and as such this set of argument of the applicants have no force.

36. He also added that since so far as the contention regarding non-impleadment of the company as party is concerned, it is technicality and that will not affect the fate of the case or that will not vitiate of complaint proceedings.

37. He further argued that in fact the applicants have committed breach of trust as well as cheated the complainant, and as such, they can be prosecuted. There are material facts as per statement of witnesses and complainant.

38. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of record, I find that the present applicants are said to be Directors of the Company. The Company was already declared sick unit on 26th September, 2013 and it is an admitted fact that the bank accounts of the company were declared as Non-Performing Assets (NPA) in way back December 2012. Further the Company is under liquidation proceedings invoking the provisions of Section 33 of Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 and after calling the objections the applicants have already forwarded their objections through a list (annexed as annexure 14, page 122 of this writ petition), wherein the name of the complainant no.2 find place at serial no.3 and as such no error or illegality or criminal intent is prima face seems to be committed/seen in the aforesaid matter.

39. Further from perusal of the complaint, it is evident that the same has been filed for deliberately non-payment of 12% of contribution of EPF and ESI 17% to the complainant. Penalty as well as the punishment has been prescribed under the Employees Provident Fund as well as Employee State Insurance Act, 1948.

40. It has also been noticed that after 2012 due to financial hardship the Bank account of the company has become NPA and later on under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, the proceedings were initiated. The resolution professional was appointed and the matter further proceeded. It has also been noticed that the list, which was produced before the resolution professional, finds place the name of the complainant at serial no.3. Section 94 of the Act, 1948 envisaged the provision that in such eventuality, the payment under Act, 1948 shall have priority over the other debts of the company. Meaning thereby as soon as liquidation procedure would be concluded, as per Act, 1948, the dues shall be paid firstly to such employees, naturally the applicants are also covered under the same. At this stage, this Court restraining itself to comment on the issue regarding deliberate intent of the Directors and the Company for not payment of the dues under the Act, 1948 and EPF Act.

41. Coming to the issue with regard to the fact that whether the company is juristic person and further company can have any criminal liability and can be punished, it has been settled that the company is juristic person and the doctrine of vicarious liability also touch to the company as well as the Directors vise versa. The liability is penal and in such situation, the strict interpretation of law shall be done. In the Act, 1952, the penalty and punishment both have been provided for non-payment of dues with respect to contribution of the employees. Non payment of such dues comes under the purview of offence and as such the same is punishable also.

42. It is also noticeable that there is deeming clause while providing the punishment clause under Section 86A of the Act, 1948. Having at glance of proviso of Section 86A in sub-clause (i) it is very much clear that if any offence is been committed by the company including every person incharge of the company shall be held guilty of the offence and are attributable of punishment for such act. In this sub-clause, the word 'deemed to be guilty' has been mentioned which connotes the very clear intent of the legislature to fasten the criminal liability on the functionaries and the company by this deeming fiction. In such view of the matter the word 'deemed' must have profound context in which it is used.

43. In the instant matter, indeed, there is allegation against the company and until the company which is juristic entity is arrayed as accused, such proceeding shall vitiate.

44. It has been settled in all jurisdiction across the world by the role procedure established by law that the Companies, Corporate Houses and Corporations are not immuned from criminal prosecution, on the premises that they are not possessing the necessary mens rea for commission of offence. The doctrine of contribution and imputation are needed for interpretation, in case the company or the corporation which guides business of the company if at all have a criminal intent would always be imputed to the company.

45. Considering the aforesaid facts and rival submission of learned counsel for the parties as well as settled laws, the order dated 29th September, 2021 passed by 9th Additional District and Sessions Judge, Rae Bareilly in Criminal Revision No.54 of 2019 as well as order dated 19.05.2017 passed by ACJM, Court no.15, Rae Bareilly in Compliant Case No. 3074 of 2016, under Sections 419, 420 IPC, Police Station Mill Area, District Rae Bareilly are hereby set aside.

46. It is made clear that this court has passed the order only on the issue of non-impleadment/ arraying the company as party in the complaint case.

1. The instant application moved under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is directed against the summoning order dated 9.9.2021 issued in Session Case No.752 of 2021 titled "C.B.I. Vs. Md. Azam Khan etc" under Sections 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T Act, 2000 and all orders passed in furtherance whereof qua the applicant, "Bhavesh Jain" one of the accused charge sheeted in Case Crime No.2 of 2018 in Session Case No.752 of 2021 pending before the Special Court, Anti-Corruption, C.B.I. (Central), Lucknow.

2. It is stated in the application that the F.I.R. No.2 of 2018 was filed on 25.4.2018, alleging certain irregularities in recruitment of candidates to 1300 posts of the R.G.C.'s, J.E.'s, A.E.'s advertised by the U.P. Jal Nigam in the year 2016-2017. The said F.I.R. was filed against (i) Mr. Md. Azam Khan, the then Chairman, U.P. Jal Nigam; (ii) Mr. Syed Aafaak Ahmad, the then O.S.D; (iii) Mr. Prakash Singh, the then Secretary, Urban Development; (iv) Mr. P.K. Assudani, the then Managing Director, U.P. Jal Nigam Ltd; (v) Mr. Anil Kumar Khare, the then Chief Engineer, U.P. Jal Nigam; (vi) other officers of the U.P. Jal Nigam involved in the recruitment process. The allegation is, that the aforesaid accused persons conducted the selection without taking prior approval of the Board of Jal Nigam or the State Government causing a loss of Rs.37.5 Lacs to the State

Exchequer and violate of rules and regulations of the Jal Nigam including the U.P. Water Supply and Sewerage Act, 1975. None of the allegations are attributable to the applicant nor he is alleged to be a beneficiary anyhow.

3. The company titled "Aptech" who was hired by the U.P. Jal Nigam under contract to organize and develop the infrastructure for conducting the Computer Based Test (C.B.T.) for short listing of the candidates, is also arraigned as accused in the F.I.R.

4. The said F.I.R. No.2 of 2018 was lodged by one Sri Ram Sevak Shukla, retired, approximately eight years back, from the post of Executive Engineer, Jal Nigam, with some ulterior motive on account of strong political rivalry and enmity between him and certain officers of U.P. Jal Nigam, who were at the helm of affairs when the selections were conducted. Pursuant to the lodging of the F.I.R. No.2 of 2018, the Special Investigation Team (S.I.T) was constituted, which investigated the case for more than one and a half years, allegedly and apparently under the influence and control of the persons on whose behest the F.I.R. was filed.

5. The applicant who is a mid-level employee of the Aptech group which was hired by U.P. Jal Nigam for the limited purpose of organizing the infrastructure for conducting the Computer Based Test (C.B.T) for the recruitment under the contract executed between U.P. Jal Nigam and Aptech. Aptech's role was limited to facilitate the qualifying examination (C.B.T) and providing the necessary I.T. infrastructure and software solution for the same. It had no role in the actual selection of the candidates. The contracts effected the purpose of recruitment dated 17.6.2016, 28.10.2016 and 15.12.2016 respectively and the work order dated 19.5.2016 was issued theirfor.

6. The present applicant, as a matter of fact, is a Software Engineer. In the course of examination in question (C.B.T.), he was serving as Deputy Manager, Software Development. His role was confined to programming, Software and website development, which are purely technical in nature. He had no role in setting the question papers, tabulation of scores, preparation of merit list, etc. Moreover, the applicant did not have access either to the questions papers, or the result of the examination or marks of the candidates, which were confidential documents/information stored in the password protected files with strict access control. It is alleged by the applicant and stands un-rebutted in the counter affidavit that the applicant was posted at Mumbai since 2003 and he had never visited the State of U.P., much less Lucknow, when the examination was conducted on behalf of the U.P. Jal Nigam. He had no interaction with the officials of the U.P. Jal Nigam or any candidate appearing in the examination.

7. It is stated in the affidavit filed in support of the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. that the applicant was never served with the notice in the course of investigation by the S.I.T. and merely on the telephonic request of the Investigating Officer made to Aptech, he gave his statement to the investigating officer on 12.9.2019, copy whereof is made Annexure No.4 to the affidavit. Thereafter he has never summoned to participate in the Investigation or to provide any document or information. Ultimately, the investigation was concluded sometimes in January, 2020 and the charge sheet was submitted by the S.I.T. on 24.5.2021 which did not include the name of the applicant as an accused. The court concerned took cognizance of the offences against the charge sheeted accused namely Md. Azam Khan, Girish Chandra Srivastava under Sections 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. read with Section 120-B I.P.C. and Section 13 of the Anti Corruption Act and against the accused Neeraj Malik, Vishwajeet Singh, Ajay Kumar Yadav, Santosh Kumar Rastogi, Roshan Fernandeez and Kuldeep Singh Negi under Sections 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T. Act, 2000 on the basis of evidences collected by the Investigating Officer and submitted before the court with the charge sheet. The court which took the cognizance of the offence over the charge sheet dated 24.5.2021 without conducting any further investigation or collecting any new material or evidence, when a supplementary charge sheet dated 12.8.2021 was illegally filed by the Investigating Officer arraying the applicant as accused No.2, took cognizance of the offences without evidences against him. The applicant has objected that in any event a prima facie evaluation of the material and documents on record and the facts emerging therefrom, if taken at their face value, do not disclose the existence of ingredients constituting the alleged offence or even give rise to suspicion against the applicant and there did not exist sufficient grounds for proceeding against him. In the absence of any specific allegations against the applicant disclosing his active involvement in the alleged offences, the learned court below ought to have refused to take cognizance of the offences against the applicant.

8. The applicant has submitted in the instant application that the recruitments in issue were entirely an internal affair of the Jal Nigam conducted under the aegis of an internal examination committee which oversaw the entire recruitment process and took all the decisions regarding the same. Under the contracts executed between the Jal Nigam and Aptech, Aptech's role too was limited to facilitate the conduct of the qualifying examination (C.B.T.) and providing the necessary I.T. infrastructure or software solutions for the same, and it had no role in the actual selection of the candidates. The applicant being employee of Aptech, had no role, whatsoever, in the conduct of the examination on behalf of the U.P. Jal Nigam as a Software Engineer, his role was confined to programming applications, software and website development, he is a technical professional and have no role in setting the question papers, tabulation of scores, preparation of merit list, etc. Even he did not have access the question paper or the result of the examination or marks of the candidates. The online examination was conducted in accordance with the instructions of the U.P. Jal Nigam issued time to time. The examinations were held on 5.8.2016 to 7.8.2016 (R.G.C.), 6.12.2016 to 7.12.2016 (J.E.) and 16.12.2016 (A.E.). The Jal Nigam issued completion certificates for successful completion of the exams which is also made Annexure No.9 to the affidavit.

9. It is alleged by the applicant that the impugned supplementary charge sheet was filed against him containing vague allegations which are entirely false and baseless. In the charge sheet, it is alleged that under the contract company was required to publish the answer key upon the conclusion of the online examinations which it failed to do. As such, it is alleged that Aptech breached the contract and connived with the officers of the U.P. Jal

Nigam as a consequence whereof the candidates did not get an opportunity to submit their objections on the question paper. Secondly, it been alleged the terms of the contract were breached by the Aptech and primary data of the examination was deleted from the cloud server and valuable evidence was destroyed under a criminal conspiracy with the Jal Nigam for unfair gain. It has also been alleged that the marks of 169 candidates have been increased as a consequence whereof ineligible candidates were selected and eligible candidates were deprived and being selected. He has further stated that no specific role in this regard has been attributed to the applicant and there is not an iota of evidence linking the applicant with the allegations. He had no concern with the conduct of the examination, publication of answer key, inviting of objections, etc. There being no specific material or allegations against him, there is no reason and justification to proceed against the applicant. To verify his position with regard to the allegation of conspiracy the applicant has further stated in the affidavit that there is no whisper or any prior meeting of minds between the applicant and officers of Jal Nigam and no "quid pro quo" has been established. The applicant has never interacted with any officer of Jal Nigam or candidates appearing in the examination either directly or indirectly. As such, the S.I.T. has conducted a sham investigation and the entire impugned proceeding are purely based on conjectures and surmises, and no offence under Section 120-B I.P.C. is made out. The applicant in the affidavit in support of the application has further states that in February, 2017 after completion of the examination the complete set of answer keys and response sheets of the examinations were handed over by the Aptech to the M.D., Jal Nigam upon being so requested in a C.D. ROM together with cover letters dated 18.3.2017 (R.G.C.), 27.2.2016 (J.E.) and 27.2.2017 (A.E.). The revised result was handed over to the Managing Director, Jal Nigam vide letters dated 8.8.2017, 31.8.2017, 19.8.2017 and 8.8.2017. However, for the reason best known to it the Jal Nigam never published the revised result, even with regard to the allegations that the original/primary result data of the examination was removed by the Aptech from the cloud server in connivance with the officers of the Jal Nigam. No role of the applicant has been attributed in the charge sheet. The allegation is neither concerned with the storage of data nor does he access to control of the computer system or computer network where the data of the examination is stored. Moreover, as a matter of fact, the original data has not been deleted and continues to be stored in the archives of the company in hard disks in its original format under strict access control, as mandated by the internal data retention policy of the company. The S.I.T. has been informed repeatedly and severally that original data of the examination is not deleted and is available through various letters dated 7.11.2017 and e-mail dated 7.9.2018, 3.3.2020, 5.3.2020, 21.9.2020 and 3.11.2020. Yet for the reasons best known to it, S.I.T. has never collected the original data, instead acting with apt premeditation and planned, it filed a false charge sheet against the applicant on 12.8.2020 in submission to earlier one which is made Annexure No.14 and 15 to the affidavit in support of the application.

10. Counter affidavit on behalf of the State of U.P. filed in the matter has not factually any differences with regard to the contract between the U.P. Jal Nigam and Aptech India Ltd. for conducting C.B.T. for recruitment of post of R.G.C., J.E., A.E. in a selection for appointment of 1300 advertised posts. For ready reference, para-8 of the counter affidavit is thus reads as under:-

8– यह कि उपरोक्त चयन प्रक्रिया में अध्यक्ष, विशेष कार्याधिकारी, प्रबन्ध निदेशक जल निगम एवं जल निगम के अन्य अधिकारियों द्वारा नियमावली का उल्लंघन कर मनमाने तरीके से अर्हता/योग्यता में विज्ञापन के बाद छेड़–छाड़ की गयी तथा आशुलिपिक परीक्षा में निर्धारित पदों के सापेक्ष कम परीक्षार्थी सफल होने पर मनमाने ढंग से परीक्षा निरस्त कर दी गयीतथा अन्य विज्ञापित पदों की भर्ती में मेसर्स एपटेक लि0 के अधिकृतप्रतिनिधि व जल निगम के उत्तरदायी अधिकारियों द्वारा आपसी दुरभि संधिके माध्यम से समय से उत्तर कुंजी न प्रदर्शित कर प्रश्नों के उत्तरों मेंसही विकल्प न निर्धारित कर त्रुटिपूर्ण ढ़ंग से क्लाउड सर्वर के माध्यममूल्यवान साक्ष्य को विलोपित कर अनियमित रुप से परिणाम घोषित करपात्र अभ्यर्थियों को क्षति पहुंचाकर अपात्र अभ्यर्थियों का चयन कर जल्दबाजी में नियुक्ति पत्र जारी कर उसी तिथि को चयनित अभ्यर्थियों को कार्यभार ग्रहण कराकर मनमाने ढ़ंग से विधि विरुद्ध कार्य किया गया है।

11. In para-9 of the counter affidavit without specifying any particular evidence with regard to the offence alleged to have been committed by the applicant "Bhavesh Jain", it is alleged that he has committed the following offences, (i) a conspiracy between U.P. Jal Nigam and M/S Aptech Ltd., a collusion is evident from the fact of breach of contract between them with regard to the recruitment on all the 1300 posts and not publishing the answer key just after the completion of the exam and even then under a criminal conspiracy to continue with the process of recruitment. (ii) in breach of conditions of contract working against the rules for undue gain under a criminal conspiracy in collusion with the U.P. Jal Nigam deleted the primary data from the cloud server and thus destroyed a valuable evidence. (iii) that for an undue benefit committed the criminal conspiracy during the course of recruitment process. (iv) the present accused applicant whose name came into light in the course of investigation is arrayed on the basis ofevidences collected by the Investigating Officer under Section 201,204, 420, 467, 468, 47/120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T. Act and a supplementary charge sheet was submitted on 12.4.2021 against him. Denying the pleading of the accused applicant in his affidavit that S.I.T. has never bothered to access the original data following due course of procedure, therefore, the allegation as to the deletion of primary data and arraigning the charges under Section 201, 204, 120- B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T. Act maliciously has stated that Aptech company had deleted the primary data from the cloud server and in the course of investigation whenever the company was asked to provide primary data, the officers and employees of the company did not make available the same, therefore, the accused is arraigned with Section 201, 204, 420, 467, 468 and 120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T. Act prima facie and further the primary data was recovered with the help of the Forensic Science Laboratory.

12. In para 51 and 52 aforesaid the Aptech company as a whole is charged with deletion of primary data, not providing the primary data despite repeated request by the S.I.T., it is alleged without specifying with particular and visible role of the present accused applicant.

13. Annexure No.3 to the counter affidavit has an importance for ascertaining the admitted role and responsibility of each and every employee of Aptech associates engaged for the examination in issue. Annexure No.3 is a document supplied by the Aptech company on the requisition of S.I.T. For easy reference table in Annexure No.3 is quoted as under:-

					R, DELHI 110096

14. It is argued by learned Senior designated on behalf of the accused applicant "Bhavesh Jain" in the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. that the complaint itself has no allegation individually or jointly with the other co-accused against the role of the applicant in making or deleting the entries with regard to marks obtained by the candidates in C.B.T. The role of the accused is very much specified in the Annexure No.3 annexed with the counter affidavit by the State opposite party which is detailed against the name of "Bhavesh Jain, Manager- Software Development, responsible for development support for U.P. Jal Nigam Project from May 2016 to November 2016" at Sr. No.7.

15. On telephonic request the applicant presented himself before the S.I.T. and his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer where he stated about the work assigned to him which is made Annexure No.4, the works assigned to him was (i) production and development of website (ii) planning and explaining the work on the website to the colleagues in accordance with the approved plan conduct of the work, etc. On the query of Investigating Officer of the S.I.T., his reply was recorded on 12.9.2019 which may be seen at Annexure No.4 of the affidavit filed in support of the application that the development work of the website with regard to the online form, admit card and call letter in the recruitment process was done by him. It is also work that after the development of the website the prescribed fields were to be filled up by the employee arrayed at Sr. No.8 in Annexure No.3 to the counter affidavit namely Jitendra Dixit, Kuldeep Negi at Sr. No.16 and Ashok Upreti at Sr. No.17 as they were given responsibility for application management and candidate scheduling, merit list preparation, etc. There is no iota of evidence against those collected by the Investigating Officer which prima facie show the role or capacity to access the primary data filled in the website even evidence of any conspiracy is also not given. As such, the learned court of Magistrate did not apply his mind in taking cognizance over the charge sheet and issuance of summon for trial. He relied on the case laws propounded by the Apex Court on the argument in support of his argument that an employee of a company cannot be made accused without any specific allegation or specific role attributed to them relying on Ravindranatha Bajpe Vs. Mangalore Special Economic Zone Ltd. and Ors.1, State of Karnataka Vs. L. Muniswamy and Ors.2 in support of the argument that where no material on record is available to show prima facie the complicity of the accused or to suspect him for committing the offence. In this regard, Harishchandra Prasad Mani and Ors. Vs. State of Jharkhand and Ors.3, Neelu Chopra Vs. Bharti4 and Mirza Iqbal Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh5 placed before the court in support of his argument that particulars of offences committed by each and every accused and role of accused must be demonstrated in the charge sheet and where only vague and bald allegations are made no specific allegations against the accused and there is no specific role against the accused, the candidates of relevant offences cannot be taken by the Magistrate. Lastly, learned counsel submitted that a criminal proceeding cannot be continued if there is no specific allegations against the accused, he relied on a judgment of Rekha Jain Vs. State of Karnataka dated 10.5.2022 passed in Criminal Appeal No.749 of 2022 by the Apex Court.

16. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. Sri Santosh Kumar Mishra, Advocate argued that police has the statutory right and duty to investigate into a cognizable offence on complaint having been made the result of investigation done by the S.I.T. brought into light the name of the accused as employee of the company engaged by the Aptech company as Software Developer to fulfill its obligation under the contract with the U.P. Jal Nigam to conduct C.B.T. for the recruitment of R.G.C., J.E. and A.E on 1300 posts advertised by the U.P. Jal Nigam. The allegations was that illegalities and irregularities were committed in connivance with the officers of U.P. Jal Nigam by the Aptech company under a conspiracy of which the present accused applicant was a participant, therefore, prima facie case against the accused was made out and the charge sheet was submitted against him by the S.I.T. whereupon cognizance was taken by the Magistrate and summons were issued.

17. Learned A.G.A. relying on the case law propounded by the Apex Court dated 20.4.2022 in Ramveer Upadhyay and Ors. Vs. State of U.P. and Ors.6 submitted that the criminal proceedings cannot be nipped in the bud by exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. only because the complaint has been lodged by a political rival, there would have been possibility of a false complaint at the behest of a political opponent but the same would not be justified interference under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

18. Learned A.G.A. has also relied on the judgments of Apex Court in Satish Kumar Jatav Vs. State of U.P. and Ors.7 decided on 17.5.2022 and M/S Neeharika Infrastrucure Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State of Maharashtra and Ors.8. He emphasized the argument that while examining the F.I.R./complaint the court cannot embark upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made therein. Criminal proceeding ought not to be scuttled at the initial. Quashing of complaint/FIR should be an exception rather than an ordinary rule.

19. Heard learned counsels, perused the materials available on record, gone through the cases cited in support of their contentions.

20. In The State of Haryana Vs. Bhajanlal9 the scope of High Court power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and Article 226 of the Constitution of India was widely considered to quash the FIR and refer to several judicial precedents and held that High Court should not embark upon an enquiry into the merits and demerits of the allegations and quash the proceeding without allowing the investigating agency to complete its task. At the same time, the Apex Court identified the following cases in which FIR/complaint can be quashed. Para-102 of the aforesaid case is quoted below:-

"102. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

21. In Inder Mohan Goswami Vs. State of Uttarakhand10 Apex court in para-27 has observed as under:-

27. The powers possessed by the High Court under Section 482 of the Code are very wide and the very plenitude of the power requires great caution in its exercise. The Court must be careful to see that its decision in exercise of this power is based on sound principles. The inherent power should not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. The High Court should normally refrain from giving a prima facie decision in a case where all the facts are incomplete and hazy, more so, when the evidence has not been collected and produced before the Court and the issues involved, whether factual or legal, are of such magnitude that they cannot be seen in their true perspective without sufficient material. Of course, no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down in regard to cases in which the High Court will exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction of quashing the proceedings at any stage.

22. In Indian Oil Corporation Vs. NEPC India Ltd. and Ors.11 formulated guiding principles for exercise of power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. in following terms:-

"12. ... (i) A complaint can be quashed where the allegations made in the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out the case alleged against the accused. For this purpose, the complaint has to be examined as a whole, but without examining the merits of the allegations. Neither a detailed inquiry nor a meticulous analysis of the material nor an assessment of the reliability or genuineness of the allegations in the complaint, is warranted while examining prayer for quashing of a complaint.

(ii) A complaint may also be quashed where it is a clear abuse of the process of the court, as when the criminal proceeding is found to have been initiated with malafides/malice for wreaking vengeance or to cause harm, or where the allegations are absurd and inherently improbable.

(iii) The power to quash shall not, however, be used to stifle or scuttle a legitimate prosecution. The power should be used sparingly and with abundant caution.

(iv) The complaint is not required to verbatim reproduce the legal ingredients of the offence alleged. If the necessary factual foundation is laid in the complaint, merely on the ground that a few ingredients have not been stated in detail, the proceedings should not be quashed. Quashing of the complaint is warranted only where the complaint is so bereft of even the basic facts which are absolutely necessary for making out the offence.

(v) .."

23. In the State of M.P. Vs. Awadh Krishna Gupta and Ors.12, in para-11 it is held:-

"11. The powers possessed by the High Court under Section 482 of the Code are very wide and the very plenitude of the power requires great caution in its exercise. Court must be careful to see that its decision in exercise of this power is based on sound principles. The inherent power should not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. High Court being the highest Court of a State should normally refrain from giving a prima facie decision in a case where the entire facts are incomplete and hazy, more so when the evidence has not been collected and produced before the Court and the issues involved, whether factual or legal, are of magnitude and cannot be seen in their true perspective without sufficient material. Of course, no hard and fast rule can be laid down in regard to cases in which the High Court will exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction of quashing the proceeding at any stage.

In proceeding instituted on complaint, exercise of the inherent powers to quash the proceedings is called for only in a case where the complaint does not disclose any offence or is frivolous, vexatious or oppressive. If the allegations set out in the complaint do not constitute the offence of which cognizance has been taken by the Magistrate, it is open to the High Court to quash the same in exercise of the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code.

24. Further in G. Sagar Suri & Anr. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors.13 it is observed that it is the duty and obligation of the criminal court to exercise a great deal of caution in issuing the process, particularly when matters are essentially of civil nature.

25. At the very outset the present accused applicant in the complaint he is alleged individually or jointly with the other co-accused responsible for the offence punishable under Sections 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T Act, 2000, therefore, it is also imperative to examine the ingredients of the said offences and whether the allegations made in the complaint, read on their face, attract those offences under the penal code. Out of the aforesaid offences with which the present accused applicant "Bhavesh Jain" is arraigned if Section 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B I.P.C. are taken at first for the purpose of consideration.

26. Before proceeding with the discussion Section 415 of the I.P.C. which defines cheating needs to be quoted here below:-

"415. Cheating.--Whoever, by deceiving any person, fraudulently or dishonestly induces the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property, or intentionally induces the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body, mind, reputation or property, is said to "cheat"."

27. The Apex Court in Vijay Kumar Ghai and Ors. Vs. State of West Bengal & Ors. in Criminal Appeal No. 463 of 2022 decided on 22.3.2022 in para 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33 and 35 observed as under:-

"27. Section 415 of IPC define cheating which reads as under: -

"415. Cheating. --Whoever, by deceiving any person, fraudulently or dishonestly induces the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property, or intentionally induces the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body, mind, reputation or property, is said to "cheat"." The essential ingredients of the offense of cheating are:

1. Deception of any person

2. (a) Fraudulently or dishonestly inducing that person-

(i) to deliver any property to any person: or

(ii) to consent that any person shall retain any property; or

(b) intentionally inducing that person to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were no so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body,mind,reputation or property.

28. A fraudulent or dishonest inducement is an essential ingredient of the offence. A person who dishonestly induces another person to deliver any property is liable for the offence of cheating.

29. Section 420 IPC defines cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property which reads as under: -

"420. Cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property. --Whoever cheats and thereby dishonestly induces the person deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to make, alter or destroy the whole or any part of a valuable security, or anything which is signed or sealed, and which is capable of being converted into a valuable security, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine."

30. Section 420 IPC is a serious form of cheating that includes inducement (to lead or move someone to happen) in terms of delivery of property as well as valuable securities. This section is also applicable to matters where the destruction of the property is caused by the way of cheating or inducement. Punishment for cheating is provided under this section which may extend to 7 years and also makes the person liable to fine.

31. To establish the offence of Cheating in inducing the delivery of property, the following ingredients need to be proved:-

1. The representation made by the person was false

2. The accused had prior knowledge that the representation he made was false.

3. The accused made false representation with dishonest intention in order to deceive the person to whom it was made.

4. The act where the accused induced the person to deliver the property or to perform or to abstain from any act which the person would have not done or had otherwise committed.

32. As observed and held by this Court in the case of Prof. R.K. Vijayasarathy & Anr. Vs. Sudha Seetharam & Anr. 24 , the ingredients to constitute an offence under Section 420 are as follows:-

i) a person must commit the offence of cheating under Section 415;

and

ii) the person cheated must be dishonestly induced to;

a) deliver property to any person; or

b) make, alter or destroy valuable security or anything signed or sealed and capable of being converted into valuable security. Thus, cheating is an essential ingredient for an act to constitute an offence under Section 420 I.P.C.

33. The following observation made by this Court in the case of Uma Shankar Gopalika Vs. State of Bihar & Anr. 25 with almost similar facts and circumstances may be relevant to note at this stage:-

"6. Now the question to be examined by us is as to whether on the facts disclosed in the petition of the complaint any criminal offence whatsoever is made out much less offences under Section 420/120-B IPC. The only allegation in the complaint petitioner against the accused person is that they assured the complainant that when they receive the insurance claim amounting to Rs. 4,20,000, they would pay a sum of Rs. 2,60,000 to the complainant out of that but the same has never been paid. It was pointed out that on behalf of the complainant that the accused fraudulently persuaded the complainant to agree so that the accused persons may take steps for moving the consumer forum in relation to the claim of Rs. 4,20,0000. It is well settled that every breach of contract would not give rise to an offence of cheating and only in those cases of breach of contract would amount to cheating where there was any deception played at the very inception. If the intention to cheat has developed later on, the same cannot amount to cheating. In the present case, it has nowhere been stated that at the very inception that there was intention on behalf of the accused person to cheat which is a condition precedent for an offence under 420 IPC.

"7. In our view petition of complaint does not disclose any criminal offence at all much less any offence either under Section 420 or Section 120-B IPC and the present case is a case of purely civil dispute between the parties for which remedy lies before a civil court by filing a properly constituted suit. In our opinion, in view of these facts allowing the police investigation to continue would amount to an abuse of the process of court and to prevent the same it was just and expedient for the High Court to quash the same by exercising the powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C which it has erroneously refused."

35. In Vesa Holdings Pvt. Ltd. & Anr. Vs. State of Kerala & Ors. 27, this Court made the following observation:-

"13. It is true that a given set of facts may make out a civil wrong as also a criminal offence and only because a civil remedy may be available to the complainant that itself cannot be ground to quash a criminal proceeding. The real test is whether the allegations in the complaint disclose the criminal offence of cheating or not. In the present case, there is nothing to show that at the very inception there was any inception on behalf of an accused person to cheat which is a condition precedent for an offence u/s 420 IPC. In our view, the complaint does not disclose any criminal offence at all. Criminal proceedings should not be encouraged when it is found to be mala fide or otherwise an abuse of the process of the courts. Superior courts while exercising this power should also strive to serve the ends of justice. In our opinion, in view of these facts allowing the police investigation to continue would amount to an abuse of the process of the court and the High Court committed an error in refusing to exercise the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C to quash the proceedings."

28. Having gone through the complaint/FIR and even the charge sheet it cannot be said that avernments made therein bear the allegations against the present accused applicant have prima facie constituted an offence under Section 420 I.P.C., even in a case where allegations are made in regard to the irregularity and illegality committed by the company as a whole in the process of recruitment through

C.B.T. The role and responsibility with which the present accused applicant is entrusted has nowhere his access to the primary datas filled in the prescribed fields of the website, therefore, in the absence of a culpable role no offence under Section 420 I.P.C. said to have been made out. In the instant case there is no material to indicate that the present accused applicant had any malafide intention against the U.P. Jal Nigam or the candidates appearing in the C.B.T. or against the unsuccessful candidates who appeared in the C.B.T. and some malafide intention or undue favour with regard to the some illegal gaining undue benefit from the successful candidates in exclusion to other candidates.

29. For easy reference sections 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. are quoted hereunder:-

467. Forgery of valuable security, will, etc.--Whoever forges a document which purports to be a valuable security or a will, or an authority to adopt a son, or which purports to give authority to any person to make or transfer any valuable security, or to receive the principal, interest or dividends thereon, or to receive or deliver any money, movable property, or valuable security, or any document purporting to be an acquittance or receipt acknowledging the payment of money, or an acquittance or receipt for the delivery of any movable property or valuable security, shall be punished with 1[imprisonment for life], or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine.

468. Forgery for purpose of cheating.--Whoever commits forgery, intending that the 1[document or electronic record forged] shall be used for the purpose of cheating, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

471. Whoever fraudulently or dishonestly uses as genuine any document which he knows or has reason to believe to be a forged document, shall be punished in the same manner as if he had forged such document.

30. On perusal of the impugned order dated 9.9.2021 passed by the Special Judge, Anti Corruption (C.B.I.), Central, Lucknow, it is simply stated therein that cognizance of offences under Section 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B I.P.C. read with Section 66 of the I.T. Act, 2000 is taken on the basis of oral and documentary evidences.

31. Before considering the allegations or facts prima facie constituting the offences under Sections 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. it would be pertinent to go into the definition of forgery as defined under Section 463 I.P.C. For easy reference Section 463 I.P.C. is quoted hereunder:-

"463. Forgery- Whoever makes any false documents or false electronic record or part of a document or electronic record, with intent to cause damage or injury, to the public or to any person, or to support any claim or title, or to cause any person to part with property, or to enter into any express or implied contract, or with intent to commit fraud or that fraud may be committed, commits forgery."

The essential ingredients of offence under Section 463 I.P.C. are-

(1) A person makes any document or part of a document.

(2) The document or false electronic record or part of the document or electronic record must be false.

(3) With intention-

(a) to cause damage or injury to the public or any person; or

(b) to support any claim or title; or

(c) to cause any person to part with his property; or

(d) to enter into any express or implied contract to commit any fraud or that fraud may be committed.

In furtherance of above essential ingredients the making of false document is also defined under Section 464 of the I.P.C. according to which dishonest or fraudulent-

(i) making of the false document or false electronic record, signs, seals or executes a document or part of a document.

(ii) making or transmitting any electronic record or part of any electronic record.

(iii) affixing any digital signature on any electronic record.

(iv) making any mark denoting the execution of a document or the authenticity of the electronic signature.

Section 467 I.P.C. contemplates forgery of documents which purports to be a valuable security or a will, or an authority to adopt a son, or which purports to give authority to any person to make or transfer any valuable security ..... to receive or deliver any money, movable property or valuable security ..... or receipt acknowledging the payment of money. Likewise who ever fraudulently or dishonestly uses as genuine any document or any electronic record which he knows or has reason to believe to be a forged document or electronic record.

32. No evidence, oral or documentary, is referred in the impugned order of taking cognizance of the charge sheet which also did not include the evidence as to the applicant's alleged or suspected role of execution, making any false document or false electronic record by making signature, putting seals or transmitting any electronic record wholly or partly or affixing any e-signature on any electronic record or making any mark denoting the execution of any document specifically assigned to have been committed individually or in connivance with any of the other accused persons. Even no specific allegation is made in the complaint. The documentary evidence in the form of statement of present accused-applicant recorded by the Investigating Officer of S.I.T. and the list of employees engaged by the Aptech company in the project of U.P. Jal Nigam for conducting the C.B.T. to select and recruit R.G.C., J.E. and A.E. on 1300 posts. The said record specifically refers the role to present accused applicant at Sr. No.7 as Manager- Software Development, responsible for development support for U.P. Jal Nigam Project from May 2016 to November 2016.

33. There is no further evidence as to any other acts assigned to or done by the present accused-applicant, "Bhavesh Jain" except the development of software and handing over them to the other responsible employees of Aptech company referred in the document dated 4.9.2019, Annexure No.3 to the counter affidavit.

34. Even prima facie evidence also is not on record against the present accused-applicant with regard to his access in any capacity to the website for making relevant entries or deleting the primary datas filled by other responsible employees in the prescribed fields of the website developed by him. The work of entry is assigned to Vishwajeet Singh at Sr. No.2, Jitendra Dixit at Sr. No.8, Kuldeep Negi at Sr. No.16 and Ashok Utpreti at Sr. No.17 in annexure no.3 of the counter affidavit, shown responsible for operation and delivery of contracted project of the U.P. Jal Nigam, application management and candidates' scheduling and preparing the merit list of the R.G.C's, A.E.'s and J.E.'s in the project individually and collectively. Except the aforesaid document which is annexed to the counter affidavit as Annexure No.3 no other documentary evidence specifying the role of present accused-applicant and activities done by him under the project is included in the charge sheet, submitted by the Investigating Officer before the court concerned, after completing the investigation.

35. The Special Court (C.B.I.) has, thus correctly did not take cognizance vide its first order dated 15.7.2021 of offences against the present accused in issue, and took cognizance on the basis of available evidences only against Md. Azam Khan, Girish Chandra Srivastava, Neeraj Malik, Vishwajeet Singh, Ajay Kumar Yadav, Santosh Kumar Rastogi, Roshan Fernandeez and Kuldeep Singh Negi, in various provisions of the I.P.C. and Information Technology Act, 2000 and Section 13 of the Anti Corruption Act. Peculiarly enough subsequent to the submission of first charge sheet, though no further or new evidences were collected by the Investigating Officer but the supplementary charge-sheet dated 12.8.2021 was brought on record, placed before the concerned court which without applying it's mind took cognizance vide the impugned summoning order dated 9.9.2021, against the present accused-applicant also.

36. This would be important to refer an admitted fact, that present accused-applicant was never posted in Lucknow, his place of posting was in Bombay. Neither there is allegation nor evidence oral or documentary with regard to any premeditated plan between the applicant and other accused persons to assist in the forgery alleged to have been committed by the two companies, U.P. Jal Nigam and Aptech India Ltd. in connivance with each other. Two companies were under a contract executed legally to conduct examination through C.B.T. for recruitment of employees on 1300 posts of R.G.C., J.E. and A.E. in U.P. Jal Nigam. It is alleged in the affidavit in support of the application and also in counter affidavit, that irregularities and illegalities were committed in execution of the works performed under the contract by both the parties to the contract, in breach of the conditions stipulated in the contract. Higher officials of both the corporations are alleged and found prima facie to have breached the conditions under the contract knowingly, willfully and dishonestly, but no civil action or departmental disciplinary inquiry, if taken, are brought on the record with their conclusions. In the absence of any prima facie evidence on record of the charge sheet and in the counter affidavit of the opposite parties also, so as to gather inference of the suspected involvement of the present accused-applicant in conspiracy with any of the officers, officials and employees, found prima facie guilty in committing the irregularities and illegalities in the process of recruitment process under the contract. It seems that the present accused-applicant unnecessarily brought into the next of implication without logical and legal reasons and basis.

37. Thus, the facts mentioned in the complaint and in both the charge sheets submitted by the Investigating Officer of the S.I.T. are not disclosing the commission of any cognizable offence under the relevant sections of the I.P.C. with which the present accused-applicant is arraigned and, therefore, the cause of action clearly arose for him to challenge the continuance of criminal proceeding in the impugned order of cognizance dated 9.9.2021.

38. In view of the above facts and discussions the impugned summoning order dated 9.9.2021 passed by the learned Special Court, Anti-corruption, C.B.I. Central, Lucknow is set aside to the extent of the applicant "Bhavesh Jain" and all the orders passed in furtherance whereof and the entire subsequent proceedings in Sessions Case No. 752 of 2021 (C.B.I. Vs. Mohd. Azam Khan, etc.) under Sections 201, 204, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B I.P.C. and Section 66 of the I.T Act, 2000 against the accused applicant arising out of F.I.R. lodged on 25.4.2018 bearing No.2 of 2018 registered at Police Station- S.I.T. Sadar, Lucknow pending in the court of learned Special Court, Anti-Corruption, C.B.I. (Central), Lucknow to the extent of present accused applicant "Bhavesh Jain" are quashed.

39. Accordingly, the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. The petition has been filed under Section 482 CrPC for quashing proceeding of Sessions Trial No.6 of 2018 State versus Sonu alias Santosh and others vide case crime No.279 of 2017 under section 3(1) of U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, P.S. Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur as regards the petitioner as well as the charge sheet dated 25.5.2018 and summoning order dated 28.5.2018.

2. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. for the State.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner is permitted to delete respondent No.2 from the array of parties, during course of the day.

4. Facts of the case are that a first information report was registered against the petitioner. As per the first information report, while the complainant was on patrolling duty on 27.5.2017, during patrolling, he came to know that Sonu Singh alias Santosh Singh resident of district Jaunpur is a desperate criminal and is having an organised gang. He is a gang leader and he along with Ajeet Yadav, Deepak Mishra, Sandeep Mishra, Praeep Mishra, Raghunayak Dubey, Anil Pandey alias Santu and Ezajullah are active members of gang.

It has also been alleged that the gang has created a terror in districts Sultanpur, Jaunpur, Ghazipur and other districts and to earn economic and physical benefits, they are habitual for committing offences given under Chapters XVI, XVII and XXII of the Indian Penal Code. It is further alleged that the gang leader Sonu Singh alias Santosh Singh and Ajeet Yadav used to commit contract killing and on 8.2.2017 with active support of other members of the gang, they have committed murder of prestigious businessman Bharat Bhushan Mishra. To curve the increasing anti social activities of the gang, gang chart has been approved by the District Magistrate, Sultanpur on 26.5.2017.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that merely on the basis of two cases, i.e. Case Crime No.63 of 2017 under sections 302, 34, 120-B I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur and Case Crime No.153 of 2017 under sections 504, 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur, U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 has been imposed against the petitioner.

It is next submitted that in case Crime No.63 of 2017 (supra), the petitioner has been granted bail vide order dated 25.5.2017 and before the petitioner could be released from jail in compliance of the order, in order to nullify the bail order granted in favour of the petitioner, with ulterior motive, the police of police station Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur has falsely prepared the gang chart on 26.5.2017 which is one day after the bail order was passed, in a mechanical manner in utter haste and without examining the material on record by the authorities.

It is submitted that preparing of the gang chart in a mechanical manner and in haste and the manner in which it has been approved is evident from the fact that the Station Officer of police station Kotwali, district Sultapur has forwarded the gang chart on 26.5.2017. The Circle Officer received the gang chart on the same day and he also signed it on 26.5.2017 which was forwarded to the Addl. Superintendent of Police, Superintendent of Police and District Magistrate, Sultanpur. All the authorities have signed the gang chart on the same day, including the District Magistrate, Sultanpur who approved it on the very same day, i.e. on 26.5.2017. It is submitted that the entire exercise has been done in haste and without application of mind.

In this context, learned counsel has relied on Ram Raheesh and another versus State of U.P. and others (2011)73 ACC 559 in which this court has deprecated the practice of recommending and forwarding the gang chart and approving it on the same day and held that before granting approval to the gang chart, subjective satisfaction of the District Magistrate is required. Relevant paragraph 12 is extracted below :

"12. Having considered the submissions made by the learned Counsel for the parties, we, prima facie are of the view that the gang chart has been approved in a mechanical manner by the District Magistrate and the said decision to lodge the FIR on that basis has been taken in haste. The haste with which, without examining the material on record by the authorities concerned, Gang chart has been approved is evident from the fact that on 15.10.2010 Inspector, Kotwali prepared the Gang chart and submitted to the Circle Officer, Hardoi City for approval. On the same day, he referred the matter to the Additional Superintendent of Police, Hardoi, who in turn, on the same day referred the matter to the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi. The Superintendent of Police, Hardoi made a note dated 15.10.2010 "recommended" and forwarded the gang chart to the District Magistrate, who in his turn, approved the gang chart on the same day i.e. 15.10. 2010. Thus it cannot be said that the District Magistrate at any point of time recorded subjective satisfaction before imposition of the Gangsters Act."

It is next submitted that in the gang chart, there are two cases imposed against the petitioner. In Case Crime No.153 of 2017 under sections 504, 506 I.P.C., the petitioner has no concern, at all. The case has wrongly been shown against the petitioner which again shows total non-application of mind of the district authorities. The fact that the petitioner has no concern with case crime No.153 of 2017 has been admitted by the State in para 12 of the counter affidavit.

As regards other case, i.e. case crime No.63 of 2017 (supra), charge sheet has been prepared on 25.5.2017 and according to 'Z' register, (register which records forwarding of the charge sheet to the concerned Judicial Magistrate), the same was forwarded to the Magistrate on 23.6.2017 and the cognizance was taken by the Magistrate on the same day, i.e. on 23.6.2017.

It is further submitted that according to para 12 of the circular dated 18.9.2012, issued by the Director General of Police, U.P. No.42 of 2012, only those cases should be shown in gang chart in which charge sheet has been filed.

In the case in hand, the gang chart was prepared on 26.5.2017 and at the time of preparation of gang chart, it is admitted case that no charge sheet was submitted before the court and was lying before the police authorities. It is submitted that out of two cases shown in the gang chart, as referred to above, the petitioner has no concern as regards Case Crime No.153 of 2017 (supra) and in other case, i.e. in Case Crime No.63 of 2017, charge-sheet was yet to be forwarded to the court below at the time of preparation of gang chart.

In support of his contention, learned counsel has relied on Matchumari China Venkatareddy and others versus State of A.P. 1994 Crl. L.J. 257 in which it has been held that unless the court takes the charge sheet on record for examination for taking cognizance or not, it cannot be said that a police report (charge sheet) is filed as contemplated under section 173(2) CrPC.

In support of his argument, learned counsel has further relied on Master Alias Ramzan versus State of U.P. AIR Online 2020 All 2766 (relevant para 11), in which it has been held that only those cases shall be included in the gang chart in which the police has prepared charge sheet and the same has been filed before the court concerned.

It is submitted that in the present case, at the time of preparation of the gang chart on 26.5.2017, charge sheet in case crime No.63 of 2017 (supra) was still lying with the police authorities. It is submitted that the entire exercise of preparation of the gang chart and lodging of the first information report is malicious which is evident from the fact that as per the first information report lodged on 27.5.2017 with the allegation that when the then Inspector Incharge of police Station Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur Mr. Chandrashekhar Singh was on patrolling duty, then he came to know about the gang of the petitioner and the fact that the petitioner is a gang leader, whereas one day prior to it, entire exercise of preparation of the gang charge was completed by the police authorities.

It is also submitted that although the gang chart was prepared and charge sheet has been filed in haste against the petitioner. It is submitted that in the entire investigation, the investigating officer did not show that while allegedly committing the offence, the petitioner gained any advantage like temporal, pecuniary or other advantage. No such material of any sort has been collected by the investigating officer. Counter affidavit filed by the State is also silent in this regard. .

Learned counsel has further relied on Ashok Kumar Dixit versus State of U.P. AIR 1987 All. 235 (relevant para 75), in which this Court has observed that the provision of the Gangsters Act cannot be used as a weapon to wreak vengeance to harass the accused.

6. Section 2 of the Gangsters Act defines the gang as under :

"2. .....

(b) "Gang" means a group of persons, who acting either singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in anti-social activities, namely-

(i) offences punishable under Chapter XVI or Chapter XVII or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or

(ii) distilling or manufacturing or .storing or transporting or importing or exporting or selling or distributing any liquor, or intoxicating or dangerous drugs, or other intoxicants or narcotics or cultivating any plant, in contravention of any of the provisions of the U.P. Excise Act, 1910 (U.P. Act No. 4 of 1910), or the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (Act No. 61 of 1985), or any other law for the time being in force, or

(iii) occupying or taking possession of immovable property otherwise than in accordance with law, or setting-up false claims for title or possession of immovable property whether in himself or any other person, or

(iv) preventing or attempting to prevent any public servant or any witness from discharging his lawful duties, or

(v) offences punishable under the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 (Act No. 104 of 1956), or

(vi) offences punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (Act No. 3 of 1867), or

(vii) preventing any person from offering bids in auction lawfully conducted, or tender, lawfully invited, by or on behalf of any Government department, local body or public or private undertaking, for any lease or rights or supply of goods or work to be done, or

(viii) preventing or disturbing the smooth running by any person of his lawful business, profession, trade or employment or any other lawful activity connected therewith, or

(ix) offences punishable under Section 171-E of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or in preventing or obstructing any public election being lawfully held, by physically preventing the voter from exercising his electoral rights, or

(x) inciting others to resort to violence to disturb communal harmony, or

(xi) creating panic, alarm or terror in public, or

(xii) terrorising or assaulting employees or owners or occupiers of public or private undertakings or factories and causing mischief in respect of their properties, or

(xiii) inducing or attempting to induce any person to go to foreign countries on false representation that any employment, trade or profession shall be provided to him in such foreign country, or

(xiv) kidnapping or abducting any person with intent to extort ransom, or

(xv) diverting or otherwise preventing any aircraft or public transport vehicle from following its scheduled course;

[(xvi) offences punishable under the Regulation of Money Lending Act, 1976;

(xvii) illegally transporting and/or smuggling of cattle and indulging in acts in contravention of the provisions in the Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 and the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960;

(xviii) human trafficking for purposes of commercial exploitation, bonded labour, child labour, sexual exploitation, organ removing and trafficking, beggary and the like activities.

(xix) offences punishable under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1966:

(xx) printing, transporting and circulating of fake Indian currency notes;

(xxi) involving in production, sale and distribution of spurious drugs;

(xxii) involving in manufacture, sale and transportation of arms and ammunition in contravention of Sections 5, 7 and 12 of the Arms Act, 1959;

(xxiii) felling or killing for economic gains, smuggling of products in contravention of the Indian Forest Act, 1927 and Wildlife Protection Act, 1972;

(xxiv) offences punishable under the Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979;

(xvv) indulging in crimes that impact security of State, public order and even tempo of life.]

(c) "gangster" means a member or leader or organiser of a gang and includes any person who abets or assists in the activities of a gang enumerated in clause (b), whether before or after the commission of such activities or harbours any person who has indulged in such activities;

(d) "public servant" means a public servant as defined in Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or any other law for the time being in force, and includes any person who lawfully assists the police or other authorities of the State, in investigation or prosecution or punishment of an offence punishable under this Act, whether by giving information or evidence relating to such offence or offender or in any other manner;

(e) "member of the family of a public servant" means his parents or spouse and brother, sister, son, daughter, grandson, granddaughter or the spouses of any of them, and includes a person dependent on or residing with the public servant and a pen on in whose welfare the public servant is interested;

(f) words and phrases used but not defined in this Act and defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, or the Indian Penal Code shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in such Codes."

7. A perusal of the definition shows that if an offence punishable under Chapter XVI or Chapter XVII or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code is committed, in order to gain any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage , then on account of such activity by use of violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order, such a person is held to be indulged in anti-social activities. To bring the accused in the definition of Gangster, the very motive of such accused for committing the offence is relevant. The material collected by the investigating officer must reveal that there was a motive of making wrongful economic gain while committing the crime.

In the present case, this court has noted that although the accused are facing the charge of committing murder, however, there is no material to show that they have committed the crime in order to derive any wrongful economic gain.

8. It is admitted case of the State that the accused petitioner has no concern with case crime No.153 of 2017 (supra), as admitted in para 12 of the counter affidavit. It is also admitted case of the State that when the gang chart was prepared, charge sheet was not forwarded by the police authorities, rather it was forwarded to the court concerned on 25.6.2017. In this context, learned counsel has produced an information sought under Right to Information Act which is taken on record and it also shows that the charge sheet has been filed in the court on 23.6.2017 for the first time. Therefore, in view of the law laid down by this court in the case of Master Alias Ramzan (supra), the said charge sheet which was yet to be filed in the court could not have been considered for the purpose of preparation of the gang chart.

9. Considering the argument advanced by the petitioner's counsel as well as learned A.G.A. for the State as also going through the entire material on record and the case laws referred to herein above, I am of the view that the petition is liable to be and is hereby allowed.

The impugned proceedings of Sessions Trial No.6 of 2018 State versus Sonu alias Santosh and others vide case crime No.279 of 2017 under section 3(1) of U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, P.S. Kotwali Nagar, district Sultanpur as regards the petitioner as well as the charge sheet dated 25.5.2018 and summoning order dated 28.5.2018 are quashed. However, it shall be open for the competent authority to proceed against the petitioner as per law.

List of Cases cited: -

1. Mohammad Shafi Vs St. & ors. (AIR 1953 All 667),

2. Rajbir Vs St. of Har. (1996 Vol. 7 SCC 86),

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Kumar Srivastava-I, J.)

1. Sri S.N. Singh Gaherwar, Advocate has put in appearance on behalf of opposite party No.2 by filing his vakalatnama in Court today, which is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Tung Nath Tiwari, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State, Sri S.N. Singh Gaherwar, learned counsel for opposite party No.2 and perused the entire record.

3. By means of instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., the applicant seeks for quashing the order dated 25.05.2022 passed by the learned Special Judge (Ayurved Scam Matter), Lucknow in Sessions Trial No.474 of 1997 (State of U.P. vs. Ashwani Kumar Mishra) and for permitting him to cross examine the prosecution witness, Surendra Prakash Tripathi and also to summon Nomilal and Dwarika as witnesses.

4. From a perusal of record, it transpires that Sessions Trial No.474 of 1997 (State of U.P. vs. Ashwani Kumar Mishra) is pending in the court of Special Judge (Ayurved Scam Matter), Lucknow. In the aforesaid Session Trial, the present accused/applicant, Ashwani Kumar (Mishra) moved an application dated 21.05.2022, under Section 311 Cr.P.C. praying to recall PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi and also praying for summoning witnesses, namely, Nomilal and Dwarika as they are independent witnesses who were not examined by the prosecution in exercise of their right of adducing prosecution evidence.

5. This application dated 21.05.2022, which was moved under Section 311 Cr.P.C., came to be rejected by the learned trial court by a detailed impugned order dated 25.05.2022.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi is alleged to have been present on the spot and have witnessed the incident-in-question. He contends that the accused/applicant, Ashwani Kumar (Mishra) did not get opportunity to cross examine PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi which would cause him prejudice as it would amount to denial of opportunity of fair trial to him.

7. His further submission is that though the order sheet would reveal that the opportunity of cross-examination for accused/applicant, Ashwani Kumar (Mishra) was closed by the then learned trial judge with the endorsement that learned counsel for the accused/applicant has stated to adopt the detailed cross-examination done by the other accused persons. However, no such written consent was given by his counsel. Therefore, denial of opportunity of cross-examination to the present accused/applicant which would cause prejudice to him.

8. Learned counsel for the accused/applicant has also submitted that all the witnesses produced by the prosecution are interested witnesses. Therefore, the prosecution ought to have produced Nomilal and Dwarika as independent witnesses whose names find mention in the charge sheet.

9. Per contra, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State has vehemently opposed the prayer for grant of relief prayed for by submitting that the trial of aforesaid Sessions Trial is pending since the year 1997. Reasonable opportunity was afforded to all the accused persons including the present accused/applicant, Ashwani Kumar (Mishra) and only thereafter, when the learned counsel for the accused/applicant adopted the cross-examination done by other accused persons, the opportunity of cross-examination of PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi came to be closed. This application, at a belated stage, has been moved malafidely and with a view to stall the proceeding.

10. His further submission is that the prosecution cannot be compelled to produce any particular witness. In support of its case, the prosecution has examined the witnesses whom the public prosecutor thought proper to get examined in order to bring home guilt of the accused persons including the present applicant. Therefore, the prosecution cannot be compelled to produce any such witness. He has, thus, prayed for dismissal of the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

11. Having heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State, learned counsel for opposite party No.2 an upon perusal of record, it transpires that the statement of PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi was recorded by the learned trial court in three stretches. His examination-in-chief was recorded on 02.02.2000, 19.07.2001 and 20.07.2001. It also transpires from perusal of order sheet dated 20.07.2001 that the learned trial court has made a specific endorsement that the cross-examination of PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi, which was done on behalf of co-accused, namely, Jata Shankar and Shravan Kumar, is being adopted by learned counsel for the applicant. Therefore, it was, accordingly, endorsed at the bottom of the statement of PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi which, thus, stood closed.

12. In the aforesaid background, this Court finds that a belated attempt is being made on behalf of the accused/applicant, Ashwani Kumar (Mishra) by making a prayer to recall PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi whose examination-in-chief has already been recorded and who was cross-examined in detail on behalf of co-accused, Jata Shankar and Shravan Kumar and which was adopted by the learned counsel for the present accused/applicant and co-accused, Pramod Kumar. Therefore, this is nothing but an attempt to stall trial of a case which is pending since the year 1997. It is also an abuse of process of the Court.

13. This matter may be view from another angle also. This Court in Mohammad Shafi vs. State and others reported in AIR 1953 All 667, while interpreting scope and an ambit of Section 540 of old Cr.P.C. (corresponding to Section 311 Cr.P.C., 1973) has held that this section does not confer a right to any party to examine, cross-examine or reexamine any witness. It is entirely discretionary in the Court, in the interest of justice to take action or not to take action under this section. It is relevant to mention that Section 540 of the old Cr.P.C. corresponds to present Section 311 Cr.P.C.

14. It is indeed disquieting that in the application dated 21.05.2022 moved by the accused/applicant before the learned trial court for recalling PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi for cross-examination, a copy of which is annexed as Annexure No.5 to the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. There is no mention of any question which was to be put to the witness, PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi and which was not covered by the detailed cross-examination of PW-3 which was done on behalf of the co-accused, Jata Shankar and Shravan Kumar and which ultimately came to be adopted for the present accused/applicant also by his learned counsel. Therefore, the exercise of moving an application by the accused/applicant in the form of application dated 21.05.2022 for recall of cross-examination of PW-3, Surendra Prakash Tripathi after about a lapse of twenty one years is nothing but a belated mala fide attempt on behalf of the present accused/applicant to stall the proceeding of aforesaid Session Trial. The same was, thus, rightly declined by the learned trial court.

15. So far as the question of summoning prosecution witnesses, namely, Nomilal and Dwarika, who were mentioned as witnesses in the charge sheet in this matter is concerned, it appears from records that the prosecution after producing witnesses, whom they wanted to produce, has closed its evidence. Thereafter, statements of applicant and another co-accused have already been recorded by the learned trial court under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

16. Section 231 Cr.P.C. provides as under:-

"231. Evidence for prosecution.--(1) On the date so fixed, the Judge shall proceed to take all such evidence as may be produced in support of the prosecution.

2) The Judge may, in his discretion, permit the cross-examination of any witness to be deferred until any other witness or witnesses have been examined or recall any witness for further cross-examination."

17. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajbir vs. State of Haryana reported in (1996) 7 SCC 86 in Para-6 has held as under:-

"6. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that non-examination of Shri Mool Chand jain and Shri Makharia who, according to the prosecution case, were present along with Shri Banarsi Das Gupta, PW 17 and sitting on the sofa has created a doubt on the correctness of the prosecution case. Learned counsel further stated that the non-examination of Pawan Kumar, who had snatched the pistol from the appellant was a serious infirmity in the prosecution case and therefore the conviction of the appellant could not be sustained. We cannot agree. It is elementary that the prosecution is not bound to call each and every witness of an occurrence irrespective of the consideration whether such witness is essential to the unfolding of the narrative on which the prosecution case is based. The prosecution has examined all material witnesses. PW 17 Shri Banarsi Das Gupta is the injured witness. PW 18 and PW 19 had caught hold of the appellant at the spot and handed him over to the police. PW 20 had deposed about the motive. The non-examination of Mool Chand Jain or P.D. Makharia, therefore does not in any way affect the correctness of the prosecution case."

18. Therefore, once the prosecution has chosen to close its evidence after producing the witnesses whom they wanted to produce, it is none of the right of the accused to seek their recall on the ground that prosecution ought to have produced them in order to prove its case.

19. On the basis of foregoing discussions, this Court is of the considered view that the impugned order does not suffer from any illegality or irregularity. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is devoid of merit which is, accordingly, dismissed.

20. Let a copy of this order be sent to the concerned learned trial court by the Office for information, forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Neelu Singh Chauhan, learned counsel for the applicant as well as Sri Rao Narendra Singh, learned A.G.A.-I for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicants with a prayer to quash the entire criminal proceedings of Case No. 15605/2021: State Vs. Sangam Lal, arising out of Case Crime No. 227/2020, under Section 3/7 E.C. Act, Police Station Mileriya, District Raebareli, pending in the court of A.C.J.M.-I, Raebareli as well as to quash the charge sheet no.01 dated 08.06.2021 by which the learned court below has taken the cognizance against the applicant and to quash the summoning order dated 12.08.2021 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-I, Raebareli.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant is a licensee of fair price shop at Village-Taj pur Amrawa, Police Station Mileriya, Tehsil, Sadar, District Raibareli and on 19.06.2020 the opposite party no.3- Supply Inspector, Mahrajganj, District Raebareli made a spot inspection of the shop of the applicant and without counting the bags of wheat and rice, he made a forged report before the opposite party no.5-Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, District Raebareli against the applicant only on the basis of oral statements of the card holders because the applicant could not fulfill the illegal demands of the Supply Inspector.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the Regional Supply Inspector, Sadar Raebareli submitted its inquiry report on 19.06.2020 before the District Supply Officer and the District Supply Officer without approval of the District Officer suspended the licence of the applicant's fair price shop.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that after suspending the licence of the applicant's fair price shop, the Supply Inspector lodged the F.I.R. against the applicant on 24.06.2020 at Police Station Mileriya, District Raebareli under Section 3/7 Essential Commodities Act, 1955, which was registered as Case Crime No. 0227/2020.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the opposite party no.3 submitted the charge sheet dated 08.06.2021 against the applicant before the learned court below and in pursuance of the charge-sheet the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate has taken cognizance on 12.08.2021 without application of mind and summoned the applicant, while no case is made out against the applicant and the cognizance was taken on the printed proforma by filling the sections of IPC, dates and number and in the said proforma the learned Magistrate without assigning any reason has summoned the applicants for facing trial. Copy of the cognizance order is also annexed as Annexure No.A1 to the affidavit.

7. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that the entire prosecution story is false. No such incident took place and the applicants have been falsely implicated in the present case.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that by the order dated 12.08.2021 cognizance taken by the learned Magistrate on printed proforma without assigning any reason is abuse of process of law and the same was without application of mind and was in a routine manner.

9. Learned counsel for the applicants further submits that after submission of charge sheet and cognizance order on printed proforma, the applicants have been summoned mechanically by order dated 12.08.2021 and the court below while summoning the applicants has materially erred and did not follow the dictum of law as propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in various cases that summoning in criminal case is a serious matter and the court below without dwelling into material and visualizing the case on the touch stone of probability should not summon accused person to face criminal trial. It is further submitted that the court below has not taken into consideration the material placed before the trial court along with charge sheet and, therefore, the trial court has materially erred in summoning the applicant. The court below has summoned the applicant through a printed order, which is wholly illegal.

10. It is vehemently urged by learned counsel for the applicant that the impugned cognizance/summoning order dated 12.08.2021 is not sustainable in the eye of law, as the same has been passed in mechanical manner without applying the judicial mind, because on the face of record itself it is apparent that impugned cognizance/summoning order dated 12.08.2021 has been passed by the Magistrate concerned on printed proforma by filling up the gaps, therefore the same is liable to be quashed by this Court.

11. Learned counsel for the applicants has given much emphasis that if the cognizance has been taken on the printed proforma, the same is not sustainable.

12. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the State submitted that considering the material evidences and allegations against the applicants on record, as on date, as per prosecution case, the cognizable offence against the applicants is made out, therefore, application is liable to be dismissed but has not denied that the leaned Magistrate has taken cognizance on the printed proforma. Accordingly, this case is being finally decided at this stage without issuing notice to opposite party no.2 and without calling for a counter affidavit.

13. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

14. The main issue for consideration before this Court is that whether the learned Magistrate may summon the accused person on a printed proforma without assigning any reason and take cognizance on police report filed under Sections 173 of Cr.P.C. In this regard, it is relevant to mention here that a Court can take cognizance of an offence only when condition requisite for initiation of proceedings before it as set out in Chapter XIV of the Code are fulfilled. Otherwise, the Court does not obtain jurisdiction to try the offences under section 190 (1) of the Cr.P.C. provided that "subject to the provisions of this Chapter, any Magistrate of the first class, and any Magistrate of the second class specially empowered in this behalf under sub-section (2), may take cognizance of any offence-

(a) upon receiving a complaint of facts which constitute such offence,

(b) upon a police report of such facts;

(c) upon information received from any person other than a police officer, or upon his own knowledge, that such offence has been committed.

(2) The Chief Judicial Magistrate may empower any Magistrate of the second class to take cognizance under sub-section (1) of such offences as are within his competence to inquire into or try."

15. At this juncture, it is fruitful to have a look so far as the law pertaining to summoning of the accused persons, by taking cognizance on a police report filed under section 173 of the Cr.P.C., is concerned and the perusal of the case law mentioned herein below would clearly reveal that cognizance of an offence on complaint is taken for the purpose of issuing process to the accused. Since, it is a process of taking judicial notice of certain facts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind as to whether the material collected by the Investigating Officer results in sufficient grounds to proceed further and would constitute violation of law so as to call a person to appear before the criminal court to face trial. This discretion puts a responsibility on the magistrate concerned to act judiciously keeping in view the facts of the particular case as well as the law on the subject and the orders of Magistrate does not suffers from non-application of judicial mind while taking cognizance of the offence.

16. Fair and proper investigation is the primary duty of the Investigating Officer. No investigating agency can take unduly long time in completing investigation. There is implicit right under Article 21 for speedy trial which in turn encompasses speedy investigation, inquiry, appeal, revision and retrial. There is clear need for time line in completing investigation for having in-house oversight mechanism wherein accountability for adhering to lay down timeline, can be fixed at different levels in the hierarchy, vide Dilawar vs. State of Haryana, (2018) 16 SCC 521, Menka Gandhi vs. Union of India, AIR 1978 SC 597, Hussainara Khatoon (I) vs. State of Bihar, (1980)1 SCC 81, Abdul Rehman Antulay vs. R.S. Nayak, (1992) 1 SCC 225 and P. Ramchandra Rao vs. State of Karnatka, (2002) 4 SCC 578.

17. For the purposes of investigation, offences are divided into two categories "cognizable" and "non-cognizable". When information of a cognizable offence is received or such commission is suspected, the proper police officer has the authority to enter in the investigation of the same but where the information relates to a non-cognizable offence, he shall not investigate it without the order of the competent Magistrate. Investigation includes all the proceedings under the Cr.P.C. for the collection of evidence conducted by a police officer or by any person other than a Magistrate (who is authorised by a Magistrate in his behalf). Investigation consists of steps, namely (i) proceeding to spot, (ii) ascertainment of the facts and circumstances of the case, (iii) discovery and arrest of the suspected offender, (iv) collection of evidence relating to the commission of the offence and (v) formation of opinion as to whether on the material collected therein to place the accused before a Magistrate for trial and if so to take necessary steps for the same by filing a charge sheet under Section 173, Cr.P.C., vide H.N. Rishbud vs. State of Delhi, AIR 1955 SC 196. Thereafter, the learned Magistrate has to take cognizance after application of judicial mind and by reasoned order and not in mechanical manner.

18. In the case of Bhushan Kumar and Anr. v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Anr., AIR 2012 SC 1747, the Hon'ble Apex Court was pleased to observe that section 204 of the Code does not mandate the Magistrate to explicitly state the reasons for issuance of summons. It clearly states that if in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceedIn the case of Basaruddin & others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (1) JIC 335 (All)(LB), the Hon'ble Court was pleased to observed as under:-

"From a perusal of the impugned order, it appears that the learned Magistrate on the complaint filed by the complainant has summoned the accused in a mechanical way filling the date in the typed proforma. Learned Magistrate while taking cognizance of the offence on complaint was expected to go through the allegations made in the complaint and to satisfy himself as to which offences were prima facies, being made out against the accused on basis of allegations made in the complaint. It appears that the learned Magistrate did not bother to go through the allegations made in the complaint and ascertain as to what offences were, prima facie, being made out against the accused on the basis of allegations made in the complaint. Apparently, the impugned order passed by the learned Magistrate suffers from non-application of mind while taking cognizance of the offence. The impugned order is not well reasoned order, therefore, the same is liable to be quashed and the petition deserves to be allowed and the matter may be remanded back to the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lakhimpur Kheri with direction to him to go through the allegations made in the complaint and ascertain as to what offences against the accused were prima facie being made out against the accused on the basis of allegations made in the complaint and pass fresh order, thereafter, he will proceed according to law."

19. In the case of Bhushan Kumar and Anr. v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Anr., AIR 2012 SC 1747, the Hon'ble Apex Court was pleased to observe that section 204 of the Code does not mandate the Magistrate to explicitly state the reasons for issuance of summons. It clearly states that if in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceeding, then the summons may be issued. This section mandates the Magistrate to form an opinion as to whether there exists a sufficient ground for summons to be issued but it is nowhere mentioned in the section that the explicit narration of the same is mandatory, meaning thereby that it is not a prerequisite for deciding the validity of the summons issued.

20. In the case of Sunil Bharti Mittal v. Central Bureau of Investigation, AIR 2015 SC 923, the Hon,ble Apex Court was pleased to observe in paragraph no.47 of the judgment as under:

"47. However, the words "sufficient grounds for proceeding" appearing in the Section are of immense importance. It is these words which amply suggest that an opinion is to be formed only after due application of mind that there is sufficient basis for proceeding against the said accused and formation of such an opinion is to be stated in the order itself.."

21. In the case of Darshan Singh Ram Kishan v. State of Maharashtra , (1971) 2 SCC 654, the Hon'ble Court was pleased to observe that the process of taking cognizance does not involve any formal action, but it occurs as soon as the Magistrate applies his mind to the allegations and, thereafter, takes judicial notice of the offence. As provided by Section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, a Magistrate may take cognizance of an offence either, (a) upon receiving a complaint, or (b) upon a police report, or (c) upon information received from a person other than a police officer or even upon his own information or suspicion that such an offence has been committed. As has often been held, taking cognizance does not involve any formal action or indeed action of any kind but occurs as soon as a Magistrate applies his mind to the suspected commission of an offence. Cognizance, therefore, takes place at a point when a Magistrate first takes judicial notice of an offence. This is the position whether the Magistrate takes cognizance of an offence on a complaint, or on a police report, or upon information of a person other than a police officer. Therefore, when a Magistrate takes cognizance of an offence upon a police report, prima facie he does so of the offence or offences disclosed in such report."

22. In the case of Ankit Vs. State of U.P. And another passed in Application U/S 482 No.19647 of 2009 decided on 15.10.2009, this Court was pleased to observe in paragraph No.8 of the judgment as under:-

"8. In the beginning, the name of the court, case number, state vs. ..... under section ..... P.S. ..... District ..... case crime No. ..... /2009 also have been printed and blanks have been filled up by mentioning the case number, name of the accused, section, P.S. District etc. by some employee. Below afore cited printed matter, the following sentence has been mentioned in handwriting "अभियुक्त अंकित की गिरफ्तारी मा0 उच्च न्यायायल द्वारा Crl. Writ No. 19559/08 अंकित बनाम राज्य में पारित आदेश दिनांक 5.11.08 द्वारा आरोप पत्र प्राप्त होने तक स्थगित थी।"

23. Below aforesaid sentence, the seal of the court containing name of Sri Talevar Singh, the then Judicial Magistrate-III, has been affixed and the learned magistrate has put his short signature (initial) over his name. The manner in which the impugned order has been prepared shows that the learned magistrate did not at all apply his judicial mind at the time of passing this order and after the blanks were filled up by some employee of the court, he has put his initial on the seal of the court. This method of passing judicial order is wholly illegal. If for the shake of argument, it is assumed that the blanks on the printed proforma were filled up in the handwriting of learned magistrate, even then the impugned order would be illegal and invalid, because order of taking cognizance of any other judicial order cannot be passed by filling up blanks on the printed proforma. Although as held by this Court in the case of Megh Nath Guptas & Anr V State of U.P. And Anr, 2008 (62) ACC 826, in which reference has been made to the cases of Deputy Chief Controller Import and Export Vs Roshan Lal Agarwal, 2003 (4) ACC 686 (SC), UP Pollution Control Board Vs Mohan Meakins, 2000 (2) JIC 159 (SC): AIR 2000 SC 1456 and Kanti Bhadra Vs State of West Bengal, 2000 (1) JIC 751 (SC): 2000 (40) ACC 441 (SC), the Magistrate is not required to pass detailed reasoned order at the time of taking cognizance on the charge sheet, but it does not mean that order of taking cognizance can be passed by filling up the blanks on printed proforma. At the time of passing any judicial order including the order taking cognizance on the charge sheet, the Court is required to apply judicial mind and even the order of taking cognizance cannot be passed in mechanical manner. Therefore, the impugned order is liable to be quashed and the matter has to be sent back to the Court below for passing fresh order on the charge sheet after applying judicial mind."

24. In the case of Kavi Ahmad Vs. State of U.P. and another passed in Criminal Revision No. 3209 of 2010, wherein order taking cognizance of offence by the Magistrate under Section 190(1)(b) on printed proforma without applying his judicial mind towards the material collected by the Investigating Officer has been held illegal.

25. In the case of Abdul Rasheed and others Vs. State of U.P. and another 2010 (3) JIC 761 (All). The relevant observations and findings recorded in the said case are quoted below:-

"6. Whenever any police report or complaint is filed before the Magistrate, he has to apply his mind to the facts stated in the report or complaint before taking cognizance. If after applying his mind to the facts of the case, the Magistrate comes to the conclusion that there is sufficient material to proceed with the matter, he may take cognizance. In the present case, the summoning order has been passed by affixing a ready made seal of the summoning order on a plain paper and the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate had merely entered the next date fixed in the case in the blank portion of the ready made order. Apparently the learned Magistrate had not applied his mind to the facts of the case before passing the order dated 20.12.2018, therefore, the impugned order cannot be upheld.

7. Judicial orders cannot be allowed to be passed in a mechanical manner either by filling in blank on a printed proforma or by affixing a ready made seal etc. of the order on a plain paper. Such tendency must be deprecated and cannot be allowed to perpetuate. This reflects not only lack of application of mind to the facts of the case but is also against the settled judicial norms. Therefore, this practice must be stopped forthwith."

26. In view of the above, this Court finds and observes that the conduct of the judicial officers concerned in passing orders on printed proforma by filling up the blanks without application of judicial mind is objectionable and deserves to be deprecated. The summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter and the order must reflect that Magistrate had applied his mind to the facts as well as law applicable thereto, whereas the impugned summoning order was passed in mechanical manner without application of judicial mind and without satisfying himself as to which offence were prima-facie being made out against the applicants on the basis of the allegations made by the complainant. the impugned cognizance order passed by the learned Magistrate is against the settled judicial norms.

27. In light of the judgments referred to above, it is explicitly clear that the order dated 12.08.2021 passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-I, Raebareli is cryptic and does not stand the test of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court. Consequently, the cognizance/summoning order dated 12.08.2021 cannot be legally sustained, as the Magistrate failed to exercise the jurisdiction vested in him resulting in miscarriage of justice.

28. Accordingly, the present Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C succeeds and is allowed. The impugned cognizance/summoning order dated 12.08.2021 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-I, Raebareli in Case No. 15605/2021: State Vs. Sangam Lal, arising out of Case Crime No. 227/2020, under Section 3/7 E.C. Act, Police Station Mileriya, District Raebareli is hereby quashed.

29. The matter is remitted back to Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-I, Raebareli directing him to decide afresh the issue for taking cognizance and summoning the applicant and pass appropriate orders in accordance with law keeping in view the observations made by this Court as well as the direction contained in the judgments referred to above within a period of two months from the date of production of a copy of this order.

30. The party shall file certified copy or computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

31. The concerned Court/ Authority/ Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Pathak, J.)

1. Heard Sri Jai Prakash Prasad, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Manish Goyal, Senior Advocate (Additional Advocate General) assisted by Sri AK Sand, Advocate appearing for the State and perused the record.

2. In view of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the present case, this Court proceeds to decide the present matter finally at admission stage itself without calling for the respective affidavits of the parties with the consent of the counsel concerned.

3. The petitioner has invoked the supervisory jurisdiction of this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution of India challenging the order passed by the trial court as well as the revisional court rejecting an application filed under Section 156 (3) CrPC.

4. The facts culled out from the pleadings of the petitioner are that the present petitioner has moved an application under Section 156 (3) CrPC with an allegation that Bhartiya Janta Party headed by the respondent No. 2 (opposite party No. 1 in the original application) had wooed the voters with several promises but failed to fulfil the promises as made in the Election Manifesto-2014, which was promulgated by Bhartiya Janta Party in the parliamentary election conducted in the year 2014. Therefore, he has committed crime of fraud, cheating, criminal breach of trust, dishonesty, defamation, deceiving and falls allurement. The aforesaid application was rejected by the trial court (Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh) vide its order dated 1.10.2020. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the order passed by the trial court, the applicant (petitioner herein) has preferred a revision dated 12.10.2020 being criminal revision No. 141 of 2020. Aforesaid revision was dismissed affirming the order passed by the trial court.

5. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that both the courts below have illegally rejected an application under Section 156 (3) CrPC without applying their mind and without properly appreciating the allegations made against the respondent No. 2 and the document on record. Non fulfilment of promises as made in the Election Manifesto-2014 makes out a clear cut criminal case against the respondent No. 2, who is liable to be summoned and tried under different sections of IPC. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in a similar matter Hon'ble Supreme Court has issued notices to the other side in Writ Petition (Civil) No. (s). 688/2019, which is still pending for consideration. Fact regarding pendency of the aforesaid matter was brought to the knowledge of the revisional court through paragraph No. 5 of the memo of the revision but the same has not been considered by the revisional court while deciding the revision on merits.

6. Per contra, learned senior counsel has contended that on the face of an application, no cognizable offence is made out against the respondent No. 2 to be tried by the court below. It is further contended that non-fulfilling promise, if any, as averred in the Election Manifesto-2014 does not make out any cognizable offence against the persons who have promulgated the election manifesto. It has further been contended that non-fulfilling the conditions as averred in the election manifesto does not come within the ambit of any law, and therefore, it cannot be enforced under any legislation. Trial court as well as revisional court has rightly rejected an application after going through the contents of the application and evidence adduced on behalf of the petitioner. In support of his contention, learned senior advocate has cited the case of Vivek Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India Cabinet Secretary and others reported in 2019 SCC OnLine All 5139, Mithlesh Kumar Pandey Vs. Election Commission of India and others reported in 2014 SCC Online Del 4771, V.P. Ammavasai Vs. Chief Election Commissioner, Election Commissioner of India and others reported in 2019 SCC OnLine Mad 5623 and Prof. Ramchandra G. Kapse Vs. Haribanshramakbal Singh reported in (1991) 1 Supreme Court Cases 206.

7. Carefully considered the rival submission advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record on board.

8. The present petitioner has invoked the authority of Magistrate by moving an application under Section 156 (3) CrPC which authorises Magistrate empowered under Section 190 of the CrPC to pass an order for investigation into any cognizable offence by an officer in charge of a police station. Section 156 comes within Chapter XII captioned as "Information to the police and their power to investigate'. Under sub-section (1) of Section 156, the power of a police officer to investigate a cognizable case, which a court with jurisdiction over the local area within the limits of such station would have power to enquire into or try under Chapter XIII, is untrammelled in the sense that it does not require an order of Magistrate. Issuing any direction to investigate the matter under Section 156 (3) CrPC is a pre-cognizance stage, that too, in matters where a case of cognizable offence is made out by the applicant. Invoking the power of Magistrate under Section 156 (3) in a casual manner, without producing sufficient details and material for commission of cognizable offence, is not justifiable in the eye of law. Magistrate, before whom an application has been moved for issuing a direction for investigation under under Section 156 (3)

CrPC, is only required to examine the matter and to apply his judicious mind to reach a, prima facie, conclusion as to whether the case for investigation is made out, for commission of cognizable offence, or not.

9. In the matter in hand, alleged betrayal of promises as made in Election Manifesto-2014 has been tried to be shown as cognizable offence and the learned Magistrate has been expected to issue a direction for investigation qua said commission of cognizable offences.

10. Before discussing the merits of the application under Section 156 (3) CrPC moved by the present petitioner, the scope of Section 156 (3) is required to be considered. Dealing with the scope of Section 156 (3) CrPC, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the matter of Anil Kumar and others Vs. MK Aiyappa and others, reported in (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 705, has expounded in paragraph 11 that the application of mind by the Magistrate should be reflected in the order passed under Section 156 (3) CrPC, which is quoted below:

"11. The scope of Section 156(3) CrPC came up for consideration before this Court in several cases. This Court in Maksud Saiyed case (2008) 2 SCC (Cri) 692 examined the requirement of the application of mind by the Magistrate before exercising jurisdiction under Section 156(3) and held that where jurisdiction is exercised on a complaint filed in terms of Section 156(3) or Section 200 CrPC, the Magistrate is required to apply his mind, in such a case, the Special Judge/Magistrate cannot refer the matter under Section 156(3) against a public servant without a valid sanction order. The application of mind by the Magistrate should be reflected in the order. The mere statement that he has gone through the complaint, documents and heard the complainant, as such, as reflected in the order, will not be sufficient. After going through the complaint, documents and hearing the complainant, what weighed with the Magistrate to order investigation under Section 156(3) CrPC, should be reflected in the order, though a detailed expression of his views is neither required nor warranted. We have already extracted the order passed by the learned Special Judge which, in our view, has stated no reasons for ordering investigation."

11. In the case of Priyanka Srivastava and another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, reported in (2015) 6 Supreme Court Cases 287, Hon'ble Supreme Court has considered several decisions of the Apex Court and concluded that a principled and really grieved citizen with clean hands must have free access to invoke the powers under Section 156(3) CrPC. It is not the police taking steps at the stage of Section 154 CrPC. For ready reference, the relevant paragraphs of the said judgment is quoted hereinbelow:

"21. Dealing with the nature of power exercised by the Magistrate under Section 156(3) of the CrPC, a three-Judge Bench in Devarapalli Lakshminarayana Reddy and others v. V. Narayana Reddy and others[2], had to express thus: (SCC p. 258, para 17)

"17. ....It may be noted further that an order made under sub-section (3) of Section 156, is in the nature of a peremptory reminder or intimation to the police to exercise their plenary powers of investigation under Section 156(1). Such an investigation embraces the entire continuous process which begins with the collection of evidence under Section 156 and ends with a report or chargesheet under Section 173."

23. In Dilawar Singh v. State of Delhi, this Court ruled thus: (SCC p. 647, para 18)

"18. ...11. The clear position therefore is that any Judicial Magistrate, before taking cognizance of the offence, can order investigation under Section 156(3) of the Code. If he does so, he is not to examine the complainant on oath because he was not taking cognizance of any offence therein. For the purpose of enabling the police to start investigation it is open to the Magistrate to direct the police to register an FIR. There is nothing illegal in doing so. After all registration of an FIR involves only the process of entering the substance of the information relating to the commission of the cognizable offence in a book kept by the officer in charge of the police station as indicated in Section 154 of the Code. Even if a Magistrate does not say in so many words while directing investigation under Section 156(3) of the Code that an FIR should be registered, it is the duty of the officer in charge of the police station to register the FIR regarding the cognizable offence disclosed by the complainant because that police officer could take further steps contemplated in Chapter XII of the Code only thereafter."

24. In CREF Finance Ltd. v. Shree Shanthi Homes (P) Ltd.[5], the Court while dealing with the power of Magistrate taking cognizance of the offences, has opined that having considered the complaint, the Magistrate may consider it appropriate to send the complaint to the police for investigation under Section 156(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. And again: (Madhao v. State of Maharashtra, [(2013) 5 SCC 615], SCC pp. 620-21, para 18)

"When a Magistrate receives a complaint he is not bound to take cognizance if the facts alleged in the complaint disclose the commission of an offence. The Magistrate has discretion in the matter. If on a reading of the complaint, he finds that the allegations therein disclose a cognizable offence and the forwarding of the complaint to the police for investigation under Section 156(3) will be conducive to justice and save the valuable time of the Magistrate from being wasted in enquiring into a matter which was primarily the duty of the police to investigate, he will be justified in adopting that course as an alternative to taking cognizance of the offence itself. As said earlier, in the case of a complaint regarding the commission of cognizable offence, the power under Section 156(3) can be invoked by the Magistrate before he takes cognizance of the offence under Section 190(1)(a). However, if he once takes such cognizance and embarks upon the procedure embodied in Chapter XV, he is not competent to revert back to the pre-cognizance stage and avail of Section 156(3)."

