custody of the children with their father can, in the facts and circumstances, be said to be unlawful. The Court has also not adverted to the question whether for the welfare of the children they should be taken out of the custody of their father and left in the care of their mother. However, it is not necessary for us to consider this question further in view of the fair concession made by Shri M.N. Rao that the appellant has no objection if the children remain in the custody of the mother with the right of the father to visit them as noted in the judgment of the High Court, till the Family Court disposes of the petition filed by the appellant for custody of his children." VII. Vahin Saxena (Minor Corpus) and another vs. State of U.P. and others (Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No. 467 of 2021), decided on 27.08.2021 (relied by counsel for Respondents-3 to 5):

"7. The writ of habeas corpus is a prerogative writ and an extraordinary remedy. It is writ of right and not a writ of course and may be granted only on reasonable ground or probable cause being shown, as held in Mohammad Ikram Hussain v. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1964 SC 1625 and Kanu Sanyal v. District Magistrate Darjeeling, (1973) 2 SCC 674.

8. The object and scope of a writ of habeas corpus in the context of a claim relating to custody of a minor child fell for consideration in Sayed Saleemuddin v. Dr. Rukhsana and others, (2001) 5 SCC 247, and it was held that in a habeas corpus petition seeking transfer of custody of a child from one parent to the other, the principal consideration for the Court would be to ascertain whether the custody of the child can be said to be unlawful or illegal and whether the welfare of the child requires that the present custody should be changed. It was stated thus:

"11....it is clear that in an application seeking a writ of Habeas Corpus for custody of minor children the principal consideration for the Court is to ascertain whether the custody of the children can be said to be unlawful or illegal and whether the welfare of the children requires that present custody should be changed and the children should be left in care and custody of somebody else. The principle is well-settled that in a matter of custody of a child the welfare of the child is of paramount consideration of the Court..."

"12. The exercise of the extraordinary jurisdiction for issuance of a writ of habeas corpus would, therefore, be seen to be dependent on the jurisdictional fact where the applicant establishes a prima facie case that the detention is unlawful. It is only where the aforementioned jurisdictional fact is established that the applicant become entitled to the writ as of right.

13. In an application seeking a writ of habeas corpus for custody of minor child, as is the case herein, the principal consideration for the Court would be to ascertain whether the custody of the child can be said to be unlawful and illegal and whether his welfare requires that the present custody should be changed and the child should be handed over in the care and custody of somebody else other than in whose custody he presently is.

14. Proceedings in the nature of habeas corpus may not be used to examine the question of the custody of a child. The prerogative writ of habeas corpus, is in the nature of extraordinary remedy, and the writ is issued, where in the circumstances of a particular case, the ordinary remedy provided under law is either not available or is ineffective. The power of the High Court, in granting a writ, in child custody matters, may be invoked only in cases where the detention of a minor is by a person who is not entitled to his/her legal custody.

15. The role of the High Court in examining cases of custody of a minor, in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, would have to be on the touchstone of the principle of parens patriae jurisdiction and the paramount consideration would be the welfare of the child. In such cases the matter would have to be decided not solely by reference to the legal rights of the parties but on the predominant criterion of what would best serve the interest and welfare of the minor.

16. In a given case, while dealing with a petition for issuance of a writ of habeas corpus concerning a minor child, directions may be issued for return of the child or the Court may decline to change the custody of the child, keeping in view all the attending facts and circumstances and taking into view the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case brought before the Court; the welfare of the child being the paramount consideration." (Emphasis supplied)

VIII. Shaurya Gautam (Minor) and another vs. State of U.P. and others (Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No. 140 of 2020), decided on 10.11.2020 (relied by counsel for petitioner):

"14. It was also emphasized in Nil Ratan Kundu that wishes of the minor ought to be taken into consideration, where the minor is of an age that he can express his/her intelligent choice. This is a principle embodied in Section 17(3) of Act, 1890. Bearing in mind these facts, this Court carefully interacted with the elder of the two minors, that is to say, Shaurya Gautam. He is a 10-year old boy and fairly intelligent. He informed the Court that he and his sister stay at Sri Braddhanand Bal Ashram, but he is not at all disturbed about the fact that his maternal grandmother has placed him and his sister there. He also told the Court that there is a school, which he and his sister attend. The grandmother (nani) comes over to meet Shaurya and his sister. He is emphatic that he does not wish to go back to his father or stay with him. On being asked the reason, he says that he fears for his life. He also said that he wishes to stay at the hostel. During the course of conversation, the child emotionally broke down and wept. He insisted upon staying with the hostel and refused to go back to his father. Smt. Brahma Devi Tiwari, the minors' grandmother, told the Court that she stayed alone. Her daughter and son-in-law live close by. On being asked why she does not house the children in her home, she said that she is fearful of their father. He would kidnap both of them and get her framed in a false case. It is for the said reason that she has housed the two children in the ashram. The minors' aunt, Smt. Uma Rawat, told the Court that she is a housewife. Her husband is an engineer in a US-based firm, domiciled in Dehradun. She also reiterated that they do not keep the children with them, because the father would get them implicated in some false case. The father, on being asked, denied these allegations and said that he never threatened his in-laws."

IX. Gyanmati Kushwaha and another vs. State of U.P. and others (Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No. 1217 of 2019), decided on 26.02.2021 (relied by counsel for petitioner):

"14. In the present case, the Court is deprived of knowing the wishes of the minor, because she is too young to express her intelligent choice. The minor's choice has been underscored by their Lordships in Nil Ratan Kundu and also in the provisions of Section 17(3) of the Act of 1890, but that can have no application in the present case, where the minor is a very young child, presently aged about three years and a half. It is the circumstances and the facts on record that alone can serve as a guide in the foreshadow of settled principles about the minor's welfare to decide the question of her custody. It is not known to this Court as to what are the circumstances appearing against the mother, on the basis of which she has been charged with conspiracy in her husband's murder. This Court ought not to investigate those circumstances also, that are the concern of the court where she is facing trial, but, as matters stand, she is an accused in a case relating to her husband's murder. The fact that she is an accused is not in doubt. One consequence of this fact is that she faces a situation where she could be convicted, though the presumption of innocence is all along with her. If she were to be convicted, the minor's welfare would be thrown into disarray. It would be irreversibly unsettling and debilitating in her formative years. It may even expose her to insurmountable trauma, if she witnesses her mother, whom she is bonded with, convicted in the case of her father's murder.

15. This Court assumes that the possibility of conviction may be remote or not so remote, but the possibility is there. The existence of this possibility and the adverse impact of the event, if it were to come to pass, would far outweigh the transitory benefit the minor would derive from her mother's care and company. This facet of the matter apart, the possibility that the mother might truly be a conspirator in her husband's murder, predicates a personality which would not be beneficial for the minor in grooming her about her moral values - a very important aspect of a child's welfare. On the other hand, if the mother is innocent and she is acquitted, the loss, the minor would suffer on account of deprivation of her mother's care and custody, cannot be re-compensated, but nevertheless, it is a reverse that must be accepted for the minor's surer welfare, in preference to a contingent better, fraught with risk.

16. It is made clear that in the event the mother is acquitted by judgment based on doubt or otherwise, she would have the right to move a court of competent jurisdiction for her daughter's custody, which would then be decided in accordance with law."

X. Neelam vs. Man Singh and another, 2015(2) RCR (Civil) 291 (relied by counsel for Respondents-3 to 5):

"12. There are no two thoughts that the welfare and interest of the child is a paramount consideration for us. Apparently, the minor child is residing with her grand parents for the last almost 9 years. She is emotionally attached to them. It will be very difficult for her to change her place and stay with a family, her mother included, with whom she has no connection ever since she has started understanding things. Moreso, the minor has entered the age group where she is able to understand worldly relations to some extent and it will be very hard for her to accept separation from her grand parents. Therefore, we are of the considered view that the custody of the minor child should remain with the grand parents.

Thus, the conclusion irresistible is that the findings of learned trial Court declining the custody of the minor child to appellant Neelam deserves no intervention.

13. At the end of the matter learned counsel for the appellant prayed that appellant Neelam being mother of the minor child be allowed visiting rights. At this juncture, we find that it will do no good except injure or exploit the emotions and sentiments of the minor child if the mother is allowed to visit her at different intervals. There have been allegations of unchastity against the appellant. She has also faced trial in a criminal case that too relating to the unnatural death of father of the minor. For that reason, the visits of mother may adversely affect the minor girl psychologically and will disturb the atmosphere and the people she is living with. The minor girl is said to be 13 years old. After another 5 years she will be a major and will attain the age of majority and will be in a position to take appropriate decision regarding maintaining relations with the mother."

F. ANALYSIS

8. Undisputedly, there are counter allegations by mother and father including serious allegation of attempt to murder, giving torture to a minor and even of administering intoxicating substance to Corpus. There are FIRs also wherein investigation is either concluded or at the stage of protest petition. The relations between father and mother appears to be strain. Presently the younger child is with mother and Corpus, who is elder child, is with father. Mother, on the one hand, disputing compromise entered before Family Court, being signed under force, but on the other hand, placed heavy reliance on Clause 5 of compromise which provides that mother shall have overall right on both child and in fact by way of this habeas corpus petition she wants to implement or execute the said clause in her favour as her case is that Corpus was kidnapped by his father under the garb of visiting right, which is a clear violation of the conditions of agreement. She has even tried to execute the same by help of Police personnel, however, it was not materialized. Even otherwise, Police authorities have no business or right to execute a compromise executed in a Court of law in absence of any specific direction by Court concerned. Both mother and father are natural guardian of their children, therefore, to hold that the Corpus is in illegal custody of his father would not be a correct approach. Both families are residing nearby. Counter allegation of torturing the Corpus cannot be decided in a habeas corpus petition only on the basis of allegations and averments made in respective affidavits. So far as allegation of attempt to murder by in-laws and husband, as alleged by mother, is concerned, the same is subject matter of investigation, therefore, at this stage to take a view by this Court will adversely affect the investigation or proceedings thereafter.

9. As referred above, a writ of habeas corpus is a prerogative writ and extraordinary remedy. It is a writ of right and not a writ of course and may be granted only on reasonable ground or probable cause being shown.

10. In Mohd. Ikram Hussain vs State Of U.P. & Others, 1964(5) SCR 86 it is held that, "writ of habeas corpus is a festinum remedium and the power can only be exercised in a clear case".

11. As referred above, the Court has interacted with Corpus and found that the boy is happy in the company of his father and grandparents and he wants to live with his parents, i.e., father and mother both. The Corpus appears to be in healthy condition and does not appear to be under any force or being tutored. Only because the father has admitted him in another school which allegedly to be a school of sub-standard, the Court cannot come to the conclusion that welfare of Corpus is not properly looked after by father.

12. There are contrary allegation on behalf of father also that Corpus was beaten by his mother and grandparents as and when he desires to visit his father. In absence of any evidence the Court cannot pass any final judgment to the allegations and further there are photographs of both sides that Corpus is happy alongwith his father and also with his mother, therefore, to take a judgement at this stage will only result in digging a deep valley between mother and father of Corpus.

13. As mentioned above, this Court has to take a prima facie view about the welfare of Corpus, a minor boy, which is the supreme consideration in cases concerning to custody of minor child and paramount consideration of the Court ought to be child's interest and welfare. There is no dispute that father is also a natural guardian of a minor child, as such, the Corpus is not in illegal detention or custody with his father. There is no order of any Court which has provided custody of Corpus to his mother. So far as execution of agreement is concerned, parties are at liberty to take available legal recourse. Parties are also at liberty to take legal recourse provided under Guardians and Wards Act, 1890.

14. As referred above, the Court has interacted with Corpus and does not find that his welfare is not properly looked after by his father. The Corpus is admitted in a school, namely, D.K. International School, Etawah and the Corpus has correctly answered few questions of general knowledge. Therefore, it cannot be said that presently father of Corpus is not looking after his son properly. It is also not a case of mother that her husband and family members are not financially sound. The Corpus was wearing good formal clothes and was looking hygienic.

G. CONCLUSION

15. The outcome of above analysis on facts as well as on law is that, father of Corpus is one of the natural guardian. The outcome of interaction with Corpus is that he is happy alongwith his father and has a keen interest in study. He has no complaints with his father and wishes that his parents and his younger brother stay together. The allegations and counter allegations are the part of scrutiny in police investigation. The parties have liberty to ascertain their rights of custody of their children in accordance with the provisions of Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 after exchange of pleadings and evidence. Therefore, the prayer of petitioner cannot be allowed.

H. DIRECTIONS

I. The Corpus shall remain with his father till a contrary direction, if any, is passed by any Court of Law.

II. Father shall not obstruct or object the visiting rights of mother of Corpus and he shall permit his mother to meet the Corpus on any day with prior notice as well as on each Sunday in day time at his home and father will also have similar liberty to meet his younger son at his mother's home.

III. Mother and father of Corpus are also directed not to create any ruckus during their visit at respective houses to meet the child.

IV. The Investigating Officer is directed to organize a mediation between parties as well as, if necessary, organize a counselling session for parents also.

I. CONCLUDING REMARKS

16. As observed above, in a case of inter-parental conflict, a child may be affected by relationship distress and may develop loyalty conflict and parental alienation, therefore, parents are advised to settle their differences to fulfill the wish of Corpus which he expressed before this Court that he wants to live alongwith his younger brother father and mother as a family and wants to hold their hands to go his home alongwith his younger brother to live peacefully and happily.

J. ORDER

17. The prayers made in this habeas corpus petition are rejected and it is disposed of with above referred directions.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vijay Kumar Ojha, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Dhiraj Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent nos.3 & 4, Sri Mithlesh Kumar, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner no.2 has sought writ of Habeas Corpus, directing the respondents to produce the corpus (petitioner no.1), namely, Vinayak Tripathi before this Court and further prayed that the custody of the petitioner no.1 may be handed over to the petitioner no.2.

3. At the very outset, learned counsel for the opposite party nos.3 and 4 has raised preliminary objection regarding maintainability of the instant Habeas Corpus petition. He submits that writ of Habeas Corpus cannot be issued where there is an statutory alternative remedy is available to the person aggrieved and as such if there is any grievance to the petitioner no.2, he can take the recourse of invoking the relevant provisions of Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act 32 of 1956') or he may approach the court of civil competence. Further submitted that after the death of the mother, the child is gladly living with the grand maternal parents and now his admission has got done, in a reputed school and he is pursuing his study. Adding his contention, he submits that the writ of Habeas Corpus can be issued in an event where the custody is unlawful and that can be termed as illegal detention. He argued that in the instant matter, neither the child was abducted nor that was taken away unlawfully from the lawful guardianship of his father. Further submission is that, for providing custody of a minor child, is to be examined on the ground of consideration of not only legal right of the parties but more importantly the welfare of child. In the instant matter, the child is living with the opposite party nos.3 and 4 for last 7 to 8 years and the petitioner no.2 did not make any effort or objection for his custody though admittedly, the fact was in his knowledge that the child is in custody of them. He added that at the very inception, the child was taken away by opposite party nos.3 and 4 when no one was there, to look after the child. He added that the mother of the child as well as child were ailing with serious burn injuries and the opposite party Nos.3 and 4 were looking after them. Thus, the submission is that the custody of the child with opposite party nos.3 and 4 cannot be termed as illegal detention, and therefore, the writ of Habeas Corpus would not lie in the instant matter and remedy lies elsewhere and thus, it has been prayed that instant Habeas Corpus writ petition is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

4. In support of his contention, the counsel for the opposite party nos.3 and 4 has placed reliance on the judgement and order rendered in the case of Captain Dushyant Somal vs Smt. Sushma Somal and others; reported in 1981(2) SCC 277 and has referred para 3 of the judgement which is extracted as under;

"3. There can be no question that a Writ of Habeas Corpus is not to be issued as a matter of course, particularly when the writ is sought against a parent for the custody of a child. Clear grounds must be made out. Nor is a person to be punished for contempt of Court for disobeying an order of Court except when the disobedience is established beyond reasonable doubt, the standard of proof being similar, even if not the same, as in a criminal proceeding. Where the person alleged to be in contempt is able to place before the Court sufficient material to conclude that it is impossible to obey the order, the Court will not be justified in punishing the alleged contemner. But all this does not mean that a Writ of Habeas Corpus cannot or will not be issued against a parent who with impunity snatches away a child from the lawful custody of the other parent, to whom a Court has given such custody. Nor does it mean that despite the contumacious conduct of such a parent in not producing the child even after a direction to do so has been given to him, he can still plead justification for the disobedience of the order by merely persisting that he has not taken away the child and contending that it is therefore, impossible to obey the order. In the case before us, the evidence of the mother and the grand-mother of the child was not subjected to any cross-examination; the appellant-petitioner did not choose to go into the witness box; he did not choose to examine any witness on his behalf. The evidence of the grand-mother, corroborated by the evidence of the mother, stood unchallenged that the appellant-petitioner snatched away Sandeep when he was waiting for a bus in the company of his grand-mother. The High Court was quite right in coming to the conclusion that he appellant-petitioner had taken away the child unlawfully from the custody of the child's mother. The Writ, of Habeas Corpus was, therefore, rightly issued. In the circumstances, on the finding, impossibility of obeying the order was not an excuse which could be properly put forward."

5. Referring the aforesaid judgement, he submits that Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the writ of Habeas Corpus is not to be issued as a matter of course unless clear grounds are made out.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for the petitioners submits that the petitioner no.2 is the father of the child namely Deepak Kumar Tripathi and thus, he is natural guardian and has preferential right to claim the custody. He submits that Section 6 of the "Act 32 of 1956', envisages the provisions that the natural guardian of a Hindu minor, in case of boy is the father and after him, the mother and thus the father can not be deprived of the custody of a minor child unless he is shown to be unfit to be guardian. He added that admittedly the child is in custody of opposite party nos.3 and 4 and they are not the parents of the child and thus onus goes upon them to prove that the child is not illegally detained. He added that, in fact, taking the undue benefit of the situation that the petitioner no.2 was very much involved in looking after her wife in hospital, as she sustained burn injuries due to an accident and thus, they have taken away the child without the cautious and proper permission of petitioner no.2 and when the petitioner no.2 asked the opposite party nos.3 and 4 to give the custody of his son, he was denied, and as such, this is clear cut a case of illegal and improper detention by the opposite party nos.3 and 4.

7. Considering the aforesaid arguments of learned counsel for the parties, the question which has drawn attention of this Court for consideration is that whether the writ of Habeas Corpus instituted by the petitioner no.2 is maintainable? Law has been settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Tejaswini Gaud and others vs. Shekhar Jagdish Prasad Tewari and others; 2019

(3) SCC (Criminal 433). Para 13 of the judgement extracted as under;

"13. Writ of habeas corpus is a prerogative process for securing the liberty of the subject by affording an effective means of immediate release from an illegal or improper detention*. The writ also extends its influence to restore the custody of a* minor to his guardian when wrongfully deprived of it. The detention of a minor by a person who is not entitled to his legal custody is treated as equivalent to illegal detention for the purpose of granting writ, directing custody of the minor child. For restoration of the custody of a minor from a person who according to the personal law, is not his legal or natural guardian, in appropriate cases, the writ court has jurisdiction."

8. This question was also discussed in British Law as it was placed before the Queen Bench namely Queen v. Clarke (1857) 7 EL & BL 186: 119, ER 1217 Lord Campbell, C.J., said at p. 193. The Stalward British Judge while deciding the issue has held that "But with respect to a child under guardianship for nurture, the child is supposed to be unlawfully imprisoned when unlawfully detained from the custody of the guardian: and when delivered to him, the child is supposed to be set a liberty."

9. Further in case of Manju Malini Sheshachalam vs Vijay Thirugnanam and others; 2018 SCC Online Kar 621, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held in para 24 of the judgment which is read as follows;

"24. The moment respondents 1 and 2 refused to handover the custody of minor Tanishka to the petitioner the natural and legal guardian, the continuation of her custody with them becomes illegal detention. Such intentional act on the part of respondent Nos.1 and 2 even amounts to the offence of kidnapping punishable under Section 361 of IPC. Therefore, there is no merit in the contention that the writ petition is not maintainable and respondent Nos.1 and 2 are in legal custody of baby Tanishka".

10. Undoubtedly, in case of dispute regarding custody of a child, generally the remedy lies under "Act 32 of 1956' or The Guardianships and Wards Act, 1890. It is very much clear that the writ of habeas corpus is issued in a case where the detention is without any authority of law or improper detention and thus the court directs for producing the corpus. This can be issued where the detention of minor cannot be otherwise taken in the legal custody.

11. It is an admitted fact that the child is in custody of other than the parents. Further the custody was taken under a peculiar circumstances where the father of minor child was looking after the mother of the child, when she was ailing with burn injuries in hospital and could not have cautiously and improperly decided regarding the custody of the child. It seems that taking advantage of the situation, the opposite party Nos.3 and 4 had taken away the child from the possession of the petitioner no.2. It is an undisputed fact that the opposite party nos.3 and 4 are not the natural guardian and in view of the above circumstances the custody of the child with them can be termed as improper custody.

12. So far as the case of Captain Dushyant Somal (supra) referred by counsel for the opposite party nos.3 and 4 is concerned, there was dispute of custody between father and the mother which are covered under the definition of the Natural guardians in the "Act 32 of 1956' and the factum is altogether different than the present matter. This case has later been considered in case of Tejaswani Gaud (supra).

13. After the abovesaid discussions and submissions, this court is of the considered opinion that the instant habeas corpus petition is maintainable whereby the extraordinary remedy has sought for custody of the child. Thus, the preliminary objection taken by the counsel for the respondent nos.3 and 4 finds no force and is hereby rejected.

14. The factual matrix of the case is, that the marriage of the petitioner no.2 was solemnized with the granddaughter of the respondent no.3 and 4 on 11.03.2012. After the marriage, the wife namely Soniya Pandey @ Soniya and the petitioner no.2 was living very happily and a son namely Vinayak Tripathi (corpus) was born from their wedlock on 31.10.2013. On 28.02.2014, an accident took place, wherein the corpus as well as the wife of the petitioner no.2 sustained burn injuries and they were immediately taken to the hospital for treatment by the petitioner no.2 and statement of the wife of petitioner no.2 was also recorded there. On 24th March, 2014, the wife of petitioner no.2 died. After death of the wife, the every rites and ritual were performed by the petitioner no.2 and, thereafter, the respondent no.3 called upon the petitioner no.2 on the pretext of the illness of grand mother-in-law and when petitioner no.2 reached over there, he was surprised to see that she was not ill and, thereafter on the next day, when he was leaving the place, the respondent no.3 refused to give back the corpus to petitioner no.2 stating therein that when he (petitioner no.2) would re-marry then they will give the corpus to him so that his son could be better nurtured.

15. In September, 2014, the respondent no.3 proposed to the petitioner No.2 to get marry with Aradhana Tripathi, who was widow and mother of a child from her first marriage and, as such, under the supervision and presence of respondent no.3 & 4 including certain respected persons of the family, the marriage was solemnized with Smt. Aradhana Tripathi on 4th March, 2015 and, thereafter, the petitioner no.2 is residing at his place at Padrauna, District-Kushi Nagar. The dispute arose when the respondent no.3 was informed that the second wife has conceived pregnancy and, thereafter, the respondent nos.3 and 4 started insisting the petitioner no.2 to get abort the fetus and threatened that if the petitioner no.2 will not agree with the aforesaid desire of the respondent nos.3 and 4, they will not return back the corpus to him. On 31.10.2015, the petitioner no.2 decided to celebrate the birthday of the corpus and intimated to the respondent nos.3 and 4 and requested to come with the corpus at the place of Hotel G-Star, Padrauna, but they refused to visit their and further denied to give the custody of the corpus to the petitioner no.2. He again requested on 22.06.2016 for performing the tonsure (Mundan) ceremony of corpus and asked him to bring to the petitioner (corpus) but they again refused and started threatening and, thus, the wife of the petitioner no.2 informed the higher Police Authorities at Kushi Nagar on 14th July, 2016. All efforts were made to get back the custody of the son of petitioner no.2, but the respondent nos.3 and 4 refused to hand over the corpus to the petitioner no.2.

16. The petitioner no.2 moved an application on 10th September, 2016 before the respondent no.2 and requested for restoring back the custody of the corpus to him. On the aforesaid application, the matter was referred before the Family Conciliation Centre and parties were required to present. The respondent no.3 was kept on avoiding to appear before the Family Conciliation Centre and, ultimately, he appeared on 06.11.2016 and refused to give the corpus into the custody of the petitioner no.2 and also denied to put his signature on the report of the Family Conciliation Center and, as such, the Family Conciliation Center sent the report to the effect that respondent no.3 is not willing to hand over the corpus to the petitioner. The report was sent to the respondent no.1 on 06.11.2016 by the Conciliation Center. On 11.11.2016, again an application was moved before the higher Authorities including the respondent no.1 making the prayer for getting back the corpus in the custody of the petitioner no.2, but that also remained in vain. Thereafter the instant petition was filed before this Court with the prayer, seeking direction to respondent no.3 and 4 to produce the corpus, namely, Vinayak Tripathi before this Court and further prayer was made that the custody of the corpus (petitioner no.1) Vinayak Tripathi, be given to natural guardian i.e. petitioner no.2.

17. Submissions of learned counsel for the petitioners are that the death of mother of the corpus was occurred due to an accident, which is also evident from the dying declaration. Since, the relations were very much affectionate with the wife of petitioner no.2 and, as such, he was in a very measurable condition after her death and, thereafter, on the desire of respondent nos.3 and 4, he decided to get re-married and, as such, the marriage has taken place. Submission is that while taking the decision of marriage, it was also in the mind of the petitioner no.2 that nurturing of his child (corpus) can best be done in case, he re-marry, but after the second marriage which was done on the desire of the respondent nos.3 and 4 and was basically organized by the respondent nos.3 and 4 and was solemanised in their presence, but later on, they conspired and denied to give the custody of the corpus to the petitioner no.2.

18. He contended that later on, when the second wife namely Aradhana Tripathi conceived the pregnancy, they advised for abortion and in case of disagreement, they threatened not to give the custody of corpus and the instant controversy cropped up due to the same.

19. Applicant's counsel further argued that as per the settled proposition of law, the father is the natural guardian and, as such, the custody of a son is his legal right. This is not a case where there is any criminal case against the petitioner or his family members and further since the petitioner no.2 (father) is alive and as such he excludes the right of any other persons with regard to the custody of corpus.

20. He next argued that the corpus would get all the conducive and ordinary comfort in the company of the petitioner no.2 as he is headmaster in the primary school and earned sufficient money so as to take care the corpus and fulfill the need of the same. Further family background of the petitioner no.2 is sound and well mannered. The whole family is educated and even the eldest brother of petitioner no.2 is teacher and elder brother is an advocate and practicing in the High Court.

21. He further added that the instant controversy arose because the wife of the present petitioner namely Sonia Pandey died due to burn accident and even after making all effort to save her life and the life of the corpus and even after providing the best treatment, could not save the life of his beloved wife and needless to say that, all the expenses incurred upon the treatment was done by the applicant. He next submitted that conduct of the respondent no.3 always remain fraudulent as at mediation centre, he refused to give the custody of the corpus. Further, he always filed forged papers with regard to the study of corpus before the Court. It is forged because when the applicant no.2 sought information under Right to Information Act, it was found that the admission of the corpus was terminated as the record could not be produced by the guardian. He has also drawn attention towards page 32 of the rejoinder affidavit dated 9th May, 2018 which is a letter of head mistress of the Prathmik Vidyalay Bahrampur First, District Mau address to Sri Deepak Kumar Tripathi (petitioner No.2).

22. He has also drawn attention of this Court that it is not a case where any charge of death of wife has ever been levelled upon the petitioner no. 2. In support of his contention, he attracted the attention at annexure 1 page 17 which is dying declaration of wife of the petitioner no.2. He submits that dying declaration is itself evident that the death occurred due to burn accident and there was no any dispute between the petitioner and his wife. He has also indicated that so far as second marriage is concerned, the same was solemnized as arrange marriage on the behest of respondent no.3 and marriage certificate also reveals that the brother-in-law has put in appearance on the certificate of marriage of the petitioner with Aradhna Tripathi. He also added that there are specific evidence regarding threat to the petitioner no.2 for termination of pregnancy of second wife as Audio Clip are available which clearly shows that dispute with regard to hand over the corpus arose as second wife conceived pregnancy.

23. In support of his contention, the counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on a case of Tejaswini Gaud and others (supra) and submits that in an identical situation the Hon'ble Apex Court has directed the person, who were having unlawful custody of the child, to the father, who was working as Principal in an educational institution. He has placed reliance on para 31 and 34 of the judgement which are quoted hereinunder;

"31. In the case at hand, the father is the only natural guardian alive and has neither abandoned nor neglected the child. Only due to the peculiar circumstances of the case, the child was taken care of by the appellants. Therefore, the cases cited by the appellants are distinguishable on facts and cannot be applied to deny the custody of the child to the father.

34.The welfare of the child has to be determined owing to the facts and circumstances of each case and the court cannot take a pedantic approach. In the present case, the first respondent has neither abandoned the child nor has deprived the child of a right to his love and affection. The circumstances were such that due to illness of the parents, the appellants had to take care of the child for some time. Merely because, the appellants being the relatives took care of the child for some time, they cannot retain the custody of the child. It is not the case of the appellants that the first respondent is unfit to take care of the child except contending that he has no female support to take care of the child. The first respondent is fully recovered from his illness and is now healthy and having the support of his mother and is able to take care of the child."

24. Referring the aforesaid judgement, counsel for the petitioners submits that the case of the present petitioners are squarely covered with the ratio of the aforesaid judgement. He added that because of the special circumstances, the child was with opposite party nos.3 and 4 and the petitioner no.2 neither abandoned the child nor he has deprived the child of his right, love and affection. He added that now the petitioner no.2 has come out of trauma and further there is female support to take care of the child, and therefore, the petitioner no.2 (father) cannot be denied, the custody of the child.

25. He submits that case in hand is an example where the father ever abandoned the child or deprived the child with his love and affection. It is because of the fact that the first wife died and for a breathing period, the child was with his grand maternal uncle and merely because of the fact that grand maternal uncle will take care of the child for some time, he cannot deny to handover the custody of the child to his natural guardian.

26. He also added that the second wife is there and as such the better care, love and affection can be poured upon the child than the maternal grand parents, who are of considerable old age persons. He further submits that petitioner no.2 is bonafide father who can have all due care to the interest of the corpus as he is headmaster and he has got entered the name of the corpus in his service records and also purchased the health insurance policy, investment plans and made nominee for 50 % of investment plan in the name of corpus.

27. He submits that as per Section 6 of "Act 32 of 1956', the father is a natural guardian and whosoever is claiming the custody of the child other than father has to proof that the custody with him is not improper. Section 6 of the Act is quoted hereinabove;

6. Natural guardians of a Hindu minor.--The natural guardian of a Hindu minor, in respect of the minor's person as well as in respect of the minor's property (excluding his or her undivided interest in joint family property), are--

(a) in the case of a boy or an unmarried girl--the father, and after him, the mother: provided that the custody of a minor who has not completed the age of five years shall ordinarily be with the mother;

(b) in case of an illegitimate boy or an illegitimate unmarried girl--the mother, and after her, the father;

(c) in the case of a married girl--the husband: Provided that no person shall be entitled to act as the natural guardian of a minor under the provisions of this section--

(a) if he has ceased to be a Hindu, or

(b) if he has completely and finally renounced the world by becoming a hermit (vanaprastha) or an ascetic (yati or sanyasi). Explanation.--In this section, the expression "father" and "mother" do not include a step-father and a step-mother.

28. Referring the aforesaid, he submits that intent of legislature is that the first and foremost right is having custody of a child is vest with the parents. This provision has been envisaged in the aforesaid act after due care and caution by the legislature. This indicates that unless there is such situation which negates the welfare of the child in the custody of the father, the father have all right of custody of his son.

29. Thus, he submitted that the present petitioner no.2 is entitled to have the custody of his minor child and as a result, a writ of habeas corpus may be issued against the opposite party no.3 and 4 to provide the custody of minor child (corpus petitioner no.1) to the natural guardian i.e. petitioner no.2 within stipulated period of time as may be fixed by this court.

30. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the State has opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that the situation is otherwise than it is narrated by the present petitioner no.2 in the instant petition. He submits that a suspicious fire incident took place on 28.02.2014, wherein the wife of the petitioner no.2 and child (corpus) sustained severe burn injuries and as a result the mother of the child died on 24.03.2014. He added that since then the opposite party nos.3 and 4 started care of the child in the hospital and thereafter he is living with them. He submits that the petitioner no.2 always mount pressure over the opposite party nos.3 and 4 for providing the corpus to him. He has drawn attention towards the fact that the petitioner no.2 did not visit the minor child for about three years and thereafter he suddenly started claiming the custody of the child. He pressed his contention and submits that no application under Section 12 for registration or any kind of demand or inquiry through any court of law has ever been demanded by the petitioner no.2. Further submits that the petitioner no.2 got married with Aradhna Tiwary on 4th March, 2015 just after death of his wife and from wedlock of second wife, a child was also born.

31. On the other hand, the contention of learned counsel for the opposite party nos.3 and 4 is that the child is living with the grand maternal parents since he was four months of age and father of the child got re-married and having two children out of aforesaid second marriage and if custody of the child (corpus) is been given to the petitioner no.2, the child has to face anguish of step mother and naturally welfare and interest of child would face tremendous crisis.

32. Adding his arguments, he submits that it is not claimed that the petitioner no.1 is not getting proper love and affection with his grand maternal parents and it is also not a case that he is not getting good education and thus the welfare of child is taking care of by them.

33. He added that the word "welfare or interest' of a child cannot be measured in terms of money or physical comfort but it also goes to affectionate tie with the persons concern. He submits that the petitioner no.1 (child) is living with the grand maternal parents for long period of time and as such his physical, mental and emotional growth can very well nurtured under the guardianship of opposite party no.3 and 4. The conducive interest and welfare of the minor is not a mechanical parameter and further no law can decide it. It is the situation of a child which can only indicate regarding the welfare of the minor child. He further added that the child is well comfortable with the opposite party nos.3 and 4 and further he do not want to go with the petitioner no.2 as the petitioner no.2 and his newly wedded second wife and their sibling are very much unacquainted with the petitioner no.1.

34. In support of his contention, the counsel for the respondent nos.3 and 4 has placed reliance on a case reported in (2008) 9 SCC 413, Nil Ratan Kundu and another vs. Abhijit Kundu and submits that the Apex Court has held that for custody of a child, the paramount consideration is the welfare of the child.

35. He has further placed reliance on a case reported in (2009) 1 SCC 42, Gaurav Nagpal vs Sumedha Nagpal and submitted that the welfare of the child is not to be measured in terms of money merely because of the physical comfort of the child but tie of affection is be regarded.

36. Concluding his argument, he submits that the child does not recognize his father because of his negligence and after the death of his mother, the child is only the last living memory of her daughter. Further submits that he is studying in a reputed school and they are well off and they are willing in future to buy some property in the name of petitioner no.1 and to make some fixed deposit amounts if this Court such directs. Thus, the submission is that the prayer of petitioner no.2 for handing over the custody of the child (alleged corpus) to him is not justifiable and as such the instant habeas corpus petition deserves to be dismissed.

37. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of material placed on record, the issue before this Court is that whether the custody of petitioner no.1 (corpus) is illegal or improper with opposite party nos.3 and 4. The petitioner no.2 admittedly being the father of the child has claimed the custody of petitioner No.1 and has tried to demonstrate that the child has illegally and improperly been detained by opposite party nos.3 and 4.

38. In the instant matter, due to an accident, the child (petitioner no.1) and the wife of petitioner no.2 got burn injuries and both were admitted in the hospital. It is also the fact that the petitioner no.2 was looking after them in the hospital and has meeted out all the expenses incurred upon the medical treatment and in support thereof has annexed certain bills and vouchers. Under these circumstance, the grand maternal parents had taken away the child for short period of time for taking care of but in the meantime, during the course of medication, the mother of child, succumbed due to injuries and naturally husband i.e. petitioner no.2 was in tremendous pain and thus for certain period of time, he could not persuade the custody of the child. This does not mean that he is not willing to look after his child. There is also one of the fact that opposite party nos.3 and 4 persuaded the petitioner no.2 to get re-marry and on their insistence the petitioner become ready for remarriage and they were also remain present at the time of marriage. It is a fact that the petitioner no.2 was always in contact with the opposite party no.3, 4 and the corpus.

39. So far as the question with regard to the better nurturing as well as caring is concerned, the petitioner is well off, as he is teacher and is getting handsome salary. Further opposite party nos.3 and 4 could not dispute the fact that the petitioner no.2 is a reputed person and his conduct and behaviour is aboveboard in the society. Admittedly, the petitioner no.2 is father of the petitioner no.1 (corpus) and as per provisions of the "Act 32 of 1956', the father is natural guardian of a child. While enactment of the aforesaid Act, the fact regarding conduciveness, interest and welfare of the child must have been in the mind of the legislature and therefore the father was considered as Guardian and thus if any thing is said contrary to the aforesaid, the onus always lies upon the person who is saying otherwise.

40. Further while considering the contention of counsel for the opposite party nos.3 and 4, in respect with the fact that the child does not recognize his father, cannot be a ground, not to hand over the custody of such child to his father. This can also not be a ground that the child is last living memory of the daughter of grand maternal parents as the parameter which has been settled is that interest and welfare of the child is a paramount consideration for custody of a child. Further, this can also not be a ground that the child goes to a reputed school or any fixed deposit amount or any property will be executed/ transferred in the name of the minor child.

41. So far as the reliance was placed by the opposite party nos.3 and 4 on the cases of Nil Ratan Kundu and another v. Abhijit Kundu (2008) 9 SCC 413 and Gaurav Nagpal vs Sumedha Nagpal reported in (2009) 1 SCC 42, those were very well considered, in case of Tejaswini Gaud (supra).

42. While going through the aforesaid judgement, it reveals that the factum of both the cases are altogether different than the present case. Since the dispute of the custody of the child was between the parents i.e. father and mother in the aforesaid matters, but so far as the present matter is concerned, the custody of the child is with the grand maternal parents and that too on the ground that the child is last living memory of their grand daughter, which cannot be said to be a justifiable ground. Further submission on behalf of the respondent nos.3 and 4 that they will manage and transfer certain property in the name of the corpus (petitioner no.1), which is as per settled law cannot be ground for having custody of a minor child.

43. This Court has also noticed that the grand maternal parents i.e. respondent nos.3 and 4 are of considerable old age persons and it would be very hard for them to take care of a minor child, whereas petitioner no.2 being a natural guardian and having family assistance, can look after the nurturing of the child in better way.

44. This Court is of considered opinion that subject to the exceptions, in the Indian Society, naturally a father or mother would be more affectionate than other persons including relatives and as such while enactment of the "Act 32 of 1956', the legislature respecting the customs and natural phenomenon has made provision that the father and after him, mother is the Natural guardian of a minor child. If there are situations that welfare of child is not secured with the father as there can be certain reasons, as for example, if the father is drunker; he is involved in immoral and unlawful activity; he is not able to care himself or to the child the situation would be different, but in the instant matter the respondent nos.3 and 4 has failed to substantiate the aforesaid reasons against the petitioner no.1.

45. In such situation, the onus goes upon the person who is having a custody not being a natural father to prove that welfare of the child is not secured in the custody of natural father. In the instant matter, the respondent nos.3 and 4 has failed to substantiate that the petitioner no.2 (father) is not a suitable guardian.

46. It has also been noticed that it is not a case that the petitioner no.2 (father) did not take all care and caution after the birth of the corpus and it is due to misfortune, an accident took place, whereafter naturally the petitioner no.2 went into trauma but thereafter he is continuously trying to get the custody of his child.

47. It is decipherable from perusal of the record appended with the writ petition that the conduct and behaviour of the respondent nos. 3 and 4, so far as access of the child to his father is concerned, prima facie seems to be unexpected. It is not understandable that why the grand maternal parents are so adamant, not to give the custody of the child to his father as he does not seem to be unfit to be guardian, thus this is a best example of improper custody.

48. Resultantly, it is directed that the respondent nos. 3 and 4 shall hand over the custody of the child to the petitioner no.2, i.e. Deepak Kumar Tripathi (father) on 20th October, 2022 at his residence. Both the parties shall act upon in the interest of the child and and shall co-operate with each other.

49. Further looking into the well being of the child and making the child comfortable, the respondent nos.3 and 4 shall have access to the child for a period of four months, at the residence of the petitioner no.2, in between 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. on every Sunday of each month and the petitioner no.2 shall make it comfortable.

50. Accordingly, the Habeas Corpus writ petition is allowed.

51. No order as to costs.

A. Civil Law – Code of Civil Procedure, 1908-Section 24, 115-transfer-reference-whether fresh application u/s 24 CPC would be maintainable or the order would be revisable u/s 115 CPC and Article 227 of the Constitution of India-Since the order passed by the District Judge has been held to be a 'case decided' and the proceeding under section 24 CPC 'other proceeding' within the meaning of section 115 CPC, finality would attach to the District Judge's order once that Court is approached by a party seeking transfer within the District Judge's jurisdiction-The party aggrieved by the orders passed by the District Judge would have to move to the High Court under section 115 CPC to set aside the order-Since orders passed on the transfer application is a 'case decided' and disposes of 'other proceeding' within the meaning of section 115 CPC, the party aggrieved by the District Judge's order cannot invoke the jurisdiction of this Court afresh u/s 24 CPC to set at naught the District Judge's determination without applying under section 115 CPC to set aside that order-The question is answered in the affirmative that order passed by the District Judge u/s 24 CPC is revisable u/s 115 CPC.(Para 38 to 43)

B. Whether another application u/s 24 CPC by the same applicant based on the same cause would be maintainable or not-the question stands answered in negative-It is held that another application u/s 24 CPC would not be maintainable before this Court without challenging the order passed by the District Judge, on the application disposed of by the district judge under section 24 CPC through a revision under section 115 CPC-Normally, the order of the district judge passed on an application u/s 24 CPC being revisable, the constitutional remedy under Article 227, though not barred, may not be invoked on the sound principle of the availability of an equally efficacious statutory alternative remedy under section 115 CPC.(Para 42,43)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J.)

1. On a reference made by the learned Single Judge vide order dated December 10, 2021 to a larger Bench and constitution thereof by Hon'ble the Chief Justice, on administrative side, for consideration of the following questions, the matter has been placed before us :

"(i) Whether the order passed by District judge under Section 24 CPC is revisable under Section 115 CPC as applicable in the State of U.P.?

(ii) Whether another application under Section 24 CPC by the same applicant based on the same cause would be maintainable before the High Court, without challenging an order of the District Judge which has also been passed under Section 24 CPC under Section 115 CPC or Article 227 of the Constitution of India, as the case may be?

(iii) Whether pronouncements of this Court in the case of Sunit Devi and Indian Oil Corporation (supra) lay down the law correctly on the subject matter in issue or it is the decision by a Co-ordinate Benches in the case of Jagdish Kumar and Amit Pachauri (supra) which understand and lay down the law correctly on the issues aforesaid?"

Transfer Application (Civil) No.-121 of 2021 :-

2. It is a case in which the applicants filed an application under Section 24 of the CPC1 in the Court of District Judge, Unnao seeking transfer of Regular Suit No. 182 of 1996 (Babu Singh and others vs. Raj Bahadur Singh) from the Court of Civil Judge, Junior Division, Safipur, District-Unnao to any other Court of Civil Judge, Junior Division, Unnao. The ground for seeking such transfer was that the husband of applicant no. 1/1, who is an Advocate, is pursuing their case and on each and every date he has to go to Tehsil Safipur, which is situated at a distance of more than 30 km from Unnao. Hence, it would be convenient for him to pursue the case, if the same is transferred to Unnao. When the application was rejected by the learned District Judge vide order dated September 20, 2021 on the ground that the property in question in the suit is situated in Safipur, District-Unnao, therefore, the case cannot transferred, being aggrieved, the applicants filed the present application under Section 24 CPC before this Court seeking the relief as sought for before the Court below.

Transfer Applications (Civil) No.-123 & 124 of 2021 :-

3. In these cases, transfer of Regular Suit No. 2791 of 1996 (Babu Singh and others vs. Raj Bahadur Singh) and Regular Suit No. 367 of 2018 (Shivji Virajman Mandir through Shivnath Singh vs. Reena Singh and others) was sought respectively from the Court of Civil Judge, Junior Division, Safipur, District-Unnao to any other Court of Civil Judge, Junior Division, Unnao has been sought, on the same ground as taken in seeking transfer of Regular Suit No. 182 of 1996, by filing applications under Section 24 CPC. These applications were rejected by the learned District Judge vide order dated September 20, 2021. However, setting aside of the order dated September 20, 2021 passed by the District Judge has not been sought in both these applications filed under Section 24 CPC before this Court.

4. One of the issues which arose before the learned Single Judge was that in the event the applicant had already approached the Court below under Section 24 CPC for transfer of suit and an order was passed therein rejecting the application, whether there was any remedy available against such an order under Section 115 CPC or under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. The other issue was as to whether the order passed by the District Judge under Section 24 CPC is to be challenged either by filing a revision under Section 115 CPC assuming the same to be maintainable or under Section 227 of the Constitution of India or the applicant could straightway file an independent application under Section 24 CPC before the High Court seeking such transfer without challenging the order of the District Judge.

5. Owing to contrary decisions and difference of opinion on the aforesaid issue, the learned Single Judge has referred the questions, as quoted in the first paragraph of this order, for consideration by a larger Bench.

6. The learned Counsel for the applicants would say in tune with the decisions in Jagdish Kumar v. The District Judge, Budaun and Paras Jain v. Izhar Ahmad and others that the order passed by the District Judge on a transfer application, rejecting it, is not a 'case decided' within the meaning of Section 115 CPC, since no rights of parties involved in the suit are decided, either finally or as an interlocutory measure. Hence, a revision under Section 115 CPC is not maintainable.

7. To this submission, the learned Amicus Curiae submitted that the expression 'case decided' employed in Section 115 CPC is not necessarily restricted in its application to rights that constitute the lis. The 'case decided' may well be something not directely related to the suit, such as proceedings for restoration under Order IX CPC. No doubt, such proceedings would have bearing of some kind on the event in the suit, but not in the terms of a decision on the lis involved, or a part thereof and as it involves adjudication thus revision would be a remedy.

8. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the paper book.

9. To appreciate the arguments raised by learned counsel for the parties with reference to interpretation of Sections 24 and 115 of CPC and Article 227 of the Constitution of India, we deem it appropriate to reproduce the same hereunder :

"24. General power of transfer and withdrawal-(1) On the application of any of the parties and after notice to the parties and after hearing such of them as desired to be heard, or of its own motion without such notice, the High Court or the District Court may at any stage-

(a) transfer any suit, appeal or other proceeding pending before it for trial or disposal to any Court subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of the same, or

(b) withdraw any suit, appeal or other proceeding pending in any Court subordinate to it, and

(i) try or dispose of the same; or

(ii) transfer the same for trial or disposal to any Court subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of the same; or

(iii) retransfer the same for trial or disposal to the Court from which it was withdrawn.

(2) Where any suit or proceeding has been transferred or withdrawn under sub-section (1), the Court which may, subject to any special directions in the case of an order of transfer, either retry it or proceed from the point at which it was transferred or withdrawn.

(3) For the purposes of this section,-

(a) Courts of Additional and Assistant Judges shall be deemed to be subordinate to the District Court;

(b) "proceeding" includes a proceeding for the execution of a decree or order.

(4) The Court trying any suit transferred or withdrawn under this section from a Court of Small Causes shall, for the purposes of such suit, be deemed to be a Court of Small Causes.

(5) A suit or proceeding may be transferred under this section from a Court which has no jurisdiction to try it.

115. Revision-(1) A superior court may revise an order passed in a case decided in an original suit or other proceeding by a subordinate court where no appeal lies against the order and where the subordinate court has-

(a) exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or

(b) failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity,

(2) A revision application under sub-section (1), when filed in the High Court, shall contain a certificate on the first page of such application, below the title of the case, to the effect that no revision in the case lies to the district court but lies only to the High Court either because of valuation or because the order sought to be revised was passed by the district court.

(3) The superior court shall not, under this section, vary or reverse any order made except where,-

(i) the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceeding; or

(ii) the order, if allowed to stand, would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made.

(4) A revision shall not operate as a stay of suit or other proceeding before the court except where such suit or other proceeding is stayed by the superior court.

Explanation I-In this section,-

(i) the expression "superior court' means-

(a) the district court, where the valuation of a case decided by a court subordinate to it does not exceed twenty five lakh rupees.

(b) the High Court, where the order sought to be revised was passed in a case decided by the district court or where the value of the original suit or other proceedings in a case decided by a court subordinate to the district court exceed five lakh rupees;

(ii) the expression "order' includes an order deciding an issue in any original suit or other proceedings.

Explanation II.-The provisions of this section shall also be applicable to orders passed, before or after the commencement of this section, in original suits or other proceedings instituted before such commencement."

227. Power of superintendence over all courts by the High Court.-(1) Every High Court shall have superintendence over all courts and tribunals throughout the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, the High Court may --

(a) call for returns from such courts;

(b) make and issue general rules and prescribe forms for regulating the practice and proceedings of such courts; and

(c) prescribe forms in which books, entries and accounts shall be kept by the officers of any such courts.

(3) The High Court may also settle tables of fees to be allowed to the sheriff and all clerks and officers of such courts and to attorneys, advocates and pleaders practising therein:

Provided that any rules made, forms prescribed or tables settled under clause (2) or clause (3) shall not be inconsistent with the provision of any law for the time being in force, and shall require the previous approval of the Governor.

(4) Nothing in this article shall be deemed to confer on a High Court powers of superintendence over any court or tribunal constituted by or under any law relating to the Armed Forces."

10. The power to be exercised under Section 24 CPC is both administrative and judicial. The administrative power is exercised by the competent authority in routine for allocation of cases amongst different Courts subordinate to it or having concurrent jurisdiction with power of allocation of cases generally. No issue is raised thereof generally unless someone files an application seeking transfer of his case to some other court. This application again can be either on administrative side or judicial side. The issue which is pending for consideration before this Court is regarding the application filed by the litigant under Section 24 CPC on judicial side. If such an application is filed, the Court concerned is required to consider the same in terms of the parameters settled therefor. An application filed by a party to the litigation under Section 24 CPC can either be accepted or rejected.

PRINCIPLES OF TRANSFER OF CASES

11. The principles with respect to the transfer of case under Section 24 CPC have been dealt with by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Kulwinder Kaur vs. Kandi Friends Education Trust and others. Relevant paragraphs 13, 14 and 17 of aforesaid judgment are reproduced below :

"13. Having considered rival contentions of the parties and having gone through the proceedings of the case, we are of the view that the impugned order deserves to be set aside. So far as the power of transfer is concerned, Section 24 of the Code empowers a High Court or a District Court to transfer inter alia any suit, appeal or other proceeding pending before it or in any Court subordinate to it to any other Court for trial and disposal. The said provision confers comprehensive power on the Court to transfer suits, appeals or other proceedings "at any stage' either on an application by any party or suo motu.

14. Although the discretionary power of transfer of cases cannot be imprisoned within a strait-jacket of any cast-iron formula unanimously applicable to all situations, it cannot be gainsaid that the power to transfer a case must be exercised with due care, caution and circumspection. Reading Sections 24 and 25 of the Code together and keeping in view various judicial pronouncements, certain broad propositions as to what may constitute a ground for transfer have been laid down by Courts. They are balance of convenience or inconvenience to plaintiff or defendant or witnesses; convenience or inconvenience of a particular place of trial having regard to the nature of evidence on the points involved in the suit; issues raised by the parties; reasonable apprehension in the mind of the litigant that he might not get justice in the court in which the suit is pending; important questions of law involved or a considerable section of public interest in the litigation; "interest of justice; demanding for transfer of suit, appeal or other proceeding, etc. Above are some of the instances which are germane in considering the question of transfer of a suit, appeal or other proceeding. They are, however, illustrative in nature and by no means be treated as exhaustive. If on the above or other relevant considerations, the Court feels that the plaintiff or the defendant is not likely to have a "fair trial' in the Court from which he seeks to transfer a case, it is not only the power, but the duty of the Court to make such order.

17. .....It is true that normally while making an order of transfer, the Court may not enter into merits of the matter as it may affect the final outcome of the proceedings or cause prejudice to one or the other side. At the same time, however, an order of transfer must reflect application of mind by the court and the circumstances which weighed in taking the action....."

SCOPE OF SECTION 115 CPC

12. The scope of Section 115 CPC was also considered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Prem Bakshi and others vs. Dharam Dev and others wherein it has been held as under :-

"6. The proviso to Sub-section (1) of Section 115 puts a restriction on the powers of the High Court inasmuch as the High Court shall not, under this section vary or reverse any order made or any order deciding a issue, in course of a suit or other proceedings except where (I) the order made would have finally dispose of the suit or other proceedings or, (ii) the said order would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made. Under Clause (a), the High Court would be justified in interfering with an order of a subordinate court if the said order finally disposes of the suit or other proceeding. By way of illustration we may say that if a trial court holds by an interlocutory order that it has no jurisdiction to proceed the case or that suit is barred by limitation, it would amount to finally deciding the case and such order would be revisable....."

13. In Sadhana Lodh vs. National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has observed :-

".....Where a statutory right to file an appeal has been provided for, it is not open to High Court to entertain a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution. Even if where a remedy by way of an appeal has not been provided for against the order and judgment of a District Judge, the remedy available to the aggrieved person is to file a revision before the High Court under Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Where remedy for filing a revision before the High Court under Section 115 of CPC has been expressly barred by a State enactment, only in such case a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution would lie and not under Article 226 of the Constitution....."

14. The Division Bench of this Court in Ram Dhani and others vs. Raja Ram and others has considered the scope of Section 115 CPC as amended in the State of Uttar Pradesh, by the Code of Civil Procedure (U.P. Amendment) Act, 2003 in detail and has held as under :

"4. A perusal, therefore, of the aforesaid amendment in Uttar Pradesh, would show that what was contained in Clause (b) of proviso to Section 115 (1) before its amendment has been reintroduced in Section 115 (3) (ii) after the amendment in the State of U.P. In the U.P. Amendment Act, 2003, the expression "order' has been set out to include "an order deciding an issue in any original suit or other proceedings.'

5. Section 2 (14) of Code of Civil Procedure, describes an "order' to mean "the formal expression of any decision of a Civil Court which is not a decree.'

The expression "decree' has been defined under Section 2 (2) to mean "the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy in the suit and may be either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within Section 144, but shall not include- (a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or (b) any order of dismissal for default.

6. An order thus has to have the trappings of a formal expression of a decision of a Civil Court. In the Explanation contained in Section 115 of Code of Civil Procedure in the Central Act, both before and after the amendment, it is specifically set out that the expression "any case which has been decided' includes "any order made or any order deciding an issue, in the course of a suit or other proceeding.' The provision as contained in the U.P. Amendment is revision against an order in a case decided. The intent and object, therefore, of both the Central Act and as amended in the State of U.P. appear to be, that a revision will be maintainable in respect of an order in a case decided.

12. Section 115(3) as applicable to the State of U.P., apart from providing that the Superior Court would not vary or reverse any order except where- (I) the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or procedure, or (ii) the order, if allowed to stand, would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made, would also require that there must be an order and that order decides the part of the case or proceedings. These are further considerations which the Court must apply after it comes to the conclusion that it is a case decided. Thus, Section 115 (3) really would be of no assistance in deciding the issue of "order' or "case decided'."

15. Section 115 CPC, as applicable to the State of U.P., provides for remedy to any of the party to the litigation to challenge the order passed by the court below. If the subordinate court has acted in exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the superior court may revise such an order. The superior court may also vary or reverse any order in exercise of revisional powers, if the order is allowed to stand, it would occasion failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it is made. An order passed under Section 24 C.P.C. will also fall in that category.

16. So as to arrive at a conclusion to answer the questions referred by the learned Single Judge, we deem it appropriate to categorize the set of judgments expressing different opinions in the matter.

(A) JUDGMENTS HOLDING THAT A SECOND APPLICATION UNDER SECTION 24 CPC IS MAINTAINABLE

17. This Court in Jagdish Kumar's case (supra) observed as under :

"14. Thus, an order under Section 24 of the Code either allowing or refusing to transfer or withdraw a suit or proceeding is not a case decided within the meaning of Section 115 of the Code as such an order under Section 24 of the Code is not subject to revision under Section 115 of the Code.

15. Since the order is neither appellable nor revisable as is the position as observed earlier, the same can never be sacrosanct or without any remedy. Such remedy are available under different provision of law. If it is an order of District Court refusing to transfer or allowed the transfer, the party can approach for retransfer, if transferred either before the District Judge or before the High Court. If refused, the aggrieved party may approach the High Court. Similarly in case of transfers, the High Court may be approached for retransfer and in case of refusal, the party is free to approach the Supreme Court under Section 25 of the Code. Against an order passed by the learned District Judge, it is open to the party to invoke the Higher Court's power of superintendence over subordinate court conferred upon the former under Article 227 of the Constitution. Inasmuch as Article 227 of the Constitution is not frittered by any other law or statute or any qualification.

21. Thus the out-come of the above discussion indicates that when an application for transfer before the District Court fails, the party applying may approach the concurrent jurisdiction of the High Court under the same provision but the party opposing though may apply for retransfer before the District Judge but cannot challenge the said order under Section 115 of the Code though, however, on the principle on which Article 227 of the Constitution can be exercised he may invoke the power of superintendence conferred upon the High Court by the Constitution under Article 227 of the Constitution thereof. But if the party approaches the concurrent jurisdiction of the High Court straightaway then the applicant and opposite party - both may approach the Supreme Court under Section 25 of the Code, if aggrieved by the order of the High Court. But once the High Court passes an order under Section 24 on an application of an unsuccessful applicant before the District Judge, the order of the District Judge stands overruled by implication on passing of the order by the High Court. As such in the facts and circumstances of the present case, the application under Section 24 of the Code before this Court is maintainable."

18. The Judgment of Jagdish Kumar's case (supra) was followed by the learned Single Judge of this Court in Ishtiyak Ahmad v. Smt. Meena and others, wherein it was observed:

"5. The remedy under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is an extraordinarily remedy of discretionary nature and it cannot be ordinarily permitted to be invoked if the party has any alternative statutory remedy for getting the desired relief.

6. The jurisdiction under section 24, C.P.C. is concurrent jurisdiction conferred both upon the District Judge and the High Court. Therefore, if an application under section 24, C.P.C. has been rejected, the party aggrieved may move a fresh application before the High Court under section 24, C.P.C. itself as has also been laid down by the aforesaid decision."

19. The Judgment of Jagdish Kumar's case (supra) was also followed by another Single Judge in Amit Pachauri Vs. Smt. Ram Beti in Transfer Application (Civil) No. - 226 of 2016, decided on July 13, 2016, wherein it was observed:

" The aforesaid decision nowhere lays down that once a party has approached the District Judge under Section 24 CPC, it cannot file a fresh application before the High Court, rather it specifically lays down that the jurisdiction conferred under Section 24 CPC is concurrent and that a party filing an application under Section 24 CPC before the District Judge may approach the High Court under the same provision. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, there is no bar in moving an application under Section 24 CPC before the High Court for transfer of a case by the same party after losing in getting it transferred by the District Judge."

20. Another learned Single Judge in Jaikaran Singh & others Vs. Balakram and others has held :

"10. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties, I am of the view that an Application under Article 227 of the Constitution of India did not lie against an order passed under Section 24 of the CPC by the District Court. The High Court can always independently look into the grounds of a Transfer Application afresh. The jurisdiction conferred on both-the High court and the District was concurrent and was independently available to both the Courts.

11. However, the parties should approach the District Court first and thereafter the High Court as judicial propriety demands that judicial hierarchy be maintained. It was, therefore, always in the interest of justice that the powers of the District Court be invoked initially and, thereafter, those of the High Court....."

21. A Division Bench of Calcutta High Court in Gorachand Das vs. Dipali Das decided on April 9, 1976 has observed as follows :

"9. In the last place the contention of Mr. Mukherjee on behalf of the opposite party has been that the present application is not maintainable on the ground that no revision lies against the order passed by a District Judge refusing to transfer a case under section 24, and further that the petitioner once having made an application under section 24 before the District judge and that application having failed he is not entitled to move a fresh application under section 24 before the High Court. We are unable to accept this contention of Mr. Mukherje. The language used in section 24 is :

The High Court or the District Court may, at any stage-

Transfer any suit....."

On a plain reading of the section, therefore, it cannot be said that moving an application before the District Court will preclude the petitioner from moving a fresh application before the High Court. In the case of Hari Nath Biswas v. Debendra Nath Biswas 11 C.L.J. 218 also reported in 5 I.C. 771, which is a Bench decision of this Court, it has been held that if the District Judge refuses to transfer a case under section 24 the petitioner may make a fresh application for transfer to the High Court. The same view was also taken in Sheo Nandan Lal v. Mangal Chand, AIR 1927 Pat. 383. In this view of the matter we need not concern ourselves with the question as to whether a revisional application under section 115 of the Code is maintainable against the order passed by a District Judge refusing to transfer a suit under section 24 of the Code."

(B) JUDGMENTS HOLDING SECOND APPLICATION UNDER SECTION 24 CPC NOT MAINTAINABLE AND PETITION UNDER ARTICLE 227 OR REVISION UNDER SECTION 115 CPC MAINTAINABLE

22. This Court in Sunita Devi Vs. Ram Kripal and another, considered the scope of section 24 of C.P.C. and held as under:

"8. The expression "the High Court or the District Court" clearly indicates that the power of the District Judge and that of the High Court under section 24 of the C.P.C. is mutually exclusive. The word "or" in the expression "the High Court or the District Court" in sub-section (1) is used disjunctively and not conjunctively which means that a person can move either the High Court or the District Court and not both the Courts in succession one after the other. Thus, from the aforesaid expression it is crystal clear that the application under section 24 of the C.P.C. can either be moved before the District Judge or the High Court and cannot be moved simultaneously or one after the other. Thus, the remedy can be availed either by approaching the District Judge or directly to the High Court. Since the jurisdiction of the District Judge and the High Court is concurrent under section 24 of the C.P.C., so if one party has approached the District Court, that party would be precluded from approaching the High Court under section 24 of the C.P.C. The High Court under section 24 of the C.P.C. cannot sit over the order of the District Judge as a Revisional Court or as an Appellate Court.

10. From the above provision of the Cr.P.C. it is clear that if any transfer application is rejected by the Sessions Judge the applicant can come to the High Court for getting the case transferred from one Court to the other in the same judgeship on the same ground but there is no such provision in the C.P.C. So, in the absence of such provision no party can approach the High Court after rejection of his application by the District Judge. In this reference, the ruling of the Hon'ble High Court rendered in Dadi Jagannadham v. Jammulu Ramulal, may be referred to. In this ruling, it has been held that the Court could not add words to a statute or read words into it which are not there, especially when the literal reading produces an intelligible result.

11. So, in the absence of any specific provision in the C.P.C. a person cannot approach the High Court under section 24 of the C.P.C. or any other provision of the C.P.C. to get his case transferred from one Court to another in the same judgeship after rejection of his transfer application by the District Judge on the same ground. But he is not remediless. He may approach the High Court for this purpose by means of filing the writ petition under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India and may invoke the High Court's power of superintendence" 9. In view of the aforesaid, I find that transfer application filed by the applicant is not maintainable. Consequently, the transfer application deserves to be dismissed."

23. The decision in Sunita Devi's case (supra) was followed by this Court in Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. Vs. Ram Swaroop Bajaj, in Transfer Application (Civil) No. 34 of 2016, decided on February 2016, wherein it has been observed as under :

"5. From perusal of the aforesaid provisions, it is apparently clear that no power has been conferred on the High Court to set aside the order passed by the District Court on an application under section 24 of C.P.C.

6. In the case of Dr. Ajay Chaturwedi v. Smt. Shobhanal, a Division Bench of this Court has considered the nature of power under section 24 of C.P.C. and held that transfer of proceedings of suit, appeal etc. can be directed by the High Court/District Court on an application as also suo moto. This power of transfer is not an exercise of original jurisdiction, it is not an exercise of appellate jurisdiction nor it is an exercise of revisional jurisdiction. The power of transfer of suit and other proceedings is an exercise of power of superintendence. The legal position has also been explained by the Madras High Court in the case of P. Karuppiah Ambalam v. Ayya Nadar. The power conferred under section 24 of C.P.C. gives power to two Superior Courts, viz., the High Court or the District Court to withdraw any suit, appeal or other proceedings pending in any Court subordinate to it and either try and dispose of the same, or transfer the same for trial or disposal to any Court, subordinate to it and competent to try or dispose of the same. Section 24 confers a very wide power, and it is intended to enable the two Superior Courts mentioned in it to exercise their general power of superintendent over Subordinate Courts, or in the interest of justice."

24. A Division Bench of Kerala High Court in Ariamma Sachariah vs. Rose Elizabeth Kurian in C.M.C. no. 94/2000 decided on February 26, 2004, held as under :

"8. A perusal of the provisions would show that power has been given to the District Court or the High Court to order transfers. Of course, in cases where suits or proceedings lie outside the jurisdiction of the District Court, power under Section 24 of the C.P.C. can be used only by the High Court. According to us, an interpretation of Section 24 of C.P.C. will clearly show that a party can approach the District Court or High Court for transfer of cases. That does not mean that party, who did not get favourable orders by filing petition under Section 24 of C.P.C. before the District Court can approach the High Court for the same relief.

9. The main attack is that even if the order is passed by the District Court under Section 24, the party can be allowed to approach this Court under Section 24 of the C.P.C. We are of the view that this contention cannot be accepted. According to us, the party can approach this Court under Article 227 of the Constitution to redress their grievances. If we accept the interpretation given by the learned Counsel for the petitioners that will lead to multiplicity of proceedings and waste of time.

10. In the above view of the matter, we are of the view that once an order is passed in a petition under Section 24 of C.P.C. by the District Court, that order can be challenged and the party cannot file another petition under Section

24 of C.P.C. for the same cause of action before the High Court."

25. The Madras High Court in Sebastian vs. R. Prabakaran and others in Transfer Civil Miscellaneous Petition (MD) No. 19 of 2011 and M.P. (MD) No. 1 of 2011, decided on March 4, 2011 has observed as under :

"12. Under this circumstance, a prime question is arisen as to whether this second petition, for the very same relief which was rejected in O.P.No.101 of 2010 by the learned Principal District Judge, Dindigul, is maintainable?

X X X X

32. On coming to the instant case on hand, the petitioner after making allegations against the learned Subordinate Judge, Palani holding Camp-Court at Kodaikanal had originally filed a transfer petition in Transfer O.P.No.101 of 2010, on the file of the learned Principal District Judge, Dindigul. That petition was dismissed. Again the petitioner has approached this Court with this transfer petition for the second time seeking the very same relief, transfer of the appeal suits in A.S. No.46 and 47 of 2009 from the file of the learned Subordinate Judge, Palani to any other Subordinate Judge's Court at Dindigul District.

X X X X

"37. Keeping in view of the fact and on considering the submissions made on behalf of both sides, this Court is not inclined to allow this petition on the ground that the second transfer petition filed under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure is not maintainable, when an earlier transfer petition under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure was rejected by the learned Principal District Judge, Dindigur District."

26. The Karnataka High Court in M.V. Ganesh Prasad vs. M.L. Vasudevamurthy and others, observed as under :

"The reliance placed by Sri Udaya Holla, learned Counsel for the petitioner in the decision reported in 1984 II LLJ 508 was in the context as to whether a second revision petition under Section 24 in itself can be filed to the High Court on the rejection of an application filed under Section 24 of C.P.C. or whether a C.R.P. under Section 115, C.P.C. can be filed. This Court had ruled that a second application under Section 24, C.P.C. does not lie when an application made under the very provision has already been dismissed by the District Court. As against such an order a revision under Section 115, Cr.P.C. can be entertained."

C. JUDGMENT HOLDING THAT SECOND APPLICATION UNDER SECTION 24 AS WELL AS REVISION UNDER SECTION 115 CPC MAINTAINABLE

27. The Division Bench of Andhra Pradesh High Court in Munnangi Ramakrishna Rao vs. Vanakuru Venkata Siva Ramakrishna Prasad and others in Transfer Civil Miscellaneous Petition No. 492 of 2002 decided on April 21, 2003 has held as under :

"A transfer petition filed before the District Court is a "proceeding'. Since any order, either allowing or refusing to transfer a suit from one Court to another, finally disposes of the transfer petition, there can be little doubt that such order is amenable to revision both prior and subsequent to 1999 Amendment to C.P.C. Therefore, we hold that revision against an order passed in a petition filed under Section 24 C.P.C., either allowing or refusing to transfer a suit or proceeding by the District court is maintainable. The point is answered accordingly.

A plain reading of the above Section shows that both High Court and District Court have concurrent jurisdiction to transfer proceedings in any Court subordinate to them to another Court either suo motu or on application by any of the parties to the proceedings. There is nothing in the said Section to suggest that when the District Court is seisin of a similar application the High Court should not entertain an application for the same purpose.

It is thus seen that both Patna and Calcutta High Courts have also taken the view that an unsuccessful party before the District Court can move a fresh application for the same purpose in the High Court, which impliedly means that he need not question the order of dismissal by the District Court either under Section 115 C.P.C. or under Article 227 of the Constitution. Therefore, we hold that a petition under Section 24 C.P.C. is maintainable even without the order of dismissal of such petition by the District Court being questioned either under Section 115 C.P.C. or under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. The point is answered accordingly."

MEANING OF WORDS ''OTHER PROCEEDINGS'

28. The moot point involved here is whether an order granting or refusing a transfer application by the District Judge is a 'case decided' within the meaning of Section 115 CPC, as amended in its application to the State of U.P. Needless to say that it would further postulate if proceedings for transfer under Section 24 CPC, culminating in the order of the District Judge either way is 'other proceeding' within the meaning of Section 115(1) of the Code. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, since there is an added sub-Section (3) of Section 115 introduced by U.P. Act No. 14 of 2003, it would also require examination whether orders made on a transfer application by the District Judge, either way pass muster under sub-Section (3) of Section 115.

29. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the matter. It is true that orders made on an transfer application do not have the effect of any kind of a pronouncement on the rights of parties involved in the suit or a part thereof, but the expression 'case decided' under Section 115 CPC employs the expression in the context of proceedings that can be best gathered from the precise phraseology of the relevant part of the statute. The relevant words in sub-Section (1) of Section 115 say: "case decided in an original suit or other proceeding....."

30. The question to be examined is whether words 'other proceeding' would mean proceedings akin to a suit, in the sense that a part of the proceedings in the suit that may decide an issue involving some kind of a determination and pronouncement about the rights of parties, subject matter of the suit or do the words 'or other proceeding' would include something so ancillary or incidental to the suit that it would involve no pronouncement at all about the rights of parties.

31. Scope of the words "other proceedings' used in Section 115 of the CPC was considered by the Patna High Court in Durga Devi and another vs. Vijay Kumar Poddar and another. Relevant paragraphs of aforesaid judgment read as under :

"30. The learned counsel appearing for the revisionists would submit that civil revision is not barred if an order is passed which would tantamount to final disposal of the suit or other proceedings and the terms "other proceedings' have to be understood in their connotative expanse. Their emphasis is on the terms "other proceedings'. Regard being had to the said submission, it is obligatory on our part to appreciate what the terms "other proceedings' do convey.

31. In Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, the term "proceeding' has been described to mean in a general sense the form and manner of conducting judicial business before a court or judicial officer and includes all possible steps in an action from the commencement till the end.

32. In Advanced Law Lexicon, Third Edition, 2005, by P. Ramanatha Aiyar, the term "proceeding' has been dealt with at page 3746. The said term, as has been stated therein, signifies that a proceeding in a civil action is an act necessary to be done in order to attain a given end. It is a prescribed mode of action in carrying into effect a legal right.

33. The purpose of referring to the various law dictionaries is only to appreciate what meaning is to be placed on the terms "other proceeding.' As we have already indicated herein above, the proceeding must be akin to the suit and it should be an independent proceeding for the phrase used in the proviso to Section 115 of the Code is suit or proceeding. There are several applications which require independent adjudication relating to the maintainability of the suit and once the said adjudication is complete, there can be no doubt that the proceeding comes to an end inasmuch as it would have an effect of finally disposing of the proceeding. The two significant facts indicate that the interlocutory order passed must be such which must fit into the compartment engrafted in the restrictive spectrum of the proviso, i.e., the suit or proceeding would have been finally disposed of. It is further worth noting that the language used in the proviso in the course of a suit or "other proceeding' is of immense significance. There can be independent proceeding.

34. Corpus Juris Secundum deals with "proceeding' as follows :-

"Proceeding.-The terms "proceeding" and "proceedings" are discussed generally in Actions 1 h (c) and, with reference to bankruptcy, in Bankruptcy 1. The terms have been held to be synonymous with "ease" see Actions 1 (b) (1), and "cause" see Actions 1 (e) (1), and also have been held synonymous with or have been distinguished from, "action", "judgment", "process", "prosecution", and "suit" see Actions 1 h (1)(b)."

35. In Words & Phrases, Permanent Edition, Volume 34, published by West Publishing Co., the term "proceeding' used in the provision has to be tereated as akin to the suit and it has to have the colour and character of an independent proceeding.

36. The acid test which is to be applied is that if by termination of such a proceeding an independent cause of action is put at naught, the application for revision would be maintainable. The interlocutory orders made in the course of hearing of a suit or proceeding is not amenable to revisional jurisdiction if such an order does not put an end to the suit or proceeding and as we have already indicated, the proceeding has to have an independent character. Emphasis in the present provision is whether the order in favour of a party applying for revision would have given finality to the suit or other proceeding. If the answer is "yes', then the revision is maintainable and if the answer is in negative, the revision is not maintainable. The test that is required to be applied in every case so as to find an outcome is whether the order is interim in nature of finally disposes of the suit or other proceeding.

32. Further, in Johra Bi and others vs. Jageshwar and others, Madhya Pradesh High Court has held in para 20 as under :-

"20. The question still subsist what is the meaning to be given to "other proceedings". In our opinion, there is no reason to restrict the meaning of "proceeding" akin to the suit. There may be proceedings parallel to the suit which may be independent proceedings. The phrase used in proviso to section 115 is suit or proceeding. Proceeding has to be given wide meaning. Some light is thrown by the explanation added to section 141, Civil Procedure Code is applicable to proceeding under Order 9, Civil Procedure Code also.

Several applications which require independent adjudication before filing of suit as to maintainability of suit before its registration can be "proceeding" within proviso to section 115(1) Civil Procedure Code, therefore, once an application is decided revision would be maintainable if would have an effect of finally disposing off the "proceeding" though it has no effect on the suit at that point of time. Proceedings may also arise from the suit itself and those may be the proceedings within the meaning of proviso to Section 115(1) of Civil Procedure Code."

33. This Court in Jagdish Narain Tandon and others vs. Onkar Nath Tandon, it was held:

"6. Remedy of revision as provided under Section 115 C.P.C. for Uttar Predesh is from an order passed in a case decided in an original suit or other proceeding by a subordinate Court where no appeal lies against that order. Order of Additional District Judge, passed in revision under Section 115 C.P.C. was further challenged in revision under Section 115 C.P.C. before this Court in M/s. Jupiter Chit Fund (Pvt.) Ltd. v. Dwarika Dinesh Dayal, AIR 1979 All. 218 (FB). Full Bench of this Court relying upon earlier Full Bench decision of this Court in Har Prasad Singh v. Ram Swarup, AIR 1973 All 390 (FB), held that the phrase "cases arising out of original suit" does not include decisions of appeals or revisions. The phrase "other proceeding" refers to the proceedings of original nature and cannot include decisions of appeal or revision. The phrase "other proceeding" have to be read ejusdem generis with the words original suit. It was held that revision under Section 115 C.P.C. is not maintainable from revisional order of subordinate Court. This judgment of Full Bench has been affirmed by Supreme Court in Vishesh Kumar v. Shanti Prasad, AIR 1980 SC 892, holding that we are of opinion on the first question that the High Court is not vested with revisional jurisdiction under Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, over a revisional order made by the District Court under that section."

34. The pronouncement of this Court in Jagdish Narain Tandon's case (supra) was in the context of an issue whether an order passed by the Appellate Court during the course of the appeal against one of the parties could be revised under Section 115 CPC. The remarks of this Court, therefore, that the phrase 'other proceeding' have to be read ejusdem generis with the words 'original suit' are not a pronouncement about the character of the 'other proceeding', vis-à-vis the impact of these on the rights of parties involved in the suit, but that, that the 'other proceeding' should also be ones taken in the exercise of original jurisdiction as contradistinguished from the appellate jurisdiction. The principle in Jagdish Narain Tandon's case (supra), notwithstanding the invocation of the ejusdem generis principle to hold that 'other proceeding', is to be understood in the context of a suit, in no way suggests that 'other proceeding' must be akin to a suit in the sense that the lis involved in the suit itself or a part thereof must be decided thereby. The principle in Jagdish Narain Tandon, for all that it means, is that "other proceeding' in Section 115 CPC, must be akin to a suit in the sense that the proceedings are original; not appellate or revisional.

35. The question, what "other proceeding' in the context of Section 115 CPC would mean, is well elucidated by the decision of the Patna High Court in Durga Devi's case (supra) and the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Johra Bi's case (supra).

36. The order passed on a transfer application by the District Judge under Section 24 CPC, in our opinion, is "other proceeding' within the meaning of Section 115 CPC, because the proceedings, though ancillary to the suit, are judicial in nature, where the Court has to consider grounds for transfer urged by one party and opposed by the other, together with the material on record. The Court then proceeds to decide whether the suit, appeal or whatever the nature of the cause, ought to be heard by one Court or the other. The outcome may not have any direct impact on the lis involved in the suit, appeal or other kind of proceedings, subject matter of the transfer application, but a decision is to be judicially arrived at by the District Judge after due application of mind and hearing parties. It is in this sense that a transfer application is "other proceeding' and the order passed thereon a "case decided', because the order passed on the transfer application by the District Judge disposes it of finally. Since the order passed on a transfer application by the District Judge under Section 24 CPC is, for very obvious reasons, not an order passed by the District Court in the exercise of its appellate or revisional jurisdiction, a revision to the High Court under Section 115 (1) CPC, as amended by U.P. Act No. 31 of 2003 and earlier by U.P. Act No. 31 of 1978, would not be barred.

37. We are, therefore, not in agreement with the law laid down in Jagdish Kumar's case (supra) and Paras Jain's case (supra), insofar as those decisions hold that against an order passed by the District Judge disposing of a transfer application, a revision to this Court would not be maintainable. To that extent, we overrule the said decisions.

MERITS

38. From the facts of the case, it is evident that the application was rejected by the Court below recording a categorical finding that the property in question in the suit is situated in Safipur, District-Unnao and the Civil Judge, Junior Division, Safipur has the jurisdiction to hear the matter in respect of any civil dispute within that area, hence, the case cannot be transferred. The party moved a fresh application before this Court under Section 24 CPC. In the light of these facts, the issue came to be considered as to whether fresh application under Section 24 CPC would be maintainable or the order would be revisable under Section 115 CPC and Article 227 of the Constitution of India. There is another facet of the matter. In case, the application is allowed by the Court below, the opposite party may have grievance against the order passed by the court below allowing the application for transfer of the case raising argument that the parameters laid down therefor have been violated. In such an eventuality, the party aggrieved may have to challenge that order in the next higher court and a fresh application under Section 24 CPC, as such, may not be maintainable as the validity of the order has to be examined by the next higher court.

39. The position cannot be left anomalous in the sense that in one eventuality where an application filed by a party under Section 24 CPC is rejected, he can file a fresh application for transfer of a case to the next higher court under Section 24 CPC, whereas, in case, the application is accepted, the party aggrieved will have remedy to challenge the order passed in the next higher court. There has to be uniformity to the remedies available against the order passed by the court below.

40. Since the order passed by the District Judge has been held by us for reasons indicated to be a "case decided' and the proceedings under Section 24 CPC "other proceeding' within the meaning of Section 115 CPC, finality would attach to the District Judge's order once that Court is approached by a party seeking transfer within the District Judge's jurisdiction. The party aggrieved by the orders passed by the District Judge would have to move this Court under Section 115 CPC to set aside the order. Since orders passed on the transfer application is a "case decided' and disposes of "other proceeding' within the meaning of Section 115 CPC, the party aggrieved by the District Judge's order cannot invoke the jurisdiction of this Court afresh under Section 24 CPC to set at naught the District Judge's determination without applying under Section 115 CPC to set aside that order.

41. Some very distinctive reasons, based on interpretation of the expression "the High Court or the District Court" occurring in sub-Section (1) of section 24 CPC, have been given in the decision of this Court in Sunita Devi's case (supra). The word "or' in the expression above mentioned has been construed as disjunctive and not conjunctive. To reach that conclusion, the phraseology employed in the analogous provisions of Section 407 Cr.P.C. has also been considered, which expressly provides for remedy to the unsuccessful applicant before the Sessions Judge in a plea for transfer of a criminal case to approach this Court. The absence of a similar provision under Section 24 CPC has been viewed by this Court to suggest that the power under Section 24 can be invoked by a party once and the determination made by the District Judge binds both parties.

42. For the reasons indicated in Sunita Devi's case (supra) and whatever we have said above, we are of opinion that unless an order passed by the District Judge on an application under Section 24 CPC is challenged through appropriate proceedings, the party aggrieved by the District Judge's order cannot further invoke the jurisdiction of this Court under Section 24 CPC to undo the District Judge's order. Since the order of the District Judge under Section 24 CPC has been found to be revisable by us, there is no reason why a person aggrieved by the District Judge's order under Section 24 CPC would have his remedy under Article 227 of the Constitution, though that remedy cannot be held barred as it embodies the constitutional powers of this Court to superintend Courts and Tribunals subordinate. Nevertheless, in the face of availability of a statutory remedy under Section 115 CPC, the usual principle eschewing the invocation of a constitutional remedy would apply.

43. In view of what we have held above, our answers to the questions referred are these:

(i) The question is answered in the affirmative and it is held that an order passed by the District Judge under Section 24 CPC is revisable under Section 115 CPC as applicable in the State of U.P.

(ii) The question stands answered in the negative and it is held that another application under Section 24 CPC by the same applicant based on the same cause of action would not be maintainable before this Court without challenging the order passed by the District Judge, on the application disposed of by the District Judge under Section 24 CPC through a revision under Section 115 CPC. Normally, the order of the District Judge passed on an application under Section 24 CPC being revisable, the constitutional remedy under Article 227, though not barred, may not be invoked on the sound principle of the availability of an equally efficacious statutory alternative remedy under Section 115 CPC.

(iii) The question is answered by holding that the law laid down by this Court in Sunita Devi's case (supra) and Indian Oil Corporation's case (supra) lay down the law correctly on the subject matter in issue and the decision in Jagdish Kumar's case (supra) and Amit Kumar Pachauri's case (supra) do not lay down the correct law.

44. The reference is answered, accordingly.

45. Let the papers be placed before the appropriate Bench according to the Roster.

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.

Second Appeal No. 955 of 1996

Ram Karan & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
Uma Shanker & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri N. Lal, Sri Anirudh Kumar Upadhyay, Sri C.P. Dwivedi, Sri S.P. Srivastava

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Ramakant Tiwari, Sri Dinesh Kumar Pandey, Sri H.S.N. Tripathi, Sri P.S. Tripathi, Sri Ramakant Tiwari, Sri Umesh Chandra Tiwari

A. Civil Law - Code Of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Section 96 - Order 41 Rule 31 - First Appeal - It is a settled position of law that an appeal is a continuation of the proceedings of the original court - Ordinarily, the appellate jurisdiction involves a rehearing on law as well as on fact and is invoked by an aggrieved person -The appellate court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial court - findings of fact based on conflicting evidence arrived at by the trial court must weigh with the appellate court, more so when the findings are based on oral evidence recorded by the same Presiding Judge who authors the judgment - This does not mean that when an appeal lies on facts, the appellate court is not competent to reverse a finding of fact arrived at by the trial Judge - As a matter of law if the appraisal of the evidence by the trial Court suffers from a material irregularity or is based on inadmissible evidence or on conjectures and surmises, the appellate court is entitled to interfere with the finding of fact (Para 23, 24)

B. Civil Law - Evidence Act,1872 - Identity of property - Sale deed between third parties - Relevance - boundaries of properties in a sale deed between third parties is relevant evidence to show that a person is the owner of the property indicated in the boundaries - recitals in a sale-deed though between third parties were evidence of the fact that a person was the owner of the property indicated as boundary (Para 38)

C. Civil Law - Code Of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Suit - Court's finding - Third case – Trial court must base its findings on the evidence produced before it by the parties - The enquiry by the court is restricted to the evidence on record and the case pleaded by the parties - Court is not allowed to conjecture a third case for parties, and if it does, its determination would be illegal - without pleadings and issues, evidence cannot be considered to make out a new case which is not pleaded - court can consider such a case not specifically pleaded, only when one of the parties raises the same at the stage of arguments by contending that the pleadings and issues are sufficient to make out a particular case and that the parties proceeded on that basis and had led evidence on that case - Where neither party puts forth such a contention, the court cannot make out such a case not pleaded, suo motu as the court is not permitted to conjecture and surmise - A case is a statement of facts by a party, backed by evidence, entitling it to a right that can be established before a Court of law and the remedy secured - however, mere process of reasoning or appreciation of evidence cannot be dubbed as a third case (Para 32, 33, 35)

The Trial Court considered the evidence of witnesses, carefully analyzed the boundaries shown in the two sale deeds, together with circumstances on record and the geographical location, to reach a plausible conclusion that the suit property was, the plaintiffs' courtyard - both those documents were not at all considered by the Lower Appellate Court - Lower Appellate Court, by failing to consider and refer to the documentary evidence that the Trial Court did, failed to reverse categorical findings recorded by the Trial Court about the location and identity of the suit property - Appellate Court was not right, in the absence of a manifest illegality demonstrable in the Trial Court's view in interfering with the Trial Court's opinion - the Lower Appellate Court's judgment set aside and that of the Trial Court restored (Para 44)

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is a plaintiffs' appeal, who had a vacillating fortune before the Courts below in a suit instituted for the relief of permanent prohibitory injunction.

2. Original Suit No. 455 of 1984 was instituted by Ram Karan son of Ishwar Dutt Tripathi and Dadhich Chand son of Ram Karan against Uma Shanker and Paras Nath on 08.08.1984, claiming a permanent prohibitory injunction to the effect that the defendants be restrained from interfering with the plaintiffs' possession in part of their abadi and Sahan (Courtyard), denoted by letters C D E M in the plaint map or disturbing the Neem tree standing there.

3. The two plaintiffs were the original appellants here. Of them, Ram Karan died pending appeal and is represented on record by his heirs and LRs, who are appellant nos. 1/1, 1/2, 1/3, 1/4, 1/5, 1/6 and 1/7. Appellant no. 1/3 is on record as appellant no.2. All the appellants shall hereinafter be collectively referred to as "the plaintiffs'. However, in case of individual reference, the concerned plaintiff shall be referred to by his name. The two defendants to the suit, Uma Shanker and Paras Nath were in the same order arrayed as respondent nos. 1 and 2 to this appeal. Both the defendant-respondents have died pending appeal and are represented on record by their heirs and LRs, as entered in the cause title of the appeal. Any reference hereinafter to the two defendant-respondents collectively shall be as "the defendants', but in case of individual reference, Uma Shanker, defendant no. 1, now represented by his LRs, shall be referred to as "Uma Shanker'. Likewise, Paras Nath, defendant no. 2, now represented by his LRs, in case of individual reference, shall be referred to by his name.

4. The plaintiffs' case is that their ancestral house, the present house that they live in, stands over the site it has been and also over the site to its north, where the house of Shri Narain stood and that their door has always been oriented both to the west and the north. Also, their Sahan (Courtyard) has existed both to the north and the west of their house. To the south-west stands Uma Shanker's abadi. Westward of Uma Shanker's abadi, the plaintiffs' Sahan extends up to the houses of Jamuna, Udairaj and Khaderan. It is the plaintiffs' case that the entirety of their property, which they have referred to as abadi, is denoted in the plaint map by letters A B C D E F A.

5. It is also the plaintiffs' case that Krishnadev, a collateral, sold his share in their favour, whereas another collateral Shri Narain entered into a compromise with them. In consequence, the property shown by letters A B C D E F A came to the plaintiffs' exclusive ownership and possession. The plaintiffs have been using the aforementioned property for their residence and the household establishment over time. The aforesaid property includes the plaintiffs' house, Dalan (verandah), and Neem trees. It is said that the various activities of living, associated with the rural way of life went about for the plaintiffs in this property. It is particularly said that for the past 2-3 years, the cattle, that were tethered over a part of the said property, have been moved to another place by the plaintiffs, but they have complete dominion and use of the suit property, denoted by letters C D E M. A Neem tree stands over the said land. The part of the property denoted by letters C D E M shall hereinafter be referred to as "the suit property'.

6. It is also the plaintiffs' case that Uma Shanker's property is located to the east of the line ED and which has a higher elevation compared to the suit property. The defendants' house was earlier a kachcha construction, which in course of time, they have demolished and replaced by a pucca house, comprising just two rooms, secured by an enclosure (Hata). To the south of a part of the suit property is located one Shiv Murat Tiwari's abadi, in the southern part whereof, Shiv Murat has his house. Shiv Murat Tiwari has sold off his house and abadi to Manikraj, and Manikraj, in turn, has sold it to Paras Nath, defendant no. 2.

7. The plaintiffs assert that their property denoted by letters A B C D E F A is in their complete title, dominion and possession, including the constructions standing thereon and the Neem trees as well. The defendants have neither been in possession of the suit property nor have their ancestors ever been in its occupation. According to the plaintiffs, the defendants have conspired and filed a collusive suit, where Uma Shanker, defendant no.1, sued Paras Nath, defendant no.2 vide O.S. No. 61 of 1982, claiming right over a part of the property that is the plaintiffs', including the suit property (Sahan). The plaintiffs made an application for impleadment in the said suit, but it was rejected by the Court by an order dated 27.07.1984. It is the plaintiffs' case that after rejection of the impleadment application, the defendants conspiring amongst themselves are attempting to encroach upon a part of the plaintiffs' Sahan, that is to say, the suit property and further trying to usurp the Neem trees standing there. It is on the said cause of action that the suit for permanent injunction giving rise to this appeal was instituted.

8. The defendants entered appearance and put in separate written statements. So far as Paras Nath (defendant no.2) is concerned, his stand and defence loose all significance, because a compromise and adjustment of the suit was entered into between parties in terms of the memorandum of compromise dated 04.02.1986. The said compromise was verified by the Trial Judge, after due identification of parties, on 24.05.1986. The suit between the plaintiffs and Paras Nath, therefore, stood disposed of in terms of the compromise dated 04.02.1986. The suit has, thus, proceeded between the plaintiffs and Uma Shanker (defendant no.1) alone.

9. Uma Shanker filed his written statement dated 30.10.1985 on 08.11.1985. Uma Shanker contested the plaintiffs' claim and in the additional pleas asserted that no cause of action arose to the plaintiffs to institute the present suit. It was pleaded that the plaintiffs' verandah (Dalan) is oriented lengthwise, north to east and to its south all abadi that is located, is neither the plaintiffs' nor in their possession. It has never been so. The plaint map was denied. It was also pleaded that the plaintiffs, Krishnadev and Shri Narain belong to the same bloodline and their ancestral house at present is located to the north of Uma Shanker's house. It faces the west and is so since the time of the parties' ancestors. It is also asserted that in the house standing over the suit property, Shri Narain lived in the northern portion and in the southern the plaintiffs and Ram Krishna lived. However, after the plaintiffs bought Ram Krishna's share, he has a two-third share in that house in its southern portion. The northern one-third of the plaintiffs' house is Shri Narain's. It was also denied that there is a verandah or a door to the south of the plaintiffs' house. To the contrary, at the time the plaintiffs' verandah was constructed, there were two doors located on its northern face. The plaintiffs' household is located elsewhere for a long period of time and their courtyard is located to the north of the verandah, and to the west of the plaintiffs' house. The rest of the land shown by letters C D E M belongs to Uma Shanker since the time of his ancestors.

10. It is also Uma Shanker's case that to the west of the line MC, as shown in the plaint map, Uma Shanker's house and Sahan has always been in existence. Uma Shanker's house aforesaid is ancestral and faces the west. Its courtyard (Sahan), extends to the houses of Udairaj and Khaderan in the east and Uma Shanker has been in possession of the said property since the time of his ancestors. He is still in possession. Two Neem trees stand in Uma Shanker's property aforesaid. It is also Uma Shanker's case that his ancestral house, which was dilapidated in course of time, collapsed, and, therefore, he constructed a house in its place, moving a little towards the west and south, facing the west. Most of this house has been constructed, where telltale remains of the old house are still in existence. It is also Uma Shanker's case that to the south of the suit property lies Uma Shanker's land, where he has his living. It is asserted by Uma Shanker that the plaintiffs and Paras Nath, defendant no.2, are in collusion and the two threatened Uma Shanker, though not said about what specifically the threat was. It led Uma Shanker to institute Suit No. 61 of 1982, which by the time the written statement was filed, was pending trial. The suit was asserted to be undervalued and the court-fee paid insufficient. The suit was also asserted to be barred by Sections 38 and 41 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963, besides the principle of estoppel. The suit was said to be barred by limitation and not maintainable.

11. On the pleadings of parties, the Trial Court framed the following issues (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the plaintiffs are the owners in possession of the property in dispute?

(2) Whether the suit is undervalued and the court-fee paid insufficient?

(3) Whether the suit is barred by Sections 38/41 of the Specific Relief Act?

(4) Whether the suit is barred by Section 115 of the Evidence Act?

(5) Whether the suit is barred by time?

(6) To what relief is the plaintiffs entitled?

12. The plaintiffs filed for their documentary evidence, a copy of the sale deed, marked as Ex. 1, whereas Uma Shanker filed a copy of the decree, marked as Ex. Ka-1, besides the sale deed marked as Ex. Ka-2 on behalf of the defendants.

13. The plaintiffs examined Ram Chandra as PW-1 and Dadhich as PW-2, whereas the defendant examined Munshi as DW-1 and Uma Shanker (defendant no.1) as DW-2.

14. It must be remarked here that for reasons to be found in the Trial Court's judgment, the Trial Court has considered some documentary evidence, but opined that it is not binding on parties. That evidence has, therefore, been regarded as circumstantial by the Trial Court. All other evidence that has been considered is parole evidence of witnesses produced by parties. The Trial Judge, on an evaluation of the oral evidence led by both sides, as well as some documents which have been regarded as circumstantial in nature, has found for the plaintiffs on preponderance of probability. The Trial Judge inferred in favour of the plaintiffs primarily because of the existence of the door opening into the suit property form the plaintiffs' verandah facing the south. There is much quarrel between parties that this door was opened pending suit. The Trial Judge also depended for his finding on the boundaries of a contiguous property mentioned in the sale deed, executed between third parties in the year 1959, Ex. Ka-2. He also looked into another sale deed of the same property, Ex. 1.

15. The Lower Appellate Court, on an evaluation of the evidence of witnesses, reached a contrary conclusion, reversed the Trial Court and dismissed the suit. However, the Lower Appellate Court has not considered in the least documents that the Trial thought were circumstances to be taken into account to find on the matter in issue.

16. Aggrieved, the plaintiffs have instituted this appeal from the appellate decree. It was admitted to hearing vide order dated 07.11.1996 by this Court, but without formulating the substantial question/ questions of law involved. This is not to say that the memorandum of appeal did not carry the proposed questions. Accordingly, this Court vide order dated 27.04.2022 proceeded to formulate the following substantial questions of law:

(i) Whether the Lower Appellate Court can set aside findings of fact recorded by the Trial Court, where the findings are based on appreciation of oral evidence alone?

(ii) Whether the Lower Appellate Court has committed a manifest illegality in considering a third case not pleaded by the parties to the effect that there was no way for the appellants to access the land in dispute - a courtyard (sahan) and on that basis, setting aside the findings recorded by the Trial Court?

(iii) Whether the Lower Appellate Court pronounced upon the character and ownership of land in dispute as the appellants' courtyard (sahan) without taking into consideration the two sale deeds which the Trial Court had considered to reach a different conclusion?

17. This appeal has, accordingly, been heard on the aforesaid substantial questions.

18. Heard Mr. Anirudh Kumar Upadhyay, learned Counsel for the plaintiffs and Mr. Ramakant Tiwari, Advocate appearing on behalf of the defendants.

19. In order to put the record straight, it is clarified that out of the three heirs and LRs of Uma Shanker, defendant no.1, the defendants' interest has been represented by his sons Jai Prakash and Om Prakash, for whom Mr. Ramakant Tiwari has appeared and defended this appeal. Like the Courts below, there has been no contest on behalf of Paras Nath and his heirs and LRs in tune with the compromise before the Trial Court.

20. So far as the first substantial question of law is concerned, it is submitted by the learned Counsel for the plaintiffs that the evidence of PW-1, who is the plaintiff's son and that of Ram Chandra, the then Pradhan of the Village, has been misconstrued by the Lower Appellate Court, to hold that the suit property is part of the defendants' courtyard and not the plaintiffs. Likewise, the evidence of the two witnesses for the defendants, DW-1 and DW-2 Uma Shanker has been misconstrued. The evidence of these witnesses was considered by the Trial Court to reach a reasonable conclusion based on preponderance of probability. The suit property was, in fact, the plaintiffs' courtyard. The Trial Court had considered the evidence of witnesses, together with circumstances on record and the geographical location, to reach a plausible conclusion. This conclusion, amongst other matters, was based on the fact that the plaintiffs' door opening out from their verandah, faces the suit property, which showed it to be a part of the plaintiffs' courtyard (Sahan). It has been noticed by the Trial Court that the aforesaid door in the verandah is affixed facing the south, where it opens into the suit property. The Trial Court has noticed the statement of DW-2, where he has accepted the fact that to the north of the suit property is the plaintiffs' verandah (Dalan), and further that a door opening to the south in that verandah exists. The Trial Court has also noticed that in the testimony of Uma Shanker, DW-2, it has been acknowledged that the suit property lies to the west of the defendants' abadi. From this acknowledgment, amongst others, it has been concluded that Uma Shanker's abadi lies to the east of the suit property. The further conclusion drawn from the said fact, in togetherness with others, is that the suit property belongs to the plaintiffs and a part of his courtyard (Sahan). It is not part of Uma Shanker's courtyard.

21. The Lower Appellate Court has taken a contrary view of the evidence by considering the particular geographical features of the suit property to find that in case the suit property is regarded as the plaintiffs' courtyard (Sahan), where he tethers his animals etc., the only door leading to it would be through his verandah. This has been regarded as an impossibility. The Lower Appellate Court has considered the evidence of the four witnesses to reach a diametrically opposite conclusion, holding the suit property a part of Uma Shanker's courtyard (Sahan); not the plaintiffs'.

22. It is argued by the learned Counsel for the plaintiffs that the two Courts below have opined, without prejudice to the plaintiffs' case, that there was some documentary evidence also considered by the Trial Court, considering evidence entirely oral, comprising the testimony of two witnesses on each side, produced by both the parties. It is argued by the learned Counsel that in a case that turns entirely on oral evidence, the Trial Court's view generally ought not to be disturbed by the Appellate Court, because the Trial Court had the advantage of hearing witnesses and watching their demeanour. It is submitted, therefore, that the Appellate Court was not right, in the absence of a manifest illegality demonstrable in the Trial Court's view of the oral evidence, in interfering with the Trial Court's opinion, based on appreciation of oral evidence alone.

23. The learned Counsel appearing for Uma Shanker (defendant no.1) has opposed the aforesaid submission and says that the Lower Appellate Court has thoroughly considered every part of the oral testimony of witnesses to reach a contrary conclusion from that of the Trial Court, taking a better view of the evidence. It is argued that the Lower Appellate Court, being a Court of fact, has coextensive jurisdiction with that of the Trial Court to consider the entire evidence on record, both on questions of fact and law and hold differently. It is emphasized that a Court of First Appeal has jurisdiction, as wide as that of the Trial Court, to judge issues of fact and law, which cannot be fettered by the subtle consideration about the Lower Appellate Court's disadvantage in not watching the witnesses, which the Trial Court had. Learned Counsel for Uma Shanker in support of his contention has placed reliance upon the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Malluru Mallappa (Dead) through Legal Representatives v. Kuruvathappa and others, (2020) 4 SCC 313, where it has been held:

"12. In Shankar Ramchandra Abhyankar v. Krishnaji Dattatreya Bapat [Shankar Ramchandra Abhyankar v. Krishnaji Dattatreya Bapat, (1969) 2 SCC 74] it was held thus : (SCC pp. 77-78, para 5)

"5. ... In the well-known work of Story on Constitution (of United States), Vol. 2, Article 1761, it is stated that the essential criterion of appellate jurisdiction is that it revises and corrects the proceedings in a cause already instituted and does not create that cause. The appellate jurisdiction may be exercised in a variety of forms and, indeed, in any form in which the legislature may choose to prescribe. According to Article 1762, the most usual modes of exercising appellate jurisdiction, at least those which are most known in the United States, are by a writ of error, or by an appeal, or by some process of removal of a suit from an inferior tribunal. An appeal is a process of civil law origin and removes a cause, entirely subjecting the fact as well as the law, to a review and a retrial."

13. It is a settled position of law that an appeal is a continuation of the proceedings of the original court. Ordinarily, the appellate jurisdiction involves a rehearing on law as well as on fact and is invoked by an aggrieved person. The first appeal is a valuable right of the appellant and therein all questions of fact and law decided by the trial court are open for reconsideration. Therefore, the first appellate court is required to address itself to all the issues and decide the case by giving reasons. The court of first appeal must record its findings only after dealing with all issues of law as well as fact and with the evidence, oral as well as documentary, led by the parties. The judgment of the first appellate court must display conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons on all issues and contentions [see : Santosh Hazariv. Purushottam Tiwari [Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179] , Madhukar v. Sangram [Madhukar v. Sangram, (2001) 4 SCC 756] , B.M. Narayana Gowda v. Shanthamma [B.M. Narayana Gowda v. Shanthamma, (2011) 15 SCC 476 : (2014) 2 SCC (Civ) 619] , H.K.N. Swami v. Irshad Basith [H.K.N. Swami v. Irshad Basith, (2005) 10 SCC 243] and Sri Raja Lakshmi Dyeing

Works v. Rangaswamy Chettiar [Sri Raja Lakshmi Dyeing Works v. Rangaswamy Chettiar, (1980) 4 SCC 259]].

14. A first appeal under Section 96 CPC is entirely different from a second appeal under Section 100. Section 100 expressly bars second appeal unless a question of law is involved in a case and the question of law so involved is substantial in nature.

15. Order 41 Rule 31 CPC provides the guidelines for the appellate court to decide the matter. For ready reference Order 41 Rule 31 CPC is as under:

"31. Contents, date and signature of judgment.--The judgment of the appellate court shall be in writing and shall state—

(a) the points for determination;

(b) the decision thereon;

(c) the reasons for the decision; and

(d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled;

and shall at the time that it is pronounced be signed and dated by the Judge or by the Judges concurring therein."

16. In Vinod Kumar v. Gangadhar [Vinod Kumar v. Gangadhar, (2015) 1 SCC 391 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 521] this Court has reiterated the principles to be borne in mind while disposing of a first appeal, as under : (SCC p. 395, para 15)

"15. Again in B.V. Nagesh v. H.V. Sreenivasa Murthy [B.V. Nagesh v. H.V. Sreenivasa Murthy, (2010) 13 SCC 530 : (2010) 4 SCC (Civ) 808] , this Court taking note of all the earlier judgments of this Court reiterated the aforementioned principle with these words : (SCC pp. 530-31, paras 3-4)

"3. How the regular first appeal is to be disposed of by the appellate court/High Court has been considered by this Court in various decisions. Order 41 CPC deals with appeals from original decrees. Among the various rules, Rule 31 mandates that the judgment of the appellate court shall state:

(a) the points for determination;

(b) the decision thereon;

(c) the reasons for the decision; and

(d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled.

4. The appellate court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial court. The first appeal is a valuable right of the parties and unless restricted by law, the whole case is therein open for rehearing both on questions of fact and law. The judgment of the appellate court must, therefore, reflect its conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons, on all the issues arising along with the contentions put forth, and pressed by the parties for decision of the appellate court. Sitting as a court of first appeal, it was the duty of the High Court [H.V. Sreenivasa Murthy v. B.V. Nagesha, 2008 SCC OnLine Kar 837] to deal with all the issues and the evidence led by the parties before recording its findings. The first appeal is a valuable right and the parties have a right to be heard both on questions of law and on facts and the judgment in the first appeal must address itself to all the issues of law and fact and decide it by giving reasons in support of the findings. (Vide Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari [Santosh Hazariv. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179] , SCC p. 188, para 15 and Madhukar v. Sangram [Madhukar v. Sangram, (2001) 4 SCC 756] , SCC p. 758, para 5.)'"

17. In Shasidhar v. Ashwini Uma Mathad [Shasidhar v. Ashwini Uma Mathad, (2015) 11 SCC 269] , it was held as under : (SCC p. 277, para 21)

"21. Being the first appellate court, it was, therefore, the duty of the High Court [Shasidhar v. Ashwini Uma Mathad, 2012 SCC OnLine Kar 8774] to decide the first appeal keeping in view the scope and powers conferred on it under Section 96 read with Order 41 Rule 31 of the Code mentioned above. It was unfortunately not done, thereby, causing prejudice to the appellants whose valuable right to prosecute the first appeal on facts and law was adversely affected which, in turn, deprived them of a hearing in the appeal in accordance with law."

24. Upon considering the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for parties, this Court finds that no doubt there is a well acknowledged principle that the Trial Court's opinion on issues or the suit itself, which turns entirely on oral evidence, should not be lightly disturbed by the Appellate Court, unless it be manifestly illegal or perverse. This principle is particularly important when the finding turns on the credibility of a witness. Deference to the Trial Court's opinion in a case founded on oral evidence is based on the consideration that the Trial Court had the advantage of hearing and watching the witness, which the Appellate Judge did not have. Therefore, unless the conclusions of the Trial Court are based on a wholesome misreading of evidence, conjecture, surmise or the result of perverse reasoning, the Appellate Court should not generally interfere. This rule is, of course, confined to those cases where the findings are based entirely on parole evidence, without there being any documentary evidence, bearing on the case/ issues. The principle is well elucidated by the following the remarks of the Supreme Court in Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari (Deceased) by LRs, (2001) 3 SCC 179:

"15. ..... Expression of general agreement with the findings recorded in the judgment under appeal should not be a device or camouflage adopted by the appellate court for shirking the duty cast on it. While writing a judgment of reversal the appellate court must remain conscious of two principles. Firstly, the findings of fact based on conflicting evidence arrived at by the trial court must weigh with the appellate court, more so when the findings are based on oral evidence recorded by the same Presiding Judge who authors the judgment. This certainly does not mean that when an appeal lies on facts, the appellate court is not competent to reverse a finding of fact arrived at by the trial Judge. As a matter of law if the appraisal of the evidence by the trial Court suffers from a material irregularity or is based on inadmissible evidence or on conjectures and surmises, the appellate court is entitled to interfere with the finding of fact. (See Madhusudan Das v. Narayanibai [(1983) 1 SCC 35 : AIR 1983 SC 114]) The rule is -- and it is nothing more than a rule of practice -- that when there is conflict of oral evidence of the parties on any matter in issue and the decision hinges upon the credibility of witnesses, then unless there is some special feature about the evidence of a particular witness which has escaped the trial Judge's notice or there is a sufficient balance of improbability to displace his opinion as to where the credibility lie, the appellate court should not interfere with the finding of the trial Judge on a question of fact. (See Sarju Pershad Ramdeo Sahu v. Jwaleshwari Pratap Narain Singh [AIR 1951 SC 120]) ....."

25. There is an older decision by the Supreme Court in Madhusudan Das v. Narayanibai (Deceased) by LRs and others, (1983) 1 SCC 35, where the principle under reference has been stated thus:

"8. ..... At this stage, it would be right to refer to the general principle that, in an appeal against a trial court decree, when the appellate court considers an issue turning on oral evidence it must bear in mind that it does not enjoy the advantage which the trial court had in having the witnesses before it and of observing the manner in which they gave their testimony. When there is a conflict of oral evidence on any matter in issue and its resolution turns upon the credibility of the witnesses, the general rule is that the appellate court should permit the findings of fact rendered by the trial court to prevail unless it clearly appears that some special feature about the evidence of a particular witness has escaped the notice of the trial court or there is a sufficient balance of improbability to displace its opinion as to where the credibility lies. ....."

26. The principle under reference is also acknowledged by the Privy Council in Valarshak Seth Apcar v. Standard Coal Co., Ltd. and others, AIR 1943 PC 159, where it has been held:

"They treated the plaintiff as a witness whose testimony should not be believed, and accepted as accurate the evidence of Fairhurst and Wills. In their Lordships' opinion, the High Court on appeal was not justified in this case in taking a different view of the plaintiff's credibility from that adopted by the trial Judge. McNair J., enumerates a series of points upon which he bases his view that the plaintiff's evidence is such that reliance cannot be placed upon it, but they are just the sort of points as to which the only person who can effectively form an opinion and draw conclusions is the trial Judge who has the witness before him. He alone knows the demeanour of the witness; he alone can appreciate the manner in which the questions are answered, whether with honest candour or with doubtful plausibility, and whether after careful thought, or with reckless glibness. He alone could form a reliable opinion as to whether the plaintiff had emerged with credit from a cross-examination, lasting the greater part of two days, which was to a great extent repetitious, and sometimes offensive."

27. There is no doubt about the principle that where oral testimony alone is the basis for the findings, the Trial Judge is entitled to respect enough that he is not generally disturbed by the Court of Appeal unless his reasoning be manifestly illegal, perverse or one that misses out some decisive part of the testimony, on which he forms opinion. But, the aforesaid principle is set in the context of a postulate that the Trial Judge is one, who has heard the witnesses and authored the judgment. If in a case, which is quite common place these days and was so even at the time when the present suit was tried and decided, the author of the judgment in the Trial Court is different from the Judge, who heard the witnesses, the rule under reference would loose all significance. Therefore, in a case where a party attempts to sustain the judgment passed by a Trial Judge and reversed in appeal, which turns entirely on appreciation of oral evidence and nothing else, based on the principle under reference, it has to be demonstrated for a fact that the Trial Judge was the same person, who heard the witnesses and wrote the judgment. Ideally speaking, a Trial Judge writing a judgment, who has not heard witnesses in the case is an anathema for the most essential character of the Trial Judge, different from all other Judges in the higher rungs of the judicial hierarchy, is the fact that the Trial Judge is one who has heard witnesses. In civil cases, the application of this principle nowadays is truncated to hearing the witnesses on cross-examination alone, as the examination-in-chief after Amendment Act No. 22 of 2002 (w.e.f. 1-7-2002) is on affidavit. However, the present case is one which arose much before the Amendment Act and the entire testimony is by witnesses, who appeared in the dock.

28. On a perusal of the record, this Court finds that the judgment by the Trial Court, that is to say, the Court of the Sixth Additional Munsif, Jaunpur was delivered by Mr. Mukteshwar Prasad. A closer perusal of the order-sheets show that Mr. Mukteshwar Prasad appears to have taken over charge of the Court of the Sixth Additional Munsif in the month of July, 1989 and heard arguments for the first time on 15.07.1989, after three adjournments in July. He heard further arguments on 17.07.1989 and reserved judgment to be delivered on 19.07.1989. Delivery of judgment was deferred to 21.07.1989, when it was, in fact, delivered by the Trial Judge. A further perusal of the order-sheet shows that testimony of the four witnesses, that is to say, the two PWs and the two DWs, was recorded on 02.11.1988 and 04.05.1989. It appears from a perusal of the order-sheet that until the end of May, 1989, the Presiding Officer, incumbent in the Court of the Sixth Additional Munsif, Jaunpur, was a person different from Mr. Mukteshwar Prasad and it is he who heard the witnesses. The learned Judge, before whom evidence concluded on 09.05.1989, fixed the suit for address of arguments on 25.05.1989, a date when he was on leave. The suit was further adjourned to 26.05.1989 for arguments and then to 30.05.1989. On 30.05.1989, it was adjourned to 10.07.1989, again for the address of arguments by parties. It appears that incumbency in the Court of the Sixth Additional Munsif, Jaunpur changed hands after the summer recess in the month of June, 1989, and in July, Mr. Mukteshwar Prasad heard arguments by Counsel. Therefore, the Trial Judge does not appear to be the person who had heard witnesses in this case. Learned Counsel for the parties could not point out anything to show that Mr. Mukteshwar Prasad indeed heard the witnesses and the record appears to indicate otherwise.

29. The Substantial Question of Law No. (i) is, therefore, answered in the negative in terms that generally the Appellate Court cannot set aside findings recorded by the Trial Court, where the findings are based on appreciation of oral evidence alone, but it is a rule of prudence and sound practice, subject to known exceptions. It would not apply to a case at all, where the Trial Judge is a person different from the one, who has heard witnesses; it applies only to cases where the Trial Judge, who authors the judgment, is the same person, who hears witnesses.

30. This takes the Court to the next substantial question of law involved.

31. It is argued by the learned Counsel for the plaintiffs that the Lower Appellate Court has committed a manifest error of law, going to the root of the matter, by carving out a third case, which none of the parties pleaded. And that third case is that the Lower Appellate Court has held that there was no way whatsoever for the plaintiffs' animals to move in and out of the suit property except through the door on the southern face of the verandah, opening into the suit property. It is argued that this was a case which none of the parties pleaded. Learned Counsel for Uma Shanker has, however, defended the aforesaid finding and submits that it does not constitute a third case.

32. What constitutes a third case, is to be found in the observations of the Supreme Court, albeit in the context of a matter under Section 125 Cr.P.C. In Deb Narayan Halder v. Anushree Halder (smt), (2003) 11 SCC 303, it has been opined:

"20. ..... The court is not permitted to conjecture and surmise. It must base its findings on the evidence produced before it by the parties. The enquiry by the court is restricted to the evidence on record and the case pleaded by the parties. It is not permissible to the court to conjecture and surmise and make out a third case not pleaded by the parties only to answer the query such as the one posed to us."

33. There is some further elucidation of the principle to be found in a broader context in Bachhaj Nahar v. Nilima Mandal and another, (2008) 17 SCC 491. In Bachhaj Nahar (supra), it has been held:

"17. It is thus clear that a case not specifically pleaded can be considered by the court only where the pleadings in substance, though not in specific terms, contain the necessary averments to make out a particular case and the issues framed also generally cover the question involved and the parties proceed on the basis that such case was at issue and had led evidence thereon. As the very requirements indicate, this should be only in exceptional cases where the court is fully satisfied that the pleadings and issues generally cover the case subsequently put forward and that the parties being conscious of the issue, had led evidence on such issue. But where the court is not satisfied that such case was at issue, the question of resorting to the exception to the general rule does not arise. The principles laid down in Bhagwati Prasad [AIR 1966 SC 735] and Ram Sarup Gupta [(1987) 2 SCC 555 : AIR 1987 SC 1242] referred to above and several other decisions of this Court following the same cannot be construed as diluting the well-settled principle that without pleadings and issues, evidence cannot be considered to make out a new case which is not pleaded. Another aspect to be noticed, is that the court can consider such a case not specifically pleaded, only when one of the parties raises the same at the stage of arguments by contending that the pleadings and issues are sufficient to make out a particular case and that the parties proceeded on that basis and had led evidence on that case. Where neither party puts forth such a contention, the court cannot obviously make out such a case not pleaded, suo motu."(emphasis by Court)

34. Here, what is criticized as a third case, is not indeed a case at all. A case is a statement of facts by a party, backed by evidence, entitling it to a right that can be established before a Court of law and the remedy secured. For instance, a case by the plaintiff in a suit for declaration and injunction regarding immovable property that he is the title-holder in possession on the basis of a registered sale deed, is a case in the sense that the term is understood. If the plaintiff were to say that he is entitled to the declaration and injunction, because he is owner of the suit property in possession by virtue of a Will, it is a different case. If the defendant were to contest the plaintiff's case, saying that the suit property belongs to him on the basis of a right that the defendant has got under a testamentary disposition by the last recorded owner of the property, it would be the defendant's case. In this illustration, if the Court were to find and hold, without any pleading to that effect by either party, that the plaintiffs are owners in possession of the property involved in the suit on the basis of adverse possession, it would be a classical instance of a third case. The Court is not allowed to conjecture a third case for parties. And if it does, its determination would be illegal.

35. Here, what the Lower Appellate Court has done is to opine on a relevant fact as understood under Section 3 of the Indian Evidence Act, necessary to determine the fact in issue, which is whether the suit property is the plaintiffs' courtyard (Sahan) or Uma Shanker's. In order to find on the aforesaid fact in issue, the Lower Appellate Court has taken into consideration oral evidence as well as circumstances. One of the circumstances that the Lower Appellate Court has noticed is that the suit property, in its opinion, has no ingress or egress for the plaintiffs to let in and take out their cattle, except through the door placed on the southern face of the verandah. From this fact, it has been inferred that since animals possibly cannot be brought into or taken out of the suit property through the door in the verandah, the plaintiffs' case on this part of it is not convincing. What, therefore, the plaintiffs assail as a third case is a finding on a relevant fact, a minor part of the inquiry to reach its conclusions by the Lower Appellate Court on the fact in issue. After all, the process of reasoning or appreciation of evidence cannot be dubbed as a third case. It is small feature in a broader inquiry and nothing more.

36. Substantial Question of Law No. 2 is, therefore, answered in the negative.

37. About the third substantial question of law involved, it is submitted by the learned Counsel for the plaintiffs that the Trial Court has taken into consideration two sale deeds, Ex. 1 and Ex. Ka-2. Ex. 1 has been executed by Shiv Murat in favour of Manikraj, whereas Ex Ka-2 is a sale deed by Manikraj in favour of Paras Nath (defendant no.2). In the sale deed, Ex. 1, the vendor, Shiv Murat has shown boundaries of the property sold by him, which acknowledges the plaintiffs' courtyard as one of the boundaries. The sale deed shows as its northern boundary 'Sahan Darwaja Ishwar Dutt', as recorded by the Trial Court. Ishwar Dutt is the first plaintiff, Ram Karan's father. Likewise, the sale deed (Ex. Ka-2) executed by Manikraj in favour of Paras Nath, shows on the northern boundary the house of Ram Karan, plaintiff no.1. About the sale deed (Ex. 1), it has been remarked by the Trial Court that it shows that Shiv Murat, way back in the year 1959, considered the suit property as the plaintiffs' courtyard (Sahan). After so much of consideration bestowed to these documents, the Trial Court has remarked that these boundaries are not binding on the parties and further that since there is no documentary evidence on record, the boundaries shown in the sale deeds (Ex. 1 and Ex. Ka-2) are to be regarded as circumstantial evidence. The Lower Appellate Court has not at all referred to these documents, and opined only on the basis of parole evidence.

38. This Court is of opinion that the Trial Court has erred in thinking that Ex. 1 and Ex. Ka-2, the two sale deeds are not documentary evidence, but circumstantial. The boundaries of properties in a sale deed between third parties is relevant evidence to show that a person is the owner of the property indicated in the boundaries. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in Hari Lal v. Amrik Singh and another, AIR 1978 All 292, where referring to older decisions, it was held:

"15. Learned counsel then urged that the court below erred in relying on the pleadings in Suit No. 193 of 1949 which was not inter partes. In our opinion the pleadings were admissible in evidence under Section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act. It was then urged that the two sale-deeds Exts. 18 and 19 where the house in dispute was mentioned as the boundary of the properties transferred by Sita Ram were also admissible. In Mst. Katori v. Om Prakash (AIR 1935 All 351) it was held that recitals in a sale-deed though between third parties were evidence of the fact that a person was the owner of the property indicated as boundary. Recitals of the boundaries in documents of title not inter partes have been held to be admissible under sections 11 and 13 of the Evidence Act. See Rangayyan v. Innasimuthu Mudali (AIR 1956 Mad 226) and Natwar v. Alkhu ((1913) 11 All LJ 139)."(emphasis by court)

39. The Trial Court with reference to the two sale deeds, Ex. 1 and Ex. Ka-2, has recorded the following finding:

"वादीगण ने प्रदर्श सं.- 1 नकल वयनामा प्रस्तुत किया है। इस वयनामा ने जो चौहद्दी दी गई है उसमें वयशुदा भूमि के उत्तर सहन दरवाजा ईसरदत्त लिखा है। ईसरदत्त वादी गण के खानदान का है। उक्त वयनामे में पारसनाथ बाकी भूमि का वयनामा हुआ था। वादीगण उक्त प्रपत्र से यह सिद्ध करना चाहते हैं कि पारस नाथ की आबादी के उत्तर विवादित भूमि है जो ईसरदत्त की सहन है। इसी प्रकार प्रतिवादीगण ने भी प्रदर्श क-2 नकल वयनामा प्रस्तुत किया है। यह वयनामा भी प्रदर्श-1 वाली भूमि के सम्बन्ध में हुआ है। इसमें वयशुदा भूमि के उत्तर रामकरन का मकान लिखा है। वास्तव में प्रदर्श-1 वयनामा शिव मूरत ने मानिकराज के पक्ष में किया। उसी भूमि को प्रदर्श- क-2 वयनामा द्वारा मानिकराज ने पारसनाथ के पक्ष में पुनः वय किया। शिवमूरत ने जो चौहद्दी प्रदर्श-1 में दिया उससे विवादित भूमि के दक्षिण ही वयशुदा जमीन होगी। क्योंकि शिवमूरत ने विवादित भूमि को वादी गण की सहन मानकर अपने वयनामा में चौहद्दी लिखाया। किन्तु जब मानिकचन्द ने पुनः उसी भूमि का वयनामा पारसनाथ के पक्ष में किया तो उसमें चौहद्दी में उत्तर तरफ रामकरन का मकान दिखा दिया। अर्थात् क-2 वयनामा में विवादित भूमि भी वयशुदा भूमि मान ली गई। हालांकि ये दस्तावेज तथा इनमें दी गई चौहद्दी पक्षकारों पर बाध्यकारी प्रभाव नहीं रखेगी और न ही चौहद्दी साक्ष्य में सुसंगत ही होगा किंतु इससे यह तो स्पष्ट है ही कि विवादित भूमि को शिव मूरत 1959 में वादीगण की सहन समझता था। चँकि पत्रावली पर कोई प्रलेखीय साक्ष्य मौजूद नहीं है, अतः इसे एक परिस्थिति-जन्य साक्ष्य माना जा सकता है।"

40. This Court is of opinion that the Trial Court has carefully analyzed the boundaries shown in the two sale deeds and held on that basis that the suit property is the plaintiffs' courtyard. The Trial Court's remark that way back in the year 1959, Shiv Murat regarded the suit property as the plaintiffs' courtyard (Sahan), is of immense moment. This is so because way back in the year 1959, hostilities had not commenced between parties and the sale deed executed by Shiv Murat in favour of Manikraj, Ex. 1 is an impartial and dependable record of the inter se geographical location of the plaintiffs' and the defendant's properties, including the suit property. The Trial Court, however, as already remarked, has erred in regarding these sale deeds as circumstantial evidence. These are documents and dependable ones at that. However, what is of utmost relevance to the substantial question of law under consideration is the fact that both these documents have not at all been considered by the Lower Appellate Court. The Lower Appellate Court has rendered opinion bereft of reference to the documentary evidence, which the Trial Court thoroughly considered in reaching its conclusion. The Trial Court's remark that the sale deeds are not documents, but circumstantial evidence, is legally unsound and of no consequence. At the same time, the Lower Appellate Court, by failing to consider and refer to the documentary evidence that the Trial Court did, has failed to reverse categorical findings recorded by the Trial Court about the location and identity of the suit property.

41. In this view of the matter, the Lower Appellate Court's judgment cannot be regarded as a valid and effective reversal of the Trial Court's judgment rendered after consideration of all relevant evidence.

42. Substantial Question of Law No. 3 is, therefore, answered in the affirmative.

43. Since the Lower Appellate Court has not effectively reversed the Trial Court's judgment and set aside its findings, based, amongst others, on documentary evidence that the Lower Appellate Court has completely ignored, the Lower Appellate Court's judgment deserves to be set aside and that of the Trial Court restored.

44. In the result, this Second Appeal succeeds and is allowed with costs throughout. The impugned decree passed by the Lower Appellate Court is set aside and that of the Trial Court restored.

Civil Law - Code of Civil Procedure, 1973 - Sections 125 (3) & 421 - Enforcement of an order of maintenance u/s 125(3) Cr.P.C. - it is open to a Magistrate to enforce an order of maintenance, passed u/s 125 Cr.P.C., by issuing a warrant to the Collector to recover the same as arrears of land revenue - It is the discretion of the Magistrate, either to issue a warrant for the levy of the amount by attachment and sale of movables of the defaulter under Section 421(1)(a) of the Code, or to issue a warrant to the Collector, authorizing him to realize the amount as arrears of land revenue - It is open to issue both kind of warrants simultaneously - conjoint reading of the provisions of Sections 125(3) and 421(1) of the Code shows that it is open to the Magistrate to enforce an order of maintenance that remains uncomplied with, for every breach of it, by the issue of a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines - Section 421(1) gives two options to the Magistrate: firstly, under Clause (a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 421, he may issue a warrant for levying of the amount by attachment and sale of any movable property belonging to the offender - In the context of maintenance proceedings, the provision would bear reference to the person in default of the maintenance order in place of the offender - Secondly, the Magistrate may issue a warrant to the Collector of the district, authorizing him to realize the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both, belonging to the defaulter - Sub-Section (3) of Section 421 obliges the Collector, whenever a warrant is issued to him, to recover any amount, that qualifies for a fine, as arrears of land revenue in accordance with law, treating the warrant to be a recovery certificate issued under the law relating to land revenue recovery. 2. Ramakrishnan T.K. VsC.N. Subhadra & anr. , 2009 SCC OnLine Ker 6397

1. This is a plaintiff's appeal, arising out of a suit for declaration and permanent prohibitory injunction.

2. The facts giving rise to this appeal are these:

The plaintiff-appellant, Rama Nand, who shall hereinafter be referred to as the "plaintiff', instituted O.S. No. 390 of 1985 in the Ex-Court of Munsif Havali, Varanasi, seeking a declaration to the effect that the proceedings of revenue sale dated 04.12.1982 and the sale letter based on it relating to land, detailed at the foot of the plaint, be declared void and a decree of permanent injunction granted, restraining the defendant-respondent, Hira Lal (for short, "the defendant') from interfering with the plaintiff's possession over the suit property or changing its nature and character.

3. The plaintiff's case is that Smt. Usha Devi brought proceedings against him under Section 125 Cr.P.C. in the Court of the Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar seeking award of maintenance. In the maintenance case aforesaid, the Magistrate passed an ex parte order, granting maintenance to Smt. Usha Devi on 13.01.1982. The ex parte maintenance order dated 13.01.1982 was passed against the plaintiff. The plaintiff, upon coming to know of the ex parte order, made an application to the Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar, seeking to set aside the sale. The Magistrate on 17.05.1982 allowed the plaintiff's application and set aside the ex parte maintenance order dated 13.01.1982. In the meantime, on the basis of the ex parte maintenance order dated 13.01.1982, the defendant, in connivance with the Tehsildar and Naib Tehsildar, Varanasi, brought the plaintiff's immovable property, detailed at the foot of the plaint (for short, 'the suit property') to sale on 04.12.1982. The plaintiff's wife applied for the recovery of dues under the ex parte maintenance order. The plaintiff did not know anything about the revenue sale held, creating rights in favour of the defendant.

4. It is the plaintiff's case that after the maintenance order dated 13.01.1982 had been set aside on 17.05.1982, sale of the plaintiff's property on 04.12.1982 was one made without jurisdiction, as there was no maintenance order in existence then to execute. It was also pleaded that the proceedings of the revenue sale are vitiated, because there was no proclamation by beat of drum, nor proceedings taken in accordance with law. The sale is fraudulent and illegal. The further case is that the defendant, on the basis of the revenue sale concluded in his favour, is moving to forcefully dispossess the plaintiff.

5. The defendant put in a written statement, pleading that he had purchased the suit property in the revenue sale held, wherein there was no illegality or irregularity. The defendant on 04.12.1982, upon payment of sale consideration, that was fetched in the auction proceedings, purchased the suit property bona fide. He had paid a total consideration of Rs.10,000/-. The proceedings of the auction sale have been confirmed and the sale certificate issued in favour of the defendant. The legality or irregularity in conducting the sale cannot be questioned before the Civil Court. The defendant never connived with Smt. Usha Devi nor did he procure a judgment, based on any kind of conspiracy with Smt. Usha Devi, or got the revenue sale held in furtherance of any conspiracy, as alleged by the plaintiff. The Tehsildar and the Naib Tehsildar did not take proceedings of the revenue sale in a manner that is bogus or fraudulent. The defendant, Hira Lal never had knowledge of the fact about the maintenance order passed ex parte under Section 125 Cr.P.C. against the plaintiff being set aside. The further case is that even if the order of maintenance ex parte was set aside, the revenue sale held on 04.12.1982, cannot be set aside, because the defendant is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice and further the auction sale has been confirmed.

6. The defendant has averred that the plaintiff did not object to the auction proceedings before the Revenue Authorities. The Court has no jurisdiction to set aside the auction sale. The mutation order has been made on the basis of the auction sale directing mutation of the defendant's name over the suit property on 11.01.1985, whereagainst the plaintiff had objected. His objections were, however, rejected on 30.01.1985. The suit is barred by limitation. The suit property is in the ownership possession of the defendant. The suit is barred by the provisions of Section 331 of the U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act and the Civil Court has no jurisdiction to try the suit.

7. On the pleadings of parties, the following issues were struck (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether on the grounds set forth in the plaint, the proceedings of auction sale dated 04.12.1982 are illegal and void?

(2) Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the relief of injunction?

(3) Whether this Court has no jurisdiction to try the suit?

(4) Whether the suit is undervalued and the court-fee insufficient?

(5) To what relief is the plaintiff entitled to?

8. Before the Trial Court, the plaintiff examined himself as PW-1 and one Bechan Mishra as PW-2. The plaintiff in his documentary evidence filed three documents vide a list, bearing Paper No. 8-

Ga, one document vide list, bearing Paper No. 33-Ga, another three documents vide Paper No. 53-Ga and two more documents vide list, bearing Paper No. 60-Ga.

9. The defendant examined himself as DW-1. In his documentary evidence, he filed some 11 documents vide list, bearing Paper No. 17-Ga, another 9 documents vide list, bearing Paper No. 37-Ga and 14 more documents vide list, bearing Paper No. 123-Ga.

10. The issue, about the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to try the suit, was not pressed before the Trial Court on 24.12.1987, and the issue of valuation was decided on 28.05.1986. These issues were dealt with at interlocutory stages and a record of determination thereof forms part of the Trial Court's judgment. It was Issue No.1, that was the substantial issue, on which event in the suit would turn. The Trial Court in its judgment has blamed the conduct of the plaintiff in not communicating the order dated 17.05.1982, setting aside the ex parte maintenance order dated 13.01.1982 to the Collector, Varanasi, as the reason why the revenue sale was held and the impugned sale certificate issued in the defendant's favour. The Trial Court also held that the defendant was a bona fide purchaser for value without notice, whose rights ought to be protected. Nevertheless, the Trial Court held that the proceedings of the sale held on 04.12.1982 were illegal and void, but the decree of the Trial Court would be effective only upon the plaintiff paying the defendant a sum of Rs.10,000/- together with interest at the rate of 18% per annum from the date of the auction sale in the defendant's favour. The suit was, therefore, decreed in part vide judgment and decree dated 22.04.1989 passed by the 12th Additional Munsif, Varanasi with a conditional injunction that the injunction would become effective after the plaintiff paid the entire sum of Rs.10,000/- together with interest as directed.

11. Upon the defendant's appeal carried to the District Judge of Varanasi, being Civil Appeal No. 119 of 1989, the learned 9th Additional District Judge, Varanasi vide his judgment and decree dated 14.05.1990, allowed the appeal, set aside the Trial Court's judgment and decree dated 22.04.1989, and dismissed the suit. There was a cross-objection also preferred by the defendant before the Lower Appellate Court, which too was dismissed.

12. Dissatisfied with the judgment and decree passed by the Lower Appellate Court, the plaintiff has moved this Court, invoking our jurisdiction under Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

13. This appeal was admitted to hearing vide order dated 09.11.1990, without any substantial question of law being formulated. Before proceeding with the hearing, therefore, based on the submissions of parties, particularly, the learned Counsel for the appellant, this Court formulated the following substantial question of law vide order dated 26.02.2020:

Whether it is open to a Magistrate to enforce an order of maintenance passed under Section 125 Cr.P.C. by forwarding a recovery certificate to the Collector, and to recover the sum of money due under the maintenance order as arrears of land revenue?

14. Heard Mr. S.D. Ojha, learned Counsel for the plaintiff-appellant and Mr.

S.N. Tripathi, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Akhileshwar Mishra, learned Counsel for the defendant-respondent.

15. The Lower Appellate Court went into wholesome detail of evidence bearing on the issues of fact and law involved and held that a copy of the order dated 17.05.1982, setting aside the ex parte maintenance order dated 13.01.1982, had not been produced in evidence by the plaintiff. Rather, there is a record of a later order dated 20.09.1982, again ordering ex parte maintenance, which bears Paper No. 34-Ga. The Lower Appellate Court also took note of some orders made by this Court in Criminal Misc. Application No. 264 of 1983, where the auction sale of the suit property in execution of the ex parte maintenance order, which was then awaiting recall, was challenged. The Lower Appellate Court has recorded that the said 482 Application was rejected by this Court vide order dated 22.10.1983 and a certified copy of the order was on record as Paper No. 26-Ga. This Court too has found on record a document, marked Ex. A1.

16. The Lower Appellate Court has held further that the plaintiff has urged a case that proceedings of the auction were illegal, but if that were so, the plaintiff had the right to move the Revenue Authorities and get the sale set aside. This has not been done. The case of a conspiracy between the plaintiff's wife and the defendant has too been disbelieved by the Lower Appellate Court in the absence of the slightest of evidence. What has further been observed is that if the plaintiff's case of the ex parte maintenance order being set aside is believed, though there is no evidence about it, the defendant is a bona fide purchaser. The auction sale in his favour has been confirmed. In such circumstances, the consequence of the sale, even if it were set aside, would not be to deprive auction purchaser of his rights in the suit property.

17. The Lower Appellate Court has also recorded facts to the effect that pursuant to the sale certificate, the defendant's name has been mutated in the revenue records, of which certified copies are on record. There are also records of Khasra across a period of three years, showing recorded possession in favour of the defendant. There are also irrigation receipts brought on record to show that the defendant is in possession.

18. It is on all these findings that the Lower Appellate Court has reached the conclusion that it did.

19. Mr. S.D. Ojha, learned Counsel for the plaintiff at the hearing before this Court has but logically confined himself to the substantial question of law, on which this appeal has been admitted and heard. He submits that it was not open to the Magistrate, who had the execution of the ex parte maintenance order before him, to enforce it by forwarding a recovery certificate to the Collector. As such, all proceedings taken by the Revenue Authorities at Varanasi, pursuant to the recovery certificate issued by the Magistrate for enforcement of the ex parte maintenance order, are without jurisdiction.

20. Mr. S.N. Tripathi, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Akhileshwar Mishra, learned Counsel for the defendant submits that there is jurisdiction under the law available to the Magistrate to issue a recovery certificate to the Collector by virtue of the provisions of Section 125(3) Cr.P.C.

21. Upon hearing the learned Counsel for parties with reference to the substantial question of law involved, this Court thinks that a reference to the provisions of Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. is necessary. Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. reads:

125. Order for maintenance of wives, children and parents.--(1) x x x x

(2) x x x x x

(3) If any person so ordered fails without sufficient cause to comply with the order, any such Magistrate may, for every breach of the order, issue a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines, and may sentence such person, for the whole or any part of each month's allowance for the maintenance or the interim maintenance and expenses of proceeding, as the case may be, remaining unpaid after the execution of the warrant, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or until payment if sooner made:

Provided that no warrant shall be issued for the recovery of any amount due under this section unless application be made to the Court to levy such amount within a period of one year from the date on which it became due:

Provided further that if such person offers to maintain his wife on condition of her living with him, and she refuses to live with him, such Magistrate may consider any grounds of refusal stated by her, and may make an order under this section notwithstanding such offer, if he is satisfied that there is just ground for so doing.

Explanation.--If a husband has contracted marriage with another woman or keeps a mistress, it shall be considered to be just ground for his wife's refusal to live with him.

(4) x x x x

(5) x x x x

(emphasis by Court)

22. Now, the manner of levying fines under the Code of Criminal Procedure finds place in Section 421(1) of the said Code. Section 421 reads:

421. Warrant for levy of fine.--(1) When an offender has been sentenced to pay a fine, the Court passing the sentence may take action for the recovery of the fine in either or both of the following ways, that is to say, it may—

(a) issue a warrant for the levy of the amount by attachment and sale of any movable property belonging to the offender;

(b) issue a warrant to the Collector of the district, authorising him to realise the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both, of the defaulter:

Provided that, if the sentence directs that in default of payment of the fine, the offender shall be imprisoned, and if such offender has undergone the whole of such imprisonment in default, no Court shall issue such warrant unless, for special reasons to be recorded in writing, it considers it necessary so to do, or unless it has made an order for the payment of expenses or compensation out of the fine under Section 357.

(2) The State Government may make rules regulating the manner in which warrants under clause (a) of sub-section (1) are to be executed, and for the summary determination of any claims made by any person other than the offender in respect of any property attached in execution of such warrant.

(3) Where the Court issues a warrant to the Collector under clause (b) of sub-section (1), the Collector shall realise the amount in accordance with the law relating to recovery of arrears of land revenue, as if such warrant were a certificate issued under such law:

Provided that no such warrant shall be executed by the arrest or detention in prison of the offender.(emphasis by Court)

23. A conjoint reading of the provisions of Sections 125(3) and 421(1) of the Code shows that it is open to the Magistrate to enforce an order of maintenance that remains uncomplied with, for every breach of it, by the issue of a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines. Section 421(1) gives two options to the Magistrate: firstly, under Clause (a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 421, he may issue a warrant for levying of the amount by attachment and sale of any movable property belonging to the offender. In the context of maintenance proceedings, the provision would bear reference to the person in default of the maintenance order in place of the offender. Secondly, the Magistrate may issue a warrant to the Collector of the district, authorizing him to realize the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both, belonging to the defaulter. Sub-Section (3) of Section 421 obliges the Collector, whenever a warrant is issued to him, to recover any amount, that qualifies for a fine, as arrears of land revenue in accordance with law, treating the warrant to be a recovery certificate issued under the law relating to land revenue recovery.

24. It is the discretion of the Magistrate, before whom an application for enforcement of the maintenance order comes up, either to issue a warrant for the levy of the amount by attachment and sale of movables of the defaulter under Section 421(1)(a) of the Code, or to issue a warrant to the Collector, authorizing him to realize the amount as arrears of land revenue. It is open to issue both kind of warrants simultaneously also. Acknowledgment of the Magistrate's power to simultaneously issue both kind of warrants or either of them, under Section 421(1)(a) or 421(1)(b) is there, albeit in a different context in Om Parkash v. Vidhya Devi, 1991 SCC OnLine P&H 387. In Om Parkash (supra), it has been held:

4. .....

The perusal of the above-quoted section 421 reveals that there are two methods for levying fine and the Court has been empowered to opt for either of these two modes or both at one and the same time. One of these modes provided under sub-section (1)(a) is to issue a warrant for levy of the amount by attachment and sale of movable property belonging to the offender and the other being issuance of a warrant to the Collector authorising him to realise the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both. In the case in hand, the trial Court had not resorted to any of these coercive measures for the recovery of the arrears of maintenance allowance although it is mentioned in the impugned order of the trial Court that the husband is a man of means. Thus, legally the impugned order of the trial Court being not sustainable calls for quashment.

25. Again, the principle that the Magistrate, before whom a maintenance order comes for enforcement, can simultaneously issue both kind of warrants under Sections 421(1)(a) and 421(1)(b) of the Code, was wholesomely endorsed by the Kerala High Court in Ramakrishnan

T.K. v. C.N. Subhadra & another, 2009 SCC OnLine Ker 6397, where it was held:

15. The express language of Secs. 421(1)(a) and (b) Cr. P.C. is that either or both of the following ways (ie., issue a warrant for attachment of movable and issue of a warrant to the Collector to attach the movable and immovable properties) can be resorted to by the court. I find the said submission to be very impressive. This court in Nithiyanandan and Kuttappan had no occasion to consider that question. The express language employee by the Code makes it very clear that when it comes to levy of fines the court is no obliged to resort to both the methods under Secs. 421(1)(a) and (b) Cr. P.C. Either of the two or both can be pursued by the court in its discretion.

26. Here, the plaintiff questions the jurisdiction of the Magistrate to issue a warrant to the Collector for the recovery of the amount of maintenance in default as arrears of land revenue, because he says that the Magistrate had no such power. The said proposition is only stated to be rejected. The provisions of Section 125(3) and Section 421 read conjointly are a complete answer to the plaintiff's denial of jurisdiction with the Magistrate to issue a warrant to the Collector for recovering the defaulted maintenance as arrears of land revenue.

27. The substantial question of law framed is, accordingly, answered in the affirmative and it is held that the Magistrate has power to enforce an order of maintenance passed under Section 125 Cr.P.C. by issuing a warrant to the Collector to recover the same as arrears of land revenue.

28. No other point was pressed.

29. The appeal fails and is dismissed with costs.

30. Let a decree be drawn up, accordingly.

1. This appeal under Section 37 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 arises out of the order dated 26.8.2022 passed by a learned Judge on an application filed by the appellant under Section 9 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 19961 (Arbitration & Conciliation Application u/s 11(4) No.-98 of 2022, HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd. Vs. Samsung Heavy Industries Limited India), whereby that application was dismissed.

BACKGROUND:

2. As it appears in the appellant's affidavit, the respondent floated a tender/RFQ (request for quote) for their project-provision of Accommodation Work Barge2, with associate services required during the Hook-up and commissioning of RUBY FPSO for Reliance Industries Limited at MJ Field, in the block KG-DWN-98/3 (KG-D6), in the Bay of Bengal, East Coast of India on 23.2.2022. At the bidding stage, the appellant, inter alia, offered a Floatel Vessel called "Nor Goliath'3 to the respondent and also submitted all technical documents and certificates pertaining to the said vessel to the respondent. Telford Marine DMCC4 is the disponent owner of "Nor Goliath' which was to provide the said vessel to the respondent through the appellant. Based on the request of the respondent, the appellant also obtained a confirmation letter from Telford pertaining to the said vessel and also provided the preliminary mobilization plan of the said vessel from Walvisbay, Namibia to UAE and from UAE to Kakinada, India. The respondent issued a Letter of Intent5 on 28.4.2022 to the appellant regarding the work of AWB on the terms and conditions set out in the LOI. The LOI authorized the appellant to commence the work including the detailed design pedestal and gangway foundation, including procurement of material, fabrication of pedestal and gangway foundation and installation of gangway pedestal6. The LOI was valid and binding till 14.5.2022 and was to be superseded by a full-fledged contract, that is, the General Conditions of the Contract and all exhibits thereto7, under which the appellant was required to continue to perform the work at the date of execution of GCC, upon the parties reaching an agreement on the outstanding terms and conditions.

3. Under the LOI, the appellant was to make provision for AWB (Nor Goliath) retrofitted with electric-hydraulic telescopic personnel transfer gangway from another vessel namely, Telford 25 to Nor Goliath. This installation activity was required to be carried out at UAE. After the installation of gangway, the respondent was required to inspect Nor Goliath and any observation and comments during the inspection were to be satisfactorily resolved by the appellant to make the said vessel "fit for purpose' before it departed from UAE to Kakinada, India.

4. The appellant submitted to the respondent a contracting commitment letter dated 9.5.2022 from Telford. By this letter, Telford acknowledged that it was committed to provide Nor Goliath for the duration of the project and operate jointly in India with the appellant to support the respondent for AWB with associated services during hook-up and commissioning of RUBY FPSO at MJ Field, in the block KG-DWN-98/3 (KG-D6), in the Bay of Bengal, East Coast of India, subject to the terms of the LOI.

5. The appellant, by an e-mail dated 11.5.2022 sought extension from the respondent of the timeline/LOI till 20.5.2022. The appellant was granted the extension and the binding of the LOI was extended from 14.5.2022 to 20.5.2022 by means of a letter dated 13.5.2022 sent by the respondent. The letter of the respondents recorded that all other terms and conditions of the LOI would remain unchanged. A second extension of the LOI/timeline was sought by the appellant from the respondent till 31.5.2022. The respondent issued a letter to the appellant granting the extension and extending the binding of the LOI uptil 31.5.2022. This letter of the respondent also recorded that all other terms and conditions of the LOI would remain unchanged.

6. By a letter dated 22.5.2022, the appellant requested the respondent to issue a revised LOI duly incorporating the critical open items as was requested by Telford. In response, the respondent by a letter of 25.5.2022 acknowledged the list of critical open items and offered meeting the appellant at its Noida office on 26.5.2022 to discuss and conclude the open item and finalize the contract.

7. The aforesaid meeting took place on 25.5.2022 and 26.5.2022 at Noida office of the respondent and various activities/items in furtherance of the work and GCC to be executed were discussed between the appellant and the respondent including the scheduled mobilization of Nor Goliath at Kakinada. As per the revised plan, Nor Goliath was to be mobilized from Cape Town to Batam, Indonesia, where vessel modification works to be carried out, and, thereafter to arrive at Kakinada for the project. This schedule was revised due to change in the schedule of gangway donor vessel T-25. It is stated in the application that as per the revised plan, Nor Goliath was to reach Kakinada around 22.8.2022. The minutes of the meeting held on 26.5.2022 were exchanged between the parties which were on the basis of the discussion held between them on 25.5.2022 and 26.5.2022. It is stated that a detailed and productive meeting was again held on 30.5.2022 between the appellant and the respondent at Noida office of the respondent in which majority of the terms were amicably resolved, that is to say, out of 18 items activities which was open, the appellant and the respondent mutually agreed and closed 15 items. It is further stated that at the end of the meeting, the only open/pending items were (a) increase in mobilization fee (b) Covid cost and (c) IGST refund.

8. It is stated that neither during the joint meeting held on 30.5.2022 nor in the letter dated 31.5.2022 issued by the respondent was there any discussion or reference with respect to the validity of the LOI expiring on 31.5.2022.

9. The appellant, by letter dated 2.6.2022 did not agree to the proposal communicated by the respondent regarding the aforesaid three open/pending items and submitted, on the request of the respondents, a break down of additional mobilization cost of USD 1 million. In response thereto, the respondent issued a letter on 3.6.2022, expressing its difficulty to the proposal of the appellant with respect to the mobilization payment schedule for mobilization fee. The respondent offered a corporate guarantee as against the appellant's proposal for offering Stand by Letter of Credit8. By its letter, the respondent conveyed its commitment on payment of mobilization fee and again asked the appellant to review and confirm its acceptance on the proposal set out by the respondent in the said letter for taking steps towards execution of the GCC in furtherance of the LOI.

10. The appellant and the respondent had a virtual meeting on 6.6.2022 to discuss the draft SBLC circulated by the appellant in furtherance to closing the issue pertaining to mobilization fee. The respondent by e-mail on 6.6.2022 sent the draft SBLC with its comment on the basis of the discussion held at the virtual meeting. By e-mail dated 7.6.2022, the respondent also sought details of the swift code of the bank concerned, details of beneficiaries etc. It is stated that detailed meetings were held on 8.6.2022 and 9.6.2022 between the representatives of the appellant and the respondent at Noida office of the respondent. The appellant sent e-mails to the respondents on 12.6.2022 and 14.6.2022 and since no response was forthcoming from the respondents a reminder e-mail was sent on 16.6.2022.

11. The appellant received an e-mail from the respondents on 19.6.2022 stating that as the validity of the LOI had expired without any agreement on GCC and all the exhibits, the LOI stood null and void. Being aggrieved by the action of the respondent and declaring LOI null and void the aforesaid application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 was filed seeking the following reliefs:-

"It is, therefore, MOST RESPECTFULLY PRAYED that pending the commencement and completion of the Arbitral proceedings between the Petitioner and the Respondent under the Letter of Intent dated 28 April 2022, as extended from time to time (either expressly or by implication and conduct of parties) and for a period of 90 days thereafter, the Hon'ble Court may be pleased to:

I. Issue an appropriate order or direction of granting an injunction exercising the powers conferred upon it under Section 9 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 restraining the Respondent by itself or through its group, parent, subsidiary, holding, affiliate companies, servants and/or agents from entering into, awarding/executing, implementing the contract for provision of Accommodation Work Barge (AWB), with associate services required during the Hook-up and Commissioning of RUBY

FPSO for Reliance Industries Limited at MJ Field, in the block KG-DWN 98/3 (KG-D6), in the Bay of Bengal, East Coast of India, with a third party, for which the LOI was awarded in favour of the Applicant, and/or pass such order and further order as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case, otherwise, the applicants will suffer an irreparable loss and injury.

II. Issue an appropriate order or direction granting an ad interim relief ex parte and/or otherwise in terms of Prayer (1) above;

III. Award the costs of the present petition in favour of the Applicant and against the Respondent; and

IV. Issue such further appropriate orders or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit in the facts and circumstances of the present case in the best interest of justice, equity and good conscience."

12. In its counter affidavit, the respondent stated that under the terms of LOI the award of final contract was subject to agreement of GCC and had to be discussed and closed before 14.5.2022. In the meeting of 26.5.2022, the appellant proposed a total 18 deviations from the originally agreed terms. The parties tried to conclude and reach agreement on the deviations proposed but despite efforts and substantial opportunities granted to the appellant, the parties were not able to reach consensus on all the proposed deviations. After lapse of extended timeline, the respondent finally informed the appellant on 19.6.2022 that LOI has expired without an agreement on GCC and LOI stands null and void. The respondent has already awarded a contract to a third party, namely, Bhambani Shipping Limited, on 27.6.2022. The aforesaid application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 is infructuous and the remedy for the appellant, if any, lies in invoking arbitration. No steps have been taken by the appellant to initiate arbitration which shows their malafide intent. It is stated that LOI expired by efflux of time upon non-fulfillment of the condition precedent which provided that the LOI to award work would be binding on the parties only upon fulfillment of the condition precedent on or before 14.5.2022 by a formal confirmation letter which was admittedly never fulfilled. The contract being determinable in nature, no injunction can be granted. No injunction can be granted to prevent breach of a contract, the performance of which cannot be specifically enforced and the contract being determinable cannot be specifically enforced. It is stated that the LOI was not a concluded contract and thus no rights arise therefrom and, therefore, no injunction can be sought consequent to its termination. It is submitted that the appellant belatedly raised 18 fresh demands/deviations post issuance of LOI out of which, the respondent was, bonafide, negotiating to agree on some, even though they were substantially different and the main reasons which were attributed to the non-agreement on the terms of the GCC were, inter alia, as follows:

"(a) Increase in the mobilization fee by USD $ 1,000,000 beyond the agreed mobilization fee in LOI.

(b) Payment in foreign currency at Singapore account, which the respondent could not have made in view of Reserve Bank of India guidelines.

(c) Issue of SBLC (Stand by letter of credit) in favour of appellant's bank instead of the appellant itself so that appellant can secure loan from his banker and in case of non-payment by the appellant of the loan amount, respondent's SBLC shall be invoked.

(d) Covid cost shall be paid in addition to contract value with 15% mark-up.

(e) Cost for refund of Duty Draw back of the IGST paid on the AWB importation shall be paid in addition to contract value with 15% mark-up.

(f) Issue of contract in favour of new entity, (HBC RUBY PTE LTD. Singapore, special purpose vehicle) and parent company guarantee was not from the financially sound parent."

13. While considering the application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996, the learned Judge, after considering the record and the arguments raised on behalf of the parties, observed that there were number of contentious issues which remained unresolved between the parties in meetings held during the extended period, that is, on 26.05.2022 and 30.05.2022. The Court held that the LOI was not a concluded agreement, and that under a contract which is determinable at any event provided in the LOI, the action of the parties cannot be enforced through the Court and the same is barred by provisions of Section 14(d) of the Specific Relief Act, 19639. The learned Judge further held that after the LOI was held to be null and void on 19.06.2022, the respondents had entered into a contract with third party on 27.06.2022 which is before the filing of the application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 and, therefore, the application is not maintainable and the only remedy available to the applicant-company is for invocation of the arbitration clause. It was further held that the applicant (the appellant) cannnot claim any relief due to the contract having been made and entered on 27.06.2022 executed on a stamp paper dated 06.04.2022.

SUBMISSIONS OF THE LEARNED COUNSEL

14. On behalf of the appellant, it has been urged that where there is a case of fraud, injunction can be granted. Learned counsel has drawn attention of the Court to e-mails of 7.6.2022 (enclosed with the supplementary affidavit) sent on behalf of the appellant to the officials of the respondent alongwith drawings to demonstrate that the additional information regarding AWB was being supplied to the respondent even after 31.5.2022. Learned counsel has also referred to a report of 11.6.2022 made by a representative of the respondent in respect of survey done on 10.6.2022 of AWB, in which the overall condition of vessel of Nor Goliath was found to be good. Learned counsel has further referred to e-mails dated 3.6.2022 and, 11.6.2022, a letter of 11.6.2022 and, another e-mail of 12.6.2022 in an attempt to demonstrate that outstanding matters were attempted to be resolved with all earnestness.

15. It is stated that malafide conduct of the respondent and fraud played by it would vitiate all the acts done by the respondent towards awarding the contract dated 27.6.2022 to a third party, Bhambhani Shipping Limited, thereby making the said contract null and void. It is stated that LOI was declared as null and void on 19.6.2022 arbitrarily, unilaterally and wrongfully given the fact that the appellant and respondent were on the verge of finalizing and executing the GCC in furtherance of the LOI. Within a week from declaring the LOI to be null and void, the respondent discussed, negotiated, finalized and even executed a full-fledged contract with Bhambhani Shipping on 27.6.2022. The RFQ was floated by the respondent in March 2022 and the discussion between appellant and the respondent extended for a period over a month before LOI was executed on 28.4.2022. Post execution of LOI and commencement of works as provided under LOI, the respondent and the appellant discussed and negotiated other terms for a month and a half before they could execute the GCC and all exhibits. It was submitted that for a contract of such nature and quantum, it was practically impossible for the respondent and Bhambhani Shipping to negotiate, finalize and execute the contract in such a short span of time. The fraud on part of the respondent is sought to be demonstrated as follows:-

(i) The contract entered into between the respondent and Bhambhani Shipping on 27.6.2022 was on e-stamp paper issued on 6.4.2022 which hinges towards the fact that the respondent was negotiating 'parallelly' with Bhambhani Shipping and in order to give contract to Bhambhani Shipping circumvented the appellant by wrongfully and without any basis declaring the LOI null and void. Telford, which was engaged by and introduced to the respondent by the appellant, colluded with the respondent to provide their services and vessel, Nor Goliath, for the purposes of project, whereas, the bid of Bhambhani Shipping for the tender floated by the respondent at the relevant time was with regard to a vessel that was non-compliant as it did not meet the requirements as was desired for the purposes of performing the works for the project.

(ii) If the respondent genuinely wanted to award contract to a third party after declaring the LOI null and void, the respondent could have floated a fresh tender and invited fresh bids which was not done.

(iii) The appellant was continuing with its discussion with the respondent even after 31.5.2022 in good faith, and conduct of the respondent at that point of time did not give the appellant any reason for doubting its intentions. Several actions were taken by the appellant and the respondent even after 31.5.2022 in furtherance of their obligations under the LOI to achieve closure and execution of GCC.

16. It is contended that place of installing the gangway on the AWB was changed from UAE to Batam, Indonesia. Reference was made to letter issued by Telford on 29.3.2022 (Annexure-1 to the affidavit) to show that detailed engineering was needed to be done on the AWB after issuance of LOI and preliminary mobilization plan was attached giving a timeline. Further reference is made to the letter dated 9.5.2022 issued by Telford in favour of the appellant, committing to provide the vessel for the duration of project and operate jointly in India with the appellant-HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd. to support the client, the respondent-Samsung Heavy Industries Pvt. Ltd. To support his contention that fraud is a ground to grant injunction, learned counsel has referred the judgement of the Supreme Court in Bhaurao Dagdu Paralkar Vs. State of Maharashtra and others10. To buttress his argument that LOI was a concluded contract, learned counsel referred to judgement of Supreme Court in Dresser Rand S.A.Vs. Bindal Agro Chem Ltd and K.G.11. It has further been urged that LOI was not determinable in nature.

17. Learned counsel for the appellant in support of his contention that injunctive relief would be available where fraud is present, has referred to an article on injunction under the heading of 'Fraud and Deceit' appearing in Volume 37 of the Second Edition of American Jurisprudence, wherein it is stated that equity can enjoin the enforcement of all obligations fraudulently procured, and that equity will intervene in a proper case to restrain proceedings at law where, by reason of fraud, complete and adequate relief would be had at law. Further, the learned counsel has referred the Chapter on injunction (Volume-42, Second Edition of American Jurisprudence) to contend that equitable remedy of specific performance, and that by injunction against breach of a contract have much in common - the jurisdiction exercised is in substance the same, and the same general rule apply in one case as in the other. Moreover, reference has been to pages 49 and 51 of a book titled 'Estoppel by Conduct and Election' published by Thomson / Sweet & Maxwell (South Asian Edition 2013) to contend that, firstly, silence or inaction conveys a representation if it involves the breach of a legal duty to make some disclosure or take some action, and, secondly, there was a duty cast on the respondent under the LOI and the ongoing negotiations to inform the appellant of any parallel negotiations. It was a case of misrepresentation and negligence on part of the respondent in its failure to inform the appellant about parallel negotiations with a third party while it was continuing to negotiate with the appellant under the LOI, and therefore, the respondent is estopped from proceeding with the contract entered into between it and a third party. Under the circumstances misrepresentation itself would amount to fraud entitling the appellant to temporary injunction.

18. It is contended by learned counsel for the respondent, that firm positions of both the parties were at complete variance with each other and also at "deviance post LOI' as recorded in the minutes of meeting dated 26.5.2022. Since, there was no final consensus on all the issues, some being critical to the finalization of the contract, the LOI could not be treated as a completed contract and no injunction could be granted. The aforesaid newly incorporated company had no relationship with the appellant in favour of whom the LOI was awarded and commitment letter was issued by the vessel owner. It is stated that the inspection of vessel held on 10.6.2022 was an initial inspection before departure of AWB. As regard the additional deviation raised by the appellant to issue SBLC by the respondent in banker's name instead of appellant's name, the respondent tried to fulfill this deviation but failed as the respondent's bank had refused to issue SBLC in the name of the appellant's banker.

19. The learned counsel for the respondent has stated that the LOI was declared null and void by the communication dated 19.06.2022 and the application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 was filed on 28.06.2022 to injunct the respondent from entering into another contract with a third party. It was on 27.06.2022 that a new contract was entered into between the respondent and Bhambani Shipping and, therefore, it is contended that the maintainability of the application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 is itself questionable. The learned counsel has contended that the scheme of the Act of 1996 itself dictates a proximity in point time between filing of application under Section 9 and initiation of arbitration proceedings. It is contended that despite being well aware of the LOI being declared null and void on 19.06.2022 and that a new contract being entered into by the respondent with the third party on 27.06.2022, the appellant has chosen only to seek a relief from this Court under Section 9 of the Act 1996, rather than initiate arbitration proceedings as provided in the LOI itself. It is contended that, admittedly, though the binding of LOI was extended twice, all other terms and conditions as originally contained in the LOI remained unchanged. The learned counsel has referred to the judgments of the Supreme Court in the cases of Sundaram Finance Ltd. vs. NEPC India Ltd.12 and Firm Ashok Traders & Ors. vs. Gurumukh Das Saluja & Ors.13 to contend that when an application under Section 9 is filed before the commencement of the arbitration proceedings, there has to be a manifest intention on part of the applicant to take recourse to arbitral proceedings. Viewed in this light, it is contended, there is no manifest intention on part of the appellant to initiate arbitral proceedings. It is stated that the relief sought in the application filed under Section 9 is exhausted. It is further stated that the third party concerned namely, Bhambani Shipping has acted upon the contract executed between it and the respondent; and, after installation of the gangway at Batam, Indonesia, the vessel has arrived at Kakinada on 16.09.2022. The learned counsel has referred in detail to the provisions of the LOI and the 'condition precedent' contained therein which provides that the LOI shall be binding on the parties only on fulfilment of the condition precedent of the GCC being agreeable on or before 14.05.2022 by a formal confirmation letter. While referring to Annexure-12 of the affidavit filed in support of the stay application, the learned counsel has contended that it is a letter dated 22.05.2022 sent by the appellant to the respondent whereby the respondent was required to issue a revised LOI incorporating the 'Open Items'. A categorical statement was made by the appellant in the letter of 22.05.2022 that pending receipt of the revised LOI incorporating the 'Open Items', the appellant regretted that they were unable to proceed based on the respondent's current binding offer dated 20.05.2022. It was also mentioned in the said letter that time is of essence. The learned counsel has referred to minutes of the meeting dated 26.05.2022 (that is enclosed as Annexure-14 to the affidavit) between the appellant and the respondent which disclosed the firm position of the respondent.

20. Further reference was made to the minutes of the meeting dated 30.05.2022 (Annexure-16 to the affidavit) between the appellant and the respondent to contend that the issue of increase in mobilization of fee by which the appellant had demanded one million US dollars by reason of change in schedule/route/hike in bunker etc. was open. It is stated that the dispute arose due to no agreement regarding the mobilization fees and the appellant did not seek any further extension. It is stated that breach of the terms of the LOI was made by the appellant and as such the LOI expired. The contention is that though the letter of 19.06.2022 issued by the respondent declared the LOI null and void, the validity of the arbitration clause therein continues to exist. It is stated that the so-called inspection report that is being referred to by the appellant is not a report after installation of the gangway as envisaged in the LOI, but is a preliminary report regarding the condition of the AWB.

ANALYSIS:

21. The sole point for determination is whether the appellant is entitled to an injunction under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 in view of the facts and circumstances of the present case.

22. Section 9 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, as amended by Act No.3 of 2016, reads as follows:-

"9. Interim measures, etc. by Court. [1] A party may, before or during arbitral proceedings or at any time after the making of the arbitral award but before it is enforced in accordance with section 36, apply to a court-

(i) for the appointment of a guardian for a minor or a person of unsound mind for the purposes of arbitral proceedings; or

(ii) for an interim measure of protection in respect of any of the following matters, namely:

(a) the preservation, interim custody or sale of any goods which are the subject-matter of the arbitration agreement;

(b) securing the amount in dispute in the arbitration;

(c) the detention, preservation or inspection of any property or thing which is the subject-matter of the dispute in arbitration, or as to which any question may arise therein and authorising for any of the aforesaid purposes any person to enter upon any land or building in the possession of any party, or authorising any samples to be taken or any observation to be made, or experiment to be tried, which may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information or evidence;

(d) interim injunction or the appointment of a receiver;

(e) such other interim measure of protection as may appear to the court to be just and convenient, and the Court shall have the same power for making orders as it has for the purpose of, and in relation to, any proceedings before it.

(2) Where, before the commencement of the arbitral proceedings, a Court passes an order for any interim measure of protection under sub-section (1), the arbitral proceedings shall be commenced within a period of ninety days from the date of such order or within such further time as the Court may determine.

(3) Once the arbitral tribunal has been constituted, the Court shall not entertain an application under sub-section (1), unless the Court finds that circumstances exist which may not render the remedy provided under section 17 efficacious."

23. The principles for grant of an injunction, as provided under the Act of 1963, would apply to the present case. Sections 9 to 25 fall under Chapter II of the Act of 1963. Section 10 of the Act of 1963 deals with cases in which specific performance of contract would be enforceable and it reads as follows:-

"10. Specific performance in respect of contracts.- The specific performance of a contract shall be enforced by the court subject to the provisions contained in sub-section (2) of section 11, section 14 and section 16."

Section 11 of the Act of 1963 pertains to specific performance of contract connected with trusts. Section 16 pertains to personal bars to relief, which, in the present case is not material. Sections 14 reads as follows:-

"14. Contracts not specifically enforceable.- The following contracts cannot be specifically enforced, namely:-

(a) where a party to the contract has obtained substituted performance of contract in accordance with the provisions of section 20;

(b) a contract, the performance of which involves the performance of a continuous duty which the court cannot supervise;

(c) a contract which is so dependent on the personal qualifications of the parties that the court cannot enforce specific performance of its material terms; and

(d) a contract which is in its nature determinable."

It is pertinent to refer to the provisions of Section 17 of the Act of 1963 which are as follows:-

17. Contract to sell or let property by one who has no title, not specifically enforceable.--(1) A contract to sell or let any immovable property cannot be specifically enforced in favour of a vendor or lessor--

(a) who, knowing himself not to have any title to the property, has contracted to sell or let the property;

(b) who, though he entered into the contract believing that he had a good title to the property, cannot at the time fixed by the parties or by the court for the completion of the sale or letting, give the purchaser or lessee a title free from reasonable doubt.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall also apply, as far as may be, to contracts for the sale or hire of movable property.

Sections 38 and 41 of the Act of 1963 read as follows:-

"38. Perpetual injunction when granted.-(1) Subject to the other provisions contained in or referred to by this Chapter, a perpetual injunction may be granted to the plaintiff to prevent the breach of an obligation existing in his favour, whether expressly or by implication.

(2) When any such obligation arises from contract, the court shall be guided by the rules and provisions contained in Chapter II.

(3) When the defendant invades or threatens to invade the plaintiff's right to, or enjoyment of, property, the court may grant a perpetual injunction in the following cases, namely:

(a) where the defendant is trustee of the property for the plaintiff,

(b) where there exists no standard for ascertaining the actual damage caused, or likely to be caused, by the invasion;

(c) where the invasion is such that compensation in money would not afford adequate relief;

(d) where the injunction is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of judicial proceedings.

41. Injunction when refused.--An injunction cannot be granted--

(a)to restrain any person from prosecuting a judicial proceeding pending at the institution of the suit in which the injunction is sought, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of proceedings;

(b)to restrain any person from instituting or prosecuting any proceeding in a court not sub-ordinate to that from which the injunction is sought;

(c)to restrain any person from applying to any legislative body;

(d)to restrain any person from instituting or prosecuting any proceeding in a criminal matter;

(e)to prevent the breach of a contract the performance of which would not be specifically enforced;

(f)to prevent, on the ground of nuisance, an act of which it is not reasonably clear that it will be a nuisance;

(g)to prevent a continuing breach in which the plaintiff has acquiesced;

(h)when equally efficacious relief can certainly be obtained by any other usual mode of proceeding except in case of breach of trust;

(ha) if it would impede or delay the progress or completion of any infrastructure project or interfere with the continued provision of relevant facility related thereto or services being the subject matter of such project.

(i)when the conduct of the plaintiff or his agents has been such as to disentitle him to the assistance of the court;

(j)when the plaintiff has no personal interest in the matter."

Clause (a) of the proviso (Uttar Pradesh Amendment) to sub-rule (2) of Rule 2 of Order 39 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 190814 prohibits the grant of temporary injunction where no perpetual injunction could be granted in view of the provisions of Sections 38 and 41 of the Act of 1963.

24. It is admitted to the parties that by a communication dated 19.06.2022, the respondent informed the appellant that the LOI had expired without an agreement of GCC and the LOI stands null and void. The LOI dated 28.04.2022 reads as follows:-

"To : HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd. (Singapore)

Attn. : Mr. Hasan Basma

Date : 28th April 2022

Subject: Letter of Intent to Award the Work

Dear Sir,

Intent

By this Letter of Intent (LOI), Samsung Heavy Industries India Pvt. Ltd., a company registered under the Companies Act, 1956 of the Republic of India and having its registered office at Logix Cyber Park, Wing-B, 1st Floor, C-28 & 29, Sector 62, Noida 201301, Uttar Pradesh, India (hereinafter called the "Contractor") expresses its firm intention to award the following Work of Accommodation Work Barge (AWB) to:

HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd. (UEN No. 201502262C), a company incorporated under the laws of the Singapore and having its registered office at 77 Science Park Drive, #02-03 Cintech III Building, 118256 Singapore (hereinafter referred to as "Subcontractor").

Contractor and Subcontractor are hereinafter referred to individually as a "Party" and collectively as the "Parties."

Work

The Subcontractor's scope of work ("Work") includes, but is not limited to the following:

(a) Provision of Accommodation Work Barge (AWB), namely "Nor Goliath" retrofitted (IMO 9396933) with electric-hydraulic telescopic personnel transfer gangway; (b) Accommodation Work Barge shall be a minimum DP-3. The AWB will normally remain stationed along-side RUBY FPSO at MJ Field, east coast offshore India.

(c) AWB shall have minimum capacity to provide accommodation for 250 Contractor's personnel apart from Marine crew and Catering & Housekeeping crew.

(d) The AWB shall also be equipped with suitable hardware and software for working in "Reference follow target mode system" in tandem with the Turret moored weather vanning FPSO, without disconnecting.

(e) Subcontractor shall provide retractable with 36 Meter electric-hydraulic telescopic (Marine Aluminium) personnel transfer gangway with the AWB for safe and easy transfer of personnel to FPSO.

(f) Subcontractor shall be responsible for maintaining 90% gangway connection throughout the offshore campaign.

Purpose of this LOI

While Contractor and Subcontractor are negotiating the outstanding terms and conditions of the Work, this LOI authorizes Subcontractor to immediately commence the Work to avoid any delay to the schedule of Work including Detailed Design Pedestal & Gangway Foundation, including Procurement of Material, Fabrication of Pedestal & Gangway Foundation and Install Gangway Pedestal. This LOI shall be superseded by a full-fledged contract under which the Subcontractor shall continue to perform the Work ("Contract") at the date of execution of such Contract upon the Parties reaching an agreement on the outstanding terms and conditions.

Reference Documents

(a) General Conditions of Contract and the Exhibits provided by Contractor to Subcontractor at the time of floating the Request for Quote (RFQ) currently under negotiation.

(b) Subcontractor's Quotation reference number: HBA-11000-77-10-BID-006-R6 received via e-mail dated 21 April, 2022 and subsequent email dated 26th April, 2022 (timing 18:45).

Offer Price

Subcontractor has submitted a quotation for completion of the Work (the "Offer") as per below:

S No	Description	UOM	Total Rate in US$ including WHT (A)	WHT @ 4.368 % IN US$(B)	Cost US$ (C=A-B)

b. Helideck-10% of operating day rate.

3. Accommodation work barge shall depart from Walvisbay, Namibia and Subcontractor shall install retractable 36 Meter electric-hydraulic telescopic gangway from other vessel namely Telford 25 to "Nor Goliath". This installation activity shall be carried out at UAE.

Post Installation of gangway, Company / Contractor shall inspect the accommodation barge. Any observation and comments during the inspection are to be satisfactorily resolved by the Subcontractor to make the accommodation work barge "fit for purpose", before departure of vessel from UAE to Kakinada.

4. Subcontractor shall refund demobilization fees to Contractor if accommodation work barge is remobilized and deployed by Subcontractor Group at any location within Indian territorial waters, Indian contagious zone or Indian exclusive economic zone or for any other operator within 90 days after demobilization under the Contract.

Contractor intends to accept such offer subject to condition precedent and formal signing of contract agreement by Contractor and Subcontractor.

Firm Charter period with extensions

120-days Firm Period with an option to extend the period by 2X30 days plus 4X15 days.

Acceptance and Performance of Work

1. Subcontractor is to confirm its acceptance of this LOI by signing in duplicate by a duly authorized officer, retaining one copy and returning the other copy to Contractor within COB of the 28th day April 2022.

2. Subcontractor to confirm and commit the vessel "NOR Goliath" availability for the duration of "Firm Charter Period with Extension" as indicated above, with commitment letter from vessel owner.

Condition precedent

1. General Condition of Contract and all the exhibits shall be agreeable as circulated at the time of floating of RFQ dated 22nd March 2022, read together with Exception and deviation as discussed during bid clarification meetings till 27th April 2022.

This Letter of Intent to Award the Work shall be binding on the parties only upon the fulfillment of the above condition precedent on or before 14th May 2022 by a formal confirmation letter.

Governing Law and Dispute Resolution

This LOI shall be interpreted and in all respects shall be governed and construed in accordance with the laws of India. Any claims, disputes or differences arising out of or in connection with this LOL shall be finally settled by arbitration in accordance with the then-current Arbitration Rules of Singapore International Arbitration Centre. The seat of arbitration shall be Singapore.

Upon such acceptance of this LOI, Subcontractor shall commence the Work immediately on the 28th day of April 2022, including Detailed Design of Pedestal & Gangway Foundation. Contractor shall start sharing its documents for performance of Work by Subcontractor."

25. Given the scope of the work of the Sub-contractor, that is, the appellant, the LOI authorised the appellant to immediately commence the work to avoid any delay to the schedule of work. Under the heading of "Purpose of this LOI", it is mentioned that the LOI shall be superseded by a full-fledged contract under which the appellant shall continue to perform the work at the date of execution of such contract upon the parties reaching an agreement on the outstanding terms and conditions. The LOI refers to the offer price of the appellant submitted through a quotation for completion of the work. In the "Notes" appended thereto, it is agreed that the Contractor, that is, the respondent, "intends" to accept the "offer" subject to condition precedent and formal signing of contract agreement by the appellant and the respondent. The 'condition precedent' provides that the GCC shall be agreeable as circulated at the time of floating of RFQ dated 22.03.2022 read together with exception and deviation as discussed during bid clarification meetings till 27.04.2022 and that LOI to award the work shall be binding on the parties only upon the fulfilment of the above condition precedent on or before 14.05.2022 by a formal confirmation letter. Under the heading of Governing Law and Dispute Resolution, it is provided that the LOI would be interpreted and, in all respects, shall be governed and construed in accordance with laws of India. Any claims, disputes or differences arising out of or in connection with the LOI shall be finally settled by arbitration in accordance with the then-current Arbitration Rules of Singapore International Arbitration Centre and the seat of arbitration shall be at Singapore.

26. It is an admitted fact that under the LOI the appellant had to make provision of AWB, namely "Nor Goliath" that required retrofitting with electric-hydraulic telescopic personnel transfer gangway. The fact that the AWB was a vessel of which a third party, namely, Telford, was the disponent owner, is also admitted. The entire scope of work of the appellant was related to this AWB which fact is reflected in the LOI. Though the minutes of the meetings dated 11.05.2022 and 17.05.2022 (Annexure 4 and 8 respectively) refer to the appellant and Telford as 'sub-contractor', there is no signature of Telford on the minutes. Telford has also not been referred to in the LOI at all. Telford is admittedly the disponent owner of the AWB. In Sara International Ltd. v. Arab Shipping Co. (P) Ltd.15 the court referred to 'disponent owner' as a term which, according to the Maritime dictionary, means a person or company which has commercial control over a vessel's operation without owning the ship. The respondent has been referred to as the Contractor in the LOI and the appellant as the Sub-contractor. A bare reading of the LOI evinces that under the contract (GCC) contemplated thereunder, respondent was primarily to hire the AWB from the appellant. A contract to hire movable property cannot be specifically enforced in favour of a vendor or lessor who, knowing himself not to have any title to the property, has contracted to sell or let the property. This is the mandate of Section 17 of the Act of 1963. Therefore, the appellant is not entitled to specific performance of the LOI.

27. For considering the submission raised by the learned counsel for the appellant that the LOI is a concluded contract, reference needs to be made to the following terms of the LOI :

(i) As stated above, under the heading of 'Purpose of this LOI' the LOI was to be superseded by a full-fledged contract under which the respondent (sub-contractor) was to continue to perform the work at the date of execution of such contract upon the parties reaching an agreement on the outstanding terms and conditions.

(ii) Under the heading of 'Offer Price', after noting the price quotation submitted by the appellant, four points are mentioned under the sub-head of notes, whereafter a categorical condition has been provided as follows:-

"Contractor intends to accept such offer subject to condition precedent and formal signing of contract agreement by Contractor and Sub-contractor".

(iii) Under the heading of 'Condition precedent', it is mentioned that GCC shall be agreeable as circulated at the time of floating of RFQ dated 22.03.2022, read together with exception and deviation as discussed during bid clarification meetings till 27.04.2022. It is further stated that the LOI to Award the Work shall be binding on the parties only upon the fulfillment of the above condition precedent on or before 14.05.2022 by a formal confirmation letter.

Thus, it is clear from the aforementioned provisions of the LOI that the LOI was to be superseded by the GCC and the LOI was further subject to the condition precedent as mentioned above. It is important to mention here that the GCC was circulated at the time of floating of RFQ dated 22.02.2022, but the same has not been brought on record or produced by the appellant.

28. The learned counsel has made reference to the case of Dresser Rand to urge that the LOI was a concluded contract and has drawn attention of this Court specifically to paragraph nos. 39 and 40 thereof which reads as follows:-

"39. It is now well settled that a letter of intent merely indicates a party's intention to enter into a contract with the other party in future. A letter of intent is not intended to bind either party ultimately to enter into any contract. This Court while considering the nature of a letter of intent, observed thus in Rajasthan Coop. Dairy Federation Ltd. v. Maha Laxmi Mingrate Marketing Service (P) Ltd. [(1996) 10 SCC 405] : (SCC p. 408, para 7)

"The letter of intent merely expressed an intention to enter into a contract. ... There was no binding legal relationship between the appellant and Respondent 1 at this stage and the appellant was entitled to look at the totality of circumstances in deciding whether to enter into a binding contract with Respondent 1 or not."

40. It is no doubt true that a letter of intent may be construed as a letter of acceptance if such intention is evident from its terms. It is not uncommon in contracts involving detailed procedure, in order to save time, to issue a letter of intent communicating the acceptance of the offer and asking the contractor to start the work with a stipulation that the detailed contract would be drawn up later. If such a letter is issued to the contractor, though it may be termed as a letter of intent, it may amount to acceptance of the offer resulting in a concluded contract between the parties. But the question whether the letter of intent is merely an expression of an intention to place an order in future or whether it is a final acceptance of the offer thereby leading to a contract, is a matter that has to be decided with reference to the terms of the letter. Chitty on Contracts (para 2.115 in Vol. 1, 28th Edn.) observes that where parties to a transaction exchanged letters of intent, the terms of such letters may, of course, negative contractual intention; but, on the other hand, where the language does not negative contractual intention, it is open to the courts to hold that the parties are bound by the document; and the courts will, in particular, be inclined to do so where the parties have acted on the document for a long period of time or have expended considerable sums of money in reliance on it. Be that as it may."

29. Therefore, the terms of the LOI have to be looked into to ascertain whether the LOI is merely an expression of an intention to place an order in future or whether it is a final acceptance of the offer thereby leading to a contract. The court observed that the terms of a LOI may negative contractual intention; but, on the other hand, where the language does not negative contractual intention, it is open to the courts to hold that the parties are bound by the document; and the courts will, in particular, be inclined to do so where the parties have acted on the document for a long period of time or have expended considerable sums of money in reliance on it. However, it is pertinent to note, the Supreme court did not treat the letters of intent to be a concluded contract.

30. It is pertinent to mention here that in the case of Dresser Rand, the Supreme Court was considering two letters of intent issued on a letter head of a company other than the purchaser company in respect of a contract that was to be entered into between the parties which was referred to as "General Conditions of Purchase'. The aforesaid observation of the Supreme Court was made during its consideration of the question "Whether Letters of Intent dated 12.6.1991 contain an Arbitration Agreement'. In paragraphs nos. 42 and 43 of the judgement, the court held as follows:-

"42. When all the terms of the letter of intent are harmoniously read, what is clear is that letters of intent merely required the supplier to keep the offer open till 31-8-1991 with reference to the price and delivery schedule. They also made it clear that if the purchase orders were not placed and letter of credit was not opened by 31-8-1991, dr was at liberty to alter the price and the delivery schedule. In other words, the effect of letters of intent was that if the purchase orders were placed and LCs were opened by 31-8-1991, dr would be bound to effect supply within 15½ months, at the prices stated in the letter of intent. Therefore, it may not be possible to treat the letters of intent as purchase orders.

43. Even if we assume that the letters of intent were intended to contracts for supply of machinery in accordance with the terms contained therein, it may only enable dr to sue for damages or sue for the expenses incurred in anticipation of the order and opening of LC. But that will not be of any assistance to contend that there was an arbitration agreement between the parties."

31. In the case of South Eastern Coalfields Limited and others Vs. S. Kumar's Associates AKM (JV)16, a letter of intent was issued awarding the contract for a total work of Rs 387.40 Lacs. The letter of intent directed the respondents to mobilise equipment for executing the work to handle minimum allotted cu.m. per day and directed to "commence the work immediately'. The respondent was called upon to deposit performance security deposit for a sum total to 5 % of annualized contract amount within 28 days. The letter of intent provided that the work order would be issued and the agreement would be issued at the area office and that agreement may be concluded within 28 days as per provisions of the tender document. In pursuance of the letter of intent, the respondent mobilised resources at site but due to machinery breakdown the work had to be suspended for reasons beyond the control of the respondent. After issuance of show cause notice the work awarded to the respondent was terminated and the work was got executed by another contractor. The Supreme Court noted the terms of the letter of intent as well as the Notice inviting Tender. While referring to the judgement in Dresser Rand, the Court observed that there is little doubt over the proposition that an LOI merely indicates a party's intention to enter into a contract with the other party in future. The court held that no binding relationship between the parties at this stage emerges and the totality of the circumstances have to be considered in each case. The Court also observed that in the case of Dresser Rand, on a holistic analysis it was held that the LOI could not be interpreted as a work order.

32. In the present case, there has been exchange of numerous correspondence and meetings, some of which were in respect of technical aspects of the AWB. There is no material on record to conclusively demonstrate what all work was actually done on the AWB by the appellant which was to be provided to it by Telford. Admittedly, the gangway was not installed on the AWB during the currency of the LOI. To show that substantial costs has been incurred by the appellant, the learned counsel has placed for our perusal a single page document enclosed as Annexure No. 33 to the affidavit (page 166) reflecting certain figures in US dollars that is, purportedly, a quantification of expenses incurred by the appellant. Pertinently, it has not been pointed out whether this document was part of the record before the learned Judge whose order is under challenge in the present appeal. In any view of the matter, this document does not bear any title or date, nor is it stamped nor signed. Reference of this document is in paragraph no. 47 of the affidavit in which it is stated as follows:-

"That the Appellant has incurred substantial costs for the work done after the issuance of the LOI for the Project. A true copy of the List of Expenses is being filed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE No. 33 to this affidavit."

33. The averments regarding expenses are vague and the document of the so called expenses also cannot be given credibility for the reason that it is undated, unstamped, unsigned and without any title. It is pertinent to mention here that in paragraph no. 56 of the affidavit filed in support of the application under Section 9 of the Act of 1996 filed before the learned Judge, merely a vague statement had been made that :

"the applicant had diligently work hard since the LOI was signed and accepted in April, 2020. The applicant has also already incurred substantial costs towards the said project. The applicant has already incurred actual costs to the tune of about USD 2,500,000. The effect of the respondent contracting out by declaring the LOI null and void will cause grave prejudice, irreparable injury and severe further monetary losses and damages to the applicant.'"

No corresponding enclosures were shown to have been filed. Thus, even in the affidavit filed in support of the application u/s 9 of the Act of 1996 before the learned Judge, the averments regarding expenditure are vague and unsubstantiated.

34. It would be pertinent to refer to the contents of paragraph no. 57 of the affidavit filed by the appellants before the learned Judge which reads as under:-

"57. That the LOI dated 28.04.2022 was a partial contract executed between the Applicant and the Respondent, as it authorised the Applicant to immediately commence the work to avoid any delay to the schedule of the work including Detailed Design Pedestal & Gangway Foundation, including Procurement of material, Fabrication of Pedestal & Gangway Foundation and Install Gangway Pedestal (Work). The Respondent, upon execution and acceptance of the LOI, was also required to commence sharing its documents for performance of the Work by the Applicant. The LOI was to be subsequently superseded by a full-fledged contract i.e. the GCC and all exhibits thereto, under which, the Applicant was required to continue to perform the Work at the date of execution of GCC, upon the Applicant and the Respondent reaching finalizing the final details of the outstanding terms and conditions. Therefore, the Applicant has a right to enforce its rights under the LOI dated 28.04.2022, as extended from time to time (either expressly or by implication and conduct of parties)."

35. Thus, the observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Dresser Rand are of no help to the appellant in the facts and circumstances of the instant case. Therefore, it has been correctly held by the learned Judge that the LOI is not a concluded contract between the parties, and that it is determinable. This, however, has no bearing on the current validity of the arbitration clause mentioned therein.

36. Another submission raised by the learned counsel for the appellant requires consideration, that the correspondence between the parties after 31.05.2022 reflects that the terms of the GCC were being discussed which were in the process of being finalised, and therefore, contract came into existence between them through correspondence as well as in view of the meetings that had taken place between the representatives of the parties.

37. As reflected in the aforementioned statements and submissions made on behalf of the appellant, the binding of the LOI was extended twice, the second one being till 31.5.2022, but it was provided in the letters communicating the extensions that all other terms and conditions originally contained in the LOI would remain unchanged. That is to say, the respondent's intention to accept the 'offer' of the appellant being subject to 'condition precedent' and formal signing of contract agreement by the appellant and respondent, remained unchanged and intact.

38. It was by the letter dated 22.05.2022 of the appellant (Annexure No.12), which was in response to an email of the respondent dated 20.05.2022 extending the binding of the LOI till 31.05.2022, that the appellant asked the respondent to issue a revised LOI duly incorporating the 'Open Items', the list of which was attached to that letter of 22.05.2022. The appellant made a categorical statement in that letter that pending receipt of the revised LOI incorporating the 'Open Items', it regretted that it was unable to proceed based on the appellant's current binding offer dated 20.05.2022. It would be pertinent to quote the letter dated 22.05.2022 sent by the appellant to the respondent alongwith an Appendix-1 enclosed thereto.

Dear Sir/Madam,

SUBJECT: RESPONSE TO CONTRACTOR LETTER SN2333-SHI-HBA-SE-LTR-0003

Thank you for your letter (email dated 20th May 2022, reference SN2333-SHI-HBA-SE-LTR-0003) offering to extend the validity of your Letter of Intent (LoI) to award the work till 31st May 2022.

We note that whilst you acknowledge our letter dated 20 May 2022 and our critical open items list therein, your "binding" offer of extension is on the same terms and conditions as per your original letter of intent (LOI) dated 28th April 2022. We request you to issue a revised LOI duly incorporating the open items, the list of which is attached herewith as Appendix 1 - Open Items.

Owners' insistence on incorporating the said open items in the revised LOI is imperative and critical to manage project risk, satisfy mandatory financier's requirements and maintain vessel availability. Further delays to the issuance of the revised LOI, only aggravate this risk and increase the exposure and financial liabilities in a volatile and unpredictable market.

We urge contractor to address our critical point list in the LOI and commit to negotiate the remaining open legal and commercial items in good faith As time is of essence, we respectfully and humbly attach a draft extension letter for your consideration. A face-to-face meeting should then be held asap to facilitate the finalisation of the contract. We are on standby for face-to-face meeting starting 23rd May (Monday).

Meanwhile, pending receipt of the revised LOI, incorporating the open items, we regret that we are unable to proceed based on your current binding offer dated 20 May 2022. A face-to-face meeting at your Noida Office will be constructive and fruitful after all the critical and open items of the LOI are duly addressed, accepted in principle and revised letter of extension is issued not later than 23rd May 2022 close of business (COB) in India.

Thank you

Yours Faithfully,

for HBA OFFSHORE PTE. LIMITED/HBA RUBY PTE. LTD

APPENDIX 1-CRITICAL OPEN CONTRACTUAL / COMMERCIAL ITEMS as requested by Owners

1. FIRM CHARTER PERIOD: We have discussed with the Owners and the firm charter period of 120 days which was flatly rejected by the Owners as they have an option for longer term projects. Owners will accept a firm charter period of 150 days subject to agreement on the below open items.

2. EXTENSION NOTICE: Kindly appreciate that the marine vessel of such high-end configuration as of Nor Goliath are high in demand worldwide. For better planning the charters, an advance notice of 30 days prior to execution of extension would be desirable. We propose that in addition to 30 days' notice. However, Contractor can reconfirm the extension on 14th day or later prior to expiry of the charter period.

3. PAYMENT GUARANTEE: For a seamless service with commercial comfort, security of payment is necessary. Request for Corporate Guarantee was towards that objective. However, to close this matter amicably with Contractor, we propose commitment letter in any other form and manner to be discussed and agreed such as side letter jointly agree on the contract working mechanism.

5. MOBILISATION FEE: Mobilization of Vessel requires immediate funds. The mobilization fee milestone proposed are as follows :

US$3.5m - upon signing of the Contract, against Bank Guarantee of an equivalent amount, US$3.5m.

Further, HBA shall raise an invoice of US$2.75m upon departure of vessel from Cape Town which shall be payable immediately upon (1st working day) vessel arrival in Kakinada, India.

The remaining mobilization fee shall be payable within three working days upon the vessel custom clearance in Kakinada, India.

6 OVERALL LIMITATION OF LIABILITY - Whilst our original offer was 20% overall cap to liability, we however as to conclude the contract matters, are agreeable to 25% of the Contract value as overall cap.

7 LIQUIDATED DAMAGES: Subcontractor originally requested or 1% per day to the max of 5% of the mobilization fees. We may be agreeable to 4% per day to max of 20% of mobilization fees subject to a grace period to be discussed & agreed.

OTHER ITEMS : Other outstanding / additional issues related to payment, invoicing, COVID, force majeure, reduced rates, suspension etc are to be discussed and agreed after closure of critical open items as listed above, to maintain this offer."

39. In reply to the aforesaid, the respondent wrote a letter dated 25.05.2022, which is as follows:-

"To, HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd.

Subject : Letter of Intent to Award the Work

Dear Sir,

Contractor writes with reference to Subcontractor's letter : HBA-21015-LTR-SHI-0002 dated 22 May 2022 which is in response to Contractor's letter: SN2333-SHI-HBA-SE-LTR-0003 dated 20 May 2022.

Contractor has noted 'Appendix 1-Critical open contractual / commercial items as requested by owners' as attached in Subcontractor's referred letter and wishes to inform that there are some other pending items like a) Invoicing / Taxes, b) Catering / Laundry Services, c) Change in Contract Entity d) Window Mechanism etc. as indicated via Contractor's email dated 19th May 2022 (Refer to Attachment #1).

Contractor reiterates that change in the 'Firm Charter period with extensions' mentioned in the LOI (i.e. "120-days Firm Period with an option to extend the period by 2 x 30 days plus 4 x 15 days") shall not be considered and requests Subcontractor to maintain the same in line with earlier acknowledgement and agreement of LOI dated 28 April 2022. Other pending/open items including contract document, can be discussed towards signing of Contract.

Subcontractor may visit Contractor's Noida office on Thursday the 26th May 2022 for face to face meeting to discuss and conclude open items and to finalize the Contract accordingly.

Sincerely yours,

Joonho Min

Managing Director

41. Thereafter, while referring to the letter dated 31.05.2022 sent by the respondent to the appellant under the subject "the Letter of Intent to Award the Work", the appellant, by a letter dated 02.06.2022, wrote as follows:-

"Date : 02/06/2022
Our Ref: HBA-21015-LTR-SHI-0002

Samung Heavy Industries India Pvt. Ltd.

NOIDA-201301 (U.P.) INDIA

SUBJECT: SUBCONTRACTOR'S RESPONSE TO CONTRACTOR'S LETTER UNDER SUBJECT "THE LETTER OF INTENT TO AWARD THE WORK" DATED 31st MAY 2022

We wish to thank by Samsung Heavy Industries India Pvt. Ltd. (the "Contractor") for the letter of Intent to Award (LOI) dated 31st May 2022, in favor of HBA Offshore Pte Ltd or nominee (the "Subcontractor"), (letter reference number SN2333-SHI-HBA-SE-LTR-0005) and the Minutes of meeting dated 30th May 2022 (Ref: SN2333-SHI-HBA-SE-MOM-002)

Subcontractor rejects Contractor's letter as follows:

1. Mobilization Fees - The requirement for additional USD 1 (one) million is due to the delay in award of the contract in a fast changing and rising inflation market. As a prudent Subcontractor and to assist Contractor and Company maintain the now critical schedule, Subcontractor has had to rearrange the delivery plans to suit these changes and pay additional reservation fees. Meanwhile the Gangway donor vessel has been redeployed for new charter and hence vessel owners are forced to dismantle the gangway immediately and store ashore at Batam. The vessel "Nor Goliath" is now required to relocate from Cape Town to Batam in order to install the gangway on board. The breakdown associated cost has been provided vide our email dated "31st May 94052022" as attached.

2. Payment Schedule-As per the guidance received from our tax lawyers

Nangia Andersen, the time frame for setting up Project Office (PO) in India including GST registration, PAN, bank accounts etc., is likely to be in excess of 4 to 6 weeks after contract signing hence, payment of proposed initial part mobilization fees via Project Office (PO) is unlikely to be completed prior required mobilization of the Nor Goliath. The Subcontractor would like to highlight that the total cost for mobilization of the vessel to Kakinada is in excess of USD 7 Million.

3. Refund of Duty drawback - The Subcontractor reiterates that the cost and the responsibility for such activities are outside the scope of the services offered by the Subcontractor. This activity shall be undertaken by the Contractor.

4. COVID-Currently the Government of India/Competent Authority does not call for any COVID related restrictions for marine crew arriving in India. However additional COVID related preventive measures, specifically instructed by the Company or the Contractor or any future COVID related requirements shall be implemented by the Subcontractor on Cost plus basis.

The Subcontractor proposes as follows:

a. The Subcontractor urges Contractor to accept the additional mobilization (USD 1 Million) towards cost due to reasons beyond our control. Failure to do so promptly will escalate the mobilization cost further.

b. The Subcontractor proposes to receive Stand by Letter of Credit (SBLC) equivalent to full mobilization value from Contractor's bank as per the mutually agreed format, valid until arrival of vessel in Kakinada Port, India. The Subcontractor is willing to cooperate for mobilization and must have an non revocable Stand by Letter of Credit (SBLC) in order to make necessary arrangement through internal financing to facilitate payment of the mobilization cost incurred for Contractor's Project. In such case no advance payment will be required from the Contractor until the vessel is physically available in Indian waters.

The Subcontractor urges the acceptance of above open items by the contractors as soon as possible and not later than COB 2nd June 2022 followed by formal mutually agreed SBLC format by COB 3rd June 2022. The proposed Vessel inspection at Cape Town on 4-6th June 2022 is subject to agreement being reached on the open items. Any delays in Vessel's inspection will adversely impact the arrival schedule at Kakinada port.

Attachment 1: Email dated "31st May 2022"; Subject: Additional mob cost breakdown.

Should you need any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Thank you.

42. By the letter dated 03.06.2022, the respondent replied to the appellant's letter dated 02.06.2022 as follows:-

"To, HBA Offshore Pte. Ltd.
Attn. Mr. Hassan Basma
Date 25th May 2022 Your Ref.: HBA-21015-LTR-SHI-0002

Total Page 1 Our Ref.: SN2333-SHI-HBA SE-LTR-0006

Subject Letter of Intent to Award the Work

Dear Sir,

Contractor writes with reference to Subcontractor's letter : HBA-21015-LTR-SHI-0002 and HBA-21015 LTR-SHI-0002 REV dated 02nd June 2022, which was in response to Contractor's letter: SN2333-SHI HBA-SE-LTR-0005 dated 31st May 2022.

Contractor wishes to highlight that Contractor has accepted and closed most of the deviation items raised by Subcontractor post signing of LOI (e.g. Zero Rate, Mobilization Window, Extension Notice, Mutual Indemnity, Contract Entity Change, Overall Liability. LD etc.) and via referred letter, Contractor has identified only 4 (four) items for Subcontractor's acceptance.

However, Subcontractor has almost maintained its position for all these 4 (four) Items. Contractor is hereby clarifying his difficulties in accepting these items:

1. Mobilization Fee: This additional Mobilization Fee of 1M USD is introduced by Subcontractor due to change in gangway installation location after finalization of overall price and acceptance of LOI. Hence, it is not acceptable to such sudden change of increase in Mobilization Fee as it has been already approved previously by the relevant project stakeholders including Company.

However, considering project benefit and assistance to Subcontractor's request, Contractor is willing to discuss further with Subcontractor and Contractor is under discussion with Company for an amicable resolution.

2. Payment Schedule for Mobilization Fee: Contractor has already clarified that based on Subcontractor's demand, Contractor is ready to pay 3.5M USD against Mobilization Fee anytime, upon receipt of tax invoice with BG from Subcontractor's Project Office.