25. Recently, in Ramdev Food Products Private Limited v. State of Gujarat, while dealing with the exercise of power under Section 156(3) CrPC by the learned Magistrate, a three-Judge Bench has held that: (SCC p. 456, para 22)

"22.1. The direction under Section 156(3) is to be issued, only after application of mind by the Magistrate.

When the Magistrate does not take cognizance and does not find it necessary to postpone instance of process and finds a case made out to proceed forthwith, direction under the said provision is issued. In other words, where on account of credibility of information available, or weighing the interest of justice it is considered appropriate to straightaway direct investigation, such a direction is issued.

22.2. The cases where Magistrate takes cognizance and postpones issuance of process are cases where the Magistrate has yet to determine "existence of sufficient ground to proceed."

27. Regard being had to the aforesaid enunciation of law, it needs to be reiterated that the learned Magistrate has to remain vigilant with regard to the allegations made and the nature of allegations and not to issue directions without proper application of mind. He has also to bear in mind that sending the matter would be conducive to justice and then he may pass the requisite order. The present is a case where the accused persons are serving in high positions in the bank. We are absolutely conscious that the position does not matter, for nobody is above law. But, the learned Magistrate should take note of the allegations in entirety, the date of incident and whether any cognizable case is remotely made out. It is also to be noted that when a borrower of the financial institution covered under the SARFAESI Act, invokes the jurisdiction under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and also there is a separate procedure under the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993, an attitude of more care, caution and circumspection has to be adhered to.

29. At this stage it is seemly to state that power under Section 156(3) warrants application of judicial mind. A court of law is involved. It is not the police taking steps at the stage of Section 154 of the code. A litigant at his own whim cannot invoke the authority of the Magistrate. A principled and really grieved citizen with clean hands must have free access to invoke the said power. It protects the citizens but when pervert litigations takes this route to harass their fellow citizens, efforts are to be made to scuttle and curb the same."

12. Full Bench of this Court, in the matter of Jagannath Verma Vs. State of UP and another [2014(8) ADJ 439 (FB)] has expounded, after considering the judgment passed by Constitutional Bench of Supreme Court in Lalita Kumari Vs. Government of Uttar Pradesh, (2014) 2 SCC 1, that though the registration of an FIR on the receipt of information relating to the commission of cognizable offence is mandatory, yet there may be instance where a preliminary enquiry is required. The relevant paragraph No. 13 of the judgment in Jagannath Verma (supra) is reproduced hereinbelow:

"The decision of the Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari holds that though the registration of an FIR on receipt of information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence is mandatory, yet there may be instances where a preliminary enquiry is required. In that context, the observation of the Supreme Court are as follows:

"120.1. The registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation.

120.2. If the information received does not disclose a cognizable offence but indicates the necessity for an inquiry, a preliminary inquiry may be conducted only to ascertain whether cognizable offence is disclosed or not.

120.3. If the inquiry discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, the FIR must be registered. In cases where preliminary inquiry ends in closing the complaint, a copy of the entry of such closure must be supplied to the first informant forthwith and not later than one week. It must disclose reasons in brief for closing the complaint and not proceeding further.

120.4. The police officer cannot avoid his duty of registering offence if cognizable offence is disclosed. Action must be taken against erring officers who do not register the FIR if information received by him discloses a cognizable offence.

120.5. The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence.

120.6. As to what type and in which cases preliminary inquiry is to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The category of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made are as under:

(a) Matrimonial disputes/ family disputes

(b) Commercial offences

(c) Medical negligence cases

(d) Corruption cases

(e) Cases where there is abnormal delay/laches in initiating criminal prosecution, for example, over 3 months' delay in reporting the matter without satisfactorily explaining the reasons for delay.

The aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry.

120.7. While ensuring and protecting the rights of the accused and the complainant, a preliminary inquiry should be made time-bound and in any case it should not exceed 7 days. The fact of such delay and the causes of it must be reflected in the General Diary entry."

The power which is conferred upon the magistrate to order an investigation under Section 156 (3) is before taking cognizance of an offence. Section 156 (3) provides that any magistrate empowered under Section 190 may order such an investigation into any cognizable case by an officer in charge of a police station."

13. Now the question would be as to whether the contents of the application under Section 156(3) CrPC, moved by the petitioner, discloses a cognizable offence for forwarding of the complaint to the police for investigation under Section 156 (3) CrPC. Definition of cognizable offence is enunciated under Section 2 (c) of the CrPC, which is reproduced hereinbelow:

"(c) "cognizable offence" means an offence for which, and "cognizable case" means a case in which, a police officer may, in accordance with the First Schedule or under any other law for the time being in force, arrest without warrant;"

14. At this juncture, in my opinion, it would not be befitting to elaborate the scope and nature of cognizable offence, which itself spell out from the definition as given above. In a complaint under Section 156(3) CrPC, the petitioner has made an allegation of committing a crime of criminal breach of trust, dishonesty, deceiving, defamation and false allurement on the ground that Bhartiya Janta Party led by respondent No. 2 has failed to fulfil his promise as enunciated in its Election Manifesto-2014. Voters are allured to cast vote in favour of the party by magical promises.

15. Paramount question for consideration in the present petition lies in a narrow compass as to whether non-fulfilment of any promise as made in the Election Manifesto-2014 amounts to commission of cognizable offence in the eye of law. On a pointed query, learned counsel for petitioner has failed to demonstrate any penal provision for betrayal of a party concerned from the promises as made in the Election Manifesto-2014. To discuss the nature and scope of election manifesto promulgated by political parties, Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji Vs. The Government of Tamil Nadu and others, (2013) 9 SCC 659 has expounded that the manifesto of political parties is a statement of its policy. Promises made in the manifesto cannot be treated to be corrupt practice as is denoted under Section 123 in The Representation of the People Act, 1951. No penal provision has been provided considering the non-fulfilment of the promises as made in the election manifesto as a crime. Though under The Representation of the People Act, 1951, there is a provision for registering the political parties but there is no specific provision for the cancellation of their registration on any ground including the alleged false promise as made in the election manifesto. Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra) has laid down that i) the provisions of The Representation of the People Act, 1951 place no fetter on the power of political party to make promises in the election manifesto, and, ii) that it is not for the Courts to legislate as to what kind of promises can or cannot be made in the election manifesto, applies on all force.

16. In the case of Mithlesh Kumar Pandey Vs. Election Commission of India and others, (2014) 6 AIR Del R 139, Division Bench of Hon'ble Delhi High Court has discussed the post poll alliances of the political parties and their manifesto released. It was argued before the Hon'ble Court that the manifesto released by political party forms the basis of party's election campaign since it compiles in one document the policies of the party; the party explicitly seeks the votes of electorate on the basis of statements and promise made in the manifesto; the manifesto of a political party is analogous to making "offer' as understood in the law of contract, which contract is complete on the acceptance of the "offer', that is to say, at the time when the voters vote for that political party and the party ultimately comes to power or makes the Government, therefore, the political party should not be permitted to carry out acts which are in blatant disregard and breach of their own manifestos. The relevant paragraph No. 3, 8 and 9 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted below:

"3. We, at the outset, invited attention of the petitioner appearing in person to the judgment of Justice R.C. Lahoti (as his Lordship then was) of this Court in ANZ Grindlays Bank Pie v. Commissioner, MCD 1995 II AD (Delhi) 573 where, dealing with an argument of promissory estoppel and legitimate expectations on the basis of election manifesto, it was held that election manifesto of a political party howsoever boldly and widely promulgated and publicised, can never constitute promissory estoppel or provide foundation for legitimate expectations. It was further held that it is common knowledge that political parties hold out high promises to the voters expecting to be returned to power but it is not necessary that they must be voted in by the electorate; the political parties may commit to the voters that they would enact or repeal certain laws but they may not succeed in doing so for reasons more than one and they know well this truth while making such promises and the electorate to which such promises are made also knows it. It was further held that neither the plea of promissory estoppel nor the plea of legitimate expectations can be founded thereon.

8. Reference in this regard may also be made to what Lord Denning, sitting in the House of Lords observed in Bromley London Borough Council Vs. Greater London Council 1982 (1) All England Law Reports 129. It was said:-

"A manifesto issued by a political party - in order to get votes - is not to be taken as gospel. It is not to be regarded as a bond, signed, sealed and delivered. It may contain - and often does contain - promises or proposals that are quite unworkable or impossible of attainment. Very few of the electorate read the manifesto in full. A goodly number only know of it from what they read in the newspapers or hear on television. Many know nothing whatever of what it contains. When they come to the polling booth, none of them vote for the manifesto. Certainly not for every promise or proposal in it. Some may by influenced by one proposal. Others by another. Many are not influenced by it at all. They vote for a party and not for a manifesto. I have no doubt that in this case many ratepayers voted for the Labour Party even though, on this one item alone, it was against their interests. And vice versa. It seems to me that no party can or should claim a mandate and commitment for any one item in a long manifesto. When the party gets into power, it should consider any proposal or promise afresh - on its merits - without any feeling of being obliged to honour it or being committed to it. It should then consider what is best to do in the circumstances of the case and to do it if it is practicable and fair."

The same view was followed by the High Court of Justice Queen's Bench Division Administrative Court in R (Island Farm Development Ltd.) Vs. Bridgend County Borough Council [2006] EWHC 2189 (Admin)."

"9. In view of the aforesaid legal position, post-poll alliances cannot be declared as illegal on the ground of being contrary to the manifesto of the political parties entering into the alliance and it is not within the domain of this Court to legislate or issue a direction therefore, making the manifesto a legally binding document on the political party issuing the same."

17. Learned Senior Advocate has cited the case of VP Ammavasai Vs. Chief Election Commissioner, Election Commissioner of India and others, reported in 2019 SCC OnLine Mad 5623, wherein Division Bench of Hon'ble Madras High Court has expressed his view that the poll manifesto does not have any statutory backing. Hence, it is not enforceable in the eyes of law. Relevant paragraphs No. 12 and 13 are reproduced hereinbelow:

"12. Thus from the line of judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in S.Subramaniam Balaji's case, duly followed by High Courts of Delhi, Rajasthan, Allahabad and this Court, it could been seen that there is consistency that election manifesto made by a political party or by an individual candidate, in its true construction would not mean, corrupt practice by the individual candidate or the party, as the case may be, and that apart, there is no provision in the Representation of Peoples Act, prohibiting an individual candidate from resorting to promises, which could be construed as corrupt practice, within the meaning of Section 123 of the Representation of the Peoples Act, 1951.

13. Clause 18.4 of the Model Code of Conduct enclosed in the typed set of papers filed by the petitioner also indicates that the Delhi High Court in Mithilesh Kumar Pandey v. Union of India, reported in 2014 SCC Online Del.4771 : AIR 2015 (MOC 103) 45, held that there is no provision in law, which makes promises made by political parties in their election manifestos enforceable against them."

18. Learned Senior Advocate has also invited the attention of the Court towards the judgment dated 26.4.2019 passed by the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Vivek Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India, Cabinet Secretary and others, reported in 2019 SCC OnLine All 5139. Aforesaid petition was filed for cancellation of the registration of the political parties and for issuing a direction of appropriate nature that unless and until the proper accountability in dealing with election manifesto for translating them into action is fixed and accounted for participation of the erring political party in any election may be debarred and their election symbol may be forfeited. Dealing with the issue of non-fulfilment of the promise as made in the election manifesto, Hon'ble Division Bench dismissed the petition with observation that manifesto of political parties is a written statement declaring policy, the intention, motive or views of the said party, however, such declaration cannot have any binding effect or implemented through court of law. The relevant paragraphs No. 7, 8, 11, 12 and 14 are quoted hereinbelow:

7. The manifesto of a political party issued at the time of general election is a written statement declaring publicly the intentions, motives or views of the said party, what it hopes and vows to do if it is elected and forms the government in future. Such a hope and vow of a party can not have any binding effect or implemented through court of law and it can also not be de-registered for not fulfilling it even if some people or class of people are alleged to have been allured by it as admittedly it has no legal sanctity. The people, through their votes in the next election, can show their resentment.

"8. Lord Denning in regard to election manifesto has observed in Brobley

London Borough Council Vs. Greater London Council 1982 (1) 129 All England Law Reports, as under:-

"A manifesto issued by a political party, in order to get votes, is not to be taken as gospel. It is not to be regarded as a bond, signed, sealed and delivered. It may contain, and often does contain, promises or proposals that are quite unworkable or impossible of attainment. Very few of the electorate read the manifesto in full. A Goodly number only know of it from what they read in the newspapers or hear on television. Many know nothing whatever of what it contains. When they come to the polling booth, none of them vote for the manifesto. Certainly not for every promise or proposal in it. Some may be influenced by one proposal. Others by another. Many are not influenced by it at all. They vote for a party and not for a manifesto. I have no doubt that in this case many ratepayers voted for the Labour Party even though, on this one item alone, it was against their interests. And vice Versa. It seems to me that no party can or should claim a mandate and commitment for any one item in a long manifesto. When the party gets into power, it should consider any proposal or promise afresh, on its merits, without any feeling of being obliged to honour it or being committed to it. It should then consider what is best to do in the circumstances of the case and to do it if it is practicable and fair."

11. Therefore, since there is no legislation in this regard so no action can be taken for not fulfilling the promises and commitments made in a manifesto of a political party and reading down of the provision also does not arise. Therefore the contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner on the basis of observation of Lord Denning (Supra) is misconceived and repelled.

12. So far as the allegation of criminal liability in the form of fraud, cheating and criminal breach of trust are concerned, this Court is doubtful of having fulfilling the ingredients of the said offences. Even otherwise non fulfillment of the promise, made in a manifesto which has no legal sanctity, can not be a ground for criminal prosecution. However if any body is aggrieved, he may avail appropriate remedy available under criminal law.

14. The promises in the election manifesto can also not be read into Section 123 for declaring it to be a corrupt practice because the allegation of the corrupt practice can be levelled for an act against the candidate or his agent or by any other person with the consent of a candidate or his election agent which can not include the political party. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji Vs. State of Tamilnadu and Others; (2013) 9 SCC 659 has held as under in paragraph 84.1:-

"84.1. After examining and considering the parameters laid in Section 123 of RP Act, we arrived at a conclusion that the promises in the election manifesto cannot be read into Section 123 for declaring it to be a corrupt practice. Thus, promises in the election manifesto do not constitute as a corrupt practice under the prevailing law. A reference to a decision of this Court will be timely. In Prof. Ramachandra g. Kapse Vs. Haribansh Ramakbal Singh (1996) 1 SCC 206 this Court held that:-

"21. ... Ex facie contents of a manifesto, by itself, cannot be a corrupt practice committed by a candidate of that party."

19. In a recent judgment of Madras High Court in a case of M. Chandramohan Vs. The Secretary, Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs and others (WP (MD) No. 18733 of 2020) decided on 31.3.2021, the Division Bench of Madras High Court has discussed the issues of freebies offered in the election manifesto to allure the voters to cast votes in their favour. Considering the dictum of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra), Hon'ble Division Bench has laid down that no doubt the statutes provided in The Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 does not penalises the political parties indulging in the corrupt practice as clearly distinguished in the above judgment. The Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 was passed immediately after our country was made a republic in the year 1950 and the policy maker of that time did not foresee that the political parties would stoop down to the level of indulgence in corrupt practice in the name of election manifesto and that is the reason why they did not include the political parties under Section 123 of the Representation of Peoples Act, 1951, even though the candidates or his/her agents are included.

20. So far as the submission made by the learned counsel for the petitioners with respect to the pendency of the writ petition No. (s). 688/2019 is concerned, this Court has no authority to discuss the merits of the said case or impede the proceeding of the present petition, keeping in view the pendency of the aforesaid matter.

21. It is, thus, clear that the election manifesto promulgated by any political party is a statement of their policy, view, promises and vow during the election, which is not the binding force and the same cannot be implemented through the courts of law. Even there is no penal provision under any statute to bring the political parties within the clutches of enforcement authorities, in case, they fail to fulfil their promises as made in the election manifesto.

22. Learned counsel for the petitioner failed to substantiate his submissions in assailing the orders impugned, as to how cognizable offence is made out in the present matter for the purposes of issuing a direction for investigation as enunciated under Section 156 (3) CrPC. Even in a provision as embodied under Section 123 of The Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 only a candidate or his/her agents has been brought under law for adopting a corrupt practices of election but the aforesaid provision is not made applicable on any political party as a whole.

23. Learned Magistrate as well as the revisional court has discussed the contents of the application under Section 156 (3) CrPC moved by the present petitioner in detail and very consciously came to to conclusion that on the face of record, no case is made out for the purposes of investigating the cognizable offence. Record also reveals that the petitioner has casually invoked the authority of the Magistrate and the application under Section 156 (3) CrPC has been filed in a routine manner without taking any responsibility whatsoever only to harass the respondent No. 2. The application/complaint does not, prima facie, disclose any commission of cognizable offence.

24. After perusal of the judgment passed by the courts below, it cannot be said that they have decided the matter in a cursory manner without applying their judicial mind. Non-occurrence of any cognizable offence is also one of the paramount condition which averted the courts below from issuing a direction for investigation in exercise of powers under Sections 156 (3) CrPC.

25. In this conspectus as above, I do not find any substance in the present writ petition. No justifiable ground has been made out warranting indulgence of this Court in exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of Indian to interfere in the impugned orders. There is no illegality, perversity and ambiguity in the impugned orders. The present writ petition, being devoid of merits and misconceived, is dismissed with no order as to the costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sudeep Kumar, Advocate alongwith Sri Abhishek Khare, Advocate, the learned Counsel for the petitioners and Sri Prashant Kumar Srivastava, Advocate, the learned counsel for the respondent No. 3 & 4.

2. Briefly stated, the facts of the case are that the petitioners had taken a financial assistance from the Indian Overseas Bank, Main Branch, Lucknow (respondent No. 3). The respondent No. 3 has initiated proceedings for recovery of the aforesaid amount under provisions of The Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (herein after referred to as "SARFAESI Act"), against which the petitioners had filed Securitisation Application No. 113 of 2017 before the Debts Recovery Tribunal, Lucknow (herein after referred to as "DRT"), in which the DRT had granted an interim protection to the petitioners, Thereafter the respondent Bank had withdrawn the action initiated against the petitioners. The respondent-Bank again initiated proceedings for recovery of certain amount by issuing the notice dated 05.03.2018 under Section 13 (2) of the SARFAESI Act to the petitioners. The petitioners submitted a reply on 31.03.2018 but without disposing off the reply, the Bank issued a possession notice dated 24.08.2018. The petitioners have challenged the aforesaid demand notice dated 05.03.2018 and possession notice dated 24.08.2018 before the DRT in Securitisation Application No. 186 of 2019 and the DRT had stayed the recovery proceedings by means of an order dated 12.03.2019.

3. The petitioners have further stated that meanwhile Sri O.P. Agarwal who was Director of the petitioner No. 1 Company, died on 27.05.2019 and the petitioners moved an application for substitution, which was allowed by means of an order dated 18.09.2019. The Securitisation Application No. 186 of 2019 was dismissed as being time barred by means of an order dated 29.10.2021 and an application for review of the aforesaid order is pending before the DRT.

4. The petitioners have further stated that meanwhile the respondent-Bank filed an application under Section 14 of the SARFAESI Act before the District Magistrate, Lucknow and on 28.03.2022, the Additional District Magistrate (Administration), Lucknow passed an order on the said application for taking possession of the petitioners' property.

5. The petitioners had challenged the order dated 28.03.2022 by filing Writ C No. 2192 of 2022 and this Court had passed an order dated 20.04.2022 directing the petitioners to challenge the aforesaid orders before the DRT under Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act.

6. The petitioners then filed Securitisation Application No. 249 of 2022 before the DRT in which notices were issued to the respondent-Bank. During pendency of the said application, on 22.04.2022, the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Lucknow issued a letter to the Inspector, Police Station Ghazipur, Lucknow directed him to take possession of the petitioners' property. The petitioners filed an application for interim relief, upon which the DRT passed an order on 28.04.2022 restraining the Bank from taking physical possession of the property till the next date of listing and the matter was posed for 27.05.2022. The aforesaid order was passed in absence of the learned counsel for the Bank and the aforesaid order dated 28.04.2022 contains a subsequent noting that later on learned counsel for the Bank appeared at about 04:00 p.m. and he filed an application for urgent hearing of the matter. Upon which, the matter fixed for 29.04.2022 i.e. the day following the date of the order. On 02.05.2022, the DRT passed an order recording the submission of the learned counsel for the Bank that the loan account has been transferred to Assets Recovery Management Branch of the Bank, which has not been impleaded by the petitioners and the petitioners had not approached the Tribunal with clean hands and they had suppressed the material facts. The Tribunal ordered the case to be listed on 15.07.2022 for further arguments and the petitioners were directed to correct the particulars of the respondent-Bank in the array of parties. After making the aforesaid narrations, the DRT passed an order that the stay granted to the petitioners is vacated on above facts.

7. The petitioners challenged the aforesaid order dated 02.05.2022 by filing Appeal No. 191 of 2022 before the Debts Recovery Appellate Tribunal (which will hereinafter referred to as "DRAT") and on 20.05.2022, DRAT has passed an order recording the submission of the learned Counsel for the respondent-Bank that the appeal was filed without complying with the fulfilling the requirement depositing 50% of the amount claimed as per Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act and, therefore, is not maintainable and recording the submission made by the learned counsel for the petitioners in reply that the appeal has not been filed against the final order passed under Section 17 of the Act and, therefore, no pre-deposit is required. The DRAT ordered the case to be listed on 28.07.2022 for consideration of the matter of waiver of deposit.

8. The petitioners have filed this writ petition in the aforesaid factual background, challenging the order dated 02.05.2022 passed by the DRAT whereby the stay order dated 28-04-2022 has been vacated, on the ground that the order has been passed hastily, without application of mind and that it will result in the petitioners' property being taken away without adjudication of the respective rights of the parties in the case before the DRT in which the final submissions are going on.

9. Sri Prashant Kumar Srivastava, the learned counsel for the respondent No. 3 & 4 has raised a preliminary objection against the maintainability of the writ petition before this Court sitting at Lucknow on the ground that the DRAT is situated at Allahabad. He has placed reliance on a Full Bench judgment of this Court in Manish Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India, 2020 SCC OnLine All 535 = AIR 2020 All 97.

10. He has further submitted that the order dated 02.05.2022 has been challenged before the DRAT and the writ petition filed during the pendency of the appeal is misconceived. He has also submitted that the petitioner has not made the statutory deposit as required by Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act and, therefore, no order can be passed in the appeal.

11. Replying to the aforesaid objection, Sri Sudeep Kumar, the learned counsel for the petitioners has stated that the petitioners' had taken a loan from the respondent no. 3 Bank situated at Lucknow, for recovery of the aforesaid amount, the Additional District Magistrate (Administration), Lucknow passed an order on 28.03.2022 for taking possession of the petitioners' property situated at Lucknow, in an appeal filed by the petitioners the DRT sitting at Lucknow had passed an interim order on 28-04-2022 and the same has been vacated on 02-05-2022 at Lucknow, which is the cause of action for approaching this Court. He has submitted that judgment in the case of Manish

Kumar Mishra (supra) helps the petitioners.

12. The learned counsel for the respondent-Bank has also submitted that the petitioners had not approached the DRT with clean hands as they had impleaded "Indian Overseas Bank, Lucknow Main Branch, 3 Vidhan Sabha Marg, Lucknow-226001 through its authorized Officer" in the Securitisation Application whereas the petitioners' loan account has been transferred to the Assets Recovery Management Branch which has not been arrayed as a defendant.

13. Refuting this submission, the learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the petitioners had taken financial assistance from Indian Overseas Bank, Main Branch, Lucknow and it was Indian Overseas Bank Main Branch, Lucknow which had filed an application under Section 19 of the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 for recovery of the aforesaid amount from the petitioners and, therefore, the petitioners had impleaded the Bank with the aforesaid description. He has further submitted that even if the Bank has transferred the account to any of its branch and still the Bank had filed an application under Section 19 of the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 in the name of the Branch from which the loan had been taken the petitioners and, therefore, the petitioners cannot be blamed for having arrayed the said Branch. In any case, the defect in description of the parties is always curable and it does not affect the maintainability of the application.

14. I have considered the rival submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties.

15. Regarding the first objection raised by the learned Counsel for the respondent - Bank, I find the petitioners had taken loan from the respondent-bank at Lucknow, the recovery proceedings have been initiated by the respondent-Bank at Lucknow, the Securitisation Application No. 249 of 2022 filed by the petitioners is pending before the DRT at Lucknow and the DRT has passed an interim order dated 28-04-2022 in favour of the petitioners which has been vacated by means of the order dated 02-05-2022 passed by the DRT at Lucknow. In furtherance of the aforesaid order, the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sadar Lucknow has sent a letter dated 06.06.2022 to the Inspector, In-charge of the Police Station Ghazipur, Lucknow for taking possession of the petitioners' property situated at Lucknow. The petitioners have challenged the order dated 02-05-2022 before the DRAT at Allahabad and they are aggrieved by an order of DRAT whereby the matter has been posted for 28-07-2022.

16. The relevant portion of the Article 226 of the Constitution of India provides as follows:-

"226. Power of High Courts to issue certain writs: -

(1) Notwithstanding anything in Article 32 every High Court shall have powers, throughout the territories in relation to which it exercise jurisdiction, to issue to any person or authority, including in appropriate cases, any Government, within those territories directions, orders or writs, including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibitions, quo warranto and certiorari, or any of them, for the enforcement of any of the rights conferred by Part III and for any other purpose

(2) The power conferred by clause (1) to issue directions, orders or writs to any Government, authority or person may also be exercised by any High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises for the exercise of such power, notwithstanding that the seat of such Government or authority or the residence of such person is not within those territories

(3) ....."

17. A perusal of the Article 226 of the Constitution of India makes it manifest that it confers power upon every High Court to issue directions, orders or writs throughout the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction. Clause (2) of the Article 226 of the Constitution of India further provides that the power to issue directions, orders or writs may be exercised by any High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territory within which the cause of action wholly or in part arises for exercise of such power, notwithstanding that the seat of the Government, authority or the residence of any person to whom direction, order or writ is to be issued, is not within those territories.

18. In the celebrated judgment in the case of Nasiruddin vs State Transport Appellate Tribunal, 1975 (2) SCC 671, which was a case decided long after coming into force of the Constitution of India, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that:-

*"38... If the cause of action arises wholly within Oudh areas then the Lucknow Bench will have jurisdiction. Similarly, if the cause of action arises wholly outside the specified areas in Oudh then Allahabad will have jurisdiction. If the cause of action in part arises in the specified Oudh areas and part of the cause of action arises outside the specified areas, it will be open to the litigant to frame the case appropriately to attract the jurisdiction either at Lucknow or at Allahabad....".

(Emphasis Supplied)

19. As per the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Nasiruddin (supra) an application under Article 226 of the Constitution of India will lie at Lucknow even if the petitioners allege that a part of the cause of action arose within the areas of Oudh.

20. The judgment of Nasiruddin (supra) was followed and reaffirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of U.P. Rashtriya Chini Mill Adhikari Parishad, Lucknow Vs. State of U.P. and others, 1995 (4) SCC 738, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that, "to decide the question of territorial jurisdiction it is necessary to find out the place where the "cause of action" arose. We, with respect, reiterate that the law laid down by a Four-Judge Bench of this Court in Nasiruddin's case holds good even today despite the incorporation of an explanation to Section 141 to the Code of Civil Procedure".

21. In Manish Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India, 2020 SCC OnLine All 535 = AIR 2020 All 97, a Full Bench of this Court has explained the law regarding territorial jurisdiction and the difference between "cause of action" and "right of action" in the following words: -

"133. The meaning of the expression "cause of action" as distinct from "right of action", as evolved in terms of the precedents, would go to show that a right of action is a remedial right affording a redress for the infringement of a legal right and a right of action arises as soon as there is an invasion of rights whereas a cause of action would refer to the set of operative facts giving rise to such right of action. A person residing anywhere in the country being aggrieved by an order of the Government (Central or State), or authority or person may have a right of action at law but the same can be enforced by invoking the jurisdiction under Article 226 of only that High Court, within whose territorial limits the cause of action wholly or in part arises.

*135. It is, therefore, seen that a "cause of action" is the fact or corroboration of facts which affords a party right to judicial interference on his behalf. The "cause of action" would be seen to comprise : (i) the plaintiff's primary right and the defendant's corresponding primary duty; and (ii) the delict or wrongful act or omission of the defendant, by which the primary right and duty have been violated. The term "right of action" is the right to commence and maintain action or in other words the right to enforce a cause of action. In the law of pleadings, "right of action" can be distinguished from "cause of action" in that the former is a remedial right while the latter would comprise the operative facts giving rise to such remedial right. The former would be a matter of right and depend on the substantive law while the latter would refer to the bundle of operative facts and would be governed by the law of procedure.

146. We may therefore observe that Article 226(1) provides the source of power of the High Court as well as its territorial jurisdiction, whereas Article 226(2) amplifies the jurisdiction in relation to a cause of action by providing that the territorial jurisdiction would be exercisable in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, arises, wholly or in part. The cause of action would include material and integral facts and accrual of even a fraction of cause of action within the jurisdiction of the Court would provide territorial jurisdiction for entertaining the petition.

147. The territorial jurisdiction is to be decided on the facts pleaded in the petition and in determining the objection of lack of territorial jurisdiction the Court would be required to take into consideration all the facts pleaded in support of the cause of action without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. The question whether a High Court has territorial jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition is to be answered on the basis of the averments made in the petition, the truth or otherwise, whereof being immaterial. The expression "cause of action", for the purpose of Article 226(2), is to be assigned the same meaning as under Section 20(c) CPC, and would mean a bundle of facts which are required to be proved. However, the entire bundle of facts pleaded, need not constitute a cause of action as what is necessary to be proved are material facts on the basis of which a writ petition can be allowed.

148. In order to confer jurisdiction on the High Court to entertain a writ petition, the Court must be satisfied from the entire facts pleaded in support of the cause of action that those facts constitute a cause so as to empower the Court to decide a dispute which has, at least in part, arisen within its jurisdiction. Each and every fact pleaded in the application may not ipso facto lead to the conclusion that those facts give rise to a cause of action within the Court's territorial jurisdiction unless those facts are such which have a nexus or relevance with the lis that is involved in the case. Facts, which have no bearing with the lis or the dispute involved in the case would not give rise to a "cause of action" so as to confer territorial jurisdiction on the Court concerned, and only those facts which give rise to a cause of action within a Court's territorial jurisdiction which have a nexus or relevance with the lis that is involved in that case, would be relevant for the purpose of invoking the Court's territorial jurisdiction, in the context of clause (2) of Article 226."

22. Examining the facts of the case in light of the law laid down in the above noted case, I am of the considered opinion that the petitioners' immediate grievance, which compelled them to file the instance Writ Petition arose upon passing of the order dated 20-05-2022 by the DRAT at Allahabad, whereby the matter has been posted for 28-07-2022 without passing any interim order, and, therefore, "the right of action" can be said to have accrued to the petitioners at Allahabad. However, the "cause of action" for filing the Writ Petition, which is the bundle of facts leading to filing of the instant Writ Petition, is that the petitioners' had taken a loan from the respondent no. 3 Bank situated at Lucknow, for recovery of the aforesaid amount the Additional District Magistrate (Administration), Lucknow passed an order on 28.03.2022 for taking possession of the petitioners' property situated at Lucknow, in an appeal filed by the petitioners the DRT sitting at Lucknow had passed an interim order on 28-04-2022 and the same has been vacated on 02-05-2022 at Lucknow. Therefore, it cannot be said that the cause of action for approaching this Court, or at least a part thereof, has not accrued to the petitioners at Lucknow and I reject the preliminary objection raised by the learned Counsel for the respondent - Bank that the writ petition filed by the petitioners is not maintainable before this Court sitting at Lucknow

23. Regarding the second objection raised by the learned counsel for the respondents that the petitioners have not made statutory deposit required under Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act. The learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that the Section 18 of the SARFAESI Act requires a deposit of 50% of the amount of debts due to be deposited by any person aggrieved by an order made by the DRT under Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act. He has submitted that the petitioners' application under Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act is still pending, and, therefore, the provision of making a deposit of 50% of the amount does not apply to the appeal filed by the petitioners. He has further submitted that the petitioners have filed an application seeking exemption from making a deposit and the DRAT has fixed 28.07.2022 for disposal of the aforesaid application.

24. Regarding the objection raised by the learned Counsel for the respondent-Bank in respect of the petitioners having impleaded the Indian Overseas Bank, Main Branch, Lucknow, I find that the petitioners had taken the financial assistance from Indian Overseas Bank Main Branch, Lucknow and it was the said Branch which had filed the application against the Petitioners under Section 19 of the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 for recovery of the aforesaid amount from them and, therefore, the petitioners had impleaded the Bank with the aforesaid description. In any case, the Asset Recovery Management Branch of the Bank is not a separate juristic person and is not a legal entity distinct from the Bank. In case, during pendency of the case the Bank has transferred the account to any of its branch and still the Bank had filed an application under Section 19 of the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 in the name of the Branch which had granted the loan to the petitioners, the petitioners cannot be blamed for having arrayed the said Branch as a respondent. Even if there is a defect in the description of a arty, it is always curable and it does not affect the maintainability of the application.

25. The petitioners have approached the DRAT for redressal of their grievance against the order dated 02-05-2022 whereby the interim order dated 28-04-2022 granted in their favour has been vacated by the DRT without recording any reason or satisfaction for doing the same and although there is an imminent threat of the petitioners being dispossessed from their property, the DRAT has fixed the matter for 28-07-2022. This indicates that the alternative remedy available before the DRAT has proved not to be an efficacious remedy. Even otherwise, the existence of an alternative remedy is not an absolute bar against this Court's discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The circumstances of the case warrant interference by this Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction.

26. As the DRT had granted an interim protection to the petitioners by means of the order dated 28-04-2022, which has been vacated by means of the order dated 02-05-2022 passed by the DRT merely by recording the submissions of the parties and without recording any finding or satisfaction of its own and keeping in view the fact that the final arguments in the case have already commenced and the same are going on and the case has been fixed for hearing further arguments, this Court finds that in case the petitioners are dispossessed from their property after commencement of the final arguments and before conclusion of the same and passing of a final verdict, it would occasion a failure of justice.

27. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Writ Petition is partly allowed. The order dated 02-05-2022 passed by the DRT in S.A. No. 249 of 2022 is hereby quashed and it is provide that the order dated 28-04-2022 passed by the DRT in the aforesaid shall continue to remain in operation till a final order is passed after conclusion of arguments of the parties.

28. The DRT is directed to proceed with the hearing of S.A. No. 249 of 2022 expeditiously and to make an endeavor to conclude the same as early as possible. All the parties to the case are directed to co-operate in expeditious disposal of the case. In case the petitioners do not co-operate in expeditious disposal of the matter and they seek any unnecessary adjournments, it will be open to the DRT to pass suitable orders in accordance with the law taking into consideration all the relevant facts and circumstances.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

This petition is directed against the order dated 13.04.2022 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No. 5/Special Judge (U.P. Gangsters and Anti-social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986) Muzaffarnagar, dismissing Civil Revision No. 18 of 2022 and affirming an order dated 07.03.2022 passed by the Civil Judge (Senior Division) Fast Track Court, Muzaffarnagar in Original Suit No. 372 of 2013, rejecting the petitioner's application 85C seeking to recall orders dated 26.10.2021 and 14.12.2021.

2. By the order dated 26.10.2021, an application for adjournment by the defendant has been rejected and his opportunity to cross-examine P.W.1 closed. The suit was directed to come up for arguments. By the order dated 14.12.2021, in the absence of the defendant, the suit was directed to come up for arguments ex-parte on 03.01.2022. A perusal of the record shows that Original Suit No. 372 of 2013 was filed by Vipul Mittal against Yogendra Kumar Garg before the Court of the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Muzaffarnagar for partition of his half share in House No. 212/1, situate at Mohalla Civil Lines, West, Muzaffarnagar, detailed in Schedule A to the plaint. The plaintiff sought a decree in terms that after the determination of his share, the suit property be partitioned by metes and bounds and separate possession delivered to him. A decree for permanent injunction was also sought to the effect that the defendants, prior to the partition being effected, may not mortgage the suit property or alter the nature and character of the house in dispute. The original defendant to the suit, Yogendra Kumar Garg, appears to have passed away pending suit and was substituted by his heirs and L.Rs., numbering five, and arrayed as defendant nos. 1/1 to 1/5 to the suit. The suit is one of the year 2013. The suit has proceeded to trial and it appears that the plaintiff had filed his evidence on affidavit and 16.10.2021 was the date scheduled for cross-examination of P.W.1. On the said date, the Counsel for the defendant made an application for adjournment, which was opposed by the plaintiff. The application for adjournment was rejected and opportunity to cross-examine P.W.1 was closed. The suit was directed to come up for arguments on 09.11.2021. On 09.11.2021, 17.11.2021 and 01.12.2021, the suit was adjourned eventlessly. It was adjourned on 09.11.2021 because the Presiding Officer was on leave, but the parties were also absent. On 17.11.2021, it was adjourned because the learned Members of the Bar had abstained from judicial work. Again, on 01.12.2021, the case was adjourned because the Presiding Officer was on leave. On 01.12.2021, it was adjourned to 14.12.2021. On 14.12.2021, when the suit came up for arguments, the Counsel for the plaintiff was present, but no one appeared on behalf of the defendant. It was in those circumstances that the Trial Court directed that the suit may come up for arguments ex-parte on 03.01.2022. In the said order, it was recorded that the Bar Association has proposed no work from 17.12.2021, due to elections of the Bar.

3. By the application dated 04.01.2022, the defendant has sought recall of the order dated 14.12.2021 that directs the suit to come up for address of arguments ex-parte. This application bears Paper No. 85C. By the other application dated 07.03.2022, the defendant has sought recall of the order dated 26.10.2021 that has closed the defendant's opportunity to cross-examine P.W.1 and once again asked for recall of the order dated 14.12.2021, setting down the suit for address of arguments ex-parte. It is these applications that the Trial Judge has rejected vide his order dated 07.03.2022.

4. Heard Mr. Anil Kumar Aditya, learned Counsel for the petitioner in support of the motion to admit this petition to hearing and Ms. Shreya Gupta, learned Counsel appearing for the plaintiff-respondents at length. The records have been carefully perused.

5. The impugned order passed by the Trial Judge shows that he has rejected the Application 85C seeking recall of the order dated 14.12.2021 alone, that is to say, the application dated 04.01.2022 on the ground that there is no order dated 14.12.2021. That remark or reason to reject by the Trial Court is not borne out from the record. There is definitely an order dated 14.12.2021 passed by the Trial Court, directing the suit to come up for address of arguments ex-parte. So far as the other application is concerned, the Trial Court has dismissed it on the ground that the order dated 14.12.2021 is non-existent and the order dated 26.10.2021 ought not to be recalled, because the defendant is merely trying to delay the trial. It has also been remarked that the Application 85C (the application dated 07.03.2022 that seeks recall of both orders dated 26.10.2021 and 14.12.2021) is not supported by an affidavit. It is for the reason that Application 89C has been rejected. The Revisional Court has upheld the orders impugned on the ground that both the applications 85C and 89C have been made much beyond limitation, without an application or prayer for condonation of delay; but, this is one facet of the reasoning that the Revisional Court has adopted. The Revisional Court has looked wholesomely into the record to arrive at a conclusion that the defendant is attempting to delay trial of the suit, which has been expedited under orders of this Court dated 14.09.2018 passed in some supervisory proceedings. It appears that there is some order of this Court, directing the suit to be decided within two years and that schedule was violated because of the dilatory tactics adopted by the defendant. It is bearing all these facts in mind that the Revisional Court has declined to interfere with the orders made by the learned Trial Judge.

6. This Court has carefully looked into the order-sheet. It must be remarked that indeed, there have been determined efforts to delay trial of the suit. On 08.01.2021, the plaintiff's evidence on affidavit was accepted and the suit was scheduled for cross-examination of P.W.on 28.01.2021. From 28.01.2021 to 26.10.2021, 18 dates were fixed prior to 26.10.2021, but for one reason or the other, the defendant did not cross examine P.W.1. The Trial Judge in between 28.01.2021 and 26.10.2021 has taken note of the orders of this Court in the order recorded on 02.08.2021, saying that the High Court has issued directions for concluding the trial within two years, and further, that the suit has been assigned to him by the District Judge. It is not that the order dated 26.10.2021, closing the defendant's opportunity has been passed surreptitiously or suddenly. The defendant has been given enough opportunity by the orders passed by the Trial Court on earlier dates, and also, by all those ominous resolutions of the Bar, directing its members to abstain from judicial work. It must be remarked that Resolutions of the Bar, asking its Members to abstain from judicial work, are absolutely unlawful, in view of the directions of the Supreme Court in Ex-Capt. Harish Uppal v. Union of India and another1, Common Cause, a registered society and others v. Union of India and others2, Krishnakant Tamrakar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2018) 17 SCC 273 and District Bar Association, Dehradun through its Secretary v. Ishwar Shandilya and others4. Such resolutions being per se illegal, no litigant can derive any advantage out of these. The orders passed on 01.09.2021, 13.09.2021, 14.09.2021, 08.10.2021 and 26.10.2021 must be taken particular note of, as these immediately preceded the order dated 26.10.2021 passed by the learned Trial Judge. These orders are extracted below :

7. This Court takes particular notice of the order dated 13.09.2021, where the learned Trial Judge has observed that the High Court has directed the suit to be decided within two years, but despite repeated requests to the learned Counsel, no one is appearing. This was so because the Bar had abstained from judicial work. This conduct of the Bar is not only reprehensible, but also downright illegal. The Bar Association is, after all, a registered society and cannot hold up the functioning of a Sovereign Court by their resolutions. Whatever they do, they do it at the peril of the litigants whose interest their Members represent. If the learned Counsel refuse to appear and so do the parties, the Court is supposed to pass orders in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 that provides for orders to be made when parties, both or one, are absent. The impugned order passed on 26.10.2021, which follows the order dated 10.10.2021 recorded hereinabove, reads :

Pf. along with Counsel present.

Counsel of Df. filed an adjournment 84D which is strongly opposed by pf.

On perusal it is observed that df. is continuously delaying the case by not turning up. In the light of conduct of df., opportunity to cross examine PW1 is closed. Adjournment rejected.

Put up on 09/11/2021 for argument.

8. The other order of which recall was sought is the one dated 14.12.2021. It reads :

14.12.2021

Called out.

Counsel on behalf of pf. present.

Df. did not turn up.

Put up on 03-01-2022 for ex-parte arguments, as BAR proposed no work from 17-12-2021 due to elections of BAR.

9. Again on 14.12.2021, the Members of the Bar abstained from judicial work, because Bar Elections were going on. It is beyond imagination that the work of a Court would be brought to a grinding halt, because the elections of a registered society are to be held. No doubt, learned Members of the Bar are superior officers of the Court, but the Bar Association is no more than a registered society established for the welfare of the learned Members of the Bar and to positively contribute to the functioning of its individual Members. The Bar Association is not established to obstruct functioning of the Court and interfere with the discharge of its sovereign functions. The Trial Court was, therefore, absolutely right when it made the order dated 14.12.2021, directing the suit to come up for address of arguments ex-parte.

10. It must be noted that on 14.12.2021, learned Counsel for the plaintiff was present. Had the learned Counsel for the plaintiff not been present on 14.12.2021, the Trial Court would have dismissed the suit in default also. But, it was the defendant's Counsel alone who was absent and not the plaintiff. The order dated 14.12.2021, like the order dated 26.10.2021, is unexceptionable. It must be noted that on 26.10.2021 also, the plaintiff, along with his Counsel, was present. The Revisional Court has upheld the order on the ground of limitation, besides taking the conduct of the defendant into account, though not eloquently said in the order impugned passed by the learned Additional District Judge.

11. For the added reasons mentioned, this Court concurs in the conclusion reached by the two Courts below unanimously.

12. In the result, this petition fails and stands dismissed.

13. There shall, however, be no order as to costs.

14. The Registrar General is directed to circulate this order to all the learned District Judges, the Presiding Officers of Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Tribunals, the Principal Judges of Family Courts, the Presiding Officers of Motor Accident Claim Tribunals and the Chairman, Board of Revenue.

(A) Criminal Law - Appeal against conviction - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302, 504, 506 , The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 161,313 , the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 - Section 3 (2) (v).

Three persons murdered father of informant (P.W.1, witnesses of fact) - by inflicting injuries of sword upon his neck - time of incident 18/19.4.2004 - small kerosene oil lamp (Dibbi) was burning - cause of death - autopsy report of the deceased - shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries – trial court acquitted convicts/appellants for the offences under Sections 504, 506 (2) I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act - convicted and sentenced them under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. (Para -2,6,11,)

(B) Criminal Law - Delay in lodging F.I.R. - mere delay in lodging the FIR may not prove fatal in all cases - but in the given circumstances of the case delay in lodging the FIR can be one of the factors which may corrode the credibility of the prosecution version - but delay in lodging the FIR cannot be a ground itself for throwing away the entire prosecution version as given in the FIR - later substantiated by the evidence, unless there are indications of fabrication - held - some delay in lodging F.I.R. - same cannot be attributed to the informant or can be said to be deliberate with the object of implicating the convicts/appellants - has been satisfactory explained by P.W.1 and P.W.2.(Para -31,35)

(C) Criminal Law - Evidence of 'interested witnesses' - mere fact that relatives of the deceased are the only witnesses is not sufficient to discredit their cogent testimonies - distinction between "interested" and "related" witnesses - mere fact that the witnesses are related to the deceased does not impugn the credibility of their evidence if it is otherwise credible and cogent - held - no basis to discredit the presence of the three eye-witnesses i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 - nothing has been elicited out in the course of the cross-examination to doubt their presence - nature of the injuries found to have been sustained by the deceased is consistent with the account furnished by the eye-witnesses. (Para - 39,40)

(D) Criminal Law - Contradictions in the statements of the eye-witnesses P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 - the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 145 - manner in which cross-examination of the witnesses is to be made as to any previous statement made in writing - only contradictions in material particulars and not minor contradictions can be a ground to discredit the testimony of the witnesses - held - version given by P.Ws-1, 2 and 3 broadly bears up the same story without any vital contradictions and therefore, their evidence is found to be trustworthy. (Para - 42,46,47)

(E) Criminal Law - Motive - held - trial Court rightly concluded that there was motive on the part of the convicts/appellants to commit the murder of the deceased. (Para - 50)

(F) Criminal Law - Non-examination of Independent Witness - merely because prosecution did not examine any independent witness, would not necessarily lead to conclusion that accused was falsely implicated - examination of independent witnesses is not an indispensable requirement and such non-examination is not necessarily fatal to the prosecution case - conviction can even be based on the testimony of a sole eyewitness - held - P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 have fully supported the case of the prosecution and, therefore, non-examination of the aforesaid persons shall not be fatal to the case of the prosecution. (Para -52,53,54,55,56)

(G) Criminal Law - Source of Light on Spot - FIR is not an encyclopedia of the entire case - It may not and need not contain all the details - Naming of the accused therein may be important but not naming of an accused in FIR may not be a ground to doubt the contents thereof in case the statement of the witness is found to be trustworthy - held - non-mentioning the availability of 'Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) and torch by the informant P.W.1 in the written report is not fatal for the prosecution. (Para - 58,59)

(H) Criminal Law - Medical Evidence - FIR is certainly the starting point of the investigation, but it is well within the rights of the prosecution to produce witness statements as they progress further into the investigation and unearth the specific roles of accused persons - FIR only sets the investigative machinery, into motion - plea of the appellants in this regard has no substance - evidence of P.W.1 & P.W.2 shows that convicts/appellants dragged the deceased on the way; pushed him on the ground; and assaulted him with sword - conclusion of trial court - injuries no. 5 and 6 i.e. contusions could be attributable to the deceased - held - it cannot be said that medical evidence does not corroborate the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses.(Para -66,67,68)

HELD:-Prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against convicts/appellants and their conviction and sentence for the murder of deceased in the intervening night of 18/19.4.2004 by the impugned judgment is fully justified.(Para - 69,70)

(A) Introduction

(1) Three accused persons, Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay, were tried by the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C.-4, Lakhimpur Kheri in Sessions Trial No. 879 of 2004 : State Vs. Sarafat and two others, arising out of Case Crime No. 130 of 2004, under Sections 302, 504, 506 Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short, "I.P.C.") and Section 3 (2) (v) of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (in short, "S.C./S.T. Act"), Police Station Nighasan, District Kheri.

(2) Vide judgment and order dated 14.12.2009, the learned Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C.-4, Lakhimpur Kheri, acquitted Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay, for the offences under Sections 504, 506 (2) I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act, however, convicted and sentenced them under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment and fine of Rs.7,000/- each.

In default of payment of fine, to undergo additional two years imprisonment.

(3) Aggrieved by their aforesaid conviction and sentence, convicts/ appellants, Sarafat and Noor Mohammad, preferred before this Court Criminal Appeal No. 61 of 2010, whereas convict/appellant Ajay preferred Criminal Appeal No. 120 of 2010.

(4) Since both the above-captioned appeals arise out of a common factual matrix and impugned judgment and order dated 14.12.2009, hence this Court is disposing of the above-captioned appeals by a common judgment.

(B) Factual Matrix

(5) Shortly stated the prosecution case runs as under :-

Informant Brahmadeen (P.W.1) had filed a written report (Ext. Ka.1) before Police Station Nighasan, District Kheri on 19.04.2004, at 10:00 a.m., alleging therein that in the intervening night of 18/19.04.2004, at about 02:00 a.m., Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay (convicts/appellants) came in front of his house and started to drink water by plying handpump installed in front of his house, upon which his father (deceased Kadhiley) objected. Thereafter, all three persons (convicts/appellants) used abusive language against his father (deceased Kadhiley) and when his father (deceased Kadhiley) objected them from use of abusive language, then, all three persons (convicts/appellants) brought his father (deceased Kadhiley) towards road. Seeing that, he (P.W.1) and his sister Maina Devi (P.W.2) ran to save their father (deceased Kadhiley) but all three persons (convicts/appellants) murdered his father (deceased Kadhiley) with sword by inflicting it on his neck. On hue and cry, Gauri Shanker (P.W.3), Tulsi and a large number of other persons came there and challenged the convicts/appellants, then, all three persons (convicts/ appellants), while threatening them to kill, ran towards south direction of the village. On account of fear, he did not go to lodge report in the night, however, he went to lodge report in the morning.

(6) The informant (P.W.1) got the aforesaid report scribed from one person, namely, Ramesh, outside the police station Nighasan, district Kheri, who after scribing, read it over to him. He, thereafter, affixed his thumb impression on it and lodged at police station Nighasan, district Kheri.

(7) The evidence of H.C. Bachnesh Singh (P.W.5) shows that on 19.04.2004, he was posted as Constable Moharrir at police station Nighasan, district Kheri. On the said date, at 10:00 a.m., on the basis of written report (Ext. Ka.1), he prepared chik F.I.R., bearing No. 84 of 2004, and registered a case crime no. 130 of 2004, under Sections 302, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act, against the accused persons. He proved F.I.R. (Ext. Ka.10).

In cross-examination, P.W.5 had deposed that no date has been mentioned in the order passed by the Circle Officer on the Chik F.I.R. He denied the suggestion that F.I.R. was lodged after 10:00 a.m.

(8) A perusal of the chik FIR shows that the distance between the place of incident and police station Nighashan, district Kheri was 13 kilometers. It is significant to mention that the perusal of chik FIR also shows that on its basis, case crime no. 130 of 1994, under Sections 302, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of S.C/S.T. Act was registered against convicts/appellants, Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay.

(9) The evidence of P.W.4-S.I. Satyendra Kumar Verma shows that on 19.04.2004, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at Police Station Nighasan. On the said date, he sealed the corpse of the deceased Kadhiley and sent it for post-mortem after preparing "panchayatnama' and other relevant papers viz speciman seal, challan lash, paper no.33, photo lash, report to C.M.O. He proved Ext. Ka.2 to Ext. Ka. 8. He collected blood stained soil and plain soil in separate containers, sealed it and prepared recovery memo (Ext. K.9) in the presence of witnesses.

In cross-examination, P.W.4 had denied the suggestion that chik F.I.R. was not with him till the time of "panchayatnama'. He also deposed that Circle Officer met him at the place of the incident but he did not remember the time of arrival of Circle Officer at the place of the incident.

(10) The evidence of P.W.7-Athar Hussain shows that the investigation of Case Crime No. 130 of 2004, under Sections 302, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of S.C./S.T. Act was conducted by Circle Officer of Polia, namely, Shri Ashok Kumar Verma and site plan of the aforesaid case (Ext. Ka. 13) was in his handwriting and signature. He identified the signature and handwriting of CO Shri Ashok Kumar Verma. He further deposed that charge-sheet (Ext. Ka.14) was also in the handwriting and signature of CO Shri Ashok Kumar Verma.

In cross-examination, P.W.7 had deposed that Circle Officer Ashok Kumar Verma was posted in the office of D.G.P. Brahmdeen (P.W.1), in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., stated that three persons murdered his father by inflicting injuries of sword upon his neck. At the time of the incident, small kerosene oil lamp (Dibbi) was burning.

(11) The post-mortem of the corpse of the deceased Kadhiley was conducted on 20.04.2004, at 03:00 p.m., by Dr. J.P. Bhargav (P.W.6), who found on his person the ante-mortem injuries, enumerated hereinafter :-

1. I.W. 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep over left ear.

2. I.W. 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep over Rt. ear.

3. I.W. 1 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep over upper lip just below nose.

4. I.W. 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep over lower lip and below front 3 incisor teeth found cut.

5. Contusion 30 cm x 20 cm over front of chest below Rt. collor bone on dissection underlying 1st to 4th ribs on both sides found fractured. Both pleurae, both lungs found lacerated & 1 litre clotted and fluid blood present in chest cavity.

6. Contusion 15 cm x 6 cm over Rt. side of head and 3 cm above Rt. ear. Underlying Rt. temporal parietal bone, occipital bone & left temporal & parietal bone found fractured. Brain and its membrane found lacerated."

The cause of death spelt out in the autopsy report of the deceased Kadhiley was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

(12) It is significant to mention that in his deposition in the trial Court, Dr. J.P. Bhargav (P.W. 6) has reiterated the said cause of death and stated that ante-mortem injuries suffered by the deceased person could be attributable by a sharp edged weapon like sword on 18/19.04.2004 at 2:00 a.m. He also deposed that the ante-mortem injuries of the deceased could also be caused during altercation or by pushing or hit by a hard object. He proved the post-mortem report (Ext. Ka. 12).

In cross-examination, P.W.6 had deposed that it is clear from the ante-mortem injuries that ante-mortem injuries could be attributable by two types of objects like sharp edged weapon and blunt object. Injuries no. 5 and 6 could be attributable when a person be hit by a big stone or became injured on falling on it.

(13) The case was committed to the Court of Sessions by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lakhimpur Kheri on 19.08.2004 and the trial Court framed charges against appellants under Sections 302/34, 504, 506 (2) I.P.C. and Section 3(2) (v) of S.C./S.T. Act. They pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed to be tried. Their defence was of denial.

(14) During trial, in all, the prosecution examined seven witnesses viz. P.W.1-Brahmadeen, who is the informant of the case and son of the deceased Kadhiley; P.W.2-Maina Devi, who is the daughter of the deceased, P.W.3-Gauri Shanker, who is the nephew of the deceased Kadhiley, P.W.4-S.I. Satyendra Kumar Verma, who has prepared "panchayatnama', photo lash, challan lash etc. and sent the corpse of deceased Kadhiley for post-mortem; P.W.5-H.C. Bachnesh Singh, who has lodged F.I.R. (Ext. Ka.10) on the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka.1); P.W.6-Dr. J. P. Bhargav, who conducted the post-mortem of the corpse of the deceased Kadhiley; and P.W.7-Athar Hussain, who has proved the fact that the investigation of the case was conducted by CO Sri Ashok Kumar Verma.

(15) Reverting to the testimony of the witnesses of fact, P.W.1-Brahmdeen, who is the informant of the case and son of the deceased Kadhiley, had deposed before the trial Court in his examination-in-chief that before one year ago, at 02:00 a.m., when Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay (convicts/appellants) were drinking water by plying handpump installed near to his house, his father (deceased Kadhiley) made objection, upon which convicts/appellants used abusive language against his father Kadhiley (deceased). Thereafter, when his father Kadhiley (deceased) asked the convicts/appellants not to use abusive language, convicts/appellants brought his father towards road. After that, when he (P.W.1) and his sister Maina (P.W.2) ran to save their father, then, convicts/appellants murdered their father by inflicting injuries on the neck of their father with sword. Meanwhile, Gauri Shanker (P.W.3) and Tulsi came there and upon being challenged by them, the convicts/ appellants fled away towards south direction threatening them. Thereafter, on account of fear, he did not go to lodge the report in the night. In the morning, he got the report scribed from a person outside the police station on his own dictation and after scribing, the scribe read it over to him. He, thereafter, affixed his thumb impression on it and lodged it at police station Nighasan. He proved the written report (Ext. Ka.1).

In cross-examination, P.W.1-Brahmadeen had deposed that on the date and time of the incident, his mother Shakuntala, his brother Sunder Lal and his wife went to attend marriage function of brother-in-law of his brother Sunder Lal at Munna Purwa, which is situated at a distance of 3 Kms. from his village. He, therefore, sent an information of the incident to them at 06:00 a.m. at village Munna Purwa, however, he deposed that he did not remember from whom the said information was sent to Munna Purwa. All the aforesaid family members came from Munna Purwa at 07:00 a.m. After reaching home, his brother Sunder Lal enquired from him about the incident. He further deposed that when his brother Sunder Lal came at home, he went after one hour of sunrise to police station Nighasan, which is situated about 18 Kms. away from his village, on foot and reached Nighasan at about 09:00 a.m. On the crossroad of Nighasan, he found a person named Ramesh. He narrated the whole incident to Ramesh, who after bringing paper and pen from stationery shop, scribed the report on his dictation. After that he affixed his thumb impression on the report and proceeded to lodge it to police station Nighasan. He further deposed that half an hour was spent in scribing the written report and after that he went to police station, where he sat about half an hour and thereafter, report was lodged. After lodging the report, the Inspector came along with him at the place of occurrence on Jeep at 11:30 a.m. The Circle Officer did not come with the Inspector.

In cross-examination, P.W.1 had deposed that he went from the police station before the Inspector through bicycle. He went alone to lodge the report and returned back from there alone. He came home at about 12:00 O'clock. After one hour of reaching his house, the Inspector came. The corpse was lying there till he (P.W.1) and Inspector reached there. The Inspector sealed the corpse before him.

P.W.1 had further deposed in his cross-examination that eight years ago, a countrymade pistol 12 bore was not recovered from him. However, he went to jail in relation to a case pertaining to the said pistol and that case is still going on. Before 11 years ago, his father had lodged a case under Section 307 I.P.C. against Kamlesh and his son. The father of Ajay (convict/appellant), namely, Kamlesh, was the forest guard in his area and after that he became Forester therein. He denied the suggestion that he and his father Kadhiley were caught by Kamlesh while cutting wood in the forest. He also denied the suggestion that after cutting wood, he supplied that to Nepal. He also denied the suggestion that due to monitoring by Kamlesh of his family, his business of wood was closed. However, he himself stated that he went to the forest to cut ''wasti' (by which wood is collected).

P.W.1 had further deposed in his cross-examination that hand-pump was installed 10-12 steps to the southern direction of the corridor. Anyone can drink water from handpump. His house and thatch are adjacent to corridor and his house is at a distance of 5-6 steps north of it. He was not living in this house. The house in which he was living, was 5-6 steps north of that house and at the time of incident, he was living in this house. His father Kadhiley (deceased) and his sister Maina Devi (P.W.2) used to live in thatch adjacent to corridor and none else were living there. First of all, sound of screaming of his father Kadhiley (deceased) came and after that sound of screaming of his sister Maina Devi (P.W.2) came. Maina Devi (P.W.2) was with his father. When he reached there, he saw the three accused (convicts/appellants) were assaulting his father. He saw a sword in the hand of Sarafat (convict/appellant no.1) and he did not see any weapon with the other accused. He saw Sarafat only (convict/appellant no.1) cutting his father's neck with sword and other two accused (Noor Mohammad and Ajay) caught hold his father Kadhiley (deceased). He did not see all three accused persons inflicting injuries on the neck of his father with sword.

P.W.1 had further deposed in his cross-examination that at the time of the incident, "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp), which was placed on ''Kathla' (box made with soil), was burning inside the thatch. The sword injuries were inflicted upon Kadhiley (deceased) after his falling on earth. When sword was inflicted upon Kadhiley (deceased), Kadhiley (deceased) was fallen flatways. Except sword, none of the convicts/appellants were having lathi and danda. He did not remember the number of sword blows inflicted upon the deceased Kadhiley.

P.W.1 had further deposed in cross-examination that Noor Mohammad and Sarafat (convicts/appellants) were working in Forest Department. Before the incident, he (P.W.1) and his father Kadhiley (deceased) brought small pieces of wood, then, Noor Mohammad and Sarafat (convicts/appellants) caught them (P.W.1 and his father Kadhiley). He denied the suggestion that as Noor Mohammad and Sarafat (convicts/appellants) restrained him (P.W.1) from bringing wood, hence he falsely implicated them.

(16) P.W.2-Maina Devi, who is the sister of the informant P.W.1 Brahmadeen and daughter of the deceased Kadhiley, had deposed in her examination-in-chief that hand-pump was stationed in front of her house. One year and one month ago, at 02:00 a.m., Sarafat, Noor Mohammad (convict/appellant) of her village and their companion Ajay (convict/appellant) were drinking water by plying handpump. When her father (deceased Kadhiley) made objection to it, convicts/appellants used abusive language against him. Thereafter, her father Kadhiley asked the convicts/appellants not to use abusive language, then, convicts/appellants brought her father (Kadhiley). Thereafter, she and her brother Brahamadeen (P.W.1) ran to save their father Kadhiley and raised alarm. On alarm, Gauri Shanker (P.W.3) and Tulsi came there. Meanwhile, three accused (convicts/appellant) murdered her father Kadhiley by cutting neck of her father (Kadhiley) with sword. Thereafter, on challenging, accused persons (convicts/appellants), while threatening to kill them, fled away towards south direction.

In cross-examination, P.W.2 had deposed that at the time of the incident, she did not solemnize her third marriage. After the death of her second husband, she used to reside at her parents' home (ek;dk) and not at her in-laws' home. Her relation with in-laws was cordial. It is not so that in-laws had driven away her. Her second husband hanged himself.

P.W.2 had further deposed in her cross-examination that when police reached at the place of occurrence, she was present near the deadbody of her father (Kadhiley). The police did not record the statement of her brother Brahmadeen (P.W.1) before her. After 2½ months of the incident, the police recorded her statement and during 2½ months, he used to reside at her parental home and the police came at her parental home frequently.

P.W.2 had further deposed that her brother (P.W.1) did not go to lodge report in the night. She further deposed that her brother (P.W.1) was going to lodge report but her brother (P.W.1) saw the accused persons barricading the way, hence her brother returned back to home. She further deposed that when she saw the convicts/appellants assaulting her father, at that moment, her father was lying on the back. Noor Mohammad (convict/appellant) caught hold the leg of her father Kadhiley (deceased); Ajay (convict/appellant) caught hold the hand of her father Kadhiley; Sarafat (convict/appellant) assaulted her father with sword. Sarafat (convict/appellant) inflicted three blows of sword upon her father Kadhiley; one on her father's neck; second one on her father's nose; and third one was, the sword was pierced on her father's ear. Except sword, her father was not assaulted with any other weapon.

P.W.2 had further deposed that Pummy is her niece and the daughter of Sunder. At the time of incident, Pammi was sleeping near her father Kadhiley, whereas she was sleeping along with her sister Kanyawati on a cot inside the room. At the time of incident, there was no source of light. Her brother Brahmadeen (P.W.1) was having torch at the time of incident and she had also stated the same to the Circle Officer but if the same was not written in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., then, she could not tell reasons for it. The said torch was seen by the Circle Officer, in her presence in the morning. She further deposed that at the time of incident, she was standing in the corridor and her brother (P.W.1) also came behind her. She disclosed the place from where she saw the incident, to the Circle Officer. She further deposed that when convicts/appellants fled away, Gauri Shanker (P.W.3) and Tulsiram came there. She further deposed that houses of her brothers Sunder and Brahmadeen (P.W.1) were in the same premises partitioned with "Deharia' (wall made with soil). At the time of incident, her brother Brahamadeen (P.W.1) did not come to wake up her nor she went to wake up to her brother Brahmadeen (P.W.1).

(17) P.W.3-Gauri Shanker, who is the nephew of the deceased Kadhiley, had deposed in his examination-in-chief that the incident had occurred three years ago. His house is adjacent to the house of Kadhiley (deceased). On the date of incident, he was sleeping in his house. At about 02:00 a.m., on noise, he woke up; came outside his house; and saw towards the house of Brahmadeen (P.W.1) in the light of torch that Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay (convicts/appellants), while using abusive language, were dragging Kadhiley (deceased) and at the same time, Maina Devi (P.W.1) ran to save Kadhiley (deceased). Then, Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay (convicts/appellants) hit on the neck of Kadhiley with a sword, as a consequence of which, Kadhiley (deceased) died on the spot. Thereafter, convicts/appellants, while threatening to kill, ran away. Tulsi came there on alarm raised.

In cross-examination, P.W.3 had deposed that his house is on the western side of the house of Kadhiley. He denied that he reached on the spot when assailants fled away. He reached on the spot when accused assaulted the deceased. He denied that Brahmadeen (P.W.1) told the name of murderers to him. The exit of his house is towards southern direction. At the time of the incident, he was not sleeping in his house but he was awake; his family members were sleeping; he returned from the field after sprinkling medicine on wheat; and after taking food, he had just lying on the bed. He came outside the house on hearing the noise of Maina Devi (P.W.2). He did not listen the alarm of Kadhiley (deceased) "Maar dala maar dala'. When he reached the spot, Maina Devi (P.W.2) and Pammi were there and apart from them, no one was present in the house. When he came from home, he saw that Kadhiley was dead and was lying on the back; Maina Devi and Pammi were crying on clinging the deadbody of Kadhiley; and there were blood on their cloths.

P.W.3 had further deposed that there was no light on the spot but he had a torch. The police personnel did not see his torch nor memo of his torch was prepared. Apart from him, he did not see the torch of anyone. He further deposed that before this case, Kadhiley (deceased) had lodged a case under Section 307 I.P.C. against the accused, in which he was a witness. He was not aware whether the accused were acquitted or not in the said case. In the said case, he had deposed before the Court that he had not seen the incident. He further deposed that Kadhiley (deceased) had lodged another case under Section 307 I.P.C. against the accused, wherein he was also a witness. He further deposed that from the place where the deadbody of Kadhiley was lying, inner portion of the house of Kadhiley was visible and a lamp was lighting inside the house of Kadhiley.

P.W.3 had further deposed that after cutting forest wood, he was preparing "Jhabai'. Kamlesh (father of convict/appellant Ajay), who was working as Forester, caught him once and asked him not to cut the wood again and since then, he had stopped the work of cutting wood. He denied the suggestion that on account of the aforesaid, he falsely deposed against the son of Kamlesh, namely, Ajay. He also denied that the incident did not occur before him.

P.W.3 had further deposed in his cross-examination that the deceased Kadhiley was the elder brother of his father. At the time of incident, Noor Mohammad and Sarafat (convicts/ appellants) were working as "Watch-man' in the forest. When he used to prepare "Jhabai' after cutting the wood from forest and sold that, his business was going on but when Noor Mohammad and Sarafat (convicts/appellants) did strictness, then, his business of preparing "Jhabai' after cutting the wood from forest was stopped. He denied the suggestion that on account of the aforesaid, he falsely deposed against Noor Mohammd and Sarafat (convicts/appellants). He also denied that he had not seen any incident.

P.W.3 had also deposed in his cross-examination that Inspector had recorded his statement. The Investigating Officer of the case had recorded his statement after 1-1½ month from the date of incident. When the "panchayatnama' of the deadbody was prepared, he was present but his statement was not recorded by the Inspector, who was preparing the "panchayatnama' of the deadbody. His statement was recorded by another police personnel. The place where he was standing at the time of incident, was shown by him to the Inspector.

(18) After completion of the prosecution evidence, statement of the convicts/appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded in which they have denied the entire prosecution case and had stated that Sarafat and Noor Mohammad (convicts/appellants) were the "Watchman' in the Forest Department, whereas father of Ajay (convict/appellant), namely, Kamlesh, was the Forester in the Forest Department. The informant (P.W.1) and his family members used to cut wood of forest stealthily, therefore, they (convicts/appellants Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and father of convict/appellant Ajay, namely, Kamlesh) restrained the informant (P.W.1) and his family members from cutting the wood in the forest and due to this reason, the convicts/ appellants were falsely implicated in the instant case.

(19) The learned trial Court believed the evidence of Brahmadeen (P.W.1), Maina Devi (P.W.2) and Gauri Shanker (P.W.3) and found the appellants guilty for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and, accordingly, convicted and sentenced the appellants in the manner stated in paragraph-2 here-in-above. The trial Court, however, acquitted the appellants for the offences punishable under Sections 504, 506 (2) I.P.C. and Section 3(2)(v) of the S.C./S.T. Act.

(20) It is pertinent to mention that the State of U.P. has not preferred any appeal under Section 378 (1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure against the acquittal of the appellants under Sections 504, 506 (2) I.P.C. and Section 3 (2) (v) of the S.C./S.T. Act.

(21) As mentioned earlier, aggrieved by their conviction and sentences, convicts/appellants Sarafat and Noor Mohammad preferred Criminal Appeal No. 61 of 2010 before this Court and convict/appellant Ajay also preferred another appeal i.e. Criminal Appeal No. 120 of 2010.

(22) Heard Shri Nagendra Mohan assisted by Shri Anil Kumar Mishra, learned Counsel for the convicts/appellant Ajay in Criminal Appeal No. 120 of 2010, Shri Nadeem Murtaza, learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants Sarafat and Noor Mohammad in Criminal Appeal No. 61 of 2010 and Smt. Smiti Sahai, learned Additional Government Advocate for the respondent/State.

(23) Shri Abhishek Mishra, learned Counsel for the complainant did not appear.

(C) ARGUMENTS ON BEHALF OF THE CONVICTS/ APPELLANTS

(24) Shri Nagendra Mohan assisted by Shri Anil Kumar Mishra, learned Counsel for the convicts/appellant Ajay in Criminal Appeal No. 120 of 2010 has argued as under :-

I. The alleged incident was said to be occurred on 18/19.04.2004, at 02:00 a.m., whereas the F.I.R. of the alleged incident was lodged on 19.04.2004 at 10 a.m. The distance between the place of the incident and police station Nighasan was 13 Kms. Thus, there was an unexplained delay of about eight hours in lodging the FIR which indicates that the alleged eyewitnesses i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 were not present at the scene of occurrence;

II. There was no motive on the part of the convicts/ appellants to commit the murder of the deceased Kadhiley. However, motive for falsely implicating the convicts/appellants was available on the part of the informant (P.W.1) and his family members inasmuch as informant (P.W.1) and his family members used to cut the wood of forest by theft and the convicts/appellants Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and father of convict/appellant Ajay, namely, Kamlesh, being Watchman and Forester, respectively, used to restrain the informant (P.W.1) and his family members from cutting the wood from the forest illegally.

III. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, the alleged eyewitnesses, were son, daughter and nephew of the deceased Kadhiley and they were interested witnesses, hence testimonies of all three eyewitnesses being interested testimony cannot be said trustworthy;

IV. Though at the time of incident, the prosecution had alleged that the independent witnesses were also present but none of the independent witness was produced by the prosecution to prove the prosecution case.

V. The alleged incident occurred on 18/19.04.2004, at 02:00 a.m. in a dark night and, hence identification of convicts/appellants was not possible as there was no source of light available. Prosecution story of ''Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp), placed on "Kuthla' (box made with soil) in the thatch of the deceased Kudhiley burning and P.W.3 Gauri Shanker armed with torch at the time of incident, is incredible as during investigation also no alleged "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) and no torch were seized by the Investigating Officer and therefore, in absence of any source of light, claim by the witnesses that they had identified the convicts/appellants, was impossible and is not creditworthy.

VI. The evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 indicates that there was prior enmity between the deceased Kadhiley and convicts/appellants because of which false implication cannot be ruled out;

VII. The investigation of the case was tainted as the blood stained clothes were not seized by the Investigating Officer at the time of panchayatnama. P.W.3-Gauri Shanker had deposed in his cross-examination that when he reached at the place of occurrence, Maina Devi (P.W.2) and Pammi were crying by clinging the deadbody of the deceased Kadhiley and stains of blood was present on the cloths of Maina Devi (P.W.2) and Pammi. But the Investigating Officer did not seize the clothes of Maina Devi (P.W.2) and Pammi;

VIII. The prosecution story does not find any corroboration from medical evidence. In the F.I.R., it was alleged that all the three convicts/appellants murdered the deceased Kadhiley by inflicting injuries with sword. All the alleged three eye-witnesses had deposed before the trial Court that at the time of incident, Sarafat (convict/appellant) assaulted the deceased with sword, whereas other two convicts, namely, Noor Mohammad and Ajay only caught hold the legs and hands of the deceased Kadhiley. However, injuries no. 5 and 6, are contusions, which could be attributable by blunt object like lathi and danda but the prosecution had denied the use of any blunt object like lathi and danda in the alleged incident. Hence, looking to the aforesaid contradictions, convicts/ appellants be granted benefit of doubt.

(25) Shri Nadeem Murtaza, learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants in Criminal Appeal No. 61 of 2010 has supported the aforesaid arguments and argued that he has nothing to add further.

(D) ARGUMENTS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENT/ STATE

(26) Mrs. Smiti Sahai, learned Additional Government Advocate for the respondent/State, on the other hand, has vehemently opposed the aforesaid submissions of the learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants and has argued as under :-

I. The prosecution version stood proved beyond all reasonable doubt on the basis of testimonies of witnesses of facts i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 during the trial proving the charge framed against the convicts/ appellants.

II. The delay in lodging the FIR has been satisfactorily explained by P.W.1 and P.W.2 in their respective testimonies. Both these witnesses have categorically stated that the incident was occurred on 18/19.04.2004, at 02:00 a.m. but on account of fear, informant (P.W.1) did not go to the police station for lodging the report of the incident and he went to the police station only in the morning.

III. At the time of incident, there was sufficient light at the place of incident to recognize the convicts/appellants as P.W.1 and P.W.2 had deposed that at the time of incident, ''Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) placed beneath thatch was burning, whereas P.W.3 had deposed that he was having torch at the time of incident.

IV. The medical evidence on record fully corroborates the ocular testimonies, and despite embellishments and deviations, is not going to change the texture of prosecution case.

V. The recorded conviction of the convicts/appellants is based upon cogent and clinching evidence and the sentence of imprisonment for life awarded to them is also supported by relevant considerations.

VI. So far as minor contradictions in the statement of the prosecution witnesses viz. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 are concerned, she argued that there is much gap in recording the examination-in-chief and cross-examination of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, hence possibility of minor contradictions in their statements cannot be ruled out and on that basis, the convicts/appellants cannot be granted benefit of doubt as the prosecution has proved it's case beyond all reasonable doubts on the basis of evidence available on record.

VII. Hence, the impugned order passed by learned trial Court does not suffer from any illegality, infirmity or perversity warranting any interference by the Court.

(E) ANALYSIS

E.1. Delay in lodging the F.I.R.

(27) The first issue relates to the credibility of the F.I.R. Learned counsel for the convicts/appellants has questioned its reliability on the ground that there was unexplained delay of 8 hours in lodging of the F.I.R. which has rendered the entire prosecution liable to be rejected.

(28) It is pertinent to mention here that the issue whether prosecution case is liable to be thrown out merely on the ground of delay itself or not has been examined by the Apex Court in a catena of decisions and this Court deem it apt to refer to some of the authorities on the issue.

(29) In Ravinder Kumar and another Vs. State of Punjab : AIR 2001 SC 3576, the Apex Court has observed as under :-

"The attack on prosecution cases on the ground of delay in lodging FIR has almost bogged down as a stereotyped redundancy in criminal cases. It is a recurring feature in most of the criminal cases that there would be some delay in furnishing the first information to the police. It has to be remembered that law has not fixed any time for lodging the FIR. Hence a delayed FIR is not illegal. Of course a prompt and immediate lodging of the FIR is the ideal as that would give the prosecution a twin advantage. First is that it affords commencement of the investigation without any time lapse. Second is that it expels the opportunity for any possible concoction of a false version. Barring these two plus points for a promptly lodged FIR the demerits of the delayed FIR cannot operate as fatal to any prosecution case. It cannot be overlooked that even a promptly lodged FIR is not an unreserved guarantee for the genuineness of the version incorporated therein.

When there is criticism on the ground that FIR in a case was delayed the court has to look at the reason why there was such a delay. There can be a variety of genuine causes for FIR lodgment to get delayed. Rural people might be ignorant of the need for informing the police of a crime without any lapse of time. This kind of unconversantness is not too uncommon among urban people also. They might not immediately think of going to the police station. Another possibility is due to lack of adequate transport facilities for the informers to reach the police station. The third, which is a quite common bearing, is that the kith and kin of the deceased might take some appreciable time to regain a certain level of tranquility of mind or sedativeness of temper for moving to the police station for the purpose of furnishing the requisite information. Yet another cause is, the persons who are supposed to give such information themselves could be so physically impaired that the police had to reach them on getting some nebulous information about the incident.

We are not providing an exhausting catalogue of instances which could cause delay in lodging the FIR. Our effort is to try to point out that the stale demand made in the criminal courts to treat the FIR vitiated merely on the ground of delay in its lodgment cannot be approved as a legal corollary. In any case, where there is delay in making the FIR the court is to look at the causes for it and if such causes are not attributable to any effort to concoct a version no consequence shall be attached to the mere delay in lodging the FIR. [Vide Zahoor vs. State of UP (1991 Suppl.(1) SCC 372; Tara Singh vs. State of Punjab (1991 Suppl.(1) SCC 536); Jamna vs. State of UP (1994 (1) SCC 185). In Tara Singh (Supra) the Court made the following observations:

"It is well settled that the delay in giving the FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case. Knowing the Indian conditions as they are we cannot expect these villagers to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. Human nature as it is, the kith and kin who have witnessed the occurrence cannot be expected to act mechanically with all the promptitude in giving the report to the police. At times being grief-stricken because of the calamity it may not immediately occur to them that they should give a report. After all it is but natural in these circumstances for them to take some time to go to the police station for giving the report." "

(30) In State of Himanchal Pradesh Vs. Gian Chand : AIR 2001(1) SC 2075, the Apex Court has observed as under :-

"Delay in lodging the FIR cannot be used as a ritualistic formula for doubting the prosecution case and discarding the same solely on the ground of delay in lodging the first information report. Delay has the effect of putting the Court in its guard to search if any explanation has been offered for the delay, and if offered, whether it is satisfactory or not. If the prosecution fails to satisfactorily explain the delay and there is possibility of embellishment in prosecution version on account of such delay, the delay would be fatal to the prosecution. However, if the delay is explained to the satisfaction of the court, the delay cannot by itself be a ground for disbelieving and discarding the entire prosecution case."

(31) In view of the aforesaid dictum of the Apex Court, the legal position which emerges out is that it is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that mere delay in lodging the FIR may not prove fatal in all cases, but in the given circumstances of the case delay in lodging the FIR can be one of the factors which may corrode the credibility of the prosecution version but delay in lodging the FIR cannot be a ground itself for throwing away the entire prosecution version as given in the FIR and later substantiated by the evidence, unless there are indications of fabrication. The Court has further to seek explanation for delay and check the truthfulness of the version to inquire and if the court is satisfied then the case of prosecution cannot fall on this ground alone.

(32) In the instant case, the incident was occurred in the intervening night of 18/19.04.2004, at 02:00 a.m., whereas the F.I.R. of the incident was lodged on 19.04.2004 at 10:00 a.m. by Brahmadeen (P.W.1), the son of deceased. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station Nighasan was 13 Kms. Thus, in order to ascertain whether the prosecution has come up with any satisfactory explanation for the delay in lodging the F.I.R., it would be useful to look into the evidence of PW1 and PW2 in this regard.

(33) PW1, Brahmadeen, informant, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that on account of fear, he could not go to lodge the report in the night. In his cross-examination, he had categorically deposed that at the time of incident, his mother Shakuntala, his brother Sunder Lal and his wife went to in-law's house of his brother Sunder Lal at Munna Purwa, which is situated 3 Kms. away from his village, for attending the marriage function of brother-in-law of his brother Sunder Lal. In the morning at 06:00 a.m., he sent the information with regard to the incident to his brother Sunder Lal, his wife and mother Shakuntala, who, on receiving the information of the incident, returned back to his village at about 07:00 a.m. Thereafter, he proceeded to police station for lodging the report of the incident at police station Nighasan on foot and reached Nighasan at 09:00 a.m. On the crossroad of Nighasan, he found a person named Ramesh and he narrated the incident to him. Thereafter, the said Ramesh, after bringing a paper and pen from the stationery shop, scribed the report on his dictation and after that he affixed his thumb impression on that and proceeded to lodge the report at Police Station Nighasan. He categorically stated that half an hour was consumed in scribing the report and after that he went to police station Nighasan, wherein he sat at police station Nighasan at about half an hour. He proved the written report (Ext. Ka.1).

(34) P.W.2-Smt. Maina Devi, in cross-examination, had deposed that her brother (P.W.1) was going to lodge the report of the incident in the night but he (P.W.1) returned back to home on seeing that convicts/appellants was barricading the way in southern direction of her house.

(35) Thus, from the relevant extracts of the statement of PW1 and PW2, it transpires that although there was some delay in lodging the F.I.R. but the same cannot be attributed to the informant or can be said to be deliberate with the object of implicating the convicts/appellants. The delay in lodging the F.I.R., in our opinion, has been satisfactory explained by P.W.1 and P.W.2.

E.2 Evidence of ''interested witnesses'

(36) The contention of the learned Counsel for the convicts/ appellants is that all the prosecution witnesses P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 (so called eye-witnesses) are all related and interested witnesses as they are son, daughter and nephew, respectively, to the deceased Kadhiley, hence their evidence cannot be said to be a trustworthy.

(37) To prove its case, the prosecution has relied upon the evidence of three eye-witnesses viz. PW-1 Brahmadeen, PW-2 Maina Devi and PW-3 Gauri Shanker. PW-1, who is the son of the deceased, had deposed that on the day of incident i.e. in the intervening night of 18/19.04.2004, at about 2:00 am, convicts/appellants Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay, were drinking water from the hand-pump installed in front of his house, upon which his father Kadhiley (deceased) had made objection. Thereafter, convicts/appellants used abusive language against his father Kadhiley, to which his father Kadhiley asked convicts/appellants not to use abusive language. After that convicts/appellants brought his father Kadhiley towards road. On seeing this, he (P.W.1) and his sister Maina Devi (P.W.2) ran to save his father Kadhiley but convicts/appellants were inflicting injuries on the neck of his father Kadhiley with sword, as a consequence of which, his father Kadhiley died on spot. On hue and cry, Gauri Shanker (P.W.3) and Tulsi were also came there and they challenged the convicts/appellants. After that, convicts/appellants, while threatening to kill them, ran away towards southern direction. PW-1 also deposed that he did not immediately went to the police station due to the fear of the convicts/appellants and lodged his report on 19.04.2014 at 10:00 a.m. He also deposed that a case under Section 307 I.P.C. was contested between the deceased Kadhiley and Kamlesh and his son before 11 years ago. During the course of his cross-examination, PW-1 was questioned in detail about the location of the incident and the position of the deceased. He also deposed that first of all, he heard the noise of his father Kadhiley and after that he heard the noise of his sister Maina Devi. At the time of the incident, Maina Devi (P.W.2) was with his father Kadhiley. His house and thatch where his father (deceased) and his sister (P.W.2) used to live, were joined with a corridor. At the time of incident, he was at his house, which was 5-6 steps away from the house where his father Kadhiley and Maina Devi (P.W.2) were living. He denied the fact that he had written in the report that all the three convicts/appellants murdered his father by inflicting injuries on the neck of his father with sword, but he deposed that when he reached at the place of incident, he saw sword in the hands of Sarafat (convict/appellant) and no weapon was seen by him in the hands of other convicts/appellants. P.W.1 had also deposed that lamp was burning inside the thatch of his father Kadhiley. P.W.2 - Maina Devi specifically deposed about the proximity of her house from the house of her brothers Brahmadeen (P.W.1) and Sunder Lal. She denied that at the time of incident, she went to wake up his brother Brahmadeen nor his brother Brahmadeen came her house to wake up her. She furnished a cogent reason to be present at the place of incident stating that she being daughter of the deceased Kadhiley was sleeping on a cot inside the house along with his sister Kanyawati. During his deposition, PW-2 specifically referred to the role and presence of the convicts/appellant Sarafat being armed with sword and other convicts/appellants caught hold the legs and hands of the deceased Kadhiley. PW-3 Gauri Shanker, in similar terms, deposed about the place where convicts/appellants inflicted injuries on the person of the deceased. PW-3 stated that at the time of incident, he was sleeping in his house, which is adjacent to the house of the deceased Kadhiley. On hearing the noise of Maina Devi (P.W.2), he came outside his house and saw in the light of his torch that while using abusive language, Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay were pulling the deceased Kadhiley and then Maina Devi (P.W.2) ran to save his father. After that Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay hit with sword on the neck of the deceased Kadhiley, as a consequence of which, the deceased Kadhiley died instantaneously. Thereafter, the convicts/ appellants, while threatening to kill them, fled away. On screaming, Tulsi came.

(38) Having carefully considered the depositions of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, there is no material inconsistency regarding the nature or genesis of the incident. All the three witnesses have deposed to (i) the presence of the deceased at the place of incident; (ii) the presence of the convicts/appellants at the place of occurrence; and (iii) convicts/appellants while using abusive language pulled out the deceased and killed the deceased with sword; as a result of which the deceased died instantaneously.

(39) It is well-settled in law that mere fact that relatives of the deceased are the only witnesses is not sufficient to discredit their cogent testimonies. The Apex Court in Mohd. Rojali v. State of Assam : (2019) 19 SCC 567 reiterated the distinction between "interested" and "related" witnesses and has held that the mere fact that the witnesses are related to the deceased does not impugn the credibility of their evidence if it is otherwise credible and cogent. The relevant extract of the report is reproduced as under :-

that a related witness cannot be said to be an "interested' witness merely by virtue of being a relative of the victim. This Court has elucidated the difference between "interested' and "related' witnesses in a plethora of cases, stating that a witness may be called interested only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation, which in the context of a criminal case would mean that the witness has a direct or indirect interest in seeing the accused punished due to prior enmity or other reasons, and thus has a motive to falsely implicate the accused (for instance, see State of Rajasthan v. Kalki, (1981) 2 SCC 752; Amit v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 107; and Gangabhavani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy, (2013) 15 SCC298). Recently, this difference was reiterated in Ganapathi v. State of Tamil Nadu, (2018) 5 SCC 549, in the following terms, by referring to the three-Judge bench decision inState of Rajasthan v. Kalki (supra):

"14. "Related" is not equivalent to "interested". A witness may be called "interested" only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be "interested"..."

14. In criminal cases, it is often the case that the offence is witnessed by a close relative of the victim, whose presence on the scene of the offence would be natural. The evidence of such a witness cannot automatically be discarded by labelling the witness as interested. Indeed, one of the earliest statements with respect to interested witnesses in criminal cases was made by this Court in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, 1954 SCR 145, wherein this Court observed:

"26. A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person..."

15. In case of a related witness, the Court may not treat his or her testimony as inherently tainted, and needs to ensure only that the evidence is inherently reliable, probable, cogent and consistent. We may refer to the observations of this Court in Jayabalan v. Union Territory of Pondicherry, (2010) 1 SCC 199:

"23. We are of the considered view that in cases where the Court is called upon to deal with the evidence of the interested witnesses, the approach of the Court while appreciating the evidence of such witnesses must not be pedantic. The Court must be cautious in appreciating and accepting the evidence given by the interested witnesses but the Court must not be suspicious of such evidence. The primary endeavour of the Court must be to look for consistency. The evidence of a witness cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from the mouth of a person who is closely related to the victim."

(40) Keeping in mind the aforesaid dictum of the Apex Court and also considering the testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 as well as on perusal of the impugned order, this Court find that the evidence on the record has been carefully evaluated by the trial Court. There is no basis to discredit the presence of the three eye-witnesses i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 and nothing has been elicited out in the course of the cross-examination to doubt their presence. The nature of the injuries found to have been sustained by the deceased is consistent with the account furnished by the eye-witnesses.

E.3 Contradictions in the statements of the eye-witnesses P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3

(41) From examination of the statements made by the witnesses PWs-1, 2 and 3, it would apt to mention here that it cannot be said that the omissions/improvements in the version of the witnesses makes their testimony untrustworthy due to contradiction therein. As a matter of fact, from a close scrutiny of the Case Diary, this Court find that the statements of the witnesses had been recorded by the Investigating Officer in a concised form by confining the same to the substance of the statement, without going into every details and therefore, it is possible that the minute details which the witnesses had deposed before the Court were not recorded by the police in the statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

(42) Section 145 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, lays down the manner in which cross-examination of the witnesses is to be made as to any previous statement made in writing. Section 145 of the Evidence Act is quoted herein below :-

"145. Cross-examination as to previous statements in writing.--A witness may be cross-examined as to previous statements made by him in writing or reduced into writing, and relevant to matters in question, without such writing being shown to him, or being proved; but, if it is intended to contradict him by the writing, his attention must, before the writing can be proved, be called to those parts of it which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him."

(43) In V. K. Mishra and another Vs. State of Uttarakhand and another : (2015) 9 SCC 588, the Apex Court also had the occasion to consider the correct manner of proving contradictions as to any previous statement made by a witness. Upon interpretation of Section 145 of the Evidence Act, the following observations have been made by the Apex Court in paragraph 19 of the aforesaid decision, which are as follows :-

"19. Under Section 145 of the Evidence Act when it is intended to contradict the witness by his previous statement reduced into writing, the attention of such witness must be called to those parts of it which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him, before the writing can be used. While recording the deposition of a witness, it become the duty of the trial court to ensure that the part of the police statement with which it is intended to contradict the witness is brought to the notice of the witness in his cross-examination. The attention of witness is drawn to that part and this must reflect in his cross-examination by reproducing it. If the witness admits the part intended to contradict him, it stands proved and there is no need to further proof of contradiction and it will be read while appreciating the evidence. If he denies having made that part of the statement, his attention must be drawn to that statement and must be mentioned in the deposition. By this process the contradiction is merely brought on record, but it is yet to be proved. Thereafter when investigating officer is examined in the court, his attention should be drawn to the passage marked for the purpose of contradiction, it will then be proved in the deposition of the investigating officer who again by referring to the police statement will depose about the witness having made that statement. The process again involves referring to the police statement and culling out that part with which the maker of the statement was intended to be contradicted. If the witness was not confronted with that part of the statement with which the defence wanted to contradict him, then the court cannot suo motu make use of statements to police not proved in compliance with Section 145 of the Evidence Act that is, by drawing attention to the parts intended for contradiction."

(44) In the instant case, this Court finds that the Counsel for the appellants had failed to invite the attention of the witnesses PWs-1, 2 and 3 as to any previous statements in writing so as to contradict the witnesses. On the contrary, an attempt has been made to prove such contradictions.

(45) It is pertinent to mention here that from depositions of the prosecution witnesses i.e. P.Ws. 1, 2 and 3, it transpires that the examination-in-chief of P.W.1 was recorded by the trial Court on 18.05.2005, whereas his cross-examinations was recorded before the trial Court on five different dates i.e. on 24.05.2005, 02.09.2005, 18.11.2005, 12.06.2006 and 11.10.2006. The examination-in-chief of P.W.2 was recorded before the trial Court on 18.05.2005 and her cross-examination was recorded before the trial Court on 11.10.2006. The examination-in-chief of P.W.3 and some part of his cross-examination were recorded before the trial Court on 04.11.2006, whereas some part of his cross-examination was recorded on 11.12.2006. Thus, it clearly shows that there were quite long gaps/intervals between recording the examination-in-chief and cross-examination of the eye-witnesses (P.Ws. 1, 2 and 3). Hence, it is quite possible that contradictions as pointed out by the learned Counsel for the appellants could be made on account of loss of memory. More so, sense of observation differs from person to person.

(46) In Narayan Chetanram Chaudhary & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra :(2000) 8 SCC 457, the Apex Court has considered the minor contradictions in the testimony, while appreciating the evidence in criminal trial and has held that only contradictions in material particulars and not minor contradictions can be a ground to discredit the testimony of the witnesses. Relevant portion of Para 42 of the judgment reads as under :-

"42. Only such omissions which amount to contradiction in material particulars can be used to discredit the testimony of the witness. The omission in the police statement by itself would not necessarily render the testimony of witness unreliable. When the version given by the witness in the court is different in material particulars from that disclosed in his earlier statements, the case of the prosecution becomes doubtful and not otherwise. Minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and the sense of observation differ from person to person. The omissions in the earlier statement if found to be of trivial details, as in the present case, the same would not cause any dent in the testimony of PW 2. Even if there is contradiction of statement of a witness on any material point, that is no ground to reject the whole of the testimony of such witness....."

(47) Having regard to the ratio of law laid down in Narayan Chetanram Chaudhary (supra) and V. K. Mishra (supra), this Court is of the view that learned Counsel for the convicts/ appellants had failed to prove the contradictions in the statements, made by the prosecution witnesses as per the requirement of law and therefore, they could not be permitted to avail the benefit of such alleged contradictions, if any, in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses and further such contradictions do not erode the credibility of the prosecution witnesses since the basic facts stated by them before the police do not contradict their earlier statements in such a manner so that both their statements cannot co-exist. Moreover, this Court finds that the version given by P.Ws-1, 2 and 3 broadly bears up the same story without any vital contradictions and therefore, their evidence is found to be trustworthy.

E.4. Motive

(48) Learned Counsel for the appellants/convicts has argued that there is nothing on record which may attract or warrants the commission of offence at deadly hours of night. According to him, there was no motive on the part of the convicts/appellants to commit the murder of the deceased Kadhiley.

(49) It transpires from perusal of the impugned judgment and order dated 14.12.2009 that convicts/appellants themselves had shown previous enmity with the informant by filing list Kha-8 as earlier also a report was made against the convicts/appellants for the deadly attack on the informant by them. Paper No. Kha 8/2 filed before the trial Court related to the report of the incident occurred on 13.05.1996, at 12 O'clock in the night when accused Kamlesh, Ajai, Sarafat and Noor Mohammad (convicts/appellants) armed with lathi, danda and countrymade pistol had entered the house of the informant and with intention to kill him fired upon the informant and also inflicted injuries upon other family members of the informant with lathi and danda. Paper No. Kha 8/4 filed before the trial Court related to the report of the incident occurred on 23.05.1994 at mid night when Kamlesh and other accused persons entered the house of the informant and fired on the chest of the informant. Paper No. Kha 9/2 filed before the trial Court is related to the judgment in Case Crime No. 83 of 1994. The trial Court, after considering the aforesaid documents, came to the conclusion that these documents shows that before the incident, convicts/appellants had entered into the house of the informant and fired upon him with intention to kill him and further in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., convicts/appellants themselves admitted the fact that there was enmity with the informant. The trial Court had also found that vide orders dated 31.08.2009 and 23.09.2009 passed in Sessions Trial No. 991 of 1997 : State Vs. Sarafat, which was relating to the incident when the convicts/ appellants entered into the house of the informant and caused injuries with intention to kill him, the trial Court had convicted the convicts/appellants. In these backgrounds, the trial Court had came to the conclusion that the prosecution had established the motive to commit the murder of the deceased.

(50) On due consideration, this Court is of the view that the trial Court has rightly came to the conclusion that there was motive on the part of the convicts/appellants to commit the murder of the deceased.

E.5. Non-examination of Independent Witness

(51) It has been contended by the learned Counsel for the appellants that though at the time of incident, the prosecution had alleged that the independent witnesses were also present but none of the independent witness was produced by the prosecution to prove the prosecution case.

(52) In Surinder Kumar v. State of Punjab : (2020) 2 SCC 563, the Apex Court has observed that merely because prosecution did not examine any independent witness, would not necessarily lead to conclusion that accused was falsely implicated.

(53) In Rizwan Khan v. State of Chhattisgarh : (2020) 9 SCC 627, after referring to State of H.P. v. Pardeep Kumar (2018) 13 SCC 808, the Apex Court has observed that the examination of independent witnesses is not an indispensable requirement and such non-examination is not necessarily fatal to the prosecution case.

(54) In Gulam Sarbar v. State of Bihar : (2014) 3 SCC 401, the Apex Court has held as under :-

"19. In the matter of appreciation of evidence of witnesses, it is not the number of witnesses but quality of their evidence which is important, as there is no requirement under the Law of Evidence that any particular number of witnesses is to be examined to prove/disprove a fact. It is a time-honoured principle that evidence must be weighed and not counted. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

The legal system has laid emphasis on value provided by each witness, rather than the multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is quality and not quantity, which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided by Section 134 of the Evidence Act. Even in probate cases, where the law requires the examination of at least one attesting witness, it has been held that production of more witnesses does not carry any weight.

Thus, conviction can even be based on the testimony of a sole eyewitness, if the same inspires confidence. (Vide Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras [AIR 1957 SC 614: 1957 Cri LJ 1000] , Kunju v. State of T.N. [(2008) 2 SCC 151: (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 331] , Bipin Kumar Mondal v. State of W.B. [(2010) 12 SCC 91: (2011) 2 SCC (Cri) 150 : AIR 2010 SC 3638] , Mahesh v. State of M.P. [(2011) 9 SCC 626 : (2011) 3 SCC (Cri) 783], Prithipal Singh v. State of Punjab [(2012) 1 SCC 10 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 1] and Kishan Chand v. State of Haryana [(2013) 2 SCC 502 : (2013) 2 SCC (Cri) 807: JT (2013) 1 SC 222].)"

(55) Applying the law laid down by the Apex Court in the aforesaid decisions to the facts of the case on hand and when, as observed by the trial Court, the prosecution witnesses have fully supported the case of the prosecution, more particularly P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 and they are found to be trustworthy and reliable, non-examination of the independent witnesses is not fatal to the case of the prosecution.

(56) Nothing is on record that Tulsi son of Tekan and other persons as mentioned in the FIR reached the spot were mentioned as witnesses in the chargesheet. In any case, P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 have fully supported the case of the prosecution and, therefore, non-examination of the aforesaid persons shall not be fatal to the case of the prosecution.

E.6. Source of Light on Spot

(57) Learned Counsel for the appellant has contended that availability of source of light has not been mentioned in the written report submitted by the informant P.W.1. According to him, though P.W.1 had stated before the trial Court that "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) was lighting under chappar of the deceased at the time of the incident, whereas P.W.2 had stated that there was no source of light and P.W.3 claimed to see the incident in the light of torch but during investigation, the Investigating Officer had neither seized the alleged "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) nor seized the torch, hence in absence of any source of light, claim of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 that they had identified the convicts/appellants was impossible and is not trustworthy.

(58) In State of Uttar Pradesh v. Naresh and Ors. : (2011) 4 SCC 324, the Apex Court observed that it is settled legal proposition that FIR is not an encyclopedia of the entire case. It may not and need not contain all the details. Naming of the accused therein may be important but not naming of an accused in FIR may not be a ground to doubt the contents thereof in case the statement of the witness is found to be trustworthy. The court has to determine after examining the entire factual scenario whether a person has participated in the crime or has been falsely implicated. The informant fully acquainted with the facts may lack necessary skill or ability to reproduce details of the entire incident without anything missing from the same. Some people may miss even the most important details in narration.

(59) In view of the aforesaid dictum, this Court is of the view that non-mentioning the availability of ''Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) and torch by the informant P.W.1 in the written report is not fatal for the prosecution.

(60) So far as other contentions of the learned Counsel for the appellant regarding absence of source of light on spot is concerned, the evidence of P.W.1 shows that at the time of the incident, "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) was lighting under chappar of the deceased Kadhiley. The evidence of P.W.2 shows that though she had stated that there was no source of light at the time of the incident. P.W.3-Gauri Shanker had stated before the trial Court that though he had not seen any source of light on the spot but he was having a torch at the time of the incident. P.W.3-Gauri Shanker had also stated that from the place where the deadbody of the deceased was lying, the inner portion of the house of the deceased was visible, where "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) was burning. All these circumstances have established the fact that the prosecution witnesses had pointed out the source of light in any manner on spot at the time of the incident.

(61) So far as non-seizure of ''Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) and torch by the Investigating Officer is concerned, no doubt, the Investigating Officer had committed mistake in not seizing the "Dibbi' (a kerosene oil lamp) and torch under recovery memo but the benefit of same cannot be permitted to be given to the convicts/appellant, particularly when eye-witnesses of the incident P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 had supported the prosecution case beyond reasonable doubt.

(62) At this juncture, it would be apt to mention that in Nathuni Yadav vs State of Bihar : (1998) 9 SCC 238, with regard to identification in the dark, the Apex Court observed as under :-

"9.... Even assuming that there was no moonlight then, we have to gauge the situation carefully. The proximity at which the assailants would have confronted with the injured, the possibility of some light reaching there from the glow of stars, and the fact that the murder was committed on a roofless terrace are germane factors to be borne in mind while judging whether the victims could have had enough visibility to correctly identify the assailants. Over and above those factors, we must bear in mind the further fact that the assailants were no strangers to the inmates of the tragedybound house, the eyewitnesses being well acquainted with the physiognomy of each one of the killers.

We are, therefore, not persuaded to assume that it would not have been possible for the victims to see the assailants or that there was possibility for making a wrong identification of them. We are keeping in mind the fact that even the assailants had enough light to identify the victims whom they targeted without any mistake from among those who were sleeping on the terrace. If the light then available, though meager, was enough for the assailants why should we think that the same light was not enough for the injured who would certainly have pointedly focused their eyes on the faces of the intruders standing in front of them."

(63) In the instant case, from perusal of the testimonies of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, it transpires that there is evidence about the availability of light near the place of occurrence. Even otherwise there may not have been any source of light is hardly considered relevant in view of the fact that the parties were known to each other from earlier. The criminal jurisprudence developed in this country recognizes that the eye sight capacity of those who live in rural areas is far better than compared to the town folks. Identification at night between known persons is acknowledged to be possible by voice, silhouette, shadow, and gait also. Therefore, this Court do not find much substance in the submission of the convicts/ appellants that identification was not possible in the night to give them the benefit of doubt.

E.7. Medical Evidence

(64) Learned Counsel for the convicts/appellants had contended that in the F.I.R., it has been stated that all three convicts/appellants armed with sword had murdered the deceased but P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 had deposed before the trial Court that at the time of the incident, Sarafat (convict/appellant) assaulted the deceased with sword, whereas other two convicts, namely, Noor Mohammad and Ajay only caught hold the legs and hands of the deceased Kadhiley. According to him, injuries no. 5 and 6 are contusions, which could be attributable by blunt object like lathi and danda but the prosecution witnesses had denied the use of any blunt object like lathi and danda in the alleged incident, hence, the prosecution story does not find any corroboration from medical evidence as the prosecution has failed to explain the injuries no. 5 and 6 sustained by the deceased Kadhiley.

(65) From the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 recorded before the trial Court, it appears that Sarafat (convict/appellant) inflicted the injuries with sword on the neck of the deceased Kadhiley, whereas other two convicts/appelalnts, Noor Mohammad and Ajay, were caught hold the legs and hands of the deceased Kadhiley. P.W.1-Brahmadeeen, in his cross-examination, had denied that he has mentioned in the F.I.R. that all three accused (convicts/appellants) had murdered by inflicting injuries on the neck of his father with sword. P.W.1 had also deposed that if the aforesaid fact has been mentioned in the F.I.R., then, he could not tell the reasons thereof. Thus, the trial Court has rightly observed that the meaning of the prosecution could not be that all the three accused (convicts/appellants) had sword and all of them had inflicted injuries to the deceased with sword but it means that the deceased was murdered by the accused, in order to fulfill their common intention, with sword.

(66) It is true that the FIR is certainly the starting point of the investigation, but it is well within the rights of the prosecution to produce witness statements as they progress further into the investigation and unearth the specific roles of accused persons. The FIR as is known, only sets the investigative machinery, into motion. Thus, the plea of the appellants in this regard has no substance.

(67) P.W.6 Dr. J.P. Bhargava, who conducted the post-mortem of the deceased Kadhiley, had found six ante-mortem injuries on the person of the deceased, as referred in paragraph-11 hereinabove, out of which, four were incised wounds and two were contusions. P.W.6 Dr. J.P. Bhargava, in his cross-examination, had deposed before the trial Court that the death of the deceased could be caused on 18/19.04.2004 at 2:00 p.m.; incised wounds on the person of the deceased could be attributable by sharp edged weapons. In cross-examination, P.W.6 had deposed that ante-mortem injuries of the deceased could be attributable by two objects; (i) sharp edged weapon; (ii) blunt object. P.W.6 had further deposed that injuries no.5 and 6 could be attributable if injured was hit by big stone or injured was fallen on it. The evidence of P.W.1-Brahmadeen and P.W.2-Maina Devi shows that convicts/appellants dragged the deceased on the way; pushed him on the ground; and assaulted him with sword. Considering the aforesaid, the trial Court came to the conclusion that it is possible that during dragging the deceased; pushing him on the ground; and thereafter assaulted him, injuries no. 5 and 6 i.e. contusions could be attributable to the deceased.

(68) Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court is of the view that it cannot be said that medical evidence does not corroborate the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses. Hence the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant has no substance in this regard.

F. Conclusion

(69) From the above analysis, this Court is of the view that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against convicts/appellants and their conviction and sentence for the murder of deceased Kadhiley in the intervening night of 18/19.4.2004 by the impugned judgment is fully justified.

(70) In view of the foregoing discussions, the conviction and sentence of the appellants, Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay, for the murder of deceased Kadhiley by means of the impugned order dated 14.12.2009 does not call for any interference by this Court.

Appellants Sarafat, Noor Mohammad and Ajay are in jail and they shall serve out the sentence as ordered by the trial Court by means of impugned order dated 14.12.2019.

(71) Both the above-captioned appeals stand dismissed.

(72) Let a copy of this judgment and the original record be transmitted to the trial court concerned forthwith for information and necessary compliance.

The instant appeal is dismissed vide our order of date passed on separate sheets contained in Criminal Appeal No. 61 of 2010 : Sarafat and another Vs. State of U.P.

1. The above-captioned appeals have been preferred under Section 374(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure against the judgment and order dated 28.01.1997 passed by the Fifth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Bijnore in Session Trial No. 11 of 1995, arising out of Case Crime No. 800 of 1994, under Sections 302/201 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Shahar, District Bijnor, whereby the Additional District & Sessions Judge, Bijnor has convicted and sentenced the appellants to undergo life imprisonment under Section 302 read with section 34 IPC and to undergo five years rigorous imprisonment under Section 201 IPC.

INTRODUCTORY FACTS

2. In brief, the prosecution case is that one Roshal Lal (P.W.1) the informant, the brother of the deceased, submitted a written report dated 13.10.1994 (Ext. Ka-1) to In-charge Kotwali Shahar, Bijnor stating therein that his elder brother Surendra Singh had given testimony against Sumer (elder brother of appellant Suresh alias Chaveney) in a murder case in which Sumer was convicted. Since then the family members of Sumer were having grudges with him. For the last few days, accused/appellant Suresh alias Chaveney used to take away his elder brother Rajendra (deceased) for buying lottery tickets and was developing friendship with him. On 12.10.1994 at about 6.30 PM, his elder brother Rajendra (deceased) was standing with Raju (P.W.2) at the Ramlila ground then accused/appellant Mukesh came while pulling rickshaw on which accused/appellant Suresh alias Chaveney was sitting. Both the appellants took away his brother Rajendra in the presence of Raju (P.W.2) saying that they will enjoy the party of meat and wine at the hotel of Virendra situate at Chamarpeda as they had won the lottery. It was around 6.30 p.m., Prem Chand son of Ramswaroop and Tilak Raj (P.W.6) had witnessed the accused/appellants with Rajendra (deceased) at the hotel of Virendra.

Following day, i.e on 13.10.1994 in the early morning at about 4.00 AM, Yadram (P.W.5) went to the house of accused/ appellant Suresh alias Chaveney to book a car and there he saw that the accused/appellants were keeping a corpse in a sack whose legs were protruding outside. Both the appellants took out the said sack from the house and kept it on a rickshaw. Yadram (P.W.5) asked them as to what was in the sack, on which appellant Suresh alias Chaveney replied him that he took the revenge of enmity. They warned him (P.W.5) not to tell about it to any one, otherwise consequences would be bad to him.

On 13.10.1994 itself, when Roshan Lal (P.W.1) and his family members were searching for Rajendra then aforesaid persons disclosed the above facts and while searching for Rajendra the first informant reached near Singhal Dharmkanta where some women, men and children were standing. He had identified the dead body of his brother which was lying behind the Singhal Dharmakanta.

3. On the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka-1), First Information Report (Ext. Ka-4) was registered against the appellants as Case Crime No. 800 of 1994, under Sections 302/34 and 201 IPC at the Police Station- Kotwali Shahar, Bijnor on 13.10.94 at 9.05 AM. Check report (Ext.Ka-4) was prepared by Head Constable Ram Krapal (P.W.-8) and it has been disclosed in "Nakal Rapat' and accordingly "Roznamcha" was prepared.

4. After registration of the first information report, the postmortem of deceased- Rajendra was conducted by Dr. R. K. Maheshwari (P.W.-3) on 12/13.10.1994 at 11:00 PM. The corpse of the deceased was brought by C.P. 573, Harswaroop Singh (P.W.-4), and C.P. 1109 Ramveer, to the Mortuary. In the postmortem report (Ext. Ka-2), 14 ante-mortem injuries were reported as under :-

1. 5 lacerated wounds in an area of 9 cmx 8cm on the left side and right side of forehead and eyebrow, nose and right side of faces measuring 3.5 cmx1cm scalp, 5.5cmx1cm scalp deep,6cmx1cm bone deep, 2cmx1cmxbone deep, 2.5cmx0.5 cmx bone deep.

2. Lacerated wound 2cmx1cmxscalp deep on right side of head, 6cm on above left ear.

3. Abrasion 3cmx0.5cm on the right ear pinna.

4. Abraded contusion 4cmx2cm on right side face, 5.5cm on face of mouth from right side.

5. Lacerated wound 4cmx1cmx scalp deep on the left side forehead just above left eyebrow.

6. Abraded contusion 3cmx2cm on left side face and 4cm in front of ear.

7. Lacerated wound 3.5cmx1.5cm x scalp deep on left ear pinna.

8. Multiple abraded contusion over an area of 10cmx2.5cm on left side neck and chin 6cm below left ear.

9. Lacerated wound 3cmx1cmx scalp deep on the right side top of head 13cm in front of right ear.

10. Abrasion 9cmx1cm on back of left fore arm 5cm above wrist.

11. Abrasion 2cm.x0.5 cm on radial aspect of right forearm below elbow joint.

12. three lacerated over an area of 8cmx5cm on back of head 2.5cmx1cmxscalp deep, 2cmx0.5cmx scalp deep and 2.5cmx1cmx scalp deep.

13. Contusion with traumatic swelling over in area of 7cmx5cm on right side face in front of 1 cm right ear.

14. Blood was oozing from left ear.

5. The investigation of the case was initially conducted by the Investigation Officer, A.R. Mishra, Sub Inspector (P.W.9), who prepared inquest of the corpse of the deceased (Ext. Ka-6) and related papers, i.e., chalan lash (Ext. Ka-7), report of R.I. (Ext. Ka-8), photo lash (Ext. Ka-9), report of C.M.O. (Ext. Ka-10). The corpse of the deceased was sent by the Constable Harswaroop Singh (P.W.4) and Constable Ramvir Singh after sealing it for postmortem. The Investigating Officer prepared recovery memo of blood stained earth and plain earth (Ext. Ka-11), blood stained Bori Taat (printed in hindi and english "Maida Hari Bogh') and blood stained wooden broken danda (1 ft. 5 inch in length) (Ext. Ka-12), blood stained Chadar and blood stained broken piece of danda (Ext. Ka-14) and blood stained earth and blood stained piece of concrete (Ext. Ka-15). The Investigating Officer has also prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence (Exts. Ka-13 and 16) and sent the recovered articles to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Agra, through Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bijnor. He further deposited the recovered articles at the police station. The report of the Forensic Science Laboratory (Ext. Ka-17) is on record. The Investigating Officer recorded the statements of the witnesses and arrested the accused appellant Mukesh from outside his house, who confessed his guilt.

6. Following day, i.e., on 14.10.1994, the investigation of the case was entrusted to Rajvir Singh (P.W.-7) who recorded the statements of the witnesses Premchand, Tilak Raj (P.W.6) and Yadram (P.W.5) and also recorded the statements of accused/appellant Suresh alias Chaveney in the District Jail, Bijnor. After completion of the investigation, charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-3) was submitted against the accused appellants for the offence under Sections 302/34 and 201 IPC.

7. After receipt of the charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-3) cognizance of the offence was taken by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bijnor on 23.12.1994 and the case was committed to the Court of Sessions for trial. The trial court framed charges against the accused appellants for the offences under Sections 302/34 and 201 IPC on 25.02.1995, to which they denied and claimed to be tried.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

8. To bring home the guilt of the accused appellants, the prosecution examined as many as nine witnesses, viz.- informant Roshan Lal (P.W.-1) (brother of deceased Rajendra), who supported the prosecution version; Raju (P.W.-2) was declared hostile; Dr. R. K. Maheshwari (P.W.-3) proved the post-mortem report (Ext. Ka-2); Constable Harswaroop Singh (P.W.-4) brought the corpse of the deceased to the Mortuary for postmortem; Yadram (P.W.-5) a witness of fact who supported the prosecution case; Tilak Raj (P.W.-6) was declared hostile; S.H.O. Rajveer Singh (P.W.-7) proved the charge-sheet (Ext. Ka-3); Head Constable Ram Krapal Singh (P.W.-8) proved the check report (Ext. Ka-4) and G.D. (Ext.Ka-5); Sub-Inspector A. R. Mishra (P.W.-9) proved the inquest(Ext. Ka-6).

9. After completion of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. They were confronted with the incriminating evidence adduced against them during the course of trial, which they denied and pleaded innocence and stated that they were falsely implicated.

TRIAL COURT FINDINGS

10. The trial court after examining the evidence available on record believed the evidence of the prosecution witnesses as trustworthy and reliable, hence, by means of the impugned judgment and order convicted and sentenced the accused appellants for the offence as stated hereinabove.

11. Hence, these appeals at the behest of the convicted appellants.

12. Since the above-captioned appeals arise out of the common factual matrix and the judgment, both the appeals are being decided of by a common judgment.

13. Heard Shri Jai Raj Singh Tomar, learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of appellant-Suresh alias Chaveney in Criminal Appeal No. 210 of 1997 and Shri Vinod Kumar Tripathi, learned Advocate for the appellant-Mukesh in Criminal Appeal No. 478 of 1997 and Shri Patanjali Mishra, learned Advocate appearing on behalf of State-respondents in both the appeals and scanned the entire record and considered the arguments advanced.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF APPELLANTS

14. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the accused/appellants have been convicted and sentenced under Sections 302/34 and 201 IPC without there being any concrete evidence against them. The judgment of the trial court is based on surmises and conjectures. It was a case of circumstantial evidence and without there being a complete chain of circumstances, the appellants have been convicted.

15. To substantiate the aforesaid submission, it has been argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that informant Roshan Lal (P.W.1) had lodged the first information report against the accused appellants on a false story as disclosed by Raju(P.W.2), Premchand (not examined) and Yadram (P.W.5). Informant Roshan Lal(P.W.1) is not witness of any circumstance related to the alleged incident. There are discrepancies in the testimonies of the witnesses.

16. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that the deceased had sustained 14 injuries on his person caused by danda but there is no injury on the vital part of the body. In the post mortem report, as per the doctor (P.W.3) the death would have been occurred in between 9-10 PM till 4.00 AM in the morning of 12.10.1994, whereas in the cross- examination P.W.3 had stated that there was a possibility of death at 4.00 PM in the evening on 12.10.1994, therefore, there is a vast variation in the estimated time of death which creates a serious doubt about the time of the alleged incident testimony of prosecution witnesses.

17. Learned Counsel for the appellants further argued that there was no independent witness of the alleged recovery allegedly made at the instance of the accused appellants, the recovery was planted in order to frame the accused appellants by false and fabricated means. It is further submitted that the case rests on circumstantial evidence but none of the circumstances from which inference of guilt against the accused appellants could be drawn had been proved by cogent evidence.

18. Learned Counsel for the appellants has also argued that the motive to commit murder of deceased Rajendra was not proved by the prosecution but even then the trial court had convicted the accused appellants by misappreciation of evidence adduced by the prosecution.

SUBMISSION ON BEHALF OF THE STATE-RESPONDENTS

19. Learned counsel appearing for State-respondent, on the other hand, submitted that though the case rests on circumstantial evidence, but the chain of circumstances established on the basis of cogent evidence available on record which clearly indicate involvement of the accused appellants in the commission of the crime in question.

20. It is pointed out that the accused appellants committed murder of Rajendra(deceased) and threw his body. The dead body of the deceased Rajendra and several articles were discovered at the pointing out of the accused appellants. All these circumstances established the guilt of the accused appellants in committing the murder of the deceased.

21. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the material brought on record, it is manifestly clear that the trial Court has convicted the accused appellants merely on the basis of testimonies of the informant P.W.1-Roshan Lal and P.W.5-Yadram as well as recoveries made on the pointing out of accused/appellant Mahesh from the house of accused appellant Suresh alias Chaveney. It may be noted that P.W.2-Raju and P.W.6-Tilak Raj had been declared hostile.

22. To examine the guilt of the accused appellants, we must appreciate the evidence adduced by the prosecution. The present case being a case of circumstantial evidence, it is a well settled law that where there is no direct evidence against the accused and the prosecution rests its case on circumstantial evidence; the inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability, the act must have been done by the accused. All the links in the chain of circumstances must be complete and should be proved by cogent evidence.

23. In the case of Padala Veera Reddy v. State of A.P. : AIR 1990 SC 79, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court laid down the guiding principle with regard to appreciation of circumstantial evidence:-

"(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and

(4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

24. In the case of State of U.P. v. Ashok Kumar Srivastava : [1992] 1 SCR 37, the Apex Court pointed out that great care must be taken in evaluating circumstantial evidence and if the evidence relied on is reasonably capable of two inferences, the one in favour of the accused must be accepted. It was also pointed out that the circumstances relied upon must be found to have been fully established and the cumulative effect of all the facts so established must be consistent only with the hypothesis of guilt.

25. In the case of Sanatan Naskar and Anr. v. State of West Bengal reported in (2010) 8 SCC 249, the Hon'ble Supreme Court propounded as under:-

"13. There cannot be any dispute to the fact that it is a case of circumstantial evidence as there was no eye witness to the occurrence. It is a settled principle of law that an accused can be punished if he is found guilty even in cases of circumstantial evidence provided, the prosecution is able to prove beyond reasonable doubt complete chain of events and circumstances which definitely points towards the involvement and guilt of the suspect or accused, as the case may be. The accused will not be entitled to acquittal merely because there is no eye witness in the case. It is also equally true that an accused can be convicted on the basis of circumstantial evidence subject to satisfaction of accepted principles in that regard. "

26. In regard to appreciation of circumstantial evidence, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharshtra : 1984 Cri. L.J. 178 was pleased to observe in paras-150 to 158, which are quoted below:-

"150. It is well settled that the prosecution must stand or fall on its own legs and it cannot derive any strength from the weakness of the defence. This is trite law and no decision has taken a contrary view. What some cases have held is only this: where various links in a chain are in themselves complete than a false plea or a false defence may be called into aid only to lend assurance to the Court. In other words, before using the additional link it must be proved that all the links in the chain are complete and do not suffer from any infirmity. It is not the law that where is any infirmity or lacuna in the prosecution case, the same could be cured or supplied by a false defence or a plea which is not accepted by a Court.

151. Before discussing the cases relied upon by the High Court we would like to cite a few decisions on the nature, character and essential proof required in a criminal case which rests on circumstantial evidence alone. The fundamental and basic decision of the Apex Court is Hanumant v. The State of Madhya Pradesh.(1) This case has been uniformly followed and applied by this Court in a large number of later decisions uptodate, for instance, the cases of Tufail (Alias) Simmi v. State of Uttar Pradesh(2) and Ramgopal v. State of Maharashtra(3). It may be useful to extract what Mahajan, J. has laid down in Hanumant's case (supra):

"It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground far a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

152. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra where the following observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say. they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

153. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence.

154. It may be interesting to note that as regards the mode of proof in a criminal case depending on circumstantial evidence, in the absence of a corpus deliciti, the statement of law as to proof of the same was laid down by Gresson, J. (and concurred by 3 more Judges) in The King v. Horry,(l) thus:

"Before he can be convicted, the fact of death should be proved by such circumstances as render the commission of the crime morally certain and leave no ground for reasonable doubt: the circumstantial evidence should be so cogent and compelling as to convince a jury that up on no rational hypothesis other than murder can the facts be accounted for."

155. Lord Goddard slightly modified the expression, morally certain by 'such circumstances as render the commission of the crime certain'.

156. his indicates the cardinal principle' of criminal jurisprudence that a case can be said to be proved only when there is certain and explicit evidence and no person can be convicted on pure moral conviction. Horry's case (supra) was approved by this Court in Anant Chintaman Lagu v. The State of Bombay(2) Lagu's case as also the principles enunciated by this Court in Hanumant's case (supra) have been uniformly and consistently followed in all later decisions of this Court without any single exception. To quote a few cases Tufail's case (supra), Ramgopals case (supra), Chandrakant Nyalchand Seth v. The State of Bombay (Criminal Appeal No. 120 of 1957 decided on 19.2.58), Dharmbir Singh v. The State of Punjab (Criminal Appeal No. 98 of 1958 decided on 4.11.1958). There are a number of other cases where although Hanumant's case has not been expressly noticed but the same principles have been expounded and reiterated, as in Naseem Ahmed v. Delhi Administration(l). Mohan Lal Pangasa v. State of U.P.,(2) Shankarlal Gyarasilal Dixit v. State of Maharashtra(3) and M.C. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra(4)-a five-Judge Bench decision.

157. It may be necessary here to notice a very forceful argument submitted by the Additional Solicitor-General relying on a decision of this Court in Deonandan Mishra v. The State of Bihar(5), to supplement this argument that if the defence case is false it would constitute an additional link so as to fortify the prosecution case. With due respect to the learned Additional Solicitor General we are unable to agree with the interpretation given by him of the aforesaid case, the relevant portion of which may be extracted thus:

"But in a case like this where the various links as started above have been satisfactorily made out and the circumstances point to the appellant as the probable assailant, with reasonable definiteness and in proximity to the deceased as regards time and situation-such absence of explanation of false explanation would itself be an additional link which completes the chain."

158. t will be seen that this Court while taking into account the absence of explanation or a false explanation did hold that it will amount to be an additional link to complete the chain but these observations must be read in the light of what this Court said earlier, viz., before a false explanation can be used as additional link, the following essential conditions must be satisfied:

(1) various links in the chain of evidence led by the prosecution have been satisfactorily proved.

(2) the said circumstance point to the guilt of the accused with reasonable definiteness, and

(3) the circumstance is in proximity to the time and situation."

27. In regard to motive, in the case of Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police Krishnagiri : 2010 Cri. L.J. 3889 (SC), the Apex Court was pleased to observe in para 15 which is quoted below :-

"15. .....One could even say that the presence of motive in the facts and circumstances of the case creates a strong suspicion against the appellant but suspicion, howsoever strong, also cannot be a substitute for proof of the guilt of the accused beyond a reasonable doubt."

28. In the case of Bhagwan Jagannath Markad v. State Of Maharashtra : (2016) 10 SCC 537 the Hon'ble Apex Court summarized the principles for the appreciation of the credibility of witness where there are discrepancies or infirmaries in the statement:

"19. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the Court has to assess whether read as a whole it is truthful. in doing so the court has to keep in mind the deficiencies, drawback and infirmaries to find out whether such discrepancies shake the truthfulness. ...Only when discrepancies are so incompatible as to effect the credibility of the version of witness , the Court may reject the evidence. ...The Cout has to sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth. A statement may be partly rejected accepted."

29. In the present case, Roshan Lal (P.W.-1) has lodged the F.I.R. for the murder of his brother Rajendra. In cross-examination, the informant P.W.1 had deposed before the trial Court that when his brother Rajendra did not return home, he did not go to trace out his brother Rajendra (deceased) on 12.10.1994, rather on the following day, i.e., on 13.10.1994, he searched for his brother Rajendra on the basis of the information given by witnesses Premchandra (not produced), Yadram (P.W.5) and Raju (P.W.2). He further stated that the accused/appellants after killing his brother Rajendra kept his dead body in a sack and threw it at the Dharam Kanta. P.W.1 also deposed that he came to know about all the facts as they were told by Premchandra (not examined), Yadram (P.W.5) and Raju (P.W.2) (declared hostile).

30. For the sake of convenience, the testimonies which have been relied upon by the trial court are being referred hereinafter, which would go to show that there are material contradictions in their statements, which cannot be thrown away lightly.

31. Roshan Lal (P.W.-1), in his testimony deposed that Surendra was his elder brother, who had given testimony against Sumer (elder brother of appellant Suresh alias Chaveney) in a murder case in which Sumer was convicted. Since then the family members of Sumer were having enmity with him. From the last few days, accused appellant Suresh alias Chaveney used to take away his elder brother Rajendra for buying lottery tickets and was developing friendship with him. He further stated that on 12.10.1994 his elder brother Rajendra was standing with Raju at the Ramlila ground then the accused appellant Suresh came and accused appellant Mukesh came pulling rickshaw. He further deposed that the appellants took away his elder brother Rajendra on a rickshaw. It was 4:00 p.m. and, thereafter, he stated that it was 7:00-7.30 p.m. He further stated that Yadram had gone to the house of Suresh for booking a car where Yadaram saw a corpse, which was kept in a sack on a rickshaw. The legs of the corpse were protruding out side the sack. They took away the corpse from the house of Suresh. Yadram asked appellant Suresh alias Chaveney about the corpse, and he told that it was the dead body of Rajendra and that he has taken revenge of his brother. Appellant Suresh alias Chaveney also warned Yadram that if he narrated anything to anyone, the consequences would be bad. This witness (P.W.1) further deposed that on the date of the recovery of the dead body he and his family members were searching Rajendra in the Mohalla. He saw that there was a lot of crowd at the Ramlila ground near the Dharmkanta on Ganj Road then Premchandra, Raju and Yadram told that the corpse of Rajendra was lying at the Dharmkanta, where he reached and saw that the dead body of his elder brother was in a sack. Blood was oozing from his mouth and head. Thereafter, P.W.1 told the incident to his family members. He wrote the written report (Ext. Ka-1) in his hand writing and submitted in the Police Station on the basis of which the case was registered.

32. P.W.1, in cross examination, further stated that when his brother Rajendra did not return at night, he did not start his search. Following day, i.e., 12.10.1994 he made his searches. At the point of time of search, the witnesess told him about his brother Rajendra and the written report scribed giving narration as per the version of the witnesses. P.W.1 further stated that in the criminal case in which Surendra had given testimony against Sumer, 10-12 years back, deceased Rajendra was not a witness whereas, Vishnu and Chhote Lal were witnesses, they were living at Bijnor along with their family. In the case of murder, Sumer was convicted, wherein he was granted bail and the appeal was pending in the High Court. He further stated that Premchandra, Yadram and Raju had told him about the corpse of Rajendra. They also told him about this incident, then he went to see the corpse. He had narrated in the report that appellant Mukesh and others took away his brother Rajendra and after committing his murder kept his corpse in a sack and threw it on the land belonging to Nagarpalika. He had not mentioned about these things in the report and after some time he stated that he had mentioned the above in the report. He then stated that he did not tell the Inspector about this thing. He stated that he could not tell the reason about not mentioning the word "Dharmkanta' in the report. He further deposed in the cross examination that he had written in the report that both the accused, after committing murder of his brother, threw his corpse at the Dharmkanta. The witness then stated that if that was not written in his statement he could not tell the reason.

33. Raju (P.W.-2), in his testimony, deposed that he knew the accused Mukesh and Suresh. They neither came on rickshaw before him nor they took away deceased Rajendra with them. The accused did not say anything to deceased Rajendra in his

34. In the cross examination P.W.2 deposed that he did not know deceased Rajendra, he was not his friend. He did not know that decased Rajendra was habitual of playing lottery. He came to know about the murder of Rajendra but did not go to the place where the body was lying. The investigating officer had not recorded his statement. When the statement of P.W.2 recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was read out to him, he stated that he had not given any such statement to the Inspector, if as to how it was written was not known to him. This witness was, declared hostile.

35. Dr. Rajesh Kumar Maheshwari (P.W.-3), in his testimony, stated that on 13.10.1994, he was posted at T.B. Clinic Bijnor as the Medical Officer. He conducted postmortem of the deceased Rajendra at 11.00 P.M. through artificial light on the direction of the District Magistrate, Bijnor and Chief Medical Officer, Bijnor. The corpse was sent by the Sub-Inspector, P.S. Kotwali, Bijnor in a sealed cover alongwith 10 police papers. The corpse was brought by C.P.573 Harsh Swaroop Singh and C.P.1109 Ramveer of Police Station Kotwali, Bijnor. He found 16 antemortem injuries on the person of the deceased. He opined that the injuries on the body might have been caused by Danda. All the injuries inflicted upon the deceased were sufficient to cause death. He opined that the cause of death was due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. He also opined that the death might have taken place in between 9:00-10:00 A.M. to 4.00 PM on 12.10.1994. However, in his cross-examination, this witness stated that the death might have occurred on 12.10.1994 in the evening of around 4.00 o'clock, therefore, there is a vast difference in time of death in his statement.

36. Constable Har Swaroop Singh (P.W.-4) in his testimony, stated that on 13.1.1994 he was posted at the Police Station Kotwali Shahar, District Bijnour on the post of Constable. The Sub-Inspector had carried out the Panchayatnama of the deceased Rajendra and, thereafter, the sealed cover dead body was handed over to him and one Constable Ramveer for carrying to the mortury for postmortem examination. The doctor had conducted the post mortem of the deceased.

37. In the cross-exmination, P.W.-4 stated that he reached the mortury at 5.30 P.M. along with the dead body and delivered the papers to R.I. and, thereafter, he had handed over the papers to the doctor. The doctor after conducting the postmortem examination of the dead body handed over the dead body to him at about 10.30 PM and, thereafter, he got the postmortem report received at the police station and registered his arrival at 11.00 o'clock, in the general diary.

38. Yadram (P.W.-5), in his testimony, stated that he knew the accused-appellant. The appellant, Suresh alias Chaveney was a Driver of a Maruti Car. He had gone to the house of the accused-appellant for taking the car on hire basis to visit Delhi, where he saw the accused-appellant Mukesh alias Chaveney coming out of his house holding a sack fromwhere the legs of a corpse were protruding. This witness further stated that the accused-appellants were keeping the corpse in the rickshaw and seeing him they were amazed. On being asked as to what was happening the accused-appellants told him that they had taken the revenge of their enmity. The witness had further stated that the accused-appellants had droppped the corpse on an empty land behind the Dharamkanta at the Ramlila ground. He further stated that he saw that in the next morning the crowd was assembled at that point of rcovery of the body. He had also seen the corpse which was of Rajender who was known to him from earlier. P.W.5 further stated that he had disclosed all this to the brother of Rajender, the informant, Roshan Lal. The accused-appellants had threatened him that, in case, he told anyone, he would be killed. He had also seen that Bora (sack) and one blood stained Danda was also found near the corpse.

39. In his cross-examination, P.W.5, stated that when the accused-appellants were carrying the corpse in sack, he identified the corpse by seeing its face as he knew deceased Rajendra from earlier and told that fact to Roshan Lal, the brother of the deceased, however he did not tell this fact to his family members and neighbours. This witness had further stated that he had told the Investigating Officer that he had identified the corpse while the accused-appellants were carrying the same and denied the fact that he did not tell the Investigating officer that he did not know that the corpse was of Rajendera, otherwise he would have told this fact to the family members of the deceased.

40. Constable Prem Chandra (P.W.-6), in his testimony, stated that he had not seen the accused-appellants sitting with the deceased-Rajendra at the hotel of Rajendra at 7.00-7.30 PM, as such this witness was declared hostile.

41. Raj Veer Singh, S.H.O. (P.W.-7) in his testimony, stated that on 14.10.1994, he was posted as Incharge/Inspector at Kotwali Shahar, Bijnor. The investigation was handed over to him from one A.R. Misra (previous I.O.). After taking over the investigation, he had recorded the statements of witnesses Prem Chandra, Tilak Raj and Yadram, and started searches for the accused-appellants on 25.2.1994. He also recorded the statement of Suresh alias Chavaney in the District Jail, Bijnor. After completion of the investigation, he submitted the charge sheet in the Court against the accused-appellants Mukesh and Suresh alias Chavaney.

42. Head Constable Ram Krapal (P.W.-8), in his testimony, stated that informant Roshal Lal had submitted the Tehrir (Ext.4) at the Police Station and he had scribed the Check F.I.R. No. 496. The Nakal Rapat No. 21, 9.05 dated 13.10.1994 was entered in the G.D. which was in his signature and that he prepared the G.D. (Ext. 5).

43. Sub Inspector A.R. Misra (P.W.-9) who is the first I.O., in his testimony, stated that on 13.10.1994, he was posted at Kotwali Shahar, Bijnor. The investigation of this case was entrusted to him. He, after recording the statement of scribe of the F.I.R. and G.D. alongwith jild including its papers, alongwith constables reached at the place of incident and prepared panchayatnama of deceased Rajendra. He sent the dead body for postmortem through constables Har Swaroop Singh and Ramveer Singh and recorded the statement of the informant. The Panchayatnama (Ext. Ka-6) was written and signed by him. Related papers Chalan lash (Ext. Ka-7), report R.I. (Ext. Ka-8), photo lash (Ext. Ka-9), report C.M.O (Ext. Ka-10) were written and signed by him. Recovery memo (Ext. 11) of blood stained plain earth collected from the place of incident was written and signed by him. Recovery memo (Ext. Ka-12) of blood stained bori taat and blood stained danda collected from the spot of recovery of the dead body was written and signed by him. He recorded the statements of witnesses of panchayatnama and recovery memo. He inspected the place of the recovery of the body and prepared the site plan (Ext.Ka-13) which was written and signed by him. He further stated that he recorded the statement of Raju (P.W.2), made searches for accused-appellants and arrested Mukesh (accused appellant) and recorded his statement wherein he confessed his guilt and at his pointing out he visited the house of accused appellant Suresh alias Chaveney from where he collected a blood stained broken piece of Danda and a Chadar, and prepared recovery memo (Ext.14). He collected blood stained earth and blood stained piece of concrete from the house of Suresh and prepared recovery memo (Ext. Ka-15). He further stated that he collected blood stained earth, blood stained piece of concrete blood stained chadar, blood stained broken piece of Danda from the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ext. 16), which was written and signed by him. Thereafter, he came to the police station and deposited the said artices in the Malkhana. After that, the investigation was conducted by the Incharge Ramveer Singh.

44. In his cross-examination, P.W.9, stated that except the case diary he had not prepared the memorandum of the statement of the accused. He further stated that he did not remember whether family members (Parents and others) of Suresh were residing in the house of Suresh or not. He further stated that description of danda was written in the recovery memo. Seeing the recovery memo, this witness stated that there was no mention of any kind of Hulia in it. He further stated that he had not obtained signature of the accused and he did not hand over carbon copy of the recovery memo to the accused. He further stated that on the recovery memo his name was not written because he himself scribed it.

45. It would be relevant to point out that Premchandra was not examined by the prosecution for the reasons best known to it. Raju (P.W.-2), in his deposition, stated that he was not standing at the Ramlila ground with Rajendra (deceased) on 12.10.1994 at 6.30 A.M. The appellants neither came on rickshaw nor took away Rajendra (deceased) with them. The accused appellants did not tell him that they were taking the deceased with them for drinking wine and having meat at the hotel of Virendra. He further stated that though he came to know about the murder of Rajendra, but did not go to the place where the dead body of the deceased was recovered. The Investigating Officer did not record his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Thus, P.W.2 was declared hostile. Tilak Raj (P.W.6) also denied that he saw the deceased Rajendra along with the accused appellants at the hotel of Virendra at 07:30 p.m., hence he was also declared hostile.

46. It is true that the F.I.R. of the incident was lodged as per the story told by P.W.2-Raju, P.W.6-Tilak Raj and Prem Chandra, but no one had seen the deceased going along with the accused appellants before the murder of the deceased or the body was found. As stated hereinabove, P.W.2-Raju and P.W.6-Tilak Raj were declared hostile and these witnesses had completely denied in their testimonies that they had seen the deceased along with the accused appellants before the murder of the deceased, hence the very basis of lodging the F.I.R. against the accused/ appellants appears to be doubtful and creates suspicion on the prosecution story.

47. So far as the recovery of blood stained "broken piece of danda' and blood stained chadar (Ext. Ka. 14) made on the pointing out of accused appellant Mukesh from the house of accused appellant Suresh alias Chaveney, is concerned, it may be pointed out that the accused appellant Mukesh has though admitted that he was arrested while he was standing near his house but had denied the alleged recovery in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and stated that the said recovery was not made from his house. The First Investigating Officer S.I. A.R. Mishra (P.W.9), in his cross-examination, admitted that there was no signature of the accused appellants on the recovery memo (Ext. Ka-14) of blood stained broken piece of danda and blood stained chadar nor a copy of it had been supplied to the accused/appellants. It is also relevant to note that a perusal of the recovery memo (Ext. Ka-14) would show that the Investigating Officer himself did not prepare the recovery memo but it was prepared on the dictation of S.H.O. Rajveer Singh, the second investigating officer (PW.7). From this fact, it can be easily inferred that the recovery memo was not prepared at the place of recovery in the presence of the witnesses rather it was prepared either at the police station or at some other place and the same was prepared at the instance of the Station House Officer Rajveer Singh (second investigating officer), who was not the investigating officer on the date of recovery. Thus the recovery memo does not appear to be a genuine paper and creates strong suspicion on the prosecution story.

48. So far as the evidence of P.W.5-Yadram is concerned, he, in his cross-examination, though had deposed that he had identified the dead body of the deceased when the accused appellants were taking it in a sack but he had not stated so to the Inspector. It is clear that he did not recognize that the dead body was of Rajendra, otherwise, he would have informed the family members of the deceased. This testimony of P.W.5 casts a serious doubt itself as normally on seeing the dead body particularly when it had been identified, naturally, the person definitely would go tell the same to either the family members or to anyone known, but this aspect of the matter had not been considered by the trial court. It may further be pointed out that the trial court had committed a manifest error in not considering the fact that there were apparent contradictions in the testimony of P.W.5-Yadram as he, at one place, in his testimony, stated that he had identified the deceased on seeing its face and, at another place, he stated that he had identified the deceased by seeing its legs when the dead body was being carryied in a sack by the appellant, but later on he denied the identification of the deceased.

49. The instant case purely rests on circumstantial evidence. In order to sustain conviction, a complete chain of circumstantial evidence must be formed which is incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused. Such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but inconsistent with his innocence. No hard-and-fast rule can be laid to say that the particular circumstances are conclusive to establish guilt. It is basically a question of appreciation of evidence which exercise is to be done by the Court in the facts and circumstances of each case.

50. The evidence tendered in a court of law is either direct or circumstantial. Evidence is said to be direct if it consists an eyewitness account of the facts in issue in a criminal case. On the other hand, circumstantial evidence is evidence of relevant facts from which, one can, by process of intuitive reasoning, infer about the existence of facts in issue or factum probandum. In cases where evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should, at the first instance, be fully established. Each fact sought to be relied upon must be proved individually. However, in applying this principle a distinction must be made between facts called primary or basic one on one hand and inference of facts to be drawn from them on the other hand. In regard to proof of primary facts, the Court has to judge the evidence and decide whether that evidence proves a particular fact and if that fact is proved, the question whether that facts lead to an inference of guilt of the accused person should be considered.

51. It would be significant to add that while dealing with circumstantial evidence there is always a danger that conjecture or suspicion lingering in the mind may take place of proof. Suspicion, however, strong cannot be allowed to take the place of proof and, therefore, the Court has to be watchful and ensure that conjectures and suspicions do not take place of legal proof.

52. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistence with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused, where various links in chain are in themselves complete.

53. The present case, which undoubtedly, is a case of circumstantial evidence, is to be looked into in the backdrop of the aforesaid legal principles. The prosecution has completely failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt complete chain of event and circumstances which unerringly points towards the involvement and guilt of the appellants. The prosecution also failed to establish any motive to the accused appellants for committing the murder of the deceased, the brother of the informant.

54. In the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered view that there are various lacunae in the case of the prosecution in establishing the chain of circumstantial evidence against the accused appellants. Further, there is no cogent or clinching evidence on record which proves the guilt of the accused appellants beyond reasonable doubt. Henceforth, we hold that the prosecution has failed to produce evidence to complete chain of circumstances and the guilt of the appellants beyond all reasonable doubt, and the benefit undoubtedly has to go the accused-appellants herein. The impugned judgment of conviction, thus found unsustainable and is liable to be set aside and the appellants are entitled to be acquitted by giving them the benefit of doubt.

55. Accordingly, both the appeals are allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 28.1.1997 passed by the Fifth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Bijnor in Session Trial No. 11 of 1995 (State Vs. Mukesh and another), arising out of Case Crime No. 800 of 1994, under Sections 302/201 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Shahar, District Bijnor, is hereby set aside.

56. Appellants, Suresh alias Chavaney and Mahesh are acquitted of the charges under Sections 302/34 and 201 IPC. They are on bail and need not to surrender. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

57. Shri Jai Raj Singh Tomar, learned Amicus Curiae rendered valuable assistance to the Court. The Court quantifies Rs.15,000/- to be paid to Shri Jai Raj Singh Tomar, Advocate towards fee for the able assistance provided by him in hearing of the Criminal Appeal No. 210 of 1997. The said payment shall be made to Shri Jai Raj Singh Tomar, Advocate by the Registry of the Court within the shortest possible time.

58. The office is directed to send back the lower court record along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary action.

59. The compliance report be submitted to this Court through the Registrar General, High Court, Allahabad.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 9- Test Identification Parade- Acquittal of two co-accused while conviction of the appellant - Before relying upon the evidence of identification of suspects in the test identification parade, the Court is required to determine as to whether prosecution had taken all necessary precautions to ensure that the identity of the suspect be kept concealed before the parade- If the prosecution has led evidence to show that from the time of arrest of an accused to the time of his admission into the jail, precautions were taken to ensure that he was not seen by any outsider, and if the identifying witnesses depose that they never saw him at any time between the crime and the identification parade, the burden lying on the prosecution has been discharged. It is then for the accused to establish that he was shown. The law does not require him to do so affirmatively; it is sufficient in creating a reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court. But if he fails to raise a reasonable doubt the law enjoins that the prosecution evidence on the matter be accepted.

One of the requirements for establishing a test identification parade as valid and legal is that the prosecution must discharge its burden that the accused was not seen by any outsider from the time of his admission in jail till his test identification parade.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 9- Test Identification Parade- Unnecessary delay in the holding of the test- While answering the question as to whether the witness did have opportunity of seeing the offenders, the requirement of holding test identification parade at the earliest opportunity without avoidable and unreasonable delay after the arrest of the accused has been insisted by the Courts from time to time. The idea behind such insistence is that the witness concerned would get fair opportunity of identifying the suspect leaving the possibility of his memory being faded and rule out all chances of suspect having been seen during the period, i.e from the date of arrest till the date of identification- No explanation could be offered by the Investigating Officer nor any question was put to him by the trial court as to why one month was taken by the Investigating Officer to conduct test identification parade of the appellant Rakesh, leaving behind the acquitted accused persons for whom test identification parade was conducted after two months - It is proved that the prosecution has failed to explain the unnecessary delay in holding the identification test though the witnesses were very much available being the police personnel posted in the same police station wherein first information report was lodged.

Test Identification Parade has to be conducted without any unnecessary delay in order to not only rule out the possibility of any outsider having seen the accused between the time he was admitted in jail till his identification parade, but also to provide the witness a fair opportunity of identifying the accused before his memory fades with the passage of time.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 9- Test Identification Parade – Requirement of corroboration- The test identification of the accused in test identification parade is an evidence which requires corroboration from the testimony of the witnesses in the Court and without corroboration, the result of test identification parade cannot be made sole basis of conviction - The result of the test identification parade was not corroborated with the evidence of implication of the appellant Rakesh in the Court- Only witness who allegedly had identified appellant Rakesh in the test identification parade also identified him in the Court but this identification was only by the police personnel posted in the convoy duty on the fateful night and not by any other witness. As it is settled that the test identification report do not constitute substantive evidence and its corroboration from the surrounding circumstance is required. In the instant case, the circumstances discussed above, do no corroborate the result of the test identification parade.

Result of a Test Identification Parade is only corroborative evidence and where the same is not corroborated by the other evidence and circumstances, the sole witness is a police personnel, then conviction solely on the basis of such test identification may not be legal and proper. 1. Heard Sri Amrish Sahai learned Advocate for the appellant and Sri Patanjali Mishra learned A.G.A for the State.

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 06.02.1984 passed by the Second Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur in Sessions Trial no.145 of 1993 arising out of Case Crime no.139 of 1982 under Section 396 IPC, P.S- Malwan, District-Fatehpur whereby sole appellant Rakesh has been convicted for the offence punishable under Section 396 IPC and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life.

3. The first report of the incident was given in writing by P.W-1-Naresh Chandra s/o Jagdish Chandra, a driver of the truck no.3901 URQ. The averments in the said report are that the first informant was driver of the aforesaid truck and on 14.10.1982, at about 2.00 a.m., while they were going to Bhogaon from Varanasi, three persons namely Suresh Chandra s/o Matadeen (second Driver) Shyam Singh s/o Puselal

(Cleaner) and one Ram Sewak Dubey were sitting in his truck. At about 2.00 a.m., when they reached near the village Allipur in a convoy, about 3 kms away from the said village, the road was blocked by placing branches of Babool tree across the road. Seeing that, the first informant slowed down his vehicle (truck) and at that time, 8-10 miscreants armed with weapons gheraoed his vehicle pointing out Tamancha and Gun. The miscreants started looting money and then one of them fired which hit deceased Ram Sewak Dubey who died in the vehicle itself. The cleaner Shyam Singh got injuries in his right leg. The police personnel on convoy duty present in the vehicle behind namely Truck no.UTM 2400 also fired. The miscreants looted Rs.3800/- from the first informant and the persons sitting in the truck. It is stated in the written report that this incident was witnessed by the drivers of the vehicle No.UTM2400, Bhagwan Singh s/o Bhupal Singh and Lalaram s/o Ulfat Singh as also the driver of vehicle no.8030HRU namely Laxman Singh s/o Chatur Singh as well as others present on the spot. It was stated in the written report that they all had seen and identified the assailants in the light of the trucks and they could identify the miscreants if they were brought before them. The body of the deceased Ram Sewak and the injured Shyam Singh (cleaner) were taken to the police station. The Check report and the GD entry of the report were proved by P.W-6 being in his writing and signature as Exhibit Ka-4 and 5. It was stated by P.W-6 that the written report was given by the first informant Naresh Chandra at about 2.30 a.m on 13/14.10.1982 who came along with the driver Suresh Chandra and injured cleaner Shyam Singh and also brought the dead body of Ram Sewak. Two constables Ramdeo Singh and Vinay Kumar who were on convoy duty came along with them.

4. The G.D entry of the movement of Constable Ramdeo Singh and Vinay Kumar from the Police Station on 13.10.1982 at about 9.30 p.m in Rapat no.32 was proved by P.W-6 being in his hand writing by bringing the original G.D and filing the copy with his signature proved as Exhibit Ka-3. In cross, P.W-6 stated that the convoy used to be prepared in front of the police station, one Constable used to make the convoy and two Constables accompany it. On confrontation, it was stated, in cross, by P.W-6, that G.D entries of the duty of the Constables, on convoy duty, was before him and as per the GD dated 17.10.1982, Constable Vinay Kumar was on Santri duty from 6.00 p.m till 9.00 p.m and Constable Ramdeo was on Convoy duty from 17.10.1982 at 19.00 hours till 18.10.1982 at 4.00 a.m. However, the movement of these constables from the police station on the said dates ie 17.10.1982-18.10.1982 was not recorded in the GD.

5. The written report of the incident reported by P.W-1 was read over to him during his deposition before the Court, who admitted his signature and handwriting on the same, it was proved as Exhibit Ka-1. After lodging of the report, blood from inside the truck, found on the seat and near the engine and plain soil which came there from the foot of the people entering in the truck found near the window of the truck, were collected and sealed, and the recovery memo of the same was proved as Exhibit Ka-18. The blood stained clothes of deceased Ram Sewak Dubey were seized and recorded in the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-9. The inquest was conducted on 14.10.1982, which commenced at 6.30 am and ended at 8.30 am. The injured Shyam Singh was sent to the Sadar hospital, Fatehpur on 14.10.1982 for investigation of his injuries. Two gunshot wounds with blackening and tattooing were found on the lower limb (right) of injured Shyam Singh.

7. P.W-1, the first informant stated on oath that on 13.10.1982 his truck no.3901 URQ was looted and at that time carrying coal in the truck he was going to Bhogaon from Varanasi and in the truck three persons namely second driver Suresh Chandra, Cleaner Shyam and one Ram Sewak were sitting. Other trucks were also coming behind him in the convoy and police was accompanying them. At about 2.00 a.m., 3 kms away from Village Allipur on GT Road, branches of wild babool were lying on both sides of the road blocking it. He had to slow down the truck and then 7-8 miscreants came and gheraoed the truck from all four sides. The dacoits were carrying weapons and they started loot. From the right side one dacoit opened fire which hit at the back of the head of the deceased Ram Sewak Dubey and he fell in the cabin below the back seat. One fire which came from the left side hit the cleaner Shyam Singh. The miscreants looted Rs.3800/-.

8. In the meantime, two constables posted on the convoy duty reached with their truck,they fired and the miscreants ran away with the money towards North South. P.W-1 stated that when his truck reached the place of the incident, the truck light was on but when the loot was started then they forced him to put off the light.The light of the truck behind him were, however, 'On'. Ramsewak Dubey died inside the truck. The report was written and signed by him and was lodged in P.S-Malwan at about 2.30 a.m. The report was read over to him and he proved it as Exhibit Ka-1.

9. The injured Shyam Singh was sent to the Sadar hospital, Fatehpur. P.W-1 stated that the Investigating Officer interrogated him and took out the dead body from the truck, conducted inquest and sent it for the postmortem. He categorically stated in chief that he did not participate in the identification parade of the accused persons.

10. In cross, P.W-1 stated that he did not mention the appearance of the assailants in the report nor he disclosed anything about this to the Investigating Officer. The night of the incident was dark and when his truck was stopped the miscreants forced him to put off the light. On a suggestion, he stated that when the trucks are parked, the lights get dim. He then stated that the trucks which were behind him in the convoy, their headlights were on. He could not see the miscreants and that is why, their appearance was not disclosed in the report nor was disclosed to the Investigating Officer in his statement. Lastly, P.W-1 stated that he could not get intimation of the date of identification parade in time and whenever it was held, he was somewhere else on duty.

11. P.W-2 is Constable Ramdeo Pandey C.P-324 P.S Malwan, District-Fatehpur who on 13.10.1982 was on convoy duty. He stated that he moved from the police station at about 9.30 p.m on convoy duty accompanied with Constable Vinay Kumar. They both were sitting on the front seat of the truck. Two-three trucks were in front of their truck and some were behind. At around 2.00 a.m, they reached at the G.T. road between Village-Allipur, and Village Saura, a road jam was created there by the branches of Babool tree. The dacoits were looting the truck on the front and the head light of the truck in which they were sitting was on. The headlights of the truck which was looted and all other trucks in the convoy were also on. P.W-2 stated that he had 12 bore personal gun and his companion was carrying official rifle. They both challenged the dacoits and fired, who ran towards the North and could not be nabbed. P.W-2 stated that he had seen the faces of the dacoits in the headlight of the truck and identified them. They were unknown, 8-10 in number.

12. P.W-2 further stated that he went to the District Jail-Fatehpur in the identification parade and identified two dacoits, and then stated that they were also present in the Court. P.W-2 then went to the place where the accused persons were standing, touched two of them and said that those were the persons who were identified by him in the jail. On being asked to give names of the dacoits, he stated that one of them was Ram Kishun @ Kripali, and then said that he was Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey. P.W-2 further stated in chief that he had seen the said dacoits for the first time at the place at the time of the incident and then in jail, and that he had never seen them in between.

13. When confronted by the accused, in cross, about his posting, P.W-2 admitted that two of the accused person namely Ram Kishun and Ghonchey were residents of the Mohalla Lahauri wherein P.S-Bindki situated. PW-2 denied the suggestion that he knew both the above named accused persons before the incident and that the accused persons were caught from their homes by the Investigating Officer and then detained in the Police Station Malwan for two days and, thereafter, challaned in the case. He then narrated as to how the identification parade was conducted in the jail.

14. It is further stated by P.W-2, that on the fateful day, his convoy duty was from Malwan to Nawabag and it was his 6th round. It was further stated by P.W-2 that the truck of Naresh (P.W-1) was ahead in the convoy, there were 15-20 trucks and there were 10-15 trucks behind the truck wherein he was sitting.

15. The headlights of all the trucks which were behind were on and the truck in which he was sitting was brought forward and parked besides the truck which was looted and the assailants fled away towards the North. It was a dark night.

16. On a query, P.W-2 stated to the Court that he gave appearance of the miscreants in his statement on the next day when he was interrogated by the Investigating Officer.

17. P.W-3 is Constable Vinay Kumar who was also on convoy duty on the fateful night. He narrated the incident in the same manner as has been stated by P.W-2 Ram Deo Pandey and stated that he was on convoy duty along with P.W-2. P.W-3 stated that all dacoits were unknown, and when they ran away, the witnesses reached near the truck and saw that one person was killed and cleaner was injured in his right leg. The identification of the dacoits was made in the District jail Fatehpur and he had identified three of them. P.W-3 stated that he had seen the dacoits firstly at the spot of the incident and then during the identification parade in jail and did not see them in between. He also identified three accused persons standing in the Court stating that they were the same persons who had been identified by him in the jail.

18. On a suggestion, P.W-3 stated that when the accused persons were earlier caught by the police and brought to the police station, he was not present there. He further stated that he heard the sounds of two fires. On a suggestion to P.W-3 he denied that he was posted in the police station Bindki before the incident and admitted that at the time of incident he was posted in the Police Station Malwan. He further denied the suggestion that the accused were shown to him when they were brought from the jail to the Court.

19. He expressed ignorance to the suggestion that accused Rakesh was brought without veil in the Court on the date of his appearance, before the identification parade. He denied that accused Kripali and Ghonchey were identified by him earlier as they were without veil behind the bar. On confrontation by the accused, P.W-3 stated that he identified three accused persons correctly and 3-4 wrongly.

20. He stated, in cross, that the headlight of the truck at the front was on and lights of all other trucks were also on. He stated that the entire incident occurred in about 2-3 minutes and as soon as they reached and fired the assailants fled away. They came down from their truck and challenged the assailants and fired at them, the assailants, however, escaped. The suggestion that he did not see or identify any of the assailant was denied. P.W-3 also denied that he had seen the accused persons before the identification parade. He said that he identified the accused persons in jail during the actual identification parade. The suggestion that there was no light at the time of the incident was denied by P.W-3.

21. P.W-4 is Constable Harnath Singh who was posted in the Police Station Malwan in October, 1982. He was produced in the witness box to prove that, two accused namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali, Gonchey were brought with their covered faces handed over in his custody and Constable Chandra Bhan. His testimony is not relevant as the said two accused persons have been acquitted by the trial court.

22. P.W-5- Lal Singh Chandel is the Investigating Officer, who stated that initially the investigation was made by one Sub-Inspector, Phool Singh Sachan. On 15.10.1982, the investigation was handed over to him under the orders of the Superintendent of Police. He recorded the statement of witnesses and the police officials posted in convoy duty on the date of the incident.

23. On 16.10.1982, on the clue of the informant who told that the perpetrators of the crime was a gang of Chandrapal Khatik, search was conducted, but no one could be nabbed. He then stated that he came to know that the incident was carried out by the brother of Chandrapal Khatik and it was verified by the statement of other witnesses.

24. On 17.10.1982, accused Ram Kishun @ Kripali was arrested. He brought in the police station by covering his face. On his interrogation he confessed the crime and disclosed the names of other accused persons. The accused Ram Kishun was lodged in the lockup in the police station at 3.15 p.m and instructed to keep him under veil. The accused Ghonchey was arrested on 17.10.1982 at about 8.30 p.m from another place. The said accused also confessed the crime and disclosed the names of his co-accused and he was lodged in the police station covering his face. P.W-5 came to know on 22.11.1982, that the accused appellant Rakesh had surrendered and was sent to jail under veil. The result of the identification parade was received on 07.01.1983 and the chargesheet was submitted against the above named three accused persons in his handwriting and signature which was proved as Exhibit Ka-2.

25. The papers pertaining to the deceased such as inquest, site plan and the recovery memo were proved by P.W-5, having been prepared in his writing and signature. P.W-5 further stated that he recorded statement of the first informant, injured witness Shyam Singh and another witness Suresh Chandra and blood found inside the truck was seized. On a suggestion, P.W-5 denied that the accused persons were first identified by two constables on convoy duty and that they were kept in the police station with bare faces. On another question, P.W-5 stated that he came to know that accused Rakesh had surrendered in the Court on 22.11.1982 through Pairokar and that the fact that he was sent to jail under veil came to his knowledge through papers. He denied that accused appellant Rakesh appeared bare face in the Court on 22.11.1982 and then he was identified by the Constables on convoy duty.

26. P.W-7 is the Constable posted in the Police-station Malwan and stated that the accused Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ghonchey, were lodged in the lockup under veil.

27. Before we enter into further discussion, it may be noted that the trial court had acquitted two accused persons namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey on the ground that the prosecution did not produce any positive evidence that the identification of the aforesaid two accused persons by the witnesses P.W-2 and P.W-3 was independent and that these witnesses had no occasion to see the accused persons namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey from the time when they were arrested on 17.10.1982 up to when they were taken out from the police station lock up and sent to the District jail Fatehpur on 18.10.1982 at about 8.30 am. However, for the third accused Rakesh namely the appellant herein, it was opined by the trial court that since the appellant Rakesh had surrendered in the Court there was no chance for the witnesses P.W-2 and P.W-3 to see him on any of such occasion, between his surrender and lodging in the jail.

28. The controversy in the present case, thus, revolves around the issue of identification of appellant Rakesh by two constables on convoy duty namely Ram Deo Pandey and Vinay Kumar, examined as P.W-2 and P.W-3; respectively.

29. To challenge the conviction of the appellant Rakesh, it was vehemently argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that the identification of the appellant was made by the police personnels and the eye witness P.W-1 who had the best chance to identify the miscreants and stated that he witnessed the assailants clearly in the headlight of the truck and could identify them, did not participate in the identification parade. The prosecution has very conveniently withheld the best evidence by not getting identification of the accused persons from the first informant, namely P.W-1. The appellant Rakesh herein had taken a categorical stand in his examination under Section 313 that the Investigating Officer got him identified by the witnesses (P.W-2 and P.W-3) on the date when he was brought in the Court and that he was kept bare face.

30. The submission is that the procedure for conducting identification parade of unknown accused as provided in the U.P. Police Regulations and the procedure laid down for test identification by this Court in Asharfi vs State reported in AIR 1961 Alld 153 had not been followed. No explanation could be offered by the prosecution as to why the identification of accused appellant was not made by P.W-1 who was the eye-witness and the first informant of the case. Even according to the testimony of P.W-1, there was no chance for anyone else to identify the accused persons as the assailants were over 7-8 in number and they ran away after committing loot as soon as the Police Personnel on convoy duty reached near his truck. The statement of P.W-2 and P.W-3 that they identified the assailants/ dacoits clearly on the spot, is unbelievable in view of the statement of P.W-1 and their own statement that when they reached at the site of the incident and fired, the miscreants ran away. There is nothing on record nor any whisper in the statement of P.W-2 and P.W-3, Constables on convoy duty, that they chased the assailants rather they both admitted that the dacoits were not known to them and that they did not chase them.

31. In the statement of P.W-3, it has clearly come that the entire incident happened within 2-3 minutes. In such a short gap of time, it was not possible for the police personnels on convoy duty who were behind the truck of P.W-1 to identify the accused persons.

32. Learned A.G.A in rebuttal had defended the judgment of the trial court with the contention that the trial court had committed no illegality in distinguishing the case of the appellant Rakesh from that of other two accused persons who were arrested by the police.

33. As the appellant herein had surrendered in the Court and he was lodged in the jail directly, there was no occasion for the police personnels (P.W-2 and P.W-3) to see him or identify him before his identification in the identification parade. No infirmity can be found in the identification parade and the conviction of the appellant cannot be set aside.

34. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

Before entering into the controversy in light of the facts of the present case it would be apt to note the law pertaining to test identification parade, i.e the procedure prescribed in law and the legal pronouncements pertaining to the matter.

35. It is settled that the test identification is designed to furnish evidence to corroborate the evidence which the witness concerned tenders before the Court. It is held in Ashrafi vs State (supra) that of all evidence of fact, evidence about the identification of a stranger is perhaps the most elusive, and the Courts are generally agreed that the evidence of identification of a stranger based on a personal impression, even if the veracity of the witness is above board, should be approached with considerable caution, because a variety of conditions must be fulfilled before evidence based on the impression can become worthy of credence. While discussing general precautions regarding identification proceedings, it was held that the Court is bound to follow the rule that evidence as to the identification of an accused person must be such as to exclude with reasonable certainty the possibility of an innocent person being identified. The Division Bench judgment of the Madhya Pradesh High Court was noted in para-'33' of the report to put a note of caution and lay down a guideline to accept the evidence as to the identification, in the shape of 12 questions.

36. The relevant portions of para-'33' is quoted as under:-

"The evidence of identity must be thoroughly scrutinised, giving benefit of all doubt to the accused; but if after a thorough scrutiny there appears to be nothing on the record to suspect the testimony of the identification witnesses, the Court ought not to fight shy of basing a conviction on such evidence alone, because of the bare possibility that there could be honest though mistaken identification."

With great respect we agree with their Lordships.

The following twelve questions are apt to arise and must be answered by the Court to its satisfaction before it can accept the evidence:--

(1) Did the identifier know the accused from before?

(2) Did he see him between the crime and the test identification?

(3) Was there unnecessary delay in the holding of the test?

(4) Did the Magistrate take sufficient precautions to ensure that the test was a fair one?

(5) What was the state of the prevailing light?

(6) What was the condition of the eye-sight of the identifier?

(7) What was the state of his mind?

(8) What opportunity did he have of seeing; the offenders?

(9) What were the errors committed by him?

(10) Was there anything outstanding in the, features or conduct of the accused which impressed him?

(11) How did the identifier fare at other test identifications held in respect of the same offence?

(12) Was the quantum of identification evidence sufficient?

We proceed to discuss these questions ad seriatim but before we do so we should like to utter, the warning that no hard and fast rules can be laid down and that each case must be dealt with on its own merits, for rules cannot be so worded as to include every conceivable case -- it is sufficient that they apply to those things which most frequently happen.

37. In the case of Rameshwar Singh vs State of Jammu and Kashmir reported in (1971) 2 SCC 715, it was held that before dealing with the evidence relating to identification of the accused it may be remembered that the substantive evidence of a witness is his evidence in the court but when the accused person is not previously known to the witness concerned, then identification of the accused by the witness soon after the former's arrest is of vital importance because it furnishes to the investigating agency an assurance that the investigation is proceeding on right lines in addition to furnishing corroboration of the evidence to be given by the witness later in court at the trial. Much emphasis has been laid that such identification shall be held without avoidable and unreasonable delay after the arrest of the accused and that all the necessary precautions and safeguards must be effectively taken so that the investigation proceeds on correct lines for punishing the real culprit. It was observed that it would, in addition, be fair to the witness concerned who was a stranger to the accused because in that event the chances of his memory fading are reduced and he is required to identify the alleged culprit at the earliest possible opportunity after the occurrence. It was held that it is thus and thus alone that justice can be fairly assured both to the accused and to the prosecution. The identification during police investigation is not a substantive evidence in law and it can be used for corroborating or contradictory evidence of the witness concerned as given in the Court. It was further stated that the identification proceedings, therefore, must be so conducted that evidence with regard to them when given at the trial, enables the Court to safely form appropriate judicial opinion about its evidentiary value for the purpose of corroborating or contradicing the statement in Court of the identifying witnesess (emphasis added).

38. In Ram Babu vs State of Uttar Pradesh reported in (2010) 5 SCC 63 while dealing with the case for the commission of the offence of dacoity punishable under Section 395 of the Penal Code, it was held that :-

*"14. As per Section 9 of the Evidence Act, facts which establish the identity of an accused are relevant. Identification parade belongs to investigation stage and if adequate precautions are ensured, the evidence with regard to test identification parade may be used by the court for the purpose of corroboration. The purpose of test identification parade is to test and strengthen trustworthiness of the substantive evidence of a witness in court. It is for this reason that test identification parade is held under the supervision of a magistrate to eliminate any suspicion or unfairness and to reduce the ch*ances of testimonial error as magistrate is expected to take all possible precautions."

39. In R. Shaji vs State of Kerala reported in (2013) 14 SCC 266 while referring to the various decisions of the Apex Court, it was noted in para-'58' that the evidence from a test identification parade is admissible under Section 9 of the Evidence Act, 1872. The test identification parade is conducted by the police. The actual evidence regarding identification is that which is given by the witnesses in Court. Mere identification of an accused in a test identification parade is only a circumstance corroborative of the identification of the accused in Court.

40. It was discussed in Munshi Singh Gautam and others vs State of M.P

reported in (2005) 9 SCC 631 that the identification test did not constitute substantive evidence and the identification during investigation can only be used as corroborative of the statement in Court. Reference had been made to the decision of the Apex Court in case of Matru vs State of U.P reported in (1971) 2 SCC 75 and Santokh Singh vs Izhar Hussain reported in (1973) 2 SCC 406. Relevant paragraphs '16' and '17 of the said report are to be extracted hereunder:-

"16. As was observed by this Court in Matru v. State of U.P. (1971 (2) SCC 75) identification tests do not constitute substantive evidence. They are primarily meant for the purpose of helping the investigating agency with an assurance that their progress with the investigation into the offence is proceeding on the right lines. The identification can only be used as corroborative of the statement in court. (See Santokh Singh v. Izhar Hussain (1973 (2) SCC 406). The necessity for holding an identification parade can arise only when the accused are not previously known to the witnesses. The whole idea of a test identification parade is that witnesses who claim to have seen the culprits at the time of occurrence are to identify them from the midst of other persons without any aid or any other source. The test is done to check upon their veracity. In other words, the main object of holding an identification parade, during the investigation stage, is to test the memory of the witnesses based upon first impression and also to enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses of the crime. The identification proceedings are in the nature of tests and significantly, therefore, there is no provision for it in the Code and the Evidence Act. It is desirable that a test identification parade should be conducted as soon as after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses prior to the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused and, therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution.