However, in case, Subcontractor still proposes to receive Mobilization Fee together on arrival of AWB to Kakinada, Subcontractor may kindly note that Subcontractor's demand of SBLC from Contractor in lieu of any advance is difficult, as it is not a process normally allowed by Contractor.

Under the above restriction and compliance issue, in order to provide Contractor's commitment that Contractor will pay to Subcontractor immediately on successful arrival of AWB to India, Contractor will provide a corporate guarantee with his full commitment.

Based on the above, Subcontractor is requested to understand the same and manage it either by expediting Project Office opening OR by proceeding with Contractor's corporate guarantee.

3. COVID Cost : Contractor appreciates Subcontractor's understanding and decision to absorb such cost associated with COVID in the Mobilization Fee.

4. Refund of Duty Drawback: The activities for refund of duty drawback amount is completely related to the re-exportation process and usually managed by the CHA and tax consultant. As Subcontractor is performing the duties of importation and exportation of AWB on Contractor's behalf, Subcontractor shall undertake this refund of duty drawback application to ensure timely refund, as a part of its work scope. However, Subcontractor will not be anyway responsible for the amount of refund, as it is based on the actual days of AWB's stay in India. Hence, Subcontractor is requested to facilitate duty drawback refund process and arrange the refund as a part of its contractual obligation absorbing associated cost if any.

Hope the above convey Contractor's full commitment on payment and Subcontractor is requested to review and confirm its acceptance on the above for further necessary action for award of contract.

Sincerely yours,

Joonho Min

43. On page 130 of the paper-book of the appellant is an email dated 07.06.2022 sent on behalf of the respondent to the appellant, which reads as follows:-

"Dear Mr. Vinayak,

As requested by phone call, please reply below 2 questions urgently so as to move forward from our end.

1. Swift Code of Oversea-Chinese Banking Corporation limited.

2. Please let us know SBLC from surety Company from our side is OK to your side.

44. An email dated 08.06.2022 (page 133 of the paper-book) has been sent on behalf of the respondent to the appellant regarding issuance of SBLC which reads as follows:-

"Mr. Sudha,

As discussed, please note that we are considering issuance of SBLC from the following bank:

SBLC Issuance bank: Credit Agricole Corporate & Investment Bank

Bank Branch: Credit Agricole CIB, Seoul Branch

Swift Code: CRLYKRSE

Issuance of SBLC from Bank to Bank is not physically possible as per the issuing bank and SBLC can be issued only to HBA as per the commented format.

Hope you can manage your fund requirement using such SBLC from us.

Please review and provide your acceptance urgently to proceed.

Regards,

Palas Majumder

Jt. General Manager/Project Control Manager (IC)

Samsung Heavy Industries India Pvt. Ltd."

45. Further, another email of 08.06.2022 was subsequently sent to the various recipients of both the parties sending a link for a meeting for discussion on SBLC. Another email of 11.06.2022 (page 139) was sent on behalf of the appellant to the respondent attaching a letter with advance bank guarantee provided by the appellant to the respondent in order to urgently resolve the outstanding matter of mobilization payment.

46. It is reflected from the aforesaid that in the last meeting that took place on 30.05.2022, all the deviations post LOI were considered and the status of most of the deviations proposed were "closed" as the respondent agreed on the appellant's position. However, in respect of three material issues/deviations, the matter was still "open", namely increase in mobilization fee, COVID cost and IGST refund. The deviation suggested regarding mutual indemnity agreement was agreed in principal by the respondent which was to be checked with the legal department of its Headquarters. With regard to the deviation in respect of payment guarantee, though the issue was closed, it was stated that it is linked with mutual indemnity agreement deviation, and if the said indemnity is provided, then payment guarantee is not required.

47. By means of email/letter dated 02.06.2022, in response to the respondent's letter dated 31.05.2022, the appellant raised its objections with regard to the issues of mobilization fee, payment schedule, refund of duty draw-back and Covid cost. Further, the appellant proposed as follows :-

"a. The Subcontractor urges Contractor to accept the additional mobilization (USD 1 Million) towards cost due to reasons beyond our control. Failure to do so promptly will escalate the mobilization cost further.

b. The Subcontractor proposes to receive Stand by Letter of Credit (SBLC) equivalent to full mobilization value from Contractor's bank as per the mutually agreed format, valid until arrival of vessel in Kakinada Port, India. The Subcontractor is willing to cooperate for mobilization and must have an non revocable Stand by Letter of Credit (SBLC) in order to make necessary arrangement through internal financing to facilitate payment of the mobilization cost incurred for Contractor's Project. In such case no advance payment will be required from the Contractor until the vessel is physically available in Indian waters."

48. The aforesaid letter was replied by the respondent on 03.06.2022. With regard to the mobilization cost, the respondent expressed its willingness to discuss the issue further for an amicable resolution. In respect of the payment schedule for mobilization fee, an alternative solution was proposed by the respondent. With regard to the Covid cost, the decision of the appellant to absorb such cost in the mobilization fee was appreciated by the respondent. With regard to refund of duty draw-back, the onus was put on the appellant to facilitate duty draw-back refund process and arrange the refund as a part of its contractual obligations absorbing associate cost, if any.

49. Even as reflected in the email of 11.06.2022 sent by the appellant to urgently resolve the outstanding matter of mobilization payment, it is evident that the issue of mobilization payment had not been closed by the parties. Under the facts and circumstances. narrated above, it cannot be said that there was full and complete meeting of minds between the parties that could assume the character of agreement having come into existence between them through correspondence. The issues of mobilization payment and other "open" issues were undoubtedly material terms on which there was evidently no meeting of minds between the parties. In the case of Rickmers Verwaltung GMBH vs. Indian Oil Corporation17, it was held as follows:-

"13. In this connection the cardinal principle to remember is that it is the duty of the court to construe correspondence with a view to arrive at a conclusion whether there was any meeting of mind between the parties, which could create a binding contract between them but the court is not empowered to create a contract for the parties by going outside the clear language used in the correspondence, except insofar as there are some appropriate implications of law to be drawn. Unless from the correspondence, it can unequivocally and clearly emerge that the parties were ad idem to the terms, it cannot be said that an agreement had come into existence between them through correspondence. The court is required to review what the parties wrote and how they acted and from that material to infer whether the intention as expressed in the correspondence was to bring into existence a mutually binding contract. The intention of the parties is to be gathered only from the expressions used in the correspondence and the meaning it conveys and in case it shows that there had been meeting of mind between the parties and they had actually reached an agreement upon all material terms, then and then alone can it be said that a binding contract was capable of being spelt out from the correspondence.

14. From a careful perusal of the entire correspondence on the record, we are of the opinion that no concluded bargain had been reached between the parties as the terms of the standby letter of credit and performance guarantee were not accepted by the respective parties. In the absence of acceptance of the standby letter of credit and performance guarantee by the parties, no enforceable agreement could be said to have come into existence. The correspondence exchanged between the parties shows that there is nothing expressly agreed between the parties and no concluded enforceable and binding agreement came into existence between them. Apart from the correspondence relied upon by the learned Single Judge of the High Court, the fax messages exchanged between the parties, referred to above, go to show that the parties were only negotiating and had not arrived at any agreement. There is a vast difference between negotiating a bargain and entering into a binding contract. After negotiation of bargain in the present case, the stage never reached when the negotiations were completed giving rise to a binding contract. The learned Single Judge of the High Court was, therefore, perfectly justified in holding that clause 53 of the charter party relating to arbitration had no existence in the eye of law because no concluded and binding contract ever came into existence between the parties. The finding recorded by the learned Single Judge is based on proper appreciation of evidence on the record and a correct application of the legal principles. We find no merit in this appeal. It fails and is dismissed with costs."

50. Therefore, it is held that the correspondence and meetings between the parties after 31.5.2022 do not create a binding and concluded contract between them that would entitle the appellant to an injunction.

51. On record (page no.147 of the paper-book) is an email of 12.06.2022 sent on behalf of the appellant to the respondent informing that MWS inspection onboard Nor Goliath was successfully completed on 10.06.2022 at Cape Town. It is pertinent to mention here that this inspection was not the inspection contemplated in the LOI which was to take place after installation of the gangway.

Thereafter, by the communication dated 19.06.2022 sent by the respondent to the appellant, it was informed that as validity of the LOI has expired without any agreement of GCC and all the exhibits, LOI stands null and void.

52. As far as the aspect raised by the appellant that fraud is a ground to grant injunction, it is pertinent to mention here that admittedly, time was the essence of the LOI which is reflected in the aforequoted letter dated 22.05.2022 of the appellant. The "condition precedent" was required to be fulfilled on or before 14.5.2022 by a formal confirmation letter. As reflected above, the negotiation and exchange of correspondence between the parties extended beyond 14.5.2022. The binding of LOI was extended twice by the respondent, second one making the binding of LOI valid till 31.5.2022. In each of the aforesaid two extensions, to the binding of LOI granted by the respondent, it was categorically mentioned that other term and condition of LOI remained intact.

53. The quotation for completion of work submitted by the appellant was intended to be accepted by the respondent subject to "condition precedent" and formal signing of contract agreement between the appellant and the respondent. As reflected above, till 11.6.2022 the parties had failed to reach an agreement on all materials terms of deviation that were suggested by the appellant.

54. Evident it is from the minutes of the meeting dated 30.5.2022, from the letter dated 2.6.2022 sent by the appellant, and the letter dated 3.6.2022 sent by the respondent in response, and even the subsequent correspondence, that bonafide effort was made by the respondent to accommodate the deviations proposed by the appellant but on the issues of mobilization fee, payment schedule for mobilization fee and, refund of Duty Drawback, the respondent had clearly conveyed its reservations and hence, accommodation on part of appellant was requested. The last paragraph of the letter dated 3.6.2022 sent by the respondent is again being quoted below which is as follows:

"Hope the above convey Contractor's full commitment on payment and Subcontractor is requested to review and confirm its acceptance on the above for further necessary action for award of contract."

55. Further, the aforementioned e-mails dated 7.6.2022 and 8.6.2022 sent on behalf of the respondent to the appellant pertain to issuance of Stand by Letter of Credit (SBLC) to be issued on behalf of the respondent which, apparently pertains to the contentious issue of payment schedule of mobilization fee appearing in the aforementioned letters dated 2.6.2022 and 3.6.2022.

56. As regards the contention that the contract entered into between the respondent and Bhambhani Shipping on 27.6.2022 was on e-stamp paper issued on 6.4.2022 which 'hinges' towards the fact that the respondent was negotiating 'parallelly' with Bhambhani Shipping, the same has no substance. A copy of the contract made on 27.06.2022 was filed alongwith the counter affidavit of the respondent before the learned Judge. Neither was that contract challenged nor was the third party made a party in the proceedings before the learned Judge. There appear to be two e-stamp papers both dated 06.04.2022 which were purchased by the respondent, one for Rs. 500/= and the other for Rs. 100/=. The name of the third party does not appear in the columnar form in either of them. It is not an unknown practice for persons to procure stamp papers in advance for purpose of various deeds and conveyances likely to be executed by them. No malafide can be attributed to the respondent merely due to the prior date of purchase of the e-stamp papers.

57. Moreover, there is no material on record to conclude that the respondent was undertaking any parallel negotiations with the third party. Further, there is nothing on record to support the appellant's contention that the third party, Bhambani Shipping, had offered in its bid, pursuant to the tender floated by the appellant, a vessel that was 'non-compliant'. The respondent itself is a contractor, having secured a contract from Reliance Industries Limited for provision of AWB with associated services during Hook-up and Commissioning of RUBY FPSO, and, it can be presumed, it had its own time constraint. On failure of parties herein to reach an agreement on GCC, the respondent was well within its rights to look for and pursue options for fulfillment of its contract with Reliance Industries Limited. Merely because the negotiation continued beyond 31.5.2022 between the parties would not amount to extension of the binding of the LOI or extending the time period for fulfillment of "condition precedent", indefinitely.

58. Under the facts and circumstances noted above, there is no doubt that both parties were trying to reach an agreement in bonafide manner and trying to negotiate and resolve the deviations suggested by the appellant which were standing in the way of a concluded contract i.e. GCC, which was "condition precedent" mentioned in the LOI. The fact that the parties failed to arrive at a consensus during business negotiations with regard to deviation suggested by the appellant does not, prima facie, lead to a conclusion that fraud had been committed by the respondent.

59. For any interim injunction to be granted in favour of the appellant, the pleadings and material on record should be able to demonstrate that there exist tenable grounds for interference by the Court on each of the grounds of prima facie case, balance of convenience and irreparable loss. The appellant has failed to demonstrate a prima facie case in its favour for grant of interim injunction. Admittedly, the LOI stands nullified and voided in view of the communication dated 19.6.2022 and the contract having already been awarded to a third party, namely, Bhambhani Shipping Limited, on 27.6.2022, which third party is not a party in the present proceedings, the balance of convenience also does not exist in favour of the appellant. Further, the appellant has failed to demonstrate what irreparable injury or loss would be caused to it which cannot be compensated in terms of money if an interim injunction is not granted. Clause (b) and (c) of sub-section (3) of Section 38 of the Act of 1963 grants discretion to the Court to grant an injunction where there exists no standard for ascertaining the actual damage caused or likely to be caused by the invasion on part of the defendant of the plaintiff's right to, or enjoyment of property and/or where the invasion is such that compensation in money would not afford adequate relief. As referred hereinabove, enclosed as Annexure-33 to the affidavit filed by the appellant is a quantification of expenses stated to have been incurred by the appellant in furtherance of the LOI. Therefore, the appellant can be compensated in terms of money. An efficacious remedy of arbitration is already provided in the LOI itself. The LOI cannot be specifically enforced, as has been held hereinabove.

60. It may, however, be mentioned here that an application under Section 9(1) of the Act of 1996 would be maintainable before or during arbitral proceedings or at any time after making of the arbitral award but before it is enforced in accordance with Section 36 unless, in view of the provisions of Section 9(3) once the arbitral tribunal has been constituted, the Court finds that circumstances exist which may not render the remedy provided under Section 17 of the Act of 1996 efficacious. Therefore, though such an application would accordingly be maintainable at any of the three stages mentioned in Section 9(1), however, an applicant would not be entitled to relief where the breach of an obligation arises from a contract, the performance of which cannot be specifically enforced. This issue has been considered only to explain the aspect of maintainability that was dealt with by the learned Judge.

61. It is pertinent to consider the argument raised by the learned counsel for the respondent that when an application under Section 9(1) is filed before the commencement of the arbitration proceedings, there has to be a manifest intention on part of the applicant to take recourse to arbitral proceedings. The judgments of Sundaram Finance Ltd. and Firm Ashok Traders (supra), that have been referred to by the learned counsel for the respondent, were in respect of proceedings initiated prior to insertion of sub-sections (2) and (3) of Section 9 of the Act of 1996 by means of Act No.3 of 2016. As quoted above, sub-section (2) of Section 9 provides that where, before the commencement of the arbitral proceedings, a Court passes an order for any interim measure of protection under sub-section (1), the arbitral proceedings shall be commenced within a period of ninety days from the date of such order or within such further time as the Court may determine. In light of sub-section (2) of Section 9 of the Act of 1996, there is a mandate for commencement of arbitral proceedings within a period of ninety days from the date of an order under sub-section (1) of Section 9. However, the period of ninety days provided by the provision may be extended by the Court for such further time as it may determine under the facts and circumstances of that case. Be that as it may, a party invoking Section 9 of the Act of 1996 must be ready and willing to go to arbitration as held in Arcelor Mittal Nippon Steel India Ltd. vs. Essar Bulk Terminal Ltd.18

62. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, it is open for the appellant to raise any claim, dispute or differences between it and the respondent by resorting to arbitration as provided in the LOI itself. In that event, the arbitral tribunal shall decide the dispute and differences between the parties, uninfluenced by any observation made in this judgment. All pleas and contentions are left open for being raised before the arbitral tribunal. However, the appellant has failed to demonstrate any plausible ground for grant of an interim injunction as envisaged in Section 9 of the Act, 1996. This appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

2. This bail application has been filed after the learned Special Judge, Anti-Corruption, CBI (West), Lucknow has rejected the bail application of the accused-applicant vide order dated 14.06.2021.

3. Initially, on 19.06.2017 an F.I.R. , at Crime No.0831 of 2017 was lodged under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 34 IPC and Sections 7 and 13 PC Act at Police Station Gomti Nagar, Lucknow, U.P. on the subject matter i.e. corruption and large scale irregularities committed in implementation of the Project "Gomti River Front Development" .

4. The State Government decided to handover the investigation to the CBI vide request letter dated 21.07.2017 sent by Mr. Arvind Kumar, Principal Secretary, Home, Government of U.P. The CBI took over the investigation and regular case got registered, as mentioned above.

5. The case pertains to corruption, irregularities, fraud and criminal intent in implementation of "Gomti River Channelization Project" and "Gomti River Front Development" implemented by the Department of Irrigation, Government of U.P.

6. A large number of irregularities in implementation of the Project to earn Crores of rupees illegally by committing fraud, forgery and corruption came to light and the government, initially, appointed an Inquiry Committee headed by a retired High Court Judge vide order dated 04.04.2017 issued by His Excellency, the Governor of U.P.

7. The said Committee included Justice Alok Kr. Singh, Former Judge of this Court, as Chairman and two members, Prof. U.K. Chaudhary, retired from I.I.T., B.H.U, Varanasi, who is an expert in Reverine Engineering, and Professor, A.K. Garg, from Faculty of Finance, I.I.M, Lucknow, as experts.

8. The said Committee submitted its detailed report dated 16.05.2017, pointing out several gross irregularities, misuse of powers and positions etc. committed by the officers/officials in implementing the said Project and causing huge loss to the State Exchequer.

9. Before the work was started, the concerned Minister, heading the Irrigation Department, Principal Secretary, Irrigation Department and the Senior Engineers of the said Department visited China, Japan, Malaysia, Singapore, Sough-Korea and Austria. An estimate of Rs. 747.49 Crores was submitted by the Irrigation Department to the Government on 04.02.2015, which was approved by the Cabinet on 17.03.2015.

10. A High Level Task Force, under the Chairmanship of Chief Secretary, which also included Principal Secretary of the Irrigation Department, was constituted on 25.03.2015. From 08.05.2015 to 22.02.2017, 23 meetings of this Task Force took place. A revised estimate of Rs.1990.24 Crores was submitted by the Irrigation Department to the Government. However, the Cabinet, after taking opinion from Finance & Expenditure Committee, approved the budget for the said project at Rs.1513.51 Crores which was communicated by the Government to the Irrigation Department on 25.07.2016.

11. In the revised plan, the time limit of two years was fixed, though in earlier plan no time limit was fixed. Thus, the work ought to have been completed by March/April, 2017 inasmuch as first budget of the Project was approved in March/April, 2015. For such a huge Project, involving thousands crores of rupees, no consultancy firm/company was appointed.

12. The Committee, during its inquiry, took statements from Junior Engineers to Chief Engineers of the Department, Professors of I.I.T., Gandhinagar, Delhi and Roorki, Senior Vice-Chairman and Consultant of Gammon India, Proprietors and Consultants of M/s KK Spun and M/s Charoo Consultancy, Associated Directors and Associate of A.E. Com, Member Secretary of the Pollution Control Board and Chairman of S.E.E.A.A. The Committee was required to give its finding on following five points.

"i. Verification of budget/cost of the project of Gomti River Channelization Project;

ii. Responsibilities were to be fixed of the persons for spending 95% of the budget on the Project, but the work was completed only upto 60%;

iii. Suitability/appropriateness of the Project for environment protection;

iv. Position of payment in accordance with the rules against the sanctioned items; and

v. Financial irregularities committed in implementation of the said Project."

13. The Committee opined that centage charge @ 6.875%, which came around 100 Crores, was not deposited. The Projected started in March/April, 2015 and after one year i.e. on 04.05.2016, the Engineer, In-charge in implementing the Project requested the High Level Task Force to waive 100 Cores as centage charge.

14. The High Level Task Force placed the matter before the Cabinet, however, the Cabinet rejected the proposal and vide letter dated 15.03.2017 Government intimated to the Chief Engineer and Head of Department that in view of the government orders, the deposition of centage charges was a must. It was further directed that after taking the necessary action, the Government should be informed accordingly.

15. The Committee found that no centage charge was deposited from March 2015 to December 2015 and during this period, the present accused-applicant, Roop Singh Yadav was the Executive Engineer, in-charge of the project. First time, in January, 2017 centage charge amounting to Rs. 14.42 Crores could get deposited by the then Executive Engineer in respect of works done during his tenure.

16. The accused-applicant was Executive Engineer from the very beginning till 31st December, 2016 and he did not get the centage charge amounting to Rs. 100 Crores deposited. The accused-applicant admitted before the Committee that centage charges were not deposited in anticipation of waiver from the Government. Even after the Government refused the waiver of the centage charges, centage charges were not deposited.

17. The Committee further opined that excluding amount for centage charges, labour-cess, maintenance charge and preliminary work, total Rs. 1314 Crores was allotted for different items of the Project. However, against Rs.1314 Cores, Rs.1384 Crores had been spent. Thus, Rs. 72 Crores more was spent than what was sanctioned. The Committee was of the opinion that it was the accused-applicant who was responsible for not depositing the centage charges as per the government order as it was the responsibility of the concerned Executive Engineer.

18. The Committee further recorded the finding that the unqualified and un-experienced companies were chosen and whole tendering process was a complete eye-wash and bogus. The companies were chosen in per-determined manner for the work and for this, the present accused-applicant, who was also looking after the additional work of Superintending Engineer, was responsible and he only accepted the tenders in a mala fide and motivated manner, against the principles of just, fair and valid procedure. The payments were made for some items more than 100 times than the sanctioned budget for such items and for this also, the Committee found the present accused-applicant responsible. The Committee further found that work progress was extremely wanting despite spending more than sanctioned amount. In this gigantic corruption, the accused-applicant's involvement has been detailed vividly by the said Committee.

19. The CBI, in its charge-sheet, has found that the present accused-applicant, in pursuance to the decision taken by the High Level Task Force for construction of intercepting trunk drains on both banks of Gomti River, a note was put up by the accused-applicant, who was the then Executive Engineer for construction of the intercepting trunk drain on both banks of Gomti River in Lucknow city at an estimated cost of Rs. 230 Crores referring to the recommendation of the Chief Engineer's Committee. In spite of the prevalence of e-procurement system during the relevant period, the accused-applicant proposed that e-procurement system should not be followed as many experienced contractors registered with the department would not be be able to take part in the tender process thereby depriving the benefit of competitive rates. The accused-applicant proposed to get the work done through the registered contractors of the department, and the said proposal was approved by Mr. S.N. Sharma, the then Chief Engineer on 06.08.2015. Mr. S.N. Sharma, the then Chief Engineer was not authorized to approve NIT for the work of intercepting trunk drain as only the Chief Minister was authorized to enhance the scope of the work and the project cost.

20. The CBI, in its investigation, further revealed that NIT in respect of the work of intercepting trunk drain was published in 7 newspapers on 11.08.2015. Tenders were to be submitted by 'AA' category of contractors, registered with the Irrigation Department till 20.08.2015 i.e. the date of opening of tender by the Tender Committee in presence of the tenderers.

21. The tender date was extended twice, first time upto 29.08.2015 and second time upto 07.09.2015 to accommodate L-1 i.e. M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited and L-2, M/s Brand Eagles Longjian JV which were not registered with the Irrigation Department earlier and were registered only on the last date of submission of tender and its opening i.e. 07.09.2015. These two firms stood L-1 and L-2. It has been alleged that both the said firms did not fulfill the eligibility qualifications at the time of submitting the tender and investigation revealed that the name & style of M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited had been changed as M/s K.K. Spun India Limited. The conditions were relaxed to make M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited as eligible and a note was put up on 21.08.2015 by the accused-applicant to allow the manufacturers also to participate in the tendering process along with the registered contractors. The said note was to change eligibility the conditions of NIT which was already published. The said note was approved by the then Chief Engineer, Mr. S.N. Sharma even though he was not authorized to approve any relaxation pertaining to the registration of the contractors in terms of the relevant government orders. Any such relaxation could have been accorded only with the approval of the government. This relaxation in the tender conditions was not even published in any newspaper and only a notice was put up on the notice board of the office of the Irrigation Department.

22. The CBI further found that after relaxation of tender conditions, three parties, namely, (1) M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited, (2) M/s Brand Eagle Longjian JV; and (3) M/s Patel Engineering Limited were shown to have purchased the tender forms on 26.08.2015. All these firms were not registered with the Irrigation Department but tenders were given to them and the tender conditions were relaxed by the aforesaid note in order to facilitate them to participate in the tendering process and award the contract to M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited. It is stated that fake sale of tender documents was made to M/s Patel Engineering Limited on the same day. The tenders were sold by Mr. Raj Kumar Yadav, co-accused, who made en entry "sold by me to M/s Patel Engineering Limited" in his own hand-writing under his signatures. L-1 and L-2 firms applied for registration on 04.09.2015 and were registered on 07.09.2015 i.e. last date of submission of tender and opening of the tender .

23. It is alleged that pursuant to criminal conspiracy, Mr. Himanshu Gupta, Director, M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited vide his letter dated 26.08.2015 addressed to the Superintending Engineer, XII Circle illegally authorized his representative, Mr. Surjeet Srivastava, Company Secretary to purchase the tender documents even though the company was not registered with the Irrigation Department and was not eligible to participate in the tendering process. Similarly, vide his letter dated 25.08.2015, Mr. Badri Shreshtha, Senior Adviser of M/s Brand Eagles Longjian JV had illegally authorized his representative, Mr. Shahid to purchase the tender documents even though the company was not registered with the Irrigation Department and was not eligible to participate in the tender. It was a cartel formation between M/s M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited and M/s Brand Eagle Longjian JV. The bank guarantee of Rs.4.6 Crores of the L-2 firm i.e. M/s Brand Eagle Longjian JV was made from the bank account of the L-1 company, M/s M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited. On 03.09.2015, these companies executed a sub-contract agreement in which it was agreed that M/s Brand Eagles Longjian JV was intending to bid for the work of construction of intercepting trunk drain and pass-on the entire work to M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited for execution and in lieu thereof, M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited agreed to provide bank guarantee of Rs. 4.6 Crores for the bid contract.

24. The investigation conducted by the CBI also revealed that in order to award the work to M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited forged documents of the 3rd company, M/s Patel Engineering Limited were used in order to fulfill the quorum of three parties. The documents used in the tender documents of M/s Patel Engineering in the work of intercepting trunk drain were photocopies of documents submitted by the said company during its participation in tender procedure for work of construction of Diaphragm wall earlier. The company, M/s Patel Engineering Limited had denied having purchased/submitted the tender documents for the work of intercepting trunk drain.

25. The present accused-applicant directed Mr. Raj Kumar Yadav, the then Junior Assistant in the office, to show the sale of tender documents to M/s Patel Engineering Limited and put up forged papers. It is the accused-applicant, who put up forged papers on behalf of M/s Patel Engineering Limited by obtaining photocopies from the earlier tenders submitted by M/s Patel Engineering Limited for other work. No earnest money was found deposited by M/s Patel Engineering Limited, and it had also not filled the rates in the tender documents. The present accused-applicant was master-mind and responsible for this forgery to favour of cartel of M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited and M/s Brand Eagles Longjian JV.

26. The investigation further revealed that the bid of M/s Patel Engineering Limited was rejected on technical grounds and rates of M/s Brand Eagles Longjian JV and M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited were found to be L-2 and L-1 respectively. After opening of the tender on 07.09.2015, the rates were written on the comparative chart by said Raj Kumar Yadav on dictation of the present accused-applicant. The bids were not evaluated by Technical Evaluation Committee and despite being not qualified, the present accused-applicant invited M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited to execute the agreement. An agreement was executed between M/s K.K. Spun Pipe Private Limited and the present accused-applicant in the capacity of Superintending Engineer for completion of construction of intercepting trunk drain at an estimated cost of Rs.285.69 Crores within the stipulated period of one year. Against already high cost of Rs.285.69 Crores, the payment of Rs.337.32 Crores was made to M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited without obtaining any approval for the cost escalation from the Chief Minister or the Cabinet or any approval for increasing the length of the intercepting trunk drain from 27 kilometers to 32.8 kilometers. The accused-applicant did not obtain performance guarantee of Rs.5.77 Crores from M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited before execution of the agreement and he obtained earnest money of Rs.14.28 Crores instead of Rs.28.57 Crores, which was 50% of the earnest money.

27. The investigation had disclosed the commission of offences by Roop Singh Yadav, present accused-applicant, Raj Kumar Yadav, Himanshu Gupta and Kavish Gupta, Directors of M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited, Badri Shreshtha, Senior Adviser, M/s Brand Eagles Longjiyan JV, besides M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited punishable under Section 120-B read with Sections 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Section 13(2) read with Sections 13(1)(d) PC Act and substantive offences thereof.

28. Heard Mr. Harshveer Pratap Sharma, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Mr. Purnendu Chakravarty, learned counsel, appearing for the accused-applicant, as well as Mr. Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel, assisted by Mr. Akhilendra Singh, learned counsel, appearing for the respondent - CBI, and perused the entire record.

29. On behalf of the accused-applicant, Mr. Harshveer Pratap Sharma, learned Senior Counsel has submitted that the accused-applicant is in jail since 20.11.2020; investigation is complete and charge-sheet has been filed. It has been further submitted that the work of intercepting trunk drain done by M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited is of very good quality and leakages had been found at joint of barrel no. 14 and 18 in the length of 28 kilometers intercepting trunk drain. Only recovery of Rs.6,38,150/- under clause 18(A) of the contract has been recommended to be recovered from the contractor M/s K.K. Spun Pipes Private Limited. It has been further submitted that the investigation against co-accused is still pending and conclusion of the trial will take a long time. The accused-applicant cannot be kept in jail till the trial gets concluded inasmuch as there is no likelihood of completion of the trial at an early stage.

30. On behalf of the accused-applicant, the learned Senior Counsel, has further submitted that the accused-applicant is not keeping good health and his further detention is neither desirable nor in the interest of justice. It has been further submitted that the delay in trial itself is an important factor for consideration while granting bail. Looking at the long custody of the accused-applicant, the accused-applicant may be enlarged on bail.

31. To buttress his submission, the learned Senior Counsel, appearing for the accused-applicant has placed reliance upon the judgment in the case reported in (2011) 1 SCC 784 (State of Kerala Vs. Raneef as well as judgment and order dated 9th September, 2022 passed by the Supreme Court in Petition for Special Leave to Appeal (Crl.) No.7844 of 2022 (Sidhique Kappan Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh).

32. On behalf of the respondent - CBI, it has been submitted by Mr. Anurag Kumar Singh that the bail application of co-accused has already been rejected by this Court vide judgment and order dated 29th April, 2022 reported in 2022 SCC OnLine All 249 (Raj Kumar Yadav Vs. State Thru CBI/ACB, Lucknow). It has been further submitted that the accused-applicant's involvement in commission of the irregularities, fraud and forgery has been found in four items i.e. (1) construction of diaphragm wall (2) construction of intercepting trunk drain, (3) construction of rubber dam and (4) preparation of vision document involving amount of Rs. 1055 Crores, covering 12 agreements executed under 4 NITs during 2015-16 and the accused-applicant has been signatory of those agreements. It has been further submitted that in this gigantic fraud and corruption, the accused-applicant has been one of the main architects in looting the public money in the name of Gomti River Channelization Project and Gomti River Front Development. Public money amounting to Rs.337.32 Crores had been transferred by the accused-applicant to a firm without requiring authorization by the competent authority and he has caused loss of huge proportions to the State Exchequer. The economic crimes of such mammoth scale and width are craftily planned and executed. It is well settled that economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail. While granting bail, the Court has to keep in mind the nature of accusations, magnitude and gravity of offence and nature of evidence in support of accusations. The Supreme Court in the case reported in (2013) 7 SCC 439 (Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation) has opined in paragraphs 34 and 35 as under:-

"34. Economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail. The economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country.

35. While granting bail, the court has to keep in mind the nature of accusations, the nature of evidence in support thereof, the severity of the punishment which conviction will entail, the character of the accused, circumstances which are peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with, the larger interests of the public/State and other similar considerations."

33. The Supreme Court in the case reported in (2017) 13 SCC 751 (State of Bihar and another Vs. Amit Kumar alias Bachcha Rai) in paragraphs-9 and 13, while considering the bail application of an accused involved in economic offence of huge magnitude, has held as under:-

"9. We are conscious of the fact that the accused is charged with economic offences of huge magnitude and is alleged to be the kingpin/ringleader. Further, it is alleged that the respondent-accused is involved in tampering with the answer sheets by illegal means and interfering with the examination system of Bihar Intermediate Examination, 2016 and thereby securing top ranks, for his daughter and other students of Vishnu Rai College, in the said examination. During the investigation when a search team raided his place, various documents relating to property and land to the tune of Rs 2.57 crores were recovered besides Rs 20 lakhs in cash. In addition to this, allegedly a large number of written answer sheets of various students, letterheads and rubber stamps of several authorities, admit cards, illegal firearm, etc. were found which establishes a prima facie case against the respondent. The allegations against the respondent are very serious in nature, which are reflected from the excerpts of the case diary. We are also conscious of the fact that the offences alleged, if proved, may jeopardise the credibility of the education system of the State of Bihar.

13. We are also conscious that if undeserving candidates are allowed to top exams by corrupt means, not only will the society be deprived of deserving candidates, but it will be unfair for those students who have honestly worked hard for one whole year and are ultimately disentitled to a good rank by fraudulent practices prevalent in those examinations. It is well settled that socio-economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail [Nimmagadda Prasad v. CBI, (2013) 7 SCC 466 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 575; Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy v. CBI, (2013) 7 SCC 439 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 552] . Usually socio-economic offence has deep-rooted conspiracies affecting the moral fibre of the society and causing irreparable harm, needs to be considered seriously."

34. In the case reported in (2018) 11 SCC 46 (Rohit Tandaon Vs. Directorate of Enforcement) the Supreme Court has again reiterated the consistent view that economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences, affecting the economy of the country as a whole. Paragraphs-21 and 22, which are relevant, are extracted hereunder:-

"21. The consistent view taken by this Court is that economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country. Further, when attempt is made to project the proceeds of crime as untainted money and also that the allegations may not ultimately be established, but having been made, the burden of proof that the monies were not the proceeds of crime and were not, therefore, tainted shifts on the accused persons under Section 24 of the 2002 Act.

22. It is not necessary to multiply the authorities on the sweep of Section 45 of the 2002 Act which, as aforementioned, is no more res integra. The decision in Ranjitsing

Brahmajeetsing Sharma v. State of Maharashtra [Ranjitsing Brahmajeetsing Sharma v. State of Maharashtra, (2005) 5 SCC 294 : (2005) SCC (Cri) 1057] and State of Maharashtra v. Vishwanath Maranna Shetty [State of Maharashtra v. Vishwanath Maranna Shetty, (2012) 10 SCC 561 : (2013) 1 SCC (Cri) 105] dealt with an analogous provision in the Maharashtra Control of Organised Crime Act, 1999. It has been expounded that the Court at the stage of considering the application for grant of bail, shall consider the question from the angle as to whether the accused was possessed of the requisite mens rea. The Court is not required to record a positive finding that the accused had not committed an offence under the Act. The Court ought to maintain a delicate balance between a judgment of acquittal and conviction and an order granting bail much before commencement of trial. The duty of the Court at this stage is not to weigh the evidence meticulously but to arrive at a finding on the basis of broad probabilities. Further, the Court is required to record a finding as to the possibility of the accused committing a crime which is an offence under the Act after grant of bail."

" 24. At this juncture, it must be noted that even as per Section 212(7) of the Companies Act, the limitation under Section 212(6) with respect to grant of bail is in addition to those already provided in CrPC. Thus, it is necessary to advert to the principles governing the grant of bail under Section 439 of CrPC. Specifically, heed must be paid to the stringent view taken by this Court towards grant of bail with respect of economic offences. In this regard, it is pertinent to refer to the following observations of this Court in Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy [Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy v. CBI, (2013) 7 SCC 439 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 552] : (SCC p. 449, paras 34-35) "34. Economic offences constitute a class apart and need to be visited with a different approach in the matter of bail. The economic offences having deep-rooted conspiracies and involving huge loss of public funds need to be viewed seriously and considered as grave offences affecting the economy of the country as a whole and thereby posing serious threat to the financial health of the country. 35. While granting bail, the court has to keep in mind the nature of accusations, the nature of evidence in support thereof, the severity of the punishment which conviction will entail, the character of the accused, circumstances which are peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with, the larger interests of the public/State and other similar considerations." This Court has adopted this position in several decisions, including Gautam Kundu v. Directorate of Enforcement [Gautam Kundu v. Directorate of Enforcement, (2015) 16 SCC 1 : (2016) 3 SCC (Cri) 603] and State of Bihar v. Amit Kumar [State of Bihar v. Amit Kumar, (2017) 13 SCC 751 : (2017) 4 SCC (Cri) 771] . Thus, it is evident that the above factors must be taken into account while determining whether bail should be granted in cases involving grave economic offences.

25. As already discussed supra, it is apparent that the Special Court, while considering the bail applications filed by Respondent 1 both prior and subsequent to the filing of the investigation report and complaint, has attempted to account not only for the conditions laid down in Section 212(6) of the Companies Act, but also of the general principles governing the grant of bail.

26. In our considered opinion, the High Court in the impugned order has failed to apply even these general principles. The High Court, after referring to certain portions of the complaint to ascertain the alleged role of Respondent 1, came to the conclusion that the role attributed to him was merely that of colluding with the co-accused promoters in the commission of the offence in question. The Court referred to the principles governing the grant of bail as laid down by this Court in Ranjitsing Brahmajeetsing Sharma v. State of Maharashtra [Ranjitsing Brahmajeetsing Sharma v. State of Maharashtra, (2005) 5 SCC 294 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1057] , which discusses the effect of the twin mandatory conditions pertaining to the grant of bail for offences under the Maharashtra Control of Organised Crime Act, 1999 as laid down in Section 21(4) thereof, similar to the conditions embodied in Section 212(6)(ii) of the Companies Act. However, the High Court went on to grant bail to Respondent 1 by observing that bail was justified on the "broad probabilities" of the case.

27. In our considered opinion, this vague observation demonstrates non-application of mind on the part of the Court even under Section 439 CrPC, even if we keep aside the question of satisfaction of the mandatory requirements under Section 212(6)(ii) of the Companies Act."

36. Mere languishing in jail, during trial, cannot be a ground for granting bail if the conspiracy and fraud is of very high magnitude. The Supreme Court in the case of State of Bihar and another Vs. Amit Kumar alias Bachcha Rai (supra) in paragraph-8 has held as under:-

"8. A bare reading of the order impugned discloses that the High Court has not given any reasoning while granting bail. In a mechanical way, the High Court granted bail more on the fact that the accused is already in custody for a long time. When the seriousness of the offence is such the mere fact that he was in jail for however long time should not be the concern of the courts. We are not able to appreciate such a casual approach while granting bail in a case which has the effect of undermining the trust of people in the integrity of the education system in the State of Bihar."

37. The Court has to take into consideration while considering the bail application, nature of offence and the Court should refuse the bail if the offence is serious and is of huge magnitude, particularly, in economic offences. Corruption is a menace which is eating the vitals of economy of this country. Thousand of Crores of public money is looted by corrupt people in the system. Offence of the magnitude, as in the present case could not have been committed without involvement of the high-ups in the Government. The accused-applicant was enjoying the patronage and blessings of high-ups in the Government, which is evident from the forgery and fraud committed by him while allocating the work to ineligible persons, who allegedly committed corruption in conspiracy with others. The sentence provided under Section 467 IPC is upto life and, therefore, this Court is of the view that two years imprisonment is not as such which itself would warrant this Court to grant bail to the accused-applicant.

38. It is well settled that when the gravity of offence alleged is severe, mere period of incarceration or the fact that the trial is not likely to be concluded in near future cannot jointly entitle the accused-applicant to be enlarged on bail. The Supreme Court in the case reported in (2007) 1 SCC 242 (Chenna Boyanna Krishna Yadav Vs. State of Maharashtra and another) in paragraph-16 has held as under:-

"16. At this stage, it is neither necessary nor desirable to weigh the evidence meticulously to arrive at a positive finding as to whether or not the appellant has committed offences under Section 3(2) or Section 24 of MCOCA. What is to be seen is whether there is a reasonable ground for believing that the appellant is not guilty of the two offences, he has been charged with, and further that he is not likely to commit an offence under MCOCA while on bail. As noted above, the circumstance which has weighed with the High Court to conclude that the appellant had the knowledge of the organised crime syndicate of Telgi, printing fake stamps, etc. and these were being sold under the protection of the appellant and hence he had abetted an organised crime, is the alleged conversation between him and Telgi in January 1998, after the kidnapping incident. In our view, the alleged conversation may show the appellant's acquaintance with Telgi but may not per se be sufficient to prove the appellant's direct role with the commission of an organised crime by Telgi, to bring home an offence of abetment in the commission of organised crime falling within the ambit of Section 3(2) of MCOCA and/or that he had rendered any help or support in the commission of an organised crime whether before or after the commission of such offence by a member of an organised crime syndicate or had abstained from taking lawful measures under MCOCA, thus, falling within the purview of Section 24 of MCOCA. It is true that when the gravity of the offence alleged is severe, mere period of incarceration or the fact that the trial is not likely to be concluded in the near future either by itself or conjointly may not entitle the accused to be enlarged on bail. Nevertheless, both these factors may also be taken into consideration while deciding the question of grant of bail."

39. The Court is required to balance the individual interest viz.a.viz the interest of the society while considering the bail plea. No right is an absolute right and reasonable restriction can be placed on them. Mere long incarceration in jail as under-trial is not sufficient ground to enlarge an accused on bail if the facts & circumstances of the case and interest of the society do not warrant for enlarging the accused-applicant on bail. The Supreme Court in the case reported in (2004) 7 SCC 528 (Kalyan Chandra Sarkar Vs. Rajesh Ranjan alias Pappu Yadav and another) has held that three years incarceration would not itself entitle the accused-applicant to be released on bail nor the fact that the trial is not likelihood to be concluded in near future would be sufficient for enlarging the accused-applicant on bail considering the gravity of offence. Paragraph-14 of the said judgment, which is relevant, is extracted hereunder:-

"14. We have already noticed from the arguments of learned counsel for the appellant that the present accused had earlier made seven applications for grant of bail which were rejected by the High Court and some such rejections have been affirmed by this Court also. It is seen from the records that when the fifth application for grant of bail was allowed by the High Court, the same was challenged before this Court and this Court accepted the said challenge by allowing the appeal filed by the Union of India and another and cancelled the bail granted by the High Court as per the order of this Court made in Criminal Appeal No. 745 of 2001 dated 25-7-2001 [Rajesh Ranjan v. State of Bihar, (2000) 9 SCC 222] . While cancelling the said bail this Court specifically held that the fact that the present accused was in custody for more than one year (at that time) and the further fact that while rejecting an earlier application, the High Court had given liberty to renew the bail application in future, were not grounds envisaged under Section 437(1)(i) of the Code. This Court also in specific terms held that the condition laid down under Section 437(1)(i) is sine qua non for granting bail even under Section 439 of the Code. In the impugned order it is noticed that the High Court has given the period of incarceration already undergone by the accused and the unlikelihood of trial concluding in the near future as grounds sufficient to enlarge the accused on bail, in spite of the fact that the accused stands charged of offences punishable with life imprisonment or even death penalty. In such cases, in our opinion, the mere fact that the accused has undergone certain period of incarceration (three years in this case) by itself would not entitle the accused to being enlarged on bail, nor the fact that the trial is not likely to be concluded in the near future either by itself or coupled with the period of incarceration would be sufficient for enlarging the appellant on bail when the gravity of the offence alleged is severe and there are allegations of tampering with the witnesses by the accused during the period he was on bail."

40. Considering the magnitude of corruption, prima facie, involvement of the accused-applicant in commission of the offences in furtherance of the criminal conspiracy and the fact that Three Members Committee, headed by Former Judge of this Court, and the CBI, in their inquiries/investigation, have clearly found the accused-applicant's involvement in huge corruption, forgery, fraud and misusing his official position, this Court does not deem it appropriate to enlarge the accused-applicant on bail at this stage and, therefore, the bail application is hereby rejected.

Geeta Mehrotra Vs St.of U.P., (2012) 10 SCC 741

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Heard Shri Hom Narayan Awasthi, learned counsel for the applicant, Mrs. Kiran Singh, learned AGA-1 for the State and perused the material available on record.

2. The applicant Shakuntala Devi Alias Madhuri has moved the present bail application seeking bail in case crime No. 360 of 2021, under Sections 498-A, 304-B and 506 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Khairighat, District Bahraich.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that first information report has been lodged with delay of about five days without giving any plausible explanation. The applicant is innocent and has falsely been implicated in the present case due to mala fide intention. The applicant is mother-in-law of the deceased. The marriage of applicant?s son and deceased was solemnized on 25.02.2020. The relation between the deceased and the son of the applicant was cordial except some minor dispute which always happens between husband and wife. As per the version of FIR general allegation regarding additional demand of dowry in the form of Rs. two lacs and a Maruti Car and causing cruelty to the deceased was made against the applicant and her other family members named in the FIR and no specific allegation for the same was made against the applicant or her family members named in the FIR. Prior to the alleged incident no any complaint was ever made either by the deceased or her parents to any of the authorities regarding additional demand of dowry or causing cruelty to the deceased by the applicant or her family members named in the FIR.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that applicant was living separately from the deceased and his son, as is evident from the Parivar Register, copy of which is annexed as Annexure No. 2 to this bail application. The applicant could never be the beneficiary of the additional demand of dowry in the form of one Maturti Car and Rs. 2 lac cash. The deceased was a short tempered lady and was annoyed with her husband as her husband was spending money in the medical treatment of his father and was not fulfilling her lavish wishes, that is why the deceased was living under stress and mental depression and on the date of incident the deceased committed suicide by hanging herself with sari from the hook installed in ceiling of the room. The husband of the deceased informed the son of the complainant namely Satyam on phone about the alleged incident.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that at the time of inquest of the corpse of the deceased, the family members of the complainant and the applicant were present. The post mortem of the deceased was conducted. The cause of death of deceased was Asphyxia due to ante mortem hanging only with one ligature mark and except one ligature mark there is no any other injury found on the body of the deceased.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the deceased committed suicide by hanging herself. In support of his argument, learned counsel of the applicant placed reliance upon the extract of Modi?s Medical Jurisprudence wherein definition of hanging has been described and as per the post mortem report of the deceased it is almost identical to the definition of hanging given in Modi?s Jurisprudence. Learned counsel for the applicant submit that since as per the Modi?s jurisprudence and as per the post mortem report of the deceased they both are identical, it it is a case of hanging and not of murder or strangulation.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Geeta Mehrotra Vs. State of U.P., (2012) 10 SCC 741 and has submitted that these facts have also been taken cognizance by the Apex Court whereby the Court stated that there are large number of false and frivolous cases lodged against the entire family members of the husband and submitted that there are general allegations against the applicants and, therefore, giving benefit of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Geeta Mehrotra (supra) the applicant is entitled to be released on bail.

8. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that she is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make herself available before the court whenever required and is also ready to accept all the conditions which the Court may deem fit to impose upon her. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is not having any criminal history and is in jail since 14.09.2022 and that in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

9. Learned A.G.A.-1 while opposing the prayer for bail of applicant submitted that the death of the deceased had occurred within seven years of her marriage and she was being subjected to cruelty in lieu of demand of dowry, therefore, the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

10. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the Bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, considering the fact that the applicant is mother in law of the deceased and was living separately from the deceased and his son as is evident from the Parivar Registrar (Annexure No.2) and she cannot be the beneficiary of the additional demand of dowry in the form of Maruti Car and cash amount of Rs 2,00,000/-; there is general allegation made in the FIR against the applicant and her other family members named in the FIR regarding additional demand of dowry and causing cruelty to the deceased and no specific allegation for the same has been made to the applicant; nor prior to the alleged incident any complainant regarding demand of dowry or causing cruelty to the deceased was made either by the deceased or her family members to any of the authorities against the applicant or her family members; and as per the post mortem report of the deceased, the cause of death is asphyxia due to ante mortem hanging with one ligature mark; thus there appears to be force in the arguments as advanced by the learned counsel for the applicant that the definition given in Modi?s Medical Jurisprudence regrading hanging and the injury mark given by the doctor in the post mortem report it appears to be a case of hanging and not of strangulation or murder and further considering the larger mandate of the Article 21 of the Constitution of India and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Geeta Mehrotra (supra) and Dataram Singh Vs. State of UP and another, reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

11. The prayer for bail is granted. The application is allowed.

12. Let the applicant, Shakuntala Devi Alias Madhuri involved in Case Crime No. 360 of 2021, under Sections 498-A, 304-B and 506 IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Khairighat, District Bahraich be enlarged on bail on her executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date fixed in the court below and her personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

(3) The applicant shall cooperate in the trial sincerely without seeking any adjournment.

(4) The applicant shall not indulge in any criminal activity or commission of any crime after being released on bail.

(5) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail and in order to secure her presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against her in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(6) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court default of this condition is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of his bail and proceed against her in accordance with law.

(7) The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

(8) The concerned Court/ Authority/ Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

13. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

14. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merit of the case.

VII Appendix I

I. Introduction

1. Shri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel assisted by Shri Satish Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant predicates his submissions on merits by contending that the applicant's inability to access legal aid raises legal and constitutional issues which directly affect the right of bail and the personal liberty of the applicant. Members of the Bar also submit that this problem is faced by many prisoners. The issue regarding the scope and right of legal aid to prisoners arises in the circumstances of this case, but also transcends the facts of this case.

2. While discharging judicial functions in bail determination this Court is not denuded of its status as a constitutional court. The court is under a constitutional obligation to address various legal and constitutional issues which impact the grant of bail if they arise in the facts of a case. Forgotten humanity in jails has been brought in full glare of the judicial process. In these facts and circumstances the court cannot abdicate its constitutional role, and turn a blind eye to their suffering.

II. Submissions of learned counsels

3. Shri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel assisted by Shri Satish Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant makes the following submissions:

A. The applicant belongs to a economically deprived class of citizenry, who was abandoned by his near and dear ones after his imprisonment. He has no effective pairokar to conduct his case.

B. The applicant did not have access to legal aid to file his bail applications in a timely manner before the trial court as well as this Court.

C. Denial of legal aid delayed recourse to the legal remedy of bail, and caused unjustified incarceration.

D. Right of the applicant to legal aid is a fundamental right and is also a statutory right vested in him by the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987.

4. Learned members of the Bar also made submissions on the issue of legal aid and pointed out various other instances where under trials in cases of heinous crimes could not approach the courts for consideration of bail applications in a timely manner due to lack of legal aid. Shri Rishi Chaddha, learned A.G.A. and Shri Paritosh Kumar Malviya, learned A.G.A. have assisted the Court on behalf of the State.

Learned counsels at the Bar have called attention to the statutory provisions of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, rulings of constitutional courts and the jail manual, which will be discussed in the narrative.

III. Prisoners' Rights

"Prison and the authorities conspire to rob each man of his dignity"1.

5. Stephen William Hawking in his book "The Grand Design" relates an incident where keeping fish in bowls was banned in Italy. The sponsor of the measure demonstrated that fish in spherical bowls develop a distorted vision with passage of time. Prison conditions which are not under constitutional watch will degrade human life and distort human vision.

6. India's long freedom struggle seared the experience of oppressive prison regimes and steeled the resolve to improve prison conditions.

7. Constitutional courts have fortified certain inviolable fundamental rights of prisoners. The discussion will profit by referencing some authorities. While examining conditions of jailed prisoners, the Supreme Court in Sunil Batra v. Delhi Administration and Ors.2, acknowledged the restricted fundamental rights of prisoners but found in no uncertain terms that "Part III of the Constitution does not part company with the prisoner at the gates, and judicial oversight protects the prisoners' shrunken fundamental rights, if flouted, frowned upon or frozen by the prison authority." Further"...The operation of Article 14, 19 and 21 may be pared down for a prisoner but not puffed out altogether." Finally the following proposition was entrenched in the body of case laws relating to fundamental rights of prisoners."56...So the law is that for a prisoner all fundamental rights are an enforceable reality, though restricted by the fact of imprisonment."

8. Hussainara Khatoon and others (I) v. Home Secretary, State of Bihar3 recognized the right of speedy trial of a prisoner flowing from Article 21 of the Constitution of India "to be implicit in the broad sweep" of Article 21 of the Constitution. Other facets of fundamental rights of prisoners have been propounded in Mohammad Giasuddin vs. State of Andhra Pradesh4, Sunil Batra (II) v. Delhi Administration5, Sheela Barse v. State of Maharashtra6, Nilabati Behera (Smt) alias Lalita Behera (Through the Supreme Court Legal Aid Committee) v.

State of Orissa and Ors7, and Shabnam v. Union of India and others8.

9. This Court in Gobardhan Singh and another v. State of U.P.9 noted the abject conditions of a large number of forgotten "nameless" prisoners and set forth:

"This is not just an isolated case. We realize that there are a large number of such cases of forgotten "nameless" prisoners who have become "ticket numbers" and are languishing in jails for prolonged periods of time, as under trials (UTs) or as convicted prisoners whose appeals are pending almost interminably before Higher Courts, who may or may not have filed bail applications and who have become very old, or are ailing from an incurable disease, or who may even have become immobile or have lost any capacity to commit a further crime. The complainant (if any) has lost any interest in prosecuting them or in keeping them in jail any longer. Usually the families of such accused have been destroyed, or reduced to such abject poverty, as happens when a family member contracts a serious disease, that they cannot pay counsel's fee or incur the recurring unavoidable expenditures in Court offices to get applications and affidavits prepared or the matters listed, and the bail or case disposed of. The relatively luckier children and dependents may perhaps have been provided with a roof over their heads by a grudging relative, or they may have been placed in a State or private run children's home. Others may simply have been abandoned to the street. The daughters in the family may not have been married off, and may be getting exploited by some social deviant in the family or outside. Keeping such prisoners in jail any further, in the already overcrowded jails, serves no useful purpose and is an unnecessary burden on the State and the tax payer."

10. The concerns expressed in Gobardhan Singh (supra) were followed up by commensurate action in Bachchey Lal v. State of U.P.10 by issuing various directions for ameliorating the conditions of prisoners and upholding their rights.

11. Constitutional courts have consistently protected the dignity and rights of prisoners in jails.

IV. Right of bail

12. The right of bail is acknowledged as a statutory right, but is also seen in the perspective of constitutional liberties by good authorities in point. Various facts of the right to seek bail were examined by this Court in Junaid Vs. State of U.P.11 and Ajeet Chaudhary Vs. State of U.P. and another12

13. The aforesaid authorities establish the undeniable linkage between right of bail and fundamental right to personal liberty. Every prisoner has a fundamental right to file an application for bail before the competent court as per law and without delay.

V. Legal Aid: A. Constitutional Law Backdrop

14. Liberty was assured to all citizens in the constitutional text, but justice is dear to many citizens in the real world. Inalienable constitutional rights are severed by compelling socio economic realities. Poverty, social exclusion and lack of legal aid impede the course of justice. Article 39A of the Constitution of India removes the barriers in redeeming the preamble promise of securing justice for all citizens. Article 39A of the Constitution of India underscores the importance of providing legal aid to serve equal justice to all citizens and states so:

"39A. EQUAL JUSTICE AND FREE LEGAL AID.

The State shall secure that the operation of the legal system promotes justice, on a basis of equal opportunity, and shall, in particular, provide free legal aid, by suitable legislation or schemes or in any other way, to ensure that opportunities for securing justice are not denied to any citizen by reason of economic or other disabilities."

15. Free legal aid is today enshrined as a statutory right in the Legal Services Authorities Act. Free legal aid was earlier exalted as a fundamental right by constitutional law. Holdings of constitutional courts form the backdrop of the Legal Services Authorities Act. Allahabad High Court had pioneered the concept of legal aid as intrinsic to a fair trial in the fabled dissent of Hon'ble Syed Mahmood J in Queen-Empress v. Pohpi and others13. Denial of legal aid causes violation of fair, reasonable and just procedure, unjustified incarceration, and curtailment of liberty. Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India are engaged in these circumstances.

16. In this regard reference can be made profitably to the following holdings in Hussainara Khatoon and others (IV) v. Home Secretary, State of Bihar, Patna14made after referencing Article 39A of the Constitution of India:

"7.....This Article also emphasises that free legal service is an inalienable element of 'reasonable, fair and just' procedure for without it a person suffering from economic or other disabilities would be deprived of the opportunity for securing justice. The right to free legal services is, therefore, clearly an essential ingredient of 'reasonable, fair and just, procedure for a person accused of an offence and it must be held implicit in the guarantee of Article 21. This is a constitutional right of every accused person who is unable to engage a lawyer and secure legal services on account of reasons such as poverty, indigence or incommunicado situation and the State is under a mandate to provide a lawyer to an accused person if the circumstances of the case and theneeds of justice so required, provided of course the accused person does not object to the provision of such lawyer."

17. The need to rescue the credibility of the legal system and restore the faith of the common man in the justice system was emphasized in following terms:

"9. We may also take this opportunity of impressing upon the Government of India as also the State Governments, the urgent necessity of introducing a dynamic and comprehensive legal service programme with a view to reaching justice to the common man. Today, unfortunately, in our country the poor are priced out of the judicial system with the result that they are losing faith in the capacity of our legal system to bring about changes in their life conditions and to deliver justice to them. The poor in their contract with the legal system have always been on the wrong side of the law. They have always come across "law for the poor" rather than "law of the poor". The law is regarded by them as something mysterious and forbidding-always taking something away from them and not as a positive and constructive social device for changing the socio economic order and improving their life conditions by conferring rights and benefits on them. The result is that the legal system has lost its credibility for the weaker sections of the community. It is, therefore, necessary that we should inject equal justice into legality and that can be done only by dynamic and activist scheme of legal services. ....We would strongly recommend to the Government of India and the State Governments that it is high time that a comprehensive legal service programme is introduced in the country. That is not only a mandate of equal justice implicit inArticle 14and right to life and liberty conferred by Article 21, but also the compulsion of the constitutional directive embodied in Article 39A."

True then, true now.

18. The courts too have a duty to ensure that prisoners appearing in criminal proceedings have access to legal aid. Courts cannot remain mute spectators when legal aid is denied to prisoners in legal proceedings before them.

19. The trial courts stand at a vantage point in these matters and are best circumstanced to understand the need of legal aid of the prisoners appearing before them.

20. The Supreme Court in Khatri and others (II) v. State of Bihar15 and others recognized pervasive legal illiteracy in the country and cast an obligation on trial judges to bring about the fruition of the rights of prisoners to free legal aid in the following terms:

"But even this right to free legal services would be illusory for an indigent accused unless the magistrate or the Sessions Judge before whom he is produced informs him of such right. It is common knowledge that about 70 per cent of the people in the rural areas are illiterate and even more than that percentage of people are not aware of the rights conferred upon them by law. There is so much lack of legal awareness that it has always been recognised as one of the principal items of the programme of the legal aid movement in this country to promote legal literacy. It would make a mockery of legal aid if it were to be left to a poor ignorant and illiterate accused to ask for free legal services. Legal aid would become merely a paper promise and it would fail of its purpose. The magistrate or the sessions judge before whom the accused appears must be held to be under an obligation to inform the accused that if he is unable to engage the services of a lawyer on account of poverty or indigence, he is entitled to obtain free legal services at the cost of the State. Unfortunately, the judicial magistrates failed to discharge this obligation in the case of the blinded prisoners and they merely stated that no legal representation was asked for by the blinded prisoners and hence none was provided. We would, therefore, direct the magistrates and Session Judges in the country to inform every accused who appears before them and who is not represented by a lawyer on account of his poverty or indigence that he is entitled to free legal services at the cost of the State. Unless he is not willing to take advantage of the free legal services provided by the State, he must be provided legal representation at the cost of the State."

Prophetic words which fell on institutions with short memories.

21. The aforesaid propositions are entrenched in the body of judicial precedents as is evident from readings of Madhav Hayawadanrao Hoskot v. State of Maharashtra16 and Suk das v. Union Territory of Arunachal Pradesh17 and State of Andhra Pradesh v. Challa Ramkrishna Reddy18.

22. The right to free legal aid, responsibility of the trial courts and the Government is stated in Section 304 of the Code of Criminal Procedure:

"304. Legal aid to accused at State expense in certain cases.-(1)Where, in a trial before the Court of Session, the accused is not represented by a pleader, and where it appears to the Court that the accused has not sufficient means to engage a pleader, the Court shall assign a pleader for his defence at the expense of the State.

(2)The High Court may, with the previous approval of the State Government, make rules providing for-

(a)the mode of selecting pleaders for defence under sub- section (1);

(b)the facilities to be allowed to such pleaders by the Courts;

(c)the fees payable to such pleaders by the Government, and generally, for carrying out the purposes of sub- section (1).

(3)The State Government may, by notification, direct that, as from such date as may be specified in the notification, the provisions of sub- sections (1) and (2) shall apply in relation to any class of trials before other Courts in the State as they apply in relation to trials before Courts of Session."

V. Legal Aid: B. Statutory Scheme of LSA Act, 1987

23. The need for a specific statute and independent statutory authorities to provide "free legal and competent legal services (to the weaker sections of the society) to ensure that the opportunities of securing justice are not denied to any citizens by any reason of economic and other disabilities", was acknowledged by the legislature when it enacted the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act", 1987).

24. The Act is a welfare legislation. Settled canons of statutory interpretation will guide the court in construing the provisions of the Act. Cases in point settle the proposition that welfare legislations are liable to be interpreted liberally to ensure that beneficent measures contemplated by the legislature reach eligible persons.

25. The proposition will be reinforced by authorities. K.H.Nazar v. Mathew K.Jacob and others19 held that:

"Provisions of a beneficial legislation have to be construed with a purpose-oriented approach. The Actshould receive a liberal construction to promote its objects.6 Also, literal construction of the provisions of a beneficial legislation has to be avoided. It is the Court's duty to discern the intention of the legislature in making the law. Once such an intention is ascertained, the statute should receive a purposeful or functional interpretation."

[Also see: Union of India v. Prabhakaran Vijaya Kumar and others20, and Allahabad Bank and another v. All India Allahabad Bank Retired Employees Association.21]

26. Relevant provisions of the Act are discussed in the paragraphs that follow. Section 2 of the Act is the definition clause. Section 2 (aaa), section 2(c) and section 2(g) of the Act define "court", "legal service" and "scheme" respectively.

27. Section 2(aaa) is extracted below:

"Section 2 (aaa). "court" means a civil, criminal or revenue court and includes any tribunal or any other authority constituted under any law for the time being in force, to exercise judicial or quasi-judicial functions."

28. The definition of the word "court" is exhaustive. The vast reach of the provision envisages all proceedings pending before various courts and legally constituted tribunals and authorities where a lis can be instituted, and rights of citizens will be engaged and adjudicated as per law. Trial courts, revising courts and appellate courts alike come within the purview of the provision.

29. Section 2(c) of the Act reads as under:

"Section 2(c). legal service" includes the rendering of any service in the conduct of any case or other legal proceeding before any court or other authority or tribunal and the giving of advice on any legal matter."

30. The provision contains an inclusive definition of "legal service" and recognizes various collateral services which are integral to providing fruitful legal aid in the conduct of legal proceedings or giving legal advice. The wide ambit of the provision ensures that legal aid is not curbed by a constricted understanding, and legal services are rendered effectively.

31. The construction of the words "means" and "includes" used in the definition clauses in section 2(aaa) and section 2(c) is assisted by this iteration in Bharat Coop. Bank (Mumbai) Ltd. v. Coop. Bank Employees Union22 by holding thus:

"When in the definition clause given in any statute the word "means" is used, what follows is intended to speak exhaustively. The use of the word "means" indicates that the "definition is hard and fast definition, and no other meaning can be assigned to the same. On the other hand, when the word "includes" is used in the definition, the legislature does not intend to restrict the definition. It makes the definition enumerative and not exhaustive. That is to say, the term defined will retain its ordinary meaning but its scope would be extended to bring within its matter, which in its ordinary meaning may or may not comprise."

32. Section 2(g) of the Act reads as under:-

"Section 2(g). scheme" means any scheme framed by the Central Authority, a State Authority or a District Authority for the purpose of giving effect to any of the provisions of this Act."

33. The provision imparts statutory flavour to the schemes framed by various authorities under the Act. This creates enforceable rights in favour of the recipient and enhances efficacy of the schemes for legal aid.

34. Section 3 and Section 3A constitute National Legal Services Authority and the Supreme Court Legal Services Committee respectively.23 I

35. Section 6 constitutes the State Legal Services Authority. Section 8A and Section 9 constitute High Court Legal Services Committee and District Legal Services Authority respectively.24ii

36. Section 7 of the Act which defines the functions of the State Authority has a direct bearing on the controversy and is being reproduced below:

"Section 7. Functions of the State Authority-(1) It shall be the duty of the State Authority to give effect to the policy and directions of the Central Authority.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the functions referred to in sub- section (1), the State Authority shall perform all or any of the following functions, namely,-

(a) give legal service to persons who satisfy the criteria laid down under this Act;

(b) conduct Lok Adalats, including Lok Adalats for High Court cases;

(c) undertake preventive and strategic legal aid programmes; and

(d) perform such other functions as the State Authority may, in consultation with the Central Authority, fix by regulations."

37. Among other functions the statute unequivocally enjoins upon the State Authority to give legal aid to persons who satisfy the criteria laid down under this Act, and to undertake "preventive and strategic legal aid programmes". The power to undertake legal aid programmes by creating various schemes and procedures is guided in broad and conceptual terms, and not by a minutely detailed framework.

38. The meaning of "strategic" in Oxford dictionary is "forming part of a long-term plan or aim to achieve a specific purpose." The meaning of "preventive" is "designed to prevent something from occurring." The words "strategic" and "preventive" in Section 7 are of wide import which envisage the State Legal Services Authority to independently and proactively create schemes to provide legal aid and prevent miscarriage of justice.

39. Entitlement to legal services is provided for in Chapter IV. Section 12 of the Act25iii contains the criteria for giving legal services. Section 12(e) of the Act is germane to the controversy and is extracted below:-

"Section 12(e) a person under circumstances of underserved want such as being a victim of a mass disaster, ethnic violence, caste atrocity, flood, drought, earthquake or industrial disaster."

40. The eligibility criteria for giving legal services under Section 12(e) is broad based.

The breadth of the provision manifests the legislative intent to reach out to the last person at the bottom of the social heap. The section contemplates to give legal aid to persons who suffer from deprivation and exclusion caused by circumstances of want which are not of their making.

Under the provision persons facing circumstances of "undeserved want" become entitled for legal services. The phrase "undeserved want" is generic in nature. The word "such as" precedes the examples of "undeserved want" described in the section. The instances of "undeserved want" depicted in the provision are illustrative and not exhaustive, and are in the nature of externalities i.e. adverse circumstances over which a person has no control and which prevent recourse to justice.

The phrase "undeserved want" in the statute is not a fixed concept but an evolutionary exercise. The State Legal Services Authority is mandated to enquire whether the circumstances of a person being considered for legal aid fall within the sweep of "undeserved want".

41. The entitlement to legal services of persons who satisfy any of the criteria laid down in Section 12 of the Act is vested by virtue of Section 13 of the Act.

"Section 13. Entitlement to legal services.-(1) Persons who satisfy or any of the criteria specified in section 12 shall be entitled to receive legal services provided that the concerned Authority is satisfied that such person has a prima-facie case to prosecute or to defend.

(2) An affidavit made by a person as to his income may be regarded as sufficient for making him eligible to the entitlement of legal services under this Act unless the concerned Authority has reason to disbelieve such affidavit."

42. A conjoint reading of various provisions detailed above establishes that for grant of aid the legislature has made no distinction between persons who are imprisoned for heinous offences or non heinous crimes. Further, eligible persons are entitled to legal services at any stage of proceedings (whether pre trial, trial or appeal or revisional) which he or she is prosecuting or defending. (Ref: Rajoo alias Ramakant Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh26).

43. Under the scheme of the Act the Legal Services Authorities also have to suo moto initiate the process of identifying classes of persons who face circumstances of "undeserved want", educate them on their right to legal aid, frame schemes, determine the nature of legal services required in the case, and give them requisite legal services.

44. The statute envisages that the arms of law are long enough to reach injustice. The constitution ensures that the arms of courts are strong enough to serve justice.

45. In light of the scheme of the Act thus discussed, I hold that persons who cannot file bail applications before the competent court due to these reasons.

(a) they do not have resources to do so,

(b) have been abandoned by friends and family after their incarceration,

(c) do not have any pairokar,

(d) have not been educated of their right to move a bail application without delay; are victims within the scope of "undeserved want".

46. Such class of persons are entitled to legal services, the nature of which has to be decided by the statutory authorities.

47. Similarly there are persons who fail to file bail applications before the trial court in a timely manner after their detention, or do not expeditiously approach the High Court for bail after the rejection of their bail applications by the trial court. The said cases prima facie fall within the ambit of "undeserved want", subject to enquiry by the State Legal Services Authority or the District Legal Services Authority.

V. Legal Aid: C. Instances and Consequences of denial of legal aid

48. The applicant was in jail since 06.12.2017. He was able to file a bail application before the trial court in 2019

i.e. after a delay of more than one year. The bail application was rejected on 04.06.2019 by the trial court. He could approach this Court for bail only in the year 2022 i.e. three years after the trial court refused him bail.

49. The applicant was delayed in taking recourse to legal remedies and securing justice because of financial penury, lack of legal awareness, absence of pairokar and denial of legal aid.

50. This case is not a one off. While sitting in bail jurisdiction, I noticed a number of cases where bail applications were filed after inordinate delays because the prisoners did not have access to legal aid. The other category of cases was where bail applications could be filed but lay unattended in the cold storage of the Registry. In the latter cases lack of funds and absence of pairokars led to ineffective prosecution causing indefinite delays in hearing.

And so the prisoners wait resigned to their fate.

51. Some like cases which were pointed out by the members of the Bar.

[I. Rajnish v. State of U.P. in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.20805 of 2022, II. Chhotey vs. State of U.P. in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.5328 of 2018, III. Mahesh Chandra Shukla v. State of U.P. in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.17940 of 2022, IV. Vikas Dwivedi v. State of U.P. in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.22375 of 2020 and V. Ramu Vs. State of U.P. in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.17912 of 2019]

52. In Rajnish (supra) the applicant was in jail since 26.04.2011. The first bail application was filed by the applicant before the trial court 11 years after his imprisonment. The trial had not concluded when the applicant was enlarged on bail by this Court on 06.08.2022. While granting bail the Court was constrained to hold:

"This is the first bail application which has been moved by the applicant before this Court. The applicant belongs to the bottom heap of humanity and unfortunately forgotten class of citizens. He did not have the resources to engage a counsel nor was he given to access to legal aid for these long years. Constitutional promise of securing justice has been denied to him.

However, it is for all instruments of governance, the trial courts, the police authorities, the legal services authorities to introspect and bring about necessary systemic corrections with the conviction that such a state of affairs will not be repeated. Never again. The District Legal Services Authority in the State of Uttar Pradesh shall draw up a list of prisoners who are incarcerated for long period and examine whether they have not been able to move bail applications due to penury and lack of access to legal aid. Corrective measures should accordingly be taken. Legal aid workshop should be conducted in every jail in the State of Uttar Pradesh to ensure that such grievances are promptly redressed."

53. In Ramu (supra) the applicant was in jail since 14.02.2008. The first bail application was rejected by this Court on 15.11.2008. The applicant was able to file the second bail application before the High Court in 2019 i.e. more than 11 years after the rejection of first bail application by this Court. Thereafter, further three years delay occurred in hearing of the bail due to applicant's inability to file listing application and effectively prosecute them. The trial had not concluded when the bail was granted by this Court on 16.07.2022.

54. In Chhotey (supra) the applicant was in jail since 22.02.2014. The first bail application of the applicant was rejected by this Court on 19.08.2014. The second bail of the applicant was filed more than three years after the rejection of first bail application by this Court. Further four years delay happened as the applicant lacked resources to file listing applications and prosecute them effectively.

55. It is noteworthy that in Chhotey (supra) the trial proceedings came to a halt in the year 2012 when the records of the trial court were transmitted to this Court. During eight years of imprisonment of the applicant the trial was at a stand-still. While granting bail to the applicant on 16.03.2022 in Chhotey (supra) this Court made these observations :

"The comments of the trial judge indicate that the records of the case were transmitted to this Court in compliance of the orders passed on 12.09.2012. In the comments sent by trial judge it is further stated that in the absence of the records the Sessions Trial No. 956 of 2013 (State Vs Chhotey) cannot proceed. Without availability of original documents including the case diary the applicant could not be charged by the trial court. As per the comments of the trial court various communications were sent by the trial court on 28.03.2014, 27.09.2014, 14.01.2020, 15.01.2021, 04.08.2021 to the High Court. However the records have not yet been transmitted to the trial court. From the aforesaid submissions as well as the records available before this Court it appears that the applicant has been in detention since 22.02.2014 but has not been charged by the trial court till date. The trial against the applicant is yet to commence."

Denial of legal aid was highlighted in the aforesaid order.

56. In Vikas Dwivedi (supra) the applicant was in jail since 05.03.2013. The applicant was able to file the bail application before the trial court more than four and half years after his imprisonment. He could file the first bail application before this Court more than six months after the rejection of his bail by the trial court. The first bail application of the applicant was rejected by this Court on 17.05.2018. The second bail of the applicant was filed more than two years after the rejection of first bail application by this Court. Thereafter, further two years of delay was occasioned due to lack of resources to file listing applications and prosecute the same effectively. When the applicant was granted bail by this Court on 17.02.2022 the trial had not concluded.

57. In Mahesh Chandra Shukla (supra) the applicant was in jail since 12.07.2009. The fourth bail was filed nine years after the rejection of the third bail. Trial had not concluded when bail was granted by this Court on 29.08.2022.

58. Many of the aforesaid bail applications were delayed second or subsequent bail applications before this Court.

The grounds for second or subsequent bail applications can be promptly advised to prisoners only when they have regular and unimpeded access to legal aid.

59. The failure of justice in the said cases was occasioned by poverty, social exclusion, legal illiteracy, impersonal administration and denial of legal aid.

Exactions of poverty are more severe than punishments in law. For them the glorious dawn of the 75th year of independence has lost the sheen of freedom's ideals and the substance of the republic's promise.

60. Injustice is the birthmark of a slave nation. Justice is the birthright of a free people and our constitution says they shall have it.

The resolve of the "people of India" to secure justice for all citizens was embedded in the Constitution of India.

61. All stakeholder institutions have to pause and reflect. The judiciary too have to turn the searchlights inwards. The courts have the power to judge, but cannot escape the judgement of the nation's collective conscience. Independence of judiciary is strengthened by honest introspection and self correction.

62. The Bar of the Allahabad High Court spoke for prisoners who had lost their voice, and worked tirelessly without thought of remuneration or expectation of reward. The learned counsels uphold the highest traditions of the profession, and shine light on the hallowed heritage of this Court.

63. Shri Ajay Kumar Pathak, learned counsel, Shri Saurabh Yadav, learned counsel, Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel, Ms.Ushma Mishra, learned counsel and Shri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel and Shri Rishi Chaddha, learned A.G.A. and Shri Paritosh Kumar Malviya, learned A.G.A. in the aforesaid cases respectively deserve fullest appreciation. In such matters, Shri N.I. Jafri, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Ms. Nasira Adil, learned counsel, Ms. Gunjan Jadhwani, learned counsel, Shri Omar Zamin, learned counsel and Shri Rajrshi Gupta, learned counsel have unconditionally volunteered to take up the causes. The learned counsels have always assisted the Court competently. They researched painstakingly and argued with ability.

V. Legal Aid: D. NLSA Scheme for Legal Aid

64. The plight of prisoners who suffer long incarcerations due to interminable delays in the criminal justice system was noticed by the Supreme Court. In 'Re-inhuman conditions in 1382 jails' (Writ Petition (Civil) No.406 of 2013)27 various directions were issued by the Supreme Court on 24.04.2015 to the National Legal Services Authority (NLSA), and the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) to set up Under Trial Review Committees (UTRCs) in every district. Functioning of the UTRCs improved consequent to directions of the Supreme Court issued on various dates.

65. The campaign for release of prisoners gained force momentum after a scheme was initiated by the National Legal Services Authority to commemorate the 75th year of independence. The programme is being implemented with full vigour in the State of Uttar Pradesh by the State Legal Services Authority in conjunction with the District Legal Services Authority.

The cases like that of the applicant and in issue before this Court are not covered by the said scheme.

V. Legal Aid: E. Summation

66. In summation legal aid is a catalyst to redeem the preamble promise of justice and remains a bulwark for protection of fundamental rights.

67. The rights to file a bail without delay, and access to legal aid of an eligible prisoner are intertwined. They cannot be separated. The right of moving a bail application becomes illusory and personal liberty remains a distant dream, if the right to legal aid of an entitled prisoner is not effectuated.

68. Fresh breeze of fundamental rights shall blow through the stone walls that a prison make. Iron bars of jails cannot hold back the glad tidings of equal justice.

VI. Conclusions & Directions

69. Anonymity of a prisoner imposed by isolation cannot suppress the identity of a citizen created by the Constitution. Fundamental rights of prisoners paired with statutory duties of the State Legal Services Authority cast an obligation on the SLSA to devise a scheme (I) to identify prisoners who are undertrial for various crimes including heinous offences and have not applied for bail before the trial court in a timely manner after their imprisonment, (II) to identify prisoners who are facing trials for various crimes including heinous offences but have failed to file bail applications before the High Court in an expeditious time frame after rejection of their bail application by the trial court, (III) to identify prisoners who are facing trials in various offences including heinous crimes but are unable to file subsequent bails before the High Court after rejection of earlier bail application by this Court, (IV) to identify prisoners who are unable to effectively prosecute their pending bail applications in various offences including heinous crimes causing delays in hearing, (V) to ascertain whether inability of the said prisoners to expeditiously file or effectively prosecute bail application is caused by factors comprehended under Section 12 read with Section 13 of the Act, (VI) to approach prisoners who qualify for legal aid, educate them on their rights of filing bail applications without delay, and determine the nature of legal aid needed by them, (VII) to provide legal aid and facilitate filing of bail applications of such prisoners in a timely manner before the competent courts, (VIII) to facilitate counsels in getting necessary instructions, relevant documents, office support for filing the bail applications. (IX) to facilitate effective prosecution of bail applications by the counsels who should take out measures for listing of bails and hearing of matters.

70. This exercise of identification of prisoners, determination of their eligibility for legal aid and giving legal aid should be an established procedure in jails which should be undertaken on a continuous basis and without any break by the District Legal Services Authority.

71. The jail authorities too have responsibilities in this regard. The duties of jail officials to prevent "undue long detention of prisoners are stated in Regulation 439(a) of the U.P. Jail Manual. [Ref: the U.P. Jail Manual28 iv]

72. The jail authorities as well as concerned State authorities are directed to cooperate with the State Legal Services

Authority and the District Legal Services Authority and ensure effective implementation of the schemes framed by the State Legal Services Authority.

73. This scheme will have the added benefit as delayed trials or pending appeals will come to the notice of the High Court for appropriate directions as per law.

74. Following suggestions for effective implementation for the said scheme may be considered :

A. To create a comprehensive programme with SOPs for legal aid to prisoners accused of various crimes including heinous offences who have not filed bail applications before the High Court within a period of one year after rejection of bail by the trial court. The said period of one year is only suggestive. The said period has to be determined by the State Legal Services Authority.

B. To create a comprehensive programme with SOPs for giving legal aid to prisoners accused of committing various crimes including heinous offences who have not been able to move bail applications before the trial court six months after imprisonment. The said period of six months is only suggestive. The said period has to be determined by the State Legal Services Authority.

C. The State Legal Services Authority may suggest to the High Court to decide an appropriate procedure for filing of bail applications on behalf of the undertrial prisoners, and particularly those who do not have any pairokars.

D. Legal aid counsels may be given appropriate directions to take measures for listing and early hearing of bail applications.

E. Filing of subsequent bail applications in case the first bail application is rejected by the High Court.

F. The jail authorities and District Legal Services Authority shall maintain the list of all prisoners which shall contain these details. Date of imprisonment, date of filing of bail application before the competent court, date of grant/rejection of bail application by the trial court, the date of grant/rejection of bail application by the High Court, date of conviction and latest status of pending bail applications. Efforts should be made to make updated ordersheets of courts, likely dates of listing available online in jails.

G. Regular intimation of the status of the case to the prisoners. Take regular feedback from prisoners including those who have been given legal aid.

VII. Order on bail application

75. By means of this first bail application the applicant has prayed to be enlarged on bail in Case Crime No. 880 of 2017 at Police Station Neodiya, District Jaunpur under Section 302 IPC. The applicant is in jail since 06.12.2017.

76. The bail application of the applicant was rejected by learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Jaunpur on 04.06.2019.

77. Sri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel assisted by Sri Satish Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant contend that the applicant has been falsely implicated in the instant case. The applicant was not named in the FIR. There is no direct evidence against the applicant and he had no motive to commit the murder. At best it is a case of circumstantial evidence. The recovered items were planted on the applicant by the police authorities only to burnish their professional credentials. There is no independent witness to the recovery. The recovered items cannot be connected with the offence. The applicant was not last seen in the company of the deceased at a time proximate to the death of the latter. The time of death opined in the post mortem report contradicts the prosecution case. The chain of incriminating circumstances against the applicant is neither complete nor reliable. The applicant has explained part of his criminal history. The learned counsel reiterates the ground of denial of legal aid causing prolonged imprisonment.

78. Learned AGA points out two more criminal cases registered against the applicant while he was in jail.

Rejoining the issue, learned counsel for the applicant submits that the aforesaid cases could not be disclosed as the applicant does not have any effective parokar to take details of the case. However on the basis of instructions from the applicant and from the record of learned AGA, learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant was falsely implicated in the aforesaid cases when he raised his voice against the excesses of jail authorities and demanded legal aid.

79. Shri Rishi Chaddha, learned A.G.A for the State could not satisfactorily dispute the aforesaid submissions from the record.

80. The applicant was granted interim bail on 18.08.2022 by this Court.

81. Let the applicant- Anil Gaur @ Sonu @ Sonu Tomar be released on bail in the aforesaid case crime number on furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court below. The following conditions be imposed in the interest of justice:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the date fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

21. Satendra Kumar Antil Vs C.B.I., passed in S.L.P (Crl.) No. 34 of 37 5191 of 2021

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth, J.)

1. Heard Sri P. C. Srivastava, learned counsel for the applicant; Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel for the informant; learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material on record.

2. In the first information report eight persons, including the applicant, have been implicated for causing the offence of attempt to murder, rioting armed with deadly weapons and forming illegal assembly for prosecution of a common object of murder. There is allegation in the first information report that uncle of informant, Mukesh Agarwal, was sitting on pavement of his house and talking to one, Swadesh, when co-accused, Deepesh Sethiya, came on his Scorpio car and co-accused, Shubham Tamrakar, came out of the car and directed one car standing to be removed and he started abusing. Co-accused, Akhilesh Vishwakarma was also with him. The father of the informant on hearing the noise came out. At the same time other brothers of Deepesh Sethiya, namely, Rakesh Kumar, Vinod Kumar, Manish Kumar, Manoj Sethiya, Kallu @ Sajiv Sethiya etc., came out. Deepesh Sethiya and Rakesh Kumar fired which did not hit any one and in the commotion which followed every one tried to protect themselves from Sethiya brothers. All the accused persons fired on the father of informant, Ashok Agarwal and uncle of the informant, Mukesh Agarwal. Ashok Agarwal, the father of the informant, suffered number of injuries and the uncle of the informant suffered injuries in his leg. Subsequently, father of the informant, Ashok Agarwal, died and implication of the accused persons was also made under Section 302 I.P.C in addition to earlier implication under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 302, 504 I.P.C, Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that the father of the informant and his uncle both sustained injuries. On the body of the father of informant following injuries were found :-

(a) Septic shock with abdominal sepsis with acute kidney injury.

(b) Status post exploratory laparotomy.

(c) Alleged history of firearm injury on abdomen and right thigh.

(d) Hemoperitoneum with multiple jejunal perforation due to firearm injury.

4. In the statement of the informant, Aman Agarwal, recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., no specific role was assigned to the applicant. The role of firing was assigned to co-accused, Deepesh and Rakesh. In the statement of eye-witness, Amit Agarwal, also he assigned general role to all the accused persons. The injured, Mukesh Agrawal, also did not assigned any specific role to the applicant in his statement recorded by Investigating Officer.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that applicant has been falsely implicated in this case along with his co-accused brothers, including, Deepesh Sethiya and Rakesh Sethiya, who were assigned the role of firing but it did not hit any one. He has submitted that the entire family has been falsely implicated in this case for ulterior motives. Applicant is in jail since 15.06.2021 and has no criminal history to his credit.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Mariadasan and others Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 1980 SCC (Crl.) 523 and has submitted that the Apex Court held in this case that where sudden heated altercation and fight between two parties occurred and deceased tried to intervene, was assaulted on the spur of moment, no unlawful assembly can be said to have been formed at any time with common object of assaulting and killing the deceased. He has further relied upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Puran Vs. State of Rajasthan, 1975 SCC (Crl.) 750, wherein the Apex Court held that in the case of sudden and free fight constructive liability cannot be imposed as per Section 149 I.P.C. Reliance has also been placed on the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sherey and others Vs. State of U.P., 1991 SCC (Crl.) page 1059, wherein the Apex Court held that where number of accused armed with lethal weapons attacked the victim, it shows that they were members of unlawful assembly with common object of committing murder but the other accused mentioned in an omnibus way who were armed with lathis cannot be implicated without attributing any overt acts to anyone of them and medical evidence ruling out any injury by lathis such accused cannot be convicted. He has submitted that in the first information report two co-accused namely, Deepesh and Rakesh, are stated to have made firing and thereafter omnibus allegations have been made that all the eight accused fired on the deceased and injured his brother which will not make all of them liable for punishment under Section 149 I.PC.

7. Learned for the informant has vehemently opposed the bail application. He has relied upon the judgement in the case of Kumer Singh Vs. State of Rajasthan and another, 2021 (4) Crimes

(SC) Mah 461 and has argued that in this case the Apex Court set aside the order passed by the High Court granting bail to the accused without considering the facts of the case, nature of allegation, gravity of offence and role attributed to the accused. The Apex Court held that High Court did not consider whether the accused is alleged to be part of unlawful assembly. Merely because he was armed with lathi cannot be a ground for release him on bail. Such an order passed by the High Court was set aside. He has relied upon the judgement of this court in the case of Mahfooj Alam Vs. State of U.P. , wherein the judgment of Kumer Singh (Supra) was relied by this Court.

8. Learned AGA has opposed the prayer for bail but could not dispute the above submissions.

9. This court after hearing rival contentions finds that the facts of this court are not disputed. The only point requires to be decided is whether the applicant has been assigned any overt role in the incident and can be considered to be member of unlawful assembly formed for the purpose attaining the common object of committing the offence of murder and attempt to murder. Whether the constructive liability provided under Section 149 I.P.C can be considered to have been extended to them regarding the alleged crime.

10. At the stage of consideration of bail application the court is required to rely upon the material collected by the Investigating Officer during the course of his investigation. The investigation of criminal cases is rarely fair and the report of the investigation officer under Section 173(2) are mostly one-sided and against the procedure of fair investigation.

11. Before proceeding further to decide the issue in hand, the basis of charge-sheet and the manner of investigation by police in a case involving cognizable offences needs consideration.

12. Investigation and charge-sheet form the genesis of the Criminal Trial. Charge-sheet is the outcome of investigation. Under Section 157 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the procedure of investigation in criminal cases has been incorporated. It requires the intimation of information to the police officer on the commission of a crime. The investigation includes all the procedures which are done by the police officer under the Code for the collection of evidence. The police on registration of FIR shall upon perusal of the facts of the case decide the line of investigation i.e., whether there is circumstantial evidence or eyewitnesses. Circumstantial evidence is the something which is a chain of circumstances that lead to the crime for example previous animosity, threats, last seen theory. It is basically connection of various circumstances to the crime. On the other hand, eyewitnesses are those who have seen the incident take place.

13. The police officer who is pursuing the investigation is empowered to require the attendance of the witnesses. The witnesses shall be such who are acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case. The powers have been conferred under Section 160 of the Code. The provisions of Section 160 of the Code explicitly mention that no male below fifteen years or a woman shall be called to attend at any other place than the place where she resides.

14. The non-compliance of summons under Section 160 of the Code is punishable under Section 174 of the Code. The person who is required to appear when served summons does not do so shall be liable to simple imprisonment up to one month or with a fine up to INR 500 or both. The section only requires the attendance of the witnesses and furnishing of relevant information about them. The police officer cannot insist upon the witnesses for the production of documents before him. The order which requires the attendance of a person needs to be in written form.

15. The most crucial part of the investigation lies in the examination of witnesses. The statements made by them can hold a person guilty. The police officer who is investigating the case has been empowered to conduct witness examination. The witnesses are bound to answer the questions which are related to the case truly. Section 161 lays down the procedure for the examination of witnesses by the police.

16. The investigating officer shall examine the persons who are acquainted with the facts of the case. It is the duty of the investigating officer to record the statements of the eyewitnesses without any delay. After examining the witnesses, it is required by the police officer to write down the statement made by the witness. There should be no delay on the part of the police officer investigating the case in examining the witnesses. In the event of a delay of the examination of the witness, the onus lies on the investigating officer for explaining the reasons for the delay.

17. When the delay has been properly explained, it does not have any adverse impact upon the probable value of a particular witness. The police officer while examining the witnesses is not bound to reduce the statements made into writing. It is preferred that the statements should be written or the substance of the whole examination should be written down at least. The recorded statements are required to be noted down in the case diary maintained under Section 172 of the Code.

18. A police officer or the investigating officer has been empowered under section 165 of the Code to search the premises whenever he feels necessary or has reasonable grounds to believe the same. The investigating officer or the officer-in-charge conducts the search when he believes that there are sufficient or reasonable grounds to pursue the same. The search is conducted when there is an absolute necessity for the same. Section 93(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure provides for the grounds under which a warrant for search shall be issued. Moreover, the search has to be recorded in the diary otherwise it becomes illegal.

19. The investigating officer would go to the locality where the offence was committed and get two people called the "Panchas'. The evidence given by the Panchas is of paramount importance. They sign a document called the Panchnama which contains the evidence collected out of the search. It is signed by them which validates the search and the procedure adopted during the investigation.

20. Panchnama has not been defined anywhere in the law. However, it is a document which holds great value in criminal cases. The Panchnama states things which were found at a particular place and at a particular time. After this, a memorandum of the search is prepared by the investigating officer or the officer-in-charge. It needs to be submitted to the Magistrate. The police officer-in-charge or the investigating officer who has a valid warrant is to be allowed to conduct the search of a place. Force may be used if he is not allowed to do so. The search is not just only of the premises but also of a person. If it is a female, a female officer shall search her with utmost decency. The search of the closed place or of a person has to be made before two respectable persons of the society. These respectable persons are known as the "Panchas'. They need to sign the document validating the search. However, the Panchas need not necessarily be called as witnesses.

21. Under Section 47 of the Code, the search of a place can be conducted by the police when they have to arrest a person. The police can break in and enter if they are not being allowed in the place. There is also an allowance for no-knock break-in to take place: this is done to take the person by surprise. The basic objective of conducting a search is to find evidence which may help in solving the case.

22. Section 91 of the Code of Criminal Procedure states that whenever a Court or the officer-in-charge of a police station feels that a document or some other thing is necessary for the purpose of the investigation, such Court may issue summon or the officer may in writing, order the person in whose possession the document is to be produced. The document shall be produced at the date and time specified in the summons served to the person. This section does not apply to a person who is accused and on trial.

23. The Court cannot issue a summons for the production of a document or a thing by the accused. This is because it will become self-incrimination under Article 20(3) of the Constitution of India.

24. Under section 92 of the Code, if a document or other thing or a parcel is in the custody of a postal or telegraph authority, and the Magistrate whether Judicial or Executive, any of the Courts wanted that that document for the purpose of investigation, such Magistrate or the Court may order the authority to produce the document before them.

25. Section 173 of the Code requires the investigating officer to file a report before the Magistrate after the collection of evidence and examination of witnesses are done with. This section requires that each and every investigation shall be completed without any unnecessary delay.

26. The report under Section 169 of the Code can be referred to as the Closure Report. Closure report is the one in which it is stated that there is not enough evidence to prove that the offence has been committed by the accused. Once the closure report is filed before the Magistrate, he may accept and the report the case as closed, direct a further investigation into the case, issue a notice to the first informant as he is the only person who can challenge the report or he may directly reject the closure and take cognizance of the case.

27. A charge sheet is a final report prepared by the investigation or law enforcement agencies for proving the accusation of a crime in a criminal court of law. The report is basically submitted by the police officer in order to prove that the accused is connected with any offence or has committed any offence punishable under any penal statute having effect in India. The report entails and embodies all the stringent records right from the commencement of investigation procedure of lodging an FIR to till the completion of investigation and preparation of final report. Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 provides for report of the police officer. Filing of the Charge-Sheet indicates the end of investigation.

28. The purpose of a charge-sheet is to notify a person of criminal charges being issued against them. After the charge-sheet is filed, the person against whom the charge-sheet has been filed comes to be known as an accused. The filing of charge-sheet with the magistrate indicates commencement of criminal proceedings.

29. The U.P. Police Regulation 107 and 108 detail the procedure required to be followed by the Investigating Officer as follows:-

107. An Investigating Officer is not to regard himself as a mere clerk for the recording of statements. It is his duty to observe and to infer. In every case, he must use his own exprt observations of the scene of the offence and of the general circumstances to check the evidence of witnesses, and in cases in which the culprits are unknown to determine the direction in which he shall look for them. He must study the methods of local offenders who are known to the police with a view to recognizing their handiwork, and he must be on his guard against accepting the suspicions of witness and complaints when they conflict with obvious inferences from facts. He must remember that it his duty to find out the truth and not merely to obtain convictions. He must not prematurely commit himself to any view of the facts for or against any person and though he need not go out of his way to hunt up evidence for the defence in a case in which he has satisfactory grounds for believing that an accused person is guilty, he must always give accused persons an opportunity of producting defence evidence before him, and must consider such evidence carefully if produced. Burglary investigations should be conducted in accordance with the special orders on the subject.

108. The first step of the Investigating Officer should be to note in the case diary prescribed by Section 172 of the Code of Criminal Procedure the time and place at which he has received the information on which he acts and to make in the diary a copy of the first information report. When beginning his investigation, he must note in the diary the time and place at which he begins. He should then inspect the scene of the alleged offence and question the complainant and any other person who may be able to throw light on the circumstances. At an early stage of the investigation, he should consult the village crime note-book to learn of any matter recorded there which may have a bearing on the case.

30. A perusal of the aforesaid regulations shows that for the Investigating Officer, the accused and the complainant are equal at the time of conducting investigation. He has to consider the case of both the parties and thereafter, arrive at a fair conclusion regarding the investigation into the allegations made against the accused. He is not required to simply prove that the allegations in the F.I.R are correct and should necessarily collect evidence to implicate the accused, justifying his implication. This was done when the country was under colonial rule but it appears that even after independence the police investigation is still the same. Its aim is only to justify the implication. Rarely the statements of the accused side are recorded by the investigating officers of police.

31. What is fair investigation has been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in number of judgements, considered hereinbelow:-

1) State of Bihar v. P.P. Sharma, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 222, at page 258 :

48. From this perspective, the function of the judiciary in the course of investigation by the police should be complementary and full freedom should be accorded to the investigator to collect the evidence connecting the chain of events leading to the discovery of the truth, viz., the proof of the commission of the crime,. Often individual liberty of a witness or an accused person are involved and inconvenience is inescapable and unavoidable. The investigating officer would conduct indepth investigation to discover truth while keeping in view the individual liberty with due observance of law. At the same time he has a duty to enforce criminal law as an integral process. No criminal justice system deserves respect if its wheels are turned by ignorance. It is never his business to fabricate the evidence to connect the suspect with the commission of the crime. Trustworthiness of the police is the primary insurance. Reputation for investigative competence and individual honesty of the investigator are necessary to enthuse public confidence. Total support of the public also is necessary.

32. The investigation into a criminal offence must be free from objectionable features or infirmities which may legitimately lead to a grievance on the part of the accused that investigation was unfair and carried out with an ulterior motive. It is also the duty of the Investigating Officer to conduct the investigation avoiding any kind of mischief and harassment to any of the accused. The Investigating Officer should be fair and conscious so as to rule out any possibility of fabrication of evidence and his impartial conduct must dispel any suspicion as to its genuineness. The Investigating Officer "is not to bolster up a prosecution case with such evidence as may enable the court to record conviction but to bring out the real unvarnished truth". (Vide R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1960 SC 866; Jamuna Chaudhary & Ors. Vs. State of Bihar AIR 1974 SC 1822; and Mahmood Vs. State of U.P. AIR 1976 SC 69).

3) Vinay Tyagi v. Irshad Ali, (2013) 5 SCC 762, at page 792 :

48. What ultimately is the aim or significance of the expression "fair and proper investigation' in criminal jurisprudence? It has a twin purpose. Firstly, the investigation must be unbiased, honest, just and in accordance with law. Secondly, the entire emphasis on a fair investigation has to be to bring out the truth of the case before the court of competent jurisdiction. Once these twin paradigms of fair investigation are satisfied, there will be the least requirement for the court of law to interfere with the investigation, much less quash the same, or transfer it to another agency. Bringing out the truth by fair and investigative means in accordance with law would essentially repel the very basis of an unfair, tainted investigation or cases of false implication. Thus, it is inevitable for a court of law to pass a specific order as to the fate of the investigation, which in its opinion is unfair, tainted and in violation of the settled principles of investigative canons.

4) Amitbhai Anilchandra Shah v. CBI, (2013) 6 SCC 348 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 309, at page 383 :

58.9. Administering criminal justice is a two-end process, where guarding the ensured rights of the accused under Constitution is as imperative as ensuring justice to the victim. It is definitely a daunting task but equally a compelling responsibility vested on the court of law to protect and shield the rights of both. Thus, a just balance between the fundamental rights of the accused guaranteed under the Constitution and the expansive power of the police to investigate a cognizable offence has to be struck by the court. Accordingly, the sweeping power of investigation does not warrant subjecting a citizen each time to fresh investigation by the police in respect of the same incident, giving rise to one or more cognizable offences. As a consequence, in our view this is a fit case for quashing the second F.I.R to meet the ends of justice.

58.10. The investigating officers are the kingpins in the criminal justice system. Their reliable investigation is the leading step towards affirming complete justice to the victims of the case. Hence they are bestowed with dual duties i.e. to investigate the matter exhaustively and subsequently collect reliable evidences to establish the same.

5) Manohar Lal Sharma v. Prinicipal Secy., (2014) 2 SCC 532 : (2014) 4 SCC (Cri) 1, at page 553 :

26. One of the responsibilities of the police is protection of life, liberty and property of citizens. The investigation of offences is one of the important duties the police has to perform. The aim of investigation is ultimately to search for truth and bring the offender to book.

27. Section 2(h) of the Code of Criminal Procedure (for short "the Code") defines investigation to include all the proceedings under the Code for collection of evidence conducted by a police officer or by any person (other than a Magistrate) who is authorized by the Magistrate in this behalf.

28. In H.N. Rishbud, this Court explained that the investigation generally consists of the following steps : (AIR p. 201, para 5)

(1) Proceeding to the spot;

(2) ascertainment of the facts and circumstances of the case;

(3) discovery and arrest of the suspected offender;

(4) collection of evidence relating to the commission of the offence which may consist of the examination of :

(a) various persons (including the accused) and the reduction of statement into writing, if the officer thinks fit;

(b) the search of places and seizure of things, considered necessary for the investigation and to be produced at the trial;

(5) formation of the opinion as to whether on the materials collected, there is a case to place the accused before a Magistrate for trial, if so, take the necessary steps for the same for filing necessary charge-sheet under Section 173 Cr.P.C.

6) Dinubhai Boghabhai Solanki v. State of Gujarat, (2014) 4 SCC 626 : (2014) 2 SCC (Cri) 384, at page 643 :

48. Undoubtedly, the essence of criminal justice system is to reach the truth. The underlying principle is that whilst the guilty must not escape punishment; no innocent person shall be punished unless the guilt of the suspect/accused is established in accordance with law. All suspects/accused are presumed to be innocent till their guilt is proved beyond reasonable doubt in a trial conducted according to the procedure prescribed under law. Fair, unbiased and transparent investigation is a sine quo non for protecting the accused. Being dissatisfied with the manner in which the investigation was being conducted, the father of the victim filed the petition seeking an impartial investigation.

7) Rajiv Singh v. State of Bihar, (2015) 16 SCC 369, at page 397 :-

79. The investigating agency as the empowered mechanism of the law enforcing institution of the State is entrusted with the solemn responsibility of securing the safety and security of the citizens and in the process, act as the protector of human rights. The police force with the power and resources at its disposal is a pivotal cog in the constitutional wheel of the democratic polity to guarantee the sustenance of an orderly society. It is usually the first refuge of one in distress and violated in his legal rights to seek redress. The police force, thus is bestowed with a sacrosanct duty and is undisputedly required to be impartial, committed and relentless in their operations to unravel the truth and in the case of a crime committed, make the offender subject to the process of law. The investigating agency, thus in the case of a probe into any offence has to maintain a delicate balance of the competing rights of the offenders and the victim as constitutionally ordained but by no means can be casual, incautious, indiscreet in its approach and application. A devoted and resolved intervention of the police force is thus an assurance against increasingly pernicious trend of escalating crimes and outrages of law in the current actuality.

80. As a criminal offence is a crime against the society, the investigating agency has a sanctified, legal and social obligation to exhaust all its resources, experience and expertise to ferret out the truth and bring the culprit to book. The manifest defects in the investigation in the case demonstrate an inexcusable failure of the authorities concerned to abide by this paramount imperative.

81. This Court, amongst others, in Amitbhai Anilchandra Shah vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another (2013) 6 SCC 348, while underlining the essentiality of a fair, in-depth and fructuous investigation had observed that investigating officers are the kingpins in the criminal justice system and reliable investigation is a leading step towards affirming complete justice to the victims of the case. It was ruled that administering criminal justice is a two-end process, where guarding the ensured rights of the accused under the Constitution is as imperative as ensuring justice to the victim. It was held that the daunting task, though a compelling responsibility, is vested on the court of law to protect and shield the rights of both. That a just balance between the fundamental rights of the accused guaranteed under the Constitution and the expansive power of the police to investigate a cognizable offence has to be struck by the Court was emphatically underlined. We are left appalled by the incomprehensible omissions of the investigating agency in the instant case and we would expect and require that the authorities in-charge of ensuring fair, competent and effective investigation of criminal offences in particular would take note of this serious concern of the Court and unfailingly take necessary remedial steps so much so that these observations need not be reiterated in future entailing punitive consequences.

8) Suresh Chandra Jana v. State of W.B., (2017) 16 SCC 466, at page 480 :-

34. The last aspect is regarding the defective investigation and prosecution. If a negligent investigation or omissions or lapses, due to perfunctory investigation, are not effectively rectified, the faith and confidence of the people in the law enforcing agency would be shaken. Therefore the police have to demonstrate utmost diligence, seriousness and promptness. [refer Ram Bihari Yadav v. State of Bihar & Ors., (1998) 4 SCC 517].

35. The basic requirement that a trial must be fair is crucial for any civilized criminal justice system. It is essential in a Reportable society which recognizes human rights and is based on values such as freedoms, the rule of law, democracy and openness. The whole purpose of the trial is to convict the guilty and at the same time to protect the innocent. In this process courts should always be in search of the truth and should come to the conclusion, based on the facts and circumstances of each case, without defeating the very purpose of justice.

32. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in number of cases that fair investigation, which precedes filing of charge-sheet, is a fundamental right under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, it must be fair, transparent and judicious. A tainted and biased investigation leads to filing of a charge-sheet which is infact based on no investigation and therefore, the charge-sheet filed in pursuance of such an investigation cannot be held to be legal and in accordance with law. Some of such observations are as follows :-

28. An accused is entitled to a fair investigation. Fair investigation and fair trial are concomitant to preservation of fundamental right of an accused under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. But the State has a larger obligation i.e. to maintain law and order, public order and preservation of peace and harmony in the society. A victim of a crime, thus, is equally entitled to a fair investigation. When serious allegations were made against a former Minister of the State, save and except the cases of political revenge amounting to malice, it is for the State to entrust one or the other agency for the purpose of investigating into the matter. The State for achieving the said object at any point of time may consider handing over of investigation to any other agency including a central agency which has acquired specialization in such cases.

2) Babubhai v. State of Gujarat, (2010) 12 SCC 254 : (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 336, at page 272 :

45. Not only fair trial but fair investigation is also part of constitutional rights guaranteed under Articles 20 and 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, investigation must be fair, transparent and judicious as it is the minimum requirement of rule of law. The investigating agency cannot be permitted to conduct an investigation in a tainted and biased manner. Where non-interference of the court would ultimately result in failure of justice, the court must interfere. In such a situation, it may be in the interest of justice that independent agency chosen by the High Court makes a fresh investigation.

3) Azija Begum v. State of Maharashtra, (2012) 3 SCC 126, at page 128 :

12. In the facts and circumstances of this case, we find that every citizen of this country has a right to get his or her complaint properly investigated. The legal framework of investigation provided under our laws cannot be made selectively available only to some persons and denied to others. This is a question of equal protection of laws and is covered by the guarantee under Article 14 of the Constitution.

13. The issue is akin to ensuring an equal access to justice. A fair and proper investigation is always conducive to the ends of justice and for establishing rule of law and maintaining proper balance in law and order. These are very vital issues in a democratic set up which must be taken care of by the Courts.

33. This country has inherited the present police system from the British Government. The main objective of British rule was to maintain status quo by using the police force as effective weapon to put down any challenge to its authority by iron hand. The police had to take repressive measures on account of the directions of the British Government. The investigation was accordingly carried out keeping in view the direction of the government and their object of ruling this country. Charge-sheets were submitted accordingly which were not the result of free and fair investigation. The fundamental rights of the people of the country were not in existence and the Criminal Procedure Code was designed in a manner which was not in accordance with the rights of the people of this country before independence. The code no where clearly provides that the investigating officer shall necessarily record the statements of witnesses of both the sides, viz., the accused and the informant / complainants, while conducting the investigation into an alleged offence.

34. After India became independent, it became a welfare state from the police state of the Britishers. The legislations which were framed after independence were in conformity with the fundamental rights of the people of this country. In the welfare state, the role of the police became more difficult in view of deteriorating law and order situation, communal riots, political turmoil, student unrest, terrorist activities, increase in white-collar crimes, etc. The police force, in addition to the aforesaid new challenges, came under stress and strain. Long hours of duty in connection with law and order situation, V.I.P duty, etc., left the police with lesser time to properly investigate the cases. Under the pressure of work, police started mechanical investigation of the crimes entrusted to it for free and fair investigation. The investigating officer is subjected to pressure by the influential persons of society to give report as per their command. The influence of money in conducting investigation is quite evident and it is a very big hurdle in the free and fair investigation of a crime and case. It was suggested by number of Law Commission Reports that the investigation wing of the police should be separated from the law and order wing but it has not materialized as yet. The separation of investigation wing from law and order wing has its hazards. If they are separated it would be difficult to control law and order situation time the mischief mongers and the criminals will not tear the law and order wing of the police, once it is clear to them but the investigation of the case after report is lodged will be done by different wing of police. This is the practical drawbak in separation of the wings of police at local level. The investigating officer is also under pressure of Senior Officers, who do not favourable see any departure from established practice of justifying implication of an accused by collecting evidence in this regard. They feel it safe to justify implication of an accused by submitting investigation reports against the accused, except in few cases, where they or their political patron is interested otherwise.

35. Therefore, it is clear that the Court has to be cautious in considering the bail applications filed by the accused before and after submission of charge-sheet. There are number of impediments in the way of Investigating Officer in submission of charge-sheet after free and fair investigation as considered hereinabove.

36. Right to liberty is sacrosanct and guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Under Article 14 of the Constitution of India, there is equal protection of law to everyone, informant/complainant and accused, alike. During investigation stage or during trial stage, "presumption of innocence of accused" is intact and it is so till he is convicted either under Section 255 Cr.P.C. (summons case), Section 248 Cr.P.C. (warrant case) or under Section 335 Cr.P.C. (sessions case). Only when he is convicted, presumption of innocence gets replaced by a judgement of conviction.

37. Section 149 I.P.C is one of the most misused, misinterpreted and misleading provision of the present times so far as the investigation by the Investigating Officers of police or any other investigating agency of crime is concerned. The edifice of Section 149 I.P.C stands on substratum of Sections 141 I.P.C, 142 I.P.C and 143 I.P.C. Chapter VIII of the IPC provides for offences against the public tranquillity. Section 141 I.P.C defines unlawful assembly to be an assembly of five or more persons. They must have a common object, amongst others, to commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence. Section 142 I.P.C postulates that whoever being aware of facts which render any assembly an unlawful one, intentionally joins the same would be a member of the same. Section 143 provides for punishment of being a member of unlawful assembly.

38. Section 149 I.P.C provides for constructive liability to every person of an unlawful assembly. If an offence is committed by any member thereof in prosecution of common object of that assembly or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. Formation of unlawful assembly having its common object and knowledge of common object are matters of fact which are required to be proved by the prosecution beyond all reasonable doubt for securing conviction of an accused under Section 149 I.P.C. There cannot be any straight jacket formula to arrive at a finding as to who was the member of unlawful assembly and for which object the same was formed. It can be inferred and proved by the cogent evidence only.

39. Section 149 I.P.C has following three essentials (i) there must be unlawful assembly; (ii) commission of offence may be by any member of unlawful assembly; (iii) such offence must have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly, or must be such as member of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed.

40. Only when these three elements are satisfied an implication /conviction under Section 149 I.P.C may be sustained and not otherwise. The law of vicarious liability under Section 149 I.P.C is crystal clear that even mere presence in unlawful assembly, but with an active mind, to achieve the common object, makes a person vicariously liable for the act of unlawful assembly as held by the Apex Court in the case of Amerika Rai Vs. State of Bihar, 2011(4) SCC 677 and Ramchandran Vs. State of Kerala, 2011(9) SCC 257. Ramchandran (supra) in paragraph 25 to 27 relying upon earlier judgement held as follows :-.

25. Regarding the application of Section 149, the following observations from Charan Singh v. State of U.P., (2004) 4 SCC 205, are very relevant:

"13. ... The crucial question to determine is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects, as specified in Section 141. ... The word `object' means the purpose or design and, in order to make it `common', it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it. A common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual consultation, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members of the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression `in prosecution of common object' as appearing in Section 149 has to be strictly construed as equivalent to `in order to attain the common object'. It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter...."

26. In Bhanwar Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2008) 16 SCC 657, this Court held:

"Hence, the common object of the unlawful assembly in question depends firstly on whether such object can be classified as one of those described in Section 141 IPC. Secondly, such common object need not be the product of prior concert but, as per established law, may form on the spur of the moment (see also Sukha v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1956 SC 513). Finally, the nature of this common object is a question of fact to be determined by considering nature of arms, nature of the assembly, behaviour of the members, etc. (see also Rachamreddi Chenna Reddy v. State of A.P. (1999) 3 SCC 97)".

27. Thus, this court has been very cautious in the catena of judgments that where general allegations are made against a large number of persons the court would categorically scrutinise the evidence and hesitate to convict the large number of persons if the evidence available on record is vague. It is obligatory on the part of the court to examine that if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object, it yet may fall under second part of Section 149 IPC, if the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed. Further inference has to be drawn as what was the number of persons; how many of them were merely passive witnesses; what were their arms and weapons. Number and nature of injuries is also relevant to be considered. "Common object" may also be developed at the time of incident.

41. The concept of constructive liability must not be so stretched as to lead to false implication of innocent person or if general allegations are made against large number of accused, the Court has to be cautious unless reasonable direct and indirect circumstances lend assurance to the prosecution case that all the accused shared common object of unlawful assembly and hence their implication / conviction not be justified, as held by the Apex Court in the case of Subal Ghorai and others Vs. State of West Bengal, 2013(4) SCC 607. Ready reference to paragraph 53 would be relevant :-

53. But this concept of constructive liability must not be so stretched as to lead to false implication of innocent bystanders. Quite often, people gather at the scene of offence out of curiosity. They do not share common object of the unlawful assembly. If a general allegation is made against large number of people, Court has to be cautious. It must guard against the possibility of convicting mere passive onlookers who did not share the common object of the unlawful assembly. Unless reasonable direct or indirect circumstances lend assurance to the prosecution case that they shared common object of the unlawful assembly, they cannot be convicted with the aid of Section 149 of the IPC. It must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all stages. The court must have before it some materials to form an opinion that the accused shared common object. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage has to be determined keeping in view the course of conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly before and at the time of attack, their behaviour at or near the scene of offence, the motive for the crime, the arms carried by them and such other relevant considerations. The criminal court has to conduct this difficult and meticulous exercise of assessing evidence to avoid roping innocent people in the crime. These principles laid down by this Court do not dilute the concept of constructive liability. They embody a rule of caution."

42. Apex Court has also cautioned that when there is sudden action by one member in the assembly, all are not liable. In the case of Roy Fernandes Vs. State of Goa, 2012(3) SCC 221, it was held that a group attack on the victim is not the only decisive factor to infer common object of the unlawful assembly. It would be useful to refer to paragraph 27 to 33 in this context :-

27. This Court has in a long line of decisions examined the scope of Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code. We remain content by referring to some only of those decisions to support our conclusion that the appellant could not in the facts and circumstances of the case at hand be convicted under Section 302 read with Section 149of the IPC.

28. In Chikkarange Gowda & Ors. Vs. State of Mysore [AIR 1956 SC 731] this Court was dealing with a case where the common object of the unlawful assembly simply was to chastise the deceased. The deceased was, however, killed by a fatal injury caused by certain member of the unlawful assembly. The court below convicted the other member of the unlawful assembly under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Reversing the conviction, this Court held:

"9. It is quite clear to us that on the finding of the High Court with regard to the common object of the unlawful assembly, the conviction of the appellants for an offence under Section 302 read with Section 149 Indian Penal Code cannot be sustained. The first essential element of Section 149 is the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly; the second essential part is that the offence must be committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly, or must be such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object.

In the case before us, the learned Judges of the High Court held that the common object of the unlawful assembly was merely to administer a chastisement to Putte Gowda. The learned Judges of the High Court did not hold that though the common object was to chastise Putte Gowda, the members of the unlawful assembly knew that Putte Gowda was likely to be killed in prosecution of that common object. That being the position, the conviction under Section 302 read with Section 149 Indian Penal Code was not justified in law."

29. In Gajanand & Ors. Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh [AIR 1954 SC 695], this Court approved the following passage from the decision of the Patna High Court in Ram Charan Rai Vs. Emperor [AIR 1946 Pat 242]:

"Under Section 149 the liability of the other members for the offence committed during the continuance of the occurrence rests upon the fact whether the other members knew before hand that the offence actually committed was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Such knowledge may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms or behavior, at or before the scene of action. If such knowledge may not reasonably be attributed to the other members of the assembly then their liability for the offence committed during the occurrence does not arise".

30. This Court then reiterated the legal position as under:

"9.....The question is whether such knowledge can be attributed to the appellants who were themselves not armed with sharp edged weapons. The evidence on this point is completely lacking. The appellants had only lathis which may possibly account for Injuries 2 and 3 on Sukkhu's left arm and left hand but they cannot be held liable for murder by invoking the aid of Section 149 IPC. According to the evidence only two persons were armed with deadly weapons. Both of them were acquitted and Sosa, who is alleged to have had a spear, is absconding. We are not prepared therefore to ascribe any knowledge of the existence of deadly weapons to the appellants, much less that they would be used in order to cause death."

31. In Mizaji and Anr. Vs. State of U.P. [AIR 1959 SC 572] this Court was dealing with a case where five persons armed with lethal weapons had gone with the common object of getting forcible possession of the land which was in the cultivating possession of the deceased. Facing resistance from the person in possession, one of the members of the assembly at the exhortation of the other fired and killed the deceased. This Court held that the conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly was such as showed that they were determined to take forcible possession at any cost. Section 149 of IPC was, therefore, attracted and the conviction of the members of the assembly for murder legally justified.

32. This Court analysed Section 149 in the following words:

"6. This section has been the subject matter of interpretation in the various High Court of India, but every case has to be decided on its own facts. The first part of the section means that the offence committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. It is not necessary that there should be a preconcert in the sense of a meeting of the members of the unlawful assembly as to the common object; it is enough if it is adopted by all the members and is shared by all of them. In order that the case may fall under the first part the offence committed must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused were members. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under section 149 if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed. The expression 'know' does not mean a mere possibility, such as might or might not happen. For instance, it is a matter of common knowledge that when in a village a body of heavily armed men set out to take a woman by force, someone is likely to be killed and all the members of the unlawful assembly must be aware of that likelihood and would be guilty under the second part of section 149. Similarly, if a body of persons go armed to take forcible possession of the land, it would be equally right to say that they have the knowledge that murder is likely to be committed if the circumstances as to the weapons carried and other conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly clearly point to such knowledge on the part of them all."

33. In Shambhu Nath Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Bihar [AIR 1960 SC 725], this Court held that members of an unlawful assembly may have a community of object upto a certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object.

As a consequence, the effect of Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code may be different on different members of the same unlawful assembly. Decisions of this Court Gangadhar - Behera and Others Vs. State of Orissa [2002 (8) SCC 381] and Bishna Alias Bhiswadeb Mahato and Others Vs. State of West Bengal [2005 (12) SCC 657] similarly explain and reiterate the legal position on the subject.

43. Common object has to be ascertained from the member-ship, weapon used and the nature of injuries as well as other circumstances as held by the Apex Court in the case of Haramant Laxmappa Kukkadi Vs. State of Karnataka, 1994(1) SCC 736.

44. In the present case this court finds that out of three ingredients discussed above, third ingredient for constituting offence under Section 149 I.P.C is not satisfied in this case. The allegations clearly prove that dispute took place all of a sudden regarding parking of car and from the allegations on record it does not appears that all the accused persons had common object of causing the murder of the deceased and attempt to murder of his brother and had formed unlawful assembly knowing that such offence is likely to be committed. The dispute took place all of a sudden wherein two co-accused were involved. The injuries do not prove that any indiscriminate firing was made by all the accused persons. The injury caused to the injured was on his leg and will not constitute offence under Section 307 I.P.C.

In the first information report no weapon used in the alleged offence was assigned to the applicant but allegation of firing was made against to him along with co-accused. As per judgements of Apex Court in the case of Ramchandran (supra) and Bhanwar Singh (Supra), nature of arm used is one of the necessary ingredients for considering the common object of the accused who had formed unlawful assembly.

45. Keeping the above facts, this court at the time of consideration of the bail application of an accused implicated for committing offence under Section 149 I.P.C. must place reliance on the material collected by the investigating officer. The court has to consider the case on its merit and there cannot be any straight jacket formula for the same, as stated earlier formation of unlawful assembly having its common object and knowledge of any object are matters of fact and the court should apply its independent mind keeping in view the position of the criminal investigation and the rule of prudence and probability keeping in view the totality of facts and circumstances of the case.

46. This court has come across number of cases of bail where ingredients for constituting offence under Section 149 I.P.C were clearly made but accused was not implicated under Section 149 I.P.C. Conversely court has also come across cases where the allegation in the first information report and the statements of the witnesses clearly did not proved the presence of the necessary ingredients for constituting offence under Section 149 I.P.C but accused was implicated for the same. Court should be cautious of relying upon the Section 149 I.P.C while considering bail application. The investigating officer apply mostly section 149 I.P.C as it suits them.

47. In view of the above factual position emerging from the record the applicant cannot be said to be rightly implicated under Section 149 I.P.C for the alleged offences. Two fire arm injuries were found on the body of the deceased, Once on abdomen and on on thigh of the deceased. The accused named are above five in numbers, therefore, only because they were more in numbers the offence alleged cannot be considered to be made out against them at this stage. It appears to be case of sudden provocation and all the members of the alleged unlawful assembly cannot be held liable for the offence committed by any one or two accused named in the first information report. More so because in this case also the investigating officer of police has not recorded the statement of a single witness from the accused side. All the statements recorded by the investigating officer are of the informant side for justifying the implication of all the accused. The version of accused side, as usual, is missing. Therefore, on the basis of one-sided and flawed investigation the implication of the applicant under Section 149 I.P.C cannot be justified. It could have been done after considering the versions of both sides by the investigating officer, which he was required to do as per law, but he has again miserably failed in performance of his legal duty. The three ingredients for constituting the offence under Section 149 I.P.C discussed in paragraph 12 of this judgement could have been ascertained only after considering the evidence of both sides by the investigating officer and not on the basis of one sided evidence collected by way of illegal investigation. In short, after considering the evidence lead before the trial court only definite opinion can be formed regarding commission of offence under Section 149 I.P.C. At the time of consideration of bail application of an accused, it would be unsafe to deny bail to an accused, implicated for committing offence under Section 149 I.P.C considering the state of investigation of crime by investigating agency in the state.

48. Respectfully concurring with the ratio of cases cited at the bar but in the light of above consideration, keeping in view the nature of the offence, evidence, complicity of the accused, submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, larger mandate of the Article 21 of the Constitution of India, considering the dictum of Apex Court in the case of Dataram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22 and recent judgment dated 11.07.2022 of the Apex Court in the case of Satendra Kumar Antil vs. C.B.I., passed in S.L.P (Crl.) No. 5191 of 2021 and considering 5-6 times overcrowding in jails over and above their capacity by the under trials in this State and without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case, which may interfere with the discretion of the trial court, the Court is of the view that the applicant has made out a case for bail. The bail application is allowed.

49. Let the applicant, Sanjeev @ Kallu Sethiya, involved in Case Crime No.279 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 302, 504 I.P.C and Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Mauranipur, District- Jhansi be released on bail on his furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions. Further, before issuing the release order, the sureties be verified:-

(i) The applicant shall not tamper with the evidence or threaten the witnesses.

(ii) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in Court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the Trial Court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(iii) The applicant shall remain present before the Trial Court on each date fixed, either personally or as directed by the Court. In case of his absence, without sufficient cause, the Trial Court may proceed against him under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) In case the applicant misuse the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence, proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicants fail to appear before the Court on the date fixed in such proclamation then the Trial Court shall initiate proceedings against him in accordance with law under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(v) The applicant shall remain present in person before the Trial Court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the Trial Court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the Trial Court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

50. In case of breach of any of the above conditions, the complainant is free to move an application for cancellation of bail before this court.

51. Identity, status and residence proof of the applicant and sureties be verified by the court concerned before the bonds are accepted.

52. The trial court is directed to conclude the trial against the applicant as expeditiously as possible, preferable within a period of one year as per Section 309 Cr.P.C from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

53. Registrar (compliance) is directed to communicate this order to the court concerned within a week.

A. Civil Law - Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 13(1)(ib) - Divorce on the ground of desertion - Desertion, in its essence, means the intentional permanent forsaking and abandonment of one spouse by the other without that other's consent, and without reasonable cause - Court on the basis of acts, conduct and expression of intention by the parties, both prior to and subsequent to the actual acts of separation, can draw an inference from the proven facts and circumstances that the deserting spouse had the intention to bring cohabitation permanently to an end, without the consent of the deserted spouse - For the deserted spouse, it is required to be proved that the act of desertion was without his consent and there was no such conduct of the deserted spouse giving reasonable cause to the spouse (deserting spouses) for leaving the matrimonial home to form the necessary intention to bring cohabitation permanently to an end (Para 51)

B. Civil Law - Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 13(1)(ib) - Divorce on the ground of desertion - Mere act of withdrawal of the wife from her matrimonial home at the Air Force station, Ambala and the factum of separation of the wife for a period of two years from her husband when she was making efforts to pacify her husband with the help of the family in order to bring matrimonial harmony cannot lead to the conclusion that the wife had no intention to lead a normal married life with the husband or her act of leaving her matrimonial home was in absence of any conduct of the husband (respondent) giving the wife (appellant) a reasonable cause to form the necessary intention aforesaid (Para 60)

C. Civil Law - Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 13(1)(ib) - Divorce on the ground of mental cruelty - before the conduct can be called cruelty, it must touch a certain pitch of severity - It is for the Court to weigh the gravity - It has to be seen whether the conduct was such that no reasonable person would tolerate it - Mere trivial irritations, quarrels between spouses, which happen in day-to-day married life, may also not amount to cruelty. Cruelty in matrimonial life may be of unfounded variety, which can be subtle or brutal. It may be words, gestures or by mere silence, violent or non-violent (Para 70)

D. Civil Law - Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 13(1)(ib) - Divorce on the ground of mental cruelty - criminal case lodged by the wife cannot be a reason to grant divorce on the ground of cruelty and the family court had acted illegally in holding that even filing of the application for maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C. by the wife would come within the meaning of cruelty - apart from moving the application for maintenance and seeking restitution of conjugal rights, the appellant wife did not initiate any criminal proceeding nor insituted any adverse legal action against her husband so as to put her relations in peril, till the divorce suit was filed by the respondent - conclusion drawn by the family court that all the abovenoted acts of wife had resulted in an act of 'cruelty' caused upon her husband is, contrary to the evidence on record (para 96)

E. Civil Law - Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 13 - Divorce - Irretrievable break down of marriage - decree of divorce cannot be granted unless grounds as indicated u/s 13 of the Act' 1955 are established - Irretrievable break down of marriage is not a ground for divorce under the Act' 1955 - In the instant case, both spouses (wife aged about 35 yrs old & the husband 39yrs), came from respected families and were well-educated - bitterness developed between them and their families due to the ongoing legal battles - husband consistently refused to live with his wife - Considering the whole issue from human angle, physiological point of view of both the spouses, Court concluded that the matrimonial bond was beyond repair - there was no chance of their coming together or living together again - It was held that given their education and background, if they are freed from the marital bond, they may have a chance to lead happier and more constructive lives - refusing to severe the marital tie does not serve the sanctity of marriage - Such a situation may lead to mental cruelty of both the individuals and hamper positive progress and ultimate happiness in life - Under those compelling circumstances, their marriage was dissolved and parties give a chance to move on from this dead relationship (Para 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115)

F. Civil Law - The Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 - Section 25 - Permanent alimony and maintenance- Appellant, wife of an Air Force Officer, couldn't pursue her career due to her husband's resistance & due to marital obligations - she completed her B.Tech and pursued further education during their two-year separation but the legal battle with her husband prevented her from finding a job - Court held wife is entitled to permanent alimony - Given the husband's social status & the aspirations of the appellant wife to lead the life of the wife of an Air Force Officer, Court held that she deserves Rs. 1 Crore as permanent alimony, in addition to what she has already received as interim maintenance (Para 116, 117)

G. The Family Courts Act, 1984 - Role of family court judges - Role of family court judges is not only of adjudicators but they are facilitators in matrimonial disputes where perception of a judge about gender issues plays a major role in his decisions - Family Court judges have to be gender sensitive - To evolve as a Family Court judge, a person has to be gender neutral, gender sensitive, open to the social changes to have a mature thinking - Court recommend that gender sensitization program be especially designed and held for the Family Court Judges in the State of U.P. (Para 125)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J. & Hon'ble Mrs. Sadhna Rani (Thakur), J.)

1. This is wife's appeal against the divorce decree prepared pursuant to the judgment and order dated 21.2.2018, passed by the family court in a suit instituted under Section 13 of the Hindu Marriage Act' 1955 (hereinafter referred as Act' 1955), namely the Matrimonial Petition No. 1614 of 2013, by the respondent-husband.

Introduction:-

2. The divorce petition was filed on 27.11.2013 on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. As per the statement therein, the parties got married on 22.11.2009 and at the time of marriage, the respondent/petitioner was working as a Fighter Pilot in the Indian Air Force and was posted as Flight Lieutenant in Badmer, Rajasthan. It was stated therein that for few days after marriage, the appellant went to stay with the respondent to the place of his posting but she could not adjust herself. The appellant wife was studying the B.Tech (Electronics and Instrumentation Engineering) course at the time of marriage and with the inspiration of the respondent husband, she could complete her studies. But after getting the degree, the appellant started pressurizing the respondent to allow her to take up a job in the NCR namely Delhi/Noida/Gurgaon region. It was further stated in the divorce petition that the family members of the appellant and the appellant herself were clearly informed by the respondent husband at the time of marriage itself, that she would not be allowed to take up any employment because of the nature of the job of the respondent and the appellant-wife and her family members had agreed to the said condition put before marriage. It was contended therein that while putting pressure to take up employment in a place like Delhi/Noida/Gudgaon, the appellant wife became annoyed and started quarreling frequently with the respondent. With a view to get the respondent dismissed from services of the Indian Air Force, the appellant started complaining to higher Officials of the Force and this attitude of the appellant had resulted in undermining the position of the respondent and he had suffered indignation. The appellant started committing cruelty both physically and mentally upon the respondent. On account of the ill-behaviour of the appellant, the respondent who was working as a Squadron Leader, Flying MIG-21 and other fighter jet, started suffering mentally and physically and did not remain in the position to discharge his responsibilities to his full potential and devotion in the interest of the Nation. All efforts made by the respondent/petitioner and his family members to pacify the appellant went in vain and she remained adamant with her demands. On account of her attitude only, the appellant could not conceive (bear a child) and the respondent and his family members had suffered mental stress also due to the said reason.

3. On 23.11.2011, while the respondent/petitioner was on duty, in his absence, the brother of the appellant and one more person came to their house at Ambala Cantt. and, in execution of their pre-conceived plan, all valuables, jewellery, clothes, cash, diamond sets, F.D., ATM cards, bank passbooks etc. were collected by the appellant and she started making preparations for going to her parent's home at Meerut. At that point of time, on an intimation given by the wife of an Officer who was a neighbour, the respondent came to his house from the duty at around 2:00 P.M. and saw that the appellant alongwith the above two persons had already kept her luggage in a car and was ready to go to Meerut. All efforts made by the respondent to persuade the appellant (wife) proved futile and the appellant started misbehaving with him, remained adamant and left the respondent (husband) as against his wishes to go to her parent's home. The information of this incident was given by the respondent to his parents, who also went to the house of the appellant at Meerut and tried to persuade her. It was stated that the appellant refused to listen to anyone and remained adamant on her demand that she wanted to take up a job in Delhi/Noida/Gudgaon area and if the respondent wished he could leave his job to live with her, which was not possible for the respondents.

4. It was further stated in the petition that after 23.11.2011, despite best efforts made by the respondent and his family members to persuade the appellant and her family members, no possible solution could come out and the appellant remained adamant and refused to discharge her marital obligations. It is finally stated that on account of the above attitude of the appellant, her behavior, use of abusive language, the respondent had suffered severe mental stress and indignation at the hands of the appellant which undermine his position in front of his superiors, resulting in mental cruelty committed upon him. Due to the attitude of the appellant, the respondent could not undertake examination for promotion and his promotion got delayed. By the action and behaviour of the appellant, respondent had suffered severe mental stress which came within the meaning of 'cruelty' under the legal parlance. For her personal motives, the appellant had deserted the respondent for a period of more than two years which also fell within the meaning of 'cruelty'.

5. It was further contended therein that despite all efforts made by the respondent, the appellant did not agree to grant divorce by mutual consent and hence, the respondent was constrained to file the divorce petition. The cause of action for filing the divorce suit arose on 22.11.2009 when the appellant while living with the respondent had committed cruelty on him by all means and started pressurizing him to agree to her demand to take up a job in NCR and also on 23.11.2011 when she had left for her paternal home along with her brother as against the wishes of the respondent and lastly on 25.11.2013 when she had refused to live with the respondent.

6. The appellant in her written statement had denied all the allegations levelled in the divorce petition and only accepted the factum of marriage. The plea of desertion had been categorically denied with the assertion that the appellant had filed a restitution petition under Section 9 of the Hindu Marriage Act before the competent court registered as Case No. 993 of 2013, which was pending and in the Mediation proceedings also, the appellant had expressed her wishes to go along with the respondent and live with him as his wife. It was further stated therein that the appellant was still ready and willing to live with the respondent and discharge her wifely duties.

7. It was further contended that in the month of February, 2013, both the parties spent time together as husband and wife and mental as well as physical relationship were established between them. On 5.7.2013, the appellant went to her in-law's house and stayed there till 8.7.2013 in an effort to save her marriage. But she was left by the said relatives of the respondent at her paternal home giving her assurance that they would call her very soon. It was stated in the written statement by the appellant-wife that she was always ready and willing to live with the respondent and discharge her responsibilities, even after 23.11.2011 and the plea of desertion without any cause or reason on her part was false.

8. A disclosure had been made therein that the appellant-wife had lodged a criminal case under Section 498-A, 323, 504, 506, 377 I.P.C. and 3/4 of D.P. Act on account of ill behaviour of the respondent and physical assault made on her, which was registered as Case Crime No. 84 of 2014 at the Mahila Police Station, Meerut. However, she was ready and willing to forgive the respondent and live with him as his wife.

Opinion of the Family Court:-

9. Three witnesses were examined before the family Court, respondent-husband as PW-1, appellant-wife as DW-1 and mother of the appellant as DW-2. Various documentary evidences were filed by both of the parties in support of their stand before the family court.

10. The family court on the basis of the pleadings of the parties framed following issues for determination:-

(i) Whether the marriage solemnized between the parties is liable to annulled on the ground of cruelty by the defendant appellant?

(ii) Whether the defendant had deserted the plaintiff without any reason?

(iii) Whether the plaintiff respondent is entitled to any other relief?

11. On issue no.1, the family court concluded that the act of the appellant wife in making complaint to higher officials of the Air force, the assertive behaviour of the wife pressuring the respondents frequently to go out of the Air Force station, her act of filing of the criminal cases against the respondent husband and institution of the case under Section 125 Cr.P.C. despite getting maintenance from the department making a reckless allegations against the respondent that he was not appearing in the case under Section 9 of the Hindu Marriage Act' 1955, false allegations levelled against the husband of unnatural sexual assault, the allegations of SMS of other girls on the mobile set of the respondent and character assassination of the respondent on the part of the wife amounted to mental cruelty. In such a situation, it was not possible for the respondent husband to spend his life with the appellant wife. The issue No.1 on the ground of cruelty by the wife had been decided in favour of the plaintiff respondent.

12. While coming to the aforesaid conclusion, the family court has discussed that the unreasonable demand of the wife to go out of Air Force Station as against the disciplined life of a Squadron leader and insisting to take up job at places like Delhi, Noida and Gurgaon (NCR) became a vindictive act on the part of the wife which had resulted in causing physical and mental cruelty to the husband. It was also noted that when the respondent husband did not accede to unreasonable demand of the appellant wife, she in order to get him dismissed from service made complaints to higher officials of the respondent which had resulted in derogation of the position of the husband and undermined his dignity.

13. It was also noted by the family court that the wife had filed a criminal case under Section 498-A, 323, 504, 506, 377 IPC and Section ¾ D.P. Act making reckless and false allegations against her husband. A petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 was also filed by the wife with the aim to make out a case against the husband. On the final report submitted by the Investigating Officer in the criminal case lodged under Section 498-A and Dowry Prohibition Act, a protest petition was filed by the respondent wife whereupon re-investigation was ordered by the competent court. The Investigating Officer again submitted a final report, whereafter, another protest petition was filed by the wife. False cases under the Domestic Violation Act and Section 125 Cr.P.C. were filed though the appellant wife was getting interim maintenance from the department, itself. The allegations made in the first information report lodged by the appellant wife were taken note of by the family court to record a finding that the appellant wife had failed to establish the allegations made by her and all those acts of the wife had caused mental agony to the respondent plaintiff. The respondent being a Squadron Leader in the Air Force could not discharge his duties properly as his mental peace was shattered at the hands of his wife.

14. On issue No.2 about desertion, it was recorded by the family court that the appellant admitted that she had left the place of posting of the respondent husband on 21.11.2011 alongwith her brother Mohit Dixit and cousin Sushil Sharma. In a complaint filed by the appellant wife to the superior officers of the Air Force Officer, it was stated that the marital discord between the parties was of such nature that no reconciliation was possible between them. As a result of it, the department had ordered for payment of interim maintenance to the appellant wife. It is, thus, recorded by the family court that once the wife herself went to the senior Air Force Officer making a statement that marital discord between them was irreparable, her statement that she had discharged her marital obligation up till February 2013 was contradictory. The act of the appellant wife in going to the place of posting of the respondent in January 2016 after filing of the divorce petition was viewed with suspicion by the family court to record a finding that there was no justification for the appellant wife to go to the place of posting of the respondent husband when she herself was making allegations of assault by her husband by filing a criminal case against her husband. The said act of the appellant wife was aimed to fulfill her other ulterior motives. It was concluded that there was no reason to accept that by doing so, the appellant wife was making an effort for reconciliation and, moreover, there was no possibility of both the parties living together.

15. It was, thus, concluded by the family court that in view of the admission of the appellant wife that she was residing separately w.e.f 21.11.2011, the period of two years of desertion on the part of the wife, at the time of filing of the divorce petition on 27.11.2013 having been completed, desertion on the part of wife was proved. The issue No.2 with regard to the desertion by the wife was, thus, concluded in favour of the respondent husband.

16. With the aforesaid findings, a decree of dissolution of marriage wef 21.02.2018 was passed by the family court giving permanent alimony of Rs.25 lacs to the respondent wife.

Submissions of the Counsels for the appellant:-

17. Challenging the findings returned by the family court, Sri Siddharth Khare learned counsel for the appellant submits that the respondent husband had filed the divorce petition on the trivial issues. The allegations of cruelty were reckless in nature and the family court had ignored that the respondent himself was causing cruelty on his wife and was trying to take advantage of his own wrong by filing the divorce petition. It was argued that the allegations in the divorce petition that the respondent husband encouraged the appellant wife to complete the B.Tech course and the appellant was adamant to undertake an employment in Delhi, Noida, Gurgaon (NCR) against the wishes of the respondents are itself contradictory. Further contention in the divorce petition that the respondent at the time of marriage itself, made it clear that the appellant wife would not take up employment after marriage is a reflection of male chauvinism. The only allegation against the appellant wife was that she was pressing hard and insisting to take up employment outside the Air Force Center.

18. The contention is that the allegations in the divorce petition of the complaint made by the appellant wife to the Senior Officers of the Air Force could not be proved by the respondent husband, rather the truth is that on 23.11.2011, the appellant wife was thrown out of her matrimonial house at Ambala Cantt by the respondent husband. She had to call her brothers who could reach in the evening to rescue her as the respondent did not allow the appellant to enter inside the house. It is argued that the appellant wife has taken a categorical stand that she made all efforts of reconciliation by meeting her in-laws and even went to stay with them for three days in July 2013, but the respondent did not meet her before the divorce petition was filed by him. It is then argued that the allegations in the divorce petition that the first information report under the Dowry Act and Section 498-A IPC was lodged on false allegations and the act of the appellant wife in filing protest petitions against the final reports twice had caused cruelty, is nothing but a whimsical approach of the family court in dealing with the entire issue with pre-determined mind and pre-conceived approach against the appellant.

19. The submission is that the respondent husband, in his cross-examination, had admitted that he did not make any effort for reconciliation and never visited his wife after 23.11.2011 who was living with her parents at Meerut till the matter was brought before the family court in the divorce petition. The contention is that this is a classic case of desertion of the wife by her husband on some trivial issues and then filing the divorce petition on false allegations of cruelty. It is argued that the conclusion drawn by the family court both on the grounds of cruelty and desertion cannot be sustained. The appeal is liable to be allowed while setting aside the divorce decree granted by the family court.

20. Reliance is placed on the decision of this Court in First Appeal No.31 of 2007 to submit that the element of 'cruelty' cannot be found from the allegation made in the divorce petition. Mere trivial quarrels, normal wear and tear of the married life which happens in day to day life would not be adequate for grant of divorce on the ground of mental cruelty. It is argued that there is no instance of any act or conduct of the appellant wife which could be said to have caused injury to the mental health of the plaintiff.

21. The contention is that in absence of any pleadings in the plaint, the divorce could not be granted on the ground of commission of cruelty because of the allegation of false criminal proceedings instituted by the wife against the husband. The contention is that there is absolutely no allegation in the divorce petition which amounts to cruelty by the wife.

Submissions of the Counsel for the respondent:-

22. Sri Amit Krishna learned counsel for the respondent, in rebuttal would submit that the respondent was constrained to file divorce petition in November 2013 when all efforts of reconciliation between the parties failed. The respondent and his family members met the appellant and her family members on several occasions after 23.11.2011 when she had left the house of the respondent at Ambala. Many efforts were made by the family members for reconciliation between the fighting couple but the appellant remained adamant on her demand and was not ready to discharge her matrimonial obligations. The act of the appellant in making complaints to Senior Officials in the Air Force had caused bitterness in the mind of the respondent. This act of the wife had seriously hampered the career prospects of the respondent and his image/status was brought down in the eyes of his seniors. He argued that on 23.11.2011, the wife had left her matrimonial house at Ambala alongwith his brother and a relative in the presence of the respondent husband and did not accede to his request to stay with him. She had also filed the criminal case on false allegations of demand of dowry and other atrocities wherein final reports were submitted twice by the Investigating Officer and protest petition on both the occasions were filed by the wife just to harass the respondent husband.

23. It is, thus, argued that the stand of the wife that she was ready and willing to reside with her husband to discharge her matrimonial obligations runs contrary to the stand taken by her in filing the criminal cases. The allegations in the criminal cases caused mental agony to the respondents so much so that restoration of marriage is totally unworkable which has seized to be effective and would be a greater source of misery for the parties. The marriage between the parties had broken down irretrievably and there is no chance of their coming together or living together again. As an instance of mental cruelty, it is submitted by the learned counsel for the respondent that the act of the wife in pressurizing the respondent to allow her to take up jobs in NCR (Noida, Delhi, Gurgaon) and to reside outside the Air Force Station, caused mental agony to the husband who had made it clear in the beginning of the alliance itself that being a fighter pilot he has to stay at the Air Force Station and according to the norms of social life of an Air Force Officer, the appellant his wife, had to stay with him.

24. The complaints made by the wife to Senior Officials of the Indian Air Force had resulted in harassment and torture to the husband as his character and reputation at his workplace was brought down. Making such complaints is sufficient to constitute mental cruelty caused by the wife. The career prospects of the respondent had been seriously hampered as he could not get promotion in time. The respondent was, thus, constrained to file the divorce petition and, thereafter, the appellant in order to harass him moved the Air Force department for interim maintenance with the assertion that marital cord between them was completely broken. At the same time, she filed a criminal case under the Dowry Act, 498-A, 323, 504, 506 & 377 IPC on reckless and false allegations. Her complaint was found false and a final report was submitted by the Investigating Officer on 17.04.2015. The appellant filed a protest petition wherein an order for re-investigation was passed. Again a final report was submitted on 02.02.2016 by the Investigating Officer when protest petition was filed by the wife. A case under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 was also filed by the appellant in the year 2013 wherein she had admitted that there was no relationship of husband and wife between them from 23.11.2011 onwards and the couple had never lived together thereafter. The contention is that the act of the appellant in filing application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. seeking for maintenance though she was already receiving maintenance from the department; lodging of the false FIR; filing protest petitions after submission of final reports by the Investigating Officer, on one hand, and moving petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1995, on the other, shows her dubious character. Her statement that she was ready and willing to forgive all previous issues and would live with the respondent peacefully cannot be substantiated from her conduct and actions.

25. It is further pointed out that the appellant went to the Air Force Station in January 2016 without any reason and tried to enter forcibly in the house of the respondent when a report was given to the Superintendent of Police and the Commanding Officer, Air Force by the respondent. It is, thus, argued that consideration in the totality of the conduct and behaviour of the wife clearly established that she had caused mental cruelty upon her husband by making unreasonable demands, complaints to the Senior Officials, filing of false criminal cases and then pressurizing the respondent to live with her, and make out a clear case of mental cruelty caused by the wife. The result is that it is not possible for the respondent to continue with the matrimonial relationship in the circumstances like this. The respondent, a wronged party, cannot be expected to continue with the matrimonial relationship and there is enough justification for him to seek separation.

26. Reliance is placed on the judgement of the Apex Court in A. Jayachandra vs. Aneel Kaur1, Vishwanath Sitram Agarwal Vs. San. Sarle Vishwanath Agarwal2, K. Srinivas vs K. Deepa3, to submit that the mental cruelty as discussed in the aforesaid decisions has to be culled out on consideration of complete matrimonial life of the parties. The illustrations given by the Apex Court in Samar Ghosh vs Jaya Ghosh4 have been taken note of therein to record as to what may amount to mental cruelty. The submission is that the circumstances of the present case are all covered in the decisions noted above and having gone through the same, it can be safely concluded that the act of the appellant caused mental cruelty to the respondent.

27. Further judgements of the Apex court in Shamim Bano vs Asraf Khan5, K Srinivas Vs. K. Sunita6; Dinesh Nagda Vs. Santibai7, Manisha Srivastava Vs. Rohit Srivastava8; and a judgement of the High Court of Delhi in the Family Court Appeal, dated 10.03.2022 have been placed before us to assert that false complaints of demand of dowry or any criminal nature results in harassment and torture to the husband and can be construed as mental cruelty within the meaning of Section 13 (1) (ia) of the Act' 1955. Further the decision in Devesh Yadav S. Smt. Minal9 of the High Court of Punjab & Haryana and the Apex Court judgement in Joydeep Majumdar vs Bharti Jaiswal Majumdar10 have been pressed into service to argue that derogatory complaints made by the wife affecting the career progress of the husband amounted to cruelty.

Allegations from marriage to separation between 22.11.2009 till 23.11.2011.

28. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record, we may note certain factual aspect of the matter at the outset. There is no dispute between the parties that their marriage was solemnized on 22.11.2009 and at the time of marriage, the respondent was a fighter pilot in the Indian Air Force and was posted as Flight Lieutenant in Badmer, Rajasthan. Both the parties lived together till 23.11.2011 at different places of the posting of the respondent. Though the allegations of the respondent is that the wife lived with him reluctantly and was adamant to take up employment at a place like Delhi, Noida and Gurgaon (NCR) after she had completed B.Tech course. The respondent also stated that the wife was studying B.Tech at the time of marriage and she could complete the course after marriage with the support of the respondent.

29. Though there are assertions in the divorce petition that the wife being annoyed by the denial of the respondent to permit her to take jobs in NCR, started making complaints to the higher officials of the Air Force, with the aim and object of getting the respondent removed from service but there is not a single instance of any oral or written complaint made by the wife to Senior Air Force officers prior to 23.11.2011, i.e. during the period when she was living with the respondent at the Air Force station. The averments in this regard in the affidavit of the respondent filed in his examination in chief are vague.

30. In cross, the respondent as PW-1 stated that his wife made false complaints while staying at the Air Force Station

Uttarlai and then stated that it was an oral complaint. He further admitted that no written complaint was given by the wife at the Air Force Station Uttarlai. On a further query, he stated that on the oral complaint of the wife, no written explanation was called from him by his senior officers. He also admitted, in cross, that there is no mention of the oral complaint made by the wife at the Air Force Uttarlai either in the divorce petition or in his affidavit filed in the examination in chief. A suggestion was, thus, given to the respondent that the statement with regard to the oral complaint made by the wife was made only to give colour to the case. Apart from the bald allegation of one such complaint, no specific allegation of any complaint made by the wife before 23.11.2011 when she had allegedly left her matrimonial home on her own volition, was made or proved by the respondent.

31. As regards the allegations of the respondent that the wife after completion of B.Tech course was adamant to take up a job at NCR, it may be noted that the statement in this regard has been categorically denied by the wife in her written statement and stated in the examination in chief that after marriage she was residing with her husband at the place of his posting and as a result of it, her visits to Meerut were very few. She was discharging wifely duties and obligations.

32. In cross, the appellant stated that the respondent was posted in Uttarlai, Rajasthan, she went to live with him and undertook a job for three months inside the Air Force centre with the consent of her husband. When her husband was transferred to Ambala she had quit the job. In the entire cross-examination of the appellant, she has not been confronted on her alleged demand to take up employment in NCR namely Delhi, Noida and Gurgaon after completion of the B.Tech course. The stand of the respondent in the complaint that the dispute between them after marriage began on account of the demand raised by the wife to undertake employment outside the Air Force Station, especially in NCR, could not be established by the respondent. As per the respondent, the appellant left her matrimonial home on 23.11.2011. Prior to 23.11.2011, since after marriage, only allegations against the appellant was that she was not agreeable to stay with her husband (respondent) at the place of his posting, at the Air Force Station and being B.Tech qualified she was insisting to take up employment, leaving the respondent alone at the Air Force Station, though categorical clarification was given by the respondent at the time of the marriage that looking to his status, the wife would not allow to do job after marriage. The assertion of the respondent is that when the respondent refused to accede to the request of his wife/appellant to go outside the Air Force Station to take up a job, she started making his life hell and made complaints to higher officials of the Indian Air Force. The family members and the respondent himself tried to persuade the appellant but she did not listen to anyone. For this part of the allegations made by the respondent, from the above analysis of the evidence on record which is oral, none of the allegations noted above could be proved by the respondent.

33. The relationship, however, took an ugly turn on 23.11.2011, when the appellant went to her paternal house alongwith her brother and cousin. The stand of the respondent in the divorce petition is that on the said day, i.e. on 23.11.2011 while the respondent was on duty, in his absence, the appellant alongwith his brother Mohit Dixit and one other person, in a planned manner collected all valuables, jewelry, clothes, cash, diamond set, FD, ATM card, bank pass book and started making preparation to go to Meerut to her parent's home. The respondent got information through a neigbour and reached at his house at around 02.00 PM. He then saw that the appellant alongwith his brother and another person was ready to go to Meerut and her entire luggage was kept in the car. The respondent did his best to persuade the appellant not to leave him but she started misbehaving with the appellant in front of other people collected on the spot and did not listen to anyone and left her matrimonial home in order to desert the respondent against his wishes. Narrating the incident occurred on 23.11.2011, the appellant wife, however, stated that her husband had deserted her since 23.11.2011 without any reason and the respondents refused to keep her with him as his wife.

34. In her cross-examination, the appellant stated that on 23.11.2011 she was in the house of her husband (her matrimonial home) at Ambala till evening. Her husband was on duty but came home early. She called her brother Mohit Dixit and cousin Suhil Sharma as her husband threw her out of the house and despite repeated requests, he did not allow her to enter inside the house. She called her brother through telephone in the afternoon and her brother and cousin reached around evening. On further confrontation, the appellant as DW-1 stated that when she made the telephone call, her husband already came back from the duty and threw her out of the house.

35. The debate, thus, is as to whether the appellant wife had left the respondent husband on her own volition, or she was thrown out of her matrimonial home. In this regard, it may be noted that according to the respondent, soon after the appellant had allegedly left her matrimonial home on 23.11.2011, he gave information of the incident to his parents at Meerut. They also tried to persuade the appellant but the appellant and her parents insisted that the appellant would take up an employment in Delhi, Noida, Gurgaon and if the respondent wished he could live with her after leaving his job, which was not possible for the respondent.

36. The respondent then gave an information to the Air Force Commanding Officer about the incident of his wife leaving his home by moving an application on 25.11.2011, within two days of the wife leaving his home. The said application is on record as paper no.45 Ga/2 and 45Ga/3. In the said application, the respondent stated about the incident which happened on 23.11.2011 at his place of residence when his wife Mrs. Sneha Pandit had gone to her father's home alongwith her brother Mohit Dixit who came to take her. He then stated therein that he wanted to place it on record that he was unaware of the activity which was planned by his wife and Mohit Dixit. The respondent was not told about the arrival of his brother-in-law Mohit Dixit who also did not speak to him when the respondent reached his home from his workplace at about 02.00 PM. He found that his wife was ready to leave after packing up all her bags with Mr. Mohit Dixit. The respondent then stated that he tried and requested his wife to stay back because he wanted to live with her. His own brother-in-law and sister also came and tried to persuade the appellant to stay back but she did not listen to anyone and left with her brother. The respondent then stated that he wanted to bring to the notice of the Commanding Officer by writing that letter that his wife had taken away all her clothes, valuables, Sarees, Gold Jewelry of 200 grams and one diamond set of Rs.2,50,000,/- SBI F.D. of 3,50,000/-; ATM card and cheque book and passbook of SBI account wherein balance at that point of time was Rs.25,000/- and Rs. 5000/- in cash which was kept for household expenditure.

37. The respondent lastly stated in the said application that the involvement of the appellant and his brother-in-law and planned activity of the said kind proved hindrance in his effort to lead a happy married life. This application lastly noted that the above noted information was for the kind intimation to the Commanding Officer and for future record.

38. We may further note that the father of the respondent namely Ram Gopal Sharma also moved an application dated 29.11.2011 before the Assistant Police Commissioner, Ambala Cantt. The statements therein are that he was father of Tarun Pandit (the respondent) who was Fighter Lieutenant in the Air Force posted at Ambala Air Force Station. His daughter-in-law Sneha Pandit/appellant herein was not acceding to any suggestion or request of the family members and was making all efforts to harass them. She was fighting on trivial issues and did not trust her husband. They were making efforts for the last two years to improve the relationship between his son and her wife but his daughter-in-law Sneha Pandit was not ready to listen to anyone. The complainant Ram Gopal Sharma stated therein that he was residing at Meerut and on 28.11.2021, when he came to meet his son he got to know about the incident occurred on 23.11.2011, where his daughter-in-law had left her matrimonial home after packing all valuables, clothes and cash. The submission therein is that the son of the complainant, namely the respondent herein, made all efforts to persuade his wife and brother-in-law but they did not listen to her. An apprehension was then raised by Ram Gopal Sharma that after reaching Meerut, his daughter-in-law /appellant herein would make a false complaint in order to harass them and hence he brought the facts to the knowledge of the police authority. The record further indicates that the said complaint was consigned to record with the report dated 27.01.2012 wherein it was noted that no untoward incident was reported to have occurred on 23.11.2011, in the investigation conducted by the police officials after lodging of the complaint.

39. We may further note that within two years of the incident dated 23.11.2011, when the appellant wife had allegedly left her matrimonial house on her own volition, the respondent moved an application on 13.01.2013 to the concerned officers at the Air Force Station, seeking for allotment of a proper living-in-accommodation. It is stated in the said application that on account of some personal problem, it was not possible for him to stay in a living-out-accommodation. Living-out-accommodation for our record is an accommodation for the married couple whereas living-in-accommodation is an accommodation for a single person.

40. While all that was happening between the couple, the respondent PW-1 stated in his deposition that he moved the application for leaving the "living out accommodation" and allotment of "single officer accommodation" on 30.01.2013, since the appellant had refused to come and live with him at the Air Force Station for about two years, inspite of the best efforts made by him.

41. In the cross-examination, PW-1 was put to cross on the averments made by him in paragraph No.'11' of the affidavit filed in his examination in chief. The respondent (PW-1) admitted that he had never talked to the appellant for compromise after 23.11.2011. He then stated that since he had to remain on duty, his parents had a talk of compromise and kept on their efforts to reconcile between the couple for about two years. All meetings in that regard were held at Meerut and he could know the outcome of those meetings through his parents. On further confrontation, the respondent admitted that whatever was stated in paragraph No.'11' of the affidavit in the examination-in-chief was correct and he never met the appellant to talk about any compromise. He also admitted in the same breath, that he did not talk to his wife before filing of the divorce petition and straightway went to the Court. He further admitted that the talk about the divorce by way of mutual consent was made only after the divorce suit was filed and he did not talk to his wife about the divorce prior to the institution of the divorce suit.

42. While explaining his conduct in writing the letter dated 25.11.2011 to the Commanding Officer, the respondent (PW-1) stated that he wanted to keep his wife with him on 23.11.2011, 24.11.2011 and 25.11.2011 and with that view of the matter, the said letter was sent. The suggestion that the said letter was written for his own protection, was denied by PW-1 (respondent). The respondent also admitted that he did not provide any maintenance to his wife after 23.11.2011 till October 2013.

43. The respondent further denied that he lived with his wife in January or February 2013 and also denied that he ever went to the house of his wife at Noida in those months and they had cohabited.

44. The appellant, on the other hand, made a categorical statement that her husband had deserted her on 23.11.2011 when she objected to the ill behaviour of her husband, both physical and mental. The appellant also filed a petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 in order to save her marriage. It was further stated by the appellant in her examination-in-chief, that on 05.07.2013, she went to the house of her in-laws, parents of the respondent, at Meerut with a view to save her marriage and stayed there for a period of three days from 05.07.2013 till 08.07.2013, in the absence of her husband. However, on 08.07.2013, the family members of the respondent sent the appellant to her parent's house saying that they would talk to the respondent and then call her within 2-3 days. No-one called or came to call the appellant since thereafter. She stated that the respondent had deserted her without any reason or reasonable cause and rather she was the one who had made all efforts to save her marriage.

45. In the cross-examination, DW-1, the appellant, on confrontation, further stated that she came to Meerut alongwith her brothers as her husband refused to keep her. She then stated that the report of the said incident was not given by her at the police station Ambala Cantt rather the Commanding Officer of the Air Force Station who was present on the spot was intimated. She categorically stated that she was deserted by her husband and the assertion that she had left her matrimonial home alongwith her brothers on her own volition was incorrect.

46. From the pleadings and the evidence led by the parties, though it remains a debatable issue as to who (amongst the couple) was at fault but the fact remains that after the appellant had left her matrimonial home in the company of her brothers on 23.11.2011, the respondent had never met her nor made any effort to persuade her to rejoin him. No legal remedy for restoration of the matrimonial cord was initiated by the respondent. The assertion made by the respondents about the efforts made by him to persuade his wife in his divorce petition and the affidavit in the examination-in-chief was put to him in the cross-examination and he admitted categorically that he never met the appellant nor went to Meerut where the appellant was living with her parents after 23.11.2011. The statement of the respondent that all efforts made by him after 23.11.2011 to resolve the dispute between him with his wife with the help of his family members in his petition and the affidavit is, thus, found to be false. The respondent soon after the expiry of the period of two years and five days from the date of the incident dated 23.11.2011, the day of alleged desertion by the wife, had filed the divorce petition under Section 13 of the Act' 1955 in the Family Court at Meerut on 27.11.2013. There is no whisper in the divorce petition that the respondent made any effort to meet his wife at Meerut or made any effort for reconciliation before filing of the divorce petition with his affidavit dated 27.11.2013. The assertion in the divorce petition that further cause of action arose on 25.11.2013 for filing the divorce petition when the appellant refused to live with him, was, thus, proved to be false.

Law of desertion:-

47. Section 13(1)(ib) of the Act' 1955 provides for grant of divorce on the ground of desertion for a continuous period of not less than two years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition. The provision stipulates that the husband or wife would be entitled for a dissolution of marriage by the decree of divorce if the other parties had deserted the parties seeking the divorce for a continuous period of not less than two years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition.

48. To deal with the concept of desertion, the Apex Court in Savitri Pandey Vs. Prem Chandra Pandey11 has stated that:-

"Desertion", for the purpose of seeking divorce under the Act, means the intentional permanent forsaking and abandonment of one spouse by the other without that other's consent and without reasonable cause. In other words it is a total repudiation of the obligations of marriage. Desertion is not the withdrawal from a place but from a state of things. Desertion, therefore, means withdrawing from the matrimonial obligations, i.e., not permitting or allowing and facilitating the cohabitation between the parties. The proof of desertion has to be considered by taking into consideration the concept of marriage which in law legalises the sexual relationship between man and woman in the society for the perpetuation of race, permitting lawful indulgence in passion to prevent licentiousness and for procreation of children. Desertion is not a single act complete in itself, it is a continuous course of conduct to be determined under the facts and circumstances of each case. After referring to host of authorities and the views of various authors, this Court in Bipinchandra Jaisinghbhai Shah v. Prabhavati [AIR 1957 SC 176] held that if a spouse abandons the other in a state of temporary passions, for example, anger or disgust without intending permanently to cease cohabitation, it will not amount to desertion."

49. The desertion, in its essence, means the intentional permanent forsaking and abandonment of one spouse by the other without that other's consent, and without reasonable cause. For the act of desertion so far as the deserting spouse is concerned, two essential conditions must be there (i) the factum of separation and (ii) the intention to bring cohabitation permanently to an end (animus deserendi). Similarly two elements are essential as far as the deserted spouse is concerned: (i) the absence of consent, and (ii) absence of conduct giving reasonable cause to the spouse leaving the matrimonial home to form the necessary intention aforesaid.

50. It was observed by the Apex Court in Dr.(Mrs.) Malathi Ravi, M.D vs Dr. B.V . Ravi M.D12 that for holding desertion as proved the inference may be drawn from certain facts which may not in another case be capable of leading to the same inference; that is to say the facts have to be viewed as to the purpose which is revealed by those acts or by conduct and expression of intention, both anterior and subsequent to the actual acts of separation.

51. Meaning thereby, the Court on the basis of acts, conduct and expression of intention by the parties, both prior to and subsequent to the actual acts of separation, can draw an inference from the proven facts and circumstances that the deserting spouse had the intention to bring cohabitation permanently to an end, without the consent of the deserted spouse. For the deserted spouse, it was required to be proved that the act of desertion was without his consent and there was no such conduct of the deserted spouse giving reasonable cause to the spouse (deserting spouses) for leaving the matrimonial home to form the necessary intention to bring cohabitation permanently to an end. In simple words, it can be described to be an unilateral act of the deserting spouse, without the consent of his/her partner and in absence of any conduct of the deserted spouse which may have lead to the act of the deserting spouse.

Findings on the issue of desertion:-

52. In light of the law relating to the concept of desertion, in the factual matrix of the instant case, having noted each and every circumstance brought on the record, we find that the evidence on record is insufficient, to come to a conclusion even on probability that the wife deserted her husband, the respondent, with the intention to bring the matrimonial relationship to an end. The allegations of the respondent that his wife/appellant had left her matrimonial house without his consent and in absence of his conduct giving reasonable cause to the wife to leave her matrimonial home, could not be proved by the respondent in the present case. Rather the situation looks otherwise. The wife after leaving her matrimonial home on 23.11.2011 on account of the act of the respondent (as per her contention) to throw her out of the house, made efforts to resolve the matter. She even went to the house of her parents-in-law to reside there for three days in the absence of the respondent, in order to persuade them to bring the dispute to an end. She filed restitution petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955, participated in the mediation proceeding showing her willingness to live with her husband. Since the allegations of the appellant was that she was thrown out of her matrimonial home by the respondent and then she called her brother to go to Meerut, the admission of the respondent that he never went to Meerut to bring back his wife after 23.11.2011 and before filing of the divorce suit, i.e. for a period of two years, gave a clear indication of the fact that the respondent never wanted to patch up with his wife and his version that the wife had left her matrimonial home on her own volition, thus, seems to be unbelievable.

53. The family court has committed illegality in twisting the entire evidence and ignoring the version of the respondent, in returning a finding of act the of desertion by the appellant wife, while deciding the said issue in favour of the respondent husband. The discussion made by the family court to return the findings on issue No.2 that the appellant wife had deserted her husband without any reasonable cause, is capricious and whimsical. Mere fact that the appellant had moved an application before the officers of the Air Force seeking interim alimony after filing of the divorce suit by the respondent could not have been viewed against the wife. As regard the statement about the marital discord between them having been reached at such level that no reconciliation was possible, it was the statement recorded in the order dated 15.09.2014 passed by the Air Force Officer on the application for maintenance. The application moved by the wife, however, has not been brought on record.

54. Further act of the wife in going to the place of the posting of the respondent in January 2016, after filing of the divorce petition has been viewed against her. The family court had recorded without any basis that the said act of the wife was aimed at some ulterior motive as she had already filed criminal complaint against her husband and family members. The family court had also concluded that since the wife had admitted that she was living separately from her husband from 21.11.2011, the period of two years of desertion stood proved.

55. The above act of the wife rather shows that she was making efforts to meet her husband even after filing of the divorce suit. The respondent, to the contrary, wrote a letter to the Commanding Officer on 28.01.2016 stating therein that he came to know that his wife Smt. Sneha had arrived at the Air Force Station Kalaikunda on 25.01.2016 without any intimation to him and he had apprehension that his wife came to stay at the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda with the intention to file further complaints of criminal cases which she had filed earlier. The respondent further stated therein that any act of the wife to come and stay with him would also interrupt the separation period and weaken his case for divorce. He had no faith or trust on his wife after separation of more than four years and did not want to have any kind of meeting or interaction and definitely could not agree to stay together with her. Prayer was made in the said application that the wife (Mrs. Sneha Pandit) be requested to leave Air Force Station, Kalaikunda as soon as possible or else the respondent would not be responsible for any misdeeds of his wife which she intended while staying inside the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda.

56. The respondent had also filed a complaint before the Superintendent of Police, Paschim Medinipur, West Bengal, on 30.01.2016 leveling allegations of harassment and act of forceful breaking into his house on the part of the appellant. It was stated therein that in the morning on 29.01.2016 at about 06.00 AM, appellant Mrs. Sneha Pandit had tried to break into the house of the respondent forcibly, causing mental harassment to him and creating pubic nuisance at the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda. It was also stated therein that the respondent wanted to end his relationship and was waiting for the decision of the Court where the divorce petition was pending. He further requested to lodge the criminal complaint against appellant Mrs. Sneha Pandit because of her intentions being malign.

57. The action of the respondent in sending letter to the Commanding Officer on 25.11.2011, intimating the incident occurred on 23.11.2011, act of his father Ram Gopal Sharma in lodging the criminal complaint on 29.11.2011 before the Assistant Police Commissioner, Ambala Cantt on apprehension, the application moved by the respondent on 30.01.2013 (within two years of the incident) for allotment of a single officer accommodation i.e. living-in-accommodation clearly shows that the respondent sine the beginning of the incident dated 23.11.2011 had no intention to live with his wife. The appellant had admitted in her cross-examination that she had given the entire details of the incident orally to the Commanding Officer who was present on the spot. However, after she had left, the respondent presented his side of story by writing a letter after two days. Not only this, the father of the respondent who admittedly was in Meerut on 23.11.2011, came to Ambala to lodge a criminal complaint at the police station Ambala Cant on 29.11.2011 leveling allegations against the appellant raising an apprehension that she would make a false complaint to implicate all of them. The fact of the matter is that no complaint was lodged by the wife till the divorce suit was filed for about two years after said incident is on record.

58. It, thus, seems to us that the trivial dispute between the couple took an ugly turn on 23.11.2011 when the wife left her matrimonial home alongwith her brothers. The respondent instead of trying to resolve the issue taking benefit of the situation made criminal complaint against his wife. It is the admission of the respondent that he did not make any effort to bring back his wife. There is absolutely no disclosure of any such instance prior to 23.11.2011 which made it impossible for the couple to live together.

59. Further action of the respondent in making a reckless complaint of the act of harassment and forcibly breaking into his house on 13.01.2016 on the part of the appellant, when she visited the Air Force Station Kalaikunda in January 2016 with an aim to talk to him, on an apprehension that the appellant would lodge another false complaint or do something adverse to malign his image, reflects the mindset of the respondent that he was never inclined to patch up with his wife like a wise persons as he is trying to project himself.

60. In any case, taking into consideration of the acts, conduct and expression of intention by the parties from their acts and conducts, both anterior and subsequent to the actual act of separation, no inference can be drawn for holding that the appellant wife had left her matrimonial home on 23.11.2011 with the intention to bring the cohabitation permanently to an end. Mere act of withdrawal of the wife from her matrimonial home at the Air Force station, Ambala and the factum of separation of the wife for a period of two years from her husband when she was making efforts to pacify her husband with the help of the family in order to bring matrimonial harmony cannot lead to the conclusion that the wife had no intention to lead a normal married life with the husband or her act of leaving her matrimonial home was in absence of any conduct of the husband (respondent) giving the wife (appellant) a reasonable cause to form the necessary intention aforesaid.

61. From the analysis of the evidence on record, the allegations of 'desertion' as enshrined under Section 13 (1) (ib) to seek divorce have not been established. The finding on the issue No.2 as recorded by the family court are liable to set aside being perverse, contrary to the evidence on record.

Issue of cruelty:-

62. On the issue no.1 of 'cruelty' alleged to have been caused by the wife, the finding is that the wife had caused mental cruelty to the respondent by her conduct, action and inaction and with the lodging of the criminal cases after filing of the divorce suit. The question would be whether a decree of divorce on the ground of mental cruelty can be granted, in the facts and circumstances of the case.

Law of cruelty:-

63. Before proceeding to deal with the factual aspects on the issue of mental cruelty, it would be apposite to note the concept of 'mental cruelty' as discussed by the Apex Court in a series of decisions ranging from the year 2006. In Vinit Saxena vs. Pankaj Pandit13 while dealing with the issue of mental cruelty the Apex Court held as follows:-

"It is settled by catena of decisions that mental cruelty can cause even more serious injury than the physical harm and create in the mind of the injured appellant such apprehension as is contemplated in the Section. It is to be determined on whole facts of the case and the matrimonial relations between the spouses. To amount to cruelty, there must be such wilful treatment of the party which caused suffering in body or mind either as an actual fact or by way of apprehension in such a manner as to render the continued living together of spouses harmful or injurious having regard to the circumstances of the case.

Each case depends on its own facts and must be judged on these facts. The concept of cruelty has varied from time to time, from place to place and from individual to individual in its application according to social status of the persons involved and their economic conditions and other matters. The question whether the act complained of was a cruel act is to be determined from the whole facts and the matrimonial relations between the parties. In this connection, the culture, temperament and status in life and many other things are the factors which have to be considered".

64. In Samar Ghosh (supra), the Apex Court had given certain illustrations wherefrom inference of mental cruelty can be drawn. The Court has observed that illustrative example given therein were not exhaustive. It would be apposite to reproduce some of the illustrations:-

"(i) On consideration of complete matrimonial life of the parties, acute mental pain, agony and suffering as would not make possible for the parties to live with each other could come within the broad parameters of mental cruelty.

(ii) On comprehensive appraisal of the entire matrimonial life of the parties, it becomes abundantly clear that situation is such that the wronged party cannot reasonably be asked to put up with such conduct and continue to live with other party.

Xxxxxxxxxxxx

(iv) Mental cruelty is a state of mind. The feeling of deep anguish, disappointment, frustration in one spouse caused by the conduct of other for a long time may lead to mental cruelty.

xxxxxxxxxx

(vii) Sustained reprehensible conduct, studied neglect, indifference or total departure from the normal standard of conjugal kindness causing injury to mental health or deriving sadistic pleasure can also amount to mental cruelty.

xxxxxxxxxx

(x) The married life should be reviewed as a whole and a few isolated instances over a period of years will not amount to cruelty. The ill-conduct must be persistent for a fairly lengthy period, where the relationship has deteriorated to an extent that because of the acts and behaviour of a spouse, the wronged party finds it extremely difficult to live with the other party any longer, may amount to mental cruelty.

(xiv) Where there has been a long period of continuous separation, it may fairly be concluded that the matrimonial bond is beyond repair. The marriage becomes a fiction though supported by a legal tie. By refusing to sever that tie, the law in such cases, does not serve the sanctity of marriage; on the contrary, it shows scant regard for the feelings and emotions of the parties. In such like situations, it may lead to mental cruelty."

65. Speaking about the concept of mental cruelty, the Apex Court in Samar Ghosh (supra) has also observed thus:-

"Human mind is extremely complex and human behaviour is equally complicated. Similarly human ingenuity has no bound, therefore, to assimilate the entire human behaviour in one definition is almost impossible. What is cruelty in one case may not amount to cruelty in other case. The concept of cruelty differs from person to person depending upon his upbringing, level of sensitivity, educational, family and cultural background, financial position, social status, customs, traditions, religious beliefs, human values and their value system.

Apart from this, the concept of mental cruelty cannot remain static; it is bound to change with the passage of time, impact of modern culture through print and electronic media and value system etc. etc. What may be mental cruelty now may not remain a mental cruelty after a passage of time or vice versa. There can never be any strait-jacket formula or fixed parameters for determining mental cruelty in matrimonial matters. The prudent and appropriate way to adjudicate the case would be to evaluate it on its peculiar facts and circumstances."

66. In Vishwanath Agrawal, s/o Sitaram Agrawal Vs. Sarla Vishwanath Agrawal14 while dealing with the mental cruelty, it was opined thus:-

"The expression ''cruelty' has an inseparable nexus with human conduct or human behaviour. It is always dependent upon the social strata or the milieu to which the parties belong, their ways of life, relationship, temperaments and emotions that have been conditioned by their social status."

67. In K. Srinivas Rao (supra) while dealing with the instance of mental cruelty, the Court added certain other illustrations to the illustrations given in the case of Samar Ghosh (supra). The relevant extract of observations therein are relevant to be noted herein:-

"Making unfounded indecent defamatory allegations against the spouse or his or her relatives in the pleadings, filing of complaints or issuing notices or news items which may have adverse impact on the business prospect or the job of the spouse and filing repeated false complaints and cases in the court against the spouse would, in the facts of a case, amount to causing mental cruelty to the other spouse."

68. In Malathi Ravi, M.D (supra) taking note of the various decisions of the Apex court, while discussing the concept of 'mental cruelty' it was observed that mental cruelty and its effect cannot be stated with arithmetical exactitude. It varies from individual to individual, from society to society and also depends on the status of the persons. What would be a mental cruelty in the life of two individuals belonging to particular strata of the society may not amount to mental cruelty in respect of another couple belonging to a different stratum of society. The agonized feeling or for that matter a sense of disappointment can take place by certain acts causing a grievous dent at the mental level. The inference has to be drawn from the attending circumstances.

69. It was observed in A. Jayachandra (supra) that to constitute cruelty, the conduct complained of should be "grave and weighty" so as to come to the conclusion that the petitioner spouse cannot be reasonably expected to live with the other spouse. It must be something more serious than "ordinary wear and tear of married life". The conduct, taking into consideration the circumstances and background has to be examined to reach at the conclusion whether the conduct complained of amounts to cruelty in the matrimonial law. Conduct has to be considered, as noted above, in the background of several factors such as social status of parties, their education, physical and mental conditions, customs and traditions. It must be of the type as to satisfy the conscience of the Court that the relationship between the parties had deteriorated to such an extent due to the conduct of the other spouse that it would be impossible for them to live together without mental agony, torture or distress, to entitle the complaining spouse to secure divorce. Mental cruelty may consist of verbal abuses and insults by using filthy and abusive language leading to constant disturbance of mental peace of the other party.

70. It was observed therein that the Court dealing with the petition for divorce on the ground of cruelty has to bear in mind that the problems before it are those of human beings and the psychological changes in a spouse's conduct have to be borne in mind before disposing of the petition for divorce. However insignificant or trifling, such conduct may cause pain in the mind of another. But before the conduct can be called cruelty, it must touch a certain pitch of severity. It is for the Court to weigh the gravity. It has to be seen whether the conduct was such that no reasonable person would tolerate it. It has to be considered whether the complainant should be called upon to endure as a part of normal human life. Every matrimonial conduct, which may cause annoyance to the other, may not amount to cruelty. Mere trivial irritations, quarrels between spouses, which happen in day-to-day married life, may also not amount to cruelty. Cruelty in matrimonial life may be of unfounded variety, which can be subtle or brutal. It may be words, gestures or by mere silence, violent or non-violent.

(i) Allegations of cruelty in the divorce petition:-

71. In the instant case, in the divorce petition, the respondent stated that he had suffered mental agony, torture and distress on account of the demand of the appellant to allow her to take up a job in the NCR i.e. places like Delhi, Noida and Gurgaon, after the wife had completed her B.Tech course. It was stated by the respondent that the appellant and her family members were initially conveyed clearly at the time of marriage itself, that the appellant (wife) would not be permitted to take up any employment in the interest of the family and looking to the status of the respondent being employed in the Air Force. However, when the appellant insisted and the respondent denied, the wife started quarreling with him and in a planned manner with a view to get the respondent dismissed from service of the Air Force, she made complaints to his higher officials, as a result of which, the respondent had suffered indignation and his image had been sullied before his colleagues and superiors and on account of her own conduct, the appellant could not conceive (bear a child) which also caused severe mental pain to the respondent as also his family members.

72. Considering these allegations in the divorce petition, when the respondent was put to cross about the allegations of complaints made by the wife, he stated that an oral complaint was made by his wife at the Air Force Utarlai that the respondent had physically assaulted here and fought with her. He stated that the parents of the appellant were informed of that conduct and he intimated to his parents as well. When further confronted, the respondent admitted that no written complaint was made by his wife and on the oral complaint made by her, his written explanation was not called by his superior officials. He also admitted that he did not specify in his petition or the affidavit filed in the examination-in-chief about the oral complaint made by the wife at the Air Force Station Uttarlai.

73. From this part of the cross-examination of the respondent, atleast it is evident that he could not bring on record any specific instance of complaints made by his wife namely the appellant herein in support of his pleadings in the divorce petition. The plea of the respondent that the act of his wife in making false complaints in a planned manner to his Senior Officers had resulted in mental agony to him, thus, could not be proved by any evidence much less cogent evidence.

74. As regards the allegation of demand raised by the wife to take up employment outside the Air Force Station after completion of the B.Tech course, in his cross-examination, the respondent had admitted that his wife also took the job of teaching while he was posted at the Air Force Station Uttarlai for sometime, while she was residing with him. He then admitted that the appellant was free to take up any employment while residing with him but stated that she wanted to live separately outside the Air Force Station to take up a job after completion of the B.Tech course. However, no specific time, year or month could be narrated by the respondent, in his cross-examination, as to when the appellant had raised such a demand but averred that she (wife) started fighting with him for that reason soon after marriage.

75. The appellant wife, on the other hand, in her cross, stated that at the time of marriage, her husband/respondent herein was posted as Flight Lieutenant in the Air Force and was posted in Uttarlai, Rajasthan. Soon after marriage, she went to Uttarlai to live with her husband and did a job for three months with the consent of her husband but when he was transferred to Ambala, she left the job and came with her husband. From the statement of the parties, it may be inferred that the appellant wanted to be economically independent or engage herself. She even took a job of teaching for a short period of three months while living with the respondent at the Air Force Uttarlai, Rajasthan, but it cannot be assumed from any of the circumstances brought before us that she was insisting to take up employment elsewhere after completion of the B.Tech course. Not a single instance of the wife having applied for such a job during the period when she was living with the respondent, could be narrated by the respondent in his deposition. The allegation of the respondent that insistence of the wife to take up employment elsewhere outside the Air Force station just to live separately from the respondent had caused rift between them soon after marriage and the said act had resulted in mental agony to the respondent, thus, is not substantiated from the evidence on record.

76. Even otherwise, such trivial dispute resulting in quarrel between spouses, even if existed, it is a rift which happened in day-to-day married life and cannot amount to cruelty. Even if it is accepted for a moment that the appellant had aspirations to be an independent person even after marriage and was insisting to take up employment after completion of B.tech course, the situation could have been dealt by the respondent more wisely. Instead of controlling his wife, quarreling on the issue, the respondent could have cajoled his wife to rationalize his point of view so as to convince her not to leave him alone just to earn some money.

77. Be that as it may, no such instance is before us to draw any inference that any such effort was made by the respondent husband which went in vain and the appellant wife did not listen to his wisdom rather the statement in the divorce petition in this regard reflects male-chauvinistic attitude of the respondent husband when he goes on to say that his wife and her family were categorically told in the beginning of the alliance at the time of marriage itself, that the wife would not be allowed to take up any employment, meaning thereby that she could not think of being an economically independent person.

78. Leaving this issue as it is, without much deliberation on the approach of the respondent husband about the dispute, we proceed to examine other allegations of cruelty made against the appellant.

79. Another contention of the respondent in the divorce petition was that the wife could not conceive (could not bear a child) on account of her indifferent attitude and malicious behaviour, which also added to mental trauma to the respondent as well as his family. In this regard, suffice it to note that apart from the bald pleading and reiteration of the said allegation in the affidavit filed in the examination-in-chief in a casual manner, no evidence whatsoever has been brought on record to even demonstrate that the respondent had ever consulted any doctor to know the real problem. Moreover, the couple stayed together barely for two years after marriage and if during such a short period, wife did not conceive, it was nothing unusual and the said situation cannot be attributed to the conduct or behaviour of the wife as alleged by the respondent.

80. Now coming to the incident dated 23.11.2011, there are contradictory versions of both the parties and as discussed in the foregoing paragraphs, the respondent could not prove the act of desertion by the wife/appellant herein. The statement of mental cruelty caused by the wife on account of her act of desertion, therefore, cannot be substantiated. To the contrary, the conduct of the respondent after 23.11.2011 in giving intimation in writing to the Commanding Officer on 25.11.2011 about the act of his wife of leaving his home and further the action of his father in going to Ambala and lodging a criminal complaint at the police station Ambala Cantt on 29.11.2011 based on his apprehension, further shows that the respondent himself did not intend to remove the differences between him and his wife. The averments of the respondent in the divorce petition as also in the affidavit filed in the examination-in-chief that the respondent and his parents had tried to persuade the appellant to forget all differences and live with the respondent are proved to be false. The conduct of the respondent and his father in lodging a criminal complaint at the police station and the admission of the respondent that he did not make any effort for reconciliation and did not even meet or talk to his wife after she had left his home, had resulted in widening of the rift between the parties and has increased the bitterness between them.

81. The next contention of the respondent husband is that on account of the attitude and ill treatment of his wife, he was so much disturbed mentally that his promotional prospects were seriously hampered. The contention is that he could not get promotion on account of the false complaints lodged by his wife with his Senior officials and further he could not complete the promotional course in the year 2011 because his wife had left him without any reason. In this regard, we may note that the respondent in the course of his cross examination, had admitted that he was not given promotion prior to 2014 as he was not qualified and the 'Qualified Instructor course' was completed by him in the year 2014. He admitted that his name was not in the list of selectees for promotional course as he did not fulfill the eligibility criteria. The respondent then reiterated that he had mentioned in the divorce petition and his affidavit that he could not undertake the promotional course on account of the mental tension because of the conduct of his wife.

82. As noted above, the respondent could not prove that his wife had made any complaint before his superior officers prior to the filing of the divorce petition. In view of his admission that he was not qualified for promotional course prior to the year

2014, the assertion in the divorce petition that the promotional prospects of the respondent were hampered due to the conduct and behaviour of his wife are proved to be false. The said ground appears to have been taken in the divorce petition on legal advise and later reiterated in the affidavit filed by the respondent in his examination-in-chief, in order to prove his case which he failed to establish in the cross examination. The divorce petition, thus, proved to have been filed on incorrect facts and false pleas. The family court has erred in taking into consideration of the averments made in the divorce petition as gospel truth, ignoring the evidence on record.

(ii) Additional grounds of cruelty:-

83. Now coming to the additional ground taken by the family court for granting the decree of divorce, the criminal cases filed by the wife after 23.11.2011, when she allegedly had left her matrimonial home on her own. Relevant is to note that the petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 was filed by the wife in the year 2013. It was categorically stated by the appellant wife that the respondent husband was not appearing in Section 9, restitution matter and after two and a half months of filing of the petition under Section 9, the appellant wife filed application seeking interim maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C. On confrontation, the appellant stated that she was constrained to file the application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. as the respondent was not appearing in the petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955. The appellant was confronted in the course of cross examination about her act of filing the petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 and Section 125 Cr.P.C., but the categorical statement made by her that the respondent husband was not appearing in Section 9 matter, which was filed prior to filing of the divorce petition, could not be disputed. It has come on record that the application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. was filed in October 2013, and it is admitted by the respondent, in cross, that from the date of alleged desertion, i.e. from 23.11.2011 till October 2013, he did not provide any maintenance to his wife. It was also admitted by the respondent, in cross, that the copy of the application for maintenance given by the wife in the department was provided to him. It is pertinent to note that till 27.11.2013, when the respondent filed the divorce petition, no criminal case was lodged by the wife except the application for maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C. and on this fact when the respondent was put to cross, he admitted the same but reiterated that false complaints were made by the wife in his department, which he could not prove.

(iii) Conduct of the husband:-

84. On the other side, looking to the conduct of the respondent, it may be noted that his father made a criminal complaint to the police on 29.11.2011 and when the appellant was confronted about the said complaint, he stated that on 23.11.2011, when his wife had left his home, his father was called in the evening and the entire incident was narrated to him. His father came to Ambala on the very next date, i.e. 24.11.2011.The respondent, however, gave a vague answer when confronted as to whether his father stayed from 24.11.2011 till 29.11.2011, the date of the complaint to the police, but it was admitted by him that on the date of the complaint, i.e. 29.11.2011, his father was in Ambala and he made the complaint to the Police Commissioner. The respondent then stated, in cross, that the complaint was not transcribed by his father in his presence as he was on duty and further stated that he got the copy of the complaint lodged by his father before the Police Commissioner, Ambala on 29.11.2011 and it was also read over to it. He then stated that he did not find any mistake in the complaint made by his father. The suggestion that the complaint was lodged by his father in defence was though denied but from the averments made in the said complaint brought on record as paper No.45-Ga1/4 and 45-Ga 1/5, it is evident that the father of the respondent pleaded the case of his son that his daughter-in-law, the wife of his son, had left her marital home without any reason and against the wishes of his son. The father of the respondent in his complaint further raised an apprehension that his daughter-in-law and her family members may lodge false cases against him and his son, which otherwise proved to be false. The respondent also admitted that he wrote the letter to the Commanding Officer on 25.11.2011 narrating the incident occurred on 23.11.2011, when his wife had left Ambala, and stated that he did so in order to put everything on record for future.

85. From the conspectus of the above facts, at-least, it is evident that the father and son were having something in mind that they created evidence for their protection for future soon after the appellant allegedly left her marital home, though no criminal complaint was filed by the wife till the year 2014, much after filing of the divorce petition by the respondent.

(iv) Conduct of the wife:-

86. Coming to the criminal case lodged by the wife under the Dowry Prohibition Act and Section 498-A IPC, the said case was filed by the appellant wife on 06.05.2014 and it was an admission of the respondent, in cross, that prior to the filing of the said criminal case, only a complaint was filed by the wife in the Mahila Thana in December 2013 but from 23.11.2011 when the wife had allegedly left her matrimonial home till December 2013, no criminal case was lodged by the wife.

87. Thus, analyzing the conduct of the wife from the beginning, we may note that the appellant wife has proved that she did not make any complaint to the senior officers of the Air Force against her husband nor did she filed any complaint in the police station rather the criminal complaint made by the respondent and his father were proved to be false. After the wife came back from the house of her husband in the year 2011, it was her categorical stand that she started her studies while living in Noida at the house of her sister and completed M. Tech course in the year 2014. After 2014, she was doing coaching for higher studies and the entire expenses of her education and daily needs were borne by her father. It was categorical statement of the appellant, in cross, she belonged to a middle class family. The petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 was filed by her at Noida while she was residing there. Section 125 Cr.P.C. application was filed after about two and a half months of filing of the petition under Section 9 of the Act' 1955 as the respondent was not coming forward in the said petition.

88. When paper No.45Ga/8 was shown to the appellant, in cross, she admitted that she filed the application for maintenance in the department wherein the said order dated 15.09.2014 was passed.

She then stated that the said order was passed after hearing both the parties and she did not challenge the said order. When the averments in the order dated 15.09.2014 were put to her wherein it was recorded that in her application dated 20.12.2013, the appellant had stated that the marital discord between them had reached beyond reconciliation, she categorically replied that no such statement was made by her in the application dated 20.12.2013 rather it was own assessment of the officer who had mentioned the said fact in the order on account of the stand taken by the respondent. The fact of the matter is that though the appellant was confronted about her statement in the application dated 20.12.2013 seeking maintenance from the department but the said application was not brought on record by the respondent rather he had heavily relied upon the statement in the order dated 15.9.2014 (Paper No.45 Ga/8) to put the said statement in the mouth of the appellant.

89. Be that as it may, it is evident that apart from moving the application for maintenance and seeking restitution of conjugal rights, the appellant wife did not initiate any criminal proceeding nor insituted any adverse legal action against her husband so as to put her relations in peril, till the divorce suit was filed by the respondent on the allegations which have been proved to be false and concocted.

(v) Criminal cases lodged by the wife:-

90. About lodging of the criminal case under Section 482 Cr.P.C., when confronted, the appellant stated that she had filed the criminal case in May 2014 narrating the incident which occurred with her. On submission of the final report, protest petition was filed by her wherein re-investigation was ordered. She again filed a protest petition on submission of the final report which was pending in the court of the Chief Judicial Magistrate on the date of her cross-examination in this case. On the suggestion that the appellant filed the criminal case and protest petitions twice in order to harass the respondent and his family members and get them punished, she responded that she did so in order to make them realize they had wronged her. She, however, maintained the stand that the Investigating Officer did not make a proper investigation and did not go to Ambala to make a proper enquiry and further stated that nothing wrong had been mentioned by her in the first information report lodged against the respondent and his family members.

91. A further perusal of the contents of the first information report indicates that the appellant had narrated her plight and stated that the incident of physical assault upon her was intimated to the Senior officials when she was medically treated at the Air Force Station. Even the respondent had tendered an apology before the Commanding Officer at the Air Force, Ambala for the incident occurred on 25.10.2011. She further narrated an incident occurred outside the Mahila Thana on 06.04.2014 when she and her father were abused by her husband and father-in-law. She further stated therein that on 05.07.2013, her father had left to her in-law's house at Prabhat Nagar, Meerut where she stayed there for a period of three days but on 08.7.2013 but her-in-laws had thrown her out after abusing her. It may be noted that during the course of the cross-examination of the appellant, she was not confronted on the allegations of the incident of physical assault narrated by her in the first information report, though the cross-examination of the appellant wife was made in the year 2017. She was also not confronted about her narration of the incident occurred on 06.04.2014 outside the Mahila Thana. About the statement made by her having been stayed in the house of her in-laws from 05.07.2013 till 08.07.2013, the respondent husband had showed his ignorance. The parents of the respondent with whom, the appellant had allegedly resided from 05.07.2013 till 08.07.2013 did not come forward to confront her.

92. In any case, legal remedy availed by the appellant in filing a criminal case on the allegations made in the first information report as noted above, cannot be said to be a ground to conclude that the act of the wife in lodging the criminal case under the Dowry Act and 498-A had caused mental cruelty to her husband, the respondent herein, for the only reason that final reports were submitted by the Investigating Officer and the appellant wife had filed protest petitions twice challenging the investigation made by the police.

(vi) Subsequent events:-

93. As regards the domestic violence case, it was filed on 05.04.2016 when all doors of reconciliation knocked by the appellant were closed. It was categorical statement of the appellant that she went to the Air Force Station Kalaikunda, West Bengal on 25.01.2016 in order to save her marriage and the suggestion that all her moves after leaving her husband's home were part of a pre-conceived plan was denied. When confronted, the appellant stated that she went to the above noted place of posting of the respondent but came back when the respondent told his senior officers that he would not meet her. She admitted that she made efforts to patch up but came back on account of the refusal of the respondent to talk to her. She gave certain papers to the concerned officers as a proof of being the wife of the respondent. The respondent husband, on the other hand, admitted that on 25.01.2016, his wife did not come to meet him rather she came to the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda, West Bengal, where he was posted. His wife stayed for five days at the Air Force Station and he did not meet her in those five days. The respondent had shown ignorance about the fact that his wife had expressed her wishes to meet him and stated that the department informed him that his wife came there and was staying in the Guest House. He then gave an explanation that he did not meet his wife because of the pendency of the divorce suit though there were other reasons to meet her.

94. Having noted the admission of the respondent that he did not meet his wife nor his wife came to him when she stayed for five days at the Air Force Station Kalaikunda West Bengal, we are required to note the contents of the complaint filed by the respondent on 30.01.2016, on the 5th day when his wife had already left the Air Force Station. As per the contents of the said report submitted to the Superintendent of Police, Pachchim Medinipur, West Bengal, the appellant broke into the house of the respondent in the morning on 29.01.2016 in order to forcibly enter inside the house and thereby caused mental harassment to him and created public nuisance in the Air Force Station Kalaikunda. We may note that there is no narration of this incident, during cross, by the respondent when he was confronted about his complaint on the visit of his wife at the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda, West Bengal. What was the date of the complaint given to the police, was not brought in the Court. From the analysis of the conduct of the respondent and his action in making criminal complaint at the police station on 30.01.2016, after his wife had already left the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda, West Bengal, it is evident that it was a calculated move of the respondent to create evidence against his wife. It could not be proved by the respondent that the appellant wife had submitted any complaint against the respondent husband when she visited the Air Force Station, Kalaikunda, West Bengal during the pendency of the divorce suit. It is proved that she only met some senior officers of the department.

Findings on the issue of cruelty:-

95. Apart from the facts noted above from the record, there is nothing against the appellant. The family court has erred in returning a finding that the appellant made complaints to the Senior officers of the Air Force aimed to get the respondent dismissed from service while holding that the appellant had thereby caused mental cruelty to her husband by her conduct and behaviour. The reasoning given by the family court that the appellant wife was adamant to take up a job in Noida, outside the Air Force Station, was bereft of evidence. Lodging of the criminal complaint by the wife cannot be viewed against her so as to reach at the conclusion that by lodging the criminal complaint, the wife had traumatized the respondent and his entire family.

96. As discussed above, the criminal case lodged by the wife cannot be a reason to grant divorce on the ground of cruelty and the family court had acted illegally in holding that even filing of the application for maintenance under Section 125 Cr.P.C. by the wife would come within the meaning of cruelty. It seems that the family court was swayed away by the fact that the respondent husband was a Fighter Pilot posted as Squadron Leader in the Air Force and any kind of mental disturbance caused to him would come in the way of the dedicated services of the Nation, having lost sight of the fact that the respondent husband cannot take benefit of his own wrong by his mere position in service. Once he had wronged his wife by not treating her well and not trying to patch up the marital discord by acting wisely in his complete matrimonial life, no indulgence can be given to the respondent for the sole fact of being posted as a fighter pilot in the Indian Air Force. The conclusion drawn by the family court that all the abovenoted acts of wife had resulted in an act of 'cruelty' caused upon her husband is, thus, contrary to the evidence on record. The findings returned by the family court on issue No.1 in favour of the petitioner/respondent herein are, thus, liable to set aside.

Relief:-

97. Now the question remains as to the relief to which the appellant wife is entitled to.

98. From the statement of the husband, their marriage was arranged and was solemnized with the approval of both the families. Soon after the marriage, they stayed together for about 3-4 months at the place of posting of the husband at the Air Force Station, Uttarlai, Badmer, Rajasthan. As per the husband, they could not stay together peacefully even during this short period of 3-4 months after marriage and his statement is that the wife was adamant to go out to take up employment and that was the reason for their differences, which is not acceptable as it is admitted by the husband that the wife had completed B.Tech course only in the year 2010 whereas their marriage was solemnized in November 2009. During their short stay at Badmer, Rajasthan, the wife also went to Meerut to undertake examination for the B.Tech course. During the posting of the husband at the Air Force Station, Uttarlai, Badmer, Rajasthan soon after marriage, certain dispute had occurred between them and as per the statement of the wife in the first information report, she was treated at the Air Force Station hospital on 31.03.2010. Again an incident had occurred in February 2011 wherein wife had suffered certain injuries and was treated at the Air Force Station, at the place of the posting of the husband. The respondent was confronted, in cross, about those incidents and he showed ignorance about the treatment of his wife on 01.04.2010 at the Air Force Station, Uttarlai. The respondent also showed ignorance about the incident occurred in February 2011 as narrated in the first information report. He, however, had categorically denied the suggestion that he had assaulted his wife after consuming liquor.

99. The differences between the spouses had ultimately resulted in the incident occurred on 23.11.2011, when the appellant had left her marital home alongwith her brothers in the presence of the respondent husband. Both the spouses are levelling allegations against each other shifting responsibility for the marital discord, but it is difficult to accept that the fault lies only with the appellant wife. In the matter before us, it seems that during the short period of two years of their marital life, both the spouses were facing issues of compatibility. The allegations of wife are of physical assault by the husband, whereas husband seems to be aggrieved by the stubborn attitude, conduct and behaviour of the wife. They could not live peacefully and happily even during the short period of two years soon after marriage. It further seems to us that the respondent husband was under influence of his parents. The role of his father in going to Ambala and lodging a report at the P.S. Ambala Cantt, soon after the wife had left her matrimonial home alngwith her brothers, reflects dominating and reckless behavour of an elder member in the family of the husband. The husband states that after two years of separation he realized that adjustment was not possible and as such talked about mutual divorce with the wife who refused the request. The husband admitted that he never met his wife after she had left him on 23.11.2011. He never went to meet his wife or her parents, never called her. The statement of the husband that his parents made efforts for reconciliation by talking to the parents of his wife and the wife herself who was staying at Meerut proved to be incorrect. Looking to the attitude of the father of the respondent, it is difficult to accept that he acted as a bridge between his son and daughter-in-law and made any efforts to remove their differences. The respondent husband showed his ignorance about the visit of his parents to his wife's home at Meerut though both the families were residing in the same city. Rather categorical stand of the husband is that his wife went from his home without his consent and, as such, he did not make any effort to bring her back. He stated that two years of marriage was not a good experience for him so he did not bring his wife back and waited for another two years to file the divorce petition. The husband stated that the wife had opportunity to come back to him during the initial two years of separation but firmly stated that he was not ready to keep his wife in any circumstance. No legal remedy was availed by the husband to bring back his wife and he categorically stated during his cross-examination that he was never ready to keep the appellant Sneha Pandit as his wife. He never met her personally from the date of the separation till the date of the institution of the divorce suit, as he needed divorce at any cost.

100. From the statement of the wife, it seems that the father of the respondent namely the father-in-law went to the mediation center during reconciliation proceedings. The wife categorically stated that her father in law was instrumental in institution of the divorce petition and he was doing pairvi in the matter . The respondent had filed a petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India in the year 2016, itself for expeditious disposal of the divorce petition. The certified copy of order dated 11.04.2016 passed by this court directing the family court to decide the divorce petition is on record.

101. The respondent husband in his cross-examination has categorically stated that he did not make any effort to bring back his wife after 23.11.2011 as she left on her own volition without his consent and thereafter she lodged cases against him and also moved an application for maintenance. He however, admitted that during the period of two years, the appellant wife had only moved an application before the department to seek maintenance and also that no maintenance was given by him during the period of two years of separation.

102. It is clear that the dispute between the parties assumed alarming proportions with the passage of time and it seems that no one in the family made efforts to make the warring couple see reason. No effort was made at the early stage of the dispute to help the couple, before the wife filed the complaint under the Dowry Act, 498-A, in a desperate attempt to save her marriage. She was not counselled by any independent person or responsible elder of the family. Mediation proceedings between the parties failed on account of adamant stand of the respondent husband that he would not keep his wife at any cost. The husband did not even participate in the mediation proceeding and sent his father. Whereas the wife was always ready to go to with her husband and was making efforts in that direction by going to his parent's home and his place of posting to meet him even after criminal and civil cases were filed by both the parties. It seems to us that the criminal case was filed by the wife, in desperation, in order to bring her husband to the negotiation table. Her said attempt also failed as final reports were submitted twice in favour of the husband. The situation, however, turned against her each time and she had lost every battle with her husband, failed in every attempt to save her marriage, she never got any level-playing field, to bring her husband to the negotiation table, who refused to meet her at any cost.

103. We may not be misunderstood in saying that the fault lies only with the respondent husband but the sequence of the events of the present case portrays a clear picture that in the matrimonial dispute both the spouses were at fault but no one even elders in the family had helped them to overcome their differences and the way the appellant wife had approached the problem, it turned against her.

104. The cause of misunderstanding between the spouses was trivial but could not be sorted out. The records indicates that the wife was barely 22 years of age at the time of marriage and husband was 25 years. They have consumed their prime period of progress and happiness in life in the litigation before the Court. They could live together only for two years soon after their marriage that too with great difficulty. The appellant wife and the respondent husband are staying apart from 23.11.2011, thus, they are living separately for more than 10 years, in their total period of 12 years of matrimonial life. This separation has created a distance between the two which may not be bridged if we refuse to grant divorce.

105. In recent decades, women have moved forward in various areas of their lives and are competing with men despite many obstacles. New opportunities in education, politics, and employment caused many to define new roles for women. In our Indian society, the women performs not only the role of wife, partner, mother, manager of the home but also hold key positions as Adminstrator, Economist, Disciplinarian, Teachers, Doctor, Artist. The ever evolving human desire drives the development of men and women alike. Over the past 60 yeas, we have witnessed a conspicuous change in human desires. Women wish to be less and less involve in household management and child care and are increasingly expanding their involvement in other areas of society. At the same time, the world is pushing towards greater equality and women assume roles and responsibilities previously only filled by men as the world becomes more independent, it demands the intervention of women, asking the women to put their unique qualities into practice. A women is capable of holding on to a large number of tasks as well as carry them out successfully. Women and men are also different in their attitude but the mutual completion of each other qualities is the key to build a healthy society in the new era. The integration of women in the leadership of society and other system on human life is becoming necessary. The maternal qualities of women are expanding from the personal home to the global home. In this changing world, where the gender roles began to shift and change, where the man of the family is not necessarily the bread winner while the woman is the house wife, confining men and women in their fixed role inside their home, often led to this type of dispute.

106. In this changing world, in the case before us, we are feeling pain to note that a 22 years old girl who was doing B.tech course, was married off by her parents giving her a dream to live as the wife of a fighter pilot.

107. The parents of the girl did not allow her to complete even her graduation course and in the arrange marriage she was told by her husband that she would not be allowed to take up employment, a pre-condition for marriage. A 22 years old girl who was not even graduate might not be ready to take up the responsibilities of a marriage which became onerous for her with the attitude of her husband who takes credit even in his wife finishing B.Tech course. The young girl was not free to even express her aspirations to her husband, who was made incharge of her life. The independence of a young girl was, thus, curtailed brutally both by her parents and the husband. The husband also cannot be faulted as he was brought up in such an atmosphere where he was tutored that his wife would have to obey him. The aspirations of the young girl and the attitude of her husband being in conflict had been the cause of differences and disputes on trivial issues. The differences arose because of compatibility issues between two adults who came from different social background. At that moment, elders in the family were required to play a mature role in saving their relationship to bring harmony between two warring young persons. However, father of the husband namely (father-in-law) of the wife, behaved completely in an immature way. Instead of helping his son and daughter-in-law to overcome the crisis, he had taken the dispute to another level by lodging police complaint at a time when actually there was no serious dispute between the couple. While acting defensive as per his own explanation, the act of father of the husband ignited a trivial dispute to assume an alarming proportion. As far as the husband is concerned, he had his own ego when he stated categorically that since his wife had left (his house) on her own, she could have returned back "on her own" within two years before filing of the divorce petition and, thus, sought to explain as to why he never went to meet his wife or to talk to her to bring her back with him. This attitude of the husband is a typical example of male chauvinism.

108. Keeping this attitude consistent, in the year 2017, the husband made a statement in the Court that he was not ready to keep his wife in any circumstance and needed divorce at any cost.

109. Looking to the entire matrimonial life of two individuals before us, while dealing with the problems they faced in a short period of their conjugal life and thereafter, considering the whole issue from human angle, physiological point of view of both the spouses, it can be concluded that the matrimonial bond is beyond repair. It is one of those cases where refusing to severe the marital tie does not serve the sanctity of marriage as in such case the marriage becomes a fiction though supported by a legal tie. Such a situation may lead to mental cruelty of both the individuals and hamper positive progress and ultimate happiness in life. We are alive of the legal position that irretrievable break down of marriage is not a ground for divorce under the Act' 1955. We are also conscious of the law that the wrongdoer cannot take benefit of his own wrong. We are also conscious that being the first appellate court, the decree of divorce cannot be granted unless grounds as indicated under Section 13 of the Act' 1955 are established.

110. However, we cannot oblivious of the fact that both the spouses who are well educated, belong to well respected families had suffered a lot on account of their own attitude and behaviour. Though the husband had refused to keep his wife with him and his stand was consistent throughout but it cannot be said that it is only he who was at fault. The parties being well educated persons if free from the matrimonial bond, may look forward to settle in their life in a better and positive way which may make them happy individuals and their lives would be constructive to our society.

111. At this juncture, we are constrained to record our dissatisfaction in the manner in which the Family Court Judge had dealt with the entire issue. The approach of the Family Court Judge in dealing with the matter shows complete lack of sensitivity and reflects chauvinist attitude of the Presiding Officer. The way the judgement has been written reflects the male chauvinist belief of the Presiding Officer so much so that he could not see the basic human problem of compatibility in the attitude and behaviour of two individuals.

112. The one-sided approach of the family court judge had closed the doors of reconciliation between the parties. Had he acted in a neutral manner with progressive attitude, it was possible that the parties could see reasons when the matrimonial litigation was at the premature stage, bitterness between them might not have escalated to this level. The gender neutral approach of the family Court judge was much needed to deal with the matrimonial issues impartially. But his answer to the problems of the couple had again wronged the appellant wife who was blamed by the family Court for all her deeds and acts, ignoring the acts of the husband and his family members.

113. The appellant wife must be 35 years of age as of now and the husband is about 39 years. We are of the considered view that if at this juncture of their life, they are not given a second chance and are forced to live together, their lives may become miserable. The matrimonial dispute which has assumed this proportion on trivial issues, seems to be beyond repairs on account of bitterness created by the acts of both the husband and the wife and their family members.

114. The Apex Court in K. Srinivas Rao (supra) has taken note of its previous decisions to observe that the courts have always taken irretrievable breakdown of marriage as a very weighty circumstance amongst others necessitating severance of marital tie. A marriage which is dead for all purposes cannot be revived by the Court's verdict, if the parties are not willing. This is because marriage involves human sentiments and emotions and if they are dried-up there is hardly any chance of their springing back to life on account of artificial reunion created by the Court's decree. It was noted therein that the divorce petition was pending for eight years and a good part of the lives of both the parties had been consumed in litigation, yet the end was not in sight. In such circumstance, the Apex Court in V. Bhagat vs D. Bhagat 1994 (1) SCC 337 had observed that irretrievable break down of marriage is not a ground by itself, but, while scrutinizing the evidence on record to determine whether the grounds alleged are made out and in determining the relief to be granted, the said circumstance can certainly be borne in mind.

115. In the course of fighting litigation in different Courts the parties lost their "young days of happiness and prosperity." In the compelling circumstances of the present case, though we do not find any convincing ground taken in the divorce petition filed by the husband to grant the decree of divorce to him, but in order to give a chance to the parties to settle themselves and be relieved of a marriage which is dead, we are of the view that the marriage between the parties deserves to be dissolved.

116. But before concluding so, we are required to consider that the appellant wife who have lost employment opportunities after completion of the B.Tech course because of the resistance of her husband, who himself could not give her a peaceful comfortable life, is entitled to permanent alimony. A well educated girl who got married to an Air Force Officer at the age of barely 22 years must have a lot of dreams to lead the comfortable and secured life of the wife of an Air Force Officer. The wife though had completed B.Tech course in the year 2010 but could not take up any job due to marital obligations. During the period of separation of two years, she had studied M.Tech course and also took coaching for higher education but could not take any employment for becoming an economically independent person due to her energies being consumed in the litigation with her husband. The husband had wronged his wife in filing the divorce petition on false grounds.

117. Regard being had to the above circumstances and social status and strata of the parties especially the husband, the aspirations of the appellant wife to lead the life of the wife of an Air Force Officer, we found it justified to provide a sum of Rs.1 Crore (One Crore) as permanent alimony to wife, excluding the amount already paid to the appellant wife towards interim maintenance. We hope and trust that the alimony fixed by us may help the appellant wife to purchase a decent house for herself and stand on her own legs to become a useful member of the society.

118. The total amount of alimony shall be deposited by the respondent husband within a period of six months from the date of the judgement, in two installments of Rs.50 lacs each, before the Principal Judge, Family Court at Meerut and the money shall be released in favour of the wife soon after the deposits on an application moved by her.

119. We are conscious that we are granting decree of divorce to the couple in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case taking a pragmatic view in order to give them a chance to lead a peaceful and happy life in future and an opportunity to the wife to be economically independent with the permanent alimony which she receives from her husband. We hope and trust that the parties may now put an end to their dispute and look forward to a positive life in future.

120. We are making it clear that this judgement has been given in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case on an analysis of complete matrimonial life of the parties though we are convinced that the appellant wife was not solely at fault. This judgement thus, shall not be treated as a precedent or guidance by the family court to grant decree of divorce on the ground of irretrievable break down of marriage. We have done so as both the parties are well educated and belong to a well-off family and they still have a chance to settle in their lives in a better way if are separated without any social stigma.

121. With the aforesaid directions, we annul the marriage between the parties granting them the decree of divorce.

122. The divorce petition No.1614 of 2013 is hereby allowed.

123 The appeal is disposed of, accordingly.

124. No order as to cost.

125. Before parting with this judgement, we find it imperative to put on record that the role of family court judges is not only of adjudicators but they are facilitators in matrimonial disputes where perception of a judge about gender issues plays a major role in his decisions. The Family Court judges have to be gender sensitive. To evolve as a Family Court judge, a person has to be gender neutral, gender sensitive, open to the social changes to have a mature thinking. In this evolution process, according to us, gender sensitization program can play an important role. We, therefore, recommend that gender sensitization program be especially designed and held for the Family Court Judges in the State of U.P. The High Court Family Court Sensitization Committee may consider the issue to take it further. The Registrar General is directed to place the matter before the committee.

Versus
Jashwant Singh & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Manish Chandra Tiwari, Sri B.N. Upadhyaya, Sri Chandan Sharma, Sri M.K. Rajvanshi, Sri Nitin Sharma, Sri Sanjay Kumar Srivastav, Sri Akshay Pratap

A. Civil Law - Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC - Order 2 Rule 2 - Withdrawal of suit - Whether once a suit is dismissed and withdrawn, without permission to file fresh suit, is barred under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) and Order II Rule 2(C) C.P.C - As per Order XXIII Rule 1(4), where the plaintiff withdraws from a suit, without the permission of Court to institute a fresh suit for the subject-matter, he shall be preclude from instituting any fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter or such part of the claim - Held - Supreme court decision in Vallabh Das case propounds the principle that a subsequent suit, based on a different cause of action, though may be related to the same property or may be the same rights, may constitute a different subject matter from the previous litigation - The expression "subject matter" is not defined in the Civil Procedure Code - That expression includes the cause of action and the relief claimed - Unless the cause of action and the relief claimed in the second suit are the same as in the first suit, it cannot be said, that the subject-matter of the second suit is the same as that in the previous suit - All that is required to dispel the bar under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) or Order II Rule 2 CPC is that the subsequent suit should be based on a different cause of action than the one involved in the earlier suit - A suit withdrawn without permission to file a fresh suit, does not bar the subsequent suit if the two suits are not based on the same cause of action, even though the earlier suit relates to the same property between the same parties (Para 44, 45)

On 04.07.1996 there was an attempt to trespass on a property of Jaswant by Anand Prakash – therefore on 08.07.1996 Jaswant instituted a suit for permanent injunction i.e. Suit O.S. No. 737 of 1996 - However, the suit was unconditionally withdrawn on 03.04.1997 when the threat ended - After a short break, after the first suit had been withdrawn, on 20.06.1997 Anand Prakash actually trespassed on the property, encroaching and building on it - After attempts to reach a peaceful settlement failed, O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 was instituted by Jaswant, for a declaration of title based on the sale certificate by the Revenue Authorities in favour of Jaswant Singh and mandatory injunction - It was argued by Anand Prakash that the suit brought on the same cause of action (i.e. O.S. No. 1162 of 1998) is barred by the principle of res judicata & that the subsequent suit is also barred by Order II Rule 2 CPC, because Jaswant Singh, in his earlier suit being out of possession, asked for an injunction simplicitor, instead of seeking the substantial relief of declaration and recovery of possession that he ought to have done - Held - in the absence of a plea being raised, and particularly, an issue being framed about the suit being barred either under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) or under Order II Rule 2 CPC, the parties did not have opportunity to lead evidence on the point – Merely because the original suit was withdrawn by Jaswant, without permission to file a fresh suit, does not bar the subsequent suit brought by Jaswant Singh either under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC or under Order II Rule 2, because the two suits are not based on the same cause of action, even though the earlier suit relates to the same property between the same parties - the cause of action in the two suits are distinct and different, they have arisen at different points of time; although closely placed. (Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. Both these Second Appeals arise out of a common judgment, but separate decrees passed in two connected Civil Appeals, which, in turn, have arisen from suits inter partes relating to the same subject matter that are in the nature of cross-suits. This judgment will dispose of both the appeals.

2. Second Appeal No. 733 of 2012 has been preferred by the plaintiff of Original Suit No. 273 of 1998 against the defendants of the said suit, whereas Second Appeal No. 734 of 2012 has been preferred also by the same man, Anand Prakash Sharma, but in his capacity as defendant no.1 to Original Suit No. 1162 of 1998, instituted by the first defendant to Original Suit No. 273 of 1998. Effectively, both the suits were contested between Anand Prakash Sharma and Jaswant Singh. While Anand Prakash Sharma's suit being O.S. No. 273 of 1998 was dismissed, Jaswant Singh's suit being O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 was decreed by the Trial Court, also by a common judgment, but separate decrees. The suits were consolidated and tried together, with O.S. No. 273 of 1998 as the leading case. Most of the evidence of parties was recorded in the leading suit. Civil Appeal No. 9 of 2005 was preferred by Anand Prakash Sharma against the judgment and decree dated 17.03.2005 passed in O.S. No. 273 of 1998, whereas the other appeal being Civil Appeal No. 10 of 2005, was also preferred by Anand Prakash Sharma, but from the judgment and decree dated 17.03.2005 passed in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998. Both the appeals were consolidated and heard together by the Additional District Judge (Special), Baghpat with Civil Appeal No. 9 of 2005 being treated as the leading case. The learned Additional District Judge dismissed both the appeals by a common judgment, but separate decrees dated 28.05.2012.

3. Second Appeal No. 734 of 2012 has been preferred by Anand Prakash Sharma from the decree passed in Civil Appeal No. 9 of 2005. He has preferred Second Appeal No. 733 of 2012 from the decree passed in Civil Appeal No. 10 of 2005. Both the appeals have been admitted to hearing by this Court vide separate orders dated 30.04.2014 on the same substantial question of law, which reads:

"Whether once a suit no. 737 of 1996 in between Jashwant Singh v. Anand Prakash Sharma an others on same facts circumstances dismissed and withdrawn after filing of written statement without permission to file fresh suit is clearly barred under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) and Order II Rule 2(C) C.P.C."

4. Heard Mr. Akshay Pratap, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Chandan Sharma, learned Counsel for the appellants and Mr. B.N. Agrawal, learned Counsel for the respondents in both the appeals.

5. In order to appreciate the substantial question of law involved, it is imperative to refer to the facts that have given rise to these appeals.

6. Anand Prakash Sharma, the plaintiff of O.S. No. 273 of 1998, who shall hereinafter be referred to as "the plaintiff' for the sake of convenience, unless the context requires otherwise, instituted O.S. No. 273 of 1998 aforesaid against Jaswant Singh son of Ram Swarup, Krishnapal Singh son of Pirthi Singh and Yogesh Sharma son of Bool Chand, with allegations that he is the owner in possession of the house depicted at the foot of the plaint by letters अ ब स द, situate at Village Patti Wajidpur, Gandhi Road, Qasba Baraut, Pargana and Tehsil Baraut, District Meerut. The house aforesaid has been assessed to tax and assigned Municipal Premises No. 17/302B. The plaintiff is paying house tax relating to the said house, since the year 1989, to the Nagar Palika Baraut. The plaintiff and Smt. Maya Devi, wife of Rajendra Kumar, had purchased the land/ plot, whereon the house last mentioned stands, from Jagannath son of Dhoom Singh, a resident of Village Patti Wajidpur, District Baghpat vide registered sale deed dated 12.08.1987. Later on, he purchased the half share of Smt. Maya Devi in the land subject matter of O.S. No. 273 of 1998 (for short, "the suit property') vide registered sale deed dated 11.03.1996. As such, the plaintiff has become the sole owner of the suit property, including the house constructed thereon.

7. It is the plaintiff's case that on the plot of land purchased as aforesaid, he got a house constructed, wherein no one else has got any share or interest. The defendants to the suit, that is to say, Jaswant Singh, Krishnapal Singh and Yogesh Sharma are quarrelsome persons and intend to forcibly grab the suit property together with the plaintiff's house standing thereon. The plaintiff asked the defendants to desist from doing so, but they did not relent. The last time the plaintiff asked the defendants from interfering with his possession over the suit property, they refused. This happened on 11.07.1996.

8. The plaintiff got his plaint amended vide order dated 15.12.1997 to say that upon the defendants filing their written statement, he came to know that the defendants, in connivance with the former Sub-Divisional Officer of Baraut, R.S. Chahar, got an auction sale of the suit property in their favour, that was in excess of the property mortgaged by Jagannath Prasad in favour of the Uttar Pradesh Financial Corporation (for short, "the UPFC') and also different from the said property. The mortgaged property that was auctioned in favour of the defendants is very different from the suit property, which shows the revenue sale claimed by the defendants to be bogus, void and non est. Defendant no. 1 to the suit, Jaswant Singh, who shall hereinafter be referred to as the defendant, unless the context requires otherwise, was alleged to have, in the past, instituted a suit for permanent injunction against the plaintiff being O.S. No. 737 of 1996, which he unconditionally withdrew vide order dated 03.04.1997 passed by the Civil Judge (Sr. Div.), Meerut. It was pleaded, therefore, that the suit brought on the same cause of action (i.e. O.S. No. 1162 of 1998) is barred by the principle of res judicata.

9. It is also the plaintiff's case that the sale certificate issued in favour of the defendant does not adversely affect the plaintiff's right in House No. 17/302B, which is a part of House No. 12/298. It was also averred that looking to the background of the sale certificate being issued in favour of the defendant, the plaintiff is entitled to a declaration of his rights. A permanent injunction was sought to the effect that the defendant to the suit be restrained, by a permanent injunction, from interfering with the plaintiff's possession and title over house bearing No. 17/302B, as described at the foot of the plaint by letters अ ब स द, situate at Town Baraut, Gandhi Road, Qasba Baraut, Pargana and Tehsil Baraut, District Meerut, or endeavouring to dispossess him therefrom. A declaration was sought (by amendment vide order dated 15.12.1997) to the effect that the sale certificate dated 13.06.1996 issued by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Baraut, R.S. Chahar, in favour of the defendant and registered in the Office of the Sub-Registrar on 14.06.1996, being one in relation to a property different from that mortgaged by Jagannath son of Dhoom Singh in favour of the UPFC, is void and non est, which has no effect on the plaintiff's exclusive right and title in House No. 17/302B, situate at Gandhi Road, Qasba Baraut.

10. A joint written statement was filed on behalf of all the three defendants to the suit under reference, saying that the plaintiff was not the owner of the suit property and the suit had been instituted on the foot of incorrect facts. The suit property and that abutting it is a part of Khasra No. 472/1, Khewat No. 25, admeasuring 3 biswa, 15 biswansi, situate at Village Wajidpur. Devendra, Narendra and Jainendra, all sons of Lala Raghubir Singh, were owners in possession of the entire land, comprising the Khasra last mentioned. The entire area of land comprising the Khasra last mentioned was purchased by Jagannath son of Dhoom Singh from Devendra vide registered sale deed dated 20.07.1960. In consequence, Jagannath became the sole owner in possession of the said Khasra shown by letters अ ब स द (the suit property).

11. Devendra Kumar son of Jagannath took a loan from the UPFC in the year 1986, for the repayment whereof, Jagannath stood guarantor. As part of the guarantee, he mortgaged the suit property on 09.09.1986 with the UPFC. There was default in repayment of the loan that Devendra Kumar had taken. In consequence, the UPFC caused the suit property to be sold through public auction, held by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Baraut on 09.09.1994. The defendant purchased the suit property in the said auction being the highest bidder. The S.D.O. accepted the bid and issued a sale certificate in his favour, that was registered. Possession of the suit property was also delivered to the defendant. The plaintiff, however, mala fide attempted to encroach upon a part of the suit property on 04.07.1996, that is denoted in the map annexed to the written statement by letters अ क ख ग. The defendant complained to the Police, on account of which the plaintiff was not successful in his endeavour to encroach. It was on this account that the defendant instituted O.S. No. 737 of 1996 for a permanent injunction against the plaintiff, restraining him from interfering with his possession in the suit property. Later on, since the plaintiff retracted and the threat of encroachment ceased, the defendant withdrew O.S. No. 737 of 1996. After withdrawal of Suit No. 737 of 1996, evil design made itself bold with the plaintiff again, and on occasion, he encroached into the suit property and constructed a room, a verandah and a boundary wall, denoted by letters अ क ख ग in the map, annexed to the written statement. The said encroachment was done taking advantage of the defendant's weakness in reporting the trespass. The plaintiff then commenced action.

12. It is the defendant's further case that after mortgaging the suit property denoted in the written statement by letters अ ब स द with the UPFC, Jagannath son of Dhoom Singh had no interest to convey in the plaintiff's favour or Smt. Maya Devi's, or anyone else's. The plaintiff and all others knew about the fact that the suit property had been mortgaged by Jagannath with the UPFC. The execution of the sale sale deed conveying the suit property by Jagannath in favour of the plaintiff or Smt. Maya Devi, after he had mortgaged it on 09.09.1986, is of no consequence and does not confer any right or title upon him/ them. It is then pleaded by the defendant that the plaintiff's case that the property shown in the written statement by letters अ क ख ग has been assessed to house tax by the Nagar Palika as House No. 17/302 is not part of the suit property, but another appurtenant house, is incorrect, which the plaintiff, by clever manoeuvre has got a subdivision assigned and entered in his name. It does not confer any benefit upon the plaintiff. The entire property, that has been shown at the foot of the plaint by letters अ ब स द, has one house Premises No. 12/298, Gandhi Road, Baraut, entered in the name of Jagannath Prasad son of Dhoom Singh. Later on, the said house has been numbered as 12/337, also entered in the name of Jagannath Prasad son of Dhoom Singh. Still later, the said house has been assigned No. 17/303 and at that stage, the name of Jagannath Prasad son of Dhoom Singh has been mutated out and that of the defendant (Jaswant Singh) entered in the house tax assessment record by the Municipal Board. It is the defendant's case that part of the suit property shown by letters अ क ख ग is in illegal occupation of the plaintiff. Besides, the entire suit property is entirely owned by the defendant and that the defendant is taking separate steps to dispossess the plaintiff.

13. Upon the pleadings of parties, in O.S. No. 273 of 1998, the following issues were framed by the Trial Court (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the plaintiff is the owner in possession of property shown by letters अ ब स द at the foot of the plaint?

(2) Whether the sale certificate dated 13.06.1986 in favour of defendant no.1, for the reasons given in the plaint, is inoperative and void? If yes, its effect?

(3) To what relief is the plaintiff entitled?

14. A number of documents were filed on behalf of the plaintiff as well as the defendant, which need not be recapitulated, as the summary of these is set out in copious detail in the judgments of the two Courts below.

15. On behalf of the plaintiff, the plaintiff, Anand Prakash Sharma, examined himself as PW-1, one Kaluram as PW-2 and Phool Singh as PW-3. On behalf of the defendants, defendant Jaswant Singh testified in the dock as DW-1, Bhopal Singh as DW-2 and Ramjan as DW-3. A commission in the suit was also issued and the Commissioner's report is available on record as Paper No. 36-Ga1, together with the annexed map.

16. Original Suit No. 1162 of 1998 was instituted by Jaswant Singh, the defendant against Anand Prakash Sharma, the plaintiff, Smt. Maya Devi and Janeshwar with a case that the owner in possession of the house denoted by letters अ ब स द in the map annexed to the plaint, giving rise to the suit under reference, was one Jagannath son of Dhoom Singh. The plot of land, on which the house stood, had an area of 567 square yards or 3 biswa 15 biswansi. M/s. Shiv Shakti Oil Udyog, Gandhi Road, Baraut secured a loan from the UPFC and for the repayment of the said loan, Jagannath Prasad stood guarantor. He mortgaged his property last mentioned on 09.09.1986 in favour of the UPFC, executing the necessary documents. M/s. Shiv Shakti Oil Udyog could not repay the loan advanced by the UPFC, in consequence of which the UPFC issued a recovery certificate against M/s. Shiv Shakti Oil Udyog and the guarantor, Jagannath Prasad. In execution of the recovery certificate, Jagannath Prasad's property, above described, was sold in a public auction by the revenue authorities. The said property, according to the defendant, is the subject matter of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, instituted by him against the plaintiff, Anand Prakash Sharma and others. It is the defendant's case that he purchased the suit property subject matter of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 at the public auction held on 09.09.1994, making the highest bid of Rs. 2,01,000/-, which was accepted. The entire sum of money was deposited with the Authorities. The auction sale in favour of the defendant was confirmed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Meerut.

17. Upon securing the requisite stamp papers from the defendant, the Sub-Divisional Officer executed a sale certificate in his favour on 08.02.1996, which was registered with the Sub-Registrar, Baraut on 13.06.1996. The defendant received the registered sale certificate from the Sub-Registrar's office. It is also the defendant's case that the Sub-Divisional Officer, after execution and registration of the sale certificate, delivered actual physical possession on 04.07.1996 over the suit property subject matter of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998.

18. It is necessary to mention at this junction that the property, subject matter of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 and that subject matter of O.S. No. 273 of 1998, instituted by the plaintiff, for all intents and purposes, is the same property. The distinction, that the plaintiff has attempted to carve out between the two, stands negatived by the findings of fact recorded by the two Courts below, that are no longer in issue in the present appeal. Thus, the property subject matter of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 shall, in keeping with its description given in the earlier part of the judgment, be mentioned as the suit property hereinafter.

19. It is the defendant's case that no sooner he was delivered possession by the Sub-Divisional Officer over the suit property on 04.07.1996, the plaintiff, along with some antisocial elements attempted to trespass and encroach upon a part of the suit property denoted in the plaint map by letters क ख ग घ, which the defendant resisted. He reported the matter to the Police also. The plaintiff withdrew and went away threatening that he would take possession of the suit property at an opportune time. The defendant claims to have inquired of the plaintiff as to how he lays claim to a part of the suit property denoted by letters क ख ग घ, whereupon it was revealed by the plaintiff that he had a sale deed dated 12.08.1987 in his favour executed by Jagannath Prasad and another by Smt. Maya Devi, defendant no.2 to O.S. No. 1162 of 1998. He asserted that he was the sole owner in possession of the said property. It is pleaded that the entire suit property was mortgaged by Jagannath Prasad on 09.09.1986 in favour of the UPFC in order to offer security for the loan availed by M/s. Shiv Shakti Oil Udyog and upon default, the entire suit property was caused to be sold in a revenue sale by the UPFC in realization of its overdues. It was in this sale, as already stated, that the defendant has purchased the suit property. It is then the defendant's case that the plaintiff forcibly occupied a part of the suit property, denoted by lettersक ख ग घ on 20.06.1997, taking advantage of the defendant's weakness in reporting the trespass. The efforts made by the defendant before the Sub-Divisional Officer to recover possession, forcibly taken by the plaintiff, did not yield result.

20. It is the defendant's case that the part of the suit property denoted by letters क ख ग घ, an area of 65 square yards, is in the illegal occupation of the plaintiff. He has refused to vacate the same despite demand. Some part of it, the plaintiff claimed to have purchased from Smt. Maya Devi and it is for this reason that the defendant has impleaded Smt. Maya Devi as defendant no.2 to O.S. No.1162 of 1998.

21. The defendant Jaswant Singh, in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 claimed a declaration to the effect that on the basis of the sale certificate dated 08.02.1996, registered on 13.06.1996, he is the owner of the suit property (denoted by letters अ ब स द). A mandatory injunction was claimed against the plaintiff, besides Smt. Maya Devi and Janeshwar, to the effect that out of the suit property, the part denoted by letters क ख ग घ, the defendants to the suit, be ordered to withdraw from occupation of the said land, part of the suit property, and in case of failure to do so, the defendant (Jaswant Singh) be put in possession of the above mentioned part of the suit property through the process of Court, after expelling the plaintiff (Anand Prakash) and the other two defendants to the present suit.

22. The suit was contested by filing a written statement, more or less on the same terms as the case of the plaintiff (Anand Prakash) set out in his plaint, giving rise to O.S. No. 273 of 1998.

23. On the pleadings of parties, in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, as many as fourteen issues were framed, that read (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the plaint is undervalued?

(2) Whether the court-fee paid is insufficient?

(3) Whether the plaintiff's suit is liable to be stayed under Section 10 CPC?

(4) Whether the plaintiff on the basis of the public auction dated 09.09.1994 is the owner in possession of the house in question, denoted in the map by letters अ ब स द?

(5) Whether the land shown by letters क ख ग घ, part of the property denoted by letters अ ब स द, has been encroached upon (by the defendant) (sic) on 20.06.1997?

(6) Whether defendant no.1, on the basis of the sale deeds dated 12.08.1987 and 13.09.1996, is the owner in possession of the disputed house, as averred in Paragraph No. 20 of the written statement?

(7) Whether the land on which the disputed house stands is different from that mortgaged by Jagannath and not part of House No. 12/298, as averred in Paragraph No. 22 of the written statement?

(8) Whether the plaintiff's suit is barred by res judicata, as averred in Paragraph No. 22 of the written statement?

(9) Whether the S.D.O., Baraut, in order to extend unlawful gain to the plaintiff, has sold 567 square yards of land in place of the mortgaged land, 95 feet in length and 49 feet in width, admeasuring 497 square yards? If yes, its effect?

(10) Whether the auction sale dated 09.09.1994 has not been confirmed and the suit is premature? If yes, its effect?

(11) Whether defendant no.1 is entitled to the benefit of being a bona fide purchaser and in continuous adverse possession, as averred in Paragraph No. 30 of the written statement?

(12) Whether the suit is barred by the principles of acquiescence and estoppel?

(13) Whether the defendant is entitled to special costs?

(14) To what relief is the plaintiff entitled to?

(*Issue No. 15 does not find record in the judgments passed either by the Trial Court or the Appellate Court, but a perusal of the order-sheet dated 01.08.2002 in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 shows that the said issue was framed by the Presiding Officer below the type-written issues, numbered as Issue No. 14 erroneously; it should have been numbered as '15')

24. The Trial Court took up for decision Issue No. 1 of O.S. No. 273 of 1998 and Issues Nos. 4, 6, 8 and 9 of O.S. No 1162 of 1998 together. The issues under reference deal with the substantial part of the dispute between parties, where the Trial Court has concluded that the land, that Anand Prakash claims to be in his ownership possession, cannot be accepted because on the basis of the public auction dated 09.09.1994, Jaswant Singh is proven to be its owner. It was also opined that the sale deed dated 12.08.1987, claimed by Anand Prakash in his favour, does not confer any right, title or interest upon him. The sale certificate registered in favour of Jaswant Singh on 13.06.1996 was held by the Trial Court, on a consideration of oral evidence, including that of the witnesses of Anand Prakash, to be valid, who testified that the auction sale was held, wherein they had participated. Issues Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 were answered by the Trial Court in favour of Jaswant Singh. It was held that the suit is not liable to be stayed under Section 10 CPC, because both the suits have been consolidated and tried together.

25. On Issue No.7, where Anand Prakash introduced a case that the land mortgaged by Jagannath Prasad, was different from the one he had built his house upon, and that Anand Prakash's house is not part of House No. 12/1998, it was held, upon a comparison of boundaries of the property mentioned in the affidavit by Jagannath at the time of mortgaging it, with those of the suit property, that it was the same property, which was mortgaged and later on sold in auction for the realization of its dues by the UPFC that Jaswant Singh purchased.

26. In consequence of its findings on the various issues, the Trial Court dismissed O.S. No. 273 of 1998 brought by Anand Prakash against Jaswant Singh and others with costs, whereas O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, instituted by Jaswant Singh against Anand Prakash and others, was decreed with costs. It was declared that on the basis of the sale certificate dated 08.02.1996, registered on 13.09.1996, Jaswant Singh was the owner of the suit property (denoted by letters अ ब स द). A mandatory injunction was issued, ordering Anand Prakash to vacate the land denoted by letters क ख ग घ, that was part of the suit property, and deliver possession to Jaswant Singh, and upon failure to do so, Jaswant Singh would be entitled to recover actual and physical possession of the said property through process of Court.

27. The Lower Appellate Court, in hearing the appeal, formulated three points for determination. These read (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the plaintiff (Anand Prakash) had any right to purchase the property denoted by letters अ ब स द, which he claims to have done through the sale deed of the year 1987?

(2) Whether the property mortgaged by Jagannath with the UPFC in the year 1986, included the disputed land, denoted by letters अ ब स द or not?

(3) Whether Anand Prakash after execution of the sale certificate in favour of Jaswant is still owner in possession of the disputed land shown by letters अ ब स द?

28. It must be remarked at the outset that though the Lower Appellate Court has wholesomely dealt with the substantial issues arising between parties under the points of determination framed, these are somewhat unhappily worded. But, that does not detract, in any manner, from the substance of determination made on the issues arising between parties. Though writing a judgment of affirmation, the Lower Appellate Court has examined evidence threadbare with reference to each point of determination covering all the issues, arising in the suit.

29. The Lower Appellate Court has opined, upon a careful comparison of the boundaries of the suit property purchased by Jagannath from its erstwhile owner, Devendra son of Raghubir way back in the year 1960 through a registered sale deed as also the subsequent sale deeds executed that there was no property with Jagannath in the vicinity, apart from that bearing Khasra No. 472/1, admeasuring 3 biswa 15 biswansi or 567 square yards, which he mortgaged with the UPFC. That finding of fact about the identity of the suit property and its auction sale at the behest of the UPFC by the S.D.O. has been recorded concurrently by the Courts below, where a valid sale has been found to have taken place in favour of Jaswant Singh. The later sale deed executed by Jagannath in favour of Anand Prakash and Maya Devi and the one by Maya Devi, transferring her half share, purportedly purchased through the sale deed of 1987, in favour of Anand Prakash, have been held to be void, because Jagannath lost all title to the suit property as he mortgaged it with the UPFC, which later on brought it to sale for the realization of its loan overdues through public auction. On the other hand, the proceedings of the auction in favour of Jaswant Singh have been found to be fully established by both documentary and oral evidence on record. These questions need not detain this Court in the present appeal, which has been admitted to hearing on the substantial question of law, indicated hereinabove.

30. The learned Counsel for the appellants has submitted and attempted to show that the property, that was purchased by Anand Prakash and Maya Devi through the sale deed of 1987 from Jagannath, was one that Jagannath purchased from a certain Shekhar Chandra Jain. It was not Jagannath's property purchased from Devendra son of Raghubir way back in the year 1960, that he subsequently mortgaged with UPFC. These are issues not open in this appeal, which the Lower Appellate Court, in any case, on a careful analysis of the documentary and oral evidence, has answered for the defendant and against the plaintiff.

31. So far as the substantial question of law involved in this appeal is concerned, learned Counsel for the plaintiff has submitted that Anand Prakash was always in possession of the suit property since 1987 i.e. since the execution of the sale deed in his favour by Jagannath. Therefore, aggrieved by the perpetual interference with his possession by Jaswant Singh, he instituted Suit No. 273 of 1998 for a permanent injunction to restrain him from interfering with it and for declaring the sale certificate registered on 13.06.1986 null and void. In the aforesaid suit, Jaswant Singh filed his written statement on 14.05.1998, where he took a plea that possession of the suit property was delivered to him by the Sub-Divisional Officer on 04.07.1996, but the same was illegally taken by the plaintiff. However, the date of trespass has not been indicated, despite the incident occurring months before the institution of O.S. No. 273 of 1998 by Anand Prakash. It is submitted that in O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 instituted by Jaswant Singh, it is pleaded that the possession was illegally taken by Anand Prakash on 20.06.1997, which happens to be 11 months before filing of his written statement in O.S. No. 273 of 1998. It is argued that it is quite evident that the date of the alleged possession being illegally taken by Anand Prakash was concocted to create an artificial cause of action and seek remedy through O.S. No. 1162 of 1998.

32. It is next submitted that on the same cause of action, Jaswant Singh had earlier instituted O.S. No. 737 of 1996, seeking permanent injunction to the effect that Anand Prakash and the other defendants to that suit be restrained from interfering with his possession over the suit property, that is to say, the house as per boundaries shown at the foot of the plaint, giving rise to the said suit. Later on, this suit was withdrawn by Jaswant Singh on 03.04.1997, without leave of the Court. It is argued that Jaswant Singh instituted O.S. No. 737 of 1996, which he withdrew without leave and then maliciously instituted O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 on the same cause of action. It has been emphatically argued that cause of action in both the suits is one and the same and the first suit being withdrawn without liberty, O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 is barred by the provisions of Order XXIII Rule 1(4) and Order II Rule 2 CPC.

33. It is precisely on the last limb of the submission that the substantial question of law that is involved in this appeal was formulated. The other ancillary submissions made may also be relevant to some extent in order to judge whether on the facts a case of bar to the trial of O.S. 1162 of 1998 under either of the provisions of law can be inferred.

34. In support of his contention that the subsequent suit brought by Jaswant Singh is barred under the law, learned Counsel for the appellants has relied on the decision of the Supreme Court in Sarguja Transport Service v. State Transport Appellate Tribunal, M.P. Gwalior and others, (1987) 1 SCC 5, where it has been held:

"7. The Code as it now stands thus makes a distinction between "abandonment" of a suit and "withdrawal" from a suit with permission to file a fresh suit. It provides that where the plaintiff abandons a suit or withdraws from a suit without the permission, referred to in sub-rule (3) of Rule 1 of Order XXIII of the Code, he shall be precluded from instituting any fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter or such part of the claim. The principle underlying Rule 1 of Order XXIII of the Code is that when a plaintiff once institutes a suit in a court and thereby avails of a remedy given to him under law, he cannot be permitted to institute a fresh suit in respect of the same subject-matter again after abandoning the earlier suit or by withdrawing it without the permission of the court to file fresh suit. Invito beneficium non datur -- the law confers upon a man no rights or benefits which he does not desire. Whoever waives, abandons or disclaims a right will loose it. In order to prevent a litigant from abusing the process of the court by instituting suits again and again on the same cause of action without any good reason the Code insists that he should obtain the permission of the court to file a fresh suit after establishing either of the two grounds mentioned in sub-rule (3) of Rule 1 of Order XXIII. The principle underlying the above rule is founded on public policy, but it is not the same as the rule of res judicata contained in Section 11 of the Code which provides that no court shall try any suit or issue in which the matter directly or substantially in issue has been directly or substantially in issue in a former suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, litigating under the same title, in a court competent to try such subsequent suit or the suit in which such issue has been subsequently raised, and has been heard and finally decided by such court. The rule of res judicata applies to a case where the suit or an issue has already been heard and finally decided by a court. In the case of abandonment or withdrawal of a suit without the permission of the court to file a fresh suit, there is no prior adjudication of a suit or an issue is involved, yet the Code provides, as stated earlier, that a second suit will not lie in sub-rule (4) of Rule 1 of Order XXIII of the Code when the first suit is withdrawn without the permission referred to in sub-rule (3) in order to prevent the abuse of the process of the court."

35. On behalf of the respondent, it is submitted that in O.S. No. 737 of 1996 and O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, the cause of action and the relief claimed are different. O.S. No. 737 of 1996 was instituted by Jaswant Singh for a permanent injunction to restrain the defendants to that suit, including Anand Prakash, from interfering with Jaswant Singh's possession over the suit property, whereas O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 was instituted by Jaswant Singh against Anand Prakash and the other defendants to the suit for a declaration to the effect that on the basis of the sale certificate registered on 13.06.1996, he be declared the owner of the suit property (denoted by letters अ ब स द) and a mandatory injunction directing the defendants, including Anand Prakash issued to handover possession of the land denoted by letters क ख ग घ in the plaint map, part of the suit property, denoted by letters अ ब स द, in respect whereof, the declaration has been claimed.

36. In support of his contention, learned Counsel for the defendant has placed reliance upon a decision of the Supreme Court in Vallabh Das v. Dr. Madan Lal and others, (1970) 1 SCC 761, where, in the context of a bar under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC, it has been observed:

"5. Rule 1 of the Order 23, Code of Civil Procedure empowers the courts to permit a plaintiff to withdraw from the suit brought by him with liberty to institute a fresh suit in respect of the subject-matter of that suit on such terms as it thinks fit. The term imposed on the plaintiff in the previous suit was that before bringing a fresh suit on the same cause of action, he must pay the costs of the defendants. Therefore we have to see whether that condition governs the institution of the present suit. For deciding that question we have to see whether the suit from which this appeal arises is in respect of the same subject-matter that was in litigation in the previous suit. The expression "subject-matter" is not defined in the Civil Procedure Code. It does not mean property. That expression has a reference to a right in the property which the plaintiff seeks to enforce. That expression includes the cause of action and the relief claimed. Unless the cause of action and the relief claimed in the second suit are the same as in the first suit, it cannot be said, that the subject-matter of the second suit is the same as that in the previous suit. Now coming to the case before us in the first suit Dr Madan Lal was seeking to enforce his right to partition and separate possession. In the present suit he seeks to get possession of the suit properties from a trespasser on the basis of his title. In the first suit the cause of action was the division of status between Dr Madan Lal and his adoptive father and the relief claimed was the conversion of joint possession into separate possession. In the present suit the plaintiff is seeking possession of the suit properties from a trespasser. In the first case his cause of action arose on the day he got separated from his family. In the present suit the cause of action, namely, the series of transactions which formed the basis of his title to the suit properties, arose on the death of his adoptive father and mother. It is true that both in the previous suit as well as in the present suit the factum and validity of adoption of Dr Madan Lal came up for decision. But that adoption was not the cause of action in the first nor is it the cause of action in the present suit. It was merely an antecedent event which conferred certain rights on him. Mere identity of some of the issues in the two suits do not bring about an identity of the subject-matter in the two suits....."

37. It must be remarked at once that Anand Prakash has not at all got an issue framed either in O.S. No. 273 of 1998 that he instituted or the other suit instituted by Jaswant Singh, being O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 to the effect whether the subsequent suit instituted by Jaswant Singh, that is to say, O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 was barred by the provisions of Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC or Order II Rule 2 CPC, in consequence of the earlier suit for injunction instituted by Jaswant Singh i.e.

O.S. No. 737 of 1996, being withdrawn unconditionally. Not only this issue was not raised, but also this point does not seem to have been argued before both the Courts below. The plea that Anand Prakash raised was one of the bar of res judicata in answer to Jaswant Singh's O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, because of the withdrawal of his earlier O.S. No. 737 of 1996. This plea was indeed argued before the Lower Appellate Court also and repelled on the ground that mere withdrawal of the earlier suit, without an adjudication of the issues involved, does not operate as a bar under Section 11 CPC. It is for the first time before this Court that Anand Prakash has raised a plea of the subsequent suit brought by Jaswant Singh to be barred by the provisions of Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC, or in the alternate, under Order II Rule 2.

38. This Court, nevertheless, proceeds to examine the substantial question involved. It has been asserted on behalf of Jaswant Singh that he instituted the suit for permanent injunction, because after possession was delivered to him by the Authority on 04.07.1996, Anand Prakash made an attempt to encroach into a part of the suit property (denoted by letters अ ब स द), shown in the map of the plaint giving rise to O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 by letters क ख ग घ. The said effort was thwarted and the matter reported to the Police. Later on, when the threat at the hands of Anand Prakash ceased, the suit for injunction was withdrawn vide order 03.04.1997. Subsequently, Anand Prakash encroached into the suit property on 20.06.1997 and constructed over a part of the same denoted by letters क ख ग घ in the plaint map annexed to the plaint of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998, necessitating the institution of that suit for declaration and recovery of possession, by a mandatory injunction, from the trespasser.

39. This plea raised on behalf of Jaswant Singh, in the context of the substantial question, has been resisted by Anand Prakash with the learned Counsel appearing on his behalf, pointing out that in the written statement that was filed by Jaswant Singh in the suit instituted by Anand Prakash, prior in point of time, it was stated by Jaswant Singh that possession of the suit property was delivered to him by the Authority on 04.07.1996 and the same was illegally encroached into by Anand Prakash. However, the exact date of the trespass and encroachment has not been indicated, despite the incident occurring months before institution of the suit by Anand Prakash, that is to say, O.S. No. 273 of 1998. The written statement aforesaid was filed on 14.05.1998 in the suit last mentioned and the act of trespass and dispossession are said to have taken place on 13.06.1996. It is urged, therefore, that the absence of the date of the alleged trespass and encroachment by Anand Prakash, make the cause of action set up in the subsequent suit instituted by Jaswant Singh, clearly one that is artificially created to obtain relief, that is otherwise barred with the unconditional withdrawal of the earlier suit brought by Jaswant Singh under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC. Also for the same reason, it is urged on behalf of Anand Prakash that the subsequent suit is barred by Order II Rule 2 CPC, because Jaswant Singh, in his earlier suit being out of possession, asked for an injunction simplicitor, instead of seeking the substantial relief of declaration and recovery of possession that he ought to have done. He has, therefore, brought the present suit, splitting the cause of action, which attracts the bar under Order II Rule 2 CPC.

40. This Court finds that in the absence of a plea being raised, and particularly, an issue being framed about the suit being barred either under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) or under Order II Rule 2 CPC, the parties did not have opportunity to lead evidence on the point. Therefore, the Court is left to judge the worth of the substantial question, going by the pleadings and the record on the face of it. This Court finds that O.S. No. 737 of 1996 was instituted on 08.07.1996 after the attempted trespass on 04.07.1996, and unconditionally withdrawn on 03.04.1997, once the threat ceased. After a short lull, Anand Prakash revived his efforts to trespass and according to Jaswant Singh, trespassed into a part of the suit property on 20.06.1997 i.e. after the first suit was withdrawn. This necessitated the institution of O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 on 07.12.1998. The fact that in the written statement filed by Jaswant Singh in answer to Anand Prakash's O.S. No. 273 of 1998 on 14.05.1998, the date of the accomplished trespass on 20.06.1997 has not been disclosed, cannot be a clincher in Anand Prakash's favour, because he never raised the point before the Courts below and led evidence to show that in fact, he trespassed prior to 20.06.1997 and was in possession when Jaswant Singh withdrew his earlier O.S. No. 737 of 1996 on 03.04.1997. No inference can be drawn against Jaswant Singh about the truth of his case of accomplished trespass on 20.06.1997 merely by the fact that he did not disclose that date in the written statement that he filed in answer to Anand Prakash's O.S. No. 273 of 1998. The first suit, that was instituted on occasion about a threatened invasion of Jaswant Singh's rights by Anand Prakash, was a suit for permanent injunction to protect possession. Once the emergent threat ceased to exist, the suit was withdrawn as the cause of action disappeared. The threat that necessitated the institution of the suit re-surfaced on 20.06.1997, after the withdrawal of the first suit on 03.04.1997 by Jaswant Singh, with Anand Prakash accomplishing his earlier threat by trespassing into the suit property, encroaching a part thereof and constructing upon it. After a period of time, when an amicable settlement to cause the trespasser to withdraw failed, O.S. No. 1162 of 1998 was instituted on the substantial cause of action for a declaration of title based on the sale certificate by the Revenue Authorities in favour of Jaswant Singh and mandatory injunction, directing the trespasser i.e. Anand Prakash to withdraw his illegal possession within a specified time, failing which, the encroachment was sought to be removed through process of Court.

41. In the opinion of this Court, the cause of action in the two suits are distinct and different. They have arisen at different points of time; may be closely placed. In the nature of things, it is not difficult to accept this kind of a happening because on concluded findings of fact recorded by the two Courts below, Jaswant Singh is a purchaser of the suit property, which is all that comprises Khasra No. 472/1, admeasuring 3 biswa, 15 biswansi (567 square yards). It is also a concluded finding of fact recorded by the two Courts below concurrently that Anand Prakash's vendor, Jagannath had no other property, except Khasra No. 472/1 in the locale. This property had been purchased by Jagannath long back in the year 1960 that he mortgaged in favour of the UPFC to secure a loan availed by his son. Upon default by Jagannath's son, this property was put to sale by the UPFC through the Revenue Authorities and purchased in a public auction by Jaswant Singh. Thus, all that Jaswant Singh owned, comprises the suit property, which passed from Jagannath to his hands because of attachment of the same in proceedings for the recovery of loan overdues as arrears of land revenue by the State Authorities, at the instance of the UPFC and an auction sale, where Jaswant Singh purchased it. On facts, the Courts below have not found any other property in the area to belong to Jagannath that he could have privately sold to Anand Prakash. In the background of these concluded facts, as already remarked, a case of attempted trespass, a retreat and then an accomplished trespass by Anand Prakash is not difficult to infer, which in any case the two Courts of fact below have concurrently found.

42. Once the earlier suit brought by Jaswant Singh was based on a different cause of action, the subsequent suit, as already remarked, would not be barred by Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC and a fortiori by the provisions of Order II Rule 2, either. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of a Division Bench of the Karnataka High Court in K.V. Shivakumar and others v. National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences and others, 2016 SCC OnLine Kar 8037, where it has been held:

"117. The suit O.S. 2457/2003 is filed for a decree of permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the plaintiff's possession and enjoyment of the suit schedule property. The cause of action for the said suit was a threat of interference by way of putting up construction of the plaint schedule property by taking up a housing project under a joint venture. The cause of action for the present suit is the denial of plaintiff's title and a finding in the earlier proceedings that plaintiff is not in possession. Therefore, the plaintiff was constrained to file the present suit for declaration of title and for possession. Therefore, the subject matter of both the suits are totally different. The cause of action for both the suits are totally different. Even though the plaintiff withdrew the earlier suit without seeking leave of the Court to file a fresh suit and in fact filed the present suit during the pendency of the earlier suit, the bar contained in Order XXIII Rule 1 (4) of CPC is not attracted to the present suit. Therefore, the present suit is not hit by Order XXIII Rule 1 (4) CPC as contended by the defendants. There is no merit in the said contention and the Trial Court was justified in holding that the bar contained in Order XXIII Rule 1 (4) is not attracted to the present suit."

43. To the same effect is the holding of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in Kasarapu Sujatha and another v. Veera Velli Veera Somaiah, 2007 SCC OnLine AP 676. The decision in Kasarapu Sujatha (supra) is very close on facts to the cause of action here. It was held in Kasarapu Sujatha, thus:

34. At the cost of repetition I may state that the earlier suit O.S. No. 168 of 1986 filed by the respondent/plaintiff is only for injunction simplicitor and whereas the subsequent suit O.S. No. 169 of 1994 is for declaration of title, injunction and for recovery of a part of the extent over which structures exist. The respondent/plaintiff asserted that the cause of action for filing the subsequent suit arose in the month of September, 1993 when the appellants/defendants attempted to trespass and put up some constructions. Though the appellants/defendants pleaded that they put up constructions much earlier to 1993, they did not place any material to speak of the structures being in existence prior to 1993. Added to that the first appellant/first defendant who claims to have got Ac. 1.20 guntas towards her share in family settlement did not choose to enter into box to speak out her case. DW. 1 is the husband of the first defendant. He did not place any material on record to show that structures exist as on the date of filing of the suit were made prior to 1993. The trial Court and the lower appellate Court on thorough appreciation of the material brought on record came to the conclusion that the appellants/defendants failed to establish of their putting up constructions over a part of the land soon after the alleged family settlement pending disposal of O.S. No. 440 of 1980. In view of the above discussion, I find that the subsequent suit of the respondent/plaintiff is not barred either under Order 2 Rule 2 or Order 23 Rule 1 of CPC.

44. The decision in Vallabh Das (supra) relied upon by Jaswant Singh, in essence, propounds the principle that a subsequent suit based on a different cause of action, may be related to the same property or may be the same rights, may constitute a different subject matter from the previous litigation. All that is then required to dispel the bar under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) or Order II Rule 2 CPC is that the subsequent suit should be based on a different cause of action than the one involved in the earlier suit.

45. In view of what this Court has found, the substantial question of law is answered in the manner that O.S. No. 273 of 1998, Jaswant Singh vs. Anand Prakash, that was withdrawn without permission to file a fresh suit, does not bar the subsequent suit brought by Jaswant Singh either under Order XXIII Rule 1(4) CPC or under Order II Rule 2, because the two suits are not based on the same cause of action, even though the earlier suit relates to the same property between the same parties.

46. In the result, both the appeals fail and are dismissed with costs throughout. Let separate decrees be drawn up in both the appeals, accordingly.

A. Civil Law (PIL) - Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Section 114-review-Government land in a fraudulent and dishonest manner was allotted for charitable purpose which was sold to its own trustees by the trust vide sale deed in a gross contravention of the provisions of Section 92 of C.P.C. and the provisions of the Indian Trust Act, the two sale deeds itself were nullity and void ab initio, the review-applicant can not claim any right and title on the said null and void sale deeds-the review applicant failed to show how the sale deeds were valid and conferred a legal title over the land in favour of his two worthy sons who are the Directors of the review-applicant-no right and title would get conferred on the review-applicant as its occupation on the land in question would be nothing but an encroachment of the Government land-the exception carved out by the Board of Revenue in its order runs contrary to the findings recorded by the Board of Revenue itself and such an order cannot be taken note of in view of the detailed findings recorded by this Court in the judgment and order under review-Hence, the Court does not find any ground to review the judgment.(Para 13 to 30)

B. Section 101 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 empowers the Sub-Divisional Officer for exchange of land, but this power does not extend to the land of the Gram Sabha, which is a public utility land and in which no bhumidhari right can be accrued. (Para 19) (E-6)

Order on C.M. Application No.1 of 2022

Heard.

This application seeks condonation of delay in filing the review application.

Reasons indicated in the affidavit filed along with the review application are sufficient.

Application is allowed and the delay in filing the review application is condoned.

Order on Memo of Review Application

1. The present review application has been filed seeking review of the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 passed by this Court in Public Interest Litigation (PIL) No.7472 of 2021, Sharad Kumar Dwivedi Vs. State of U.P. and others, with a prayer to recall the aforesaid judgment and order and restore the Public Interest Ligation Petition to its original number and decide the same afresh after impleading the review-applicant as party to the proceedings.

2. This review application has been filed after the judgment and order dated 29.7.2022 was passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No.330 of 2022, M/s Concept Cars Limited Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others. Paragraph 10 of the aforesaid judgement reads as under:-

*"10. Conclusion:

For what has been narrated herein above, our indefeasible conclusion, in the facts and circumstances of the case, is that it will neither be appropriate nor in the interest of justice to pronounce any judgment on the issues discussed and considered by the learned Single Judge in the judgment and order under appeal herein, unless the judgment and order dated 20.06.2022 passed by the Board of Revenue and its impact on the issues involved in the case are considered and decided by the learned Single Judge.

Order

Accordingly, this Special Appeal is disposed of with the liberty to the appellant to approach the learned Single Judge by way of seeking review of the judgment and order under appeal. While filing the review petition, it will be open to the appellant to take all the grounds which may be available to it under law.

There will be no order as to costs."

3. Against the said order of the Division Bench, the review-applicant has approached the Supreme Court in Special Leave Petition (Civil) Diary No.26721 of 2022, which got dismissed by the Supreme Court vide order dated 30.8.2022.

4. In brief, the grounds which have been taken in the review application, are that the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 contains direction for removal of illegal encroachment in terms of the order dated 4.6.2021 passed by the District Judge, whereby the District Magistrate set aside the resumption order dated 30.1.1987 and directions were issued for initiating eviction proceedings in terms of Section 67 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006. The said order was set aside by the Board of Revenue in its judgment and order dated 20.6.2022 and, therefore, the order of the District Magistrate dated 4.6.2021 was not in existence at the time of passing of the judgement and order under review dated 5.7.2022.

5. The review-applicant was not a party in the Public Interest Litigation and the order of the Board of Revenue dated 2.8.2021, by which Revision No.1351 of 2021 filed by Ram Chandra Rajwar, Manager of the review-applicant, M/s Concept Cars Limited impugning the order dated 4.6.2021 passed by the District Magistrate, was disposed of on the very first day with direction to the State Government to consider the request of the revisionist for exchange of land in question and till such consideration, status-quo was directed to be maintained. The validity of the order of the Board of Revenue dated 2.8.2021 could not have been challenged in the Public Interest Litigation.

6. It has been further submitted that in view of the prayers made in the Public Interest Litigation, inquiry was conducted by the District Magistrate and, thereafter, no further orders were required to be passed and, this Court while passing the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 had travelled beyond the prayers made in the Public Interest Litigation. The enabling provisions of Section 101 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 which permit exchange of public land was not placed before this Court. The Government Order dated 9.5.1984 permitting the resumption of land for being allotted to private entities, has also not been considered in the said judgement and order under review dated 5.7.2022.

7. Sri S.C. Mishra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by S/Sri Sunil Kumar Chaudhary and Abhishek Dhaon, learned counsel for the review-applicant has placed reliance on several judgments to submit that the review-applicant was an independent corporate entity and is a necessary party and without the review-applicant being heard, the impugned judgment and order under review could not have been passed. He has pressed in service the following judgements in support of his contention:-

1. Prabodh Verma Vs. State of U.P. (1984) 4 SCC 251 (page 273 and para 28);

2. Ramrao Vs. All India Backward Class Bank Employees Welfare Assn. (2004) 2 SCC 76 (Page 86-87, para 27);

3. Dattatreya Vs. Mahaveer, (2004) 10 SCC 665 (page 673, para 10);

4. Santosh Sood Vs. Ganjendra Singh (2009) 7 SCC 314 (page 318, paras 14, 15, 17 and 18);

8. Udit Narain Singh Malpaharia Vs. Addl. Member, Board of Revenue, 1963 Supp.(1) SCR 676:AIR1963 SC 786;

9. Chief of the Army Staff Vs. Daya Shanker Tiwari, (2003) SCC OnLine All 829 (para 9);

12. Jagtu Vs. Suraj Mal, (2010) 13 SCC 769 (paras 5 and 6);

13. State of Assam Vs. Union of India (2010) 10 SCC 408 (page 412, paras 15, 16 and 23);

14. Aron Salomon Vs. A. Salomon and Co. Ltd., (1897) AC 22;

15. R.F. Perumal Vs. H. John Deavin, AIR 1960 Mad. 43; and

16. Civil Appeal Nos.5755-5756 of 2011, Moreshar Yadaorao Mahajan Vs. Vyankatesh Sitaram Bhedi (D) thru LRs and others, decided on 27.9.2022

8. He has, therefore, submitted that the review-applicant may be impleaded as party-respondent and the impugned judgment and order be recalled and the entire Public Interest Litigation should be re-heard.

9. On the other hand, Sri Abhinav N. Trivedi, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Sri Yogesh Kumar Awasthi, learned Standing Counsel has submitted that the grounds taken in the review application are wholly misconceived and the review application has no merit and substance, and it deserves to be rejected in view of the detailed findings recorded by this Court in the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 under review.

10. The detailed facts have been noted in the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022 under review and, therefore, for the sake of brevity, the same are not repeated in the present order.

11. The review-applicant is none other than a company incorporated by the trustees of the Gyan Yog Charitable Trust. In the meeting of the Board of the Trust dated 20.9.2009, Sri Surya Vardhan Agarwal (Treasurer) and Yash Vardhan Agarwal (Trustee), who are the sons of Sri Sanjeev Agarwal, Chairman/President of the Trust and one of the Directors of the review-applicant were present, and it was resolved to part away certain portion of the Government's land and consequently, the sale deed dated 9.6.2010 was executed in favour of Sri Surya Vardhan Agarwal and Yash Vardhan Agarwal. Thus, if the veil is lifted, the real character of the review-applicant would get revealed and it is nothing but an alter ego as the same trustees are the Directors of the review-applicant.

12. Sri Sanjeev Agarwal, who is one of the Directors of the review-applicant, had filed the pleadings in the Public Interest Litigation, in which the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022 under review was passed. He was representing not only the trust, but the review-applicant also, which would be evident from the several affidavits and the pleadings filed by Sri Sanjeev Agarwal in dual capacity as the Managing Director of the Trust and the Director of the review-applicant.

13. This Court has taken note of these facts in the judgement and order under review that how in a fraudulent and dishonest manner the Government land, which was purportedly allotted for charitable purposes, was sold to its own trustees by the trust vide sale deed dated 9.6.2010 in a gross contravention of the provisions of Section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure and the provisions of the Indian Trust Act. The two sale deeds dated 9.6.2010 and 1.7.2020 were void ab initio and were nullity in the eyes of law. If the sale deeds itself were nullity and void ab initio, the review-applicant can not claim any right and title on the said null and void sale deeds. The review-applicant has not been able to show in the review application that the sale deeds dated 9.6.2010 and 1.7.2020 were valid and conferred a legal title over the land in favour of the two worthy sons of Sri Sanjeev Agarwal, who are the Directors of the review-applicant. When the sale deeds are null and void ab initio, no right and title would get conferred on the review-applicant as its occupation on the land in question would be nothing but an encroachment of the Government land.

14. In respect of the dated 2.8.2021 passed by the Board of Revenue, this Court has taken note of the said order in paragraphs 15 to 18 of the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022. It would be apt to extract the aforesaid paragraphs herein-under:-

15. During the pendency of this writ petition, another revision bearing No.1351 of 2021 came to be filed by Ram Chandra Razwar, the Manager of the Concept Carts Limited under Section 210 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 impugning the order dated 4.6.2021 passed by the District Magistrate, Hardoi. Interestingly, while the writ petition was pending on the subject matter and the High Court was in seisen of the subject matter, the Board of Revenue proceeded to decide the said revision and passed the order dated 2.8.2021. Two very interesting aspects of the order dated 2.8.2021 are to be taken note of. The Board of Revenue in paragraph eight of the said order held that the preliminary objection raised by the counsel for the complainant and the Standing Counsel for the revenue regarding maintainability of the revision on behalf of the Concept Cars Limited or its Manager had force. It was said that the Manager of the Concept Cars Limited and the Concept Cars Limited itself had no right file and maintain the revision challenging the validity of the order dated 4.6.2021 passed by the District Magistrate, Hardoi and, therefore, the Board of Revenue accepted the preliminary objection raised regarding the maintainability of the revision. It was observed that if the revisionist was so advised, he could become the party in the revision filed on behalf of the Trust impugning the order dated 4.6.2021, but the revision on behalf of the Manager of the Concept Cars Limited/Concept Cars Limited would not be maintainable. Despite the said finding on the preliminary objection, the Board of Revenue held that the prayer of the revisionist i.e. Manager of the Concept Cars Limited regarding exchange of the land in question with some other land being offered on behalf of the revisionist/Concept Cars Limited in exercise of powers under Section 161 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act and under Section 101 of the U.P. Revenue

Code, 2006 would be required to be considered.

16. This Court is of the considered view that the Board of Revenue has incorrectly held that the land in Gata No.1175 was not recorded as "public utility land' though the same was recorded as "Jangal Dhak' and was a public utility land as per the provisions of Para A-124 of the U.P. Land Records Manual. The Board of Revenue held that since the said land was not a public utility land, therefore, the said land could be exchanged with some other land of equal value and there would not be any legal hurdle in doing so. The Board of Revenue thus, directed the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Sadar, Hardoi to make inspection of the lands, which are being offered by the revisionist/Concept Cars Limited in exchange of the land in Gata No.1175, and take possession of the land offered by the revisionist in exchange of the land in Gata No.1175 of the area, which would be 10% more than the area of Gata No.1175. It has been further held that the said order of exchange would be subject to the final outcome of Revision No.1146 of 2021 filed by the Trust. It has been ordered that that the revisionist would file an affidavit before the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and will undertake that in case the order dated 4.6.2021 is affirmed, the revisionist should not claim any right in respect of the land being offered in exchange of the land in Gata No.1175, and in future if it was found that the land offered in exchange of land in Gata No.1175 had any defect of ownership, then the revisionist would be liable to compensate for the loss, if any. It has been ordered that the revisionist would file the undertaking along with application within a period of two weeks before the Sub-Divisional Magistrate and the Sub-Divisional Magistrate has been directed to make inspection of the land in Gata Nos.1143, 1167 Cha and 846, which are being offered in exchange and then out of the three gatas, the most valuable land should be accepted in exchange. After taking possession of the said land, the possession should be handed over to the Gram Sabha. It has been further directed that all this should be completed within a period of six weeks. It has been ordered that for a period of two months or from the date of taking possession of the land offered in exchange of Gata No.1175, status-quo in respect of the possession of Gata No.1175 shall be maintained.

17. Thus, on one hand the Board of Revenue held that the revision on behalf of the Manager of Concept Cars Limited or by the Concept Cars Limited itself was not maintainable, and on the other hand, it allowed the prayer of the revisionist/Manager of the Concept Cars Limited for exchange of the land. This Court finds the approach of the Board of Revenue wholly illegal, unjustified and against the judicial propriety inasmuch as when the High Court was in seisen of the matter, the Board of Revenue had no business to proceed with the matter. Further, after holding that the revision was not maintainable, the Board of Revenue had allowed the prayer of the revisionist/Manager of the Concept Cars Limited in a most illegal and uncalled for manner. The Board of Revenue has overreached its jurisdiction and this Court deprecates the way the order has been passed to favour a private party in a non-maintainable proceeding. This Court holds that the order passed by the Board of Revenue dated 2.8.2021 is wholly illegal, non est and without jurisdiction. The authorities are directed not to take any action in pursuance of the order dated 2.8.2021 passed by the Board of Revenue.

18. After Revision No.1146 of 2021 was filed by the Trust against the order darted 4.6.2021, the Trust filed a recall application before the District Magistrate, Hardoi praying to recall the order dated 4.6.2021. However, the District Magistrate vide order dated 31.1.2022 rejected the said application for recall on the ground that against the order dated 4.6.2021, a revision had already been filed by the Trust being Revision No.1146 of 2021 before the Board of Revenue and, therefore, the recall application was not maintainable. Against the said order dated 31.1.2022, the Trust has filed another Revision bearing No.511 of 2022 before the Board of Revenue and the Board of Revenue vide interim order dated 9.3.2022, admitted the said revision and strangely enough stayed the orders dated 4.6.2021 and 31.1.2022 passed by the District Magistrate, Hardoi. The Board of Revenue appears to be extra generous and benevolent towards the revisionist. The approach of the Board of Revenue is anything but judicial.

15. Once the Board of Revenue held that the revision was not maintainable on behalf of the review-applicant, no further direction could have been issued. In any view of the matter, direction for removal of illegal encroachment from the Government land is independent of the aforesaid observations made in paragraphs 15 to 18 of the judgement and order darted 5.7.2022 under review.

16. In respect of the orders of the Board of Revenue dated 2.8.2021 and 20.6.2022 and the order dated 4.7.2021 passed by the District Magistrate, this Court in exercise of its plenary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India while dealing with the issue of public importance regarding land grabbing by the trustees and transferring the same to themselves for erecting commercial establishment, has passed the order to prevent the perpetuity and illegality after taking note of the fraud committed by the trustees in occupying the Government land ostensibly taken for public purpose and then transferring it to themselves for commercial venture.

17. This Court has passed the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022 in Public Interest Litigation in respect of the Gram Sabha land, which is the jurisdiction assigned to this Court as per the roster. While exercising the jurisdiction of the Public Interest Litigation, this Court is not bound to limit itself to the prayers made in the Public Interest Litigation, and it is always open to the Court to take judicial notice of fraud, illegality, cheating and grabbing of the public land and, therefore, contention of the learned counsel for the review-applicant that this Court has travelled beyond the scope of the Public Interest Litigation, is wholly misconceived. This Court can take the facts suo motu.

18. The Supreme Court in the cases of Gaurav Jain Vs. Union of India and others, (1997) 8 SCC 114 (Paragraph 51) and in A. Abdul Farooq Vs. Municipal Council, Perambalur and others, (2009) 15 SCC 351 (Paragraph 33) held that strict rules of pleadings are not necessarily to be adhered by the Court even after it is found that the petitioners are busy bodies.

19. In respect of the ground taken under Section 101 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 that the State Government may consider for exchange of the public land, this Court has considered the scope of the said Section in the judgement and order under review in paragraphs 50 and 59(4), which would read as under:-

"50. The land which was a public utility land, was resumed and allotted in favour of a private person, Late R.S Agrawal, Ex-IAS officer by the then District

Magistrate in purported exercise of the power under Section 117(6) of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, 1950 for charitable purpose and now it is being used for commercial purposes, therefore, such a land cannot be exchanged in any manner. Even otherwise, under Section 101 of the U.P. Revenue Code, 2006 the land in which bhumidhari rights cannot get accrued, cannot be exchanged.

59. In view of the aforesaid discussion, answers to the questions formulated above are as under:-

(ii). .....

(iii). .....

20. In a recent judgment of this Court in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.44407 of 2012, Phool Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, decided on 21.1.2020 in paragraph 9, it has been held that the provisions of Section 161 of U.P.Z.A.&L.R. Act, 1950, which is in pari materia to Section 101 of U.P. Revenue Code, 2006, has not been envisaged for being used as a tool or measure to camouflage, over come, legalise or legitimize an illegality. Paragraph 9 of the aforesaid judgement is extracted hereunder:-

"9. On a more fundamental place, the provisions made in Section 161 of the 1950 Act are principally aimed at respective parties arriving at a mutually acceptable position that is beneficial to both. It essentially enables the Gaon Sabha to effectively manage its land bank and use it to the optimal in public interest. At the same time it also facilitates the landowner or the bhumidhar to enter into a settlement which is beneficial to both parties. Notwithstanding the above, Section 161 is not envisaged to be a tool or measure to camouflage, overcome, legalise or legitimise an illegality. It is not meant to be a used as an instrument or device to regularise or validate an illegality. It cannot possibly be viewed as a provision enabling a usurper or encroacher of public utility land to attempt to legalise wrongful possession. As this Court reads that provision, it primarily appears to put in place a mechanism to interchange land inter parties. It is principally a reciprocal arrangement. It clearly does not and cannot in law be countenanced in law as being a provision aimed at curing an illegality or according ipso facto approval to an illegal act of usurpation or encroachment. It is not entitled to be viewed as either endorsing or legitimizing an illegality. Section 161 is essentially aimed at enabling a party to switch, barter or exchange land to the mutual benefit of both parties. A party cannot first encroach, trespass or intrude and then claim a right to exchange. It is clearly not a provision aimed at legalizing an encroachment. A person who has encroached or trespassed upon land cannot subsequently turn around and seek condonation of that act or infraction by seeking an exchange. A person seeking an exchange must be one who is in lawful possession of land which is offered in exchange. Viewed in any other light, the provision may be abused as a devise to accord legitimacy upon an act which is illegal and unlawful. The institution which appears to have encroached upon public utility land cannot take shelter of an application purported to have been made under Section 161 of the 1950 Act. In any case the pendency of a purported application for exchange cannot confer any benefit to the petitioner here."

21. The other ground taken by the review-applicant is that while passing the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022, the Government Order dated 9.5.1984 which permitted resumption of Gram Sabha land for being allotted to public entities was not considered. In terms of the provisions contained in paragraph seven of the Government Order dated 9.5.1984, the allotment in favour of a private entity is permissible only for a specific period. The order of resumption dated 30.1.1987 would make it evident that no such period was prescribed and secondly, the trust was never vested with the authority to alienate and sell the land mentioned in the order of resumption dated 30.1.1987, that too to its own trustees for commercial establishment.

22. It is a well settled proposition of law that a review is neither an opportunity of re-hearing nor it can be disguised as an appeal. The review-applicant, which is nothing but an alter ego of the trust, has failed to demonstrate that even if it would have been given an opportunity for the sake of being heard in the Public Interest Litigation, what pleadings or documents could have been placed before the Writ Court, which could have reversed the directions contained in the judgment and order dated 5.7.21022.

23. The Board of Revenue is under supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court and, therefore, it is always open for the High Court to scrutinize any order passed by the Board of Revenue in the Public Interest Litigation, which has direct bearing of the issues involved in the Public Interest Litigation. This Court has taken judicial notice of the proceedings pending before the Board of Revenue prior to its judgement dated 20.6.2022 in paragraphs 15 and 16 of the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022, which have been extracted herein before.

`24. The Board of Revenue vide order dated 20.6.2022 had directed for vesting of the land in the Gram Sabha, which was resumed vide order of the District Magistrate dated 30.1.1987. However, without any plausible rhyme or reason, an exception has been carved out on the basis of the very transactions of the land in favour of the trustees, which are null and void ab initio. If the sale deed are null and void, even its cancellation by a Suit is not necessary as held by the Supreme Court in the case of Prem Singh and others Vs. Birbal and others, (2006) 5 SCC 353 (Paragraph 16).

25. So far the ground taken by the learned counsel for the review-applicant that the judgement of the Board of Revenue dated 20.6.2022 was not placed before this Court before delivering the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022 under review is concerned, the judgment and order pronounced by the Constitutional Court will have precedence and binding authority over the order passed by a revenue authority/board.

26. The Board of Revenue knowing fully well that the Public Interest Litigation is going and the judgement has been reserved, proceeded to pass the order dated 20.6.2022 favouring the trustees/review-applicant against the judicial propriety. This Court has noted on the favourable disposition of the Board of Revenue towards the Board of Trustees in the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022. The Board of Revenue in its order dated 20.6.2022 has treated vesting of the land in the Government simply as an encroachment. The case is not of simple encroachment, but it is a case of fraud and cheating besides encroachment. This Court while dealing with the facts had detailed in the judgment and order, did not deem it fit to carve out an exception in favour of the trust or the trustees and, as mentioned above, the review-applicant is nothing but an alter ego of the trust inasmuch as the trustees are the Directors and the land in question was sold by trust to its trustees. The exception carved out by the Board of Revenue in its order dated 20.6.2022 runs contrary to the findings recorded by the Board of Revenue itself and such an order can not be taken note of in view of the detailed findings recorded by this Court in the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 under review.

27. Sri Sanjeev Agarwal had filed caveat in the Public Interest Litigation. In the counter affidavit filed on 5.6.2021, Sri Sanjeev Agarwal in paragraph 3 had stated that he was a Director of Concept Cars Limited, review-applicant and the same has also been stated in paragraph 7 of the said affidavit, but he never raised objection regarding impleadment of the review-applicant in the Public Interest Litigation. Pleadings have also been made regarding the review-applicant in some of the affidavits filed on behalf of Sanjeev Agarwal. Paragraphs 43 to 46 of the affidavit dated 1.2.2022 filed on behalf of Sri Sanjeev Agarwal, Managing Director of the Trust and the Director of the review-applicant, would read as under:-

"43. That subsequently Shri Yash Vardhan Agarwal had leased out the land purchased by him to one M/s Concept Cars Ltd. Vide lease deed dated 24.09.2010. A copy of the lease deed dated 24.09.2010 is filed as Annexure A-22 to this affidavit.

44. That subsequently M/s Concept Cars Ltd. Has constructed a full/fledged showroom over the property Plot No.1175 by including part of the property Plot No.1167 also (which was the private property of the company aforesaid) as it was the adjoining property with common boundary towards northern side of the property Plot No.1175.

45.That the construction was made after due sanction of the Development Authority.

46. That the property in dispute is situated in an area which is covered by the provisions of Regulation of Building Operation Act, 1961, therefore, M/s Concept Cars Ltd. has moved an application before the prescribed authority of R.D.O. for sanction of map.

Since the area involved for the purposes of raising construction was greater than the limit available for the prescribed authority under R.B.O. as such the matter was forwarded to the Chief Town Planner, Lucknow under the guidelines issued by the Ministry of Urban Development and Planning and it was ultimately sanctioned by the office of Chief Town Planner, Lucknow finding the title of M/s Concept Cars Ltd. Valid."

28. In the affidavit filed on behalf of Sri Sanjeev Agarwal on 23.3.2022, the order dated 2.8.2021 passed by the Board of Revenue in Revision No.1351 of 2021 filed on behalf of the review-applicant has been brought on record in the Public Interest Litigation.

29. Thus, it is evident that Sri Sanjeev Agarwal was not only representing the trust, but he was also representing the review-applicant herein and in view thereof, I do not find any substance in the submission of the review-applicant that the review-applicant got prejudiced as it was not made a party in the Public Interest Litigation.

30. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court does not find any ground to review the judgment and order dated 5.7.2022 and, therefore, the same is rejected. However, no order as to costs.

31. The District Magistrate, Hardoi and all authorities are directed to implement the judgement and order dated 5.7.2022 under review within a period of fifteen days from today.

List of Cases cited:

1. Sant Lal Gupta & ors. Vs Modern Cooperative Group Housing Society Ltd. and Ors., (2010)13SCC336

2. St.of Punjab & anr. Vs Devans Modern Breweries ltd. & anr., (2004) 11 SCC 26

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard Sri Alok Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Gaurava Mehrotra, learned counsel for the respondent, Sri Utsav Mishra, learned counsel for the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Service Selection Commission and Ms. Shagun Srivastava, learned State Law Officer.

2. The petitioners in the present bunch of petitions claims to have been working on the post of Health Worker (female)/ANM (Auxiliary Nurse Midwife) in different districts of the state of Uttar Pradesh on contract basis and have sought to challenge the legality & validity of the Government order dated 20.11.2020, to the extent it grants approval to the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Commission for holding two-level/phase examination system for Group "C" post including the post of Health Worker (female).

3. A challenge has been sought to be laid to the advertisement dated 25-05-2021, whereby a Preliminary Eligibility Test (PET) has been conducted for all those desirous candidates seeking employment in any Group "C" Post in the state of Uttar Pradesh. A further challenge is also made to the advertisement dated 15-12-2021, whereby only those candidates had been found to be eligible for applying for the main examination for the post of Health Worker (Female), who had earlier appeared in the PET.

4. Suffice to say, the Petitioners have filed the present writ petition praying for the following reliefs:

(I) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned advertisements dated 25.5.2021 and 15.12.2021 issued by the opposite party no. 3, contained as Annexure Nos. 1 & 2 respectively to this writ petition, to the extent the same pertains to the selection of Health Worker (Female).

(ii) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties not to give effect to the impugned advertisements dated 25.5.2021 and 15.12.2021 issued by the opposite party no. 3, contained as Annexure Nos. 1 & 2 respectively to this writ petition, to the extent the same pertains to the selection of Health Worker (Female);

(iii) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 10.8.2021 as well as the impugned Government order dated 20.11.2020, to the extent it grants approval to the Commission for holding two-level/phase examination system for Group-C post, issued by the opposite party no. 1 i.e. the State Government, contained as Annexure Nos. 3 & 4 respectively to this writ petition.

(iv) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties not to give effect to the impugned order dated 10.8.2021 as well as the impugned Government order dated 20.11.2020 to the extent it grants approval to the Commission for holding two-level/phase examination system for Group-C post, issued by the opposite party no. 1 i.e. the State Government, contained as Annexure Nos. 3 & 4 respectively to this writ petition.

(v) Or in the alternative, to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties to permit the petitioners to appear in written test in pursuance of the impugned advertisement dated 15.12.2021 for the main examination for the post of Health Worker (Female) keeping in view the letter of the State Government dated 7.7.2021, contained as Annexure No. 11 to this writ petition, and ignoring the impugned order dated 10.8.2021 issued by the State Government, contained as Annexure No. 3 to this writ petition.

(vi) to pass such other or direction, which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case in favour of the petitioners.

(vii) allow the writ petition with the costs in favour of the petitioners.

5. It is the case of the petitioners that the said PET being conducted by the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Commission is in complete violation of the Uttar Pradesh Medical Health and Family Welfare Department, Health workers and Health Supervisors (Male & Female) Non-gazette service Rules, 2018 relating to experience relaxation, direct recruitment etc. The petitioners have also grounded their writ petition on the order dated 10.08.2021 passed by the state government, wherein, although the state government rejected the proposal of the Health Department for exemption/relation of the PET for the post of Health Worker (female) as selection process has already commenced, but has allegedly assured that the said proposal shall be considered in future and as such it has been alternatively prayed that permission may be granted to the petitioners to appear in the written test in pursuance to the advertisement dated 15.12.2021 for the post of Health worker(female).

6. Notice was issued to the respondents and a counter-affidavit has been filed by the additional chief secretary, department of Medical, Health & family Welfare, Government of Uttar Pradesh, seeking dismissal of the present writ petition on three grounds:

A. The last date of submission of online application forms etc. in advertisement dated 15.12.2021 was 05-01-2022 and the last date of amendment in any such applications was 12-10-2022.

B. The female health workers who are presently working in the department on contract basis are given weightage of 15 numbers and 5 years of age relaxation on the basis of their experience as provided in the Uttar Pradesh Medical Health and Family Welfare Department, Health workers and Health Supervisors (Male & Female) Non-gazette service Rules, 2018.

C. Similar writ petition being Writ-A 96 of 2022 (Smt. Mridul and 15 others) had been filed in the present court, wherein a coordinate bench has passed a detailed order dated 04.02.2022 while dismissing the said writ petition. Further, even an intra-court appeal preferred being Special Appeal No. 74 of 2022 has also been pleased to dismiss the said special appeal vide an order dated 09-03-2022.

7. This court has given its anxious thoughts to the issue involved in the present writ petition and finds that the issue in the present case has been already dealt with earlier by a coordinate bench of this court, as has been rightly pointed by the Ld. Counsel for the respondents. The said judgment dated 04.02.2022 squarely applies to the four corners of the facts of the present case. The said judgement can be profitably curled in as follows:

"..... The Court may, first of all, refer to the Uttar Pradesh Medical, Health and Family Welfare Department Health Workers and Health Supervisors (Male and Female) Non-Gazetted, Service Rules, 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules, 2018').

Part-V of the said Rules deals with the procedure for recruitment. As per Rule 14 contained therein the appointing authority is required to determine the number of vacancies to be filled during the course of the year of recruitment etc and the number of vacancies to be filled through the Commission are required to be intimated to it. Rule 15(a) of the Rules, 2018 reads as under: -

"15. (a) Direct recruitment to the Posts of Health Worker (Male) and Health Worker (Female) shall be made in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh direct recruitment to Group "C' Posts (Mode and Procedure), Rules, 2015, as amended from time to time."

Clause (b) and (c) of Rule 15 of the Rules, 2018 deal with weightage to a person who is working as Auxiliary Nurse Midwife on contract basis which is not relevant for the purposes of this case.

In view of Rule 15 (a) of the Rules, 2018 direct recruitment to the posts of Health Worker (Female) is to be made in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh Direct Recruitment to Group "C' Posts (Mode and Procedure), Rules, 2015, (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules, 2015') as amended from time to time. The Court may, therefore, straightaway referred to these Rules of 2015. Rule 8(1) of the Rules, 2015 deals with the procedure for direct recruitment and it reads as under:-

"8(1) The procedure for direct recruitment, the syllabus, marks of written examination/interview and the rules relating thereof shall be such as prescribed by the Commission from time to time with the approval of the Government."

Now, as per Rule 15 (a) of the Rules, 2015 Procedure for Direct Recruitment etc shall be such as prescribed by the Commission from time to time with the approval of the Government.

Now, in this very context, the Court may refer to U.P. Subordinate Services Selection Commission (Procedure & Conduct of Business), Regulation, 2015 (hereinafter referred to as "the Regulation, 2015') which have been made by the U.P. Subordinate Services Selection Commission, with the prior approval of the State Government, in exercise of powers conferred by Section 16 and 23 of the U.P. Subordinate Services Selection Commission Act, 2014.

Now, Regulation 6 of the said Regulation, 2015 deals with the procedure for selection of candidates. The Regulation 6 of the Regulation, 2015 is quoted hereinbelow: -

"(1) The Commission shall make selection of candidates examination or by interview or by both through objective or other form of test in accordance with the provisions of the relevant service rules/regulations.

(2) The Commission may with the prior approval of the Government, hold a combined competitive examination for a group of posts and may also take a preliminary test or examination for screening of candidates.

(3) The Commission shall advertise the vacancies through the Print media or Electronic media or both and invite applications from eligible candidates. Manner of inviting application forms includes online submission of application forms through Internet as prescribed by the Commission. Applications received in response to advertisement shall be scrutinized by the office in the manner determined from time to time.

(4) In making selection by competitive examination or interview including preliminary examination or test, the Commission may take recourse to modern testing aids including the use of computers at one or more stages of selection viz the stages of receipt and processing of applications, issue of call letters, evaluation of answer books, issue of interview letters and processing of results under the close supervision of one or more officers of the Commission to be nominated by the Chairperson.

5) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in relevant Service Rules or Government orders regarding recruitment, the Commission may hold preliminary examination/screening test for finding out suitable candidates for admission to main examination or interview, as the case may be.

(6) Preliminary examination shall mean screening test to be conducted by the Commission with the purpose of finding out suitable candidates in required proportion as fixed by the Commission in each category, reserved and unreserved for admission to the main examination or interview, as the case may be.

(7) Preliminary examination shall be conducted in the manner prescribed in the Uttar Pradesh Direct Recruitment through Public Service Commission Preliminary Examination Rules, 1986 as amended from time to time, which is deemed to be adopted for the said purpose. The marks obtained by the candidates in the preliminary examination/screening test shall not be counted for determining final order of merit.

(8) The Commission shall fix the place, dates and time of examination which includes preliminary examination/ screening test and main examination, as the case may be.

(9) The centers of examinations shall be fixed with prior approval of the Commission.

(10) All arrangements for such examinations shall be made by the Controller of Examination cum Joint Secretary in consultation with the Secretary and in accordance with such directions as may be issued by the Commission in that behalf."

On a bare reading of the above quoted Regulation 6, it is clear that the Commission is empowered to take a preliminary test or examination for screening of candidates with the prior approval of the Government. Sub-regulation (5) of the Regulation 6, in fact, goes on to state that notwithstanding anything contained in relevant service rules or government orders regarding recruitment, the Commission may hold preliminary examination/ screening test for finding out suitable candidates for admission for main examination or interview, as the case may be.

Sub-regulation (6) of Regulation 6 says that the preliminary examination shall mean screening test to be conducted by the Commission with the purpose of finding out suitable candidates in required proportion as fixed by the Commission in each category, reserved and unreserved for admission to the main examination or interview, as the case may be.

Sub-regulation (7) of Regulation (6) says that preliminary examination shall be conducted in the manner prescribed in the Uttar Pradesh Direct Recruitment through Public Service Commission Preliminary Eligibility Test Rules, 1986 as amended from time to time, which is deemed to be adopted for the said purpose.

The marks obtained by the candidates in the preliminary examination/ screening test shall not be counted for determining final order of merit.

Thus, the only argument raised by Sri A.P. Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner that there is no provision for holding a preliminary test is belied from the provisions quoted hereinabove. It is not his case that prior approval of the Government has not been taken before holding such preliminary test, nevertheless, as informed by Sri Mehrotra such prior approval has been taken and is referred in the letter of the Commission dated 22.07.2021.

This apart, learned counsel for the Commission also informs the Court that though the petitioners have annexed a letter of Additional Chief Secretary, Medical & Health dated 07.07.2021 requesting the Commission to do away with the provision for Preliminary Eligibility Test for the post of Health Workers (Female) for which the Auxiliary Nurse Midwife are eligible for being considered, what the petitioners have not disclosed is that based on this, the Commission had sought guidance from the Karmik Department of the State Government vide its letter dated 22.07.2021 and Karmik Department of the State Government informed the Commission with a copy of the decision to the Additional Chief Secretary, Medical & Health that the proposal of the department for doing away with the preliminary eligibility test cannot be accepted at this stage when the selection/ examination has already been set in motion.

Be that as it may, in view of the discussion already made, as no other ground has been pressed by learned counsel for the petitioner before this Court and there is a provision under which the preliminary test could be held by the Commission, the post being within the purview of the Commission and there being no dispute in this regard, the petition fails and is dismissed."

8. Further, this court has been informed that an intra-court appeal had been filed against the aforesaid order of the Ld. Coordinate bench, which was also dismissed vide an order dated 09.03.2022 passed in Special Appeal No. 94 of 2022, wherein the Hon'ble Division bench has by upholding the Judgment passed by the Ld. Single Judge has inter-alia concluded:

"....For the reasons disclosed and discussion made above, we are in complete agreement with the judgment passed by the learned Single Judge which is under challenge herein. The special appeal is, thus, dismissed."

9. The Ld. Counsel for the petitioner has also argued that the facts of the aforesaid decided case are at variance to the facts of the present petition. According to him, there are several petitioners who have crossed the age of 40 years, which was the maximum age limit prescribed in the PET advertisement and as such according to him, in case the age relaxation on account of the past services rendered by them as per rule 10 of the service rules, 2018 would had been made available to them in the impugned advertisement dated 25.05.2021, these petitioner's very well would had participated in the said PET. It is the submission of the Ld. Counsel that these petitioners were not allowed to submit their application form in pursuance to the said advertisement, which was in violation of the service rules, 2018. The Ld. Counsel in his written submission has tried to substantiate the aforesaid ground by submitting that even the commission has admitted its error and as such a clarification has been inserted in the advertisement issued on 28.06.2022, wherein it has been clarified under clause 6.3 that those candidates, whose age stands lapsed can also apply in the PET taking advantage of the age relaxation available to them as per the service rules, 2018. Thus, it is the submission of the Ld. Counsel that the impugned PET did not provide for the age relaxation as is being provided in the present PET advertisement, which clearly shows that the impugned advertisement was violative of the service rules, 2018.

10. On the other hand, the Ld. Counsel for the respondent/Commission submits that the PET in furtherance to the impugned advertisement was conducted on 24.08.2021 and the results were declared on 28.10.2021 and the score was valid for one year. It is the specific stand of the Ld. Counsel that the petitioner's, who have consciously and knowingly chosen not to appear for the PET examination, which was widely published, cannot be permitted to challenge the same at this belated stage when the result stood declared on 28.10.2021 and even the advertisement for the main examination stood published as on 15.12.2021. The Ld. Counsel articulated his argument on the basis that the validity of holding the PET examination by the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Service Selection Commission for selection on the post of Health Worker (Female) stands settled by various judgements of this court, including:

i. Judgment dated 04.02.2022 passed in Writ A 96 of 2022 (Smt. Mridul and Others V/s State of U.P & Ors.), which was upheld vide order dated 09.03.2022 in Special Appeal No. 74 of 2022.

ii. Judgment dated 07.05.2022 passed in Special Appeal No. 332 of 2022 (Neetu Singh and Others V/s State of U.P and Others)

iii. Judgment dated 29.04.2022 passed in Writ A 2460 of 2022 (Vijay Laxmi and Others V/s State of U.P & Ors.), which was upheld vide order dated 07.05.2022 in Special Appeal No. 193 of 2022.

iv. Judgment dated 26.05.2022 passed in Writ A 3079 of 2022 (Smt. Anju Devi & 171 Others V/s State of U.P & Ors.), which was upheld vide order dated 09.06.2022 in Special Appeal No. 300 of 2022.

11. This court is also in complete agreement with the reasoning and discussion given by the Ld. Single Judge and the Hon'ble Division Bench of this Court in Judgment dated 04.02.2022 passed in Writ A 96 of 2022 (Smt. Mridul and Others V/s State of U.P & Ors.), which was upheld vide order dated 09.03.2022 in Special Appeal No. 74 of 2022. Further, as far as the specific argument of the Ld. Counsel of the petitioner that his contention relating to the relaxation of age in view of rule 10 of the service rules, 2018 is concerned, this court finds that this court in Judgment dated 07.05.2022 in Special Appeal No. 193 of 2022 (Vijay Laxmi and Others V/s State of U.P & Ors.), has already dealt the said aspect vividly at paragraph 8,9 and 10 as follows:

"8. The appellant-petitioners had assailed the Advertisement dated 25-05-2021 and 15-12-2021 mainly on the ground that the maximum age prescribed in the Advertisement violates the provision contained in Rule 10 of the Uttar Pradesh Medical, Health and Family Welfare Department Health Workers and Health Supervisor (Male and Female) non-Gazetted, Service Rules, 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules of 2018"), which provides as under:-

"A candidate for direct recruitment must have attained the age of eighteen years and must not have attained the age of more than forty years on the first day of July of the calendar year in which vacancies for direct recruitment are advertised: Provided that the upper age limit in the case of candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and such other categories as may be notified by the Government from time to time shall be greater by such number of years as may be specified. Provided further that the upper age limit for such candidates who was 4 working as auxiliary Nurse Midwife in the medical, Health and Family Welfare Department, by the government, Uttar Pradesh on contract basis and who possess the qualification prescribed in the rule-8(2) of these rule shall be greater by such number of completed years of services as they have rendered on contract basis subject to be maximum of five years for enabling them to become eligible for being considered for direct recruitment."

9. The learned counsel for the appellant-petitioners contended that as per the second Proviso appended to the aforesaid Rule 10 of the Rules of 2018, Health Worker (Female) are entitled to get a relaxation in the upper age limit of the number of completed years of service rendered on contractual basis, upto the maximum of 5 years. He submitted that paragraph-6 of the Advertisement dated 25-05-2021 provides that a candidate who has completed the age of 40 years, will not be eligible for appearing in PET and this condition violates Rule 10 of the Rules of 2018.

10. Rejecting the aforesaid submission, the learned Single Judge held that a perusal of Condition No. 6 of the Advertisement reveals that it specifically mentions that a candidate would be entitled to get relaxation in the upper age limit as per the Regulations / Government Orders issued from time to time. It further clarifies that a candidate, who has qualified the PET, would be entitled to get relaxation in the age limit as per the service Rules applicable to the concerned post. Therefore, the submission of the Appellants-petitioners, that the advertisement provides for the upper age limit of 40 years which violates Rule 10 of the Rules 2018, is unacceptable as paragraph-6 of the Advertisement clearly states that relaxation in upper age limit would be admissible as per the relevant service rules / Government Orders."

12. Thus, this court is of the considered opinion that all the issues raised by the petitioner stands decided by this court in one matter or the other and the issues raised are no longer res integra. Moreover, this court cannot be oblivious of the law of precedents, which forms the foundation of administration of Justice and it has been held time and again that a single Judge of a High Court is ordinarily bound to accept as correct judgments of Courts of coordinate jurisdiction and of Division Benches and of the Full Benches of his Court. The reason of the rule which makes a precedent binding lies in the desire to secure uniformity and certainty in the law. The Hon'ble Supreme court in the case of Sant Lal Gupta and Ors. vs. Modern Co-operative Group Housing Society Ltd. and Ors., (2010)13SCC336, held that it was neither desirable nor permissible by the coordinate Bench to disapprove the earlier judgment and take view contrary to it. A coordinate bench cannot comment upon the discretion exercised or judgment rendered by another coordinate bench of the same court. The rule of precedent is binding for the reason that there is a desire to secure uniformity and certainty in law. A bench must follow the decision of a coordinate bench and take the same view as has been taken earlier. The earlier decision of the coordinate bench is binding upon any latter coordinate bench deciding the same or similar issues. If the latter bench wants to take a different view than that taken by the earlier bench, the proper course is for it to refer the matter to a larger bench.

13. To the same effect is the judgment of the Apex Court reported in the State of Punjab and another versus Devans Modern Breweries ltd. and another, (2004) 11 SCC 26, wherein paragraph 339 laid down the following: -

"339. Judicial discipline envisages that a coordinate Bench follow the decision of an earlier coordinate Bench. If a coordinate Bench does not agree with the principles of law enunciated by another Bench, the matter may be referred only to a Larger Bench. (See Pradip Chandra Parija v. Pramod Chandra Patnaik, (2002) 1 SCC 1 followed in Union of India Vs. Hansoli Devi, (2002) 7 SCC 273. But no decision can be arrived at contrary to or inconsistent with the law laid down by the coordinate Bench. Kalyani Stores (supra) and K.K. Narula (supra) both have been rendered by the Constitution Benches. The said decisions, therefore, cannot be thrown out for any purpose whatsoever; more so when both of them if applied collectively lead to a contrary decision proposed by the majority."

14. In view of the above, this court does not find any merits in the present writ petition and as such the same is accordingly dismissed in the above terms. There shall be no order as to costs.

Thereafter the petitioner was dismissed from service by means of the order dated 26.12.1997 passed by the Superintendent of Police, Gonda, invoking the provisions of Rule 8(2)(b) of the Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules-1991 (here-in-after referred as Rules of 1991). The petitioner challenged the order of dismissal as well as the suspension order, before this Court, in Writ Petition No.919 (S/S) of 1998; Abhay Nath Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others. The writ petition was allowed by means of the judgment and order dated 17.04.2009 and the respondents were directed to allow the petitioner to work on the post, which he was holding prior to the order of dismissal and shall be paid salary and allowances as admissible to him. The operative portion of the order dated 17.04.2009 is extracted here-in-below:-

"Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. The orders dated 26.12.1997 and 12.09.1997 passed by the Superintendent of Police, Gonda, are hereby set-aside. The opposite parties are directed to allow the petitioner to work on the post which he was holding prior to the order of dismissal and shall be paid salary and allowances as admissible to him.

However, the above order will not prevent the respondents from initiating departmental enquiry against the petitioners, if they so desire."

4. In pursuance to the aforesaid order, the petitioner was allowed to join. Though it was provided in the aforesaid order dated 17.04.2009, while allowing the writ petition, that the above order will not prevent the respondents from initiating departmental enquiry against the petitioners, if they so desire but admittedly no departmental enquiry has been held against the petitioner. The petitioner was reinstated into service on the post which he was holding at the time of dismissal i.e. the post of Constable and he was posted in the office of Superintendent of Police, Gonda.

5. While reinstating the petitioner by means of the order dated 16.06.2009 in compliance of the judgment and order dated 17.04.2009, it was provided that so far as the arrears of salary are concerned, a separate order would be passed in that regard. Since no decision was being taken, the petitioner approached this Court by means of Writ Petition no.1352 (S/S) of 2011; Abhay Nath Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others. The writ petition was disposed of with direction to the opposite party no.3 i.e. the Superintendent of Police, Gonda to consider the representation of the petitioner with regard to the arrears of salary and dispose of the same by passing a reasoned and speaking order in accordance with law. In pursuance thereof a show cause notice dated 03.07.2011 under Rule 54-A, Vol.-II, Part-II to IV of Financial Hand Book was issued and served on the petitioner, a copy of which is annexed as annexure no.2 to the writ petition. The petitioner submitted his reply to the show cause notice dated 11.07.2011. After considering the reply of the petitioner, the impugned order dated 25.08.2011 has been passed, by means of which the salary of the petitioner has been fixed but arrears of salary for the period of dismissal of the petitioner have been denied on the principle of "No Work, No Pay", a copy of which is annexed as annexure no.1 to the writ petition, which has been challenged by the petitioner in this writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the petitioner was dismissed from service invoking the provisions of Rule 8(2)((b) of the Rules of 1991 without recording any satisfaction and reason as to why it was not reasonable and practicable to hold the enquiry. Therefore, the said order was quashed by this Court and liberty was granted to hold a fresh enquiry. However no enquiry has been held, therefore the petitioner is entitled for arrears of salary for the period of dismissal w.e.f. 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009 in accordance with the Financial Hand Book and even otherwise because the petitioner was ready to work but he was not allowed due to illegal orders.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner relied on Union of India Vs. Madhusudan Prasad; (2004) 1 SCC 43, Commissioner, Karnataka Housing Board Vs. C. Muddaiah; (2007) 7 SCC 689, Kishori Lal Vs. Chairman Board of Directors, Aligarh Gramin Bank (Allahabad); 2011 (3) All LJ 73, Brajesh Kumar Shukla Vs. State of U.P. and 2 Others; 2019 (1) UPLBEC 798 / 2018 (6) All WC 6481, Yadunandan Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others; 2018 (1) UPLBEC 454 / 2018 (2) All WC 1594 & Prayag Narain Dubey (P.N. Pandey) Vs. U.P.S.R.T.C. through Regional Manager and Another; 2018 (8) ADJ 561.

8. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel submitted that the petitioner has not discharged any Government work during the period of dismissal, therefore he is not entitled for arrears of salary for the said period. The impugned order has rightly been passed denying the arrears of salary for the period of dismissal. There is no illegality or error in the impugned order. The writ petition is misconceived and liable to be dismissed with cost.

9. I have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

10. There is no dispute among the learned counsel for the parties, so far as the facts of the case as disclosed above are concerned. The only dispute is regarding payment of arrears of salary for the period of dismissal. Thus issue to be adjudicated upon in this case is as to whether the petitioner is entitled for the arrears of salary for the period of dismissal w.e.f. 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009 or not on the principle of "No Work, No Pay" and if he is entitled, then to what amount.

11. The petitioner was dismissed from service by means of the order dated 26.12.1997 under Rule 8(2)(b) of Rules of 1991. The dismissal of petitioner was set-aside by this Court by means of the judgment and order dated 17.04.2009 passed in Writ Petition No.919 (S/S) of 1998; Abhay Nath Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others. The liberty for fresh enquiry was granted but admittedly no enquiry has been held.

12. Rule 54-A of the Financial Hand Book provides the conditions under which a Government Servant is entitled for the pay and allowances of the period of dismissal. Rule 54-A of Financial Hand Book is extracted here-in-below:-

"54-A.(1)- Where the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of a Government servant is set-aside by the Court of law and such Government servant is reinstated without holding any further enquiry, the period of absence from duty shall be regularized and the Government servant shall be paid pay and allowances in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (2) or (3), subject to the directions, if any, of the Court.

[(2)(i) Where the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of the Government servant is set-aside by the Court solely on the ground of non-compliance with the requirements of Clause (1) or Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution, and where he is not exonerated on merits, and no further enquiry is proposed to be held, the Government servant shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (7) of the Rule 54, be paid such amount (not being the whole) of the pay and allowances to which he would have been entitled had he not been dismissed, removed or compulsory retired, as the competent authority may, as the competent authority may determine, after giving notice to the government servant of the quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, submitted by him in that connection within such period (which in no case shall exceed sixty days from the date on which the notice has been served) as may be specified in the notice.]

(ii) The period intervening between the date of dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement including the period of suspension preceding dismissal removal or compulsory retirement, as the case may be, and the date of judgment of the court shall be regularized in accordance with the provisions contained in sub-rule (5) of Rule 54.

(3) If the dismissal removal or compulsory retirement of a Government servant is set aside by the court on the merits of the case, the period intervening between the date of dismissal removal or compulsory retirement including the period of suspension preceding such dismissal, removal, or compulsory retirement, as the case may be, and the date of reinstatement shall be treated as duty for all purpose and he shall be paid of the full pay and allowances for the period, to which he would have been entitled, had he not been suspended, removed or compulsorily retired or suspended prior to such dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement, as the case may be.

(4) The payment of allowances under sub-rule (2) or sub-rule (3) shall be subject to all other conditions under which such allowances are admissible.

(5) Any payment made under this Rule to a Government Servant on his reinstatement shall be subject to adjustment of the amount, if any earned by him through an employment during the period between the date of dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement and the date of reinstatement. Where the emoluments admissible under this Rule are equal to or less than those earned during the employment elsewhere, nothing shall be paid to the Government servant."

13. The aforesaid Rule 54-A(1) of Financial Hand book provides that where the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of a Government servant is set-aside by the Court of law and such Government servant is reinstated without holding any further enquiry, the period of absence from duty shall be regularized and the Government servant shall be paid pay and allowances in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (2) or (3), subject to the directions, if any, of the Court. Sub Rule (2) of the Rule 54-A provides that where the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of the Government servant is set-aside by the Court solely on the ground of non-compliance with the requirements of Clause (1) or Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution of India and where he is not exonerated on merits and no further enquiry is proposed to be held, the Government servant shall subject to the provisions of sub-rule (7) of the Rule 54, be paid such amount (not being the whole) of the pay and allowances to which he would have been entitled had he not been dismissed, removed or compulsory retired, as the competent authority may determine after giving notice to the government servant of the quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, submitted by him. Sub-rule (7) of Rule 54 provides that the amount determined under the proviso to sub-rule (2) or under sub-rule (4), shall not be less than the subsistence allowance and other allowances admissible under Rule 53. Sub-rule (7) of Rule 54 is extracted here-in-below:-

"(7) The amount determined under the proviso to sub-rule (2) or under sub-rule (4), shall not be less than the subsistence allowance and other allowances admissible under rule 53."

14. The payment of allowances under sub-rule (2) or (3) shall be subject to all other conditions under which such allowances are admissible as per sub-rule (4) and any amount earned by the Government servant by any employment during the period between the date of dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement and reinstatement shall be adjusted as per sub-rule (5) of Rule 54-A.

15. In the present case the provisions of Sub-rule (4) of Rule 54 are attracted because the dismissal has been set-aside on account of violation of Article 311 (2) of the Constitution of India. Sub-rule (4) of Rule 54 is extracted here-in-below:-

"54.[(4) In cases other than those covered by sub-rule (2) [including cases where the order of dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement from service is set aside by the appellate or reviewing authority solely on the ground of non-compliance within the requirements of clause (1) or clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution and no further inquiry is proposed to be held], the Government servant shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rules (6) and (7), be paid such amount (not being the whole) of the pay and allowances to which he would have been entitled had he not been dismissed, removed or compulsorily retired or suspended prior to such dismissal removal or compulsory retirement, as the case may be, as the competent authority may determine, after giving notice to the Government servant of the quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, submitted by him in that connection, within such period (which in no case shall exceed sixty days from the date on which the notice has been served) as may be specified in the notice.]"

"53. (1) A government servant under suspension or deemed to have been placed under suspension by an order of the appointing authority shall be entitled to the following payments, namely:-

(a) a subsistence allowance at an amount equal to the leave salary which the government servant would have drawn if he had been on leave on half average pay or on half pay and in addition, dearness allowance, if admissible on the basis of such leave salary:

Provided that where the period of suspension exceeds three months, the authority which made or is deemed to have made the order of suspension shall be competent to vary the amount of subsistence allowance for any period subsequent to the period of the first three months as follows:-

(i) the amount of subsistence allowance may be increased by a suitable amount, not exceeding 50 per cent of the subsistence allowance admissible during the period of first three months, if, in the opinion of the said authority, the period of suspension has been prolonged for reasons to be recorded in writing, not directly attributable to the government servant;

(ii) the amount of subsistence allowance may be reduced by a suitable amount not exceeding 50 per cent of the subsistence allowance admissible during the period of the first three months, if, in the opinion of the said authority, the period of suspension has been prolonged due to reasons, to be recorded in writing, directly attributable to the Government servant;

(iii) the rate of dearness allowance will be based on the increased or, as the case may be, the decreased amount of subsistence allowance admissible under sub-clauses (i) and (ii) above.

(b) Any other compensatory allowance admissible from time to time on the basis of pay of which the Government servant was in receipt on the date of suspension:

Provided that the government servant shall not be entitled to the compensatory allowances unless the said authority is satisfied that the government servant continues to meet the expenditure for which they are granted.

(2) No payment under sub-rule (1) shall be made unless the Government servant furnishes a certificate that he is not engaged in any other employment, business, profession or vocation:

Provided that in the case of a Government servant dismissed or removed from service, who is deemed to have been placed or to continue to be under suspension from the date of such dismissal or removal and who fails to produce such a certificate for any period or periods during which he is deemed to be placed or to continue to be under suspension, he shall be entitled to the subsistence allowance and other allowances equal to the amount by which his earnings during such period or periods, as the case may be, fall short of the amount of subsistence allowance and other allowances that would otherwise be admissible to him; where the subsistence and other allowances admissible to him are equal to or less than the amount earned by him, nothing in this proviso shall apply to him.

(This amendment shall be deemed to have come into force with effect from December 26, 1981)."

17. Rule 53(1)(a) provides that a Government servant under suspension shall be entitled for a subsistence allowance at an amount equal to the leave salary which the Government servant would have drawn if he had been on leave on half average pay or on half pay and in addition, dearness allowance, if admissible on the basis of such leave salary. Proviso to Rule 53(1)(a) provides that where the period of suspension exceeds three months, the subsistence allowance shall be varied and as per sub-rule (i) to the proviso the subsistence allowance may be increased by 50 percent of the subsistence allowance during the period of the first three months. As such a government servant, under suspension, is entitled to half of the salary for the first three months and where it exceeds three months for the salary upto 75 per cent for the next three months and so on. Therefore a government servant, on reinstatement, on account of setting-aside of the dismissal on the ground of non-compliance with the requirement of Clause (1) or Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution of India and not on merit and where no further enquiry held, shall be entitled arrears of pay and allowances for the period of dismissal which shall not be less than the subsistence allowance and other allowances admissible under rule-53. However it would be subject to adjustment of amount earned by him during the period between the date of dismissal etc. and the date of reinstatement as per sub-rule (5) of Rule 54-A. However it would be subject to direction, if any, of the Court as per Rule 54-A(1), therefore the Court may direct for payment of any amount as may be determined by it looking to the facts and circumstances of the case.

18. Sub-rule (ii) of Rule 54-A (1) provides that the period intervening the date of dismissal etc. including the period of suspension preceding it and the date of judgment shall be regularized in accordance with the provision contained in sub-rule (5) of the Rule 54. Sub-rule (5) of Rule 54 provides as to how the period of absence from duty including the period of suspension preceding his dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement can be regularized by different kind of leaves.

19. The dismissal of the petitioner, by means of the order dated 26.12.1997 under Rule 8(2)(b) of Rules of 1991, has been quashed by this Court by means of the judgment and order dated 17.04.2009 passed in Writ Petition No.919 (S/S) of 1998 on account of violation of proviso(b) to Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India and no enquiry has been held despite liberty granted by this Court. Proviso (b) to Article 311 (2) provides; where the authority empowered to dismiss or remove a person or to reduce him in rank is satisfied for some reason, to be recorded by that authority in writing, it is not reasonable to hold such enquiry. Therefore the case of the petitioner falls under sub-rule(2) of Rule 54-A, which provides that where the dismissal order is set-aside on the ground of non-compliance with the requirements of Clause (1) and Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution of India and where he is not exonerated on merits and no further enquiry is proposed to be held, the Government servant shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (7) of the Rule 54, be paid such pay and allowances as the competent authority may determine, had he not been dismissed from service. Sub-rule (7) of Rule 54 provides that the amount determined under the proviso to sub-rule (2) or under sub-rule (4), shall not be less than the subsistence allowance and other allowances admissible under Rule 53.

20. While reinstating the petitioner, in compliance of order passed by this Court on 17.04.2009 passed in Writ Petition No.919 (S/S) of 1998, by means of the order dated 16.06.2009, it was provided that the decision in regard to the salary of the said period shall be taken separately. However the decision was not taken, therefore the petitioner approached this court by means of the Writ Petition No.1352 (S/S) of 2011, which was disposed of by means of the order dated 11.03.2011 with direction to consider the representation of the petitioner with regard to the arrears of salary and dispose of the same by reasoned and speaking order in accordance with law. Thereafter, the respondent no.3 i.e. the Superintendent of Police, Gonda gave a show cause notice dated 03.07.2011 to the petitioner under Rule 54-A of the Financial Hand Book as to why for the period of dismissal w.e.f. 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009, the leave without pay may not be sanctioned to the petitioner. In response thereof the petitioner submitted his detailed explanation dated 11.07.2011. Thereafter the decision has been taken by means of the order dated 25.08.2011, which has been challenged in this writ petition.

21. Perusal of the impugned order dated 25.08.2011 indicates that it has been passed without considering the grounds raised in the explanation submitted by the petitioner and by a non speaking and non reasoned order, merely stating that, since the petitioner has not discharged any Government work during the period of dismissal the arrears of salary have been denied on the principle of "No Work, No Pay". This Court is of the view that the impugned order is not tenable in the eyes of law for the reasons that it was passed in violation of direction issued by this Court and the explanation submitted by the petitioner and the provisions of Rule 54-A of Financial Hand Book, under which the show cause notice was given and other relevant provisions of Financial Handbook, while passing the impugned order, under which the petitioner is entitled for arrears of salary which may be determined.

22. In the case of Union of India Vs. Madhusudan Prasad (Supra), the learned Single Judge of the High Court had held that the respondent was entitled to get salary for the period he was out of service. The said order was affirmed by the Division Bench of the High Court, therefore SLP was filed by the Union of India. The SLP has been dismissed noticing that the respondent was removed from the service without following the principles of natural justice and the relevant facts were considered by the learned Single Judge and Division Bench and ordered for payment of the back wages. The paragraph-6 is extracted here-in-below:-

"6. The above case was concerning an employee, proceeded, who was found guilty in an enquiry but the report was not furnished to the employee and show cause notice was not served on him. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, the Court directed appropriate order should be passed regarding the back wages. In the instant case the appellate authority directed reinstatement of the respondent and held that he was not entitled to get back wages for the period he was out of service. If may be noticed that the respondent was removed from services without any enquiry and he was not even given show cause notice prior to his dismissal from service. There was fault on the part of the employer in not following the principle of natural justice. These relevant facts were considered and the learned Single Judge and also the Division Bench ordered the payment of back wages. We do not think this is a fit case where the Fundamental Rule 54 could have been invoked by the authorities. We find no merit in the appeal. The appeal is accordingly dismissed."

23. In the case of Commissioner, Karnataka Housing Board Vs. C. Muddaiah (Supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the Court, in a given case, may hold that the person was willing to work but was illegally and unlawfully not allowed to do so and direct the Authority to grant him all benefits considering 'as if he had worked' therefore it can not be contended as an absolute proposition of law that no direction of payment of consequential benefits can be granted by a Court of Law. The relevant paragraph 34 is extracted here-in-below:-

"36. We are conscious and mindful that even in absence of statutory provision, normal rule is 'no work no pay'. In appropriate cases, however, a Court of Law may, nay must, take into account all the facts in their entirety and pass an appropriate order in consonance with law. The Court, in a given case, may hold that the person was willing to work but was illegally and unlawfully not allowed to do so. The Court may in the circumstances, direct the Authority to grant him all benefits considering 'as if he had worked'. It, therefore, cannot be contended as an absolute proposition of law that no direction of payment of consequential benefits can be granted by a Court of Law and if such directions are issued by a Court, the Authority can ignore them even if they had been finally confirmed by the Apex Court of the country (as has been done in the present case). The bald contention of the appellant-Board, therefore, has no substance and must be rejected."

24. A coordinate Bench of this Court, in the case of Kishori Lal Vs. Chairman Board of Directors, Aligarh Gramin Bank (Allahabad) (Supra), has held that the principle of "No Work, No Pay" can not be applied ignoring the fact that work has not been performed by employee concerned not on account of himself but for the circumstances created by employer and if applied would amount to confer a premium upon employer of a fault of his own and this would amount to allowing him (employer) to take advantage of his own wrong, which is not permissible in law, particularly in a court of equity and justice and held the petitioner is entitled for consequential benefits with cost. The relevant paragraphs 59 to 64 are extracted here-in-below:-

"59.Now coming to another important aspect about relief. It is not the case of respondents that petitioner was gainfully employed elsewhere during the period he was out of job. On the contrary, as a result of illegal order of dismissal, petitioner and his entire family must have suffered a social stigma as also financial hardships. It is quite conceivable that this ignominy is faced by the entire family of petitioner. No amount of money can compensate this social humiliation, illegal torture an out classed attribute of neighbour and other difficulties. It must have been faced by petitioner and his entire family throughout. An attempt to provide consequential benefits to petitioner by this Court is only a meager compensation for huge loss, which basically cannot be compensated in terms of money. The departmental authorities, in fact must be much more careful and vigilant when they initiate disciplinary proceedings against an employee concerned on certain charges so that effective procedural requirement is observed in words and spirit. They must also ensure that a person should not be unnecessarily harassed as that affects not only individual bread earner but the entire family. This Court can take judicial cognizance of the fact that higher rank officials and employees, if face a small delay in payment of salary, become restless and even resort to ob serve strike etc. That being so the severest punishment of dismissal compel the employee and his entire family to stand in a situation of starvation and also denuded the other facilities like health, education, clothing etc, which virtually, if not a death in terms of medical precision, something near to it. Normally the employers, to wriggle out such circumstances, try to invoke principle of ''No work No Pay' ignoring the fact that work has not been performed by employee concerned not on account of himself but for the circumstances created by employer. Such a principle in a case like this, if applied would amount to confer a premium upon employer of a fault of his own. This would amount to allowing him (employer) to take advantage of his own wrong, which is not permissible in law particularly in a court of equity and justice. It is against all canons of justice. It is always open to employer concerned to cover up loss, which it may sustain towards making of payment to such an employee by recovering such amount from those officials who defied statutory requirement as also the procedure and pass illegal order. Instead of penalizing a poor employee, who has no option but not to render service to employer pursuant to illegal order passed by employer the accountability should be shouldered by the responsible officer/authority.

60.Moreover the concept of gainful employment would be attracted provided employment is easily available. The Court cannot shut its eyes of extraordinary unemployment prevailing in the country. The people having high qualifications are searching menial employment having limited employment avenues. In such circumstances to suggest that a dismissed employees could have got a gainful employment is nothing but a day dreaming.

61.This aspect can be looked into from another different angle. In these days of extraordinary unemployment it is inconceivable to think that dismissed or removed employee may get easily an alternative employment. Merely because he has been able to survive all through, it cannot be conceived that he was in gainful employment during all this periods. We do not know whether he survived at the charity or support extended by his relatives, friends, neighbour or by selling his household goods or spending his savings or losing ornaments of his wife or that he survived by incurring debt in the hope of getting success one day in the case challenging order of punishment and then to discharge debt liability.

62.It would not be proper on the part of this Court into enter in this arena of wild goose chase. Only this much is sufficient that he was not unwilling to work but the employer having created a situation where he was compelled not to work, hence ought not be punished despite of winning the case by denying arrears of salary.

63.It is also well known that whenever an order of dismissal or removal is challenged, normally Courts do not grant interim orders and the reason behind is that it amounts to grant of final relief. That being so, in the end when incumbent is successful in demonstrating that order is illegal, if he is denied salary on the ground that he did not work for which judiciary is also responsible, it would be condemning a indefansable litigant for no fault of his own and also for certain reasons which are wholly beyond his control. If this would not be a travesty of justice then what else can be.

64.It is in these facts and circumstances and considering the various aspects of the matter, this Court is of considered view that dismissal of petitioner from service having been found wholly illegal, and it is also having been seen that he was denied work on the post in question by employer in a wholly illegal manner, petitioner should be given relief of reinstatement with benefit of continuity of service with all consequential benefits including arrears of salary. This would be in consonance with the principle that an employee has no right to work but only right to claim salary. In absence of anything to show that employee himself was unwilling to work, principle of "No Work No Pay" ought not to be applied in such a case."

25. A coordinate Bench of this Court, in the case of Brajesh Kumar Shukla Vs. State of U.P. and 2 Others (Supra), has held that The principle of 'no work no pay' stands attracted in a situation where an employee has refused to discharge duties of his own volition and without any restraint of the employer. It primarily applies to a situation where the employee consciously and voluntarily fails or refuses to discharge duties and the termination of employment is an act affected solely by the employer and in this situation it can not be said that the employee has failed to discharge duties without justifiable cause. The relevant paragraph-11 is extracted here-in-below:-

"11. The principle that needs recognition and reiteration is that the principle of 'no work no pay' cannot have an ipso facto or automatic application to a case of termination. Once the order of termination comes to be set aside by a Court or Tribunal, it is incumbent upon the Disciplinary Authority to take an informed decision with respect to the manner in which the period during which the order of termination operated would be liable to be treated. The decision to deprive an employee of emoluments and other benefits cannot be arrived at solely on the application of the principle of "no work no pay". While arriving at a decision in this respect, it would be incumbent upon the Disciplinary Authority to consider various factors such as the length of the period during which the order of termination operated, whether the enquiry proceedings were delayed on account of non cooperation of the employee concerned, the nature of the misconduct which is ultimately found to be proved, the severity of the punishment which comes to be imposed upon the original order of termination being modified or the grounds which led to the order of termination or punishment being set aside. The Disciplinary Authority would be acting within its jurisdiction in evaluating whether the punishment order was set aside on a technicality, an infraction of principles of fair play or on merits. There would thus have to be a holistic and comprehensive consideration of the above and other germane factors which would guide the ultimate decision that the Disciplinary Authority takes in this regard."

26. Similar view has been taken by this Court, in the cases of Yadunandan Singh Vs. State of U.P. and Others (Supra) and Prayag Narain Dubey (P.N. Pandey) Vs. U.P.S.R.T.C. through Regional Manager and Another (Supra).

backwages, these are matters which will depend on the facts of the case as noted in Deepali Gundu Surwase and in a case where it is found that the employee was not at all at fault and yet, he is visited with illegal termination or termination is actually activised by malice, it may be unfair to deny him the fruits of the employment which he would have enjoyed but for the illegal / malafide termination. It has further held that the effort of the Court must be to then to restore the status quo in the manner which is appropriate in the facts of each case. The relevant paragraph 12 of the judgment is extracted here-in-below:-

"12. It is, undoubtedly, true when the question arises as to whether the backwages is to be given and as to what is to be the extent of backwages, these are matters which will depend on the facts of the case as noted in Deepali Gundu Surwase (supra). In a case where it is found that the employee was not at all at fault and yet, he was visited with illegal termination or termination which is actually activised by malice, it may be unfair to deny him the fruits of the employment which he would have enjoyed but for the illegal / malafide termination. The effort of the Court must be to then to restore the status quo in the manner which is appropriate in the facts of each case. The nature of the charges, the exact reason for the termination as evaluated and, of course, the question as to whether the employee was gainfully employed would be matters which will enter into the consideration by the Court."

28. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Deepali Gundu Surwase v. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya (D.Ed.) & Ors; (2013) 10 SCC 324, after considering the two earlier three judges benches of the Hon'ble Supreme Court concluded as follows:-

"38. The propositions which can be culled out from the aforementioned judgments are:

38.1. In cases of wrongful termination of service, reinstatement with continuity of service and back wages is the normal rule.

38.2. The aforesaid rule is subject to the rider that while deciding the issue of back wages, the adjudicating authority or the court may take into consideration the length of service of the employee/workman, the nature of misconduct, if any, found proved against the employee/workman, the financial condition of the employer and similar other factors.

38.3. Ordinarily, an employee or workman whose services are terminated and who is desirous of getting back wages is required to either plead or at least make a statement before the adjudicating authority or the Court of first instance that he/she was not gainfully employed or was employed on lesser wages. If the employer wants to avoid payment of full back wages, then it has to plead and also lead cogent evidence to prove that the employee/workman was gainfully employed and was getting wages equal to the wages he/she was drawing prior to the termination of service. This is so because it is settled law that the burden of proof of the existence of a particular fact lies on the person who makes a positive averments about its existence. It is always easier to prove a positive fact than to prove a negative fact. Therefore, once the employee shows that he was not employed, the onus lies on the employer to specifically plead and prove that the employee was gainfully employed and was getting the same or substantially similar emoluments.

38.4. The cases in which the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal exercises power under Section 11-A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and finds that even though the enquiry held against the employee/workman is consistent with the rules of natural justice and / or certified standing orders, if any, but holds that the punishment was disproportionate to the misconduct found proved, then it will have the discretion not to award full back wages. However, if the Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal finds that the employee or workman is not at all guilty of any misconduct or that the employer had foisted a false charge, then there will be ample justification for award of full back wages.

38.5.) The cases in which the competent Court or Tribunal finds that the employer has acted in gross violation of the statutory provisions and/or the principles of natural justice or is guilty of victimizing the employee or workman, then the concerned Court or Tribunal will be fully justified in directing payment of full back wages. In such cases, the superior Courts should not exercise power under Article 226 or 136 of the Constitution and interfere with the award passed by the Labour Court, etc., merely because there is a possibility of forming a different opinion on the entitlement of the employee/workman to get full back wages or the employer's obligation to pay the same. The Courts must always be kept in view that in the cases of wrongful / illegal termination of service, the wrongdoer is the employer and sufferer is the employee/workman and there is no justification to give premium to the employer of his wrongdoings by relieving him of the burden to pay to the employee/workman his dues in the form of full back wages.

38.6. In a number of cases, the superior Courts have interfered with the award of the primary adjudicatory authority on the premise that finalization of litigation has taken long time ignoring that in majority of cases the parties are not responsible for such delays. Lack of infrastructure and manpower is the principal cause for delay in the disposal of cases. For this the litigants cannot be blamed or penalised. It would amount to grave injustice to an employee or workman if he is denied back wages simply because there is long lapse of time between the termination of his service and finality given to the order of reinstatement. The Courts should bear in mind that in most of these cases, the employer is in an advantageous position vis-à-vis the employee or workman. He can avail the services of best legal brain for prolonging the agony of the sufferer, i.e., the employee or workman, who can ill afford the luxury of spending money on a lawyer with certain amount of fame. Therefore, in such cases it would be prudent to adopt the course suggested in Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited v. Employees of Hindustan Tin Works Private Limited (supra).

38.7. The observation made in J.K. Synthetics Ltd. v. K.P. Agrawal (supra) that on reinstatement the employee/workman cannot claim continuity of service as of right is contrary to the ratio of the judgments of three Judge Benches referred to hereinabove and cannot be treated as good law. This part of the judgment is also against the very concept of reinstatement of an employee/workman.

Gundu Surwase (Supra) has held that if the employee is not at all at fault and she was kept out of work by reasons of the decision taken by the employer, then to deny the fruits of her being vindicated at the end of the day would be unfair to the employee and in such circumstances, no doubt, the question relating to alternative employment that the employee may have resorted to, becomes relevant. The relevant paragraph- 13 is extracted here-in-below:-

"13. The most important question is whether the employee is at fault in any manner. If the employee is not at all at fault and she was kept out of work by reasons of the decision taken by the employer, then to deny the fruits of her being vindicated at the end of the day would be unfair to the employee. In such circumstances, no doubt, the question relating to alternative employment that the employee may have resorted to, becomes relevant. There is also the aspect of discretion which is exercised by the Court keeping in view the facts of each case. As we have already noticed, this is a case where apart from the charge of the employee having produced false caste certificate, there is no other charge. Therefore, we would think that interests of justice, in the facts of this, would be subserved, if we enhance the back wages from 50% to 75% of the full back wages, which she was otherwise entitled. The appeals are partly allowed. The impugned judgments will stand modified and the respondents shall calculate the amount which would be equivalent to 75% of the back wages and disburse the amount remaining to be paid under this judgment within a period of six weeks from today to the additional appellants."

30. Adverting to the facts of the present case, the petitioner was dismissed from service by means of the order dated 26.12.1997 under Rule 8(2) (b) of Rules of 1991 which was set-aside by means of the judgment and order dated 17.04.2019 passed in Writ Petition No.919 (S/S) of 1998 on account of violation of Article 311(2)(b) of Constitution of India with a liberty for fresh enquiry, but admittedly no fresh enquiry has been held. The impugned order in regard to the payment of arrears of salary for the period of dismissal has been passed without considering the detailed explanation dated 11.07.2011 submitted by the petitioner in response to the show cause notice dated 03.07.2011 issued under Rule 54-A of the Financial Handbook. The impugned order has been passed merely stating that the petitioner is not entitled for any arrears of salary on the principles of 'No Work, No Pay' as he has not discharged any Government work during period of dismissal, therefore the impugned order has been passed not only in violation of the direction issued by this Court for passing a reasoned and speaking order in Writ Petition No.1352 (S/S) of 2011 but without considering and in violation of Rule 54-A and other relevant provisions of Financial Hand Book also under which the petitioner is entitled for arrears of salary, therefore this Court is of the view that the impugned order is not sustainable in the eyes of law and is liable to be set-aside to the extent it denies the arrears of salary of the period of dismissal w.e.f. 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009 and in view of the aforesaid discussion it is held that the petitioner is entitled to arrears of salary for the aforesaid period of absence on account of dismissal of petitioner, which has been quashed and no further enquiry has been held.

31. In view of above and considering the over all facts and circumstances of the case, this Court deems it appropriate to determine the amount of arrears of salary for the period of absence instead of directing to reconsider the matter as the matter is old. Since the petitioner has not discharged the Government work during the period w.e.f. 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009 the petitioner is entitled for 75% of the salary as arrears of salary for the period w.e.f 26.12.1997 to 15.06.2009 with interest at the rate of 6% per annum till the date of payment.

32. With the aforesaid observations and directions the writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

5. St.of Karn. Vs Appa Balu Ingale, 1995 Supp. (4) SCC 469

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Sri Laxmi Kant Pathak, learned counsel for petitioner as well as learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. Learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that the mother of the petitioner Smt. Durgawati Dwivedi was working on the post of Senior Assistant in Government Polytechnic, Pratapgarh died in harness on 24.09.2021. She survived by her husband Sri Prem Kumar Dubey, one son (petitioner) and one daughter.

3. On death of Smt. Durgawati Dwivedi, the petitioner moved an application for appointment under dying in Harness Rules, 1974 claiming appointment on compassionate ground. His application has been rejected by means of impugned order dated 23.08.2022 passed by Director, Technical Education, Uttar Pradesh on the ground that the father of the petitioner, Prem Kumar Dubey was working in the Labour Department in Government of U.P. and has subsequently retired and is receiving pension from the State Government.

4. It has further been stated that in terms of rule 5 of Dying in Harness Rules, it is provided that in case the spouse of the deceased Government servant is an employee of the Central Government or a State Government then he or she shall not not be eligible for the the benefit under the Dying Harness Rules, 1974.

5. Assailing the order dated 23.08.2022, learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that the father of the petitioner is a retired employee and is no longer in employment and consequently Rule 5 of Dying Harness Rules, 1974 would not be applicable in the facts of the present case. He further submits that petitioner was totally dependent on his mother and was not dependent on his father and for the reasons also he has while assailing the order dated 23.08.2022 sought a direction for appointment on compassionate grounds under Dying in Harness Rules, 1974.

6. Learned Standing Counsel on the other hand submits that the very purpose of Rule 5 is that a person who is already in government service would be receiving remuneration from the State government and subsequent to his retirement would be receiving pension and consequently a legal heirs of such a person cannot be held to be the destitute so as to give the benefit of dying in Harness Rules.

7. He further submits that in various judgment of the Apex Court as well as by this Court, it has repeatedly been held that the purpose of Rules of 1974 are only provide succor to the immediate family of the sole bread earner who has died in harness so as to prevent destitution to the entire family. It is for this very purpose of Rule 5 of Rules, 1974, it is provided that in case the spouse is employed with the State or Central Government then such a person would not be eligible for appointment under Dying in Harness Rules, 1974.

8. It is stated that undoubtedly the father of the petitioner was a government servant and he has retired and presently receiving pension which should be sufficient to support him and his family and consequently no such claim can be made by the petitioner that the family has fallen into destitution.

9. He submits that Rule 5 should be purposely interpreted in such a manner so as not defeat the purpose of statute and hence submits that there is no infirmity in passing of the impugned order. He further submits that there is no material adduced by the petitioner to support the contention made by him in the petition.

10 I have heard rival contention of the parties.

11. It is noticed that the mother of the petitioner was working on the post of Senior Assistant in Government Polytechnic, Pratapgarh died in harness on 24.09.2021. The father of the petitioner was also a government servant and working in the Labour Department and admittedly he is receiving pension.

12. The petitioner moved an application under Rules of 1974 for compassionate appointment being the son of deceased government servant and his application has been rejected by the impugned order on the ground that his father was also in government service and his claim for appointment is barred by Rule 5 of Rules of 1974.

13. Rule 5 of the Dying in Harness Rules, 1975 are quoted hereinbelow:-

"Rule 5 of U.P. Recruitment of Dependant of Government Servant Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 where it is provided that "in case a Government servant dies in harness after the commencement of these rules and the spouse of the deceased Government servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government or a Corporation owned or controlled by the Central Government or a State Government shall, on making an application for the purposes, be given a suitable employment in Government service on a post except the post which is within the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission."

14. It is relevant to refer here the various judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court with regard to the purpose and object behind appointing persons of the deceased government employee on compassionate grounds.

15. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of State of Himachal Pradesh and another Vs. Shashi Kumar, 2019 (3) SCC 653, held as under:-

"18. While considering the rival submissions, it is necessary to bear in mind that compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule that appointment to any public post in the service of the State has to be made on the basis of principles which accord with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. Dependants of a deceased employee of the State are made eligible by virtue of the Policy on compassionate appointment. The basis of the policy is that it recognizes that a family of a deceased employee may be placed in a position of financial hardship upon the untimely death of the employee while in service. It is the immediacy of the need which furnishes the basis for the State to allow the benefit of compassionate appointment. Where the authority finds that the financial and other circumstances of the family are such that in the absence of immediate assistance, it would be reduced to being indigent, an application from a dependent member of the family could be considered. The terms on which such applications would be considered are subject to the policy which is framed by the State and must fulfill the terms of the Policy. In that sense, it is a well-settled principle of law that there is no right to compassionate appointment. But, where there is a policy, a dependent member of the family of a deceased employee is entitled to apply for compassionate appointment and to seek consideration of the application in accordance with the terms and conditions which are prescribed by the State.

19. The policy in the present case which was formulated on 18 January 1990 categorically speaks of providing employment assistance to dependents of government servants who have died while in service, "leaving their families in indigent circumstances". The Policy, in other words, is designed to meet the needs of those families where the death of a government servant has left them in indigent circumstances, requiring immediate means of subsistence. The policy recognizes in Paragraph 10 that the benefits which are received by a family on account of welfare measures are required to be considered. Among them, the policy stipulates that family pension and death gratuity are required to be taken into account in assessing the financial circumstances of the family. The Policy does not preclude the dependants of a deceased employee from being considered for compassionate appointment merely because they are in receipt of family pension. What the Policy mandates is that the receipt of family pension should be taken into account in considering whether the family has been left in indigent circumstances requiring immediate means of subsistence. The receipt of family pension is, therefore, one of the considerations which is to be taken into account. Paragraph 10(c) of the Policy sets out the measures provided by the State which have a bearing on the financial need of the family.

21. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma (supra) has been considered subsequently in several decisions. But, before we advert to those decisions, it is necessary to note that the nature of compassionate appointment had been considered by this Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal Vs. State of Haryana4. The principles which have been laid down in Umesh Kumar Nagpal (supra) have been subsequently followed in a consistent line of precedents in this Court. These principles are encapsulated in the following extract:

"2. ...As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. However, to this general rule which is to be followed strictly in every case, there are some exceptions carved out in the interests of justice and to meet certain contingencies. One such exception is in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non-manual and manual 4 (1994) 4 SCC 138 categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved, viz., relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

16. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh and others Vs. Premlata, 2022 (1) SCC 30, held as under:-

"8. While considering the issue involved in the present appeal, the law laid down by this court on compassionate ground on the death of the deceased employee are required to be referred to and considered. In the recent decision this court in Civil Appeal No.5122 of 2021 in the case of the Director of Treasuries in Karnataka & Anr. vs. V. Somashree, had occasion to consider the principle governing the grant of appointment on compassionate ground. After referring to the decision of this court in N.C. Santhosh vs. State of Karnataka and Ors. reported in (2020) 7 SCC 617, this Court has summarized the principle governing the grant of appointment on compassionate ground as under:

(i) that the compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule;

(ii) that no aspirant has a right to compassionate appointment;

(iii) the appointment to any public post in the service of the State has to be made on the basis of the principle in accordance with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India;

(iv) appointment on compassionate ground can be made only on fulfilling the norms laid down by the State's policy and/or satisfaction of the eligibility criteria as per the policy;

(v) the norms prevailing on the date of the consideration of the application should be the basis for consideration of claim for compassionate appointment.

9. As per the law laid down by this court in catena of decisions on the appointment on compassionate ground, for all the government vacancies equal opportunity should be provided to all aspirants as mandated under Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution. However, appointment on compassionate ground offered to a dependent of a deceased employee is an exception to the said norms. The compassionate ground is a concession and not a right.

9.1 In the case of State of Himachal Pradesh and Anr. vs. Shashi Kumar reported in (2019) 3 SCC 653, this court had an occasion to consider the object and purpose of appointment on compassionate ground and considered decision of this court in case of Govind Prakash Verma vs. LIC reported in (2005) 10 SCC 289, in para 21 and 26, it is observed and held as under: "21. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289, has been considered subsequently in several decisions. But, before we advert to those decisions, it is necessary to note that the nature of compassionate appointment had been considered by this Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] . The principles which have been laid down in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] have been subsequently followed in a consistent line of precedents in this Court. These principles are encapsulated in the following extract:

(Umesh Kumar Nagpal case [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] , SCC pp. 13940, para 2) "2. ? As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. "26. The judgment of a Bench of two Judges in Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra [Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra, (2008) 11 SCC 384 :

(2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 1077] has adopted the principle that appointment on compassionate grounds is not a source of recruitment, but a means to enable the family of the deceased to get over a sudden financial crisis. The financial position of the family would need to be evaluated on the basis of the provisions contained in the scheme. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] has been duly considered, but the Court observed that it did not appear that the earlier binding precedents of this Court have been taken note of in that case."

17. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Fertilizers and Chemicals Travancore Ltd. and Others Vs. Anusree K.B., 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1331, held as under:-

"18. Thus, as per the law laid down by this Court in the aforesaid decisions, compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule of appointment in the public services and is in favour of the dependents of a deceased dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood, and in such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is, thus, to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give such family a post much less a post held by the deceased."

18. The exclusion of the person whose one of the parents is employed has been done for the purpose that such a member of the family of the deceased would not fall into destitution on death of the Government Servant as he has the spouse of the Government Servant, who himself/herself is a government employee is surviving and consequently the family should not fall into destitution and hence for appointment of such person has been kept out of the purview of the Dying in Harness Rules, 197.

19. Needles to say that the father of the petitioner was pensioner and was previously in the employment of the State government and this Court is not convinced by the Statement made by the petitioner that he was supported only by his mother. It has been admitted by him that his parents had not been divorced and they were living together till the death of the mother of the petitioner and there is no material available on record to indicate that the petitioner was supported solely by his mother and there is no evidence available that they were living separately .

20. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of V. Sivamurthy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh and others, 2008 13 SCC 730 has summarized the principles relating to compassionate appointment as follows:-

"9. The principles relating to compassionate appointments may be summarized thus :

(a) Compassionate appointment based only on descent is impermissible. Appointments in public service should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and comparative merit, having regard to Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Though no other mode of appointment is permissible, appointments on compassionate grounds are well recognised exception to the said general rule, carved out in the interest of justice to meet certain contingencies.

(b) Two well recognized contingencies which are carved out as exceptions to the general rule are :

(i) appointment on compassionate grounds to meet the sudden crisis occurring in a family on account of the death of the bread-winner while in service.

(ii) appointment on compassionate ground to meet the crisis in a family on account of medical invalidation of the bread winner.

Another contingency, though less recognized, is where land holders lose their entire land for a public project, the scheme provides for compassionate appointment to members of the families of project affected persons. (Particularly where the law under which the acquisition is made does provide for market value and solatium, as compensation).

(c) Compassionate appointment can neither be claimed, nor be granted, unless the rules governing the service permit such appointments. Such appointments shall be strictly in accordance with the scheme governing such appointments and against existing vacancies.

(d) Compassionate appointments are permissible only in the case of a dependant member of family of the employee concerned, that is spouse, son or daughter and not other relatives. Such appointments should be only to posts in the lower category, that is, class III and IV posts and the crises cannot be permitted to be converted into a boon by seeking employment in Class I or II posts."

21. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of State of Karnataka Vs. Appa Balu Ingale, 1995 Supp. (4) SCC 469 has held as under:-

"Judge must be a jurist endowing with the legislator's wisdom, historian's search for truth, prophet's vision, capacity to respond to the needs of the present, resilience to cope with the demands of the future and to decide objectively disengaging himself/herself from every personal influence or predilictions. Therefore, the Judges would adopt purposive interpretation of the dynamic concepts of the Constitution and the Act with its interpretative armoury to articulate the felt necessities of the time."

22. The Court has also considered the fact that appointment on the ground of descent is violative of the constitutional provisions and specifically barred under Article 16 of the Constitution of India and it is only exception carved out the said Rules the appointment is given on compassionate grounds and consequently the Court was of the opinion that the Rules have to be strictly construed. This Court is of the considered view that Rule 5 which provides for ineligibility for appointment on compassionate grounds for certain category of the persons and the case of the petitioner clearly falls under the exclusionary clause provided under Rule 5 and consequently no benefit of the same can be given to the petitioner. In case any interpretation where the benefit is granted to the petitioner, then it would run clearly contrary to the specific mandate provided in Rule 5 of Rules, 1974 and consequently such a direction cannot be given by this Court in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.Though the word used in Rule 5 of Rule of 1974 that the spouse should not be "employed under Central or State Government" but will not only include persons who are in employment at the time of death of the Government Servant but also persons who have retired or "were in employment of Central or State Government".

23. The benefit of employment on compassionate ground is available to a limited section of persons who are specifically included in the Rule of 1974. The purpose of grant of appointment has been clearly culled by various judgments of the Supreme Court and such appointment is provided to prevent destitution. Though the mother of the petitioner working in government service died in harness, but her husband was also on in government service in the Labour Department and had retired prior to death of his wife. After the retirement he is receiving pension.

24. This court is of the considered view that if the spouse of the deceased government servant is receiving pension then it cannot be said that the family would fall into destitution as the pensioner father can very well take care of the petitioner, and hence he cannot claim benefit of compassionate appointment under Rule of 1974, and his claim would be deemed to be included in Rule 5 of Rule of 1974

25. In light of the above and specially considering the fact that a specific provisions under said rules, dis-entitles the petitioner for appointment under Rules, 1974, no such direction sought by the petitioner can be granted.

26. In the aforesaid circumstances, this Court is of the consider view that in Rule 5 of Rules, 1974 even if one of the spouse was in previous employment of the State government , then the legal heir would not be eligible for grant of compassionate appointment and consequently this Court does not find any infirmity in the impugned order dated order 23.08.2022 and consequently the writ petition bereft of merits and is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard Sri Madhur Kant Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, and Sri Bireshwar Nath, learned counsel, assisted by Sri R.K. Singh Raj, learned counsel for respondents no.2 and 3.

2. Instant petition has been filed praying for the following main reliefs:-

"(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorary quashing the order passed by opposite party no.1 dated 23.09.2009 contained in Annexure No.1 in P.A. Case No.1/2004 "Buddhi Lal and another vs. Babulal Chawdhary", rejecting the application moved by the petitioner under Section 29 of U.P. Act 13 of 1972 of the writ petition.

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties to allow reconstruction of the tenement in dispute within the stipulated and reasonable time granted by this Hon'ble Court."

3. The case set forth by the petitioner is that in the year 2004 an application under Section 21 of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act, 1972') was filed by respondent/landlord before the Prescribed Authority praying for release of two shops under tenancy of the petitioner. The said application was registered as P.A. No.1 of 2004. Written statement was filed by the petitioner. It is contended that a civil suit was also filed by the petitioner for permanent injunction in which a stay order was granted on 01.03.2004, a copy of which is Annexure-4 to the petition. However, despite existence of the said interim order both the shops were demolished by the respondent/landlord. The petitioner claims to have lodged a first information report on 01.08.2005 against the respondent/landlord but in a petition filed by the landlord, a stay order was granted by this Court whereby the arrest of the respondent/landlord was stayed. Subsequently a charge sheet was filed in the said criminal case in which again the landlord/respondent is said to have approached this Court in which certain orders were passed.

4. Be that as it may, an application was filed by the petitioner under Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 on 06.08.2005, a copy of which is Annexure-6 to the petition. The said application was filed in the pending application under Section 21 of the Act, 1972 filed by the respondent/landlord namely case P.A. No.1 of 2004. The prayer in the said application was for a direction to be issued to the landlord/respondent to reconstruct the shops under tenancy of the tenant or to permit the tenant to reconstruct the shops. The landlord filed his objections to the said application and the learned court below vide impugned order dated 23.09.2009, a copy of which is Annexure-1 to the petition, rejected the application. Being aggrieved, instant petition has been filed.

5. The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that when the aforesaid case under Section 21 of the Act, 1972 was filed and there was a stay order that had been granted by the Civil Court in favour of the petitioner in the suit for permanent injunction filed by him as such in order to frustrate the said stay order the shops were got demolished by the respondent/landlord. As the said shops had been demolished during the pendency of the aforesaid application before the Prescribed Authority as such an application under Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 was filed. He contends that once a mischief was sought to be created by the landlord/respondent in the matter inasmuch as the shops in dispute were themselves demolished by the landlord/respondent for which a first information report was lodged as such it was in the fitness of things that the Prescribed Authority should have allowed the said application and should have either directed the landlord/respondent herein to reconstruct the shops or in the alternative to have permitted the petitioner to reconstruct the said shops. He contends that the said application has been rejected by the Prescribed Authority vide impugned order dated 23.09.2009 primarily on two grounds namely (a) in the Commissioner's report which has been called for it emerges that the shops were demolished on account of being an encroachment, and (b) that an application under Section 29 of the Act, 1972 should have been filed separately.

6. So far as ground (a) is concerned, it is contended that nowhere in the Commissioner's report, a copy of which has been filed as Annexure -12 to the petition, it comes out that the shops were demolished on account of being an encroachment. So far as ground (b) is concerned, it is contended that there is no provision for filing of a separate application, as such, the court below has patently erred in rejecting the said application.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 to contend that an application in such circumstances would be perfectly maintainable before the Prescribed Authority and as such the learned court below has patently erred in law in rejecting the said application. In support of his argument, reliance has been placed on the judgments of the Apex Court in the cases of M.S. Grewal and another vs. Deep Chand Sood and others-AIR 2001 SC 3660, The State of Punjab and another vs. Shamlal Murari and another-AIR 1976 SC 1177, and M/s Shaha Ratansi Khimji and sons vs. Proposed Kumbhar sons Hotel P. Ltd. and others - AIR 2014 SC 2895.

8. No other argument has been raised.

9. On the other hand, Sri Bireshwar Nath, learned counsel appearing for respondent no.2 and 3, assisted by Sri R.K. Singh Raj, on the basis of averments contained in the counter affidavit argues that as the said shops in tenancy of the petitioner were an encroachment as such the Nagar Panchayat had published a public notice on 03.06.2005, a copy of which is Annexure CA-2 to the counter affidavit and thereafter had demolished the said encroachment. It is also contended that in the first information report that had been lodged by the petitioner a final report has been submitted on 13.06.2006, a copy of which is Annexure CA-3 to the counter affidavit, from a perusal of which it emerges that the Investigating Officer has recorded that there was an encroachment which has been removed by the authorities concerned and that the petitioner, for the purpose of getting insurance claim, has lodged the first information report. He also argues that the Act, 1972 provides for filing of a separate application and as such there is no infirmity in the order passed by the Prescribed Authority.

10. Responding to the same, learned counsel for the petitioner contends that he has filed a rejoinder affidavit as well as supplementary affidavit dated 28.03.2009 whereby he had brought on record that after the aforesaid final report had been submitted by the authorities, the petitioner had filed his protest application and thereafter the respondents/landlord had been summoned against which they had approached this Court by filing an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No.2360 of 2009 in re: Mahadev Prasad vs. State of U.P. and others and this Court has passed an order on 10.04.2017, a copy of which is Annexure SA-1 to the supplementary affidavit. Placing reliance on the certificate dated 31.03.2006, which has been issued by the Nagar Panchayat, Bachhrawan, a copy of which is Annexure-10 to the petition, learned counsel for the petitioner contends that Nagar Panchayat has itself indicated that no house or building was demolished in the encroachment drive conducted by them. He thus contends that it is apparent that the said shops were demolished by the landlord/respondents themselves and not by the Nagar Panchayat.

11. Heard learned counsel for the contesting parties and perused the records.

12. From the arguments as raised by the learned counsel for the contesting parties and perusal of the record, it emerges that an application under Section 21 of the Act, 1972 was filed in the year 2004 by the respondents/landlord which was registered as PA No.1 of 2004. The case was filed before the Prescribed Authority praying for release of two shops under the tenancy of the petitioner herein. During pendency of the aforesaid case itself, the petitioner claims to have filed a civil suit for permanent injunction against the landlord/respondents in which an interim injunction was granted on 01.03.2004. During pendency of the case before the Prescribed Authority, the shops were demolished. There is a dispute as to whether the shops were demolished by the Nagar Panchayat or by the landlord/respondents themselves inasmuch as the petitioner claims that the same were demolished by the landlord while placing reliance on the certificate issued by the Nagar Panchayat while at the same time the contention of landlord/respondents is that they were demolished on account of demolition drive that had been carried out by the Nagar Panchayat which is apparent from a perusal of the Final Report submitted by the Investigating Officer dated 13.06.2006. However, as the same is a disputed question and the proceedings are still pending before the Prescribed Authority, the Court is not going into that aspect of the matter and the same may also not be relevant considering the discussion on ground (b).

13. After the shops were demolished, the petitioner filed an application under Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 praying for a direction to be issued to the landlord/respondents to either have the shops reconstructed or a permission be granted to the petitioner for reconstruction of the said shops. The application has been rejected by the Prescribed Authority vide impugned order dated 23.09.2009 on two grounds as have already been enumerated above.

14. So far as the ground (a) is concerned, as already indicated above, as the proceedings are still pending before the Prescribed Authority the Court is not going into that aspect of the matter as the discussion may not be relevant considering the discussion on ground (b).

15. So far as ground (b) is concerned namely that an application under Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 was not maintainable and the petitioner should have filed a separate application, for the said purpose, the Court would have to consider the provisions of Section 29-A read with Sections 29, 28 and 26 of the Act, 1972.

16. For the sake of convenience, Section 26 of the Act, 1972 is reproduced as under:-

"26. Certain obligations of the landlord and tenant-- (1) No landlord shall without lawful authority or excuse cut off, withhold or reduce any of the amenities enjoyed by the tenant.

(2) The landlord shall be bound to keep the building under tenancy windproof and waterproof and, subject to any contract in writing to the contrary, carry out periodical whitewashing and repairs.

(3) Subject to any contract in writing to the contrary, no tenant shall, whether during the continuance of the tenancy or after its determination, demolish any improvement effected by him in the building or remove any material used in such improvement, other than any fixtures of a movable nature.

1[Explanation. The expression material used in such improvement includes the writing of an electrical fitting or a pipe pertaining to any water connection.]

(4) The landlord shall give to the tenant a receipt for rent payable to and received by him."

Section 28 of the Act, 1972 reads as under:-

"28. Enforcement of landlord's obligation regarding repairs, etc. - (1) If the landlord fails to carry out whitewashing or repairs as required by sub-section (2) of Section 26, the tenant may, by notice in writing, call upon him to carry out the same within one month from the date of service of such notice.

(2) Where the cost of the requisite whitewashing or repairs is likely to exceed the amount of 2[two months' rent] in a year, then the tenant in his notice shall also intimate to the landlord his willingness to pay enhanced rent in accordance with the provisions of Section 6:

(3) If the landlord fails to comply with the notice, the tenant may himself carry out the whitewashing or repairs at a cost not exceeding 4[two months' rent] in a year and deduct the amount from the rent, and in any such case he shall furnish the account of the expenditure incurred to the landlord.

(4) Where the tenant claims that the building requires whitewashing or repairs to such extent that the cost thereof is likely to exceed the amount of 1[two months' rent] in a year, hereinafter in this section referred to as major repairs , and the landlord either declines his responsibility to carry out the same or fails to comply with the notice, the tenant may apply to the prescribed authority for an order under sub-section (5).

(5) The prescribed authority on receiving an application under sub-section (4) may, after giving an opportunity of hearing to the parties

(a) either reject the application; or

(b) require the landlord to carry out the requisite major repairs within such period as may be specified in the order, and on his failure to do so, permit the tenant to carry out those repairs at a cost not exceeding such amount (which shall not be more than the amount of two years' rent) and within such period as may be specified in the order.

(6) Where in pursuance of an order under sub-section (5) any major repairs are carried out by the tenant, he shall furnish an account of the expenditure to the prescribed authority, which shall certify the amount recoverable by the tenant, and thereupon such amount, unless paid or otherwise adjusted by the landlord, may be deducted by the tenant from the rent in monthly instalments not exceeding twenty-five per cent of one month's rent, and in any such case, the enhancement of rent under Section 6 shall come into effect only from the month following the month in which the cost is fully recovered by the tenant.

(7)- No appeal or revision shall lie from any order of the prescribed authority under sub-section (5) or sub-section (6), which shall be final."

Section 29 of the Act, 1972 reads as under:-

"29. Special protection to tenants of buildings destroyed by collective disturbances, etc. (1) Where in consequence of the commission of mischief or any other offence in the course of collective disturbances, any building under tenancy is wholly or partly destroyed, the tenant shall have the right to re-erect it wholly or partly, as the case may be, at his own expenses within a period of six months from such injury:

Provided that if such injury was occasioned by the wrongful act or default of the tenant he shall not be entitled to avail himself of the benefit of this provision.

(2) Where in consequence of fire, tempest, flood or excessive rainfall, any building under tenancy is wholly or partly destroyed the tenant shall have the right to re-erect or repair it wholly or partly, as the case may be, at his own expense after giving a notice in writing to the landlord within a period of one month from such injury:

Provided that the tenant shall not be entitled to avail himself of the benefit of this provision

(a) if such injury was occasioned by his own wrongful act or default; or

(b) in respect of any re-erection or repair made before he has given a notice as aforesaid to the landlord or before the expiration of a period of fifteen days after such notice, or if the landlord in the meantime makes an application under Section 21, before the disposal of such application; or

(c) in respect of any re-erection or repair made after the expiration of a period of six months from such injury or, if the landlord has made any application as aforesaid, from the disposal thereof.

(3) Where the tenant, before the commencement of this Act, has made any re-erection or repair in exercise of his rights under Section 19 of the old Act, or after the commencement of this Act makes any re-erection in the exercise of his right under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2),

(a) the property so re-erected or repaired shall be comprised in the tenancy;

(b) the tenant shall not be entitled, whether during the tenancy or after its determination, to demolish the property or parts so erected or repaired or to remove any material used therein other than any fixtures of a movable nature;

(c) Notwithstanding, anything contained in sub-section (2) of Section 2, the provisions of this Act shall apply to the building so re-erected:

Provided that no application shall be maintainable under Section 21 in respect of any such building on the ground mentioned in clause (b) of sub-section (1) thereof within a period of three years from the completion of such re-erection."

Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 reads as under:

"29-A. Protection against eviction to certain classes of tenants of land on which building exists. (1)- For the purposes of this section, the expressions tenant and landlord shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clauses (a) and (j) of Section 3 with the substitution of the word land for the word building .*

(2) This section applies only to land let out, either before or after the commencement of this section, where the tenant, with the landlord's consent has erected any permanent structure and incurred expenses in execution thereof.

(3) Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained in this section, the provisions of Section 20 shall apply in relation to any land referred to in sub-section (2) as they apply in relation to any building.

(4) The tenant of any land to which this section applies shall be liable to pay to the landlord such rent as may be mutually agreed upon between the parties, and in the absence of agreement, the rent determined in accordance with sub-section (5).

(5) The District Magistrate shall on the application of the landlord or the tenant determine the annual rent payable in respect of such land at the rate of ten per cent per annum of the prevailing market value of the land, and such rent shall be payable, except as provided in subsection (6) from the date of expiration of the term for which the land was let or from the commencement of this section, whichever is later.

(6)(a) In any suit or appeal or other proceeding pending immediately before the date of commencement of this section, no decree for eviction of a tenant from any land to which this section applies, shall be passed or executed except on one or more of the grounds mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 20, provided the tenant, within a period of three months from the commencement of this section by an application to the court, unconditionally offers to pay to the landlord, the enhanced rent of the land for the entire period in suit and onwards at the rate of ten per cent per annum of the prevailing market value of the land together with costs of the suit (including costs of any appeal or of any execution or other proceedings).

(b) In every such case, the enhanced rent shall, notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (5), be determined by the court seized of the case at any stage.

(c) Upon payment against a receipt duly signed by the plaintiff or decree-holder or his counsel or deposit in court of such enhanced rent with costs as aforesaid being made by the tenant within such time as the court may fix in this behalf, the court shall dismiss the suit, or, as the case may be, discharge the decree for eviction, and the tenancy thereafter, shall continue annually on the basis of the rent so enhanced.

(d) If the tenant fails to pay the said amount within the time so fixed (including any extended time, if any, that the court may fix or for sufficient cause allow) the court shall proceed further in the case as if the foregoing provisions of this section were not in force.

(7) The provisions of this section shall have effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any contract or instrument or in any other law for the time being in force.

Explanation. For the purposes of sub-section (6) where a case has been decided against a tenant by one court and the limitation for an appeal therefrom has not expired on the date immediately before the commencement of this section, this section shall apply as it applies to pending proceedings and the tenant may apply to that court for a review of the judgment in accordance with the provisions of this section."

17. From perusal of Section 26 of the Act, 1972 it emerges that there are certain obligations of the landlord and tenant per which no landlord shall withhold or reduce any of the amenities enjoyed by the tenant; the landlord is bound to keep the building under tenancy windproof and waterproof and, subject to any contract in writing to the contrary, carry out periodical whitewashing and repairs.

18. Section 28 of the Act, 1972 provides for enforcement of landlord's obligations regarding repairs i.e. if the landlord fails to carryout whitewashing or repairs as required by sub-section (2) of Section 26 of the Act, 1972, the tenant may, by notice in writing, call upon him to carry out the same within one month from the date of service of such notice and where the cost of the whitewashing or repairs is likely to exceed a certain amount, then the tenant, in his notice, shall also intimate to the landlord his willingness to pay enhanced rent. Where the landlord fails to comply with the notice, the tenant may himself carry out the whitewashing or repairs at a certain cost and deduct the amount from the rent. In case of major repairs if the landlord declines to carryout the same or fails to comply with the notice the tenant may apply to the Prescribed Authority for an order under sub-section (5). The Prescribed Authority on receiving an application under sub-section (4) of this Section i.e. for carrying out major repairs may either reject the application or require the landlord to carryout requisite major repairs within such period as may be specified in the order or permit the tenant to carry out such repairs

19. Section 29 of the Act, 1972 gives special protection to tenants of buildings destroyed by collective disturbances i.e where in consequence of the commission of mischief or any other offence, in the course of collective disturbances, any building under tenancy is wholly or partly destroyed, the tenant shall have a right to re-erect it wholly or partly at his own expense within a period of six months from such injury. However, in case of fire, tempest, flood or excessive rainfall if a building under tenancy is wholly or partly destroyed the tenant shall have the right to re-erect or repair it wholly or partly at his own expense after giving a notice in writing to the landlord within one month from such injury.

20. Section 29-A of the Act, 1972, gives protection against eviction to certain classes of tenants of land on which building exists. The said provision of law gives the liability of the tenant to pay the landlord such rent as may be mutually agreed upon between the parties or in the absence thereto the rent determined in accordance with sub-section (5). The said Section also provides for the liability of the tenant upon failure to pay the amount.

21. Thus, from a perusal of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972, it is clearly apparent that in case of demolition of a building under tenancy, no application can be filed by the tenant praying for direction to the landlord for reconstruction of the building or for the tenant to be granted permission to carryout reconstruction. Thus, it is apparent that once Section 29-A of the Act, 1972, itself does not provide for filing of an application for re-building of a demolished building under tenancy consequently the application filed by the petitioner under the provisions of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 was clearly not maintainable and as such there is no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned dated 23.09.2009.

21. Even if the provisions of Section 28 read with Section 26 of the Act, 1972 are considered and the word 'repair' as indicated in Section 28 of the Act, 1972 is seen in the context of Section 26 of the Act, 1972, the said 'repairs' as used in Section 28 of the Act, 1972 would only be confined to the provisions of Section 26(2) of the Act, 1972 whereby the landlord is required to keep the building under tenancy windproof and waterproof and, subject to any contract in writing to the contrary, carry out periodical whitewashing and repairs. It is not the case in the present matter that the landlord had failed to carry out any whitewashing, repairs or had failed to keep the shops under tenancy windproof or waterproof rather the shops itself have been allegedly demolished.

22. Incidentally, the Apex Court in the case of Trust Jama Masjid Waqf No.31 vs. Lakshmi Talkies and others - (2010) 9 SCC 78 while considering the provisions of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 has held that for applicability of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972, two conditions must be satisfied namely (i) that the land alone has been let out, and (ii) that permanent structure has been constructed by the tenant with landlord's consent incurring his own expenses.

23. In the instant case, it is not the case of the petitioner that the two conditions were fulfilled namely that it is only the land that had been let out to the tenant/petitioner rather from the facts on record, it clearly emerges that two shops were let out to the petitioner. Further it is not the case of the petitioner that the shops were constructed by the tenant/petitioner with the landlord's consent incurring his own expenses. Consequently, the provisions of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 are clearly not applicable upon the tenant/petitioner in the facts of the instant case.

24. So far as the judgments, as have been referred by the learned counsel for the petitioner are concerned, none of the judgments deal with the provisions of Section 29-A of the Act, 1972 and thus have no applicability in the facts of the case already enumerated above.

25. Keeping in view the aforesaid discussion, no case for interference is made out. Accordingly, the petition is dismissed.

First Appeal From Order No. 1140 of 2014

The New India Assurance Co. Ltd., Civil Lines, Allahabad & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
Smt. Lajjawati & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Rahul Sahi

Counsel for the Respondents:

Ms. Kamini Pandey, Sri Anand Pandey

A. Civil Law - Tort - Motor Accident claim - Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 173 - Enhancement of compensation - Just Compensation - Issue - whether on an appeal by the insurer, compensation to be awarded, can be enhanced without there being a cross-appeal or objection preferred by the claimant ? - Held - It is well-settled that in the matter of insurance claim compensation in reference to the motor accident, the court should not take hyper technical approach and ensure that just compensation is awarded to the affected person or the claimants - High Court can enhance the compensation awarded by the Tribunal even in the absence of a cross-objection or an appeal preferred by the claimants - In the instant case in appeal by the Insurance Company, challenging an award of the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal High Court enhanced compensation awarded. (Para 24)

B. Tort - Motor Accident claim - Appreciation of Evidence - Interested Witness - Credibility - Submission of Insurer that Tribunal's finding is primarily based on the testimony of, PW-2, who claims to be an eye-witness of the accident, was also employed in the same department as the deceased and, therefore, the Tribunal ought not to have accepted his testimony - Held - submission of the insurer that the testimony of PW-2 is unreliable for the reason that he is an employee of the same department as the deceased, is utterly unacceptable - There is no principle of law or one of prudence by which in a case of tort, like a motor accident, a fellow employee of the victim, serving the same department, is to be doubted for his word, about the circumstances attending the accident. (Para 18)

C. Motor Accident claim - Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 173 - Determination of Compensation - Age - Insurer argued that the age of the deceased has been wrongly determined by the Tribunal at 54 years, going by the entry in his service record - In her testimony PW-1 stated that she got married in 1974, at which time her husband was 20 years old - accident occurred in 2011, therefore as per arithmetic calculations deceased age would have been 57 years - Held - best evidence about the deceased's age is the entry in his service-book - in the postmortem report, the age of the deceased has been estimated to be 55 years, which supports the age recorded in his service book - PW-1 in her cross-examination said that she does not know her husband's date of birth - deceased's recorded date of birth in his service record, much corroborated by the medico-legal evidence, cannot be disbelieved. (Para 22, 23)

D. Motor Accident claim - Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 173 - Determination of Compensation - Income - No deduction of Compensatory Allowances - Every allowance, that the deceased receives towards his remuneration, would count as his income - All that can be deducted is whatever goes out of the deceased's hands as levies of the State, like income tax or any sum of money, that would not enure to his benefit, if he were alive - deductions made as contributions to funds etc. are not liable to be deducted from the deceased's income - allowances and perquisites received by an employee during service not to be deducted from his annual income while working out the claimants' dependency i.e. HRA (House Rent Allowance), CCA (City Compensatory Allowance) and medical allowance should be taken into consideration in calculation of the income of the deceased - However, deduction towards EPF and GIS should also not have been made in calculating the income of the deceased - Tribunal deducted whatever the deceased received towards CCA and MCA, during the year, from his annual income - That deduction ordered by the Tribunal, not at all justified - Tribunal erred in deducting a sum of 6,600/- from the annual income of the deceased. (Para 27, 28, 29)

E. (Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

This is an appeal by the Insurance Company, challenging an award of the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/ the Additional District Judge, Court No.9, Mathura dated 09.01.2014, awarding compensation to the claimant-respondents, on account of a fatal motor accident, where one Heera Singh Chaudhary lost his life.

2. The facts giving rise to this appeal are thus:

According to the claimant-respondents, who are respondent nos.1 to 5 to this appeal and shall hereinafter be called 'the claimants', Heera Singh Chaudhary was a Junior Engineer with the Department of Irrigation, Government of U.P. posted at Etah. On 04.09.2011 for the purpose of tail-feed work, he was supervising the removal of shrubs, garbage etc., blocking water passage under the culvert, situate at the Khitauli Turn on the Amapur-Sahwar Road, Etah. At about 2:30 p.m., a truck bearing Registration No. UP-80F-9381, driven negligently and at a high speed, approached from the Etah side. It hit Heera Singh Chaudhary and ran him over. In consequence, Heera Singh Chaudhary sustained grievous injuries and was conveyed for medical aid to the Sahwar Hospital, but declared dead by the doctors there. His dead body was subjected to autopsy at Etah. Since the accident had occurred within the local limits of Police Station Sahwar, District Kashiram Nagar, Case Crime No. 323 of 2011, under Sections 279, 337, 338, 304A IPC, was registered there.

3. It is the claimants' further case that the deceased Heera Singh Chaudhary was an able bodied and healthy man. He was employed with the Department of Irrigation as a Junior Engineer. He was drawing a monthly salary of ₹52,041/-, which was the source of livelihood for the family. The entire family, that is to say, the claimants, who are dependents of Heera Singh Chaudhary, have plunged into a financial crisis and their future turned bleak. Accordingly, the claimants have preferred the present claim.

4. It is further pleaded that the accident occurred on account of the offending vehicle being driven at a high speed and negligently by its driver, Kaptan Singh, opposite party no.1 to the claim petition and respondent no.7 here. He shall hereinafter be called 'the driver'. Smt. Mithilesh Kumari, opposite party no.2 to the claim petition, was the registered owner of the offending vehicle at the time of the accident. She is respondent no.6 to this appeal. She will hereinafter be called 'the owner'.

5. The offending truck was insured with the New India Assurance Company Limited, Saukh Adda, Mathura through its Branch Manager (hereinafter referred to as "the insurers') under a policy valid from 22.01.2011 to 21.01.2012. It is the claimants' case that they are entitled to a total compensation of ₹65 lakhs, together with interest @ 12% per annum on account of the fatal motor accident, payable by the opposite parties to the claim petition, that is to say, the owner, the insurers and the driver, jointly and severally.

6. The claimants, accordingly, instituted the claim petition under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short, 'the Act') before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/ District Judge, Mathura as they are residents of Mathura, a fact on account of which the Tribunal at Mathura had territorial jurisdiction.

7. The Insurers put in a written statement, denying the allegations in the claim petition and by way of additional pleas, came up with a case that they are not the insurers of the offending vehicle bearing Registration No. UP-80F-9381, unless the original policy was produced. It was further pleaded that in case the existence of the policy were confirmed, the insurers reserve their rights to file an additional written statement. It was also pleaded that the claim petition was bad on account of copies of the FIR, the Postmortem Report, the Site-plan, the charge-sheet, the technical report etc. not being presented along with the claim petition. The insurers further denied the fact that the offending vehicle was involved in the accident and put the claimants to strict proof of the fact. It was also pleaded that it was expected of the owner and the driver that they would produce the route-permit, the Driving Licence, the Fitness Certificate, Registration Certificate etc. and prove these, and that in the absence of these documents being produced and proved, the claimants had no right to recover from the insurers. It is the insurers' further case that the owner and the driver have violated the terms of the policy. There is a further plea that the driver of the offending vehicle did not hit the deceased Heera Singh Chaudhary and that the said vehicle has been involved in the accident without basis. The further plea is that the FIR lodged by the deceased's wife is wrong and the insurers deny the accident. It was also the insurers' case that the entire fault/ negligence was that of the deceased, Heera Singh Chaudhary and the insurers are not liable to compensate on that account. Moreover, the compensation demanded was inflated and exaggerated.

8. The owner filed a separate written statement and did a wholesome denial of the claimants' case. In the additional pleas, it was urged that neither the offending vehicle operated by the driver was involved in the accident, that happened on 04.09.2011 at 2:30 p.m. at Khitauli Canal Bridge, P.S. Shahwar, District Kashiram Nagar, nor the deceased Heera Singh Chaudhary sustained injury in consequence of the accident, caused by the offending vehicle. It was pleaded that without prejudice to the owner's case that the accident never happened involving the offending vehicle, there was no rash or negligent operation by the driver. The owner further pleaded that the claimants' case that the deceased was aged 54 years or that he was a Junior Engineer with the Department of Irrigation, earning a sum of ₹52,041/- per month was wrong, false and concocted. The compensation claimed was not at all due and burden lay entirely upon the claimants to establish the facts. The owner further pleaded that the claimants were not dependents of the deceased nor his legal representatives. The owner was not liable to pay any compensation, as claimed. The petition was not properly drawn up, verified or presented. It was not maintainable. The claimants had not filed the necessary papers, that were mandatory under the Motor Vehicle Rules, entitling them to maintain the claim petition. The further plea was that the owner had, for the offending vehicle on the date of accident, a Registration Certificate, a valid insurance, Fitness Certificate, route-permit, a paid up tax etc. The driver had a valid driving licence to operate the offending vehicle bearing Licence No. RT4396/ Aligarh/ 85, valid from 01.12.2008 to 30.11.2011 and 31.03.2012 to 30.03.2015. The licence was further endorsed as LMV (P.E.) + HGV (P.E.) and that it was in force on the date of accident. The offending vehicle on the date of accident, was insured by the insurers vide Policy No. 3213231100200006364, valid from 22.01.2011 to 21.01.2012, offering a comprehensive cover. In substance, therefore, the liability, if any, lay on the shoulders of the insurers.

9. The driver did not appear to contest the claim petition nor did he file a written statement.

10. Upon the pleadings of parties, the following issues were framed (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether on 04.09.2011 at 2:30 p.m. when Heera Singh Chaudhary for the purpose of tail-feed work, was supervising clearance of shrubs and garbage under the culvert, located at the Khitauli Turn on the Amapur-Shahwar Road, a truck bearing (Registration) No. UP-80F-9381 approaching from the side of Etah, driven negligently at a high speed, hit Heera Singh Chaudhary, the front wheel running him over and causing his death?

(2) Whether on the date of accident, the driver of the truck bearing (Registration) No. UP-80F-9381, held a valid and effective driving licence?

(3) Whether on the date of accident, truck bearing (Registration) No. UP-80F-9381, was insured with opposite party no.1, the New India Insurance Company (sic) Assurance Company Limited?

(4) Whether the petitioners were entitled to any relief from the opposite parties? If yes, how much and from which opposite party?

11. The documentary evidence led on behalf of the claimants has been listed in the judgment of the Tribunal and no useful purpose would be served by a repetition thereof. However, the relevant documents would be referred to wherever appropriate during course of this judgment. The claimants examined Smt. Lajjawati, the deceased's widow as PW-1, one Mausam Ali (an eye-witness) as PW-2 and Pratap Singh Chauhan, a Senior Clerk in the Department of Irrigation, Etah as PW-3.

12. The opposite parties put in, by way of documentary evidence, a photostat copy of the insurance policy, the driver's driving licence, a photostat copy of the registration certificate, a photostat copy of the goods permit, a copy of the fitness certificate, Paper No. 17ग/5. No oral evidence was produced on behalf of any of the opposite parties before the Tribunal.

13. Heard Mr. Rahul Sahai, learned Counsel for the insurers, Ms. Kamini Pandey, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of claimants and perused the record. No one appears on behalf of the owner.

14. Mr. Rahul Sahai, learned Counsel for the insurers has urged that the Tribunal has gone wrong in holding that negligence of the driver was proved. He submits that the Tribunal's finding is primarily based on the testimony of one Mausam Ali, PW-2, who claims to be an eye-witness of the accident. It is urged that the eye-witness was also employed in the same department as the deceased and, therefore, the Tribunal ought not to have accepted his testimony without due caution. It is also urged that at the time of the accident, PW-2 was looking in the opposite direction and, therefore, his testimony is of no significance about the involvement or the negligence of the offending vehicle. It is also said in criticism of the Tribunal's judgment by Mr. Sahai that it is a settled proposition of the law that the factum of negligence is a sine qua non for a claim under Section 166 of the Act to succeed. In a very candid stance on behalf of the insurer, the learned Counsel says that the testimony of PW-2 may have some relevance, so far as the factum of accident and involvement of the offending vehicle is concerned, but his testimony would not be relevant insofar as the issue of negligence goes. It is emphasized that PW-2 was facing the other side and the accident took place with his back to the mishap. As such, negligence cannot be said to be duly proved.

15. It is next submitted that apart from these factors, extrinsic to the testimony of the witness that have bearing upon it, the testimony of PW-2 does not inspire confidence. It is emphasized that the witness has stated that he was standing under the culvert, whereas the deceased was standing over it. The evidence of PW-2, therefore, cannot be relied upon, insofar as the offending vehicle's negligence is concerned. Reliance in this connection has been placed upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Meena Variyal and others, (2007) 5 SCC 428. In Meena Variyal (supra), it has been held:

27. We think that the law laid down in Minu B. Mehta v. Balkrishna Ramchandra Nayan [(1977) 2 SCC 441 : (1977) 2 SCR 886] was accepted by the legislature while enacting the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 by introducing Section 163-A of the Act providing for payment of compensation notwithstanding anything contained in the Act or in any other law for the time being in force that the owner of a motor vehicle or the authorised insurer shall be liable to pay in the case of death or permanent disablement due to accident arising out of the use of the motor vehicle, compensation, as indicated in the Second Schedule, to the legal heirs or the victim, as the case may be, and in a claim made under sub-section (1) of Section 163-A of the Act, the claimant shall not be required to plead or establish that the death or permanent disablement in respect of which the claim has been made was due to any wrongful act or neglect or default of the owner of the vehicle concerned. Therefore, the victim of an accident or his dependants have an option either to proceed under Section 166 of the Act or under Section 163-A of the Act. Once they approach the Tribunal under Section 166 of the Act, they have necessarily to take upon themselves the burden of establishing the negligence of the driver or owner of the vehicle concerned. But if they proceed under Section 163-A of the Act, the compensation will be awarded in terms of the Schedule without calling upon the victim or his dependants to establish any negligence or default on the part of the owner of the vehicle or the driver of the vehicle.

16. Reliance has further been placed on the decision of the Supreme Court in Oriental Insurance Company Limited v. Premlata Shukla and others, (2007) 13 SCC 476 and the decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Smt. Gaura Devi and others vs. Shahzad Khan and others, 2013 (1) AWC 914.

17. Ms. Kamini Pandey, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the claimants, on the other hand, submitted that the testimony of PW-2 is a clear, accurate and dependable account by an eye-witness, who was doubtlessly there at the time of the accident. The evidence of PW-2, read as a whole, clearly establishes not only the factum of accident, but the solitary negligence of the driver of the offending vehicle.

18. We have considered the submissions of the learned Counsel for parties on the issue in hand. So far as the testimony of PW-1 is concerned, it is not of any relevance, insofar as the factum of accident or the negligence of the offending vehicle goes. She is not an eye-witness. In the opinion of this Court, the proof of negligence hinges on the testimony of PW-2, Mausam Ali. It must be said at once that the submission on behalf of the insurers that the testimony of PW-2 ought to be approached with caution, almost suggesting it to be unreliable for the reason that he is an employee of the same department as the deceased, is utterly unacceptable. There is no principle of law or one of prudence by which in a case of tort, like a motor accident, a fellow employee of the victim, serving the same department, is to be doubted for his word, about the circumstances attending the accident.

19. So far as PW-2 is concerned, he is a very natural witness since he was a part of the team of employees of the Irrigation Department, detailed to the work of tail-feed being undertaken on the fateful day under the stewardship of the deceased. The said witness was part of his workforce. The witness in his cross-examination has introduced himself as a Seenchpal and has apparently denied a suggestion that he was a Mate. No doubt, he has said that his face and that of Heera Singh was not towards the road and that he did not see the offending vehicle approach, but the evidence is clear on the point that he was working at the site of accident, commanding the labour-force, at a distance of 5 feet from the spot where the deceased was standing at the time when he fell victim to the accident. The witness has clearly specified the registration number of the vehicle. He has consistently remained unwavering in his stand that it was the offending vehicle that caused the accident. In the opinion of this Court, the evidence of the witness has to be read as a whole. Contrary to what the insurers say that the witness could utter falsehood, because of some kind of an "imagined bias' for a colleague, the witness's account has the assurance of his presence on the date, time and place of accident. He was assuredly detailed to the same duty as the deceased, albeit in a different and subordinate role. His presence on the spot has the credit of Government records from the Irrigation Department. About the witness looking in another direction when the accident happened, is too slender a circumstance to believe that he would not have seen what he has said in his testimony relating to the accident and the tort committed by the offending vehicle. A man standing 5 feet away from the site of a fatal motor accident, even if he were looking the other way, would naturally become cognizant in the split of a second to look in the right direction when the mishap occurred. Quick shift of attention at a distance, as small as 5 feet, about a happening this big, is good enough to credit the witness with being a truthful witness of whatever he has said in his testimony, relating to the accident. The witness has decidedly reported the offending vehicle to be involved in the accident and said that it was the vehicle's negligence that caused the mishap that day. There is not the slightest reason to take a different view from the Tribunal on this score. In the opinion of this Court by the sound standard of preponderant probability, the negligence of the offending vehicle is well established. The authorities relied upon by Mr. Sahai, all binding for the principle that they lay down, are not attracted to the facts of this case at all for the reasons that we have indicated. It is held, accordingly.

20. The other issue is about the quantum of compensation on which learned Counsel for both parties have vied to sway this Court in favour of their stand. Mr. Sahai has argued that the age of the deceased has been wrongly determined by the Tribunal at 54 years, going by the entry in his service record. He submits that the deceased was aged 57 years at the time of accident. To the above end, learned Counsel for the insurers has drawn this Court's attention to the testimony of PW-1, where it is said that she got married in the year 1974 and at that time, her husband was aged about 20 years. It is argued that the accident happened in the year 2011 and, therefore, the arithmetical calculation would safely place the deceased's age at 57 years. It is urged that in view of the aforesaid testimony of PW-1, the deceased's wife and one of the claimants, the Tribunal ought to have ignored the deceased's date of birth recorded in the service-book. It is also argued by the learned Counsel for the insurers that in no event can this Court enhance the compensation awarded by the Tribunal in the absence of a cross-objection or an appeal preferred by the claimants. In aid of the aforesaid submission, Mr. Sahai has placed reliance upon a decision of the Supreme Court in Ranjana Prakash and others v. Divisional Manager and another, (2011) 14 SCC 639. In Ranjana Prakash (supra), it has been held:

7. This principle also flows from Order 41 Rule 33 of the Code of Civil Procedure which enables an appellate court to pass any order which ought to have been passed by the trial court and to make such further or other order as the case may require, even if the respondent had not filed any appeal or cross-objections. This power is entrusted to the appellate court to enable it to do complete justice between the parties. Order 41 Rule 33 of the Code can however be pressed into service to make the award more effective or maintain the award on other grounds or to make the other parties to litigation to share the benefits or the liability, but cannot be invoked to get a larger or higher relief. For example, where the claimants seek compensation against the owner and the insurer of the vehicle and the Tribunal makes the award only against the owner, on an appeal by the owner challenging the quantum, the appellate court can make the insurer jointly and severally liable to pay the compensation, along with the owner, even though the claimants had not challenged the non-grant of relief against the insurer. Be that as it may.

8. Where an appeal is filed challenging the quantum of compensation, irrespective of who files the appeal, the appropriate course for the High Court is to examine the facts and by applying the relevant principles, determine the just compensation. If the compensation determined by it is higher than the compensation awarded by the Tribunal, the High Court will allow the appeal, if it is by the claimants and dismiss the appeal, if it is by the owner/insurer. Similarly, if the compensation determined by the High Court is lesser than the compensation awarded by the Tribunal, the High Court will dismiss any appeal by the claimants for enhancement, but allow any appeal by the owner/insurer for reduction. The High Court cannot obviously increase the compensation in an appeal by the owner/insurer for reducing the compensation, nor can it reduce the compensation in an appeal by the claimants seeking enhancement of compensation.

21. On the other hand, Ms. Kamini Pandey, learned Counsel for the claimants has argued that the compensation has been rightly assessed, taking the deceased's age as 54 years. The deceased, according to her, was 54 years 2 months and 3 days on the date of accident. It is urged that the best evidence about the deceased's age is the entry in his service-book and there is no reason to doubt the same. It is also the claimants' contention that in the postmortem report, the age of the deceased has been estimated to be 55 years, approximately. This assessment of age for the deceased supports the record of it in his service-book. It is particularly argued that the deceased is entitled to future prospects as he was a permanent employee in government service. Reliance in support of the grant of future prospects has been placed on the decision of the Supreme Court in National Insurance Company Limited v. Pranay Sethi and others, (2017) 16 SCC 680. It is further argued that the claimants have been under-compensated under the conventional heads by the Tribunal. Learned Counsel for the claimants, in this regard, has placed reliance upon the guidance of the Supreme Court in Magma General Insurance Company Limited v. Nanu Ram alias Chuhru Ram and others, (2018) 18 SCC 130. It is submitted by Ms. Kamini Pandey that each of the claimants is entitled to compensation for loss of consortium in the sum of ₹40,000/- and the claimants are also entitled to compensation towards loss of estate and funeral expenses in the sum of ₹15,000/-, respectively.

22. As regards the compensation to be awarded, there is no difficulty in considering the plea for reduction thereof, since the appeal is one by the insurers. There is no dearth of jurisdiction with this Court to reduce the awarded compensation, provided a case is made out by the insurers. It, however, requires some consideration whether in the absence of an appeal or a cross-objection by the claimants, it is open to this Court to enhance the compensation awarded, should this Court reach a conclusion in favour of enhancing it.

23. So far as the question of reducing the compensation is concerned, this Court may say at once that the submission of the learned Counsel for the insurers that the age of the deceased is not 54 years, leading to application of a higher multiplier, is not at all acceptable. The deceased was a government servant, who had an authoritative record of his age, maintained by his employers in his service records. There is no reason to disbelieve the record of the deceased's age in his service-book. A copy of his service-book is available on record as Paper No. 29ग/3. The original of the service-book was produced before the Tribunal and the copy thereof filed was proved by PW-3, Vishnu Pratap Singh Chauhan, Senior Clerk in the office of the Executive Engineer, Irrigation Department. The service-book clearly shows the deceased's recorded date of birth as 01.07.1957. This clearly works out to the deceased being aged 54 years 2 months and 3 days on the date he died as a result of the accident. The postmortem report also estimates the deceased's age at about 55 years. This evidence is indeed enough to hold the deceased's age to be 54 years. The fact that PW-1 in her cross-examination has said that the deceased was aged 20 years at the time the witness and the deceased were married in the year 1974, cannot be relied upon to draw a different conclusion about the deceased's age. The reason is that PW-1 in her cross-examination also says that she does not know her husband's date of birth. She has also said that she also does not know her own date of birth. It is also said that her father-in-law had read up to Class-V and was not gainfully employed. Though she has said that she has read up to Class-VIII, the overall educational and socio-economic background of parties would not lead this Court to expect a very accurate account from the witness about the deceased's age on the date of the parties' marriage or even the year when the parties were married. On the basis of the estimated dates given out by PW-1, the deceased's recorded date of birth in his service record, much corroborated by the medico-legal evidence, cannot be disbelieved. The contention of the learned Counsel for the insurers on this score is, therefore, not worthy of acceptance.

24. There is no other serious contention apart from the age related variation in the applicable multiplier, urged on behalf of the insurers to reduce the awarded compensation. It is, thus, evident that no case for reducing the awarded compensation is made out. This poses the question before the Court, which Mr. Sahai has argued very vociferously, whether on an appeal by the insurer, compensation to be awarded, can be enhanced unless there be a cross-appeal or objection preferred by the claimant? This Court has already noticed the authority which the learned Counsel for the insurers has pressed in aid of the aforesaid submission with much vehemence. It is the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Ranjana Prakash. No doubt, the law laid down in Ranjana Prakash specifically holds what the learned Counsel for the insurers canvasses, but the principle there does not appear to be the ruling precedent any longer. The aforesaid change in judicial opinion is evident from the pronouncement of the three Judge Bench of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Surekha and Others v. Santosh and Others, 2020 SCC OnLine SC 1312. In Surekha (supra), it has been held:

2. This appeal takes exception to the judgment and order dated 04.01.2019 passed by the High Court of judicature at Bombay, Bench at Aurangabad in First Appeal No. 2564 of 2016, whereby the High Court, even though agreed with the stand of the appellants that just compensation amount ought to be Rs. 49,85,376/- (Forty-Nine Lakh Eighty-Five Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-Six Only), however, declined to grant enhancement merely on the ground that the appellants had failed to file cross-appeal.

3. By now, it is well-settled that in the matter of insurance claim compensation in reference to the motor accident, the court should not take hyper technical approach and ensure that just compensation is awarded to the affected person or the claimants.

25. In working out the compensation, what is essential to be reckoned is the monthly income of the deceased. There is a well proven salary certificate from the deceased's employers, who are a department of the State. The certificate is on record as Paper No. 29 - ग / 9. It shows the gross monthly income of the deceased to be a figure of ₹52,041/-. The net income has been shown as ₹44,941/- per mensem. The total deductions include GPF, GIS and GVR, all of which are in the nature of made to funds/ Group Insurance etc. The deduction to be discounted from the income is one towards income tax, which is a figure of ₹3000/- per month. There is also on record a copy of the deceased's Form-16 submitted by the employer to the Income Tax Authorities for the Assessment Year 2011-12 (corresponding to the Financial Year 2010-11). A perusal of Form-16 relating to the deceased shows that the total income tax deposited is a sum of ₹45,500/- only. The said form shows that for 11 months, a sum of ₹3000/- has been deducted at source and in the 12th month, for the Assessment Year 2011-12, a sum of ₹12,900/- has been deducted. Thus, the Tribunal has determined the income tax deduction from the deceased's annual income at a figure of ₹45,500/-. The said deduction towards income tax is unexceptionable.

26. The Tribunal has worked out the compensation on the basis of a gross month salary of ₹52,041/-. This figure has been made the foundation to determine the annual income of the deceased at a figure of ₹6,55,065/-. From the said sum of money, income tax has been deducted.

27. Now, from the said annual income of the deceased, the Tribunal has deducted a sum of ₹45,500/- towards income tax, which meets our approval, as already said. But, in addition to the deduction from the annual income on account of income tax, the Tribunal has further deducted a sum of ₹550/- per month, that is to say, a sum of ₹6,600/- for the year. This deduction has been made on the basis that the deceased was receiving a sum of ₹200/- per month towards City Compensatory Allowance (CCA) and a sum of ₹350/- per month towards MCA. The monthly sum of CCA and MCA works out to ₹550/- and adds up to an annual figure of ₹6,600/-. The Tribunal has been of opinion that these allowances are payments personally received by the deceased, that he would be utilizing during service. Since these sums would have been utilized by the deceased, the Tribunal has thought it proper to deduct whatever the deceased received towards CCA and MCA, during the year, from his annual income. This deduction ordered by the Tribunal, in our opinion, is not at all justified. Every allowance, that the deceased receives towards his remuneration, would count as his income. All that can be deducted is whatever goes out of the deceased's hands as levies of the State, like income tax or any sum of money, that would not enure to his benefit, if he were alive. For the said reason, deductions made as contributions to funds etc. are not liable to be deducted from the deceased's income and the Tribunal has not done that.

28. The question whether allowances and perquisites received by an employee during service ought to be deducted from his annual income while working out the claimants' dependency, fell for consideration of the Supreme Court in Sunil Sharma and others v. Bachitar Singh and others, (2011) 11 SCC 425. In Sunil Sharma (supra), it was observed:

6. In National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Indira Srivastava [(2008) 2 SCC 763 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 550 : (2008) 1 SCC (Civ) 744 : AIR 2008 SC 845] S.B. Sinha, J. has observed that: (SCC p. 767, para 9)

"9. The term "income' has different connotations for different purposes. A court of law, having regard to the change in societal conditions must consider the question not only having regard to pay-packet the employee carries home at the end of the month but also other perks which are beneficial to the members of the entire family. Loss caused to the family on a death of a near and dear one can hardly be compensated on monetary terms."

7. His Lordship also stated that if some facilities were being provided whereby the entire family stood to benefit, the same must be held to be relevant for the purpose of computation of total income on the basis of which the amount of compensation payable for the death of the kith and kin of the applicants was required to be determined. This Court held that: (Indira Srivastava case [(2008) 2 SCC 763 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 550 : (2008) 1 SCC (Civ) 744 : AIR 2008 SC 845] , SCC p. 768, para 12)

"12. ... superannuation benefits, contributions towards gratuity, insurance of medical policy for self and family and education scholarship were beneficial to the members of the family."

8. This Court clarified that by opining that: (Indira Srivastava case [(2008) 2 SCC 763 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 550 : (2008) 1 SCC (Civ) 744 : AIR 2008 SC 845] , SCC p. 771, para 17)

" "just compensation' must be determined having regard to the facts and circumstances of each case. The basis for considering the entire pay-packet is what the dependants have lost [in view of] death of the deceased. It is in the nature of compensation for future loss towards the family income."

and that: (Indira Srivastava case [(2008) 2 SCC 763 : (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 550 : (2008) 1 SCC (Civ) 744 : AIR 2008 SC 845] , SCC p. 772, para 19)

"19. The amounts, therefore, which were required to be paid to the deceased by his employer by way of perks, should be included for computation of his monthly income as that would have been added to his monthly income by way of contribution to the family as contradistinguished to the ones which were for his benefit. We may, however, hasten to add that from the said amount of income, the statutory amount of tax payable thereupon must be deducted."

9. In Raghuvir Singh Matolya v. Hari Singh Malviya [(2009) 15 SCC 363 : (2010) 2 SCC (Cri) 546 : (2009) 5 SCC (Civ) 631] this Court has observed that dearness allowance and house rent allowance should be included for computation of income of the deceased.

10. In the present case, Haryana Women Development Corporation Ltd. certified that the deceased had drawn her salary for the month of July 2006 as under:

Basic pay	Rs	7100
DP	Rs	3550
DA	Rs	2556
HRA	Rs	885
CCA	Rs	200
Medical Allowance	Rs	250
Gross Total	Rs	14,541
Deduction
EPF	Rs	780
GIS	Rs	30
Computer Advance	Rs	500
Total Deduction	Rs	1310

Net Payable = Rs 14,541 − Rs 1310 = Rs 13,231

11. Based on the aforementioned judgments, we are of the view that deductions made by the Tribunal on account of HRA, CCA and medical allowance are done on an incorrect basis and should have been taken into consideration in calculation of the income of the deceased. Further, deduction towards EPF and GIS should also not have been made in calculating the income of the deceased.

29. This Court is of opinion that the Tribunal erred in deducting a sum of ₹6,600/- from the annual income of the deceased.

30. There is no quarrel about the fact that the Tribunal has correctly made a deduction of 1/3rd from the deceased's income on account of personal expenses, bearing in mind the law laid down in Sarla Verma (Smt.) and others v. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, (2009) 6 SCC 121. This proceeds on the basis that the deceased's elder son, Rajesh Singh was not a dependent, as the Tribunal has found. The deceased's dependents were his widow, Smt. Lajjawati, his younger son, Arun Singh and his father Shiv Ram Singh, a senior citizen, aged 78 years. The rule regarding deduction towards personal expenses has been laid down in Sarla Verma (supra) thus:

42. We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in Column (4) of the table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas [(1994) 2 SCC 176 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 335] , Trilok Chandra [(1996) 4 SCC 362] and Charlie [(2005) 10 SCC 720 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1657]), which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years.

31. The dependents of the deceased being found to be three souls, the Tribunal has rightly directed deduction towards personal expenses of a 1/3rd out of the deceased's income. Likewise, the Tribunal has correctly applied the multiplier of '11' in this case, because the deceased was aged 54 years and going by the law laid down in Paragraph No.42 of the report in Sarla Verma, the multiplier of '11' has to be applied in the case of a deceased, where he is in the age group of 51-55 years. Thus, the Tribunal's opinion on the applicable multiplier is also correct.

32. The other issue that is involved is whether the claimants are entitled to add anything towards future prospects of the deceased, and if yes, how much. In view of what I have held in F.A.F.O. No. - 614 of 2010, Smt. Ganpat Devi v. Istiyaq Ahmad and another, decided on 10.08.2022, the claimants in this case are certainly entitled to add to the dependency what they have lost on account of future prospects of the deceased. Future prospects, as held in Smt. Ganpat Devi (supra) are to be determined in accordance with Rule 220-A(3) of the Uttar Pradesh Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 (for short, 'the Rules of 1998'). Rule 220-A(3) of the Rules of 1998 reads:

220-A. Determination of Compensation-

(1) X X X

(2) X X X

(3) The future prospects of a deceased, shall be added in the actual salary or minimum wages of the deceased as under-

(i)	Below 40 years of age	:	50% of the salary
(ii)	Between 40-50 years of age	:	30% of the salary
(iii)	More than 50 years	:	20% of the salary
(iv)	When wages no sufficiently proved	:	50% towards inflation and price index

33. Here, the deceased was aged more than 50 years. He was 54. Therefore, the claimants are entitled to add on account of future prospects 20% of the deceased's salary in reckoning his income and the consequent loss of dependency. The Tribunal has not taken into reckoning future prospects of the deceased in working out the dependency. To this extent, the Tribunal has committed a manifest error.