17. It is trite to say that the substantive evidence is the evidence of identification in Court. Apart from the clear provisions of Section 9 of the Evidence Act, the position in law is well settled by a catena of decisions of this Court. The facts, which establish the identity of the accused persons, are relevant under Section 9 of the Evidence Act. As a general rule, the substantive evidence of a witness is the statement made in Court. The evidence of mere identification of the accused person at the trial for the first time is from its very nature inherently of a weak character. The purpose of a prior test identification, therefore, is to test and strengthen the trustworthiness of that evidence. It is accordingly considered a safe rule of prudence to generally look for corroboration of the sworn testimony of witnesses in Court as to the identity of the accused who are strangers to them, in the form of earlier identification proceedings. This rule of prudence, however, is subject to exceptions, when, for example, the Court is impressed by a particular witness on whose testimony it can safely rely, without such or other corroboration. The identification parades belong to the stage of investigation, and there is no provision in the Code which obliges the investigating agency to hold or confers a right upon the accused to claim, a test identification parade. They do not constitute substantive evidence and these parades are essentially governed by Section 162 of the Code. Failure to hold a test identification parade would not make inadmissible the evidence of identification in Court. The weight to be attached to such identification should be a matter for the Courts of fact. In appropriate cases it may accept the evidence of identification even without insisting on corroboration. (See Kanta Prashad v. Delhi Administration (AIR 1958 SC 350), Vaikuntam Chandrappa and others v. State of Andhra Pradesh (AIR 1960 SC 1340, Budhsen and another v. State of U.P. (AIR 1970 SC 1321) and Rameshwar Singh v. State of Jammu and Kashmir (AIR 1972 SC 102).

41. Considering the above principles, in light of the language employed in Section 9 of the Evidence Act, it is settled that the test identification of the accused in test identification parade is an evidence which requires corroboration from the testimony of the witnesses in the Court and without corroboration, the result of test identification parade cannot be made sole basis of conviction.

42. Before relying upon the evidence of identification of suspects in the test identification parade, the Court is required to determine as to whether prosecution had taken all necessary precautions to ensure that the identity of the suspect be kept concealed before the parade.

43. It is duty of the prosecution to show that from the time of the arrest of accused person to the time of his admission into the jail, precautions were taken to ensure that he was not seen by any outsider. Once evidence has been laid to show this, the burden shifts on the accused to show otherwise.

44. It was held in Asharfi (supra) that where a witness gives evidence on oath the presumption is that he is speaking the truth. If, therefore, the prosecution has led evidence to show that from the time of arrest of an accused to the time of his admission into the jail, precautions were taken to ensure that he was not seen by any outsider, and if the identifying witnesses depose that they never saw him at any time between the crime and the identification parade, the burden lying on the prosecution has been discharged. It is then for the accused to establish that he was shown. The law does not require him to do so affirmatively; it is sufficient in creating a reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court. Direct evidence may not be available, but he may discharge his burden by showing, for example, that he and the witnesses were present in the police-station at the same time, or that he was marched through the village of the witnesses or that the witnesses were present at the office of the Prosecuting Inspector when his jail warrant was being prepared. But if he fails to raise a reasonable doubt the law enjoins that the prosecution evidence on the matter be accepted.

45. Another precaution to be taken by the prosecution and the test laid down to assess the evidence as to the identification of an accused person is, which is for the Court to answer, Was there unnecessary delay in the holding of the test ?

46. It was held in Asharfi's case (supra). that since human memory is apt to get dulled with the passage of time it is desirable both in the interest of the honest witness and of the suspect himself that the latter be put up for identification without delay.

It was further observed in para-'36' that:-

"Accordingly the test is not that the identification parade was held after a long period but whether the power of observation of the witness was adequate. Were delay alone to be made the test, a premium would manifestly be placed on absconding, and all that would be necessary for a criminal for evading justice would be to promptly abscond and to appear only after the lapse of a long period of time. We refuse to believe that this could be the intention of the law. At the same time we must stress that whenever a test identification is discovered to have been held with delay, the-prosecution should explain it, and that the absence of a reasonable explanation will detract from the value of the test. The police can seldom be blamed for arresting a suspected criminal with delay, but once his arrest has been effected there can be no excuse for failure to hold his identification within two or three weeks."

47. While answering the question as to whether the witness did have opportunity of seeing the offenders, the requirement of holding test identification parade at the earliest opportunity without avoidable and unreasonable delay after the arrest of the accused has been insisted by the Courts from time to time. The idea behind such insistence is that the witness concerned would get fair opportunity of identifying the suspect leaving the possibility of his memory being faded and rule out all chances of suspect having been seen during the period, i.e from the date of arrest till the date of identification.

48. Reverting to the instant case, which rests purely on evidence of personal identification of the accused appellant Rakesh, we may note that there are three witnesses of the occurrence, amongst whom, P.W-1 driver of the truck refused to identify any of the accused persons and admitted in his testimony that he did not participate in the identification parade. In cross, P.W-1 stated that he could not see the miscreants who attacked and looted his vehicle as it was a dark night and when the truck was parked the miscreants asked him to put off the light. He further stated that even otherwise as soon as the vehicle was parked, headlights got dim. Though headlights of vehicles behind his vehicle were on but he could not see miscreants and as such he did not narrate appearance (huliya) of the miscreants to the Investigating Officer nor stated any thing in his previous statements.

49. P.W-2, the Constable on convoy duty, did not identify the accused appellant Rakesh though he had identified two other accused persons namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey who have been acquitted by the trial Court giving benefit of doubt as the test identification parade with respect to the said accused persons was doubted by the trial court with the finding that the prosecution had not been able to prove by positive evidence that the witnesses P.W-2 and P.W-3 had no occasion to see the accused persons namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey from the point of time, when they were arrested up to the time when they were taken out from the police lockup and sent to the District Jail Fatehpur.

50. Only evidence of P.W-3 is against the accused appellant Rakesh who stated on oath that he had clearly identified the accused appellant Rakesh as also co-accused Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey.

51. From the testimony of P.W-3, it may be noted that he categorically stated that he had seen the faces of the miscreants (dacoits) in light of the truck and there was sufficient light as headlights of all trucks behind the looted truck were 'On'.

52. As to the occurrence, P.W-2 and P.W-3 the Police Personnel who were on convoy duty, stated that they reached at the spot on hearing the sounds of fire and challenged the miscreants. P.W-3 stated that both of them (P.W-2 and P.W-3) opened one-one fire but both the witnesses admitted that they did not chase the miscreants who were 8-10 in number.

53. It is stated by P.W-3 that when he along with P.W-2 reached at the looted truck, after the miscreants ran away, they saw that one person was killed inside the truck and another got injured in his right leg, who was cleaner, two drivers in the truck told that the miscreants had looted Rs.3800/-. It was stated by P.W-2 that there were 15-20 trucks in the convoy and there were 10-15 trucks behind the truck in which he was sitting. The looted truck was at the front of the convoy and all the trucks behind were parked as soon as the truck at the front stopped. He then stated that the truck in which they were sitting was taken ahead and was parked besides the looted truck and all other trucks were parked behind them. From the statement of P.W-2, it seems that the truck in which the Constables (P.W-2 and P.W-3) were on duty, was in between the convoy. As from the statement of P.W-2, it is evident that the looted truck was at the front and out of the total 15-20 trucks in the convoy, 10-15 were behind the truck, in which the constables on convoy duty namely P.W-2 and P.W-3, were sitting, whereas as per the statement of P.W-3, there were total 10-15 trucks in the convoy. P.W-3, however, stated that he could not remember as to whether number was ten or fifteen. As per the version of P.W-3, they opened fires as soon as they reached near the looted truck and the miscreants ran away and before that the incident occurred for about 2-3 minutes, P.W-3 stated that when their truck stopped besides the looted truck, the loot was going on and they got down from the truck to challenge the miscreants and fired at them, then they ran away.

54. In the entire scenario of the occurrence as narrated by P.W-2 and P.W-3, possibility of them seeing the miscreants clearly in the lights of the trucks of the convoy seems remote. However, before forming any opinion on this part of the evidence, two questions are required to be answered by the Court. Firstly, as to whether there was any delay in conducting the identification parade and if there was delay whether the same has been explained by the prosecution to the satisfaction of the Court. The second question is as to whether there was any possibility of identifying witness P.W-3 to see the accused appellant between the time of his lodging in the jail and the date of the identification parade.

55. As to the first question, we may record that certain dates are relevant to be noted from the record. We have, therefore, gone through the original record pertaining to the test identification parade namely (Exhibit Ka-22) on record and the case diary.

56. Before referring to the said documents, we may further record that the Investigating Officer namely P.W-5 did not give the date of the test identification parade in his testimony. He only stated that the report of the test identification parade was submitted by him and the result of the same was received on 07.01.1983 and on the same day chargesheet was submitted against three accused persons.

57. The case diary Parcha no.15 dated 22.11.1982 records that the appellant Rakesh and another suspect Sundar had surrendered on 22.11.1982 in the Court of Munsif Magistrate and had been sent to jail on remand. It was further recorded therein that the test identification report of the two above noted suspects and other suspects previously arrested would be given after conducting the said proceedings. Admittedly, other accused persons namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali and Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey were arrested earlier. The case diary parcha no.16 dated 27.11.1982 further records that the test identification parade of the arrested suspects was to be held and the pairokar was directed to fix the date for conducting test identification parade so that further proceedings be held. Parcha no.18 dated 24.12.1982 of the case diary further records that one suspect Badlu s/o Shyam lal Khatik had surrendered on 09.12.1982 in the Court of CJM, Fatehpur and had been sent to jail. It further records that the report of the identification would be submitted after completion of the test identification proceedings.

58. Form no.55 in the record is the report of the test identification parade of six suspected persons which is dated 27.12.1982. The place of conducting the test identification parade as indicated therein is District jail Fatehpur. The report bears the signature of the Magistrate first class which also endorsed with the date 27.12.1982. The name of the officer namely Magistrate first Class has also been indicated therein. The report records that out of six suspected persons, three namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali, Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey, residents of Bindki and Rakesh s/o Budhhu Khatik residents of Lohari P.S-Bindki were correctly identified by two witnesses namely Constable 324 CP Ramdeo Pandey and Constable Vinay Kumar CP 513 of Police Station-Malwan, namely P.W-2 and P.W-3 herein. It was noted that Constable 324 CP Ram Deo Pandey identified only two accused persons namely Kripali and Ghonchey and Constable Vinay Kumar-P.W-3 had identified three accused namely Ram Kishun @ Kripali, Ram Ashrey @ Ghonchey and the appellant Rakesh. There are two more papers nos.25/10 and 25/11 on form no.55 in the record, which contain thumb impressions of suspect accused appellant Rakesh identified on 27.12.1982 whereas the thumb impressions of two other accused identified by P.W-2 and P.W-3 namely Ram Krishun @ Kripali and Ghonchey finds place on Ka-22 namely Paper no.25/9, Form 55 which has been signed by the Magistrate first class. We may further note that paper nos.25/10 and 25/11 are not signed by the Magistrate first class and the relevant columns therein are blank. All three documents namely paper nos.25/9, 25/10 and 25/11 contain the date of the proceeding of the test identification parade as 27.12.1982 held at the District Jail, Fatehpur. The case diary Parcha no.19 dated 07.01.1983 records that result of the test identification parade of six suspects, Ram Kishun @ Kripali, Ghonchey, Rakesh, Nanka, Sunder and Badlu was received on that day. As per the report, the identification parade was conducted on 27.12.1982 in the District Jail-Fatehpur. Two witnesses identified three suspects and with the completion of the investigation, charge sheet was submitted.

59. From the above, for the accused appellant herein namely Rakesh, at least, it is evident that he was put to test identification parade on 27.12.1982 whereas he had surrendered before the Magistrate on 22.11.1982 and was sent to jail on the same day whereas, other accused persons namely Kripali @ Ram Kishun and Ghonchey were arrested on 18.10.1982. No explanation could be offered by the Investigating Officer nor any question was put to him by the trial court as to why one month was taken by the Investigating Officer to conduct test identification parade of the appellant Rakesh, leaving behind the acquitted accused persons for whom test identification parade was conducted after two months.

60. I t may be noted that, the trial court has committed illegality in noting a wrong date of test identification parade from Exhibit Ka-22 by reading the said document incorrectly. The date 07.01.1983 which has come in the evidence of P.W-5, the Investigating Officer is the date of submission of the report of the test identification parade.

61. The answer to the question whether there was opportunity for identifying witnesses to see the accused appellant Rakesh between the date of the arrest and the date of the test identification parade is in affirmative for the obvious reason that the identifying witness P.W-3 was a police personnel posted in the same Police Station Malwan wherein the report of the incident was lodged. The trial court itself did not believe the results of the identification parade with regard to two suspected accused raising doubt that there were possibility of the witnesses to see the accused persons in the lock up as the witnesses were posted in the police station. Whereas a distinction was drawn that the accused Rakesh had surrendered in the Court and lodged in jail on the same day and, thus, there was no possibility of witnesses to see the accused appellant Rakesh in such a short time. The appellant accused Rakesh had taken a categorical plea in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C that he was shown to the identifying witness when he was brought in the Court by the Investigating Officer. No independent witness who was present on the spot, inside the truck, namely the Driver P.W-1 or the injured cleaner Shyam Singh was called to participate in the identification parade. All three accused persons who were put to trial resided in Bindki town. The zeal of the Investigating Officer to solve the crime and that of the Police personnel on convoy duty to prove them upright officers cannot be overlooked.

62. From the above discussion, at least, it is proved that the prosecution has failed to explain the unnecessary delay in holding the identification test though the witnesses were very much available being the police personnel posted in the same police station wherein first information report was lodged. It is noteworthy that in the instant case, the prosecution had relied upon the results of the test identification parade, correctness of which had been examined above, to assert that the appellant Rakesh was one of the culprits identified by the police personnel (P.W-3) on convoy duty. Apart from the discussion above, we may further note that the result of the test identification parade was not corroborated with the evidence of implication of the appellant Rakesh in the Court. The statements of three witnesses of fact namely P.W-1, P.W-2 and P.W-3 were recorded on 24.11.1983 though the statement of P.W-3 could not be completed on that day.

63. P.W-1, the first informant, was driver of the looted truck, in cross examination, on behalf of the appellant Rakesh denied having seen the miscreants as it was a dark night and lights of the truck were put off and the trucks behind him were parked with dim lights.

64. P.W-2, Ramdeo Pandey, one of the police personnel on convoy duty did not identify the appellant Rakesh either in the identification parade or in the Court though he had identified two accused persons who had ultimately been acquitted by the trial court. Only witness who allegedly had identified appellant Rakesh in the test identification parade also identified him in the Court but we cannot loose sight of the fact that this identification was only by the police personnel posted in the convoy duty on the fateful night and not by any other witness. As it is settled that the test identification report do not constitute substantive evidence and its corroboration from the surrounding circumstance is required. In the instant case, the circumstances discussed above, do no corroborate the result of the test identification parade, hence, we are afraid to convict the appellant solely based on the result of the test identification parade, as has been done by the trial court. The prosecution has not been able to prove by leading cogent evidence that there was no possibility of the identifying witnesses (P.W-3) to see the appellant from the time of his admission into the jail till the date of his identification. The circumstances noted above such as non identification by independent witnesses in the Court and vulnerability of the witnesses having been seen prior to the identification parade, create a reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court as to the fairness of the identification proceedings. The evidence of identification of the accused appellant is not such which would exclude with reasonable certainty the possibility of an innocent person being implicated.

65. The trial court has completely erred in returning the finding that since the accused appellant had surrendered on 22.11.1982 in the Court of Magistrate, he was sent to jail on the same day and as such there was no possibility of the witness P.W-3 having seen him, and by holding that the accused persons were put to test identification on 22.11.1992 and 27.12.1982. The trial court had simply drawn distinction in rejecting the plea of accused appellant that he was identified in the Court, solely on the premise that the Magistrate before whom he had surrendered knowing that the accused appellant was wanted in a crime under Section 396 IPC must have taken precautions of sending him jail in veil, particularly when he was not named in the FIR.

66. Only evidence against the accused appellant being his identification by P.W-3 in the test identification parade held on 27.12.1982, reported in Exhibit Ka-22 which itself is under cloud, the inevitable conclusion that can be drawn in the facts of the instant case that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt for implication of the accused appellant Rakesh in the commission of the offence punishable under Section 396 IPC. The accused appellant Rakesh herein is entitled to be given benefit of doubt and is to be acquitted for the offence punishable under Section 396 IPC.

67. In view of the above discussion, the judgment and order dated 06.02.1984 passed by the Second Additional Sessions Judge, Fatehpur in Sessions Trial no.145 of 1993 arising out of Case Crime no.139 of 1982 under Section 396 IPC, P.S- Malwan, District-Fatehpur for the offence punishable under Section 396 IPC and sentence for life imprisonment is hereby set aside.

68. The appeal is, accordingly, allowed.

69. The appellant is in jail.

70. The appellant shall be released from jail forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other case.

71. The office is directed to send back the lower court record along with a certified copy of the judgment for information and necessary compliance.

72. The compliance report be furnished to this Court through the Registrar General, High Court Allahabad.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- It is established that P.W.-1 is changing his stand with respect to place of incident - These are material contradiction in the statement of P.W.-1 and has not been explained by prosecution, as such, evidence of P.W.-1 cannot be relied upon- Statement of P.W.2 is not consistent with respect to place of incident as well as evidence of P.W.2 is not corroborated by evidence of P.W.1, thus, evidence of P.W.2 is also not reliable and trustworthy-P.W.-3 is not eye-witness of the incident and his evidence is also not reliable and trustworthy.

Settled law that material contradictions in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses, that go to the root of the matter and are uncorroborated, render the case of the prosecution doubtful.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Ocular evidence has greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence. In the present matter, we also find that there is inconsistency of the prosecution witnesses of fact and after close scrutiny of the medical evidence, we find that ocular evidence may be discarded-These three witnesses claim themselves to be the eye witness of the occurrence but their description seven steps and considering the statement of PW-4- Dr. R.S. Rabidas that the gun shot fired from very close range (few inches) are such circumstances which remain unexplained.

Although the ocular evidence will prevail over the medical evidence in case of contradiction between the two, but where the contradiction between the ocular version and medical evidence is too much then the ocular version may not be believed by the court.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 154- First Information Report- Section 157- Special Report-U.P Police Regulations- Section 101- Non-Compliance- Ante- Timed F.I.R- Constable Clerk Tarachand Special Report Messenger has not been produced by prosecution which also makes the prosecution case doubtful and strengthen the argument of learned counsel for the appellants on defective investigation-Special report of the case has not been sent according to rule and regulation which is proved from the statement of P.W.10 Mahak Singh Head Constable. The statement of P.W.1, PW.5 and P.W.11 further reveals that FIR in this case is ante-timed.

Where the prosecution has failed to comply with the mandate of Section 157 of the Cr.Pc and has deliberately withheld the police officer responsible for sending the same, the investigation is apparently defective and it is demonstrated from the evidence of the prosecution witnesses that the first information report is ante-timed, then the same makes the story of the prosecution doubtful. 1. The present Criminal Appeals have been filed against the Judgment and Order dated 14.1.2016 passed by the Special Judge / Additional Sessions Judge, Bijnor in Session Trial No.485-A of 2011 (State vs. Alam); Session Trial No.485 of 2011 (State vs. Noor Mohammad and Others), arising out of Case Crime No.52 of 2011, under Sections 302/34, 323/34 IPC, P.S. Mandawar, District Bijnor, whereby appellants were convicted for life imprisonment under Sections 302/34 IPC and fine of Rs.20,000/- each, in default of payment of fine, six months additional R.I. and under Section 323/34 IPC, 3 months R.I. and fine of Rs.500/- each, in default of payment of fine, one month additional R.

2. Being aggrieved therefrom, accused Alam preferred Criminal Appeal

No.888 of 2016 and accused Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad preferred Criminal Appeal no.639 of 2016 for setting aside their conviction and passing an order of acquittal.

3. Since common issues are involved in both the appeals, both are being disposed of by a common order. The facts stated in Criminal Appeal No.888 of 2016 shall be treated as the leading appeal.

4. The brief facts relating to case are that Salamat (son of deceased) submitted a written report at Police Station with the averment that he is resident of village Khirani, P.S. Mandawar, District Bijnor. His father purchased about 18 bigha land 2 years before from Hamid, son of Jamaluddin that is why Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad, Alam were on enemical terms to his father. On 19.3.2011 at 7.15 PM (evening), his younger brothers Riyasat and Faizan went to purchase items from the grocery shop of Habib, at that moment , Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam armed with countrymade pistol, came there, abused them and started altercation with Riyasat. Faizan came back from shop and told about the incident to his father, then he and his father Aslam reached at the shop of Habib and tried to protect Riyasat, at that time, Alam fired shot from his countrymade pistol on the head of his father, who died on spot. He and Riyasat tried to catch Alam, then Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad with an intention to kill, fired shot from their countrymade pistol but he and Riyasat were escaped narrowly. The prayer was made to register the report and legal action be taken. Rafeeq son of Imam Shah and Others were mentioned as witness of the incident.

5. On the basis of written report, Case Crime No. 52/2011, under Sections 302/323/307/34 IPC was registered against accused Alam, Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad on 19.3.2011 at 8.30 PM and investigation of the case was handed over to Station Officer Sunil Kumar Sharma who went to the place of incident where S.I. Veer Singh conducted Panchayatnama of the dead body and after completing the formalities, dead body was sent for postmortem. The spot map of the place of incident was prepared, two empty cartridges were recovered by the police from the roof of the accused, the memo was accordingly prepared. During investigation, on 22.3.2011 accused were arrested and on the pointing out of Alam, countrymade pistol 315 bore, 2 live cartridges, one empty cartridge 315 bore inside the barrel and on the pointing out of Noor Mohammad, countrymade pistol 12 bore and 2 live cartridges were recovered, the memo were accordingly prepared. FIR was lodged against Alam and Noor Mohammad under Section 25 of the Arms Act on 22.3.2011 at 12.30, the investigation of the case under the Arms Act was handed over to H.C.P. Prem Singh. Respective Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet against accused Alam, Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad under Sections 302/34, 307/34, 323 IPC and against accused Alam and Noor Mohammad under Section 25 of the Arms Act. Charges were framed against Alam, Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad under Sections 302/34, 307/34, 323 IPC and against accused Alam and Noor Mohammad under Section 25 of the Arms Act to which they denied and claimed trial.

6. The prosecution in order to prove its case, produced as many as 12 witnesses whose particulars are as follows:

P.W.1 Salamat son of Aslam (First informant and alleged eye-witness)

P.W.2 Faizan son of Aslam (alleged eye-witness)

P.W.3 Rafeeq son of Imaam Shah (alleged eye witness as well as independent witness)

P.W.4 Dr. R.S. Ravidas

P.W.5 S.I. Veer Singh

P.W.6 Constable Jaiveer Singh (witness of the inquest)

P.W.7 Constable Narendra Sharma (FIR scribe of Case Crime No. 53 of 2011 and 54 of 2011)

P.W. 8 HCP Prem Singh (IO of Case Crime No.53 of 2014 and 54 of 2011)

P.W.9 Sub-Inspector Shishpal Singh

P.W.10 HC 139 Mahak Singh Sharma (Scribe of Case Crime No.52 of 2011)

P.W.11 Sunil Sharma (IO of Case Crime No.52 of 2011)

P.W.12 Shailendra Pratap (Subsequent IO of Case Crime No.52 of 2011)

7. In support of the occular testimony of the witnesses, prosecution filed following documentary evidence:

1. FIR dated 19.3.2011 (Ext. Ka 19)

2. FIR dated 22.3.2011 (Ext. Ka12)

3. Written report dated 19.3.2011 (Ext. Ka1)

8. The accused appellants in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case and disputed the veracity of the evidence adduced by the prosecution.

9. P.W.1 Salamat son of deceased Aslam as well as first informant in his examination-in-chief stated that he knows accused Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam, they belong to his village. His father purchased about 18 bigha land 2 years before from Hamid, son of Jamaluddin that is why Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad, Alam were on enemical terms to his father. On 19.3.2011 at 7.15 PM (evening), his younger brothers Riyasat and Faizan went to purchase items from the shop of Habib, at that moment, Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam armed with countrymade pistol, came there, abusing them and started altercation with Riyasat. Faizan came back from shop and told about the incident from him and his father, then he and his father Aslam reached at the shop of Habib and tried to protect Riyasat, at that time, Alam fired shot from his countrymade pistol on the head of his father, who died on spot. He and Riyasat tried to catch Alam, then Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad with intention to kill, fired shot from their countrymade pistol but he and Riyasat were escaped narrowly. Accused Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad, Alam, sons of Bundu ran away towards their house after fire shot. In cross-examination, he stated that he reached to police station at 8.30 PM by tractor. Rafeeq, Shafeeq, Anwar and Abid also accompanied him, they did not bring any written report with them and told incident to police so police came to the spot along with him. Police made necessary inquiry and told him to give written complaint / report, accordingly, he gave written report to police at the village after being written by Mahaboob Alam on his instruction at about 9.00 PM and the dead body of his father was sealed by the police, the same was kept on tractor trolley and he was also sitting on the tractor. He stated that altercation took place before the shop of Bundu. He further stated that his father received fire-shot in front of primary school. He stated that the person who fired was 7 step away from his father. He further stated that Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad fired from their roof, both of them were on their roof and remained there. Two fires were made from the roof and his father was standing when the fire was made.

10. P.W. 2 Faizan aged about 15 years, alleged eye-witness, in his examination-in-chief stated that incident is of about 10 months before at about 7.15 PM. He and his brother Riyasat went to shop of Habib for purchasing, at that moment, Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam armed with countrymade pistol, came there, abusing them and started altercation with him and his elder brother Riyasat. He ran away to his home and told about the altercation to his father Aslam and brother Salamat. Having heard the same, his father and brother came to the shop and tried to protect Riyasat, at that time, Alam fired shot on the head of his father Aslam and he died on spot. His brother Salamat and Riyasat tried to catch Alam, then Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad fired shot with intention to kill Riyasat and Salamat but they were escaped narrowly. All the three accused run away to their home. About 2 years before his father Aslam purchased about 18 bigha land from Hamid due to which Bundu and his sons Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam were on enemeical terms to his father. In the cross-examination, he stated that his father did not receive fire-shot at the place where Riyasat was caught rather he received fire-shot at Chauraha.

11. P.W.3 Rafeeq alleged eye-witness, in his examination-in-chief stated that incident is of 10-11 months before, it was Holi festival and time was about 7 PM (evening). He was sitting with Aslam then Faizan son of Aslam came and told that Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad, Alam are beating him and his brother. He and Aslam went there along with Faizan, Aslam was on front side and he was on back side. They reached to the shop, Aslam tried to protect his son from accused then all the three accused persons started altercation with Aslam and after that Alam fired shot from his countrymade pistol on the head of Aslam who died on spot. He did not interfere and went to his house. Deen Mohammad and Noor Mohammad fired two shots on Aslam but did not fire on Salamat and Riyasat. In his cross-examination, he stated that when he reached at the place of occurrence, Aslam was dead and Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad, Alam were not present at that time. He further stated that he did not go to the house of Aslam on that day. He stated that when fire shot took place, he was present in his house. He further stated that he did not see anybody who fired shot on Aslam.

12. P.W.4 Dr. R.S. Ravidas, Community Health Centre, Laharpur, District Sitapur conducted the postmortem of the dead body of Aslam on 20.3.2011 at 2.00 PM. He has proved the postmortem report as Ext. Ka 9 and has stated that following injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

1. Fire arm wound of entry 2cm x 2cm. Cavity deep on middle forehead upto root of the nose. Blackening present in some extant. On dissection one metallic piece recovered from the right side of occipital region of brain and handed over to police. Fracture of nasal bone and forehead bone, fracture of right occipital bone, brain membrane lacerated

13. P.W.-5, S.I. Veer Singh in his examination-in-chief stated that on 19.3.2011 he was posted on the post of Sub-Inspector at Police Station- Mandawar. He prepared the Panchayatnama of the dead body of deceased Aslam and handed over the deadbody after necessary formalities for postmortem, the other documents relating to panchayatnama were prepared. Panchayatnama (Ex-Ka-3), letter to R.I. (Ka-4), Chalan Lash (Ka-6), Photo Lash (Ka-7), letter to C.M.O. (Ka-5) were prepared by him on the spot. Ex-Ka-9 is memo of recovery of plain earth and stained earth was prepared by him.

14. PW.-6, Constable Jaiveer Singh in his examination-in-chief stated that on 19.3.2011, he was posted at Police Station-Mandawar on the same post and place. On the information of murder of deceased Aslam he reached along with force to place of incident situated in village- Khirani. After completion of proceeding of Panchayatnama, he received the dead body of Aslam in a sealed position at 22:00 hours from homeguard Ashraf and constable-Randhir Singh and kept the dead body in the morchary of district hospital, after postmortem, dead body was handed over to family members. In the cross-examination, he stated that dead body was given to him on 19.3.2011 at 8:00 P.M. He carried dead body from village-Khirani through tempo to hospital and 30-45 minute was taken in covering the distance from Village-Khirani to hospital.

15. P.W.-7, Constable Clerk, Narendra Sharma in his examination-in-chief stated that on 22.3.2011, he was posted as constable clerk at Police Station-Mandawar. He proved chik F.I.R. as well as Ex-Ka-12 and Ex-Ka-13. In the cross-examination, he stated that original G.D. is not on record nor he brought the same with him on that day.

16. P.W.-8, H.C.P. Prem Singh has stated in his examination-in-chief that on 22.3.2011, he was posted as H.C.P. at Police Station- Mandawar. He received investigation of Case Crime No.53 of 2011 (Alam Vs. State) and Case Crime No.54 of 2011 (Noor Mohammad Vs State) from police station office. Necessary entry were made in the case dairy. Statement of witness, S.I., Sheeshpal Singh, Constable Tejpal Singh and Constable Sukhpal Singh were recorded in the case diary on 23.3.2011. After that on the pointing out of S.I. Shamim Haider inspected the place of incident and prepared the spot map under Section 25 of Arms Act which are Ex-Ka-14 and Ex-Ka-15, the charge-sheet was also submitted by him under Section 25 of Arms Act, which are Ex-Ka-16 and Ex-Ka-17.

17. P.W.-9, S.I., Sheeshpal Singh, has stated in his examination-in-chief that on 22.3.2011, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at Police Station- Mandawar. He arrested the accused-Noor Mohammad and Alam on 22.3.2011 at 7:45 A.M. On the pointing out of Noor Mohammad and Alam, a country made pistol as well as live and empty cartridges were recovered at 10:45 A.M. on 22.3.2011. The memo was prepared by I.O. in his presence and the same is Ex-Ka-18 which is signed by him also. In the cross-examination, he reiterated the same.

18. P.W.-10, Head Constable, Mahak Singh in his examination-in-chief stated that on 19.3.2011, he was posted on the post of Head Moharir at Police Station-Mandawar. On that day at 8:30 P.M., on the basis of report of Salamat Chik No.30/11, Case Crime No.52/11, under Sections 323/ 302/ 307/ 34 I.P.C. was registered by him against Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam. The same is Ex-ka-19. He mentioned about the incident on same day in G.D. through report no.39, time 8.30 PM. He brought the original G.D. with him on that day which is in his hand writing. He filed the correct and attested photo copy of the same, which is Ex-Ka-20. In the cross-examination, he stated that he sent the special report of the case through Constable, Tarachand but in G.D. time of Rawangi of Tarachand is not recorded. He sent the Tarachand on the oral instruction of station officer without recording his rawangi in the G.D. In Report No.39, there is no mention of sending special report. He further stated that there is no copy of special report on record. He further stated that he prepared seven copies of special report but nothing was kept at the police station.

19. P.W.-11, Station Officer, Sunil Sharma in his examination-in-chief stated that on 19.3.2011, he was posted as station officer at Police Station- Mandawar. He was investigating officer of Case Crime No.52/11, under Section-323, 302, 307,34 I.P.C. which was registered in his presence. He reached to place of incident along with force, statement of first informant Salamat was recorded in case diary and on the pointing out of first informant inspected place of incident and prepared site plan (Ex-Ka-21). Two empty cartridges of 12 bore were recovered from the roof of the accused and sealed in white clothes. The memo was prepared, which is Ex-Ka-22, memo was copied in case diary. On 20.3.2011 statement of Mahak Singh scribe of first information report was recorded. On 22.3.2011 accused Noor Mohammad and Alam were arrested and their statements were recorded, at their instance country made pistol and cartridges were recovered, memo was accordingly prepared which is Ex-ka-18 statement of witnesses Riyasat, Faizan and Rafeeq were recorded.

20. from 3.4.2011 to 6.6.2011, he was posted at police station- Mandawar. He was handed over investigation of Case Crime No.52/11, under Sections 302, 307, 323, 34 I.P.C. of witnesses which was being investigated by earlier investigating officer. He started investigation on 5.4.2011 statement of witnesses of recovery, postmortem, panchayatnama were recorded on 15.4.2011, charge-sheet no.53/11 was submitted in Court which is Ex-ka-23.

21. The learned Sessions Judge, Bijnor after hearing the parties and perusal of the record, acquitted the accused-Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam under Section 307/34 IPC as well as acquitted accused Noor Mohammad and Alam under Section 25 of the Arms Act but convicted accused Noor Mohammad, Deen Mohammad and Alam under Section 302/34, 323/34 IPC, hence this appeal.

22. Heard Mr. Mukhtar Alam & Mr. Saquib Mukhtar, learned counsel for the appellants, Mr. A.N. Mulla, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

23. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that following points for determination are involved in the present appeal:-

1. Whether the occurrence was occurred in presence of alleged eye-witnesses i.e. P.W.1, P.W.2 & P.W.3 and there evidence is reliable?

2. Whether prosecution has not produced the best evidence to prove its case and deliberately withheld the material witnesses and evidence without any justification?

3. Whether the postmortem report does not support the prosecution case and as per autopsy, single fire-arm has been used for the commission of an offence and the shot was fired at a close range.

4. Whether the FIR is ante-timed and absolutely there was no proper and fair investigation and the investigation of the case is defective.

5. Whether trial court has completely misread the evidence and passed the impugned judgment and order without appreciating the evidence available on record in its right perspective and the same is not sustainable in the eyes of law?

24. Learned counsel for the appellants on the points for determination no.1 submitted as follows:-

P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 alleged eye witnesses are unreliable witnesses as all the three were not present nor they have seen the incident.

The relevant portion of examination-in-chief of P.W.-1 is as follows:-

दिनांक 19.3.2011 को समय करीब शाम के सवा सात बजे मेरे छोटे भाई रियासत व फैजान हबीब की दुकान पर सामान लेने गये थे। तभी नूर मोहम्मद, दीन मोहम्मद व आलम अपने हाथों में तमंचे लिये हुये गाली देते हुये आये और रियासत को पकड़कर मारपीट करने लगे तभी फैजान जो मेरा छोटा भाई है दुकान से भागकर आया और घटना के बारे में मुझे व मेरे पिता असलम को बताया मै तथा मेरे अब्बा असलम, हबीब की दुकान पर पहुंचे और रियासत को बचाने लगे तभी आलम ने अपने

हाथ में लिये तमंचे से मेरे अब्बा के माथे पर गोली मार दी, जिससे उनकी मौके पर मृत्यु हो गयी थी। मैने व मेरे छोटे भाई रियासत ने आलम को पकड़ना चाहा। तभी नूर मोहम्मद व दीन मोहम्मद ने जान से मारने की नियत से अपने हाथों में लिये तमंचे से हमारे उपर फायर किये गये जिससे हम बाल बाल बच गये। मैं अपने पिता असलम की लाश को मौके पर छोड़कर थाने आये और महमूद आलम से रिपोर्ट लिखकर थाने पर दी जो मैने बोला था वही महमूद आलम ने लिखा था मैने सुनकर तहरीर पर अपना अंगूठा लगाया था। पत्रावली पर तहरीर कागज सं० 11/2 दाखिल है जिस पर एक्ज क-1 डाला गया। मुलजिमान नूर मोहम्मद, दीन मोहम्मद व आलम पुत्रगण बुन्दू गोली मारकर व फायर करके अपने घर की ओर भाग गये थे।

25. The relevant portion of cross-examination of P.W.-1 is as follows:-

हबीब की दुकान उत्तर सामनी है। और उसके सामने पूरब पश्चिम रास्ता है। पश्चिम को हमारी तरफ को रास्ता जाता है और पूरब को गांव मे जाता है। जब मेरे वालिद को गोली लगी तो उस समय वह प्राईमरी पाठशाला के सामने थे। प्राईमरी पाठशाला के उत्तर में आटा चक्की बुन्दू है। यह प्राईमरी पाठशाला इस पूरब पश्चिम वाले रास्ते के उत्तर में है। पाठशाला की बाउण्डरी नही है खुला है। पाठशाला की पूरब पश्चिम चौडाई करीब 60 फीट है। पाठशाला का जो पश्चिम वाला कोना है उसके पास गोली लगी थी और दक्षिण से चलाई गई थी। गोली चलाने वाला करीब 7 कदम मेरे वालिद से दूर था। पाठशाला के सामने रास्ता करीब 20-22 फिट चौड़ा है।

नूर मोहम्मद व दीन मोहम्मद ने फायर अपने मकान की छत पर से किये थे ये दोनो लोग अपने मकान की छत पर थे और वहीं रहे। छत पर से दो फायर हुये थे जब फायर हुये थे मेरे पिता उस समय खडे थे। बुन्दू के मकान जिस की छत पर से फायर होना बता रहा हूँ रास्ते के दक्षिण मे है और उससे पश्चिम में राशिद की दुकान है। राशिद की दुकान से उत्तर मे मै 5 पहरे दूर था। इनकी छत 12 फिट ऊँची है।

26. From the perusal of entire statement (Chief and cross) of P.W.-1, Salamat alleged eye witness, as well as son of deceased, it is established that P.W.-1 is changing his stand with respect to place of incident. In his examination-in-chief, he stated that incident has taken place before shop of Habib, where all the three accused were present and fired but in cross examination he stated that incident has taken place before primary school and Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad fired from the roof of their house, who remained present on their roof. These are material contradiction in the statement of P.W.-1 and has not been explained by prosecution, as such, evidence of P.W.-1 cannot be relied upon.

27. So far as P.W.-2, Faizan is concerned, he is son of deceased and minor at the time of incident, his statement is also not consistent. In the cross-examination, he stated that hundred people were assembled at the place of incident, the place where Riyasat was caught hold his father, had not received fire-shot, rather at Chauraha his father received fire shot, the relevant portion of cross-examination of P.W.-2 is as follows:-

मुझे अपने पिता व भाई को बुलाकर लाने में पन्द्रह बीस मिनट लगी होगी। उस समय भी रियासत को मुलजिमान

मारपीट कर रहे थे। सैकडों आदमी वहां इकट्ठा हो गये थे। घटनास्थल पर वे सब आदमी रियासत को चारों ओर हो रहे थे। उन सैकडों आदमियों मे से मै किसी का नाम नही बता सकता। मुझे दिशाओ का ज्ञान नही है जब हम लौटकर आये तो रियासत हबीब की दुकान से 5 पहटे हमारे घर की तरफ को था। जहां रियासत को पकड़ रखा था। उससे बुन्द्रू का घर उत्तर की तरफ था। जहां रियासत को पकड़ रखा था। वहां मेरे पिता को गोली नही लगी थी। बल्कि चौराहे पर लगी थी।

28. From the perusal of examination-in-chief and cross-examination of P.W.-2 who was minor at the time of incident, it is established that statement of P.W.2 is not consistent with respect to place of incident as well as evidence of P.W.2 is not corroborated by evidence of P.W.1, thus, evidence of P.W.2 is also not reliable and trustworthy.

29. P.W.-3, Rafeeq alleged eye-witness as well as independent witness in his cross-examination clearly stated that he was at his home when firing took place. He further stated that he had not seen anybody who fired shot to Aslam, the relevant portion of cross-examination of P.W.-3, Rafeeq is as follows:-

जब मै पहुचा तो असलम को मैने मरी हुई हालत में देखा सैकडो आदमी इकट्ठा थे सब एक दूसरे से पूछ रहे थे कि असलम कैसे मर गया और किसने गोली मार दी उस समय नूर मौहम्मद, दीन मौहम्मद, व आलम उस समय घटना स्थल पर नही थे जब मै वहां घटना स्थल पर पहुंचा उस दिन मै सलामत के घर भी नही गया था जब गोली चली मै अपने घर पर था। सलामत अपने बाप के पास होगा।

सलामत का घर पूरब में हवीव की दुकान से है। हबीब की दुकान से पूर्व को रास्ता जा रहा है। हबीब की दुकान के पास कोई चौराहा नही है। हवीब की दुकान के पूरब मे रास्ते के बाद इस्माईल का घर है। इसके बाद पंचायत घर है। पाठशाला हवीब की दुकान से 50-60 कदम की दूरी पर है जो पूरब में है।

यह बात सही है कि असलम को गोली मारते हुऐ मैने किसी को नही देखा।

यह कहना गलत है कि पाठशाला हवीब की दुकान से 100 गज से अधिक फासले पर हो।

30. From the perusal of statement of P.W.-3, it is fully established that P.W.-3 is not eye-witness of the incident and his evidence is also not reliable and trustworthy.

31. On the point for determination no.2, learned counsel for the appellants contended that prosecution has not produced Riyasat who was alleged to be throughout present on spot and even beaten by accused but prosecution has failed to produce Riyasat which makes the prosecution case doubtful. Constable, Tarachand, special report messenger was also not produced by prosecution and copy of special report was also not on record of the case and there is no mention of sending special report of the case in report no. 39 which demonstrate that special report of the case has not been sent. Accordingly, non-production of Tarachand by prosecution makes the prosecution case doubtful.

32. On the point for determination no.3, learned counsel for the appellants contended that according to postmortem report, blackening was present in the injuries but P.W.1 in his cross-examination stated that person who fired shot was 7 steps away from his deceased father Aslam. P.W.4 Dr. R.S. Rabidas in his cross-examination stated that deceased received fire shot from the distance of some inch.

33. On the point of blackening and charring, following judgment of the Apex Court will be relevant. Paragraph no. 12 of 2007(57) ACC 1099, Raj Kumar Prasad Tamarkar vs. State of Bihar and Others is as follows:

12. The autopsy report shows that 'a blackening and charring' existed so far as Injury No. (i) is concerned. The blackening and charring keeping in view the nature of the firearm, which is said to have been used clearly go to show that a shot was fired from a short distance. Blackening or charring is possible when a shot is fired from a distance of about 2 feet to 3 feet. It, therefore, cannot be a case where the death might have been caused by somebody by firing a shot at the deceased from a distance of more than 6 feet. The place of injury is also important. The lacerated wound was found over grabella (middle of forehead). It goes a long way to show that the same must have been done by a person who wanted to kill the deceased from a short distance. There was, thus, a remote possibility of causation of such type of injury by any other person, who was not in the terrace. Once the prosecution has been able to show that at the relevant time, the room and terrace were in exclusive occupation of the couple, the burden of proof lay upon the respondent to show under what circumstances death was caused to his wife. The onus was on him. He failed to discharge the same.

34. Now, at this stage, we shall proceed to examine whether the medical evidence renders the ocular account completely unacceptable or improbable. In this regard, the submission of learned counsel for the appellants is that the ocular account is not acceptable because the medical evidence has ruled out possibility of the shot being fired from seven steps away from the deceased as per PW-1 in his cross-examination but the same is ruled out as per PW-4-Dr. R.S. Rabidas in his cross-examination, who stated that deceased received fire shot from the distance of some inches. There is also contradictions in the examination-in-chief and in cross examination of witnesses of fact i.e. PW-2 and PW-3 vis-a-vis in the medical evidence.

35. At this stage, we may notice few decisions of Hon'ble the Apex Court on the issue as to when a conflict between medical evidence and ocular account would render the ocular account untrustworthy and unreliable. In Thaman Kumar v. State of Union Territory of Chandigarh, (2003) 6 SCC 380, in paragraph 16, it was observed as follows:

"16. The conflict between oral testimony and medical evidence can be of varied dimensions and shapes. There may be a case where there is total absence of injuries which are normally caused by a particular weapon. There is another category where though the injuries found on the victim are of the type which are possible by the weapon of assault, but the size and dimension of the injuries do not exactly tally with the size and dimension of the weapon. The third category can be where the injuries found on the victim are such which are normally caused by the weapon of assault but they are not found on that portion of the body where they are deposed to have been caused by the eye witnesses. The same kind of inference cannot be drawn in the three categories of apparent conflict in oral and medical evidence enumerated above. In the first category, it may legitimately be inferred that the oral evidence regarding assault having been made from a particular weapon is not truthful. However, in the second and third category no such inference can straightaway be drawn. The manner and method of assault, the position of the victim, the resistance offered by him, the opportunity available to the witnesses to see the occurrence like their distance, presence of light and many other similar factors will have to be taken into consideration in judging the reliability of ocular testimony."

36. Hon'ble the Apex Court in Punjab Singh v. State of Haryana, 1984 Supp SCC 233 and Anil Rai v. State of Bihar, (2001) 7 SCC 318 has considered in detail that (1) if direct evidence is satisfactory and reliable, the same cannot be rejected on hypothetical medical evidence, and (2) if medical evidence when properly read shows two alternative possibilities but not any inconsistency, the one consistent with the reliable and satisfactory statements of the eye witness has to be accepted. The similar view has also been taken by Hon'ble the Apex Court in Abdul Sayeed v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 10 SCC 259. No doubt the legal principle, which has been pronounced by Hon'ble the Apex Court, is that ocular evidence has greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence. In the present matter, we also find that there is inconsistency of the prosecution witnesses of fact and after close scrutiny of the medical evidence, we find that ocular evidence may be discarded.

37. To appreciate the submission urged by the learned counsel for the appellants that P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 are not credible and reliable, we have examined their testimony threadbare. We find that these three witnesses claim themselves to be the eye witness of the occurrence but their description of the manner of occurrence and the contradiction regarding the place of occurrence, the injury sustained by the deceased from a gun shot fired from approximately seven steps and considering the statement of PW-4- Dr. R.S. Rabidas that the gun shot fired from very close range (few inches) are such circumstances which remain unexplained. Thus, the ocular testimony is wholly inconsistent with the circumstantial evidence as well as the medical evidence. The case in hand is based upon direct evidence. Therefore, in order to award or uphold the conviction of an accused in a case based upon direct evidence, the Court has of necessity to hold that the prosecution story is probable. The prosecution witnesses of fact are credible and reliable and therefore their testimony is worthy of credit. In a case of direct evidence motive cannot be said to be of much value. Therefore, in such situation, it is imperative to the Court to go into the facts and circumstances of the case and find out as to what was the cause behind the occurrence, the motive behind the occurrence and whether it has any relation with the crime or not. On a careful scrutiny of the alleged motive assigned to the accused-appellants for the commission of crime, the Court finds, as enumerated above, that the same is too far stretched.

38. On the point of determination no.4, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that FIR is ante-timed and investigation of the case is defective. Learned counsel for the appellants further submitted that special report of the case has not been sent according to law, the reliance has been placed upon paragraph-101 of the police regulation which is as follows:

"101. Special Report cases.- Whenever the occurrence of an offence of any of the following kinds is reported (1) dacoity, (2) robbery except unimportant cases such as snatching earrings, (3) torture by police, (4) escape from police custody, (5) forging of currency notes (6) manufacture of counterfeit coin, (7) serious defalcations of public money including theft of notes or hundis from letters, (8) important cases of murder, rioting, burglary and theft, breaches of the peace between different classes, communities or political groups and other cases of special interest, copies of the report will be sent immediately in red envelopes to the Superintendent, the District Magistrate, the Sub Divisional Magistrate and the Circle Inspector by post or hand whichever may be the quicker method of conveyance. The telephone or telegraph when available, and the department telegraphic code, copies of which have been supplied to all police stations near telegraph offices should also be used to give the Superintendent early news of such offences."

39. The counsel further placed cross-examination of PW.10 Head Constable Mahak Singh in order to demonstrate that procedure for sending special report of the case has not been followed at all, the relevant portion of cross-examination of P.W.10 Mahak Singh is as follows:

"मैने स्पेशल रिपोर्ट जिस जी०डी० मे मुकदमा कायम हुआ उसी जी०डी० मे भेजी मैने सी/ताराचन्द्र को एस०आर० लेकर भेजा था परन्तु जी०डी० मे ताराचन्द्र की कोई रवानगी दर्ज नही है। तारा चन्द्र नक्शा नजरी के अनुसार सुबह 6.05 मिनट पर थाने पर मौजूद था फिर 8.50 मिनट पर जी०डी० संख्या 18 पर ये उसकी रवानगी सदर विजनौर के लिए हुई। फिर ताराचन्द्र की वापसी 17.40 पर थाने पर हुई। उसके पश्चात ताराचन्द्र की रवानगी मे दर्ज नही है। उसे मैने बिना रवानगी दर्ज करे ही भेज दिया था एस०ओ० साहब के जुवानी आदेश मे भेजा था। मुझे नही पता कि तारा चन्द्र का उस दिन का एस०आर० लेकर जाने का टी०ए०डी०ए० भरा गया या नही यह सही है कि रपट नम्बर 39 मे एस०आर० भेजे जाने का तस्करा नही है। रपट नम्बर 39 मे यह लिखा है कि एस०आर० बाद करने तैयार रवाना की जायेगी। यह सही है मेरे पास उस एस०आर० की कोई कापी है। ना ही पत्रावली मे उस एस०आर० की कोई नकल है। उस एस०आर० पर जो भेजी थी उस पर एस०एच०ओ० के हस्ताक्षर कराये थे। ताराचन्द्र की कायमी थाने पर कब हुई मै नही बता सकता। ताराचन्द्र आज कल थाना नजीमाबाद मे तैनात है। यह कहना गलत है कि रपट नम्बर 39 पर ओवर राइटिंग की गई हो। एस०एच०ओ० मुकदमा कायमी के समय मौजूद नही थे मुकदमा कायमी से पूर्व रपट नम्बर 34 16.00 बजे रवानगी हो चुकी थी एस०एच०ओ० की वापसी दिनांक 19.3.11 को थाने पर नही हुई अगले दिन हुई होगी।

मे मामूर रवाना स्थल बता दिया था नकल चिक व नकल रपट उन्हे क्षेत्र मे भिजवायी थी वह कहाँ थे नही पता यह सूचना मैने एस०आई० वीर सिंह को थाने पर बुलाकर उनसे भिजवायी थी। वीर सिंह इस मुकमदे के विवेचक नही थे। एस०आर० पर क्रम संख्या, अपराध संख्या, धारा दिनांक घटना समय, दिनांक सूचना समय दिनांक घटना स्थल वादी प्रतिवादी नाम मृतक, विवेचक व अन्य विवरण लिखा जाता है। यह एस०आर० डी०आई०जी० महोदय, पुलिस अधीक्षक एडि० एस०पी०, डी०एम० व एस०डी०एम०, सी०ओ० और बी०सी०आर०पी० को भेजी जाती है। मैने एस०आर० की सात प्रति कार्बन लगाकर तैयार की थी परन्तु थाने पर उनमे से एक भी नही रखी थी। ना ही न्यायालय मे भेजने हेतु कोई रखी। क्योंकि न्यायालय मे मूल एफ०आई०आर० आती है। इसलिए हम न्यायालय को एस०आर० की कापी नही भेजते।

यह कहना गलत है कि मै सही ब्यान ना दे रहा हूँ। और एफ०आई०आर० एन्टी टाईम लिखी गई हो बाद मे लिखकर पहले दिखा दी गई हो।"

40. It is relevant to mention here that Constable Clerk Tarachand Special Report Messenger has not been produced by prosecution which also makes the prosecution case doubtful and strengthen the argument of learned counsel for the appellants on defective investigation.

41. The learned counsel for the appellant further placed statement of P.W.1 Salamat and P.W.5 Veer Singh in order to demonstrate that FIR is ante-timed, the relevant portion of cross-examination of P.W.1 is as follows:

"थाने मै शाम को साढे आठ बजे पहुंचा था। महमूद, आलम पुत्र अमीर हसन निवासी नारायण पुर मेरे खालू लगते है। नारायण पुर गांव हमारे गांव से 22 किलोमीटर है। थाने हम कोई तहरीर लेकर नही गये थे। हम लोग ट्रैक्टर से गये थे। मेरे साथ रफीक, शफीक, अनवार, आबिद गये थे। मैने थाने जाकर दिवान जी को घटना बताई। मेरे बताने पर पुलिस वाले मेरे साथ मौके पर आये थे दरोगा जी भी आये थे। वहां उन्होने लोगों से तहकीकात की लोगों से पूछताछ की तब मुझसे कहा था कि जैसा हुआ है लिख कर दो तब मैने महमूद आलम से तहरीर लिखवाकर दरोगा जी को गांव में ही दे दी थी। यह बात करीब 9 बजे की रही होगी तभी पुलिस वालों ने मेरे पिता जी की लाश वही सील की थी। तभी 9 बजे जब मैने तहरीर दी थी। पुलिस वालों ने मेरे पिता की लाश ट्रैक्टर ट्राली मे रख ली और मुझे भी बैठा लिया था। फिर लाश को लेकर थाने गये। थाने पर लाश ट्रैक्टर ट्राली मे ही रखी रही थी। वहां पुलिस वालों ने लिखत पढ़त की। वहां मेरे कोरे कागजो पर अंगूठे लगवाये। थाने पर हम लोग एक घण्टा रुके थे। यह एक घण्टा थाने पर लाश की लिखा पढी के लिये रुके थे। मेरे पिता की लाश सील

यह कहना गलत है कि थाने पर बैठकर सारे कागजात पूरे किए हो।"

42. Learned counsel for the appellants placed reliance upon the case law reported in 2006 (3) ACR 2726 (SC), Jagdish Murav vs. State of U.P. and Others, the Apex Court in para no. 12 observed as hereunder:

".....FIR in a criminal case and particularly in a murder case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of appreciating the evidence led at the trial. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR is to obtain the earliest information regarding the circumstance in which the crime was committed, including the names of the actual culprits and the parts played by them, the weapons, if any, used, as also the names of the eyewitnesses, if any. Delay in lodging the FIR often results in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. On account of delay, the FIR not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger also creeps in of the introduction of a coloured version or exaggerated story. With a view to determine whether the FIR was lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, the Courts generally look for certain extremal checks. One of the checks is the receipt of the copy of the FIR, called a special report in a murder case, by the local Magistrate. If this report is received by the Magistrate late, it can give rise to an inference that the FIR was not lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, unless, of course the prosecution can offer a satisfactory explanation for the delay in despatching or receipt of the copy of the FIR by the local Magistrate. Prosecution has led no evidence at all in this behalf. The second external check equally important is the sending of the copy of the FIR along with the dead body and its reference in the inquest report. Even though, the inquest report, prepared under Section 174 CrPC, is aimed at serving a statutory function, to lend credence to the prosecution case, the details of the FIR and the gist of statements recorded during inquest proceedings get reflected in the report. The absence of those details is indicative of the fact that the prosecution story was still in an embryo state and had not been given any shape and that the FIR came to be recorded later on after due deliberations and consultations and was then ante-timed to give it the colour of a promptly lodged FIR. In our opinion, on account of the infirmities as noticed above, the FIR has lost its value and authenticity and it appears to us that the same has been ante-timed and had not been recorded till the inquest proceedings were over at the spot by PW.8"

43. Further reliance was placed upon the judgment of this Court delivered in Criminal Appeal No.3019/1986 (Bachhi Lal and Others vs. State of U.P.) dated 24.4.2019, this Court in paragraph no. 31 observed as hereunder:

"Testing the evidence on record on the touchstone of the principles enunciated hereinabove for ascertaining whether FAR. in this case is ante-timed, we find that neither the special report was sent by the Investigating Officer or the constable moharir promptly to the C.O. nor the original F.l.R. accompanied the dead body when it was dispatched for post mortem examination. The deposition made by PW6 that the special report was sent on 20.03.1985 and received back on 23.03.1985 but both the entries regarding the dispatch of the special report and its receipt were made on the same day i.e. on 23.03.1985 creates a doubt about the credibility of the prosecution claim that special report was sent on 20.03.1985. The total inability of the prosecution to furnish any plausible explanation for the inordinate delay of 24 hours in delivering the body of the deceased by PW-6, constable Raspal to PW4, Dr. Keshav Gupta which was given to him by the Investigating Officer on 19.03.1985 at 11:00 a.m. for post-mortem examination gives rise to only inference that is the F.I.R. had not come into existence either at the time of the inquest or till the morning of 20.03.1985. Hence, we hold that the F.I.R. in this is ante-timed. "

44. Thus, upon complete analysis of record, we find that special report of the case has not been sent according to rule and regulation which is proved from the statement of P.W.10 Mahak Singh Head Constable. The statement of P.W.1, PW.5 and P.W.11 further reveals that FIR in this case is ante-timed.

45. On the point for determination no.5, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that learned trial Judge misread the evidence of P.W.1, PW.2 and P.W.3 to the effect that they are not eye-witnesses of the incident. He further failed to notice that what will be result of non-production of material witness (Riyasat and Tarachand) by the prosecution, the trial court only say that it is not necessary that prosecution must produce every witness. It is also material that learned trial court while acquitting the accused under Section 307 IPC and Section 25 of the Arms Act recorded that accused Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad were present on the roof of their house from where they fired which is 400-500 yard away from the place of incident and there are no independent witness of the recovery, as such Section 25 of the Arms Act is also not made out but convicted the accused-appellants under Section 302/34 & 323/34 IPC.

46. On the point of eye-witness account as well as on interested and related witness, the learned counsel for the appellants placed reliance upon the case law reported in 1994 (Supp 2) SCC 289

Mani Ram vs. State of U.P. and (2018) SCC 435 Sudhakar @ Sudharasan vs. State. In the aforementioned cases, the Apex Court acquitted the accused on the ground that there exists reasonable doubt in the case as the case of prosecution is unsupported by independent witnesses and filled with suspicious circumstances.

47. Learned A.G.A., Mr. A.N. Mulla and Mr. S.N. Mishra on the other hand, supported the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence dated 14.1.2016 contending that FIR is not ante-timed and on the ground of latches in the investigation, prosecution case cannot be doubted. Prosecution case is fully proved from the statement of PW.1, PW.2 and PW.3. The appeals filed by accused-appellants have no merit and are liable to be dismissed. On the point of defective investigation, learned AGA has cited following case laws:

(i) AIR 2019 SC 519, Jafel Biswas and others vs. State of West Bengal (Relevant paras are paragraph nos. 20 to 23)

(ii) (2013) 10 SCC 192, Hema vs. State through Inspector of Police, Madras (Relevant paras are paragraph nos. 10 to 18)

(iii) AIR 2010 SC 3718, C. Muniappan and others vs. State of Tamilnadu (Relevant para is paragraph no. 44)

(iv) 1972 (2) SCC 640, Pala Singh and another vs. State of Punjab (Relevant paras are paragraph nos. 3 & 7).

48. This Court has considered the entire evidence on record i.e. eye-witness account, non-production of material evidence medical evidence as well as defective investigation while deciding the point for determination nos. 1 to 5 and the defective investigation.

49. In view of the above facts and circumstances of the case, it is borne out from the records that point for determination no.1 is answered in negative to the effect that P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 were not eye-witness of the incident and their evidence are not reliable. Further, point for determination no.2 is answered in affirmative to the effect that prosecution has not produced the best evidence to prove its case and deliberately withheld the material witnesses without any justification. Point for determination no. 3 is also answered in affirmative to the effect that postmortem report does not support the prosecution case as P.W. 1 in his cross-examination stated that person who fired shot was 7 steps away from deceased father Aslam while in the postmortem report blackening was found in the injury. Point for determination no. 4 is answered in affirmative to the effect that FIR is ante-timed and investigation of the case is defective. The point for determination no.5 is also answered in affirmative.

50. In view of above, we find that the evidence of alleged eye witnesses produced by prosecution does not inspire confidence. There exists a doubt whether they are eye-witnesses of the incident or not, the place of incident is also doubtful. Oral evidence is also not consistent with the medical evidence, FIR is ante-timed and there are no independent witness of the incident. Prosecution has failed to prove the charges against the accused-appellants beyond reasonable doubt.

51. Accordingly, the Appeals are allowed. The impugned judgment / order of conviction and sentence dated 14.1.2016 are set aside. Appellants are acquitted of the charges framed against them. The accused appellant Alam in Criminal Appeal No.888/2016 is in jail. He shall be released from jail forthwith. Accused-appellants Noor Mohammad and Deen Mohammad in Criminal Appeal No.639/2016 are on bail. Their bail bonds and sureties are discharged.

Let a copy of the judgment along with the original record be sent to the court below for compliance.

Criminal Appeal No.917 of 2006

Sanjay Kumar ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Satish Chandra Mishra, Sri Dileep Kumar, Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey, Sri R.B. Chaudhary, Sri R. Bhargava, Sri Rajrshi Gupta, Sri Shesh Narain Mishra

Counsel for the Respondent:
G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 304B- Unnatural death within Seven years of marriage- All the four witnesses of fact are consistent in proving the marriage of the deceased Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar approximately 5 years ago from the date of the incident. The prosecution, thus, became successful in proving the incident of bride burning as informed by the first informant, PW-1, occurring within a period of five years' of matrimonial life of the deceased Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar. By oral evidence, the witnesses PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 had proved the demand of motorcycle in dowry and also torture and beating of the deceased in connection with the said demand.

In a case under Section 304 B of the IPC, the prosecution has to prove that the death of the woman was under unnatural circumstances within seven years of her marriage and she was subjected to cruelty and harassment by her husband or any of his relatives for demand of dowry.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 8 - Subsequent Conduct- Neither the accused informed the unnatural death of the deceased nor they took her to the hospital to get her all possible treatment. This conduct is also a relevant fact which lead to an inference that the unnatural death was caused due to burn injuries caused by her in-laws and the motive was unfulfilled demand of motorcycle in dowry.

The subsequent conduct of the accused persons in neither giving any information about the unnatural death and nor providing the deceased with any medical help will lead the court to take an adverse inference against the accused.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 106- Burden of Proof- What happened in the matrimonial house with the deceased and how the wounds and injuries were sustained on the person of the deceased as ante-mortem injuries are the facts, particularly within the knowledge of the accused-Sanjay as there is absolutely no evidence on record nor it was alleged that he was not present in the house on the fateful day when the deceased was alive just prior to the incident, no explanation at all had been offered by the accused despite opportunity given to him. The presence of accused with the deceased when she was alive is proved beyond doubt. Resultantly, under Section 106 of Evidence Act, 1872, there is a corresponding burden on the accused-husband to give cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed. The appellant cannot get away by keeping mum.

Where the wife has died an unnatural death inside the home, the presence of the husband stands established by the prosecution during the relevant period then the burden of proof of explaining the circumstances under which the deceased met her death, will lie upon the accused husband.

Proportionate Punishment- Quantum of Punishment- The judgment can not be interfered on the argument as to the disproportionate quantum of punishment. The dowry death being a long standing social event and the dowry death of the deceased in the instant case being pestiferous committed in a scheme of the most brutal manner and cruelty by the covetous husband, the punishment of life imprisonment, in our considered opinion, is the proportionate punishment.

Where the deceased has been done to death in a brutal manner by a greedy husband, no interference is required in the quantum of punishment awarded by the trial court. (Para 28, 34, 46, 47, 51)

3. Trimukh Maroti Kirkan Vs. St. of Maha. (2006) 10 SCC 681

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikas Kunvar Srivastav, J.)

1. The instant Criminal Appeal has been preferred against the judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 24.01.2006 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court no. 6, Basti in Sessions Trial No. 276 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B of Indian Penal Code, 1860 read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act.

2. On behalf of accused-appellant, learned Amicus Curiae Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey argued the case whereas the State-respondent is represented by the learned Additional Government Advocate Ms. Arti Agarwal.

3. Vide impugned judgment of conviction and order of sentence, dated 24.01.2006, the appellant is convicted under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Lalganj, District Basti and sentenced with life imprisonment under Section 304-B IPC. Under Section 498-A IPC two years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 2000/-; in default of payment of fine six months additional rigorous imprisonment. Under Section ¾ of the Dowry Prohibition Act one year rigorous imprisonment. All the sentences are to run concurrently.

FACTUAL MATRIX OF THE CASE

4. Briefly stating the prosecution case as emerges from the written information dated 27.08.2000 submitted in the Police Station Lalganj, District Basti by the brother of the deceased, is that the informant's sister was married with the accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar, resident of village Dei Saar, Police Station Lalganj, District Basti, approximately 5 years ago (27.08.2000). It is complained that Sanjay Kumar and his father Daya Shanker and mother Dhanpati @ Kanchan were not satisfied with the gifts and dowry given to them at the time of marriage, therefore demanded "Rajdoot' motorcycle in dowry repeatedly. The father of the informant had already died and the family of the informant was not sound financially, therefore, they could not fulfil the demand of motorcycle in dowry. Due to this, the accused persons, Sanjay Kumar and his parents were harassing his sister, the deceased Islawati Devi. On the complaint made by the informant's sister, the informant met her in-laws with folded hands and told that he was not in a position to gift motorcycle in dowry. Being annoyed by the denial, the accused persons, on 27.08.2000, caused death of Islawati, informant's sister by burning her. After getting information of the incident when the informant, Mani Ram Chaudhary reached at the matrimonial house of his sister and asked the accused Daya Shanker, he told that she had died.

5. The First Information Report was lodged on the said information registering the criminal Case No. 98 of 2000 on 27.08.2000 at about 9:35 p.m. against Sanjay Kumar (the present appellant), Daya Shanker and Dhanpati Devi (the parents of the appellant Sanjay Kumar). On 29.08.2000, the informant Mani Ram Chaudhary applied to add the name of Ram Singh S/o Daya Shanker, brother of the accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar as an accused making harassment and cruelty committed on the deceased Islawati Devi in connection with the demand of dowry.

6. After registering the First Information report, the Investigating Officer reached at the spot of the incident, collected the plain and blood stained soil, other material and articles found near the dead body including one plastic container of kerosene oil of half a litre, the ash of the spot and prepared the relevant memos on 08.08.2000.

7. The inquest proceeding was conducted on 28.08.2000 and concluded on the same day at about 1:00 p.m. The Investigating Officer formed an opinion that the death was caused by burning and sent it for post-mortem with constables Ram Narain Singh and Sriram Pandey on the same day.

8. The plea of alibi is taken by learned the Amicus Curiae on behalf of the accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar.

9. The post-mortem was conducted on 29.08.2000 at about 4:00 p.m. The age of the deceased was mentioned about 26 years. The doctor opined that the death occurred 2-3 days ago. Following ante-mortem injuries were reported:

"1. Contusion on left side of face 6cm x 4cm just interior to left ear.

2. Contusion on the back of head 5cm x 4cm.

3. Contusion upper part of chest 22cm x 15cm.

4. Contusion 6cm x 4cm front of upper left arm found above left elbow."

10. After collecting incriminating material from the spot of the incident, recording evidence of witnesses, the Investigating Officer concluded the investigation and submitted the chargesheet, whereupon after hearing the parties, charges against three accused persons, namely Sanjay Kumar, Daya Shanker and Dhanpati Devi @ Kanchan were framed on 22.02.2001 and subsequently in a separate Sessions Trial against Ram Singh bearing Sessions Trial No. 247 of 2001 also charges were framed on 23.10.2001 under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act.

11. The prosecution produced the following oral and documentary evidences before the trial Judge:

P.W.-1, the informant, Mani Ram Chaudhary (brother of the deceased)	Proved the written complaint (Ex. Ka.1) Proved the Application (Ex. Ka.2)
P.W.-2, Ram Karan (brother of the deceased)
P.W.-3, S.K. Chaudhary
P.W.-4, Malti Devi (Mother of the deceased)
P.W.-5, Radhey Shyam	Proved Panchayatnama as Ex. Ka.
P.W.-6, Ram Narain Singh
P.W.-7, Dr. P.N. Singh	Proved Post mortem report Ex. Ka-6.
P.W.-8, Diwakar Kumar, Sub Inspector	1. Proved the recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth. (Ex. Ka.-4) 2. Proved the recovery memo of Ash and Earth (Ex. Ka.-5)
P.W.-9, Chedhi Prasad Yadav, Station HouseOfficer P.W.-10, Vidya Sagar Sharma, Head Moharrir P.W.-11, Sri Ram Pandey, Constable
One witness in defence
Arjun as D.W.-1

12. After the prosecution witnesses, the accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and ultimately the trial judge convicted the present accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar for the offence under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC read with Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act. The accused Daya Shanker and Dhanpati Devi @ Kanchan in Sessions Trial No. 276 of 2000 and Ram Singh in Sessions Trial No. 247 of 2001 were acquitted for all the charges levelled against them under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act. As such, the present accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar is the sole accused before this court.

ARGUMENTS OF THE LEARNED COUNSELS

13. Learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of the accused-appellant argued that the factum of demand of dowry is not proved as the evidence with regard to the demand of dowry is lacking. There is no complaint either in the police station or any other Forum like village Panchayat or before the respected elders of the family of cruelty in connection with the demand of dowry either by the deceased Islawati or by her brother. For the first time after death of the deceased the allegations of demand of dowry came in the written information given by the brother of the deceased.

14. He further urged that even the inquest witnesses had not stated any sign of cruelty on the person of deceased just before her death. The deceased was reported to have been treated with cruelty and harassment by the informant on his own by reason of her death due to burning.

15. Learned Amicus Curiae further argued that no specific role of demand of dowry and committing cruelty in connection therewith to can be assigned to the accused-appellant. The informant, PW-1 and other witnesses of the fact have stated that the demand of dowry and cruelty committed in connection therewith was made by all the accused persons including the present accused-appellant, though there is no evidence exclusively against the present accused-applicant. Once on the same evidence when other accused persons were acquitted, the learned trial judge had committed an error in recording the conviction of the present accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar only. The learned trial judge thus has passed the impugned judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 24.01.2006 without considering the material on record. The sentence is too severe being the maximum as provided under Section 304-B IPC which is disproportionate to the guilt, if any. The prosecution had been unsuccessful in proving it's case beyond all reasonable doubt. No specific motive against the appellant is proved. On the basis of the contentions made by him, learned Amicus Curiae prays to set aside the judgment of conviction and order of sentence and to allow the appeal.

16. Learned Additional Government Advocate Ms. Arti Agarwal replying the arguments made by learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of the accused-appellant argued that the prosecution has successfully proved all the ingredients to constitute the presumptive offence under Section 304-B IPC with regard to dowry death, namely:

(I) unnatural death of the wife ;

(ii) death within 7 years of marriage ;

(iii) demand of dowry and ;

(iv) cruelty done with the deceased in connection with demand of dowry soon before her death.

17. Learned AGA contended that on the date of the incident, the deceased, "Islawati" was a young lady of 26 years of age. Undoubtedly, her death was unnatural as is evident from the post-mortem report. The injuries apart from burn injuries found in the arm of the person of the deceased show that the deceased was subjected to brutality and cruelty soon before her death. Learned AGA has further contended that the post-mortem report reveals that the deceased was strangulated before her death as hyoid bone was broken. She further contended that the dead body was found in the matrimonial house of the deceased Islawati of which the accused appellant was a normal resident. No plausible explanation could be given by him. He rebut the presumption against him. The material circumstances were enough to presume it is a case of dowry death against the accused-appellant. The defence has remained unsuccessful in eliciting any fact during cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses which may be considered as the fact sufficient to rebut the presumption.

18. The plea taken in defence of alibi had not been proved by the defence during trial. The prosecution had established it's case beyond all reasonable doubt against the appellant, therefore there may not be any interference with the judgment of conviction and order of sentence. The appeal deserves to be dismissed.

[DISCUSSIONS]

LAW RELATING TO DOWRY DEATH

19. From the facts, circumstances of the case and evidences on record, the case against the present accused-appellant is of dowry death which is a presumptive offence under Section 304-B IPC. For the purpose of easy reference in discussions, Section 304-B IPC be quoted hereunder:

[304-B. Dowry death.--"(1)Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death. Explanation. For the purpose of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).*

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.]"

20. As can be seen from the aforesaid provision, for convicting the accused for an offence punishable under Section 304B IPC, the following pre-requisites are required to be met:

(i) that the death of a woman must have been caused by burns or bodily injury or occurred otherwise than under normal circumstance;

(ii) that such a death must have occurred within a period of seven years of her marriage;

(iii) that the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment at the hands of her husband soon before her death and ;

(iv) that such a cruelty or harassment must have been for or related to any demand for dowry.

21. The explanation appended to Section 304B IPC states that the word "dowry" shall have the same meaning as provided in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 which reads as follows:

"2. Definition of ''dowry' - In this Act, "dowry" means any property or valuable security given or agreed to be given either directly or indirectly -*

(a) by one party to a marriage to the other party to the marriage; or

(b) by the parents of either party to a marriage by any other person, to either party to the marriage or to any other person;

at or before or any time after the marriage in connection with the marriage of the said parties, but does not include dower or mahr in the case of persons to whom the Muslim Personal law (Shariat) applies."

22. The presumption of dowry death arises when the death caused is unnatural within 7 years of the marriage in the matrimonial home and soon before the unnatural death of the wife, there is evidence of cruelty committed on her before her death in connection with the demand of dowry. It would also be pertinent to reproduce Section 498-A IPC as under:

"Section 498A in The Indian Penal Code

498A. Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty.--Whoever, being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman, subjects such woman to cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years and shall also be liable to fine. Explanation.--For the purpose of this section, "cruelty" means--

(a) any wilful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand."

23. In this connection to appreciate the nature of presumption, we find it relevant to note Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act, 1972 as under:

"Section 113B in The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

[113B. Presumption as to dowry death.--When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman has been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the Court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "dowry death" shall have the same meaning as in section 304B, of the Indian Penal Code, (45 of 1860).]"

WHETHER DEATH CAUSED WITHIN 7 YEARS OF MARRIAGE

24. According to the case of the prosecution, the marriage of deceased Islawati with appellant Sanjay Kumar was solemnized 5 years prior to the incident dated 27.08.2000. The written information of the incident has proved by the brother of the deceased Mani Ram Chaudhary (PW-1) and marked as Exhibit Ka-1. PW-1 categorically stated in the examination in chief that the marriage of his sister, the deceased, was solemnized 5 years ago and denied the suggestion that he gave statement to the Investigating Officer that the deceased got married in the year 1988.

25. PW-2, Ramkaran, another brother of deceased Islawati also stated that the marriage was solemnized approximately 5 years ago from the date of incident. In the course of cross examination, it was suggested that this witness in his previous statement to the Investigating Officer stated that the marriage of his sister Islawati was solemnized in the year, 1988 and the ritual of "Gauna" was performed in the year, 1995. PW-2 denied that no such statement was given to the Investigating Officer. Apart from this suggestion, nothing could be elicited by the learned defence counsel to establish the marriage of the deceased Islawati with the accused Sanjay in the year, 1988.

26. PW-3 Shyam Karan Chaudhary, brother of the deceased Islawati in his cross examination has specifically stated with the marriage of deceased Islawati was solemnized with accused Sanjay in the year, 1995. This witness also stood firmly in the cross examination with regard to the period of marriage.

27. PW-4 Malti Devi W/o Shyam Karan (PW-3) who sister-in-law of deceased Islawati also stated she got married before the marriage of deceased Islawati and that she came to her in-laws house before the marriage of the deceased. She was examined before the trial court on 17.05.1995 and stated that the marriage of deceased was solemnized approximately 9 years ago from the date she was examined. PW-4 also stated that she had witnessed the marriage of the deceased. Nothing could be carved out by the learned counsel for the defence in contradiction to the statement of other witnesses with regard to the period of marriage of deceased Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar.

28. All the four witnesses of fact are consistent in proving the marriage of the deceased Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar approximately 5 years ago from the date of the incident. The prosecution, thus, became successful in proving the incident of bride burning as informed by the first informant, PW-1, occurring within a period of five years' of matrimonial life of the deceased Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar.

DEMAND OF DOWRY

29. The fact of demand of dowry can be disclosed most probably and very naturally by the sufferer i.e. the wife (In the present case decesed Islawati) herself and the inmates of her paternal house like her mother, brother or other near relatives with whom she might have shared the fact of demand having been made to her. In the case before us, PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 are the brothers of the deceased and PW-4 is her sister-in-law (wife of the brother of the deceased, namely, Shyam Karan). Narrating their conversation with the deceased during her life time the witnesses have stated before the court with regard to demand of motorcycle in dowry. PW-1 stated that their father had died before the marriage of Islawati and according to their financial capacity, they had given sufficient dowry in the marriage but the accused Sanjay Kumar, his parents and one real uncle Ram Singh were pressing the demand for motorcycle in the dowry. PW-1, the elder brother of the deceased with folded hands met the in-laws of his deceased sister and begged pardon for not fulfilling their demand of motorcycle in dowry and requested not to torture his sister in connection with their unfulfilled demand but they continued torturing and treating the deceased Islawati with cruelty in connection with their unfulfilled demand and ultimately P.W.-1 got the information of his sister's death by burning in her in-laws house. When he reached to the matrimonial house of the deceased, her father-in-law Daya Shanker met and told his sister had died. He immediately moved to the police station, gave the written information of the incident to lodge the First Information Report. This witness when confronted stated that before the marriage, no terms of dowry were settled but when his sister came from her matrimonial house to her paternal home, she told about the demand of motorcycle in dowry. P.W.-1 was further confronted as to when the said demand was made, he replied that the demand was made in the very year in which the marriage of Islawati was solemnized. This witness in the cross examination, thus, had proved that the demand of motorcycle in dowry was made to the deceased Islawati soon after her marriage.

30. Contrary to this proved fact when the accused persons were confronted with the same, they simply stated that marriage of Islawati with accused Sanjay Kumar was solemnized 8 years ago from the date of alleged incident. Except this bare statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., neither any inconsistency could be carved out in the cross examination of prosecution witness that the solemnization of marriage 8 years prior to the date of the incident nor the accused had adduced any evidence to prove their version.

31. In the cross examination of P.W.-1, it has come that the deceased Islawati was educated up to 10th standard, a query was then made to PW-1 whether any letter was written by her in relation to the demand of dowry which he denied. But P.W.-2 also denied the suggestion that letter was not written as there was no such demand nor any cruel treatment in connection with demand of dowry was ever made to her.

32. So far as the threat of life if the demand of motorcycle as dowry is concerned, PW-4, the sister-in-law of the deceased stated that deceased Islawati when visited her house, shared the trouble she was facing relating to the demand of dowry and cruel treatment by her in-laws in connection with the said demand. P.W.-4 stated that the deceased also shared the threat given to her that if the demand of motorcycle was not fulfilled, she (Islawati, the deceased) would be killed and second marriage would be performed. In the cross examination also P.W.-4 stood uncontradicted and consistent with her statement as to the threat of life to deceased Islawati. The other witnesses of fact PW-2 and PW-3 also stated that the deceased had shared threat to her life given by the accused persons in case the demand of motorcycle in dowry was not fulfilled. PW-2 and PW-3 Shyam Karan stated that their younger brother Mani Ram (PW-1) used to visit their sister in her matrimonial house frequently and he then became conversant with the fact of demand of dowry and subsequently killing of deceased. By oral evidence, the witnesses PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 had proved the demand of motorcycle in dowry and also torture and beating of the deceased in connection with the said demand.

33. Anything contrary to the said proved facts could not be carved out. Even no evidence had been adduced in defence.

UNNATURAL DEATH AND MEDICAL EVIDENCE

34. The witnesses of fact, namely, PW-1 to PW-4 proved that they came to know that her sister was burnt and killed by her in-laws when PW-1 rushed to know about the well being of her sister and reached her matrimonial house, her father-in-law informed that she had died. Neither the accused informed the unnatural death of the deceased nor they took her to the hospital to get her all possible treatment. This conduct is also a relevant fact which lead to an inference that the unnatural death was caused due to burn injuries caused by her in-laws and the motive was unfulfilled demand of motorcycle in dowry.

35. The inquest of the dead body after registration of the First Information Report on 27.08.2000 was done on 28.08.2000. The informant of the incident was Mani Ram Chaudhary PW-1 and no in male from the matrimonial house of the deceased. The spot of the incident of burning and death of the deceased, as described in the inquest report, is the matrimonial house of the deceased. The prima facie reason of unnatural death is assigned in the inquest report to the accused that they caused death by burning. The inquest proceeding is proved by the witness of the inquest, namely, Radhey Shyam as PW-5. He proved his signature on the inquest proceeding marked as Exhibit Ka-3. This witness also proved the collection of blood stained soil from the spot of the incident and plain earth soil therefrom by the Investigating Officer. The memo of the aforesaid is proved by him as Exhibit 3Ka/5. This witness has further stated that on the spot, at the time of the inquest, a container of kerosene oil was also found and the recovery memo was prepared by the Investigating Officer and he witnessed the recovery by making the signature on memo marked as Exhibit 3K/6. Apparently, according to this witness, no apparent injury was found on the burnt body but in view of the fact, collecting blood stained soil from the spot, the aforesaid portion of the statement suffers from obscurity. The body was, however, sent for the post-mortem.

36. The post-mortem examination was done on 29.08.2000 about 4:00 p.m. The doctor PW-7 observed that the dead body was 2 to 3 days old and the deceased was about 26 years of age. He observed the condition of the body as follows:

"Body swolen, both eyes, skin pealed off at places bulges out conjunctiva congested. Tongue protruded out of mouth 4cm in length. Abdomen burst open, intestine coming out. Protruded tongue is blackened due to partial burn. Tip of the tongue lacerated. Indentation of teeth present in lower surface of tongue."

37. The ante-mortem injuries found on the body are:

(I) contusion on the left side of the face of 6cmx4cm just interior to left ear

(ii) contusion on the back of head 5cmx4cm

(iii) contusion upper part of chest 22cmx15cm

38. The doctor had opined that post-mortem burn was present all over the body. Scorching of hair present on the head scalp, most of hair were completely burnt. The smell of kerosene oil present on scalp hair and remaining part of cloth. The right cornua of hyoid bone was fractured. Extravascular of blood muscles present. On the internal examination of the dead body, the doctor found a wound on the head, the liquification of the brain started. No smoky particles were present in the Bronchi. Lungs were congested, pericardium congested, heart both chambers empty, the abdominal was ruptured and intestines were coming out. Stomach empty, saces and pulpy matter present in small intestine gas faecal matter present. Putrifacation of liver started. The doctor had opined that the death of the deceased was caused by result of asphyxia due to strangulation of neck. This report was proved by doctor as Exhibit K-6

39. In the cross examination, PW-7 had denied any ligature mark on the neck of the deceased and no mark of fingers or thumb were also found.

40. The burn injuries and scars on the dead body were opined by PW-7, the doctor as post-mortem injuries i.e. subsequent to the killing of the deceased. On a suggestion, the doctor stated that if after death clothes of the deceased caught fire, post mortem burn could occur. It is also apparent from the internal examination that there were no smoke particles in the bronchea. This clearly shows that when the body was being burnt, the victim was not in a vital condition or alive so as to inhale the smoke particles. Likewise, the autopsy fining post-mortem burn all over body. Ante-mortem injuries found on the person of the deceased is attributable to the violent death. The presence of acclerants used and violent sings are factors indicating "post mortem burning' following homicidal death. The above fact reflecting from the post-mortem examination and the opinion of doctor clearly proved the homicidal death of the deceased and, thereafter, burning of the dead body by the accused.