34. Likewise, the Tribunal has awarded under the conventional heads, a sum of ₹5000/- to the widow for the loss of consortium and ₹4000/- towards funeral expenses. This Court is afraid that the award of compensation under the conventional heads does not accord with the law at all. In this regard, there is a very different quantification to be done after the decision of the Supreme Court in Pranay Sethi and further elucidated in Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. (supra). I had occasion to consider the question of entitlement under the conventional heads in the foreshadow of the guidance in Pranay Sethi and Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd., in F.A.F.O. No. 866 of 2011, Smt. Shanti Devi and others v. Anil Awasthi @ Anil Kumar Awasthi and another, decided on 30.05.2022. In Smt. Shanti Devi (supra), it was held:

28. Again, so far as the conventional heads are concerned, this Court is of opinion that far less than what is to be awarded for the loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses has been directed by the Tribunal. Moreover, loss of consortium is not confined to the widow alone, but the parents too are entitled to be compensated for the loss of filial consortium. The two minor children are entitled to compensation on account of loss of parental consortium. In this regard, the holding of the Constitution Bench in Pranay Sethi is again of much relevance, where it is observed:

"48. This aspect needs to be clarified and appositely stated. The conventional sum has been provided in the Second Schedule to the Act. The said Schedule has been found to be defective as stated by the Court in Trilok Chandra [UP SRTC v. Trilok Chandra, (1996) 4 SCC 362] . Recently, in Puttamma v. K.L. Narayana Reddy [Puttamma v.K.L. Narayana Reddy, (2013) 15 SCC 45 : (2014) 4 SCC (Civ) 384 : (2014) 3 SCC (Cri) 574] it has been reiterated by stating : (SCC p. 80, para 54)

"54. ... we hold that the Second Schedule as was enacted in 1994 has now become redundant, irrational and unworkable due to changed scenario including the present cost of living and current rate of inflation and increased life expectancy."

49. As far as multiplier or multiplicand is concerned, the same has been put to rest by the judgments of this Court. Para 3 of the Second Schedule also provides for general damages in case of death. It is as follows:

"3. General damages (in case of death):

The following general damages shall be payable in addition to compensation outlined above:

(i)	Funeral expenses	₹ 2000
(ii)	Loss of consortium, if beneficiary is the spouse	₹ 5000
(iii)	Loss of estate	₹ 2500
(iv)	Medical expenses - actual expenses incurred before death supported by bills/vouchers but not exceeding	₹15,000

50. On a perusal of various decisions of this Court, it is manifest that the Second Schedule has not been followed starting from the decision in Trilok Chandra *[UP SRTC v.*Trilok Chandra, (1996) 4 SCC 362] and there has been no amendment to the same. The conventional damage amount needs to be appositely determined. As we notice, in different cases different amounts have been granted. A sum of Rs 1,00,000 was granted towards consortium inRajesh [Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 179 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 817 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 149] . The justification for grant of consortium, as we find fromRajesh [Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 179 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 817 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 149] , is founded on the observation as we have reproduced hereinbefore.

51. On the aforesaid basis, the Court has revisited the practice of awarding compensation under conventional heads.

52. As far as the conventional heads are concerned, we find it difficult to agree with the view expressed in Rajesh[Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 179 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 817 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 149] . It has granted Rs 25,000 towards funeral expenses, Rs 1,00,000 towards loss of consortium and Rs 1,00,000 towards loss of care and guidance for minor children. The head relating to loss of care and minor children does not exist. Though*Rajesh* [Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 179 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 817 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 149] refers to Santosh Devi [Santosh Devi v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., (2012) 6 SCC 421 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 726 : (2012) 3 SCC (Cri) 160 : (2012) 2 SCC (L&S) 167] , it does not seem to follow the same. The conventional and traditional heads, needless to say, cannot be determined on percentage basis because that would not be an acceptable criterion. Unlike determination of income, the said heads have to be quantified. Any quantification must have a reasonable foundation. There can be no dispute over the fact that price index, fall in bank interest, escalation of rates in many a field have to be noticed. The court cannot remain oblivious to the same. There has been a thumb rule in this aspect. Otherwise, there will be extreme difficulty in determination of the same and unless the thumb rule is applied, there will be immense variation lacking any kind of consistency as a consequence of which, the orders passed by the tribunals and courts are likely to be unguided. Therefore, we think it seemly to fix reasonable sums. It seems to us that reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs 15,000, Rs 40,000 and Rs 15,000 respectively. The principle of revisiting the said heads is an acceptable principle. But the revisit should not be fact-centric or quantum-centric. We think that it would be condign that the amount that we have quantified should be enhanced on percentage basis in every three years and the enhancement should be at the rate of 10% in a span of three years. We are disposed to hold so because that will bring in consistency in respect of those heads."

29. The principles governing award of compensation under conventional heads, particularly with regard to award for loss of consortium, have been laid down by the Supreme Court in Magma General Insurance Company Ltd. v. Nanu Ram alias Chuhru Ram and others, (2018) 18 SCC 130. In Magma General Insurance Company Ltd. (supra), it has been held:

"21. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Pranay Sethi[National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 248 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 205] dealt with the various heads under which compensation is to be awarded in a death case. One of these heads is loss of consortium. In legal parlance, "consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses "spousal consortium", "parental consortium", and "filial consortium". The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family. With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse : [Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 179 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 817 : (2014) 1 SCC (L&S) 149]

21.1. Spousal consortium is generally defined as rights pertaining to the relationship of a husband-wife which allows compensation to the surviving spouse for loss of "company, society, cooperation, affection, and aid of the other in every conjugal relation". [Black's Law Dictionary(5th Edn., 1979).]

21.3. Filial consortium is the right of the parents to compensation in the case of an accidental death of a child. An accident leading to the death of a child causes great shock and agony to the parents and family of the deceased. The greatest agony for a parent is to lose their child during their lifetime. Children are valued for their love, affection, companionship and their role in the family unit.

22. Consortium is a special prism reflecting changing norms about the status and worth of actual relationships. Modern jurisdictions world-over have recognised that the value of a child's consortium far exceeds the economic value of the compensation awarded in the case of the death of a child. Most jurisdictions therefore permit parents to be awarded compensation under loss of consortium on the death of a child. The amount awarded to the parents is a compensation for loss of the love, affection, care and companionship of the deceased child.

23. The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial legislation aimed at providing relief to the victims or their families, in cases of genuine claims. In case where a parent has lost their minor child, or unmarried son or daughter, the parents are entitled to be awarded loss of consortium under the head of filial consortium. Parental consortium is awarded to children who lose their parents in motor vehicle accidents under the Act. A few High Courts have awarded compensation on this count [Rajasthan High Court in Jagmala Ram v. Sohi Ram, 2017 SCC OnLine Raj 3848 : (2017) 4 RLW 3368; Uttarakhand High Court in Rita Rana v. Pradeep Kumar, 2013 SCC OnLine Utt 2435 : (2014) 3 UC 1687; Karnataka High Court in Lakshman v. Susheela Chand Choudhary, 1996 SCC OnLine Kar 74 : (1996) 3 Kant LJ 570] . However, there was no clarity with respect to the principles on which compensation could be awarded on loss of filial consortium.

24. The amount of compensation to be awarded as consortium will be governed by the principles of awarding compensation under "loss of consortium" as laid down in*Pranay Sethi* [National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 : (2018) 3 SCC (Civ) 248 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 205] . In the present case, we deem it appropriate to award the father and the sister of the deceased, an amount of Rs 40,000 each for loss of filial consortium."

30. It must be noted that under Rule 220-A(4) of the Rules of 1998, compensation or damages under the non pecuniary heads or the conventional heads have been stipulated. But, these are disadvantageous to the claimants and do not confer better or greater benefit upon them in comparison to liquidated figures laid down in Pranay Sethi*. The figures under the conventional heads have been arrived at, bearing in mind the price index, falling bank interest, escalation of rates in different cases. There is a provision for 10% upward revision to be done in a span of three years. By contrast, the Rules of 1998, that have been amended to bring in Rule 220-A more than ten years ago, in the year 2011, cannot serve as a realistic index to award compensation under the conventional heads. The determination of compensation in Pranay Sethi would, therefore, be applicable. The revised and dynamic determination of compensation payable under the conventional heads stipulated in Pranay Sethi would prevail over that under the Rules of 1998. It is held, accordingly.

35. In view of the guidance in Pranay Sethi and Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. and the way entitlement under the conventional heads has been determined in Smt. Shanti Devi, the question would arise as to who, amongst the claimants, would be entitled to compensation on account of loss of consortium. There is no doubt that the widow is entitled to spousal consortium and the deceased's father to filial consortium, going by the principles in Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. But, so far as the two sons of the deceased are concerned, this Court is of opinion that they are not entitled to anything on account of loss of consortium. A distinction has to be made between children who are minors on one hand and adults on the other. I had occasion to consider the issue in Jiuti Devi and others v. Manoj Kumar Rai and others, 2022 SCC OnLine All 46, where it was held:

39. Loss of consortium, that includes parental consortium, unlike dependency, is not some tangible economic loss. It is an emotional loss to the next of kin of the deceased-victim of a motor accident. In case of parental loss, it causes a particular deprivation to minors and young children, about whom it is said by the Supreme Court in United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Satinder Kaur alias Satwinder Kaur, to borrow the words of their Lordships, "Parental Consortium is awarded to the children who lose the care and protection of their parents in motor vehicle accidents".

40. To the understanding of this Court, the impact of loss of parental consortium upon the deceased's children, in the very nature of that loss, is dependent upon the children's age. The loss of parent is a disheartening and emotional event for the child at any age of his maturity, but by the nature of the principle governing award of compensation under the head of parental consortium, the deprivation, that is suffered by a child or a minor, appears to be the determinative and entitling fact. A child, who has advanced into matured adulthood, is married or otherwise in the mainstream of life, would not be entitled to compensation under that head.

36. The two sons of the deceased, Arun Singh and Rajesh are adults. Rajesh Singh is a married man and has two children. He was married 5-6 years ago, reckoned from the time that PW-1 testified before the Tribunal. He was aged 34 years at the relevant time and employed with the B.S.A. College. The younger son, Arun Singh, who was aged 20 years at the relevant time and reading to earn his B.Tech. Degree, is also an adult. In the opinion of this Court, the two adult sons of the deceased are not entitled to any compensation on account of loss of consortium on the principle laid down in Jiuti Devi.

37. It goes without saying that the claimants would be entitled to a sum of ₹15,000/- towards loss of estate and a like sum towards funeral expenses.

38. There is no good ground to accept the insurers' appeal, but this Court is of opinion that the award passed by the Tribunal is required to be revised, in accordance with the settled principles, so that the claimants may be awarded just compensation. Accordingly, the award stands revised and redetermined as stipulated below:

Sl.	Particulars	Amount
(i)	Monthly Income of the deceased	₹52,041/-
(ii)	Monthly Income + Future Prospects (monthly income x 20%) = 52,041+ 10,408	₹62,449/-
(iii)	Annual Income of the deceased = (62,449 x 12) - Income Tax = 7,49,388 - 45,500	₹7,03,888/-
(iv)	Annual Dependency = Annual Income - one-third deduction towards personal expenses of the deceased = 703,888 - 2,34,629	₹4,69,259/-
(v)	Total dependency = Annual Dependency x Applied Multiplier = 4,69,259 x 11	₹51,61,849/-
(vi)	Claimant's entitlement under the conventional heads = Loss of Estate + Funeral Expenses + Dependents' consortium (15,000 + 15,000+ 40,000 x 2)	₹1,10,000/-
(vii)	Total Compensation = Total Dependency + Claimant's entitlement under the conventional heads	₹52,71,849/-

39. Accordingly, the impugned award passed by the Tribunal is modified and the compensation awarded enhanced to a total sum of ₹52,71,849/- (Rupees Fifty Two Lac, Seventy One Thousand, Eight Hundred and Forty Nine only). The compensation would carry Simple Interest at the rate of 7% per annum from the date of institution of the claim petition, until realisation. However, the sum of money already deposited (paid or invested in terms of the impugned award or interim orders of this Court) shall be adjusted.

40. This appeal is disposed of in terms of the above orders.

List of Cases cited:

Dataram Singh Vs St.of U.P. & anr., reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Counter affidavit filed on behalf of State is taken on record.

2. Heard Shri Anand Prakash Pandey, the learned counsel for the applicant, Shri Alok Kumar Vyas, the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

3. The applicant, Suraj Verma, has moved the present bail application seeking bail in Case Crime No. 280 of 2022, under Section 306 I.P.C., Police Station Lalganj, District Pratapgarh.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that applicant is innocent and has falsely been implicated in the present case due to enmity and property dispute situated in the same village.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant initially F.I.R. was lodged under Section 363 I.P.C. in unknown. There is no any whisper about the applicant in the F.I.R. and even though F.I.R. was lodged after two days of the alleged incident of missing of minor daughter of complainant, that too, without any plausible explanation of delay.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that statement of the complainant under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 26.05.2022 after the dead body of the victim was recovered from a well wherein he developed his case and false story has been made that applicant and the victim were in relation and false promise of marriage was made by the applicant with her, and when the applicant had refused to marry with the victim then she committed suicide.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that entire case is built up by the complainant after the legal advice and afterthought. No such incident, as alleged by the complainant in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., took place.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that in the postmortem of the deceased no external injury was found on her entire body and cause of death was found to be asphyxia due to ante mortem drowning.

9. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that reference of mobile No. 9935885772 which was given by the complainant in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. does not belong to the applicant and he never talked with the deceased on her mobile as alleged by the complainant. The Investigating Agency also failed to collect any evidence against the applicant regarding alleged mobile number and there is no proof that the said number belongs to the applicant. It is also a case of the applicant that the said mobile number and simcard was never recovered from the possession of application. Further the case of applicant is that he was neither having any love affair with the deceased, nor he has made any promise of marriage with the deceased. The victim has never moved any complaint to any authority that application was in relation with her on giving false promise of marriage and now he had refused for the same. The entire story was developed by the complainant after recovery of dead body of the deceased from the well, otherwise there must be some whisper in the F.I.R. regarding the relation of applicant with the deceased. The main dispute regarding false implication of applicant is that there is a land dispute between the family members of the applicant and the deceased. The said land is adjacent to each other, which is evident from Khatauni of the property, which fact has been stated in para-11 of the affidavit filed in support of the bail application.

10. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that it is also a case of the applicant that earlier the mother of the deceased had also threatened the mother of the applicant that she will implicate the applicant in a case, regarding which mother of applicant has moved an application on 19.10.2021 before the concerned police station on 19.10.2021, copy of which has been filed as Annexure-6 to the affidavit filed in support of the bail application.

11. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that statements of interested witnesses cannot be said to be reliable as they have given false statement in support of the prosecution case. The age of the deceased was in between 17 years and 22 days on the date of occurrence as per her educational certificate.

12. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that applicant has never abetted the victim to commit suicide. From perusal of F.I.R. and from the statement of complainant and other witnesses no case under Section 306 I.P.C. is made out. Even prosecution has failed to proof that case under Section 306 I.P.C. is made out as the essential ingredients for proving the said provisions are not fulfilled either on perusal of the F.I.R. or on perusal of statements of complainant and witnesses. The entire prosecution story is false and fabricated and has been cooked up with malafide intention, therefore, the applicant is entitled to be released on bail by this Court sympathetically.

13. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required and is also ready to accept all the conditions which the Court may deem fit to impose upon him. It has also been pointed out that the accused is not having any criminal history, which fact has been stated in para-18 of the affidavit filed in support of the bail application. The applicant is in jail since 04.06.2022 and that in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is blinking chances of any early conclusion of trial as till date not a single witness has been examined.

14. Learned A.G.A. while opposing the prayer for bail.

15. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the Bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, considering the fact that in the F.I.R. there is no whisper regarding complicity of applicant; in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. after the dead body of the victim was recovered from a well the complainant developed his case by stating that applicant and the victim were in relation and false promise of marriage was made by the applicant with her, and when the applicant had refused to marry with the victim then she committed suicide; in the postmortem of the deceased no external injury was found on her entire body and cause of death was found to be asphyxia due to ante mortem drowning; reference of mobile No. 9935885772 which was given by the complainant is also not belong to the applicant, he never talked with the deceased on her mobile as alleged by the complainant and the Investigating Agency also failed to collect any evidence against the applicant regarding alleged mobile number and there is no proof that the said number belongs to the applicant and the said mobile number and simcard was never recovered from the possession of applicant; the entire story was developed by the complainant after recovery of dead body of the deceased from the well, otherwise there must be some whisper in the F.I.R. regarding the relation of applicant with the deceased; there appears force in the submission of the learned counsel for the applicant that main dispute regarding false implication of applicant is that there is a land dispute between the family members of the applicant and the deceased, which is evident from Khatauni of the property, which fact has been stated in para-11 of the affidavit filed in support of the bail application; it is also a case of the applicant that earlier mother of the deceased had also threatened the mother of the applicant that she will implicate the applicant in a case, regarding which mother of applicant has moved an application on 19.10.2021 before the concerned police station on 19.10.2021, copy of which has been filed as Annexure-6 to the affidavit filed in support of the bail application; prosecution has failed to proof that case under Section 306 I.P.C. is made out as the essential ingredients for proving the said provisions are not fulfilled either on perusal of the F.I.R. or on perusal of statements of complainant and witnesses; and considering the larger mandate of the Article 21 of the Constitution of India and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Dataram Singh vs. State of UP and another, reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

16. The prayer for bail is granted. The application is allowed.

17. Let the applicant, Suraj Verma, involved in Case Crime No. 280 of 2022, under Section 306 I.P.C., Police Station Lalganj, District Pratapgarh, be enlarged on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date fixed in the court below and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

(3) The applicant shall cooperate in the trial sincerely without seeking any adjournment.

(4) The applicant shall not indulge in any criminal activity or commission of any crime after being released on bail.

(5) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail and in order to secure his presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(6) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court default of this condition is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of his bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

(7) The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

(8) The concerned Court/ Authority/ Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

18. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

19. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merit of the case.

Bail-Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 304 & 308 -Applicant is the organizer of nautanki in the village-He arrived at the place and started unloading explosive substance and articles of nautanki programme from his own vehicle-but in rush of doing so-explosion took place in the vehicle-three persons sustained injuries- one died-unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial-and absence of any convincing material-no role assigned to the Applicant in the FIR in causing the explosion.

Bail granted. (E-9)

List of Cases cited:

Dataram Singh Vs St.of U.P. & anr., reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. Heard Km. Pooja Tiwari, learned counsel for the applicant as well as learned AGA for the State and also perused the material placed on record.

2. By means of the present bail application, the applicant- Abbu Sahma seeks bail in Case Crime No. 163 of 2022, under Sections 304, 308 IPC and section 5 Explosive Substances Act, Police Station Dariyabad, District Barabanki, during the pendency of trial.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that an FIR was lodged on 23.5.2022 by the complainant S.I. Suresh Chandra Mishra against the applicant and coaccused Sultan alleging therein that when on 22.5.2002, In charge out post Dariybad Sub Inspector Surendra Mishra alongwith some constables was on foot patrol from the outpost in the town of Dariyabad, he received information through mobile phone that explosion has been done in the vehicle in village Saraishah Alam, in which three persons have seriously been injured. On that information, he alongwith his force team reached on spot and saw that three persons in vehicle No. UP 41 T6010 Tata 407 were suffering from serious injuries on account of explosion. Thereafter, they were brought to CHC Mathuranagar for their treatment and during the course of treatment one injured Raju died. It is further alleged therein that that coaccused Sultan had his own marriage and after getting married he came to his village with his wife. On the occasion of happiness of marriage, coaccused Sultan wanted to get nautanki exhibited in his village. He said to the applicant who was owner of the nautanki to come to the village and organize an nautanki party, upon which the applicant after loading explosive substances and articles of nautanki programme in his own vehicle reached at village Saraishah Alam at about 19:00 O'clock alongwith Raju, Banwari Lal, Dhannu and Ayub. Co-accused Sultan asked the accused applicant to quickly unload the articles and start the nautanki programme very soon. Due to this rush in unloading the articles, an explosion took place in the vehicle and three persons sustained injuries who were taken to CHC where injured Raju was declared died by doctor and other two injured namely Banwari Lal and Dhannu was referred to District Hospital. Due to negligence of applicant and coaccused Sultan the alleged incident occurred.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that the applicant is innocent and has falsely been implicated in the present case. The applicant has no role in causing the alleged explosion. The ammunition (explosive substance) which is used on the occasion of marriage was kept in the vehicle and the applicant and nautanki team were also going in the said vehicle. The injured were also doing drama in Nautanki and the explosion was caused due to unavoidable circumstances. Thus there is no role of the applicant or any other coaccused person named in the FIR for causing the alleged explosion. It is a case of accident and the death was unintentional, for which the applicant is not responsible, even though the statements of the independent witnesses were recorded in which they have also stated that it is case of accident and there was no involvement of the applicant in causing the alleged explosion. As per the post mortem examination report of deceased cause of death is due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem blast injuries.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that there is vast material contradiction in the statements of the independent witnesses and the version of FIR. As per the version of FIR and the statements of the independent witnesses no specific role has been assigned to the applicant. No incriminating article has been recovered from the possession of the applicant or at his pointing out. The statement of injured namely Dhannu has neither been recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. nor has been made witness of charge sheet.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant referred to the statement of one independent witness Askgar Ali under section 161 Cr.P.C. who was working as Joker in Nautanki, in which he stated that coaccused Shiv Kumar who was also working in Nautanki team had kept Baruud in his bag and while dragging articles in hurried manner, the Baruud suddenly exploded, due to which the alleged incident occurred. It is a case of accident and as per his statement no role has been assigned to the applicant.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the role of applicant was of carrying the explosive substance in his vehicle and while unloading the nautanki articles from the vehicle the ammunition (explosive substances) kept in the vehicle blasted. Thus it is a case of accident.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that, coaccused Shiv Kumar, who is identically placed and similar allegation has been levelled as of the applicant, has already been granted bail by a coordinate bench of this Court vide order dated 8.8.2022 in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 7885 of 2022 and the case of the present applicant is not on the worse footing than that of the said co-accused, has already been granted bail by this Court , thus the bail application of the applicant may also be considered by this Court sympathetically and the applicant is also entitled for the benefit of the same and to be released on bail.

9. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required and is also ready to accept all the conditions which the Court may deem fit to impose upon him. The applicant undertakes that in case he is released on bail, he will not misuse the liberty of bail and will cooperate in trial. It has also been pointed out that the accused is not having any criminal history and he is in jail since 24.5.2022 and that in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

10. Learned AGA opposed the prayer for bail and submitted that due to action of the applicant the blast took place and one person died but did not dispute the fact that on similar allegation coaccused Shiv Kumar has already been granted bail by a coordinate bench of this Court.

11. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, considering the fact that the applicant and three injured person including deceased were sitting in the vehicle and the explosive substances and nautanki articles were kept in the vehicle, while unloading the nautanki articles the explosive substances blasted, as per the version of FIR and the statements of the independent witnesses no role has been assigned to the applicant in causing the explosion and it is a case of accident; there is vast material contradiction in the statements of the independent witnesses and the version of FIR; on similar allegation the aforesaid coaccused has already been granted bail by a coordinate bench of this Court, therefore, the case of the present applicant also does not appear to be on the worse footing than that of the aforesaid coaccused, thus the bail application of the present applicant is being considered by this Court sympathetically and further considering the larger mandate of Article 21 of the Constitution of India and the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Dataram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another, reported in (2018) 3 SCC 22, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

12. The prayer for bail is granted. The application is allowed.

13. Let the applicant Abbu Sahma involved in Case Crime No. 163 of 2022, under Sections 304, 308 IPC and section 5 Explosive Substances Act, Police Station Dariyabad, District Barabanki, be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date fixed in the court below and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

(3) The applicant shall cooperate in the trial sincerely without seeking any adjournment.

(4) The applicant shall not indulge in any criminal activity or commission of any crime after being released on bail.

(5) In case the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence, proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(6) The applicant shall remain present in person, before the trial court on the date fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

(7) The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

(8) The concerned Court/Authority/Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court, Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

14. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of the applicant's bail.

15. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. These writ petitions raise common questions of law and facts and thus are being decided together by a common order. The writ petitioners, who are working as Assistant Teachers in Primary Schools managed by the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Department, have approached this Court assailing the orders passed by the competent authority / District Basic Education Officer whereby and whereunder the sanction of maternity leave for 180 days has been turned down by stating that the same is not admissible/ or on the ground that the period of 2 years have not elapsed from the date of the expiry of the last maternity leave granted to them under the proviso to Rule 153 (I) of Chapter XIII of the U.P. Fundamental Rules in Financial Handbook Volume-II, Part 2 to 4.

2. In order to adjudicate the legal issue involved the facts of writ petition No. 9535 of 2022 are being considered.

3. The writ petitioner was appointed as Assistant Teacher at Primary School Dhakatal Mahewa District Etawah vide appointment letter dated 28.6.2016. The petitioner gave birth to a male child on 4.1.2021. Thereafter, the petitioner again became pregnant and applied for maternity leave online on 17.6.2022. The online maternity leave application of the petitioner has been turned down on the ground "not admissible" by the impugned order dated 23.6.2022. It is contended by learned counsel for the petitioner that rejection of the maternity leave to the petitioner by the impugned order is patently illegal as no reasons whatsoever has been disclosed by the District Basic Education Officer in turning down the maternity leave to the petitioner. He submits that the maternity leave is the right of a women employee during pregnancy and cannot be turned down in the manner as has been done by the respondents. Learned counsel has placed reliance upon a decision of the co-ordinate Bench dated 11.12.2019 passed in Service Single No. 32394 of 2019 (Smt. Richa Shukla versus State of U.P. through Addl. Chief Secretary Basic Education Lko & others) to submit that maternity leave to the petitioner therein was refused by orders dated 13.11.2019 and 27.11.2019. The Court proceeded to quash the orders dated 13.11.2019 and 27.11.2019 allowed the writ petition and issued a writ of mandamus directing the respondent No. 4 therein to consider the case of the petitioner for grant of maternity leave. Learned counsel for the petitioner accordingly submits that petitioner is equally circumstanced and is also entitled to the relief as extended to the petitioner of Service Single No. 32394 of 2019.

4. Shri Chandan Kumar, learned Standing Counsel, in opposition, to the writ petition submits that the claim of the writ petitioner for maternity leave has been turned down as the same is not admissible on the ground that period of two years has not elapsed from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted to the petitioner under the proviso of Rule 153 (1) of Chapter XIII of U.P. Fundamental Rules in Financial Handbook Volume-II, Part 2 to 4. He further submits that the controversy involved in the present writ petition has been settled by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Renu Chaudhary versus State of U.P. and others reported in 2022 (2) ADJ 14 wherein the Court has proceeded to hold that the petitioner therein who is an Assistant Teacher employed with an Institution established and maintained by the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Board is governed by the Service Rules applicable to teachers of Primary Schools maintained by the Board and other Rules including rules that apply regarding grant of leave. An employee of the Institution run and managed by the U.P. Basic Education Board is not an employee of an establishment to which the Maternity Act applies. There is no conflict between the second proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules and the Maternity Act which does not apply to the establishment of the Basic Education Board or the schools maintained by it. The restriction on the Right to Maternity Leave of a female Government servant with regard to the birth of her child would be reckoned with reference to the number of children living at the time she applies for maternity leave irrespective of the fact whether the two children living were born before or after she entered the Government Service. Shri Chandan Kumar thus prays that the petitioner herein is not entitled to claim parity to the decision passed in Service Single No. 32394 of 2019 and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

5. The rival contentions fall for consideration.

6. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties at length and have perused the record.

7. Learned counsel for the respondent has placed heavy reliance on the decision of the co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Renu Chaudhary (supra) to non suit the petitioner. Having gone through the aforesaid decision, I find that the decision proceeds on the premise that the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is not applicable to the establishment of the Basic Education Board or the Schools maintained by it. The decision further rules that there is clearly no conflict between the second proviso to Rule 153 of the Rules and the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961. Rather no question of any conflict with the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 can be said to arise with the leave rules i.e. the Fundamental Rule 153 as the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is not applicable to the case of the petitioner. On the other hand, the learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance also upon a decision of a co-ordinate Bench of this Court passed in Service Single 32394 of 2019 Smt. Richa Shukla (supra) wherein the decision proceeds on the assumption that the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 applies to the case of the petitioner and has an overriding effect in view of the Section 27 of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961.

8. The moot question in the opinion of the Court is thus regarding the applicability of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 to the case of the petitioner. There is no dispute with regard to the applicability of the Fundamental Rules i.e. Rule 153 (1) of Chapter XIII of U.P. Fundamental Rules in Financial Handbook Volume-II, Part 2 to 4. The parties are at variance only with regard to the applicability of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961.

9. In consonance with the provisions of Article 42 contained in Part IV of the Constitution of India, the Parliament has promulgated the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961. Since Article 42 specifically speaks of "just and humane conditions of work and maternity relief", the validity of an executive or administrative action in denying maternity benefit has to be examined on the anvil of Article 42 which, though not enforceable at law, is nevertheless available for determining the legal efficacy of the action complained of.

10. The provisions of Financial Handbook Volume II to IV on the other hand were made by the Governor in exercise of his powers under Section 241(2)(b) of the Government of India Act, 1935 and are continuing in force on the strength of the provisions contained in Article 13 of the Constitution of India. The Financial Handbook contains rules which governed the services of the person serving in connection with the affairs of a province, and are at best in the nature of executive instructions, and are clearly not in the category of "an enactment" made by the legislature.

11. To attract the provisions of Article 254 of the Constitution the first requirement is that both the laws should be enactments of the respective legislatures, that is, one of the laws should be a enactment of the Parliament while the second should be a law made by the State legislature. The Maternity Benefit Act 1961 has been enacted by the Parliament while the provisions of the Financial Handbook Volume II to IV are at best executive instructions.

12. The Supreme Court in the case of Municipal Corpn. of Delhi v. Female Workers (Muster Roll), (2000) 3 SCC 224 has looked into the various provisions of the Constitution for the finding the source and power to legislate with respect to the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, and observed as under:-

"6. Not long ago, the place of a woman in rural areas had been traditionally her home; but the poor illiterate women forced by sheer poverty now come out to seek various jobs so as to overcome the economic hardship. They also take up jobs which involve hard physical labour. The female workers who are engaged by the Corporation on muster roll have to work at the site of construction and repairing of roads. Their services have also been utilised for digging of trenches. Since they are engaged on daily wages, they, in order to earn their daily bread, work even in an advanced stage of pregnancy and also soon after delivery, unmindful of detriment to their health or to the health of the new-born. It is in this background that we have to look to our Constitution which, in its Preamble, promises social and economic justice. We may first look at the fundamental rights contained in Part III of the Constitution. Article 14 provides that the State shall not deny to any person equality before law or the equal protection of the laws within the territory of India. Dealing with this article vis-à-vis the labour laws, this Court in Hindustan Antibiotics Ltd. v. Workmen [AIR 1967 SC 948 : (1967) 1 SCR 652 : (1967) 1 LLJ 114] has held that labour to whichever sector it may belong in a particular region and in a particular industry will be treated on equal basis. Article 15 provides that the State shall not discriminate against any citizen on grounds only of religion, race, caste, sex, place of birth or any of them. Clause (3) of this article provides as under:

"15. (3) Nothing in this article shall prevent the State from making any special provision for women and children."

7. In Yusuf Abdul Aziz v. State of Bombay [AIR 1954 SC 321 : 1954 SCR 930] it was held that Article 15(3) applies both to existing and future laws.

8. From Part III, we may shift to Part IV of the Constitution containing the Directive Principles of State Policy. Article 38 provides that the State shall strive to promote the welfare of the people by securing and protecting, as effectively as it may, a social order in which justice, social, economic and political shall inform all the institutions of the national life. Sub-clause (2) of this article mandates that the State shall strive to minimise the inequalities in income and endeavour to eliminate inequalities in status, facilities and opportunities.

9. Article 39 provides, inter alia, as under:

"39. Certain principles of policy to be followed by the State.--

The State shall, in particular, direct its policy towards securing--

(a) that the citizens, men and women equally, have the right to an adequate means of livelihood;

(d) that there is equal pay for equal work for both men and women;

(e) that the health and strength of workers, men and women, and the tender age of children are not abused and that citizens are not forced by economic necessity to enter avocations unsuited to their age or strength;

10. Articles 42 and 43 provide as under:

"42. Provision for just and humane conditions of work and maternity relief.--The State shall make provision for securing just and humane conditions of work and for maternity relief.

43. Living wage, etc., for workers.--The State shall endeavour to secure, by suitable legislation or economic organisation or in any other way, to all workers, agricultural, industrial or otherwise, work, a living wage, conditions of work ensuring a decent standard of life and full enjoyment of leisure and social and cultural opportunities and, in particular, the State shall endeavour to promote cottage industries on an individual or cooperative basis in rural areas."

11. It is in the background of the provisions contained in Article 39, specially in Articles 42 and 43, that the claim of the respondents for maternity benefit and the action of the petitioner in denying that benefit to its women employees has to be scrutinised so as to determine whether the denial of maternity benefit by the petitioner is justified in law or not.

12. Since Article 42 specifically speaks of "just and humane conditions of work" and "maternity relief", the validity of an executive or administrative action in denying maternity benefit has to be examined on the anvil of Article 42 which, though not enforceable at law, is nevertheless available for determining the legal efficacy of the action complained of.

13. Parliament has already made the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961. It is not disputed that the benefits available under this Act have been made available to a class of employees of the petitioner Corporation. But the benefit is not being made available to the women employees engaged on muster roll, on the ground that they are not regular employees of the Corporation. As we shall presently see, there is no justification for denying the benefit of this Act to casual workers or workers employed on daily-wage basis.

13. Apart from the provisions contained in the Chapter IV of the Constitution of India it is also noticed that entry 24 of List III of VII Schedule specifically provide for maternity benefits for ready reference entry 24 is as under:-

"24. welfare of labour including conditions of work, Provident fund employers liability workmen's compensation, invalidity and old age pension and maternity benefit."

14. In light of the above, this Court is of the considered opinion that the Maternity Benefit Act 1961 has been enacted by the Parliament on a subject which finds mention in entry 24 of list III, and it was totally within its competence to make such an enactment. Even if the State legislature were to make such a law, overriding the provisions contained in the Maternity Benefit Act then the said Act would be reserved for accent of the President and would be enforceable only after obtaining such an accent as provided in article 254 (2) of the Constitution of India.

15. In order to appreciate the respective contentions of the learned counsel for the parties, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 as also the relevant provisions of the Financial Handbook, particularly, Rule 153 which are as under:

Section 3(h) of 1961 Act "maternity benefit" means the payment referred to in subsection (1) of section 5. Section 5 of 1961 Act reads as under:-

"5. Right to payment of maternity benefit.-

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, every woman shall be entitled to, and her employer shall be liable for, the payment of maternity benefit at the rate of the average daily wage for the period of her actual absence, that is to say, the period immediately preceding the day of her delivery, the actual day of her delivery and any period immediately following that day.

(2) No woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit unless she has actually worked in an establishment of the employer from whom she claims maternity benefit, for a period of not less than [eighty days] in the twelve months immediately preceding the date of her expected delivery:

Provided that the qualifying period of [eighty days] aforesaid shall not apply to a woman who has immigrated into the State of Assam and was pregnant at the time of the immigration.

(3) The maximum period for which any woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit shall be [Twenty six weeks of which not more than eight weeks] shall precede the date of her expected delivery:-

Provided that the maximum period entitled to maternity benefit by a woman having two or more than two surviving children shall be twelve weeks of which not more than six weeks shall precede the date of her expected delivery:

[Provided further that] where a woman dies during this period, the maternity benefit shall be payable only for the days up to and including the day of her death: [Provided also that] where a woman, having been delivered of a child, dies during her delivery or during the period immediately following the date of her delivery for which she is entitled for the maternity benefit, leaving behind in either case the child, the employer shall be liable for the maternity benefit for that entire period but if the child also dies during the said period, then, for the days up to and including the date of the death of the child.

(4) A woman who legally adopts a child below the age of three months or a commissioning mother shall be entitled to maternity benefit for a period of twelve weeks from the date the child is handed over to the adopting mother or the commissioning mother, as the case may be]

(5) In case where the nature of work assigned to a woman is of such nature that she may work from home, the employer may allow her to do so after availing of the maternity benefit for such period an on such conditions as the employer and the woman may mutually agree]"

16. Section 6 of 1961 Act reads as under:-

"6. Notice of claim for maternity benefit and payment thereof.-

(1) Any woman employed in an establishment and entitled to maternity benefit under the provisions of this Act may give notice in writing in such form as may be prescribed, to her employer, stating that her maternity benefit and any other amount to which she may be entitled under this Act may be paid to her or to such person as she may nominate in the notice and that she will not work in any establishment during the period for which she receives maternity benefit.

(2) In the case of a woman who is pregnant, such notice shall state the date from which she will be absent from work, not being a date earlier than six weeks from the date of her expected delivery.

(3) Any woman who has not given the notice when she was pregnant may give such notice as soon as possible after the delivery.

(4) On receipt of the notice, the employer shall permit such woman to absent herself from the establishment during the period for which she receives the maternity benefit.

(5) The amount of maternity benefit for the period preceding the date of her expected delivery shall be paid in advance by the employer to the woman on production of such proof as may be prescribed that the woman is pregnant, and the amount due for the subsequent period shall be paid by the employer to the woman within forty-eight hours of production of such proof as may be prescribed that the woman has been delivered of a child.

(6) The failure to give notice under this section shall not disentitle a woman to maternity benefit or any other amount under this Act if she is otherwise entitled to such benefit or amount and in any such case an Inspector may either of his own motion or on an application made to him by the woman, order the payment of such benefit or amount within such period as may be specified in the order.

17. Section 27 of 1961 Act reads as under:-

27. Effect of laws and agreements inconsistent with this Act.- (1) The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law or in the terms of any award, agreement or contract of service, whether made before or after the coming into force of this Act: Provided that where under any such award, agreement, contract of service or otherwise, a woman is entitled to benefits in respect of any matter which are more favourable to her than those to which she would be entitled under this Act, the woman shall continue to be entitled to the more favourable benefits in respect of that matter, notwithstanding that she is entitled to receive benefits in respect of other matters under this Act.

(2) Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to preclude a woman from entering into an agreement with her employer for granting her rights or privileges in respect of any matter which are more favourable to her than those to which she would be entitled under this Act.

18. Section 28 of 1961 Act reads as under:-

"Power to make rules.- (1) The appropriate Government may, subjected to the condition of previous publication and notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

19. Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules

"153. Maternity leave on full pay which a female government servant, whether permanent or temporary, may be drawing on the date or proceeding on such leave may be granted to her by the head of the department or by a lower authority to whom power may be delegated in this behalf subject to the following:--

(1) In cases of confinement the period of maternity leave may extend up to the end of three months from the date of the commencement of leave:

Provided that such leave shall not be granted for more than three times during the entire service including temporary service:

Provided also that if any female government servant has two or more living children, she shall not be granted maternity leave even though such leave may otherwise be admissible to her. If, however, either of the two living children of the female government servant is suffering from incurable disease or is disabled or crippled since birth or contracts some incurable disease or becomes disabled or crippled later, she may, as an exception, be granted maternity leave till one more child is born to her subject to the overall restriction that maternity leave shall not be granted for more than three times during the entire service.

Provided further that no such leave shall be admissible until a period of at least two years has elapsed from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted under this rule.

(2) In cases of miscarriage, including abortion, the period of maternity leave may extend up to a total period of six weeks on each occasion, irrespective of the number of surviving children of the female Government servant concerned, provided that the application for leave is supported by a certificate from the Authorised Medical Attendant: NOTE*--(1) Deleted.*

NOTE*--(2) In the case of a person to whom the provisions of Employees. State Insurance Act, 1948, apply, leave salary payable under this rule shall be reduced by the amount of benefit admissible under the said Act for the corresponding period.*

NOTE*--(3) Abortion induced under the Medical Termination of pragnancy Act, 1971, should also be considered as a case of "abortion' for the purpose of "granting' "Maternity leave' under this rule."*

20. A perusal of Section 3(h) of 1961 Act, clearly reveals that maternity benefit means the payment referred to in sub-section (1) of Section 5 of 1961 Act. Section 5 of 1961 Act stipulates that every woman shall be entitled to and an employer shall be liable for the payment of maternity benefit at a certain rate. Sub-section (3) of Section 5 of 1961 Act provides that the maximum period for which any woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit shall be 26 weeks. Section 6 of 1961 Act provides that any woman employed in an establishment and entitled to any maternity benefit under the provisions of 1961 Act may give notice in writing to her employer stating that her maternity benefit be paid to her or to such person as she may nominate in the notice. Sub-section (4) of Section 6 of 1961 Act provides that on receipt of the notice, the employer shall permit such woman to absent herself from the establishment during the period for which she receives the maternity benefit.

21. A perusal of the aforesaid provisions of 1961 Act thus indicate that a woman would be entitled to give notice in writing for grant of maternity benefit and on receipt of notice the employer shall permit such woman to absent herself from the establishment during the period for which she receives the maternity benefit. The 1961 Act does not contain any such stipulation of the time difference between grant of maternity benefit for the first and second child as stipulated in Rule 153 (1) of the Financial Handbook. Section 27 of 1961 Act categorically provides that the provisions of 1961 Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law whether made before or after coming into force of 1961 Act. The proviso to Section 27 of 1961 Act provides that in case a woman is entitled to benefits in respect of any matter which are more favourable to her than those to which she would be entitled under 1961 Act, the woman shall continue to be entitled to the more favourable benefits in respect of that matter, notwithstanding that she would be entitled to receive benefits in respect of other matters under 1961 Act, meaning thereby that additional benefits that a woman would be entitled in terms of 7 agreement or contract of service would be admissible to her notwithstanding anything contained in 1961 Act. Thus, it is the additional benefits which have not been precluded but in case there is anything contrary or inconsistent to the provisions of 1961 Act pertaining to maternity benefit then it would be the 1961 Act which would be applicable."

22. So far as the applicability of the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is concerned, a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Dr. Rachna Chaurasiya versus State of U.P. and others [2017 (11) ADJ 399 (DB)] while considering the grant of maternity leave/child care leave to a Doctor employed as Associate Professor in MLB Medical College, Jhansi in Para 23, 24 and 25 of the decision observed as under:-

Subsequently, certain modifications being made by the Central Government, the same was also adopted by the State Government vide Government Order dated 11th April, 2011. 24. From a perusal of the aforesaid Government Orders, it is clear that the State Government has adopted same policy as is enforced by the Central Government for grant of Maternity Leave as well as Child Care Leave to its employees.

25. Maternity benefit is a social insurance and the Maternity Leave is given for maternal and child health and family support. On a perusal of different provisions of the Act, 1961 as well as the policy of the Central Government to grant Child Care Leave and the Government Orders issued by the State of U.P. adopting the same for its female employees, we do not find anything contained therein which may entitle only to women employees appointed on regular basis to the benefit of Maternity Leave or Child Care Leave and not those, who are engaged on casual basis or on muster roll on daily wage basis."

23. Then again a learned Single Judge in the case of Anshu Rani versus State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ-A No. 3486 of 2019 following the dictum of the Division Bench in the case of Dr. Rachana Chaurasiya (supra) in Para 13 of the decision observed as under:-

"13. The maternity leave is a social insurance. The maternity leave is given for maternal and child health and family support. From perusal of the different provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 as amended in the year 2017 as well as the policy of the Central Government to grant child care leve and Government orders issued by the State Governments in the State of U.P. adopting the same for its female employees, I am of the firm opinion that the female employees of the State of U.P. are entitled for the benefits of the maternity leave as contained in the Maternity Benefit Act 1961 as amended by the Maternity Benefit (Amendement) Act, 2017."

24. Thus the State of U.P. in exercise of powers granted under Section 28 has already issued Government Order dated 8.12.2008 and 24.3.2009 adopting the provisions of the Maternity Benefits Act, 1961 for the benefit of its employees. Further, the modifications made by the Central Government have also been adopted by the State of U.P. in its Government Order dated 11.4.2011 reproduced hereinabove. Once the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 has been adopted by the State of U.P. as held by this Court then the said Act of 1961 would apply with full force irrespective of the provisions contained in the Financial Handbook which is merely an executive instruction and would in any case be subsidiary to the legislation made by the Parliament.

25. In conclusion it can safely be said that the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 has been enacted by the Parliament in exercise of powers under Entry 24 in List-III of the Seventh schedule of the Constitution of India and to secure the goals stated in Articles 38, 39, 42 and 43 of the Constitution of India and also to give effect to the provisions contained in Article 15 (3) of the Constitution. The provisions of Financial Handbook are merely executive instructions and would be subsidiary to the Act of the Parliament and in case of any inconsistency, the statutory enactment framed by the Parliament would prevail and hence, the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 would prevail over the provisions of the Financial Handbook and consequently, the provisions of Rule 153 (1) of the Financial Handbook Volume II to IV are read down with regard to the admissibility of leave to a women with regard to second pregnancy which would be governed by the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 and not Rule 153 (1) of the Financial Handbook Volume II to IV. The State Government already having adopted the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 as recorded by the Division Bench of this Court and followed by the Single Bench in the case of Anshu Rani versus State of U.P. passed in Writ-A No. 3486 of 2019, it is clear that the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 would prevail over any law.

26. In the case at hand the maternity leave so applied by the petitioner has been rejected simply by stating "Anumanya Nahi". Learned cousnel for the respondents has submitted that the petitioner is not entitled to the maternity leave in terms of the restriction imposed by the second proviso of Rule 153(1) of the Financial Handbook to the effect that second maternity leave cannot be granted where there is difference of less than two years between the end of the first maternity leave and grant of second maternity leave. Admittedly, the first maternity leave of the petitioner was availed and she gave birth to a male child on 4.1.2021. The petitioner became pregnant again and applied again for maternity leave on 11.6.2022. The second maternity leave to the petitioner has been refused by the impugned order. However, once the 1961 Act does not contain any such stipulation, the Basic Education Officer manifestly erred in rejecting the leave to the petitioner more particularly when Section 27 of the 1961 Act provides that it is the 1961 Act which would be applicable notwithstanding anything in consistent contained in any other law or contract of service.

27. In the light of the above discussion, the writ petition is allowed. The order impugned dated 23.6.2022 in the writ petition is set aside. The District Basic Education Officer concerned is directed to pass appropriate orders for sanctioning the maternity leave to the petitioner within a period of two weeks from the date of service of certified copy of the order upon him.

5. Amar Nath Tandon Vs G.K. Bhargava, 1987 AWC-2-877

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri T.P. Singh, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Narendra Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Manas Bhargava, learned Advocate holding brief of Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. By means of this petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution, the petitioner has questioned the correctness of the judgment of the Prescribed Authority in holding the building to be in a dilapidated condition so as to release the same in favour of landlord under Section 21(1) (b) of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter to be referred as 'Act No. 13 of 1972').

3. It is argued on behalf of the petitioner before this Court that the two technical reports were placed before the Prescribed Authority, one in favour of landlord and the other one in favour of tenant. The Prescribed Authority rejected both the reports and directed Advocate Commissioner's report. The Advocate Commissioner did submit a report before the Prescribed Authority after conducting inspection without the help of any technical expert and just only on the basis of visual inspection made by him while he inspected the building. This report was neither supported by any map made for the said purpose, nor the report was accompanied by any photograph of the building, and hence petitioner filed a detailed objection to the Advocate Commissioner's report questioning the authenticity of report itself. This objection remained pending consideration before the Prescribed Authority while the matter was finally heard, whereas, the objection submitted over report remained pending for orders.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that the objection of the petitioner against the report of Advocate Commissioner was earlier directed to be considered at the stage of final hearing of the case. However, it is argued that when the matter was finally heard and decided, the Prescribed Authority did not even consider the objection filed by the petitioner to the Advocate Commissioner's report and he straight away relied upon the said report to conclude and hold that the building was in a dilapidated condition. A legal argument therefore, advanced is that in the absence of consideration of the objection filed to the report, recording a finding that building in question was in a dilapidated condition on the basis of such a disputed report is a case of gross impropriety on the part of authority concerned while exercising quasi judicial power and therefore, the order passed by the Prescribed Authority deserved to be held unsustainable. In support of his argument, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a judgment of this Court in the case of Amar Nath Tandon v. G.K.Bhargava, 1987-AWC-2-877.

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent landlord submits that once the two technical reports available with the court were rejected being in contradiction of each other, the Court was left with no other option but to appoint the Advocate Commissioner to obtain a report of the fact condition of the building in question on the spot. He submits that a report of Advocate Commissioner is not required to be proved as such and a consideration of the objection to the report would be sufficient enough. He submits that the court can proceed to believe the report on facts and decide as to whether the building is in dilapidated condition or not. In support of his argument, he has placed reliance upon a judgment of this Court in Shamim Ahmad v. District Judge, Etah and others, 2000 (2) A.R.C. 543 and another judgment of this Court in Ram Prasad v. Smt. Shashi Chaurasiya, 2018 (3) A.R.C. 743.

6. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and their arguments raised across the bar, I find the moot legal question involved in the case to be, as to whether the Advocate Commissioner's report was worth reliance, more especially in the face of the fact that a detailed objection to the same had been filed and so how far court was justified in not discussing the objection in its order while arriving at a finding of fact absolutely based upon an Advocate Commissioner's report.

7. The relevant fact that needed consideration in the present case while granting an application under Section 21(1)(b) of Act No. 13 of 1972 would be to come to a definite finding as to whether the building has really arrived in such a dilapidated condition that it is not worth human living and if immediate repair or in case if demolition of the structure is not carried out it may cause fatal injuries to the inhabitants of the building.

8. Ordinarily, neither the court, nor the lawyers as such could have that technical skill and expertise to reach by themselves to a definite view regarding condition of a building without visiting the spot with a team of technical experts and therefore, in such situation report of technical expert of the field concerned, should have been obtained, no matter that the reports earlier placed were contradictory to each other. It is well within the jurisdiction of the Court to call for a fresh report from the technical expert by requiring parties to accord their consent for the same.

9. In the instant case, what I find is that instead of resorting to the above action, the court proceeded to appoint Advocate Commissioner to submit a report. A simpliciter appointment of Advocate Commissioner to call for a report qua the condition of a building in the present case resulted in submission of report of Advocate Commissioner based on mere observation by his eyes. Interestingly this report was not even supported by photographs taken on the spot so as to form a definite view that what was there observed in the report was the correct observation. Hence, a detailed objection was correcting filed by the other side questioning the report. Whether a report would be admissible in evidence or otherwise a mere reliance can be placed could be a relevant factor but once the objection has been taken to the report, the court was hide bound in law to dispose of those very objections before proceeding to rely upon the report. It would definitely be a case of gross impropriety and needed immediate arrest in my exercise of power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. If the court instead of discussing the objection, straightaway proceeded to believe the Advocate Commissioner's report to record a finding of fact that building was in a dilapidated condition, it does not appeal to common sense which is a must for dispensation of justice.

10. In my above view I find support from the judgment of this Court cited by learned Senior Advocate in the case of Amar Nath Tandon (supra), wherein, vide para 10 the court has held thus:

"10. Sri Rajendra Nath Saxena, Advocate, was appointed as Commissioner who after executing the commission submitted his report dated 18.3.81 (Annexure-13) with which the maps prepared by him were also annexed. the petitioner was not satisfied with the report and, therefore, he raised objections (contained in Annexure-14) in which the extent of the accommodation shown by the commissioner was disputed and it was pleaded that the commissioner's report was liable to be rejected. The Prescribed Authority without disposing of the objections on merits passed the order as under:- "Let the Commissioner's report Ga-24 be confirmed subject to objection Ga-26". A perusal of the judgment passed by the Prescribed Authority as also by the appellate court indicates that the report of the commissioner has been relied upon in recording concurrent findings as to the extent of accommodation in occupation of the landlords, as also in occupation of the petitioner without adverting to the objections filed by the petitioner. The objections remained undisposed of and the commissioner's report was clindly relied upon not only by the Prescribed Authority but also by the appellate court. The Prescribed Authority by order dated 27th April, 1981 himself had confirmed the report "subject to objections." It was, therefore, his duty to have considered the objections at the time of the hearing of the case and to dispose of those objections on merits before proceeding to rely upon the report. This having not been done, the report of the Commissioner was not available for consideration. The Supreme Court in a recent decision in Harbans Lal v. Jag Mohan Saran, 1985 AWC 903 has held that unless the objections against the commissioner's report are disposed of, the report does not become final and cannot be taken into consideration. In view of this decision the report of the Commissioner contained in Annexure-14 was not, as observed earlier, available for consideration either by the Prescribed Authority or by the appellate court."

(Emphasis added)

11. In so far as the judgment cited by learned counsel for the contesting respondent is concerned, I find that in the case of Shamim Ahmad (supra), the Court was more concerned with the issue where the application for Commission was rejected and which had not been appealed against. This is not an issue before this Court, nor this point has ever cropped up before the court below while deciding the matter. The question of issuance of Commission is not a point in issue here and therefore, the judgment is distinguishable on facts and in my considered view it is not of any help to the respondents.

12. In so far as the judgment in the case of Ram Prasad (supra) is concerned in that case there was a Engineer's report available before the court and there was an affidavit also filed in support thereof that the building may have collapsed at any point of time. The report as was discussed and believed in the said case, was rightly so done but here I do not find any such report available from any technical expert. Judgment is therefore, again distinguishable on facts being in particular set of facts of that case and so is of no help to contesting respondents.

13. Sri Manas Bhargava very fairly concedes at this stage that the objection filed by the petitioner had remained undisposed of even at the stage of final hearing of the mater while the court proceeded to believe that Advocate Commissioner's report that was seriously objected.

14. In such above view of the mater, therefore, I am not able to sustain the findings returned by the trial court as well as the findings returned by the court of appeal confirming the findings of the Prescribed Authority on the issue whether the building was in a dilapidated condition and deserved release under Section 21(1)(b) of Act No. 13 of 1972. Both the orders are hereby set aside.

15. Matter is remitted to the Prescribed Authority to be decided afresh after considering the objections of the petitioner to the Advocate Commissioner's report and disposing of the same first. It is further provided that it would be more desirable if the court proceeds to call for an expert report in respect of the condition of the building in question so that proper adjudication of the point is done for considering the application for release under Section 21(1)(b) of Act No. 13 of 1972.

16. Both the parties shall appear on or before 25.11.2022 before the Prescribed Authority. The Prescribed Authority shall thereafter proceed to decide the matter finally in the light of observations made herein above and also by giving full opportunity of hearing to the contesting parties, as expeditiously as possible, preferably within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order. It is further provided that in the meanwhile, the petitioner would continue to pay rent as he has been paying till now.

17. With the aforesaid observations and directions, this petition stands allowed with no order as to cost.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ankit Agarval Advocate, the learned Counsel for the applicant and Sri Krishna Agarawal Advocate, the learned counsel representing the Central Bureau of Narcotics (which will hereinafter be referred to as "C.B.N.').

2. The instant application has been filed seeking release of the applicant on bail in C.B.N. Case Crime No. 04 of 2021, under Sections 21/22/25/28/30/35 of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (which will hereinafter be referred to as "the Act'), Police Station C.B.N. New Delhi.

3. On 26-10-2021, the officers of C.B.N. had conducted a search at the premises of M/s G. M. Traders and it is alleged that various narcotic and psychotropic drugs were recovered from the premises and the applicant was arrested from the premises.

4. In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application it has been stated that the applicant's elder brother Lakshman Agrawal holds a license to "Sell, Stock, Exhibit or offer for sale, or distribute by wholesale, drugs other than those specified in Schedule C, C (1) and X' and he is running his medical store in the name and style of "M/s G. M. Traders' and by means of another license, he has been authorised to deal in drugs specified in Schedule C and C(1), excluding those who specified in Schedule "X'.

5. It has further been stated in the affidavit that Sri. Lakshman Agrawal does not keep good health and, therefore, the applicant looks after his business.

6. It has further been stated in the affidavit that the applicant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated in the present case; that the applicant has no criminal history and he is languishing in jail since 27-10-2021.

7. The C.B.N. has filed a counter affidavit stating that 31456 capsules of Tramadol, 158 injections and 800 tablets of Clonazepam, 9400 injections of Pentazocine, 1368 bottles of Codeine Syrup, 30 tablets of Diazepam, 216 injections of Buprenorphine and 580 tablets of Chlordiazepoxide were recovered in the search conducted at three premises of M/S G.M. Traders on 26-10-2021 and the applicant was arrested at 08:00 hours on 27-10-2021.

8. It has been stated in the counter affidavit that in his voluntary statement recorded under Section 67 of the NDPS Act, the applicant has admitted that he has resorted to illegal sale and stock of illicit NDPS medicines.

9. A copy of the complaint filed by the C.B.N. has been annexed with the supplementary counter affidavit in this Court in which the lists of recovered medicines have been mentioned. All the substances recovered during the raid were medicines manufactured by established manufacturing companies that had been purchased by the applicant and bills in respect of the same were shown to the officers of C.B.N., except Tramadol and Buprenorphine.

10. It has further been stated in the complaint that the statement of several persons were recorded during investigation from which it appeared that the medicines had been purchased by M/s G. M. Traders on proper bills as per the provisions of law in this regard.

11. Although numerous documents have been annexed with the copy of the complaint filed before this Court, a questionnaire issued by the Court of Special Judge, NDPS Act has been annexed with the supplementary counter affidavit, stating that no document has been filed by C.B.N. along with the complaint.

12. Section 2 of the NDPS Act defines narcotic drugs and manufactured drugs as follows: -

"(xiv) "narcotic drug" means coca leaf, cannabis (hemp), opium, poppy straw and includes all manufactured drugs;

(xi) "manufactured drug" means-- all coca derivatives, medicinal cannabis, opium derivatives and poppy straw concentrate; any other narcotic substance or preparation which the Central Government may, having regard to the available information as to its nature or to its nature or to a decision, if any, under any International Convention, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be a manufactured drug, but does not include any narcotic substance or preparation which the Central Government may, having regard to the available information as to a decision, if any, under any International Convention, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare not to be a manufactured drug;

13. Since NDPS is a Special Act providing stringent punishments for special offences, the first thing to be seen would be whether the provisions of the Act are applicable in the present case. For that, the CBN has to establish that the substances recovered were "narcotic drugs'. Although the CBN has filed a supplementary counter affidavit running into 900 pages, no declaration issued by the Central Government under Section 2 (xi) of the Act has been placed on record.

14. One of the medicines recovered is Corex T Cough Syrup and it has been alleged in the counter affidavit that it contains Codeine and, therefore, it is a manufactures drug and hence it is a narcotic drug. However, the composition of Corex T, or of any other medicine recovered, has not been placed on record.

15. Codeine is mentioned at Serial No. 132 of Schedule H appended to the Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, 1945, and, therefore, it is a drug.

16. On 14-11-1985 the Government of India had issued a notification No. 826(E) dated 14.11.1985 and S.O. 40(E) dated 29-01-1993 containing the list of narcotic drugs and Entry 35 thereof is as follows:--

"Methyl morphine (commonly known as "Codeine') and Ethyl morphine and their salts (including Dionine), all dilutions and preparations except those which are compounded with one or more other ingredients and containing not more than 100 milligrams of the drug per dosage unit and with a concentration of not more than 2.5% in undivided preparations and which have been established in Therapeutic practice*."*

(emphasis supplied)

17. As per the aforesaid Notification, if any drug contains not more than 100 milligrams of Methyl Morphine, which is commonly known as Codeine, per dosage unit, and in that drug Codeine is compounded with one or more other ingredients and if in the drug the concentration of Codeine is not more than 2.5% in undivided preparations and the drug has been established in Therapeutic practice, will not be a "Manufactured Drug" and, therefore, it will not be a "Narcotic Drug". It is not the case of C.B.N. that Corex T Cough Syrup contains pure Codeine without compounding it with any other substance, or that the drug concentration of Codeine in Corex T cough syrup exceeds 2.5%. Therefore, Corex T might not be a manufactured drug.

18. Similar is the case of other medicines and there is nothing on record to establish that those fall within the purview of the definition of "manufactured drugs' under the NDPS Act.

19. The other drugs recovered contain Tramadol Hydrochloride, which is mentioned at serial no. 507, Clonazepam, which is mentioned at serial no. 125, Chloradiazepoxide, which is mentioned at serial no. 105, Diazepam, which is mentioned at serial no. 147, Pentazocine which finds place at serial no. 392 of the Schedule H appended to the Drugs and Cosmetics Rules. Buprenorphine and Pentazocine is also contained in some of the drugs and those find place in Schedule H1 appended to the aforesaid Rules.

20. Sri. Krishna Agarwal has relied upon the following passage from the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohd. Sahabuddin v. State of Assam, (2012) 13 SCC 491, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court was deciding an appeal against an order passed by the High Court denying bail to a person accused of transporting huge quantity of some drugs without any documents: -

"12. As pointed out by us earlier, since the appellants had no documents in their possession to disclose as to for what purpose such a huge quantity of Schedule H drug containing narcotic substance was being transported and that too stealthily, it cannot be simply presumed that such transportation was for therapeutic practice as mentioned in the Notifications dated 14-11-1985 and 29-1-1993. Therefore, if the said requirement meant for therapeutic practice is not satisfied then in the event of the entire 100 ml content of the cough syrup containing the prohibited quantity of codeine phosphate is meant for human consumption, the same would certainly fall within the penal provisions of the NDPS Act calling for appropriate punishment to be inflicted upon the appellants. Therefore, the appellants' failure to establish the specific conditions required to be satisfied under the abovereferred to notifications, the application of the exemption provided under the said notifications in order to consider the appellants' application for bail by the courts below does not arise.

In Mohd. Sahabuddin, the drugs were being transported by the accused stealthily without any documents whereas in the present case the drugs had been purchased by M/s G. M. Traders, from various suppliers through valid invoices. Therefore, the aforesaid case is distinguishable on facts.

21. Moreover, the Notification dated 14-01-1985 uses the words "established in therapeutic practices" and not the words "for therapeutic practice". The phrase "for therapeutic practice" has been interpreted by a Division Bench of this Court in Vibhor Rana versus Union of India, 2021 SCC OnLine All 908, in the following manner: -

"41. The expression "established in therapeutic practice" has not been interpreted in any previous decision. It is a basic rule of interpretation that the words used in the statute should be given there simple and natural meaning and neither any word should be added nor should any word be ignored while interpreting any provision. When the Government has used the expression "established in therapeutic practice" these words cannot be altered so as to read it as "used for therapeutic purposes". The phrase "established in therapeutic practice" apparently means that the compound in question has been established to be a drug in accordance with the therapeutic practices followed for establishment of new drugs."

22. In Makhan Singh v. State of Haryana, (2015) 12 SCC 247 while dealing with a case under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, the Supreme Court reiterated that "...It is a well-settled principle of the criminal jurisprudence that more stringent the punishment, the more heavy is the burden upon the prosecution to prove the offence."

23. All the substances recovered are branded medicines manufactured by established manufacturing companies. The composition of none of the medicines has been placed on record to establish that these fall within the purview of "manufactured drugs' and the provisions of the Act are applicable to the recoveries made from the applicant.

24. If the substance recovered fall within the purview of the Act, the procedure laid down by the legislature in Section 52 A of the Act to be followed upon seizure of any narcotic drug or psychotropic substance regarding preparation of inventory, collection of samples, taking photographs etc. has to be followed. The CBN has not placed any material with the counter affidavit to indicate that the any empowered officer has made an application to any Magistrate for the purposes mentioned in Section 52 A and that the Magistrate has allowed the application. Therefore, at this stage, prima facie it appears that the procedure prescribed in Section 52 A of the Act has not been followed in the present case.

25. In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 52 A (1) of the Act, the Government of India, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) has issued a Standing Order No. 1/89 dated 13th June, 1989, laying down procedure for collection of samples etc. Section II of the Standing Order No. 1/89 reads as under:-- "Section II General Procedure for Sampling, Storage, etc.

2.1. Sampling and classification, etc. of drugs. All drugs shall be properly classified carefully weighed and sampled on the spot of seizure.

2.2. Drawal of samples. All the packages/containers shall be serialy numbered and kept in lots for sampling. Samples from the narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances seized, shall be drawn on the spot of recovery, in duplicate, in the presence of search witnesses Panchas and the person from whose possession the drug is recovered, and a mention to this effect should invariably be made in the panchnama drawn on the spot.

2.3. Quantity to be drawn for the sampling.-- The quantity to be drawn in each sample for chemical test shall not be less than 5 grams in respect of all narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, save in the cases of opium, ganja and charas (hashish) where a quantity of 24 grams in each case is required for chemical test. The same quantities shall be taken for the duplicate sample also. The seized drugs in the packages/containers shall be well mixed to make it homogeneous and representative before the sample (in duplicate) is drawn.

3.1. Preparation of inventory.-- After sampling, detailed intentory of such packages/containers shall be prepared for being enclosed to the panchnama. Original wrappers shall also be preserved for evidentiary purposes.

26. In Khet Singh v. Union of India, (2002) 4 SCC 380, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"10. The instructions issued by the Narcotics Control Bureau, New Delhi are to be followed by the officer-in-charge of the investigation of the crimes coming within the purview of the NDPS Act, even though these instructions do not have the force of law. They are intended to guide the officers and to see that a fair procedure is adopted by the officer-in-charge of the investigation."

27. In Noor Aga v. State of Punjab, (2008) 16 SCC 417, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"89. Guidelines issued should not only be substantially complied with, but also in a case involving penal proceedings, vis-à-vis a departmental proceeding, rigours of such guidelines may be insisted upon. Another important factor which must be borne in mind is as to whether such directions have been issued in terms of the provisions of the statute or not. When directions are issued by an authority having the legal sanction granted therefor, it becomes obligatory on the part of the subordinate authorities to comply therewith.

90. Recently, this Court in State of Kerala v. Kurian Abraham (P) Ltd.

(2008) 3 SCC 582, following the earlier decision of this Court in Union of India v. Azadi Bachao Andolan (2004) 10 SCC 1, held that statutory instructions are mandatory in nature.

91. The logical corollary of these discussions is that the guidelines such as those present in the Standing Order cannot be blatantly flouted and substantial compliance therewith must be insisted upon for so that sanctity of physical evidence in such cases remains intact. Clearly, there has been no substantial compliance with these guidelines by the investigating authority which leads to drawing of an adverse inference against them to the effect that had such evidence been produced, the same would have gone against the prosecution."

28. In Union of India v. Mohanlal, (2016) 3 SCC 379, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"12. Section 52-A(1) of the NDPS Act, 1985 empowers the Central Government to prescribe by a notification the procedure to be followed for seizure, storage and disposal of drugs and psychotropic substances. The Central Government has in exercise of that power issued Standing Order No. 1 of 1989 which prescribes the procedure to be followed while conducting seizure of the contraband. Two subsequent standing orders one dated 10- 5-2007 and the other dated 16-1-2015 deal with disposal and destruction of seized contraband and do not alter or add to the earlier standing order that prescribes the procedure for conducting seizures. Para 2.2 of Standing Order No. 1 of 1989 states that samples must be taken from the seized contraband on the spot at the time of recovery itself....

15. It is manifest from Section 52-A(2)(c) (supra) that upon seizure of the contraband the same has to be forwarded either to the officer-in-charge of the nearest police station or to the officer empowered under Section 53 who shall prepare an inventory as stipulated in the said provision and make an application to the Magistrate for purposes of (a) certifying the correctness of the inventory, (b) certifying photographs of such drugs or substances taken before the Magistrate as true, and (c) to draw representative samples in the presence of the Magistrate and certifying the correctness of the list of samples so drawn.

16. Sub-section (3) of Section 52-A requires that the Magistrate shall as soon as may be allow the application. This implies that no sooner the seizure is effected and the contraband forwarded to the officer-in-charge of the police station or the officer empowered, the officer concerned is in law duty-bound to approach the Magistrate for the purposes mentioned above including grant of permission to draw representative samples in his presence, which samples will then be enlisted and the correctness of the list of samples so drawn certified by the Magistrate. In other words, the process of drawing of samples has to be in the presence and under the supervision of the Magistrate and the entire exercise has to be certified by him to be correct.

31. To sum up we direct as under:

31.1. No sooner the seizure of any narcotic drugs and psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances is effected, the same shall be forwarded to the officer in charge of the nearest police station or to the officer empowered under Section 53 of the Act. The officer concerned shall then approach the Magistrate with an application under Section 52-A(2) of the Act, which shall be allowed by the Magistrate as soon as may be required under sub-section (3) of Section 52-A, as discussed by us in the body of this judgment under the heading "seizure and sampling". The sampling shall be done under the supervision of the Magistrate as discussed in Paras 15 to 19 of this order.

31.2. The Central Government and its agencies and so also the State Governments shall within six months from today take appropriate steps to set up storage facilities for the exclusive storage of seized narcotic drugs and psychotropic and controlled substances and conveyances duly equipped with vaults and double-locking system to prevent theft, pilferage or replacement of the seized drugs. The Central Government and the State Governments shall also designate an officer each for their respective storage facility and provide for other steps, measures as stipulated in Standing Order No. 1 of 1989 to ensure proper security against theft, pilferage or replacement of the seized drugs.

31.3. The Central Government and the State Governments shall be free to set up a storage facility for each district in the States and depending upon the extent of seizure and store required, one storage facility for more than one districts.

31.4. Disposal of the seized drugs currently lying in the Police Malkhanas and other places used for storage shall be carried out by the DDCs concerned in terms of the directions issued by us in the body of this judgment under the heading "disposal of drugs"."

29. However, there is nothing on record to indicate that an application was filed before the Magistrate seeking permission to draw representative samples in his presence, that the samples were actually drawn and the correctness of the list of samples so drawn was certified by the Magistrate as mandated by the legislature in Section 52 A and as directed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohanlal (Supra).

30. In State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, (1999) 6 SCC 172, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"Prosecution cannot be permitted to take advantage of its own wrong. Conducting a fair trial for those who are accused of a criminal offence is the cornerstone of our democratic society. A conviction resulting from an unfair trial is contrary to our concept of justice. Conducting a fair trial is both for the benefit of the society as well as for an accused and cannot be abandoned. While considering the aspect of fair trial, the nature of the evidence obtained and the nature of the safeguard violated are both relevant factors. Courts cannot allow admission of evidence against an accused, where the court is satisfied that the evidence had been obtained by a conduct of which the prosecution ought not to take advantage particularly when that conduct had caused prejudice to the accused."

31. In Tofan Singh v. State of T.N., (2021) 4 SCC 1, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that: -

"55. Given the stringent provisions of the NDPS Act, together with the safeguards mentioned in the provisions discussed above, it is important to note that statutes like the NDPS Act have to be construed bearing in mind the fact that the severer the punishment, the greater the care taken to see that the safeguards provided in the statute are scrupulously followed."

32. The principle that where the law prescribes a manner for doing a thing, the thing has to be done in that manner or not at all, was propounded in Taylor versus Taylor (1875) 1 Ch D 475 and it was followed by the Privy Council in Nazir Ahmad versus King Emperor, AIR 1936 PC 253 and it has consistently been followed since then. What prima facie appears at this stage is that the procedure prescribed by Section 52 A of the Act and by the Standing Order No. 1 of 1989 issued by the Central Government and the guidelines issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohanlal (Supra) have not been followed in the present case, which vitiates the prosecution.

33. It has further been held in Tofan Singh (Supra) that: -

"158.1. That the officers who are invested with powers under Section 53 of the NDPS Act are "police officers" within the meaning of Section 25 of the Evidence Act, as a result of which any confessional statement made to them would be barred under the provisions of Section 25 of the Evidence Act, and cannot be taken into account in order to convict an accused under the NDPS Act.

158.2. That a statement recorded under Section 67 of the NDPS Act cannot be used as a confessional statement in the trial of an offence under the NDPS Act."

Therefore, the confessional statements of the applicant cannot be used in the trial.

34. In Union of India v. Rattan Mallik, (2009) 2 SCC 624, the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the principles applicable in grant of Bail in offences under the NDPS Act as follows:--

"11. Section 37 of the NDPS Act, as substituted by Act 2 of 1989 with effect from 29-5-1989 with further amendment by Act 9 of 2001 reads as follows:

"37. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable.-

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (2 of 1974),

(a) every offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable;

(b) no person accused of an offence punishable for offences under Section 19 or Section 24 or Section 27-A and also for offences involving commercial quantity shall be released on bail or on his own bond unless--

(i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and Page 11 of 15

(ii) where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail.

(2) The limitations on granting of bail specified in clause (b) of sub-section

(1) are in addition to the limitations under the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (2 of 1974), or any other law for the time being in force on granting of bail."

It is plain from a bare reading of the non obstante clause in Section 37 of the NDPS Act and sub-section (2) thereof that the power to grant bail to a person accused of having committed offence under the NDPS Act is not only subject to the limitations imposed under Section 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973, it is also subject to the restrictions placed by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Apart from giving an opportunity to the Public Prosecutor to oppose the application for such release, the other twin conditions viz. (i) the satisfaction of the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence; and (ii) that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail, have to be satisfied. It is manifest that the conditions are cumulative and not alternative. The satisfaction contemplated regarding the accused being not guilty, has to be based on "reasonable grounds". The expression "reasonable grounds" has not been defined in the said Act but means something more than prima facie grounds. It connotes substantial probable causes for believing that the accused is not guilty of the offence he is charged with. The reasonable belief contemplated in turn, points to existence of such facts and circumstances as are sufficient in themselves to justify satisfaction that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence (vide Union of India v. Shiv Shanker Kesari, (2007) 7 SCC 798). Thus, recording of satisfaction on both the aspects, noted above, is sine qua non for granting of bail under the NDPS Act.

We may, however, hasten to add that while considering an application for bail with reference to Section 37 of the NDPS Act, the court is not called upon to record a finding of "not guilty". At this stage, it is neither necessary nor desirable to weigh the evidence meticulously to arrive at a positive finding as to whether or not the accused has committed offence under the NDPS Act. What is to be seen is whether there is reasonable ground for believing that the accused is not guilty of the offence(s) he is charged with and further that he is not likely to commit an offence under the said Act while on bail*. The satisfaction of the court about the existence of the said twin conditions is for a limited purpose and is confined to the question of releasing the accused on bail."*

35. Analyzing the facts of the present case for the purpose of deciding the applicant's claim for bail in light of the aforesaid law, I find the following facts to be relevant for deciding the application for grant of bail to the applicant: -

(i) The drugs in question have been manufactured by established manufacturing companies and the same had been purchased by M/s G. M. traders from various suppliers with proper documentation;

(ii) The proprietor of M/s G. M. Traders Lakshman Prasad holds license to deal in the drugs recovered and the applicant being his younger brother, claims to have been looking after his business because of his illness;

(iii) The drugs in question are mentioned in Schedule H and Schedule H 1 appended to the Drugs and Cosmetics Rules and at this stage, there is nothing on record to even prima facie indicate that the same are narcotic drugs;

(iv) No material has been placed on record to indicate that the procedure prescribed in Section 52 A of the Act has been followed in the present case

(v) The confessional statement of the applicant is not admissible in evidence in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Tofan Singh (Supra);

36. The aforesaid facts raise doubts against the prosecution case and it give rise to a reasonable ground for prima facie satisfaction at this stage that the applicant may not be held guilty of the alleged offences.

37. The applicant has no criminal history and, therefore, there is no ground to believe that in case the applicant is released on bail, he would again indulge in committing similar offences.

38. Moreover, nothing has been placed on record which may give rise to a reasonable apprehension that in case the applicant is released on bail, he would influence the witnesses.

39. No other material has been placed by the respondent C.B.N., which may indicate that the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

40. In view the aforesaid discussion and without making any observations on merits of the case, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail pending conclusion of the trial. The bail application is accordingly allowed.

41. Let the applicant - Pavan Kumar Agrawal, be released on bail in C.B.N. Case Crime No. 04 of 2021, under Sections 21/22/25/28/30/35 of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, Police Station C.B.N. New Delhi, on his furnishing a personal bond and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:--

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the dates fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

42. In case of breach of any of the above conditions, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application before this Court seeking cancellation of bail.

This criminal revision has been filed under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 challenging the order dated 15.01.2022 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Azamgarh in a Criminal Appeal No.80 of 2017 by which the order of the Juvenile Justice Board dated 19.01.2017 was set-aside and the matter was remanded by the appellate court for deciding it afresh in a matter arising out of Case Crime No.17 of 2016, under sections 376, 504, 506 I.P.C. and section 3/4 POCSO Act and section 3(2)(v) of SC/ST Act, Police Station-Mubarakpur, District- Azamgarh.

4. Relevant facts leading to this revision are as below:-

Informant- Indrawati lodged an F.I.R. alleging that her daughter, aged about 7 years, was playing in front of her house with other kids of the locality; the juvenile took away her daughter in a cabin/housing a tube-well and ravished her; she started bleeding and cried in pain; hearing her screams, other children came and apprehended him at the spot; the informant also reached at the place of occurrence; however, the accused escaped, threatening them; the victim was medically examined; blood was spotted in her private parts; after collection of the evidence a final report was submitted by the Investigating Officer; thereafter, on the protest petition moved by the informant, the matter was heard by the Juvenile Justice Board, where the final report was accepted and the protest petition was dismissed vide order dated 19.01.2017; challenging the aforesaid order, Criminal Appeal No.80 of 2017 was preferred before the Special Judge (POCSO Act)/Children Court, Azamgarh; after hearing both the sides, the order of Juvenile Justice Board was set-aside with a direction to Juvenile Justice Board to hear and decide the matter afresh, keeping in mind the observation of the appellate court. Against the above order of the appellate court dated 15.01.2022, the minor accused has come in this revision through his natural guardian/father.

5. The very first submission of learned counsel for the revisionist is that the order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board was well reasoned, speaking and was passed on appreciation of evidence available and other facts and circumstances of the case; the appellate court without any good reasons took a different view of the matter; it is a principle of law that where two views are possible, the one favouring the accused is to be preferred; but the appellate court did not adhere to the established principles of law and gave the decision in a one sided and arbitrary manner; the Juvenile Justice Board as well as the appellate court relied on doubtful evidence and also ignored the fact that the prosecution story was improbable; the appellate court ignored the material contradictions in the statements of the witnesses. The final report under section 169 Cr.P.C. was submitted by the Investigating Officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police, on sufficient grounds; the protest petition was dismissed by the Juvenile Justice Board after considering all the aspects including statements of witnesses, medical report, statement of the Doctor and a detailed order was passed; however, the appellate court passed its order dated 15.01.2022 in a casual and routine manner; hence, the order of the appellate court is liable to be set-aside.

6. First, I perused the order of the Juvenile Justice Board. Passing a very detailed order, the Juvenile Justice Board in a sequential manner referred to each one of parcha nos. I, II, IIA, IIB, III, IIIA, IV, IVA, V, VI, VII, VIII and IX and also made certain observations about the medical reports of the accused as well as the victim and thereafter observed that the conclusion drawn by the Investigating Officer is correct and is based on the evidence collected; therefore, the final report is accepted and the protest petition is dismissed.

7. I went through the order passed by the appellate court, which is under challenge in this revision; after referring to well-settled principles of law as regard the options available to the court concerned regarding final report, the appellate court proceeded to refer to the statements of the victim, aged about 7 years, wherein she supported the prosecution version and said "when I was playing with other kids of the locality, the accused called me and carried me of to near by tube-well cabin; I made a noise, then my sister Sushmita and others rescued me". The appellate court also referred to the statement of the victim recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C., wherein she reiterated the same statement adding that she was subjected to sexual assault. The appellate court, thereafter referred to the statement of Sushmita, sister of the victim, who supported the prosecution version and stated that on hearing screams of her younger sister, she rushed to the tube-well room and found the juvenile in the act; he (juvenile) was beaten then and there and the girl was rescued; the appellate court also referred to the statement of mother of the victim, who stated that she also reached at the spot after hearing the noise; the accused escaped from their clutches threatening them; she also stated that her daughter was bleeding from her private parts. After referring to the aforesaid statements of three witnesses, the appellate court, in my view, rightly observed that the Juvenile Justice Board dismissed the protest petition, ignoring the statements of three prosecution witnesses of facts; as far as medical evidence is concerned, the appellate court while noticing the fact of presence of blood on perineum in the medical examination of the victim, also observed that even if hymen was found intact, commission of sexual assault cannot be ruled out. In my view, such an observation is not perverse or incorrect.

8. Before I proceed further, I am inclined to refer to the most vehement argument put-forth before this Court; it is contended that the medical evidence is not only contradictory, but is also suspicious in character, therefore, no reliance ought to have been placed by the appellate court on it.

9. The medical examination of the victim was done after few hours of the incident in which hymen was found intact, no external injury and spermatozoa found in the vaginal smears but blood was found on perineum. It may be noted that this is not the case of prosecution that the accused was caught after the act rather the case is that he was caught in the act. My view is that necessary inference can be drawn in these circumstances and probability of sexual assault cannot be ruled out however whether it amounted to rape or attempt thereof, is for court concerned to decide. The opinion given by the appellate court in this regard cannot be categorized as perverse; the appellate court also rightly took note of the injuries found on the person of juvenile in the light of prosecution case that he was caught in the act at the spot and was beaten by the people gathered there.

10. I minutely perused the impugned order; the appellate court relied on the evidence given by the three prosecution witnesses of fact; mother of the victim, sister of the victim, who caught the accused in the act and who reached the spot on hearing screams of her seven years old sister and the victim herself as well as her medical report and as also the injuries of the accused, who as per prosecution version was beaten by the persons gathered there and drew a conclusion that the order of the Juvenile Justice Board is against the law and facts and therefore set it aside.

11. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Jagannath Choudhary vs. Ramayan Singh, 2002 SCC (Cri) 1181, while dealing with the powers of the revisional court held as below:-

"It is not to be lightly exercised but only in exceptional situations where the justice delivery system requires interference for correction of a manifest illegality or prevention of a gross miscarriage of justice. In Nosibolla, Logendranath Jha and Chinnaswamy Reddy as also in Thakur Das v. State of M.P., this Court with utmost clarity and in no uncertain terms recorded the same. It is not an Appellate forum wherein scrutiny of evidence is possible; neither the Revisional jurisdiction is open for being exercised simply by reason of the factum of another view being otherwise possible. It is restrictive in its Application though in the event of there being a failure of justice there can be said to be no limitation as regards the applicability of the Revisional power."

12. It may be noted that while exercising jurisdiction under section 397 Cr.P.C., the High Court is empowered to satisfy itself as to correctness, legality or propriety of any finding given by the courts below. While under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, the High Court is empowered to call for record of any proceeding to satisfy itself as to legality or propriety of any order and pass such order in relation thereof as it thinks fit. Two words, legality and propriety, are common in the revisional powers as exercisable under section 397 Cr.P.C. and as exercisable by the High Court under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 both. Thus, it is clear that the principles underlying the exercise of revisional powers under section 397 Cr.P.C. are also applicable to a large extent when the revisional powers have to be exercised under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015.

13. The Juvenile Justice Board though referred to the statements of the witnesses supporting the prosecution case, but did not relied on them instead relied on the evidence given by the witnesses who were essentially not the witnesses of the fact and also gave importance to the fact of lack of any external injury, absence of spermatozoa in pathological test and the fact of finding the hymen intact. In my view, the appellate court gave good reasons for not finding the order of the Juvenile Justice Board sustainable on facts and on law. In these circumstances, the approach of the appellate court in giving a different view cannot be called improper or illegal.

14. A submission has also been made before this Court that this case does not fall under the definition of section 375 I.P.C. Confronting this submission, learned A.G.A. has drawn the attention of this Court to the offence of rape as defined under section 375 I.P.C., which said that:-

"375. Rape- A man is said to commit "rape" if he-

(a) penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person."

15. It is important to notice that the extent of penetration is immaterial and that the perineum is part of the private parts, which sheathes the urethra. Hence, even if the penetration was very slight and was not into vagina, the same will bring the act within the definition of rape. However, I add a word of caution here that whether the act fell within the definition of rape, should be left to be decided by the court concerned when the matter is brought before it for hearing afresh.

16. On the basis of above discussion, I am of the view that the findings/observations given by the appellate court are not perverse, incorrect or illegal and the same is not liable to be interfered in exercise of revisional jurisdiction of this Court under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015.

17. Accordingly, present revision is dismissed at this stage.

18. Copy of the order be transmitted to the court concerned.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Umesh Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. None appeared for the revisionist. Heard learned A.G.A. and perused the material available on record. Since the criminal revision can not be dismissed in default, hence this revision is being decided on merit.

2. This revision has been preferred against the judgment and order of acquittal passed in S.T. No. 630 of 2005 (State Vs. Ram Chandra and Others) arising out of Case Crime No. 333 of 2004 under Section 302 I.P.C. Police Station- Bhuta, Bareilly, by Additional Sessions Judge Court No. XI, Bareilly on 9.1.2009.

3. In brief, the revision has been filed on the grounds that Additional Session Judge has not considered all the facts and circumstances and acquitted respondent no.1 which is not correct in the eyes of law. He has not passed the judgment in accordance with criminal law, hence, the impugned judgment be set aside and revision be allowed.

4. In brief facts of the case are that informant- revisionist (P.W.-1) Fida Hussain lodged an F.I.R. that on 14.7.2004, he along with his sons Pappu @ Israr (deceased), Iqbal (P.W.-2) and one Noor Hasan was sitting near pumping set. In the night at about 8:30 p.m. Bihari son of Khandari came there and asked the deceased to go to Mirzapur with him. As soon as deceased reached near the sugarcane field of Mohan Lal, informant heard voice of deceased and sound of fire. He with his son Iqbal Hussain and Noor Hasan rushed there and saw accused Ram Chandra, Uma Charan, Ram Autar and Bihari had surrounded his son Pappu and killed him by assaulting with Gupti (dagger) and country made pistol, thereafter, accused persons ran towards jungle. The incident was witnessed and accused were recognized in the light of torch. On this written complaint, an F.I.R. was lodged at 10:00 p.m. in Police Station Bhuta. Yashpal Singh, was appointed as I.O. of the case who started investigation. He copied chick F.I.R., G.D., statement of scribe, statement of the informant in the night and on next date i.e. 15.7.2004 inspected the place of occurrence and prepared map (Ex. Ka-12), appointed punch and conducted inquest (Ex. Ka-5) prepared papers for post-mortem and sent dead body for autopsy. He also took blood stained and plain soil and prepared recovery memo (Ex. Ka-11). He also prepared recovery memo of torch (Ex. Ka-17); copied post mortem report (Ex. Ka-2); arrested accused persons and recorded their statements and recovered a countrymade pistol of 12 bore with empty cartridges in its barrel on 16.7.2004 on the pointing out of the accused Ram Chandra and prepared its recovery memo (Ex. Ka-13); lodged F.I.R. at Crime No. 337 of 2004 under Section 25 of the Arms Act against accused Ram Chandra and submitted charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-16) under Section 302 I.P.C.

5. P.W.-7, S.I. Charan Singh, investigated the case under Section 25 Arms Act and copied chick F.I.R., G.D., statement of scribe and accused Ram Chandra, inspected the place of recovery and prepared map (Ex. Ka-18) and got prosecution sanction from District Magistrate (Ex. Ka-19) and submitted charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-20). Accused persons denied the charges and sought trial.

Prosecution examined following witness:-

6. After closure of the prosecution evidence, statement of the accused persons were recorded wherein they denied the charges and offence and claimed that false case and evidence have been adduced; I.O. has falsely investigated the matter. However, no evidence was produced in defence.

7. Learned trial Court has discussed the oral, documentary evidence as well as case laws and concluded that the F.I.R. is anti timed, I.O. and witnesses have made material improvements in the case and after obtaining post mortem report concluded that the injuries caused to the deceased can not be caused from the dagger and fire-arm; witnesses have not seen the occurrence and on the basis of suspicion and enmity, accused persons have falsely been implicated.

8. It would be better to decide the revision discussing the grounds taken by the learned trial Court separately.

9. According to the learned trial Court, the F.I.R. is anti timed. In this case, as per the F.I.R., the occurrence took place at 8: 30 p.m. on 14.7.2004. The distance of police station from the place of occurrence is 7 km. The F.I.R. was lodged at 10:00 p.m. In this regard, statements of witnesses and documentary evidence have been considered. The written complaint was reduced in writing by Ramesh Chandra of the village and after listening the informant put his mark on it and produced it in the police station and got a case registered at 10:00 p.m. In examination-in-chief, P.W.1 has deposed that the F.I.R. was written in village and he went police station with written complaint but in cross-examination this witness has admitted that when dead body was taken from Mirzapur to the police station, Ramesh also went with him. The dead body was removed after 2-3 hours from the spot meaning thereby the dead body remained on the place of occurrence at least up to 10:30 p.m. He again deposed that dead body was got up when the police reached the spot. It is also established that before lodging the F.I.R. the police had reached on the spot. Contrary to the statement of examination-in-chief this witness deposed that the Tehrir was reduced in writing by Ramesh Chandra sitting at the police station. This witness admits that the police station is about 7 to 7.5 km. away from Mirzapur (place of occurrence) contrary to the previous statement this witness again deposed that when he prepared the written complaint, the corpus was at police station. He further deposes that the Tehrir was written outside the police station and dead body was on the spot and he had gone alone to lodge the report. Thus, informant P.W.-1 has given self contradictory statement regarding time, writing and lodging of F.I.R.

10. P.W.-3, Ramesh Chandra, scribe, has also admitted that when he had written the complaint, the police had already reached on the spot. The learned trial Court opined that from the above statement it is established that before lodging the F.I.R. the police had reached on the spot. The informant P.W.-1, has also admitted that the dead body remained on the spot for 2-3 hours after the occurrence, thus, it is impossible for the informant to lodge the F.I.R. going 7-7.5 km away at 10:00 p.m. He cannot remain present same time at two places. Learned trial Court concluded that from the above statements it is established that the dead body was lying on the spot upto 11:00 p.m. P.W.-1 has also admitted in cross-examination that he went to police station with other persons carrying dead body of his son and the dead body had been sealed at the police station. In this respect statement of P.W.2 Iqbal, brother of the deceased, is also relevant. In cross-examination he deposed that after two and a half hours dead body was taken in a covered state keeping the same on lathi. The police had also reached on the spot, thereafter, the dead body was taken to the police station. The statement of this witness was recorded after 15 days while he was very much present at his house being the real son of the informant and real brother of the deceased.

11. From the aforesaid discussion, it is established that the F.I.R. was not lodged before reaching the police station and when they reached police station only then the F.I.R. was lodged making it ante-timed after consultation with police. Since the crime number and sections are also mentioned in the inquest report, therefore, it is obvious that the inquest proceeding was shown conducted after lodging the F.I.R., therefore, it was not possible for the I.O. to conduct the inquest proceeding on spot but in inquest report (Ex. Ka-5) the

I.O. has shown that the inquest was conducted at the place of occurrence on 15.7.2004 between 6:30 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. and according to Panchan the deceased was killed by firearm. Thus, it is also established that the inquest proceeding was not conducted on the spot as shown in Ex. Ka-5. Thus, the lodging of F.I.R. after making it ante-timed and convenient for the prosecution is established.

12. The fact that the F.I.R. is anti-timed is not the sole realm to discard the prosecution case but if it seems that it was done with malafide intention to falsely implicate the accused persons and to show some persons as eyewitnesses, then the prosecution case gets corrupted, incorrect and impure.

13. The learned trial Court has concluded that the accused persons had another ground that the witnesses of fact P.W.1 and P.W.2 have not seen the occurrence, they are not the real witness and they are the interested witness being real father and brother of the deceased.

14. In F.I.R., the informant has said that the accused persons killed the deceased by attacking with Gupti (dagger) and Tamancha (country made pistol) but the post-mortem report shows that there were six cut wounds, two lacerated wounds, one contusion and one injury of rubbing. Though the autopsy doctor has deposed that injury no. 1, 2, 4, 5 and 9 to 10 may occur from the attack of Gupti and sharp edged weapon and injury no. 3 & 6 may occur from the attack of blunt object but it is well known fact that from the attack of Gupti only punctured wound may occur and no cut wound shall occur. Informant P.W.-1, father of the deceased has deposed that after hearing the noise, he reached on the spot with his son, P.W.-2, Iqbal Hussain, saw that Umacharan had put foot on the neck of the deceased and Bihari had pressed his neck, Ram Chandra had caught his legs and Ram Autar was beating by the butt of the licensed gun and Uma Charan was assaulting from dagger. P.W.2 has also deposed about the attack in the same manner as alleged by P.W.1, Fida Hussain. According to him, when they exhorted, accused persons ran away on the road of Gualdiya by making fire. It is noteworthy that as per version of F.I.R., fire arm was also used in killing the deceased whereas this fact is not established from the medical evidence. Thus from beginning to the end of inquest proceeding the case of the prosecution was that the deceased was killed by firearm. After first recording of the statement under Section 161 CrP.C., the I.O. again recorded the statement of witness under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to make the case in conformity with medical evidence. But P.W.1 has also deposed that Ram Autar had gun in his hand, Ram Chandra and Uma Charan had country made pistols and by using these fire arms they killed the deceased and ran away towards the jungle. This witness has also deposed that accused persons had killed the deceased by firing at him. If we scrutinize oral and documentary evidence together, we find that deceased was not killed by fire arm and there was no injury of fire arm on the person of deceased. Hence, it is concluded that the witnesses have not seen the occurrence and they are falsely shown as eyewitnesses.

15. In Rambraksh Vs. State of Chhatisgarh, AIR 2016 SC 2381 and Tomaso Bruno Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2015) 7 SCC 178, it has been held that-

"Improvement made by witness in its statement made to the Court than what was made to the I.O. u/s 161 CrPC not to be relied on. "

16. In Rohtash Vs. State of Haryana, (2012) 6 SCC 589, it has been held that-

" If the P.Ws had failed to mention in their statements u/s 161 CrPC about the involvement of an accused, their subsequent statement before court during trial regarding involvement of that particular accused cannot be relied upon. Prosecution cannot seek to prove a fact during trial through a witness which such witness had not stated to police during investigation. The evidence of that witness regarding the said improved fact is of no significance."

17. Generally, if there is inconformity between the ocular and medical evidence, the ocular evidence shall prevail over the medical evidence but if medical evidence is true and correct after the examination/autopsy of the deceased and the oral evidence does not inspire confidence and does not corroborate the medical evidence and the presence of the witnesses is doubtful, the prosecution version may be disbelieved and discarded. In this case medical evidence does not say two possibilities, it says only one possibility that the deceased was killed by sharp edged weapon and the blunt object whereas as per the prosecution witness the deceased was killed by using a dagger and fire arm, if witnesses had seen the occurrence, there would have been punctured wounds and fire arm injuries but such injuries were not found by the doctor during the course of autopsy. Therefore, it is concluded that in case where the F.I.R. had been lodged making it ante-timed and I.O. tried his best for making the case in conformity with the medical evidence and the I.O. has recorded the statement of the witnesses afresh then it can safely be concluded that the act of the I.O. is not an independent and impartial act and he has not collected the evidence but has created the evidence to ensure the conviction of the accused persons.

18. In Thaman Kumar Vs. State of Union Territory of Chandigarh, (2003) 6 SCC 380, it is held that " the conflict between oral testimony and medical evidence can be of varied dimensions and shapes. There may be a case where there is total absence of injuries which are normally caused by a particular weapon. There is another category where though the injuries found on the victim are of the type which are possible by the weapon of assault, but the size and dimension of the injuries do not exactly tally with the size and dimension of the weapon. The third category can be where the injuries found on the victim are such which are normally caused by the weapon of assault but they are not found on that portion of the body where they are deposed to have been caused by the eye-witnesses. The same kind of inference cannot be drawn in the three categories of apparent conflict in oral and medical evidence enumerated above. In the first category t may legitimately be inferred that the oral evidence regarding assault having been made from a particular weapon is not truthful. However, in the second and third category no such inference can straightway be drawn. The manner and method of assault, the position of the victim, the resistance offered by him, the opportunity available to the witnesses to see the occurrence like their distance, presence of light and many other similar factors will have to be taken into consideration in judging the reliability of ocular testimony".

19. Thus, this Court is of the opinion that this case falls in first category about which it may legitimately be referred that oral evidence regarding injuries having been caused from a particular weapon is not trustworthy. Hence, it is concluded that the witnesses have not seen the occurrence and they are falsely deposing in evidence .

In Niranjan Prasad Vs. State of M.P., 1996 CrLJ 1987 (SC),

" in murder trial, testimony of eye-witnesses was that the deceased and injured were assaulted with sharp cutting weapons but their testimony was not corroborated with medical evidence showing deceased having been injured by blunt object (weapon) only. Post Mortem Report showing that the deceased had not injury which could be caused by a sharp cutting weapon and, indeed, he had sustained only one injury which could be caused, according to the doctor by a blunt weapon only. Keeping in view the sharp contrast in between the ocular testimony and the medical evidence" .

20. The principle laid down in this case totally fits in this case. According to the witnesses the deceased was killed by using a dagger and fire arm while there is no injury of dagger in the shape of punctured wound and there is no injury of fire arm. Hence, there was no occasion for the learned trial Court to convict the accused persons.

21. Even in inquest (Ex. Ka-5) punch/witness have said that the deceased appear to be died due to fire-arm injuries. Thus, it is again established that till the time of inquest, the prosecution was of the opinion that the deceased was killed by fire arm injury. While no injury of fire arm was found in the post mortem report.

22. In Uma Shankar Chaurasia Vs. State of U.P., 2004 (50) ACC 152 (All... LB) (DB) and State Govt. of NCT of Delhi Vs. Sunil, (2001) 1 SCC 652, it has been held that-

"when there is conflict between the injury report and Post Mortem Report, the Post Mortem Report should be preferred over the injury report."

23. In Sunil Kundu Vs. State of Jharkhand, (2013) SCC (Cri) 427, it has been held that -

"General rule is that when there is a cogent and reliable ocular evidence, it will have primacy over medical evidence. However when eye-witness account is totally inconstant with medical evidence and there is reason to believe that improvements were made in Court to bring prosecution case in conformity to post-mortem notes. The contradictions between oral and medical evidence cannot be ignored. In this case major lacuna in prosecution case was that alleged use of fire arms by the accused was not proved as no fire arm injuries were found on deceased. Hence accused were held entitled to benefit of doubt. "

24. In Chanali Maddilety Vs. State of A.P. (20110 SCC (Cri) 445,

"Accused AI and A2 alleged to have used stone and stick. The deceased suffered 13 incised and stab wounds. No injury was caused by blunt object like stick or stone. As injuries did not correspond to the weapons allegedly used by A1 and A2. The Trial Court acquitted the accused A1 and A2.

25. In Devatha Venkata Swamy @ Ramgaiah Vs. Public Prosecutor High Court, 2004 SCC (Cri) 963,

" The witness in his evidence clearly stated that the appellant pierced the forehead of the deceased once, but the medical report shows that the injuries caused to the forehead of the deceased was by the use of a blunt weapon and that too by repeated blows. So there was direct conflict between the medical evidence and ocular evidence. Hence the prosecution case was not believed. "

26. Consequently this Court concludes that according to the I.O. and the witnesses of the fact the deceased was killed by fire arm while as per the medical report, the injuries were caused by sharp edged weapon and blunt object, hence, post mortem report would prevail and in view of the report and evidence of the post mortem doctor, the evidence of the alleged eye-witnesses is false, incorrect and untrustworthy.

27. The I.O., P.W.-6- Yashpal Singh, has admitted that informant in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that accused persons had killed his son by fire arm but after receiving the post mortem report, he again recorded the statement of informant. Statement of P.W. 2, Iqbal Hussain, was also recorded only after receiving post mortem report. This witness in his cross-examination has accepted that statement of the informant was recorded in the night of 14.7.2004. Informant has also accepted in his cross-examination that first of all he had stated to the I.O. that accused persons had killed his son from gun and country made pistol. He has also accepted that he had instructed the scribe Ramesh Chandra regarding killing of the deceased by firing from the gun. It has already been concluded that the F.I.R. is ante-timed and it is again concluded that the I.O. has tried his best to make the case in conformity with the post mortem report and accordingly he recorded the statement of witnesses of the fact. This finding also find support from the statement of the informant-P.W.-1, given to the I.O. first time on the date of occurrence. Further, the statement of the informant was recorded by the I.O. on 29.7.2004 after receiving the post-mortem report only to make the prosecution case in accordance of the injuries but even then he could not succeed. Thereafter, making an improvement, the informant- P.W.1 also changed his evidence and in the Court he deposed that the deceased was killed by sharp edged weapon and blunt object. Learned trial Court has found the illegal and unacceptable improvement and this Court also is in agreement with the finding of the learned trial Court.

28. It is also noteworthy that P.W.4, Dr. Arvind Agrawal, in his cross-examination has insisted that dagger is a thin and long weapon. Cut wound present on the dead body may occur only from the sharp edged weapon like Gadasha or Tabal or sword.

29. It is noteworthy that when P.W.2, Iqbal Hussain, was very much present on the spot and at his house then why his statement was not recorded along with the statement of the informant and why statement was recorded after 15 days on 29.7.2004. This witness also deposed in the same manner like the informant that the deceased was killed by dagger and butt part of the gun while as per P.W.4 all the injuries were caused from sharp edged weapon like tabal, Gadasha, sword and by using blunt object.

30. In Maruti Rama Naik Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2003 0 Supreme (SC) 863, it has been held that -

"In this case P.W.-3, injured, had not named the appellants as assailants in his statement to the police despite opportunity to record his evidence after one day's delay his statement was recorded. It was held that without corroboration the evidence of this witness was not liable to be relied on. P.W.-4 was the close friend of the deceased but he did not inform the police or anybody else and he went to his workplace. There was unexplained delay in recording his statement."

31. Hence, statement of witness was not relied upon.

32. Thus, in the same manner the evidence of P.W.-2 is also not reliable and trustworthy.

33. Accused Ram Chandra has also been charged for Section 25 of the Arms Act. According to the prosecution version a country made pistol and empty cartridges used in commission of crime were recovered from his possession on 21.7.2004. Learned trial Court has concluded that if the accused Ram Chandra was arrested from public place like Faiznagar Tiraha and confessed to get the country made pistol recovered used in commission of the crime and if the same was recovered near the sugarcane farm then why no public witness was taken and why the declaration of the accused was not recorded. More so, the country made pistol is not connected from commission of crime as there is no firearm injury to the deceased. So far as licensed gun of the accused is concerned, if it was used in the crime and the licensed gun was taken into custody, why the procedure to cancel the license was not initiated is also questionable.

34. The I.O. of the 25 Arms Act is the subordinate to the S.H.O., P.W.-6, Yashpal Singh, hence, he was having no option but to submit the charge-sheet against the accused Ram Chandra without obtaining any F.S.L. report. Thus, this Court is of the opinion that the learned trial Court has rightly concluded that the F.I.R. is anti-timed and there is illegal and unnatural improvements by the I.O. and the witnesses of fact have not witnessed the incident, they were not present on the spot, therefore, their statement is not consistent.

35. In the F.I.R. the informant has put a motive that deceased did not listen to the accused that is why the accused have killed him. This fact is not explained by the prosecution and it can not be a ground to kill a person by another. There is no need to prove the motive if there is direct evidence. Though motive and mens-rea may arise at any point of time even at the time of occurrence also. There is some importance of motive in cases of circumstantial evidence though if chain of the circumstances is complete, there is no need to prove the motive but in this case it is not proved that the witnesses of fact were present on the spot, therefore, there is variation in their statement and there is contradiction between the ocular and the medical evidence. That's why evidence of the witnesses of fact does not inspire confidence in the mind of the Court, hence, their evidence has been rejected. Thus the case remains a case of circumstantial evidence. In that case the prosecution is duty bound to prove the motive and that the chain of the circumstances is complete. As per the F.I.R. it is not a case of circumstantial evidence. Neither motive nor extra judicial confession nor last seen or recovery of any incriminating item has been proved.

36. Another golden thread which runs through the web of administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocent, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. (See: Kali Ram Vs. State of H.P. (1973) 2 SCC 808; State of Rajasthan Vs. Raja Ram (2003) 8 SCC 180; Chandrappa & Ors Vs. State of Karnataka, 2007 4 SCC 415: Upendra Pradhan Vs. State of Orissa, (2015) 11 SCC 124 and Golbar Hussain & Ors. Vs. State of Assam & Anr. (2015) 11 SCC 242).

37. Direct evidence means that from which the existence of a given thing or fact is proved either by its actual production, or by the testimony or admissible declaration by someone who has perceived it. In the case of circumstantial evidence certain facts are proved, from which the existence of a given fact is inferred. The two forms are equally admissible. " Superiority of the former is that whilst it contains fallibility of assertion and perception as source of error the latter has in addition, fallibility of inference. " Circumstantial evidence must always be direct, i.e. the facts from which the existence of fact in issue is to be inferred must be proved by direct evidence."

38. Addressing the context of circumstantial evidence, Ian Dennis in the treatise " The Law of Evidence" has propounded:

" Where the case against the accused depends wholly or partly on inferences from circumstantial evidence, factfinders cannot logically convict unless they are sure that inferences of guilt are the only ones that can reasonably be drawn. If they think that there are possible innocent explanations for circumstantial evidence that are not" merely fanciful", it must follow that there is a reasonable doubt about guilt. There is no rule, however, that judges must direct juries in terms not to convict unless they are sure that the evidence bears no other explanation that guilt. It is sufficient to direct simply that the burden on the prosecution is to satisfy the jury beyond reasonable doubt, or so that they are sure.

39. The very high standard of proof required in criminal cases minimizes the risk of a wrongful conviction. It means that someone whom, on the evidence, the fact finder believes is " probably" guilty, or "likely" to be guilty will be acquitted, since these judgments of probability necessarily admit that the fact finder is not "sure". It is generally accepted that some at least of these acquittals will be of persons who are in fact guilty of the offences charged, and who would be convicted if the standard of proof were the lower civil standard of the balance of probabilities. Such acquittals are the price paid for the safeguard provided by the "beyond reasonable doubt" standard against wrongful conviction. "

40. In State of U.P. Vs. Satish, (2005) 3 SCC 114, it has been laid down that:

"There is no doubt that conviction can be based solely on circumstantial evidence but it should be tested by the touchstone of law relating to circumstantial evidence laid down by this court as far back in 1952."

41. Thus, one of the earliest cases, where the proposition related to circumstantial evidence has been laid down is Hanumant Govind Nargundkar Vs. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 343.

42. The principle enunciated therein has been reiterated in a catena of judgments of the Hon'ble Apex Court and specifically mention may be made of Sharad Birdichand Sards Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622; (1984) 2 SCC 116. The conditions precedent in the words of the Hon'ble Court before conviction could be based on circumstantial evidence must be fully established. The conditions are:

1. The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned must or should and not may be established.

2. The fact so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused.

3. The circumstances should be of conclusive nature and tendency.

4. They should exclude every possible hypothesis except that one to be proved.

5. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

These conditions have been called as the 'five golden principles' or to say' constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence.'

43. Recently, in Nathiya Vs. State Rep. By Inspector of Police, Bagayam Police Station, Vellore, (Crim. Appeal No. 1015/2010, date of judgment 08.11.2016), the Hon'ble Court has approvingly referred to Sujit Biswas Vs. State of Assam, (2013) 12 SCC 406 and Raja @ Rajendra Vs. State of Haryana (2015) 11 SCC 43. The proposition laid down is to the effect that in scrutinizing the circumstantial evidence, a court is required to evaluate it to ensure that the chain of events is established clearly and completely, to rule out any reasonable likelihood of the innocence of the accused. Whether the chain is complete or not would depend on facts of each case emanating from the evidence and no universal yardstick should ever be attempted.

44. More recently in Ganpat Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 159, it has been reiterated that circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established. The circumstances taken cumulatively, should form a change so complete, that there is no escape from the conclusion, that within all human probability, the crime was committed by accused and they should be incapable of explanation on any hypothesis other than that of guilt of accused and inconsistent with his innocence.

45. Motive must be proved in a case of circumstantial evidence : But in relation to criminal trials based circumstantial evidence only, the Supreme Court has, in the cases noted below, laid down different law on the point of motive and has clarified that prosecution should prove motive as well if it's case is based on circumstantial evidence.

46. In view of Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police Krishnagiri, AIR 2011 SC 1249, in this case the motive is neither grave nor acceptable and it appears to be unreasonable and insufficient to commit the alleged crime. No independent witness has been examined in support of the alleged motive.

47. No F.S.L. Report in respect of blood stained and plain soil has been produced and it is not proved beyond reasonable doubt that deceased was actually killed on the alleged place of occurrence.

48. Thus, from all the four corners this Court is also of the opinion that the learned trial Court has rightly acquitted the accused persons. Hence, revision lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

49. Accordingly, the revision is dismissed. Lower Court's record be sent back along with a copy of this judgment.

6. M/s I.O.C. Vs M/s. NEPC India Ltd & ors.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Harish Chandra Mishra, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri O.P. Mishra, learned AGA for the State.

2. This criminal revision has been filed against the order dated 16.08.2022 passed by the Special Judge, SC/ST Act, Jhansi in Criminal Misc. Case No. 334 of 2022 refusing to order registration of case against the opposite parties on an application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. by the applicant-Ravi Shankar.

3. This matter is being finally decided without issuing notice to the respondent no. 2.

4. The relevant facts in brief are that the applicant/present revisionist had moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. against Ashish Kushwaha and two unknown persons with the allegations that Ashish Kushwaha, married the applicant's wife's sister and became his 'saadu bhai' thus has been able to set up friendly relations with him. He lured the revisionist to enter into partnership with him. The accused made him believe that he has been making huge profits by getting tenders in his favour worth Rs. 2,17,00,000/-. He assured him to earn a good amount of money if he participated in his business venture; the applicant/revisionist could not detect his dishonest and fraudulent intention initially and therefore, he invested a total amount of Rs. 15,00,000/- on different dates, however, later on, he came to know that all the tenders and quotations were false and fabricated; he asked the applicant/revisionist to meet him at a hotel in Jhansi in this connection; he also called him at a place in Lucknow where he was threatened with his life. On 01.02.2022, Ashish Kushwaha came to his place in his motor car, indulged in name calling and forcibly made him sign some stamp papers and also assaulted the applicant/revisionist.

5. The main contention of the revisionist is that the learned court below wrongly held that the place of occurrence fell within District-Etawah and not within District-Jhansi; that the court below ignored the facts mentioned in the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., showing that a big amount of money was grabbed from the revisionist with a dishonest intention; he was, on false pretext, cajoled him to enter into partnership with the respondent no. 2 with an eye on his money; the impugned order has been passed on the basis of conjectures, surmises and being arbitrary should be set aside with the direction to lodge the FIR against the respondent no. 2 under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 452, 323, 504, 506, 406 IPC and Section 3(1)(10) of the SC/ST Act.

6. In nutshell, the allegations are that the applicant/revisionist was lured to enter into a business transaction with a dishonest intention and that he has been defrauded of

Rs. 15,00,000/- and was assaulted when the applicant/revisionist protested against him.

7. The matter was heard and was dismissed by an order dated 16.08.2022. Against the order of dismissal, the applicant/revisionist has come in revision before this Court.

8. Before I proceed further, it shall be useful to refer to some precedents with regard to nature of dispute, as is before this Court. In Criminal Appeal No. 932 of 2021 (Randheer Singh vs. State of U.P. and Others) decided on 02.09.2021, the case before the Supreme Court was that one Arjun Dev and his wife Bela Rani allegedly executed a registered power of attorney of their bhumidhari plot in favour of one Rajan Kumar, who, on the basis of this power of attorney, executed sale deeds in favour of the appellant and his family members and their name was mutated in the revenue records. However, during mutation proceedings, one Ms. Beena Shrivastava unsuccessfully filed an objection before the Nayab Tehsildar. Thereafter, she filed a suit for cancellation of power of attorney but that was dismissed; the order of dismissal was challenged in an appeal before the High Court, which was partly allowed; she went for further remedies by filing a Special Leave Petition (Civil) but she remained unsuccessful vide orders passed in 2016. The appellant filed civil suit against Beena Shrivastava for injunction which was granted in his favour. The unsuccessful party brought some new persons in picture and a FIR came to be lodged in September 2017, which was challenged before the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad under Article 226, and was disposed of by the High Court with the direction that the petitioners shall not be arrested till submission of Police report, though, the investigation shall go on and shall be brought into logical end.

In the above factual matrix of the case, the Supreme Court relied on the judgment in Paramjeet Batra vs. State of Uttarakhand; (2013) 11 SCC 673. The Apex Court referred to findings given in Paramjeet Batra (supra) in Randheer Singh (supra) as below:-

"Whether a complaint discloses a criminal offence or not depends upon the nature of facts alleged therein. Whether essential ingredients of criminal offence are present or not has to be judged by the High Court. A complaint disclosing civil transactions may also have a criminal texture. But the High Court must see whether a dispute which is essentially of a civil nature is given a cloak of criminal offence. In such a situation, if a civil remedy is available and is, in fact, adopted as has happened in this case, the High Court should not hesitate to quash the criminal proceedings to prevent abuse of process of the court."

The Hon'ble Apex Court in the same case also referred to observation made in Uma Shankar Gopalika vs. State of Bihar and Another; (2005) 10 SCC 336, wherein it was observed that as no offence under Sections 420 and 120 IPC was made out and the dispute was of purely of civil nature, hence, the remedy lay before the civil court.

The Apex Court further referred to observation made in Robert John D'Souza & Ors . v. Stephen V. Gomes & Anr.; 2015 (9) SCC 96 in Para 31 of Randheer Singh (supra) as below:-

"12. As far as the offence of cheating is concerned, the same is defined in Section 415 IPC, for which the punishment is provided under Section 420 IPC. Section 415 reads as under:

"415. Cheating.?Whoever, by deceiving any person, fraudulently or dishonestly induces the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property, or intentionally induces the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body, mind, reputation or property, is said to 'cheat'.

Explanation.?A dishonest concealment of facts is a deception within the meaning of this section."

Illustrations

***

"From the above language of the section, one of the essential ingredients for the offence of cheating is deception, but in the present case, from the contents of the complaint it nowhere reflects that the complainant was deceived or he or anyone else was induced to deliver the property by deception. What was done, was so reflected in the resolutions, and sale deeds.

46. The court must ensure that criminal prosecution is not used as an instrument of harassment or for seeking private vendetta or with an ulterior motive to pressurise the accused. On analysis of the aforementioned cases, we are of the opinion that it is neither possible nor desirable to lay down an inflexible rule that would govern the exercise of inherent jurisdiction. Inherent jurisdiction of the High Courts under Section 482 CrPC though wide has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when it is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the statute itself and in the aforementioned cases. In view of the settled legal position, the impugned judgment cannot be sustained."

16. In view of the above discussion and the facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the view that none of the offences for which the appellants are summoned, is made out from the complaint and material on record. We further find that it is nothing but abuse of process of law on the part of the complainant to implicate the appellants in a criminal case after a period of twelve years of execution of registered sale deeds in question, who is neither party to the sale deeds nor a member of the Society. Therefore, we allow the appeal and set aside the orders passed by the High Court and that of the courts below. Accordingly, the order passed by the Magistrate summoning the appellants in the criminal complaint filed by Respondent 1, in respect of the offences punishable under Sections 406, 409 and 420 IPC, also stands quashed."

Eventually, the Apex Court observed that the criminal proceedings were being taken recourse as a weapon of harassment against the purchasers and that the FIR read with chargesheet did not disclose any offence and allowed the appeal and quashed the proceedings against the appellant.

9. The Apex Court in Criminal Appeal No. 1285 of 2021 (Mitesh Kumar J. Sha vs. State of Karnataka and Others) referred to the judgment of itself rendered in M/s Indian Oil Corporation Vs. M/s. NEPC India Ltd & Ors. in Para 41 and 42 as below:

"41. "....."14. While no one with a legitimate cause or grievance should be prevented from seeking remedies available in criminal law, a complainant who initiates or persists with a prosecution, being fully aware that the criminal proceedings are unwarranted and his remedy lies only in civil law, should himself be made accountable, at the end of such misconceived criminal proceedings, in accordance with law."

42. It was also observed:-

"13. While on this issue, it is necessary to take notice of a growing tendency in business circles to convert purely civil disputes into criminal cases. This is obviously on account of a prevalent impression that civil law remedies are time consuming and do not adequately protect the interests of lenders/creditors?.There is also an impression that if a person could somehow be entangled in a criminal prosecution, there is a likelihood of imminent settlement. Any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure though criminal prosecution should be deprecated and discouraged."

10. Now I come back to the facts of this case. From perusal of the application moved under Section 156(3) by the revisionist, it becomes more than obvious that it has been drafted not on the basis of real facts but on the basis of legal advice. This is not disputed that the accused/opposite party Ashish is closely related to the applicant/revisionist and that they entered into business partnership. The 'ikrarnama'/deed of agreement dated 08.10.2021 referred to in the application under Section 156(3), a copy whereof is on record, shows that they have been partners for carrying on business of their firm. It will be useful to reproduce the words in the 'ikrarnama' paper no. 19A available on record, which is as below:-

2- यह कि प्रथम पक्ष दिनांक 07/10/2021 को इटावा को झाँसी आये और पूर्व में ही तय द्वितीय पक्ष से० 4,00,000/- (चार लाख रुपया) नगद प्राप्त करने के लिये तय तिथि पर झाँसी आये और नगद रुपया 4,00,000/- रू० अपनी गाड़ी के अन्दर गाड़ी सं० यू०पी० 60 एफडी 8457 मारूति बलेजर के अन्दर दोपहर के समय द्वितीय पक्ष से प्राप्त किये। उक्त रुपया प्रथम पक्ष ने द्वितीय पक्ष से दिनांक 08/10/2021 को नगद प्राप्त किये। यह तहरीर आज दिनांक 08/10/2021 को जजी झाँसी में स्वेच्छा से की गयी वक्त पर काम आवे।"

11. There is nothing to suggest that deception was ever practiced on the applicant for execution of this 'ikrarnama' or that any false facts were introduced in that paper to defraud the applicant of his money. There is no material to even faintly suggest that any false document was ever executed or that tenders were false and fabricated. It is not made clear in what manner the papers were false or fabricated. From the application, prima facie, it appears that some dispute arose in course of their business or financial or monetary transactions. There are sufficient indicators to show that dispute, if any, between the two sides is essentially of a civil nature. The application under Section 156(3) has been drafted to give it a criminal colour by using such words as 'छल, कपट, बदनीयती'. Using statutory language is not sufficient to draw the conclusion that there has actually been a deception practiced upon him for siphoning of money from the revisionist with malafide and dishonest intention. It also appears that the stories have been cooked up to bring the matter within the jurisdiction of court's at Jhansi.

12. In my view, prima facie, no offence much less under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471, are made out and that ingredients of rest of the Sections 452, 323, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(1)(10) of the SC/ST Act have been inserted deliberately to confound and to mislead the courts. At the most probably the dispute, if any, between them is of civil nature and the revisionist has unsuccessfully tried to give it a cloak of criminality. Such an attempt must fail. I do not find any illegality, impropriety or irregularity in the impugned order and thus revision is liable to be dismissed.

13. The revision is, accordingly, dismissed at the stage of admission.

(A) Criminal Law - The Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 - Section 102 - Revision , Section 15 - Preliminary assessment into heinous offences by Board , Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 307, 342, 452, 354, 326k, 326kh, 302, 376 & 511 - The Protection of Children From Sexual Offences Act, 2012 - Sections 7/8 , The Schedule Castes And The Schedule Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act , 1989 - Section 3(2)5 - Opinion of a child psychologist or other professional dealing in child psychology or child psychiatry is mandatorily to be taken unless the Board comprises any such member.(Para -12)

(B) The Juvenile Justice Rules Model Rules, 2016 - Rule 10A - Board is empowered to take the assistance of psychologist/psychiatrist and other experts who had experience of working with the children under difficult circumstances - "the ability to understand the consequences of the offence" - consequences of the offence could be numerous and manifold which cannot be just linked to a framework - for this purpose, the overall picture as also future consequences with reference to the facts of the case are required to be constantly analysed by the Board. (Para - 9)

FIR against revisionist-accused person - harassed a 16-year-old girl - matter before Juvenile Justice Board - age determination inquiry - declared a juvenile - appealed - order was affirmed - hence revision - Juvenile submitted an application to Board - for psychologist/psychiatrist examination - request rejected - questions - assess individual's mental capacity and understanding of act's consequences - unclear if any board members are professionals in child psychology - appellate court concurred with Juvenile Justice Board's assessment - stating court did not independently evaluate facts. (Para - 4,11,12)

HELD:-Record does not indicate that opinion of professional experts on two counts i.e., the mental capacity to commit the crime and ability to understand the consequences of the act have been elicited at any stage. Impugned orders set aside. Matter of preliminary assessment remanded to the Juvenile Justice Board for expeditious proceedings. (Para - 12,13)

Barun Chandra Thakur Vs Master Bholu & anr. , Criminal Appeal No. 950 of 2022

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. It appears that name of the revisionist-juvenile has been disclosed in the memo of revision. This fault from the side of revisionist escaped detection by the Registry. The concerned Registry is directed to delete the name of the revisionist-minor from the title of the revision as fed and shown in the data on official website and represent him as "Minor 'X'.

2. Heard Sri Abhishek Kumar, learned counsel for the revisionist and Ms. Aaarti Agrawal assisted by Sri Vinay Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the State-respondent. None appears for the respondent no. 2 despite service of notice.

3. This criminal revision has been filed challenging the order dated 11.08.2021 passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh and further challenging the order dated 23.12.2021 passed by the Special Judge, POCSO Act, Azamgarh in Criminal Appeal No. 51/2021 affirming the order of the Juvenile Justice Board whereby it was ordered that the child in conflict with law shall be tried as an adult in terms of provisions of Section 15 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 for criminal case arising out of Case Crime No. 40 of 2018 under Sections 307, 342, 452, 354, 326k, 326kh, 302, 376, 511 IPC, Sections 7/8 POCSO Act and Section 3(2)5 of SC/ST Act, Police Station Nizamabad, District-Azamgarh.

4. Facts relevant for the purpose of this revision are as below:

A FIR was registered against the revisionist-accused person with the allegations that he used to harass the daughter, aged about 16 years, of the informant; the girl was compelled to change her mobile number. On 07.05.2018, the accused came to his house and asked from his daughter about the new number; when she refused to give the same, he locked the victim in the room and set her ablaze after pouring kerosene oil. She sustained 91% of the burn injuries and thereafter, succumbed to it. The matter came before the Juvenile Justice Board; the age determination inquiry was conducted by the Juvenile Justice Board on 19.09.2020 and he was declared a juvenile aged about 17 years 4 months on the date of the occurrence. Thereafter, the Juvenile Justice Board proceeded to conduct an inquiry under Section 15 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 and came to a conclusion that the juvenile should be tried as an adult and transmitted the matter to the Sessions Court by an order dated 11.08.2021. Against the aforesaid order of the Juvenile Justice Board, an appeal was preferred on behalf of the juvenile accused before the Special Judge, POCSO Act, Appeal No. 51 of 2021 and the same was dismissed and the order of the Juvenile Justice Board was affirmed by the order dated 23.12.2021. Now, the juvenile has come in revision under the provisions of Section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 challenging the order dated 11.08.2021 passed by the Juvenile Justice Board as well as the order dated 23.12.2021 passed by the appellate Court.

5. It is contended on behalf of the revisionist that the impugned orders are arbitrary and bereft of cogent reasons and have been passed by non-application of mind; the grounds raised by the revisionist before the appellate court below have not been considered and no finding have been recorded thereon. It was incumbent upon the courts below to take assistance of psychologist/psychiatrist or other experts before deciding the appeal but no such measure was taken; the social investigation report clearly showed that the juvenile had no criminal tendencies; no adverse opinion was expressed by the people of the locality against the juvenile about his conduct, character and behaviour, but those facts have been ignored; the question and answers, which were put to the juvenile for the purpose of inquiry under Section 15 of the Act does not show that the accused had any intended mind or physical capacity to commit the crime and understand the consequences of his act. As the mental and physical capacity have not been fairly determined, therefore, the orders are not sustainable.

6. The provisions of Section 15 of the Act are as below:

"(1) In case of a heinous offence alleged to have been committed by a child, who has completed or is above the age of sixteen years, the Board shall conduct a preliminary assessment with regard to his mental and physical capacity to commit such offence, ability to understand the consequences of the offence and the circumstances in which he allegedly committed the offence, and may pass an order in accordance with the provisions of subsection (3) of section 18:

Provided that for such an assessment, the Board may take the assistance of experienced psychologists or psycho-social workers or other experts.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, it is clarified that preliminary assessment is not a trial, but is to assess the capacity of such child to commit and understand the consequences of the alleged offence.

(2) Where the Board is satisfied on preliminary assessment that the matter should be disposed of by the Board, then the Board shall follow the procedure, as far as may be, for trial in summons case under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974):

Provided that the order of the Board to dispose of the matter shall be appealable under sub-section (2) of section 101:

Provided further that the assessment under this section shall be completed within the period specified in section 14."

7. In support of the arguments, put-forth by the revisionist, the judgment of the Apex Court in Barun Chandra Thakur vs Master Bholu and Another in Criminal Appeal No. 950 of 2022 decided on 13.07.2022 has been referred to.

8. I went through the above judgment.

9. The Apex Court in Para-62 observed that it was obligatory on the part of the Board to conduct preliminary assessment on four counts, as mentioned under Section 15 of the Act, however, there being no guidelines as to how the Board shall conduct such assessment, therefore, it has to largely depend upon its own wisdom. Thereafter, the Apex Court noticed the provisions of Rule 10A of the Juvenile Justice Rules Model Rules, 2016in Para-64 of the judgment observing that the Board is empowered to take the assistance of psychologist/psychiatrist and other experts who had experience of working with the children under difficult circumstances. The Apex Court did not agree with the opinion that the mental capacity and ability to understand the consequences of the offences were one and the same. The Apex Court said that it shall include not only immediate consequences but also the far reaching consequences. While dealing with the phrase "the ability to understand the consequences of the offence", the Apex Court observed in Para-68 that the consequences of the offence could be numerous and manifold which cannot be just linked to a framework; and for this purpose, the overall picture as also future consequences with reference to the facts of the case are required to be constantly analysed by the Board.

10. The Apex Court observed as below in Para nos. 75 and 79 of the judgment:-

"75. It is to be noted that child psychology is a specialised branch of development psychology, its genesis is based on the premise that children and adults have a different thought process. The individualised assessment of adolescent mental capacity and ability to understand the consequences of the offence is one of the most crucial determinants of the preliminary assessment mandated by section 15 of the Act, 2015. The report of the preliminary assessment decides the germane question of transferring the case of a child between 16 to 18 years of age to the Children's Court. This evaluation of ''mental capacity and ability to understand the consequences' of the child in conflict with law can, in no way, be relegated to the status of a perfunctory and a routine task. The process of taking a decision on which the fate of the child in conflict with law precariously rests, should not be taken without conducting a meticulous psychological evaluation.

79. Therefore, looking to the purpose of the Act, 2015 and its legislative intent, particularly to ensure the protection of best interest of the child, the expression "may" in the proviso to Section 15(1) thereof and the requirement of taking assistance of experienced psychologists or psycho-social workers or other experts would operate as mandatory unless the Board itself comprises of at least one member who is a practicing professional with a degree in child psychology or child psychiatry. Moreover, in case the Board, in view of its own composition with at least one member, who is a practicing professional with a degree in child psychology or child psychiatry, chooses not to take such assistance, it would record specific reasons therefore."

11. On perusal of the impugned orders, it is revealed that an application was moved by the juvenile requesting the Juvenile Justice Board to get himself examined by a psychologist/psychiatrist, however, it appears that this specific request was not accepted. I perused the impugned order passed by Juvenile Justice Board. It appears that though, the Juvenile Justice Board put some questions with the objective of assessing his mental capacity and the capacity to understand the consequences of the act, however, it is not clear that any of the members of the Board was a professional in child psychology. I also went through the order of appellate Court. The appellate Court was aware of the fact that such an application was moved and aware of the fact that the same has been dismissed. The appellate Court concurred with the conclusion drawn by the Juvenile Justice Board regarding physical, mental capacity and the ability to understand the consequences of his act, as expressed by the Juvenile Justice Board. The appellate Court did not assess the facts and circumstances coming before it on its own and has simply gone with the view of the Juvenile Justice Board.

12. It does not appear from the material on record that the opinion of professional experts on two counts i.e., the mental capacity to commit the crime and ability to understand the consequences of the act have been elicited at any stage. As held by the Apex Court, opinion of a child psychologist or other professional dealing in child psychology or child psychiatry is mandatorily to be taken unless the Board comprises any such member, hence, it can safely be said that the impugned orders have been passed not strictly in accordance with law. The matter of preliminary assessment requires reconsideration for which it shall be appropriate that the matter be remanded to the Board to decide it afresh in the light of the observations of the Apex Court.

13. The impugned orders dated 23.12.2021 and 11.08.2021, are therefore hereby set aside. The matter of preliminary assessment is remanded to the Juvenile Justice Board. As the incident pertains to May 2018, hence, the Juvenile Justice Board is directed to conduct the proceedings of preliminary assessment expeditiously and preferably within a month of receipt of this order.

14. Accordingly, this revision is disposed of.

15. The order of this Court be certified to the Juvenile Justice Board concerned immediately.

16. The Registry is directed to circulate the order of the Apex Court passed in Barun Chandra Thakur vs Master Bholu and Another in Criminal Appeal No. 950 of 2022 decided on 13.07.2022, for compliance.

(A) Criminal Law - The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 - Section 102 - revision , Section 12(1) - bail to juvenile - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 376AB - The Protection of Children From Sexual Offences Act, 2012 - Section- 5M/6 - Bail for juveniles is not mandatory in all cases - it can be denied if the court believes it would defeat the ends of justice - Juvenile Justice Act differentiates offenses into petty, serious, and heinous categories - end of justice is a crucial consideration in juvenile cases. (Para - 7)

(B) The Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 - Section 3 - Courts to adhere to Section-3's general principles as a guiding factor when exercising their powers - child's best interest, demands of accused & victim's family.(Para - 8)

(C) The Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 - "ends of justice" - holistic view - seen through three angles - child's welfare and betterment, demands of justice to victim and her family & concerns of society at large - court must rely on its own robust sense of justice to ensure best interests of child, victim, and society.(Para 8)

Girl of very tender age of 6 years - violent sexual assault by a boy of merely 15 years - enticed in a well planned manner by offering her sweets - trauma and shock caused to an innocent girl - no understanding and inkling of act - resentment caused to members of her family - Challenging order passed by Juvenile Justice Board & Special Judge (POCSO Act) - in Criminal Appeal - affirming order of Juvenile Justice Board - declined bail to juvenile - hence revision.(Para - 8)

Revision dismissed. (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satendra Singh, learned counsel for the revisionist and learned A.G.A. for the State. None appeared on behalf of the informant/respondent no.2.

2. Perused the record.

3. This criminal revision has been filed under section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act challenging the order dated 06.12.2021 passed by Juvenile Justice Board, Mainpuri and also challenging the order dated 10.02.2022 passed by Special Judge (POCSO Act), Mainpur in Criminal Appeal No. 24 of 2021 affirming the order of the Juvenile Justice Board and declining bail to the juvenile in a matter arising out of Case Crime No.162 of 2021, under sections 376AB I.P.C. and section- 5M/6 POCSO Act, Police Station- Elau, District- Mainpuri.

4. Contentions of the revisionist are as below:-

The orders impugned are arbitrary, unjust and have been passed against settled principles of law and against the mandate of section 12 of the Juvenile Justice Act; the assumptions of the courts below that in case he is released on bail, he shall be exposed to physical, moral and psychological danger and that the ends of justice shall stand defeated are based on no evidence whatsoever; the bail has been declined without any cogent reasons and on surmises and conjectures; there is nothing on record to show that the juvenile was in company of criminals before the arrest; he himself is having no criminal history; the case against him is false; this conclusion is baseless that the parents are not having any control over the revisionist. The bail has been declined on the basis of gravity of the offence, which is against the settled principles of law.

5. In this case, an F.I.R. was lodged by the mother of the victim with the allegations that when her daughter, aged about 6 years, was playing outside her house below the shed, the accused juvenile, aged about 15 years, lured her on the pretext of giving toffee and took her behind a hut and committed rape on her. Her daughter started bleeding profusely; she was brought to the house by her cousin; when they went to the parents of the juvenile to complain against him, his mother thrashed him (juvenile), the victim was given first aid and was referred to for higher medical assistance, where she was examined again under sedation. 1 cm tear was found in fourchette and she was bleeding. Finding the accused as juvenile, the matter was brought before the Juvenile Justice Board; his age was found about 12 years and 10 months in an age determination inquiry done on 05.10.2021; the social investigation report was called, wherein it was observed by the District Probation Officer that the boy requires strict control and supervision. The bail to the juvenile was declined by the Juvenile Justice Board and the appeal preferred on behalf of the juvenile was also dismissed.

6. Section 12(1) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 deals with the matters of bail to the juvenile:-

"When any person, who is apparently a child and is alleged to have committed a bailable or non-bailable offence, is apprehended or detained by the police or appears or brought before a Board, such person shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 or in any other law for the time being in force, be released on bail with or without surety or placed under the supervision of a probation officer or under the care of any fit person."

In continuation thereof, there is a proviso, which says that:- such person shall not be so released, if there appears reasonable grounds for believing that the release is likely to bring that person into association with any known criminal or expose the said person to moral, physical or psychological danger or the person's release would defeat the ends of justice, and the Board shall record the reasons for denying the bail and circumstances that led to such a decision.

7. Thus, it is clear that bail to a juvenile is not must in all cases as it can be denied for certain reasons. The law does not say that once a person is found a juvenile, he should be released on bail notwithstanding other facts and circumstances of the matter. It may be noted that the bail can also be denied if juvenile's release, in the opinion of the Court, would defeat the ends of justice. The phrase ends of justice is undoubtedly a meaningful phrase bringing within its sweep many factors including the nature of the crime and the merits of the matter, though ordinarily, as has been held in number of cases, the merits of the case or the nature of the accusations are not to be considered. At the same time, there may be other facts and circumstances which cannot simply be passed over by the court concerned. As far as the nature of the offence is concerned, the Juvenile Justice Act itself differentiates between offences falling into three categories, i.e., petty, serious and heinous offences. If the Justice Justice Act, 2015 is studied, it becomes quite clear that the cases falling in different categories on the basis of classification into petty, serious and heinous have been dealt with differently. It can safely be remarked that the scheme of the Act takes into consideration the nature of the offence as well. The need for dealing the matters of heinous offences in a more sensitive manner have been brought into focus by the courts of law, time and again, through various judgements. Infact, the courts as well as the legislature have always been sensitive to this aspect of the matter.

8. Whenever, a Court of law decides to exercise his powers under the provisions of Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, the general principles as enumerated in Section- 3 of the Act have to be kept in mind as guiding factor. On one hand, all decisions regarding the child should be based on primary consideration of best interest of the child, on the other hand, the demands of justice of the other side cannot be simply shrugged off. The concern of the victim's family and the larger interest of the society cannot be dealt with in a contemptuous manner. In succession to aforesaid observations, the policy of the act must be brought into focus. Very importantly it may be noted that the scheme of the Act has a twin approach, i.e., reformatory as well as retributive to certain extent. When dealing with bail grant or refusal thereof, the ends of justice may compel the Court to strike a balance between competing and often conflicting demands of justice of both the sides, i.e., the accused and the victim. When viewing the case from this angle, the nature of the crime, the methodology adopted, the manner of commission and the evidence available may assume ample significance. Moreover, the aim and object of this act, is to achieve not only the welfare and betterment of a juvenile by extending to him services of reformatory nature, so that he can be brought back to main stream of society as a person of healthy mind, but also to address the concerns of society at large at this stage. This aim cannot be achieved unless a holistic view of the matter is taken. In my opinion, to give meaning to the phrase "ends of justice', the matter of bail has to be seen literally through a prism having three angles, i.e., firstly, the angle of welfare and betterment of the child itself, i.e., best interest of the child, secondly, the demands of justice to the victim and her family and thirdly, the concerns of society at large. And in the end, the court has to depend upon its own robust sense of justice.

8. In this case, a girl of very tender age of 6 years was put to violent sexual assault by a boy of merely 15 years. She was enticed in a well planned manner by offering her sweets. The trauma and shock caused to an innocent girl, who had no understanding and inkling of the act with which she had to go through and the resentment which was caused to the members of her family, can easily be understood.

9. In view of the above, the present criminal revision is dismissed. However, the Juvenile Justice Board is directed to expedite the hearing and conclude the same at the earliest.

10. Copy of the order be certified to the court concerned.

6. Km. Rachna & anr. Vs St. of U.P., AIR 2021 All 109 (FB)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Singh, J.)

1. In view of the provisions of Section 228-A of Indian Penal Code and the mandate of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ravi Shankar alias Baba Vishwakarma Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2019)9 SCC 689 the victim herein after referred to as "X'.

2. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and Shri S.K. Pal, learned Government Advocate assisted by Shri Anirudh Sharma, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State.

3. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied by the order dated 24.1.2022 passed by the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj whereby the victim 'x' was directed to be kept in Rajkiya Bal Grih (Balika), Swaroop Nagar, Kanpur, the second revisionist, who is the mother of the victim has approached this Court by filing this criminal revision for setting aside the aforesaid order and also for handing over the custody of 'X' to her.

4. The facts that formed the bedrock of this revision are that on 27.11.2021, second revisionist, who is the mother of 'X' lodged the FIR under Sections 363 and 366 IPC in respect of missing of her daughter. During investigation, victim was recovered on 16.1.2022 from Patiyali Railway Station, Kasganj and she was produced before the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj where her statement was recorded on 22.1.2022 in which she has expressed her desire to go with her mother and also refused for her medical examination, but the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj vide impugned order dated 24.1.2022 instead of giving the custody of the victim "X' to her mother, has sent her to Rajkiya Bal Grih (Balika), Swaroop Nagar, Kanpur.

5. Second revisionist has filed an application before the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj stating therein that she is the mother of the victim. The victim is minor aged 15 years and she is unable to understand her pros and cons and that she may be given in her custody. During her counselling by the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj, the victim has expressed her desire to go with her mother.

6. However, the Child welfare Committee, Kasganj vide order dated 24.1.2022 has directed the victim to be kept in Rajkiya Bal Grih (Balika), Swaroop Nagar, Kanpur on the ground that the mother of the victim is living in Delhi to earn her livelihood and the victim is living with her maternal uncle and in the circumstances proper care of the victim can be taken in her house.

7. Vide order dated 07.7.2022, second revisionist was directed to appear before this Court. Learned Additional Government Advocate was also directed to ensure the presence of revisionist "X', the victim before this Court.

8. Pursuant to the order of this Court second revisionist is present before this Court.

9. Victim 'X' has also been produced before this Court by Head Constable 75 Vikas Yadav P.N.N 062910040 and Lady Constable 20, Sapna Kumari P.N.N. No. 212911109 of police station Patiyali, Kasganj. Personal affidavit of Shri B.B.G.T Murthy, presently posted as Superintendent of Police, Kasganj has been filed, which is taken on record.

10. On query by this Court, the victim has expressed her desire to go with her mother. Mother of the victim is also willing to keep the victim with her.

11. The only question for consideration before this Court is whether a victim can be kept in a protective home against her wishes.

12. This issue has time and again been considered and settled by this Court in catena of judgements.

13. In Kalyani Chowdhary Vs. State of U.P., 1978 Cr.L.J. 1003, a Division Bench of this Court has held that no person can be kept in the protective home unless she is required to be kept there either in pursuance of the Suppression of Immoral Traffic and Women and Girls Act, or under some other law permitting her detention in such a home. It is admitted that the case does not fall under this Act, no other law has been referred to. In such cases, the question of minority is irrelevant as even a minor cannot be detained against her will or at the will of her father in a Protective Home.

14. In Pushpa Devi alias Rajwanti Vs. State of U.P. (1995)1 JIC 189, this Court has held that in any event, the question of age is not very material in the petition of the nature of Habeas Corpus as even a minor has a right to keep her person and even the parents cannot compel the detention of a minor against her will unless there is some other reason for it.

15. In Raj Kumari Vs. Superintendent, Women Protection Home, Meerut and another, 1998 Cr.L.J. 654, a Division Bench of this Court after considering series of judgement held that it is well settled view of this Court that even a minor cannot be detained in Government Protective Home against her wishes.

16. In Seema Devi alias Simran Kaur Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, 1998 (2) Crimes 168, the Himachal Pradesh has held as under:

"There is no provision of law, which permits a Court to give such a direction even in a case of minors when it is against their will. Even if the petitioner is only a minor aged about 15 years, her wishes should be ascertained before placing her in the custody of any person or institution. In this case, she had categorically stated before the additional chief judicial magistrate that she would not live with her parents and she wanted to live with her husband the 1st accused in the case. The additional chief judicial magistrate should have given credence to her wish and only directed her custody to be with the 1st accused and not with the Nari Niketan."

A Division Bench of this Court after considering the provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 as well as the law laid down by various Court has referred the following question to Hon'ble the Chief Justice for being decided by the Larger Bench of this Court:

"(1) xxxxxxxxxxxxxx

(2) xxxxxxxxxxxx

(3) Under the Scheme of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, the welfare and safety of child in need of care and protection is the legal responsibility of the Board/Child Welfare Committee and as such, the proposition that even a minor cannot be sent to Women Protection Home/Nari Niketan/Juvenile Home/Child Care Home against his/her wishes, is legally valid or it requires a modified approach in consonance with the object of the Act ?"

17. The Larger Bench of this Court in the case of Km. Rachna and another Vs. State of U.P., AIR 2021 All 109 (FB) after considering plethora of judgements of this Court as well as other High Court, has answered the question in the following words:

"Under the J.J. Act, the welfare and safety of child in need of care and protection is the legal responsibility of the Board/Child Welfare Committee and the Magistrate/ Committee must give credence to her wishes. As per Section 37 of the J.J. Act the Committee, on being satisfied through the inquiry that the child before the Committee is a child in need of care and protection, may, on consideration of Social Investigation Report submitted by Child Welfare Officer and taking into account the child's wishes in case the child is sufficiently mature to take a view, pass one or more of the orders mentioned in Section 37 (1) (a) to (h).

18. In view of the verbose discussion as well as considering the statements made by the victim and her mother, this Court feels it appropriate in the interest of justice to hand over the custody of the victim to her mother.

19. Accordingly, impugned order dated 24.1.2022 passed by the Child Welfare Committee, Kasganj is hereby set aside. The revision is allowed.

20. The victim is given in the custody of her mother (second revisionist) with the condition that whenever personal appearance of the victim is required before the court concerned in case No. 307 of 2021, under Section 363, 366 IPC, police station Patiyali, district Kasganj, she shall produce her in court.

Revision dismissed. (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sunil Kumar, learned counsel for the revisionists, Sri Mithilesh Kumar, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. Instant criminal revision has been preferred against the impugned order dated 26.05.2022 passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar in Criminal Case No. 140 of 2015 (State vs Saleem @ Julla) arising out of Case Crime No.819 of 2015, under Section 302, 506 IPC, Police Station-Khurza Nagar, District Bulandshahar, whereby the application preferred by the State under Section 319 Cr.P.C. dated 28.10.2021 was allowed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar and the revisionists were summoned to stand trial under Sections 302, 506 IPC.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that first information report was lodged on 13.08.2015 in Case Crime No. 819 of 2015, under Sections 302, 506 IPC, Police Station Khurza Nagar, District Bulandshahar against Saleem @ Julla, Mauseem and Ahmad Ali by the complainant Buniyad Khan.

4. Learned counsel for the revisionists submits that accused Saleem @ Julla son of Yaseen preferred an application before the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar for declaration as juvenile claiming himself of 16 years and 2 month on the date of incident. After holding the prescribed inquiry, the Juvenile Justice Board vide order dated 01.09.2016 declared Saleem @ Julla as juvenile conflict.

5. The opposite party no.2 challenged the order dated 01.09.2016 before the sessions judge vide Juvenile Appeal No. 111 of 2016 (Buniyad Khan vs State of U.P. and after adjudicating the aforesaid appeal, the Sessions Judge, Bulandshahar vide order dated 28.11.2016 rejected the appeal.

6. Accused Saleem @ Julla was enlarged on bail by the Sessions Judge, Bulandshahar vide order dated 28.11.2016 passed in Criminal Appeal No.120 of 2016.

7. Investigation of the case was concluded and the charge sheet dated 30.08.2015 bearing charge sheet No.368 of 2015 was filed against Saleem @ Julla under Sections 302, 504 IPC. Further trial of the case No.140 of 2015 (State vs Saleem @ Julla) commenced before the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar. During the course of trial, PW 1 Buniyad Khan, PW 2 Shakir Khan, PW 3 Harun were examined and their deposition were recorded before the trial court/Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar. The aforesaid witnesses in their deposition stated the complicity of the revisionists in the commission of offence.

8. He next submits that an application dated 28.10.2021 under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was filed before the trial court with a prayer to summon the revisionists to face the trial along with accused Saleem @ Julla. The Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar vide impugned order dated 26.05.2022 allowed the application preferred under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and summoned the revisionists to face the trial under Sections 302, 506 IPC and directed to place the file of the revisionists before the competent court of jurisdiction and directed for appearance of the revisionists before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahar on 7.06.2022.

9. Learned counsel for the revisionists has vehemently challenged the impugned order on the ground that Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar has not vested with any jurisdiction to exercise the power conferred under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and on this score, the order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar suffers from manifest illegality and is liable to be set aside.

10. He further submits that order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board is without jurisdiction and is also suffered from jurisdictional error. It has further been submitted that the Juvenile Justice Board does not have any power to summon any accused under the provision of Code of Criminal Procedure. Further in the investigation, no involvement of the revisionists were found by the investigating officer, in the alleged offence, therefore, the name of the revisionists were dropped from the charge sheet.

11. He next added that the impugned order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board is without jurisdiction and against settled proposition of law. He further submits that impugned order has been passed in mechanical manner and the Juvenile Justice Board failed to appreciate that no strong or credible evidence available against the revisionists to summon the revisionists to face trial.

12. Per contra, learned AGA for the State opposed the contention aforesaid and submits that the impugned order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar is well within the jurisdiction and the Juvenile Justice Board is competent to exercise the power conferred under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and the impugned order does not suffer from any illegality or perversity and therefore, the present revision is liable to be dismissed.

13. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and perused the records .

14. The question, which has come for consideration and determination by this Court is, whether the Juvenile Justice Board can exercise powers conferred under Section 319 of Cr.P.C. and can summon the accused to face the trial.

15. Before discussing the issue as well as the submissions of the counsels, it is necessary to reproduce the Section 103 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act, 2015. The Section 103 is quoted hereinbelow;

Section 103 : Procedure in inquiries, appeals and revision proceedings (1) Save as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, a Committee or a Board while holding any inquiry under any of the provisions of this Act, shall follow such procedure as may be prescribed and subject thereto, shall follow, as far as may be, the procedure laid down in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) for trial of summons cases.

(2) Save as otherwise expressly provided by or under this Act, the procedure to be followed in hearing appeals or revision proceedings under this Act shall be, as far as practicable, in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

16. In the present case, as discussed above, the revisionists were named in the FIR but after investigation their names have been dropped from the array of the accused and charge sheet was filed only against Saleem @ Julla. Thereafter, cognizance was taken by the Juvenile Justice Board and trial of the case was commenced. During the course of trial, the PW 1, PW 2 and PW 3 were examined and their testimony were recorded before the trial court. The witnesses named above in the respective testimony have deposed the complicity and involvement of the revisionists in commission of offence of murder.

17. After the deposition of PW 1, PW 2 and PW 3, an application dated 28.10.2021 under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was preferred by the opposite party no.2 before the Juvenile Justice Board and adjudicating upon the aforesaid application, the Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar summoned the accused to face the trial under Section 302, 506 IPC and since revisionists were major hence their files were separated and was ordered to place before the court of competent jurisdiction and revisionists were directed to appear before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bulandshahar on 07.06.2022.

18. It is admitted fact of the case that the revisionists at the time of alleged incident were major.

19. Before adverting to the submissions of the counsels, it is necessary to examine Section 4 of the Code, which provides that all the offences under the Indian Penal Code shall be investigated, inquired into, tried and otherwise dealt with according to the provisions contained in the code. Sub-section (2) of Section 4 further provides that all offences under any other law shall be investigated, inquired into, tried and otherwise dealt with according to the same provisions, but subject to any enactment for the time being in force, regulating the manner or place of investigating, inquiring into, trying or otherwise dealing with such offences. According to the provisions of the Code, after registration of a case against the accused, the police is required to investigate into the matter and submit the charge sheet under Section 173 Cr.P.C., thereafter the competent court took cognizance of the offence under Section 190(1)(b) of the Code and to proceed with the case for trial where the materials collected during investigation are to be translated into legal evidence. Further, according to the different provisions of the Code, two or more persons, if they have committed the same offence in the course of the same transaction, are to be charged and tried together. This is so provided under Clause (a) of Section 223 of the Code but during trial, if some incriminating evidence comes against a person, who has not been shown to be an accused in the charge sheet submitted under Section 173 Cr.P.C., the trial court has been empowered under Section 319 Cr.P.C. to summon the said person as an additional accused. For appreciation of the issue involved in this case, Section 319 Cr.P.C. is reproduced, herein, below:-

"Section 319. Power to proceed against other persons appearing to be guilty of offence- (1) Where, in the course of any inquiry into, or trial of, an offence, it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence for which such person could be tried together with the accused, the Court may proceed against such person for the offence which he appears to have committed.

(2) Where such person is not attending the Court, he may be arrested or summoned, as the circumstances of the case may require, for the purpose aforesaid.

(3) Any person attending the Court although not under arrest or upon a summons, may be detained by such Court for the purpose of the inquiry into, or trial of, the offence which he appears to have committed.

(4) Where the Court proceeds against any person under sub-section (1), then-

(a) the proceedings in respect of such person shall be commenced afresh, and witnesses re- heard;

(b) subject to the provisions of clause (a), the case may proceed as if such person had been an accused person when the Court took cognizance of the offence upon which the inquiry or trial was commenced."

20. From bare perusal of the aforesaid provision, it is clear that Section 319 Cr.P.C. empowers a Court to proceed against any person not shown as an accused if it appears from the evidence that such person has also committed an offence for which he can be tried together with the accused and in that very situation, in view of the above provision, it is the duty of the court to summon such person as an accused, to face trial with the accused already committed in that case. Therefore, both justice and convenience require that cognizance against the newly summoned accused should be taken in the same case and in the same manner as against the accused.

21. As stated abovesaid, is the situation, when a normal trial is conducted, in a court but under the provisions of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, only the juvenile Justice Board has been empowered to deal exclusively with all proceedings under the Act relating to the juvenile in conflict with law. The unamended Section 18 (new section 23) deals with a situation where a juvenile has been charged with the offence and is produced before a Board, the Board shall hold the inquiry in accordance with the provisions of the Act and make such order in relation to the juvenile as it deems fit. The relevant provision of the Act, Section 18 (new section 23), is reproduced hereinbelow for better appreciation of the issue:

"Section 18.- No joint proceeding of juvenile and person not a juvenile- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in Section 223 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or in any other law for the time being in force, no juvenile shall be charged with or tried for any offence together with a person who is not a juvenile.

(2) If a juvenile is accused of an offence for which under Section 223 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or any other law for the time being in force, such juvenile and any person who is not a juvenile would, but for the prohibition contained in sub-section (1), have been charged and tried together, the Board taking cognizance of that offence shall direct separate trials of the juvenile and the other person."

Section 23 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 is reproduced hereinunder;

Section 23. No joint proceedings of child in conflict with law and person not a child.-: (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 223 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or in any other law for the time being in force, there shall be no joint proceedings of a child alleged to be in conflict with law, with a person who is not a child.

(2) If during the inquiry by the Board or by the Children's Court, the person alleged to be in conflict with law is found that he is not a child, such person shall not be tried along with a child.

22. From the plain reading of sub-section(1) of Section 23, it is clear that no juvenile shall be charged with or tried for any offence together with a person, who is not a juvenile but sub-section (2) of the said Act clearly stipulates that if a juvenile is accused of an offence, such juvenile and any person, who is not a juvenile would, but for the prohibition contained in sub-section (1) have been charged and tried together, the Board taking cognizance of that offence shall direct separate trials of the juvenile and the other person. Thus, it is clear from the aforesaid provision that juveniles in conflict with law are to be tried and proceeded with by the Juvenile Justice Board in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the other accused persons, who are not juveniles, are to be tried by regular court. Even if a juvenile and an accused, who is not a juvenile, are required to be charged and tried together, their case is also to be separated and the other person, who is not a juvenile, is required to be referred by the Juvenile Justice Board to the regular court having jurisdiction for his trial. In a case where the accused is a juvenile, like in the instant case, and the proceeding with regard to the said offence is going on before the Juvenile Justice Board, while proceeding against the said accused, the Juvenile Justice Board finds from the evidence, which has come on record during proceedings before it, that any person other than the juvenile in conflict with law before him is also involved in that very offence, in my opinion, the Juvenile Justice board will not be silent expectator or without power to summon the said accused. Even Juvenile Justice Board in exercise of the power conferred in Section 319 Cr.P.C. for summoning the additional accused may summon either suo moto or an application filed by the prosecution.

23. The summoning of the additional accused is like taking cognizance of the offence against an accused and then to summon him to be charged with and tried along with other accused. Obviously as in the case at hand, additional accused, if summoned on the basis of incriminating evidence coming against him, is not a juvenile, in view of Section 23 (2) of the Act, 2015 (section 18(2) of old Act) he cannot be charged and tried with by the Juvenile Justice Board and his trial is to be separated as required under sub-section (2) of Section 23 of the Act.

24. Hence, after the submissions and discussions above, this court is of considered opinion that the power under Section 319 of the Cr.P.C. can be exercised by the Juvenile Justice Board and if the summoned accused is found to be not a juvenile, his trial can be separated and such person can be sent for trial to the regular court of competent jurisdiction.

25. Resultantly, no ground is made out to interfere in the order dated 26.05.2022 passed by Juvenile Justice Board, Bulandshahar in Criminal Case No. 140 of 2015 (State vs Saleem @ Julla). The Juvenile Justice Board is directed to proceed in accordance with law.

26. The instant revision is devoid of merit, and is hereby, dismissed.

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 397/401 – Revision - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 147, 148, 149, 323, 324, 504, 506, 307 & 302 - prosecution owes a duty to explain serious and grievous injury on the accused during the course of incident which gives rise to prosecution of the accused - If the prosecution has failed to explain the injuries on the accused, the case of the prosecution becomes doubtful as the prosecution has not come out with true facts regarding genesis of the incident/occurrence - non explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at the time of occurrence or in the course of transaction/occurrence is a very important circumstance - mere non explanation of injuries by the prosecution may not affect the prosecution case if evidence is clear, cogent and creditworthy. (Para - 20, 25)

Accused suffered severe injuries in a case - Two interested witnesses were examined - no independent one was present - prosecution's case was not proven by trustworthy witnesses - injuries were not mentioned in the FIR or charge-sheet. (Para -24)

HELD:-Trial Court rightly assumed that prosecution did not come out with truth regarding genesis of the occurrence. Prosecution case had become doubtful. Trial Court had rightly not believed in the prosecution story and acquitted the accused. Trial court has not committed any significant errors in law or facts, or has not correctly appreciated the evidence. (Para -24)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. The present revision is directed against the judgment and order dated 12.12.2018 passed by the Addl. Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Sultanpur in Sessions Trial No.243 of 1998 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 323, 324, 504, 506, 307, 302 IPC, Police Station Kadipur, District Sultanpur.

2. The facts of the case in brief are that on the basis of a complaint given by the complainant, P.W.1, an FIR at Case Crime No.243 of 1999 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 323, 504, 506 IPC came to be registered against the accused-respondents with allegations that accused, Gurudeen on 04.07.1999 at 4:00 P.M. snatched sickle from the wife of the complainant and started assaulting her by kicks and fits. On commotion and alarm raised by the wife of the complainant, Smt Shakuntala w/o Santram, Ramdeo, Rambhadal, Smt Imla, Santram, Kesh Kumari, Jiana w/o Karia (deceased), Smt Kamla, Smt Rampati, Smt Karona w/o Jhuri rushed to save the wife of the complainant. At the same time, accused, Male Singh, Rangeele, Sache Lal, Akhilesh Kumar and brother-in-law of Rangeeley arrived there armed with gun and country made pistol, dharia and lathi. They started assaulting all the persons from the complainant side. The aforesaid incident was witnessed by Bakheru s/o Jairam and other residents of the village. Smt Jiana died in the hospital and thereafter, offence under Section 302 IPC was added. It is said that on the same day i.e. 05.06.1999 the other injured were examined. Investigating Officer, Mujahid Ali, P.W.7 conducted the inquest of the cadaver of the deceased on 05.07.1999 at 9:00 A.M. Postmortem was conducted on the same day.

3. The Investigating Officer after completing the investigation filed charge-sheet against six accused named in the FIR under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 323, 504 and 506 IPC. Charges were framed against the accused. Accused adjusted charges and claimed to be tried.

4. Prosecution to prove its case examined P.W.-1 Kashi Prasad, the complainant, P.W.-2 Santram, the injured witness, P.W.-3 Dr. Anil Kumar Gupta, P.W.-4 Dr.V.N. Tiwari, P.W.-5 Inspector R.K.Singh, P.W.-6 Inspector Jitendra Singh Parihar and P W.-7 S.I. Mujahid Ali.

Defence produced medical report of injuries caused to the accused, Gurudeen in the incident and examined Dr. V.N. Tiwari who proved injury report of Gurudeen.

5. Trial Court after marshalling evidence came to the conclusion that FIR was not true account of the incident but was written after deliberation and employing legal brain inasmuch as the complainant's son was lawyer practicing in the Tehsil Court where the complaint was alleged to have been scribed by one Ram Tirath. Trial court was also of the view that in the FIR place of incident was not mentioned. However, P.W.-1, the complainant in his cross examination said that the incident took place near the house of Ramdeo and said that he gave the statement to that effect to the investigating officer. The Investigating Officer in his examination specifically said that the complainant in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. did not tell him the place of incident neither he tried to ascertain from the complainant, the place of incident. P.W.-1 in his further cross examination said that the incident took place near a primary school and his tube well would be 1 km from the place of incident. Even in the site map (Exh.Ka25), place of incident was shown near primary school which was 50 ft., away from the house of Ramdeo. In view thereof, Trial Court concluded that the prosecution had failed to prove the exact place of incident.

6. Trial Court also came to the conclusion after analyzing the evidence on record that P.W.-1 was not an eyewitness. P.W.-1 said that he went out of his house at 3:30 P.M. and he did not know when his wife, Rajdei went out from the house on the same day. Rajdei was the person with whom the accused, Gurudeen had altercation and it was alleged that he snatched the sickle from her and assaulted her. P.W.-2 in his statement said that on the date of incident he was not with P.W.-1 and he met him on the next day in the hospital. He also said that he did not know where P.W.-1 was at the time of incident.

7. P.W.-1 in his statement further said that he did not receive any injury in the incident whereas in his medical report (Exh.Ka-16) a lacerated wound was mentioned. Rajdei was not examined with whom it was alleged that altercation of the accused, Gurudeen took place and she was assaulted. It was also said that she received gun shot injuries in the incident. Her medical report (Exh.Ka-8) would show that she received only one injury and she did not have any other injury though it was alleged that she was beaten up by sickle and kicks and fists. Rajdei was an important witness regarding the genesis of the incident which was withheld by the prosecution. It was also said that the witnesses' residences were away from the place of incident and, therefore, it became the duty of the prosecution to explain how they arrived at the place of incident from a distance of 0.5-1 km. Trial Court was also of the view that there were glaring contradictions between the statements of the witnesses and medical report and did not believe that the deceased gave statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. before death to the Investigating Officer.

8. According to P.W.-1, deceased, Jiana Devi became unconscious and was taken to the hospital in that state. P.W.-2 in his statement said that his mother became unconscious after receiving gun shot injuries and thereafter, she did not regain consciousness and, therefore, under these circumstances recording of her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is neither believable nor credible. Trial Court was also of the opinion that inquest proceedings and injury report of the accused were suspicious and doubtful. Trial Court further held that accused, Gurudeen had received nine injuries and injury Nos.1 to 3 were not superficial. Prosecution was under duty to explain the injuries caused to the accused. In view of the non explanation of the injuries of the accused, Gurudeen by the prosecution, prosecution case became incredible and doubtful. The prosecution did not come with true and correct facts.

9. In view of the aforesaid, it was held that the prosecution had failed to prove the case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt. Trial Court in view of the aforesaid findings had acquitted all the accused of the charges.

10. Heard Mr. Sushil Kumar Singh, Advocate assisted by Mr. Balkeswar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing for accused-respondents and learned A.G.A for the State. No one has put in appearance on behalf of the revisionist.

11. This case was listed on 17.10.2019 when counsel for the revisionist sought adjournment on the ground of his ill health. The case was adjourned and directed to be listed on 24.10.2019 peremptorily. Thereafter, case was listed on 24.10.2019, 07.11.2019, 14.11.2019, 19.11.2019, 02.12.2019, 11.12.2019, 16.12.2019, 06.01.2020 but the learned counsel for the revisionist did not put in appearance on any of the aforesaid dates despite the case having been listed peremptorily.

12. Mr.Sushil Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the respondents-accused has submitted that in exercise of the revisional power by the High Court under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C., it can call for record from any of the inferior criminal courts and examine correctness, legality, propriety of any finding, sentence or order, recorded or passed, and as to the regularity of any proceedings of such inferior court, and to pass appropriate order(s). Revisional power of the High Court is to see that justice is done in accordance with recognized rules of criminal jurisprudence and that its subordinate courts do not exceed the jurisdiction or abuse the power vested in the Cr.P.C. or to prevent abuse the power of process of the inferior court or to prevent miscarriage of justice.

13. When revision is filed against the order of acquittal, High Court can interfere where findings arrived at by the trial Court are without considering the material evidence on record or where the trial court has wrongly turned down evidence which the prosecution wished to produce. He has further submitted that in revision against acquittal reappreciation of the evidence in High Court is not permissible. Revisional Court can interfere in order of acquittal when there is legal infirmity or patent illegality in conduct of the trial by the lower Court.

14. He has further submitted that there is material contradiction in the FIR and the evidence. The prosecution failed to explain nine injuries on the accused, Gurudeen and did not come out with correct genesis of the case. There being material contradictions between P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 and the testimony of ocular witness and medical evidence, Trial Court rightly held that the prosecution had failed to prove the case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt.

15. He has, therefore, submitted that in case like this where the accused had received nine injuries and there was no mention either in the FIR or in the charge-sheet in respect of the injuries suffered by accused, Gurudeen, non explanation of the injuries caused to the accused, Gurudeen by the prosecution had been rightly held to be fatal to the prosecution case by the Trial Court. He has, therefore, submitted that this Court in exercise of powers vested under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. should not interfere with the findings recorded by the Trial Court inasmuch as the findings arrived at by the Trial Court are neither perverse nor palpably wrong. There was no error or defect in law or procedure or appreciation of the evidence and, therefore, there is no ground to interfere with the well reasoned judgment and order of acquittal passed by the Trial Court. He has, therefore, submitted that this Court should dismiss the revision.

16. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the accused-respondents and perused lower Court record and impugned judgment and order carefully.

17. Prosecution case is that Gurudeen had commented on Rajdei that where was Indira Gandhi going and this led to altercation and Gurudeen started assaulting Rajdei snatching sickle from her and giving her kicks and fists blows. Rajdei was not examined. A number of persons from the complainant side got collected at the place of incident to rescue, Rajdei. Accused, Gurudeen had lodged a cross case at Case Crime No.243-A of 1999 under Sections 147, 149, 323, 504, 506, 308 IPC. He was examined on the same day i.e. 04.07.1999 by Dr.B.N. Tiwari who noticed following injuries on the body of Gurudeen:-

"(i) one lacerated wound on skull 4 cm x .5 cm x scalp deep bleedings present; 10 cm above from occipital probability

(ii) one lacerated wound on skull 2 cm x .5 cm x scalp deep; 5 cm away towards right injury No.(i)

(iii) one contusion on occipital protuberance 3 cm x 2 cm red in color.

(iv) one lacerated wound on right face 2 cm x .5 cm x skin deep; 1.5 cm below from right eyelid

(v) one abrasion on left shoulder 2 cm x 3.5 cm.

(vi) one red contusion on right shoulder 13 cm x 2.5 cm.

(vii) one red contusion of right arm 6 cm x .5 cm; 4 cm above from elbow front

18. Some of the injuries particularly injury Nos.1 to 3 were grievous in nature and Dr.V.N.Tiwari who examined him had said that the injuries were fresh in nature which could have been caused by hard object like lathi and those injuries would have been caused at around 4:00 P.M. on 04.07.1999.

19. Specific suggestion was put to P.W.-2 that he and others from the complainant side assaulted the accused, Gurudeen by lathi in which he received grievous injuries on his head and other parts of the body. On alarm being raised by accused, Gurudeen, other persons reached there and in order to save him one shot was fired which hit the deceased, Jiana, and other persons received pallet injuries.

20. It is well settled law that prosecution owes a duty to explain serious and grievous injury on the accused during the course of incident which gives rise to prosecution of the accused. If the prosecution has failed to explain the injuries on the accused, the case of the prosecution becomes doubtful as the prosecution has not come out with true facts regarding genesis of the incident/occurrence.

21. The Supreme Court in the case of Onkarnath Singh v. State of U.P.*, (1975) 3 SCC 276 in para 36 has held as under:-

"36.Such non-explanation, however, is a factor which is to be taken into account in judging the veracity of the prosecution witnesses, and the court will scrutinise their evidence with care. Each case presents its own features. In some cases, the failure of the prosecution to account for the injuries of the accused may undermine its evidence to the core and falsify the substratum of its story, while in others it may have little or no adverse effect on the prosecution case. It may also, in a given case, strengthen the plea of private defence set up by the accused. But it cannot be laid down as an invariable proposition of law of universal application that as soon as it is found that the accused had received injuries in the same transaction in which the complainant party was assaulted, the plea of private defence would stand prima facie established and the burden would shift on to the prosecution to prove that those injuries were caused to the accused in self-defence by the complainant party. For instance where two parties come armed with a determination to measure their strength and to settle a dispute by force of arms and in the ensuing fight both sides receive injuries, no question of private defence arises."

22. The Supreme Court in the case of Lakshmi Singh v. State of Bihar*, (1976) 4 SCC 394 in para 12 has held as under:-

"12.PW 8 Dr S.P. Jaiswal who had examined Brahmdeo deceased and had conducted the post-mortem of the deceased had also examined the accused Dasrath Singh, whom he identified in the court, on April 22, 1966 and found the following injuries on his person:

"1.Bruise 3″ × ½ ″ on the dorsal part of the right forearm about in the middle and there was compound fracture of the fibula bone about in the middle.

2.Incised wound 1″ × 2 mm × skin subcutaneous deep on the lateral part of the left upper arm, near the shoulder joint.

3.Punctured wound 1/2″ × 2 mm × 4 mm on the lateral side of the left thigh about 5 inches below the hip joint.

According to the doctor Injury 1 was grievous in nature as it resulted in compound fracture of the fibula bone. The other two injuries were also serious injuries which had been inflicted by a sharp-cutting weapon. Having regard to the circumstances of the case there can be no doubt that Dasrath Singh must have received these injuries in the course of the assault, because it has not been suggested or contended that the injuries could be self-inflicted nor is it believable. In these circumstances, therefore, it was the bounden duty of the prosecution to give a reasonable explanation for the injuries sustained by the accused Dasrath Singh in the course of the occurrence. Not only the prosecution has given no explanation, but some of the witnesses have made a clear statement that they did not see any injuries on the person of the accused. Indeed if the eyewitnesses could have given such graphic details regarding the assault on the two deceased and Dasain Singh and yet they deliberately suppressed the injuries on the person of the accused, this is a most important circumstance to discredit the entire prosecution case. It is well settled that fouler the crime, higher the proof, and hence in a murder case where one of the accused is proved to have sustained injuries in the course of the same occurrence, the non-explanation of such injuries by the prosecution is a manifest defect in the prosecution case and shows that the origin and genesis of the occurrence had been deliberately suppressed which leads to the irresistible conclusion that the prosecution has not come out with a true version of the occurrence. This matter was argued before the High Court and we are constrained to observe that the learned Judges without appreciating the ratio of this Court in Mohar Raiv.State of Bihar[AIR 1968 SC 1281 : (1968) 3 SCR 525 : 1968 Cri LJ 1479] tried to brush it aside on most untenable grounds. The question whether the Investigating Officer was informed about the injuries is wholly irrelevant to the issue, particularly when the very doctor who examined one of the deceased and the prosecution witnesses is the person who examined the appellant Dasrath Singh also. In the case referred to above, this Court clearly observed as follows:

"The trial court as well as the High Court wholly ignored the significance of the injuries found on the appellants. Mohar Rai had sustained as many as 13 injuries and Bharath Rai 14. We get it from the evidence of PW 15 that he noticed injuries on the person of Mohar Rai when he was produced before him immediately after the occurrence. Therefore the version of the appellants that they sustained injuries at the time of the occurrence is highly probabilised. Under these circumstances the prosecution had a duty to explain those injuries ... In our judgment the failure of the prosecution to offer any explanation in that regard shows that evidence of the prosecution witnesses relating to the incident is not true or at any rate not wholly true. Further those injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants."

This Court clearly pointed out that where the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the accused, two results follow: (1) that the evidence of the prosecution witnesses is untrue; and (2) that the injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants. The High Court in the present case has not correctly applied the principles laid down by this Court in the decision referred to above. In some of the recent cases, the same principle was laid down. InPuran Singhv.State of Punjab[(1975) 4 SCC 518 : 1975 SCC (Cri) 608] which was also a murder case, this Court, while following an earlier case, observed as follows: [SCC p. 531 : SCC (Cri) p. 621, para 20]

"InState of Gujaratv.Bai Fatima[(1975) 2 SCC 7 : 1975 SCC (Cri) 384] one of us (Untwalia, J.) speaking for the Court, observed as follows: [SCC p. 13 : SCC (Cri) p. 390, para 17]

In a situation like this when the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the person of an accused, depending on the facts of each case, any of the three results may follow:

(1) That the accused had inflicted the injuries on the members of the prosecution party in exercise of the right of self-defence.

(2) It makes the prosecution version of the occurrence doubtful and the charge against the accused cannot be held to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt. (3) It does not affect the prosecution case at all.

The facts of the present case clearly fall within the four-corners of either of the first two principles laid down by this judgment. In the instant case, either the accused were fully justified in causing the death of the deceased and were protected by the right of private defence or that if the prosecution does not explain the injuries on the person of the deceased the entire prosecution case is doubtful and the genesis of the occurrence is shrouded in deep mystery, which is sufficient to demolish the entire prosecution case."

It seems to us that in a murder case, the non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of the occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance from which the court can draw the following inferences:

"(1) that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and the origin of the occurrence and has thus not presented the true version;

(2) that the witnesses who have denied the presence of the injuries on the person of the accused are lying on a most material point and therefore their evidence is unreliable;

(3) that in case there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused it is rendered probable so as to throw doubt on the prosecution case."

The omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries on the person of the accused assumes much greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution one. In the instant case, when it is held, as it must be, that the appellant Dasrath Singh received serious injuries which have not been explained by the prosecution, then it will be difficult for the court to rely on the evidence of PWs 1 to 4 and 6, more particularly, when some of these witnesses have lied by stating that they did not see any injuries on the person of the accused. Thus neither the Sessions Judge nor the High Court appears to have given due consideration to this important lacuna or infirmity appearing in the prosecution case. We must hasten to add that as held by this Court inState of Gujaratv.Bai Fatima[(1975) 2 SCC 7 : 1975 SCC (Cri) 384] there may be cases where the non-explanation of the injuries by the prosecution may not affect the prosecution case. This principle would obviously apply to cases where the injuries sustained by the accused are minor and superficial or where the evidence is so clear and cogent, so independent and disinterested, so probable, consistent and creditworthy, that it far outweighs the effect of the omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries. The present, however, is certainly not such a case, and the High Court was, therefore, in error in brushing aside this serious infirmity in the prosecution case on unconvincing premises."

23. The Supreme Court in the case of State of Karnataka v. Jinappa Payappa Kudachi*, 1994 Supp (1) SCC 178 in para 6 has held that normally non explanation of injuries on the accused persons would mean that the prosecution has not come out with whole truth particularly regarding the genesis of the occurrence and the prosecution evidence should be rejected.

Para 6 of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

6.The effect of non-explanation by the prosecution about the injuries on the accused persons depends on the facts and circumstances of each case. Normally if there is such non-explanation, it may at the most give scope to argue that the accused had the right of private defence or in general that the prosecution evidence should be rejected as they have not come out with the whole truth particularly regarding the genesis of the occurrence. In the instant case, the occurrence took place in the bus itself at the Bastwad cross. A-1 to A-6 admitted their presence and also admitted their participation. The evidence of the injured witnesses amply establishes that these six accused participated in the occurrence causing the death of the three deceased persons and causing serious injuries to PWs 1, 3, 4 and 6.

24. The Supreme Court in the case of Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing*, (2001) 6 SCC 145 has held that when the accused sustain injuries in a same occurrence, prosecution is obliged to explain the injury. However, the Court has to be satisfied of the existence of two conditions before non explanation of the injuries on the persons of the accused may affect the prosecution case. Two conditions are (i) that the injury on the person of the accused was of a serious in nature; (ii) that such injuries must have been caused at the time of occurrence in question.

Para 17 of the said judgment reads as under:-

"17.The first question which arises for consideration is what is the effect of non-explanation of injuries sustained by the accused persons. InRajender Singhv.State of Bihar[(2000) 4 SCC 298 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 796] ,Ram Sunder Yadavv.State of Bihar[(1998) 7 SCC 365 : 1998 SCC (Cri) 1630] andVijayee Singhv.State of U.P.[(1990) 3 SCC 190 : 1990 SCC (Cri) 378] , all three-Judge Bench decisions, the view taken consistently is that it cannot be held as a matter of law or invariably a rule that whenever the accused sustained an injury in the same occurrence, the prosecution is obliged to explain the injury and on the failure of the prosecution to do so the prosecution case should be disbelieved. Before non-explanation of the injuries on the persons of the accused persons by the prosecution witnesses may affect the prosecution case, the court has to be satisfied of the existence of two conditions: (i) that the injury on the person of the accused was of a serious nature; and (ii) that such injuries must have been caused at the time of the occurrence in question. Non-explanation of injuries assumes greater significance when the evidence consists of interested or partisan witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution. Where the evidence is clear, cogent and creditworthy and where the court can distinguish the truth from falsehood the mere fact that the injuries on the side of the accused persons are not explained by the prosecution cannot by itself be a sole basis to reject the testimony of the prosecution witnesses and consequently the whole of the prosecution case."

25. Thus, non explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at the time of occurrence or in the course of transaction/occurrence is a very important circumstance. But mere non explanation of injuries by the prosecution may not affect the prosecution case if evidence is clear, cogent and creditworthy. This principle applies to cases where the injuries sustained by the accused are minor and superficial or where the evidence is so clear and cogent, so independent and disinterested, so probable, consistent and creditworthy which outweighs the effect of the omission on the part of prosecution to explain the injuries as held by the Supreme Court in the case of Rizan v. State of Chhattisgarh (2003) 2 SCC 661.

23. Similar view has been taken by the Supreme Court in the following cases:-

(i) (2000) 1 SCC 621Padam Singh v. State of U.P., (2000) 1 SCC 621;

(Ii) (2003) 9 SCC 426 M.P. v. Mishrilal;

(iii) (2004) 7 SCC 408Dashrath Singh v. State of U.P.;

(iv) (2005) 12 SCC 657 Bishna vs State of West Bengal; and

(v) (2006) 9 SCC 57Nagarathinam v. State

24. In the present case, the accused, Gurudeen received grievous injuries in the occurence. Two witnesses who were examined, were interested witnesses. No independent witness was examined. The case of the prosecution was not proved by leading cogent and trustworthy witnesses. Non explanation of the injuries on the person of accused, Gurudeen became important and assumed significance. Neither in the FIR nor in the charge-sheet, the injuries were mentioned. Thus, the Trial Court rightly assumed that the prosecution did not come out with truth regarding genesis of the occurrence. The prosecution case had become doubtful and, therefore, Trial Court had rightly not believed in the prosecution story and acquitted the accused.

25. Considering the limited scope of the power under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C., I do not find that the Trial Court has committed palpable error of law or facts or it did not rightly appreciated the evidence. In view thereof, the present revision fails and is hereby dismissed.

Mahesh Kumar Vs St. of Raj., 1990 Sup 2 SCC 451

1. Present criminal revision under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been filed against the judgment and order dated 11.10.2006 passed by learned District Judge, Barabanki in Criminal Appeal No.18 of 2006, Vishnu Kumar Agarwal vs State of U.P.

Further prayer has been made for quashing of the order dated 06.06.2006 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.6, Barabanki by which learned Chief Judicial Magistrate had dismissed revisionist?s application under Section 452 Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

2. The revisionist was the complainant in FIR registered at Case Crime No.270 of 2002 under Sections 394 and 411 IPC, Police Station Ramnagar, Barabanki. After charge-sheet was filed, trial of the said offence was conducted in Criminal Case No.208 of 2005. On 03.09.2005, the accused were acquitted in the said case after conclusion of the trial. The revisionist after conclusion of the trial filed an application under Section 452 Cr.P.C. for releasing 28 Kgs silver, which was allegedly looted from him for which the Case Crime No.270 of 2002 under Sections 394, 411 IPC was registered at Police Station Ramnagar, District Barabanki. This silver was allegedly recovered from the accused who faced trial and acquitted and recovered silver was made case property. The revisionist in the said application stated that on 16.09.2002 said silver was robbed by the accused from him, and same was recovered from the accused and, therefore, after conclusion of the trial the same should be released in his favour.

3. The Learned Magistrate, however, rejected the said application vide impugned order dated 06.06.2006 on the ground that the revisionist was given opportunity to produce documents regarding his ownership and sales tax certificate to show his ownership over the seized silver. The revisionist filed photocopy of some documents but from the said documents his ownership was not proved and, therefore, the learned trial court rejected the application for releasing the said silver in his favour.

4. Aggrieved by the said order, the revisionist had filed Criminal Appeal No.18 of 2006 before the learned District Judge, Barabanki.

5. Learned Appellate Court vide impugned order dated 11.10.2006 held that the revisionist did not support the prosecution case in his evidence as P.W.-2. He was declared as hostile witness. He said that he did not recognize the persons who had robbed him. He did not recognize the accused-Meharbaan Singh and Vijay Bahadur Yadav who were present in the Court and said that they were not present when incident took place nor they committed the loot. He also said that no seizure memo was prepared in his presence of the silver which was allegedly recovered. When the silver was shown to him in the police station at that time two accused present in the court were not there. The police did not tell him that from where and from whom the silver was recovered.

6. Learned Appellate Court considering the aforesaid stand of the revisionist during trial of the case held that the revisionist was not telling the correct facts and, therefore, the revisionist could not be believed that he was owner of said silver. He also could not file any proof/document regarding his document over the silver in question. Despite given time by the learned Magistrate, he could not produce any document that he registered with the Sales Tax Department.

7. In view thereof, learned Appellate Court held that since revisionist could not file any document to prove his ownership over the silver, which was allegedly recovered by the police and therefore, the said silver was to be escheated to the State.

8. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and learned A.G.A. for the State.

9. Learned counsel for the revisionist submits that it is not in dispute that it was the revisionist who lodged the FIR in question alleging that he was robbed of 28 kgs silver and same silver was recovered by the police which became the case property. He has further submitted that after conclusion of the trial even if the accused were acquitted, silver ought to have been released in his favour as it was his property which was looted by the accused. The Court is not required to look at the ownership while passing the order under Section 452 Cr.P.C.

10. Learned counsel for the revisionist has placed reliance on the judgment in the case of Mahesh Kumar vs State of Rajasthan 1990 Sup 2 SCC 451 to submit that once the accused from whom the silver was recovered had disclaimed stolen silver, then there should not have any reason to not return the said silver to the complainant from whom it belongs.

Para 2 to 4 of the said judgment would read as under:-

"2. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, we are satisfied that the direction made by the learned Single Judge of the Rajasthan High Court for the forfeiture of the amount of Rs 20,000 (Rupees twenty thousand) to the State is wholly unwarranted. It is now accepted principle that the confessional part of the statement made by the accused leading to discovery within the meaning of Section 27 of the Evidence Act, 1872 or Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 can be made use of for purpose of and the disposal of property under Section 452 of the Code. There is a long line of decisions laying down the principle and we would refer to only a few of them.

3. In Queen Empress v. Tribhovan Manekchand [ILR 9 Bom 131] a Division Bench of the Bombay High Court laid down that the statement made to the police by the accused persons as to the ownership of property which was the subject matter of the proceedings against them although inadmissible as evidence against them at the trial for the offence with which they were charged, were admissible as evidence with regard to the ownership of the property in an enquiry held by the Criminal Procedure Code. The same view was reiterated in Pohlu v. Emperor [AIR 1943 Lah 312 : 45 PLR 391 : 209 IC 546] where it was pointed out that though there is a bar in Section 25 of the Evidence Act, or in Section 162 CrPC for being made use of as evidence against the accused, this statement could be made use of in an enquiry under Section 517 CrPC when determining the question of return of property. These two decisions have been followed by the Rajasthan High Court in Dhanraj Baldeokishan v. State [AIR 1965 Raj 238 : (1965) 2 Cri LJ 805 : 1965 Raj LW 289] and the Mysore High Court in Veerabhadrappa v. Govinda [ILR (1973) 23 Mys 64] . In the present case, the amount in question was seized from the accused in pursuance of statements made by them under Section 27 of the Evidence Act. The High Court as well as the courts below have found the property to be the subject of theft and the acquittal of the accused is upon benefit of doubt. The accused persons disclaimed the stolen property and there is no reason why the same should not be returned to the owner i.e. the complainant to whom it belongs.

4. We, therefore, allow the appeal, set aside the impugned part of the order passed by the High Court directing the forfeiture of amount of Rs 20,000 (Rupees twenty thousand) and instead direct that the same be returned to the appellant to whom the money belongs."

11. I have considered the submissions of learned counsel for the revisionist and learned A.G.A. for the State.

12. During the course of trial the revisionist had denied that the silver was recovered from the accused, who were acquitted and any seizure memo was prepared in his presence. However, it is not the case of the prosecution that silver was of the accused who were acquitted later on. This is also not the case of the prosecution that accused or anyone else has claimed the ownership of the seized silver. The question of ownership is not required to be considered when the facts are not in dispute that on the FIR being registered by the revisionist/complainant, the silver was recovered from the accused who had not claimed ownership after acquittal.

13. In view of the aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the view taken by the two courts below is incorrect on facts and law. Therefore, the present revision is allowed. The impugned orders are hereby quashed.

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 397/401 – Revision - The Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1955 - Section 7/16, The Prevention of Food Adulteration Rule,

1955 - Section 44-H (omitted by Central Government) - sale of non-iodized common salt, Rule 42(ZZZ)11 sold or use under proper labeling with declaration, Rule 44-I - restriction on sale of common salt - No person shall sell or offer to expose for sale or have in his premises for the purpose of sale, the common salt, for direct human consumption unless the same is iodized - if "the law or precedent" is beneficial to the accused then unless it is prohibited, the benefit should be given to the accused retrospectively. (Para - 8,10)

Unlabeled sample of salt taken - accused not questioned under Section 313 Cr.P.C. - about whether he was selling salt for human consumption or any other purpose - accused challaned of selling non-iodized salt - Food Inspector tested salt - found it non-iodized – found guilty - convict appealed - appellate court ruled in favor of trial court - prosecution's documents and evidence dependable - appeal dismissed - instant revision - sale of non-iodized salt was prohibited under Section 44-H - omitted by Central Government.(Para -3)

HELD:- Revision is allowed due to two reasons: Rule 44-I, which was based on conviction, was declared ultra-vires the government's rule-making powers, and the evidence was deficient, as the sample was found to be a common salt for direct human consumption.(Para - 10)

Academy of Nutrition Improvement & ors. Vs U.O.I. , Writ Petition (C) No. 80 of 2006

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Satendra Kumar Gupta, learned counsel for the revisionist and learned AGA for the State-respondents.

2. This criminal revision has been filed with a prayer to allow the present revision for setting aside and stay the operation of the impugned judgments and order dated 08.01.2002 and 01.05.2001 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Aligarh and 1st Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh respectively, respondent nos. 2 and 3.

3. Relevant facts giving rise to this criminal revision are as below:-

(i) The revisionist faced the trial under Section 7/16 of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1955 in the Court of Ist ACJM, Aligarh Case No. 863 of 1999 and was convicted under Sections 7/16 of the Food Adulteration Act and to undergo a rigorous imprisonment of 6 months and fine of Rs. 1,000/- in default whereof he was ordered to undergo further rigorous imprisonment of 3 months.

(ii) The facts of the case as appears from the lower court record in brief are that the accused was challaned on 10.04.1994 for selling non-iodized salt. The challan came to be filed by the Food Inspector after initially taking 500 gm of sample of edible salt, testing the same and after adopting the prescribed procedure filing a complaint, finding same to be non-iodized. He was declared guilty and sentenced as above. The convict filed an appeal no. 44 of 2001 against the above judgment and order.

(iii) The appellate court heard both the sides and found all the documents filed by the prosecution in order and also the evidence produced as dependable. He affirmed the order of the trial court and dismissed the appeal. Now, this revision has been filed against both the orders, inter alia on the grounds that the sale of non-iodized common salt, though was prohibited under Section 44-H of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Rule, 1955, however, this provision was omitted by Central Government by GSR716(E) dated 13.09.2000; even prior to the omission of Rule 44-H, the common salt could be sold or exposed or stored for sale for certain purposes like iodization, iron fortification, animal use, preservation, manufacturing medicine and industrial use under proper labeling with declaration as specified under clause 11 of the sub-rule (ZZZ) of Rule 42.

4. It is contended that the Food Inspector nowhere stated in his statement that he asked the revisionist that he wanted to purchase the salt for human consumption. It is also contended that salt, of which, the sample was taken was not being sold in a labelled pack, therefore, the entire proceedings is illegal as no evidence has been produced that the sample of common salt tested for iodine was being exposed for sale for human consumption only, therefore, he cannot be convicted on the basis of presumptions.

5. It is contended by the learned AGA that requirement of labeling was not mandatory for salt meant for human consumption. It could be sold loose also. Hence, argument of the revisionist is misconceived.

6. In the light of the above contentions, I went through the impugned orders and the material brought on record. This fact is not disputed that at the time of occurrence, the law relating to the food adulteration prescribed that any common salt exposed for sale for human consumption must be iodized in the manner as prescribed. The law required that non-iodized salt cannot be sold for human consumption, however, any uniodized salt for animal use or for the purpose of iodization iron fortification, manufacture of medicine and for industrial use was permitted by law to be sold.

7. (i) The paper on record show that the sample of the salt taken was unlabeled. The oral evidence produced from the side of the prosecution did not reveal that the sample was taken from those salt or the packets of the salt which were exposed for sale for human consumption only. The witness is silent on the point.

(ii) It may be noted that the burden of proof definitely lied on the prosecution side to prove that the salt in question was being sold for human consumption and not for animal or industrial use or any other purpose.

(iii) In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., no question was asked on this point. The accused was never asked whether he was selling the salt for human consumption or for any other purpose.

8. It may also be noticed that the Apex Court in Academy of Nutrition Improvement and Others Vs Union of India in Writ Petition (C) No. 80 of 2006 decided on 04.07.2011 declared that Rule 44-I of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Rule, 1955 is beyond the rule making power of the Central Government and ultra vires the Act. The Rule 44-I prescribed restriction on sale of common salt which is as under:-

"No person shall sell or offer to expose for sale or have in his premises for the purpose of sale, the common salt, for direct human consumption unless the same is iodized."

9. With the object of uniformally applying the ban throughout the country, the Central Government inserted Rule 44-H in the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1955 banning the sale of non-iodized common salt for direct human consumption thus prescribing uniform application throughout the country. The Apex Court held the Rule 44-I as invalid on 04.07.2011. It may be noted that it is not said by the Apex Court that the dictum shall have only prospective application and not retrospective.

10. In my view, if "the law or precedent" is beneficial to the accused then unless it is prohibited, the benefit should be given to the accused retrospectively. Hence, in my view, this revision deserves to be allowed on two grounds. Firstly, the Rule 44-I which was the basis of conviction was declared ultra-vires the rule making powers of the government. Secondly, the evidence was deficient on the point that the sample in fact belonged to that category of common salt which was exposed for direct human consumption.

11. The revision is allowed. The judgment and order dated 08.01.2002 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Aligarh as well as judgment and order dated 01.05.2001 passed by 1st Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh, are hereby set aside.

(A) Criminal Law - The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 - Section 102 - Revision, Section 94 - Presumption and determination of age - where several records from educational institutions as envisaged in Section 94(2)(i) are available and they show different dates of birth - Court shall have to depend on the document which passed the test of credibility and admissibility both - comparison between the two (or more) documents on the anvil of reliability is inevitable. (Para -9)

Case involved two different birth dates - found in school records of two different institutions - primary school record showed a 12.02.2002 birth date - high school certificate showed a 15.03.2003 birth date - appellate court relied on primary school record - assuming no discrepancies in recording of date of birth - court found - date of birth from previous institution was basis for admission in subsequent institutions - high school record was not worth reliance - appellate Court declared accused a major - Instant revision. (Para - 2,10)

HELD:- Appellate court correctly relied on the student's primary school record's date of birth, avoiding medical examinations when a reliable school certificate was available. (Para -11)

Revision dismissed. (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Jyotsna Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Upendra Upadhyay, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri O.P. Mishra, learned AGA for the State of U.P. None responds for the respondent no. 2.

2. This criminal revision has been filed under Section 102 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015 challenging the order dated 10.02.2022 passed by the Sessions Judge, Etah in Criminal Appeal No. 44/2021 setting aside the order dated 29.09.2021 passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Etah in Case No. 48 of 2020 by which the revisionist was declared juvenile. The appellate Court allowed the appeal and declared the accused a major.

3. Relevant facts leading to this criminal revision, are as below.

A FIR Case Crime No. 172 of 2020 under Sections 376D, 302, 506, 452 IPC was registered under Police Station Jalesar, District-Etah with the allegations that the complainant's daughter was raped by one Anil and the juvenile; his son aged about 11 years, who was witness to the occurrence was murdered by them by strangulation and the victim was also threatened not to tell anything about the incident. Finding accused a juvenile, the matter came before the Juvenile Justice Board, where age determination inquiry was conducted and he was declared aged 17 years 1 month and 22 days on the date of the incident by an order dated 29.09.2021. Challenging the above order of the Juvenile Justice Board, an Appeal No. 44 of 2021 was preferred by the informant. The learned appellate Court declared the juvenile a major and set aside the order of the Juvenile Justice Board. At the same time, it was ordered that the case of the juvenile shall be sent to the Special Judge, POCSO Act for disposal in accordance with law. The order of the appellate Court has been challenged on behalf of the revisionist through his natural guardian before this Court.

4. It is contended on behalf of the revisionist that the date of birth as mentioned in the high school certificate should have been given preference over other evidence instead the appellate Court relied on primary school record. And that the impugned order has been passed against the settled principles of law and against the provisions of Section 94 of the Juvenile Justice Act and therefore, the impugned order is not sustainable in law.

5. Before the Juvenile Justice Board, the father of the juvenile as CW1-and an official from SMS Jain Inter College, Hathras as CW2 and Headmaster of primary school, Bhyau as CW3 were examined. It may be noticed that the Juvenile Justice Board before proceeding to decide his age, passed an order dated 06.07.2021 for constitution of a Medical Board for medical examination of the juvenile in the background of divergence in his age in educational documents. The Juvenile Justice Board noticed that in the high school certificate, his date of birth was shown as 15.03.2003 making him aged about 17 years 1 month and 22 days on the date of occurrence and the medical examination, which was conducted after a gap of one year, did show him between 18-19 years. Reconciling both the things, the Juvenile Justice Board concluded that his age was about 17 years 1 month and 22 days on the date of occurrence.

6. I went through the impugned order passed in Criminal Appeal whereby the order of the Juvenile Justice Board was set aside and the accused was held to be a major. The learned appellate Court referred to the statement of juvenile's father wherein he stated as CW1, that his son, first studied from Class 1st to 5th in a primary school at Bhyau and from Class 6th to 10th in Shri Mahveer Swami, Jain Inter College, Jalesar. The appellate Court referred to the oral evidence of CW2, an official from the

S.M.S. Jain Inter College who mentioned that the juvenile studied in his institution from Class 7th to Class 12th. Contrary to what, CW1 said , he never said that the juvenile took admission in Class 6th. He further stated that a transfer and conduct certificate of G.S. Primary School, Jalesar was produced and that no document pertaining to his primary school, Bhyau was ever given. Next the appellate Court referred to the statement of CW3, the Headmaster of primary school, Bhyau, Etah, who stated that the juvenile studied in his institution from Class 1st to Class 5th and that his date of birth was 12.02.2002, as per the school records. He deposed that he left his studies in Class 5th and didn't take any transfer and conduct certificate from this school and that hiis name was struck off owing to his continued absence.

7. After perusal of the above oral and documentary evidence, the appellate Court was of the opinion that the date of birth as recorded in his primary school was correct and not the date mentioned in his subsequent school's records. The learned appellate Court was also of the opinion that provisions of Section 94 do not provide that high school certificate is to be given primacy over other school certificates. The appellate Court further observed that where the school certificates were available, no occasion for medical examination arose, therefore, the order of the Juvenile Justice Board was bad in law as it was based on the medical examination of the accused and that the Juvenile Justice Board failed to consider the evidence of the official of the primary school, where the juvenile first attended his studies. On the basis of above analysis, the appeal was allowed and his date of birth was declared as 12.02.2002 on the basis of school record of primary school. Consequently, he was adjudged a major on the date of the occurrence.

8. The provisions of Section 94 are as below:

"(1) Where, it is obvious to the Committee or the Board, based on the appearance of the person brought before it under any of the provisions of this Act (other than for the purpose of giving evidence) that the said person is a child, the Committee or the Board shall record such observation stating the age of the child as nearly as may be and proceed with the inquiry under section 14 or section 36, as the case may be, without waiting for further confirmation of the age.

(2) In case, the Committee or the Board has reasonable grounds for doubt regarding whether the person brought before it is a child or not, the Committee or the Board, as the case may be, shall undertake the process of age determination, by seeking evidence by obtaining-- (i) the date of birth certificate from the school, or the matriculation or equivalent certificate from the concerned examination Board, if available; and in the absence thereof; (ii) the birth certificate given by a corporation or a municipal authority or a panchayat; (iii) and only in the absence of (i) and (ii) above, age shall be determined by an ossification test or any other latest medical age determination test conducted on the orders of the Committee or the Board: Provided such age determination test conducted on the order of the Committee or the Board shall be completed within fifteen days from the date of such order.

(3) The age recorded by the Committee or the Board to be the age of person so brought before it shall, for the purpose of this Act, be deemed to be the true age of that person."

9. Section 94(2)(iii) shows that only in the absence of documents, as described in clause (i) and (ii), his age shall be determined by the ossification test or any other medical techniques. What is important to note is that the above provision nowhere says that where multiple documentary evidence which essentially fell in the category as described in Section 94(2)(i) of the Juvenile Justice Act are available, one of it may be given preference over the other. Now the pertinent question arises- What a Court is supposed to do where several records from educational institutions as envisaged in Section 94(2)(i) are available and they show different dates of birth? Of course the Court shall have to depend on the document which passed the test of credibility and admissibility both. In such cases the comparison between the two (or more) documents on the anvil of reliability is inevitable.

10. Coming back to the facts of this case, this is not disputed that two different dates of birth have been found in school records of two institutions. Date of birth is 12.02.2002 in school record where he studied from Class 1st to Class 5th and it is 15.03.2003 in high school certificate. The evidence oral as well as documentary , has been reproduced verbatim in Juvenile Justice Board's order. Perusal thereof clearly shows glaring gaps and the learned appellate Court has noticed those gaps and rightly depended upon the date of birth as shown in primary school record. In my view, it stands to logic that the school record of the school/educational institution first attended, may be showing correct date of birth unless there is some fact and circumstances attracting attention of the Court regarding recording of date of birth in such papers prompting the Court to disbelieve the same. As per established practice in educational institutions, the date of birth as recorded in a previous institution forms a basis of admission in subsequent institutions. It is a common knowledge that whenever a student, for some reason, leaves his previous school and applies to take admission in some other institution, he has to produce his school leaving certificate or transfer and conduct certificate. In normal course of business of school admissions, production of a transfer and conduct certificate is must. In this case, no transfer and conduct certificate was ever issued to him when he left his primary school and a transfer and conduct certificate of some other school (name of which is conspicuously missing in the oral testimony of his father), was produced before the school in which he took admission in Class 7th. The details of school where he studied in Class 6th are missing. It was for the revisionist to explain the missing link. Non-explanation thereof naturally impelled the Court to give a finding that the high school record is not worth reliance and that some relevant material has been deliberately withheld.

11. In my view, the learned appellate Court made no mistake in depending upon the date of birth mentioned in record of the primary school first attended by the student; and I also agree with the observation of the appellate Court that where a reliable school certificate was available, there was no need to call for medical examination of the student and much less placing reliance on it.

12. The revision is, accordingly, dismissed.

13. Copy of the order be certified to the Court concerned.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J. & Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Dr. L.P. Misra, assisted by Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri S.N. Tilhari, learned counsel for the State and Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Ms. Ashmita Singh, learned counsel for the complainant/ opposite party no.5.

2. By means of this petition, the petitioner has prayed following main reliefs:-

"(i) to issue a writ, order, or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned first information report, registered against the Petitioner by Respondent no. 5, as FIR/ Case Crime No.0310/2022, under section 342, 386, 504 and 506 IPC, and 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 at Police Station- Indira Nagar, District- Lucknow on 29.10.2022, contained in Annexure no. 1 to the writ petition;

(ii) to issue a writ, order, or direction in the nature of Mandamus, commanding the Respondents not to proceed, prosecute, or arrest the Petitioner on the basis of the impugned FIR registered against the Petitioner by Respondent no.5 as FIR/ Case Crime No.0310/2022, under section 342, 386, 504 and 506 IPC, and 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 at Police Station- Indira Nagar, District- Lucknow on 29.10.2022, contained in Annexure no.1 to the writ petition; in the alternative at least without complying with the mandatory statutory provision as contained under Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act or till the submission of charge-sheet, whichever is later"

3. The main contention to assail the impugned FIR are two fold. Firstly, no specific allegation against the present petitioner has been levelled to constitute, prima facie, offence under Section 386 IPC. Even otherwise, no offence as alleged in the FIR is, prima facie, made out against the petitioner. If the allegation regarding extortion of money is taken on its face value, as per the allegation of the FIR, in that case too, at the best offence under Section 384 IPC may be attracted, however, the petitioner is denying the aforesaid allegation, but in that case, the punishment under those sections would be below seven years and the investigation may be conducted as per the directions and guidelines of the Apex Court in re; Arnesh Kumar v. State of Bihar, (2014) 8 SCC 273, by giving prior notice under Section 41-A Cr.P.C. Secondly, no FIR against the present petitioner can be lodged in view of the bar of Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 (hereinafter referred to as "P.C. Act").

4. Dr. Misra has further submitted that since the FIR has been lodged under Section 7 of P.C. Act besides other sections of IPC, therefore, compliance of Section 17-A of P.C. Act would be mandatory. Sections 7 & 17-A of P.C. Act are being reproduced herein below:-

"[7. Offence relating to public servant being bribed.-- Any public servant who,--

(a) obtains or accepts or attempts to obtain from any person, an undue advantage, with the intention to perform or cause performance of public duty improperly or dishonestly or to forbear or cause forbearance to perform such duty either by himself or by another public servant; or

(b) obtains or accepts or attempts to obtain, an undue advantage from any person as a reward for the improper or dishonest performance of a public duty or for forbearing to perform such duty either by himself or another public servant; or shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three years but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine.

[17A. Enquiry or Inquiry or investigation of offences relatable to recommendations made or decision taken by public servant in discharge of official functions or duties.-- No police officer shall conduct any enquiry or inquiry or investigation into any offence alleged to have been committed by a public servant under this Act, where the alleged offence is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by such public servant in discharge of his official functions or duties, without the previous approval--

(a) in the case of a person who is or was employed, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed, in connection with the affairs of the Union, of that Government;

(b) in the case of a person who is or was employed, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed, in connection with the affairs of a State, of that Government;

(c) in the case of any other person, of the authority competent to remove him from his office, at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed:

Provided that no such approval shall be necessary for cases involving arrest of a person on the spot on the charge of accepting or attempting to accept any undue advantage for himself or for any other person:

Provided further that the concerned authority shall convey its decision under this section within a period of three months, which may, for reasons to be recorded in writing by such authority, be extended by a further period of one month.]"

5. Dr. Misra has submitted that compliance of Section 17-A of P.C. Act is mandatory. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the decision of the Apex Court in re; Yashwant Sinha and Others v. Central Bureau of Investigation through its Director and Another, (2020) 2 SCC 338, referring paras 117, 118 & 119, which are as under:-

"117. In terms of Section 17-A, no police officer is permitted to conduct any enquiry or inquiry or conduct investigation into any offence done by a public servant where the offence alleged is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by the public servant in discharge of his public functions without previous approval, inter alia, of the authority competent to remove the public servant from his office at the time when the offence was alleged to have been committed. In respect of the public servant, who is involved in this case, it is clause (c), which is applicable. Unless, therefore, there is previous approval, there could be neither inquiry or enquiry or investigation. It is in this context apposite to notice that the complaint, which has been filed by the petitioners in Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 298 of 2018, moved before the first respondent CBI, is done after Section 17-A was inserted. The complaint is dated 4-10-2018. Para 5 sets out the relief which is sought in the complaint which is to register an FIR under various provisions. Paras 6 and 7 of the complaint are relevant in the context of Section 17-A, which read as follows:

"6. We are also aware that recently, Section 17-A of the Act has been brought in by way of an amendment to introduce the requirement of prior permission of the Government for investigation or inquiry under the Prevention of Corruption Act.

7. We are also aware that this will place you in the peculiar situation, of having to ask the accused himself, for permission to investigate a case against him. We realise that your hands are tied in this matter, but we request you to at least take the first step, of seeking permission of the Government under Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act for investigating this offence and under which,

"the concerned authority shall convey its decision under this section within a period of three months, which may, for reasons to be recorded in writing by such authority, be extended by a further period of one month"."

118. Therefore, the petitioners have filed the complaint fully knowing that Section 17-A constituted a bar to any inquiry or enquiry or investigation unless there was previous approval. In fact, a request is made to at least take the first step of seeking permission under Section 17-A of the 2018 Act. Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 298 of 2018 was filed on 24-10-2018 and the complaint is based on non-registration of the FIR. There is no challenge to Section 17-A. Under the law, as it stood, both on the date of filing the petition and even as of today, Section 17-A continues to be on the statute book and it constitutes a bar to any inquiry or enquiry or investigation. The petitioners themselves, in the complaint, request to seek approval in terms of Section 17-A but when it comes to the relief sought in the writ petition, there was no relief claimed in this behalf.

119. Even proceeding on the basis that on petitioners' complaint, an FIR must be registered as it purports to disclose cognizable offences and the Court must so direct, will it not be a futile exercise having regard to Section 17-A. I am, therefore, of the view that though otherwise the petitioners in Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 298 of 2018 may have made out a case, having regard to the law actually laid down in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , and more importantly, Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act, in a review petition, the petitioners cannot succeed. However, it is my view that the judgment sought to be reviewed, would not stand in the way of the first respondent in Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 298 of 2018 from taking action on Ext. P-1, complaint in accordance with law and subject to first respondent obtaining previous approval under Section 17-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act."

6. Dr. Misra has further submitted that unless and until the previous approval from competent authority is received to make investigation against the present petitioner in view of Section 17-A of P.C. Act, the police authorities may be restrained to conduct investigation against the petitioner pursuant to the impugned FIR and the operation and implementation of the impugned FIR may be stayed so far as the present petitioner is concerned.

7. Dr. L.P. Misra has also submitted that for the alleged incident of the month of February, 2022, thereafter of the month of April, 2022, the FIR has been lodged on 29.10.2022. In the said FIR, no specific date of incident has been indicated for the allegation relating to the month of February, 2022. Further, the allegations so levelled in the FIR are highly improbable inasmuch as when the complainant was allegedly instructed to deposit a sum of Rs.63 lakh in one International Business Firm account at Alwar, Rajasthan, as to why he had deposited a sum of more than Rs.74 lakh approx.

8. Dr. Misra has also vehemently submitted that during investigation the investigating agency has added Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 & 120-B of IPC, besides earlier Sections 342, 386, 504, 506 IPC and Section 7 of the P.C. Act to subvert the procedure established by the law, however, ingredients of all aforesaid sections do not attract in the present F.I.R, therefore, the impugned F.I.R. may be quashed both on merits as well as the same is violative of Section 17-A of the P.C. Act.

9. Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, appearing for opposite party no.5 has raised an objection regarding maintainability and scope of the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India referring the decision of the Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of Maharashtra and Others, AIR 2021 Supreme Court 1918. Sri I.B. has referred paras 7.3, 15 & 16 of the aforesaid judgement, which are being reproduced herein-below:-

"7.3. Then comes the celebrated decision of this Court in the case of State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335. In the said decision, this Court considered in detail the scope of the High Court powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or Article 226 of the Constitution of India to quash the FIR and referred to several judicial precedents and held that the High Court should not embark upon an inquiry into the merits and demerits of the allegations and quash the proceedings without allowing the investigating agency to complete its task. At the same time, this Court identified the following cases in which FIR/complaint can be quashed:

"102.(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the Act concerned (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the Act concerned, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

"15. As observed hereinabove, there may be some cases where the initiation of criminal proceedings may be an abuse of process of law. In such cases, and only in exceptional cases and where it is found that non interference would result into miscarriage of justice, the High Court, in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or Article 226 of the Constitution of India, may quash the FIR/complaint/criminal proceedings and even may stay the further investigation. However, the High Court should be slow in interfering the criminal proceedings at the initial stage, i.e., quashing petition filed immediately after lodging the FIR/complaint and no sufficient time is given to the police to investigate into the allegations of the FIR/complaint, which is the statutory right/duty of the police under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure....

... Therefore, in case, the accused named in the FIR/complaint apprehends his arrest, he has a remedy to apply for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. and on the conditions of grant of anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C being satisfied, he may be released on anticipatory bail by the competent court. Therefore, it cannot be said that the accused is remediless. It cannot be disputed that the anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. can be granted on the conditions prescribed under Section 438 Cr.P.C. are satisfied. At the same time, it is to be noted that arrest is not a must whenever an FIR of a cognizable offence is lodged. Still in case a person is apprehending his arrest in connection with an FIR disclosing cognizable offence, as observed hereinabove, he has a remedy to apply for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. As observed by this Court in the case of Hema Mishra v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2014) 4 SCC 453, though the High Courts have very wide powers under Article 226, the powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India are to be exercised to prevent miscarriage of justice and to prevent abuse of process of law by the authorities indiscriminately making pre-arrest of the accused persons. It is further observed that in entertaining such a petition under Article 226, the High Court is supposed to balance the two interests. On the one hand, the Court is to ensure that such a power under Article 226 is not to be exercised liberally so as to convert it into Section 438 Cr.P.C. proceedings. It is further observed that on the other hand whenever the High Court finds that in a given case if the protection against pre-arrest is not given, it would amount to gross miscarriage of justice and no case, at all, is made for arrest pending trial, the High Court would be free to grant the relief in the nature of anticipatory bail in exercise of its powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, keeping in mind that this power has to be exercised sparingly in those cases where it is absolutely warranted and justified. However, such a blanket interim order of not to arrest or "no coercive steps" cannot be passed mechanically and in a routine manner."

10. On the basis of aforesaid observation of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra), Sri I.B. Singh has submitted that the allegations so levelled against the petitioner in the FIR disclose commission of cognizable offence, therefore, the FIR in question may not be quashed. Since the FIR may not be quashed, therefore, no interim protection can be granted to the petitioner. Further, there is a statutory prescription under Section 438 Cr.P.C. to file anticipatory bail application, therefore, extra-ordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India may not be invoked.

11. Replying the aforesaid contention of Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, Dr. Misra has submitted that since the impugned FIR is illegal as the same could have not been lodged in view of the specific bar of Section 17-A of the P.C. Act, therefore, the impugned FIR is liable to be quashed. Hence, the dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra) would not be applicable in the present case.

12. On that, Sri I.B. Singh has placed reliance upon the decision of Kerala High Court in re; Shankara Bhat and Ors. Vs. State of Kerala and Ors., reported in MANU/KE/2227/2021, whereby applicability of Section 17-A of P.C. Act has been examined and the Kerala High Court in paras 13, 25 & 26 of the said judgment has observed as under:-

"13. In the back ground of the law laid down in that context, the contention, whether prior approval as contemplated under section 17A introduced by 2018 Amendment to the Prevention of Corruption Act is required in respect of every act which form subject matter of prosecution has to be considered. In this context, it is essential to refer to the exact words Crl.M.C Nos.7542/2018 & others 17 employed by the statute which reads as follows;

"S. 17A No police officer shall conduct any enquiry or inquiry or investigation into any offence alleged to have been committed by a public servant under this Act, where the alleged offence is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by such public servant in discharge of his official functions or duties without previous approval.".

Under section 17A, which was inserted by Act 16 of 2018, and which came into force with effect from 26/7/2018, the previous approval by the concerned authorities is essential. The crucial question that arises for consideration in these proceedings is whether previous approval from the competent authority need to be obtained for every enquiry, inquiry or investigation, into every offence committed by the public servant. The crux of the issue is whether the above provision is an omnibus, all pervasive pre requisite for every enquiry or inquiry or investigation into every act done by the public servant in discharge of his official functions.

"25. The reasonable conclusion that can be arrived at regarding the scope of section 17A is that prior approval under section 17A for conducting any enquiry, inquiry or investigation is required only when the offence alleged is relatable to a decision taken or recommendation made by the public authority and it involves a debatable or suspicious or doubtful recommendation made or decision taken by the authority. Acts, which are ex facie criminal or constitute an offence do not require approval under section 17A of P.C.Act.This legal proposition, seems to be clear from the statute and is in consonance with the spirit of the Prevention of Corruption Act and also in consonance with the legal principles laid down in relation to section 197 Cr.P.C.

26. Applying the above legal principles, I am of the firm opinion that in the cases at hand, which involve allegation of falsification of accounts, breach of trust and misappropriation of funds or acts which are exfacie criminal, no prior approval under section 17A of Prevention of Corruption Act is required. Hence, all the Crl.M.Cs. are without any merit and are liable to be dismissed. However, it is made clear that except this issue, all other issues touching on the merit, are left open to be raised and considered at the appropriate stage. In the result, all the Crl.M.Cs stand dismissed."

13. The aforesaid judgment has been challenged before the Apex Court by filing

Petition(s) for Special Leave to appeal (Crl.) No(s).9341/2021, Manoj. K.M vs. State of Kerala & Anr. and the said Special Leave to Appeal was dismissed by the Apex Court vide order dated 10.12.2021 by the following order:-

"Learned counsel for the petitioner states that Section 13(1) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 was substituted vide Act 16 of 2018 with effect from 26.7.2018 and that clause (d) to Section 13(1) was not in the statute when the FIR in the instant case was registered.

The impugned order has primarily examined the purport and the legal effect of Section 17A of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. Keeping in view the factual background of this case, we are not inclined to interfere with the impugned order, but leave it open to the petitioner to raise the aforesaid contentions and issues before the Investigating officer/Court.

Pending application(s), if any, shall stand disposed of."

14. Therefore, on the basis of aforesaid judgment, Sri I.B. Singh has submitted that the argument of Dr. Misra regarding 17-A of the P.C. Act Act may not be applicable in the present case.

15. Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, appearing on behalf of the State-respondents has submitted that bare perusal of the allegations of the FIR clearly reveals that the present petitioner has committed offence under Sections 342, 386, 504 & 506 IPC as well as Section 7 of the P.C. Act. Sri Mathur has also drawn attention of this Court towards para 15 of the counter affidavit of the State wherein it has been categorically indicated that on the basis of evidence collected so far, offence under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468, 471 & 120-B of IPC has been added and at present, investigation is under progress for the offences under Sections 342, 386, 504, 506, 409, 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B of IPC and Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

16. Sri Mathur has further submitted that the instant FIR is consisting three incidents. First incident is relating to the month of February, 2022 when the present petitioner compelled the informant to provide 15% commission for the payments of work done by his Company, thereby providing the mobile number of the co-accused Ajay Mishra. The informant under compelling circumstances paid 15% commission to the petitioner through co-accused Ajay Mishra. Second incident is relating to the month of April, 2022 when the informant has been forced to pay 15% commission of his remaining payment and he paid such commission through cash and through e-banking in the account of one International Business Firm at Alwar, Rajasthan. Third incident is dated 01.09.2022 when the complainant/ informant paid commission to the tune of Rs.15,55,000/- to the petitioner through co-accused Ajay Mishra regarding his another payment for the work done by his Company. The informant has indicated not only the dates of such payments but also indicated the amount which is Rs.1,41,00,000/- in all the aforesaid incidents. Sri Mathur has also submitted that when advance commission was demanded from the informant and he could not pay the same, the work assigned to his Company has been stopped by the petitioner and given to the Company of co-accused Ajay Mishra, as has been clearly indicated in the FIR.

17. Sri Mathur has apprised the Court that looking to the gravity and seriousness of the allegations, the investigation has been handed over to the Special Task Force, U.P. Some senior officers/officials of Special Task Force are present in the Court to assist Sri Mathur so that proper informations could be provided to the Court. On the basis of instructions so received from those officers, Sri Mathur has apprised the Court that during the period which has been referred in the FIR, the petitioner has called the co-accused so many times and co-accused has also called the petitioner couple of times. He has also apprised that the informant/ complainant was having no business relations of any kind whatsoever with the Company in the name of International Business Firm, Alwar, Rajasthan and transaction so made with such Firm by the informant/ complainant on 29.04.2022 was the single transaction whereas co-accused Ajay Mishra is having business relation with such Firm at Alwar, Rajasthan and there are couple of transactions of co-accused Ajay Mishra with such Firm. On the basis of aforesaid submission, Sri Mathur has submitted that this may not be a case that the informant/complainant is having any business relation with the Company at Alwar, Rajasthan but he deposited a sum of Rs.74 lakh approx, to be more precise Rs.51,62,500/-, Rs.11,80,000/- & Rs.10,98,875/- through RTGS at the behest of the petitioner and co-accused Ajay Mishra. Therefore, as per Sri Mathur, some more sections have been added by the investigating agency against the accused persons.

18. So far as contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner regarding bar to investigate the issue in terms of Section 17-A of P.C. Act is concerned, Sri Mathur has submitted that Section 17-A of P.C. Act clearly mandates that said bar would be applicable only where the alleged offence is relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by such public servant in discharge of his official functions or duties. In the present case, extorting money taking undue advantage of his position from the informant may not be considered the act which has been done in discharge of his official duties or function. He has further submitted that since the petitioner is presently serving on the post of Vice Chancellor and has committed offence taking undue advantage of his position, therefore, FIR under Section 7 of P.C. Act besides other sections of IPC has been lodged but the alleged offence is not relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by the petitioner in discharge of his official function or duties, therefore, bar of Section 17-A of P.C. Act would not be applicable in the present case. Even otherwise this aspect may be looked into at the time of taking cognizance of the offence under Section 19 of the P.C. Act.

19. Sri Mathur has, therefore, submitted that for getting benefit of Section 17-A of the P.C. Act in the light of the dictum of Apex Court in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra), the offence in question must be relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by the petitioner in discharge of his official functions or duties but alleged offence of the petitioner committing forgery, fraud, criminal breach of trust, forgery of a valuable security etc., extorting money and criminal intimidation etc. having criminal conspiracy with other accused person misusing the position as Vice Chancellor may not come within the four corners of Section 17-A of the P.C. Act, so he is not entitled to get benefit of the judgment of the Apex Court in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra).

20. Sri Mathur has also placed reliance upon the dictum of the Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra) referring those paragraphs, which have been cited by Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, appearing on behalf of the complainant/ opposite party no.5.

21. So as to demonstrate the test as to whether the act was done in discharge of official duty, Sri Mathur has placed reliance upon the dictum of Privy Council in re; H.H.B. Gill and another v. The King, AIR (35) 1948 Privy Council 128, referring relevant portion of para-30 thereof, which reads as under:-

" [30] ... A public servant can only be said to act or to purport to act in the discharge of his official duty, if his act is such as to lie within the scope of his official duty. Thus a Judge neither acts nor purport to act as a Judge in receiving a bribe, though the judgment which he delivers may be such an act: not doses a Government medical officer act or purport to act as a public servant in picking the pocket of a patient whom he is examining, though the examination itself may be such as an act. The test may well be whether the public servant, if challenged, can reasonably claim that, what he does, he does in virtue of his office..."

22. Sri Mathur has submitted that the aforesaid observation of Privy Council has been followed by the Apex Court time and again in various judgments.

23. Sri Mathur has placed reliance of paras 149 & 152 of Full Bench judgment of this Court in re; Smt. Neera Yadav vs. C.B.I. (Bharat Sangh), [(2006) 1 UPLBEC 601], which read as under:-

"149. In the present case, three charge-sheets contain offence under Sections 13(1)(d) and (2) of Act of 1988 read with Section 120-B, IPC and one charge sheet is only under Section 13 (1)(d) & (2) of the Act of 1988. The offences under Act of 1988 as has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Harihar Prasad (Supra), Kalicharan Mahapatra (Supra), which still holds field, does not come within the purview of word "in discharge of the official duty". Thus, the offence of criminal conspiracy under Section 120-B, IPC, would also not be within the term "in discharge of official duty" and, therefore, Section 197 Cr.P.C. has no application at all.

152. In view of the aforesaid, answers to the aforesaid three questions are as follows:

(I) For prosecution under Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, once sanction under Section 19 of the said Act is granted, there is no necessity for obtaining further sanction under Section 197 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

(II) Where a public servant is sought to be prosecuted under the provisions of Prevention of Corruption Act read with Section 120B, I.P.C., and sanction under Section 19 of Act of 1988 has been granted, it is not at all required to obtain sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. from the State Government or any other authority merely because the public servant is also charged under Section 120B, I.P.C.

(III) The offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 as well as charge of criminal conspiracy, cannot be said to constitute "acts in discharge of official duty."

24. Sri Mathur has submitted that even if the allegation of the petitioner is that he has been falsely implicated so as to tarnish his reputation and allegations so levelled against him in the FIR do not corroborate with the material available on record, then this is a fit case to file anticipatory bail application under Section 438 Cr.P.C. and in such circumstances, where the petitioner has got alternative statutory remedy, the extra-ordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India may not be invoked. Therefore, as per Sri Mathur, the present petition may be dismissed.

25. Sri Mathur has also submitted that the investigating agency is well aware that the petitioner is a reputed person serving as Vice Chancellor, Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj University, Kanpur and has been serving on such position w.e.f. 2009 till date at various Universities, recital to this effect has been given in para-10 of the writ petition, therefore, there may not be any question of his harassment, however, his proper cooperation would be required in the present case as the issue is so serious.

26. On that, Dr. Misra has submitted placing reliance upon paras-81, 111 & 112 of the judgment in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra) that before registration of an FIR, preliminary inquiry is must in the cases involving allegation of corruption by a public servant. Paras- 81, 111 & 112 of the aforesaid case are being reproduced herein-below:-

"81. In this case, the short point, which this Court is called upon to consider, is the effect of the impugned judgment not dealing with a binding decision rendered by a Constitution Bench which was relied upon by the petitioners in Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 298 of 2018 and rendered in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] . It is apposite that I set out what this Court, speaking through the aforesaid Constitution Bench judgment, has laid down in para 120 : (SCC p. 61)

120.5. The scope of preliminary inquiry is not to verify the veracity or otherwise of the information received but only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence.

120.6. As to what type and in which cases preliminary inquiry is to be conducted will depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The category of cases in which preliminary inquiry may be made are as under:

(a) Matrimonial disputes/family disputes

(b) Commercial offences

(c) Medical negligence cases

(d) Corruption cases

(e) Cases where there is abnormal delay/laches in initiating criminal prosecution, for example, over 3 months' delay in reporting the matter without satisfactorily explaining the reasons for delay.

The aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry.

"111. In P. Sirajuddin [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240], relied upon by the Constitution Bench in Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , what this Court has held, and which has apparently been relied upon by the Constitution Bench though not expressly referred to is the following statement contained in para 17 : (P. Sirajuddin case [P. Sirajuddin v. State of Madras, (1970) 1 SCC 595 : 1970 SCC (Cri) 240] , SCC p. 601)

"17. ... Before a public servant, whatever be his status, is publicly charged with acts of dishonesty which amount to serious misdemeanour or misconduct of the type alleged in this case and a first information is lodged against him, there must be some suitable preliminary enquiry into the allegations by a responsible officer. The lodging of such a report against a person, specially one who like the appellant occupied the top position in a department, even if baseless, would do incalculable harm not only to the officer in particular but to the department he belonged to, in general."

112. In Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] , one of the contentions which was pressed before the Court was that in certain situations, preliminary inquiry is necessary. In this regard, attention of the Court was drawn to CBI Crime Manual. The following paragraphs of Lalita Kumari [Lalita Kumari v. State of U.P., (2014) 2 SCC 1 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 524] may be noticed, which read as follows : (SCC pp. 50-51, paras 89-92)

"89. Besides, the learned Senior Counsel relied on the special procedures prescribed under the CBI Manual to be read into Section 154. It is true that the concept of "preliminary inquiry" is contained in Chapter IX of the Crime Manual of CBI. However, this Crime Manual is not a statute and has not been enacted by the legislature. It is a set of administrative orders issued for internal guidance of the CBI officers. It cannot supersede the Code. Moreover, in the absence of any indication to the contrary in the Code itself, the provisions of the CBI Crime Manual cannot be relied upon to import the concept of holding of preliminary inquiry in the scheme of the Code of Criminal Procedure. At this juncture, it is also pertinent to submit that CBI is constituted under a special Act, namely, the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946 and it derives its power to investigate from this Act.

90. It may be submitted that Sections 4(2) and 5 of the Code permit special procedures to be followed for special Acts. Section 4 of the Code lays down as under:

"4. Trial of offences under the Indian Penal Code and other laws.--(1) All offences under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) shall be investigated, inquired into, tried, and otherwise dealt with according to the provisions hereinafter contained.

(2) All offences under any other law shall be investigated, inquired into, tried, and otherwise dealt with according to the same provisions, but subject to any enactment for the time being in force regulating the manner or place of investigating, inquiring into, trying or otherwise dealing with such offences.'

It is thus clear that for the offences under the laws other than IPC, different provisions can be laid down under a special Act to regulate the investigation, inquiry, trial, etc. of those offences. Section 4(2) of the Code protects such special provisions.

91. Moreover, Section 5 of the Code lays down as under:

"5. Saving.--Nothing contained in this Code shall, in the absence of a specific provision to the contrary, affect any special or local law for the time being in force, or any special jurisdiction or power conferred, or any special form of procedure prescribed, by any other law for the time being in force.'

Thus, special provisions contained in the DSPE Act relating to the powers of CBI are protected also by Section 5 of the Code.

92. In view of the above specific provisions in the Code, the powers of CBI under the DSPE Act, cannot be equated with the powers of the regular State Police under the Code."

27. While citing paras-107 & 108 of the dictum of the Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in re; Lalita Kumari v. Government of Uttar Pradesh, (2014) 2 SCC 1, Dr. Misra has submitted that if registration of FIR is mandatory, arrest of the accused immediately after registration of the FIR is not at all mandatory. Paras-107 & 108 of the aforesaid judgment are as under:-

"107. While registration of FIR is mandatory, arrest of the accused immediately on registration of FIR is not at all mandatory. In fact, registration of FIR and arrest of an accused person are two entirely different concepts under the law, and there are several safeguards available against arrest. Moreover, it is also pertinent to mention that an accused person also has a right to apply for "anticipatory bail" under the provisions of Section 438 of the Code if the conditions mentioned therein are satisfied. Thus, in appropriate cases, he can avoid the arrest under that provision by obtaining an order from the court.

108. It is also relevant to note that in Joginder Kumar v. State of U.P. [(1994) 4 SCC 260 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 1172] , this Court has held that arrest cannot be made by the police in a routine manner. Some important observations are reproduced as under : (SCC pp. 267-68, para 20)

"20. ... No arrest can be made in a routine manner on a mere allegation of commission of an offence made against a person. It would be prudent for a police officer in the interest of protection of the constitutional rights of a citizen and perhaps in his own interest that no arrest should be made without a reasonable satisfaction reached after some investigation as to the genuineness and bona fides of a complaint and a reasonable belief both as to the person's complicity and even so as to the need to effect arrest. Denying a person of his liberty is a serious matter. The recommendations of the Police Commission merely reflect the constitutional concomitants of the fundamental right to personal liberty and freedom. A person is not liable to arrest merely on the suspicion of complicity in an offence. There must be some reasonable justification in the opinion of the officer effecting the arrest that such arrest is necessary and justified. Except in heinous offences, an arrest must be avoided if a police officer issues notice to person to attend the Station House and not to leave the Station without permission would do."

28. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

29. At the very outset, we would like to deal the issue of maintainability of the writ petition in the light of dictum of the Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra) as such objection has been raised by Sri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, appearing on behalf of the complainant/ opposite party no.5 as well as Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur, learned Senior Advocate, appearing on behalf of the State-respondents.

30. In view of para 7.3. (102.1, 102.2 & 102.3) of the aforesaid judgement, it may not be observed, keeping in view the contention of Sri Mathur on the basis of specific instructions so received from the Officers of Investigating Agency, that the allegations of the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence. Besides, in view of paras- 15 & 16 of the aforesaid judgment, no extreme exception has been carved out by the learned counsel for the petitioner to interfere in the FIR under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Prima facie, the allegations of the FIR and material and evidences, which are said to have been gathered during investigation as per prosecution, constitute the cognizable offences, therefore, such FIR may not be quashed, hence no interim order can be granted in a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. At the same time, it is also undisputed that provision of Section 438 Cr.P.C. is in existence in the State of U.P., so if the allegation of the learned counsel for the petitioner is considered to the effect that the impugned FIR has been lodged without having any cogent and relevant material with the prosecution to tarnish the reputation of the petitioner, who is discharging the functions of Vice Chancellor of one University and has been Vice Chancellor of various Universities since 2009, the appropriate remedy would be to file an appropriate application for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. instead of filing writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India inasmuch as the alternative statutory remedy may not ordinarily be circumvented unless there is any exceptional circumstances to interfere in such FIR.

31. Therefore, in view of the above, considering the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra), we are not inclined to quash the impugned FIR; so, we cannot pass any interim order in the present case.

32. So far as arguments of Dr. Misra regarding conducting preliminary inquiry prior to lodging the FIR in view of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; Lalita Kumari (supra) is concerned, we are of the considered opinion that in para 120.5, the Apex Court has clearly opined that the preliminary inquiry would only be required only to ascertain whether the information reveals any cognizable offence. In the present case, the allegations of the FIR as well as the material/ evidences which are said to have been gathered during investigation, prima facie, reveal cognizable offences subject to outcome of the investigation. Further, para-120.6 of the aforesaid judgment indicates category of the cases/ offences in which preliminary inquiry may be made, wherein clause (d) mentions "corruption cases' but in such para, the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed categorically that the aforesaid are only illustrations and not exhaustive of all conditions which may warrant preliminary inquiry. Meaning thereby, the category so described from (a) to (e) in para 120.6 in re; Lalita Kumari (supra), as per the Apex Court, are only illustrations and not exhaustive warranting preliminary inquiry as the direction for preliminary inquiry depends upon the facts and circumstances of the issue in question, therefore, if the information received by the prosecution reveals any cognizable offence and that information is, prima facie, definite, the preliminary inquiry may not be warranted in such cases. Besides, the case dealt by the Apex Court in re; Lalita Kumari (supra) was relating to the C.B.I. investigation and undisputedly the concept of "Preliminary Inquiry" is contained in Chapter IX of the Crime Manual of C.B.I. whereas no such prescription is provided under any Crime Manual of Cr.P.C. or under any manual being dealt by the investigating agency of the present case i.e. Special Task Force. This aspect regarding special proceeding of preliminary inquiry prescribed under C.B.I. Manual has been considered under Para 89 of Lalita Kumari (supra).

33. Further, the Full Bench of this Court in re; Smt. Neera Yadav (supra) has held in para 152 (III) that the offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act as well as charge of criminal conspiracy, cannot be said to constitute "acts in discharge of official duty."

34. So far as arguments of Dr. Misra regarding the provision of Section 17-A of P.C. Act is concerned, we are of the considered opinion that so as to get the benefit of the P.C. Act, the offence in question must be relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by a public servant in discharge of his official functions or duties. However, we leave it open for the petitioner to take this plea before the investigating agency or before the competent court of law, as the case may be and such agency or court may take appropriate decision, as per law, as to whether this aspect should be considered in the light of Section 17-A or 19 of the P.C. Act.

35. The Privy Council in H.H.B. Gill (supra) has rightly observed that a Judge neither acts nor purport to act as a Judge in receiving a bribe, though the judgment which he delivers may be such an act: likewise the act of a Government medical officer in picking the pocket of a patient to whom he is examining may not be said to an act in discharge of his official duties as a public servant though the examination itself may be such an act. Therefore, if the aforesaid test is applied in the present case, the alleged act of the petitioner committing forgery, fraud, criminal breach of trust, criminal intimidation, forgery of valuable security etc., wrongful confinement, extorting money etc. having criminal conspiracy with other accused persons misusing his position as Vice Chancellor may not be said to an act or purported to act in discharge of his official duty as it is not relatable to any recommendation made or decision taken by him in discharge of his official functions or duties though directing for payment of the informant for the work done by his Firm may be such an act. Hence, in view of the above, the present petitioner may not get the benefit of Section 17-A of the P.C. Act in the light of the judgment of the Apex Court in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra). The facts and circumstances of the present case are different from the facts and circumstances of the judgment in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra). However, we have great respect towards the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in re; Yashwant Sinha (supra), but it is a trite law of the Apex Court that unless and until the facts and circumstances of the case in hand are identically the same with the case of the Apex Court so cited, that would not be applicable.

36. So far as paras 107 & 108 of the case in re; Lalita Kumari (supra) are concerned wherein it has been observed by the Apex Court that if registration of FIR is mandatory, arrest of the accused immediately after registration of FIR is not at all mandatory, we are of the considered opinion that the trite law of the Apex Court is binding upon every concerned as law of the Hon'ble Supreme Court is the law of land. Notably, the petitioner is not having any prior criminal history and keeping in a view the fair stand of the State-respondent that the proper co-operation of the petitioner is very much required in this serious issue, we think it proper to observe that a proper recourse, as per law, should be adopted by the investigating agency.

37. So far as submission of Dr. L.P. Misra regarding added sections during investigation to subvert the procedure established by the law is concerned, we are of the opinion that since those sections are said to have been added after collecting the relevant material/evidences and the investigation is still in progress, therefore, we cannot accept the aforesaid submission of Dr. L.P. Misra. However, we legitimately expect that the Investigating Officer shall conduct and conclude the investigation strictly in accordance with law and also in the light of settled proposition of law of the Apex Court from Joginder Kumar (supra), Lalita Kumari (supra) till Satender Kumar Antil vs. CBI and others, Special Leave to Appeal (Criminal) No.5191 of 2021 as it is needless to say that all concerned are duty bound to follow the directions and guidelines of the Apex Court issued from time to time in catena of cases.

38. Before parting with, we make it clear that since we are not entertaining this petition, in the light of the dictum of the Apex Court in re; M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. (supra), for the reason that bare perusal of the allegations of the FIR and the material/evidences which are said to have been collected during investigation, as recital to this effect has been made in the counter affidavit of the State, disclose, prima facie, commission of cognizable offences subject to final outcome of the investigation, therefore, our aforesaid observations may not be taken adversely against the present petitioner nor it may be treated as protection to the petitioner in any manner whatsoever. The investigating agency or any competent court below should not be influenced from the aforesaid observations of this judgment. The fair and impartial investigation is a bare minimum expectation of this Court and it is also expected from all concerned that the settled proposition of law is followed.

39. In view of what has been considered above, we hereby dismiss this writ petition.

40. However, it is always open for the petitioner to take appropriate legal recourse by filing his appropriate applications under Section 438 Cr.P.C. or any other application before the competent court of law and if any appropriate application is filed before the learned court below by the petitioner, the same shall be considered and disposed of with expedition, without giving any unnecessary adjournment to any of the parties.

41. No order as to cost.

Master @ Ramzan & anr. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Writ Petition No.22007 (M/B) of 2020

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J. & Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajendra Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Badrul Hasan, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner has filed an application praying for consideration of prayer of petitioner for quashing of the F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No.451 of 2022, under Section 2(b)(i) and 3 of U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 (for short 'Gangsters Act'), Police Station-Pasgawan, District- Lakhimpur Kheri. The application is supported with an affidavit and the same is taken on record.

3. By means of the present writ petition, petitioner has sought quashing of the F.I.R. bearing Case Crime No.451 of 2022, under Section 2(b)(i) and 3 of Gangsters Act, Police Station-Pasgawan, District- Lakhimpur Kheri.

4. On 04.11.2022, this Court passed the following order:-

"Heard Sri Rajendra Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner, who has filed vakalatnama, the same is taken on record and Sri Badruddin Hasan, learned A.G.A. has appeared on behalf of State.

Sri Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner has preferred Rule 5(c) of The Uttar Pradesh Gangster and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Rules, 2021 to submit that without filing the charge-sheet in the particular case crime the gangster act may not be imposed. In the present case, without there being filed any charge-sheet, the gangster act has been imposed against the petitioner. He has also placed reliance of the judgment and order dated 9.12.2020 passed by this Court, wherein the similar controversy has been considered and the said writ petition was allowed on the basis of the same submissions so raised by Sri Dwivedi in the present case.

Learned A.G.A. has drawn attention of this Court towards annexure no.2, which is gang-chart, wherein it has been indicated that the charge-sheet no.345/2022 dated 9.9.2022 has been filed before the learned court below. He has also submitted that in the first information report, the same fact has been indicated. However, Sri Dwivedi has again submitted that no such charge-sheet has yet been filed before the learned court below, may be the same has been prepared.

Put up this case as fresh on 9.11.2022 to enable the learned A.G.A. to seek specific instructions as to whether the charge-sheet has been filed in Case Crime No.123 of 2021, under Sections 41/411, 419, 420 I.P.C., P.S. Pargana Kheri.

When the case is listed next, the name of Sri Rajendra Kumar Dwivedi and Ms. Nida Nabi be shown as counsel for the petitioner."

5. At the very outset, learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards annexure no.5 of the affidavit filed today which is a certified copy of the questionnaire dated 04.11.2022 issued by the learned court below wherein it has been categorically mentioned that by 04.11.2022 no charge-sheet has been filed in Case Crime No.123 of 2021, under Section 41, 411, 413, 419, 420 I.P.C. Police Station-Pasgawan, District-Kheri. Therefore, it is clear that till filing of the gang-chart (annexure no.2 to the writ petition), no charge-sheet was filed against the petitioner in Case Crime No.123 of 2021. However, in the gang-chart, the impression has been given as if the charge-sheet has been filed on 21.08.2021. Therefore, for seeking specific instructions, the matter was fixed for today.

6. Learned A.G.A. has filed instruction today and the same is taken on record.

7. Learned A.G.A. on the basis of instructions has stated that the charge-sheet has been filed on 05.11.2022 before the learned court below.

8. On being confronted the learned A.G.A. about the aforesaid situation, he has fairly stated that in the gang-chart it should have been categorically indicated that however, charge-sheet has been prepared but the same has not been filed.

9. On being further confronted that the date of charge-sheet has been indicated as 21.08.2021, however, no such charge-sheet has been filed on or before 04.11.2022, on that learned A.G.A. has submitted that aforesaid documents is on record, therefore, he has nothing to say.

10. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

11. For convenience, Rule 5(C), Rule 10 and Rule 8 of the U.P. Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Rules, 2021 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules of 2021'), which have been indicated in the affidavit, are being reproduced herein-below:-

"Rule-5(C)- The gang-chart shall not mention those cases in which acquittal has been granted by the Special Court or in which the final report has been filed after the investigation. However, the gang-chart shall not be approved without the completion of investigation of the base case.

Rule-10- Records of Base Cases.-(1) Along with gang chart, the certified copy of the charge sheet and recovery memo shall be attached compulsorily.

(2) Where the accused is not named in the First Information Report and document discloses the way in which his name came to light and if something has been recovered, a certified copy of the recovery memo shall be attached.

Rule 8- Stating unconfirmed or false information is prohibited.-(1) The Incharge of Police Station/Station House Officer/Inspector shall not mention the cases as Part Trial or Partial Trial (PT) without ascertaining the up-to-date status of the cases in the gang-chart.

(2) No unconfirmed or false information shall be entered in the gang-chart.

(3) The latest status of the cases against the gang, which are being shown in the gang-chart, regarding their pendency in the Special Court, the convictions or the stage at which they are in the Court, must be clearly mentioned

(4) The responsibility of recording the correct and true information shall lie on the concerned Incharge of Station/ Station House Officer/Inspector

(5) On discovering an adverse situation, the Incharge of Police Station/Station House Officer/Inspector shall be held liable for negligence under departmental and criminal proceedings."

12. In light of aforesaid facts and circumstances and also from the perusal of the aforesaid provisions of law i.e. Rule 5(C), Rule-10 and Rule-8 of Rules of 2021, it is clear that before making compliance of Rule 10 of Rules of 2021, the gang-chart has been filed. Even the wrong impression has been given to the Court that the charge-sheet has been filed in the Case Crime No.123 of 2021. Therefore, in such circumstances, required action under Rule-8(5) would be warranted which clearly mentions that on discovering an adverse situation, the Incharge of Police Station/Station House Officer/Inspector shall be held liable for negligence under departmental and criminal proceedings.

13. Not only above, in an identical circumstances, this Court vide judgment and order dated 09.12.2020 passed in Writ Petition No.22007 (M/B) of 2020; 'Master @ Ramzan and Anr. Vs. State of U.P. and Ors' has allowed the writ petition quashing the F.I.R. in question. For convenience, the judgment and order dated 09.12.2020 passed in the aforesaid case in being reproduced herein below:-

1. Heard Asim Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri Shachindra Pratap Singh, learned A.G.A. for the respondent State.

2. The writ petition has been filed challenging the impugned F.I.R. No.0430 of 2020 dated 13.10.2020, under Section 3(1) of the U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 (for short 'Gangsters Act') registered at Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda.

3. The petitioners have also prayed for quashing of the Gang Chart prepared under the U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda and commanding the opposite parties to drop the proceedings under Section 3(1) of Gangsters Act registered at Police Station

Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda, with all consequential reliefs.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the impugned F.I.R. has been lodged in a most arbitrary and illegal manner without proper application of mind.

5. It is also submitted that in the gang chart, three criminal cases have been shown against petitioner no.2. In case bearing Case Crime No.156/2019, he has been granted bail whereas so far Case Crime No.312 of 2019 and Case Crime No.406 of 2020 are concerned, the police has not yet filed any chargesheet in the concerning court.

6. Similarly, in the gang chart, two criminal cases have been shown against petitioner no.1. In one case bearing Case Crime No.156/2019, he has been granted bail whereas in other case, chargesheet has not been filed by the police as yet.

However, on the basis of the wrong information furnished in the gang chart, the impugned F.I.R. has been lodged against the petitioners.

7. It is stated that as per the Government Order dated 2.1.2004 as well as Circular issued by the Director General of Police dated 24.10.2003, only those criminal cases in which chargesheets have been filed, shall be taken into consideration for the purpose of invoking Gangsters Act, 1986.

8. Learned A.G.A. was granted time to seek instructions. Learned A.G.A. on the basis of the instructions, has filed short counter affidavit, which is taken on record.

9. In paragraphs 5,6 and 7 of the short counter affidavit, it has been stated that the police after completing investigation, had filed the chargesheet in Case Crime No.156 of 2019 before lodging of impugned F.I.R., however in Case Crime No.312 of 2019, the chargesheet has been prepared by the police and has been submitted in the concerning court on 4.12.2020. Similarly, in Case Crime No.406 of 2020, the police has prepared the chargesheet which has been submitted before the court concerned on 4.12.2020. The relevant paragraphs are reproduced as under :-

"5. That it is relevant to mention here that after completion of investigation in Case Crime No.156 of 2019 registered at Police - Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda under Sections 323, 504, 307 and 302 IPC, 7 CLA Act, charge sheet dated 31.05.2019 was forwarded and received by the concerned Court on 12.06.2019.

6. That in Case crime No.312 of 2019, registered at Police Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda, under Sections 504, 506 IPc, chargesheet dated 30.11.2020 was forwarded and received by the concerned court on 04.12.20202. Phototstat copy of the receipt dated 04.12.2020 is being filed herewith as Annexure No.SCA-1 to this Short Counter Affidavit.

7. That in Case Crime No.406/2020, registered at Police - Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda, under Sections 352, 504 and 506 IPC, charge sheet dated 29.09.2020 was forwarded and received by the concerned Court on 04.12.2020. Photostat copy of the receipt dated 04.12.20202 is being annexed as Annexure No.SCA-2to this Short Counter Affidavit."

10. As such, it is evidently clear that in Case Crime No.312 of 2019 as well as Case Crime No.406 of 2020, the chargesheets against the petitioners have been filed in the court after lodging of the impugned F.I.R. under Section 3(1) of the Gangsters Act, 1986.

11. It is to be noted that the Government Order dated 2.1.2004 specifically provides that only those criminal cases shall be included in the gang chart in which the police has prepared the chargesheet and the same has been filed before the court concerned.

12. It has also been mentioned in the said Government Order that in case of any misuse by the authorities, the concerning incharge of the police station as well as Senior Superintendent of Police/ Superintendent of Police Incharge of the concerned Districts shall be held responsible.

13. Paragraphs 5 and 10 of the Government Order dated 2.1.2004 are relevant. Paragraphs 5 and 10 of the Government Order dated 2.1.2004 are reproduced :-

"5. किसी भी गिरोह के विरूद्ध कार्यवाही करने के लिए, उसके विरूद्ध केवल उन्हीं मामलों को आपराधिक सूची में सम्मिलित मानन् चाहिए, जिन मामलों में पुलिस द्वारा विवेचना के उपरान्त आरोप पत्र प्रेषित किया जा चुका है। जिन मामलों में अन्तिम रिपोर्ट प्रेषित की जा चुकी है या न्यायालय द्वारा विचारण के उपरान्त अभियुक्त को दोषमुक्त किया जा चुका है, उसे आपराधिक विवरण में सम्मिलित न किया जाये।

10. यहाँ यह भी स्पष्ट किया जाता है कि यदि किसी जनपद में इस अधिनियम में दिये गये प्राविधानों के सम्बन्ध में किसी अधीनस्थ अधिकारी द्वारा अपने कर्तव्य पालन की उपेक्षा करने अथवा अपने अधिकार का दुरूपयोग का कोई मामला प्रकाश में आता है तो सम्बन्धित थाना प्रभारी एवं दोषी पाये गये अधिकारी के अलावा जनपद के वरिष्ठ पुलिस अधीक्षक / पुलिस अधीक्षक प्रभारी भी उत्तरदायी माने जायेंगे।"

14. It is also to be noted that vide Circular dated 24.10.2003, Director General of Police, U.P. has issued the directions similar to the Government Order dated 2.1.2004 as noted above.

Relevant paragraph 2 of Circular dated 24.10.2003 is reproduced as under :-

"2. किसी भी गिरोह के विरूद्ध कार्यवाही करने के लिए उसके विरूद्ध केवल उन्हीं मामलों को आपराधिक सूची में सम्मिलित मानना चाहिए जिन मामलों में पुलिस द्वारा विवेचना के उपरान्त आरोप-पत्र प्रेषित किया जा चुका है, जिन मामलों में अन्तिम रिपोर्ट प्रेषित की जा चुकी है या न्यायालय द्वारा विचाराण के उपरान्त अभियुक्त को दोषमुक्त किया जा चुका है, उसे आपराधिक विवरण में सम्मिलित न किया जाये।"

15. In view of the above, we are of the considered view that the gang chart dated 9.10.2020, copy of which is annexed as Annexure No.2 to the writ petition was prepared on the wrong information with respect to the filing of the chargesheets in the case crime numbers mentioned therein

16. The impugned F.I.R. on the basis of the aforesaid gang chart as such was lodged on the basis of the wrong information furnished in the gang chart as noted above.

17. As such the writ petition in the given facts and circumstances is hereby allowed.

The impugned F.I.R. No.0430 of 2020 dated 13.10.2020, under Section 3(1) of the U.P. Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 registered at Police Station Kotwali Dehat, District Gonda as well as gang chart dated 9.10.2020, copy of which are annexed as Annexure Nos.1 and 2 to the writ petition are hereby quashed.

18. However, since it is submitted by learned A.G.A. that now chargesheets in Case Crime No.312 of 2019 and Case Crime No.406 of 2020 against petitioners have already been prepared and filed before the court concerned meaning thereby that in all the criminal cases as mentioned in the gang chart, chargesheets against both the petitioners have been filed as such we hereby give liberty to the competent authority to take a fresh decision in this regard and do the needful."

14. In the aforesaid judgment, the relevant provisions of law has been considered and reference of Government Order dated 02.01.2004 has been given in paragraphs 11 to 14 which would also applicable in the present case.

15. Therefore, in view of what has been considered above, we find that the impugned F.I.R. No.451 of 20222, under Section 2(b)(i) and 3 of Gangsters Act, Police Station-Pasgawan, District-Lakhimpur is liable to be quashed. Accordingly, the aforesaid F.I.R. is hereby quashed.

16. However, since it has been submitted by learned A.G.A. that now the charge-sheet has been filed in the case crime number in question against the present petitioner, as such, we hereby giving liberty to the competent authority to take a fresh decision in this regard and do the needful.

17. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

18. No order as to cost.

3. Bhim Sain Tyagi Vs The St. of U.P. & ors., 1999 SC Online All 1403

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J. & Hon'ble Syed Waiz Mian, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material placed on record by the respective parties.

2. Petitioner by the instant petition, inter alia, seeks the following relief:

"i. Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned notice dated 11.04.2019 issued by the District Magistrate, Gorakhpur against the petitioner under section 3/4 of U.P. Goonda Act (Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition)."

3. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that it is not only a case of malicious prosecution to by-pass the civil decree but at the same time to coerce the petitioner to release the property in dispute in favour of the district administration. It is further submitted that having regard to the definition of 'Goonda' under the Uttar Pradesh Control of Goondas Act, 1970 (for short "U.P. Goondas Act'), the proceedings could not have been initiated merely on lodging of a single case.

4. The facts briefly stated is that nazool land, bearing plot no. 125, Bungalow No. 5, situated at Park Road, Gorakhpur, admeasuring 30000 sq. ft. was transferred by the State vide freehold deed dated 24/25 September 1999, duly registered in favour of the petitioner, by the Collector, Gorakhpur, on behalf of the State Government. At the time of execution of the freehold deed, the erstwhile Sales Tax Department, presently, Trade Tax Department was occupying the premises on rent. The Trade Tax Department defaulted in payment of rent, aggrieved, petitioner instituted a SCC suit being Suit No. 33 of 2000 (Kailash Jaiswal Versus State of U.P. through Collector Gorakhpur and Trade Tax Department, through its Deputy Commissioner) seeking ejectment, as well as, recovery of arrears of rent. The suit came to be decreed partially directing ejectment of the Trade Tax Department vide order dated 01 December 2005. Aggrieved, the State of U.P. and the Trade Tax Department raised challenge to the ejectment order in revision being SCC revision No. 1 of 2006, which came to be dismissed vide judgment and order dated 29 March 2006. Thereafter, petitioner filed an execution application for possession of the premises and recovery of the decreetal amount by way of attachment and sale of property of the Trade Tax Department, being Execution Case No. 1 of 2006. Before the execution court the Trade Tax Department gave an undertaking that they would vacate the premises but did not comply with their undertaking. Petitioner in Writ-C No. 5190 of 2010 (Kailash Jaiswal Versus State of U.P. and others) approached this Court, wherein, the Court disposed of the writ petition directing the executing court to complete the execution within a period of one month and further directed the Senior Superintendent of Police and Collector, Gorakhpur, to provide necessary police protection to the executing court to get the decree executed if there is any order to that effect passed by the executing court. The relevant portion of the writ court order dated 06 August 2010 is extracted.

"Upon hearing learned counsel for the petitioner and learned counsel for the respondents, the petition is being finally disposed of with a direction to the Executing Court to complete the execution after considering the objection, if any, within a period of one month from the date of production of certified copy of this order. If there has already been an order by the Executing Court to deploy the police for taking over the possession, the Superintendent of Police and Collector, Gorakhpur are directed to give the necessary assistance of the police protection to the Executing Court so that the order of decree, which has been confirmed upto Apex Court, may be executed and the arrears of rent shall also be paid to the petitioner within the said period."

5. Thereafter, it appears that possession of the premises was handed over to the petitioner on 30 November 2010. Since then, the petitioner is in peaceful possession of the said property. It appears that thereafter, the Tax Advocate Association filed an objection under Order XXI Rule 97 C.P.C. before the trial court which came to be rejected vide order dated 25 September 2010. The matter was carried in civil revision and the revisional court dismissed the revision on 23 October 2010. Aggrieved, Association approached this Court in Writ-C No. 65183 of 2010 (Tax Advocate Association and another Versus State of U.P. and others). This Court vide order dated 2 November 2010, dismissed the writ petition. The operative portion of the order reads thus:

In this view of the matter, even if the petitioners are licensee of the tenant, they are bound by the decree notwithstanding the fact that they were not impleaded in the suit for ejectment. Also there is nothing on record to show that any allotment etc. was made in favour of the petitioners. In absence of any title to the property in dispute, the Courts below have rightly rejected the objections filed under Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C.

It has come on record that the Sales Tax Office has been shifted elsewhere. It follows that there is no Sales Tax Office presently on the spot. In this fact situation, the petitioners are unnecessarily keeping in their possession the disputed property. The object and purpose, if any, to grant a license to them has come to an end due to shifting of the Sales Tax Office.

The petitioners claim themselves that they are lawyers. If that is so, they should abide by law and follow the law and not to commit its breach. It is hoped that good-sense will prevail upon them.

There is no merit in the petition. The petition lacks merit and it is dismissed."

6. Aggrieved, Association carried the matter in appeal before the Hon'ble Supreme Court which came to be dismissed vide order dated 13 December 2010.

7. It appears that thereafter the petitioner started making construction on the property which was being objected by the District authorities. Aggrieved, petitioner approached this Court in Writ-C No. 17431 of 2015 (Kailash Jaiswal Versus State of U.P. and others). This Court after recording the history of the litigation, inter se, parties restrained the City Magistrate to interfere with the peaceful possession of the property and quashed the order of the City Magistrate, restraining the petitioner from raising construction. The operative portion of the order reads thus:

"In such circumstances, the impugned order dated 14 September 2015 passed by the City Magistrate cannot be sustained. It is, accordingly, set aside. A direction is issued to the District Magistrate, Gorakhpur as also the Senior Superintendent of Police, Gorakhpur to ensure that no hindrance is caused in the raising of constructions by the petitioner if they are in accordance with the plan sanctioned by the Gorakhpur Development Authority.

The writ petition is, accordingly, allowed."

8. It appears that the District administration was not satisfied that the petitioner had obtained/purchased the property in dispute which is on prime location, District Magistrate instituted a suit being Suit No. 259 of 2002 for cancellation of freehold deed dated 24/25 September 1999 (State of U.P. through Collector, Gorakhpur Versus Kailash Jaiswal and others). During pendency of the suit, F.I.R. being case Crime No. 212 of 2019, under sections 189, 332, 504, 506 I.P.C. came to be lodged at Police Station Cantt. District Gorakhpur by Deputy Commissioner (Administration) Trade Tax Department Gorakhpur, alleging that after recording his statement in the court while returning, petitioner threatened him. Petitioner approached this Court by filing Misc. Writ Petition No. 7526 of 2019, seeking quashing of the first information report. This Court granted protection to the petitioner till the submission of the charge sheet under Section 173(2) of Cr.P.C. vide order dated 28 March 2019. After investigation, police report (charge sheet) came to be submitted in the aforenoted Case Crime No. 212 of 2019 against the petitioner. The charge sheet and entire proceeding was subjected to challenge by the petitioner in an petition being Application No. 26502 of 2019 filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C., wherein, this Court vide order dated 9 July 2019, directed that no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioner. It is further asserted in paragraph 54 of the writ petition that on 10 April 2019, at about 10.00 in the night, 10-12 police officials in uniform, alongwith 6-7 officers in plain dress, visited the house of the petitioner. On enquiry, it is alleged that they started abusing the petitioner and threatened him to come out from the house otherwise they would kill him in a fake encounter. It is further alleged that the petitioner's daughter was present at the relevant time and informed the police officials that they are restrained from adopting coercive measure against the petitioner. It is submitted that the presence of the officers has been recorded in CCTV camera.

9. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the second respondent, District Magistrate, Gorakhpur, the contents of paragraphs 54 and 55 have been denied, but, in paragraph no. 35, it has been stated that the proceedings initiated against the petitioner is just and proper which does not suffer from any illegality, infirmity or defect. On the very next day of the above noted incident i.e. 11 April 2019, the impugned notice under Section ¾ of U.P. Goondas Act was issued to the petitioner.

10. In this backdrop, it is relevant to take notice of the communication dated 9 May 2003, issued by the Special Secretary, Government of U.P. addressed to the second respondent, District Magistrate, Gorakhpur, wherein, the State directed the District Magistrate to withdraw the suit instituted on behalf of the State against the petitioner regarding cancellation of free hold deed. In response, District Magistrate, vide communication dated 2 June 2006, addressed to the Deputy Secretary, Government of U.P. sought recall of the aforenoted direction. The Special Secretary, Government of U.P. vide communication dated 28 February 2006, addressed to the Principal Secretary, Tax and Registration, stated that the direction issued by the State Government to withdraw the suit, is legal and requires no reconsideration. Thereafter, State Government vide communication dated 2 June 2006, addressed to the District Magistrate conveyed that the recall of the earlier State Government order to withdraw the suit filed against the petitioner being lawful and proper cannot be reconsidered. Despite the communication of the State Government, the suit has not been withdrawn by the District Magistrate.

11. In this backdrop, it is submitted that the notice under the U.P. Goondas Act is not only malicious but misuse of the power vested upon the District Magistrate, the proceedings have been initiated in colourable exercise of power to coerce the petitioner to vacate the premises which admittedly does not vest with the State. Further, it is submitted that on a single case, proceedings under the U.P. Goondas Act cannot be initiated as the petitioner is not a habitual offender.

12. Reliance has been placed on the decision of this Court rendered in Suresh Tewari Versus State of U.P. and others, 2018 (5) ALJ 1.

13. In the counter affidavit, there is no specific denial of the assertions made in the writ petition and the legal issues raised by the petitioner. It is also not the case of the respondent authorities that the reputation of the petitioner is dangerous to the community. The undisputed facts reflect high handedness and gross misuse of the power by the District Magistrate. The conduct of the District Magistrate in not complying the repeated orders of the State Government to withdraw the suit against the petitioner tantamounts to gross indiscipline and insubordination.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that impugned notice is not in conformity with the Rule 4 of the U.P. Control of Goondas Rules, 1970. He further submits that Section 3 of the U.P.Control of Goondas Act, 1970 (hereinafter to be referred to as the "Act") confers powers on the concerned District Magistrate to extern anyone, who is the Goonda outside the district or to place restriction on his movement. If the District Magistrate is satisfied that the matters set forth in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-Section (1) of the Goondas Act are made out he may issue notice to the Goonda informing him of the general nature of material allegations against him in clause (d) of the Act. He further submits that in the instant case clause (d) mentions about the only case registered against the petitioner being Case Crime No. 212 of 2019, thus the second respondent has mechanically noted the case pending against the petitioner in the prescribed proforma without applying its mind, as well as, without recording satisfaction about the matter set out in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of Act. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon paragraph no.5 of the Full Bench decision of this Court rendered in the matter of Ramji Pandey Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 1981 SCC Online All 305, which reads as under:-

"Now coming to the provisions of the Act, it would be seen that Section 3 confers power on the District Magistrate to extern any one who is a Goonda outside the district or to place restrictions on his movement. If the District Magistrate is satisfied that the matters set forth in Clauses (a), (b) and (c) of Sub-section (1) are made out he may issue notice to the Goonda informing him of the "general nature of material allegations" against him in respect of those matters. The District Magistrate is further required to give him reasonable opportunity of tendering his explanation regarding those matters. The notice issued by the District Magistrate must contain the general nature of material allegations on the baggies of which the District Magistrate may have formed his opinion under Section 3(1) of the Act. In the absence of material allegations the person to whom notice is issued will be denied opportunity of explanation. It is therefore, mandatory to set out the general nature of material allegations in the notice issued under Section 3(1) of the Act. If the notice fails to contain the general nature of material allegations it would be vitiated and the proceedings taken in pursuance thereof would be rendered null and void. We are in agreement on this question with the view taken by the Division Bench in Harsh Narain's case 1972 All LJ 762."

15. This Court in Bhim Sain Tyagi Vs. The State of U.P. and others, 1999 SC Online All 1403, observed as under:-

"22. Before concluding this matter it may be useful to mention that the right of the petitioners to offer explanation would have to depend upon the material allegations consequently, the reasonable opportunity which is afforded by sub-Section (2) of producing his evidence in support of his explanation, which is guaranteed to the petitioner shall not be exercisable if the petitioner does not come to know the general nature of allegations against them."

16. The Division Bench of this Court in Suresh Tewari (supra), held relying upon the Supreme Court judgment that on one stray incident only petitioner could not be deemed to be habitual offender on the basis of that single incident. Para nos. 19 and 23 reads thus:

19.....The requirement of applicability of the clause (i) is that Goonda means that a person who either by himself or as a member or leader of a gang, habitually commits or attempts to commit, or abets the commission of offences punishable referred to in the said clause. In the impugned show cause notice there is a description of only one criminal case against the petitioner, while as per the definition and the law settled by this Court as well by the Hon'ble Apex Court, one cannot be treated to be a habitual offender unless and until there is recurrence of offences. Since there is a reference of one stray incident only in the notice, the petitioner could not be deemed to be a habitual offender on the basis of that single incident only and so the notice fails to satisfy the legal requirement.

23. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Vijay Narain Singh versus State of Bihar and others (1984) 3 SCC 14 has been pleased to hold that it is essential to refer to at least two incidents of commission of crime for applicability of Clause (i) of section 2(b) of the Act. Since there is reference of one incident only in the notice, it falls short of the legal requirement as provided in Clause (i) of section 2(b) and in this way the notice being illegal could be challenged before this Court as laid down by the Full Bench of this Court in the case of Bhim Sain Tyagi v. State of U.P. And others 1999 (39) ACC 321.

17. Having regard to the facts and circumstance of the case, prima-facie, we are convinced that the proceedings initiated against the petitioner is not only malicious but to harass the petitioner in respect of the property in dispute which admittedly vests with the petitioner lawfully. Further, the conduct of the respondent, in particular, the second respondent, District Magistrate, Gorakhpur, clearly demonstrates that he has no respect for the rule and law and has become law unto himself. The second respondent declines to comply the directions of the State Government, the orders passed by the trial court, High Court, as well as, the Supreme Court. Failing to obtain the property in dispute in legal proceedings, the second respondent has now resorted to invoke U.P. Goondas Act against the petitioner misusing the forum of criminal administration. The facts, noted herein above, in no uncertain terms, justifies the conduct of the second respondent. The second respondent has exposed himself to civil and criminal consequences.

18. In the circumstance, we are constrained to quash the impugned notice dated 11 April 2019, issued by the District Magistrate, Gorakhpur. A cost assessed at Rs. 5 lacs is imposed upon the second respondent, District Magistrate, Gorakhpur, to be deposited with the High Court Legal Services Committee within 10 weeks from date. The first respondent Principal Secretary (Home Department), Government of U.P., Lucknow, is directed to get the matter inquired and initiate disciplinary enquiry against the then delinquent District Magistrate, Gorakhpur.

19. The writ petition is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Ankur Goyal, learned counsel for the respondent no.1 and Sri Gaurav Mahajan, learned counsel for the respondent nos. 2 and 3.

2. Earlier on 30.6.2022, learned counsel for the respondent no.1 has raised preliminary objection qua the maintainability of the writ petition and Court has passed the following order:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Gyan Prakash, learned A.S.G.I. assisted by Shri Ankur Goel, learned counsel for respondent no.1 as well as Shri Gaurav Mahajan, learned counsel for respondent no.2 and 3.

By means of present writ petition, the petitioners are challenging para 7 Clause iii and iv of OM no.20011/2/2019-Estt. (D) dated 13.08.2021 issued by respondent no.1 and instruction dated 26.10.2021 issued by respondent no.2. Further prayer has been made to command the respondent no.1 to amend or modify the OM dated 13.08.2021 in accordance with law.

At the very outset, Shri Gyan Prakash, learned A.S.G.I. has raised preliminary objection qua the maintainability of the writ petition as the relief is sought against Income Tax Department and the remedy in respect of grievance raised by the petitioner lies before Central Administrative Tribunal. Since such remedy has not been exhausted, the writ petition filed directly before this Court is not liable to be entertained in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of L. Chandra Kumar Vs. Union of India & others, reported in AIR (1997) 3 SCC Page 261.

In the facts and circumstances of the case, it would be appropriate, let a proper response may be filed in the matter.

All the respondents are accorded two weeks' time to file objection in the matter. Rejoinder Affidavit, if any, may be filed within a week thereafter.

Put up as fresh on 20.07.2022 before appropriate Court."

3. Today, learned counsel for the petitioners has placed upon the judgment of Delhi High Court in the case of All India Equality Forum and others vs. Union of India through Secretary and others reported in 2018 DLT 636 (DB) and submitted that present controversy is similar to the aforesaid judgment of Delhi High Court, therefore, this petition is maintainable.

4. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent no.1 submitted that in the aforesaid judgment of Delhi Court, petitioner went to Supreme Court and Supreme Court has granted liberty to petitioner to approach the High Court, therefore, Delhi High Court entertain the said petition. He next submitted that in light of Section 14 of The Administrative Tribunals Act, 1985 as well as law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of L. Chandra Kumar Vs. Union of India reported in 1997 0 Supreme (SC) 516 & S.P. Sampath Kumar Etc. vs. Union of India & Others reported in 1987 AIR 386, petitioners have efficacious remedy to file original application before the Central Appellate Tribunal (in short CAT). He lastly submitted that CAT is having full power to quash any office memorandum as well as rules and regulations or declare ultra vires, therefore, petition is not maintainable and liable to be dismissed.

5. I have considered the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record as well as judgment relied by the learned counsel for the parties. There is no dispute on the point that petitioners are Income Tax Inspectors and their services was governed by Central Government.

6. I have perused the judgment of Delhi Court in the case of All India Equality Forum (supra) so relied by the learned counsel for the petitioner. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgment are quoted below:-

"4 The issues raised in the writ petition throw open an expansive jurisprudential vista, and could invite a comprehensive and detailed dissertation on the entire law relating to reservation for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, in the context of Articles 16(1), 16(4) and 335 of the Constitution of India. This Court is, however, proscribed from doing so by virtue of an order of the Supreme Court, dated 11th March 2010, passed in a batch of writ petitions, including WP (C) 413/1997, which is stated to have been filed by the present petitioner. The operative portion of the said order reads thus:

"Therefore, we permit the petitioners in these writ petitions to withdraw these writ petitions with liberty to move the High Court and in the event of writ petitions are filed before the High Court the same may be considered in the light of the observations made by this Court in M. Nagaraj and others vs. Union of India and another (supra). The petitioners would be at liberty to seek appropriate interim relief in the High Court."

30 Sinha, learned counsel appearing for the respondent, fairly admitted that the controversy, in the present case, stood covered by the judgments of the Supreme Court in M. Nagaraj (supra) and B.K. Pavitra (supra). At the same time, he contended, vociferously, that the writ petition itself was not maintainable, as the petitioner would be required, in the first instance to approach the Central Administrative Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as "the Tribunal") in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court L. Chandra Kumar v U.O.I., (1997) 3 SCC 261.

31. Needless to say, the said objection of Mr.Sinha cannot merit any consideration in the present case, as the petitioner has moved this Court pursuant to the specific liberty, granted by the Supreme Court in this behalf, vide its order dated 11th March, 2010, already referred to hereinabove. In view of the said liberty, it is not open to this Court to travel behind the said judgment and enter into any discussion regarding maintainability of the petition. The brief of this Court this, neatly and squarely, to adjudicate on whether, or not, the impugned OM, dated 13th August 1997 could sustain, in the wake of the law as enunciated in M. Nagaraj (supra).

32. The objection of Mr Sinha is, therefore, overruled."

7. From perusal of the same, it is apparently clear that Hon'ble Delhi High Court entertained the writ petition on the ground that Hon'ble Supreme Court has given liberty to petitioner to approach the High Court.

8. I have perused the Section 14 of Act, 1985, which empowers the jurisdiction, powers and authority of the CAT. From perusal of the same, it is clear that Tribunal has absolute power to hear the other cases of Central Government Employee after due notification of Government of India.

9. The Apex Court in the matter of S.P. Sampath Kumar (Supra), has considered the power of Administrative Tribunal and held that Tribunal is the substitute of the High Court and is entitled to exercise the powers. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgement are quoted below:-

"What, however, has to be kept in view is that the Tribu- nal should be a real substitute of the High Court--not only in form and de jure but in content and de facto. As was pointed out in Minerva's Mills, the alternative arrangement has to be effective and efficient as also capable of uphold- ing the constitutional limitations. Article 16 of the Con- stitution guarantees equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. Article 15 bars discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth. The touch- stone of equality enshrined in Article 14 is the greatest of guarantees for the citizen. Centering around these articles in the Constitution a service jurisprudence has already grown in this country. Under Sections 14 and 15 of the Act all the powers of the Courts except those of this Court in regard to matters specified therein vest in the Tribunal--either Central or State. Thus the Tribunal is the substitute of the 'High Court and is entitled to exercise the powers thereof.

The High Courts have been functioning over a century and a quarter and until the Federal Court was established under the Government of India Act, 1935, used to be the highest courts within their respective jurisdiction subject to an appeal to the Privy Council in a limited category of cases. In this long period of about six scores of years, the High Courts have played their role effectively, efficiently as also satisfactorily. The litigant in this country has seasoned himself to look upto the High Court as the unfailing protec- tor of his person, property and honour. The institution has served its purpose very well and the common man has thus come to repose great confidence therein. Disciplined, inde- pendent and trained Judges well-versed in law and working with all openness in an unattached and objective manner have ensured dispensation of justice over the years. Aggrieved people approach the Court the social mechanism to act as the arbiter--not under legal obligation but under the belief and faith that justice shall be done to them and the State's authorities would implement the decision of the Court. It is, therefore, of paramount importance that the substitute institution--the Tribunal--must be a worthy successor of the High Court in all respects. That is exactly what this Court intended to convey when it spoke of an alternative mechanism in Minerva Mills' case."

10. I have also perused the judgment of Apex Court in the case of L. Chandra Kumar (Supra) and Court has held that CAT has ample power to entertain the original application upon any ground including ultra vires. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgement are quoted below:-

"70. We may first address the issue of exclusion of the power of judicial review of the High Courts. We have already held that in respect of the power of judicial review, the jurisdiction of the High Courts under Article 226/227 cannot wholly be excluded. It has been contended before us that the Tribunals should not be allowed to adjudicate upon matters where the vires of legislations is questioned, and that they should restrict themselves to handling matters where constitutional issues are not raised. We cannot bring ourselves to agree to this proposition as that may result in splitting up proceedings and may cause avoidable delay. If such a view were to be adopted, it would be open for litigants to raise constitutional issues, many of which may be quite frivolous, to directly approach the High Courts and thus subvert the jurisdiction of the Tribunals. Moreover, even in these special branches of law, some areas do involve the consideration of constitutional questions on a regular basis; for instance, in service law matters, a large majority of cases involve an interpretation of Articles 14, 15 and 16 of the Constitution. To hold that the Tribunals have no power to handle matters involving constitutional issues would not serve the purpose for which they were constituted. On the other hand, to hold that all such decisions will be subject to the jurisdiction of the High Courts under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution before a Division Bench of the High Court within whose territorial jurisdiction the Tribunal concerned falls will serve two purposes. While saving the power of judicial review of legislative action vested in the High Courts under Article 226/227 of the Constitution, it will ensure that frivolous claims are filtered out through the process of adjudication in the Tribunal. The High Court will also have the benefit of a reasoned decision on merits which will be of use to it in finally deciding the matter.

73 Before moving on to other aspects, we may summarise our conclusions on the jurisdictional powers of these Tribunals. The Tribunals are competent to hear matters where the vires of statutory provisions are questioned. However, in discharging this duty, they cannot act as substitutes for the High Courts and the Supreme Court which have, under our constitutional setup, been specifically entrusted with such an obligation. Their function in this respect is only supplementary and all such decisions of the Tribunals will be subject to scrutiny before a Division Bench of the respective High Courts. The Tribunals will consequently also have the power to test the vires of subordinate legislations and rules. However, this power of the Tribunals will be subject to one important exception. The Tribunals shall not entertain any question regarding the vires of their parent statutes following the settled principle that a Tribunal which is a creature of an Act cannot declare that very Act to be unconstitutional. In such cases alone, the concerned High Court may be approached directly. All other decisions of these Tribunals, rendered in cases that they are specifically empowered to adjudicate upon by virtue of their parent statutes, will also be subject to scrutiny before a Division Bench of their respective High Courts. We may add that the Tribunals will, however, continue to act as the only courts of first instance in respect of the areas of law for which they have been constituted. By this, we mean that it will not be open for litigants to directly approach the High Courts even in cases where they question the vires of statutory legislations (except, as mentioned, where the legislation which creates the particular Tribunal is challenged) by overlooking the jurisdiction of the concerned Tribunal.

79. In view of the reasoning adopted by us, we hold that Clause 2(d) of Article 323A and Clause 3(d) of Article 323B, to the extent they exclude the jurisdiction of the High Courts and the Supreme Court under Articles 226/227 and 32 of the Constitution, are unconstitutional. Section 28 of the Act and the "exclusion of jurisdiction" clauses in all other legislations enacted under the aegis of Articles 323A and 323B would, to the same extent, be unconstitutional. The jurisdiction conferred upon the High Courts under Articles 226/227 and upon the Supreme Court under Article 32 of the Constitution is part of the inviolable basic structure of our Constitution. While this jurisdiction cannot be ousted, other courts and Tribunals may perform a supplemental role in discharging the powers conferred by Articles 226/227 and 32 of the Constitution. The Tribunals created under Article 323A and Article 323B of the Constitution are possessed of the competence to test the constitutional validity of statutory provisions and rules. All decisions of these Tribunals will, however, be subject to scrutiny before a Division Bench of the High Court within whose jurisdiction the concerned Tribunal falls. The Tribunals will, nevertheless, continue to act like Courts of first instance in respect of the areas of law for which they have been constituted. It will not, therefore, be open for litigants to directly approach the High Courts even in cases where they question the vires of statutory legislations (except where the legislation which creates the particular Tribunal is challenged) by overlooking the jurisdiction of the concerned Tribunal. Section 5(6) of the Act is valid and constitutional and is to be interpreted in the manner we have indicated."

11. Therefore, in light of Section 14 of Act, 1985 as well as law laid down by the Apex Court, there is no dispute on the point that CAT is having absolute power to hear the other cases of Central Government Employee including quashing of office memorandum, rules and regulations or declare ultra vires.

12. Accordingly, the writ petition is not maintainable and dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy. However, petitioner is at liberty to approach the Central Administrative Tribunal, if so desired.

Maurya, learned Chief Standing Counsel, Shri Shashank Shekhar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Shri Chandan Kumar, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

3. Material facts involved in Writ- A No. 12070 of 2022 are described below.

4. In the year 1994, two vacancies arose on the post of ad hoc teachers at the institution, Adarsh Inter College Maharajganj - one occasioned by the death (in harness) and the other upon promotion.

Vide its first resolution dated 1.5.1994, the Committee of Management of that institution resolved to fill up those posts. It was backed by a second resolution dated 15.1.1994 constituting a Selection Committee. In compliance thereof, the petitioner along with one Ram Shankar Rai were appointed Assistant Teacher(s), on 19.6.1994. The Committee of Management of the said institution then sought financial approval from the District Inspector of Schools, Maharajganj. It was granted on 22.10.1994. It is also not in dispute; the present petitioner continued to function and discharge his duties as Assistant Teacher at the above-described institution. Upon amendment made to the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act 1982 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) being U.P. Act no.7 of 2016, section 33G was introduced in the Act. It was enforced with effect from 22.03.2016. In compliance thereof, a Divisional Level Committee was constituted. Vide its Resolution dated 22.8.2016, the said Committee resolved to regularize the petitioner Nand Lal with effect from 22.03.2016 i.e., by operation of law, arising from the enforcement of Section 33G of the Act, from that date. It is also not in dispute, the petitioner continued to work till 31.02.2021 when he attained the age of superannuation. All salary dues have been computed and paid out to the petitioner, accordingly.

5. The dispute that arises is - upon his retirement, the petitioner claims payment of retiral dues including (the bone of contention), pension. That claim has been declined. The petitioner is aggrieved by the impugned order dated 27.6.2022 passed by Deputy Director of Education, Gorakhpur, rejecting his claim for payment of pension.

6. Similar fact situation obtains in the other cases. In some cases, despite a positive direction earlier issued by this Court - to grant the benefit of retiral dues in terms of still earlier decision of this Court in Sunita Sharma vs. State of U.P. & 5 Ors., Writ- A No. 25431 of 2018 decided on 20.12.2018, presently, by further order passed by respondent authorities, that claim has been declined. In still others, no orders have been passed. Thus, the petitioners claim a positive mandamus upon the respondents to pay up the retiral dues, including pension.

7. In Writ - A No. 14333 of 2022, the earlier writ petition filed by the petitioner Shambhu Nath Prasad being Writ-A No. 5951 of 2022 (Shambhu Nath Prasad vs. State of U.P. & 5 Ors.) was disposed of by order dated 11.4.2022 in terms of another order dated 17.9.2021 in Ali Hussain Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Writ-A No. 8214 of 2020, decided on 17.9.2021.

8. In such facts, Shri Adarsh Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to the order of this Court in Sunita Sharma (supra). Upon due consideration of the provisions of the U.P. State Aided Educational Institutions Employees Contributory Funds Insurance and Pension Rules, 1964 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Applicable Rules') as distinct from the Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Government Employees Rules'), it was reasoned, the Rules applicable to the petitioners in this batch of petitions would be the 'Applicable Rules' and not the 'Government Employees Rules'. In the hierarchy of laws, the 'Applicable Rules' must be placed higher to the Government Order dated 18.10.1997. Therefore, the Rules were fully enforceable, in its face. Relevant to our purpose, it was finally concluded, in that decision:

"Learned counsel for the petitioner places reliance upon the provisions contained under Rule 19(b) of the Rules of 1964, which is reproduced hereafter:-.

(b) Continuous temporary or officiating service followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or another post shall also count as qualifying service.

Rule 3 of 1964 Rules clearly provides that these Rules shall apply to permanent employees serving in the State aided educational institution of the category specified thereunder, be it run by a local body or a private management, if it is recognized by the competent authority for the purposes of extending of grant-in-aid. It is not in issue that the provisions of Rules of 1964 are attracted in the facts of the present case, inasmuch as the Institution is a recognized Institution, wherein salary is being extended to teaching and non-teaching staff by the State by virtue of the provisions contained in the Act of 1971. On the date of his retirement, petitioner was a permanent employee serving in aided educational institution, which is recognized by a competent authority for the purposes of aid. Rule 19(b) of the Act would clearly come to the rescue of the petitioner, inasmuch as it clearly provides that continuous temporary or officiating service followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or another post, shall also count as qualifying service. Petitioner's engagement from 1996 till 2016, when she was regularized, would be treated as continuous temporary service followed without interruption by confirmation on same post. The adhoc continuance followed with regularisation, therefore would be covered within the ambit and scope of Rule 19-B of the 1964 rules, and therefore, such period would have to be counted towards qualifying service for the purposes of payment of pension etc.

Learned Standing Counsel has not placed any provision whereunder the Rules of 1964 have either been rescinded, modified or substituted by any other provision and the Rules of 1964 therefore continues to remain in force.

So far as the Government Order relied upon by learned Standing Counsel is concerned, it is settled that in hierarchy of laws a statutory Rule would stand at a higher pedestal than a Government instructions. Once the statutory Rules of 1964 remains in force and is attracted in the facts of the present case, the provisions of the Rules cannot be by passed merely by relying upon a Government instructions. The defence set up by the respondents, therefore to non suit the petitioner cannot be sustained. It appears that though U.P. Retirement Benefits Rules, 1961 and other like provisions were amended w.e.f. 1.4.2005, but no such amendment has been incorporated in the Rules of 1964. As a consequence, the benefits admissible under the Rules of 1964 would continue to be applicable upon teachers, who are covered thereunder.

The view, which this Court proposes to take, is also supported by a judgment of the Division Bench in Special Appeal (Defective) No. 678 of 2013 State of U.P. through its Secretary Secondary Education vs. Mangali Prasad Verma and two others, wherein the benefit under the Rules of 1964 have been made applicable upon the respondents therein. Relevant portion of the judgment of the Division Bench is reproduced thereinafter:-

"We may, however, clarify that the Government Order dated 28.1.2004 which was so heavily relied upon by the State Government does not alter the legal position in any manner inasmuch as, the applicability of Rules 1964 is not depended upon any declaration being made by the Governor or by the State Government. If a teacher was working in an aided institution prior to the date of his retirement provisions of rules 1964 become applicable by operation of law. The manner of counting the qualifying service stands explained under the Government Order dated 26.7.2001.

We may also clarify that the teachers and employees of institutions which are brought on the grant-in-aid for the first time on or subsequent to 1.4.2005 would be covered by the new scheme enforced on 1.4.2005 and this judgment will have no application in their case.

We may notice that similar view has taken by the Division Bench of this Court in the case of State of U.P. And 6 Ors Vs. Shir Krishna Prasad Yadav and 13 Ors being Special No.228 of 2016 decided on 24.5.2017.

In view of the aforesaid, we find no illegality in the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge, it is accordingly, affirmed. The Appeal is Dismissed."

In view of the discussions aforesaid, it is clear that petitioner is entitled to pensionary benefits under the Rules of 1964 and for such purposes the adhoc continuance from 1996-2016 followed with regularization would have to be counted towards qualifying service for sanction and fixation of pension. A mandamus is issued accordingly to the respondents for grant of pensionary benefits to the petitioner. Necessary order in that regard could be passed by the competent authority within a period of three months. All consequential benefits would also be extended to the petitioner within a further period of two months thereafter."

9. Then, it has been shown, the said decision was challenged in an intra-Court appeal, before a division bench in Special Defective No. 181 of 2020 (State of U.P. Through The Secretary Secondary Education Department, Governmentt of U.P. & 4 Ors. vs. Sunita Sharma & Anr.). Upon dealing with the same objections, as have been presently raised, the division bench ruled as below:

"In appeal, the argument advanced by learned counsel for the appellant is that the respondent-petitioner was working in an adhoc capacity and, therefore, her service does not fall within the category of temporary or officiating service and as such Rule 19 (b) is having no application. We do not find any merit with the arguments advanced. As already stated the appointment was given to the petitioner against a permanent vacancy with assertion in the order of appointment as "adhoc". However, the appointment though said to be on ad-hoc basis but that continued for two decades and ultimately resulted into regularization in service. The appointment, as such, was not a stop gap arrangement but in temporary capacity. The same falls under the categories given in Rule 19(b) of 1964 for the purpose of computing qualifying service."

10. The fact that the petitioner in that case had earlier worked in ad hoc capacity, was found to be of no consequence to the applicability of Rule 19(b) of the 'Applicable Rules'. Since the appointment had been made against a permanent vacancy, the mere mention of word "ad hoc', was found to be no legal consequence.

11. Referring to another division bench decision of this Court in intra court appeal in Special Appeal Defective No. 158 of 2021 (State of U.P. & 2 Ors. Vs. Satya Prakash Singh & Anr.), it has been next asserted, no reliance may be placed on U.P. Qualifying Service for Pension and Validation Act 2021 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Qualifying Service Act'). It would not apply in the present case since the initial appointment of the petitioner was against a sanctioned post and it was not contrary to the law. In fact, it was in accordance with the law. That decision is stated to have attained finality upon dismissal of the Special Leave to Appeal No. 13644 of 2021 (State of U.P. & 2 Ors. Vs. Satya Prakash Singh & Anr.), by the Supreme Court, vide order dated 22.7.2022.

12. Adopting the submission so advanced, Sri Sankalp Narain learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ - A No. 12045 of 2022 would submit, all petitioners were appointed under U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission (Removal of Difficulties) Order. That fact itself established - appointments were made wholly in accordance with law. In fact, these appointments had become necessary at the relevant time, as educational institutions were short staffed in teaching faculty owing to factors that then existed. Only to tide over that crisis, appointments were made against permission granted by the statutory authorities. Further, those appointments were made wholly in accordance with law, after following due procedure. All petitioners continued to work for decades. No defect was ever alleged or discovered in their initial appointment. In such circumstances giving effect to the provisions of Section 33G, their services came to be regularised w.e.f. 22.3.2016.

13. Moreover, it has been strenuously urged, a wholly artificial dispute is being raised belatedly, after availing the services rendered by the petitioners. All throughout, the petitioners were paid full salary in the pay scale admissible to regularly appointed teachers, together with all increments, promotions etc. In absence of any enabling law, action taken by the respondents is wholly discriminatory. Referring to the 'Applicable Rules', he would submit, the same is a complete Code, amongst others, as to entitlement and payment of pension. Chapter-V of the 'Applicable Rules' provides for eligibility to pension. It also defines "qualifying service' necessary for the payment of pension. It recognises and includes temporary or officiating services followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or other post.

14. Thus, according to him, it is too late in the day and impermissible in law for the respondent authorities to relook the status of the petitioners, through a different pane. Once the petitioners acquired the status of a regular employee, wholly in accordance with law, the continuous services rendered by them prior to their regularisation cannot be dissected or ignored for the purpose of their eligibility to pension. Since the 'Applicable Rules' are complete, the facts of the case do not permit invocation of Rule 34 thereof. That rule would apply to a case of an employee or person whose case may not have been specifically provided for or covered under the 'Applicable Rules'.

15. Last, he has placed reliance on another decision of a learned single- judge of this Court in Kamaluddin Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Writ - A No. 17042 of 2021, decided on 06.12.2021 - to invoke the general principle - even if the 'Government Employees Rules' were to be looked into, the supervening circumstance of the petitioners having worked for a long duration of time would entitle them to pensionary dues as was held by the Supreme Court in the case of Prem Singh Vs. State of U.P. (2019) 10 SCC 516, which principle was also applied and followed by a division bench of this Court in Kaushal Kishore Chaubey and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Writ-A No. 5817 of 2020.

16. Sri Siddharth Khare learned counsel for the petitioner appearing in Writ-A No. 14333 of 2022 would also adopt the submissions noted above. He would further submit; the rejection order is based on a complete non-application of mind. Relying strongly on another decision of a learned Single Judge of this Court in Dr. Sushma Chandel Vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2021 (ILR) 9 Ald 1276 as followed in Ali Hussain (supra), it has been urged, objections being now raised had been specifically dealt with and answered against the State. Those judgments were never tested in appeal. They have long attained finality. The effect of the 'Qualifying Service Act' was also specifically considered in Dr. Sushma Chandel (supra). It was held, the same could not obstruct eligibility to pension under the 'Applicable Rules'. In addition, he would submit, the 'Qualifying Service Act' would apply to a case where qualifying service may have been rendered on a temporary or a permanent post at a government establishment. Therefore, the status of the employee at an educational institution would not be covered thereunder.

17. Sri Kaosik, Sri Y.K. Srivastava, Sri Pragyanshu Pandey, Sri Deo Prakash, Sri Mahendra Singh, Sri Rajnish Kumar Srivastava, Sri Anil Yadav, Sri Seemant Singh, and Sri Rajesh Kumar learned counsel for the petitioners have adopted the submissions noted above.

18. Opposing the writ petition, Shri. Neeraj Tripathi learned Additional Advocate General would submit, there can be no doubt, the petitioners were appointed under the Removal of Difficulties Order. However, it has not been considered in any of the earlier decisions (relied by learned counsel for the petitioners), that those petitioners came to be appointed against short-term vacancies that existed for a period of six months or till the employee in whose circumstance such vacancy had arisen, failed to report back to duty. Till that time had expired, the permanent-appointed employee retained his lien over the post occupied by the petitioners. Without examining that issue, an omnibus Mandamus may not be issued for payment of retiral dues. In short, he would submit, individual facts merit consideration before the claim for payment of pension or retiral dues may be allowed. Then, referring to the 'Applicable Rules', it has been submitted, those are applicable only to "permanent employees serving at State aided educational institutions". Relying on Rule 5(g) of the 'Applicable Rules', it has been urged, none of the petitioners became eligible to pension till the time they became permanent employees. Since that date fell beyond the cut-off date i.e., 01.04.2005 when the New Pension Scheme came into force, the petitioners cannot claim retiral dues under the 'Applicable Rules'.

19. Also, under Rule 19(a) of the 'Applicable Rules', service rendered would not count for pension unless the employee had held a substantive post on a permanent establishment on 31.03.2005. Since the petitioners came to first hold that post beyond the cut-off date 01.04.2005, they never became eligible to pension under the 'Applicable Rules'.

20. To bolster his submission, the learned A.A.G. has referred to Rule 34 of the 'Applicable Rules', that provides - matters of pension/family pension not specifically covered under the 'Applicable Rules' would be governed by Rules and corresponding procedure laid down in law with respect to State Government employees. Therefore, in is his submission, it has completely escaped the attention of the Court (in the earlier decisions referred to leaned counsel for the petitioners), that a statutory intervention had been made upon publication of Notification No. Sa-3-379/Ten-2005-301(9)/2003 dated 28 March 2005 whereby w.e.f. 01 April 2005 it was clearly provided, a New Contributory Pension Scheme would mandatorily apply to employees of the State Government and of the State aided private educational institutions etc.

21. Corresponding to that change of policy, statutory intervention followed. First through Ordinance No. 19/20 and later through 'Qualifying Service Act', the term "qualifying service' was given the meaning - services rendered against appointment on a temporary or permanent post, in accordance with the provisions of the service rules prescribed by the government.

22. To actualise that purpose, the 'Government Employees Rules' were amended vide Notification No. 3-469 dated 07.4.2005. By that, it was specifically provided, the 'Government Employees Rules' shall not apply to employees entering service and post on or after 01.04.2005. The learned A.A.G. has now relied on the language of Section 33G of the Act. It is his submission that the date of regularisation is the relevant date on which the petitioners may claim to be born in the cadre. That date (22.03.2016) being well beyond the cut-off date i.e., 31.03.2005, the petitioners can never claim entitlement to payment of pension under the unamended laws. The appointments granted to the petitioners - post 01.04.2005, were the first substantive appointment granted, that too subject to successful completion of probation.

23. Thus, it has been the submission of learned A.A.G. - by virtue of Rule 34 of the 'Applicable Rules' read with the Government Notification dated 28.03.2005, the amended "Government Employees Rules' and the "Qualifying Service Act', the petitioners' claim to pension under the "Applicable Rules' stood overridden by a non obstante clause employed by the legislature in Section 2 of the 'Qualifying Service Act' read with Rule 34 of the "Applicable Rules'.

24. Further, the learned A.A.G. has relied on another decision of a learned single judge of this Court in Satyesh Kumar Mishra And Others Vs. State of U.P. And Others, 2016(6) ADJ 808 (LB). Therein, persons who had joined as Assistant Teacher after the cut-off date 01.04.2005, were held ineligible to pension under the 'Applicable Rules'. In reaching that conclusion, the learned single-Judge had considered the effect of Government Notification No. Sa-3-379/Ten-2005-301(9)/2003 dated 28 March 2005.

Decisions to similar effect of other learned single-Judge bench of this Court have also been referred to.

25. Last, in the alternative, it has been submitted a clear cleavage of opinion has arisen. The matter may, therefore, be referred to a larger bench.

26. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused, in the first place, the provision of Section 33G of the Act to the extent it merits notice, reads as below:

"Section 33-G. Regularisation of certain more appointments against the short term vacancies - Any teacher, other than the Principal or the Head Master, who -

(a) was appointed by promotion or by direct recruitment in the lecturer's grade or trained graduate grade on or after August 7, 1993 but not later than January 25, 1999 against a short term vacancy in accordance with paragraph 2 of the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Commission (Removal of Difficulties) (Second) order, 1981 as amended from time to time, and such vacancy was subsequently converted into a substantive vacancy;

(b) was appointed by promotion or by direct recruitment on or after August 7, 1993, but not later than December 30, 2000 on adhoc basis against substantive vacancy in accordance with Section 18, in the Lecturer grade or Trained Graduate grade;

(e) Has been found suitable for appointment in a substantive capacity by the selection committee referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) of Section 33-C in accordance with the procedure prescribed under clause (b) of the said sub-section;Shall be given substantive appointments by the Management.

(6) The services of the adhoc teachers and the teachers who have been appointed against short term vacancies shall be regularised from the date of commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Services Selection Board (Amendment Act), 2016."

27. The date of enforcement of Section 33G (6) of the Act is 22.03.2016. Also, there is no dispute to the eligibility of any of the petitioners - to regularization from that date. In any case, the stage to examine that issue is long past. It is an undisputed fact; each petitioner was regularized and has completed his term of service - upon attaining the age of the superannuation. No petitioner was terminated from service or offered like punishment.

28. Thus, an automatic consequence arose in law upon regularization offered under Section 33G of the Act. The petitioners earned the legal status of a permanent employee with effect from 22.03.2016, being the date of enforcement of Section 33G of the Act. That substantive right got conferred long back could not be and it has not been altered, till date.

29. Therefore, it is to be seen - which law was in force on that date, and/or is in force today, qua the eligibility to pension claimed by the petitioners. The date of the petitioners being born in the cadre would be relevant, if a different law is found to exist (as may govern the claim for pension and retiral dues), should the date of regularization be treated to be the date on which the petitioners were born in the cadre. It is so because, if the law i.e., the 'Applicable Rules' continued to be enforceable on 22.03.2016, despite other laws relied upon by the learned A.A.G., including Government Notification dated 28.03.2005 as has been given effect to by the 'Qualifying Service Act' as also by amending the 'Government Employees Rules', that issue would remain an academic issue. Therefore, it is the other aspect of the submission advanced by the learned Additional Advocate General that merits consideration, first.

30. There can be no dispute to the applicability of the fundamental principle. It is unambiguous - in the hierarchy of laws, at the top of the ladder is perched the Constitutional law. Sitting at the next lower step and therefore subservient to it is the law enacted by the principal legislature, followed on the next lower step, by law made by a delegate of the principal legislature. Only in the absence of enacted law or a field lying unoccupied, any notification issued by the executive in exercise of power referable to Article 309 or like provision of the Constitution of India, would come to full life. At the first/lowest step (and therefore subservient to all laws sitting above), sit executive orders including Government Orders, that may sometimes cause the effect of law, subject primarily to absence of any contrary law existing at any higher step of the ladder.

31. The 'Applicable Rules' (of 1964) and the 'Government Employees Rules' (of 1964) were both notified in exercise of Article 309 of the Constitution of India. In absence of any other law made on the subject, either by the principal legislature or its delegate, both sets of Rules noted above were fully enforceable. Then, by virtue of Rule 2 of the 'Government Employees Rules', they applied to officers under the rule making power of the Governor. Rules 2 & 3 of those Rules (unamended) read as below:

"2. Application.- (1) These rules shall apply to all officers under the rule making power of the Governor, other than those who retired before the date of the coming into force of these rules.

Provided firstly, that [a person who was an officer]" on the date immediately preceding the date of commencement of these rules shall have the option to elect for the existing pension rules applicable to him, in which case he will not be eligible for any of the benefits granted under these rules except as provided in Rule 11. The option shall be exercised within a period of [six months] from the date of notification of these rules in the official Gazette. The option once exercised shall be final."

3. Definition.- In these rules unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context-

(6) "Officer" means a Government Servant (whether belonging to superior or inferior service) who holds a lien on a permanent pensionable post under the Government or would have held a lien on such a post had his lien not been suspended."

32. On the other hand, Rule 3 of the 'Applicable Rules', apply to permanent employees serving in State-aided educational institutions, of specified categories. Rule 3 and 4 of that set of Rules reads as below:

"3. These rules shall apply to permanent employees serving in State aided educational institutions of the following categories run either by a Local Body or by a Private management and recognised by a competent authority as such for purposes of payment of grant-in-aid;

(1) Primary Schools;

(2) Junior High Schools;

(3) Higher Secondary Schools;

(4) Degree Colleges;

(5) Training Colleges.

4. (a) These rules are intended to the employees of the State aided educational institutions, three types of service benefits, viz., Contributory Provident Fund, Insurance and Pension (Triple Benefit Scheme). The quantum of the benefits and the conditions by which they are governed are described in the succeeding Chapters:

(b) An employee already in permanent service on the date of enforcement of these rules shall be given an option to elect these new rules or to continue to be governed by the existing rules applicable to him.

(c) No employees shall be allowed option to choose only a part of the scheme except as otherwise specifically provided for in these rules.

(d) Option once exercise shall be final."

33. Then, Rule 5(g) of the 'Applicable Rules' reads as below:

"5(g) "Employee' means a permanently employed person borne on the whole-time teaching or non-teaching establishment of an aided institution, excluding (a) the inferior staff and (b) the ministerial staff of institutions maintained by a Local Body."

No doubt under the "Applicable Rules' an employee means a permanent employee only, yet, it cannot be denied - on the date of retirement, each petitioner was a permanent employee upon regularization granted under section 33G of the Act, w.e.f. 22.3.2016.

34. Then, Rules 17, 19 and 21 of the "Applicable Rules' read as below:

"17. An employee shall be eligible for pension on-

(i) retirement on attaining the age of superannuation or on the expiry of extension granted beyond the superannuation age.

(ii) voluntary retirement.....

(iii) retirement before the age of superannuation under a medical certificate.....

(iv) discharge due to abolition of post or closure.....

Note- .....

19. (a) Service will not count for pension unless the employee holds a substantive post on a permanent establishment.

(b) Continuous temporary or officiating service followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or another post shall also count as qualifying service."

21. An employee shall be eligible for superannuation/retiring/ invalid pension only after completing 10 years of qualifying service at 1/20 of his average emoluments of the past three years for every completed years of service subject to....."

35. Thus, under the "Applicable Rules' specific to the claim of pension, employees (such as the petitioners), could gain eligibility to receive pension, on attaining the age of superannuation by virtue of Rule 17, subject to satisfaction of Rules 19 and 21 of the 'Applicable Rules'. Thus (i) the concerned employee should have held a substantive post on a permanent establishment, on the date of his retirement. Then, relevant to the present facts - (ii) such employee must have retired after attaining the age of superannuation and (iii) he must have performed 10 years continuous service on the date of his superannuation.

36. To the first condition noted above, there can be no dispute. Even a days' length of substantive post held before retirement, preceded by fulfilment of condition of "qualifying service' (as defined under the "Applicable Rules'), would entitle a retired employee to pension under those Rules. Also, as to the second condition (noted above), there is no dispute.

37. So far as the third eligibly condition is concerned, per se, the two sets of Rules noticed above, namely the "Applicable Rules' and the "Government Employees Rules' operate on two different and mutually exclusive sets of persons/employees. Teachers at State-aided educational institutions, not being "officers' as defined under Rule 3(6) of the "Government Employees Rules', were never covered under that set of Rules. Hence, on its own force, the amendment made to Rule 2 of the latter Rules whereby sub-Rule 3 was added, never became applicable to teachers at State-aided educational institutions, they being persons governed by the "Applicable Rules'. In absence of any amendment to the "Applicable Rules', their eligibility and entitlement to pension arising those Rules remained preserved and unaltered.

38. As to the concept of "qualifying service' that may fructify the eligibility (established by the employee) to an entitlement to receive pensionary relief, Rule 19(a) of the "Applicable Rules' read with Rule 21 thereof prescribe ten years' continuous service. It is this eligibility issue that Rule 19(b) addresses in the context of the present petitioners. It includes therein continuous temporary or officiating service, followed without interruption, by confirmation, as the "qualifying service'. That condition stood satisfied, in case of each petitioner. There is no dispute to that fact either.

39. Seen in that light, Rule 19(b), only furnishes a clarification that perhaps became necessary - upon the language employed by Rule 19(a) read with Rule 21 of the Rules. Therefore, Rule 19(b) enables, substantive post held even for one day preceded with continuous service rendered as may add up to ten years in all, to be eligibility to be earned by a retired employee - to avail pensionary benefits under the "Applicable Rules'.

40. The policy statement contained in the Government Order dated 28.03.2005 referred to by the learned Additional Advocate General is clearly not the law. Sitting at the lowest step of the law, it never enjoyed any status as may have ever allowed it to be read in preference over the enacted law. Both 'Government Employees Rules' and the 'Applicable Rules' were pre-existing laws, made under Article 309 of the Constitution of India. In neither case, there existed any legislation either by the principal legislature or its delegate. Hence, they were and continue to be the binding law. In Ajay Kumar Das Vs State of Orissa (2011) 11 SCC 136, the Supreme Court held:

"14. Neither the Circular dated 18-6-1982 nor the subsequent Circular dated 19-3-1983 modifying the earlier Circular dated 18-6-1982 can override the statutory provision contained in Rule 74(b) of the Code if it results in reduction of pay of the employee on promotion. That the Orissa Service Code has been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India is not in dispute. It is well settled that the statutory rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution can be amended only by a rule or notification duly made under Article 309 and not otherwise. Whatever be the efficacy of the executive orders or circulars or instructions, statutory rules cannot be altered or amended by such executive orders or circulars or instructions nor can they replace the statutory rules. The Rules made under Article 309 of the Constitution cannot be tinkered by the administrative instructions or circulars".

41. Then, the 'Government Employees Rules' were amended by issuance of Notification No. 3-469 dated 07.04.2005, however, no such amendment was made to the 'Applicable Rules'. For ready reference, the text of the said Notification dated 07.04.2005, reads as below:

संविधान के अनुच्छेद 309 के परन्तुक द्वारा प्रदत्त शक्ति का प्रयोग करके राज्यपाल उत्तर प्रदेश रिटायरमेंट बेनिफिट्स रूल्स, 1961 को संशोधित करने की दृष्टि से निम्नलिखित नियमावली बनाते है।

उत्तर प्रदेश रिटायरमेंट बेनिफिट्स (संशोधन) रूल्स, 2005

1. संक्षिप्त नाम और प्रारम्भ- (1) यह नियमावली उत्तर प्रदेश रिटायरमेंट बेनिफिट्स (संशोधन) रूल्स, 2005 कही जायेगा

(2) यह 1 अप्रैल, 2005 को प्रवृत्त हुआ समझा जायेगी।

2. नियम 2 का संशोधन- उत्तर प्रदेश रिटायरमेंट बेनिफिट्स रूल्स, 1961 में नियम 2 में, वर्तमान उपनियम (2) के पश्चात निम्नलिखित नया उपनियम बढ़ा दिया जायेगा. अर्थात्

(3) यह नियमावली राज्य के कार्य कलाप के सम्बन्ध में पेंशनी स्थापन सेवाओं और पदों पर, चाहे वे अस्थायी हों या स्थायी हों, 1 अप्रैल, 2005 को या उसके पश्चात् प्रवेश करने वाले कर्मचारियों पर लागू नहीं होगी।"

42. Clearly, while issuing that notification and amending the law made under Article 309 of the Constitution of India, no amendment was made to the 'Applicable Rules'. Amendment made was confined to Rule 2 of the 'Government Employees Rules'. Hence, there can be no quarrel to the proposition - law whether framed under Article 309 or in exercise of the legislative powers by the principal legislature or its delegate is a species of statutory law. Not amended, it continued to operate with full force. Since the 'Applicable Rules' were not amended, no benefit may be had by placing reliance on or referring to the Government Notification dated 07.04.2005, that amended the "Government Employees Rules'. It left the "Applicable Rules' untouched.

43. Next, it is true - the government of the day did express a change of administrative policy - by issuance of notification dated 28 March 2005, to modify the Old Pension Scheme with respect to State-aided educational institutions, also. However, that expression of changed policy remained from being actualised, legislatively. Therefore, it is merely an unfulfilled policy aspiration of the executive. Being contrary to the pre-existing legislative law - namely, the "Applicable Rules' framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India; it must yield to the same. Consequently, that policy expression made by the executive authority, contrary to the legislative action, causes no legal effect. In State of Karnataka Vs Umadevi [3] (2006) 4 SCC 1, the Supreme Court observed:

"6. The power of a State as an employer is more limited than that of a private employer inasmuch as it is subjected to constitutional limitations and cannot be exercised arbitrarily (see Basu's Shorter Constitution of India). Article 309 of the Constitution gives the Government the power to frame rules for the purpose of laying down the conditions of service and recruitment of persons to be appointed to public services and posts in connection with the affairs of the Union or any of the States. That article contemplates the drawing up of a procedure and rules to regulate the recruitment and regulate the service conditions of appointees appointed to public posts. It is well acknowledged that because of this, the entire process of recruitment for services is controlled by detailed procedures which specify the necessary qualifications, the mode of appointment, etc. If rules have been made under Article 309 of the Constitution, then the Government can make appointments only in accordance with the rules. The State is meant to be a model employer. The Employment Exchanges (Compulsory Notification of Vacancies) Act, 1959 was enacted to ensure equal opportunity for employment seekers. Though this Act may not oblige an employer to employ only those persons who have been sponsored by employment exchanges, it places an obligation on the employer to notify the vacancies that may arise in the various departments and for filling up of those vacancies, based on a procedure. Normally, statutory rules are framed under the authority of law governing employment. It is recognised that no government order, notification or circular can be substituted for the statutory rules framed under the authority of law. This is because, following any other course could be disastrous inasmuch as it will deprive the security of tenure and the right of equality conferred on civil servants under the constitutional scheme. It may even amount to negating the accepted service jurisprudence. Therefore, when statutory rules are framed under Article 309 of the Constitution which are exhaustive, the only fair means to adopt is to make appointments based on the rules so framed".

44. Insofar as the 'Qualifying Service Act' is concerned, it reads as below:

"Statement of Objects and Reasons

Pension and gratuity admissible to a retired Government servant are determined in relation to the length of qualifying service of the Government servant. Although the term "Qualifying Service" is described in the Uttar Pradesh Civil Service Regulation and the Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961, however the definition of the said term is open to subjective interpretation which leads to administrative difficulties.

It has therefore, been decided to make a law defining the term "Qualifying Service" and to validate such definition with effect from April 1, 1961 which is the date of commencement of Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961.

Since the State Legislature was not in session and immediate legislative action was necessary to implement the aforesaid decision, the Uttar Pradesh Qualifying Service for Pension and Validation Ordinance 2020 (U.P. Ordnance Number 19 of 2020) was promulgated by the Governor on October 21, 2020.

This bill is introduced to replace the aforesaid Ordinance

1. (1) This Act may be called the Uttar Pradesh Qualifying Service for Pension and Validation Act, 2021.

(2) It shall extend to the whole of the State of Uttar Pradesh.

(3) It shall be deemed to have come into force on April 1, 1961.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained in any rule, regulation or Government order for the purposes of entitlement of pension to an officer, "Qualifying Service" means the services rendered by an officer appointed on a temporary or permanent post in accordance with the provisions of the service rules prescribed by the Government for the post.

3. Notwithstanding any Judgement, decree or order of any Court, anything done or purporting to have been done and may action taken or purporting to have been taken under or in relation to sub-rule (8) of rule 3 of the Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961 before the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to be and always to have been done or taken under the provisions of this Act and to be and always to have been valid as if the provisions of this Ordinance were in force at all material times with effect from April 1, 1961.

4. Save as otherwise provided, the provisions of this Act shall have effect, notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force or in any instrument having effect by virtue of any law for the time being in force other than this Act."

45. The "Qualifying Service Act' also does not create any obstacle in the path of the petitioners to claim pension as they are not "officers' under that law. Though that Act does not define the word "officer' used therein, yet, section 3 read in the context of the Object and Reasons clause thereto, leave no room to doubt that that enactment was made strictly with reference to the "Government Service Rules'. Keeping in mind the definition of the term "Officer' contained in Rule 5(g) of the "Government Employees Rules' (noted above), it only includes a government servant who may hold a lien on a permanent pensionable post under the Government. It may be applied to other government employees - by way of the only permissible extension, thereto and no further.

46. Petitioners being teachers working at the State-aided educational institutions and not State-owned institutions, they could never be described as "Officers' of the State Government. Therefore, there did not ever exist any master-servant relationship between them and the State Government as may ever allow them to be described as "officers' of the State government, even in any loose sense of that term. For these reasons, the ration in Satyesh Kumar Mishra and ors. Vs State of U.P. and Ors (supra) is wholly distinguished.

47. Since the petitioners remained appointed under section 33 G of the Act, read with the "Applicable Rules' which Rules were never amended, they are seen to have never ventured out of the umbrella protection of the "Applicable Rules'. They have remained fully insulated from the wrath of section 2 of the "Qualifying Service Act'. Therefore, the petitioners never became the sacrificial offering contemplated under Rule 34 of the "Applicable Rules', as may have visited them the sufferance of the amended "Government Employees Rules'.

48. If any clarification was ever necessary, the same is contained in the above amendments, itself. The "Qualifying Service Act' is a creature of the State legislature. Also, both sets of Rules namely, the 'Government Employees Rules' and the 'Applicable Rules' are rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India. The State having chosen to amend only the law pertaining to government servants including the set of Rules applicable to them, without making any parallel effort to amend the other set of Rules applicable to teachers at State-aided educational institutions, it is impossible to conceive - the petitioners' rights to pension have been altered. In fact, the exact opposite is true.

49. In view of the above, denial of the claim made by the petitioners' is found to be contrary to law. The impugned orders are set aside. A positive direction is issued to the Deputy Director Secondary Education, Uttar Pradesh (as impleaded in individual cases) to complete all formalities and compute the pension payable to each respective petitioner and to ensure its timely payment. For that purpose, period of two months is granted to the said respondent to compute the individual pension amount payable to individual petitioners, after including the ad hoc service rendered by each petitioner, before regularisation of his service in the "qualifying service' rendered for the purpose of the "Applicable Rules'. The pension together with its dues so computed may be paid out within a further period of one month. Failing that, the petitioner concerned shall be entitled to interest @ of 8% from today till the date of actual payment.

50. With the above directions, the writ petitions stand allowed. No order as to costs.

51. The Court may record its appreciation for the spirited submissions advanced by the younger members of the Bar. Unless the younger bar takes up the mantle in time, the critical interests of institution may remain unserved.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Dr. L.P. Mishra, alongwith Sri Amrendra Nath Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioners as well as Sri Rahul Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State respondents, Sri S.B. Pandey, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Anand Dwivedi, learned counsel appearing for Union of India and Sri Puneet Chandra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of National Health Mission.

2. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that they are Ayush doctors who are working in the NHRM Scheme and are aggrieved by the impugned order dated 29.03.2019, passed by the Principal Secretary, Medical and Health Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow thereby rejecting their representation for being granted equivalent honorarium as is being given to the Allopathic doctors.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioners are qualified AYUSH Doctors and were engaged as such and were posted in different districts in the State of Uttar Pradesh and their services were renewed from time to time and are currently serving as contractual employees. The Union of India recognizing the importance of health in the process of economic and social development and improving the quality of life of its citizens resolved to launch the National Health Mission Scheme to carry out necessary aid in the basic health case delivery system.

4. An advertisement was issued for appointment on various posts in all the districts including the post of Medical Officer Allopathic, BDS Doctors as well as AYUSH Doctors. Till the year 2009-10, honorarium for all the above-mentioned doctors was proposed to be Rs.24,000/- per month but later on in 2010-11, the honorarium of Medical Officers Allopathic was increased to Rs.30,000/- per month.

Similarly, for the year 2011-12, the honorarium of the Medical Officers Allopathic was increased to Rs.36,000/- per month for rural posting and Rs.33,000/- per month for urban posting and honorarium of Medical Officers BDS was increased to Rs.35,000/- per month for rural posting and Rs.30,000/- per month for urban posting. The honorarium of Ayush Doctors was not revised and renewal of Ayush Doctors was denied and aggrieved by the order, not renewing the period of Ayush Doctors, they challenged the action before this Court and Court while disposing the Writ Petition No. 769 (S/B) of 2011, directed the respondents to continue their services till the scheme continues and be paid accordingly.

5. The State Government assailed the order passed by the writ Court by filing Special Leave Petition (Civil) No. 28122 of 2011, which was dismissed on 18.10.2011 and in compliance of the order of the Court the services of Ayush doctors were continued and renewed but the honorarium remained Rs.24,000/- per month.

6. The claim of the AYUSH Doctors for equal honorarium was further raised in Writ Petition No. 295 (S/B) of 2013 - Anil Kumar and Others Vs. Union of India and Others, which was disposed of by this Court by means of order dated 01.03.2013, with direction to the Principal Secretary, Health and Family Welfare, U.P. to take decision in this regard and the Principal Secretary took the decision in the matter vide order dated 04.09.2013, whereby the representation was rejected on the ground that honorarium was to be fixed in terms of the operational guidelines/record of proceedings and in the said terms the Government of India had approved honorarium only Rs.24,000/- per month.

7. The claim of the petitioners to be treated at par with the Allopathic Doctors has been rejected by the State Government on the following ground :

"(i) AYUSH doctors do not have to render emergency services,

(ii) their services are limited for their work up to six hours and

(iii) they are not given any medico legal work."

8. The aforesaid order has been passed considering various directions issued by the High Court in Writ Petition No. 5633 (S/S) of 2019 and Writ Petition No. 22529(S/B) of 2018, rejecting the claim of the petitioners.

9. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that it is wrong to say that the duties and responsibilities of the AYUSH doctors are in any way inferior to the Allopathic doctors, and the reasoning given for such discrimination is illegal and arbitrary. The reasoning that Allopathic doctors are entitled for non-practicing allowance, is baseless, as no such allowance is admissible to any contractual employee either Allopathic or AYUSH. It is submitted that the State Government is giving equal honorarium to the Allopathic and AYUSH medical officers in case of contractual appointments. It is also relevant to mention here that in case of emergency, every moment and every second is important and vital and every medical practitioner is under pious and legal obligation to attend the medical emergencies. Moreover, in many PHCs/CHCs only AYUSH doctors are appointed and in medical emergencies, such doctors have been appointed to take care of the medical emergencies, and such patients are treated by the AYUSH doctors and even the guidelines of the AYUSH doctors also permit them to do the same.

10. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that on one hand the order says that the honorarium of the AYUSH doctors are to be decided by the Department of AYUSH of Central Government and on the other hand National AYUSH Policy, 2002 formulated by the Department of AYUSH of the Central Government are not being followed while fixing the honorarium.

11. To canvass their claim for being treated equally on the ground that their obligations are also similar to those of Allopathic doctors, it has been stated that AYUSH doctors are employed under the Jan Suraksha Yojana, are employed as Obstetrics and also employed in emergency service. It is stated that AYUSH doctors are also duly registered by the registering Council and are practicing as doctors in their respective fields of medicine and it is submitted that the State Government is discriminating between them without there being any rational basis which is illegal and arbitrary.

12. It is further submitted that till 2009-10, honorarium for all the doctors was uniformly fixed at Rs.24,000/- per month and it is only after 2011-12 that honorarium of Allopathic doctors was raised to Rs. 36,000/- per month for rural posting and Rs.33,000/- per month for urban posting, while honorarium for Ayush doctors was not revised.

13. In earlier round of litigation, this very aspect was meticulously scrutinised and this Court while deciding bunch of cases leading being Writ Petition No. 738 (S/B) of 2015, had considered all the aspects of their work, educational qualifications and returned a finding that AYUSH doctors are also entitled to the same honorarium as is given to Allopath doctors.

14. Similar controversy was raised before the High Court Uttrakhand in the case of Dr. Sanjay Singh Chauhan and Others Vs. State of Uttrakhand, Writ Petition No. 484 (S/B) of 2014 (decided on 03.04.2018), wherein the High Court of Uttrakhand observed as under :-

"1. The petitioners were appointed as Medical Officers "Ayush" on the contract basis during the year 2010 to 2013 under "National Rural Health Mission" (hereinafter referred to as "NRHM" for the sake of brevity). The NRHM was started by Government of India in the year 2005 for the purpose of Healthcare, more particularly, in rural areas. The 85% expenses are borne by the Central Government and 15% by the State Government.

2. According to the preamble of NRHM scheme, it is meant to develop and improve the quality of life of citizens and to adopt a synergistic approach by relating health to indica of good health viz. segments of nutrition, sanitation, hygiene and safe drinking water. It also aims at main streaming the Indian System of Medicine to facilitate health care. The overall goal of the Mission is to improve the availability of access to quality health care by people especially for those residing in rural areas, the poor, women and children. In fact, it provides effective health care to rural population throughout the country 2 with special focus on 18 States including State of Uttarakhand.

3. The petitioners were appointed in Rastriya Bal Swasthaya Karyakram

(RBSK) run by the NRHM. The State Government has also employed Allopathic, Dental, Ayurvedic and Homeopathic Medical Officers under NRHM on contract basis. The Allopathic and Dental Doctors were given consolidated salary of Rs.48,000/-, Rs.52,000/- and Rs.56,000/- for Sugam, Durgam and Ati-durgam places respectively. The petitioners were paid only Rs.36,000/-, Rs.40,000/- and Rs.44,000/- for Sugam, Durgam and Ati-durgam places respectively. There were 82 Ayurvedic and 18 Homeopathic Medical Officers appointed on contract basis under NRHM. 296 Ayurvedic Medical Officers were also appointed on contract basis under RBSK. Initially there was no difference in the salary between Allopathic Medical Officers and Ayurvedic Medical Officers as per advertisement issued in the year 2010. The petitioners have made several representations seeking parity of salary with their counter-parts working as Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers.

4. The case of the petitioners has been rejected only on the ground that they are working on contractual basis and thus, they are not entitled to the parity with Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers. The petitioners are discharging the same duties which are being discharged by the Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers. 3

5. The underlying principles of NRHM is to provide basic health facilities to the citizen of the State, more particularly, of rural areas. The petitioners have obtained their degrees from recognized institutions. They have also taken 4-5 years course. It is for the patient to opt for any of the system i.e. Allopathic or Ayurvedic or Homeopathic.

6. There is no intelligible differentia so as to distinguish the Ayurvedic and Homeopathic Medical Officers viz-a-viz Allopathic and Dental Medical Officers. There is no rational why the similar situate persons have been discriminated against. The petitioners as well as Allopathic and Dental Medical Officers constitute homogenous class.

7. Homeopathy, Ayurved and Allopathy are different streams of Medicines, yet these have to be treated at par with each other. The nature of degrees and duration of courses are almost the same. There is also discrimination by paying Rs.10,000/- extra to the Doctors working in Community Health Centres and Primary Health Centres. The petitioners are working in rural areas. They cannot be discriminated against only on the ground that they are not serving in Community Health Centres and Primary Health Centres.

8. Their Lordships of Hon'ble Supreme Court in (1987) 4 SCC 634 in the case of Bhagwan Dass and others Vs. State of Haryana and others have held that if duties and functions of temporary appointees and employees of regular cadre in the same government 4 department are similar, there cannot be discrimination in pay between them merely on ground of difference in mode of their selection or that the appointment or scheme under which appointments made was temporary. Their Lordships have held as under :-

"8. It is therefore futile to contend that the petitioners in their capacity as Supervisors were required only to perform part-time work. As per clause (d) of the aforesaid extract, the supervisors were required to stay for the whole day in the village and were required to visit the Informal Education Centre and the Adult Education Centre in the night. They were also required to go on tour and to remain at the headquarter once a week from 9.30

A.M. to 4.00 P.M. The conclusion is therefore inevitable that the petitioners were not part-time functionaries but were whole-time functionaries. 10. With regard to the first ground for not granting salary on the same basis as of respondents 2 to 6, viz. that they are part-time employees whereas respondents 2 to 6 are full-time employees, having examined the aforesaid records placed before the Court, we are of the opinion that there is no substance in this contention.

11. With regard to the next contention viz. that the mode of recruitment of the petitioners is different from the mode of recruitment of respondents 2 to 6, we are afraid it is altogether without substance. The contention has been raised in the following terms (paragraph 4(d) of the Counter affidavit dated 6-1-1986 filed on behalf of Respondents 1 to 13):-- It is absolutely incorrect that the Petitioners are similarly placed as the employees under the Social Education Scheme, as alleged. The latter are wholetime employees selected by the subordinate services Selection Board after competing with candidates from any pan of the country. In the case of Petitioners, normally the selection at best is limited to the candidates from the Cluster of a few villages only. The contention made by the Petitioners has no justifiable basis." (Emphasis added).

We need not enter into the merits of the respective modes of selection. Assuming that the selection of the petitioners has been limited to the cluster of a few villages, whereas Respondents 2 to 6 were selected by another mode wherein they had faced competition from candidates from all over the 5 country., we need not examine the merits of these modes for the very good reason that once the nature and functions and the work are not shown to be dissimilar the fact that the recruitment was made in one way or the other would hardly be relevant from the point of view of "Equal pay for equal work" doctrine. It was open to the State to resort to a selection process whereat candidates from all over the country might have competed if they so desired. If however they deliberately chose to limit the selection of the candidates from a cluster of a few villages it will not absolve the State from treating such candidates in a discriminatory manner to the disadvantage of the selectees once they are appointed, provided the work done by the candidates so selected is similar in nature. It was perhaps considered advantageous to make recruitment from the cluster of a few villages for the purposes of the Adult Education Scheme because the Supervisors appointed from that area would know the people of that area more intimately and would be in a better position to persuade them to take advantage of the Adult Education Scheme in order to make it a success. So also it was perhaps considered desirable to make recourse to this mode of recruitment of candidates because candidates from other parts of the country would have found it inconvenient and onerous to seek employment in such a Scheme where they would have to work amongst total strangers and it would have made it difficult for them to discharge their functions of persuading the villagers to avail of the Adult Education Scheme on account of that factor. So also they might not have been tempted to compete for these posts in view of the fact that the Scheme itself was for an uncertain duration and could have been discontinued at any time. Be that as it may, so long as the petitioners are doing work which is similar to the work performed by respondents 2 to 6 from the stand point of 'Equal work for equal pay' doctrine, the petitioners cannot be discriminated against in regard to pay scales. Whether equal work is put in by a candidate, selected by a process whereat candidates from all parts of the country could have competed or whether they are selected by a process where candidates from only a cluster of a few villages could have competed is altogether irrelevant and immaterial, for the purposes of the applicability of 'Equal work for equal pay' doctrine.. A typist doing similar work as another typist cannot be denied equal pay on the ground that the process 6 of selection was different in as much as ultimately the work done is similar and there is no rational ground to refuse equal pay for equal work. It is quite possible that if he had to compete with candidates from all over the country, he might or might not have been selected. It would be easier for him to be selected when the selection is limited to a cluster of a few villages. That however is altogether a different matter. It is possible that he might not have been selected at all if he had to compete against candidates from all over the country. But once he is selected, whether he is selected by one process or the other, he cannot be denied equal pay for equal work without violating the said doctrine. This plea raised by the Respondent-State must also fail.

12. Turning now to the contention that the nature of the duties are different,, the Respondent-State has failed to establish its plea. In the regular cadre, the essential qualification for appointment is B.A., B.Ed. Petitioners also possess the same qualifications viz. B.A., B.Ed. In fact many of them even possess higher degrees such as M.A.M.Ed. In what manner and in what respect are the duties and functions discharged by those who are in the regular cadre different? The petitioners having discharged the initial burden showing similarity in this regard, the burden is shifted on the Respondent-State to establish that these are dissimilar in essence and in substance. We are unable to uphold the bare assertion made in this behalf by the State of Haryana (in paragraph 21 of the Counter-affidavit dated November 23, 1985). In fact the communication dated April 8, 1985 (Annexure R-2) addressed by the respondent State of Haryana to the District Officers which has been quoted in the earlier part of the judgment supports the contentions of the petitioners and belies the plea raised by the Respondent-State."

9. Their Lordships of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the recent judgment reported in (2017) 1 SCC 148 in the case of State of Punjab and others Vs. Jagjit Singh and others have laid down the following principles to determine parity in principle of "equal pay for equal work". Their Lordships have held that the temporary employees are also entitled to minimum regular pay scale 7 on the principle of "equal pay for equal work". Their Lordships have held as under : "42.2. The mere fact that the subject post occupied by the claimant, is in a "different department" vis-a-vis the reference post, does not have any bearing on the determination of a claim, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work'. Persons discharging identical duties, cannot be treated differently, in the matter of their pay, merely because they belong to different departments of Government (see - the Randhir Singh case1, and the D.S. Nakara case2).

42.3. The principle of "equal pay for equal work', applies to cases of unequal scales of pay, based on no classification or irrational classification (see - the Randhir Singh case1). For equal pay, the concerned employees with whom equation is sought, should be performing work, which besides being functionally equal, should be of the same quality and sensitivity (see - the Federation of All India Customs and Central Excise Stenographers (Recognized) case3, the Mewa Ram Kanojia case5, the Grih Kalyan Kendra Workers' Union case6 and the S.C. Chandra case12).

42.4.Persons holding the same rank/designation (in different departments), but having dissimilar powers, duties and responsibilities, can be placed in different scales of pay, and cannot claim the benefit of the principle of "equal pay for equal work' (see - the Randhir Singh case1, State of Haryana v. Haryana Civil Secretariat Personal Staff Association9, and the Hukum Chand Gupta case17). Therefore, the principle would not be automatically invoked, merely because the subject and reference posts have the same nomenclature.

42.5. In determining equality of functions and responsibilities, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', it is necessary to keep in mind, that the duties of the two posts should be of equal sensitivity, and also, qualitatively similar. Differentiation of pay-scales for posts with difference in degree of responsibility, reliability and confidentiality, would fall within 8 the realm of valid classification, and therefore, pay differentiation would be legitimate and permissible (see - the Federation of All India Customs and Central Excise Stenographers (Recognized) case3 and the State Bank of India case8). The nature of work of the subject post should be the same and not less onerous than the reference post. Even the volume of work should be the same. And so also, the level of responsibility. If these parameters are not met, parity cannot be claimed under the principle of "equal pay for equal work' (see - State of U.P. v. J.P. Chaurasia4, and the Grih Kalyan Kendra Workers' Union case6).

42.6. For placement in a regular pay-scale, the claimant has to be a regular appointee. The claimant should have been selected, on the basis of a regular process of recruitment. An employee appointed on a temporary basis, cannot claim to be placed in the regular payscale (see - the Orissa University of Agriculture & Technology case10).

42.7. Persons performing the same or similar functions, duties and responsibilities, can also be placed in different pay-scales. Such as - "selection grade', in the same post. But this difference must emerge out of a legitimate foundation, such as - merit, or seniority, or some other relevant criteria (see - State of U.P. v. J.P. Chaurasia4).

42.8. If the qualifications for recruitment to the subject post vis-a- vis the reference post are different, it may be difficult to conclude, that the duties and responsibilities of the posts are qualitatively similar or comparable (see - the Mewa Ram Kanojia case5, and Government of W.B. v. Tarun K. Roy11). In such a cause, the principle of "equal pay for equal work', cannot be invoked.

42.9. The reference post, with which parity is claimed, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', has to be at the same hierarchy in the service, as the subject post. Pay-scales of posts may be different, if the hierarchy of the posts in question, and their channels of promotion, are different. Even if the duties and responsibilities are same, parity would not be permissible, as against a superior post, such as 9 a promotional post (see - Union of India v. Pradip Kumar Dey7, and the Hukum Chand Gupta case17).

42.10. A comparison between the subject post and the reference post, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', cannot be made, where the subject post and the reference post are in different establishments, having a different management. Or even, where the establishments are in different geographical locations, though owned by the same master (see - the Harbans Lal case23). Persons engaged differently, and being paid out of different funds, would not be entitled to pay parity (see - Official Liquidator v. Dayanand13).

42.11. Different pay-scales, in certain eventualities, would be permissible even for posts clubbed together at the same hierarchy in the cadre. As for instance, if the duties and responsibilities of one of the posts are more onerous, or are exposed to higher nature of operational work/risk, the principle of "equal pay for equal work' would not be applicable. And also when, the reference post includes the responsibility to take crucial decisions, and that is not so for the subject post (see - the State Bank of India case8).

42.12. The priority given to different types of posts, under the prevailing policies of the Government, can also be a relevant factor for placing different posts under different payscales. Herein also, the principle of "equal pay for equal work' would not be applicable (see - State of Haryana v. Haryana Civil Secretariat Personal Staff Association9).

42.13. The parity in pay, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', cannot be claimed, merely on the ground, that at an earlier point of time, the subject post and the reference post, were placed in the same pay- scale. The principle of "equal pay for equal work' is applicable only when it is shown, that the incumbents of the subject post and the reference post, discharge similar duties and responsibilities (see - State of West Bengal v. West Bengal Minimum Wages Inspectors Association14).

42.14. For parity in pay-scales, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', equation in the nature of duties, is of paramount importance. If the principal nature of duties of one post is teaching, whereas that of the other is non-teaching, the principle would not be applicable. If the dominant nature of duties of one post is of control and management, whereas the subject post has no such duties, the principle would not be applicable. Likewise, if the central nature of duties of one post is of quality control, whereas the subject post has minimal duties of quality control, the principle would not be applicable (see - Union Territory Administration, Chandigarh v. Manju Mathur15).

42.15. There can be a valid classification in the matter of pay-scales, between employees even holding posts with the same nomenclature i.e., between those discharging duties at the headquarters, and others working at the institutional/sub-office level (see - the Hukum Chand Gupta case17), when the duties are qualitatively dissimilar.

42.16. The principle of "equal pay for equal work' would not be applicable, where a differential higher pay-scale is extended to persons discharging the same duties and holding the same designation, with the objective of ameliorating stagnation, or on account of lack of promotional avenues (see - the Hukum Chand Gupta case17).

42.17. Where there is no comparison between one set of employees of one organization, and another set of employees of a different organization, there can be no question of equation of pay-scales, under the principle of "equal pay for equal work', even if two organizations have a common employer. Likewise, if the management and control of two organizations, is with different entities, which are independent of one another, the principle of "equal pay for equal work' would not apply (see - the S.C. Chandra case12, and the National Aluminum Company Limited case18). 60. Having traversed the legal parameters with reference to the application of the principle of "equal pay for equal work', in relation to 11 temporary employees (daily-wage employees, ad-hoc appointees, employees appointed on casual basis, contractual employees and the like), the sole factor that requires our determination is, whether the concerned employees (before this Court), were rendering similar duties and responsibilities, as were being discharged by regular employees, holding the same/corresponding posts. This exercise would require the application of the parameters of the principle of "equal pay for equal work' summarized by us in paragraph 42 above. However, insofar as the instant aspect of the matter is concerned, it is not difficult for us to record the factual position. We say so, because it was fairly acknowledged by the learned counsel representing the State of Punjab, that all the temporary employees in the present bunch of appeals, were appointed against posts which were also available in the regular cadre/establishment. It was also accepted, that during the course of their employment, the concerned temporary employees were being randomly deputed to discharge duties and responsibilities, which at some point in time, were assigned to regular employees. Likewise, regular employees holding substantive posts, were also posted to discharge the same work, which was assigned to temporary employees, from time to time. There is, therefore, no room for any doubt, that the duties and responsibilities discharged by the temporary employees in the present set of appeals, were the same as were being discharged by regular employees. It is not the case of the appellants, that the respondent-employees did not possess the qualifications prescribed for appointment on regular basis. Furthermore, it is not the case of the State, that any of the temporary employees would not be entitled to pay parity, on any of the principles summarized by us in paragraph 42 hereinabove. There can be no doubt, that the principle of "equal pay for equal work' would be applicable to all the concerned temporary employees, so as to vest in them the right to claim wages, at par with the minimum of the pay-scale of regularly engaged Government employees, holding the same post.

10. In the instant case, the duties discharged by the petitioners viz-a-viz Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers are of equal sensitivity and quality, even the responsibility and reliability are the same. The classification made by the State Government is irrational.

11. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. The State/respondents are directed to pay and release the salary to the petitioners at par with Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers from the date when the same was paid to the Allopathic and Dental Medical Officers, within a period of three months from today with arrears."

15. The High Court of Uttrakhand allowed the writ petition and held the AYUSH doctors should be treated at par with the Allopathic doctors and are entitled for the same honorarium. The said judgment was challenged before the Hon'ble Apex Court in Special Leave to Appeal (Civil) No. 33645 of 2018, which was dismissed by means of order dated 24.03.2022. Same issue has been raised before this Court where the AYUSH doctors have been denied the benefit of ACP, which was made admissible to the medical officers of Provincial Medical Services, there also the State Government had tried discriminate between medical officers (Ayurvedic) from AYUSH and Allopathic doctors.

16. The petitioners are confirmed Class-II Officers on the post of Medical Officers (Ayurvedic); the first petitioner claims to be the President of Prantiya Ayurvedic Evam Unani Chikitsa Seva Sangh (for short "Association') duly recognized by the second respondent, Principal Secretary, Department of Medical Education and AYUSH (Ayush Anubhag-1), Civil Secretariat, Lucknow. Petitioners are working in the Pay-Scale at Rs. 15600-39100 and Grade Pay at Rs. 6600/-.

17. The instant petition is directed against the order dated 28.02.2017, passed by the first respondent, Principal Secretary, Department of Finance, Civil Secretariat, Lucknow, whereby, the representation of the first petitioner claiming the benefit of Dynamic/Special Assured Career Progression (for short "SACP') Scheme made admissible to the Medical Officers of the Provincial Medical Health Services (for short "PMHS'), has been rejected. Further, a direction has been sought to grant the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) the benefits of SACP w.e.f. the date it has been allowed to the Medical Officers of PMHS.

18. The facts, inter se parties, are not disputed.

19. The Medical Officers PMHS practice Allopathy stream of medicine. It appears that Medical Officers PMHS made a representation to the State Government for implementation of Dynamic ACP Scheme as made admissible to the Medical Officers under the Central Government. On considering their representation, the State Government vide order dated 14.11.2014, framed a scheme on the recommendation of the Committee. The SACP, primarily, provides that the Medical Officers PMHS would be entitled to upgradation of pay on completing 4, 11, 17 and 24 years of satisfactory service. The scheme was made applicable w.e.f. 01.12.2008. The relevant portion of the Government Order dated 14.11.2014, for the purposes of the instant writ petition, is extracted hereinbelow:

''(1) प्रादेशिक चिकित्सा एवं स्वास्थ्य सेवा (पी0एम0एच0एस0) के चिकित्सकों के लिए केन्द्रीय चिकित्सकों के समान डी0ए0सी0पी0 की व्यवस्था लागू करने का औचित्य नही है।

20. The petitioners herein belong to a different stream of medicine i.e. Ayurvedic and are entitled to the General ACP Scheme applicable to all other government servants which was conferred by the Government Order dated 04.05.2010, wherein, upon stagnation on a post the government servant is entitled to upgradation of pay at 10, 18 and 26 years of service. The relevant portion of the Government Order dated 04.05.2010 reads thus:

' (2) (i) ए0सीपी0 के अन्तर्गत सीधी भर्ती के किसी पद पर प्रथम नियमित नियुक्ति की तिथि से 10 वर्ष, 18 वर्ष व 26 वर्ष की अनवरत संतोषजनक सेवा के आधार पर तीन वित्तीय स्तरोन्नयन निम्न प्रतिबन्धों के अधीन अनुमन्य किये जायेंगेः–

(क) प्रथम वित्तीय स्तरोन्नयन सीधी भर्ती के पद के वेतनमान/ सादृश्य ग्रेड वेतन में 10 वर्ष की नियमित सेवा निरन्तर सन्तोषजनक रूप से पूर्ण कर लेने पर देय होगा।''

21. The General ACP Scheme came to be modified vide Government Order dated 05.11.2014 providing upgradation of pay on satisfactory completion of 8/16/24 years of service.

22. In this back drop, it is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioners who are Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) and were inducted by the State Government on the same pay scale/band as admissible to the Medical Officers PMHS have been discriminated, merely, because they belong to and practice conventional stream of medicine as against modern medicine. It is submitted that the nature and duties of the Medical Officers rendering medical services in different streams of medicine is not comparable but the primary duty being performed by the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) is the same i.e. treating patients and number of hours of duty is comparable with the Medical Officer of PMHS. It is further sought to be urged that the issue being raised in the instant writ petition is not based on comparison/parity with the other stream of medical science or treatment. The benefit of SACP admissible to the Medical Officers PMHS, excluding, Medical Officers of their streams viz. Ayurvedic /Unani/Dental is discriminatory. The concept of ACP is based on the principle of tiding over stagnation on a post, ACP, per se, is not an incentive scheme so as to discriminate between Medical Officers engaged in different stream of medical treatment and practice. It is further submitted that the Dynamic ACP Scheme was made admissible to all the medical officers of the Central Health Service, irrespective, of the stream of medicine they practice, whereas, State Government while implementing the SACP has confined it to the Medical Officers PMHS (Allopathy).

23. Learned counsel for the petitioners, in support of his submission, has placed reliance on the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in North Delhi Municipal Corporation Versus Dr. Ram Naresh Sharma and others, SLP (C) No. 10156 of 2019.

24. The issue before the Court was with regard to the discrimination in the age of superannuation of the medical officers vis-a-vis dentist and doctors covered under the AYUSH, including, Ayurvedic doctors. The Court was of the opinion that the classification of AYUSH doctors and other doctors of Central Health Scheme (for short "CHS') in different categories is not reasonable and permissible under law. The doctors, both under AYUSH and CHS, render service to patients and on this core aspect, there is nothing to distinguish them. It was held that there was no rational justification for having different dates for bestowing the benefit of extended age of superannuation to these two categories of doctors. Paragraph nos.22 and 23 are extracted hereinbelow:

"22. The common contention of the appellants before us is that classification of AYUSH doctors and doctors under CHS in different categories is reasonable and permissible in law. This however does not appeal to us and we are inclined to agree with the findings of the Tribunal and the Delhi High Court that the classification is discriminatory and unreasonable since doctors under both segments are performing the same function of treating and healing their patients. The only difference is that AYUSH doctors are using indigenous systems of medicine like Ayurveda, Unani, etc. and CHS doctors are using Allopathy for tending to their patients. In our understanding, the mode of treatment by itself under the prevalent scheme of things, does not qualify as an intelligible differentia. Therefore, such unreasonable classification and discrimination based on it would surely be inconsistent with Article 14 of the Constitution. The order of AYUSH Ministry dated 24.11.2017 extending the age of superannuation to 65 Years also endorses such a view. This extension is in tune with the notification of Ministry of Health and Family Welfare dated 31.05.2016.

23. The doctors, both under AYUSH and CHS, render service to patients and on this core aspect, there is nothing to distinguish them. Therefore, no rational justification is seen for having different dates for bestowing the benefit of extended age of superannuation to these two categories of doctors. Hence, the order of AYUSH Ministry (F. No. D. 14019/4/2016-E-1 (AYUSH)) dated 24.11.2017 must be retrospectively applied from 31.05.2016 to all concerned respondent-doctors, in the present appeals. All consequences must follow from this conclusion."

25. Further, reliance has been placed on the decision rendered by the High Court of Uttarakhand in Dr. Sanjay Singh Chauhan and others versus State of Uttarakhand and others, Writ Petition No. 484 (S/B) of 2014.

26. The issue before the High Court was as to whether the Medical Officers (AYUSH) appointed on contract could be discriminated with their counter parts in other streams insofar as salary given to the Medical Officers (Allopathy) and Dental Medical Officers. The High Court allowed the writ petition. Para 10 reads thus:

"10. In the instant case, the duties discharged by the petitioners viz-a-viz Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers are of equal sensitivity and quality, even the responsibility and reliability are the same. The classification made by the State Government is irrational."

27. State of Uttrakhand, aggrieved by he order of the High court, carried the decision in appeal to the Supreme Court where the appeal (SLP (Civil) No. 33645 of 2018)was dismissed , in limine vide order dated 24.03.2022 making the following observations:

"Having heard learned counsel for the parties and considering the facts and circumstances of the case, we do not find any ground for interference with the order passed by the High Court. The special leave petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

However, we may only clarify that the respondents who are Ayurvedic doctors will be entitled to be treated at par with Allopathic Medical Officers and Dental Medical Officers under the National Rural Health Mission (NRHM/NHM) Scheme.

After the order was passed, learned counsel for the petitioners made a statement that petitioners would like to file a review petition before the High Court. It is not for this Court to issue any such direction. It is always open to the petitioners to pursue such remedy as may be available to them in law."

28. In rebuttal, learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents submits that the reasons assigned conferring SACP to the Medical Officers PMHS as against Medical Officers (Allopathy) is noted in the impugned order. The qualification of the Medical Officers of different streams is not comparable; the nature of duties, responsibility and treatment is entirely different; the Medical Officers of other streams, including, Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) are not engaged in Medico Legal work; further, the Medical Officers PMHS perform complicated surgery and they are not paid Non-Practising Allowance (NPA), whereas, the petitioners, Medical Officers (Ayurvedic), are allowed private practice.

29. In this backdrop, it is submitted by learned counsel for the State-respondents that to encourage the Medical Officers PMHS, the SACP Scheme was formulated in respect of a class of Medical Officers, excluding, Medical Officers of other streams. It is further submitted that the petitioners have not been discriminated against as they are entitled to ACP Scheme as is applicable to all the employees of the State Government vide Government Order dated 04.05.2010. In support of his submission reliance has been placed on the following authorities: Mewa Ram Kanojia Versus All India Institute of Medical Sciences and others, (1989) 2 SCC 235, State of Madhya Pradesh Versus R.D. Sharma and others, Manu/SC/0098/2022, Dr. Puneet Kumar Gupta and another Versus Union of India through Secy. Ministry of Health and Family and others, Writ Petition No. 738 (S/B) of 2015, S.C. Chandra and others Versus State of Jharkhand and others, (2007) 8 SCC 279.

30. The authorities relied upon by the learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents is of no assistance as the decisions pertain to the concept and principle of equal pay for equal work. It is noted therein that the principle of equal pay for equal work cannot be invoked in every kind of service, particularly, in the area of professional services.

31. The issue in the given facts is not with regard to equal pay for equal work, but the Scheme formulated for Career Progression to tide over stagnation on a post.

32. On perusal of the ACP Scheme and the relevant stipulations and conditions, therein, it is evident that the scheme offers higher pay scale/financial upgradation only to those eligible government servants who remained deprived of regular promotions. For such deprivation, they are compensated by grant of monetary benefits on purely personal basis i.e. not dependent upon the post or seniority. The financial upgradation does not amount to functional/regular promotion and does not require creation of new posts. The financial upgradation under the scheme shall be available only if no regular promotions during the prescribed periods have been availed by the government servant. In other words, the ACP Scheme is compensatory and not an incentive scheme to a class of government servants.

33. On specific query, learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents submits that the Medical Officers are inducted on the same pay scale/band and pay-grade at the entry level in the services, however, in the case of Medical Officers PMHS, different pay scale/band and pay-grade is admissible depending upon their specialization or super specialty/qualifications. The petitioners, admittedly, are not claiming equal pay for equal work or the pay scale/band and or pay-grade admissible to the specialist or super specialist. The claim of the petitioners is confined to a Scheme made applicable to a class of Medical Officers (Allopathy), excluding other Medical Officers (AYUSH).

34. The contention of the petitioners is that a class of Medical Officers, insofar as, it relates to the benefit of SACP have been discriminated against without any justification or rational, merely for the reason that they are rendering medical service in different streams of medical science. The petitioners herein have been inducted as Medical Officers and are performing duties in various AYUSH and Unani Hospitals as has been detailed in para-10 of the writ petition, which is extracted hereinbelow:

"10. That opposite party no. 1 rejected the case of petitioners as in regard of their whole cadre on the fake ground as work and responsibilities are not same and Medical Officers, Ayurvedic are not doing emergency services and surgery and Medico legal work."

35. The averments have not been denied by the State-respondents in the counter affidavit. On a bare perusal of the Government Order dated 14.11.2014, while conferring SACP, the State Government declined the Dynamic ACP applicable to the Medical Officers of the CHS, irrespective of the stream of specialization i.e. Allopathy/Ayurvedic/Unani/Dental. Whereas, SACP has been made applicable to Medical Officers PMHS and the Medical Officers of other streams i.e. AYUSH/ Dental have been kept out of the scheme.

36. On specific query, learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents admits that the Dynamic ACP has been made applicable to all the Medical Officers irrespective of their streams, but submits that the State Government is not bound to implement the Central Government Scheme in totality.

37. Concept of ACP is the tied over stagnation on a post and to grant financial upgradation to the government servants, it is not based on the concept of equal pay for equal work or the nature of duties being performed by the government servant. It is applicable across the board from Class-D employee to the highest rank officer, wherever such government servant suffers stagnation. However, an exception has been carved out for the Medical Officers, PMHS while implementing SACP, which in the opinion of the Court is discriminatory, insofar as it excludes the other Medical Officers practising medicine in different streams.

38. The ACP Scheme in general is not an incentive scheme resting upon to the nature of duty, responsibility or qualification of the government servant. The ACP Scheme, primarily, is to tide over the stagnation which a government servant, irrespective of his duty, post, pay, qualification or seniority, suffers due to stagnation on a post without earning promotion. The ACP Scheme, in the circumstances, provides for pay up-gradation to the government servant which is purely personal.

39. In this backdrop, having regard to the scope and nature of the ACP scheme, the question that arises is as to whether the Medical Officers rendering medical services in different streams can be discriminated as against Medical Officer PMHS depriving the SACP. In alternative, whether Medical Officer (Ayurvedic) are entitled to be treated at par with Medical Officer PMHS under the SACP scheme.

40. It goes without saying that the Western medicine (Allopathy) is integral to our current health care system, but so are other alternative and complementary health care modalities that are available for the people to choose. Western medicine is sometimes at a loss when it comes to treating the patients holistically. The submission of the learned State Counsel that the classification of Medical Officer (Ayurvedic) and Medical Officers PMHS is reasonable for the purposes of SACP having regard to their qualification and the nature of duties is not convincing. The classification is discriminatory and unreasonable since Medical Officers of both the segments are primarily performing the same function i.e. treating the patients. The difference is that one stream of doctors are using indigenous system of medicine and the other stream Allopathy for treating their patients. The mode of treatment, by itself does not qualify as an intelligible differentia. At the root is treatment of patients. The Medical Officers, both Ayurvedic and Allopathy render medical service to the patients and on this aspect, there is nothing to distinguish them. Treatment of patients is the core function common to the Medical Officers of different streams, therefore, no rational justification is seen to having different ACP scheme of bestowing the benefit of career progression to Medical Officers. As discussed earlier, the ACP scheme is personal to the government servant suffering stagnation and the pay upgradation does not rest upon any other consideration viz. status of post, qualification, nature of duty or seniority. The scheme is purely compensatory. In the circumstances the Medical Officers of the State cannot be discriminated against by providing different period of service to earn the benefit of career progression. Therefore, the classification on face value is discriminatory and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

41. AYUSH is an acronym for Ayurveda, Yoga and Naturopathy, Unani, Siddha and Homeopathy are the six Indian system of medicines prevalent and practised in India. A department called the departments of Indian system of medicine was created in 1995 and renamed AYUSH in 2003 with a focus to provide increased attention for the development of these systems. This was felt in order to give increased attention to these systems in the presence of a strong counterpart in the form of Allopathic system of medicine. This took a reverse turn after the initiation of National Rural Health Mission (NRHM) and the AYUSH systems were brought into the mainstream health care. NHRM introduced the concept of mainstreaming of AYUSH and revitalization of local health traditions. This concept helped in utilizing the untapped AYUSH workforce, therapeutics and the principle of management of community health problems at different levels. The envisaged objective, inter alia, was to provide choice of the treatment system to the patients and strengthen implementation of national health programs.

42. The State Government is justified in not accepting the Dynamic ACP formulated by the Central Government for its Medical Officers, instead formulated the SACP scheme falling within the realm of administrative policy. But the question is whether such a policy upon being provided can discriminate amongst different streams of medicine practiced by Medical Officers. Admittedly, the Medical Officers, irrespective of the stream of medicine (Allopathy or conventional) treat the patients which is the core underlying similarity. The comparison with regard to qualification, course of study/syllabus, nature of duty, responsibility etc. as is being pressed by the State Government to carve out a class of Medical Officers i.e. PHMS being superior to other Medical Officers is misconceived and unfounded insofar it relates to conferment of SACP. The administrative policy is invariably discriminatory in keeping the Medical Officers (Ayurvedic) and other streams out of the scheme having regard to the concept of ACP as discussed earlier.

43. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed.

44. The impugned order dated 29.03.2019, passed by the Principal Secretary, Medical and Health Department, Government of U.P., Lucknow, is hereby quashed. It is provided that the Special ACP Scheme (SACP) implemented vide Government Order dated 14 November 2014, shall be applicable to the Medical Officers of other streams also.

1. This Special Appeal by the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission is directed against a judgment and order dated August 2, 2022, allowing Writ - A No. 18091 of 2021.

2. The writ-petitioners, who are respondent nos. 1 to 4 to this Appeal, are all Ex-Servicemen, who have retired or been discharged from different positions in the Armed Forces of the Union, such as the Army or the Navy.

3. The grievance of the writ-petitioners is that they are entitled to be considered under The Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) (Amendment) Act, 2021 (for short, '2021 Act'), entitling them to a 5% reservation in the ongoing selection/ recruitment, held pursuant to Advertisement No. A-1/E-1/2021 dated February 5, 2021 to the "Combined State/ Upper Subordinate Services (PCS) Examination, 2021 and Assistant Conservator of Forest (A.C.F.)/ Range Forest Officer (R.F.O.) Services Examination - 2021" (for short, 'the PCS Examination, 2021').

4. The learned Single Judge has set out in copious detail the facts of the case, including the rival stands of the writ-petitioner-respondents (for short, 'the writ petitioners') and the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission (for short, 'the Commission'), which need not be recapitulated here, except the essentials on which the event in the cause turns.

5. Prior to the enactment of The Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) Act, 1993 (U.P. Act No. 4 of 1993) (for short, 'the 1993 Act'), reservation for Ex-Servicemen in different services of the State was governed by circulars and government orders issued by the State Government under the directions and control of the Government of India. In the days prior to enforcement of the 1993 Act, reservation for Ex-Servicemen existed in all categories of posts under the State, including Group A, B, C and D. Upon enactment and enforcement of the 1993 Act, however, there was codification of the State's Policy regarding horizontal reservation inter alia for the Ex-Servicemen. A total of 5% of vacancies at the stage of direct recruitment in favour of the Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen were reserved under Section 3(1) of the 1993 Act by virtue of Section 3(2). The inter se quota of each category was entrusted to be fixed by the State Government from time to time by notified order. The 1993 Act came into force on December 11, 1993. The 1993 Act, however, suffered an amendment vide U.P. Act No. 6 of 1997 (for short, 'the First Amendment Act'), enforced w.e.f. July 31, 1997. The First Amendment Act brought about the change that the inter se percentage of reservation to the three categories of horizontal reservation, that was left to the State Government to determine by notified order, was specified by the 1993 Act itself substituting the existing sub-Section (1) of Section 3. The First Amendment Act pro*vide*d that in posts to be filled up by direct recruitment, 2% of vacancies shall be reserved for dependents of Freedom Fighters and 1% for Ex-Servicemen.

6. A second amendment to the 1993 Act was made by U.P. Act No. 29 of 1999 and enhanced the percentage of reservation for the Ex-Servicemen within the 5% horizontal reservation quota from 1% to 2%. However, by clause (i-a) of sub-Section (1) brought in through the amendment to the existing Section 3 of the 1993 Act, it was pro*vide*d in the following terms:

"3. In section 3 of the principal Act, in sub-section (1) for clause (i) the following clauses shall be substituted, namely−

"(i) in public services and posts two per cent of vacancies for dependents of freedom fighters:

(i-a) in public services and posts other than group "A' posts or group 'B' posts on and from May 21, 1999 two per cent of vacancies, and on and from the date on which the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) (Amendment) Act, 1999 is published in the Gazette five per cent of vacancies, for Ex-servicemen;"

7. Section 5 of the 1993 Act was also amended by U.P. Act No. 29 of 1999 (for short, 'the Second Amendment Act'), providing in the following terms:

"4. In section 5 of the principal Act, for sub-section (1), the following sub-sections shall be substituted, namely:

"(1) The Provisions of this Act as amended by the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) (Amendment) Act, 1997 shall not apply to cases in which selection process has been initiated before the commencement of the said Act of 1997 and such cases shall be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of this Act as they stood before such commencement.

(1-A) The Provisions of this Act as amended by the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-servicemen) (Amendment) Act, 1999 shall not apply to cases in which selection process has been initiated before the commencement of the said Act of 1999 and such cases shall be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of this Act as they stood before such commencement.

Explanation-For the purposes of sub-sections (1) and (1-A) the selection process shall be deemed to have been initiated where, under the relevant service rules, recruitment is to be made on the basis of-

(i) written test or interview only, the written test or the interview, as the case may be, has started; or

(ii) both written test and interview, the written test has started."

8. It must be remarked that for extension of the benefit of reservation of the lesser 1% reduced by the First Amendment Act, there was an identical provision to amend Section 5 of the 1993 Act. A look at the provisions of the Second Amendment Act would show that while it enhanced the percentage of reservation for Ex-Servicemen in the Public Services and posts in connection with affairs of the State, where vacancies were to be filled by direct recruitment, from 1% to 5%, but excluded the applicability of this horizontal reservation insofar as Group A and B posts were concerned. Earlier it was applicable for posts of all categories. The other feature of seminal importance to both the First and the Second Amendment Acts is how the relative amendments would affect the ongoing recruitment at the relevant time. Both the First and the Second Amendment Acts said in unequivocal terms that the relative Amending Act shall not apply to cases, where the selection process was initiated before commencement of the Amendment Act concerned. It was also made explicit that all cases, where the selection process had been initiated before commencement of the Amendment Act concerned, such cases shall be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of the 1993 Act, as these stood immediately before the enforcement of the relevant Amendment Act. The appended explanation to the amended provisions introduced through both the First and the Second Amendment Acts to the existing provisions of Section 5 of the 1993 Act carried an explanation, also identical in terms in both the amendments. The explanation appended to the amended provisions of Section 5 stipulates when the selection process shall be deemed to have been initiated and pro*vide*s in the terms that the amended provisions of Section 5 extracted hereinabove show. In case of a recruitment made on the basis of a written test or interview alone, the written test or the interview, as the case may be, once started, would be regarded as initiation of the selection process. In cases where both written test and interview are envisaged under the Service Rules, the selection process would be regarded as initiated when the written test has started.

9. Now, by a further amendment to the 1993 Act made through U.P. Act No. 14 of 2021, which has been published in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021, the existing clause (i-a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 3 has been amended to pro*vide* as follows:

"2. In section 3 of the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) Act, 1993 in sub-section (1) for the existing clause (i-a), the following clause shall be substituted, namely:- (i-a) in public services and posts other than Group 'A' posts, on and from the date on which the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex-Servicemen) (Amendment) Act, 2021 is published in the Gazette, five, percent of vacancies for ex-servicemen."

U.P. Act No. 14 of 2021, for the sake of convenience, shall hereinafter be called as 'the Third Amendment Act'.

10. It may also be mentioned here in the passing that the Amendment Acts were preceded by ordinances to the said effect about which there is no issue in the writ petition, giving rise to this Appeal.

Advertisement No. A-1/E-1/2021 was issued by the Commission on February 5, 2021, inviting applications for recruitment to posts through the PCS Examination, 2021. (emphasis by Court)

11. The writ petitioners, who applied for recruitment through the PCS Examination, 2021, with the last date for submission of the application form being March 5, 2021, claimed that they are entitled to the benefit of reservation for Ex-Servicemen regarding Group B posts, that has been introduced by the Third Amendment Act. The Commission have denied the benefit of horizontal reservation to the writ petitioners in the category of Ex-Servicemen based on the Third Amendment Act on ground that the third amendment is expressly made effective from the date of publication of the Third Amendment Act in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021, whereas the last date for submission of the online application form was March 5, 2021. The Commission, therefore, took a stand that the writ petitioners cannot be extended the benefit of the Third Amendment Act.

12. It is the writ petitioners' case that they were informed by the Commission on August 27, 2021 through a reply sent by their Public Information Officer that the Government Order with regard to reservation for the Ex-Servicemen was issued on March 16, 2021, after the last date for submission of online application forms for the PCS Examination, 2021 i.e. March 5, 2021. As such, the amended provisions would not enure to the writ petitioners' benefits. It appears that on October 24, 2021, the writ petitioners appeared in the preliminary examination and the results of the preliminary examination were declared on December 1, 2021. The writ petitioners failed to qualify. Accordingly, the writ petitioners instituted the present writ petition some times in December, 2021, seeking extension of the benefit of the Third Amendment Act. It is, therefore, the writ petitioners' case that if they were extended the benefit under the Third Amendment Act, the PCS Examination, 2021 being one for a Group B posts, the writ petitioners, who were Ex-Servicemen, would qualify the preliminary examinations in the reservation category and get a chance to appear in the main written test. It is on this cause of action that the writ petitioners have instituted the writ petition asking for the issue of a mandamus to the Commission to implement the necessary follow-up action, in terms of the provisions of the Third Amendment Act to the ongoing selection process for the PCS Examination, 2021, insofar as it relates to the writ petitioners.

13. The Commission contested the aforesaid claim put forward by the writ petitioners and urged for a principle that the Third Amendment Act being prospective, would not apply to a case, where the last date of submission of the online application form had already gone by, when the Third Amendment Act was introduced. The Commission, therefore, contended before the learned Single Judge that the benefit of the Third Amendment Act cannot be extended to the writ petitioners. The learned Judge, however, has allowed the writ petition, quashed the decision of the Commission to deny benefit of the Third Amendment Act to the writ petitioners and issued a mandamus to re-determine the preliminary examination results, giving benefit of reservation to Ex-Servicemen on Group B and C posts. The learned Judge has further ordered that after publication of the preliminary examination results within one month, admit cards be issued for the main written examination based on the results of the preliminaries, and further, the results of the main examination be declared giving 5% reservation on Group B posts to Ex-Servicemen. Call letters for interview have been directed to be issued accordingly.

14. Aggrieved, the Commission have preferred this Appeal under Chapter VIII Rule 5 of the Rules of Court, 1952.

15. Heard Mr. Rakesh Pande, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Nipun Singh, learned Counsel on behalf of the Commission, Mr. Ajay Mishra, learned Advocate General assisted by Mr. K.R. Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State of U.P. and Mr. A.B.N. Tripathi and Mr. T. Islam, learned Advocates for the writ petitioners.

16. It is submitted by the learned Senior Advocate appearing for the Commission that the learned Single Judge has failed to take into account the fact that the last date of submission of online application form was March 5, 2021 and the Third Amendment Act came to be published in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021. As such, the provisions of reservation with regard to Group B posts for Ex-Servicemen, introduced through the Third Amendment Act, cannot enure to the writ petitioners' benefit. It is further pointed out that the writ petitioners were informed by the Commission on August 27, 2021, prior to the preliminary examination that the Third Amendment Act would not enure for their benefit, but they chose to sit the examination without challenging the action of the Commission at that stage, and once they have failed to clear the preliminary examination held on October 24, 2021, the results whereof were declared on December 1, 2021, they have brought the writ petition, giving rise to this Appeal. It is contended that the writ petitioners are estopped from challenging the result of the selections, once they have sat the preliminary examinations after due communication of the fact that the benefit of the Third Amendment Act would not be available to them.

17. It is argued that the learned Single Judge has failed to appreciate that the amendments to Section 5 of the 1993 Act, introducing amended sub-Sections (1) and (1-

A) by the First and the Second Amendments to the existing Section 5 of the 1993 Act is different from that introduced by the Third Amendment Act, inasmuch as it does not carry any explanation of the kind found in sub-Sections (1) and (1-A), introduced through the First and the Second Amendment Acts. In the absence of the decisive explanation in the Third Amendment Act, the applicability of the 1993 Act would depend on the last date mentioned in the advertisement for receipt of the application forms online. Here, the last date of application forms online was March 5, 2021, whereas the Third Amendment Act was published in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021. It is also said in criticism of the learned Single Judge's judgment that the learned Single Judge has misconstrued the notification dated March 10, 2021 as an extension of date for submission of the online application forms, whereas it was an extension of date for certain corrections to forms, already uploaded, on or before the last date fixed for receipt of the online forms. It is also urged that the learned Judge has failed to take into consideration the fact that the entire selection process has almost concluded and August 5, 2022 is the last date for interview, whereafter results would be declared. Interference with the selection process at this stage is not warranted. It is emphasized that the writ petitioners are four in number, whereas other similarly circumstanced do not object. To allow the writ petition at this stage would throw the entire selection process out of gear.

18. The learned Advocate General has supported the submissions advanced by the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the Commission.

19. On the other hand, the learned Counsel for the writ petitioners have supported the impugned order and the reasoning of the learned Single Judge.

20. Upon hearing the learned Counsel for parties, we are unable to agree on any of the counts that the learned Single Judge has found for the writ petitioners.

21. The remarks of the learned Single Judge that the last date for submission of online application forms as the determining criteria for eligibility bear reference to eligibility as such, say with reference to the essential qualifications etc., but has no bearing for the purpose of applying reservation in an ongoing recruitment appear to be based on unaccepted reasoning. The learned Judge has distinguished the decision of the Full Bench of this Court in Prashant Kumar v. State of U.P. and others, 2005 (4) E.S.C. 2395 (All) on ground that the case dealt with eligibility for persons, who were not notified as O.B.C. until the last date for filling up of the online application forms, but thereafter. It has been remarked by the learned Judge that here the writ petitioners are Ex-Servicemen and at the time of submission of the application forms, they have claimed that category for the purpose of age relaxation. It has also been remarked by the learned Judge that the last date for submission of the application forms had been extended by the Commission through a Press Release dated March 10, 2021 from the said date to March 17, 2021 and that Group B posts were included by way of the Third Amendment Act, notified on March 15, 2021. In fact, the Third Amendment Act was notified by publication in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021. It has been observed that the Third Amendment Act made the benefit applicable on and from the date of publication in the Official Gazette. It did not require any separate Government Order to make it applicable. It has then been observed by the learned Judge that the legislature had consciously avoided introducing any sub-clause to Section 5 of the 1993 Act, saving the ongoing selections as it had done on earlier occasions when the Second and Third Amendment Acts were notified. According to the learned Judge, the intention of the legislature was clear and it was the obduracy on the Commission's part in declining to extend the benefit of reservation in Group B posts to the writ petitioners under the Third Amendment Act.

22. So far as these findings of the learned Judge are concerned, we are not in agreement with them except for the remarks that the Third Amendment Act did not require a separate Government Order to be issued to make it applicable. In fact, no Government Order appears to have been issued to enforce the Act. The mention of the Government Order has figured in some communication by the Commission on account of a poor forensic understanding of their functionaries, but nothing here turns upon it.

23. The Third Amendment Act is clear in its intendment and that it is applicable from the date when it was notified in the Official Gazette. It is clearly prospective in nature; not retrospective by any principle of construction. It is a well settled principle of statutory construction that any substantive law, particularly one creating, curtailing, enlarging an existing right or providing for a new one, is deemed to be prospective, unless expressed to be retrospective. Reverse principle may apply in case of procedural laws. Here, the Third Amendment Act introduces a new right and that is provision of reservation to Ex-Servicemen on posts under the State in Group B. Earlier by the Second Amendment Act, reservation for Ex-Servicemen though increased in numerical percentage, had withdrawn it vis-a-vis Group B posts. Thus, the Third Amendment Act brought in a new right i.e. reservation in Group B posts under the State for Ex-Servicemen. A statute of this kind, creating a new right, can hardly be regarded as retrospective. Moreover, the Third Amendment Act expressly says vide clause (i-a), introduced by Section 2 of that Amendment Act, that it would be applicable from the date that the Amendment Act is published in the Gazette, granting 5% reservation to Ex-Servicemen. It is also not in dispute that the Third Amendment Act was published in the Official Gazette on March 10, 2021.

24. The general principles about the prospective operation of laws, including amendments that introduce or affect substantive rights, have been the subject matter of elucidation in Principles of Statutory Interpretation, Thirteenth Edition by Justice G.P. Singh, where on the basis of judicial authority, the learned Commentator has exposited:

RETROSPECTIVE OPERATION

(a) General principles

"(i) x x x x

(ii) Statutes dealing with substantive rights.- It is a cardinal principle of construction that every statute is prima facie prospective unless it is expressly or by necessary implication made to have retrospective operation. But the rule in general is applicable where the object of the statute is to affect vested rights or to impose new burdens or to impair existing obligations. Unless there are words in the statute sufficient to show the intention of the Legislature to affect existing rights, it is "deemed to be prospective only "nova constitutio futuris formam imponere debet non prae teritis' [2 c. Int. 392]" In the words of LORD BLANESBURG, "provisions which touch a right in existence at the passing of the statute are not to be applied retrospectively in the absence of express enactment or necessary intendment. "Every statute, it has been said", observed LOPES, L.J., "which takes away or impairs vested rights acquired under existing laws, or creates a new obligation or imposes a new duty, or attaches a new disability in respect of transactions already past, must be presumed to be intended not to have a retrospective effect". As a logical corollary of the general rule, that retrospective operation is not taken to be intended unless that intention is manifested by express words or necessary implication, there is a subordinate rule to the effect that a statute or a section in it is not to be construed so as to have larger retrospective operation than its language renders necessary. .....

"..... An amending Act is, therefore, not retrospective merely be cause it applies also to those to whom pre-amended Act was applicable if the amended Act has operation from the date of its amendment and not from an anterior date. But this does not mean that a statute which takes away or impairs any vested right acquired under existing laws or which creates a new obligation or imposes a new burden in respect of past trans actions will not be treated as retrospective. Thus to apply an amending Act, which creates a new obligation to pay additional compensation, or which reduces the rate of compensation, to pending proceedings for de termination of compensation for acquisitions already made, will be to construe it retrospective which cannot be done unless such a construction follows from express words or necessary implication. Similarly, a new law enhancing compensation payable in respect of an accident arising out of use of motor vehicle will not be applicable to accidents taking place before its enforcement and pending proceedings for assessment of compensation will not be affected by such a law unless by express words or necessary implication the new law is retrospective. It makes no difference in application of these principles that the amendment is by substitution or otherwise..."

25. One principal limb of the reasoning that the learned Judge has adopted to apply the Third Amendment Act to the ongoing selection is the conscious omission of a clause similar to sub-Sections (1) and (1-A) of Section 5, with the appended explanation as finds place in the First and the Second Amendment Acts. Those clauses, amending Section 5 of the 1993 Act, introduced through the First and the Second Amendment Acts, indicating that the relative amendments would not be applicable to the ongoing selection process and then explaining what ongoing process means, has in fact made those amendments applicable to ongoing selections that had not reached the stage of the written test or the interview, or the written test alone, as the case may be, as per the contingencies there. In more specific terms, the amendments to the changed horizontal reservation in Public Services, including those for Ex-Servicemen by the First and the Second Amendment Acts, would apply to a selection process, where the last date of receipt of application forms had gone by, but in a case where the selection was to be made through written test or interview, the written test or interview, as the case may be, had not commenced. The omission of a similar clause in the Third Amendment is not to be understood the way the learned Single Judge has done. The learned Single Judge has interpreted the omission virtually to mean that the Third Amendment would apply to cases in which the process of selection had already been initiated, the absence of a clause similar to sub-Sections (1) and (1-A) of Section 5 of the 1993 Act, relative to the Third Amendment Act, makes the Third Amendment Act prospective on its own terms.

26. The learned Single Judge has held that in the 1993 Act, by the First and the Second Amendments, the legislature has introduced a fiction, which explains when the selection process would start. In the opinion of the learned Judge, the fiction introduced by sub-Sections (1) and (1-A) to Section 5 of the 1993 Act, by the First and the Second Amendment Acts, would also apply to the substituted clause (i-a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 3 of the 1993 Act, brought in by means of the Third Amendment Act. This Court has noticed above that there is no corresponding amendment to Section 5 vis-a-vis clause (i-a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 3, as substituted by the Third Amendment Act, in the manner that the provision was introduced by amending sub-Sections (1) and (1-A) of Section 5 of the 1993 Act, through the First and the Second Amendment Acts. Therefore, the fiction about what selection process would mean for the purpose of clause (i-a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 3, substituted by the Third Amendment Act, is not at all relevant. The learned Single Judge has clearly erred in applying the provisions of sub-Sections (1) and (1-A) of Section 5 of the First and the Second Amendment Acts or the Second Amendment Act alone to the amendment brought in by the Third Amendment Act, which does not carry a corresponding clause creating a fiction about what commencement of the selection process would mean.

27. Now, the question arises, what would be the date or the point of time or the event, when the amendment would become applicable on a prospective basis.

28. The learned Single Judge has taken note of the decision of the Supreme Court in Shankar K. Mandal and others v. State of Bihar and others, (2003) 9 SCC 519, where it has been held:

"5. ..... What happens when a cut-off date is fixed for fulfilling the prescribed qualification relating to age by a candidate for appointment and the effect of any non-prescription has been considered by this Court in several cases. The principles culled out from the decisions of this Court (see Ashok Kumar Sharma v. Chander Shekhar [(1997) 4 SCC 18 : 1997 SCC (L&S) 913] , Bhupinderpal Singh v. State of Punjab [(2000) 5 SCC 262 : 2000 SCC (L&S) 639] and Jasbir Rani v. State of Punjab [(2002) 1 SCC 124 : 2002 SCC (L&S) 107]) are as follows:

(1) The cut-off date by reference to which the eligibility requirement must be satisfied by the candidate seeking a public employment is the date appointed by the relevant service rules.

(2) If there is no cut-off date appointed by the rules then such date shall be as appointed for the purpose in the advertisement calling for applications.

(3) If there is no such date appointed then the eligibility criteria shall be applied by reference to the last date appointed by which the applications were to be received by the competent authority."

29. There are remarks by the learned Single Judge, particularly in Paragraph No. 22 of the impugned judgment that show that the principles in Shankar K. Mandal (supra) had not been held applicable because the learned Judge has thought that the principles in Shankar K. Mandal are referable to eligibility of a candidate with reference to his/ her educational qualifications etc. These principles do not apply to the case of reservation.

30. The decision of the Full Bench in Prashant Kumar (supra) had the following question for consideration before their Lordships:

"At what stage the caste of a candidate should be entered in the Schedule-I of the U.P. Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994 for him to get benefit as an O.B.C. candidate. Should it be before the notification/advertisement of the selections, or the written test, or the oral test (in case of oral test only), or the declaration of the result?"

31. It was answered in the following terms:

"30. We consequently answer the question as follows:

"The benefit of reservation to "Other Backward Class' candidates in selection in Public Services by direct recruitment as pro*vide*d by U.P. Public Service (Reservation for Scheduled Caste/Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Class) Act, 1994, is applicable, to only those categories or castes which are notified as Other Backward Classes entered in Schedule-I of the Act, upto the last date of filling up of the application form for such selections, pro*vide*d there is no contrary provision in the Service Rules, the terms and conditions of recruitment, or in the advertisement.""

32. The decision of the Full Bench also pegs down the date of eligibility to the last date for the filing of the application form. The decisions that indicate the last date of submission of application forms to be the date by which the eligibility qualification for declaration of a reservation category must come into existence, would also apply on principle to the present case. Here, what is sought in substance is a reservation category, may be horizontal, that was not available to the writ petitioners until the last date of submission of their application forms. It became available under the Third Amendment Act w.e.f. the date it was published in the Official Gazette i.e. March 10, 2021. The last date for submission of the application forms was clearly March 5, 2021. On principle, therefore, the eligibility under the Third Amendment Act has to be judged with reference to the last date for submission of the application forms for the PCS Examination, 2021.

33. The learned Single Judge has also held that the last date of submission of the application forms must be deemed to be extended until March 17, 2021, because a perusal of the Press Release dated March 10, 2021 shows that the Portal of the Commission remained open for making modification/ corrections to application forms submitted by candidates. It has been opined that if the Commission was careful enough, it could have extended the benefit of reservation in Group B posts to the writ petitioners in terms of the Third Amendment Act, that was published in the gazette on March 10, 2021, inasmuch as the amendment was made applicable on and from the date of its publication in the Official Gazette. We do not agree. A perusal of the Press Note dated March 10, 2021 indicates that the Commission have clearly mentioned therein that it has received application forms from candidates for the PCS Examination, 2021 in response to the advertisement dated February 5, 2021 by the last date fixed i.e. March 5, 2021. It is then said that in some cases, mistakes about the photographs or in the signatures of the candidates made, have been found, the information regarding which has been posted on the Commission's website. The Notification/ Press Note then goes on to say that the candidates who have uploaded their application forms carrying defects relating to their photographs or signatures, would have last opportunity between March 10, 2021 and March 17, 2021, to upload their correct photographs and signatures. Thereafter, there would be no further opportunity.

34. The said Notification/ Press Note dated March 10, 2021, in our opinion, has been patently misconstrued by the learned Single Judge to be an extension of the last date for receipt of the application forms for the PCS Examination, 2021. It is no more than extension of a limited facility to those candidates, who had applied by the last date fixed i.e. March 5, 2021, but had some errors or discrepancy about their uploaded photographs or signatures, to rectify those errors. There was no extension of the last date for submission of the application form. Contrary to the opinion of the learned Single Judge, we think that the Notification/ Press Note dated March 10, 2021 reinforces the position that the last date for receipt of the application forms from eligible candidates was March 5, 2021.

35. Having found the legal position obtaining in the case that the rule about the date by which eligibility under the Third Amendment Act has to be considered is the last date, on which the application forms for the examination in question have to be submitted, the benefit of the Third Amendment Act, which came into force after the last date for receipt of application forms for the PCS Examination, 2021, would not enure to the writ petitioners' benefit.

36. So far as the application of the principle of estoppel after sitting the examination is concerned, the learned Single Judge has discarded it for reason that it would not be applicable to a case, where it is a question of discrimination based on misapplication of the Rules. We do not disagree with that part of the reasoning of the learned Judge, but the same would be of no consequence in view of the other findings of ours in this judgment.

37. In the result, this Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated August 2, 2022 passed by the learned Single Judge is set aside and the writ petition stands dismissed.

Civil Law – Constitution of India - Article - 226, - U.P. Urban Building Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction Act, 1972 - Section - 21(1)(a) - Transfer of Property Act,1882 - Section - 107 - Tenant's Petition - challenging impugned order of release & eviction - Question of comparative hardship - Landlord moved application for release & eviction of demised shop on the ground of bona fide needs - tenant's case that she has constantly made efforts to secure another shop on rent, but remained unsuccessful which has not been considered - eviction of tenant would certainly involve some hardship - but where the landlord's bona-fide need is established, the tenant's interest has to yield on the scale of comparative hardship - landlord cannot be deprived of the gainful use of his own premises - Court finds that, both of Courts of fact below have found the case of Landlord established on issue of bona-fide need and comparative hardship - it is not for this court to interfere with those findings of fact, merely because a different view, even a better one, is possible - petition fails and is dismissed - directions issued for vacating the demised shop accordingly.(Para – 34, 35, 37, 39, 40)

Writ Petition is dismissed. (E-11)

1. This is a tenant's writ petition, challenging an order of release and eviction under Section 21(1)(a) of The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972) (for short, "the Act') passed concurrently by the two Authorities below.

2. Shyam Sundar Gupta moved an application for release and eviction under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act before the Prescribed Authority (Civil Judge, Sr. Div., Shahjahanpur), seeking release of the shop, detailed at the foot of the application and currently in the tenancy occupation of Smt. Kusum Lata, the petitioner. The application was moved by Shyam Sundar Gupta, hereinafter referred to as 'the landlord' with a case that the shop, subject matter of proceedings (for short, 'the demised shop') was exclusively owned by the landlord. The demised shop had fallen to the landlord's share in a family settlement on 24.04.1998, a fact admitted to Smt. Kusum Lata. Smt. Kusum Lata has, later on in proceedings before the Courts below, been referred to as Smt. Kusum Gupta. It is clarified that Smt. Kusum Lata and Smt. Kusum Gupta are one and the same person. For the sake of convenience, Smt. Kusum Gupta shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the tenant'.

3. It is the landlord's case that the tenant is in occupation of the demised shop at a monthly rent of Rs.800/- since 27.11.1987. The landlord's father, Radhey Shyam Gupta had executed a registered lease dated 27.11.1987 in the tenant's favour, letting out the demised shop for a term of ten years with a stipulation that at the end of every ten years, if the term of the tenancy is enlarged, there would be an escalation in rent for the next ten years by 10% automatically. The landlord's father passed away in the year 1997 and the landlord, in the events to follow, did not renew or extend the lease. In consequence, the term of the lease has not been renewed and the tenancy has outlived its life. It is no longer current. It was also pleaded by the landlord that the demised shop was constructed, admittedly prior to the year 1987 and is, accordingly, governed by the provisions of the Act. The landlord is employed with the Ordnance Factory at Shahjahanpur and scheduled to retire on 30.06.2011. He is serving on the post of Inspector (Tailoring). The landlord asserted that post retirement, he would estimatedly draw a pension of Rs.5000/- per mensem. During service, the landlord has drawn excessively from his Provident Fund to meet contingent expenditure, according to requirements of the family. The said withdrawal has been made in advance. Likewise, the residue of the landlord's gratuity is a negligible sum. Upon his retirement, the landlord requires the demised shop to keep himself busy, augment his income to secure himself against age-related ailments, to earn money for defraying the expenses of his daughter's wedding, and above all, to settle his younger son in business, where there is tough competition to face. It is on all the above counts that the landlord needs the demised shop bona fide.

4. The landlord has, in his family, besides himself, his aged mother, his wife Smt. Vijay Laxmi, two sons Saurabh Gupta and Tushar Gupta and a daughter Km. Shweta Gupta. The landlord's wife is a teacher at the Baba Vishwanath Junior High School, Town Hall Road, Shahjahanpur on a monthly salary of Rs.5000/-. The elder son Saurabh Gupta is a Public Relations Officer with the Bajaj Allianz and posted at NOIDA. He is a married man, who receives a total monthly salary of Rs.18,000/-. He resides with his wife at NOIDA. Given the dearness in the present times, he does not extend any financial help to the landlord nor is he capable of doing that. The landlord's other son, Tushar Gupta has passed his Intermediate Examination and after retirement, the landlord would not be in a position to educate his son further. Accordingly, he needs the demised shop to enable his son to be by his side in order to establish and run a shop, dealing in cosmetics, clothes, saaris, branded shirts, trousers etc. The landlord's daughter is aged 24 years and has done her graduation. She can well take care of the household and the landlord bears the responsibility of arranging her marriage. After retirement, the landlord would be without livelihood. He has no such member in the family domiciled at Shahjahanpur, whom the landlord may look up to in times of need and one who could provide for the landlord or his family or help them in any manner. In the circumstances, the only option available to the landlord is to seek release of the demised shop and establish his own shop therein, which would enable the landlord to stay active until he lives in the mortal world, and at the same time, marry off his daughter. It would also help him ensure that his son Tushar Gupta becomes proficient in business. It is the landlord's assertion that there is no other shop, besides the demised shop to establish himself and his son in business.

5. By contrast, it is said for the tenant that he has two daughters, both of whom have received higher education in Ghaziabad and are in receipt of handsome emoluments. They are settled at Delhi. The tenant's son, Amit, who was married recently, owns a number of tankers that he not only leases out for transportation, but also uses them to carry his own goods for trade in those tankers. The tenant's relationship with her son is not cordial. In the event, the tenant vacates the demised shop, she would not suffer any hardship. Her husband Ashok Kumar is engaged in the business of a cloth merchant and earlier, would trade in gold biscuits that he bought in Bombay and sold off in Shahjahanpur. The balance of comparative hardship lies in favour of the landlord. It was also pleaded by the landlord that the tenant keeps indifferent schedule and opens shop once in a while during the course of a week or two. In case the tenant vacates the demised shop, she would not suffer any injury. She can easily shift business to another premises, whereas the landlord has no other alternative arrangement. It would be very inappropriate if the landlord establishes his shop taking the premises on rent though he has his own. At a distance of 200 yards from the demised shop, which is located in the Sadar Bazar, Shahjahanpur, is the shop of one Krishna Gopal. The said shop is a big one and located on the roadside. It is situate in Mohalla Sadar Bazar, opposite the Arya Mahila Degree College. The said shop is available on rent and also up for sale. The entire circumstances, including how Krishna Gopal's business in the said shop has come to an end, have been pleaded by the landlord, as also the fact that the shop available on rent, and otherwise lying closed. It is on the basis of these averments that the landlord asked the demised shop to be released.

6. The tenant put in his written statement and admitted the execution of the lease deed dated 27.11.1987 and the terms thereof. The fact, that the Act applies, is also admitted to the tenant. In the additional pleas, it is the tenant's case that she entered the demised shop as a tenant on a monthly rent of Rs.800/- through the registered lease deed dated 27.11.1987, executed by Radhey Shyam Gupta. According to the covenants in the lease, the term is ten years, whereafter it is extendable by ten years, that is to say, up to the year 2007. It is also provided in the lease that after the first extension of ten years, a further extension of another ten years can be done, which would secure the lease up to the year 2017. Thereafter, the tenancy could continue by consent of parties. As such, the tenant's case is that given the terms of the lease, the landlord is not entitled to institute the present proceedings for release, which are premature and, therefore, not maintainable. The lease has not expired by efflux of time. The application for release has been instituted contrary to terms of the lease. The case is barred by the principle of estoppel and acquiescence. According to the tenant, the landlord is bent upon evicting the tenant by stating falsehood and thereby extinguish her source of livelihood. In order to fulfill the aforesaid wish of his, the landlord served a notice dated 22.12.1997, that was replied to by the tenant. This was followed by a notice served by the landlord himself. It was absolutely baseless and demanded of the tenant to vacate the demised shop, besides raising an illegal demand of rent etc. A suit for eviction was instituted in the Court of the Judge, Small Cause being S.C.C. Suit No. 14 of 1999, seeking the tenant's eviction. The said suit was tried and dismissed by the Trial Judge vide judgment and decree dated 25.05.2011.

7. It is tenant's case that the aforesaid facts show that it is the landlord's desire to evict the tenant, which has not been fulfilled so far. The case is said to be barred by res judicata as well. The landlord draws a monthly pension of Rs.35,000/-. He has received a lavish sum of money towards Provident Fund, Gratuity and Group Insurance. The landlord's wife is a Headmistress. She draws a salary of Rs.40,000/- per month. The elder son Saurabh Gupta is employed with the Bajaj Allianz at NOIDA, drawing a monthly sum of Rs.50,000/-. His wife is also in service and earns a salary of Rs.30,000/- per month. The younger son Tushar Gupta, whose need has been pleaded by the landlord alongside his own, after doing his graduation, is preparing to write the examinations for selection to the Indian Administrative Service or the Provincial Civil Service. He has his interest in education; not in trade or business. He wants to become an Officer. The landlord's daughter is already married. The landlord is leading a luxurious life and has no need for the demised shop to establish his business. Also, the landlord is not capable of doing business, of which he has no experience. He has never been detailed by the Ordnance Factory on jobs of sale and purchase of clothes. The case that the landlord has made out is a device to evict the tenant. Thereafter, he would let out the shop on rent after charging a big premium. The landlord's son is not unemployed and his need neither genuine nor bona fide. In the event the demised shop is not vacated, the landlord would not face any difficulty. By contrast, if the tenant is evicted, she would suffer great hardship. The business housed in the demised shop is the only source of livelihood for the tenant and members of her family. The tenant and her family, if evicted, would be reduced to penury. They would suffer greater hardship in comparison to the landlord.

8. The tenant has earned goodwill at the place, that is to say, the demised shop, where she has been doing business. Her husband has been assisting her in the venture. He has no business of his own. The landlord's assertions, to the contrary, are incorrect. There is no other shop close by or in the vicinity, that can be secured on rent by the tenant. The shop, which the landlord says belongs to Krishna Gopal and claimed to be available on rent, is not being offered for rent; or even for sale. The tenant has searched for a shop in the entire Bazar, but could find none. The landlord owns other shops that are in his possession and if he wants to set up business, he can utilize one of those shops. It is also pleaded that none of the tenant's daughters have received education in Ghaziabad. Both of them have read in Sudama Prasad Bal Vidya Mandir, Shahjahanpur and one of them has passed her Intermediate, whereas the other has appeared in the examination privately. The younger daughter of the tenant is married. The elder is yet to marry. The tenant's son is engaged in the job selling building material at Bareilly (Ret-Bajari). He does not own tankers, nor does he offer them on rent for transportation. He is financially not well off. It has been admitted that the relationship of the tenant and her son is not cordial. He is not in possession of the tenant's house or any part of it, as claimed. The tenant has asked on these pleadings that the landlord's application for release be dismissed.

9. The landlord in support of his case filed by way of documentary evidence, a photostat copy of the memorandum of family settlement and photostat copy of the map annexed to the memorandum dated 24.04.1998. These bear Paper Nos. 33 and 32, respectively. Further, an affidavit was filed by the landlord, Shyam Sundar Gupta in support of his case for release bearing Paper No. 33B, another affidavit by PW-2

Manoj Kumar, Paper No. 33C, still another by Shiv Prasad Gupta PW-3, Paper No. 33D and an affidavit of PW-4 Jagdish Prasad, Paper No. 33E. Shyam Sundar Gupta also filed his counter affidavit, bearing Paper No. 92 and an affidavit of Tushar Gupta, his son, Paper No. 94.

10. The tenant filed her own affidavit, bearing Paper No. 77, besides that of Ashok Kumar Gupta, Paper No. 85 and that of Alok Kumar, Paper No. 86. In addition, affidavit of one Vinod Kumar Singh Tanwar was also filed, Paper No. 87. Ashok Kumar Gupta also filed a counter affidavit, bearing Paper No. 96.

11. The Prescribed Authority framed the followings issues (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the applicant's case is premature?

(2) Whether there is relationship of landlord and tenant between parties?

(3) The issue of bona fide need.

(4) The balance of comparative hardship/ if in the event of release of the demised shop (or refusal), which party would suffer greater hardship?

12. The Prescribed Authority held that the release application was not premature, because on the date it came up for determination, the period of lease that could be the maximum extension, that is to say, up to 27.11.2017, was over. About the relationship of landlord and tenant between parties, it was held in favour of the landlord on the tenant's admission. The issue of bona fide need was answered for the landlord upon evaluation of evidence led by both sides and so was the comparative hardship. The release application was allowed by the Prescribed Authority vide judgment and order dated 18.04.2018, ordering the tenant to deliver possession of the demised shop to the landlord within three months, failing which the landlord would have the right to recover the same through process of Court. This order carried the usual direction to the landlord to pay two years' rent within 45 days to the tenant. The order passed by the Prescribed Authority was questioned in appeal under Section 22 of the Act, which was rather unconventionally nomenclatured as a Civil Appeal, before the Court of the District Judge, Shahjahanpur. It was assigned Civil Appeal No. 33 of 2018 and heard by the District Judge, sitting as the Appellate Authority under the Act. The District Judge, by her judgment and order impugned dated 24.12.2018, dismissed the appeal and affirmed the order passed by the Prescribed Authority.

13. Dissatisfied with the orders of release passed by the two Courts below, the tenant has instituted the present writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution.

14. Notice pending admission was issued on 12.03.2019 and stay of eviction was granted on the condition of deposit of rent/ damages at the rate of Rs. 5000/- per month with effect from the month of March, 2019. Pending admission, parties have exchanged affidavits. Later on, the petition was formally admitted to hearing, which proceeded forthwith and judgment was reserved.

15. Heard Mr. Kshitij Shailendra, learned Counsel for the tenant and Mr. Utpal Chaterjee, Advocate along with Mr. Shireesh Gopesh, Advocate, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the landlord.

16. Mr. Kshitij Shailendra, learned Counsel for the tenant has extensively argued on the issue that the release application was premature when made, because the term of the lease had not come to an end by that time. He further submits that it was not stricto sensu a lease for a fixed term, since it carried an initial term of ten years, renewable for another ten years twice, at the expiration of the initial period of lease or the term first extended. This submission the learned Counsel for the tenant has come up with in the context of the provisions of Section 21(4) of the Act, which read:

"Section 21. Proceedings for release of building under occupation of tenant.- (1) x x x x

(2) x x x x

(3) x x x x

(4) An order under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1-A) or sub-section (2), may be made notwithstanding that the tenancy has not been determined:

Provided that no such order shall be made in the case of a tenancy created for a fixed term by a registered lease before the expiry of such term.

....."

(Emphasis by Court)

17. It is submitted by the learned Counsel for the tenant that the landlord instituted proceedings for release, moving the application before the Prescribed Authority in the month of April, 2011. The registered lease was executed on 27.11.1987 with a right to the tenant to ask for extension for a period of ten years after the initial term was over and a further right to again ask for a ten years' renewal, when the first extension was over. The lease would, thus, come to an end not before 26.11.2017. It is submitted that the Courts below have misconstrued the terms of the registered lease, particularly the Appellate Court, when it has remarked that the lease expired in the year 2007 and the release application was filed after that date. This is contrary to the terms of the lease deed as well as the admission of the landlord, where he says that the period of lease expired on 26.11.2017. The attention of the Court in this connection was invited to the landlord's counter affidavit, Paper No. 92C, where in Paragraph No. 9, the landlord has averred that the lease deed dated 27.11.1987 was for a fixed period of ten years, renewable twice, each for a period of ten years, and, accordingly, on 26.11.2017, the tenancy would come to an end by efflux of time.

18. The learned Counsel for the tenant has, on this point also, criticized the judgment of the Prescribed Authority in that, that she placed reliance upon the decision of this Court in Manorama Dubey vs. Dr. Santosh Kumar Khanna and others, 2017 (3) ARC 468 regarding the term of tenancy and a fortiori the prematurity of action. It is urged that the said judgment is not at all applicable here, because that was a case of subsequent purchase and the necessity of notice by the subsequent purchaser in terms of the first proviso to Section 21.

19. The learned Counsel for the landlord, on the other hand, has submitted that the period of tenancy/ lease fixed by the registered sale deed dated 27.11.1987 was a term of ten years, extendable twice for the same period, that is to say, a total period of 30 years, with the consent of the landlord alone. It is urged that Radhey Shyam Gupta, the landlord's father, who had let out the demised shop passed away on 22.12.1997. After family settlement, the demised shop fell to the landlord's share. He has been attorned as the landlord by the tenant. It is urged that right from the year 1997 till date, the landlord has never consented to the extension of the tenancy in accordance with the registered lease deed. In this connection, Mr. Utpal Chaterjee has drawn the Court's attention to Clause 2 of the lease at Page 90 of the paper-book and submits that there is no evidence about the two further renewals for ten years, in terms of the covenant for renewal carried in the registered lease deed. As such, the term of the lease expired on 26.11.1987 and the release application moved in the year 2011, is not premature at all.

20. This Court has carefully considered the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel appearing for both parties, perused the lease deed, in particular, and the record.

21. In order to appreciate the contention of the parties, the terms of demise made through the registered lease deed dated 27.11.1987 and Clause 2 of the lessee's covenants, including Clause 5 of the lessor's covenants must be referred to. These read:

"THIS INDENTURE made at Shahjahanpur, this 26th day of November One Thousand Nine Hundred and Eight Seven between Sri Radhey Shyam Gupta S/o Late Shyam Lal Gupta, resident of Mohalla Sadar Bazar, Shahjahanpur hereinafter called "The Lessor" (which expression shall shall unless it be repugnant to the context or meaning thereof deemed to include his respective heirs and executors) of the FIRST PART; and Srimati Kusum Gupta W/o Sri Ashok Kumar R/o Moh. Bahadurganj, District Shahjahanpur, hereinafter called "The Lessee" (which express shall unless it be repugnant to the context or meaning thereof be deemed to include her heirs and executors) of the OTHER PART. Witnesseth that for and on the consideration of rent hereinafter reserved and of the convenant and conditions hereinafter contained and on the part of the Lessee to be paid, observed and performed the Lessor to do hereby demise and lease unto the Lessee a portion of the ground-floor of the residential building on the Eastern Side, hereinafter called "the premises" measuring 327.42 sq. ft. (15'-10.5"x20'-5") more or less for the purpose of shop bounded as under situated in Bazar-Sadar Bazar, Shahjahanpur and of which the Lessee will be in occupation TO HAVE AND TO HOLD the said demised or expressed so to be unto the Lessor for the term of ten years YIELDING AND PAYING therefor during the said term unto the Lessee, the clear monthly rent of Rs.800/- only (Rupees Eight Hundred Only) to be paid monthly from the date of handing over possession of the premises intended to be leased to the Lessee, i.e. 27 Nov. 1987 after the execution of these presents.

THE LESSEE'S CONVENANTS

1- x x x x

2- The Lessee will have option to renew the said lease for a further period upto the extent of another ten years at the enhanced rent of 10% and upon the same terms and conditions. The Lessee may further opt to renew the lease for another period of next ten years at a further enhanced rent of 10% on the rent prevailing at the time of expiry of the schedule lease and upon the same terms and conditions, except the clause for further renewal and to this condition the Lessor will not be entitled to object in any case;"

THE LESSOR'S CONVENANTS

5- The Lessor shall grant renewal of the said lease by mutual consent or otherwise for a further period of ten years and so on the terms and conditions as mentioned in para No.2 of this lease the Lessee's convenants as aforesaid mentioned."

22. A conjoint perusal of the terms of the demise, initially created by the registered lease deed and the relevant covenants in the deed, in this Court's opinion, make the time period of the tenancy patent. The registered lease deed creates a fixed term lease for a period of ten years w.e.f. 27.11.1987. Upon its own term, it would come to an end on 26.11.1997. Clause 2 of the lessee's covenants and the corresponding Clause 5 of the lessor's covenants, empower the lessee to demand extension of the lease twice for a period of ten years; first on the expiry of the initial term; and, second, on the expiry of the extended term of ten years. A close reading of Clause 2 of the lessee's covenant shows that the lessee has a right to seek extension, which the lessor by virtue of Clause 5 of his covenants is bound to extend, because the words "mutual consent' occurring in the lessor's covenant in Clause 5 is followed by 'or otherwise' and goes on to say that the renewal is to be made on the terms and conditions as mentioned in Clause 2. Clause 2 gives an option to the lessee to ask for renewal, which does not appear upon any construction of the terms to admit of a right of refusal by the lessor. The consequence is that the registered lease deed dated 27.11.1987 is indeed a fixed term lease, carrying a covenant for renewal in the terms indicated.

23. The legal position about a covenant for renewal, which the lessee is entitled to have as a matter of right, does not mean that on the expiry of the initial term of the lease fixed, the renewal comes by ipso facto. Even if the lessor is bound to grant renewal on the lessee's demand or option, that renewal has to be granted in accordance with law. Since it is a case of a lease for a term exceeding one year, like the lease originally made in terms of the lease deed dated 27.11.1987, the deed of renewal of lease for the next ten years also has to be one made by a registered instrument. This is the inescapable conclusion upon a reading of the terms of Section 107 of the Transfer of Property Act, which say:

"107. Leases how made.-- A lease of immoveable property from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year, or reserving a yearly rent, can be made only by a registered instrument.

All other leases of immoveable property may be made either by a registered instrument or by oral agreement accompanied by delivery of possession.

Where a lease of immoveable property is made by a registered instrument, such instrument or, where there are more instruments than one, each such instrument shall be executed by both the lessor and the lessee:

Provided that the State Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that leases of immoveable property, other than leases from year to year, or for any term exceeding one year, or reserving a yearly rent, or any class of such leases, may be made by unregistered instrument or by oral agreement without delivery of possession."

24. This Court, in the view that we take, holds that a covenant in the lease deed providing for renewal does not ipso facto extend the term of the lease. The view that we take has the assurance of the holding of the Supreme Court in Syed Sugara Zaidi vs. Laeeq Ahmad (Dead) through LRs and others, (2018) 2 SCC 21. In Syed Sugara Zaidi (supra), it has been held by their Lordships:

"14. The term in the lease agreement for renewal of lease deed does not ipso facto extend the tenure or term of the lease. So far as the clause for renewal in the lease deed is concerned, it was held in DDA v. Durga Chand Kaushish [DDA v. Durga Chand Kaushish, (1973) 2 SCC 825] that such covenant only entitled a lessee to obtain a fresh lease in accordance with and in due satisfaction of the law governing the making of leases. In the absence of renewal of rent agreement, in our considered view, the possession of the respondent-tenants in the demised premises has become unlawful and they are liable to be evicted."