41. On going through the report of the inquest coupled with the post-mortem examination, it is established that the deceased was first beaten brutally then she was strangulated and finally when she died, her body was tried to emulate in fires pouring kerosene oil on it. The ante-mortem injuries mentioned in the post-mortem report, collection of blood stained soil reported in the inquest by the Investigating Officer are sufficient to establish the offence of torturing, beating and cruelly committed on the deceased soon before her death by the accused. The ante-mortem injuries reveal that the deceased was subjected to extreme cruelty soon before her death, particularly in proximity to the death caused by the accused.

42. The Import of the provisions of Section 498A, 304-B IPC and Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act has been explained in several decisions of the Apex Court. In Bansi Lal Vs. State of Haryana [(2011) 11 SCC 359], it has been held that:

"17. While considering the case under Section 498-A (Sic. Section 304-B), cruelty has to be proved during the close proximity of time of death and it should be continuous and such continuous harassment, physical or mental, by the accused should make life of the deceased miserable which may force her to commit suicide."

43. In Maya Devi and Anr. Vs. State of Haryana [(2015) 17 SCC 405], it was held that:

"23. To attract the provisions of Section 304-B, one of the main ingredients of the offence which is required to be established is that "soon before her death" she was subjected to cruelty or harassment "for, or in connection with the demand for dowry". The expression "soon before her death" used in Section 304-IPC and Section 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. In fact, the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants submitted that there is no proximity for the alleged demand of dowry and harassment. With regard to the said claim, we shall advert to while considering the evidence led in by the prosecution. Though the language used is "soon before her death", no definite period has been enacted and the expression "soon before her death" has not been defined in both the enactments. Accordingly, the determination of the period which can come within the term "soon before her death" is to be determined by the courts, depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case. However, the said expression would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the cruelty or harassment concerned and the death in question. In other words, there must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the death concerned. If the alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb the mental equilibrium of the women concerned, it would be of no consequence."

44. On the basis of the evidence led by the prosecution, we find that there is sufficient linking of the chain of circumstances which produce the following picture of the entire incident from the very inception till the end, namely:-

(I) The deceased "Islawati" was married with accused Sanjay S/o Daya Shanker and Dhanpati 5 years prior to the date of the incident occurred on 28.07.2000;

(ii) The body of the deceased was found in the matrimonial house of the deceased in the burnt state and there are consistent evidence that the death was caused otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(iii) The deceased was at her matrimonial house prior and at the time of her death;

(iv) The information of the death of the deceased was not given to her brother;

(v) The deceased was subjected to assault and cruel treatment by the accused person who is her husband;

(vi) The act of cruelty and harassment was in connection with the demand of dowry and was made soon before her death.

NO EXPLANATION BY THE ACCUSED

45. All the incriminating circumstances were put to the accused-appellant Sanjay who while denying them being false offered an explanation that he was falsely implicated due to enmity. To the question as to whether he wanted to produce any defence, the answer was "yes'. However, no defence was produced by accused Sanjay. The defence witness D.W.-1 was produced to support of plea of alibi of co-accused Ram Singh who is not before us. Absolutely no explanation was offered by the appellant Sanjay as to what had happened in the house on the fateful day, admittedly wherein he was present.

46. It is proved that the deceased was normally living in her matrimonial house with her husband accused Sanjay Kumar prior to the incident in question, her dead body was found with several wounds, injuries and signs of torture and beating on it including the evidence of strangulation and the death was caused by asphyxia which is proved. In such circumstances what happened in the matrimonial house with the deceased and how the wounds and injuries were sustained on the person of the deceased as ante-mortem injuries are the facts, particularly within the knowledge of the accused-Sanjay as there is absolutely no evidence on record nor it was alleged that he was not present in the house on the fateful day when the deceased was alive just prior to the incident, no explanation at all had been offered by the accused despite opportunity given to him.

47. The prosecution has discharged its initial burden beyond all reasonable doubt that the murder of deceased Islawati was committed in the secrecy of her matrimonial house wherein accused Sanjay was normally residing with her. The dead body was found with signs of beating and cause of death reported is asphyxia by strangulation. The presence of accused with the deceased when she was alive is proved beyond doubt. Resultantly, under Section 106 of Evidence Act, 1872, there is a corresponding burden on the accused-husband to give cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed. The appellant cannot get away by keeping mum.

48. In the Case of Trimukh Maroti Kirkan Vs. State of Maharashtra [(2006) 10 SCC 681], the Apex Court in para 14 and 15 has held as under:

"14. If an offence takes place inside the privacy of a house and in such circumstances where the assailants have all the opportunity to plan and commit the offence at the time and in circumstances of their choice, it will be extremely difficult for the prosecution to lead evidence to establish the guilt of the accused if the strict principle of circumstantial evidence, as noticed above, is insisted upon by the Courts. A Judge does not preside over a criminal trial merely to see that no innocent man is punished. A Judge also presides to see that a guilty man does not escape. Both are public duties. (See Stirland v. Director of Public Prosecution quoted with approval by Arijit Pasayat, J. in State of Punjab vs. Karnail Singh (2003) 11 SCC 271). The law does not enjoin a duty on the prosecution to lead evidence of such character which is almost impossible to be led or at any rate extremely difficult to be led. The duty on the prosecution is to lead such evidence which it is capable of leading, having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case. Here it is necessary to keep in mind Section 106 of the Evidence Act which says that when any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him. Illustration (b) appended to this section throws some light on the content and scope of this provision and it reads:

"(b) A is charged with traveling on a railway without ticket. The burden of proving that he had a ticket is on him."

"15. Where an offence like murder is committed in secrecy inside a house, the initial burden to establish the case would undoubtedly be upon the prosecution, but the nature and amount of evidence to be led by it to establish the charge cannot be of the same degree as is required in other cases of circumstantial evidence. The burden would be of a comparatively lighter character. In view of Section 106 of the Evidence Act there will be a corresponding burden on the inmates of the house to give a cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed. The inmates of the house cannot get away by simply keeping quiet and offering no explanation on the supposed premise that the burden to establish its case lies entirely upon the prosecution and there is no duty at all on an accused to offer any explanation."

49. In view of the above discussions based on the proved circumstances from documentary and oral evidences, we are of the opinion that in the present case, all the ingredients of Section 304-B read with Section 498-A IPC and Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act are satisfied and there are sufficient evidence and material for presumption of dowry death of deceased Islawati at the hands of accused Sanjay, her husband.

GENUNITY OF INVESTIGATION

50. Since the learned counsel for the appellant vehemently argued stating that the investigation conducted by the I.O. in-genuine, we think the same to be evaluated in the light of oral and documentary evidences on record. The written information of the incident was given by reasonable promptness to the police station Lalganj, District Basti, the submission of written information is proved by Maniram, the first informant as P.W.-1. The G.D. entry of police station of F.I.R. is also at serial no.32 on 27.08.2000 at about 21:35 P.M. The chik F.I.R. was prepared and copy of the same was provided to the informant is also proved whereupon Ex. 3 Ka-17 was endorsed. After registering the F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No.288 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B of Indian Penal Code, 1860 read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act against the present accused-applicant and another accused, the family members, the Circle Officer started investigation on the same day. Inquest proceeding was conducted, the body of the deceased Islawati was sent for post mortem by S.D.M. Vinay Shanker Choubey. The relevant papers were filled up by the S.I. Narain Singh, who is examined as P.W.-9. He has proved the said document as Ex. 3Ka. The collection of blood stained soil, plain soil in the presence of witnesses under their signatures proved in the Court by the witness P.W.-9 as Ex. 3 Ka-5. The container of kerosene oil bearing half liter kerosene oil was also collected before the witness and memo was prepared in the Court. This is proved as Ex. 4 Ka-6. As such, lodging of the first information report and investigation was started promptly without any unreasonable delay. Inquest proceeding and report is also proved by Constable Sri Ram Pandey who reproduced into writing the contents of report on the dictation of SDM, Vinay Shanker Chaubey.

51. On the basis of above discussions, we do not find any force in the appeal. The same deserves to be dismissed. The judgment can not be interfered on the argument as to the disproportionate quantum of punishment. The dowry death being a long standing social event and the dowry death of the deceased in the instant case being pestiferous committed in a scheme of the most brutal manner and cruelty by the covetous husband, the punishment of life imprisonment, in our considered opinion, is the proportionate punishment.

52. We find no substance in the submissions of the learned Amicus so as to interfere in the judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 24.01.2006 passed by the trial court.

OPERATIVE

53. On the discussions made hereinabove, we do not find any force in the appeal of "Sanjay Kumar" filed against the judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 24.01.2006 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court no. 6, Basti in Sessions Trial No. 276 of 2000, under Sections 498-A, 304-B of Indian Penal Code, 1860 read with Section ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act. The appeal accordingly, deserves to be dismissed and is hereby dismissed.

54. The appellant Sanjay Kumar is in jail. Certified copy of the judgment be sent to the court below for necessary action and forwarding to the concerned Jail Superintendent where the accused appellant, Sanjay Kumar is detained.

55. Lower court record be sent back to the District Judgeship, Basti, immediately.

56. Before parting with the matter we would like to appreciate the sincerity, commitment and enthusiasm of Sri Pramod Kumar Pandey, learned Amicus Curiae for the accused-appellant who with all reasonable promptness has prepared the case and argued vehemently on all the relevant issues. In our judgment, we recommend to pay Rs.12,000/- as remuneration to him. The payment be made by the registry at the earliest.

Criminal Appeal No.998 of 2008

Anil Yadav ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Maneesh Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Respondent:
G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act 1872- Section 3 - Corroboration of Oral evidence by Medical Evidence- Perusal of the evidence of this medical witness shows that the injuries found on the body of the deceased are in consonance with the ocular account given by the complainant P.W.1

Where the medical evidence corroborates the oral testimony of the eye witnesses then the said oral testimony cannot be doubted.

Indian Evidence Act 1872- Section 3- Related Witnesses- Well settled law that the evidence of a witness cannot be doubted only for the reason that he is a related witness.

The testimony of natural witnesses , which is also corroborated by other evidence, cannot be discarded or doubted merely on the ground that the said witnesses are related to the deceased.

Indian Evidence Act 1872- Section 3- The Investigating Officer has stated that he did not find any blood on the spot, but for this reason only the direct ocular evidence cannot be doubted.

Where the oral testimony is corroborated by the medical evidence, then the defence cannot gain any advantage from the mere fact that the investigating officer did not find blood stains at the place of the occurrence as the same is only a lapse of the investigating officer. (Para 9, 12, 15)

3. St. of Raj. Vs Satya Narain (1998) 8 SCC 404

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. This Criminal Appeal has been filed by the convict/appellant Anil Yadav, against the judgment and order dated 23.12.2007 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/FTC IV, (Room No.13), Sultanpur in Sessions Trial No.284 of 2005, whereby the convict/appellant was held guilty for the offence punishable under Section 302/34 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short I.P.C.) and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for life coupled with a fine of Rs.5,000/- and in default of payment of fine to further imprisonment of six months. The convict/appellant was also held guilty and sentenced under Section 25 of the Arms Act in Sessions Trial No. 285 of 2005 whereby he was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment of two years coupled with fine of Rs.1,000/- and in default of payment of fine to further imprisonment of three months.

2. The facts necessary for disposal of this appeal shorn of unnecessary details are as under:

(i) A First Information Report (in short FIR) was registered at Case Crime No. 308 of 2005, under Section 302 of I.P.C. at Police Station Jaisingh pur, District Sultanpur, on the basis of written report presented by the complainant Vinod Yadav. It was described in the written report that on 13.06.2005 his father Asha Ram was coming back after leaving Ram Jagpal at his house and he (complainant) was coming to his home after visiting his sugarcane field. Anil and Sanjay, resident of the same village were sitting on culvert with sticks in their hands. At about 7-7:15 PM when his father reached near the culvert Anil assaulted his father on his hand, due to which his father fell down, then Anil and Sanjay both fired upon his father with country made pistols (tamanchas). He raised a loud cry then many persons of village came there then Anil and Sanjay ran away from the spot. His father sustained fire arm injury in his chest. He was carried to hospital where doctors declared him brought dead. The dead body was kept in the hospital.

(ii) On the FIR lodged, the police of concerned police station came into action and investigation started. Inquest report of the dead body was prepared, and the dead body was sent for postmortem along with necessary police papers. During investigation both the accused persons surrendered in the Court on 24.06.2005. The Investigating Officer recorded the statements of the accused persons in jail after taking permission of the Court, wherein the accused persons stated that they might get the weapons recovered, used for committing the crime. The Investigating Officer applied for the police custody remand which was allowed. The accused persons were remanded in police custody on 30.06.2005 for 24 hours. During police custody remand the weapons of offence were recovered at the pointing out of the accused persons alongwith live and empty cartridges. The case was registered against the accused persons under Section 25 of the Arms Act, at Case Crime No.339 of 2005 against accused Anil Yadav and at Case Crime No.340 of 2005 against Sanjay Yadav, under Section 25 of the Arms Act.

(iii) After investigation chargesheet No.47 of 2005 in Case Crime No.308 of 2005 of I.P.C. (Exhibit Ka-27) was submitted in the Court. The Chargesheet No.48 of 2005 in Case Crime No.339 of 2005 under Section 25 of the Arms Act against accused Anil Yadav (Exhibit Ka-31) was also submitted before the Magistrate concerned. After taking cognizance on the chargesheets submitted the Magistrate concerned committed the case to the Court of Sessions for trial. The Sessions Court framed charge under Section 302 read with Section 34 of I.P.C. The accused persons denied the crime and claimed to be tried. The charge under Section 25 of the Arms Act was also framed against both the accused persons. Both the accused denied the charge framed under Section 25 of the Arms Act also and claimed to be tried.

(iv) The prosecution in order to prove its case examined nine witnesses in toto, which are as under:-

1. P.W. 1 Vinod Kumar Yadav, the complainant.

2. P.W. 2 Om Prakash, the witness of Panchayatnama.

26. Exhibit Ka-33 report of Forensic Science Laboratory.

(vi) After recording of evidence learned trial Court declared accused Sanjay Juvenile and sent his case before the Juvenile Justice Board for trial. Thereafter the statement of concivt/appellant Anil was recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (in short Cr.P.C.), wherein he denied the crime and also the recovery of weapon of offence. He further stated that witnesses have deposed falsely and the case has been registered against him due to enmity. He has further stated that the deceased was killed somewhere else by someone else in the dark of the night and he has been implicated due to enmity of parcenery (pattidari). One witness Suresh was also examined by the convict/appellant in his defence.

(vii) After completion of evidence, hearing the arguments of both the sides and analysing the evidence available on record the learned trial court found the evidence of eye witness P.W.1 trustworthy and the ocular evidence consistent with the medical evidence. Learned trial court also found proved that weapon of offence was recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant and all the necessary facts and circumstances were proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt and found the convict/appellant guilty for the offence punishable under Section 302/34 of I.P.C. and sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine noted herein above. (para 2(iii))

(viii) Learned trial court also found proved the offence under Section 25 of the Arms Act and sentenced the convict/appellant for the offence.

(ix) Being aggrieved of this conviction and sentence the present appeal has been preferred by the convict/appellant.

(3) Heard Shri Manish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the appellant and Ms. Smiti Sahai, learned A.G.A. for the respondent State.

(4) Learned counsel for the convict/appellant argued that the learned trial court has committed grave error in holding guilty and sentencing the convict/appellant because the FIR is anti time and fabricated. The alleged eye witness was not present at the place of occurrence. He has deposed falsely. No blood was found at the place of occurrence. The memo of motorcycle of the deceased was not prepared. The medical evidence does not support the ocular testimony. No independent witness has been examined by the prosecution. P.W.1 is the son of the deceased, he has deposed falsely and has tried to improve his version during recording of his statement in trial court in order to make it consistent with the medical testimony. The Forensic Science Laboratory report cannot be read in evidence. The recovery of alleged weapon of offence is highly doubtful and no independent witness of the incident has been produced by the prosecution. The crime number has not been mentioned in the inquest report. The prosecution remained unable to prove the guilt of the convict/appellant beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore, the impugned judgment and order should be set-aside.

5. Contrary to it, learned A.G.A. argued that the evidence of P.W.1, the complainant and the son of deceased is true as no major contradiction could be brought by the defence during the cross-examination. The weapon of offence was recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant. The medical evidence as well as ocular evidence is consistent with each other. According to Forensic Science Laboratory report the empty cartridges recovered at the spot were found fired by the weapon recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant Anil. In the opinion of autopsy surgeon the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage due to ante-mortem injuries. FIR was lodged promptly without any unreasonable delay. For non mentioning of the crime number in the inquest report, the registration of the FIR cannot be doubted. The motive of the crime has been alleged and proved. As far as the place of occurrence is concerned, it is very well proved and even the defence witness has supported the place of occurrence mentioned in the FIR. Thus there is no error or discrepancy in the impugned judgment. Therefore, the appeal should be dismissed.

6. Considered the rival submissions and perused the original record of trial court as well as of appeal. The perusal of the record as well as the impugned judgment and order shows that the conviction rests mainly on the evidence of P.W. 1 Vinod Kumar, complainant of the case. This witness has stated before the trial court that accused Anil Yadav and Sanjay Yadav are the residents of his village. Where the incident took place, a metalled road goes from Sameri to Mahorua Ambedkar Nagar and from that metalled road one paved road (kharanja) on the north side goes to Madhavpur and at the place where paved road emerges one culvert is there. Prior to this incident Anil Yadav used to drive his tractor. He stopped to drive tractor, prior to one and a half or two years of the incident. Some altercations took place on it, and for this reason the accused persons became inimical. He further stated that both the accused are present in the Court. After leaving the job of driving the tractor of the complainant the accused persons went to Indore. The incident occurred on 13.06.2005 at about 7:15 PM. On that day his father asked him to visit the sugarcane field, for that reason he went to Gram Itkohiya on motorcycle and his father went to Gram Itkohiya by his own motorcycle. When he (witness) was coming back after visiting sugarcane field and reached at the road, at the same time his father was also coming on his motorcycle and he saw that Anil Yadav and Sanjay were sitting on the culvert with sticks in their hands. When his father came near the culvert the accused Anil Yadav assaulted his father with stick on his hand and accused Sanjay caught his motorcycle from behind and made him fell down. Thereafter both the accused persons fired upon his father with an intention to kill him. He shouted loudly, hearing his shout villagers came there then both the accused ran away. Due to firing made by accused persons, his father sustained injuries in his chest. After that, with the help of the people of village he carried his father to the hospital where doctors declared him dead. Thereafter he dictated and got written an application by Bechu Verma and after hearing that put his signature on that application. The application was presented by him at the police station Jaisinghpur and an FIR was registered. He proved his written report as Exhibit Ka-1 and recognized his signature on that.

7. He has further stated that the Investigating Officer recorded his statement and he showed the spot to the Investigating Officer, this examination-in-chief of the witness was recorded on 24.04.2006, but on that day, the counsel for the accused persons did not cross examine the witness and sought adjournment, the adjournment was allowed and 25.4.2006 was fixed to continue with the evidence. On 25.04.2006 also the witness P.W.1 remained present, but the counsel for the accused persons moved adjournment and that was rejected and an opportunity to cross examine the P.W. 1 was closed and date 04.05.2006 was fixed. Thereafter the counsel for the accused moved application to recall P.W.1 and that was allowed and the witness was recalled for cross-examination and his cross-examination was recorded on 11.01.2007 and again on 17.01.2007. A lengthy cross-examination has been made on behalf of the convict/appellant, but no major contradiction could be brought in cross-examination. The ocular account presented by this witness has been supported by the medical evidence. P.W. 4 who conducted the postmortem, prepared the report, has proved the postmortem report as Exhibit Ka-4 and also the injuries noted therein. In the postmortem following injuries were found on the cadaver of the deceased.

" 1. Lacerated wound 4 cm x 1 cm x bone-deep present on the left side of skull.

2. Lacerated wound 3 cm x 1 cm muscle-deep present on occipital region of skull.

3. Fire arm wound of entry 1 cm x 1 cm x Chest cavity deep present on the center of chest, margins were inverted and lacerated and blackening and tattooing were present around the wound area of 4 cm x 3 cm. "

8. In the opinion of autopsy surgeon the death occurred due to shock and hemorrhage, as a result of fire arms injuries.

9. In the chest cavity 1.5 liter clotted blood was found. One bullet was found in the heart of the deceased and the autopsy surgeon after extracting the same from the cadaver put in an envelope and sealed it and handed over to the police personnel. In the opinion of the autopsy surgeon the injury No.1 & 2 can be caused by a stick (danda), injury No.3 can be caused by fire arm (tamancha). According to this medical witness injury No.3 was on vital part of the deceased and was sufficient enough to cause death. In his opinion injuries found on the body of the deceased would be possible in the incident occurred on13.06.2005 at about 7:15 PM. Thus the perusal of the evidence of this medical witness shows that the injuries found on the body of the deceased are in consonance with the ocular account given by the complainant P.W.1.

11. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant argued that the complainant in his written report has mentioned that accused hit his father by stick on his hand, but in the statement made before the court he improved his version and stated that the accused hit his father on his head and this creates serious doubt. No doubt the complainant in his written report has mentioned that accused hit his father on hand and in the statement made in the Court he stated that his father was hit on the head, but the main injury which was found on the chest and caused death was correctly mentioned by the complainant in the FIR and also in his evidence before the trial court. Hence this argument raised by defence counsel is of no importance.

12. The counsel for the convict/appellant also submitted that no independent witness has been examined. The only witness P.W.1 is a related witness as he is son of the deceased, hence his testimony should not be relied upon. This argument also of the defence is of no importance because it is well settled law that the evidence of a witness cannot be doubted only for the reason that he is a related witness.

13. In Kartik Malhar Vs. State of Bihar: (1996) 1 SCC 614, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently, being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dilip Singh's case (supra) in which this Court expressed its surprise over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Speaking through Vivian Bose, J., the Court observed :

"We are unable to agree with the learned Judges of the High Court that the testimony of the two eye-witnesses requires corroboration. If the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rules. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in Rameshwar v. The State of Rajasthan, [1952] SCR 377 = AIR 1952 SC 54. We find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, if not in the judgments of the Courts, at any rate in the arguments of counsel."

In this case, this Court further observed as under :

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must he laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth."

14. In another case of Mohd. Rojali Versus State of Assam: (2019) 19 SCC 567, the Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard has held as under:-

"As regards the contention that all the eyewitnesses are close relatives of the deceased, it is by now well settled that a related witness cannot be said to be an "interested' witness merely by virtue of being a relative of the victim. This Court has elucidated the difference between "interested' and "related' witnesses in a plethora of cases, stating that a witness may be called interested only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation, which in the context of a criminal case would mean that the witness has a direct or indirect interest in seeing the accused punished due to prior enmity or other reasons, and thus has a motive to falsely implicate the accused (for instance, see State of Rajasthan v. Kalki, (1981) 2 SCC 752; Amit v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 107; and Gangabhavani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy, (2013) 15 SCC 298). Recently, this difference was reiterated in Ganapathi v. State of Tamil Nadu, (2018) 5 SCC 549, in the following terms, by referring to the three Judge bench decision in State of Rajasthan v. Kalki (supra): "14. "Related" is not equivalent to "interested". A witness may be called "interested" only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be "interested"..."

11. In criminal cases, it is often the case that the offence is witnessed by a close relative of the victim, whose presence on the scene of the offence would be natural. The evidence of such a witness cannot automatically be discarded by labelling the witness as interested. Indeed, one of the earliest statements with respect to interested witnesses in criminal cases was made by this Court in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, 1954 SCR 145, wherein this Court observed:

"26. A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person..."

12. In case of a related witness, the Court may not treat his or her testimony as inherently tainted, and needs to ensure only that the evidence is inherently reliable, probable, cogent and consistent. We may refer to the observations of this Court in Jayabalan v. Union Territory of Pondicherry, (2010) 1 SCC 199:

"23. We are of the considered view that in cases where the Court is called upon to deal with the evidence of the interested witnesses, the approach of the Court while appreciating the evidence of such witnesses must not be pedantic. The Court must be cautious in appreciating and accepting the evidence given by the interested witnesses but the Court must not be suspicious of such evidence. The primary endeavour of the Court must be to look for consistency. The evidence of a witness cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from the mouth of a person who is closely related to the victim."

15. Learned counsel for the defence vehemently argued that the place of occurrence is doubtful, as no blood was found by the Investigating Officer at the place of occurrence. It is true that the Investigating Officer has stated that he did not find any blood on the spot, but for this reason only the direct ocular evidence cannot be doubted. It is quite possible that due to the gathering of the people of the village at the place blood might have disappeared or it is also possible that most of the blood remained inside the body of the deceased, as per postmortem report 1.5 lt. blood was found in the chest cavity of the deceased.

16. In the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Satya Narain (1998) 8 SCc 404 the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that merely because of absence of blood at the place of occurrence, the occurrence of the incident itself cannot be doubted.

17. Learned counel for the convict/appellant has also argued that the recovery of weapon is doubtful. This argument also, of the defence counsel is very feeble, because the recovery has very well been proved by the prosecution by producing the independent witness P.W.3 Ram Jagpal and also by the evidence of P.W.8 Sub Inspector Hari Shankar Prajapati.

18. Thus to sum up, the prosecution has proved the commission of crime by the convict/appellant. P.W. 1 the eye witness has proved the incident and his testimony was supported by the medical evidence. The motive of the crime has also been proved i.e. convict/appellant used to drive the tractor of the deceased and some altercations took place between the deceased and the convict over the issue, for that convict/appellant was inimical to the deceased. The fact of dispute regarding driving of tractor has also been suggested by the defence counsel to P.W. 1 in cross-examination.

19. Thus the prosecution has proved the charges levelled against the convict/appellant beyond reasonable doubt and the learned trial court has rightly held him guilty and sentenced accordingly.

There appears no ground for interference in the conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court.

20. The convict/appellant is already in jail, he shall serve out the sentence awarded by the learned trial court.

21. The appeal is dismissed, accordingly.

22. Office is directed to send a copy of this order along with lower Court record to the trial Court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. This appeal is against the judgment and order dated 11.05.1983 passed by Special Judge, Bulandshahr in S.T. No.57 of 1983 whereby, the appellant no.1 (Jangaliya) has been convicted under Section 302 IPC and the appellant no.2 (Shiv Lal) has been convicted under Section 302 IPC read with Section 114 IPC and both have been sentenced to imprisonment for life.

2. The appeal of appellant no.2 (Shiv Lal) was abated vide order dated 27.11.2021 consequent to his death. This appeal therefore survives qua appellant no.1 (Jangaliya).

INTRODUCTORY FACTS

3. On a written report (Ex. Ka-1), dated 25.10.1982, scribed by Sunder Swarup (PW-2), made by Lakhpat Singh (PW-1), son of Nanua (the deceased), the first information report (FIR) was registered at P.S. Shikarpur, District Bulandshahr as Case Crime No.246 of 1982, at 19.00 hours, on 25.10.1982. The allegation in the FIR is that informant's chak (a consolidated piece of agricultural holding) adjoins the chak of his uncle (Tau - father's elder brother) Shiv Lal (appellant no.2). Three to four months before, the informant had installed a tube-well. The channel of its flow passed through the chak of his uncle (Shiv Lal). On 25.10.1982, the informant and the deceased were working in their chak when, at about 5 pm, informant's uncle (Shiv Lal) and his son (Jangaliya) (the surviving appellant no.1) started dismantling the channel which passed through their field. When the deceased requested them not to dismantle the channel, Shiv Lal abused him and exhorted Jangaliya to beat informant's father. On this exhortation, Jangaliya administrated "Fawra' (spade) blows hitting the head of the deceased. On witnessing this, the informant, who was at the spot, raised alarm, as a result, Gagan Singh, Kewal Singh came running to the spot and witnessed the incident. By alleging that informant's father died on the spot and Jangaliya and Shiv Lal escaped with the "Fawra' (spade), the FIR was lodged.

4. Ex. Ka-4) was prepared by Investigating Officer (Mahendra Singh-PW-3). On 26.10.1982 itself, blood stained earth and plain earth was recovered from the spot of which collection memo (Ex. Ka-11) was prepared. Autopsy was conducted by Dr. Chandra Prakash (PW-4) on 26.10.1982 at about 4.30 pm. The autopsy report (Ex. Ka-14) notices:

External Examination

Average built body. Rigor mortis present all over. No Sign of decomposition.

Ante-mortem injuries:-

(ii) Incised wound 1" x ½" into bone deep on left frontal head 2½" above left eyebrow.

(iii) Incised wound 2" x ½" into scalp deep on posterior head in middle.

(iv) Incised wound ½" x ¼" into muscle deep on tip of right index finger on ventral aspect.

Internal Examination

Skull cavity cut underneath injury no.1. All soft tissues under injury no.1 cut through an through upto bone depth in neck. Membranes cut under injury no.1. Left lateral procuses of second to fourth cervical vertebrae cut under injury no.1.

Cause of death:- Death due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of injury no.1. The estimated time of death about one day back.

5. After investigation, the appellants were charge sheeted, vide charge sheet dated 28.11.1982 (Ex. Ka-13). On which, cognizance was taken and case was committed to the court of session. By order dated 01.02.1983, Jangaliya (the surviving appellant no.1) was charged for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC whereas Shiv Lal (appellant no.2) was charged for the offence of instigating Jangaliya to commit the murder of Nanua punishable under Section 302 read with Section 114 IPC.

6. During the course of trial, the prosecution examined five witnesses. After taking on record the prosecution evidence and the statement of the accused under Section 313 CrPC, the trial court convicted and sentenced the appellants, as above. Hence, this appeal.

7. Before we proceed to notice the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, it would be useful to notice, in brief, the testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

8. The prosecution examined five witnesses. Their testimony, in brief, is as follows:-

9. PW-1- Lakhpat Singh (the informant). PW-1 is the son of the deceased. He proved the incident as narrated in the FIR noticed above. He also stated that at the time of the incident Shiv Lal had abused the deceased and had exhorted Jangaliya by saying "Maar Saale Ko". PW-1 stated that on that instigation, Jangaliya inflicted blows with Fawra (spade). The incident was witnessed by him along with Sunder and Gagan. PW-1 stated that on infliction of Fawra blows his father died on spot. PW-1 stated that he, Gagan and Sunder tried to catch the accused but they ran away with the spade. PW-1 stated that he dictated the FIR and after it was written and read out to him, he had put his thumb impression. The report was exhibited as Ex. Ka-1.

During cross examination, PW-1 stated that his grand father (Khamani) had three sons, namely, Shiv Lal (appellant no.2), Nanua (the deceased) and Bhagwanta. All three have common holding. PW-1 stated that he never saw Bhagwanta in his lifetime. Suggestion was given to PW-1 that in the year 1967 from the informant side a suit was instituted for getting the share of Bhagwanta. In response to the suggestion, PW-1 stated that he has no knowledge of any such case and stated that, in all, in the joint khata, there were 24 bighas of land; out of which, Nanua (the deceased) had 12 bighas. PW-1 stated that tube-well was installed 3-4 months before the incident. PW-1 stated that before the incident he had ploughed 3 - 4 bighas of land. PW-1 stated that on that day Jangaliya (the appellant no.1) was working in his field. At the time of the incident, Gagan and Sunder were also present in their adjoining fields. PW-1 stated that the incident was witnessed by him, Gagan and Sunder but he was not aware whether any other person witnessed the incident. He clarified that the channel of the tube-well was not built by him but it was a government built channel (Sarkari Nali) and in that channel, his tube-well's water flowed. On further cross examination, PW-1 stated that towards west of the tube-well, he had made some constructions to derive water from the channel, these constructions fell in the field of Shiv Lal. When these constructions were raised, Shiv Lal and Jangaliya raised no dispute. PW-1 also stated that on that day, before dismantling the channel, there was no altercation or fight between the informant side and the accused side. PW-1 stated that the channel, which was dismantled, also irrigated the fields of Jangaliya and Shiv Lal. PW-1 stated that except for dismantling the channel, there was no other reason for the incident to have occurred. In respect of his presence at the spot, PW-1 stated that when his father (the deceased) had objected to the dismantling of channel by Jangaliya, PW-1 was ploughing his field with a plough (Hal). PW-1 stated that on his alarm, Gagan and Sunder arrived at the spot. Thereafter, they all three went to the spot where the deceased was lying. PW-1 stated that by the time he reached the spot, Nanua was dead. PW-1 stated that when he left the spot to lodge report, he had asked Gagan to be present near the body. PW-1 stated that he brought Sunder Singh to his house and there he dictated the report to him.

PW-1 stated that he reached the police station between 7-8 pm where his report was lodged and after lodging the report, he came back to the village. The I.O. came later, by night. The body kept lying at the spot over night and the police constables also remained near the body that night. In respect of the light condition when the report was lodged, PW-1 stated that at the time when the report was dictated, it had become dark. In respect of scribing the report, PW-1 stated that the report was scribed because he believed that the police personnel might insist for a written report. PW-1 stated that prior to this, he had never gone to the police station. PW-1 admitted that agriculturists used to purchase water from his tube-well and Gagan also used to purchase water from his tube-well but Sunder never purchased water. PW-1 stated that the spot where the deceased was killed is not the field of Sunder but is near the field of Gagan whereas Sunder was working in the field which he had taken on Batayi and was sowing potato. In respect of the site plan prepared by the I.O., PW-1 stated that the site plan was not prepared at his instance but it must have been prepared by the I.O. after spot inspection as he had shown the spot to the I.O. and had also shown him the field where he was working.

In respect of existence of light at the time of the incident, PW-1 stated that at the time when the incident occurred, the sun had not set. In respect of the spot, he stated that when he arrived at the spot, Nanua was lying 2-4 paces north of the channel. He denied the suggestion that at the time of the incident no one was present.

10. PW-2 Sunder Swarup. He is the scribe of the written report (Ex. Ka-1). PW-2 stated that at the time of the incident, he was in the field of Gagan. With him, Gagan was there. At that time, he heard screams of Lakhpat (PW-1), who was ploughing his own field. On hearing his screams, they saw that near the tube-well Jangaliya was assaulting Nanua with his spade and near Jangaliya his father Shiv Lal was there. By the time they could reach the spot, Jangaliya and Shiv Lal had escaped. They checked whether Nanua was alive but he was found dead. PW-2 stated that Lakhpat (PW-1) dictated the report to him which was in his handwriting.

During cross examination, he stated that he had not informed the I.O. that Aziz's field was on Batayi with him. PW-2 also stated that towards west of the field of Gagan, there is his tube-well. PW-2 stated that he had to go towards his tube-well near which Gagan's field fell. When he was going towards his tube-well, Gagan joined him as it was evening time. He stated that, by mistake, he said that he told Gagan to come to his house. PW-2 stated that he had informed the I.O. that when he was going towards his tube-well, through the field of Aziz, from a distance of 100 paces, he watched Jangaliya assaulting the deceased. PW-2 stated that the spot from where he noticed the incident adjoins the field of Lakhpat (PW-1) and at that time Lakhpat was ploughing his field. PW-2 again reiterated that by the time he could reach the tube-well/spot, the accused had escaped and he had seen them running away. PW-2 stated that by the time he had arrived at the tube-well, the accused must have ran 100 paces. PW-2 stated that he had written the report at the house of Lakhpat (PW-1) and by the time he had written the report, it was not dark but 10-15 minutes later, it had turned dark.

In paragraph 3 of his statement, during cross examination, PW-2 stated that when he had left with Lakhpat to lodge the report, at the spot, except Gagan, there was no body else. He denied the suggestion that he takes water from Lakhpat for the field which is on Batayi with him. PW-2 stated that near that field, there is tube-well of Kanti, which is at a distance of 200-250 paces away from the field of Aziz. PW-2 also stated that he saw the I.O. next day morning and the I.O. was seen inquiring from people around him. PW-2 stated that the I.O. had prepared the site plan in his presence and in the presence of Lakhpat. PW-2 stated that the I.O. had recorded his statement. He denied the suggestion that he was not at the spot and that on account of his relations with PW-1, he is telling lies.

11. PW-3 - Mahendra Singh - Investigating Officer. PW-3 stated that on the date of lodging the report, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at the police station concerned and with him Lalta Prasad, Head Muharrir, was posted. By recognising the signature of Lalta Prasad, he proved the chik FIR and the GD entry of the written report, which were exhibited as Ex. Ka-2 and 3 respectively. PW-3 stated that, thereafter, he proceeded to the spot and found the body of Nanua at the spot. For the safety of the body, he deputed a constable there. PW-3 stated that by the time they could reach the spot, it was dark therefore inquest was deferred to next day. PW-3 stated that next day, inquest was conducted. He proved the inquest report and the papers prepared by him for autopsy such as photo-nash, chalan-lash, letter to Chief Medical Officer, etc., which were exhibited as Ex. Ka-5 to Ka-10. He proved the sealing of the body as also lifting of blood stained and plain earth from the spot. The recovery memos were exhibited and recovered material were also produced and exhibited. PW-3 stated that he had recorded the statements of Lakhpat Singh (PW-1), Gagan Singh (not examined) and Sunder Swarup (PW-2) and had prepared the site plan at their pointing out. The site plan was exhibited as Ex. Ka-12. PW-3 stated that he obtained photocopy of the autopsy report on 28.10.1982 and made a search for the accused. PW-3 stated that on 12.11.1982 he recorded the statement of Head Muharrir Lalta Prasad who had made GD entry of the written report and on 27.11.1982, he had recorded the statement of Shiv Lal and on 27.11.1982 itself he had recorded the statement of Jangaliya in jail. PW-3 stated that after completing the investigation, he submitted charge sheet, which was marked as Ex. Ka-13.

During cross examination, PW-3 stated that the spot from where Lakhpat (PW-1) had witnessed the incident is shown by him in the site plan and that during site inspection he had noticed that the field had been recently ploughed. PW-3 stated that the field of Aziz would be at a distance of 150 paces from the tube-well. PW-3 stated that Sunder (PW-2) had no field of his own. PW-3 stated that he left for the spot after registration of the report at about 7.30 pm. PW-3 stated that he remained at the spot near the dead body till 9.30 pm to 10 pm and, in between, he had noticed the marks on the body and had given instructions to the constables to protect the body. PW-3 stated that he had not noticed any digging of the mud near the body. PW-3 stated that near the spot there was no tube-well of the witness Sunder Swarup (PW-2). PW-3 stated that he made spot inspection on the next day at 9.40 am and the body was handed over to the constable for autopsy at 7.15 hours. He stated that papers in connection with inquest and autopsy were prepared before 7.15 am. PW-3 stated that the first CD parcha was prepared on 26.10.1982, which was sent to the C.O. office on 27.10.1982. PW-3 stated that there is no endorsement of the C.O. office in respect of receipt of that parcha. PW-3 stated that he had prepared the site plan with the help of the informant and the witnesses. He denied the suggestion that at the time of preparing the site plan, he received no help from the informant.

12. PW-4 - Dr. Chandra Prakash - Autopsy Surgeon. He proved the autopsy report and the injuries mentioned therein, which have already been noticed above. On his statement, the autopsy report was marked as Ex. Ka-14. PW-4 also proved the clothes, etc. of the deceased which were marked material exhibit. He accepted the possibility of the injuries found on the body of the deceased as a result of Fawra (spade) blows. He also accepted the possibility of death to have occurred at 5 pm on 25.10.1982.

During cross examination, PW-4 stated that he had received 10 papers from the police at the time of autopsy and those papers were received by him around 12 noon of 26.10.1982. He accepted that it may be possible that those papers were received earlier or later. He also accepted the possibility of injuries found on the body of the deceased as a consequence of heavy sharp edged weapon.

13. PW-5- Natthu Singh- the constable who carried the cadaver for autopsy. PW-5 stated that he was handed over the body for autopsy on 26.10.1982 and till the body was delivered for autopsy, the body was kept in secured custody and was not allowed to be touched by anyone.

During his cross examination, PW-5 stated that the body was delivered to him in the morning at 7.30 am. The mortuary was 34-35 km away and they covered the distance on a "Tonga' and reached the mortuary by 9.30 am. PW-5 stated that he delivered the papers concerning the body at around 4 pm.

14. After the prosecution had led its evidence, the incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to the accused. The accused-appellant Jangaliya pleaded that the deceased had installed a tube-well and was drawing a channel for selling water through the field of accused in connection with which there was litigation. In the litigation, the accused had won. In connection with the dispute, earlier also, altercations had taken place. But, on the date of the incident there was no altercation.

15. We have heard Sri Dharmendra Singhal, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Shivendra Raj Singhal, for the surviving appellant no.1; Sri Pankaj Saxena, learned AGA, for the State; and have perused the record.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE APPELLANT

16. The learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the incident occurred late evening when the sun was about to set. The incident occurred in an open field, near the tube-well which was far away from the village abadi. None was present to witness the incident and the prosecution story was developed against the accused persons on ground of enmity, as there existed a property dispute. If Lakhpat had been present at the spot he would have made an attempt to save his father but since Lakhpat neither made any attempt to save his father nor had suffered an injury in the incident, the prosecution story does not inspire confidence. The presence of PW-2 at the spot is not natural as he did not have any field adjoining the spot and being scribe of the written report, if his presence is not disclosed in the written report, the possibility of him being present at the spot is extremely doubtful. Further, there is no recovery of the spade to corroborate the prosecution story. In the alternative, learned counsel for the appellant submitted that even if the prosecution story is accepted as correct, the dispute was in respect of carrying water channel through the field of accused for selling water to others which, by itself, was an illegal act and the accused had every right to protect their field and if in connection with exercise of that right there had been an altercation or fight and there was no exhortation to kill but only to beat, if in that fit of rage, injury with the help of spade was caused, the offence would not travel beyond the one punishable under Section 304 Part II IPC therefore, in the worst case scenario, the appellant is not liable to be convicted under Section 302 IPC.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE STATE

17. Per contra, learned AGA submitted that this is a case where a prompt first information report has been lodged. The distance of the police station from the spot is 3 km and the written report was lodged at 19.00 hours i.e. at 7 pm in respect of an incident that occurred at 5 pm. From the testimony of the witnesses, it has come on record that sun had not set by the time of the incident therefore, there was sufficient light to witness the incident. The presence of PW-1 was quite natural as he was ploughing his own field and his father (the deceased) was at his tube-well when the assault took place. Absence of injuries on the body of PW-1, or PW-1's attempt to save his father, is not a good ground to disbelieve his presence because by the time he could arrive at the spot, his father had been administered blows by the surviving appellant no.1 and the surviving appellant no.1 along with his own father (appellant no.2) had effected his escape. It has been submitted that the prosecution evidence appears natural and the medical report also corroborates the oral testimony. It has been submitted that there is no suggestion to the prosecution witnesses that the incident occurred at some other spot or at some other time and there is also no suggestion whatsoever to the prosecution witnesses that the first information report was ante-timed. Further, there is a suggestion to PW-2 that he takes water from the informant party to irrigate the field taken by PW-2 on Batayee therefore, the argument that PW-2 had no field around is not sustainable. Hence, PW-2's presence at the spot is also proved. It has thus been submitted that the eye witness account coupled with surrounding circumstances have clearly proved that the surviving appellant no.1 administered multiple spade blows on vital part of the body of the deceased and therefore he was rightly convicted for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC.

18. Having noticed the rival submissions and the prosecution evidence in detail, the following features stand out:-

(a) that, the deceased Nanua is the brother of accused Shiv Lal (non surviving appellant no.2) and the surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya) is the son of Shiv Lal which means appellant no.1 is the nephew of the deceased, whereas the informant is the son of the deceased and nephew and cousin brother, respectively, of the two accused, namely, Shiv Lal and Jangaliya; (b) that, a tube-well was established by the deceased, the water channel of which passed through the field of the accused in respect of which the accused had raised objection and, according to own statement of the accused, in the past there had been altercations in that regard; (c) that, according to the explanation of the surviving appellant no.1 under Section 313 CrPC, a suit was instituted by the deceased which was decided in favour of the accused; (d) that, from paragraph 7 of the judgment of the trial court, it appears that the said suit, which was instituted by Lakhpat (PW-1) in the revenue court, was for partition against Shiv Lal (non surviving appellant no.2) and it was dismissed. In fact, this suit, as per the observations of the trial court, was not only against non surviving appellant Shiv Lal but against Nanua (the father of PW-1) also; (e) that, the witnesses were not in close proximity to the deceased at the time when the deceased was assaulted rather, they reached the spot after the assault had taken place and the accused were about to escape, which means that the witnesses were not in a position to intervene at the time of the assault; (f) that, according to the autopsy surgeon, the injuries found on the body of the deceased could have been a result of infliction of blows from a spade.

19. Bearing in mind the key features noticed above, what stands out is that there are no suggestions to the prosecution witnesses in respect of the incident occurring at some other time or that there were other enemies of the deceased having a strong motive to finish him. There is also no challenge to the spot and of the spot having fields of the deceased and the accused around. Thus, if the accused were in their field and the deceased and his son were managing their own field the presence of the two parties at the spot is quite natural. According to the testimony of the prosecution witnesses, the incident occurred at 5 pm on 25.10.1982 and by that time the sun had not set and there was light. The first information report was scribed and was lodged at a police station 3 km away at 7 pm. There is no suggestion that the first information report was ante-timed. Nothing has been shown to indicate that the police was in collusion with the informant and being in collusion with the informant, the first information report was ante-timed. In these circumstances, the first information report is prompt and therefore it can be taken that there was no time for the informant to contrive the prosecution story.

20. In the aforesaid background when we notice the testimony of PW-1 (the son of the deceased), we find that according to him at the time of the incident his father had arrived at the spot upon noticing that the water channel was being dismantled by the accused. When the deceased intervened and objected to dismantling of the water channel, Shiv Lal (non surviving appellant no.2) exhorted his son (the surviving appellant no.1) to beat the deceased Nanua by stating "Maaro Saale Ko". On this exhortation, spade blows were inflicted by the surviving appellant no.1. Noticing this, PW-1, who was ploughing his field at a short distance, raised an alarm and ran towards the spot. By the time he could reach, the fatal blows had been inflicted and the accused had escaped. The presence of PW-1 at the spot does not appear doubtful and is rather proved by the circumstance that the investigating officer, during the course of investigation, at the time of spot inspection, noticed that the field had been ploughed. Thus, by keeping in mind that the medical evidence has accepted the possibility of the injuries sustained by the deceased as a consequence of spade blows and had also accepted the possibility of death to have occurred at or about the time put by the eye witness account, in our view, it has been proved beyond reasonable doubt that the deceased died due to infliction of spade blows by the surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya). At this stage, we may notice that there is no suggestion to the prosecution witnesses that the deceased had other enemies who could have been a cause of his murder. There is also no suggestion to the prosecution witnesses that PW-1 himself was interested in finishing off the deceased for some reason. Thus, for all the reasons mentioned above, we do not find a good ground to disbelieve the ocular account rendered by PW-1. The testimony of PW-1 is clear and is consistent throughout in respect of the time, place and the manner in which the incident occurred, which is corroborated by medical evidence as well as the material collected during investigation.

21. In so far as the PW-2 is concerned, he claims to have been there as he had the field of Aziz on "Batayee' from where he arrived at the spot with Gagan. Gagan has not been examined as prosecution witness and from the statement of PW-2 it appears that he arrived at the spot when the accused had already escaped and were away from the spot by quite a distance (100 paces). Most importantly, even though the written report is stated to have been scribed by PW-2 but his presence as a witness of the incident is not shown in the first information report. In these circumstances, it appears to us that PW-2 may have arrived at the spot on hearing alarms raised by PW-1 and, therefore, it would not be appropriate for us to rely on his statement as an eye witness of the incident. Nevertheless, the statement of PW-2 serves as a corroborative material to prove that PW-1 had promptly taken his help to scribe the written report to lodge the first information report in respect of the incident. Thus, the testimony of PW-2 supports the prosecution case to prove that the incident occurred on or about 5 pm and that the report was promptly lodged.

22. As we have found the testimony of PW-1 wholly reliable and corroborated by surrounding circumstances including the material collected during the course of investigation, we affirm the findings returned by the trial court that the deceased died due to infliction of spade blows by the surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya).

23. Now, the question that arises for our consideration is whether the accused appellant no.1 Jangaliya is liable to be convicted for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC or under Section 304 Part I or Section 304 Part II of the Indian Penal Code. The other question that arises for our consideration is that if we find the appellant not liable to be convicted under Section 302 IPC but under Section 304 Part I or Section 304 Part II, then what would be the appropriate sentence.

24. To appropriately address the above issue, we have to first examine as to when culpable homicide would amount to a murder. Before that we have to examine as to when a person commits the offence of culpable homicide. In that regard, Section 299 IPC provides as follows:-

"Culpable homicide.--Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

25. In the instant case, there are four external injuries found on the body of the deceased. Injuries no.2 and 3 though are on vital part but there appears no underlying fracture to those injuries. Injury no.2 is bone deep and injury no.3 is scalp deep. Injury no.4 is on non vital part, namely, index finger and is muscle deep. The fatal injury is injury no.1. Injury no.1 is skull cavity deep extending from left parietal region to left lateral neck around left ear. Underlying the injury no.1, all soft tissues are cut through and through upto bone depth in neck. Membranes are cut, brain cut and second and fourth cervical vertebrae cut. In these circumstances, it can be said that at the time of causing that injury, the inflictor of that wound had inflicted that injury with the knowledge that he is likely by such act would cause death. Notably, there is no case of the defence that the injury no.1 was inflicted accidentally. Therefore, by all means, the appellant no.1 is liable for the offence of culpable homicide.

26. As to whether he is liable for the offence of murder, we have to examine the provisions of Section 300 IPC to find out as to when a culpable homicide is murder. Section 300 IPC, without exceptions, reads as follows:-

"300. Murder.--Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or--

(Secondly) --If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or--

(Thirdly) --If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or--

(Fourthly) --If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid."

27. In the instant case, the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant is that the surviving appellant no.1 is a rustic villager. At the time of the incident, he was with his father (Shiv Lal-non surviving appellant no.2) in his own field and was with a spade, which is a common agricultural implement. Spade by its nature is not a weapon of assault but can be converted into one. Admittedly, according to the prosecution case, the deceased had set up a tube-well, water channel of which flowed through the field of the accused, as a consequence of which, the accused were annoyed and were raising objection and in the past also, there had been altercation. It is argued on behalf of the appellant that no one has a right to draw a water channel from another's field and therefore if the owner protects his interest and seeks to dismantle that water channel, his action is in furtherance of exercise of his right to property and that, by itself, is no offence. The intervention by the deceased in that exercise of right had evoked a strong reaction, leading a person to lose his self control and, therefore, if, as a result of which, blows were inflicted in that spur of the moment, it cannot be said that the blows were inflicted with an intention of causing death. Hence, it would not be a case of murder. It was argued that if it is assumed, from the nature of the injuries caused, that the injuries inflicted were such that they, in all probability, would have caused death then the case of the appellant would be covered by the exceptions to Section 300 of the IPC.

28. To appropriately test the aforesaid submissions, it would be useful to extract the exceptions to Section 300 IPC. These are extracted below:-

"Exception 1.--When culpable homicide is not murder.--Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, whilst deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident.

The above exception is subject to the following provisos:

First.- That the provocation is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person.

Secondly.- That the provocation is not given by anything done in obedience to the law, or by a public servant in the lawful exercise of the powers of such public servant.

Thirdly.- That the provocation is not given by anything done in the lawful exercise of the right of private defence.

Explanation.--Whether the provocation was grave and sudden enough to prevent the offence from amounting to murder is a question of fact.

Exception 2.--Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence.

Exception 3.--Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant acting for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law, and causes death by doing an act which he, in good faith, believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill-will towards the person whose death is caused.

Exception 4.--Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

Explanation.--It is immaterial in such cases which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault.

Exception 5.--Culpable homicide is not murder when the person whose death is caused, being above the age of eighteen years, suffers death or takes the risk of death with his own consent."

29. The learned counsel for the appellant submits that the case of the appellant would fall in any one or more of the following Exceptions, namely, Exception-1, Exception-2 and Exception-4.

30. Per contra, learned AGA submits that the case of the appellant would not fall in any of the exceptions and it would be covered by clauses secondly and thirdly of Section 300 therefore, the appellant is liable to be punished for murder.

31. Before proceeding further, we may notice that this is a case where there are multiple blows on the head of the deceased. There are three incised wounds found on the head region. No doubt, injuries no.2 and 3 were not fatal but what is important is that the accused was targeting a vital part, perhaps most vital part of the body. Therefore, it can be said with certainty that the accused had the intention of causing such bodily injury which he knew that it is likely to cause death of the person to whom the harm is caused, particularly, when we see it in the context of injury no.1 which reflects that the underlying tissues, vertebrae etc were all cut through and through. It is also important to notice here that the deceased had died on the spot. In these circumstances, in our considered view, appellant's act traveled from the genus of culpable homicide to the species of murder. Therefore, we would now have to ascertain whether the case of the appellant fell in any of the exceptions to Section 300 IPC.

32. At the outset, we may observe that Exceptions 3 and 5 to Section 300 IPC do not apply to the facts of the case at all, therefore, we do not propose to discuss the same. Thus, we shall discuss the applicability of Exception 1, Exception 2 and Exception 4.

33. Before examining the applicability of Exceptions 1 and 4, we deem it appropriate to address the applicability of Exception 2. Exception 2 applies to a case where the offender in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence. Here there is nothing to indicate that the deceased was armed and was doing some damage to the property of the accused. It is not shown that the deceased inflicted any blows to the accused. It has also not come in the prosecution evidence that the water channel was being installed on the day of occurrence and to protect the property, the appellant exceeded his right of self defence. Rather, the tube well was there since last few months. In these circumstances, if the deceased intervened and raised objection to dismantling of an existing water channel, it did not trigger exercise of right of private defence of either property or person. Hence, in our view, we rule out the applicability of Exception 2 to Section 300 IPC.

34. In the instant case, according to the prosecution case, the accused were dismantling the water channel of the deceased. The deceased intervened. On his intervention, non surviving appellant no.2 (Shiv Lal), elder brother of the deceased, exhorted his son (surviving appellant) to beat the deceased by uttering "Maar Saale Ko". It is argued by learned counsel for the appellant that in a recent decision in the case of Litta Singh Vs. State of Rajasthan: (2015) 15 SCC 327 the Apex Court interpreted the utterances "Maar Saale Ko" as not "Maar Do", that is, it may not mean that exhortation was with an intention that the person exhorted should kill. It is submitted that this would indicate that there was no intention to kill. In our view, this may be a mitigating circumstance qua the non surviving appellant no.2 (Shiv Lal) but would not serve as a mitigating circumstance qua the surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya) who inflicted three blows on the head including a fatal blow vide injury no.1 which not only cut underlying tissues through and through but also cut underlying skull, brain and vertebrae, resulting in instantaneous death. .

35. Now, we shall examine the applicability of Exception 4. The ingredients for applicability of Exception 4 are: (i) there must be a sudden fight; (ii) there was no pre-meditation; (iii) the act was committed in heat of passion; and (iv) the assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. If the said ingredients are present, the cause of quarrel would not be material as to who offered the provocation or started the fight. Although the term fight has not been defined in IPC but the consistent view is that it implies mutual assault by use of criminal force and not mere verbal duel. In Bhagwan Munjaji Pawade v. State of Maharashtra, (1978) 3 SCC 330 (Para 6), it was observed that where the accused is armed and the deceased is unarmed, Exception 2 can have no application and Exception 4 to Section 300 would not apply if there is sudden quarrel but no sudden fight between the deceased and the accused. It was held that "Fight' postulates a bilateral transaction in which blows are exchanged.

36. In the instant case, there is no disclosure about the sudden quarrel or altercation or exchange of blows. There is nothing to indicate that the deceased had any weapon such as lathi or agricultural implement in his hand which he may have raised to be used, or have used, at the time when he was assaulted by the surviving appellant no.1. In fact, the explanation of the appellant under Section 313 CrPC denies occurrence of any altercation or fight on the date of the incident. In such circumstances, in our considered view, Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC would not apply.

37. At this stage, we may notice two decisions, which were cited by the learned counsel for the appellant to bring out appellant's case within Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC. The first case cited by the learned counsel for the appellant is a decision in the case of Surain Singh Vs. State of Punjab: (2017) 5 SCC 796. The other decision cited was of Litta Singh (Supra).

38. In Surain Singh's case (Supra) the Apex Court reiterated the law as to when Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC would apply by observing as follows:

"The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the fight occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in IPC. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case."

39. In Surain Singh's case (supra) the facts, which have been noticed in the judgment of the Supreme Court, are as follows:-

"At about 11:00 a.m., both the sides started quarrelling and had a heated exchange of words as Surain Singh (the appellant-accused) objected to the presence of Bhajan Singh, who was relative of Amrik Singh and not a party to the proceedings. Surain Singh-the appellant-accused, took out his Kirpan and gave a blow to Bhajan Singh. When the complainant party tried to stop the appellant-accused, he gave a Kirpan blow to Mander Singh. He also assaulted Harbans Singh (since deceased) with Kirpan. Darshan Singh also took out his Kirpan and started giving blows to Santa Singh (since deceased). The injured were taken to Guru Gobind Singh Medical Hospital Faridkot, where Santa Singh and Harbans Singh succumbed to their injuries."

40. On the above set of facts, the Apex Court found Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC applicable and convicted the accused under Section 304 Part 2 IPC instead of Section 302 IPC by observing as under:-

"The scuffle took place in the heat of passion and all the requirements under Section 300 Exception 4 of the IPC have been satisfied. Therefore, the benefit of Exception 4 under Section 300 IPC is attracted to the fact situations and the appellant-accused is entitled to this benefit.'

41. In the instant case, there is no evidence or even an explanation by way of statement under section 313 CrPC that there was a scuffle between the deceased and the surviving appellant no.1. There is virtually nothing to show that there was a fight between the two. Hence, in our considered view, the benefit of Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC would not be available to the appellant in light of the law noticed above.

42. In Litta Singh's case (supra), the other decision which has been relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant, the Supreme Court by considering the nature of the injuries and the weapons used to cause those injuries, namely, lathi, in paragraph 23, observed as follows:-

"17. Considering the nature of the injury caused to the deceased and the weapons i.e. lathi and gandasi (sickle) used by them, it cannot be ruled out that they assaulted the deceased with the knowledge that the injury may cause death of the person. Moreover, there is no evidence from the side of the prosecution that the accused persons pre-planned to cause death and with that intention they were waiting for the deceased coming from the field and then with an intention to kill the deceased they assaulted him."

43. In the instant case, there are three injuries caused by one person and all the three injuries were on the head. Those injuries are stated have been inflicted with a "Fawra' and injury no.1 is not only fatal but has been inflicted with great amount of force so much so that not only muscles were cut through and through but membranes, skull and the vertebrae were also cut as a consequence of which the deceased died on the spot. Thus, even if it is assumed that there is no premeditated intention to kill the deceased but the injury was caused with intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knew to be likely to cause death of the person to whom the harm was caused and, in any case, that injury was sufficient, in ordinary course, to cause death and therefore, in our view, the benefit of the decision of Litta Singh's case (supra) would not be available to the surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya).

44. Although, the learned counsel for the appellant had not specifically argued that the case of the appellant would fall within the ambit of Exception 1 to Section 300 IPC but to explore whether the case would come under Exception 1, we proceed to examine the matter in that context.

45. To seek the benefit of Exception 1 to Section 300 IPC, following conditions are to be satisfied:- (1) there must be provocation to the accused; (2) the provocation must be grave; (3) the provocation must also be sudden; (4) the provocation must have deprived the accused of his power of self-control; (5) the offence must have been committed during loss of self-control; and (6) the person killed must have been the person giving provocation, or any other person by mistake or accident.

46. In K.M. Nanavati Vs. State of Maharashtra: AIR 1962 SC 605, it was held:-

"The test of "grave and sudden" provocation under the Exception must be whether a reasonable person belonging to the same class of society as the accused, placed in a similar situation, would be so provoked as to lose his self control."

47. In the instant case, if we go through the facts as laid out in the prosecution evidence it would appear that the water channel regarding which there appeared a dispute was there for quite sometime. The tube-well was installed 3-4 months before the incident. The prosecution evidence is that the water channel was being dismantled by the accused when the deceased intervened. The prosecution evidence is silent with regard to the nature of the intervention; with regard to an altercation having taken place consequent to the intervention; and with regard to exchange of blows between the accused and the deceased. The prosecution evidence is to the effect that when the deceased noticed the accused dismantling the water channel, he went to the spot. There, non surviving appellant no.2 exhorted his son (the surviving appellant no.1) to assault the deceased. On that exhortation, the surviving appellant no.1 inflicted blows with the help of his "Fawra' (spade). The determining factor for applicability of Exception 1 in this scenario would be whether the intervention of the deceased caused grave and sudden provocation to the offender that made him lose power of self control to inflict those kind of injuries while he had no control over his emotions. For applicability of Exception 1 the provocation should not be sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person. In the instant case, the deceased intervened only when the water channel was being dismantled. If the water channel had been in existence from before and there had been a flow of water through that water channel from before and the suit for partition had been dismissed, as would be clear from paragraph 7 of the judgment of the trial court in respect of which no arguments have been raised in this appeal, there was no occasion, in our view, for the accused to be so provoked as to lose his power of self control and inflict three injuries on the head including one with so much force that it cut the skull, damaged the brain and the vertebrae including the muscle sheets as has been noticed by the autopsy surgeon. Therefore, in our view, the surviving appellant no.1 is not entitled to the benefit of Exception 1.

48. Having discussed the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant and having noticed the nature of the injuries caused and that the prosecution has been able to successfully prove that those injuries were caused by the accused appellant, keeping in mind that those injuries were such that would fall in clause "Secondly' and "Thirdly' of Section 300 IPC, we are of the considered view that the appellant would be liable to be convicted for an offence of murder, as has been held by the trial court. We, therefore, affirm the judgment and order of the trial court. The appeal is, accordingly, dismissed. The surviving appellant no.1 (Jangaliya) is reported to be on bail. His bail bonds are cancelled. He shall be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court.

49. Let a copy of this order be certified to the court below along with the record for information and compliance.

(A) Criminal Law - appeal against conviction - No direct evidence of crime - Circumstantial evidence - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 364, 302 / 34, 201 and 420 - The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 313,161,437-A - a case based on circumstantial evidence has to face strict scrutiny - Every circumstance from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must be fully established - the circumstances should be conclusive in nature and tendency - they must form a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused - and such chain of circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and must exclude every possible hypothesis except the one sought to be proved by the prosecution. (Para -26,)

Deceased was son of informant (PW-4) - deceased and accused were friends - were on visiting terms with each other - appellant had a widow cousin - deceased resided with his father and other family members in village - falls in territorial jurisdiction - deceased left his home on 03.04.2003 - went missing thereafter - FIR lodged by PW-4(father of deceased) - allegations - deceased has been abducted and secreted by accused - FIR suggests twin motive for crime (a) ransom (b) annoyance on account of relationship of deceased with cousin of appellant - no independent witness of recovery examined by prosecution - body recovered not photographed - extremely doubtful - recovery discarded by court. (Para - 28,36)

(B) Criminal Law- case based on direct ocular account of the crime - existence of motive is not of much importance - case based on circumstantial evidence - motive assumes importance - at times serves as a vital link to the chain of circumstances because, absence of a motive may serve as a catalyst to strengthen the alternative hypothesis - if there is a room for any, consistent with the innocence of the accused. (Para - 30)

(C) Criminal Law - matters relating to kidnapping or abduction for ransom - victim party awaits return of the kidnapee or abductee for fear or danger to his or her life therefore, in such matters, mere delay in setting the law into motion may not prove fatal to the prosecution story - where hope of return of the abductee disappears, delay in lodging the report would, in absence of plausible explanation, raise suspicion as regards the credibility of the prosecution story - held - inordinate delay in lodging the FIR shrouds the prosecution story with suspicion as regards demand and payment of ransom.(Para - 32)

(D) Criminal Law - prosecution story developed on strong suspicion and guess-work - howsoever strong suspicion might be it cannot take the place of proof - when a reasonable doubt arises with regard to the prosecution story /the prosecution evidence, the benefit doubt would have to be extended to the accused.(Para -36)

HELD:-The prosecution story and the prosecution evidence do not inspire confidence of court . No option but to extend the benefit of doubt to the appellant (Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray). As regards other appellants, there is no worthwhile evidence against them. The evidence of the deceased being last seen with the accused appellants on a Tonga by PW-5 discarded. All the appellants are entitled to be acquitted. (Para - 36,37)

1. These three appeals are against a common judgment and order dated 23.01.2007 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Pilibhit in S.T. No.797 of 2003 connected with S.T. No.212 of 2004, arising out of Case Crime No.320 of 2003, P.S. Bilsanda, District Pilibhit, whereby, the appellants Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray (appellant in Criminal appeal No.1407 of 2007), Vipin Singh (appellant in Criminal appeal No.1069 of 2007), Sompal Singh (whose Criminal appeal no.1063 of 2007 was abated by order dated 19.01.2022) and Bare (appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1223 of 2007) were convicted under Sections 364, 302 / 34, 201 and 420 IPC and were sentenced to imprisonment for life and fine of Rs.2500/- coupled with default sentence of additional six months each under Section 364 IPC and Section 302/34 IPC; three years R.I. and fine of Rs.2,500/- coupled with a default sentence of additional six months under section 201 IPC; and three years R.I. and fine of Rs.2500/- under Section 420 IPC coupled with a default sentence of additional six months. All sentences to run concurrently. It be clarified that in S.T. No.797 of 2003, three accused, namely, Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray (appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1407 of 2007); Vipin Singh (appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1069 of 2007); and Sompal Singh (appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1063 of 2007), were tried; whereas, in S.T. No.212 of 2004, Bare (appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1063 of 2007) was tried. Criminal Appeal No.1063 of 2007 separately filed by Sompal Singh was abated vide order dated 19.01.2022 consequent to his death.

INTRODUCTORY FACTS

2. The prosecution story elicited from the written report (Ex. Ka-1) is that on 01.04.2003 Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, a resident of Village Majhgawa, P.S Bilsanda, District Pilibhit, came to informant's (PW-4's) house at village Jamuniya Jagatpur, P.S. Pooranpur, District Pilibhit and invited informant's son Parminder (the deceased) to Majhgawa. In response to that invite, on 03.04.2003 the deceased went on a cycle to Pooranpur, parked his cycle at the shop of Arvind (PW-1) and told PW-1 that he is going to the house of Bhooray at Majhgawa and would return by evening. But the deceased did not return. On 05.04.2003, at about 1.30 pm, PW-4 (the informant) received a call demanding Rs.2,00,000/- for release of his son. The voice on the phone appeared to be of Bhooray. After receiving the call, on 05.04.2003 itself, PW-4 with Kashmir Singh (not examined), Sukhvinder Singh (PW-3), Sukhveer Singh (not examined) and Ravi Azad (PW-2) went to Bhooray's house at Majhgawa. There, Bhooray and other villagers admitted that Parminder Singh (the deceased) had come to Majhgawa and on 04.04.2003 he had lunch with Sanjay, Bare, Vipin and Som Pal at Som Pal's house at Rautapur. But Bhooray did not disclose as to where PW-4's son go after having lunch. As a result, information was given to the police of P.S. Bilsanda regarding abduction of informant's son. Upon this information, the police of P.S. Bilsanda neither registered a report nor arrested Bhooray but enquired from Sanjay @ Bhooray. Thereafter, on 16.04.2003, and two days thereafter, Bhooray called (phoned) the informant to bring Rs.50,000/- at Madnapur Chauraha, Jalalabad, at 2 pm, to secure release of his son. On this call, PW-4 and PW-3 along with Kashmir Singh (not examined) and Harjinder Singh (not examined) took the money to the specified place and gave it to Sanjay @ Bhooray. There, with Sanjay there was an unknown person. After receiving the money and extending the promise that informant's son would be released in 20 minutes, Bhooray went away with the money. Informant waited there till evening, but his son was not released. By making these allegations and by adding that Sanjay Singh's cousin Manju Singh (a widow) had close relations with informant's son (the deceased), which was not palatable to Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and his family members, the written report was got lodged by expressing suspicion that Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray with the help of his associates has abducted informant's son with a view to kill him and in that process, they cheated the informant of Rs.50,000/-. The written report (Ex. Ka-1) was submitted to the Superintendent of Police, Pilibhit, which, on his direction, was registered as an FIR at P.S. Bilsanda, District Pilibhit on 04.05.2003 at 7.30 hours (i.e. Case Crime No.320 of 2003, under Section 364 IPC).

3. After registration of the FIR, on 06.05.2003, at about 12.05 hours, according to the prosecution, Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray was arrested of which entry was made in the G.D., vide Report No.25 at 12.35 hours. Thereafter, a disclosure statement of Sanjay @ Bhooray was allegedly recorded of which there is a G.D. entry, vide Report No.27 at 12.50 hours, at P.S. Bilsanda (Ex. Ka-12). On the basis of this disclosure, the police team accompanying Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray went to the spot and at about 3 pm, on 06.05.2003 itself, recovered the body of the deceased from the bottom of a canal (Nahar) and prepared a composite recovery as well as confession memo (Ex. Ka-13) including a site plan (Ex. Ka-14). The recovery/confession memo (Ex. Ka-13) was witnessed by Sukhdev Singh (not examined) and Arvind Singh (not examined) and thumb marked by Sanjay Singh @ Bhoorey. The fard/ memo of recovery (Ex. Ka-13) reflects that at the time of the recovery, the informant had arrived at the spot and had identified the body. At the time of the recovery, the body was in a decomposed state and except an underwear there were no clothes on it.

4. Inquest was conducted at the spot of recovery and was completed by 19.00 hours on 06.05.2003. Inquest report (Ex. Ka-2) was prepared by Sub Inspector Virendra Kumar (PW-8), which was witnessed by Sukhdev Singh (not examined), the informant (PW-4), Arvind Singh (not examined), Pradhan Singh (not examined), Manoj Kumar (not examined) and Sarvender Singh (not examined). Inquest report while describing the body recites that right arm below elbow is missing.

5. Autopsy was conducted on 07.05.2003, at about 2 pm, by Dr. Bhagwan Das (PW-6), who prepared the autopsy report (Ex. Ka-3) on 07.05.2003. The autopsy report in respect of the external examination of the body recites:-

"A male body of average built and muscularity. Rigor mortis absent. Severe foul smell coming from body. Skin detached at places. Soft tissue as a whole absent on upper part of skull. Bone of skull exposed and seen. Sutures are loose. Soft tissue absent on right lower limb leg and both bone exposed. Same thing is on left side lower limb. Ligament and joints are loose. Soft tissue on left whole upper limb are absent and bones seen. Joints are loose. Soft tissue absent on left shoulder and scapular region. Both side only orbital fossa seen. Soft tissue present only. Orbital bones are seen. Fossa part of nose absent. Both jaws opened widely and teeth are seen. Two teeth right incision missing others are loose in socket. Tongue is putrefied and present in black mass. No skin present on face. Soft tissues are also absent on face. Skin over neck is peeling off. Right hand missing. Abdomen distended and skin peeled off at places. Ante mortem injury not detectable due to decomposition of body. Scrotum shrunken and penis in decomposed state.

Internal examination:- Scalp. No fracture noticed. Membranes - putrified and adherent to inner part of skull bones. Brain- highly liquefied. Pleura- adherent to chest cavity and decomposed state. Larynx- softened congested, hyoid bone intact. Lungs- both lungs shrunken and putrified congested; (sic) blood stained fluid present in both lungs. Pericardium- adherent to heart. Gallbladder- half full adherent to liver. Pancreas. Putrified. Spleen- Softened shrunken congested weight 160 gm. Urinary bladder- decomposed state.

Cause of death due to asphyxia."

6. After completing the investigation, two separate charge-sheets were submitted. One charge sheet (Ex. Ka-15) was submitted against Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, Vipin Singh and Sompal Singh and other charge sheet (Ex. Ka-16) was submitted against Bare. After taking cognizance on the two charge sheets, the case was committed to the court of session. In S.T. No.797 of 2003, Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, Vipin Singh and Sompal Singh were charged for offences punishable under Sections 364, 302 read with Section 34, 201 and 420 IPC, whereas, in S.T. No.212 of 2004, the appellant Bare was separately charged for the same offences. As both sessions trial arose from Case Crime No.320 of 2003, they were connected with each other and on denial of charge framed against the accused, the trial commenced.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

7. The prosecution examined as many as nine witnesses. Their testimony, shorn of unnecessary details, is as follows:-

8. PW-1 (Arvind Kumar). He is the cycle shop owner at Pooranpur where the deceased had parked his cycle. According to this witness, Sanjay Singh alias Bhooray was known to him since before the incident. Sanjay Singh was a friend of Parminder Singh (the deceased). PW-1 stated that about a year and a half back (note: statement of this witness was recorded on 25.09.2004), while he was at his shop at Pooranpur, the deceased came on a cycle and parked his cycle there and stated that he is going to Majhgawa village to visit Bhooray and would return by evening. After that the deceased went away and did not return back. The cycle remained parked at PW-1's shop for 3-4 days; thereafter, PW-1 took the cycle and delivered it at deceased's house.

During cross-examination, he stated that many people come and leave their cycle at his shop but he does not know their name. PW-1 stated that he is well acquainted with deceased's father; that deceased's father had not told him that the deceased is missing; that in ordinary course he would never go to return cycle of his customers; that he went to return the cycle because the deceased as well as his family members were well known to him. In respect of financial status of the deceased, PW-1 stated that the deceased had a tractor and two motorcycles and is a big farmer.

On further cross-examination, he stated that his statement about the deceased having parked his cycle at his shop was told by him for the first time in court and that he had not told the I.O. about that cycle. He denied the suggestion that he is telling lies because of his friendship with the deceased and his family. He also denied the suggestion that the deceased never parked his cycle at his shop.

9. PW-2 (Ravi Azad). He is a taxi owner residing at Pooranpur, whose taxi was used by the informant (PW-4) to go to Majhgawa. PW-2 deposed that he knows Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and the deceased Parminder Singh from before the incident. He stated that on April 3, 2003, while he was going to the bus station, on way, at Arvind's Cycle Shop, he met Arvind (PW-1), who told him that Parminder (the deceased) had come in the morning and had parked his cycle at his shop and had told him that he is going to Bhooray's house at Majhgawa and would return by the evening. He stated that on 05.04.2003, Nirmol Singh (PW-4 - deceased's father), Sukhvinder Singh (PW-3), Kashmir Singh and Sukhvir Singh had come to PW-2's house and had told him that a phone call, which appeared in the voice of Bhooray, was received; as per which, Parminder Singh (the deceased) was in Bhooray's custody and for his release, a ransom of Rs.2,00,000/- has been demanded. PW-2 stated that, after telling all that, PW-4 requested PW-2 to take them to Majhgawa on his taxi. At the request of PW-4, PW-2 took PW-4, Kashmir Singh, Sukhvinder Singh (PW-3) and Sukhvir Singh to Majhgawa. They reached there by 5 pm and went straight to the house of Bhooray, where they met Bhooray. When they asked Bhooray about Parminder, Bhooray admitted that Parminder had come and they had lunch at Rautapur at Sompal's house and, thereafter, Parminder left. When PW-4 questioned Bhooray on that that ransom call, Bhooray denied having made any such call. PW-2 stated that thereafter they made inquiries from the people at Majhgawa. They all confirmed that Parminder (the deceased) had come. Thereafter, they all went to the police station. At the police station, PW-2 stayed outside the police station.

In his cross-examination, at the instance of Sompal Singh, PW-2 denied the suggestion that he was making a false statement with regard to having received information that the deceased had lunch at Sompal's house.

In his cross-examination, at the instance of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, he stated that he knew the deceased since last 10-12 years. Earlier, PW-2 had a fertiliser shop where the deceased used to come. PW-2 stated that his friendship is with the elder brother of the deceased and that he is in visiting terms with him. PW-2 stated that the deceased's elder brother with whom he has friendship has come with him to the court today and had earlier also come with him to the court. PW-2 stated that he has not known Sanjay personally but he knows him through Parminder (the deceased) otherwise, he has no relationship with Sanjay Singh. He also stated that on few occasions when he visited the house of Parminder (the deceased), he saw Bhooray @ Sanjay Singh there. He, however, could not tell the date, month or the year when he last visited the house of the deceased. However, he stated that in the marriage of Gurmeet he had seen Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray. He added that apart from that marriage, he had seen them together in the house of the deceased.

On further cross-examination, he stated that he purchased Marshal vehicle about two years before and prior to owning that vehicle, he had a fertiliser shop and before that he had an expeller and was also employed as a private bus stand manager. He admitted that the I.O. had enquired from him but he could not remember the date when he was interrogated by the I.O.

On further cross-examination, he stated that the information about the deceased having gone missing came to him for the first time on 05.04.2003 from the father of the deceased who had told him that a demand call of Rs.2,00,000/- has been received by him (PW-4) for release of Parminder and on his (PW-4's) request, PW-2 had gone to Majhgawa. He further stated that when they reached Sanjay's house and inquired about the deceased, Sanjay Singh stated that the deceased had come a day before.

On further cross-examination, PW-2 stated that PW-4 has about 22 acres of agricultural holding and has a tractor trolley as well as motorcycle, though he does not have a jeep. PW-2 stated that the distance between Jamuniya and Ghunghuchihai is about 3 km. Between Ghunghuchihai and Pooranpur, private buses ply regularly. The distance between Ghunghuchihai and Pooranpur is about 12 km and the distance between Pooranpur and Majhgawa is 53-54 km. He stated that if one has to go from Jamuniya Jagatpur to Majhgawa, Pooranpur does not fall in the route. In respect of his presence at the cycle shop of Arvind, PW-2 stated that he went on foot to the cycle shop as he used to go and sit there sometimes and whenever he used to go there, Arvind (PW-1) used to tell him who had visited his cycle shop. PW-2 stated that PW-1 often used to talk about Parminder Singh (the deceased) and his family members. PW-2 stated that earlier also, Arvind had informed him about Parminder (the deceased) coming to his shop. In respect of his return to Pooranpur after visiting Majhgawa, PW-2 stated that he returned back between 8 and 8-30 pm. PW-2 admitted that he had not taken rent for his taxi from the victim's family as they were known to him. PW-2 stated that after visiting Bhooray's house, they went to P.S. Bilsanda but he could not remember whether they had gone to any other place before visiting the said police station.

On being questioned as to what Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray stated when he was questioned by PW-4 in respect of ransom call made by Sanjay Singh, PW-2 stated that Sanjay Singh stated that he had not made any such ransom call. PW-2 added that at Majhgawa village, he did not know anybody else. PW-2 stated that he had not given any advise to lodge a missing report in respect of Parminder having gone missing. He stated that he had reached Bilsanda Police Station by about 6 pm. They stayed there for 15-20 minutes. PW-2 stayed outside the police station and he does not know whether any written report was given or not. PW-2 stated that after visiting the police, they did not go to Majhgawa again from the police station but he does not know whether the police had gone there or not. He denied the suggestions that he is telling lies; that the deceased had not parked his cycle at Arvind shop; Arvind had not informed him about the deceased parking his cycle there; and that he is telling lies because of his family terms with deceased's family.

10. PW-3 (Sukhvinder Singh). He stated that he is a neighbour of PW-4 and is on visiting terms with PW-4 and that he knew Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray since before the incident. He stated that Sanjay Singh had been on visiting terms with PW-4. PW-3 stated that about quarter to two years before, the deceased had left by saying that he is going to Bhooray's house. On 05 April, 2003 PW-4 told him that Bhooray had made a call demanding Rs.2,00,000/- for release of Parminder. On this information, PW-3, PW-4, Kashmir Singh and Sukhveer Singh took PW-2's taxi to go to Majhgawa. When they met Bhooray there, Bhooray's family members were also there. Bhooray told them that day before yesterday, Parminder (the deceased) had come; yesterday, they had lunch at Rautapur with Bare and Sompal. Bhooray had also told them that the deceased was with them till lunch and, thereafter, where he went, he does not know. After getting this information, PW-4 along with PW-3 and others went to P.S. Bilsanda, where PW-4 informed the Station Officer about his son having gone missing. There, the Station Officer took a note on a plain paper but did not record the information. Station Officer, thereafter, called Bhooray at the police station and assured the complainant party that he would enquire from Bhooray and they may go. Thereafter, the complainant party left the police station. PW-3 stated that PW-4 had informed him regarding receipt of a fresh call on 16.04.2003 from Bhooray for making arrangements of the ransom amount to secure release of his son and, thereafter, again, ransom call was received on 18.04.2003, reducing the ransom amount from Rs.2,00,000/- to Rs.50,000/-. PW-3 stated that upon getting this information from PW-4, after taking Rs.50,000/-, PW-3 and PW-4 along with Kashmir Singh and Harjinder Singh went to Madna Chauraha (the place where the cash was to be delivered as per the phone call) and reached there between 4-5 pm; where they met Bhooray and one unknown person, who, according to Bhooray, was Bhooray's maternal uncle. PW-3 stated that Bhooray was delivered Rs.50,000/-, after which, Bhooray requested them to wait for 20 minutes to enable him to come with Parminder but, thereafter, Bhooray did not return even though they waited for two hours; and few days later, Parminder's body was recovered, which he saw.

During cross-examination, PW-3 stated that PW-4 i.e. deceased's father is his real elder brother and that PW-3's house is near PW-4's house. In respect of the time when they left for Majhgawa, PW-3 stated that they left for Majhgawa between 1-1.30 pm and they reached Majhgawa by about 5 pm. Before reaching Jamuniya, they visited Pooranpur. At Pooranpur, they took the vehicle of PW-2 to go to Majhgawa. He denied the suggestion that he has a Maruti car. PW-3 stated that PW-4's elder son did not own a four wheeler at the time of the incident. PW-3 also stated that he left Pooranpur by about 2 pm. On further cross-examination, PW-3 stated that he learnt about Parminder Singh having gone missing for the first time on 05.04.2003 when PW-4 had told him that they had to go to Majhgawa as Parminder was in the custody of Bhooray. He stated that the I.O. had interrogated him about 4-6 days after Parminder had left. Immediately thereafter, he clarified by stating that he is not sure whether his statement was taken after 2 days, or 4 days, or 6 days, but was taken for sure within 10 days. Whereafter, he did not meet the I.O.

In respect of Bhooray, PW-3 stated that Bhooray used to visit Parminder very often and therefore, he knows Bhooray. PW-3 also stated that he knows Bare and Sompal.

In respect of his visit to the house of Bhooray at Majhgawa, PW-3 stated that on their visit there, they enquired from Sanjay for about 20-25 minutes; Bhooray @ Sanjay had told them that till a day before, Parminder was with Bhooray and had had his meal with him. Bhooray, however, claimed that he has no knowledge of Parminder's current whereabouts. PW-3 stated that after visiting Sanjay's house at Majhgawa, they all went straight to the police station at Bilsanda and arrived there by about 5.30 pm. Except Ravi (PW-2), all had entered the police station and they orally informed the Station House Officer there. Within next 20 minutes, the Station House Officer had called Sanjay at the police station and till arrival of Sanjay at the police station, they were there.

In respect of the incident of 18.04.2003, PW-3 stated that he, Kashmir Singh, Nirmol Singh (PW-4) and Harjinder Singh went to Madnapur on 18.04.2003 in Maruti van of Harjinder Singh. He added that they went to Madnapur via Shahjahanpur; that before going to Madnapur, they had not informed the police; that when they reached there, they asked Bhooray about Parminder; Bhooray told that if the money is delivered, he would ensure the release of Parminder within 20 minutes. PW-3 stated that neither he nor his men insisted for release of Parminder before taking the money. On being questioned as to why they did not capture Bhooray and his companion at that time, PW-3 stated that they had no idea that Bhooray would violate the promise as they believed in Bhooray. PW-3 stated that after delivery of money, they all returned straight from Madnapur to their house and they did not consider it necessary to inform the police. PW-3 also stated that he does not know whether PW-4 had gone in search of Parminder after visiting Madnapur. PW-3 stated that he does not remember whether any information was given on a plain paper about Bhooray at police station Bilsanda, though he remembers that the S.O. had called Bhooray to the police station and had told them that he would inquire from Bhooray.