25. There is another feature about the covenant of renewal in this case. It provides for an automatic escalation of rent by 10% of the monthly rent payable on each event of renewal. There is nothing on record to show that rent was ever enhanced from that initially fixed in the sum of Rs.800/- per month; and even if it was, there is no evidence to show that there was ever executed a deed of renewal of lease for a further term of ten years in terms of the covenant for renewal. This Court is, therefore, of opinion that the term of the registered lease deed dated 27.11.1987 expired on 26.11.1997. There was no renewal of the lease made in accordance with law, even though the tenant had a right to claim it and the landlord was bound to grant it in terms of the covenants of the lessor and the lessee, carried in the registered lease deed. The term of the lease deed, thus, came to an end on 26.11.1997. Under the general law, the tenant would then continue as a tenant at sufferance and since the Act applies, she would be a statutory tenant under it. There is, thus, no force in the contention of the learned Counsel for the tenant that the release application was premature. For reasons, very different than those that have weighed with the Courts below, this Court concurs in the conclusion reached on the aforesaid issue by them.

26. The next point to be considered is whether the findings of the two Courts below on the issue of the bona fide need of the landlord is vitiated on account of perversity, manifest illegality or non-consideration of material evidence.

27. It is submitted by the learned Counsel for the tenant that the findings recorded by the Courts below on the issue of bona fide need are perverse and it is a case where the landlord had not approached the Prescribed Authority with clean hands. It is urged that his claim was based upon gross concealment of facts, particularly with respect to his status, availability of heavy funds with him, his monthly income, income and status of his sons and wife, as well as the existence of two shops, located to the west of his residential premises, that form part of the same building, that houses his residence. It is submitted that these shops were let out by the landlord after his retirement. Learned Counsel for the landlord has refuted the aforesaid submissions and said that it is up to the landlord to decide, which of the tenanted accommodation that he owns, he wishes to be released for the fulfillment of his bona fide need.

28. Upon hearing learned Counsel and perusing the impugned judgments as well as the records, what this Court finds is that the primary inquiry to be made on the question of bona fide need is to determine whether the need set up by the landlord is an existing need for himself or a member of his family. The need that has been set up here is for the landlord himself and his unemployed son, Tushar to set up a retail outlet dealing in clothes, cosmetics etc. The landlord's need that has been made the basis of the case for release is that post retirement, he needs an occupation for himself to keep himself busy and further for the augmentation of his income. The coupled need for his son is to establish the young man in business, training him along the way so that it becomes an independent source of livelihood for him. Now, neither of the two needs, under the circumstances, can be said to be unreasonable or fanciful. The Courts below have found that the landlord's son, Tushar has earned his M.Com. decree, pending proceedings and what appears is that when proceedings commenced before the Prescribed Authority, Tushar had passed his intermediate. By the time, proceedings before the Authority of first instance reached terminus, Tushar had passed his M.Com. The Courts below have not found Tushar to be engaged in any gainful and stable employment. According to the tenant's case also, Tushar, after passing his M.Com., is engaged in offering tuitions and coaching, that yields him Rs. 40,000/- per month. Tuition and coaching sans evidence of proceeds from that pursuit, is the most flimsy pretext to show an educated man or woman to be gainfully employed. The Courts below have not believed this engagement of Tushar to be gainful or yielding or even existing. There is no reason for this Court to take a contrary view in the absence of some material evidence that the Courts below have omitted to consider on this point. The landlord can certainly seek release of any premises that he owns, in the occupation of a tenant, to settle an adult member of his family in business, trade, occupation or profession, utilizing the tenanted accommodation. The need for provision of occupation to an adult member of the landlord's family is a good ground to support a case of bona fide need, urged by the landlord under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in Dr. K. Gopal vs. Smt. Sudarshan Devi Bhatia, 2012 (92) ALR 364, where it has been held:

"56. It is not possible to accept this submission of learned counsel for the petitioner. It is no doubt true that the husband and the two sons of the landlady are engaged in the business of silver ornaments from the house situated at Kali Thatheran Chowk Bazar, Mathura, but the documents on record filed by the parties indicate that the business was being run in the name of the elder son of the landlady. The landlady had filed the application for release of the disputed shop as she wanted to establish her younger son Pankaj in independent business. It cannot be said that such a need is not a bonafide need even if Pankaj was actually assisting his father and his brother in the business from the residential house. This is what has been observed by the Supreme Court in Akhileshwar Kumar v. Mustaqim, AIR 2003 SC 532 which has been relied by the Appellate Court and the observations are:-

"3. In our opinion, the approach adopted by the High Court cannot be countenanced and has occasioned a failure of justice. Overwhelming evidence is available to show that the plaintiff No. 1 is sitting idle, without any adequate commercial activity available to him so as to gainfully employ him. The plaintiff No. 1 and his father both have deposed to this fact. Simply because the plaintiff No. 1 is provisionally assisting his father in their family business, it does not mean that he should never start his own independent business. What the High Court has overlooked is the evidence to the effect, relied on by the trial Court too, that the husband of plaintiff No. 4, i.e. son-in-law of Ram Chandra Sao, was assisting the latter in his business and there was little left to be done by the three sons."

29. To the same effect is the holding of this Court in Kishore Kumar Chaurasia vs. Durga Devi, 2016 (2) ARC 642 and that of the Uttarakhand High Court in Gyan Prakash vs. Ram Kumar Goyal, 2017 (1) ARC 413.

30. The other limb, on which the case of bona fide need is urged by the landlord, is about his own occupation and augmentation of income. There is no doubt about it that the landlord is a retired government servant and merely because he is enjoying a pension or has received post-retirement funds, is no ground to deny him the benefit of seeking augmentation of his income or finding for himself an occupation to keep himself busy. The said requirement of the landlord's is also one that validly supports a case of bona fide need. The view that the Courts have taken on the issue of bona fide need is one that is a reasonable inference on facts and evidence, bearing in mind the law applicable.

31. The other aspect emphasized by the learned Counsel for the tenant is that the the landlord has two shops to the west of his residential premises, that were not disclosed in the release application and which he let out after his retirement. The Courts below, particularly, the Appellate Court has taken note of the fact that it took the tenant a long period of time to file a written statement- a period of about four years. The Appellate Court has noticed that the tenant in her affidavit has deposed that the landlord has suppressed the fact from the Court that to the west of his house, there are two shops. It is remarked that though the tenant and her husband have said in their affidavits that the two shops to the west of the landlord's house have been recently constructed, the two photographs of these shops annexed, showing a jeweller and courier company housed there, indicate the shops to be quite small. The fact that the shops are small is a finding of fact recorded by the Appellate Court on the basis of material placed on record by the tenant. The tenant has not brought on record the precise dimensions of these shops to rebut the Court's impression about the shops being small.

32. It has also been remarked that considering that the shops have been recently constructed, the time when the landlord moved the release application, these shops would not have been in existence. The precise date of construction of the shops or whether the shops were in existence at the time when the application was presented, does not appear to be there on record. The Appellate Court has concluded that when the release application was filed, the landlord had no other shop. This Court must observe that whether the shops were in existence before the release application was filed or these were subsequently constructed and let out during release proceedings, the Courts of fact below have opined that the shops to the west of the landlord's premises appear to be small. The landlord has a right to use his resources and raise constructions on his premises that might yield him rent to augment his income, particularly after retirement. It does not mean that the landlord has no need for the demised shop to house his proposed business, which he intends to establish along with his son. The two shops, already let out or subsequently constructed and let out during proceedings, in the landlord's judgment might not be suitable for him. The landlord cannot be asked or directed to satisfy his requirement, which is otherwise well established on record by utilizing a particular part of the premises, that is vacant with him or let out to another tenant. It is well settled that the landlord is the master of his requirement that he has established before the Court. The landlord led evidence and established that he does need the demised shop in order to set up business for himself and his son, retailing in clothes, cosmetics etc. The Courts below have concurrently accepted on valid premises the landlord's case of bona fide need.

33. The learned Counsel for the tenant has further submitted that the Courts below have not considered the case of partial release, that was urged before the them. In this connection, this Court has carefully looked into the impugned judgments. The Appellate Court has specifically noticed the tenant's case for partial release, which is to the effect that some part of the demised shop, which admeasures 16'x21', abutting the landlord's residential premises on the western side, can be utilized by taking some area out of it and some out of the landlord's house to construct a shop for the fulfillment of the landlord's need. The Appellate Court has rejected this contention, saying that once the landlord's need is established for the demised shop, there is no reason why the landlord should be asked to take some area out of the demised shop and some from his premises or the other two shops, to construct a new one. The said finding, in the clear opinion of this Court, is not in any way vitiated by any manifest illegality. Bona fide need for the demised shop being established, equities hardly arise in this case for grant of partial release.

34. So far as the question of comparative hardship is concerned, the Courts below have also found it to be established in favour of the landlord on ex facie valid grounds. The Appellate Court has noticed the landlord's contention that the alternative shops enumerated by the landlord are not feasible or viable for business. About the tenant's case that she has constantly made efforts to secure another shop on rent, but remained unsuccessful, the Appellate Court has opined that there is no evidence about these efforts being made. There is no mention of the owners whose shops she attempted to secure on rent. No material is produced to show that she made any application to the R.C. & E.O. for allotment of a vacant shop. The principle is well settled that if the tenant has not made efforts to look for alternative accommodation, the issue of comparative hardship goes against him/ her. Here, the tenant has made an assertion that she attempted to secure other shops on rent, but failed. However, as rightly remarked by the Appellate Court, there is nothing on record by way of material to show that efforts were, in fact, made to secure an alternative shop. The minimum requirement to establish her case by the tenant about making efforts to look for an alternative shop, would be to come out with the names of owners of shops, who were approached for renting their premises, or else the proof of an application made to the R.C. & E.O. for allotment of a suitable vacant shop. However, none of these facts or evidence have been pleaded or produced to establish a case of search for alternative accommodation by the tenant, even after commencement of proceedings for release before the Courts below.

35. Eviction of the tenant would certainly involve some hardship, but where the landlord's bona fide need is established, the tenant's interest has to yield, even if in the scale of comparative hardship, the two are evenly balanced. Here, it certainly appears that the case of comparative hardship is tilted clearly in favour of the landlord. One of the reasons is the landlord's supervening retirement, much after the demised shop was let out to the tenant, and the other, an adult son, a member of his family, who has earned his degrees, sitting idle without employment. The landlord cannot be deprived of the gainful use of his own premises to keep himself occupied and settle his son in business, in order to secure the tenant's ongoing business in the premises. The question of long standing goodwill was also urged as relevant to the issue of comparative hardship. It must be remarked that goodwill, as well settled by now, is something that goes with the person and not the premises. On that submission of the tenant's, the findings on the issue of comparative hardship, cannot be held bad.

36. This Court must also take notice of the fact that the tenant has been in occupation of the demised shop for the past more than 35 years, and after ten years, without extension of lease or enhancement of rent, as contracted initially. No doubt, this Court, while granting interim stay of eviction, enhanced the rent to a sum of Rs.5000/-, but that was limited to the purpose of the interim order alone. It cannot be gainsaid that the tenant has been enjoying the premises in all these decades on a paltry rent of Rs.800/-. The entire conspectus of facts and the non-revision of rent also disentitle the tenant to relief, invoking the equitable jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution. That apart, the two Courts of fact below have found the case of the landlord established on issues of bona fide need and comparative hardship. It is not for this Court to interfere with those findings of fact, merely because a different view, even a better one, is possible.

37. This petition fails and is dismissed.

38. The interim order dated 12.03.2019 is hereby vacated.

39. However, considering the facts and circumstances, the tenant is allowed six months time to handover peaceful and vacant possession of the shop in dispute provided she executes an undertaking before the Prescribed Authority, Shahjahanpur, embodying the following terms within one month of the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order:

(1) The tenant shall handover peaceful and vacant possession of the demised shop to the landlord on or before 08.05.2023.

(2) During the period of six months that the tenant remains in occupation, she will not sublet the demised shop, damage or disfigure it in any manner whatsoever.

40. In the event, an undertaking, as above directed, is not filed before the Prescribed Authority by the tenant within the time allowed or the undertaking violated, the release order shall become executable forthwith.

2. Bhagwat Prasad Agrawal Vs Radha Raman Agrawal, 2015 (2) ARC 370

1. This is a tenants' petition against an order of release passed under Section 21(1)(a) of The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972) (for short, "the Act') passed concurrently by the two Authorities below.

2. The two petitioners, who are effectively one, are tenants in a shop, situate at Sarrafa Bazar, Aligarh, admeasuring 15 square meters, of which Smt. Prabha Rani, respondent no.1 to this petition, is the landlady. The shop aforesaid is held by the petitioners at a monthly rent of Rs.50/-. The said shop shall hereinafter be called "the demised shop'.

3. The facts giving rise to this petition are that Smt. Pratibha Rani, respondent no.1, who shall hereinafter be referred to as the landlady, instituted the present proceedings under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act with the case that she purchased two shops, admeasuring 15 square meters, situate at Sarrafa Bazar, Aligarh, through a registered sale deed dated 31.10.1995. Out of the two shops, the smaller one, which has a door of one meter, is in the occupation of the landlady's husband, Manohar Lal Gupta, who carries on the business of a jeweller therein. The other shop, that has a door of two meters wide, is in the tenancy occupation of the Aligarh Sarrafa Committee since the time of the previous owner and landlord, at the monthly rent, already mentioned hereinabove. It is the said shop, that has already been introduced hereinbefore as the demised shop. The Aligarh Sarrafa Committee, Sarrafa Bazar, Aligarh is a registered body, which has a triennial election and is represented by its Secretary. The Secretary of the aforesaid Sarrafa Committee is responsible for all actions of the Body and is competent to prosecute and defend legal proceedings on its behalf. The Aligarh Sarrafa Committee shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the tenant'. It is the landlady's case that the tenant has a weighbridge (dharamkanta) installed in the demised shop. For the present, the weighbridge is not in use. Every shop in the Sarrafa Bazar is now equipped with electronic weighing machines.

4. The tenant, apart from the demised shop, has another at Rafatganj, located at a short distance from the former. The tenant is the owner of the latter shop, where also a weighbridge is installed. The shop at Rafatganj also by and large remains closed. In addition, the tenant has still another shop, located at a distance of about 20 yards in the Surajbhan Market, Purani Kotwali, Aligarh, where too a weighbridge is installed. Whatever use the tenant has for a weighbridge is sufficiently met by the one that is housed in the shop that the tenant has at the Surajbhan Market. The Surajbhan Market is also part of the Sarrafa Bazar and, therefore, good for the requirements of the tenant. The tenant has one more shop, located near the Pyaun, that is situate opposite Kunji Lal's shop. The said shop is vacant and lying locked. The tenant is the owner of the said shop. Apart from all these three shops, barely 50 yards away from the demised shop, the tenant has a property known as 'Atithi Grih', situate at Purani Kotwali, Sarrafa Bazar. The said property is a mere 50 yards away from the demised shop. This property is a four storeyed building and apart from the occupancy on the ground floor, all floors of the building are lying vacant. The tenant can easily establish its weighbridge in any of these properties. It must be remarked here that the way the landlady has received assistance in the drafting of her application, it appears to be the result of inexperience or poor forensic talent. This Court says so because the first part of the application, in a case under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, ought to carry pleadings about the landlord/landlady's bona fide need. The pleadings, that have just now been mentioned, seem to refer to the facts that are relevant about the issue of comparative hardship, which should come next after the pleadings related to the bona fide need. Nevertheless, despite the inartistic manner in which the pleadings have been drafted, do not detract from the merits of the landlady's case, because the relevant averments are there, may be in unhappy sequence.

5. It is then averred by the landlady that she applied for release of the demised shop earlier, setting up the bona fide need that her husband required it. The aforesaid case being U.P. U.B. Case No. 56 of 1998 was rejected by the Prescribed Authority vide judgment and order dated 08.12.2007. The judgment was affirmed in appeal on 18.01.2011. The landlady's case is that her son Prashant Gupta, who is a Doctor, has earned his Postgraduate Degree (MD) in Ophthalmology from the All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi and for the time being, employed temporarily at the Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital, Mangolpuri, New Delhi as a Senior Resident. Prashant Gupta's wife, Smt. Savita Agrawal has earned her MD Degree in Pathology from the S.N. Medical College, Agra in the year 2008 and she too is temporarily working at New Delhi. Prashant Gupta is the only son of the landlady and wants to establish his clinic at Aligarh, utilizing the demised shop for the purpose. It is averred that there is no other doctor's clinic in the area. The clinic would offer stable employment to the landlady's son, where the husband and wife wife can practice together.

6. The landlady's case specifically urged is that she bona fide needs the demised shop for her son's clinic, particularly so as the landlady and her husband are moving towards old age and require their son's presence close at hand. In the event the demised shop is released, she would utilize it only for her son's clinic. She would not let out the shop again. It is averred at the tail-end of the application in a formal averment that comparative hardship lies in favour of the landlady and against the tenant.

7. The tenant filed its written statement, denying the landlady's case. It was, however, not denied that the landlady owns two shops, one of which is in her husband's occupation and further that her husband is engaged in business as a jeweller. It is also not disputed that the demised shop is held by the tenant on a monthly rent of Rs.50/-, where it has its weighbridge. It has been objected to by the tenant that the landlady has not filed any map along with her application. It is also pointed out by the tenant that Vijay Agrawal is the President of the Sarrafa Committee, Aligarh and Vinod Kumar is the Secretary. It is then pleaded on behalf of the tenant that the existence of the properties in Paragraph No. 3 is not admitted as pleaded, but this Court must remark that in Paragraph No. 4 of the written statement, the existence of the four properties, that the landlady has alleged in Paragraph No. 3 of the release application, has not been denied. What has been said is that those properties are not available to the tenant, because of non-vacancy. It is also asserted that it is incorrect to say that the weighbridge in the demised shop is non-functional.

8. It is also the tenant's case that the earlier release application, that the landlady had brought under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act on the grounds of her husband's requirement, has been rejected. The tenant has not denied the fact that the landlady has one son i.e. Prashant Gupta, but it is asserted that he is employed with the Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital, Mangolpuri, New Delhi. It has further been said that the landlady is put to strict proof about her son's employment and that of his wife at New Delhi. It is the tenant's case that the landlady has not come to Court with clean hands. The landlady has not given out the details of her family members, their ages, status, business nor has she furnished the particulars of other properties owned by the members of her family at Aligarh or away from Aligarh. It is also pleaded that the dimensions of the shops purchased through the sale deed dated 31.10.1995 has not been given out.

9. It is the tenant's case that since the year 1994, the landlady has dragged the tenant to Court in baseless litigation. The landlady instituted Suit No. 457 of 1995, which was dismissed on 30.09.1999. Another S.C.C. Suit No. 28 of 1995 was instituted by the landlady, which was dismissed on 06.02.1998. The first release application being U.P. U.B. Case No. 56 of 1998 was dismissed on 09.02.2007 and the appeal therefrom being U.P. U.B. Appeal No. 1 of 2007 was dismissed on 18.01.2011.

10. It is the tenant's case that the landlady has no bona fide need. She has a son and four daughters, all of whom are doctors. All the children after earning their MBBS Degrees have also earned MD Degrees. They are well settled. The son is married and his wife is also a doctor, who is employed at Delhi for the past number of years. The landlady's son and his wife have no intentions of coming back to Aligarh, and settling down or establishing a clinic at Aligarh. The tenant has also asserted that the landlady and her husband live in a house which they own, situate at Gandhi Nagar at Aligarh. The landlady's husband is quite old. He is said to be above 60 years. It is pleaded that the landlady's husband, apart from his business as a jeweller, is also into money lending, besides working as a broker. The landlady wants to enhance the rent payable by the tenant.

11. It is asserted that the landlady's case that after release of the demised shop, she would not let it out, is not true, because once released, she would sell off the demised shop and the adjoining one too. In their old age, the landlady and her husband would move out of Aligarh to Delhi and live with their son and daughter-in-law. It is further pleaded by the tenant that the demised shop is not suitable either for Prashant Gupta or his wife and the two together cannot establish their clinic or nursing home or Pathology Laboratory in a shop that small. The tenant has also said that the landlady owns 30 bighas (kachcha) of agricultural land in Village Bhinauli and one big residential house at Gandhi Nagar, Aligarh. That apart, she has a property in Delhi. Her bona fide need does not exist. The tenant has no other property in a vacant state and, therefore, it is not possible to move the weighbridge installed in the demised shop to any other premises. Interestingly, the tenant has also pleaded in Paragraph No. 23 of the written statement that Dr. Asha Rathi, Dr. G.M. Rathi, Dr. M.C. Garg, Dr. Mahesh Garg and Dr. Dinesh Chandra have their clinics in the vicinity.

12. The landlady filed a replication, where her pleaded in the release application was reiterated and elucidated while traversing the tenant's objections.

13. The landlady filed in evidence, her own affidavit, Paper No. 17-Ga, the affidavit of her son Dr. Prashant Gupta, Paper No. 18-Ga, an affidavit of one Satya Prakash Sharma, Paper No. 19-Ga, an affidavit of Hari Mohan Verma, Paper No. 20-Ga and still another affidavit of Rajbabu Verma, Paper No. 34-Ga. In the rejoinder, the landlady filed her own affidavit, Paper No. 35-Ga, that of Raghuvar Dayal Gupta, Paper No. 36-Ga, the affidavit of Ravindra Kumar Verma, Paper No. 41-Ga, besides the affidavit of Prabha Rani together with two photographs. Along with the affidavit, Paper No. 6-Ga, a photostat copy of the sale deed dated 01.11.1995, a photostat copy of Prashant Gupta's MD Degree and a photostat copy of the certificate relating to Savita Agrawal issued by the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Medical University, Agra, were brought on record. A further affidavit, Paper No. 43-Ga has been filed by the landlady, annexing with it a photostat copy of fellowship certificate from Shroff Eye Centre, New Delhi and an office order dated 14.11.2014 from the Uttar Pradesh Rural Institute of Medical Sciences and Research, Saifai, Etawah.

14. The tenant in its evidence has produced the affidavit bearing Paper No. 28-Ga from the Secretary, Sarrafa Committee, Vinod Kumar, another affidavit bearing Paper No. 29-Ga from Vinod Kumar, still another affidavit bearing Paper No. 30-Ga from Pradeep Agrawal and also an affidavit from the President, Sarrafa Committee, Vijay Agrawal (Paper No. 31-Ga), annexing with it the judgment dated 09.02.2007 in U.P. U.B. Case No. 56 of 1998, judgment dated 18.01.2011 in U.P. U.B. Appeal No. 1 of 2007, three rent receipts and two photographs. No documentary evidence, besides the above, was filed on behalf of the tenant.

15. The Courts below have found for the landlady on both counts of bona fide need and comparative hardship and granted the release application.

16. Aggrieved, the present writ petition has been instituted by the tenant.

17. Heard Mr. Pankaj Agarwal, learned Counsel for the tenant and Ms. Akanksha Gaur, learned Counsel for the landlady.

18. It is argued by Mr. Pankaj Agarwal, learned Counsel for the tenant that the landlady's son's need for establishing an Ophthalmology Clinic at Aligarh is without basis and flimsy. Her son Prashant Gupta along with his wife and children is a permanent resident of Delhi and working there. It is argued that there is nothing on record to show that the landlady's son has any intention to shift to Aligarh and set up his clinic, forsaking his roaring practice at Delhi. Learned Counsel for the tenant has drawn the Court's attention to the copy of the Voter ID Card and the other documents filed through the list bearing Paper No. 18-Ga, which show that the landlady's son is permanently residing at Delhi. It is argued that the Courts below ignoring all this evidence has allowed the release application on the ground alone that the landlord is the best judge of his requirement for the premises that he owns and the tenant cannot dictate terms to the landlord.

19. Ms. Akanksha Gaur, learned Counsel for the landlady, on the other hand, has refuted the submissions of Mr. Pankaj Agarwal. She has pointed out that the two Courts below have concurrently found the landlady's need to be bona fide and answered on the issue of comparative hardship also against the tenant, taking a plausible view of the matter, upon consideration of all evidence on record. It is not a case of non-consideration of material evidence. It is urged by the learned Counsel that there is no occasion for this Court to interfere with the concurrent findings of fact recorded by the two Courts below. It is particularly submitted that the tenant's case about the landlady's son being not minded to shift to Aligarh from Delhi, because he is well settled there, is without basis. Elucidating that submission of hers, learned Counsel points out that Prashant Gupta was first working with the Shroff Eye Centre, New Delhi. He then moved to the Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital, Mangolpuri, New Delhi as a Senior Resident and thereafter to the Sitapur Eye Hospital. However, for the present, due to the difficulties faced by his aged parents, domiciled at Aligarh, the landlady's son has established a clinic at Aligarh. It is also emphasized that Dr. Prashant Gupta was in private employment, until he moved to Aligarh and was not employed in any government service. He has shifted to Aligarh in the year 2020, pending the writ petition and established his clinic in rented premises, admeasuring 2x5 square meters. The learned Counsel for the landlady points out that a copy of the rent agreement executed on 28.09.2020 between Dr. Prashant Gupta and his landlord, Jitendra Kumar son of Jauhari Mal Jain, is annexed as Annexure No. 1 to the counter affidavit.

20. It is also pointed out that Dr. Prashant Gupta is differently abled with a 52% permanent disability, known as Post Polio Residual Paralysis of the left lower limb, according to the said certificate, issued in this behalf by the Chief Medical Officer, Aligarh. It is for the said reason also that the landlady wants her son to be close by, besides her own difficulties of old age and that of her aging husband. It must be mentioned here that these documents were not on record before the Courts below.

21. The handicap certificate is of the year 2004 and may not be looked into by this Court for the reason that it was not filed before the Courts below. However, so far as the rent agreement is concerned, it is evidence of a supervening event that happened pending this petition. Possibly, the said agreement could never have been filed before the Courts below, as it never existed then. The document is related to the changing circumstances of parties and the cause of action in an application for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, is to a large extent dynamic. The bona fide need of the landlady may vary with decisive events and so also the tenant's case about the parties' comparative hardship. This Court is of opinion, therefore, that the fact that the landlady asserts that pending this petition, the landlady's son has moved to Aligarh and established a clinic in a rented premises, a photostat copy of the rent agreement whereof he has annexed to the counter affidavit, must receive some consideration by this Court. This is not to say that the event in the case is to turn on the said fact alone, or even decisively, for the most of it is to be judged by the validity of the findings recorded by the two Courts below, on the twin issues of bona fide need and comparative hardship.

22. The Prescribed Authority has broadly opined that the landlady's need for the demised shop, in order to house her son's clinic there, is well established by the fact that the evidence on record shows that her son is not in any government employment. The principle, according to the Prescribed Authority, is that the landlord has a right to ensure that every adult member of the family is established in independent business/ profession. In all fairness to the tenant, the findings of the Prescribed Authority on the question of bona fide need are not very impressive. The opinion of the Prescribed Authority on comparative hardship is also not very well considered either. Perhaps, it is for this reason that the Appellate Court while writing a judgment of affirmation had to script a rather lengthy opinion, much beyond what would normally be the length of the expression.

23. The Appellate Court has wholesomely reviewed the parties' case and evidence on record, and after looking into the affidavits and other documents, has remarked that the tenant has said in its counter affidavit, Paper No. 56-Ga that the landlady's son earns with the Shroff Eye Centre a minimum of Rs. 1 lakh per month, and, therefore, the need set up by the landlady is mala fide. It has also been recorded by the Appellate Court that in the same affidavit it has been asserted that the landlady's son is not entirely unemployed and his clinical education has been completed in the year 2009. It has been observed by the Appellate Court that in the affidavit, it has been said by the tenant that the landlady has a two storeyed house at Gandhi Nagar, Aligarh, lying vacant, where her son can establish his clinic. The Appellate Court has recorded a finding to the effect that it cannot be denied that the landlady's son Prashant Gupta is a doctor, who has passed his MD in Ophthalmology from the AIIMS in the year 2009 and he is an Ophthalmologist. At the time when the release application was filed, the landlady's son was employed with the Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital, Mangolpuri, New Delhi as a Senior Resident. The Appellate Court has remarked that work as a Senior Resident is part of the Postgraduate Training, which a doctor after earning the PG Degree has to undertake in a Government or non-Government Hospital for the purpose of achieving proficiency. The maximum period of this training is three years. The Appellate Court has concluded that residentship is, therefore, in its nature a temporary employment and not permanent. The Appellate Court has remarked that most doctors, after earning their Postgraduate qualifications, establish their own clinics and before they do so, endeavour to gain maximum professional experience by working as Residents in different hospitals. It is on the basis of the aforesaid position about the status of residentship, which this Court thinks has been correctly appreciated by the Appellate Court that the submission of the tenant that the landlady's son is permanently employed at Delhi was rejected. We are in agreement with the aforesaid conclusion recorded by the Appellate Court.

24. The Appellate Court has also taken note of the assertion in the landlady's affidavit, Paper No. 34-Ga that her son, Dr. Prashant Gupta has completed his fellowship with the Shroff Eye Centre on 6th October, 2015 and that on account of the demised shop not being released, forced to continue in employment with the Shroff Eye Centre. Note has also been taken of another affidavit, bearing Paper No. 46-Ga, where the landlady has stated that after 06.10.2015, upon completion of fellowship, her son is continuing with the Shroff Eye Centre on contract employment. On the foot of all these affidavits, the Appellate Court has remarked that it cannot be denied that Dr. Prashant Gupta was doing his Senior Residentship as part of his training or fellowship at the Shroff Eye Centre and after its completion, he is continuing there on contract. The Appellate Court has remarked that service on contract is temporary in nature and upon the contract coming to an end, the employer can always remove an employee. The Shroff Eye Centre is a private hospital. The management of this hospital can determine the services the landlady's son by notice. Thus, the services that Dr. Prashant Gupta is rendering with the Shroff Eye Centre are temporary in nature. It has, therefore, been concluded that Dr. Prashan Gupta is not in permanent employment. The Appellate Court has also rejected the tenant's submission that since the landlady's son has a Voter ID Card and Aadhaar Card, showing his domicile to be that of Delhi, he is a permanent resident of Delhi. This submission has been rejected on the foot of the reasoning that once the landlady's son is serving on contract basis in Delhi, it is but logical that his Voter ID Card and address would be that of Delhi. The Appellate Court has remarked that the mere fact that the landlady's son has an address of Delhi and a Voter ID Card, showing domicile Delhi, does not mean that he is permanently established in Delhi. It has been observed that no evidence has been offered by the tenant to show that Dr. Prashant Gupta is indeed permanently settled in Delhi.

25. The Appellate Court has held that the above circumstances show that the landlady's son is not permanently established in employment or practice at Delhi. Therefore, if he wants to move to Aligarh and set up an Ophthalmologist Clinic, in order to permanently settle himself in practice, in the Appellate Court's opinion, it is not a case of mere shifting to the demised shop. The landlady's need has, therefore, been held bona fide on these findings.

26. So far as the comparative hardship is concerned, the Appellate Court has held that burden lies on the tenant to establish it in its favour. On the basis of various affidavits on record, the Appellate Court has noticed the different properties owned by the tenant close by to the demised shop, reference whereof has already been made by this Court in the earlier part of the judgment. It has particularly been opined on the basis of affidavits, Paper Nos. 29-Ga, 30-Ga and 31-Ga that the fact that the tenant has a shop, opposite Kunji Lal's and a vacant status has not been denied. The Appellate Court has held that the said shop, opposite the Pyaun and Kunji Lal, is available to the tenant in a vacant state. It has also been opined that two of the tenant's shops already house functional weighbridges. In addition, in the Surajbhan Market, he has a three storeyed building, which is being used as a guest house. The first and second floors of the building are lying vacant. These can be utilized for shifting the weighbridge, currently housed in the demised shop. Likewise, it could be moved to the vacant shop, opposite Kunji Lal and the Pyaun. On the basis of existence of so much of alternative accommodation, comparative hardship has been answered against the tenant and for the landlady.

27. It is on the basis of all these conclusions that the order of release passed by the Prescribed Authority has been affirmed by the Appellate Court. There is nothing on record to show that the landlady's son is so well established in Delhi, either in some kind of service at a Government Hospital or his private practice, that he would possibly not ever think of moving to Aligarh and establishing his clinic there. The Appellate Court is quite right about its conclusions on the said fact, where it is noted that the landlady's son has an employment of sorts as doctor on contract with a private hospital, which can hardly be characterized as stable employment.

28. Quite apart, a doctor like a lawyer is the master of his profession, which he can always practice independently. In fact, very often the doctors, like lawyers, are more inclined to independently practice, rather than function under the yoke and harness of employment. Even if the landlady's son were employed in government service, in a hospital outside Aligarh, his desire to establish his own practice and its facilitation by the landlady, could not have been regarded as something, which did not constitute bona fide need within the meaning of Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. There is little doubt that Dr. Prashant Gupta is a member of the landlady's family. His wife is not. The fact that Dr. Prashant Gupta's wife has secured some employment as an Assistant Professor with the AIIMS at Saifai is hardly relevant to judge the question of bona fide need, which has rightly been confined by the Courts below to that of Dr. Prashant Gupta. There is authority in multitude and preponderant that lay down for rule that if the landlord requires some accommodation for establishing himself or an adult member of his family in business, which a fortiori would include a profession, it does not lie in the tenant's mouth to say that the landlord can secure that objective by establishing his business or profession elsewhere. The same is true of the landlord's adult family members. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of this Court in Smt. Kanta and others v. Additional District Judge, Lucknow and 5 others, 2015 (1) ARC 459 (LB). In Smt. Kanta (supra), it has been held:

"10. ..... A tenant cannot dictate the terms to his landlord as to the choice of accommodation. He has relied upon a case reported in 2013 (1) ARC 217, Magan Lal Vs. Kalim Ullah, in which it has been held that need of the landlord to set up his son in a business, is a bonafide need. Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment reported in 2006 (1) ARC 282 Vishnu Kant Goswami Vs. IInd A.D.J., Allahaad and another; in which it has been held that every landlord and every adult member of his family is entitled to have a separate independent business and no landlord or any of his family member can be compelled to participate in the family business or joint business. Thus even if it is found that the landlord-opposite party no.3 is carrying on his business with his family members, it cannot be said that he cannot set up his adult son in an independent business."

29. Another important authority on the point is that of this Court in Bhagwat Prasad Agrawal v. Radha Raman Agrawal, 2015 (2) ARC 370. In Bhagwat Prasad Agrawal (supra), it has been held:

"The Prescribed Authority rejected the plea for the reason that the tenant cannot dictate as to which premises would suit the need of the landlord. The tenant cannot dictate terms or advise to the landlord that what he should do or what he should not. It is the privilege of the landlord to choose the nature and place of business. Therefore, it was not open for the petitioner to contend that the shop at the first floor would be most suitable to the landlord in carrying on the business in that premises. The plea that the respondent is a permanent resident of Delhi and, therefore, the premises is not needed, was not acceptable by the authorities for the reason that merely because the landlord was residing at Delhi would not mean that he would not come to Kosi, Mathura, his parental home, rather there is all the more reason for the landlord to reside or to open a office for Tax Consultancy, accordingly, the authorities found the need set up by the landlord to be bonafide. While considering the comparative hardship, it was duly proved by the landlord that the petitioner has other shops in the city, accordingly, relying upon Rule 16(2)(b) of the Rules of 1972 which provides that if the tenant is having alternative accommodation in his possession, there shall be greater justification for allowing the release application."

30. The landlord or a member of his family has absolute freedom to forsake his business or employment in another town or city and shift to the place, where his/ her property is situate and establish his/ her business there, gainfully utilizing the property. The tenant cannot be heard to say that the landlord or for that matter a member of his family should continue in employment at another place, where for the time being the landlord or the member of his family, for whose need release is sought, might be in employment or business.

31. The learned Counsel for the tenant has sought to draw a distinction between a positive decision by the landlord to shift according to his choice to the place, where he owns property, that he seeks release of, and the likelihood of the landlord indeed shift from his gainful and affluent employment in another city. Invariably, the landlady's choice to shift giving up employment or business in another place or town for the place where he/she owns property, cannot be questioned. For the sake of argument, however, if given the particular circumstances of a landlord or a member of his family, it can be shown by indubitable evidence that the landlord or the member of his family, for whose bona fide need release is sought, is so well established at another place that there is no likelihood of the landlord indeed shifting by any means and the application for release is nothing, but a sham, an arguable case might be made out. However, this Court does not wish to express any opinion on the point, because on the facts here, it does not really arise. The employment of the landlady's son here is a contractual engagement with a private hospital at Delhi and can, by no standard, be said to be such flourishing engagement that the landlady's son cannot be imagined to opt shifting to Aligarh and establish his clinic there.

32. So far as the issue of comparative hardship is concerned, both the Courts below have opined against the tenant and evidence is overwhelming on record with details of properties that shows that the tenant has property close by, even vacant and available, where it can shift. This Court is not inclined to interfere with the finding, therefore, on the issue of comparative hardship as well.

33. Before parting, this Court must remark that though the rent agreement that has been brought on record through the counter affidavit is not part of the record before the Authorities below and generally may not be looked into, but it is indeed a supervening event of much consequence. In the rejoinder affidavit filed on behalf of the tenant in Paragraph No. 21, there is a bald denial of the fact that the landlady's son has established his clinic at Aligarh in the year 2020, pending this petition in a rented premises. There is no evidence brought or attempted to be secured through the process of Court to demonstrate that in fact the rent agreement is a fake document and the landlady's son has not established his clinic in the rented premises, details whereof are given in the rent agreement with full disclosure of the landlord's name, parentage, address and that of the landlady's son, besides the terms of the lease. Instead, in answer, the tenant has asserted that the landlady's son has purchased a house admeasuring 284.98 square meters, part of House No. 3/73A, located at Plot No. 18, Vikram Colony, Koil, Aligarh, through a registered sale deed dated 13.11.2017, a copy whereof has been annexed, and that he can utilize the said property to establish his clinic. It is a well settled principle that the tenant cannot dictate to the landlord even if he has other property, the one he chooses to establish his business or profession. That apart, the property that has been purchased in the year 2017 appears to be residential property, which may not be suitable for a clinic or may be contrary to the local authorities' regulations as well, regarding residential and commercial user. The facts that have been noticed in the last part of our judgment have primarily been looked into for the purpose of considering whether this Court should exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction to interfere with the concurrent findings of the two Courts of fact below. The facts additionally noticed, leave no manner of doubt in this Court's mind that the tenant is not entitled to relief in the exercise of our equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

34. This petition fails and is dismissed.

35. The interim order dated 08.04.2022 is hereby vacated.

36. However, considering the facts and circumstances, the tenant-petitioners are allowed six months time to handover peaceful and vacant possession of the shop in dispute provided they execute an undertaking before the Prescribed Authority, Aligarh, embodying the following terms within one month of date:

(1) The tenants shall handover peaceful and vacant possession of the demised shop to the landlady-respondent no.1 on or before 03.05.2023.

(2) During the period of six months that they remain in occupation, they will not sublet the shop, damage or disfigure it in any manner whatsoever.

37. In the event, an undertaking, as above directed, is not filed before the Prescribed Authority by the tenant within the time allowed or undertaking is violated, the release order shall become executable forthwith.

Civil Law – Constitution of India - Article 226, - U. P. Urban Building Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction Act, - Sections 21, 21(1)(a) & 22 - Landlord's bona fide need - demised shop - which was occupying by the tenant at a measly rent of Rs. 70/- since long term - proceeding for vacating the tenant on account of the bona fide needs - Landlord wants to establish his one of sons in independent business - trial court decreed the suit in favour of landlord - in appeal set-aside - Writ Petition - issue of 'Comparative Hardship' discussed - the bona fide need cannot be presumed, but once that is established, the difficulty faced by the tenant alone cannot defeat the landlord's bona fide need - held, 'comparative hardship' ought to be answered in favour of the landlord and against the tenants - 'Comparative Hardship' is not evenly balanced and lies in favour of the landlord - Appellate court is manifestly illegal, being based on irrelevant consideration and the result of a perverse approached - impugned judgment of the appellant court deserve to be quashed - prescribed authority restored - writ petition allowed - direction issued accordingly for vacating the demised shop within 15 days. (Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is a landlord's writ petition, arising out of proceedings for release under Section 21(1)(a) of The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972) (for short, 'the Act').

2. The facts giving rise to this writ petition are these:

Natthoomal son of Daulatram instituted proceedings against Giriraj Dharan son of Surajbhan for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, with the allegations that he is the owner and landlord of a shop, bearing Municipal Premises No. 127/82-A, Kachchi Sarak, Shahganj Darwaza, District Mathura. Giriraj Dharan is a tenant in the said shop at the rate of Rs.70/- per month, excluding taxes. Giriraj Dharan has been in arrears of rent since 01.08.1999. Natthoomal, who shall hereinafter be called 'the landlord', has a shop located to the south of the shop in the tenancy occupation of Giriraj Dharan. The shop in Giriraj Dharan's tenancy shall hereinafter be called 'the demised shop'.

3. The landlord carries on the business of a jeweller in his shop aforesaid, dealing in silver jewellery. Along with the landlord, one of his sons, Rupesh Kumar also does business in the same shop as the landlord. The landlord's elder son, Pankaj and the one younger to him, Rupesh Kumar are married. Pankaj has been blessed with two children, but has no gainful occupation. The family's peace for the landlord has been a casualty on account of disputes between the womenfolk, all of which has made it difficult for Pankaj to carry on business in the same shop as the landlord. The landlord has asserted that the shop where he does business is not big enough to take care of the requirements of the landlord and his two sons, all at once. The landlord's son Pankaj has good experience of a jeweller's business in silver ornaments and he can carry on this business. The landlord has the necessary capital to set up his son Pankaj in independent business. The landlord has another shop, bearing No. 127/ 82-C, wherein there is an old tenant, Mohan Lal in occupation. Apart from these three shops, the landlord does not have any other, where he may set up his son in independent business. It is pleaded by the landlord that he requires the demised shop to be released on account of the bona fide need that he has for the said shop in order to establish his son Pankaj in independent business.

4. Apart from Pankaj, the landlord has two other sons, Rupesh and Ghanshyam. Ghanshyam is not married so far. He has discontinued his studies and is otherwise competent to establish his own business. Giriraj Dharan, the tenant in the demised shop, has another tenanted shop, situate at Bairagpura, Mathura. Giriraj Dharan primarily carries on his business in the shop at Bairagpura. In addition, Giriraj Dharan has in his ancestral home, which is located close-by to the demised shop, three vacant shops of his own. In the event the demised shop is released, the tenant would not suffer greater hardship compared to what the landlord would, if the demised shop were refused to be released. It is also averred by the landlord that he conveyed his bona fide need to Giriraj Dharan, asking him to vacate the shop, but he declined. Compelled by his refusal, the landlord instituted proceedings for release as aforesaid through the application under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act on 04.01.2002 before the Prescribed Authority. The release application was registered as P.A. Case No. 3 of 2002 on the file of the Prescribed Authority.

5. Giriraj Dharan put in a written statement, contesting the landlord's case for release. It was pleaded by him that the landlord and all his sons carry on business in silver in the shop located to the south of the demised shop. Their business is of trading in silver. It has been asserted by Giriraj Dharan that no cause of action has arisen to the landlord to seek release of the demised shop. He has no need for the same and has sufficient property. He has a big shop, where the landlord and his sons do business in silver ornaments. The landlord's sons make these ornaments and supply them- a kind of business, called Desawari. The nature of their business is not retail. They supply their wares to different places. The landlord and his sons are income tax payers. They are rich men. The landlord's son has a Saari Printing Works, located at Saraswati Kund, Mathura. The demised shop is unfit for the purpose of manufacturing business in Saaris that the landlord's son undertakes. It is asserted that the landlord's need set up is mala fide. The landlord has come up with the application for release, because he demanded enhanced rent at the rate of Rs.300/- per month, which the tenant Giriraj Dharan refused. It is on that account that the landlord has instituted the present proceedings for release, without any bona fide need, on wrong facts and non-existent grounds. It is also averred that the landlord and his sons buy wares from Giriraj Dharan on credit, leading to a substantial sum of money falling due, which the landlord owes to Giriraj Dharan. The latter asked the landlord to adjust his outstandings against the rent due, but the landlord wants to increase the rent. Giriraj Dharan carries on in the demised shop his tea shop, where he sells, besides tea, biscuits, snacks, cigarettes etc., in order to earn his livelihood. It was averred that in case he is evicted from the demised shop in consequence of the release order, he would be ruined and his family starve to death. It was also pleaded that in the vicinity, there is no such shop which Giriraj Dharan could take on rent. It was averred further that the tenant had secured on rent a godown in the name of his son from Thakur Dauji Maharaj, where he stores his stock. The said premises are not a shop. Giriraj Dharan's ancestral house has been partitioned long back and no shop has fallen to his share. The landlord and his sons are into the business of manufacturing, where they have 8-10 servants. The landlord and his sons do not have the need to retail anything.

6. It was also averred in the written statement that Giriraj Dharan has been served with a notice dated 19.11.2002 by registered post by the landlord's brother, Mahesh Chandra, informing Giriraj Dharan that Mahesh Chandra was the owner of the rear part of the demised shop, which had fallen to his share in some partition. The said notice had been replied to by Giriraj Dharan through his Counsel. It was averred that Mahesh Chandra has held out to be a co-landlord of the demised shop, but the landlord has not impleaded him as a party. For the said reason, the landlord's application for release was not properly framed and not maintainable.

7. Pending the release application, an application for impleadment was filed by Govind Saran Mittal, Giriraj Dharan's brother on 30.08.2005. He alleged that he too was a tenant in the demised shop. The landlord objected to the impleadment, saying that it was motivated by dilatory tactics. The application was, however, allowed by the Prescribed Authority, in consequence whereof Govind Saran Mittal came to be impleaded as opposite party no.2 to the release application.

8. Govind Saran Mittal filed his separate written statement. It is Mittal's case that the landlord had no cause of action against him. The landlord, in collusion with Giriraj Dharan, has brought these release proceedings, which are collusive and intended to evict Mittal. It is pleaded that Giriraj Dharan is a brother-in-law of the landlord's and the two have conspired to file a compromise in Court behind Mittal's back. It is Mittal's case that the demised shop is a very old tenancy. Long ago, the owner and the landlord of the demised shop was Smt. Dulari wife of Manohar Lal and Mittal's father and that of Giriraj Dharan (the two being brothers) was the tenant. Prior to their father, their grandfather was the tenant. The family have been in successive tenancy occupation of the demised shop since before the year 1957. After Smt. Dulari, Shrinath Dass Gayasiram became the owner and landlord of the demised shop. After Giriraj Dharan and Mittal's grandfather passed away, their father inherited the tenancy and became the sole tenant of the demised shop. Shrinath Dass Gayasiram executed a sale deed of the demised shop in favour of Sri Daulat Ram, the landlord's father and after Daulat Ram, the landlord inherited the demised shop. The tenancy in the demised shop is one antedating the year 1957 and continuing since the time of Giriraj Dharan and Mittal's grandfather. Giriraj Dharan and Govind Saran Mittal shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the tenants', unless the context requires an individual reference.

9. The tenants' father passed away on 02.10.1976 and upon his demise, all his heirs have become tenants. The tenants' father, Surajbhan also had two other sons, Harish Chandra and Keshav Deo, who are living away for some time. For the present, the demised shop is in occupation of Giriraj Dharan and Mittal, both of whom are carrying on their respective business in the said shop separately. The demised shop has two doors/ outlets and, therefore, the southern outlet is used by Mittal for his shop selling food-grains, whereas the northern door outlet is used by his brother, Giriraj Dharan for his business of tea vending etc. The demised shop has an electricity connection and a meter installed since the time of the tenants' father, in the name of their other brother, Harish Chandra. It is pleaded that the landlord has no need for the demised shop. He has substantial properties. The landlord has a big shop, where he does his business. The other shop, which is said to be in the tenancy occupation of Mohan Lal, is a matter of mere show, in order to harass the tenants. The shop, which is said to be in Mohan Lal's tenancy occupation, was earlier in the tenancy occupation of one Mool Chand Khandelwal. The said shop was vacated and after Mool Chand Khandelwal moved out, Mohan Lal was shown to be a sham tenant there. Mohan Lal himself has substantial property and does not need the shop that is said to be in his occupation. The landlord is an income tax payer. All his sons and daughters-in-law are income tax payers. They are a rich family. The landlord has one Saari Printing Works at Saraswati Kund, Mathura. The landlord's son Pankaj is engaged in manufacturing and supplying boxes for sweets to Brijwasi Mithaiwale on a large scale. The landlord and all his sons have flourishing business, which yields them good profit. The landlord and his sons have acquired properties, utilizing their wealth.

10. It has been emphasized that Pankaj has purchased a house (Kothi) in the name of his wife, Smt. Kavita, situate at Guru Kripa Masani Road, Mathura. That house is worth Rs.50 lakhs. There was house-warming for the said property on 20.07.2007. The landlord pending the proceedings has purchased another shop at Guru Kripa, Masani Road, Mathura. It is pleaded by Mittal that the tenants are in occupation of the demised shop for the past more than 50 years, that is to say, since the time of their grandfather and have acquired goodwill in business. Mittal has also said that he has no alternate source of livelihood and in event of release, would suffer greater hardship than the landlord in case of refusal.

11. In the replication filed on behalf of the landlord, it is said that the Act applies and Giriraj Dharan is a tenant prior to enforcement of the Act. Giriraj Dharan has set up his brother in the present proceedings in order to delay the course of law. Both the brothers have a common cause. The landlord has denied the factum of his son Pankaj purchasing a house in his wife's name at Masani Road, or the fact of acquisition of a shop pending proceedings. The fact that the landlord's son has a Saari Printing Works has also been denied, as also the fact that his son had, had an income tax raid. It is pleaded in their replica that Mittal has wrongly claimed that his relations with his sons are estranged. To the contrary, Mittal stays with his sons and has his own flour mill (Aata Chakki). He operates that flour mill along with his elder son, whereas his younger son does another business. The landlord has filed his evidence on affidavit, which comprises the affidavits of Ashok Kumar Sharma, Mukesh, Tulsiram, Girish Chandra and Dau Dayal, besides documentary evidence, that includes a sale deed, copies of municipal assessments and photographs. The tenant has given affidavits of Dau Dayal, Tulsiram, Girish Chandra and Giriraj Dharan. Giriraj Dharan has filed four affidavits in all. Mittal has filed affidavits of a number of witnesses, like those of Rambabu Sharma, Hiralal, Neeraj, Dileep, Bhagwandas and Shiv Kumar. Documentary evidence too has been adduced on behalf of the tenants, details of which are listed in the judgments of the Courts below. No useful purpose would be served by recapitulating the list, except what is relevant. The relevant evidence shall be referred to during the course of this judgment.

12. The Prescribed Authority framed two issues and on the basis of it, determined the application for release. These read (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether the applicant has a bona fide need for the shop in dispute for his son Pankaj's business?

(2) Whether in case of the demised shop not being released, the applicant will suffer greater hardship than what the opposite party would face, if the property is released?

13. The Prescribed Authority has looked carefully into the evidence of parties, including the documents and affidavits. The Prescribed Authority has disbelieved a few of the witnesses, like Dau Dayal, Tulsiram and Girish Chandra, who have given contradictory affidavits about the business and bona fide need of parties. The Trial Court has found that the landlord has, according to the municipal assessment, a house and three shops in his ownership. One of these shops is the demised shop. In one of the shops, Mohan Lal is shown as the tenant, whereas the third is in the landlord's occupation. The Trial Court has remarked that the contention of Mittal that Mohan Lal's shop has not been allotted in his favour, which the landlord can get vacated, is not tenable, inasmuch as the issue in the present proceedings is not about the shop in Mohan Lal's tenancy, but the demised shop. The landlord has moved the present release application, relating to the demised shop, wherein Giriraj Dharan is the tenant. It is up to the landlord to decide which shop he wants to be released for the satisfaction of his bona fide need. The Prescribed Authority has remarked that the release of the demised shop is sought for the purpose of settling the landlord's son, Pankaj in independent business. It has been held that the fact is not in dispute that in the past, Pankaj would do business along with his father in the same shop. The landlord has funds to set up his son in independent business. The Trial Court has opined that the landlord has a right to set up any adult member of his family in independent business, which qualifies as bona fide need. The case about Pankaj being engaged in the business of Saari Printing and manufacture of sweets packaging boxes has not been accepted by the Prescribed Authority, in the absence of any documentary evidence to prove the factum of those enterprises being undertaken by Pankaj. The Prescribed Authority has, accordingly, found on the issue of bona fide need for the landlord.

14. On the other issue of comparative hardship, the Prescribed Authority has also carefully looked into the evidence and opined that by merely moving applications for allotment, it cannot be said that the tenant has made efforts to secure alternative accommodation pending proceedings. That is one of the limbs of the findings, on the basis of which the Prescribed Authority has held on the question of comparative hardship in the landlord's favour. The Prescribed Authority has remarked that bona fide need cannot be presumed, but once that is established, the difficulty faced by the tenant alone cannot defeat the landlord's bona fide need. It has been held that on the basis of evidence on record, it is apparent that the tenants have purchased properties pending proceedings and concluded that on an overall assessment of evidence, comparative hardship ought to be answered in favour of the landlord and against the tenants.

15. In conclusion, the Prescribed Authority allowed the release application and directed the tenants' eviction within a period of one month, with directions to the landlord to pay the tenants two years' rent towards compensation. The release application as aforesaid, was allowed by the Prescribed Authority vide judgment and order dated 19.03.2008.

16. Aggrieved by the judgment and order passed by the Prescribed Authority, Mittal alone appealed to the District Judge, Mathura under Sectioin 22 of the Act. The appeal came to be registered on the file of the District Judge as P.A. Appeal No. 10 of 2008. The Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Mathura, before whom the appeal came up for hearing, allowed it vide judgment and order dated 14.08.2008, set aside the Prescribed Authority's judgment, reversed it and dismissed the landlord's release application. The judgment and order dated 14.08.2008 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Mathura shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the impugned order'.

17. Aggrieved by the impugned order, the landlord has instituted the present writ petition.

18. Notice pending admission was issued on 07.11.2008 and over the course of years that the petition has remained pending, parties have exchanged affidavits. A counter affidavit has been filed by Giriraj Dharan also, though he never appealed the order releasing the demised shop passed by the Prescribed Authority. Mittal, who preferred the appeal, has, of course, filed a separate counter affidavit. A rejoinder affidavit each to the two counter affidavits filed on behalf of Giriraj Dharan and Mittal, who are respondent nos. 2 and 3 to the writ petition, have been filed by the landlord. Post exchange of affidavits, the petition was admitted to hearing, which proceeded forthwith.

19. Heard Mr. Atul Dayal, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Neeraj Srivastava, Advocate appearing on behalf of the petitioner and Mr. Satish Pandey, Advocate holding brief of Mr. Rahul Sahai, learned Counsel for respondent no. 3. Mr. Rajesh Gupta, Advocate has appeared on behalf of respondent no. 2, but says that he has no instructions.

20. The Appellate Court, in reversing the findings of the Prescribed Authority, has largely taken into consideration irrelevant evidence. The learned Judge has opined that for the purpose of determining the landlord's case of bona fide need, it has to be determined whether his son, Pankaj has some independent business, or as the landlord says, the son does business with the landlord together, leading to bickerings in the family. The learned Judge has then remarked that it has to be determined whether Pankaj is indeed unemployed. The Appellate Court has remarked that there are on record affidavits of Bhagwandas and Shiv Kumar, that say that Pankaj is engaged in the business of manufacturing packaging boxes for sweets on a large scale and further state that Pankaj and his wife are income tax payers. The two witnesses have also said that in their presence, Pankaj and his wife have faced proceedings of survey by the Income Tax Department. The learned Judge has remarked that the landlord has rebutted the fact about Pankaj and his wife being income tax payers, as also that about the alleged proceedings against him by the Income Tax Department, but Pankaj has not filed his own affidavit, denying the fact. The Appellate Court has inferred that non-denial by Pankaj himself shows that the landlord's son did not have the courage to deny the fact on oath and take the risk of perjuring himself. It has been observed that the landlord denying the fact of his son being an income tax payer or accepting it, is of no consequence, unless Pankaj himself came forward with his stand. It has been held that since Pankaj has not filed his affidavit rebutting the allegations, the inference is that he is an income tax payer. It has further been remarked that an income tax payer is not a person of ordinary means. Such a man is either one who draws a high salary or has flourishing business. This would be the necessary inference in law, according to the Appellate Court, from the facts found, as aforesaid.

21. There is another finding recorded to the effect that the assertion on behalf of the tenants that Pankaj has purchased a shop in Hari Kunj, has also not been denied on affidavit. The inference drawn is that Pankaj has purchased a shop in Hari Kunj. The conclusion drawn is that for Pankaj, to settle down in business, the landlord has set up his bona fide need, but the landlord's son does not need the demised shop, inasmuch as the shop that Pankaj has purchased in Hari Kunj is sufficient for his business requirements.

22. It would be apposite to consider the worth of the aforesaid findings recorded by the Appellate Court, as referred to hereinabove. The fact whether Pankaj is an income tax payer or not, is no business of the Appellate Court to investigate. Assuming that Pankaj is an income tax payer, the landlord has a right to set up an independent business for his son or augment his business, independent from his own. It is not the tenants' right to question the landlord's bona fide need claimed for his son's independent business by relying on the son's income tax returns or those of his wife. Normally, a person, who is engaged in business like the tenants, say of trade in silver together with his father, may also earn enough to become an income tax payer. The fact that a person is an income tax payer is no index to infer that he has an independent business of his own. Moreover, the remarks of the Appellate Court that an income tax payer is not an ordinary parson, but a businessman with a big turnover or a flourishing trade, are all misplaced.

23. Payment of income tax is hardly a parameter to infer that the person concerned/ member of the landlord's family, for whom the business premises is claimed to be needed bona fide for independent business, already has an existing business of his own. The Appellate Court has not only taken into consideration irrelevant evidence, but conjectured much about the landlord's son being an income tax payer. There is no evidence aliunde on record to show that the landlord's son or his daughters-in-law are income tax payers. There is no document on record, like an assessment order or return, to demonstrate the fact that Pankaj is, in fact, an income tax payer. The mere fact that Pankaj has not denied the assertion about him being an income tax payer through his personal affidavit, cannot lead to the inference that he is one. There is, after all, a denial of the fact by the landlord that his son Pankaj is not an income tax payer. It is the landlord who has asked for the release of the demised shop and he is well within his rights to give evidence about the fact that his son, for whose independent business he requires the demised shop, is not an income tax payer. The landlord's evidence cannot be ignored as the Appellate Court has done.

24. Moreover, the affidavits, on the basis of which it has been inferred that the landlord's son is an income tax payer, are those of one Bhagwandas and another Shiv Kumar. It is not clear as to how these persons, apart from saying that they have witnessed some kind of income tax survey proceedings against Pankaj, would know that he is an income tax payer. There is no evidence annexed to those affidavits, like some proceedings of assessment or assessment order to establish the fact.

25. Likewise, the finding that since the assertion about Pankaj buying a shop in Hari Kunj has not been denied on affidavit, the fact stands proved, is equally flawed. There is again no evidence to show, like a sale deed, that such a shop has been purchased by Pankaj. In the absence of any independent evidence, no inference can be drawn on the basis of a mere non-traverse about a fact as positive as purchase of another shop by the landlord's son. Even if it be assumed that Pankaj has purchased some shop out of his own resources or whatever be the source, it is not for the tenants to dictate to the landlord, where and how the landlord should go about satisfying his bona fide need to settle his son in independent business. Even if the landlord has more than one shop available to him, the tenant nor the Court can say which shop the landlord should utilize to satisfy his son's business requirements. There is no denying the fact that he is a matured man with a family and there is no evidence aliunde on record to show that Pankaj owns a business of his own, except allegations on affidavits. About the freedom of the landlord to earn his livelihood for maintaining himself and his family according to his choice, it was held by this Court in Vijay Kumar Gupta & another v. Smt. Sumitra Devi & others 2014 (1) ARC 371:

7. The above referred authorities though, were in the context of residential accommodation, but the principle that the landlord is the master of arranging his own affairs applies not only in respect to his residential accommodation but also the manner and method etc. of earning his livelihood for maintaining himself and family.

8. In Ragavendra Kumar Vs. Firm Prem Machinary & Co. (2000) 1 SCC 679, the Court said that landlord is best judge of his requirement for his residential or business purpose and he has complete freedom in the matter.

26. The other finding, on the basis of which the Appellate Court has reversed the order of the Prescribed Authority, is about the existence of another shop available to the landlord, wherein there is no lawful occupant.

27. The next submission that the Appellate Court has considered to find against the landlord on the question of bona fide need is based on the tenants' contention that there are two other shops, apart from the demised shop, bearing Shop Nos. 127/82B and 127/82C that are in the landlord's possession. In addition, the Appellate Court has also noticed the tenants' assertion that there were two other shops on the same premises that bore old Nos. 1798D and 1798E, which fell to the landlord's share. The Appellate Court, after noticing the above contentions urged on behalf of the tenants, has remarked that these facts are admitted to parties. In our opinion, the remark last mentioned is an error apparent. There is no admission brought to this Court's notice that Shop Nos. 127/82B and 127/82C are in the landlord's possession. This would also be apparent from the next remark by the Appellate Court, where it is said that the shop, that is said to be in Mohan Lal's tenancy, had for its original tenant, one Mool Chand, from whom it was got vacated and delivered possession of to Mohan Lal. The shop bearing No. 127/82C is, therefore, in the occupation of Mohan Lal as a tenant, or as the Appellate Court later on says, as an illegal occupant. It cannot be said to be "admittedly' in the landlord's possession. It is particularly so because the landlord says that Mohan Lal is a tenant in Shop No. 127/82C, notwithstanding the finding of the Appellate Court that Mohan Lal is an unlawful occupant in the shop under reference. It cannot be said to be a fact admitted to parties that Shop No. 128/82C is in the landlord's possession.

28. The Appellate Court has then looked into the successive quinquennial assessment of house tax record to determine about the existing tenants in the two other shops, bearing Nos. 127/82B and 127/82C. The tenancy in Shop No. 127/82C, where Mohan Lal is claimed by the landlord to be a tenant, has been particularly examined. The Appellate Court has looked into the house tax assessment record for the years 1970 to 1987, bearing Paper No. 67-Ga, which shows the profile of tenants in the demised shops and the other shops that are the subject matter of contention to judge the issue of bona fide need. About the said assessment, the Appellate Court has recorded a finding that in one of the shops, Surajbhan is shown to be a tenant and in the second, Mool Chand. In the third, Pitambar Das and in the fourth, Kishori Lal are recorded as tenants. Mohan Lal is not recorded as a tenant in any of the four shops mentioned in the assessment, all of which are housed in the same premises as the demised shop. It is then remarked by the Appellate Court that Mohan Lal is found recorded in Paper No. 99-Ga, which is a copy of the house tax assessment from the year 1987 to 1993. Here, Mohan Lal has been shown recorded as a tenant in Shop No. 1798/C. There is a further comment about Paper No. 99-Ga/3 to the effect that in this assessment, Mool Chand is not recorded as a tenant. From these records of assessment, the Appellate Court has drawn the conclusion that Shop No. 127/82C was in the tenancy occupation of Mool Chand up to the year 1987, and after that, it was handed over to Mohan Lal. The Appellate Court, with reference to the provisions of the Act, has held that there can be no valid tenancy without an allotment order, except where it has been continuing since prior to July, 1976. Since Mohan Lal has admittedly come in in the year 1987, without an order of allotment, he is not a tenant, but an unauthorized occupant. The shop must, therefore, be deemed to be vacant. There is a further finding that in Paper No. 67-Ga-2, the municipal assessment records for the years 1972 to 1987, neither Mohan Lal nor Gopal Das are shown recorded as tenants. Both these men have been recorded after 1987. Since the two are in possession of the two shops, according to the Appellate Court, without an allotment order, with the tenancy not traceable to a date prior to July, 1976, the shops in their possession must be held to be in unauthorized occupation and, therefore, deemed vacant.

29. The Appellate Court has gone on to remark that the authority of this Court in Ganga Narain Gupta vs. Sheetala Prasad, 2006 (65) ALR 587, which says that the landlord can ask anyone of his various tenants to vacate one or the other of the shops in tenancy occupation in order to satisfy his bona fide need, and cannot be compelled to ask a particular tenant to vacate, would not apply to the facts here. The reason assigned is that the other person in occupation of another shop or premises of the landlord must be a lawful tenant and not an unauthorized occupant. This finding is followed by a reversion to the fact earlier found that the landlord's son Pankaj and his daughters-in-law, being income tax payers, would show that they are well established in business and do not require the demised shop, much less bona fide need it. In this Court's opinion, the approach of the Appellate Court is fundamentally flawed and manifestly illegal on this limb of the reasoning too. Once for a proposition of law, it is not in dispute that the landlord can choose from amongst the various tenants, who are in occupation of different premises or shops, against whom he wants to proceed for release on the ground of bona fide need, the fact that some other shop occupied by another tenant, whom the tenant says is in unauthorized occupation, is not at all relevant.

30. The fact whether the other person in possession of another shop belonging to the landlord is an unauthorized occupant or a lawful tenant, cannot be decided in proceedings for release brought on the ground of bona fide need, under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act. This can be done by moving the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, under Section 12/16 of the Act. Also, in proceedings, where the question is if the person in occupation of the other shop, bearing No. 127/82C, is a tenant or an unauthorized occupant, the affected party has to be impleaded as a necessary party and heard. That inquiry cannot be made in the present proceedings that have been brought for release of the demised shop, in the occupation of the tenants. In Mohan Lal's absence, behind his back, without hearing him, in proceedings for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, to hold that Mohan Lal is not a tenant, but an unauthorized occupant, is a finding beyond the scope of the present proceedings under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act.

31. For the purpose of these proceedings, the landlord asserts that Mohan Lal is a tenant in another shop of the landlord's and the fact has to be accepted for Mohan Lal is in settled possession over a long period of time. The question about vacancy based on the day of commencement of Mohan Lal's tenancy cannot be inquired into in proceedings for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, brought inter partes between the landlord and the tenants.

32. Quite apart from these facts, the law is fairly well settled that a landlord has the right to expand his business and the tenant or the Court cannot force him to carry on in the same shop. When the case is one of the landlord's needing additional accommodation for his sons' business requirement, which would include ex hypothesi, the landlord's need to provide for his sons' expansion of business, the landlord cannot be denied the right to seek release of additional accommodation, where he has a sitting tenant, whom he wants to evict for the purpose. The fundamental principle about the landlord's right to expand his business being a ground to support a case of bona fide need under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, has been succinctly laid down by esteemed Brother Manoj Kumar Gupta in Shambhu Nath v.

Third Additional District Judge and others, 2014 (1) ARC 372 in the following words:

11..... A landlord has got a right to expand his business and in case he requires additional space for it, the need cannot be said to be malafide. The tenant cannot dictate terms to the landlords as to how he should satisfy his need. The court cannot act as a rationing authority and force the landlord not to expand his business or carry on in the same shop. In the above context, it is worthwhile to quote the following lines from the judgement of the Supreme Court in Sarla Ahuja Vs. United India Insurance Company Ltd, (1998) 8 SCC 119:-

".....When a landlord asserts that he requires his building for his own occupation, the Rent Controller shall not proceed on the presumption that the requirement is not bona fide. When other conditions of the clause are satisfied and when the landlord shows a prima facie case, it is open to the Rent Controller to draw a presumption that the requirement of the landlord is bona fide. It is often said by courts that it is not for the tenant to dictate terms to the landlords as to how else he can adjust himself without getting possession of the tenanted premises. While deciding the question of *bona fide*s of the requirement of the landlord, it is quite necessary to make an endeavour as to how else the landlord could have adjusted himself."

33. This Court is of opinion that the landlord's right to expand his business would include the right to ensure expansion of business for a family member, for whose necessity he is entitled otherwise to seek release of a tenanted premises owned by him. The right of the landlord to seek release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act for the expansion of business, cannot be confined to the landlord's own need. It applies equally to that of the members of his family, for whom he can otherwise seek release. Any other construction on the terms of Section 21(1)(a) of the Act would bog down the statute.

34. Broadly speaking, there are three shops owned by the landlord, in two of which there are tenants in occupation. In one shop, the landlord is carrying on business along with his son Rupesh Kumar. Pankaj, the son for whom he seeks release of the demised shop, is finding it difficult to carry on business in the same shop. There is no evidence to show that Pankaj indeed has another shop of his own. The mere fact that he is an income tax payer does not show that he is in occupation of premises suitable for his business. Even if he has, the landlord has a right to seek release of additional accommodation for the need of expansion or better satisfaction of the business requirements of his son. It is no business of the tenant or the Court to tell the landlord, where and how the landlord's son Pankaj should house and carry on his business. It is also not within the province of either of them to say that whatever accommodation the landlord's son Pankaj is utilizing to do business, is good enough for his needs, because he is an income tax payer. Findings to this effect and the related findings are not only manifestly illegal, but also based on irrelevant considerations. In the Court's opinion, the findings of the Prescribed Authority on the question of bona fide need are well reasoned and must be affirmed, whereas those of the Appellate Court held not tenable at all.

35. So far as the question of comparative hardship is concerned, the Appellate Court has not expressed any opinion, because it has been held, and rightly so, that once bona fide need has not been found by that Court, no opinion is required to be entered on the question of comparative hardship. Since this Court has disagreed with the conclusions of the Appellate Court on the issue of comparative hardship, and affirmed those of the Prescribed Authority, the issue of comparative hardship becomes relevant. The Prescribed Authority, in returning its opinion on the question of comparative hardship, has taken note of the fact that so far as Giriraj Dharan is concerned, he owns a tea shop, selling tea, biscuits, snacks, cigarettes etc., but has a tenanted premises at Bairagpura, rented from Thakur Dauji Maharaj, a temple trust. In those premises, he runs a shop providing tents for marriages, crockery etc. on rent. Evidence regarding the aforesaid business of the tenant, Giriraj Dharan has been considered by the Prescribed Authority, which includes documentary evidence. One of these evidence, is about the provision of crockery on rent to the landlord regarding a Namkaran Ceremony of the landlord's grandchild. The Prescribed Authority has also taken note of the tenant's ancestral property at Mohalla Halanganj, where there is a shop, out of the three in the tenant's possession. There is also a document noticed by the Prescribed Authority, which is a sale deed showing Giriraj Dharan's son Rishi Mohan, pending suit, to have purchased property in Halanganj. There is another municipal assessment record showing that the tenant has still another property at Bairagpura in the name of his wife, Pushpa Devi. The municipal assessment is Paper No. 50-Ga/2. From all these facts, the Prescribed Authority has concluded that the tenant, Giriraj Dharan is a well-off man, who has purchased properties in the names of his wife and sons. Pending proceedings, he has also purchased a property in his son's name. In the circumstances, he would not face any hardship in the event the demised shop were released. It has also been opined that "comparative hardship' is not evenly balanced and lies in favour of the landlord.

36. So far as the other tenant Mittal is concerned, who has got himself impleaded in the release proceedings, it has been urged that the landlord must prove his bona fide need and that if the landlord's bona fide need is not established, the issue of comparative hardship ought not to be examined. The Prescribed Authority opined that here, the landlord has well established his bona fide need and, therefore, the issue of comparative hardship has also been examined.

37. To these findings, this Court must add that so far as Mittal is concerned, he has virtually thrust himself through impleadment as a tenant, taking advantage of the fact that Giriraj Dharan and his father was a tenant in the demised shop. There is, however, hardly any evidence to show that, in fact, Mittal is carrying on business in the demised shop. The release application, therefore, moved against Giriraj Dharan alone could have been granted. Surprisingly, Giriraj Dharan has not appealed the judgment of the Prescribed Authority, releasing the demised shop. It is Mittal alone who has appealed to the District Judge and got the judgment of the Prescribed reversed. This feature of the case further tips the scale of comparative hardship against the tenant, where Mittal does not seem to have much of recorded presence as a tenant after his father.

38. Though not of much relevance under the Act, there is one fact that cannot be ignored, while judging equities between parties, that this Court must ensure in the exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. The tenant is occupying the demised shop at a measly rent of Rs.70/- per month. The demised shop has been held by virtue of protection under the Rent Control Laws for so long that it is of no use to the landlord at all.

39. In the clear opinion of this Court, the judgment passed by the Appellate Court is manifestly illegal, being based on irrelevant considerations and the result of a perverse approach. Bearing in mind the clear requirements of the law, on the facts obtaining and the equities arising between parties in this case, the judgment of the Appellate Court deserves to be quashed and that of the Prescribed Authority restored.

40. In the result, this writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 14.08.2008 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Mathura in P.A. Appeal No. 10 of 2008 is hereby quashed. The judgment of the Prescribed Authority in P.A. Case No. 3 of 2002 is restored. The tenants are granted three months' time to vacate the demised shop, provided they furnish an undertaking on affidavit before the Prescribed Authority, Mathura within 15 days of receipt of a certified copy of this judgment, stipulating that they will handover vacant and peaceful possession of the demised shop to the landlord on or before 10.01.2023. In case of default in either furnishing the requisite undertaking or delivering possession by the date fixed, the release order shall be carried into execution forthwith.

Malaya Nanda Sethy Vs St. of Orissa & ors. (Civil Appeal No. 4103/2022 (arising out of SLP No. 936/2022) dated 20.05.2022.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikram D. Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners and the learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The present writ petition is preferred challenging the order dated 28th January, 2015 passed by DIG (Establishment), Police Head Quarter, U.P., Allahabad and with a further prayer to issue a mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to appoint petitioner no.2 on compassionate ground in the office of the respondent.

3. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioners is that the husband of petitioner no.1 and father of petitioner no.2, namely, Late Prem Shankar Dwivedi was a Constable and he was posted at District Sultanpur in the year 1999. Late Prem Shankar Dwivedi died during his service while working on the post of Constable in District - Sultanpur. After the death of the deceased employee, petitioner no.1 submitted a representation dated 9th September 1999 before respondent no.2 and requested that petitioner no.1 is an illiterate lady and, therefore, compassionate appointment may be granted to her elder son, namely, Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi, as there is no earning member in the family of petitioner no.1 after death of her husband.

4. After completion of all the formalities and after due inquiry with regard to financial status of family, respondent no.2, has issued appointment letter dated 11th December, 2014 appointing Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (eldest son of deceased employee) on the post of Constable (M) and the aforesaid appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 further provided that Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi will appear before the Police Training Centre, Moradabad on 15th December, 2004 for six months training. Unfortunately, mental condition of Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi was very serious on 14th December, 2004 and, therefore, in place of joining the place of Training Centre, Moradabad for training on 15th December, 2004, he was hospitalized at Primary Health Centre, Tarun, Faizabad on 17th December, 2004 as he was suffering from mental disease and was continuously undergoing treatment.

5. On account of the aforesaid fact, eldest son of petitioner no.1 (namely Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi) could not join the aforesaid post. On 2nd May, 2006, petitioner no.1 filed a representation along with an affidavit before the respondent no.2 with a request that mental condition of her son namely Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi has deteriorated and is unable to join the post in question and as such appointment letter may be issued in favour of petitioner no.2, being younger son of petitioner no.1, namely, Shri Manoj Kumar Dwivedi for being appointed on compassionate ground.

6. After receiving the aforesaid representation of petitioners, respondent no.2 did not pass any order and as such petitioners preferred a reminder dated 1st January, 2008 before respondent no.2 along with an affidavit and medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. The petitioners thereafter approached the respondent no.2 on several occasions for consideration of appointment of petitioner no.2 on compassionate ground in place of his elder brother. However, no action was taken on the request of the petitioners.

7. Thereafter, the petitioner no.2 met respondent no.2 personally on 2nd July, 2008 at his office and narrated the entire grievance and further requested for grant of compassionate appointment. On the aforesaid, respondent no.2 orally directed the petitioner no.1 to file a fresh representation in respect of grant of compassionate appointment and in furtherance thereof, petitioner no. 1 has filed a representation dated 5th July, 2008 along with an affidavit and medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi before the respondent no.2.

8. Despite the aforesaid representation, no order was passed by the respondent no.2 for grant of compassionate appointment and as such the petitioner preferred Writ-A No.67008 of 2008 before this Court wherein a direction was issued on 27th August, 2012 to respondent no. 2 to consider the claim for compassionate appointment of petitioner no.2 in accordance with law by a reasoned order within a period of six weeks from the date of submission of a certified copy of the order. The respondent no.2 thereafter, referred the matter to respondent no.1 for condonation of delay in accordance with Rule 5 of U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred as Rules of 1974). The State Government by means of a communication dated 19th January, 2015 to the Police Head Quarter has rejected the application for compassionate appointment and has refused to condone the delay in preferring the application for compassionate appointment. In pursuance to the aforesaid, the respondent no.2 passed the impugned order dated 28th January, 2015 rejecting the claim of the petitioners.

9. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that the rejection of the claim of the petitioners is arbitrary and is not tenable under law. He submits that impugned order takes notice of the fact that the deceased employee expired on 7th August, 1999 and the application for compassionate appointment was submitted on 6th May, 2013, which is after a period of 13 years from the date of death of the employee and as such the application was held to be time barred. The respondents further did not find it appropriate to condone the delay in filing the application.

10. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioners is that the initial application for grant of compassionate appointment was submitted on 9th September, 1999 before the respondent no.2 and on the aforesaid application, appointment letter was issued in favour of eldest son of petitioner no.1 on 11th December, 2004. However, eldest son of petitioner no.1 could not join in pursuance of the appointment letter as he was mentally unfit and on account of aforesaid fact, petitioner no.1 again filed a representation dated 2nd May, 2006 before respondent no.1, that in place of eldest son of petitioner no. 1 namely Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi, who is now mentally unsound, the younger son of petitioner no.1, namely, Shri Manoj Kumar Dwivedi (Petitioner no. 2) be appointed. It is further submitted that the aforesaid application remained pending and the petitioner no. 1 had filed a reminder on 1st January, 2008 along with medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and an affidavit. It is further submitted that when no action was taken, petitioner no.2 met respondent no.2 personally on 2nd July, 2008 at his office and respondent no.2 orally directed petitioner no. 1 to submit a fresh representation in respect of the claim of petitioner no. 2 and, thereafter, a fresh representation dated 5th July, 2008 was submitted by petitioner no. 1 for appointment of petitioner no.2 on compassionate grounds.

11. Learned counsel for petitioners further submits that once the initial application has been submitted in the year 1999 and the respondents after considering the financial condition and other aspects of the matter has issued the appointment letter in favour of eldest son of petitioner no.1, who subsequently became medically unfit, when the appointment letter was issued, as such the petitioner no.1 by representation had requested for appointment of petitioner no.2 in place of eldest son Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and as such there is no delay in approaching the respondents for grant of compassionate appointment.

12. It is submitted that the application for compassionate appointment, which was firstly preferred in the year 1999 was finally considered by the respondents in 2004 and when the eldest son of the petitioner no. 1, namely, Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi could not join on account of his mental condition, an application was filed to appoint petitioner no.2 in his place and as such the circumstances in which the petitioner no. 1 was forced to apply for changing the offer of compassionate appointment in favour of petitioner no 1, warranted under law for condonation of delay (if any) in exercise of power under the proviso to Rule 5 of the Rules of 1974.

13. It is further submitted that the rejection of the claim of compassionate appointment of petitioners on the ground of delay, is arbitrary and untenable under law and without application of mind. While passing the impugned order, the authority concerned has not taken into consideration the aforesaid facts and circumstances which warranted condonation of delay and further the finding recorded in the impugned order that the petitioners applied for the first time in the year 2013 is also dehors the record.

14. It is further submitted on behalf of petitioners that the impugned order further rejects the claim of petitioners on the ground that the petitioners is receiving family pension to the tune of Rs.7,000/- per month and has income from agricultural land of Rs.7,700/- per month and as such respondent no.2 has held that financial condition of the petitioners is not such that the compassionate appointment may be granted. The respondent no.2 further by passing impugned order has taken objection to the marriage of petitioner no.2 during his poor financial condition and as such has denied compassionate appointment. It has also been taken note in the impugned order that the petitioner no.1 is illiterate however, she could have applied for appointment, as even illiterate persons are being given appointment on compassionate ground. The impugned order takes note of the fact that the medical certificate of petitioner no.1 has not been filed and that the petitioner no. 1 has waited for the fact that the petitioner no.2 becomes major and thereafter, has applied for grant of compassionate appointment.

15. It is submitted that the family pension being given to the petitioners is not sufficient particularly in view of the fact that eldest son of petitioner no.1 is suffering from mental illness and a family of four persons would not survive at a meagre family pension of Rs.7,000/- per month.

16. It is further submitted that the agricultural income shown as Rs.7,700/- per month is dehors the record as there was no evidence before the respondent authorities which could have found the basis of the aforesaid income nor any such documentary evidence was served on the petitioners neither any opportunity was given prior to determination of the agricultural income of the petitioners. He submits that initially on the death of the employee, the petitioner no.1 had given the name of his eldest son Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. However, on the date of issuance of appointment letter in 2004, he was mentally sick and as such he was not in a position to join the duties and as such respondents cannot raise objection that petitioner no.1 should have applied for grant of compassionate appointment. The rules in this respect give a right to any family member to be appointed on compassionate ground and as such the choice vests with the petitioners.

17. It is submitted that finding recorded by the respondent no.2 that petitioner no. 1 waited for the younger son Manoj Kumar Dwivedi to become major to apply for compassionate appointment is not in accordance with law as initially eldest son had applied for grant of compassionate appointment. However, he suffered from mental sickness and as such change was sought and petitioner no.2 was requested to be appointed on compassionate ground .

18. Learned Standing Counsel on behalf of the respondents submits that the husband of petitioner no.1 was posted as Constable in District Sultanpur, who died on 7th August, 1999 while in service. After the death of the aforesaid employee, petitioner no.1 applied for appointment of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (eldest son of deceased employee) on compassionate ground and the Police Head Quarter by order dated 11th December, 2004 appointed Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi as Constable (M) with the condition that Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi will join the Police Training Centre, Moradabad on 15th December, 2004.

19. Learned Standing Counsel further submitted that Shri Dinesh Kumar

Dwivedi due to his mental sickness could not join for training. Thereafter, petitioner no.1 preferred application for grant of compassionate appointment to petitioner no.2 in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. The aforesaid application remain pending and, therefore, this Court by order dated 27th August, 2015 passed in Writ-A No.67008 of 2008 directed the respondents to decide the claim of the petitioners for compassionate appointment within a period of six weeks from the date of submission of a certified copy of the order. However, the claim of the petitioners did not find favour of the authorities concerned and the same was rejected by means of the impugned order on the ground that the claim was filed after a period of five years and no ground was substantiated for condoning the delay in preferring the application. He submits that the application of the petitioners have been rightly rejected and the impugned order is in accordance with law.

20. Appointment in public service are to be made with open invitation to all eligible candidates and on merit. In all the government vacancies equal opportunity should be provided to all aspirants as mandated under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. However, appointment on compassionate ground offered to a dependent of a deceased employee is an exception to the said norms. The exception is carved out to meet certain exigencies and in the interest of justice out of humanitarian consideration. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the crisis. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved viz. relief against destitution. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family on account of sudden ending of erstwhile employment.

21. Appointment on compassionate grounds is not automatic, but subject to scrutiny of various parameters including the financial position of the family, the economic dependence of the family upon the deceased employee. Therefore, no one can claim to have a vested right for appointment on compassionate grounds.

22. In Malaya Nanda Sethy Vs. State of Orissa and others passed in Civil Appeal No. 4103 of 2022 [Arising out of S.L.P.(Civil) No. 936 of 2022] dated 20th May, 2022 has held that application for compassionate appointment is to be considered well in time. The consideration must be fair, reasonable and based on relevant considerations. The application cannot be rejected on the basis of frivolous and for reasons extraneous to the facts of the case. Then and then only the object and purpose of appointment on compassionate grounds can be achieved.

23. In the present case, husband of petitioner no.1 and father of petitioner no.2, namely, Late Prem Shankar Dwivedi was a Constable and he was posted at District - Sultanpur in the year 1999. However, he died on 7.8.1999 during his service while working on the post of Constable in District - Sultanpur. After the death of deceased employee, petitioner no.1 submitted a representation dated 9th September 1999, before the respondent no.2 and requesting that the petitioner no.1 is an illiterate lady and, therefore, compassionate appointment may be granted to her elder son, namely, Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi because there is no earning member in the family of petitioner no.1 after the death of her husband.

24. In pursuance to aforesaid application for grant of compassionate appointment, respondent no. 2 has issued an appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 directing the appointment of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (eldest son of the deceased employee) on the post of Constable (M) and the aforesaid appointment letter further provided that Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi will appear before the Police Training Centre, Moradabad on 15th December, 2004 for six months training.

25. Unfortunately, the mental condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi was very serious on 14th December, 2004 and, therefore, in place of joining the place of Training Centre, Moradabad for training on 15th December, 2004, he was hospitalized at Primary Health Centre, Tarun, Faizabad on 17th December, 2004 as he was suffering from mental disease and was continuously going under treatment. In this respect a medical certificate dated 17th December, 2007 has been issued by the In-charge, Medical Officer, Primary Health Centre, Tarun, Faizabad.

26. On account of the mental health of elder son of petitioner no. 1 not been favourable, petitioner no. 1 preferred representation dated 2nd May, 2006 along with affidavit informing the respondent authorities that mental health of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi have become worst and, therefore, requested that appointment letter be issued in favour of the petitioner no. 2 (younger son of petitioner no. 1) on compassionate ground. The aforesaid representation dated 2nd May, 2006 further stated that on 15th November, 2005 petitioner no. 1 had informed the Superintendent of Police, Sultanpur about the medical condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and had further requested for appointment of petitioner no. 2 in place of Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi.

27. When the respondents did not take any action on representation of the petitioner no. 1 for appointment of petitioner no. 2 in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi, then the petitioner no. 1 again filed a representation dated 1st January, 2008 before the respondent no. 2 along with affidavit and medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. Despite the aforesaid representation of the petitioner no. 1, no action was taken by the respondent authorities and only assurances were given that the matter would be taken up and the decision would be communicated. Since no order was being passed on the above-mentioned representation of the petitioners, the petitioners met the respondent no. 2 personally on 2nd July, 2008 at Allahabad and the entire grievance was narrated to respondent no. 2, then respondent no. 2 directed petitioner no. 1 to give a fresh representation along with entire records so that matter can be considered. On the oral direction of respondents, the petitioner no. 1 again preferred representation dated 5th July, 2008 along with affidavit and medical certificate for issuance of appointment letter in favour of petitioner no. 2 in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi on compassionate ground.

28. No action was taken by the respondents on the above-mentioned representations of petitioner no. 1 and as such the petitioner no. 1 preferred Writ Petition No 67008 of 2008 (Smt Gomti Devi Vs State of U.P.) before this Court. The above-mentioned writ petition was finally decided by judgement and order dated 27th August, 2012. By order dated 27th August, 2012 this Court directed the respondents to consider the claim for compassionate appointment of petitioner no. 2 in accordance with law by a reasoned order within a period of six weeks from the date of submission of certified copy of the order passed by this Court.

29. The petitioner no. 2 submitted the above-mentioned order dated 27th August, 2012 before the respondent no. 2 on 24th September, 2012 along with the covering letter through registered post. After receiving the certified copy of the order dated 27th August, 2012, respondent no. 2 has rejected the claim for compassionate appointment of the petitioner no. 2 by impugned order dated 28th January, 2015.

30. The claim for compassionate appointment is governed by Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974. The Rule 5 of the aforesaid Rules of 1974 provides that in case the government servant dies in harness after the commencement of these Rules and the spouse of the deceased government servant is not already employed under the Central Government or a State Government, one member of his family who is not already employed under the Central government or a State government shall on making an application for the purpose be given a suitable employment in government service on a post. The aforesaid Rules further provides that the application for employment shall be made within a period of five years from the date of death of the government servant. The Rules of 1974 further empower the State Government to relax the requirement including the time limit where it is satisfied that the time limit fixed for making application for employment causes undue hardship in a particular case.

31. A perusal of the impugned order dated 28th January, 2015 would demonstrate that the application for compassionate appointment of the petitioner no. 2 was send to the State Government treating the same to be beyond the five years limit prescribed in Rule 5 of the Rules of 1974. The respondent no. 2 by impugned order dated 28th January, 2015 rejected the claim of the petitioner no. 2 for compassionate appointment and thereby declined to relax the time limit provided in the above-mentioned Rules of 1974.

32. The rejection of the claim for compassionate appointment is made by the respondents on the ground that the deceased employee expired on 7th August, 1999 and the petitioner no. 1 has applied for appointment on compassionate ground by application dated 6th May, 2013 after almost 13 years of the death of the deceased employee. On the aforesaid basis respondents came to the conclusion that the application for compassionate appointment was barred by time. Further, the claim of petitioners has also been rejected on the ground that the petitioners are getting family pension of Rs. 7000/- per month and further income from agricultural land to the tune of Rs. 7700/- per month is being received by the petitioners and as such the respondents have come to the conclusion that the family is not in financial crisis. The respondents further taking note of the fact that the petitioner no. 2 is married and in case the financial condition of the petitioners' family was not good then the petitioner no. 2 would not have married. The impugned order further states that the petitioner no. 1 has not applied for compassionate appointment on the ground that she is illiterate despite the fact that the State Government also provide employment to illiterate person. The respondents further recorded that the petitioners have not filed any proof with regard to ill-health of petitioner no. 1 and petitioner no. 1 waited for petitioner no. 2 to become major and then has applied for grant of compassionate appointment and on the aforesaid basis claim of the petitioners for compassionate appointment has been rejected being filed beyond the time prescribed under the Rules of 1974.

33. In the present case, deceased employee expired on 7th August, 1999 and application for grant of compassionate appointment was preferred by petitioner no. 1 on 9th September, 1999 for appointment of elder son of petitioner no. 1 being Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. In the counter affidavit filed by the respondents in paragraph 10 it has been stated that the claim for compassionate appointment of the petitioner no. 1 for appointment of the elder son of petitioner no. 1 was processed by Superintendent of Police, Sultanpur by communication dated 8th March, 2000 within the time limit prescribed under the 1974 Rules and the appointment letter was issued on 11the December, 2004 in favour of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (elder son of petitioner no. 1) by the police head quarter.

34. In pursuance to above-mentioned appointment order dated 11th December, 2004, Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi could not join the post on account of his serious mental condition. The aforesaid fact with regard to Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi not joining in pursuance to the appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 is admitted by the respondents in the counter affidavit.

35. The petitioner no. 1 considering the mental health of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and the fact that he may not be able to join his post in pursuance to the appointment letter dated 11the December, 2004 preferred representation dated 2nd May, 2006 along with affidavit before the respondent no. 2 informing about the ill-health of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and further requesting that the petitioner no. 2 may be appointed in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. The aforesaid fact that the petitioner no. 1 had approach the respondent by representation dated 2nd May, 2006 has not been denied by the respondents in the counter affidavit. The representation dated 2nd May, 2006 further records that on 15th November, 2005, the Superintendent of Police, Sultanpur was informed about the aforesaid fact.

36. The petitioner no. 1 thereafter preferred representation dated 1st January, 2008 before the respondent no. 2 along with affidavit and medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi thereby requesting the respondent authorities to issue appointment letter in favour of petitioner no. 2 as the mental condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi is not such as would permit him to join his duties. The aforesaid representation dated 1st January, 2008 is not disputed by the respondents in the counter affidavit.

37. Thereafter the petitioner no. 1 has approached the office of respondent no.

2 and met him personally on 2nd July, 2008 at Allahabad and has narrated the entire grievance of the petitioner. The respondent no. 2 had orally directed the petitioner no. 1 to submit a fresh representation along with the entire record and as such petitioner no. 1 has filed representation dated 5th July, 2008 along with medical certificate of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and affidavit and has further requested for issuance of appointment letter in favour of petitioner no. 2. The aforesaid representation dated 5th July, 2008 has not been denied by the respondents in the counter affidavit. When no action was taken by the respondents on the representation of the petitioner no. 1, the petitioner no. 1 preferred Writ Petition No. 67008 of 2008 before this Court and said writ petition was disposed of by order dated 27th August, 2012 directing the respondents to take decision on the claim for compassionate appointment of the petitioner no. 2. Thereafter the claim for compassionate appointment of the petitioner no. 2 has been rejected by the respondent authorities by impugned order dated 28th January, 2015.

38. The basis for rejection of the claim of the petitioner no. 2 for grant of compassionate appointment is on account of the fact that the application for grant of compassionate appointment was preferred by petitioner no. 1 on 6th May, 2013 whereas the deceased employee has died on 7th August, 1999. As per the impugned order, the claim for compassionate appointment was made by the petitioners beyond the five years limit prescribed under the Rules of 1974.

39. The aforesaid ground for rejection of the claim of the petitioner is untenable in view of the fact that the petitioner no. 1 initially applied for grant of compassionate appointment on 9th September, 1999 and the aforesaid application of the petitioner for grant of compassionate appointment was processed by the respondent authorities and the appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 was issued in favour of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (elder son of petitioner no. 1). It is to be noted that petitioner no. 1 promptly made application for compassionate appointment on 9th September, 1999 (within a month from the date of death of the government servant) and the respondents after almost 4 years proceeded to decide the aforesaid application for compassionate appointment of the petitioners. The appointment letter for compassionate appointment was issued in favour of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi (elder son of petitioner no. 1) on 11th Decmeber, 2004, however, during the intervening period, mental health of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi deteriorated and as such, he was not in a position to join the post as per the appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004. The petitioner no. 1 thereafter approached the respondents for issuing appointment letter in favour of petitioner no. 2 (being the younger son of petitioner no. 1) in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. The initial information with regard to the aforesaid was submitted by the petitioner on 15th November, 2005 and thereafter the representation dated 2nd May, 2006 along with the affidavit was also submitted before the respondent authorities. Further representation was also submitted by the petitioner on 1st January, 2008 and 5th July, 2008. The aforesaid facts have not been disputed by the respondents in the counter affidavit filed in the present writ petition.

40. The impugned order takes notice of the application for grant of compassionate appointment of 6th May, 2013 despite the fact that prior to the aforesaid application, the petitioner had already preferred the application for compassionate appointment on 9th September, 1999 which was followed by issuance of appointment letter on 11th December, 2004 in favour of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. However, Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi could not join his duty on account of his mental health and as such representation dated 2nd May, 2006 was preferred bringing to the notice of the respondent authorities the ill-health and mental condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi and further for issuance of appointment letter in favour of petitioner no. 2 (younger son of petitioner no. 1). The aforesaid facts have not been considered by the respondent authorities while passing the impugned order.

41. The date of application for compassionate appointment is recorded in the impugned order as 6th May, 2013 despite the fact that it is an admitted case of the respondents that the first application for compassionate appointment was preferred in 1999 itself and thereafter in 2006, the petitioner no. 1 had requested the change of the name of the beneficiary of compassionate appointment in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi who was mentally not of sound mind to join the post offered. It is also to be noted that the respondent authorities by order dated 11th December, 2004 has issued appointment letter in favour of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi which was after considering all the aspects with regard to grant of compassionate appointment.

42. The petitioner no. 1 had sought replacement of the name of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi with the name of petitioner no. 2 on account of unsound mental condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi. In this respect the petitioners have also filed medical certificate and affidavit before the respondent authorities. All these aspects have not been considered by the respondent authorities while passing the impugned order. The finding recorded in the impugned order that application for compassionate appointment has been made on 6th May, 2013 is not sustainable as it is admitted in the counter affidavit that the application for compassionate appointment was preferred firstly in the year 1999 and thereafter in the year 2006 (for replacement of the name of the beneficiary), as such, the impugned order insofar it as it rejects the application of the petitioner as being time barred is not sustainable under law. The respondents are obliged under law to take a decision considering all the facts and circumstances of the case and the non-consideration of the facts herein before stated would make the impugned order unsustainable under law. The respondent authorities while passing the impugned order has failed to take into consideration the important facts which have bearing on the decision of the respondent authorities.

43. It is to be noted that the compassionate appointment was offered by the respondent authorities in pursuance to the application dated 9th September, 1999 to Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi, however, he could not join the post on account of his mental health and as such the petitioner no. 1 sought replacement of the name of the beneficiary as petitioner no. 2. It is to be noted that Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi has not joined his duties in pursuance to the appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 and the right of employment on compassionate ground which stood fortified by issuance of appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 has not extinguished on account of non-joining of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi on medical grounds and the subsequent replacement being sought by petitioner no. 1 by requesting for appointment of petitioner no. 2 in place of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi was in continuation of the earlier order dated 11th December, 2004. The aforesaid replacement of the beneficiary under the compassionate appointment scheme was being sought on account of the fact that the employee died in the year 1999 and application for appointment on compassionate ground was preferred in the year 1999 itself by petitioner no. 1, however, the respondent authorities issued the appointment letter on 11th December, 2004 and during the intervening period subsequent developments have taken place and as a result of the same, the mental health condition of Shri Dinesh Kumar Dwivedi was not such as he could have joined the post in pursuance to the appointment letter dated 11th December, 2004 and as such the petitioner no. 1 sought replacement of the name of beneficiary for grant of compassionate appointment in favour of the petitioner no. 2.

44. It is further to be noted that the claim for compassionate appointment was duly processed and accepted by the respondent authorities and appointment letter was issued in the year 2004, however, the acceptance of the compassionate appointment by the respondents could not be completed by joining of the beneficiary to the post on the ground of ill-health and as such although the respondents had issued the appointment letter, the beneficiary could not join duty and such peculiar facts and circumstances which have developed after the filing of the application for compassionate appointment in the year 1999 was required to be considered by the respondent authorities while passing the impugned order. The respondent authority while passing the impugned order has not taken aforesaid facts and circumstances into consideration and has passed the order mechanically. Such an approach by the respondent authorities is counter-productive to the very object for which the compassionate appointment scheme have been envisaged.

45. It is trite in law that facts of a particular case has a important bearing on the decision to be arrived at. The facts and particulars are the foundation on which the justice is to be administered. The administrative authorities while taking a decision is expected to consider all the material facts and circumstances to arrive at decision. Non-consideration of any material facts and circumstances may lead to injustice. The authority concerned is enjoined with the duty to apply the law on the facts and circumstances of a particular case while arriving at a decision. Such an approach is also required to bring fairness and stability to the decision arrived at by the administrative authority. Non-consideration of material facts and circumstances in a particular case may lead the decision as unfair and untenable under law. It is further to be noted that the decision-making authority is also a fact-finding authority and as such is required under law to consider all the facts in proper perspective so that a fair decision is arrived at by the authority concerned. Each matter before the administrative authority has its own peculiar features. The authority concerned is enjoined with the duty to apply these peculiar facts of the matter to the law applicable and then recorded finding on the claim before the aforesaid authority.

46. The respondent in the impugned order has further recorded a finding that the petitioners are receiving the family pension of Rs. 7000/- per month and further has agricultural income of Rs. 7700/- per month from agricultural land and as such there is no financial distress to the family of the deceased employee. It is to be noted that insofar as receiving of the family pension is concerned, the same was also before the respondent authorities when the decision for grant of compassionate appointment was taken in the year 2004 and the respondent authorities in considering the aforesaid fact of the matter has granted compassionate appointment to the elder son of the petitioner no 1. The respondent authorities further has concluded that the petitioners have agricultural income to the tune of Rs.7700/- per month. Learned counsel for the petitioners have disputed the aforesaid fact and has stated that the petitioners are earning Rs. 20,000/- per year from the agricultural land. The aforesaid fact has been stated in paragraph 14 of the writ petition, however, the aforesaid fact has not been denied in paragraph 18 of the counter affidavit. The basis on which the respondent authorities have come to the conclusion that the petitioners have agricultural income to the tune of Rs.7700/- per month has not been disclosed in the counter affidavit.

47. The impugned order is also silent on the basis on which the authority concerned has come to the conclusion that the petitioners is having agricultural income to the tune of Rs. 7700/- per month. The authority concerned while arriving at a decision is required to consider objectively the facts and circumstances of the case and any finding recorded by the authority concerned without there being factual foundation as well as evidence in support of the factual foundation would be unsustainable in law. The respondents have failed to bring on record any material to demonstrate as to how the respondents have come to the conclusion that the petitioners have agricultural income to the tune of Rs.7700/- per month and as such the finding of the respondents that the petitioners have agricultural income to the tune of Rs. 7700/- per month is wholly unsustainable in law.

48. It is further to be seen that the impugned order take notice of the family pension and agricultural income and comes to the conclusion that the petitioners are not in financial constraint and as such the compassionate appointment has been denied. The financial income of the family of a deceased employee is to be considered by the employer by taking into consideration whether the aforesaid income is enough to support the family in a dignified manner. The State is a welfare State and has duty under the Constitution to safeguard the interest of a citizen and provide them a dignified life. The respondent authority by passing the impugned order has not considered whether a meagre amount of Rs.14,700/- per month would be enough to support a family member of four persons of the deceased employee specially in view of the fact that one of the son of the deceased employee is having mental sickness and expenditure is being incurred in his well-being. The respondent authorities while passing the impugned order has not disclosed the reasons as to why the income of the family has been considered to be enough to support the family.

49. The respondent authorities were also required to consider the expenditure which the family of the deceased employee is required to incur to maintain the dignified life and should have objectively considered all the aforesaid aspect of the matter specifically when the mental health of the elder son of the deceased employee is not disputed in the counter affidavit filed by the respondents before this Court.

50. The respondents in the impugned order has further held that the petitioner no. 2 is married and in case the family was suffering from financial constraint then the petitioner no. 2 would not have married. The finding recorded by the respondents in the impugned order is wholly unsustainable in law. It is to be noted that the right to marry a person of one's own choice is an integral part of Article 21 of the Constitution. The marriage of a person has no rational nexus with the financial status of the person. It is to be noted that even a poor person has a right to marry under the Constitution and the respondents by passing the impugned order has held that the petitioner no. 2 is married and in case the financial position of the petitioners was not good then the petitioner no. 2 would not have married. The aforesaid finding of connecting the financial condition with the marriage is having no rational nexus. Even a poor person can marry despite financial constraint.

51. Marriage as an institution has great legal significance and various obligations and duties flow out of marital relationship. The institutions of marriage is important social institution that provide for the security, support and companionship of members of our society and bear an important role in the rearing of children. Marriage is one of the civil right of an individual.

52. The civil society is based on the foundation of social institutions and the cumulative aim of various social institution is to bring harmony and order in the civil society. The institution like marriage give recognition to the relationship by the civil society and law.

53. The marriage by itself would not denude an individual of his financial status. The poorest person of the country has a right to marry while his financial status may remain intact. Any interpretation by the administrative authorities on the sole criteria of marriage of an individual denuding the financial status of the said individual is arbitrary and has no nexus to the object of compassionate appointment. The financial position of an individual is to be assessed by the authority concerned on the settled criteria. The rules of compassionate appointment does not provide that the marriage of an individual would raise presumption that the individual has the financial capacity to support itself. The marital status of the members of the family may be a factor to consider the number of dependents in the family or number of bread earners in the family and such an approach should be considered to determine the financial crisis of the family of the deceased employee.

54. The impugned order further takes note that the petitioner no. 1 could have herself applied for compassionate appointment even if she is an illiterate person as the State even appoints an illiterate person. In this respect, it is to be noted that in the year 1999 itself when the deceased employee died, the petitioner no. 1 had applied for grant of compassionate appointment to the elder son of the petitioner no. 1. The Rules of 1974 provide that the employment should be granted to one member of the family of the deceased employee. The petitioner no. 1, therefore, had applied for appointment of the elder son of petitioner no. 1 for compassionate appointment, however, he could not joined the post on account of his mental illness and, therefore, the petitioner no. 1 had approached the respondent authorities for replacement of the name of beneficiary under the compassionate appointment scheme and the benefit of compassionate appointment be granted to petitioner no. 2.

55. It is the choice of the family members of the deceased employee as to the person who is to be accorded the benefit of compassionate appointment. Under the facts and circumstances, petitioners had promptly applied for grant of compassionate appointment in the year 1999 and decision of granting compassionate appointment was taken in the year 2004 by the respondent authorities and as such there was a huge delay on the part of respondent authorities in addressing the financial distress of the family of deceased employee and on account of the aforesaid delay subsequent intervening facts came into consideration by way of mental illness of elder son of petitioner no. 1 in respect of which the replacement of the beneficiary was sought by the petitioner no. 1 from the respondent authorities.

56. The petitioners have also filed the medical certificate and affidavit to bring on record facts and circumstances before the authority concerned. It is further to be noted that affidavit filed before the authority concerned it is disclosed that the deceased employee had two sons and one minor daughter and the elder son of the deceased employee was mentally ill. The aforesaid facts and circumstances have not been taken into consideration by the respondent authorities while passing the impugned order. The financial distress has not been addressed by the respondent authorities in proper perspective. The liabilities being faced by the family of the deceased employee on account of sudden death has not been considered by the respondent authority specifically the fact that one of the son of the deceased employee has suffered mental illness after the death of the employee concerned.

57. Although, respondent authorities have positively considered the application for compassionate appointment and had offered appointment to the elder son of the petitioner no. 1 in 2004, however, he was mentally unfit when the aforesaid offer for appointment was made and as such it was the duty of the respondent authorities to have considered the aforesaid facts and have offered the replacement. The respondent authorities while passing the impugned order further has not taken into consideration the liability that is faced by the family of the deceased employee on account of the medical treatment of the elder son of the deceased employee, who is mentally ill. The respondent authorities have only taken note of the income of the family of the deceased employee while passing the impugned order, however, has not dealt with the liability aspect as to whether the income generated by the family of the deceased employee is sufficient to meet out the liability of the family and would permit them to live a dignified life in consonance with Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

58. In view of the above-mentioned analysis the impugned order dated 28th January, 2015 passed by respondent no. 2 is not sustainable and as such is set aside and the matter is remanded back to respondent no. 2 to consider the application for compassionate appointment of petitioner no. 2 on merits and in accordance with law and in view of the observations made by this Court hereinabove. In peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, it is directed that the application for compassionate appointment shall be considered by the respondents as within time. The above-mentioned exercise shall be completed by the respondents within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of the order. The respondents shall prior to passing of the order shall give an opportunity of hearing to the petitioners.

59. As a result the writ petition is allowed with direction as detailed herein above.

3. Col. B. J. Akkara (Retd.) Vs Government of India, (2006 vol. 11 SCC 709).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikram D. Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was working on the post of Junior Engineer under the respondents and has since retired on 30.06.2014 from the office of Executive Engineer, Rural Engineering Services, Gorakhpur. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that a liability was fixed against the petitioner on the ground of excess payment of ₹ 99,856/-

. The aforesaid liability is in respect of the year 2011-12 for construction of drain and road under Dr. Ambedkar project scheme for an estimate of ₹ 80.75 lakhs. Against the aforesaid estimated value, the financial and administrative approval was accorded to the tune of ₹ 56.15 lakhs and in pursuance thereof, a contract was executed on 12.09.2011. After completion of the contract, the total payment made was ₹ 55,49,856/-. The respondents have disputed the difference of amount of ₹ 99,856/- after taking measurement. The petitioner came to know about the aforesaid liability been fixed after his retirement thereafter the petitioner has moved an application before the Executive Engineer on 12.03.2016 giving details of circumstances in which the difference arisen and the amount should not be realised. It is further submitted that the petitioner has regularly represented the respondent authorities however the grievance of the petitioner was not decided and retirement dues after retirement of petitioner was not paid. After the retirement of the petitioner on 08.09.2016 another order was passed by the respondent No.4 claiming wrong fixation of promotional pay scale since 01.12.2008 and as such, the difference of amount of ₹ 3,10,022.00 was sought to be recovered. It is further submitted that thereafter on 02.05.2017, an order has been passed by the Additional Director, Treasury and pension, Varanasi Region, Varanasi directing adjustment of ₹ 4,09,878/- from the retirement dues of the petitioner. By means of impugned order, adjustment of ₹ 4,09,878/- is being made from the retiral dues of the petitioner. It is further submitted that the petitioner submitted representation dated 13.04.2017 before the respondent authorities against the order dated 08.09.2016. Petitioner further filed a representation dated 01.04.2017 before the respondent authorities against the recovery of ₹ 99,856.00.

3. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that payment of excess salary was made in the year 2008 and aforesaid wrong fixation was not detected by the respondent and they have proceeded to initiate the recovery proceeding after retirement of the petitioner on 30.6.2014. It is further submitted that the retiral dues have been released, however now the amount is being adjusted from the pension. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that neither the petitioner was in any manner involved in the fixation of third ACP nor any fraud or misrepresentation has been attributed to the petitioner in respect of wrong fixation. He has further submitted that the petitioner is entitled to protection in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in State of Punjab and others Vs. Rafiq Masih (White Washer) (2015) 4 SCC 334.

4. Learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State submits that financial and administrative approval was given for work to the tune of ₹ 60 lakhs by the Government. The Executive Engineer sanctioned ₹ 54.50 lakh for the work in question and as such, petitioner was authorised to make payment to the extent of ₹ 54.50 lakh, however, petitioner has made payment of ₹ 55, 49,856.00/- and as such, a payment of ₹ 99,856.00 has been excessively paid by the petitioner and the aforesaid amount is also sought to be recovered from the petitioner by impugned order. It is further submitted by learned Standing Counsel that the excess of salary paid and excess of payment made to the contract by the petitioner is sought to be recovered by means of the impugned order.

Learned standing counsel do not dispute the fact that wrong fixation of salary was made in the year 2008 and the same was detected after retirement of the petitioner in the year 2014 and therefore, recovery is being made from the retiral dues. He submits that the recovery is being made on the basis of consent letter submitted by the petitioner, which is at page 51 of the writ petition. On the aforesaid basis, learned Standing Counsel submits that once the petitioner himself has given consent for recovery then he cannot resile from his consent.

5. The service of employee is governed by the terms and condition provided in the service rules or otherwise. The salary and other financial benefits are provided by the employer to the employee after due sanction in accordance with law. The employee is entitled to financial benefits arising out of the service to the extent as may be permissible under the relevant service rules or the Government Orders issued from time to time. No employee has the indefensible right to obtain financial benefits in respect of service from his employer where the aforesaid financial benefits do not have the sanction of law.

6. In some cases employees are extended financial benefits in respect of the service which the said employees are not entitled under law. The financial benefits so extended may be by mistake of employer or by fraud or misrepresentation of the employee. The employee is entitled to receive the financial benefits including salary arising out of the service only to the extent as may be sanctioned by the employer in accordance. The employer is obliged to sanction these financial benefits to his employee in accordance with law. However, the difficulty may arise where on account of mistake of employer, financial benefits is extended to its employee which are not permissible under law.

7. Under the common law, a payment made by mistake is entitled to be recovered. The recovery of payment is based on the principle of enrichment. One should not unjustly profit at the expense of another. The said principle is also reflected under Section 72 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

8. In the present case, employer is the State and the action of the State is required to be in consonance with the Constitution. The action of the state is required to be just, fair and reasonable. State action which is arbitrary and unfair, would not stand the concept of justice enshrined under the Constitution. If the excess amount was not paid on account of any misrepresentation or fraud of the employee or if such excess payment was made by the employer by applying a wrong principle for calculating the pay/allowance or on the basis of a particular interpretation of Rule/Order which is subsequently found to be erroneous, such recovery of excess payment of financial benefits may visit the employee with greater hardship more particularly where the employee has retired from service. An employee would spend whatever emoluments he receives for the upkeep of his family. If he receives an excess financial benefits for a long period, he would spend it, genuinely believing that he is entitled to it as such any subsequent action to recover the excess payment will cause undue hardship to the employee. The State/Government is expected to reflect the constitutional mandate in all its action. The employer/State is under obligation to mitigate the hardship of the employee more particularly when the hardship arises out of the mistake of the employer.

9. The Apex Court in Rafiq Masih (supra) has recognised that the State action should be in consonance with the concept of justice enshrined in the Constitution. The Apex Court has further observed that the right to recover being pursued by the employer, will have to be compared, with the effect of the recovery on the employee concerned. If the effect of the recovery from the employee concerned would be, more unfair, more wrongful, more improper, and more unwarranted, than the corresponding right of the employer to recover the amount, then it would be iniquitous and arbitrary, to effect the recovery. In such a situation, the employee's right would outbalance, and therefore eclipse, the right of the employer to recover.

10. The Apex Court in Rafiq Masih, (supra) has observed as under :

"8. As between two parties, if a determination is rendered in favour of the party, which is the weaker of the two, without any serious detriment to the other (which is truly a welfare State), the issue resolved would be in consonance with the concept of justice, which is assured to the citizens of India, even in the Preamble of the Constitution of India. The right to recover being pursued by the employer, will have to be compared, with the effect of the recovery on the concerned employee. If the effect of the recovery from the concerned employee would be, more unfair, more wrongful, more improper, and more unwarranted, than the corresponding right of the employer to recover the amount, then it would be iniquitous and arbitrary, to effect the recovery. In such a situation, the employee's right would outbalance, and therefore eclipse, the right of the employer to recover.

9. The doctrine of equality is a dynamic and evolving concept having many dimensions. The embodiment of the doctrine of equality can be found in Articles 14 to 18 contained in Part III of the Constitution of India, dealing with "fundamental rights". These Articles of the Constitution, besides assuring equality before the law and equal protection of the laws; also disallow discrimination with the object of achieving equality, in matters of employment; abolish untouchability, to upgrade the social status of an ostracised section of the society; and extinguish titles, to scale down the status of a section of the society, with such appellations. The embodiment of the doctrine of equality, can also be found in Articles 38, 39, 39-A, 43 and 46 contained in Part IV of the Constitution of India, dealing with the "directive principles of State policy". These Articles of the Constitution of India contain a mandate to the State requiring it to assure a social order providing justice-social, economic and political, by inter alia minimising monetary inequalities, and by securing the right to adequate means of livelihood, and by providing for adequate wages so as to ensure, an appropriate standard of life, and by promoting economic interests of the weaker sections.

10. In view of the aforestated constitutional mandate, equity and good conscience in the matter of livelihood of the people of this country has to be the basis of all governmental actions. An action of the State, ordering a recovery from an employee, would be in order, so long as it is not rendered iniquitous to the extent that the action of recovery would be more unfair, more wrongful, more improper, and more unwarranted, than the corresponding right of the employer, to recover the amount. Or in other words, till such time as the recovery would have a harsh and arbitrary effect on the employee, it would be permissible in law. Orders passed in given situations repeatedly, even in exercise of the power vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India, will disclose the parameters of the realm of an action of recovery (of an excess amount paid to an employee) which would breach the obligations of the State, to citizens of this country, and render the action arbitrary, and therefore, violative of the mandate contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of India."

11. The employee under law has no right against recovery but in equity, exercising judicial discretion the recovery is disallowed to provide relief to the employees from the hardship that will be caused if the recovery is permitted. The said principle is recognised by Apex Court in judgement rendered on 2.5.2022 in Civil Appeal No.7115 of 2010 (Thomas Daniel Vs. State of Kerala and others)

"9. This Court in a catena of decisions has consistently held that if the excess amount was not paid on account of any misrepresentation or fraud of the employee or if such excess payment was made by the employer by applying a wrong principle for calculating the pay/allowance or on the basis of a particular interpretation of rule/order which is subsequently found to be erroneous, such excess payment of emoluments or allowances are not recoverable. This relief against the recovery is granted not because of any right of the employees but in equity, exercising judicial discretion to provide relief to the employees from the hardship that will be caused if the recovery is ordered. This Court has further held that if in a given case, it is proved that an employee had knowledge that the payment received was in excess of what was due or wrongly paid, or in cases where error is detected or corrected within a short time of wrong payment, the matter being in the realm of judicial discretion, the courts may on the facts and circumstances of any particular case order for recovery of amount paid in excess."

12. In Col. B.J. Akkara (Retd.) Vs. Government of India, (2006) 11 SCC 709, Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as under:

"28. Such relief, restraining back recovery of excess payment, is granted by courts not because of any right in the employees, but in equity, in exercise of judicial discretion to relieve the employees from the hardship that will be caused if recovery is implemented. A government servant, particularly one in the lower rungs of service would spend whatever emoluments he receives for the upkeep of his family. If he receives an excess payment for a long period, he would spend it, genuinely believing that he is entitled to it. As any subsequent action to recover the excess payment will cause undue hardship to him, relief is granted in that behalf. But where the employee had knowledge that the payment received was in excess of what was due or wrongly paid, or where the error is detected or corrected within a short time of wrong payment, courts will not grant relief against recovery. The matter being in the realm of judicial discretion, courts may on the facts and circumstances of any particular case refuse to grant such relief against recovery."

13. In the matter of recovery, it is well settled if certain payment has been made to the employee on account of any fault of the employer, and for which the employee is not responsible, namely, not guilty of fraud or misrepresentation, in such a case, the amount which has already been received by the employee and he has spent, should not be recovered.

14. The Apex Court in Rafiq Masih (supra) has summarised some situations of hardship in which the payments made by mistake cannot be recovered. In this context paragraph 12 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereunder:

"12. It is not possible to postulate all situations of hardship which would govern employees on the issue of recovery, where payments have mistakenly been made by the employer, in excess of their entitlement. Be that as it may, based on the decisions referred to hereinabove, we may, as a ready reference, summarise the following few situations, wherein recoveries by the employers, would be impermissible in law:

(i) Recovery from employees belonging to Class III and Class IV service (or Group C and Group D service).

(ii) Recovery from retired employees, or employees who are due to retire within one year, of the order of recovery.

(iii) Recovery from employees, when the excess payment has been made for a period in excess of five years, before the order of recovery is issued.

(iv) Recovery in cases where an employee has wrongfully been required to discharge duties of a higher post, and has been paid accordingly, even though he should have rightfully been required to work against an inferior post.

(v) In any other case, where the court arrives at the conclusion, that recovery if made from the employee, would be iniquitous or harsh or arbitrary to such an extent, as would far outweigh the equitable balance of the employer's right to recover."

15. Learned Standing Counsel has not disputed the proposition of law laid down in Rafiq Masih (supra) and Thomas Daniel (supra). It is submitted by learned Standing Counsel that recovery is being made on the strength of the consent of the petitioner, which is at page 51 of the writ petition. It is further submitted that by consent letter dated 08.07.2016 petitioner has permitted the employer to realise the amount.

16. It is not in dispute between the parties that the petitioner is Class III employee and has retired 30.6.2014 and after his retirement, recovery is being made. The recovery of the amount of ₹ 4,09,878.00/- is being made from the petitioner. The aforesaid amount includes an amount of ₹ 99,856/- being an amount in excess paid by the petitioner to the contractor for executing the work contract. Further an amount of ₹ 3,10,022/- is sought to be recovered on account of excess salary paid to the petitioner from 12.8.2008. It is to be noted that the petitioner has retired from service on 30.06.2014 and the order of recovery has been passed from the retiral dues of the petitioner on 08.09.2016.

17. The recovery of the aforesaid amount is being made on the strength of the fact that the excess payment has been made to the petitioner on account of incorrect fixation of salary by mistake and further that the petitioner has made excess payment to the contractor which the State had suffered loss.

18. Insofar as the loss suffered by the State on account of excess payment made by the petitioner to the tune of ₹ 99,856/- to the contractor for the work contract executed, such a loss is alleged to be suffered by the State is of the year 2011-12 when the petitioner was in service. After the retirement when the petitioner came to know with regard to the aforesaid recovery been made from the petitioner, the petitioner by means of application dated 12.03.2016 filed objection to the aforesaid recovery explaining that the amount has been paid to the contractor as is permissible under law. The objection raised by the petitioner against the aforesaid recovery of excess payment made to the contractor was not decided by the employer and as such reminder dated 20.03.2016 was sent to the Executive Engineer.

19. Thereafter on 31.03.2016, respondent No.3 forwarded a letter to respondent No.4 directing that the representation of the petitioner should be decided at the earliest. However, no order was passed by the respondents on the aforesaid objection of petitioner. The petitioner thereafter has further submitted a representation dated 01.04.2017 and 22.05.2017. The stand in the counter affidavit in paragraph 15 is that the representations of the petitioner were decided by order dated 08.09.2016 and 20.04.2017. A perusal of above-mentioned orders dated 08.09.2016 and 28.04.2017 would demonstrate that the objection by the petitioner against the aforesaid recovery by filing of objection/representation has not been considered and an order has been passed mechanically and without application of mind to the objection raised by the petitioner against recovery. It is to be noted that the employee can always show by filing representation/objection that the recovery/loss to the State is not attributable to the petitioner and that the payment has been made in accordance with law. The employer is required to consider the case of the petitioner in the light of objection raised by the employee. However in the present case, the objection raised by the employee by means of representation have not been considered nor the same has been decided. Such an approach by the employer is in gross violation of principles of natural justice and fair play.

20. The other amount sought to be recovered is with regard to payment of excess salary to the petitioner from the year 2008. The petitioner has retired on 30.06.2014 from the service and after the retirement of the petitioner, excess salary is sought to be recovered by means of impugned orders dated 08.09.2016 and 02.05.2017. It is not the case of the respondents that any fraud or misrepresentation has been made by the petitioner while fixation of the salary. The payment of excess salary is on account of mistake of the employer. As such. in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in Rafiq Masih (supra) and Thomas Daniel (supra), the aforesaid recovery in not permissible under law.

21. Learned Standing Counsel has tried to defend the recovery of the amount on the basis of consent letter dated 08.07.2016 of the petitioner which according to learned Standing Counsel is the consent to adjust the amount of excess payment made to the petitioner from the retiral dues of the petitioner. He submits that the recovery has been effected on the basis of consent letter dated 08.07.2016 of the petitioner.

22. A bare perusal of the above-mentioned consent letter dated 08.07.2016 of the petitioner would go to show that since the petitioner had retired on 30.06.2014 and even after a lapse of two years, retiral benefits of the petitioner were not been paid on account of alleged recovery against the petitioner, the petitioner requested the respondents to temporarily stop the amount equivalent to the alleged recovery and remaining retiral benefits may be released. The petitioner had requested the respondents to temporarily stop the payment of the amount equivalent to the alleged recovery from the retiral dues of the petitioner since the representation against the aforesaid recovery was pending before the respondents for consideration. The aforesaid consent was only to stop the due amount temporarily till the objection and representation of petitioner is pending and release the remaining amount. The employee had never given an undertaking that the recovery amount may be adjusted from the dues.

23. There is one more aspect of the matter that the payment of salary and other financial benefits of an employee is always subject to audit proceeding. Each department of the government is subjected to audit periodically, such periodical audit is done with the object that any mistake by the employer or the authority concerned in payment of financial benefit to the employee, the same may be brought to the knowledge and rectified at the earliest. In the present case, the mistake was made in the year 2008 when the third ACP was granted, however the same was detected after his retirement in the year 2016. The audit is normally held periodically and nothing has been brought on record as to why the audit has not objected to such erroneous fixation earlier. If the government has established the Audit Department to keep a check then it is imperative on the aforesaid department to raise the issue at the earliest. Once an employee has retired and has travelled in service for substantial years after fixation of pay then recovery of such amount at the behest of the employer when there is no fault of employee will entail hardship as the recovery under the equity jurisdiction is not permissible under law.

24. As a result, the writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 8.9.2016 passed by Executive Engineer, Rural Engineering Department, Ghazipur Division Ghazipur and consequential order dated 2.5.2017 passed by Additional Director, Treasury and Pension, Varanasi Region, Varanasi, are set aside.

25. Consequentially, the amount recovered in pursuance to the impugned orders dated 8.9.2016 and 2.5.2017, shall be restored in favour of the petitioner within a period of three months.

1. Heard Shri Araf Khan, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned standing counsel for the State-respondent and Shri M.C.Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advicate assisted by Ms. Arti Raje, learned counsel for respondent nos. 2 to 4.

Brief Facts:-

2. Briefly stated, facts of the present case are that the petitioner's husband, namely Hani Khan died on 10.04.2022 on account of electrocution by 11 KV overhead line which was installed by the respondents at a height of less than 4.7 meters in breach of Rule 77 of of the Rules, 1956 and non-maintenance of the aforesaid line by the respondents as per provisions of Rule 29 of the Rules, 1956.

3. As per admitted case of the respondents, the death of the husband of the petitioner was caused on 10.04.2022. The petitioner submitted entire desired papers including certificate of Maharani Laxmi Bai Medical College and Hospital, Jhansi, dated 10.04.2022 in which cause of death of her husband has been shown as electric current, Panchnama dated 10.04.2022 and death certificate dated 20.04.2022 etc. of her husband.

4. Petitioner's statement was recorded by the competent authority/Electricity Safety Officer on 13.04.2022. Form 4 under Section 161(2) of the Electricity Act, 2003 was submitted by the Deputy Director, Electricity Safety, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Jhansi, Region, Jhansi on 18.04.2022 in which the entire particulars of the incidence and the investigation report etc. were well mentioned with reference to documentary evidences, namely, first information report dated 11.04.2022, detailed report dated 11.04.2022, police report, medical report received on 15.04.2022 and investigation report dated 13.04.2022 etc. The fact of cause of death of the petitioner's husband being electric current and negligence of officers and employees were also recorded in the said report.

5. On 18.04.2022 the Deputy Director, Electricity Safety, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Jhansi Region, Jhansi, submitted a report to the respondent no.2 requesting him to take action as per relevant Government orders and also submitted that investigation under Section 161 of the Electricity Act, 2003 has been completed and recommendation for compensation to the petitioner has been made which is to be paid by the Electricity Distribution Corporation. Thus, by 18.04.2022 all the required investigation and reports were submitted by the competent authorities to the respondent no.2 for payment of compensation to the petitioner.

6. In paragraph 8 of the writ petition, the petitioner has specifically stated that her deceased husband was working as a contractor of M/s. Sri Ramdoot Steelfab and his total income was around Rs.3,50,000/- per annum and in support thereof she has also submitted proof of income namely income tax return/acknowledgement relating to A.Ys. 2017-18, 2019-20 (Net Total Income Rs.3,47,630/-) and 2021-22 (Net Total Income Rs.3,71,230/-), copies of which have been collectively filed as Annexure 7 to the writ petition. The contents of paragraph-8 of the writ petition regarding annual income of the deceased to be Rs.3,50,000/- supported by documentary evidences as aforementioned has been admitted by the respondents in paragraph-7 of the counter affidavit/ affidavit of compliance dated 06.09.2022.

7. Thus, it is undisputed that the income of the deceased based on average income of last three years, was more than Rs.3,50,000/- per annum. It has also been admitted by the respondents in paragraph-6 of the aforesaid personal affidavit/ counter affidavit dated 06.09.2022 that the death of the petitioner's husband was caused due to defective installation of 11 KV overhead line.

8. Thus, as per admitted case of the respondents, the death of the petitioner's husband was caused on 10.04.2022 due to defective installation of 11 KV overhead line of the respondents. Since on admitted facts of the case, the respondents have not paid compensation to the petitioner, therefore, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition praying for the following relief:

"i) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of MANDAMUS commanding/ directing the Respondents to compensate the victim's family with such justifiable/ reasonable amount which this Hon'ble court may deem fit and necessary in the interest of justice at the earliest.

ii) Pass any other order or direction which this Hon'ble court may deem fit and necessary in the interest of justice"

Submissions:-

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner is entitled for just compensation on the basis of her deceased husband's admitted annual income, in terms of the law laid down in two Division Bench judgments of the this court in Shiv Ranshu Chhuneja vs. State Of U.P. And Others (WRIT - C No. - 10191 of 2009, decided on 10.04.2018) and in Yash Pal Singh (Minor)& Anr. vs. State Of U.P. Thru.Prin. Secy. (Electricity) & 5 Ors. (MISC. BENCH No. - 6929 of 2014, decided on 24.04.2017). Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the petitioner is a widow lady and there are four dependents of the deceased and she is running from pillar to post to get just compensation in terms of the aforesaid judgments read with the policy decision of the respondents dated 25.09.2021 but compensation has not been paid to them and she and her family have been left with no source of income for their survival. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that it is only after this court passed the order dated 01.09.2022 and 08.09.2022, the respondents have paid merely a sum of Rs.5 lacs and stated on 09.09.2022 before this Court that the total compensation is Rs.7,23,506/- out of which Rs.5 lacs have been paid as per sanction letter dated 03.09.2022 and the balance amount of Rs.2,23,500/- shall be paid soon. He submits that the aforesaid computation of the compensation is based merely on notional income of Rs.51,000/- per annum whereas it has been admitted by the respondents that the actual annual income of the deceased from contract work was Rs.3,50,000/-. He submits that under the circumstances, the writ petition deserves to be allowed with exemplary cost.

10. Learned counsel for the respondents submits that the facts of incident causing death of the petitioner's husband due to defective installation of 11

KV overhead line and his income have been admitted by the respondents in paragraphs-6 and 7 of their personal affidavit/ counter affidavit dated 06.09.2022. He submits that the aforesaid judgments relied by the learned counsel for the petitioner have no application on facts of the present case inasmuch as subsequent to the aforesaid judgments, a policy decision providing compensation has been taken by the U.P. Power Corporation on 25.09.2021 in 169th Meeting and compensation is liable to be paid accordingly.

Discussion and Findings:-

11. We have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the records of the writ petition.

12. It is admitted by the respondents that the deceased husband of the petitioner namely Hani Khan died on 10.04.2022 due to electrocution on account of defective installation of 11 KV overhead line by the respondents. It has also been admitted by the respondents in their personal/ counter affidavit dated 06.09.2022 that the actual income of the deceased husband of the petitioner was Rs.3,50,000/- per annum based on last three years income tax return.

13. The policy decision of the U.P. Power Corporation dated 25.09.2021 for payment of compensation in case of death or disability due to electrocution, much relied by the respondents, is reproduced below:

निदेशक मण्डल की आज्ञा से''

14. As per para-2 read with "guidelines for compensation on electrocution" of the afore-quoted policy decision dated 25.09.2021 of the respondents, the compensation is to be determined on the basis of income of the victim with minimum compensation of Rs.5 lakhs. However, in the absence of proof of actual income so as to avoid litigation and to grant compensation quickly to the dependents of the deceased, a notional income of Rs.51,000/-, i.e. Rs.140/- per day has been provided in the aforesaid policy decision. In the present set of facts, the actual annual income of the deceased husband of the petitioner has been admitted by the respondents at Rs.3,50,000/- per annum and yet the compensation of merely Rs.7,23,500/- has been determined by them on the basis of notional income of Rs.51,000/- per annum. A computation chart and the policy decision dated 25.09.2021 produced by the respondents before us on 08.09.2022 have been kept on record. In the aforesaid computation chart, the respondents have admitted the number of dependents of the deceased to be four and the age of the deceased to 27 years.

15. Thus, as per admitted case of the respondents, the compensation for death of the husband of the petitioner due to electrocution on 10.04.2022 is payable to the petitioner applying the multiplier of 18 as per aforequoted policy decision of the corporation dated 25.09.2021.

Compensation - should be just, reasonable and guided by principles of fairness, equity and good conscience:-

16. In Kirti v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., (2021) 2 SCC 166 (Para-10), Hon'ble Supreme Court has laid down the law that any compensation awarded by a court ought to be just, reasonable and consequently must undoubtedly be guided by principles of fairness, equity and good conscience. In the case of Kajal v. Jagdish Chand, (2020) 4 SCC 413 (para-33), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that it is well settled law that in the motor accident claim petitions, the Court must award the just compensation and, in case, the just compensation is more than the amount claimed, that must be awarded especially where the claimant is a minor. In the case of Kajal (Supra) (Paras-8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14), Hon'ble Supreme Court quoted with approval certain foreign judgments and its own judgment and held as under:

"8. In Phillips v. London & South Western Railway Co., (1879) [L.R.] 5 Q.B.D. 78 (CA), Field, J., while emphasising that damages must be full and adequate, held thus : (QBD p. 79)

"... You cannot put the plaintiff back again into his original position, but you must bring your reasonable common sense to bear, and you must always recollect that this is the only occasion on which compensation can be given. The plaintiff can never sue again for it. You have, therefore, now to give him compensation once and for all. He has done no wrong, he has suffered a wrong at the hands of the defendants and you must take care to give him full fair compensation for that which he has suffered."

Besides, the Tribunals should always remember that the measures of damages in all these cases "should be such as to enable even a tortfeasor to say that he had amply atoned for his misadventure".

9. In Mediana, In re, 1900 AC 113 (HL), Lord Halsbury held : (AC pp. 116-17)

"... Of course the whole region of inquiry into damages is one of extreme difficulty. You very often cannot even lay down any principle upon which you can give damages; nevertheless, it is remitted to the jury, or those who stand in place of the jury, to consider what compensation in money shall be given for what is a wrongful act. Take the most familiar and ordinary case : how is anybody to measure pain and suffering in moneys counted? Nobody can suggest that you can by any arithmetical calculation establish what is the exact amount of money which would represent such a thing as the pain and suffering which a person has undergone by reason of an accident. In truth, I think it would be very arguable to say that a person would be entitled to no damages for such things. What manly mind cares about pain and suffering that is past? But nevertheless the law recognises that as a topic upon which damages may be given."

10. The following observations of Lord Morris in his speech in H. West & Son Ltd. v. Shephard, 1964 AC 326 : (1963) 2 WLR 1359 (HL), are very pertinent : (AC p. 346)

"... Money may be awarded so that something tangible may be procured to replace something else of the like nature which has been destroyed or lost. But money cannot renew a physical frame that has been battered and shattered. All that Judges and courts can do is to award sums which must be regarded as giving reasonable compensation. In the process there must be the endeavour to secure some uniformity in the general method of approach. By common assent awards must be reasonable and must be assessed with moderation. Furthermore, it is eminently desirable that so far as possible comparable injuries should be compensated by comparable awards."

In the same case, Lord Devlin observed (at p. 357) that the proper approach to the problem was to adopt a test as to what contemporary society would deem to be a fair sum, such as would allow the wrongdoer to "hold up his head among his neighbours and say with their approval that he has done the fair thing?", which should be kept in mind by the court in determining compensation in personal injury cases.

11. Lord Denning while speaking for the Court of Appeal in Ward v. James, (1966) 1 QB 273 : (1965) 2 WLR 455 : (1965) 1 All ER 563 (CA), laid down the following three basic principles to be followed in such like cases : (QB pp. 299-300)

"First, assessibility : In cases of grave injury, where the body is wrecked or the brain destroyed, it is very difficult to assess a fair compensation in money, so difficult that the award must basically be a conventional figure, derived from experience or from awards in comparable cases. Secondly, uniformity : There should be some measure of uniformity in awards so that similar decisions are given in similar cases; otherwise there will be great dissatisfaction in the community, and much criticism of the administration of justice. Thirdly, predictability : Parties should be able to predict with some measure of accuracy the sum which is likely to be awarded in a particular case, for by this means cases can be settled peaceably and not brought to court, a thing very much to the public good."

12. The assessment of damages in personal injury cases raises great difficulties. It is not easy to convert the physical and mental loss into monetary terms. There has to be a measure of calculated guesswork and conjecture. An assessment, as best as can, in the circumstances, should be made.

13. McGregor's Treatise on Damages, 14th Edition, Para 1157, referring to heads of damages in personal injury actions states:

"The person physically injured may recover both for his pecuniary losses and his non-pecuniary losses. Of these the pecuniary losses themselves comprise two separate items viz. the loss of earnings and other gains which the plaintiff would have made had he not been injured and the medical and other expenses to which he is put as a result of the injury, and the courts have sub-divided the non-pecuniary losses into three categories viz. pain and suffering, loss of amenities of life and loss of expectation of life."

14. In Concord of India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Nirmala Devi, (1979) 4 SCC 365 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 996 : 1980 ACJ 55, this Court held : (SCC p. 366, para 2)

"2. ... the determination of the quantum must be liberal, not niggardly since the law values life and limb in a free country in generous scales."

17. Thus, as per settled principles of law, the respondents are bound to award just compensation to the petitioner for fatal accident on account of their own negligence which caused the death of the husband of the petitioner on 10.04.2022. However, despite there being admitted proof of actual income of the deceased to be Rs.3,50,000/- per annum, the respondents have computed compensation on the basis of assumed notional income of the deceased as Rs.51,000/- per annum.

Concept of Notional Income:-

18. Kirti v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. (supra) (Para-17, 18 and 19), Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that there are two distinct categories of situations wherein the court usually determines notional income of a victim. The first category of cases relates to those wherein the victim was employed, but the claimants are not able to prove victim's actual income, before the court. In such a situation, the court "guesses" the income of the victim on the basis of the evidence on record, like the quality of life being led by the victim and her family, the general earning of an individual employed in that field, the qualifications of the victim, and other considerations. The second category of cases relates to those situations wherein the Court is called upon to determine the income of a non-earning victim, such as a child, a student or a homemaker. Different principles are adopted by courts for determining the compensation towards a non-earning victim in order to arrive at the just compensation. Some of these involve the determination of notional income. In the case of Lata Wadhwa v. State of Bihar, (2001) 8 SCC 197 (Para-10), Hon'ble Supreme Court dealing with compensation for the victims of a fire during a function, granted compensation to housewives on the basis of services rendered by them in the house and their age. Thus, in the absence of proof of actual income, notional income is determined to compute compensation.

Compensation for Future Prospect and loss of consortium:-

19. Once notional or actual income has been determined, the question remains as to whether escalation for future prospect should be granted with regard to it. In the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 (Para-57), a Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court extended the benefit of future prospects to even self-employed persons or those on a fixed salary and laid down the law that an addition of 40% of the established income of the deceased towards future prospects would be reasonable to grant where the deceased was below 40 years and an addition of 25% should be granted where the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years. The principle laid down by the Constitution Bench of Honb'le Supreme Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (supra) has been followed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in several judgments including in the case of Kirti (supra).

20. "Consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses "spousal consortium", "parental consortium", and "filial consortium". The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family. With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse. Spousal consortium is generally defined as rights pertaining to the relationship of a husband-wife which allows compensation to the surviving spouse for loss of "company, society, cooperation, affection, and aid of the other in every conjugal relation". Parental consortium is granted to the child upon the premature death of a parent, for loss of "parental aid, protection, affection, society, discipline, guidance and training". Filial consortium is the right of the parents to compensation in the case of an accidental death of a child. An accident leading to the death of a child causes great shock and agony to the parents and family of the deceased. The greatest agony for a parent is to lose their child during their lifetime. Children are valued for their love, affection, companionship and their role in the family unit.

21. In the case of Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Nanu Ram, (2018) 18 SCC 130 (Paras-15, 21.1, 21.2, 21.3 and 22), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the issue of future prospects and compensation for loss of consortium and referring its earlier Constitution Bench judgment in the case of Rajesh v. Rajbir Singh, (2013) 9 SCC 54, held as under:

"15. With respect to the issue of future prospects, a Constitution Bench of this Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 has held that in case the deceased was self-employed or on a fixed salary, and was below 40 years of age, an addition of 40% of the established income should be granted towards future prospects. Future prospects are to be awarded on the basis of:

(i) the nature of the deceased's employment; and

(ii) the age of the deceased.

In the present case, it is claimed by the family of the deceased that he was engaged in making namkeen, and was earning a monthly income of about Rs 15,000 per month. However, no evidence was brought on record to establish the same. MACT as well as the High Court assessed the income of the deceased on the basis of the minimum wage of an unskilled worker. The nature of his employment being taken as a self-employed person. The deceased was 24 years old at the time of the accident. Hence, future prospects ought to have been awarded at 40% of the actual income of the deceased, instead of 50% as awarded by the High Court. Hence, the judgment1 of the High Court on this issue is modified to that extent.

21. A Constitution Bench of this Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi, (2017) 16 SCC 680 dealt with the various heads under which compensation is to be awarded in a death case. One of these heads is loss of consortium. In legal parlance,

"consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses "spousal consortium", "parental consortium", and "filial consortium". The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family. With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse:

21.1. Spousal consortium is generally defined as rights pertaining to the relationship of a husband-wife which allows compensation to the surviving spouse for loss of "company, society, cooperation, affection, and aid of the other in every conjugal relation".

21.2. Parental consortium is granted to the child upon the premature death of a parent, for loss of "parental aid, protection, affection, society, discipline, guidance and training".

21.3. Filial consortium is the right of the parents to compensation in the case of an accidental death of a child. An accident leading to the death of a child causes great shock and agony to the parents and family of the deceased. The greatest agony for a parent is to lose their child during their lifetime. Children are valued for their love, affection, companionship and their role in the family unit.

22. Consortium is a special prism reflecting changing norms about the status and worth of actual relationships. Modern jurisdictions world-over have recognised that the value of a child's consortium far exceeds the economic value of the compensation awarded in the case of the death of a child. Most jurisdictions therefore permit parents to be awarded compensation under loss of consortium on the death of a child. The amount awarded to the parents is a compensation for loss of the love, affection, care and companionship of the deceased child."

22. In the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Pranay Sethi (supra) (Paras 59.3 to 59.8), Hon'ble Supreme Court summarised the law on the point of addition for future prospect and loss of consortium etc. and held as under:-

"59.3. While determining the income, an addition of 50% of actual salary to the income of the deceased towards future prospects, where the deceased had a permanent job and was below the age of 40 years, should be made. The addition should be 30%, if the age of the deceased was between 40 to 50 years. In case the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years, the addition should be 15%. Actual salary should be read as actual salary less tax.

59.4. In case the deceased was self-employed or on a fixed salary, an addition of 40% of the established income should be the warrant where the deceased was below the age of 40 years. An addition of 25% where the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years and 10% where the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years should be regarded as the necessary method of computation. The established income means the income minus the tax component.

59.5. For determination of the multiplicand, the deduction for personal and living expenses, the tribunals and the courts shall be guided by paras 30 to 32 of Sarla Verma v. DTC, (2009) 6 SCC 121 which we have reproduced hereinbefore.

59.6. The selection of multiplier shall be as indicated in the Table in Sarla Verma v. DTC, (2009) 6 SCC 121 read with para 42 of that judgment.

59.7. The age of the deceased should be the basis for applying the multiplier.

59.8. Reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs 15,000, Rs 40,000 and Rs 15,000 respectively. The aforesaid amounts should be enhanced at the rate of 10% in every three years."

23. In the case of Sarla Verma v. DTC, (2009) 6 SCC 121 (Paras-17, 18, 19, 30, 31 and 32) as affirmed by the Constitution Bench judgment (Pranay Sethi's case), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:-

"17. Assessment of compensation though involving certain hypothetical considerations, should nevertheless be objective. Justice and justness emanate from equality in treatment, consistency and thoroughness in adjudication, and fairness and uniformity in the decision-making process and the decisions. While it may not be possible to have mathematical precision or identical awards in assessing compensation, same or similar facts should lead to awards in the same range. When the factors/inputs are the same, and the formula/legal principles are the same, consistency and uniformity, and not divergence and freakiness, should be the result of adjudication to arrive at just compensation. In General Manager, Kerala S.R.T.C vs Susamma Thomas, (1994) 2 SCC 176, this Court stated: (SCC p. 185, para 16)

"16. ... The proper method of computation is the multiplier method. Any departure, except in exceptional and extraordinary cases, would introduce inconsistency of principle, lack of uniformity and an element of unpredictability, for the assessment of compensation."

18. Basically only three facts need to be established by the claimants for assessing compensation in the case of death:

(a) age of the deceased;

(b) income of the deceased; and

(c) the number of dependants.

The issues to be determined by the Tribunal to arrive at the loss of dependency are:

(i) additions/deductions to be made for arriving at the income;

(ii) the deduction to be made towards the personal living expenses of the deceased; and

(iii) the multiplier to be applied with reference to the age of the deceased.

If these determinants are standardised, there will be uniformity and consistency in the decisions. There will be lesser need for detailed evidence. It will also be easier for the insurance companies to settle accident claims without delay.

19. To have uniformity and consistency, the Tribunals should determine compensation in cases of death, by the following well-settled steps:

Step 1 (Ascertaining the multiplicand)

The income of the deceased per annum should be determined. Out of the said income a deduction should be made in regard to the amount which the deceased would have spent on himself by way of personal and living expenses. The balance, which is considered to be the contribution to the dependant family, constitutes the multiplicand.

Step 2 (Ascertaining the multiplier)

Having regard to the age of the deceased and period of active career, the appropriate multiplier should be selected.

This does not mean ascertaining the number of years he would have lived or worked but for the accident. Having regard to several imponderables in life and economic factors, a table of multipliers with reference to the age has been identified by this Court. The multiplier should be chosen from the said table with reference to the age of the deceased.

Step 3 (Actual calculation)

The annual contribution to the family (multiplicand) when multiplied by such multiplier gives the "loss of dependency" to the family.

Thereafter, a conventional amount in the range of Rs 5000 to Rs 10,000 may be added as loss of estate. Where the deceased is survived by his widow, another conventional amount in the range of 5000 to 10,000 should be added under the head of loss of consortium. But no amount is to be awarded under the head of pain, suffering or hardship caused to the legal heirs of the deceased.

The funeral expenses, cost of transportation of the body (if incurred) and cost of any medical treatment of the deceased before death (if incurred) should also be added.

30. Though in some cases the deduction to be made towards personal and living expenses is calculated on the basis of units indicated in Trilok Chandra, (1996) 4 SCC 362, the general practice is to apply standardised deductions. Having considered several subsequent decisions of this Court, we are of the view that where the deceased was married, the deduction towards personal and living expenses of the deceased, should be one-third (1/3rd) where the number of dependent family members is 2 to 3, one-fourth (1/4th) where the number of dependent family members is 4 to 6, and one-fifth (1/5th) where the number of dependent family members exceeds six.

31. Where the deceased was a bachelor and the claimants are the parents, the deduction follows a different principle. In regard to bachelors, normally, 50% is deducted as personal and living expenses, because it is assumed that a bachelor would tend to spend more on himself. Even otherwise, there is also the possibility of his getting married in a short time, in which event the contribution to the parent(s) and siblings is likely to be cut drastically. Further, subject to evidence to the contrary, the father is likely to have his own income and will not be considered as a dependant and the mother alone will be considered as a dependant. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, brothers and sisters will not be considered as dependants, because they will either be independent and earning, or married, or be dependent on the father.

32. Thus even if the deceased is survived by parents and siblings, only the mother would be considered to be a dependant, and 50% would be treated as the personal and living expenses of the bachelor and 50% as the contribution to the family. However, where family of the bachelor is large and dependant on the income of the deceased, as in a case where he has a widowed mother and large number of younger non-earning sisters or brothers, his personal and living expenses may be restricted to one-third and contribution to the family will be taken as two-third."

Assessment of Compensation:-

24. For assessment of damages to compensate the dependants, it has to take into account many imponderables, as to the life expectancy of the deceased and the dependants, the amount that the deceased would have earned during the remainder of his life, the amount that he would have contributed to the dependants during that period, the chances that the deceased may not have lived or the dependants may not live up to the estimated remaining period of their life expectancy, the chances that the deceased might have got better employment or income or might have lost his employment or income altogether. The manner of arriving at the damages is to ascertain the net income of the deceased available for the support of himself and his dependants, and to deduct therefrom such part of his income as the deceased was accustomed to spend upon himself, as regards both self-maintenance and pleasure, and to ascertain what part of his net income the deceased was accustomed to spend for the benefit of the dependants and, thereafter, it should be capitalised by multiplying it by a figure representing the proper number of years. The court must try to assess as best as it can, the loss suffered. The multiplier method is logically sound and legally well-established method of ensuring a "just' compensation which will make for uniformity and certainty of the awards. A departure from this method can only be justified in rare and extraordinary circumstances and very exceptional cases.

25. In the case of Lata Wadhwa v. State of Bihar (supra) (Para-8), Hon'ble Supreme Court entertained a writ petition under Article 32 of the Constitution of India for grant of compensation to victims due to fire accident attributable to inadequate safety measures adopted by the organizers and held as under:-

*"8. So far as the determination of compensation in death cases is concerned, apart from the three decisions of the Andhra Pradesh High Court, which had been mentioned in the order of this Court dated 15-12-1993, this Court in the case of G.M., Kerala SRTC v. Susamma Thomas, (1994) 2 SCC 176 exhaustively dealt with the question. It has been held in the aforesaid case that for assessment of damages to compensate the dependants, it has to take into account many imponderables, as to the life expectancy of the deceased and the dependants, the amount that the deceased would have earned during the remainder of his life, the amount that he would have contributed to the dependants during that period, the chances that the deceased may not have lived or the dependants may not live up to the estimated remaining period of their life expectancy, the chances that the deceased might have got better employment or income or might have lost his employment or income altogether. The Court further observed that the manner of arriving at the damages is to ascertain the net income of the deceased available for the support of himself and his dependants, and to deduct therefrom such part of his income as the deceased was accustomed to spend upon himself, as regards both self-maintenance and pleasure, and to ascertain what part of his net income the deceased was accustomed to spend for the benefit of the dependants and, thereafter, it should be capitalised by multiplying it by a figure representing the proper number of years' purchase. It was also stated that much of the calculation necessarily remains in the realm of hypothesis and in that region, arithmetic is a good servant but a bad master, since there are so often many imponderables. In every case, "it is the overall picture that matters", and the court must try to assess as best as it can, the loss suffered. On the acceptability of the multiplier method, the Court observed:

"The multiplier method is logically sound and legally well-established method of ensuring a ''just' compensation which will make for uniformity and certainty of the awards. A departure from this method can only be justified in rare and extraordinary circumstances and very exceptional cases."

The Court also further observed that the proper method of computation is the multiplier method and any departure, except in exceptional and extraordinary cases, would introduce inconsistency of principle, lack of uniformity and an element of unpredictability in the assessment of compensation. The Court disapproved the contrary views taken by some of the High Courts and explained away the earlier view of the Supreme Court on the point. After considering a series of English decisions, it was held that the multiplier method involves the ascertainment of the loss of dependency or the multiplicand having regard to the circumstances of the case and capitalizing the multiplicand by an appropriate multiplier. The choice of the multiplier is determined by the age of the deceased (or that of the claimants, whichever is higher) and by the calculation as to what capital sum, if invested at a rate of interest appropriate to a stable economy, would yield the multiplicand by way of annual interest. In ascertaining this, regard should also be had to the fact that ultimately the capital sum should also be consumed up over the period for which the dependency is expected to last. In view of the aforesaid authoritative pronouncement of this Court and having regard to the determination made in the Report by Shri Justice Chandrachud, on the basis of the aforesaid multiplier method, it is difficult for us to accept the contention of Ms Rani Jethmalani that the settled principle for determination of compensation has not been followed in the present case. The further submission of the learned counsel that the determination made is arbitrary, is devoid of any substance, as Shri Justice Chandrachud has correctly applied the multiplier, on consideration of all the relevant factors. Damages are awarded on the basis of financial loss and the financial loss is assessed in the same way as prospective loss of earnings. The basic figure, instead of being the net earnings, is the net contribution to the support of the dependants, which would have been derived from the future income of the deceased. When the basic figure is fixed, then an estimate has to be made of the probable length of time for which the earnings or contribution would have continued and then a suitable multiple has to be determined (a number of years' purchase), which will reduce the total loss to its present value, taking into account the proved risks of rise or fall in the income. In the case of Mallett v. McMonagle, 1970 AC 166 : (1969) 2 All ER 178 (HL), Lord Diplock gave a full analysis of the uncertainties, which arise at various stages in the estimate and the practical ways of dealing with them. In the case of Davies v. Taylor, 1974 AC 207 : (1972) 3 All ER 836 (HL), it was held that the Court, in looking at future uncertain events, does not decide whether on balance one thing is more likely to happen than another, but merely puts a value on the chances. A possibility may be ignored if it is slight and remote. Any method of calculation is subordinate to the necessity for compensating the real loss. But a practical approach to the calculation of the damages has been stated by Lord Wright, in a passage which is frequently quoted, in Davies v. Powell Duffryn Associated Collieries Ltd., (1942) 1 All ER

657 (HL) to the following effect: (All ER p. 665 A-B)

"The starting point is the amount of wages which the deceased was earning, the ascertainment of which to some extent may depend on the regularity of his employment. Then there is an estimate of how much was required or expended for his own personal and living expenses. The balance will give a datum or basic figure which will generally be turned into a lump sum by taking a certain number of years' purchase."

Compensation for Negligence - Tort - Strict Liability:-

26. In the case of Maharaja Agrasen Hospital v. Rishabh Sharma, (2020) 6 SCC 501 (Para-12.5.4), Hon'ble Supreme Court while granting compensation of Rs.76,00,000/- for medical negligence, held as under:-

"12.5.4. The grant of compensation to remedy the wrong of medical negligence is within the realm of law of torts. It is based on the principle of restitution in integrum. The said principle provides that a person is entitled to damages which should as nearly as possible get that sum of money which would put him in the same position as he would have been if he had not sustained the wrong."

27. In the case of Raman v. Uttar Haryana Bijli Vitran Nigam Ltd., (2014) 15 SCC 1 (Paras-16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered a judgment of Punjab and Haryana High Court passed in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.14046 of 2012 and L.P.A. No.1631 of 2013 granting compensation for 100% permanent disability suffered by a five years old boy due to electrocution on 03.11.2011 and affirming the compensation of Rs.60,00,000/- and after referring to large number of judgments, held as under:

"16. The learned Single Judge of the High Court has awarded compensation keeping all these aspects of the matter and has applied the guiding principle of multiplier method after adverting to the case of Sarla Verma v. DTC, (2009) 6 SCC 121 for the purpose of computation of just and reasonable compensation in favour of the appellant which method should not have been applied to the case on hand, particularly, having regard to the statutory negligence on the part of the respondents in not providing the safety measures to see that live electric wires should not fall on the roof of the building by strictly following the Rules to protect the lives of the public in the residential area. This Court in Balram Prasad v. Kunal Saha, (2014) 1 SCC 384, has deviated from following the multiplier method to award just and reasonable compensation in favour of the claimant in a medical negligence case. The same principle will hold good in the case on hand too. The following case law is followed by this Court in the abovereferred case, the relevant paragraphs are extracted herein to award just and reasonable compensation in favour of the appellant: (SCC pp. 425, 437-39 & 445, paras 68, 99, 101, 103.1. & 112)

"68. ... three-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Indian Medical Assn. v. V.P. Shantha, (1995) 6 SCC 651, wherein this Court has categorically disagreed on this specific point in another case wherein "medical negligence' was involved. In the said decision, it has been held at para 53 that to deny a legitimate claim or to restrict arbitrarily the size of an award would amount to substantial injustice to the claimant.

99. In Govind Yadav v. New India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2011) 10 SCC 683 this Court at para 15 observed as under which got reiterated at SCC pp. 639-40, para 13 of Ibrahim v. Raju, (2011) 10 SCC 634 : (Govind Yadav v. New India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2011) 10 SCC 683 , SCC pp. 691-92)

"15. In Reshma Kumari v. Madan Mohan, (2009) 13 SCC 422 this Court reiterated that the compensation awarded under the Act should be just and also identified the factors which should be kept in mind while determining the amount of compensation. The relevant portions of the judgment are extracted below: (SCC pp. 431-32 & 440-41, paras 26-27 & 46-47)

"26. The compensation which is required to be determined must be just. While the claimants are required to be compensated for the loss of their dependency, the same should not be considered to be a windfall. Unjust enrichment should be discouraged. This Court cannot also lose sight of the fact that in given cases, as for example death of the only son to a mother, she can never be compensated in monetary terms.

27. The question as to the methodology required to be applied for determination of compensation as regards prospective loss of future earnings, however, as far as possible should be based on certain principles. A person may have a bright future prospect; he might have become eligible to promotion immediately; there might have been chances of an immediate pay revision, whereas in another (sic situation) the nature of employment was such that he might not have continued in service; his chance of promotion, having regard to the nature of employment may be distant or remote. It is, therefore, difficult for any court to lay down rigid tests which should be applied in all situations. There are divergent views. In some cases it has been suggested that some sort of hypotheses or guesswork may be inevitable. That may be so.

46. In the Indian context several other factors should be taken into consideration including education of the dependants and the nature of job. In the wake of changed societal conditions and global scenario, future prospects may have to be taken into consideration not only having regard to the status of the employee, his educational qualification; his past performance but also other relevant factors, namely, the higher salaries and perks which are being offered by the private companies these days. In fact while determining the multiplicand this Court in Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Jashuben, (2008) 4 SCC 162 held that even dearness allowance and perks with regard thereto from which the family would have derived monthly benefit, must be taken into consideration.

*47. One of the incidental issues which has also to be taken into consideration is i*nflation*. Is the practice of taking inflation into consideration wholly incorrect? Unfortunately, unlike other developed countries, in India there has been no scientific study. It is expected that with the rising inflation the rate of interest would go up. In India it does not happen. It, therefore, may be a relevant factor which may be taken into consideration for determining the actual ground reality. No hard-and-fast rule, however, can be laid down therefor."'*

101. ... he has also strongly placed reliance upon the observations made at para 170 in Malay Kumar Ganguly v. Sukumar Mukherjee, (2009) 9 SCC 221 referred to supra wherein this Court has made observations as thus: (SCC p. 282)

"170. Indisputably, grant of compensation involving an accident is within the realm of law of torts. It is based on the principle of restitutio in integrum. The said principle provides that a person entitled to damages should, as nearly as possible, get that sum of money which would put him in the same position as he would have been if he had not sustained the wrong. [See Livingstone v. Rawyards Coal Co., (1880) LR 5 AC 25 (HL)]'

103.1. In Ningamma v. United India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2009) 13 SCC 710 this Court has observed at para 34 which reads thus: (SCC p. 721)

"34. ... in our considered opinion a party should not be deprived from getting "just compensation" in case the claimant is able to make out a case under any provision of law. Needless to say, the MVA is beneficial and welfare legislation. In fact, the court is duty-bound and entitled to award "just compensation' irrespective of the fact whether any plea in that behalf was raised by the claimant or not.'

* * *

112. The claimant has also placed reliance upon Nizam's Institute of Medical Sciences v. Prasanth S. Dhananka, (2009) 6 SCC 1 in support of his submission that if a case is made out, then the Court must not be chary of awarding adequate compensation. The relevant paragraph reads as under: (SCC pp. 38-39, para 88)

"88. We must emphasise that the court has to strike a balance between the inflated and unreasonable demands of a victim and the equally untenable claim of the opposite party saying that nothing is payable. Sympathy for the victim does not, and should not, come in the way of making a correct assessment, but if a case is made out, the court must not be chary of awarding adequate compensation. The "adequate compensation" that we speak of, must to some extent, be a rule of thumb measure, and as a balance has to be struck, it would be difficult to satisfy all the parties concerned.'"

17. Further in para 119, it is held (Balram Prasad v. Kunal Saha, (2014) 1 SCC 384, SCC pp.447-48)

"119.....this Court has rejected the use of multiplier system to calculate and award the quantum of compensation which must be just and reasonable. The relevant paragraph is quoted hereunder: (Nizam's Institute of Medical Sciences v. Prasanth S. Dhananka, (2009) 6 SCC 1 , SCC para 92)

"92. Mr Tandale, the learned counsel for the respondent has, further submitted that the proper method for determining compensation would be the multiplier method. We find absolutely no merit in this plea. The kind of damage that the complainant has suffered, the expenditure that he has incurred and is likely to incur in the future and the possibility that his [pic]rise in his chosen field would now be restricted, are matters which cannot be taken care of under the multiplier method."

(emphasis in original)

18. Further under para 121, the relevant paragraph from United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Patricia Jean Mahajan, (2002) 6 SCC 281 reads as under: (Balram Prasad v. Kunal Saha, (2014) 1 SCC 384, SCC p. 448)

"121. ... "20. The court cannot be totally oblivious to the realities. The Second Schedule while prescribing the multiplier, had maximum income of Rs 40,000 p.a. in mind, but it is considered to be a safe guide for applying the prescribed multiplier in cases of higher income also but in cases where the gap in income is so wide as in the present case income is 2,26,297 dollars, in such a situation, it cannot be said that some deviation in the multiplier would be impermissible. Therefore, a deviation from applying the multiplier as provided in the Second Schedule may have to be made in this case. Apart from factors indicated earlier the amount of multiplicand also becomes a factor to be taken into account which in this case comes to 2,26,297 dollars, that is to say, an amount of around Rs 68 lakhs per annum by converting it at the rate of Rs 30. By Indian standards it is certainly a high amount. Therefore, for the purposes of fair compensation, a lesser multiplier can be applied to a heavy amount of multiplicand. A deviation would be reasonably permissible in the figure of multiplier even according to the observations made in Kerala SRTC v. Susamma Thomas, (1994) 2 SCC 176 where a specific example was given about a person dying at the age of 45 leaving no heirs being a bachelor except his parents.' (United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Patricia Jean Mahajan, (2002) 6 SCC 281, SCC p. 295, para 20)"

19. Further, in para 177, it was held as under: (Balram Prasad v. Kunal Saha, (2014) 1 SCC 384, SCC p. 475)

"177. Under the heading of loss due to pain and suffering and loss of amenities of the wife of the claimant, Kemp and Kemp write as under:

"The award to a plaintiff of damages under the head "pain and suffering" depends as Lord Scarman said in Lim Poh Choo v. Camden and Islington Area Health Authority19, upon the claimant's personal awareness of pain, her capacity of suffering. Accordingly, no award is appropriate if and insofar as the claimant has not suffered and is not likely to suffer pain, and has not endured and is not likely to endure suffering, for example, because he was rendered immediately and permanently unconscious in the accident. By contrast, an award of damages in respect of loss of amenities is appropriate whenever there is in fact such a loss regardless of the claimant's awareness of the loss.'

"Even though the claimant may die from his injuries shortly after the accident, the evidence may justify an award under this head. Shock should also be taken account of as an ingredient of pain and suffering and the claimant's particular circumstances may well be highly relevant to the extent of her suffering.

** * **

By considering the nature of amenities lost and the injury and pain in the particular case, the court must assess the effect upon the particular claimant. In deciding the appropriate award of damages, an important consideration is how long he be deprived of those amenities and how long the pain and suffering has been and will be endured. If it is for the rest of his life the court will need to take into account in assessing damages the claimant's age and his expectation in life. ...'"

20. Further, in Rekha Jain v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., (2013) 8 SCC 389 this Court at paras 34-35, 38-39 and 41-43, with regard to the quantum of damages, has held as under: (SCC pp. 407-408)

"34. ... "24. In deciding on the quantum of damages to be paid to a person for the personal injuries suffered by him, the court is bound to ascertain all considerations which will make good to the sufferer of the injuries, as far as money can do, the loss which he has suffered as a natural consequence of the wrong done to him.' (K. Narasimha Murthy v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., 2004 SCC OnLine Kar 104 : ILR 2004 KAR 2471, SCC OnLine Kar : ILR pp. 2483-84, para 24)

35. ... "26. Therefore, the general principle which should govern the assessment of damages in personal injury cases is that the court should award to injured person such a sum of money as will put him in the same position as he would have been in if he had not sustained the injuries. But, it is manifest that no award of money can possibly compensate an injured man and renew a shattered human frame.' (K. Narasimha Murthy v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., 2004 SCC OnLine Kar 104 : ILR 2004 KAR 2471, SCC OnLine Kar : ILR p. 2484, para 26)

38. In Fowler v. Grace, (1970) 114 Sol Jo 193 (CA), Edmund Davies, L.J. has said that:

"It is the manifest duty of the Tribunal to give as perfect a sum as was within its power. There are many losses which cannot easily be expressed in terms of money. If a person, in an accident, loses his sight, hearing or smelling faculty or a limb, value of such deprivation cannot be assessed in terms of market value because there is no market value for the personal asset which has been lost in the accident, and there is no easy way of expressing its equivalent in terms of money. ...'

39. In Mediana, In re, 1900 AC 113 : (1900-03) All ER Rep 126 (HL), it is held at para 32 which is extracted as herein:

"32. In personal injury cases, the court is constantly required to form an estimate of chances and risks which cannot be determined with precision. It is because, the law will disregard possibilities which are slight or chances which are nebulous; otherwise, all the circumstances of the situation must be taken into account, whether they relate to the future which the plaintiff would have enjoyed if the accident had not happened, or to the future of his injuries and his earning power after the accident. Damages are compensation for an injury or loss, that is to say, the full equivalent of money so far as the nature of money admits; and difficulty or uncertainty does not prevent an assessment.' (K. Narasimha Murthy v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., 2004 SCC OnLine Kar 104 : ILR 2004 KAR 2471, SCC OnLine Kar : ILR p. 2486, para 32)

41. McGregor on Damages (14th Edn.) at Para 1157, referring to the heads of damages in personal injury actions, states as under:

"The person physically injured may recover both for his pecuniary losses and his non-pecuniary losses. Of these the pecuniary losses themselves comprise two separate items viz. the loss of earnings and other gains which the plaintiff would have made had he not been injured and the medical and other expenses to which he is put as a result of the injury, and the courts have sub-divided the non-pecuniary losses into three categories viz. pain and suffering, loss of amenities of life and loss of expectation of life.

Besides, the Court is well advised to remember that the measures of damages in all these cases "should be such as to enable even a tortfeasor to say that he had amply atoned for his misadventure". The observation of Lord Devlin that the proper approach to the problem or to adopt a test as to what contemporary society would deem to be a fair sum, such as would allow the wrongdoer to "hold up his head among his neighbours and say with their approval that he has done the fair thing", is quite apposite to be kept in mind by the court in assessing compensation in personal injury cases.'

42. In R. Venkatesh v. P. Saravanan, 2000 SCC OnLine Kar 472 : (2001) 1 Kant LJ 411 the High Court of Karnataka while dealing with a personal injury case wherein the claimant sustained certain crushing injuries due to which his left lower limb was amputated, held that in terms of functional disability, the disability sustained by the claimant is total and 100% though only the claimant's left lower limb was amputated. In para 9 of the judgment, the Court held as under: (Kant LJ p. 415)

"9. As a result of the amputation, the claimant had been rendered a cripple. He requires the help of crutches even for walking. He has become unfit for any kind of manual work. As he was earlier a loader doing manual work, the amputation of his left leg below the knee, has rendered him unfit for any kind of manual work. He has no education. In such cases, it is well settled that the economic and functional disability will have to be treated as total, even though the physical disability is not 100%.'

43. Lord Reid in Baker v. Willoughby, 1970 AC 467 : (1970) 2 WLR 50 : (1969) 3 All ER 1528 (HL) has said: (AC p. 492 A)

"... A man is not compensated for the physical injury: he is compensated for the loss which he suffers as a result of that injury. His loss is not in having a stiff leg: it is in his inability to lead a full life, his inability to enjoy those amenities which depend on freedom of movement and his inability to earn as much as he used to earn or could have earned....'"

21. In view of the law laid down by this Court in the abovereferred cases which are extensively considered and granted just and reasonable compensation, in our considered view, the compensation awarded at Rs 60 lakhs in the judgment of the learned Single Judge of the High Court, out of which Rs 30 lakhs were to be deposited jointly in the name of the appellant represented by his parents as natural guardian and the Chief Engineer or his nominee representing the respondent Nigam in a nationalised bank in a fixed deposit till he attains the age of majority, is just and proper but we have to set aside that portion of the judgment of the learned Single Judge directing that if he survives, he is permitted to withdraw the amount, otherwise the deposit amount shall be reverted back to the respondents as the same is not legal and valid for the reason that once the compensation amount is awarded by the court, it should go to the claimant/appellant. Therefore, the victims/claimants are legally entitled for compensation to be awarded in their favour as per the principles/guiding factors laid down by this Court in a catena of cases, particularly, in Balram Prasad v. Kunal Saha, (2014) 1 SCC 384 referred to supra. Therefore, the compensation awarded by the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunals/Consumer Forums/State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commissions/National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission or the High Courts would absolutely belong to such victims/claimants. If the claimants die, then the Succession Act of their respective religion would apply to succeed to such estate by the legal heirs of victims/claimants or legal representatives as per the testamentary document if they choose to execute the will indicating their desire as to whom such estate shall go after their death. For the aforesaid reasons, we hold that portion of the direction of the learned Single Judge contained in sub-para (v), to the effect of Rs 30 lakhs compensation to be awarded in favour of the appellant, if he is not alive at the time he attains majority, the same shall revert back to the respondent Nigam after paying Rs 5 lakhs to the parents of the appellant, is wholly unsustainable and is liable to be set aside. Accordingly, we set aside the same and modify the same as indicated in the operative portion of the order."

28. In the case of M.P. Electricity Board v. Shail Kumari, (2002) 2 SCC 162 (Paras 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13), Hon'ble Supreme Court appled the rule of strict liability and held as under:

"9. The doctrine of strict liability has its origin in English common law when it was propounded in the celebrated case of Rylands v. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL 330 : (1861-73) All ER Rep 1. Blackburn, J., the author of the said rule had observed thus in the said decision: (All ER p. 7E-F)

"[T]he true rule of law is that the person who, for his own purposes, brings on his land, and collects and keeps there anything likely to do mischief if it escapes, must keep it at his peril, and, if he does not do so, he is prima facie answerable for all the damage which is the natural consequence of its escape."

10. There are seven exceptions formulated by means of case-law to the doctrine of strict liability. It is unnecessary to enumerate those exceptions barring one which is this: "Act of stranger i.e. if the escape was caused by the unforeseeable act of a stranger, the rule

11. The rule of strict liability has been approved and followed in many subsequent decisions in England. A recent decision in recognition of the said doctrine is rendered by the House of Lords in Cambridge Water Co. Ltd. v. Eastern Counties Leather plc. (1994) 1 All ER 53 (HL). The said principle gained approval in India, and decisions of the High Courts are a legion to that effect. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Charan Lal Sahu v. Union of India, (1990) 1 SCC 613 and a Division Bench in Gujarat SRTC v. Ramanbhai Prabhatbhai, (1987) 3 SCC 234 had followed with approval the principle in Rylands v. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL 330 : (1861-73) All ER Rep 1. By referring to the above two decisions a two-Judge Bench of this Court has reiterated the same principle in Kaushnuma Begum v. New India Assurance Co. Ltd., (2001) 2 SCC 9.

12. In M.C. Mehta v. Union of India, (1987) 1 SCC 395, this Court has gone even beyond the rule of strict liability by holding that: (SCC p. 421, para 31)

Where an enterprise is engaged in a hazardous or inherently dangerous activity and harm is caused on anyone on account of the accident in the operation of such activity, the enterprise is strictly and absolutely liable to compensate those who are affected by the accident; such liability is not subject to any of the exceptions to the principle of strict liability under the rule in Rylands v. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL 330 : (1861-73) All ER Rep 1.

13. In the present case, the Board made an endeavour to rely on the exception to the rule of strict liability (Rylands v. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL 330 : (1861-73) All ER Rep 1) being "an act of stranger". The said exception is not available to the Board as the act attributed to the third respondent should reasonably have been anticipated or at any rate its consequences should have been prevented by the appellant-Board. In Northwestern Utilities Ltd. v. London Guarantee and Accident Co. Ltd., 1936 AC

108 : 105 LJPC 18 : 154 LT 89, the Privy Council repelled the contention of the defendant based on the aforecited exception. In that case a hotel belonging to the plaintiffs was destroyed in a fire caused by the escape and ignition of natural gas. The gas had percolated into the hotel basement from a fractured welded joint in an intermediate pressure main situated below the street level and belonging to the defendants which was a public utility company. The fracture was caused during the construction involving underground work by a third party. The Privy Council held that the risk involved in the operation undertaken by the defendant was so great that a high-degree care was expected of him since the defendant ought to have appreciated the possibility of such a leakage.

29. In the case of Shiv Ranshu Chhuneja vs. State of U.P. and Ors, in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.10191 of 2009 (decided on 10.04.2018), a coordinate bench of this Court considered the question of compensation to a victim who suffered 100% disability on account of electrocution and held as under:

"10. The first issue, therefore, that we have to determine is as to whether the present writ petition can be entertained and maintained for the award of such compensation and for quashing of the order passed by the respondent - Corporation. We may put on record that the orders, which have been passed for awarding compensation is in the statutory exercise of power under Section 161 of the 2003 Act. Such an order being an order awarding compensation partakes the nature of not only an administrative order which touches quasi judicial functions as it is an order pertaining to award of compensation to a person having suffered an injury and also that virtually affects his fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. In such circumstances, the order passed by the Chief Electrical Inspector can be made amenable to the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. It is not only to be tested on the principle of administrative law and reasonableness but also on the ground of protection and enforcement of fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, which is one of the primary duties of this Court as enshrined under the Constitution of India. A writ petition can be maintained before this Court for which we find ample support from the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Chairman, Railway Boad and others Vs. Chandrima Das (Mrs.) and others, (2000) 2 SCC 465. Paragraphs 9 to 11 that are extracted hereinunder :

"9. Various aspects of the Public Law field were considered. It was found that though initially a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution relating to contractual matters was held not to lie, the law underwent a change by subsequent decisions and it was noticed that even though the petition may relate essentially to a contractual matter, it would still be amenable to the writ jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226. The Public Law remedies have also been extended to the realm of tort. This Court, in its various decisions, has entertained petitions under Article 32 of the Constitution on a number of occasions and has awarded compensation to the petitioners who had suffered personal injuries at the hands of the officers of the Govt. The causing of injuries, which amounted to tortious act, was compensated by this Court in many of its decisions beginning from Rudul Sah v. State of Bihar (1983) 4 SCC 141 . (See also Bhim Singh v. State of Jammu and Kashmir (1985) 4 SCC 577; Peoples' Union for Democratic Rights v. State of Bihar (1987) 1 SCC 265; Peoples' Union for Democratic Rights v. Police Commissioner, Delhi Police Headquarters (1989) 4 SCC 730; Saheli, A Women's Resources center v. Commissioner of Police, Delhi (1990) 1 SCC 422; Arvinder Singh Bagga v. State of U.P., AIR 1995 SC 117; P. Rathinam v. Union of India 1989 Supp (2) SCC 716; Death of Sawinder Singh Grower In re 1995 Supp (4) SCC 450; Inder Singh v. State of Punjab (1995) 3 SCC 702; and D.K. Basu v. State of West Bengal (1997) 1 SCC 416.

10. In cases relating to custodial deaths and those relating to medical negligence, this Court awarded compensation under Public Law domain in Nilabati Behera v. State of Orissa (1993) 2 SCC 746; State of M.P. v. Shyamsunder Trivedi (1995) 4 SCC 262; People's Union for Civil Liberties v. Union of India (1997) 3 SCC 433 and Kaushalya v. State of Punjab (1999) 6 SCC 754; Supreme Court Legal Aid Committee v. State of Bihar (1991) 3 SCC 482; Jacob George (Dr) v. State of Kerala (1994) 3 SCC 430; Paschim Banga Khet Mazdoor Samity v. State of West Bengal (1996) 4 SCC 37 and Manju Bhatia v. New Delhi Municipal Council (1997) 6 SCC 370

11. Having regard to what has been stated above, the contention that Smt. Hanuffa Khatoon should have approached the Civil Court for damages and the matter should not have been considered in a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution, cannot be accepted. Where public functionaries are involved and the matter relates to the violation of Fundamental Rights or the enforcement of public duties, the remedy would still be available under the Public Law notwithstanding that a suit could be filed for damages under Private Law."

31. Coming to the issue of running expenses of the petitioner, since the petitioner himself is now engaged and is earning then in the said background, the minimum expenses in the event of loss of total earning has to be construed in favour of the petitioner. In the circumstances, the formula adopted in the case of Yash Pal Singh (Minor) & Anr. (supra) of giving at least Rs.10,000/- per month calculating the longevity of his life upto 70 years would be a just and fair calculation and we award compensation accordingly. The petitioner for the time being is approximately 26 years of age. Thus, he would have a life expectancy of 44 years and consequently a sum of Rs.1,20,000/- multiplied by 44 would be a just and fair compensation in order to enable the petitioner to meet his usual normal expenses in the light of what has been stated above. This would come to the tune of Rs.52.80 lakhs.

32. Adding all the three amounts as indicated above, the petitioner would, therefore, be entitled to a total amount of Rs.86,20,000/-.

33. Accordingly we allow the writ petition with a direction to the respondents to make available the entire amount to the petitioner as above within three months from today. The payment shall be made by the respondents accordingly and any delay in payment would carry 9% simple interest per annum on the unpaid amount."

Matainability of writ petition:

30. The order for compensation has been passed by the authority in exercise of statutory power under Section 161 of the Electricity Act, 2003 and the policy decision to award just compensation. If just compensation is not awarded, it would affect fundamental rights of the sufferer guaranteed under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, order so passed would be amenable to writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Computation of Compensation:-

31. In the light of the discussions made above and applying the law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments aforementioned, we find that the petitioner is entitled for compensation on the basis of undisputed actual annual income of the deceased at Rs.3,50,000/-. The notional income of Rs.51,000/- as given in the policy decision of the Corporation dated 25.09.2021 shall not be applicable where the actual income of the deceased husband of the petitioner has been admitted by the respondents to be Rs.3,50,000/- per annum.

32. In a recent judgment dated 10.02.2022 in the case of R. Valli & Ors. vs. Tamil Nadu State Transport Corporation Ltd. (2022) 5 SCC 107, Hon'ble Supreme Court computed compensation in the matter of a deceased aged about 54 years, as under:

"6. The judgment in Sarla Verma was affirmed in Reshma Kumari & Ors. v. Madan Mohan & Anr. 3 . Both the judgments were affirmed by the Constitution Bench of this Court reported as National Insurance Company Limited v. Pranay Sethi & Ors. 4 . This Court in Pranay Sethi held as under:

"44. At this stage, we must immediately say that insofar as the aforesaid multiplicand/multiplier is concerned, it has to be accepted on the basis of income established by the legal representatives of the deceased. Future prospects are to be added to the sum on the percentage basis and "income" means actual income less the tax paid. The multiplier has already been fixed in Sarla Verma [Sarla Verma v. DTC, (2009) 6 SCC 121 : (2009) 2 SCC (Civ) 770 : (2009) 2 SCC (Cri) 1002] which has been approved in Reshma Kumari [Reshma Kumari v. Madan Mohan, (2013) 9 SCC 65 : (2013) 4 SCC (Civ) 191 : (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 826] with which we concur.

59.3. While determining the income, an addition of 50% of actual salary to the income of the deceased towards future prospects, where the deceased had a permanent job and was below the age of 40 years, should be made. The addition should be 30%, if the age of the deceased was between 40 to 50 years. In case the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years, the addition should be 15%. Actual salary should be read as actual salary less tax. 59.4. In case the deceased was self-employed or on a fixed salary, an addition of 40% of the established income should be the warrant where the deceased was below the age of 40 years. An addition of 25% where the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years and 10% where the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years should be regarded as the necessary method of computation. The established income means the income minus the tax component.

59.7. The age of the deceased should be the basis for applying the multiplier."

10. A three-Judge Bench in an order reported as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Satinder Kaur alia Satwinder Kaur & Ors. 8 has applied the multiplier keeping in view the age of the deceased even if he was a bachelor. The Court held as under:

"48. Another three-judge bench in Royal Sundaram Alliance Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Mandala Yadagari Goud, (2019) 5 SCC 554 traced out the law on this issue, and held that the compensation is to be computed based on what the deceased would have contributed to support the dependants. In the case of the death of a married person, it is an accepted norm that the age of the deceased would be taken into account. Thus, even in the case of a bachelor, the same principle must be applied."

12. Hence, the compensation on the basis of income assessed by the Tribunal would be as under:

	Head
A	Monthly Dependency	Rs.20,756/-
B	Future Prospects (15% of monthly dependency)	Rs.3,113/-
C	1/4th Deduction towards Personal Expenses	Rs.5,967/-
D	Total Dependency (A + B - C)	Rs.17,902/-
E	Age Multiplier	11
F	Compensation (D x 12 x 11)	Rs.23,63,064/-
G	Loss of Estate	Rs.15,000/-
H	Funeral Expenses	Rs.15,000/-
I	Consortium	Rs.40,000/-
	Total	Rs.24,33,064/-

13. Thus, the appellants are found entitled to compensation of Rs. 24,33,064/- with interest @ 9% from the date of filing of the claim application till realisation.

14. The appeal thus stands disposed of with costs throughout."

33. Admitted facts of the case as discussed in forgoing paragraphs of this judgment are that the husband of the petitioner namely Sri Hani Khan died on 10.04.2022 on account of electrocution by 11 KV overhead line due to negligence of the respondents. At the time of his death, he was aged about 27 years and left behind four dependents including the petitioner. His average annual income on the basis of past income tax returns was about Rs.3,50,000/-. Applying the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the judgment aforementioned read with the policy decision of the respondents dated 25.09.2021, the compensation payable to the petitioner on the basis of actual income of the deceased and the multiplier provided in the policy of the respondents dated 25.09.2021, is computed as under:-

Sl.No.	Head
A	Monthly income
B	Future prospects (40% of monthly income)
C	1/4th Deduction towards personal expenses
D	Total Dependenc (A+B-C)
E	Age Multiplier	18
F	Compensation (D x 12 x 18)
G	Loss of Estate
H	Funeral Expenses
I	Consortium
	Total =

34. The amount of compensation determined above shall be distributed amongst the dependents of the deceased as under:-

(a) The respondents shall pay to the dependents of the deceased the above mentioned amount of compensation of Rs.66,85,000/- with simple interest @ 6% per annum from the date of filing of the claim application till realisation, after adjusting the amount earlier paid by them to the petitioner.

(b) Out of the aforesaid amount of compensation, a sum of Rs.10,00,000/- shall be paid in the name of the minor daughter of the deceased through the petitioner as guardian which shall be kept by the petitioner in the highest interest bearing fixed deposit with interest payable monthly/ quarterly, in a Nationalized Bank till the aforesaid minor daughter attains majority. The interest so received by the petitioner shall be spent by the petitioner only for the purposes of education and maintenance of her aforesaid minor daughter-Amayera Khan (vek;jk [kku). After the aforesaid minor daughter shall attain majority, the aforesaid principal amount may be utilised or invested by the petitioner as per need and after her, the remaining amount, if any, by her aforesaid daughter.

(c) Out of the aforesaid amount of compensation, another sum of Rs.10,00,000/- shall also be paid in the name of the aforesaid minor daughter of the deceased through the petitioner as guardian which shall also be kept by the petitioner in a highest interest bearing fixed deposit in a Nationalized Bank in the name of the aforesaid minor daughter with provision for accumulation of interest, for the purposes of higher education and marriage of the aforesaid minor daughter.

(d) The other two dependents of deceased shall be paid Rs.10,00,000/- each out of the compensation amount determined above.

(e) The interest and the balance amount of compensation (after adjusting the aforesaid amount of Rs.40,00,000/- payable to three dependents and also after adjusting the amount already paid), shall be paid to the petitioner.

Directions:-

35. Decision of the respondents dated 25.09.2021 to compute and pay compensation only on the basis of notional income, is not only arbitrary and violative of fundamental rights guaranteed under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India but is also in conflict of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in judgments aforementioned directing for payment of just compensation. Therefore, we issue a general mandamus to the respondents to compute and pay just compensation on the basis of actual income of the injured person/ victim/ deceased wherever actual income is ascertainable or may be proved by claimant with future prospect as per law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the various judgments aforenoted and apply the multiplier as provided in the policy decision dated 25.09.2021. If actual income of injured/ victim/ deceased is either not ascertainable or is not proved by claimant, then notional income as given in the policy decision dated 25.09.2021, shall be applied for computation and payment of compensation. The amount of compensation for loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses shall be determined and paid by the respondents in accordance with the law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of National Insurance Company Ltd. vs. Pranay Sethi (supra), which is binding under Articles 141 of the Constitution of India.

Conclusions:

36. The discussions, findings and directions made above are briefly summarized as under:-

(A) Compensation awarded ought to be just, reasonable and consequently must undoubtedly be guided by principles of fairness, equity and good conscience and, in case, the just compensation is more than the amount claimed, that must be awarded especially where the claimant is a minor.

(B) The respondents are bound to award just compensation to the petitioner for fatal accident on account of their own negligence which caused the death of the husband of the petitioner on 10.04.2022. However, despite there being admitted proof of actual income of the deceased to be Rs.3,50,000/- per annum, the respondents have computed compensation on the basis of assumed notional income of the deceased as Rs.51,000/- per annum, which is arbitrary and illegal.

(C) There are two distinct categories of situations wherein the court usually determines notional income of a victim. The first category of cases relates to those wherein the victim was employed, but the claimants are not able to prove victim's actual income, before the court. In such a situation, the court "guesses" the income of the victim on the basis of the evidence on record, like the quality of life being led by the victim and her family, the general earning of an individual employed in that field, the qualifications of the victim, and other considerations. The second category of cases relates to those situations wherein the Court is called upon to determine the income of a non-earning victim, such as a child, a student or a homemaker. Different principles are adopted by courts for determining the compensation towards a non-earning victim in order to arrive at the just compensation.

(D) In the absence of proof of actual income, notional income is applied to compute compensation.

(E) "Consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses "spousal consortium", "parental consortium", and "filial consortium". The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family. With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse.

(F) To deny a legitimate claim or to restrict arbitrarily the size of an award would amount to substantial injustice to the claimant. The compensation which is required to be determined must be just. Grant of compensation involving an accident is within the realm of law of torts. It is based on the principle of restitution in integrum. The said principle provides that a person entitled to damages should, as nearly as possible, get that sum of money which would put him in the same position as he would have been if he had not sustained the wrong.

(G) The order for compensation has been passed by the authority in exercise of statutory power under Section 161 of the Electricity Act, 2003 and the policy decision to award just compensation. If just compensation is not awarded, it would affect fundamental rights of the sufferer guaranteed under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, order so passed would be amenable to writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

(H) Decision of the respondents dated 25.09.2021 to compute and pay compensation only on the basis of notional income, is not only arbitrary and violative of fundamental rights guaranteed under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India but is also in conflict of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in judgments aforementioned directing for payment of just compensation. Therefore, we issue a general mandamus to the respondents to compute and pay just compensation on the basis of actual income of the injured person/ victim/ deceased wherever actual income is ascertainable or may be proved by claimant with future prospect as per law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the various judgments aforenoted and apply the multiplier as provided in the policy decision dated 25.09.2021. If actual income of injured/ victim/ deceased is either not ascertainable or is not proved by claimant, then notional income as given in the policy decision dated 25.09.2021, shall be applied for computation and payment of compensation. The amount of compensation for loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses shall be determined and paid by the respondents in accordance with the law settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of National Insurance Company Ltd. vs. Pranay Sethi (supra), which is binding under Articles 141 of the Constitution of India.

(I) The amount of compensation determined above shall be distributed amongst the dependents of the deceased as under:-

(a) The respondents shall pay to the dependents of the deceased the above mentioned amount of compensation of Rs.66,85,000/- with simple interest @ 6% per annum from the date of filing of the claim application till realisation, after adjusting the amount earlier paid by them to the petitioner.

(b) Out of the aforesaid amount of compensation, a sum of Rs.10,00,000/- shall be paid in the name of the minor daughter of the deceased through the petitioner as guardian which shall be kept by the petitioner in the highest interest bearing fixed deposit with interest payable monthly/ quarterly, in a Nationalized Bank till the aforesaid minor daughter attains majority. The interest so received by the petitioner shall be spent by the petitioner only for the purposes of education and maintenance of her aforesaid minor daughter-Amayera Khan (अमायरा खान). After the aforesaid minor daughter shall attain majority, the aforesaid principal amount may be utilised or invested by the petitioner as per need and after her, the remaining amount, if any, by her aforesaid daughter.

(c) Out of the aforesaid amount of compensation, another sum of Rs.10,00,000/- shall also be paid in the name of the aforesaid minor daughter of the deceased through the petitioner as guardian which shall also be kept by the petitioner in a highest interest bearing fixed deposit in a Nationalized Bank in the name of the aforesaid minor daughter with provision for accumulation of interest, for the purposes of higher education and marriage of the aforesaid minor daughter.

(d) The other two dependents of deceased shall be paid Rs.10,00,000/- each out of the compensation amount determined above.

(e) The interest and the balance amount of compensation (after adjusting the aforesaid amount of Rs.40,00,000/- payable to three dependents and also after adjusting the amount already paid), shall be paid to the petitioner.

37. With the aforesaid directions, the writ petition is allowed to the extent indicated above.

38. The papers kept in sealed cover under order dated 09.09.2022 shall be returned by the office to the learned counsel for the respondent-Corporation.

CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 04.11.2022

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAM MANOHAR NARAYAN MISHRA, J.

Crl. Appeal No. 17 of 1990

Revti & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri R. Bhargava, Sri Kuldeep Singh Chahar

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A.

Criminal Law-Indian Penal Code- Sections 306 & 201- Conviction under Section 201 IPC alone- Charge under Section 306 I.P.C. has not been found to be proved against accused persons before trial court and they were acquitted of this charge. Therefore, it can be inferred that no offence of abatement to commit suicide has been proved against accused persons. Suicide, as such, is no offence and this is logical that suicide self is not proved by cogent evidence and accused cannot be held guilty for causing disappearance of evidence punishable under Section 201 I.P.C. for making out a case under Section 201 I.P.C. This fact is not proved beyond reasonable doubt that the deceased had died an unnatural death by consuming poison in the fateful night. The accused are already acquitted of the charge under Section 306 IPC by the learned trial Court and said verdict of acquittal has not been challenged either by the State or by the complainant- Mere fact that the deceased allegedly died an unnatural death, could not be sufficient to bring home charge punishable under Section 201 IPC unless the prosecution was able to establish that the accused persons knew or had reason to believe that an offence has been committed and have done something causing the offence of commission of evidence to disappear, he cannot be convicted.

Where the prosecution has failed to establish the main offence u/s 306 IPC and that the accused did something to cause the disappearance of evidence relating to the commission of the said offence, then the accused cannot be convicted u/s 201 IPC. (Para 24, 26,27)

Criminal Appeal allowed. (E-3)

Case Law/ Judgement relied upon:-

1. Crl. Appeal Nos. 265-266 of 2018 (Arising out of S.L.P. (Crl) Nos. 1815-1816 of 2016) Dinesh Kumar Kalidas Patel Vs The St. of Guj.

2. Palvinder Kaur Vs St. of Punj. 1952 AIR 354

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Manohar Narayan Mishra, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kuldeep Singh Chahar, learned counsel for the convict-appellants, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State and perused the material placed on record.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 08.12.1989 passed by learned IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura, in Sessions Trial No. 145 of 1989, State Vs. Revti and others, arising out of Case Crime No. 332 of 1987, Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura, whereby the appellants were convicted and sentenced under Section 201 I.P.C. with one year R.I. It was also directed that the period spent by the accused in jail shall be adjusted towards the sentence imposed as above.

3. The order sheet shows that the appeal was admitted by this Court as far back as on 4.1.1990 and on the same day both of the appellants were enlarged on bail by this Court.

4. Pursuant to the communication of the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mathura in compliance of the order of this Court dated 17.12.2018, the Office has submitted its report dated 27.2.2021, a perusal whereof shows that appellant no.5, namely, Dalla has died. The death confirmation report is accompanied with requisite documents as per the circular of this Court. In view of the said fact, this criminal appeal qua appellant no.5- Dalla, stands dismissed as abated and appeal shall proceed in respect of the surviving appellants, only.

5. Prosecution case as appears on perusal of record is that in the night of 7/8.9.1987, Smt. Sondevi, who was married to appellant No.1-Revti, attempted to commit suicide. According to the prosecution, in the evening of the date of occurrence, at about 4 P.M. there had been some exchange of words between Revti and Sondevi, Revti told her not face him and she should die. Feeling depressed, she took poisonous pills and died in the night. The accused above named took the dead body for funeral. Thereafter Madan sprinkled kerosene oil over the dead body of Sondevi and burnt her. Kajoli, Digamber and others had seen the occurrence. Report about the incident was lodged by Bharat Singh on 8.9.1987 at 7:30 A.M. Police registered a case at G.D. No.12. Sri Tomar, Investigating Officer of this case, immediately proceeded to the spot, funeral-ground and collected burnt ashes and bones and prepared Fard (Ex.Ka-4) and after investigation, he submitted charge-sheet against the accused. The case was committed to Court of Session for trial which was transferred to the Court of IInd Additional Session Judge, Mathura by orders of Session Judge

6. Burnt ashes and bones, recovered by the Investigating Officer were sent to the chemical examination, but no poisonous contents were detected.

7. Accused pleaded not guilty to the charge under Section 306/201 I.P.C. framed against them respectively, and alleged false implication on account of enmity.

8. Prosecution to prove its case examined PW-1 Kajoji and P.W.-2 Digamber. Kajoli has staed that thee was some exchange of words in between Sondevi & Revti. Revti said her that she should die, in as much as she had not given a birth to a male child, and Sondevi took the poisionous pills and in the night she died. Madan, Revti, Bheema, Dalla, Baby and Girraj took her dead body to funeral ground and Madan sprinkled kersine oil upon her dead body and burned her to ashes. To the same effect is the statement of Digamber- P.W.-2.

9. PW-3 Kashi Nath has been declared hostile. PW-4 Bharat Singh is the informant of the case. He has proved report (Ex.Ka-1). PW-5 S.I. L.K.Tomar, is the Investigating Officer of the case, he proved recovery memo of burnt ash and bone (Ex.Ka-4), chemical examiner report (Ex.Ka-5), chargesheet (Ex.Ka-6) and G.D. (Ex.Ka-7).

10. Accused examined one Damodar in support of their defense plea. He has stated that he was made to sign on a plain paper by the Sub-Inspector and Revti had never scolded his wife. Son Devi had not consumed poision and she died natural death.

11. Learned court below referred Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, which reads as follows:-

"113-A. Presumption as to abetment of suicide by a married woman.--When the question is whether the commission of suicide by a woman had been abetted by her husband or any relative of her husband and it is shown that she had committed suicide within a period of seven years from the date of her marriage and that her husband or such relative of her husband had subjected her to cruelty, the Court may presume, having regard to all the other circumstances of the case, that such suicide had been abetted by her husband or by such relative of her husband."

12. Learned court below observed that according to the prosecution version, the deceased was married about 8 years back and thus, presumption contained under Section 113-A I.P.C. cannot be made against the convict-appellants.

13. Now remains the oral evidence of Kajoli and Digamber. From their evidence, no doubt, it is clear that Smt. Sondevi had taken poisonous pills and later on committed suicide, but thee is no evidence to show that it was necessarily on account of any scolding extended by Revti, or any other family member of her in-laws. So the evidence on record falls short of proof for offence under Section 306 I.P.C.

14. On the basis of above finding, the trial court has recorded conviction of the appellants under Section 201 I.P.C. and acquitted them of the charge punishable under Section 306 I.P.C. on the ground that the evidence on record falls short of proof for offence under Section 306 I.P.C. The accused were granted interim bail by the trial Court after conviction.

16. Feeling aggrieved by the above judgment, present criminal appeal has been filed on behalf of the convicted persons with a prayer to set aside the impugned judgment and sentence passed by the court below against the appellants.

17. Learned counsel for the appellants raised several contentions on merits of the case and submitted that as appellants have been acquitted in main offence punishable under Section 306 I.P.C. and their conviction under Section 201 I.P.C. is illegal. Learned counsel for the appellants raised a question of law as to whether the conviction under Section 201 I.P.C. could have been maintained by acquitting him of the main offence under Section 306 I.P.C.. He further submitted that the evidence of the witnesses are unreliable. No family members of the deceased have come into the picture either as witness or as informant of the case. The witnesses of prosecution are the villagers, who have implicated the appellants due to previous enmity. There is no scientific evidence in support of the prosecution version that the deceased had consumed some poisonous substance or committed suicide. The consistent version of the defence is that she had died on account of a natural death and that is why she was cremated by convict persons who are husband and family members of the deceased in usual course. There is no witness of the fact that she and consumed poison or committed suicide. The evidence of witnesses is based on hearsay. Learned counsel for the appellants prayed for allowing the appeal and for acquittal of appellants from charge punishable under Section 201 I.P.C.

18. Learned A.G.A. countenances the impugned judgment and submitted that there is no factual and legal error in the present judgement and it is based on evidence on record. Thee is nothing to disbelieve the evidence of witnesses of fact, who have supported the prosecution version.

19. No appeal appears to have been filed against the verdict of acquittal passed by the court below under Section 306 I.P.C. in respect of the appellants, therefore, this Court has to concentrate on verdict of conviction under Section 201 I.P.C. passed against the appellants.

20. The first information report in present case was lodged by P.W.4 Bharat Singh, who has testified during trial that his father was chaukidar (watchman) of the village at the time of incident. He had gone out of village. He had heard in the morning that Son Devi had consumed poison and died. He was not aware as to for what reason she had consumed poison. Her last rituals were performed by cremation. He had informed the incident to police outpost orally, which was scribed by the police constable. The report is Exhibit Ka-1, which bears his signature. It was written by the police constable as per his version. He resides in village Mora. He did not reside in village Nagla. He did not know as to who burnt her.