In respect of Nirmol Singh (PW-4), PW-3 stated that Nirmol Singh had worked in films. PW-3 stated that Sukhvir Singh and Bunty are sons of Nirmol Singh (PW-4). He stated that he does not know whether those sons of PW-4 are involved in extremist activity. He denied the suggestions that Sukhvir and Bunty were detained under TADA; that he is telling lies because of his relationship with Nirmol Singh (PW-4); that he did not go to Madnapur and Majhgawa; that no money was paid at Madnapur; that no demand for money was made; and that he and Nirmol Singh have a four wheeler.

PW-3 was also cross-examined on behalf of Bare and Sompal. In his cross examination on their behalf, he stated that the distance between Majhgawa and Bilsanda is of 10 minutes. The I.O. had come to his house to investigate. His statement was recorded at his house by the I.O. He had received knowledge that the body had been hidden in the canal. He denied the suggestion that he is telling lies.

11. PW-4 (Nirmol Singh). PW-4 is the father of the deceased. He stated that on 01.04.2003 Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray came to his house and invited Parminder Singh (the deceased) to Majhgawa. On 03.04.2003, the deceased went to Pooranpur on a cycle. He parked his cycle at Arvind Cycle Shop and told Arvind that he is going to Majhgawa to the house of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and would return by evening. Parminder Singh, thereafter, did not return. On 05.04.2003, he received a ransom call demanding Rs.2,00,000/- for release of Parminder Singh. The ransom call was in the voice of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray. Thereafter, PW-4, Sukhvinder, Kashmir Singh and Sukhvir Singh along with Ravi went to Bhooray's house. There, they met Bhooray and his family. On inquiry about Parminder (the deceased), Bhooray and his family admitted that Parminder had come and on 04.04.2003 Parminder had lunch with Sompal, Bare, Vipin and Sanjay but they did not disclose his current whereabouts. PW-4 stated that since no useful information was given by Bhooray regarding the whereabouts of Parminder, PW-4 went to P.S. Bilsanda and informed the Station Officer regarding his son having gone missing. But his report was not written. However, the S.O. called Bhooray to inquire from him. Thereafter, on 16.04.2003, he received a call to arrange for Rs.2,00,000/- for release of Parminder. On 18.04.2003, another phone call came to bring Rs.50,000/- for release of Parminder. On this call, PW-4, Sukhvinder Singh, Kashmir Singh and Harjinder Singh went to Madnapur Chauraha with Rs.50,000/-. There they found Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray with his maternal uncle Vijay Kumar Singh alias Chhotey Lalla. When they were inquired about Parminder Singh, they stated that Rs.50,000/- may be given to them and within 20 minutes, they will come with Parminder. PW-4 stated that they gave the money to them and waited, but they did not return and, therefore, PW-4 and others returned back. After stating as above, PW-4 added that Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray's cousin, Manju, widow of Pramod, a resident of Pooranpur, had relations with Parminder (the deceased); Parminder used to visit her house; that Sanjay Singh and his family were not appreciative of that relationship and, therefore, it appears, Parminder was abducted and killed. PW-4 added that Parminder Singh's right arm was amputated from below the elbow joint. PW-4 alleged that after killing Parminder, the accused cheated him of Rs.50,000/-. PW-4 stated that on 02.05.2003 he gave application to the Superintendent of Police. The written report was exhibited as Ex. Ka-1. PW-4 stated that when the body of Parminder was being dug out by Bhooray and two constables from the canal, then Bhooray had pointed out that this is the body of Parminder. He stated that he recognised the body on the basis of body structure and the amputated hand. PW-4 stated that the inquest was conducted in his presence. The inquest report (Ex. Ka-2) was exhibited. PW-4 stated that he knew all the accused from before as they used to visit his house. He also stated that about 14 months before, he received a phone call. The caller stated that he is elder brother of Sompal and that Sompal wants to meet him in jail. He stated that he went to jail to meet Sompal, where Sompal stated that if he is exonerated, he would be ready to give evidence as a witness. He also stated that Sompal had admitted his guilt.

During his cross examination at the instance of accused Sompal, PW-4 stated that he went to jail to meet Sompal after about 14 months of the recovery of his son's body. After stating that, PW-4 stated that it must be 10 months after recovery of the body. He denied the suggestion that he never visited the jail to meet Sompal there.

In his cross-examination at the instance of accused Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, PW-4 stated that he has 22 acres of land. He has a motorcycle but no car. He stated that for going to Pooranpur one has to catch a bus from Ghunghchihai. Ghunghchihai is about 5 km from his house and from Ghunghchihai to Pooranpur it is 12 kms. He stated that if one has no personal conveyance, one can take bus, tempo, etc. There is a short cut route also via Jamuniya Sherpur to go to Pooranpur. The short cut route is 10-11 kms. He denied the suggestion that the short cut route is also 20-22 kms. He also denied the suggestion that in between Jamuniya and Pooranpur, there is jungle. PW-4 stated that when the deceased had left his house, it must have been 8 or 9 am in the morning. Deceased had left the house after telling PW-4 that he is going to Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray's house at Majhgawa. PW-4 stated that the distance between Pooranpur and Majhgawa is 53 kms and to go to Majhgawa from Pooranpur one has to go first to Ghunghchihai. There is also a straight rasta from Ghunghchihai to Majhgawa which is about 41 kms. PW-4 stated that he did not ask his son to go on a motorcycle. He stated that at that time probably the motorcycle was not there. He stated that when his son went away and did not return that night, or even next night, he did not have any anxiety as earlier also he used to visit Sanjay Singh's house and used to stay there for 3-4 days and Sanjay Singh used to visit his house and used to stay for 3-4 days. He stated that he got disturbed only after receipt of ransom call on the third day. He stated that on receipt of ransom call, he made no attempt to inform the police immediately. Rather, they took the vehicle of Azad to go to Bhooray's house where Bhooray admitted that Parminder had come and that Parminder, Bhooray, Vipin and Sompal all had lunch at Rautapur at Sompal's place.

On further cross-examination, he stated that when he had visited Bhooray's house after receipt of ransom call, he saw Bhooray and his family members. He enquired from them but not from the villagers. He also stated that he had not enquired from the family members of Sompal. He stated that he remained at Majhgawa for 15-20 minutes and while they were there, neither Bhooray nor his family members made any attempt to run away but they did not give information regarding the whereabouts of Parminder.

Therefore, he had given information on a plain paper to S.O. Bilsanda with regard to the ransom call and had also orally informed S.O., Bilsanda about that. He then reiterated that he had not given any written application. PW-4, however, clarified that the police had gone to call Bhooray and had brought him to the police station. But, in his presence, Bhooray was not inquired. Rather, S.O. told PW-4 that he will enquire. PW-4 stated that on 08.04.2003 when he visited P.S. Bilsanda again, he did not meet Bhooray there. PW-4 admitted that his visit to P.S. Bilsanda on 08.04.2003 has not been mentioned in his written report addressed to the Superintendent of Police. PW-4 denied the suggestion that this was stated for the first time in court. PW-4 stated that after 05.04.2003 they had visited Bhooray's house 2-3 times. Later, he corrected it by stating that he visited the house two times. PW-4 stated that he had requested Bhooray to search out his son. Bhooray assured that he is searching for Parminder and as soon as he is able to find him, he would give information.

During cross-examination, PW-4 stated that on 16.04.2003 he received ransom call from Bhooray, demanding Rs.2,00,000/- for release of Parminder. PW-4 stated that though this fact was not disclosed by him in his written application but he told it orally to the I.O. but if the I.O. had not noted it, he cannot tell the reason for the same. He denied the suggestion that this statement is made for the first time in court as a result of tutoring. He stated that on receipt of phone call on 16.04.2003, he filed no complaint at the police station. He added that he did not make a complaint because he wanted to have his son back alive and was worried that if he would make a complaint to the police or authorities, the abductors may kill his son. He stated that he was arranging for the money and when he had given the application, he thought that his son was alive. PW-4 added that on 18.04.2003 Bhooray called him to ask as to how much money PW-4 could arrange. When, PW-4 stated that he could arrange Rs.50,000/- only, Bhooray said that PW-4 should come with Rs.50,000/- at Madanpura Chauraha near Jalalabad. PW-4 stated that Madnapura is about 150 kms away from his house. It would take 4 to 5 hours to reach there on a bus. PW-4, thereafter, quickly corrected himself by stating that he took his own car and it took him 4-5 hours. On a question as to whether in between Shahjahanpur to Madnapur he crossed any police station, he stated that he does not remember clearly but a factory was noticed by him. He stated that the distance between Shahjahanpur and Madnapur was covered in one and a half hour and by the time they could reach there, it was 4-5 pm. PW-4 stated that at Madnapur Chauraha, he saw Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and Vijay Kumar Singh @ Chootey Lalla standing at the Chauraha. He stated that when he gave the money, he did not insist Bhooray to show his son first, because he believed that on payment of money his son would be released therefore, he did not even request the other person accompanying Sanjay to wait there, till his son was released. PW-4 stated that he himself waited there for about two hours, but when no one returned, as it was getting dark, he returned back. Next day, he did not go to Majhgawa under the belief that Parminder may be released by about night. PW-4 added that he did not go to Majhgawa after 18.04.2003 because he had no hope of help from the Station Officer (S.O.) Bilsanda. He stated that he tried to meet the S.O. two or three times but he could not meet him. He stated that he went to the Superintendent of Police on 22.04.2003 and 28.04.2003 but he did not meet him. He stated that he did not give any written application on either of those two days. He stated that between 23.04.2003 and 28.04.2003 neither he met the commanding officer nor he gave application in his office. He also stated that he did not give any application by registered post to DIG or IG. He clarified that by stating that till 02.05.2003 he met no other officer to lodge complaint. He admitted that in his written application given on 02.05.2003 to the Superintendent of Police, he made no mention that he had visited his office twice but he could not meet him. He admitted that in his application he had not mentioned the phone number on which he received the phone call. He admitted that he disclosed the name of Bhooray's Mama in the court for the first time and that before this he never made any disclosure about Bhooray's Mama.

On further cross-examination in respect of relationship of Manju and Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, PW-4 stated that Manju is not sister, but a cousin, of Sanjay. PW-4 denied the suggestion that Parminder Singh (the deceased) had no relations with Manju. He added that Bhooray's father Bajrangi Singh had disclosed that Parminder and Manju were in a relationship, which they did not appreciate. He added that father and brothers of Manju did not make any complaint with regard to the relationship between Manju and Parminder. PW-4 also stated that there is no animosity between Manju's father and Bhooray's father. He denied the suggestion that Bhooray's father never objected to the relationship between Manju and Parminder.

On further cross-examination, PW-4 admitted that his son Bunty and Sukhvir Singh were detained under TADA. He, however, denied the suggestion that on account of extremist activity of his sons the members of locality were against his family. He also denied the suggestion that some unknown person had killed his son.

In respect of recovery of the body of his son, PW-4 stated that his son's body was recovered on 06.05.2003 at about 3 pm from the northern corner of a canal near Bhedan Kanja. He stated that when he reached the police station, he got information that his son's body is being dug out. On receiving this information, within 25 minutes, he had reached the spot from where the body was recovered. He stated that the spot from where the body was recovered is 20-22 kms away from the police station. He stated that at that spot there were number of villagers (agriculturists) present. He stated that he was not told at the police station as to when the investigating officer had left the police station for recovery of the body. He stated that he was a witness to the inquest and at the time of inquest he had told the I.O. that his son has been killed by Bhooray with Sompal and Bare but no other accused was named at that time. He stated that writing of the papers/reports in respect of recovery of the body started at about 3 pm and continued upto 7-7.30 pm. He stated that police jeep was parked 70-80 yards away from the place from where the body was recovered. He denied the suggestion that the body was not recovered in his presence.

In respect of arrangement of Rs.50,000/- to pay as ransom, he stated that the money was borrowed by him from his maternal uncle Gurbax Singh but this fact was not disclosed earlier.

In respect of his earlier statement made on 05.04.2003 that he had received a ransom call for Rs.2,00,000/- for release of Parminder, he stated that if this was not written in his written application then he cannot tell the reason for the same because he had disclosed it to the I.O.

He denied the suggestions that his statement is an outcome of tutoring; that he had not made any complaint at Bilsanda on 05.04.2003; that Bhooray had not disclosed to him that they had gone to have lunch at Sompal's house; that he received no call from Bhooray; that Sanjay Singh had no animosity because of Parminder's relation with Manju; that no phone call of Sanjay came to him; that Sanjay had not called Parminder to his house; that Sanjay had not received the money; that Sanjay has no hand in the murder of Parminder; that Parminder was killed for some other reason; that the body of the deceased was not recovered in his presence; that the body was not identified; and that whatever he has stated is false.

12. PW-5 Vikram Singh. He is a witness who allegedly saw Sompal, Bare and Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray along with one or two others on a Tonga going towards Bhedan Kanja in the evening at around 6.30 to 7 pm. This witness stated that he knows PW-4 and the deceased. He states that Parminder was killed about two and half months prior to 16.08.2003. Immediately thereafter, he corrected himself by stating that about two and a half months prior to 18.06.2003 he saw the deceased on a Tonga near Bilsanda. PW-5 stated that he and Dilbag Singh were talking to each other when he witnessed Rautapur's Sompal, Bhedan Kanja's Bare and Majhgawa's Sanjay @ Bhooray as well as Parminder along with one or two others, whom he does not know, going on a Tonga towards Bhedan Kanja. It must have been 6.30 to 7.00 pm at that time. PW-5 stated that thereafter he had not seen Parminder. He stated that Parminder's body was recovered from a canal at Bhedan Kanja. He stated that the information that he saw the deceased on a Tonga with the accused was given to Parminder's father on 18.06.2003.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Sanjay, PW-5 stated that he has come from Central Jail, Bareilly to give his statement. He admitted that he has been convicted in the murder of Dheer Singh. PW-5 stated that he has no relations with the son of Nirmol Singh (PW-4); his village is at a distance of 20 kms from the village of Nirmol Singh, which is at Jamuniya Jagatpur; he has relationship with Kashmir Singh, who is a resident of Jamuniya Jagatpur; he does not know whether Kashmir Singh is a relative of Nirmol Singh; that PW-5 used to visit Kashmir Singh's house; that he does not know any other person in that village; that he does not know where the sons of Nirmol Singh are married; that he does not know as to how many sons Nirmol Singh have; that at the time when the body was recovered, he was not present; that the day when he saw the deceased with the accused on a Tonga, he had gone to purchase his tractor's bearing; that he had gone on a cycle; that he had left his house at about 1 pm; that day he consulted the tractor mechanic and the whole process of purchasing the bearing and consulting the mechanic must have taken him 2-3 hours; that he does not know as to when body of Parminder was recovered after he went missing; that he cannot say as to how many months before, he saw the deceased with the accused; and that he does not remember the day when he saw the deceased with the accused. He, however, added that he saw 6-7 persons on the Tonga. In respect of dress worn by Parminder, he stated that he was wearing shirt with square. He also stated that he did not ask Parminder as to where he was going. He corrected himself to state that he had wished Sompal. In respect of the date when his statement was recorded by I.O., he stated that the I.O. had questioned him a month and a half after Parminder had gone missing. He stated that he did not tell the I.O. about his meeting with Sompal. He stated that he had informed the I.O. that about two and half months before 18.06.2003, he had seen them on Tonga near Durga Talkies, Bilsanda but if that was not written by the I.O. then he cannot give the reason for that. He further stated that the name of persons whom he saw were given to the I.O. but if there is any difference in those names, he cannot give a reason for it. PW-5 stated that he had named three accused and not four but if the I.O. had written four names then he does not know the reason for that. He further stated that he is not aware of the others who were sitting on that Tonga. He admitted that the I.O. had not required him to identify the accused.

He denied the suggestion that he is telling lies because of tutoring and his relationship. He also denied the suggestion that he had not seen Parminder with three accused together on a Tonga.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Bare and Sompal, he stated that his statement was recorded by I.O. on 18.06.2003 and prior to that he gave information to the police. He admitted that in newspapers, reports were published with regard to Parminder having gone missing but as he was busy in his agricultural work, he gave no information earlier. PW-5 further stated that his father has 60 bigha land and a tractor but he does not know whether he and his father were challaned under Section 151 Cr.P.C. He denied the suggestion that he and his father were lent Rs.20,000/- by the accused Sompal. PW-5 admitted that Kashmir Singh of Jamuniya Jagatpur is his relative and that he was on visiting terms with Kashmir Singh. He also stated that Kashmir Singh is a neighbour of the informant. PW-5 stated that he does not have any relationship with either Sompal or Bare and is not acquainted to them. He denied the suggestion that he is telling lies on account of pressure from his relatives. He also denied the suggestion that he did not see the deceased with accused Sompal and Bare.

13. PW-6 Dr. Bhagwan Das. He is the doctor who carried out autopsy of the cadaver. He stated that on 07.05.2003 he examined the body of the deceased Parminder Singh at 2 pm, who must have been aged between 28-30 years. The body was received by him in a sealed state. He conducted the autopsy after verifying the seal. He proved the autopsy and described the body as well as its condition noticed and mentioned by him. He stated that he could not notice any ante mortem injury because the body was in a decomposed state. He did not notice any fracture. He stated that the hyoid bone was intact. He, however, accepted the possibility of death as a result of strangulation. He stated that the death might have occurred a month before the date of the autopsy. On the basis of his statement, the autopsy report was marked as Ex. Ka-3.

In his cross-examination, he stated that the body was not identifiable as it had decomposed. He also stated that if a body is buried in soil and is dug out from it, the body would carry mud on it. On the body of Parminder Singh there was no mud. He stated that if a body is buried in soil or sand, then it is natural to notice mud inside jaws and the eye orbits. He further stated that if somebody is strangulated, there is possibility of a fracture of the hyoid bone. He added that the estimated time of death could have a variation of seven days. He also stated that if the body is thrown in an open area, in hot climate of June or May, decomposition of the body would be quicker.

14. PW-7 Head Constable Jagat Pal Yadav. He stated that on 04.05.2003, he received the written report of PW-4, which was marked by the Superintendent of Police, Pilibhit for registration as a first information report and for investigation by SHO, Pooranpur. He stated that under the above direction as also the order of S.O, he registered the case as Case Crime No.Nil under Section 364 IPC against Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and others. He proved the chik FIR, which was marked Ex. Ka-4 as also its GD entry, made at 7.30 am, which was marked Ex. Ka-5. He proved GD entry No.40, dated 06.05.2003, at 22.20 hours, by which Sections 302, 201 IPC were added. The conversion GD entry was proved and marked as Ex. Ka-6.

In his cross-examination, he stated that on the day when this case was registered, no other case was registered. He stated that he was posted between October, 2002 to November, 2004 at P.S. Bilsanda as Head Moharrir and before lodging of this case Nirmol Singh (PW-4) had never come to the police station. He denied the suggestion that the chick FIR and the GD entry were prepared later and were ante-timed.

15. PW-8 S.I. Virendra Kumar Sharma. He stated that, on 06.05.2003, he was posted at P.S. Bilsanda as a Sub-Inspector. The investigation of this case was conducted by Rajan Tyagi, Incharge Inspector, P.S. Pooranpur. He stated that the accused Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray was arrested by the I.O. and was put in the lock up at P.S. Bilsanda. The accused Sanjay made disclosure to the I.O. that he, Vipin, Bare and Sompal had taken the deceased to village Rautapur where he was fed liquor and as he was using abusive language for the cousin (Manju) of Sanjay, Sanjay and Vipin planned to kill the deceased; in furtherance of that plan, they took the deceased to the Jungle of village Bhedan Kanja in the night where they strangulated the deceased. After strangulating the deceased, they took his body to a canal at Bhedan Kanja and buried the same, whereas his clothes were thrown in the canal. Sanjay said that he could get the body recovered. On the above statement of Sanjay, after making GD entry No.27, at 12.50 hours, accused Sanjay was taken by S.H.O. Rajan Tyagi and other police personnel on a police vehicle with papers relating to Panchnama, etc including a spade. There, on the pointing out of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, the body was recovered from the canal. He added that Sanjay Singh had led the team to the spot, descended into the canal and dug out the body with the help of a spade. He stated that at the nick of time, the father of the deceased, namely, Nirmol Singh, and his other family members arrived and identified the body. There, it was sealed and the I.O. Rajan Tyagi prepared the recovery memo and completed the inquest proceedings, the inquest report and autopsy related papers were prepared by PW-8. He proved the inquest report which was marked as Ex. Ka-2. He also proved preparation of Chalan lash, letter addressed to the CMO, etc., which were all exhibited. He also proved sealing of the body and maintenance of the seal.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, he stated that Manju is Sanjay's cousin; that to recover the body, they had left in two jeeps, one was a government jeep and the other was private; that he does not remember the number of both the jeeps however, one jeep was of P.S. Pooranpur and the other was a private jeep; that he does not remember as to of which company that jeep was and whether that jeep was borrowed or was on rent, though that jeep was procured by the inspector and the inspector must be having knowledge about that jeep; that the inspector had his own force with him whereas, from PW-8's police station there was only one constable; that he does not remember the number of men accompanying the inspector; that in the private jeep, P.S. Pooranpur's force was there and there was no private person.

On further cross-examination, he stated that the place from where the body was recovered must be 8 km away from the police station. They all had reached the place of recovery by about 2 pm from there they dispatched the body by about 7 pm. He stated that the body was recovered within half an hour after their arrival at the spot. The pit from where the body was recovered must have been dug 3-4 feet and the spade used in digging out the body was brought from the police station itself. He stated that the place from where the body was dug out must be 150-200 meters away from the village Bhedan Kanja and that place was surrounded by fields of agriculturists of that village. In some of the fields there was standing sugarcane crop though some were lying barren. He stated that when the body was recovered, neither before, nor after, any villager of Bhedan Kanja was called to be a witness. However, villagers on their own arrived there but he does not remember who all were called to be a witness.

PW-8 stated that the body had decomposed and was emitting foul odour but was recognisable as one hand was cut. He denied the suggestion that the body was identified only because one hand was cut. He stated that at the time of recovery no artificial hand was recovered. The hand was missing below the elbow. He denied the suggestion that the hand of the body was cut from above the elbow. He stated that it was cut from below the elbow. He stated that in the inquest report he wrote that because of decomposition of the body no injury was visible. He stated that the eyes had decomposed and both jaws were visible. He stated that the skin had peeled off and the body was recovered in supine position. He stated that the spot of the recovery was inside the canal and at that time there was no water in the canal, though it was moist and the soil of that canal was wet. He stated that the body was not having clothes, except a neckar. No shoe or clothes were recovered. He stated that the inquest proceeding took about one and half hour to complete.

PW-8 denied the suggestions that Sanjay gave no statement to the I.O.; that no body was recovered on the pointing out of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray; that the body was recovered from an open place; and that recovery is fabricated. On being questioned whether he noticed mud/sand on the eyes and inside the jaws, ears and mouth of the body, PW-8 stated that he does not remember. He stated that if it had been so, it would have been mentioned in the inquest report. He denied the suggestion that the entire exercise has been done while sitting at the police station.

In his cross-examination at the instance of accused Bare, Sompal and Vipin, he denied the suggestion that he is telling lies and that the entire exercise was not as per law.

16. PW-9 S.I. Rajan Tyagi (Investigating Officer). He stated that on 05.05.2003, he was the Incharge Inspector at P.S. Pooranpur. The case was registered on 04.05.2003 at P.S. Bilsanda. The investigation of the case was assigned to him by the order of Superintendent of Police, Pilibhit. On 05.05.2003, he took over the papers with reference to the case; on 06.05.2003 he recorded the statement of Nirmol Singh (PW-4); and raided the house of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray where Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray was found. He was entered in the lock up at P.S. Bilsanda and was interrogated. His statement was recorded in C.D., entry of which was made vide GD Entry No.27 at 12.50 hours, which was entered on his direction and dictation by S.I. J.N. Tiwari. He proved GD entry No.27, which was marked as Ex. Ka-12. After recording the disclosure statement of accused Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, PW-9 with fellow police personnel, namely, S.I., J.N. Tiwari, Constable Satyendra Singh, Constable Jeetpal Singh, Head Constable Mohan Lal Saroj, Shyam Sundar Verma, Anil Kumar Mishra, Constable Rajpal in police jeep No. U.P.26 B 4301 along with driver Azmer Ali and S.S.I. Trivedi and others, who arrived in private jeep No. U.P.27 A 2395 with driver Autar Singh and S.I. Virendra Kumar Verma of P.S. Bilsanda and Constable Lajja Ram along with papers and a spade, went to the spot disclosed by the accused. The vehicles were stopped at the instruction of the accused Sanjay @ Bhoora. The accused alighted from the vehicle and pointed towards the canal where the body of the deceased was buried. There, Sukhdev Singh and Arvind Singh working in the adjoining fields were roped in as witnesses. There also, the accused confessed his guilt and assured recovery of the body. Thereafter, the accused led the team and pointed out the place where the body was buried and descended into the canal and thereafter dug out the body which was taken out of the canal with the help of constable Ram Bahadur Patel, Constable Nawab Singh and Constable Rajendra Singh. During the proceeding of recovery, the informant Nirmol Singh and his family members also arrived and identified the body whereafter the inquest report was prepared by S.I. Virendra Kumar Sharma (PW-8) and the body was sealed.

PW-9 stated that he made an effort to search out the clothes but they could not be found. He also stated that the memorandum of recovery was prepared on his dictation by constable Satyendra Singh and after the memorandum was prepared, the same was got signed and thumb marked by Sanjay Singh and a copy of it was handed over to him. He stated that thereafter he prepared site plan of the place from where the recovery was done. The site plan was proved and marked as Ex. Ka-14. He stated that on 07.05.2003 he recorded the statement of Arvind Kumar. He stated that accused Sompal Singh had surrendered of which entry was made in the GD. He stated that on 22.05.2003, he recorded the statement of Sompal in District Jail, Pilibhit. On 18.06.2003, he recorded the statement of witnesses Vikram Singh and Dilbag Singh and made search for accused Vipin Singh and Bare but they could not be found. On 04.07.2003, he arrested Vipin and recorded his statement. On 01.08.2003, he recorded the statement of Ravi Azad, Kashmir Singh, Harjinder Singh, Sukhvinder Singh and Sukhvir. Thereafter, he submitted charge sheet against Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, Vipin and Sompal, which was marked as Ex. Ka-15; whereas, the charge sheet (Ex Ka-16) against the accused Bare was submitted by showing him as an absconder.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Vipin, he denied the suggestion that the investigation was not conducted in a lawful manner and that all the material was fabricated to set up a fictitious story.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Sompal Singh and Bare, he stated that on 18.06.2003 the informant Nirmol Singh had brought Vikram and Dilbagh Singh to the police station. PW-9 stated that Vikram Singh had not told him that he exchanged greetings with Sompal when he had seen Sompal in the company of the deceased. He also stated that during investigation, the informant had not disclosed to him that the accused had confessed their guilt to him. He stated that he had not enquired from anyone at village Rautapur. He denied the suggestion that he did not conduct the investigation properly and prepared a false case.

In his cross-examination at the instance of Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, he stated stated that it is correct that on 03.04.2003 the accused Sanjay Singh had not visited the house of Parminder Singh and that the deceased left his house alone on 03.04.2003. He stated that he does not know whether Parminder and his family members were detained under TADA. He stated that Manju is not the real sister of Sanjay Singh and that he did not interrogate Manju. He stated that he is not aware whether Manju had illicit relations with Parminder Singh. He stated that though the informant had informed him about the ransom call but had not given him the phone number nor he disclosed to him the place from where the phone had come. He also admitted that he had not entered the time when he had recorded the statement of witnesses. He also admitted that in the CD, the signature of the Circle Officer bears no date. He stated that on 06.05.2003, the day Sanjay was arrested, he had left the police station at 8.55 am and had returned next day on 07.05.2003, though he does not remember the time of his return at the police station. He sated that the GD of that police station is not before him therefore he cannot disclose the time of his return. He stated that as many as 8 persons including him had left the police station for investigation on that day. He stated that the day when the accused Sanjay was arrested, they had arrived at Majhgawa via Bisalpur. They arrived there at 12 noon (12 hours). The accused was found in his house. He stated that he had not prepared any arrest memo of Sanjay. He stated that he had not recorded the statement of any villager of that village and that Sanjay did not try to escape when the police had arrived. He stated that Sanjay was arrested at the door of his house and that he is not aware as to who else were present in his house. He stated that Majhgawa must be 50-60 kms away from P.S. Pooranpur. He stated that from Majhgawa they left for P.S. Bilsanda by about 12.15 hours. He stated that from Nirmol Singh's (PW-4's) place of residence, Majhgawa is 40 km away. He stated that the statement of Sanjay Singh was taken at P.S. Bilsanda where he gave information with regard to the body being buried. The spade to dig out the body was picked up from Bilsanda. Whose spade it was, he does not know. The jeep carrying the accused and the person was stopped 70-80 paces away from the spot from where the body was dug out. He admitted that the statement of the people around from where the body was dug out was not recorded.

PW-9 denied the suggestions that the body was not recovered in the manner stated; that the body was found unattended at some other place; and that it was not identified by family members. He also denied the suggestion that the body was decomposed and was not recognisable; he also denied the suggestion that it was not recovered at the instance of Sanjay Singh.

PW-9 stated that from the place from where the body was recovered neither clothes nor shoes or artificial limb was recovered. He denied the suggestion that some other body was got identified as that of Parminder Singh. He also denied the suggestion that Sanjay Singh was called at the police station and by showing a false arrest, a body was got identified. He admitted that the cycle on which Parminder Singh had left his house was not recovered. He denied the suggestion that Ravi Azad had told him that when Parminder's father had enquired from accused Bhooray, the accused Bhooray had stated that Parminder had left. He admitted that he had not recorded the statement of Sukhvinder Singh prior to 01.08.2003. He admitted that Nirmol Singh had not informed him that Parminder had gone to Majhgawa after informing him. He admitted that no photograph of the body was taken as the body has been identified. He denied the suggestion that he is telling lies and that he had presented a false case by fabricating evidence.

STATEMENT OF ACCUSED PERSONS UNDER SECTION 313 CrPC

17. Before noticing the submissions advanced on behalf of the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be useful to have a glimpse at the statement of the accused-appellants, recorded under Section 313 CrPC.

Statement of accused-appellant Sanjay Kumar Singh @ Bhooray.

Sanjay admitted that Parminder Singh (the deceased) was his friend. He stated that he does not know Arvind Kumar (PW-1). He admitted that Manju is his cousin sister but he denied the relationship of Manju with Parminder. He denied that the deceased had visited Majhgawa and that they all had lunch together. He denied that any ransom call was made by him and that he received any money towards it. He denied having made any confessional disclosure. He denied the recovery at his instance and stated that he was called at the police station and falsely implicated by the police. He denied the other incriminating circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution evidence.

Statement of Bare.

He denied that the deceased had come to Rautapur at lunch and denied the other incriminating circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution evidence and stated that that he does not know the informant, the deceased and the other co-accused and that he has no relationship with them.

Statement of Vipin Singh.

He denied the incriminating circumstances appearing against him. He stated that he has been falsely implicated.

Statement of Som Pal Singh.

He denied the incriminating circumstances appearing against him. He stated that the story that the deceased had lunch at his place is absolutely false. He stated that he does not know the informant, the deceased and the other co-accused and that he has been falsely implicated. Interestingly, the incriminating circumstance appearing in the testimony of PW-4 that Sompal had confessed before him was not put to Sompal.

18. The trial court found that the prosecution was successful in proving that the deceased was called by the accused to come over to Majhgawa; the deceased went to Majhgawa; the deceased was killed; despite the deceased being dead, ransom was demanded to cheat PW-4; and the ransom was paid therefore, upon finding the chain of circumstances complete by recovery of the body at the instance of accused Sanjay @ Bhoora, convicted the accused-appellants as above.

19. Having noticed the prosecution case and the entire prosecution evidence as well as the statement of the accused under Section 313 CrPC, we now proceed to notice the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties.

20. We have heard Sri Atul Kumar Shahi, Amicus Curiae, for Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray (the appellant of Criminal Appeal No.1407 of 2007); Sri Abhay Raj Singh for Vipin (the appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1069 of 2007) and Bare (the appellant in Criminal Appeal No.1223 of 2007); and Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned AGA, along with Sri Gaurav Pratap Singh, Brief Holder, for the State in these three appeals and have perused the record carefully.

Submissions on behalf of the appellant Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray

21. Sri Atul Kumar Shahi, learned Amicus Curiae, appearing for the appellant Sanjay, submitted as follows:-

(i) that the first information report is highly belated; that there is no cogent explanation as to why first information report was not lodged when, on 05.04.2003, the informant received a ransom call. Even no missing report was lodged on 05.04.2003 when the accused, as per the own allegation of the informant, had informed the informant that the deceased though had come but had left without leaving any information. Further, there was no reason to wait for lodging the first information report after 18.04.2003 when the ransom of Rs.50,000/- was allegedly paid but the deceased was not returned. The lodging of the first information report on 02.05.2003 i.e. after 15 days of having paid the ransom amount, with no result, clearly suggests that there is no merit in the prosecution story and the same is imaginary and baseless.

(ii) That, admittedly, no witness of village Majhgawa was interrogated to ascertain whether the deceased arrived at Majhgawa and was seen with the accused at Majhgawa.

(iii) That the story that the accused and the deceased had lunch together on 04.04.2003 is not supported by any evidence except the confessional statement of the accused-appellant, which has no legal value.

(iv) That, admittedly, description of the phone through which, and on which, the ransom call was made and received has not been disclosed either during the course of investigation or in the testimony of PW-4, therefore, the story in respect of receipt of ransom call is rendered unacceptable for withholding best evidence.

(v) That the arrangement of Rs.50,000/- to pay to the accused is stated to have been made by borrowing the amount from another person but that other person has not been examined to prove that any such amount was lent to the informant, which clearly suggests that the story of payment of ransom amount is bogus.

(vi) That the story of payment of ransom amount is also bogus for the reason that if Rs.50,000/- had been paid on the date as alleged by the informant and the deceased was not produced or handed over or released as stated by the informant, there was no occasion to wait for 15 days more to lodge the first information report.

(vii) That the story that an effort was made to lodge the report at P.S. Bilsanda on 05.04.2003 is totally bereft of proof as PW-7 has categorically stated that PW-4 had never come to P.S. Bilsanda to lodge a report prior to the lodging of the first information report, which was lodged on 04.05.2003.

(viii) That the recovery of the body at the pointing out of the appellant is nothing but bogus and it is fabricated. The recovery is totally unreliable and cannot be taken as an incriminating circumstance for the following reasons:

(a) that there is no arrest memo prepared by PW-9 (I.O.) to disclose the date and time of the arrest of the accused-appellant Sanjay;

(b) that no independent witness of the recovery has been examined;

(c) that the presence of the informant at the time and place of recovery makes the recovery doubtful. Notably, the disclosure statement of the accused-appellant Sanjay Singh was recorded at P.S. Bilsanda after his arrest. According to the prosecution, the arrest was made at 12 hours; at 12.15 hours the accused was brought to the lock up at P.S. Bilsanda and, thereafter, his statement was recorded of which GD entry was made at 12.50 hours. Meaning thereby that between 12.50 hours and the time by which the recovery was made, which is stated to be at 3 pm, there was hardly two hours gap and in that short interval the informant, who is stated to be a resident of village Jamuniya Jagatpur under P.S. Pooranpur, had arrived at the spot to witness the recovery. This shows that he had prior information that recovery is to take place. Hence, the recovery in absence of examination of independent witnesses is totally unreliable.

(d) Neither the inquest report nor the autopsy report indicates that the body carried soil/mud/sand on any of its part even though, the body is stated to have been buried 4-5 feet deep beneath the surface of a canal where the mud/soil was wet/moist as per the prosecution evidence. Interestingly, the photograph of the body was also not taken to record its condition under the pretext that the body had been identified. All of this clearly suggests that either the body was not identifiable or the body was not recovered in the manner and from the spot as alleged. Further, the doctor, who carried out the autopsy, deposed that if the body had been dug out from beneath the surface of a canal, the presence of mud/soil/sand would have been noticed, if present. All of this would suggest that the recovery is nothing but bogus and the entire prosecution case has been developed on suspicion because the informant believed that the deceased had left for Majhgawa and from there he went missing.

(ix) That the motive for the crime is also not substantiated as the crucial witness, namely, Manju, was neither interrogated nor examined. Further, Manju was admittedly a widow and the relationship of the deceased with Manju, according to the own story of PW-4, had been there for quite a while therefore, there was no reason as to why this should trigger emotions of the accused to kill the deceased.

(x) Lastly, it was submitted, the doctor who opined that death could be a consequence of strangulation had found the hyoid bone intact and there were no noticeable ante mortem injury, thus, there was no ground to assume that death was homicidal. Hence, there was no basis to convict the appellant for the offence of murder.

Submissions on behalf of the appellants Vipin and Bare

22. Sri Abhay Raj Singh, learned counsel appearing for the appellants, Bare and Vipin, submitted that except for the confessional statement of the co-accused made to the police, there is no worthwhile evidence against them; nothing incriminating has been recovered from them or at their instance; that, admittedly, the ransom call was not made by them and no ransom money was paid to them and, therefore, their conviction is liable to be set aside.

23. It be noted that the appeal of Som Pal was abated therefore, no submissions were made on his behalf.

Submissions on behalf of the State

24. Sri J.K. Upadhyay and Sri Gaurav Pratap Singh, who have appeared for the State, submitted that in matters of abduction where negotiation for ransom takes place, a prompt first information report is rarely made therefore, the prosecution story is not to be doubted merely on the ground that there has been a delay in lodging the first information report. They submitted that this is a case where the prosecution has succeeded in proving that Manju, a widow and cousin of the appellant Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray, who resided at Majhgawa, had relationship with the deceased and that the deceased and Sanjay Singh were close friends; the deceased went on 03.04.2003 from home stating that he is going to Majhgawa; on 05.04.2003 the informant party visited Majhgawa where the accused Sanjay Singh and other villagers admitted that the deceased Parminder Singh had come to Majhgawa and that on 04.04.2003 they all had lunch together at accused Sompal's place at Rautapur and, thereafter, the deceased was not seen alive. They submitted that it is proved by the prosecution that a demand was raised by the accused Sanjay Singh and, pursuant to that demand, Rs.50,000/- was paid to Sanjay Singh yet, after receipt of that amount, Sanjay Singh did not fulfill his promise to return the deceased. The informant is a farmer who under expectation that his son would return alive, kept waiting for his son to return alive and when his son did not return, he lodged the report giving the details of what had happened. In such circumstances, the prosecution story with regard to murder of the deceased by the accused and thereafter cheating the informant of Rs.50,000/- under false promise of bringing back the deceased, has a ring of truth about it which finds corroboration from the recovery of the dead body at the pointing out of accused appellant Sanjay Singh. They also submitted that since recovery of the dead body has been proved and the body was dug out from a canal, the knowledge of the place from where the body was dug out is a clinching circumstance which no one else than the person who buried the body could have had therefore, the trial court rightly convicted the appellant Sanjay Singh and other accused who had joined hands with accused Sanjay. Learned AGA also submitted that since the doctor had opined that the deceased was strangulated and the body of the deceased was in a decomposed state therefore, absence of noticeable ante-mortem injuries by themselves would not rule out a case of homicide. More so, when the deceased was a young and healthy person. Thus, in absence of any explanation as to in what manner the deceased died, the court was justified in concluding that the deceased was killed and buried by the accused to remove the evidence of murder. Hence, the conviction of the appellants is justified under section 364, 302/34 and 201 IPC and since the informant was duped of Rs.50,000/-, the conviction under Section 420 IPC is also justified. They, accordingly, prayed that all the appeals be dismissed and the conviction recorded by the trial court be upheld.

25. Before proceeding further we must remind ourselves that this a case where there is no direct evidence of the crime. It is a case based on circumstantial evidence. In a case based on circumstantial evidence as to when conviction can be recorded, law is well settled by the Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC 116 where, in paragraph 153, it was observed:-

"153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:
(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra (1973) 2 SCC 793 where the following observations were made:

"19. .....Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,
(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

26. A three-judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Shatrughna Baban Meshram Vs. State of Maharashtra (2021) 1 SCC 596 reiterating the legal principles set out in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (supra), in para 42, observed:-

".....42. Before we deal with the second submission on sentence, it must be observed that as laid down by this Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra [(1984) 4 SCC 116], a case based on circumstantial evidence has to face strict scrutiny. Every circumstance from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must be fully established; the circumstances should be conclusive in nature and tendency; they must form a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused; and such chain of circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and must exclude every possible hypothesis except the one sought to be proved by the prosecution. The decision in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda V. State of Maharashtra [(1984) 4 SCC 116] had noted the consistent view on the point including the decision of this Court in Hanumant v. State of M.P. [1952 SCR 1091] in which a bench of three judges of this Court had ruled (AIR pp 345-46, para 10):-

"10. It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established, and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

27. In light of the legal principles noticed above, we shall now evaluate the prosecution evidence to consider, inter alia, firstly, whether the incriminating circumstances were fully established and, secondly, whether they form a chain so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and whether it shows that in all human probability the act was done by the accused.

28. In the instant case, there are certain circumstances as regards which there is no serious dispute therefore, they may be treated as proved. These are : (i) the deceased Parminder was son of the informant (PW-4); (ii) the deceased and accused Sanjay @ Bhooray were friends and were on visiting terms with each other; (iii) Sanjay @ Bhooray had a widow cousin named Manju; (iv) the deceased resided with his father and other family members in village Jamunia Jagatpur, which falls in territorial jurisdiction of P.S. Pooranpur whereas the accused: (a) Sanjay and Vipin resided in village Majhgawa, (b) Bare resided in village Bhedan Kanja and (c) Som Pal Singh resided in village Rautapur, all falling under P.S. Bilsanda; (v) the deceased left his home on 03.04.2003 and went missing thereafter; (vi) FIR dated 02.05.2003 was lodged by PW-4, father of the deceased, through a written report addressed to Superintendent of Police Pilibhit, which was registered on 04.05.2003 at P.S. Bilsanda but was marked for investigation by P.S. Pooranpur; (vii) the FIR made allegations that the deceased has been abducted and secreted by the accused; (viii) the FIR suggests twin motive for the crime: (a) ransom; and (b) relationship of Parminder (the deceased) with Manju, a cousin of Sanjay @ Bhooray, which was not palatable to Sanjay @ Bhooray; and (ix) a decomposed body was recovered on 06.05.2003, which was claimed to be of the deceased.

29. Before we proceed to evaluate the prosecution evidence in light of the rival submissions, it would be worthwhile to notice the key features of the prosecution case/evidence with our observations in brief. These are:

(a) The accused Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray and Parminder Singh (the deceased) were friends. Their friendship is admitted by the accused Sanjay Singh in his statement under Section 313 CrPC.

(b) Parminder Singh allegedly went from home on 03.04.2003. When Parminder Singh left his house on 03.04.2003, Sanjay Singh or any of the other accused were not there and they did not accompany him.

(c) The evidence that Parminder Singh, after parking his cycle at the shop of Arvind (PW-1), went to Majhgawa is not proved by any direct evidence or by call detail records of the deceased. The only evidence in that regard is statement of the deceased to the witnesses that he was going to Majhgawa and the statement of prosecution witnesses that when they visited Majhgawa to inquire about the deceased, on inquiry, on 05.04.2003, the accused had admitted that the deceased had come to Majhgawa and that they all had lunch together at Som Pal's place in village Rautapur on 04.04.2003.

(d) The evidence of the deceased Parminder Singh last seen in the company of the accused is provided by Vikram Singh (PW-5). Vikram Singh (PW-5) admits that his statement was recorded by the I.O. on 18.06.2003. Notably, PW-5 admitted that from newspaper reports he was aware from before that the deceased Parminder Singh had gone missing. Further, Vikram Singh was brought by PW-4 (the informant) to the investigating officer for getting his statement recorded under section 161 CrPC. PW-5 admits that he was on visiting terms with Kashmir Singh who is a neighbour of the informant (PW-4). All of this would suggest that PW-4 and Vikram Singh knew each other from before and if the deceased was actually noticed by him in the company of the accused soon before his disappearance, and there had been newspaper reports of deceased's disappearance, there was no occasion for PW-5 not to report the incriminating circumstance of last seen, earlier, to PW-4 or to the police. Further, PW-5's testimony does not specify the date on which he saw the deceased in the company of the accused appellants on a Tonga and going towards Bhedan Kanja. Thus, in our considered view, the evidence of last seen rendered by PW-5, firstly, is not wholly trustworthy and, secondly, is inconclusive.

(e) The investigation of this case, under the order of the Superintendent of Police, Pilibhit, was carried out by police of police station Pooranpur and not by police of police station Bilsanda where the case was registered. Admittedly, the house of the informant falls in the territorial jurisdiction of police station Pooranpur. Notably, on the date the body of the deceased was allegedly recovered, the I.O. of the case had left police station Pooranpur early morning at 8.50 am to go to Majhgawa i.e. the residence of accused Sanjay. As per evidence, the police team of P.S. Pooranpur arrived in two Jeeps. One was a police Jeep, the other was private. According to the I.O. (PW-9), he arrived there at about 12.00 noon and arrested Sanjay from his house. Admittedly, no arrest memo was prepared. PW-9 states that after his arrest Sanjay was brought to P.S. Bilsanda where he made a confessional disclosure and, thereafter, they left P.S. Bilsanda to effect recovery of the body. The GD entry of P.S. Bilsanda shows that at 12.50 hours, the police team on the disclosure made, left the police station to effect recovery on the basis of the disclosure made by the accused appellant Sanjay Singh. As per the prosecution evidence, the body was dug out by about 3 pm and by that time the informant had arrived there at the spot. The body is stated to have been dug out from the bottom of the canal after digging about four feet. But neither the inquest report nor the post mortem report shows any sign of mud/sand on any of the orifices of the body or in the eye orbits and, admittedly, the photograph of the body has not been taken. No doubt, the defence has sought to challenge the identity of the body by claiming that it was unidentifiable but the defence has not challenged that the deceased was amputated from below elbow joint of right arm and the body recovered had no right arm from below elbow joint as is recited in the inquest report. Further, suggestions were put to prosecution witnesses that the body could be identified only because of that portion of the arm missing. Thus, in our view, the prosecution was successful in proving that the body was of Parminder Singh (the deceased).

(f) The prosecution failed to examine any independent witness of that recovery. What is also noticeable from the recovery /confession memo (Ex. Ka-13) that minus the confession part it is a replica of the FIR allegations.

30. Ordinarily in a case based on direct ocular account of the crime, the existence of motive is not of much importance but where a case is based on circumstantial evidence, motive assumes importance and at times serves as a vital link to the chain of circumstances because, absence of a motive may serve as a catalyst to strengthen the alternative hypothesis, if there is a room for any, consistent with the innocence of the accused. In the instant case, the prosecution set up twin motive for the crime. One was ransom and the other was annoyance of Sanjay @ Bhooray with the deceased on account of his relationship with Manju i.e. cousin of Sanjay @ Bhooray. In so far as the latter is concerned, admittedly, Manju was a widow and the deceased was unmarried. In such circumstances, if the deceased wanted to marry Manju whether it would be a strong motive for the crime is anybody's guess. Further, from the testimony of PW-4 we have noticed that the brothers and father of Manju raised no objection to this relationship. But, assuming that the accused party was annoyed on that score and this annoyance was known to the informant then, if the deceased had gone to Sanjay's place after informing the informant and had not returned thereafter, there would have been a prompt report because of the underlying suspicion of an untoward event. But, here, there was no missing report or FIR. It is only after a month of the deceased having gone missing, the report was lodged. To explain this delay, it appears to us, the story was developed that a ransom call was received from Sanjay Singh and negotiations were on to settle for an amount to secure release of the deceased. This story does not appeal to us for the reason that had there been a ransom call by Sanjay, and Sanjay had denied making the ransom call on 05.04.2003, as is alleged by PW-4, there would have been a prompt report as, after denial by Sanjay, the caller's identity became uncertain. PW-4 tries to explain this by saying that he tried to lodge a report but it was not taken. This statement has no basis. In fact, PW-7 has stated that PW-4 never came to the police station Bilsanda to lodge a report. Assuming that PW-4 had gone to P.S. Bilsanda to lodge a report but the same was not taken, why PW-4 made no effort to lodge a report at P.S. Pooranpur, more so when the deceased had gone missing from within its jurisdiction, is inexplicable. Therefore, the delay in lodging the report after 05.04.2003 seems inexplicable. Further, if the ransom amount was resettled and paid on 18.04.2003, yet, the deceased was not returned, there was no occasion to wait till 02.05.2003 to lodge a report.

31. In Mukesh and another Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) (2017) 6 SCC 1, a three judges Bench of the Supreme Court, in para 50 of its judgment, observed as under:-

"50. Delay in setting the law into motion by lodging of complaint in court or FIR at police station is normally viewed by courts with suspicion because there is possibility of concoction of evidence against an accused. Therefore, it becomes necessary for the prosecution to satisfactorily explain the delay. Whether the delay is so long as to throw a cloud of suspicion on the case of the prosecution would depend upon a variety of factors. Even a long delay can be condoned if the informant has no motive for implicating the accused."

32. Ordinarily, in matters relating to kidnapping or abduction for ransom, victim party awaits return of the kidnapee or abductee for fear or danger to his or her life therefore, in such matters, mere delay in setting the law into motion may not prove fatal to the prosecution story. But where hope of return of the abductee disappears, delay in lodging the report would, in absence of plausible explanation, raise suspicion as regards the credibility of the prosecution story. In the instant case, the prosecution story is in three parts, namely, (a) pre receipt of ransom call; (b) post receipt of ransom call; and (c) post payment of ransom. Not lodging the report till receipt of ransom call has explanation to the effect that the deceased often used to be out for days therefore, his not returning back did not raise suspicion. Ransom call was received on 05.04.2003. According to PW-4, the caller for ransom, as per his belief, was Sanjay @ Bhooray therefore, he went to Majhgawa to confirm. Notably, on 05.04.2003 the informant was informed by Sanjay that he never made that ransom call and the informant was also informed that the accused persons were not aware as to where the deceased went after having lunch on 04.04.2003. In such a scenario, the delay in lodging report after 05.04.2003 required a plausible explanation. The explanation given was that information was given at P.S. Bilsanda in the evening of 05.04.2003, upon which, Sanjay @ Bhooray was called but, after enquiry he was let off. Yet, no formal report was lodged. Interestingly, P.W.-7, constable posted at P.S. Bilsanda, during cross-examination, stated that PW-1 never came to P.S. Bilsanda before registration of the FIR. Notably, PW-4 also states during cross examination that he had not given any written application at P.S. Bilsanda. Even in the written report (Ex. Ka-1) dated 02.05.2003 there is no disclosure about any written information given earlier. This would suggest that the explanation for not lodging the report earlier is not credible. Further, if, allegedly, ransom was paid on 18.04.2003 to Sanjay @ Bhooray on a promise that he would secure the release of the deceased and, after payment of ransom, deceased was not released and no further promise was allegedly extended, there was no plausible reason not to report the matter promptly. The explanation that PW-1 waited thereafter under the expectation that his son might be released does not inspire our confidence. More so, because PW-1 did not disclose the phone number from where the ransom call was made. He also did not disclose the phone number on which the call was made. Most importantly, PW-4 states that ransom money of Rs. 50,000/- was arranged from his maternal uncle Gurbux Singh but that was not disclosed during investigation and, admittedly, Gurbux Singh was not produced as a witness to enable us to be satisfied about the authenticity of the story. Further, there is no corroboratory recovery of the cash. Thus, for all the reasons above, the inordinate delay in lodging the FIR shrouds the prosecution story with suspicion as regards demand and payment of ransom.

33. As we have already discarded PW-5 i.e. the witness of last seen circumstance (vide para 29 (d) above), what remains is the testimony of PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 in respect of going to Majhgawa to enquire about the deceased. The witnesses do state that the accused party admitted that the deceased had come to Majhgawa and that they had lunch with him on 04.04.2003 at Som Pal's place at Rautapur, but this circumstance is denied by the accused persons in their statement under Section 313 CrPC. No witness of that village has been examined to confirm deceased's presence at Majhgawa. No call detail records are available to show deceased's presence with the accused. Under these circumstances, when the FIR was so delayed, it is difficult for us to hold that the prosecution was successful in proving beyond reasonable doubt that the deceased had come to Majhgawa on 3/4.04.2003. The statement of cycle stand owner (PW-1) that the deceased had parked his cycle with him to go to Majhgawa does not inspire our confidence at all, firstly, because why would the decease travel to that place (Pooranpur) on a cycle when he had a motorcycle and could go to Majhgawa directly and, secondly, even if he had parked his motorcycle, why would the decease tell the cycle stand owner as to whose house he had to go. When we notice these circumstances in conjunction with introduction of his name in the FIR lodged on 4.5.2003, when it was not necessary to disclose, it appears to us, that PW-1 is a witness set up on legal advise to provide a link evidence. We, therefore, do not propose to rely on PW-1 to lend credence to the prosecution story of the deceased visiting Majhgawa on 03.04.2003. We may hasten to clarify that we do not rule out the possibility of PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4 visiting Majhgawa to enquire about the deceased as, admittedly, Sanjay @ Bhooray was friend of the deceased and the deceased and Sanjay were on visiting terms. We also do not rule out the possibility of PW-4 suspecting Sanjay @ Bhooray having a hand in his son's disappearance, perhaps, on information that the deceased had an eye on Sanjay @ Bhooray's cousin. But it is well settled that suspicion cannot take the place of proof. Once this the position, the only worthwhile circumstance that remains is of recovery.

34. In so far as recovery of the body of the deceased at the instance of Sanjay @ Bhooray is concerned, it is stated to have been made by a police team comprising members of two police stations (namely, Pooranpur and Bilsanda), headed by PW-9, the Investigating Officer, who was from P.S. Pooranpur. Notably, the investigation of the case was marked by Superintendent of Police of the district to the police of P.S. Pooranpur. The FIR was registered on 04.05.2003 and two days later, the I.O. (PW-9) comes to Majhgawa and straight away arrests Sanjay @ Bhooray. PW-9 (I.O.) makes no inquiry from the villagers at Majhgawa as to whether they had seen the deceased at Majhgawa or not. PW-9 makes no inquiry from any of the villagers at Rautapur, where the deceased allegedly had his last meal. Yet, PW-9, straightaway arrests the appellant Sanjay and proceeds to record his disclosure statement and effect the recovery. Although we cannot rely on confessional part of the disclosure as contained in Ex. Ka-13 but to understand the story set out by the prosecution we have read it, which reflects the same story as in the FIR. As per that confession, the murder was committed because of abusive expletives used by Parminder for Manju. Confession suggests that ransom call was made to deflect suspicion. What assumes importance here is that if Sanjay @ Bhooray had been smart enough to bury the deceased to remove the evidence and to have made ransom call to hoodwink the informant with regard to the real motive for the crime, why would he make disclosure/ confession within 15 minutes of interrogation as noted in paragraph 29 (e) above. Notably, in his statement under section 313 CrPC, Sanjay has denied making any disclosure or confessional statement and has challenged the recovery as fabricated and bogus.

35. The prosecution did not examine a single independent witness either of the recovery or of the inquest. The recovery is proved only by police witnesses and the informant whose presence appears questionable at the time of the recovery and, in fact, casts a shadow on the disclosure statement being the basis of the recovery. Because, unless and until the informant was made aware, well in advance, that the body is about to be recovered, he would not have been able to arrive at the spot being resident of another village, which was far away from the spot. Notably, according to the prosecution evidence, the investigating team left early morning at 8.50 am to go to Majhgawa. What is interesting to note is that the informant (PW-4) resides within the jurisdiction of police station Pooranpur and the I.O. was of P.S. Pooranpur even though the case was registered at P.S. Bilsanda therefore, the speed with which arrest was made, followed with the disclosure and the recovery, coupled with presence of informant at the spot, all within a span of couple of hours, creates suspicion regarding the entire exercise being genuine. According to PW-9, police team reached Majhgawa on 6.5.2003 at about 12 noon. They arrested Sanjay @ Bhooray and brought him to P.S. Bilsanda. Notably, no arrest memorandum was prepared. At P.S. Bilsanda, disclosure statement was made and at 12.50 hours, the police team left the police station Bilsanda with the accused Sanjay to effect recovery. Assuming that the information that the accused has been arrested got percolated to the informant (PW-4) and on that information he arrived at Bhedan Kanja, which is 40 km away from his place, what attracts our attention is the alacrity with which the disclosure was made, as if, the accused was waiting to confess and cooperate. When we see all of this in the context of the fact that the police made no effort to record the statement of villagers of Majhgawa and Rautapur and had straight away proceeded to arrest the accused, record his confession and effect recovery of the body of the deceased, despite the fact that in the preceding one month no lead could be had about the deceased, we get a strong feeling that the entire exercise was stage managed. Our doubt gets fortified by the circumstance that no independent witness of that recovery is examined by the prosecution. This doubt is further fortified by the fact that the body recovered is not photographed. In addition to that, the autopsy surgeon noticed that the body carried no mud/ soil/ sand even though, the body was recovered from about 4 feet below the surface of the bottom of a canal which, in ordinary course, would carry sufficient moisture to make the mud stick around the body. Noticeably, the autopsy surgeon (PW-6) was questioned on this aspect and he had stated that if the body had been dug out from the bottom of a canal, presence of mud would have been noticed but there was no such mud noticed by him . For all the reasons above, the recovery of the body on the disclosure statement of the accused Sanjay @ Bhooray is rendered extremely doubtful and there is a strong probability that information about the body might have been received from some source and its recovery was ascribed to the accused Sanjay @ Bhooray.

36. Once we discard the recovery, nothing much remains in the prosecution evidence. On the analysis above, it appears to be a case where the informant's son went missing. The informant was under the impression that his son had gone to Majhgawa. Informant strongly suspected that Sanjay Singh was involved in his son's disappearance. As the informant had no proof, he kept waiting. It is possible that he might have been given assurances by the accused that they would help him in tracing out his son. But when things did not materialise, it appears the prosecution story was developed on strong suspicion and guess-work. But it is well settled howsoever strong suspicion might be it cannot take the place of proof. It is equally well settled that when a reasonable doubt arises with regard to the prosecution story /the prosecution evidence, the benefit doubt would have to be extended to the accused. In the instant case, for all the reasons recorded above, since the prosecution story and the prosecution evidence do not inspire our confidence, we have no option but to extend the benefit of doubt to the appellant Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray. As regards other appellants, namely, Bare and Vipin, we find that there is no worthwhile evidence against them. Notably, the evidence of the deceased being last seen with the accused appellants on a Tonga by PW-5 has already been discarded by us above (vide para 29 (d)).

37. In view of the discussion above, all the appellants are entitled to be acquitted. Consequently, all the three appeals are allowed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court is set aside. The appellants are acquitted of the charge for which they have been tried and convicted. The appellants Bare and Vipin are reported to be on bail, they need not surrender, subject to compliance of the provisions of Section 437-A CrPC. The appellant Sanjay Singh @ Bhooray is reported to be in jail. He shall be released forthwith from jail, unless wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of the provisions of Section 437-A CrPC to the satisfaction of the trial court.

38. Let a copy of this order be certified to the court below along with the record for information and compliance.

THE HON'BLE MRS. SUNITA AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE VIKAS KUNVAR SRIVASTAV, J.

Criminal Appeal No.1703 of 1989

Jiut & Anr . ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Siddhartha Shukla, Sri Dinesh Kumar Pandey, Sri Ronak Chaturvedi (A.C.)

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A., A.G.A.

(A) Criminal Law - Appeal against conviction - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 read with Section 34 - The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 161 - circumstantial evidence - no eye-witness account - duty of the prosecution to prove all the circumstances to form a complete chain unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused-appellants - leaving all reasonable hypothesis of a third person entering into the scene of the crime - circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established, "must" and "should" and not "may be" established - each and every circumstance brought in the chain of circumstance by the prosecution should be fully established beyond all reasonable doubt. (Para -23)

Appellant no. 1 died - appeal abated - Sole surviving appellant is appellant no. 2 - information given by village Chaukidar (P.W.3) about deceased - stated that village Pradhan (P.W.4 , witness of inquest, chance witness) had suspicion about the reason of the death - statement in the inquest - deceased was a patient of Tuberculosis (T.B.) - body found inside the room in the house of deceased - no visible injury seen on dead body - No recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth brought on record - presence of child witness (PW-5, son of deceased) at the time of incident - doubtful . (Para - 3,4,5,16,44)

(B) Criminal Law - appreciation of the testimony of a child witness - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 - competence of the persons to testify which also includes a child witness - while assessing evidence of child witness - Court must carefully observe his/her demeanor to eliminate likelihood of tutoring - rule of prudence - desirable to see corroboration of evidence of a child witness from other reliable witness on record - Court can rely upon the testimony of a child witness, if the same is credible, truthful and is corroborated by other evidence brought on record - child witness (PW-5, son of deceased) could not be found to be trustworthy and his testimony cannot be read in favour of the prosecution. (Para - 18,20)

(C) Criminal Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 106 - last seen theory –

last seen alive - not prudent to base the conviction solely on "last seen theory" - duty of the prosecution to prove the evidence of last seen beyond all reasonable doubt by the testimony of a witness who is truthful, consistent and free from embellishments - held - prosecution failed to establish beyond reasonable doubt and the presence of PW-1 near the place of the incident on the fateful night so as to establish that PW-1 was the witness of last seen of the accused coming out of the house of the deceased while he was standing outside the house of P.W. 2 (witness of last seen).(Para -23,24,40)

(D) Criminal Law - motive of commission of crime – civil dispute - Mere pendency of a civil suit between the deceased and the accused persons cannot be said to be a strong motive so as to treat it as a circumstance fully established for commission of the crime - Mere narration of motive in a case of circumstantial evidence without bringing anything further to prove the same cannot be taken as a circumstance to establish the case of the prosecution. (Para - 36,)

(E) Criminal Law - suspicion cannot take the place of proof and even if the circumstances on record is a pointer to a strong suspicion, it in itself is not sufficient to lead to the conclusion that the guilt of the accused stands established beyond reasonable doubt - mode of appreciation of evidence - presumption of innocence - criminal trial is not like a fairy tale wherein one in free to give flight to one's imagination and phantasy - if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favorable to the accused should be adopted – finding with regard to testimony of PW-1 and PW-4 - based on conjectures and surmises - trial court did not evaluate statement of PW-1 independently - not based on proper appreciation of the evidence on record - rather more out of the own imagination or belief of the trial court. (Para-48,52)

HELD:- Prosecution failed to establish the guilt of the accused-appellant (Brij Kishor) , beyond all reasonable doubt. Benefit of doubt goes to accused-appellant. (Para - 53)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Raunak Chaturvedi, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant Brij Kishor and Sri Rupak Chaubey, learned AGA for the State-respondent.

2. The present appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 4th August, 1989 passed by the Ist Additional District & Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur in Sessions Trial No. 189 of 1987 whereby two appellants herein namely Jiut and Brij Kishor were convicted for the offence punishable under Section 302 readwith Section 34 IPC and sentenced for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1000/- each.

3. At the outset, we may note that the appellant no. 1 Jiut had died during the pendency of the present appeal and the appeal has been abated on his behalf by the order dated 16.7.2019.

Sole surviving appellant is appellant no. 2 namely Brij Kishor who is lodged in the District Jail, Gorakhpur since 21.8.2019 in execution of the non-bailable warrant, as is evident from the report dated 31.8.2019 submitted by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gorakhpur.

We are, therefore, considering this appeal only on behalf of the appellant no. 2 Brij Kishor.

4. The prosecution story began with an information given by the village Chaukidar namely Nihor on 30.3.1986 at about 7:05 AM at the Police Station Maharajganj, District Gorakhpur about death of one Pitamber, the deceased herein, resident of village Parsameer, P.S. Maharajganj, District Gorakhpur. The said information provided by the Village Chaukidar was entered in the GD Rapat No. 5 at about 7:05 AM as proved by PW-8, as Exhibit Ka-9. PW-8 further proved that he was posted on the fateful day as Head Moharrir, Police Station Maharajganj and on the receipt of the postmortem report in the police station, case under Section 302 IPC was lodged on 1.4.1986 and entered in the GD as Rapat No. 27 dated 1.4.1986 at 20:45 Hours. The original GD was brought in the Court and the carbon copy thereof was proved as Exhibit Ka-10. The inquest of the dead body was conducted on 30.3.1986, commenced at about 10:30 AM and ended at 12:00 Noon. As per the statement in the inquest, deceased Pitamber was a patient of Tuberculosis (T.B.); the body was found inside the room in the house of Pitamber; no visible injury was seen on the dead body. Black colour blood was oozing out of the mouth and spread on both sides towards the ears of the deceased. The inquest report was proved by PW-7, the Sub-Inspector posted in the Police Station Maharajganj, being in his handwriting and signature as Exhibit Ka-8. In cross, PW-7 stated that the village Pradhan Ram Preet Singh was a witness of the inquest which is evident from the report itself.

5. At this juncture, we may also note the statement of PW-8, in cross, wherein he stated that the village Chaukidar Nihor while giving information of the death of Pitamber stated that village Pradhan had suspicion about the reason of the death.

6. The other documentary evidence on record are the Supurdiginama of torch seized from the witness PW-1 Ram Preet. The memo of recovery dated 2.4.1986 was proved by PW-6, the Investigating Officer as Exhibit Ka-2, being in his handwriting and signature. Another memo of recovery dated 2.4.1986 is about the recovery of blood soaked vest of Mitthu son of Pitamber which had been proved as Exhibit Ka-3, being in the handwriting and signature of PW-6. The postmortem report proved in the handwriting and signature of Doctor C.P. Singh (PW-9) is Exhibit Ka-

11. The ante-mortem injuries found on the person of the deceased Pitamber are as under:-

"1) Faint brown colour patch on right side of laryngical prominance 1.75 cm x 1.5 cm.

2) Faint brown colour patch coupled with irregular margin on left side of laryingical prominance measuring 5cm x 2.5 cm.

On internal examination of the body, brain and its membranes were found congested. Blood was found in subcutaneous walls and muscles of neck on front side. Pleura was adharent to the chest wall. The hyoid bone and thyroid cartilage were found fractured. The trachea was filled with frothy blood. The lungs were congested. Heart was empty and the buccal cavity was full of frothy blood. Digested food was found in the stomach. Intestines and bladder were empty. Spleen and kidneys were congested. In the opinion of the doctor, the death had occurred about 18 hours before the postmortem examination was conducted and the cause of death was asphyxia due to throttling. It was opined by the doctor that the death could occur in the night of 29/30.3.1986.

7. The Investigating Officer had entered in the witness-box as PW-6 and proved the reports prepared by him. In the cross examination, he stated that the vest of Mitthu son of the deceased was sent for forensic examination but report was not received till submission of the charge sheet. He also proved that the charge sheet was submitted by him after completion of the investigation as Exhibit Ka-4.

The formal witnesses, thus, proved the reports prepared by them during the course of investigation and medical examination.

8. Challenging the conviction by the trial court, it is argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that the star witness of the prosecution is the child witness (PW-5) who had been discredited by the trial court. PW-2 one witness of last seen had been declared hostile and he did not support the case of the prosecution at all. The remaining witnesses PW-1 and PW-4 had been relied by the trial court to convict the appellant. The findings returned by the trial court that the witness of last seen (PW-1) told the Gram Pradhan who entered in the witness-box as PW-4 about witnessing the accused persons coming out from the house of the deceased and that fact by itself was sufficient to record conviction, is based on conjectures and surmises. The evidence of PW-4 is a hearsay evidence, the only evidence of last seen on the testimony of PW-1 was not sufficient to hold the appellants guilty of commission of the crime. In any case, the prosecution has failed to form a complete chain of circumstances, each one to be proved beyond reasonable doubt, so as to bring home the guilt of the accused persons namely the appellant herein. In any case, burden of proving its case beyond all reasonable doubt lies on the prosecution and the onus to offer explanation upon the appellant would shift only in case, the prosecution has been able to prove the guilt of the accused/appellant herein beyond reasonable doubt. The trial court has erred in shifting onus upon the accused persons namely the appellant herein to offer explanation as to why they were present in the house of the deceased on the fateful night, when the prosecution has not been able to prove the presence of PW-1 at the place wherefrom he allegedly seen the accused persons, beyond reasonable doubt.

Reliance is placed on the decision of the Apex Court in Suresh and another vs. State of Haryana1 to assert that PW-1 being a chance witness, his testimony requires a very cautious and close scrutiny. The behaviour of PW-1 subsequent to the incident as he remained out of scene for a period of more than two days and had entered only at the instance of Gram Pradhan (PW-4) raise suspicion on his presence. The contention is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Harbeer Singh vs. Sheeshpal and others2.

9. Further on the question of motive, it is submitted that the motive assigned by the prosecution for commission of the crime is too weak. Mere pendency of a civil suit in the civil court between the deceased and the accused persons cannot be said to be a motive strong enough for committing such a ghastly crime. At worst, it raises strong suspicion against the accused. The suspicion, however, so strong cannot take the place of proof and cannot be the basis of conviction. Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Bhagwan Singh and others vs. State of M.P.3.

It is then argued that the Investigating Officer did not collect incriminating material from the spot of the incident so as to prove the presence of the child witness in the house at the time of the occurrence. It was a blind murder of the deceased and the accused persons namely the appellant herein had been implicated only on the suspicion raised by the villagers because of the pendency of the civil suit between the deceased and the accused persons.

The role of the Gram Pradhan in the entire sequence of events is more of an investigator and prosecutor rather than a truthful independent witness.

10. Learned AGA, in rebuttal, argued that the evidence of last seen and the motive brought by the prosecution are clinching. The dead body was found in the house. The incident was of night. The fracture of hyoid bone found in the medical evidence is clearly suggestive of the homicidal death. The presence of the accused person namely the appellant herein, at the scene of the crime clearly established the guilt of the appellants. There is no suggestion of enmity of the Gram Pradhan. The hostile witness was contradicted with his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., wherein he also proved the presence of accused persons near the scene of the crime. Delay in recording Section 161 Cr.P.C. statement of the prosecution witnesses would not be fatal to the prosecution case. In the instant case, the factum of homicidal death came into knowledge only after the postmortem was conducted as there was no sign of injury nor any weapon was used as per the postmortem report. The GD was converted on 1.4.2006 and the case under Section 302 IPC was lodged though the accused remained unknown. The delay, if any, in recording statement of the prosecution witnesses stood explained with the GD entry dated 1.4.2006. The motive stated by the prosecution is admitted to the accused persons and in absence of any dispute about the same, it is a reason of strong suspicion which can be brought in the category of motive to commit the crime. The chain of circumstances has been completed by the prosecution with the relevant circumstance of last seen and motive which are clinching in the incident. The evidence brought by the prosecution cannot be discarded on any suggestion given by the defence.

It is argued on behalf of the prosecution that the lacuna shown in the prosecution evidence is not such which would create a reasonable doubt in the minds of the Court. As the cogent evidence of prosecution witnesses cannot be discarded only on the doubt raised by the Court, inasmuch as, the doubt has to be a reasonable doubt which must not be based on any hypothesis.

To prove the factum of murder of deceased Pitamber, the prosecution had produced five witnesses of fact.

11. PW-3 Ram Nihor is the Village Chaukidar who proved the factum of giving information of the death of deceased Pitamber in the Police Station Maharajganj. In cross, PW-3 stated that he went to the police station alongwith the Gram Pradhan and Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1) did not accompany him.

12. PW-2, the prosecution witness of last seen had turned hostile and did not support the case of the prosecution at all. In the examination-in-chief, PW-2 stated that he was sleeping in his house at around 11:00 PM and upon asking as to who went to his house, he replied that no one came. He then stated that he did not know anything and kept mum when he was asked further to explain as to what had happened at around 11:00 PM. PW-2 then stated that he did not see the accused persons coming out of the house of the Pitamber on the fateful night and that Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1) did not go to his house to call him.

In cross, PW-2 was confronted with his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., contents of which he denied and stated as to how it was written that he had seen the accused persons coming out of the house of Pitamber was not known to him. The suggestion that he was won over by the accused persons was categorically denied by PW-2. From the testimony of PW-2, it is evident that he did not support the case of the prosecution at all. No part of his statement can be read in favour of the prosecution.

13. Now we are left with three witnesses amongst whom PW-1 is the witness of last seen, PW-4 is the village Gram Pradhan who is the witness of inquest. PW-5 is the son of the deceased who is a child witness aged about 7 years on the date of the incident (10 years on the date of deposition). This witness was the star witness of the prosecution. On appreciation of his testimony, however, the trial court rejected him as being the witness of the crime and recorded that the possibility of PW-5 Mitthu not being present at the time of the occurrence cannot be ruled out.

14. Testing the testimony of PW-5, we may further note that apart from his presence being doubtful on the spot, as noted by the trial court, the possibility of this witness being tutored also cannot be ruled out. As rightly noted by the trial court, PW-5, the child witness, in the cross-examination, stated that he narrated the entire incident to the Investigating Officer on the very next morning of the death of his father when the officer came to the village in the presence of Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1), Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4) and Bechu (PW-2). As per the statement of PW-5, he intimated the Investigating Officer that two accused persons namely the appellants herein were present in the room of his house on the fateful night. On the contrary, no such statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer and when crossed, Investigating Officer PW-6 categorically stated that no such statement was made to him.

PW-5, the child witness further stated in his examination-in-chief that he was threatened by the accused persons/the appellants herein that he should not tell anything to anyone otherwise he would be killed. This part of the statement was not found in the previous statement of PW-1 (Section 161 Cr.P.C. statement) as is evident from the cross-examination of PW-5 and the Investigating Officer (PW-6). PW-5 then stated that when he woke up, he lit up the lamp, to bring in the source of light to prove that he saw the accused-appellants. In cross, this witness (PW-5) stated that he had shown the Dibbi and the matchbox, which was lit up by him but it was not seized by the Investigating Officer. The Investigating Officer (PW-6), to the contrary, had categorically denied that no such Dibbi or matchbox was found by him at the place of the incident, i.e. the room wherein the incident had occurred.

Further statement of the child witness is very important to consider wherein he stated that after the accused persons went away, he called his father who did not speak and then he went to the village. Upon this statement of PW-5 in his examination-in-chief, when he was asked by the Court repeatedly as to what did he do after coming out, PW-5 remained silent and lastly replied to the Court that villagers were collected. In cross, the child witness stated that after the accused persons went away, Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4) reached at the spot and no one else had reached. He (PW-5) then told that he informed Ram Preet Singh Pradhan that the accused-appellants namely Brij Kishor and Jiut were inside the room and that apart from Ram Preet Singh Pradhan he did not talk to anyone on the fateful night and that in the next morning, he was sent by the Pradhan to the Police Station. The statement of PW-5, the child witness about coming out of his house after the accused had left, at about 11:00 PM on his own, is unbelievable, firstly, that being a child of seven years coming out of the house in the odd hours was not normal and further that his version of coming out of his house is lacking in material details and secondly, his version that Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4) came in the night is in contradiction with the statement of PW-4 who stated that he came to know through Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1) in the next morning/afternoon that the accused persons namely Jiut and Brij Kishor were witnesses by him while they were coming out of the house of deceased Pitamber at about 10:30 PM. On confrontation about his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., PW-4 admitted that in his statement he had mentioned the names of accused persons, having been last seen by PW-1 Ram Preet Dhobi coming out of the house of deceased Pitamber. The statement of Gram Pradhan was recorded at the time when inquest was prepared, i.e. in the morning of 30.3.1986. On confrontation on this aspect, the Investigating Officer (PW-6) stated that he could not record the statement of the child witness (PW-5) before 3.4.1986 as the child was scared and was not in a position to make a statement.

15. From the above noted facts, it is evident that the Investigating Officer was not intimated by anyone on the next day about the presence of the accused persons/appellants in the house of deceased Pitamber having been seen by PW-5. The statement of PW-6, the Investigating Officer that the child witness (PW-5) was not in a position to make a statement prior to 3.4.1986 is in complete contradiction to the testimony of the child, wherein he stated that he gave the details of the incident on 30.3.1986, i.e. the date of report of the death in the presence of the witnesses namely Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1) and Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4) and Bechu (PW-2). The trial court had rightly concluded that the inconsistencies in the statement of the child witness (PW-5) could have been ignored giving him advantage of being a child, had his statement been plain and simple but the statement of this witness is full of material improvement on vital points of the case.

As noted above, PW-5 could not explain as to what did he do after coming out of the house when the accused persons left and his father did not speak on his calling. The source of light, allegedly created by PW-5 could not be proved by the prosecution. The statement of the child witness (PW-5) that the entire village was collected and then that the Gram Pradhan only had reached in the night and the entire incident was narrated to him, could not be proved by the prosecution, inasmuch as, the Gram Pradhan (as PW-4) stated that he raised suspicion about involvement of the appellants only on the information passed on to him by the witnesses of last seen namely PW-1 and PW-2.

It was also rightly noted by the trial court that the recovery of blood soaked vest was made by the Investigating Officer on 2.4.1986, i.e. after a period of two days from the date of recovery of the body in the house though the blood soaked vest, according to the version of the child witness (PW-5), was given to the Investigating Officer on the very next morning, i.e. on 30.3.1986. As per the Investigating Officer, the vest of the child witness was given to him by one Haribhajan and the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-3 does not contain signature or thumb impression of the child to prove that it was given by him to the Investigating Officer. Further from the testimony of the child witness, we may note that he stated that he was sleeping with his father over a 'Kathri' covering themselves with a 'Rajai' (quilt). The Investigating Officer, on the other hand, stated that he did not find any 'Rajai' (quilt) at the place of the incident and only one "Kathri' was found. We may also note that a suggestion was given to the Investigating Officer that the child witness was not present in the village on 1.4.1986 and 2.4.1986 and that he was called from the house of his maternal aunt which was denied by him (PW-6).

It may be noted from the statement of the child witness that he stated that his maternal aunt was living in another village and he and his father (the deceased) went to the village of his aunt and came only 2-4 days prior to the incident. PW-5 though denied that he was in the house of his aunt on the date of the incident but admitted that his maternal aunt was alive on the date when he made deposition in the Court. PW-4, the village Gram Pradhan had admitted that after death of the deceased, the civil case for cancellation of the sale deed instituted by the deceased was being pursued by him by getting himself appointed as the guardian of the child Mitthu, i.e. PW-5, the son of the deceased. Giving explanation for this conduct, PW-4 stated that since the child had no one as such he was pursuing the case, which fact is found incorrect from the testimony of PW-5 recorded after the statement of the Gram Pradhan. PW-5, the child witness further admitted that he was living with Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4) and came to depose in the Court alongwith the Gram Pradhan Ram Preet Singh though stated that he was not tutored by PW-4, about what was to be stated in the Court.

Lastly, it may be noted that PW-5 admitted that he was not attending any school and on a question he wrongly answered that there are ten months in one year.

16. For the aforesaid, on a careful evaluation of the testimony of PW-5, it can be concluded that the presence of this witness in the room of the house wherein dead body was found, on the fateful night i.e. 29/30.3.1986, is highly doubtful. It is hazardous to rely on the testimony of the child witness as it was not available immediately after the occurrence and the possibility of coaching and tutoring this witness (PW-5) by the Gram Pradhan namely PW-4 with whom he was residing also is highly probable.

17. The trial judge has recorded the demeanour of the child. The child was vacillating in the course of his deposition. From a child of seven years of age, absolute consistency in deposition cannot be expected but if it appears that there was possibility of his being tutored, the Court should be careful in relying on his evidence.

18. Agreeing with the findings of the trial court, on the doubt raised about the credibility of child witness (PW-5) we may further note that it is settled that while assessing evidence of the child witness, the Court must carefully observe his/her demeanor to eliminate likelihood of tutoring. As a rule of prudence, it is desirable to see corroboration of evidence of a child witness from other reliable witness on record. The Court can rely upon the testimony of a child witness, if the same is credible, truthful and is corroborated by other evidence brought on record.

In a recent decision of the Apex Court in Digamber Vaishnav and another vs. State of Chhattisgarh4, while noticing the principles of appreciation of the testimony of a child witness, it was noted by the Apex Court that Section 118 of the Evidence Act governs competence of the persons to testify which also includes a child witness. Evidence of the child witness and its credibility could depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. There is no rule of practice that in every case the evidence of a child witness has to be corroborated by other evidence before a conviction can be allowed to stand but as a prudence, the Court always finds it desirable to seek corroboration to such evidence from other reliable evidence placed on record. Only precaution which the court has to bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be a reliable one. It was noted that the evidence of a child witness must be evaluated carefully as the child may be swayed by what others tell him and he is an easy prey to tutoring. The requirement of adequate corroboration of the testimony of a child witness before placing reliance upon the same is more a rule of practical wisdom than law. [Reference Paragraphs 22 and 23]

In his legendary style, Justice Y. V. Chandrachud as he then was stated in Suresh vs. State of U.P.5 as follows:-

"(11).....xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx..... Children, in the first place, mix up what they see with what they like to imagine to have seen and besides, a little tutoring is inevitable in their case in order to lend coherence and consistency to their disjointed thoughts which tend to stray. The extreme sentence cannot seek its main support from evidence of this kind which, even if true, is not safe enough to act upon for putting out a life."

19. We may further note that the child witness PW-5 did not claim himself to be an eye-witness of the incident, as according to him, he had only seen the accused persons/appellants inside the room on the fateful night where the dead body was found and as per his version he was threatened by the accused persons not to speak to anyone and they went away.

20. As noted above, we do not find corroboration of the testimony of child witness from any other evidence on record. Rather for the inconsistencies/embellishments in his statement and the possibility of the child witness (PW-5) being a tutored witness, we are afraid to rely on his testimony as a witness of last seen of the accused persons/appellants at the place of the incident on the fateful night. The crux is that PW-5, the child witness could not be found to be trustworthy and his testimony cannot be read in favour of the prosecution.

21. Now we are left with two witnesses namely PW-1 & PW-4. PW-1 claim himself to be the witness of last seen of the accused persons/appellants coming out from the house of the deceased on the fateful night.

22. We may note that the trial court had heavily relied upon the testimony of this witness (PW-1) of last seen and, in fact, solely relied on his statement to conclude that it was sufficient to connect the accused persons with the crime and that as no explanation was offered by the accused persons in respect of their presence in the house of the deceased they be held guilty. The trial court has further noted that the motive to commit the crime because of a civil litigation pending between the accused-appellants with the deceased was proved by the prosecution and the accused-appellants had no business to be at the residence of the deceased at the odd hours. No explanation had been given by the accused in respect of their presence in the house of the deceased and the circumstance that the deceased was found dead in the morning and his death was proved to be homicidal, the chain of circumstance put forth by the prosecution was complete and fully established the guilt of the accused leading to no other conclusion.

We are afraid to agree with the aforesaid findings returned by the trial court for the reasons noted herein below.

23. Before testing the testimony of PW-1 and PW-4, independently one by one, we may record that this is a case of circumstantial evidence and there is no eye-witness account. It was the duty of the prosecution to prove all the circumstances to form a complete chain unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused-appellants leaving all reasonable hypothesis of a third person entering into the scene of the crime. As has been held by the Apex Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra6, the circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established, "must" and "should" and not "may be" established.

The five golden principles constituting of the proof of the case based on circumstances, laid down by the Apex Court in the said case are noted as under:-

"152. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793, where the following observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say. they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

153. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence."

It is, thus, settled that each and every circumstance brought in the chain of circumstance by the prosecution should be fully established beyond all reasonable doubt.

It was noted in Harbeer Singh (supra) that:-

"11. It is a cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that the guilt of the accused must be proved beyond all reasonable doubt. The burden of proving its case beyond all reasonable doubt lies on the prosecution and it never shifts. Another golden thread which runs through the web of the administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. [Vide Kali Ram Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1973) 2 SCC 808; State of Rajasthan Vs. Raja Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 180; Chandrappa & Ors. vs. State of Karnataka, (2007) 4 SCC 415; Upendra Pradhan Vs. State of Orissa, (2015) 11

SCC 124 and Golbar Hussain & Ors. Vs. State of Assam and Anr., (2015) 11 SCC 242]."

As regards, the evidence of last seen or theory of last seen, it is stated by the Apex Court in Nizam and another vs. State of Rajasthan7 that the "last seen alive" or the "last seen theory", undoubtedly is an important link in the chain of circumstance that would point towards the guilt of the accused with some certainty. The logic is that the "last seen theory" holds the courts to shift the burden of proof to the accused and the accused to offer a reasonable explanation as to the cause of death of the deceased. It is, however, noted therein that the settled principle of the law is that it is not prudent to base the conviction solely on "last seen theory". The evidence of last seen, i.e. "last seen theory" should be applied taking into consideration the case of the prosecution in its entirety and keeping in mind the circumstances that precede and follow the point of being so last seen.

As noted in State of Rajasthan vs. Kashi Ram8, the last seen theory is based on Section 106 of the Evidence Act which cast an obligation on the accused to offer a reasonable explanation in discharge of the burden placed on him. If the accused fails to adduce any explanation or offers a false explanation, the Court can consider it as an additional link in the chain of circumstances proved against the accused, so as to complete the chain. However, Section 106 does not shift the burden of proof in a criminal trial, which is always upon the prosecution. [Reference Paragraph '23']

24. Meaning thereby, it is the duty of the prosecution to prove the evidence of last seen beyond all reasonable doubt by the testimony of a witness who is truthful, consistent and free from embellishments.

25. In light of the above legal principle, when we examine the balance evidence of the prosecution namely PW-1 and PW-3, we find that as per the statement of PW-1, he had seen the accused persons namely the appellant herein Brij Kishor alongwith the co-accused coming out of the house of deceased Pitamber on the fateful night at about 10:30 PM. According to the version of PW-1, he had seen the accused persons on lighting the torch, which he was carrying while standing in front of the house of Bechu (PW-2). Upon seeing the accused persons, he confronted them by asking as to what were they doing at the said place at that odd hours. The accused replied that a litigation relating to an agricultural field was going on and they went to the house of deceased Pitamber to settle the same by compromise. After saying that the accused persons went to their way. On the next day, he came to know that Pitamber was killed.

As per the testimony of PW-1, when the police came at the spot, he was not present there and was in his brick kiln. He was also not present when the body was sent for the postmortem. He came to know in the brick kiln from a villager that the body was taken for the postmortem at about 10:00 AM. His brick kiln was at a distance of two furlong from the house of deceased Pitamber. PW-1, however, stated that the same day when body was taken away, in the evening, he told the Gram Pradhan that he had seen the accused persons coming out of the house of the deceased in the night and prior to telling the said fact to the Gram Pradhan, it was not disclosed to anyone. When confronted, PW-1 stated that on the third day of the incident, when Gram

Pradhan passed on this information to the police, he was called in the village by the Investigating Officer and his statement was then recorded in the presence of the Gram Pradhan. PW-1 further stated that when he was interrogated by the Investigating Officer, Bechu (PW-2) was not present.

26. We may further note from the testimony of PW-4, the village Gram Prahdan Ram Preet Singh that as per his version, the fact of last seen was intimated to him by PW-1 Ram Preet Dhobi on the next day of the incident though in cross, PW-4 could not fix the time when the said fact was disclosed by PW-1. He however, stated that the inquest was conducted at about 9:30 AM and the Investigating Officer recorded his statement at the time when the inquest was written and that the time of the same was 9:30 AM. He was then confronted that whether he told the Investigating Officer about PW-1 having seen the accused persons coming out of the house of the deceased, he stated that since that was written in his statement by the Investigating Officer, he would have told him but was not sure about the time when that statement was made.

27. To ascertain as to when the statement of PW-4, the Gram Pradhan was recorded by the Investigating Officer, who was also a witness of the inquest, we have gone through the Case Diary.

28. A perusal thereof indicates that the Case Diary, Parcha No. 1 started from 1.4.1986 when the case under Section 302 IPC was registered. We may also note, at this juncture, that as per the statement of PW-8, the Head Moharrir; GD entry No. 27 of registration of the case was made on 1.4.1986 at about 20:45 Hours (10:45 PM). From a perusal of the Case Diary, it is evident that the Parcha No. 1 of the Case Diary commenced at about 20:45 Hours on 1.4.1986 and the inquest and the postmortem were copied therein. The statement of the Gram Pradhan as a Panch witness was recorded in the Case Diary, Parcha No. 2 on 2.4.1986 which began from 7:00 AM.

29. From a reading of the statement of the Gram Pradhan under Section 161 Cr.P.C., we may note that pressing his suspicion about the cause of the death of deceased, PW-4, Ram Preet Singh Pradhan stated that on getting information of the death of Pitamber at about 10:45 PM on 29.3.1986, he also went to the spot and saw that blood was coming out from the mouth of the deceased and it was flowing at the place where his son was sleeping. The vest of the son of the deceased was soaked with blood but the child could not say anything because of the fear and was only crying. The village Chaukidar Nihor and Ram Kishan Dhobi as also one Haribhajan were sent to the police station to give the intimation. The accused Jiut and his family members were creating rumor that Pitamber died on his own death due to TB and were creating a scene so that no information could be given to the police but when the Investigating Officer came, the inquest was done and the body was sent for postmortem. The accused persons also tried to get the postmortem report in their favour but when they failed, they absconded. PW-4 then stated that he started making enquiry on his own and then Ram Preet Dhobi told him that by chance he had seen the accused persons coming out of the house of the deceased in the torch light and also asked them the reason for going there.

30. As per the statement of PW-4 in the examination-in-chief, the fact of last seen of the accused persons coming out from the house of the deceased was told by PW-1 Ram Preet Dhobi on the next day of the incident, i.e. on 30.3.1986. From the version of PW-4, he had intimated the Investigating Officer about the fact of last seen transpired by PW-1, the witness of last seen, who also came to know on 30.3.1986 that the deceased was killed, as per his own version in his examination-in-chief.

31. From the statements of PW-1 and PW-4, it seems that they got suspicious about the death of Pitamber on the very next morning when his dead body was found, i.e. on 30.3.1986 but confirmation of homicidal death could be made only after the postmortem report was received, which was conducted at about 2:00 PM on 30.3.1986. It is established from the record that PW-4 Ram Preet Singh Pradhan was a witness of inquest, but it is not explained by the prosecution as to why the Investigating Officer took the whole next day, i.e. 1.4.1986 in registering a case under Section 302 IPC and recording statements of material witnesses which was recorded on the next day, i.e. 2.4.1986. It is evident from the record that the accused persons were in the village on the next day of the incident.

32. It is evident from the record that the Gram Pradhan, i.e. Ram Preet Singh had been instrumental in solving the entire case by introducing the presence of child witness, PW-5, in the house, which was found doubtful, both by the trial court and also by us and further with the introduction of Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1) as a witness of last seen. The Gram Pradhan PW-4 during the continuation of the trial was also contesting the civil litigation of cancellation of the sale deed as a guardian of the minor son of the deceased. The statement of Gram Pradhan that since there was no one in the family of the deceased so he was contesting the civil case, is found false from the statement of the child witness that his maternal aunt was alive at the time of deposition and 2-4 days prior to the incident, he and his father (deceased) came back from the house of his maternal aunt. What interest the Gram Pradhan had in getting the accused persons convicted can be inferred from the circumstances of the present case, wherefrom it is evident that he was taking active interest in getting cancellation of the sale deed of a land which was purchased by the accused persons namely Jiut and Brij Kishor, by getting himself as the sole guardian of a young child who was introduced in the witness-box as a witness of seeing the accused inside his house in the odd hours.

33. As to the conduct of PW-1, the witness of last seen, he stated that he came to know in the next morning that Pitamber was killed but he told the Gram Pradhan for the first time about the fact of seeing the accused persons coming out of the house of the deceased and that his statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer on the third day at the instance of the Gram Pradhan in his presence. From this part of the testimony of PW-1, it is evident that the statement of PW-1 was recorded by the Investigating Officer at the instance of the Gram Pradhan. The version of PW-1 that when his statement was recorded, the other witness of last seen namely Bechu (PW-2) who had turned hostile was not present, is found false from a perusal of the Case Diary which records that the statements of Ram Preet Singh Pradhan (PW-4), Bechu PW-2 and Ram Preet Dhobi namely PW-1 were recorded on the same day, i.e. 2.4.1986 at the place of the incident, when the investigation was commenced by the Investigating Officer at about 7:00 AM. As per the sequence in the Case Diary, after recording statement of the first informant Ram Nihor Chaukidar, the statements of Panch witnesses were recorded and the Investigating Officer had then recorded the statements of witnesses of last seen namely Bechu (PW-2), Ram Preet Dhobi (PW-1).

34. Having analysed the statements of PW-1 and PW-4 conjointly, we may further note that the testimony of PW-4, the Gram Pradhan is a hearsay evidence, he did not project himself as the witness of any of the incriminating circumstance brought against the accused persons by the prosecution except that a case for cancellation of the sale deed was instituted by deceased Pitamber against the accused persons. We may also note from the cross-examination of PW-4 that he stated on his own that deceased Pitamber had no money to contest the case and he was begging for the money from the villagers and he (PW-4 Pradhan) also helped him financially.

35. Another witness of last seen Bechu had turned hostile and did not support the prosecution at all.

36. The motive of commission of crime, i.e. civil dispute instituted by the deceased against the accused persons though stated but cannot be said to be so strong so as to commit the murder, inasmuch as, from the version of PW-4, it transpires that deceased Pitamber had no money to contest the suit. Moreover, the suit was for cancellation of the sale deed executed in favour of the accused persons. It had not been established nor brought by the prosecution that the accused persons did not get possession of the purchased property and, thus, had immediate motive to commit the crime. It has also not come in the evidence nor can it be inferred from the circumstances brought forth by the prosecution that the suit had matured to the stage that the accused persons had an apprehension that they would loose the purchased land. Rather as per the version of PW-4, the Gram Pradhan, he was contesting the suit even after three years of the occurrence, when the deposition of the witnesses was recorded in the trial court. Thus, the prosecution though stated the motive for commission of the crime but had not established it by bringing forth such circumstance which would be strong enough to be the immediate cause of commission of the offence. Mere pendency of a civil suit between the deceased and the accused persons cannot be said to be a strong motive so as to treat it as a circumstance fully established for commission of the crime. Mere narration of motive in a case of circumstantial evidence without bringing anything further to prove the same cannot be taken as a circumstance to establish the case of the prosecution. [Reference Bhagwan Singh and others vs. State of M.P.9 Para 32]

37. It is settled that in a case of circumstantial evidence, motive may be considered as a circumstance, which is relevant factor for the purpose of assessing evidence, in such cases where there is an unambiguous evidence to prove the guilt of the accused. It is true that the motive is primarily known to the accused himself and it may not be possible for the prosecution to explain what actually prompted or excited the accused to commit a particular crime but in a case like the present one where the only motive narrated is the pendency of a civil litigation where the accused persons were on beneficial side, in absence of unambiguous evidence, it cannot be treated to be a circumstance which is such as to create a high degree of probability that the offence was committed by the accused persons.

38. As noted above, PW-1 cannot be found to be an independent witness but seems to be a witness prompted by the Gram Pradhan (PW-4) who was behind the entire prosecution story. The statement of PW-1 being the witness of last seen is, thus, not found to be credible. Even otherwise, PW-1 could not establish the reason for his presence at the house of Bechu (PW-2) wherefrom he had allegedly seen the accused persons coming out from the house of the deceased Pitamber. On confrontation of this witness, he admitted that Bechu was not present in the Brick Kiln on the next day when the dead body was found. The conduct of this witness in not coming forward to intimate the Investigating Officer about having seen the accused persons on the very next day when he got the information that the deceased was killed also shakes the credibility of this witness. The explanation offered by him that he was present in his brick kiln and for the fear that he would be abused by the police he did not go to the house of the deceased even on getting information that the police had reached there, is found to be an effort of the prosecution to fill up the lacuna. Also the presence of PW-1 at the place wherefrom he had seen the accused coming out from the house of the deceased was not natural. He could only be kept in the category of a chance witness whose testimony is to be evaluated with caution and circumspection before resting the conviction on the same.

39. We find it profitable to note the observations in Para '23' in Harbeer Singh (supra).

"23. The defining attributes of a "chance witness" were explained by Mahajan, J., in the case of Puran Vs. The State of Punjab, AIR 1953 SC 459. It was held that such witnesses have the habit of appearing suddenly on the scene when something is happening and then disappearing after noticing the occurrence about which they are called later on to give evidence."

The observations in Para '47' in Suresh and another vs. State of Haryana10 are also relevant to be noted hereunder:-

"47. .....xxxxx.....Nonetheless, the evidence of a chance witness requires a very cautious and close scrutiny. A chance witness must adequately explain his presence at the place of occurrence. [refer to Satbir v. Surat Singh, (1997) 4 SCC 192; Harjinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (2004) 11 SCC 253]. Deposition of a chance witness whose presence at the place of incident remains doubtful should be discarded [refer Shankarlal v. State of Rajasthan, (2004) 10 SCC 632]. The behavior of the chance witness, subsequent to the incident may also be taken into consideration particularly as to whether he has informed anyone else in the village about the incident. [refer Thangaiya v. State of Tamil Nadu, (2005) 9 SCC 650]. "

40. The prosecution has, thus, failed to establish beyond reasonable doubt and the presence of PW-1 near the place of the incident on the fateful night so as to establish that PW-1 was the witness of last seen of the accused coming out of the house of the deceased while he was standing outside the house of Bechu.

41. In the totality and facts and circumstances of the present case, we find that the prosecution has not been able to bring the circumstances of implication of the accused-appellant in such a manner so as to establish their guilt in the commission of crime beyond reasonable doubt.

42. We may also record that the role of Investigating Officer in the whole investigation process is also questionable.

43. Record shows that even after the postmortem conducted on 30.3.1986 at about 2:00 PM, the Investigating Officer whosoever was Incharge, did not proceed with the investigation for more than 24 hours and the case was registered under Section 302 only on 1.4.1986 in the night at about 20:45 hours when the Investigating Officer only extracted the inquest and the postmortem in the Case Diary. The entire investigation was proceeded only on 2.4.1986 when the Investigating Officer went on the spot, recoveries were then made, the site plan was prepared. As per the statement of the Investigating Officer, he inspected the site of the incident after recording the statements of the witnesses. As stated in the examination-in-chief, PW-6 prepared the site plan after recording statements of Bechu, Nihor, Mitthu, Ram Preet Singh Pradhan, Ram Preet Dhobi. The site plan is dated 2.4.1986.

As per the statement of the Investigating Officer, he prepared the site plan at the instance of child witness Mitthu, which fact is further evident from the narration in the site plan wherein it is stated that the place "A" was shown by child witness Mitthu as the place where deceased was killed by throttling and from the said place itself, blood stained and plain earth were collected previously.

44. No recovery memo of the blood stained and plain earth was brought on record by the prosecution in consonance with the version of the Investigating Officer recorded in the site plan at Item No. 'A' of the index. The statement of the child witness, however, was recorded on 3.4.1986, a day after recording the statements of all other witnesses and completion of papers pertaining to the investigation. As per the first version of the child witness recorded in the site plan by the Investigating Officer prepared on 2.4.1986, he showed the place where the accused persons had killed the deceased by throttling his neck. The explanation offered by the Investigating Officer for delay in recording the statement of the child witness that the child was shaken by the incident and was not in a position to make a statement belied from the own version of the Investigating Officer recorded in the site plan as noted above.

45. Further the Investigating Officer, in cross, admitted that a 'Kathri' made of pieces of cloth was found from the place of the incident which was on a 'Puwal' but no recovery memo of the said 'Kathri' was prepared. The blood soaked vest of the child witness was not recovered on the first day of the investigation, i.e. 30.3.1986 and it was not handed over by the child witness PW-5 as against his testimony. The said vest was handed over on 2.4.1986 by one Haribhajan as noted in the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-3 and the statement of the Investigating Officer PW-6. As per the statement of the Investigating Officer, the said vest was sent to FSL for chemical examination but the results of the said examination was not brought by the prosecution before the trial court. The prosecution has, thus, failed to prove the recovery of blood soaked vest from the spot of the incident as is narrated in the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-3 which admittedly does not contain the signatures or thumb impression of the child witness Mitthu.

46. As per the statement of the Investigating Officer, the investigation was initially conducted by SI Narendra Pratap Singh (PW-7) who had completed the inquest proceedings. The investigation was handed over to PW-6 after the receipt of the postmortem report. It could not be explained by the prosecution as to when the postmortem was conducted on 30.3.1986 at about 2:00 PM and report was received, at what time the investigation was handed over to PW-6. PW-6, the Investigating Officer who started the investigation on 1.4.1986 at about 20:45 Hours did not explain this gap.

Further from the statement of the previous Investigating Officer namely S.I. Narendra Pratap Singh (PW-7), it is evident that after reaching the spot on 30.3.1986, he only conducted the inquest and sent the body for the postmortem. It is not known as to who collected the blood stained and plain earth from the spot of the incident and why it was not produced in the evidence. PW-7 admittedly did not record the statement of anyone on the spot and only noted in the evidence that people present on the spot including the inquest witnesses raise apprehension about the cause of death.

47. It was a case of circumstantial evidence, the responsibility of the Investigating Officer to investigate the murder was more onerous, inasmuch as, he would be the first person to enter into the scene of crime and collect all incriminating circumstances/material so as to solve the crime so as to bring the culprits before the Court. In the instant case, it is evident from the record that the Investigating Officer (PW-6) who commenced investigation after two days of the incident instead of doing investigation on his own, was guided by PW-4 Ram Preet Singh Pradhan whose statement was recorded on the first day of the commencement of the Investigation, i.e. 2.4.1986. The entire investigation, as is clear from the record, proceeded in the manner in which it was prompted by Ram Preet Singh Pradhan namely PW-4. The investigation in this case, as is evident, was guided only in one direction just as to implicate the accused persons namely Jiut and Brij Kishor being the culprits since the beginning on the suspicion raised by the Gram Pradhan and was not independent at all. A vitiated investigation would ultimately prove to be a precursor of miscarriage of criminal justice. In such a case the Court would simply try to decipher the truth only on the basis of guess or conjectures as the whole truth would not come before it.

48. The suspicion raised by the Gram Pradhan because of the pendency of the civil litigation between the accused persons and the deceased had been the reason for the implication in the instant case. Though the needle of suspicion was pointed at the accused-appellants but the legal evidence in the shape of definite circumstances pointing unerringly towards the guilt of the accused-appellants could not be brought forth by the prosecution.

It is well settled that the suspicion cannot take the place of proof and even if the circumstances on record is a pointer to a strong suspicion, it in itself is not sufficient to lead to the conclusion that the guilt of the accused stands established beyond reasonable doubt. [Reference

Ganpat Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh11 Paragraph '13']

49. In the entirety of the facts and circumstances of the instant case, we are afraid to agree with the conclusion drawn by the trial court that the chain of circumstance is complete and fully establishes the guilt of the accused persons leading to no other conclusion and that the accused had failed to furnish any explanation in respect of their presence in the house of the deceased. The reason being that the presence of the accused persons in the house of the deceased could not be established once the trial court itself had rejected the evidence of PW-5, the child witness.

50. As regards the testimony of PW-1 and PW-4, the trial court has committed an error in reading both the testimonies together and not evaluating the statement of PW-1, the witness of last seen, independently. The finding recorded by the trial court that PW-4 Gram Pradhan had confirmed that the fact of last seen was told by PW-1 to him on the day following the incident and that it was not believable that PW-1 was under possible pressure or influence of Ram Preet Singh Pradhan so as to falsely implicate the accused persons in the case of murder, is not based on proper appreciation of the evidence on record rather more out of the own imagination or belief of the trial court. The said finding is based on conjectures and surmises for the fact that the trial court did not evaluate the statement of PW-1 independently so as to analyse as to whether he (PW-1) had established his presence at the place wherefrom he allegedly had last seen the accused persons or whether his presence at the said place was natural. The conduct of PW-1 Ram Preet Dhobi in not coming forward to make a statement before the Investigating Officer (PW-7) who conducted inquest on the very first day and making a statement only at the instance of the Gram Pradhan after two days of the receiving of the dead body has also been completely ignored by the trial court. The trial court has wrongly treated the Gram Pradhan (PW-4) as a wholly reliable witness and conveniently ignored that he was also an interested witness, who was taking undue interest in the civil litigation initiated by the deceased against the accused persons, apart from being the creator of the entire prosecution story, since the beginning on his own suspicion. He (PW-4) cannot be treated to be an independent and reliable witness so as to base the conviction on his testimony.

51. In the totality of the facts and circumstances of the present case, we find that because of the irresponsible attitude of the Investigating Officers (PW-6 and PW-7), the lopsided investigation made by PW-6 has resulted in causing serious prejudice to both the prosecution as also the defence. The omission on the part of the Investigating Officer (PW-6) has result in miscarriage of justice as it left the Court only to guess-work rather than helping it to decipher the truth.

52. We also find it profitable to note the observations of the Apex court in The State of Punjab vs. Jagir Singh, Baljit Singh and Karam Singh12 wherein while laying down the mode of appreciation of evidence and the general principles regarding presumption of innocence, it was observed by the Apex court that a criminal trial is not like a fairy tale wherein one in free to give flight to one's imagination and phantasy. It concerns itself with the question as to whether the accused arraigned at the trial is guilty of the crime with which he is charged. In arriving at the conclusion about the guilt of the accused charged with the commission of a crime, the Court has to judge the evidence by the yardstick of probabilities, its intrinsic worth and the animus of witnesses.

Reference has been made to the decision of the Apex Court in Kali Ram vs. State of Himachal Pradesh13. Relevant paragraph '25' is quoted hereunder:-

"25. Another golden thread which runs through the web of the administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favorable to the accused should be adopted. This principle has a special relevance in cases where the guilt of the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence. Rule has accordingly been laid down that unless the evidence adduced in the case is consistent only with, the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and is inconsistent with that of his innocence, the court should refrain from recording a finding of guilt of the accused. It is also an accepted rule that in case the court entertains reasonable doubt regarding the guilt of the accused, the accused must have the benefit of doubt. Of course, the doubt regarding the guilt of the accused should be reasonable; it is not the doubt of a mind which is either-so vacillating that it is incapable of reaching a firm conclusion or so timid that it is hesitant and afraid to take things to their natural consequences. The rule regarding the benefit of doubt also does not warrant acquittal of the accused by resort to surmises, conjectures or fanciful considerations. As mentioned by this Court in the case or Slate of Punjab v. Jagir Singh, (Crl. A. No. 7 of 1972 d/ August 6, 1973) a criminal trial is not liked a fairy tale wherein one is free to give flight to one' In arriving at the conclusion about the guilt of the imagination and phantasy. accused charged with the evidence by the yardstick of witnesses. Every case own facts. Although the. to the accused the courts commission of a crime, the court has to judge the of probabilities, its intrinsic worth and the animu, in the final analysis would have to depend upon it benefit of every reasonable doubt should be given should not at the same time reject evidence which is ex facie trustworthy or grounds which are fanciful or in the nature of conjectures."

We may further note the observations in Latesh alias Dadu Baburao Karlekar vs. State of Maharashtra14 noted in Para '54' of the report in Suresh and another vs. State of Haryana (supra):-

"54. .....xxxxxxxxxxxxxx.....In Latesh v. State of Maharashtra, (2018) 3 SCC 66 , this court had observed that:

"46.... When you consider the facts, you have a reasonable doubt as to whether the matter is proved or whether it is not a reasonable doubt in this sense. The reasonableness of a doubt must be a practical one and not on an abstract theoretical hypothesis. Reasonableness is a virtue that forms as a mean between excessive caution and excessive indifference to a doubt."

53. On a careful appreciation of the evidence on record, with the degree of caution and circumspection required in the facts of the instant case, we reach at an irresistible conclusion that the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the accused-appellant namely Brij Kishor herein, beyond all reasonable doubt. The benefit of doubt obviously has to go to the accused-appellant Brij Kishor.

The judgment and order dated 4th August, 1989 passed by the Ist Additional District & Sessions Judge, Gorakhpur in Sessions Trial No. 189 of 1987 is, therefore, liable to be set aside and the appeal deserve to be allowed.

We, therefore, allow this appeal while setting aside the judgment of the trial court.

The accused-appellant Brij Kishor is in jail. He shall be released from the jail forthwith, if he is not wanted in relation to any other crime.

The office is directed to send back the lower court record along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

The compliance report be furnished to this Court through the Registrar General, High Court, Allahabad.

Before parting with this judgment, we record our appreciation to Sri Raunak Chaturvedi learned Amicus Curiae who rendered valuable assistance to the Court. The Court quantifies Rs. 15,000/- (Rupees Fifteen Thousand only) to be paid to Sri Raunak Chaturvedi, learned Advocate as fee for his precious time provided in preparation and hearing of this Criminal Appeal. The said amount shall be paid to him by the Registry of the Court within the shortest possible time.

THE HON'BLE MRS. SUNITA AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE VIKAS KUNVAR SRIVASTAV, J.

Criminal Appeal No.1862 of 1989

Ram Chandra ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri P.N. Lal, Sri R.L. Varma

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A., A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Sections 3 & 154- Hostile Witnesses- The evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence.

Settled law that relevant parts of evidence of a hostile witness can be relied upon by the trial court.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Sections 3 & 33 - Non-completion of cross-examination of the witness- Not only the specific part in which a witness has turned hostile but the circumstances under which it happened can also be considered, particularly in a situation where the chief-examination was completed and there are circumstances indicating the reasons behind the subsequent statement, which could be deciphered by the Court - The part of the testimony of a witness whose cross-examination is not over, would not make the entire examination as inadmissible. The evidence of the hostile witness who after examination-in-chief had abandoned the case of the prosecution because of the long delay in completing his testimony, cannot be read in favour of the defence or against the prosecution. It is for the Court to utilize the said evidence appropriately and decide that the issues over which the evidence is completed could be read in evidence and the issues for which the cross-examination is not over, as inadmissible.

Where the cross examination of a witness who has turned hostile has not been completed, then it is the duty of the Court to consider the issues over which the evidence has been completed as admissible and also those issues for which the cross- examination has not been completed as inadmissible- Evidence of a hostile witness whose cross-examination has not been completed cannot be discarded.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Sections 3 &154- Hostile Witness - The place of the incident was also proved by this witness namely PW-1 in his cross-examination. Nothing contrary could be found from the record with this part of testimony of PW-1 which stood proved from his incomplete cross-examination. The above noted part of the testimony of PW-1, therefore, is to be appreciated alongwith the surrounding circumstances of the case, i.e. the other evidence on record.

The relevant parts of the testimony of a witness, whose cross-examination remained incomplete, can be appreciated along with the other evidence by the trial court and the same would not be inadmissible in evidence.

1. Heard Sri R.L. Varma learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Roopak Chaubey learned A.G.A. for the State-respondent.

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 11.8.1989 passed by the Special/Additional Sessions Judge, Shahjahanpur in Sessions Trial No. 470 of 1987 (State vs. Ram Chandra) arising out of Case Crime No. 235/1987, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Jalalabad, District Shahjahanpur whereby appellant Ram Chandra has been convicted of the offence under Section 302 IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment.

3. The first information report of the incident, occurred on 25.7.1987 at about 6:00 PM, was lodged by Puttu son of Lakhan Kahar (PW-1) on the same day, i.e. 25.7.1987 at about 22:15 hours. As per the case of prosecution, the wife of the first informant named as Smt. Laraiti (deceased) was the daughter of one Jodha Kahar whose only son Maiku Lal had died a year before the incident and the wife of Jodha Kahar had predeceased him. The deceased Maiku Lal had no children. Jodha Kahar was survived by two daughters Laraiti, wife of the first informant and Kalawati mother of the appellant. A civil case about the inheritance of 40 Bighas of land of deceased Jodha was going on between the wife of the first informant and sons of his brother-in-law, namely Ram Chandra, Lala Ram and Roop Ram, residents of Village Mishripur, P.S. Sadar Bazar, District Shahjahanpur, wherein 27.7.1987 was the date fixed.

It is the case of the first informant that the said civil litigation was the cause of enmity between the parties. On 25.7.1987 at about 6:00 PM, the wife of the first informant Smt. Laraiti was collecting "Nimouri" from the Neem tree of one Raja Ram son of Rameshwar Dayal near the village. From the North side, Ram Chandra son of Jodha came having 'tabal' in his hand and as soon as he reached near Smt. Laraiti, he hit in her head by 'tabal'. The first informant, Ashiq Ali son of Munir, Krishna Pal, Chhote son of Maiku, Badri son of Sipahi and other villagers ran towards him and at that time the accused-appellant gave another blow of 'tabal' on the neck of the deceased and ran away towards the North-East direction. The first informant and the witnesses chased him but could not nab him. The injured Smt. Laraiti was brought to her home and while they were arranging for the vehicle to take her to the hospital, she died at around 8:30 PM.

4. The factum of lodging of the written report on the date of the incident by PW-1 (the first informant) was proved by PW-5, the Head Constable posted in P.S. Jalalabad, District Shahjahanpur. He stated that the written report was given to him by the first informant (PW-1) and on the basis thereof, Check report was prepared as Check No. 100. PW-5 proved the Check report being in his handwriting and signature, marked as Exhibit Ka-2. The GD entry of the FIR was made at GD Rapat No. 75 Time 22:15 Hours on 25.7.1987, the original of which was produced in the Court. The certified copy of the carbon copy of the GD Rapat entry, prepared in the same process was filed and proved as Exhibit Ka-3. PW-5 had denied the suggestion of the report having been prepared Ante-time.

5. The inquest of the dead body was conducted on 26.7.1987 at about 8:30 AM in the house of the deceased and the inquest report is proved as Exhibit Ka-8.

6. PW-4, the Constable posted in P.S. Jalalabad at the time of the incident, stated that the body of deceased Laraiti kept in a sealed cloth alongwith the sample seal and relevant papers was handed over to him and Pooran Chaukidar on 26.7.1987 at about 8:30 AM to carry for the postmortem and they moved to Shahjahanpur and handed over the dead body in the Police Lines Shahjahanpur. It was then sent for the postmortem and was handed over to the doctor in the sealed state alongwith the sample seal. The body was identified by them before the doctor and the postmortem was done. After completion of the postmortem, one sealed bundle of clothes of the deceased was submitted in the police station concerned alongwith all the relevant papers kept in two sealed envelops. PW-4 stated that during the entire process, no one had touched the dead body.

7. PW-6, the Doctor who conducted autopsy, stated on oath that on 26.7.1987 when he was posted in the District Hospital, the body of deceased Laraiti was brought by Constable Magan Singh CP No. 709 with Pooran in sealed state and the sample seal was tallied with the seal on the bundle of the dead body. It was then opened and the body was identified by two police personnel who brought it. The postmortem was conducted at about 4:15 PM. The external appearance of the dead body as indicated in the postmortem report:-

The age of the deceased about 60 years, average build body, Rigor Mortis passed on from upper extremity and was passing off from lower extremity. Eyes and mouth were closed.

The ante-mortem injuries found on the person of the deceased are:

(1) Incised wound 16 cm x 2 cm x Bone deep present over the Right side of the Head. 10 cm above the Right ear, Bone is cut underneath the injury. Margins are clean cut

(2) Incised wound 7 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep on the Right side lower part of neck 1 cm above the Right clavicle in middle. Margins clean cut.

On internal examination, right parietal bone was found fractured. In stomach, semi digested food of about 200 gms. was present. In small intestine, gases were present; faecal matter was present in the large intestine. The cause of death indicated in the postmortem report is "Coma as a result of ante-mortem head injury". The postmortem report was proved in the handwriting and signature of PW-6 as Exhibit Ka-4. PW-6 stated that both the injuries could be caused by sharp-edged weapon and were sufficient to cause death. The proximate time of death as indicated in the postmortem report was about one day.

8. In cross, PW-6 admitted that there might be a gap of 6-7 hours on both sides. On the nature of the wounds, he stated that incised wounds could have been caused by any sharp edged weapon such as Sword, Knife, Kanta, Khurpi or Kulhari.

9. The Investigating Officer had entered in the witness-box as PW-7. He proved that the initial investigation was conducted by one Senior Inspector I.H. Jafri and the investigation was handed over to him on 5.8.1987. He arrested accused Ram Chandra on 20.8.1987 and submitted the charge sheet on the same day, which was proved in his handwriting and signature as Exhibit Ka-5. PW-7 stated that the previous Investigating Officer had conducted the investigation between 25.7.1987 to 28.7.1987 and recorded statements of the witnesses namely the first informant Puttu, Ashiq Ali and Chhote and inspected the spot. The site plan on the record was proved in the handwriting and signature of the previous Investigating Officer, identified by PW-7, as Exhibit Ka-6.

PW-7, in cross, stated that he did not record the statement of any of accused nor he ever participated in the investigation alongwith the previous Investigating Officer I.H. Jafri.

10. The formal witnesses, in the instant case, proved the reports prepared by them from the inception of the case, i.e. lodging of the first information report to the submission of the charge sheet.

11. Nothing contrary to the case of the prosecution could be elicited from their testimony.

12. Amongst the witnesses of fact, three in number, PW-1 is the first informant Puttu son of Lakhan, husband of the deceased. He stated on oath that he knew accused Ram Chandra who was son of his brother-in-law. His father-in-law was Jodha Kahar whose son and wife had died and whose agricultural land was inherited by Smt. Laraiti, the deceased as also the mother of accused-appellant Ram Chandra, namely Smt. Kalawati and that they both were legal heirs of deceased Jodha Kahar. Two sons of Smt. Kalawati namely Lala Ram and Roop Ram, brothers of accused Ram Chandra got prepared a forged Will of the land in dispute in their names and a case related to the Will was going on wherein the date fixed was about three days after of the incident. Smt. Laraiti had all hopes of success in the case and on account of this enmity, accused Ram Chandra caused murder of Smt. Laraiti (the deceased) so that the landed property may come to the share of him and his brothers.

While narrating the incident, PW-1 reiterated his version in the written report that two blows of 'tabal' were given by accused Ram Chandra to deceased Laraiti in the field of Raja Ram while she was collecting 'Nimouri' from the Neem tree and that he brought his wife to his house from the place of the incident, PW-1 stated that where Ram Chandra gave blow of 'tabal', he was cutting the grass and there he heard the cries of deceased Laraiti. The place where he was cutting the grass was at a distance of 30-40 paces from the place of the incident. On the alarm raised by him from that place itself, the witnesses Badri, Chhote, Krishna Pal and Ashiq Ali who were cutting grass nearby also reached the spot and witnessed the incident. On the hue and cries raised by them, the accused fled away towards the North-Eastern direction and the witnesses also chased the accused. The report of the incident was scribed by Awadhesh Kumar Shukla on his dictation and it was read over to him then he put his signature. The written report on the record was read over to this witness (PW-1) and he deposed that it was the same report which was dictated by him. The written report is marked as Exhibit Ka-1 on the testimony of this witness. PW-1 further stated that he went to file the written report in P.S. Jalalabad alongwith the Chaukidar and it was lodged at around 10:15 PM.

In cross, PW-1 described the topography of the place of the incident and location of his house in the village. When the written report (Exhibit Ka-1" was put to this witness, in cross, he stated that he put his thumb impression on the same. He further stated that there was one Chaukidar in the village, and he called him and then after talking to him, the written report was scribed. On a suggestion, PW-1 categorically stated that the Investigating Officer did not ask him to call the Chaukidar rather he himself called him at about 7-7:30 PM and it became dark by then. After writing the report, he went to the police station and the Investigating Officer met him there only. PW-1 stated that the Investigating Officer came to the village after lodging of the report and after that he (PW-1) did not go to the police station. The body was taken for the postmortem at about 12:00 Noon by a tractor and he alongwith the police personnel accompanied it.

In cross, PW-1 further narrated the location of the Neem Tree in the field of Raja Ram. He then stated that after his wife got injured, he picked her and put her on a cot.

It is pertinent to note here that though the examination-in-chief of PW-1 was recorded on 2.5.1989 and he was cross-examined to some extent but without completion of his cross-examination, for the reasons best known to the Judicial Officer concerned, he had proceeded to record the statement of other witnesses of fact namely PW-2 and PW-3 on the same day.

13. We may further record that the cross-examination of PW-3 was concluded on 2.5.1989 whereas the cross-examinations of PW-1 and PW-2 were not completed by the Court concerned. After more than two months, i.e. 20.7.1989, when the case was taken up for cross-examination of the remaining witnesses, i.e. PW-1 and PW-2, it was transpired that PW-1 Puttu had died a month before and the report in that regard was submitted by the police station concerned on 22.6.1989. The trial Judge, therefore, noted that the attendance of PW-1 Puttu could not be procured for his cross-examination by the defence. PW-2, however, was cross-examined on 20.7.1989 itself.

14. We may further record that PW-2 & PW-3 both had been declared hostile on 2.5.1989, the first day when only the evidence of PW-3 was concluded.

From the statement of PW-2, Ashiq Ali son of Munir, in chief, it may be noted that he had fixed the time of the incident being at about 6:00 PM and stated that when the incident had occurred, he was present at some distance wherefrom he could see the spot but he could not witness the accused giving the blow of 'tabal' to the wife of Puttu (PW-1) and reached at the spot on hearing the alarm (cries). He had seen the accused Ram Chandra running away from the place of the incident but could not tell as to what was there in his hand as he went quite far away. He further stated that he saw the injuries of wife of Puttu (deceased) when he reached the spot. He then stated that he was not cutting the grass but he was in Khandhar of the village and reached at the place of the incident on hearing cries. This witness had been declared hostile at this stage and was permitted to be cross-examined by the prosecution.

In his incomplete cross recorded on the first day, i.e. 2.5.1989, PW-2 admitted that there existed a Neem tree in the field of Raja Ram and the same was also existing at the time of the incident and was also existing at the time of his deposition. Smt. Laraiti, the deceased used to collect 'Nimouri' and on the date of the incident, she also went there for the same purpose. Chhote, Badri and Krishna Pal were also present on the spot. On another question, PW-2 stated that the Investigating Officer had interrogated him but he did not give the statement that he was present in the field of Raja Ram for grazing his cattle. He also denied his previous statement that accused Ram Chandra killed deceased Laraiti from 'tabal'. PW-2 further stated that though he went to identify accused Ram Chandra in jail but he knew him from before. He had denied having witnessed the accused hitting the deceased from 'tabal' and that he was making a wrong statement to save the accused. It is noted that the record indicates that the cross-examination of this witness was resumed on oath on 2.5.1989 after lunch but it was not completed. It is evident that without completion of the cross-examination of this witness, the statement of PW-3 was recorded and concluded.

On recall for cross-examination on 20.7.1989, this witness had retracted from his previous deposition in the Court and stated that he did not see the assailant who was running away from the place of the incident, inasmuch as, that person was running towards the North-East direction and he (PW-2) was coming from the South-West direction, that means they were on the opposite sides. He further stated that the person who was running away from the place of the incident was at a distance of about 100 yards from him and he could see only his back and not the front. At that time, sun had already been set.

Further, this witness (PW-2) also retracted from his previous statement about identification of accused Ram Chandra and stated that the complete identity of the accused was disclosed to him by the Investigating Officer and then he was simply asked to put his hand on the same person who was pointed out by the Investigating Officer.

15. PW-3 Chhote son of Maiku whose examination-in-chief and cross was completed on 2.5.1989 itself had completely denied his presence near the place of the incident or witnessing the incident. In cross, he retracted from his previous statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by stating that the Investigating Officer did not interrogate him and as to how his statement was written was not known to him. He (PW-3) then stated that he identified the accused as he knew him prior to the incident. In cross for the accused, PW-3 stated that the Investigating Officer had disclosed the identity of the accused such as construction of his face and height to him prior to the identification parade but had denied that he identified the accused on the asking of the Investigating Officer and that he did not know the accused from before the incident.

16. To assail the judgment of conviction, it is argued by the learned counsel for the appellant that the incident had occurred in the dead of night and no one had seen the same. For this reason, the inquest was conducted on the next day, i.e. 26.7.1987 at about 8:30 AM.

17. It was argued that there are material contradictions in the statement of the prosecution witnesses about the time of lodging of the FIR and the dead body having been taken for the postmortem. The first informant (PW-1), the husband of deceased had falsely implicated the appellant on account of enmity as stated by him. The motive for false implication of the accused in a blind murder is evident from the record. No one had supported the case of the prosecution and the independent witnesses had turned hostile. Even the testimony of PW-1 could not be completed as he had died before completion of his cross-examination. It is urged that the cross-examination is the most important tool in the testimony of a witness to know the truth which can be culled out only in his cross. The evidence of PW-1, thus, would not be admissible. The first informant (PW-1) being a related and partison witness, he cannot be said to be a wholly reliable witness. There is, thus, no evidence of implication of the accused in the criminal case. The trial court had committed a grave error of law in recording conviction based on the testimony of PW-1.

18. Reliance is placed on the decision of the Lucknow Bench of this Court in Jodhi @ Ayodhya vs. State of U.P.1 decided on 13th August, 2014 to assert that uncorroborated part of the testimony of PW-1 on account of non-completion of his cross-examination, has to be thrown away. The result is that the prosecution has not succeeded in proving its case by definite evidence that the deceased Laraiti was killed by the accused Ram Chandra.

19. Learned AGA, on the other hand, submitted that in a case where cross-examination of a witness could not be completed, his testimony cannot be thrown away in toto. Reliance is placed on the decision of the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav & another etc. vs. State of U.P.2 to assert that the issue of admissibility of evidence in a case where the cross-examination of a witness is not over has been addressed by the Apex Court and it was held therein that in a given case it has to be decided by the Court as to admissibility of evidence of the witness whose cross-examination was not over.

As per the submissions of the learned AGA though the cross-examination of PW-1 could not be completed but his deposition in the Court on 2.5.1989 in the examination-in-chief and cross cannot be thrown away in totality rather if his evidence is read alongwith the evidence of the hostile witness PW-2, coupled with the fact of lodging of a prompt first information report, it is proved that the murder of deceased Laraiti was committed by accused-appellant Ram Chandra at about 6:00 PM in the field of Raja Ram.

20. Heard learned counsels for the parties and perused the record. Before entering into the factual aspect of the case, we find it apt to discuss the law relating to appreciation of testimony of a hostile witness.

21. It is settled law that the testimony of a witness who though produced by the prosecution in the witness-box but turned to depose in favour of the opposite party, is not to be discarded as a whole. There are two categories of hostile witness, one who may depose in favour of the parties in whose favour it is meant to be giving through his chief examination, while later on change his view in favour of the opposite side. The second category is where a witness does not support the case of the party starting from chief examination. This classification has to be borne in mind by the Court while analysing the testimony of a hostile witness. Reference be made to the decision of the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav (supra) (Para 21) emphasis added.

22. We may note that, in the instant case, PW-2 who has been declared hostile falls in the first category as he supported the case of the prosecution to some extent in chief examination and then became hostile, whereas PW-3 would fall in the second category as he did not support the case of the prosecution from the beginning, i.e. in the chief examination itself.

With respect to the first category in which PW-2 falls, it is settled that the Court is not denuded of its power to make an appropriate assessment of the evidence rendered by such a witness. It was observed in Rajesh Yadav (supra) that even a chief examination could be termed as evidence. Such evidence would become complete after the cross-examination. Once evidence is completed, the said testimony as a whole is meant for the Court to assess and appreciate qua a fact. Therefore, not only the specific part in which a witness has turned hostile but the circumstances under which it happened can also be considered, particularly in a situation where the chief-examination was completed and there are circumstances indicating the reasons behind the subsequent statement, which could be deciphered by the Court. It is held therein that it is well within the powers of the Court to make an assessment in a matter before it and come to the correct conclusion.

The decision in C. Muniappan v. State of T.N.3 of the Apex Court was noted therein to reiterate that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution choose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof.

23. It is settled from a catena of decisions of the Apex Court that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or the defence can be relied upon. The law that can be summarised from the above noted decisions is that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence. [Reference State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra and another4 and Subbu Singh v. State by Public Prosecutor5]

24. Analyzing the testimony of the prosecution witnesses of fact, we may record, at the out set, that nothing could be elicited in favour of the prosecution case from the statement of PW-3 who had turned hostile and completely retracted from his previous statement. His testimony also cannot be read in favour of the defence as he had completely denied his presence at or near the place of the incident and also admitted that he knew accused before the incident and for this reason he had identified him in the identification parade conducted by the police.

25. We then proceed to analyze the testimony of another hostile witness, PW-2, in light of the above discussed legal position stated by the Apex Court to appreciate the testimony of a hostile witness.

Analyzing the testimony of PW-2, we may note that he had fixed the place, time and date of the incident, which is in corroboration with the case of the prosecution. From the testimony of PW-2, it is proved that the incident had occurred in the field of Raja Ram at about 6:00 PM when deceased Smt. Laraiti was collecting 'Nimouri' near the Neem tree. PW-2 also proved his presence at a place wherefrom he could witness the place of the incident and that he had reached at the place of the incident on hearing the cries and also seen the accused Raja Chandra running away from the said place. PW-2 also stated in chief that when he went at the spot he had seen the injuries of the deceased.

From the above statement of PW-2 in chief, it is evident that he had only denied having seen accused Ram Chandra hitting the deceased with 'tabal' at the place of the incident and stated that he did not see any weapon in the hands of accused Ram Chandra while he was running away from the spot of the incident.

26. For this reason only this witness was declared hostile by the prosecution and in his incomplete cross-examination on the first date, i.e. 2.5.1989, PW-2 also fixed the presence of other witnesses namely Chhote, Badri and Krishna Pal at the place of the incident which is in line with the statement in the written report lodged by PW-1 as also the statement of PW-1 before the Court. PW-2 also admitted, in cross, that he was interrogated by the Investigating Officer though he had retracted from the contents of his statement. PW-2 also admitted that he went to identify accused Ram Chandra and he knew him before the incident. PW-2, on recall, when examined on 20.7.1989, after a period of two months, after the death of PW-1 the first informant, retracted even from his previous version in the Court made on 2.5.1989 to the extent that he had seen accused Ram Chandra running away from the spot and that he had identified the accused before the police on his own. From the testimony of PW-2, at least, it is proved that the deceased was attacked in the field of Raja Ram near the Neem tree where she used to go to collect 'Nimouri' on the fateful day at about 6:00 PM. The date, time and place of the incident, thus, had been proved by PW-2.

27. The star witness of the prosecution is PW-1, who was husband of the deceased and the first informant. In his deposition in the Court, PW-1 proved his version in the FIR with regard to the place, date, time and the manner of the incident and the presence of the eye-witnesses on the spot. He also proved the written report lodged by him at about 10:15 PM as Exhibit Ka-1. PW-1 also proved the enmity with the accused, which according to him was the motive of causing the murder of his wife. He also proved that he took his injured wife from the field of Raja Ram to his house wherein she had succumbed to her injuries. The inquest was conducted on the next day, i.e. 26.7.1989 in the house of the first informant.

28. It was, thus, proved by the prosecution witnesses that the homicidal death of the deceased Smt. Laraiti was caused outside her house and she was taken to her house by PW-1 (her husband) after she received injuries in the field of Raja Ram.

All the above facts could not be disputed by the learned counsel for the appellant in his arguments.

Further, PW-1 was consistent in his testimony, which could not be completed on account of his death. His testimony is clear to the extent that he was the eye-witness of the incident and he had seen the accused-appellant causing injuries to his wife by a sharp edged weapon (tabal) which had resulted in her death. The motive for the offence committed by accused-appellant has also been proved by PW-1 in his examination-in-chief. From the perusal of the testimony of PW-1, it is evident that he proved the written report (Exhibit Ka-1) and its content and the fact that he went to the police station alongwith the village Chaukidar to lodge the first report and the Investigating Officer reached the spot after getting the said information. The inquest was conducted and the body was sent for postmortem. The narration of fact by PW-1 with regard to the lodging of the first information report by giving a written report as also the inquest conducted in his house is corroborated from the documentary evidences on record.

The issue which has been raised by the learned counsel for the appellant is that since the cross-examination of PW-1 could not be completed, his testimony cannot be relied to convict the appellant. The contention is that the corroboration of an oral testimony is required by cross-examination of the witness, which is an important tool to cull out falsity in the version of the witness in his examination-in-chief. The testimony of PW-1 on account of his death, remained uncorroborated and hence the trial court had committed a grave error of law in relying upon his version to convict the accused-appellant.

29. To deal with this submission, we may first go through the authoritative pronouncements of the Apex Court, wherein the guidelines to deal with such a situation has been laid down.

30. However, before appreciation of the legal position, we would like to record our assessment of the circumstances indicating the reasons behind the subsequent statement of PW-2 dated 20.7.1989, wherein he had retracted from his previous statement in-chief and cross, recorded on 2.5.1989.

31. We may record that the manner in which the trial court, in the instant case, had proceeded to examine the witnesses cannot be approved of.

We may also note that the trial Judge while recording his finding had also expressed his dissatisfaction in the manner in which his predecessor trial Judge had recorded the statements of the prosecution witnesses of fact. The record reflects that three prosecution witnesses of facts were examined on the same day, i.e. on 2.5.1989, but not in the correct order of examination. We are not able to understand as to why the trial court had proceeded to record the statements of PW-2 and PW-3 without completing the cross-examination of PW-1 on 2.5.1989. We are also astonished with pain to note that even deposition of PW-2 Ashiq Ali was not completed on 2.9.1989 and when his cross-examination had continued after lunch, this witness (PW-2) though was administered oath but his cross-examination was not proceeded, for the reasons best known to the Presiding Officer concerned. It is not understandable nor acceptable that the trial Judge had proceeded to record the statement of PW-3 without completing the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 in the chronological order.

32. Surprisingly enough, the deposition of PW-3 was completed on the same day, i.e. 2.5.1989 and the cross-examination of PW-1 and PW-2 could not be resumed before 20.7.1989, for about two months. The explanation for delay in the cross-examination of PW-1 and PW-2 and their non-examination on the date of their appearance, obviously, could not be given by the prosecution on the query made by the Court. However, it is evident from the record that a report dated 22.6.1989 was received on summoning of PW-1 and PW-2 Ashiq Ali for cross-examination that PW-1, Puttu had died about a month before. The reasons for retraction of PW-2 from his previous version in the Court recorded on 2.5.1989 after death of PW-1, the husband of deceased, are not far to seek.

33. It seems from the record of the instant case that the defence had succeeded in manipulating the trial Judge who had recorded statements of the witnesses of fact and in order to frustrate the case of the prosecution, the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 was not completed on the first date, i.e. 2.5.1989. Nothing could be discerned about the role of the prosecuting officer after such a long time as we are deciding the case of the year 1989 in the year 2022. However, this much can be concluded that the trial Judge who had recorded the statements of the prosecution witnesses of fact (PW-1 to PW-3) did not act fairly. The right of the parties, whether defence or the prosecution, for a fair trial has been seriously hampered in the present case.

34. Coming to the argument of the learned counsel for the appellant that the testimony of PW-1 cannot be read in evidence and has to be discarded in toto as his cross-examination could not be completed, we may gain benefit from the decision of the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav (supra), wherein while dealing with the Section 3 of the Evidence Act, 1872, the Apex Court had discussed the methods for analysing the matters before the Court, i.e. the evidence in proving the existence of a fact. It was observed that the entire enactment (the Evidence Act) is meant to facilitate the Court to come to an appropriate conclusion in proving a fact. There are two methods by which the court is expected to come to such a decision. (i) the Court can come to a conclusion on the existence of a fact by merely considering the matters before it, in forming an opinion that it does exist. This belief of the Court is based upon the assessment of the matters before it. (ii) Alternatively, the Court can consider the said existence as probable from the perspective of a prudent man who might act on the supposition that it exists.

The question as to the choice of the options is best left to the Court to decide. The said decision might impinge upon the quality of the matters before it.

It was observed that a judge has to transform into a prudent man and assess the existence of a fact after considering the matters through that lens instead of a judge. It is only after undertaking the said exercise can he resume his role as a judge to proceed further in the case.

It was further noted that the provision in Section 3 of the Evidence Act indicates that the court is concerned with the existence of a fact both in issue and relevant, as against a whole testimony. Thus, the concentration is on the proof of a fact for which a witness is required. Therefore, a court can appreciate and accept the testimony of a witness on a particular issue while rejecting it on others since it focuses on an issue of fact to be proved. However, the evidence of a witness as whole is a matter for the court to decide on the probability of proving a fact which is inclusive of the credibility of the witness. Whether an issue is concluded or not is also a Court's domain.

It was further noted that evidence of a witness can be divided into three categories broadly, namely, (i) wholly reliable; (ii) wholly unreliable; and (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. The manner in which the testimony of a witness would be appreciated depends upon the category in which it was considered by the Court.

As to the law relating to appreciation of the testimony of a hostile witness, we would like to refer to the foregoing paragraphs of this judgment to note that the evidence of a hostile witness is not to be rejected as a whole.

As noted in Rajesh Yadav (supra), the Court can also assess the circumstance in which a witness had turned hostile, as discussed above.

35. We may further note that the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav (supra) while expressing deep anguish over to manner in which long adjournments had been granted by the trial Judge therein permitting an act of manoeuvring, had referred to its earlier decision in Vinod Kumar v. State of Punjab6. It was reiterated that in Vinod Kumar (supra) the Apex Court while dealing with the situation where a witness after rendering testimony in line with the prosecution's version, completely abandoned it, in view of the long adjournments given by the trial court had observed that a fair trial is to be fair both to the defence and the prosecution as well as to the victim. The appropriate course on the part of the trial Judge was to finish the cross-examination on the day the said witness was examined. It was noted that no reason in the said case was assigned to defer the cross-examination and then recording it after a delay of 20 months, giving room for the witness to be gained over. While appreciating the testimony of a hostile witness therein, it was held by the Apex Court in Vinod Kumar (supra) that the evidence in entirety of the prosecution witness cannot be brushed aside. The delay in cross-examination had resulted in his prevarication from the examination-in-chief but the part of his testimony, which supported the case of the prosecution was relied upon.

Having noted the relevant paragraphs of the decision in Vinod Kumar (supra), the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav (supra) while referring to Section 33 of the Evidence Act has held in paragraph '24' as under:-

"24. Section 33 is an exception to the general rule which mandates adequate facility for cross examining a witness. However, in a case where a witness after the completion of the chief examination and while subjecting him to a substantial and rigorous cross examination, did not choose to get into the witness box on purpose, it is for the court to utilize the said evidence appropriately. The issues over which the evidence is completed could be treated as such by the court and then proceed. Resultantly, the issues for which the cross examination is not over would make the entire examination as inadmissible. Ultimately, it is for the court to decide the aforesaid aspect. "

Having noted the law laid down by the Apex Court in Vinod Kumar (supra) and Rajesh Yadav (supra), it is settled that the part of the testimony of a witness whose cross-examination is not over, would not make the entire examination as inadmissible. The evidence of the hostile witness who after examination-in-chief had abandoned the case of the prosecution because of the long delay in completing his testimony, cannot be read in favour of the defence or against the prosecution. It is for the Court to utilize the said evidence appropriately and decide that the issues over which the evidence is completed could be read in evidence and the issues for which the cross-examination is not over, as inadmissible. As has been held in Rajesh Yadav (supra) ultimately it is for the court to decide the aforesaid aspect.

36. In light of the above, having noticed the circumstances in which the cross-examination of PW-1, the first informant, could not be completed, we find that it is not one of those cases where non-completion of cross-examination of the witness would result in rejection of the whole testimony of PW-1, the eye-witness.

37. On due consideration of the law discussed above, in the facts of the present case, we find that PW-1 in his examination-in-chief proved the mode and manner of occurrence and that the murder had been caused by the accused. He proved his presence on the spot as also the place of the occurrence and the presence of other witnesses on the spot who later turned hostile. In the cross-examination of PW-1, the first informant, which commenced on 2.5.1989, he proved the factum of lodging of the written report as Exhibit Ka-1 at the date and the time indicated in the Check report i.e. 25.7.1987 at about 10:15 PM. He also proved that he went alongwith the village Chaukidar to lodge the first information report and after lodging of the same, the police came on the spot, conducted the inquest and took the body for the postmortem. The place of the incident being the field of Raja Ram was also proved by this witness namely PW-1 in his cross-examination. Nothing contrary could be found from the record with this part of testimony of PW-1 which stood proved from his incomplete cross-examination. The above noted part of the testimony of PW-1, therefore, is to be appreciated alongwith the surrounding circumstances of the case, i.e. the other evidence on record.

38. From the record, it is proved that the first information report of the incident was a prompt report as it was lodged on the same day at about 10:15 PM, when the incident had occurred at about 6:00 PM. PW-1 proved that after injuries were caused to his wife by accused Ram Chandra by 'tabal', he carried his wife to his house and while he was making arrangements to take her to the hospital, she had succumbed to her injuries. He then called the village Chaukidar and got the written report scribed, went to the police station alongwith the village Chaukidar to lodge the report. The time taken by PW-1 in lodging the report stood explained from his testimony and the circumstances on record that the incident had occurred in the open field and the deceased did not die on the spot. The place of the occurrence and the reason why the deceased was present on the said place, as narrated by PW-1, is corroborated from the version of PW-2 in his first examination , both in chief and cross made on 2.5.1989.

39. We may further note that even after PW-2 was declared hostile and further retracted from his previous statement on recall after two months, from his testimony, his presence near the place of incident cannot be disputed. On appreciation of the whole testimony of the PW-2, a hostile witness, it is evident that the incident in question had occurred on 25.7.1987 at about 6:00 PM near the Neem tree existing in the field of Raja Ram where the deceased went to collect 'Nimouri' in her usual way.

It is also proved that PW-2 was present near the place of the incident and reached on hearing the cries of PW-1 (husband of the deceased) and had seen one person running away from the place of the incident as also the injuries of the deceased.

40. On a conjoined reading of the statement of PW-1 and PW-2, the case of the prosecution is found proved as to the mode and manner of occurrence and the involvement of accused Ram Chandra. Other supporting evidence from the record, i.e. medical evidence also corroborates the ocular version of PW-1, the injuries caused on the person of the deceased, which were cause of her death. Both the injuries are of sharp-edged weapon and as per the opinion of the doctor, it could occur from the weapon assigned in the hands of appellant Ram Chandra, which is 'tabal', as per the version in the first information report and the statement of PW-1.

We may further note that 'tabal' is a weapon which is very close to 'Talwar' (sword) which was opined by the doctor being the possible weapon relating to injuries of the deceased. It is also proved that the injuries sustained on the deceased were sufficient to cause her death. The fact that PW-1, the first informant, could not take his wife to the hospital would be of no consequence.

41. The Investigating Officer (PW-7) proved that after lodging of the first information report, which was entered in the General Diary on the same day, i.e. 25.7.1987, the investigation was conducted by the another Investigating Officer namely I. H. Jafri who prepared the site plan in his handwriting. The site plan 'Exhibit Ka-6' dated 26.7.1987 gives the complete description of the place of the incident and the presence of the witnesses and the accused on the spot.

42. The motive assigned to the accused for causing death of Smt. Laraiti being a civil dispute, had not been disputed by the defence. The presence of motive in a case of eye-witness account is a relevant circumstance which show the evil intent of the accused and becomes relevant to show that the accused who had the motive to commit the crime actually committed it. It is settled that the relevancy of motive would primarily depend upon the facts and circumstances of the given case. In an eye-witness account though motive is not of much of relevance, presence and proof of motive affords a key or pointer to scan the evidence in the case in that perspective and the motive in such a case becomes satisfactory circumstance of corroboration. [Reference State of U.P. vs. Moti Ram and others7]

43. In light of the above discussion, considering the attending circumstances of the case and the motive with which the accused-appellant committed the murder of Smt. Laraiti, we are of the firm opinion that there is no infirmity in the decision of the trial court in convicting the accused-appellant for the offence of murder under Section 302 IPC.

The punishment inflicted upon the appellant is minimum. No interference, as such, is required.

The judgment and order dated 11.8.1989 passed by the Special/Additional Sessions Judge, Shahjahanpur in Sessions Trial No. 470 of 1987 (State vs. Ram Chandra) arising out of Case Crime No. 235/1987, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Jalalabad, District Shahjahanpur is hereby affirmed.

The appeal deserves to be dismissed, accordingly.

44. Before parting with this judgment, we may find it profitable and necessary to note certain observations of the Apex court in Vinod Kumar (supra), wherein the Court had expressed deep anguish in a situation therein wherein the cross-examination of the witness was deferred without any reason.

The relevant paragraphs of the report are noted as under:-

"57. Before parting with the case we are constrained to reiterate what we have said in the beginning. We have expressed our agony and anguish the manner in which trials in respect of serious offences relating to corruption are being conducted by the trial courts:

57.1. Adjournments are sought on the drop of a hat by the counsel, even though the witness is present in court, contrary to all principles of holding a trial. That apart, after the examination-in-chief of a witness is over, adjournment is sought for cross-examination and the disquieting feature is that the trial courts grant time. The law requires special reasons to be recorded for grant of time but the same is not taken note of.

57.2. As has been noticed earlier, in the instant case the cross-examination has taken place after a year and 8 months allowing ample time to pressurize the witness and to gain over him by adopting all kinds of tactics.

57.3. There is no cavil over the proposition that there has to be a fair and proper trial but the duty of the court while conducting the trial to be guided by the mandate of the law, the conceptual fairness and above all bearing in mind its sacrosanct duty to arrive at the truth on the basis of the material brought on record. If an accused for his benefit takes the trial on the path of total mockery, it cannot be countenanced. The Court has a sacred duty to see that the trial is conducted as per law. If adjournments are granted in this manner it would tantamount to violation of rule of law and eventually turn such trials to a farce. It is legally impermissible and jurisprudentially abominable. The trial courts are expected in law to follow the command of the procedure relating to trial and not yield to the request of the counsel to grant adjournment for non-acceptable reasons.

57.4. In fact, it is not all appreciable to call a witness for cross-examination after such a long span of time. It is imperative if the examination-in-chief is over, the cross-examination should be completed on the same day. If the examination of a witness continues till late hours the trial can be adjourned to the next day for cross-examination. It is inconceivable in law that the cross-examination should be deferred for such a long time. It is anathema to the concept of proper and fair trial.

57.5. The duty of the court is to see that not only the interest of the accused as per law is protected but also the societal and collective interest is safe-guarded. It is distressing to note that despite series of judgments of this Court, the habit of granting adjournment, really an ailment, continues. How long shall we say, "Awake! Arise!". There is a constant discomfort. Therefore, we think it appropriate that the copies of the judgment be sent to the learned Chief Justices of all the High Courts for circulating the same among the learned trial Judges with a command to follow the principles relating to trial in a requisite manner and not to defer the cross-examination of a witness at their pleasure or at the leisure of the defence counsel, for it eventually makes the trial an apology for trial and compels the whole society to suffer chicanery. Let it be remembered that law cannot allowed to be lonely; a destitute.",

We may further note the observations of the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav (supra) in paragraph '39' as under:-

"39. Before we part with this case, we are constrained to record our anguish on the deliberate attempt to derail the quest for justice. Day in and day out, we are witnessing the sorry state of affairs in which the private witnesses turn hostile for obvious reasons. This Court has already expressed its views on the need for a legislative remedy to curtail such menace. Notwithstanding the above stated directions issued by this court in Vinod Kumar (supra), we take judicial note of the factual scenario that the trial courts are adjourning the cross examination of the private witnesses after the conclusion of the cross examination without any rhyme or reason, at the drop of a hat. Long adjournments are being given after the completion of the chief examination, which only helps the defense to win them over at times, with the passage of time. Thus, we deem it appropriate to reiterate that the trial courts shall endeavor to complete the examination of the private witnesses both chief and cross on the same day as far as possible. To further curtail this menace, we would expect the trial courts to take up the examination of the private witnesses first, before proceeding with that of the official witnesses. A copy of this judgment shall be circulated to all the trial courts, to be facilitated through the respective High Courts."

The Apex Court while taking judicial notice of the factual scenario in Rajesh Yadav (supra) reiterated that the appropriate course for the trial court is to make endeavour to complete the examination of the private witnesses, both chief and cross, on the same day, as far as possible, and also to take up the examination of the private witnesses first, before proceeding with that of the official witnesses. This approach is needed to ensure fair and proper trial which is the duty of the trial Court and also to curb the menace where the private witnesses turned hostile for obvious reasons because of long adjournments, permitting an act of manoeuvring.

45. Though in the instant case, wherein the trial was conducted in the year 1989, nothing much could be said on the conduct of the trial Judge who had recorded the statements of the prosecution witnesses of fact (PW-1 to PW-3), however, as a guidance to conduct the trial in a prudent manner, it is imperative to notify the abovenoted judgment of the Apex Court to the Sessions Court throughout the State of U.P., as a reminder to the caution and directions issued by the Apex Court in Vinod Kumar (supra) reiterated in Rajesh Yadav (supra).

46. We, therefore, direct that the copy of the judgment and order dated 4th February, 2022 of the Apex Court in Rajesh Yadav and another etc. vs. State of U.P. (Criminal Appeal Nos. 339-340 of 2014) reported in 2022 (3) ADJ (SC) be circulated amongst all the trial Judges in the State of U.P. by the Registrar General, High Court, Allahabad.

With the above observations and directions, on merits, the appeal is dismissed.

The appellant is in jail.

The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record along with a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

Necessary steps shall be taken by the court below to notify this judgment to all concerned.

THE HON'BLE MRS. SUNITA AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE SUBHASH CHANDRA SHARMA, J.

Criminal Appeal No.2111 of 1988

Ram Singh & Ors. ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri N.K. Sharma, Sri Anshul Singhal, Sri Mukesh Kumar, Sri S.P.S. Chauhan, Sri Vinod Kumar Singh, Sri Rahul Kumar Sharma

Counsel for the Respondent:
A.G.A., Sri Ravi Prakash Singh

(A) Criminal Law - Appeal against conviction - Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 148, 302, 323 read with Section 149 , The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Sections 133 & 313.

Enimity owing to litigation between the informant, appellant and the informant and residents of his village relating to the pathway - PW-1(informant and brother of deceased) - injured witness - presence on the place of occurrence . (Para - 44,)

(B) Criminal Law - Testimony of an injured witness - Testimony of an injured witness is accorded a special status in law - evidence of an injured witness cannot be doubted merely because there is a background of previous dispute or enmity between the parties - evidence of the stamped witness must be given due weightage as his presence on the place of occurrence cannot be doubted - held - testimony of the injured witnesses is absolutely clear and cogent and free from any kind of discrepancies, embellishments and concoctions - in consonance with the medical evidence on record - no grounds for rejection of evidence of PW-1 - unless and until major contradictions and discrepancies in the testimony of injured witnesses. (Para - 45,46,47,48)

(c) Criminal Law - delay in lodging FIR - held - Occurrence took place at 5:30 P.M. - F.I.R. was lodged at 21:30 P.M - time gap of four hours in lodging the F.I.R. - cannot be said to be any delay - F.I.R. was prompt.(Para -52)

(D) Criminal Law - motive - unlawful assembly - common object - motive does not have major role to play in cases based on eye witness account of the incident - it assumes significance in cases that rest on circumstantial evidence - established from the testimony of the prosecution witnesses - random individual acts done by appellants without meeting of mind - appellants can be held liable only for their individual acts - Deceased stabbed with spear - injured succumbed to the stab injury - No other appellants assaulted deceased with lathi except to other persons (injured) - held - It would be hazardous to hold that there was an unlawful assembly and common object of that assembly (of the appellants) was to commit the murder.(Para -54,63)

HELD:- Conviction of each of these appellants under Section 147 & 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C. cannot be said to be just and lawful and sentence to imprisonment for each is, hereby, set aside. Established beyond reasonable doubt that appellants caused injuries which were simple in nature and punishable under Section 323 I. P.C. . Conviction of appellants modified as conviction under Section 323 I.P.C. . (Para - 63,64)

Criminal Appeal partly allowed. (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri N.K. Sharma learned Advocate assisted by Sri Anshul Kumar Singhal learned Advocate on behalf of the appellant nos.3 & 4; Gajraj and Raghuveer; respectively and Sri Mukesh Kumar, learned counsel on behalf of the appellant no.5- Ram Bahadur.

2. This appeal emanates from the judgment and order dated 14.09.1988 passed by the learned VIIth Additional Session Judge, Aligarh in S.T. No.373/1987 (State vs. Rajveer & others) arising out of Case Crime No.26 of 1987 u/s 148, 302, 323 readwith Section 149 I.P.C., Police Station Sikandrarau, District Aligarh whereby appellant Rajveer has been convicted and sentenced for imprisonment for a period of six months u/s 148; with life imprisonment u/s 302 readwith Section 149 I.P.C; for a period of three months simple imprisonment u/s 323 readwith Section 149 I.P.C; and appellant Ram Singh, Roshan, Gajraj, Raghuveer, Ram Bahadur & Roop Kishore have been convicted and sentenced u/s 147 I.P.C. for a period of three months rigorous imprisonment; u/s 302 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. for life imprisonment; and u/s 323 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. for a period of three months simple imprisonment.

3. Co-appellant Rajveer had died during pendency of this appeal, therefore, appeal on behalf of co-appellant Rajveer stands abated.

4. The prosecution case in brief is that informant Ram Khiladi S/o Surat Singh is R/o Nagla Mahari hamlet of Kachaura, Police Station Sikandrarao. There was enmity owing to litigation between the informant Roshan Singh, Ram Singh and the informant and residents of his village relating to the pathway. As per narration in the F.I.R on 22.01.1987 at about 5:30 P.M., Pandit Bakelal resident of the neighbouring village cried near the Pipal tree in the forest under the fear of ghost on which several people reached there. In the meantime, the informant and his brother Rukumpal were coming back to their house from the field with fodder of babul and passed by the Pipal tree while looking at Bakelal Pandit. When they were near the Shiv Temple, Rajbir, Ram Singh, Roshan Singh, Gajraj, Kishorilal, Raghuveer, Ram Bahadur and Roop Kishore called and asked as to who was there and that who was shouting/crying, on which the informant replied that it was Bakelal Pandit who got scared near the pipal tree. On this, they said to him while abusing that he was not telling the truth. On this, the informant told them to keep their tongue under control and asked why were they abusing. An altercation was started between them and at which the accused said "maro salon ko inka dimag bahut kharab hai" and they began to beat all of them with lathi and spear.

5. On hearing their screams, his father, brother Ramji Lal, Ramdeen, Dhyan Singh and Krishnaveer ran to save them. They were assaulted as well. Rajveer was equipped with spear and others were carrying lathi. Rajveer pierced with spear in the abdomen of Rukum Pal who fainted and fell down. In the meantime, Netrapal, Sughar Singh and Foran Singh came there and the accused/appellants ran away. It was stated in the report that in defence, the complainant side also wielded lathi which might have caused injuries to some of the persons of the accused party, but all on the side of the complainant were injured. Rukumpal succumbed to the injuries on the way to the hospital Sikandrarao, and then they reached the police station. Written tehrir stating the above noted facts was prepared by the informant and on the basis of it, F.I.R. was lodged at the police station on the same day at about 21:30 P.M.

6. The inquest of deceased Rukum Pal was conducted by S.I. Baljeet Singh on 22.01.1987 on the same day at about 10:40 P.M. at the gate of the police station and the inquest report was prepared in the presence of the witnesses present there. The dead body was sealed, essential papers were prepared and the body was handed over to constables Prempal Singh and Ram Tirath Singh for the post-mortem. Dr. T.N. Goel conducted autopsy of the dead body of Rukampal which was received by him in a sealed bundle, on 23.01.1987 at 4:30 P.M. and the post-mortem report was proved as Exihibit Ka-2. Details of the post-mortem report are as under:-

11. Injuries found on the body of Krishna are as under :-

(a) Contusion 4 cm x 2 cm on the back of right leg 5 cm above the ankle joint. Injury was simple in nature caused by some hard and blunt object. Fresh in duration.

12. The investigating officer visited the place of the occurrence, collected blood stained and plain soil in separate boxes, sealed them and prepared fard Ex Ka- 12. Two bundles of fodder of babul were taken into possession and given in supurdagi and fard supurdaginama Ex Ka-13 was prepared.

13. Search of the house of accused Rajveer was made on 29.01.1987 from where blood stained spear was recovered at the instance of the appellant Ram Singh and taken into custody and fard Ex Ka- 15 was prepared.

14. After inspection of the place of occurrence at the instance of the informant,site plan Ex Ka- 11 was prepared on 23.01.1987 by the Investigating Officer and the site plan Ex Ka-23 relating to recovery of spear from the house of co-appellant Rajveer was also prepared on 29.01.1987. The Investigating Officer had also recorded the statements of witnesses conversant to the facts of the case. He concluded the investigation and found a case prima facie made out u/s 147, 148, 149, 323, 302 I.P.C. against the appellants and after preparing the charge-sheet, he submitted it to the court concerned.

15. Cognizance of the offences was taken by the learned C.J.M., who provided copies of prosecution papers to the appellants in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. and committed the case to the court of sessions for trial.

16. Learned trial court framed the charges u/s 147, 148, 302, 323 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. on the basis of the material on record after giving opportunity of hearing to the appellants. Charges were readover and explained to them. They pleaded not guilty but denied the charges and claimed for trial, consequently case was fixed for prosecution evidence.

17. The prosecution examined PW-1 Ram Khiladi, PW-2 Sughar Singh, PW-3 Netrapal, PW-4 Sri Krishana Veer as witnesses of fact. PW-5 Dr. T. N. Goel is the doctor who conducted the post-mortem of the body of deceased Rukampal and prepared post-mortem report. PW-6 Dr. L.S. Chauhan had examined the injuries on the person of Ramji Lal, Ram Khiladi, Suraj Singh, Dhyan Singh and Krishan Singh and prepared injury report. PW-7 H.C. Sri Krishna prepared the check F.I.R. on the basis of tehrir and entered the detail in the G.D. PW-8 S.I. Mahaveer Singh Yadav conducted the investigation of the case after S.S.I. Kailash and Inspector Baljeet Singh and submitted the charge-sheet. PW-9 Constable Ram Tirath brought the dead body to the mortuary for the post-mortem. PW-10 Lakhan Singh is a witness of recovery of spear from the house of appellant Rajveer. PW-11 Inspector Baljeet Singh recorded the statement of witnesses and prepared the inquest report and after visiting the place of the incident prepared the site plan.

18. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, the statements of appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C were recorded wherein they negated the statements made by the witnesses before the court and stated that witnesses had falsely implicated them due to enmity. Co-appellant Rajveer had also negated the recovery of spear from his house. All the appellants had made similar statements.

19. Appellants were given an opportunity for defence evidence wherein they examined Layak Singh as DW-1 in their support.

20. Learned trial court heard the arguments for the prosecution as well as appellants, passed the judgment and order dated 14.09.1988 wherein he found the appellant Rajveer guilty under Sections 148, 302, 323 read with Section 149 I.P.C. Appellants Ram Singh, Roshan, Gajraj, Raghuveer, Ram Bahadur and Roop Kishore were found guilty u/s 147, 302, 323 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. and sentenced as aforesaid against which this appeal has been preferred.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the judgment of the learned trial court is against the evidence available on record. It is bad in the eyes of law and based on the testimony of interested witnesses those who were related to the deceased. No independent witness had been examined though the occurrence took place on a public place. The prosecution failed to establish the motive for committing the offence. As a result, no offence can be said to be made out against the appellants under Sections 302, 323 read with Section 149 I.P.C. Appellant Rajveer who had been assigned the role of stabbing spear had already died. There was no evidence of unlawful assembly and common object, therefore, conviction under Section 302 with the help of Section 149 I.P.C. against all the appellants cannot be sustained. The learned trial court on misappropriation of the evidence has convicted and sentenced all the appellants with the aid of Section 149 I.P.C. which is bad in law. There was no common object in the minds of the appellants to murder the deceased. There was an altercation between the appellants and the deceased due to which the incident took place wherein people from both the sides received injuries. This fact is clear from the F.I.R. wherein the informant has mentioned that in defence people on their side also wielded lathi causing injuries to some people on the accused side. In this way, from the evidence on record, it transpires that the appellants had not committed the act in prosecution of their common object so they cannot be held guilty for the overt act committed singly by appellant Rajveer for stabbing with spear to the deceased. Even if it is accepted that there was a common object it may be to the extent of causing injuries only but not to commit the murder. Therefore, the case, at the worst, would fall within the limits of Section 323 I.P.C. and the appeal deserves to be allowed.

22. Learned A.G.A. opposed the submissions made by the learned counsel for the appellants and urged that, in this case, the appellants caused injuries to the deceased with lathi and spear and also to other injured persons with lathi. All the appellants formed an unlawful assembly and in prosecution of the common object of the assembly they committed the murder of Rukampal and caused injuries to others. It was argued that it is not necessary that an assembly may be unlawful since the beginning but it may become unlawful subsequently and in this regard the argument made by the learned counsel for the appellants is not tenable. The witnesses had sustained injuries on their person so their presence cannot be disputed and their testimony is wholly reliable. There are no material contradictions in their statements. They are natural witnesses of the incident so their testimony cannot be said to be unreliable and untrustworthy. Learned trial court has convicted the appellants on the basis of the evidence on record. There is no illegality in the judgment in question and the appeal being devoid of merit is liable to be dismissed.

23. From the submissions and perusal of the record,the following questions emerged for consideration by this Court (i) as to whether there was any unlawful assembly and common object in prosecution of which the offence was committed or the incident took place only at the spur of the moment without any prior meeting of mind. (ii) Further whether it was only to the extent of committing marpit for which liability of all the appellants cannot be fixed with the help of Section 149 I.P.C.,constructively, but it may be fastened individually on the appellant Rajbeer who did overt act in causing injury to Rukampal with spear resulting into his death, and that the offence committed by the appellants goes to the extent of Section 323 I.P.C. since appellant Rajbeer who stabbed the deceased with spear had already died and this appeal on his behalf stood abated.

24. Before we deal with the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellant, it would be convenient to take note of the witnesses account as adduced by the prosecution.

25. PW-1 Ram Khiladi,the informant and brother of the deceased Rukampal deposed that he is resident of Nagla Surat Singh. Appellant Rajbeer and Gajraj are residents of Nagla Beni Ram. Other appellants Roshan, Ram Singh, Ram Bahadur, Kishori, Roop Kishor and Raghuveer are residents of Nagla Kaka which is 200 meters away in the South direction. Nagla Beni Ram is located in the Western direction at the distance of 350 meters. Appellants Rajbeer and Gajraj are uncle and nephew, Roop Kishor and Kishori are cousins. Ram Singh and Ram Bahadur are also uncle and nephew, likewise Kishori and Rajbeer are also cousins.The informant moved an application u/s 133 Cr.P.C. before the S.D.M. against Roshan and Ram Singh for removing the obstruction in the pathway in front of his house which was withdrawn by him under the pressure of both the appellants. That pathway was still closed regarding. Earlier also an application was moved before the S.D.M whereupon order was passed to remove the obstruction and open the way due to which they became inimical with him. He further reiterated the averments in the FIR about the occurrence.It is stated by PW 1 that he wrote a tehrir by taking a piece of paper from the compounder of the hospital and lodged the report at the police station Sikandrarao.He proved the written tehrir being in his writing and signature as Ex Ka - 1. It was further stated that all the injured persons were sent to Sikandrarau hospital for medical examination where they were medically examined and the dead body of Rukampal was kept in front of the police station.

This witness was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination by the learned counsel for the appellants wherein the witness had not disclosed any such fact which weakens his testimony. He had assigned the role of stabbing with spear to the appellant Rajbeer and marpit by lathi by other appellants.

26. PW-2 Sughar Singh deposed that on the date of the incident, at about 5:30 P.M.,he was coming from the side of the village and when reached near the temple outside the village,he heard the noise of abuses. Hearing the noise,he reached to the boundary line of the field of Kedari, where Sobran Singh and Netrapal Singh were also present. He saw that Rukampal, Ram Khiladi, Suraj Singh, Dhyanveer Singh, Krishnaveer Singh and Ramji Lal were being beaten by Rajveer, Gajraj, Roshan, Raghuveer, Kishori, Roop Kishor, Ram Singh and Ram Bahadur. Rajveer stabbed

Rukampal with spear in his stomach, as a result, he fell down.Other accused persons beaten Rukampal, Dhyan Singh, Suraj Singh, Ramji Lal, Ram Khiladi and Krishnaveer with lathi. All these persons sustained injuries of lathi. After beating, accused persons went away towards the East direction. Rukampal became unconscious and was taken to his house on a cot.

This witness was also subjected to grueling cross-examination by the learned counsel for the appellants but even during the cross-examination he again asserted the account of the incident as committed by the appellants. No such statement was made by him as to indicate that this witness was not present at the place of occurrence or he could not identify the assailants.

27. PW-3 Netrapal Singh had deposed that the time of murder of Rukampal was 5:30 P.M. He was at the temple and heard noise coming from the field of Kedari. The boundary line of the field of Kedari and the temple was same. Hearing the noise he went to the filed of Kedari where Ram Khiladi, Ramji Lal, Rukum Pal, Kishanveer, Ramdin, Surajpal, Sugar Sigh & Sobran Singh were present. Rajbir was equipped with spear (Bhala), Gajraj Singh, Kishori Lal, Roopkishor, Ram Singh, Ram Bahadur, Roshan Singh and Raghuveer were equipped with lathi. These people started beating Ram Khiladi and others. Rajbir stabbed Rukampal with spear who fell on the ground. PW 3 stated that he interrupted and said why did you beat them,whether you would kill them. In addition to Rukam Pal, Ramji Lal, Ram Khilari, Ramdin, Kishan Veer and Suraj Pal also sustained injuries. After beating, the accused persons ran away towards East.

This witness faced lengthy cross-examination but he reiterated the detail of the incident categorically without any deviation.

28. PW-4 Krishnaveer also stated that his brother Rukam Pal was murdered at about 5:30 P.M. He was at home at that time. His father, brother Ramji Lal, Ramdin and Dhyan Singh were also at home. Hearing the noise from near the temple, they went to the field of Kedari (near the temple) where Rajbir, Gajraj, Ram Bahadur, Ram Singh, Roshan Lal, Kishan Lal and Roop Singh were present. They were beating his brothers Ram Khiladi and Rukam Pal. Rajbir had spear and others were equipped with lathi and all the accused were beating the complainant side. When they tried to save the injured, the accused Rajbir and others also beaten them and caused injuries, Rajbir stabbed with spear in the stomach of his brother Rukam Pal before him, with the stab wound Rukam Pal fell down. He,(P.W. 4) Ram Khiladi, Ramji Lal, Dhyan Singh and his father Sooraj Singh also sustained injuries. After committing marpit, accused persons went away towards the East. Rukum Pal was brought to his house by them, then to the police station by tractor. While they were taking him to the hospital at Sikandra Rao he succumbed to his injuries.

This witness was also cross-examined by the learned counsel for the appellant at length but during cross-examination the witness had asserted the details of the incident clearly without deviating from the actual facts relating to the occurrence.

29. PW-5 Dr. T.N. Goel had deposed that on 23.01.1987 he was posted at Malkhan Singh Hospital and conducted the post-mortem of the dead body of Rukam Pal at about 4:35 O'clock. Dead body was brought by the constables Prem Pal and Ram Tirath. He had proved the injuries found on the person of deceased and also the post-mortem report, having being prepared in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka- 2. He opined that the death of deceased Rukam Pal was possible in the evening at about 8:30 P.M. on 22.01.1987 and injury no.1 could be inflicted with spear and others with lathi and danda.

30. PW-6 Dr. L.S. Chauhan had deposed that on 22.1.1987 he was posted at P.H.C. Sikandrarau as Medical Officer. On that day, he examined injuries on the person of Ramji Lal at 11 O'clock in the night, Ram Khiladi at 11:15 P.M., Sooraj Singh at 11:30 P.M., Dhyan Singh at 11:45 P.M. and Kishan Singh at 12:00 P.M. He proved the injuries found on the person of injured and also injury report prepared by him in his hand writing and signature. He proved them as Ex Ka- 3 to 7.