21. P.W.1- Kajoli and P.W.2- Digamber Singh have been examined by the prosecution as witnesses of fact and learned court below has lace partial reliance on testimony of these witnesses to the charge under Section 201 I.P.C.. However, P.W.1 Kajoli stated before the court that accused Revati- the husband of the deceased had exhorted the deceased, who was his wife on fateful evening that she could not give birth of a son, so he did not want to see her face. She should die and she consumed poisonous tablet in the night and died. The witnesses stated that he was not literate and he did not know the dates and did not inform the investigating officer about the date of incident. He cannot understand as to how he has stated in his statement the date of incident. The house of Revati lies after 10 to 15 houses from the home of witness. He has filed an affidavit before the Investigating Officer marked as Ex.-Kha-1 and it was rightly got written by him. In his written affidavit the facts are based on the information received by him by village watchman and he had told him that Son Devi was killed. He was passing through the house of Revati in the evening of incident and heard voice of Revati that he was exhorting his wife. Narayan and Digamber were coming out side of the house of Revati. Then he also visited the house of Revati. He had heard these things on the shop of bidi and he had not told the investigating officer that he had heard the voice of Revati (accused) from the bidi shop. The first informant is son of Gullu Chaukidar and they are resident of Nagwa Mora. The accused who are present in the court had cremated the body of Son Devi and the accused Madan had sprinkled kerosene oil on dead body of Son Devi before it was ignited. The deceased had never delivered a child.

22. PW-3 Kashi Nath has been declared hostile as he has not supported case of the prosecution. PW-2 Digamber Singh is the star witness of the prosecution, who has stated that deceased had given birth of a daughter, who died and she had not given birth to a male child. Around two year and one month ago, he was sitting with Revati and both were smoking Hukkah, then Revati had threatened his wife for not giving birth to a male child, evenafter 8 years of the marriage and said that you should die. Deceased had consumed poison in the same night and died. Accused persons took the dead body in cremation ground and burnt it after sprinkling kerosene oil. He had cautioned the accused persons to avoid cremation of dead body in such manner but they did not pay the heed. He had not reported this matter to anyone. This witness was given suggestion by defense that accused Madan and his brother were challaned under Section 151 Cr.P.C., to which he denied.

23. Some contradictions are suggested by defense in sworn testimony of PW-2 and his previous statement recorded under Section 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. although case diary is not available on record.

24. Paper No.9-A/1 is the report of Forensic Science Laboratory dated 28.10.1988, which is marked as Ex.Ka-5, in which it is stated that no metallic poison was found in ashes and bones, which was sent for scientific examination in present case i.e. Case Crime No. 332 of 1987, under Sections 306, 201 I.P.C., Police Station Vrindavan, District Mathura. There is no plausible evidence, whether in form of oral or documentary that the deceased had consumed poison in that fateful night. The consistent case of the defense is that she died a natural death and the accused were implicated in a manufactured case due to village rivalry. No complaint or FIR has been lodged from the side of parents of the deceased. An affidavit has been found on record purportary filed by Vishal, father of deceased- Son Devi, dated 10.9.1987, which is addressed to Judicial Magistrate, Sadar Mathura, in which it is stated that the deceased had given birth to a female child who subsequently died. The deceased died natural death in the night of 7/8.9.1987 and she was cremated on 8.9.1987 before co-villagers of village Nagla Morra, in accordance with Hindu rites. She was never tortured or harassed by her husband or her in-laws. Original Health Card of the child of Son Devi, wife of Revati Singh dated 11.6.1986 has also been filed by the defence in support of the version that she has given birth to a female child on 11.6.1986. Charge under Section 306 I.P.C. has not been found to be proved against accused persons before trial court and they were acquitted of this charge. Therefore, it can be inferred that no offence of abatement to commit suicide has been proved against accused persons. Suicide, as such, is no offence and this is logical that suicide self is not proved by cogent evidence and accused cannot be held guilty for causing disappearance of evidence punishable under Section 201 I.P.C. for making out a case under Section 201 I.P.C. It is mandatory that the accused was knowing or having reason to believe that an offence has been committed, causes any evidence of the commission of that offence to disappear, with the intention of screening the offender from legal punishment. Hon'ble Apex Court in Criminal Appeal Nos. 265-266 of 2018 (Arising out of S.L.P. (Criminal) Nos. 1815-1816 of 2016) Dinesh Kumar Kalidas Patel vs. The State of Gujarat, decided on 12.2.2018, has placed reliance on the dictum of Apx Court in the case of Palvinder Kaur vs. State of Punjab, wherein it is held as follows:

"In order to establish the charge under Section 201 of the Indian Penal Code, it is essential to prove that an offence has been committed, -- mere suspicion that it has been committed is not sufficient, -- that the accused knew or had reason to believe that such offence had been committed and with the requisite knowledge and with the intent to screen the offender from legal punishment causes the evidence thereof to disappear or gives false information respecting such offences knowing or having reason to believe the same to be false." AIR 1952 SC 354 AIR 1953 SC 131 AIR 1968 SC 829 The conviction in this case was ultimately set aside on the aforementioned legal position and the facts."

25. Hon'ble Apex Court while discussing and considering various case laws in Dinesh Kuamr Kalidas Patel's case, in which appellant was convicted under Section 498-A, 201 I.P.C. has held:

"thus, the law is well-settled that a charge under Section 201 of the IPC can be independently laid and conviction maintained also, in case the prosecution is able to establish that an offence had been committed, the person charged with the offence had the knowledge or the reason to believe that the offence had been committed, the said person has caused disappearance of evidence and such act of disappearance has been done with the intention of screening the offender from legal punishment. Mere suspicion is not sufficient, it must be proved that the accused knew or had a reason to believe that the offence has been committed and yet he caused the evidence to disappear so as to screen the offender. The offender may be either himself or any other person.

It is further held that We are afraid, the High Court is not justified in maintaining the conviction under Section 201 only on the ground that no communication was given to the police and that the post-mortem had not been performed. The Trial Court has taken note of the fact that the father of the deceased and her brother (who is a doctor) had attended the last rites of the deceased and neither of them had any complaint or suspicion at that time of the commission of any offence. The Sessions Court has also taken note of the suicide note left by the deceased wherein she had taken the entire blame on herself. Yet the court has taken the view, from the consideration we have extracted from paragraph-16 of the Sessions court judgment, that the deceased might have been in a state of depression having remained alone for most of the time and it amounted to torture. The appellant has been acquitted of the offence under Section 498A by the High Court, and rightly so. The prosecution has also not been able to satisfy the ingredients under Section 201 of the IPC. Neither the Sessions Court nor the High Court has any case that there is any intentional omission to give information by the appellant to the police. It is also to be noted that prosecution has no case under Section 201 of the IPC against the appellant.

As held by this Court in Hanuman and others v. State of Rajasthan, the mere fact that the deceased allegedly died an unnatural death could not be sufficient to bring home a charge under Section 201 of the IPC. Unless the prosecution was able to establish that the accused person knew or had reason to believe that an offence has been committed and had done something causing the offence of commission of evidence to disappear, he cannot be convicted."

26. Therefore, in the light of the totality and facts and circumstances of the case, this fact is not proved beyond reasonable doubt that the deceased had died an unnatural death by consuming poison in the fateful night. The accused are already acquitted of the charge under Section 306 IPC by the learned trial Court and said verdict of acquittal has not been challenged either by the State or by the complainant. Enmity between accused and witnesses has been suggested by the defence, however, same has been denied by the witnesses Kajoli and Digamber, in their sworn testimony.

27. In view of above, reasoning of above cited judgements of Apex Court is applicable where it is held that mere fact that the deceased allegedly died an unnatural death, could not be sufficient to bring home charge punishable under Section 201 IPC unless the prosecution was able to establish that the accused persons knew or had reason to believe that an offence has been committed and have done something causing the offence of commission of evidence to disappear, he cannot be convicted.

28. Thus, as aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the learned Sessions Court is not justified in convicting the appellants under Section 201 IPC and the same cannot be sustained.

29. Accordingly, this appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 8.12.1989 in S.T. No.145 of 1989, passed by Additional Session Judge- IInd, Mathura is hereby set aside and the appellants namely, Revati, Babu Lal, Girraj, Bheema and Madan are acquitted of the charge u/s 201 I.P.C.

30. It is directed that the accused-appellants shall file bail bonds to the tune of Rs.40,000/- and two sureties each, in the likeamount to the satisfaction of the learned trial Court, within a period of one month from today in compliance of Section 437 (a) of Cr.P.C.

31. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

Jail Appeal No. 119 of 2021

Ahsan ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Mohit Behari Mathur

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Sections 137 & 138- On perusal of Sections 137 and 138 of Evidence Act, 1872, makes it clear that the victim has to be examined in chief and then she has to be cross examined by the defence- It is not the case of prosecution that defence has foregone or waived its right for cross-examination or that full opportunity of cross-examination was not granted, rather, it appears that the prosecution had not produced the victim P.W.1 for her complete cross-examination on the date fixed, nor, the trial court made an endeavour to take coercive measures against the witness to secure her presence for cross-examination in order to complete her statement. The record does not indicate that any such endeavour or steps was taken. The omission of the prosecution to get the victim cross examined would sever the root of the prosecution case. The testimony of P.W.2, P.W.3, P.W.4 and P.W.6 the doctor, being mere corroborative, would not support the prosecution case as the star witness i.e. victim was not subjected to cross- The conviction solely based on the testimony of P.W.1, per se, is illegal.

Settled law that in order to complete the statement of a witness, the accused has to be given an opportunity of cross-examination and where the same is not provided for no fault of the defence, then the testimony of the victim could not have been taken into consideration against the appellant. (Para 9, 10,11)

Criminal Appeal allowed. (E-3)

Case Law/ Judgements relied upon:-

1. St. of Raj. Vs Daulat Ram, AIR (SC) 1980 0 1314

2. Hori Lal Vs St. of U.P, Crl. Appeal No. 1576 of 1990.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J. & Hon'ble Syed Waiz Mian, J.)

1. Heard Shri Mohit Behari Mathur, learned Amicus Curiae and the learned A.G.A. for the State-respondents.

2. The instant jail appeal has been filed by the appellant against the order dated 25.02.2020 passed in Sessions Trial No.44 of 2020 (State of U.P. Vs. Ahsan) arising out of Case Crime No.534 of 2019, under Sections 376-AB I.P.C. & Section 5(m)/6 POCSO Act, Police Station Pilkhuwa, District- Hapur, whereby the appellant came to be convicted under Section 376 AB for life and fine at Rs.50,000/- was imposed. That apart appellant has been convicted under Section 5m/6 POCSO Act for life and Rs.50,000/- fine was imposed.

3. The prosecution to prove the charge examined victim-P.W.1(Lavi), Amresh-P.W.2 (mother of the victim), Vinod-P.W.3 (informant), Payal-P.W.4 (sister of the victim), the other witnesses examined are formal witness, including, Dr. Anju Singh-P.W.-6.

4. According to prosecution case, in the evening of 10.10.2019, the daughter of the complainant, namely, Labi, aged about two and half years, was playing in front of his house, one Ahsan S/o Aas Mohammad, took her in the field of sugar cane and raped her. The elder daughter of the complainant, namely, Payal and one Rekha, who were coming from the field, had seen Ahsan coming out from the sugar cane field, and the victim was weeping. The victim narrated the incident to the family members and thereafter the complainant went to the Police Station and lodged the First Information Report.

5. The sole submission of the learned Amicus Curiae is that the conviction of the appellant rests on the testimony of the victim-P.W.1. Admittedly, P.W.2 & P.W.3 were not present and P.W.4, as per the prosecution case, was present, nearby, but has denied the presence of the accused/appellant on the spot and P.W.4 has categorically stated that the appellant at the relevant time was at his mama's place. Further, she deposes that victim had not disclosed the name of the appellant of having committed the offence. In this backdrop, it is further submitted that it is reflected from the record of the trial court that examination-in-chief of P.W.1 was recorded on 14.01.2020. Victim supported the prosecution version that the appellant had committed the offence. The cross-examination of P.W.1 was deffered by the trial court for 24.01.2020, thereafter, prosecution did not produce P.W.1 for further cross-examination, nor, the trial court took measures to summon the P.W.1 for her cross-examination. In this backdrop, it is submitted that it is a case of no evidence and the trial court committed gross error in resting the conviction on the testimony of P.W.1 without giving full opportunity to the appellant to complete the cross-examination. It is further submitted that the testimony of the other witnesses of fact, namely, P.W.2, P.W.3 & P.W.4 in the circumstance would not corroborate the testimony of P.W.1 because the testimony of P.W.1 remained incomplete. P.W.2 (mother) and P.W.3 (informant), admittedly, were not present on the spot and P.W.4 (sister of the victim) though present, has denied the presence of the accused on the spot and she has categorically stated in her cross-examination that the victim did not name the appellant of having committed the offence.

6. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the appellant has placed the reliance on the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in State of Rajasthan Vs. Daulat Ram, AIR (SC) 1980 0 1314 and Division Bench decision of this Court rendered in Hori Lal Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh.

7. In Hori Lal (Supra), the Court in paragraph 23 made the following observations.

8. Para 23 reads as thus:

" 23. So far as the testimony of (PW-2) Chigga Ram is concerned, though he has supported the prosecution version in his examination-in-chief, however his statement shows that on 11.07.1989, his cross-examination was deferred for 03.08.1989, but thereafter (PW-2) Chigga Ram did not appear for his further cross-examination and thus, his statement remained incomplete. Perusal of Sections 137 and 138 of Evidence Act, 1872 makes it clear that a witness first has to be examined-in-chief and then he has to be cross-examined by the adverse party. In the instant matter, it is not a case that defence has foregone or waived his right of his cross-examination or that opportunity for cross-examination was granted to adverse party to complete cross-examination, rather it appears that Court has passed order for summoning of (PW-2) Chigga Ram for his further cross-examination, but he did not appear for the same. Though in such an eventuality, it was incumbent upon the trial court that it must have issued coercive process against this witness to secure his presence for his cross-examination in order to complete his statement, but there is nothing to indicate that learned trial court has taken any such step. In the impugned judgment, it was observed by the learned trial court that though the cross-examination of (PW-2) Chigga Ram could not be completed, but whatever cross-examination has done earlier, that was sufficient and that he has been cross-examined on all important points. Taking such a view, learned trial court has relied upon the statement of (PW-2) Chigga Ram. We are afraid, the approach adopted by the learned trial court regarding statement of (PW-2) Chigga Ram is not in accordance with law. As stated earlier, to complete the statement of a witness, the adverse party has to be given an opportunity of cross-examination, which is lacking in the present case. In view of these facts and circumstances, statement of (PW-2) Chigga Ram could not have been taken into consideration against the accused-appellants."

9. On perusal of Sections 137 and 138 of Evidence Act, 1872, makes it clear that the victim has to be examined in chief and then she has to be cross examined by the defence.

10. In the instant case, it is not the case of prosecution that defence has foregone or waived its right for cross-examination or that full opportunity of cross-examination was not granted, rather, it appears that the prosecution had not produced the victim P.W.1 for her complete cross-examination on the date fixed, nor, the trial court made an endeavour to take coercive measures against the witness to secure her presence for cross-examination in order to complete her statement. The record does not indicate that any such endeavour or steps was taken. The omission of the prosecution to get the victim cross examined would sever the root of the prosecution case. The testimony of P.W.2, P.W.3, P.W.4 and P.W.6 the doctor, being mere corroborative, would not support the prosecution case as the star witness i.e. victim was not subjected to cross. The appellant in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. had denied the incident and claimed of having been falsely implicated out of enmity.

11. In the circumstances, we are of the opinion that the conviction solely based on the testimony of P.W.1, per se, is illegal and we are unable to agree and sustain the judgment and conviction of the appellant by the trial court.

12. Accordingly, the jail appeal is allowed.

13. The judgment and order of the trial court is hereby set aside.

14. The appellant shall be released from jail forthwith if not wanted in any other case. The mandate of Section 437-A of Cr.P.C. shall be complied.

15. Registry to send a copy of this order to the concerned Jail Superintendent and the learned C.J.M. for compliance.

16. Record to be returned.

17. We appreciate the assistance of Shri Mohit Behari Mathur, learned Amicus Curiae and direct that Rs. 25,000/- shall be paid to him by the State Government as his remuneration.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Section 134- The identity of the accused-appellant cannot be doubted by any stretch of imagination as he is the step father of victim "X'. The case right from the inception is of the accused-appellant taking away victim "X' from the house of the first informant to his house and then committing rape upon her in the night. The manner of the incident is specific and without any change throughout the case. The clothes of the victim were sent to the Forensic Science Lab - All the clothes were found to be stained by semen of human origin. This would corroborate with the allegation of victim "X' being raped -It is the settled principle of law that the testimony of a prosecutrix or a victim of rape stands at par with that of the testimony of an injured witness- Conviction can be made on the sole testimony of the rape victim- The examination of a number of witnesses in a case is not important than the quality of witnesses.

Where the testimony of the prosecutrix is consistent and cogent and is also corroborated by other evidence, then conviction can be secured solely upon the basis of the testimony of the prosecutrix as the testimony of the prosecutrix stands at par with that of an injured witness. (Para 32, 33, 36)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

1. The present Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. has been preferred by the appellant Ramesh against the judgment and order dated 01.02.2006 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Room No.8, Saharanpur in Sessions Trial No.175 of 2005 (State Vs. Ramesh) convicting and sentencing the appellant under Section 376 IPC to 10 years R.I with fine of Rs.3,000/- and in default of payment of fine to 3 months further rigorous imprisonment. The trial court has further directed that half of fine as recovered shall be paid to the victim/P.W.2 as compensation.

2. The name of the prosecutrix is not being disclosed and mentioned in the present judgment in the light of directions of the Apex Court in various judgments and as per Section 228A of the Indian Penal Code. She is, thus, referred to as "X' in the judgment.

3. An application dated 18.01.2005 written by Ghanshyam Singh, S/o Karm Singh was given by Dheer Singh, S/o Bholaram, R/o Village Ganeshpur, Police Station Viharigarh, District Saharanpur to the S.H.O Police Station Mirzapur, District Saharanpur alleging therein that his sister Shishwati was married in village Vanjarewala from whom one daughter was born. Shishwati was abandoned by her husband after which her court marriage was done with Ramesh, S/o Bhola (accused-appellant) of village Kashampur around 7 years back. The victim "X' was sent with Shishwati considering Ramesh as her father after which victim "X' was brought by the first informant and was kept by him and she started her studies who was studying in class VIII. His sister was of unsound medical condition and used to remain ill. On 14.1.2005 being Friday, Ramesh came to his village and took victim "X' with her by saying that Shishwati is unwell, victim "X' would give her medicine and food and brought her to his village Kashampur. On the same night, Ramesh took victim "X' from near the sister of first informant while being in an intoxicated condition and took her to another room, tied her hands and raped her. On the next day victim "X' told about the incident to Shushila, the niece of the first informant who was married in Kashampur who then on telephone told about it on the next day to the first informant on which on 17.1.2005, he and other persons went to Kashampur and inquired about it from victim "X' who told them that Ramesh tied her hands and raped her. She was in a bad condition. The first informant then got many people of village Kashampur collected and told them about the incident who deprecated it and told him to do whatever he likes. The victim "X' is aged about 13 years. She has been brought to the police station. The first informant report be thus lodged and action be taken. The said application is Exbt. Ka-1 to the records.

4. On the basis of the said application, an FIR was lodged as Case Crime No.12 of 2005 under Section 376 IPC at Police Station Mirzapur, District Saharanpur on 18.1.2005 at 9.30 a.m. by Dheer Singh against Ramesh, S/o Bhola. The Chik FIR is Exbt. Ka-2 to the records.

5. The Investigating Officer took into possession a printed Salwar and an underwear of victim "X'. Dheer Singh and Smt. Rekha Kiran w/o Dheer Singh are the witnesses of the same. The recovery memo of the same is Exbt. Ka-5 to the records.

6. The victim was medically examined on 18.1.2005 at 9.30 p.m. by Dr. Rashmi Mehta, the Medical Officer, Womens Hospital, Saharanpur. After general examination, the doctor noted as follows:-

"Height-145 cm. Weight-40 kg. teeth-14/14

Sec. sex character (breast, pubic and axillary hair) developed.

No mark of injury seen all over body."

On internal examination, the doctor noted as follows:-

"No injury seen on private part. Old torn and healed hymen present. Vagina admits two finger easily. P/s slight bleeding per vagina present coming from uterus. No injury seen on vagina. Vaginal smear made and sent to pathology for presence of spermatozoa."

For determination of age, X-Ray of right elbow, wrist and knee was advised. For blood grouping she was referred to the pathology department of S.B.D. Hospital.

She was advised to give her under clothes at the Police station for being sealed. The said medical examination report is Exbt. Ka-10 to the records.

7. The X-Ray of the victim "X' for age was done on 19.1.2005. The radiologist reported as follows:-

"1. Right wrist:- Lower epiphysis of radius & ulna have not fused.

2. Right Elbow:- All epiphysis around elbow have fused.

3. Right knee:- Lower ephiphysis of femur and end of tibia have fused. Upper epiphysis of tibula partially fused."

The said report is Exbt. Ka-9 to the records.

8. The Senior Radiologist, S.B.D. Hospital gave his report. Subsequently a supplementary report dated 21.1.2005 was prepared by Dr. Rashmi Mehta mentioning therein that the blood group as per the report of the pathologist Dr. Ranjana Chaudhary is "B Positive". The vaginal smear report tested negative for spermatozoa. The opinion of the doctor is as follows:-

"1. No opinion can be given regarding recent rape as no fresh injury found.

2. According to radiologist report age of girl is between 16 and 17 years (sixteen and seventeen)."

The said supplementary report is Exbt. Ka-11 to the records.

9. The Salwar and underwear of victim "X' were sent to the Forensic Science Lab, Agra for testing. A report dated 26.4.2005 was sent by the Assistant Director of the said lab. The Salwar was marked as item no.1 and the underwear was marked as item no.2. The opinion as per the examination is as follows:-

"1. On item nos.1 and 2 on big pants blood stains were found.

2. On item no.1 and 2 spermatozoa were found.

3. On item no.1 and 2 human blood was found.

4. On item no.1 and 2 human semen was found.

5. On item no.1 and 2 blood of group "B" was found.

6. On item no.1 and 2 the spots of semen could not be tested for their group and as such no definite opinion could be given about it.

The said report of the Forensic Science Lab is Exbt. Ka-8 to the records."

10. A site-plan of the place of occurrence was prepared by the Investigating Officer on 20.1.2005. The same is Exbt. Ka-6 to the records. In the site-plan point B which is adjacent to the kitchen and is a tin-shed which is shown to be the place of occurrence.

11. The X-Ray plates of victim "X' for determination of her age were also filed and proved which were marked as Exbt. 4 and 5 to the records.

12. The investigation concluded and a Charge Sheet No.14 of 2005, dated 25.1.2005 under Section 376 IPC was submitted against the accused-appellant. The same is Exbt. Ka-7 to the records.

13. Vide order dated 4.5.2005 passed by Sessions Judge, Saharanpur, charge under Section 376 IPC was framed against the accused-appellant. He pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

14. The charge as was framed on 4.5.2005 read that on 14.1.2005 in the night some times in village Kashampur within Police Station Mirzapur, District Saharanpur, victim "X' the niece of the first informant Dheer Singh was forcefully raped by the accused and as such an offence under section 376 IPC is made out which is cognizable by the said court and hence charge was framed.

15. Subsequently an application being Application No.11-Kha was moved by the learned Government counsel before the trial court stating therein that in the charge as framed on 4.5.2005, there is an error of the date of offence. The trial court vide order dated 28.7.2005 allowed the said application, set-aside the charge as framed on 4.5.2005 and in place of it directed that the date of the incident be mentioned as 15/16.01.2005 in the night and thus amended the said charge on 10.08.2005 and framed charge under section 376 IPC against the accused-appellant. Even on 10.08.2005, the accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

16. The trial then started in which the prosecution produced Dheer Singh, the first informant as P.W.1, victim "X' was produced as P.W.2, Surajpal, Constable Clerk Police Station Nagal was produced as P.W.3, Sub Inspector Shiv Kumar Sharma, the Investigating Officer was produced as P.W.4, Doctor Sudhakar Verma, the Radiologist was produced as P.W.5, Constable Subhash Chand was produced as P.W.6 and Doctor Rashmi Mehta, Medical Officer, Womens Hospital, Saharanpur was produced as P.W.7.

17. The accused-appellant in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that Dheer Singh, the maternal uncle of victim "X' himself dropped her to his house. He further states that he informed Dheer Singh that the girl has run away from the house. He called Dheer Singh by informing him on phone. He further states that he has no children. Dheer Singh has falsely implicated him just to grab his property. Victim "X' has run away even earlier for about 14 days. Her mama had dropped her on 15th of the month. On 16th, she again went away from the house and then he launched search for her. He apprehended her along with a boy with whom she was trying to elope. The boy ran away but she was recovered. On 17th, he made a telephonic call at the house of Satish and called Dheer Singh then there was a Panchayat in the village. In the Panchayat it was decided to send the mother and the daughter with Dheer Singh, due to the said enmity Dheer Singh has falsely implicated him.

18. The trial court then convicted the accused-appellant as stated above.

19. Heard Sri Anupam Dubey, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant, Sri Sanjay Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the State and perused the records of this appeal and also the trial court records.

20. Learned Amicus Curiae argued that there are serious contradictions in the statement of the victim recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C. and that given before the trial court. It is argued that in her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., she states that her father Ramesh took her to a tin shed room, tied her hands, gagged her mouth with a cloth and then committed rape on her after which she became unconscious but in her statement in court, she states that she was sleeping with her mother and her father was sleeping under the tin-shed outside. When she opened her eyes she found herself naked. It was about 5 a.m. In between she was unconscious. She does not know as to what happened with her. It is further argued that as per the prosecution case the victim "X' for the first time informed about the incident to Smt. Shushila, the niece of the first informant who is married in village Kashampur which is the village where the incident is alleged to have taken place but Smt. Shushila, the niece of the first informant has not been examined in the present matter. It is further argued that even Smt. Shishwati, the mother of victim "X' has also not been examined in the trial. The said two persons namely Shushila and Smt. Shishwati are important witnesses and their non-examination in the trial would render the entire prosecution story as suspect. It is next argued that the medical evidence does not corroborate with the prosecution case. The doctor did not find any injury on the private parts of the victim. The hymen was found to be old torn and healed and even the opinion of the doctor in the supplementary report is to the effect that no opinion can be given regarding recent rape as no fresh injury was found. It is argued next that even the age of the victim as per the supplementary report was opined to be between 16 and 17 years which would also go to show that the version as given in the FIR that she was aged about 13 years is incorrect. It is argued that as per the age given by the doctor in the supplementary medical examination which is based on the radiological opinion and by giving benefit of variation of two years, she would be major. It is further argued that there is no cogent and reliable evidence on record to substantiate the allegations against the accused-appellant. The accused-appellant is the step father of the victim "X'. In his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., he has in detail stated about the reason for his false implication which was a motive for his false implication as the first informant wanted to grab his property, as such the present appeal deserves to be allowed. The impugned judgement and order of conviction of the trial court deserves to be set-aside and the accused-appellant is liable to be acquitted of the charges levelled against him.

21. Per contra learned counsel for the State has vehemently opposed the arguments of learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and argued that the accused-appellant is named in the FIR. There are allegations against him of committing rape upon his step daughter. The medical examination report although does not state of the recent rape being committed on her which was only on the basis of the fact that there was no fresh injury found on the victim "X' but the report of the Forensic Science Lab Exbt. Ka-8 to the records corroborates with the allegations of rape as the chemical examiner has found semen and spermatozoa in the clothes of the victim "X' which were of human origin. Even the blood group "B' was found on the clothes which also co-relates with the blood group of victim "X' which would go to show that there was bleeding from the private parts of the victim "X'. It is argued that the contradictions as has been argued to be with regards to the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. and the statement given in the court by the victim "X' is concerned, the same is minor in nature which would not in any manner render the entire case to be false. It is argued that the accused-appellant is the step father of the victim "X'. There are no chances of false implication and mis-identity. It is argued that in so far as the mother of the victim "X' being not examined in the trial, the FIR itself states that she was a lady having mental retardness. It is argued that Shiv Kumar Sharma, P.W.4 who is the Investigating Officer of the case was cross-examined for this aspect who stated that he tried to interrogate Smt. Shishwati but he came to know that she has left the village Kashampur. He further states that he did not make an attempt to interrogate her by going to village Ganeshpur. The statement of victim "X' is unimpeachable. She has stated of the accused-appellant committing rape on her. The prosecution story is corroborated by her in her statement. The same is sufficient to bring home the charges against the accused-appellant and recording conviction. It is argued that non-production of Smt. Shushila and the mother of the victim may be a lapse on the part of the Investigating Officer but the same would not in any manner go to dislodge the entire prosecution case. The prosecution has succeeded in proving its case beyond reasonable doubt. The present appeal deserves to be dismissed.

22. P.W.1 Dheer Singh is the first informant of the present case and the maternal uncle/mama of victim "X'. He states that the accused is his brother-in-law. Shishwati is his sister. She was earlier married in village Vanjarewala with Nathi. From the wedlock victim "X' was born. Nathi had left Smt. Shishwati. Later on she performed court marriage with accused-appellant Ramesh. She was then sent with Ramesh. Victim "X' used to live with him. Victim "X' is aged about 13-14 years and is living in village Ganeshpur and studying in a school there in class VIII. His sister is mentally retarded. On 14.1.2005 accused Ramesh came to his house and stated that Shishwati is ill and victim "X' be sent to take care of her. On the next day victim "X' was sent with him to take care of Smt. Shishwati. Later on Shushila called him and told him that the father of the victim "X' has done illegal act on her. He then went to Kashampur and inquired it from victim "X'. She told him about the entire incident. Then on the next day he got a report written by Ghanshyam. He identifies the said application/report and proves his signature on it and proved the same. The same is marked as Exbt. Ka-1. He states that on the basis of the said application, a report was lodged at the Police Station. Police got the medical examination of victim "X' conducted. Her clothes which she was wearing at the time of the incident were taken into possession by the police of which a recovery memo was drawn on which he signed. He identified the same and his signature on the recovery memo.

23. P.W.2 victim "X' states that her mother Smt. Shishwati was married to Nathi Ram, resident of Vanjarewala who had left her. She is the child of Nathi Ram. She was brought by Dheer Singh, her mama. She was studying in a school in Ganeshpur. Her date of birth is 15.10.1992. She files a school certificate for date of birth. She states that later on her mama Dheer Singh got her mother married with Ramesh after which she accepted him as her father. Her mother Shishwati used to remain ill. On 14.1.2005 Ramesh came to Ganeshpur and told her mama Dheer Singh that Shishwati is unwell and to take care she has to be taken. He stayed there overnight. Next day on 15th January she went with Ramesh. In the night after preparing the food, she was lying near her mother. Ramesh gave medicines to her mother after which she became unconscious. He then took her to a room of tin-shed and gagged her mouth with a cloth and tied her hands and committed rape on her. She became unconscious. When she regained consciousness, she found herself and Ramesh naked. She then untied her hands and told about the incident to her mother and then on the next day told about it to Shushila who was married in Kashampur. Shushila then told her mama on which he came to Kashampur and took her away. A report was lodged, her medical examination was conducted. The clothes which she was wearing, was taken by the police and a recovery memo was prepared. She identifies her signature on the said memo. A packet was opened in the court containing the clothes of the victim "X' which was identified by her as the clothes which she was wearing at the time of incident. The same were marked as material Exbt. 1, 2 and 3.

24. In her cross-examination, she states that she has studied up-to class VIII and then left her studies. She was studying in Inava Public School which is from class 1 to 8. She used to go to school daily. After the incident, she did not go to the school. On 14.1.2005 she went to the school. She can submit the certificate about it. She denies that she ran away with a boy of the school in the last week of December and then on 13th January, she was recovered by her mama along with boy. She further denies that her mama Dheer Singh had left her with her mother on 14th January. She denies that on 16.1.2005 a boy of village Kashampur came and she was preparing to run away with him. She further denies that on 17.1.2005 accused Ramesh has called her mami Rekha Kiran and mama and others to village Kashampur. She denies that a Panchayat was held on 17.1.2005 about it in which her mama Dheer Singh and relatives were insulted and she and her mother were thrown out of the house on the same day. She further denies that due to the said enmity her mama and mami have lodged a false report. She denies that due to the same her mama did not let her go to the school and she was kept guarded till date. She states that her statement was recorded by the Investigating Officer after 2-3 days of the incident in Mirzapur Police Station. Her statement was not recorded on the day the FIR was lodged. It was recorded on the next day of lodging of the report. She then states that it was recorded on 18th. She did not go to the police station after that. She states that she has told to the Investigating Officer that Ramesh stayed overnight on 14th. If the same is not written in her statement, she cannot state about the reason. She further told the Investigating Officer that on the day of incident after preparing the food she laid near her mother after which Ramesh gave medicines to her mother who then became unconscious. If the same is not written in the statement, she cannot tell the reason. She had slept after taking food. She does not remember when she was taken under the tin-shed. She had reached to Kashampur from Ganeshpur at 8 p.m. When she reached there, her mother did not cook food. She on reaching prepared food. She cooked food for about 1-½ hours. She and her mother had taken meals. Her father had not eaten it. After eating food she slept near her mother. Her father slept outside under tin-shed. When she opened her eyes, she found herself naked. It was about 5 a.m. In between she was unconscious. She does not know what happened with her. After it she slept near her mother. She did not prepare tea and breakfast in the morning. She went to her sister and stayed there till 17.1.2005 till her mama came. She denies the suggestion that in her statement she has stated that no such incident has taken place. She further denies that she is giving a false statement on being prompted by her mama and no such incident has taken place and her mama is taking revenge of his insult in the Panchayat. It is true that in the house of accused Ramesh there is no child or any other person but it is incorrect that her mama has taken the land of the accused Ramesh and has lodged a false case.

25. P.W.3 Suraj Pal is the Head Constable of Police Station Mirzapur. He states of lodging of the present FIR and also of transcribing the corresponding G.D. He proves the same. He further states that a sealed bundle was brought by the Investigating Officer on 20.1.2005 which was recorded in the G.D. and was deposited. The report regarding the same was transcribed by Head Constable Ajit Singh whose handwriting was identified by him.

26. P.W.4 Shiv Kumar Sharma is the Investigating Officer of the matter. He took up the investigation and recorded the statement of witnesses, arrested the accused on 19.1.2005, took the clothes of victim "X' and prepared its recovery memo and filed a charge sheet against the accused. He further states that a report of the Forensic Science Lab was received by him which is paper no.15-Kha to the records and was marked as Exbt. Ka-8.

27. P.W.5 Dr. Sudhakar Garg is the Senior Radiologist, S.B.D. Hospital, Saharanpur. He had conducted the X-Ray examination of victim "X' and had given his report regarding the same. He proves the X-Ray plates and X-Ray report. The details have already been stated above.

28. P.W.6 Constable Police Subhash Chand was posted at Police Station Mirzapur, District Saharanpur. He has given the link evidence of the material which was in a sealed bundle and was taken by him from the Police Station to the Forensic Science Lab, Agra and deposited there.

29. P.W.7 Dr. Rashmi Mehta is the Medical Officer, Womens Hospital, Saharanpur. She conducted the medical examination of the victim "X' and also prepared the supplementary report. The details of the reports have already been stated above. She states about the same in the court.

30. In her cross-examination to court she states that victim "X' as per estimation of the age could be less than 18 years of age but cannot be above it. She states that in any event the age of the victim cannot be above 18 years.

31. After having heard the learned counsel for the parties and perusing the record, it is evident that the appellant is the step father of the victim "X' and the brother-in-law/Jija of P.W.1 Dheer Singh, the first informant of the matter. The evidence of the accused-appellant coming to the house of P.W.1 and taking away the victim "X' on the pretext of her mother being ill and she to attend her and take care of her is a consistent prosecution case. The same does not get distorted in any matter. The identity of the accused-appellant cannot be doubted by any stretch of imagination as he is the step father of victim "X'. The case right from the inception is of the accused-appellant taking away victim "X' from the house of the first informant to his house and then committing rape upon her in the night. The same is consistent in the FIR and also in the statement of victim "X'. The manner of the incident is specific and without any change throughout the case. The clothes of the victim were sent to the Forensic Science Lab which were the Salwar and her underwear. All the clothes were found to be stained by semen of human origin. This would corroborate with the allegation of victim "X' being raped. Smt. Shushila being not examined although the prosecution has not come out with any justification about it but the same would not render the entire prosecution evidence as false. In so far as Smt. Shishwati, the mother of the victim "X' is concerned and the fact that she has not been examined is concerned, the FIR itself states that she is mentally retarded. The Investigating Officer Shiv Kumar Sharma, P.W.4 in his cross-examination stated that he tried to interrogate her in village Kashampur but he was informed that she has left the said place and gone somewhere else after which he did not make an effort to go to village Ganeshpur and examine her. Moreover, the non-production of the said two persons in the trial would not render the entire prosecution as false or even doubtful.

32. It is the settled principle of law that the testimony of a prosecutrix or a victim of rape stands at par with that of the testimony of an injured witness. The same has been held in the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain : (1990) 1 SCC 550 in para 16 which is extracted herein:

"16. A prosecutrix of a sex offence cannot be put on par with an accomplice. She is in fact a victim of the crime. The Evidence Act nowhere says that her evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars. She is undoubtedly a competent witness under Section 118 and her evidence must receive the same weight as is attached to an injured in cases of physical violence. The same degree of care and caution must attach in the evaluation of her evidence as in the case of an injured complainant or witness and no more. What is necessary is that the court must be alive to and conscious of the fact that it is dealing with the evidence of a person who is interested in the outcome of the charge levelled by her. If the court keeps this in mind and feels satisfied that it can act on the evidence of the prosecutrix, there is no rule of law or practice incorporated in the Evidence Act similar to illustration (b) to Section 114 which requires it to look for corroboration. If for some reason the court is hesitant to place implicit reliance on the testimony of the prosecutrix it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The nature of evidence required to lend assurance to the testimony of the prosecutrix must necessarily depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. But if a prosecutrix is an adult and of full understanding the court is entitled to base a conviction on her evidence unless the same is shown to be infirm and not trustworthy. If the totality of the circumstances appearing on the record of the case disclose that the prosecutrix does not have a strong motive to falsely involve the person charged, the court should ordinarily have no hesitation in accepting her evidence. We have, therefore, no doubt in our minds that ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix who does not lack understanding must be accepted. The degree of proof required must not be higher than is expected of an injured witness. For the above reasons we think that exception has rightly been taken to the approach of the High Court as is reflected in the following passage:

"It is only in the rarest of rare cases if the court finds that the testimony of the prosecutrix is so trustworthy, truthful and reliable that other corroboration may not be necessary."

With respect, the law is not correctly stated. If we may say so, it is just the reverse. Ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix must carry the same weight as is attached to an injured person who is a victim of violence, unless there are special circumstances which call for greater caution, in which case it would be safe to act on her testimony if there is independent evidence lending assurance to her accusation."

(emphasis supplied)

33. Further in the case of State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh : (1996) 2 SCC 384 the Apex Court held that for the offence under Section 376 IPC, conviction can be made on the sole testimony of the rape victim. It was also held that the negligence of the investigating officer cannot effect the creditibility of the statement of the prosecutrix. In paras 8 and 21 it was held as follows:

"8. ... The court overlooked the situation in which a poor helpless minor girl had found herself in the company of three desperate young men who were threatening her and preventing her from raising any alarm. Again, if the investigating officer did not conduct the investigation properly or was negligent in not being able to trace out the driver or the car, how can that become a ground to discredit the testimony of the prosecutrix? The prosecutrix had no control over the investigating agency and the negligence of an investigating officer could not affect the credibility of the statement of the prosecutrix ... The courts must, while evaluating evidence, remain alive to the fact that in a case of rape, no self-respecting woman would come forward in a court just to make a humiliating statement against her honour such as is involved in the commission of rape on her. In cases involving sexual molestation, supposed considerations which have no material effect on the veracity of the prosecution case or even discrepancies in the statement of the prosecutrix should not, unless the discrepancies are such which are of fatal nature, be allowed to throw out an otherwise reliable prosecution case ... Seeking corroboration of her statement before relying upon the same, as a rule, in such cases amounts to adding insult to injury ... Corroboration as a condition for judicial reliance on the testimony of the prosecutrix is not a requirement of law but a guidance of prudence under given circumstances....

21. ... The courts should examine the broader probabilities of a case and not get swayed by minor contradictions or insignificant discrepancies in the statement of the prosecutrix, which are not of a fatal nature, to throw out an otherwise reliable prosecution case. If evidence of the prosecutrix inspires confidence, it must be relied upon without seeking corroboration of her statement in material particulars. If for some reason the court finds it difficult to place implicit reliance on her testimony, it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony, short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The testimony of the prosecutrix must be appreciated in the background of the entire case and the trial court must be alive to its responsibility and be sensitive while dealing with cases involving sexual molestations."

34. In the case of Vijay Vs. State of M.P. : (2010) 8 SCC 191 the Apex Court referred to its decisions in the cases of State of Maharasthra Vs. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain : (1990) 1 SCC 550 and State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh : (1996) 2 SCC 384 and also few other decisions and in para 14 observed as follows:

"14. Thus, the law that emerges on the issue is to the effect that the statement of the prosecutrix, if found to be worthy of credence and reliable, requires no corroboration. The court may convict the accused on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix."

35. Further in the case of State of UP Vs. Chhotel Lal : (2011) 2 SCC 550 the Apex Court has postulated the approach to be adopted by Courts in evaluating the testimony of victim of rape. In para 26 it has been held as follows:

"26. The important thing that the court has to bear in mind is that what is lost by a rape victim is face. The victim loses value as a person. Ours is a conservative society and, therefore, a woman and more so a young unmarried woman will not put her reputation in peril by allegingfalsely about forcible sexual assault. In examining the evidence of the prosecutrix the courts must be alive to the conditions prevalent in the Indian society and must not be swayed by beliefs in other countries. The courts must be sensitive and responsive to the plight of the female victim of sexual assault. Society's belief and value systems need to be kept uppermost in mind as rape is the worst form of women's oppression. A forcible sexual assault brings in humiliation, feeling of disgust, tremendous embarrassment, sense of shame, trauma and lifelong emotional scar to a victim and it is, therefore, most unlikely of a woman, and more so by a young woman, roping in somebody falsely in the crime of rape. The stigma that attaches to the victim of rape in Indian society ordinarily rules out the levelling of false accusations. An Indian woman traditionally will not concoct an untruthful story and bring charges of rape for the purpose of blackmail, hatred, spite or revenge."

36. As such the examination of a number of witnesses in a case is not important than the quality of witnesses. From the perusal of the evidence of the victim "X', it is clear that her stand with regards to rape being committed on her is specific and consistent. The contradiction as has been argued drawing the attention to the statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. and the statement in court of victim "X' is a minor contradiction and does not in any manner would go to show that no such incident had taken place. In both the statements, the case was specific of rape being committed upon her. The doctor who examined the victim and gave the supplementary report being Dr. Rashmi Mehta, P.W.7 has in the supplementary report placing her observations on the radiological examination opined the age of the victim between 16-17 years and even in her cross-examination has specifically stated that her age at the time of incident was below 18 years and cannot be above 18 years at all. Thus the victim was a minor at the time of the incident. The accused although in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that he is issueless and the first informant Dheer Singh has an eye on his property and want to grab his property and as such he has falsely implicated him but there is nothing on record to show as to what was the property owned by him and also the fact as to who all are his co-laterals and other persons and whether the said property was exclusively under his title or not. The version of a Panchayat being held is uncorroborated. The victim denies of any such Panchayat being held. There is no evidence led by the accused-appellant to corroborate the said fact.

37. Looking to the facts and circumstances of the case, it is evident that the prosecution has succeeded to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the accused-appellant. The present appeal is thus dismissed. The judgment and order of the trial court is hereby affirmed.

38. As per the office report dated 23.09.2014, a report dated 13.08.2014 has been received from the C.J.M., Saharanpur which is in compliance of an order dated 2.8.2014 passed by a coordinate Bench of this Court stating therein that the accused-appellant has completed his sentence of 10 years and has been released on 20.10.2012. He has also deposited a fine of Rs.3,000/-.

39. In these circumstances, if the accused-appellant has served out the entire sentence as awarded by the trial court and has deposited the fine as aforesaid, he need not be taken into custody.

40. The office is directed to send the certified copy of this judgment along with the trial court records to the trial court concerned for necessary information and follow-up action.

41. Office is directed to pay a sum of Rs.8,000/- for assistance of the Court to learned Amicus Curiae within two months from today.

42. The trial court shall communicate this judgement to the accused-appellant within a period of one week from the date of receipt of the same.

THE HON'BLE DINESH KUMAR SINGH, J.

Raj Kumar @ Raj Kumar Srivastava ...Appellant

Versus

State ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

Counsel for the Respondents:

Criminal Law- Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988- Section 27 -Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2)- It is well settled that demand and acceptance of illegal gratification is a sine qua non to prove the offence of bribe under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act-Mere recovery of the amount would not prove the charges against the accused which was said to have been paid by way of illegal gratification. If the Court finds that there is no evidence to prove payment of bribe or to show that the accused had voluntarily accepted the money knowing it to be bribe, the conviction cannot be sustained-From the evidence lead by the CBI particularly considering the fact of recovery of foreign currency and the evidence of two passengers whose testimony has remained unshaken, this Court is of the view that the offence under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act is proved against the appellants.

Where the prosecution fails to prove the demand and acceptance of illegal gratification, then mere recovery of the amount will not make out any offence but where the prosecution witnesses prove the factum of demand and acceptance of bribe then the said evidence is sufficient to bring home the charge against the accused.

Quantum of Punishment- Proportionate Punishment- The special circumstance i.e. 22 years of time period having been lapsed from the date of the alleged offence and their official positions which they held at the time of commission of offence, this Court is of the view that the minimum sentence should be reduced to the sentence already undergone with a fine.

The long delay in deciding the appeal is one of the mitigating factors to take into consideration on the point of the quantum of sentence and the same is to be reckoned as a factor for reducing the sentence to the period already undergone. (Para 12, 17, 20, 22)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. These criminal appeals have been filed under Section 27 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 read with Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. against the judgment and order dated 21.7.2014 passed by the learned Special Judge, Anti-Corruption, West, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow in Criminal Case No.01 of 2011 (CBI Vs. Udai Pratap Bhartiya and three others) under Section 120-B IPC read with Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act, arising out of Crime No.RC0062000A0017/2000, Police Station CBI/ACB, Lucknow, whereby the appellants have been convicted for offence under Section 120-B IPC read with Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and sentenced them four years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.40,000/- each and in default of payment of fine, further one year additional rigorous imprisonment.

2. The prosecution case, in brief, is that a secret information was received that custom officials and the bank officials posted at Amausi Airport were indulging in corruption practices and were demanding and accepting the bribe from the passengers coming from abroad. On this information, Sri Jayant Kashmiri, Inspector, CBI, Lucknow on 23.10.2000 constituted a team including the CBI officials and two independent witnesses, Sri Arun Srivastava, Law Officer, Circle Office, Canara Bank and R.C. Srivastava, Manager Overseas Banking, Main Branch, State Bank of India, Lucknow. The team reached to the Amausi Airport at 0040 hours on 23.10.2000. After sometime, Flight No.IAIC 884 reached Amausi Airport, Lucknow from Sharjah. The CBI officials reached inside the Airport and started keeping eye on the custom officials at custom gate and the bank officials working at the foreign exchange counter of the Allahabad Bank. The team members noticed that the custom officials and the bank officials were allowing the passengers to go out of the gate after taking money from them. The team members reached to the custom counters and the bank counters and, on search from Sri U.P. Bhartiya, Superintendent, Air Custom 3205 Dirham and Rs.12,770/- in cash, from appellant-Sunil Kumar, who was employed as Sepoy, 230 Dirham and Rs.80/-, from appellant-Rajkumar, Sepoy, 2000 Riyal, 175 Dirham and Rs.3,050/-, from appellant-S.S. Pandey, Driver, 15 Dirham and Rs.2,790/-, from Ashutosh Mishra, Manager-cum-In-charge, Allahabad Bank, Custom Counter, Amausi Airport 18390 Dirham, 360 U.S. Dollar and Rs.11,310/- were recovered. A seizure memo was prepared.

3. The appellants and the Manager-cum-In-charge, Allahabad Bank, Custom Counter could not give any explanation for having foreign currency and cash in their possession. The CBI, thereafter, registered a case on 23.10.2000 itself as RC 17(A)/2000/CBI.

4. It was noticed that in the said flight IAIC 884, there were 113 passengers and out of them, statements of 17 passengers were taken and five passengers specifically stated that the custom officials had demanded money from them. Independent witnesses, R.C. Srivastava and Arun Srivastava were examined in the Court, who proved the surprise inspection and the seizure memo. The CBI after completing the investigation, filed charge sheet and on 4.2.2013 charges were framed.

4. Since U.P. Bhartiya, appellant had died during the pendency of the appeal, his appeal being Criminal Appeal No.947 of 2014 got abated and a separate order in this respect has been passed.

5. The CBI to prove its case examined as many as 15 witnesses including the two passengers, who came from Flight No.IAIC 884. Chhoteylal (P.W.-8) and Mohd. Ubaid (P.W.-9). Several documentary and material evidence were produced in support of the prosecution case. On behalf of the defence, seven witnesses were examined.

6. Appellants could not deny the possession of foreign currency and cash in their possession. They also could not offer any explanation for possession of the foreign currency. Independent witnesses, R.K. Srivastava (P.W.-3) and Ramesh Chandra Srivastava (P.W.-4) have proved the foreign currency and the Indian currency recovered from the appellants. Two passengers Chhoteylal (P.W.-8) and Mohd. Ubaid (P.W.-9) have specifically stated that the custom officials posted at the custom gate had demanded money for their exit from the gate.

7. The trial court has extracted the evidences of all the witnesses and for the sake of brevity, the same is not being reproduced herein. The trial court after considering the entire facts and the material evidence available on record, has convicted and sentenced the appellants as mentioned above.

8. Sri Nandit Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Pranshu Agarwal and Sri Shiv Shankar Singh, learned counsel for the appellants submits that the prosecution has failed to prove that there was a demand of money by the appellants from the passengers and in absence of proof of a demand or request of a valuable thing or pecuniary advantage, offence under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act cannot be held to be established. He further submits that the chain does not get completed as there was no demand and no one had seen accepting money by the appellants and, only on the basis of the recovery made, they have been prosecuted and the learned trial court has held them guilty for offences under Section 120-B IPC read with Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act. He, therefore, submits that the learned trial court has erred in law in not appreciating that unless and until the demand, acceptance and recovery are proved, the appellants could not have been held guilty.

9. On the other hand, Sri Shiv P. Shukla, learned counsel for the CBI submits that from the evidence of Chhoteylal (P.W.-8) and Mohd. Ubaid (P.W.-9), it is amply clear that the appellants and the deceased U.P. Bhartiya had demanded money in discharge of their official function from the passengers for allowing them to cross the custom gate and only after receiving the money, they would allow the passengers to cross the custom gate. He further submits that the appellants not only demanded money, but also accepted the pecuniary advantage for themselves and there has been recovery from them, which they have not denied. He also submits that all the four appellants used to demand money from the passengers coming from abroad and, thereafter, they were dividing the money collected among themselves in proportion.

10. Learned counsel for the CBI further submits that the offence under Section 120-B IPC read with Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act got proved beyond reasonable doubt by leading cogent and credible evidence by the CBI and the impugned judgment and order, which is a well reasoned order in detail, has been passed after considering the evidence on record, which is not likely to be interfered with.

11. I have considered the submissions advanced on behalf of the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. Two passengers, Chhoteylal (P.W.-8) and Mohd. Ubaid (P.W.-9), from whom money was demanded, have categorically deposed that the custom officials posted on duty, demanded money from them and they would allow the passengers to cross the custom gate only after accepting the money from them. These two witnesses were also allowed to cross custom gate only they paid the money demanded by the appellants.

13. Section 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act would read as under:-

"13. Criminal misconduct by a public servant.--(1) A public servant is said to commit the offence of criminal misconduct,--

(a) .....

(b) .....

(c) .....

(d) if he,--

(i) by corrupt or illegal means, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage; or

(ii) by abusing his position as a public servant, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage; or

(iii) while holding office as a public servant, obtains for any person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage without any public interest; or

(e) .....

(2) Any public servant who commits criminal misconduct shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall be not less than3[four years] but which may extend to 4[ten years] and shall also be liable to fine."

14. The essential ingredients of Section 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act are:

(i) that he should have been a public servant;

(ii) that he should have used corrupt or illegal means or otherwise abused his position as such public servant, and

(iii) that he should have obtained a valuable thing or pecuniary advantage for himself or for any other person.

15. The Supreme Court in the case of C.K. Damodaran Nair Vs. Govt. of India, (1997) 9 SCC 477 had occasion to consider the word "obtain" used in Section 5(1)(a) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947, which is para materia of Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and, in paragraph 12 of the said judgement, it has been held as under:-

"12. The position will, however, be different so far as an offence under Section 5(1)(d) read with Section 5(2) of the Act is concerned. For such an offence prosecution has to prove that the accused "obtained" the valuable thing or pecuniary advantage by corrupt or illegal means or by otherwise abusing his position as a public servant and that too without the aid of the statutory presumption under Section 4(1) of the Act as it is available only in respect of offences under Section 5(1)(a) and (b) -- and not under Section 5(1)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act. "Obtain" means to secure or gain (something) as the result of request or effort (Shorter Oxford Dictionary). In case of obtainment the initiative vests in the person who receives and in that context a demand or request from him will be a primary requisite for an offence under Section 5(1)(d) of the Act unlike an offence under Section 161 IPC, which, as noticed above, can be, established by proof of either "acceptance" or "obtainment".

16. The Supreme Court in the case of A. Subair Vs. State of Kerala, (2009) 6 SCC 587 while placing reliance on the judgment of C.K. Damodaran Nair (supra) in paragraph 15 held as under:-

"15. In C.K. Damodaran Nair v. Govt. of India [(1997) 9 SCC 477 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 654] this Court had an occasion to consider the word "obtained" used in Section 5(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 [now Section 13(1)(d) of the Act, 1988], and it was held: (SCC p. 483, para 12)

"12. The position will, however, be different so far as an offence under Section 5(1)(d) read with Section 5(2) of the Act is concerned. For such an offence prosecution has to prove that the accused "obtained' the valuable thing or pecuniary advantage by corrupt or illegal means or by otherwise abusing his position as a public servant and that too without the aid of the statutory presumption under Section 4(1) of the Act as it is available only in respect of offences under Sections 5(1)(a) and (b)--and not under Sections 5(1)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act. "Obtain' means to secure or gain (something) as the result of request or effort (Shorter Oxford Dictionary). In case of obtainment the initiative vests in the person who receives and in that context a demand or request from him will be a primary requisite for an offence under Section 5(1)(d) of the Act unlike an offence under Section 161 IPC, which, as noticed above, can be, established by proof of either "acceptance' or "obtainment'."

The legal position is no more res integra that primary requisite of an offence under Section 13(1)(d) of the Act is proof of a demand or request of a valuable thing or pecuniary advantage from the public servant. In other words, in the absence of proof of demand or request from the public servant for a valuable thing or pecuniary advantage, the offence under Section 13(1)(d) cannot be held to be established."

17. It is well settled that demand and acceptance of illegal gratification is a sine qua non to prove the offence of bribe under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act as held by the Supreme Court in the case of State of Gujarat Vs. Navinbhai Chandrakant Joshi, (2018) SCC Online SC 699:AIR 1028 SC 3345. Mere recovery of the amount would not prove the charges against the accused which was said to have been paid by way of illegal gratification. If the Court finds that there is no evidence to prove payment of bribe or to show that the accused had voluntarily accepted the money knowing it to be bribe, the conviction cannot be sustained. P. Satyanarayan Murthy Vs. District Inspector of Police, State of Andhra Pradesh, (2015) 10 SCC 152.

18. At this stage, Sri Nandit Srivastava, learned Senior Counsel for the appellants submits that at the relevant time, the minimum sentence under Section 13(2) of Prevention of Corruption Act was one year which could have been extended upto seven years. The appellants are Sepoys and Driver. The offence allegedly took place in the year 2000 and 22 long years have gone bye since then. He, therefore, submits that considering the judgment in the case of V.K. Verma Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2014) 3 SCC 485, this Court may reduce the substantive sentence to the period already undergone and may impose the fine taking into the special circumstances.

19. The Supreme Court in the case of V.K. Verma (supra) held as under:-

"8. The long delay before the courts in taking a final decision with regard to the guilt or otherwise of the accused is one of the mitigating factors for the superior courts to take into consideration while taking a decision on the quantum of sentence. As we have noted above, the FIR was registered by CBI in 1984. The matter came before the Sessions Court only in 1994. The Sessions Court took almost ten years to conclude the trial and pronounce the judgment. Before the High Court, it took another ten years. Thus, it is a litigation of almost three decades in a simple trap case and that too involving a petty amount.

9. In Ashok Kumar v. State (Delhi Admn.) [(1980) 2 SCC 282 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 426] , the commission of offence of theft was committed in 1971 and the judgment of this Court was delivered in 1980. The conviction was under Section 411 IPC. This Court having regard to the purpose of punishment and "the long protracted litigation", reduced the sentence to the period already undergone by the convict.

10. In Sharvan Kumar v. State of U.P. [(1985) 3 SCC 658 : 1985 SCC (Cri) 437] , the commission of offence was in 1968 and the judgment was delivered in 1985. The conviction was under Sections 467 and 471 IPC. In that case also, the long delay in the litigation process was one of the factors taken into consideration by this Court in reducing the sentence to the period already undergone.

11. In Ajab v. State of Maharashtra [1989 Supp (1) SCC 601 : 1989 SCC (Cri) 602] also, this Court had an occasion to examine the similar situation. The offence was committed in 1972 and this Court delivered the judgment in 1989. The conviction was under Section 224 read with Section 395 IPC. In that case also "passage of time was reckoned as a factor for reducing the sentence to the period already undergone". This Court in that case, while reducing the substantive sentence, increased the fine holding that the same would meet the ends of justice.

12. The appellant is now aged 76. We are informed that he is otherwise not keeping in good health, having had also cardiovascular problems. The offence is of the year 1984. It is almost three decades now. The accused has already undergone physical incarceration for three months and mental incarceration for about thirty years. Whether at this age and stage, would it not be economically wasteful, and a liability to the State to keep the appellant in prison, is the question we have to address. Having given thoughtful consideration to all the aspects of the matter, we are of the view that the facts mentioned above would certainly be special reasons for reducing the substantive sentence but enhancing the fine, while maintaining the conviction.

13. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed. The substantive sentence of imprisonment is reduced to the period already undergone. However, an amount of Rs 50,000 is imposed as fine. The appellant shall deposit the fine within three months and, if not, he shall undergo imprisonment for a period of six months. On payment of fine, his bail bond will stand cancelled."

20. From the evidence lead by the CBI particularly considering the fact of recovery of foreign currency and the evidence of two passengers whose testimony has remained unshaken, this Court is of the view that the offence under Section 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act is proved against the appellants.

21. So far the appeals on merit are concerned, there is no merit in the present appeals, which are hereby dismissed and the conviction of the appellants is upheld.

22. However, considering the judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of V.K. Verma (supra), the special circumstance i.e. 22 years of time period having been lapsed from the date of the alleged offence and their official positions which they held at the time of commission of offence, this Court is of the view that the minimum sentence should be reduced to the sentence already undergone with a fine of Rs.35,000/- to be deposited by each appellant within a period of four weeks from today in favour of Armed Forces Battle Casualties Welfare Fund, S/B Account No.90552010165915, Canara Bank, South Block, Defence Headquarters, New Delhi-110011, IFSC Code:CNRB0019055. If the appellants fail to deposit the fine as directed above, they shall undergo the sentence as awarded by the learned trial court.

Susheela Devi ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Abdul Mazeed, Sri Kuldeep Mishra, Sri Nazrul Islam Jafri(Senior Adv.)

Counsel for the Opp. Party:

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 154- Hostile Witness- The testimony of hostile witnesses cannot be thrown away just on the basis of the fact that they have not supported the prosecution case and were cross-examined by the prosecutor. The testimony of the hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Needless to say that the testimony of hostile witnesses should be scrutinized meticulously and very cautiously.

Settled law that the entire testimony of a hostile witness cannot be discarded but that part, which supports the case of the prosecution, has to be considered.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 32- The court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction- In order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration. The hostility of witnesses of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased, which has been proved by prosecution in accordance with law and is a truthful version of the event that occurred and the circumstances leading to her death- None of the witnesses or the authorities involved in recording the dying declaration had turned hostile.

Where the court finds the dying declaration to be truthful, credible and natural after subjecting the same to close scrutiny then conviction can be secured solely on the basis of the dying declaration without seeking any further corroboration despite the witnesses turning hostile.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Sections 302 & 304 (Part-I) IPC- The offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.- it appears that the death caused by the accused was not pre-meditated. Accused had no intention to cause the death of the deceased. The injuries were though sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, accused had no intention to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and the appellant is sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with remission.

Where death is due to septicaemia after several days and the accused had no intention to commit murder, then instead of Section 302 IPC, the offence would be punishable u/s 304 (Part - I) IPC. (Para 14, 21, 22, 24, 26, 27, 36)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 4.1.2020, passed by the learned Additional District and Session Judge, Court No.6, Pilibhit, in Session Trail No.123 of 2018 arising out of Case Crime No.34 of 2018 under Section 302 IPC, Police Station-Diyoriya, District-Pilibhit, whereby the appelant is convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment with a fine of Rs.50,000/- and in defalut of payment of fine, further imprisonemnt for one year.

2. None has appeared for appellant. We are intending to modify the order in favour of the appellant. Hence, we have heard and taken assistance from Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned AGA and perused the record.

3. The brief facts of the case are that a written report was submitted by informant-Jagdish Prasad at Police Station-Diyoriya Kalan, District-Pilibhit on 23.2.2018 with the averments that the daughter of informant, namely, Roopwati was married to Rajendra Kumar before three years of occurrence. Informant had given sufficient dowry as per his financial status, but in-laws of her daughter were not satisfied and continuously demanding the additional dowry. Due to non-fulfilment of demand of additional dowry, she used to be beaten and tortured. On 22.2.2018, at about 11:00 a.m., Rajendra Kumar (husband of Roopwati), Sunil Kumar (dewar) and her mother-in-law poured kerosene oil on Roopwati and set her ablazed. On getting the information by neighbours, informant and others went to the house of in-laws of her daughter and found her in burning condition where she told them that aforesaid persons had set her ablazed for want of additional dowry. She was admitted in the hospital at Pilibhit.

4. On the basis of aforesaid, written report, first information report was registered on 23.2.2018 under Section 498-A, 307, 323 IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act against all the accused persons. Investigation was started by the Investigating Officer. After 9 days of occurrence, injured-Roopwati succumbed to injuries and the case was converted into Section-304 B and 302 IPC. The Investigating Officer visited the place of occurrence and site plan was prepared. During the course of investigation, I.O. Recorded the statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Burnt clothes were recovered by I.O. of which recovery memo was prepared. Dying-Declaration of injured /deceased Roopwati was recorded at District-Pilibhit on 23.2.2018 by Naib Tehsildar, Pilibhit, Sadar. After the death of injured Roopwati, proceedings of panchayatnama were conducted and enclosed report was prepared. Dead-body was sent for postmortem where postmortem was conducted on dead-body and postmortem report was prepared. After conclusion of investigation, I.O. Submitted charge-sheet against Rajendra Kumar and Sushila Devi under Sections 498A, 304B, 302 IPC and ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act. Named accused Sunil Kumar was exonerated as no sufficient evidence was found against him.

5. The case being triable exclusively by court of session, was committed by Magistrate to the court of session. Learned trial-court framed charges against the appellant under Sections 498A, 304-B, 302 IPC read with Section 34 IPC and Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. Accused-appellant denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

6. Prosecution examined following witnesses:

1. Jagdish Prasad
2. Yadwati
3. Chatrapal
4. Neeraj Kumar
5. Rekha Sharma
6. Shikha
7. Mukesh Kumar
8. Dr.Rajesh Kumar

9.	Praveen Malik
10.	Sher Bahadur Singh
11.	Parvati Devi
12.	Ram Bresh Yadav
13.	Mod. Aslam

7. Apart from aforesaid witnesses, prosecution submitted following documentary evidence, which was proved by leading the evidence:

1.	Written Report	Ex.ka1
2.	Recovery memo of clothes	Ex.ka2
3.	Statement u/S 161 Cr.P.C.	Ex.ka3
4.	Site plan with Index	Ex.ka4
5.	Postmortem report	Ex.ka5
6.	Final Report	Ex.ka6
7.	Panchayatnama	Ex.ka7
8.	F.I.R.	Ex.ka8
9.	Dying-Declaration	Ex.ka10

Statements of accused were recorded u/S 313 Cr.P.C. No defence evidence is produced.

8. Deceased was hospitalised just after the occurrence took place and she died after about 9 days of the incident. In the meantime, she remained under treatment, continuously. Her medical papers were also filed by prosecution, which are on record.

9. In this case, no prosecution witness has supported the prosecution case and all the witnesses of fact have turned hostile. Jagdish Prasad-PW1 is the father of the deceased as well as informant, but in his testimony before trial-court, he has specifically stated that he had not dictated the written report. He had only signed it. He was declared hostile and put to the cross-examination by prosecutor. In his cross-examination, he has stated that the written report was getting typed by villagers and he had only put his signature. He had not blamed any of the accused persons for the death of her daughter. He has denied his statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. also. It is specifically deposed by PW1 that the deceased was under depression due to not conceiving the child.

PW9
PW10
PW11
PW12
PW13

10. PW2 is mother of the deceased. She has also not supported the prosecution case and turned hostile. She has also denied her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. during cross-examination by prosecutor. Neeraj Kumar-PW4 is witness of recovery of empty lamp of kerosene oil, but he has stated that I.O. Procured his signature on blank papers. He was also turned hostile. Chatrapal-PW3 is witness of recovery memo. Hence, in this way, only two witnesses of fact, namely, PW1 and PW2 are produced by prosecution and both have not supported the prosecution version and specifically deposed that no additional dowry was demanded by the accused-appellant.

11. It is brought to our notice that dying declaration of deceased was recorded when she was surviving, but this dying declaration has no corroboration with any prosecution evidence. All the witnesses of fact have turned hostile and nobody supported the version which is mentioned in dying declaration. Therefore, learned trial court committed grave error by convicting the accused on the basis of dying declaration only when it was not corroborated at all.

12. It is brought to our notice that if, for the sake of arugment, it is assumed that appellant has committed the offence, in that case also no offence under Section 302 IPC is made out. Maximum this case can travel up to the limits of offence under Section 304 IPC because the deceased died after 9 days of the occurrence due to developing the infection in her burn-wounds, i.e., septicemia. As per catena of judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court, offence cannot travel beyond section 304 IPC, in case the death occurred due to septicimia. Learned counsel for the appellant also submitted that postmortem report also shows that cause of death was septicimia. Learned counsel relied on the judgment in the case of Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [2009 Lawsuit SC 1380], and the judgment in Criminal Appeal Nos.1438 of 2010 and 1439 of 2010 dated 7.10.2017 and judgment of Criminal Appeal No.2558 of 2011 delivered on 1.2.2021 by this Court and several other judgments.

13. Learned AGA submitted that conviction of accused can be based only on the basis of dying declaration, if it is wholly reliable. It requires no corroboration. Moreover, testimony of hostile witnesses can also be relied on to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Learned trial court has righty convited the appellant under Section 302 IPC and sentenced accordingly. There is no force in this appeal and the same may be dismissed.

14. First of all, there is issue relating to the hostality of witnesses. Two witnesses of fact were examined before learned trial court, namely Jagdish Prasad, complainant and father of the deceased (PW1), Yadwati-mother of the deceased (PW2). Both these witnesses have turned hostile, but the testimony of hostile witnesses cannot be thrown away just on the basis of the fact that they have not supported the prosecution case and were cross-examined by the prosecutor. The testimony of the hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Needless to say that the testimony of hostile witnesses should be scrutinized meticulously and very cautiously.

15. Hon'ble Apex Court in Koli Lakhmanbhai Chandabhai vs. State of Gujarat [1999 (8) SCC 624], as held that evidence of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent it supports the version of prosecution and it is not necessary that it should be relied upon or rejected as a whole. It is settled law that evidence of hostile witness also can be relied upon to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version. Evidence of such witness cannot be treated as washed off the record. It remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base his conviction upon his testimony if corroborated by other reliable evidence.

16. In Ramesh Harijan vs. State of U.P. [2012 (5) SCC 777], the Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that it is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.

17. In State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra and another [1996 AIR (Supreme Court) 2766], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that evidence of a hostile witnesses would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. Thus, the law can be summarized to the effect that evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant part thereof, which are admissible in law, can be used by prosecution or the defence.

18. Perusal of impugned judgment shows that learned trail court has scrutinised the evidence on record very carefully.

19. As far as the dying declaration is concerned, it was recroded by Mod. Aslam, Nayab Tehsildar, who was examined as PW13. Dying declaration is recorded by PW13 after obtaining the certificate of mental-fitness from the doctor. After completion of dying delaration also the said docter has given certificate that during the course of statement, the victim remained conscious.

20. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored male voluntarily and is wholly reliable. In this regard, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law regarding dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be directed, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

21. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

22. Deceased survived for 9 days after the incident took place. Her dying declaration was recorded by Nayab Tehsildar and doctor appended certificate of mental health of the victim before and after making of dying declaration, which is proved. PW13 is absolutely independent witnesses. In the wake of aforesaid judgments of Lakhan (supra), dying declaraion cannot be disbelived, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

23. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

24. From the above case laws, it clearly emerges that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused when such dying declaration is true, reliable and has been recorded in accordance with established practice and principles and if it is recorded so then there cannot be any challenge regarding its correctness and authenticity.

25. In dying declaration of deceased (Ex.ka10), it is also important to note that it was recorded on 23.2.2018 and the deceased died on 3.3.2018 while the incident took place on 22.2.2018. It means that she remained alive for 8 days after making dying declaration. Therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evalated from the fact that she survived for 8 days after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit condition to make the statment at the relevant time. Moreover, in the dying declaration, the deceased did not unnecessarily involved the other family members of the accused appellant. She only attributed the role of burning to her mother-in-law.

26. In such a situation, the hostality of witnesses of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased, which has been proved by prosecution in accordance with law and is a truthful version of the event that occurred and the circumstances leading to her death.

27. As already noticed, none of the witnesses or the authorities involved in recording the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of prosecution. The dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased, hence, this dying declaration can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the sole basis of conviction. Hence, learned trial court has committed no error on acting on the sole basis of dying declaration. Learned trial court was completely justified in placing reliance on dying declaration Ex. KA-10 and convicting the accused-appellant on the basis of it.

28. Now we come to the point that deceased died due to septicemia, hence this case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC. In this regard, learned counsel has submitted that deceased died after 9 days of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries, which could be avoided by good treatment. There was no intention of the appellant to cause the death of his wife.

29. Death of deceased was a homicidal death. The fact that it was a homicidal death takes this Court to most vexed question whether it would fall within the four-corners of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Therefore, we are considering the question whether it would be a murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 IPC.

30. Perusal of postmortem report of the deceased goes to show that the cause of death is mentioned as septicemia due to antemortem thermal burn injuries. Hence, it is a case of death of the deceased due to septicemia, which developed in her wounds during treatment. There is no dispute to the fact that the death of the deceased occurred due to poisonous effect of the injuries because septicemia was developed during the course of treatment, which was the main cause of the death of the deceased.

31. In Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar [(2010) 2 SCC 91], incident occurred on 14.7.1996, while the deceased died on 10.8.1996 due to septicemia caused by burn injuries. The accused was convicted and sentenced for life imprsonment under Section 302 IPC, which was confirmed in appeal by the High Court, but Hon'ble The Apex Court converted the case under Section 304 Part-II IPC on the ground that the death ensued after twenty-six days of the incident as a result of septicemia and not as a consequence of burn injuries and, accordingly, sentenced for seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

32. In Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [(2009) 8 SCC 796], the incident took place on 29.11.1984. The deceased died on 7.12.1984. Cause of death was the burn injuries. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60 per cent burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. Trial-court convicted the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' imprisonment, but in appeal, High Court convicted the appellant under Section 302 IPC. Hon'ble The Apex Court has held that during the aforesaid period of eight days, the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries. Accordingly, judgment and order convicting the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC by the trial-court was maintained and the judgment of the High Court was set aside.

33. In Chirra Shivraj vs. State of Andhra Pradesh [(2010) 14 SCC 444], incident took place on 21.4.1999. Deceased died on 1.8.1999. As per the prosecution version, kerosene oil was poured upon the deceased, who succumbed to the injuries. Cause of death was septicemia. Accused was convicted under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' simple imprisonment, which was confirmed by the High Court. Hon'ble The Apex Court dismissed the appeal holding that the deceased suffered from septicemia, which was caused due to burn-injuries and as a result thereof, she expired on 1.8.1999.

34. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

35. On the overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the case coupled with medical evidence and the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Courts in above referred case laws, we are of the considered opinion that in the case at hand, the offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

36. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions it appears that the death caused by the accused was not pre-meditated. Accused had no intention to cause the death of the deceased. The injuries were though sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, accused had no intention to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 IPC, offence committed will fall under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

37. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the view that appeal has to be partly allowed. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and the appellant is sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with remission. The fine of Rs. 50,000/- is reduced to Rs.20,000/-. Default sentence is maintained.

38. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed.

39. Record and proceedings be sent back to the court below. A copy of this order be also sent to the accused in jail.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SURENDRA SINGH-I, J.

Crl. Appeal No. 1636 of 1994

Ram Babu & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri S.S. Shukla, Sri Mahendra Pratap Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 134- The Indian Evidence Act has not prescribed any minimum number of witnesses required for proving a fact - In the matter of appreciation of evidence of witnesses, it is not number of witnesses, but quality of their evidence which is important.

Settled law that it's the quality of evidence and not the quantity of witnesses that is important.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Sections 308/34 & 325/34- Perusal of evidence of injured PW1 Jagdish, it appears that his testimony is wholly reliable and truthful- The evidence given by PW1 Jagdish and PW2 Jairam has been corroborated by documentary evidence- From the perusal of the injuries received by injured PW1 Jagdish and the x-ray report, it appears that injuries on his forehead and face are simple in nature. The only injury received in the metacarpal phalynx of left forearm is grievous as there is dislocation of the aforesaid bone- PW4 has not stated in his evidence that the injuries received by PW1 Jagdish were fatal or life threatening in nature- From the evidence available on record, it is not proved that the accused-appellants had attacked the injured Jagdish with the intention of causing such injury which may result in culpable homicide not amounting to murder - Thus, prosecution has failed to prove the charge u/s 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. From the evidence on record, the prosecution has proved the charge u/s 325 r/w 34 I.P.C. against the accused-appellants, for which they are liable to be convicted.

Where the medical evidence shows that the injury is not life threatening then the same establishes that the intention of the accused was not to commit culpable homicide not amounting to murder and the offence would be one punishable u/s 325 r/w34 IPC instead of Section 308 r/w 34 IPC.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 357 Cr.P.C. provides power to the Court to award compensation to victim, which is in addition and not ancillary to other sentences. While granting just and proper compensation Court ought to have consider capacity of the accused for such payment as well as relevant factors such as medical expenses, loss of earning, pain and sufferings etc.- Considering the facts and circumstances of the present case as well as keeping in view the position of law as mentioned above and considering that the incident was happened about 33 years back; the incident was occurred in spur of the moment, this Court is of the view that if the sentence awarded is reduced to the period already undergone and a reasonable compensation is awarded to the victim, the ends of justice would be served- Judgment and order dated 21.10.1994 passed by IVth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, in Sessions Trial No. 101 of 1992, is hereby modified to the extent that accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, are convicted u/s 325 I.P.C. instead of Section 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. as done by the trial court.

Where the offence was not pre-meditated, there was no intention to commit murder, injuries inflicted by the accused were simple and a long time has elapsed since the commission of the offence then it would be just and proper to reduce the sentence to the period already undergone with award of fair and proper compensation to the victim. (Para 18, 22, 26, 28, 29)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Hon'ble Surendra Singh-I, J.)

Heard Sri Mahendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Sunil Kumar Tripathi, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2) This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgement and order dated 21.10.1994 passed by IVth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, in Sessions Trial No. 101 of 1992, State of U.P. Vs. Ram Babu and another arising out of Case Crime No. 96 of 1989, Police Station- Sikandra, District- Kanpur Dehat.

3) By the impugned order, the trial court has convicted the appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash u/s 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. and sentenced them to two years six months rigorous imprisonment.

4) The prosecution case as revealed by the written report dated 17.10.1989 submitted by informant Jairam in Police Station- Sikandra is that he is resident of Sahajpur, Police Station- Sikandra, District- Kanpur Dehat. Last year accused, Ram Babu had quarrel with informant's son, Jagdish due to which he kept enmity with the informant and his son. On 17.10.1989 at about 8 a.m., informant's son, Jagdish, was going to meet ex-M.P. of District- Etawah, Ram Singh Shakya, who had arrived in his village at the residence of Shiv Prasad. Accused, Ram Babu was holding a hansia in his hand. He exhorted his son that why is his enemy passing in front of his door. On the exhortation of accused-appellant, Ram Babu, his brother, Ram Prakash armed with a lathi, his son, Anil and Sudhir, armed with kanta arrived there and started beating informant's son, Jagdish. On hearing the noise, informant, Jairam, his other son, Rakesh and Vishram Singh son of Ram Sharan and other persons of his village arrived on the spot and raised alarm on which the accused persons escaped from the place of occurrence. Jagdish received grievous injuries caused by hansia, lathi and kanta. He fell down on the spot and became unconscious. The informant took Jagdish to the Police Station- Sikandra, where he gave the written report on the basis of which Case Crime No. 96 of 1989 u/s 308 I.P.C. was registered against the accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash and two other persons.

5) The institution of the criminal case was entered in the case diary by the Head Moharrir, Tara Singh, who proved the same as (Ext.Ka.4). The investigation of the case was first done by S.I. C.P. Singh and on his transfer by S.I. Madhusudan Singh, who visited the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan (Ext.Ka.5), recorded the statement of the witnesses and after completion of investigation, submitted charge-sheet u/s 308 I.P.C. against accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash. The case was then committed to the court of Sessions by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, IIIrd, Kanpur Dehat vide order dated 29.02.2022.

6) On 17.10.1992, the IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, framed charge u/s 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. against accused-appellant, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash. They denied the charge and claimed trial.

7) To prove the charge, the prosecution examined injured PW1 Jagdish, informant PW2 Jairam and eye-witness PW3 Vishram Singh as witnesses of fact whereas Medical Officer PW4 Dr. Subhash Sharma, PW5 S.I. Tara Singh, who was the then Head Moharrir at Police Station- Sikandra, Investigating Officer PW6 S.I. Madhusudan Singh and radiologist PW7 Dr. V.C. Rastogi, were examined as formal witnesses.

8) PW1 Jagdish, PW2 Jairam and PW3 Vishram Singh gave evidence about the occurrence of crime. The informant PW2 Jairam also proved the written report (Ext.Ka.1) which he had submitted at the Police Station- Sikandra on the basis of which first information report was registered.

9) PW4 Dr. Subhash Sharma, the then Medical Officer at District Hospital, Sikandra, examined the injured Jagdish on 17.10.1989 at 8.30 p.m. and had prepared his injury report (Ext.Ka.2). As per the injury report, following injuries were found on the person of the injured Jagdish :

(i) Incised wound 2 cm x 3 cm x bone deep at right side of forehead at right frontal 1.5 cm above from right eyebrow. Margin regular, clotted blood present.

(ii) Incised wound 1.8 cm x 0.5 cm x bone deep at the right side of the face, 0.5 cm away from lateral canthus of right eye and 3 cm slightly below from injury no. 1. Margin regular, clotted blood present.

(iii) Abraded contusion 5 cm x 1 cm at right side of the neck, 1.5 cm on backward from right ear. Size of abrasion 3.5 cm x 0.5 cm. Oozing present. Colour of contusion bluish red in colour.

(iv) Incised wound 4 cm x 0.8 cm x through and through at the left side of the face just above the left side of the upper lip. Similar injury was found on upper jaw below the left lip in the gums. The edges of the injury were clear cut and blood was oozing.

(v) Contusion 9 cm x 1.5 cm at the side of back 3.5 cm below the interior angle of left scapula. Reddish in colour.

(vi) Abraded contusion 7.5 cm x 2 cm at the left side of the back 7 cm below from injury no. 5. Reddish in colour.

(vii) Traumatic swelling 4 cm x 3 cm at the right hand at upper aspect just above the root of right thumb. Deformity in carpal bone was found and could not be moved. It appears that there is fracture in first carpal bone.

(viii) Abrasion 5 cm x 0.5 cm at the left leg of upper aspect 12 cm below from knee joint.

In the opinion of the doctor, all injuries except injury nos. (i), (ii), (iv) and (vii) were simple in nature and caused by hard blunt object. Injury nos. (i), (ii), (iv) and (vii) were grievous in nature and caused by sharp-edged weapon. X-ray was advised for injury nos. (i), (ii), (iv) and (vii). All the injuries were fresh. Injury nos. (i), (ii), (iv) and (vii) could be caused by kanta and hansia. The other injuries could be caused by lathi and danda.

10) PW7 Dr. V.C. Rastogi, the then Radiologist at District Hospital, Kanpur Dehat, who had x-rayed the left hand and left forearm of injured Jagdish, has proved the x-ray report relating to hand as material Ext.1 and 2 and that relating to left forearm as material Ext.3. He has stated that in his evidence that the nature of material Ext.1 and 2 was NAD and in material Ext.3, location of metacarpal phalynx of left thumb seen. He has proved his x-ray report as Ext.Ka.7.

11) The then Head Moharrir at Police Station- Sikandra, S.I. Tara Singh has proved the chik F.I.R (Ext.Ka.3) and the report relating to institution of the case in G.D. (Ext.Ka.4).

12) The Investigating Officer, PW6 S.I. Madhusudan Singh, has proved the site plan (Ext.Ka.5) and charge-sheet (Ext.Ka.6).

13) On 24.09.1994, the court recorded the statement of accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash u/s 313 Cr.P.C. They stated that the witnesses were giving false evidence. They had not committed any offence. They had not caused injury to Jagdish on the alleged place, date and time of the occurrence and a false case was registered due to enmity against them. They did not examine any witness in their defence.

14) Injured PW1 Jagdish has stated in his evidence that on 17.10.1989 at 8 a.m. while he was going to meet the ex-M.P., Ram Singh Shakya, who had come in the house of Shiv Prasad while he was passing in front of the door of the accused-appellants, Ram Babu exhorted his brother, accused-appellant, Ram Prakash and his son, Anil and Sudhir. The accused-appellant, Ram Babu attacked Jagdish with hansia and accused-appellant, Ram Prakash with lathi while Anil and Sudhir attacked him with kanta. On alarm being raised by Jagdish, his father, informant Jairam, his step-brother, Rakesh and Vishram Singh reached there. PW1 Jagdish was seriously injured in the incident. Thus, his presence on the spot of occurrence cannot be doubted. His evidence regarding the incident is reliable and convincing and nothing has been found in his cross-examination which may raise doubt in the veracity of his statement.

15) On hearing the noise raised by PW1 Jagdish, informant PW2 Jairam who arrived at the place of occurrence, has corroborated the evidence of PW1 Jagdish to the extent about the time, date, place and manner of occurrence and the fact that PW1 Jagdish received injury during the course of the occurrence. But he did not corroborate the complicity of accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, in the offence. He also deposed that after the incident, PW2 Jairam carried the injured Jagdish to Police Station- Sikandra from where on the basis of his written report, F.I.R was registered and the injured Jagdish was brought to P.H.C., Kanpur Dehat, where the Medical Officer noted his injuries and on his advice, he was sent to District Hospital, Kanpur Dehat where x-ray of his left hand and left forearm was done. PW3 Vishram Singh has deposed that he did not witness the occurrence.

16) The Indian Evidence Act has not prescribed any minimum number of witnesses required for proving a fact as it is provided in Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act.

Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act : No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact.

17) It has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Laxmibai (Dead) through LRs Vs. Bhagwantbura (Dead) through LRs, AIR 2013 SC 1204 that in the matter of appreciation of evidence of witnesses, it is not number of witnesses, but quality of their evidence which is important, as there is no requirement in law of evidence that any particular number of witnesses is to be examined to prove/disprove a fact. It is a time-honoured principle, that evidence must be weighed and not counted. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of trust, is cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. The legal system has laid emphasis on value provided by each witness, rather than the multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is quality and not quantity, which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided by Section 134 of the Act.

18) From the perusal of evidence of injured PW1 Jagdish, it appears that his testimony is wholly reliable and truthful. Being the injured, he would not spare the actual offender in his evidence. Nothing otherwise has been mentioned in his cross-examination which may shake his testimony and raise doubt about his reliability and veracity. The evidence given by PW1 Jagdish and PW2 Jairam has been corroborated by documentary evidence namely written report, chik F.I.R., entry of institution of registration of criminal case in G.D., injury report and x-ray report with x-ray plate of the injuries received by PW1 Jagdish in the occurrence, site plan and charge-sheet prepared by the Investigating Officer. From the analysis of the oral and documentary evidence, it could be concluded that with a common intention of causing culpable homicide not amounting to murder, accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash injured Jagdish with hansia and lathi respectively, causing him grievous injury. From the evidence on record, the Court comes to the conclusion that the prosecution has proved the charge u/s 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubts against accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash. The trial court has rightly convicted the accused-appellants under Section 308 r/w 34 I.P.C.

19) Learned counsel for the appellants has argued that the date of birth of accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash is 06.04.1953 and 01.01.1954 respectively. Their present age is 69 and 68 years respectively. Accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, informant, Jairam and injured, Jagdish are residents of the same village. The accused-appellants are living peacefully with informant and injured for the last 28 years after they were convicted by the trial court on 21.10.1994. The attack by the accused-appellants was not planned but it took place suddenly in the heat of moment. It has also been argued on behalf of accused-appellant that during investigation, they remained in jail for 23 days. The duration of custody of accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, in jail during investigation is corroborated from the date of their arrest mentioned in the arrest memo and the date of acceptance of bail bonds by the trial court. The accused-appellants have prayed that their sentence may be reduced and they may be released for the period which they have undergone in jail during investigation and trial.

20) Learned A.G.A. appearing for the State has vehemently opposed the prayer. However, he could not deny the submissions made on behalf of the accused-appellants. He further submits that in case sentence is reduced to the period already undergone, the victim be paid compensation as provided under Section 357 Cr.P.C.

21) We have heard learned counsel for both the parties and perused the entire lower court record.

22) This Court finds that the alleged eye-witness, informant PW2 Jairam has not fully supported the evidence of injured PW1 Jagdish because it appears that the evidence of PW2 Jairam was recorded about 4 ½ years after the date of occurrence and he is resident of the village of the accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash and due to compromise, he may have settled his dispute and he did not give evidence against the accused-appellants. But the hostile evidence of PW3 Vishram Singh does not obliterate the truthful and convincing evidence of injured PW1 Jagdish and partially true evidence of PW2 Jairam which in turn is supported by documentary evidence. From the perusal of the injuries received by injured PW1 Jagdish and the x-ray report, it appears that injuries on his forehead and face are simple in nature. The only injury received in the metacarpal phalynx of left forearm is grievous as there is dislocation of the aforesaid bone. PW4 Dr. Subhash Sharma has not stated in his evidence that the injuries received by PW1 Jagdish were fatal or life threatening in nature. From the analysis of oral and documentary evidence adduced by the prosecution, the Court comes to the conclusion that on the alleged date, time and place of occurrence in pursuance of common intention, accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, caused grievous injuries to injured Jagdish. From the evidence available on record, it is not proved that the accused-appellants had attacked the injured Jagdish with the intention of causing such injury which may result in culpable homicide not amounting to murder of Jagdish. Thus, prosecution has failed to prove the charge u/s 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. From the evidence on record, the prosecution has proved the charge u/s 325 r/w 34 I.P.C. against the accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash for which they are liable to be convicted. The appellants have already undergone 23 days in jail during investigation.

23) Indian legislature has not given any sentencing policy, though Malimath Committee (2003) and Madhava Menon Committee (2008) has asserted the need of sentencing policy in India.

24) Principle of sentencing has been an issue of concern before the Supreme Court in many cases and tried to provide clarity on the issue. Apex Court has time and again cautioned against the cavalier manner considering the way sentencing is dealt by High Courts and Trial Courts.

"... It is established that sentencing is a socio-legal process, wherein a Judge finds an appropriate punishment for the accused considering factual circumstances and equities. In light of the fact that the legislature provided for discretion to the Judges to give punishment, it becomes important to exercise the same in a principled manner." (para 49 of Accused 'X' vs. State of Maharastra (2019) 7 SCC 1)

"12. Sentencing for crimes has to be analysed on the touchstone of three tests viz. crime test, criminal test and comparative proportionality test. Crime test involves factors like extent of planning, choice of weapon, modus of crime, disposal modus (if any), role of the accused, anti-social or abhorrent character of the crime, state of victim. Criminal test involves assessment of factors such as age of the criminal, gender of the criminal, economic conditions or social background of the criminal, motivation for crime, availability of defence, state of mind, instigation by the deceased or any one from the deceased group, adequately represented in the trial, disagreement by a Judge in the appeal process, repentance, possibility of reformation, prior criminal record (not to take pending cases) and any other relevant factor (not an exhaustive list).

13. Additionally, we may note that under the crime test, seriousness needs to be ascertained. The seriousness of the crime may be ascertained by (i) bodily integrity of the victim; (ii) loss of material support of amenity; (iii) extent of humiliation; and (iv) privacy breach." (State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Udham and others (2019) 10 SCC 300)

25) It is also notable that "... where minimum sentence if provided for, the Court cannot impose less than minimum sentence." (Para 8 of State of Madhya Pradhesh vs. Vikram Das (2019) 4 SCC 125)

26) Section 357 Cr.P.C. provides power to the Court to award compensation to victim, which is in addition and not ancillary to other sentences. While granting just and proper compensation Court ought to have consider capacity of the accused for such payment as well as relevant factors such as medical expenses, loss of earning, pain and sufferings etc.

27) Supreme Court has reiterated need for proper exercise of power of granting compensation under Section 357 Cr.P.C. in Manohar Singh Vs. State of Rajasthan and others : (2015) 3 SCC 449 and in paras 11, 31 and 54 it is stated that:

"11....Just compensation to the victim has to be fixed having regard to the medical and other expenses, pain and suffering, loss of earning and other relevant factors. While punishment to the accused is one aspect, determination of just compensation to the victim is the other. At times, evidence is not available in this regard. Some guess work in such a situation is inevitable. Compensation is payable under Section 357 and 357- A. While under section 357, financial capacity of the accused has to be kept in mind, Section 357-A under which compensation comes out of State funds, has to be invoked to make up the requirement of just compensation."

"31. The amount of compensation, observed this Court, was to be determined by the courts depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case, the nature of the crime, the justness of the claim and the capacity of the accused to pay."

"54. Applying the tests which emerge from the above cases to Section 357, it appears to us that the provision confers a power coupled with a duty on the courts to apply its mind to the question of awarding compensation in every criminal case. We say so because in the background and context in which it was introduced, the power to award compensation was intended to reassure the victim that he or she is not forgotten in the criminal justice system. The victim would remain forgotten in the criminal justice system if despite the legislature having gone so far as to enact specific provisions relating to victim compensation, courts choose to ignore the provisions altogether and do not even apply their mind to the question of compensation.

It follows that unless Section 357 is read to confer an obligation on the courts to apply their mind to the question of compensation, it would defeat the very object behind the introduction of the provision."

28) Considering the facts and circumstances of the present case as well as keeping in view the position of law as mentioned above and considering that the incident was happened about 33 years back; the incident was occurred in spur of the moment; and considering the judgment passed by Supreme Court in Roop Chand vs. State (NCT) of Delhi, 2020 (3) ALT (Crl.) 331 (A.P.) and Omanakkuttan and others vs. State of Kerala, 2021 (115) ACC 747, this Court is of the view that if the sentence awarded is reduced to the period already undergone and a reasonable compensation is awarded to the victim, the ends of justice would be served.

29) In view of above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and order dated 21.10.1994 passed by IVth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, in Sessions Trial No. 101 of 1992, is hereby modified to the extent that accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, are convicted u/s 325 I.P.C. instead of Section 308 r/w 34 I.P.C. as done by the trial court.

30) Accused-appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, are sentenced to the period already undergone, provided they deposit Rs. 4,000/- each as fine out of which Rs. 4,000/- shall be paid to the victim, PW1 Jagdish, within a period of two months from today. In case fine is not deposited, as directed above, appellants, Ram Babu and Ram Prakash, shall undergo the imprisonment for the period sentenced by the trial court.

31) Lower court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action.

THE HON'BLE SAMIT GOPAL, J.

Crl. Appeal No. 2097 of 1982

Om Prakash ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Puran Chandra Joshi, Sri D.N. Wali, Sri K.K. Misra, Pt. Pwan Chandra, Sri R.K. Dhama, Sri Sudhir Dixit

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- The factum of rape thus does not remain uncorroborative, it finds support from the medical evidence also- The Chik FIR, the recovery memo of blood stained clothes of victim 'X', her medical examination report, the supplementary medical examination report, the site plan of the place of occurrence and the charge sheet of the present matter which are on record go to show that the genuineness of all the said documents have been admitted by the defence and as such now stating that the doctor and the Investigating Officer were not being examined by the prosecution, would render the prosecution story and the entire trial doubtful does not hold good.

Where the defence has not questioned the withholding of the Doctor and the investigating officer and has admitted the documentary evidence authored by the said persons during the trial then the said question cannot be raised during appeal.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- It is trite law that a related witness may not be lebelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit from the result of litigation or implicating the accused. Once it is established that witnesses were present at the scene, to witness the occurrence, they cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim- Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person.

Merely because the witness is related to the victim but his presence his wholly natural at the spot, he cannot be labelled as an interested witness.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3 -The testimony of a victim of rape is similar to the evidence of an injured complainant or witness. If it is found to be reliable, by itself, it may be sufficient to convict the accused and no corroboration of her testimony is required.

Settled law that conviction can be secured by the trial court solely upon the testimony of the rape victim without seeking further corroboration where the testimony of the victim is credible and trustworthy.

Proportionality of Sentence-The accused-appellant as of now is aged about 68 years as per observation of the trial court in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.- The age of the appellant will have no effect on the question of sentence and also on the conviction of the appellant- It is trite law that inadequacy of sentence is not in the interest of justice and if a person has been convicted and there is evidence beyond reasonable doubt about the same adequate sentence has to be awarded to him- With regards to the sentencing of the appellant, it is clear that lacks of sufficient time and the age of the accused cannot be a ground to extend any benefit to him in the crime committed by him.

Where the offence has been proved beyond reasonable doubt against the accused then merely the factum of the age of the appellant or the duration of the pendency of the appeal cannot be construed as a supervening or mitigating factor for reducing the sentence. (Para 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26,27, 32)

1. The present appeal under Section 374 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the appellant Om Prakash against the judgement and order dated 02.07.1982 passed by III Additional District and Sessions Judge, Meerut in Session Trial No. 4 of 1981 (State of U.P. Vs. Om Prakash) by which he has been convicted and sentenced under Section 376 IPC to undergo six years rigorous imprisonment.

2. The name of the prosecutrix is not being disclosed and mentioned in the present judgment in the light of directions of the Apex Court in various judgments and as per Section 228-A of the Indian Penal Code. She is thus referred to as "X' in the judgment.

3. The prosecution case as per an application dated 04.10.1979 given by Bakreeda to the police of which Dharmapal is the scribe is that on that day at about 12:00 noon his daughter victim 'X' aged about 10 years was mowing grass in the field of Kaliram in the jungle of village Jivana. Om Prakash son of Sukhvirey Kumhar forcibly caught hold of his daughter and took her to the jwar field and committed rape on her on which she started shouting, hearing which Dharmapal Singh son of Ram Swarup Jaat, his son Ayyub and Hashim son of Kutubuddin Darji of his village who were working in the field went to the place of occurrence and saw the accused doing the act. They reached near on which Om Prakash ran away. He was chased but could not be apprehended. He has brought his daughter victim 'X' for lodging of the report. She is bleeding from her private part. His report be lodged and legal action be taken. The said application is Exb: Ka-1 to the records.

4. On the basis of the said application, a First Information Report was lodged on 04.10.1979 at 17:10 hrs as Case Crime No. 215 of 1979, under Section 376 IPC, Police Station Binoli, District Meerut against the accused-appellant Om Prakash son of Sukhvirey. The Chik FIR is Exb: Ka-5 to the records.

5. The Investigating Officer took into possession the clothes of victim 'X' which were blood stained and sealed it. A recovery memo for the same was prepared on 04.10.1979. Yoqoob Ali and Bakreeda are the witnesses of the same. The same is Exb: Ka-7 to the records.

6. Victim 'X' was medically examined on 04.10.1979 at 08:00 pm at Womens Hospital, Meerut by Dr. Rajni Gupta, Medical Officer. She was brought by the police constable. The doctor on physical examination noted as follows:-

"Height 129, weight 52 LBS, teeth 14/14, hairs - pubic, auxiliary - absent, breast - not developed."

On internal examination, the doctor noted as follows:-

"Hymen freshly torn, erosion present, admitting two fingers with great difficulty, vagina is full of bleeding and clots, vagina also heavily eroded."

Vaginal smear was sent for pathological examination and x-ray of wrist elbow and knee was advised. The doctor opined that no report can be given about the age at present. The patient was noted to be admitted in general ward. The said medical examination report is Exb: Ka-2 to the records.

A supplementary medical report was prepared on 29.10.1979 by Dr. Rajni Gupta, the Medical Officer, Womens Hospital, Meerut in which it was stated that there was no sperm seen in the vaginal smear. Further, the supplementary report was as follows:-

"age of the girl is round about 10 years. Probably a case of rape according to the examination." The said supplementary report is Exb: Ka-3 to the records.

7. The Investigating Officer prepared site plan of the occurrence on 04.10.1979. The same is Exb: Ka-6 to the records.

8. The investigation concluded and a Charge Sheet No. 112 of 1979 dated 04.12.1979 under Section 376 IPC against the accused-appellant was submitted. The same is Exb: Ka-4 to the records.

9. Vide order dated 16.09.1981 passed by III Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut charge under Section 376 IPC was framed against the accused-appellant. He pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

10. The prosecution in order to prove its case produced victim 'X' as PW-1, Bakreeda the first informant and the father of the victim 'X' as PW-2 and Ayyub the brother of the victim 'X' and son of Bakreeda as PW-3. The accused did not lead any defence evidence.

11. The genuineness of certain documents were admitted by the defence and hence formal proof of the same was dispensed with. The documents are as follows:-

(i) Chik FIR Exb: Ka-5
(ii) Recovery memo of blood stained clothes Exb: Ka-7
(iii) Medical examination of victim 'X' Exb: Ka-2
(iv) supplementary medical examination report Exb: Ka-3
(v) Site plan Exb: Ka-6 and
(vi) Charge sheet Exb: Ka-4.

12. Heard Sri Sudhir Dixit, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri Sanjay Kumar Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State and perused the records.

13. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that the doctor conducting the medical examination of victim 'X' and also preparing the supplementary medical examination report and the Investigating Officer of the case have not been examined. The same is a big dent to the prosecution by not examining them. It is next argued that the injuries as received by victim 'X' noted by the doctor in the medical examination report was due to an accident. It is further argued that Dharampal and Hashim the alleged eye witnesses of the incident as per the First Information Report, have not been produced in the trial and as such there is no independent witness to support the prosecution case.

14. It is further argued that the accused was opined to be looking about 28 years old at that time as observed and mentioned by the trial court in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. which was recorded on 25.06.1982 and even looking to the same he is now about 68 years of age as the said statement was recorded about 40 years back. It is argued that the incident in the present case is of the year 1979 and 43 years have passed since then and as such sending the appellant to jail now, would be too harsh as he is about 68 years as of now.

15. Per contra, learned counsel for the State opposed the arguments of learned counsel for the appellant and argued that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. The First Information Report was lodged on the same day. The medical examination report of the victim 'X' shows fresh bleeding injury present in her vagina and supplementary medical examination report opines that it is a case of rape. Victim 'X' was aged about 10 years and was a child. The appellant is named in the First Information Report, statement of victim 'X' and the other witnesses and the role is consistent throughout. The prosecution has been successful in proving that rape has been committed upon victim 'X' and the evidence as produced without any doubt shows the involvement of the appellant. The present appeal deserves to be dismissed.

16. Victim 'X' PW-1 when she was produced before the trial court, was about 12 years of age. The trial court had put certain questions to her to ascertain whether she understands the sanctity of oath and then being satisfied that she understands it oath was administered to her. She identifies the accused person who is present in court and states that he is a resident of her village. She states that the incident is of about 2½ years ago at about 12:00 in the afternoon. She was scrapping grass in the field of Kaliram, the accused Om Prakash came there and took her to the field of brinjal. He forcibly took her to the jwar field and then committed rape on her. She shouted, on her shout, Hashim, Dharampal and Ayyub came there. When the witnesses came, the accused got up and ran away. They chased him but could not catch him. She was bleeding and her clothes got blood stained. After the arrival of the witnesses, her father also came to the place of occurrence. She told him about the incident. Her medical examination was conducted.

In her cross examination, she states that Ayyub is her real brother. Hashim is the son of her tau. Accused Om Prakash is son of Sukhvirey. She denies that her father had purchased some land from Dharampal. She denies the fact that her father had taken Rs. 1,000/- from father of the accused to purchase land and as he did not return it there was some fight between them. She states that there is no field near the place of occurrence. There is a nali running parallel to the jwar field of Kaliram which is about one yard in breadth and is only one side of field after the nali there is field of Kaliram. Kaliram is the father of Ompal. The field of Jai Chand is besides the field of Kaliram. The field of Halku is besides the field of Kaliram. She has seen the tubewell of Jai Chand which is in his field. It is at some distance from the jwar field of Kaliram, it is about two lathi away from the jwar field. Lathi is about the height of the waist of a person. At that time there was no one at the tubewell. She did not see anyone in the nearby fields. There were some persons in the orchard but she did not see them. Orchard is about 4-5 yards away from the jwar field. Her brother Ayyub and Hashim had come from the same orchard. When accused came and caught her hand she had scrapped one bundle grass with a khurpi. She had not seen accused Om Prakash previously. In the field of Kaliram, half of the jwar was cut and was lying, half of jwar was standing. The accused caught hold of her hand after going there on which she shouted and continue to shout. The accused took her from the said field to the field of jwar which was about two lathi inside where jwar was standing where she was scrapping the grass. The jwar crop was near it. It was upto half of the field and half of it was vacant. The place of occurrence where the accused threw her on the ground was not having any jwar plants. The place was empty as the jwar plants were cut. The blood which had come out had also stained the ground and her clothes. Hashim, Ayyub and Dharampal came there and asked her as to who committed rape. When the witnesses came there, the accused ran away. Her brother Ayyub left her at the field and went to the village and called her father Bakreeda. Then Bakreeda took her to the police station. She was first taken to the house and a report was written and then went to the police from where she was taken to Meerut Hospital by a constable. She denies the suggestion that the Investigating Officer came to the village and then the First Information Report was written. She further denies that the accused did not commit rape on her but her father has lodged a false report.

17. Bakreeda PW-2 who is the first informant and father of victim 'X' states that victim 'X' is aged about 12 years as of now. The incident is of about 2½ years ago. She had gone to the field of Kaliram in village Jivana where she was raped in the afternoon. His son Ayyub came to the house and told him about the incident then he reached there. He found his daughter crying at the place of occurrence and blood was coming out from her vagina. Her clothes were blood stained. He brought her to the house where he got a report transcribed from Dharampal. The report was written on his dictation which was read to him and then he affixed his thumb impression on it. He proves the same which was marked as Exb: Ka-1 to the records. He then brought his daughter with blood stained clothes to the police station and lodged his report. The clothes were taken by the Investigating Officer and a recovery memo was prepared. He identifies the clothes which were marked as material Exb: 1 and 2. He states that his daughter told him about the incident at the place of occurrence.

In his cross examination, he states that he had purchased land of Dharampal. He denies the suggestion that he had taken Rs. 1,000/- from Sukhhvirey and father of accused for purchasing land. He further denies that on not returning the money he falsely implicated him in the present case. He states that the place of occurrence is about 500 yards away from his house. When he reached the place of occurrence his daughter was wearing of her clothes. The crops were standing. He states that he had got written in the application that victim 'X' told him about the incident at the place of occurrence. He states that he does not know as to why the same is not mentioned in it. He further states that Dharampal had gone with victim 'X' to the police station. From the police station he, Dharampal, his son Ayyub and the Investigating Officer went to the place of occurrence. When they reached the place of occurrence, there was one darati, some cut grass and one chadar therein. The Investigating Officer had taken the items in his possession. He denies the suggestion that due to enmity on the saying of police he has lodged a false report.

18. Kayyum PW-3 is the brother of victim 'X' and the son of the first informant. He states that his father had one brother named Ibrahim who is dead. Ibrahim has two sons namely Yusuf and Rais. Hashim is not son of his tau. Election of village pradhan is going on in his village. Witness Dharmapal is a candidate in the same. Dharamapal has colluded with accused Om Prakash. Witness Hashim has also colluded with Om Prakash. About 2½ years back at about 12:00 noon he was mowing grass in the orchard, he heard a cry coming from the jwar field of Kaliram. On hearing it, he and Hashim ran towards the place. He saw accused Om Prakash committing rape on his sister victim 'X'. When they reached near him, he got up and ran away. He was chased but could not be caught.

In his cross examination he states that the orchard in which he was working was of Dhoom Singh. He was working since the last four hours prior to the occurrence. There is no one who guards the orchard. There is no other orchard except for the same nearby. He denies the suggestion that he was digging grass at some other field in the village. He states that the Investigating Officer interrogated him on the same day and he told him that he and Hashim were digging grass at some distance from the place of occurrence in a field of the village. He denies the suggestion that he has said of being in the orchard after knowing the statement of victim 'X'. He showed the orchard to the Investigating Officer. His sister was shouting loudly. She was shouted that Om Prakash has taken her and she may be saved. He did not shout but ran to the place silently. When he was about 10-12 yards away from the place of occurrence then accused Om Prakash got up and ran away. He reached the place through the field of Halku Pandit. They did not raise any shout prior to the accused getting up and running away. The accused ran towards the tubewell.

The Investigating Officer was shown the way from where he ran. There is nali at the south and east of the jwar field of Kaliram. His sister was about two lathis inside from east side of the field. The jwar field is about 9½ bighas. Half of the field had jwar on it but half had no crop. The place where his sister was lying was not having any jwar plants. There was no khurpi or darati at the place of occurrence but there was a chadar near the nali which was taken by the Investigating Officer. The Investigating Officer came to the village at about 05:00 pm. From police station, he along with Investigating Officer, his father and Yakoob came back to the village. Munsi was the grandfather of Hashim. He does not know how many brothers Munsi has. Kubool is the father of Ibrahim. He denies that Munsi is the brother of Kubool. He further denies that he was not present at the place of occurrence and did not see the incident.

19. The accused in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. denies the prosecution case. He states that there was a loan of Rs. 1,000/- on the first informant of his father which was being asked to him due to which he has been falsely implicated. He was opined to be about 28 years of age by the trial court on the day of recording of his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

20. The trial court then convicted and sentenced the accused appellant as stated above.

21. After having heard learned counsel for the parties and perusing the records, it is evident that the appellant is named in the First Information Report. The victim 'X' is stated to be about 10 years of age in the First Information Report and also stated to be of the same age in the supplementary medical examination report by the doctor. The medical examination of the victim 'X' shows injuries on her vagina. The doctor did not give any opinion about rape when she had medically examined the victim "X' but in the supplementary medical examination report gave an opinion that it is a probable case of rape according to the examination. The factum of rape thus does not remain uncorroborative, it finds support from the medical evidence also. The age of the victim 'X' as stated by her father in the FIR also, in his statement and further from the opinion as arrived upon through radiological examination, she was aged about 10 years and was a child. The argument of learned counsel for the appellant that the doctor conducting the medical examination of the victim 'X', preparing the supplementary medical examination report and also the Investigating Officer of the case have not been examined which would dent the prosecution case is fallacious. The Chik FIR, the recovery memo of blood stained clothes of victim 'X', her medical examination report, the supplementary medical examination report, the site plan of the place of occurrence and the charge sheet of the present matter which are on record go to show that the genuineness of all the said documents have been admitted by the defence and as such now stating that the doctor and the Investigating Officer were not being examined by the prosecution, would render the prosecution story and the entire trial doubtful does not hold good.

22. On one hand, the defence has admitted the genuineness of the said documents during trial and on the other hand in the appeal, the argument of maker of the documents, not being examined and thus calling upon to draw an adverse inference is not at all impressive to the Court. In so far as Dharampal and Hashim are concerned, the reason for there non production before the trial court has been stated in the examination-in-chief by Kayyum PW-3 that they have colluded with the accused Om Prakash as there was election of village Pradhan. On the said point there has been no cross examination from the side of the accused-appellant. The same thus remains unrebutted.

23. Further, the argument of learned counsel for the appellant that the accused-appellant as of now is aged about 68 years as per observation of the trial court in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., it is stated that the age of the appellant will have no effect on the question of sentence and also on the conviction of the appellant. If the case has been proved beyond reasonable doubt, adequate sentence has to be awarded to him. It is trite law that inadequacy of sentence is not in the interest of justice and if a person has been convicted and there is evidence beyond reasonable doubt about the same adequate sentence has to be awarded to him.

24. In so far as the argument relating to the PW-3 Kayyum is concerned, it is true that he is the brother of the victim 'X' and son of the first informant but it is trite law that a related witness may not be lebelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit from the result of litigation or implicating the accused. Once it is established that witnesses were present at the scene, to witness the occurrence, they cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim. The Apex Court in State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Kishanpal and others : (2008) 16 SCC 73 held as under:-

"18. The plea of defence that it would not be safe to accept the evidence of the eye witnesses who are the close relatives of the deceased, has not been accepted by this Court. There is no such universal rule as to warrant rejection of the evidence of a witness merely because he/she was related to or interested in the parties to either side. In such cases, if the presence of such a witness at the time of occurrence is proved or considered to be natural and the evidence tendered by such witness is found in the light of the surrounding circumstances and probabilities of the case to be true, it can provide a good and sound basis for conviction of the accused. Where it is shown that there is enmity and the witnesses are near relatives too, the Court has a duty to scrutinize their evidence with great care, caution and circumspection and be very careful too in weighing such evidence. The testimony of related witnesses, if after deep scrutiny, found to be credible cannot be discarded.

19. It is now well settled that the evidence of witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground that he is a related witness, if otherwise the same is found credible. The witness could be a relative but that does not mean his statement should be rejected. In such a case, it is the duty of the Court to be more careful in the matter of scrutiny of evidence of the interested witness, and if, on such scrutiny it is found that the evidence on record of such interested witness is worth credence, the same would not be discarded merely on the ground that the witness is an interested witness. Caution is to be applied by the court while scrutinizing the evidence of the interested witness.

20. It is well settled that it is the quality of the evidence and not the quantity of the evidence which is required to be judged by the court to place credence on the statement. The ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible."

25. Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person.

26. The testimony of a victim of rape is similar to the evidence of an injured complainant or witness. If it is found to be reliable, by itself, it may be sufficient to convict the accused and no corroboration of her testimony is required. The same has been held by the Apex Court in the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain : (1990) 1 SCC 550 in para 16 which is extracted herein:

"16. A prosecutrix of a sex offence cannot be put on par with an accomplice. She is in fact a victim of the crime. The Evidence Act nowhere says that her evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars. She is undoubtedly a competent witness under Section 118 and her evidence must receive the same weight as is attached to an injured in cases of physical violence. The same degree of care and caution must attach in the evaluation of her evidence as in the case of an injured complainant or witness and no more. What is necessary is that the court must be alive to and conscious of the fact that it is dealing with the evidence of a person who is interested in the outcome of the charge levelled by her. If the court keeps this in mind and feels satisfied that it can act on the evidence of the prosecutrix, there is no rule of law or practice incorporated in the Evidence Act similar to illustration (b) to Section 114 which requires it to look for corroboration. If for some reason the court is hesitant to place implicit reliance on the testimony of the prosecutrix it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The nature of evidence required to lend assurance to the testimony of the prosecutrix must necessarily depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. But if a prosecutrix is an adult and of full understanding the court is entitled to base a conviction on her evidence unless the same is shown to be infirm and not trustworthy. If the totality of the circumstances appearing on the record of the case disclose that the prosecutrix does not have a strong motive to falsely involve the person charged, the court should ordinarily have no hesitation in accepting her evidence. We have, therefore, no doubt in our minds that ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix who does not lack understanding must be accepted. The degree of proof required must not be higher than is expected of an injured witness. For the above reasons we think that exception has rightly been taken to the approach of the High Court as is reflected in the following passage:

"It is only in the rarest of rare cases if the court finds that the testimony of the prosecutrix is so trustworthy, truthful and reliable that other corroboration may not be necessary."

With respect, the law is not correctly stated. If we may say so, it is just the reverse. Ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix must carry the same weight as is attached to an injured person who is a victim of violence, unless there are special circumstances which call for greater caution, in which case it would be safe to act on her testimony if there is independent evidence lending assurance to her accusation."

(emphasis supplied)

27. The evidence of prosecutrix alone may sustain a conviction, the same has been held by the Apex Court in the case of State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Chhotey Lal : (2011) 2 SCC 550 in para 26. The same is extracted hereinbelow:-

"26. The important thing that the court has to bear in mind is that what is lost by a rape victim is face. The victim loses value as a person. Ours is a conservative society and, therefore, a woman and more so a young unmarried woman will not put her reputation in peril by alleging falsely about forcible sexual assault. In examining the evidence of the prosecutrix the courts must be alive to the conditions prevalent in the Indian society and must not be swayed by beliefs in other countries. The courts must be sensitive and responsive to the plight of the female victim of sexual assault. Society's belief and value systems need to be kept uppermost in mind as rape is the worst form of woman's oppression. A forcible sexual assault brings in humiliation, feeling of disgust, tremendous embarrassment, sense of shame, trauma and lifelong emotional scar to a victim and it is, therefore, most unlikely of a woman, and more so by a young woman, roping in somebody falsely in the crime of rape. The stigma that attaches to the victim of rape in Indian society ordinarily rules out the levelling of false accusations. An Indian woman traditionally will not concoct an untruthful story and bring charges of rape for the purpose of blackmail, hatred, spite or revenge."

28. Learned counsel for the appellant had placed an argument that the appellant is now aged about 68 years, the incident is of the year 1979 and 43 years have passed since then and as such sending the appellant to jail would be too harsh. The policy of sentencing of an accused has been dealt with by the Apex Court in the case of Hazara Singh Vs. Raj Kumar and others : (2013) 9 SCC 516, in para 11 to 17 and then in para 27 also. The same are extracted hereinbelow:-

"11. The cardinal principle of sentencing policy is that the sentence imposed on an offender should reflect the crime he has committed and it should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence. This Court has repeatedly stressed the central role of proportionality in sentencing of offenders in numerous cases.

12. The factual matrix of this case is similar to the facts and circumstances of the case in Shailesh Jasvantbhai and Another vs. State of Gujarat wherein the accused was convicted under Section 307/114 IPC and for the same the trial Court sentenced the accused for 10 years. However, the High Court, in its appellate jurisdiction, reduced the sentence to the period already undergone. In that case, this Court held that the sentence imposed is not proportionate to the offence committed, hence not sustainable in the eye of the law. This Court, observed thus:

"7. The law regulates social interests, arbitrates conflicting claims and demands. Security of persons and property of the people is an essential function of the State. It could be 8 Page 9 achieved through instrumentality of criminal law. Undoubtedly, there is a cross-cultural conflict where living law must find answer to the new challenges and the courts are required to mould the sentencing system to meet the challenges. The contagion of lawlessness would undermine social order and lay it in ruins. Protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law, which must be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence. Therefore, law as a cornerstone of the edifice of "order" should meet the challenges confronting the society. Friedman in his Law in Changing Society stated that: "State of criminal law continues to be - as it should be -a decisive reflection of social consciousness of society." Therefore, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. By deft modulation, sentencing process be stern where it should be, and tempered with mercy where it warrants to be. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration.

8. Therefore, undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law and society could not long endure under such serious threats. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed etc."

13. This position was reiterated by a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Ahmed Hussein Vali Mohammed Saiyed and Anr. vs. State of Gujarat wherein it was observed as follows:-

"99.....The object of awarding appropriate sentence should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal from achieving the avowed object to law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would 9 Page 10operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence, which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. Any liberal attitude by imposing meager sentences or taking too sympathetic view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be result-wise counter productive in the long run and against the interest of society which needs to be cared for and strengthened by string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system.

100. Justice demands that courts should impose punishment befitting the crime so that the courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime. The court must not only keep in view the rights of the victim of the crime and the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which both the criminal and the victim belong."

In that case, the court further goes to state that meager sentence imposed solely on account of lapse of time without considering the degree of the offence will be counter productive in the long run and against the interest of the society.

14. In Jameel vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, this Court reiterated the principle by stating that the punishment must be appropriate and proportional to the gravity of the offence committed. Speaking about the concept of sentencing, this Court observed thus: -

"15. In operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. By deft modulation, sentencing process be stern where it should be, and tempered with mercy where it 1 Page 11 warrants to be. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration.

16. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The sentencing courts are expected to consider all relevant facts and circumstances bearing on the question of sentence and proceed to impose a sentence commensurate with the gravity of the offence."

15. In Guru Basavaraj @ Benne Settapa vs. State of Karnataka, while discussing the concept of appropriate sentence, this Court expressed that:

"It is the duty of the court to see that appropriate sentence is imposed regard being had to the commission of the crime and its impact on the social order. The cry of the collective for justice, which includes adequate punishment cannot be lightly ignored."

16. Recently, this Court in Gopal Singh vs. State of Uttarakhand held as under:-

"18. Just punishment is the collective cry of the society. While the collective cry has to be kept uppermost in the mind, simultaneously the principle of proportionality between the crime and punishment cannot be totally brushed aside. The principle of just punishment is the bedrock of sentencing in respect of a criminal offence....."

17. We reiterate that in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. We also reiterate that undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The Court must not only keep in view the rights of the victim of the crime but also the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment.

27. While rejecting the similar reasons as stated by the High Court in the present case, the following conclusion arrived at by this Court are relevant: (Sadha Singh Case)....

"7. .... The learned Judge then took notice of the fact that three co-accused of the appellants were given benefit of doubt by the trial court and acquitted them although they were also attributed causing of some injuries. If acquittal of some co-accused casts a cloud of doubt over the entire prosecution case, the whole case may be rejected. But we fail to understand how acquittal of some of the accused can have any relevance to the question of sentence awarded to those who are convicted. In this case the prosecution submitted that these two appellants alone were armed with guns. Then the learned Judge observes that no useful purpose, will be served by sending the appellants to prison again to undergo the unexpired period of their sentence. We repeatedly asked why this indulgence and waited for answer in vain. If someone is enlarged on bail during the pendency of appeal and when the appeal is dismissed sending him back to jail is going to raise qualms of conscience in the Judge, granting of bail pending appeal would be counter-productive. One can pre- empt or forestall the decision by obtaining an order of bail.

8. If the learned Judge had in mind the provisions of Section 360 of CrPC so as to extend the benefit of treatment reserved for first offenders, these appellants hardly deserve the same. Admittedly, both the appellants were above the age of 21 years on the date of committing the offence. They have wielded dangerous weapons like firearms. Four shots were fired. The only fortunate part of the occurrence is that the victim escaped death. The offence committed by the appellants is proved to be one under Section 307 of IPC punishable with imprisonment for life. We were told that the appellants had hardly suffered imprisonment for three months. If the offence is under Section 307 IPC i.e. attempt to commit murder which is punishable with imprisonment for life and the sentence to be awarded is imprisonment for three months, it is better not to award substantive sentence as it makes mockery of justice. Mr Jain said that the High Court has enhanced the fine and compensated the injured and, therefore, we should not enhance the sentence. Accepting such a submission would mean that if your pockets can afford, commit serious crime, offer to pay heavy fine and escape tentacles of law. Power of wealth need not extend to overawe court processes. Thus it appears that the High Court wrongly interfered with the order of sentence on wholly untenable and irrelevant grounds some of them not borne out by the record. In order, therefore, to avoid miscarriage of justice we must interfere and set aside the sentence imposed by the High Court and restore the sentence imposed by the learned Sessions Judge which we hereby order. Both the appellants shall be taken into custody forthwith to suffer their sentence."

29. Further, in the case of Sahebrao Arjun Hon Vs. Raosaheb s/o Kashinath Hon & others : Criminal Appeal No. 1499 of 2022 (decided on 06.09.2022), in para 12 the Apex Court has held that for sentencing the judicial discretion is always guided by various considerations and it has been ruled that undue sympathy in reducing the sentence to the minimum may adversely affect the faith of people in efficacy of law. The same has been enumerated in the said paragraph. Para 12 of the same is extracted hereinbelow:-

"12. As far as the sentencing is concerned, the judicial discretion is always guided by various considerations such as seriousness of the crime, the circumstances in which crime was committed and the antecedents of the accused. The Court is required to go by the principle of proportionality. If undue sympathy is shown by reducing the sentence to the minimum, it may adversely affect the faith of people in efficacy of law. It is the gravity of crime which is the prime consideration for deciding what should be the appropriate punishment."

30. Further, in the case of Karan Singh Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh and others : Criminal Appeal No. 327 of 2022 (decided on 02.03.2022) the Apex Court has considered the question of a ground being taken that a long time has elapsed and as such the accused may not be convicted. While ruling on the said argument it was held that the same cannot be a ground for acquittal of the appellant. Para 47 of the said judgment is quoted hereinbelow:-

"47. We find no grounds to interfere with the concurrent findings of the Trial Court and the High Court. The fact that the trial/appeal should have taken years and that other accused should have died during the appeal cannot be a ground for acquittal of the Appellant. The appeal is thus dismissed."

31. Further, the Apex Court in the case of State of Rajasthan Vs. Banwari Lal and another : Diary No. 21596 of 2020 (decided on 08.04.2022) has referred to the principles of sentencing which are to be considered in para 7 and 8 of the said judgment and it has been held as under:-

"7. At this stage, few decisions of this Court on principles for sentencing and tests for awarding an appropriate sentence in a given case are required to be referred to and considered.

i) In the case of Mohan Lal (supra), the High Court modified the judgment and order passed by the learned trial Court and sentenced the accused to the period already undergone by him, which was only six days and absolutely no reasons, much less valid reasons, were assigned by the High Court. While setting aside the order passed by the High Court, this Court has observed in paragraphs 9 to 13 as under:

"9. The High Court simply brushed aside the aforementioned material facts and sentenced the accused to the period already undergone by him, which is only 6 days in this case. In our view, the trial court and the High Court have taken a lenient view by convicting the accused for offences under Sections 325 and 323 IPC. Absolutely no reasons, much less valid reasons, are assigned by the High Court to impose the meagre sentence of 6 days. Such imposition of sentence by the High Court shocks the judicial conscience of this Court.

10. Currently, India does not have structured sentencing guidelines that have been issued either by the legislature or the judiciary. However, the courts have framed certain guidelines in the matter of imposition of sentence. A Judge has wide discretion in awarding the sentence within the statutory limits. Since in many offences only the maximum punishment is prescribed and for some offences the minimum punishment is prescribed, each Judge exercises his discretion accordingly. There cannot, therefore, be any uniformity. However, this Court has repeatedly held that the courts will have to take into account certain principles while exercising their discretion in sentencing, such as proportionality, deterrence and rehabilitation. In a proportionality analysis, it is necessary to assess the seriousness of an offence in order to determine the commensurate punishment for the offender. The seriousness of an offence depends, apart from other things, also upon its harmfulness.

11. This Court in Soman v. State of Kerala [Soman v. State of Kerala, (2013) 11 SCC 382 : (2012) 4 SCC (Cri) 1] observed thus: (SCC p. 393, para 27)

"27.1. Courts ought to base sentencing decisions on various different rationales -- most prominent amongst which would be proportionality and deterrence.

27.2. The question of consequences of criminal action can be relevant from both a proportionality and deterrence standpoint.

27.3. Insofar as proportionality is concerned, the sentence must be commensurate with the seriousness or gravity of the offence.

27.4. One of the factors relevant for judging seriousness of the offence is the consequences resulting from it.

27.5. Unintended consequences/harm may still be properly attributed to the offender if they were reasonably foreseeable. In case of illicit and underground manufacture of liquor, the chances of toxicity are so high that not only its manufacturer but the distributor and the retail vendor would know its likely risks to the consumer. Hence, even though any harm to the consumer might not be directly intended, some aggravated culpability must attach if the consumer suffers some grievous hurt or dies as result of consuming the spurious liquor."

12. The same is the verdict of this Court in Alister Anthony Pareira v. State of Maharashtra [Alister Anthony Pareira v. State of Maharashtra, (2012) 2 SCC 648 : (2012) 1 SCC (Civ) 848 : (2012) 1 SCC (Cri) 953] wherein it is observed thus: (SCC p. 674, para 84)

"84. Sentencing is an important task in the matters of crime. One of the prime objectives of the criminal law is imposition of appropriate, adequate, just and proportionate sentence commensurate with the nature and gravity of crime and the manner in which the crime is done. There is no straitjacket formula for sentencing an accused on proof of crime. The courts have evolved certain principles: the twin objective of the sentencing policy is deterrence and correction. What sentence would meet the ends of justice depends on the facts and circumstances of each case and the court must keep in mind the gravity of the crime, motive for the crime, nature of the offence and all other attendant circumstances."

13. From the aforementioned observations, it is clear that the principle governing the imposition of punishment will depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. However, the sentence should be appropriate, adequate, just, proportionate and commensurate with the nature and gravity of the crime and the manner in which the crime is committed. The gravity of the crime, motive for the crime, nature of the crime and all other attending circumstances have to be borne in mind while imposing the sentence. The court cannot afford to be casual while imposing the sentence, inasmuch as both the crime and the criminal are equally important in the sentencing process. The courts must see that the public does not lose confidence in the judicial system. Imposing inadequate sentences will do more harm to the justice system and may lead to a state where the victim loses confidence in the judicial system and resorts to private vengeance."

ii) In the case of Udham (supra), in paragraphs 11 to 13, it is observed and held as under:

"11. We are of the opinion that a large number of cases are being filed before this Court, due to insufficient or wrong sentencing undertaken by the courts below. We have time and again cautioned against the cavalier manner in which sentencing is dealt in certain cases. There is no gainsaying that the aspect of sentencing should not be taken for granted, as this part of Criminal Justice System has determinative impact on the society. In light of the same, we are of the opinion that we need to provide further clarity on the same.

12. Sentencing for crimes has to be analysed on the touchstone of three tests viz. crime test, criminal test and comparative proportionality test. Crime test involves factors like extent of planning, choice of weapon, modus of crime, disposal modus (if any), role of the accused, anti-social or abhorrent character of the crime, state of victim. Criminal test involves assessment of factors such as age of the criminal, gender of the criminal, economic conditions or social background of the criminal, motivation for crime, availability of defence, state of mind, instigation by the deceased or any one from the deceased group, adequately represented in the trial, disagreement by a Judge in the appeal process, repentance, possibility of reformation, prior criminal record (not to take pending cases) and any other relevant factor (not an exhaustive list).

13. Additionally, we may note that under the crime test, seriousness needs to be ascertained. The seriousness of the crime may be ascertained by (i) bodily integrity of the victim; (ii) loss of material support or amenity; (iii) extent of humiliation; and (iv) privacy breach."

In the said decision, this Court again cautioned against the cavalier manner in which sentencing is dealt with in certain cases.

iii) In the case of Satish Kumar Jayanti Lal Dabgar (supra), this Court has observed and held that the purpose and justification behind sentencing is not only retribution, incapacitation, rehabilitation but deterrence as well.

8. Applying the law laid down by this Court on principles for sentencing, to the facts of the case on hand, we are of the opinion that the approach of the High Court is most cavalier. Therefore, the order of the High Court merits interference by this Court. Merely on the technical ground of delay and merely on the ground that after the impugned judgment and order, which is unsustainable, the accused have resettled in their lives and their conduct has since been satisfactory and they have not indulged in any criminal activity, is no ground not to condone the delay and not to consider the appeal on merits. Hence, the delay of 1880 days in preferring the appeal is condoned."

32. Thus applying the principles of law with regards to the sentencing of the appellant, it is clear that lacks of sufficient time and the age of the accused cannot be a ground to extend any benefit to him in the crime committed by him.

33. From the discussions as stated above it is evident that the prosecution has succeeded in proving the case beyond reasonable doubt against the accused-appellant. The version of the first informant and the victim 'X' regarding rape being committed on her by the accused-appellant does not get dented throughout the case. The medical evidence corroborates with the prosecution version. The opinion of the doctor also states of rape being committed on her. The victim 'X' was aged about 10 years at that time. The same has also not been a matter of challenge by the accused-appellant. Hence, the present appeal is dismissed.

34. The judgment and order of conviction of the trial court is upheld. The appellant is on bail. He shall be taken into custody to serve out the sentences awarded to him by the trial court.

35. Office is directed to transmit the lower court records along with a copy of this judgment to the trial court forthwith for its compliance and necessary action.

(2022) 11 ILRA 1199
APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 16.11.2022

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SANJAY KUMAR PACHORI, J.

Jail Appeal No. 2176 of 2010

Rajesh Kumar Dubey ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi, Amicus curiae

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Manoj Kumar Sahu, A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Penal Code, 1860- Sections 375 & 376- The important ingredient of the offence under Section 375 punishable under Section 376, IPC is penetration. No offence under Section 376 IPC can be made out unless there was penetration to some extent. In absence of penetration to any extent would not bring the offence of the accused within the four corners of Section 375, IPC. Therefore, the basic ingredients for proving a charge of rape are the accomplishment of the act with force. The other important ingredient is penetration of the male organ within the labia majora or the vulva or pudenda with or without any emission of semen or even an attempt at penetration into the private part of the victim completely, partially or slightly would be enough for the purpose of Section 375 and 376 IPC.

Penetration to any extent with the use of force for accomplishment of the act, are sufficient to make out the offence of rape.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 375- Section 376- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- It is settled position of law that a conviction can be based entirely on the statement of a rape victim- The statement of the prosecutrix if found to be worthy of credence, and reliable, requires no corroboration. She stands at a higher pedestal than an injured witness. However, if the court may find it difficult to accept the testimony of the prosecutrix, it may search for evidence, direct or circumstantial, which would lend assurance to her testimony- It is a settled proposition of law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions, and discrepancies, the entire evidence cannot be disregarded.

Conviction can be secured solely on the testimony of the victim where her statement is found to be truthful and credible by the court but where the same has contradiction, omissions etc. then the court may seek corroboration from other materials.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 154- The delay in lodging the FIR in a sexual assault cannot normally affect the prosecution case, as held by the Supreme Court in various judgments, but where there is an inordinate delay in registration of the FIR, in such circumstances, it casts a cloud of suspicion on the credibility of the entire prosecution story and such type of delay would certainly be regarded as fatal to the prosecution case and thus, the whole prosecution case is under the cloud of suspicion and doubt-Overwriting in the complaint (Ex.Ka.-1) and chik FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) by the overwriting, date of the complaint, number of crime have been changed, G.D. Rapat (Ex.Ka.-5) has no number, date or time, name of the scribe is not mentioned in the complaint, PW-1 victim St.d that she did not know the name of scribe of the complaint, there is no date on which copy of the FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) has been sent to the jurisdictional Magistrate.

Even in an offence of sexual assault, inordinate delay in lodging the FIR can render the case of the prosecution doubtful and where the inordinate delay is accompanied with material discrepancies in the complaint, chik FIR and relevant G.D entries then the same may be fatal to the case of the prosecution.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 375- Section 376- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Section 101- It is not the duty of the defence to explain as to how and why in a sexual assault case the victim has falsely implicated the appellant. The evidence of prosecutrix cannot be accepted merely because the appellant has not been able to say as to why she has come forward to depose against him. On the basis of the facts and circumstances discussed above, an inferrence can easily be drawn that the prosecution case is wholly based on sole testimony of PW-1 victim and the evidence of the victim does not inspire confidence. Therefore, the entire genesis of the case is in serious doubt in view of the contradictions and material inconsistencies.

The burden of proof to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt is always upon the prosecution and cannot be shifted upon the accused to explain his false implication. (Para 60, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66,80,88)

1. This jail appeal has been preferred by the appellant, Rajesh Kumar Dubey against the judgment and order passed by Additional Sessions Judge/FTC-3 Lucknow, on 13.8.2009 in Session Trial No. 128 of 2009, arising out of Case Crime No. 645 of 2008, Police Station Hasanganj, District Lucknow, whereby the appellant has been convicted under Sections 354, 376 read with section 511 of The Indian Penal Code (in short "I.P.C.") and sentenced to undergo one-year imprisonment under section 354 of IPC and to undergo five years imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1,000/- each with a default sentence of one month under section 376 read with section 511 of IPC.

PROSECUTION CASE

2. The prosecution case in brief as per the first information report1 (Ex.Ka.-4), which was lodged on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 (hours, a.m. or p.m. has not been written) on the basis of written complaint (Ex.Ka.-1) of the victim 'X' (PW-1) at PS Hasanganj, District Lucknow by the victim is that she cooks food at the house of colonel S. K. Sharma in his presence. On 10.11.2008, at 9:00 p.m., the appellant reached the house of the victim and told the victim that colonel sahab had come and was calling her for cooking food, she reached the house believing his information and went inside the house by opening the gate. The appellant caught her arm and started molesting her. Hearing her cries, elder brother of colonel sahab Dr. Uma Kant Sharma and one other person, who had come to the house of Ratan Kant Sharma reached there, and saved the victim from the appellant by reprimanding him.

3. The FIR dated 12.11.2008 (Ex.Ka-4) was registered as case Crime no. 645 of 2008 under section 354 of I.P.C. against the appellant at PS Hasanganj, District Lucknow at 6:10 (hours, a.m. or p.m. has not been written) by Head Constable Asharaf Ali (PW-4) on the basis of the written complaint (Ex.Ka.-1). The distance between the place of occurrence and the Police Station is about 1 Km.

4. The investigation was started by Sub-Inspector2 Ranjit Dubey (PW-3). He inspected the place of incident, as pointed out by the informant/victim (PW-1) and prepared a site map (Ex.Ka.-2) of the place of occurrence. The investigating officer3 recorded the statement of the victim, Uma Kant Sharma under section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 (in short 'Cr. PC.') on 27.11.2008 and other prosecution witnesses under Section 161 of Cr. PC. The statement of the victim under Section 164 of Cr. PC. (Paper No. A-6/23) which had been seen by the I.O. and endorsed in the case diary on 28.11.2008. After completing the investigation, a charge sheet (Ex.Ka.-3) was submitted against the appellant under Sections 354, 376 read with Section 511 of IPC before the court concerned on 11.12.2008.

5. The concerned Magistrate took cognizance in the matter and committed the case to Sessions Court on 12.2.2009 for trial. On committal, the trial court framed charges against the appellant under Sections 354, 376 read with Section 511 of IPC on 28.3.2009. The appellant denied the charges and claimed trial. The appellant was so poor that he could not afford to engage a lawyer and the case before the court was conducted by amicus curiae Sri Pradeep Chand Sharma on the basis of the appellant's application dated 28.3.2009.

6. To prove the charges against the appellant, the prosecution examined as many as 4 witnesses. PW-1 victim/first informant; PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma, brother of colonel S.K. Sharma, who had reached the place of the incident immediately after hearing the screaming of the victim; PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey (I.O.) and PW-4 HCP Asharaf Ali (scribe of chik of FIR).

7. After taking the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, as per Section 313 of Cr. PC., the appellant was questioned about the evidence led against him by the prosecution, wherein he denied the incriminating evidence put to him and stated that he has been implicated due to enmity (MUJHE JABRAN RANJISHAN (VICTIM'S NAME) NE FASAYA HAI, MAIN NIRDOSH HUN) and the witnesses have given evidence due to enmity. The appellant did not produce any evidence before the trial court.

8. Before the trial court, the appellant argued that the FIR has been lodged after due deliberation and consultation. There is a contradiction between the statements of PW-1 victim and PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey with regard to the injury of the victim. The victim stated that during the incident she received injuries, but the Investigating Officer stated that he did not get medical examination of the victim because the victim had not received any injury. It is further contended that there are material contradictions between the statement of PW-1 victim and PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma with regard to the presence of PW-2 after the incident. It is further argued that when colonel saheb was not present in his house, the victim reached there to meet the appellant and he falsely implicated after someone saw the incident.

FINDINGS OF THE TRIAL COURT

9. The trial court found that the victim has explained the delay in lodging the FIR on 12.11.2008, wherein she explained that the FIR was lodged after colonel sahab reached in his house, after relying upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in case of Narain Saha & Anr. v. State of Tripura, AIR 2005 SC 1452, wherein it was held that merely because the complaint was lodged less than promptly, does not raise the question that the complaint was false. The reluctance to go to the police is because of society's attitude towards such women. It casts doubt and shame upon her rather than comfort and sympathy towards her. Therefore, the delay in lodging the FIR in such cases does not necessarily indicate that her version is false.

10. The trial court further observed that the victim was a maid in the house of colonel S. K. Sharma for 10 years and she cooked food in his house in his presence both in the morning and evening, and the appellant is a security guard in the said house for 6 to 7 months prior to the incident. The incident took place after she opened the main gate of the house, which has a high boundary wall.

11. The trial court further observed that there is a discrepancy between the statements of PW-1 victim and PW-3 Ranjit Singh with regard to the injuries of the victim. As per the prosecution case, when the victim entered the house after opening the main gate, the appellant caught hold of the arm of the victim from behind and pressed her chest, and attempted to rape her. As per the site map (Ex.Ka.-2) the incident took place on the lawn situated nearby the main gate connecting the boundary wall. The victim stated that the appellant came from behind and was forcing her and she received injuries in her leg and knee, but there was no bleeding. The evidence of the victim is corroborated by the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 of Cr. PC. The trial court discarded the argument of the appellant and found that there is no material discrepancy that affects the case of the prosecution.

12. The trial court discarded the argument of the appellant that the evidence of PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma is not trustworthy because there are material contradictions between the evidence of PW-1 victim and PW-2. The trial court found that the incident took place on 10.11.2008 from 8:30 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. The witness is the real brother of colonel S.K. Sharma and he was residing in the back portion of the house. PW-2 reached immediately after hearing the cry of the victim at the place of the incident and saw that the appellant was lying over the victim, at that time the appellant was found nude. PW-2 called the police on No. 100, in the meantime, the appellant fled away from the spot. The trial court observed that the evidence of PW-1 is satisfactorily corroborated by PW-2.

13. The trial court further found that if the presence of another person Ratan Kant Sharma is found doubtful, it will not affect the trustworthiness of the evidence of the victim. The appellant has not put any question with regard to his false implication due to enmity to the PW-1 and PW-2 and he has not produced any evidence in this regard. The trial court concluded that the prosecution has successfully proved the charges against the appellant under Sections 354, 376 read with Section 511, I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt and thereby convicted and sentenced the appellant as above.

14. Being aggrieved by the trial court's judgment and order, the appellant has preferred this appeal.

SUBMISSIONS BEFORE THIS COURT

15. Heard Sri Rajesh Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel amicus curiae for the appellant; Sri Manoj Kumar Sahu, learned A.G.A., for the State and perused the material available on record.

16. Learned amicus curiae for the appellant vehemently urged that;

(a) PW-1 victim lodged the FIR of the present case after about 30 hours of unexplained delay, if the FIR was lodged on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m. (hours, a.m. and p.m. has not been mentioned). Though, PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey had reached the place of the incident immediately after the incident and he called the victim;

(b) There is an overwriting over the date as shown as '12.11.2008' in the complaint (Ex.Ka.-1) and the word "Aaj", has been deleted and name of the scribe of the complaint has not been mentioned. Therefore, scribe of the complaint was not examined by the prosecution;

(c) There is an overwriting in case crime no. of chik FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) as well as its G.D. Rapat no. (Ex.Ka.-5), it seems that initially case crime no. '646' was written but later crime no. '645' had been written.

(d) G.D. Rapat No. (Ex.Ka.-5), which had been prepared after registering the FIR, has no number, date, and time;

(e) The date on which the copy of the FIR had been sent to the Jurisdictional Magistrate is not mentioned.

(f) PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma gave telephonic information about the incident on number 100 to the police which was not reduced into writing. As per the statement of PW-2, he lodged the FIR at the police station on the date of the incident, which was not made part of the investigation;

(g) The torn clothes of the victim were neither recovered nor it was seized;

(h) The victim was not produced before any doctor for her medical examination; statement of the victim was recorded under Section 161 Cr. PC. on 27.11.2008, after 16 days of the incident. On the basis of statement of the victim Section 376/511, IPC had been added on 27.11.2008.

(i) There is a material contradiction between her statement under Section 161, Cr. PC., chief examination, and cross-examination with regard to attempting to commit rape.

(j) The statement of the victim under Section 164 of Cr. PC. has no date of its recording, which had been endorsed by the I.O. on 28.11.2008 in the case diary, which was not proved by the prosecution;

(k) There are material contradictions in the testimony of PW-1 victim and PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma, with regard to the presence of PW-2 who claimed to be an eye witness of the incident;

(l) As per the statement of PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma, he was told about the incident by a girl residing in his neighbourhood. But the independent witness was not examined by the prosecution;

(m) No broken pieces of bangles or any other incriminating article was recovered and proved by the prosecution; and

(n) The place of occurrence was not established and proved by the prosecution.

In the aforesaid background, it is submitted that the prosecution has failed to prove the case against the appellant beyond all reasonable doubt and the conviction, as recorded, is against the weight of evidence. Hence, the impugned judgment and order dated 13.8.2009 is liable to be set aside.

17. Learned amicus curiae relied upon the judgments of the Supreme Court in case of Marudanal Augusti v. State of Kerala, AIR 1980 SC 638, Amitbhai Anilchandra Shah v. Central Bureau of Investigation & Anr., 2013 AIR SC 3794 and Hemraj & Ors. v. State of Haryana 2005 (52) ACC 258 (SC).

18. Per Contra; learned A.G.A. submitted that the reason for the delayed reporting of the FIR has also been explained by the prosecution. There was no reason as to why a married woman, would falsely implicate the appellant. PW-2 was the most natural and independent witness of the incident and there was nothing on record to show that he had any animus, grudge, or vendetta against the appellant to depose falsely against the appellant. There is nothing brought out in cross-examination to render her evidence fragile. Learned trial court has rightly held the appellant guilty; the findings recorded by the trial court are on appreciation of the evidence, which is neither perverse nor contrary to the evidence on record; the charges levelled against the appellant had been proved beyond a reasonable doubt. Thus, his conviction and sentence do not warrant any interference. The judgment and order of the trial court are liable to be affirmed. A prayer was, therefore, made to dismiss the appeal.

ANALYSIS OF THE PROSECUTION EVIDENCE:

19. Before considering the respective submissions, it would be appropriate to notice the arguments on behalf of the appellant in detail. The appellant's arguments are:

Firstly; the FIR of the present case was lodged with consultation and deliberation on 12.11.2008 after 30 hours of the incident, if the FIR was registered as alleged in the morning of 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m., even though the distance between the place of occurrence and the police chowky is just 1 Km. and the police arrived at the place of the incident immediately after the occurrence. The delay in lodging the FIR assumes significance and casts a complete shadow of doubt on the prosecution case and such delay seriously doubts the truth and veracity of allegations levelled by the victim. The delay in lodging the FIR corrodes the credibility of the prosecution story for the reasons below:

(a) As per the statement of PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma, police came immediately after the incident on 10.11.2008 at the place of the incident but the FIR was lodged after 30 hours (if the FIR was lodged on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m.) of the incident.

(b) As per the statement of PW-2, the appellant was arrested from the room of colonel sahab i.e. place of incident at 2.30 hours on the night of 10/11, but the FIR was lodged on 12.11.2008. However, the arrest of the appellant had been shown on 12.11.2008 at 8:00 hours from B-180 Nirala Nagar, (from the place of the incident) as per arrest memo.

(c) There is an overwriting over the date as shown '12.11.2008' in the complaint (Ex.Ka.-1) and deleting of the word "Aaj" of the complaint and the name of the scribe of the complaint had not been mentioned, therefore, scribe of the complaint was not examined by the prosecution;

(d) G.D. Rapat No. (Ex.Ka.-5), which was prepared after lodging the FIR, has no number, date, or time.

(e) There is no date on which the FIR was sent to the jurisdictional Magistrate.

(f) PW-1 victim stated that she lodged the FIR on 12.11.2008 after waiting for her nephew, but on the other hand, PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma stated that he dialed number 100 and went to the police station; SI Ranjit Dubey came at the place of incident and he lodged the report, the fact regarding the theft had been told.

Secondly; the entire genesis of the case is in serious doubt in view of the contradictions and material inconsistencies between the statement of PW-1 victim and PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma, with regard to the presence of eye-witness PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma, lodging of the FIR, and time of arrest of the appellant, which emerges from the following circumstances:

(a) PW-1 victim firstly; stated in her examination-in-chief that on her screaming, Uma Kant Sharma and one person, who came to the house of Ratan Kant Sharma, reached the spot; secondly; the victim stated in her cross-examination that PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma and Ratan Kant Sharma reached on her screaming after 15 minutes and no other person except them reached on her screaming. thirdly; she stated in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. (Paper No. A-6/23, which has no date of its recording), which has been endorsed by the I.O. after 17 days of the incident on 28.11.2008, that hearing her voice an advocate, whose name she does not know, reached there and scolded Rajesh.

On the other hand, PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma stated that he awoke to the noise of the daughter of Judge Chandra, who lived behind, she saw the incident from her rooftop and said a man is harassing a woman who is screaming. When he came out, and saw the appellant was laying down over the victim in a bush at that time the appellant was naked, after that client of vakeel sahab reached there.

(b) PW-1 victim stated in her cross-examination that PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma resided 2-3 houses away from the place of the incident (i.e. house of the colonel S.K. Sharma); on the other hand, PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma stated that he resided in the back portion of the house of colonel S.K.Sharma.

(c) PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma in his statement-in-chief stated firstly; the appellant broke the door of the colonel with a trowel (Khurpi), and he interrupted on which the appellant told that he was repairing the stool. He dialed number 100 and went to the police station, met inspector Ranjit Dubey and Ranjit Dubey came to the place of occurrence.

secondly; PW-2 stated in his cross-examination that he and Dr. M. Tripathi informed the police. The police came to the spot and inquired about the incident. The victim called. Meanwhile, the appellant fled away. He informed the police about the fact regarding theft and lodged the report (but there is no report on record). The appellant was arrested from the room of colonel sahab (place of the incident) at 2.30 hours on the night of 10/11, but the arrest of the appellant had been shown on 12.11.2008 from the same room.

But on the other hand, PW-1 victim lodged the FIR on the basis of written complaint, wherein she put her thumb impression, after waiting for her nephew on 12.11.2008. She further stated in her cross-examination that she did not remember the name of scribe of the complaint. Furthermore, the name of scribe of the complaint is not mentioned in the complaint.

Thirdly; the prosecution case wholly depends on the testimony of a solitary witness, PW-1 victim 'X'. The incident occurred in the night at 9:00 a.m. and nobody witnessed the incident, which is borne out from the contradictions/omissions present in the testimony of PW-1, PW-2, and PW-3. The ocular version of PW-1 does not appear reliable and does not inspire confidence in the prosecution case. In support thereof, it has been pointed out that;

(a) there is a material inconsistency between her chief-examination and cross-examination of the victim PW-1. She stated in her cross-examination that she had told the police about the facts of holding her chest and attempt of penetration, but it is not written in her statement recorded under Section 161, Cr.PC., as also stated by PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey (I.O.) who stated in his cross-examination that it is correct to say that in her statement under Section 161 Cr. PC., tearing of the blouse, pressing chest, and attempting to do intercourse is not mentioned because the victim did not tell so.

However, the FIR was lodged under Section 354, IPC, and offence punishable under Section 376 read with Section 511, IPC had been added after 16 days of the incident.

Fourthly; there are material inconsistencies beween the statement of PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma and PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey with regard to the place of the incident because:

(a) PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma stated in his examination-in-chief that he saw the applicant lying down over the victim in a bush and at that time the appellant was naked, but on the other hand, PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey stated in his cross-examination that he prepared the site map of the place of incident on the instance of the victim, which was situated in the mid of lawn and there was no tree or bush nearby.

Fifthly; there are material contradictions with regard to the injury sustained by the victim PW-1 between the statement of PW-1 victim and PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey (I.O.) because:

(a) the victim stated in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. that as soon as she went inside the house, the appellant after grabbing her tightly, pulled her hair and torn all her clothes, after dragging her from the gate the appellant went towards the bush and took off all his clothes, and tried to rape her. In this attempt, he pulled her hair, hit her and twisted her neck but she did not medically examine.

(b) The victim PW-1 stated in her chief-examination that she sustained abrasions on both her knees and hand and in her cross-examination she stated that she kept fighting for 10-15 minutes till PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma came, but on the other hand, PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey (I.O.) stated that he did not get her medical examination conducted because there was no injury and abrasion on the body of the victim.

Sixthly; As per the statement of PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma, who claimed to be an eye witness of the incident, reached the place of occurrence after the daughter of Judge Chandra called him, who witnessed the incident from the rooftop of her house. She had not been examined by the prosecution.

20. It is appropriate to mention the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164, Cr.P.C. (Paper No. A-6/23, which has no date of its recording) before appreciating the evidence of the prosecution witnesses, which is as follows:-

"She cooks food at the house of colonel sahab. On 10.11.2008 at 9.00 p.m. Rajesh Dubey, the guard of the colonel sahab came to her house and told that colonel sahab has came and is calling her. Sahab and Mem sahab had gone out somewhere. As soon as she went inside the house, Rajesh Dubey after grabbing her tightly pulled her hair and torn all her clothes. After dragging her from the gate he went towards the bush and took off all his clothes. He tried to rape her. In this attempt, he pulled her hair, hit her, and twisted her neck, due to which her neck is still in pain. She was crying out loudly. Hearing her voice an advocate, whose name she does not know, reached there and scolded Rajesh. She somehow wrapped her clothes and ran away to her house. She went home and told her husband about the incident."

21. Before I proceed to dwell upon the merit of the contentions raised before me, it will be apposite to have close scrutiny of the entire ocular evidence, which is as follows:-

22. PW-1 victim 'X' (aged about 39 years) stated in her examination-in-chief that she is illiterate and is a maid in the house of Colonel Shashi Kant Sharma only for cooking food. The applicant was a security guard at the same house. Six month ago, the appellant came to her house to call her at 9:00 p.m. and told her that colonel has come and called her for cooking food. She went with him. As soon as she opened the gate of the house of colonel and entered inside, the appellant followed her and caught her hand, and put off her clothes. He began to hold her breasts with bad intentions and began coercing her and attempting to insert his urinal part into her urine tract. She raised alarm. On her screaming, Uma Kant Sharma and one person, who came to the house of Ratan Kant Sharma, reached the spot. Then, they scolded the appellant and freed her. During the scuffle, she sustained abrasions on her both knees and hands. She lodged the report Ex.Ka.-1 on 12.11.2008 after waiting for her nephew.

23. PW-1 victim 'X' in her cross-examination stated that her house is situated 1-1.5 Km. away from the house of S. K. Sharma, 5-7 minutes walking distance from the place of the incident. The house of colonel is situated on the main road which is a busy road. In the house of colonel, she has been cooking food for 10 years and she had not come to the house at 6:00 p.m. on the date of the incident. She used to go to prepare the food in the morning and evening. She did not go to the house to prepare the food at night. There are 4-5 rooms in the house. The distance between the main gate and the rooms is about 10-20 feet. The boundary of the house is higher than her height. At the time of the incident, she had put on a sari. The appellant has been working as a security guard for 6-7 months. The brother of colonel did not come just after she screamed.

24. The court asked questions to the victim 'X' wherein she stated that Uma Kant Sharma came after 10 -15 minutes till then she kept fighting and screaming. Uma Kant Sharma and Ratan Lal Sharma are brothers. They lived 2-3 houses away from the house of colonel and no other person except them reached on her screaming. The incident took place at 9 p.m. she did not remember the day and date of the incident. She had told the police about the facts of holding her chest, and the attempt of penetration, but it is not written in her statement. She is not aware of the meaning of the word 'ashleel'. Today she explained in court about 'Badtmeeji'. Uma Kant Sharma had come inside the gate and was standing near the lobby at some distance, at that time her sari was open and her blouse was torn. Today the sari and torn blouse are not present in the court.

25. She further stated in her cross-examination that she went to the police station on the next day of the incident. She did not remember the name of scribe of the complaint. There is overwriting on the date and year in the complaint. Before this incident, she was not in talking terms with the appellant. Medical examination has not been got conducted.

26. Some other questions have been asked by the court to the victim 'X' which are as follows:

When you did not have any talking terms with the appellant, how did you rely upon him and come? On 11.11.2008, it gets very dark at 9:00 p.m. why did you not bring your husband or any other member with you?

The victim 'X' stated that "I am serving there and he was also serving there. Whenever a servant will call, I would presume that I have been called. Whenever it became late during the feast or food parties I used to come alone. That day there was no feast or party. colonel sahab was not at home, he had gone outside. I went there upon being called because he told me that sahab has come."

27. The following suggestions have been asked from this witness, it is wrong to say that whenever the colonel was not present, she often went to meet the appellant and after being noticed by the brother of colonel, she lodged a false case.

28. It is noticeable that there are inconsistencies between the statement of the prosecutrix with regard to the presence of PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma, who claimed as eye witness of the incident at the spot. firstly; she stated in her statement-in-chief that on her screaming PW-2 Uma Kant

Sharma and one other person, who had come to the house of Ratan Kant Sharma reached the spot and they scolded the appellant and saved her. secondly; she stated in her cross-examination that on her screaming PW-2 and Ratan Lal Sharma reached the spot and no other person except them reached. thirdly; she stated in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. that hearing her cries an advocate, whose name she does not know, reached there and scolded the appellant.

29. It is further noticeable that despite the injuries sustained by the prosecutrix no medical examination has been conducted. As the prosecutrix stated in her cross-examination that PW-2 came after 10-15 minutes till then she kept fighting and screaming and during the scuffle, she received abrasions on her both knees and hands. PW-1 further stated in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. that the appellant after grabbing her tightly pulled her hair and torn all her clothes, after dragging her from the gate he went towards the bush, in this attempt, he hit her and twisted her neck.

30. It is further noticeable that there is inconsistency with regard to the fact of attempting to commit rape. firstly; she stated in her cross-examination that she told the police about the facts of holding her chest and attempting penetration with her, but it was not written in her statement under Section 161 Cr. PC. and she did not tell about tearing off her blouse, pressing her chest and attempted to do intercourse under Section 161 Cr. PC. Although her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. stated that the appellant attempted to commit rape with her.

31. After analysing all of the above circumstances, it rounds off to the following facts: Firstly; during the attempt to commit rape she kept fighting for 10-15 minutes with the appellant and she sustained abrasions over her both knees and hands but she did not medically examine. Secondly; there is overwriting over the date of the complaint as well as the word 'Aaj' in the complaint (Ex.Ka.-1). Thirdly; there is a discrepancy with regard to the presence of PW-2 who reached the place of the incident on her screaming. Fourthly; there is an inconsistency between the statement of the prosecutrix with regard to attempt to commit rape with her.

32. PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma (Dental Doctor) stated in his statement-in-chief that the incident occurred at 8:30-9:00 p.m. on 10.11.2008 when his brother was not present in the house, and at that time he was lying in her room. The victim was engaged in preparing food every morning and evening whenever his brother was present in the house. In the same house, his brother was living in the front portion and he was living in the back portion of that house. He noticed that the appellant was in a drunken state and he went to the house of the victim to call her to prepare the food and she had to proceed immediately. Thereafter the appellant began to coerce and scuffle with her and also began making attempt to take her backward.

33. He stated further in his examination-in-chief that he awoke on the noise of daughter of Judge Chandra Sahab, who lived behind, saw from her rooftop, and said a man is harassing a woman who is screaming. When he came out, he saw in the tube light that the appellant was laying down over the victim in a bush, at that time the appellant was naked and was riding over her. He saw the appellant was doing obscene activities with the victim. He asked her to move away, then the appellant said that he was not his servant. After that the client of vakeel sahab reached there. The clothes and slippers of the victim were left there. Thereafter the victim went to her house. The clothes and slippers of the victim were left there. Then the appellant broke the door of room of the house of colonel with a trowel (Khurpi), the witness interrupted on which he told that he was repairing the stool. Before this incident, the appellant did obscene activities with transgenders. He dialed number 100 and went to the police station and met inspector Ranjit Dubey. Then the inspector came to the place of the incident. The appellant had absconded. He lodged the report.

34. PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma in his cross-examination stated that the victim has been working since 2000. He and the colonel lived in the same house and he was alone when the incident occurred. Daughter of Judge Sahab, who lived behind the house told that a person was teasing a girl. He saw the incident from a distance of 2 and a half meters, the appellant and victim at the front portion of the house on the lawn in a shrub, and the victim was screaming. The appellant was riding over the victim, her legs were widened and his pants were open. After seeing him, the appellant did not flee. He felt that the appellant was in a drunken state.

35. He further stated in his cross-examination that he and Dr. M. Tripathi informed the police and the police came at the spot and inquired about the incident. At that time appellant fled away. The victim called and she would have told the police about the rape. The inspector got written the report by him. After writing half report, the fact regarding theft had been told. The fact of theft was not mentioned. The appellant was arrested from the room of colonel at 2:30 hours of the night of 10/11 in his presence.

36. The following suggestions have been asked from this witness, it is wrong to say that the appellant and the victim had sweet relations. It is also wrong to say that a false report has been lodged on being seen by this witness.

37. After analysing the evidence of the witness it is noticeable firstly; that PW-2 reached the spot after receiving the information from the daughter of Judge Chandra who saw the incident from her rooftop. He resided in the back portion of the house. secondly; PW-2 saw the incident in a bush situated in the front part of the house, but the appellant had absconded. thirdly; PW-2 dialed 100 number and went to the police station and met with PW-3 S.I. Ranjit Dubey who came to the place of occurrence and called the victim. fourthly; He lodged the report with regard to the incident of theft, however, it is not on record. *fifthly; t*he appellant has been arrested from the room of the colonel at 2:30 hours of the night of 10/11 in his presence i.e. on the date of the incident.

38. There is an inconsistency with regard to the arrest of the appellant in his statements, firstly; he stated that the appellant had absconded from the place of the incident secondly; he stated that the appellant was arrested from the room of colonel at 2:30 hours of the night of 10/11 i.e date of the incident, before lodging the FIR.

39. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey (I.O.) deposed that the investigation of the present case was assigned on 12.11.2008. He arrested the appellant on 12.11.2008.

On 27.11.2008, he recorded the statement of the victim, Dr. Uma Kant Sharma, and Ratan Kant Sharma. He sketched the place of the incident (Ex.Ka.-2) after inspection at the instance of the victim. On 28.11.2008, copied the statement of the victim recorded under section 164 of Cr. P.C. and after completing the investigation, filed a charge sheet (Ex.Ka.-3) against the appellant under Sections 354, 376 read with 511 of IPC on 11.12.2008. The Chik FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) of the case was prepared by Head Constable Ashaarf Ali, who was posted with him. The lodging General Diary Rapat (Ex.Ka.-5) was also in the handwriting of HCP Asharaf Ali.

40. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey in his cross-examination further stated that the FIR was registered under Section 354 IPC. It is correct to say that holding the chest of the victim by the appellant and attempting to do intercourse is not mentioned in the written complaint, only obscene activities are mentioned. He recorded the statement of the victim on 27.11.2008 after 15 days of the incident because she was neither present at the spot nor found at her house. It is correct to say that he tried to meet the victim on 12.11.2008 but she could not be found. It is correct to say that he did not get her medical examination because there was no injury or abrasion on the body of the victim. Neither the clothes of the victim were taken into custody nor her clothes were found at the spot.

41. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey in his cross-examination further stated that he prepared the site plan of the place of incident at the instance of the victim, where the appellant committed obscene activities, which has been shown as 'AX' situated in the lawn in front of the house. This place is situated in the centre of the lawn. There was only grass in the lawn and no tree or shrub were there. There were Ashok trees on two sides, eastwards and northwards of the lawn. He did not tell how wide the lawn was. He also did not tell about the distance between the gate and the place of the incident. He could not tell if the distance between points 'AX' and 'BX' was 35-40 feet.

42. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey in his cross-examination further stated that the victim, in her statement stated that the incident occurred at 9:00 p.m., the appellant after holding her arms and committed obscene activities, he began pulling her and untied her sari with the intention to commit rape. She began screaming loudly. She further stated him that Uma Kant Sharma and Ratan Kant Sharma came and saved her chastity. It is correct to say that the victim in her statement, did not tell about tearing off her blouse, pressing her chest, and attempted to do intercourse. The witness himself stated that the fact of the attempt to do intercourse was told. It is also correct to say that the victim had not stated in her statement that the appellant had undressed himself.

43. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey in his cross-examination further stated that the statement of the victim under section 164 Cr.PC. is not present in the file. After the statement, he filed an application for perusal of the statement. That application is also not in the file. It is correct to say that in the statement under section 164 Cr. PC the victim told about the arrival of a person at the place of the incident. The victim was not conversant with the names of two persons because both were not known to her. It is also correct to say that in the statement under section 161 Cr. PC. she told about the arrival of two persons Uma

Kant Sharma and Ratan Lal Sharma (brothers of colonel sahab), who were living at the aforesaid house at the time of the screaming. It is correct to say that name of Uma Kant Sharma and Ratan Lal Sharma are mentioned in the complaint. It is correct to say that on the basis of the statements of the victim as well as witnesses he had added Section 376/511 IPC.

44. The following suggestions have been asked from this witness; it is wrong to say that the victim had not been working in the house of colonel for the last 10 years. It is also wrong to say that the victim had told about the occurrence of obscene activity and under the pressure of higher officers he added Section 376/511, IPC. It is also wrong to say that the appellant has been implicated in false case under the pressure of colonel sahab.

45. After going through the evidence of this witness, it is noteworthy f*irstly*; He recorded the statement of the victim on 27.11.2008 after 16 days of the incident because she was neither present at the spot nor found at her home. Secondly; he did not conduct medical examination of the victim because there was no injury or abrasion on the body of the victim. Thirdly; the victim in her statement before him did not tell about tearing off her blouse, pressing her chest and attempting to do intercourse. Fourthly; he prepared the site plan on the instance of the victim, as shown as 'AX' situated in the mid of the lawn there was no tree or shrub. Fifthly; he added Section 376/511, IPC after recording the statement of the victim and PW-2 under Section 161, Cr. PC. which have been recorded on 27.11.2008.

46. PW-4 HCP Asharaf Ali Khan (scribe) in his statement-in-chief stated that he had registered the FIR (Ex.Ka.- 4) as Case Crime no. 504 of 2008, under Section 354 IPC at PS Hasanganj District Lucknow on the basis of the victim's written complaint and endorsed it in G.D. Report No. 7 at 6:10 hours. By using carbon with the original he had written in a single process, a carbon copy of G.D. Rapat of lodging FIR is annexed to the record as Ex.Ka.-5, which is in his handwriting with his signature.

47. PW-4 HCP Asharaf Ali Khan (scribe) in his cross-examination stated that the victim had brought written tehreer (complaint) to the police station. She had come to the police station alone and when he asked her, she had told him that there was no external and internal injury on her body therefore, her medical examination was not conducted. The victim had not come carrying any torn clothes. The original G.D. Rapat is not present before him today. As per the rules, it has not been weeded out.

48. One suggestion has been asked from this witness; it is wrong to say that he had registered the case under the pressure of higher officers.

49. As per the testimony of this witness, it is noticeable that he asked the victim about external and internal injury but after her denial, the medical examination of the victim was not conducted.

DISCUSSION:

50. The questions arising for consideration before me are: Whether the prosecution case, inspires confidence on the evidence adduced? Whether the prosecutrix, is a witness worthy of reliance? Whether the testimony of PW-1 who has been a victim of sexual assault and attempt to rape stands in need of corroboration and, if so, whether such corroboration is available in the facts of the present case? Whether there was an unexplained delay in lodging the FIR? Whether the findings of fact recorded by a court be held to be perverse?

51. In order to arrive at the correct conclusion, I deem it appropriate to examine the basic ingredients of Section 375, IPC (Before the Amendment 2013) punishable under Section 376, IPC to demonstrate whether the conviction of the appellant under Sections 376/511, IPC is sustainable.

"375. Rape.- A man is said to commit "rape" who, except in the case hereinafter excepted, has sexual intercourse with a woman under circumstances falling under any of the six following descriptions:-

Firstly.- Against her will.

Secondly.- Without her consent.

Thirdly.- With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person in whom she is interested in fear of death or of hurt.

Fourthly.- With her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband, and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully married.

Fifthly.- With her consent, when, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

Sixthly.- With or without her consent, when she is under sixteen years of age.

Explanation.- Penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary to the offence of rape.

Exception.- Sexual intercourse by a man with his own wife, the wife not being under fifteen years of age, is not rape."

52. The law on the subject has been clearly and explicitly enunciated by the Apex Court in various judgments. In the case of State of U.P. Babul Nath (1994) 6 SCC 29 the Supreme Court dealt with the basic ingredients of the offence under Section 375 in the following words:- (SCC, para 8, page 34)

"8. It may here be noticed that Section 375 of the IPC defines rape and the Explanation to Section 375 reads as follows:

Explanation.- Penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary of the offence of rape.

From the Explanation reproduced above it is distinctly clear that ingredients which are essential for proving a charge of rape are the accomplishment of the act with force and resistance. To constitute the offence of rape neither Section 375 of IPC nor the Explanation attached thereto require that there should necessarily be complete penetration of the penis into the private part of the victim/prosecutrix. In other words to constitute the offence of rape it is not at all necessary that there should be complete penetration of the male organ with emission of semen and rupture of hymen. Even partial or slightest penetration of the male organ within the labia majora or the vulva or pudenda with or without any emission of semen or even an attempt at penetration into the private part of the victim would be quite enough for the purpose of Section 375 and 376 of IPC. That being so it is quite possible to commit legally the offence or rape even without causing any injury to the genitals or leaving any seminal stains. But in the present case before us as noticed above there is more than enough evidence positively showing that there was sexual activity on the victim and she was subjected to sexual assault without which she would not have sustained injuries of the nature found on her private part by the doctor who examined her."

53. In Tarkeshwar Sahu v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand) (2006) 8 SCC 560, the Supreme Court has observed as under. (SCC, para 22, page 572)

"22. In the backdrop of settled position, when we examine the instant case, the conclusion becomes irresistible that the conviction of the appellant under Sections 376/511 IPC is wholly unsustainable. What to talk about the penetration, there has not been any attempt of penetration to the slightest degree. The appellant had neither undressed himself nor even asked the prosecutrix to undress so there was no question of penetration. In the absence of any attempt to penetrate, the conviction under Sections 376/511 IPC is wholly illegal and unsustainable."

54. The distinction between preparation to commit a crime and an attempt to commit it was indicated by quoting from Mayne's Commentaries on the Indian Penal Code to the effect:

"Preparation consists in devising or arranging the means or measures necessary for the commission of the offence; the attempt is the direct movement towards the commission after the preparation have been made."

55. In Stephen's Digest of Criminal Law, 9th Edition, attempt' is defined thus:

"An attempt to commit a crime is an act done with intent to commit that crime, and forming part of a series of acts, which would constitute its actual commission if it were not interrupted. The point at which such a series of acts begins cannot be defined; but depends upon the circumstances of each particular case."

56. In Madan Lal v. State of J & K, (1997) 7 SCC 677, the Supreme Court observed as under: (SCC para 12, page 689)

"12. The difference between preparation and an attempt to commit an offence consists chiefly in the greater degree of determination and what is necessary to prove for an offence of an attempt to commit rape has been committed is that the accused has gone beyond the stage of preparation. If an accused strips a girl naked and then making her lie flat on the ground undressed himself and then forcibly rubs his erected penis on the private part of the girl but fails to penetrate the same into vagina and on such rubbing ejaculates himself then it is difficult for us to hold that it was a case of merely assault under Section 354 IPC and not an attempt to commit rape under Section 376 read with 511 IPC. In the facts and circumstances of the present case the offence of an attempt to commit rape by the accused has been clearly established and the High Court rightly convicted him under Section 376 read with Section 511 IPC."

57. The difference between 'attempt' and 'preparation' in a rape case was again considered in Koppula Venkat Rao v. State of A.P. (2004) 3 SCC 602, the Supreme Court observed as under: (SCC para 10-11, page 606)

"10. An attempt to commit an offence is an act, or a series of acts, which leads inevitably to the commission of the offence, unless something, which the doer of the act neither foresaw nor intended, happens to prevent this. An attempt may be described to be an act done in part-execution of a criminal design, amounting to more than mere preparation, but falling short of actual consummation, and, possessing, except for failure to consummate, all the elements of the substantive crime. In other words, an attempt consists in it the intent to commit a crime, falling short of, its actual commission or consummation/completion. It may consequently be defined as that which if not prevented would have resulted in the full consummation of the act attempted. The illustrations given in Section 511 clearly show the legislative intention to make a difference between the cases of a mere preparation and an attempt.

11. In order to find an accused guilty of an attempt with intent to commit rape, court has to be satisfied that the accused, when he laid hold of the prosecutrix, not only desired to gratify his passions upon her person, but that he intended to do so at all events, and notwithstanding any resistance on her part. Indecent assaults are often magnified into attempts at rape. In order to come to a conclusion that the conduct of the accused was indicative of a determination to gratify his passion at all events, and in spite of all resistance, materials must exist. Surrounding circumstances many times throw beacon light on that aspect."

58. In State of Madhya Pradesh v. Mahendra @ Golu 2021 SCC Online SC 965 the Supreme Court observed as under:

"16. A plain reading of the above provision spells out that sexual intercourse with a woman below sixteen years, with or without her consent, amounted to 'Rape' and mere penetration was sufficient to prove such offence. The expression 'penetration' denotes ingress of male organ into the female parts, however slight it may be. This Court has on numerous occasions explained what 'penetration' conveys under the unamended Penal Code which was in force at the relevant time. In Aman Kumar v. State of Haryana (2004) 4 SCC 379, it was summarised that:-

"7. Penetration is the sine quo non for an offence of rape. In order to constitute penetration, there must be evidence clear and cogent to prove that some part of the virile member of the accused was within the labia of the pudendum of the woman, no matter how little (see joseph Lines, IC&K 893)"

59. In Aman Kumar & Anr. v. State of Haryana (2004) 4 SCC 379, the Supreme Court observed as under: (SCC para 8, page 387)

"8. The plea relating to applicability of Section 376 read with Section 511 IPC needs careful consideration. In every crime, there is first, intention to commit, secondly, preparation to commit it, thirdly, attempt to commit it. If the third stage, that is, attempt is successful, then the crime is complete. If the attempt fails the crime is not complete, but law punishes the person attempting the act. Section 511 is a general provision dealing with attempts to commit offences not made punishable by other specific sections. It makes punishable all attempts to commit offences punishable with imprisonment and not only those punishable with death. An attempt is made punishable, because every attempt, although it falls short of success, must create alarm, which by itself is an injury, and the moral guilt of the offender is the same as if he had succeeded. Moral guilt must be united to injury in order to justify punishment. As the injury is not as great as if the act had been committed, only half the punishment is awarded."

60. The important ingredient of the offence under Section 375 punishable under Section 376, IPC is penetration. No offence under Section 376 IPC can be made out unless there was penetration to some extent. In absence of penetration to any extent would not bring the offence of the accused within the four corners of Section 375, IPC. Therefore, the basic ingredients for proving a charge of rape are the accomplishment of the act with force. The other important ingredient is penetration of the male organ within the labia majora or the vulva or pudenda with or without any emission of semen or even an attempt at penetration into the private part of the victim completely, partially or slightly would be enough for the purpose of Section 375 and 376 IPC.

61. In case of State of Punjab v. Major Singh AIR 1967 SC 63 a three-Judge Bench of the Supreme Court considered the question whether modesty of a female child of 7 months can also be outraged. The majority view was in affirmative. Bachawat, J. on behalf of majority, opened as under: (AIR para 15 page 67)

"15. The offence punishable under section 354 is an assault on or use of criminal force to a woman with the intention of outraging her modesty or with the knowledge of the likelihood of doing so. The Code does not define, 'modesty'. What then is a woman's modesty?

62. It is settled position of law that a conviction can be based entirely on the statement of a rape victim, a detailed discussion on this subject is to be found in Vijay @ Chinee v. State of Madhya Pradesh4, as, thus, the law that emerges on the issue is to the effect that the statement of the prosecutrix if found to be worthy of credence, and reliable, requires no corroboration. The court may convict the accused on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix. She stands at a higher pedestal than an injured witness. (Vide: Phool Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh5, Ganesan v. State Rep. By its Inspector6, State of Himachal Pradesh v. Raghubir Singh7, Wahid Khan v. State of Madhya Pradesh8, Rai Sandeep @ Deepu v. State9, State of Rajasthan v. Babu Meen10, Mohd. Iqbal v. State of Jharkhand11, and Md. Ali v. State of U.P.12)

63. It is a well settled proposition of law that a prosecutrix cannot be considered to be an accomplice. As a rule of prudence, courts should normally look for some corroboration of her testimony in order to satisfy itself that the prosecutrix is telling the truth and that a person, accused of rape, has not been falsely implicated. There is no rule of law that her testimony cannot be relied upon without corroboration. It has also been laid down that the type of corroboration required must necessarily vary with the circumstances of each case and also according to the particular circumstances of the offence. However, if the court may find it difficult to accept the testimony of the prosecutrix, it may search for evidence, direct or circumstantial, which would lend assurance to her testimony. (Vide: Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan13, Sidheshwar Ganguly v. State of West Bengal14, Gurcharan Singh v. State of Haryana15, Modho Ram & Anr. v. State of U.P.16, State of Maharashtra v. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain17, Modam Gopal Kakkad v. Naval Dubey & Anr.18, State of Rajasthan v. Shri Narayan19, Karnel Singh v. State of M.P.20, Bodhisattwa Gautam v. Miss Subhra Chakraborty21, State of Punjab v. Gurmit Singh & Ors.22 and State of U.P. v. Pappu @ Yunus & Anr.23)

64. It is settled legal proposition that while appreciating the evidence of a witness, minor discrepancies on trivial matters, which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, may not prompt the Court to reject the evidence in its entirety. (Vide: State of Rajasthan v. Om Prakash24, State of U.P. v. M. K. Anthony25, State v. Saravanan & Anr.26)

65. It is a settled proposition of law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions, and discrepancies, the entire evidence cannot be disregarded. After exercising care and caution and sifting the evidence to separate the truth from untruth, exaggeration and improvements, the court comes to a conclusion as to whether the residuary evidence is sufficient to convict the accused. Thus, an undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions, and discrepancies which do not go to the heart of the matter and shake the basic version of the prosecution witness. As the mental capabilities of a human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statement of witnesses. (Vide: Sohrab & Anr. v. State of M.P.27, Bharwada Bhogini Bhai Hirji Bhai v. State of Gujarat28, Prithu @ Prithi Chand & Anr. v. State of Himachal Pradesh29, and State of U.P. v. Santosh Kumar & Ors.30)

66. The delay in lodging the FIR in a sexual assault cannot normally affect the prosecution case, as held by the Supreme Court in various judgments, but where there is an inordinate delay in registration of the FIR, in such circumstances, it casts a cloud of suspicion on the credibility of the entire prosecution story and such type of delay would certainly be regarded as fatal to the prosecution case and thus, the whole prosecution case is under the cloud of suspicion and doubt. (Vide: Satyapal v. State of Haryana31, Karnel Singh v. State of M.P.32)

67. The absence of injuries on the body of the prosecutrix, generally, gives rise to an inference that she was a consenting party to coitus and shows that the prosecutrix did not resist but the absence of injuries is not by itself sufficient to hold that the prosecutrix was a consenting party. (Vide: Gurcharan Singh v. State of Haryana33, Devinder Singh & Ors. v. State of Himachal Pradesh34)

68. It is trite law that conviction cannot be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix, which is inconsistent and unsupported by the medical evidence and evidence of other witnesses. (Vide: Sadashiv Ramrao Hadbe v. State of Maharashtra & Anr.35, Dilip & Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh36, Vimal Suresh Kamble v. Chaluverapinake Apal S.P. & Anr.37, Yerumalla Latchaiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh38, Mohd. Habib v. State39, Zahroor Ali v. State of U.P.40, State of Karnataka v. Mapilla P. P. Soapi41)

69. In Sadashiv Ramrao Hadbe (supra), in this case, the version given by the prosecutrix was unsupported by medical evidence and the surrounding circumstances. No injury was found on the body and the private parts of the prosecutrix. Even the doctor who examined her was unable to give any opinion about the alleged sexual intercourse. The Supreme Court had held that the appellant was entitled to the benefit of doubt and conviction was set aside.

70. In Dilip (supra), the Supreme Court disbelieved the statement of the prosecutrix, as it was contradicted by the statement of her own aunt and the medical evidence, as well as the report of the forensic science laboratory and had observed that the probabilities factor operated against the prosecutrix as it came on the record that she had stated that she could not resist the two accused persons who had allegedly raped her as she was over-awed at that time. The prosecutrix had complained that she had sustained injuries and had also bled from her private part which was not corroborated by the medical evidence and also no semen was found on the vaginal swab.

71. In Vimal Suresh Kamble (supra), the Supreme Court discarded the evidence of the prosecutrix since it did not appear to be natural and truthful. Her conduct after alleged rape was considered to be unnatural and not believable. There was also a delay in lodging the FIR and the medical evidence did not support the report of the chemical analyst, as the prosecutrix had taken bath on the day of the alleged rape, and hence it would have been known to her that this would have caused for the evidence to disappear.

72. In Yerumalla Latchaiah (supra), the Supreme Court disbelieved the prosecutrix since no injury was found on the body part of the victim, hymen was found intact and the vaginal smear did not detect any semen on them.

73. In Mohd. Habib (supra) a Division Bench of Delhi High Court had rejected the testimony of the 21 year old prosecutrix as it was found to be unreliable since there was no inflammation or redness on the private part of the girl, nor was there any injury on the male organ and the testimony of the eye witness did not corroborate the version of the prosecutrix. It had been further observed that the prosecutrix had not given any explanation as to why her mother who had come to the spot immediately after the occurrence, who might have known about the entire events as it might have been told to her by the prosecutrix was not produced or examined. The swab of the vagina of the prosecutrix also did not show any seminal stain.

74. In the State of Karnataka v. Mapilla (supra), the Supreme Court had observed that the prosecution had not produced any medical report regarding the examination of PW-3. There was no evidence whatsoever to show that the doctor did prepare a medical report, hence the testimony of the prosecutrix was not believed. It was further disbelieved the prosecutrix as the alleged rape had taken place in the proximity of many neighbours and therefore, it could not be accepted that no one came after hearing the cries of the prosecutrix.

75. Having noticed the contentions of learned amicus curiae and learned AGA and having taken a glimpse of the evidence on record, now I will weigh the arguments of learned amicus curiae for the appellant. The arguments are three fold; firstly; the FIR of the present case was lodged after an unexplained delay of 30 hours of the incident because of consultation, and deliberation whereas police had reached the door step immediately after the incident and called the victim. Secondly; the prosecution case is based on solitary testimony of the victim and thirdly; the evidence of victim is not trustworthy, cogent and reliable.

76. As per prosecution case the incident was took place at 8:30 p.m.- 9:00 p.m. on 10.11.2008, PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma had reached at the place of incident and he saw the incident, saved the victim from the appellant. The FIR was lodged by the victim on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m. under Section 354, IPC and the appellant had been arrested on 12.11.2008 at 8:00 a.m. from the place of the incident. On 27.11.2008, the Section 376/511, IPC was added on the basis of statement of the victim as well as PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma recorded under Section 161 Cr. PC.

77. Learned amicus curiae is assailing the judgment firstly, there are material contradictions between the evidence of PW-1 victim and PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma with regard to the fact of lodging the FIR, as urged that the FIR was lodged after consultation and deliberation because PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey had come at the place of the incident immediately after the incident, which is taken place on 10.11.2008 at 9:00 p.m. and PW-3 called the victim and the appellant had been arrested on 10/11/11/2008 at 2:30 a.m. but the FIR was lodged on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m. after about 30 hours of the incident.

78. There is inconsistency between the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 with regard to lodging the FIR, PW-1 stated that PW-1 was lodged the FIR on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m. after waiting her nephew, on the other hand, PW-2 stated that he reached the place of occurrence, saved the victim from the appellant, dialed 100 number and met with PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey who came to the place of the incident and presented the victim and he told the police about the offence of theft and lodged the FIR against the appellant.

79. Furthermore, PW-2 stated that the appellant was arrested on 10/11.11.2008 at 2:30 a.m. from the room of the house of S.K. Sharma which had been opened by the appellant by a trowel, he interrupted on which the appellant told that he was repairing the stool but PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey stated that the appellant was arrested on 12.11.2008.

80. After a close scrutiny of the evidence, many other inconsistencies have been surfaced i.e. there is overwriting in the complaint (Ex.Ka.-1) and chik FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) by the overwriting, date of the complaint, number of crime have been changed, G.D. Rapat (Ex.Ka.-5) has no number, date or time, name of the scribe is not mentioned in the complaint, PW-1 victim stated that she did not know the name of scribe of the complaint, there is no date on which copy of the FIR (Ex.Ka.-4) has been sent to the jurisdictional Magistrate.

81. The second limb of the argument is that the prosecution case wholly depends on the sole testimony of PW-1, because no one has seen the evidence, because there are material inconsistencies in this regard between the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2.

82. There are material contradictions with regard to presence of PW-2 who claim himself as an eye witness of the incident. As per prosecution case the incident was taken place nearby the main gate of the house in the lawn, at that time owner of the house was not present in the house PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma and one person, who came to the house of Ratan Kant Sharma, reached the spot after hearing the alarm. PW-1 stated in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. that on her crying an advocate, whose name she did not know, reached there. But on the other hand PW-1 victim stated in her cross-examination that PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma and Ratan Kant Sharma reached on her screaming after 15 minutes and no other person except them reached. It is significance that the appellant fled away from the spot who was in drunken position, after reaching the two person.

83. PW-1 stated that PW-2 resided 2-3 houses away from the place of the incident, on the other hand PW-2 stated that he resided in the back portion of the house. He further stated that he awoke after hearing noise of the daughter of Judge Chandra, who lived behind, when he came out, and saw the appellant was lying down over the victim in a bush at that time the appellant was naked. PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey stated that the victim had not told him that the appellant put off his clothes. PW-1 victim had also not stated before the trial court that the appellant put off his clothes. PW-2 further stated that the incident took place in a bush, as per victim the incident took place after entering in main gate of the house and then in the mid of the lawn, where there were no tree or bush as corroborated by PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey, who prepared the site plan (Ex.Ka.-2) on instance of the victim.

84. Learned amicus curiae further urged that the solitary ocular testimony of PW-1 does not appear reliable and does not inspire confidence in the prosecution case, because there is material inconsistencies with regard to the incident, place of the incident and injury of the victim, there is no medical report of the victim.

85. PW-1 victim stated that she had told the police about the facts of holding chest and attempt of penetration, but it is not written in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr. PC. as corroborated by PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey who stated that tearing of the blouse, pressing chest, and attempting to do intercourse is not mentioned in statement of the victim because the victim did not tell so.

86. PW-2 Uma Kant Sharma stated that he saw the appellant lying down over the victim in a bush, but on the other hand, as per PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey the incident took place on the mid of the lawn, there was no tree or bush.

87. There is no medical examination report of the victim. PW-1 victim stated that she sustained abrasions on her both knees and hands, because she kept fighting for 10-15 minutes with the appellant. She further stated in her statement under Section 164 Cr. PC. that the appellant after grabbing her tightly pulled her hair and torn all her clothes, after dragging her from the gate he went towards the bush and took off all his clothes, and tried to rape. In spite of that she was not medically examined herself because she recieved no injury as stated by PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey that he did not get her medical examination done because there was no injury and abrasion on the body of the victim.

88. It is not the duty of the defence to explain as to how and why in a sexual assault case the victim has falsely implicated the appellant. The evidence of prosecutrix cannot be accepted merely because the appellant has not been able to say as to why she has come forward to depose against him.

89. The findings of fact recorded by a court be held to be perverse has been dealt with and considered in Babu v. State of Kerala, (2010) 9 SCC 189 in paragraph 20, which is as under:

"20. The findings of fact recorded by a court can be held to be perverse if the findings have been arrived at by ignoring or excluding relevant material or by taking into consideration irrelevant/inadmissible material. The finding may also be said to be perverse if it is "against the weight of evidence', or if the finding so outrageously defies logic as to suffer from the vice of irrationality. (Vide: Rajinder Kumar Kindra v. Delhi Admin.42, Excise & Taxation Officer-cum-Assessing Authority v. Gopi Nath & Sons*43,* Triveni Rubber & Plastics v. CCE4*4,* Gaya Din v. Hanuman Prasad*45,* Aruvelu v. State*46* and Gomini Bala Koteswara Rao v. State of A.P.47)"

90. On a totality of the consideration of entire evidence and keeping in mind the settled position of law, I am unhesitatingly of the opinion that the testimony of PW-1 victim, PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma is unreliable. The prosecution evidence is not covincing. In support of this conclusion regard be had to the following circumstances:

(a) As per occular evidence the appellant was arrested on 10/11.11.2009 at 2:30 a.m. and the police had come at the place of the incident after calling 100 number and the victim called by the police, but the FIR has been lodged after 30 hours of the incident on 12.11.2008 at 6:10 a.m. despite the fact that the police were present at the door-step. In addition to that, PW-2 lodged a FIR with regard to fact of theft against the appellant immediately after the incident as he stated.

(b) There is no date for sending the copy of the FIR to jurisdictional Magistrate.

(c) There is overwriting in the complaint and the FIR with regard to the date of the complaint, case crime no. Name of the scribe did not disclosed by the prosecution.

(d) After recieving injuries by the victim as stated, no medical examination was conducted. However, she did not recieve any injury as stated by PW-3 and PW-4.

(e) The prosecution has not established the place of the incident as noticed above and there is inconsistency between the statement of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 in this regard. (f) As per prosecution case, the offence under Section 376/511, IPC has been added on 27.11.2008 after recording the statement of the witnesses after 17 days of the incident.

(g) The statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. having no date of its recording before the Magistrate, however PW-3 endorsed the same in case diary on 28.11.2008. It is surprising fact that PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey stated that the statement under Section 161 Cr. PC. as well the application which has been moved by him before the Magistrate to see the statement are not on record, but these documents are available on record.

(h) The statement recorded under Section 164 Cr. PC. and application aforesaid are on record as paper no. A-6/23 inspite of that the prosecution had not proved the signature of the victim before the trial court.

(i) As noticed above that there are material inconsistencies with regard to the lodging of FIR, the presence of PW-2 Dr. Uma Kant Sharma, place of the incident, fact of attempting rape.

91. Following aspects emerge from the discussion on the prosecution evidence:

(i) PW-2 neither witnessed the incident nor he reached the place of occurrence. The victim did not recieved any injury. The appellant was arrested on 10/11.11.2008 at 2:30 a.m. (on the date of the incident) from the room of the house by PW-2. This gives rise to two possibilities. One, no incident took place at 9:00 p.m. Two, the incident of theft took place in the night of 10/11.11.2008 and PW-2 called the police, PW-3 SI Ranjit Dubey arrested the appellant. Three, the victim was consenting party after seeing by someone she lodged the FIR after 30 hours of the incident.

(ii) The aforesaid possibilities derive strength from the delay in lodging the FIR despite the presence of police at the place of the incident after calling, and reached there and called the victim. In addition to that the incident took place on the mid of the lawn, which is open place.

92. On the basis of the facts and circumstances discussed above, an inferrence can easily be drawn that the prosecution case is wholly based on sole testimony of PW-1 victim and the evidence of the victim does not inspire confidence. Therefore, the entire genesis of the case is in serious doubt in view of the contradictions and material inconsistencies.

93. The contrary view taken by the trial court is against the weight of the evidence. I hardly find objective evaluation, analysis, or scrutiny of the testimony in a proper persepective. The serious infirmities pointed out by the defence raising doubt with regard to the prosecution case have been brushed aside by the learned trial judge by simply stating that the delay in lodging the FIR does not affects the prosecution case and there is no material contradictions in the prosection evidence. The trial court, in my view, was not right and justified in lightly brushing aside the contradictions and omissions borne out from the prosecution evidence, that too, when the entire prosecution rested on a sole testimony, PW-1 victim.

94. For all the reasons recorded and discussed above, I am of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to prove the charge of offences punishable under Section 354, 376/511, IPC against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. As the evidence on record does not bring home the guilt of the appellant beyond the pale of doubt, the appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt. Consequently, the appellant is entitled to be acquitted of all the charges for which he was tried.

95. As a result, the criminal appeal is allowed. The judgment and order of conviction as well as sentence recorded by the trial court is set aside. The appellant is acquitted of all the charges for which he has been tried. The appellant is released after completing the sentence as awarded by the trial court as informed by learned amicus curiae and AGA.

96. The trial court record be returned forthwith together with a certified copy of this judgment.

The State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 32(1)- Dying Declaration- Multiple Dying Declarations- The statement recorded by the police has lesser important than the statement recorded by the Tehsildar, doctor or any other person as it is generally signed by the scriber (sic) and doctor and the patient itself but if there is no such statement and she is (sic) died on account of the injuries caused to her in the incident, the statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. becomes relevant and the conviction can be solely based upon such statement if it inspire (sic) confidence- While relying on the dying declaration, the court has to look into whether the statement was given by the victim voluntarily - As PW-7 stated that hospital employees and neighbours were not present in the room, it cannot be said that the statement given by the victim was under any duress, tutoring or prompting.

Merely because the dying declaration of the deceased was recorded by the investigating officer and not by the Magistrate or Doctor, would not render the same inadmissible and conviction of the accused can be secured solely upon the basis of the said dying declaration provided the same has been made voluntarily and without any coercion or tutoring.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 32(1)- Dying Declaration- Multiple Dying Declarations- When there are multiple dying declaration (sic), such dying declaration becomes doubtful but where there are inconsistency (sic) and contradictory statements in the dying declaration (sic), they should be examined in the light of surrounding and corroborating evidence, therefore, the multiple dying declaration cannot be thrown away on the very threshold. The only rider is that the multiple dying declaration should be examined in the light of other evidence produced by the prosecution during the trial or appeal.

Only when there are inconsistencies and contradictions in multiple dying declarations that the court has to look for corroboration.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 32(1)- Dying Declaration- PW-1 and PW-2 are not eye witnesses of the fact and they were not present when the appellants set the victim ablazed (sic). Therefore, if there is omission in the manner of incident in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 that is immaterial because the statement of victim is intact regarding the manner of incident. It is also pertinent to mention here that the victim herself given (sic) only one statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and no other than this statement is recorded by any other person. Therefore we are not agree (sic) with the argument of learned counsel that there are multiple dying declarations- From the evidence on record, it is found that dying declaration by the statement of victim recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and relied by the Court under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act are (sic) reliable evidence and the evidence is corroborated by the medical evidence as well as the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2.

It is only the statement made by the deceased before her death and which is intact and trustworthy, that is relevant and admissible u/s 32 (1) of the Evidence Act while statements of other witnesses are immaterial.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 154- Hostile Witness- PW-3 is declared hostile by ADGC- It is settled proposition of law that the statement of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent that he supports the prosecution case.

Settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 134- It is the prerogative of the prosecution to prove their case by single witness or the multiple witnesses and it is the reliability and credibility of the witnesses and not the number.

It is the quality and not quantity of evidence, which is relevant. (Para 41, 50, 53, 58, 59, 62, 63)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Renu Agarwal, J.)

1. The present criminal appeal No. 2362 of 2018 has been filed on behalf of appellant-Ram Gopal @ Guddu under Section 374(2) Cr.P.C. against the judgment and order dated 24.10.2018 passed by Mukesh Kumar Singh, Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge Anti Corruption, Court No. 6, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No. 1042 of 2010 (State Vs. Ram Gopal @ Guddu), arising out of Case Crime No. 168 of 2010, under Sections 147, 302 IPC, Police Station Hasanganj, District Lucknow, convicting and sentencing the appellants to undergo imprisonment for two years under Section 147 IPC and further convicting and sentencing the appellants to undergo imprisonment for life and fine of Rs. 5000/- under Section 302 read with 34 IPC and in default of payment of fine to undergo a further period of three months additional imprisonment in addition.

2. Criminal Appeal No. 1993 of 2018 has been filed on behalf of appellat-Munnu Pandit @ Mahesh Kumar against the judgment and order dated 24.10.2018 whereby the appellant-Munnu Pandit @ Mahesh has been convicted and sentenced as above.

3. Criminal appeal No. 2242 of 2018 has been filed on behalf of appellants, Pappu, Mangla, Smt. Radha and Kamla Devi against the judgment and order dated 24.10.2018 whereby the appellants have been convicted and sentenced as above.

4. Feeling aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and order dated 24.10.2018, the accused-appellants have preferred the aforesaid three appeals. Since, common factual matrix and law involved in the aforementioned appeals and they have been filed against the same impugned judgment, therefore, they are being decided by a common order.

5. Wrapping the facts in brief is that the complainant of the case Lal Ji lodged an FIR to the effect that on 25.04.2010 Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu Sons of Mahavir, Mangla daughter of Mahavir, Munnu Pandit and wives of Guddu @ Ram Gopal and Pappu called and carried his mother to the house of accused-Ram Gopal @ Guddu and sprinkling kerosene oil upon her, set her ablaze. Her mother was badly injured. He admitted his mother in serious condition in Civil Hospital, Hazaratganj, Lucknow with the assistance of his neighbours. Neighbours Shravan Kumar Dixit S/o Ramesh Chandra Dixit, Sanjay Kumar S/o Laddan Gupta and my wife Ramawati Devi had seen the whole incident and tried to save his mother. On hue and cry, many of his neighbours gathered at the place of occurrence. His mother is hospitalized and later on died due to injuries caused by the accused persons.

6. On the basis of written report, a Case Crime No. 168 of 2010, under Sections 307 IPC, Police Station Hasanganj, District Lucknow was registered on 25.04.2010 and after the death of injured Durga Devi again a written information was given by the complainant to the police station that his mother died due to injuries caused by the accused.

7. Autopsy of the deceased was conducted by Hasanganj police and on the same day, the deceased was sent for getting postmortem through Constable Chandra Kumar, Police Station Hazaratganj, Lucknnow. The fact is recorded in "Nakal Rapat' No. 49 at 20:50 dated 01.05.2010, alongwith necessary papers, memo, copy of GD, copy of report, photonash, Chalannash, namuna nash. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of injured Smt. Durga Devi and prepared the site plan and after collecting the sufficient evidences against the accused, filed chargehseet no. 162 of 2010 in the Court concerned.

8. The Magistrate concerned had taken cognizance of the case and summoned the accused persons and committed the case to the court of Sessions after compliance of provisions under Section 207 of the Cr.P.C. On the basis of written report, the chik report was prepared and endorsed in GD no. 35 at about 16:40 hours.

9. The accused were summoned by the court of Sessions and charge framed under Section 302 read with Section 149 Cr.P.C. against Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu, Mangla, Munnu Pandit @ Mahesh Kumar, Radha and Kamla and read over to accused. The accused abjured from the charges levelled against them and claimed to be tried.

10. In order to prove this case against accused, prosecution adduced 9 witnesses, namely, PW-1 Lal Ji, the complainant of the case, PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit, eye witness of the case and witness of fact, who tried to save the deceased, PW-3 Neeraj, PW-4 Dr. S.N. Pandey who conducted postmortem in the body. PW-5 HCP Asharaf Ali Khan who prepared the chik report and GD, PW-6 SI Kameshwar Singh who prepared the inquest and conducted autopsy, PW-7 SI Shambhu

Nath Tiwari who recorded the statement of witnesses, inspected and prepared the site plan and recovered the towel and "Dhibari' and prepared recovery memo thereof (Exhibit-Ka-12), PW-8 SHO Vinay Kumar Gautam who recorded the statement of accused Ram Gopal @ Guddu son of Mahavir, Kamla W/o Pappu, Mangla W/o Ram Chandra and recorded the statements of witnesses of inquest, namely, Srilal, Ram Adhar, Ram Kumar, Budharam and Santram. He recorded the statement of witnesses Rameshwar, Tuntun and Rajesh Kumar and scriber of the FIR and statements of SI Shambhu Nath Tiwari and SI Rameshwar Singh and Constable Bheemsen and filed chargesheet.

The prosecution adduced and proved the following papers:

(i) Written reports, Exhibit Ka-1 and Ka-2

(ii) Inquest report, Exhibit Ka-6

(iii) Site Plan, Exhibit Ka-12

(iv) Copy of GD, Exhibit Ka-5

(v) Chalan Nash, Exhibit Ka-7

(vi) Photo Nash, Exhibit Ka-8

(vii) Specimen Seal, Exhibit Ka-9

(viii) Letter to Kotwali, Hazaratganj, Lucknow, Exhibit Ka-10

(ix) Death report, Exhibit-Ka11

(x) Chargesheet, Exhibit Ka-14

11. After conclusion of the evidence, the statements of the accused recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. All the accused denied from the commission of crime and stated that they are falsely implicated due to enmity. Accused Ram Gopal stated that he was not present at the place of occurrence as he went to Kanpur for purchasing Coconut in answer to the question no. 2.

12. After perusal of the record and hearing of the submissions advanced by the learned Government Counsel and learned Counsel for the accused, the trial court reached to the conclusion that all the accused are named in the First Information Report. The Investigating Officer recorded the statement of the injured Smt. Durga Devi on the same day on which day the incident occurred i.e. 25.04.2010 and learned court treated the statement of injured as her dying declaration under Section 162(2) of Cr.P.C and Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act as she died due to injuries caused to her by the said accused. Learned trial court found that deceased stated about the role of all the six accused and their participation in the incident. PW-2, Shravan Kumar Dixit is an independent witness who corroborated the testimony of the deceased Durga Devi. Recovery of Towel and "Dhibari' was made from the threshold of the house of the accused Ram Gopal, therefore, the court convicted and sentenced all the six accused persons under Section 302 read with 34 IPC and punished them accordingly.

13. Heard Sri Arun Sinha, learned counsel for the appellants in the present appeal as well as in Criminal Appeal No. 2242 of 2018, Sri Amarjeet Singh Rakhra, learned counsel for the appellant in Criminal Appeal No. 1993 of 2018, Sri Arunendra, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State and perused the record.

14. Learned counsel for appellant-Munnu Pandit @ Mahesh Kumar argued that he is not named in the FIR. He is not implicated in the case. No role is assigned to him during the course of incident. He has no motive to commit the crime. PW-3 is completely hostile and PW-2 who is said to be eye witness of the incident also denied his role in the commission of crime.

15. Learned counsel for rest of the appellants stated that learned court below misinterpreted the evidence as there is no dying declaration of the deceased. The date of incident is said to be 25.04.2010 and the deceased expired on 01.05.2010. There was ample time to record the statement of the deceased in the form of dying declaration but the Investigating Officer made no effort to do so and the trial court relied on the statement of the deceased while being alive recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. There are many discrepancies in the statement the deceased herself and the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 recorded in the course of trial.

16. On the contrary, learned AGA vehemently opposed the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the appellants and stated that PW-2, alongwith PW-3 and two others, namely, Sanjay and Vikki was standing in front of his house with the intention to have a bath in the river when he saw the incident and tried to save the victim and took the victim, injured to the hospital. The statement of the victim was recorded by the Investigating Officer on very day of incident in hospital which was rightly believed by the trial court. The judgment passed by the trial court is in consonance with the facts and law and is liable to be uphold.

17. The PW-1, Lal ji stated on oath that accused Ram Gopal, Pappu and their wives Radha, Kamla and sister Mangla took her mother forcibly to their house, tied her hands, sprinkled kerosene oil and set her ablazed. His mother came out of their house raising alarm to save her. Shravan Kumar Dixit , PW-2 alongwith other neighbours gathered and informed the police. The complainant was informed by one Tuntun, brother of Shravan Kumar, about the incident. He reached to Daliganj bridge on the information received from Tuntun, the brother of Shravan Kumar Dixit where Shravan Kumar Dixit was taking his mother to the Trauma Centre, Medical College, Lucknow. Doctor refused to admit her and referred her to Balrampur Civil Hospital. The victim was carried to Civil Hospital Balrampur by police Jeep and got her admitted, then the complainant lodged the FIR in the concerned police station. This witness proved the written report as Exhibit Ka-1. It is also stated by this witness that his mother informed him before her death that Ram Gopal, Pappu and their wives and sister Mangla set her ablazed. He alleged that there was previous enmity between his mother and the accused as the accused wanted to grab her house and have also taken the earnest money for her house.

18. PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit deposed that he was standing in front of his house alongwith Vikki, Neeraj, Sanjay and Kapil. Ram Gopal called Durga Devi, the deceased to his house. After some time, Durga Devi came out of the house in burning condition followed by accused Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu, Mangla, Munnu Pandit, Radha and Kamla who were threatening her. He alongwith his friends tried to save the victim by their Towel. They too sustained injuries by "Danda' inflicted by Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu, Mangla, Munnu Pandit, Radha and Kamla. They rescued the victim to Balrampur hospital. On the way, he was told by the victim Durga Devi that Ram Gopal called her to his house, where Mangla, Munnu Pandit, Radha and Kamla were already present. All of them sprinkled kerosene oil on her and set her ablazed. Both hand of the victim were tied with piece of cloth which he released. PW-2 stated that she was taken to said hospital by police jeep and during the treatment she expired on 01.05.2010. The witness identified all the accused during the trial in the court. PW-3 Neeraj was declared hostile by AGDC, however he stated that when he came out from his house, he saw a woman buring and people were gathered around her. He stopped for 5 to 10 minutes and then he went away.

19. PW-4 Dr. S.N. Pandey, Senior consultant, radiologist conducted the autopsy of the body of the deceased in the mortuary of medical university, Lucknow on 01.05.2010 at 2:40 p.m. which was brought by Constable 1670 Bheemsen and Head Constable 1817 Chandra Kumar.

20. Following antemortem injuries were found on the body of deceased:

(i) Superficial to deep septic burn would present on all over the body except both buttock sacral region public region, both back of thigh and both leg with both sole.

(ii) Pus slugh debris with unhealthy granulation tissues present in burn wound. On opening and section cutting of both lung, liver, spleen and both kidneys.

(iii)Multiple pus foci seen at places. Membranes, brain and pleura, left lung and pericardium congested. The death of deceased opined by the doctor "due to septisemia as a result of antemortem burn wound".

21. PW-5 HCP Ashraf Ali deposed in Court that on 25.04.2010 at about 16:50 p.m., Lal Ji son of Late Rameshwar submitted a written report sighed by him on police station. On the basis of written report, Crime No. 168 of 2010, under Section 307 IPC was registered against Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu, Mangla, Munnu Pandit, Radha and Kamla. The written report was endorsed in GD No. 35 at 16:50 p.m. by Head Constable Ram Prakash Prajapati as Exhibit Ka-5 and investigation was handed over to SI Shambhu Nath Tiwari.

22. PW-6 SI Kameshwar Singh deposed that he conducted autopsy on the body of the deceased in the presence of witnesses and proved the inquest report as Exhibit Ka-6.

23. PW-7 SI Shambhu Nath Tiwari deposed in Court that he recorded the statements of the witnesses and wife of the complainant and recovered "Dhibari' and Towel from the house of the accused Ram Gopal and prepared recovery memo as Exhibit Ka-12.

24. PW-8 SHO Vinay Kumar Gautam stated on oath that he arrested the accused and recorded the statements of witnesses of inquest and statements of Rameshwar, Tuntun and Rajesh.

25. When the accused were asked to adduce evidence in their defence, the accused adduced DW-1 Ramesh Chandra Srivastava who deposed in Court that he was not summoned by the Court but accused Munnu was present in his house and joined the uninterrupted recital of Ramcharitmanas. He remained there from 7:00 a.m. till 8 to 9 p.m. alongwith his family members.

DISCUSSIONS:

26. PW-1 is not eye witness. It transpires from the record that he was informed by Tuntun, the brother of Shravan

Kumar Dixit, PW-2 regarding the incident and when he reached to the bridge of Daliganj, Shravan Kumar was taking his mother to Trauma Centre, KGMU. PW-2 is eye witness who was standing in front of his house and was preparing for taking bath in river, when he saw the victim coming out from the house of the accused Ram Gopal in burning condition. Immediately they tried to put off fire by their Towel and carried her to Balrampur Hospital by Riksha to Trauma Centre and thereafter he accompanied victim and complainant to Civil Hospital, Balrampur alongwith police constables.

27. PW-3, however declared hostile but he proved this fact that when he came out from his house, he saw a woman in burning condition and there was crowed also.

28. Learned counsel for all the accused stated that there is no dying declaration as contemplated by the law and learned trial court treated the statement of victim recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by Investigation Officer as evidence under Section 162(2) Cr.P.C. and Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act. It also argued that there are multiple dying declaration. One is recorded by the Investigating Officer, the second which victim told to her son, the complainant after three days of incident and third she revealed the incident to PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit when he was taking her to KGMU. All the three dying declaration have sharp contradictions and they do not build confidence to be believed to the extent to convict, the accused in the crime. PW-1 admitted in his cross-examination that her mother told him that the accused sprinkled kerosene oil and set her ablazed, after three days of incident. PW-2 stated that the victim told him about this incident when he was taking her to Balrampur Hospital that Ram Gopal @ Guddu called her to his house where Pappu, Radha Devi, Kamala Devi, Mangala and Munnu all were already present and all of them collectively set her ablazed. Learned trial court mentioned the statement of the victim recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and made it part of judgment. Smt. Durga Devi, the injured stated that at about 02:30 p.m. when she was at her home, her cousin Ram Gopal @ Guddu, Pappu and her sister Mangla and wives of Ram Gopal @ Guddu and Pappu and their neighbour Munnu Pandit came and called her for consultation, as soon as she entered their house, all of them put plastic sheet on her and tied her hand, Ram Gopal sprinkled kerosene oil and when she shouted that what are they doing, the wife of Ram Gopal set her ablazed and her body started burning. Shouting and crying when she came out of the house, whole of her body had burnt. One of the boy put his towel on her and tried to put off the fire. She was crying, her daughter-in-law was weeping and the victim was admitted in hospital and she stated in her statement that she has no hope of life as the accused burnt her like monsters and her body was paining and throat is drying. The statement of victim was recorded on the date of occurrence itself, so there is no probability to distort the actual incident.

29. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that there are contradictions in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 as the PW-1 told that Pappu, Mangla, Smt. Radha and Kamla Devi came to call her while PW-2 stated that injured told him that Ram Gopal @ Guddu came to call her alone and Co-appellants Mangala, Radha, Kamla were sitting in the house, however, the deceased herself stated to the Investigating Officer that all the accused came to her house to call her. Of course there is discrepancies in the statements of PW-1, PW2 and in the statement of the victim given to Investigating Officer but in all the three statements, the presence of all the accused is found there. The statement recorded by the Investigating Officer is victim's first hand statement, however the statement given by PW-1 and PW-2 is reproduced by them on the basis of their memory.

30. It is pertinent to mention here that the statement of PW-1 is recorded on 21.01.2011 and concluded on 11.05.2011, approximately after one year of the incident. The statement of PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit was recorded from 26.05.2011 to 04.07.2013 in segments. However, the statement of victim was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on the date of incident, therefore, there is no reason to disbelieve the statement of victim. Moreover, it is also pertinent to mention that while recording the statement of the victim, the Investigating Officer recorded the demeanour of the victim also. The statement of the victim is also aspire confidence as in her own statement she stated that she has no hope of life and Hon'ble Apex Court held in several judgments that no one would lie on the last bed. The discrepancies in the statement of the PW-1 and PW-2 and the victim are not of such a nature that the statement of the victim could be disbelieved.

31. The deceased in her statement mentioned that accused tied her hands by plastic sheet that also corroborates by the evidence of PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit who stated in his statement that the hands of the victim were tied which she released thereafter. The deceased victim assigned the role of setting fire on the wife of Ram Gopal. Learned trial court explained that the accused Radha Devi is wife of Ram Gopal who was medically examined at time of arrest and abrasions were found on her head and nose which also proves her involvement in the commission of crime.

32. Learned trial court mentioned in its judgment that if the statement of the victim is recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 162(2) of Cr.P.C. and later on the victim expires due to the injuries caused, the statement shall be admissible in evidence under Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act. For ready reference Section 162(2) of the Cr.P.C. is quoted hereunder:

Section 162(2) in The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973

"(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to any statement falling within the provisions of clause (1) of section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872), or to affect the provisions of section 27 of that Act. Explanation.- An omission to state a fact or circumstance in the statement referred to in sub- section (1) may amount to contradiction if the same appears to be significant and otherwise relevant having regard to the context in which such omission occurs and whether any omission amounts to a contradiction in the particular context shall be a question of fact."

33. It is argued by learned counsel that the victim expired on 01.05.2010, seven days after the incident but no dying declaration recorded during this period which shows that there was no such injuries and no need to record the dying declaration.

34. It is true that the statement recorded by the police has lesser important than the statement recorded by the Tehsildar, doctor or any other person as it is generally signed by the scriber and doctor and the patient itself but if there is no such statement and she is died on account of the injuries caused to her in the incident, the statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. becomes relevant and the conviction can be solely based upon such statement if it inspire confidence. Section 32(1) of the Indian Evidence Act is quoted as under:

Section 32(1) in The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

"When it relates to cause of death-- When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question. Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question."

35. Learned counsel for the appellants relied upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court rendered in the case of Mehiboobsab Abbasabi Nadaf Vs. State of Karnataka reported in [(2007) 13 SCC 112], wherein Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

"Conviction can indisputably be based on a dying declaration. But, before it can be acted upon, the same must be held to have been rendered voluntarily and truthfully. Consistency in the dying declaration is the relevant factor for placing full reliance thereupon. In this case, the deceased herself had taken contradictory and inconsistent stand in different dying declarations. They, therefore, should not be accepted on their face value. Cation, in this behalf, is required to be applied.

36. Hon'ble Apex Court relying upon the case law of Balbir Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in [(2006) 12 SCC 283] and in the case of Muthu Kutty Vs. State reported in [(2005) 9 SCC 113] held: (Balbir Singh Case, SCC Page 291, Para 34 as under:

We are of the opinion that whereas the findings of the learned Sessions Judge as also the High Court in regard to the guilt of appellant I must be accepted, keeping in view the inconsistencies between the two dying declarations, benefit of doubt should be given to Appellant 2. We, however, uphold the conviction and sentence of both the appellants under Section 498-A IPC."

37. Learned counsel for the appellants relied upon the judgment given the case of State of Punjab Vs. Praveen Kumar in Criminal Appeal No. 633 of 1999 decided on 18.11.2004 published in Manupatra, wherein Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

"While appreciating the credibility of the evidence produced before the Court, the Court must view evidence as a whole and come to a conclusion as to its genuineness and truthfulness. The mere fact that two different versions are given but one name is common in both of them cannot be a ground for convicting the named person. The court must be satisfied that the dying declaration is truthful. If there are two dying declarations giving two different versions, a serious doubt is created about the truthfulness of the dying declaration. It may be that if there was any other reliable evidence on record, this Court could have considered such corroborative evidence to test the truthfulness of the dying declarations."

38. Learned counsel relied upon the case of Sanjay Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in [(2007) 9 SCC 148]. In this case Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

"In our opinion in view of the different dying declarations, it would not be safe to uphold the conviction of the appellant and we have to give him the benefit of doubt. It cannot be said in this case that prosecution has proved the appellant's guilt under Section 306 IPC of abetting the suicide beyond reasonable doubt."

39. Learned counsel for the appellants relied upon the judgment rendered in the case of Amol Singh Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in [(2008) 5 SCC 468], wherein Hon'ble Apex Court Ruled that:

"If the deceased had several opportunities of making such dying declarations, that is to say, if there are more than one dying declaration they should be consistent. However, if some inconsistencies are noticed between one dying declaration and the other, the Court has to examine the nature of the inconsistencies, namely, whether they are material or not. While scrutinizing the contents of various dying declarations, in such situation, the court has to examine the same in the light of the various surrounding facts and circumstances."

40. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that Hon'ble Supreme Court has decided that if there are multiple dying declaration, the dying declaration becomes doubtful and such a dying declaration cannot be relied upon for the conviction of the appellants.

41. We are agree with the point of learned counsel and the law laid down by the Apex Court that when there are multiple dying declaration, such dying declaration becomes doubtful but in all the law laid down and cited before this Court, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that where there are inconsistency and contradictory statements in the dying declaration, they should be examined in the light of surrounding and corroborating evidence, therefore, the multiple dying declaration cannot be thrown away on the very threshold. The only rider is that the multiple dying declaration should be examined in the light of other evidence produced by the prosecution during the trial or appeal.

42. In the instant case, the date of occurrence is 25.04.2010 and the victim expired on 01.05.2010 and the dying declaration as such argued by learned counsel for appellants is not recorded by Tehsildar, Doctor or any other person and the trial court treated the statement of victim under Section 161 Cr.P.C. as dying declaration as admissible under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act.

43. The victim told for the first time to PW-2 Shravan Kumar Dixit about the manner of incident and when PW-1, the son of the victim, joined him while PW-2 was carrying the victim to hospital, she also informed his son about the incident. PW-1 and PW-2 had reproduced in court what the victim told them. However, the statement of victim herself was recorded on the date of incident itself on 25.04.2010 and it was first hand information given to Investigating Officer. We are aware of the fact that any information passes through many person then some changes occurr in the subsequent statement.

44. PW-7, Shambhu Nath Tiwari deposed in Court that he recorded the statement of the victim in hospital and due to paucity of time, the statement of doctor was not recorded and the statement of victim could not be recorded in the presence of Magistrate. He also stated in his statement that victim was badly injured when he recorded her statement, hospital employees and neighbours of the victim were not present. They were outside of the room. This fact is also to be taken into account that Investigating Officer did not record the statement of victim in the form of dying declaration. He simply recorded the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., therefore the formalities to be at the time of dying declaration were not made. Later on when the victim died, the statement was read as dying declaration by the court. While relying on the dying declaration, the court has to look into whether the statement was given by the victim voluntarily as PW-7 stated that hospital employees and neighbours were not present in the room, it cannot be said that the statement given by the victim was under any duress, tutoring or prompting.

45. Hon'ble Apex Court in Para 3 of the judgment rendered in the case of Heikrujam Chaoba Vs. State of Manipur reported in [(1999) 8 SCC 458] has held as under:

"3.An oral dying declaration no doubt can form the basis of conviction, through the Courts seek for corroboration as a rule of prudence. But before the said declaration can be acted upon, the Court must be satisfied about the truthfulness of the same and that the said declaration was made by the deceased while he was in a fit condition to make the statement. The dying declaration has to be taken as a whole and the witness who deposes about such oral declaration to him must pass the scrutiny of reliability....."

46. Hon'ble Apex Court in the judgment given in the case of Uttam Vs. The State of Maharashtra in Criminal Appeal No. 485 of 2012 has held in Para nos. 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 21 and 23 as under:

12. In Kundula Bala Subrahmanyam and Another v. State of Andhra Pradesh reported in [(1993) 2 SCC 684]14, this Court had highlighted the significance of a dying declaration in the following words :

"18. Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act is an exception to the general rule that hearsay evidence is not admissible evidence and unless evidence is tested by cross-examination, it is not creditworthy. Under Section 32, when a statement is made by a person, as to the cause of death or as to any of the circumstances which result in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question, such a statement, oral or in writing, made by the deceased to the witness is a relevant fact and is admissible in evidence. The statement made by the deceased, called the dying declaration, falls in that category provided it has been made by the deceased while in a fit mental condition. A dying declaration made by person on the verge of his death has a special sanctity as at that solemn moment, a person is most unlikely to make any untrue statement. The shadow of impending death is by itself the guarantee of the truth of the statement made by the deceased regarding the causes or circumstances leading to his death. A dying declaration, therefore, enjoys almost a sacrosanct status, as a piece of evidence, coming as it does from the mouth of the deceased victim. Once the statement of the dying person and the evidence of the witnesses testifying to the same passes the test of careful scrutiny of the courts, it becomes a very important and a reliable piece of evidence and if the court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and free from any embellishment such a dying declaration, by itself, can be sufficient for recording conviction even without looking for any corroboration....."

13. In Shudhakar v. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in Shudhakar Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in [(2012) 7 SCC 569], this Court had opined that once a dying declaration is found to be reliable, it can form the basis of conviction and made the following observations :

"20. The "dying declaration" is the last statement made by a person at a stage when he is in serious apprehension of his death and expects no chances of his survival. At such time, it is expected that a person will speak the truth and only the truth. Normally in such situations the courts attach the intrinsic value of truthfulness to such statement. Once such statement has been made voluntarily, it is reliable and is not an attempt by the deceased to cover up the truth or falsely implicate a person, then the courts can safely rely on such dying declaration and it can form the basis of conviction. More so, where the version given by the deceased as dying declaration is supported and corroborated by other prosecution evidence, there is no reason for the courts to doubt the truthfulness of such dying declaration."

14. In Paniben (Smt.) v. State of Gujarat reported in [(1992) 2 SCC 474], on examining the entire conspectus of the law on the principles governing dying declaration, this Court had concluded thus :

"18. ..... (i) There is neither rule of law nor of prudence that dying declaration cannot be acted upon without corroboration. (Munnu Raja v. State of M.P. [(1976) 3 scc 104].

(ii) If the Court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and voluntary it can base conviction on it, without corroboration. (State of U.P. v. Ram Sagar Yadav [(1985) 1 SCC 552]; Ramawati Devi v. State of Bihar[(1983) 1 SCC 211].

(iii) This Court has to scrutinise the dying declaration carefully and must ensure that the declaration is not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination. The deceased had opportunity to observe and identify the assailants and was in a fit state to make the declaration. (K. Ramachandra Reddy v. Public Prosecutor [(1976) 3 SCC 618].

(iv) Where dying declaration is suspicious it should not be acted upon without corroborative evidence. (Rasheed Beg v. State of M.P.[(1974) 4 SCC 264].

(v) Where the deceased was unconscious and could never make any dying declaration the evidence with regard to it is to be rejected. (Kake Singh v. State of M. P.[(1981 Suppl. SCC 25].

(vi) A dying declaration which suffers from infirmity cannot form the basis of conviction. (Ram Manorath v. State of U.P.[(1981) 2 SCC 654].

(vii) Merely because a dying declaration does not contain the details as to the occurrence, it is not to be rejected. (State of Maharashtra v. Krishnamurti Laxmipati Naidu [(1980) Suppl. SCC 455].

(viii) Equally, merely because it is a brief statement, it is not be discarded. On the contrary, the shortness of the statement itself guarantees truth. (Surajdeo Oza v. State of Bihar[1980 Suppl. SCC 769].

(ix) Normally the court in order to satisfy whether deceased was in a fit mental condition to make the dying declaration look up to the medical opinion. But where the eye witness has said that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state to make this dying declaration, the medical opinion cannot prevail. (Nanahau Ram v. State of M.P. [1988 Suppl. SCC 152].

(x) Where the prosecution version differs from the version as given in the dying declaration, the said declaration cannot be acted upon. (State of U.P. v. Madan Mohan [(1989) 3 SCC 390].

47. 16. In Lakhan v. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in [(2010) 8 SCC 514, where the deceased was burnt by pouring kerosene oil on her and was brought to the hospital by the accused and his family members, the Court noticed that she had made two varying dying declarations and held thus :

"9. The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter called as "the Evidence Act") as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of the Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be direct i.e. it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

10. This Court has considered time and again the relevance/probative value of dying declarations recorded under different situations and also in cases where more than one dying declaration has been recorded. The law is that if the court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and made voluntarily by the deceased, conviction can be based solely on it, without any further corroboration. It is neither a rule of law nor of prudence that a dying declaration cannot be relied upon without corroboration. When a dying declaration is suspicious, it should not be relied upon without having corroborative evidence. The court has to scrutinise the dying declaration carefully and must ensure that the declaration is not the result of tutoring, prompting or imagination. The deceased must be in a fit state of mind to make the declaration and must identify the assailants. Merely because a dying declaration does not contain the details of the occurrence, it cannot be rejected and in case there is merely a brief statement, it is more reliable for the reason that the shortness of the statement is itself a guarantee of its veracity. If the dying declaration suffers from some infirmity, it cannot alone form the basis of conviction. Where the prosecution version differs from the version given in the dying declaration, the said declaration cannot be acted upon.

17. In Amol Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in [(2008) 5 SCC 468], when faced with two dying declarations containing inconsistencies, the approach to be adopted by the Court was summarized as under:

"13. Law relating to appreciation of evidence in the form of more than one dying declaration is well settled. Accordingly, it is not the plurality of the dying declarations but the reliability thereof that adds weight to the prosecution case. If a dying declaration is found to be voluntary, reliable and made in fit mental condition, it can be relied upon without any corroboration. The statement should be consistent throughout. If the deceased had several opportunities of making such dying declarations, that is to say, if there are more than one dying declaration they should be consistent. (See Kundula Bala Subrahmanyam v. State of A.P [(1993) 2 SCC 684]. However, if some inconsistencies are noticed between one dying declaration and the other, the court has to examine the nature of the inconsistencies, namely, whether they are material or not. While scrutinising the contents of various dying declarations, in such a situation, the court has to examine the same in the light of the various surrounding facts and circumstances."

18. In Sher Singh and Another v. State of Punjab reported in [(2008) 4 SCC 265] , this Court has held thus :

"16. Acceptability of a dying declaration is greater because the declaration is made in extremity. When the party is at the verge of death, one rarely finds any motive to tell falsehood and it is for this reason that the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with in case of a dying declaration. Since the accused has no power of cross-examination, the court would insist that the dyingdeclaration should be of such a nature as to inspire full confidence of the court in its truthfulness and correctness. The court should ensure that the statement was not as a result of tutoring or prompting or a product of imagination. It is for the court to ascertain from the evidence placed on record that the deceased was in a fit state of mind and had ample opportunity to observe and identify the culprit. Normally, the court places reliance on the medical evidence for reaching the conclusion whether the person making a dying declaration was in a fit state of mind, but where the person recording the statement states that the deceased was in a fit and conscious state, the medical opinion will not prevail, nor can it be said that since there is no certification of the doctor as to the fitness of mind of the declarant, the dying declaration is not acceptable. What is essential is that the person recording the dying declaration must be satisfied that the deceased was in a fit state of mind. Where it is proved by the testimony of the Magistrate that the declarant was fit to make the statement without there being the doctor's opinion to that effect, it can be acted upon provided the court ultimately holds the same to be voluntary and truthful. A certificate by the doctor is essentially a rule of caution and, therefore, the voluntary and truthful nature of a statement can be established otherwise."

21. In State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Veerpal and another reported in [(2022) 4 CSS 741], this Court has clarified that a dying declaration can be acted upon without any other corroboration and observed as below :

"16. Now, on the aspect, whether in the absence of any corroborative evidence, there can be a conviction relying upon the dying declaration only is concerned, the decision of this Court in Munnu Raja41, and the subsequent decision in Paniben v. State of Gujarat42, are required to be referred to. In the aforesaid decisions, it is specifically observed and held that there is neither a rule of law nor of prudence to the effect that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon without a corroboration. It is observed and held that if the Court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and voluntary it can base its conviction on it, without corroboration. Similar view has also been expressed in State of U.P. v. Ram Sagar Yadav [(1985) 1 SCC 552 and Ramawati Devi v. State of Bihar [(1983) 1 SCC 211]. Therefore, there can be a conviction solely based upon the dying declaration without corroboration."

23. In Arvind Singh Vs. State of Bihar reported in [(2001) 6 SCC 407], this Court has held that:

"Dying declaration should be dealt with care and caution and corroboration thereof, though not essential, is expedient in order to strengthen the evidentiary value of the declaration. Even where independent witnesses may not be available, all the precautions should be taken when it comes to acceptance of such a statement as trustworthy evidence. In other words, even though direct evidence may not be available, circumstantial evident without a break in the chain of events, would add weight to the evidentiary value of the dying declaration."

48. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that PW-1 did not mention the name of Mannu Pandit in his statement and merely mentioned the name of appellant Ram Gopal, Pappu and their wives and sister Mangla, however PW-2 did not mention the name of Pappu and included the name of Munnu Pandit. So far as the statement of victim is concerned, she stated the name of all the accused including Munnu pandit and Pappu. Therefore, (i)there is contradiction in the statements of both the witnesses and the statement of the victim (ii)It is argued that PW-1 and PW-2 did not clarify the roles of the appellants individually, however the victim stated that Ram Gopal sprinkled kerosene oil and his wife set her ablazed and there is omission in the statement of PW-1 and PW-2 regarding this fact (iii) PW-1 and PW-2 did not mention the use of "Panni' (Polythene), however victim herself stated that as soon as she entered the house of appellant, all the accused covered her with a plastic Panni, therefore it is argued that there is omission of use of plastic panni in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 and omission of the name of Munnu Pandit and Pappu in the statement of PW-2 and PW-1 respectively.

49. Now while considering the evidence on record, as it is said earlier, that the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 is secondary statement while the statement of the victim is first hand statement given on the same day of incident and she named all the appellants in her statement, therefore, if the name of Pappu and Munnu is omitted in the evidence PW-1 and PW-2 cannot be given much importance.

50. So far as the manner of putting her on fire is concerned, PW-1 and PW-2 are not eye witnesses of the fact and they were not present when the appellants set the victim ablazed. Therefore, if there is omission in the manner of incident in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 that is immaterial because the statement of victim is intact regarding the manner of incident. It is also pertinent to mention here that the victim herself given only one statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and no other than this statement is recorded by any other person. Therefore we are not agree with the argument of learned counsel that there are multiple dying declarations. The statement of the victim is recorded once for all during the investigation. Therefore, there is no question of contradiction in the statements of victim.

51. The statement of victim is corroborated by the statement of PW-1 and PW-2 to the extent that the victim told them that accused sprinkled kerosene oil and set her ablazed in their home. PW-2 stated that when he was standing in front of his house to have bath in the river, he himself saw an woman coming out of the house of the accused-appellants and he with his four friends rushed towards the place of occurrence and collectively were trying to put off the fire on the body of victim by his towel which was recovered from the threshold (Dehari) of the house of the appellant Ram Gopal.

52. From the site plan, it transpires that Investigating Officer recovered the towel and dhibari from the threshold of the appellant Ram Gopal. In the six number of index, he had mentioned that he recovered the Towel and Dhibari from the place shown on the gate of Ram Gopal. However, in his statement, the Investigating Officer stated that he recovered the towel from "Tiraha' of lane near place of occurrence and he did not sent this towel for FSL report but there is no explanation as how he shown to have recovered this towel from the threshold of the appellant.

53. The victim stated in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. treated as dying declaration that as soon as she entered into the house of the appellant Ram Gopal, all the accused covered her with Panni and tied her hands. The statement is corroborated with the statement of PW-2, Shravan Kumar who stated in examination-in-chief that when the victim came out of the house of appellant Ram Gopal, her hands were tied with chit and he released her hands.

54. The towel was produced in the court. The statement of PW-2 corroborates the recovery of towel as is also evident from the recovery memo Exhibit Ka-13.

55. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that when she was admitted in the hospital for treatment, no remains of polythene was found on the body of the victim. Learned counsel draw attention towards the statement of PW-4 Dr. S.N. Pandey who conducted the postmortem of victim.

56. Learned AGA replied to the argument that when the postmortem was conducted on the body of the victim (deceased) then her body was found burnt and on all the burnt parts dressing was found. It is also argued by AGA that when she was admitted, the doctor must have wash her wound, therefore it is not possible to have polythene remains on her body.

57. We agree with the arguments of learned counsel for the appellant that doctor admitted in his cross examination that the piece of polythene may struck to the wounds of deceased if polythene sheet is used while ablazing but it is not clarified from the doctor whether there was any polythene remains on the body or not. Therefore, it is quite possible that when she was treated in the hospital, her wounds must have been washed by the doctor.

58. From the evidence on record, it is found that dying declaration by the statement of victim recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and relied by the Court under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act are reliable evidence and the evidence is corroborated by the medical evidence as well as the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2.

59. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that PW-3 Neeraj has turned hostile during trial. From the perusal of the statement of PW-3 it transpires that PW-3 is declared hostile by ADGC.

60. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rajesh Yadav and Another etc. Vs. State of U.P. in Criminal Appeal No. 339-340 of 2014 decided on 04.02.2022 has held as under:

"82. In State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra [(1996) 10 SCC 360: 1996 SCC (Cri) 1278] this Court held that (at SCC p. 363, para 7) evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Balu Sonba Shinde v. State of Maharashtra [(2002) 7 SCC 543: 2003 SCC (Cri) 112], Gagan Kanojia v. State of Punjab [(2006) 13 SCC 516: (2008) 1 SCC (Cri) 109], Radha Mohan Singh v. State of U.P. [(2006) 2 SCC 450: (2006) 1 SCC (Cri) 661], Sarvesh Narain Shukla v. Daroga Singh [(2007) 13 SCC 360: (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 188] and Subbu Singh v. State [(2009) 6 SCC 462: (2009) 2 SCC (Cri) 1106].

83. Thus, the law can be summarised to the effect that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence."

61. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Attar Sinsgh Vs. State of Maharashtra in Criminal Appeal No. 1091 of 2010, decided on 14.12.2012 has held as under:

".....It could not be ignored that when a witness is declared hostile and when his testimony is not shaken on material points in the cross-examination, there is no ground to reject his testimony in toto as it is well-settled by a catena of decisions that the Court is not precluded from taking into account the statement of a hostile witness altogether and it is not necessary to discard the same in toto and can be relied upon partly. If some portion of the statement of the hostile witness inspires confidence, it can be relied upon. He cannot be thrown out as wholly unreliable. This was the view expressed by this court in the case of Syed Akbar vs. State of Karnataka reported in AIR 1979 SC 1848 whereby the learned Judges of the Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the Karnataka High Court which had discarded the evidence of a hostile witness in its entirety. Similarly, other High Courts in the matter of Gulshan Kumar vs. State (1993) Crl.L.J. 1525 as also Kunwar vs. State of U.P. (1993) Crl.L.J. 3421 as also Haneefa vs. State (1993) Crl.L.J. 2125 have held that it is not necessary to discard the evidence of the hostile witness in toto and can be relied upon partly. So also, in the matter of State of U.P. vs. Chet Ram reported in AIR 1989 SC 1543 =(1989) Crl.L.J. 1785; it was held that if some portion of the statement of the hostile witness inspires confidence it can be relied upon and the witness cannot be termed as wholly unreliable. It was further categorically held in the case of Shatrughan vs. State of M.P. (1993) Crl.L.J. 3120 that hostile witness is not necessarily a false witness. Granting of a permission by the Court to cross-examine his own witness does not amount to adjudication by the Court as to the veracity of a witness. It only means a declaration that the witness is adverse or unfriendly to the party calling him and not that the witness is untruthful. This was the view expressed by this Court in the matter of Sat Paul vs. Delhi Administration AIR 1976 SC 294. Thus, merely because a witness becomes hostile it would not result in throwing out the prosecution case, but the Court must see the relative effect of his testimony."

62. But it is settled proposition of law that the statement of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent that he supports the prosecution case. PW-3 is a person who PW-2 stated that he was present with him. PW-3 stated that he saw that an woman was burning and many people gathered around on the place of occurrence. He stopped there for 5 to 10 minutes and then he went away as he was a driver by profession. This witness did not name any appellant. He also denied that he helped in the rescue of victim but he proved the incident of burning of victim at the place of occurrence in the lane which corroborates further the statement of PW-1 and PW-2.

63. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that witnesses Ramawati, Sanjay are not produced in Court. Ramawati, daughter-in-law of the deceased and Sanjay is said to have independent witnesses. It is the prerogative of the prosecution to prove their case by single witness or the multiple witnesses and it is the reliability and credibility of the witnesses and not the number.

64. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh and Others in Criminal Appeal No. 1671 of 1995, decided on 31.01.2003 has held as under:

"It is true that the witnesses essential to the unfolding of the narrative on which the prosecution is based must be called by the prosecution, whether effect of their testimony is for or against the case of the prosecution. However, that does not mean that everyone who has witnessed the occurrence, whatever their number be, must be examined as a witness."

65. Learned counsel for the appellant Munnu Pandit argued that he has no motive to commit this crime as the motive accrued to Ram Gopal and his family members. PW-1 has stated in page 11 that accused appellants have taken advance money of his house and when her mother objected to it, the appellants set her ablazed. Therefore, motive is available to the appellants but from the evidence it is clear that the presence of Munnu Pandit was established by the statement of the victim herself. PW-2 also stated on oath that when he saw all the accused including Munnu Pandit while the victim was burning. However, in cross examination on 10.05.2012 PW-2 stated that Munnu Pandit was not present where the victim was burning and he stated that he saw no accused at the time in his statement recorded on 04.07.2013. He further stated that appellant-Munnu Pandit was on bail during trial and he did not misuse the same.

66. Learned counsel for the appellant Munnu Pandit also draw attention that witness Neeraj did not named him present at the place of occurrence but as has been discussed earlier, PW-3 Neeraj has been declared hostile and he did not fully support the version of prosecution, hence the role of Munnu Pandit is not distinguishable from the role of other appellants as all the accused were present when the victim was being burnt.

67. It is also vehemently argued by learned counsel for the appellants that the measurement of Dhibari is 180 ml. and 180 ml. oil is not sufficient to burn any person. In this regard it is stated by the victim that her body was covered by polythene and Ram Gopal sprinkled kerosene oil and his wife Radha set the victim ablazed. When the kerosene oil is used alongwith polythene sheets as it is also proved by the recovery memo as Exhibit Ka-13, it is immaterial that 180 ml. Kerosene oil cannot burnt any person.

68. Learned trial court addressed all the points raised by the learned counsel for the appellants during the submissions of their arguments. The accused are charged with Section 302 read 34 IPC and prosecution proved their case beyond reasonable doubt. Learned trial court relied upon the case laws of Anant Mohanto Vs. State of Orrisa reported in AIR 1979 SC 1433 and in the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court rendered in Case of Vishram Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in AIR 1993 SC 250. In these cases, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that oral statements are also admissible as evidence because no one lies at the time of his death. Therefore, in the light of evidence discussed above and being mindful of the principal of governing appreciation of evidence, related to multiple dying declarations, we are of the view that learned trial court discussed all the factors of multiple dying declaration, recorded by the Investigating Officer and it's value and its admissibility and there is no reason to intervene in the judgment and order passed by the trial court.

69. Accordingly, the above captioned criminal appeals are hereby dismissed. The impugned judgment and order dated 24.10.2018 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge Anti Corruption, Court No. 6, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No. 1042 of 2010 (State Vs. Ram Gopal @ Guddu), arising out of Case Crime No. 168 of 2010, under Sections 147, 302 IPC, Police Station Hasanganj, District Lucknow, is confirmed.

70. The appellants, Muunu Pandit @ Mahesh Kumar, Pappu, Mangla, Smt. Radha and Kamla Devi are on bail. Their bail bonds are canceled and sureties discharged. They are ordered to surrender before the trial court within two weeks from today to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court failing which the trial court is directed to get them arrested and sent to jail.

71. So far as appellant Ram Gopal @ Guddu is concerned, he is stated to be in jail. He shall serve out sentence as awarded by the trial court.

72. Office is directed to send a copy of this order along with lower court record to the trial court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

THE HON'BLE VIKRAM D. CHAUHAN, J.

Crl. Appeal No. 2668 of 1984

Kailash Chandra ...Appellant
Versus
State ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Pt. Mohan Chandra, Sri Mukesh Joshi

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 411 I.P.C.- Indian Evidence Act, 1860- Section 27- The jewellery was dug up by the Appellant by bare hands is a possibility and the same cannot be ruled out specifically when the recovery is said to have been made in the presence of independent witness- Was within the exclusive knowledge of Appellant and as such when no explanation has been offered by Appellant, prosecution case gets strengthened.

Where the recovery is within the exceptional knowledge of the accused and the same is further supported by the presence of independent witnesses then the same can be relied upon.

Indian Evidence Act, 1860- Section 3- Whereas contradiction in the statement of the witness is fatal for the case, minor discrepancy or variance in evidence will not make the prosecution's case doubtful- Minor variations in the accounts of the witnesses are often the hallmark of the truth of their testimony.

Minor contradictions that do not go to the root of the story of the prosecution are inconsequential and the same reflect the truthfulness of the testimony of the witnesses.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 294- The recovery memo has been duly proved by the prosecution and as such the claim of the Appellant that the contents have not been admitted is of no consequence.

Once the recovery memo has been duly proved by the prosecution and has been admitted by the defence then the stand that only the genuineness of the recovery memo has been admitted and not the contents thereof cannot be sustained. (Para 19, 25, 28, 29,30)

Criminal Appeal rejected. (E-3)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Hon'ble Vikram D. Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mukesh Joshi, learned counsel for the Appellant; learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The present appeal is preferred against the judgment and order dated 12th September, 1984 passed by VIII Additional Sessions Judge, Etah in S.T. No.662 of 1983 (State Vs. Kailash Chandra), whereby the Appellant has been convicted and sentenced under Section 411 I.P.C. for three years rigorous imprisonment.

3. The prosecution case as per the first information report is to the effect that one Jagan Lal has lodged a first information report on 28th February, 1983 at 8.15 am with the allegation that Aunt (Chachi) of the informant namely Yasoda was living alone in her house and in the intervening night of 27th / 28th February, 1983 when she was sleeping alone in her house and did not come out for long time, then the wife of the informant, namely Uma knocked the door of the Yasoda. However, no response was given from inside the house and the house was found locked from inside. Thereafter, wife of the Informant-Uma informed about the aforesaid fact to the Informant. Informant and his brother Janki and Ram Ratan came and called Yasoda from outside. However, there was no response from inside the house. Thereafter, they went to the terrace of their house to look into the house of Yasoda and found that at the back of the house there was an entry in the wall and when they entered from the aforesaid, they found that the deceased was lying dead on the cot and her right hand and left leg was tied and the mouth was gagged with cloth and the jewellery (10 lacche of silver and earrings of gold) which the deceased wore daily were missing. On the aforesaid basis, a first information report was lodged being Case Crime No.67 of 1983 under Section 460 I.P.C. at Police Station Aliganj, District Etah.

4. The Panchayatnama of the deceased was held on 28th February, 1983 wherein Ganga Sahai, Mewa Ram, Ram Bhajan Lal, Jagat Pal and Zamadar were the panch witnesses and according to the opinion in Panchayatnama, the deceased has been murdered.

5. The body of the deceased was thereafter sealed and sent for postmortem.

Investigating Officer prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence on 28th February, 1983 and the same was marked as Ex.Ka.4. Investigating Officer has further recovered Dhoti and rope from the place of occurrence on 28th February, 1983. A recovery memo in respect of the same was prepared being Ex.Ka.12. Investigating Officer further on 28th February, 1983 also recovered household goods from the place of occurrence and the same was marked as Ex.Ka.13.

6. During investigation, Appellant was arrested under Section 25 of the Arms Act and after arrest, Appellant has confessed that Military and Sant Ram has murdered the deceased and jewellery of deceased was taken by them and that he has hidden the jewellery of the deceased in the agricultural field and that he can recover the same. On the basis of the aforesaid statement of the Appellant, on 8th March, 1983 the Appellant got recovered 10 piece of silver Laccha (jewellery) having weight of 200 grams from the agricultural field near the tree on the pointing out of Appellant from a place where he has hidden the jewellery of the deceased and after digging the soil for one feet, jewellery was recovered and the same was sealed in a cloth. The aforesaid recovery was made in the presence of witnesses Roshan Lal and Ram Dulare. Investigating Officer has prepared the recovery memo dated 8th March, 1983, which is Ex.Ka.2. The jewellery so recovered was identified by Jagan Lal, Ram Ratan, Usha and Savitri Devi before the Executive Magistrate on 2nd May, 1983.

7. Investigating Officer after completion of the investigation has submitted chargesheet against Appellant in Case Crime No.67 of 1983 on 16th May, 1983 under Section 460/411 I.P.C. Appellant denied the charges and claimed to be tried. On 10th July, 1984 the trial court has framed the charges against Appellant under Sections 460 and 411 I.P.C.

8. The prosecution in support of its case has examined five witnesses, namely:-

(i) Jagan Lal (P.W.1) is the informant. He has stated that deceased Yasoda was his Aunt (Chachi) and she was living in a separate house in Aliganj. The deceased was not having toilet in her house and as such everyday in the morning the deceased used to come to the house of P.W.1 to attend nature's call. On the date of the incident, deceased for long time did not come to the house of the informant and as such wife of the informant, namely, Usha @ Uma went to see her and called her from outside the house of deceased. The deceased did not respond to the call of Usha then informant, Ram Ratan and Janki went into the house of the deceased and found that the deceased was tied up on the cot and her one hand and leg was tied and the mouth was gagged with cloth. The aforesaid persons also found that the earrings and the "Lacche" of deceased were missing. The P.W.1 thereafter has got the first information report scribed from Mewa Ram and the same is marked as Ex.Ka.1. The said first information report was given at the police station. The witness has also stated that they had gone to the court for identification of the jewellery recovered being Material Ex.Ka.10. The witness has further stated that he had seen his aunt wearing the jewellery recovered, prior to the occurrence.

(ii) Ram Ratan (P.W.2) has stated that on hearing the news he had reached the place of incident and found that deceased was lying dead and her one hand and leg was tied with the cot and the mouth was gagged with cloth and the earrings and lacche of the deceased was missing. Informant was present at the place of incident. He has further stated that Jagan Lal had lodged the first information report. He has stated that they also identified the jewellery recovered and he had seen the deceased wearing the aforesaid jewellery prior to the occurrence.

(iii) Smt. Usha Devi @ Uma (P.W.3) stated that she is wife of informant (P.W.1) and has stated that on the date of occurrence deceased had not come to her house for attending nature's call, therefore, she went to house of deceased and called her, however, there was no response. Thereafter, she came back and informed her husband. They have found that the wall of the house of the deceased was broken and her husband and his brothers went inside the house, deceased was lying dead and her earrings and lacche were missing. She has stated that she had identified the jewellery recovered before the Magistrate. She has also stated that the deceased has willed her property in favour of her husband and his brothers. She has stated that the Appellant is son of her Jeth and he had not received anything from the property of deceased.

(iv) Ram Dulare (P.W.4) has stated that he was in the market and accused-appellant along with 4-5 police personnels (in which one of them is Station House Officer and Roshan Lal) was also going along with Appellant. The police personnel asked him to come along with them for being witness to the recovery of the jewellery from the Appellant. The Appellant took all of them to agricultural field of Tambaku and in the agricultural field there were two trees and 10-12 paces from the eastern tree the jewellery (lacche) 1½ feet hidden in the soil, was dug up by Appellant and the same was recovered. The jewellery recovered was marked as Material Ex.Ka.1 to 10. Jewellery was sealed by the police and the recovery memo was signed by the Appellant.

(v) Ashok Kumar Rawat (P.W.5) is the Investigating Officer. He has stated that in February, 1983 he was posted at Aliganj as Second Officer. On 18th March, 1983, Case Crime No.67 of 1983 under Section 460 I.P.C. was registered being Ex.Ka.1 and the Chik FIR was prepared. Investigation was handed over to the aforesaid witness. He went to the place of occurrence and prepared the Panchayatnama as Ex.Ka.6 and the post mortem papers were prepared being Ex.Ka.7 to Ka.10 and the body was sent for post mortem. The place of occurrence was inspected and the site plan was prepared being Ex.Ka.11 and recovery of the Dhoti and rope from the place of occurrence being Ex.Ka.12 and, thereafter, house hold goods were recovered being Ex.Ka.13. He has further stated that during investigation on 8th March, 1983, Appellant was arrested for having possession of illegal weapon and Appellant after arrest has confessed that the Appellant along with Military and Sant Ram has murdered deceased and have taken away the lacche and earrings of deceased. Appellant has further informed that the lacche was hidden in agricultural field and the same can be recovered. Thereafter, recovery memo was prepared being Ex.Ka.12. Site plan was prepared being Ex.Ka.14 and same was identified by the witnesses being Ex.Ka.15 and the chargesheet was submitted being Ex.Ka.16.

9. The trial court has recorded a finding that the counsel for the Appellant has admitted the recovery memo under Section 294 Cr.P.C.

10. The Appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that false case has been lodged against the Appellant and no recovery was made from pointing out of the Appellant and he has been falsely implicated. He has further stated that informant and his brothers in order to usurp the property of the deceased has prepared forged will. When the deceased was giving property to the Appellant then the informant has falsely implicated the Appellant in the present case. He has further stated that the witness Ram Dulare and Roshan Lal have prior enmity with him.

11. It is to be noted that the trial court by impugned judgment has acquitted the Appellant under Section 460 I.P.C. and has convicted the Appellant under Section 411 I.P.C.

Section 411 I.P.C. is quoted hereunder:-

"411. Dishonestly receiving stolen property. - Whoever dishonestly receives or retains any stolen property, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both."

12. It is to be noted that the Appellant was convicted under Section 411 I.P.C. as P.W.4 and P.W.5 in their testimony have stated that from the pointing out of the Appellant, jewellery of deceased was recovered from agricultural field of Appellant, which was hidden beneath the soil and same was dug out by Appellant.

13. It is submitted by learned counsel for Appellant that it was not possible to have dug up the soil for one feet by bare hands.

14. Learned A.G.A. for the respondent-State has stated that it has come in evidence that the soil was wet and further once the soil was dug up for hiding the jewellery and then the soil may be loose and could have been easily dug up by the Appellant with bare hands subsequently.

15. It is to be noted that on 8th March, 1983 at about 3:20 PM, the lacha (Silver Jewellery) of the deceased was recovered on the pointing out of Appellant. In this respect, Prosecution Witness No 5 - Ashok Kumar Rawat, S.O. Sakeet has testified that during investigation on 8th March, 1983, Appellant was taken into custody from Akhbarpur Kotewale Road along with illegal weapons and was arrested. Thereafter, Appellant has disclosed that he along with Military and Santram has killed the deceased and jewellery of the deceased have been hidden in his agriculture field. Appellant was taken to his agriculture field along with independent witness Roshan Lal and Ram Dulare. When they reached agricultural field of the Appellant where two trees were standing and in the north at about 10 to 12 steps, Appellant has recovered "Lacche" which belong to the deceased. The recovery memo was prepared by Prosecution Witness No. 5 being Exhibit-2. The Prosecution Witness No. 5 has proved the recovery memo dated 8th March, 1983. The map of place of recovery of jewellery of deceased from Appellant was prepared and marked as Exhibit Ka 14. The jewellery was deposited and identification report was prepared being Exhibit 15 and the jewellery in question was identified by Prosecution Witness Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4.

16. The Prosecution Witness No. 5 in his testimony has stated that agricultural field was wet when the alleged recovery has been made. The aforesaid fact has been supported by Prosecution Witness No. 4 who is the witness of the recovery of jewellery from Appellant pointing out. It is also to be noted that the incident is of 27th / 28th February, 1983 and the recovery has been made on 8th March, 1983 and once the soil has been dug up it becomes loose and when the same spot is again dug up then it is always easier to dig jewellery with bare hands. The aforesaid stand of the prosecution that the jewellery was dug up by the Appellant by bare hands is a possibility and the same cannot be ruled out specifically when the recovery is said to have been made in the presence of independent witness.

17. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the Appellant that statement of the recovery witness does not corroborate with the site plan. He submits that as per the Prosecution Witness No. 4, agricultural field from where the alleged recovery has been made was only having "Tad ka ped" and "Tobacco" however, site plan clearly shows that there are "Jamun Trees" and "Dhaniya Crop" also. On the aforesaid basis, it is submitted by learned counsel for Appellant that the testimony of the recovery witness is not trustworthy.

18. A perusal of the site plan dated 8th March, 1983 would demonstrate that the agricultural field adjoining the place from where the alleged recovery is made was having "Jamun Tree" and "Dhaniya Crop" and agricultural field from where recovery is made was having Tobacco. It is further to be noted that statement of Prosecution Witness Nos. 4 and 5 was made on 2nd August, 1984 and the recovery is made in March 1983 as such the statement was recorded after more than one year of the alleged recovery and as such contradiction is natural and will not have any consequences on the prosecution case.

19. Discrepancy has to be distinguished from contradiction. Whereas contradiction in the statement of the witness is fatal for the case, minor discrepancy or variance in evidence will not make the prosecution's case doubtful. The normal course of the human conduct would be that while narrating a particular incidence there may occur minor discrepancies, such discrepancies in law may render credential to the depositions. Minor variations in the accounts of the witnesses are often the hallmark of the truth of their testimony. When the discrepancies were comparatively of a minor character and did not go to the root of the prosecution story, they need not be given undue importance. Mere congruity or consistency is not the sole test of truth in the depositions. In the depositions of witnesses there are always normal discrepancy, however honest and truthful they may be. Such discrepancies are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence, and the like. Corroboration of evidence with mathematical niceties cannot be expected in criminal cases. Minor embellishment may not render the evidence of eye witnesses unbelievable.

20. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the Appellant that the cloth in which the recovered jewellery was kept did not have any soil stains. In this respect, it is to be seen that the P.W. 5 in his statement has stated that the soil inside the hole that was dug up was dry and as such if the stains of soil was not found on the cloth that by itself will not discredit the prosecution case. The trial court has recorded a finding that the dry soil on the cloth in which the jewellery was kept if did not find the soil the same may be because the dry soil may have been brushed aside. The trial court has further recorded a finding that the cloth in which the jewellery was kept, was stained. The aforesaid finding recorded by the trial court is possible view taken by the trial court. It is to be noted that the identification proceedings after the recovery were also held on 2nd May, 1983 and as such the aforesaid soil on the cloth may have been brushed aside on the handling of the aforesaid cloth. The view taken by the trial court is a possible view and as such cannot be interfered with.

21. It is further submitted that the recovered jewellery was sealed in a cloth and on the aforesaid the date of 12th March, 1984 was stated and as such the recovery itself is doubtful. It is to be noted that the alleged recovery is said to have been made on 8th March, 1983 and in this respect Prosecution Witness No. 5 has testified before the trial court.

22. The trial court has recorded a finding that on account of the handling of the cloth in question the cloth may have on account of spreading of the ink by regular handling is looking like 12 however is 8th March, 1983. In this respect, it is to be noted that the recovery memo was prepared on 8th March, 1983 and the recovery of the jewellery was submitted in the Malkhana and the aforesaid recovery is testified by Prosecution Witness Nos. 4 and 5 then the argument of the learned counsel for the Appellant is not sustainable specifically when nothing has been shown that the finding recorded by the trial court is perverse and against law.

23. It is also submitted that the informant and his family members in order to usurp the property of the deceased has falsely implicated the Appellant and in this respect it is submitted that in Ex.Ka.13 the goods which have been recovered, there is a passbook which is of the informant and his brothers and on the aforesaid basis, it can be said that they wanted to murder the deceased. P.W.-3 in his testimony has stated that the deceased had given her property to her husband and his brothers and if the aforesaid fact is correct, then the passbook of the informant and his brothers which was found at the house of the deceased will not discredit the prosecution case.

24. The Appellant in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that the informant has prepared a forged will. The aforesaid statement is indicative of the fact that the Appellant does not deny the existence of the will. However, he has stated that the will is a forged will. When the deceased has given her property to the informant and his brothers then there was no occasion for the informant and his brothers to have murdered the deceased. The evidence on record in no manner leave doubt that the jewellery recovered is that of deceased as the same was identified by the witnesses. The Appellant has not produced any evidence to substantiate his claim that the will was forged as the same was his defence nor has produced any material or circumstance as to why he has been falsely implicated in the case.

25. On the other hand, the prosecution by evidence of P.W.-4 and P.W.-5 has proved that the recovery of the jewellery of the deceased at the behest of the Appellant and the same was recovered from 1 feet beneath the agricultural field, which is a place, knowledge of it can only be attributed to the Appellant.

26. It is to be noted that the Appellant has although stated in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he had enmity with

P.W.4. However, the same has not been proved by the Appellant by cogent evidence nor any material has been brought on record to substantiate that there was any enmity with P.W.4. The Appellant has also not brought on record any evidence or circumstance as to why the police would falsely implicate the Appellant and as such the testimony of P.W.4 cannot be brushed aside.

27. It is further submitted by the learned counsel for the Appellant that the gold rings were not recovered and as such the recovery is doubtful. In this respect, it is to be seen that the recovery of the alleged silver jewellery on 8th March, 1983 at the behest of the Appellant has been duly proved by the prosecution. The jewellery recovered has been identified in accordance with law. The non-recovery of the gold rings by itself would not make the prosecution case doubtful.

28. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the Appellant that the conviction of the Appellant is only on the ground of recovery memo which is said to have been admitted under Section 294 Cr.P.C. However, under section 294 Cr.P.C. only genuineness has been admitted nor the contents and the recovery made thereunder. It is to be noted that the prosecution has proved the recovery memo by testifying the Prosecution Witness Nos. 4 and 5. It is further to be noted that the recovery memo has been duly exhibited. The prosecution witness has also supported the recovery of the jewellery on the pointing out of the Appellant. The recovery memo has been duly proved by the prosecution and as such the claim of the Appellant that the contents have not been admitted is of no consequence.

29. The law relating to confessions is to be found generally in Sections 24 to 30 of the Evidence Act and sections 162 and 164 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. A confession or an admission is evidence against the maker of it, unless its admissibility is excluded by some provision of law. The confession or statement of accused can be made during investigation before police officer. The language of Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 which protects the accused as well as suspects and witnesses who are examined during the course of investigation in a criminal case. Section 25 of the Evidence Act provides that no confession made to a police officer shall be proved against a person accused of an offence. The terms of Section 25 of the Evidence Act are imperative in nature. Section 26 of the Evidence Act prohibits proof against any person of a confession made by him in the custody of a police officer unless it is made in the immediate presence of a Magistrate. Section 27 of the Evidence Act is a form of exception and partially lifts the ban imposed by Sections 24, 25 and 26 of the Act. It provides that when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved.

30. In the present case, recovery of jewellery of deceased at behest of Appellant has been proved by prosecution beyond reasonable doubt. The jewellery of deceased recovered has been identified and proved to belong to the deceased. There is no explanation offered by the Appellant as to how the jewellery which has been recovered at his behest has come in possession of Appellant. The recovery of the jewellery of the deceased has been made from an agriculture field by digging out the agricultural field and jewellery being recovered from beneath the earth was within the exclusive knowledge of Appellant and as such when no explanation has been offered by Appellant, prosecution case gets strengthened.

31. The trial court on the aforesaid basis has come to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the Appellant under Section 411 I.P.C. and thereafter, convicted the Appellant.

32. The Appellant has failed to dislodge the prosecution case and no circumstance has been stated which would entitle the finding of conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court as per-se perverse. This Court is in agreement with the conviction and sentence recorded by the trial court in the impugned judgment.

33. In view of the aforesaid, the present appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed and as a consequence bail granted to the Appellant is cancelled.

34. Office is directed to return the record of the lower court forthwith along with a copy of this order for necessary compliance.

Criminal Law- Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 376 - The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989- Section 3 (2) (v) - P.W.1, in his cross examination, categorically mentions that he has not seen the appellants committing any kind of sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix. P.W.3, whose oral testimony has been considered, also categorically states that she cannot conclusively opine that whether there was commission of sexual intercourse against the will or against the consent of the prosecutrix. None of the ingredients has been proved by the prosecutrix. Neither the F.I.R. nor the oral testimony have been remotely suggests the same. So as to attract the provisions of Section 375 read with Section 376 of IPC and Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act, ingredients of the said offence has to be proved. There is no evidence which goes to show that the offence by the appellant is committed on the ground that prosecutrix belongs to scheduled caste. The improvement in statement before lower Court was made by the prosecutrix, P.W.2, stating that appellant first asked her caste and name of her husband then commit the said offence. This is nothing else but a totally manufactured evidence. In the medical report of the prosecutrix, no injury was found on her private part. Neither the First Information Report nor the oral testimony of P.W.1 to P.W.5 even remotely suggest that the accused knew the prosecutrix.

Where the prosecution has failed to prove the offence of rape by either oral or medical evidence and there is also no evidence to establish that the accused knew the caste of the victim from before, then the conviction of the accused is liable to be set aside. (Para 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21)

Criminal appeal allowed. (E-3)

Case Law/ Judgements relied upon:-

1. Crl. Appeal No. 204 of 2021 (Vishnu Vs St. of U.P.) dec. on 28.1.2021

2. Crl. Appeal No.4083 of 2017 (Pintu Gupta Vs St. of U.P.) dec. on 28.7.2022

3. Ved Prakash Vs St. of Har., JIC 1996 SC 18 (distinguished on facts)

4. Patan Jamal Vali Vs St. of A.P., 2021 SCC OnLine SC 343

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J. & Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rakesh Dubey, learned counsel for the accused-appellant and Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. Non-following of the decision of Apex Court in Criminal Appeal No.308 of 2022 (Saudan Singh vs. State of U.P.) decided on 25.2.2022 and non-considering the case of accused for remission seems to be the natural administrative conduct of the officers and the jail authority. We once again pained to show our anguish.

3. This appeal was listed in the year 2004. Unfortunately, as the order sheet shows, the matter was listed only after few years and the delay came to be condoned in the year 2008. From 2008 till 2022, the matter was never listed for hearing as is clear from the order sheet and it was only after the listing application was filed that the matter was listed. The lower Court's records were there in the year 2004 but the office has not prepared the paper book. As the matter is pending since long and the accused-appellant is in jail for more than 21 years with remission, we dispense with the paper book. We have requested learned counsels to go through the record. We have also perused the record.

4. This appeal challenges the judgment and order dated 23.10.2003 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Kanpur Dehat in Special Sessions Trial No.50 of 2001 (State vs. Aftaf alias Nafees alias Pappu) wherein the learned Special Judge has convicted & sentenced accused-appellant, Aftaf alias Nafees alias Pappu, under Section 376 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC') read with Section 3 (2) (v) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as SC/ST Act) and sentenced him to imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.5,000/- and, in case of default in payment of fine, further to under go one year's simple imprisonment.

5. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that Kamlesh Kumar, the husband of prosecutrix, made a complaint to Police Station Akbarpur, Kanpur Dehat stating that on 9.2.2001, at about 12.00 noon, when the prosecutrix went to her field for bringing silage for the cattle, the accused-appellant, Aftaf alias Nafees alias Pappu, caught her from behind, knocked her down and started committing rape on her. On raising alarm by the prosecutrix, the informant along with his brother, Dinesh Kumar who were cutting silage in the adjacent field reached at the place of incident where they saw that accused was committing rape on her. It was alleged that the prosecutrix sustained injuries, her glass bangles got broken and the informant, his brother and one Darogi Lal brought her to the Police Station. On basis of the written report, the F.I.R. being Case Crime No. 36 of 2001 under Section 376 of IPC and Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act came to be lodged against the accused.

6. After lodging of the F.I.R, the investigation was moved into motion. The prosecutrix was got medically examined. The Investigating Officer, after taking statements of witnesses, submitted charge-sheet against the accused-appellant under Section 376 of IPC and under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act.

7. The accused was committed to the Court of Sessions as the case was triable by the Court of Session. The learned Sessions Judge framed charges on the accused. The accused pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried.

1	Kamlesh Kumar	PW1
2	Prosecutrix	PW2
3	Dr. Subha Mishra	PW3
4	Maan Singh	PW4
5	Dinesh Kumar	PW5
6	Om Prakash Singh	PW6
7	B. R. Premi	PW7

8. So as to bring home the charge, the prosecution has examined 7 witnesses who are as under :

9. In support of ocular version following documents were filed:

1	F.I.R. & G.D.	Ex.Ka.5 & Ka.6
2	Written Report	Ex.Ka.1
3	Recovery memo of glass bangles	Ex. Ka. 7
4	Recovery memo of petikot	Ex. Ka.2.
5	Medical Report of Prosecutrix	Ex. Ka. 3 & Ka.4
6	Charge-sheet	Ex. Ka. 12
7	Site Plan with Index	Ex. Ka.8

10. At the end of the trial and after recording the statement of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Special Judge convicted the appellant as mentioned aforesaid.

11. As far as commission of offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act is concerned, it is submitted by learned counsel that the F.I.R. nowhere states that the injured belongs to a particular community. No documentary evidence so as to prove that the injured belongs to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe was produced either before Investigating Officer or Sessions Court. No independent witness has been examined by the prosecution. It is stated by prosecutrix that she did not know the accused. P.W.1 had stated that he did not know the accused and in his cross examination he had denied the commission of offence and, therefore, no case is made out for commission of offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act and finding of the learned Special Judge requires to be upturned.

12. As far as commission of offence under Section 376 of IPC is concerned, it is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the accused has been falsely implicated in the present case. The medical evidence does not support the prosecution version as no internal/external injury was found on person of the prosecutrix though the F.I.R. and medical examination were prompt. It is further submitted that even P.W.1, in his cross examination has denied the commission of rape and the finding of the Special Judge is based on surmises and conjectures and requires to be upturn. In support of his argument, learned counsel for the appellant has relied on the decision of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 204 of 2021 (Vishnu vs. State of U.P.) decided on 28.1.2021 & in Criminal Appeal No.4083 of 2017 (Pintu Gupta vs. State of U.P.) decided on 28.7.2022 and has contended that no ingredients of Section (3) (2) (v) of SC/ST Act & Section 376 of IPC is made out and, therefore, the conviction is required to be set aside.

13. Per contra, Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A. for the State has submitted that the conviction of the accused is just and proper as ingredients of offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act and Section 376 are very much there. It is further submitted by learned A.G.A. that P.W.2, prosecutrix, has stated that before committing the unlawful act, the accused had asked her name, caste and her husband's name and, therefore, finding of the learned Special Judge is just and proper.

14. Before we venture upon to discuss the evidence and the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, it would be pertinent to discuss Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act and Section 375 of IPC which read as under:

"3. Punishments for offences of atrocities.--

(1).....xx.....xx.....

(2) Whoever, not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe,--

(i).....xxx.....

(ii).....xx.....

(iii).....xxx.....

(iv).....xxx.....

(v) commits any offence under the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property on the ground that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe or such property belongs to such member, shall be punishable with imprisonment for life and with fine."

[375. Rape.--A man is said to commit "rape" who, except in the case hereinafter excepted, has sexual intercourse with a woman under circumstances falling under any of the six following descriptions:--

(First)-- Against her will.

(Secondly)--Without her consent.

(Thirdly)-- With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person in whom she is interested in fear of death or of hurt.

(Fifthly)-- With her consent, when, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

(Sixthly)-- With or without her consent, when she is under sixteen years of age. Explanation.--Penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary to the offence of rape.

(Exception)--Sexual intercourse by a man with his own wife, the wife not being under fifteen years of age, is not rape.]

15. The aforesaid provisions of law would now be seen in view of the ocular version as well as the documentary evidence of the prosecution witnesses. P.W.1, in his cross examination, categorically mentions that he has not seen the appellants committing any kind of sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix. P.W.3, whose oral testimony has been considered, also categorically states that she cannot conclusively opine that whether there was commission of sexual intercourse against the will or against the consent of the prosecutrix. None of the ingredients, according to us, has been proved by the prosecutrix.

16. The evidence on record highlights the theory of commission of rape on the ground that the prosecutrix belong to a particular community. Neither the F.I.R. nor the oral testimony have been remotely suggests the same. So as to attract the provisions of Section 375 read with Section 376 of IPC and Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act, ingredients of the said offence has to be proved.

17. P.W., Kamlesh Kumar, who had lodged the F.I.R. is the husband of prosecutrix who has stated that the accused appellant professes muslim religion. The appellant is the resident of a place which is 8 to 9 kms away from the house of the prosecutrix. The most important aspect is that he does not know the accused which goes to show that the accused would not be knowing the caste of the prosecutrix. The accident occurred on 9.2.2001 in broad day light at about 12.00 noon. The F.I.R. and evidence go to show that the accused caught hold the prosecutrix from behind and knocked her down. P.W.1, P.W.5 & Darogi Lal were in the nearby field. According to P.W.1, in resisting, the prosecutrix suffered injuries and her bangles got broken. The report was got lodged by one Omkan Singh and the informant has signed on the same. It is an admitted position of fact that broken bangles were found from the so called place of occurrence. But when we read the evidence of P.W.2, the prosecutrix, it shows that she was being dragged and when she shouted, her husband and one Darogi Lal came there to save her. According to prosecutrix, the accused ran away and after lot of running around he could be caught. This is a statement which is opposite to the statement made by P.W.1 as in his statement and the statement of P.W.5, there is no corroboration to this statement. She also mentions that she does not know the accused nor the accused knows her. They are the witnesses of facts who have given different versions. Evidence of P.W.2, prosecutrix, goes to show that at the time of occurrence, first of all, the accused caught her from behind and asked her caste and name of her husband. It is highly unbelievable that person who is going to commit grave offence like rape would ask caste and name of husband of prosecutrix before commission of crime. Hence, there is no evidence which goes to show that the offence by the appellant is committed on the ground that prosecutrix belongs to scheduled caste. The improvement in statement before lower Court was made by the prosecutrix, P.W.2, stating that appellant first asked her caste and name of her husband then commit the said offence. This is nothing else but a totally manufactured evidence.

18. As per prosecution version, on hearing hue and cry of the prosecutrix, her husband, brother-in-law and one Darogi Lal reached at the spot but Darogi Lal who was independent witness has not been produced.

19. We now go to the depositions of P.W.3, the doctor, the medical examination of prosecutrix was conducted by P.W.3. In the medical report of the prosecutrix, no injury was found on her private part. Two slides were taken from the discharge of vagina and sent for examination. Pathology report received by the doctor and supplementary report was prepared. In supplementary report, no living or dead spermatozoa was found which shatters the prosecution case with regard to commission of rape. Neither dead nor live spermatozoa was found. She was having fetus of five months.

20. This judgment shows that the learned Sessions Judge has convicted the accused-appellant where there was no evidence for commission of offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. Neither the First Information Report nor the oral testimony of P.W.1 to P.W.5 even remotely suggest that the accused knew the prosecutrix. It is not worth believing that a person who want to commit sexual offence would enquire from the prosecutrix her name and her caste and then commit the unlawful act. P.W. 1 who is the husband of the prosecutrix has flatly denied the commission of offence in his cross examination though he was in the adjacent field. He had also stated that he did not know the accused-appellant. Therefore, the evidence of P.W.5 is wholly unreliable. The judgment relied by the prosecution before the Court below namely Ved Prakash vs. State of Haryana, JIC 1996 SC 18 cannot apply to the facts of this case.

21. The evidence of doctor and the medical report does not show presence of any spermatozoa though the prosecutrix after lodging of F.I.R. was directly taken from police station for medical examination. No injury was found on her private part. In medical report of prosecutrix, some little abrasions were found on her hand and knee but it has been specifically mentioned in the medical report that these abrasions were three to four days old while the medical examination of prosecution was conducted on the very next day of the occurrence, hence, these abrasions cannot be linked with the alleged occurrence of this case. It was also stated in her testimony by prosecutrix that at the time of alleged occurrence, the appellant threw her on the ground and at the time of commission of rape she was sliding herself along with the ground but not even a single injury has been found on the back of the prosecutrix. The learned judge, unfortunately, no where has discussed about the ingredients of Section 375 of IPC. Rather, he has misread the evidence of P.W.3. The learned Sessions Judge has gone on the assumption that as saree was worn by the prosecutrix, there may not be any injuries. The learned Sessions Judge has also gone on the assumption that as she was married lady and she was carrying a child, there is no necessity of there being any kind of injury sustained by her. The learned Session Judge has considered the fact that spermatozoa may or may not be found. The important aspects are non founding of spermatozoa and non finding of any kind of injuries which would permit us to upturn the judgment of learned Sessions Judge. There is no finding as far as commission of offence under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act. Only on the ground that the prosecutrix and her family members belong to a particular community, can it be said that the offence has been committed? The answer is, No. We are also fortified in our view by the decision of the Apex Court in Patan Jamal Vali vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 343, wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"58. The issue as to whether the offence was committed against a person on the ground that such person is a member of a SC or ST or such property belongs to such member is to be established by the prosecution on the basis of the evidence at the trial. We agree with the Sessions Judge that the prosecution's case would not fail merely because PW1 did not mention in her statement to the police that the offence was committed against her daughter because she was a Scheduled Caste woman. However, there is no separate evidence led by the prosecution to show that the accused committed the offence on the basis of the caste identity of PW2. While it would be reasonable to presume that the accused knew the caste of PW2 since village communities are tightly knit and the accused was also an acquaintance of PW2's family, the knowledge by itself cannot be said to be the basis of the commission of offence, having regard to the language of Section 3(2)(v) as it stood at the time when the offence in the present case was committed. As we have discussed above, due to the intersectional nature of oppression PW2 faces, it becomes difficult to establish what led to the commission of offence - whether it was her caste, gender or disability. This highlights the limitation of a provision where causation of a wrongful act arises from a single ground or what we refer to as the single axis model.

59 It is pertinent to mention that Section 3(2)(v)was amended by the Scheduled Castes and theScheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Amendment Act, 2015, which came into effect on 26 January 2016. The words "on the ground of" underSection 3(2)(v) have been substituted with "knowing that such person is a member of a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe". This has decreased the threshold of proving that a crime was committed on the basis of the caste identity to a threshold where mere knowledge is sufficient to sustain a conviction.Section 8which deals with presumptions as to offences was also amended to include clause (c) to provide that if the accused was acquainted with the victim or his family, the court shall presume that the accused was aware of the caste or tribal identity of the victim unless proved otherwise. The amendedSection 8reads as follows:

"8. Presumption as to offences. - In a prosecution for an offence under this Chapter, if it is proved that

(a) the accused rendered [any financial assistance in relation to the offences committed by a person accused of], or reasonably suspected of, committing, an offence under this Chapter, the Special Court shall presume, unless the contrary is proved, that such person had abetted the offence;

(b) a group of persons committed an offence under this Chapter and if it is proved that the offence committed was a sequel to any existing dispute regarding land or any other matter, it shall be presumed that the offence was committed in furtherance of the common intention or in prosecution of the common object.

[(c) the accused was having personal knowledge of the victim or his family, the Court shall presume that the accused was aware of the caste or tribal identity of the victim, unless the contrary is proved.]"

60 The Parliament Standing Committee Report on Atrocities Against Women and Children has observed that, "high acquittal rate motivates and boosts the confidence of dominant and powerful communities for continued perpetration" and recommends inclusion of provisions of SC &ST Act while registering cases of gendered violence against women from SC & ST communities53. However, as we have noted, one of the ways in which offences against SC & ST women fall through the cracks is due to the evidentiary burden that becomes almost impossible to meet in cases of intersectional oppression. This is especially the case when courts tend to read the requirement of "on the ground" underSection 3(2)(v)as "only on the ground of". The current regime under the SC &ST Act, post the amendment, has facilitated the conduct of an inter-sectional analysis under the Act by replacing the causation requirement underSection 3(2)(v)of the Act with a knowledge requirement making the regime sensitive to the kind of evidence that is likely to be generated in cases such as these. 61 However, sinceSection 3(2)(v) was amended and Clause (c) ofSection 8was inserted by Act 1 of 2016 with effect from 26 January 2016 these amendments would not be applicable to the case at hand. The offence in the present case has taken place before the amendment, on 31 March 2011. Therefore, we hold that the evidence in the present case does not establish that the offence in the present case was committed on the ground that such person is a member of a SC or ST. The conviction underSection 3(2)(v)would consequently have to be set aside."

22. The decisions cited by learned counsel for the appellant in Visnu (Supra) and in Pintu Gupta (Supra) will also apply to the facts of this case. This is a similar case to Vishnu (Supra) where the man was languishing in jail for non commission of offence for which he was punished.

23 We, therefore, hold that no case for commission of offence under Section 376 read with Section 3 (2) (v) of IPC is made out. The judgment and order impugned to this appeal is set aside. The accused-appellant is acquitted from the charges leveled against him. We direct the jail authority concerned to set the accused-appellant free, if not warranted in any other offence.

24. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Trial Court forthwith.

25. This Court is thankful to both the learned advocate for ably assisting the Court and getting this old matter decided.

26. The office has not prepared the paper book in this matter though the record was very much there in the year 2004. We, by this omnibus direction, direct Registrar (Listing) to impress upon the officer concerned to follow the decision of this Court in Vishnu (Supra) which are yet not being followed as even after 2021, the matters are not being listed. Even this matter has been listed only after the counsel for the appellant has filed listing application as the accused is in jail for more than 19 years (21 years with remission). His case has not been considered for remission by the jail authorities though 14 years of incarceration is over and there are directions of the Apex Court and this Court. Even if there is no direction of the Courts, under Section 433 of Cr.P.C. the authorities concerned are under an obligation to consider the case of the accused for remission.

Crl. Appl. No. 5277 of 2013

Ashok Yadav ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Sushil Kumar Dwivedi, Sri Virendra Pratap Yadav

Counsel for the Opp. Party:
A.G.A., Sri Sanjay Sharma

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 154 to 157- Two mutually inconsistent stand/statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. One version supports the prosecution case and other version supports the innocence of accused-appellant-When the witness comes forward with two diagonally opposite statements in respect of the fact on which he is called upon to adduce evidence, then it is upon the prosecution to prove that his subsequent statement (as the case herein) is not reliable or that he is not making a true deposition before the court. If this exercise is not undertaken and the prosecution allows the two divergent statements of the witness to stand, in respect of the event in question, then it would be difficult for the court to rely upon the testimony of such a witness as the contradictory stand on a point of fact would clearly render him unreliable-The prosecution has failed to discharge its burden in terms of Section 154 of the Act of 1872 by putting his own witness to question on the subsequent statement made at the stage of cross-examination-The prosecution has miserably failed to impeach the subsequent stand of the witness by resorting to the manner and procedure specified under Section 155 to 157 of the Act of 1872. Having failed to discharge its burden of proving that subsequent statement of the witness is not reliable, we cannot allow the prosecution to contend that the subsequent statement of the witness made at the stage of cross-examination be ignored particularly when the testimony made at the stage of cross-examination has not been impeached in the manner specified in law.

The burden of proof upon the prosecution cannot be said to be discharged by ignoring the divergent statement/ stand of its own witness without subjecting the witness to cross-examination.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 8- Subsequent Conduct-The fact about absence of the accused-appellant at the stage of preparation of panchayatnama is concerned or that he made no efforts to trace out the deceased, we are of the view that such facts may only generate suspicion against the accused-appellant of commissioning of the offence. Law is settled that suspicion howsoever strong it may be cannot independently be the basis for implication or conviction of an accused.

Subsequent conduct of the accused may only create suspicion but the same alone cannot take the place of proof and cannot be the basis for securing the conviction of the accused. (Para 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26)

Criminal Appeal allowed. (E-3)

Case Law/ Judgements relied upon:-

Ram Niwas Vs St. of Har., 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1007

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J. & Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. Heard Sri Virendra Pratap Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and the learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This jail appeal is by the accused-appellant Ashok Yadav, who has been convicted in Sessions Trial No. 521 of 2011 (State Vs. Ashok Yadav), arising out of Case Crime No. 288 of 2011, under Section 302, 201 I.P.C., Police Station Puramufti, District Kaushambi and has been sentenced to life imprisonment alongwith fine of Rs.10,000/- under Section 302 I.P.C. and in default of payment in fine to further one year additional imprisonment; seven years imprisonment alongwith fine of Rs.5000/- for the offence under Section 201 I.P.C. and in default of payment in fine to one year additional imprisonment. All sentences are to run concurrently

3. The prosecution case proceeds on a written report of Basant Lal (P.W.-1), who has stated that next to his house is the house of his uncle Ashok Yadav (accused), who is of cantankerous nature and is a thief. He has thrown his wife out of the house about 3-4 months back and his only son Gangadeen (deceased), aged about 13 years was living with him. The deceased often used to have his meals at the house of the informant and he also used to render some services to him. The deceased however was not keen in living with the accused and wanted to go with his mother. On the night of 16/17.08.2011, the informant heard cries of Gangadin and he went to the house of the accused to inquire as to why Gangadin was crying. The accused from inside the house informed that Gangadin was insisting to go with his mother and he was being scolded by him. After sometime the cries of Gangadin stopped and the informant asked the accused to open the door but the accused informed from inside the house that the deceased had gone to sleep. The informant was asked to go back to his house.

4. At about 3:00 A.M. the accused came to the house of the informant and intimated him that Gangadin had run away from the house. The informant along with other family members tried to search Gangadin. The residents of the village namely Raghu Yadav and Jagmohan Yadav however informed the informant that at about 12:00 hours in the night, while they were returning home from the power house, the accused was carrying the deceased covered in a Kathri (stitched blanket) and upon inquiring these persons were informed by the accused that the deceased is unwell and he is taking him for treatment. The informant, therefore grew suspicion and when the accused was firmly inquired regarding the whereabouts of Gangadin that the accused confessed that he has strangulated the deceased and has thrown his body in the village pond. The informant states that while he was attempting to somehow retrieve the body from the pond, that the accused fled. With the assistance of other members of the village the dead body was ultimately retrieved and has been kept in adjoining field of Shamshad.

5. On the basis of such written communication given by P.W.-1, the first information report in Case Crime No. 288 of 2011, under Section 302, 201 I.P.C., Police Station Puramufti, District Kaushambi was registered. The police came on the spot and prepared a recovery memo in respect of the Kathri (stitched blanket) and a pair of slippers. The Panchayatnama was conducted and panch witnesses were of the opinion that deceased has been strangulated and the death is homicidal and in order to ascertain the correct cause of death the post mortem be got conducted. The post mortem has been conducted in which cause of death has been found to be asphyxia as a result of ante mortem strangulation and following ante mortem injuries have been found on the body of the deceased:-

1. Contused swelling of 7cm x 3cm present in front of neck, contusion is placed 2cm below chin, on cut section of contusion mark haemorrhage seen.

2. Multiple abraded contusion of 6cm x 4cm present of right side cheek, on cut section of contusion haemorrhage seen.

3. Contusion of 7cm x 5cm present on left side face. On cut section of contusion haemorrhage seen.

4. Abrasion of 2cm x 2cm present on right index finger."

6. The Investigation ultimately concluded in terms of Chapter XII of the Code of Criminal Procedure and the charge-sheet was submitted against the accused-appellant. The Magistrate took cognizance and committed the case to the Court of Sessions, who framed charge under Section 302 I.P.C. against the accused-appellant. The charges were denied and consequently the trial commenced.

7. The prosecution in order to establish the charge levelled against the accused-appellants, has relied upon following documentary evidences, which were duly proved and consequently marked as Exhibits:

"Written report dated 17.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-1; F.I.R dated 17.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-3; Site plan dated 17.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-5; recovery memo of Kathri & a pair of slippers dated 17.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-7; panchayatnama dated 17.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-6; Post mortem report dated 18.08.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-2 and charge-sheet dated 17.09.2011 has been marked as Exhibit-Ka-15."

8. The prosecution has also adduced oral testimony of following witnesses:-

"P.W.-1/ informant, namely, Basant Lal; P.W.-2, namely Raghghu Yadav, witness of the fact; P.W.-3, namely Dr. Shaji Rahil, who conducted the post-mortem of the deceased; P.W.-4, namely, Constable- Suresh Chandra, who prepared the chik report; P.W.-5, namely, M.P. Verma, S.I., who has conducted the Panchayatnama."

9. P.W.-1, Basant Lal at the stage of examination-in-chief has supported the prosecution version as per which the witness had heard cries/ screams of the deceased in the night and on enquiry from the accused, he was informed that the deceased wanted to be with his mother and was being scolded for it by the accused. After some time, the cries stopped and P.W.-1 again came to the house of the accused and asked him to open the door but the accused informed him from inside the house that the deceased has gone to sleep and that he may go back to his house. The further story that the accused was seen carrying the deceased covered in a kathri (stiched blanket) by Raghghu and Jagmohan Yadav has also been reiterated. However, at the stage of cross-examination, P.W.-1 has come up with entirely different version and has disowned the previous statement made by him in examination-in-chief. He has stated that he had neither heard cries/screams of the deceased in the night intervening 16/17.08.2011 nor had he inquired as to why the deceased was crying. Every part of the statement has been specifically noticed and disowned by P.W.-1. He has also tried to suggest that it is not clear whether the deceased was strangulated or he slipped accidentally and fell in the pond. He has also denied having given any written information to the police on the basis of which the F.I.R. itself was lodged.

10. Similarly P.W.2 has also supported the prosecution case in the examination-in-chief but at the stage of cross-examination he retracted from his previous statement made at the stage of the examination-in-chief and has stated that neither he met the accused in the intervening night nor had he seen the accused, carrying the deceased, covered in a kathri (stitched blanket) and that he has come to know only in the morning that the son of the accused-appellant had drowned in the pond and his dead body has been retrieved.

11. So far as the statement of Doctor is concerned he has proved the autopsy report and the cause of death has been proved to be strangulation. The other formal witnesses have also proved the F.I.R. and other investigation including the recovery memo.

12. On the basis of above evidence led by the prosecution, the accused was confronted with the incriminating materials, collected during the course of investigation, against him. The accused-appellant however stated that he has not committed any murder and has otherwise denied the allegations made against him. No defence witness, however, has been produced. It is on the basis of above material that the trial court has come to the finding that the prosecution has succeeded in proving the guilt of the accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C., beyond reasonable doubt, and the deceased has been sentenced to life.

13. Aggrieved by the conviction and sentence awarded to the accused-appellant the present jail appeal has been filed by him.

14. Sri Virendra Pratap Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae appointed in the present jail appeal has taken the Court through the facts of the case in extenso. It is urged on behalf of the appellant that though the death of the deceased was homicidal yet the accused-appellant cannot be held guilty in the matter as there is no evidence to connect him with the offence. It is further submitted that P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, who are the only witnesses of the fact have turned hostile at the stage of cross-examination and their version is inconsistent inasmuch as the witnesses of fact in the examination-in-chief have supported the prosecution case and have taken a contrary stand at the stage of cross-examination. As such the witnesses have clearly discredited their testimony as their stand is contradictory at different stages of the proceedings of trial. He further submits that apart from the statement of two witnesses no other evidence has been produced by the prosecution so as to connect the occurrence of the offence with the accused-appellant. It is the argument of learned Amicus Curiae that this is a case of circumstantial evidence as none has seen the occurrence of crime and the chain of events pointing to the hypothesis of guilt on part of the accused-appellant has not been proved by the prosecution.

15. Per contra, Sri Arunendra Singh, learned A.G.A. submits that this is a case involving heinous offence in which the accused-appellant has rightly been held guilty inasmuch as the two witnesses of fact have clearly implicated the accused of the offence for which medical evidence in the form of post mortem report clearly corroborates statements made at the stage of examination-in-chief and merely because for unknown reasons the witnesses have retracted at the stage of cross-examination yet their initial stand taken at the stage of examination-in-chief cannot be ignored, altogether. He further submits that the deceased was living with the accused, who is his father and the fact that he was neither present at the time of panchayatnama clearly indicates that his conduct was not natural in not being present at the time when enquiry was being made with regard to death of his son. He next submits that the presumption under Section 106 of Evidence Act, 1872 would otherwise stare against the accused-appellant inasmuch as the deceased was residing only with him and is expected to have specific information/ knowledge about the manner and cause of death of his son and having failed to disclose such specific information the presumption in law would stand against him.

16. We have heard learned counsel for the respective parties in light of their submissions advanced and have carefully examined the records of the present jail appeal including the lower court records.

17. This is a case in which the proceedings have commenced on the basis of a written information of P.W.-1 which clearly contains statement of facts clearly implicating the accused of committing the murder of his son. The investigation conducted pursuant to such written report in the form of panchayatnama also indicates that the deceased was strangulated. The post mortem report also menions the cause of death as asphyxia due to ante mortem strangulation and the injuries have been clearly specified. The evidence produced by the prosecution therefore, leaves no room of doubt that the death of the deceased is homicidal. The cause of death being strangulation, the suggestion given by some of the witnesses that the cause of death is drowning cannot be believed.

18. The question that needs examination in the facts of the case is as to whether the deceased was strangulated by the accused-appellant and whether the prosecution has proved his guilt beyond reasonable doubt?

19. Though the death is admittedly homicidal yet the implication of accused-appellant is based upon the deposition of two witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution namely, P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. P.W.-1 in his examination-in-chief has supported the sequence of facts recorded in the F.I.R. as per which P.W.-1 heard the cries/ screams of the deceased and he made necessary enquiries from the accused followed with the first informant gathering information from P.W.-2 that the accused was seen taking the deceased at about 12:00 hours in the night and the accused later informed the first informant that the deceased ran away and later his dead body was found in the pond but at the stage of cross-examination this witness has clearly taken a somersault and has retracted from his previous deposition made at the stage of examination-in-chief. Similar is the status of testimony of P.W.-2, who also has supported the prosecution case at the stage of examination-in-chief but has specifically disowned his statements made earlier at the stage of cross-examination. On record we find that there are two mutually inconsistent stand/statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. One version supports the prosecution case and other version supports the innocence of accused-appellant. It is in the above context that this Court is called upon to determine as to which of the version of the prosecution witness P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 would be reliable.

20. The provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 can be referred to and relied upon in order to determine as to which of two versions needs to be relied upon by the Court. Section 154 to 157 of the Act of 1872 provides necessary guidance to the Court for determination of the probative value of the deposition made by P.W.-1 and P.W.-2. Chapter X of the Act of 1872 deals with the examination of witnesses. Section 135 describes the order of production and examination of witnesses, whereas Section 136 confers jurisdiction on the Judge conducting the trial to specify the sequence and the manner in which the evidence itself has to be adduced. Section 137 provides for examination-in-chief and the cross-examination by the adverse party of the witness. Section 138 specifies the order of examination and also confers power of re-examination to the Court. Section 146 specifies the nature of questions which may be put to a witness in cross-examination for the purpose of testing his veracity and to discover the identity of the witness or his position in life or to shake his credit, by injuring his character etc. Court has been given power under Section 148 to decide as to when a witness can be compelled to the answer a question. Section 154 allows the Court to permit the person who calls a witness to put any question to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party.

21. In a case of instant kind where the prosecution witness has gone against his own stand, taken at the stage of examination-in-chief, during the cross-examination by the adverse party, it would be open for the prosecution to question such witness about the circumstances or confront him with his previous statement so as to indicate as to whether the subsequent stand taken by the witness would be reliable or not. Law in that regard is well settled and even a witness who has been declared hostile can be examined and his evidence to the extent it supports the prosecution case can be relied upon. However, when the witness comes forward with two diagonally opposite statements in respect of the fact on which he is called upon to adduce evidence, then it is upon the prosecution to prove that his subsequent statement (as the case herein) is not reliable or that he is not making a true deposition before the court. If this exercise is not undertaken and the prosecution allows the two divergent statements of the witness to stand, in respect of the event in question, then it would be difficult for the court to rely upon the testimony of such a witness as the contradictory stand on a point of fact would clearly render him unreliable.

22. Although Sri Arunendra Singh, learned A.G.A. has tried to submit that in the facts of the case the evidence led by the prosecution clearly supports the first stand of the prosecution witnesses P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 as they are consistent with the post mortem report yet we are not inclined to accept such submission of learned A.G.A. as we find that the prosecution has failed to discharge its burden in terms of Section 154 of the Act of 1872 by putting his own witness to question on the subsequent statement made at the stage of cross-examination.

23. We may also refer to Section 155 of the Act of 1872 which provides the manner in which the credit of a witness may be impeached by adverse party in the manner prescribed therein. For ready reference Section 155 is reproduced hereinafter:-

"155. Impeaching credit of witness. - The credit of a witness may be impeached in the following ways by the adverse party, or, with the consent of the Court, by the party who calls him: --

(1) By the evidence of persons who testify that they, from their knowledge of the witness, believe him to be unworthy of credit;

(2) By proof that the witness has been bribed, or has [accepted] the offer of bribe, or has received any other corrupt inducement to give his evidence;

(3) By proof of former statements inconsistent with any part of his evidence which is liable to be contradicted;"

24. Section 157 of the Act of 1872 also assumes importance as the former statements of witness may be proved to corroborate later testimony as to same fact. The statute thus provides that in order to corroborate the testimony of a witness, any former statement made by such witness relating to the same fact, at or about the time when the fact took place, or before any authority legally competent to investigate the fact, may be proved. We find that the prosecution has miserably failed to impeach the subsequent stand of the witness by resorting to the manner and procedure specified under Section 155 to 157 of the Act of 1872. Having failed to discharge its burden of proving that subsequent statement of the witness is not reliable, we cannot allow the prosecution to contend that the subsequent statement of the witness made at the stage of cross-examination be ignored particularly when the testimony made at the stage of cross-examination has not been impeached in the manner specified in law.

25. So far as the fact about absence of the accused-appellant at the stage of preparation of panchayatnama is concerned or that he made no efforts to trace out the deceased, we are of the view that such facts may only generate suspicion against the accused-appellant of commissioning of the offence. Law is settled that suspicion howsoever strong it may be cannot independently be the basis for implication or conviction of an accused. Law in that regard has been settled by the Supreme Court in a recent judgment in Ram Niwas Vs. State of Haryana, 2022 SCC OnLine SC 1007, wherein the Court after referring to the evidence on record proceeded to observe as under in para 20 and 21:-

"20. It is settled law that the suspicion, however strong it may be, cannot take the place of proof beyond reasonable doubt. An accused cannot be convicted on the ground of suspicion, no matter how strong it is. An accused is presumed to be innocent unless proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

21. In the present case, we find that the prosecution has utterly failed to establish the chain of events which can be said to exclusively lead to the one and only conclusion, i.e., the guilt of the accused. In that view of the matter, we find that the judgment and order of the learned Sessions Judge and that of the High Court are not sustainable."

26. Once we cumulatively analyze the evidence led by the prosecution to prove the guilt of the accused-appellant, we find that apart from establishing the factum of homicidal death of the deceased it has failed to connect the accused-appellant with the commissioning of the offence and the circumstances on which the guilt of the accused could be proved or inferred, have not been proved at all. We find that the court below upon evaluation of the facts noticed above has accepted the testimony of prosecution witnesses P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 on the ground that the evidence available on record in the form of post mortem report corroborates the statement of the witnesses made at the stage of examination-in-chief and the fact that principal of falsus in uno falsus in omnibus (false in one thing false in everything) does not apply to the courts in India as such the statements of the witnesses made at the stage of examination-in-chief can be looked into and have been relied upon to return the conviction of the accused. We are of the view that the court below has not adverted to the aspect relating to credibility of the deposition made by P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 in light of two contradictory stands taken by them on same facts. The court below has also not referred to the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 and has completely overlooked the fact that the prosecution has failed to impeach the testimony of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 made at the stage of cross-examination and the consequences which ensues on account of such failure by the prosecution. The statements of witnesses P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 could have been looked into or relied upon to return the conviction of accused only if the prosecution had impeached the later part of the testimony of the two witnesses in the manner specified herein above. Failure to do so by the court below would render it legally impermissible for the Court to refer to or rely upon the testimony of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 at the stage of examination-in-chief by omitting the contrary stand of the same witness taken at the stage of cross-examination. The reasoning adopted by the court below for arriving at the finding of guilt of the accused-appellant is, therefore, found contrary to law and the conviction based upon such reasoning is held impermissible.

27. We may also at this stage refer to para 18 and 19 of the judgment in Ram Niwas (Supra) wherein the Court in a case based on circumstantial evidence has observed as under:-

"18. The prosecution case rests on circumstantial evidence. The law with regard to conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence has very well been crystalized in the judgment of this Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra, wherein this Court held thus:

"152. Before discussing the cases relied upon by the High Court we would like to cite a few decisions on the nature, character and essential proof required in a criminal case which rests on circumstantial evidence alone. The most fundamental and basic decision of this Court is Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh [AIR 1952 SC 343 : 1952 SCR 1091 : 1953 Cri LJ 129] . This case has been uniformly followed and applied by this Court in a large number of later decisions up todate, for instance, the cases of Tufail (Alias) Simmi v. State of Uttar Pradesh [(1969) 3 SCC 198: 1970 SCC (Cri) 55] and Ramgopal v. State of Maharashtra [(1972) 4 SCC 625: AIR 1972 SC 656]. It may be useful to extract what Mahajan, J. has laid down in Hanumant case [AIR 1952 SC 343 : 1952 SCR 1091 : 1953 Cri LJ 129] :

"It is well to remember that in in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established, and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the 2 (1984) 4 SCC 116 guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 793 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033 : 1973 Crl LJ 1783] where the observations were made : [SCC para 19, p. 807 : SCC (Cri) p. 1047]

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between "may be' and "must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

19. This Court has held that there has to be a chain of evidence so complete so as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. It has been held that the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency. This Court has held that the circumstances should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved. It has been held that the accused "must be' and not merely "may be' guilty before a Court can convict."

28. In view of the above deliberations and discussions, we find that the trial court has erred in returning the finding of guilt against the accused-appellant on the basis of evidence led by the prosecution. Finding of the court below that the guilt of the accused-appellant has been proved beyond reasonable doubt is perverse. We hold that the prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of the accused-appellant beyond reasonable doubt and therefore, the conviction and sentenced of the accused-appellant is reversed.

29. Accordingly, the present jail appeal stands allowed.

30. The accused-appellant shall be released from jail, forthwith, unless he is wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C. Fine imposed upon the accused-appellant also cannot be maintained and is thus set aside.

31. Sri Virendra Pratap Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae has ably assisted this Court and would be entitled to his fee from the High Court Legal Services Authority.

32. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kaushambi henceforth, who shall transmit the same to the concerned Jail Superintendent for release of the accused-appellant in terms of this judgment.

State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Govt. Advocate

Criminal Law- Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 313-In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. the prosecution has not put any incriminating material to the accused Manoj @ Bhoora regarding the deceased being given in sacrifice for securing a son for him. Unless such incriminating material was put to the accused by the prosecution at the stage of recording of statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. such motive could not have been relied upon against the accused appellants.

Settled law that at the stage of Section 313of the Cr.Pc, it is the duty of the court to seek the explanation of the accused on the incriminating material against him and the circumstances which were not put to the accused cannot be used against him and have to be excluded from consideration.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 8- Motive- Apart from the above statement of PW-1 there is no evidence led by the prosecution to provide motive for commissioning of the alleged crime. The evidence on the aspect of motive does not otherwise inspire confidence nor can be relied upon to furnish the motive for the occurrence of crime.

Where the case rests on circumstantial evidence but the motive has not been put to the accused while recording his statement u/s 313 Cr.Pc and neither any evidence has been led by the prosecution to prove the same, then themotive cannot be held to be proved against the accused.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Last Seen Theory- The only evidence with regard to the deceased being taken by the accused appellants in the first information report is of Neetu son of Mahaveer and Roshan son of Mahendra Singh. Neetu son of Mahaveer has not been produced in evidence.

Where the prosecution has withheld the witness of having last seen the deceased in the company of the accused, then the theory of last seen relied by the prosecution must fail.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 3- Circumstantial Evidence- This is a case of circumstantial evidence and the law on the point is well settled that the prosecution must prove the complete chain of events which points to the exclusive hypothesis of guilt attributed to the accused appellants. It is also the requirement of law that the prosecution must show that alternative hypothesis does not exist on facts.

Settled law that in a case of circumstantial evidence the prosecution must link all the circumstances in a single chain which establishes the guilt of the accused and no other hypothesis is possible.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 106- The trial court has erroneously placed the burden upon the accused appellants of disclosing the whereabouts of deceased by relying upon the provisions of Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, without analysing the evidence on the factum that the accused appellants had taken the deceased.

Where the prosecution fails to prove the theory of last seen then the burden of proof under section 106 of the IPC cannot be placed on the accused. (Para 26, 27, 29, 45, 51)

2. Ram Niwas Vs St. of Har. 2022 SCC On Line SC 1007

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.
Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. Court of Session has tried three different sessions trial together, namely (1) Session Trial No.744 of 2007 (State vs. Vinod son of Mahendra Saini, Manoj @ Bhoora son of Mahendra Saini and Karm Singh @ Ganjja son of Neebu @ Nemnath Jogi) arising out of Case Crime No.191 of 2007 under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Nagal, District Saharanpur; (2) Session Trial No.745 of 2007 (State vs. Karm Singh @ Ganjja) arising out of Case Crime No.192 of 2007 under Section 25/4 of Arms Act; and (3) Session Trial No.746 of 2007 (State vs. Vinod) arising out of Case Crime No.193 of 2007 under Section 25/4 of Arms Act and vide impugned judgment and order dated 28.07.2009, under challenge in present appeals, convicted all three accused appellants under section 302/34 IPC and sentenced them to life imprisonment with fine of Rs.10,000/- each and in default of fine to further undergo 10 months additional simple imprisonment, as also convicted the accused appellants Karm Singh and Vinod under section 25/4 of Arms Act and sentenced them to undergo six months rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.500 each and in default of fine to further undergo one month additional simple imprisonment. All the sentences are to run concurrently.

2. The prosecution case proceeds on a written report (Ex.Ka.1) of the first informant Rakesh Kumar, who happens to be the father of the deceased, stating that on 30.07.2007 at about 02.00 PM the accused Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja took his son Sheetal, aged 11 years (deceased), on the pretext of offering mangoes at the orchard. The two accused were learning occult practices from before which was well known in the village. Neetu son of Mahavir and Roshan son of Mahendra Singh are stated to have seen the accused going towards orchard with the deceased. When the deceased did not return by the evening the informant tried to locate him without success. On the next morning again attempt was made to locate the missing child and his dead body was found lying in the sugarcane field of Laloo son of Sewa. The informant alleges that the accused Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja for practising occult practices have offered sacrifice of his son by slitting his throat.

His dead body was lying at the sugarcane field. Atmosphere of fear and terror prevailed in the village and nobody was allowing children to come out of their home. Moreover, on account of such fear and terror the residents were leaving the village alongwith their children.

3. On the basis of such disclosure the First Information Report in Case Crime No. 191 of 2007 was registered under Section 302 IPC.

4. On 01.08.2007 the Investigating Officer recovered a knife from accused Vinod and a dagger from accused Karm Singh, in respect of which a recovery memo was prepared and two separate First Information Reports were registered as Case Crime Nos. 192 of 2007 and 193 of 2007.

5. The investigation proceeded and a towel (gamchha) was recovered on the pointing out of the accused from the sugarcane field, which allegedly was used for tying hands and feets of the deceased while he was being done to death.

6. The inquest proceedings were thereafter conducted by Sub-Inspector Ram Kumar Sharma (Ex.Ka.-9) in which cause of death was found to be injuries caused by a sharp weapon and in the opinion of inquest witnesses the postmortem was required to ascertain the cause of death. The inquest witnesses included Kawar Sain, who was the scribe of the FIR and was also the village Pradhan.

7. The investigation proceeded and ultimately a charge sheet came to be filed against three accused under sections 302/34 IPC. Charge sheet was also submitted against accused Karm Singh and Vinod under Sections 25/4 of the Arms Act. The Magistrate took cognizance in the matter and committed the case to court of sessions wherein three separate trials were registered as Session Trial Nos.744 of 2007 (under sections 302/34 IPC) and 745 of 2007 & 746 of 2007 (under sections 25/4 of Arms Act). All the trials were consolidated and conducted together.

8. In order to prove its case the prosecution has produced documentary evidence in the form of written report as Ex.Ka.1; two FIR as Ex.Ka.4 & 21; recovery memo of white Gamchha as Ex.Ka.14; recovery memo of bloodstained and plain earth as Ex.Ka.7; recovery memo of knife as Ex.Ka.8; postmortem report as Ex.Ka.3; report of Forensic Science Laboratory as Ex.Ka.17; and three site plans with index as Ex.Ka.6, 18 and 15.

9. Oral testimony has also been placed before the court of the first informant Rakesh Kumar as PW-1, who is the father of the deceased. In his examination-in-chief, PW-1 has stated that he knows the accused persons and at about 1.30-2.00 PM the children were playing in the lane in front of their houses and his son Sheetal was also with them. Accused Vinod and Karm Singh came there and took his son on the premise of offering mangoes in the orchard. This assertion that the two accused took the deceased on the premise of eating mangoes was based on what he heard. He has later stated that although he saw the accused but accused could not see him. When his son did not return by the evening, PW-1 tried to locate him and he also went to the house of accused Vinod and Karm Singh but they were not available. This statement was, however, made for the first time in court and was not told to the Investigating Officer when his statement was recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. He has stated that two ladies on the next morning had gone to ease themselves in the agricultural field where they saw a dead child and informed PW-1 about it. This information is stated to have been received at 6.00 AM. First informant claims that there were injuries on the head, chest and neck of his son and various villagers collected at the place of occurrence. PW-1 states that he got the report scribed by Kawar Sain, and the same was filed before the Police Station. The witness has, therefore, proved the written report. It is further stated that Vinod and Karm Singh were learning occult practices. He has further stated that accused Manoj got married about 12 years back but had no son and that the deceased has been done to death by the accused Karm Singh, Vinod and Manoj.

PW-1 has been extensively cross-examined on behalf of the defence and he has disclosed that the family of the accused settled in the village about 10 to 12 years back and the male members were doing different work for their livelihood. A house has been constructed by the family of the accused wherein they reside. He has stated that Ashok son of Rameshwar and Rameshwar son of Jairam are relatives and are witnesses in this case. It has also been submitted that witness Roshan son of Mahendra Singh is also a relative, who resides at a distance of 40-45 kilometers. He has further stated that on the relevant date the school was closed and, therefore, his son was in the house and they had taken their food in the afternoon. He has specifically stated that the accused has not taken his son in his presence and he only heard it from others. He has, however, not disclosed the names of person from whom he heard it. He has further explained that the Orchard is close to the Abadi. He has admitted that Manoj @ Bhura was not implicated in the written report. Witness has also been cross-examined on the aspect relating to election on the post of Pradhan in the village and questions were put to him about accused persons supporting the rival faction who had opposed Kawar Sain, who was supported by the informant.

10. PW-2 Sukkur is the uncle of the first informant, who has stated that while he was returning from his field he saw the deceased going alongwith accused Karm Singh, Vinod and Manoj. This witness for the first time takes the name of Manoj also as being the person who took the deceased together with the other two accused. PW-2 claims to have disclosed the fact of seeing the deceased going with the three accused to the first informant. PW-2 has also been examined on the aspect relating to contest of election on the post of Pradhan. PW-2, however, was not a witness in the FIR and has been examined for the first time on 05.08.2007.

11. PW-3 is related as brother-in-law (Jija) of the first informant, who claims to have seen the three accused taking the deceased for eating mangoes in the Orchard. He has in the cross-examination stated that prior to this incident he had never visited the village of first informant. He has disclosed the distance of his village from the place of occurrence as about 30 kilometer and he had returned to his village on 30.07.2007 itself and has again returned in the morning on 31.07.2007. PW-3 also claims to have gone with the informant to the police station for lodgement of the FIR.

12. PW-4 is the informant's brother who also states that he had seen the three accused taking the deceased on the fateful day at about 2.30 in the afternoon. He has also gone to the police station for lodgement of the FIR.

13. PW-5 is the only person who has come forward with a specific evidence with regard to involvement of the accused in occult practices. He has stated that there is Kaali temple in the village and the accused practiced occult there. It is stated that about 14 months ago a Panchayat was held in the village in which Kawar Sain (Pradhan) and various other villagers participated wherein the accused were also called and they were asked to immediately stop their occult practices. It has been alleged that in the panchayat villagers stated that these three persons could offer sacrifie of anyone for the occult purpose and the proceedings of the panchayat were recorded on 10.06.2007. This proceeding of panchayat has been duly exhibited as Ex.Ka.-2. It contains the signature of village Pradhan, who happens to be the scribe of the FIR and is also a witness of the inquest. In the cross-examination PW-5 has admitted that he is a relative of the first informant and has denied the suggestion that the document Ex.Ka-2 has been manufactured in order to create evidence for false implication of the accused persons.

14. PW-6 is the autopsy surgeon, who has conducted the autopsy on the dead body of the deceased and has opined that the injuries in the nature of incised wound could have been caused by a knife or a dagger. He has also stated that the possible time of death could be between 2.00 PM on 30.07.2007 to 9.00 AM on 31.07.2007. He has also stated that there was no food in the stomach/intestine at the time of autopsy. During arguments an issue is raised about the timing of the incident on the ground that deceased had his food at about 12.00 and, therefore, his stomach could not have been empty at around 02.00 PM.

15. PW-7 is the constable, who has verified the Chick FIR. PW-8 is the Investigating Officer who verified the recovery of bloodstain and plain earth and has also prepared the site plan. He has also verified the recovery of bloodstained knife and dagger. This witness has been extensively cross-examined and has stated that statement of PW-2 was recorded for the first time on 05.08.2007 and that his statement was not recorded prior to it. PW-9 to PW-11 are other formal witnesses.

16. On the basis of evidence so adduced, the trial court has come to a conclusion that the prosecution has established the guilt of the accused appellants beyond reasonable doubt and convicted them vide impugned judgment and order.

17. On behalf of the accused appellants, Sri Mahendra Singh Yadav, learned counsel submits that accused appellants have been falsely implicated on the instigation and advise of the village Pradhan Kawar Sain, who had enmity with the accused appellants, and had opposed him in the election for the office of Pradhan, who is not only the scribe of the written report but had accompanied the informant to the police station for lodging the FIR; is a witness to the inquest proceedings and had prepared the panchayat decision to portray the accused as occultist and thereby falsely implicate the accused appellants. He further submits that there is no motive for the accused appellants to commit the offence. It is then urged that this is a case of circumstantial evidence in which the prosecution has failed to connect the chain of events leading to the hypothesis of guilt on part of the accused and the conviction is bad in law. He lastly submits that accused Vinod and Karm Singh are languishing in jail for over 14 years for no fault on their part.

18. Sri Arun Kumar, learned A.G.A. for the State, on the other hand, submits that accused appellants have committed heinous offence of murdering a 11 years old boy for offering sacrifice in occult practices to facilitate birth of a child for accused Manoj as he has not had a child even after 12 years of marriage. He further submits that prosecution has meticulously completed the chain of events to clearly implicate the accused appellants who were found to have taken the deceased and later his dead body was found. Submission is that appeals lack merit and deserves dismissal.

19. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have perused the material brought on record including the records of the trial court.

MOTIVE

20. This is a case of circumstantial evidence. The prosecution alleges that an 11 years' old son of the first informant was done to death by the accused as sacrifice in occult practices to facilitate the birth of a child for accused - Manoj @ Bhoora, who had no son even after 12 years' of his marriage. It is also the case of the prosecution that the accused appellant were involved in occult practices and exorcism and a document in the form of panchayat decision (Ex.Ka.-2) has been brought on record. It would therefore be appropriate to analyse the evidence of the prosecution on the aspect relating to motive which allegedly is the reason for commissioning of the offence.

21. PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has asserted that the accused Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja were learning occult practices in the village. He has also stated that the accused Manoj @ Bhoora got married 12 years' back but he had no issue. The prosecution relies upon the aforesaid testimony of PW-1 to allege that even after 12 years' of his marriage, accused Manoj @ Bhoora had no issue and the deceased has been offered in sacrifice to facilitate the birth of a child for the accused Manoj @ Bhoora.

22. We have examined the evidence on record in this regard. Age of the accused Manoj @ Bhoora has been specified as 25 years in his statement made under section 313 Cr.P.C. PW-1 in his cross-examination has also disclosed the age of Manoj @ Bhoora to be 23 years. If the age of Manoj @ Bhoora at the time of recording of his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is only 25 years, we are at a loss to understand as to at what age he got married?

23. There is no evidence on record to show the date of marriage of Manoj @ Bhoora. The incident occurred two years prior to recording of statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, his age would have been around 23 years at the time of incident. We find it difficult to believe that a period of 12 years had expired from the date of his marriage.

24. We are, therefore, not inclined to accept the prosecution case that Manoj @ Bhoora could not get a child even after 12 years' of his marriage and was desperate enough for a child that he could offer the deceased in sacrifice for the birth of a son.

25. Suggestions have also been given to PW-1 that there was enmity caused between him and Manoj @ Bhoora, about two years back, and that he actually had a son with the name of Guddu. Although no substantive evidence is lead by the defence to prove the birth of a son to Manoj but considering his young age, we find it difficult to accept the prosecution case on the aspect of motive.

26. We also find that in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. the prosecution has not put any incriminating material to the accused Manoj @ Bhoora regarding the deceased being given in sacrifice for securing a son for him. Even the other two accused, namely Vinod and Karm Singh, were also not confronted with any incriminating material on the aspect of such motive. Unless such incriminating material was put to the accused by the prosecution at the stage of recording of statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. such motive could not have been relied upon against the accused appellants.

27. Apart from the above statement of PW-1 there is no evidence led by the prosecution to provide motive for commissioning of the alleged crime. The evidence on the aspect of motive does not otherwise inspire confidence nor can be relied upon to furnish the motive for the occurrence of crime. We therefore, have no hesitation in holding that the prosecution has failed to provide any motive attributed to the accused-appellants for committing the alleged offence.

THEORY OF LAST SEEN

28. The first information report alleges that the deceased was enticed by the accused appellants on the pretext of offering him mangoes in the orchard. Neetu son of Mahaveer resident of village Naya Gaon and Roshan son of Mahendra Singh have allegedly seen the accused going towards mango orchard alongwith the deceased. On this aspect the prosecution has produced PW-1, who initially gave an impression in his testimony that he saw the accused appellants taking his son but later in his cross-examination has categorically stated that he had not seen the deceased being taken by the accused appellants. He, rather, stated that he had heard so by his own ears. However, he has not disclosed the name of persons from whom he heard so.

29. The only evidence with regard to the deceased being taken by the accused appellants in the first information report is of Neetu son of Mahaveer and Roshan son of Mahendra Singh. Neetu son of Mahaveer has not been produced in evidence. Roshan son of Mahendra Singh is the other prosecution evidence who has been produced as PW-3. This witness happens to be the brother-in-law of the first informant. He has stated that at about 02.00 PM he saw the accused appellants calling the deceased for offering mangoes in the orchard.

30. It may be noticed that in the first information report role of calling the deceased for offering mangoes was assigned only to the accused Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja but PW-3 also implicated Manoj @ Bhoora for the purpose. This witness admittedly is not the resident of the village and lives in other village at a distance of about 40 to 45 kilometres (as per statement of PW-1) or 30 kilometres (as per statement of PW-3). PW-3 claims that at about 04.00 PM he returned to his village and again came in the morning and accompanied the first informant to police station for lodging the report.

31. In the cross-examination PW-3 admits that he had never visited the village of first informant earlier and had come there for the first time on the date of incident. He has admitted in his cross-examination that he did not disclose the Investigating Officer that the accused appellants had taken the deceased in his presence. Even the Investigating Officer has admitted that PW-3 had not informed him that the he had come to the informant house on the date of incident. The Investigating Officer has further stated in his testimony that PW-3 had not informed him that the deceased was playing at a distance of 15 feet or that the accused Vinod had asked him to come to the mango orchard. This witness has also not disclosed the reason for his visit to the village on the date of incident. The Investigating Officer has not stated that this witness had disclosed him the date, time and month of the incident.

32. PW-2 and PW-4 are other prosecution witnesses, who are family members of the first informant. Their names were not disclosed in the FIR about seeing the deceased with the accused appellants. PW-2 happens to be the uncle of the first informant and his name has surfaced for the first time on 05.08.2007 when his statement was recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. wherein he has not disclosed the Investigating Officer of having seen the accused appellants taking the deceased with them at around 02.00 PM.

33. Similarly name of PW-4 was also not mentioned in the first information report as the one who saw the accused appellants taking the deceased and his name had also surfaced for the first time on 5th August, 2007. This witness has also not informed the Investigating Officer about the time or place where he saw the accused appellants taking the deceased with them. These are the only evidence of last seen.

34. We also find that though the incident occurred on 30.07.2007 but the Investigating Officer (PW-8) for the first time has recorded the statements of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 05.08.2007. In the event Roshan Lal (PW-3) had seen the accused appellants taking the deceased with them on 30.07.2007 itself, and his dead body was found in the next morning and he was present alongwith first informant for lodging the FIR. There is no reason as to why his statement was recorded for the first time only on 05.08.2007. PW-3 has also admitted that he was not aware of the occupation of accused appellants and it being the first visit to the village by him (PW-3), issues of identity of accused appellants qua PW-3 would also arise.

35. PW-3 is a chance witness whereas PW-2 and PW-4 are introduced later by the prosecution and their deposition in court is a clear case of improvement over what was disclosed earlier by them to the Investigating Officer. Upon the cumulative assessment of the statements of the PW-1 to PW-4 we are persuaded to accept the contention of the defence that none of the witness are wholly reliable on the point of proving the factum of the deceased being taken by the accused-appellants on the pretext of offering mangoes in the orchard. The prosecution has, therefore, not been able to prove the plea of last seen.

36. The prosecution case otherwise is that the deceased was taken to the orchard for offering mangoes to him and his dead body was found later in the morning. The dead body of the deceased has not been found at the orchard, rather, his dead body has been found in the sugarcane field of Laloo son of Seva Ram resident of Goharoo. There is no evidence led by the prosecution about the manner in which the deceased was brought to the sugarcane field or even about the place where he was done to death. The prosecution has also not explained as to how and who noticed the dead body in the sugarcane field first. Although PW-1 has stated that two ladies spotted the dead body in the morning but even their names have not been disclosed nor have they been produced in evidence.

OCCULT PRACTICES

37. The prosecution witnesses of facts have alleged that the accused appellants were practising occult and the deceased was offered in sacrifice for it. The prosecution witnesses have made such allegation and the main evidence in that regard is of PW-5.

38. PW-5 happens to be real brother of the first informant and has stated in his testimony that there is Kaali temple in the village where the accused appellants perform occult practices. He has also alleged that about 14 months back, meeting of Panchayat of village took place at about 05.00 PM in which the Village Pradhan Kawar Sain and various others participated. The accused appellants were allegedly pressurized to take part in the Panchayat and were told to desist from participating in the occult practices. He has also stated that apprehensions were expressed in the meeting of panchayat that the accused appellants could offer anyone in sacrifice for occult purposes. The panchayat proceedings, in that regard, was prepared on 10.06.2007 and has been certified by the Village Pradhan Kawar Sain. This document is marked as Ex.Ka-2. This is the only basis to substantiate the prosecution case that the accused appellants indulged in occult practices.

39. For the convenience of discussion the Panchayat Decision (Ex.Ka.2) is extracted hereinafter:

"पंचायत फैसला

आज दिनांक 10.06.2007 को नया गाँव मडकी में पंचायत मन्दिर में हुयी जिसमें गाँव गवांड के मोजिज लोग उपस्थित थे। जयराम प्रधान कवर जैव प्रधान, बलजोर विजेन्द्र राण लालू सिंह मुनेश पप्पू, उपरोक्त सभी लोगों ने विनोद, भूरा, कर्मसिंह को दबाव देकर बुलाया गया तथा चेतावनी दी कि आप लोग जो काली मन्दिर व खेडे पर तान्त्रिक क्रिया कर रहे हो यह ग्रामवासियों व आप के लिये भी हानिकारक है। दबाव से तब तो कहा कि हम अब ऐसी क्रिया नहीं करेंगे परन्तु ये लोग गुप्त से करते रहे।

यह पचांयत नामा गाँव पंचायत मे लिखा गया कि सनद रहे और वक्त जरूरत पर काम आये लेखक"

40. The above decision refers to some previous decision in which the accused appellants were told not to participate in occult practices and that they agreed not to do so. No date, time and place of the previous decision of the Panchayat wherein this decision was taken has been disclosed. The recital in the above decision that notwithstanding such earlier assurance the accused appellants are still practising occult is also not shown to have any basis. The above decision of panchayat is otherwise not referable to any proceedings known to law. The purpose of its recording is also not clear.

41. Ex.Ka.2 is otherwise a document certified by village Pradhan Kawar Sain who has also participated in the alleged meeting. It may be noticed that Kawar Sain is also the scribe of the FIR; is an inquest witness; has accompanied the first informant to police station for lodging the FIR and is a key mover behind the implication of the accused appellants.

42. Although the defence has not adduced any substantive evidence on its behalf but the records reveal that almost all prosecution witnesses have been suggested enmity between the accused appellants and the first informant on the ground that the first informant sided with Kawar Sain, whereas the accused appellants sided with the other faction. Role of Kawar Sain has been questioned throughout by the defence.

43. We otherwise do not find the panchayat decision to have been taken in any regular panchayat meeting nor such record of proceedings are required to be maintained in the Panchayat. In the totality of circumstances we are not inclined to accept the alleged panchayat decision as being worthy of reliance nor can form any basis for the implication of the accused appellants. At this stage we may also note that though the prosecution case rests upon practise of occult by the accused appellants and the offence is said to be in furtherance of it, we do not find any material to show that the deceased was done to death as sacrifice during occult practices. The inquest report as well as the Investigating Officer have not found any of the materials generally used for performing occult practices like incensory (havan samagri), pooja material, sacred threads etc. near the place where dead body was found.

44. The Investigating Officer (PW-8) has moreover stated that none of the witnesses in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. had informed him about the said panchayat decision. He has also admitted that no evidence has been given by the witnesses about the place of holding of alleged panchayat meeting. Even the panchayat decision (Ex.Ka.2) does not contain any recital about the place where the decision was taken by the panchayat.

45. This is a case of circumstantial evidence and the law on the point is well settled that the prosecution must prove the complete chain of events which points to the exclusive hypothesis of guilt attributed to the accused appellants. It is also the requirement of law that the prosecution must show that alternative hypothesis does not exist on facts.

46. Before proceeding with the deliberation any further it would be appropriate to refer to the law governing the case of circumstantial evidence.

47. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (1984) 4 SCC 116, the Apex Court evolved five tests to be established by the prosecution in order to prove the guilt of accused based on circumstantial evidence. Five golden principles have been enumerated in paragraph nos. 152 to 154, which are reproduced hereinafter:

"152. Before discussing the cases relied upon by the High Court we would like to cite a few decisions on the nature, character and essential proof required in a criminal case which rests on circumstantial evidence alone. The most fundamental and basic decision of this Court is Hunumant vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh. This case has been uniformly followed and applied by this Court in a large number of later decisions uptodate, for instance, the cases of Tufail (Alias) Simmi v. State of Uttar Pradesh and Ramgopal v. Stat of Maharashtra. It may be useful to extract what Mahajan, J. has laid down in Hanumant's case (supra):

"It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground far a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved' as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. V. State of Maharashtra, where the following observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say. they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty, (3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and (5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

154. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence."

48. Judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (Supra) has consistently been followed and reiterated recently by the Court in the case of Ram Niwas Vs. State of Haryana reported in 2022 SCC On Line SC 1007.

49. When we analyse the evidence on record on the above touchstone, we have no hesitation in arriving at a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of the accused appellants beyond reasonable doubt. It has not been proved by the prosecution that chain of events in the present case lead only to the hypothesis of guilt on part of the accused appellants and an alternative hypothesis cannot be ruled out. The accused appellants are, therefore, clearly entitled to benefit of doubt in the matter.

50. So far as conviction of accused appellants Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja for offences under section 25/4 of Arms Act is concerned, we find that neither the recovered articles i.e. knife and dagger have been produced before the court below nor the recovery is proved, inasmuch as the witness to alleged recovery Shyam Kumar has not been produced. The conviction and sentence of accused appellants under the Arms Act, for such reasons, also cannot be sustained.

51. The trial court while analysing the evidence on record has blindly accepted the prosecution case without subjecting the evidence on record on the aspect of motive, plea of last seen and indulgence of the accused appellants in the occult practices. The trial court has erroneously placed the burden upon the accused appellants of disclosing the whereabouts of deceased by relying upon the provisions of Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, without analysing the evidence on the factum that the accused appellants had taken the deceased. The dead body has otherwise been found in the sugarcane field and not within the premises of the accused appellants. The judgment of the court of sessions on material aspects is therefore found wanting. The available evidence has not been subjected to careful scrutiny by the court below and, therefore, finding of guilt returned by the court of sessions cannot be sustained and is liable to be reversed.

52. In view of the discussions and deliberations held above, the present appeals succeed and are allowed. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 28.07.2009, passed by the Sessions Judge, Saharanpur against the accused appellants, is set aside.

53. Since the accused appellant Manoj @ Bhoora is on bail, he need not surrender and his bail bonds stands discharged. He shall be set free subject to compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C., unless he is wanted in any other case. The other accused appellants, namely Vinod and Karm Singh @ Ganjja, who are reported to be in jail, shall be released forthwith, unless they are wanted in any other case on compliance of Section 437-A Cr.P.C.

54. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Saharanpur, henceforth, for necessary compliance.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DR. KAUSHAL JAYENDRA THAKER, J.
THE HON'BLE NALIN KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 5184 of 2021

Sultan @ Munna & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Mohd. Abrar Khan, Sri Sukhvir Singh

Counsel for the Respondent:
G.A.

Criminal Law- Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Section 32- Dying Declaration- Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable- Deceased survived for 4 months after the incident took place. Her dying declaration was recorded by Magistrate after obtaining the certificate of medical fitness from the concerned doctor. Dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence- Truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for 4 months after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time. Moreover, in the dying declaration, the deceased did not unnecessarily involve the other family members of the accused appellants. She only attributed the role of burning to her husband and his second wife. The hostility of one of the witness of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased.

Settled law that where the court finds the dying declaration to be truthful, reliable and voluntary then conviction can be secured solely based on the dying declaration without seeking further corroboration, hence hostility of witness cannot dent the dying declaration.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302- Section 304 (Part-I) - It appears that the death caused by the accused persons was not pre-meditated but they intentionally caused such bodily injuries which were likely to cause death. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 IPC, offence committed will fall under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

Where the deceased died after 4 months of the occurrence due to septicaemia and there is no evidence to show that the offence was pre-meditated then even though the accused had the intention to cause such bodily injuries which were likely to cause death, the offence would be one u/s 304 (Part-I) IPC instead of Section 302. (Para 20, 21, 24, 25, 28, 37)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

Sessions Judge, Court No.6, Farrukhabad, in Session Trail No.12 of 2018 (State of UP vs. Sultan and another) arising out of Case Crime No.53 of 2017, under Section 302/34 and 498A of Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC'), Police Station-Shamsabad, District Farrukhabad, whereby the accused-appellants are convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 302/34 IPC for life imprisonment with a fine of Rs.20,000/- each and in default of payment of fine, further rigorous imprisonment for one year; accused- appellants were further convicted under Section 498A of IPC and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for two years each with fine of Rs.5000/- each and in case of default of payment of fine, to undergo further rigorous imprisonment for one month each. All the sentences were to run concurrently as per direction of the Trial Court. .

2. The brief facts of the case are that first information report of this case was lodged by complainant-Aslam (father) with the averments that the marriage of his daughter was solemnized with accused Munna @ Sultan son of Nabeedraj before about eight years. Earlier also before the said incident, the appellant after about four years of marriage life had tried to push her from the terrace and in that his daughter had sustained injuries. The accused Sultan contracted the marriage with one Yashmeen and because of that there were constant quarrel and Sultan and his second wife Yasmeen hatched a common intention to do away with his daughter and that is how, she was set ablaze . Sabeen received several burn injuries. The accused got Sabeen admitted in hospital and absconded. Sabeena had suffered about 70% burn injuries and she was in the hospital.

3. A first information report was registered on the basis of above written report. During course of investigation, I.O. recorded statement of witnesses, prepared site-plan. Dying-declaration of deceased was recorded by Magistrate. After the death of the deceased, inquest report was prepared and post mortem was conducted. Post mortem report is also placed on record. After making thorough investigation, charge sheet was submitted against the accused Sultan @ Munna, husband of the deceased and Smt. Yasmeen, second wife of Sultan @ Munna. Learned trial court framed charges against both the accused persons under Sections 498A, 302/34 of IPC. Accused-appellants denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

4. Prosecution examined following witnesses:

1.	Aslam	PW-1
2.	Irfan	PW-2
3.	Constable Mahesh	PW-3
4.	Kadeer	PW-4
5.	Dr. Amrit Singh	PW-5
6.	Dr. Kailash Chandra	PW-6
7.	SI Veerpal Singh	PW-7
8.	SI Ravindra Nath Yadav	PW-8
9.	SI Jitendra Singh	PW-9
10.	Churamani- Nayab Tehsildar	PW-10

5. Apart from aforesaid witnesses, prosecution submitted following documentary evidence, which was proved by leading the evidence:

1.	FIR	Ex.ka.1
2.	Written report	Ex.ka.2
3.	Dying-declaration	Ex.ka.13
4.	Post mortem report	Ex.ka.4
5.	Panchayatnama	Ex.ka.9
6.	Charge-Sheet	Ex.ka.7-8

7.	Site plan	Ex.ka.6

6. Deceased was hospitalised after the incident by the accused persons themselves. The deceased died after four months of the incident during the course of treatment at her father's home. The cause of death according to PW-5, who conducted the postmortum report was septicaemic. The oral testimony of Dr. namely PW-6 Kailash Chandra also shows that her dying declaration was recorded when she was in conciousness and he has proved the said document. .

7. Heard Sri Sukhvir Singh, learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Patanjali Mishra, learned AGA for the State.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that accused persons have been falsely implicated in this case. The deceased caught fire while cooking and they have not caused her death. No dowry was ever asked for. It is submitted that the accused has not set the deceased on fire. She caught fire while she was trying to go inside the room. It was the accused who tried to save her. The learned counsel has further submitted that the Court has not even relied on the DW-1, PW-4 did not support the prosecution case. PW-1 is not the eye witness and PW-4 has not supported the prosecution case. Learned counsel for the appellant has relied on the decision of this High Court in Criminal Appeal No.318 of 2015 (Pramod Kumar Vs. State of U.P.) decided on 28.2.2019 and has contended that the accused are innocent and in the alternative has submitted that if this Court comes to the conclusion that the death was because of the act of the accused then the offence would be falling within the provision of Section 304 of IPC and not Section 302 of IPC

9. Learned counsel for the appellants next submitted that dying-declaration of the deceased was recorded when she was surviving, but this dying-declaration has no corroboration with any prosecution evidence. Most of the witnesses of fact have turned hostile and the version of FIR is not supported by the oral testimony. Therefore, learned trial court committed grave error by convicting the accused on the basis of dying-declaration .

10. Learned counsel for the appellants additionally submitted that if, for the sake of argument, it is assumed that appellants have committed the offence, in that case also no offence under Section 302 IPC is made out. Maximum this case can travel up to the limits of offence under Section 304 IPC because the deceased died after 4 months of the incident due to developing the infection in her burn-wounds, i.e., septicemia. As per catena of judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court, offence cannot travel beyond section 304 IPC, in case where the death occurred due to septicemia. Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that postmortem report also shows that cause of death was septicemia. Learned counsel relied on the judgment in the case of Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [2009 Lawsuit SC 1380], and the judgment in Criminal Appeal Nos.1438 of 2010 and 1439 of 2010 dated 7.10.2017 and judgment in Criminal Appeal No.2558 of 2011 delivered on 1.2.2021 by this Court.

11. No other point or argument was raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and confined his arguments on above points only.

12. Learned AGA, per contra, vehemently opposed the arguments placed by counsel for the appellants and submitted that conviction of accused can be based only on the basis of dying-declaration, if it is wholly reliable. It requires no corroboration. Moreover, testimony of hostile witnesses can also be relied on to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC and sentenced accordingly. There is no force in this appeal and the same may be dismissed.

13. First of all learned counsel for the appellants has raised the issue relating to the evidence of witness PW-4 who has not supported the prosecution case. It is further submitted that the deceased died due to septicemia hence it can interred that there was intention to do away with the deceased. There was no demand of dowry so as to convict the accused under Section 498A of IPC. None of the ingredients of the provision of Section 498A IPC are made out. It is not even the case of the prosecution witnesses that any demand of dowry was made. The only allegation of PW-1 is that due to presence of second wife, both the accused used to harass his daughter (deceased). It is not borne out from the dying declaration that there was any demand of dowry. Quarrel will not be sufficient for convicting a person under 498A of IPC.

14. Hon'ble Apex Court in Koli Lakhmanbhai Chandabhai vs. State of Gujarat [1999 (8) SCC 624], as held that evidence of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent it supports the version of prosecution and it is not necessary that it should be relied upon or rejected as a whole. It is settled law that evidence of hostile witness also can be relied upon to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version. Evidence of such witness cannot be treated as washed off the record. It remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base his conviction upon his testimony if corroborated by other reliable evidence.

15. In Ramesh Harijan vs. State of U.P. [2012 (5) SCC 777], the Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that it is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.

16. In State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra and another [1996 AIR (Supreme Court) 2766], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that evidence of a hostile witnesses would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. Thus, the law can be summarized to the effect that evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant part thereof, which are admissible in law, can be used by prosecution or the defense.

17. Perusal of impugned judgment shows that learned trial court has scrutinised the evidence on record but has failed to appreciate the fact that there is no demand of dowry which will come within the purview of Section 498A of IPC and we exonerate both the accused-appellants of the punishment under Section 498A of IPC.

18. Learned counsel for the appellants has argued that dying declaration is doubtful and not corroborated by witnesses of fact, hence, it cannot be the sole basis of conviction. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable. In this regard, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law regarding dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be directed, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

19. The dying declaration is truthful and we rely on the same.

20. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

21. Deceased survived for 4 months after the incident took place. Her dying declaration was recorded by Magistrate after obtaining the certificate of medical fitness from the concerned doctor. In the wake of aforesaid judgments of Lakhan (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

22. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

23. The fact that dying declaration gets corroboration from oral evidence also. We are convinced that the Court has not committed any mistake in relying on the same.

24. In dying declaration of deceased, it is also important to note that it was recorded on and the deceased died while the incident took place. It means that the deceased remained alive for 4 months after making dying declaration. Therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for 4 months after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time. Moreover, in the dying declaration, the deceased did not unnecessarily involve the other family members of the accused appellants. She only attributed the role of burning to her husband and his second wife. .

25. In such a situation, the hostility of one of the witness of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased, which has been proved by prosecution in accordance with law and is a truthful version of the event that occurred and the circumstances leading to her death.

26. As already noticed, the authorities involved in recording the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of prosecution. The dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased, hence, this dying declaration can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the sole basis of conviction.

27. Now we come to the submission by learned counsel for the appellants that deceased died due to septicaemia, hence this case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC. In this regard, learned counsel has submitted that deceased died after four months of incident due to the septicemia. There was no intention of the appellants to cause the death of the deceased.

28. It is an admitted fact that the deceased died after four months of burning and post mortem report goes to show that she died due to septicemia. PW-6 who has recorded the dying declaration has been examined as PW-6. The doctor , who had conducted the post mortem of the deceased was also the same doctor. He has specifically written in the post mortem report and deposed before the learned trial court that the cause of death was septicemia due to burn injuries. Hence, the death of the deceased was septicemial death.

29. The finding of fact regarding the presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence cannot be faulted with. Death of deceased was a homicidal death. The fact that it was a homicidal death takes this Court to most vexed question whether it would fall within the four-corners of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Therefore, we are considering the question whether it would be a murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 IPC. Accused-appellants are in jail since 3.2.2017.

30. In State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Mohd. Iqram and another, [(2011) 8 SCC 80], the Apex Court has made the following observations in paragraph 26, therein:

"26. Once the prosecution has brought home the evidence of the presence of the accused at the scene of the crime, then the onus stood shifted on the defence to have brought-forth suggestions as to what could have brought them to the spot in the dead of night. The accused were apprehended and, therefore, they were under an obligation to rebut this burden discharged by the prosecution and having failed to do so, the trial-court was justified in recording its findings on this issue. The High Court committed an error by concluding that the prosecution had failed to discharge its burden. Thus, the judgment proceeds on a surmise that renders it unsustainable."

31. In Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar [(2010) 2 SCC 91], incident occurred on 14.7.1996, while the deceased died on 10.8.1996 due to septicaemia caused by burn injuries. The accused was convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC, which was confirmed in appeal by the High Court, but Hon'ble The Apex Court converted the case under Section 304 Part-II IPC on the ground that the death ensued after twenty-six days of the incident as a result of septicaemia and not as a consequence of burn injuries and, accordingly, sentenced for seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

32. In Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [(2009) 8 SCC 796], the incident took place on 29.11.1984. The deceased died on 7.12.1984. Cause of death was the burn injuries. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60 per cent burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicaemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. Trial-court convicted the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' imprisonment, but in appeal, High Court convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC. Hon'ble The Apex Court has held that during the aforesaid period of eight days, the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries. Accordingly, judgment and order convicting the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC by the trial-court was maintained and the judgment of the High Court was set aside.

33. In Chirra Shivraj vs. State of Andhra Pradesh [(2010) 14 SCC 444], incident took place on 21.4.1999. Deceased died on 1.8.1999. As per the prosecution version, kerosene oil was poured upon the deceased, who succumbed to the injuries. Cause of death was septicaemia. Accused was convicted under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' simple imprisonment, which was confirmed by the High Court. Hon'ble The Apex Court dismissed the appeal holding that the deceased suffered from septicaemia, which was caused due to burn-injuries and as a result thereof, she expired on 1.8.1999.

34. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

35. In latest decision in Khokan@ Khokhan Vishwas v. State of Chattisgarh, 2021 LawSuit (SC) 80, where the facts were similar to this case, the Apex Court has allowed the appeal of the accused appellant and altered the sentence. The decision of the Apex Court in the case of Anversinh v. State of Gujarat, (2021) 3 SCC 12 which was related to kidnapping from legal guardian, wherein it was established that the Court while respecting the concerns of both society and victim, propounded that the twin principle of deterrence and correction would be served by reducing the period of incarceration already undergone by the accused. In our case, this is not that gruesome matter where the accused cannot be dealt with in light of all these judgments. Decisions in Pravat Chandra Mohanty v. State of Odisha, (2021) 3 SCC 529 & Pardeshiram v. State of M.P., (2021) 3 SCC 238 will also enure for the benefit of the accused.

36. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that it was a case of homicidal death not amounting to murder. We are also of the considered opinion that in the case at hand, the offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

37. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions it appears that the death caused by the accused persons was not pre-meditated but they intentionally caused such bodily injuries which were likely to cause death. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299

IPC, offence committed will fall under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

38. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we are of the view that appeal has to be partly allowed. The conviction of the appellants under Section 302 IPC is converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and the appellants are sentenced to undergo seven years of incarceration. The fine and default sentence are maintained.

39. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed.

THE HON'BLE SUBHASH VIDYARTHI, J.

Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 42918 of 2021

Aditya Kumar ...Applicant
Versus
Union of India ...Opp. Party

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Abrar Ahmad Siddiqui, Sri Abhishek Kumar Mishra, Sri Chandrakesh Mishra, Sri Rakesh Pati Tiwari, Sri Daya Shankar Mishra (Sr. Advocate)

Counsel for the Opp. Party:
Ashish Pandey

Criminal Law -Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 - Section 8(C)/21/29-No independent witness of the alleged recovery-the constables of Railway Police Force cannot be said to be independent witnesses- the recovery memo does not bear signatures of the Gazetted Officer. Page 6 of - a copy of the test report has not been filed by the NCB- The test report filed by the applicant categorically states that the substance was not found to be Heroin but it was Morphine- no criminal history- All the witnesses in the present case are officers and officials of Narcotic Control Bureau and personnel belonging to Railway Protection Force, therefore, there appears to be no reasonable apprehension that in case the applicant is released on bail, he would influence the witnesses.

Bail granted. (E-9)

List of Cases cited:

1. Makhan Singh Vs St.of Har., (2015) 12 SCC 247

2. U.O.I. Vs Rattan Mallik, (2009) 2 SCC 624

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Daya Shankar Mishra, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Chandrakesh Mishra Advocate, the learned Counsel for the applicant and Sri Ashish Pandey Advocate, the learned counsel for the Narcotic Control Bureau.

2. The present application has been filed for release of the applicant on bail in N.C.B. Crime No. 28 of 2021, under Section 8(C)/21/29 of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, P.S. N.C.B. Lucknow.

3. The search, seizure-cum- recovery memo dated 04-07-2021 states that an information was received in the N.C.B. Office at Lucknow on 03-07-2021 at 21:30 hours that a person was carrying Heroin in Coach No. 9 of Train No. 02357 from Gaya, Bihar to Bareilly, U.P. and the train would reach Bareilly junction on 04-07-2021 between 06:00 hours to 07:00 hours. In furtherance of the aforesaid information, a team of Officers of N.C.B consisting of the Intelligence Officer Mohd. Farooq, Supervision Assistant Vivek Kumar, Hawaldar Hridesh Kumar and Driver Brijesh Kumar was constituted. The team assembled in its office at Lucknow and started its journey on 03-07-2021 at 22:30 hours from Lucknow office and reached Bareilly junction on 04-07-2021 at about 05:00 hours. No person agreed to become a witness to the proposed seizure proceedings. The Inspector R.P.F. junction was requested to provide independent witnesses, who deputed two constables of R.P.F. to act as witnesses.

4. When the train reached Bareilly junction, the N.C.B. team apprehended the applicant and from a bag kept near him about 300 gms. brown coloured narcotic powder kept in a white transparent polythene was recovered. However, in personal search of the applicant, no objectionable substance was recovered. Upon testing the narcotic substance with a Drug Detection Kit, it was found to be Heroin. The NCB team conducted a repeat test with the kit and in that also, the substance was found to be Heroin. It is alleged that the applicant also told that the substance was Heroin. It's gross weight along with the double white transparent polythene in which it was packed, was found to be 391 gms.

5. The seizure memo contains a narration that the seizure proceedings commenced on 04-07-2021 at 07:45 hours and continued till 12:20 hours, the seizure memo consisting of four pages was prepared, read over to the applicant and it was signed by the Intelligence Officer, NCB, Lucknow, the Inspector R.P.F., the witnesses and the applicant.

6. The applicant filed an application for being released on bail before the learned Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge, N.C.B., Bareilly, which was rejected by means of an order dated 04-09-2021 on the ground that commercial quantity of Heroin was recovered from his possession in presence of the witnesses.

7. In the affidavit filed in support of the bail application it has been stated that the applicant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated in the present case and that nothing was recovered from him. It has also been stated in the affidavit that the applicant does not have any criminal history.

8. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the N.C.B. in which it has been stated that the substance found in the bag of the applicant was tested with the help of the DD Kit and as per the test report the substance was Heroin. It's net weight was found to be 358 gms and gross weight was 391 gms and the statement of the applicant was recorded and he confessed that he was carrying Heroin to be delivered to a person as per the instruction of his cousin Manish Kumar.

9. In paragraph 15 of the counter affidavit it has been stated that a sample of the seized contraband substance was sent to the Government Laboratory and after chemical examination, the Chemical Examiner submitted a report stating that the sample under reference answered positive test for Heroin.

10. A rejoinder affidavit and a supplementary rejoinder affidavit have been filed on behalf of the applicant and a copy of the test report dated 09-11-2021 issued by the Central Revenues Control Laboratory, Hillside Road, Pusa, New Delhi, mentions that the sample did not answer positive test for Heroin (Diacetylmorphine); however, the sample under reference answers positive test for Morphine.

11. Sri Daya Shankar Mishra, the learned Senior Advocate appearing for the applicant has submitted that the conduct of the N.C.B. Officers in the present case raises suspicion against the genuineness of their allegations. He has submitted that as per the averments made in the recovery memo itself, the officers of N.C.B. had received an information at Lucknow that the applicant was carrying Heroin from Gaya, Bihar to Bareilly through Train No. 02357, which train passes through Lucknow and their conduct in not apprehending the applicant at Lucknow rather the entire team travelled the whole night from Lucknow to Bareilly to apprehend the applicant at Bareilly, is not a natural course of conduct and it raises doubts against their story. He has further submitted that although the alleged search and seizure was conducted at a Railway Station, which is a public place, filled with independent persons, there is no independent witness of the alleged recovery. The constables of Railway Police Force, who witnessed the alleged recovery, search and seizure, cannot be said to be independent witnesses.

12. Sri. Misra has further submitted that it is mentioned in the search and seizure memo that in test and re-test of the substances conducted by the DD kit, both times it was found to be Heroin. In paragraph 15 of the counter affidavit also, the Intelligence Officer, N.C.B. Zonal Unit Lucknow, has stated on oath "that the samples which were drawn from the seized contraband was sent to the Government Laboratory with the permission of the remand Court and after chemical examination the chemical examiner submitted the report stating there in that the samples under reference answered positive test for Heroin', but he has not annexed a copy of the said test report. The copy of test report filed with the rejoinder affidavit states that the substance was not found to be Heroin but it was Morphine. This contradiction in the test reports makes the prosecution case self-contradictory and doubtful. He further submitted that the test memo mentions the weight of the samples to be 5 gms. each whereas the test report mentions gross weight of sample received to be 8.4 gms and the gross weight of remnant returned with plastic pouch to be 6.5 gms and this discrepancy in the weights has not been explained, which too makes the prosecution case doubtful.

13. Per contra, Sri Ashish Pandey, the learned counsel for the N.C.B. has submitted that the search was conducted in the presence of a Gazetted Officer. He has further submitted that the difference in test results of the DD Kit and that of the Government Laboratory are insignificant because Heroin and Morphine, both are narcotic substances and irrespective of the fact whether the substances being found with the applicant was Heroin or Morphine, he would be liable to be prosecuted under the NDPS Act.

14. Sri. Pandey has further submitted that the search has been conducted in presence of a Gazzetted Officer and, therefore, there is no reasonable ground for doubting the genuineness of the search and deizure.

15. The applicant is charged with offences under Sections 8 (c) / 21 / 29 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, which carry a rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may extend to twenty years, and shall also be liable to fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to two lakh rupees and in which bail can be granted only after the stringent conditions of Section 37 of the Act are fulfilled.

16. In Makhan Singh v. State of Haryana, (2015) 12 SCC 247 while dealing with a case under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, the Supreme Court reiterated that "...It is a well-settled principle of the criminal jurisprudence that more stringent the punishment, the more heavy is the burden upon the prosecution to prove the offence."

17. In Union of India v. Rattan Mallik, (2009) 2 SCC 624, the Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the principles applicable in grant of Bail in offences under the NDPS Act as follows: -

"11. Section 37 of the NDPS Act, as substituted by Act 2 of 1989 with effect from 29-5-1989 with further amendment by Act 9 of 2001 reads as follows:

"37. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable.--(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974),--

(a) every offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable;

(b) no person accused of an offence punishable for offences under Section 19 or Section 24 or Section 27-A and also for offences involving commercial quantity shall be released on bail or on his own bond unless--

(i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and

(ii) where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail.

(2) The limitations on granting of bail specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1) are in addition to the limitations under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), or any other law for the time being in force on granting of bail."

12. It is plain from a bare reading of the non obstante clause in Section 37 of the NDPS Act and sub-section (2) thereof that the power to grant bail to a person accused of having committed offence under the NDPS Act is not only subject to the limitations imposed under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, it is also subject to the restrictions placed by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Apart from giving an opportunity to the Public Prosecutor to oppose the application for such release, the other twin conditions viz. (i) the satisfaction of the court that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence; and (ii) that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail, have to be satisfied. It is manifest that the conditions are cumulative and not alternative. The satisfaction contemplated regarding the accused being not guilty, has to be based on "reasonable grounds".

13. The expression "reasonable grounds" has not been defined in the said Act but means something more than prima facie grounds. It connotes substantial probable causes for believing that the accused is not guilty of the offence he is charged with. The reasonable belief contemplated in turn, points to existence of such facts and circumstances as are sufficient in themselves to justify satisfaction that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence (vide Union of India v. Shiv Shanker Kesari. (2007) 7 SCC 798). Thus, recording of satisfaction on both the aspects, noted above, is sine qua non for granting of bail under the NDPS Act.

14. We may, however, hasten to add that while considering an application for bail with reference to Section 37 of the NDPS Act, the court is not called upon to record a finding of "not guilty". At this stage, it is neither necessary nor desirable to weigh the evidence meticulously to arrive at a positive finding as to whether or not the accused has committed offence under the NDPS Act. What is to be seen is whether there is reasonable ground for believing that the accused is not guilty of the offence(s) he is charged with and further that he is not likely to commit an offence under the said Act while on bail. The satisfaction of the court about the existence of the said twin conditions is for a limited purpose and is confined to the question of releasing the accused on bail."

18. Analyzing the facts of the present case for the purpose of deciding the applicants claim for bail in light of the aforesaid law, I find the following facts to be relevant at this stage: -

(i) Although the search and seizure was conducted at Bareilly Railway Station there is no independent witness of the alleged recovery.

(ii) The constables of Railway Police Force cannot be said to be independent witnesses.

(iii) Although it is mentioned in the recovery memo that search was conducted in presence of a Gazzetted Officer Sri. Harjeet Singh "ADEN / BE', but the recovery memo does not bear signatures of the Gazetted Officer.

(iv) The recovery memo claims that in test and re-test of the substances conducted by the DD kit, both times it was found to be Heroin.

(v) The Intelligence Officer, N.C.B. Zonal Unit Lucknow, has stated on oath that the sample was tested by the Government Laboratory and the report states that the samples under reference answered positive test for Heroin. However, a copy of the said test report has not been filed by the NCB.

(vi) The test report filed by the applicant categorically states that the substance was not found to be Heroin but it was Morphine.

(vii) Heroin and Morphine are different and distinct substances. Heroine ((Diacetylmorphine)) is mentioned at Serial No. 56 of the Notification dated 16-07-1996 specifying small quantity and commercial quantity issued under Section 2 (vii) (a) and 2 (xxiii) (a) of the Act and Morphine is mentioned at Serial No. 77 thereof.

19. The aforesaid facts raise doubts against the prosecution case and it gives rise to a reasonable ground for prima facie believing at this stage that the applicant may not be held guilty of the alleged offences.

20. Moreover, the applicant has no criminal history and, therefore, there is no ground to believe that in case the applicant is released on bail, he would again indulge in committing similar offences.

21. All the witnesses in the present case are officers and officials of Narcotic Control Bureau and personnel belonging to Railway Protection Force, therefore, there appears to be no reasonable apprehension that in case the applicant is released on bail, he would influence the witnesses.

22. No other material has been placed by the respondent-Narcotic Control Bureau, which may indicate that the applicant is not entitled to be released on bail.

23. Keeping in view the aforesaid facts and without making any observations on merits of the case, I am of the view that the applicant is entitled to be released on bail pending conclusion of the trial. The bail application is accordingly allowed.

24. Let the applicant - Aditya Kumar, be released on bail in N.C.B. Crime No. 28 of 2021, under Section 8(C)/21/29 of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, P.S. N.C.B. Lucknow, on his furnishing a personal bond and two reliable sureties each of the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned subject to following conditions:-

(i) The applicant will not tamper with the evidence during the trial.

(ii) The applicant will not influence any witness.

(iii) The applicant will appear before the trial court on the dates fixed, unless personal presence is exempted.

(iv) The applicant shall not directly or indirectly make inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

25. In case of breach of any of the above conditions, the prosecution shall be at liberty to move an application before this Court seeking cancellation of bail.

1. Heard Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Abhishek Srivastava, Arti Raje, Sushil Kumar Pandey, Gaurav Singh and Krishna Agarawal, learned counsels for the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd./ Associated Power Distribution Companies, namely Pashchimanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited, Rampur, Dakashinanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Ltd. Jhansi etc. and Sri B.P. Singh Kachhawaha, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. Since number of writ petitions were coming up daily before this Court raising grievances of creation of fake bills/ demands or highly excessive demands by the respondents, therefore, this Court took up one writ petition each on 8th 9th and 10th February, 2022 and called upon the respondents to respond to the contentions of the petitioners. Personal affidavit by the Additional Chief Secretary, Government of U.P. Lucknow has been filed mainly in Writ-C No.27495 of 2021. Brief facts of each writ petitions are being noted below.

Facts:-

Writ-C No.27495 of 2021

3. Aggrieved with creation of fake and fictitious demand of Rs.29,60,202/- by demand notice dated 27.07.2021 issued by the respondent No.2 which was subsequently raised to Rs.31,47,731/- for the period from January, 2017 to November, 2021; the petitioner has filed the present writ petition for quashing of the demand notice. Copy of the ledger account filed by the respondent No.2 as Annexure CA-4 along with the aforesaid counter affidavit, revealed that the respondents debited monthly electricity dues in the account of the petitioner ranging from Rs.20,000/- to Rs.6,15,472/- per month. Considering the facts of the case, this Court passed detailed orders on 08.02.2022, 15.02.2022, 03.03.2022, 24.03.2022, 19.04.2022, 26.04.2022 and 05.05.2022. On 09.02.2022, the respondent No.2 stated before this Court that the demand of Rs.31,47,731/- was wrongly created and it has been modified to Rs.2,45,952/-. In paragraphs-6, 7, 8 and 9 of the order dated 03.03.2022, this court observed as under:

"6. The personal affidavit filed by the Managing Director of Pashchimanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited, Meerut, U.P. is more or less reiteration of the aforesaid personal affidavit of the Principal Secretary. He has also admitted in his personal affidavit the prevailing situation of errors in the consumer ledger, raising of fictitious demands, several lapses on the part of officers of the Electricity Distribution Division and dereliction of duties, negligence in performance of duties by the officers and employees and existence of fictitious arrears against consumers.

7. From the aforesaid two personal affidavits, it appear that an isolated decision against some officers of the respondent No. 2 i.e. Pashchimanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited, Milakh, District Rampur has been taken, but nothing has been stated about the situation prevailing in the Power Distribution Corporation in the whole State of Uttar Pradesh. To give instances, Writ C No. 23674 of 2021*, relates to a consumer of District Jhansi falling under Vidyut Vitaran Khand, Mauranipur, District Jhansi of Dakshinanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited filed against fictitious demand and recovery certificate of Rs. 4,83,103.00. The above noted connected* Writ-C No. 1786 of 2022 relates to a consumer of District Mirzapur falling under Purvanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited/Electricity Distribution Sub-Division-II, Fataha, District Mirzapur, challenging fictitious demand and harassment caused by arrest. The connected Writ-C No. 1858 of 2022 relates to a consumer of district Banda falling under Executive Engineer, Dakshinanchal Vidyut Vitaran Nigam Limited, Agra, wherein creation and attempt for fictitious demand of Rs. 1,61,448/ has been admitted by the respondents.

8. The above noted writ petitions have been mentioned merely as exemplars which, prima facie, show high handedness, illegal and arbitrary actions of the respondents against the consumers who are prima facie being harassed and robbed by raising fictitious/bogus electricity dues demands, well within the knowledge of respondent No.1 and Managing Directors of different Power Corporations and concerned authorities.

9. Facts as briefly noted above, particularly own averments of the respondents as aforequoted, prima facie, indicate maintenance of false and fabricated account/consumer ledger showing fictitious liabilities of consumers with no accountability or any serious efforts by the respondent No.1 to take strong steps to stop the prevailing situation and to save consumers from illegal and arbitrary actions and harassment by the officers and employees so as to preserve fundamental rights of people guaranteed under Article 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India."

4. In response, in the connected Writ-C No.23674 of 2021, a counter affidavit dated 17.04.2022 of Sri Alok Sinha, Additional Chief Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P., Lucknow has been filed. In paragraphs-8, 9 and 10 of the counter affidavit, the Additional Chief Secretary on behalf of State of U.P., has stated as under:-

"8. That for the functioning of Standard of Performance of Uttar Pradesh Electricity Regulation Commission Uttar Pradesh government has gazetted through ordinance number U.P.E.R.C/ Secretary/Manual/656 dated 16.12.2019 where it is provisioned in schedule 18(iii) that if any consumer complaints about billing then if complaint is not resolved even after a definite time then consumer will be entitled for the payment of compensation as damage. Provisions are also there in S.O.P. for various other reasons of wrong Bills. It is also described in this S.O.P. that how a consumer can apply for compensation. By comprehensively advertising this S.O.P. and by increasing consumer vareness, compensation will be provided to aggrieved consumer. The loss incurred by the distribution companies for giving such compensation will be recovered from accused officer/staff personally. By this on one side aggrieved victim will get justice on the otherside limit will also be imposed on faulty employees. True copy of the ordinance number U.P.E.R.C/ Secretary/Manual/656 dated 16.12.2019 are being filed collectively here with and marked as ANNEXURE C.A.2 to this affidavit.

9. In order for strict compliance to stop the fraudulent practice of making/issuing fake bill to the consumer's, a detailed instructions has been issued to all discom of UPPCL vide letter no. 27/पी०एस०एम०डी०/पाकालि/2022 28 फरवरी, 2022 are being annexed with and marked as ANNEXURE C.A.3 to this affidavit.

10. U.P. Power Corporation has issued orders & instructions to ensure that no fraudulent bills are served to consumers which includes wrong billing due to billing without actual release of connection at site, billing for the period in which the consumer has not used electricity, wrong billing due to misfeeding of meter reading, issuance of exaggerated amount of section 5 notice under land recovery act etc."

5. After noticing certain facts on record, this Court passed an order dated 19.04.2022 (Paras 4, 5, 6 and 7) observing as under:-

"4. Learned counsels for the petitioners jointly submit that the respondents have filed false and misleading affidavits and in fact the authorities from bottom to top are hand in gloves and are involved in harassing ordinary consumers which results in extreme corruption. Learned counsels for the petitioners have drawn our attention to a news item published in a daily newspapers 'Hindustan' on 18.4.2022 titled as "अब बिजली बिल रिवीजन में करोड़ो रूपयों का घोटाला". They further submits that in this news item it is mentioned that the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation Limited has constituted a special team to enquire into corruption of about Rs. 22 crores by departmental engineers and employees in matters of bill revision. However, neither in the counter affidavit filed by the respondent no. 1 there is any reference to any such enquiry nor in the letter of the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation*, filed as Annexure 3 to the counter affidavit, there is any reference of any such enquiry.*

5. In various affidavits filed before this Court in batch of these writ petitions, the respondents have made endeavor to give a picture as if actions are being taken but in reality, prima facie, it appears that practically no actions are taken. Despite there being commission of offences as indicated by us in our earlier orders, no material has been brought on record to indicate that any action has been taken by the respondent no. 1 or the Managing Directors of the concerned Power Distribution Corporation or the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation Limited.

6. Learned Standing counsel submits that the respondent no. 1 shall bring on record details relating to enquiry purportedly instituted in matter of corruption relating to revision of bills. It shall not be out of place to mention that in the present batch of writ petitions fake demands were firstly raised and the grievance of the petitioners are not addressed by the respondents and when they filed writ petitions then respondents have admitted before this Court that fake bills/demands were created against the petitioners.

7. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and submissions of the learned counsel for the parties, we direct the respondent no. 1 to file his personal affidavit within three days bringing on record the facts relating to enquiry instituted by the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation Limited in the matters of corruption in bill revisions, if any."

6. On 05.05.2022, the learned Senior Advocate for the Corporation filed a personal affidavit of the Additional Chief Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P., Lucknow dated 02.05.2022, the parties were heard at length and the order dated 05.05.2022 (Paras-3 and 4) was passed, as under:-

"3. Several submissions have been made by learned counsels for the petitioners. Additionally, learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ-C No.1858 of 2022 has submitted that the bill, as raised by the respondents, has been deposited by the petitioner but it still requires correction and issuance of fresh demand, which has not yet been done. Learned counsel for the petitioner also submitted that the respondents have caused harassment to the petitioner for years together including arrest which all are violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India and for which appropriate order needs to be issued by this Court in exercise of powers conferred under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, in the interest of consumers. It is further submitted that malpractices of creation of fake and fictitious demands and raising of fake bills are prevailing in different parts of State of Uttar Pradesh from a very long time which is also reflected from the order passed by this Court in the year 2001. Therefore, to save people from the corrupt practice and arbitrary and illegal action of the respondents, it is in the interest of justice that a direction may be issued to the respondents to conduct a special audit to find out creation of fake and fictitious demands in ledger and raising of fake and fictitious bills. Learned counsels for the petitioner have also drawn attention of this Court to page nos.52, 121, 126, 130, 144, 170 and 176 etc. of the personal affidavit dated 02.05.2022 filed on behalf of the respondent no.1 by Shri M. Devraj, Principal Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P., Lucknow. They lastly submitted that the writ petitions deserve to be allowed with exemplary costs.

4. Learned Senior Advocate, on instructions of the respondent no.1, states that the respondents are ready and willing to follow directions of this Court with regard to special audit in the whole part of the State of Uttar Pradesh to find out fake and fictitious demands created in the ledger, raising of fake and fictitious bills etc. in the interest of general consumers, and also remedial steps for discouraging malpractices in the various offices of the Corporation."

Writ-C No.23674 of 2021

7. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the petitioner applied for agricultural electricity connection of 7.5 KVA for his tubewell and deposited Rs.11,145/- on 26.02.2008 towards fees etc. as demanded by the respondents, but the respondents have neither granted electricity connection to the petitioner nor installed poles etc. On one hand, the respondents have not granted electricity connection to the petitioner and, on the other hand, they started raising demands of electricity dues against the petitioner. The respondent nos.2/3 issued a recovery certificate of Rs.4,83,103/- against the petitioner towards electricity dues and pursuant thereto, the respondent no.4 has issued a recovery citation dated 26.07.2021 for the aforesaid amount.

8. Aggrieved with the dues and action for recovery thereof by the respondents, the petitioner has filed the present writ petition. On 23.02.2022, this Court passed an order (Paras-6 and 7) observing as under:

"6. Today, learned counsel for the respondent nos.2 and 3 has produced certain letters of the respondent nos.2/3 or the authorities subordinate to them which shows that a fake and bogus demand of electricity dues was created for years together against the petitioner and the petitioner has been continuously harassed. It is only when the petitioner has filed the present writ petition, then the respondents have withdrawn the recovery certificate. The papers (13 in number) produced by learned counsel for the respondent nos.2 and 3 are kept on record.

7. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and long practice of the respondents to raise fake bills/demands against electricity consumers, we direct respondent nos.1 and 3 to file counter affidavits by means of their personal affidavits annexing therewith copies of papers produced today by learned counsel for the respondent nos.2 and 3 and copy of ledger account of the petitioner (consumer ledger account) and show cause as to why exemplary cost may not be imposed for harassing the petitioner for years together on the basis of fake and bogus demands created against him."

9. A counter affidavit by means of personal affidavit of Additional Chief Secretary on behalf of respondent No.1 dated 17.04.2022 has been filed and paragraphs-8, 9 and 10 thereof have already been reproduced above under the heading "Writ-C No.27495 of 2021."

Writ-C No.1786 of 2022:-

10. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:-

"(a) Certiorari - quash the impugned recovery citation dated 25.01.2021 issued by Tehsildar, Tehsil Sadar, District-Mirzapur/Respondent no.3 and undated demand notice issued by the respondent no.4 (Annexure Nos.4 and 9) to this writ petition.

(b) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.4 to consider and decide the representation of the petitioner within stipulated period in the interest of justice.

(c) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Mandamus upon the respondent's authority for the act and conduct by which the economical, social and physical harassment of the petitioner was done and the Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to impose the heavy cost upon the respondent's authority with regard the illegal activities and procedure adopted by the respondents."

11. Annexure 5 to the writ petition is the permanent disconnection report which reveals that electricity connection of the petitioner was disconnected permanently on 25.02.2003. As per report dated 19.08.2021 made on the aforesaid permanent disconnection, it appears that according to the respondent no.4, the electricity dues of the petitioner, as on the date of permanent disconnection, i.e., 25.02.2003, was Rs.9,444/-. However, respondent no.4 remained silent and issued a recovery certificate for Rs.3,82,169/- on the basis of which a citation dated 25.01.2021 for Rs.4,01,278/- (electricity dues - Rs.3,82,169/- + collection charge - Rs.19,109/-) was issued by the respondent no.3, i.e. Tehsildar, Tehsil Sadar, District Mirzapur. The petitioner submitted an application dated 08.04.2021 before the respondent no.4 supported by an affidavit whereby he apprised the respondent no.4 of the entire facts and requested it to withdraw the demand.

12. Instead of withdrawing the demand, the petitioner was arrested on account of the aforesaid electricity dues of Rs.3,82,169/- and news of arrest was got published by the respondents in daily newspapers alongwith photographs. After the petitioner somehow deposited Rs.82,000/-, he was released from civil prison.

13. The petitioner submitted another application through his son dated 28.09.2021 before the respondent no.4 which was also not considered. Copy of the application was sent by the petitioner to various authorities, namely, District Magistrate, Mirzapur and Superintendent of Police, Mirzapur, etc., but no action was taken. Therefore, the petitioner, after being released, again submitted application before various authorities on 29.09.2021 and made serious allegations. Despite all these facts, the respondent no.4 again issued a notice to the petitioner showing dues of Rs.4,95,951/- as on 30.09.2021.

14. Thus, the grievance of the petitioner is that a manipulated, fake and baseless demand of electricity dues being pressed against him despite permanent disconnection on 25.02.2003, is not being redressed by the respondent no.4 and he is being harassed by the respondents.

15. In paragraph-10 of his counter affidavit dated 15.02.2022, the respondent No.2 (District Magistrate, Mirzapur) stated that to recover the aforesaid dues, the Tehsil Authorities took the petitioner under civil custody on 28.09.2021. Thereafter, an application supported by affidavit and a permanent disconnection report of the concerned authority requiring the petitioner to deposit only Rs.9,444/- as electricity dues, was submitted. Thereafter, the petitioner was released from civil custody. The dues found against the petitioner was only Rs.9,444/- as against the demand created by the respondents and consequential recovery citation issued for Rs.4,01,278/-.

16. In paragraph-4 of his counter affidavit dated 13.02.2022, the respondent No.4, i.e. the Executive Engineer stated that after the petitioner was arrested pursuant to recovery citation, his son represented and, thereafter it was found that actual dues are only Rs.9,444/- and the total up-to-date liability with disconnection charges was found to be Rs.11,166/- and, therefore, he instructed the Tehsil Authorities to release the petitioner from civil prison. Thus, alleged contention of the petitioner pursuant to fake/ fictitious demand created by the respondents, has been admitted by the respondents.

17. This writ petition has been filed praying to quash the recovery citation dated 03.08.2021 issued by the respondent no.4 pursuant to the recovery certificate forwarded by the respondent no.3.

18. According to the respondent nos.2 and 3, the petitioner was granted an electricity connection of 1KW on 11.07.2014 and the meter was installed on 16.01.2019. According to the petitioner, he was given the electricity connection on 16.01.2019. It appears that a recovery notice of Rs.1,59,598/- was sent by the respondent no.3 which was immediately replied by the petitioner through application dated 08.01.2019 stating therein that the dues are totally fake and there is no electricity connection in the petitioner's shop. Thereafter, the respondent no.3 installed the meter for 1 KW load on 16.01.2019 as evident from the meter ceiling certificate dated 16.01.2019. Since the respondent no.3 was not taking any action and instead issued a recovery certificate of Rs.2,31,858/-, therefore, the petitioner submitted an application dated 07.10.2020 before the respondent no.3 requesting to inquire into the matter and withdraw the recovery certificate.

Since nothing was done by the respondent no.3, therefore, the petitioner filed Complaint Case No.96 of 2019 (Brahamdeen vs. U.P. Power Corporation) in the Court of Consumer Forum Banda in which the respondent no.3 filed a written statement dated 25.04.2021. In the written statement, the respondent no.3 has clearly stated in paragraph 14 as under :-

"ystj ds vuqlkj cdk;k # 222639@&A

vr% #161448@& {kn~e cdk;k lekIr fd;k tkrk gSA"*

19. In paragraph 14 of the written statement, the respondent no.3 has stated as under:

";g fd ifjoknh dks la;kstu ls ekg vizSy 2020 rd # 61]191@& dh /kujkf'k dk Hkqxrku fu;ekuqlkj djuk vfuok;Z ,oa vko';d gSA"

20. Thus, it is evident from the written statement of the respondent no.3 that as per his own case, fake dues of Rs.1,61,448/- was shown in the ledger and accordingly recovery was being pressed against the petitioner.

21. Thus, creation of fake dues and recovery thereof by the respondents from the petitioner caused the petitioner to file the present writ petition praying to quash the recovery citation dated 03.08.2021. The respondent No.2, i.e. the Chairman, U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. has filed his personal affiavit dated 14.04.2022 in which he admitted the fact of correct demand to be only Rs.61,191/-. He also indicated in his personal affidavit about initiation of certain action against certain officers/ employees. In paragraph-7 of his personal affidavit, he stated that the default is on the part of concerned officers in issuance of incorrect demand notice without referring to the modified bill.

Submissions:-

22. Learned counsel for the petitioners in each of the writ petitions submitted that the respondents are habitual of raising fake demands and thereby coercing individual consumers including their arrest/ detention and harrassment by various means which is violative of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India. They submitted that from paragraph-8 of the personal affidavit of the Additional Chief Secretary dated 17.04.2022 filed on behalf of the respondent No.1 in Writ-C No.23674 of 2021, it appears that some Rules have been enacted by the State Government for compensation but neither it has been precisely indicated in the counter affidavit nor complete copy thereof has been filed along with the aforesaid personal affidavit. They further submit that as per admitted facts, it is evident that raising of huge fake demands against the consumers and adopting coercive measures to recover it from them is a practice prevailing in different Electricity Distribution Corporation in the State of U.P. and grievances of consumers are not redressed as a matter of practice unless the consumer approaches the court or pleases the officers for redressal of his grievances. They further submit that the personal affidavit of the Additional Chief Secretary dated 02.05.2022 filed on behalf of the State of Uttar Pradesh itself would clearly reveal that a special audit conducted for a small period revealed not only creation of fake and fictitious bills against the consumers but also malpractices prevailing in various Power Distribution Corporation to reduce actual demands of certain consumers causing huge loss of revenue to the Corporation. Therefore, there is an urgent need not only in the interest of general consumers but also in the interest of the respondents that a special audit in the matter of these Distribution Corporations be directed to be conducted by an expert agency so that there may be a check on harassment of general consumers on one hand and on the other hand the Corporation may not suffer financially on account of fraud/ embazzlement being practiced by officers and employees.

23. Learned Senior Advocate submits that the respondents have taken all steps to correct wrongs and are ready and willing to take all actions as may be directed by this Court with regard to special audit in the whole of State of Uttar Pradesh to find out fake and fictitious bills created in the ledger in the interest of general consumers and also remedical steps for discuraging malpractices in various offices of the Corporation. A statement in this regard was given on behalf of the respondents which has been noted by this court in paragraph-4 of the order dated 05.05.2022 passed in the aforesaid leading Writ-C No.27495 of 2021.

Discussion and Findings:-

24. We have carefully considered the submisions of learned counsels for the parties and perused the records of the writ petition.

25. From the facts aforenoted, we find that although there exists "The Uttar Pradesh Regulatory Commission (Standards of Performance), Regulations, 2019" (hereinafter referred to as "SOP Regulations, 2019") enacted by the Uttar Pradesh Electricity Regulatory Commission in exercise of power conferred under Section 181(1) and 181(2)(za & zb) read with Sections 57(1), 57(2), 59(1) and 86(1)(i) of the Electricity Act, 2003 but the aforesaid SOP Regulations, 2019 is not being observed by the authorities/ Associate Distribution Corporations and it remained only a paper work. Therefore, there is an urgent need not only for strict adherence to the aforesaid SOP Regulations, 2019 but also for its proper publicity regularly on website as well as in newspapers for the month of January and July each year and also to publish it, particularly compensation structure and information of procedure for filing complaints; at the back of electricity bills or separate handout which may be distributed along with bills as provided in Paragraph-9.4.3 of the S.O.P. Regulations, 2019. The aforesaid Regulations, 2019 as published in the U.P. Extraordinary Gazette dated 16.12.2019 is made part of this judgment as Appendix-I.

26. Perusal of clauses 2.1(g), 7, 8.4.1, 9.4.3, Schedule-I and Schedule-III of the SOP Regulations, 2019 would reveal that although provision for compensation for various deficiencies in service by the licencees/ Power Distribution Corporations have been made, yet on the facts of the present case, we find that no action for payment of compensation to the petitioners on the admitted facts of the present case have been made by the respondents. Considering the admitted prevailing practice of creating or issuing fake demands and issuing highly excessive bills against large number of consumers in the State of Uttar Pradesh and also to achieve the primary object of the SOP Regulations, 2019 and that every details of online complaints and resolution of complaints are to be maintained or are available with the concerned authorities of all the Associated Power Distribution Corporations, therefore, there is no need for lodging a separate claim by consumers under Para 8.4.1 of the SOP Regulations, 2019. Therefore, we issue a general mandamus to all concerned authorities of Power Distribution Corporations that they shall at their own compute compensation payable to complainants in terms of the SOP Regulations 2019 as per data available with them with respect to the each complaint and shall pay compensation in terms of the aforesaid SOP Regulations 2019 as per procedure provided. The need of filing claim by a consumer would arise only when the consumer on a given set of facts, finds himself dissatisfied with the compensation granted by the authority concerned.

Direction for Disciplinary Action:-

27. In the counter affidavit filed by the Chairman of the U.P. Power Corporation and also by the State Government, practice of creating fake demands and raising fake bills against consumers, have been admitted. The Managing Director, U.P. Power Corporation has also admitted these facts in his Letter No.PSMD/ikdkfy/2022 dated 28.02.2022 addressed to the Managing Directors, Madhyanchal/ Purvanchal/ Pashimanchal/ Dakshinanchal Electricity Distribution Corporations filed as Annexure CA-3 in connected Writ-C No.23674 of 2021, in which he stated that issuance of bills to consumers of highly excessive amounts etc. and issuance of recovery notices/ certificates for recovery thereof not only causes unnecessary harassment to consumers but also creates possibility of corruption which despite instructions issued, are not being checked and which needs to be checked cent percent and in the event such matters come to light, then departmental proceedings be initiated against the erring officers and the compensation be paid to consumers to be recovered from the concerned erring officers/ employees. But facts of the present cases still reveal that neither any compensation was paid to petitioners nor any concrete action has been taken against the erring officers and employees. Therefore, we direct the respondents to initiate appropriate disciplinary action against all the erring officers/ employees who have been prima facie found guilty of creating fake demands or issuing bills illegally against the petitioners and making recovery thereof; in accordance with law within three weeks from today and conclude disciplinary proceedings within next six months.

Directions for Special Audit:-

28. In paragraphs-5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the personal affidavit dated 02.05.2022 filed by the Principal Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P. Lucknow on behalf of the respondent No.1, it has been stated that in compliance to the order dated 19.04.2022 passed by this Court, the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation has informed to the State Government vide letter dated 22.04.2022 that for Electricity Distribution Division, Deoria for the period from 22.11.2018 to 02.11.2020 and for Electricity Distribution Division, Mahoba for the period from 01.04.2017 to 31.03.2021, a special audit was conducted and special audit report was submitted to the Director Finance, UPPCL, Lucknow on 06.04.2022 which revealed serious discrepancies and action on the special audit reports are being taken against the erring officers/ officials. Copies of the aforesaid two special audit reports of Distribution Division, Deoria and Distribution Division-I & II, Mahoba have been filed as Annexures 2 and 3 respectively to the aforesaid personal affidavit.

29. The aforesaid two special audit reports of districts Deoria and Mahoba, reveal two sets of illegalities by officers and employees. The first set of illegalities is raising fake/ fictitious bills/ demands and creating fake/ fictitious bills/ demands in ledgers against consumers either against a very low amount of actual dues or even without electricity connection. The second set of illegalities is more serious which indicates embezzlement of very huge amounts running in several crores of rupees and thereby causing financial losses to the State Government/ Corporations by several means including embezzlement of permanent and also of temporary nature. These two special audit reports relating to two districts namely Deoria and Mahoba are eye opener for the State Government so as to prevent its own people from harassment and breach of their fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India on the one hand and on the other hand to protect its revenue and punish its officers and employees and officers/ employees of concerned Power Distribution Corporations who are involved in embezzlement or misappropriation or benefiting unscrupulous consumers thereby causing loss to the Government/ Distribution Corporations. The State Government is well aware of these malpractices prevailing in the whole of State of Uttar Pradesh and yet has requested this court for a direction to it for conducting special audit to take appropriate steps to curb the malpractices, as is evident from the statement made on behalf of the State Government and noted in the aforequoted order of this court dated 05.05.2022. Considering the large-scale malpractices, maintenance of false and fabricated ledger account of consumers showing fictitious liability and issuance of fake/ fictitious/ manipulated bills of electricity dues thereby causing serious harassment to consumers resulting in breach of their fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India on the one hand and on the other hand serious malpractices prevailing in Distribution Division of Associate Distribution Corporations in the State of U.P. causing huge loss of revenue to the State Government/ Power Corporation by means of embezzlement and other malpractices, we direct the State of Uttar Pradesh through Principal Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P. Lucknow and the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation, Lucknow to develop and put in place an effective mechanism within three months from today to check completely the illegal malpractices as briefly mentioned above and also pointed out in the two special audit reports of district Deoria and Mahoba including embezzlement of government money. We further direct that the State Government and the Managing Director of the Uttar Pradesh Power Corporation shall take all required steps for special audit, of each divisions in the districts falling under respective Distribution Power Corporations; by a competent expert body/ authority/ agency for such period as the State Government or the U.P. Power Corporation may deem fit. Audit report shall be submitted within six months which shall be examined by the competent authority within next one month and appropriate action shall be taken thereafter within next three months. We further direct the State Government and U.P. Power Corporation to put in place such mechanism or to improve the existing mechanism as they may think fit, within three months from today for regular check on the malpractices and embezzlement etc. as briefly discussed above and also those as indicted in the aforesaid two special audit reports of Distribution Division of Districts Deoria and Mahoba.

Responsibility of State Government and Accountability of its Officers and Employees and Compensation:-

30. In N. Nagendra Rao & Co. v. State of Andhra Pradesh (1994) 6 SCC 205 (Para 25) Hon'ble Supreme Court, held as under :

"25. But there the immunity ends. No civilised system can permit an executive to play with the people of its country and claim that it is entitled to act in any manner as it is sovereign. The concept of public interest has changed with structural change in the society. No legal or political system today can place the State above law as it is unjust and unfair for a citizen to be deprived of his property illegally by negligent act of officers of the State without any remedy. From sincerity, efficiency and dignity of State as a juristic person, propounded in nineteenth century as sound sociological basis for State immunity the circle has gone round and the emphasis now is more on liberty, equality and the rule of law. The modern social thinking of progressive societies and the judicial approach is to do away with archaic State protection and place the State or the Government on a par with any other juristic legal entity. Any watertight compartmentalization of the functions of the State as "sovereign and non-sovereign" or "governmental and non-governmental" is not sound. It is contrary to modem jurisprudential thinking. The need of the State to have extraordinary powers cannot be doubted. But with the conceptual change of statutory power being statutory duty for sake of society and the people the claim of a common man or ordinary citizen cannot be thrown out merely because it was done by an officer of the State even though it was against law and negligent. Needs of the State, duty of its officials and right of the citizens are required to be reconciled so that the rule of law in a Welfare State is not shaken. Even in America where this doctrine of sovereignty found its place either because of the "financial instability of the infant American States rather than to the stability of the doctrine's theoretical foundation", or because of "logical and practical ground", or that "there could be no legal right as against the State which made the law" gradually gave way to the movement from, "State irresponsibility to State responsibility". In Welfare State, functions of the State are not only defence of the country or administration of justice or maintaining law and order but it extends to regulating and controlling the activities of people in almost every sphere, educational, commercial, social, economic, political and even marital. The demarcating line between sovereign and non-sovereign powers for which no rational basis survives has largely disappeared. Therefore, barring functions such as administration of justice, maintenance of law and order and repression of crime etc. which are among the primary and inalienable functions of a constitutional Government, the State cannot claim any immunity. The determination of vicarious liability of the State being linked with negligence of its officers, if they can be sued personally for which there is no dearth of authority and the law of misfeasance in discharge of public duty having marched ahead, there is no rationale for the proposition that even if the officer is liable the State cannot be sued. The liability of the officer personally was not doubted even in Viscount Canterbury4. But the Crown was held immune on doctrine of sovereign immunity. Since the doctrine has become outdated and sovereignty now vests in the people, the State cannot claim any immunity and if a suit is maintainable against the officer personally, then there is no reason to hold that it would not be maintainable against the State.

31. In Common Cause, A Registered Society v. Union of India and others, (1996)6 SCC 530 (Para 26), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"No public servant can say "you may set aside an order on the ground of malafide but you cannot hold me personally liable". No public servant can arrogate to himself the power to act in a manner which is arbitrary".

32. In Shivsagar Tiwari Vs. Union of India and others (1996) 6 SCC 558, Hon'ble Supreme Court quoted with approval of the observations of Edmund Burke, as under:

"An arbitrary system indeed must always be a corrupt one. There never was a man who thought he had no law but his own will, who did not soon find that he had no end but his own profit."

33. In Delhi Development Authority Vs. Skipper Construction and Another AIR 1996 SC 715 (Para 6) Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

"A democratic Government does not mean a lax Government. The rules of procedure and/or principles of natural justice are not meant to enable the guilty to delay and defect the just retribution. The wheel of justice may appear to grind slowly but it is duty of all of us to ensure that they do grind steadily and grind well and truly. The justice system cannot be allowed to become soft, supine and spineless."

34. In Mohammad Iqbal and Anr. v. State of U.P. and others 2016 (9) ADJ 593 (Para 11 and 17), this Court held as under:

"11. In a democratic system governed by rule of law, Government does not mean a lax Government. The public servants hold their offices in trust and are expected to perform with due diligence particularly so that their action or inaction may not cause any undue hardship and harassment to a common man. Whenever it comes to the notice of this Court that Government or its officials have acted with gross negligence and unmindful action causing harassment of a common and helpless man, this Court has and never would be a silent spectator but always react to bring authorities within rule book or to make them accountable."

17. We, therefore dispose of this writ petition with cost of Rs.2 lacs which shall be paid at the first instance by respondent-1 since respondent-3 is the official and agent of respondent-1, but it shall have liberty to recover such amount from authority concerned who is responsible for such illegal action of detention of petitioner's vehicle on 3.10.2014 and onwards."

35. In Natural Resources Allocation, In re, Special Reference No. 1 of 2002, (2012) 10 SCC 1 (Para 172 and 184) Hon'ble Supreme Court held, as under:

"172.The judgment in LDA case brings out the foundational principle of executive governance. The said foundational principle is based on the realisation that sovereignty vests in the people. The judgment, therefore, records that every limb of the constitutional machinery is obliged to be people oriented. The fundamental principle brought out by the judgment is that a public authority exercising public power discharges a public duty, and, therefore has to subserve general welfare and common good. All power should be exercised for the sake of society. The issue which was the subject-matter of consideration, and has been noticed along with the citation was decided by concluding that compensation shall be payable by the State (or its instrumentality) where inappropriate deprivation on account of improper exercise of discretion has resulted in a loss, compensation is payable by the State (or its instrumentality). But where the public functionary exercises his discretion capriciously, or for considerations which are malafide, the public functionary himself must shoulder the burden of compensation held as payable. The reason for shifting the onus to the public functionary deserves notice. This Court felt that when a court directs payment of damages or compensation against the State, the ultimate sufferer is the common man, because it is taxpayers' money out of which damages and costs are paid.

184. Another aspect which emerges from the judgments (extracted in paras 159 to 182, above) is that, the State, its instrumentalities and their functionaries, while exercising their executive power in matters of trade or business, etc. including making of contracts, should be mindful of public interest, public purpose and public good. This is so, because every holder of public office by virtue of which he acts on behalf of the State, or its instrumentalities, is ultimately accountable to the people in whom sovereignty vests. As such, all powers vested in the State are meant to be exercised for public good and in public interest. Therefore, the question of unfettered discretion in an executive authority, just does not arise. The fetters on discretion are clear, transparent and objective criteria or procedure which promotes public interest, public purpose and public good. A public authority is ordained, therefore to act, reasonably and in good faith and upon lawful and relevant grounds of public interest."

36. In the case of Lucknow Development Authority Vs. M.K. Gupta (1994) 1 SCC 243 (Paras 8, 10, 11 and 12 Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that under our Constitution Sovereignty vest in the people. Every limb of the constitutional machinery is obliged to be people oriented. No functionary in exercise of statutory power can claim immunity, except to the extent protected by the statute itself. Public authorities acting in violation of constitutional or statutory provisions oppressively are accountable for their behaviour before authorities created under the statute like the commission or the courts entrusted with responsibility of maintaining the rule of law.

37. The respondents are State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. They are public functionary. As per Constitution, the sovereignty vests in people. Every government functionary including the public authorities are obliged to be people oriented. The public officers are public servants and they have been employed to serve people. They are accountable for their illegal acts and for violating the Constitutional and Statutory provisions. They cannot be a cause for harassment to the people.

38. The sufferer of the high-handedness and inaction of the government officers and employees, are ordinary citizen or a common man who is hardly equipped to match the might of the State or its instrumentalities. Sovereignty vests in the people. Every limb of the constitutional machinery is obliged to be people oriented. Servants of the government are in fact servants of the people. Therefore, the use of their power must always be subordinate to their duty of service. If a public functionary acts maliciously or oppressively and the exercise of power results in harassment and agony then it is not an exercise of power but it is abuse of power for which the law does not protect them and they must suffer. Harassment of a common man by public authorities is socially abhorring and legally impermissible. It may harm him personally but the injury to society is far more grievous. Nothing is more damaging than the feeling of helplessness. An ordinary citizen instead of complaining and fighting succumbs to the pressure of undesirable functioning in offices instead of standing against it. Therefore, award of compensation for harassment by public authorities not only compensates the individual, satisfies him personally but helps in curing social evil.

39. In a modern society no authority can arrogate to itself the power to act in a manner which is arbitrary. It is unfortunate that matters which require immediate attention linger on and the man in the street is made to run from one end to other with no result. Even in ordinary matters a common man who has neither the political backing nor the financial strength to match the inaction in public oriented departments gets frustrated which erodes the credibility in the system. It is now imperative and implicit in the exercise of power that it should be for the sake of society. It is the tax payers' money which is paid for inaction of those who are entrusted under the Act to discharge their duties in accordance with law.

40. Once it is found by the competent authority that a complainant is entitled for compensation for inaction of those who are entrusted under the Act to discharge their duties in accordance with law, then payment of the amount may be made to the complainant from the public fund immediately but it may be recovered from those who are found responsible for such unpardonable behaviour. This legal position is reflected from the law laid down by the Apex Court in Lucknow Development Authority's case (supra). In the said case it was further observed by the Apex Court that the Administrative law of accountability of public authorities or their arbitrary and even ultra vires actions has taken many strides and it is now accepted both by this Court and English Courts that State is liable to compensate for loss or injury suffered by a citizen due to arbitrary action of its employees.

41. The legal principles as enumerated in foregoing paragraphs also finds support of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Jay Laxmi Salt Works (P) Ltd. Vs. State of Gujarat (1994) 4 SCC 1; State of Maharashtra and others Vs. Kanchanmala Vijaysing Shirke and others (1995) 5 SCC 659; Chief Conservator of Forests and another (1996) 2 SCC 293; S.P. Goel vs Collector Of Stamps, Delhi (1996) 1 SCC 573; Common Cause A. Registered Society Vs. Union of India JT 1999 (5)

Breach of Fundamental Rights under Article 21 of the Constitution of India and Compensation for Illegal Detention:-

42. Arrest and detention of defaulter for recovery as arrears of land revenue is governed by the provisions of Section 171 of the Uttar Pradesh Revenue Code, 2006 and Rules 144, 145 and 146 of the U.P. Revenue Code Rules, 2006.

43. Any person committing default in payment of an arrear of land revenue may be arrested and detained under Section 171 of the Code in Tehsil lock-up and if there is no such lock-up, at such other place as may be prescribed, for a period not exceeding fifteen days, unless the arrears are sooner paid. But if the defaulter liable for arrest or detention is (a) a woman or a minor or a senior citizen of 65 years or more, or a period referred to in Section 95(1)(a); (b) belongs to the Armed Forces of the Union; or (c) is exempted under Sections 133, 135 or 135A of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, he shall not be arrested or detained. After the warrant of arrest of a defaulter is issued by an officer not below the rank of Assistant Collector, the defaulter may be arrested by the officer or official named in the arrest warrant authorised to and execute the arrest warrant. Soon after the arrest, the defaulter shall be produced before the officer issuing the warrant. If he pays or undertakes to pay the whole or a substantial portion of the arrears and furnishes adequate security therefor, the arrest warrant may be cancelled. If he does not do so, then he may be detained provided the officer issuing the arrest warrant has reason to believe that the process of detention will compel the payment of the whole or substantial portion of the arrears. Thus, under Section 171 (3) of the Code, 2006 read with Rule 144 of Rules, the officer concerned is required to decide on the basis of the material before him and any evidence tendered or submission made by the defaulter, whether there is any justification for detaining the defaulter. It is only when the officer records his satisfaction that the detention of the defaulter will compel him to make the payment of the whole or a substantial part of the arrears, he can order his detention.

44. While dealing with the similar provisions of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act and Rules, similar view has been taken by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ram Narayan Agrawal and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, (1983) 4 SCC 276 (Paras 11 and 17).

45. In Om Prakash Gupta vs. State of U.P. and others, (2003) 5 AWC 4012 (Paras 10 and 13), a Division Bench of this court held that keeping in mind the fundamental right of personal liberty guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, harsh method of arrest and detention of the defaulter to coerce the defaulter to make payment should not be resorted unless the officer records his satisfaction that the defaulter inspite of having sufficient means, has wilfully and with mala fide intention refused to pay.

46. In Jolly George Varghese and Anr. vs. The Bank of Cochin, (1980) 2 SCC 360, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that unless there is proof of the minimal fairness of his wilful failure to pay in spite of his sufficient means, arrest of the defaulter would be violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

47. In K.S. Puttaswamy and Ors. vs. Union of India (UOI) and Ors. (2019)1 SCC 1 (Paras -123, 127, 135, 136, 137, 145, 145.1, 145.2, 145.3, 145.4, 145.5, 147, and 508.18 to 508.23), explained the principles of human dignity and and Article 21 of the Constitution of India. It was held that jurisprudentially, three types of models for determining the content of the constitutional value of human dignity are recognised. These are: (i) Theological Models, (ii) Philosophical Models, and (iii) Constitutional Models. Over a period of time, human dignity has found its way through constitutionalism, whether written or unwritten. We have a written Constitution which guarantees human rights that are contained in Part III with the caption "Fundamental Rights". One such right enshrined in Article 21 is right to life and liberty. Right to life is given a purposeful meaning by this Court to include right to live with dignity. Thus, human dignity is a constitutional value and a constitutional goal. It has now been well recognised that at its core, human dignity contains three elements, namely, intrinsic value, autonomy and community value. These are known as core values of human dignity.

48. The fundamental right guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India as authoritatively explained by Hon'ble Supreme Court in K.S. Puttaswamy's case (supra) and in recovery matter in Jolly George Varghese and another (supra), squarely apply to the facts of the present case, establishing a clear breach of Article 21 of the Constitution of India by the respondents. Under the circumstances, this court cannot close its eyes and fold its hands or remain a silent spectator and thus, allow people to suffer who usually do not have resources and financial capacity to fight against the high-handedness of mighty officers of the State Government.

49. In Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.16386 of 2020 (Shiv Kumar Verma and another vs. State of U.P. and 3 others), decided on 11.06.2021, this Court noted the policy decision of the State Government dated 23.03.2021 for payment of compensation of Rs.25,000/- for illegal detention of a person and directed as under:-

"24. In view of the aforesaid, this writ petition is disposed of with the following directions :-

(i)The State Government shall ensure that the provisions of the Cr.P.C. as referred in the policy decision dated 23.03.2021 are strictly followed/observed by all the concerned officers.

(ii)The State Government shall further ensure that paragraph 12 of the policy decision dated 23.03.2021 is strictly implemented, which at the cost of repetition is reproduced below:

(iii)The State Government shall publish Para 12 of its Policy decision dated 23.03.2021 in all largely circulated National Level Newspaper having circulation in the State of Uttar Pradesh and shall also display it on display board at prominent places within public view, in all blocks, Tehsil Headquarters, Police Stations and in campus of District Collectorate in the whole of the State of Uttar Pradesh.

(iv)Copy of this order shall be sent by the State Government to all District level and Tehsil level Bar Associations in the whole of the State of Uttar Pradesh."

50. The petitioner of Writ-C No.1786 of 2022 was illegally detained by the respondents resulting in breach of his fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, respondents are liable to pay compensation to the said petitioner for his illegal detention. Consequently, in the light of the above-quoted policy decision of the State Government for compensation on illegal detention, we direct the respondents to pay Rs.25,000/- as compensation to the petitioner of Writ-C No.1786 of 2022 for his illegal civil detention which shall be paid within one month from today.

51. For all the reasons stated above, all these four writ petitions are partly allowed and the demands to the extent admitted by the respondents to be illegal or fictitious are hereby quashed with costs of Rs.10,000/- payable to each petitioners and with the following directions:-

(a) There is an urgent need not only for strict adherence to the aforesaid SOP Regulations, 2019 but also for its proper publicity regularly on website as well as in newspapers for the month of January and July each year and also to publish it, particularly compensation structure and information of procedure for filing complaints; at the back of electricity bills or separate handout which may be distributed along with bills as provided in Paragraph-9.4.3 of the S.O.P. Regulations, 2019.

(b) Considering the admitted prevailing practice of creating or issuing fake demands and issuing highly excessive bills against large number of consumers in the State of Uttar Pradesh and also to achieve the primary object of the SOP Regulations, 2019 and that every details of online complaints and resolution of complaints are to be maintained or are available with the concerned authorities of all the Associated Power Distribution Corporations, therefore, there is no need for lodging a separate claim by consumers under Para 8.4.1 of the SOP Regulations, 2019. Therefore, we issue a general mandamus to all concerned authorities of Power Distribution Corporations that they shall at their own compute compensation payable to complainants in terms of the SOP Regulations 2019 as per data available with them with respect to the each complaint and shall pay compensation in terms of the aforesaid SOP Regulations 2019 as per procedure provided. The need of filing claim by a consumer would arise only when the consumer on a given set of facts, finds himself dissatisfied with the compensation granted by the authority concerned.

(c) In the counter affidavit filed by the Chairman of the U.P. Power Corporation and also by the State Government, practice of creating fake demands and raising fake bills against consumers, have been admitted. The Managing Director, U.P. Power Corporation has also admitted these facts in his Letter No.PSMD/ikdkfy/2022 dated 28.02.2022 addressed to the Managing Directors, Madhyanchal/ Purvanchal/ Pashimanchal/ Dakshinanchal Electricity Distribution Corporations filed as Annexure CA-3 in connected Writ-C No.23674 of 2021, in which he stated that issuance of bills to consumers of highly excessive amounts etc. and issuance of recovery notices/ certificates for recovery thereof not only causes unnecessary harassment to consumers but also creates possibility of corruption which despite instructions issued, are not being checked and which needs to be checked cent percent and in the event such matters come to light, then departmental proceedings be initiated against the erring officers and the compensation be paid to consumers to be recovered from the concerned erring officers/ employees. But facts of the present cases still reveal that neither any compensation was paid to petitioners nor any concrete action has been taken against the erring officers and employees. Therefore, we direct the respondents to initiate appropriate disciplinary action against all the erring officers/ employees who have been prima facie found guilty of creating fake demands or issuing bills illegally against the petitioners and making recovery thereof; in accordance with law within three weeks from today and conclude disciplinary proceedings within next six months.

(d) We direct the State of Uttar Pradesh through Principal Secretary (Energy), Government of U.P. Lucknow and the Managing Director of the U.P. Power Corporation, Lucknow to develop and put in place an effective mechanism within three months from today to check completely the illegal malpractices as briefly mentioned above and also pointed out in the two special audit reports of district Deoria and Mahoba including embezzlement of government money. We further direct that the State Government and the Managing Director of the Uttar Pradesh Power Corporation shall take all required steps for special audit, of each divisions in the districts falling under respective Distribution Power Corporations; by a competent expert body/ authority/ agency for such period as the State Government or the U.P. Power Corporation may deem fit. Audit report shall be submitted within six months which shall be examined by the competent authority within next one month and appropriate action shall be taken thereafter within next three months. We further direct the State Government and U.P. Power Corporation to put in place such mechanism or to improve the existing mechanism as they may think fit, within three months from today for regular check on the malpractices and embezzlement etc. as briefly discussed above and also those as indicted in the aforesaid two special audit reports of Distribution Division of Districts Deoria and Mahoba.

(e) The petitioner of Writ-C No.1786 of 2022 was illegally detained by the respondents resulting in breach of his fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. Therefore, respondents are liable to pay compensation to the said petitioner for his illegal detention. Consequently, in the light of the above-quoted policy decision of the State Government for compensation on illegal detention, we direct the respondents to pay Rs.25,000/- as compensation to the petitioner of Writ-C No.1786 of 2022 for his illegal civil detention which shall be paid within one month from today.

52. The cost shall be paid by the respondents to each of the petitioners within one month. Additionally the respondents shall pay compensation of Rs.25,000/- for illegal detention of the petitioner of the Writ-C No.1786 of 2022 within one month from today.

53. Let a copy of this judgment be sent by the Registrar General of this Court to the Chief Secretary of Government of U.P., Principal Secretary (Energy) Government of U.P. and the Managing Director of U.P. Power Corporation, Lucknow for immediate compliance.