31. PW-7 Shri Krishan, H.C. Police Station, Sikandrarau deposed that he prepared check report of this case in his hand writing and signature and proved it as Ex Ka- 8. Further stated that the entry of F.I.R. was made as report no.41 in G.D. in his hand writing and signature and proved the carbon copy of G.D. by comparing it with the original, as Ex Ka- 9.

32. PW-8 S.I. Mahaveer Singh Yadav stated that he was handed over the investigation of this case after S.S.I. Kailash Bhusan and Inspector Bajeet Singh. He recorded the statements of witnesses Ramdin, Netrapal, Sughar Singh and all the accused persons. He prepared the charge-sheet in his hand writing and signature which he proved as Ex Ka-10.

33. PW-9 Constable Ram Tirath, stated that on 22.01.1987 at about 12:00 O'clock in the night he was handed over the dead body of deceased Rukam Pal and brought it to post-mortem house, Aligarh with relevant papers. Constable Prem Pal was also with him at that time.

34. PW-10 Lakhan Singh is a witness of recovery of spear at the instance of Rajbir and proved the recovery as Ex-1.

35. PW-11 Inspector, Baljeet Singh had investigated the case prior to S.S.I. Mahaveer Singh. He proved the investigation done by him and also the inquest report which was got prepared by S.I., K.P. Sharma and the site plan of the place where two bundles of babul fodder were lying as Ex Ka-11. He also proved fard relating to collection of blood stained and plain soil from the place of occurrence as Ex Ka-12, supurdaginama relating to two bundles of babul fodder as Ex Ka-13 and search memo of the house of accused Rajbir as Ex Ka-14. Thereafter,he was transferred. Further he proved the fard recovery of the spear in the hand writing of S.I., K.B. Singh as Ex Ka-15, the inquest report of deceased Rukam Pal in the hand writing and signature of Sri K.P. Sharma as Ex Ka-16, other relevant papers relating thereto as Ex Ka-17 to Ex Ka-22 and the site plan relating to the place of recovery as Ex Ka-23.

36. PW-1 to PW-4 are witnesses of fact. All these witnesses remained intact during their gruelling examination. No such contradictions are visible in their statements which can make their testimony unreliable and unnatural. Minor contradictions are there but they are of cosmetic nature and not likely to affect the credibility of their testimony. In the instant case, both informant, injured persons and the appellants belong to the adjacent locality. There cannot be any dispute about the identification of the appellants. Though the appellants have stated in their statements recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. that they had been implicated falsely on account of enmity but there was no suggestion of enmity during cross-examination of any of the witnesses which might have adversely affected their reliability and become an excuse for implicating the accused falsely while absolving real culprits. It is to note that PW-1 Ram Khilari, informant has stated that he moved an application u/s 133 Cr.P.C. before the S.D.M. against Roshan and Ram Singh for removing obstructions in the pathway in front of his house which was withdrawn by him. Thereafter, pathway was still closed and he filed another application before the S.D.M. to remove the obstructions owing to which they became inimical with him. It infers that there was dispute relating to obstruction in the way of the informant between appellants Roshan and Ram Singh but not with other appellants. It can also not be said that on account of such a dispute informant would implicate appellants falsely leaving the real assailants. On the ground of enmity the testimony of ocular witnesses those have sustained injuries in the incident cannot be said to be unreliable because they are natural witnesses of the incident. On the other hand, enmity is said to be with appellant Roshan and Ram Singh whereas other appellants Gajraj, Ram Singh, Ram Bahadur and Roop Kishor were not inimical to the informant. Therefore, the testimony relating to their involvement also can not be disbelieved.

37. There is not even an iota of evidence on record which could suggest that PW-1 to PW-4 had any other grudge against the appellants in any case to implicate them falsely.

38. From PW-1 to 4, all are related to each other and also to the deceased Rukumpal regarding which argument had been made that all these witnesses being relative and highly interested, are not reliable and lack of account of independent witnesses in support of the case is fatal no the prosecution story. No doubt the prosecution witnesses from PW-1 to 4 relating to the fact, as examined in the case, are members of the same family as uncle and nephew and also related to the deceased. But the relationship itself is not a ground to reject the testimony of witnesses, rather a family member would be last to leave the real culprit and falsely implicate any other person.

39. In the case of Brahm Swaroop and another vs. State of U.P. (2011) 6 SCC 288 the Apex Court in Para No.21 has observed as under "merely because the witnesses were related to the deceased persons, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Their relationship to one of the parties is not a factor that affects the credibility of a witness, more so, a relation would not conceal the real culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. A party has to lay down a factual foundation and prove by leading impeccable evidence in respect of its false implication. However, in such cases the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence."

40. The Court also referred cases of Dalip and others vs. State of Punjab A.I.R. (1953) SC 364; Masalti vs. State of U.P. (A.I.R.) 1965 SC 202.

41. In Masalti vs. State of U.P. A.I.R. 1965 SC 202, the Apex Court observed in Para No.14

"but it would, we think, be unreasonably to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on sole ground that it's partisan would inveriably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it's partisan cannot be accepted as correct.

42. It is common knowledge that village (mohalla) life is faction ridden and involvement of one or the other in the incidents is not unusual. One has also to be cautious about the fact that wholly independent witnesses are seldom available or are otherwise not inclined to come forth. Lest they may invite trouble for themselves for future. Therefore, relationship of eye-witnesses inter se, cannot be a ground to discard their testimony. There is no reason to suppose the false implication of the appellants at the instance of the eye-witnesses. It would also be illogical to think that witnesses would screen the real culprits and substitute the appellants for them.

43. This Court has also made such observations in Para No.14 of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581.

44. It is pertinent to note that PW-1 Ram Khilari is an injured witness and his presence on the place of occurrence cannot be denied and it can also not be said that he would conceal the name of real assailants and implicate the false one.

45. It is settled law that the testimony of an injured witness is considered to be very reliable and is accorded a special status in law. In the case of Bhajan Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2011) 7 SCC 421, where it was held as follows: " The evidence of the stamped witness must be given due weightage as his presence on the place of occurrence cannot be doubted. His statement is generally considered to be very reliable and it is unlikely that he has spared the actual assailants in order to falsely implicate someone else. The testimony of an injured witness has its own relevancy and efficacy as he has sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence and this lends support to his testimony that he was present at the time of occurrence. Thus, the testimony of an injured witness is accorded a special status in law. Such a witness comes with a built in guarantee of his presence at the scene of crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailants in order to falsely implicate someone. Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness. (vide Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab (2009) 9 SCC 719; Balraje @ Trimbak v. State of Maharashtra (2010) 6 SCC 673; Abdul Sayed v. State of Madhya Pradesh (2010) 10 SCC 259)".

46. In the case of State of U.P. v. Naresh & Ors. (2011) 4 SCC 324, it was held that evidence of an injured witness cannot be doubted merely because there is a background of previous dispute or enmity between the parties because this could well be the motive of giving assault by the accused on injured witnesses. The evidence of an injured witness has to be appreciated keeping in view that ordinarily a person, who has been assaulted by someone would not allow him to go Scot free and falsely implicate persons other than those who actually assaulted him. The evidence of an injured witness stand on different pedestal as compared to any other witness cited by the prosecution as eye witness, who claims to have seen the incident. Where an injured witness clearly named the person and the assault made on him by those persons which is broadly corroborated with what has been found in the medical report, even though there may not be any mathematical precision with regard to the manner of assault, the evidence of an injured eye witness cannot be lightly thrown aside only on certain minor contradictions and omissions. It cannot be a case of some exaggeration or it could even be some discrepancy in recollecting the whole incident with exactitude and certainty but on certain minor discrepancy disbelieving altogether the testimony of injured eye witness, would be against the settled principle of appreciation of evidence.

47. In the case of Bhajan Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2011) 7 SCC 421 it was observed that in Para No.21 :-

21. The evidence of the stamped witness must be given due weightage as his presence on the place of occurrence cannot be doubted. His statement is generally considered to be very reliable and it is unlikely that he has spared the actual assailant in order to falsely implicate someone else. The testimony of an injured witness has its own relevancy and efficacy as he has sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence and this lends support to his testimony that he was present at the time of occurrence. Thus, the testimony of an injured witness is accorded a special status in law. Such a witness comes with a built-in guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailant(s) in order to falsely implicate someone. "Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness". Thus, the evidence of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are grounds for the rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies therein. (Vide: Abdul Sayeed v. State of Madhya Pradesh (2010) 10 SCC 259; Kailas & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra (2011) 1 SCC 793; Durbal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2011) 2 SCC 676; and State of U.P. v. Naresh & Ors., (2011) 4 SCC.

48. Therefore, in the light of law reproduced as above and applying the same to the facts of the present case, it can be held that the testimony of the injured witnesses, in the present case, is absolutely clear and cogent and free from any kind of discrepancies, embellishments and concoctions. Thus, no ground is made out for brushing aside the testimony of the injured witnesses. There are no grounds for rejection of the evidence of PW-1 and, as discussed above, unless and until there are major contradictions and discrepancies in the testimony of injured witnesses,there arises no reason for either doubting their presence at the spot of the incident or for that matter questioning the injuries suffered by them. Moreover, in the case in hand, the testimony of PW-1 is not only firm, cogent and convincing but is also in consonance with the medical evidence on record.

49. Injuries on the person of deceased Rukumpal were caused by spear, lathi and danda as stated by PW-1 to 5. Ex Ka-2 is the post mortem report in which penetrated wound and abrasion were found on the body of deceased Rukumpal and PW-5 Dr. T. N. Goel has proved the injuries and stated that injury no.1 was possible to be inflicted with spear and others with lathi and danda though in cross-examination he stated that injury no.2 & 3 could occur by falling and injury no.4 by friction and also opined that the death of the deceased Rukumpal was possible in the evening at about 8:30 P.M. on 22.01.1987. In this way, injuries found on the body of deceased Rukumpal are proved to have been caused with spear, in the evening on 22.01.1987 and it also corroborates the manner of causing injuries resulting into death as stated by PW-1 to PW-4. In this regard, the eye-witness account finds support with the medical evidence available on record.

50. Likewise, injuries found on the person of Ram Khilari and Krishan Veer are in the nature of contusions and lacerated wounds which were said to have been caused by the appellants with lathi and danda. Ex Ka-3 to 7 are the injury reports relating to the injured persons. PW-6 Dr. L. S. Chauhan had proved the injuries and stated that they were caused by hard and blunt object like lathi and danda and could occur in the evening on 22.01.1987. Injuries were fresh in nature. In this regard, the testimony of prosecution witnesses relating to the injury caused by the appellants with lathi and danda gets corroboration from the medical evidence on record and the opinion given by the doctor who conducted the medical examination. In this way, the manner of causing injuries and the time when they were caused are well established.

51. The place of occurrence is said to be on the way to the home of the informant passing by the Pipal tree near the Shiv Temple. PW-1 to PW-4 stated that the incident took place at the aforesaid place. In the site plan Ex Ka-11, the place of occurrence had been shown on the North West corner of the field of Kedari where the crop of mustard was grown and found damaged and two bundles of babul twigs with leaves were found lying. Blood was also found there. The Shiv Temple was also situated near that place. Pw-11 Inspector Baljeet Singh had proved the site plan and no question relating to the place of occurrence had been asked to him during his cross-examination except the distance of village Nagla Surat from the place of occurrence which he had disclosed as 250 mtrs. Whereas he mentioned it in the site plan as 200 mtrs. and explained that it was only a guess work. Blood stained and plain soil was collected from that place by I.O. Pw-1 Ramkhilari had also deposed that he reached to the Southern corner of the Shiv temple where appellants surrounded him. In the meantime, he reached to the North-East corner of the field of Kedari. There was mustard crop in the field. During cross-examination also, he stated that pipal tree was 400 mtrs. from the Shiv temple on the Northern side from where he along with his brother was coming and was surrounded by the appellants in the field of Kedari. PW-2 had also stated the place of occurrence being the field of Kedari in his chief-examination and even asserted it during his cross-examination. Likewise, PW-3 & 4 had also deposed the same. Thus the place of occurrence in the field of Kedari stands proved.

52. There is no delay in lodging of the F.I.R. Occurrence took place at 5:30 P.M. and F.I.R. was lodged at 21:30 P.M. after four hours. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station was 11 kms. PW-1 stated that after the incident,he brought Rukumpal to his home, from there while they were bringing the deceased to Sikandrarao by tractor, on the way he died and then they went to the Hospital Sikandrarao where compounder told them that Rukumpal was dead. He then wrote the application and brought the deceased to the police station with other injured persons. In this way, the time gap of four hours in lodging the F.I.R. stood explained and there cannot be said to be any delay much less inordinate delay. It is proved that the F.I.R. was prompt.

53. Further the attention of this Court has also been drawn towards the absence of motive to commit the murder. The learned counsel urged that the prosecution had failed to prove motive on the part of the appellants to commit the crime.

54. In this regard, it is fairly well settled that while motive does not have major role to play in cases based on eye witness account of the incident, it assumes significance in cases that rest on circumstantial evidence. There is no such principle or rule of law that where the prosecution fails to prove motive for commission of the crime, it must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused where ocular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of crime has not been proved.

55. In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jeet Singh 1999 (38) ACC 550 SC, it was held that no doubt it is a sound principle to remember that every criminal act was done with a motive but it's corollary is not that no offence was committed if the prosecution failed to prove the precise motive of the accused to commit it as it is almost an impossibility for the prosecution to unravel full dimension of the mental deposition of an offender towards the person whom he offended.

56. In the case of Baitulla and another Vs. State of U.P. AIR 1997 SC 3946 where occurrence took place in the broad day light and spoken to by the eye-witness and the same was supported by Medical Report, it will not be necessary to investigate the motive behind such commission of offence.

57. This Court has also made such observations in the case of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581 that when there is direct evidence, the motive was not important. Likewise in the case of State of Haryana vs. Sher Singh and others 1981 Cr. Ruling 317 SC it has been held that the prosecution is not bound to prove the motive, more so, when crime is proved by direct evidence.

58. Lastly it was argued that there was no unlawful assembly and there is no evidence of common object of it to cause the murder of Rukumpal but the incident was a result of altercation between the appellants and the informant along with the deceased at the spur of the moment. Further the death of Rukumpal was caused with the stab wound of spear which was caused by Rajbir as his individual overt act and other appellants caused simple injuries only to other persons and as such they cannot be held liable for the overt act of Rajbir.

59. It is evident from Ex Ka-1 tehrir that the incident took place at the spur of moment when the deceased and informant were returning to their home with babul fodder and on the way near the Pipal tree Pt. Bankalal was shrieking from where they passed by. In the meantime, appellants also came there on the way and made querry about shrieking and also asked as to who they were. On their reply, that Pt. Bankelal got scared under the Pipal tree, appellants did not believe but while abusing uttered that they (deceased and informant) were not telling the truth. On this, the appellants were confronted by the informant and were hold not to abuse. At this, altercation among them was commenced when the accused uttered that - maro salo ko, inka dimag bahut kharab hai' and they started assaulting them with lathi and spear. PW-1 informant who is the injured witness and with whom the incident took place also stated in his examination-in -chief that Roshan said, "salo ko mar lo".

60. From the words uttered by the appellants, as above noted,it can be inferred that they meant to beat the informant and deceased Rukumpal on account of the dispute that arose amongst them relating to query about shrieking of Pt. Bankelal under the Pipal tree. The immediate cause of the dispute was shrieking of Pt. Bankelal. There are four injuries on the person of the deceased. Injury no.1 is penetrating wound and others are in the form of abrasion and linear abrasion on the back of right elbow, back of left ankle and outside middle of the left leg. PW-5 Dr. T. N. Goel has opined during his cross examination that injury no.2 & 3 could be sustained by falling and injury no.4 with friction. Thus, it cannot be concluded that these appellants were the person who authored these injuries on the person of the deceased.In the course of altercation Rajbir stabbed spear to Rukumpal which pierced his stomach and he died. This was his individual act. Other injured were assaulted with lathi by other appellants and after assault, the appellants ran away. No other injured had received grievous injury. All the injuries of the injured were in the nature of abrasions/contusions except two lacerated wounds on the back of hand and face which were simple.

61. It is also to be noted that as per the F.I.R. version of the informant, the complainant side also assaulted accused party with lathi. In his cross-examination also, the informant had deposed that he made statement before the I.O. that he had also wielded lathi in defence. PW-3 Netrapal had also made such a statement before I.O. but during his cross-examination he had denied making such a statement though admitted that Ramdin also attacked with danda. PW-4 Krishnaveer had also admitted that Ramdin had danda and he went to the place of the incident after hearing the noise of quarrel. It reveals that there was a quarrel and fight wherein both the parties assaulted each other. Further, it is also evident from the statement of PW-1 Ram Khilari that appellant Rajbir and Ram Singh asked him as to who were they. Likewise PW-2 Sughar Singh had also stated in the cross-examination that when he came at the field of Kedari, two persons on the complainant side and four other persons on the accused side came running from the village. This fact further establishes that in the beginning there were only two accused persons Rajbir and Ram Singh and afterwards, four other persons joined in from the village who also participated in the incident of maarpeet. In such a situation of facts, it cannot be said that the appellants had planned to kill the deceased or to beat the injured but it was a result of sudden quarrel and fight between both sides. There was no such common object of the appellants as well.

61. In the case of Lalji and others vs. State of U.P. 1973 AIR SC 2505 where during the course of quarrel relating to digging the earth and extending the frontage of hut one of the accused persons assaulted the deceased Pancham with spear on his abdomen as a result he died and other accused persons caused injuries to other injured persons with lathi causing simple injuries, it was observed therein that there was remonstrance and counter remonstrance which resulted in a fight which was a sudden affair and was the result of heated passion. It was held that the case does not show that the appellants formed a common object as there was no per-meditation and the occurrence was a sudden affair, each of the appellants, in our opinion, should be held to be liable for his individual act and not vicariously liable for the acts of others. Further, it was held therein that Lalji gave the spear blow on the abdomen of the deceased Pancham and his conviction should therefore, be maintained u/s 304(1) I.P.C. As regards the other appellants their conviction for the offence u/s 323 I.P.C. was maintained and sentence of imprisonment u/s 323 I.P.C. was reduced to the period already undergone.

61. In the case of Chinu Patel vs. State of Orrisa 1990 CRLJ 248, where accused persons demanded for the return of the chair and as the deceased refused to return the same, a quarrel ensued which ultimately resulted in a free fight between the parties during the course of which both sides were injured and one of them died. It was held that in such a situation as there is no scope for a pre-planned attack by the accused, the question of accused persons forming an unlawful assembly having a common object to do any act mentioned in the five clauses of Section 141 I.P.C. does not arise for consideration. The view taken by the Apex Court in aforesaid case of Lalji vs. State of U.P. was followed therein.

63. In so far as the question whether the appellants had formed an unlawful assembly and had common object of committing the murder, we have given our earnest consideration to this aspect. Taking a general picture of the case and after the close scrutiny of the evidence in its entirety, we find that in the course of altercation between the injured Rukumpal, Ram Khilari and appellants, in the heat of passion,Rukumpal was stabbed with spear by Rajbir (now dead) and the injured succumbed to the stab injury. No other appellants assaulted Rukumpal with lathi except to other persons (injured).Under these circumstances, it would be hazardous to hold that there was an unlawful assembly and common object of that assembly (of the appellants) was to commit the murder. It is established from the testimony of the prosecution witnesses that there was random individual acts done by the appellants without meeting of mind and, in our view, the appellants can be held liable only for their individual acts. Therefore, it is established beyond reasonable doubt that the appellants caused injuries which were simple in nature and punishable under Section 323 I.P.C. In the result, the conviction in respect of each of these appellants under Section 147 & 302 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. can not be said to be just and lawful and sentence to imprisonment for life to each is, hereby, set aside.

64. The conviction of the appellants under Section 147, 302 readwith Section 149 I.P.C. is modified as conviction under Section 323 I.P.C. and they are sentenced to undergo imprisonment to the period already undergone.

65. The appeal is partly allowed to the extent indicated above. The appellants are on bail. Their bail bonds are cancelled. The sureties shall stand discharged. They need not to surrender.

66. Certify this judgment to the court below for necessary intimation and compliance. The compliance report be submitted to this Court through the Registrar General, High Court, Allahabad.

Criminal Appeal No.2262 of 2009

Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu
...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Piyush Asthana

Counsel for the Respondent:
G.A., Sri Shreesh Chandra Counsel for the C.B.I.

(A) Criminal Law – Appeal against conviction - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302/34 ,120-B & 212 - The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 227, Arms Act, 1959 - Section 5,25/27 - conviction can be made on the basis of testimony of a single witness, if the Court finds the testimony reliable - if direct evidence is there then motive loses its importance because nobody can peep into the mind of a miscreant to know for what purpose he/she has committed the offence.(Para - 22,25)

Miscreants silenced life of an eight time National Badminton Champion (deceased) - FIR lodged against unknown persons by complainant - who was Regional Sports Officer in the Stadium - deceased used to come to play badminton - complainant was informed about the incident by P.W.9 (eyewitness) - Most of witnesses of facts turned hostile - P.W.1 (complainant) is not an eye witness - lodged FIR of incident upon information given by PW9 - carried injured deceased along with two police personnel to medical college - declared brought dead - recovery memo pistol proved by independent witness - PW9 identified convict/appellant in jail during test identification parade - finally identified convict/appellant before trial court.(Para - 2,7,20,32)

(B) Evidence Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 134 - No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact - quality of the evidence that matters and not the quantity - If the evidence of a single witness is cogent with ring of truth and the Court considers that reliable and trustworthy then conviction can be made on the basis of testimony of that witness alone.(Para - 24)

(C) Evidence Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 – Section118 - all persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them, or from giving rational answers to those questions by tender years, extreme old age, disease, whether of body, of mind or any other cause of the same kind.(Para - 27)

(D) Criminal Law - The Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - section 313 – power to examine the accused - convict/appellant accepted that P.W.9 (most important witness & conviction rests on his evidence) had identified him correctly - witness answered - not at the spot - did not dispute the place of occurrence – trial court committed no error in relying upon the testimony of P.W. 9 supported with medical testimony and the testimony of formal witnesses for holding the convict guilty of killing the deceased. (Para - 31)

HELD:- Evidence available on record establishes that deceased was killed by firing made by convict/appellant alongwith one another accused by using fire arm in contravention of Section 5 of the Arms Act, which is punishable under Section 27 of the Arms Act. Conviction and sentence of the convict/appellant awarded by the trial court punishable under Section 302/34 of I.P.C. and under Section 27 of the Arms Act confirmed and upheld.(Para -33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. This Criminal Appeal has been filed by the convict/appellant Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu against the judgment and order dated 22.08.2009 passed by Additional Sessions Judge Court No.1, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No.293 of 1989 State Vs. Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and another, arising out of Case Crime No.302/34 Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short I.P.C.) and Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act, Police Station Hazratganj, District Lucknow whereby the trial court convicted and sentenced the convict/appellant under Section 302/34 of I.P.C., with life imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.40,000/- and in default of payment of fine further rigorous imprisonment of three months. The trial court further convicted and sentenced the convict/appellant under Section 27 of the Arms Act with five years rigorous imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.10,000/- and in default of payment of fine further imprisonment of one month.

2. This appeal relates to a very unfortunate and despicable crime, wherein the miscreants silenced the life of an eight time National Badminton Champion Syed Modi, who represented India in various international championships. The facts necessary for disposal of this appeal in short are as under:-

(i) A First Information Report (in short FIR) was lodged by the complainant-Nirmal Singh Saini, Regional Sports Officer, K.D. Singh Babu, Stadium Lucknow on 28.07.1988 presenting a written report Exhibit Ka-1, wherein it was stated that on 28.07.1988 Mr. Syed Modi came to play badminton in the badminton hall at about 4:30 P.M. He (complainant) was also present in the stadium. After playing, at about 7:45 P.M. he was going back on his scooter, somebody fired upon him with an intention to kill him, at the north gate of stadium. One Prem Chand Yadav who was working in the canteen on the gate, came to him raising alarm and told that two persons were running in a white colour Maruti Car after firing upon Syed Modi. The complainant, his colleague Mr. K.H. Jackey, many other players of the stadium and two police personnel who were on duty at the time, came out, but by that time the miscreants had fled away by white Maruti Car. The miscreants were seen while firing upon Syed Modi by Prem Chandra Yadav, Smt. Quaiser (Panwali), Rickshaw Puller and many other persons sitting in the canteen, in the electric light who were present on the spot. He (complainant), Ravi Verma and two police personnel carried Syed Modi in injured condition to Medical College where doctor declared him dead.

(ii) The FIR was registered on 28.07.1988 at about 20:50 hours against two unknown assailants. The investigation of the case started and initially Sri Rajveer Singh Tyagi incharge of Police Station Hazratganj started investigation, conducted the inquest of the dead body of Syed Modi and prepared the necessary papers including the 'Panchayatnama' and sent the dead body to the mortuary of Medical College, Lucknow alongwith a letter to the C.M.O. for conducting the postmortem examination of the corpse.

(iii) The postmortem was conducted on 29.07.1988 at 10:15 AM by a panel of three doctors and they prepared the postmortem report. While the investigation of the case was going on, the State Government recommended that investigation be made by the Central Bureau of Investigation (in short CBI). The Department of Personnel and Training, Government of India vide notification No.228/23/88-AVD. II dated 02.8.88 handed over the investigation of the case to the CBI. The CBI registered it as Crime No.RC-2(S)/88 SIV.V/SIC. II/SIU.V. After investigation CBI came to the conclusion that Sanjay Singh, Ameeta Kulkarni Modi, Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu, Jitendra Singh alias Tinku and Balai Singh were the miscreants who were behind the commission of murder of Syed Modi. The CBI submitted chargesheet against all these persons under Section 120-B I.P.C. and Section 120-B read with Section 302 of I.P.C., against Sanjay Singh, Ameeta Kulkarni Modi, Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Jitendra Singh alias Tinku and Balai Singh for the offences punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 of I.P.C., against the accused Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu, Jintendra Singh alias Tinku and Balai Singh and for the offences punishable under Section 25/27 of the Arms Act against the accused Amar Bahadur Singh and for offences punishable under Section 27 of the Arms Act against Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and for offence punishable under Section 25 of the Arms Act against accused Balai Singh. The required sanction for prosecution under Arms Act of accused persons Amar Bahadur Singh and Balai Singh was taken by the Investigating Officer from District Magistrate, Lucknow.

(iv) The CBI after collecting the oral and documentary evidence submitted the Chargesheet No.2 of 1988, Exhibit Ka-5, wherein the Investigating Officer Mr. D.P. Singh, Deputy Superintendent of Police SIC-II CBI/SP New Delhi noted as under:-

"A case Crime No.722/88 was registered at Police Station Hazratganj, Lucknow on 28.07.1988 regarding the murder of Syed Modi near the gate of K.D. Singh Babu, Stadium Lucknow. The investigation of this case was transferred to the Central Bureau of Investigation (DSPE) by the Central Government vide Notification No.228/23/AVD. Akhilesh Singh is the son of Late Ravindra Nath Singh @ Dhunni Singh R/o village Lalupur Chauhan, District Rae Bareli. Ravindra Nath Singh had been a big landlord and contractor. Akhilesh Singh has a criminal record and is presently involved in a number of crimes along with other members of his gang, some of whom are co-accused in this crime. Previously, he too had business interest in various constructions firms owned/controlled by members of his family. His interest has been transferred in the name of his wife of late. A number of vehicles have remained at his disposal from time to time.

Amar Bahadur Singh, S/o Chand Ram R/o Pindari Khurd, District Rae Bareli, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu S/O Sukhpal Singh, R/O Paharpur Kason, District Rae Bareli, Jitender Singh @ Tinku S/o Bajrang Bahadur Singh, R/o Kodras Buzrag, District Rae Bareli and Balai Singh, S/o Nankau Singh, R/o House No.566/28, Jai Prakash Nagar, Alambagh Area, PS Krishna Nagar, Lucknow, permanent address: Village Jhaua Sarkhi, P.S. Harchandpur, District Rae Bareli, all come from average agriculturist families. All the four have criminal history. They all are associated with Akhilesh Singh, accused.

Syed Modi, the deceased, came into contact with Ameeta Kulkarni when both had gone to Beijing (China) for participating in the 3rd Interntional Asian Invitation Chairmanship in the year 1978. Ameeta Kulkarni was engaged to Syed Modi in the year 1982. Sanjay Singh came into contact with Ameeta Kukkarni in the year 1983, when she had come to Lucknow.

During investigation, it has transpired that Ameeta Kulkarni started having positive leanings toward accused Sanjay Singh from the beginning of 1984 inspite of her engagement with Syed Modi The friendship of Ameeta Kulkarni with Sanjay Singh developed into infatuation with each other and it caused so much alarm to Syed Modi that he was continuously perturbed. Smt. Pushplata Kulkarni, mother of accused Ameeta advised her and Sanjay Singh, accused to gain the confidence of Modi to such an extent that is should make him trust Ameeta even to the extent that her relationship with Sanjay Singh be acceptable to him. She further advised Sanjay Singh and Ameeta Modi to learn and use a certain amount of restraint, and check on their emotions. She pointed out that Sanjay Singh wants to be the Chief Minister and he may have many women in his life but he must not allow his image to be tarnished. He should not shun womankind but should be careful, was her advice to Ameeta and Sanjay Singh. She advised Ameeta Kulkarni to teach Modi to accept her as she was.

Marriage of Syed Modi and Ameeta Kulkarni took place on 14.05.1984 at the residence of Sanjay Singh. Sanjay Singh and his PRO Mohd Alam appended their signatures on the concerned application dated 14.5.1984 as witnesses to the effect that marriage has been solemnized in their presence.

During investigation, it transpired that Sanjay Singh and Ameeta Kulkarni Modi soon after developed and continued extra-marital relations. He got various properties and amenities made available to Modi. Infatuation of Sanjay Singh for Ameeta increased as time passed. Within Lucknow he would ring her up some time ten times a day; coming to Ameeta often twice at night to seek sexual gratification with her consent. He would ring her up when she was at Patiala, Delhi, Bombay etc. from Lucknow and also ring her from outside Lucknow times out of number when she would be in Lucknow. Sanjay Singh spent thousands of rupees to phone Ameeta from all over India. Syed Modi, the deceased resented this relationship. he suspected the infatuation of Sanjay Singh for his wife Ameeta and her most willing participation. They had frequent quarrels over this issue. Ameeta Modi wrote passionate love letters to Sanjay Singh. She wrote that " I am only yours as far as I am concerned mentally though physically I may be someone elses'.....life is going to be tough for me, its gonna to be some test. I only hope and pray that God gives me strength, to remain yours come what way." In another letter, she wrote, "I love you but there are many many restrictions in this blind love of mine. I can never forget the fact, however, hard I try, that we are both married to two different individuals and our first duties are towards them. It is all easy to say but I know, we can't leave them, however, we might want to be one. I guess we will have to find a via-media to this." Then again, "please tell me can you wait even if it means a year or more?. Let me also prepare myself because if I have to be shattered the sooner the better."

Ameeta Kulkarni Modi gave birth to a daughter on 4.02.1988 at Command Hospital, Lucknow. She was got admitted to the Command Hospital, Lucknow through the influence of Sanjay Singh. She had conceived two times earlier but both times she aborted. Syed Modi had suspected that the conception of Ameeta Modi in 1986 was by Sanjay Singh. The facts and circumstances in the case that Syed Modi had repeatedly asked Ameeta to give up Sanjay Singh. He himself was so much in love with Ameeta that inspite of her infidelity and Sanjay's infatuation for her, he never desired separation though he anticipated his own death, if Ameeta continued to carry on her affairs with Sanjay Singh. When Sanjay Singh found that Syed Modi was finally becoming a stumbling block to continuance of his sexual relations with Ameeta, he disclosed his intentions to silence Syed Modi in his own way.

Sanjay Singh, Smt. Ameet Kulkarni Modi, Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Jitendra Singh @ Tinku and Balai Singh, some time between June, 1988 and 28th July, 1988 were party to a criminal conspiracy, the object of which was to commit the murder of Syed Modi. In pursuance of the said criminal conspiracy, the following acts of commissions and omissions were committed by the accused persons:-

Sanjay Singh and Akhilesh Singh were together in Yatrik Hotel Allahabad in mid June 1988 where Sanjay Singh asked Akhilesh to arrange for the murder of Syed Modi. Thereafter on 20.07.1988 Sanjay Singh met Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu in this regard. This meeting was arranged by Akhilesh Singh at Sanjay Singh's residence. Here Sanjay Singh entrusted the task of killing Syed Modi to Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu. Sanjay Singh then left Lucknow in the night of 20.07.1988 by train and reached Delhi in the morning of 21.07.1988. Sanjay Singh left Delhi in the night of 23.07.1988 and reached Lucknow by train in the morning of 24.07.1988. Sanjay Singh again left Lucknow by train in the night of 25.07.1988 and reached Dehli in the morning of 26.07.1988. He left Delhi by train in night of 28.07.1988 and reached Lucknow in the morning of 29.07.1988. He again left for Delhi on 31.07.1988 and reached Delhi on 01.08.1988 and returned to Lucknow on 03.08.1988.

Akhilesh Singh introduced Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu to Sanjay Singh at the latter's residence on 20.07.1988. He obtained Maruti Van No. HYG 1959 from Abdul Khalik, brother of Sri Abdul Malik on 20.07.1988 at Lucknow stating that he required it for some important work. He thereafter used it to facilitate the movement of Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Jitendra Singh @ Tinku and balai Singh and himself before and after the crime. Efforts were made from telephone number 33745 & 48134 of Sanjay Singh to contact telephone number 2378 at the residence of Akhilesh Singh at village Lalupur Chauhan, district Rae Bareli and also at telephone number 2694 installed at residence of his uncle, Devendra Nath Singh on 25.07.1988. Akhilesh Singh brought his aforesaid men in Maruti Van no. HYG 1959 to Lucknow on 26.07.1988 and arranged for their lodging at 13, Royal Hotel, Lucknow where he used to stay frequently. Akhilesh Singh also provided Enfield .38 revolver no. J 8050 to Amar Bahadur Singh. Akhilesh Singh left Lucknow on 27.07.1988 morning by train to Delhi and reached Delhi the same day. He contacted accused Sanjay Singh on 27.07.1988 at Karnataka Bhavan. He left Delhi on 28.07.1988 and reached Haridwar the same day in the evening. Ashwani Kumar and others had accompanied him. Akhilesh Singh stayed at the house of Ashwani Kumar in Haridwar. Akhilesh Singh tried to contact from phone no. 125 of Ashwani Kumar to telephone number 33745 of Sanjay Singh at Lucknow on 29th, 30th and 31st July, 1988. Akhilesh Singh had a dip in the holy Ganga at Haridwar on hearing of the murder of Syed Modi. He left Haridwar on 31.07.1988 and reached Meerut on the same day. He reached Delhi on 01.08.1988 and reached Lucknow in the night of 02.08.1988 by air. He stayed in Hotel Clark Awadh, Lucknow till 03.08.1988 morning under a false address.

On 28.07.1988 Amar Bahadur Singh accompanied by Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu and Balai Singh went in Maruti Van No.HYG 1959 driven by Jitendra Singh alias Tinku to K.D.Singh Babu, Stadium Lucknow Amar Bahadur Singh @ Pappu took position outside the Northern Gate (near mini swiming pool) of K.D. Singh Babu, Stadium Lucknow with the intention to kill Syed Modi. At about 7:45 PM when Syed Modi came out of the stadium on his scooter, he was fired at by them, as a result of which Syed Modi fell down. Amar

Bahadur Singh and Bhagwati Singh ran away from the scene of crime and escaped after getting into the aforesaid Maruti Van which was parked nearby and waiting for them to facilitate their escape.

Jitendra Singh alias Tinku facilitated the movements of accused Bhagwati Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh and Balai Singh by driving Maruti Van No.HYG 1959, as a result of which they were taken to the scene of crime and promptly fled away from the commission of crime.

Balai Singh remained associated before, during and after the commission of crime with the aforesaid associates.

Balai Singh in the company of accused Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Amar Bahadur Singh and Jitendra Singh @ Tinku was seen alongwith the said Maruti Van, just after murder at Paschim Gaon, District Rae Bareli at about 9:00 PM.

Ameeta Kulkarni Modi exhibited unnatural and abnormal conduct before and after the commission of crime, in as much as that she faked illness and on 28.07.1988 did not accompany Syed Modi to the Stadium for practice. On receiving the message about the "accident" of Modi, instead of inquiring about his condition and rushing to hospital, she tried to inform Sanjay Singh over phone. He was then at Delhi. Thereafter, she visited the residence of Sanjay Singh and only thereafter went to the hospital. On the day of burial of Syed Modi, she did not stay with her inlaws but instead stayed in Hotel Marina, Gorakhpur where Sanjay Singh also stayed. She did not attend the "Majlis" Ceremony held on 31.07.1988 at Sardar Nagar, Gorakhpur, at the house of Sri Pyare Bhai Modi's brother. On 02.08.1988 she returned from Gorakhpur to Lucknow and cautioned Abid Hyder, brother of Modi not to divulge anything about her relations with Sanjay Singh to the Investigating Agency. During the mourning period she went about withdrawing very heavy amounts from Banks held in the joint names of Modi and herself, submitting claim papers to LIC, getting LDA plot, measuring about 800 Sq./mts. allotted to Syed Modi, transferred in her name, obtaining compensation and other dues due to Shri Modi amounting to more than Rs.70,000/-.

Syed Modi after falling down as a result of injury sustained by bullets fired at him was rushed to hospital in a passing Car by Ravi Verma, a Judo Player, Jamal Khan, a handball player, Nirmal Singh Saini, Regional Sports Officer, K.D. Singh Babu Statium and H.C. Mohd. Yjnis and constable Shiv Charan Mishra.

Dr. G.B.S. Kalra, Casualty Officer of the K.G.M.C. Hospital, Lucknow declared Modi dead on examining him in the hospital. Postmortem was conducted on his body which confirmed his death to be due to shock and hemorrhage caused by fire arms injury. The postmortem conducted reveal that five bullets entered into the body of Syed Modi, out of which 3 bullets passed through and 2 remained embedded which were extracted during the postmortem conducted on the dead body of Syed Modi in K.G.M.C. Hospital, Lucknow on 29.07.1988. Earlier two lead bullets had been recovered by police on 28.07.1988 from the scene of crime.

Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and Jitendra Singh alias Tinku were arrested on 16.08.1988, Ameeta Kulkarni Modi was arrested on 21.08.1988, Balai Singh was arrested on 22.08.1988 and Sanjay Singh was arrested on 03.09.1988.

After the arrest, Amar Bahadur Singh, on 16.08.1988 made disclosure statement to the effect that the .38 revolver used in the commission of the crime was hidden by him in a room at 566/28, Jai Prakash Nagar, Lucknow which was used by Balai Singh. As as result of his disclosure recovery of .38 bore revolver No.J8050 was made under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act. On 23.08.1988, Balai Singh while in police custody made a disclosure statement to the effect that one 9 MM Pistol, which was carried by Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu at the time of commission of crime was hidden by him and at his instane the smae bearing No.110872 was recovered on 23.08.1988 from a Mango Grove of Ravindra Nath Singh @ Dhunni Singh, father of accused Akhilesh Singh at village Lalupur Chauhan, District Rae Bareli. This pistol has been found to have been used in the commission of crime registered as Case Crime No.318 of 1987, P.S. Mohanlalganj, Lucknow under Seciton 147, 148, 149, 302, 201 I.P.C.

During the course of investigation, it transpired that the aforesaid .38 revolver was traced to be of defence origin and 9 MM pistol was stolen one from the then Havaldar Babu Ram of ST HQ COY.56 APO on 27.10.1982 at Dehradun for which FIR No.74/82 dated 27.10.1982 was lodged with GRP Dehradun.

During the course of investigation, Akhilesh Singh and Jitendera Singh alias Tinku were put to polygraphic test at CFSL, New Delhi and they admitted their acts of commission and omission and also disclosed about the facts of commission and omission of Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Balai Singh and Sanjay Singh.

During the course of investigation the bullets recovered as above i.e. two form the scene of crime and two extracted from the body of Syed Modi during postmortem were sent to ballistic expert alongwith the recovered .38 revolver No.J8050 for expert opinion. The ballistic expert opined that the bullets in question have been fired from the said .38 revolver. The ballistic expert has also opined that the holes in the t-shrit worn by Modi at the time of murder are corresponding to the wounds described in the postmortem report of deceased Syed Modi and could have been caused by the passage of .38 bullets. It is also opined that the blackening and tattooing observed in the postmortem examination on the five injury wounds indicate close range of firing. 9 MM pistol, which was recovered at the instance of Balai, too were send to the Ballistic expert who on examination found the same in serviceable condition.

After the arrest of accused Amar Bahadur Singh and Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu, they were produced "Baparda" before the Competent Court having jurisdiction in Lucknow and were remanded "Baparda' to the judicial custody where they were put to the test of identification parade before a Magistrate and were identified by Sri Prem Chand, an eye witness to be the assailants who fired at Syed Modi on 28.07.1988.

Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Jitendra Singh @ Tinku and Balai Singh all have past criminal history. Akhilesh Singh and Balai Singh had been/are involved jointly/singly in nearly 20 cases of murder, attempt to murder, extortion, criminal trespass, kidnapping/ abduction, criminal intimidation, Arms Act, U.P. Gangster Act, Exercise Act, U.P. Goonda Control Act etc. Accused Amar Bahadur Singh is involved in a case of attempt to murder and Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu is facing prosecution under Section 25 of Arms Act. Jitendra Singh @ Tinku is involved in a case of criminal intimidation.

During the course of investigation, the searches were conducted at the residence of Ameeta Kulkarni Modi at A-8, Park Road Colony, Lucknow, her parental house at Bombay and at residence of Sanjay Singh at 19 Vikramaditya Marg, Lucknow. As as result of these searches, a diary of 1986, letters written from Patiyala and Lucknow by Ameeta Kulkarni Modi to Sanjay Singh, photographs of Sanjay Singh, Ameeta and her daughter, letters of Syed Modi and letters of Smt. Pushplata Kulkarni were, inter alia, recovered from the residence of Ameeta and her parents. These documents have been referred to the Government Examiner of questioned documents and his opinion is awaited. A letter of Mrs. Garima Singh, telephone diaries, trunk call register etc., were recovered from the residence of Sanjay Singh at Lucknow.

During the course of investigation, besides the above documents, more documents were collected and statement of witnesses were recorded which prove the complicity of the aforesaid accused.

The above facts and circumstances disclose the commission of offences punishable under Section 120 (B) of I.P.C. and under Section 120(B) r/w Section 302 of I.P.C. by Sanjay Singh, Ameeta Kulkarni Modi, Akhilesh Singh, Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu, Jitendra Singh alias Tinku and Balai Singh, offences punishable under Section 302 r/w 34 of I.P.C. by accused Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu, Jitendra Singh @ Tinku and Balai Singh and offences punishable under Section 25/27 of Arms Act by accused Amar Bahadur Singh, offences punishable under Section 27 of Arms Act by accused Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and offences punishable under Section 25 of Arms Act against accused Balai Singh.

Orders of sanction issued by District Magistrates, Lucknow and Rae Bareli for prosecution of accused Amar Bahadur Singh and that of Balai Singh under Section 25 of Arms Act respectively are enclosed.

Sanjay Singh, Ameeta Kuklarni Modi and Akhilesh Singh are on bail and the remaining accused Amar Bahadur Singh, Bhagwati Singh @ Pappu, Jitendra Singh @ Tinku and Balai Singh are in judicial custody. It the requested that the aforesaid accused person may be tried according to the provisions of law. "

(v) On the above chargesheet submitted by CBI, the Special Judicial Magistrate,(CBI) Lucknow took cognizance and committed the case to the Court of Sessions for trial on 13.07.1989. The Court of Sessions discharged the accused Sanjay Singh and Ameeta Kulkarni Modi on the application moved under Section 227 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short Cr.P.C.) vide a detailed order dated 17.09.1990 and that order of discharge of Sanjay Singh and Ameeta Kulkarni Modi was upheld first by the High Court and thereafter by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The accused Akhilesh Singh filed a writ petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. bearing Criminal Misc. Case No.37 of 1995 (Akhilesh Singh Vs. State of U.P.) to quash the order of framing charge against him, before the High Court and the High Court vide its order dated 19.08.1986 allowed the petition and the order of framing charge against him by the Sessions Judge, was quashed and the accused Akhilesh Singh was discharged. The order passed in this Misc. Writ Petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed by Akhilesh Singh was not disturbed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

(vi) Accused Balai Singh was murdered during the pendency of trial and the trial stood abated against him vide order dated 10.06.1996. The accused Amar Bahadur Singh was also murdered on 28.07.1994 and the case against him also stood abated. Thus only two accused persons were left to be tried before the trial court namely Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and Jitendra Singh alias Tinku.

(vii) The Sessions Court framed charges against Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu under Section 120-B of I.P.C. and Section 302 of I.P.C. read with Section 34 of I.P.C.. The charge under Section 27 of the Arms Act, 1959 was also framed against Bhagwati and against accused Jitendra Singh alias Tinku charge under Section 120-B, 302 of I.P.C. read with Section 34 of I.P.C. and Section 212 of I.P.C. were framed. Both the accused persons denied the crime and claimed to be tried.

(viii) The prosecution in order to prove the charges framed against the convict/appellant examined the following witnesses:-

1. P.W. 1 Nirmal Singh Saini, informant.

2. P.W. 2 Dr. B.K. Srivastava, the medical officer conducting the postmortem of the body of deceased Syed Modi.

3. P.W.3 Roop Singh, Retired Principal & Scientific Officer & Head of Ballistics Division, CFSL/CBI, New Delhi.

4. P.W. 4 Kishore Chaturvedi, Head Clerk, NER, DRM Office, Lucknow.

5. P.W. 5 Kishan Bahadur, eye witness.

6. P.W. 6 Amol Kumar Saxena, The other doctor who joined P.W.2 in conducting the postmortem.

7. P.W.7 Rajendra Kumar Girdhar, Sr. Manager, Central Bank of India, Defence Colony, New Delhi.

8. P.W.8 Rakesh Kumar Rawat, Deputy General Manager, Allahabad Bank, Divisional Office, Calcutta.

9. P.W.9 Prem Chand Yadav, eye witness.

10. P.W. 10 Mahendra Singh.

11. P.W. 11 Bhagwan Bux Singh.

12. P.W. 12 Mohd. Tahseen Khan, Trust Assistant posted in the office of District Magistrate, Lucknow.

13. P.W. 13 Babu Ram, Retired Army Official.

14. P.W. 14 P.N. Shekar, Inspector in the office of I.G., Zone, Lucknow.

15. P.W. 15 M. K. Bhatt. S.P. CBI, New Delhi.

16. P.W. 16 Smt. Sanjana Gupta, Accountant, NER, Lucknow.

17. P.W. 17 Ashok Singh.

18. P.W. 18 Abdul Khaliq, Owner of Maruti Van No.HYG/1959, said to have been used by the assailants.

19. P.W. 19 Raj Kumar.

20. P.W. 20 Abid Hyder, Elder brother of deceased Syed Modi.

21. P.W. 21 Chetan Ram, Office Superintendent, Personnel Deputy. Head quarter, Central Railway, Bombay.

22. P.W. 22 Ajay Singh

23. P.W. Ram Kesh Yadav.

24. P.W. 24 Surendra Pratap Tiwari, P.A.C. personnel posted in 35th Battalion, Mahanagar, Lucknow.

25. P.W. 25 Jitendra Mohan Srivastava.

26. P.W. 26 B.L.P. Azad, Retired S.P., CBI, New Delhi.

27. P.W. 27 R.S. Dhankar, S.P. CBI, S.C. III, New Delhi.

28. P.W. 28 Vishram Singh Yadav, Retired Inspector, Civil Police.

29. P.W. 29 Dharm Pal Singh Yadav, Retired Superintendent of Police.

(ix) Apart from above oral evidence necessary relevant documents were also proved and exhibited by the prosecution.

(x) Thereafter the statements of the convict/appellant was recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., wherein the convict/appellant denied all the evidence against him and stated that he was not on the spot. He has also stated that he was identified by witness Prem Chand Yadav during identification parade, at the indication made by Deputy Jailer, Sanjay Sharma. He has admitted the fact that he was rightly recognized by Prem Chand Yadav P.W.9 in the court. He showed unawareness about many facts and stated that witnesses have deposed due to the fact that they were in the custody of CBI, he has also stated that he has been implicated falsely.

(xi) Additional statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was also recorded on 22 July, 2009 after recording of evidence again of P.W.9. wherein the convict stated that the witness has deposed falsely.

(xii) Convict/appellant did not adduce any evidence in defence though the opportunity was given.

(xiii) The learned trial court after hearing the evidence of both the sides on the basis of evidence available on record came to the conclusion that P.W.9 Prem Chand Yadav an eyewitness has identified the convict/appellant and the Court found the testimony of P.W.9 Prem Chand Yadav, reliable who had seen the convict/appellant firing upon the deceased Syed Modi and he has no reason to implicate the convict/appellant falsely, in the crime. Since the facts regarding the conspiracy i.e. offence under Section 120-B of I.P.C. was not found proved because two accused persons namely Sanjay Singh and Ameeta Kulkarni Modi were discharged and the order of framing the charge against Akhilesh Singh was also quashed by the High Court in a writ petition filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and two other accused persons Amar Bahadur Singh and Balai Singh died/murdered during the pendency of trial. The convict/appellant was identified by the eyewitness P.W.9 Prem Chand Yadav and in the opinion of the trial court i.e. P.W.9 was found trustworthy as regards the commission of murder of deceased Syed Modi by firing upon him alongwith one another person.

(xiv) The learned trial court also concluded that the charge under section 27 of the Arms Act against convict/appellant has also been proved by the prosecution as the disclosure statement of co-accused Balai Singh coupled with the statement of P.W.9 is sufficient to establish that the pistol recovered at the pointing out of Balai Singh was used by the convict Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu in the commission of crime.

(xv) The trial court has observed that even presuming that the bullets fired by this pistol were not recovered, the case of the prosecution that accused Bhagwati Singh fired at Syed Modi who sustained injuries by such shots cannot be rejected merely on this ground, hence the trial court found and held the convict/appellant guilty under Section 302/34 of I.P.C. and under Section 27 of the Arms Act and punished in the manner as noted herein above in para No.1.

(xvi) Being aggrieved of this conviction and sentence this appeal has been filed.

(3.) Heard Mr. Piyush Asthana, learned counsel for the appellant and Mr. Shreesh Chandra, learned counsel for the C.B.I.

(4.) Learned counsel for the convict/appellant argued that there is no evidence against the convict/appellant. The convict was not named in the FIR, his name allegedly surfaced on the basis of statement of Prem Chand Yadav who after about one month identified the convict in the jail during test identification parade. In fact the witness has identified the convict falsely. There is no motive for the convict/appellant to commit the murder of the deceased. There are contradictions in the statement of witness about the car, as at some places it has been stated that Maruti Car was used while at some places it has been stated that Maruti Van was used. The car was found belonging to one Mr. Akhilesh Singh against whom charges were framed, but the High Court quashed the charges vide order passed in a writ petition filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C.. The P.W.9 Prem Chand Yadav has said in his examination- in-chief that he came out after hearing the sound of firing, thus it is clear that he did not see who fired upon the deceased. The learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that the site plan prepared of the spot has not been exhibited. The weapon of the crime was not recovered from the possession of the convict/appellant. The learned trial court has convicted the convict/appellant only on the basis of evidence of a single witness. The convict has been identified only by one witness. Smt. Kaiser Bai (Paanwali) and Rickshaw Puller who were closure to the site of crime were not produced in the evidence and for test identification parade. The learned trial court has committed illegality in not considering the point that P.W.2 Roop Singh, ballistic expert had opined that the bullets said to have been recovered from the spot of occurrence were not found fired by the recovered pistol. Hence the impugned judgment and order should be set-aside. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant relied on following case laws:-

5. Contrary to it, learned counsel appearing for the C.B.I. Mr. Shreesh Chandra, submitted that the deceased was fired upon by the convict/appellant alongwith one another shooter. The convict/appellant was identified by P.W.9 Prem Chandra Yadav, who was the first person who informed the complainant Nirmal Singh Saini about the incident. He knew and recognized the convict/appellant prior to the incident, though not by name but by appearance, as the convict/appellant used to come in the stadium occasionally. He further submitted that there is no dent in the evidence of P.W. 9 made before the trial court about the identification of the convict/appellant and the firing made by him on the deceased. He further submitted that as far as the motive is concerned it looses its importance when there is direct evidence of firing. The weapon used in the crime, though not recovered at the pointing out of the convict/appellant, but at the pointing out of co-accused Balai Singh (murdered during the pendency of trial) who told to the Investigating Officer that the weapon was given to him by Bhagwati Singh, the convict for hiding and he hid the same and the same was recovered at the pointing out of Balai Singh in the presence of witnesses and that recovery has been duly proved by P.W.4 as well as by other witnesses. He further submitted that as far as the site plan is concerned, it was prepared by the Investigating Officer, no question about the site plan was asked on behalf of the convict/appellant in the trial court. As far as testimony of single witness is concerned, conviction can be made on the basis of sole testimony if the court finds the witness reliable.

6. Learned counsel for the C.B.I. relied upon the following case laws:-

2. Subed Ali and others Vs. State of Assam 2020 SCC Online SC 794

6. Considered the rival submissions and perused the original record as well as the record of the appeal and gone through the case laws cited.

7. In the present case the FIR was lodged against unknown persons by the complainant- Nirmal Singh Saini, who was Regional Sports Officer in the Stadium, where the deceased used to come to play badminton. The incident occurred outside the north gate of Stadium. In the FIR it has been mentioned that complainant was informed about the incident by Prem Chand who has been examined as P.W.9. At the time of incident P.W. 9 Prem Chand used to work in the Canteen situated at the gate of the stadium and at the time of incident he was on work there. Most of the witnesses of facts have turned hostile. P.W.1 the complainant is not an eye witness, he simply lodged the FIR of the incident upon the information given by Prem Chand PW9 and also carried the injured deceased alongwith others including two police personnel to the medical college, where he was declared brought dead.

8. P.W. 9 Prem Chand Yadav is the most important witness of this case and the conviction rests on his evidence. At the time of incident he was working in the canteen situated at the gate of the stadium near the place of incident. This witness has identified the convict/appellant during the test identification parade conducted inside the jail and also before the trial court at the time of giving evidence. The statement of this witness was also recorded by the Investigating Officer who initially investigated the case and subsequently the investigation was handed over to the CBI. The learned trial court has found this witness trust worthy and relied on his statement to hold guilty the convict/appellant. This witness has stated in his examination in chief before the Court recorded on 21.10.2005 that the incident took place about 17/18 years ahead at about 7:00 O'Clock in the evening, P.W.9 was in the tea shop and serving boys were cleaning utensils there. When Modi after playing came out of stadium from the gate then he heard the sound of firing and saw that two persons were firing on Modi, he saw and recognized both the miscreants. The miscreants after firing ran away in a white Maruti Car towards Shahnazaf (road) there was some darkness on the spot, but there was visibility of a 'big light' (street light). He (witness) rushed inside the stadium and informed to Mr. Saini there. Two police personnel were also there. He called them, thereafter Mr. Saini and police personnel and some other players carried Mr. Modi to hospital in a Maruti Car. He further deposed before the trial court that after one month CBI persons took him inside the jail for identification, there he identified two accused persons and those were Bhagwati Singh alias Pappu and Jitendra Singh alias Tinku, this witnesses has identified Bhagwati Singh in the trial Court during the evidence rightly. This witness has also identified the signature on the documents which was prepared at the time of test identification parade in the jail and proved as exhibit Ka-15. This witness has further submitted that he saw the accused at the time of incident and thereafter in jail at the time of test identification parade and for the third time he has identified the accused Bhagwati Singh in the Court. On the date when examination in chief was recorded i.e. 21.10.2005 the counsel for the accused Bhagwati Singh did not cross examine the witness, the Court closed the evidence, thereafter again on the request of the accused Bhagwati Singh the witness was recalled and cross examined by the counsel of accused Bhagwati Singh on 01.07.2009. It is pertinent to mention here that the trial court has observed at the end of the statement of witness as follows:-

"The witness is unable to see and his right foot is amputated till the heel. Having regard to the fact that witness was not able to stand independently and move with aid. I directed that the pairokar who brought the witness to stand with him without interfering in the Court's proceedings".

9. This observation of the Court shows that when the witness was called again for cross-examination on 01.10.2009 i.e. about four years gap he was not in a condition to see. He stated in the cross examination that his name is Prem Chandra Yadav, he would not be able to recognize the accused now. If his eyesight would recover, then he would be able to recognize. He deposed truly on the prior date. The name of his father is Binda Yadav. The incident about which he has come to depose occurred in the year 1988. Since many years had passed, so he would not be able to tell the date month and day. It was summer. At the time of incident he was in the canteen where he used to work. He used to work in the canteen since 6 O'clock in the morning up to 8:30 PM in the night. He knew the badminton players of the stadium. He also knew the chaukidars of the stadium, he knew the officers of the stadium and coach Mr. Saini, the badminton player Mohd. Syed Modi Bhandari. When the incident occurred he was inside the canteen and arranging the glasses after washing them. The incident occurred outside the stadium, one another person belonging to the canteen was also there who ran away immediately. The distance of the place of occurrence was 10 paces away from the canteen. There was no door in the canteen where the incident took place. One Rickshaw puller Krishna Bahadur was also there. One lady 'Paanwali' was also there who used to sell 'Paan' outside the stadium. First of all he told about the incident to Mr. Saini and two police personnel. At the time of incident he heard the sound of firing and he immediately went to Mr. Saini and told him about the incident. He has also stated that after the incident police personnel of Hazratganj Police Station took his statement, they carried him in a jeep. When he used to work in the canteen he used to sleep there in the canteen itself, after having meals. In the police station old photographs of the accused persons were shown to him, he went to jail to identify the accused persons and he rightly identified the accused persons in the jail because he saw them at the time of committing murder. When he deposed in the Court previously he deposed truly and identified the accused standing in the dock who was tall and of dark complexion. He rightly identified him. He has further deposed that Bhagwati Singh used to come stadium prior to the incident. He admitted that on the previous date he told in the Court that he saw Bhagwati Singh first time while firing, second time in jail and third time in the Court. He has further stated that the truth is that he saw Bhagwati Singh prior to the incident also. When Bhagwati Singh used to come in the stadium he doubted that Bhagwati Singh was not a player but he did not complain any where about this fact. Since he saw Bhagwati Singh two-three times earlier, so he rightly identified him in the jail. On the asking of the Court this witness has confirmed that he himself saw the persons who killed the deceased by his own eyes. This witness has denied the suggestion made on behalf of the convict that he has identified Bhagwati Singh only on the basis of doubt and on the basis of photograph shown.

10. The perusal of the evidence of PW9 Prem Chand Yadav recorded in the Court shows that this witness remained resolute and undettered. While most of the witnesses of facts turned hostile he remained unswayed even in the condition when he was recalled on 01.07.2009 after a gap of about four years of recording of his examination-in-chief that too in a condition when he became blind and one of his foot was amputated upto the heel. This witness has again and again reaffirmed that he saw the convict alongwith one another person firing upon the deceased Syed Modi. Nothing could be brought in his evidence by the defence counsel in cross-examination so as to create doubt on his testimony. This witness stood during his examination-in-chief and also cross examination unswayed, unyielded, and unbended. The direct evidence of this witness is sufficient enough to hold the convict/appellant guilty of committing the murder of Syed Modi.

11. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant drew the attention of this Court towards the case law in Mohanlal Gangaram Gehani Vs. State of Maharashtra (supra), but that case law is of no help because the facts and circumstances are different in the case in hand, the witness knew the convict prior to the incident, though not by his name but by his appearance because he had seen him earlier coming to and going from stadium, so he recognized him while committing the crime.

12. The case law Wakil Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar (supra) is also of no help to the appellant because the cited case was a case where the trial court acquitted the accused finding the single identification witness not fit, but here in this case the trial court convicted the convict finding the evidence of P.W.9 reliable. Hon'ble Apex Court in Raja Vs. State by Inspector Police(supra) has held as under :

" 20. It is neither possible nor prudent to lay down any invariable rule as to the period within which a test identification parade must be held, or the number of witnesses who must correctly identify the accused, to sustain his conviction. These matters must be left to the courts of fact to decide in the facts and circumstances of each case. If a rule is laid down prescribing a period within which the test identification parade must be held, it would only benefit the professional criminals in whose cases the arrests are delayed as the police have no clear clue about their identity, they being persons unknown to the victims. They, therefore, have only to avoid their arrest for the prescribed period to avoid conviction. Similarly, there may be offences which by their very nature may be witnessed by a single witness, such as rape. The offender may be unknown to the victim and the case depends solely on the identification by the victim, who is otherwise found to be truthful and reliable. What justification can be pleaded to contend that such cases must necessarily result in acquittal because of there being only one identifying witness? Prudence therefore demands that these matters must be left to the wisdom of the courts of fact which must consider all aspects of the matter in the light of the evidence on record before pronouncing upon the acceptability or rejection of such identification."

13. The case law Dana Yadav alias Dahur and others Vs. State of Bihar (supra) is also has no application to the facts and circumstances of this case because in that case the witness identified the accused for the first time in Court- belatedly, but herein is not such a situation. The witness saw the miscreants while committing the crime and identified inside the jail and also before the Court.

14. The case law of Sanjeev Kumar etc. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (supra) is also of no help due to the difference of facts and circumstances of the case, because in the cited case law miscreants was paraded open in the market, but in the present case it is not so.

15. The case law of Hasib Vs. State of Bihar (supra) is also of no help because in that case decoits were identified by the Police Inspector, but in the case in hand the independent witness whose presence was very natural at the spot identified the miscreant/convict. Likewise the other case laws cited on this point are also of no help to the convict for the difference in facts and circumstances of the case.

16. In the case law of Raja Vs. State by Inspector Police (supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"15. It has been accepted by this Court that what is substantive piece of evidence of identification of an accused, is the evidence given during the trial. However, by the time the witnesses normally step into the box to depose, there would be substantial time gap between the date of the incident and the actual examination of the witnesses. If the accused or the suspects were known to the witnesses from before and their identity was never in doubt, the lapse of time may not qualitatively affect the evidence about identification of such accused, but the difficulty may arise if the accused were unknown. In such cases, the question may arise about the correctness of the identification by the witnesses. The lapse of time between the stage when the witnesses had seen the accused during occurrence and the actual examination of the witnesses may be such that the identification by the witnesses for the first time in the box may be difficult for the court to place complete reliance on. In order to lend assurance that the witnesses had, in fact, identified the accused or suspects at the first available opportunity, the TIP which is part of the investigation affords a platform to lend corroboration to the ultimate statements made by the witnesses before the Court. However, what weightage must be given to such TIP is a matter to be considered in the facts and circumstances of each case."

17. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the above case further held as under:-

"21. Lastly in Malkhansingh v. State of M.P. (AIR 2003 SC 2669) a three-Judge Bench of this Court of which one of us (B.P. Singh, J.) was a member, after considering various decisions of this Court observed thus:

"7. It is trite to say that the substantive evidence is the evidence of identification in court. Apart from the clear provisions of Section 9 of the Evidence Act, the position in law is well settled by a catena of decisions of this Court. The facts which establish the identity of the accused persons, are relevant under Section 9 of the Evidence Act. As a general rule, the substantive evidence of a witness is the statement made in court. The evidence of mere identification of the accused person at the trial for the first time is from its very nature inherently of a weak character. The purpose of a prior test identification, therefore, is to test and strengthen the trustworthiness of that evidence. It is accordingly considered a safe rule of prudence to generally look for corroboration of the sworn testimony of witnesses in court as to the identity of the accused who are strangers to them, in the form of earlier identification proceedings. This rule of prudence, however, is subject to exceptions, when, for example, the court is impressed by a particular witness on whose testimony it can safely rely, without such or other corroboration. The identification parades belong to the stage of investigation, and there is no provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure which obliges the investigating agency to hold, or confers a right upon the accused to claim a test identification parade. They do not constitute substantive evidence and these parades are essentially governed by Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Failure to hold a test identification parade would not make inadmissible the evidence of identification in court. The weight to be attached to such identification should be a matter for the courts of fact. In appropriate cases it may accept the evidence of identification even without insisting on corroboration."

18. In the case of Mulla and another Vs. State of U.P. (supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

" 22. The necessity for holding an identification parade can arise only when the accused persons are not previously known to the witnesses. The whole idea of a test identification parade is that witnesses who claim to have seen the culprits at the time of occurrence are to identify them from the midst of other persons without any aid or any other source. The test is done to check upon their veracity. In other words, the main object of holding an identification parade, during the investigation stage, is to test the memory of the witnesses based upon first impression and also to enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses of the crime. The identification proceedings are in the nature of tests and significantly, therefore, there is no provision for it in the Code and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. It is desirable that a test identification parade should be conducted as soon as possible after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses prior to the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused and, therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution."

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the above case has further held as under:-

"31. The identification parades are not primarily meant for the Court. They are meant for investigation purposes. The object of conducting a test identification parade is two- fold. First is to enable the witnesses to satisfy themselves that the accused whom they suspect is really the one who was seen by them in connection with the commission of the crime. Second is to satisfy the investigating authorities that the suspect is the real person whom the witnesses had seen in connection with the said occurrence.

32) Therefore, the following principles regarding identification parade emerge: (1) an identification parade ideally must be conducted as soon as possible to avoid any mistake on the part of witnesses; (2) this condition can be revoked if proper explanation justifying the delay is provided; and, (3) the authorities must make sure that the delay does not result in exposure of the accused which may lead to mistakes on the part of the witnesses."

20. In light of the above principles laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court we considered the identification of convict/appellant by P.W. 9. From the evidence of P.W.9 it is clear that PW9 knew the convict prior to the incident by appearance but not by name because he used to come in the stadium occasionally. He was the first person who informed the Officer working in the stadium about the incident after witnessing the incident. Thereafter he identified the convict/appellant in jail during the test identification parade, finally he identified the convict/appellant before the trial court while deposing in the case.

21. The counsel for the defence asked again and again about the identification, but the witness remained unyielded, unswayed and unbended. While a question was put by the Court he confirmed that he saw the killer with his own eyes. No motive could be put forward by the defence against this witness, for falsely deposing against the convict.

22. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant vehemently argued that the learned trial court has committed error in holding guilty and sentencing the convict on the basis of testimony of P.W.9 alone.

This argument of the defence counsel is not tenable, because it is settled law that conviction can be made on the basis of testimony of a single witness, if the Court finds the testimony reliable.

23. In the case law of Gulam Sarbar Vs. State of Bihar (supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"14. In the matter of appreciation of evidence of witnesses, it is not the number of witnesses but quality of their evidence which is important, as there is no requirement under the Law of Evidence that any particular number of witnesses is to be examined to prove/disprove a fact. It is a time- honoured principle that evidence must be weighed and not counted. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of truth, is cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. The legal system has laid emphasis on value provided by each witness, rather than the multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is quality and not quantity, which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided by Section 134 of the Evidence Act. Even in Probate cases, where the law requires the examination of at least one attesting witness, it has been held that production of more witnesses does not carry any weight. Thus, conviction can even be based on the testimony of a sole eye witness, if the same inspires confidence. (Vide: Vadivelu Thevar & Anr. v. State of Madras; AIR 1957 SC 614; Kunju @ Balachandran v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381; Bipin Kumar Mondal v. State of West Bengal AIR 2010 SC 3638; Mahesh & Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh (2011) 9 SCC 626; Prithipal Singh & Ors. v. State of Punjab & Anr., (2012) 1 SCC 10; and Kishan Chand v. State of Haryana JT 2013(1) SC 222)."

24. Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short Evidence Act) lays down that " No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact". It is the quality of the evidence that matters and not the quantity. If the evidence of a single witness is cogent with ring of truth and the Court considers that reliable and trustworthy then conviction can be made on the basis of testimony of that witness alone.

25. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant further argued that there was no motive to commit the crime for the convict/appellant. This argument of the learned counsel is also feeble because if direct evidence is there then motive loses its importance because nobody can peep into the mind of a miscreant to know for what purpose he/she has committed the offence.

26. In the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Kishanpal and others (2008) 16 Supreme Court Cases 73 the Hon'ble Apex Court held as under: -

"The motive may be considered as circumstance which is relevant for assessing the evidence but if the evidence is clear and unambiguous and the circumstances prove the guilt of the accused, the same is not weakened even if the motive is not a very strong one. It is also settled law that the motive looses all its importance in a case where direct evidence of eye-witnesses is available, because even if there may be a very strong motive for the accused persons to commit a particular crime, they cannot be convicted if the evidence of eye-witnesses is not convincing. In the same way, even if there may not be an apparent motive but if the evidence of eye-witnesses is clear and reliable, the absence or inadequacy of motive cannot stand in the way of conviction."

27. Section 118 of the Evidence Act lays down that " all persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them, or from giving rational answers to those questions by tender years, extreme old age, disease, whether of body, of mind or any other cause of the same kind."

28. The learned counsel for convict/appellant argued that during the cross-examination the witness has stated that due to the blindness he is unable to identify the convict present in the dock, so the identification made by the witness during his examination in chief loses importance, but this argument of the defence does not carry any weight because the witness identified the convict in the jail during the test identification parade, thereafter in the Court during his examination-in-chief. The cross-examination of the witness was not made by the counsel of the convict on that date, thereafter the witness was called again after a gap of about four years. The witness on that day too, in his cross-examination told that he is unable to see due the blindness (as the observation made by the Court in the end of the statement shows). In spite of his inability to see the witness stressed that he correctly identified the convict during his previous statement made in the Court and also confirmed that he saw the killers of Syed Modi by his own eyes.

The testimony of P.W.9 is corroborated by the medical evidence. The P.W. 9 has stated that he saw two persons firing upon the deceased. The panel of doctors who conducted the postmortem has reported as follows:-

"The body is of strong built and nutrition. Postmortem straining is present in the posterior aspect of the body. Rigor-mortis is present all over the body, bleeding present from mouth and nostrils, its direction is on the right as well as left side of face suggesting that the person was bleeding in lying position after sustaining injuries. Mud is adherent to the clothes and the body at several places suggesting that it could be a bit kachcha wet land where the body had been lying. The body is cold and is kept in ice slab as it was received from ice slab in our presence. The body bearing blood stained sports shirt, white sports nickers and one white underwear. There is no evidemce of struggles on clothes. Buttons and respective wholes were intact in the shirt. There are eight holes in the shirt, six in the back portion and two in the front of the shirt. In the front one hole relates to the injury, but the second hole which is situated just adjacent to the first hole, is not related to any injury. A probable diagram of the injuries was also prepared.

The panel of doctors found the following ante-mortem injuries on the dead body :-

(1) Firearm wound of entry, 0.4 cm x 0.8 cm x cavity deep, slightly oval situated on the right side of chest, 11cm above right nipple 7cm medial from apex of axilla, 7cm below mid part of right collar bone. Abraded collar ring is present around wound margins. Blackning and tattooing present around the wound and around the corresponding hole of the shirt. Margins inverted, blood is adherent to the margins of the wound. The wound is directly corresponding to injury no.2.

(2) Firearm wound of exit 0.8cm x 0.8cm in size situated 22cm below C-7 spine on left side of back of chest, 16.5cm lateral from mid vertebral line. The bullet tract thus formed is directly obliquely downward, backward on the left side. The bullet has pierced through 3rd inter cortical space, in front, with pleurae and then spleen. Margins of the wound are averted and blackening and tattooing is not present around the wound and corresponding hole in the shirt.

(3) Firearm wound of entry 1.5cm x 0.7cm x muscle deep, situated 12cm below C-7 spine on the back of chest, on right side in its upper part, 8cm away from mid-vertebral line. Abraded collar ring present around the wound. Margins are inverted, blackening and tattooing is present around the wound and also upon the corresponding hole of the shirt. This wound is directly communicating to injury no.4.

(4) Firearm wound of exit 0.7cm x 0.8cm in size, oval in shape, 4cm lateral to mid vertebral line, 15cm below C-7 spine on the back of chest on right side in its upper part, 5cm below and medial to injury no.3. Margins are averted and irregular. Blackening and tattooing is not present around this wound and corresponding hole of shirt. Bullet tract thus formed is full of haematoma and acchymosis is present around the tissues.

(5) Firearm wound of entry 0.7cm x 0.7cm x cavity deep, rounded in shape, situated on right side of back of chest, in the lower region, 33cm below C-7 spine on right side, 12 cm away from the vertebral line, 21cm below and lateral to the wound no.4. Margins of the wound are inverted and collar abrasion is present around the margins. Blackening and tattooing is present around the wound and around the corresponding hole in the shirt. This wound is directly communicating to injury no.6.

(6) Firearm wound of exit 1.4cm x 0.5cm in size situated on right side of chest in front pf mid lower portion, 19cm below anterior axillary fold 24cm anterior superior iliac spine. Margins are averted. Corresponding hole on the shirt is not present, suggesting the portion of cloth was away from the seat of injury at the time of sustaining it. Thus the direction of the bullet tract thus formed is anteriorly. Liver was found pierced by the bullet.

(7) Firearm wound of entry 0.7 cm x 0.5 cm x cavity deep, situated on the right side back of chest, with lower portion 38 cm below C-7 spine, 5 cm away from mid vertebral line, 8.5 cm below the medial from injury no.5. Collar abrasions present around the wound margins. Blackening and tatooing is not present around this wound and corresponding hold of shirt. Margins inverted. Direction of the wound is upward and Blackening and tatooing is not present around this wound & corresponding hole of shirt. The bullet tract thus formed has pierced the intestine, and bullet was found lodged in the anterior abdominal wall from where it was recoverd.

8. Firearm wound of entry 0.7 cm x 0.7 cm in size x cavity deep, situated on left side back of chest within its lower portion, 33 cm below C-7 spine, 19 cm away from mijdd verebral line and 11 cm below injury No.2. Collar abrasion present around the wound and corresponding hole on the shirt. Spleen and intestine was found pierced by the bullets, which got lodged near to the other bullet in the same area. Therefore, fatty tissues of epigastric were found ecchymosed."

29. This postmortem report has been proved as Exhibit Ka-3.

30. Learned counsel for the defence also argued that the site plan has not been proved and exhibited, so the place of occurrence cannot be deemed as proved. This argument of the defence is also of no importance because the place of occurrence has not been disputed by the defence during the trial and no such defence was put forward by the convict/appellant even in his statement recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C.

31. In the statement under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. the convict/appellant has accepted in the answer of question No.11 that P.W. 9 Prem Chandra Yadav had identified him correctly. In the answer of question No.6 this witness has answered that he was not at the spot and he did not dispute the place of occurrence. Thus to sum up in the light of above analysis it is proved that the trial court has committed no error in relying upon the testimony of P.W. 9 supported with medical testimony and the testimony of formal witnesses for holding the convict guilty of killing the deceased Syed Modi.

32. Now comes for consideration the conviction of the convict/appellant under Section 27 of the Arms Act. Learned counsel for the convict/appellant submitted that the recovery of the alleged fire arm was not made at the pointing out of the convict/appellant, but it was allegedly made at the pointing out of co-accused Balai Singh (now dead). Therefore the conviction of the convict/appellant cannot be made on the basis of that evidence. The evidence available on record shows that co-accused Balai Singh who died during the trial made disclosure statement Exhibit Ka-10 in the presence of independent witness that the pistol used in the murder of Syed Modi alongwith cartridges given to him by Bhagwati Singh, he might get recovered that pistol alongwith cartridges, hidden under earth under a chhapri in a grove of Mango near Purwa of Bhagat Singh. He can point out that. This disclosure statement has also been proved by an independent witness Kishore Chaturvedi, Senior Clerk Welfare Section DRM(P) North East Railway, Lucknow. The recovery memo of the concerned pistol has also been proved by independent witness Kishore Chaturvedi as well as P.W.26 Sri B.L.P. Azad retired Superintendent of Police (CBI). Hence there is no error and discrepancy in the conclusion reached by the trial court in this regard also.

33. Thus to sum up the evidence available on record establishes that the deceased Syed Modi was killed by firing made by convict/appellant alongwith one another accused by using fire arm in contravention of Section 5 of the Arms Act, which is punishable under Section 27 of the Arms Act. Hence, the conviction and sentence of the convict/appellant awarded by the trial court punishable under Section 302/34 of I.P.C. and under Section 27 of the Arms Act is hereby confirmed and upheld.

34. The appeal is dismissed accordingly.

35. The appellant is stated to be in jail. He shall serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court.

36. Office is directed to send a copy of this judgement alongwith the lower court record to trial Court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

Criminal Appeal No.2368 of 1989

Chander & Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri P. C. Srivastava, Sri Manoj Kumar Mishra, Sri Santosh Kumar Upadhyay, Sri Vinod Kumar Upadhyay

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 3 - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section – 97- No Explanation of Injuries of Accused- Exercise of Right of Private Defence by First Informant's side- It is admitted by PW-4, the first informant at the very first instance, i.e. in the first information report that they also wielded Lathi in defence. In the examination-in-chief, PW-4 reiterated that he wielded Lathi in defence though he had denied, in cross, that he did not know as to whether the accused persons sustained injuries or not as he was busy in saving the injured. This version of the PW-4 cannot be said to be a denial of the injuries sustained by two accused persons. Rather the version of PW-4 in narrating that he also wielded Lathi in defence while the accused persons were causing injuries to his mother and brother is a truthful explanation of the simple injuries caused on the person of the accused-In comparison to the injuries of the complainant (prosecution) side, amongst whom the injuries on the person of Shanti were on vital parts with that of the injuries of the accused (defence) side, it is difficult to accept that six persons on the complainant side had suffered injuries as the accused persons wielded Lathis in their defence. The gravity of the injuries on the person of the deceased Soma, his mother Shanti and other four injured persons on the complainant (prosecution) side makes the defence story improbable. The version of PW-4 that he wielded Lathi in defence is acceptable being more probable and trustworthy.

Where the prosecution witness admits that he acted in Private Defence to save the lives of his relatives as a result of which the accused sustained only simple injuries in comparison to the fatal and serious injuries suffered by the complainant's side, then it cannot be said that either the prosecution had denied the injuries of the accused or that it was the defence side that had exercised it's right of private defence.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 313 Cr.P.C. - No positive evidence has been brought by the accused persons to prove that the prosecution witnesses on the complainant side were the aggressor of the crime.

Where the accused have failed to adopt the plea of right of exercise of private defence in their statements recorded under Section 3131 of the CrPC, and have also failed to establish the same by leading any positive evidence, then the subsequently adopted plea of exercise of right of private defence is unacceptable. 3. Subhash Kumar Vs. St. of UK, (2009) 6 SCC 641

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vinod Kumar Upadhyay learned Advocate for the appellant no.2 Dharm Pal and appellant no. 6 Jagpal. Sri Patanjali Mishra learned AGA has argued on behalf of the State respondent.

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 14.12.1989 passed by the IVth Additional District & Sessions Judge, Saharanpur in Sessions Trial No. 597 of 1987 (State vs. Chandra), under Section 147, 148, 302/149 and 323/149 IPC, Police Station Laksar, District Saharanpur, whereby eight appellants namely Chander, Dharm Pal, Mohar Singh, Ram Pal, Sewa, Jagpal, Palla and Om Pal were convicted of the offences under Sections 147, 302/149 and 323/149 IPC and have been sentenced for life imprisonment for the offence under Section 302/149; for one year rigorous imprisonment each for the offence under Section 147 and for one year rigorous imprisonment each for the offence under Section 323/149 IPC. The trial court has not imposed fine on any of the accused-appellant. All the sentences are to run concurrently.

3. At the outset, it is pertinent to note that the present appeal has been filed by eight accused persons, out of whom only two survive and they are appellant no. 2 Dharm Pal and appellant no. 6 Jagpal. This appeal filed on behalf of other six appellants has been abated.

4. The first information report of the incident was lodged by Omi son of Chohal Harijan, brother of the deceased. In the incident occurred on 23.6.1987 at about 9:10 PM, six persons were injured, out of whom, one Soma, brother of the first informant, had died. The first information report was lodged on 23.6.1987 itself at about 10:35 PM.

5. As per the written report lodged by the first informant/PW-4, there was a dispute over encroachment of 'Nali' of the 'Village Well' made by accused appellant no. 1 Chander son of Paltu Harijan. The allegation in the written report is that Chander son of Paltu had constructed the door of his house covering the drain of the Well, he was confronted by the villagers and though he assured that he would not make the construction but did not accede to the request actually. On 23.6.1987 at about 9:00 PM, eight accused persons named in the FIR (appellants in this appeal) went to the house of the first informant and started beating his brother Soma son of Chohal and one Jhandu son of Chhittar, other four injured persons intervened and tried to save them who were also beaten by the accused by Lathi.

It is stated in the written report that the complainant side also wielded Lathi in their defence and on hearing their cries, other villagers named in the written report came on the spot who saved them. Six injured persons on the complainant side were taken to the Laksar hospital because of the grievous injuries sustained by them, but amongst whom Soma, the brother of the first informant, had died on the way to the hospital.

The inquest of the dead body was conducted on 24.6.1987 at about 9:00 AM.

6. On the lodging of the first information report, Check FIR was prepared which was proved by PW-7, the police officer posted in the police station concerned. PW-7 proved that the Check report and GD entry were prepared in his presence in the police station concerned by Head Moharrir Balveer Singh whose writing and signatures were identified by him. The carbon copy of the GD filed on the record was tallied with the original GD brought in the Court. The Check FIR and the carbon copy of GD were proved as Exhibit Ka-8 and Exhibit Ka-9.

PW-7 further stated that the investigation of the case was made by him and after copying the FIR and the GD in the Case Diary, he went to the Hospital PHC Laksar and saw the dead body. However, it being dark, inquest could not be conducted. The police personnel were posted for safety of the dead body and he (PW-7) went to the site of the incident in the night itself. He remained at the site throughout the night and on 24.6.1987, the statement of the first informant Omi was recorded and he again went to PHC Luksar. The inquest report prepared in his handwriting and signature was proved by PW-7 as Exhibit Ka-10 and other related papers as Exhibits 11 to 13. PW-7 stated that he again went to the site of the incident, prepared the site plan, collected blood stained and plain earth, prepared the recovery memo and proved the said documents as Exhibits Ka-14 and Ka-15, being in his handwriting and signature. The blood stained and plain earth produced in the Court were proved as Material Exhibits '2' and '3'. The blood stained clothes of the deceased Soma collected during the inquest was documented in a recovery memo proved and marked as Exhibit Ka-16, being in the handwriting and signature of PW-7. It was stated that on 25.6.1987, four accused persons namely Chander, Mohar Singh, Sewa Ram and Ram Pal were arrested and on their pointing out, recovery of Lathis were made which were proved as Material Exhibits 4, 5, 6 and 7. Thereafter, PW-7 was transferred and the investigation was handed over to PW-9 namely P.C. Panth, on 24.7.1987.

In cross, PW-7 stated that a cross case was also registered in relation to the incident and the investigation of the same was also conducted by him and the charge sheet was submitted in the said case. With regard to the spot of the incident, PW-7 stated that he had seen Panchayati Well (public Well) on the spot and it was found to be a dry Well (being filled) and no drain could be seen by him. He had also seen a 'pakka' platform of appellant Chander towards the west side of the Well in front of which there was an East facing 'Varanadah' with three openings. He could not find any plinth of the old construction on the spot. PW-7 further stated, in cross, that the recovery of Lathis at the instance of appellant no. 1 Chander was made from the sugarcane field and that he did not see blood on the Lathis. He recorded statements of four accused persons on whose disclosure statements, recovery of Lathis was made but there was no public witness of the same. PW-7 had denied the suggestion of false recovery of Lathis made by him.
